DIGGING IN — Three workers in the Michigan Youth Corps program stationed in Northville put the finishing touches on their summer jobs beautifying the exterior of Northville's public school buildings. Youth Corps workers give schools a 'face-lift'

By B.J. MARTIN

Northville's public schools will be showing the effects of a summer facelift operation when students come back in September, thanks to a crew of Michigan Youth Corps workers assigned to interior and exterior upkeep at all the school district's buildings and grounds.

"I think it's been very beneficial," observed Norman Franks, director of transportation and maintenance for Northville Schools. "I'm sure as people drive through the district and see the exteriors, they'll see a great improvement."

The program began in June with 11 workers, and there are still six who were able to stay on for a two-week extension of the program recently added. Most of the summer workers came from Northville, including Todd Bartling, Gary Burstein, Ross Good, Steve Jensen, Arthur McLaughlin, Jim Niemec, Rich Schohl and Tim Wagner, as well as Youth Corps Supervisor Al Poe.

The workers were divided into two groups, one performing indoor maintenance and the other working on grounds beautification. The indoor group concentrated on custodial duties, washing floors, windows and furniture, waxing and stripping floors in all the school buildings.

The outdoor group focused on lawn maintenance, weeding, edging and filling flower beds, and painting school property, including playground equipment and some school building exteriors.

"We got a lot of things accomplished," said William Hood, administrative assistant for operations. "The program has enabled us to do a lot of things that ordinarily would not have been done."

Franks added another positive assessment. "We are in a budget crunch, and it definitely has helped ease the burden on our full-time staff. It also helps the students gain some job experience and helps the college-oriented ones raise some money. Out of the 11, most were excellent workers, very conscientious and eager to accept responsibility. I never had any back talk and for people that age (18-21) that's pretty remarkable. I was very impressed with the group."

"All in all," Franks added, "I'd say it was most beneficial, and I would like to see it on a continued basis."

The project came about when school district officials were notified by the state administrative agency handling the Youth Corps program that funds were available for use on the beautification and maintenance projects.

Assistant Superintendent of Administrative Services Burton Knighton made the necessary contacts for getting the projects approved. Franks and Chuck Kehrer, custodial supervisor, then met with local Youth Corps administrator Rae Marr, who explained what could and could not be done with the workers.

The Youth Corps program, which also has sponsored the Rouge River cleanup project, as well as several other civic projects in the state, is on uncertain ground for continuation next year, but has received nearly unanimous approval from local administrators.

Voters to decide bond issue

By MICHELE McELMURRY

Northville voters will head to the polls October 3 to decide on a $7.75 million bond issue for the renovation of Northville High School.

State Superintendent Phillip E. Runkel approved the district's request for preliminary qualification of the proposed bond issue in a letter to Superintendent George Bell dated August 15.

Coupled with Runkel's approval of the district's proposed bond issue, the Wayne County Election Scheduling Committee approved the district's request to schedule an October 3 election.

At its meeting Monday night, the board of education officially adopted the bond election resolution as it will appear on the ballot and unanimously approved the October 3 election date.

Though renovation of the high school facility is expected to cost an estimated $8 million, the district is requesting $7.75 million in bonds from the School Board Loan Fund with additional monies expected to be earned in interest gained from the bonds.

With the bond issue proposal approved by the state, administrators and school board members are gearing up for what likely will be the most crucial school election in the past decade.

Bell told board members Monday that a kick-off meeting of a newly-formed citizens committee supporting the bond issue will be held at 7:30 p.m. September 6 in the high school library.

Co-chairpersons of the committee are Donald Klokenga and Sharon Nielsen with Lois Hoffmeister serving as treasurer — all members of the Citizens Advisory Committee for the High School Renovation Feasibility study. Residents interested in working on the citizens committee are invited to attend the organizational meeting.

Board members and administrators also will be out in force as election day nears for the bond issue proposal.

Bell told the board he currently is scheduling meetings with neighborhood and civic groups to discuss the proposal and answer residents' questions.

The superintendent has written a series of questions and answers concerning the high school renovation which he expects to pass out to residents during the course of the campaign.

He also told board member that he hopes to have a rough draft of the proposed renovation to outline to residents. Though only a feasibility study of the proposed renovation has been conducted by architect John Argenta, a blueprint of some of the major changes should be available during the campaign.

Of the $8 million proposed for the renovation project, $4.5 million is expected to go towards new construction, $2 million for remodeling and rehabilitation, $550,000 for architect's fees and $1 million for other costs.

Should voters approve the bond issue in October, ground breaking for the renovation could take place at the end of the year.

While the majority of the renovation work is expected to be done during the summers of 1984 and 85, some of the work will continue during the school year.

The renovation is expected to be completed by September, 1985, at which time ninth graders will move into the high school.

Northville voters planning to cast ballots in the October 3 special school election must register with their township or city clerks by September 6. Persons registering after 5 p.m. September 6 will not be eligible to vote in the special election.

Polls will open in the district's six precincts at 7 a.m. and close at 8 p.m.

Public schools get feedback from voter attitude survey

By MICHELE McELMURRY

Though local voters generally are satisfied with the Northville Public School system, a recently-released survey reveals that residents are dissatisfied with the appearance and condition of the high school, are concerned about the school board's handling of district finances and are in need of more publications and information from their schools.

The survey, among the most comprehensive studies conducted in the past decade of voter attitudes towards schools, was unveiled to the Northville Board of Education at its August 8 meeting.

Compiled by local resident Harriet Sawyer through a grant by the American Association of University Women (AAUW), the survey reveals voter attitudes towards a wide range of issues — from the effectiveness of the board of education to maintenance and care of school facilities.

Sawyer, a former member of the Berkeley Board of Education and current State President of the AAUW, began the project during the first quarter of 1982.

The 29-question survey, conducted between November 20 and December 1, 1982, was mailed to 858 local voters — a sample of approximately 5.9 percent of the district's registered voters.

Sawyer explained that to sample approximately 1,000 of the 14,602 voters registered in the summer of 1982, every 17th voter in the district's six precincts was selected for the survey.

Sawyer said the sample was stratified on the basis of precinct groups to insure that all geographic areas of the community were represented.

Of the 858 surveys mailed to voters, 204 were returned completed — a return rate of 24 percent. A total of 131 surveys was returned as undeliverable, a rate of 15.2 percent.

Sawyer projected that of the 14,602 registered voters on the school district's voter registration list, 15.2 percent of the district. Therefore, the percentage of return results is based upon an adjusted figure of 28 percent.

The survey was written in statement form with respondents indicating a degree of agreement with the statement. Response choices ranged from strongly agree to strongly disagree.

Five of the survey questions reflected characteristics of the respondents in order to determine the cross section of those responding to the questions.

Findings from that portion of the survey reveal that less than half of the respondents have children in the Northville Public Schools.

Among those returning surveys, 14.4 percent have children only in the elementary schools, 16.9 percent have children only in the secondary schools and 14.9 percent have children in both levels. Total of respondents with children in Northville Public Schools is 46.2 percent.

Respondents with children in private schools is 8.5 percent and those with no children in school totaled 45.3 percent. In total, 53.8 percent of the voters in the district do not have children in the Northville Public Schools.

Sawyer pointed out that "while it is generally believed that many former students return to Northville to raise a family, the figures in response to this question are surprisingly low."

Of the total respondents, only 13 percent are graduates of Northville schools.

The survey also revealed that the educational level of residents in the district is relatively high. Among the respondents, 85.8 percent attended college, graduated from college or have advanced degrees.

NHS pool being repaired

Work began last Tuesday to repair a break in the drain pipe underneath the Northville High School pool and hopefully correct the leakage problem which led to its drainage in mid-June.

Assistant Superintendent Burton Knighton told the board of education Monday that the district has contracted Evans Mechanical Contractors, Inc. of Novi to repair the damaged pool pipes and under fittings at a cost of approximately $13,500.

The board granted Knighton approval to accept bids on the pool repair at its August 8 meeting.

While the board had hoped to hold off on repairing the pool until after the bond issue election for the high school renovation, contractors examining the pool area determined that the leak would cause critical problems as well as pose a health hazard to students if not immediately repaired.

Knighton told the board that repairs should be completed no later than the second week of school — of not sooner.

While the delay in swimming classes causes little problem for the high school, the NHS girls swim team has had to use other area pools for practice before the start of its season.

The problem with the NHS swimming pool was cited in mid-June by Maintenance Supervisor Norman Frank, who noticed an accumulation of water in the high school swimming pool equipment room adjacent to the diving tank. After further examination, Frank discovered a crack in the wall and seepage of water through the wall.

Late last month, three contractors examined the pool area to try to assess the problem. Evans Mechanical Con-

Council approves bonding for Northville Lab project

Expansion plans at Northville Laboratories received city council final approval for financing through the Economic Development Corporation last week.

Issuance of $750,000 in tax-free EDC revenue bonds will pay for expansion of the industrial building and site on Rural Hill Drive according to the development plan, which has been in the works for more than two years.

Northville Laboratories will be responsible for paying the debt, which will enable it to build a 14,200 square foot addition to the east side of the present 24,600 square foot building. Plans also involve renovation of the older structure outside and inside to accommodate new equipment.

Part of the project involves making the present Rural Hill Drive into part of the Northville Lab site and reconstruct-

Jaws-of-Life campaign begins

"We need it now — we're going all out to raise as much as possible this Friday and Saturday to purchase a Jaws of Life for Northville," Greg Dawson, president of the Northville Jaycees, said this week as he announced plans for a canister collection downtown.

Dawson said the death of a 24-year-old man in an accident on Eight Mile at Beck August 12 pointed up the need to accelerate the three-year-old campaign to purchase the equipment for the community.

A Jaws of Life, heavy extraction equipment used to release accident victims from vehicles, was borrowed from Novi in trying to free the young man from his 1983 Datsun in the collision.

Dawson reported that afterward Northville Township Police Chief Kenneth Hardesty called him to ask about the state of the campaign.

"A person can bleed to death in two minutes — the time lost when someone is pinned in an automobile is critical," Dawson said, explaining police concern about the availability of a unit.

"If Novi's equipment is busy, or in a distant location," Dawson pointed out, "Northville would be without that help in an accident."

For three years, Dawson recounted, the Jaycees have held activities to try to raise funds for the Jaws.

"Some flopped and cost us money," he admitted, citing the recent circus at the Downs which had proceeds earmarked for the project.

The Millionaires' Party held to help the recreation department budget also in smaller measure aided the Jaws fund, Dawson reported, with a small percentage going to the project.

Dawson stated there presently is just over $600 in an account set up at Community Federal Credit Union's Northville office.

"But we're looking at $7,000," he said, announcing the canister collection by Jaycees this weekend as the start of a concentrated fund-raising campaign.

He added that at the planned Autumnfest by Northville Merchants Jaycees will be operating a beer tent with profits to go to the Jaws fund. Dawson said the Jaycees are hoping to receive beer donations to help make this a major fund-raiser. As part of the Autumnfest participation, he detailed, 10 percent of the beer tent proceeds will go to the Merchants and the rest to the Jaws of Life project.

According to Hardesty, Dawson said, it is possible to obtain the equipment in three to four weeks. Hardesty, he added,

Petitions are out for Folino, Ayers

Incumbent city council members Paul Folino and Carolann Ayers both have taken out nominating petitions to run for re-election this November.

There are five candidates hoping to place their names on the ballot — Max Robinson took out council petitions last week while Eugene Kunz is seeking nomination to run for mayor against incumbent Paul Vernon.

Candidates need no fewer than 50 signatures and no more than 75 on nominating petitions. Ballots can be obtained at the city clerk's office and are to be returned between September 1 and October 3.

Ayers, Folino and Robinson are running for two four-year council terms. Ayers is completing her first four-year term while Folino is finishing a two-year term created by a resignation.

Survey reveals voter attitudes toward public schools

In the age category, 50 percent of the respondents are between the ages of 31 and 45, with 26 percent between 46 and 60, 13.2 percent between the ages of 18 and 30 and 10.8 percent over 60 years of age.

Among those responding to the survey, 81.3 percent said they voted in the July 1981 millage election, where voters approved the school's seven mill request — a 2.5 mill reduction over a 9.5 mill renewal defeated earlier that year.

In the evaluation portion of the survey, Sawyer said she found several one-issue respondents. Noting that respondents were free to write comments in the margins of the survey, Sawyer said that many individuals would repeat the same comments throughout the survey and noted the most frequent areas of concern were financial accountability, gifted offerings and school board openness.

She also pointed out that the negative respondents were the most vociferous in the margin comments and responses to open-ended questions at the conclusion of the survey. She noted many negative responses were written in bold letters or with red ink.

ed, has offered to seek township funding for the additional amount needed for the purchase.

Persons or organizations wishing to donate directly to the Jaws purchase fund may do so at the Community Credit Union, Dawson suggested. Contributions may be mailed directly to the Jaws of Life Fund, Community Credit Union, 101 North Center, attention manager Jackie Harris.

She said Monday that anyone wishing a receipt for tax purposes merely has to request it from her. The project, according to Dawson, qualifies for income tax exemption. It and the Jaycees are non-profit, and, therefore, such donations qualify for exemption.

persons and add significantly to the city and school district tax bases.

The EDC is a quasi-governmental body authorized to issue tax-free municipal bonds to assist in financing private enterprise projects it determines will benefit the community at large.

A public hearing before city council last week drew no comment outside those of the developer and council members, who said they were anxious to get the project out of the planning stages and begin work.

Council member J. Burton DeRusha noted the project is one the city has strongly supported since it was first proposed. The city agreed to the relocation of Rural Hill Drive at the developer's expense and co-ordinated acquisition of Wayne County Road Commission right-of-way to allow the move. In turn, the road commission was granted easements allowing for the eventual extension and/or widening of Hines Drive.

After the expansion, the Northville Laboratories site will be roughly 3.2 acres with a 400 foot frontage on Rural Hill Drive. When completed, the site will be shielded from view from the road by a landscaped berm.

The project area is bound on the north by Seven Mile Road, on the south by the Johnson Drain beyond which lies Rural Hill Cemetery, on the east by the parkway and on the west by apartments. Expansion is all on the east side of the present Northville Laboratories facility.

City will not contract out cemetery maintenance job

Grounds maintenance of the two city cemeteries will remain a job for the DPW after a report from the city manager showed no advantages in contracting the service out.

Mayor Pro Tem G. Dewey Gardner, who instigated manager Steven Walters' examination of the contracting possibility, said last week it was "clear to me that we don't want to go that route."

The administrative report shows cemetery maintenance cost the city a total of $51,852 last year with $31,190 of that going toward labor. Another $18,273 was the cost of operating city equipment, and $2,389 went for materials.

Costs are divided into grave openings and routine maintenance. Openings, which would not be done by a contracted service, resulted in the expense of $12,228 last year while routine maintenance cost $9,624.

All openings, the report notes, are at Rural Hill Cemetery while routine maintenance goes on at both Rural Hill and at the Cady Street cemetery. Lot sales at Rural Hill help finance maintenance, though there are none at Cady Street. A recent hike in the opening fees is expected to recoup losses the city was taking in that service.

Walters recommended that cemetery ground maintenance not be contracted out for several reasons. Contracting, he said, would result in the cemeteries being unattended most of the time while the present arrangement helps reduce vandalism and makes assistance available to cemetery visitors.

Also, "the quality of work being performed by the present employees, in particular William Raeburn, is superior to that available from a landscaping service," Walters wrote.

Contracting would not solve the need for opening graves, for winter maintenance or for non-routine work such as making repairs and maintaining the road, Walters noted.

Finally, if the cemetery maintenance were contracted out and the DPW position cut, the department would be "severely affected in its ability to respond to snow and other emergency situations," Walters stated, noting that the present DPW workforce has been cut from 13 to eight employees over the past two years.

... one of the biggest voter misconceptions is the idea that board of education members are paid for their service on the school board.

Sawyer concluded that one of the biggest voter misconceptions is the idea that board of education members are paid for their service on the school board. Service on the Northville Board of Education is voluntary with no payment to its members.

Of the four questions reflecting voter attitude towards the board of education, most responses were favorable.

Questioned if they feel parent concerns are reflected in the decisions of the school board, 38.5 percent of the respondents agreed while 29.2 percent disagreed. However, 26.2 percent had no opinion which Sawyer noted could tip the balance in a school-related election.

Fifty-five percent of the responses of the survey population agreed or strongly agreed that the board of education is effectively working to improve the quality of education in Northville schools.

However, the school board did not fare as well in the area of finances. Forty one percent of the respondents disagreed with the statement that the board of education is doing a good job of handling the district's finances. Approximately 35 percent of the respondents had "no opinion" in regards to the statement.

The survey also revealed that 55 percent of the voters believe the board of education and administration are moving toward more openness with the community.

Sawyer noted this as among the most significant responses on the survey — particularly in light of the 1981 millage defeat in which board members and administrators were accused of being less than open with voters.

The responses also came less than six months after the arrival of School Superintendent George Bell.

Other significant findings in the survey included the respondents' request for more publications from the school district and an overwhelmingly favorable response to the continued expansion of the district's Community Education Program.

While 80.3 percent of the voters agreed that Northville should continue to expand its offerings in community education, Sawyer found that margin responses indicated a misunderstanding of the concept of community education.

Financial concerns were cited as the biggest problem facing the Northville schools between now and 1985, according to responses in the open-ended question portion of the survey.

In outlining the survey to school board members, Sawyer concluded that several factors have divided the community over the past decade.

She cited the non-mandated extended school year (ESY), implemented in the district between 1972 and 1976, as having split the community into two factions.

"Tied to this problem is the individual who served as the Superintendent of Schools at the time," Sawyer noted.

She observed that the community's general mistrust towards the schools developed as a result of ESY, coupled with the superintendent and the school board's lack of communication with the district.

She further concluded that "it is the opinion of some in the community that the district grew too fast, that too many progressive programs were attempted in a basically conservative community and the poor management of funds which resulted in a $400,000 short fall in 1974 added to the problems of the district that are still being experienced today."

However, she also pointed out that the Open Meetings Act and a turnover in the board in recent years has brought new light to the school board process.

Sawyer mentioned that many of the survey respondents' requests currently are being addressed by the new administration.

In assessing the survey, Sawyer made recommendations based upon the respondents' remarks.

She concluded that parents and citizens need to be more involved in committee structures to assist the board in important decisions and that parents want to have some input in the curriculum area.

She also noted that a stricter discipline code needs to be established at the secondary level and better communication needs to be developed between parents and the school district.

She cited a need for school board members and administrators to be more visible to the community and to use school personnel to communicate with the public.

Copies of Sawyer's survey are available at Northville Public Library.

Board contracts pool repair

tractors finally was contracted to put an air test on the main drain piping to determine if there was a pipe leak.

Their test showed a break in the pipe and fittings under the pool bottom.

Last week, the district contracted Evans Mechanical Contractors for repair work to the pool area.

Knighton told the board that repairs are extensive and that contractors will need to cut the existing pool tank bottom, remove existing concrete, drains and pipes and replace the corroded drain lines with new cast iron lines.

While Knighton said he hoped repairs could be completed before the start of school, he noted that it will take at least three or four days for the cement to cure and another week for the tiles to cure.

Though the repair work is permanent and expected to last another 15 to 20 years, replacing the pools corroded pipes and drains only is a small part of the problem with the high school pool.

A more extensive repair will be in order if the proposed bond issue for the high school renovation is approved in October.

Midge's Meanderings

by Midge Haynic

Well, friends, it surely has been fun writing this column for the summer. But all fun things do come to an end eventually.

Best of all, I've learned a lot about Northville, its businesses and its people. It's been a real pleasure to talk with old friends and make new ones. I'm going to miss that.

For years Northville's symbol has been our spring well. But perhaps in years to come it will be our Main Street clock.

One can't interview a clock so to get firsthand information on its history I went uptown to Bill Sliger and Steve Walters.

A committee of taxpayers was formed in 1976 to plan the renovation of the 3-block area downtown. Our city manager, Steve Walters, and mayor, Paul Vernon, were, of course, on that committee. Ron Nino, planning consultant, headed the study committee. An architect-designer, Don DiComo, who happens to live in Northville Township, was chosen to oversee the project.

Financing for the downtown renovation was handled by tax increments, but not our clock. Private donations from citizens bought that clock — all $19,200 worth.

Nevertheless, that clock, built for us in California, and its present location were controversial right up to the day it was placed in the center of Main Street. Would it be in the way of the city's snow removal equipment? Would it cause traffic congestion? Accidents?

The majority of the Downtown Planning Commission answered these questions negatively, and the clock was placed uptown in May of 1982.

Good for you, Northville citizens; you made the right decision! We do have a beautiful clock.

Thanks to all the people who made this column so much fun to write: Charlie Freydt, Chuck and Scott Lapham, Bill Wright, Northville's "popcorn" man, Toni and John Genitti, Vern Bodker, Ed Jamieson, Bill Sliger, Joan Hoffman, Betty Allen, Susie Dimitroff, Pat Bradley, Kay Hendricksen, Carol Geake and many, many others.

California, here we come: Mark and Dee's wedding in the Stanford University chapel, 34 years to the month since Bob and I were married there. Carl, our youngest, the best man. What a joy! Then we're off thereafter to Tahiti and Rarotonga (Cook Islands), thanks to Ed at Northville Travel for arrangements and suggestions.

Come on down for printing. We've got it, whatever you need. Remember, too, our Christmas card special: free envelope return address with any order with printed name placed before September 30th.

Any questions or quotes, call Harvey Ritchie or Pat Bradley at 349-6130 while I'm gone.

Restaurant employees race Sunday

Main Street downtown will become a race course at 1 p.m. Sunday when waiters and waitresses from area restaurants compete in a fun event to raise funds for the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

Chuck Muer's Northville Charley's restaurant is official host for the American Express-sponsored "Gastronomic Gallop."

Northville Charley's general manager Michael Collins and marketing director Diane Campbell have been enrolling restaurants and obtaining judges. Ten restaurants had signed to compete by the first of this week with 10 to 20 more indicating they intended to participate, Campbell said Tuesday.

The city has given permission for Main Street to be closed from 1-5 p.m. from the town clock to Center Street.

Tables will be placed in the center of the street from MacKinnon's to west of Genitti's. Hecklers will be seated at each table to hamper competitors. Each restaurant is to have an individual runner representative as well as a team of three people participating in relays. The waiters and waitresses competing must maneuver around the diners at a fast walk, carrying trays of full wineglasses — with points to be deducted for such infractions as spillage, holding the tray with two hands or above the shoulders.

Waiters and waitresses will be competing for a variety of prizes with the top one being a trip for two to Disney World in Florida and including $500 in traveler's checks. Other prizes include a River Crab weekend, Whisk Away Overnight Stay at the Farmington Holiday Inn and dinner for two at the Farmington Mountain Jack Restaurant. American Express is supplying the prizes.

Salem airport closed, alfalfa fields planned instead

By MARILYN HERALD

The smell of alfalfa will soon replace the roar of small planes at Salem Airport.

Major farm machinery was moved in August 15 by the airport's new owner, Holloway Sand and Gravel Company, and plowing of the areas around the airstrips began almost immediately. Hay is now being stored in the empty hangars and manure is being spread on the grounds.

Holloway purchased the nearly 90-acre airfield in June when it appeared that the airport was a major stumbling block in the path of an expansion of the company's landfill/ski slope operation at Napier and Six Mile.

The Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) and the Michigan Aeronautics Commission have taken "a very strong stance" that airports and landfills cannot co-exist within 10,000 feet of one another, according to Elmore Elitzroth of the state Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

Expansion of the landfill west of its present location on the south side of Six Mile would bring it within 10,000 feet of the airport, which is located on the north side of Six Mile at the edge of Salem village.

Both the height of the ski slope and the presence of landfill bird scavengers were the major causes for concern by the DNR, Elitzroth explained. The birds which congregate at landfills are thought of as aviation hazards.

The landfill permit was granted by the DNR following the Holloway purchase with the stipulation that the airport would be closed before operations began at the expanded landfill. According to a recent settlement signed with Salem Township, Holloway cannot expand the landfill until the ski slope's completion, originally scheduled for January 1988.

John Brennan, attorney for Holloway, said the airport is being closed now because "It is not to the advantage of my client to operate it. He would not be able to land his jet there and he is not interested in getting into the airport business."

Pilots based at Salem Airport had been told by former owner Ronald Shoebridge that the airfield would be kept open by the new owner for at least four more years, according to Mae Hoots of South Lyon, who had flown out of Salem for the past 12 years.

"I feel badly about the airport closing," Hoots said last week. "So many small airports are going down the tubes. I feel real estate costs are pushing them out."

Holloway sent letters in July to the 83 pilots based at Salem informing them that the landing strips would be closed as of August 31 and that aircraft housed there would have to be moved before that date, according to Hoots.

Mrs. Shoebridge, co-owner of the airport with her husband, said the airport had been for sale "on and off for the past two years."

"We bought it piece by piece beginning in 1964," Mrs. Shoebridge explained. "I have mixed emotions about the sale and I feel sorry for the pilots. We had a lot of good ones, who have to relocate. The sale will make it possible for us to enjoy the freedom we didn't have while owning the airport."

Mrs. Shoebridge declined to comment on the price received for the airport.

Although Hoots said she was sorry to see the airfield closed, she said she did not blame Shoebridge or Holloway. "It's a business deal for both of them," she added.

Salem sued by citizens

Although Salem Township has reached an out-of-court settlement of the case brought against it by Holloway Sand and Gravel Company, the township's legal woes have not ended.

Attorney Margaret Austin of the law firm of Dobson, Griffin and Westerman will be representing the township Friday at a summary judgement hearing before Judge Ross Campbell of Washtenaw County Circuit Court. The request for summary judgement comes this time from Citizens for S.A.L.E.M., a group of residents recently incorporated as a non-profit organization to continue the fight against the Holloway landfill expansion.

Jacob Fahrner Jr., attorney for the citizens group, said he filed the motion for summary judgement to "try to rush along" the proceedings on the "complaint for declaratory judgement" on the citizens' charge that Holloway is removing cover material for the current landfill at Napier and Six Mile without a permit. The attorney said a pre-trial conference had previously been set for September 15 and a trial date of November 21 established.

The summary judgement motion, if granted by the judge, would force Salem Township to take action to stop the soil removal in accordance with its zoning ordinance, Fahrner said. The cover material in question is being taken from two parcels outside the boundaries of the current operation. One parcel is north, across Six Mile, from the landfill/ski slope operation, and the other is in the area west of the ski slope where Holloway has gained a permit to construct an asphalt plant. Both are owned by Holloway.

The company is required to provide six inches of earth a day to cover refuse deposited at the landfill, according to Fred Verran, chief inspector for the township. The citizens estimate that Holloway has created a hole approximately 1,400 feet long by 540 feet wide and 20 feet deep in the area west of the landfill.

Austin said she believes Holloway is not in violation of the township ordinances in either instance. "I will argue that the permit for the original landfill anticipated that additional cover would be needed from the north area," the attorney explained. "That approval was part of the original permit and approval of the site plan allows for that earth removal."

Austin said in the case of the earth being removed west of the landfill, she believes that, according to the township's zoning ordinance, a permit is required only if it were removed for commercial purposes. "I will argue that since Holloway is not removing earth from his premises, a permit is not required for moving dirt on land that is contiguous and owned by the same company," she explained.

Fahrner said the basis of the citizens suit is that the ordinance requires conditional use permits before earth removal can be started and that these were never obtained by Holloway.

Holloway settles with Salem Township

By MARILYN HERALD

A collective sigh of relief seems to be in order for the main participants in the Holloway Sand and Gravel/Salem Township battle which ended August 12 when Judge Henry Conlin of the Washtenaw County Circuit Court signed a consent judgement between the two parties.

"I'm quite pleased," said township attorney Margaret Austin following the signing.

Austin added that the settlement is basically the same as the terms of a resolution passed by the township board August 2. "There were a few very minor drafting changes," she explained. "I took it to (Township) Supervisor Floyd Taylor to read but it was not necessary for the board to meet on it since the resolution authorized Dobson, Griffin and Westerman (the firm which employs Austin) to enter into a settlement agreement. The changes were very minor."

John Brennan, attorney for Holloway, said "the settlement is in the mutual interests of my client and the people of Salem. We did not get all we think we ought to have but I suppose the township might feel that way too. Maybe that's the mark of an appropriate resolution of a case."

The lawsuit was filed in April by Holloway after the township denied the company's request for permits to mine sand and gravel, construct an asphalt plant and expand the landfill on a 168-acre parcel adjacent to the present landfill at Six Mile and Napier.

In its suit, Holloway not only sought to reverse the denials but to set aside former agreements which deeded 77 acres of filled land to the township as well as putting 88 acres in escrow to be turned over to the municipality when a planned ski slope is completed. In addition, the suit asked the court to order the township to refund the rent and in-seption fees already paid and to reimburse the company for the value of free dumping privileges granted township residents under the previous agreements.

The settlement provides that the township will issue the three permits Holloway has requested. In turn, Holloway agreed to dismissal "with prejudice" of the counts concerning the previous landfill agreements. "With prejudice" means that Holloway could never again bring suit against Salem on these same counts, Austin explained.

In addition, Holloway will meet the conditions of the township's zoning ordinance as it pertains to its operations and will blacktop Napier Road between Five Mile and Six Mile. It will also not begin operation of the landfill extension until the current project is complete and will provide a surety bond securing performance of the restoration plan as submitted with the landfill application.

However, while the Holloway case is cooling off, all is not entirely quiet in the courts for Salem Township. Austin said a Salem citizens group, which has been fighting the Holloway landfill expansion, incorporated as a non-profit organization and filed a motion August 10 to intervene in the resolution of the Holloway/township lawsuit. The citizens' group is seeking a court order to temporarily restrain the township from entering into a settlement of the case on the basis that their interests were not well represented by the township and its attorneys.

That motion is to be heard today in Judge Conlin's court, Austin said. She explained that she will plead that the citizens' motion is moot (without significance) since the consent judgement has already been signed. She added that the citizens' motion was filed

Salem legal fees now at $5,200

Salem Township's litigation with the Holloway Sand and Gravel Company may be drawing to a close but legal costs totaling more than $5,000 are still piling up.

Township attorney Margaret Austin said recently that the fees for work done by her firm of Dobson, Griffith and Westerman on the Holloway suit totaled $5,200 from late April through June. The attorney added that the July and August figures for legal fees are not available at this time.

Holloway filed suit April 22 in Washtenaw County Circuit Court in an attempt to reverse the township's denial of a permit for the company's projected extension of its landfill/ski slope operation at Napier and Six Mile. In addition, the company sought to reverse denials on permits for an asphalt plant and sand and gravel mining. All three projects were sited on a 168-acre parcel adjacent to the present landfill operation.

The sand and gravel company subsequently received from the court a temporary order allowing the asphalt plant. In July, the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) approved Holloway's application for a construction permit for the landfill expansion.

Following these developments, the township board and Holloway recently reached tentative agreement on a consent judgement which would end the litigation. Under the agreement, the township would grant the three permits requested by Holloway and the company would drop its suit to regain property and rental and inspection fees gained by the township through earlier landfill agreements.

In the meantime, Salem Township has accrued some pretty hefty legal bills in the past few months, not all of which involve Holloway. The township's total bill from Austin's firm for the month of May was $2,362. June's bill was $3,422, plus $328 for taking of three depositions pertaining to the Holloway case.

Salem's chief inspector, Fred Ver-ran, said that in addition to the Holloway case the legal firm is presently representing the township in three other zoning litigations and a property inspection case. Included among these is the Fred Johnson property at Six Mile and Angle roads where Johnson has tried for nearly eight years to set up a manufacturing plant in an agricultural area.

The township is also in court trying to force John Genetti to comply with zoning on a home in a single-family district which is being used as a multiple. Veran said. Non-compliance with the zoning ordinance is also the basis for a suit involving an eyeglass mailing business being operated by Brooks Gleichtart on Pontiac Trail near North Territorial Road, according to the inspector.

The Turner property at Salem Road and Six Mile is also causing the township a court case due to new owners charging that the township's inspection of the home was not sufficient to comply with zoning codes, Veran explained.

City alarm policy may be re-examined

Recently-instituted city policy fining the owners of burglar alarm systems that sound more than four false alarms annually is under review again.

City council members requested further information from the administration last week after an alarm company owner told them the entire system being regulated may be unnecessary.

Patrick Coyne, a township resident and owner of Master Guard of America and several other alarm companies, told council the alarm board connection to the city police dispatcher's station is unnecessary, outdated and prone to frequent false alarms.

He also questioned the legality of the $25 fine to be charged alarm owners and the necessity of maintaining frequent abusers on the police alarm board.

Touting sophisticated computerized monitoring systems in use by many alarm companies, Coyne said most "stopped using the system you have down there 10 years ago."

Coyne argued that the alarm board in the police station represents unwarranted competition with private enterprise selling better services.

"There are at least four companies operating 24-hour central stations within six miles of Northville," Coyne said. Any of the four could provide better service with modern equipment than is available through the police department.

He noted that in other parts of the state, alarm companies have filed suit against communities using boards in police stations charging "restraint of trade."

Although the private monitoring service suffers a false alarm rate only one-tenth that of the city police department's, he said, some business owners insist on the tie-in to the police dispatcher out of a false belief that they will receive significantly faster response in the event of emergency.

Council enacted an ordinance recently imposing the $25 fine after police chief Rodney Cannon asked for a method to control the more than 300 false alarms filed in the past year.

Also considered had been a policy by which city police would not respond on an emergency basis to locations where four or more false alarms had been sounded needlessly. Cannon said the false alarms are most often triggered by neglectful owners and employees.

The system Coyne described makes allowance for occasional forgetfulness, he said, by building in a "window" period for opening and closing times during which the alarm could be triggered and then shut off without summoning police.

Failure to shut off the alarm after triggering it results in the monitoring agency contacting the police.

Coyne suggested one of two actions that would be better than the fine scheme, which he noted had been found deficient in an Oakland County court.

He suggested problem users be advised they would be removed from the police alarm board within 30 days or that the city simply have the present alarm board at the dispatch station removed entirely and have alarms monitored by private firms.

Coyne also suggested there could be manpower savings made by having alarms monitored by private firms, saying that implementing the fine ordinance recently adopted had led other police agencies to add personnel to keep track of the enforcement.

Furthermore, he argued, attempts to merge dispatching duties with neighboring communities would not be hindered by the necessity of stationing an employee to monitor the alarm board.

After hearing Coyne's arguments, council members asked city manager Steven Walters to speak with Cannon about the issue and provide information regarding the alarm board at a later council session.

Street repairs requested

Four of the city streets in worst need of resurfacing may receive attention soon with the residents footing the bill.

A petition from 44 Northville Heights subdivision residents requesting repair of the streets and stating a willingness to assume a "reasonable assessment" to pay for the work was presented to city council last week.

The city in turn requested a preliminary engineering study of the task requested by petition — repair of Carrington, Debra, Ely Drive South and Ely Court.

City officials noted that some of the streets have deteriorated badly and may need foundation work before a new surface is laid.

The presentation of the petition, though not formally a special assessment request, launched the process by which the city will consider doing the work and charging the costs back to residents of the repaired streets on their property tax bills.

City manager Steven Walters told John Gustaf, a Debra resident who presented the petition, the process for establishing a special assessment district would give residents ample opportunity to review the plans in several public hearings.

Establishment of an SAD can be accomplished either by petition from a majority of residents or by city council action.

Local assistance sought for MYI benefit auction

As plans are being finalized for the first benefit auction and dinner to be held by Musical Youth International, sponsors are enlisting the aid of local families who have participated in the program that sends young people on musical good-will tours abroad.

Because tour costs have increased to a point where some musically talented students cannot afford to participate, explains Northville resident Audrey Becker, the MYI board of directors authorized the auction and dinner as the group's one large fund-raising event of the year.

It will be held October 15 at the American Legion Hall in Saline, beginning with a silent auction and cocktail hour from 5:30-6 p.m. Dinner and entertainment will follow from 7-8 p.m. An open, live auction will be held from 8:15-9:30 p.m.

Presently, members are organizing to solicit donations of items and services to be auctioned.

Proceeds will be used to help offset rising costs of the annual MYI tour.

Organized in 1964 by Dr. Lester McCoy, MYI was conceived as a mission of peace. It now is approaching its 20th birthday, and many Northville young people have toured in the youth chapter of People to People.

Both Mrs. Becker and her husband, Wilfred, a member of MYI board of directors, are active supporters of the program. Mrs. Becker notes that many local families, in addition to theirs, have sent young people abroad as singing ambassadors.

These include the H.O. Evanses, Paul Folino, Dorothea Shafer.

She recalls that students participating include Linda Johnson, John Forrer, Cynthia Todd, Carol Turnbull, Ray and Doug Waldron, Don Buckmaster, Larry Forth, among others.

Auction general chairman Anita Fielder of Saline and her committee are seeking donations, especially from families who have participated in the program.

They are asking for items that are new, with the exception of antiques, selected collectibles and "nearly new or practically perfect items" for a used items table.

Especially sought are home furnishings — clocks in working order, quilts, handmade finished craft items (cross stitch, candlewicking, afghans, etc.), appliances, lamps, planters, area rugs.

In the food category the committee is asking for donations of dinners, food baskets, groceries, meat, gift certificates.

Other categories of items to be included in the auction are building materials, electronic equipment, music equipment, books, outdoor or lawn care, sports equipment, jewelry, automobiles (antique and new, or leases), paintings and works of art, wines, tickets to events, collectibles, time at vacation homes, an evening with a celebrity.

As it seeks the donations and pledges of services, the auction committee points out that MYI receives no governmental funding and that proceeds will be used to help offset rising tour costs.

In the program each tour member is responsible for his or her fee. With Musical Youth International young people meet the people of the world, learn about other cultures and see how others live.

Each participant is an excellent musician, an excellent ambassador as well, says Bernice McCoy, executive director of the Saline-based group. Her husband the late Dr. McCoy organized the musical tour group which today continues to work closely with service organizations all over the world.

During its 19 seasons, it has performed on all inhabited continents.

Students have held candy sales, home tours, dances and made other personal commitments to raise funds to participate on the tours. The board of directors this year inaugurated the benefit auction to help defray expenses. Donations are tax-deductible.

Local residents interested in making donations are asked to call Mrs. Becker to arrange for pick-up.

Auditions set for PTG production

Auditions are being scheduled for the September 1 at Central Plymouth Theatre Middle School in Plymouth. The love story has balanced cast of both men and women with both large and small parts.

In addition to acting parts, it is announced, Robin Galick, 261-2875, may be contacted for technical openings, including that of producer.

Lloyd Brasure gets new post as minister of Pontiac church

The Reverend Lloyd G. Brasure, pastor emeritus of First Presbyterian Church of Northville, has received a new assignment from the Detroit Presbytery.

He now is serving as interim minister for First Presbyterian Church of Pontiac, a post he expects will continue for a year. He recently completed service as interim minister at Lake Shore Presbyterian Church north of Port Huron.

Immediately after his retirement as senior pastor of First Presbyterian Church here, he served as interim minister of the Waterford Presbyterian Church. He retired from the Northville church at the end of June, 1980, with 19 years of service at the church. In a special service here August 11, 1982, the title pastor emeritus was conferred upon him.

Reverend Brasure and his wife Doris continue to be Northville residents, residing on Taft Road.

Resident injured in rollover accident

From State Police...

A Northville woman was injured in a rollover accident on I-96 near the Novi Road exit August 15, state police reported.

Victoria Lucille Bleggi, 21, of Pierson Drive was cited for careless driving in the accident in which she may have suffered back injuries, according to the report.

Bleggi told police she was driving eastbound on I-96 in the left lane at about 1:30 p.m., returning from two doctor appointments/treatments in connection with an earlier accident that left her with a sore neck and back, when she either blacked out momentarily or fell asleep.

Her car ran off the left side of the road into the ditch, Bleggi told police, whereupon she woke up and turned the steering wheel hard right. As the car climbed back onto the road it rolled over onto its top, police reports state.

The car slid across the highway on the its roof to the right shoulder, where it rolled the rest of the way over and landed on its wheels.

Bleggi was taken to Providence Hospital by Novi Ambulance with possible back injuries.

Reckless driving charges are being sought against a motorcyclist who allegedly used his vehicle to harass another driver on Seven Mile Road August 16, state police reports indicate.

Both drivers are residents of the same Seven Mile apartment complex unknown to each other. According to the complainant, she was driving home from work shortly after 10 p.m. and first saw the cyclist when she reached the top of the ramp from northbound I-275 to westbound Seven Mile.

She told police the motorcycle was westbound on Seven Mile in the left lane when she reached the stop sign at the top of the ramp. She turned into the right lane westbound.

As she slowed the car for a red light at Haggerty, she told police, the cycle came past on her left and swerved sharply in front of her white 1977 Volkswagen. She flashed her brights at the motorcyclist and moved into the left lane and approached the intersection with the cycle on her right.

When the light turned green, she said, she stayed in the left lane and began to pass the cycle, which again swerved in front of her car and slammed on the brakes, slowing from about 55 to 20 mph.

Moving the car into the right lane, she again began to pass the Honda which swerved three times at the side of her car with the rider evidently angry and shouting at her. When she sped up to complete her pass, the motorcycle again accelerated, pulled in front of the car and hit the brakes.

When the cyclist repeatedly would not allow her to pass, the woman pulled into the state police post and filed a complaint, giving the license number of the cycle.

Within one hour state police went to the suspect's apartment and interviewed the registered owner of the motorcycle, who indicated he knew why they had come but said he did not do anything to the woman but that she had cut him off at I-275 and Seven Mile.

State police forwarded the report to the county prosecutor, seeking to file reckless driving charges against the suspect.

... in the township

Items with an estimated value of $2,600 were stolen from a Dearborn Court residence sometime between 11 a.m. and 3 p.m. August 15, township police report.

The complainant told police unknown suspects had entered the house by forcing open a kitchen window. The suspects took a Fisher stereo from the kitchen counter before going through upstairs rooms.

In addition to the stereo, value estimated at $225, the suspects also took a Yashica camera and lens, valued at $350, two diamond necklaces worth $375, a wedding and engagement ring estimated at $700, and $200 in cash.

The complainant called township police two days after the incident to report additional missing items, including a $400 Citizens electric typewriter, 10 Atari cartridges estimated at $250 and an Atari computer valued at $130.

The complainant told police he does not have any suspects or witnesses to the incident.

Neighbors told police they did not hear or see anything unusual at the time of the incident.

A $200 Kenwood stereo was stolen from a 1977 Chevette parked at a Ridge Court residence sometime between 1-9 a.m. August 21, township police report.

The complainant told police that someone pried open the car door and stole the stereo which was installed in the dashboard.

The investigating officer at the scene found a pair of Sears pliers on the floor of the driver's side — apparently left behind by the perpetrators. The officer estimated damage to the car door at $200.

Police are looking for a Garden City resident accused of damaging the left fender of a 1979 Oldsmobile Cutlass sometime around 10 a.m. August 15 on Sheldon Road.

The complainant and owner of the Cutlass, told police she was driving north on Sheldon Road, approximately a car-length behind a red and white Chevrolet, when the driver of the vehicle in front of her suddenly applied his brakes.

She told police she was able to stop in plenty of time without striking the vehicle.

The complainant further stated that she and the suspect vehicle were both stopped for a traffic signal at the entrance of Plymouth State Hospital. She said she was behind the suspect vehicle and that a white male subject exited the vehicle at the traffic signal.

The complainant told police the subject approached the driver's side of her car, mumbled something about tailgating and spit in her face.

The subject then walked to the front of her vehicle and kicked the left fender in front of the wheel rim. He proceeded to walk back to his vehicle and drove away down Sheldon.

Damage to the Cutlass is estimated at $200.

...in the city

A 13-year-old Northville boy who, city police report, was involved in two recent bicycle thefts was apprehended and released to his father Sunday, after both bicycles had been recovered.

The first theft took place between 2-2:15 p.m., Tuesday, August 16. The bike, a brown boy's model 10-speed Huffy owned by a Novi girl, was taken from outside the Big Boy restaurant at 113 West Main.

It was recovered later in the day by Northville resident Roy Sowa, who observed a boy on the bicycle later in the day being pulled off it by the boy's brother. Both left the scene on foot. The bike was left in the parking lot of Phil's 76 on Main Street. Sowa turned it in to city police, who returned it to its owner the next day.

On Sunday, the same boy was observed leaving a car parked on the lower parking deck on Cady Street at about 3:20 p.m., keys to the car in his hand. He got onto a boy's yellow 10-speed bicycle that had been reported stolen earlier that day from the front of Cloverdale's restaurant, 134 North Center.

The owner of the car saw the boy, bike and keys at 3:55 p.m. the same afternoon at Big Boy. He recovered the keys and brought the boy into the police station across the street. He was held there until the arrival of his father, who had reportedly been searching for him for several hours.

A blue and yellow dirt bike, Schwinn model BMX B451, was taken from the south side of the yard of a home on North Rogers sometime between 10:30 p.m. Wednesday, August 17, and 2 p.m. the next day.

A Livonia man was the victim of an "aggravated assault and battery" at a party at a home on South Wing, early last Sunday morning.

According to police reports, a 6'4" 200-pound white male accused the Livonia resident of making advances to his "girlfriend," then "knocked him through the front door (of the house) and kicked him in the face." The assailant then left the party with a woman and a male friend.

The Livonia man was taken to St. Mary Hospital and treated for a broken nose and several cuts on his face.

Police want signs returned

Northville City Police are asking parents whose children may have taken home one of the "Neighborhood Watch" signs which were stolen recently to cooperate with the idea of the crime prevention program and turn in the signs.

"I'm sure it was meant as a practical joke," said City Police Chief Rodney Cannon, "but the people in the neighborhood take it very seriously, and we want the signs back if it's at all possible."

Chief Cannon said part of the problem was that the signs were improperly installed, making it easy for anyone with a wrench to remove the nuts holding the signs in place. He added the signs would be re-fastened in a way to prevent their removal, as are other Neighborhood Watch signs posted elsewhere in the Northville community.

New members welcomed by Chamber Seven new memberships are announced by the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce.

The chamber is welcoming John and Toni Genitti of Genitti's Hole in the Wall Restaurant, 108 East Main;

Carl Scuto of Mount Clemens;

Ron Morgan of Ted's Collision in Fostoria, Michigan;

Farmington Towing in Farmington;

Farmington and Eight Amoco Service, Incorporated;

Gary Thornton of Livonia;

Executive director Kay Keegan reports that recent new members Gary Kalmar of Comerica Bank and Dave Beyer of Orin Jewelers volunteered to give up a day at their places of business to work at the chamber concession booth at the Northville Recreation Department-sponsored Field Day July 3. The chamber sold watermelons.

Obituaries

Frank MacDonell, 49, dies August 17

Frank (Francis) J. MacDonell, who overcame his own addiction to alcohol to become president of Phoenix Corporation for Alcoholism Therapy, died unexpectedly August 17 at St. Mary Hospital at the age of 49.

He had been a Northville resident at 44871 Galway since 1975, moving here from Westland.

Funeral service was held at 10 a.m. Friday at Holy Family Church in Novi where he was a member. Father Kevin O'Brien officiated. Burial was in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery in Southfield.

Many friends of Mr. MacDonell came to the visitation at Casterline Funeral Home in Northville.

He was born December 22, 1933, in Detroit to Francis A. and Catherine (McKeague) MacDonell.

His friend Pete Waldmeir recalled in his column in The Detroit News last Friday that he "never fit the classic mold of an alcoholic. He was glib, intelligent, entertaining. He attended the University of Chicago, Rutgers, University of Texas.

"His father Frank Sr. had been sports editor of the old Detroit Times and later Michigan boxing commissioner (he died at the age of 42, also of alcoholism.)

"...we didn't make him (Frank Jr.) an alcoholic. He did that to himself, he says, in college," Waldmeir wrote, adding, "By the time he got to us, Frank was on the downhill slide."

Shortly after a chance meeting with him, Waldmeir recalled, Mr. MacDonell went to the St. Aloysius Chancery on Washington Boulevard and was sent to Sacred Heart Rehabilitation Center "... It was a tough, long struggle, but he made it."

He later married the receptionist at St. Aloysius whom he met when he went there. He and his wife Carol have two sons Matthew and Michael, both at home.

He also leaves sisters Colleen MacDonell of New York, Mrs. Peggy Tooney of Farmington, Mrs. Mary L. Moore in Illinois, Mrs. Joan Cordell in Tennessee; and a brother Bruce Mac-Donell in Japan.

The family suggests memorial tributes may be made to the Frank J. MacDonell Foundation for Alcoholism Lectures, 6245 North Inkster, Garden City, 48135.

VINCENT A. RIVARD

Funeral service was held Friday for Vincent A. Rivard, 33, who died in a truck accident near New Orleans, Louisiana, August 14.

Father Frank Polle of Our Lady of Victory Catholic Church officiated at the 1 p.m. service. Burial was in Oakland Hills Memorial Gardens in Novi.

Mr. Rivard, who was employed by a trucking company, had moved from the area to New Orleans two years ago.

He was born October 1, 1949, in Detroit to Vincent G. and Irene (Rivolt) Rivard, now area residents on Ten Mile Road.

He also leaves his wife Catherine; sons Matthew, John Joseph, Paul and David; brothers Anthony and Joseph of South Lyon.

VAYLE M. MANNING

Funeral service for area resident Vayle M. Manning, 79, was held at 1 p.m. Monday at Casterline Funeral Home with Dr. Lawrence Chamberlain, senior pastor of First Presbyterian Church of Northville, officiating.

Burial was in North Farmington Cemetery in Farmington Hills.

Mrs. Manning died August 19 at Glacier Village, 1200 Earhart, Ann Arbor, where she made her home.

She was the grandmother of Vayle Hall of Northville. She also leaves a daughter Vayle Lorion and a sister Grace Hanselman.

A homemaker and life resident of the area, she was born March 1, 1904, in Michigan to Arthur and Ethel (Dowd) McCarter.

Sirens sound alarm when tornado's near

For sleepers in close earshot of the sirens sounded to signal a tornado watch or warning, the noise can be enough of an annoyance, particularly when, countless times, no tornado appears.

"That's just what most people injured in tornadoes say," said Northville City Police Chief Rodney Cannon. "Way too often, they disregard the signal or don't know what it means. I can't tell you how many times we get callers who ask, 'What's all the noise about?' We tell them, 'It's a tornado warning, take cover,' and they go, 'Oh, what should we do?'"

For the record: two three-minute siren blasts means "TAKE COVER." It is sounded both when there is a "Tornado Warning," when a tornado has been detected and poses immediate hazard, and when there is a "Tornado Watch," when weather conditions present the immediate possibility of a tornado. In either case, you are advised to take cover in one of the following ways:

- Stay away from windows, doors and outside walls;
- Protect your head;
- In small buildings or homes, go to the basement or to an interior part on the lowest level, e.g. closets, bathrooms or interior halls. Get under something sturdy;

- Equip yourself with the following in case of emergency: transistor radio, flashlight, one gallon of water;

- In schools, nursing homes, hospitals, factories, shopping centers, go to pre-designated shelter areas. Interior hallways on the lowest floor are usually best;

- In high-rise buildings, go to interior small rooms or hallways;

- In mobile homes or vehicles, leave them and go to a substantial structure. If there is no shelter nearby, lie flat in the nearest ditch, ravine or culvert with your hands shielding your head.

- Listen to radio, television of MOAA Weather Radio for latest National Weather Service bulletins.

The all clear signal, signifying the end of threatening conditions, is three one-minute siren blasts, each separated by about one minute.

Tornadoes can occur at any time of the day or night and in almost any month of the year. Most occur in the months of April, May, June and July in the late afternoon and evening, usually between 3 and 7 p.m.

Tornadoes usually come from the southwest at speeds between 20 and 45 mph. Almost all come somewhere from the western horizon and they have traveled at speeds of near 70 mph.

Tornadoes develop from dark thunderstorm-like clouds, and research has shown that many occur toward the end of the thunderstorm-like cloud.

They do their destructive work through the combined action of their strong rotary winds, ranging in speed from under 100 mph to approaching 300 mph, flying debris and the partial vacuum in the center of the vortex.

Brochures regarding tornadoes and thunderstorms are available at local police departments.

NCOA enters bargaining

Labor negotiations between the city and its higher-ranking police officers, represented by the Northville Command Officers Association (NCOA), got underway recently with a newly-elected slate of union officers presenting a list of items to be negotiated.

NCOA's opening proposal last month includes wages continued at the previous contract level. It seeks five additional vacation days from the eighth year of service, an increase in longevity pay base rates from $300 to $350 for five years' service, an increased clothing allowance (from $425 to $475), and increased cleaning allowance from $200 twice per year to $225 twice per year.

NCOA officers are Norman Kubitsky, president, Gary Callender, vice president, and Allen Cox, secretary treasurer. The organization represents sergeants and lieutenants in the department. Patrol officers are represented by a different organization and the chief is under individual contract.

Auditions set for Schoolcraft play

Auditions for the Schoolcraft College production of "Lovers and Other Strangers" will be held from 7:30-10 p.m. September 13-15 in the Liberal Arts Theater on campus.

Written by the husband-wife team of Renee Taylor and Joseph Bologna, "Lovers and Other Strangers" is a set of five one-act comedies about love, sex and marriage. The cast includes six male and six female characters, ranging in age from 18 to 50.

Auditions are open to all students currently registered at Schoolcraft. Acting experience is not necessary, but helpful.

The play will be performed as a dinner-theater production November 11-12 and 18-19 in Schoolcraft's Waterman Campus Center under the direction of Ronald Worsley.

In the past 25 years, Worsley has directed about 60 productions in high schools, colleges and community theaters in Michigan and Minnesota. He holds a Ph.D. from Wayne State University and an M.A. from the University of Minnesota.

For further information, contact the Fine Arts Department at 591-6400, extension 510.

Gerontology course scheduled

The Schoolcraft College department of Continuing Education will offer courses this fall in Gerontology — a scientific study of the aging process.

The courses are designed to help those seniors who wish to deal with their own aging as well as children seeking ways to better assist aging parents.

"Introduction to Gerontology I" is a one-credit course to be offered from 6-8 p.m. Mondays, September 19 through November 7.

"Gerontology Careers for the 80s" is a one-credit course offered from 1-3 p.m. Mondays, September 19 through November 7.

Designed for students considering Gerontology as a possible career, the course will focus on death and dying, stereotypes and problems with aging parents.

Holloway settles suit

but not heard prior to the signing of the consent judgement.

Brennan said his firm will represent Holloway at today's hearing. "Our position is that the citizens have no right to intervene, no legal interest," the Holloway attorney added. "The law firm employed by the township (Dobson, Griffin and Westerman) did an excellent job for the township (in the Holloway case). I firmly believe the township and its people were well represented and they don't need any help from the committee."

Taylor echoed Austin's sentiments on the recently signed agreement, saying he was "well pleased" that the case was settled, adding that it had ended as he had expected it would.

"I'm very glad Holloway decided not to go on with his suit to recover the land decided to the township or to try to recover the fees they have paid the township," Taylor added. "We might have beat them in the end, but it would have been a long drawn-out court battle and it would have been very expensive.

"It (the case) has already cost the township about $3,000 a month in legal fees for the last three months."

In addition, Taylor said under the agreement the township will not receive any inspection fees for the landfill expansion when work begins there. The township will continue to receive rent and inspection fees of $35,000 a year on the current landfill/ski slope operation under terms of a former Holloway/township agreement.

That landfill is slated to be completed by January 1988, although the agreement contains a clause which could allow for an extension if the ski slope is not finished by that time.

The recently signed settlement was foreshadowed by other developments. The township sought an out-of-court settlement after Judge Conlin granted Holloway a temporary permit to construct the asphalt plant and the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) approved Holloway's application for the landfill extension. Lawyers for both sides agreed that DNR authority superseded that of the township under the rules of Public Act 641 which governs landfills in Michigan.

Our Opinions

More the merrier in elections

We are pleased to see there is some degree of interest in the upcoming city elections. If all those who have so far taken out nominating petitions get their names onto the November 8 ballot, voters will be offered a choice in both the mayoral and council contests.

At this point it is a slim choice, however, with three incumbents and only two challengers in the running. We hope to see additional qualified residents taking out petitions and committing themselves to a bid for office.

Voters often have a tendency to view incumbents as "good enough" and return them to office without considering how the government might be improved by an infusion of fresh thinking. This is not to say that incumbents are not often found to be the best choices — only that their ideas and methods too often go unchallenged.

There is no better check on the job a public official is doing than the presence of a strong challenger during an election. In an election campaign the challenger can usually be relied upon to air ideas that differ somewhat from the incumbent's, thus putting to the test those concepts which have been built into the government during the previous term.

Only in such an environment can voters be said to truly choose a council member or mayor. Running unopposed, candidates are not so much elected as they are "rubber-stamped" into office. At the present juncture, only the mayor can be said to face a genuine challenge. The two councilmembers standing for re-election face only one opponent between them. At least one is virtually assured of returning to office, even if the challenger overcomes the long odds that favor incumbents.

Broadening the field, as any

Jaws needed

Northville Jaycees are to be commended for their project of raising funds to purchase Jaws of Life equipment for the Northville Community. When two minutes can make the difference between living or dying to an accident victim trapped in a vehicle, the purchase price of $7,000 for such equipment does not seem high.

The project has been one of many the active Jaycees have sponsored, and it is time that it be given priority status. In a recent accident on Eight Mile and Beck, township police were able to borrow this piece of equipment from Novi, but, as Jaycee President additional candidates would do, would widen the spectrum of the upcoming campaign. This applies to both the mayoral and council contests, and we urge anyone now considering a run for office but wavering to decide in favor of entering the race. Even a failing campaign for office bears benefits for the community at large and those who think they have something to contribute can, at the very least, find their ideas given serious consideration in the course of a campaign.

Often, too, candidates who make a failed run for office later find their input carries more weight in the public debate of issues bearing on the government's operations. The recognition realized in a run for office can often carry over into succeeding elections as well, with a candidate who failed once later winning a seat in a second or third bid.

In our view, the fact that city elections are non-partisan aids the process. Absent the doctrinaire debate of Democratic vs. Republican philosophies, non-partisan elections leave room for a wider-ranging campaign and leave open the opportunity for community service by interested individuals who are not otherwise political creatures.

In short, there is much to be gained by having a wide selection of candidates. The dangers of excessive division within a community are well-known but avoidable when the field of ideas is wide enough to offer an alternative, compromise candidate. Less recognized are the dangers of stultifying conformity and repetition — every government has its weaknesses, which are magnified if the same people are returned to office year after year after year. The occasional change in the array of personalities on council guards against this cycle of inbred ideas.

Greg Dawson points out, it may not always be available.

His reasoning that one Jaws of Life could serve the community — both township and city — is right. We are sure that a central storage could be worked out to make it available where needed.

However, the project is nowhere near its goal as it now stands. The street collection this Friday and Saturday could add considerably to the funds. We hope residents approached by canister-bearing Jaycees will understand the value of such equipment in extracting a car accident victim and give generously.

Heed warning

Residents awakened from their sleep with the sound of a siren blast often wonder what is happening. City police set off the alarm in emergencies — it calls volunteer firemen when there is a major building fire, for example.

However, when two consecutive three-minute blasts are heard, it is a warning that a tornado has been sighted in the area or that conditions for the formation of a tornado present the potential of immediate danger. In either case, authorities advise that is the time to take shelter, preferably in a basement away from windows.

Three years ago surrounding communities agreed to the uniform three-minute blast warning to inform residents of a tornado sighting. The all-clear signal is a one-minute blast sounded three times.

Sounds simple, but when one is awakened from a sound sleep by the siren it can be confusing. Just remember — take cover when the three-minute consecutive blast is sounded — and listen for the short blasts that indicate "all clear."

Off the record

By Kevin Wilson

Politicians never learn, infants never stop

My, my, what a difference a few months can make. Back up a bit and recall the furor surrounding the state income tax hike earlier this year.

You may recall that legislators from the GOP side of the aisle criticized the governor's office for inflating estimates of the state budget deficit to support arguments in favor of the tax hike. The $900 million figure floating around from Blanchard's minions was judged about 50 percent larger than the allegedly more accurate Republican number of about $600 million.

Now Republicans are running about pointing fingers at a projected (by them) $150 million surplus and shouting "we told you so!" Told us what? That the deficit was going to fall in between the two estimates from last spring?

Without the income tax increase, according to the noise being made by the GOP, the state deficit would have been $750 million. Of course, that includes some of the "extra spending" those bad ol' Democrats inflicted after they passed the tax hike.

Someday, maybe 50 years from now when it doesn't matter anymore, we may get the "pols" to face reality — neither party is more, nor less, responsible for the state's financial status than is the other. It took both to get us here, and then they spent more time throwing rocks at each other than they did solving the problem. Had they hashed it out together rather than hacking at each other, we might have had a smaller tax hike that served our needs. Given the political atmosphere and the need to do something I personally would opt for the $150 million surplus over a similar deficit. The state's financial reputation has suffered enough without passing a tax increase and still coming up short of the mark. These are probably dangerous words in a GOP stronghold, but it's okay, we like letters.

Unfinished business: Summer reading for me entails a few excursions into genuine literature interspersed with "junk" paperbacks and the constant flow of magazines, mostly about cars.

Recent voyages range from a few scraps of Hemingway and Steinbeck my teachers never made me read, to some Stephen King short stuff (which was better than I expected, far different from his regular horror novels which I find more silly than shocking), to Loren Estelman's "Motor City Blue" (nice plot set in Detroit, writing style similar to but less polished than Dashiell Hammet, horrid editing and proofreading).

On the magazine side we find the Detroit Grand Prix getting better reviews than last year's version in periodicals around the world, while putting egg on my face. I was silly enough to believe a certain metro daily's report that a Ferrari quit with transmission problems and speculated on possible reasons in this space — turns out it was an electrical failure. Oops. The omniscient press flubs again.

Speaking of magazines, from the perspective of a parent of a one-year-old Time's recent cover story about babies offered a far more rational view of recent advances in the study of infants than did Newsweek's issue of a few months back touting "superbaby." Time reported the discovery that infants are far smarter than science ever gave them credit for being. If they ever find out babies are as smart as parents (not the magazine, the people) say they are, then we can start talking about "superbaby."

Anyway, the new discoveries led Newsweek to chase around after people who allegedly teach infants to read and perform other parlor games once thought to be the sole province of little geniuses. Time took the more rational stance of wondering whether formal schooling is good for children that young while presenting the facts more objectively (and gave us the more amusing headline: Babies — What do they know and when do they know it?).

The concept of formally educating infants and toddlers is so new there is not yet any evidence to show whether or not it will give the children the competitive edge their parents hope will be maintained into high school, college and beyond.

Nor is there any evidence that the early pressure to excel is harmless. Parents, I'm beginning to learn, operate out of fear for their children as often as they do from rational analysis of a situation. While many fear their children will lose the race if they don't jump the start, I find I'm more afraid of the unknown results. There is more to life, after all, than winning the race but that's hard to learn if you start running early and never stop.

After the fact

By PHILIP JEROME

Absolutely incredible.

That's the only way I can describe the response to last week's column — the one about John T. Molloy, the "Dress for Success" man who goes around trying to dictate what kind of clothes people should wear in order to command respect.

The "After the Fact" mailbag was literally filled to overflowing with mail from people who are just as mad as I am about not being able to wear green suits — just because Molloy says green is not a "power color."

One woman wrote that her husband absolutely insists on wearing long-sleeved white shirts no matter how hot it is outside. Another reported that her husband has given all his green suits to the Salvation Army, even though one of them was less than three months old.

Ridiculous, right? You bet it is. Somebody's got to put a stop to this Molloy fellow before he does any more damage. And so, in the interest of public service, I've decided to try my hand at it, hoping to lend one small voice of common sense to the whole insidious affair.

To the lady whose husband insists on wearing long-sleeved white shirts no matter how hot it is outside, I can only say your husband is really on a power trip. It's obvious he has an air-conditioned car and works in an air-conditioned office. Why else would someone wear long-sleeved shirts when the temperature has ranged from 90 to 100 degrees this summer? He just wants everyone to know what a big muckety-muck he is with all his air-conditioned toys.

And to the lady who reported that her husband buys off-the-rack shirts and then (listen to this one, folks) has his initials monogrammed with cream-colored thread on the cuff, I can only extend my heart-felt condolences. Sure it's ridiculous, but hopefully it's just a phase he'll outgrow in time.

So many more letters and so little space. I'm afraid I'm going to have to stop right here, but I will try to send letters to everyone who wrote me for advice on the common sense approach to appropriate dress.

In the meantime, keep the faith — we'll keep exposing this Molloy character until his three-piece world comes crashing down around him.

How Michigan Compares On Legislative Sessions, And Pay With The 20 Largest States*

Bullard proposes unicameral legislature

By ALICE DAVIES

Two heads may be better than one. However, one house may be a whole lot better than two when it comes to making laws, according to a pair of unlikely allies.

Two state representatives who share a last name and little else, have teamed up to introduce a constitutional amendment that would do away with half the state legislature.

Conservative freshman Republican Bill Bullard from West Oakland County and Perry Bullard, an experienced, liberal Democrat from Ann Arbor, see eye-to-eye on the one-house issue, though each has his own reasons.

The unicameral, or one-house form of government, is not new. At least one state—Nebraska—operates with a single law-making body.

Under the Bullards' proposal, seats in the unicameral legislature would be apportioned to conform with congressional districts in the state, with four legislative seats in each congressional district. That would mean 72 state lawmakers, rather than the current 148.

The plan calls for staggered four-year terms, with half the body elected biennially. Minimum age would drop from 21 to 18 years. Based on a current lawmaker's annual salary of $31,000 plus $6,200 for expenses, the Bullards project a minimum savings of $5,654,400 per session in the unicameral system.

Bill Bullard contends two houses are no longer valid because the one-man, one-vote ruling has removed any difference between the house and senate.

"Originally," he said, "the senate was elected by geographical areas, like our federal government. Now both the house and senate are elected on a purely population basis."

The Highland Bullard thinks the unicameral legislature would cut down on duplication of service and effort, and believes that could mean a reduction in costs, too.

"There are no guarantees that costs would go down. This proposal does not address the question of (limiting) staff," he admitted.

"But how do we go to state agencies and ask them to streamline their operations when the legislature won't do the same thing themselves?" he asked.

The Ann Arbor Bullard has another view. He points to complex political and social problems as a reason to pare down and simplify government operations. Both Bullards think the unicameral system would make legislators more accountable.

"They would be a lot more visible," according to Bill Bullard, with fewer players to follow. Perry Bullard maintains that people can't keep track of what Lansing lawmakers are doing under the current system.

"We have to deal with pollution, computer crime, economic development, health care... All these issues are difficult to grasp, even for those of us who work at it full-time," the Ann Arbor Bullard said.

"When you combine that with a legislative system that has two houses, 47 committees and a minimum of four votes by committees and legislative houses to pass even the simplest bill, the average citizen just can't figure out what's happening."

"Citizens have great difficulty seeing how to make changes for the general public good," he continued, "and how to identify and defeat legislators who sell out to special-interest groups."

This confusion frustrates the electoral process and gives lobbyists increased influence, the two believe. The current system, "lets a legislator bamboozle the voter," they contend.

Perry Bullard stressed that the two-chamber legislature is "outmoded by 200 years of social and technological change... What we are proposing is to make democracy more modern and more practical."

It would take a two-thirds vote in both the house and the senate to put the proposal on the ballot, and Bill Bullard is not optimistic about that happening.

Instead, he thinks a petition drive by the public will be needed to get the question on the general election ballot.

"We have introduced this constitutional amendment... in a bipartisan effort to open public discussion on the merits of the existing bicameral versus the proposed unicameral legislature," Bill Bullard said in a recent statement.

The two Bullards said they are ready to work with any statewide groups or organizations interested in supporting a ballot proposal for the unicameral legislature.

Part-time legislature would receive half pay

Another effort to reduce state government urges a "part-time" legislature, and would cut pay from the current $31,000 to $15,000 a year.

Supporters of the Part-Time Legislature group claim the move would save taxpayers $2,250,000. Cutting individual allowances for legislators' expenses would save even more, according to the plan.

Michigan lawmakers are provided $6,200 per year for expenses.

If the proposal is voted into law, the part-time legislator would no longer be eligible for retirement, pension or annuity.

With its session calendar cut from 12 months to about four months, Michigan legislators would need fewer full-time staff members, organizers claim, which would further reduce costs of state government.

The proposal has drawn enough support to launch a petition drive, basing its appeal on a comparison with other state legislatures, as well as a call for "less government."

Of the 20 largest states in the nation, Michigan at $31,000 is second only to New York at $32,000 per year in legislative annual salaries.

Massachusetts, Michigan, New Jersey, New York, Ohio and Pennsylvania have 12-month legislatures, while the California Assembly sits 9.7 months; Washington, 3.8 months; Illinois, 11.5 months.

Virginia, with 5.5 million population compared to Michigan's 9.3, convenes its state legislature for 1.2 months each year. PTL bases its information on data compiled by the National Conference of State Legislatures.

Over 350,000 signatures are required by July 1984 to put the part-time proposal on the November 1984 ballot. Organizers are making petitions available from P.O. Box 20205, Lansing, Michigan 48901 or by calling (517) 484-1808.

Warning issued on giving away pets

Sliger-Livingston Publications learned that at least one woman, who identifies herself as a 4-H representative, is apparently misrepresenting herself and using her cover to pick up litters of free puppies.

Several residents who have either advertised in the Green Sheet Classified section or used the section to look for a new puppy have reported contact with the unknown 4-H woman.

Although details are sketchy, puppy owners report that the woman says she is picking up the puppies for a 4-H project. The owners also reported that the woman often wants entire litters of puppies, not just one or two. One person reported that the woman became angry over the phone when she learned that only two puppies were available.

Trying to verify the woman's story, a Sliger-Livingston representative contacted the official 4-H clubs in Oakland, Wayne, Washtenaw and Livingston counties. All four clubs reported that they have no projects where puppies would be needed. When told about the alleged 4-H woman, the Wayne County 4-H representative said the story sounded like "a scam."

It is not known why the woman is picking up the puppies, although there is speculation that the puppies are illegally resold to pet stores or research facilities.

The woman is apparently using the Green Sheet Classified section to pick up free litters of puppies. The Green Sheet has an "Absolutely Free" column where residents can advertise for free as long as the products are free.

This is the second time this year that a story of this nature was reported to Sliger-Livingston. In early June, the Green Sheet carried an advertisement warning people about two women picking up free puppies for sale to research facilities.

Dr. Ron Scott of the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) said his office would be glad to investigate any complaints but he needs names and circumstances. Those with information can call him at (517) 373-8280.

Dr. Scott said people who obtain animals for research or resale are required by the Federal Animal Welfare Act to be licensed. Because of the public sensitivity to the issue, he said the people engaged in this line of work seldom pick up odd litters of puppies. He added that most animals are obtained through shelters.

Dr. Scott said he is aware of just three people in Michigan who are licensed to obtain animals for resale or research.

In addition to calling the USDA, residents can check on 4-H members by obtaining their name and calling the appropriate 4-H clubs. Each club has a list of their members and can verify the name.

Thank you very much.

I remain,

Respectfully yours,
Charles N. Simkins
Attorney at law

Dear Mayor Vernon:

I very much enjoyed reading on the front page of The Northville Record that it is the city's policy not to conduct its business through newspapers.

However, you and the members of the Council seem to have done it again in that you attacked my letter without giving advance notice that you would be doing so.

It is unfortunate that when a citizen attempts to bring a mistake to the attention of his government, he must be subjected to such abuse and unfortunate comments. At the same time, I was delighted to see that the Council

P.S. Regarding your comments that my letter was a cheap publicity stunt, this is not true. It took me about two hours to write the letter, it took my secretary about one-half hour to type the letter and make the copies, and it cost several dollars in postage to have the letters distributed. (Copies also were sent to council members, the city manager, planning commission chairman and client N.C. Schrader.)

Dumas on cable television — Wayne County Line

Wayne County Commissioner Mary E. Dumas announces the debut of her new OM-NICOM cable-vision program, The Wayne County Line.

The purpose of this program, says Commissioner Dumas, is to inform people in the community about how Wayne County serves them.

Unfortunately, she comments, most people are not aware of the services Wayne County has to offer.

Each week on the Wayne County Hot Line, the commissioner will introduce a new topic. On her first show, scheduled for August 15 at 7:30 p.m., Sheriff Robert A. Ficano was to be her guest, talking about his first 100 days in office, the new jail and re-opening of Hines Park mini-station, the park patrol, the Marine patrol.

She announced that audiences would receive a preview tour of the new Wayne County jail due to open in the fall of this year on her second program.

Later shows will cover pros and cons of management of Wayne County General Hospital, Super Sewer and Air Pollution Control in Wayne County. The Wayne County Line will air on Channel 15 every other Monday at 7:30 p.m. and Wednesday at 5:30 p.m.

Teamwork puts Novi's businesses on track

By KATHY JENNINGS

Team Novi is taking on a new meaning.

Auto racing pit crews wear the car-constructors' names on their uniforms: Team Renault, Team Lotus and Team Ferrari.

But Team Novi is changing from simple racing nomenclature to a symbol describing the spirit of cooperation and promotion that is growing in the community, according to city officials. Team Novi describes the private and public partnership of commerce, industry and government.

To foster that spirit, the Novi Economic Development Corporation (EDC) is sponsoring the second annual Novi Business/Industrial Exposition Day scheduled Saturday, August 27.

The day is built around the racing theme — the cooperative effort needed to build a winner; the promotion of a winner.

In keeping with the theme the Novi Special, the famed Indianapolis race car acquired by the City of Novi, will be unveiled Saturday. One of the first and the most successful drivers of the Novi Special, Duke Nalon, will be on hand for the event. Nalon has been invited to speak at the luncheon being held in conjunction with the event.

It will also be a day for local businesses to display their products and local officials — city council, planning board and zoning board of appeals members — will meet with the business community.

Products and literature on Novi's developments and businesses will fill the ballroom at Sheraton Oaks. Displays from 25 Novi businesses will be shown this year, up from 16 which participated one year ago.

"The day gives businesses an opportunity to show their products among one another," explains Nancy Chambers of the Novi EDC. "Some of them really don't know what their next-door neighbor is doing and he may be doing something they could use."

The day is also designed to open communication lines between city officials and local business representatives.

"They have a chance to talk to the city council, planning board, and the ZBA that they may never have. That in itself is good," Chambers says. "Business people don't come to council meetings. Residents come en masse. This gives the business community a chance to talk to their legislators."

Expo Day also is a chance for the city to do some showing off of its own.

"This year the EDC is displaying and will have available information on vacant land in the city. A lot of businesses or residents aren't aware of what's available. We're trying to make people aware of empty buildings and available property. We'll have information on industrial parks and exactly what's available," Chambers says.

Expo Day began with a combination of ideas of the Novi Chamber of Commerce and the EDC. Last year the EDC began discussing a special event to promote the city, while the Chamber talked about a day to bring government and business together.

The two groups got together and emerged with a plan for the first Expo Day.

"It was such a success we decided to keep going," Chambers says. "Everyone has thrown themselves into it. Businesses and city officials have both really enjoyed it."

This year the day will be divided into two parts, with the morning devoted to business and city officials and the afternoon for the public.

It is expected the highlight of the exposition will be the unveiling of the Novi Special. The public will be invited to see the car from 2 p.m.-4 p.m. Saturday.

"The EDC purchased the car to use as a promotional tool to attract businesses and promote the business already existing in the city. We hope we can increase employment in the city, that's the main purpose of the EDC. We felt the purchase would be a good tool."

Bumper stickers celebrate Novi Special racer, focal point of city promotion effort to be unveiled Saturday

Chambers says the EDC's belief in the value of the car has proven true. "People have shown a keen interest in it," she says.

The car has attracted attention not only locally, but nationwide. People in California and Illinois, having read of the city's restoration of the racer in national publications, have written the city asking for Novi racer T-shirts, lapel stick-ons and bumper stickers.

The unveiling of the Novi Special is scheduled for 10:30 a.m. The business appreciation lunch is set for 11:30 a.m.

From 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. the public is invited to view the race car and the displays by local businesses.

"A lot of people don't realize what this city has," Chambers says. Expo Day '83 is designed to fill that information gap.

Hospital adds beds for psychiatric treatment of youth

MOMC's Child & Youth Mental Health Hospital, addition is large structure at right

Dedication of a $1.6 million addition to the Michigan Osteopathic Medical Center's Child & Youth Mental Health Hospital July 27 makes possible the partial hospitalization of up to 35 youngsters.

The hospital building, which opened last fall, also has 60 beds for short-term inpatient care. The 16,000 square foot addition, including a gymnasium, classrooms, activity rooms and therapy centers, was built with a grant from the United Foundation Capital Fund Division.

Playing a significant role in the dedication ceremony was Robert S. Wildish of Northville, MOMC president and chief executive officer.

The hospital noted it prides itself for helping lead the effort to relieve pressure on state mental health facilities by providing psychiatric care at the community hospital level.

The Detroit facility has worked with the state to reduce the number of patients at Michigan mental health hospitals since the late 1970s. The critical nature of the problem first came to the fore at Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital, where 1,000 patients are housed in a building meant for 600.

MOMC psychiatric facilities include a 56-bed Adult Mental Health facility opened in 1978. In 1980, an interim hospital for youngsters age five through 17 opened on John R. and Eliot and in Detroit. Its patients transferred to the new 60-bed Child & Youth Mental Health Hospital when it opened last fall. Since April, the interim facility has provided 38 inpatient beds for adult patients. MOMC mental health beds now total 154.

Road builders support bills to create public works fund

The Michigan Strategic Fund — an eight-bill package the governor has proposed for approval of the legislature this fall — has received support from the Michigan Road Builders Association (MRBA).

MRBA has been calling for an inventory of the state's infrastructure or public works needs and the necessary funding to fix these facilities that provide basic public services such as water supply, waste water treatment and transportation (roads, bridges, airports, railroads, public transit and ports).

Within the Michigan Strategic Fund would be six centers, including the center for assistance to local governments. This center would stimulate local investment in public works by providing loans and loan guarantees to municipalities.

Governor Blanchard announced last month that an immediate $54 million is available for the fund, $45 million of which would be available through bond sales.

There has been a drop in public works expenditures at the local level because of a decline in general revenues and difficulties in selling bonds. Many cities are forced out of the bond market because of high interest rates and transaction costs, such as legal fees and underwriting expenses. This center for assistance to local governments will facilitate local public work expenditures.

"There definitely appears to be a need within Michigan's cities for this program," said MRBA Executive Director Lawrence Martin. "Over 112 cities applied for funds for public works projects from the Small Cities Program in the first part of this year. The amount requested totaled $23 million."

"Yet, the program awarded only $2.8 million to 17 cities. Funds need to be allocated to these projects to eliminate public work deficiencies which pose a threat to public health and safety."

Martin added that "the Michigan Strategic Fund is an important initiative to improve the state's business climate. A U.S. Bureau of Census Survey disclosed that availability of public works facilities was either critical or significantly important to business location decisions."

Among the 2,000 firms surveyed, it was found that the availability of sufficient public works facilities was more important than the existence of local tax incentives or industrial revenue bond financing.

Martin suggested the strategic fund package is an important facet of economic recovery efforts, saying it will boost productivity and increase employment opportunity.

BEST MAINTAINED HOME award for 1983 for Northville was given Mrs. Don Zinkon in observance of Private Property Week from Thomas A. Duke Jr. president of the Western Wayne Oakland County Board of Realtors (WWOCBR). Pat Kresin, realtor-associate with Earl Kelm Realty Northville Incorporated submitted the winning entry of Dr. and Mrs. Don Zinkon. Contest photo entries were submitted from throughout Wayne, Oakland and Livingston counties and were judged on quality of exterior maintenance and appearance of owner-occupied residences. The WWOCBR is one of the largest real estate boards in the nation. It serves a 1,600 square mile area and has Metro Multiple Listing Service.

NOLING REAL ESTATE at 201 South Lafayette, South Lyon, nominated the winner of the South Lyon area first place award in the best maintained home contest conducted recently by the Western Wayne Oakland County Board of Realtors. Lois Careno, listing agent, submitted a picture of the home owned by Richard and Nancy Samhat as her favorite listing. The realty board agreed that it was indeed an attractive home and presented Mrs. Samhat with the award. The home is located at 12068 Crooked Lane, South Lyon.

F/STOP OF NOVI in just two days has raised more than $200 to help area resident Bruce Sharp who is in desperate need of a liver transplant. f/Stop is donating 50 cents for every roll of print film and 25 cents for every roll of slide or movie film brought in for processing through Tuesday, August 30, says owner Wayne Loder.

"In addition, we are donating $2 each time we shoot a set of passport pictures. So far the response has been exceptional," says Loder, "but we still have a long way to our store goal of $1,000. We began our store drive a few days after the Bruce Sharp benefit in downtown Novi where we shot, for a donation, pictures of people in two race cars brought in for the event by Novi Auto Sales.

f/Stop is located at 43220 Grand River in Novi and is open 9:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday, 9:30 a.m. to 7 p.m. Tuesday through Friday and 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday. Other donations are being accepted at the store.

SCHRADER'S HOME FURNISHINGS at 111 North Center in Northville is offering American Drew's "American Independence Collection," winner of the most prestigious award in the furniture industry. It has received the 1982 Daphne Design Award, the "Oscar" of the furniture industry, presented annually by the Hardwood Institute of America.

The collection, which premiered near Philadelphia's Independence Hall, contains more than 50 pieces of bedroom, dining room and accent furniture patterned after or based on 18th century antiques which are exhibited throughout the historic buildings of Independence National Historical Park in Philadelphia. Design reproduction pieces include the Franklin Desk, a stately Philadelphia highboy, scalloped edge tilt-top table and bowback, bamboo Windsor settee. Schrader says the collection provides the opportunity to purchase elegant furnishings with historical significance "at affordable prices."

LLOYD JOHNSON, president of Whitehall Convalescent Homes, Inc., has announced that Whitehall has reached agreement with WKMB Broadcasting Company of Youngstown, Ohio, to purchase Radio Station WAAM in Ann Arbor.

Whitehall Convalescent Homes operates nursing homes in Novi and Ann Arbor, has a home for the aging in Farmington and operates nearly 200 retirement apartments in Florida and Michigan. The first Whitehall Convalescent Home was opened in July 1951 to help provide for Johnson's mother.

"It may seem strange for a nursing home company to acquire a radio station but I sincerely believe that people living in a fine community should all contribute in some way to providing services to friends and neighbors," Johnson said in announcing the acquisition.

LLOYD AND MABEL JOHNSON have received a tribute from the Michigan House of Representatives in recognition of their outstanding service to the community and in commemoration of the 32nd anniversary of their nursing home business.

State Representative Willis Bullard Jr. (right) is shown here presenting a copy of the resolution to the Johnsons, who own the Whitehall-Convalescent Home on Ten Mile and the Whitehall Home for the Aged on Grand River.

The resolution was introduced by Bullard and co-sponsored by Representatives Margaret O'Connor of Ann Arbor and Wilbur Brotherton of Farmington.

The Johnsons' involvement in nursing homes began in 1951 when they purchased a large, old home on Grand River in Novi. The 42-bed licensed facility became the beginning of Whitehall Convalescent Homes, Inc.

Mrs. Johnson, a registered nurse as well as a registered x-ray technician and medical laboratory technician, supervised nursing responsibilities, while her husband handled administrative and facility-maintenance functions.

In 1956, the Johnsons constructed a 40-bed facility on Ten Mile and in 1958 they constructed Whitehall-Ann Arbor Convalescent Home.

State joblessness down fourth month in a row

Michigan's jobless rate took an unexpected drop in July, falling 1.5 percentage points to 13.1 percent, according to statewide labor force estimates released August 5 by the Michigan Employment Security Commission.

S. Martin Taylor, MESC director, said the number of the unemployed workers in the state declined by 73,000 in July from the June total of 648,000 when joblessness was at 14.6 percent. The current July estimates are also well below the year-ago figure of 14.7 percent with 645,000 out of work.

The July drop in unemployment marks the fourth straight month the state jobless rate has declined. Since March, the state's jobless rate has tumbled by nearly four percentage points and number of unemployed dropped by 145,000.

The unemployment rate is now at its lowest level since November, 1981 when the rate was 12 percent.

Taylor said unemployment normally increases in July by this year seasonal hiring gains in the construction and service industries and a decline in the state labor force helped account for the drop.

The state's work force slipped by 16,000 to 4,404,000 during the month as unsuccessful summer job seekers discontinued their searches for jobs.

Total employment rose by 56,000 to 3,829,000, its highest level since October 1981.

The state's seasonally adjusted July unemployment rate also fell to 13.1 percent from 15.2 percent in June. The decline meant there were 92,000 fewer jobless workers in the state as the total dropped to 569,000.

The national seasonally-adjusted July jobless rate fell to 9.5 percent from 10 percent in June. The number of unemployed fell by 556,000 to 10,590,000 in July.

The Golden Key

Some measure greatness by fame or renown
And in it's quest, perchance may sack a town,
Or lead their legions over field and flood
Until the peaceful rivers run with blood.

Then having drained fame's final, fleeting draught
Are borne to silence 'neath a marble shaft;
Engraved thereon that all who will may read,
"Here lies a noble man of valient deed".

Dreamless they sleep and moulder into dust;
Their gilded arms are soon reduced to rust.
The ear of death is deaf to loud acclaim—
Stern proof that fame is but an empty name,

What of the unsung hand of gentle deed
Which, never closed to worthy human need
Finds joy in acts of love, the golden key
That ope's the palace of Eternity?

R. W. Bingley

Back To School

Schools ready for new year

For Northville students, it's just about time to toss in the beach towels and thongs and pick-up the lunch boxes and book bags.

Within the next few weeks, Northville students will be heading back to the classroom for another year of 3 R's, book reports and recess.

For Northville Public School students classes will begin September 6. Bus schedules for students at both the elementary and secondary level will be sent home in the mail within the next weeks.

Teachers and principals will be meeting next Thursday to chart the course for the coming school year, according to Superintendent George Bell.

Among the most immediate issues facing Northville Public Schools this year is the bond issue proposal for the renovation of Northville High School and planning for the middle school concept, Bell said.

A few new faces will greet students when they head back to the classroom this fall.

In addition to new high school principal David Bolitho, who came to the district in July from John Glenn High School in Westland, Kenneth Pawlowski will be taking the principal's seat at Silver Springs Elementary School.

Pawlowski will replace Marcia Wiss Scarr, who left the principal's job for an administrative post as the district's new Director of Curriculum.

Pawlowski had been a junior high assistant principal prior to his selection as head of Silver Springs in May.

Replacing Pawlowski as junior high assistant principal will be Thomas Cey, former principal of Northville's ISEP operation at Taft School in Livonia.

In the special education program, Leonard

Rezmierski, former director of Special Education Services, now is Executive Director of Special Education — heading the total special education program for the district — both K-12 and the Institution Special Education Program.

Two new programs at OUR LADY OF VICTORY — a French instruction class and a specialized academic aid program — have been added to the curriculum of the Catholic school, which includes grades 1-8.

"We're sort of excited about the French program," said Principal Charlene Thompson. "It's an unusual class. I don't know of anyone else who's offering it at that grade level."

The class, mandatory for students in seventh and eighth grade, will meet twice a week and develop vocabulary skills as well as an ability to think in a foreign language.

"As you know, colleges don't require foreign language any more, and students are unsure whether it's a good idea to take it," Mrs. Thompson added. "With this program, they'll be able to see whether foreign language is something they want to develop or whether they should concentrate on other things."

The French classes will be taught by Joanne Dalziel, who is newly added to the Our Lady of Victory faculty. A resident of Northville, she has taught for years at Our Lady of Mercy High School in Farmington Hills.

The other new feature is a "curriculum specialist program," to be handled by Mary Goode, formerly an instructor at Our Lady of Grace in Dearborn Heights. Goode is currently working on a master's degree at Eastern Michigan University.

In the specialist program, Goode provides students with special needs in "remediation" or "acceleration." That is, if a student needs extra (remedial) work on a particular skill, whether it be reading or mathematics, Goode can devise a schoolwork program specifically addressed to improve that student's ability.

Similarly, if a pupil is able to learn at a faster rate than his or her classmates (accelerated), Goode can come up with a program designed to offer the student an enriched program of more challenging work.

Goode takes the student references from teachers and will meet regularly with the students for 6-8 weeks. "She may do a television script with some or come up with extra projects to develop talent in creative writing or whatever the skill may be," said Mrs. Thompson. "The idea is to develop our ability to give students more individualized instruction."

Nutrition's a must when packing school lunchboxes

With summer quickly coming to a close, parents soon will be planning school lunches for students in their household.

After months of chocolate fudgesicles, bubblegum ice cream cones and licorice sticks at the Wednesday matinee, it's time to start thinking nutrition.

While school lunches are provided at both the elementary and secondary level, packed lunches still are the more popular — and for most families the more economical.

When packing lunches for students, parents should remember that children are growing and need a balanced diet, says Yvonne Stephens, supervisor of food services for Northville Public Schools.

Stephens advises parents to choose lunches from all four of the basic food groups including protein, fresh fruits and/or vegetables, bread and milk.

Protein is provided in many food forms including cheese, eggs, nuts, beans, peanut butter, meat and fish.

Stephens notes that peanut butter and sandwich meats with preservatives such as bologna and salami are among the safest sandwich fillers for students.

Since most lunches are stored in lockers or above coat racks most of the morning, sandwich mixtures made with dressings or mayonnaise are more susceptible to spoilage.

Stephens warns parents against preparing potentially dangerous foods such as chicken, egg or tuna salad due to the lack of cold storage space available at school.

Fresh fruits and raw vegetables are recommended as a good source of vitamins, minerals and fiber, and bread provides children with energy, as well as vitamins and fiber. Whole wheat, rye, or cracked wheat are preferable to white bread.

Milk and 100 percent fruit juice are recommended as among the best beverages for student lunches. Both milk and fruit juice, as well as fresh fruit is provided at school.

Stephens warns parents that many of the fruit juice drinks brought to school are "primarily sugar water with as little as 10 percent fruit juice."

She notes in particular the small pouches of fruit drink mix.

When packing lunches for students, parents also should follow a few basic rules to insure that food stays healthy from the kitchen to the lunch table.

Lunch boxes, particularly insulated ones, are better for keeping lunches cold than bags. However, they should be kept clean. Plastic containers used for sandwiches, fruits, salads, etc. also should be washed after every use.

There are a few tips for keeping foods fresh. For instance, to prevent fruit slices from turning brown, dip them in lemon, orange or grapefruit juice. Do not peel hard boiled eggs when packing lunches. The shell is a natural protective covering, and the egg will stay fresh if peeled right before eaten.

While a few basic rules for packing lunches are easy enough to follow, finding the right foods for a finicky eater can be quite a chore.

The following recipes, compiled by nutrition consultant Maria Sarivalas Kokas in her book "Guide to Healthy Eating" for the Willow Run and Novi

Lena Hammond's octogenarian honoree at party

By JEAN DAY

As she marked her 82nd birthday last week, Lena Hammond had many local reminiscences as she has spent most of her life in the Northville area. Her birthday was Friday, and the celebration was held the following day at a family gathering at the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Hazel and Eugene "Bud" Kunz on West Main.

Born Lena Foss on August 19, 1901, Mrs. Hammond's father, at that time, was a farm worker living on Nine Mile at Chubb Road. He worked for Frank Moore, a landowner in the area. The property later was owned by the late F. Alden Shaw, longtime headmaster of Detroit Country Day School.

When she was 12, the family came to Northville to the T.G. Richardson farm, now the site of Northville High School. When Mrs. Hammond was 14, she recalls, her father gave up farming and the family lived at 511 North Center at Walnut. She finished her schooling and first worked at the A & P store, then as bookkeeper for Carl R. Ely Coal and Ice Company.

In June, 1921, she married C. Oscar Hammond of Salem. He purchased the general store there and served as Salem postmaster. "We lived in the back of the store," Mrs. Hammond says, remembering that she assisted in the store until the birth of her first daughter Gladys, now Mrs. Russell Corbin of Rochester.

Four years later her husband sold the store and went into the building business. Three more children arrived: Wilma Mae who died at age 11, Walter J., now of Intermediate Lake at Bellaire, and Hazel. Her daughter's death in the depths of the depression was a low point in her life, Mrs. Hammond says today.

After living in Salem 21 years, the Hammonds moved to Northville to her family home in 1941, purchasing it in 1946. Oscar Hammond went into the building business and both became active in the Methodist Church, American Legion and Masons. Mrs. Hammond is a life member of the Eastern Star and the American Legion Auxiliary. She was auxiliary president for two years, secretary for eight and also was treasurer and held most committee posts over the years. She also held those posts at district level and served as state chaplain. She was appointed by the state to the board of Otter Lake Children's Home, a legion-sponsored project.

During World War II Mrs. Hammond was active in war bond drives, worked on the oil rationing and also part-time at Ely's. Daughter Gladys at that time joined the U.S. Marines and shortly afterward son Walter volunteered in the U.S. Navy. Gladys returned to complete her studies at University of Michigan and her son went to Ferris Institute for accounting, later joining Ford Motor Company.

Other milestone years, Mrs. Hammond recalls, were 1963-64 when her husband was American Legion state commander, and they traveled 50,000 miles. After his death in 1967 she continued to live in her home until about seven years ago when she moved to King's Mill. She continued active in Mizpah Circle of King's Daughters in which she served as president, secretary and treasurer. She also was president for three years of the Methodist Women's Society and its treasurer for seven. She also has been a cancer volunteer. She was treasurer of the Plymouth A.A.R.P. for two years and continues to be an active member of the Northville Senior Citizens.

But, says the octogenarian, the most special activities have been with her family. That's why her three children, seven grandchildren and four-great grandchildren were making party plans for last Saturday.

It's happy 95th for Michael Cavanaugh

Another many-candle birthday is being celebrated this coming weekend. Michael Cavanaugh of Neptune Court will be 95 years old that day and expects to be marking the event with family.

This birthday's a five-generation reunion, too

The visit of Anna Jones from Titusville, Florida, turned out to be a five-generation family celebration with other members coming from Northern Michigan. The get-together marking the honoree's 98th birthday was held last Wednesday at the North Hills Drive home of Marlene Mahaney, Mrs. Jones' granddaughter, and her husband Michael. Visiting with Mrs. Jones from Titusville is Mrs. Mahaney's aunt Helen Crist.

Mrs. Mahaney's father James W. Jones attended from Union Lake, her daughter DeeAnn McMillan from Beulah with sons Jon Michael, 5, and Joshua, 2½. This was the first time Mrs. Jones had seen her great-great grandsons. Also on hand were another Mahaney daughter, Kathy Hargraves with son Brian, 4, of Traverse City.

Mrs. Mahaney reports also that Mrs. Jones has two more great-grandsons in California, with Deric just born July 9. He joined a brother Joshua, 2½; they are the sons of Dennis Mahaney and his wife of Oceanside, California. Mrs. Mahaney also was making plans last week to visit her new grandson Deric and his family.

Parents announce birth of Robert Barry Prom Jr.

Barry and Sheri (Richardson) Prom of Northville announce the birth of a son, Robert Barry Prom Jr. was born August 9 at Sinai Hospital, weighing eight pounds, nine ounces, and measuring 21½ inches long.

He joins a sister, Melissa, age 6, at home. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Prom of Northville. Maternal grandparents are Gerald Richardson of Milford and Sharon Richardson of Pontiac.

Paternal great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Workman of New Jersey and Mrs. Katie Fuller of Plymouth. Mrs. Benjamin Oxley of Cheboygan is the child's maternal great-grandmother.

FIVE-GENERATION PARTY — The party marking the 98th birthday of Anna Jones, left, August 17 also was a reunion of a five-generation family. Joining Mrs. Jones, who was visiting from Florida, are her son James Jones, 76, granddaughter

Marlene Mahaney, 49, great-granddaughter DeeAnn McMillan, 30, and in front great-great-grandson Jon, 5. See details In Our Town. Record photo by Steve Fecht.

Little folk learning

Area preschools offer varied programs

When the "big kids" march off to school next month, the tot set need not be left behind. There are several nursery or preschools available to parents of little ones in the Northville area.

Each offers more than just a babysitting service, with programs generally including learning games and stressing group cooperation.

Registration for most has already begun, but there is still time to enroll children.

Those listed below operate within the Northville community.

CREATIVE DAY NURSERY SCHOOL — Creative Day begins its 15th year this fall, with both morning and afternoon sessions in room 206 of the Main Street Elementary School, 501 W. Main.

The program at Creative Day is designed to meet the developmental needs of the preschool child while providing a positive group situation. Included in the program are story time, drama, learning and floor games, science, music and art activities.

Sessions begin September 12 and meet 9:30 a.m. to noon Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays and from 12:30 to 3 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays.

This will be the first year under new director Elaine Savola. Those familiar with the school might expect a slight shift in emphasis involving more art activities, she said. Registration for the fall is being accepted by mail for both sessions and the school will be open September 1-2 for walk-in registration.

Licensed for 25 children, the nursery maintains an 8-1 student to teacher ratio. Creative Day offers a free brochure and information on the approximately $6/session tuition (including a reduced rate for parents who assist in the preschool two sessions per month) by calling Savola at 348-8910 or 397-3955.

NORTHVILLE COOPERATIVE PRESCHOOL — In its 37th year, the Northville Co-Op school offers programs for children 18 months to five years of age.

Parents assist in the operation of the school as teacher aides in the Main Street Elementary School rooms. Orientation sessions begin the week of September 6, coinciding with the public school year, with regular sessions beginning September 12.

The Toddler Play Group for children age 18 months to 2½ years meets Tuesdays and Thursdays from noon to 1:30 p.m. Tuition is $18 a month.

Three year olds meet Tuesday and Thursday from 9 to 11 a.m. at a cost of $24 per month. Northville resident Judy Somershoe was recently hired to teach both Tuesday-Thursday groups.

The Monday-Wednesday-Friday group, for children who will be four by December 1, meets Monday-Wednesday-Friday from 9 to 11:20 a.m., with tuition at $30 a month.

An Enrichment Group for children who will be age 5 before March 1 includes programming to prepare students for beginning kindergarten the following year.

Both Monday-Wednesday-Friday sessions are taught by Lynn Reece.

All programs are filled to capacity for the current year, excepting the Enrichment Group. The school keeps a waiting list for interested parents, who may arrange to observe the school operations, register in the enrichment group or be added to the waiting list by contacting Sue Shepard at 348-6544.

NORTHVILLE MONTESSORI CENTER — Affiliated with American Montessori and Michigan Montessori Associations, the school at 15709 Haggerty Road near Five Mile has operated under directress Lynn Gall since 1976.

A state-licensed, non-profit private school, the Montessori Center offers both morning and afternoon preschool sessions and a day care program for working parents.

Open from 7:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., the school curriculum, which extends into primary grades for students who have previous experience under the Montessori teaching method, includes practical living (self-help), sensorial experience, language, math, science, geography and social studies.

Other extras in the program include French, music, art, motor and perception development, yoga, poetry and cooking.

Last year's tuition rates were $90 per month for half-day sessions, $180 per month full days during the academic year.

New students are accepted on a six-week trial basis. Extended hours are available for students enrolled in the basic academic program, for a minimum two days per week at an additional cost of $1.25 per hour.

WILLOWBECK FARM, located at 21633 Beck Road in Northville, is a popular spot with youngsters 2½ to five years old. The nursery operates out of a bright-blue, thoroughly-renovated barn which bespeaks the school's rural setting.

Administrative Director Lane Norton explains Willowbeck's philosophy this way: "Your child's self-image is our main concern. We believe preschool education should be a happy, fun-filled learning experience."

Guiding the children through experiences in creative art, literature, physical activities and nature observation is a staff of three certified teachers.

Classes are offered year-round, Monday through Friday, in two 2½-hour sessions. Morning classes meet from 9-11:30 a.m. and accommodate the youngest as well as older preschoolers. Parents may choose to enroll their children in any number of morning sessions.

Afternoon classes, which meet from 12:45 to 3:15 p.m., are designed for children who are at least four-years-old and will be attending kindergarten the following fall. Sessions emphasize kindergarten-readiness skills such as number concepts, sequencing, science and pre-reading activities.

Youngsters interested in afternoon sessions should plan to attend Monday, Wednesday and Friday or Tuesday and Thursday. As the pre-kindergarten activities require continuity, no one day per week program is available.

Parents may register their children at Willowbeck any time; however, enrollment is limited to 20 children per session and classes fill quickly. There's a $15 registration fee and tuition runs from $6 to $6.50 per session.

Other area preschool centers include:

□ Living Lord Children's World Day Care Center at 40700 Ten Mile in Novi.

□ Kinder-Care Learning Center at 20675 Silver Springs Drive in Northville.

□ William Academy at 49875 Eight Mile in Northville.

Red schoolhouse is home of William Allan Academy

Garden party marks schoolhouse milestone

By MICHELE McELMURRY

With its red exterior, white picket fence and antique bell, William Allan Academy epitomizes the country school — once prevalent throughout the Northville area at the turn of the century.

Though it has endured several changes in its more than 125 years, the former one-room rural county schoolhouse continues today with the same purpose — educating area children.

In celebration of its more than 125 years, William Allan Academy will host an historical anniversary party at site at 49875 West Eight Mile this Saturday afternoon.

According to academy director Valerie Hambleton, the anniversary celebration will be in the tradition of an English garden party.

"The school will be filled with flowers and everybody will be in best bibs and tucker," explained the English-bred Hambleton.

In addition, Hambleton said there will be a band playing in the afternoon and traditional foods of the 18th century will be catered by academy parent Susie Baker.

Since taking over the school seven years ago, Hambleton has attempted to research the history of the more than century-old building.

She noted she has dated the property back to May 6, 1830; however, she only has been able to date the school back as far as 1858.

Nancy Lawrence, a faculty member and publicity chairperson for the academy, said the school has been located on a map dated to 1861.

However, she mentioned there has been some difficulty in finding the actual age of the school as most documentation of school records did not begin until 1859.

She also noted that records of Baseline School, which served to educate farm children throughout the area, were kept by three different counties and the townships of Plymouth, Lyon, Novi and Salem.

Lawrence said she has received much information about the school from talking with area senior citizens who either taught or attended Baseline. Among those is former Baseline teacher Lillian Rakestraw whose class planted the lilac bushes surrounding the school more than 60 years ago. The bushes still survive today.

Lawrence also said Marian Zayti, in charge of child accounting for Northville Public Schools, has been extremely helpful in tracing the school's history and noted the school was annexed to Northville in 1953.

As a rural one-room schoolhouse, Baseline served to teach the basic 3 R's.

Hambleton explained the school continues teaching the 3 R's but has added a "4th R" this year with a new course in computers.

The academy, which offers a preschool and K-6 program, enrolls approximately 100 students, Hambleton explained, with an estimated 75 to 80 percent of its students coming from the Northville area.

The academy, which up until this year was known as the Little Red Schoolhouse, is named after Hambleton's father, an Oxford graduate and English educator.

Hambleton explained she has more or less fulfilled her father's dream since purchasing the school.

"He had always wanted to have a private school in England," she noted, adding that her father died around the same time she purchased the schoolhouse.

A graduate of Manchester University in England, Hambleton said she has "taken the best of what I've taught in England — the more traditional — and combined it with the more free form American teaching."

She explained she "is really deeply committed to early education" and believes that often is overlooked in today's schools.

"I believe it is an absolute necessity to develop tomorrow's adult today," Hambleton added.

With school scheduled to begin September 6, Hambleton said she hopes Saturday's garden party reception beginning at 2 p.m. will serve as a pre-school get together for staff, students and parents.

She said she also is welcoming former students and teachers of the rural county school to help make it a truly historical schoolhouse reunion.

SAT scores gain influence in hard times, author says

Many parents are under the impression that Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) scores are important only at highly selective private schools.

But University of Michigan educator Geraldine Markel and Tarrytown (New York) School Psychologist Linda Bizer write in a new book that increased costs and academic competition are making SAT scores more critical for the aspiring college student.

"Present economic conditions are creating situations in which students with very high grades and high SAT scores, who could be admitted to any school, are now applying to state-supported schools in order to keep down the cost of their college education," they explain.

"The result is that state-supported schools are being increasingly more selective."

Their advice to parents and educators is offered in "The ABC's of the SAT: A Parent's Guide to College Examinations," published by AKCO Publishing, Inc. (160 pages, $4.95).

Markel, a senior research associate in the U-M Reading and Learning Skills Center, and co-author Bizer offer a number of SAT facts as a basis for discussion.

• SAT scores are considered an important factor in college admission.

• Scholarships are offered as a result of high scores.

• SAT scores can change just because of chance — like flipping a coin. And SAT scores can change the second time around.

• Studying and/or coaching can make a significant change in SAT scores under certain conditions.

"The ABC's of SAT" outlines proven techniques for achieving high SAT scores and suggests ways to design study plans tailored to each family's needs.

The book also provides teachers, counselors, school psychologists and tutors with information to help educators exert a positive influence on students' preparation for the SAT and other college admission tests.

Markel and Bizer point out that coaching — even very brief coaching — can help students: 1) become more familiar with the SAT format; 2) effectively use test time; and 3) become aware of general test-taking procedures, such as when and how to guess at a test answer.

They cite research reports indicating that SAT scores greatly increased when coaching focused on analogy and antonym question that are included on the verbal part of the test. One researcher reported average score gains of 10 to 15 points on the SAT verbal analogy section as a result of coaching.

Research also suggests that coaching will help even students who already have verbal and mathematical skills if they have any one of problems such as lack of confidence in their abilities, lack of expertise with standardized tests, lack of familiarity with test items, lack of awareness of all the kinds of problems on the mathematics section and/or poor performance on standardized tests in comparisons with their grades or class rank.

Scouting outing

More than 200 Northville-Plymouth-Canton area Girl Scouts spent part of their summer vacation at Maybury State Park participating in a host of activities. The theme of this year's summer camp was "Under the Big Top." In addition to cookouts and camping, Junior units made leather bracelets and had an opportunity to earn Horse Lover, Music Lover or Theatre badges. Brownie units made circus masks, learned jack-knife skills and simple first-aid. They also learned fire safety by cooking lunch over an open fire. Among the activities at this year's camp was hiking, pictured above. At right, scouts Tracy Winter, 7, Angela Abbott, 8, Sarah Carrington, 8 and Katie Coseo, 7, hang their cups on the "Cup Tree." Record photos by Steve Fecht.

Town Hall awards made to 16 charities

Sixteen area organizations have received awards from Northville Town Hall totaling $1,500, town hall board of awards chairperson Frances Mattison announces.

Among the major recipients are the Mizpah Circle of King's Daughters for local aid to the needy and Northville Historical Society for its Mill Race Historical Village projects.

Profits from the Northville Town Hall series annually are shared by the sponsoring Our Lady's League of Our Lady of Victory Church with organizations in the communities that support town hall. Half of these proceeds goes to the church and the other half is divided among organizations requesting aid for their projects from the board of awards.

A total of $80,000 now has been distributed in the awards program, the board notes.

The board this year also made an award to the Northville-Novi FISH emergency help organization to help pay for its telephone service.

Other Northville organizations receiving awards are Northville Friends of the Library and Northville Township Beautification Commission for civic improvement projects.

Other recipients are Novi Friends of the Library, South Lyon Area Youth Guidance for its camping program, Palmer Drug Abuse Program, Huron Valley, Milford, and Livonia Family U to support its handicapped swimming program.

Also receiving awards are Farmington Community Center (support drive for operating expenses), Community Living Centers in Farmington for operations, New Horizons for training disabled people, Plymouth Women's Club for Special Olympics, Plymouth Symphony to support its programs, Plymouth Fire and Drum Corps for maintenance, and Plymouth Historical Society to purchase an authentic Indian board.

The Northville Town Hall Board of Awards met June 11 to consider 21 requests for assistance. It noted that one was denied as it had been received past the deadline for submission.

In addition to Mrs. Mattison, Northville representatives on the board are Herman Moehlman and Norma Vernon with Anne Brueck serving as secretary.

Betty Childs represented Plymouth and Frances Hensley Livonia at the annual meeting. Jean Proctor, Farmington representative, was absent.

Awards are made to organizations in the Northville, Novi, Plymouth, South Lyon, Farmington and Livonia areas.

In making the awards the board noted by ticket sales last season were down by 200.

Current town hall chairman is Mrs. Leo Chouinard of South Lyon assisted by Mrs. Arthur Palachio of Northville, vice chairman.

Actress Jane Powell will open the 23rd season October 12 at the Plymouth Hilton Inn at 14707 Northville Road. All four lectures will be given there, beginning at 11 a.m. They are followed by a celebrity luncheon.

Powell, who starred in 20 musicals for MGM, will be followed on November 10 by Judith Keith, author of "I Haven't a Thing to Wear."

Herbert Baumel, a former first violinist with the Philadelphia orchestra and concertmaster for many Broadway productions, will appear March 8, 1984. He will be followed by James A. Lovell April 12, 1984, who will talk of his experiences on man's maiden voyage to the moon on the Apollo 8 flight.

Town hall tickets are sold by the season only and are $25. They may be ordered by sending a check to Northville Town Hall, P.O. Box 93, Northville with a self-addressed return envelope. Mrs. Richard Lyon is ticket chairman.

Luncheon reservations are $8.25 each or $33 for the season and may be purchased by ticketholders only. They may be reserved by mailing a check to town hall. Mrs. Severo Armada is luncheon chairman.

Mrs. Richard Kelly is in charge of baby sitter arrangements.

Questers invite artists to enter work in contest aiding schoolhouse project

Local artists are being invited to submit sketches of Northville scenes in a contest sponsored by the Silver Springs chapter of the Questers.

Winning entries, explains Virginia Hayward, project chairman, will be incorporated into the design of gift wrapping paper which will be sold by the antique study, restoration and preservation group.

The project has been planned as a fund-raiser to help pay for the antique walnut teacher's desk purchased by the Quester chapter for the Wash Oak School in Mill Race Historical Village.

The chapter is seeking pen-and-ink or pencil drawings of local buildings, homes, parks, landmarks or monuments in Northville city and township. Local artists are invited to submit any number of signed and dated sketches, not to exceed 4 by 6 inches.

Deadline to submit them is September 15. They are to be mailed to Martha Nield, 45911 Pickford, or dropped off at the Book Stall on the Main at 116 East Main.

The chapter will have the sketches judged by a panel consisting of a local art teacher, an artist-member of the chapter, a member of the local arts commission, a city official and a businessman.

Jewel Luckett, 349-1046, will answer questions about the competition.

Winners will be announced October 19.

Mrs. Hayward explains that the sketches will be part of the original-design wrapping paper to be sold by the chapter members and at local businesses. It is to be available for the Christmas Walk on November 20.

The walnut desk purchased by the chapter for the school, Mrs. Hayward explains, is an antique of the correct vintage for the schoolhouse, but cost more than the chapter had available. Therefore, Mrs. Hayward reports, the idea of the original wrapping paper with local artists contributing sketches was conceived to raise funds.

The schoolhouse is being readied for local classes to use as an example of what it was like to go to school in 1873.

It's bioengineering

Karen Moore of Northville is monitoring the oxygen utilization of a fellow participant during bioengineering class, one of the "explorations" of the summer youth program held at Michigan Technological University during the summer. She will be a senior at Northville High School this fall. Begun in 1973, the program provides learning opportunities in academic fields not usually studied in junior and senior high schools and provides information about career opportunities.

Harbinger, Michigan's first professional dance company, offers a full program of classes for children and adults at the Orchard Ridge Campus of Oakland Community College with members of the company serving as instructors.

As the company enters its third year in residence on the campus, it is announced that Linda Stover, new ballet mistress, will serve as dance coordinator for the program and will be teaching many of the classes herself.

A graduate of Akron University and former student of Heinz Poll, Stover recently received her MFA in dance from the University of Michigan where she was a teaching assistant. She has been an instructor at Akron University, Kent State University and the Dance Institute in Akron.

She will be teaching several levels of ballet at OCC and will be training and rehearsing the Harbinger Dance Company.

Lisa Nowak, founder and artistic director of the company, will be teaching in the program for the first time. She has announced plans for the further development of dance at the college.

Of special interest to parents of young children will be the Happy Saturdays program in which Nowak will be teaching a "Come Dance With Me" class in creative movement for children in kindergarten through third grade as well as modern dance for young people in fourth through eighth grades. Beginning ballet for children also is scheduled.

Students may register for classes by mail or in person at the campus after September 1; classes will begin September 12. Call 477-7014 after September 1 for information or to register.

New school year nears

Another addition to the faculty is Kathleen Puzio, seventh grade math instructor who will enhance the school's computer program, which features instruction at all grade levels.

School begins Tuesday, September 6, for grades 2-8, while "First Grade Roundup," an orientation program for first graders and their parents, will take place the following Thursday. Classes are filled to capacity at the school, which has an enrollment of 285 this year. For more information about Our Lady of Victory, phone 349-3610.

A "hands on" computer classroom program for grades six through eight will be taught at ST. PAUL'S LUTHERAN SCHOOL this year.

Principal Kenneth Lehl, who is in his 15th year with the church school, reports there was some computer training last year and it is being expanded this fall.

Robert Kuelbs has been hired to teach math, social studies and computers to students in sixth through eighth grades. He comes to St. Paul's from Detroit Nativity Lutheran School and will serve as sixth grade home room teacher.

A Livonia resident, Kuelbs is a 1976 graduate of Concordia College in St. Paul, Minnesota. He received his masters degree in mathematics from the University of Michigan-Dearborn.

Lehl says he hopes in the future to have one computer per classroom. Presently, through an arrangement with Texas Instruments the school has obtained five computers. "It enabled us to go more quickly into computers," Lehl said, explaining a trade of equipment for use of the school's facilities for a company computer camp program in effect through June.

Mrs. Jackie Loontjier, who has been on a year's leave of absence to be with a young family, is returning to teach fourth grade.

Lehl anticipates there will be 190 students in the kindergarten through eighth grade program as school starts next week. There also is a preschool program with 60 enrolled.

First day of school will be Tuesday, August 30. It will be a half-day session with a full day program commencing August 31 and including kindergarten.

The Christian preschool program under the direction of Mrs. Christine Lehl, the principal's wife, offers four sessions. There are morning and afternoon sessions Monday-Wednesday-Friday and Tuesday-Thursday. There is no all-day care session.

Some openings are available at all grade levels, Lehl said. Parents interested in placing their children in the school, which supports Christian concepts, may call the office, 349-3140, for information.

Donkers will be a sophomore this fall at Catholic Central High School.

Community school districts, provide nutritious, easy-to-prepare meals.

The instructions for most recipes are simple enough for even young students to follow and can be used for either lunches or after-school snacks.

TWO-WAY COOKIES

After you have mixed the dough, you can either bake the cookies or eat them unbaked.

½ cup butter or margarine
3 cups oatmeal or oatmeal mixed with wheat germ
1 cup honey
3 tablespoons cocoa powder (unsweetened)
¾ cup powdered milk
2 teaspoons vanilla
½ cup peanut butter
½ cup raisins

Put butter or margarine in a large pan.

Place the pan over a low heat until the butter melts. Stir in oatmeal. Remove from heat.

When the butter and oatmeal are well mixed, add other ingredients. Mix well with your hands.

Wash all the sticky dough off your hands. Put a bowl of water on the table and use it to wet your hands before you shape the cookies. This keeps the dough from sticking to you.

Roll the dough into little balls or snakes or any other shape you can think of. Now, you can either:

1. Put the cookies on a lightly buttered cookie sheet, flatten them and bake for 10 to 12 minutes at 350 degrees.

2. Eat the cookies right away. They'll be a little mushy, and if you want them harder, put them in the refrigerator for a while.

September art show in Milford

Sixty to 70 specially-selected artists will be displaying and selling their work when the Huron Valley Arts Council presents its biennial "Art in the Park" during Milford's Mill Valley Festival September 17-18.

The juried show will offer cash prizes and "best of show" award as well as a purchase award.

A few spaces still remain for interested local artists. A $30 entry fee includes a 10-by-10 foot booth. The Art Council is looking in particular for quilters and other folk art artists.

Entry blanks are available by contacting Pat Oldford, Art Council president, at P.O. Box 305 in Milford 48042.

The Art in the Park committee is headed by Edie Schoenberg, assisted by Marilyn Fisher (site), Ayesha Lancaster (food), Pat Oldford and Ann Stawicki (artists) and Jeanetta Vesey (publicity).

The Milford Historical Society will hold its annual homes tour in conjunction with the festival.

Dorm insurance a good investment

College students bound for the dormitories should make some provision in their school budgets for protecting the valuables they plan to take with them.

According to the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants, it makes financial sense to insure the possessions, which are often worth several thousand dollars. This takes on greater urgency if you realize new tax laws restrict casualty loss deductions.

There are many ways to insure students' belongings, including "dormitory insurance" available to students on hundreds of campuses. It may also be possible to arrange additional coverage on the parents' homeowners policy for "off-premises" property or to buy tenant's insurance.

Costs vary. What's best for each individual depends on a number of factors. Before deciding on the best value, take an inventory.

List both purchase price and replacement cost for every item of value. After calculating the property's worth, consider not only the annual insurance premium but other factors such as:

- the amount of any deductible;
- payment due dates;
- the depreciation rate set by the insurer;
- property coverage during breaks in the school year;
- possible value of casualty loss income tax deductions;
- replacement costs for the property.

According to one insurance company, stereos are among the items most commonly stolen from dormitories, followed by (in order) clothing, jewelry, cameras, calculators, stereo tapes and books.

However, the list of valuable equipment found in college dorms is a long one and includes bikes, typewriters and computers. In fact, one dormitory insurer recently increased its maximum coverage from $6,000 to $10,000 to reflect the increasing use of personal computers.

Insurers sometimes require students to provide an inventory of items insured and the appropriate sales receipts or proof of purchase before writing a policy.

Replacement value coverage is generally more expensive, but may be worth the added premium. Under this plan, if your new $1,000 stereo is stolen you can expect to recover the full cost. However, some insurers may decrease the reimbursement as an item gets older. If the same stereo is stolen a year later, you may get 10 percent less because of the depreciation schedule used to find the stereo's actual cash value.

For insurance purposes, a stereo may depreciate at 10 percent a year but designer jeans may lose value much faster. The "fair market value" or the property's value at the time of the loss is also considered in the casualty loss deduction for income tax purposes, CPAs note.

The costs of property insurance vary, depending on the insurance company, deductible and amount of coverage. "Dormitory insurance" costs as little as $22 a year for a $2,000 policy and up to $160 for a $10,000 policy.

A rider on the parents' homeowners insurance policy may cost an extra five to 20 percent of the amount they currently pay. A tenant's policy for the student might cost between $75 and $150 per year.

An area's crime rate also affects insurance costs. If covered under the parents' policy and they live in a high crime area, the student may find the "off-premises" coverage may reflect the high crime rates, even if the school is in a low-crime area. In such a case, the student is better off with individual coverage, CPAs say.

To recover any part of a loss through a tax deduction, the loss must exceed 10 percent of annual income after $100 has been deducted for each loss, CPAs say.

A loss of $2,000 property through theft or fire is probably not eligible for a tax write-off if the family income exceeds $60,000. Even if able to claim the $2,000 the actual tax saving would only be $1,000, assuming the family income has reached the 50 percent tax bracket. The write-off is worth even less to those paying a lower rate.

This is far less than the amount needed to replace the lost property. Also, the $100 that must be deducted before claiming the deduction is probably all that would be needed to protect dormitory property for an entire year.

Artisans can apply for fair

Local artisans interested in exhibiting at the 1983 Novi Arts and Crafts Fair have until September 2 to submit applications.

The fair is slated for November 5-6. Bill Scott of the Parks and Recreation Department said Novi's art fair will be "juried" again this year to ensure quality of craftsmanship. All work exhibited must be original in concept and execution. Paintings, pottery, watercolors, drawings, collage, graphics, sculpture, handcrafted jewelry, textiles, enamels, wood and metal work, glass, photography and all original works defined as crafts are eligible.

All entries will be juried by the art fair committee; decisions are final and cannot be appealed. Four slides must be submitted that are representative of the media and quality of work that will be on display. Artists will be judged solely on the slide presentation.

Deadline for applications is September 2. For more information or application forms call 349-1976. The Novi Arts and Crafts Fair is co-sponsored by the Novi Parks and Recreation Department in conjunction with the Novi Community Education Department and Novi Youth Assistance.

LPN refresher class offered at Schoolcraft

Licensed practical and vocational nurses who have been inactive and wish to return to practice can upgrade their skills at Schoolcraft College this fall.

Offered through the Office of Continuing Education, the 16-week course entitled LPN Refresher will begin September 9. It will meet Thursday and Friday evenings, and will be worth nine credit hours.

Students will review basic knowledge and skills, update present knowledge to include the latest techniques and procedures in medical surgical nursing, and discuss the role of the nurse in today's health care system.

The program includes classroom and clinical training. Total cost for in-district students is $276.50; out-of-district $362; and out-of-state $524. Class space is limited and is available only to persons who hold a current license as a practical/vocational nurse in the United States, have had a TB skin test and own malpractice insurance.

For more information, telephone the Office of Continuing Education at 591-6400, extension 410.

Seminar will teach skills for listening

A course entitled Reflective Listening/Communication Skills will be taught at Schoolcraft College this fall.

The four-session seminar is designed to help professionals, such as counselors, lawyers, divorce mediators, doctors, clergy, social workers and educators take advantage of some new insights into the art of communicating effectively.

Ruth Ann Zeigler, M.A., co-founder and co-director of Family Meditation and Training Institute, and her partner Gary Marsh, M.S.W., have developed the series.

"Effective listening is an art or a skill that can be learned, not simply a function of the physical senses," states Zeigler. The sessions will concentrate on interpretation of verbal and behaviorable messages with emphases on practicing reflective listening techniques, "I" messages, body language interpretation, understanding others through self awareness and emphatic assertiveness.

The fee for the seminar is $50 for all four sessions. They are scheduled on Wednesdays from 7-10 p.m., beginning September 7.

Those interested in enrolling should telephone the Office of Community Services, 591-6400, extension 409.

Kids can get tours of Providence facility

A 30-minute tour of the emergency treatment area, laboratory and x-ray departments at Providence Hospital's Novi Ambulatory Care Center is available to local children's groups weekdays by appointment.

Sandy Lopatowski, R.N. and director of the emergency care center, said the informal tours acquaint youngsters with the look of the rooms and equipment and allow them to know the staff.

"We find that a short time with us on a relaxed occasion can ease the emotional trauma some children experience with an emergency visit," she said. "We'd like children to be familiar with the place and ask questions."

"We want them to know we are caring people who are here to help them."

Scout groups, 4-H clubs, Campfire girls and other small groups of youngsters are welcome at the Novi Center located on Ten Mile at Haggerty Road. For advance arrangements call Nellie Grimwade at 471-0413.

Northville Swim Club throws 20th anniversary bash

The Northville Swim Club threw a birthday blast for 150 kids earlier this month to celebrate its 20th anniversary of serving the 200 Northville families in its membership during the time the pool is open from Memorial Day to Labor Day each year.

Party host Ron Van Horn, manager of the club, won over his young guests with a variety of treats, including sailboat races, a magician, swimming and diving games, a water balloon toss, 200 rubber balls for target practice and a clown diving show.

The club's lifeguards entertained the kids with a "Superman vs. the Villains" performance that left the cast all wet.

Capping the festivities was a giant birthday cake from Genitti's, who also furnished hot dogs for grilling at the party.

Genitti's also will cater the club's final soiree of the year, this time for adults, at the American Legion Hall downtown this Friday.

The dinner dance will feature a disc jockey spinning tunes in keeping with the party theme, "20 Years of Keeping Northville Cool."

"I think it was a nice idea," Van Horn said of the bash for the kids in the membership, many of whom were enrolled in the club's six-week swim classes. "I think the kids had a really nice time."

Travelers softball team takes ninth in nationals

The Northville-South Lyon Travelers softball team managed to make that trip to Pearl, Mississippi, and the squad of 12-year-olds took home ninth place in the World USSSA Softball Tournament held there August 8-10.

With the team benefitting from fund-raisers — in particular a pizza party benefit by Little Caesar's and $100 contributions from the Northville Kiwanis Club and from Butch Casterline and a $50 gift from Ed Jamieson of Northville Travel Plans, the Travelers were able to charter a bus with the North Farmington team, which also qualified. The team stayed at a hotel in the Jackson, Mississippi, suburb.

The weather was less than accommodating — ankle-deep mud on the playing field was the order of the weekend for 35 visiting teams from 15 states. After falling in the opening game of the two-game knockout-tourney, the Travelers put together five playoff wins before being eliminated in an exciting quarter-final contest against Florida state champion Rockledge-Cocoa 7-6.

The Travelers had acquired a reputation for late-inning fireworks over the regular season — in one game against Sterling I, they overcame a seven-run deficit with a two-out, nine-run rally in the final inning to win.

The game against Florence, state champions in South Carolina, that qualified the Travelers for the quarterfinals, was certainly no exception. Trailing 2-1 in the last inning, the girls put together a two-run rally to post their sixth last-inning triumph of the year.

Prior to the Florence contest, the Travelers walloped Oak Forest, Mississippi, 13-3, Richmond, Virginia, 11-6, Scottsville, Kentucky, 17-2 and Laurel, Mississippi, 28-0.

But the heavy schedule took its toll. With only five minutes' rest, the Travelers played their fifth game on Saturday, August 9, against Rockledge-Cocoa. Trailing 7-4, the Travelers' patented late-inning heroics fell one run short for the team's second loss in the tournament.

The Travelers finished the season with a 15-6 record, winning runner-up trophies from the Walled Lake state tournament, a first-place trophy from the state qualifier tournament in Sterling, and also a "best team sportsmanship" trophy.

"It was a terrific experience," said the team coach, Tom Baird. "It was amazing to watch the caliber of play by these girls, especially on those fields. I was really impressed by our team defense. The girls were making unbelievable plays in the field."

Particularly luminary in the tournament was shortstop Karen Baird, named a "Tournament All-Star" for her performance at the state qualifying playoffs. Karen batted .650 throughout the six-game national tourney, leading the team in RBIs (23) and triples (9) while playing superbly on defense.

Amy Freimund batted at a .700 clip for the tournament, while playing steadily at first base and Heather Palmer added 11 hits in 21 at bats for a .524 percentage. In a substitute role, Sue Settles was a perfect 3-for-3 in the tournament.

Let your pictures tell a story of your trip. On your vacation, take pictures of the scenes around you and a few shots of significant signs along the route. Some pictures titled "This is me in front of the scenery" are okay, but not very many! The scenery and the people there are more important to an interesting travel story than anything else.

Every journalist knows the 5 questions which must be answered to tell a story. If your set of pictures tells who, what, where, when, and how - or most of these - then they'll make an interesting story. When you get back home, sit down with all your pictures and sort them. Don't show bad or repetitious shots. Take your good shots and arrange them in some order which will tell the story of your trip. Start at the beginning, continue through the middle until you reach the end, then stop. Then put them in order in your slide tray or album, ready for showing.

Cross-country squad poised for '83

Wool, O'Neill promising harriers

By B.J. MARTIN

A week in Frankfort, Michigan, beside scenic Crystal Lake near Traverse City may sound like an idyllic way to spend a week of what's left of summer. This week, that's where the Northville High School cross-country teams — men's and women's — are staying (separately accommodated, of course).

But it's far from a relaxing vacation. Days start at 6:15 a.m. and the athletes have half an hour to prepare themselves for a brisk 10-mile run, more or less. At 5 p.m., they get to do it all over again. So much for envy.

"In the early season, we mostly emphasize long, slow distance training," explains coach Ed Gabrys. "We need to get the runners in shape, get them used to running. Later we do pace drills, more sprinting-type training like interval 90-second quarters to get them used to competitive pacing."

Some of the runners have stayed on a steady running program throughout the summer. Others will have to endure the pain of whipping their bodies into competitive form. Informal practices began August 1 for many team members, with required workouts beginning August 15.

'What we do have (on the men's squad) is a lot of experience, and that helps immensely, because the guys know what to do to prepare themselves for each meet, physically and mentally.'

— Ed Gabrys
Cross-country coach

Gabrys expects Livonia Churchill and Walled Lake Western to be the teams to beat in the Western Lakes Activities Association (WLAA) this fall. Both teams belong to the Western Division, as does Northville — thus making a divisional championship an uphill battle.

"They've lost some good runners," Gabrys says, "but they've really got the numbers. I expect the rest of the teams will mix it up, slug it out."

And what about the Mustangs?

"What we hope is to get 12 guys under 18 minutes on our course (a 3.1-mile route at Cass Benton Park, with greatly varying topography) by the end of the season. If we do that, we'll be in pretty good shape," Gabrys says of the men's squad. "What we do have is a lot of experience, and that helps immensely, because the guys know what to do to prepare themselves for each meet, physically and mentally. We've already got five who've done better than 18 minutes."

"Right now there's no real outstanding runner, but we'll pack well together. I'm hoping we bring in the first five within 30 seconds of each other."

A few of the runners Gabrys will be counting on:

JIM O'NEILL, senior. O'Neill was elected the squad's co-captain by his teammates for the second straight year. An all-division harrier last year, O'Neill was also selected as the team's most valuable athlete in 1982. "Jim's been working very hard this summer, doing two-a-days on his own," Gabrys says. "He's in the best shape he's ever been in."

O'Neill's accomplishments last season were held back by a bout of pneumonia and a bad knee. But he clocked a 17:19 at the 5-kilometer conference meet and has clocked a 16:27 three-mile time at Farmington Harrison. He was a key distance mainstay on the Mustang men's track team last spring.

PAT CAMPBELL, senior. Gabrys calls Campbell is a "direct contrast" to his fellow co-captain O'Neill. "Jim is kind of a flashy, flamboyant type of guy, while Pat's a lot more steady and quiet," Gabrys says, adding they both are pretty consistent on the course.

Campbell has clocked a 17:43 on the Cass Benton course. His fastest three-mile time is a 17:06.

DOUG DOYLE, senior. Doyle, an outstanding pitcher for the Mustang baseball team last spring until a sore arm sidelined him, is a two-year scholar athlete with a near-perfect academic record in addition to his considerable athletic skills. He was co-captain last year.

"Doug's one of our most consistent runners," Gabrys says. "Very steady. He hasn't been running too much this summer, though." Doyle clocked an 18-minute time at Cass Benton last year and has run a 17:31 three miles.

KURT ASSENMACHER, senior. "Little" brother of Kim, a stalwart on the women's team in 1982, Kurt clocked an 18:10 at the Cass Benton regional in 1982. He is one of the runners who have turned in unofficial times under 18 minutes on the course. Like Doyle, Campbell and O'Neill, this is Assenmacher's third year on the varsity.

JIM RINEY, senior. Riney is a big question mark. A transfer from Illinois, Riney was recruited for cross-country by O'Neill, whom he often trains with. Riney has clocked four two-mile times under 10 minutes — much faster than anyone on the Mustang track team last spring. "He's got a sore ankle right now — he broke it last spring, but he should be okay by the opener," Gabrys says.

Juniors MIKE SIEFFKEN and RICH NAZRADI have inside shots at rounding out the top seven after having run on last year's team. Nazradi has clocked an 18:13 on the Cass Benton course, with Sieffen 16 ticks slower.

Two sophomores who will likely see plenty of action are JOHN HUSTON and KEVIN LEGEL, both of whom ran for the Cross-Country reserves last season. Rounding out the team will be six newcomers: senior GARRON GAWLAS, junior BRETT NETKE, sophomores MATT WINQUIST and MIKE YAEKLE, and freshmen KIRK KABEL and GREG GOOD, all of whom have done some competitive running.

'We need runners (on the women's team). I'm hoping some who were on the track team last spring come around, but we need some girls who can round out the team. If you run 1-2-3, you can win every dual meet, but you still really need the others.'

Despite a nucleus of three unusually talented runners, the women's team now finds itself understaffed. "We need runners," Gabrys says. "I'm hoping some who were on the track team last spring come around, but we need some girls who can round out the team."

"If you run 1-2-3, you can win every dual meet," Gabrys says, "but you still really need the others, especially against good teams. If anyone is interested in coming out, she should contact (NHS Athletic Director) Ralph Redmond at the school. THAT'S 349-3400," Gabrys adds with emphasis.

But that first 1-2-3 is going to be a tough group to beat. They are:

KELLY WOOL, senior. A three-year

KELLY WOOL, senior. A three-year veteran and this season's captain, Wool is expected to lead the team. An all-conference runner last season, Wool is one of Northville High School's most dedicated athletes. She is in constant training year 'round, and was a standout on the women's track team last spring.

"What we're working on with Kelly is her speed," Gabrys says. "Kelly has great endurance, but really only one speed. She runs the two-mile and the mile at just about the same pace. So we're working her on some sprints to improve her strength in that area." Among the honors Wool was accorded last year were: All-State honorable mention, All-Region and the team's most valuable runner award. She medaled at four invitational meets in 1982. Her best time at Cass Benton is a brisk 19:36. WENDY NUECHTERLEIN, sophomore. A key distance runner on the spring track squad, Nuechterlein is a rapidly-developing athlete and a teeth-gritting competitor who pushes herself to the point of nearly complete exhaustion in her performances. She was named to the all-Western division team as a freshman. CINDY PANOWICZ, junior. Panowicz's mastery in running events from the half-mile on down as well as field events is unprecedented in Northville track and field. She is joining the cross-country team in large part to keep in shape for track season, but how far her considerable natural athletic talent will carry her in long distance competition is still questionable. Panowicz runs distance regularly. "She's getting mileage under her and we're working her pretty hard," Gabrys says. "I expect she's going to help us a lot."

Rounding out the four runners who have turned out so far is SHARON SAVAGEAU, senior. A steady competitor on the girls' reserve team in 1982, Savageau needs to drop her time down another couple of minutes, Gabrys says, adding her willingness to work hard will likely pay off with some strong improvement later in the season.

Ninth grade cheerleaders take second at MSU tourney

The supply of talented cheerleaders for Northville High School is showing no signs of diminishing in the future.

Although the Northville varsity and junior varsity cheerleading squads have earned recognition for their talents, now Northville cheerleaders are reaping honors even before they reach the junior varsity level.

Case in point — the ninth grade cheerleaders from Cooke Junior High School.

At the Summer Sports Camp at Michigan State University in Lansing, held August 7-12, the team finished second among all the participants, demonstrating precision and enthusiasm in its routines and cheers.

Without an official advisor for their summer activities — in fact, without a captain — the squad of girls worked on its craft aided principally by mothers of the cheerleading team. The cheerleaders, who were selected in May, took turns holding practices at each other's homes during the summer months.

The squad members are: Diane Eusebi, Terri Forte, Nicki Grasley, Kathleen Holloway, Dawn Kucher, Beth Parkinson, Annemarie Sadowski and Lisa Tuckfield. All the girls will be on the squad throughout the school year to cheer on Northville sports teams.

Terri Forte earned a special individual award at the camp. In individual competition, she had to perform a series of jumps, a Michigan State cheer taught by the camp instructors and demonstrate an original cheer for Cooke Junior High School she had made up herself.

Terri's routine earned her a first place in the individual category.

Cheerleaders win plaque

At the United States Association of Cheerleaders National Grand Championships held at the Lansing Civic Center last week, the Northville High School varsity cheerleading squad took 12th place among the 43 teams competing — according to coach Licia Maguire, "a thrilling accomplishment."

"We were missing four girls because of other commitments," Maguire said, "so we had to call up two girls from the junior varsity. It was very surprising we did so well."

The squad earned a plaque for its finish, based on two floor cheers and two skill cheers with mounts, some of which will be seen at football games this fall.

Adrian (Michigan) High School took first at the competition, which featured teams from nine states — Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Ohio, New York, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Kentucky and Florida.

The regular squad members who attended were: Amy Holland, Jill Taschner, Jody Folino, Kim McRae, Michelle Craig and Kathy Kossak. Lynn Bills and Kristin VanderBok performed very well when called up from the JV.

Northville's Andy Frey places 18th in ski nationals

Following his first place slalom finish at the American Water Skiing Association's Midwest Regional Championships earlier this month, Northville's Andy Frey competed at the AWSA Water Skiing Association National Championships August 17-21, finishing 18th in the nation in slalom ski competition.

The competition took place Friday through Sunday at DuQuine, Illinois. Frey, 11, was one of the youngest skiers in the Under-13 competition, and his father Larry, also a competitive skier, believes Andy has a good shot at improving his finish if he qualifies next year, since he will still be eligible in his present age grouping.

"There were only three kids from the Midwest at the competition," the older Frey added. "Most of the competitors were from southern states where they can ski year 'round. Considering, I thought Andy did really well."

Andy, who will participate in a Mastercraft Juniors Tournament at his daily training club, Tivoli Gardens in Brighton, this weekend, will be a student at Meads Mill Junior High this fall.

'Psoccer Psych,'
'Who's That on Sidelines?'

What have I gotten into now?
A few weeks ago I confided to Northville's soccer baron, Dave Yezback, that, should a team of kids be looking for a coach this fall, I'd be happy to steer them in the right direction with my vast knowledge of the game.
"Any particular age group?" he asked me.
"Nope," I replied. "Wherever I'm needed most. I'm pretty flexible."
I got my final assignment about two weeks ago. Under 19 — Girls. I think it's important to those close to me to understand that I didn't actively seek this particular age and sex grouping, so I want the record straight when I'm seen with these young women. Remarks like like those I've had to endure already are not to be tolerated.

Examples: "Just happened to Wreckers," a name decided upon after countless suggestions had been discussed and howled at by my advisors. That one drew the fewest jeers, at least until I informed my team of its moniker leagues, and need instruction on fundamentals like I need a pay cut.

That's okay by me. I like the strategy end of the game, although it's unlikely that kind of thing is visible to the casual soccer fan

What is there to the game, he or she may wonder. If the ball is on your end of the field, you boot it as far away from your goal as your legs can muster. If it's on their end of the field, you keep it there until someone kicks it into the net. Strategy? As Garfield would say, "Big, fat hairy deal."
Well, there's a lot more to it than that. There's the proper selection of a headband for color-coordination with the uniform. There's correct congratulations etiquette after scoring a goal (high-fives are passe, however, musing up the hair of the goal scorer is always appropriate).

There's proper goalkeeper fashion (knee pads are okay, but long pants look tres gauche, even if they are practical in nippy weather). There's the importance of brand-name shoes and visible blood stains on uniforms when attempting to psych out the opposition.
It sometimes takes years for players to learn these inside things that give a team that all-important psychological edge against a team hopelessly misguided in such critical areas.

I was hoping to get a nice week-long training camp going in, oh, upstate New York, or England (expenses to be covered by parents of the players, of course). Unfortunately, as our head honchos over here at The Record like to point out, people are pretty insistent on having some sports news in their paper, if only for the photos I don't take (By the way, our photographers have finally completed their vacations, and readers will no longer have to sit through so many fuzzy B.J. Martin photographs).
We'll see you on the fields en route to the league championship. We're in purple and white. I'm the one on the sidelines sucking in his stomach.

be assigned to age 16-18 girls, eh? Sure. I understand." I hear this mostly from female friends. Or, "Need any assistant coaches?" I hear this mostly from male friends.
We're dubbed the "Northville

this fall.
We had our first practice last week, and I found first-hand how true my observation about the rapid development of girls' skills in soccer turned out to be. They're all veterans of younger

The all-stars took it on the chin twice, by scores of 18-6 and 12-2, but were the real winners, as proceeds of the game went to the upkeep of Northville's Thomson Field. Record photo by Steve Fecht.

Deadline is Sept. 24 for fourth Rotary run

The fourth annual "Discover Northville Run," sponsored by the Northville Rotary is coming up Sunday, October 1. Registration deadline for participants this year is September 24. After that date, the cost of registration rises from $7 to $9.
Race courses for the 10 kilometer and 5 kilometer races, as well as the kids one mile race track run on the Northville Downs track, will begin and end at the track. The courses traverse moderate hills with the last mile through the tree-lined business district.
For information about registering for the race, contact Bill Tomczyk, 4215 West 7 Mile Road, Northville, MI 48167, phone: 348-1509 or 420-2777.
All entries this year will receive an athletic tote bag, with overall trophies going to first place in the men's and women's divisions; trophies going to the first three positions through fifth positions in the 10-k and 5-k race for both women and men, and trophies to the top three finishers and ribbons to all participants in the kids' one mile race.
The size of the Discover Northville Run has increased dramatically, nearly doubling its original 202 entries in 1980 with 383 last year. Tomczyk, director of the charity run, is hoping for an even bigger turnout this year.

Candela, Dimitroff among GVS hopefuls

Grand Valley State freshman Andy Dimitroff and sophomore Vince Candela, both graduates of Northville High School, are slated to try out for slots on the Lakers varsity football team this fall.
Candela, a defensive tackle, and NHS Athlete of the Year Dimitroff, a running back for the Mustang varsity football squad last fall recruited on an athletic scholarship, will join 32 freshmen, 37 sophomores, 23 juniors and 12 seniors for two-a-day workouts in preparation for the Lakers opener September 10 against St. Joseph's College of Indiana.
The Lakers will have a new coach this season in Bob Giesey, who previously was on the coaching staff at Ball State University, Indiana.

Hockey tryouts set

Area hockey players interested in trying out for Plymouth-Canton hockey league teams can attend tryout sessions at the Plymouth Cultural Center, 525 Farmer, on the following dates:
Travel tryouts — August 29 through September 1.
House tryouts — September 6 through September 9.
Players need not be registered to try out. For further information, call 459-6444.
