Church objects to transfer of Winner's Circle license

By KEVIN WILSON

Plans to relocate the Winner's Circle Bar from Main Street to 135 North Center received a setback last week when the Open Door Church filed an objection with the state Liquor Control Commission.

The late objection from the church at 145 North Center prompted city council to rescind its earlier approval of the liquor license transfer, pending results of an LCC hearing on the issue.

Churches or schools located within 500 feet of the proposed location of a liquor license are afforded an opportunity to file comments which are a consideration in the LCC's decision on license applications. The Open Door Christian Church is north of the proposed new location for the bar, immediately adjacent to it.

In a letter to the LCC, which Winner's Circle owner James Rea received along with notice that the agency would schedule a hearing on the matter, the Open Door Church cited the adjoining wall, parking problems and a desire not "to expose our children, who will be here five days a week to the type of clientele that will be visiting Mr. Rea's establishment."

Rea provided copies of the LCC notice and church objections to the city, which had received no notice of the objection because it had already approved the license transfer.

When approving the license transfer, council member J. Burton DeRusha recalled, the council was under the impression that the Open Door Church had been contacted and did not object to the location.

At the previous council session, Mayor Paul Vernon said he had been told the church had not been asked for an opinion. Council had asked Police Chief Rodney Cannon to look into the matter.

Cannon reported Monday that the LCC investigator had discussed the issue with officers of the church, who had stated to him that they had no intentions of objecting.

Asked for a copy of the LCC communication with the church, an LCC representative said it was not its policy to release copies of the documentation involving investigations, Cannon said.

In the objection filed by Pastor Mark Freer and administrator Denise Losey on the basis of an August 2 vote of the church's governing board, the church charges that "Mr. Rea misled us to believe there was nothing we could do about his moving next door."

City manager Steven Walters told council this allegation is, "at least questionable, since the LCC investigator had contacted them about a month before that and explained their opportunity to object."

Council denies charge it favored bar owner

Allegations that the city had shown favoritism toward Winner's Circle bar owner James Rea and deliberately squelched public comment on his application to transfer his liquor license to North Center were strenuously denied by city council members Monday night.

Reacting to publication in The Record of a letter from attorney Charles Simkins to the mayor implying that city council's vote to approve the transfer was conducted without proper agenda notification, council members decided to ask that Vernon's response also be published as a letter to the editor (see page 13-A).

Simkins' letter, dated August 1, was in reference to objections by his client, Nelson C. Schrader, that he had not had the opportunity to comment on the transfer to a location adjacent to his property because the city agenda did not list the transfer as a separate item.

The correspondence was submitted as a letter to the editor and published August 10. Vernon's response was dated August 3.

The letter's implication that the city had also violated its own policy by approving a transfer without having a building inspector's report on hand also concerned council members.

"If this man wants to use the so-called power of the press to carry on his legal business," council member Paul Folino said, "then I think we should do the same and send the Mayor's response."

Council member J. Burton DeRusha noted that "the questions (Simkins) raises deserve an answer. The mayor's letter does answer them."

Vernon, who was not present at Monday's session, had left a memo to council outlining his concerns.

Stating he had attempted to contact Simkins before leaving, Vernon said he was unsuccessful "because he failed to return my phone calls as requested."

"My purpose was to find out firsthand if it is his normal policy to provide copies of legal correspondence to the media or if it was just a single attempt to get some cheap publicity," Vernon wrote. "I was also interested in finding out whether or not he intended to make a copy of my reply available to the media as well."

Citing a "reluctance to use letters to the editor as a means of communicating with the public," Vernon wrote that he nonetheless believes "there should be some kind of public response to his letter, which by itself would tend to question the integrity of City Council."

In Park Gardens

Sewer project delayed

The demise of the Super Sewer and Northville Township's agreement to participate in the North Arm Relief Interceptor of the Rouge Valley Sewerage and Sewage Disposal System has caused another delay in implementation of the Park Gardens Sanitary Sewer System.

Because the Department of Natural Resources is saying the Haggerty Road Arm will not be funded, Supervisor John E. MacDonald told the township board last Thursday, there will be no $87,800 expenditure included and bids will have to be adjusted accordingly.

The board voted unanimously to have the water and sewer department cancel that portion of the project and tabled awarding of the Park Gardens sewer bid until the Haggerty Road Arm is deleted.

McNeely and Lincoln Associates, township engineering firm, will redraw the plans and go back to the two lowest bidders for adjustments of their bids, MacDonald said.

Of the seven bids received, Innucci Contracting was low with the figure of $793,670 followed by Rainbow Construction at $796,841.75.

Jack McNeely told the board it probably will take a week to modify the plan.

Trustee Richard E. Allen questioned what the construction timetable would then be and commented he "would like to see it in the ground before winter."

The board also voted to incorporate into the bid rehabilitation work of road ditches in the Park Gardens subdivision as outlined in a Wayne County Road Commission letter to the township dated July 29.

The contractor would do the ditch rehabilitation, Gerald H. Dresselhouse, county engineer of maintenance, notified the township, while doing the sewers. He said a site inspection July 27 was the basis for the recommendation.

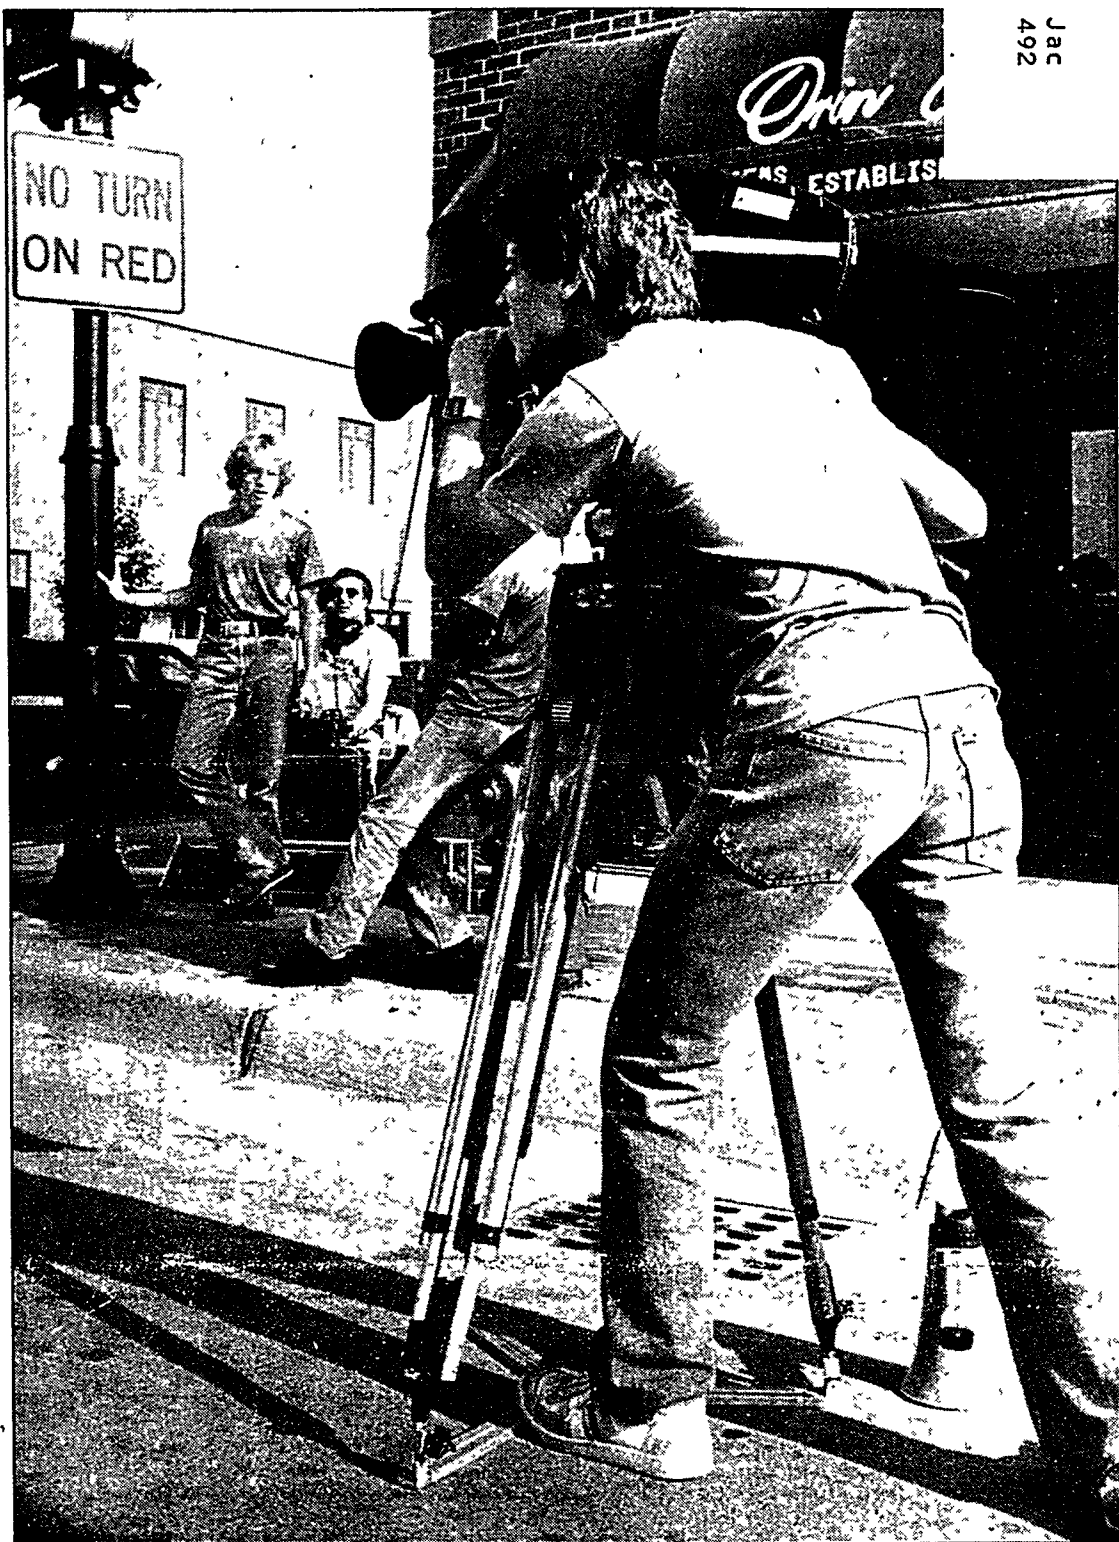

It was estimated the cost for ditch cleanout on Marilyn, Maxwell and Fry would be $19,700 with half paid by the county and half, approximately $9,850, by the township.

Walter Hollnity, water and sewer department superintendent, recommended approval of the project "while the county will pick up half the tab."

The board voted unanimously to refer the service and financing agreement for the North Arm Relief Interceptor of the Rouge Valley Sewerage and Sewage Disposal System to both the township engineer and attorney for review and recommendations.

The agreement was accompanied by a letter from Duane R. Egeland, acting department head of the Wayne County Department of Public Works, which changed the estimated local cost of the project to be financed from $1,342,801 to $1,482,366. This increases the township's share from $484,509 to $534,838.

Film student picks Northville location

By KEVIN WILSON

Downtown Northville is serving as the setting for a movie now in production by 18-year-old film student David Zaremba.

Entitled "Popcorn Man," the 30-minute film revolves around the fictional story of a mildly-retarded man who works at a small town popcorn store and his friendship with the alcoholic son of the mayor.

The Dearborn Heights resident producer/director/cameraman/film editor is an old hand at the movie game, despite his youth. Zaremba made his first film — an imitative version of Steven Spielberg's "Jaws" entitled "To Kill a Shark" — at age 11.

The film hasn't stopped rolling since. "Popcorn Man" is Zaremba's 14th movie, his second in 16mm and the first for which he intends to write original music.

His murder-mystery "For My Love... A Rose" was judged best of show in the 1982 Michigan Student Film Festival. The most recently completed movie, "Sarah," was shown on Wayne Cablevision and was his first 16mm film.

Some of the movies have been class projects, some Zaremba does for himself. "Popcorn Man" is one of the latter.

Filmed primarily on Sundays beginning July 31, the movie's greatest intrusion on the city's life occurred early August 7 when it stopped traffic in the middle of town. Northville city police held up traffic at Main and Center while Zaremba shot a scene in which a car runs a red light.

Gaining the cooperation of the police department required approval from city council, which granted it after some initial concerns about insurance were answered.

Zaremba said he chose Northville for his latest effort because he was looking for a small town location and Northville's was well-suited to the script written by his mother.

"Northville is picturesque, it's not real big, it's a nice tight place to work in," he said. "And the historical sights, the ducks and the well fit in well with the script."

Vernon to run again

By KEVIN WILSON

City mayoral and council election competition is taking shape this week as nominating petitions have been taken out for two more candidates and the two incumbent city council members stated Monday their intentions to appear on the ballot.

Clerk Joan McAllister reported to council that Robert Brueck had taken out nominating petitions to begin the reelection campaign for Mayor Paul Vernon.

Also taking nominating petitions, this time for a council seat, was Billy Max Robertson of 231 North Rogers, a former employee of the city DPW laid off last year.

Asked Monday night by council member J. Burton DeRusha if they intended to take out petitions, council members Paul Folino and Carolann Ayers both said they intended to do so.

Folino stated unequivocally that he would be running for council again. Ayers simply said she would "probably be taking out petitions" in the near future.

Petitions have already been drawn for Eugene "Bud" Kunz in a bid for the mayor's seat. Ayers is concluding a four-year council term this year, and Folino is completing two years in office after winning election to the seat vacated by Stanley Johnston.

What happened when the money ran out

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second in a two-part analysis examining the 10-year history of the city's use of racetrack revenues and showing how the present financial situation developed when parimutuel tax sharing was reduced by the state.

By KEVIN WILSON

Having established a pattern of using racetrack-generated revenues both for capital improvements and to fund current year operations, the city continued to do so in its 1981-82 fiscal year while rumblings from Lansing indicated state officials were considering reducing the share of parimutuel taxes sent here.

While promoting the millage increase to fund bonds for South Main paving, city council pledged by resolution at its May, 1981, meeting that half would be paid from track revenues, on the condition that they remained at or above the 1980-81 level. When the first, small cut came in November, Mayor Paul Vernon noted there were rumors to that effect as early as spring of 1981.

What was not known was the extent of the cuts, nor how poorly timed they would be in relation to the city's fiscal year.

Despite the city's heavy reliance on the money, Walters said the real problem was the timing of the cuts.

"By the time the full extent of the cuts was made known, we had already made most of the expenditures," he said. "They have typically cut late in the fiscal year. The first cut came in November, 1981, and was relatively small — 11 percent, less than $30,000 — and we thought we could handle it."

Thinking that executive order reduction would be the total lost in the year, the city made small adjustments and continued to spend in anticipation of receiving track revenues.

But as the year wore on there were further cuts, eventually slashing more than $300,000 out of the city's revenues after some unexpected expenses (nearly $75,000 for the Kerr House relocation for example) had made the need critical. The major cut was not announced until late May 1982 — only six weeks before the end of the city fiscal year and far too late to effect any savings.

Atop the governor's orders to reduce the allocation on a percentage basis, the Downs suffered one of its worst winter racing seasons of recent years, having lost dates to snowstorms and attendance dropping off on other nights due to the threat of storms.

By the time the books were closed, the PIF had received only $567,000 (more than $70,000 of it, in the state's eyes, being part of the next year's allocation) of the more than $800,000 expected in 1981-82 and could contribute only $40,774 to the general fund. That amounted to less than three percent of the year's general fund expenses and a dramatic reduction from the $391,000 anticipated for this purpose.

While the losses from betting taxes were the major factor producing the shortfall at year-end, there were others.

With the move of the 35th District Court to a new building in Plymouth Township and payment of costs allocated under a new method, the city saw what had been a revenue-producing function result in a loss. The difference was more than $36,000, and the losses have continued in succeeding years.

Another $20,000 was lost in other state general revenue sharing payments due to cuts; tax receipts dropped some $7,000 in part due to the Ford Valve Plant closing.

The resulting deficit, Walters and council determined, would be paid out of the 1982-83 racing revenues, which were expected to rebound to statutory levels. Adjustments to city spending plans, including canceling planned street repairs and needed repair at the parking deck plus savings realized by contracting refuse collection and laying off DPW workers, were to keep the need for funds low.

A two mill tax increase to generate another $160,000 and the reduced costs meant the city relied on racetrack money for only 14 percent of general fund expenditures last year — the lowest level in a decade, excluding the 1981-82 anomaly. The $327,000 contribution to general fund uses, however, turned out to be a large share of the $427,000 received (state figure, show closer to $500,000, including roughly $70,000 adjudged an "overpayment" from the previous year).

The cut had again come after most of the expenditures were made, and the city determined that the only way to balance its books was to carry the deficit acquired in 1981 for another year. An added $10,000 expense came out of the PIF to cover the costs of floating tax anticipation notes — in effect, borrowing from the next year's tax revenues to cover current year spending.

No new projects were launched, but the previous commitments for PIF funding were still supported.

During budget planning this year, Walters again projected receipt of $800,000 in parimutuel tax sharing, arguing that the expectation was reasonable in light of the recent state income tax increase.

Yet, after the city had established its budget and set its millage rate for the year, the legislature appropriated only $500,100. The budget that began in July calls for a $590,000 contribution from the PIF to the general fund, including some $224,000 intended to offset roughly one-half the deficit. The city again abandoned the deficit reductions.

"The situation is somewhat better this year in that we know going in not to expect the money — the appropriation is in effect a new cap on the amount we can receive," Walters said.

Still, the cut came too late for the city to raise taxes. Rather than make the drastic service reductions that are the only other alternative that would allow the city to cut the deficit, city council last week approved some minor spending reductions (about $50,000) that will provide a balance between revenue and expenditures in the current fiscal year and carry the deficit forward yet another year.

With the deficit now projected to exist at the end of a third consecutive fiscal year, the state Municipal Finance Commission is watching the city closely, and Walters told council MFC approval of the new plan is not guaranteed.

By formulating a deficit reduction plan that does not count on restoration of racetrack revenues in the near future, however, Walters told council, he expects the MFC will cooperate with the city and allow it to continue selling tax anticipation notes while addressing the problem.

Without a restoration of parimutuel tax rebates, however, the city either will have to raise taxes, reduce services, or operate under some combination of the two measures to make any headway against the tide of red ink. PIF expenditures in the current year budget are already cut about as far as possible, with few new projects.

The PIF budget plans include restoration of some money to the street funds to cover previously postponed repair and maintenance, but little else beyond the general fund expenses for police and administration attributable to the track.

So the deficit that has been reflected into the general fund will have to be made up in the general fund. Walters is preparing a long-term deficit reduction plan for submittal to council in the next few weeks.

The LCC investigator had named both Freer and Losey as the people he contacted during the investigation.

Hearing of the church's objection, DeRusha immediately moved to rescind council's earlier approval of the liquor license transfer. He said he would then like to make a motion to deny the transfer.

But Walters reminded council that its objection would immediately put a stop to the license transfer without giving Rea the benefit of a hearing.

"If you rescind the earlier action and then oppose the transfer, you in effect deny a hearing for both sides," Walters said.

"You might want to rescind and then tell the LCC you want to reconsider the issue after it has its hearing," Walters added.

Both DeRusha and Mayor Pro Tem G. Dewey Gardner, leading the session in Vernon's absence, said it would be "fairer to both sides" if council took the latter course of action.

The LCC communication to Rea advises that it will conduct a hearing "within a reasonable period of time" and that he would receive notice at least seven days in advance of the hearing date.

According to the church objection, the bar room would adjoin its "Christian school ministry. . . Loud music would disrupt our school."

The objection also cites "difficulty keeping our front parking lot, (which is a private lot) free for the use of our staff, students and congregation" due to the surrounding merchants. Through cooperation with those merchants, the objection states, the church has been able to control parking there.

Because of bar operating hours, the objection states "we would be dealing with his customers (who could be intoxicated) parking in our lot during our evening services. This would add to our day and evening parking problem, not taking into consideration the conflict of his clientele and our congregation's religious beliefs."

DeRusha said he had been surprised at the earlier session upon hearing that the fundamentalist church had filed no objections. Gardner said he also had been surprised.

Walters noted of the church — "not only had they not filed an objection, but its officers had verbally told the LCC investigator there would be no objection forthcoming."

Apparently, Walters said, the governing board of the church changed its mind at its August 2 meeting, well after the city council had already approved the transfer.

Midge's Meanderings
by Midge Haynie

I was surprised to read in THE DETROIT NEWS that Northville has a new winery. Being a lover of California wine, I had to check it out pronto.

Sure enough, there was a miniature Paul Masson right where Parmenter's Cider Mill used to be, across from Northville Lumber. A big red barn decorated appropriately with antiques, a long "tasting" bar, wooden tables and chairs, glassware on display and seven different wines await you.

Vern Bodker and son Chris have put their cider-making equipment to good use in the off season. Two years ago they started their vineyard in Brighton and it will be two more years before their vines produce. But in the meantime, they are importing Chardonnay and Cabernet grapes from California, processing and bottling them and selling under the name, Northville Winery. They are doing the same with five other Michigan wines, including a delicious apple wine, made from local Jonathan and McIntosh apples.

Naturally, Mr. Bodker made a sale: one bottle of Chardonnay ($5.50) and one bottle of Cabernet Sauvignon ($4.50), but not until after we had tasted all seven varieties. Lots of people were there on a Sunday afternoon; the counter was packed with customers.

Good luck with your new venture and, yes, I will come back for a personal tour, thank you, sir.

I'm not sure I understood Sunday's phone call from a political party headquarters in Washington, D.C.

"We wondered, Mrs. Haynie, if we can count on your continued financial support," was the question.

I replied that we contribute when and what we can periodically.

"Oh, good," she responded; "then I can put you down as a definite 'maybe' " and hung up.

And then there's the 86-year-old great grandmother who received a personal invitation by letter Saturday to join International Dating Service.

Sorry to say mascot War Paint of the Kansas City Chiefs looks and acts like a poor old war horse. In addition, the stadium looked empty there on Saturday compared to the Giants-Steelers game in Pittsburgh Friday, a sell-out.

Steel drums found during river clean-up

By KEVIN WILSON

Steel drums of unknown origin and contents were discovered by Michigan Youth Corps workers cleaning out the Rouge River in Northville last week. Most were rusted through and empty, and there was no indication as to what they may have once contained.

The youth corps workers, whose assigned task it is to remove debris from the Rouge, took five rusty steel drums from a portion of the river Thursday near the Middle Rouge Parkway's Northville Athletic Fields south of Seven Mile Road. Most were rusted through and empty. The work crew is one of many in the state summer employment program and is under the direction of the Wayne County executive's office.

A sixth drum, in better condition and perhaps newer than the others, was sighted but left in place in a logjam in the Rouge roughly 100 yards south (downstream) from the Palmer Paving bridge south of the intersection of Reservoir and Northville roads.

The Palmer bridge may be recalled as the one washed away in the flooding in October, 1981, and since reconstructed.

Of the six drums, four are known to be empty, one contains a small quantity of unknown fluid and the sixth seems to be open and may be empty.

Rouge River Watershed director and Plymouth Township Trustee Lee Fidge said some of the drums may have been used by the county road commission as trash containers in the park, but that others are sealed on both ends and may have been dumped in the river.

Of the five near the athletic field, three are heavily rusted and appear to have been in the river for a long time. Whatever contents they may have had likely leaked out large holes in the sides.

The others are largely intact, but only one is known to contain fluid, which may be only river water.

Lee Fidge examines drums discovered by Michigan Youth Corps employees in Rouge River

Fidge, who is doing a river study in connection with her role with the watershed group, said she knew of the youth corps discovery only after the drums had already been removed from the river. She said she advised the workers to leave such discoveries in place so the DNR can inspect the sites.

Fidge asked township clerk Susan Heintz to contact the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) and ask that it examine the drums to determine whether they had once contained pollutants of any sort.

Heintz did so and was asked, by DNR, first to have township employees pick up the drums and store them for DNR examination. Heintz, noting the township does not have a DPW and that the drums are on county property, said the township could not make the pick-up. The DNR, she said, then asked that she have the county DPW remove the drums and store them for DNR inspection.

Heintz said Tuesday morning that DPW employees stationed at the Phoenix Yard on Northville Road were looking for the drums and would likely be picking them up that day.

Finding an agency to take responsibility for the drums proved difficult, she said. When the DNR emergency pollution personnel asked that the drums be stored for examination, Heintz said there was a jurisdictional problem.

"The county hardly lets us do anything in the park without their written permission," she said. "We weren't about to send our water and sewer people out there and expose them to who-knows-what and accept responsibility for the drums. They're on county property and were found by people working for the county."

Efforts to have the county DPW pick the drums up Friday came up short because of the four-day week recently instituted in county operations — the DPW is closed Friday.

When contacted Monday, the Phoenix Yard superintendent said he would prefer having the parks department — an arm of the road commission — make the pick up in the park, but would have his employees do the job if the park authorities were unable or unwilling to do so.

A sixth drum was spotted in a log jam in the river on east side of Northville Road south of Reservoir

Reverend Eric Hammar gets acquainted here

By JEAN DAY

The Reverend Eric S. Hammar admits he's coming to his new post as minister of First United Methodist Church of Northville under optimum conditions.

After meeting his congregation and preaching at the June 19 service, the minister and his wife Florence left on a three-week trip to Scandinavia that was a tracing of their family histories as well as a reunion.

"I tell everyone to take a vacation before beginning a new job because that might be the only way to get the time," he observes as he talks of the satisfying emotional experience it had been to travel to Denmark, Norway and Sweden with his eight cousins and their spouses.

He and his wife, both of Scandinavian descent, were able to research their families, he reported, because the Swedish government has established emigrant centers where information on microfilm is available on those who left the country. These were established, the minister explains, because in the 1800s between a quarter and a fifth of the country's population left. Statistics are available on who left, number in the family and where they entered another country.

The trip had been organized by a Lutheran pastor married to one of Hammar's cousins. "We were in a lot of churches," he recalls.

The minister discovered his Michigan State University roommate still living in the little town of Oscar north of Oslo in Norway. "I hadn't seen him in 35 years," he recalls but decided to see if he would still be living there.

A forestry major, he was operating the farm which had been passed on to him.

In Norway, the minister was told, there is no taxation on land; therefore it can be kept in a family for generations, he noted approvingly.

It was the Hammars' first trip to Scandinavia, and Mrs. Hammar's first plane trip.

The Hammars were married in 1952 in Escanaba. He is the son of the Reverend Karl J. Hammar, who was minister of Central United Methodist Church of Escanaba from 1930-67. After graduation from Escanaba High School in 1947, he went on to MSU, where he received his degree in 1951 in sociology and anthropology.

He received his master of divinity degree from Garrett Theological Seminary.

Hammar says his wife is "a very important part" of his ministry. She is a graduate of Lawrence Conservatory of Music in Appleton, Wisconsin, and has taught vocal music, organ and piano privately and also has been a music teacher in the public schools.

Mentioning the music, he notes that he has been delighted to find the Northville church has a music program headed by very capable persons.

"It's a neat congregation," Hammar observes as he relates that he and his wife have been hosting meetings with the trustees and church committees at the parsonage on Galway.

In the fall he already has made initial arrangements to meet members of the congregation in small neighborhood groups.

"Members of the congregation are serving as hosts, inviting others into their homes with my wife and me — it will be very informal from 7:30 to 10 p.m., not a Sunday morning setting.

"As a spinoff, it is my hope and aspiration that members also will get to know each other better."

While the Reverend Hammar intends to "listen and observe what the church has been doing" for the first six months to a year of his ministry here, he does have priorities.

"I attach great importance to Christian Education and would like to do more in the area of adult education as well as to assist young families in their spiritual growth with their children."

"I see a need for counseling, for sharing with young families," he adds.

He notes that "these are exciting times when families move into a new home, and I have encouraged a dedication service." Hammar has officiated at such informal services in his former pastorates and says they were meaningful social gatherings of friends and family, including refreshments.

He views the needs of a congregation in a community like Northville as two types. In addition to the young families for whom he hopes to promote programs helpful to them, there are the

Ten times to call

Minister gives advice

Eric S. Hammar, pastor of First United Methodist Church, is continuing a practice begun 15 years ago — he plans to write a monthly column, "Eric the Cleric," to his congregation.

In his first, after outlining his priorities, the new pastor of the church told his church members that "many people have the idea that the only time they should call the minister is when someone is critically ill, or when there is a death in the family."

"This is a limited and restricted view of the ministry, and it is gradually being replaced by a wider understanding of the role of the Christian minister in modern society...there are many times when the minister can bring to people the resources of the Christian faith."

The Reverend Hammar then listed his suggestions of "10 times to call the minister:"

1. Before going to the hospital;

2. When drugs or alcohol become a problem for you or for someone you love.

3. Before you engage a lawyer. There is no question that at times attorneys are needed, but if you view your Christian marriage seriously, you will wish to discuss problem areas long before matters proceed to the point of engaging legal counsel.

4. When a baby is born.

5. When you would like to talk or pray about a difficult decision.

6. When you know someone in need of spiritual help.

7. When you are struggling with whether or not to enter the armed services.

8. When there is a death in the family.

9. When there is prolonged reaction to grief.

10. When you are spiritually depressed.

Police Blotters

Motorcycle stolen from shopping center parking lot

In the township...

An estimated $4,500 in cash and traveler's checks was reported stolen from a Seven Mile apartment sometime between July 16 and August 6, township police report.

The complainant told police that the money was hidden in a travel bag in the bedroom closet.

According to police, the complainant said the money had disappeared without a trace of any type of illegal entry or explanation of what happened to it.

The complainant told police she knows of no suspects and is not aware of anybody else being in the apartment. There is no physical evidence of any type, and no receipts, serial numbers or other identifying information on the money.

The complainant further stated that the traveler's checks were purchased sometime in 1978 and the money has been accumulating for the past five years.

There are no suspects at this time.

A $7,000 Harley Davidson motorcycle was stolen from the parking lot of a Seven Mile shopping center sometime between 9 a.m. and 1 p.m. August 12, township police report.

The complainant told police he drove the motorcycle to work around 9 a.m. and when he went to leave for lunch at 1 p.m. the vehicle was gone.

The motorcycle was parked up against the building near the entrance to the A & P store.

The complainant told police he spoke with the store's cashiers who saw nothing.

There are no suspects at this time.

The motorcycle theft was entered into the Law Enforcement Information Network.

...in the city

"What can you say?" was one city police officer's response to reports of the theft this week of five "Neighborhood Watch" signs posted in the Northville Estates subdivision. The signs are designed to announce that residents of a neighborhood participate in a program to try to ward off crime through cooperation and vigilance.

One sign was reported missing Sunday, then four more on Monday. As of press time yesterday the (monetary) value of the signs was still being determined by the Department of Public Works. No suspects are under investigation in connection with the thefts.

Three nickels hammered into the size of quarters were apparently used as slugs inserted in a soda machine at Phil's Union 76 service station recently. Police confiscated the slugs, which not only allowed the user to get a less-than-half price soda, but also dispensed 10 cents in change from the Pepsi soda dispenser.

The owner of a brown Chevrolet 2-door automobile reported last week his car had been damaged by "key scratches" along the hood and both sides Saturday, August 6, between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. The car was parked in City Parking Lot No. 3, off Dunlap Street. Damage was placed at $200. Police report no suspects in connection with the damage.

Several plaster and drywall walls were reported kicked in at a new house under construction on Potomac between 10:30 p.m. and midnight last Saturday.

A mailbox and a 4x4 wood post which supported it were stolen from a home on Church Street between 2 a.m. and 10 a.m. last Sunday. No suspects were reported in connection with the theft.

Novi resident, 24, killed in Eight Mile collision

A 24-year-old Novi man, who police believe may have fallen asleep while driving, was killed in a two-car collision early Friday evening at Eight Mile and Beck roads.

Michael Scott Porte was pronounced dead on arrival at Botsford General Hospital suffering multiple traumatic injuries following the 5:30 p.m. crash.

According to police, Porte was heading eastbound on Eight Mile Road when his vehicle crossed over the line, colliding with a westbound car driven by Kenneth David Wolstone of Detroit.

According to the police report, Wolstone, who was driving a 1975 Mercury, suffered no serious injuries.

Township police and Community EMS attempted to revive Porte at the scene of the accident. Novi Jaws of Life equipment also was used in trying to free the victim from his 1983 Datsun.

Porte was transported to Botsford General where he was pronounced dead on arrival.

Witnesses at the scene told police that Porte had swerved over the line several times before colliding with Wolstone.

Township Police Chief Kenneth Hardesty said preliminary investigation indicates the victim may have fallen asleep at the wheel.

Hardesty mentioned that the victim appeared to have been working long hours which may have caused his drowsiness.

An autopsy is being conducted by the Oakland County Medical Examiner.

Purchase option approved

Assured by its attorneys that a fire station may be built on residentially-zoned land in the township, Northville Township Board of Trustees last Thursday approved entering an option to purchase agreement for 3.19 acres on West Seven Mile.

Purchase price for the property is $11,000 in a cash sale by Alta Sorenson, trustee of the A.N. Thomson Trust.

The option is contingent upon a vote of the people and is to be placed on the ballot of the next township election.

A fire station in the western portion of the township has been discussed for several years. When Phoenix Prison property was acquired by the township for recreational land, possibility of placing a station there was explored. However, township officials were told it was specifically donated to the township for recreational land by state law. To place a fire station on the site would have required legal revisions and even so, it was not certain they would be accepted by the state.

Chief Robert Toms then investigated possible vacant sites and recommended the Seven Mile site, noting that it is a better location for a station.

Special clinic plan proposed

After listening to "horror stories" of violent, mentally ill patients being released on the streets to continue their murdering and raping, members of the Wayne County Human Resources Committee concurred last week with plans for a special offenders' clinic and sent them to the Committee of the Whole for further action.

Both committees are units of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners.

Speaking before the latter committee, chaired by commissioner Kay Beard, Angela Gallion-Kennedy, ACSW, J.D., executive director of the New Center Community Mental Health Services, said there is a dire need to screen out about 10 percent of the current 1,600 mentally ill patients for special treatment that can only be provided by a specialized clinic.

"These violent patients jeopardize the lives of the other mentally ill," she explained, "and have beaten our staff members and nearly killed one of our doctors."

Ms. Kennedy estimates the cost of a special clinic to be between $750,000 and $1 million with the county to pay 10 percent in matching funds and the balance to be paid by the Michigan Mental Health Department.

"The criminal justice system and the Forensic Center in Ypsilanti do not understand the problems of treating these special violent patients," Kennedy explained.

Asked by Commissioner Clarence Young whether Kennedy had submitted her proposal abstract to the Detroit City Council, she replied it was unnecessary, adding that Council member Mel Ravitz, former director of the Detroit/Wayne County Community Mental Health Board was "well aware of the problem."

Law pursues funds for area left out of Super Sewer

"Like it or not," Gerald H. Law, R-Plymouth, 36th District representative representing Northville, said Monday, "we might as well live with the fact that there isn't any other place we can go (with sewage) than Detroit."

"We need the added capacity; so let's go to build the parallel interceptor," Law revealed that a deal was made last Thursday wherein a special cash advance of $4.5 million to pay for the engineering development of the project has been promised.

"This is up-front cash, not a grant as such," Law explained, detailing that such funds are available to communities of under 25,000 people for design of sewer systems.

It is to be applied for by Plymouth Township, he continued, and will include design for Northville Township and Canton as well.

Law said the "bottom line" sewer decisions are being made at state level and Super Sewer is "absolutely dead."

He said the southern communities now are planning a mini-disposal plant of their own, but that Detroit states it has capacity to treat communities joining in the North Arm Relief Interceptor without need for expansion.

"Without going with Detroit, the DNR will not give priority for federal funding, and we have to act to receive the 75 percent." Law added it is anticipated the federal funding could drop to 55 percent.

"We spent eight years on Super Sewer, and got nothing for it -- we can't recoup the Super Saver fees; so savings only will come back to the taxpayer in lesser charges later."

Supposedly, Law explained, the North Arm Interceptor and parallel line to Detroit will cost only half the projected cost of Super Sewer.

He said he is "90 percent sure" the $4.5 million can be obtained for the engineering.

Obviously angry about the waste of time and money spent on Super Sewer, Law said he had told the DNR there must be "no more engineering costs" and that a year was needed to get new plans.

In the long run, Law said, he could see that users should get a break in use charges depending on rates set by the communities involved.

"I am going to see that all the communities in my district are treated fairly, and I'm going to make sure they all participate," Law stated, noting that while Northville and Plymouth townships need added capacities, Canton is most anxious to gain capacity as it has been encouraging industrial and commercial expansion to ease high property taxes.

"We are not going to be administered by the county," he emphasized as he explained the special cash advance for design of the system would be administered by Plymouth Township, the applicant, with input from Northville and Canton.

"I do not trust Wayne County -- we have been lied to, and I just want to lock in the 75 percent federal funding now," Law said, saying he has told DNR officials that "if the county gets the money, Northville and Plymouth will sue."

He said his next goal is "to talk with Detroit and help get federal money committed."

"Over one million dollars in (Super Sewer) studies are down the tube," he said, "but I don't dream of going anywhere else but with Detroit."

Northville and Plymouth townships' hopes of having a say in the system, he emphasized, lie in having the special cash advance for engineering of the parallel system administered by Plymouth Township.

Law noted also that every section of the present interceptor to Detroit now has pollution and there is a need to fix this system. He said, he said, must be borne by those using it.

Haggerty sewer canceled, so Park Gardens is delayed

He explained that the initial quotations did not include construction contingency and land costs.

The proposed agreement noted that the North Arm Relief Interceptor is eligible to receive "significant state and federal grants estimated at $4,395,437 and that the local share of the cost...which shall be borne by the municipalities is estimated as $1,482,366."

The sanitary sewage collected by the North Arm Interceptor and existing interceptors will be transported through the Rouge Valley Disposal System for disposal and treatment by facilities of the City of Detroit.

As had been discussed when Eglendale appeared before the township board to discuss the agreement provides that within five years from execution of the agreement Wixom and Commerce may join the sewer project provided they reimburse for costs incurred in acquiring such contingency capacity.

Kids' Halloween party proposed at Charley's

A community Halloween party for as many as 2,000 youngsters is being proposed by the Northville Jaycees and the staff of Northville Charley's.

Plans for a party for children 12 and under were described for Northville Township officials at their August meeting last Thursday by Ron Barnum of the Jaycees and Diane Campbell, dining room manager of Northville Charley's. Barnum presented an amended version to city council Monday.

They pointed out that the party was conceived as a way "to provide as safe a Halloween as possible by putting kids in one location."

Halloween this year is on a Monday.

The proposal calls for tents to be erected on the Chuck Muer restaurant property at 41122 West Seven Mile.

If trick-or-treating could be limited to 5-6 p.m., they suggested, the party could be held from 4-8 p.m. By the time it reached council, the proposal was for trick-or-treating from 5:30-7:30 with the party from 5:30 to 8 p.m., allowing those who do not want their children out trick-or-treating to provide an alternative while still letting children attend after going the rounds in the neighborhoods.

Northville Charley's employees in costume would entertain the youngsters and serve hot dogs, chips and pop. A trick-or-treat line might be financed by donations from merchants, Barnum told council.

Solution to a possible parking problem, the promoters suggested, could be parking across the street at the Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital. Barnum told the board of trustees that police help would be needed to escort youngsters cross Seven Mile.

"You're looking at a couple of thousand kids," Township Supervisor John E. MacDonald suggested, and questioned if this were to be a project in lieu of the annual haunted house run by Jaycees.

Barnum said it would be in addition and that the haunted house would open about October 14 and stay open Halloween night also.

Northville Township Police Chief Kenneth Hardesty agreed it was a "good idea" but pointed out that youngsters 12 and under are not a problem. "It is the older kids in the community who cause the problems," he stressed. He also stated the task of getting that many children safely across Seven Mile was more than his force could handle that night.

MacDonald told Barnum and Campbell, "We have to know who else is going to help us."

Barnum told the city Monday he hoped for state police assistance and that the city police also in managing the traffic problem.

Campbell had explained that donations would be sought to provide the tent and treats.

Township trustees questioned whether trick-or-treating hours could be as early as suggested.

Trustee Thomas L. P. Cook, saying he thought the party idea good, suggested that mutually agreed upon hours be set by the city and township.

Council members asked if the organizers had contacted the city fire department, which has traditionally conducted a Halloween party for youngsters. Barnum said they had not, but would be doing so in the near future. He therefore did not know if the fire department would choose to conduct its own event or participate in the Jaycees' version.

Schools raise lunch prices

Northville students and staff will need extra change in the lunch line this fall to compensate for an across-the-board 20 percent increase in school lunch prices.

The increased lunch costs, proposed at the Northville Board of Education's August 8 meeting, will help balance the cafeteria fund for the upcoming school year, according to Business and Finance Director John Street.

Street told board members that this year the district was required to adopt a cafeteria budget and will need the additional funds to help balance that budget.

He said the proposed increase was based on preliminary costs for the Food Service Program in the 1982-83 school year including the same participation figures as last year.

Lunch prices for the 83-84 school year include a 25 cent increase for preschool lunches (6 years of under) from 75 cents to $1; a 20 cent increase in elementary lunches from $1 to $1.20; a 25 cent increase for secondary lunches from $1.25 to $1.50; a five cent increase in milk from 20 cents to 25 cents and a 35 cent increase in adult lunches from $1.75 to $2.10. Reduced price lunches will remain at 40 cents.

Street told the board that lunch prices have held constant for the past two years and noted that last year's cafeteria deficit was approximately $15,000 overall.

Refuse collection pact extended, no bids

By KEVIN WILSON

Waiving its normal requirement to solicit bids, city council Monday renewed its refuse collection contract with Midwestern Sanitation through early 1986.

The company proposed three-year extension terms that city manager Steven Walters advised council were favorable to the city.

The extension calls for a two percent unit rate increase in the current year and three percent increases in both 1984-5 and 1985-6.

"It is not likely that the City could take bids on this service and receive a better price for the quality of service being furnished," Walters stated in a report to council.

Present rates are $2.90 per residence, $22.40 per large commercial stop with smaller businesses at the residential rate. The second bidder in 1981 had proposed a residential rate of $3.81, Walters reported.

For the nine months beginning in September rates will increase to $2.96 and $22.85. In September, 1983 they become $3.05 and $23.54 and in 1986 rise to $3.14 and $24.25.

There will be no increase during the terms of the extension for the 26 weeks of six-day pick-ups at Northville Downs. cost of this service is fixed at $6,890 per year.

Steven Walters
City Manager

Total cost of the contract during the period runs from $106,776 during the current budget year up to $112,594 in the last year.

Walters explained that two major factors keeping the contract cost down are that Midwestern Sanitation's labor contract agreement calls for a wage reopener if contracts are awarded with increases of six percent or more annually, and the same firm services Plymouth.

"Together with Plymouth, we produce one day's work," Walters said. "In effect, we fill up the remaining part of the day after you take into account their time in Plymouth, so it is to their advantage to have both contracts."

During the two year contract now ending, Walters said, the rate of complaints about the sanitation service "has been lower than when we were doing it ourselves" and the timing of the pick-ups has been more convenient for residents.

The renewal contract allows four extra pick-ups per year at no charge for public events such as the sidewalk sale, Walters reported.

A letter from the firm's attorney cited the expected operation cost increases for truck licenses, gas taxes, tire excise taxes, wage improvements equipment replacements to justify the annual rate increases proposed.

Also included in the new contract is a contingency clause that would require the city pay any additional costs of traveling to an alternate landfill in case the firm's current arrangements are ended for some reason.

At its previous meeting, council had already approved budget amendments anticipating the costs proposed by Midwestern Sanitation. The contract cost is lower than was anticipated when the budget was passed and the savings are among those expected to keep the city in current-year balance while carrying its $460,000 deficit into the next year.

Parson to Person...

LABORS DONE

Dr. James Luther:

The Bible uses a strange expression to describe the death of God's people. It is the phrase, "full of days," or "full of years." The phrase is used of Job, David, Abraham, Isaac, and Jeremiah. The obvious thought is "in a ripe old age." But it also carries the thought of being fully satisfied with life. Scripture only uses it when speaking of righteous individuals, for only the followers of God know true satisfaction in life.

You see, it is possible to live well beyond a normal life span and still be greedy for more time to live. Or, on the other hand, a young person, disappointed and disillusioned, may find a short span of empty life to be more than enough.

Yet, these Bible figures died in the comfortable satisfaction that their years had been full, rich, and blessed. They were not sinless or perfect. Yet they spent their lives following God's plan and being useful in His cause. They were ready for death, for He who led them through life would guide them safely home to rest from their labors.

Do you have such faith? Are you satisfied with life? You will be if you receive Christ! He makes all the difference.

Salem residents appeal landfill ruling

A Salem Township citizens group which has energetically fought the expansion of the Holloway Sand and Gravel landfill operation at Six Mile and Napier roads has not given up the war, despite a few defeats on the battlefield.

Attorney Jerry Mitchell, who represents the group in opposing the landfill, said he expected to file an appeal Monday on a July 12 ruling by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR). The ruling granted Holloway a permit for the expansion.

The sand and gravel company had sought unsuccessfully since last fall to obtain a conditional use permit from Salem Township for the landfill expansion on 168 acres adjacent to its current landfill operation. The DNR approval supersedes the township action in denying the permit and the township is currently seeking a compromise with Holloway (see related story).

"We're filing on the basis that Holloway is in violation of the solid waste management act in terms of air, water and hazardous pollution," Mitchell said Friday. "We're charging that the permit should not have been issued because the act and its regulations have been violated by Holloway."

Mitchell said he has a copy of a letter from Robert P. Miller, chief of air quality control for the DNR, to William Bradford, acting chief of water quality control for the DNR, stating that the current Holloway landfill violates the DNR's air pollution regulations in terms of odor, dust and noise. Neither Miller nor Bradford could be reached to confirm this before press time.

Mitchell said the DNR has ignored its own findings on air quality rules in terms of dust, odors and noise that "unreasonably interfere" with the people living in the landfill area.

"In addition, we're charging violation of due process as well," Mitchell added. "We (the citizens group) weren't allowed to attend a meeting between the Department of Public Health and Holloway. Yet when we had a meeting with the DNR on July 7, a lawyer was present from Holloway. We did not ask for them to be present but they were there."

Mitchell said the citizens felt the July 7 meeting was also too late for them to have any impact on the DNR's July 12 decision.

Mitchell explained that the DNR may deny the citizens petition for appeal, but added that this is only a first step in the process of fighting the landfill permit ruling.

"If the DNR does decide to hear our appeal there has to be a 30-day notice period for the hearing," Mitchell said. "If the hearing is held, it will be a quasi-judicial hearing open to the public."

Eric Hammar's in Methodist pulpit

older members — some in nursing homes and others living alone who "need to feel needed and appreciated."

His first emphasis, therefore, now is on visitation to the shut-ins.

He adds that he feels it is important not to make changes too soon, and he does not plan to change the worship service until he finds out the congregation's needs.

Hammar says he intends to continue the ministry as under the Reverend Guenther C. Branstner, who was minister of the church for 15 years before being transferred this summer.

He does intend to recommend a new building program to help retire the current mortgage.

Hammar explains that in the Methodist church the minister is appointed by the bishop (Bishop Edsel Ammons), who consults with the pastor parish committee of the church "in terms of local congregation needs — and on that basis the appointment is made."

The Reverend Hammar had been serving as superintendent of the Saginaw Bay District and had completed a non-renewable term. Previously he had been pastor of Orchard Hills Methodist Church in Farmington Hills for 10 years. He mentions this service had made him familiar with the area.

When he finished seminary, he served for four years as traveling parish pastor in Stephenson, Wisconsin. Then he was pastor in White Pine, Ontario. For nine years afterward, the Reverend Hammar served a merged Finnish-English church in Ishpeming in the Upper Peninsula.

"It was the women who built the church," he remembers, "not the men. They served 500 pasties a month — I've been gone 16 years and they still do."

In addition to four grown children the Hammars have a two-and-a-half year old granddaughter.

Son Karl is a teacher; David is working on a master's degree at Michigan State University; and Stephen, who has a degree in social work, currently is head chef in a restaurant. Judith Ann is a student at Northern Michigan University.

The Reverend Hammar says he hopes the "ecumenical presence" in the Northville community will continue. He mentions he already had been invited to lunch with the Reverend Lawrence Chamberlain, senior pastor of First Presbyterian Church.

Aware that under previous ministers at both the Presbyterian and Methodist churches and with the previous priests at Our Lady of Victory Church there had been ecumenical joint services, Hammar says he hopes these would continue.

"Such services (as the Good Friday service) help weld a community together — I can't applaud the luxury of doing our own thing. There may be places we can better meet needs in a cooperative venture."

Saying he likes to see laity involved in such programs, Hammar says in his previous ministry there had been union Thanksgiving services. In a pulpit exchange in Farmington Hills, he recalls, he had invited a Jewish rabbi and a Catholic priest to give the service on Christian Unity Sunday.

"It is important to have the opportunity to meet others of another faith," he remarks.

The Reverend Hammar has an innovation in progress this summer at his new church where, for the first time, an adult Bible study class is being held in conjunction with the vacation church school August 22-26.

"John the Maverick" is the theme of the adult class which will be held from 9:30 to 11 a.m. It and the church school are open to the community as part of the new pastor's ministry.

Student chooses city as location for his 14th movie

The scenery around town is featured in a montage sequence describing the growth of the friendship between the main characters. Both are played by junior drama students at Wayne State University where Zaremba is enrolled as a freshman in the Mass Communications — Film curriculum. A third major role is played by one of the director's high school teachers.

His ambitions for "Popcorn Man" include possible sale to a cable television operation and entry in student film festivals, he said.

"It's a warming film — parts of it are funny, and I think a cable company

'Northville is picturesque, it's not real big, it's a nice tight place to work in.'

David Zaremba

might find it attractive to use for a half-hour slot somewhere," Zaremba said. He said he also hopes ARC — the Association for Retarded Citizens — can find a use for it.

From a beginning with short 8mm films he financed from his paper route, Zaremba has advanced in his film making techniques a lot in the past year, he said.

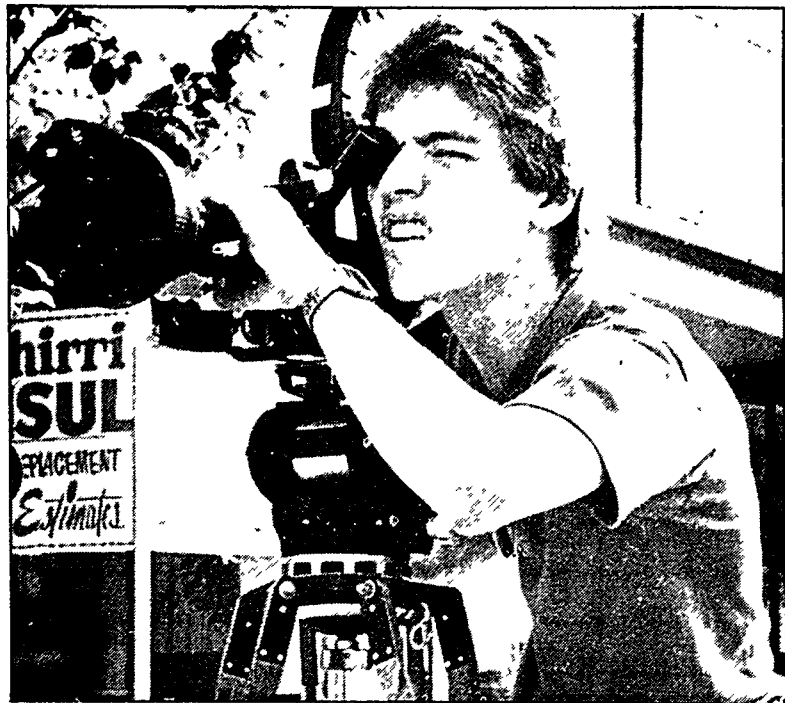

"Sarah" was my first 16mm film, and I learned a lot in the last year," he said. In his senior year at Divine Child High School (where he carried a 3.5 average, despite involvement in filmmaking, playing with a wedding band, and many odd jobs to finance his movies) he last year took his first still and movie photography course.

Zaremba said he hopes to attend Wayne State for two years, then transfer to UCLA or the University of Southern California to continue his film studies.

His immediate task, however, is trying to get the current movie "in the can." School starts September 6 and Zaremba said he hopes to have completed the location filming before then, though he may make return visits for transitional shots during September.

"There may be post-production slowdown because of school," he said. "I hope I can get it done by the end of the year. Since I'm going to be writing original music, that may slow me down some, too."

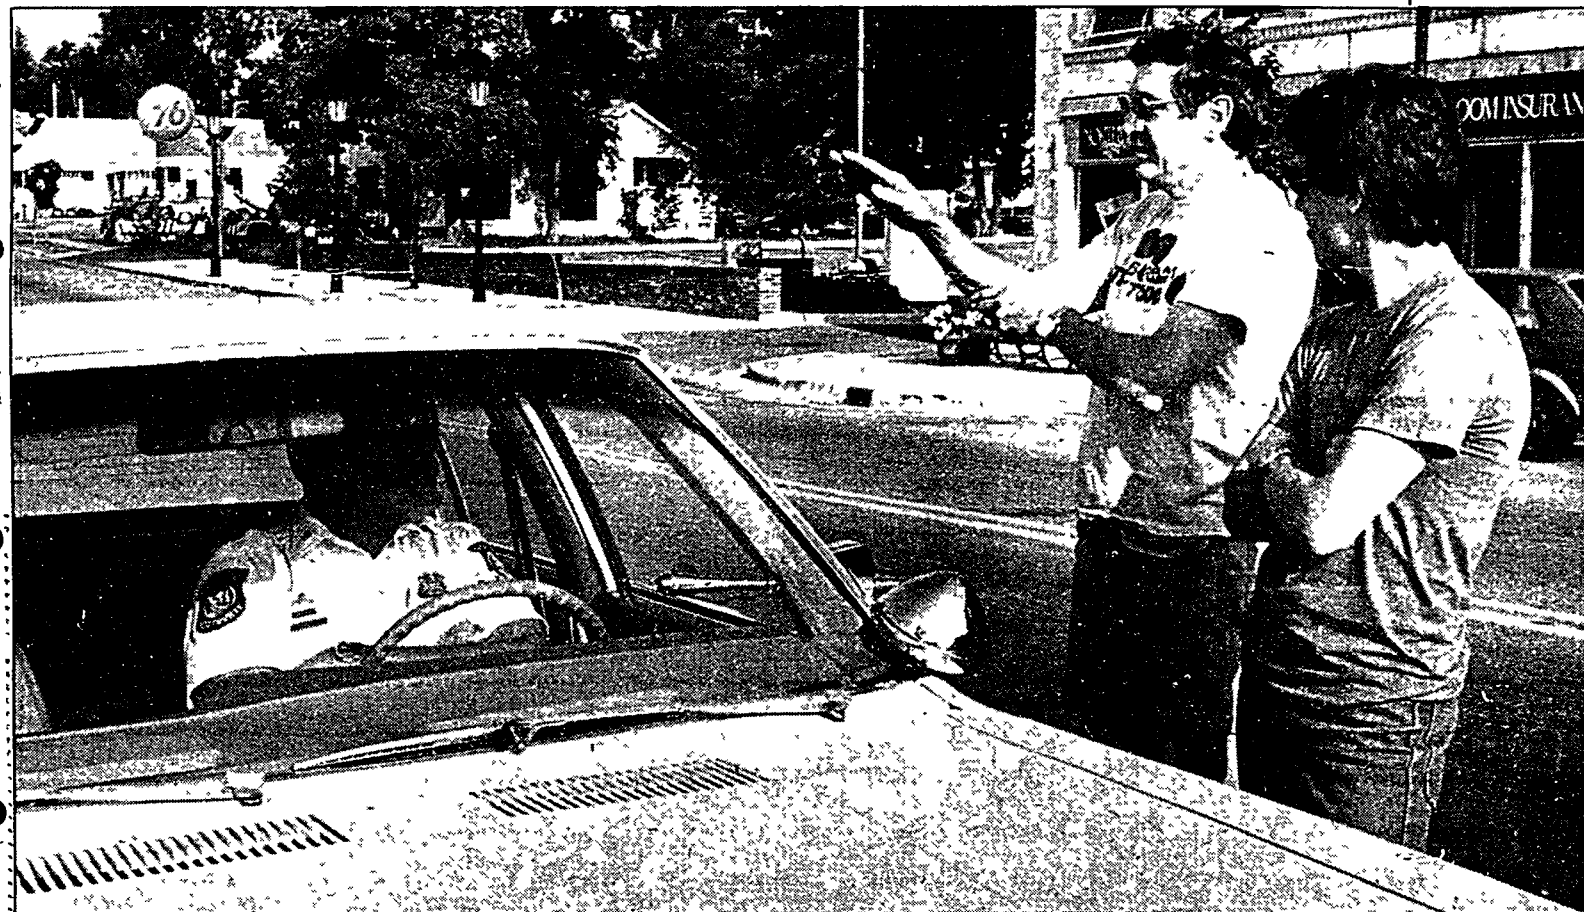

When "Popcorn Man" is finished, Zaremba said he would like to see it debut at the Marquis Theater in town, noting the interest expressed in his work by residents.

Normally I talk about photography, but this week I just want to say how proud I was of the way businesses and members of Novi and surrounding communities opened their hearts to raise money for little Bruce Sharp who desperately needs a liver transplant.
Over last weekend thousands of you turned out for the three day benefit in downtown Novi and dozens of you stopped by Novi Auto Sales and allowed us to take your picture (for a donation to Bruce) in one of the two race cars brought in special for the event.
Small business has always been the backbone of the community but in a day when large malls and chain stores with absentee owners have become a way of life, it is gratifying to see small local merchants pulling together, as they always have, to raise money for a worthy cause.
From Novi Soft Shine Car Wash (which organized the benefit) right down the line, local merchants were ready to pitch in and service organizations also did their share.
Congratulations from f/stop on a job well done. Anyone wishing to donate to the Bruce Sharp Fund may stop by f/stop, 43220 Grand River in Novi.

Plan adds shine to Mustang image

Northville Board of Education's approval to implement a study skills laboratory at Northville High School this fall essentially has brought an end to the district's long controversial open campus policy.

Coupled with the recent update in the district's graduation requirements, the study skills laboratory hopefully will decrease — if not eliminate — the number of unassigned students congregating in the halls and parking lot as well as curb the school's absentee problem.

Especially aimed at students dropped from classes due to excessive absences, the laboratory is designed to provide individualized instruction in study habits. While we agree with the concept behind the study skills lab, we hope to see a more comprehensive outline of the plan before the school year gets under way.

Many changes have taken place at the high school during the past year — most of which we believe are for the better. Since the June 1982 beating of an NHS student in the school hallway, the administration has taken a much closer look at the open campus concept.

The first modifications made to policy in more than a decade were approved by the board of education last August with the implementation of student I.D. cards, study hall areas and hall monitors. The board's approval last June to update the district's graduation requirements from 150 to 170 credits also put a much tighter lid on the open campus concept.

With a study skills laboratory approved for next year, it appears as though the lid on the policy has been nailed shut. It should be noted that in proposing the study skills plan, new high school principal David Bolitho told the school board he hoped to eliminate the "image problem" at NHS.

We believe he's taken the first step towards shining the tarnished image at Northville High School.

Waste's deplorable — but keep funding

We agree with township officials and our State Representative Gerald H. Law that Super Sewer is dead. The decision has been made at state level, and Northville Township is right in going ahead with plans to join into the Detroit system. The city had already been cut out of the Super Sewer project and committed to service by the Detroit system some months ago.

What angers us, as it does the officials who have attended Super Sewer meetings, presentations and public hearings during the past months, is the complete waste of their time and taxpayers' money. Certainly the Department of Natural Resources, the City of Detroit and the Governor's office were aware of the studies and commitments being made.

As Law observed this week, "over $1 million in studies has gone down the tube, but don't dream the sewer will go anywhere else than Detroit." Apparently, Detroit does have the treatment plant capacity to handle the volume that will be generated through a parallel interceptor system, but it didn't always. The plant was evidently, and quietly, "overbuilt" when Detroit received grant money for improvements.

It appears, as township officials and our representative state, that the end for Super Sewer was a political decision that is useless to fight.

As it stands now, Detroit's treatment plant can handle new development, but the sewers to carry effluent to the plant cannot. Until a parallel system is built, the Rouge Valley system will handle the overflow from added development simply by overflowing into the Rouge River. This is precisely the kind of problem the Super Sewer system was designed to put a halt to, largely at the insistence of the DNR. That it now finds such overflows acceptable when it assists the operation of what county commissioner Mary Dumas calls "Coleman Young's sewage treatment plant" is ample evidence of standards being bent for political reasons.

What Township Supervisor John E. MacDonald and Law now are urging is right — let's not lose the 75 percent federal funding for the sewer. To delay accepting what officials feel is inevitable with lawsuits could result in a reduction to 55 percent funding, at least.

The federal government has suggested the rate of grant funding for such projects may be dropped in the future. Like Law, we are aware that federal, state or local, it is still taxpayers' money. But, when it is available, let's be sure to obtain it for the sewer systems the community needs for future expansion.

Mr. Coffee meets the schizoid

The scene: an impossibly cluttered apartment bedroom in downtown Northville. The lights are off, but the sun is filling the room with light through a window shade facing east.

A figure in the bed — a writer of no significant repute — squirms to avoid eye contact with anything but his eyelids. He hears an insistent voice from the back of his brain. Like a fool, he answers it.

Hey, wake up. You're on.

Mmmmmmmmmmm

Wake up, Martin. It's your turn to do "Off The Record" this week. (Yawns, rubs eyes.) It is? It seems like weeks since I've done it.

It has been. There are four of you writing columns and only room for one each week. (Pause) You're not telling me you don't have an idea.

Well...

It's only your second column! How can you not have a topic when you've had a month to come up with something?

Wait a minute. Let me plug in the coffee maker and get my list of ideas. Here we are. Tell me what you think: "Our Friend the Mosquito."

I think you've been bit once too often.

Don't like that one All right, let's see — "Sigmund Freud Goes To Fantasy Island."

You're getting colder.

"Microchips — A New Japanese Taste Treat."

Is the coffee ready yet?

Wait. "Serial Chromosomal Differentiation in the Lower Mollusks: A Nuclear Geneticist's Opinion."

Obvious bluff.

Who'd know? I came up with the title, didn't I?

You couldn't fake a fifth-grade science project? Completely untrue. You can ask Miss Williams.

Miss Williams?

My fifth grade teacher. I did a presentation on "The Effects of Sedatives in Classroom Discipline." She helped me.

Anything else?

Here's one: "1,001 Tricks You Can't Get A Cat To Do."

Next.

"The International Columnist Conspiracy."

Next.

"My Favorite Comic Strips."

Richard Pryor takes his clothes off? Hasn't he already done that?

I'm talking about "Gil Thorp." "Dondi." "Nancy." "Brenda Starr."

Oh, so you read the Detroit Free You-Know What.

It does have a clearly superior comics section, even without "Hello, Carol," or that thing Jane Pauley's husband used to do, "Dromedary?" "Droopsberry?" Something like that.

The News has "Bloom County." And doesn't have Bob Talbert.

Are you trying to sell me on the News? Charlie Manos writes for the News.

Carol T. writes for the Free Press.

Yeah? Well, Max Beer — wait a minute, I think we're getting too far off the subject and my skin's beginning to crawl.

You don't even have a subject yet! Say, you're pretty touchy about some of these other columnists, aren't you?

Moi? Not at all. When you've got ideas like these flowing through your brain cells, jealousy doesn't enter your mind.

You don't envy Sydney Harris' epigrammatic sagacity? Shirley Eder's hobnobbing with bigwigs? Jack Anderson's sources? Erma Bombeck's outlook? Joseph Sobran's gall? Or are you just plain ignorant?

How dare you call me ignorant? Why, I don't know the meaning of the word!

Isn't there anything in there that looks like a sure-fire winner?

Hmmmmmmmm. "Why A Grown Man Likes To Be Called 'Sparky.'" That's a long one.

No.

"Coleman Young's Suburban Supporters." That's a short one. I said, "a sure-fire winner," remember?

Here's one: "Are Columnists Latent Schizophrenics?" That's ridiculous.

Says who? Coffee's ready. Want some?

Sure.

What do you take in it?

New friend

After the fact

By PHILIP JEROME

John T. Molloy is making my life miserable.

In case you don't recognize the name, John T. wrote a book called "Dress for Success" that climbed to the top of the best-seller charts several years ago. He's also the author of a syndicated column on "dressing for success" which appears in various newspapers across the country.

In a nutshell, John T.'s philosophy appears to be — "You are what you wear." Success in business depends on wearing the right clothes, he says. Conversely, failure to scale corporate ladders can be directly attributed to wearing the wrong clothes.

Now I may be a bit of a skeptic, but I don't put much stock in The World according to Molloy. I like to believe you can wear a barrel to work and still be successful as long as you know how to do your job.

Unfortunately, I happen to live with one of John T.'s disciples. And that's where the trouble comes in.

For example, I headed out the door one morning recently only to be called back for some sartorial counseling.

"Do you have any meetings today?" she asked. "If you do, you shouldn't wear green. Molloy says green is not a power-color."

"You mean people won't pay attention to what I'm saying if I wear this green suit?"

"Exactly," she said. "People in positions of authority should never wear green. It's bad for their image."

"How about my madras sports coat? Do you think people will have more respect for what I say if I wear the red-and-blue madras with my white shoes?"

"Madras sports coats and white shoes went out 15 years ago," she groaned. "Wear them if you want, but you'll be telling people that you're 'play-oriented' and 15 years behind the times. No one will have any respect for what you're saying."

And so it goes. But I'm learning to adjust. I bought a new three-piece pinstripe suit last week that has more power than the Tennessee Valley Authority. The way I figure it, these columns are going to get a lot more respect as soon as I start wearing it.

"Surplus, surplus, who gets the surplus?"

That's one of the games Governor James Blanchard and the state Legislature may be playing when this fiscal year ends September 30. It has become an accepted fact that the State of Michigan will end Fiscal Year 1983 with approximately 150 million in left-over tax dollars. The reason is simple: Governor Blanchard's 38 percent income tax hike went beyond the minimum needed to balance the budget.

During the "Great Debate" that preceded passage of the tax increase, Governor Blanchard and his Democratic colleagues inundated us with horror stories about the state's "$900 million deficit," spiraling welfare caseloads and the financial travesties to befall us if the entire tax hike didn't pass.

Republicans, vocal in their opposition to the tax, opposed it for three basic reasons: The Governor's deficit figures were too high and the increase excessive; welfare caseloads were on a downward rather than upward path; and there were no built-in stipulations for the surplus that was sure to result.

Republicans were right on this one. The Senate Fiscal Agency, a group of non-partisan state budget experts, have set the projected surplus at $149.5 million. Private consultants and budget-watchers agree, some contending that the surplus will go higher. That means that Blanchard's "$900 million deficit" was, in actuality, $750 million or lower.

Welfare caseloads are also turning out to be much lower than Blanchard predicted.

The Governor warned that the state would average 240,000 AFDC cases and the 135,000 General Assistance cases a month. The actual figures for the first nine months show us at 239,069 AFDC and 129,748 GA cases a month and going down. We will probably end the fiscal year with a monthly average of 238,000 and 128,000 respectively. Blanchard's figures appear to be 7,000 over the mark.

That may not sound like much, but it's extremely costly for the administration's so-called "experts" to be that far off — especially when you figure that every 1,000 cases represents $2.5 million.

What's more important now than the Governor's excessive tax hike is what becomes of the money.

My fellow Republicans and I are extremely concerned that the Democratic-controlled Legislature will find some way to spend it. Those surplus dollars are taxpayer dollars, plain and simple.

I plan to work hard to see that the money is returned to the taxpayer either in the form of a tax cut or a rebate. Failing that, the next best thing will be placement in the budget stabilization fund to head off future deficits, or in the fund created to wipe out past budget and accounting gimmicks.

Taxpayers are angry. They aren't likely to accept more tax money going for bigger state government.

Mayor explains city's position on bar relocation

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following letter was sent by Mayor Paul Vernon in reply to a letter he received from a local attorney, a copy of which was sent to The Record for publication.

Dear Mr. Simkins:

This is in reply to your letter dated August 1, 1983, concerning the approval of the liquor license transfer from the Winner's Circle Bar to 135 North Center.

The City Council shares the concerns which Mr. Schrader undoubtedly has about relocating the Winner's Circle. Based on experience with other relocations and the proposed improvements by Mr. Rea, the City Council felt confident that the nature of the present Winner's Circle would not be transferred to the new facility and that its impact could be positive for the downtown area.

The approval of the liquor license transfer is a technical first step in Mr. Rea's proposal to establish a bar and restaurant in his building on North Center Street. The transfer approval in no way allows him to proceed without public consideration of the nature of the business. Unlike an ownership transfer, the transfer of a license to a new address involves a change of use and site plan review by the planning commission, and review of parking requirements and parking credit purchase by the City Council.

Contrary to your view that the City Council violated a policy to not approve a liquor license transfer without a building inspection, the transfer approved for Mr. Rea is in the nature of a new facility construction, and does not involve the same process as a change of ownership for an existing location. In the case of ownership changes for existing locations, the building inspection procedure is used to bring the facility up to code prior to the new owner taking possession, since there would not be a site plan and building department review otherwise.

In the case of Mr. Rea's project, as with the case of other new bar and restaurant projects involving liquor licenses, it is reasonable and fair to both the city and the applicant to indicate the city's willingness to have the license transferred to the proposed address, if all site plan and building department requirements are subsequently met through building permits before a certificate of occupancy is issued for the first time. It would not be reasonable to require a business person to complete his site plan and review, construct his building improvements, and receive a certificate of occupancy permit all prior to knowing whether the city would be willing to finally approve the transfer of the liquor license when those items were satisfied.

Mr. Schrader will have ample opportunity to express his concerns and learn the full details of the proposed bar and restaurant operation through the planning commission hearing as it proceeds.

I want to assure you that the city council in no way intended for Mr.

Schrader's opportunity to be heard to be restricted.

Sincerely yours,
Paul R. Vernon,
Mayor

He's Wixom's city intern

Stephen Penn follows in his father's footsteps

By LEANNE ROGERS

Having a father who has spent many years in municipal government apparently had a lasting impact on Stephen Penn, Wixom's city management intern.

"My father Harold Penn was the city engineer in Northville for years and is the assessor now," commented Penn. "I was around city hall all the time. That's how I got interested in government."

A 1973 graduate of Northville High School, Penn received a bachelor's degree in public administration from Eastern Michigan University and currently is working on a masters degree in the same field.

Under the political science department program, students receive three credits for professional internships. "The university has cities where they place interns. I approached some other cities," said Penn. "Some of them fell through or they didn't want someone working for free. I couldn't believe it."

Penn's plans to begin an internship in April fell through when he was unable to find a position. He started working in Wixom on July 5. "I contacted (Mayoral Assistant) Steve Bonczek and got the position here," Penn added. "Everyone here seems to know what they're doing. That's the way I would like to be."

Since he began working in Wixom, Penn said he has spent most of his time preparing exhibits for upcoming arbitration meetings to obtain a contract with city police officers.

"I am also supposed to be working on the downtown revitalization project in the future," commented Penn, who will work through August 31.

During his college studies, Penn said he has not really specialized on particular aspects of city management. "My studies have been pretty general," he added. "I think I'd be pretty strong in planning based on what I have done. I really haven't planned anything yet."

Penn expects to finish work on his masters degree in December, but said on-the-job experience is important. "I don't really think the classroom can prepare you.

Experience is what counts," he said. "The class gives you a basis for working."

A proposal to establish a city manager position in Wixom would be good for operating the city, Penn said. "That way the city manager would have the authority as well as the responsibility."

So far Penn has spent much of his time working closely with Bonczek. He added that he would like to work closely with other department heads as well.

A Northville resident, Penn is single and one of five children. By working at city hall, Penn said he hopes to broaden his knowledge about the operation of city government outside planning and engineering.

Hall caters to ethnic and American tastes

QUALITY — Is the byword of the catering operation founded by Roman Phillip in Salem. Banquet halls at the establishment are used for weddings and weekly "sampler" meals. Photos by John Galloway

"Do it right or don't do it at all" is the motto Roman Phillip has lived by all his life and he applies it to his business on a daily basis.

Phillip, a chef de cuisine, is the owner and vigorous manager of Romanoff's Catering and Banquet Halls at 5850 Pontiac Trail, six miles south of South Lyon. He advertises, "You name it—we cater it! We go anywhere." And he reports that he has traveled as far north as Montreal, Canada to cook in the German pavilion at Expo '67 and as far south as New Orleans where he catered a meal for the ABC news staff. (Phillip said he is the official caterer for the ABC news staff.)

"If the money's right, we go," Phillip explained. "Whatever people want so long as it's not kinky, we do it."

Phillip, who set up his catering business in the early 1960s, expanded his enterprises with a large banquet hall in 1976. This year, he opened a second smaller hall toward the rear of his Pontiac Trail premises.

"This one is very popular with smaller groups (50 is a minimum party) because it's sort of out in the boonies," the chef explained. "This one is all American in style, not European like the big hall."

Both halls are set high on the hills behind the catering kitchen, surrounded by a well-kept old apple orchard. A small game preserve, complete with a pond and ducks, adds atmosphere. An Hawaiian pavilion and an outdoor picnic shelter are also situated in this area.

Although mainly a catering establishment which does a big business in wedding receptions and parties, Romanoff's provides a regular weekly buffet for the public. "We're not a restaurant and we don't pretend to be but we like to let people know what we have to offer."

Every Wednesday in the large banquet hall from 5-9 p.m., a mouth-watering array of ethnic treats is available for $4.50 per person. Although the menu varies somewhat from week to week, some of the usual offerings include knuckwurst, wienerschnitzel, mushroom sauce, gaegerbraten, spatzel, red cabbage, sauerkraut and German potato salad.

For those who want an American meal, there is available for $6.50 on Wednesdays a large juicy steak broiled to perfection over a large outdoor charcoal grill by Phillip himself. The grill and picnic tables are set up under the apple trees in the yard behind the banquet hall where diners can enjoy beer and summer breezes if they choose. Adding to the Old-World charm, a strolling singer provides German music on his accordion.

Homemade soup, a salad bar and rye and raisin breads baked at Romanoff's are also offered on an all-you-can-eat basis to accompany both the German buffet and the steak broil. A variety of individually-priced desserts are also available.

Romanoff's was the first establishment in Salem Township to receive board approval in 1980 for a license to serve liquor by the glass. A well-stocked bar offers diners their choice of drinks.

"We sell liquor right here for the receptions and the charges are not outrageous," the chef noted. "In fact our food prices are reasonable too and we give people what they want.

"We do a lot of ethnic foods—Polish and Italian in addition to German."

Born in Heideleben, Germany, Phillip began his chef's training at the age of 14 in Bruchsal. "In Germany, in those days you rarely went to high school, you learned a trade," he explained. "You work four days and go to school two. I did that for three and a half years and then did one year of 'volunteer' work."

"You go into a bakery or a butcher shop and work to learn that trade for very little money," the chef added.

Phillip served in the United States Navy in 1951-55 and later worked as a chef for the Canadian National Railway for two years. It was during that time that he had the privilege of cooking for Prime Minister Diefenbaker, then head of Canada.

Phillip is also proud of having hosted President Gerald Ford at luncheon at his catering hall and DULL FINISH on your automobile? Does the interior of your car look like the Russian army just marched through it? Then you may want to contact John Phillips of Total Automotive Finishes of South Lyon at 437-7395. For a $35 fee, Phillips (pictured here with before and after pictures of his work) will give most vehicles an exterior and interior clean-up with a one-year guarantee. The fee for black cars or vans is $40. Phillips added that he does not work on silver-colored cars because of the unique qualities of the paint. For the fee, Phillips will apply a plastic coating to the car's exterior, clean the vinyl top, scrub the carpet and the interior doors and clean and protect the interior. All work is done by hand. Phillips said he does not repair the paint except on 1975-78 General Motors vehicles. Phillips can complete the job in 3½ to four hours and he provides free pick-up and delivery. He said satisfaction is guaranteed. He works from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. Monday-Saturday. His business is located at 21575 Pontiac Trail, South Lyon.

Net income for the six-month period ended June 30, 1983, increased 4.5 percent compared to the previous like period. Strong growth in deposits, significantly reduced provisions for loan losses and the earnings contributions of recent acquisitions positively impacted 1983 results.

GUARDIAN INDUSTRIES of Novi has announced that it has reached agreements with government authorities and others as a preliminary step toward construction of a new float glass manufacturing facility in Schaffhausen, Switzerland. The agreements generally cover the purchase of land, utilities and tax incentives.

The proposed facility will be Guardian's second float glass manufacturing plant in Europe and will compliment the company's geographic coverage of the marketplace. Guardian's existing European glass manufacturing capacity came onstream in late 1981 at Luxembourg with fabricating process lines now under construction at this facility.

Construction of the new plant in Switzerland will begin in 1984. Projected cost is $80-90 million.

Guardian Industries Corporation is a leading manufacturer and fabricator of flat glass products used in construction and, to a lesser extent, in transportation applications. Five float glass manufacturing lines are operated in the U.S. and one in Europe. Extensive glass fabricating activities are conducted at 13 facilities in the U.S. and Canada.

Other building materials manufactured by Guardian include a broad line of fiberglass insulation products. Guardian also serves the amateur photography market through a nationwide network of 12 photo processing facilities.

has newspaper pictures to prove it. "The Secret Service men had to be here in advance of the President. I had a lot of potatoes to peel so I gave each one of them an apron and told them to go to it. They did too."

"They (Secret Service men) had to stay around 24 hours after the President left, so I took them out to lunch at the Old German in Ann Arbor," Philipp recalls.

Philipp said his wife Elisabeth is the "soul of the outfit. She gets us on the road. She does a lot of the planning. I do the meat and poultry buying and my son Gerald handles the liquor buying. This is a family operation. Gerald is the outside (dining room) manager and I manage the inside (kitchen)."

Both of Philipp's sons followed him into the kitchen, having become professional chefs.

Philipp's older son Ronald, head chef at the Tam O'Shanter Country Club at Orchard Lake, also sometimes assists at Romanoff's during particularly busy times.

The regular staff of 12 area residents is augmented by some 40 part-time people when the occasion warrants it, according to Philipp.

Peace in Nature

Here I sit,
Upon this tree
Watching;
Watching the lake
Its quiet, calm waters Flowing past me
and the forest;
The forest on the other side
With its green pines,
So bright and bold
It's enough for one to wonder,
What's beyond this area of peace?

Tom White

One of These Mornings

One of these mornings
You'll wake up and find
That I have long since gone
Don't take it to heart
Or wonder why
I've gone looking for
Where I belong

Somewhere the wind is calling me
That's the place where I will surely be

Don't think because I left you darling
That you mean nothing to me
Far away I hear a voice calling
Calling out only for me

I don't want to think of you in sorrow
I don't want to think of you in strife
But I may not be here tomorrow
I have been a wanderer all my life

Let's make a deal
Let's make a pact
Let's take it as it comes
Let's enjoy what we have
Because tomorrow I may be on the run

As sure as every day has a sunset
An end to everything must surely come
I'm not saying I have plans to leave you
But I wouldn't be surprised at all if that day comes

Close your eyes and say goodnight darling
Rest assured that when the morning comes
If I'm not laying silently beside you
I have gone to follow the sun

In my heart I will closely hold you
In my mind you are the only one
If by chance I find what I'm after
I hope that someday soon you will come.
M. Hoogasian

Weather-wise

A dew-drop, joined by others is a shower,
A sprinkle with a shower becomes a rain;
Rains and winds together show their power
In storms that sometimes turn to hurricanes.

Heat and cold when mixed together
Bring a night of stormy weather,
But when the sun lights up the dawn,
The storm and all it was, is gone.

It's just that way with folk at work or play;
If we but see the light that starts the day
We smile at friends and strangers on our way
Refreshed by clouds or rain and sun
In roundelay.

Charles E. Hutton

Kelly!

If I could wave a magic wand and make our troubles disappear then make our love reappear as before you know I would
you know I really would

If I could look into a crystal ball and see what the future holds for us and cloud our problems of the past
you know I would
you know I really would

or if I could sprinkle magic dust between our hearts to provide a path for us to be together with no heartaches to hold us back
you know I would
you know I really would

Tough Times

Times are tough
For many of us
Benefits are gone
Unemployment runs out
It's the midst of winter
No money for fuel
There's enough food now
What about later?
I'm glad I'm single
Without a family of my own
I can barely support myself

No training required, not even a degree!
First on the list a sense of humor you must need!
If you don't have it your chances aren't too great,
Because this job requires that you work very late!
No one will notice just how much that you do,
And many nights you'll go to bed feeling blue!
Then morning comes and it's a bright sunny day,
And you say to yourself, it's not really that bad,
I think that I'll stay!

At the Party

We did our slow dance to the blue light.
Snow breath sent wraiths
to waltz with us.
The air was warm
after ice edged winds that ate our bones.
And the night was memory—
sixteen years
gardenia, saddle shoes and socks, swing skirt, bright blouse,
red cheeks, glow eyes—
and all new, all.

We danced.
The light was blue,
our moment gold.
It could not rot
in all the graves
we'd dug to bury it.

Martha Forstrom

Morning

Morning light had yet to come,
amongst the clouds of grey.
Twinkling stars laughed at the sun, teasing the coming day.

Timid sky content to doze, dreamed of a distant dawn.
Languid sunrise then arose, whispering with a yawn.

Waterford racing put Evans on fast track

By KEVIN WILSON

Someone with the desire to be a professional racing car driver could do worse than to begin with the amateur competition at Waterford Hills road course in Oakland County.

That's where Tim Evans of Northville launched his racing career 13 years ago, and he credits the challenge of the rolling 12-turn course nestled in the hills of Independence Township with giving him a leg up on the business.

"I've always said that if you can master Waterford you can run competitively anywhere," he says.

Although he has since moved on to professional competition, (professional Formula Ford, Can-Am and, most recently, Trans-Am series) Evans still takes the wheel at Waterford Hills occasionally and twice a year acts as chief instructor during the Waterford Hills Road Racing Club driver's school.

That's what he was doing this past weekend, between stints as an instructor with the Skip Barber School of Motor Racing. His students are primarily sports car enthusiasts whose expectations do not extend beyond a talent for motor racing, winning the Formula Ford championship at Waterford Hills in his first season.

He stayed with the open wheeled cars powered by Ford Cortina/Pinto 1.6 liter four-cylinder engines for seven years, accumulating experience and no small string of accomplishments.

By 1976, Evans placed second in the Sports Car Club of America (SCCA) national championship for amateur Formula Ford drivers. He moved on to professional-level Formula Ford competition that same year, placing third in that championship. In 1977, he moved up to second in professional Formula Ford.

His accomplishments did not go unrecognized, and in 1979 he had a top-flight ride in a Can-Am sports-racing Lola which he drove to the 2-liter engine displacement class championship, taking honors as the SCCA Professional Rookie of the Year on the way.

For the past three racing seasons Evans has been running in the SCCA Trans-Am road racing series for production-based automobiles, placing 10th in the 1982 standings despite running only four of the 10 events due to a lack of sponsorship. Again lacking a sponsor to foot the $250,000 bill to campaign the entire 12-race 1983 season, he has run only the two most recent Trans Am events (see Sports).

His next stint behind the wheel, he says, will likely be in a six-hour "endurance" race for Showroom Stock class automobiles (essentially unmodified production cars) at Waterford next month.

He's already anticipating the challenge. Less than 1.5 miles long, the track owned by the non-profit Waterford Hills Road Racing, Inc., a division of the Oakland County Sportsman's Club, is known as one of the toughest short road circuits in the country.

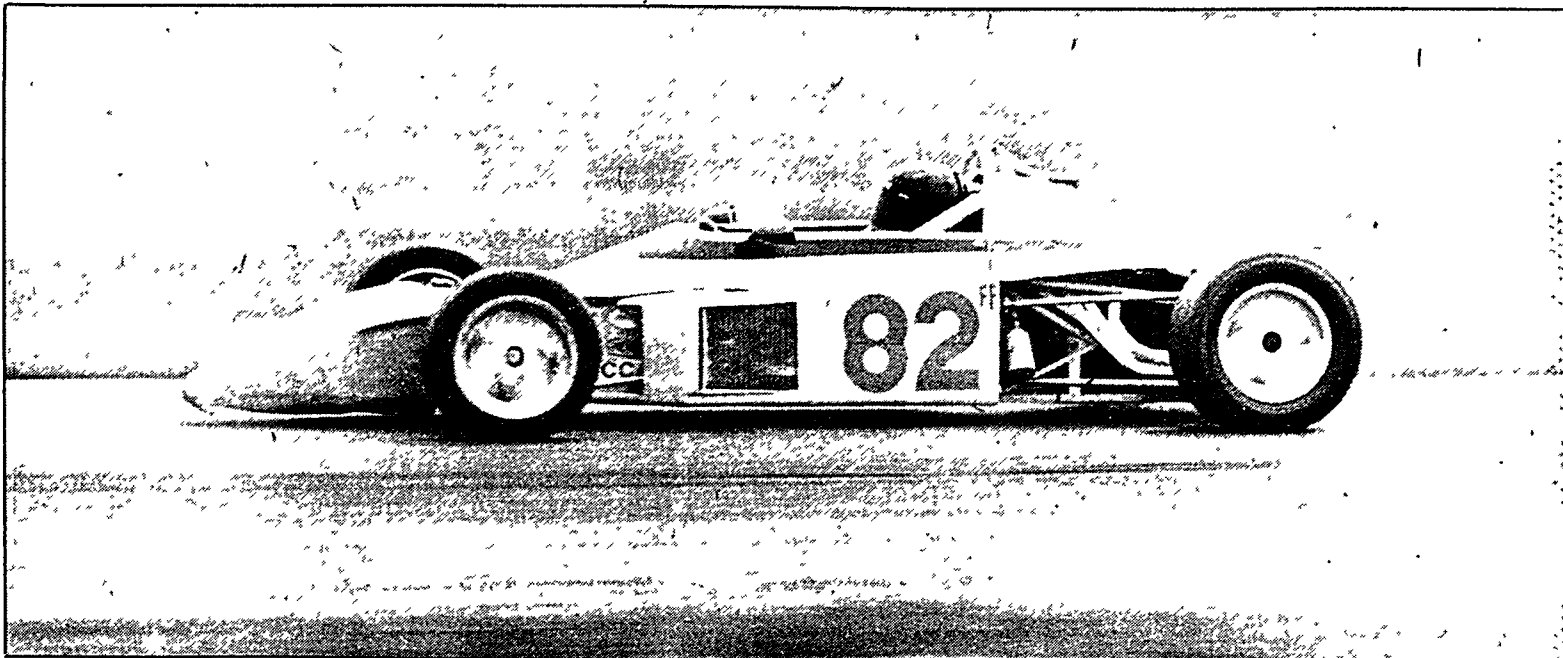

"There's no time to rest — the turns just keep coming at you one after another," Evans explains. For that reason, he says, the teams who plan to run only two drivers in two-hour shifts may find the six-hour race an exhausting one.

Waterford Hills is more often the setting for sprint races of 10 or 15 laps which rarely last as long as one-half hour each. A typical weekend meet includes qualifying and five 10-lap races Saturday, five more 10-lap events Sunday then five feature races of 15 laps to complete the weekend.

The racing fields are made up of cars of similar speed, though each group may contain three or more racing classes. Racers compete for honors within their racing class, though there are other cars both slower and faster on the track at the same time.

"I think it's a good place for a driver to start," Evans says. "The racing is close, and you get a feel for running in traffic. Most of the classes are fairly club or, perhaps, national championship in what is to them an engrossing and fulfilling hobby.

Evans parlayed the Waterford experience into more than that, but retains a soft spot in his heart for the facility where it all started.

A soft-spoken man of 33 whose chiseled features and straight blond hair top a rangy, 6-foot-5 frame, he reflected last week on the beginnings of his own racing career at Waterford, which will celebrate its 25th anniversary with a special racing weekend August 27-28.

"I've always liked cars, especially fast cars," Evans says. "I never particularly enjoyed working on them, but driving them was always a fascination."

"In 1970 I was working with a couple of guys who raced at Waterford and went out there to help them with their cars and that really sparked my interest. I decided I wanted to do that; so the next year I bought a car and went to driver's school."

That first car was a Formula Ford, which had to be cut in half and lengthened to accommodate Evans' long frame. He showed an immediate

Former Northville attorney keeps New Year pledge

By JEAN DAY

Longtime Northville attorney Clifton Hill and his wife Mei Ying were in town last week from Florida. Before continuing north to Alpena, they dropped in on friends and Cliff renewed acquaintances at Rotary Club on Tuesday.

It was a slimmer Hill who was recalling that he had made a much-publicized New Year's resolution years earlier to lose weight — as much as 50 pounds. Last winter he did. The formerly portly Hill admitted he had weighed as much as 245 pounds. He credited his wife with the weight loss.

After 30 years in the community, Hill retired in 1980 after his 75th birthday. The Hills built a home on a canal in New Port Richey but last week reported they are moving to the river country of Florida and building a house on an acre-and-a-half of land.

Hill had had a colorful career after graduating from Detroit College of Law. He was shot, stabbed and had his car sideswiped. The shooting occurred as he came out of Tiger Stadium to get his car from a parking lot.

He also loved to travel and mentioned last week that he had circled the world 21 times. At one time he was an owner of Travel Plans here and wrote a travel column for The Record. He says that in retirement he intends again to resume writing travel columns. He met his wife, whom he married in 1974, in Taiwan. Last winter the Hills vacationed in Switzerland and Ireland.

Western Ontario University she is studying the Suzuki method of teaching piano to four, five and six year olds. "It's the Mother Tongue concept of learning," she explains, "as the child learns to speak by hearing, he also can learn to play."

The teacher explains that usually students are seven years old before they begin to learn to play. She has been taking lessons and observing the Suzuki concept in Ann Arbor and plans to be registered with the Suzuki Institute to teach. She thinks she will be the only Suzuki piano teacher in this area. In this concept, she adds, parents play a big role, attending the child's lesson and listening with him-or-her to records afterward.

Quilters need stitching help for demonstrations

Northville Community Quilters will be demonstrating quilting and related patchwork and applique techniques at the First Presbyterian Church during the Northville Home Tour September 22. Chairperson Sybil Kerr explains that the group which meets regularly at the church to quilt will be doing the demonstrations while selling tickets in the church fellowship hall the day of the tour.

She's also hoping to have guides available for visitors who wish to view the church.

Anyone interested in helping with the demonstrations is invited to attend the meeting of the quilters today. The women meet to quilt on the third Wednesday of each month, starting about 10 a.m. During the summer they stay only until about 1 p.m.

Folinos' trip to Germany, Austria was a winner

City council member Paul Folino and his wife Mamie flew to Munich, Germany, on a midsummer vacation that Folino had been awarded as a top agent with State Farm Insurance. They rented a Volkswagen bus to tour the Bavarian countryside with two other couples. Another highlight was a cable car ride 10,000 feet up the mountainside in Germany.

Folino afterward noted that the 104 agents on the trip with their spouses and other regional office personnel had encountered the usual difficulties with conversion appliance units and day-long delays in making overseas telephone calls. He said it brought to mind vividly an editorial in the Leader and Kalkaskian, a community newspaper in the area of his cottage.

The writer pointed out that while U.S. military strength is questioned and health care and industry's quality control is criticized, to deny American greatness is "foolish." Folino said the tourists were finding they had taken phone and mail services for granted, as the editorial noted, and that "we are number one."

The insurance agent also had a tip for vacationers leaving homes that would be empty — "don't talk about your trip until afterward."

Women's Resource Center offers new support group

The Women's Resource Center of Schoolcraft College now is sponsoring a support group for women who are separated, divorced, in the process of or contemplating divorce.

The group will meet from 7-9 p.m. the second and fourth Thursday of each month to identify problems, needs and share feelings and information.

Livonia attorney Margaret Barton will present an overview of the divorce process at the group's first meeting September 8 in Room B470 of the Liberal Arts Building. Subsequent meetings will take place at the Women's Resource Center, second house south of the south parking lot on Haggerty Road.

Leading the group will be Georgene Sloan, who has worked at the Women's Resource Center, Displaced Homemakers Services Center-Westland, YWCA and is associated with First Step, an agency for victims of domestic assault. Attendance is free; no registration is required. For further information, call 591-6400, extension 430.

The Women's Resource Center of Schoolcraft also is offering a new program for single parents entitled SPIN (Single Parent Instructional Network).

Classes and seminars will be offered in parenting, individual needs, home and life management.

Orientation meetings are to be held from 10 a.m. to noon August 23 and from 7-9 p.m. September 6 at the Women's Resource Center.

Tuition assistance and child care are available for those who qualify. Persons interested are to complete an application form and meet with SPIN coordinator Virginia Kennedy.

Spins like this one in July racing are relatively safe on tight circuit of Waterford Hills

Evans got full-throttle start at Waterford

competitive so you really get a taste of racing."

The tightness of the course keeps speeds down, even for the most powerful race cars. The track record is 1:06.7, or something less than 77 mph average.

Giving much of the credit to dedicated volunteers who conduct the races, Evans notes that Waterford Hills has one of the best safety records of any track. The low speeds and wide grassy areas surrounding the course let the amateur drivers make mistakes or suffer equipment failure without drastic penalty.

"I've seen Corvettes reach the end of the back straight (the fastest point on the course) and lose their brakes, and skid only 100 yards or less," Evans says.

In its 25 years, Waterford has suffered only one fatality and that in a freakish accident last year in which a Volkswagen-powered Formula Vee car flipped.

A major part of the club racing activity is the camaraderie that develops as drivers, mechanics, pit crews, corner workers, the timing and scoring crew and other workers come together to stage the races.

"You get a real cross-section of people out there," Evans explains. "You have carpenters who race and doctors, people from all walks of life."

Workers, and many are needed, receive free admission and pit passes. There is free beer on Saturday evenings for the people who become involved in the operation. Evans' wife Jan acted as chief registrar for the club through July but is curtailing her involvement in the last months of pregnancy with their first child.

Evans, who has been the pace car driver for the two Detroit Grand Prix races, says Waterford is really a better place for getting a feel for the sport as a spectator.

"At Detroit, you can see one, maybe two turns," he explains. "At Waterford Hills, there are 12 turns and I don't think there's a spectator area where you can't see at least nine of them. You can pretty well follow the action all the way around the course."

Evans won't be able to participate in or even spectate at the 25th anniversary celebration at Waterford, being committed to a Skip Barber Series Race out of state. The Skip Barber Series is for Formula Fords and is run as a more intensive training ground for those with higher ambitions in the sport by the driving school for which Evans works 15-20 days a month.

Evans will be helping to conduct that race, just as 13 years ago he was helping out at Waterford Hills, so he won't be able to see how the graduates of last weekend's driving school do in their first real races.

The rookie drivers could have done worse than to draw Tim Evans as a model.

The Waterford Hills road course is on the grounds of the Oakland County Sportsman's Club, six miles north of Pontiac on Waterford Road, one-quarter mile east of Dixie Highway (US-10). The gates open at 10 a.m. Saturdays and Sundays of race weekends, with admission $3 Saturday, $5 Sunday or $6 for the weekend, children under 12 free.

Neighbors

It's especially because families come to us during their most difficult times that we feel our responsibility so deeply. We've formed some very close friendships here and after being a part of this community for so many years, our commitment to its people is stronger than ever.

Just as our own families know they can count on the support and friendship of our neighbors, we're proud that families here know they can feel confident in the services we provide.

Northville plays host to Jr. Series tourney

Yankees take 1st, Blue edged twice

By B.J. MARTIN

Two exciting one-run losses toppled Northville Blue, host team of the 1983 Junior Division World Series, from contention in the national championship playoffs played in Northville last week.

The eventual tournament winners were the Bayside Yankees, winners of the New York regionals, who vaulted past Blue with a 9-8 come-from-behind win in the series' opening round Thursday. The Yankees knocked off Miamisburg, Ohio's Moraine Body Shop 12-11 in the series finale Saturday to claim the national title.

"The tournament went quite well," said jubilant tourney director Robert Frellick. "We had an excellent turnout and an enthusiastic crowd."

Things started slowly enough on the waterlogged Northville High School baseball field, soaked by rains Thursday morning. The soggy field forced temporary delays of baseball action, but didn't dampen the series' opening ceremonies (see photos at left) or the pizza banquet Thursday night, which featured guest speaker Bill Freehan, former all-star catcher of the Detroit Tigers. Freehan related stories from his Tiger and Michigan State playing days.

In Northville Blue's loss to Bayside Thursday, Blue jumped ahead 5-3 with a three-run third inning, but the Yankees mounted a three-run rally in the sixth inning to retake the lead.

Blue bounced back in the top of the seventh on RBI doubles by Mark Deal and Keith Dutkiewicz to take an 8-6 lead, but once again the New Yorkers battled back, rallying for three runs in the bottom of the seventh to get past Blue.

Wasted in the loss were the offensive contributions of first baseman Deal, who scored three runs and tripled in addition to his go-ahead double; catcher Jay Bartling, second baseman Steve Cody and shortstop Dutkiewicz, each of whom had two hits.

In the two-game elimination tournament, Northville got its second chance in a nine-inning contest against Miamisburg Friday. This time, the pitching was better than could be asked, but the Blue bats were silent.

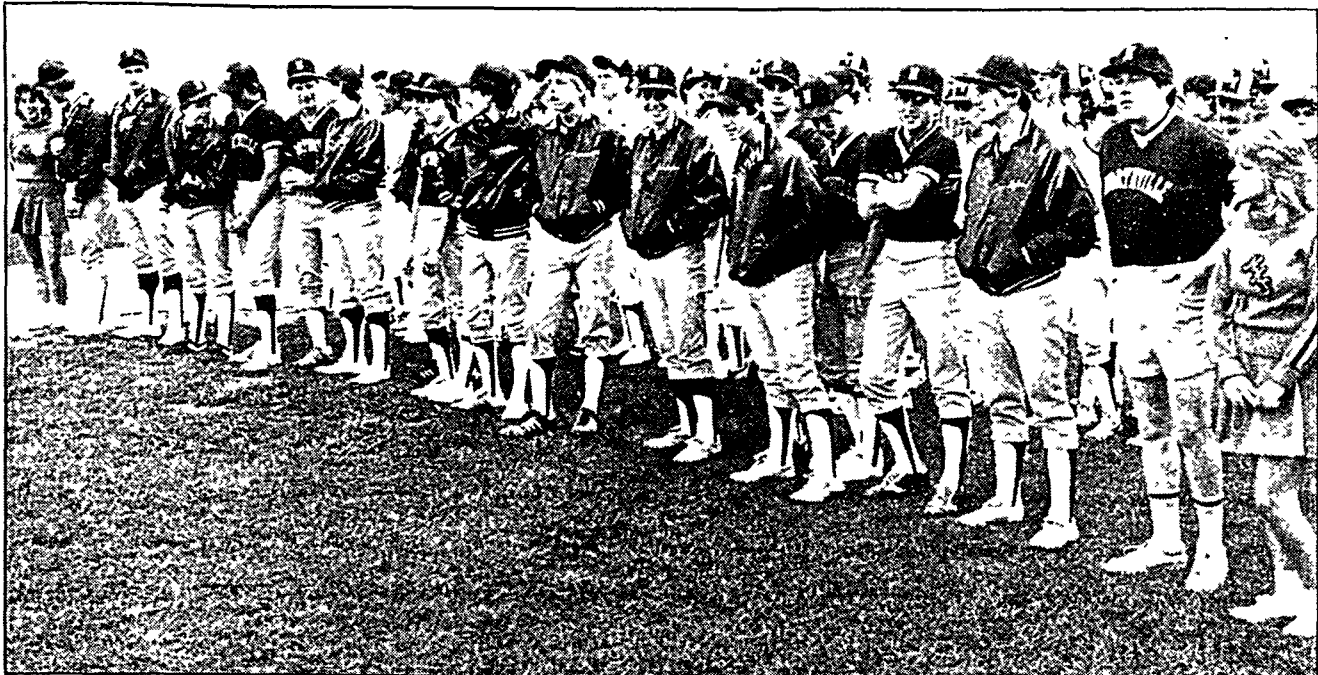

For five innings, Blue starter Chris Willerer was superb, striking out just one batter, but getting excellent defensive help from his teammates. Gary Zwolinski, called on when Willerer issued two walks in the fifth, was equally impressive, notching four strikeouts and no earned runs — Miamisburg's go-ahead run came following an error, a passed ball and a squeeze play.

Aberdeen's, Urban's tops

Aberdeen's may have been the most impressive team in the Northville Recreation softball league this summer, capping its first-place regular-season finish with a 6-3 win over Getzie's/J&S Steel in the playoff finale last Sunday — but it was Urban's Partition who stole the show.

As Sterling Oil "mercied" Urban's 11-1 in the opening game of the double-header showdown between the two teams Sunday, it appeared Urban's would pull up just short in the playoffs, too.

But Urban's wouldn't roll over. Mounting three-run rallies in the second and third innings, Urban's staved off a four-run seventh-inning rally by Sterling to hang on for a 7-6 win in the tourney final.

Pacing Urban's attack was Jim Demers, who went 3-for-3, knocking in three runs and leading off the seventh with a triple that wound up scoring what proved to be the winning run. Randy Stidhan added two hits and scored two runs. For Sterling Oil, every hit that fell in the first game wound up in an Urban's glove in the second. Ken Phillips collected three hits for Sterling, Bob Kehoe and Steve Gossand two each.

A two-run homer by Jerry Dettler led Aberdeen's in its Sunday final. Mike Smith added three hits and Jeff Kemesis and Fred Stenkoff two each. Dave Zima's home run and Gary Calendar's two-run triple, both in the second inning, accounted for all three runs for Getzie's/J&S Steel.

Northville's Andy Frey takes a practice circuit

Local skier

Northville resident Andy Frey, 11, will compete this week at the National Water Ski Championships in Duquaine, Illinois, following his recent qualifications and first-place finish in slalom competition at the Midwest Regional Water Ski Championships in Decatur, Illinois, July 29-31.

Andy, who will be a student at Meads Mill Junior High this fall, recently placed second in the Mastercraft Juniors Tournament earlier this year in the Under-13 category held in June at his family's ski club, Tivoli Gardens in Brighton.

Andy earned a "Master's" rating in skiing at a sanctioned American Water Ski Association tournament in Columbus, Ohio, earlier this year. To get the rating, he had to complete a slalom course at 34 miles per hour.

The team won a trophy for best showmanship, first place for 32-count circle pom-pom effect, first place in originality and first place overall, in addition to receiving a special spirit award. Recreation post qualifications set

Wanted: a new Recreation Director for Northville.

Following action recently taken by the Northville Recreation Commission's personnel committee, the job description for the post vacated earlier this summer by the resignation of Ed Kritz has been released for potential candidates.

The committee established the following criteria for the job, with applications due by Thursday, August 25:

- Bachelor's degree with major concentration in parks and recreation administration;
- Three to five years' experience in recreation or related field;
- Responsibilities to include formulating and administering a $250,000 budget, supervising a staff, working with volunteer groups, conducting a wide range of recreation programs and activities, managing a community recreational center serving 18,000 residents;
- Flexibility for evening and weekend activities;
- Salary range $19,000-$22,000 plus benefits.

The personnel committee and advisors from the Northville recreation community will meet in early September to review resumes submitted and decide on the finalists to be considered for the post. The names of candidates will remain confidential.

As of last week's Recreation Commission meeting, commissioners had received three applications for the post, with several more expected.

Tim Evans in action in his Pontiac Trans Am

Northville's Tim Evans places at two Trans Am races

By KEVIN WILSON

Fighting a recalcitrant car and the lack of sponsorship money, race driver Tim Evans of Northville placed 8th and 16th in recent Budweiser Trans Am Series racing action.

Driving a Pontiac Firebird Trans Am (named for the SCCA's premier production car racing series) Evans qualified 20th in a field of 66 at Road America raceway in Elkhart Lake, Wisconsin, for the July 24 race.

"I didn't do too badly there, considering our race engine wasn't available and without a sponsor we financed the operation out of our back pockets," Evans said.

Without the race engine, the Brookland Farms resident had to rely for motive power on a lesser engine built for racing at the comparatively short Waterford Hills course in Oakland County (see page C-1). Down roughly 100 horsepower from the leaders' estimated 550 hp, Evans advanced through the field to finish in eighth position at Road America.

When Evans got behind the wheel of the Chevy-powered Pontiac again August 7 at Brainerd, Minnesota, he had the opportunity to prove how a professional race driver can nurse a car to the finish regardless of mechanical difficulties. Having qualified 15th, Evans got little opportunity to advance before car-troubles set in.

"I had the windshield blow in on me at 170 mph on the second lap," Evans explained. "On the first lap, we caught some rocks in the windshield and on the second lap — there's a one-mile straight at Brainerd that's like a drag strip — the windshield just shattered and came in at top speed."

After pitting to replace the windshield, Evans said, he re-entered the race 1½ laps behind the leaders.

"Then I lost first and second gears, so I was running with just third and fourth," he said. "Later on I lost fourth gear, then the electronic ignition failed."

Despite the difficulties, Evans kept going to finish in 16th position, adding to one of the more impressive statistics of his 13-year racing career — of the races he has run in that period, fewer than 15 percent resulted in non-finishes.

Chris W., Gary Z. superb in 1-0 loss

But Miamisburg's Chris Hollan turned in the pitching performance of the series, scattering four hits in nine innings.

Miamisburg came up just short in a wild tournament final Saturday. After Miamisburg jumped off to a 3-0 lead, New York rallied for seven runs in the third inning, sending 10 batters to the plate and collecting six hits in the rally.

Miamisburg retaliated by scoring four runs in the fourth, one in the fifth and three in the sixth to take an 11-10 lead, but the Yankees scored two runs in the bottom of the seventh on an error for the championship.

Also participating in the tournament were teams from Westland, Michigan, winners of the Michigan Mickey Mantle league state championship; Louisville, Kentucky; and Baltimore, Maryland. The Westland team, also known as Wayne-Ford, also went down to the Yankees by a 9-8 score.

SCOLIOSIS Lateral Curvature of the Spine

DOES YOUR CHILD HAVE SCOLIOSIS?

Most parents are loving and have a deep concern for their children's health. Even so, many parents wouldn't have any idea how to answer the question: Does your child have scoliosis? We shouldn't be too critical of our unknowing parents, however, for scoliosis, "the UNSEEN CRIPPLER," for it is very difficult to detect in its early stages. Without proper detection techniques, scoliosis can remain unnoticed until it has progressed to near crippling proportions and can last a lifetime. The term scoliosis refers to the lateral curvature of the spinal column. In fact, when the spinal vertebrae move laterally (to the side) they most often rotate or turn as they do so. This results in the true terminology of "ROTARY SCOLIOSIS." Most doctors simply use the term "scoliosis" for the sake of simplicity.

The deep concern for children is caused by the fact that research shows most adults who have scoliosis developed this disease between the ages of 4 and 10. Of the 10,000 adult subjects tested, nearly 80% to 90% are female.

5 SIMPLE TESTS FOR SCOLIOSIS

PATIENT'S NAME: _____

Prior to testing, please have person stand straight, head erect, knees straight, hands at side, feet together:

- | | Yes | No |
|--|--------------------------|--------------------------|
| 1. Is pelvis equal?
(Place hands on pelvic bones, check for equal height) | <input type="checkbox"/> | <input type="checkbox"/> |
| 2. Is spine straight?
(Trace spine with fingertips, observe for curvature) | <input type="checkbox"/> | <input type="checkbox"/> |
| 3. Are ribs more prominent on one side?
(Check areas near spinal curvature) | <input type="checkbox"/> | <input type="checkbox"/> |
| 4. Is roundback evident?
(Check from the rear and side for rounding of the spine) | <input type="checkbox"/> | <input type="checkbox"/> |
| 5. Is swayback evident?
(Check from the rear and side for concave curvature of the spine) | <input type="checkbox"/> | <input type="checkbox"/> |

Cut out this brief test where indicated and bring it to our office. We will be happy to conduct a more in-depth spinal evaluation.

FACTS ABOUT SCOLIOSIS

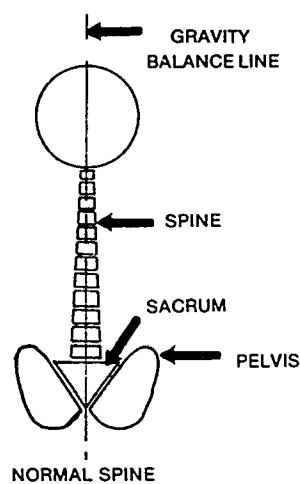

It has come to our attention that there is a great deal of mis-information about and mis-conceptions concerning scoliosis among young people. We, being the experts on this subject, offer the following clarifications.

Scoliosis is not a disease.
 Scoliosis is not incurable in most all cases.
 Scoliosis is not hereditary in most cases.
 Scoliosis is a mechanical and muscular change.
 Scoliosis is correctable if its cause is understood.
 Scoliosis is understood most clearly by chiropractic.

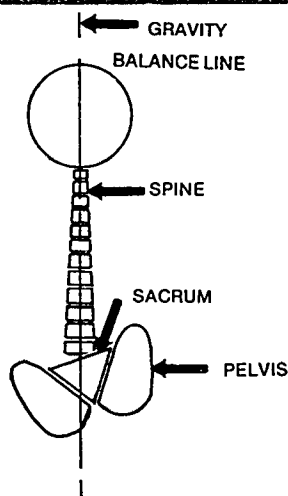

So many times parents are left in the dark concerning scoliosis. What's worse, they are told there is no cure, only palative help with surgery or body braces.

If one understands how scoliosis starts and how it progresses, one will be better armed to cope with it. Scoliosis is helped most by education. Education then leads to the proper handling of the particular situation.

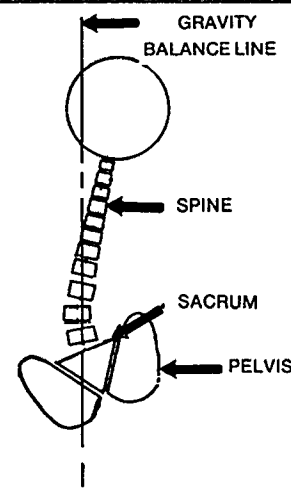

The following is a brief outline of how most all scoliosis begins, progresses and is helped.

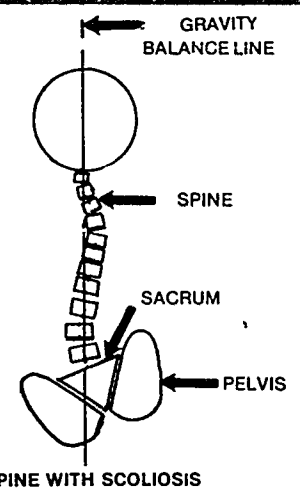

(fig. 1)

(fig. 2)

(fig. 3)

(fig. 4)

1. The foundation of the spine is called the sacrum. Fastened to the sacrum are the hip bones. These form the pelvis or pelvic girdle. (Fig. 1)
2. Vertebrae are then stacked on top of one another from the pelvis up to the skull, together they form the spine.
3. The body is always under the influence of gravity, constantly pulling down on the spine.

4. One of the major jobs of the spine is to balance the torso, head and arms, keeping them in a straight upright balanced position.
5. What happens in most cases of scoliosis is that the sacrum and/or pelvis are forced out of the level position. (Fig. 2)

WHAT HAPPENS NEXT IS MOST IMPORTANT.

6. In order for the body to maintain an upright position, the spine must shift to counterbalance the change of the sacrum and/or pelvis. (fig. 3)

7. In time, one, two, or three counter curves will develop, thus a complete case of scoliosis. (fig. 4)
8. This condition can be reversed if caught in time. But time is of the essence. The sooner the better, the younger the better.

Summary:

Scoliosis is a treatable condition by reversing the process. The younger and the sooner it is found and treated, the better the results. No one is better qualified to care for scoliosis than chiropractors.

ON AUGUST 22 (MON.), THROUGH SEPTEMBER 3 (SAT.), we are offering free examinations of all children under the age of 18 when accompanied by a parent. THERE IS NO OBLIGATION. WE STRICTLY OFFER THIS AS A PUBLIC SERVICE.

OUR PATIENTS SPEAK OUT!

SEIZURES GONE AFTER CHIROPRACTIC CARE

Our daughter, Ellen had been having seizures since she was 2 months old. We found out about Chiropractic Care from my mother, who is Dr. Mashike's patient. She was satisfied with the results. So we decided to talk to him about Ellen.

Dr. Mashike examined Ellen and found the top vertebrae at the base of her skull out of alignment. He said it was causing pressure on her spinal cord and if the vertebrae was re-aligned it would take care of her seizures.

Ellen was eight months old when she started with Dr. Mashike. As the spinal adjustments progressed I slowly withdrew her from the addicting drugs (Membrol and Dilatin) that had previously been prescribed for her.

In the past, each time we had taken her to the hospital her medication was increased. Each time they did a brain wave, cat scans and complete x-rays, but they could never find anything.

She was taken totally off medication on January 7, 1981. She had only one minor seizure on April 2, 1981. She is doing great now.

We thank Dr. Mashike for his fine care of Ellen. She hasn't had a seizure in over two years. Mrs. Janet Geno

GYMNASTICS NOT FUN WITH SORE BACK

Cheryl Lynn Battaglia enjoys participating in gymnastics. But she did not enjoy the really bad pains she was having in the lower half of her back.

My back hurt so much I had trouble sitting down or walking. My gymnastic coaches, Ron and Cindy Westerman from Go-Fer Gymnastics, told me about Chiropractic Care.

After my second visit to Dr. Mashike I noticed improvement, even the cold I was suffering was gone in a short time.

Now, with the help of chiropractic care I am able to go back into gymnastics. I would strongly recommend regular chiropractic adjustments for all persons participating in athletics.

Cheryl Lynn Battaglia

NO SURGERY FOR THIS SCOLIOSIS VICTIM

Toni Coral has Scoliosis, its not a disease but a structural fault beginning in the base of her spine. The Medical Doctors, from whom she had sought help, were doing nothing to halt the advancement of this condition, simply because they know of no technique to use. Instead they were waiting until the Scoliosis condition had reached a certain point at which time major surgery would be required to place a steel rod in her spine.

Fortunately Toni's mother sought chiropractic care for her. Here is her testimonial:

The results were good. The Scoliosis has stopped. We are all greatly relieved. Dr. Mashike has shown us the value of chiropractic care. Now we are all patients.

Mrs. Coral

WE'RE ALL BETTER

HEADACHES AND MENSTRUAL CRAMPS GONE

A friend of my mother's was coming to Dr. Mashike and he was being helped. So with my HEADACHES everyday, and my severe MENSTRUAL CRAMPS each month, I wanted help, and I hadn't received any with pills and the like.

About two weeks after starting spinal adjustments, my everyday HEADACHES STOPPED. After a few more adjustments, my periods have regulated. I get REGULAR ADJUSTMENTS, I have changed my diet, I exercise regularly per Dr. Mashike's instruction and I feel better.

I think Dr. Mashike's report really helped me understand what chiropractic is all about.

Audra Dale

A friend of mine had gotten good results and suggested we see Dr. Mashike. I came in first because of upper back pain radiating into migraine headaches. Dr. Mashike explained what the problem was and started to correct my spine at the pinched nerves. He said pressure in my upper neck was causing the headaches. Well, in just a short time, I was better.

Seeing the value of this for health, I brought my youngest daughter Stacy in, who has allergies so bad she had to have shots each week. The shots made her listless. But, if she missed her shot, she experienced much discomfort.

I noticed significant improvement after only a short period of time. The amazing part is that after 6 weeks, Stacy's condition cleared up and she no longer has to have any shots.

With these results, I started the other children. Bryan had frequent runny noses and congestion and Robyn had a history of kidney infections.

The results are amazing. All of use are better, in the 9 months we have been coming to Dr. Mashike we have not been sick.
