Schools set d for millage v

By MICHELE McELMURRY

Though the wounds from one of the Northville school district's most devastating millage defeats have healed, time has run out on the reduced seven mills approved by voters in July, 1981.

With the seven operating mills expiring this year, the Northville Board of Education Monday approved Superintendent George Bell's recommendation to hold an April 9 millage election.

The board approved the recommendation 6-0 with trustee Gerald Munro absent from Monday's meeting.

Bell told the board that an April election (rather than a regular June school election) would provide the administration with a clear financial picture in planning its 1984-85 school year budget.

Though the board approved an election date, the amount of millage was not discussed at Monday's meeting. However, the board approved Bell's recommendation to form a Blue Ribbon Committee to study the financial status of the school district and make recommendations to the board regarding the amount of millage to be submitted to voters.

Noting the "recall fever" and anti-tax climate currently prevailing in the state, Bell said he would like to "open the books" to the community so there "is no question about the amount of millage needed" for the district.

Bell said he will be seeking financial leaders in the community to serve a

Prison fight continues

By KEVIN WILSON

Opponents of a state proposal to renovate Plymouth Center for Human Development for use as a prison made 700 phone calls to area residents December 7, asking that they write letters to the governor opposing the plan.

Of the 700 contacts made by eight people using all eight township hall telephone lines, 89 percent indicated they would not only write, but also would ask friends and relatives to do so, said Kitty Rhoades.

Rhoades, co-chairperson of the Concerned Citizens of Western Wayne County (CCWWC) organization that is fighting the proposal, added that six percent of those contacted said they would write letters themselves but would not ask anyone else to write. Only five percent refused to write in opposition to the plan, Rhoades said.

"It appeared to be fairly successful," said Rhoades. "I hope we never have to do it again, though."

Residents are not the only ones engaged in the letter-writing campaign spearheaded by CCWWC. Township clerk Susan Heintz reported that she was successful in efforts to have SEMCOG-member townships also write letters.

"A Mr. Wells, the supervisor of Springfield Township who coordinates township activities in SEMCOG, said he will be contacting all the townships in SEMCOG to get them to write the governor," Heintz said.

SEMCOG (the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments) includes seven southeastern Michigan counties.

The target of all this letter-writing is the state department of corrections proposal to use Plymouth Center as an "alternate" prison site, abandoning a Five Mile and Beck location at which more than a $1 million has already been spent in site preparation.

Summer tax bill to cost township

By KEVIN WILSON

Collection of summer property taxes for Northville and Plymouth school districts looks like a losing proposition for the township, treasurer Richard Henningsen told the board of trustees last week. The only worse situation would be not making the collections and allowing some other agency to do so, he added.

Reporting that he and business manager David Leiko would be entering negotiations with the school districts this week, Henningsen said billing of school taxes in summer adds collection costs for the township that either will not be covered entirely by imposition of the one percent administrative fee charged or by reimbursement from the school districts, he said. In addition to the two local school districts, Schoolcraft College and the Wayne County Intermediate School District will also be billing in July.

"You have two choices, really," Henningsen said. "We can continue to collect the one percent fee, in which case I don't think the schools will pay us anything, or we can negotiate a per-bill price."

School districts were authorized last year to collect taxes in July (due

Puppet magic

Northville youngsters were treated to a special Christmas puppet show last Saturday when the Friends of the Northville Library sponsored a performance of "Hansel and Gretel." Featured in the performance were Brenda Hughes and the Brenden Puppets of Troy (pictured at left). A visit from Santa Claus was an added treat for the little show-goers — such as Peter Stephens, 2, (above) who readily accepts a candy cane treat. Record photos by Steve Fecht.

Corporate loyalties a factor in police car purchase vote

Many an elected body will divide a vote along partisan lines, but that's not exactly how you'd describe the split decision reached by the township board of trustees December 8.

It was more like Ford employees vs.

everyone else as the board voted 5-2 to allow the police chief to purchase two new patrol cars without taking the lowest bid.

That lowest bid was for a pair of full-size Fords from McDonald Ford in Northville at a cost of $21,518. The next best was for two full-size Chevrolets from Lou LaRiche Chevrolet with a bid of $22,574.

Although there was more than $1,000 difference, Chief Kenneth Hardesty told the board he was "undecided" as to

Shop in Northville, promoters saying

Christmas shoppers who heed this week's promotion to Shop in Northville even will be able to purchase soft sculpture dolls in town that are look-alikes of the Cabbage Patch variety.

As part of a special Shop in Northville promotion this week, the community's merchants are offering a variety of bargains — and are getting an assist from a local restaurant.

This week volunteers from Northville's Charlie's Restaurant, 4122 West Seven Mile, have been passing out flyers to downtown stores and advertising with a coupon that will give shoppers a complimentary ice cream sundae between 2-4 p.m. Monday through Saturday. The offer expires January 1.

Shoppers in surrounding communities of Livonia, Plymouth, Novi and Farmington also are receiving the late lunch invitation.

The staff at the restaurant will be wearing "Shop in Northville" buttons throughout the holiday season. They will be passed out to guests on request.

Shoppers are being invited to enjoy shopping in the Victorian atmosphere of downtown Northville where there is ample, free parking and stores with friendly salespersons.

It's The Little People Shoppe at 103 East Main that this week has a new shipment of handmade soft sculpture dolls that are like the Cabbage Patch variety, except that the local versions have soft sculpture faces and are one-of-a-kind made by hand.

The shop reports it has eight dolls that retail at $50 each.

Astronaut's nephew

Shuttle puts spotlight on student

By JEAN DAY

"It was halfway to the clouds before we heard anything," Garrett McGrath reported to fellow students at Meads Mill Junior High last week as he recounted his impressions at the blast off of the Columbia space shuttle.

Twelve-year-old Garrett right now is a VIP at Meads Mill Junior High and responsible for the special interest in the latest space shuttle mission that took off two weeks ago from Cape Canaveral in Florida.

This is because Garrett and his mother Susan McGrath were VIP guests at the launch. They received a personal invitation from NASA that seconded an earlier one from Brewster Shaw, mission pilot and Garrett's uncle who is his mother's brother.

Garrett flew to Florida with his mother to become part of a group of 17 friends and family of the astronaut watching the launch from a site five-and-a-half miles from the blastoff.

"We were in stands in the VIP viewing area five-and-a-half miles from the site," Garrett told classmates last Thursday in Wilma Castillo's first hour class.

At the suggestion of Principal Ron Horwath, she had assigned the seventh grader to make a report on return from his trip as an assignment to cover his absence.

"Launches have become old hat, really, but because of Garrett the whole school has been interested," Horwath said. Students last Thursday were planning to watch the mission return at 11 a.m., but this was impossible when the set down was delayed several hours until 8 p.m.

In addition to Garrett's oral report before seventh grade English class students, there was focus on the mission in the social studies classes of Steve Sutherland. His students studied daily computer reports on the flight that the teacher brought in from his home computer and posted at the school. Garrett is one of Sutherland's students also.

The only viewers closer to the launch, Garrett explained, were families of the astronauts and specialists on the mission, who were four-and-a-half miles from the launch site. Members of the press, he added, watched from a distance of two-and-a-half miles away in armored cars.

"We could only see it (the Columbia) for a couple of minutes," Garrett told his classmates, as he pointed out the sound lag with the shuttle being in the highest clouds before the thundering blast was heard by spectators on the Florida marshes.

Garrett's mentees of the visit include a Shuttle patch designed by the crew with the names of Commander John Young and pilot Brewster Shaw across the top. He also has photographs and diagrams of the shuttle and launch.

Garrett said he had taken pictures but wasn't sure how they would turn out.

Garrett previously had visited the

Summer school tax collection raises township costs

September 15). Collection may be made by the local government (the usual collection agent for schools), the county or the school district itself. Summer collections were sought by school districts in order to avoid the cost of borrowing money to operate through the fall and early winter months while awaiting tax receipts.

Henningsen noted that the Plymouth district paid a bank $3 per parcel billed last year after failing to reach agreement with the township or the county. If the township received a similar price from both districts it would collect roughly $15,000 for making the extra billing, he said. And Northville school administrators have been talking about payments of only half that amount.

"That doesn't even cover preparation of the tax roll, never mind my postage and (staff) time," Henningsen said. "Weigh that against about $30,000 we'd get from the one percent route."

He noted that the county charged the township more than $25,000 for preparation of the tax roll for December bills recently mailed. He said he did not yet know if the charge for July tax rolls would be as high, but said he assumed it would approach that amount.

The township also stands to lose some income it had earned on taxes collected for other agencies in the past. Since winter bills are not due until late February, but often paid in December, the township earned interest on the tax money collected for other agencies until it made the payout two months later.

But Henningsen predicted there would be few if any early payments of summer bills. "There's no incentive to pay early," he said, noting that winter bills are often paid by year-end so taxpayers can deduct the amount from income taxes.

"But there's no incentive to pay these (July) bills until the due date (mid-September)," he continued. "We have a lot of well-educated people out there who are going to realize they can keep earning interest on that money right up 'til it's due. I'll predict right now that we'll have them stacked up four and five deep out there come September 14," he said, gesturing toward the hallway outside the treasurer's office.

The one percent fee imposed on tax collections is a significant portion of the township revenue, Henningsen said.

Several trustees asked whether it might not create difficulties for the township if it imposed the fee on winter bills but not on the summer bills which it collects for the schools.

"I have no problem defending our administrative fee," Henningsen said.

"It's used for very specific items involved in tax collection, and every one of them is justified. It pays a portion of my wages and of my deputy's wages, it pays for tax roll preparation and mailing and those kinds of expenses."

If the township were to allow the schools to have collections done by another agency (either the county or arranged by the district), there would be a reduction in the administrative fee received, Henningsen added, since the township would collect only one-half the school tax which is the largest portion of the winter bill.

If that were to happen, the township would have the same costs it has now offset by much lower fees. Adding the summer collection, however, at best will retain township income as the collecting agency at its present level while adding costs for the bills themselves, wages for preparation and collection, plus postage.

School board sets April millage election

short-term appointment on the newly-formed Blue Ribbon Committee and is accepting recommendations from the board and community.

In outlining the task of the committee, Bell said he hopes that a review of the district's financial status would take no longer than four weeks with a millage recommendation presented to the board in early February.

The seven operating mills up for renewal were approved by Northville voters in July, 1981, after the sound defeat of the school board's original 9.5 millage renewal request in April, 1981.

The defeat of the 9.5 mill renewal marked the first time in a decade that Northville voters turned down a millage renewal request. The defeat meant a loss of 36 percent of the district's voted additional millage and 28.6 percent of the total collectible operational millage—or $2.5 million.

The seven-mill renewal, recommended to the board by a Citizens' Advisory Committee formed after the millage defeat, represented a 2.5 mill reduction in the district's operating expenses—or approximately $700,000.

Despite the $700,000 reduction, the district has not had to slash programs over the last two years due to a hefty fund equity of more than $1 million.

The board has compensated for the lost revenue by dipping into the district's fund equity over the past two years.

In August, 1982, the board even went so far as to approve a 31.9 millage levy for the 1982-83 school year—one mill less than the maximum authorized millage.

However, the continued decrease in the district's State Equalized Valuation (SEV) is beginning to make a dent in the school's financial picture.

This year's 4.4 percent decrease in the district's SEV—a reduction of approximately $439,000—forced the board to levy the maximum 32.9 mills for the current school year.

However, despite the maximum millage levy, the district still is working with $149,000 fewer dollars than in 1982-83.

Coupled with levying the maximum millage, the board also will use approximately $780,000 of its estimated $1.4 million fund equity to balance the budget.

Though former School Superintendent Lawrence Nichols had ardently supported the seven-mill renewal in July, 1981—to try to recoup the lost revenue—he warned that the reduced level of funding could have long range implications for the district.

Chevy keeps police fleet

which he would buy and asked for permission to spend up to $22,575. He was, Hardesty said, "probably going to go with the Chevies."

Asked why, the chief noted that the present fleet is mostly made up of full-size Chevrolets and said he would prefer to standardize so that, if necessary, the department can scavenge parts off one car to keep another running.

The cars to be replaced are both Chevrolets, one recently retired from service with 74,000 miles on the odometer, the second approaching the end of its usefulness with 57,000 miles.

Patrol cars are regularly phased out of service at 60,000 miles under terms of a labor agreement with officers, they are sometimes devoted to non-patrol functions for a period afterward.

Trustee Richard Allen asked why Hardesty requested bids only on full-size cars and was told smaller cars would require changes in equipment such as light bars and screens. The cost of new equipment, he said, exceeds the savings made in purchasing smaller vehicles.

Treasurer Richard Henningsen moved that the chief's request be approved, but Allen asked if Hardesty "really going to get $1,000 out of salvaging parts?" The answer was affirmative.

Space shuttle a blast for astronaut's nephew

Johnson Space Center in Houston where, he reported, shuttles are lined up vertically in the building—"It's the second largest building in the world in cubic feet."

The day before the blastoff the Columbia, he reported, was mounted on a huge crawler and moved to the launch platform.

"It should go up several times more," Garrett said he was told.

"We did not talk at all with my uncle before the launch," Garrett told the class. "He (with the others on the flight) was quarantined the entire week because earlier a pilot had caught German measles before a flight."

"His wife did see him—he snuck out," Garrett confided to the class. His wife Kathy and three children were in Florida for the launch but live in Houston. Garrett's grandmother, the astronaut's mother, was on hand from Cass City.

The VIPs with the McGraths included friends of the astronaut from his college days at University of Wisconsin. Shaw there was a member of a band group called "The Gentlemen," his nephew reported.

Garrett said the family expects that Shaw will be sent to Johnson Space Center and then would be at home for a while.

Asked by a classmate if his uncle would be piloting another shuttle into space, Garrett said "probably," but explained he is not yet scheduled for another trip and there are eight or nine now ahead of him.

He related that his uncle had spent a year in training for the trip. He was an Air Force Major and a test pilot living on Edwards Air Force Base when picked to be an astronaut in 1978.

"My mom describes him as very modest but a very determined type of person," Garrett said when asked about his uncle.

Garrett, a life resident of Northville, said he and his family knew his uncle and cousins rather well as they have visited in Northville. Garrett added that he had visited the Shaws in Houston at Easter two years ago. He also had spent two weeks with the Shaw family during the summer of 1977.

Garrett has lived in King's Mill in Northville since birth. He is a fourth generation area resident on the Shaw side of the family, his mother notes. His grandfather was John Thomas Shaw and his great-grandfather was John Shaw who lived on Six Mile Road near where the I-75 expressway now intersects. Mrs. McGrath says his home now is located on the Greenmead property.

For Garrett, the mission held special interest because "it is a laboratory to conduct experiments without gravity in space."

Two men, Ulf Merbold from West Germany and specialist Owen Garriott, he reported, did drop tests with Garriott tethered to ropes and dropped to gauge his reactions.

The experiments, the student explained, were done in the Spacelab, a $1 billion European module.

He recounted how Garriott's head was held up by a bar in one experiment and how electrodes were hooked to his body to measure reaction as he was dropped and pulled up.

While Meads Mill students were keeping track back home, hearing about Commander Young, Shaw, mission specialists Garriott and Robert Parker, Merbold from West Germany and Byron Lichtenberg from MIT producing satisfying results in the space lab, Garrett was observing and studying as much as possible about the mission for his report.

"Then we watched an extra day and walked the beach," Garrett reported on the conclusion of his Florida adventure.

Would he like to be an astronaut? Garrett said no; his sights are set on becoming a helicopter pilot.

Grimms' tale holiday treat for children

By B.J. MARTIN

Next Tuesday, "Sleeping Beauty," a musical adaptation of the Grimms' fairy tale, opens at the Northville Marquis Theater, 123 East Main — and rehearsals last week promised the musical will be an excellent holiday treat for youngsters.

Norman Sachs (music) and Barbara Fried's (dialogue) reworking of the Grimms' story goes for laughs instead of evoking the Gothic horror of the original (a little-known fact is that many of the Grimms' original fairy tales rival Macbeth for gore). As such, the musical version is a nicely balanced concoction good for all ages.

Casting is perhaps even more important in children's shows than for much adult drama, and director Donna Tinberg (an associate director for the Marquis' previous show, "Broadway Melodies") has come up with a good group for "Sleeping Beauty."

Terese Cullen is a believable Princess Beauty, a naive 16-year-old prone to pouting about the lack of suitable suitors. Prince Charming will be played by Frank Schugar, who appeared in the Marquis' first production of the season, "Broadway Melodies."

One character who may amuse adults at the show as much as she will children is the ultra-sweet Good Fairy Godmother, played by Lois Moore. Moore, who has performed with the Red Barn Summer Theatre, Piccolo Opera Company and the Kokomo Civic Theatre, cracked up her fellow actors in rehearsals with her hilariously unctuous characterization. She is a cinch to have the same effect on audiences.

As the Bad Fairy Godmother, Debi Barsamian of Farmington Hills brings a similar enthusiasm to her cleverly drawn part. Barsamian has both acted and directed with the Garden City Civic Theatre.

Her character is far from a typical haglike witch — she's more like a pretty, haughty, indignant snob. Although she intends to kill Sleeping Beauty, she always seems more naughty than truly threatening. Her exchanges with the Good Fairy are handled with just the right mixture of wit and mock-venom. Gael Barr as The Fairy Godfather is a veteran of Los Angeles and New York productions, and in fact, began his performing career as a young dancer in Shirley Temple films. He brings a good deal of creativity and physicality to his part. He is blessed with one of those elastic faces and he's a real comic mugger — kids should love him.

Andrew Henderson brings a well-rounded theater background to the role of the King, an indecisive fuddy-duddy who appeals to the audience for help at one point. Henderson has worked with the Circle Playhouse, Oakway Symphony and National Education Television network as a director, composer, musician and actor. Don't let those serious credits scare you — he looks like a good children's entertainer.

Diana Ravis, a talented dancer and singer, will play Sleeping Beauty's mother, despite her not-so-matronly good looks. She also appeared in the Marquis' productions of "Broadway Melodies" and "Monterey."

Dan Morrison, a student at Eastern Michigan, rounds out the cast as the page, a singing and dancing role, as are all the characters.

Performances of "Sleeping Beauty" are scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, December 20 and 27, 2:30 p.m. Wednesday, December 21 and 28, and 11 a.m. New Year's Eve. Tickets are $3 and may be reserved by phone or bought at the door. For information, phone 349-8110 or 349-0868.

Conley took first place in the poetry category with Paxie taking the second place poetry award.

First, second and third place winners in the three categories of fiction, poetry and feature writing were selected from more than 200 entries. Students from 34 Michigan high schools participated in the contest, which was judged by faculty members in EMU's English department.

For their prize-winning poetry, Ann and Andrew received awards of $750, applicable to tuition at Eastern Michigan.

A memorial service for the Reverend David L. Byers, who has served as minister of visitation at First Presbyterian Church since the fall of 1982, will be held at 7 p.m. tonight (Wednesday) in the church sanctuary.

He died Sunday night at Ford Hospital where he had been a patient for a week. He had been ill with cancer since last summer.

A resident of Redford, the Reverend Byers was married to Barbara Byers-Lewis, who is a Methodist minister in the Redford area. They are parents of a son Peter, born in July.

The Reverend Byers also is the father of three grown children from a previous marriage.

He received his BA degree from the College of Wooster and continued his studies at Union Theological Seminary and Columbia University in New York City. He also studied at the University of Geneva in Switzerland.

He served with the U.S. Army artillery from 1944-46.

Besse West, 93, dies in California

Bessie Brooks West, a Northville native and an emeritus professor of institutional management in which she pioneered at Kansas State University in Manhattan, Kansas, died in California December 2. She was 93.

In recent years she had lived in Chula Vista, California.

She was on the K-State faculty for 33 years and from 1928-56 was head of the Department of Institutional Management, pioneering instruction in this field.

She was born in Northville August 25, 1890, and attended Michigan State Normal College for three years. She taught in schools in Lind, Washington, and Mullin, Idaho, before marrying Howard E. West in 1915.

Widowed in 1918 and with a son, Major Gorton West, she resumed her schooling, earning a BA in 1925 and MA in 1928, both from the University of California at Berkeley, while teaching in the Berkeley secondary schools. She joined KSU in 1928, retiring in 1961.

She was responsible for all campus food services there, including food services for campus residence halls, for many years. She helped plan two residence halls. One of KSU's major residence halls was named Bessie B. West Hall in her honor. An endowed scholarship fund in her name has been established with the KSU Foundation.

A past president of the Kansas and American Dietetic associations, she was co-author of two important books in her field, "Food Service in Institutions," the first college textbook in institutional management, and "Food for Fifty," which appeared in its sixth edition in 1979.

She was honored for superior achievement by Michigan State Normal with an honorary master of education degree in 1949; by the American Dietetics Association with its Copher Award, highest honor in the field of dietetics in 1960; and by Phi Delta Gamma, national graduate women's professional organization, with its first Achievement Award.

Her honoraries included Phi Kappa Phi and Omicron Nu.

On leave in 1938-39, she set up the Department of Institutional Management at the University of Hawaii, and in 1957-58 she pioneered the American Dietetic Association's continuing education program.

BESSIE WEST

After retiring from Kansas State she served as acting head of the Department of Food Service at the State University of New York in Cobleskill and in 1962-63 as visiting professor at Pennsylvania State University from 1963-65.

She is survived by her son, who lives in California, and by four grandchildren. Funeral services were held in California.

Hospital escapes top 500 for year

Township police spent nearly 2.5 hours assisting Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital last month, chief Kenneth Hardesty reported to the board of trustees December 8.

Twelve escapees from the institution on Seven Mile Road were apprehended by township police during November, according to a report signed by Captain Philip Presnell. None of the 12 was reported to be involved in criminal activity when caught. Township police spent 2 hours, 27 minutes on hospital-related reports.

The dozen were among a total 47 reports of walkaways from the hospital last month. Of those, 26 had been returned to the hospital by November 30 and the remainder were considered "at large."

The November total brings to 572 the number of reported escapes in 1983, with 32 patients remaining at large.

Senior village project is damaged by prison 'stigma'

There was both good and bad news for proponents of a senior citizens housing complex on Sheldon Road Thursday night.

William Tucker, special project director of the Wayne County Economic Development Corporation, reported to the township board that there is rising interest in developing the parcel, but that the "stigma" of a proposed prison across the road is having a detrimental effect.

"Yesterday I was at the child development center with five representatives of Volunteers of America," he said. "They were very enthusiastic. In the next month or two we may see a tentative step toward having the senior village developed."

Volunteers of America, he said, is involved in many other senior housing projects across the country and has the assets needed to finance development of the township site.

'The stigma of the prison doesn't help.'

— William Tucker
County EDC

"One of the things you have to understand about the child development center is that it's 101 acres with 41 buildings on it — that makes it very difficult to develop," Tucker said. "If you take the approach that you're going to demolish the buildings, that is very expensive. And if you take the approach that you're going to make some adaptive re-use of the building, that is also expensive. Some of those cottage buildings are very difficult to adapt for use by seniors."

Estimates for the cost of developing the site as proposed were set at $75 million in 1981, Tucker noted. "Now you're talking in excess of $100 million — that's a big bite and it's tough finding someone both able and willing to make that kind of investment. The stigma of the prison doesn't help."

Tucker said the group he recently led around the facility was "very disappointed" to hear of the state proposal to make a prison of a portion of Plymouth Center for Human Development.

"They weren't happy — they don't want a prison there either. The only good thing you say about it is I didn't get the cold shoulder right away."

Although he gave the update report, Tucker was present primarily to ask township approval for payment of $8,500 to Zucchelli-Hunter, Associates as full and final settlement of a dispute between the EDC and the firm.

Zucchelli-Hunter was hired under a federal grant to do a marketing study for the senior village. The grant, through the county, was to the township which in turn applied it to the county EDC use.

As Tucker explained to the board, neither the EDC nor the township was entirely satisfied with the job done by Zucchelli-Hunter and the final payment on the contract was stopped and the grant money held in escrow. The firm filed suit for payment and negotiations on the $20,000 bill resulted in the $8,500 settlement.

Authorization to release the funds in escrow in order to pay this amount was needed from the board, Tucker said, since the grant officially was made to the township.

"I consider it a fair offer," Tucker said. "It's for less than I would have settled at — we were prepared to go to $10,000 if we had to."

The $8,500 payment includes all costs, including the plaintiff's legal fees, he said.

The board approved the release of the block grant funds unanimously.

Fast ballot-counting machine considered

Election results in the township might be tabulated much more quickly in 1984 if Clerk Susan Heintz and Treasurer Richard Henningsen approve a purchase authorized by the township board last week.

Acting on Heintz's recommendation, the board authorized her and Henningsen to spend up to $9,500 to buy computerized vote-counting machines capable of processing 600 ballots per minute.

Heintz said the present, hand-loaded devices for counting punch-card ballots are overloaded by the number of voters in the township. "We run too many ballots through them, so they overheat and then we have to let them cool down before we use them again. They also miscount when they're overworked — you run a card through and it doesn't count it so you have to run it through again three or four times."

In the process, results are often held up much later than would be the case with better or more reliable equipment for tabulating the vote, she said.

In seeking new equipment, Heintz reported, she found it was difficult to find something perfectly suited to the township's needs.

"What's available is either what we have now or something made to handle huge vote totals like in Livonia or someplace bigger," she said. "We seem to be the only community of our size in the state that's on punch cards."

"I could get by if we bought three more of the little machines we have now," Heintz said. "But they aren't really made for an operation as big as ours has grown to be, and in the long-term we're going to need something else."

The answer may be a C.E.S. Ballot Tab, manufactured by Computer Election Systems of Sunfield, Michigan. The 600 count-per-minute machine is offered at $9,500, including a one-year extended warranty and training in programming and election night procedures, Heintz told the board.

Making the purchase, now, she said, makes sense because the manufacturer is making a transition to a new model that uses laser light to read the cards.

"We don't need anything that fancy, and we get this model for about one-third its original price because they're phasing it out," she said.

The machines are used by Washtenaw County, Heintz said, and a demonstration for her benefit last month made it look "like the best compromise available — I'm not entirely happy with it, but it looks like the best there is at a reasonable price."

Given Heintz's uncertainty, and Henningsen's desire to insure that the investment was worthwhile, the board voted unanimously to allow them to make the final decision and authorized the expenditure.

Heintz said Washtenaw County has been contacted and is willing to demonstrate the equipment for Henningsen during the week between Christmas and the new year.

Sophomores sell pizzas as fundraiser

Finding a different way to raise funds isn't easy, but the sophomore class at Northville High School has discovered a project that is new for Northville.

Class president Hutch Kerns reports that during the first two weeks in January class members will be taking orders through their neighborhoods for pizzas.

There will be both small and large sizes in the frozen, uncooked pizzas that will be delivered

January 20 and 21. Prices are $6.50 for the large and $4.50 for the small pizzas.

Profits from the sale will go to the class treasury.

Police Blotters

Escaped DeHoCo inmate caught near Seven Mile

From State Police...

An escapee from the Detroit House of Correction was arrested by Michigan State Police of Post 21, Northville, December 5.

Police reports indicate two troopers responded to a 9:25 a.m. report that a black male wearing prison blues was walking along the C&O Railroad tracks at Seven Mile and Northville roads.

When police arrived, according to the report, the man was walking away from the tracks in a southeasterly direction. He was seen to be wearing blue coveralls with the letters DHC on the back. Police arrested him and determined that he was Robert Craig Knox, 29, of Detroit.

When police returned Knox to DeHoCo, officials there said they would take of prosecution for the escape, as is their routine.

State police are investigating possible larceny and forgery charges against a 32-year-old Northville man arrested on drunk driving charges December 6, police reports state.

The Arborway resident, arrested for operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicants, was found to be in possession of a check book in the name of a Dearborn man. When contacted, the Dearborn resident said the checks, payable from a Dearborn Credit Union, had been stolen from his car in South Lyon December 4 or 5. The owner said the checkbook had been left in his car overnight when he stayed with a friend residing on Griswold and that he had first noticed the book missing at 6 p.m. December 5.

Further investigation revealed that one check had been written after the last one reported by the owner. Investigators were attempting to track down that check, written to a Farmer Jack store in the amount of $25, while pursuing other leads.

Another car-deer collision was reported in the township November 29, according to state police reports. A 23-year-old Livonia woman told police she was driving southbound on Haggerty, just north of Six Mile, when a deer crossed westbound in front of her car about 5:30 p.m.

She could not stop before hitting the deer, the driver told police. The deer was dead when police arrived. The driver did not want to keep the deer, so police issued a state highway-killed deer permit to a trooper not assigned to the incident. The permit authenticates the accident so that the holder of a deer killed out of season is not subject to charges of poaching.

Battery thieves were working the western end of Northville Township and eastern Salem early November 23, according to state police reports.

A Salem man reported the theft of a $60 battery from his 1978 Pontiac Sunbird. The thieves cut the battery cables (valued at $20) to remove the battery and siphoned $25 worth of gasoline from both the car and a 1972 Ford Van. Both were parked in the driveway of the man's Angle residence.

A similar theft was attempted within hours at a west Seven Mile house in the township, where the resident reported hearing a noise at 12:30 a.m. and looking outdoors to see someone beside his 1972 Chevrolet pickup truck. When he turned on an outdoor light, the homeowner said, the would-be-burglar fled eastbound on Seven Mile. A car across the street drove eastward and picked up the man about 1,000 feet down the road, the victim told police.

Examining his truck, he found the hood up and both battery cables had been cut through. Township police reported scattered incidences of gasoline siphoning as well.

...in the City

Two men visiting Northville Downs Saturday night reported their wallets stolen. A Lansing man said the theft of his wallet, which contained $50 in cash, from his rear pocket, occurred about 10:30 p.m. Saturday. He had been seated in the upper grandstands.

At 8:35 p.m. the same night, a Livonia man had reported his wallet had been stolen from his rear pocket, most likely while he was standing in a line. His wallet contained $30 and a credit card.

A 1,500 watt portable generator valued at $1,000 was stolen from the garage of a house on Chigwidden last week. The thief or thieves apparently entered an unlocked or open garage door to gain entry sometime between 8 a.m. December 1 and 8:29 p.m. December 6.

An 80" by 30" insulated doorwall glass at a condominium under construction at 1190 Concord Court, was reported smashed, apparently between 8:30 a.m. Saturday and 7 a.m. Monday. The glass was valued at $100.

...in the Township

A stolen 1976 AMC Gremlin was recovered by Northville Township police at approximately 2:30 p.m. December 7 on the north shore of Lake Success.

According to the police report, the vehicle was found facing south at the edge of the water. The vehicle was observed to be missing both rear tires and wheels and the license plate. The rear hatch window of the vehicle was broken as well as the windshield in front of the driver's seat.

Miscellaneous papers with the owner's name on them were found in the glove box. A Law Enforcement Information Network (LEIN) check of the vehicle identification number revealed the vehicle was stolen out of Redford December 5.

Redford Township police were notified of the found vehicle. Estimated value of the auto was placed at $1,200.

An officer from the Plymouth State Home Safety Department found a stolen auto engulfed in flames at approximately 4:30 a.m. December 9 on Five Mile west of Sheldon, township police report.

Officers called to the scene found the 1973 Volkswagon burned and stripped on the north shoulder of Five Mile Road.

Omnicom cable station to air holiday programs

Several new shows are scheduled to make their debut on Omnicom channels 8 and 15 just in time for the holidays, Omnicom programming director Suzanne Skubick announces.

The programs starting the week of December 19 range from exercise to cooking.

First show to premiere is "Tell Me a Story," a program featuring children's stories, number counting, alphabet, magic and more. Youngsters from Beginner's Inn of Canton help make for a lively children's program, Skubick explains.

A cooking show, titled "Working Fancy," begins Tuesday with repeats on Thursday. Air time is 9 p.m. on Channel 8.

Ms. Pam Miracle of La Cuisine catering service will teach viewers each week how to cook with a Chinese Wok. Her first program features a holiday meal sure to please the taste buds, says Skubick.

"Total Fitness" comes to Channel 15 from the Hamtramck studio of Omnicom of Michigan. Jackie Starr will take viewers through the paces in an exercise show to be aired Tuesdays at 5 p.m. and Thursdays at 9 p.m.

For those who don't exercise at the dinner hour or bedtime, Skubick says the show also soon may be airing in an early morning time slot Tuesdays through Friday at 7 a.m.

Omnicom is reported also working on another exercise show to be produced in the Canton studio. When both are ready, they will be aired in the morning hours by using a special timer.

The week of December 27 will see another Hamtramck production debut on Channel 15 at 6 p.m. Tuesdays and 10 p.m. Thursdays. Called "Prescription for Health," it features Betty Jean Rivkin from Detroit General Hospital.

Because of new additions to the program line-up some shows are in new time periods. "Rave Review" will move to Channel 15 Tuesdays and Thursdays at 4:30 and 8:30 p.m. respectively. "Gospel Stars of Tomorrow" will move to Channel 15 at 4 p.m. Tuesdays and 8 p.m. Thursdays. "Cooking with Cas" will be on Channel 15 at 6:30 p.m. Tuesdays and 10:30 p.m. Thursdays.

Several other shows on Channel 15 were moved to new air times. Skubick suggests that viewers consult their listings for exact times.

She says she hopes viewers will take time out to sample the new programs. "We are very pleased to be increasing our program schedule with so many quality programs that provide something of interest for every age group."

'We are very pleased to be increasing our program schedule with so many quality programs that provide something of interest for every age group.'

— Suzanne Skubick, Omnicom Program Director

"Parents will want to tune this show in for their little ones before sending them off to bed," she says. The program will air Mondays and Wednesdays at 8 p.m. on Channel 8.

Next up Mondays and Wednesdays at 8:30 p.m. is the debut of "The Letter Writer" featuring local problem solver Ginny Eades of Canton's Letter Writer business. This program, says Skubick, is formatted much like her newspaper column. She will present letters from area citizens having some difficulty and then will problem solve step-by-step.

The show is a new concept in programming, and viewers will learn how to solve a problem from start to finish by watching regularly, Skubick promises.

Foster parents run the gauntlet for license to add two children

Some were angry. Some were confused. Most didn't know what to make of it. "It" was a public hearing preceding the December 8 township board meeting called to consider an application from John and Joyce Eskra of 41485 Eight Mile Road for licensure as a foster family group home. Roughly a dozen people showed up to speak to the issue.

The Eskras presently care for four foster children, and would like to bring in two more, one of whom being sister to a boy they already have. All were placed through the St. Francis Home for Boys in Detroit. Joyce Eskra spoke of intentions to adopt at least two of the children, in which case no group license will be needed in the long-term. But to have more than four foster children in a single home requires a license as a foster family group home.

And that triggers a township policy to conduct hearings whenever a group care license is sought within its boundaries. The policy was formed as a result of state policies creating congregate care facilities for the mentally handicapped and mentally ill.

None of the children at the Eskra home is so classified, but the policy applied nonetheless. The licensing agency is the state department of social services, which doesn't much care what the township board thinks so long as it certifies the proposed facility is located more than 1,500 feet from any other group home. If the distance is less than 1,500 feet, DSS wants to know if the township recommends licensure anyway.

Township clerk Susan Heintz reported that the Eskra home is 1,900 feet east of a licensed group home for retarded persons on Eight Mile.

A few of the Eskras' neighbors turned out to protest the license, one claiming the septic field on the property is inadequate to have so many people in the house (building inspector Troy Milligan said that wasn't so), another stating there are "too many children" in the area already.

Another man, Martin Schmitt, said he was considering purchase of a home in Quail Ridge subdivision and wanted to know if there was anything that could be done to stop the proliferation of state institutions in the township. Told the Eskras wanted only to take in a foster child, he asked "Then what's this hearing all about, anyway?"

Which was pretty much what Joyce Eskra wanted to know.

Noting that she and her husband have raised six children of their own and 47 foster children, several of whom they subsequently adopted as their own, she said, "If these were my own six, none of you would care."

Their own children having grown and left home, she said, the foster children will be the only ones in the house. "Why would anyone even want to question our adopting these children?"

Ed Dorrington, chairman of the township's group home committee, reported that his group visited the Eskra household and came away with "very positive impressions." The home is large (it has six bedrooms and three bathrooms, a 33-foot living room and a formal dining room, Eskra said), and in good repair, Dorrington said.

"We see no reason the township should oppose the license," Dorrington said. "The Eskras already have a license for four foster children, and they say they wish to adopt a boy and his sister, in which case they would have only four. It's just the timing that requires a license."

There is no commercial motivation, he noted. The Eskras pay only $6.35 per day for care of foster children and those payments cease upon adoption.

The board voted during its regular meeting to notify DSS that the Eskra home is more than 1,500 feet from any other licensed group care facility. Trustees only questioned the DSS form, which does not allow for a recommendation of approval in such a case, only for certification of distance.

Scouts are singing

Economists predict state to rebound

Michigan's economy will experience substantial recovery during the next two years, with steadily declining unemployment, moderate inflation and an upswing in consumer purchasing power.

That was the finding of University of Michigan economists at the recent 31st annual Conference on the Economic Outlook. The forecast for "The Michigan Economy in 1984" was prepared by Joan Cray and Saul Hymans.

It suggests that increases in state employment will be paced by major gains in the manufacturing sector of the economy — an increase of about 200,000 jobs between 1983 and 1985.

But "gains made in labor productivity by auto companies will reduce the labor input needed for any level of output and the federal government's policy mix will dampen the improvement in car sales ... by keeping interest rates high."

This, the U-M economists explained, will "keep manufacturing employment from recovering all the way to pre recession levels."

Cray and Hymans suggested that the fiscal outlook will "continue to improve as a result of both the 1983 (state) tax increase and an expanding tax base" as economic recovery gathers momentum in the state.

"The next two years," they said, "should provide us with the opportunity to assess our options and choose the course for the Michigan economy in an atmosphere which is a pleasant change from the 'crisis management' framework in which we have been forced to operate for the past several years."

The forecast for the Michigan economy for 1984-85 calls for total employment, which grew by 2.3 percent in 1983, to grow by 3.7 percent in 1984 and to accelerate to a growth rate of 5.1 percent in 1985.

The increases in employment, along with projected labor force growth, yield annual unemployment rates which decline from 14.3 percent in 1983 to 11.7 percent in 1984 and 9.6 percent in 1985.

College giving Yule concert this Sunday at Marquis

The Schoolcraft Wind Ensemble will present a Christmas Concert at 2:30 p.m. Sunday at the Marquis Theater in downtown Northville. World-renowned saxophonist Donald Sinta will be guest soloist.

The program will include Alfred Reed's "Russian Christmas Music," John Edmondson's arrangement of "Christmas Recollections," and Sammy Nestico's arrangement of "Christmas Spirit." The latter features contemporary versions "rich in harmonies."

The ensemble under the direction of Victor Markovich consists of 45-55 musicians from different communities and different professions. Formed five years ago by Richard Saunders, the ensemble has rehearsed each week at Schoolcraft and has performed regularly throughout the metropolitan Detroit area including the University of Windsor, and has been a regular performer at the Livonia Music Under the Stars.

Markovich is a second-year doctoral student in music education, with emphasis in conducting, at University of Michigan.

Sinta has been a performer, teacher and clinician. Following tenure with the Detroit Symphony, he became a faculty member at Ithaca College in New York and later at the Hartt College of Music in Connecticut. In 1974, he joined the U-M staff as professor of saxophone.

Tickets for the general public are $4, $3 for students and senior citizens, and will be available at the door. Phone 591-6400, ext. 510 for further information.

LESLIE C. ABITZ, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger E. Abitz of Sunnydale Lane, is a third year medical student in the clinical phase of her studies at Butterworth, Blodgett, and St. Mary's teaching hospitals of the Michigan State University School of Human Medicine.

A 1977 Northville High School graduate, Leslie did her undergraduate work at Albion College, where she was graduated Magna Cum Laude in 1981.

Since the summer of 1981, Leslie has been participating in gastroenterology research at the university under the direction of Dr. David Greenbaum of Lansing. Results of their research, "Diagnosis, Treatment, and Control of the Nervous Bowel Syndrome," recently were accepted by The American College of Physicians; the report was one of 60 presentations at its annual conference held in October. Dr. Greenbaum honored Leslie at the meetings by having her present their paper, which accorded first place honors at the Awards Banquet. Leslie is continuing with the research program through publication.

Northville resident MICHELLE RUSH, a senior at Ladywood High School, has been accepted for admission to Siena Heights College in Adrian for the 1984 fall semester.

Northville resident MICHAEL WAGNER is among 17 Siena Heights College students selected for the 1984 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges."

The son of Joyce and Eugene Wagner, Michael is a senior at Siena Heights studying business administration.

Campus nominating committees and the editors of the annual directory have included the 17 students based on their academic achievement, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities and potential for continued success.

Eight Northville residents were among the more than 1,900 Michigan State University students receiving degrees at fall term commencement December 3.

Local students earning degrees included JEFFREY COPLAI, 37781 Rhonwood, BS in computer science; LESLIE JUNE, 42280 Old Bedford, MS in computer science; RONALD MAYO, 40045 Six Mile, MA in K-12 educational administration; SUZANNE MITCHELL, 21808 Cumberland, BS in engineering arts; AMY ORT, 18880 Jamestown Circle, BS in clothing and textiles with honors; CAROL PEDERSEN, 20146 Woodhill, BA in studio art; KATHLEEN PLATTE, 15711 Winchester, BA in marketing and MARY ROBERTSON, 1002 Canterbury, MA in child development.

EARL RENAUD, son of Mr. and Mrs. E.V. Renaud of Galway Drive, has been elected to Tau Beta Pi, National Engineering Honor Society, at the University of Michigan.

Tau Beta Pi represents the highest honor to be obtained by an engineering student. Membership is awarded on the basis of high scholarship and exemplary character.

He is a 1980 Northville High School graduate.

DAVID ROMANIK, son of Dr. and Mrs. John Romanik of Beck Road, has been named to the honor roll at the Grand River Academy in Austinburg, Ohio.

To achieve such standing, a student must earn an 80 percent average with no grade lower than a 75 percent for the first quarter.

Romanik is a junior at the Northeastern Ohio boarding school.

SUSAN P. CIKANEK of 462 Morgan Circle, has been named to the dean's honor list for the summer term at Wayne State University.

Students receive the honor by maintaining a high overall grade point average while following a full-time study program.

Cikanek, an engineering student at Wayne State, earned a G.P.A. of 4.0, the highest possible.

Four Northville residents have been included in the sixth annual edition of the National Dean's List, the largest publication honoring college students.

Local students selected for recognition include GREGORY FRASER, Embury Riddle Aeronautical University; DAVID HOOTEN, University of Michigan-Dearborn; CATHERINE HUSEN, University of Michigan-Dearborn and GARY WATERMAN, Taylor University.

Sewell resigns after 14 years on commission

Next week's Northville Township Planning Commission meeting will be the first in 14 years to take place without Kenneth Sewell's name listed as a member of the commission.

Sewell announced last month he would be moving to a condominium in Farmington Hills and resigned as a planning commissioner. The November 29 commission meeting marked the end of his long, influential tenure.

A retired employee of Detroit Edison, Sewell served as Director of Personnel Services for the power company. During his employment there, he was responsible for some of the company's developments.

He first applied that expertise as a planning commissioner in Oak Park, serving on that body for 13 years.

Sewell has been a fixture in Northville Township planning since he first was selected to serve on the commission in December, 1969. He chaired the commission from January, 1971, to March, 1973. During that time he was the commission's representative on the township Zoning Board of Appeals.

As a commissioner, he was partly responsible for approving what he calls a "countless" number of subdivision developments, many of which have established the distinctive character of the township itself.

He was a key impetus behind the township's sign ordinance, enacted more than 10 years ago, and still in effect. "The consultants drew it up, of course," he said, "but we prodded them to get it done."

"Back when I started on the board, it used to be pretty time-consuming," he said. "We used to meet once a week."

Sewell said he would not likely serve in any government post in Farmington Hills. "My wife (Dorothy) and I have been wanting to do more traveling and not have to worry about taking care of the house." The couple completed moving last week and now is visiting relatives in California.

Novi High sets concert tomorrow

Music lovers can enjoy the best in holiday music when the Novi High School bands and choirs present their annual Winter Concert at Furst Auditorium tomorrow (Thursday) at 7:30 p.m.

The Concert Choir, Blue Shadows, Novi Singers and Triple Trio along with the Concert Band and Symphony Band will present a concert of light and serious music, including traditional holiday favorites.

The auditorium will be decorated, the music will be festive and an "afterglow" following the concert promises to make it a special evening. Admission is free and everyone will have an opportunity to visit with friends and neighbors.

The Concert Band under the direction of Paula Joyner will play selections that include "Intrada for Winds" and "Rudolph's Christmas Concert."

Craig Strain will direct the Symphony Band in the holiday favorite "Sleigh Ride" and other more serious suggestions, such as "Jubilant."

The choral portion of the concert under the direction of Paula Joyner will feature several special groups — the Triple Trio, Blue Shadows and the Novi Singers. Among the Concert Choir's selections will be "Praise the Lord from Judas Maccabees," "Two Mozart Canons" and "Midnight Sleigh Bells."

The program will conclude with the "Hallelujah Chorus" from Handel's Messiah and the traditional "Christmas Sing-along" performed by the combined band and chorus.

All residents are invited to attend the free Winter Concert and the afterglow which follows.

Prison opponents solicit letters, funding

The state department of management and budget projects a cost-savings approaching $20 million in making the switch. Opponents of the plan argue that use of Plymouth Center as a prison would kill developments in both Northville and Plymouth Townships.

They also argue that the plan for a prototype regional prison at the Beck Road location constitutes better long-term planning.

While action on the proposal awaits preparation of an environmental/economic impact statement by the department of corrections, Rhoades said the organization is using the time to prepare to fight the plan through the early part of next year.

"Contributions are still being accepted (at Box 708, Northville, MI 48167)," she said. "Our finances are marginal — if it comes down to renting buses for a trip to Lansing or anything, we couldn't do it."

In the course of preparing its impact statement, corrections officials have requested information pertaining to development plans in the region.

In a letter to Supervisor John MacDonald, corrections deputy director in charge of the program bureau William Kime requests direction toward "any and all documentation which may be available to support the adverse impacts which have been cited by opponents of the change."

"The most weighty of these seem to surround the projected retirement complex on the Child Development Center site, and the high tech industrial park across Five Mile Road to the south."

Determination of any adverse impacts, he wrote, is the next step in "determining whether the state will proceed with constructing the regional prison as originally planned and as favored by local residents or will instead convert the Plymouth Developmental Center."

Kime wrote that, since opposition to the plan is "economic and social, rather than impact on the physical aspects (air quality, energy conservation, etc.)," the environmental impact study will concentrate on "those issues which are of genuine concern, and these lie in the aesthetic, social and especially economic areas."

He called for "as complete a documentation as possible" on those issues.

"I also want to assure you," Kime wrote, "that so far as the Department of Corrections is concerned, and so far as all others who may be involved in this decision, the intent is to make a decision which is most beneficial and least harmful when all factors are taken into consideration."

"If a truly detrimental impact to the local community can be shown, I do not believe that anyone will responsibly continue to propose this change; if it cannot, the tax savings of several million dollars cannot be ignored."

Free jazz set at OCC tonight

A free jazz concert will be presented at 8 p.m. today (Wednesday) at the Oakland Ridge campus of Oakland Community College. The Oakland Community College Jazz Ensemble will be performing under the direction of Craig Strain, who heads the band.

The concert will be presented for the public in the Wallace F. Smith Performing Arts Theater, which is described as "acoustically brilliant."

Governments enter study to enhance buying power

Buying in bulk, any wise consumer would advise, is one near-certain technique for saving money — and that's just what a group of western Wayne County communities is considering.

Both city council and the township board last week agreed to participate in a study of possible joint purchasing arrangements with several other communities.

Organized by the Conference of Western Wayne (CWW), a consortium of 13 member governments, the study is to be financed by a grant from the Metropolitan Affairs Corporation, a group of business people who try to help government operations.

Both city manager Steven Walters and township business manager David Leiko assured the voting bodies that the agreement to participate in the study does not commit them to joint purchasing.

Various types of joint purchasing agreements have been reached in the past involving two or three governmental agencies, but the scope of the CWW proposal is much wider.

One problem such an arrangement might face would be differences between the needs of communities. To buy in large quantities, bid specifications must be uniform. Walters noted that the city regularly examines a state-organized bid on police vehicles but rarely finds that the cars specified suit the needs of a small city.

Other items, he noted in an earlier discussion of the issue, might easily be purchased under a single bid. Gasoline supplies are one frequently mentioned purchase, as are standardized forms.

Township okays $12,000 line of credit to recreation

Northville Community Recreation Department's cash flow woes have continued into another year, director Jeff Farland told the township board last week.

Farland was requesting a loan to help the department through the early winter months of high heating bills and low revenues.

The board authorized $12,000 to be paid out from the township general fund on an "as needed" basis. Full repayment, plus a five percent annual rate of interest, is due in late February.

As in the past, the loan will be repaid from revenues generated by registration fees for spring sports activities which have February sign-up dates.

Until recently, the loans were made by the city which jointly funds the department with the township. But, when city revenues were cut, it ran into its own cash flow problems as a result of the $450,000 deficit in its budget.

The township has made the loans in the past two years. The amount needed has been reduced to the point where Farland told the board he may not need to borrow any of the money authorized. The $12,000 cap is several thousand dollars less than it has been in previous years, but the recently-hired director said it would be sufficient to meet the department's needs.

SEMCOC predicts growth in area population, jobs

Modest growth in both population and jobs is being predicted by the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOC) over the next 20 years.

"Although southeast Michigan has lost about five years of growth to the recent recession, there is definitely going to be population and employment growth in this region over the next 20 years," said SEMCOC Chairperson Donald Shelton, mayor of Saline.

Shelton's comments followed adoption of population and employment planning forecast figures for the year 2005 by the SEMCOC Executive Committee.

SEMCOC's Data Center forecasts a population of 5,226,400 by the year 2005. Prior to the recession, it predicted that population total for the year 2000.

An employment total of 2,264,200 is anticipated by 2005, also a five-year delay from original year 2000 predictions.

Because of changing demographic trends — lower birth rates, decline in marriage rates, increased life expecttancy — the number of persons per household is expected to continue dropping during the next two decades. For that reason, a total of 2,177,700 households is forecast for 2005, compared with an earlier prediction of 2,098,600 for the year 2000.

Shelton described the adopted Regional Forecast Control Totals as "realistic projections of our region's growth potential."

"We are growing more slowly than some parts of the nation, but growth is definitely going to happen in metropolitan Detroit" in the next 20 years.

Approval of the Regional Forecast Control Totals for population, employment and households is a first step in revision of SEMCOC's Small Area Forecasts, the basic planning data tool used by regional and local planners in the seven counties. Statistical distribution of those totals to individual communities in the seven county SEMCOC region is expected by mid-1984.

Our Opinions

Volunteer Santas ensure Christmas

No one in our community should be cold, hungry, in need of warm clothing or a Christmas celebration this holiday season.

The statement that help is available to all families and individuals who may need it is backed up by local charitable organizations whose purpose it is to see that there's Christmas for everyone.

C.A. Smith, founder and chairman of the Northville Goodfellows' annual paper sale, held December 3, reports that the Goodfellows' fund has $1,600 available to ensure there's "No Child Without a Christmas" here. He says the Goodfellows have received calls about both township and city families in need this holiday season. Most requests, he notes, are for shoes and other winter clothing.

While the collection at this time is slightly under last year's ($1,800), Smith says donations still are being received. He lauds volunteers in the Saturday collection. "We had more officers in uniform volunteering their services than ever before," Smith relates, noting that city, township and state police all were selling The Record. About 30 sellers took turns during the day, he adds. "At one time — for a short period — we had more sellers than we had aprons, and we have 25 Goodfellows aprons."

Smith also reports, however, that the number of requests for help is down from last year. It was the need of some local families for help with heat and other utility bills as well as for food that prompted Smith to interest others in the community in forming the Civic Concern Committee to continue aid throughout the year.

This Christmas Goodfellows, Civic Concern and King's Daughters along with the Plymouth Salvation Army are ready to assist, according to Smith. He explains that Goodfellows are attending to clothing needs primarily and turning food and utility help requests over to the other groups. Smith may be contacted at 349-0854.

Civic Concern Committee member Ann Roy, who has been active in supporting the assistance project all year, confirms that funds are available from the committee. She says she is worried that there may be someone who can't pay a utility bill and doesn't know the committee is able to assist. She may be contacted at her office, 349-8700.

Marge Bolton, who long has headed the Christmas basket program of the Mizpah Circle of King's Daughters, notes that there no longer is duplication of efforts, thanks to the channeling of requests through Smith. She says she calls families who have been referred to King's Daughters and plans the Christmas meal over the telephone. KD members do the grocery shopping and the Boltons deliver the food. She emphasizes that the circle has been able to provide Christmas dinners for about six families each year because of the gifts from Town Hall and the earmarking of Good Friday collection in the joint service here. She adds that King's Daughters and the Goodfellows also "put in something" if they find there will be no toys for the children.

"We all work together," sums up Marge Bolton. Our community is fortunate in having these dedicated volunteers. Please call them if there is a need.

Welcome, Meijer

The slow mating dance of township planners and representatives of Meijer, Inc. is a model of how private and public interests can merge — at least on the local level.

The Northville Township Planning Commission's contingent approval of the firm's preliminary site plans (for a Meijer Thrifty Acres shopping center at Eight Mile and Haggerty) was unanimous, certainly. But commissioners were firm in insisting on prudent solutions to potential traffic flow, sewage disposal and landscaping problems before final approval of the project. It's obvious township officials are going to be cooperative but not acquiescent on these vital concerns.

For their part, Meijer, Inc. representatives appeared to be willing to go beyond minimal efforts to resolve the commission's concerns with the preliminary site plans presented last week. That was no surprise — at the company's expense, they had been meeting with the township planning consultants and engineer to develop a suitable approach for the commission's consideration. That method of communication makes a lot of sense.

It all looks very good — commissioners and developers alike agree that an attractive, sound, uncongested shopping center at Eight Mile and Haggerty is in the best interests of both Meijer and the township. The pluses for the Northville communities are obvious. Estimates are the center will provide approximately $150,000 in annual tax revenue — much of it to the Northville School District, beset with the problem of a huge renovation project simultaneously with a decline in property tax valuations.

Add to that the benefits of 275 to 300 new jobs — many ideal for young people — and Meijer's good track record of community service, and Northville residents stand to gain considerably from a satisfactory relationship with the company.

We might miss that 34-acre patch of flat green land at Eight and Haggerty, even if it is in the morning shadow of the I-275 bridge, but we also will be a lot better off in the long run if it is developed sensibly. We wish the representatives of Meijer, Inc. good luck with their project and welcome them to Northville.

Off the record

By Kevin Wilson

Real world bias explained

Hey! Where's Michele McElmurry? I know that's what you're asking. We normally rotate staff members in this slot, and that bearded grin above doesn't look anything like the Divine Ms. M.M.

Relax, she'll be along next week, or the one after. I've appropriated the space to make some sense of that last column under this byline dealing with liberalism in the press. In retrospect it looks as though (if you'll pardon the pun) it came out of left field. It didn't, of course. It arose from some very real experiences in the great wide world. They have to do with bias, the perception thereof, and where journalists' educations lead them.

Bias first. A perfect example came along in the course of reporting recall movements and the related reapportionment issue. Which of these is a slanted phrase? A.) Governor Blanchard's 38 percent income tax hike, B.) the temporary 1.65 percent tax increase. Neither is inaccurate. Neither is totally true. Each phrase has become identified with a particular point of view regarding that tax increase. Those likely to call for the governor's head (or that of any convenient Democratic stand-in) like statement "A." Those who think it was the only responsible action like "B."

And the press? Those consciously trying to weed out their bias will avoid numbers entirely or employ some phrase like "the temporary 38 percent income tax increase" or "the governor's 1.65 percent hike in the tax rate."

The point is that no matter what you call that tax increase, short of devoting four precious column-inches of space to explanation every time you write a story, someone's going to perceive a bias. I try to leave the numbers alone, or take great care in distinguishing the increase in the tax rate from 4.6 to 6.25 percent (a 38-percent difference) from the increase amount of tax (1.65 percent of income). Despite my best efforts, some tell me they can see in my stories that I think recall advocates are all wet.

About Town

By Steve Fecht

Brotherly love

Now for education and where it takes us. While covering Schoolcraft College's 'Say Yes to the Future' exposition I encountered seemingly endless numbers of people bewildered at the lack of general press coverage of the event. Personally, I expected to be one of few to write anything about it. Why? Because the expo simply reeked of subjects related to the hard sciences and mathematics. To reporters schooled in everything but hard sciences and mathematics, it smelled strongly of something they would have difficulty understanding and writing up.

Furthermore, if you can't be certain that you really understand what's going on, it's hard to determine whether or not you're being snowed. If there's anything a reporter can't stand it's being lied to without knowing it (knowing you're being lied to comes with the job). So what was I doing there? In a previous life, I was an engineering major and aspiring astronaut. I'm still car and astronomy-crazy. Topics electrical or electronic might as well be magic for all the depth of understanding I can generate (sorry, bad pun) but I can usually find my way around sufficiently amid a crowd of technocrats to ask the right questions.

Put Wilson in an art gallery, however, and he'll be hard-pressed to write anything that reads as if there is human intelligence behind it. The point is simply that there are more reporters who can write passable art reviews than there are who can decipher the fine points of a blueprint. When that classic confrontation of the technological and artistic minds arises, then, which side do you think gets the most press?

"The press only wants to know about the future if it's a disaster," I was told. Well, in a way. After all, what's easier to understand than disaster? And we're back to the watchdog role — the press as early warning system. If we think people should be alerted to danger, that story will push all the good news to the back pages or right out of the paper. That's the only way to make sure everyone gets the word. Yes, that means the picture of the world in the press is distorted. Would you rather we didn't tell you?

After the fact

By PHILIP JEROME

"Come here. Hurry up."

I could tell something was up by the tone of immediacy in her voice. My instincts told me something important was happening. Perhaps something of a criminal nature.

I grabbed the first thing I could find that resembled a weapon. And armed with one of those shoehorns with the long handles, I raced out to confront the intruders.

"What's wrong?" I demanded excitedly. "What's happening?"

"Look. Out there on the front porch," she said.

I could tell by the look on her face that my initial alarm was quite unnecessary. She was wearing one of those "isn't-that-cute" kind of smiles that crosses her face when all the neighborhood critters stop in for their nightly hand-outs from the Jerome Soup Kitten for "All Things Great and Small."

Somewhat relieved, I looked out the window only to observe Fred the Possum munching casually at a dish of food.

"It's only Fred," I said, somewhat annoyed. "You made me get out of a nice, hot shower just to watch Fred chow down on the front porch?"

"Look again, oh observant one," she instructed. "Don't you see anything else out there? Like maybe somebody having dinner with Fred?"

So I looked again and sure enough, she was right. Dining with Fred was a second possum ... just somewhat smaller, not quite as fat, but just as ugly.

"I suppose you've already named it," I sighed.

"Ethyl," she responded.

"Like 'Fred and Ethyl Mertz,' I suppose?"

"That's right. They're kind of cute, aren't they?"

"I guess they're about as cute as you can get for possums. Can I get back in the shower now?"

"Of course you can," she said. "Just don't take that shoehorn with you."

Sponsors needed for Boys, Girls State

To the Editor:
In 1941 the American Legion and Auxiliary established a Boys and Girls State program.
In this program (they) sponsored boys and girls from the high school who were in the 11th grade and taking a government class. They attended a nine-day session at college to see firsthand and to participate in a mock government.
Michigan girls attend Central Michigan in Mt. Pleasant. The cost is $150 per girl.
We are in need of sponsors again this year. If any individual, club or organization is interested, please contact Diane LaPrise at the American Legion Thursday through Sunday between noon and 6 p.m. at 349-1060.
Last year, six girls from Northville High School went.
At their banquet they told of what they learned and about making many new friends.

Please help send a girl to a wonderful program.

NACCCA seeks former members

To the Editor:
During 1983, the National Association of Civilian Conservation Corps Alumni (NACCCA) celebrated the 50th anniversary of the establishment of the Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC).
The NACCCA is trying to locate about 2 million former members and persons who were connected or affiliated with the CCC during the 1930s and 1940s. It is a known fact that many of these persons reside in Michigan and areas served by The Record.
I am sure that many of your readers have often wondered what became of the CCC. You can tell them the CCC lives again in the NACCCA. It is a young and growing organization with chapters in many of the states throughout the nation, and one of its major objectives is to have the CCC reactivated.

A commemorative CCC stamp has been available for purchase since April, 1983.
Anyone interested in the organization can write to NACCCA, Loehmann's Plaza, 7245 Arlington Boulevard, Suite 318, Falls Church, Virginia, 22042 for more information and literature.

News from Lansing

By R. ROBERT GEAKE
State Senator

When Congress passed a law making Social Security benefits taxable at the federal level, much media attention and controversy surrounded the move. But now, more quietly, some 29 states may be required to tax benefits as well, unless their tax laws are changed.

In an effort to keep that from happening in Michigan, legislation was just recently introduced to exempt those Social Security benefits considered taxable at the federal level from the Michigan state income tax.

Because many Social Security participants face federal income taxation next year, the bill's sponsor hopes to keep them from facing more bad news at the state level.

Michigan, along with 28 other states and the District of Columbia, currently has no laws that prevent taxation of such retirement incomes. Unless these states enact legislation exempting Social Security payments from taxation, the increased tax burden on some residents could become automatic at the state level too. Many states, including Michigan, have conformity statutes that require them to follow federal guidelines.

Tax Foundation, Incorporated, a non-profit organization which monitors government expenditures, warns that the federally-taxed benefits could automatically become taxable at the state level, and the states could "get this additional tax money by default."

The new bill seeks to put a stop to this "double whammy" before it starts. Several states now specifically exclude Social Security benefits from taxation. Under the newly-proposed measure, Michigan would join their ranks.

According to a number of federal sources, it was not the intent of Congress, when it passed legislation making certain Social Security benefits taxable, to broaden the states' tax base as well.

This bill should be analyzed carefully and considered by all of those receiving Social Security benefits or approaching Social Security status.

The American Association of Retired Persons is strongly urging that this bill be passed, as are a number of other senior citizen organizations. If you have an opinion on this new piece of legislation, I'd like to hear from you.

Lansing Report

Legislation may hold back rising health costs

By GERALD H. LAW
State Representative

Recently-approved legislation that would authorize prudent purchaser agreements (PPAs) for health care insurance could be the first major step toward meaningful health care cost containment in the state.

I supported the six bill package dealing with such agreements when it cleared the Michigan House in mid-November. Under the legislation, customers could obtain low-cost health care as long as they went to providers who operate within the arrangement.

Under a PPA, an employer or insurer can contract with a group of doctors, hospitals and laboratories for services at a set fee or discount.

Everyone benefits under a prudent purchaser arrangement. The buyer gets a good price for health care services, and providers get a guaranteed volume of patients and income.

PPAs would make Michigan's health care market more competitive and would give purchasers more control over how their dollars are spent. In recent years, Michigan businesses have been frustrated by the escalating cost of employee health benefits.

There are few incentives in the marketplace for anyone to keep health care costs down; there is little price competition among providers, and there is little awareness about costs by consumers who consider the services as free because their insurance pays the huge costs.

But if we enact the PPA concept, price competition would be injected into the system and everyone involved would become more cost conscious.

The containment of health care costs is also an essential element in efforts to improve Michigan's economy. Failure to restrain health care expenditures will undermine attempts to improve the competitive position of our state's businesses, our ability to attract new firms, and our hopes to expand job opportunities for the state's workforce.

The PPA approach is an integral part in rejuvenating the state's economy and I think this legislation should be enacted into law as swiftly as possible. (The six-bill package includes HBs 4798, 4799, 4800, 4801, 5068 and 5069).

Township improves fringes

Fringe benefits granted to township police officers under collective bargaining agreements have been added to the personnel manual for other township employees at the recommendation of business manager David Leiko.

The board approved December 8 the addition of a funeral leave day in the event of death of an employee's grandparent or spouse.

Also added was a rule allowing accumulation of vacation days so long as the days carried into the next year together with the regular vacation days add up to no more than 30 days vacation in one year. This rule, Leiko noted, will relieve the board from the necessity of taking a vote to allow vacation days to be carried over into the succeeding year. Several such votes have been required in the past three years.

Employees will also be allowed to increase their bank of sick days from 60 to 90.

Color consultants give spectrum of service

Consultant Toni McNamara of Whitmore Lake drapes a client in color analysis procedure

It will be a "colorful" holiday for fashion conscious women this year. They want to look vibrant and beautiful and many have discovered that the secret to achieving this centers on first determining whether they are basically a summer, winter, spring or autumn person.

That doesn't mean summers wear blue exclusively and winters dress in dark shades or that autumns wear nothing but brown and springs are clothed in greens.

Many women are aware today that they can wear nearly every color to advantage but the shades of those colors must be matched to their skin tones. That awareness has come about through something called color analysis.

When selecting wallpaper or furniture to blend with a certain shade of paint, homemakers for years have carried with them a paint chart or color chips to aid in this coordination. Now, it is not unusual to observe women in apparel shops pulling a "color fan" or "swatch packet" from their purses to compare to a certain dress or pants suit before they even bother to try anything on.

This type of action means the shopper has gone through a color analysis that has helped her determine her best shades. It is a systematic way of dressing, according to Fran Showerman of Franny's Apparel at Brookdale Square in South Lyon.

Gone are the mornings when a secretary hurriedly puts on a burgundy dress and rushes off to work only to find that it is one of those "out-of-step" days. Now she can know in advance that her basic skin tones just don't blend with burgundy and a successful day might well depend on wearing an orange red instead.

According to area color analysis coordinators, the colors you wear should be based on your basic skin tones and eye color. If you get the wrong combination, you will probably feel miserable all day.

Color analysis, which has become so important in the Midwest in the last couple of years, is not as new as it seems. Analyzing skin tones and learning to match clothes to those tones started on the west coast nearly 15 years ago and has gradually influenced the country. You can find women everywhere talking about what their "season" is and they are not referring to age.

Showerman and her assistant, Nancy Marterella, have been offering color analysis consultations since last spring. They find that their training with Beauty for All Seasons not only helps their clients take on the radiant look they most want to achieve, it is also invaluable in helping them select the right mix of merchandise for the store when they go on buying trips.

"I found I didn't buy enough 'winter' colors, because I am basically a 'summer' person," said the blonde, warm-toned Showerman.

"The price of one color analysis (usually about $35) is the price of just one wrong blouse that hangs in your closet because you've decided it just doesn't look right and you may not even know that it is the shade that is wrong," Showerman added.

Consultants offer colorful information

Toni McNamara of Whitmore Lake, who is a consultant for Artistry of Color, said that her basic two-hour color consultations sometimes lead to a second and perhaps a third session. "When clients are happy with what you show them about make-up and color coordination, they often want to come back for more help with planning their wardrobes or even decorating their homes," McNamara explained.

"People often pick up on fads in clothing and then that fad article hangs in the closet because it doesn't make the purchaser feel good," McNamara went on. "They sometimes do the same thing with room colors. There's a comic strip portraying a husband painting the foyer for the fifth time because the color doesn't fit his wife."

"I did just about that, only my husband painted it the sixth time after I finally realized that I was not in tune with any of the previous colors and that's why I was so dissatisfied with them."

McNamara feels that children are "natural color selectors" and that mothers would be wise to listen more closely to what their offspring's "favorite" color is. "As time goes by those youngsters are influenced by their mothers and other relatives and friends to choose other colors and they are not always right for them," she adds.

Color analysis is not as simple as it may sound.

You don't just walk up to a consultant and ask "What season am I?"

Both the South Lyon and Whitmore Lake color consultants start at pretty much the same point. They help the client remove her make-up so that they can study her basic skin tones. And incidentally, not all color clients are women. McNamara said her women clients often set up appointments for their husbands to be analyzed as well.

"Professional men especially like color analysis and have learned that it is important to dress in the correct colors for a successful look," McNamara added.

Showerman and Marterella said they have color analyzed their husbands and found them to be very happy with the results. "It is basically the same as analyzing women because we work with their skin tones," Showerman explained.

At Franny's the consultants use a headband to draw the hair back from the face before using seasonal color ovals to begin a 1½-hour analysis. "We use skin tones more than hair or eyes," Marterella said, adding that some clients color their hair and not always in shades that are complimentary to their skin tone.

"It is very rare to find a warm person, like a summer, with naturally cool hair or vice versa," Marterella explained.

After the skin tone and eye patterns have been determined, consultants move on to color draping using swatches of material. These bring out different looks in the client, sometimes very dramatically.

Suddenly, the client will realize why that yellow blouse she bought last year did nothing but hang in the closet. Instead of making her look bright and pretty, it probably made her look sallow or it brought out the dark circles under her eyes.

However, that doesn't mean that this particular person can't wear yellow, according to the consultants. Instead, it means that there is a certain shade of yellow, or red, or blue, or brown that is just right for her. The color packets or color fans show her that color.

If you have ever been a victim of fluorescent-light syndrome in which blue appears gray or burgundy appears to be rust, you will find that carrying a color packet can be invaluable, Showerman said. "You'll know that the lights react the same on the color packet as on the clothes. Therefore, if the colors clash with the packet swatch, then the article of clothing will react in the same way."

Matching make-up to your summer, autumn, winter or spring coloring is also an important part of a good color analysis. Area consultants take special training to aid them in helping their clients and once the correct make-up is found you can wear it with all the shades in your color packet, Marterella noted. Although consultants have cosmetics available for sale, purchasing is not part of the color consultations, according to the South Lyon and Whitmore Lake analysts.

Going into her third year as a color consultant, McNamara is first and foremost a designer of fabrics and therefore interested in color. "When color analysis started, I saw the potential for improving appearances and saw the confusion most people have about color," she explained. "They may buy the 'in' color and take it home and say 'I look terrible.' They need to know what their season is and what shades of each color look best on them. There is every color in the color fans we give to our clients but they are in different tones according to their skin and eyes."

Color clients not only learn to modify their figure problems by selecting the right color tones, they also learn to minimize complexion imperfections. "The right colors can be pleasing even without make-up," Showerman points out, adding that their consultations include information on proper skin care.

"This is a systemized way of dressing from your make-up to your shoes," Showerman concluded. "We show the clients how to coordinate the make-up and clothing colors that are right for them. We give them a color packet and a reference booklet for make-up. Using a color packet is a great way to get a wardrobe together so that shoes, raincoats and handbags all coordinate," Showerman concluded.

Club shares holiday benefit recipes

The holidays are the time for entertaining — and for sampling festive hors d'oeuvres as friends gather. Hundreds tasted the following recipes at the annual cocktail parties of Northville Mothers' Club December 3. Ten homes were open concurrently for the benefit for Northville Public Schools and a scholarship of life members.

New treats this year were Sweet and Sour Meatballs, Red Pepper Jelly and Mock Oyster Rockefeller. The club is sharing the recipes used this year and notes that most of the favorites are contained in its cook book. The cook book is available from members or at Schrader's.

MOCK OYSTER ROCKEFELLER

- 2 pkgs. frozen broccoli (chopped)
- 1 medium onion grated
- 1 stick margarine
- 1 can mushroom soup
- 1 small can chopped mushrooms, drained
- 1 8-ounce roll garlic cheese (can use cheddar and sprinkle garlic)
- Sliced almonds

Boil broccoli and drain. Saute onion in margarine until soft. Combine soup, onion, mushrooms and mix with broccoli and crumbled cheese in pan. Keep hot and allow cheese to melt. Add almonds and stir well. Serve hot from chafing dish.

Make ahead. Refrigerate and heat before serving.

SWEET AND SOUR MEATBALLS

- 1 lb. lean ground beef
- 1 egg
- 1/2 cup bread crumbs
- 1/4 cup evaporated milk
- Salt and pepper to taste
- 12-ounce bottle chili sauce
- 1 cup grape jelly
- 2 Tbsp. lemon juice

Mix ground beef, egg, crumbs, milk, salt and pepper together until well blended. With a teaspoon, form balls and place on a cookie sheet. Bake in a 350 degree oven until done, about 25 minutes.

Mix chili sauce, jelly, lemon juice together and heat through. Place meatballs in a chafing dish and pour sauce over. Serve with toothpicks. Makes about 50 meatballs. They freeze nicely.

RED PEPPER JELLY

- 3 1/2 cups ground red peppers (Not hot peppers)
- 1 Tbsp. salt
- 3 cups sugar
- 1 pint vinegar

Place ground peppers in bowl and sprinkle salt over peppers. Let stand for 3-4 hours. Add the sugar and vinegar and mix well. Cook at least 20-25 minutes until thick. Pour into prepared glasses.

This jelly is excellent as an appetizer, covering a brick of cream cheese and served with Triscuits.

Woman's Club to hear Christmas music

By JEAN DAY

Traditional Christmas programs are being planned by local club groups for their December meetings.

"The Sounds of Christmas" will be presented by the Jills of Bloomfield — bellringers at Andover High School — at the 1:30 p.m. meeting of Northville Woman's Club this Friday at First Presbyterian Church. Program co-chairpersons are Stacey Becker and Faith McClory.

The club will continue its tradition of honoring new members who have joined since last Christmas at the program.

DAR program looks to past

Sarah Ann Cochran Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will hold a Christmas tea at 1 p.m. next Monday at the home of Mrs. Albert Heindrickx.

The program, "Christmas of Bygone Days," will be presented by members.

Harriet Angell marks 95th Christmastime birthday

Mrs. Harriet Angell will be celebrating her 95th birthday tomorrow at her home at 504 West Cady with her children — John and Ruth of Northville and Grace McGaffin of Royal Oak. The longtime Northville resident has lived for 57 years in her home here.

Also marking the occasion will be grandchildren Bonnie and Ronald. Another grandson, James McGaffin of Miami, Florida, visited last week.

ROBIN LESHINSKY, GARY DILLEN

Engagements announced, dates set

The engagement of Kathleen Ann Platte to Peter Talbot is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald G. Platte of 15711 Winchester Drive.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Talbot of 40160 Fairway Drive III and is assistant recreation director in the Northville Recreation Department. He is a 1978 graduate of Michigan State University.

His fiancée, a December, 1983, graduate of MSU with a business marketing major, is employed with American Supply Company. She is a member of Alpha Kappa Psi professional business fraternity.

Both the bride-elect and her fiancée are graduates of Northville High School, in 1979 and 1976 respectively.

They have set a June 9, 1984, wedding date.

A Christmas season wedding is planned by Robin Kathleen Leshinsky and Gary Emil Dillen. Their engagement is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Ronald Leshinsky of Westland.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Geschke of 928 Williamsburg Court and John Dillen of Yuba City, California.

The bride-elect is a 1978 graduate of Livonia Franklin High School and presently is a student at Eastern Michigan University majoring in social work.

Her fiancée, a 1977 graduate of Northville High School, is in the United States Army and is stationed at Fort Sills, Oklahoma.

They are planning a December 23 wedding.

Dohenys receive good news from coast

Mary Jo Doheny-Schaeffer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Doheny of Northville, and her husband Kirk Schaeffer learned December 1 that both had passed the California bar examination.

She is a 1983 graduate of Wayne State Law School. Her husband is a 1983 graduate of the University of Michigan Law School and currently is an associate with the law firm of Pettit and Martin in San Francisco. He was recruited from U-M for the position before his graduation; he had worked for the firm as a clerk during the summer of 1982.

His wife waited to learn whether she had passed the bar examination before seeking a position in the Bay Area. The couple lives in Tiburon, located just across the Golden Gate Bridge from San Francisco.

The Dohenys visited them in October before they returned to Northville for the wedding of her sister Kay and David Snyder in November. Her mother reported, "She was an excellent tour guide — we saw everything from the wine country to Carmel under her guidance."

The Dohenys also drove to Los Angeles, visiting friends and relatives there, including Nancy Blay, a former Northville resident. She and her husband, Edie Doheny reports, bought a "gorgeous home that once belonged to David Niven." They spent a weekend in Las Vegas with Los Angeles friends before returning.

Auxiliary seeks Girls State sponsors

The Northville American Legion Auxiliary is in need of sponsors for its Girls State project, a program established in 1941. As clubs and other local organizations begin a new budget year, Diane LaPrise, chairperson of the auxiliary project, is hoping they will consider including $150 to sponsor a local girl at Girls State for a week.

In the Girls State and Boys State programs sponsored by the American Legion and its Auxiliary, boys and girls are chosen who are in the 11th grade and taking a government class to attend the sessions on a college campus and participate in mock governments. Girls State, she reports will be at Central Michigan University in Mt. Pleasant. Last year six girls were sponsored by Northville organizations. LaPrise may be contacted about the sponsorships at the American Legion, 349-1060.

Kay Doheny married in Mercy Chapel ceremony

Kay Margaret Doheny exchanged vows and rings with David Richard Snyder of Kalamazoo in a 6 p.m. ceremony November 19 in Mercy Chapel at Mercy Center in Farmington Hills.

She was escorted down the aisle by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Doheny of 45923 Pickford. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Snyder of Kalamazoo.

Both sets of parents participated with the couple in the lighting of a unity candle during the ceremony at which Father William Pettit of St. Kenneth's Church in Plymouth officiated.

During the service the bride's sister Mary Jo Doheny Schaeffer of San Francisco, who was matron of honor, and David Doehman of Kalamazoo, best man and brother-in-law of the bridegroom, gave readings.

The bride's gown of antique ivory satin was trimmed with imported Alencon lace. It was fashioned with a drop waistline, long sleeves and an illusion neckline. The skirt extended into a chapel train. Her hat of matching lace featured a side-tipped brim and short veiling.

Bridesmaids were Debbie Hale, Carol Ketner, Lori Stehmach, Lori Holland and Paula Horst, who came from Tempe, Arizona, where she is attending school. They and the matron of honor wore burgundy Regal satin gowns with matching long-sleeved jackets styled with stand-up ruffled collars. All the bridesmaids originally were from Northville.

Floral bouquets of the bride and her attendants were of silk and were made by Mary Ware, a friend of the bride's mother. The bride's flowers were a silk cascade of ivory-colored roses, gardenias and stephanotis. Attendants' flowers were cascades of ruby and ivory silk roses.

The altar was decorated with fresh white chrysanthemums and weeping fig trees.

The bridegroom's niece Mandy Schafer was flower girl. His nephew Jason Doehman was ring bearer.

Ushers were Doug Thole of Moline, Illinois, James Curtis of Boston, Tom Bicknell of Detroit, Ed Olson of Kalamazoo and Mike Doheny of Northville.

Special guests attending the wedding and reception for 265 following at Meadowbrook Country Club included the bride's grandfather Earl Doheny and other relatives and friends from Chicago area, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Roeder and Carolyn from Bloomington, Minnesota, brother of the bride's mother, and other relatives and friends from Minnesota and Kalamazoo.

The bride, a 1978 graduate of Northville High School, met her husband at Ferris State College where both received their degrees in 1982. She is a member of Delta Zeta Sorority and the American Marketing Association.

Her husband also is a 1976 graduate of Loy Norrix High School in Kalamazoo. He was captain of both his high school and college golf teams.

After the ceremony the newlyweds left on a motor trip to Arizona. They will make their home in Mesa where the bridegroom is a salesman for Southwestern United States for West Publishing Company.

Four bridal showers were given — by Mrs. C.W. Fountain, Mrs. Roger Pyett and Mrs. Stanley Sonk, Debbie Hale and Mrs. John Hale and Lori Stehmach in Northville, by an aunt in Chicago and by sisters of the bridegroom in Kalamazoo.

The bride and her mother gave a luncheon at Meadowbrook the Thursday before the wedding for bridesmaids, shower hostesses and Mrs. Ware.

MR. AND MRS. DAVID RICHARD SNYDER

Label donations due now in project to aid hospital

Mothers of young children in the community have a special opportunity to aid patients at Children's Hospital of Michigan this month in an all-Detroit area project.

They are being asked to save the front labels from all types of Heinz baby foods, including juices and cereals. For labels collected by December 31 Heinz will pay three cents each, reports Cheryl Cassidy who is coordinating the project at Moraine Elementary.

Monies received will be used by Children's Hospital for research, needed equipment, patient care and "The Ticker Club," which supports the cardiology unit at the hospital.

"Let's give Children's Hospital a boost from Northville," urges Cassidy.

All Northville schools have been asked to participate with parents of students requested to enlist help of neighbors, relatives and friends in the collection.

Labels should be sent to Moraine Elementary this week or to Cassidy at 47250 South Chigwidden as soon as possible. She may be contacted at 349-7249.

Anne Javoroski, Norma Vernon, Paula Blanchard display award

Norma Vernon, city cited

Both Norma Vernon of the Northville Beautification Commission and the City of Northville have been singled out to receive state awards in the 1983 annual awards program of Keep Michigan Beautiful, Incorporated.

The non-profit, non-partisan, educational statewide organization honored the city for Mainstreet '78 beautification of the downtown and Norma Vernon, wife of Mayor Paul Vernon, for her personal contribution of time and talent to the activities of the Northville Beautification Commission.

She and City Manager Steven Walters received plaques at the KMB annual meeting October 18 at Mercy Conference Center in Farmington Hills.

Assisting Anne Javoroski, president of KMB, was Michigan First Lady Paula Blanchard.

Mrs. Vernon received the KMB Distinguished Service Plaque while Walters accepted the Michigan Hall of Fame Plaque for the Mainstreet '78 Project.

Each year KMB honors those whose work in their communities has helped either with the overall beautification of the area, beautification of one particular area or whose efforts have been directed toward anti-litter or clean-up programs.

Award entries are submitted each summer and are judged by the KMB Awards Committee, a group of volunteers selected by the Board of Directors.

Nominations received each year include schools, clubs, media, business and industry. The annual recognition encourages winners to continue their volunteer efforts and work, and helps encourage others to do the same, notes President Javoroski.

Keep Michigan Beautiful was organized in 1962 for the purpose of encouraging and promoting projects to educate Michigan citizens against littering and to promote programs of outdoor beautification.

Can This Be Christmas?

But not a tear or grief or sorrow
For Him so poor He had to borrow
A crib, a colt, a boat, a bed
Where He could lay His weary head.

I'm tired of all this empty celebration,
Of feasting, drinking, recreation;
I'll go instead to Calvary.

And there I'll kneel with those who know
The meaning of that manger low,
And find the CHRIST—this Christmas.

I leap by faith across the years
To that great day when He appears
The second time, to rule and reign,
To end all sorrow, death, and pain.

In endless bliss we then shall dwell
With Him who saved our souls from hell,
And worship CHRIST—not Christmas!

Dr. James Luther
What's all this hectic rush and worry?
Where go these crowds who run and scurry?
Why all the lights—the Christmas trees?
The jolly "fat man," tell me, please!

Why, don't you know? This is the day
For parties and for fun and play;
Why, this is Christmas

So this is Christmas, do you say?
But where is Christ this Christmas Day?
Has He been lost among the throng?
His voice drowned out by empty song?

No, He's not here—you'll find Him where
Some humble soul now kneels in prayer,
Who knows the Christ of Christmas.

But see the many aimless thousands
Who gather on this Christmas Day,
Whose hearts have never yet been opened,
Or said to Him, "Come in to stay."

In countless homes the candles burning,
In countless hearts expectant yearning
For gifts and presents, food and fun,
And laughter till the day is done.

Here's how, where to cut your own Christmas trees

'Tis the season to bundle up the family and head for one of Michigan's cut-your-own Christmas tree farms to select a beautifully shaped evergreen.

A trip to the country to choose and cut a Christmas tree is a holiday tradition for many families, observed Jim Drury of the Automobile Club of Michigan.

Prices for the state's most common variety, Scotch pine, start at $3, which AAA says is 50 cents more than last year's lowest price. Trees which are large or difficult to grow in Michigan, including Colorado spruce and Douglas fir, cost up to $50, $5 more than last year's top price.

Christmas tree fanciers may choose from more than a dozen varieties, including white and Austrian pine and concolor fir.

Families can take wagon rides through a fourth of the choose-and-cut farms. In addition, 15 of the 63 cut-your-own tree farms on the Auto Club's 1983 guide sell hot beverages or snacks.

Cutters can reserve trees at 17 farms on the list. "Because supplies go fast at many plantations, those looking for trees after December 15 should call to check what's available before visiting farms, Drury advised.

The Auto Club offers these tips to those planning trips to cut-your-own Christmas tree farms:

- Take a hand saw. Most farms lend saws, but taking your own saves time if all are in use. Axes are banned.
- Cut the tree close to the ground. Shake trees in the field to remove old needles. Ten farms on the Auto Club's guide will clean trees mechanically.
- To help them hold their needles while displayed, cut Norway, white and black spruce and Balsam fir trees at temperatures above 40 degrees. At colder temperatures those varieties drop needles more easily than pines and Douglas firs.

- Take twine to tie trees to cars, although most farms have rope. To help the tree withstand wind while being transported, tie its base at the front of the car. Thirty tree farms will wrap trees for easy transport.
- At home, cut an inch or two off the bottom of the tree and immediately place it in a stand filled with water. Check water level daily.
- Keep trees in a cool area, away from flames and heating ducts. Before decorating, check tree lights for bare wires. Take care not to overload electrical outlets.

Most of the cut-your-own farms on the Auto Club's list are a considerable distance from the Northville area, but five are within reasonable driving distance. They are:

- Wenzel's Tree Farm, 8475 Bishop Road, Brighton. 900 trees. $15-$25. Open Saturday and Sunday.
- Boughan's Tree Farm, 15851 Martinsville Road, Belleville. Phone: (313) 669-5062. 1,000 trees. $11. Open daily 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

- Arend Tree Farm No. 2, west of I-94 between exits 153-156, Chelsea. Phone: (313) 475-7584. 20,000 trees. Open November 26 to December 18, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.
- Frosty Pines, 7600 Hitchcock, White Lake Township. Phone: (313) 887-9561. 2,000 trees, $2 per foot up (minimum $10). Open Saturday and Sunday 10 a.m. to dusk.
- Baldwin Road Tree Farm, Baldwin Road between Stanton and Seymour Lake roads, 3½ miles west of Oxford. Phone: (313) 652-2381.

The Northville Record

Schrader, Weber key win

Mustang cagers bounce Farmington in league debut

HANDS UP — Mustang Bob Pegrum arrests a Falcon guard in Friday night's 52-45 league win over Farmington. Pegrum scored six points in the game, and was a big factor in the Mustangs' ability to break the Falcons' press and stay undefeated with a 3-0 record. Above right, Mustang basketball coach Tim Lutes makes the most out of a rare time-out.

With last Friday's 52-45 win over Farmington, the Northville varsity basketball team already has matched last year's total number of wins on the road. And Coach Tim Lutes couldn't have been more pleased.

"Well, I'm just happy we're 3-0 right now," Lutes said after the game. "We showed a lot of poise, and that's the way we try to coach the guys."

Center Steve Schrader led the Mustangs with 19 points and, with Mike Weber, was the key to a 16-8 fourth quarter surge that sealed the win. Schrader, a 6-6 senior, flexed some muscle inside and hauled down 10 offensive rebounds and scored three critical baskets in the fourth quarter to keep Northville on top. Lutes said it was one of Schrader's "best games ever."

Weber, nursing a case of the flu, sunk eight of his nine points during the final period. The 6-4 forward's baseline moves drew a slew of fouls, and he sunk four of five under-pressure free throws to put the Mustangs on top to stay.

"He didn't feel good at all that night," Lutes said. "But those free throws really kept us in it. Mike's been playing great ball."

Farmington led by one as late as 3:15 remaining, but Lutes never felt the game was beyond his team's control. "We were trying to be patient, and we knew we could get the ball inside," he said. "We went man-to-man on them in the second half because they were getting some baby jumpers inside, and we thought if we forced them outside they couldn't continue to hit those long ones."

For a long time, the Falcons did hit them — especially guard Greg Feenstra, who came off the bench and hit several long range jumpers to keep Farmington close. Feenstra led his team with 16 points.

"Their shooting ability — and especially Feenstra — surprised me," Lutes said.

But late in the game, Farmington's perimeter shots began to miss the mark, while the Mustangs continually were able to get the ball inside to Weber and Schrader. Keying that controlled half-court game were guards Bob Pegrum and Dave Longridge. "Dave kept things under control out there, and Bob did a great job getting the ball up-court on the press. Bob's had three real good ballgames for us. We might start him this week, because we know Canton's going to press us," Lutes said.

"Dave only scored one point all night, but I could see he was cool out there. He knew what to do late in the game, he was able to get the ball inside," he added.

Scott Gala, Pegrum and Steve Frellick each notched six points and played well at both ends of the court.

But Lutes thinks the Mustangs will need a better team effort in this week's games against two of the Western Lakes Activities Association's toughest teams — Plymouth Canton (played after press deadline last night) and Livonia Stevenson in Northville's first home game, this Friday at 7:30 p.m.

"Stevenson's the one we're thinking about. It's an extremely big game, and it'll be nice to have it in our gym."

Gala paces unbeaten JV

The Mustangs JV picked up its third straight win with a 59-41 victory over Farmington last Friday. Leading the way against the Falcon reserves on offense were four Mustangs who scored in double figures: Eric Gala and Mike Hillinger tallied 14 each, Don Norton 13, and Kirk Morrison 12.

Norton, a forward, is the team's second leading scorer, averaging 12.7 points per game.

Eric Gala, younger brother of varsity standout Scott Gala, has been particularly impressive. The sophomore center missed his first free throw of the season against Farmington — he had hit 11 straight in his first two games — but canned six more charity tosses to boost his season mark to 16 of 17.

Eric, now averaging 17 points per game, also pulled down eight rebounds in Friday's contest.

Five Mustangs tops at Ypsilanti tourney

By B.J. MARTIN

Gary Emerson was beaming. "We've never had five first-place finishers at a big meet before. We had four a long time ago, but this is really something."

The Northville wrestling coach was talking about his team's performance at the six-team Ypsilanti Invitational Tournament Saturday.

Taking firsts at the tourney were Jim Assemany (7-1), Mike Davis (5-3), Ernie Bock (8-1), Steve Smith and Brian Burgett (8-1).

Assemany earned a 10-2 decision over Ypsilanti's Sean Simpson to take the 105-pound title. Bock earned the 167 title with a 10-7 decision. No surprise — both Bock and Assemany were first seeds at the meet.

By contrast, Northville's biggest surprise had to be Davis at 138. He took the first seed, Pat Leavy of North Farmington, with a first-period pin at 1:31.

"Mike wrestled real well all day," Emerson noted. "He'd been losing a lot of close matches this season, and I think he just got tired of that. He opened up and took a more aggressive approach, and now I think he'll have a decent season for us."

Burgett completely dominated the heavyweight class, taking Davidson's Troy Pickett at 1:21 in the final.

"He missed most of last season, but he's right back on track," Emerson declared.

Smith, who only recently joined the team, sailed into the finals a very light 198. He picked up a pin at 3:57 over North Farmington's Chris Reed.

Also placing at the meet were Mike Bates (4-4), fourth at 119; Jay Anderson (5-4), third at 145; and Joel Vogt (6-3), third at 185. Vogt and Anderson medaled with their performances.

"I thought Don Graham (4-3) wrestled real well, too," Emerson said. "The 112 class was expected to be the toughest — I think all five there were regional qualifiers last year."

Northville took fourth at the meet with 123½ points, behind Davidson with 153, and Belleville and North Farmington, who tied at 133½.

"It made me feel pretty good," Emerson added. "Our guys got to see a lot of different wrestlers there. One of the neat things about the sport is that the guys'll talk over their matches against other people, and they get to make a lot of friends at these things."

The previous Thursday, the Mustangs overpowered Livonia Stevenson 43-23 in a Western Lakes Activities

Association dual meet.

"It wasn't too classy," Emerson admitted. "We made some mistakes against Stevenson we couldn't get away with against other teams."

Against the Spartans, Assemany won a 4-0 decision and Graham turned in a 21-5 decision. "He turned him upside down and every way, just didn't pin him," Emerson said of Graham's win.

Norm Estigoy (4-5) won on a pin at 126, John Lazar won his first match on a pin at 132, and Bock, Vogt and Burgett won with easy pins.

John Letarte did everything but pin his man at 138, winning 21-6. Bates, Mike Leavitt (2-7) and Vince Candella (3-3) each lost decisions at 119, 155 and 198, respectively.

Tuesday, December 6, Northville competed at the Detroit Country Day School invitational and was credited with dual wins over DCDS 56-21 and Livonia Clarenceville 42-28.

Country Day, a Class C school with a long tradition of good wrestling teams, is experiencing an off year and was void at 112, 119, 145, 198 and heavyweight.

Assemany, Lazar, John and Dave Letarte (1-0), Bock and Vogt all won on pins. Estigoy lost a decision and Letarte was pinned to round out the team's showing against the Yellow-jackets.

Against Clarenceville, Toby Balai won on a pin at 98 pounds, Graham, Bates, and Estigoy followed with pins at 112, 119 and 126. Then the beef pack took charge. Bock and Vogt won on pins and Clarenceville posted voids at the top two classes.

The activity leaves Northville's season mark at 4-0 (counting quad meets), 2-0 in the WLAA.

Tomorrow (Thursday), the Mustangs will take to the mat against Western Division rival Livonia Churchill at home. "They're pretty young this year, they have six or seven first-year wrestlers," Emerson said. "But we can't go in sleeping."

The team certainly will stay awake for the Howell Invitational Saturday, an all-day affair with 16 teams participating. "That's a big one to win," Emerson noted. "We try to go to meets like that for variety, to see a lot of other wrestlers, maybe to get records straight for seeding later in the season."

After the Howell invite, the Mustangs break for the holidays. They return to action January 5 against Livonia Bentley.

Mustang tankers open season Saturday

By B.J. MARTIN

This Saturday, the Mustang varsity swim team will get its feet wet at the Western Lakes Activities Association relays — an early test for a team Coach Pete Talbot expects to compete for the Western Division title this season.

"Livonia Churchill and we will compete for the top," Talbot said. "(Plymouth) Canton will be tough, also, but I hear they're going to be losing a lot of people."

"In the Lakes division, (Plymouth)

Salem, (Livonia) Stevenson and Farmington are going to be tough. It'll be about a five-team race overall. We've got a little bit of an outside chance if we get good finishes."

Talbot calls this season's crop "unique."

"The lead guys I'm not worried about," he said. "But how the others do will be the key. If we can close the gaps between them and our front line, we should be in nice shape. The kids have been working hard, and it looks like they've got a good attitude."

It's easy to recognize who Talbot means as "our front line." Adam Swallow is back after finishing fourth in the league in the 500 freestyle in the WLAA relays last season. Talbot describes the senior as "dedicated and hard-working."

It was "Metz in the net" this fall, as

Talking with NHS coaches a sure cure for cynicism

By B.J. MARTIN

Touching base with the winter sport coaches at Northville High School will complete the year-round cycle for me. It seems like a good time to offer a purely subjective piece about these coaches, whom I regard as my co-workers, for the people who follow Northville sports. Their names and quotes appear often, but only rarely is there time for me to give readers some kind of perspective on them.

I can say they've made me less cynical about people in general. The coaches are far from motivated by the extra dollars and cents they gain from their activity, I think I can honestly say that. I've been very impressed with their dedication and thoughtfulness.

A few one-liners, then:

Ann Dayton, girls track: What many people don't know about Ann is that she actually takes the time to work out with her athletes, not just stand someplace with a whistle and clipboard and watch. She's definitely dedicated to learning about her sport as much as anyone.

Fred Holdsworth, baseball: Like Sparky, he's deceptively smart. He knows the game extremely well, but I think he misses the era when players weren't quite so opinionated and more obedient. I'll bet a lot of his ex-players have said to themselves years later,

"Oh, that's why he did that!"

Mary Minor, softball: Very dedicated and willing to learn about the game. A good motivator. I wish she'd teach one understanding the balance of different factors in not only the game itself, but in its relationship with the school and community.

Ed Gabrys, cross country: You might call Ed something of a fanatic about keeping records. I think two days after his final meet, he gave me a book on this season's team that compiled more information than I gave out all year. He's attentive to the academic side of his athletes and prides himself on the team's scholarship.

Marv Gans and Dan Swayne, soccer: I don't think this pair has a great edge in strategic understanding over other coaches, but the way they can get more than 20 players ready to play every game hard and clean is amazing to me. I also think anyone who can get 25 cool guys to do the Ooh-sa-sa cheer before every game must know something I don't.

Rick Hurst, basketball: A good "program-oriented" kind of guy. He always focused on his players' abilities rather than their limitations, and despite great odds, never lost his cool as far as I could see.

Uta Filkin, tennis: My respect for Filkin is already on the record. She's deeply committed to her players, knowledgeable about the game and a masterful psychologist. Too bad she doesn't coach any other sports.

Joe Boyd, golf: Very classy guy, and he instilled class in his players, I thought. He also has what I believe to be an excellent grasp of the importance of temperament and psychology in the game.

Bill Dicks, swimming: Don't know. He's always too busy with his swimmers to talk to me. That must mean he's doing a good job.

I'll talk about the winter coaches later, but I'd like to thank those men and women for making my job very enjoyable this year. Happy holidays.

OLV cagers 1-3 against Falcons

The Our Lady of Victory Cougars battled the Falcons of Dearborn Divine Child in four cage contests last Saturday.

The seventh and eighth grade boys were defeated 34-9 while the seventh and eighth grade girls fell 50-15, despite the offensive efforts of Katie Fitzpatrick and the defensive play of Hope Mastrangel.

In fifth and sixth grade boys and girls the contests were much closer. The Cougar boys topped the Falcons in an exciting 30-26 game. Coaches noted the offensive play of Brian DeAlexandris and the defensive work of David Best in the win.

In a total team effort the girls lost by one point 14-13.

The Cougars play St. Mary Redford this Saturday at 10 a.m.

Nadeau's a Tiger

Northville's Leslie Nadeau, an all-state cager for Livonia Ladywood a few years back, is beginning her third straight year as a guard on the highly-rated Auburn Lady Tiger basketball team.

A valuable substitute point guard and forward for the undefeated Lady Tigers, Nadeau has played in all four of Auburn's games, averaging nine minutes of playing time and 2.7 points per game. That's up from her freshman and sophomore years, when she averaged 1.4 and then 0.6 points per game. Last year she appeared in 22 of the Lady Tigers' 32 games in '82-'83.

This season, Nadeau has also averaged 1.7 rebounds and hit five of nine from the floor.

A junior, the 21-year old Nadeau is majoring in microbiology at the Auburn, Alabama, university.

Parks officials urge caution on the slopes

Winter sports enthusiasts could follow the safety tips listed below for using toboggans and sleds this winter, according to Chief Park Ranger Howard Chantler, of Kensington Metropark at Milford.

The four basic things to remember when going tobogganing and sledding are:

Know the area. Check for hidden hazards before sledding. Snow may hide logs, stumps, stones or fences. Check snow conditions — frozen snow and ice can cut like broken glass. Do not go down any hill when you cannot see the entire length of the ride. Do not use areas or hills where there are bumps or drop-off areas. Read and obey posted rules and signs.

Use proper equipment. Wear warm clothing and footwear. Protect your face and hands with a hat, gloves and scarf. Have a good toboggan pad securely attached to the toboggan at all times. Check your toboggan for broken or cracked boards after each run. Do not use broken equipment.

Use equipment properly. A toboggan is very hard to steer, especially on unpacked snow. Do not overload toboggans or sleds. Be sure to keep arms and legs inside the toboggan or sled. Hold tightly to side ropes and hold the legs of the person behind you under your arms and do not let go.

Use area safely. Do not use sleds and toboggans on the same runs. Sleds cut ruts and make it difficult to keep toboggans running smoothly. Toboggans pack snow and make it difficult to steer sleds. In heavy use areas, allow the group ahead of you sufficient time to get out of the way before starting downhill. Remember, you don't have any method of stopping once you start your ride downhill. Use marked returns. Do not walk up the hill while others are sledding. Get out of the way as soon as you stop, and be alert for other groups coming down the hill after you.

These safety tips apply to persons tobogganing or sledding anywhere in Michigan. Metroparks that offer sledding or tobogganing areas include Kensington near Milford (phone 685-1561 for information on conditions).

Co-captain Doug Buell is expected to lead a team with both veteran and young talent

Swimmers expect to vie for divison title

senior Jeff Metz was named second-team All-State goalkeeper for the soccer squad. This winter he returns to lead the Mustang divers after taking fourth in the conference at the league meet last March. Metz will lead a trio of divers who just might be the league champions this year. Team co-captain Doug Buell made the Mustangs' best showing as a freshman at that meet, and this year hopes are high for him to pick up the 100 butterfly crown after finishing third in the league last year. Accomplished in several strokes, he also took ninth in the 200 individual medley. "He's an excellent all-around talent," Talbot declared. "He could possibly be the best swimmer we've ever had here."

Ron Johnson leads a solid group of juniors, returning after taking ninth in the 50 and 13th in the 100 freestyle. "Ron will be a key person for us in those events," Talbot said. "If he can consistently improve to compete strongly at the league meet, we'll be real good."

Classmate and Co-captain John Gass will be heavily relied on, Talbot said. "He's an important person to us. Which events he'll swim is questionable, but he'll have to step in and do a job for us to be successful."

Jeff Palowski took ninth in the league in diving last season as a sophomore and "has come along real well," Talbot said. "He was a real consistent diver for us last year, and hopefully he'll be just as consistent this time around."

Tom Valade, a distance freestyle specialist, also shows good potential, Talbot said. "He's another important person to us," he added. "He's got to get us some points."

Rounding out the diving corps is Joel Grasley, also from the junior class. "If all of our divers stay consistent, we may not lose the diving event all year," Talbot said.

Returning after an excellent freshman season is Jeff Bainbridge, who swam 13th in the 200 I.M. last year and was sixth in the 100 back. "He'll also see work in the freestyle and sprints."

Sophomore Darius Mikalonis is back in the backstroke after finishing ninth at the WLAA league meet last season. "I watched him at a couple meets last summer, and he was swimming better times than last winter," Talbot said. "He'll be versatile, he'll swim everything for us."

Dave Wayne has looked impressive in pre-season workouts in the 'fly and freestyle, and Talbot has high hopes for the soph, as he does for classmate Ed Valentini.

Two seniors will help in depth roles, Vince Shimp and Jeff Smith. Both weren't factors last season as Smith did not try out, and Shimp continually was plagued by injuries. Shimp swims the 50 and 100 free and Smith the free and backstroke.

A bumper crop of freshmen has made the team, led by Cooke Junior High standout Randy Holloway. "He swam everything for them," Talbot said, "and I'm not sure what he'll do for us. But he's a good talent."

Chris Sellen, also a freshman, is a breast stroke specialist, and Talbot is confident he will be a valuable swimmer with hard work. "I hate the expression, but he's got a lot of potential," Talbot said.

Rounding out the freshman unit and the team is John Roth, capable of helping the squad in the breast and back strokes. Talbot predicted, "John will help us a lot."

Talbot is assisted by Bill Dicks, just as Talbot acts as Dicks' assistant coach during the girls' season in fall.

Following its meet Saturday, at 11 a.m. at Plymouth Salem, the team will take its winter break and resume interscholastic competition in January.

"The Salvation Army knows that for millions of Americans Christmas won't be very merry this year."

For families whose lives have been turned upside down by unemployment, natural disaster or illness; senior citizens alone in the world; teenage runaways; prisoners and those dependent on alcohol and drugs, the holiday season is not a time to be jolly.

No matter what the circumstances, those in need can rely on The Salvation Army for some Christmas cheer. If it's a hot meal, toys, warm clothing, a comforting friend to combat holiday depression or a host of other services that are needed, The Salvation Army is ready to help. This year more than three million people will receive seasonal assistance.

And the wonderful spirit of sharing that we associate with Christmas is evident in the work of The Salvation Army throughout the year. The Army puts its Christian values into practice, reaching out to those in distress in 86 countries. All who turn to this organization receive its unique blend of material, spiritual and emotional support until they are back on their feet.

Your generous contribution to The Salvation Army will brighten the Yuletide season for the less fortunate and continue to work for them throughout the new year.
