NHS graduates delaying college to take jobs

By MICHELE McELMURRY

The increasing cost of higher education coupled with a greater opportunity to acquire marketable skills appears to be putting today's high school graduates on a different course than their predecessors.

In a recent survey of approximately 53 percent of Northville High School's 1983 graduates, school administrators found that an estimated 25 percent of the graduates are in the job market with 70 percent in two-year and four-year colleges and five percent in the military.

Nancy Soper, assistant superintendent for instruction, said the significant difference in comparison to graduates of three or more years ago is the increased number of students choosing to work a year or more out of high school before entering college.

"It's a sign of the times," Soper noted. "The reason they have delayed college for a year or so is primarily economic factors."

She noted that with the escalating cost of higher education, more students are seeking experience in specific fields to prepare for a college curriculum.

Soper pointed out that many graduates are looking for marketable skills — particularly in sales, computer training programs and the service industry. "Students want a marketable skill when they get out of high school to help them get through college," Soper observed.

She noted that this trend varies from three or more years ago when a greater number of students headed to college directly out of high school.

In the Class of 1980, for instance, Soper said an estimated 85 percent of the graduates headed to two and four-year colleges right out of high school.

"That's not high for Northville," she observed, "but it's very high for the average high school in Wayne County."

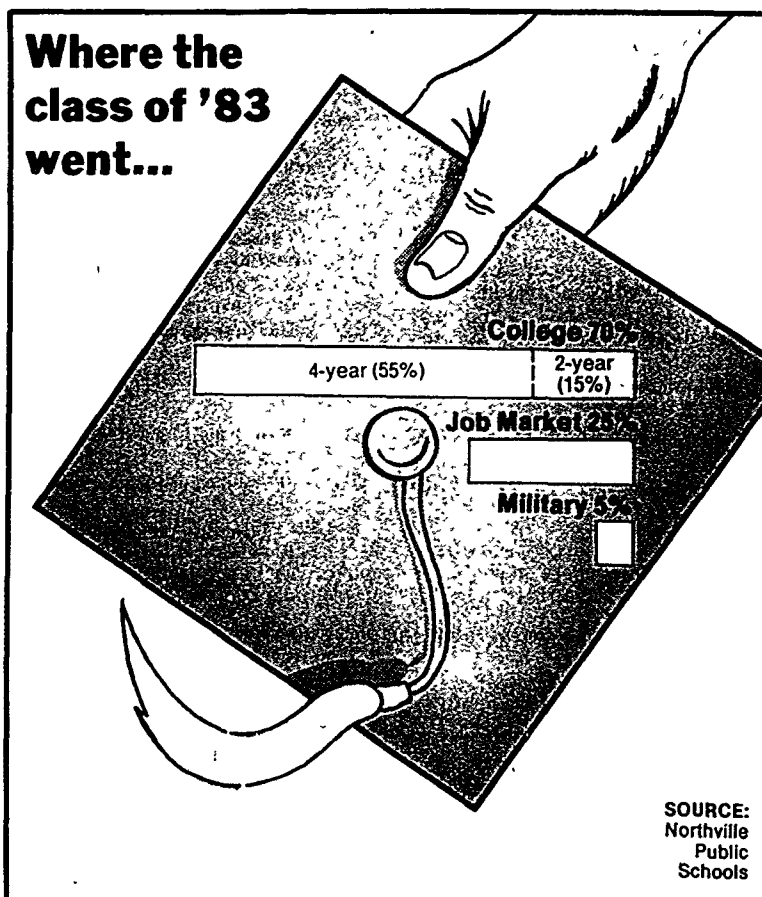

However, Soper emphasized that of the 25 percent of the 1983 graduates employed in the work force, many will go on to college after a year or more.

"Students today are taking a year to work to find what field they may want to go into," she noted. "There are more options open in the areas of training programs for young people — especially in sales."

"Some companies will send students on to a skills program," Soper said. "That hasn't always been true — except maybe in the car industry."

Repair of deck may not be d

By KEVIN WILSON

Faced with a potentially huge expense to repair or renovate the parking deck at Center and Cady streets, city council Monday night began considering other potential uses for the property.

Continuing deterioration of the parking deck was the subject of an investigation by Neyer, Tiseo and Hinds, Limited of Farmington Hills, a consulting engineering firm specializing in materials science.

Kal Hiseo told council continued use of the precast concrete structure built in 1971 would require that the upper deck be repaired at a cost estimated in excess of $150,000, or that it be replaced by a new, cast-in-place upper deck for roughly $300,000. The cheaper alternative, he suggested, would be to remove the upper deck entirely and simply use the lower portion as a parking lot.

Faced with those alternatives, council members said it was time to reconsider the location of the deck and land use on the site. Among the possibilities discussed were construction of commercial buildings on what is now the upper level parking area (accessible from Mary Alexander Court), on the lower level or in both areas. Also discussed was construction of a parking deck on the south side of Cady with a bridge linking the deck to the commercial properties where the present deck is located.

The investigation was initially prompted by a large hole in the upper deck created when a car fell through the deck surface. Hiseo told council the hole was a spot where the deck surface had not bonded to the underlying twin T-beam support structure.

Similar problems, he said, probably exist at other locations. The steel reinforcing structure within the precast concrete has been subject to corrosion and concrete is cracked in several places, he noted.

Lack of maintenance and the precast concrete twin T-beam design Hiseo said "is not one I am very enthused about" have led to the deterioration, which he indicated would accelerate from this point forward. Repairs made in 1979, he said in response to Mayor Paul Vernon's suggestion, were "something of a Band-Aid job" that did not solve the problems.

Repairs made today could be expected to last five to seven years, he said. Replacement with a cast-in-place upper deck employing the existing foundations and pillars, with continuing maintenance, would give 20 years or more service.

For the present the parking deck is not structurally dangerous in use, Hiseo said. With repairs, primarily sealing of joints in the upper deck, it might serve two or three years longer "before chunks start falling off."

Installation of commercial properties on either level would slow the deterioration, Hiseo said, by reducing the exposure to weather and to the load of cars driving over the deck. A major problem is that of salt carried onto the deck by cars in winter or used to melt ice, he said. Water carries the salt into the cracks in the concrete and through the unsealed joints to hasten corrosion in the steel reinforcement beneath.

As steel rusts, he explained, it expands to four times its volume, stressing the concrete until it cracks.

After Hiseo's presentation, council members noted that replacing the upper deck would likely be the best long-term solution if it is decided that the site should continue as a parking structure.

"We could expend $150,000 and have to do it over again in five years or spend twice as much and have it last at least four times as long," council member Paul Folino noted.

But city manager Steven Walters noted that the upper deck of the structure contains only 75 parking spaces. "In a sense, it would cost $4,000 a space" to replace the upper deck, he said. "We can create other parking areas, probably, for much less money per space."

Council member Burton DeRusha said the city "needs some time to examine the best use of that property. There is a need to provide parking in that area, but perhaps we don't even need the parking deck at that location. We may want to replace it at some other location."

Hiseo said if council decides not to make the major expenses at this point, it should "have someone examine it from time to time. If something turns up, then you can discourage use of the structure before there is a real problem." In any event, he said, replacing joint seals should be done to keep as much salt as possible away from the steel reinforcing structures.

Noting that a second phase in the downtown development plan may be initiated before the deck has to be replaced, Walters said the downtown development authority should be a part of any planning decisions regarding parking locations downtown.

Approval is conditional

Planners OK bump shop landscaping

By B.J. MARTIN

City planners are hoping their contingent approval last week of landscape plans for Seaman's Bumping and Painting, 114 High Street, will be able to satisfy both the business owner and an uncertain group of neighboring city residents.

At its regular meeting Tuesday last week, the city planning commission voted 4-3 to approve the landscape plans required for the bump shop's expansion if owner George Miller would address specific landscaping recommendations submitted to commissioners by city planning consultant Ron Nino.

Miller's plans to expand his business into the former Laundromat building located next to his property has drawn concern from nearby residents who complained his business traffic would be an eyesore.

At a meeting of the city zoning board of appeals September 7, a group of High Street and West Dunlap Street residents had turned out to express their concerns about the site's appearance. The ZBA at that time specified three modifications to be made in the site plans for its approval of the expansion, including closing the High Street driveway entrance whenever Laundromat parking area would permit traffic to flow through directly from Main.

But a city police report to the planning commission strongly urged the High Street entrance be kept open at all times, and that the driveway entrance located the farthest west along Main be closed instead.

The ZBA also imposed a limit of 12 cars Miller could store outside on both properties, and additionally required a six-foot screen of plant material along High Street.

At its meeting last month, the planning commission unanimously approved the site plan — subject to the following conditions:

- The ZBA's agreement to keep open the High Street entrance as police recommended;
- Miller's submittal of suitable landscaping plans to the planning commission; and
- Miller's meeting county emissions standards.

At a meeting October 19, the ZBA amended its original requirement to close the High Street entrance to make that requirement "subject to the concurrence of the police department and the planning commission."

When the subject of landscape plans for Miller's property was taken up again at last week's commission meeting, a group of residents again turned up, this time to see if there was a way the city could halt the expansion.

David Danes, one of those residents, said he found it "very objectionable for us to have this kind of eyesore."

"I don't understand why this is allowed to go on," he said. "I look out my window and I see a great deal of blacktop and wrecked autos. We spend a lot of money on improving the downtown area, then decide to allow such a use."

Those sentiments were echoed by several other residents.

But Nino explained that, legally, the city had no recourse to prevent the expansion, except to buy the property. "We're dealing with a legal nonconforming use," he said. "The law says we can't put them out of use as long as they're in business."

In effect, Miller's Main Street property and his plans for expansion enjoy the zoning equivalent of a "grandfather clause," permitting a nonconforming use if it existed before the existing zoning laws were enacted. The zoning regulations also permit expansion of existing nonconforming use.

Miller's landscaping plan included a planting strip of globe arbor vitae (evergreen bushes) 18" x 24" in height along Main Street where the western-most driveway had been located, and along the 25 feet of High Street frontage nearest Main Street. The remainder of the High Street frontage is to be planted with five-to-six-foot evergreen trees. Two flowering crabapples would also be planted along Main.

The reason the six-foot tall screening will not be placed closer to Main Street on High or directly on Main is so that sight lines for Main Street traffic are preserved.

In his review of the landscaping plan, Nino said he believed the proposed landscape changes "will achieve the

Christmas Walk sets records despite rainy day

Dreary weather didn't seem to dampen the spirits of the record crowds gathered downtown Sunday for the annual Christmas Walk.

Dewey Gardner of IV Seasons Flowers said many downtown merchants reported "record breaking sales" from this year's walk.

He noted that many shoppers were waiting outside stores almost a half hour before doors opened at noon.

The annual Christmas Walk, a 26-year tradition in Northville, brought throngs of shoppers and browsers into the downtown area to celebrate the start of the holiday season.

Lightposts adorned with greens and red bows and trees draped with tiny Christmas lights greeted downtown shoppers. In addition to the festive street ornaments installed by DPW workers, shoppers also viewed the windows of downtown stores and businesses adorned with holiday decorations.

The traditional window decorating contest, sponsored by the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce, was judged this year by Terry Fraser, vice president of the chamber, and his wife Phyllis, Ed Jamieson, a chamber director, and his wife Barbara.

Windows were judged for appropriateness, use of color and scale. Categories were 1. Clothing and Shoes; 2. Gift, Florist and Antique Shops; 3. Services — restaurants, travel agencies, photo studios, bakeries, groceries, shoe repair; 4. Professional — real estate and insurance offices, banks; 5. General — jewelry, crafts and furniture.

Barbara Jamieson noted that this year's window decorating contest was particularly difficult to judge because of the many excellent decorations.

The following is a list of the winning window designs:

CLOTHING AND SHOES — First Place, The Little People Shop; Second Place, Marquis Imports and Honorable Mention, Lapham's Men's Shop.

GIFTS, FLORISTS AND ANTIQUES — First Place, The Wooden Shovel Antiques; Second Place, Northville Gallery of Flowers; Honorable Mention, Aggie's Antiques.

SERVICES — First Place, Northville Travel Plans; Second Place, Hairtage

Center Salon; Honorable Mention, Genitti's.

PROFESSIONAL — First Place, Carl Johnson Realty; Second Place, Bruce Roy Realty; Honorable Mention, Les Bowden and Associates Insurance.

GENERAL — First Place, Sweets 'N Treats; Second Place, Long's Fancy Bath Boutique and Honorable Mention, Judy's Country Curtains.

A new category for window decorating design also was presented at this year's Christmas Walk, chamber member Kay Keegan said. The new Chamber President's Christmas Trophy was awarded to IV Seasons Flowers.

goal of screening the view of activities on the site. The fact that they are evergreen means the screening will be year round."

Explaining the city's position to the neighboring residents at last week's meeting, Nino said, "We used the opportunity (of the expansion request) to get Mr. Miller to put in some landscape improvements... We're trying to work out an amicable arrangement, and he has been most cooperative."

The majority of the commissioners decided two of Nino's recommendations — a six-inch raised structure to be placed parallel to a planting strip along Main Street, and a new curb and gutter — were too stringent for an occupancy that might only last two years, as Miller said was possible.

Commissioners, however, agreed that should Miller stay at that location for a longer time, a new curb and gutter would almost certainly be required.

The five recommendations Nino made, and that the commission insisted must be implemented for its final approval were:

- "That appropriate soil removal and replacement of topsoil within the planting strip be carried out so that plant material can be provided a proper growing environment;

- "Bumper guards or wheel stops should be placed not more than three feet from the planting strip along High Street opposite each parking stall;

- "Appropriate ground cover should be placed over the planting surface after providing for trees and bushes."

- "A solid screen at least six feet high shall be provided along the north property line from the corner of the building to High Street." Nino told commissioners there has been a verbal agreement with Miller for a six-foot wooden fence to satisfy that requirement; and

- "Appropriate replacement and development of new curbing to coincide with the modifications to the High Street driveway and West Main driveway shall be made."

Voting in favor of the contingent ap-

County at loggerheads

A plan to rescind hospital layoffs was considered by the Wayne County Commission last week but failed on a 6-5 vote, reflecting disagreement on the board regarding the boundaries of executive-legislative authority.

Even if it had succeeded, it is unclear whether such a vote by the commission would have been a binding decision.

The commission voted on the proposal November 17, the day of the announcement that county executive William Lucas had issued layoff notices to approximately 1,000 employees of County General Hospital which he is trying to sell.

Jointly submitted by six out-county commissioners, the proposed resolution said Lucas acted "without lawful authority" and warned that such layoffs would close the facility to public use as well as generate potential millions of dollars of damage against the county in unemployment, pension, worker compensation and patient abuse claims.

As proposed, the resolution would nullify the layoffs and mandate the treasurer to continue payroll and maintenance expenditures at the hospital. Voting in favor of the resolution were commissioners Mary Dumas, Kay Beard, Stanley F. Rozycki, Joseph L. Jurkiewicz and Richard E. Manning with chairman William Surore.

Beard led arguments that Lucas has no authority in matters effecting changes in the budget. She said the hospital layoffs parallel the situation in Detroit city government when Mayor Coleman Young authorized layoff of police officers without consulting the city council and was challenged in court. "It should be established," Beard argued, "that these kinds of things cannot be done without our concurrence."

According to Dumas, the sole Republican member of the commission, representing Livonia, Plymouth and Northville, "The major issue is not whether the hospital closes or jobs are lost, but of maintaining legislative authority. I don't think the layoffs will be legal until the CEO comes to use and presents them as a recommendation."

Opponents of the resolution argued, however, that it represented a legislative attempt to violate Lucas' administrative authority; that the commission cannot enforce orders outside legislative jurisdiction.

"We should be careful of issuing resolutions and orders when it isn't clear whether we have authority to do so," cautioned Samuel Turner. He said the courts may have to determine what is right or wrong in this instance.

"Commissioner Milton Mack said simply, 'We have no authority to rescind layoffs.' Along with Mack, commissioners John C. Hertel and Clarence R. Young abstained from the vote on the issue.

Those voting against the resolution were Turner, Arthur M. Carter, Jackie L. Currie, Freddie Burton, Jr., and Bernard N. Kilpatrick.

The six votes in favor failed to pass the resolution since a majority was required. There are 15 commissioners, all of whom were present.

Economy pushes grads into pre-college jobs

Soper also pointed out that the five percent of the 1983 graduates in the military is an increase over previous years.

"The military is making it more attractive to young people," she said. "It's also another opportunity to get a college degree."

Soper said the areas of study for students in two and four-year colleges has remained fairly consistent over the past few years with the majority of students majoring in business, liberal arts and engineering.

For those students employed, the most common area of work is in the service industry.

She noted that the survey, conducted through the office of instruction and the high school counseling office, is significant in revealing where students are six-months out of high school.

However, she said the office of instruction currently is "gearing up" for a more thorough graduate follow-up survey of the Class of 1980 to be conducted this January.

"I think that will give us more valid information," she noted.

Soper stated that while graduate follow-up surveys have been conducted in the district since 1977, the return rate has not been significantly high. Most of the surveys have been in post card form and mailed to the graduates' local address.

However, she noted that the forthcoming survey will take on a new form and hopefully will produce a higher return rate.

She pointed out that among the most successful surveys conducted by Northville schools was a vocational education follow-up survey of the Class of '82 under the direction of NHS assistant principal Barbara Campbell.

Soper noted that the return rate of 69.9 percent for that survey was higher than the state or county survey results.

The assistant superintendent pointed out that the follow-up surveys are helpful to the district in assessing its own curriculum strengths and weaknesses.

For instance, in the graduate follow-up survey conducted of the Class of 1980, students ranked Advanced Composition, Humanities and Biology as the courses most helpful in their fields. They also pointed out that the greatest weaknesses were in the areas of Mathematics, Computer Science and Chemistry.

With more students heading into the job market directly out of high school, a reassessment of the curriculum offerings at the high school may need to be examined, Soper added.

Hospice education offered

Hospice care is a special nurturing, according to Sister Mary Giovanni.

Giovanni, who is both a nurse and a gerontologist, will share her experiences in providing such nurture to terminally ill patients and their families in a new academic program in Hospice Care developed at Madonna College in Livonia.

The new program, from both professional and volunteer care-givers, will address the emotional, physical and spiritual needs of the terminally ill.

The sequence of seven courses begins in January.

The first course, "Fundamentals of Hospice Care," will meet Mondays, beginning January 9 from 4-7 p.m. It will be taught by Sister Cecilia Eagen, director of the Hospice Care program.

Eagen has had a professional interest in hospices for the past eight years and completed her doctoral dissertation at the University of Michigan on the subject. She has visited hospices in England where the hospice concept began and studied nurses in free-standing hospices in the United States.

Other courses in the program are: "Psychosocial Components in Hospice Care," "Comfort and Physical Care for the Client," "Managing Hospice Service," "Emerging Issues in Hospice Care" and "Hospice Field Experience."

Any single course may be taken by those interested in hospice care or a sequence of 30 semester hours may be completed to earn a certificate of achievement. They may be people with no previous college experience or professionals desiring an extra credential.

Information about enrollment in the program may be obtained by calling the Madonna College nursing division at 591-5155.

Beck paving cheaper with streets closed

Savings of between $12,000 and $16,000 might be expected by closing off five Northville Estates streets during upcoming paving on Beck Road, city council learned Monday night. The streets are on the east side of Beck, immediately north of Eight Mile.

A report from JCK and Associates, consulting engineers to the city of Novi who are designing the Beck improvements, indicated the cost of constructing the five intersections with the subdivision streets would be more than $33,000 while constructing a berm along that stretch would cost between $18,000 and $22,000.

The estimates were provided in response to a city council request prompted by the subdivision homeowners association, which sought to have the intersections closed off during the paving operation.

City manager Steven Walters told council that present projections call for paving to be done during the 1984 construction season.

Funded in large part by federal grants, he said, the project will have to be fully designed by spring. "That means we may have to act fairly quickly to determine whether we want these streets closed off or not."

If the decision is to close the intersections, "these figures tell us there probably would not be any assessment against the property owners. The taxpayers as a whole benefit (from lower total cost) and it benefits the homeowners in the subdivision if they want it."

City council discussed communicating with the homeowners association to determine if it is still its desire to close off the streets. A public hearing on the closings is likely. Mayor Paul Vernon noted that the "streets belong to everyone in the city and they should have an opportunity to discuss this."

Walters said council might want to go through the process of forming a special assessment district in the neighborhood "that would, we think, result in no assessment." Bidding for the project might include both alternatives in order to obtain a cost comparison and demonstrate the difference, he suggested.

City engineer Jack McNeely warned that there are additional costs involved in requesting alternate bids and suggested it not be done if the decision to close the streets is firm.

"The only reason to do it (request alternate bids) is political," Walters said. "What you have to consider as a council is, do you need to demonstrate to the rest of us taxpayers that the cost of doing this is reduced so that we are not paying for something that benefits only that subdivision?"

Comments from council members indicated alternate bids might be sought for just this purpose. Vernon and others said they feared establishing a precedent of altering engineering plans based simply on a request.

"Since it would only benefit one small area," Walters noted, "you might have someone coming along later asking for similar treatment who didn't want to pay added costs."

Formation of a special assessment district that simply resulted in zero assessment based on cost savings would both protect the city against unexpected added costs and provide protection against arguments a precedent was established, he said.

Council holds tongue in regard to legislation

Afraid their support might prove to be "the kiss of death," Northville city council Monday night discussed, but took no action upon, a proposed state senate bill that could resolve the paramutual tax sharing problem.

Senate Bill 523, introduced by Senator Robert Geake (R-Northville), would provide for direct payment of the local share of paramutual tax receipts.

Presently, racetracks forward the money to the state department of agriculture, and the cities and townships where tracks are located receive their share from the state.

In the past three years the state legislature has not appropriated the full share according to the legal formula established for this arrangement. Without an appropriation, the state attorney general has ruled, the treasury cannot make the payments.

The cuts have plunged the city into a deficit exceeding $450,000 at last accounting, and attempts to have the legislature make appropriations for full payment in future years seem doomed to failure, according to local legislators.

Direct payment would bypass this process by insuring that the local share not be routed through the treasury. If the monies are not distributed by the state, the appropriation process is not necessary and the legislature is not presented the opportunity to reduce the payments from the formula figure.

Council member J. Burton DeRusha noted that another bill introduced by Geake earlier also would allow tracks to keep their shares of the revenue without having to route it through the state as well.

"Would our endorsement be the 'kiss of death?'" asked Mayor Paul Vernon. "It appears as if this might be the solution to our problem."

DeRusha suggested that "it might be best that we wait a while" before commenting on the bill as the announced support of racetrack cities might arouse those legislators who oppose the tax sharing arrangement to take an active role in squelching it.

Chamber music concert coming

The music of Mozart and Dvorak will be performed when the Novi Chamber Music Society presents its next concert on Sunday, December 11, at the Faith Community United Presbyterian Church at 2 p.m.

Admission is $3 for adults and $2 for students. A reception will follow the concert. The church is located at 44400 West Ten Mile between Novi and Taft roads. Call 349-5666 for more information.

Performing will be four members of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra (DSO): Geoffrey Applegate, violin; Malvern James Kaufman, violin; Glenn Mellow, viola; and Carole Gatewood, cello. They will be assisted by Novi pianist Fontaine Laing.

Applegate joined the DSO in 1981 after graduating from the Peabody Conservatory in 1980. He has soloed with orchestras and played chamber music in Europe and South America as well as the United States.

Traffic island clarifies routing at Dunlap and Hutton

No 'rubber ducks'

Temporary islands aid traffic

Temporary traffic islands have been installed at the intersection of Dunlap and Hutton streets to test potential improvements in the area, city engineer Jack McNeely told council Monday night.

The islands, made of parking lot bumpers, traffic cones and light-colored stones, were a cheaper and more easily changed alternative to the "rubber ducky" traffic control devices discussed for use at the intersection last summer, he explained.

New lane markings will be painted on the roadway in the next week or two, McNeely said, completing the initial redesign of traffic patterns at what has been an awkwardly-arranged corner.

"As it is now, those (older) double yellow lines don't do anyone any good," since following them would lead a driver to collide with one of the islands, McNeely noted.

The rocks within the island were piled high to improve visibility, he said.

"The big concern was that someone would just come barreling on through there in the night just like they usually do and run right into that thing," he said.

Changes included closing one driveway into the Manufacturers drive-in bank parking lot and limiting one exit to right turns, McNeely said. The bank has been "very cooperative" in the effort to create a safer traffic flow through the corner, he told council.

Construction of the islands with the parking bumpers and stones, makes them "readily removed and relocated" so that problems can be easily corrected.

Painting of the bumpers may be done to help snow removal crews locate the islands through the winter, he said.

Once a workable arrangement is found, city manager Steven Walters said, the design can be incorporated in a more permanent alteration.

Creation of a traffic island at the corner was originally a portion of the downtown renovation project that was dropped along the way.

Cable television workshop is slated

A free workshop entitled "Communicating with Cable" will be held at Novi Woods Elementary School on Tuesday, November 29, at 7:30 p.m.

All residents interested in cable television are invited to attend the seminar which is sponsored by the Novi School District Communications Committee.

The free workshop will be conducted by Lark Samouelian, executive director of the Southwestern Oakland Cable Commission (SWOCC), which serves the cities of Farmington and Farmington Hills as well as Novi. Members of the Communications Committee also will attend.

The program will include an overview of cable in Novi, and there will be a demonstration of a television production by Samouelian.

Residents are invited to attend, learn about cable television and meet school district members who are involved in planning the future integration of cable programs in the district.

For more information call the Novi School Administration Building at 348-1200.

Janitor arrested for concealed gun

In The City...

Northville High School janitor Walter Preslar, Jr. was arrested by city police last week for carrying a concealed weapon — an unregistered, loaded .32 caliber pistol.

Preslar, a night worker at the high school, was dismissed from his job yesterday morning (Tuesday, November 22) by school authorities following a disciplinary hearing.

According to police reports, two of Preslar's co-workers reported to school authorities he kept the pistol on his person or in his locker.

After the information was relayed to police, two officers approached Preslar on his shift at 11:06 p.m. Monday, November 14, and questioned Preslar, eventually discovering the pistol in a pocket of his jacket which he had set down nearby.

Police confiscated the pistol, handcuffed Preslar and transported him to the City police station. The following morning Preslar was charged with carrying a concealed weapon. He was bound over Monday for trial at Oakland County Circuit Court, and is scheduled to appear in circuit court Tuesday, December 6.

The cause of a firecracker explosion that injured one man in a public restroom at Northville Downs Friday, November 11, is still being researched by Force Five arson investigators.

Injured in the blast was Thomas James Jones of Detroit, who was found at the scene with his leg bleeding. He was taken to St. Mary's Hospital and treated for leg wounds.

Three city police officers immediately responded to the loud blast, and reported observing "a number of male subjects exiting (the restroom) in a hurry."

Investigators discovered fragments of red cardboard, typically used in large firecrackers, in the restroom and took samples of the explosive material. But no suspects have been reported by Force Five authorities in connection with the incident.

The Hilltop Shoppe student store at Northville High School was broken into between 2 p.m. Friday, November 11, and 7:42 a.m. Monday, November 14, city police reported this week. A total of $88 worth of merchandise was stolen. The goods taken included a duffel bag a radio station jersey, a T-shirt, men's sports socks and bumper stickers.

According to the police report, someone entered the high school with a key or by other means, smashed a 2x3-foot window pane of the store, entered, and stole the items.

The 4x1-foot kitchen window of a Bradborn Street residence was damaged by a shot from a b.b. gun at 7:15 p.m. Sunday night, city police reported. Damage to the window was estimated to be $400.

Six radio speakers were taken from two school buses parked in the Northville Schools bus yard, 504 Eight Mile Road, last weekend.

According to a city police report, the speakers were taken between 5 p.m. last Friday and 7 a.m. Monday. Value of the stolen speakers was set at $210.

Two Northville residents filed assault and battery charges against each other following a late-night fight Wednesday, November 16. A city police officer responded to a complaint about the fight, which took place on Base Line Street at 11:43 p.m.

The case has been referred to the city attorney, who must sift through contradictory accounts of the incident.

The back window of a blue Honda car parked on the street in front of the Yankee Clipper hair salon, 126 North Center, was discovered smashed in Wednesday of last week, while the owner was out. The damage, estimated at $120, was believed to have taken place between 5:50 and 6:30 p.m.

From State Police...

State police are seeking an arrest warrant for a Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital patient who allegedly raped another patient November 18.

According to the police report, a female patient in Ward A5-2 said she was raped in a stairwell of the A building in Ward A7-1. The man, a 24-year-old Warren resident, was committed to the hospital, according to the report, when found incompetent to stand trial in a criminal sexual conduct case earlier this year.

The woman told police she was on a grounds pass the afternoon of November 18 and rode an elevator to the eighth floor to sit in a stairwell where it was "quiet" and she could think. Hospital staff told investigating officers the location is popular with patients seeking quietude.

The victim said she entered the elevator with three other patients. Two got off at a lower floor and she and the suspect rode to the eighth floor without speaking to each other, according to the report. The victim told police she sat at the top of the stairwell a short time before realizing the man was standing at the base of the stairs. He approached her, she told police, and she stood up and tried to leave. The man would not let her pass, pushed her down on the stairs and raped her.

The suspect had left a gymnasium without permission, staffers told police, and his whereabouts were unknown for at least 20 minutes. He returned to his ward at 2:30 p.m. The woman said she descended the staircase to her floor, where she found the door locked. She told police she went to the first floor, then took the elevator back up to her floor. At 2:30 p.m., she arrived and told a nurse she had just been raped on the eighth floor, the nurse told police.

She gave a description of the man that matched that of the suspect, down to a burn scar on the back of his hand. Under questioning, the suspect told police he believed that the encounter was by consent and "an emotional experience."

The man's doctor agreed to a police request to place the suspect in seclusion. The county prosecutor was to interview the suspect Monday prior to seeking a warrant for first degree criminal sexual conduct.

Northville post state police have obtained an arrest warrant for a 25-year-old Detroit woman on charges of possession of marijuana. The charge was originally that of smuggling contraband into Phoenix Correctional Institution on Five Mile Road.

According to the police report, correctional officers supervising a visitors room November 10 saw the woman remove an orange balloon from the pants worn by her 2-year-old daughter and hand it to a prisoner she was visiting. The balloon was later found to contain a few grams of marijuana.

Corrections officers told police one of them had overheard a conversation between the suspect and the prisoner the previous day in which the prisoner allegedly said "Keep it and bring it back tomorrow." This statement was then supposedly repeated by the suspect.

Suspicious of contraband, the corrections officer told another officer who

Nature tours at Kensington

Two nature programs — "Animal Habitats" and "Historical Kensington" — will be offered at the Nature Center of Kensington Metropark near Milford Sunday, November 27.

At 10 a.m. "Animal Habitats," a two-hour nature walk will begin at the Nature Center. A park naturalist will discuss the homes of animals in the park.

At 2 p.m., a family program, "Historical Kensington," will be presented. Naturalist Bob Hotelling will talk about the history of Kensington Park including the town of Kensington in the 1830's. Hotelling will conduct a 1½-hour walk along park grounds.

Both programs are free, however, advance registration and a vehicle entry permit (daily — $2) are required. For more information or to register, call 685-1561.

Christmas Walk sets record sales in rain

In addition to viewing downtown windows and browsing through shops, Christmas Walk participants also had a chance to visit with Santa Claus who was taking Christmas lists in his town square home.

A life-size bear, courtesy of IV Seasons Flowers, also strolled the downtown streets.

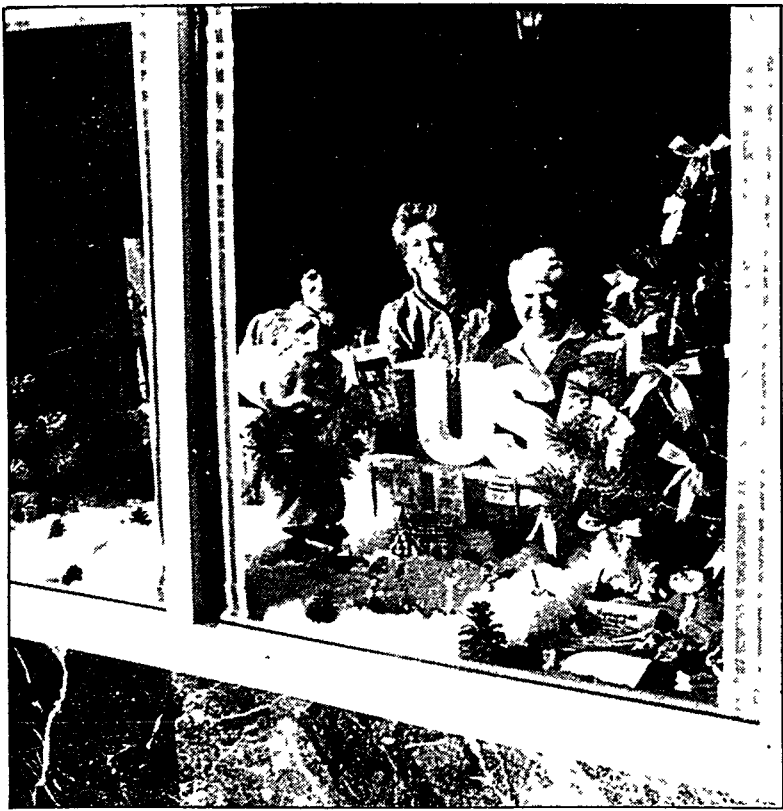

Dewey Gardner noted that while many downtown shops were packed with shoppers most of the day, he found that business wasn't the only thing "hopping" at his store.

For those who have eagerly awaited the naming of the newest IV Seasons pet rabbit, Gardner reported the little hopper has been dubbed "Licorice."

The name was chosen Sunday after looking through hundreds of suggestions placed in a box at the store, he said.

Other organizations holding benefit sales in conjunction with the Christmas Walk included the Northville Branch, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association which sponsored its annual Greens Mart; North West Lioness Club; Northville Branch of the American Association of University Women; Mill Race Weavers Guild and the Northville Arts Commission.

Zuccato out of USAF basic

Airman Marc P. Zuccato, son of Gullano M. Zuccato and Pat L. Zuccato, both of Northville, has been assigned to Keesler Air Force Base, Mississippi, after completing Air Force Basic Training.

During the six weeks at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, the new airman studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special training in human relations.

In addition, airmen who complete basic training earn credits toward an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force.

Zuccato will now receive specialized instruction in the personnel field. He is a 1982 graduate of Farmington High School.

State police foil attempt to sneak pot into prison

then observed the exchange the following day from a vantage point overlooking the room. When arrested, the police report states, the woman told corrections officers she knew the balloon to contain marijuana and had removed it from her left shoe and handed it to the prisoner. Police sought a warrant on the smuggling charge, but received one only for the less-severe crime of possession.

An abandoned building adjacent to the Michigan Department of Transportation field office on Haggerty Court (off Haggerty Road just south of Seven Mile) was broken into November 13, state police reports indicate.

The building, on the grounds of Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital, was definitely secure at 9:30 p.m., a hospital security officer told police. The grounds were checked again at 10:30 p.m. An entrance on the southeast side of the building was found standing open at 11:05 p.m., when the security guard called state police.

Police found no one in the building, but noted footprints in the snow indicating someone had entered. Whether any damage was done or anything stolen was not determined immediately.

A 34-year-old Detroit man was struck by a car driven by a Northville woman on Seven Mile Road the evening of November 18, police reports state.

The man received cuts and bruises and was treated and released at St. Mary Hospital, Livonia.

According to the report, the man was seen at Northville Charley's shortly before the accident, where he picked up a take-out order. He was observed sitting on a curb outside the restaurant for about 10 minutes. The witness was a restaurant patron from Plymouth who said he was a school teacher. The witness said the man appeared to be depressed or disturbed about something.

The man then walked east, out of view of restaurant patrons and workers who had seen him. He was hit by the car as he ran from the north side of the road toward the south side near Maxwell Street at about 6:15 p.m. The driver told police the man appeared in front of her car suddenly, leaving her no time to stop.

Hospital tests revealed the man to have blood alcohol content of .149 percent. Police attempting to interview the man said he was incoherent and fell asleep in mid-answer. The victim told hospital staffers he had taken four non-prescription pain relievers earlier that day, then later said he had taken no drugs. No charges were filed against the driver.

In The Township. . .

Unknown suspects caused an estimated $100 damage to a Beck Road mailbox at approximately 1:30 p.m. November 18, township police report.

The complainant told police that he was raking his leaves when he heard a noise coming from the front yard. The complainant further stated that he walked around the house and saw a dark colored Bronco-type vehicle driving away.

According to the report, the complainant was unable to give any further description of the vehicle.

The officer at the scene inspected the area where the mailbox was located and observed tire tracks leaving the roadway and traveling approximately 60 feet across the complainant's lawn.

Our Opinions

Pursell is right despite ERA loss

While the House rejection last week of a proposed revival of the Equal Rights Amendment to the Constitution proved another setback for proponents of ERA, we have little doubt that the amendment will return to the House floor in the near future. However, the same may not be true for the political leadership opposing the legislation.

Last week's 278-147 vote in favor of the proposed amendment — six votes short of the required two-thirds majority — clearly marked the division in party philosophies. Voting in favor of the ERA were 225 Democrats and 53 Republicans, while 109 Republicans and 38 Democrats opposed it.

In rejecting the proposed amendment, Republicans assailed the Democrats for trying to pass the amendment without debate or the opportunity for members to amend it. Considering that the Equal Rights Amendment has been debated since its introduction in Congress in 1923, it hardly seems necessary to continue bantering over the issue.

While we are disappointed in the Republican lawmakers voting against the ERA legislation, we are pleased that our local congressman has swayed from party lines and stood firm in his conviction toward helping achieve equal rights for women.

Carl Pursell was among the 53 Republicans voting in favor of the revival of ERA. In the Michigan delegation, he was the only Republican who favored the amendment.

During his tenure in office, Pursell has focused much of his attention on the issue of women's equality. In 1981, Pursell co-sponsored the Women's Economic Equity Act, an omnibus bill designed to help eliminate economic discrimination against women.

It should be noted that a number of proposals incorporated in the Economic Equity Act were formulated at meetings Pursell held with women in this district to discuss legislative issues pertaining to women.

He also introduced the Tax Averaging Equity Act (H.R. 5234) aimed primarily at women who have been career homemakers and are displaced from their family role without any source of financial security because of divorce or the death of their spouse. This bill also was created by a task force from this district.

Pursell's action last week seems indicative of his continued support of women's rights and we commend him for voting in favor of the revised Equal Rights Amendment — in spite of the objections of his party colleagues.

It should be pointed out that following the rejection of the proposed amendment, ERA-backers pledged to show their ire in the voting booth next November. Even House Speaker Thomas O'Neill (D-Massachusetts) stated that Democrats have a "pretty good list" of Republican targets in 1984.

A decade ago, the feminists' vow to oust anti-ERA lawmakers would have seemed an idle threat. However, the prevailing gender gap in today's political arena clearly indicates that the women's vote no longer can be taken lightly.

It is our hope that those political leaders opposing the ERA take the convictions of its proponents to heart. Chances are the struggle for ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment will continue long after its opposition is gone.

Time to consider fencing again

Anyone with an interest in issues surrounding Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital has heard state mental health officials assert that the patients there are not dangerous, that forensics patients are assigned to other facilities. This is used to counter community demands that the facility be fenced.

Yet we have seen repeated police reports that individual walkaways from the institution should be considered dangerous. Township officials recently were pleased to learn the hospital is prepared to officially acknowledge that some of the walkaways are "aggressive" or "dangerous." At least one state police report seen in the past month of an unauthorized leave from the hospital clearly identifies the walkaway as a forensics patient. The reported rape of a patient by another patient in our police blotter this week is only the most recent in a continuing series of reports of violence within the hospital. The suspect in this case was considered missing for at least 20 minutes — he might easily have escaped the grounds in that time.

While we can understand the difficulties the state has faced in housing a large number of patients while staffing has been cut, we cannot understand the attempt to conceal that some of the patients are dangerous. In theory the state may place all such patients in more carefully guarded institutions such as the forensics center in Ypsilanti, but in practice some are obviously in Northville.

We were supportive of the compromise agreement that resulted in the planting of a hedge around the hospital. But if the presence of dangerous patients at Northville is as common as it appears to be, we must demand reconsideration of fencing the grounds. The hedge was planted with the idea that many walkaways were simply confused and would turn back when presented with some sort of barrier. This is not likely to work for dangerous patients, and if there is continued placement of such persons at Northville, the risk to the community is too great to consider anything short of a fence.

Stretching the holiday season

You won't hear me say that the Christmas season starts too early. I love every minute from the day the first windows are decorated in town until the one when the last needle drops off the tree after New Year along with a few broken, shiny ornaments.

I know that red and green decorations are in place before Thanksgiving, but that doesn't bother me. I mentally roll the three holidays into one big celebration. The glow started this year as I watched city workers winding greens around the downtown street lights and tying them with bright red bows November 14. And, this year, there even were wisps of snow on the ground.

By 4:30 p.m. most afternoons the tiny crystal lights hung amidst the greens are aglow. Shoppers, workers in town and visitors all seem to pause to appreciate the sight.

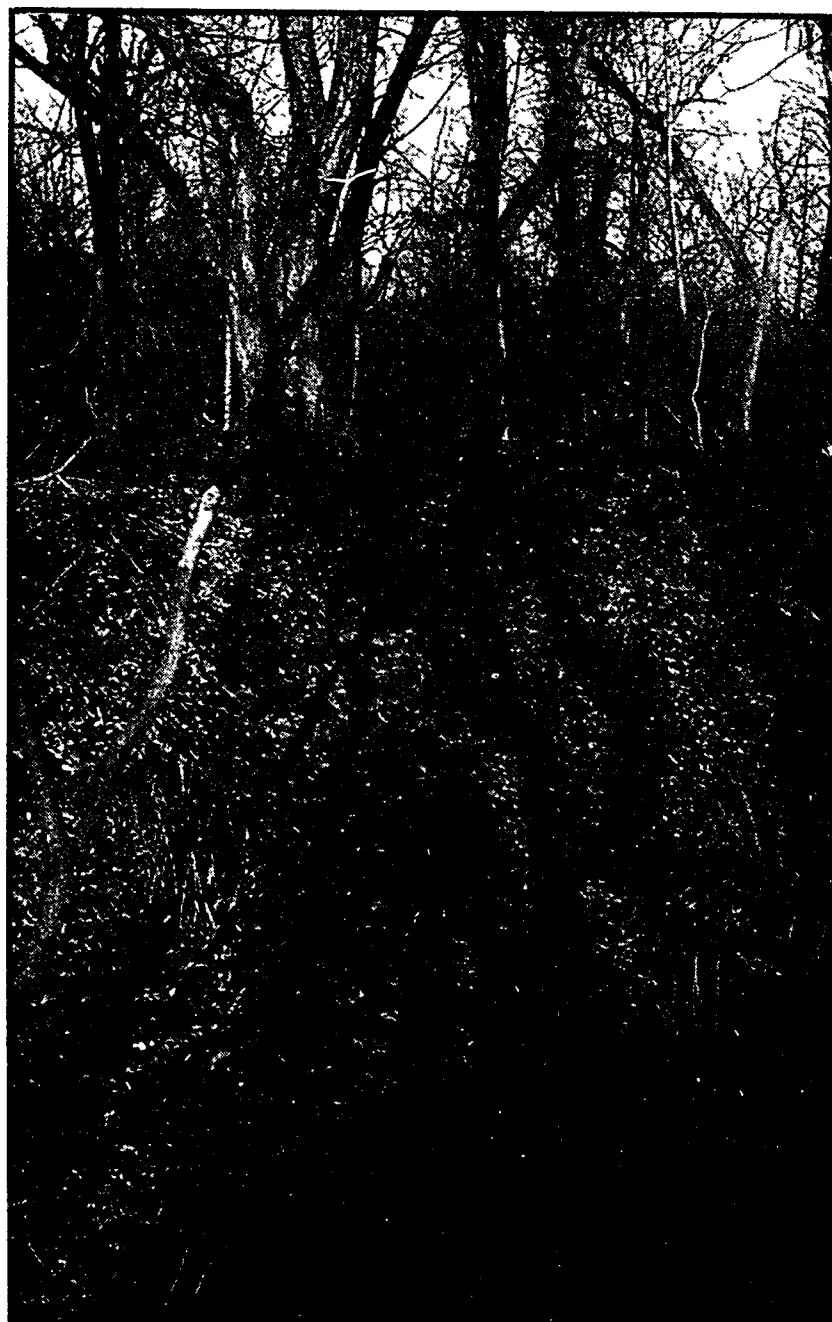

My daughter Laurie accuses me of beginning my Christmas shopping in July just to start things early. It's partly true. The guest room bed is piled with bags of early-bought gifts. That doesn't mean I'm through shopping — now I can browse and find extras like the miniature teddy bears for tree decorations that are featured in shops all over town.

Merchants have been accused of giving the season an early start to have more selling time, but it isn't only the shopkeepers who have put me in the holiday mood. Practically every organization that has a bazaar already has held the event. The Tivoli Fair was brimming with Christmas ideas September 30 and October 1.

About Town

By Steve Fecht

Shady character

After the fact

By PHILIP JEROME

You may have noticed a striking similarity between myself and Rodney Dangerfield. The "no respect" man.

Obviously, the similarity is not physical. Nobody's ever accused me of being good-looking, but I have enough of an ego to believe that I'm better looking than Dangerfield.

Nope, the similarity rests in the fact that neither of us, Dangerfield or Jerome, receives any respect.

Take last week, for instance. I excitedly told my staff that I had received a call from a man in Washington (State of) who wants me to send him six to 10 of my best columns so he can illustrate them and submit them to a publisher.

"It's a long shot," he said, "but you never know, and the spin-offs are unbelievable if you hit the right product at the right time."

With visions of being interviewed on the Carson show racing through my mind, I reported this exciting news at last Wednesday's staff meeting.

"Your brother lives in Washington, doesn't he?" yawned one of the skeptics.

"That's it," said another. "It must have been your brother."

And when I fessed up and admitted that it had, in fact, been my brother, they all broke up in gales of laughter.

It got worse when I told my good news to Bill Slinger, the venerable journalist and founder of this company.

"That's tough, Phil," he responded sympathetically. "How are you going to find six to 10 good ones?"

See what I mean? Dangerfield's got it made compared to me.

But that's alright. The skeptics don't bother me. They laughed at Columbus, didn't they? They laughed at Fulton. They laughed at all the great men.

Nope, I'm going to hang tough on this one. Wait'll they see me on the Carson show. Wait till they read my interview in Playboy. Wait till they see my face on the cover of Time magazine. Think I'll remember their names? Think the Lions will win the Super Bowl?

Readers Speak

Girls' junior varsity basketball team deserves praise

To the Editor:

Much has been written or said of the girls varsity basketball team and its poor season record of 2 wins and 18 losses. And from what your readers have learned through the pen of your sports writer or by the words of the girls varsity coach, it may appear that girls basketball has no promising future in competitive sports. Wrong!

The purpose of this writing is to give recognition and praise to the junior varsity girls basketball team — which won 17 games and lost only three — and to coaches Fred Holdsworth and Ed Kritch.

The junior varsity team was comprised of 14 players, most of whom were 9th graders, and they competed against league and non-league teams alike — whose players were 10th and 11th graders.

Our girls were inspired with a positive mental attitude — they played as a team — no super-stars — no dissension — they worked hard in practices — they were motivated — they had enthusiasm — they won — they had fun — all this, the result of their coaches, especially Ed Kritch, who proved that talent directed in the right way spells victory.

Against older and more experienced teams our girls were a joy to watch — either zone defense or on "one-to-one" as they confused the offense and kept them from scoring. And when they had the ball and were moving toward the opposition basket it was even more fun to watch because you could see the play developing into another two points.

With every basket they scored, their smiles became contagious — in the stands we were grinning from ear to ear.

Coached and taught constantly from the sidelines during every game, our girls listened attentively, corrected their mistakes and outscored the opposition — setting a new school record!

I congratulate JULIE ANGER, ANGIE BJORGE, MARY BROWN, JILL GALLAGHER, ANN GRIFFITH, JO ANNE HINDS, MARY HOWLEY, JENNIE HUARD, JENNIE KUFNER, HEATHER MARTIN, CHRIS MCGOWAN, SUZIE SCHRADER, ROXANNE SERKALIAN and ROBIN STRUNK for giving Northville pride in the arena of girls basketball.

And heartfelt thanks to Fred Holdsworth and "Coach Ed" Kritch for a job well done and teaching our girls how to win.

I'm certain that in the next two or three years our girls varsity basketball team will bring our school a coveted championship trophy — we deserve it — and it's long overdue.

A parent whose daughter was a member of the JV basketball team-1983 hustled from room to room seeing what they could win; parents visited over delicious food in the gym; and teachers joined in the fun by assisting at various booths.

It's not often that we see so many people having fun at the same time they are raising funds for the PTA of their school. It was a profitable Fun Fair evening in many ways.

The PTA wishes to thank each and every person who participated. We couldn't have run the fair without your support. In addition, we would like to thank The Northville Record for its coverage. We especially thank Michele McElmurry and Steve Fecht. It's a pleasure to work with such competent professional people.

Sincerely,
The Winchester PTA

AAUW auction works

To the Editor:

Once again the annual auction sponsored by the Northville Branch of the American Association of University Women was a resounding success. This was due to the hard work of our members and the generous donations of service and merchandise by many local merchants.

We would like to thank the following for their help: Genitti's, Sweets 'n' Treats, Northville Bike Shop, Green's Home Center, The Little People's Shop, MacKinnon's, Puppy Love, Northville Camera Shop, Sandie's Hallmark, The Bookstop, K and S Bakery, What's Cooking?, Juan Carlos, Marquis Theater, IV Seasons, Bookstall on the Main, The Fashion Cellar, Anne's Fabrics, Speedy Printing, Judy's Country Curtains and Orin Jewelers.

Because of everyone's generosity we will once again be able to offer scholarships to graduating seniors of Northville High School next spring.

Sincerely,

OBITUARIES

C.A.M. SMITH

Charles Arthur Marion Smith of Detroit died November 13 at age 68 at Sinai Hospital. Son of Charles A. Smith of 43643 Nine Mile. Mr. Smith was retired from a career in sales.

Born August 11, 1915 in Farmington, Missouri to C.A. and Ida F. Smith, he was a graduate of Wayne State University and briefly employed as both a teacher and with the Better Business Bureau prior to entering sales.

Surviving him are his wife of 16 years, Delores, daughter Gretchen Hacker of Farmington Hills, son C.A.M. Jr. of San Jose, California, and grandchildren John, Melanie, David and Laura.

Also surviving Mr. Smith are sisters Nedra Callard and Nadine Lee, both of Yakima, Washington, both of whom attended memorial services for Mr. Smith last week. Nadine Lee left the Fiji Islands, where she is stationed with the Peace Corps, in order to attend. His mother died in 1978. Mr. Smith was preceded in death by one sister, Jeanne Wood of Northville, who died in 1977.

He was a member of Meadowbrook Christian Church.

A memorial service was held November 19 at Mariners Church in Detroit. The Reverend Austin Denney of Meadowbrook Christian Church officiated at the service. The family requests memorial contributions be made to the American Cancer Society.

LEROY G. RAYMOND

Leroy G. Raymond of Allen Park died unexpectedly at Heritage Hospital November 19. A truck driver, he was 46 years old.

Born in Michigan October 28, 1937 to Everett and Audrey Bell (Mouton) Raymond, he is survived by his mother, Audrey.

Also surviving Mr. Raymond are son Craig of Northville, brothers Fred of Lincoln Park and Boyd of Hillsdale, and sister Mary Jane Wilson of Pittsford. His friend and former wife, Ila Raymond also survives.

Funeral services were at 7:30 p.m. Monday at Ross B. Northrop & Son Funeral Home, the Reverend Marvin A. Foster presided. Burial was at Maple Grove Cemetery, Hillsdale.

BESSIE BULMON

A funeral service for Bessie Bulmon will be held at 1 p.m. today at Phillips Funeral Home in South Lyon. The Reverend Douglas Mercer of the First United Methodist Church of South Lyon will officiate at the service.

The 95-year-old Mrs. Bulmon died November 21 at the Whitmore Lake Convalescent Center. She had resided at 412 Whipple in South Lyon.

Mrs. Bulmon was born in Salem Township on June 17, 1888 to James and Edith (Lewis) Clark.

She is survived by one brother, Jay Clark of Gregory; one sister, Mrs. Dawn Holcomb of Northville; two sons, Darrell and Lewis, both of Northville, and a daughter, Mrs. Viola O'Leary of South Lyon. Thirteen grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren also survive.

Mrs. Bulmon was preceded in death by her husband, Harry.

Interment will be in Oakland Hills in Novi.

JOSEPH E. THOMAS

Veteran's funeral services for Joseph E. Thomas of Pontiac are scheduled Wednesday at 11 a.m. at Casterline Funeral Home with VFW Post 4012 officiating. Burial will follow at Rural Hill Cemetery.

Mr. Thomas, a 30-year resident and member of the post, died Sunday at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital following a lengthy illness. He was 58.

Born to Joseph E. and Helen (Maxwell) Thomas in Clare June 10, 1925, Mr. Thomas is survived by his mother, a Plymouth resident.

Also surviving are sons Joseph, Greg and Peter; daughters Kathy and Sandra; his brothers Robert of Florida and James of Jackson; and sisters Mary Beth Voss of Washington, Beverly Burnette of Plymouth and Dona Sue Miller of Minnesota.

ORDINANCE NO. 83-114

AN ORDINANCE TO REQUIRE THE REMOVAL OF ANY FISHING HOUSE, FISHING SHANTY OR OTHER STRUCTURE OR SHELTER PLACED ON THE ICE OF WALLED LAKE WITHIN THE JURISDICTION OF THE CITY OF NOVI: AND TO PROVIDE PENALTIES FOR THE VIOLATION OF THIS ORDINANCE.

WHEREAS, a navigational hazard for boats on Walled Lake is created when fishing houses, fishing shanties and other shelters used for ice fishing are not removed from Walled Lake before the spring thaw; and

WHEREAS, 1943 PA 134 (MCL 75.211, et. seq.) requires that whenever an ice fishing house, shanty or other such structure is placed upon the ice of any waters over which the State has jurisdiction, the name and address of the owner shall be placed on all sides thereof in legible letters not less than two (2) inches in height, using materials which are not soluble in water, so as to be readily seen; NOW, THEREFORE,

THE CITY OF NOVI ORDAINS:

Section 1.01. Short Title. This Ordinance shall be known and may be cited as the City of Novi Fishing Shanties Ordinance.

Section 2.01 Fishing Shanty Removal.

(1) Any person who shall set, place or erect, or cause to be set, placed or erected any fishing house, fishing shanty or other structure or shelter upon the ice of Walled Lake, within the jurisdiction of the City of Novi, shall remove such fishing house, fishing shanty, structure or shelter therefrom before ice conditions appear unsafe for such removal.

(2) Notwithstanding the provisions of subsection (1) above, any person who shall set, place or erect, or cause to be set, placed or erected any fishing house, fishing shanty or other structure or shelter upon the ice of Walled Lake, within the jurisdiction of the City of Novi, shall remove such fishing house, fishing shanty, structure or shelter therefrom on or before sundown on the last day of February and on a daily basis thereafter.

(3) Failure to remove any fishing house, fishing shanty, shelter or other structure within the time specified in subsections (1) and (2) hereof, shall constitute a violation of this Ordinance.

Section 3.01. Penalties. A person who violates any provision or provisions of this Ordinance, upon conviction, shall be punished with a fine not exceeding Fifty Dollars ($50.00), or imprisonment in the County Jail of Oakland County, Michigan, for a period not to exceed five (5) days, or both, in the discretion of the Court. Each day of the violation shall be considered a separate offense.

Section 4.01. Severability. The provisions of this Ordinance are hereby declared to be severable, and if any clause, sentence, paragraph, section or subsection is declared void or inoperable for any reason, it shall not affect any other part or portion thereof.

Section 5.01. Effective Date. The provisions of this Ordinance shall become effective fifteen (15) days after its adoption and shall be published by a brief notice in a newspaper circulated in the City, stating the date of enactment and the effective date of the Ordinance, a brief statement as to the subject matter of this Ordinance and such other facts as the Clerk shall deem pertinent, and that a copy of the Ordinance is available for public use and inspection at the office of the City Clerk.

MADE, PASSED AND ADOPTED BY THE NOVI CITY COUNCIL THIS 21st DAY OF NOVEMBER, 1983.

Super sewer alternative costs less for township

Northville Township may save money as a result of being left out of the so-called super sewer project and joining an alternative plan, officials learned last week.

The alternative program, which will combine what was the "North Service Area" of the Huron Valley Wastewater Disposal System (super sewer) with renovations to the Rouge Valley system, is estimated at $110 million. A broad outline of the project and its costs were presented before community leaders from Western Wayne County in a meeting November 18.

Seventy-five percent of the cost is to be funded by federal grant, with the involved communities picking up the other 25 percent. Unlike the super sewer proposal, the combined North Huron-Rouge Valley project calls for the communities to pick up the extra cost should federal funding be unavailable at a later date.

The project was given approval on an accelerated schedule in order to qualify for the grants. The Michigan DNR's community assistance division announced last week it had given the project number one priority on its list for 1984 grant funding. The southern portion of the Huron Valley (super sewer) project was the top priority this year and was funded.

The combined project is expected to take three years to complete, so grant funding for 1985 and 1986 will have to be approved separately. MDNR acting community assistance division chief Richard Hinshon said those subsequent years would be given the same priority rating as was set for 1984.

Federal rules may reduce the proportionate share carried by grants in those years, so participating communities will have to sign agreements to pick up additional costs to insure that the project is completed even if the grants are reduced, according to the DNR.

The North Huron Valley communities (Northville, Plymouth, Canton, Van Buren and Commerce townships and the cities of Novi and Wixom) will continue to route sewage through the Rouge Valley system to a Detroit treatment plant. The Detroit treatment plan is said to have sufficient capacity to handle future growth in these communities, but the system of interceptor sewers leading from here to Detroit is insufficient.

Assuming grant funding levels are not cut severely, township clerk Susan Heintz said the proportion of the new project cost is "significantly less" than were the tentative cost figures last seen, for the super sewer project.

"It's really a big savings to us if it comes off," Heintz said. "It's going to cost us a lot less (than super sewer) if the grant funding comes through."

Crack down

The new marker being placed on the Northville Township Police squad car by officer Martin Patyna designates the vehicle as one used by the new alcohol enforcement unit, a task force of police from Northville, Canton and Plymouth patrolling the areas for drunk drivers. The unit has been on patrol in the areas since October and is working well, according to Township Police Chief Ken Hardesty. Record photo by Steve Fecht.

Two-year housing decline foreseen by listing agency

The resurgence in the housing market evident through much of 1983 may be slipping away with decline continuing through the next two years, according to the Metro MLS, multiple listing arm of the Western Wayne Oakland County Board of Realtors.

Metro MLS President Thomas A. Duke Jr. said "we tend to agree with our national economist that the decline in the inflation rate has bottomed out. It now looks like it may climb back to the six percent level by year's end and edge even higher through 1985."

"With mortgage interest rates closely tied to the rate of inflation, we don't expect they will vary much from present levels and may even show a slight increase which doesn't bode well for an improved market for homes," said Duke.

"Despite the decline in inflation we have enjoyed in recent months, real interest rates, those adjusted for inflation, have remained considerably higher than in the previous era."

"High federal budget deficits and accelerating inflation will keep upward pressure on mortgage rates which, even in the 13-14 percent range, severely limit the number of buyers who can move into the new home market."

Duke said buyers would find that existing home prices are not increasing rapidly, however, and nationally should not climb more than 3.8 percent through all of 1983, edging up to a five percent rate the following year.

Realtors are forecasting that existing home sales nationally at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 2.85 million in the third quarter, will decline to 2.63 million units next year and to 2.5 million units in 1985.

"The best hope for a more favorable market," said Duke, "will come from continuing economic recovery that will help reduce federal deficits or some government action that will significantly reduce federal spending."

Through the first eight months of this year, home sales by Metro MLS members has shown a 57 percent gain over 1982. In September, the continuing upward trend reversed itself with sales down 18.2 percent below August. October figures confirmed the trend.

Price increases appeared to be remaining below the national rate, rising only 2.3 percent through the first nine months. The September average selling price in the 1,600-square-mile area served by Metro MLS was $56,599 — just $81 higher than a year earlier.

Heavy Thanksgiving travel forecast

Expect to see more travelers on the road and in the air en route to family Thanksgiving gatherings this holiday compared to last year, advised the Automobile Club of Michigan.

"A year-long upturn in domestic travel should continue through our Thanksgiving bookings," said Jim Drury, Auto Club's Travel Operations manager. "The major factors are the improved economy and our increased travel promotion."

"Auto Club cruise and air ticket sales for the first nine months of this year are up more than 20 percent compared to one year ago," Drury continued. "Bus tour bookings are running about even with last year's, while rail ticket sales are down slightly."

Major air carriers surveyed by the Auto Club reported up to a six percent increase in ticket sales for the Thanksgiving period. None of the airlines has added extra flights.

The Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) has measured a 3.5 percent increase in the number of miles traveled by state motorists so far this year over 1982 and that trend is expected to continue through Thanksgiving. During the 102-hour holiday (Wednesday at 6 p.m. through midnight Sunday) Michigan motorists are expected to log more than 350 million miles.

Airlines report the most heavily booked flights over the holiday are to New York City and to Arizona, Florida and the West Coast. The busiest travel days will be Wednesday (the day before the holiday), followed by November 27 and 28. Passengers are advised to be at the airport at least one hour before departure.

Travelers planning to fly this holiday should find the best flight selections

November 26 and 29. Tickets may be limited to first-class seats and morning departures to some destinations.

Amtrak and Trailways officials also said the best travel days for their passengers will be prior to November 23 and after November 26 or 27.

Motorists planning to travel in Detroit on Thanksgiving Day should note that Woodward Avenue will be closed between Baltimore and Fort streets from 8:30 a.m. until approximately noon for the Michigan Thanksgiving Day Parade.

More than 500,000 spectators are expected to view the 10 a.m. event, which will begin at I-94 and proceed south to West Adams Street. Along the expanded route, Santa will receive the key to the city in front of the Detroit Institute of Arts.

Thanksgiving Day motorists also may be delayed near Pontiac on I-75 and M-59 as football fans gather at the Silverdome for the 12:30 p.m. Detroit Lions game with the Pittsburgh Steelers. Stadium officials said the game is sold out (80,500 persons) and will be televised.

Last Thanksgiving Day proved a costly one on the highways, according to the Auto Club, with 27 persons dying in 23 traffic accidents on Michigan roads. In 1981, fatalities had been limited to 13.

More than 80 percent of those killed in traffic accidents last Thanksgiving were within 25 miles of home. Alcohol was a known or suspected factor in more than half the fatal accidents.

During the Thanksgiving period, motorists make a lot of quick shopping trips. The Auto Club said it's during those short trips that motorists should be extra alert and wear their safety belts.

Optometrists seek new law

John Swanson, a Wall Lake optometrist, reports that the Michigan Optometric Association (MOA) is supporting legislation that will give Michigan optometrists additional diagnostic tools to aid in the early discovery of eye disease.

House Bill 4949, said Swanson, will amend the Public Health Code to permit optometrists to use diagnostic pharmaceutical agents (DPAs) in the examination of the human eye.

ties are without a single ophthalmologist.

Statistics also indicate that optometrists may treat some 90 percent of all vision problems. Only five to 10 percent of eye problems are pathological, which are medical problems treated by ophthalmologists, according to the MOA.

Swanson reported that most MOA members are skilled in the use of DPAs. Under the legislation, those not trained would have to successfully complete 60 hours of didactic and clinical education. In either case, optometrists who intend to use DPAs would undergo certification procedures by the Michigan State Board of Examiners in Optometry.

The Michigan Optometric Association represents 650 active state optometrists and 100 Michigan residents students in the nation's 15 schools and colleges of optometry.

Optometrists in 38 other states are allowed to use DPAs, but in Michigan only ophthalmologists — physicians who specialize in the diagnosis and treatment of eye defects — are authorized to use them currently.

"The optometrist is generally the first point of contact for patients," noted MOA President Dr. William C. Ferman. "And the optometrist generally provides a more extensive evaluation of vision performance and functional skills than the ophthalmologist."

"If Michigan optometrists are allowed to use DPAs — and most already are completed qualified to do so — they will be that much more effective in early discovery of eye disease."

Passage of the legislation will expand diagnostic vision care to thousands of Michigan residents, said Swanson. Statistics show that at least 44 Michigan coun-

Bank helps combat card fraud

The Real Estate Securities Licensing course, to help prepare for the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc. limited representative exam will be offered Sunday, December 4 through Thursday, December 8 by Schoolcraft College Community Services in cooperation with the Michigan National Association of Realtors.

Changes in the real estate industry are reflected in the course. The sale of real estate securities, which requires NASD registration, can make a significant difference in income potential.

More and more professionals are taking advantage of the opportunities in real estate securities and syndication, diversifying from their regular business. The National Association of Realtors offers the course to open up this tremendous business opportunity, and also to help protect members and others from potential legal liability.

Schedule and outline of the course includes:
Day One: Direct participation program offerings.

Day Two: Type of direct participation programs.

Day Three: Taxation.

Day Four: Regulation of direct participation programs.

Tuition fee is $245 for members of National Association of Realtors; $295 for non-members. For further information, call Community Services at 591-6400, extension 409.

Tax preparation volunteers sought

Volunteers are needed to help others with their tax returns as part of VITA — the Volunteer Income Tax Assistance program sponsored by the Internal Revenue Service, the IRS said.

In the VITA program, volunteers are recruited to provide free assistance to taxpayers who cannot afford professional tax help. VITA volunteers, frequently retirees, college students, law students or members of professional business organizations, receive a special training course in basic income tax preparation.

Training is conducted at a location convenient to volunteers and instructors, generally in December and January each year. VITA volunteers assist taxpayers, often low income, elderly, handicapped or non-English speaking individuals who need explanations of the special credits and deductions for which they may qualify.

VITA programs can be sponsored by local civic or fraternal organizations, educational institutions, churches and social groups. For the convenience of taxpayers who cannot travel to an IRS office, most VITA volunteers provide assistance at neighborhood locations such as schools, churches and libraries.

Persons or organizations interested in the VITA program, should call 1-800-424-1040 and ask for the Taxpayer Education Coordinator, extension 3674.

Demonstrate craft at DAR tea

Local women join wood carvers' ranks

Janie Smith and Dorothea Shafer of Northville are proving that wood carving is not a hobby restricted to men. Both are taking satisfaction in creating ducks, chickadees, goldfinches and even whales from blocks of wood.

"I really love to carve — I enjoy the feel and smell of the wood," explains Janie Smith, recalling that she began her hobby in 1976. Her husband had brought her a copy of the Bruce Burk bird book after she had a back operation and was supposed to confine her movements.

"You could call it therapy," she agrees as she remembers how she began to carve on her own after reading the book. "I could lose myself — and time," she says.

Primarily, Smith uses hand tools to make her ducks and whales. She says she carves mainly by "feel," although she has had a few items cut out by her husband Doug's school classes. These

"You could call it therapy. . . I could lose myself — and time."

— Janie Smith

were shore birds to be given as gifts.

Two years ago Janie Smith, who was then Director of Christian Education at First Presbyterian Church, offered to teach others the craft. Dot Shafer accepted and has specialized in carving such small birds as the chickadee and goldfinch.

"The pupil has outstripped the teacher," Smith laughs, giving Shafer credit for being artistic in her carvings. Smith also taught two younger church members and Carl Stephens.

Smith notes that carving is "time consuming." This is especially true of pieces that also are painted. Right now

Janie Smith has taken her first commission — to carve and paint a wood duck like the one she made her husband for Christmas.

Dot Shafer chooses the wood she uses for carving the little birds carefully, emphasizing the importance of the grain if the carving is not being painted.

She mentions that there are patterns for beginning carvers to use as guides.

Both women demonstrated their craft at the Colonial Tea and craft demonstration given by Sarah Ann Cochrane Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution last week Tuesday at St. John's Episcopal Church in Plymouth.

They were among several Northville residents demonstrating early crafts at the tea. In all, 16 craftspeople from Northville and Plymouth demonstrated crafts, including spinning, dyeing, rug braiding, stenciling and wheat weaving during the afternoon.

Women's safety is focus of upcoming 'Y' seminars

Police experts will lead a series of meetings on personal safety for women at the Northwest Branch YWCA next week.

The one and one-half hour sessions are offered at noon and at 7:30 p.m. November 29 and again at 11:30 a.m. December 1.

Concern about increasing crimes against women including robbery, rape and purse-snatching has prompted the YWCA to make such programs available throughout the metropolitan area.

Tips to generate awareness of potentially dangerous situations will be offered, as will a film and suggestions about what to do when one's personal safety is threatened.

Police from the Crime Prevention division of the Redford Police Department will conduct the meetings, for which there is no fee.

The Northwest Branch YWCA is at 25940 Grand River in Farmington.

MR. AND MRS. KURTIS M. GOW

Colleen McCormick makes wedding plans

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon J. McCormick of 22024 Center announce the engagement of their daughter Colleen Ellen to Richard Jack Ulrey Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Ulrey Sr. of Cadillac.

The bride-elect is a 1980 Northville High School graduate and expects to graduate from University of Michigan in April, 1984 with a bachelor's degree in management and communications.

Her fiancé is a 1979 Cadillac Senior High School graduate and expects to graduate from University of Michigan in April, 1984 with a bachelor's degree in accounting and pre-law.

An October, 1984 wedding is planned.

Gows honeymoon in Cancun

Mr. and Mrs. Kurtis Michael Gow honeymooned in Cancun, Mexico following their marriage October 14 at the Mercy Center Chapel in Farmington Hills.

Patricia Ann Dellefs of South Lyon and Kurtis Gow of Northville exchanged vows and rings in a candlelight ceremony witnessed by Father Howard L. Vogan of St. Joseph's Catholic Church, South Lyon.

The bride is the daughter of Jack and Sandra Dellefs, 9525 Tower, Northville. Mary Louise Gow of New Hudson and James Gow of Tucson, Arizona are the parents of the bridegroom.

For her wedding the bride wore her mother's heirloom wedding gown fashioned of satin with an empire bodice of imported Chantilly lace accented with tiny seed pearls. She also wore the pearl necklace that was a gift to her mother from her father on their wedding day. Her bridal hat was handmade, adorned with Chantilly lace and seed pearls, to match her gown and her veil was cathedral length. She carried a silk-cascade bouquet of white roses, stephanotis, fern and ivy.

Cheryl Dellefs, sister of the bride, was maid of honor wearing a gown of deep dusty-rose chiffon, lined with taffeta and featuring a double-flounce, rounded neckline and satin ribbon belt. Her silk bouquet was of azaleas, babies'-breath and roses in shades of pale pink to deep rose.

Bridesmaids were Kathleen Dellefs, sister of the bride, Suzanne Keefe, Deanna Starnes, sister of the bridegroom, and Joanne Hoffman, cousin of the bride. Their gowns and flowers were identical to the maid of honor's.

Christine Gow, niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl. She wore a dress made by the mother of the bride in pink cotton batiste, trimmed with white lace and pink ribbons and carried a basket of silk wildflowers.

Serving as best man was the bridegroom's brother, Mark Gow. Ushers were Bruce Gow, brother of the bridegroom, Steven Dellefs, brother of the bride, and Michael Colbert and Rick Lammara.

A reception for 175 guests was held at Mercy Center in Farmington Hills. Out-of-state guests came from California, Tennessee and Germany.

A 1978 graduate of South Lyon High School, the bride is employed at the Farmington AAA office as a travel counselor. Her husband, a 1971 graduate of South Lyon High, is a meat cutter at the Food Emporium in Livonia. The couple resides in Northville.

DAVID HOOTEN, LAURIE DEAN

Dean-Hooten set February wedding

The engagement of Laurie Lee Dean, daughter of Don Dean of Farmington and Jan Clark of Livonia, to David Powell Hooten, son of Basil and Lynn Hooten of 17022 Winchester, is announced.

The bride-elect is a 1978 Farmington High School graduate.

Her fiancé is a 1979 Northville High School graduate and was graduated from University of Michigan-Dearborn in 1983.

A February, 1984 wedding is planned.

Families announce arrivals of new daughters

Friends of Al and Connie Qualman of 343 High have received pink announcements of the couple's adoption of two little daughters, Holly Kristin Soo-Hyun and Heather Kira Soo-Hee, on September 28.

The little girls are sisters and were born in Korea.

Holly Kristin's birthday is March 18, 1981, and Heather Kira's is March 13, 1982.

Also welcoming the babies are maternal grandparents, Harold and Ila Aldrich of Farmington, and paternal grandparents, Jack and Amy Qualman of Tryon, North Carolina.

Tim and Debbi Bostwick of Novi announce the birth of their first child Valerie Kathryn.

She was born November 8 at St. Joseph's Hospital in Ypsilanti and weighed six pounds, one ounce.

Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Bostwick of Northville. Peggy Meyer of Northville is maternal grandmother and Lawrence Meyer of Northville is maternal grandfather.

Former Northville residents William and Vena Norton announce the birth of their daughter, Maggie Marie.

She was born at Botsford Hospital and weighed eight pounds, 13 ounces. She joined her older brother Benjamin, 2.

Paternal grandparents are Robert and Rhoda Norton of Northville. Cliff and Margaret Hosler of Northville are maternal grandparents.

Great-grandparents are Dewey and Leda Hosler of East Jordan and Benjamin and Millie Jarrett of Clearmont, Florida.

St. John's slates classes

Winter term classes will open at St. John's Provincial Seminary December 5.

Most courses are in session two hours each week during the day and evenings. Course credits may be applied toward a graduate degree, career development or personal enrichment.

Courses requiring no prerequisites are Christian Anthropology and Reformation History and The Art of Spiritual Direction on Mondays; Introduction to Old Testament and Toward A Christian Spirituality for the U.S. on Tuesdays; Alcoholism Education, a section of Introduction to Old Testament and Medieval Philosophy on Thursdays.

Students who have completed Foundations of Theology or its equivalent are eligible to register for Fundamental Theology, offered Wednesday evenings or Thursday mornings. The second term of Greek, Hebrew, Moral Principles and Principles of Counseling also are being offered.

Advanced level courses of special interest are: Gospel of Mark, Resurrection: Contemporary Approaches, Fourth Gospel, Liberation Theologies and Wisdom and the Search of God.

Course schedules are available upon request. To avoid late registration fees, inquiries and late registration must be completed by November 30 by calling Academic Affairs, 453-6200. Tuition is $65 per credit hour or $37.50 per audit hour.

Madonna receives funds

Gifts totaling $220,000 have been raised at Madonna College since September 1 to help complete funding of a $4.1 million library under construction on campus.

The gifts are in response to a challenge by the Kresge Foundation in Troy and a promise of a $250,000 gift if the balance of funding can be raised or pledged by December 15. Approximately $400,000 still is needed.

Leading gifts have been received in the past month from the Herrick Foundation of Detroit and the Hearst Foundation of New York. In addition, a Phonathon to friends, staff, parents and alumni has resulted in pledges or gifts of nearly $70,000.

Madonna, which has both an undergraduate and graduate program, has an enrollment of more than 3,900 students this term, making it third largest of the independent colleges in Southeastern Michigan.

More than 2,800 students are residents of Wayne County.

Additional gifts are needed to meet the challenge goal.

Donors may send gifts directly to the Development Office, Madonna College, 36600 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150.

The Northville Record

Ducker's All-Division

The Northville girls varsity basketball team has a future that's anything but bleak, despite losing seasons the last two years. One of the main reasons hopes remain high for upcoming years is Tricia Ducker.

Ducker is a 5-10 freshman who Northville coaches hope hasn't stopped growing yet. She was recently honored at a meeting of Western Lakes Activities Association coaches, who selected her to the first-team All-Western Division basketball squad.

"I was pleased people noticed Tricia," said varsity coach Rick Hurst. "It's not easy to pick out her kind of talent on a team that just wins two games. But I don't think you can look at her and tell she won't be a great player."

Ducker was easily the team's leading scorer and rebounder, with eight points and six boards per game. "Her shooting has improved a great deal, and she's been learning how to play better defense, although she still has a lot of improvement to do there," Hurst said. "But she's learned some good moves to the basket."

"I'm very pleased with her selection," he added.

Meteyer resigns

Soccer coach steps down

After four years of coaching Northville's girls' varsity soccer team, Ron Meteyer announced last week he would not return to coach the squad this spring.

Meteyer said he had numerous personal obligations that he wanted to give a higher priority — in particular to his wife Barb and his three sons, all of everybody else's. I know a few guys who've stuck with it, and then come to regret not having the time with their kids later. It's not a very macho thing to quit to spend time with your family, but then I've never worn a really macho kind of hat."

Under Meteyer's direction the girls' soccer team compiled a record of 49-13-9, and was co-winner of the Western Lakes Activities Association championship last spring.

Meteyer, 35, has coached the Mustang girls' kickers since the inception of girls' varsity soccer in 1979. He also coached varsity boys' soccer from 1979 to 1981, and varsity swimming from 1976 to 1978. He has also been faculty sponsor for the National Honor Society and for the Class of 1973.

"If I come back to do some more coaching, it'll be after the boys have grown a bit. I may do some coaching again and I may referee," Meteyer said.

"We're going to miss him," said Northville High School Athletic Director Ralph Redmond. "We hate to lose Ron. He's done a great job for the program, and I know the girls have shown a lot of respect for him. But he knows the time commitment it takes, and in all fairness, he said he can't keep doing it. I can appreciate that."

There is no foreseeable successor to Meteyer, and it is virtually certain no one will be named until after Christmas. The job description must be posted throughout the district for three weeks before outside applicants will be sought.

"I don't see anybody right now, but we'll see if we have any takers," Redmond said.

Meteyer said he talked about "a couple of names" with Redmond, but did not care to release them publicly.

whom are athletically inclined. Attending to their needs, he said, would not give him enough time to coach next year.

In a letter to Northville Athletic Director Ralph Redmond, Meteyer wrote: "Due to increased family, church and community involvements, I have concluded that it would be unwise for me to continue as the girls' high school varsity coach... it is therefore with reluctance that I tender my resignation, effective immediately. Thank you for the support and encouragement over the past several seasons."

Asked about his resignation, Meteyer said, "There comes a time when you have to make a decision on whether to spend your time with your kids or

Northville puckster on Ferris team

Northville's Ken Stelmach, a student at Ferris State College, once again has made the Bulldog varsity hockey team as a right wing.

As team captain of the Waterford Lakers two years ago, Stelmach scored 40 goals and notched 46 assists. The 5-10, 170-pound sophomore is a business administration major at Ferris State.

Stelmach scored three goals and had three assists in 15 games with the Bulldogs in his freshman year. He has been called by coaches "a hard-nosed competitor who covers both ends of the rink."

Rebuilding year over

Mustang cagers fall in district tilt

At last it's over. Tough Novi topped Northville 46-30 Tuesday of last week to wrap up the Mustang girls basketball team's regular season. It was an encouraging preliminary to the Class A District quarterfinal against Plymouth Salem Saturday, but the Mustangs' district opener was a Rock landslide. Salem's swift and talented squad caught Northville flat to record a 54-14 playoff win.

There was good news — it was announced last week that Northville's freshman forward Tricia Ducker was named to the All-Western Division basketball team (see accompanying story).

Ducker's 12 points were no match for the offensive heroics of Novi power forward Sue Rasinske, however. Rasinske popped in 26 points, and although two quick Northville baskets cut Novi's lead to five at the beginning of the third quarter, the game was never closer. The Wildcats responded with eight straight points to put the game out of reach.

Novi coach Bill Ayotte said he respected the Northville squad, however. "They sure never gave up," he said. "They could have at a couple points, even early in the game, but they fought hard all the way."

Junior center Erin Ryan and senior guard Pat Wazny each scored six points.

Hurst credited freshman guard Mary Howley with coping well with a nearly impossible task — covering Rasinske man-to-man. "She made a remarkable effort," said coach Rick Hurst. "She definitely worked hard, although Sue's too much for anybody."

The Mustang junior varsity concluded its season against Novi with an encouraging 37-23 victory, the team's ninth straight win.

The JV troops ran up a 17-3 record, and Hurst, along with JV coaches Fred Holdsworth and Ed Kritch, are hoping the squad's success will carry over to the 1984-85 varsity and JV teams.

NORTHVILLE 14
PLYMOUTH SALEM 54

"Nobody expected us to score many points on them," Hurst said of the game Saturday. "I'm disappointed we couldn't keep their numbers down in the second half, though."

The Rocks scored as many third-quarter points as they did in the entire first half — 22 — to humble the Mustangs. And the highly respected Rock defense completely shut out Northville in that third quarter.

"They had a lot of good ballhandlers and played a tough man-to-man, and we just didn't have anybody who could work one-on-one moves against them," Hurst explained. "In the first half we played pretty good defense, but we just had a lot of breakdowns."

One reason Northville's numbers weren't too impressive is that Hurst ran a number of junior varsity players through the game. Robin Strunk and Ann Griffith, both freshmen, made good impressions, with Strunk displaying some offensive moves and quickness, while Griffith contributed a good court game during her playing time.

All 15 Northville players played at least one quarter.

But turnovers and an inability to get the ball inside to their best offensive players kept the Mustangs handcuffed.

"We'll have to work on solidifying our backcourt situation," Hurst said. "But I'm pretty happy with the way Erin (Ryan) and Tricia have been working together."

JAMES BELANGER

Belanger on U.S. Army
cage squad

Northville's James Belanger will be wearing a very different army uniform this season. The son of James and Nancy Rogers, 370 South Rogers, he has made the 1983-84 Army men's basketball squad. The team will open its season against the University of San Diego this Saturday.

Belanger will graduate in 1986. He is concentrating his studies in Humanities of Public Affairs, at West Point.

Mustang swimmers take sixth at WLAA meet

Despite 11 personal bests recorded by Northville swimmers last week, the Mustangs finished sixth at the Western Lakes Activities Association championship swim meet at Plymouth Salem.

"All our girls swam real well," said Northville Coach-Bill Dicks. "Some did better than we expected, some not quite as good."

Final point standings and many of the places have not been officially tabulated yet, but in order, the team finishers were: Livonia Stevenson, Plymouth Canton, Plymouth Salem, Farmington Harrison, Livonia Bentley, Northville, Livonia Churchill, Walled Lake Central, Farmington and Walled Lake Western.

Northville's only medal winner at the meet was Sherry Thompson, who took second in the 500 freestyle, but was the Western Division's top finisher and was therefore awarded a divisional medal.

Thompson's race was an exciting one — Melissa Jay of Harrison touched her out for first by five seconds. Thompson swam a 5:36.9. In the freestyle and added a fifth place finish in the 200 free in 2:05.6.

Other strong finishers in individual events were co-captain Shawn Bales, who posted a 1:06.9 in the backstroke, good for fourth place; Erica Nelson, sixth in the 100 breast stroke in 1:14.8 and 12th in the 200 individual medley in 2:32.7; Kim Thompson, sixth in the 100 butterfly in 1:04.7 and seventh in the 200 individual medley in 2:24.5.

Also scoring in two individual events was Lisa Felicelli, who took eighth in the 100 freestyle in 59.4

and ninth in the 50 freestyle in 27.1. Kim McRae placed 12th in diving and Julie Stock 13th.

The 200 medley relay, which Dicks hoped would qualify for the state meet, clocked a 2:00.7, their best time, but short of the 1:58.34 required for the state meet. The quartet of Bales, Nelson, Kim Thompson and Lisa Felicelli took fourth, and their time was placed "under consideration" for state-level competition.

The term "under consideration" means that should few teams make the qualifying barrier this year, the Mustang medley relay team's time would be one of those considered and invited, if it is among the lowest.

The 400 freestyle relay team of Jill Roth, Sherry Thompson, Bales and Sue VanderBok also finished fourth, clocking a 4:13.3.

Registering personal bests at the meet were Dawn Blandi (100 breast, 1:23.7), Kim Brining (100 fly, 1:17.9), Deanne La Chance (200 free, 2:44.3), Sue La Chance (100 free, 1:08.9), Kim Mobarak (50 free, 29.3; 500 free, 7:11.8), Jill Roth (100 back, 1:12.7), Linda Schott (50 free, 29.2) and Kris Valade (500 free, 6:55.2).

All the swimmers but co-captains Schott, Kim Thompson and Bales will be returning to next year's team, which Dicks said he finds encouraging.

"It's been a good team to work with," he said of the 4-7 tankers. "We had many kids who were highly motivated. Overall, I'd say we did real well."

U.S., Canadian boxers to spar at Schoolcraft

Schoolcraft College will host the Fifth Annual Canadian/American Amateur Boxing Benefit — 15 bouts featuring local talent — at 8 p.m. Saturday, December 3, in the college's main gymnasium.

Bo Baron, Capt. Vance lead races at Downs

Featured victories by Bo Baron and Captain Vance on the pace and Krysia and Starsky Hanover on the trot, highlighted last weekend's activity at Jackson at Northville Downs.

Bo Baron came from well off the pace to grab the lion's share of Saturday's $5,500 Mighty Phantom Preferred Pace in 2:02.3 over a "good" track.

Wild Bill, shooting for his seventh straight victory, took the lead from the outset, carving out fractions of 29.2, 1:01 and 1:31.1. At the top of the stretch, with Virgil T. Bird beginning to wear down the pacesetter, Bo Baron and driver John Konesy found racing room to close strongly for the victory in a tight three-horse picture.

Virgil T. Bird and Shilaway Wind were runners up to the six-year old son of Baron Hanover.

Captain Vance took the lead past the quarter pole and was strong enough to hold a late challenge by Febe A. to win the $5,000 Open pace in 2:01.2.

Arbed left to command in the first turn, relinquishing it to Bow's Super Boy at the quarter in 29.1. Captain Vance took up the chase, catching first at the midway point (raced in 1:00). Vance took the field through three-quarters in 1:31, then held on to win his sixth of 24 starts this season, this time by a head.

The front speed held up in Friday night's featured trots, with Krysia taking the Preferred event wire-to-wire in 2:05 and Starsky Hanover annexing the Open in 2:05.2.

In the leading driver's race, Jeff James holds a 2-1 advantage in dash winners with 28 in 29 nights, while Keith Crawford and Tim Buter are percentage points apart in the U.D.R.S. category.

Anne White takes contest first prize

ANNE WHITE of Plymouth was one of only two contest entries to guess all but four college football outcomes correctly in last week's Northville Record/Novi-Walled Lake News Football Contest.

We counted guesses on last weekend's tie games between Oregon and Oregon State, and Pittsburgh and Penn State wrong for all participants.

Northville's RON BARNUM was the only other contestant with four incorrect, but Ron's tie-breaker guess of 55 was farther away than Anne's guess of 60. Ron will take home the $5 second prize. ANN MARIE PETROSKI, also of Northville, missed five picks, but guessed 62 points in the tie-breaker — the best guess of any entry, and Ann takes home the $3 third prize.

Tell me about your high gas heating bills...

and I'll tell you how some people saved as much as 20%* with Ameri-Therm®

THE PROBLEM

You have a hole in your roof.

The hole?

Your furnace vent.

Every time your furnace turns off, the warm air in your home is quickly lost up in the furnace vent, and on goes the furnace again, heating the air and running up your gas bill.

When a furnace, boiler or water heater shuts off, warm air in your home is quickly lost up the furnace vent. Energy escapes, but you still end up paying for it.

People want to save as much as they can, so I tell them to keep heat inside with an Ameri-Therm® Vent Damper.

THE SOLUTION

Close the hole in your roof with an Ameri-Therm® Vent Damper.

The heat of your furnace opens the Ameri-Therm® Vent Damper. When the furnace turns off, the Ameri-Therm® Vent Damper closes your furnace vent and the warm air you paid for stays where it belongs, inside your home.

The Ameri-Therm® Vent Damper is...

SIMPLE

- Easy to install
- Requires no electrical hookup

SAFE

- Proven in millions of locations worldwide
- Five-Year limited warranty

SAVES MONEY

- Eligible for 15% tax credit
- Based on a study of 400 homesites done by the East Ohio Gas Company, some people saved as much as 20% on their gas heating bills. This study showed an average savings of 12%. Your individual savings may be higher or lower depending on climate, living conditions, and home insulation.

Available for gas furnaces, gas boilers and gas water heaters.

Veteran talent and size bolster Mustang hoop hopes

By B.J. MARTIN

For about two weeks now, there has been a bunch of boys hanging around the Northville High School gym waiting every night for the girls to get through with it.

And now the girls are through with it. Last Saturday's unceremonious district playoff defeat by Plymouth Salem took care of that. And the varsity boys basketball season is just around the corner.

"The guys definitely feel they have something to prove," says boys coach Tim Lutes. "Everybody seemed to think of us as being in a rebuilding year last season, but we didn't see it that way. We felt we could have won a lot more. We had some interior problems that I think we're over now."

"We're going to be a contender if we play to our capabilities."

And they are pretty good-sized capabilities. Lutes is returning his biggest and most experienced squad ever. All five starters from the '82-'83 unit are back on this year's team, and the bench has deepened to a point where few of the starting jobs are secure.

Over Lutes' five years in charge, the Mustangs averaged less than two home losses per season — but troubles arose with winning on the road. Last season, Northville was a junior-dominated 10-11 squad that went 9-6 in the Western Lakes Activities Association. This year, Lutes is confident the team can improve on that.

"When we get going we really get great fan support, probably the best in the league," Lutes said. And this year, the fans should have plenty to cheer about.

"The kids seem to be working together. They seem to be the kind of guys who will put aside all their differences and come on with team play." Lutes thinks Livonia Stevenson has the inside track toward a league championship with the Spartans' size and depth, and Plymouth Salem should also be very tough with many returning players. "The other (Lakes Division) side will be the toughest. They have big people."

But Lutes' squad also has some elements that might constitute just the right mix. If some of the names sound familiar, they should — most are veterans of fall Mustang varsity teams.

Power and size were a big part of the grid team's success and those qualities have translated well into a potentially fearsome front line for the basketball squad.

First off, there's STEVE SCHRADER, the man in the middle. The 6-6 center was the team's leading scorer and rebounder last season, averaging 11.1 points per game. Schrader's specialty is the short jumper and his 220-pound frame gives him some power inside.

"He needs to improve on his consistency in free throw shooting and his defensive play — he sometimes got into foul trouble last year," Lutes said.

Fortunately for the Mustangs, all won't be lost should Schrader be sent to the bench. Ready to back up the big senior is 6-6 junior JOHN STORM who has size, power and good hands.

Returning at power forward is 6-4 senior Mike Weber. "He's a heady kind of ballplayer," Lutes said. "He's a strong rebounder and knows how to get good positioning. Mike's a hard worker. He doesn't always score a lot, but he'll always find some way to win for you."

"I've thought about different combinations up front," Lutes added, smiling at the luxury of having so many talented tall players. "There are some teams we'll play where I'll just try to overwhelm them with size. I'll start maybe Schrader, Weber and Storm and just blow them away."

SCOTT GALA, recently named second-team all state in soccer, was a defensive specialist with the kickers, and that is true of his basketball talents also. "He's probably our best defensive consistent performer on last year's hoop team at about mid-season despite a knee injury."

"He's going to be one of our biggest factors," Lutes said. "With the new time-out rule, he's going to be the one we depend on to control the game for us. He's got to be an extension of the coach out there." Dave will be calling player," Lutes said of the 6-2 senior. "We'd put him on the opposing team's best player even if Scott had to give away a few inches."

NHS Basketball Coach

"He's got very good speed and he'll lead the fast break for us. He'll also help with his strength and jumping ability."

Senior DAN NIELSEN transferred to Northville too late to be eligible for the varsity hoop team last year, but will contend for a starting spot on the front line this season with his power, size and shooting ability.

"He might be the best shooter on the team," Lutes claimed. "Dan will be a key backup at power forward. He'll be seeing a lot of action against the zone for us." Nielsen, an all-conference defensive end on the football team, stands 6-2 and carries a hefty 205 pounds.

In the backcourt, 5-10 DAVE LONGRIDGE will return at point guard — an appropriate position for the quarterback of the football team. The basketball team's best outside shooter last season, Longridge developed into a the defenses, and should be the team's leader in assists.

Swinging between guard and forward is 6-2 senior BOB PEGRUM. Pegrum cracked last year's starting lineup late in the season to emerge as a potentially explosive scorer and snappy passer. "He's got to play under control," Lutes observed. It's possible Pegrum's level-headed experience as captain of the varsity golf team last fall could help.

STEVE FRELICK will occupy a role on the team similar to that of Pegrum. Sixth man on last year's squad, the 5-10 Frellick acts as the team's accelerator. "He plays the fastest game out there and he's the hardest worker," Lutes said. "He gets up and down the court fast and he's a good outside shooter. I'm looking for him to mature as a leader on the court."

"Any one of those kids is capable of scoring in double figures for us this season," Lutes said. "We're going to be very well-balanced in scoring."

Occupying a key bench role this year will be 6-3 junior varsity starter last year DAN PIRPICH. Pirpich was as Helping the needy by gathering coins for Christmas is a long standing tradition of the Salvation Army. Chuck Moore volunteered to help the tradition keep going in past years.

Bellringer volunteers are ready with kettles

We all seem to have our individual holiday traditions.

For some, it's hanging heirlooms or strands of popcorn on the tree, carefully decorating gingerbread men or baking rich pastries.

Others gather the family together to attend a Christmas service or sing carols by the fire.

Whatever the nuance, Christmas wouldn't be Christmas without those special activities that have become our traditions.

ONE TRADITION many share is an annual contribution to the Salvation Army.

Plymouth and Canton residents will encounter Bellringers for the Plymouth Salvation Army at major intersections and downtown locations while Christmas shopping on Friday and Saturday, Dec. 10-11 and 17-18.

We pause for a moment in admiration of those who stoically brave the elements hour after hour to collect for the less fortunate and toss a donation into the kettle. Satisfied that we've done our part, we return to our original mission — tracking down the ideal gifts for those on our lists.

We rely on the Salvation Army to put our contributions to work where they are most needed. Since 1891 when Captain Joseph McFee placed a single kettle at the Oakland Ferry landing in San Francisco and collected money to provide a free Christmas dinner for the poor, the Salvation Army has done just that.

"THE DEMAND FOR our assistance is constantly increasing, and it isn't easy to meet the grave spiritual and physical needs," said Lt. Col. Harold E. Shoults, divisional commander, "but seeing someone's life turned around as a result of our program is our reward. The next time you put a donation into a Salvation Army kettle, or mail your check, rest assured that we'll make your contribution count."

In this area, the Bellringers consist of volunteers from the Plymouth Kiwanis, Colonial Kiwanis and Plymouth Rotary clubs who have a travelling trophy awarded each year to the Kiwanis or Rotary based on which service club collects the most for the corps.

Children who keep their eyes glued to the sky the morning of Nov. 25 are likely to see a helicopter about to land in Canton after a long trip from the North Pole.

Santa visits Canton

WHO'S RED AND white, rather round, and due to arrive at 11 a.m. Friday, Nov. 25, in Canton's Griffin Park to the cheers of a spirited young throng?

Santa himself.

Travelling by helicopter, or horse sleigh, the jolly old fellow from the North Pole will greet children of Canton and make sure to get those Christmas lists down pat.

"It's Canton merchants' way of saying Merry Christmas to the children of the community," said Connie Koers of the Canton Chamber of Commerce, the event's sponsor.

Donated hot chocolate will be served to Santa's friends, and coffee to their parents.

Also in store is a tribute for Mr. Claus from Canton Supervisor James Poole, who will present Santa with a key to the township "which includes the symbolic gift of the children's hearts," said Koers.

Santa's 10th visit to Canton will feature something new — a treat for Santa's adult admirers.

"This marks the first year the chamber is trying to do promotion for residents to shop in Canton," said Koers.

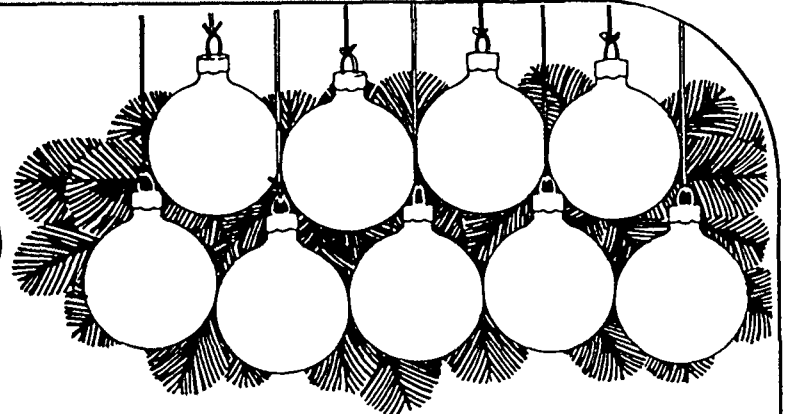

"We'll be handing out coupons at Santa's welcome. Area merchants will be offering 20 percent off to Canton residents during the week of Dec. 12."

The coupons, good for "a wide range of merchandise," also will be mailed to Canton residents.

Ho! Ho! Ho! Merry Christmas and to all a good year.

In a past visit with Santa Claus, Jamie Cloar tells old St. Nick what she would like to see under the Christmas tree on that special morning.

You better look out— Santa Claus is comin'

Christmas in Plymouth will feature several special events in and around the downtown area.

The season will be kicked off with a Christmas parade on Main Street starting at 6 p.m. on Friday, Nov. 25.

At the end of the parade, Santa Claus will make his annual arrival into Plymouth. His arrival, and the tree lighting ceremony, will take place in Kellogg Park.

The jolly old man will set up his headquarters in Kellogg Park, where the little boys and girls can visit him on Fridays between 4 and 8 p.m., Saturdays from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., and Sundays from noon to 4 p.m.

On Nov. 27, a Christmas Walk will be featured in Plymouth's Old Village section.

Also during the Christmas season, Plymouth's central business district will be open from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Mondays through Fridays, and from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturdays, and from noon to 5 p.m. on Sundays.

Joys of stardom in Christmas program

'Twas the night before Christmas and all through the house not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse.

Each year at this time, these words keep running in The Stroller's ears, and he takes a mental trip back to the little white church on the hill in his home town in the Dutch country.

As the memories come tumbling down through the years, he remembers, quite well, the Christmas Eve more than a half century ago when he spoke those words as part of the Christmas Eve program.

All day, it had been snowing, and toward late afternoon there was some question whether it would let up in time to have us walk the few blocks to the church for the annual Sunday school festivities.

FINALLY, MOTHER DECIDED that no snow could keep us back, and she bundled all of us in such a manner to keep the winds and snow from peding our walk.

It was a special night. The young Stroller had been invited to recite the verse as a reward for attending Sunday school all year without a miss.

And no one was prouder than he when we arrived at the church at the top of the hill. He had practiced the speech for several weeks and didn't want to be disappointed.

Little did he realize that his first year of perfect attendance was only the start of a string that ran 20 years without a miss. It was broken only when he came west to continue his journalism career.

FINALLY, ALL THE lights in the auditorium went on and the program was about to start. The big moment had arrived. And as the members of the group that was to take part walked up the aisle, the young Stroller heard his mother say, not too quietly, "That's my boy."

It is history now that his appearance was a success and he caught his mother smiling as he bowed at the verse's conclusion.

But there was something else to make that Christmas Eve memorable. It was the

The young Stroller heard his mother say, not too quietly, 'That's my boy.'

first year that awards were given for perfect attendance.

He was given a Horatio Alger book. And before the evening was over, every member of the Sunday school class was given a nice big orange and a box of candy. They were the first gifts we ever received outside of the family.

WE HUSTLED HOME and the next morning we raced for the corner where we had hung our stockings for Santa Claus. There was his orange at the bottom of the stocking and the candy higher up to make it look filled.

It was a grand Christmas Day, but nothing to compare with the night before when The Stroller made his bow as a speaker.

For that reason, the words always come back to him each year. Never is there a Christmas morning that we don't have a nice, big orange, along with candy at the table to show along with our gifts.

It was a Christmas Eve that will last forever.

Confessions of a young Scrooge

Christmas time, more than any other time of the year, seems to develop the most stories about kindness, love and family ties.

Each year we read of people reaching out to make this season memorable for others. And each year one story about someone's Christmas touches us in the special way that happens only around this time of the year.

This probably will not be one of those type stories. Instead, this is the tale of why I don't like Christmas.

That's right, I don't like Christmas.

My friends jokingly call me "Scrooge." My family often ponders why I'm not fond of the yuletide season. But, to this day, they don't understand.

So, curl up with a cup of egg nog crisply seasoned with nutmeg. Turn the lights low and let the flickers from the fireplace and the glistening snow outside dance around the room, and I'll tell you why — I don't like Christmas.

MY FIRST "BAH HUMBUG" feelings were experienced at a rather early stage of my life. It started to develop as the family began with the Christmas preparations one snowy December's eve.

I really wasn't a maladjusted child, however, on this particular night I truly wasn't feeling what some might term "The Christmas Spirit."

Despite my slightly anti-mistletoe (which by the way is a parasite) attitude, the family persisted in torturing me with the Christmas tree (artificial at that).

Adding to my demise were these taunting words from mom: "What's the matter with you? Why don't you want to help put up the Christmas tree?"

While reserving comment (like a true wise man), I picked up the string of electrical tree lights, wrapped in plastic-coated wire with artificially colored bulbs and asked myself the same question.

Why on earth wasn't I excited about erecting a fake tree and covering it with manufactured decorations? "Everybody loves to argue about where the tree should go, what's the best side and how to adorn it," I thought.

Suddenly it hit me — like Santa's whip smacks the reindeer. Maybe I don't like Christmas.

Afterall, how could my parents lie to me about where the gifts under the tree came from for years and then expect me to be in the Christmas mood?

For years I had been the unsuspecting subject of their folly. For years I had been threatened to be good or else the red-suited man who watches little boys and girls wouldn't come down my chimney (and land in the furnace at our first house).

Now I was supposed to cheerfully take part in adult activities which, for some reason, didn't relate to the true Christmas story. They never told me anything about Mary and Joseph having a tree in Sunday School.

AS I BEGAN to realize these things, I knew visions of sugarplums would never dance in my head again. Never again would I hang my stocking with care.

Future years only added to my condition.

Pushing, shoving crowds responding to pre-Thanksgiving Christmas commercials took their toll. Cartoon specials featuring Frosty the Snowman (what would a Christmas be without Frosty?) began to plague me.

Discussions of who we should send Christmas cards to began to haunt me. I despised Andy Williams and his Christmas special.

Before I knew it, I didn't like the way we celebrate Christmas.

No longer does riding through the snow jingle my bells. No longer does Jack Frost nip at my nose. And, no longer, do I dream of white Christmases (Bing's voice instead becomes a nightmare).

Now, I'm simply in search of — a silent night.

(Now that you know why, you can turn the lights back on and go rinse out your egg nog cup.)

HOLIDAY ARTS & CRAFTS SHOW

Nov. 25-27, Dec. 2-4 — The Christmas Arts and Crafts Show, sponsored by Plymouth Parks and Recreation Department, will be held in the Plymouth Community Cultural Center, 525 Farmer at Theodore. Admission is free; free parking. Popular show attracts craftsmen from all over the state; was extended last year to two weekends. Different artists are at each show. Hours are from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Friday and Saturday and 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sunday.

CHRISTMAS BALL

Dec. 3 — The annual Plymouth Symphony Ball will be from 7:30 p.m. to 1 a.m. in the Plymouth Hilton Inn on Northville Road just south of Five Mile, Plymouth Township. Sponsored by the Plymouth Symphony League, the reservations at $45 per couple must be made in advance for the dinner dance. For reservations, call 459-3469 or 453-6346.

GOODFELLOWS PAPER SALE

Dec. 3 — Plymouth Goodfellows will have its annual Old Newsboy fund-raising drive during the day on Friday, Dec. 3, at major intersections in the city and township to help ensure "No Child Without A Christmas" in the community.

COMMUNITY CHORUS CONCERT

Dec. 3-4 — Plymouth Community Chorus will present its Christmas concert, "All Our Best," beginning 7 p.m. Friday and Saturday in the auditorium of Plymouth Salem High School on Joy Road just west of Canton Center Road. The 130-voice chorus marks its 10th anniversary with favorite songs selected from 10 years of performing. Tickets at $4 for adults and $2 for students and older person may be bought in advance at Sideways on Forest Avenue in Plymouth, or Book Break on Ford Road at Sheldon in Canton Township. Concerts usually sold out, so it's wise to get tickets in advance.

LUMINARIA SALE

Dec. 3, 10, 17 — Plymouth Symphony League will be selling luminaria in Westchester Mall on Forest Avenue in Plymouth during mall hours. The luminaria (outdoor holiday candles for yards) will be sold for 25 cents each. For more information or for advance bulk orders, call 453-0601 or 455-0984.

GREENS SALE

Dec. 9 — The Plymouth branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association will have its annual Greens Mart in Forest Place Mall, Forest Avenue, Plymouth, beginning at 9:30 a.m. There will be baked goods, fresh holly, and other holiday greens as well as handmade Christmas decorations.

SALVATION ARMY BELLRINGERS

The Bellringers for the Plymouth Salvation Army will be at major intersections and downtown Plymouth locations accepting donations on the weekends of Dec. 10-11, 17-18. Donations are used by the Salvation Army to provide food baskets and other needs to needy families in Plymouth-Canton during the holiday season and year-round. Bellringers are provided by volunteers from the Plymouth Kiwanis, Colonial Kiwanis, and Plymouth Rotary clubs.

Rudolph finds a 'blue-tailed' doe

One cold winter's day at the North Pole, Santa was busy inspecting some new reindeer. Comet and Vixon were helping two new reindeer, by the names of Big Buck and Snow Storm, learn how to guide Santa's sleigh. Dancer and Prancer were showing others how to fly gracefully in the air. Dasher was in charge of the reindeer races for the new recruits.

When Santa saw that things were going according to schedule, he wandered over to inspect the new does. All of the does were in a circle around one little reindeer, laughing and teasing her.

"Look at that bright blue tail," they laughed. "Did you every see anything so funny?"

"What's going on here?" Santa asked. "Ohhh, Santa. This doe has a bright blue tail. It sure looks funny. Blue Tail! Blue Tail!" they sang.

The poor little reindeer just stood there with tears coming out of her big, brown eyes. Santa quickly chased the other does away and asked her,

"What is your name, little doe?"

Very shyly, she replied, "I am called Merry."

"Now, Merry, what is the matter with your tail? Is it cold?" Santa asked.

"NO," SHE answered, "My tail turns blue when the weather changes. We are due for a storm tonight."

Santa just shook his head and walked away mumbling, "First Rudolph, now this."

As the winter sun went down, the wind became stronger. Snowflakes started to fall gently at first. Then they became thicker and came down fast and furious. It had turned into a full-fledged winter storm.

"Can't see a thing for all that snow coming down. Someone get Rudolph. We need his red nose!" Santa shouted at those who had made it into the house.

Several elves ran toward the back of Santa's house where Rudolph's room was. They quickly informed Rudolph that he was needed by Santa. Rudolph came running.

"What's the matter, Santa?" he asked. "A terrible storm has come up and several of the elves and reindeer are still out there in it. They're having trouble finding their way back to the house. We need you to go out with some of the bigger and stronger reindeer to help guide them back. Your bright red nose sure comes in handy, Rudolph," Santa answered.

'Look at that bright blue tail,' they laughed. 'Did you ever see anything so funny?' they asked each other.

Rudolph's nose threw out a strong red light to let Santa know that he was ready. Snow Storm and Big Buck offered to go with him, since they were the biggest and strongest of the new reindeer.

THEY WORKED together pulling elves and small reindeer out of snowbanks and out from under Christmas trees, to which some were clinging for dear life. At long last, they had brought everyone inside.

Big Buck and Snow Storm started walking back to the house as Rudolph began his final search. He had just decided that everyone was inside, when his eyes caught a blue glow under a distant Christmas tree. He turned off his red nose and followed the glow. He slowly walked to the tree and as he got closer, he could hear someone crying.

"What's the matter?" Rudolph asked, as he climbed under the tree. He came face to face with the prettiest little doe he had ever seen.

"I'm crying because I'm cold and scared, but I don't want to go back inside with the others," Merry told him.

"Why not?" Rudolph asked.

"They'll just tease me about my blue tail again," she answered. Then she stopped for a minute, and asked him, "That's how you found me, isn't it? You saw my blue tail shining. But why aren't you laughing, too? I'll bet you're as shocked as the others." She sniffed and rubbed her eyes. "The ones who don't think it's funny think it's horrible! Why don't you?"

RUDOLPH TOLD her that if she would tell him her name, he would explain everything on the way back to the house.

"But we can't find our way back without that red light someone had on earlier," Merry told him.

"Don't you worry about that," Rudolph said as he flashed on his red nose again. "My nose is the red light you saw before."

"Y-Y-Your nose!" Merry sputtered. "What, you're Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer, aren't you? I've heard of you. You're famous!"

Rudolph laughed and said, "Yes I am, and now you know why your pretty, blue tail doesn't bother me. In fact, I love it. I've always liked the color blue." He grinned and gently nudged her. "Come on, Merry. Let's go back inside."

Santa was waiting for them when they got back. As he helped them into the house, he said, "I'm glad to see you're back and that you found Merry. We discovered that she was the only one missing after Big Buck and Snow Storm returned. Go on into the kitchen now. Mrs. Claus has hot cocoa and cookies waiting for you."

WHEN THEY walked into the kitchen, the other reindeer made room for them near the open fire. Mrs. Claus brought them each a steaming cup of cocoa. As they drank the cocoa and ate some cookies, Merry told Rudolph about the teasing she had gone through because of her tail. Rudolph told her not to be ashamed of her tail, just because it was different. He told her his story and how he had become famous that foggy Christmas Eve.

'What's the matter?' Rudolph asked, as he climbed under the tree. He came face to face with the prettiest little doe he had ever seen.

"Now if someone calls me Red Nose, I just hold my head high, because I know how much I can help Santa if he needs me," he said.

Later, he decided to walk Merry to her room. On the way, they ran into Snow Flake, Snow Storm, Mistletoe, and Big Buck.

"Here comes Red Nose and Blue Tail," Snow Flake and Mistletoe told her two bucks.

"You shouldn't say things like that. If it wasn't for Rudolph and his red nose, there might still be some of your friends outside in that storm," Big Buck scolded them.

"That's right," Snow Storm said. "Some-day, Merry may be able to help you."

The does laughed. Rudolph and Merry just ignored them. Rudolph said goodnight at Merry's door and she went to bed. Her tail stopped glowing during the night.

Not for hire

This Santa's involved year-round doing good

By Arlene Funke
staff writer

Margie's long-abandoned doll will be sold so mentally retarded children can have a happy Christmas.

Gene "Santa" Reaves of Westland has had a broken Raggedy Ann doll since 1941, when he was the official Santa Claus for the J. L. Hudson Co. A little girl named Margie asked "Santa" to repair her broken doll, leaving it behind. Reaves kept the doll, always wondering what became of Margie.

But now he's going to sell the toy — which lacks one arm — and put the money into his Santa's Christmas Fund to buy presents for mentally retarded and needy children.

"I always kept the doll, but now I'm going to sell it," said Reaves, a snowy-haired Westland man of 81.

REAVES HAS the Christmas spirit 365 days a year. Like the fellow at the North Pole, Reaves spends the entire year building his stock of gifts and candy to be delivered at Christmastime. Radiating warmth and good cheer, the grandfatherly Reaves dispenses love, mittens, caps, sweaters, stuffed animals and candy to mentally impaired and needy children in western Wayne County.

"I'm not for hire," said Reaves, a former Canton resident. "Everything is donated."

Reaves will have a heavy schedule in the weeks to come.

For example, he'll climb into his 1962 convertible — decorated with all of Santa's reindeer (including Rudolph) and visit mentally retarded children at the Plymouth Center for Human Development.

He'll party with 150 mentally retarded kids at the former Bryant Junior High School in Livonia, now a training center. He'll provide gift certificates for 65 Foster Grandparents to buy presents and outings for the children for whom they care.

Needy children in the area also will be visited by "Santa" Reaves, accompanied by Elsie Keppen of Westland, who serves as Mrs. Santa.

IT TAKES a lot of money to make this program work, and Reaves needs every bit of help he can muster. Throughout the year, countless generous business people, service clubs and individuals chip in with donations. Reaves plans to distribute about 500 sets of sweaters, caps and mittens, as well as the candy, stuffed animals and other items.

"Every little bit helps," Reaves said. "I need about $6,000 this year to take care of everything. I'm in the hole."

Reaves used to be the J.L. Hudson Co. Santa during the 1930s and '40s.

He began his practice of visiting mentally retarded children in the late 1960s, when some Foster Grandparents from the Plymouth Center asked him for help in obtaining a Christmas tree.

The project grew over the years into a full-time interest, with Reaves seeking help from groups and individuals. Although some of the children can't comprehend his visits, Reaves believes in doling out the same affection and cheer to all.

People who want to help out this year may send a contribution to Santa's Christmas Fund, a charity set up for Reaves' program. Send donations to the fund, care of Gene Reaves, 37789 Hixford, Westland 48185, or call 722-6862.

Gobbledygook

A pre-holiday account of life in the farmyard

By Jan Jones
special writer

"Gobble, gobble" greeted Snowcrop, as he approached two very agitated young Toms huddled with their combs together jibber jabbering behind the third row of sunflower stalks.

The chatter ceased and Turk crowed back at Snowcrop, "How can you gobble so calmly at a time like this?"

"Why not?" gabbled Snowcrop. "What's all the gobbledygook? You had better bring me abreast of things!"

"Well it's this way," puffed Turk, the biggest-breasted turkey on the farm. "I was up by the barn scratching around a few minutes ago, and I heard the farm hands, Clem and Barney, talking turkey. They were saying that tomorrow is a special celebration called Thanksgiving and it's devoted just to us turkeys!"

"Well, fancy that! A whole day just for us," Snowcrop jabbered. "I wonder what they will do for us turkeys?"

JUST THEN, TROTTER, who had been silently listening to this conversation, noticed a pair of good-looking hens emerging from the stalks and his wattles stood straight out as he recognized Hetta Gobbler accompanied by Honeysuckle, who was to Trotter's way of thinking, the most buxom feminine fowl to ever wobble wabble across his path. He hurriedly began to preen himself.

"Gobble, gobble," clucked both Hetta and Honeysuckle in unison, their elegant heads held high on their shapely necks, their crops undulating with their noisy greeting.

"Hiya hennychick!" gabbled Turk, pecking Honeysuckle rather hard on her wing, daringly close to her pinfeathers.

"Don't play loosey-goosey with me!" she shrieked at Turk, sidestepping his next advance by stepping behind a surprised Trotter. "How dare you gobble to me in such a lewd manner!" she added.

"Yeah, leave her alone" gabbled Trotter, edging closer to Honeysuckle and eyeing Turk fearfully.

"Oh what's it to you buzzard breath, we all know she's tart as a cranberry," crowed Turk, puffing out his chest feathers and strutting menacingly close to Trotter. Suddenly at the height of his display, Turk tripped and toppled over, right on his beak!

"Gob, gob, bob, gob," Honeysuckle clucked in merriment, addressing Turk. "With all that white meat you've put on lately, you're such a hulk of a turkey-cock, you can't even strut anymore!"

TURK, HAVING REGAINED his feet, was about to go after Honeysuckle once more, and Trotter, wishing to defend Honey, but being somewhat hen-hearted, was stricken with terror.

"Okay, cut the hugger mugger" squabbled Snowcrop, stepping between the two excited Toms. "We have a really serious problem that demands our attention and cooperation."

"What's that?" cackled Hetty softly.

"We just learned that tomorrow is a big holiday devoted just to us turkeys," tattled Trotter.

"Sounds like a lovely idea to me," babbled Hetta.

"It sounds very ominous to me. Gobble us what you overheard Turk," Snowcrop jabbered.

"Well," gabbled Turk, "I heard Clem say that we are all going to be sent somewhere for processing later today, and Barney laughed and said 'Yup, it's toes up for 'em tomorrow.'"

"It's worse than I feared," muttered Snowcrop.

"Sent away!" cried Hetta. "Why that is awful. This is the only home I've ever known. I'd sooner commit Turkicide!"

"Peck on wood, we should all be so lucky!" cracked Turk.

"Sent away for processing . . . toes up . . .," Honey gobbled thoughtfully. "Don't worry Hetta, I think I have it all figured out."

"Gobble us, do," pleaded Hetta.

"Oh do enlighten us Chickabiddy," jabbered Turk to Honeysuckle, stepping close to her and bob-bobbing his head at her.

"Stand back you squalid squab!" cackled Honeysuckle, edging away as she continued. "I think processing is what they do to you when you enter a foreign country."

"What foreign country?" clucked Trotter.

"Why Turkey, of course," cackled Honeysuckle.

"Turkey?" chatted Hetty. "Is it very far from here? Will I look all right in my fall feathers?"

"Don't be stuffy," gabbled Honey. "There is a whole country named Turkey. I think it is where we all came from originally, sort of a home coop, so to gobble. That business about turning our toes up must refer to the religion there. They are all very devout and worship at certain times of the day."

"You know, I've always wondered where we came from," jabbered Trotter. "I don't remember a mother or father or anything, just the incubator with all you turkeys here on the farm."

"I'm a self-made turkey," bragged Turk, sticking his head straight up and looking down his beak at the rest of them.

"You're a henmonger!" cried Honey. "There, stick that in your gizzard and grind it!"

"I'd rather ruffle your feathers," crowed Turk. "But do gobble on and tell us more about what they do in Turkey."

"It's a land of corn and sunflowers and it never gets cold or rains there," gabbled Hetty. "And of course they all speak Turkish and take Turkish baths."

"Oh pigeon pucky!" crowed Turk.

"I can hardly wait!" cackled Hetty.

"I'm afraid that processing is something quite different than that," Snowcrop gobbled sadly, wobbling his head side to side. "Turning our toes up means we will be upended . . . and processed I fear, means we will be butchered, plucked and turned into white meat, dark meat and giblets and served as Thanksgiving dinner to the humans!"

"Gobbberrrrgabberrr!!!" screeched Hetty and fainted dead away.

"Goose grease!" crowed Turk. "That's crazy and you know it. They'd never catch me anyway. I'm too plucky for them. See you later hatchet heads!" he chuckled, strutting back toward the barn.

"I'd like to flock around with you," jabbered Trotter, gazing turkey-struck at Honey.

"Oh Trotter, I thought you'd never notice," she clucked quietly, rubbing her neck against his. "Let's go hunt some grain together," she invited and they both moved off into the stalks.

A myth dies but not lists

This particular Christmas, a new and bewildering problem has befallen our home — our two young sons have discovered that Santa lives a little closer to them than they once were led to believe.

In the same house even.

I suppose when you're 7 and 9 years old, logic does tend to surface occasionally, and some of the cherished childhood myths just don't hold up to the scrutiny.

Both boys are taking it well. No tears were shed and, thankfully, no reproachments as to "Why have you lied to me all these years?" (I really was worried about that one!)

INSTEAD, NOW THAT they've discovered the source, they've taken to placing their orders "direct."

"Mom, I want a 'Y-Wing Fighter' for Christmas. It's on page 518 of the Penney's Catalogue. It's Catalog Number is XU-655-3838A. And while you're ordering, I'd also like a 'Jabba The Hutt' and an

'Ewok Village.' They're on the same page."

It's nice that they provide me with so much information, but somehow they seem to neglect noticing they've placed a $60 order in one sentence — and that's just for starters.

Jim, our 7-year-old, wants everything that is even remotely related to "Star Wars." The page in the catalogue featuring all of the "Star Wars" regalia was tattered and worn loose from the binding as far back as Halloween. All this from Jim spending hours upon hours staring, dreaming, wishing and wanting every single item on that page.

Santa will do her best to provide, but it's a very expensive venture. sigh.

JASON, OUR 9-year-old, on the other hand, seems to be showing a more practical vein in his requests. His list reads as follows:

- A Lego set.
- A toy air gun.
- A transistor radio.
- At least one tool.
- A pack of nails.
- A saw and some wood.
- A new knife.
- A rock polisher.
- A 'Y Wing Fighter.'
- A book on rocks.

I'm pretty sure I can manage the pack of nails and the saw, but I'm gonna have a heck of a time wrapping "some wood."

I am very happy to report that even though that guy in the red suit no longer holds the position of fanatical respect and devotion at our home that he once had, the magic and excitement of Christmas still is there as much as it ever was for our kids.

And when their eyes sparkle, so do ours. That's a wonderful part of Christmas that will never go away.

Computer age

A little knowledge goes long way when shopping

By Edward M. Weber
special writer

The age of the computer is upon us.

Technology has forced the computer into our businesses and homes, and there seems to be no turning back.

This time of year especially, as families and individuals flock to retail outlets looking for a personal computer for holiday purchases, there is high interest in the computer.

A little knowledge about computers will help potential users.

The first thing to realize is that not all computers are alike. And, like new employees, computers need the proper instructions to carry out their assigned tasks. A computer with no instructions will become the most expensive paperweight you ever bought. And a computer with improper instructions will malfunction a million times faster than any human being.

BEFORE GOING SHOPPING for a computer, it would be helpful to take a look at what makes up a computer. I will try to avoid "computer-ese," or computer technology, but will try to explain computer items in plain English.

But you will have to develop some proficiency in computerese if you intend to buy a computer system on your own.

What is a computer? In general, a computer is any machine that is capable of performing all five of the following functions: 1) Obtain information from the outside world (i.e. people) and bring it inside; 2) Take internal information and send it outside; 3) Store information internally and be able to find it again when needed; 4) Do arithmetic calculations and execute instructions that it's told to; and 5) Be able to control the flow of the preceding four functions so they all are done properly and in the correct order.

THESE ARE THE jobs of the microprocessor, or "brain," of a home computer system, and it sits on a tiny chip in the computer box.

But, to be useful to people, you need more than just a microprocessor. If you want to give information to the computer, you need a keyboard, which is a box that contains typewriter keys.

Computer buying tips

When the computer sends information back to you, you need a monitor (like a TV screen) that displays both characters and pictures. A component that combines a monitor with a keyboard is called a terminal, and often is bought separately from the computer.

Another way of getting information out of the computer is to have it come out on a printer, which is like a typewriter without the keys.

But what happens when you want to save all the information that you typed in so that the computer will have it the next day? If you shut the machine off or have the computer do a different job, the information that you typed in would be lost, and you'd have to retype it every day.

NOT ONLY THAT, but because there are limits to how much information the computer can hold in its memory at one time, it needs a place to put large volumes of information where it can get to just the pieces it needs.

The solution to this dilemma is the disk. A disk is a small round platter that resembles a 45-RPM record and can store information that the computer is able to find later when it needs it. Information can be placed on a disk and retrieved from a disk electronically by a disk drive.

Depending on the disk and disk drive that you buy, you will be able to store from 140,000 characters of data to more than 20 million characters of data on one disk.

The last piece of equipment that can be used on a computer is a device that allows the computer to send and receive information over the telephone lines and is called a modem. This device enables you to communicate with other computers that have modems.

THE MOST COMMON uses for modems in businesses are for employees who are away from the home office and wish to use the main computer's facilities and for people who wish to do research using large electronic libraries.

These are the different components that must be considered when buying a computer system. And there are variables associated with each type of component that must be considered before deciding on any one model.

MAIN DISHES

Pork Chops with Rice

Three Tablespoons butter
Six pork chops, three-quarters inch thick
One-half cup onion
Three-quarters cup sliced celery
Four-ounce can mushrooms
Two chicken bouillon cubes
Three cups cooked brown rice
One-half cup half and half
One-quarter teaspoon salt

Brown the pork chops in the butter; remove the chops and add the vegetables. Cook them five to 10 minutes in the drippings. Add crushed bouillon cubes, stir, then add rice, cream, and salt. Mix well and put in baking dish with the pork chops on top. Cover and bake at 350 for 40 minutes. Remove cover and continue baking until chops are tender (15-30 minutes).

Food GLORIOUS Food

Hot Kraut Recipe

One onion, chopped
One Tablespoon drippings
One medium sized head of cabbage
One-half cup vinegar
One and one-half cups hot water
Two slices chopped fried bacon (more if you like)
Two teaspoons salt
One-quarter teaspoon pepper

Brown bacon and onions in drippings. Add cabbage, vinegar, water, salt and pepper. Cook about an hour or until cabbage is tender.

My grandmother gave this recipe to my mother, and I have passed it down to all my children. We love it even better the second day (if there is any left).

Barbara H. Brogan
Northville

Hamburg Fluff

1½ pounds ground beef
One-half cup diced celery
Three cups cooked rice
One can peas, drained
Three-quarters cup diced onion
Two cups tomato juice
One cup sliced mushrooms
One-quarter cup diced green pepper.

Brown meat, mix with fresh vegetables and other ingredients. Place in casserole, cover and bake one hour at 350.

Verna Wall
Northville

Ham Loaf

One pound lean, fresh pork, ground
One pound smoked ham, ground
Two small eggs
Three-quarters cup milk
Three-quarters cup cracker crumbs or bread crumbs
One and one-half teaspoon salt

Mix together and bake one and one-half hours at 375.

SAUCE:

Six Tablespoons brown sugar
One-half teaspoon dry mustard
Two Tablespoons vinegar
One Tablespoon Worcestershire sauce

Mix together and spread over loaf. Bake at 375. Spoon sauce over loaf several times during baking.

Olivene Larick
Howell

Hamburg-Green Bean Casserole

One pound hamburger
One can green beans, drained
One can mushroom soup, diluted and heated a little Salt and pepper

Make hamburger patties, season and fry until done, place them in casserole dish. Put green beans over top of hamburgers. Pour diluted mushroom soup over this and bake in 350 oven for about 30 minutes.

This can be served with potatoes or rice.

Barbara Boutell

Fruity Pork Chops

Six pork chops (thicker is better)
One medium onion, chopped
One cup pineapple chunks and juice
Three Tablespoons soy sauce
One cup sliced celery
One cup sliced dates (may use raisins instead)
Dash garlic powder

Brown pork chops in small amount of butter. Add onion, pineapple and juice, soy sauce and garlic powder. Cover and simmer 15 minutes, then add celery and dates. Cover and simmer 20 minutes more. Additional fruit may be served on top of pork chops. Best served with rice.

Cheryl Cassady
Northville

Herb and Spice Meatloaf

Three slices whole wheat bread, broken up
One-half cup milk
One egg, lightly beaten
One-half cup finely diced apples
One-half cup finely diced celery
One-quarter cup wheat germ
One and one-half pounds lean ground pork
One-half pound spicy pork sausage
One-half teaspoon crushed garlic
One-half teaspoon seasoned salt
One-quarter teaspoon pepper
Three Tablespoons chopped parsley
Two teaspoons chopped basil
Dash nutmeg

Heat oven to 350. Place bread in large mixing bowl and pour milk over; mix well. Add remaining ingredients, mixing well. Shape mixture into loaf. Bake one hour and 15 minutes.

Cheryl Cassady
Northville

Tuna Bunsteads

One large can tuna fish
Three hard boiled eggs
One cup cubed American cheese
Two Tablespoons stuffed olives, chopped
Two Tablespoons sweet pickles, chopped
Two Tablespoons onions, diced
Two Tablespoons green peppers, diced
One-half cup salad dressing

Mix all together, place on hamburger bun bottom. Lay one slice of cheese on top of mixture and then top bun. Put on cookie sheet and place in 250 oven until cheese melts. Serves 8.

Marj Truesdell

Aloha Chicken

Saute two chickens in buttered skillet for 20 minutes. Place chicken in baking dish and baste with melted butter. Bake at 350 for 30-40 minutes. Baste with butter often.

While above is baking, combine in saucepan:

One cup orange juice
One Tablespoon corn starch
One-half cup brown sugar
One Tablespoon soy sauce

Bring to a boil until thickened, then add:

main dishes

Two 12-ounce cans pineapple cubes OR One fresh pineapple, cut into cubes

Pour sauce over baking chicken. Bake another 10 minutes at 350. Delicious served over brown or wild rice.

Nina Butler
Fowlerville

Creole Burgers

Brown one pound ground beef and one-half cup chopped onion (or two teaspoons onion powder) in heavy skillet, stirring to separate meat particles. Drain off fat. Stir in:

One can chicken gumbo soup
Two Tablespoons ketchup
Two Tablespoons prepared mustard

Simmer five minutes. Spoon onto eight split toasted buns.

Betty LaChance
South Lyon

Coni's Taco Casserole

Three-quarter pound bag Dorito Nacho Cheese Chips
Two 15-ounce cans of refried beans with sausage
One medium onion
One-quarter head lettuce
Two medium tomatoes
Two cups shredded taco cheese OR
Two cups shredded sharp cheddar cheese

Preheat oven to 350. Heat beans until of pouring consistency. Set aside. Gently crush one-third of taco chips and place into bottom of 10 x 13 x 2 cake pan. Pour and spread heated refried beans onto crushed chips. Spread one-half cup of the cheese onto beans. Layer remaining ingredients in this order: onions, lettuce, tomatoes, remaining chips and then remaining cheese.

Set in oven and cook about 15 minutes or until cheese is melted. Serve immediately. Serves six.

Coni Heimann
Milford

Beer Simmered Pork Chops

Four center-cut pork chops
One Tablespoon margarine
One can (10½ ounce) condensed cream of mushroom soup
One-third cup beer
One can (four ounce) drained, sliced mushrooms
Two Tablespoons dry onion soup mix

Blend together in small bowl with wire whisk the condensed soup, beer, mushrooms, and dry soup mix. Set aside. In the margarine, brown the pork chops on both sides in large skillet. Reduce heat. Pour the blended soup mixture over top of chops. Cover and simmer over low heat until chops are cooked, approximately 45 minutes. Serve hot over rice or buttered noodles. Serves four; recipe can easily be doubled.

Chicken and Dressing

Simmer six chicken breasts in water with salt, onion, celery; cool in broth. Break in fairly large pieces in 9 x 13 pan. Scatter drained mushrooms over chicken. Combine one cup broth, one can mushroom soup, one pint sour cream and pour over chicken. Make topping of Pepperidge Farm dressing and one stick oleo, one-half cup broth. Scatter over casserole. Bake uncovered at 350 for 30-40 minutes.

Pat Burner
Windham, Ohio

Pasties

One to one and one-half pounds good ground beef (I prefer ground round steak as it doesn't have too much fat)
Four to five medium potatoes
One carrot, grated
One onion, chopped fine
One teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper

Chop onions fine, also carrots if you don't have a grater. Potatoes do not need to be as quite as fine. Mix thoroughly. If you want large pasties, put a cupful of mixture in each crust, that is on one-half of crust. Add pieces of butter and a teaspoon of water. Fold over and seal edges well, and turn them up a little so they will not leak. Moisten one edge as it sticks together better.

Use a regular pie crust recipe; two-crust pie recipe should make five to six pasties depending on size.

These freeze well and are nice to have on hand. Bake one hour at 350. Brush top of pastry with milk before baking.

Elsie Mackey
Warren, Ohio

Barbequed Meatloaf

Two pounds hamburger
One cup crackers
One teaspoon salt
One teaspoon garlic salt
Two eggs
One-half cup milk
One-half teaspoon ground pepper
One-half cup minced onions
One-half cup minced green peppers
One-half cup barbeque sauce (Open Pit with minced onions preferred)

Mix all ingredients together. Bake one hour. Pour one cup barbeque sauce over top. Bake another 30 minutes or until desired doneness.

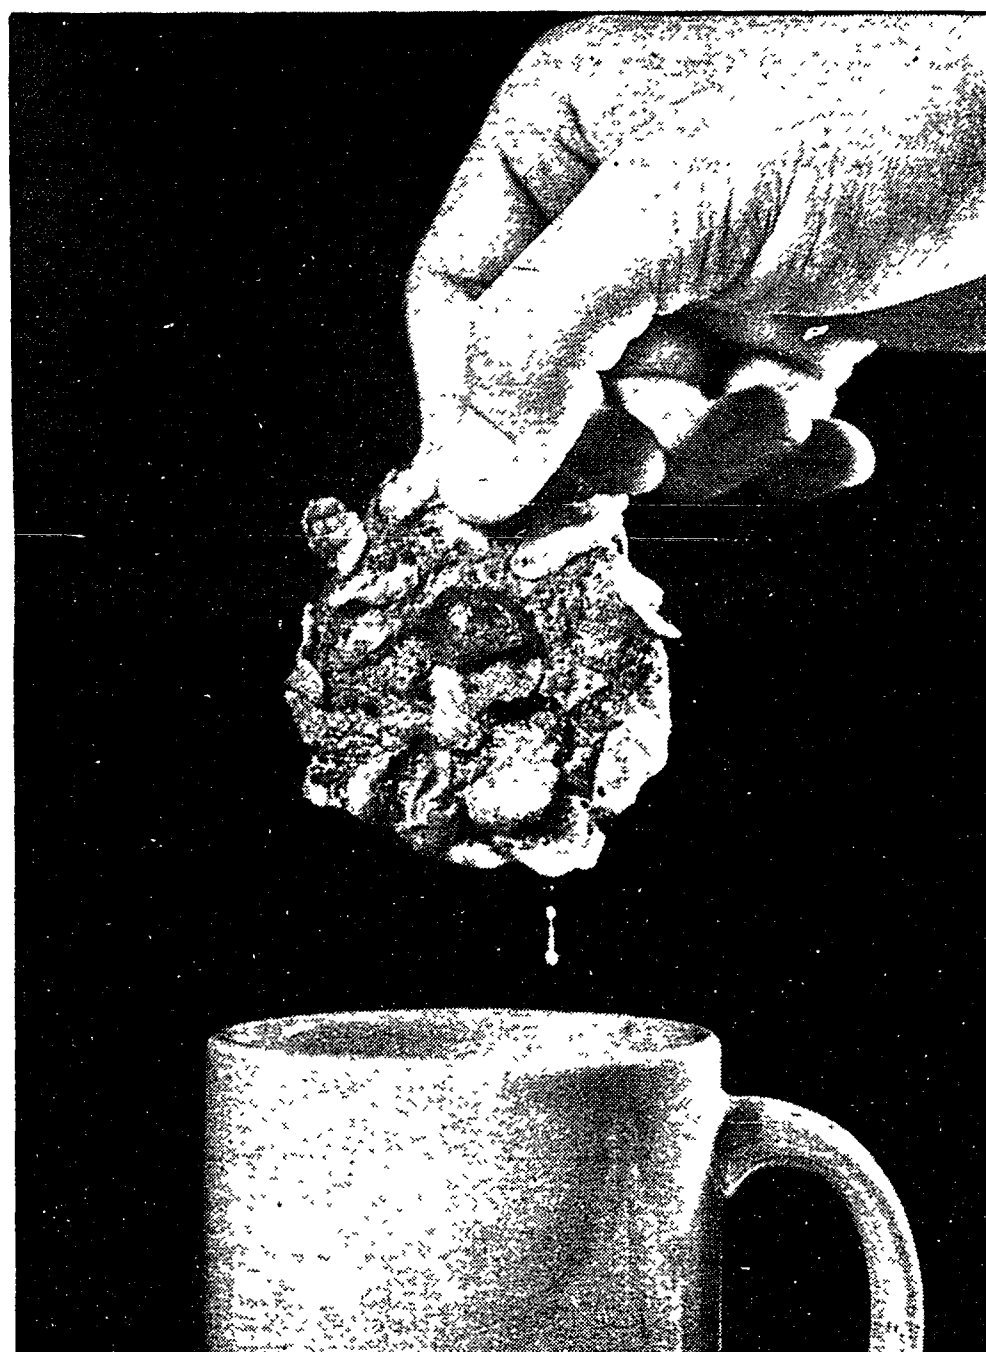

Pamela Harris

Amy's Spinach Pie

Six eggs, slightly beaten
Two pounds cottage cheese
One-half cup melted butter or margarine
Six Tablespoons flour
10 ounces shredded cheddar cheese
10-ounce package spinach, thawed and drained
Salt and pepper to taste

Mix all ingredients well. Bake in an ungreased 9 x 13 pan for one hour at 350 until bubbly and light brown.

COOKIES

Mom's Chocolate Chips

One cup shortening
One cup sugar
One cup brown sugar
Two eggs
Two cups flour
One teaspoon salt
One teaspoon baking soda
Two cups instant rolled oats
One six-ounce bag chocolate chips

Cream shortening and sugars, add eggs, beat well. Sift flour, salt and soda. Add to creamed mixture. Blend well. Stir in rolled oats and chips. Roll into one-inch balls. Place on ungreased cookie sheet about 2 inches apart. Bake at 375 for 8-10 minutes.

Karen Slack

Date Squares

One and one-half cups dates
Two-thirds cup water
Three-quarters cup sugar
One cup brown sugar
One and one-quarter cup rolled oats
One and one-half cup flour
One-half teaspoon salt
Three-quarters cup shortening

Cook dates with water and sugar until thick. Cool. Combine brown sugar, rolled oats, flour and salt. Mix well. Blend in shortening with pastry blender until the consistency of coarse crumbs. Spread half the mixture in a 7 x 11 x 2 baking pan. Pat down until it is even and smooth. Spread with the cooled date mixture. Cover with the remaining oatmeal mixture. Bake at 400 for 20-25 minutes. When cool, cut into squares.

HOLIDAYS

A Bearable Christmas

Move over Santa and Rudolph, angel dolls with spun hair and even Raggedy Ann. This Christmas belongs to the teddy bear.

From absolutely bare to formally-dressed versions, the teddy bear is the most popular huggable of the year.

Not that teddy bears are something new.

A metal advertising sign in 1908 proclaimed "Teddy Bears" are all the rage. The best plaything ever invented."

It went on to state, "These bears are the most sensible toys ever put before the public" and noted that Size 10 (the 6-inch) was $0.75.

The bears that were the rage in 1908 got their name from the country's 26th president — and Theodore Roosevelt's name has been associated with the toy ever since. It has come to mean a jointed, furry brownish bear. A cuddly teddy bear.

History has it that Teddy Roosevelt saved a bear cub while on a hunting trip, and Teddy's bear was reproduced.

This year, however, there also are frosty white bears resembling the polar ones. There are knitted bears. Fabric bears. Wooden bears and tin bears.

There are teddies dressed in warm knitted garb, and others "going formal" in black satin dresses or suits.

The smallest versions are not much longer than an inch and are designed as a tree ornament. At Judy's Country Curtains shop in Northville a tree already is in place decorated with two versions of the miniature wooly teddy and with equally small tin ones. At $2.50 and $2.25, and $1.50 for the tin bears, it is possible to decorate an entire tree inexpensively. The shop's owner used tartan ribbons as further decoration.

The shop also has tiny metal hooks in the teddy bear image — and a bear is knitted into the design of a Christmas stocking.

A stuffed muslin bear is borrowing from Raggedy Ann with a heart appropriately sewn in place.

Over the years, the teddy bear has gained a reputation for being a well-made toy. The price also has increased to keep up with inflation. While the miniatures are inexpensive decorations, larger versions are in the $30 to $100 price range.

Merchants throughout the area report the bears have been selling fast. Two weeks ago IV Seasons, a Northville floral and gift shop, received its holiday shipment. Owner Dewey Gardner reports he even was surprised at the demand. On the first Saturday they were in stock he tallied a gross sold — that's 144 bears in one day.

While many were tree ornament size, others were larger, he recalls. He has just received a second shipment of the small bears, but says a fuzzy bear in the window display is his last of the largest variety.

Gardner sells the "basic bear," and shoppers can buy bear outfits that rival those for children. The bears stay warm with handknit sweaters and matching stocking caps — with appropriate holes for ears, of course.

The bears wear bow ties and holiday aprons. They don feminine ruffled tops abounding in lace.

The window of Genitti's Hole in the Wall restaurant in Northville is filled with fashionable teddies in formal wear. In the shop are the white polar bear teddies.

There are bear cups and bear plates as companion gifts.

A store in Twelve Oaks Mall even offers a knit nightie patterned with teddy bears.

It's even possible to buy a reproduction of the Teddy Bear advertising sign — at Judy's Country Curtains in Northville.

If there isn't enough of the little boy in the Man in Your Life to warrant giving him a teddy bear, consider these other options:

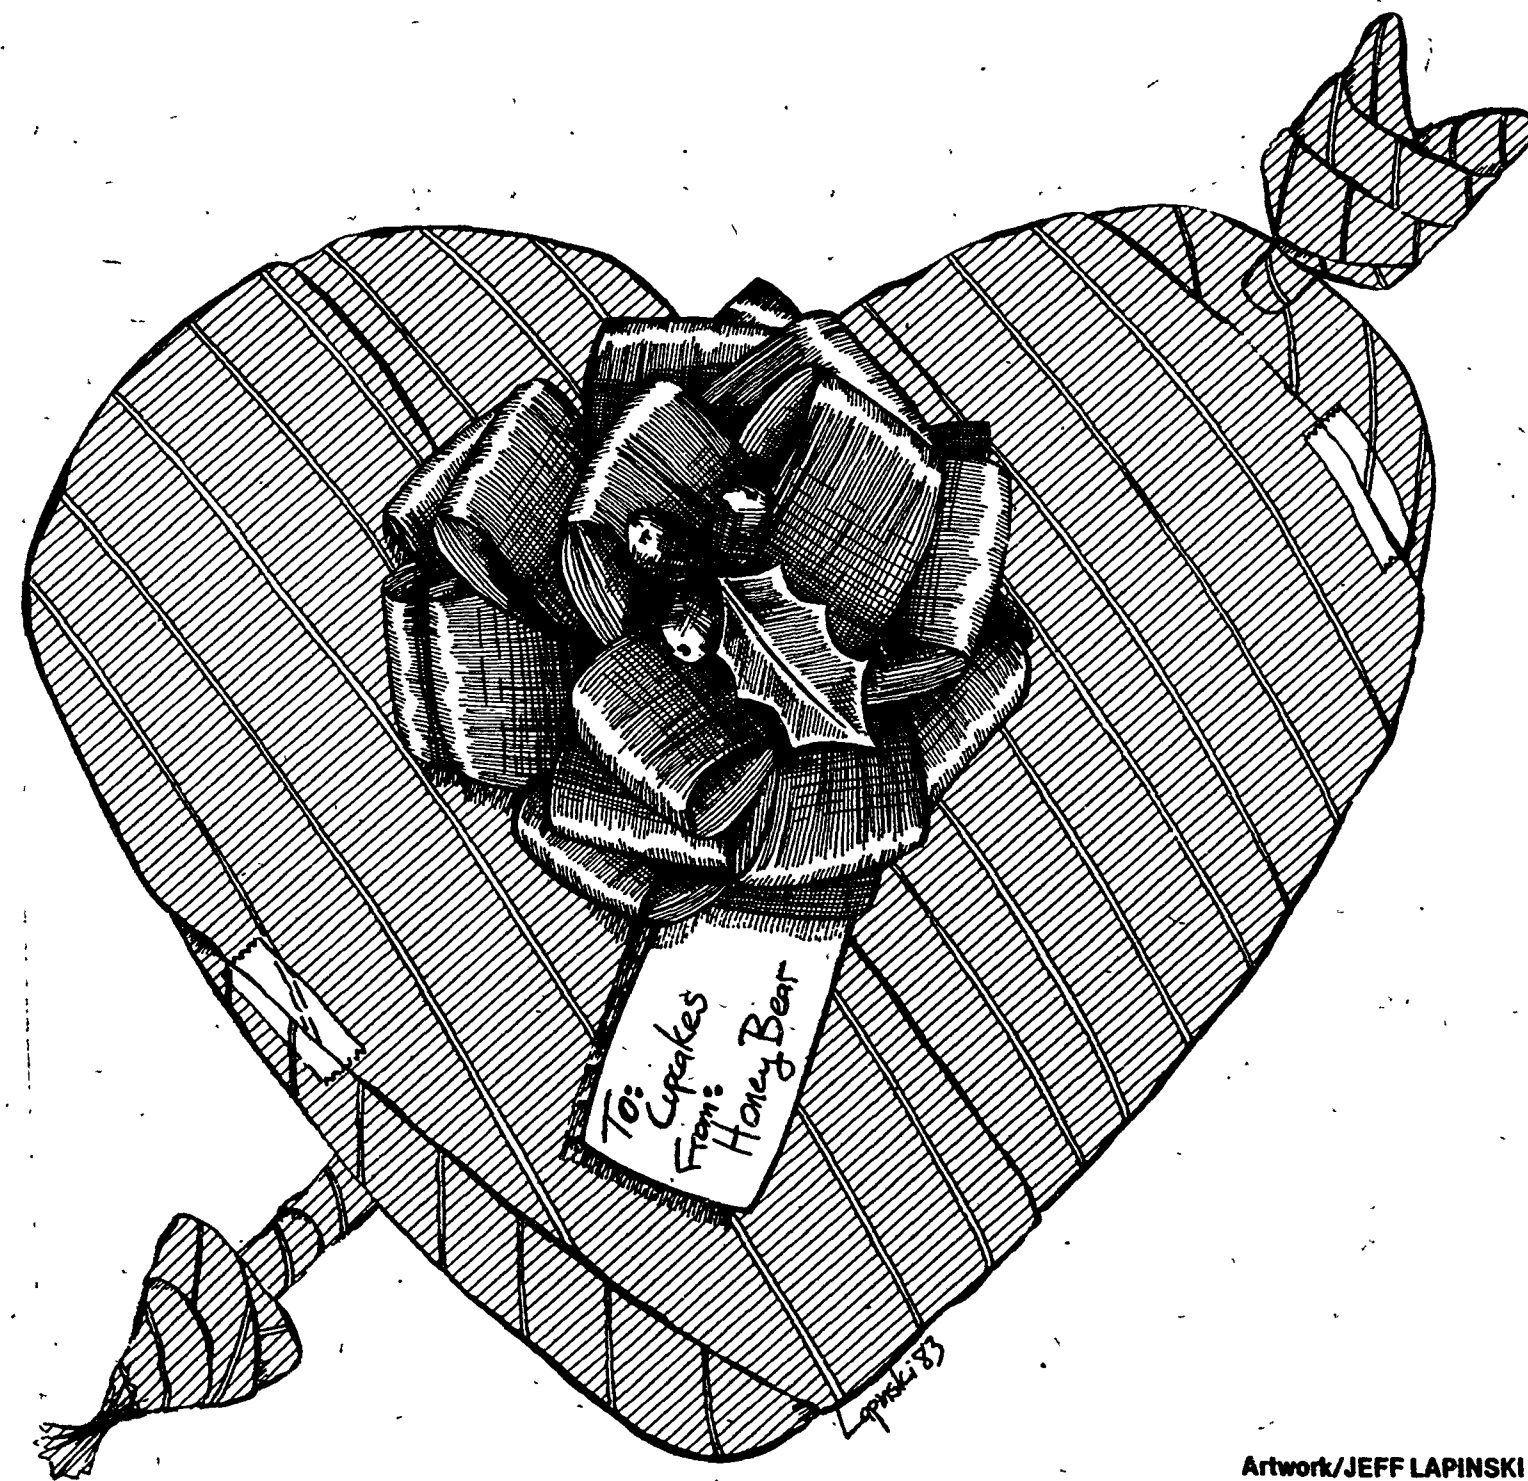

Socks aren't just navy, brown or black this year — argyles are back. Great with casual look of slacks, sweaters and jackets, the socks are a good buy packaged in pairs of three by Burlington for $12, reports Charlie Freydl of Freydl's in Northville.

The "argyle look," however, is seen in almost every men's department. It includes a new, bold-pattern argyle used in sweaters as well as the familiar, traditional argyle patterns. The new argyles are available in pastels as well as bright colors.

Gift certificates can be among the most innovative gifts. One for video golf lessons is available for the golfing man at Brooklane Golf Club at Sheldon and 44116 Six Mile in Northville.

While beauty salons long have promoted gift certificates for facials, manicures and make-overs as a "pampering" gift for a woman, they now so frequently are curling masculine locks that a gift certificate for a man's permanent would be welcomed by the right man.

For the ultimate in shaving equipment, area department and men's stores are carrying an array of gold and silver razors. Depending on how indulgent you wish to be, razors can be purchased alone or in sets with a shaving mug or enclosed in a wooden case. You may even wish to have them monogrammed.

If there's a shutterbug in your life heavily involved in 35 mm photography there are a few new products that may spark his interest. First is a recently-introduced Polaroid system that produces near-instant 35 mm slides. Processing his own slides in minutes won't save your camera buff any money, but does save time. There are many potential business uses of such a system as well.

Expect to pay $100 and up for the system, which includes a processing

box, slide-mounting device and slide mounts. The new film can be exposed in any 35 mm camera and processed and mounted in minutes after the roll is finished.

Photographic slides, of course, can be irritating to view. They're too small to see clearly, and setting up a projector just to see a handful of pictures can seem an awful chore. Two new types of products, produced by several manufacturers, address this problem.

Large screen viewers sit on a table top and can provide daylight viewing of slides magnified to the size of an 8x10 print. Prices run from $125 to $200.

Finally, there is a way to keep your slide and give it away (or slip it in a photo album), too. Several manufacturers offer instant slide printers. Simply load the slide in the top, a pack of instant print film (such as that used in Polaroid cameras) in the bottom, push a button and Presto! Aunt Minnie can have a copy of that slide photo of junior clowning in the bathtub. Another $100 and up item. Hey, nobody said photography was a cheap hobby.

One from the Heart

Alright, you men out there — 'fess up. Christmas shopping for your wife is not exactly your idea of a fun way to spend a Saturday afternoon, right?

Honestly now, everyone who has ever tossed a credit card at his secretary and directed her to go out and buy something nice for the missus to put under the Christmas tree, please raise your hand.

Hmmmm, not bad. But that's still too many.

And there's no reason for it, either. This year take a vow that things are going to be different. Yep, make this the year that you finally decide to treat your lifemate the way she deserves to be treated.

How? Simply keep on reading and by the time you're done you'll have plenty of good ideas. Just carry them out and you'll be a very popular guy around the old homestead.

First of all — and most important — remember that your wife is a woman. Sure, she may also be a housekeeper, mother, businesswoman, teacher, doctor, lawyer or what have you. But first and foremost she is a lady — and deserves to be treated as such.

What we're talking about here is putting a little romance ... a little glamor ... a little inexpensive luxury under the Christmas tree this year.

Electric woks are nice. So's a new vacuum cleaner. And there's no question that a new microwave oven makes everybody's life a lot easier.

But romantic? Not by a long shot.

It's important to remember that you don't have to spend a lot of money to be romantic. You can, of course — and we'll include a few of the more expensive ideas in this list before we're done.

But it's really not necessary. A simple sachet filled with fragrant scents and tied with a ribbon, for example, can be quite personal and quite romantic.

And have you ever thought about getting her some bubble baths? There aren't very many women who don't relish the thought of treating themselves to a long, luxurious soak in a tub filled with a sweet-smelling aroma.

Along the same line are soaps. We're not talking about your ordinary, everyday soaps here. The idea is to come up with something special. For example, the people who make Joy perfume, the most expensive fragrance in the world, put out a special little gift packet of soaps for less than $10 that would bring a smile to any woman's face.

Now think about her vanity — that special place where she keeps her perfumes and cosmetics. For starters consider buying her some perfume — the luxurious kind advertised in Vogue. Even a very small bottle relays the message that she's still that very special lady in your life.

Another romantic touch — a crystal atomizer for that new scent. Or how about some mink make-up brushes? Elegant, luxurious and not that expensive.

The bedroom offers numerous opportunities, of course. But a word of caution — it must be handled with care and thoughtfulness. If your idea of something romantic for the bedroom involves heading for the nearest Frederick's store (it's at Northland, incidentally), forget it. You're on the wrong track.

But a breakfast-in-bed tray can be something special. Just remember that it's for her, not you. And be sure to serve her breakfast-in-bed at least once ... and maybe as often as once a week if you really want to be a hero around the home.

A crystal bud vase, filled with a rose and set on top of the tray, is another romantic touch on those mornings when you surprise her with your culinary talents.

The bedroom offers other opportunities, as well. Frederick's of Hollywood doesn't make it. But tasteful silk pajamas will. So will a satin bed jacket.

And if you're willing to spend a bit more money, how about silk sheets for the bed?

Well, those suggestions should get you going in the right direction. And you'd be surprised at how many of them cost less than $15.

If money is no object, however, we've got another suggestion for you to consider — think about sending the kids away for the evening and surprising her with a privately-catered, candlelight dinner for two.

Add a bottle of her favorite wine and, who knows, you may be the one who reaps the benefits from that breakfast-in-bed tray the next morning.

Skillet Fudge

Two cups sugar
Three Tablespoons butter
One teaspoon cinnamon
One-half teaspoon salt
One cup evaporated milk

Combine ingredients in an electric skillet set at 280. Bring to a boil. Boil five minutes stirring constantly. Turn skillet off and add one-half cup miniature marshmallows and one and one-half cups semi-sweet chocolate chips, two-thirds cup nuts, and one teaspoon vanilla. Stir until marshmallows and chocolate chips are melted and well blended. Pour into eight inch buttered pan. Cool. Cut into squares.

Ruth Johnson
Kent, Ohio

Fudge

Four and one-half cups sugar
One 13 ounce can evaporated milk
Pinch of salt
Two Tablespoons butter

Combine and boil for six minutes. Pour hot mixture over and blend well:

One 12 ounce package chocolate chips
Three 12-ounce package German sweet chocolate, broken into pieces
One teaspoon vanilla
One pint marshmallow cream
Two cups chopped nuts (add last)

Let set several hours before cutting.

Vanilla Caramels

Two cups white sugar
One cup butter or oelo
One cup brown sugar
One cup milk
One cup light corn syrup
One cup cream
Four teaspoons vanilla

Combine all ingredients except vanilla. Cook until firm ball stage or 245 on candy thermometer. Add vanilla. Pour into well-buttered 9 x 13 x 2 pan. Don't beat. Cool. Turn out, cut into squares. Wrap in wax paper. To be successful, a candy thermometer should be used.

SALADS

Pineapple Jello Salad

One cup crushed pineapple, just as it comes from the can
One-half cup sugar
One package jello, any flavor
Juice of one lemon
One-half cup chopped nuts
One cup whipped cream

Heat pineapple and sugar to boiling point, add jello, stir well and remove from heat. Add one cup cold water and lemon juice and stir well. Let set in refrigerator until almost firm. Then add nuts and whipped cream and chill until firm. May substitute two to three Tablespoons RealLemon juice for juice of one lemon and also can use Cool Whip or Lucky Whip in place of whipping cream.

Ella Slocum

Jello Salad

One small package jello
Two-thirds of a one-pound carton of cottage cheese
One can crushed pineapple, drained
One can mandarin orange, drained
One small container Cool Whip

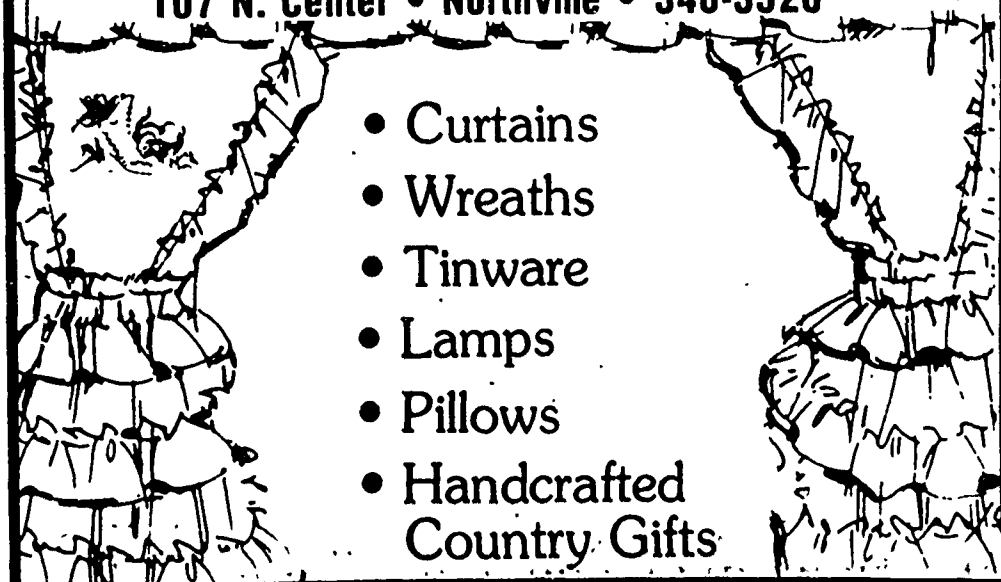

Add dry jello to cottage cheese, folding gently. Add other ingredients, folding thoroughly. Chill.

Great Taco Salad

One can kidney beans, drained
One package onion soup mix (dry)
One package taco seasoning (dry)
One pound ground beef
One pound cheddar cheese (grated)
One green pepper (chopped)
One chopped tomato
One head of lettuce, torn into bite-size pieces
One bag of taco-flavored chips (crushed)
One large bottle of Green Goddess dressing

Simmer kidney beans in package of onion soup mix with one-quarter cup water for 30 minutes. Brown ground beef in taco seasoning and add to bean and onion soup mixture. Let cool. Add chopped vegetables, torn lettuce and grated cheese to meat and bean mixture. Just before serving add crushed taco chips and Green Goddess Dressing.

Oma's Potato Salad

Ten medium potatoes
One small onion diced
Two slices pimentos, diced
Two teaspoons prepared mustard
Two-third cup Hellman's mayonaise
One-third cup white vinegar
Dash each of salt, pepper and sugar
Four slices crumbled bacon (optional)

Boil potatoes until you can prick them with a fork. Do not overcook potatoes. Peel when cool and dice into small pieces. Combine remaining ingredients and refrigerate. Serves four.

Stuffed Zucchini

One medium-sized zucchini
One egg
One tomato, chopped fine
Two slices bread
One-quarter cup minced onion
Salt, pepper and parsley to taste
Three-quarters cup shredded sharp cheese

Remove ends of zucchini — place in boiling water. Simmer seven to nine minutes. Slice in half lengthwise. Remove squash and cut into bite-size pieces. Place in bowl, along with all ingredients, except cheese. Mix well (add additional egg or bread for desired consistency). Spoon back into shells. Dot with butter and top with cheese. Place in baking dish. Bake at 350 for 30 minutes.

Bambini (Pizza Hors d'oeuvres)

One cup ricotta cheese
One-half cup grated Mozzarella cheese
One-quarter cup grated Parmesan cheese
One package (10-ounce) large refrigerator biscuits
Three and one-half ounce package pepperoni slices

Combine the three cheeses in a small bowl and mix. Halve each biscuit horizontally, forming 20 thin biscuits. Shape piece of dough into oval about 2½x4. Place two pepperoni slices slightly off center on dough. Top with one level tablespoon of cheese mixture. Moisten edges, fold dough over to enclose filling, pinching edges carefully to seal. Transfer to lightly greased baking sheet and repeat with remaining ingredients. Bake at 350 for 20 minutes or until golden brown. Serve warm. Makes 20.

Crabmeat Hors D'oeuvres

One jar Kraft Old English Cheese
One and one-half Tablespoons mayonaise
One stick margarine, softened
One-half teaspoon garlic salt
One-half teaspoon seasoned salt
Seven-ounce can crabmeat
Paprika
Six English muffins

Mix all ingredients (except paprika) thoroughly. Spread onto halfed English muffins. Sprinkle with paprika. Quarter and broil until browned, approximately five minutes.

Note: When freezing for future serving — place on cookie sheet (unbroiled) and freeze — when frozen, place into plastic bags and store up to one month. Broiling time slightly longer if frozen.

SOUP

Homemade Chicken Noodle Soup

Broth:

One stewing chicken, three to four pounds
Four or five bouillon cubes
Two stalks celery
Two medium onions
Two medium-size carrots
One teaspoon salt

In a large pot, cover chicken with cold water, bring to a boil, add bouillon, reduce heat and simmer (covered) until chicken is tender. Remove chicken from broth, allow to cool. When cool, skin bird and pick off the meat, cut into bite size pieces. Dice celery, onion, carrots into small pieces. Add meat, vegetables and one Tablespoon parsley flakes to broth. Continue simmering until vegetables are done.

Noodles:

One egg, beaten
Two Tablespoons milk
One-half teaspoon salt
One cup flour, a little more if needed

Blend ingredients, until stiff dough is formed. Roll on floured surface until thin (the thinner, the better). Allow dough to dry 10 minutes on each side. Roll into a jelly roll shape and slice into thin strips with a sharp knife. Bring broth to a rolling boil. Add noodles and cook over medium heat until noodles are done. Delicious served on cold night with chunks of hot cornbread.

Beverly S. East

Hamburger Soup

One pound ground beef
One one-pound can tomatoes, cut up
Three medium carrots, peeled and sliced
Two medium potatoes, peeled and cubed
One medium onion, chopped
One-half cup celery, chopped
Three cups water
Three beef bouillon cubes
One and one-half teaspoon salt
One-quarter teaspoon pepper
One-half head cabbage
One can corn
One can green beans

Brown beef; drain off excess fat. Add remaining ingredients, except green beans and corn. Bring to a boil; reduce heat and simmer for 15-25 minutes. Add beans and corn and continue to simmer until done. Makes five to six servings. This soup is almost as thick as stew.

Whole Wheat Cottage Loaves

One cup milk, scalded
Three Tablespoons honey
Three Tablespoons molasses
Two teaspoons salt
One-third cup butter or shortening
One package dry yeast
One and one-quarter cups warm water
Two Tablespoons orange juice
One egg, separated
Two cups whole wheat flour
Two and one-half to two and three-quarters cups milk

Combine milk, honey, molasses, salt and butter in large bowl; cool to lukewarm. Dissolve yeast in warm water. Add orange juice, egg yolk, wheat flour, one cup white flour and yeast to milk mixture; beat until smooth. Add more flour until dough is still a little sticky. Knead until smooth. Place in greased bowl; cover.

Let rise in warm place about one hour until double in bulk. Punch down. Let rise 15 minutes. Shape in two loaves. Let rise in warm place about 15 minutes. Bake in 375 oven 35-45 minutes in greased pans.

Whitmore Lake

Sour Cream Dill Bread

One package dry yeast
One-half teaspoon salt
One Tablespoon soft margarine
One cup dairy sour cream
Two teaspoons dill weed
One small minced onion
Two Tablespoons sugar
One-half teaspoon baking soda
One egg, slightly beaten
Two and three-quarters to three cups flour

Soften yeast in one-quarter cup warm water in large bowl. Stir in one-half teaspoon salt, one Tablespoon margarine, and the next six ingredients. Then add one-half of the flour and beat well with wooden spoon. Add enough flour to make a stiff dough. Turn out on lightly floured board and knead 10-15 turns. Put back in bowl, cover and let raise in warm place until doubled. Turn out on board and shape into two small loaves. Put each into 9 x 5 x 3 loaf pan and let rise again. Bake at 350 oven for 40 minutes or until done. Brush with melted margarine.

Pat's Melt-in-your-mouth Sugar Cookies

One cup sugar
One cup powdered sugar
One cup margarine
One cup vegetable oil
Two eggs
One teaspoon vanilla
One teaspoon baking soda
One teaspoon cream of tartar
Four cups all-purpose flour

Combine in mixing bowl sugars, margarine and oil. Cream with mixer on medium speed for two minutes and then increase to high speed for two more minutes. Add eggs and vanilla and beat on medium speed for one minute. Add soda and cream of tartar and flour. Beat on medium speed for two minutes, stop, scrape flour from sides of bowl and beat 30 seconds more. Chill dough at least two hours. Shape dough into small balls, about one-inch diameter. Place onto ungreased cookie sheet about three inches apart. Flatten with glass dipped in sugar. (I color my sugar — makes the cookies look pretty — use red and green for Christmas or tint your own — like orange for Halloween).

Bake in pre-heated 350-375 oven for 10-12 minutes. Cool on rack. Makes at least 10 dozen.

Pat Chipps
Highland

Chocolate Brownies

Bring to a boil:
Two sticks oleo
One cup water
Four Tablespoons cocoa powder

Pour over two cups sugar, two cups flour. Add one-half cup buttermilk, two slightly beaten eggs, one teaspoon soda, one teaspoon cinnamon, one teaspoon vanilla, beat with mixer just until blended. Bake at 400 on a greased cookie sheet with sides (13 x 17) for 15 minutes or until a toothpick comes out clean. Frost while still warm (not hot).

FROSTING:

Heat one stick oleo, four Tablespoons cocoa, six Tablespoons milk; bring to a fast boil then remove from heat. Add one pound box of powdered sugar, and one-half to three-quarters cup nuts, if desired. Can be frozen.

Ruth Bates
Walled Lake

Graham Cracker Quickies

One-half pound oleo
One-half cup granulated sugar

Combine oleo and sugar and cook for four minutes. Line a slightly greased jelly roll pan with graham crackers. Pour syrup over all and sprinkle with sesame seeds, coconut or chopped nuts. Bake at 325 for eight minutes.

Marilyn Modlin
Northville

No-Roll Sugar Cookies

One cup butter or margarine (two sticks)
Two cups sugar
Two eggs
One teaspoon vanilla
Three cups flour
One teaspoon cream of tartar
One teaspoon soda
One teaspoon salt

Cream butter and sugar. Add remainder of ingredients. Chill in refrigerator. Form dough into balls, dipping into sugar and place two inches apart on greased cookie sheet. Sprinkle each ball lightly with two drops of water. Bake in 350 oven for 10 minutes or until lightly brown.

Jane Babel
Northville

Molasses Drop Cookies

One-half cup butter
One-half cup white sugar
One-half cup molasses
One-half cup sour milk or buttermilk
One-quarter teaspoon cloves
One-quarter teaspoon ginger
One-quarter teaspoon allspice
One-quarter teaspoon nutmeg
One teaspoon cinnamon
One cup raisins
Two and one-half cups flour
One teaspoon soda
One egg

Cream butter and sugar, add egg and beat. Add molasses and sour milk. Sift dry ingredients and add to mixture. Add raisins. Drop with teaspoon on greased cookie sheet. Bake 10 minutes at 350.

Laura Jerome
Northville

Angel Wings (Chrusciki)

Beat together:

12 egg yolks
One teaspoon salt
Two teaspoons vanilla
One and one-half teaspoons whiskey (optional)
One-quarter cup half-n-half (or milk)
One-half cup powdered sugar
One teaspoon melted oleo

Slowly add:

Two to three cups flour (or enough flour so that dough is not sticky and is easy to work with).

Divide dough into four parts. Roll each part very thin on lightly floured cloth. Cut into strips about one and one-half inches wide. Cut these strips (diagonally) into three-inch pieces. Make a slash in center of each piece. Slip one end through the slash and pull gently to make a bow. Fry in hot deep fat until very light brown on both sides (they will brown quickly). Drain on paper towels. When cool, dust with powdered sugar. Makes approximately eight dozen.

Joan Mast
New Hudson

Pineapple Bars

Sift together into a bowl:

One-half teaspoon baking soda
One-half teaspoon salt
One-half cup brown sugar
One cup flour

Add:

One-half cup soft shortening
Two-thirds cup rolled oats
Two-thirds cup crushed pineapple, drained
One Tablespoon pineapple juice

Beat together until well mixed. Spread into greased 9 x 9 pan, and bake at 350 25-30 minutes. Cool in pan then frost.

FROSTING:

One-half cup sifted confectioner's sugar
One Tablespoon pineapple juice

Combine these ingredients and spread over pineapple bars and cut into squares.

Thelma Hopkins
Highland

Chocolate Mousse Icebox Cake

One cup sugar
One-third cup water
Twelve ounces chocolate chips
One teaspoon vanilla
Eight eggs, separated
Three packages ladyfingers
Whipped cream

Over low heat, combine and melt sugar, water and chocolate chips. Add vanilla. Cool. Slightly beat egg yolks and add to chocolate mixture. Beat egg whites until stiff, fold into chocolate mixture. Line springform pan with ladyfingers (line sides first). Pour half the chocolate mixture into the pan and put another layer of ladyfingers on top. Pour rest of chocolate mixture over and top with ladyfingers. Refrigerate at least four hours or overnight. Top with whipped cream before serving.

One three-ounce package lime jello
One and three-quarters cup hot water
One-half cup sugar
Juice of one-half lemon
Let set until it partially thickens

WHIP:

One large chilled Carnation milk
Add to jello mixture

Crush one package chocolate wafers
Add one-half cup melted butter

Line 9x12 pan with wafer mixture (save some for the top). Add the jello mixture. Chill, cut into serving pieces. Top with a dab of Cool Whip and a cherry.

Drumstick Ice Cream Dessert

One-half gallon softened vanilla ice cream
One cup creamy peanut butter
One cup chocolate chips, divided and chopped
One cup skinless peanuts, divided and chopped

In a large mixing bowl with mixer set on low, stir the softened ice cream, peanut butter, one-half cup of chopped chocolate chips and one-half cup of chopped peanuts until blended. Pour this mixture into a 9x13 pan. Mix together the remaining one-half cups of chopped chocolate chips and peanuts and sprinkle this over the top. Cover and freeze until serving. Cut into squares and remove from pan with spatula.

Banana Split Cake

Combine one stick melted butter and two cups crushed graham crackers, with one-half cup of sugar added to crumbs. Press into a 9 x 13 pan.

Whip together two sticks of softened butter and two cups powdered sugar. Beat until fluffy. Spread onto crust.

Place five to six sliced bananas on top of above mixture. (Use two or three bananas for a thin layer).

Next add one number two can of drained, crushed pineapple on top of bananas.

Top this with one large container of Cool Whip.

Top with one cup chopped pecans and one small jar of cherries, cut up.

Set in refrigerator to set and cool — then enjoy.

Cheryl Cyr

Baklava (old Greek recipe)

One pound sweet butter (may need a little more)
 One pound filo dough
 Six cups walnuts
 One-quarter cup sugar
 Two teaspoons cinnamon
 Dash of cloves (optional)

Combine walnuts, cinnamon and sugar. Melt butter. Brush bottom and sides of 9 x 13 pan with butter. Place first pastry sheet in pan folding over if it is too wide. Brush with butter (even under fold). Place next sheet to meet the edge of first sheet. Butter each layer. Continue until you have four or five sheets on bottom. Then sprinkle that layer with THIN layer of nut mixture. Be sure to sprinkle in corners and edges. Repeat this process until all ingredients are used, ending with four top layers. Brush top with butter, and cut into diamond shape. Bake for one hour at 325 until golden brown. First 10 minutes on bottom rack, rest of time in center of oven.

SYRUP:

Two cups sugar
 One cup water
 Lemon wedge
 Cinnamon stick
 Three to four whole cloves
 One-quarter cup honey

Boil water, sugar, lemon, cinnamon and cloves together for 20 minutes. Add honey and let boil 10 more minutes. Let cool. Pour cooled syrup over hot Baklava OR pour warm syrup over cooled Baklava. Never hot syrup over hot Baklava or cold syrup over cold Baklava.

Hints:

1. Make syrup ahead and pour over hot Baklava
2. Butter all sheets well (especially top sheet)
3. After cutting and before baking, sprinkle small amount of water on top layer to keep from curling up when baking
4. Bake until its dry, not "squishy" when you check center sheet of center piece. If there's too much butter, drain some out. If it gets too brown too fast, cover with foil. May take a little longer than one hour to bake depending on the oven and amount of butter and nuts.

CAKES

Snicker Cake

In double-boiler melt and cool:

One 14-ounce package Kraft caramels
 One stick margarine
 One-third cup milk

Prepare one package German chocolate cake mix as directed. Pour one-half of batter into a 9 x 13 greased and floured pan. Bake 20 minutes at 350, remove from oven and pour the cooled caramel mixture over this layer in pan. Then sprinkle one six-ounce package chocolate chips over this layer. Over this sprinkle one cup chopped pecans. Top with rest of the batter. Bake 20 minutes at 250, then turn oven to 350 for 15 minutes. Cool before serving.

Poppy Seed Cake

Three-quarters cup poppy seed soaked in three-quarters cup milk over-night

Two cups flour, add two teaspoons baking powder

Four egg whites, beaten

Three-quarters cup butter or margarine

One and one-half cup sugar

Pinch salt

One teaspoon vanilla

Cream butter or margarine, sugar and salt together. Add flour and poppy seed mixture alternately with butter and sugar mixture; beat well. Fold in beaten egg whites. Add vanilla. Bake in three layers at 375 for 20-25 minutes.

FILLING:

One cup sugar

Three tablespoons cornstarch

One cup milk

Four egg yolks

Scald milk. Add sugar, mixed with cornstarch. Add beaten egg yolks. Cook until stiff. Add one-half cup pecans and vanilla to taste.

CHOCOLATE ICING:

One one-pound box confectioner's sugar

Two Tablespoons cocoa

One-half cup butter or margarine

One-half teaspoon vanilla

Add enough liquid coffee to make ingredients to spread.
