'Stop the Prison' rally planned Saturday

Township officials and residents this week have been marshaling support for a "Stop the Prison" rally at 10 a.m. Saturday on the grounds of the Wayne County Child Development Center on Sheldon.

In an effort similar to one seven years ago when the state planned to construct a prison on that site, organizers of the Concerned Citizens of Western Wayne County are trying to block a new state plan to make the Plymouth Center for Human Development into a medium security prison.

The center also is located off Sheldon just south of the child development center property for which an elderly village is planned.

"Please come and bring 20 people," the Concerned Citizens are urging as Supervisor John E. MacDonald and others have been lining up speakers for Saturday's rally.

The rally seven years ago was partly responsible for the state's backing down on the WCCDC site. Instead the unused women's division at DeHoCo was renovated into the Phoenix Correctional Facility. The corrections department subsequently planned the prototype regional prison adjacent to it on vacant property on Beck Road.

If the PCHD property becomes a medium security prison, officials in the state department of corrections and the department of budget and management say they will abandon plans for the regional prison in Northville, designed to be a model for future prisons.

At the rally, MacDonald will introduce speakers against the prison.

They include township and civic representatives. School board president Chris Johnson indicated Monday that he will attend to voice the district's opposition to the PCHD location.

State Senator R. Robert Geake, Representative Gerald Law and Wayne County Commissioner Mary Dumas all have confirmed they will attend and oppose the move.

Organizers also have asked Northville Mayor Paul Vernon, Livonia Mayor Ed McNamara and Plymouth Township Supervisor Maurice Breen to attend.

The Concerned Citizens also actively are seeking donations for the fight. "Any amount is welcome," explained Eunice L. Switzer, secretary-treasurer of the group, adding that, if every family in the community supported the campaign with a few dollars, it would have the needed funds for the fight.

She said the committee has applied for tax-exempt status and that deductions will be tax-deductible.

Volunteers will be placing canisters in stores and businesses in the city and township to receive donations for the fight, Switzer said.

Co-presidents of Concerned Citizens are M.K. Rhoades and Ross B. Northrop Jr. David Field is first vice president and William Phillips, second.

Members of the advisory board are

A.M. Allen, N.H. Whiteside, Richard Ambler, William Sliger, Donald DiComo, Stanley Sonk, Charles Marino and William Miron.

Township resident Liz McCarville, an active Democrat, has been working on the Concerned Citizens committee to try to get bipartisan support for the fight.

Group home placement draws concerns

By JEAN DAY

Although aware that plans for a proposed group home on Portis in Northville Colony in the eastern part of the township had been withdrawn, more than a dozen residents of the area attended last Thursday's township board meeting to express concerns about the placement of any more group homes in the community.

Residents almost universally cited problems of walkaways from the Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital on Seven Mile and plans for a state prison as "more than enough" of a burden for the community to bear.

Clerk Susan Heintz reported she had received notification from Laima I. Starwas, director of Community Placement Unit, Wayne Community Living Services, based at Northville Residential Training Center adjacent to the state hospital, that the plans to build a home on a vacant lot on Portis had been withdrawn "due to potential litigation problems regarding the property."

Apparently, the septic field of the house adjacent is on the vacant lot.

"However," Starwas added in the letter to Supervisor John E. MacDonald, "we are pursuing an alternate site and will keep you apprised of any group home development as it pertains to Northville Township."

Gregg W. Davis of 15667 Portis identified himself as the homeowner adjacent to the vacant lot "with the septic tank" and reported he and some of his neighbors as a community group had talked to Starwas. "She understands our position," he said, but he and others noted that the other state facilities and their problems in the township "do not seem to count."

The ad hoc committee reported it had contacted those living near group homes in other communities to see what the impact was.

"I'm not saying all are bad," Davis commented, but most of the experiences related were negative.

Several cited the sexual assault last month on a nine-year-old Avon Township girl by a 20-year-old resident of an adult group home in Oakland Township and expressed fears for the safety of local children.

"Who can we get to talk to the state?" Davis questioned.

Wayne County Commissioner Mary Dumas, who attended the meeting to present the commission's resolution against relocation of the prison on Plymouth Center for Human Development Property, agreed, saying, "The state's doing a double whammy. I think

Enrollment declines

Though enrollment in Northville Public Schools has declined for the ninth consecutive year, this year's unaudited Fourth Friday count reveals the student reduction to be considerably less than in previous years.

Due primarily to an influx of new housing along Eight Mile and Taft roads, this year's student enrollment of 3,328 represents a decline of only 59 students over last year's 3,387.

This year's estimated 1.5 percent decline in student enrollment is far less a reduction than in previous years when enrollment has dropped four or five percent.

Northville Board of Education learned at its meeting Monday that for the first time in almost a decade, enrollment at the kindergarten and junior high level has increased over the previous year's student count.

Though kindergarten enrollment has increased only one student over last year, 29 more students are enrolled in the junior highs this year, bringing the total junior high enrollment count to 940 students in comparison to last year's 911.

Superintendent George Bell had predicted before the start of the 1983-84 school year that enrollment would be more than the district had anticipated in June due to the number of new homes built this summer.

The schools with the greatest number of new students are Moraine and Cooke Junior High.

The unaudited Fourth Friday count for the 1983-84 school year — excluding 32 self contained special education students — shows a minimal increase at the kindergarten level bringing total enrollment to 171 in comparison to last year's 170, a reduction of 66 students at the elementary level with this year's enrollment at 1,237 in comparison to 1,303 last year, an increase of 29 students at the junior high and a decline of 23 students at the high school. This year's high school enrollment is 980 students in comparison to last year's 1,003.

In an outline of teacher-pupil ratios and average class size reports for the K-12 program, Director of Personnel

Holle reflects on Central America

By KEVIN WILSON

Peace in Central America will not be discovered through the barrel of a gun.

That summarizes the message brought home by a group of 14 American Lutheran Church bishops who returned last week from a tour of the region, interviewing a broad range of persons with varying views of Central American conflict.

Bishop Reginald Holle, a Northville resident, was among the 13 district bishops who joined the ALC presiding bishop on a 20-day fact-finding tour of Brazil and Central America.

"We wished to see for ourselves so that our church can make an informed contribution to the debate in our country regarding Central American policy," Holle explained last week.

Intent on drawing its own conclusions from as unbiased a position as possible, the group prepared for its journey over a period of 18 months and as much as possible made its own travel and scheduling plans, Holle explained. The church selected background and reading materials for the bishops to study in preparation for the journey.

Four days were spent in two briefing sessions in Washington, D.C., before the trip. In June, the bishops met with U.S. State Department officials for a briefing on that department's views and met with ambassadors from each of the countries they intended to visit.

Shortly before leaving September 11, they also met with Pentagon officials and received an update from State Department authorities, Holle said.

After 10 days in Brazil, the group traveled to El Salvador, Guatemala, Honduras, Nicaragua and Belize. They divided into teams, Holle explained, with each concentrating on one nation while sending some time in each one. Holle spent much of his time in Nicaragua (five days) and Guatemala.

"Mostly we spoke with leaders of churches, government officials and professionals in the fields of business, economics and social services," Holle explained. "By the time we were through, we were confronted by 1,000 points of view."

Township residents oppose group home

we all ought to say it's not fair."

State Senator R. Robert Geake noted that the "long-standing problem of hospital escapees had gotten no sympathy from our former governor — it was all right to fence Maybury State Park but not the hospital."

"The new governor," he reported, "has been making a good faith effort to understand problems around the state — and there isn't a member of the Legislature who is not aware (of the escapee problem)."

MacDonald told residents that the township has had some success to date in handling the group home applications on a "case by case" basis and cited the proposed group home on Meadowbrook near the hospital as an instance of the state's backing down.

Kathleen Kauffman, a resident of Portis, expressed concern that operation of group homes in the state is "such a big business — I question what the motivation is — they have six approved plans, I understand, by which the federal government gives the builder financial assistance. The builder then is paid by the state for the home."

She said the group had talked to people affected by group homes in Dearborn, Farmington and Livonia and reported they had been warned that five have been sued for harassment by the state.

Senator Geake responded to this and other comments that profits were the encouragement for operating group homes "with minimum wage staffs with little training." He stated that the Legislature is trying to make the operation of group homes less profitable and to limit the number of homes an individual may operate.

He agreed there is a need to improve standards for staffing.

Asked his position on group homes, the senator said that in general he supports the concept but that he has "fought all for Northville Township, which is saturated with institutions."

He pointed out that mental retardation no longer is a committable offense. Those who are both retarded and mentally ill, he said, will be placed in other institutions and mentioned that a building was being redone at Ypsilanti.

Senator Geake said that a tactic that "works" is to contact the owner planning to sell to a group home operation and exert pressure against it.

Ed Dorrington of 15657 Portis, spokesman for the ad hoc committee, related it was formed in the hope of stopping group homes in the township.

He objected to intimidation of the property owner, saying, "that's not where we want to be in America today — I can see how people could be pushed to the brink of taking things into their own hands — who judges who is mentally ill?"

"I'd like to make these points about the township," he said, listing the prisons already located in the township, the critically high percent of runaways and walkaways from the state hospital, the limited police force and the apparent impossibility of providing adequate staffing as major problems.

"The major beneficiaries are those who build and run group homes," he concluded.

Trustee James Nowka expressed concern that the state, in moving group homes into the community, was creating "an industry dealing with human beings — I think the state has dumped its responsibility on the communities — does it (living in group homes) improve life?"

Township resident Merle Hopkins told the board and audience that she formerly worked at the Plymouth Center for Human Development and felt the first placements from it into group homes were all right but warned that many of the center's remaining 86 residents "have really serious behavior problems — they are violent."

Since the state is planning to close the center completely, she said, some will have to go into nursing homes. She said she had been informed on a recent visit to the center that some of the residents "don't want out and have asked to come back."

James Cody, who explained he was a volunteer at the Plymouth center, agreed that there were manageable and unmanageable residents and that "there should be a limit on their exposure."

Statistics that 471 patients at the state hospital had walked away as of September 30 of this year with 45 in September alone were read by trustees, who noted also that two were involved in criminal acts.

Another resident reported that his sister-in-law lives next door to a group home in Livonia and related, "she can't leave the windows open because of the screaming and pounding on the wall."

"They're afraid to let the dog out because residents of the group home have threatened to kill it."

MacDonald praised the research of the ad hoc committee, saying he felt it has information valuable to the township in the future and asked for names of those who would be willing to work further on a committee he plans to appoint.

tificate their views. Our commitment to integrity has resulted in long-standing personal relationships with legislators from both parties and key personnel in all state departments.

"It is that credibility that gives us access to decision makers."

Residents who worked to oppose using the former Wayne County Child Development Center site as a prison in the 1970s give Karoub credit for defeat of the plan. Later, it was agreed that a regional prison, which would be a prototype, would be built at Beck and Five Mile adjacent to the present Phoenix facility and DeHoCo. State officials now plan to abandon the regional prison site at which $1 million already has been spent to bring sewers and water to the facility.

Treasurer Richard Henningsen questioned MacDonald last Thursday about cost to finance the hiring of Karoub. MacDonald replied that the township itself is making "no commitment at this point."

A spokesperson for Concerned Citizens for Western Wayne County said that there is an initial cost of $5,000 to retain the lobbyist firm, and a six-month commitment at $2,000 a month for its services.

New housing curbs enrollment decline

Debra Wangrud told the board that average class size for the district has remained fairly constant with previous years.

In the K-12 program, average class sizes have slightly increased at the kindergarten and junior high level. An average kindergarten class size is 24.4 students — increased from last year's 21.2. At the junior highs, average class size is 28.85 students in comparison to last year's 27.9.

A reduction in class size at the elementary level brings the average to 26.8 students in comparison to 27.1 in 1982-83.

Though the average high school class size of approximately 28 students has remained consistent with previous years, there are some exceptions.

High school principal David Bolitho told the board that some advanced classes have enrollments of 16-20 students with general classes "running much larger."

He said some of the highest enrollments are in English courses where average class size is 30-plus students. He noted in particular that composition courses are holding about 28-32 students per class.

One of the largest classes at the high school this fall is French III with 36 students.

Noting that the large enrollment is "highly unusual" for an advanced language course, Bolitho attributed the class size to "a bumper crop of intelligent and eager French students."

However, he added, that "this is an exception in advanced classes rather than the rule."

When questioned by the board about the large class sizes — particularly in the English department — Bolitho said staff members at the high school preferred the larger class size rather than turning students away.

He also noted that he will be meeting with high school department chairpersons and assistant superintendent Nancy Soper to discuss a reasonable average class size for the high school.

At NHS

Five named semifinalists

Five Northville High School students are among the almost 15,000 high school seniors from across the country named semifinalists by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

NHS students Laurie Cook, Thomas Ducker, Matilda Francoeur, Karen Moore and Scott Werdel were among the highest scorers in last year's PSAT/NMSQT tests which determines the National Merit semifinalists.

Six other NHS students were commended by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation. Those receiving commendation were Maclyn Burns, Heather Davis, Kathy Legner, John Letarte, Jennifer Merrifield and Sharon Savageau.

More than one million students from some 18,000 secondary schools across the country entered the competition last fall by taking the PSAT/NMSQT in their junior year. Those who qualified as semifinalists include the highest scorers in every state and represent the top half of one percent of this year's senior class.

As National Merit semifinalists, students are eligible to become one of approximately 13,500 finalists who will be considered for awards.

However, a limitation of funds permit the National Merit Scholarship Corporation to offer Merit Scholarships to only about 40 percent of the finalists.

Of the awards provided to finalists, approximately 1,800 students will receive National Merit $1,000 scholarships allocated on a state representational basis.

Base Line parking stopped

Reacting to problems reported by city police, Northville City Council October 10 passed a traffic control order designating a portion of Baseline Road as no parking area.

Police Chief Rodney Cannon told council traffic flow is being inhibited on that stretch of Baseline which runs north and south on the east side of the city.

The road passes over a bridge and links that section of Baseline connecting with Griswold and Eight Mile to the stretch where Parmenter's Northville Cider Mill sits, he said.

During busy weekends at the cider mill, Cannon said, traffic control through the area is hampered by cars at the side of the road.

The order approved unanimously by council takes effect when proper signs are placed along the road.

Tops 65 candidates

'Jef' Farland named director

By B.J. MARTIN

First of all, his name is John E. Farland, and his nickname "Jef" comes from his initials.

Get used to the name. If he has his way, he'll be an important part of Northville's leisure time in the years to come.

He is, of course, Northville's new Recreation Director, officially hired as of Wednesday of last week by the unanimous vote of the Northville Recreation Commission. He was introduced to the township board of trustees Thursday and will meet the Northville City Council next week.

His first day of work will be on the unlikely Monday that ends this month—Halloween.

Farland's eventual selection from a field of 65 candidates for the job ended months of speculation over whom the city would hire to replace Ed Kritz, who resigned as director last summer. Program supervisor Pete Talbot had expressed interest in the post, and until October 31 Talbot will continue to serve as interim director.

Following interviews before the Recreation Commission two weeks ago, Farland was offered the post.

Who is Farland, and why did the commission choose to hire the 32-year-old away from the Farmington Hills Recreation Department?

One clue is his enthusiasm for the possibilities of the job, which do not seem limited by past expectations.

"There's a good base here," he declared. "There's a good chance to ex-

'There's a good base here. There's a good chance to expand ... I'm giving thought to a community band, chorus, dance and theatre programs ...'

John E. Farland

Farland knows the area rather well. He lived in Northville on Clement Road for two and a half years. He now lives in Salem Township, has his house up for sale, and is actively seeking a new home in Northville.

He has ties to the parks and recreation network in the state. He is second vice-president of the Michigan Recreation and Parks Association, and has discussed the possibility of seeking the presidency of the organization.

More background: Farland earned a B.S. in Parks and Recreation Resources at Michigan State University in 1974 and earned a Master's from North Carolina State in 1976.

In continuing education, Farland has studied revenue sources management and fine arts management at NC State. The revenue sources management appears to qualify him well for the Northville job, but his interest in the fine arts may have the most expansive effect on the long-term status of recreation in the city and township.

"I'll have to wait till I get into a closer working relationship with Pete," Farland said Monday, "but I've already been approached about trying to organize a community band. I'm also giving thought to a community chorus, dance programs, expansion of adult activities, craft programs, dinner theater..."

His management of the San Marino golf course on Halstead north of Grand River in Farmington Hills was another important factor in his hiring. Since he will directly supervise the care and operations of the Recreation Department building, Farland's experience in managing the nine-hole course and its clubhouse should prove handy.

Farland's wife, Dale, is currently planning director for the city of Westland. Farland pointed out, in this relationship, "We're familiar with the workings of municipal government." Farland likes to ski both downhill and cross-country, and he describes himself as "an avid golfer."

He will be a familiar face to many even before he takes office as, during the time before the 31st, he will shuttle in and out to study aspects of the department's present administration.

Petitions presented to Pursell's Plymouth office

In an effort to persuade Second District U.S. Congressman Carl Pursell to return to his earlier position opposing the MX missile, a coalition of citizens groups in the district presented 10,000 petition signatures at his Plymouth district office October 14. Pursell was not present.

The Second District Emergency Campaign to Stop the MX gathered petitions signatures in Northville, Livonia, Plymouth, Ann Arbor, Jackson, Adrian and Hillsdale in anticipation of the upcoming vote on the 1983 Defense Appropriations bill. The defense bill was delayed several times by House leadership to allow more time for debate.

Pursell, who sits on the House Appropriations Committee, has stated he will vote for the MX missile in order to give President Reagan the "bargaining chip" the administration says the missile represents.

In previous votes on the MX issue, Pursell has opposed the missile.

The coalition hoping to persuade Pursell to return to that position had a model MX missile on display in front of his office and released 70 helium balloons from the missile, each representing $1 million of the cost organizers said would be derived from Second District tax dollars to fund the $27 billion missile program.

New troop forms in area

Scouts provide community service

By B.J. MARTIN

To most, Boy Scouting retains its timeless image of merit badges, three-finger salutes, khaki uniforms and camping trips. It's a positive image, of course — but the organization has always been something more than "keeping the kids off the street and out of trouble."

The organization for a long time actually tried to emphasize that aspect of its existence. Remember those old TV commercials with the old guy walking home at night and hearing footsteps behind him? He works himself into a panicky sweat, then just before the commercial ends the two shadowy figures step into the light and are revealed in their Boy Scout uniforms.

But an often-overlooked facet of the Boy Scouts is the organization's most durable contribution to the country, state and local community: service.

The Northville community has benefited significantly from the civic projects of Troop 755, and will likely get an influx of benefits as the members of newly-formed Troop 903, which is now actively seeking new members for its Monday meetings at Winchester Elementary School, grow into higher, more service-oriented ranks.

Clearing playground areas, checking soil erosion, and preserving the appearance of a historic cemetery are among local scouts' service projects.

"For the most part, we're formed out of guys who were formerly in Cub Scout Pack 903 at Winchester," said Scoutmaster Ed Gesdorf. "We're hoping to get the word out and encourage boys to give it a try."

One of the ways such projects are focused in concept and execution is as part of an individual scout's Eagle Scout project.

The project, required for scouting's highest award, is to be administered by the Eagle Scout candidate himself. He must conceptualize the idea, handle organization and paperwork chores, and manage volunteer workers (fellow

City, DPW forge agreement on wage freeze and benefits

A new labor contract with AFSCME Local 2720, representing eight DPW employees, was ratified by city council last week.

The one-year agreement includes a wage freeze through June 30, 1984, additional sick day accumulation and extended recall rights, city manager Steven Walters told council.

Other changes from the present contract are specified rules regarding break time on the job and city agreement to replace winter work clothes when necessary as indicated by the DPW superintendent.

The rest of the contract is essentially identical to one ratified last November, Walters noted. At that time, paid holidays were reduced from 14 to 11, there was a one-time lump sum bonus of $950 per employee and a five percent wage increase implemented January 3, 1983.

City mayor Paul Vernon called "commendable" the AFSCME local's agreement to a wage freeze in response to the city's fiscal difficulties stemming from cuts in race track-derived revenues.

Walters said city negotiators had proposed an extension of the earlier contract until a clearer picture of the city's finances emerged, "but they decided they'd rather have a contract with the wage freeze so we have a new contract."

Under the new agreement, sick days may be accumulated up to 150 days, with 50 percent of those up to 120 being paid upon retirement. Should an employee resign after 10 years' service, 25 percent of sick days up to 120 will be paid. The previous limit was of 120 day accumulation.

Under earlier agreements, city workers who were laid off had recall rights for a period calculated as 10 percent of their accumulated seniority when laid off. Thus a worker with 10 years' seniority had one year of recall rights. The new pact extends that period to 25 percent of the seniority level, thus the hypothetical employee has recall rights for 2.5 years.

Should the city choose to add DPW employees during the recall period, it must first offer the jobs to those laid off who retain recall rights before hiring workers new to the city payroll.

The Rottenness of Routine

Dr. James Luther

Years ago a book appeared called "The Tyranny of the Urgent." Its relevance was found in the fact that many wanted to read it — but could not find the time!

How about the rottenness of routine? After preparing so long for that job, your marriage, or some goal in life, the euphoria turns to dreaded dullness. Your service for Christ can be drained of the joy that God desires to give them who serve Him. What to do?

First, remember that God is Sovereign. There are no accidents with Him. Enjoy yourself wherever you are. You're there for a reason; expect God to use and bless you.

Second, realize that every situation is different. If you are sharing your faith, don't allow the fact that you have said these words before detract from the way you share it now. The repetition of an act of love or duty can remind us that life consists of faithfulness. We do not achieve success or find happiness. We stumble over them on the path of duty.

Finally, remind yourself that you are unique and special to God. Look for ways to use the specific gifts and abilities He has given you. If you are presently doing this, try to maximize your usefulness. There is something that you can do better than anyone else in the world!

May the rottenness of the routine turn into the glory of the grime.

Area walnut trees offer nut harvest

Not surprisingly, the abundance of trees in our community, especially in older sections of the city, offers a special autumn yield of nuts. Martha and August Wicke were collecting walnuts on their property at South Wing and Fairbrook when photographer Steve Fecht saw them Monday. The large green nuts aren't popular with everyone, however. Motorists have complained they create slippery conditions on Rogers and other streets lined with the old trees.

Your Photos by Wayne Loder Display Your Photo Treasures

Photos should be enlarged for display on your walls. Keep track of your good shots with a filing system of some kind and look for enlargement specials at your favorite camera store.

Use a wall without windows for your pictures. A plain colored wall with directional lighting is best.

Choose either a unified theme for your arrangement or a variety of subjects. An interesting display may have prints in several sizes, grouped according to beauty, color or even sharpness. Lay your prints or slides out on a table and try different arrangements. Pictures clumped in an almost-symmetrical arrangement will work well, but avoid a static, military display. Sketch out your final layout on paper with some identification of shots.

Last, choose your frames. For a display to look planned, choose frames that are all of the same type. For a more informal look, mix different styles of frames. Clear plastic box frames or glass panes with brackets are attractive and versatile for any grouping.

The final step: Hang your pictures and invite your friends in for a viewing. You've done it! For help in planning those enlargements, see us at f-stop, 43220 Grand River, Novi, 348-9355.

School board approves general fund budget for '83-'84 year

By MICHELE McELMURRY

An $11.4 million general fund budget for the Northville Public Schools' K-12 program was adopted Monday night by the Northville Board of Education for the 1983-84 school year.

In addition to the general fund budget for the K-12 program, the board also approved a $4.3 million budget for the Institution Special Education Program, ISEP Title I and the Wayne County Center Program, a $2.1 million debt retirement funds budget and — for the first time — a cafeteria fund budget of approximately $300,000.

In outlining the budget to the board, Director of Business and Finance John Street noted that both revenue and expense estimates have increased from the budget the board adopted in June.

The board of education is required by law to adopt a preliminary budget by June 30. Final budget adoption is required by November 1.

Street told the board that while revenue has increased by about $24,000 since June, the district still is anticipating an operating deficit of $760,000.

The board decided in June to levy the maximum authorized 32.9 mills and use an estimated $780,000 of the district's $1.4 million fund equity to offset its operating deficit.

The operating deficit facing the district in this school year mostly is due to a 4.4 percent or $439,000 decrease in the State Equalized Value (SEV) coupled with increased operating costs.

Of the total $10.7 million in revenue, 94 percent or $10.2 million is generated from local sources — primarily property taxes which bring in an estimated $9.9 million. Tuition and other local sources make up the difference.

In comparison, this year's state revenue allocation is estimated at $93,000 with intermediate revenue bringing in $240,000.

In a review of the district's audit at the board's September 26 meeting, Plante and Moran explained that since the district has been out-of-formula for several years, it no longer is receiving membership aid from the state.

In 1978, when the district was still in-formula, approximately 15-20 percent of the general fund budget revenue came from state aid.

The estimated $11.4 million in expenditures reflects an approximate $200,000 increase over the district's June projection of $11.2 million.

Street told the board that additional expenditures are due in part to the net increase of approximately $25,000 in teaching salaries due to the addition of budgeted positions. He noted that an Adult Education salary — which was to be directly paid by Garden City Schools — now is paid by Northville Public Schools and partially reimbursed by Garden City.

Clerical salary at the high school also has increased due to the addition of a job placement secretary and transportation, maintenance and food service salaries were increased as a result of a recent contract settlement.

In reviewing other changes, Street noted that fringe benefits have changed due to an increase in retirement, following salary increases and an increase in worker's compensation.

The $4.3 million budget adopted for the Institution Special Education Program is paid for with intermediate and state sources. No local monies are used to subsidize the program.

In adopting a cafeteria budget for the first time, Street told the board that the biggest unknown is the participation in the food service program.

He noted that in September, hot lunch sales increased slightly in volume and milk sale volume rose 30 percent — mostly due to the preparation of elementary meals inhouse and the introduction of chocolate milk.

He pointed out that the budgeted expense of the cafeteria fund has been based on operations from the 1982-83 school year. Street noted that expenditure increases are due in part to salary adjustments based on recent contract settlements.

Other increases are due to the slight increase in food purchases to account for a moderate price increase. However, the increase has been offset to some degree by the internal preparation of elementary lunches at a lower cost.

On the revenue side, Street mentioned that food sales have increased by about 15 percent — mostly due to a 20 percent price hike for hot lunches and a 10 percent increase in a la carte items.

Milk sales also have increased by 44 percent due to a 25 percent price increase coupled with a 15 percent increase in sales.

In approving adoption of the cafeteria budget, the board expressed concern about the fund's present $46,000 deficit.

During its September audit review, the board was advised to adopt a definite policy for deleting the cafeteria deficit.

Auditors Plante and Moran suggested the district either transfer the accumulated deficit to the general fund and write off the related interfund balance or take whatever steps are necessary to make the cafeteria fund a self-sufficient operating fund on approximately a break-even basis.

The board decided Monday to refer the cafeteria fund deficit to its finance subcommittee, which in turn will make a recommendation to board for alleviating the present debt.

Holle shares views of Central America visit

Peace in Central America will not be discovered through the barrel of a gun.

That summarizes the message brought home by a group of 14 American Lutheran Church bishops who returned last week from a tour of the region, interviewing a broad range of persons with varying views of Central American conflict.

Bishop Reginald Holle, a Springfield Court resident, was among the 13 district bishops who joined the ALC presiding bishop on a 20-day fact-finding tour of Brazil and Central America.

"We wished to see for ourselves so that our church can make an informed contribution to the debate in our country regarding Central American policy," Holle explained last week.

Intent on drawing its own conclusions from as unbiased a position as possible, the group prepared for its journey over a period of 18 months and somehow as possible made its own travel and scheduling plans, Holle explained. The church selected background and reading materials for the bishops to study in preparation for the journey.

Four days were spent in two briefing sessions in Washington, D.C., before the trip. In June, the bishops met with U.S. State Department officials for a briefing on that department's views and met with ambassadors from each of the countries they intended to visit.

Shortly before leaving September 11, they also met with Pentagon officials and received an update from State Department authorities, Holle said.

After 10 days in Brazil, the group traveled to El Salvador, Guatemala, Honduras, Nicaragua and Belize. They divided into teams, Holle explained, with each concentrating on one nation while sending some time in each one. Holle spent much of his time in Nicaragua (five days) and Guatemala.

While in Central America, the group met with five Roman Catholic bishops in the region, contacted the U.S. embassy in each nation and met with government and revolutionary figures. "We tried to be as free as possible from people with programmed views," he continued. "We obviously spoke to government figures who presented everything in their own favor, but we also spoke with opposition figures who had different biases."

Principal conclusions included in a statement Holle had prepared for approval of the general assembly of ALC bishops meeting this week in Columbus, Ohio, contradict current American policy in the region.

"The root problem is the injustice worked on the many poor people by the few rich people," read the statement. "The unrest in Central American countries cannot be settled by military means. The possibility of rising out of poverty and the claiming of full human and civil rights are necessary preconditions to peace."

Contrary to frequent statements, Holle said, the group found Central America rich in natural resources that could provide for a prosperous society in which the poor could be lifted from oppression.

"While we saw many poor people, I was personally surprised not to see as much hunger or starvation as I had expected," Holle said. "Where people are hungry, it is often because of the conflicts. We saw in Guatemala large fields that had been burned by the government or by revolutionary forces, so people are hungry.

"The issues there are not East-West at all. They are North-South."

— Bishop Holle

"One of the most touching sights was to see these small flags posted over a corn field or a farmer's little house," he continued. "They were there to tell the government 'here is a loyal citizen, please do not burn my crop.'"

The poverty issue is often obscured, Holle said, in the current climate in which nations outside the region, including the U.S., have turned Central America into an East-West battleground.

"The issues there are not East-West at all," he said. "They are North-South, rich-poor, developed-underdeveloped."

The church is advocating negotiations, fully aware, Holle said, that the region lacks a history in which two points of view may coincide. "The absence of a history of democratic practices, of peaceful changes of government, of loyal political opposition able to dissent without fear makes solutions very difficult."

Fear is a major factor in the lives of people in Central America, the group found, with military rule, internal and external warfare, kidnappings and disappearances, summary executions and threats everyday occurrences.

As examples of the problems faced, Holle noted that a church-supported hospital has ceased a training program for paramedics in Guatemala since those members of the indigent population who have received the training mysteriously disappeared.

"They aren't really sure whether the people were kidnapped or taken into the armed forces," Holle said. "In any case, they all disappeared so the training was stopped."

Only in Salvador, where he spent only one day, did Holle feel fearful, he said. It was obvious, he said, that the bishops' luggage had been thoroughly searched and there was a threatening atmosphere.

In Guatemala, the group was awakened daily to the sound of small arms and mortar fire. "It was explained to us, though, that that was one of the army's ways of making sure the people knew they were there — they were just shooting into the air to announce their presence."

Censorship in several Central American nations makes clear the absence of an opportunity to dissent from government policy without grave consequences, Holle said.

The editor of a Guatemala City newspaper was kidnapped the evening of October 8, when the bishops were in the city, though they did not learn of the incident until they returned October 11.

The ALC Church Council, according to Holle's statement, will continue to back June resolutions sent to President Reagan calling for the U.S. to end both covert and overt activity to destabilize the Sandinista regime in Nicaragua; support resolution through non-military means, increase economic aid to those countries where human rights performance records are acceptable and grant legal asylum to refugees from the region.

With particular regard to Nicaragua, where the U.S. is actively involved in opposition to the present government which it claims is in danger of becoming a Cuban/Soviet satellite nation, Holle said the bishops found conditions for the poor are much better under the present government than under the former Somoza regime. "Life under former dictator Somoza was unbelievably bad for the vast majority — poor, middle class and rich all joined in his overthrow."

U.S. support for the Contras who wish to overthrow the Sandinista government will not lead to peace, Holle argued.

"Our military presence will only lead to continued deaths and a hardening of positions," he said. As to Soviet or Cuban military presence, Holle said the bishops saw none, while acknowledging it may have been hidden.

"We did see economic presence — fertilizer from East Germany and the Soviet Union for instance, instructors in the literacy program from Cuba, but we also saw similar involvement by U.S. citizens."

The Contras, the document Holle prepared states, do not represent an alternative democratic Nicaragua nor is the country by itself a threat to the U.S.

While noting division within the country regarding the Sandinista government, Holle and the document paint a picture of the country as one where the potential for genuine improvement in the lives of the majority is possible.

The bishops call for a U.S. policy that would remove all outside military involvement in and around Nicaragua.

"What is needed is a regional solution," said Holle. "At least in some of the countries, life is very cheap right now."

"The great disparity between rich and poor is one of the biggest impressions one gathers — there is no middle class. For those of us who've grown up in the states, we're not used to that. Where there's no middle class, there is oppression."

Pedestrian accident kills resident

Green Oak Township police are investigating a pedestrian-auto mishap that claimed the life of a 30-year-old Northville woman Friday night along Nine Mile Road.

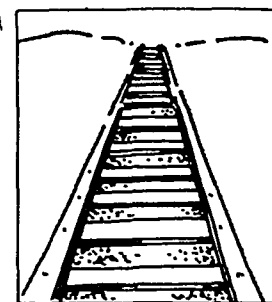

Police said Cynthia Jameyfield was walking eastbound along Nine Mile around 10:30 p.m. Friday when she was struck by a van driven by 35-year-old Ronald Tyrer of South Lyon. No charges were filed against the driver.

Police are withholding further information on the accident pending a complete investigation. They are looking for witnesses who might have seen the victim prior to the fatal accident. If you have information, contact the Green Oak police department at 1-800-462-8751.

'Powell reveals 'girl next door' at Town Hall opener

By MICHELE McELMURRY

After almost a decade away from the public eye, actress Jane Powell has returned to the stage to reveal the woman behind "the girl next door" — an image which prevailed throughout her career at Metro Goldwyn Mayer studios.

Opening Northville Town Hall's 23rd season last Wednesday, Powell spoke candidly about her four marriages, her return to the stage after losing her singing voice and her early life as one of Hollywood's child stars.

In only her third speaking engagement since returning to the lecture circuit, Powell told her story through words and music — delighting the capacity crowd at Plymouth Hilton Inn with songs from some of MGM's best-known musicals.

At 54, Powell has spent 40 years entertaining audiences through her films, stage appearances and lectures.

"Leaving the studio was one of the hardest times in my life. It was hard not being wanted."

— Jane Powell

Originally from Portland, Oregon, she began her career with MGM at the age of 14, starring in her first movie role with W.C. Fields.

She told her audience that though she was an only child, she acquired many surrogate siblings upon her arrival in Hollywood.

"I used to spend Sundays at Roddy McDowell's house," she says of her lifelong friend. She notes her constant companions during her early years in Hollywood were other child stars such as Elizabeth Taylor, Ann Blythe and Ricardo Montalban.

"I never felt that I belonged there (Hollywood)," Powell says of her childhood in Hollywood. "We all felt like outcasts."

However, she points out that the friendships that developed during those early years have remained constant.

"When I was younger, oh, how I wanted to be like Elizabeth Taylor," she confides.

"Elizabeth was bridesmaid at my first wedding," she notes, "and I was a bridesmaid at her first wedding."

"I'm glad we stopped that bridesmaid stuff or it would have become a full-time job."

With her slight five-foot, one-inch frame, fair complexion and soprano voice, Powell says she was typecast as "the girl next door" from the time she arrived at MGM until she left at the age of 25.

She notes that the "all-American girl" image not only prevailed in the movies — but offscreen as well.

"I always wanted to be liked," she says, "...by everybody."

Reminiscing about Hollywood's "golden days," Powell told her audience of the time Clark Gable introduced himself during lunch in the MGM commissary.

"I just sat there with my mouth open," she reflects, "I'd forgotten his name."

Powell also spoke favorably of studio head Louis B. Mayer.

"He was very fatherly to me," she says. "He was not the ogre everybody made him out to be."

At 21, Powell married Sonja Henie's skating partner, Gary Steffen. The marriage didn't last and Powell eventually remarried — three times.

"I'm not proud of my four marriages," Powell told the audience. "In fact, I'm embarrassed about it."

"However, I get along well with all of my ex's."

She notes that when she married Steffen, her parents divorced.

She says that while she and her mother had been very close during her childhood, her first marriage seemed to bring an end to their friendship.

"I think my mother is jealous of me," she told the audience at the luncheon following her talk. Noting that her mother had in many ways been her best friend, she says the strain on their relationship for the past 30 years has been one of her most difficult dilemmas.

At 25, after four years of marriage and the birth of two of her three children, Powell left Metro Goldwyn Mayer.

"Leaving the studio was one of the hardest times in my life," Powell relates. "It was hard not being wanted."

Typecast in musicals for more than a decade, she says she realized the studio only wanted her "to sing, not walk and talk."

Though a movie veteran at 25 — having starred in 20 musicals for MGM — Powell never had worked on the stage.

After years away from the movie business, Powell made her New York stage debut in "Irene," and has starred in several stage productions such as "South Pacific," "I Do, I Do" and "The Sound of Music" since that time.

Powell relates that a few years ago while on tour, she began to lose her singing voice.

"I thought my God-given gift would last forever," she notes, "and suddenly I couldn't hit the high notes."

"At that point I stopped singing and found a few parts in straight plays."

Powell says that in addition to her four failed marriages and loss of her singing voice, she also has had to deal with the trauma of her son's drug problem.

Speaking candidly about her only son, she describes him as "a very angry young man" who began using drugs at 14.

Now 32 and apparently doing better, Powell told her audience of the years she spent trying to help him with his problem — seeking out counseling and guidance.

However, "there was nowhere to take him at that time," she says.

Powell emphasizes that her son's drug problem was "not a family problem." She says her two daughters never were impacted and are leading successful lives.

Powell explains that the one-hour show presented to Town Hall goes on originated a year and a half ago when she decided she wanted to write her own material.

"A year ago last March I started keeping a diary," she says. "I kept it for four months."

She notes that much of the material for her show was written from the diary. She also notes that she met a director at about the same time and the two of them started putting a show together. She also found another voice teacher and has regained much of the singing voice which made her an MGM star.

Powell told the Town Hall audience that in addition to her comeback on the lecture circuit, she also is enjoying time spent with friends and family.

"I never really had time for relationships before," Powell admits. "I was always working too hard."

Though currently single, Powell says she has had a relationship with fellow child star Dickie Moore for the past three years.

She notes that she met Moore for the first time three years ago through mutual friend Roddy McDowell who had suggested they all get together to help Moore with the book he is writing about former Hollywood child stars.

Powell notes that Moore's book is expected to be published sometime next year. It is tentatively titled, "The Kids on the Block," and focuses on stars such as Judy Garland, Mickey Rooney, Elizabeth Taylor, Roddy McDowell — and Jane Powell.

The next Town Hall celebrity guest will be Judith Keith, author of "I Haven't A Thing to Wear," president of a publishing firm, former public relations consultant, newspaper editor and actress. Keith's appearance will be November 10, followed by violinist Herbert Baumele March 8, 1984.

Town Hall ticket holders should note that astronaut James Lovell's appearance has been rescheduled for Tuesday, April 10, 1984.

Northville Shores groundbreaking held

Construction has begun on a new 8,000 square foot professional office structure of hexagon design on Griswold Road, directly on the north shore of Lake Success.

Groundbreaking ceremonies for the Northville Shores Office Center were October 4. The building, on property owned by Jack Doheny, will provide lease space for professional offices.

It will occupy previously undeveloped property often frequented by trespassers, who illegally dove into and swam in Lake Success — formed during

"This is the kind of attractive development we hoped for."

— Mayor Paul Vernon

gravel mining operations and considered too dangerous for swimming. Both Doheny and city officials expressed hope that the new building would help eliminate the problem.

The building was designed by the DeMattia & Associates architectural staff and incorporates a central skylight for the atrium. Construction manager is the R.A. DeMattia Company which is responsible for design, engineering and construction, which is to be completed in December.

The building incorporates a private lake view from each office and a surrounding wood deck to complement the scenic location.

"We've been watching this spot for a long time," Mayor Paul Vernon said at the groundbreaking. "This is the kind of attractive development we hoped for."

The building will be visible from Griswold, just within the city boundaries and will present an attractive entrance to the community. City council amended zoning laws to allow construction of the office building on this site, which carries an industrial zoning.

Newcomer wins at Lapham's

Steven Allrich, a newcomer to the community, was the first winner in the 10-day Wheel of Fortune Sale being conducted for the third year by Lapham's Men's Shop at 120 East Main.

"He won on the first day of the sale — and won big," reported Charles Lapham, relating that Allrich had purchased a $234 topcoat to qualify for the Wheel of Fortune spin which came up a 100 percent win, making the topcoat a free gift.

Lapham said he expected there would be two or three more winners during the sale, based on previous years' experience. Purchasers receive an opportunity to spin the Wheel of Fortune in the store and receive discounts ranging from five to 100 percent.

This year, he said, neighboring Genitti's Hole in the Wall Restaurant is joining in the Wheel of Fortune Sale by giving a chance for free dinners to five percent winners.

Lapham also reported the store had its busiest day in its history Saturday with customers having to wait to be fitted. Lapham said purchasers were patient and seemed to enjoy the store's cheese and wine hospitality.

The Wheel of Fortune Sale ends at 6 p.m. Saturday.

OBITUARIES

HAROLD E. EDWARDS SR.

Harold E. Edwards Sr., owner of Blue Grass Farms and one-time Sod King of Michigan, died October 14 at his home at 23925 Currie Road. He was 62.

Mr. Edwards also owned and trained Stanislaus, a former winner of the Michigan Mile.

In addition to landscaping most of the early expressways around Detroit, Blue Grass Farms developed three golf courses — Bob-O-Link in Cleveland, Dunn Rovin in Northville and Pebble Creek in South Lyon.

Mr. Edwards was born March 10, 1921, in Michigan to William and Gertrude (Cook) Edwards and married Frances Uradzioek, who survives him.

He also leaves four sons and daughters, Catherine, Harold Jr. and Pennyanne; three step-children, Craig, Paul and Susan; a brother and sister; 12 grandchildren; and five great-grandchildren.

Funeral service was held at 11 a.m. Tuesday at Ross B. Northrop and Son Funeral Home in Northville. The Reverend Robert Doorn and Dr. James Reid of Christian Fellowship Church in Brighton officiated at the service.

The family suggests that memorial tributes may be sent to Cancer Care in care of Dr. Reid.

CHARLES FRANCIS KING

Funeral service for former Northville resident Charles Francis King, 75, was held October 14 at the Wesley United Methodist Church in Niles. The Reverend Charles F. King officiated at his father's funeral and burial was at Silverbrook Cemetery in Niles.

Mr. King had lived in Northville for 15 years before moving to Niles where he owned Kwik Print.

Born in East St. Louis, Illinois, June 5, 1908, to Charles and Anne (Evans) King, he died in Niles October 12 after a brief illness. He was a member of the Ancient Accepted Scottish Rite and Moslem Temple in Detroit. He also was a member of Grand Lodge 437 F & AM of Ohio and the Niles Optimist Club.

Mr. King is survived by his wife Ruby, whom he married in 1974.

Other survivors include his son the Reverend Charles F. King of Appleton, Wisconsin, and his daughter Mrs.

Marianne Lepezyk of Lansing. Six grandchildren also survive. Arrangements were made by Pifer-Smith Funeral Home.

EMILY WOODROFFE

Funeral service for former Northville resident Emily K. Woodroffe was held October 13 at Casterline Funeral Home. Dr. Lawrence Chamberlain of First Presbyterian Church officiated with members of Northville Lodge 186 F & AM serving as pallbearers. Burial was at Oakland Hills Memorial Gardens in Novi.

Mrs. Woodroffe died October 10 at Camelot Nursing Home in Livonia. She was 98.

Born in London, England, July 26, 1885, she lived in Northville from 1942-61. She was a homemaker and member of the First Presbyterian Church of Northville and Orient Star No. 77 O.E.S. She was preceded in death by her husband Percy in 1969.

Mrs. Woodroffe is survived by her daughter Elsie Woodroffe of Livonia.

An Eastern Star service was held October 12 at Casterline Funeral Home.

LOCK E. KOONTZ

Funeral service for former Northville resident Lock E. Koontz, 91, was held in Alpena Tuesday.

Mr. Koontz, a long-time Northville resident, moved to Alpena in 1976. He died at his home there October 16.

A retired inspector for American Motors, he was born November 25, 1891, in Newark, Ohio, to George M. and Elizabeth (Lock) Koontz. He married Nellie Hill August 11, 1917, in Detroit. She preceded him in death in 1978.

Mr. Koontz leaves three sons George of Alpena, William of Northville and Richard of Chicago; eight grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

He was a member of United Brethren Church.

Funeral services were held at 8 p.m. Tuesday at Bannan Funeral Home in Alpena with the Reverend Jacob Ehman officiating. Burial was to be in Wilson Cemetery in Newark, Ohio.

The family suggests memorial tributes may be made to the Gideon Bible Society in care of Bannan Funeral Home, 222 South Second Avenue, Alpena, MI, 49707.

TRAVEL TALK: Dwight Sieggren,

FISH clothing available

While the clothes closet operated by FISH has been closed, FISH still is taking calls for clothing needs on an emergency basis, Rita Byrd reports. The telephone number is 349-4350.

She says the emergency help organization is hoping to open the closet again in a new location by October.

The closet previously had been located in the basement of First Presbyterian Church, but the church needed the space for its programs.

NHS offers PSAT test

Northville High School sophomores and juniors wishing to take the Preliminary Student Achievement Test may register at the high school counseling office and pay the $4.50 fee.

The PSATs will be given at 10 a.m. Saturday at the high school.

Police Blotters

Police arrest patient

In the township...

Northville Township Police are filing a warrant request against a Northville State Hospital patient for possession of stolen property in connection with a bicycle theft October 10.

According to the police report, the subject was found in possession of a girl's Murray 10-speed bicycle at about 10:30 a.m. October 10 on Smock, one block west of Pierson.

Township police were dispatched to the area to check on a suspicious black male subject walking northbound on Pierson.

The township officer checked Pierson for the described subject to no avail and then proceeded to Smock where he observed a black male fitting the suspect's description.

The officer identified the subject as a Northville State Hospital patient from his I.D. bracelet and grounds' pass. The subject told the officer he owned the bicycle and was on his way home — to Detroit.

The subject told the officer he found the bike but could not remember where he found it.

The officer placed the suspect under arrest for larceny and took him into custody. The bicycle was confiscated and entered into the Law Enforcement Information Network.

At the station, the subject told police he took the bicycle from behind an unknown residence.

The subject was lodged at the township police station pending release to a state hospital officer. At approximately 12:40 p.m., the subject was turned over to a hospital security officer.

The bicycle was returned to its owner following a check on a stolen bicycle report filed the same day.

... In the city

Evidence of a breaking and entering of a Randolph Street residence and accompanying guest house was discovered Sunday. It is uncertain when the break-in took place, and whether anything was taken from the house.

Police were alerted to evidence of the break-in by a Northville resident who showed police where four large cement blocks had been stacked at the corner of the building, permitting access to an upstairs window discovered to be broken.

Another window to the house was also broken and the window pane of a guest house on the property was also discovered broken.

City police were called upon to return an escapee from Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital to the hospital after a resident reported a "suspicious person" loitering near the corner of South Main and Beal about 2:15 p.m. Sunday.

Our Opinion

Immediate vote flaws decision

Regardless of our thoughts regarding city council's decision last week on the transfer of James Rea's liquor license, we could wish the vote had been handled differently.

Despite 90 minutes of discussion, the council vote came rather swiftly and with little evidence that the key issue — whether or not a dance permit would be acceptable at Rea's new establishment — had received careful consideration.

The incident points up a procedural flaw in the way council handles its public hearings, particularly on controversial issues. While many governments, including the township board, conduct public hearings separately from business meetings, city council handles the hearings as agenda items during regular sessions.

The advantage of the technique of having separate meetings is that members of the governing body making the decision do not feel obligated to hand down a decision immediately following a heated discussion on an issue. Granted, they can sometimes choose that option, but more frequently the decisions come some time later, after a reasonable "cooling off" period following the hearing.

An immediate vote often results in an "off the cliff" decision — and not necessarily a good one — while delay offers opportunity for discussion and coming to a consensus based on the thinking and input from the entire body.

Had the liquor license hearing been conducted in such a manner, it would have been scheduled up to one hour before the regular monthly meeting. The 100 or more people who attended would have been heard before council even began its business meeting, and would not have had to sit through approval of minutes, payment of bills, and department reports before having their say on the issue which attracted them to city hall.

Then the council would have had those routine items to handle before coming to the transfer issue. There might have been a break prior to calling the regular meeting. The hearing might even have been called a week or so earlier, giving council members a few days to consider the evidence presented.

There were those present at the council session who said they expected Rea's attorney to request that the matter be tabled when it became evident the mood of council was swinging away from his client's interests. Council itself could have tabled the issue, however, and taken the time to think the matter over. There had been no formal discussion of the dance permit issue until the last minute and while there were many feelings expressed about it, no council member could tell you today he or she possessed any hard evidence that a liquor licensed establishment creates more problems if it has a dance permit attached.

Council, it appeared from our perspective, reacted to statements almost as soon as they were made rather than considering the overall issue. The issue was transfer of a liquor license onto North Center Street — council was to determine whether such a move would be a good or a bad one for the community as a whole. We do not see where the presence or absence of a dance permit is significant enough to be the deciding factor, particularly from the evidence at hand when council made its determination.

There are council members who will argue that the dance permit itself was not so important as was Rea's refusal to cooperate with an evident desire of council. There is in this an overtone of coercion — do it our way or don't do it. But there is also a certain temporary blindness involved. Councilmembers repeatedly stated that their determination must be based what they felt was best for the community, while keeping in mind that there would be no guarantees that Mr. Rea would either conduct the kind of business he proposed or that he would not soon thereafter sell it to someone else.

The major point to be decided, then, was whether or not it would be better for the city at large to have the liquor license relocated to North Center and to have the Winner's Circle abandoned. It is difficult to see what was gained by the refusal. If, in fact, council's reasons for the decision were based on solid evidence that a liquor license relocation would only be an improvement if it did not have a dance permit attached, the point was not proven during the debate. Had council not acted immediately, we believe, it might have given these points more careful consideration. Had the transfer still been refused, we think council would have been better prepared to explain its action clearly.

As events actually transpired, the rejection of Rea's license transfer seemed almost arbitrary. We hope the issue is considered once more in some form and, if the decision reached is the same, we would like to see the reasons offered conform more strictly to factual evidence presented during the debate.

Confessions of an occupant

I get mail...

Reading recently about how zip codes provide market experts an exact way to direct advertising promotions (i.e., Club Med brochures are sent to Bloomfield Hills and not, say, to Inkster), I noticed the kind of "Dear Occupant" mail I get at 48167 is considerably different from the kind I got when living off-campus near the University of Missouri.

Obviously, anyone with a college-town zip code and an apartment number in his address is likely a student whose spending priorities are textbooks and beer, not necessarily in that order, and precious little else.

But here, it's a different story. In a community where everyone on the youth soccer team I coach drives a better car than I do, I get all kinds of mail I never heretofore dreamed about receiving.

At home I get a lot of those cute little mail-order catalogues. Some people dismiss this literature as "junk mail," but to me, it serves a very important purpose — it restores my faith in America's initiative, savvy and enterprise. Somewhere, some way, somebody had the foresight not only to come up with the items advertised, but to realize they could turn a profit.

At times like these, I wonder if I'm up to the challenge of American corporate life. I know I could never have come up with:

- A device that attaches to one's ear lobe and emits a shrill whine noise when one's head tilts downward. Its purpose: to keep you awake while driving. I don't know about you, but I sure feel safer knowing that people driving that dark, hilly strip of Sheldon Road who are otherwise too tired and/or drunk to get behind the wheel just have to clip on this life-saver earring to bring 'em back alive.

- A microwave oven leak tester. The purpose of this device, which fits in the palm of your hand, is to detect "dangerous microwave oven leaks." The tester is described as a "must" for owners of microwaves, "a very reassuring safety device to keep right on top of your oven." Costs only $15, too. Those of you who don't have one — well, you've gotta go sometime, I guess.

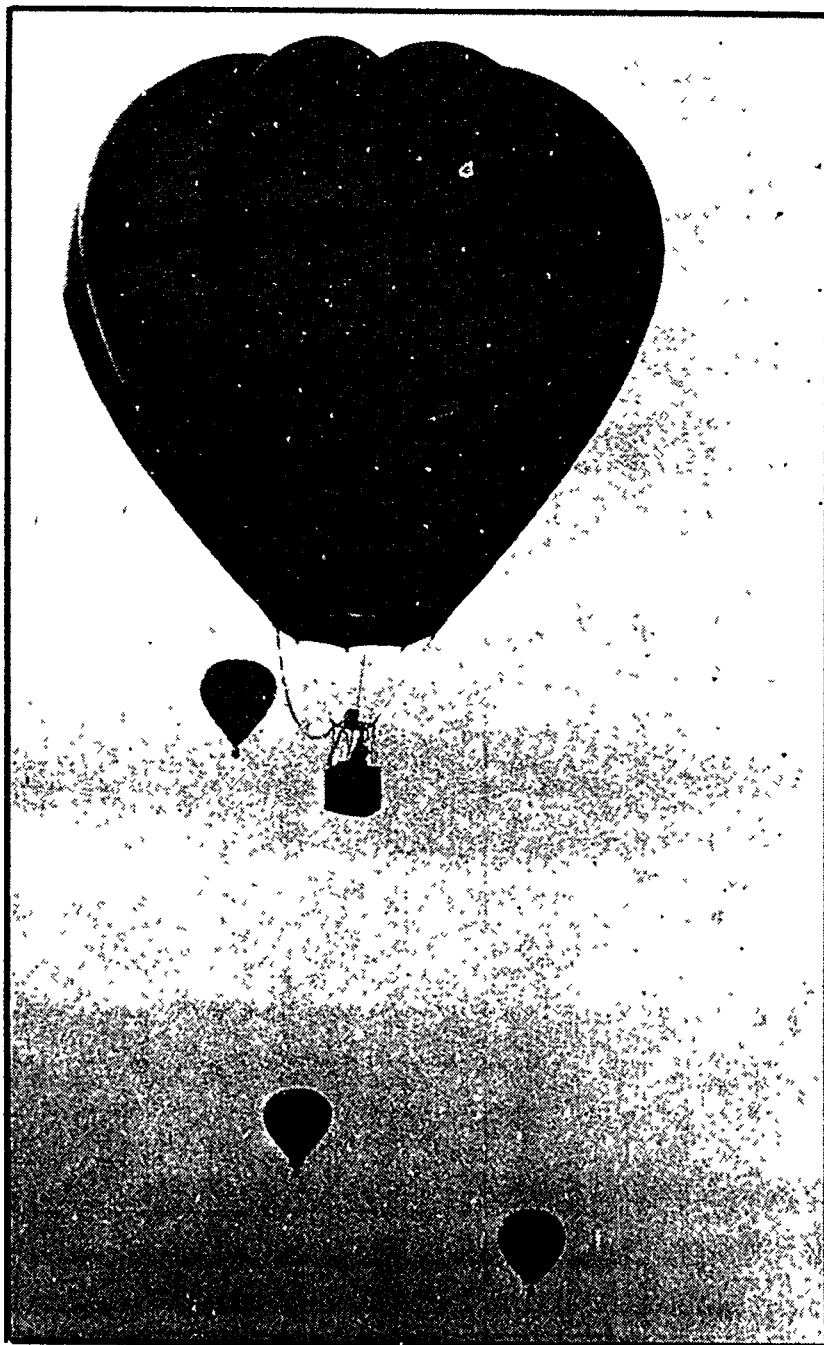

- Here's a great gift for grandchildren from grandparents wanting to get even with their kids — a "Bike Siren" featuring a microphone to broadcast one's voice over a bull horn which attaches to handlebars (especially useful for children who don't make enough noise without amplification). The accompanying ambulance-style siren is described in the ad copy as "realistic, and really loud." I'll bet. Thanks, Grandma.

- A special pen designed for NASA writes "underwater, over grease, upside-down, and at temperatures from minus-50 degrees to plus-400 degrees." I'm going to get this in case I run out of paper and decide to write some letters on the bottom of my frying pan while cooking bacon during a nuclear attack. One strange thing, though — the pen is described as "nitrogen powered." Maybe I'd better get a microwave tester to make sure it's safe to use.

At work, the junk mail is of a different variety: press releases. One of my favorites came from the Hall of Fame of the Trotter, Goshen, N.Y., an organization which I presume keeps tabs on sports editors in towns with racetracks. It began: "Whoever said war was hell must have been thinking of it in terms of harness racing. If you were around in the middle of World War Two, you probably were thunderstruck when the war department took over three major tracks of the Grand Circuit to be occupied by American Troops." I wasn't there of course, but I'm sure it was a pretty big deal. I heard some people overseas got hurt, too.

After the fact

By PHILIP JEROME

I'm usually pretty good about not walking into traps. After all, I wasn't born yesterday and like to think I'm smart enough to perceive when I'm being set up.

That's why I was so disturbed recently when I was had — hook, line and sinker — at a lawn party.

Because there was something of a political flavor to this particular get-together, the host had decided to give away door prizes.

I arrived in a timely fashion and received my name tag with the number 16 on it as the hostess marked my name and number in the guest book.

That was the first give-away — the recording of the number — and I should have figured out right then and there that skullduggery was afoot.

But I didn't. In fact, I never even suspected a trap was being set until the door had snapped behind me.

About half way through the party, the host started awarding the door prizes by pulling numbers from a hat. First prize was, appropriately, a door — a nice, insulated storm door that was won by number 32. I don't remember what second prize was, but it was something nice, and it was won by number 64.

"Aha," I said to the person next to me. "They seem to be working in multiples of 16."

As fate would have it, I was right. The host then announced that he had several more prizes, the three kittens running around the yard.

Now anyone who reads this column with any degree of regularity knows that my wife thinks she's the patron saint of homeless kittens; the last thing I need at my house is more cats. But what were the chances of my number being drawn from a pool of more than 100 people? I relaxed.

The host again put his hand in the hat and removed a tag. "Number 16," he announced. "Who has number 16?"

I managed to get out of there without collecting my door prize. And when I got home I didn't tell my wife about my furry stroke of fortune. She'd have probably gone back and picked them up.

Future township resident opposes state's prison plan

To the Editor:
As a landowner and (hopefully) future resident of Northville Township, I, too, am quite concerned about and strongly support the township and its residents' attempt to block the state's plan to build a medium-security prison in the empty Plymouth Center.

Northville Township and its "twin," Plymouth Township, already have far more than their fair share of public institutions, which are unquestionably a "drain" on your tax rolls.

Let's make the area conducive, attractive and desirable for residents, future residents, businesses, merchants and local patrons. Let's bring in developments that will improve our tax base, such as more housing developments, light industry to the industrial park area, modern office buildings, not more prisons and institutions.

At the same time let the state and county dress up and utilize their abandoned facilities for something other than prisons and rid us of the blighted, depressing "ghost town" appearance.

I feel it is time other communities accept a share of prisons and correctional facilities. Grosse Pointe would be a nice location for a regional prison. Henry Ford fought and was given the go ahead to develop his estate into housing. Well, the same thing could be done with the other estates there and, rather than housing, it would be a beautiful location for a prison.

Also, other areas like the downriver communities would certainly enjoy having a "facility." I'm sure. Grosse Ile has some nice locations.

Maybe the township agreed to the regional prison at Beck and Five Mile, but perhaps we should reverse that decision. Let's not have that either. Let one of the other communities now accept their share of this burden, too. The burden as we know is not only that of tax drain, but the effect such facilities have on the appearance, perception and desirability of a community.

Northville (and Plymouth) is too beautiful and too progressive to be burdened more than it already is by public institutions. Let's "spread the wealth" around.

Sincerely,
Greg Arceri

Blanchard consolidates

By R. ROBERT GEAKE
State Senator

Governor Blanchard's much-ballyhooed Michigan Strategic Fund proposal shot through the Senate recently — although not escaping the careful eye of Republican watchdogs.

The plan, heralded by Democrats as the answer to our state's economic woes, actually amounts to no more than a welcomed consolidation of existing programs. It proposes to merge the Michigan Economic Development Authority and the Job Development Authority and establish several "centers" for assistance to private enterprise, local government, research and development, minority venture capital and loan insurance.

I do not disagree with the concept of this fund nor the importance of venture capital in diversifying our economy and creating jobs. There is nothing wrong with streamlining the system if it results in lower costs, better services and less duplication.

But before I could support the governor's package, several changes were necessary.

Major Republican amendments included: removing the language declaring the fund to be outside the executive branch; requiring appointments by the governor to the MSF governing board to be subject to the advice and consent of the Senate; requiring that the 13-member board overseeing the fund be represented by a woman, a minority and a member of the small business community; removing the exemption of the MSF board meetings from the Open Meetings and Freedom of Information acts; and requiring that at least 20 percent of a funded project's costs be privately financed.

The most controversial Republican alteration was removal of a "prevailing wage" provision that would require union-scale wages be paid on funded projects. Since union wages and fringes are often substantially higher than the wages paid by contractors in outstate or rural Michigan, such a mandate would only discourage many firms from seeking assistance.

Certainly, Michigan has a severe problem in attracting venture capital.

Chamber appreciated

To the Editor:
On behalf of the Northville Jaycee Women's Auxiliary, we wish to thank the City for the use of the Northville City Council Chambers for our meetings.

We reserve the facility for the third Wednesday of each month from 7:30-10:30 p.m.

Thank you,
Pamela Hoetger

Festival help praised

To the Editor:
On behalf of Animal Aide we would like to thank all those groups and individuals who participated with us in the recent Northville Autumnfest, most specifically Maryanne Gordon and the parents and girls of the Silver Springs School Junior Girl Scouts and Brownie troops, who made the free cider available to those in attendance on our behalf.

Thanks also to Parmenter's Cider Mill for their discount on the many gallons of excellent cider we used.

We are happy to say that the funds we received in donations and memberships exceeded our costs for the project and will be applied toward our shelter fund.

Thanks also to Bill McMillan and the members of the Northville Antique Automobile Club who, despite the early morning inclement weather, were able

Contributions lauded

To the Editor:
Once again it gives me great pleasure to acknowledge a number of local businesses and governmental agencies for their contributions to the fourth annual "Discover Northville" Rotary Run.

The Northville Rotarians continue to support the community through such fund raisers as this run, which incidentally served two purposes — generated monies and gave outsiders an opportunity to view our beautiful city and township. We had runners from as far away as Traverse City, Kalamazoo, Lansing, Marine City and our neighbors from across the border, Windsor, Ontario.

So on behalf of the Northville Rotary Club, I wish to thank Sheehan's, Little Caesars, Allen Monument, Casterline Funeral Home, Novi Ambulance, C & O Railroad, Hamlet Food Market, Pizza Pantry, Pizza Cutter, Good Time Party Store, Speedy Printing Center and Northville Downs for their contributions.

When you have this type of cooperation and generosity the project becomes a labor of love.

From your fellow Rotarian, a warm and sincere "thank You."

Sincerely,
Bill Tomczyk
Race Director
Northville Rotary

Coverage commended

To the Editor:
I would like to commend one of your reporters, Ms. Michele McElmurry. Her coverage of the Northville Public Schools' Community Education fall program has been remarkable.

Through her efforts, information

NOTICE OF ELECTION

TO THE QUALIFIED ELECTORS OF THE CITY OF NOVI:

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that the Regular City Election will be held on November 8, 1983, in the City of Novi, County of Oakland, from 7:00 A.M. to 8:00 P.M.

The purpose of the City election is to vote on the following propositions and for the election of a mayor and three Council Members.

PROPOSAL A. RECREATIONAL BONDING PROPOSITION

Shall the City of Novi, County of Oakland, Michigan, borrow the principal sum of not to exceed Four Million Three Hundred Thousand Dollars ($4,300,000) and issue its general obligation unlimited tax bonds therefor, for the purpose of acquiring, constructing, furnishing and equipping recreational facilities in the City together with all necessary appurtenances and attachments thereto, including bicycle and pedestrian paths, parkland acquisition and development and the acquisition, construction and equipping of a recreational equipment maintenance and storage facility?

THE PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST OF SAID GENERAL OBLIGATION BONDS SHALL BE PAYABLE FROM THE GENERAL FUNDS OF THE CITY, AND IN THE CASE OF THE INSUFFICIENCY OF SAID FUNDS, THE CITY IS REQUIRED BY LAW TO LEVY SUFFICIENT AD VALOREM TAXES ON ALL PROPERTY IN THE CITY WITHOUT LIMITATION AS TO RATE OR AMOUNT. SAID BONDS MAY BE ISSUED IN SUCH SERIES AS SHALL BE DETERMINED BY THE CITY COUNCIL.

PROPOSAL B. CHARTER AMENDMENT PROPOSITION

Shall Section 9.1 of the Charter of the City of Novi, Oakland County, Michigan, be amended so as to increase from 1/2 mill to 3/4 mill the permitted levy by the City for establishing and maintaining parks and for recreation purposes?

If Section 9.1 of the Charter is amended, it will read as follows:
"Section 9.1 The City shall have the power to lay and collect taxes for municipal purposes.

"The annual, general ad valorem property-tax levy shall not exceed:
"(a) For general municipal purposes—six and one-half tenths of one percent (6 1/2 mills),
"(b) For specific street and highway improvement purposes—one tenth of one percent (1 mill),
"(c) For Novi Public Library—one tenth of one percent (1 mill),
"(d) For establishing and maintaining parks and recreation purposes—three-fourths tenths of one percent (3/4 mill), and
"(e) For acquiring, constructing, improving, and maintaining drain, storm water, and flood control systems in the City of Novi—one-tenth of one percent (1 mill)

"of the assessed value of all real and personal property subject to taxation in the City, exclusive of any levies authorized by general statute to be made beyond Charter tax-rate limitations. This tax limitation may be increased for a period not to exceed three (3) years at any time by a majority vote of those electors in the City of Novi voting thereon at any regular City election or special election called for that purpose.

"All Charter tax-limitation increases, granted for a period not to exceed three (3) years, by a majority vote of the electors of the City, pursuant to the Charter in effect as of February 24, 1969, shall continue in effect under this Charter for the unexpired period."

Section 9.1 (d) presently reads as follows:
(d) For establishing and maintaining parks and recreation purposes one-half tenth of one percent (1/2 mill),

All qualified and registered electors may vote on the above propositions.
The places of voting will be as follows:

- Pct. No. 1—Church of the Holy Cross, 48200 Ten Mile Road
- Pct. No. 2—Novi Middle School South, 25299 Taft Road
- Pct. No. 3—Novi Public Library, 45245 W. Ten Mile Road
- Pct. No. 4—Lake Community Building, 601 South Lake Dr.
- Pct. No. 5—Orchard Hills School, 41900 Quince Dr.
- Pct. No. 6—Former Fire Station No. 1, 25850 Novi Road

Help offered to divorced

Weekend Moms, a support group for non-custodial mothers, sponsored by the YWCA of Western Wayne County, has resumed its weekly meetings for the fall.

Meetings are held from 7-8 p.m. each Thursday at the YWCA Family Center.

The Weekend Moms Support Group serves as a support system for mothers who do not have custody of their children. By identifying problems and sharing feelings, mothers can help each other through the realities of the crisis.

For further information, call area director Pamela Cronenwett at the YWCA of Western Wayne County at 561-4410.

Clark's project, in progress at the moment, is the repainting of the Cady Street cemetery fence, while Maloney will supervise the cleaning of foreign debris from the Rouge River from just north of Eight Mile Road to where the river meets the Mill Pond. Each job by its completion will have consumed the equivalent of as much as 200 to 300 worker-hours. It doesn't take long to figure out such projects, if desired by the community, would cost a great deal were the work not performed by volunteers.

"The idea behind the Eagle project," notes Scoutmaster Jim Lapham, "is to provide something of lasting benefit to the community. Raking leaves won't quite do it."

The troop recently conducted a Court of Honor at which 19 rank advancements (10 earned at summer camp), 25 skill awards (20 earned at summer camp), 134 merit badges (117 earned at summer camp) were awarded.

At the Court of Honor, Eagle Scout Alan Griffith was awarded the Silver Palm, the third above Eagle rank and Tom Broderick was given his rank of Eagle Scout.

The troop, of course, also has been participating in the activities scouts are best known for. Last June, a group of 40 scouts and fathers convened for a Father and Son canoe weekend, just before 10 scouts from 755 went to the XV World Jamboree, Alberta, Canada.

In July, 14 of the scouts and three leaders went on a "High Adventure" canoe trip for a week in northern Canada. In August, summer camp offered 48 scouts and three leaders (assisted by parents) a week at D-Bar-A Boy Scout Camp, where scouts hone their outdoors skills and attain rank advancements and merit badges, as well as meet and interact with other troops.

Most recently, the troop participated in the Gemini District Camporee at Kensington Metropark, where 65 patrols — about 400 scouts worth — competed in a number of outdoor skill-testing events, including gateway completion, skill trails, knot-tying, teamwork and pitching a tent. Troop 755 patrols took third, fifth and sixth place honors in overall competition.

On the boards for next month is a "Cookaree," testing scouts' outdoor cooking skill. It's a far cry from just keeping kids off the streets.

Chamber tabs '83-84 officers

Charlotte Spaman was elected president of the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce at an organizational meeting last Thursday following election of directors at the annual meeting October 1.

Formerly treasurer of the chamber, Spaman succeeds Scott Lapham as president.

Other newly elected officers are Terry Fraser, vice president; Midge Haynie, secretary; and Janis Stevenson, treasurer.

The board also voted to meet twice monthly, instead of monthly, at 8 a.m. on the second and fourth Thursdays of the month in the chamber building at 195 South Main.

The chamber went on record as opposing the state's intention of converting the Plymouth Center for Human Development into a medium security prison at the end of the year and abandoning the planned regional facility already begun at Beck and Five Mile.

Final Northville Farmer's Market of the season, sponsored every Thursday during the growing season at Main and Hutton, will be October 27. Pumpkins will be featured at the market the final two weeks.

First indoor flea market of the season was held October 8 at the Northville Plaza Mall under chamber sponsorship. They are scheduled for the second and fourth Saturdays of the month through the winter.

Space reservations are required and may be made by calling the chamber office at 349-7640 between 9 a.m. and 1 p.m. Monday through Friday. Admission to the flea markets is free.

Lawn sprinkler inspired fuel-saver device

By JEFFREY LAPINSKI

Water sprinklers are an everyday item, as common as dandelions on summer lawns. To most people, they are not particularly inspiring.

But Roger Werner is not like most people. He found something in one of those sprinklers, something that could revolutionize the automobile industry and make him a very rich man in the process.

Werner, chairman of Final Engineering and Development Company, Incorporated, works out of a small, unobtrusive building in Lyon Township, just north of South Lyon. Inside are some cramped offices cluttered with piles of paper and decorated with an EPA mileage chart. Most of the building's space is devoted to research and development of Werner's odd-looking invention—the Centrifugal Injection System (CIS).

"This particular item (the CIS) is the top priority," explained Werner, who said he has attended several colleges but holds no degree. "It's all that we're working on at this time."

The CIS, a device designed to replace standard carburetors, was born, believe it or not, on a golf course in Ann Arbor, where Werner was raised. There, while setting out water sprinklers, Werner noticed that by increasing the water pressure, the sprinkler would spin faster and throw out a finer spray.

A good deal of inventions are born through the unique application of current technology. The same was true with Werner. He wondered what would happen if the speed of the sprinkler increased while the water decreased. He hooked up an electric motor to the device, turned up the speed, fed it just a trickle of water and created what he described as a ground fog.

"I figured if you could do that with water, why can't you do it with gasoline," Werner explained, pointing out that gasoline is much more explosive in its gaseous state as opposed to its liquid state.

That same principle was applied to the CIS. Centrifugal force created by an electric motor forces small amounts of gasoline into the airstream, breaking up the gasoline into tiny, uniform specks. The mixture is then directed in the traditional manner to the combustion chamber, where the fuel burns more completely because it is more uniform and smaller in size, according to Werner.

Werner, a South Lyon resident, claims that his device has increased gasoline mileage by as much as 100 percent on test vehicles. Overall, Werner said the usual mileage increase is 50 percent at steady highway speeds. While the mileage improvement decreases with city driving, the CIS still beats the standard carburetor, said Werner, who uses the device on his vehicle.

Werner explained that the big drawback with standard carburetors is the incomplete burning of the fuel, which results in high emissions and wasted gasoline. With the CIS, which has no float, bowl, no choke or other parts that commonly plague carburetors, the fuel mixture is finer and burns more completely, thereby cutting waste and emissions, Werner explained.

While Werner has tested the device in over 70,000 miles of "real world" driving, he was especially excited over the results recently received from Conely Speed-Machine Shop, an independent laboratory in Brighton. In a letter to Werner, Jack Conely stated that "the 'Werner Centrifugal Injection System' shows a distinct improvement in economy over the standard carburetor on the subject test engine."

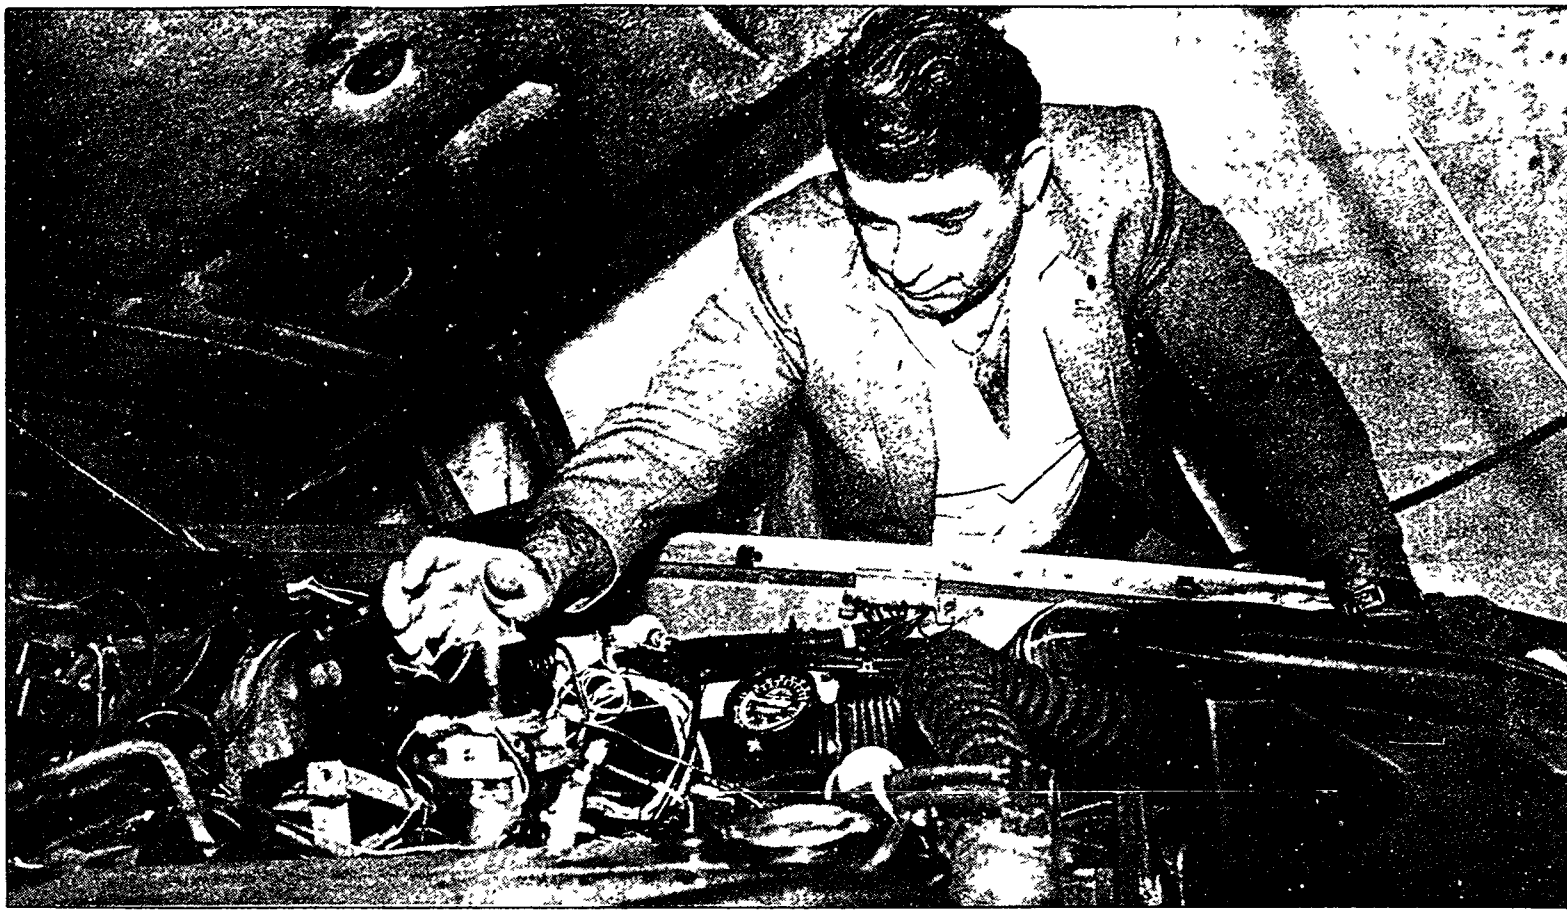

According to Conely's test results, the CIS showed increases in economy of 26 to 51 percent, depending on the speed of the engine. Both test engines were six-cylinder, 250-cubic-inch Chevrolet units. One was equipped with the CIS and the other with a standard one-barrel carburetor.

"This (the independent test) makes this invention worth billions," exclaimed Werner. "It (the CIS) does work!"

The test does mark a culmination for Werner. First of all, it rewards his years of work, which started with the construction of the first prototype in 1975.

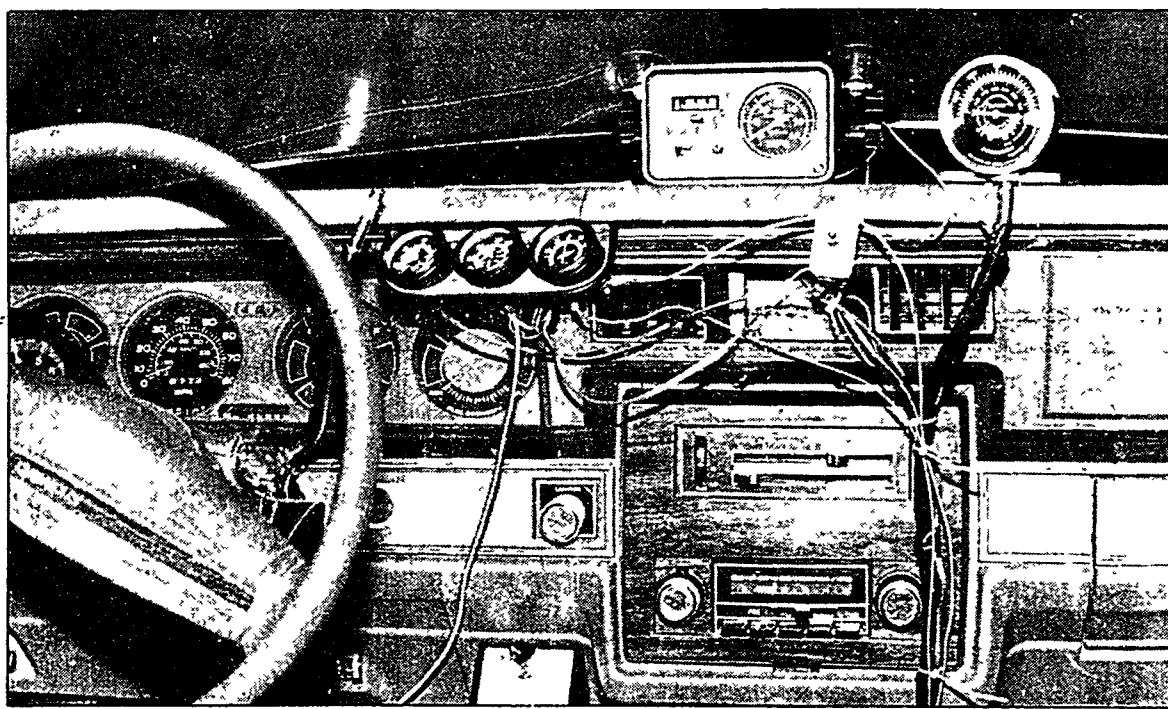

Secondly, it rewards Werner and his sponsors, who have invested $250,000 in

MAGGIE WALKER

DR. MICHAEL DE RUBEIS

MAGGIE WALKER has joined the staff of Rymal Symes Realtors in Novi as a residential marketing associate.

Walker and her husband, Al, an electronics supervisor at CBS/Fox in Farmington Hills, moved to the area recently from Ann Arbor where she was affiliated with Blanchard Associates, Realtors. The Walkers have two daughters in college: Joanne attends Central Michigan and Nancy attends Acadia in Nova Scotia.

Rymal Symes President Conrad Jakubowski said Maggie Walker's years of experience in real estate and her genuine helpful attitude should be very beneficial to her new customers and clients in the Novi community. "Maggie Walker is a tremendous asset to our staff," said Jakubowski.

DR. MICHAEL DE RUBEIS has obtained his license to practice optometry. He is now practicing with his father, Dr. Angelo De Rubeis, in their office at 644 North Milford Road in the Village of Milford.

De Rubeis graduated in Lakeland High School's 1976 Charter Class. He continued his education at the University of Michigan, majoring in biology and behavioral psychology.

During the past four years he has devoted his time to studying optometry at the Illinois College of Optometry in Chicago. There he specialized in contact lens fitting, orthokeratology (reshaping the cornea using contact lenses to reduce and eliminate the need for corrective lenses), and pediatric optometry.

In May he received his doctorate in optometry and was awarded the Irving M. Borish Award for his outstanding research in the field of contact lenses and their effects on the eye.

Working with his father, De Rubeis is now performing comprehensive optometric examinations while providing his expertise in both standard and specialized fitting of all available types of contact lenses and orthokeratology. Due to his interest in pediatric optometry, he also offers full scope optometric service for infants and children, including developmental and perceptual analysis along with therapy.

De Rubeis stated that he is looking forward to working with the people of this area in establishing superior quality, full scope visual health care.

DANIEL T. PROVOST of Manufacturers Bank-Novi attended the 39th annual session of the Herbert V. Prochnow Graduate School of Banking at the University of Wisconsin-Madison this summer.

Sponsored by the 16 state bank associations in the Central States Conference of Bankers Associations, the school was established in 1945 to provide bankers with advanced study and research in banking, economics and monetary problems.

This year some 1,225 students from 43 states and Puerto Rico attended the school.

HOLLOWAY CONSTRUCTION Company of Wixom was low bidder on a state road project in Oakland and Genesee counties, the Michigan Department of Transportation announced September 26.

The company's bid of $9,302,150 on the project to resurface 15.8 miles on I-75 freeway from south of Ortonville Road near Pontiac north to one mile north of the Oakland Line was low. Work is to be completed by October, 1985.

All low bids must be approved by the State Transportation Commission and the State Administrative Board before contracts are awarded, MDOT stated.

JOHN McMARTIN, of McMartin Jewelry, 440 North Main Street, Milford, has been awarded the title of Registered Jeweler by the American Gem Society.

The Society, an association of fine jewelers pledged to consumer protection and gemological education, awards the title to member jewelers who obtain advanced professional knowledge and skill through hands-on experience, gemological courses and annual examinations.

McMartin grew up in the jewelry industry as a watchmaker's son. Currently, his duties include setting diamonds, diamond quality analysis, gem purchasing and reproduction of photos for advertising. Like his father, he has chosen to pursue the field of gemology. McMartin is secretary of the Economic Development Corporation of Milford.

President Robert Spratford, of the American Gem Society, said, "I want to congratulate McMartin on achieving a level of skill reached only by some 2,000 retail jewelers in the United States and Canada. He has qualified as a Registered Jeweler through his personal desire to increase his knowledge of gemology, and through the store's subscribing to business principles set down by the Federal Trade Commission, Better Business Bureau, and the Society's own code of ethics."

TWO NORTHVILLE RESIDENTS have accepted leadership positions in the United Foundation 1983 Torch Drive. Thomas F. Russell, chairman and chief executive officer of Federal-Mogul Corporation and general chairman of this year's fund-raising program, said.

Addison Kline, director of personnel for the Fruehauf Corporation, is serving as northeast unit region I chairman, and Terrance Smith, industrial relations manager of the Wixom Assembly Plant of Ford Motor Company, is northwest unit region I chairman.

The northeast and northwest units are part of the community campaigns which solicit small businesses and offices and individual givers throughout the tri-county area. Noting that the high rate of unemployment, government cutbacks to certain social service agencies and the increased cost of providing services have contributed to the pressing human needs of the tri-county community, the Torch Drive committee says that this year's Torch Drive volunteer team will be asking for increased contributions to help maintain the present level of support for these services.

The reporting phase of the 35th annual Torch Drive will run from October 17 through November 10. The United Foundation Torch Drive helps provide operating funds for 136 charitable organizations in the tri-county area.

TWO AREA AGENTS have qualified as members of the 1983 Executive Council of New York Life Insurance Company.

Both Edward W. Grace of Northville and David P. Porta of Brighton now are on the Executive Council composed of New York Life's outstanding agents. Membership is based on 1982-83 sales records, according to General Manager Fred E. Rogers, CLU, of the company's Northland-Detroit General Office.

RICHARD AND ELAINE PARKER have announced their association with Real Estate One-Milford.

Richard, who recently passed his state broker's exam, comes to Real Estate One with five years of sales and listing experience.

Elaine recently obtained her sales agent's license.

FOOTE GRAVELY TRACTOR on Grand River in Novi has been notified by Gravely International that it ranks 26th in the nation and first in the State of Michigan in the sale of Gravely tractors and products.

Pictured above on the Gravely 8123 model lawn and garden tractor are Betsy, Charles and Lisa Foote, owners of the Gravely dealership at 46401 Grand River between Taft and Beck roads.

In addition to the Gravely product line, the Foote Gravely dealership carries Kubota diesel tractors, Ariens snowblowers and tillers, Toro snowblowers and mowers, Kerosun heaters and Lawn Boy mowers.

The Footes attribute their success to individualized service and extensive follow-up maintenance.

JANET McCLINTOCK

JANET McCLINTOCK, ASID, was named 1983 Contract Designer of Distinction at the second annual awards program of the Michigan Chapter of the American Society of Interior Designers.

A Northville resident, McClintock is director of design for Library Design Associates of Plymouth. The award, presented during the Orchids and Onions luncheon at the Savoyard Club, was given for the design of the interior of the new Royal Oak Campus Library of Oakland Community College.

the CIS. "I've put every dime I've got in the world into this thing," he added.

The test also opens the door to further advances. Werner said he has been approached by General Motors about testing the device on one of GM's cars. Ironically enough, Werner said he approached the major car companies years ago but received a "poor reception." He said he got so much "hocus pocus" paperwork and signing your life away that he was turned off.

He also said several firms expressed an interest in investing in the CIS on seeing the report. He added that the federal Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) required some preliminary testing before the CIS could be tested in EPA labs.

Of course, there is still some work that needs to be done before the CIS becomes part of America's automotive scene. "We've got a few bugs to get out of it for 100 percent driveability," said Werner, explaining that a problem with the idle circuit causes occasional stalling.

The Conely report also confirmed the need for more work. "The 'Werner Centrifugal Injection System' does need further engineering to smooth out the operation and control the flow of fuel," the report stated.

But with 160 million registered motor vehicles in the United States, Werner has a great deal of incentive. He figures that if he received the proper financing, he could tool up for the large scale manufacturing of the CIS in six months. About 120 days later, the first manufactured CIS would be available to the general public at an estimated list price of $600.

And even if he equips just 10 percent of the motor vehicles in the nation, Werner will be looking at gross sales of $9.6 billion. And you can buy a lot of water sprinklers with that kind of cash.

MACPA will hear Murphy

Oakland County Executive Daniel T. Murphy will be featured speaker at the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants (MACPA) Celebrity Breakfast Series Wednesday, October 26.

The event at the Michigan Inn in Southfield will include two other Oakland officials: Economic Development Manager Jeff Kaczmarek and Economic Development Analyst Jack Driker. All three speakers will discuss "New Business—What the Future Holds."

Beginning at 7:30 p.m. the two-hour program represents one hour of continuing professional education for CPAs attending.

Safety seminar is offered

The Michigan Department of Labor, Safety Education and Training Division (SET) and the Associated General Contractors of America will conduct a special construction safety seminar November 1 at the AGCA chapter building, 18100 Schaefer Highway, Detroit.

Beginning at 8:30 a.m., the program will address such topics as MIOSHA changes that affect the construction industry; a look at the causes of construction accidents, injuries and fatalities; how to prevent accidents through awareness programs, and free help complying with Michigan construction safety standards.

A fee of $12 is due when registering and includes lunch. Reservations can be made through Charles Dudek, Associated General Contractors of America, 18100 Schaefer Highway, Detroit, Michigan, 48235. Deadline for reservations is October 24.

The First Halloween

Once upon a time, long ago and far away, a group of people called the Celts set aside October 31 as the eve of their celebration to honor Samhain, Lord of the Dead.

It was the scariest night of the year because the Celts believed that on this night evil spirits walked abroad and performed feats of magic and destruction.

The Celtic regions of France and the British Isles were introduced to Christianity by their Roman conquerors in the fourth century.

Christian fathers, realizing the strength of the old religious ceremonies, tried to give new meanings to the old customs rather than try to destroy them. November 1 became All Saints' Day and October 31 became All Hallows Eve.

Long after their conversion to Christianity, the Celtic people continued to expect ghosts on All Hallows Eve, later shortened to Halloween, so when they went outside on the evening of October 31, they wore masks and costumes to keep from being recognized.

Celts were not the only ones who associated masks with demons. From earliest times, people have worn horrible masks to scare off the devils who bring disaster such as droughts and epidemics. The nobility who attended the Witches' Sabbaths which were held on October 31 in the Middle Ages always wore masks.

The Top Ghosts

You've heard of Topper, Mrs. Muir's Ghost and the Ghosts of Christmas Past, Present and Future, but let's face it, they're all fictional ghosts ... figments of someone's imagination.

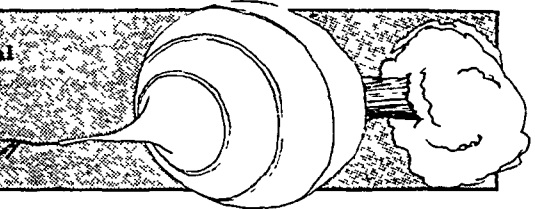

There are real ghosts, however, eerie emanations of indubitable authenticity. The following list of famous real ghosts was taken from The Book of Lists.

1. The Ghost of Anne Boleyn. Old Anne appears annually at the Tower of London on May 19, the anniversary of her beheading by King Henry VIII. She arrives in a coach drawn by four headless horses and driven by a headless horseman. Anne carries her own head in her lap. Yuck.

2. The Ghost of Catherine Howard. We also have Hank the 8th to thank for this ghost which haunts the gallery at Hampton Court Palace. Catherine was beheaded February 13, 1542, but her shrieks are still heard throughout the gallery.

3. The Vermilion Phantom. Red, as he's known to his amies, has appeared at critical junctures in the history of France. A tall, well-built figure with a red beard, the V.P. wears a stylish but somewhat flashy red cape.

The traditional Halloween turnip

Why Pumpkins?

The Halloween pumpkin is the only symbol of the holiday which did not come to the United States from the old world.

The pumpkin grew only in America and was not part of the Halloween customs of northern Europe.

When early pioneers discovered the pumpkin, they recognized it immediately as the perfect Halloween lantern. In Europe other vegetables were used.

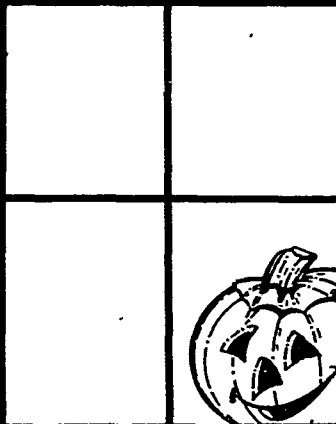

Scotch children hollowed out large turnips, carved faces on them and placed candles inside them. The children called the turnip lanterns "boggles" and used them to scare away witches.

Irish children used turnips or potatoes and children in some parts of England made "punkies" from large beets.

The early immigrants found the pumpkin made a much better lantern because it was soft inside and was easier to carve. The name pumpkin may even have come from the child's Halloween lantern called a "punkie".

(but were a'scared to ask)

Best Party Dates

Okay, you've decided to throw a Halloween party for your friends and neighbors. But ... and it's an all-important "but" — you don't want it to be your ordinary, run-of-the-mill Halloween party.

You're talking about something special ... something people will talk about ... something they'll remember for years to come. Maybe even something that Carol T. will report on the society pages of whatever metro daily she's working for now.

Here comes a helpful hint — think "guest list." Sure, Joe and Gladys from the bowling league should be invited, but if you want to give the Halloween party to end all Halloween parties you'll have to invite Boris Karloff, Lon Chaney, Frankenstein and Dracula.

Peter Lorre is another must. And how about Dr. Jekyll? Just be careful about who's spiking the punch!

There are others, of course. What Halloween party would be complete without the Headless Horseman from Sleepy Hollow or the Phantom from the Opera? You could even invite Ichabod Crane, although he tends to be something of a wet blanket at parties.

What's missing at this point is some notable ladies. You wouldn't want all those men to be without dancing partners when you break out your Ike and Tina Turner recording of "Proud Mary," would you? Alas, the list of appropriate females is not long. Let's see, there's Morticia Addams, Lily Munster, Broomhilda, Wicked Witch of the West...

Least Elaborate Costume

The classic bedroom sheet and mom's pinkie shears are all that is required. A snip here, a snip there and a genuine Casper the Friendly Ghost costume is ready to scare the dickens out of fellow trick or treaters. It's a solid last resort, whose original designer is unknown.

(P.S. To really impress friends use those Bill Blass designer sheets.)

Marie Antoinette lost her head when it came to costumes

WORLD BOOK

Most Elaborate Costume

Anybody can throw a sheet over his head and call himself a ghost. Of course, some people go a little further in designing just the right costume for that special occasion.

Consider Marie Antoinette, queen of France. One dress she wore to a ball in 1787 was made of more than 15 yards of brocaded satin (not counting voluminous underskirts totalling nearly 10 yards of fabric) supported by stays of wood, metal, wire and bone. It was decorated with ruffles, lace, tassels, fringe, plumes, ropes of beads, artificial flowers, and many yards of ribbon. She also wore large jewels at throat, wrists and ears.

Crowning her simple outfit was a hairdo that towered more than three feet above her head and contained a number of small wooden boats in a tableau recreating a famous French naval battle. To make the tower of hair stay in place, royal hairdressers used wooden sticks and wool bats and mixed flour and water into the hair to stiffen it, much like papier mache. The hairdo also was decorated with plumes and jewels.

If that was all for a plain old party, imagine what she would do for Halloween.

Cleaning the Tricks

So you went to a Halloween Party instead of staying home to pass out treats, and the neighborhood goblins wreaked havoc on your property. The car looks like a half-made omelette and someone's crayon artistry adorns the aluminum siding. That'll teach you to realign your priorities for next year.

The day-after clean up won't be pleasant, but it will be a little easier if you follow these hints. Soap scrawls can be washed off windows by using warm water. If they're waxed, break out a new razor blade and get scraping. Wax on a car's body can be removed with warm water or by using a commercial wax and grease remover or polishing compound, according to South Lyon Collision. Be sure to re-wax the finish after removing the evidence. If the little vandals have resorted to spray painting the car, you might think of moving out of the neighborhood. Removing spray paint can be tricky because using too much rubbing compound means the car needs refinishing.

Eggs on the porch can be washed off with a mild detergent and water. If the aluminum siding has been egged, clean it up with a mild dish detergent and warm water right away. It's awfully hard to scrape dried eggs off aluminum, according to aluminum siding manufacturers Clark Brothers.

To remove wax from siding, use hot water and a mild detergent. There are commercial aluminum cleaners on the market, but Clark Brothers warn some may be too abrasive to the finish. Their best advice was to use a little soapy water and lots of elbow grease. And hope the kids don't spray paint the house, too.

Phyllis Slattery heads state meet

Phyllis Slattery of Northville will be presiding as president of the Michigan Division of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association at the fall council meeting October 26 at St. Clair Inn.

"Keeping and/or Increasing Membership" is the theme of the meeting for which Mrs. Slattery plans to use a town hall format.

Forums and workshops will be held concurrently covering aspects of membership, including, "How to Spend, How to Save, Where to Send." Forum Two will consider

"Fulfilling Our Aims in WNF&GA, and Forum Three, "Good Communications Are Windows to New Horizons."

The Association's national president, Mrs. Jack Herring of Findlay, Ohio, will speak after the social hour and luncheon on "Around the World with Woman's National Farm and Garden."

The 87 members of the Port Huron Branch are hosting the meeting and sharing the celebration of their 50th anniversary.

Oakway concert stars accomplished Canadian

Concert II of Oakway Symphony Orchestra's 11th season features Canadian phenomenon Ofra Harnoy, an Israeli-born cellist who at 18 has achieved an international reputation.

The concert will be performed at 3 p.m. October 30 at Orchestra Hall.

The concert highlights Oakway Symphony under the baton of maestro Francesco Di Blasi and guest conductor, Ernest Jones. The program will include "Fanfare from Dukas", Brandenburg Concerto No. 4 by J.S. Bach, Suite No. 2 for Orchestra by Stravinsky, as well as Ofra Harnoy's performances of Tchaikovsky's Variations on a Rococo Theme and Concerto for Violoncello by Vivaldi.

Only child of Jacob and Carmen Harnoy, Ofra was born in 1965 in Hadera, Israel. She started her career as a cellist at the age of seven on a quarter-size cello. By 10, Ofra appeared with the Boyd Neel Orchestra and at 14 with the Toronto Symphony. At 18, she was the youngest winner of the Concert Artists Guild Award.

Tickets for the October 30 concert are $8 for all seats and may be purchased at Hammel Music in Livonia, Madonna College in Livonia, Executive Office Supplies in Farmington or at Orchestra Hall. For further information, call 532-2444 or 591-5046.

47-year residents mark anniversary

Approximately 100 relatives and friends attended the 50th wedding anniversary celebration of Otto and Elinor Schoch of 416 Yerkes hosted by their four children.

The September 24 gala celebration was held at St. Patrick's Hall in Ann Arbor.

Those attending the celebration came from Northville, St. Clair Shores, Warren, Coleman, Livonia, Farmington, Plymouth and Whitmore Lake.

Otto of Germany married Detroit-born Elinor on September 2, 1933, in Detroit.

Otto, a retired tool and die maker with General Motors, is a Mason. In addition to their home in Northville, where they have lived 47 years, the couple also has a summer home at West Long Lake in Alpena built by Otto and his family. They spend their summers there.

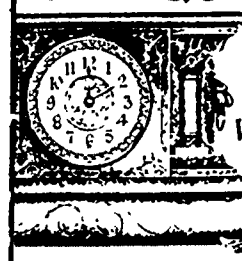

The couple's four children include Eileen Lane of 875 Allen Drive; Bob Schoch of Whitmore Lake; Connie Sweet of Warren and Patricia Pearson of Plymouth.

They also have eight grandchildren.

New year begins

Plethora of fashion shows ushers in fall

By JEAN DAY

We're "plum" into the fall fashion season. Northville Woman's Club opened its year with a show October 7 at Meadowbrook Country Club. Meadowbrook clubwomen gathered there the day before for their autumn show. Tomorrow members of Highland Lakes' Women's Club will hold their fall show in Highland House at 1 p.m. Latest group to announce a style show is Newcomers; it will be November 8 at the Livonia Holiday Inn.

The overview of Fall '83 was presented to the large turnout at the Northville Woman's Club luncheon by Nancy Cooper, manager of Me and Mr. Jones in Plymouth. Fashions from the shop were modeled after the luncheon. Models included three club members — Louise Cutler, Diann Korowin and Alice Walker. Member Stacey Becker provided background music.

The return of the hat was predicted as Mrs. Cutler wore a fall felt when she modeled a suit softened with a brocade-like blouse and pearls. "Overall, the look for fall is softer, more feminine and a little more sophisticated," club members and guests were told. Pointed out as significant trends were the abundance of heather or plum tones and longer skirts.

"But look in the mirror first," the store manager advised the women, noting that all lengths are worn. She also suggested spending a little time when starting to plan a wardrobe. "It can take 10 minutes to buy the suit and an hour to add the right blouse and belt."

A plum sweater in heavy tweed worn by Mrs. Korowin was teamed with a heather tweed skirt. Other newsworthy items included man-tailored suits in pin stripes softened with white blouses with frilly jabots and pretty belts and cowl-neck sweaters.

Members were welcomed by President Lois Winters with Vice-President Pat Eden introducing past presidents "who because of their labors of love for 91 years have made a contribution to the women of this community." Georgianna Chase responded, who served as president from 1944-46, responded, recalling that the original purpose of the club founded by Lucy Stout Doud in 1893 to provide cultural programs for women has continued through the years. Program chairman of the day Ann Guldberg introduced Nancy Cooper.

Newcomers to see fashions — casual to glamorous

The annual Newcomers dinner and fashion show is to be given at 6:30 p.m. November 8 at the Holiday Inn on Six Mile with members serving as models for the fashions from Fashion Cents that range from casual to glamorous, from sweetheart to business girl. The evening will begin with cocktails, reports President Joan Hursey.

Reservations are open to members, alumnae and guests at $14 a person. Reservations are due by November 1 and may be made with Bobbi Stephens, 349-6383.

Parmenter's to host League party

This year's Wine and Cheese Party of the Northville, Plymouth, Canton and Novi League of Women Voters offers league members and friends of the league a unique opportunity to taste wine from the area's newest winery — Parmenter's on Old Baseline. LWV President Billie Whiteley reports that Vern Bodker, proprietor of Parmenter's, had agreed to sponsor the league's single fund-raising event of the year.

Those attending the October 28 event will be able to sample a Chardonnay, Sayval, Pomme Blanc, Pomme Rouge and a Cabernet. These wines range from dry to semi-dry and will be available for purchase.

Invitations to the party were in the mail last week to League members and supporters.

Wreath makers

In preparation for the quickly-approaching holiday season, veterans of Northville Cooperative Preschool's wreath-making workshops hosted a quick course for women interested in teaching participants at the upcoming event. Brenda Pescia (right) gives lessons to Patti Tomasak, Lee Ann Panagiotides and Debra Jett. Workshops will be offered to the public at 1 p.m. November 11 and at 9:30 a.m. and 2 p.m. November 12. Cost is $13 for a 12-inch wreath, $16 for a 16-inch wreath and $18 for an 18-inch wreath. Baskets, made of pinecones, nuts and dried flowers, also can be made for $15. To register for the November wreath-making workshops, call Sue Spillane at 349-6043 or Sue Cowles at 349-8137. Record photo by John Galloway.

Two computer workshops slated at Madonna College

"Computers for Couples" and "Buying a Home Computer" are two workshops offered this fall at Madonna College.

"Computers for Couples" will meet from 7-11 p.m. October 28. Couples will learn computer games, have short lectures and participate in hands-on operation of Apple and TRS-80 computers. Wine and cheese will be served.

An identical workshop is scheduled November 18.

The fee for the workshop is $25 per couple.

Communication is topic

A workshop on "Couples Communication" will be offered on four consecutive Tuesday evenings beginning October 25 by Psychotherapy and Counseling Services, 511 North Center.

The workshop from 7 to 9 p.m. each Tuesday will focus on such issues as "Buying a Home Computer" will meet from 6-10 p.m. October 31. Discussions and demonstrations of the Apple and TRS-80 along with hands-on use of the computers will familiarize participants with home or small business computers.

The class is designed for the beginner. An identical workshop is scheduled November 21.

The fee for the workshop is $10 per person or $15 per couple.

For registration information, call the office of continuing education at 591-5188.

Film featured at Baptist church

"God's Prison Gang," a newly-released film featuring Al Capone's getaway driver, the last member of Bonnie and Clyde's gang and two other notorious criminals who have become Christians, will be shown at 6:30 p.m. Sunday at First Baptist Church of Northville.

The film, shot behind the walls of New York's Attica prison, is hosted by Art Linkletter. It tells the story of how the work of International Prison Ministry is keeping released inmates from returning to lives of crime.

Telling their stories in the 44-minute film are George Meyer, Al Capone's favorite driver; Floyd Hamilton, the last of the Bonnie and Clyde Gang; Jerry Graham, the "robber king" of California, and Ted Jefferson, convicted of crimes from drugs and robbery to murder.

Also featured is "Chaplain Ray," whose Dallas-based International Prison Ministry has changed the lives of thousands of inmates over the past 18 years.

Liz Kalota's touring with Opryland group

Elizabeth Kalota of Northville is one of three Detroit-area performers touring the nation with "The Nashville Music Express," a musical production being performed in 22 states this fall. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Kalota of Brookland Farms and has been cast with William Akey of Livonia and Robert Lambert of Romulus as singers and dancers for the national tour.

"The Nashville Music Express" is a show presented by Opryland, the showpark in Nashville, and Columbia Artists Festivals Corporation of New York and Hollywood.

A 1973 honor graduate of Northville High School where, her mother recalled, she performed in every show during her high school career, Liz Kalota joined the Opryland company in April, 1978, in the production "Broadway '78" after successfully auditioning at graduation.

She received a bachelor of science degree majoring in arts and drama at Eastern Michigan University in December, 1977.

She went from her favorite high school role of Liesl in "Sound of Music" to campus productions and professional appearances with the Greenfield Village Players in 1976.

While still a senior at EMU, she played the feminine lead in "Three Men on a Horse" in Greenfield Village dinner theater.

"The Nashville Music Express" is a 90-minute extravaganza that demonstrates how a century of music is woven into the fabric of American life. It is termed a musical sampler that highlights many forms of music — everything from pop, Broadway and Dixieland to gospel, bluegrass and country.

The production features 14 singers and dancers and a nine-piece orchestra.

The Michigan trio is among 425 singers, dancers, musicians, technicians and stage managers who worked during Opryland's 1983 season. The cast of "The Nashville Music Express" was chosen from Opryland's 1983 performers.

The tour has slated performances in 52 cities in 22 states, transported by Greyhound Lines Charter Services.

Here's Halloween safety tips for little goblins

Parents can help make Halloween a safe treat for their children by following a few simple safety tips, advises Elaine Glasser of the Cooperative Extension Service of Oakland County.

According to Glasser, parents should make sure store-bought Halloween costumes are flame retardant. All costumes should fit well and be short enough that children won't trip on the hems. Parents also should check for sharp objects, like fake knives or arrows, and eliminate them from the costume package.

Masks often obstruct youngsters' vision, so be sure they remove masks when they travel from house to house.

The National Safety Council reports the majority of Halloween accidents occur when children dart into the road between cars. Parents should review pedestrian safety rules with their children, remind them to use sidewalks at all times in urban areas and encourage children to do trick-or-treating before dusk. Rural children should be equipped with flashlights for greater visibility to motorists.

Reflectorized tape attached to costumes and goody bags will increase visibility.

Even with flame-retardant costumes, fire poses a threat to little goblins. Use flashlights to illuminate jack-o'-lanterns. Children also should be reminded to stay away from candle-lit pumpkins, which could set their clothing on fire.

It's a good idea to map out a trick-or-treat route in a familiar neighborhood, where parents know the residents. For safety's sake youngsters should trick-or-treat in groups, accompanied by at least one adult.

Parents also should inspect their children's Halloween treats thoroughly before anything is eaten. Any damaged, unwrapped or other questionable items should be discarded.

Scramble culminates season for Commons' golf players

Eighteen couples competed in a scramble at Pebble Creek Golf Club to culminate the Northville Commons' golf outing season September 25.

Following the golf course activities, Lorraine and Charlie Jackson hosted games and dinner at their home on Winchester Drive. Badminton and Closest-to-the-Pin contests were enjoyed before the chicken dinner Sunday evening.

There also was a prize-awarding ceremony.

Winning golf team members were Jerry Williams, Chris Carson, Lorraine Jackson and Henry Bono, team captain.

Individual winners were Henry Bono and Ronnie Cambra for the longest drives, Lorraine Jackson and Jim Stewart, Closest-to-the-Pin. Golf cart drawing winner was Jane Missel.

Ming slates magic show

The Northville Record

Golf team qualifies for state tourney

Bob Justus tees up for a drive

It was a beautiful day for golf Friday. Oh, it may have rained and a cold wind may have blown something fierce — but it was just fine with the Mustang link squad. The team finished in a second-place tie with Livonia Churchill at the MHSAA Regional tournament at Hilltop Golf Course in Plymouth, 15 strokes off the first-place performance of Walled Lake Central.

That qualifies the Mustangs to go to the state tournament at Michigan State University this Saturday.

"We kind of redeemed ourselves after finishing just sixth in the league the previous week," said coach Joe Blake. The par at Hilltop is listed at 70, but that proved to be a joke Friday as the conditions made rounds under 100 something to write home about.

The course seems to be a godsend to Northville's varsity — the previous week the team had posted a second-place finish at the 32-team Midwest Invitational on the same 18 holes.

Friday, the Mustangs carded a 349, while Central took top honors with 334. Livonia Stevenson rounded out the state qualifiers with a 350. If a lot of those team names sound familiar, it figures — of the top seven teams at the tournament, six are from the WLAA.

"Usually qualifiers would shoot in the 320s, but that was just impossible," Blake said. "We seem to be a tournament-type team. Maybe our guys need 18 holes to get themselves straightened out."

That certainly seemed to be true of the team leader, Bob Pegrum. After shooting an underwhelming 45 on the front nine, Pegrum fired a 38 on the back nine to finish with an 83, two strokes off the day's best round, turned in by Dean Allen of Livonia Bentley.

Close behind with typical consistency was Eric Morfe with an 84. Bob Justus posted an 88 and Baird a 94 to round out the scores that counted.

On the rough course, putting became a prime factor, and it's possible Northville exploited a slight advantage in putting skill acquired by playing on two different home courses, Salem Hills and Meadowbrook.

"Most guys on our team are good putters," Blake said. "I suppose that helped us a bit."

"We all had breakfast together that morning," he added, "and the guys all were very loose — nobody seemed tense, and I thought that would be good for them. I just told them to try and keep their hands warm. They really kept their composure out there."

Tee off time in East Lansing, weather permitting, will be 10 a.m. Saturday.

Kickers remain in first

Mustang halfback Brian Dragon beat Plymouth Canton goalkeeper Dave Hawkins on a near-post bullet from 15 yards out to stake Northville to a 2-1 conference win in soccer action Tuesday of last week.

Dragon's second-half goal and halfback Steve Starcevic's unassisted 18-yard rocket that tied the score in the first-half accounted for all Northville's scoring, despite numerous chances to add more — the Mustangs outshot the Chiefs 16-7.

"The kids played real well," said co-coach Marvin Gans. "We moved the ball real well."

A defensive slip-up cost a goal early in the game, as Mustang goalie Jeff Metz had no chance to stop a shot by the Chiefs' Steve Morell.

"I thought it was a real team effort," added co-coach Dan Swayne. "We ran well and defended very well also."

The win was the first of three last week, and the only one that was remotely close.

NORTHVILLE 7
LIVONIA FRANKLIN 0

Northville's four-goal scoring explosion in the first half kept the squad atop the WLAA Western Division standings with a 6-1-2 league record. Livonia Churchill remains close in the standings and will face Northville-Tuesday

Netters' circumstance beyond their control

By B.J. MARTIN

For those who insist on just the facts — the Mustang tennis team took first in the Western Conference at the WLAA tournament last week and third at the MHSAA Class A regional tournament Friday and Saturday — not good enough for further post-season play. Okay?

Now, for those who like a good story — even those who don't care at all about tennis — read on:

Once upon a time there was a group of 12 girls who made up the Mustang varsity tennis team — usually only 10 are required, but as there were four sets of doubles players with enough talent, it was necessary to rotate two separate pairs at third doubles.

The girls, readers may recall from last week's installment, had just been nipped for first place in the final game of the season by big bad Farmington Harrison. But the Mustangs and their coach were confident they were the better team, and vowed to prove it at the league meet Tuesday and Thursday of last week.

They did. It happened almost exactly like the match that closed the two teams' regular season. Harrison prevailed in singles and Northville in doubles — except this time in fourth singles, Denise Colovas beat Jill Birsas.

'It was the most frustrating week I've ever experienced as coach.'

Uta Filkin
Tennis coach

The previous Friday, a blustery sort of day, the taller, stronger Birsas prevailed in two hotly contested sets to seal the Harrison win. But Tuesday was a nice, sunny day and Colovas felled Birsas in three sets, 6-2, 1-6, 6-2.

Swim squad tops Falcons

The Mustang girls' swim team evened its league dual-meet mark at 1-1 Thursday by trouncing Farmington 112-68. The win gave Northville a 2-4 overall record.

The squad took eight firsts in 11 events against the Falcons and took first and second in six — in other words, it was a definite blowout.

Both relay events were clearly in the pocket. In the 200 medley relay, the Mustang team of Shawn Bales, Erica Nelson, Kim Thompson and Lisa Felicelli took first in 2:03, while the team of Stephanie Warren, Karen Brining, Jill Roth and Dawn Biandi took second in 2:13.

In the 400 freestyle relay, Roth, Bales, Kim Valade and Brining led a Mustang sweep with a 4:34.9. The second place team was Kathy Kennedy, Karen Petersen, Kris Valade and Brining, who teamed for a 4:38.4; and the third-place team of Sue LaChance, Kim Mobarak, Shari Thompson and Sue VanderBok registered a 4:43.8.

Kim Thompson led a sweep of the 100 butterfly and also nabbed a first in the individual medley. Thompson's 1:06 in the butterfly was three ticks faster than Roth, and Brining took home third in 1:25. In the individual medley, Thompson clocked a 2:26.2 while teammate Jenny Steiner placed second in 2:45.6.

Kim's sister Shari led the field in the 200 freestyle in 2:12, with Kathy Kennedy second in 2:29.

Bales and Warren went 1-2 in the 100 backstroke, Bales in 1:06 and Warren in 1:18.

In diving, freshman Julie Stock took second, but registered a personal best of 132, pleasing coach Bill Dicks, and assuring her of qualifying to dive in post-season meets. "It's her first year on the board," Dicks said, "and to learn what she has is quite an accomplishment. The coaches from other teams tell me they're very impressed with her. She's definitely a bright spot in our future."

Dicks also was encouraged by performances by Petersen and VanderBok in the freestyle and breast stroke, and by Biandi and Schott in the breast stroke.

A non-conference meet against Cherry Hill was canceled.

The previous week, Harrison defeated Northville 47-36, and Dicks thinks "the Hawks, with Plymouth Canton, will likely be Northville's toughest competition in division play this season."

"I can possibly see ending the season in a three-way tie," Dicks declared. "It'll be interesting."

Warriors drop harriers

Walled Lake Western has a good cross-country squad all right.

The Warriors' boys team beat Northville in the battle of the unbeaten last Friday as the two teams, both 4-0 in divisional play, squared off to decide the divisional champion. It was Western 17, Northville 41 on a very miserable day for a meet.

'We knew they might be the league's best team.'

Ed Gabrys
Cross-country coach

Meanwhile, the girls' team had plenty at stake also — the girls were 3-1 and one game back of undefeated division leader Livonia Churchill, the only Western Division team to beat Northville. The Mustangs came through with their customary 1-2-3 finish to win 29-30.

Kelly Wool completed the waterlogged Cass-Benton course in 20:39, ahead of Cindy Panowicz in 21:03 and Wendy Nuechterlein at her shoulder in 21:04. Lyn Howell's 11th place finish in 28:41 gave the Mustangs the win, while Sharon Savageau picked up 12th in 30:55.

As for the boys, Western's Kyle Chura led a 1-2-3 Warrior sweep. The Mustangs needed their best runner, Jim O'Neill, to break up the trio, but O'Neill finished two seconds behind the number three runner, clocking a 17:23 — a good time on the soggy course.

Rich Nazradi clocked an 18:01 for seventh and Matt Winquist an 18:02 for eighth. Pat Campbell took 10th in 18:07 and Doug Doyle finished 12th in 18:36. Jim Riney was pulled out of the race when a hamstring injury surfaced. At the time he was running second.

The squad did much better the previous Tuesday in the week on the same course at the Redford Union Invitational. The girls were unable to field all five runners to compete as a team, but the boys tied for seventh with Livonia Bentley at the 20-team meet, which included all the Western Lakes league teams.

Dearborn Fordson emerged the winner, while Farmington nosed Walled Lake Western for the WLA's strongest showing, third place. Churchill took fifth and Plymouth Salem ninth.

O'Neill clocked a 17:06 a personal best on the Cass Benton course, for 18th place; and Riney's 17:10, which was 21st was also a personal best. Nazradi clocked an 18:01 for 60th place, Winquist an 18:15 for 71st place and Netke an 18:24 for 82nd place.

The three Northville entries in girls' competition were each suffering from last week's popular cold and flu bug, but still did well — Wool's 20:55 was 12th in girls' competition, Panowicz clocked a 21:14 for 18th and Nuechterlein was 25th in 21:40.

SOGGY SHOWDOWN — Leading Northville against Walled Lake Western in Friday's key division contest was Jim O'Neill (above) in boys' competition and Kelly Wool and Cindy Panowicz (right) in girls' competition. O'Neill took fourth, while Wool and Panowicz finished 1-2 with teammate Wendy Nuechterlein finishing third. Western won the meet and appears to be a favorite going in to the league's final week.

Dimitroff promoted to GVS varsity

ANDY DIMITROFF

Northville High School graduate Andy Dimitroff has earned a slot on the Grand Valley State Lakers football team as a freshman, and indications are he will play a key role for the team in years to come.

Presently used as a backup cornerback, Dimitroff caught the eye of GVS head coach Bob Giesey when he won the JV contest for the Lakers against Ferris State recently.

In that game, Ferris State drove to the Lakers' 40 and attempted a pass.

Dimitroff intercepted at the 28 and raced 72 yards for the game's winning touchdown with 1:28 remaining.

Again Ferris State mounted a drive as the clock wound down and Dimitroff intercepted yet again, this time in the end zone on the game's final play.

Northville's Vince Candela, a sophomore, is a defensive tackle for the Lakers used on short-yardage situations.

Grand Valley State College is presently 2-4 and coming off a 27-14 loss last Saturday to Northern Michigan.

Mustang hoopsters fall twice to league rivals

By B.J. MARTIN

Conference losses last week to Plymouth Canton and state-ranked Walled Lake Western dropped the ailing, despondent Northville girls' basketball team to a 1-9 WLAA record. The active roster was trimmed to only seven players by Tuesday's 52-36 loss to Canton, with forward Kelly Parker ill, guard Pat Wazny injured and guard Julie Maliszewski's elective departure for the season. Coach Rick Hurst called up junior varsity guard Tracy Talbot and Talbot did well during her court time, filling in for Kathy Korwin and swing player Sue Terwin, who ran into foul trouble in the third quarter. "It was an interesting game," Hurst said. "We match up with them well...but we just couldn't buy a basket."

Shooting has been a season-long problem for the Mustangs and it hit rock bottom against the Chiefs. Northville was 1-for-15 in the first quarter, although 11 shots came from inside the lane.

"I couldn't figure it out for the life of me," Hurst said. Oddly, in the second quarter, Northville had its highest-scoring quarter of the season, hitting 8 of 11 and scoring 17 points. But Canton scored 18 and held a 6-point halftime lead.

With two starters in foul trouble, Northville had trouble containing the Chiefs thereafter. Tricia Campbell was pressed into service at guard and performed better than Hurst had even hoped, hitting three of five long-range shots and scoring seven points. Forwards Tricia Ducker and Denise Liddle chipped in eight and nine points, respectively. Erin Ryan pulled down 10 rebounds.

"It's hard getting the girls up for some of these games," Hurst said, "and that's why we're slow starters. Sometimes it takes them a quarter to realize there's nothing here we can't handle."

W.L. WESTERN 48
NORTHVILLE 23

Maybe Western was something Northville really couldn't handle—in fact, nobody has been able to handle the undefeated Lady Warriors yet. Ranked among the state's top five teams for weeks now, the Warriors simply played some devastating defense to pin down the Mustangs for the second time this season.

It's hard getting the girls up for some of these games, and that's why we're slow starters.

Rick Hurst
Basketball coach

Northville played hard-nosed defense also, and Western led only 22-11 at the half. Then the roof caved in. The Warriors

Beat Chargers 27-7

By B.J. MARTIN

The one-two offensive punch of quarterback Dave Longridge and Steve Smith laid the Churchill Chargers out cold last Friday, as Northville picked up its second league win against two losses with a 27-7 victory.

Longridge had one of his best games ever, running for touchdowns of two and 69 yards and connecting with receiver Brian Jennings for a 48-yard TD strike. Smith, replacing the injured Todd Deal at fullback, rushed for 177 yards, including a 96-yard touchdown—it was Smith's second TD run from inside his team's own 10 yard line this season.

Meanwhile, the Mustang defense wasn't giving anything away, permitting just 42 yards in the second half, intercepting three Charger passes.

Colligan called Longridge's performance the senior's best ever. "He ran the offense perfectly," Colligan enthused. Longridge completed only four of 11 passes for 71 yards and one interception, but almost all the incompletions bounced off his receivers' fingertips or numbers.

The game also marked the return of linebacker Ernie Bock after a knee injury hobbled him for the first five games. Bock led the team with eight first hits and two assists, while Doug Hartman was similarly dominant at the other linebacker slot, with four first hits, seven assists and an interception.

All Northville's scoring came in the first half. Northville's execution on its first drive was textbook all the way. The Mustangs rambled 88 yards on 14 plays to the Churchill two, then Longridge took the snap and followed center Greg Wendell into the end zone.

Longridge scored again on Northville's next possession. The Charger defense was keying on Mustang halfback John Quinn all day, and Longridge took an option keeper 69 yards for Northville's second score.

"The Chargers were jumping every time Quinn sneezed," Colligan chuckled. "Dave just faked a pitch to John, turned around and nobody touched him."

Quinn picked up 67 yards on 14 carries. Hartman added 37 on seven carries.

On Smith's marathon TD run, a penalty had stuck the Mustangs on their own four yard line midway through the second quarter. On second down, linemen Matt Meyer and John Klokenga ripped open a crater-sized hole on a trap block play and the speedy Smith was through it in an instant. He shook off two shots from Charger defensive backs, and scampered down the sidelines under the wing of tackle Steve Schrader.

Smith had scored a 94-yard TD on a similar play in Northville's season opener against Redford Thurston.

Northville's final TD came shortly before the half. Jennings blew past the Charger secondary on a fly pattern and Longridge unloaded a bomb right in the senior receiver's arms.

Jack Sylvestre, a kicker called up from the junior varsity and the only freshman on the team, converted three of four extra point attempts in an impressive debut. The Mustang kicking game also benefited from three excellent punts by Gary Strunk in the second half, averaging 38 yards with no returns.

The Chargers' only TD came in the second quarter on a 26-yard pass from quarterback John Stodsiadis to Robert Tracey. The Mustangs were blitzing and Stodsiadis had the right play, a screen to the outside.

"Our object in the game was to contain their quarterback," Colligan said.

The Mustangs will likely need a better showing against the Walled Lake Western Warriors at Homecoming Friday night. "(Warrior coach) Chuck Apap will have his guys sky-high for us after we wrecked their homecoming last year," Colligan said. "We'll have to be on guard for them."

Soccer team tops Dondero

at 7 p.m. at Churchill.

Against Franklin Wednesday, a penalty shot by Starcevic, a volley off a cross by winger Randy Eppers, and two goals by winger Joe Arwady put the game comfortably away. In the second half, Dragon scored with an assist from Matt Peltz and winger Dave Yarmuth added a pair, one from a pass from John Goode and another from assist by Scott Gala.

Swayne and Gans attributed the outburst of firepower from the Mustang wingers to the play of center forward Joe Mackle. "Joe has been doing an excellent job of distributing the ball to the wings," Gans said.

early going, a rebound of a Mackle shot fired home by winger Doug May, a shot by Arwady on a Starcevic assist, Starcevic himself on an 18-yarder and Nick Morris' rebound of a Fred Cahill shot.

"I thought it was a real team effort. We ran well and defended very well also."

Soccer coach

NORTHVILLE 8
ROYAL OAK DONDERO 0

The Mustangs made the opening round of the MHSAA playoffs look like a snap against Dondero, which has a long-established but slumping soccer program. Only 12 Dondero players suited up for the Saturday pre-district qualifier game.

It was like target practice, as the Mustangs fired a season-high of 39 shots on the Dondero goal. The ones that went in were Dragon's far-post goal in the

In the second half, Arwady tallied again on an assist from Yarmuth, Starcevic again unassisted, and Dragon once more on a cross from Gala.

The victory, which gave Northville a 10-3-2 record for the season, qualified the Mustangs for a much tougher match at Royal Oak Kimball this Friday. Kimball, a state-ranked soccer power will play Northville in Class A MHSAA district playoffs at a time to be announced.

League, regional tourney rules work against net team

So where's the pathos? Get this: The team with the best divisional record gets a trophy, and the team with the best showing in both the regular season and the best showing at the league tournament wins the coveted All-Division trophy. In other words, in consideration for the All-Division trophy, Northville gets a point for winning the tournament and Harrison gets a point for having the best season record. In the event of a tie, the winner of the two teams' regular-season match gets the All-Division trophy. Sorry, Northville. Harrison gets both trophies.

So here's credit where it's due: the division's best team on a nice day, Northville, sent its first and second doubles teams along with Colovas to the league finals, division championships in tow.

In second doubles, Jean DuSablón and Jennifer Trausch turned in the team's best accomplishment of the season. The undefeated-in-league play duet not only won the division title by beating Plymouth Canton 7-5, 6-0, but took the overall league championship by winning over Stevenson's Kris Brocklehurst and Karen Porter 6-4, 7-5.

In first singles, Jeanine Cook and Leslie Oliver won over Walled Lake Western 7-5, 7-5, then lost to Lakes champion Livonia Stevenson Thursday, 6-1, 6-3.

Colovas went three sets against Lakes Division champion, Plymouth Salem's Barb Hanosh Thursday, finally losing 6-7, 7-5, 3-6.

In the regionals, the hard luck continued. Northville took third, behind Ann Arbor Pioneer and Ann Arbor Huron. The top two teams go to the state finals. Now get this: no Northville players even played anyone from Huron, which had one more point than Northville — each game being worth a point.

'I'll make sure Huron plays us before we give ground on those seedings in the future.'

Uta Filkin
Tennis coach

Thus, some teams that struggled to beat Northville to make the final rounds romped over Huron. But because Huron's seedings were better, for no reason other than that Huron had historically been the better team in encounters in years past. Northville, because of the seedings, encountered the tournament's toughest players in lower rounds than did Huron. It's as simple as that.

"It won't happen again," said coach

Uta Filkin. "I'll make sure Huron plays us before we give ground on those seedings in the future."

Northville's second and third doubles teams made it to the finals on superlative efforts. DuSablón and Trausch lost to Ann Arbor Pioneer in the regional final 6-2, 5-7, 2-6, as close calls went against them and a throng of Ann Arbor partisans cheered. In third doubles, the team of Jill Jensen and Lori Housman lost in the finals to Pioneer 3-6, 1-6.

In first singles, Holly Hubbard made it to the second round before falling to the regional champion Melissa Buck of Temperance-Bedford. Second singles Jackie Nichols, unseeded, lost to the tournament's second-seeded singles player, Johanna Rogers of Plymouth Salem.

In third singles, Vicki Robins lost to Ann Arbor Pioneer's second-seeded Helena Ade 7-6, 6-2; and in fourth singles, Colovas fell in to Cherylynn Irvin of Ypsilanti in the first round. Irvin was seeded third in the regional.

And Filkin simply said, "It was the most frustrating week I've ever experienced as coach."

End of story. May the 12 girls live happily ever after, anyway.

Colts sweep Belleville

Freshmen

A strong defense and a little razzle-dazzle carried the still-undefeated Northville Colts freshmen to a 7-6 win over Belleville Sunday.

Trailing 6-0, the Colts struck back with seconds remaining in the first half. Quarterback Jon Babara lateraled the ball to halfback Mark Hiltner who started to sweep around the right side, then pulled up and hurried a sideline pass back to Babara, who sprinted 35 yards for a touchdown. Jeff Todd ran in the crucial extra point to give the Colts a win.

The defense then went to work, led by Jay Wardwell, who had four solo tackles behind the Belleville line. Jason Wladischkin and Bob Forte played stor; on defense, with Forte recovering two fumbles.

The Colts ran for 108 yards and passed for 44 more.

Junior Varsity

The Colts JV broke open a tight game against the Belleville Cougars with two fourth-quarter touchdowns to beat Belleville 26-12 at Northville High Stadium Sunday.

Northville's JV opened the scoring in the first quarter on a one-yard plunge by Matt Smith. Dave Pierle fought his way around right end to sweep in the extra point.

Belleville came back in the second quarter, cutting the lead to 7-6 on a 21-yard touchdown pass, but a two-point conversion attempt failed. Jeff Wesley recovered a fumble later in the quarter to stop a dangerous Cougar drive and keep the game a tight 7-6 at halftime.

Matt Smith raced 70 yards to paydirt with the second-half kickoff to give Northville a 13-6 lead, but the Cougars "returned" the insult, by taking Northville's kickoff at the 25 and returning it all the way.

But in the fourth quarter, Mark Klockenga broke up a long Cougar pass to end Belleville's threats. Greg Paler then pounced on a Belleville fumble, and seven plays later Paler ran over right tackle for a six yard TD.

Jeff Mayer iced the cake with a five-yard quarterback keeper around right end, mark Mastrolanni ran for the extra point.

Wet harriers in showdown

Northville had one other meet last week — the eight-team Walled Lake Western Invitational, which is divided into two categories, each for boys only: junior-seniors and freshmen-sophomores.

Northville finished fourth in the former with 85 points, behind Western with 71, Southfield Christian with 74, and Redford Union with 78.

O'Neill took eighth place honors with a 17:28 time on the Western's difficult course. Riney was 16th in 18:10, Nazradi at his shoulder in 18:11, Doyle 20th in 18:17 and Kurt Assenmacher 23rd in 18:33.

This week the squads kick off Homecoming weekend with a Thursday meet against league rival Livonia Bentley at 4 p.m.

Tricia Ducker fends off Western's Nancy Leach

Hoop team falls twice

riors tried out a 2-2-1 zone press for the first time this season and for the Mustangs, it was a complete disaster. Western outscored Northville 20-0 in the third quarter.

"At that point we just gave up," Hurst said. "We've had tough games before, but that was really the first game all year I thought we didn't bother to try."

Campbell again turned in a solid game, scoring six points, and Ducker and Ryan did what they could against 6'3" Val Hall and 6'0" Carol Kroll of Western, but with even Northville's most poised players completely rattled, the margin was simply too big. Liddle also contributed a mature game on offense, but her shooting, too, was cold due in part to the Amazonian front line of the Lady Warriors.

The Mustangs will try to get back on track tomorrow (Thursday) against "very tough" Walled Lake Central, and next Tuesday against Livonia Churchill. Both games are away.

Thompson's nearly perfect

Maybe we're making them too easy. Farmington's ART THOMPSON came within three points of perfection in this week's Northville Record/Novi-Walled Lake News Football Contest.

Thompson picked the correct winner of all 14 high school and college games we listed last week and predicted 45 points would be scored in the Army-Notre Dame game last Saturday. A field goal for either team would have done it, as the Irish prevailed 42-0. But as it turns out, Thompson didn't need the tie-breaker to take the $10 first prize.

Northville's RON BARNUM and another Northville resident, PETER LEHR, each though Ohio State would knock off Illinois. It was close, but the Illini took the Buckeyes. Barnum's guess of 42 points in the tie-breaker was right on the money for the $5 second prize. Lehr guessed 44 points and will take home the $3 third prize.

A novel concept — sports as fun

By B.J. MARTIN

Unquestionably one of the benefits of working for a small-town newspaper is the genuine feeling of belonging to the community. For the most part, this is good. It instills a sense of responsibility for one's product — a writer with the Record is never invulnerable from direct criticism.

Philosophically, the writer must accept that there is no such thing as being "too close" to his or her subject. That takes time and it can be far more emotionally exasperating than the turmoil anyone has seeing his name in print in any kind of negative light.

I was interviewing a coach about a basketball game last year. Apparently one of his players missed two free throws late in a crucial game when sinking only one would have tied the score.

Now, I'm a human being. I feel for the guy who missed the shots. But it happens to everybody sometimes. The coach wouldn't tell me the name of the player. Why? Because the guy shooting would undergo emotional turmoil if it were reported he failed once.

At this point I wonder if we're taking this winning business a little too seriously. One of the most important lessons in athletics is learning to accept one's limitations just as easily as one accepts one's abilities. If you can't laugh about missing two shots that would have tied the game, then you're too serious about the sport. That's all there is to it.

Sports In Perspective

In that vein, I've received some opinions lately about the treatment of youth soccer scores. As the fall season is almost over, the point is moot whether it's a good idea to publish the kids' names as far down as the Under 10 leagues. When we have room, we do.

Some parents — and I believe most are those whose kids have most quickly developed their athletic talents — believe it's a great thing for their kids to see their name in the paper. A great boost for their ego, immensely gratifying and completely harmless.

I'm not so sure. And I know many who are absolutely sure it is definitely harmful.

All kids are not created equal, but they have an equal opportunity to have their egos crushed by their non-inclusion. And frankly, some of the coaches certainly do not try to balance out their players' little moment in the sun. I see a lot of the same names down for MVP every week, and that goes for every age category.

I'm trying to keep an open mind on the subject, so if you have an opinion, please feel free to make it known to me.

There are other things — that the girls on the Mustang basketball team are weary of bearing the responsibility of moving the team through yet another rebuilding year.

If there were one thing I could tell them, it would be to smile, because playing basketball is fun. It feels good to get your heart pumping and your body moving, to say nothing of watching your shot float through the hoop once in a while.

In my high school we had terrific basketball teams every single year. It was fun to cheer them but it would have been nicer to play on one. So enjoy it, girls. At least you get to play, which is more than the girls on Walled Lake Western's bench can say.

A MESSAGE FROM CHATHAM TO THE CUSTOMER OF GREAT SCOTT

As you know, Great Scott has closed many of their stores in the Metro Detroit area. We understand the inconvenience this may cause you.

We, therefore, would like to take this opportunity to invite you to shop Chatham. We shall be happy to honor your Great Scott Checking Card in all of our stores while your Chatham card is being processed.

We look forward to meeting and serving you soon.
