City shaken by Monday storm winds' wake

An estimated 4,000 Northville homes were without power Tuesday morning as residents set to work cleaning up after a brief but furious storm that ripped through the city Monday afternoon.

Swirling, high-speed winds and heavy rainfall knocked down dozens of trees, tore limbs off others and left flooding in its wake as Northville took the brunt of the storm shortly before 4 p.m. Monday. Power outages were reported immediately, as falling trees and limbs felled power lines.

Detroit Edison spokesperson Marty Bufalini said most of Northville's power had been restored by Tuesday morning and that Edison expected to have "everybody back by mid-afternoon."

Another Edison spokesperson said "sporadic outages" could last as late as 5 or 6 p.m. Tuesday as work crews, which toiled through the rainy night, "tie up loose ends" to complete restoration.

"Northville got the worst of it," he said, "with the city itself suffering the most power outages in the metropolitan area."

He suggested the number and size of trees in the city may account for the extent of damage, noting that many of the other communities affected by the storm are more suburban in character with most large trees removed to build subdivisions.

Damages were concentrated as the thunderstorm swath, roughly one mile wide and traveling from north-northwest to south-southeast, swept through the heart of the city. Township offices reported less severe damage, mostly only traffic signal outages and brief powerless periods.

No fatalities or injuries were reported as a result of the storm.

Many of the city's largest trees fell on houses, cars and businesses. Winds tore the roof off at least one garage (in Lexington Commons) and structural damage to other homes and business buildings was reported.

The largest tree at the Ford Motor Company plant at the South Main bend toppled over, killing some of the ducks that inhabit the pond there.

Streets flooded briefly, but the waters subsided within an hour or two at most locations. The National Weather Service reported one-half inch of rain fell in less than 15 minutes Monday — the measurement was made at Metropolitan Airport, well after the heavy rainfall had passed through Northville.

Total rainfall measured at less than 1.2 inches was not unusual, but its sudden onset taxed drainage systems throughout the region.

The high speeds of the winds and sudden arrival of the storm had many questioning whether it was a tornado, but it has not been officially designated as one by the weather service. No tornado or storm warning had been issued.

"There was no warning," said City Manager Steven Walters Tuesday. "There was no weather watch posted, so the siren wasn't sounded to warn anyone. I don't know if it was a tornado — I don't know if there is some legal significance to being called a tornado."

"But, as one of our DPW crew was saying yesterday, 'What difference does it make?'" Walters continued. "If it does the same sort of damage, taking roofs off garages, it's pretty much the same thing. I'd say the wind speeds were certainly up in that range."

Fireworks and parade are in July 4 plans

Northville's gearing up to celebrate the Fourth of July in traditional style next Monday, from the 10 a.m. parade, to the family chicken barbecue at the Mill Race, right on through to the fireworks at night.

Ron Barnum of the sponsoring Northville Jaycees said that Omnicon cable television will cover the parade live for the first time this year on the local access channel CAP-15.

"I still don't know why I let them talk me into doing the color commentary," he said.

The television camera will likely be set up at the judges stand in front of city hall, where it is expected the parade will take an hour to 90 minutes to pass in review.

Those attending the parade to get its full flavor have an opportunity to launch the day at an all-you-can-eat pancake breakfast at Northville Masonic Temple, 106 E. Main. The Royal Arch Masons ask a $2.50 donation from adults, $1.50 for children at the breakfast which begins at 6 a.m. and continues to the parade start.

Marchers will leave the northeast entrance of Northville Downs at 10 a.m., parade east on Beal, north on Griswold to Main, thence west to Rogers, south to Cady, east to Wing, south on Wing to Fairbrook, then east on Fairbrook to the end at the west entrance of the Downs.

Parade grand marshals, in keeping with the "Good Old Days" theme, are longtime resident families, each representing four generations of Northville residence. The Ely family will be joined by May Babbitt, her daughter Mary Ellen Dayton, Babbitt's granddaughter and Dayton's niece, Cheryl Gazlay, and her two daughters, Cristen, 10 and Courtney, 8.

While the parade is in progress, final preparations will be underway on the Mill Race Village grounds where the chicken barbecue begins at 11 a.m. Picnickers can get half a barbecued chicken, cole slaw, chips and a beverage for $4; a hot dog dinner (substituting a hot dog for the chicken) for $2. An extra piece of chicken will cost $2.50, extra hot dog $2. Barnum said this allows people with two young children to buy a hot dog dinner, add an extra hot dog and feed both children for $4, letting them split the slaw, chips and beverage.

During the barbecue, celebrants can purchase raffle tickets for $1 each to help defray the Jaycees costs. First prize is a weekend for two at one of several Holiday Inns in Michigan, second prize is dinner for two at MacKinnon's and show, third prize is a $50 U.S. Savings Bond.

Barnum said those used to parking at the Ford Motor Company lot when attending the barbecue will have to find another location — the firm's business requires use of the lot for vehicle and parts rack storage and will not be available.

Those accustomed to going to the fireworks display, launched from the high school plateau, may also have to alter their routines somewhat this year. Barnum said the Jaycees plan a ground-level fireworks display just west of the walkway for best visibility prior to the main display.

This means access through the plateau must be restricted after 6 p.m. he said. For that reason, the Jaycees are suggesting those wishing to view the fireworks park at the high school, Cooke or Amerman schools depending upon which direction they wish to watch from, since crossing to the other side won't be allowed.

'83 parade promises to be an extravaganza

Northville's Fourth of July parade continues to attract marching bands, organizations and public officials from the entire region.

Marchers this year, according to Jaycees spokesman Ron Barnum, include the Lion's Youth Band of Windsor and the Spirit of Windsor Youth Band, the Northville High School Marching Band, Plymouth Fife and Drum Corps, color guards from the American Legion and VFW posts, the Northwest Militia marching unit, U.S.S. Michigan Landing Party marching unit, and the 14th Tennessee Infantry Regiment NSSA.

Floats are being constructed, he said, by the Northville Goodfellows, Alhambra (which will also add clowns and marchers), the Giffiddler, Northville-Novl Colts, Altair Exercise Wear, Northville Gallery of Flowers and First Baptist Church of Northville.

Also participating will be city and township police and fire departments, Northville Public schools, Northville Co-Op preschool, South Lyon Disabled Veterans chapter 47, Northville Isshinryu Karate Club, Cub Scout Packs 755 and 223.

Also, the Elaine School of Dance, Salem Rockettes, Can-n Chieftes, Ladywood High cheerleaders, Northville cheerleaders and pom-pom squads, friends of the library, Northville soccer, Plymouth Theatre Guild, Clowns of America, the Bouvier des Flanders Club of Southeast Michigan, and assorted other animals, carriages, show cars and clowns.

Among the public officials will be the Maybury State Park rangers and Michigan Constable, Mayor Paul Vernon, Township Supervisor John MacDonald, Clerk Susan Heintz, Treasurer Richard Henningsen, Trustees James Nowka, James Armstrong, Tom Cook and Richard Allen.

Also parading will be Wayne County Executive William Lucas, Wayne County Commissioner Mary Dumas, State Senator R. Robert Geake, State Representative Gerald Law, 35th District Court Judges Dunbar Davis and James Garber, Canton Township Treasurer Maria Sterlini and Trustee Loren Bennett, and Oakland County Commissioner John P. Calandro.

week at News Printing.

a new phone system is on the way; and the vestibule is about done. All in all, we're looking great!

In Celebration, thereof...

fessional designs to please even the most exacting taste.

Come on down and see for yourself. Sale continues through July of '83.

Being on the road a lot lately, I've noticed some peculiar driving exhibitions:

In Ann Arbor on busy Washtenaw Avenue, a
turn, then nonchalantly turned right across 2 lanes of moving traffic into a driveway. Wonder what her teacher said? — that is, if he had any voice left.

At Lawrence Institute of Technology a 1983 fully-loaded Cadillac with front license plate declaring, "Big Guy" pulled in to a handicapped parking spot. A young man, with no apparent disability, got out and bolted toward the engineering building. I was amused to see the campus police writing him a ticket on my way out.

An accident had just happened at 8 Mile and Sheldon. A motorcyclist slowed and stopped on the police's signal. Someone wasn't paying attention, however, for the cyclist was hit from behind by a car. The cycle frame was bent and his vehicle put out of commission. "No fault" was the verdict.

And the policeman coming home from work, in his own subdivision, without his protective seat belt, was hit and hurt.

Best advice: "Drive defensively".

Teachers honored

When it comes to teaching young writers, Cooke Junior High teachers
seem to have the magic touch. The teachers received a plaque from the Wayne County Intermediate School District honoring their students for winning first, second and third place awards in poetry, short story and essay writing during this past school year. Cooke writers demonstrated their strength by taking five of the nine top places and winning 18 awards overall. Of the 464 manuscripts submitted by 30 Wayne County districts in the competition, Cooke sent 53 entries and placed first in all three categories.

Sewer funding delayed

The Huron Valley sewer project's application for federal funding was to receive state approval this week, but was still in limbo on Tuesday due to a last ditch effort by Detroit Sewer and Water officials to thwart the multi-million dollar sewer plan.

Northville Township met in special session last week to approve contracts committing itself to meet local financing requirements.

Meanwhile, the City of Wixom along with Flatrock held up submission of the federal grant application by scheduling a Friday, June 24, meeting to approve the contract agreement committing local financing to the sewer scheme.

All local contracts were to be in the hands of Department of Natural Resources (DNR) officials by June 24. With the late meetings in Wixom and Flatrock, however, the last contracts had to be delivered Monday morning, June 27.

But also on Monday, DNR officials were trying to determine the implications of a letter they received recently from Detroit stating the Huron Valley sewer plan would infringe on Detroit's sewer system, taking its customers and thereby jeopardiz-ing its financial stability, Jean Haight from the DNR's community assistance division said.

"Detroit is very upset about Huron Valley taking its customers," said Haight Monday. With millions of dollars worth of bonds still outstanding on the Detroit system, a substantial loss of customers would undermine the system's rate structure and make it difficult for the city to pay off those bonds, Haight explained.

DNR Director James Cleary was seeking an attorney general's opinion on Detroit's jurisdictional argument early this week before clearing Huron Valley's grant application for consideration by the federal Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

The EPA must decide whether to award the grant within 45 days of its receipt or the award will be automatic, Haight noted.

While the DNR debates the legitimacy of Detroit's argument this week, some Wixom officials are still doubting their approval of the contract agreement.

"I wish I could have abstained," said Wixom Council Member Nancy Dingley, who along with Council Member John Lee voted against the contract agreement at the council's Wednesday, June 22, meeting. Because the vote required a three-fifths majority — four yes votes — their two votes defeated the contract approval. Council members Wayne Glessner, Dennis Andrews and Gunnar Mettala voted yes and Council Member William Wyllie was absent.

"The contract was not what I thought it should be.
It was almost like writing a blank check. That was the problem with me," explained Dingley.
"There were too many ifs. After 25 years I don't see how anything could be that much in question by all those people."

One of the primary questions concerning Dingley was exactly how much the project is going to cost Wixom.

Her vote, Dingley said, was not objecting to the Huron Valley sewer plan itself, but rather the blind manner in which participating communities were being asked to commit to the project.

"She did not realize until after the vote that a three-fifths majority was needed to pass the contract.
"When Mr. Lee and I both voted no," she said, "we blew it."

A second meeting on June 24 was immediately scheduled for the council to reconsider the Huron Valley contract. Meanwhile, Lee spent much of Thursday, June 23, trying to determine how much federal funding Wixom might be eligible for should it decide to improve its own treatment plant rather than linking with the Huron Valley project.

Every call to the city's engineers, Hubbel, Roth and Clark, or to the DNR resulted in a different story, Dingley claimed. Lee's final conclusion was that Wixom could be in sixth position for 75 percent federal funding to improve the local plant — if it linked with the Detroit plant.

Wixom has been fighting all along to avoid any linkage, even temporary, with the Detroit plant. In addition, the city would have the impossible task of completing a facilities plan by November 1 to become eligible for the funds, Dingley added.

"So we were between a rock and a hard spot. We had no other alternative but to rescind our original votes and go with Huron Valley."

At the five-minute June 24 meeting, Lee and Dingley changed their votes for 4-0 approval. Andrews and Mettala also voted yes; Glessner and Wyllie were absent.

'Duckies' to help traffic flow

By KEVIN WILSON

Northville motorists accustomed to watching for ducks in the road should be well-prepared for what's soon to happen at the intersection of Dunlap and Hutton.

Rubber duckies will direct traffic there according to plans mapped out for city council last week to address traffic control problems at the corner.

"Rubber Duckie" is the trade name of a device engineer Edward McNeely suggested for use in marking new curb lines in the area on a temporary basis. Technically a "surface mounted delineator," the Rubber Duckie was an example McNeely used in a proposal to experiment with possible road improvements.

Similar in concept to traffic cones, except that they attach to the roadway so as not to be displaced when hit by cars, the delineators will allow the city to trial-test a proposed street layout without the expense of repaving and building new curbs.

Together with a traffic island of asphalt "rumble strip" or made up from concrete parking lot bumpers the markers are to direct traffic along more defined paths through the confusing corner.

Council members expressed some concern that the markers are clearly designed for visibility, not esthetics, but McNeely assured them the installation would be temporary.

"I figure you can do the whole thing — lay out the new curb line and all, for about $3,000," he said. "Then, if it isn't working out right, we'll rearrange it and try something else. This way, we don't go to the expense of running a new traffic pattern through there without knowing if it will work."

Designed to survive temperature extremes and flexible enough to be run over repeatedly without damage to cars, the devices would be well-suited to the application, McNeely said. Installed with an epoxy-like adhesive, the devices are easily removed, McNeely reported, though they are destroyed in the process.

He initially spoke of outlining a "traffic island" with the delineators, but agreed with council members who said a perimeter grouping of the reflectorized markers would be confusing to motorists at night.

Asphalt rumble strip or a temporary island constructed of parking bumpers were possible alternatives discussed.

Another portion of the project would be to paint well-defined lane-dividing lines on the Hutton pavement between Dunlap and Main. Southbound traffic would be given a choice of right turn only, left turn only or through lanes, with parking on the west curb. Northbound traffic could use the left turn lane to get into the bank, but would otherwise be routed onto Dunlap, having to make a definite right turn to continue on Hutton.

One of the problems seen at the intersection, where the rough pavement is wide and virtually unmarked, is that northbound cars "cut the corner," making only a slight swerve to continue on Hutton north of Dunlap. This often means crossing the lane used by eastbound Dunlap traffic rounding the bend onto southbound Hutton.

Extension of the curb line on the east side of Hutton and north side of Dunlap, together with the island, would limit this traffic to a single, well-defined lane, eliminating much of the confusion motorists confront when entering the corner.

One problem to be addressed is routing through the bank parking lot, with McNeely proposing either to block the driveway from the bank lot to Dunlap or to allow turns in only one direction. Also to be studied are potential restrictions on exit from the bank drive-through window driveway, which is farther west than is the parking lot exit.

When the smoke clears after the fireworks Monday, Northville residents can start looking toward another big event — the circus is coming to town.

It was a near thing, with Scott Lapham switching sponsorship of the event from his newly-formed Northville Community Fund to place it under the aegis of the Chamber of Commerce to obtain city council approval last week.

But its on the way now, backed by the chamber. Officially called "Old Fashioned Circus Under the Big Top," it promises to be just that when it arrives at Northville Downs July 15 and 16.

The 90-minute shows feature all the attractions associated with the circus — trapeze and acrobatic acts, a lion tamer, horse act, dog show, monkey act, elephants and more.

Shows will run between 1:30 and 7 p.m. each day, with elephant rides offered at intermissions.

Lapham obtained council permission for a police escort to bring an elephant from the Downs up Center Street to Cloverdale Dairy to give it an ice cream cone for its "birthday" noting the elephant has "about 20 birthdays a year."

The promoters' share of the profits will be allocated for community projects, leading to Lapham's original desire to direct it through the Community Fund.

But when addressing council it became clear he had not yet registered as a non-profit organization and could not do so in time to conduct the circus or obtain council approval's he desired. Lapham said he had not understood it would be necessary.

While speaking of projects such as wooden street signs for the town and generators for city hall and Allen Terrace, he said the community fund would be organized in the future to raise funds because he had found "some people don't like to give money to some organizations, they just have a bias, like toward the Jaycees or Kiwanis, the Chamber or whatever. I wanted an organization that would be separate from those to raise funds for community projects."

At that time, the money raised by the chamber's circus could be transferred to the new organization, he suggested.

Council granted approval for the police escort of the elephant and for use of the city signs to promote the circus.

Tickets for the circus can be obtained at Chamber of Commerce offices on South Main or at Lapham's Men Store downtown. Further information is available from the chamber at 349-7640 or at Lapham's 349-5175.

Elephant rides will be offered to visitors

Longer 22 TIMELY TIPS For Do-It-Yourselfers THIS WEEK: "Washing Your Own Car"

Growing Thistles for Fun and Profit

1. Always wash car in shade to protect finish. If no shade is available, run back & forth holding golf umbrella over vehicle. (Use scarf on vans).
2. Drag hose out thru shrubbery and tomato plants.
3. Borrow neighbor's shovel, replant shrubbery and tomato plants. Rake broken limbs, eat crushed tomatoes.
4. Move car closer to hose, turn on water.
5. Move front wheel off hose, discard flattened nozzle.
6. Bring bucket from garage, thoroughly clean all potted soil, sheep manure, peat moss, etc. from bucket with hose.
7. Return shovel to neighbor, borrow bucket with no holes in it.
8. Put soap in bucket, add water, sneeze in bucket, empty.
9. Wet car down with hose. Fill shoes with water at this point for body temperature adjustment.
10. Soak towel in soap water, 16"x25" Holiday Inn hand towels are ideal, especially on green cars.
11. Remove dirt from top, hood, and trunk in that order. Move rear wheel off hose & rinse.
12. Repeat procedure to remove bird droppings during Elderberry season, unless car is purple.
13. After washing and rinsing both sides, spread dry towels on driver seat to soak up water, close driver window.
14. Wash rear of car, including bumper & license plate. Use 1" band-aid on index finger cut.
15. Wash grill front of hood & front bumper. Remove bugs, one by one, (omit during Jan. & Feb.), from hood with fingernail, Brillo pads or putty knife, using care not to mar finish.
16. Wipe car dry with clean chamois. Caution! If chamois is not new ($9.00) it is not clean.
17. When car is dry, stop running back & forth like a nut with golf umbrella.
18. Return bucket to neighbor, borrow hand cream.
19. Fill kitchen sink & let chamois soak till next week, or place in freezer. Label to distinguish from homemade noodles.
20. Throw wet box of soap away after bottom falls out. Return towel to Holiday Inn.
21. Wash dirt, mud, cigarette butts, etc. off driveway, then off sidewalk, street, as far as hose will reach. Buy hose-end repair kit after pulling loose from spigot.
22. Remove shoes, empty water out & place in sun to dry. Practice curling your toes upward to fit shoes when dry.
- 22a. Remove and wring out socks, also pants, shirt and underwear if windy. Change band-aids. Take nap. Play golf tomorrow.

Waitress Lucy Yeates tacks up foreign currency

Cash collection's a foreign affair

By KEN VOYLES

Foreign currencies from all over the world make their way to Getzie's Pub in Northville where they end up tacked on a wall behind the bar.

Owner Bob Getzie isn't in the blackmarket currency exchange business. He just collects currency from friends and pub patrons "for fun."

"I tell my friends whenever they are going on a trip to bring me back a piece of currency and I'll buy them a drink," said Getzie. "It started when I used to make $1 bets on baseball games. If I won I would tack up the bills behind the bar. Pretty soon friends started giving me examples of different currencies, some are old and some are fairly new." Among the collection, probably the most unique is a 1934 piece of Hamtramack scrip, said Getzie. "They had to issue scrip in the Depression when the city ran out of money," he said.

Getzie has brought back some currency himself from trips to Japan and when he went to Korea with the United States Armed Forces to fight in the Korean Conflict.

"I don't really know the value of the bills," said Getzie. "It's just sort of an informal hobby. They also make good conversation pieces."

Some of the countries represented at Getzie's are Tawain, Saudia Arabia, the Bahamas, Jamaica, Great Britain, Germany, France and Mexico. All told there are 42 various foreign and American notes on the pub wall. "They make good decorations for the bar," said Getzie.

The most interesting aspect of the foreign notes, according to Getzie, are the unusual water marks. "Each bill has a different water mark identifying it," he said. "The English pound notes are the best example of that."

"They are like good cigars. Each one is different in size and texture and the watermarks are different. I've learned a lot about the printing of money," the pub owner added.

Getzie doesn't exhibit foreign coins, although he also collects those. He said there are still a number of foreign currencies he would like to add to his growing collection, such as from the Soviet Union, Poland, and China.

Getzie has been collecting currencies from friends for over two years. "My most recent addition was a Mexican peso," he said.

Senior citizens slate July 12 picnic

The Northville Senior Citizens Club annual summer picnic will be held on July 12 at the Willows, at Six Mile and Northville Roads.

A dish must be brought to pass. Meat will be furnished. There will also be games, prizes and a special drawing.

Parson to Person...

WILL GOD CONTINUE TO BLESS AMERICA?

Dr. James Luther

Here we are celebrating the 4th of July, our Independence Day! What a wonderful heritage we have.

In remembering our blessings of freedom and abundance, we must not forget that sinister forces are at work to destroy freedom. At times these enemies are presented in some foreign power, but more often they lurk within us.

This is not a call for a witch hunt among our fellow citizens; it is rather a plea for each of us to examine his own life. Here's why!

Our liberty is a gift from God. We have experienced His Grace. Our abundance, commercial success, and freedom are the result of His care. It is easy to pray: "God bless America."

Yet, there are conditions to blessing. If we want God to bless America, let's be faithful in prayer and dedication. We must put away the sin that destroys God's blessing. Let's give the will of God priority in all our decisions. Then God will continue to bless America.

"Righteousness exalteth a nation, but sin is a reproach to any people." Proverbs 14:34)

Anti-drunk driving group plans continued activity

By KEN VOYLES

Mothers Against Drunk Drivers (MADD) has not been idle since the passage of tougher drunk driving laws in Michigan.

According to MADD's Oakland County Chapter Publicity Chairperson, Dianna Abramson, the organization has spent the past year compiling statistics to determine if the new laws are being followed by courts and judges.

Abramson, a Novi resident and publicity chairperson for the Oakland chapter, which includes about 300 members, said the organization will spend the rest of summer getting its data ready for possible legislation drives in the fall.

The Oakland County chapter, which includes residents from Novi, Walled Lake, Wolverine Lake and Wixom, meets the third Monday of each month in different community centers. The active members are working with the Oakland Sheriff's Department to obtain the needed statistics. The next general membership meeting is in September. Abramson, who said she could never join a nuclear freeze movement, joined the organization because "this is reality."

She joined in April of 1982, just one month after MADD was formed in Oakland County.

"We got together because something has to be done. Last year we spent a lot of time on new legislation," Abramson said. "The new laws were a direct result of our push."

Currently the group is court-monitoring as a part of its new statistical battle and working with TIP (Traffic Improvement Association) which collects data on traffic accidents. "Most defense lawyers hate it when we sit in court. I've been screamed at for being in the court," Abramson said.

MADD is self-sustaining with fund-raisers and a membership fee of $20 per person or $40 per family. "People are always asking if fathers can join the organization. Of course they can," said Abramson.

MADD also has a victim assistance program. "We help people realize where they can turn. People have to know what they can demand from the courts and the lawyers," she said.

"We want to get as many people involved as possible. That's why we hold our meetings in different communities. You don't have to join. We just want to let people know what's going on."

Abramson added that educating people about the drunk driving problem is her organization's first priority. "We are not against drinking. We just say don't drink and drive ... don't put somebody in jeopardy," she said.

Members of MADD range in age from 15 to 75 years. Men and women make up equal portions of the organization. "We are an emotional organization. Meetings can be very sad and emotional. What we try to do is step away from the emotions and get down to reality and what we can do about drunk driving," Abramson said.

Individuals interested in joining the organization in Oakland County should send for information to M.A.D.D., P.O. Box 3004 Farmington Hills, 48018.

Geake applauds action to control welfare cost

State Senator Robert Geake (Northville) today expressed pleasure that the Michigan Senate was able to forge an agreement shifting some of the emphasis from the state's escalating welfare spending and toward job training.

"This is a significant victory for those legislators who want to reverse the state's ten-year trend of giving a decreasing percentage of our budget to education and an ever-increasing percentage to welfare," Geake said.

"We are beginning to re-prioritize," he added. "It is a modest gain, but I hope it is the beginning of a new emphasis. By educating our citizens more effectively and providing for job training, we are making them more employable. That is a positive move and will ultimately lead to reduced welfare caseloads."

In the Social Services budget area, now for controversy, Senate Republicans won a number of key battles in the appropriations process, and those amendments were retained by the full Senate. In total, $73 million was cut from the Governor's recommendations and earmarked toward new priorities.

Most significant was the earmarking of $43 million, initially sought for five percent welfare grant increases and then an energy proposal, for a special training, employment and education fund. Funds will be set aside for administration of a future mandatory employment program for welfare recipients, to be taken up by the Legislature this fall.

"This is a clear-cut victory, and a historic and substantive change in Social Services policy, and I hope, a shift in the way we respond to our unemployment problems," Geake said.

"Our intent is to train people to work," he added. "We want to improve the quality of life for the disadvantaged — not through increasing their welfare benefits in the short run, but by improving their employability in the long run."

Another key Republican-supported initiative which passed the Senate was the creation of a Caseload Contingency Account. The purpose of the fund is to reduce the dollars budgeted for AFDC and GA caseloads while assuring that none of the money can be spent by DSS without approval of a transfer by the Senate and House Appropriations Committees.

"Caseload projections have been extremely sketchy and set much higher than they are actually coming in," explained Geake. "We have budgeted for slight increases and allowed a contingency fund in the unlikely event that caseloads increase more than a slight amount."

Another amendment which passed with Republican support was a lengthening of residency requirements. Under the provision, welfare applicants who have moved to Michigan in the previous six months must wait an extra 30 days for benefits. Additionally, there must be a check to see that the applicant is no longer receiving benefits from another state.

Finally, Senate Republicans were successful in their request for a $2.7 million cut in DSS staff — $1.35 million in central staff and $1.35 million in field staff reductions.

"I'm extremely pleased with the result of a worthy debate in both the Senate Appropriations Committee and on the floor," said Geake.

$400 cash stolen from city residence

In the city...

Exactly $400 in $20 bills was reported stolen from a home on Fairbrook sometime between Monday, June 20 and Wednesday, June 22, city police reported this week.

The money had been left underneath a photo album in an upstairs bedroom before it was discovered missing. According to police reports, the owner suspects an acquaintance of the family may be responsible.

City police reported that a Northville woman told them a young man, estimated age 17-18, repeatedly indecently exposed himself to her by pulling down the front of his shorts as she was playing tennis at Northville High School the evening of Wednesday, June 22. The man, white, about 5'11", 150-160 pounds, bicycled away afterwards.

A red Toro gas lawn mower valued at $350 was stolen between Monday and Friday of last week from a home on Lexington, city police reported this week. According to the account of the owner, the garage had been locked, but no sign of forced entry was apparent.

In the township...

A $300 windshield and $100 side mirror were reported stolen from a 1979

Ford pick-up truck sometime between 5 p.m. June 25 and 9:30 a.m. June 26, township police report.

The complainant told police the windshield and mirror were removed from the truck while it was parked in the driveway of his Bradner residence.

Police could not find prints on the truck and there are no suspects at this time.

A 1982 Redline motocross bike was reported stolen from the front yard of a Malvern Court residence at approximately 10:30 p.m. June 24, police report.

The complainant told police unknown subjects removed the bike from the front yard. Complainant has no suspects. The bike is valued at approximately $450.

A fire caused an estimated $1,000 in damage to a 1974 Ford parked in the east entrance parking lot of Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital at around 8 p.m. June 25, township police report.

According to the police report, officers arriving at the scene found the vehicle totally engulfed in flames. Northville Township Fire Department, also at the scene, extinguished the blaze.

The owner of the vehicle told police that while he was working on the car's timing chain, a witness was attempting to start the vehicle when the car back fired and started burning.

The owner said he attempted to put the fire out with an extinguisher but was unsuccessful.

Items valued at $450 were reported stolen from a 1975 Dodge van at Eight Mile and Napier roads sometime between 2:45 and 6 a.m. June 20, township police report.

The complainant told police that around 2:45 a.m. his vehicle ran out of gas while he was driving east bound on Eight Mile Road. Shortly afterward, he was picked up by two men in a 1955 black El Camino, who agreed to drive him to a gas station.

The two men, both described as being about 21-years-old, medium height and build with dark hair, drove the complainant to a gas station Ten Mile and Grand River in Farmington Hills.

The complainant told police that the driver of the vehicle asked for gas money and then took off. The complainant was driven back to his van by a Farmington Hills police officer.

The complainant said he drove back to his Livonia residence around 5 a.m. and fell asleep in his driveway.

When he awoke, he discovered the property missing from his van. He told police he suspects that the two men who drove him to the gas station are responsible for the theft and noted that he had not locked the van prior to leaving with the suspects.

Items stolen included two stoneware tables valued at $180, a $120 planter, a $60 vase and other miscellaneous items. No damage was reported to the van.

A watch and gold wedding ring valued at $525 were reported stolen from the men's locker room at Meadowbrook Country Club sometime between noon at 7 p.m. June 17, township police report.

The complainant told police that he was at the club to take part in a golf tournament and had removed his wedding ring and watch and placed them in the top section of a locker in the men's locker room.

He stated that the locker did not have a padlock or combination lock on it and said he thought a club employee would probably would come by and lock the locker.

He told police that upon returning to the locker he found his watch and ring missing.

The gold wedding band is valued at $350 and the Seiko quartz watch is valued at about $175.

Cable firm names manager

Omnicom of Michigan last week announced appointment of Frederick G. Collman as its new System Manager.

Vice President Peter Newell, who formerly directed operations here, said Collman will join Omnicom July 25 from Acton CATV where he is manager of marketing and advertising sales for the multiple system company.

Collman replaces Elizabeth Seeley, who resigned to take a position elsewhere. The Omnicom of Michigan systems manager oversees cable television operations in Canton Township, Plymouth Township, Farmington Hills, Northville, Northville Township, Belleville and Hamtramck.

"We are delighted we are able to bring an individual with Rick's extensive background in cable TV to Omnicom," Newell said. He noted that prior to his current position with Acton, Collman served as director of operations, western region; operations administrator; purchasing agent; and marketing associate.

"I am anxious to come on board and start working with the community leaders," Collman said. "I know that Omnicom is planning many exciting things and working together with the communities, I am sure we will have much to offer our subscribers."

Summersong's sunny, tuneful

Downtown Northville's "Summersong" festival last weekend proved to be as colorful as advance billing, with sunny, clear skies preceeding Monday and Tuesday's storms. Musical entertainment from amplified accordion to hoedown country bands kept up the festive mood Friday and Saturday. The festival featured nonstop musical entertainment, clowns, a dance contest and a dance party downtown, in addition to plenty of opportunities for people-watching. Top left, Rachel Kallian, celebrating her third birthday Saturday, makes a new friend. # Storm wreaks havoc on downtown area

The principal monetary damages, city police reported, were to property of Consumers Power and Detroit Edison, as wires were reported snapped by high-speed winds and falling trees in numerous areas of the city, particularly on streets north of the downtown area, and at least one gas line was reported affected by the storm.

Wires reported fallen on Debra, Randolph, Carpenter, Hutton, Center and Ely streets required immediate police and fire response, while police officials reported yesterday that less threatening conditions, including fallen wires, were still being handled by emergency units.

Walters said power was out in the northeastern segment of the city until roughly midnight, noting the system there is "a sort of circuit breaker for Edison — it's designed to fail to prevent damage elsewhere."

A power transformer was blown to the ground on Carpenter, causing a brief fire.

A gas leak reported on Yerkes also required immediate response, although Consumers Power spokespersons were unavailable for comment on the extent of damage.

While much of the damage is still being treated, police units were able to respond to the storm effectively, since the storm hit at almost exactly the time the day shift is relieved by the afternoon shift at the police department. All officers on both shifts responded to emergency calls.

In the northern residence areas of the city, where long-standing trees were uprooted or had even their largest limbs torn from the main trunk, there were tree-fires reported on Hill and Griswold. There was extensive damage to grounds of the Mill Race.

Perhaps the most severe and long-lasting damage imposed by the storm was to the trees that have been a significant part of those streets' character for many years. Dunlap, Dubuar and north-south streets west of Center were lined with fallen trees and broken tree limbs in the storm's aftermath.

"That's going to be the hardest damage to estimate," observed city police and fire dispatcher Sue Hatch. "You can't place a value on a tree."

Numerous cars and homes were reported damaged by fallen trees, with an overall estimate of property damage still pending.

(This story was prepared by Northville Record reporters Kevin Wilson, Bruce Martin and Michele McElmurry)

Our Opinions

Struggle continues for equal rights

While it hardly is cause for celebration, tomorrow's year-long anniversary marking the alleged end to the Equal Rights Amendment needs careful reflection — not only for the what was lost in the 10-year battle to ratify the amendment, but more specifically for what was gained.

Though the original equal rights amendment was drafted in 1923 by suffrage leader Alice Paul, it took almost 50 years to finally receive passage by Congress. With a three-year extended ratification deadline, the amendment received approval from 35 of the 38 needed states. However, at its deadline last June 30, the amendment remained deadlocked in the 15 unratified states.

Despite the victory cries from anti-ERA forces, women's rights activists have remained undaunted in their quest for equality. Since the passing of the amendment's ratification deadline last June, equal rights opponents have resurged their energies and are moving forward with new direction.

The Equal Rights Amendment was among the first items on the agenda when Congress reconvened this year. In Michigan, an ERA resolution already has been approved and is ready to be sent out to other states for ratification. ERA proponents are making it known that while they may have lost the battle — they haven't lost the war.

Since the struggle to ratify the Equal Rights Amendment has been at the forefront of the women's movement for more than a decade, its supposed demise last year overshadowed other gains which, in our opinion, would not have been made were it not for the women's movement.

In the past decade, the women's movement has done considerable consciousness-raising. Through the efforts of such groups as the National Organization for Women, attitudes towards women in the work place and home have radically changed.

The women's movement also can be credited for a host of other reforms — from recognition of the displaced homemaker to the establishment of Title IX and affirmative action. In the last 10 years we also have come to regard rape as a violent crime, have recognized the plight of battered women and have seen a greater outcry against sexual harassment. All are gains made by the women's movement.

It also should be noted that while women have long been disregarded at the polling booth, their political clout is just now being recognized. Michigan already has seen some evidence of the impact of the women's vote. Many contend that it was the "gender gap" variable which put James Blanchard in the governor's seat.

We encourage and support women's rights activists to continue their struggle for equality. It is our hope, that sometime within this century women will be given full protection under the Constitution.

Support needed for July Field Day

Watching good people pull together a constructive project from nothing but imagination and commitment to community service is one of the best things about being in the watch-and-tell profession of journalism. It's in that spirit we wish the best of success for the July 3 Field Day this Sunday.

Plans for the Field Day have been occasionally bumpy, with sincere regrets from some churchgoers the events may conflict with Sunday religious services, and occasional uneasiness with the project from some members of other community groups. But it's hard to imagine a better-intended, better-organized and better-executed first-time idea. Organizers have gone out of their way to accommodate the interests of others in their plans. We hope the minor tensions that accompanied this year's plans will be soon forgotten.

The project was originally intended as a fun, entertaining way to raise funds to retire the Recreation Department deficit. But the success in recruiting help from the community has given Field Day planners the hope the day may represent something more.

One organizer remarked recently that the activities may give Northville residents a good reason to stay in town for the weekend, as well as attract visitors from nearby communities — an admirable aim. Events and projects like the Field Day are vital to preserving the meaning of being a "community" in the best sense of the word. We'd like to see the Field Day become a meeting-place for neighbors all over the city and township to become better acquainted.

We hope the good will and spirit that originated the idea in the first place will be reflected by plenty of local support.

Confessions of a fairweather feminist

Feminism was much on my mind last week. I could hardly avoid thinking about it. My personal favorite use of tax dollars had sent America's long-overdue first female astronaut into space aboard the shuttle; meanwhile Michele was busily preparing the cover story for the Our Town section tied to the one-year anniversary of the alleged death of the ERA.

When the issue is inescapable, as it was last week, is when I feel most like a fallen-away churchgoer — I profess belief, spout the right rhetoric, but in those honest moments with oneself when the curtain falls away and one sees oneself from outside, the failure is heartbreaking.

I've found there's no end of people willing to tear away the veil of self-deception for me lately. With most of the real chauvinists (outside of the laughable extremists) having found it expedient to hide their spots, we failed feminists now find ourselves the easy butts of jokes, the targets of a new stereotype.

You've seen the comic strips. The ones where the husband professes to share in his wife's liberation, except that he still doesn't do dishes, cook meals, do heavy housecleaning, take on the more difficult parts of child care. There she is, working full-time and this sap is claiming ignorance about how to wash a pot or change the bag in the vacuum. Or his ego can't handle it when she makes more money than he does.

Attitudinally, certainly politically, I'm an ardent feminist compared to these comic-strip versions of men. But when it comes to sharing those "traditionally female" duties, Toni will tell you the story of a fellow who talks a good game but strikes out nine times in ten. Dishes? Hey, once or twice a week. Cook? Who, me? A little french toast for breakfast, if I want to eat it. Some eggs here and there, the outdoor stuff. But the regular duty is hers. Laundry? Heaven forbid! I actually did better when we took turns going to the laundromat. Now the machine's in our own basement, and I never make it down there. Toni bathes the baby, feeds him 80 percent of the time, ad infinitum.

In the political sphere, I've long described myself as a feminist sympathizer. Knowing myself, I'd feel stupid standing up, like a few of my male friends, and proclaiming myself outright as a feminist. I must admit, though, I've often wondered if my so-called "feminist" male friends would dare be so vocal if they were married, or at least involved in a day-in, day-out housekeeping arrangement. It tends to take the wind out of the rhetoric, if you follow the twisted metaphor.

It is, after all, fairly easy to make the right noises, support the right political organizations, attend the right events and thus impress people with one's dedication to a cause. What's more, there are no situation comedies playing off your weaknesses, no cartoons in the daily papers attacking your sincerity, no columnists finding your lifestyle the perfect example of what's wrong with the world.

In short, that's me they're after now, apparently secure that the satanic "barefoot and pregnant" school of thought has been rendered nearly harmless under a decade's onslaught of ridicule. Now it's time to start holding the feet of us fairweather friends to the fire.

My best claim to sensitivity is that I at least recognize myself in those jokes. Measured against most of the men I know, I'm doing a pretty good job of contributing to an equal partnership marriage. I know my son's experience of masculine and feminine roles will be far different from what my own were.

The problem is that if you accept the challenge of helping to form an unbiased society, you can't use other men as a frame of reference. You have to look at the goal, measure yourself against that, see yourself in those comic strips. Doing that, one soon finds himself embroiled in a different battle — one in which it matters little whether an ERA or a woman's equity bill becomes law. No constitutional amendment, no package of laws, no dictate of any government is going to make me to do my share of dishes. It's got to happen in my head and in the heads and hearts of people everywhere. Feminists may have lost the ERA battle, but from where I sit, it looks like they're making steady progress toward winning the war. More power to 'em.

After the fact

By PHILIP JEROME

I'm back.

I confess to being a little apprehensive about announcing my return out of fear that nobody will have noticed I was missing in the first place.

For those who don't remember, my name is Phil Jerome and my column used to appear regularly on these pages until I was struck down roughly five weeks ago by a strange illness which made me want to sleep about 20 hours a day.

The disease was diagnosed by my doctor as mononeucleosis, but I think Novi City Clerk Gerri Stipp hit the nail on the head when she suggested that I had contracted monojournalosis, a rare ailment caused by sitting through too many city council, planning board and school board meetings.

At any rate, I'm now on the road to recovery and have returned to my trusty VDT to edit copy and write my column, although it'll be a month or two before I again start covering governmental meetings — the dreaded cause of my illness in the first place.

The thing that really bums me out about my enforced five-week absence, however, is that it knocks the daylight out of my athletic career. Nobody knows it, but I have been in rigorous training for the past six months — getting ready to sweep honors in the Novi, Walled Lake and Northville 10-kilometer runs as well as the recent Almost Anything Goes competition in Novi.

And, to tell the truth, I also had my sights set on the Boston, Detroit and New York marathons and perhaps even the L.A. Olympics next year.

Alas, all that is going to have to wait now. My doctor doesn't want me to run any marathons this year and, quite frankly, it's doubtful that I'll be able to resume training in time to win a berth on the U.S. Olympic team.

But that's life and I guess I'll have to be content with thoughts of what might have been when I watch prospective also-rans claim the honors which probably could have been mine.

Readers Speak

Commencement needs new location

To the Editor:

I for one am glad the Totten's opened up for public discussion the matter of Northville High's commencement exercises. Maybe now the administration will respond to the numerous parental requests that have been made over the last couple years to hold the ceremony in an auditorium, myself included.

Being a member of the High School Parent Advisory Committee I have known for some time what has occurred at other commencements in the past and this awareness made me feel very apprehensive upon entering the play field grounds to witness my son's graduation.

I place emphasis on the term "play field" because most principals and teachers will tell you that if you put children in a gymnasium (a room normally used for physical education), sit them on the floor or bleachers for a special event, no matter the seriousness of the event, you can expect some noisy horse play even in the best of control situations. Unfortunately, the psychological atmosphere lends itself to such conduct. Friday's experience also proved that many adults are also affected by this same behavioral phenomenon.

Not only was the fun and games atmosphere detrimental but the students had obviously not been rehearsed or organized very well either. The graduates' ragtag procession bore the signs of their confusion and lack of competent guidance.

Adding to the mix of unpleasant conditions was a 500 foot gap between the students and their parents, the very people who wanted to feel part of the proceedings rather than like spectators at a football game (or should I say beachball game).

Seeing the speakers' faces required binoculars, the bleachers snagged nylons, and arthritic persons could barely maneuver the high steps or maneuver around the people already seated. Trying to maintain decorum and dignity on bleachers for two hours through a slow and poorly conducted diploma distribution called for stamina and determination.

I am more convinced than ever now that we must move the graduation ceremony to a location where proper conduct befitting the occasion will most naturally evolve.

Tradition is not easily broken in Northville but as a parent who would like to see her second child graduate in a ceremony which reflects the seriousness of successfully completing a high school education I hope we can all accept a change which will remedy the problems we parents and assorted relatives experienced on Friday.

When the administration, with the support of our school board members, announces their decision to move commencement exercises to a more appropriate setting we can all breathe a sigh of relief.

Even with all the carnival behavior from adults and a few students I have only praise for the majority of the Class of '83. The valedictorians and salutatorians gave fine speeches which reflected their individual personalities and said much for the quality of student Northville High School said goodbye to that day.

Sincerely,
Lois A. Hoffmeister

Graduate responds to writers' criticism

To the Editor:

This is in reply to the letter that appeared last week condemning the NHS Graduation Commencement as a "mess." As a member of the graduating class of 1983, June 17 was one of the most important days of our lives and a very special occasion.

It is unbelievable that a couple of people can condemn an event when they know nothing about all the preparation needed. First referring to the "the band played a full five minutes before anyone told the graduates to start their ragged over-long march around the field," hearing the NHS band, a talented group of students, play five minutes certainly did not inflict pain.

It was a signal that we were ready to start and for families and friends to get comfortable for a truly memorable night. As the band was playing, Dr. Campbell, Mr. Redmond and Mrs. Olson were doing their best to put all of us, 320 excited and nervous students into alphabetical order!

This organization helped parents find and perhaps photograph their son or daughter from behind the fence. At no time were graduates permitted to break ranks to "embrace family or friends" until after the ceremony.

About the crowd control and kissing and embracing, including senior "shenanigans," I saw nothing improper about this, after the ceremony, which is when it took place. Also, not all graduates participated in "beach ball bouncing, boogie and shouting."

The awarding of diplomas has no time limit whatsoever and at no time were we "bored" as stated. I was proud of the vast majority of my fellow students that night.

I'm proud to say I belonged to a class with 10 valedictorians and two salutatorians and a minute and one-half was their recognition for three years of studying and homework. This seems reasonable time. How dare anyone take it away from them!

May I leave some points to ponder: If the two hour ceremony was "too long" there were no guards at or chains on the fence and gate. Anyone was free to leave at any time.

You expected us to act like adults, but referred to us (paragraph six, line four) as youngsters. Youngsters still attend Winchester, Moraine and Silver Springs.

Thirdly, the only ones who have failed are those who have failed to try.

To everyone involved in the commencement proceedings, and the parents who did an excellent job planning and supervising the senior party, thanks so much. Good luck, graduates!

Yours very truly,
Amy Lauck

Reader supports Knighton's action

To the Editor,

I would like to respond to the letter from "A very disappointed Northville High School graduate" (The Record, June 22).

As a parent and taxpayer, I applaud Dr. Knighton's initiative in attempting to curtail the inappropriate behavior of the young man discussed in the letter. Such behavior has no place at a graduation ceremony.

Spencers bid farewell to Northville area

To the Editor,

Our family would like to take this opportunity to say farewell and thanks to our friends, family and all in the Northville community who have made our 15 years here so enjoyable.

Northville has been a wonderful place to live. We've enjoyed many good times here: at school functions, in our church, in Jaycees, in scouting, at community events, at many recreation soccer and basketball games, and with our dear friends and neighbors.

Our children have had an excellent education in the Northville Public Schools and leave as an 8th grader and a junior well-prepared to further their education. This is thanks to the many fine, dedicated teachers and administrators who have touched their lives.

We'll miss you all but now face a new challenge in East Aurora, New York. We carry with us many fond memories and hope this is as great as our Northville experience has been.

Rex, Donna, Cindy and Matt Spencer

Parents praised for senior party

To the Editor:

On June 17th the 1983 Senior Class Party "Sail Away" was held following graduation. It was a huge success due to several factors:

— The many, many senior parents who gave... of their time and talents unselfishly and enthusiastically for several months before the party, planning, building, arranging entertainment, planning and preparing meals, etc. It is impossible to name every parent involved here. The committee chairpersons were: treasurer, Suzanne Kaley;

decorations, Sara Ryan, Kathy Ehler, and Vernice Lyons; entertainment, Marla and Larry Santos and Carol and Ron Pote; buffet, Margaret Cassidy and Marguerite Ross; breakfast, Eileen Kreutzberg; publicity, Ginny Bosanko and Gladys Yanoschik; telephone, Rosene Richcreek; security, Don Morgan; clean up Ron Ehler; and check room, Carola Caroselli. Our thanks to each of the parents involved in any way, large or small.

— The local merchants who so generously donated prizes for games and helped in other ways. Our thanks go to the following businesses and individuals: Genitti's, Northville House of Styles, The Bookstop, Mainstreet Barbers, Mr. James Mulla, WCZY, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Caroselli, Brooklane Golf Club, Mission Hills Golf Club, Elias Brothers, Sheehan's, the Pizza Saloon, Pizza Cutter, Lapham's Men's Shop, Sandie's Hallmark, IV Seasons Flowers, Freydl's, Andy's Meat Hut, Hardee's, K&S Family Bakery, Custard Time, Oasis Golf, Cloverdale, Water Wheel Car Wash and Novi Auto Wash, A&P, Mr. Gene Wagner, Paul's Produce. Special thanks also to "Art" for all of his donations.

— The high school staff, board of education, and especially the high school custodial staff, thank you for your support and aid in setting up the party and cleaning up. We could not have accomplished it without you. Also, special thanks to Barb and Gary Sixt and Beth and Dave Kordt, who watched over everything during graduation.

— And last, but not least, the Northville High School class of 1983. Your enthusiasm, good behavior, and genuine appreciation made all of our efforts worthwhile. As Dr. Aune stated at commencement, this was truly "a class with class."

Thanks again,
Glenda Buist and Mary Pohold
Co-chairpersons, 1983 Senior Party

BPW offers support for Field Day event

To the Editor,

The Northville Business and Professional Women's Club wishes to show their support and concern for the recreation department. Many of our members will be out of town for the planned "field day" so it was not possible to sponsor a booth. We decided a cash contribution of $100 would be our way of participating.

Our club has always endeavored to support community activities. In the past we have sponsored girls for Girl's State, presented annual scholarships and participated in local activities. We will continue to support these worthwhile projects.

What Is A Millimeter?

On the metric table, a millimeter (mm) is very small indeed. It represents 0.04 of an inch. In photography, it makes a world of difference in the size of the negative.

Most popular today are the 35 mm cameras. Their negatives are 1x1 3/8 inches. Because most 35 mm cameras have quality lenses, pictures taken with them can easily be enlarged to 8x10 inches, 11x14, or even larger with little loss in clarity.

If you are looking for a more compact camera, you will find one that uses 110 film or one of the new disc cameras quite satisfactory. The negative will be no larger than your finger-nail; this will probably limit you to snapshot size prints for maximum clarity.

Many professional photographers are using the 120 roll film camera. This offers a negative that is anywhere from 45x60 mm to 60x90 mm, quite ample for almost any enlarging needs.

For simplicity of loading there is the 126 cartridge-load camera, which really uses 35 mm-wide film. Its beauty is that you never have to touch the film. Just drop the cartridge in and you're ready to shoot. You'll get a 1x1 square negative, nearly as big as with 35 mm camera.

We have just the camera to meet your picture-taking needs at

Touring exhibit builds market

Pressing for an increased market share for paperboard milk cartons and the machinery it manufactures to produce them, the Troy-based Ex-Cell-O Corporation (packaging systems division at 850 Ladd Road, Walled Lake) is sponsoring a nationwide mobile exhibit citing nutritional and convenience advantages of the cartons.

Key to the promotion is Ex-Cell-O's new packaging equipment that joins two half-gallon cartons by a paperboard handle. The "2-Pak" provides a convenient alternative to the plastic gallon package, say the promoters.

At the Walled Lake plant, Ex-Cell-O manufactures the equipment that fills and seals the cartons — the machine that attaches the handle is made at a plant in St. Paul, Minnesota.

A new filling machine debuted at the Walled Lake plant last year generated $4.5 million worth of sales in a single introductory open house. The mobile exhibit allows Ex-Cell-O to take the product to decision-makers in the dairy industry and demonstrate it more conveniently than in the usual technique of bringing prospects to see the machines.

The mobile exhibit stopped in the Detroit area last week, midway through an eight-month, 63-city tour of the U.S. and Canada, having already demonstrated the equipment to over 1,000 dairy

Area officials say construction's up

By LEANNE ROGERS

Sizeable increases in residential building activities are being reported by officials in several area communities, attributed to a perceived economic upswing.

"We got buckets full of construction in the city," said Walled Lake building inspector Earl Glaspie. "We issued 39 permits for single family residential homes last year. So far this year we have issued 32 permits. If it keeps on we will triple what we did last year."

To accommodate increasing building activity, Walled Lake's city council recently placed Glaspie on a five-day six-hour work week. "I told them there was enough work for a full work week but it was their decision," he commented. Glaspie also serves as building official for Wolverine Lake Village, which has two new subdivisions in progress.

Large increases in permits issued are also being reported in Novi. Building official E. Earl Bailey said 41 permits were issued for single family residential homes in 1982. By May 31, this year 87 permits had been issued.

To handle the increased building activity in Novi, Bailey said two building inspectors are working instead of one. A part-time electrical inspector is now operating on a fulltime basis.

In Commerce Township building official William Mitchell said permits have been issued at about twice the level of 1982. "Building has increased considerably," he added. "The first five months of the year are over last year."

An increase of 150 percent in new home construction is being reported in Milford Township. "Milford is sparsely populated with acreage parcels, so we get fairly good-sized homes," commented building official Tim Porter. "I haven't issued any permits for two-bedroom homes. They are all three or four bedroom homes."

"I've had 32 single family residential permits already in June and other projects that are ready to go but don't have permits yet," Bailey added. "We have had substantial increases. This month I should be ready to issue permits for a new hotel at Eight Mile and Haggerty roads. The Crosswinds West and a project on the lake will be ready to proceed."

An exception to the reported increases is in Milford Village, where building official Clarence Carlson said permits are about the same level as 1982.

"We don't have any new residential pending. Mostly we have additions and remodeling," he said. "Some categories are up or down but its really close to the same as last year in the village."

Among the other communities, increases in residential building are common. There are some variances among building in commercial or industrial districts.

"We are getting a blend of industrial, commercial and residential," said Mitchell. "I don't know if that is indicative of something."

In Wixom, officials report an increase in residential development while commercial development has declined. "We have no commercial development at all," said Porter. "We've got a nursing home getting an addition, that's all."

While Novi hasn't seen a big jump in non-residential development, Bailey said the construction level has remained pretty constant. Residents are also adding rooms, decks and garages.

The building officials speculated the increased building activity stems from lower interest rates and people returning to work.

"I'm just speculating but I'd say is due to the lower interest rates. There is a little more money available," Porter commented.

"People always want the privacy of their own home but with the interest rates they just can't afford them," said Glaspie. He said a developer in Walled Lake offering nine percent interest packages on homes had 70 people visit their models in one day.

"Unless the interest rates go up drastically this trend will continue," said Glaspie. "People just couldn't afford the interest rates."

Jobs fair attracts 100

More than 100 handicapped persons in Wayne County interviewed for jobs with 11 Detroit area employers at a mini-job fair organized by Michigan Rehabilitation Services, the State Board of Education reported last week.

"Most of those interviewing for jobs had a chance to talk with several different employers," said Robert Davis, district manager with the rehabilitation service, a program that assists handicapped persons prepare for and find employment.

"The job fair was also helpful to the employers because they interviewed people who were pre-screened by us and had either the experience or the training needed for the job."

Participating businesses were Michigan National Bank, Detroit Edison, Kentucky Fried Chicken, Edison Salvage, Daily Discount, Burger King, Park Transportation, Financial Data Systems, Lawson's, Apac Paper and Packaging, and the U.S. Tank Automotive Command.

"I hired four people and am very interested in another as a manager trainee," said John Draper, area manager for a Burger King franchise of the Keys Group.

"Generally, employers become skeptical and want to know as much about a job applicant as they can," he added. "This kind of opportunity serves a very beneficial purpose. It saves us time by providing all the personnel information and it allows the applicant to feel more at ease."

JACK D. BENSON, senior staff research engineer in the fuels and lubricants department of the General Motors laboratory, was the recipient of a Forest R. McFarland Certificate of Appreciation during the SAE's 1983 Honors Convocation. The Honors Convocation was a highlight of the 1983 SAE International Congress and Exposition held in Detroit, the week of February 28.

The Forest R. McFarland/Engineering Activity Board Appreciation Program recognizes individuals who have rendered outstanding service in the organization of technical sessions and development of papers for SAE national meetings and conferences.

Benson, his wife Linda, and their two children live in Commerce Township.

WALTER TOEBE CONSTRUCTION Company of Wixom was low bidder at $708,626 for a project by the Michigan Department of Transportation to replace guard rails on nine bridges and resurface decks on two. All the bridges are along US-27 in Emerson, Bethany and Pine River townships of Gratiot County. Target date is November. The low bid must be approved by the State Transportation Commission and State Administrative Review Board before contracts are awarded. The Toebe Construction bid was for one of 65 projects totaling roughly $26 million let out June 15. Included were state highway resurfacing in 18 counties, improvements at seven airports, and removal and replacement of many older deficient bridges on county roads. Jobs will be provided in 45 counties, according to MDOT.

DR. JUDE T. COTTER of Northville, a psychotherapist at the Farmington Hills Counseling Services and professor of psychology at Oakland Community College has been awarded Diplomate Status by the International Academy of Professional Counseling and Psychotherapy.

The Academy is an international, multi-disciplinary organization dedicated to the pursuit of excellence in counseling and psychotherapy. It numbers among its members many of the most prominent individuals in the counseling and psychotherapy professions.

DOUGLAS TEUBERT, 304 S. Main, Northville, ranked fourth nationally among all Lutheran Brotherhood district representatives during May.

This achievement was based on the amount of life and mental health insurance, annuities, and mutual funds he provided Lutherans in his area. Approximately 1,000 district representatives are associated with the national fraternal insurance society.

Teubert is associated with Lutheran Brotherhood's Karl Mueller Agency in Rochester. He joined the society in 1981.

Exhibit demonstrates milk package

executives.

Ex-Cell-O took on the promotion in the face of formidable competition from plastic gallon jugs — more than half the milk sold in the U.S. is packaged in the translucent containers.

But research cited by the firm indicates milk in plastic jugs may be losing some of the nutritional value for which you buy milk in the first place.

At the crux of the presentation are the findings of recent studies which indicate the fluorescent lighting found in most dairy cases causes milk to lose a significant amount of vitamins, especially Vitamins A, C and B2, as well as flavor.

The paperboard cartons, according to the researchers, block out most of the light, protecting nutrients and flavor better than plastic jugs.

Many consumers are unaware of the effect packaging has on nutrition and flavor of milk, Ex-Cell-O contends, so the publicity accompanying the mobile exhibit stresses consumer education.

The firm's market research shows that when consumers learn of the nutritional and flavor studies, then are presented with the 2-pak gallon at a price comparable to the plastic gallon, the paperboard cartons again outsold the plastic.

Response from the dairy industry, according to Ex-Cell-O officers, has been positive. In addition to increased market share in the cities visited by the exhibit, the firm has received orders for both the Pure-Pak filling machines and the handle applicators with sales approaching $1.5 million.

hen the struggle for ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment came to a grinding halt last June 30, opponents rejoiced over the supposed end to the decades-long battle for women's equality.

Despite the ERA's momentous passage by Congress in 1972, its ratification by 35 of the needed 38 states and an extended three-year ratification deadline, the amendment guaranteeing women full protection under the Constitution fizzled out only three states shy of its needed approval.

On the eve of the year anniversary marking the demise of the 10-year effort to ratify the Equal Rights Amendment, feminists are defying their opponents' claims of defeat and once again are gearing up for another fight.

According to Laura Callow, a founding member of the local Northwest-Wayne County Chapter of the National Organization for Women, last year's failure to meet the ERA ratification deadline is viewed by feminists "simply as a delay, not a defeat."

Callow, a longtime women's rights activist and chairperson of Michigan ERAmerica, points out that there "has been a stiffening of resolve since the loss."

"I think by and large there has been an awakening of women to gain political power," she notes.

In describing the gains women have made in the political arena, Callow points specifically to the gender gap — the long overlooked variable of voting patterns among men and women.

Long disregarded at the polls, women today are proving their political clout at the voting booth, Callow explains, adding that women in politics will be a force to be reckoned with in upcoming elections.

Citing Michigan's gubernatorial race as an example, Callow points out that "Blanchard owes his election, in part, to the women's vote."

Blanchard's pro-ERA stance coupled with his selection of Martha Griffiths — an original sponsor of the Equal Rights Amendment — as his running mate, proved successful for the former Democratic congressman.

She notes that since the "Republican Party dropped its support of the amendment" at the 1980 GOP Convention, the Democrats have made the ERA a "top priority."

The first resolution before Congress this year was the Equal Rights Amendment. Among its staunchest supporters is Massachusetts Democrat Paul Tsongas, a chief sponsor of the ERA bill reintroduced in the Senate.

The amendment, reintroduced in the same wording, states that (1). Equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of sex. (2). The Congress shall have the power to enforce, by appropriate legislation, the provisions of this article. (3). This amendment shall take effect two years after the date of ratification.

While ERA advocates anticipate another tough battle on the national front, the status of the amendment at the state level currently is sound.

Callow notes that Michigan recently passed an ERAmerica resolution urging Congress to approve the amendment and send it out to the states for ratification.

The resolution passed in the Senate by a vote of 28-6 and was approved in the House by an overwhelming voice vote.

While Callow acknowledges that the ERA is in relatively good hands at the state level, other issues are causing grave concern for women's rights proponents at both the state and federal levels.

Foremost among the concerns currently facing the National Organization for Women is the recent lobbying campaign by insurance companies against legislation now before Congress outlawing sex discrimination in insurance.

The proposed Nondiscrimination in Insurance Act prohibits discrimination on the basis of race, color, sex, religion and national origin in the availability, price and payout of every type of insurance and pension contract — from auto and life insurance to disability income insurance and joint and survivor pensions.

Northville Record/STEVE FECHT

One year later

Was the failure to ratify the Equal Rights Amendment last July, a delay or defeat? Local NOW members are ready to keep fighting. And unlike Susan B. Anthony they hope to see their efforts turn into legislation within their lifetime.

By MICHELE McELMURRY

Callow contends that sex discrimination in insurance primarily disadvantages women and notes that "when men's costs are higher, women subsidize men, but when women's costs are higher they are charged more or denied benefits — that's called fair sex discrimination."

Callow also notes that the "anti-ERA foes are holding the insurance line" and specifically points to Phyllis Schlafly, founder of Stop-ERA and the Eagle Forum, who has testified before Congress against the proposed Nondiscrimination in Insurance Act.

"We believe if we take away discrimination in insurance," Callow explains, "it will help end Stop-ERA."

Northville resident Glenna Davis, also a member of Northwest-Wayne County NOW and past president of Michigan Homemakers Equal Rights Association, says she also believes the abolition of discrimination in insurance could hurt the anti-ERA coalition.

"We're quite sure there is a connection between the insurance industry and Stop-ERA," she contends. "If that (Nondiscrimination in Insurance Act) passes, it's bound to take the wind out of their sails, so to speak."

While continuing its battle to abolish discrimination on all fronts, NOW also is reexamining its membership's direction.

At the Michigan NOW State Conference, held June 11-12 at Schoolcraft College, outgoing president Margot-Duley Morrow noted there is some evidence of "chapter burnout" in the larger cities due to the fact that many of its members have been "working on the front line for so long," — particularly during the final push for ratification of the ERA.

However, while citing the need for a revitalization among the larger NOW chapters, she also mentioned the growing number of smaller, grassroots chapters.

She noted that Holland, Alma and Marquette now are among Michigan's 30 NOW chapters.

Callow contends that "burnout" is not a problem for Northwest-Wayne County NOW — which includes Northville among its membership. In fact, she says, there is "still a great deal of vitality."

Though she admits much of her energy has been spent in working towards ratification of the ERA, Callow says she maintains her continued involvement in other areas of the women's movement.

Since joining NOW in 1972, Callow has served six years as chair of Michigan ERAmerica, was former Governor William Milliken's appointee to the White House Conference on Families in 1980 and a delegate to Women's Assembly III — a coalition of many organizations brought together to form a platform on women's issues.

Though she admits that last year's failure to meet the ERA deadline was disappointing, Callow says she remains hopeful about its passage and notes that "so many other good things have happened as a result of the women's movement."

"We have raised consciousness about battered women and made people aware of sexual harassment," she explains. "We've also raised consciousness that rape is a violent crime and we've recognized the displaced homemaker."

"These are things the women's movement has done."

Davis, a Northville Board of Education trustee and chairperson of its Title IX subcommittee, also noted the vast changes which have taken place as a result of the women's fight for equal rights.

"I really feel that so many of the positive changes wouldn't have happened if it weren't for the pressure of the ERA," she adds.

Currently working with Michigan NOW on a Title IX project, Davis notes that had it not been for the women's movement, Title IX regulations would be of little — if any — concern.

As the women's movement heads into the 21st century, the struggle for equal rights most likely will be taking on new challenges.

Looking to the future of the amendment drafted by suffrage leader Alice Paul in 1923, Callow says she hopes to see the ERA ratified within her lifetime.

However, reflecting on the 19th amendment — guaranteeing women the right to vote — she notes that suffrage leader Susan B. Anthony spent 50 years of her life fighting for that right and died 14 years before it became the law of the land.

"Maybe I won't see the ERA ratified," Callow observes, "but at least I'll be in good company."

By the numbers

What exactly would it have taken for the Equal Rights Amendment to have become the law of the land? Well, approximately 3,161 yes votes by state representatives and senators would have been the minimum. That figure represents two-thirds of the 38 states required to have enacted ERA. The count is on again and this time proponents hope they won't come up short like last time.

Stirling-Palarchio speak vows

Mary Kay Palarchio, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Palarchio of 18275 Edenderry Drive, became the bride of Robert W. Stirling June 11 at Mercy Chapel in Farmington.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Stirling of Warren.

The double ring, candlelight ceremony was officiated by Father John O'Callaghan.

Soloist Joel Ebersole, music professor at Mercy College, sang "Speak Softly Love," "Ave Maria" and "The Wedding Song." He was accompanied on the organ by his wife, Jan Ebersole.

Escorted down the aisle by her father, the bride wore an ivory English net gown embroidered with Schiffl Belgium lace. The gown, fashioned by Mendicino of New York, was enhanced with a high scalloped neckline of applied petals. Her embroidered headpiece held a scallop-edged veil and both the veil and gown extended into a train.

The bride carried a crescent bouquet of fresh stephanotis with ivy and three calla lilies, baby's-breath and fern.

Margo Cantrell of Englewood, Ohio, served as her sister's matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Kimberly Dieterle and the bride's cousins Pamela Tassoni and Lori Curcio.

The bride's attendants wore pale Iris georgette gowns fashioned with ruffled bodices. Each carried a presentation bouquet of long-stemmed Iris, ivy, fern and baby's-breath with elongated pink and white blossoms of spring flowers tied with Iris, pink and white streamers.

Keith Borowy was best man and ushers were Rick Carpenter, the bridegroom's brother Jeffery Stirling and the bridegroom's brother-in-law Al Cantrell.

The bridegroom's niece Christina Stirling was flower girl and his nephew Robert Stirling was ring bearer.

A reception for 280 guests was held at the Mercy Conference Center following the ceremony. Among those attending was the bride's aunt from Newport Beach, California, and relatives from Fremont, California; Wheaton, Illinois and Youngstown, Ohio.

The bride is a 1979 Northville High School graduate and received her bachelor of science degree in criminal justice from Western Michigan University in April. She worked as an intern for the Prosecuting Attorney's Office in Kalamazoo and is seeking employment in her field.

The bridegroom is a 1975 Centerline High School graduate and received his degree in computer systems engineering from Western Michigan University. He currently is employed at the Solar Research and Development Center at Western.

Following a wedding trip to the Summit Resort area at the Pocono Mountains, the newlyweds returned to Kalamazoo where they will make their home.

The bride made her full-length satin and lace gown enhanced with an old-fashioned ruffled yoke, high neckline and tied at the waist with a white satin sash. She carried a bouquet of white rosebuds and orchids.

The bride's sister Christine Brownlee served as maid of honor. She wore a cocktail-length pink taffeta dress with a fitted bodice, white ribbon sash and ruffle around the shoulders and neckline.

Bridesmaid Ruth Goldfine wore a dress identical to the maid of honor's except it was tied with a pink sash. Both attendants' gowns were made by the bride and they carried bouquets of white and pink rosebuds and carnations.

Philip Frost was best man. Ushers were Charles Anderson and William Beach.

A buffet reception with strolling musicians immediately followed the ceremony at the home of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Brownlee. Among the 70 guests attending the wedding and reception was the bridegroom's grandmother Mrs. John T. Rodgers of Louisville, Kentucky.

The Northville Record

Northville's Sandy Kazaleh volleys a forehand

Heat's no sweat to netters

By B.J. MARTIN

Overcoming torrid temperatures (in the mid-90s) and increased competition from other tennis tournaments scheduled the same weekend, the Northville Open again attracted a sizeable number of participants for another successful year.

The only Northville resident to capture a title in one of the five divisions of play was 13-year-old Breita Johnson, who won the women's singles title when Janice Longhurst, hot and exhausted after a 6-7 defeat in the first set, declined to play further on Sunday after fall-tournament 4-6, 6-4, 6-2.

In mixed doubles, the team of Plymouth's Tom Fisher and Betty Fesko of Allen Park reclaimed its 1982 Northville Open title by topping Northville's Tom Spade, Jr. and Julie Caldwell in the semifinals 6-1, 6-3, then winning by default in the final over Jim Bajor and Lisa Alfano.

In women's doubles, Fesko teamed with West Bloomfield's Donna Hancher to take Marsha Lukomski and Masako Sugimoto 6-4, 6-3 in the Sunday final after each of the teams had breezed to the finals in straight sets. It was the second straight Northville Open doubles championship for Fesko and Hancher.

In men's doubles, there was also a good turnout of 13 pairs. In a laboriously heated (literally and figuratively) final, it was Sitek and Doug Button of Farmington outlasting Fisher and Ed Miller 7-5, 7-6 with an 8-6 tie-breaker.

Tournament Director Kerry Hlady, coordinator and instructor for Northville Recreation Department-sponsored tennis clinics, pronounced the tournament, co-sponsored by the department and Lipton Tea, a success.

"We drank a good 20 gallons of iced tea, courtesy of Lipton," Hlady remarked, "and at least another 20 gallons of ice water."

"We had some really good matches, especially in men's singles and doubles," Hlady added.

Upcoming events also sponsored by the Recreation Department will be the Junior Boys and Girls Singles and Doubles tournament in July and the End of Summer Doubles tournament in August.

For further information on the tournaments and registrar for department tennis instruction clinics, contact Hlady at 981-2246 or the Recreation Department at 349-0203.

Seeing America by bicycle

For two Northville bikers, it's their favorite way to go

By B.J. MARTIN

Think you get a nasty saddle sore when you try biking a few miles? Get a load of these guys — Greg Murphy and Dave Snyder, both of Northville.

Murphy, 21, is back home now, while Snyder, also 21, is still in Ocean City, New Jersey, the destination of a 1,500-mile bicycle trip the two took a couple of weeks ago. He will return late this summer before starting back to school at Western Michigan University.

Murphy got a ride back in a friend's car to return to work at MacKinnon's, where he does "a little of everything" to pay his way through Culinary Arts School at Schoolcraft College. He described his expedition, which began May 24 and ended June 9, with unfathomable enthusiasm — in fact, he can hardly wait for his next outing.

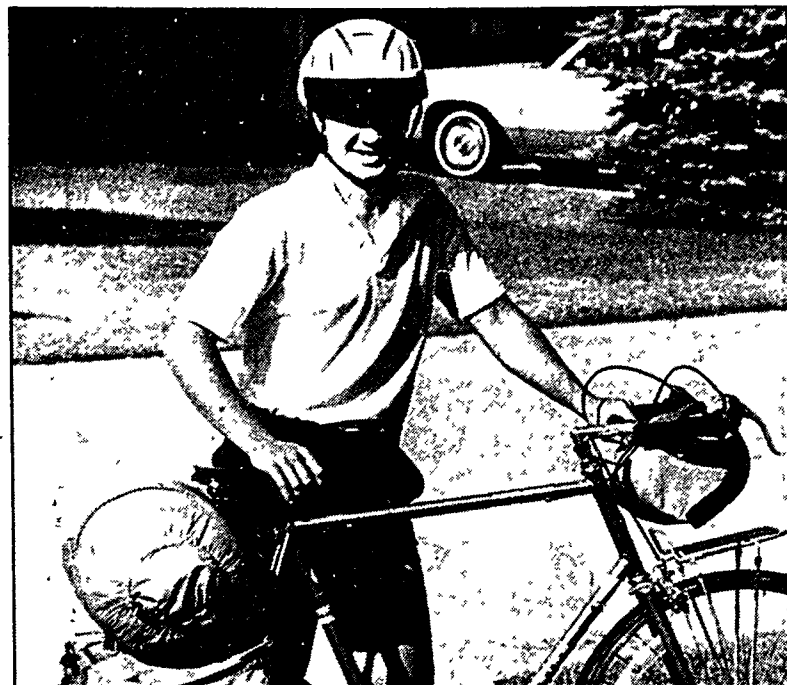

People might wonder why Ocean City. Or why New Jersey. Or why anyone would hop on such archaic machinery north into the Northern Peninsula, then back down again. But I was looking for to go 15 miles, let alone 1,500. But it's another one of those "Because it's there" kinds of stories.

"We started in Windsor 'cause we weren't sure we could bike across the Ambassador Bridge. We found out later we could have," Murphy said last week. "Dave wanted to go to Ocean City to participate in a Campus Crusade gathering. It's a seminar group that runs for 10 weeks every summer. We'd talked about biking it for a long time."

Murphy had some experience at distance biking. He accompanied about 50 members of the Ward Presbyterian Church, Livonia, on a 500-mile trip in 1977 and a 1,000-mile trip in 1978.

"That (the 1978 outing) was a cross-Michigan trip," he said. "We biked across the state, took a ferry across Lake Michigan into Wisconsin, biked

At 13, Johnson a winner already

Taking the Northville Open women's singles championship at the tender age of 13 is only the most recent noteworthy accomplishment of Northville's Breita Johnson.

Since entering official competition for the first time last fall, Breita has taken home several titles in 15 sanctioned tournaments.

Of them, the most significant took place in competition in Waterford June 18-21 — the Southeast Michigan Tennis Association district finals. Out of 60 contestants, Breita took eighth, qualifying for the United States Tennis Association regional playoffs in Okemos.

At the regionals, Breita, who will likely transfer to Northville public schools this fall to play on the Mustang varsity squad, will encounter players from Ohio, Indiana and Illinois as well as from all over Michigan, playing off for the national USTA championship.

Winner of the Northville Open in women's singles, 13-year-old Breita Johnson has been on a hot streak, qualifying last week for the upcoming USTA regionals next week in Okemos.

Sponsorship events for kids to be featured on Field Day

Pledges for youngsters participating in the Athletic Field Day Fundraiser are still being sought for the Community Recreation Department.

Funds raised for the program will go directly toward eliminating the department's Community Center deficit.

In response to questions of whether pledge forms not returned at school are still being accepted, recreation officials have announced that forms will be accepted through July 3, and can be turned in at Recreation Department offices on Main Street or to sponsorship program volunteers the day of the events.

The events will include: 50 yard dash and softball throw for elementary students; 75 yard dash and football throw for junior high students, and 100 yard dash and frisbee throw for high school students.

"Open" sponsorship of contributions to the department will also take place July 3. Donors who would like to sponsor a student can arrange to do so on Field Day by directly contacting sponsorship program volunteers.

Volunteers who can help run sponsorship activities should contact Jim Petres at 455-2429.

Marathon bicyclist Greg Murphy

Niagara Falls, Berkshires, NYC along the way on 1,500-mile trek

ward to making this trip with just the two of us."

You may remember the weather from the end of last month. It rained a lot. And in fact, during the first nine days of the pair's trip it rained on the cyclists every other day as they pedaled northeast through Ontario.

"When we started out, I had $380 and Dave had $300. When we got there he had barely anything left, and I was really cleaned out too," he said.

Traveling light was an understatement. Both packed the bare essentials — a change of clothes, tools, a few pairs of shorts and short-sleeve shirts and a pup tent.

The route was mapped out — up along southern Ontario, cross to New York in Niagara Falls, then bike east through the Finger Lakes and the Alleghenies and Berkshires down into the urban flatlands. But there were no scheduled stops.

Flats were a particularly big problem on their trip, much more so than it had been in the past. "We had eight flats between the two of us," Murphy reported. "And it all happened in a four-day span. We usually carried one spare each."

Before the New Jersey expedition, Murphy had had only one flat on any of his previous trips — one reason their bad luck with flats took them by surprise.

"I think the problem was just a lousy tire," Murphy said. "The road just kept chewing them up. After the last one, I just bought a real good tire, steel-belted. I didn't have any problems after that, even in New York (City) with all that glass."

Murphy called the Big Apple a "trip," which makes you wonder what he considered the foregoing thousand miles. "It was kind of neat. We went through Queens, Brooklyn. We had to take a ferry to Staten Island, though. We got stuck there at a Holiday Inn one night — $75. That sort of drained us."

The pair biked around Massachusetts and Connecticut, taking in the towns of Salem, Mass. and Mystic Seaport, Conn., before finally unwinding at the end of the excursion in New Jersey.

"Massachusetts, I think, was by far the most beautiful state we were biking in. They call what they have there 'hills,' but they seem like mountains to me."

The marathon biking sessions have proved stimulating to the pair, but the experience has made Murphy a little canner. "If anyone's thinking of doing something like this, I'd say they should get thick, heavy-duty tires and inner tubes."

'We had to walk up some hills for six and seven mile stretches. But it was nice coming down. You can really fly coming down a mountainside.'

"There was no telling how far we'd get each day," Murphy explained. "We'd go 130 miles a day on flatlands, which is pretty much how it was 'til we got to Geneva (New York)."

The mountains presented a real effort for the pair, as anyone who has biked up even a moderately long hill can attest. "We had to walk up some hills for six and seven mile stretches," Murphy added. "But it was nice coming down. You can really fly heading down a mountainside."

At that point, the bikes would get up to speeds of as much as 55 miles an hour, although going downhill around curves required they go much slower. And often a headwind would hold back their speeds. But, Murphy said, that can sometimes be a blessing.

"When you're going that fast, your eyes start watering till you can hardly see."

The longest stop the two had was in eastern New York near Cooperstown. It was the Saturday of Memorial Day weekend — May 28 — and Murphy got a flat, and at that point, had no spare tube.

"We got to a hardware store in town that closed five minutes before we got to it. We had to walk three or four miles to a KOA. Some guy helped us rig up the tube and we got to Schenectady and stayed there 'til we got going on Monday."

What's next is the real McCoy — real mountains. "Next year we're thinking that if we can get the time off and if we have enough money we can bike home from the West Coast, either from California or Seattle," Murphy said.

'If we can get the time off and if we have enough money, we want to bike home from the West Coast, either from California or Seattle.'

The west-to-east route has been done before, albeit not too often, since the Continental Divide poses a mind-and-body-boggling challenge to a bicyclist, let alone the vast expanses of sense-numbing endless plains of the western Midwest.

"We're really looking forward to it," Murphy concluded. "We had been talking about this year's trip since last summer, but this would be really great."

Golf prowess runs in family

Faithful sports section readers may have run across articles about Bob Stephens, a key member of the Saginaw Valley State golf team and a Northville resident.

But Bob is hardly the end of the Stephens' family's contribution to golf, as Bob's younger brothers Mark, 12, and Paul, 16, have proven in recent tournament appearances.

Last Thursday and Friday, Mark competed in the Oakland County Junior Invitational tournament (ages 12-13 eligible) and took home first place, notching a 92 Thursday at Springfield Oaks Golf Course and a 90 the next day at White Lake Oaks golf course.

Paul has no less of an accomplishment under his belt. In the recent Macomb County Big 1 Insurance Youth Golf Classic, Paul put together a 76 for first place at Gowanle Country Club, Mount Clemens.

The state tourney will be held Monday, July 18 at Elks Country Club in Port Huron. The 36-hole tilt featuring golfers from St. Clair, Macomb, Oakland, Livingston, Washtenaw, Monroe, Lenawee, Wayne and Hillsdale counties.

Runners urged to exercise care

Runners who venture far astray should be on the lookout for potentially dangerous situations, says Director of the American Running and Fitness Association Liz Elliott.

Citing figures indicating a rise in violent crimes against people, particularly women, who work out by running, Elliott offers joggers the following advice:

- Try to run with other people;
- Don't run in alleys or isolated and unpopulated areas;
- Run at a time when you know there will be lots of other people around;
- Avoid running at night;
- Don't run near doorways where an attacker might hide;
- Stay away from trails or sections of trails surrounded by heavy brush or dense trees, especially if the trail is away from the roadway;

- Vary your running pattern and schedule so no one can count on seeing you in a certain place at a certain time of day;
- Know your route; this way you won't be unpleasantly surprised by dark or desolate areas set off from the street;
- Buy a large dog to keep you company when you run — or borrow one from a friend or neighbor;
- Take a self-defense course through your local "Y" or recreation department.

For more information about running, fitness, and safety on the run, write to the American Running and Fitness Association, 2420 K Street, NW, Washington, D.C. 20037.

Cheerleaders keep at it throughout summer

Workout

Squad to travel to EMU for clinic

By B.J. MARTIN

With recent fund-raising events such as a free car wash and a cheerleading clinic for 44 youngsters, the Northville cheerleading squad has been doing anything but showing signs of vacationing or even slowing down for the summer.

"The funds we're raising will go to camp and possibly to getting some sweats (sweat suits)," explains coach Licia Maguire.

The "camp" Maguire refers to is the United States Cheerleading Association camp at Eastern Michigan University July 7-10, and the squad is hard at work with daily practices to prepare for the camp and competitions.

To the casual observer, the individual and group routines — two a capella cheers, mounts, stunts and dances, all original — may look cute, but actually they are hard work, as a viewing of a typical practice session will reveal. Not only are leg kicks and steps synchronized, but even nuances like tilts of the head are carefully worked out.

The result? Last year, a cheerleading unit that placed first among Class A squads in Michigan. The squad modestly hopes to do nearly as impressive a job as last year. If they can't, it won't be for lack of practice.

"We practice five out of seven days a week when school lets out, and for the two weeks before camp, we go seven days a week, from 8 to 10:30 in the morning and 5:30 to 8:30 at night," explains co-captain Jody Folino.

Folino, captain Amy Holland, co-captain Jill Anger, Jean Dusablon, Kathy Kossak, Michele Craig, Kim McCrae, Jill Taschner, Sandy Stevens and Lisa Dye comprise the team.

Evening cruise of Kent offered

Schoolcraft College to host Wolverine soccer tourney

By B.J. MARTIN

Those interested in a glimpse at the future in American sports would do well to get an eyeful of the upcoming Fourth Annual Invitational Wolverine Soccer Tournament at Schoolcraft College this weekend.

It's indicative of the strides soccer has made in the U.S. While the first annual invitational in 1979 drew a respectable turnout of something less than 100 teams, this year tournament backers predict about 200 teams from across Michigan and from as far away as Maryland, Indiana, Virginia, Illinois, Ohio, Ontario and Missouri are expected to attend, in addition to teams from Northville, Novi and surrounding communities.

"Right now more kids are playing organized soccer than any other sport, including baseball," observed tournament vice-chairman Dick Walters of Novi.

Walters, who resides inside the Walled Lake school district, has been a constant supporter of soccer in Walled Lake, attempting to institute the sport at the Walled Lake Central and Western high schools. As of now, the two Walled Lake high schools are the only teams in the Western Lakes Activities Association without varsity soccer programs.

For Walters, events like the Wolverine tournament are pivotal in stirring up interest in the sport, particularly in the Novi-Walled Lake area, which still lags a little behind soccer hotbeds like Northville, Livonia, Plymouth and even Brighton.

"This tournament," he said last week, "is unquestionably one of the largest and most prestigious in the midwest and nationally. It is the major tournament of soccer in the state."

"But I think what's more impressive than the numbers involved is how the caliber of play has improved. The quality has improved immensely."

Walters, Schoolcraft Athletic Director Dr. Marvin Gans, Gans' assistant Dr. Cecil Woodruff and Michigan Youth Soccer Association Chairperson Walt Peterman have been planning the tournament for months, although scheduling details are still being worked out.

All of the pairings are expected to fall into place this week, although some tentative times and locations have been released.

"We're really not likely going to have the whole schedule finally fixed until the coaches' meeting Friday night," Walters remarked, citing the enormous task of edule would be released.

Among the top teams to compete will be one from Rochester, New York, acknowledged as America's premier Under-19 team. There are two professional soccer draft picks on the squad, and four All-American high school players.

The Forest Park Buckeyes of Ohio and Northville's Stingers, runners-up at the state Under-19 finals last year, and several Bonanza league teams, including Ram's Sport Club, will be among the local teams participating, along with all the Novi youth teams.

Among area girls teams to compete will be Northville's highly-regarded Wildcats, recently winners of the Warren Youth Soccer Tournament.

More than 30 of the youngest teams will be accommodated by the homes of soccer playing youngsters throughout the area. Others will be staying at local hotels.

The games will run Saturday, July 2, from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.; Sunday, July 3, from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. and finals will take place Monday, July 4, from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Although Schoolcraft's soccer facilities are extensive, additional tournament games will be played at Livonia Bicentennial Park, Livonia Jaycee Park, both located nearby.

There is no charge for watching tournament games, although parking on Schoolcraft College grounds will cost $1.

Also featured throughout the weekend will be carnival games, including a soccer-shot dunk tank, and special $1 tickets for a double-header soccer game at the Silverdome featuring a top-flight amateur championship game and the Detroit Express.

Connie Mack team sweeps 3

Powered by some explosive hitting, the Northville Connie Mack (17-18) baseball team ran its summer record to 8-2 last week with a doubleheader sweep over Howell and a 10-5 win over Allen Park.

Big Steve Schrader wielded a big bat in the Allen Park game, clobbering a double and triple and knocking in two runs. Todd Bartling also had two hits. Winning pitcher was right-handed reliever Bob Pegrum.

The opener against Howell on Saturday was a rollicking 21-3 Northville runaway — on the mound, Schrader and Dave Longridge teamed for a two-hitter, with Schrader picking up the victory. Todd Deal's long three-run homer paced the Northville squad, with Schrader and Longridge each recording two hits.

The long ball keyed the second half of the twinbill for Northville, a 7-5 win. Steve Schrader and Bob Pegrum hit back-to-back homers in the early going. Schrader's good for three RBI. Mickey Newman joined the act in the fourth inning, ripping a deep homer out of the park.

Jeff Metz added two hits in Northville's offensive output, while Dan Nielsen notched his first win, allowing only one hit in five innings while striking out eight.

Gold 9 drops 2 one-run games

Northville's Mickey Mantle Gold Team topped to 2-4 for the season with a pair of near-miss losses last week — both a 10-9 contest Thursday against Brighton and a 7-6 loss Saturday against Allen Park were settled by seventh inning rallies from Gold's opponents.

Brighton rallied for four in the seventh to offset a strong offensive output for Gold paced by Mark Olson (2-for-2, 2 RBI, 2 walks) and Robbie Cannon (2-for-3, 3 runs, 2 RBI).

After yielding five runs in the first due to some defensive lapses by his teammates, Bob Workman settled down and yielded only two hits until the seventh inning.

Gold chipped away at the league with Cannon and Chris Woodman leading the way with two hits and two RBI each.

The Northville Gold squad returns to action Thursday at Novi High School against Crestwood at 6:30 p.m., then will take on Wayne Ford at Northville High School's baseball field Saturday at 1 p.m.

Pegrum sixth in tilt

Northville's Bob Pegrum, a senior this fall, represented Northville High School at the 1983 Junior Champions Invitational Golf Tournament last week, placing in a sixth place tie out of more than 240 entries.

The tournament, held at Michigan State University Golf Course, Forest Akers, East Lansing, took place Tuesday of last week. Pegrum, a member of the Mustang varsity golf team last fall, shot a steady 38-38 for a 76 total over the 6,800-yard course.

Mets, Pirates hot teams in G league baseball

The Mets' pair of Steves — Pearce and Ventura — combined their talents for a 3-1 one-hit win over the hot-hitting Phillies to raise the Mets into a first place tie with the Phils in "G" League action last week.

Ventura and Pearce

were tough on offense, too, with Ventura's single and hitting Phillies to raise the first by Pearce accounting for two Mts runs. Singles by Jeff Duwell and Kurt Cleveland in the second inning added the insurance run.

In other league action, the Pirates swept two games by topping the Padres 12-6 and the Braves 14-2, keeping one game back of the Mets and Phillies.

Pirate batters combined for 26 hits in the two games, with key RBI from Jones, Lobbia, Damavolet and McNeil.

New Walled Lake 10-k race July 4

By B.J. MARTIN

As many as 400 to 500 joggers, runners, walkers and toddlers are expected to trot out to Walled Lake Monday to participate in the city's two biggest running events ever.

Monday, July 4, will mark the first running of the 10-kilometer (10,000 meters, 6.2 mile) run around Walled Lake, an event co-sponsored by the Walled Lake Jaycees and Miller Lite beer company.

While it's likely to be a scorcher of a day for the event, and for a 2-mile "fun run" immediately following, the planners have devised a course that begins and ends at Mercer Beach on the lake's northeast shore — thus allowing those who can go the distance to dunk themselves after the race. Refreshments are also to be provided to entries.

The 10-kilometer run will go from Mercer Beach south along Walled Lake Drive and East Lake Drive, west to West Lake Drive, dogear a mile back and forth out West Road, then pick up West Lake and Pontiac Trail through town and return to Mercer Beach, at the lake's northernmost point.

The Fun Run, a 2-mile run open to the public, will run from Mercer Beach east to Decker Road along Léon, south to 14 Mile, back to Walled Lake Drive north to the beach again.

Runners in the 10-kilometer event will be awarded prizes according to one of four age categories, consisting of 20 and under, 21-29, 30-39, 40-49 and 50-plus. A male and female in each category will receive a trophy and the next three placers will be given medals, and the overall winners will receive inscribed plaques.

The race is the brainchild of Jaycee Dave Grim and Walled Lake City Manager Mike Dornan, who conceived the idea about two months ago, according to co-organizer Regan Hill of the Walled Lake Jaycees. "We're expecting people from all over to participate," Hill added.

Participants will receive a special commemorative t-shirt. Race time is at 10 a.m., with the fun run immediately following the 10-K run.

Entry fee for the 10-kilometer race is $6 and must be received no later than Saturday, July 2.

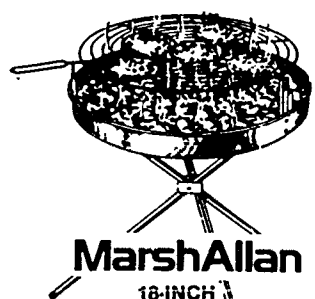

Checks are payable to the Walled Lake Jaycees. Mail to: Walled Lake 10k run, Box 335, Walled Lake, MI 48088, att. Regan Hill. For further information, call 669-4133.
