'Twas a feast of madrigal merrymaking

Diners fortunate enough to obtain tickets to one of the three Christmas Madrigal dinner programs at Schoolcraft College December 10 or last Friday or Saturday were treated to the kind of feast that was a tradition in 16th century Merrie Olde England.

Masters of Revels John Jacobson and Ronald Moon cued the diners so they might participate with the elegantly costumed "Lords and Ladies" at the elevated dining table onstage at Waterman Center.

The capacity crowd began with the wassail bowl toast, wishing each other and the student participants well in the evening that was a project of the cultural and public affairs committee and one music department at the college.

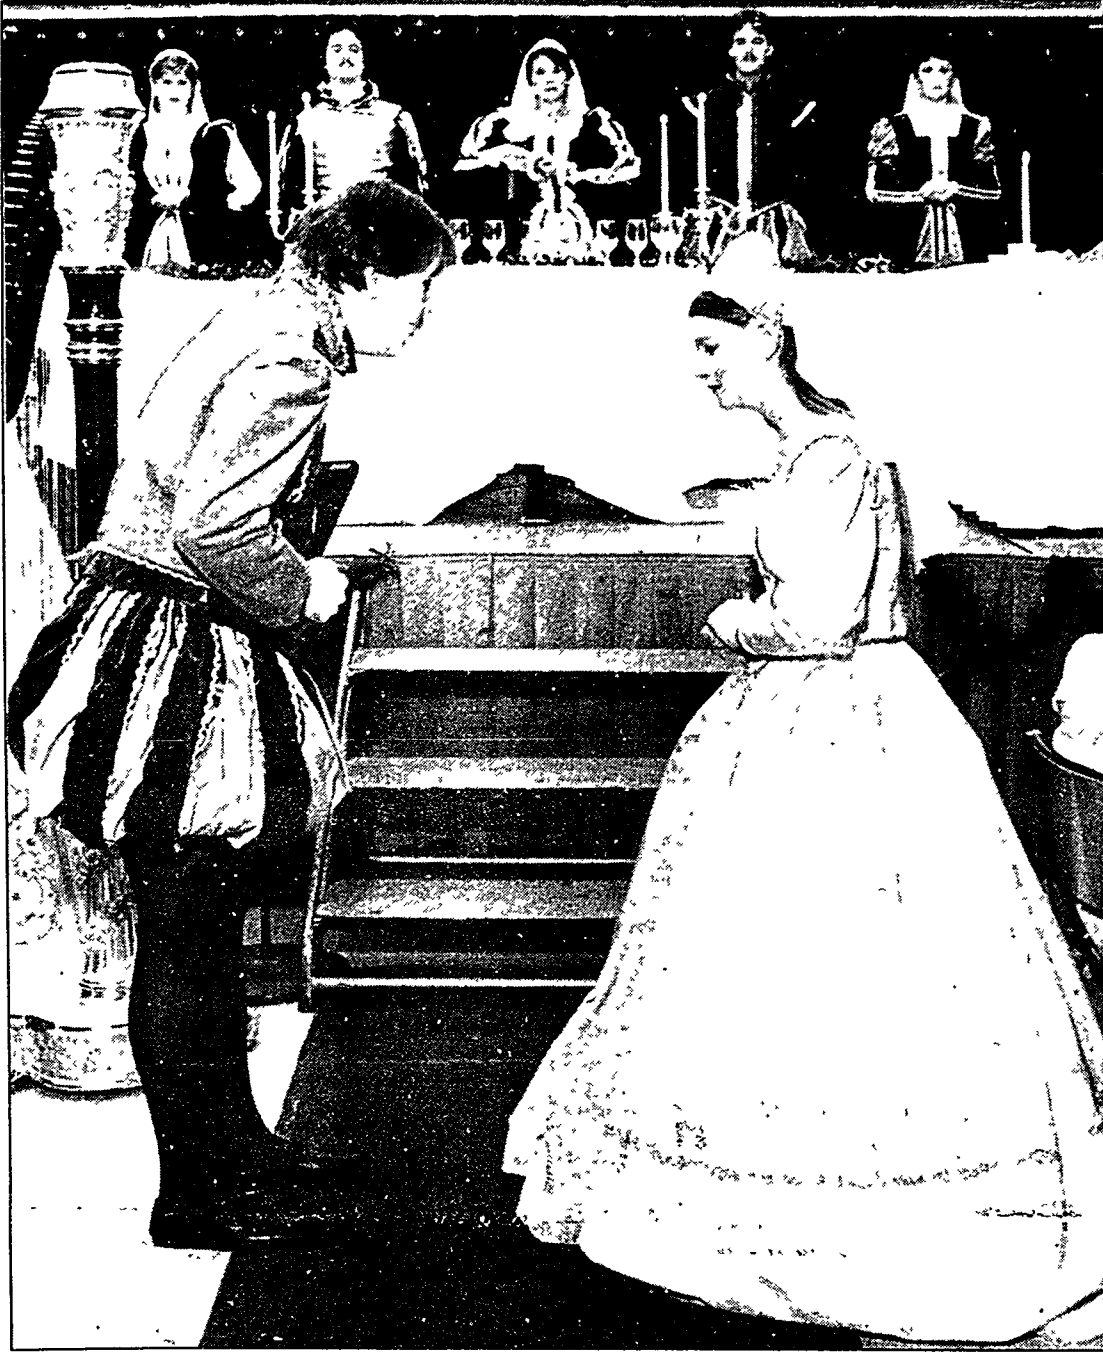

The evening — and feasting — began as the Lords and Ladies formed an entrance procession, singing a welcome song and a Wassail Carol.

After toasting the season, they sat down to await the arrival of the Boar's Head. As they waited, they were entertained by Jester Mark Tripp who did wondrous slight-of-hand tricks. Later, as he wandered from table to table during dinner he added card identification and rope tricks that brought applause.

Accompanying the presentation of the Boar's Head (fortunately not part of the actual feast), was the Boar's Head Carol. Prime ribs of beef with Yorkshire pudding, special Christmas breads and vegetables were followed by English fruit pudding with rum sauce. The Madrigal Singers with trumpet fanfare by Steven Boye, Gregory Brooks and Annetta Kelly watched the "flaming of the pudding," and sang of the traditional Figgy Pudding.

During the two-hour dinner presentation diners also were serenaded by strolling musicians. Jean Braun, viola, Janet Holt, cello and Robert Jones.

Change proposed in dance licenses

By KEVIN WILSON

Prompted by impending reconsideration of a liquor license transfer, city council Monday night set a January 9 public hearing date for amendments to a city ordinance requiring licensing of dance facilities.

The revised ordinance, which mayor Paul Vernon suggested be amended two weeks ago in connection with James Rea's request that council reconsider the transfer of his liquor license from the Winner's Circle Bar to North Center Street, imposes stiff restrictions on noise and hours of operation.

New to the ordinance, city manager Steven Walters said, is definition of a "bar or restaurant dancing facility" as a "public dancing facility which is ancillary to the bar and/or restaurant operation, which is operated for the use of the customers of the bar or restaurant, and does not constitute more than 10 percent of the total floor space of the bar or restaurant."

Such facilities would be specifically restricted to operation only between 9 p.m. and 2 a.m., excluding Sundays when dancing would be prohibited. Another section prohibits "the combined noise of music, employees and patrons" from being "audible beyond the boundaries of the premises..."

Drafted by Vernon, Walters and council member G. Dewey Gardner, the proposed ordinance is based on an earlier one restricting "dance halls and roller skating rinks." It requires that dance and skating facilities be licensed and provides that council may issue a "temporary probationary permit for the purpose of deciding whether or not a license should be issued."

All licensees would pay a $100 inspection fee, plus an annual license fee of $100 for bar/restaurant dancing facilities and $200 for pure dancing or skating facilities.

Provisions regarding license revocation or suspension are to be stiffened before the ordinance is published for the public hearing, but in preliminary form calls for the city manager to recommend such actions to council, which would set a hearing on that matter.

To be added to that restriction will be specific guidelines regarding the number of ordinance violations allowed prior to an automatic suspension of specific duration.

In addition to the suspension or revocation of license, those violating the terms of the ordinance are subject to a $500 fine and/or 90-days in jail, with each day of violation considered a separate offense.

"Basically, what we are trying to do is control the activity in any dancing facility," Vernon said. "We want to establish that the city has the authority to license such operations, and that the city does have the authority and responsibility to revoke that license if the facility does not meet the requirements."

Walters noted that the noise restriction "is probably as stiff as we could make" since it prohibits any audible sound beyond the boundaries of the property.

"The ordinance anticipated roller rinks and dance halls that would be separate, free-standing structures on their own lots, with their own parking," Walters said. "Bars in the CBD, in effect, will have to meet a tougher standard because they don't have the space surrounding them to dissipate the sound."

That will be the bar owner's problem, Walters said, because "the impact of the dance operation in the CBD is different, in terms of hours, the affect on adjacent properties is different, so the hours are more restricted."

"In terms of traffic, the free-standing structure would likely have everyone arrive at the same time at the start of the evening and leaving roughly together, while in the CBD you'd have

Parents rally against substance abuse

By MICHELE McELMURRY

Approximately a dozen parents gathered at Northville High School last week Tuesday for the initial meeting of a task force to help combat substance abuse in the school district.

The task force, formed November 28 by parents and high school administrators, is an offshoot of "The Chemical People," a nationwide campaign to fight alcohol and drug abuse among youth.

At its meeting Tuesday, the local task force reviewed its preliminary objectives — outlined November 28 — and established three major goals for the coming year.

Goals include distribution of a student survey to identify the extent of substance abuse in the district, establishment of parent awareness sessions at both the junior and senior high level to educate parents about substance abuse and the formation of a community awareness group to solicit support from local organizations such as the chamber of commerce, the Jaycees and the Parent Teacher Association.

The task force, headed by chairperson Robert Willerer, was assisted last Tuesday by John Farrar, executive director of the Community Commission on Drug Abuse.

Farrar, who provides out-patient counseling for youth in the western Wayne County area, offered encouragement to the local task force.

He told the group he has seen considerable success with similar groups in surrounding school districts such as Livonia, Garden City and Birmingham.

"I don't think that because Northville has an active task force, it means you have a big drug problem (in the district)," he noted.

However, he added, "If you choose to be neutral, the message you deliver to your kids is 'Hey, it's okay.'"

"You have to show the community that parents are willing to work on this problem."

Fearing that the group may develop a stigma, the task force emphasized the need to involve the entire community in its efforts.

Some parents voiced concern about their involvement in the group, noting that they did not want their children to be labeled drug or alcohol users.

Willerer stressed that the task force is not designed as a support group for

Jaycee Women for peace: Light a Christmas candle

As Northville Jaycee Women plan to join Jaycee Women chapters across the nation Christmas Eve in lighting candles of remembrance for those who have died in the fighting for world peace, they are inviting all residents of the Northville community to do so with them.

The candles of remembrance also will stand for hope for peace in the year to come.

Lighting a candle in the window on Christmas Eve will be a silent demonstration, the chapter explains, uniting the community in a silent prayer for peace while remembering those who have fallen in the name of freedom.

Local churches celebrate season with special services

For unto us a Child is born; unto us a Son is given.

The story of the Nativity will be told in word and song in services in local churches Saturday evening and Sunday.

FIRST UNITED METHODIST

Christmas Eve will be observed at three candlelighting services at First United Methodist Church, Eight Mile at Taft.

At 5 p.m. Saturday there will be a family Christmas Eve service prepared by Dick Millsbaugh, formerly on the ministerial staff of the First United Methodist Church of Honolulu, Hawaii. Ves Spindler, lay speaker of the congregation, is in charge of the service. Pastor Eric Hammar will lead in singing of Christmas carols as the congregation assembles in the sanctuary.

At the close of the service, a live nativity scene will be enacted with Stacey and Gary Becker portraying the Holy Family with their three-week old son Andrew Christopher as the Christ Child. As families come forward to the altar and the nativity scene, they will receive lighted candles.

The 9 p.m. service will feature the lighting of 20 candles for each of the 20 centuries of Christianity, with brief mention being made of the contributions to the world through the life of Christ. This service will feature music by the youth and adult choirs. Reverend Hammar will give the sermon, "Christmas Realities." It will conclude with the giving of gifts and the receiving of lighted candles.

The third service at 11 p.m. will be one of Holy Communion with the Reverend Hammar preaching the Communion meditation. Christmas music will be provided by soloists from the adult choir. At its close, those attending will go to the altar with their gifts and receive a lighted candle. They then will form a large cross in the sanctuary and the service will conclude with the singing of "Silent Night."

Christmas morning worship will be at 10 a.m. with children, youth and adults assembling in the church sanctuary to share a family Christmas service. The Reverend Hammar will read the Christmas story, "Barrington Bunny." The public is invited to attend all services.

The poinsettias that decorate the Communion table area in the church sanctuary have been purchased by members who will take them home. They were ordered through the senior high youth of the church. Proceeds are being used to sponsor an orphan for a year.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN

Three Christmas Eve services are scheduled at First Presbyterian Church, 200 East Main.

Youth choirs of students in kindergarten through sixth grade will be singing a cantata, "A Night for Dancing," at the 7 p.m. family service.

A candlelight service with the Westminster and chancel choirs presenting seasonal anthems will be at 9 p.m.

At 11 p.m. there will be Candlelight Communion Service with special music.

Only one worship service will be held Christmas morning with combined children's and chancel choir proclaiming the good news with the anthem, "Climb to the Top of the Highest Mountain."

BUSHNELL CONGREGATIONAL

Bushnell Congregational Church has planned its traditional family Christmas Eve candlelighting and pageant at 5 p.m. at New School Church in Mill Race Historical Village.

The children's choir will be featured in the service.

A Service of Lessons and Carols will be held at 9:30 a.m. Christmas Day in Mill Race.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

First Baptist Church of Northville, 217 North Wing, will hold a Candlelight Hymn Sing at 7:30 p.m. Christmas Eve.

Christmas service will follow the regular schedule with Sunday School at 9:45 a.m. and worship service at 11 a.m.

CHRISTIAN COMMUNITY CHURCH

Christian Community Church, 41355 Six Mile, will offer Christmas Eve family communion from 7 to 8 p.m. No formal service is planned — families are invited to stop by during that hour to take communion and worship.

Christmas services will be from 11 a.m. to noon Sunday. Sunday School and evening services are cancelled this week.

The church will also conduct an Agape Love Feast New Year's Day after the morning worship service.

OUR LADY OF VICTORY

Catholic services at Our Lady of Victory, 770 Thayer, begin Christmas Eve, with a Children's Liturgy at 4 p.m., followed by a 7 p.m. Children's Choir. At 11:30 p.m. there will be a Service of Carols followed by Midnight Mass.

There will be special Christmas Day services beginning at 8 a.m., 9:30 a.m., and 11 a.m.

ST. PAUL'S LUTHERAN

Christmas weekend offerings at St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church, 201 Elm, start with a 7:30 p.m. Communion Service Christmas Eve. There will be a Candlelight Service at 11 p.m. and two services Christmas Day, at 8:30 and 11 a.m., each with Holy Communion.

parents of substance abusers, but as a communitywide organization of concerned citizens helping to combat substance abuse.

Many of the residents in attendance Tuesday were parents of elementary age students concerned not only about the present alcohol and drug abuse problem in the district — but about what may happen in the future should the abuse continue.

To help the group obtain facts about the extent of substance abuse by local students, Farrar provided a survey to use as a guideline.

Barbara Campbell, high school assistant principal, told the group she would work with Farrar and NHS principal David Bolitho on reviewing the survey prior to the task force's approval.

Should the task force approve the survey, Campbell estimated that approximately 90-95 percent of the high school students could be surveyed. She noted the best results would be achieved if the survey was administered through the counselors.

The group also stressed the need to survey junior high students, noting that the problem often begins at that level.

Several members of the task force volunteered to serve on special committees to help achieve the group's immediate goals.

A committee established to work on parental education of drug and alcohol abuse will be planning parent information meetings at the schools. Another committee will be working on contacting community groups and the police department about the task force.

Farrar told the group that educating parents about drugs and alcohol hopefully will make students more aware of their dangers.

"Kids are almost totally ignorant of the harm it causes," Farrar said.

He noted that "experimenting with street drugs is far more dangerous than prescription drugs or alcohol."

"You don't have to be a chronic user to have a life and death situation."

While the problem is far from obsolete, Farrar said "substance abuse is not as much of a problem today as it was 10 years ago."

He noted that the "drug spectrum today is much narrower" with alcohol and marijuana being the most commonly used. However, while the spectrum may be narrower, the usage is not any less, he added.

Campbell told the group that high school administrators have less of a problem with alcohol in the school since Michigan raised the drinking age from 18 to 21.

Amendments proposed more coming and going."

While council members frequently commented that the ordinance revisions would apply to all bars with dance permits, they often specifically addressed the proposed relocation of Rea's license.

Noting that the North Center building Rea owns has common boundaries with both the Open Door Church and Schrader's Furnishings, council member Burton DeRusha said "we ought to make clear to these people (the Reas) that they are going to have to do something about their building" to restrict noise.

Noting a letter to council from Nelson Schrader objecting to reconsideration of the transfer, Vernon and Gardner said the hours restrictions were designed to avoid, as much as possible, concurrent operation of dancing with regular hours in nearby businesses.

Both added, however, that they expect the Reas would have to have the interior of the North Center location acoustically-designed to prevent noise entering adjoining structures.

"If the noise proves to be objectionable," Vernon said, "the license could be revoked."

Other restrictions on dance facility operations, largely carried over from the earlier ordinance, include prohibition of disorderly conduct, "improper" dancing (defined as "immoral, vulgar, suggestive, improper, or freak dancing), smoking on the dance floor, gambling in the facility, overcrowding, and dancing by intoxicated persons.

There is also a requirement for "adequate lighting at all times." All these restrictions apply also to roller skating facilities.

Exempted are municipal dances or roller skating parties, or those sponsored by student bodies at schools, or by fraternal organizations, clubs or churches. Also provided for is council approval of specific dances not otherwise exempted.

harpichord, as the Jones Consort accompanied the presentation.

Harp music was provided by Rebecca Bard.

Singers were sopranos Deborah Bray, Rebecca Callow, Terese Cullen, Frances Mulka; altos Karin Cavanaugh, Gwen Foss, Laura Wiggins; tenors Mark Bogarin, Fredrick Ryan, Stephen Smith; bass Mark Endress.

Litter bearers of the bear's head were Keith Becker and Lawrence Zane.

Bradley Bloom of the Schoolcraft music department produced the program assisted by Midge Ellis, coordinator of special events for the college. Seven years ago before the college held its first Madrigal dinner she had gone to a workshop session at Indiana University to learn how the presentations are done authentically. Alleen Walker was in charge of the period costumes, which belong to the college.

The meal was prepared by Master Chef Robert Breithaupt and his staff in the culinary arts department.

The madrigal dinners have been so popular in recent years that they sold out as soon as they were announced, according to David Heinzman, head of public relations for Schoolcraft. Therefore, a second weekend was added this year — all were sold out.

Parents and friends of many of the student singers participated in the opening night presentation.

They departed with the wish of the Lords and Ladies, "May the true spirit of Christmas be with you."

Postal holiday hours set

The Northville Post Office will operate on a holiday mail schedule Monday, December 26, and Monday, January 2, in observance of Christmas and New Year's Day.

Postmaster Wallace Cates stated that regular residential and business deliveries and pick-ups from collection boxes will not be made on those days. The usual lobby services also will not be available.

Cates suggested that last minute mailers may want to use the Express Mail Service for guaranteed next-day delivery to practically any location throughout the United States. The Northville Post Office now is flying the Express Mail flag designating it as one that offers the overnight delivery.

He added that he, the management staff and employees extend their best wishes to the community for a happy holiday season.

Adopted Korean children a blessing

By JEAN DAY

Because baby girls still are considered "most expendable" in Korea where their mothers are encouraged to give them up, Molly Townsend, Leah Jerome and sisters Heather and Holly Qualman are celebrating their first Christmas in Northville with their new adoptive families.

"We feel we have been doubly blessed," beams Connie Qualman, who with her husband Al of 343 High Street became parents of Holly Kristin Soo-Hyun and Heather Kira, Soo-Hee September 28.

It was a casual conversation of Kathi Jerome's with Joan Townsend and Karen Marburger, who were adopting Korean children, that led to the latest adoptions locally.

Joan and Robert Townsend of 46620 Stratford Court had adopted daughter Sarah Jee-Hee Jung, 3½, two and a half years ago and were applying for Molly Mee-Ae Cho, 18 months old.

The Townsends were so delighted with Sarah, who has an exceptionally charming, outgoing personality, her mother explains, that they decided to seek another daughter from Korea.

As they shopped at Green's Creative Home Center, the adoptive mothers willingly relayed how-to information to Mrs. Jerome.

"Kathi called me and said, 'If you really want two, I know how to get them,'" Connie Qualman remembers the message from her friend.

"She knew we had been married 12 years and felt the time was running out for us to adopt," she adds.

David and Kathi Jerome who live at 46270 Bloomcrest are parents of a son Jimmy, 5, but wanted a daughter, too. They had been refused by American agencies because they already had a natural child. In the conversation with the other adoptive mothers, Kathi Jerome recalls, they mentioned a family who already had four children was getting a Korean baby.

"I realized that having a child would be no barrier," she remembers.

"We let Jimmy name her, and it was a good idea because he's so pleased," Kathi Jerome says of the little daughter assigned to them April 5. They talked about names before she arrived on June 26 and settled on Leah Kathleen Eun-Mee.

"Eun-Mee was her Korean name," Leah's mother explains. She thinks it has been easier for her as the baby is one of the youngest. At nine months she does not have a new language to learn.

The Qualmans feel it may be a little more difficult to "keep up" with two active little daughters, but Mrs. Qualman is aware they seem to have an added sense of security being together. Holly Kristen was born March 18, 1981, and Heather Kira March 13, 1982, in Korea.

"They have birth records which we have — without the parents' names — so we know they had normal births. We don't have their medical histories, but we feel they were well cared for in their foster home.

She emphasizes that the babies were not "street orphans" as are some babies who have been adopted from Korea. Many of these have arrived in poor health.

"It's been much easier than I expected — I'm really, really, happy." There's no doubt that Connie Qualman's holiday "glow" is due to her two new daughters.

"I expected language not to be a problem as they are at a prime age to learn, but because they are so bright and so fluent in Korean we have a lot to undo," she explains, adding that she feels it is too bad they may lose the Korean. A former elementary and middle school teacher with specialties in language arts and humanities, Mrs. Qualman feels this background as well as her master's in counseling will help with the little girls' education.

The babies all were adopted through a private agency, Bethany International, a subsidiary of Bethany Christian Services operating out of Grand Rapids. The agency, Connie Qualman was told, took up the slack and began aiding with the foreign adoptions when the State of Michigan closed its foreign adoption agency in the fall of 1982.

Bethany International hired some of the state's social workers and has continued the overseas adoption program.

Originally, Mrs. Qualman understands, the agency was begun by two women who did a favor finding an unwed mother a home for her child.

There is a year's follow up before the adoptions are final.

All four Northville families are sharing the same social worker.

Mrs. Qualman says many babies are available in Korea. Because of the great poverty, parents actually are encouraged to give the children up for adoption. With little girls considered most expendable, there are many available for adoption.

That's how four became Christmas blessings for Northville families.

Appropriate gifts for friends and everyone in the family are available in a matter of minutes in the final three shopping days before December 25.

In addition to clothing and gifts offered by local merchants, there are items for sale with proceeds going to good causes.

The Game of Northville, featuring local businesses on a Monopoly-like game board, is marketed by the Northville Branch of the American Association of University Women. It is priced at $10. "It's a great gift for youngsters away at school, for former residents and those moving away," suggests branch president Jay Ward. She adds that she finds it a good item to have on hand when a gift is needed quickly.

Others have recommended it as a way for children to learn their community.

Ward may be contacted at 349-3456 for the game. It also is available at Bookstall on the Main, the Bookstop on Seven Mile, Northville Pharmacy and Good Time Party Store.

Notepaper, a commemorative plate, a folder of sketches and two books about Northville are available from the Northville Historical Society with proceeds currently helping with construction of a blacksmith shop in Mill Race Historical Village.

Corresponding secretary Virginia Hayward reports she has the society's newest offering, "Early Northville," a pictorial history compiled by Laura Hixson, which sells for $5, as well as Jack Hoffman's book, "Northville — the First 100 Years." It is available in paperback for $9 and hard cover for $13. They also are sold at Bookstall on the Main.

A sesquicentennial plate cast to mark the community's 150th year in 1977 still is available from the Northville Historical Society. Hayward reports it is a popular gift for those leaving the area. Priced at $7.50, it depicts the New School Church landmark in the historical village.

Notepaper with a sketch of the village by local artist Caroline Dunphy is sold by the society in packages of three for $1. Hayward adds that a few folders containing sketches of nine local residences in the historic district also are available. They are priced at $7.50 for the set. Hayward may be called about the items at 349-0408.

Northville Postmaster Wallace Cates suggests that last-minute shoppers should consider stamp collecting kits or mint sets, adding that a variety is available at the Northville post office. For last minute mailers he notes that the Northville Post Office offers Express Mail service for guaranteed next day delivery to "practically any location throughout the United States."

A front car plate for the license plate holder with "Northville, Michigan" designation is available for $3 from the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce office at 195 South Main week days between 9 a.m. and 1 p.m.

Executive director Kay Keegan reports she still has a few of the red, white and blue Northville plates. She says the plates are especially popular with residents who travel south each winter.

The chamber still has a supply of the commemorative bricks with a Northville plaque issued for the downtown dedication. Keegan suggests that they make a good doorstep. Two can be used as bookends. The bricks are $5 each.

City opts to maintain current insurance plans

Northville will renew its present insurance policies after all.

Following two hours of deliberation trying to compare present coverage with proposals from a Michigan Municipal League pool insurance group and a self-insurance plan offered by the Risk Management Authority, council voted 4-1 Monday to renew its present coverage through March, 1985, and to hire a consultant to guide it through the maze of options at that time.

That action follows the recommendation of current consultant Wade Waterman, whose own Risk Management Authority was offering the self-insurance option. Waterman's recommendation to renew present coverage was made several weeks ago, prior to more than four hours of council deliberation.

Discussion revolved around efforts to compare the coverages offered with the premium costs required. The pool, self-insurance and commercial programs were all found to contain similar coverage, but with variations that made direct comparison of the costs ranging, depending on options within the three offers, from roughly $28,000 to more than $36,000 virtually impossible.

It was council member Paul Folino who recommended the action eventually taken, including extension of the termination dates on policies from January until March.

"If we can prepare our bids (specifications) by November 1," Folino said, "and get out of this bind of having the policies expire right after the holidays, we should be able to work it out."

He suggested the city hire "another consultant" to guide them as they compare coverages among the options.

"I don't think we're in a position to evaluate these proposals item-by-item," Folino noted. With council's regular consultant also offering a proposal, it was left without guidance for comparisons.

"Wade did an excellent job for us last year," Folino said. "I think we've got pretty good coverage right now, and I'd suggest we waive bids and renew those coverages and allow ourselves more time next year."

When moved, the action authorizing the solicitation of proposals for professional services by a consultant included the requirement that the consultant not bid on the coverage. After the meeting, council members suggested Waterman could either offer his services as consultant again or attempt to bid on the coverage.

Folino also suggested that next year's consultant prepare bid specifications that would ask the competing companies to match the city's present coverage — "our consultant could evaluate the bids and if they didn't provide the coverage we asked for, we'd just throw them out as not meeting specifications."

In that way, he said, the council would be able to "compare apples to apples" when evaluating premium costs.

Council member Carolann Ayers moved to extend the current policies to March 1, 1985. Only member J. Burton DeRusha voted against the action, stating that he believed either the pool or self-insurance plan offered very similar coverage at lower costs.

DeRusha voted with the rest of council on motions to waive bids and to hire a consultant for next year.

Footprints lead police to suspect in burglary

An 18-year-old Northville resident was arrested early Sunday morning in connection with a breaking and entering on Scenic Harbour Drive.

According to Township Police Captain Philip Presnell, the suspect was apprehended on Seven Mile Road near the Plaza Mall by Sergeant John Sherman and officer Clyde Anderson, following a report of a burglary at a Scenic Harbour residence.

Presnell said the incident occurred about 3 a.m. when the homeowners were awakened by the sound of shattering glass. Upon investigating, the complainants discovered that a large rock had been thrown through a rear sliding glass door and a purse was removed from the residence.

During a preliminary examination at the scene, Sergeant Sherman and officer Anderson found fresh footprint impressions in the snow leading from the residence.

Sherman pursued the footwear impressions to an area near Northridge Apartments on Seven Mile, at which time he radioed Anderson.

Patrolling the Seven Mile area, Anderson saw a white, male near the Plaza Mall. Upon stopping the subject, Anderson observed that the footwear impressions were the same as those at the scene of the burglary.

During a protective frisk check, Anderson also discovered a hunting-type knife in the subject's boot.

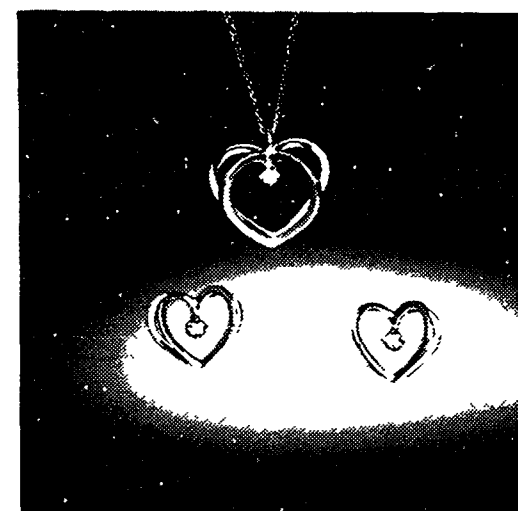

Sherman met up with Anderson shortly after the subject was apprehended.

According to Presnell, the subject confessed to the Scenic Harbour burglary and led the officers to the area where he dropped the stolen purse.

The suspect was arrested and taken to the Northville Township Police Department.

Presnell said that during continued investigation the subject confessed to four other burglaries which occurred that night in the Highland Lakes area as well as numerous other burglaries and larcenies in Northville Commons, Beacon Woods, the City of Novi and City of Novi.

The subject currently is in Wayne County Jail and is to appear for a preliminary examination December 29 on the charge of burglary.

1-800-MI-REDDI

Phone line helps keep drunks off road

How often in past holiday seasons have you seen, or been endangered by, a drunk driver on the roads? How often did you wish there was something you could do about it?

This season, there is, for drivers in Oakland County. The Traffic Improvement Association of Oakland County (TIAOC) operates the year-round REDDI-line. Simply dial 1-800-MI-REDDI to report a drunk driver.

REDDI stands for Report Every Drunk Driver Immediately. REDDI operators answer the call at the Oakland County Sheriff's Department and will dispatch a deputy, state trooper or local officer to investigate reports.

If the officer locates the car described and observes erratic driving behavior, he will stop, observe, test and arrest the driver if warranted. The caller can remain anonymous.

To make a REDDI report as effective as possible, the caller should provide location (the name of the street or highway with approximate cross street) with the direction the car was traveling, the time the caller saw the drunk driver, the type of car, its color and license plate number.

Erratic driving behavior described below can be an indication that the driver is drunk. It may also indicate the driver is ill or otherwise needs help, a call to REDDI can provide that help. Law enforcement officials advise to watch for:

- Failure to turn on headlights at night or failure to dim bright headlights for oncoming traffic;
- Driving very slowly with an intent, straight-ahead stare;
- A tendency to stop short of an intersection or to stop in the middle of it;
- Frequent and erratic braking;
- Weaving from lane to lane or straddling the center line;
- Driving with an open window in cold or wet weather.

Any of these may be the behavior of a drunk driver; statistics show such drivers are at least 20 times more likely than sober drivers are to have an accident.

REDDI-organizers advise that those observing a vehicle operated in such a manner do not attempt to stop the vehicle, do not exceed speed limits or disregard traffic signals while attempting to follow the car, and do not attempt to assist law enforcement officers who stop the car.

According to the TIAOC, REDDI programs in other parts of the country show that one of eight reports results in apprehension and charging a drunk driver.

Drivers with CB radios are advised to use Channel 9 to contact a monitor, such as REACT, then ask the monitor to telephone the REDDI number and relay the information. Remain in contact with the monitor handling your call.

Night supervision set for recreation building

Evening programs offered by the Northville Community Recreation Department will get a nighttime supervisor for a change, according to a budget amendment adopted last week by the Recreation Commission.

Instructors or participants for night classes at the center presently have to get police to open up the building, but under the new plan, the building is to be supervised at all times a program is going on there.

"We may be able to do it with our present staff," said Director Jef Farland, who recommended the change. "We should know next week whether we'll hire someone part-time or not."

The budget was approved by a unanimous vote of recreation commissioners at their regular meeting last week. Estimates are the additional work time will cost the department $1,500 — but that cost will be absorbed by program revenues, Farland said.

Three injured in Seven Mile accident

In the Township...

A Florida woman is in guarded condition at St. Mary Hospital following a head-on collision early Sunday morning on Seven Mile near Ridge Road, township police report.

According to police, a pick-up truck driven by Patrick Joseph Walsh, 24, of Redford Township crossed the center line on Seven Mile hitting a station wagon driven by Sarah Jane Carrier, 26, of Daytona Beach, Florida. The incident occurred at 12:35 a.m. December 18.

Community EMS was called to the scene and transported Walsh to Botstford General, where he is in stable condition. Carrier and her passenger Gilbert Adrian Martin, also of Daytona, were transported to St. Mary Hospital. Township Police Chief Ken Hardesty said the incident is under investigation.

Unknown suspects caused an estimated $3,000 damage to a swimming pool at a Ludlow Court residence sometime between 3 p.m. December 1 and 1 a.m. December 10, township police report.

The complainant told police that unknown suspects cut the liner of the above-ground pool, causing water to escape. As a result of the incident, the remainder of the liner was extensively damaged as well as a portion of the metal pool sidewall.

The complainant told police he has no suspects and did not see or hear anything during the time the incident occurred.

Items estimated at $1,900 were stolen from a Steepleview residence sometime between 9:15 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. December 16, police report.

The complainant told police that unknown subjects entered the home by breaking the lock of a doorwall at the rear of the residence.

The complainant stated he found the rear door open when he returned home. The door leading from the interior of the home into the garage also was open and various rooms were found ransacked.

The officer at the scene observed two sets of footprints leading from the complainant's yard to a neighbor's yard on the south side. The officer followed the prints until they ended near a stream that runs behind the complainant's home.

The officer retraced the tracks leading to the complainant's home, losing them about five houses away by the woods near Phoenix Lake.

Items reported missing include a 35 mm Nikon camera valued at $260, a $207 Nikon zoom lens, a $440 Nikon micro lens, a $207 Nikon wide angle lens, a Nikon flash attachment valued at $50, four assorted Nikon lens filters valued at $80, a $50 camera case and a camera bag worth $90.

Other items reported stolen include a $90 telephone answering machine, a $40 digital alarm clock, a cassette recorder valued at $150 and a $250 men's gold watch.

The stolen camera equipment was entered into the Law Enforcement Information Network.

A notice also was put out to area departments to look for a gray Ford van seen in the area December 16.

Unknown subjects burglarized a Greenridge residence sometime between 4:30 p.m. December 12 and 9 p.m. December 14, according to township police.

Police were called to the residence after receiving an open building complaint. Upon arriving at the scene, officers contacted the property owner who advised that her spouse had been out of town since December 7 and that she had been out of town from December 12-14.

She told police that upon returning home she discovered the patio doorwall open.

Police observed that the doorwall had been used as an exit by the perpetrators and that entry into the home was gained through a first floor dining room window located on the south side of the residence.

The window, latched from the inside, was opened with a pry bar-type tool or screwdriver which caused an estimated $100 damage to the glass, window frame and latch assembly.

Police estimate that the incident took place on December 12 or 13 as the house was very cold inside.

During a further investigation of the home, police found that the suspects had opened drawers and closets throughout the residence but only had ransacked the second floor master bedroom.

According to the report, the master bedroom had clothes from dresser drawers thrown onto the floor. The mattress also had been moved to allow the suspects to check for hidden articles between the mattress and box springs.

Items reported stolen from the bedroom included gold bracelets, gold necklaces and a gold opal ring taken from a jewelry box on top of a dresser. An unknown amount of U.S. coins and foreign currency also was missing.

A list of missing items and their value is to be reported to township police by the complainant.

Unknown subjects caused an estimated $400 damage to a Winchester residence around 5 a.m. December 1, police report.

The complainant told police that after being awakened by a crashing sound outside the front of his home, he observed a vehicle driving off his yard and mailbox.

The owner stated the vehicle was south bound on Winchester.

Damage to 13 yards of the complainant's front lawn is estimated at $250 and the mailbox is estimated at $150.

... In the City ...

City police cracked down on drunk drivers last week, arresting 10 people on either or both counts of operating under the influence of liquor and/or having a blood-alcohol content of .10 percent or more while driving.

All the arrests took place between 2 a.m. Wednesday, December 14, and 3:50 a.m. Sunday, December 18.

"It wasn't part of the Alcohol Enforcement Team activity," said City Police Chief Rodney Cannon. "We just stopped a lot of drivers those nights."

In all of the cases, erratic driving led police to halt the cars. Offenses included speeding, weaving across the median, and illegal turns.

What put the police in such a touchy mood, besides their concentrating on keeping streets safe during the holiday season? It might have been the theft of a six-foot green imitation Christmas tree from the trunk of a car parked in the police station parking lot between 2:45 and 3:15 a.m., Tuesday, December 13. The tree was valued at $50.

There were several instances of cars being damaged by vandalism while parked in the city limits. Two juveniles are being investigated for one of the incidents, in which $150 worth of damage was inflicted on a 1982 Mercury parked on Roycroft between 11 p.m. Thursday and 12:30 a.m. Friday. According to a city police report, the driver's side of the windshield was smashed and the trunk lid stained with raw egg.

Two cars parked at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, 201 Elm were vandalized between 7:15 and 8 p.m., Tuesday, December 13. According to reports, a knife was probably used to cut the right side tires of a red 1979 Ford LTD and the right front tire of a grey 1983 Buick LeSabre. Damage was estimated at $160 in the former and $80 in the latter.

The following Saturday, Christmas lights and wires were pulled off of shrubs and the doorway of St. Paul's, reportedly between 7:30 and 9:30 p.m. Many of the lights were broken and the wires had been cut.

The rear hatchback window of a brown 1982 Ford Mustang was discovered to have been smashed in between 10:25 p.m. Sunday and 7:10 a.m. Monday while parked on Allen Drive.

A particularly dangerous act of vandalism took place at 2:40 p.m. Saturday afternoon, police state. The driver of a tan Volkswagen heading west on Eight Mile reported to city police that two juveniles — estimated age 12-14 — pelted his car with ice-hard snowballs, causing $200 damage to the grill.

Four spoke wheel covers were stolen from a white 1978 Chevrolet parked in the Northville Downs parking lot between 7 and 11 p.m. Saturday. The wheel covers were together valued at $344.

The same parking lot was the site of another theft the previous Tuesday. The right tail light and the exhaust pipe were stolen from a 1976 Chrysler parked in the lot between 9:30 and 11 p.m.

... From State Police

Two Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital patients were found in possession of suspected illegal drugs December 14, state police reports indicate.

According to one report, a hospital employee told police he was preparing to give a patient an injection about 3 p.m. As the patient dropped his pants to receive the injection, a piece of white paper, folded to form an envelope, fell out of his right front pocket.

The employee told police he picked up the envelope and found it to contain a white powdery substance. The words "Raw Dog" were written on the paper.

The patient told hospital security officers the envelope was not his and that he did not know who it belonged to, but after security officers took the envelope the suspect went almost immediately to speak with another patient.

Hospital employees, the police report states, knew the second patient as one who had possessed illegal substances in the past. A doctor ordered a strip-search of this second patient in order to prevent possible harm to the patient from illegal drugs.

Security officers found two clear plastic bags of a substance suspected to be marijuana.

Two Northville residents were among the 445 Northern Michigan University students receiving degrees at mid-year commencement exercises December 17.

Students receiving degrees were ANNE KIRKPATRICK, 45260 Byrne Drive, BS management and SALLY NAIR, 19579 Mariner Court, BFA environmental design.

Two Northville residents were among the 754 Michigan Technological University students named to the dean's list for the fall quarter.

Students earning dean's list honors were ANN DREW, junior in geological engineering and NANCY SCHLACHTER, senior in forestry.

To be named to the dean's list, students must earn a grade point average of 3.5 or higher.

Nine Northville residents were among the 2,000 University of Michigan students earning degrees at commencement ceremonies December 18.

Students earning degrees were GERARD M. LILLIE, 523 West Main, bachelor of science; PAUL W. CHAMBERLAIN, 44605 North Hills, master of arts; ROBERT C. DANIELS, 41615 Sutters Lane, bachelor of science in engineering science; WENDY KING, 21154 East Glen Haven, master of social work; PHILIP MAISE, 49540 West Seven Mile, bachelor of science in engineering; T. engineering and RICHARD TOMALTY, 21638 Bedford, doctor of philosophy.

A scholarship for study of physical therapy at Oakland University has been awarded to JOSEPH MILLEN of 21715 Rathlone, by the Kenny Michigan Rehabilitation Foundation.

Millen, a junior, was selected on the basis of his high academic standing and his need for assistance to complete his studies.

He will receive $855 for study in 1983-84.

The Kenny Michigan Rehabilitation Foundation, a Torch Drive and United Way agency, provides scholarships at six universities to help alleviate Michigan's shortage of health professionals with skills in the field of rehabilitation.

Northville residents RONALD DOUGLAS GREER and STACEY HARRINGTON have been named to the dean's list for fall term at Northwood Institute.

To achieve dean's list recognition, students must earn a 3.0 grade point average on a 4.0 scale.

Northville resident JOSEPH P. MARTIN, son of Eunice L. Martin, has been serving on the staff of Morehead State University's student newspaper, "The Trail Blazer."

Martin, a senior communications and radio-television major, is a member of the MSU cross country team and Delta Tau Delta fraternity.

"The Trail Blazer" is published each Wednesday during the semester.

Phyllis Santo takes helm as Epilepsy Center director

Northville resident Phyllis B. Santo, ACSW, is the new executive director of the Epilepsy Center of Michigan (ECM). She was appointed by Howard B. Aaron, Ph.D., president of the specialized statewide facility.

Ms. Santo was executive director of the Northwestern Guidance Clinic of Wayne County from 1974 until earlier this year. She received her Master of Social Work degree from Wayne State University.

ECM, a United Way agency, treats both children and adults, conducts research and is an information resource about all aspects of epilepsy. It is located in Detroit's Medical Center and provides health care and information services to patients who live throughout Michigan.

Founded 35 years ago, ECM now is one of the largest, if not the largest, of the state agencies in the United States concerned exclusively with epileptic seizures and their consequences.

Experts estimate that one out of very 100 persons has epilepsy, an episodic, neurological disorder characterized by seizures. Of the estimated 90,000 persons living with epilepsy in Michigan, it is thought that at least 18,000 of them have significant difficulties due to the persistence, frequency or severity of their seizures.

Of the thousands of individuals whose seizures are not yet adequately controlled, Santo states in the current issue of the Center's quarterly newsletter, "From my long experience as a mental health professional, I have learned that people do not usually die from epilepsy. Instead, often too painfully, they and those close to them live each day with its anguish and also with its expensive medical necessities."

Proposed block grant uses include library, recreation

Proposed uses for nearly $80,000 in federal block grant funds to the city include debt retirement on the library addition to city hall, implementation of barrier-free design and lavatory renovation at the community center, a circle drive and landscape renovation at the community center and renovation of Ford Field.

The uses will be considered in public hearing January 9.

Block grants administered by Wayne County will total roughly $71,000 in 1984-5, city manager Steven Walters told council, down from $80,000 in prior years. He recommended the entire amount be allocated to library debt retirement.

Some $7,500 administered by Oakland County can be routed to the community center or Ford Field projects, Walters said. The city may, he suggested, reallocate $10,000 of the current year's grant intended for Ford Field to do the barrier-free project instead, and have the Ford Field project funded by next year's money.

Walters also noted that the requirement for debt retirement at the library is only a little over $45,000 but with the grant program seemingly in a declining phase, he recommended the city appropriate its full Wayne share to that purpose.

"That way, we can plan on carrying what's left into the next year in case there's a drastic cut coming," he said.

"If there isn't a big cut, we can reallocate it to something else."

Chamber sets 1984 goals

First activity of 1984 for the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce will be a breakfast meeting at 8 a.m. Wednesday, January 18, at First Presbyterian Church.

There will be a discussion of what the AT & T breakup will mean to members by a telephone company representative and by a broker, reports President Sherry Spaman.

The continental breakfast session at 8:30 is planned as the first of regular monthly sessions.

"Each month we hope to have something different. Our goal is to utilize the facilities in Northville as much as possible. We hope to encourage greater participation in the chamber, and the chamber is making every effort to create an atmosphere in which the business and community at large become better acquainted with each other," Spaman explains.

A goal of the directors for the coming year, she adds, is to encourage greater participation in the chamber meetings.

For February, an evening social event tentatively is planned.

The chamber is ending the year with a total of 133 members. Another goal, says executive director Kay Keegan, will be to expand the membership.

Serving with Spaman are Terry Fraser, vice president; Midge Haynie, secretary; and Janis Stevenson, treasurer. Directors are Betty Allen, Clancy Ely, Paul Folino, Dewey Gardner, Ed Jamieson, David Jerome and Scott Lapham.

Junior baseball directors extend thanks to supporters

To the Editor:
Christmas is a time to reflect back over the year and to remember the pleasant memories and experiences we have encountered.

It is also a time of year at which we count our blessings for having talented and dedicated people working with and helping the youth of our community. On behalf of the Northville Junior Baseball Board of Directors, we take this opportunity to wish all of the managers, coaches and volunteers and their families a very Merry Christmas and a Happy and Prosperous New Year.

We on the board realize the sacrifices that must be made in order to have a youth baseball program that is recognized as one of the finest in the area and without the profound dedication of our managers, coaches, volunteers and their families, this would not be possible.

We thank you for your continued generous support in the past and look forward to the same support in the future.

Chamber recognizes building donors

To the Editor:
We, the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce, hope that the general public is noticing that the chamber office is shaping up recently.

Ron Baggett brought us some black dirt for top soil, and the Ferdt Transit Mix donated the concrete for the sidewalk that Robert and Richard Lamp put in. Also, Mike Allen put the sign together, and he and Clancy Ely erected it.

The Board of Directors and myself are very appreciative and grateful for all of the above deeds that these people donated their valuable time and energies to.

Law proposes no tax on telephone

By GERALD H. LAW
State Representative
36th District

Legislation that would repeal the sales tax on residential phone use in Michigan has been introduced in the state house.

Under House Bill 5168, the cost of telephone use in the state would be reduced by eliminating the sales tax which cost residents about $29 million last year, or approximately $12 a customer.

In today's society the phone is no longer a luxury, but every citizen's right. Unless this legislation is enacted, senior citizens and others on low or fixed incomes may lose their access to this essential service.

Studies show that an increase in the cost of phone service could result in a 23

Resident praises township police

Editor's Note: This letter was sent to Northville Township Police Chief Kenneth Hardesty with copies to The Record, Township Supervisor John E. MacDonald, Northville State Police Post and Sheriff Robert Ficano.

Dear Chief Hardesty:
The purpose of this letter is primarily to thank you for administering a very professionally responsive department for our township. A secondary purpose is to provide a concerned citizen's view of increasing traffic complexities and hazards at Six Mile Road and Winchester intersection's general area where we are without services of electronic traffic control signals.

Recent incidents to which your officers courteously responded to calls from citizens in our Northville Commons have been reassuring that your people indeed care about the welfare and safety of citizens. On this date (December 13) at 5:30 a.m. following my report of a very careless and high speeding motorist having crushed my mail box and pulverized 45 square feet of my very nice lawn surface, your two officers promptly responded to my call. They patiently perused the damages and proceeded to follow leads toward tracking down the irresponsible hit and run motorist who left his muddy tracks on southbound Winchester.

Such response was also experienced recently when our citizen's watch effort needed back-up assistance to disperse gatherings at our shelter area where abusive/costly vandalism by similar groups has plagued us.

My family and I truly appreciate this quality of policy work, especially since we live at the growingly perilous Six Mile / Winchester intersection where entry and exit speeding has worsened by alarming degrees during the past few years. Among accidents occurring at this intersection are:

- Hit and run mail box and yard destruction today at 4:55 a.m. at my residence address of 17023 Winchester Drive (Note a 1½ — four foot boulder will be placed adjacent to the replaced mail box.)
- Hit and run mail box destruction at the same address on or about July 1, 1983, at approximately 2:30 a.m.

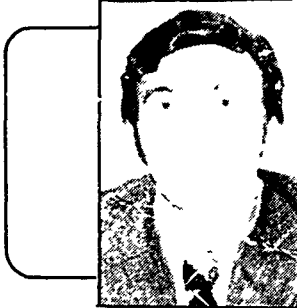

- Very serious accident in early summer 1983 at approximately 2:30 a.m. involving a motorcyclist southbound on Winchester ramming the side of an eastbound vehicle dead in the center of treacherous intersection (this cyclist was critically injured and would have been crushed by very fast Six Mile traffic if I had not luckily been at the scene within 30 seconds to re-channel traffic until your officers very promptly responded.)

- Rear-end accident in late summer 1983 where a motorist rammed another who was trying to turn left off Six Mile into Lakes of Northville. Result was two pitifully mangled vehicles, including a severed bumper from the turning vehicle. No call was made to police but your passing officers did make inquiry to the youth who still was struggling to load his severed bumper near the bank parking lot.

- During late summer 1983, at approximately 1 p.m., a new vehicle was rear-ended as it slowed behind westbound vehicles turning left into Winchester. The driver at fault who rammed the new vehicle was holding a small child and had made no allowance to slow for turning traffic. Again your officers arrived at the scene very promptly.

- Countless accidents of screaming brakes of vehicles who must slow for the increased turning, stopping traffic of the Commons, the Lakes of Northville, the bank and township hall. Numerous situations where vehicle entering Winchester from Six Mile have swung terrifically fast and wide so as to cause threats to lives and property at locations along the first 200 yards of Winchester. Very high incidents of

News from Lansing

By R. ROBERT GEAKE
State Senator

There's good news for Michigan's oldest and youngest drivers.

Elderly motorists will soon find it easier to renew their driver's licenses under a two-part bill signed by Governor James Blanchard. The state Legislature has lifted the maximum age limit for drivers to obtain their licenses by mail and has lowered from 18 to 16 the minimum age to acquire a chauffeur's license.

Since early last year, an amendment to the Michigan Vehicle Code has permitted qualified drivers under age 71 to renew their licenses without first being tested at a Secretary of State office. Effective January 1, the same convenience will be afforded older drivers.

License renewal by mail is now available to all motorists with driving records unblemished by accidents and infractions during the preceding four years. Patterned after a California statute, the cost-saving measure was enacted in 1982 at the request of Michigan Secretary of State Richard Austin.

Under the provision, eligible drivers are sent a notice and application form about 45-55 days before their current license expires. Those who choose to renew by mail must certify they are physically capable of safely operating a motor vehicle. A driver may use the option only once every eight years.

Removal of the age restriction is a substantial improvement to the previous policy, which unfairly treated seniors who met all of the other renewal by mail requirements. It duly recognizes our most experienced motorists.

Officials in the Secretary of State's office do not foresee a significant rise in the number of elderly drivers renewing by mail. The new rule means about 60 percent of Michigan's drivers will be eligible as compared to 56 percent currently. But many of the seniors may opt for a new picture, requiring them to take the 10-question written exam and have their eyes checked.

While the new law clearly benefits senior citizens, it also expands job opportunities for younger drivers.

Before the recent changes, the Vehicle Code prohibited the Secretary of State from issuing a chauffeur's license to anyone 17 years old or younger. This prevented 16 and 17-year-olds from taking advantage of part-time and summer employment opportunities requiring them to drive a truck or van. By lowering the minimum age requirement two years, many more teenagers will gain valuable work experience necessary for future job success.

It is hard telling what impact these changes will have on highway safety. The Secretary of State will monitor the results and submit a full report to the Legislature in two years.

Mustang mat squad prevails in thriller

By B.J. MARTIN

Quick — name Northville's only undefeated varsity team.

Would you believe the wrestlers? That bunch who managed only one dual meet victory in its whole 1982-1983 season?

Yup. They're 5-0, 3-0 in the WLAA after last Thursday's 33-30 come-from-behind win over Livonia Churchill that seemed as implausible as the worst sports movie plot.

'(The fans) were going wild...I didn't think it would be that close.'

— Gary Emerson
Wrestling Coach

Top this: Churchill scores 27 points before Northville manages a point, as the five lightest Mustangs all lose, four on pins. Finally John Letarte (now 2-0) gets Northville on the scoreboard by turning his man every way but loose at 132 pounds, earning five points for his lopsided 17-1 decision.

The Mustangs smell a rally as Mike Davis (9-4) pins his man at 1:44. But the crowd of Mustang supporters is hushed as 145-pounder Mike Leavitt takes the short end of a wild 13-7 decision. The situation looks bleak with the score 30-11 Churchill, with five matches to go.

That's when the Mustang power brokers moved in. At 155 pounds, Jay Anderson (7-6) gets things rolling with a 13-0 decision for five points. Ernie Bock (12-2) grinds out a 4-0 decision at 165 pounds. Joel Vogt (8-5) adds three to Northville's total with a 10-4 decision over Churchill's best wrestler, Dave Scott, at 185 pounds.

Just like that, the score is 30-21 Churchill. The Chargers are void at heavyweight, so Brian Burgett (11-2) will be an automatic six points for the Mustangs.

The last match of the meet falls to junior Dino Candella (5-5) at 198 pounds. A decision ties the score, a pin wins it. By now the partisan Northville crowd is rocking. "They were going wild by that time," chuckled Mustang mat coach Gary Emerson.

Candella is in control all the way and pins at 1:23. Northville wins.

"I didn't think it would be that close," Emerson said, "but they took it right to us in the lighter weights. I think our guys were a little high from last week's tournament."

JV competitors are also 5-0, 3-0 in league duals, as Pat Storm, John Lazar, Dennis Nadeau, Ken Kehoe, John Letarte, Jason Lazar and Steve Smith all won on pins. The only points Northville gave away came from an 11-10 decision lost by Edgar Sapula in his first wrestling match ever.

On Saturday, the team traveled to Howell for the 16-team Howell Invitational, one of the state's most prestigious wrestling tournaments.

New Lothrop was an easy winner, with Battle Creek second and Penton third. The Mustangs finished well back in the pack, as the team's balance worked against itself — most Mustang wrestlers were seeded around seventh and did about as well as expected — but only the top six places scored.

"It was like going to districts," Emerson said. "They seeded as far as 10 kids down and the competition — well, Jim Assemany was 7-2 going in and was only the seventh seed. General-

Home team Board goes to bat for kids

By B.J. MARTIN

Northville has been selected for the second straight year as the host community for the Mickey Mantle World Series, to be played in August, 1984.

That's the word from the Northville Junior Baseball Board of Directors, which is presently tackling a lengthy agenda of projects for the upcoming season.

"We want to build the prestige of the organization, make it a lot more professional," Board President Ed Harp said last week. "We've got a great wealth of resources with the people in the community, and we're going to try to establish pride in the Junior Baseball program."

Among the most significant structural changes under way is the delegation of responsibility for league administration. In the past, tasks from financial accounting to scheduling often fell to one person — the league president. This year, the NJB Board has appointed nine committees — Equipment, Finance, Fund Raising, Organization, Public Relations, Recreation, Registration, Training and Travel Baseball.

The names of the committees are to a large extent self-explanatory, but each committee has been assigned projects and improvements for the upcoming season — and some prove to be very interesting.

The Equipment Committee will seek to provide uniforms for managers and coaches on a shared-cost basis, and establish a lost-and-found center.

The Finance Committee has already arranged to transfer financial accounting to the Recreation Department. According to Harp, this will result in a smoother accounting system with better documentation of fee payments. "It's a big relief getting the rec department to do it," Harp noted.

Off-target free throws doom Mustang cagers

Losses to two undefeated Western Lakes Activities Association rivals — Plymouth Canton and Livonia Stevenson — snapped the Northville varsity basketball team's three-game win streak, leaving the Mustangs with a 3-2 season mark.

In Tuesday's 57-52 loss to Canton, the Chiefs overcame a 10-point second-quarter Mustang lead bolstered by a 22-4 run during the first two quarters. But when Northville Coach Tim Lutes gave his starters a break late in the half, the usually dependable Mustang bench fell flat — Canton pulled within one by the first-half buzzer.

"After that we were in kind of a struggle," Lutes said. "They had four kids who were good ballhandlers, and we had to come out on them, we were forced into their game. We'd get a run and then make a turnover."

The Chiefs and Mustangs traded leads for the better part of the final two quarters, but Northville was forced into a fouling situation late in the game. Canton shooters sunk six of eight free throws in the final two minutes to seal their victory. Northville had only six foul shots in the whole game, sinking just two.

Both squads had three players in double figures — for Northville, Scott Gala and Steve Schrader each had 12 points, Bob Pegrum scored 10 and Steve Frellick eight. Canton was led by Gary Thomas with 18 points, including eight-for-eight at the line, Mike Jennings with 15 and Mark Bennett with 13.

Although the Mustangs held a rebounding edge — 33-26 — Lutes didn't think his team dominated the boards as it should have. "They were giving away about four inches at center and three at forward. I felt we should have controlled the rebounds a lot better," he said.

Northville's man-to-man defense was also troublesome. The Chiefs spread out their offense effectively and forced power forward Mike Weber and Schrader to come out on defense, where Canton shooters were sinking 18 and 20-footers.

"We just weren't playing alertly and intensely enough," Lutes said. "We made a lot of defensive mental errors, and they cost us."

NORTHVILLE 47
LIVONIA STEVENSON 55

The Mustangs looked much improved against Stevenson, but the 5-0 Spartans matched up well. Northville held a 30-29 halftime lead, in fact — but Stevenson grabbed the lead to stay with an 18-10 scoring advantage in the third quarter.

"We weren't passing well (in the third quarter)," Lutes explained. "We were pressing too much, trying to get it all back at once. It was a matter of not executing what we'd talked about at halftime. We weren't working the ball inside to our big men and taking advantage of their foul trouble."

Forced to foul for possession, Northville watched the Spartans put on a free throw shooting clinic — the Spartans sunk 11 of 14 freebies in the fourth quarter.

Northville's free throw shooting was horrendous for the third straight game — against Stevenson, the Mustangs hit only 11 of 23.

"I thought we might have had that problem licked this year," Lutes said. "If we had hit only half the ones we missed, we would have had the ball, and they'd have had to come after us."

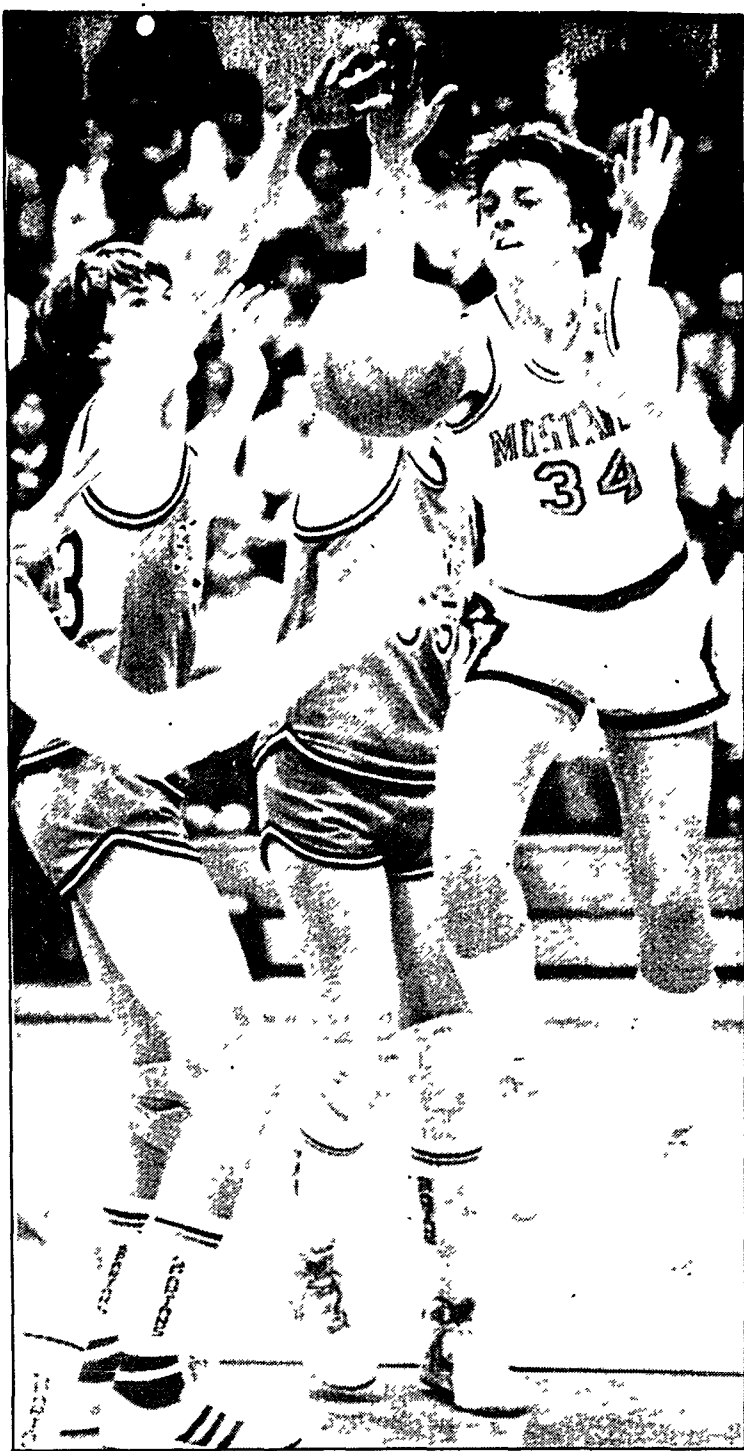

Gala and Schrader hit for 14 each. "Scott's been our most consistent player," Lutes declared. "He and Mike Weber are scoring well for us, but we've got to get some other people to put the ball in the hole."

Weber is the Mustang's leading scorer with 11.0 points per game. Gala is averaging 9.8.

Backup center John Storm played excellent ball while filling in for Schrader, Lutes said. Storm had four points and six rebounds. Dan Perpich and Nielsen demonstrated some effective offense, scoring four each.

Tom Domako and Bob Sluka led the Spartans with 17 and 14 points, respectively.

On tap next month (and next year) are games against undefeated division rivals Livonia Churchill and resurgent Walled Lake Western. After the holiday break, the Mustangs return to host the Warriors Friday, January 5.

NJLB board has lofty goals

The Fund Raising Committee hopes to have pennants and souvenirs prepared to stimulate interest and support for Northville Junior Baseball.

The Organization Committee plans to rename the E, F and G leagues, handle field assignments and recruit coaches and managers.

The opening up of a special office at the Community Recreation building is expected to help considerably. There, records and files of information on the league will be kept.

The Public Relations Committee will work on achieving greater exposure and publicity for the program, design a NJLB logo, and is expected to begin work on a trophy case to be located in the Recreation Building. The committee will also establish ways to recognize volunteer efforts, and hopes to come up with a monthly NJLB newsletter.

The Recreation Committee, headed by Recreation Department Director Jeff Farland, will be responsible for improving field maintenance and facilities at the baseball fields.

The Training Committee will work on organizing Coaches' Clinics to instruct managers and coaches in the game, as well as develop ways to get people knowledgeable about baseball interested in the NJLB.

"We're not going to be able to do everything in a year," Harp said. "Obviously, some of these projects have a higher priority than others."

Parson to Person...
JOY TO THE WORLD
Dr. James Luther

Isaac Watts was born in England on July 17, 1674. His father was a godly pastor who was persecuted by the Anglican church for his faith. His mother used to hold him up so his father could see him through the bars on his prison window.

As a young man he also became a pastor. Once when criticizing a hymn, he was challenged to make one that was better. Thus, at age 18 he wrote the first of hundreds of hymns. He was truly the father of hymnody, writing such hymns as "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross" and "Jesus Shall Reign."

Watts wrote one of our favorite Christmas hymns:
Joy to the world, the Lord is come!
Let earth receive her King
Let every heart prepare Him room
And heaven and nature sing.

How wonderful to enjoy our rich spiritual heritage by singing Christmas hymns. Why not join us for our Christmas Eve candle light hymn sing at 7:30. How beautiful to see hundreds of candles! How lovely to hear hundreds of voices. Do you have room for Christ on Christmas Eve? Don't miss this blessing! Bring the entire family. Create a wonderful memory.

Swimmers take fourth at WLAA relays

By B.J. MARTIN

For a team whose main weakness was supposed to be its depth, the Northville varsity swimmers put on quite a show at the Western Lakes Activities Association Relays Saturday.

The Mustang tankers finished fourth in the field of 10 WLAA teams, despite their not entering the 400 medley relay and the 200 breast stroke relay.

"That hurt us, not having anybody in those events," Pete Talbot admitted. "We might not have scored in the breast stroke relay, but I think we would have in the 400 medley."

Tournament hosts Plymouth Salem came out on top with 86 points, Livonia Stevenson was next with 74, Livonia Churchill third with 59 and Northville scored 55 points — better than even coach Talbot had expected.

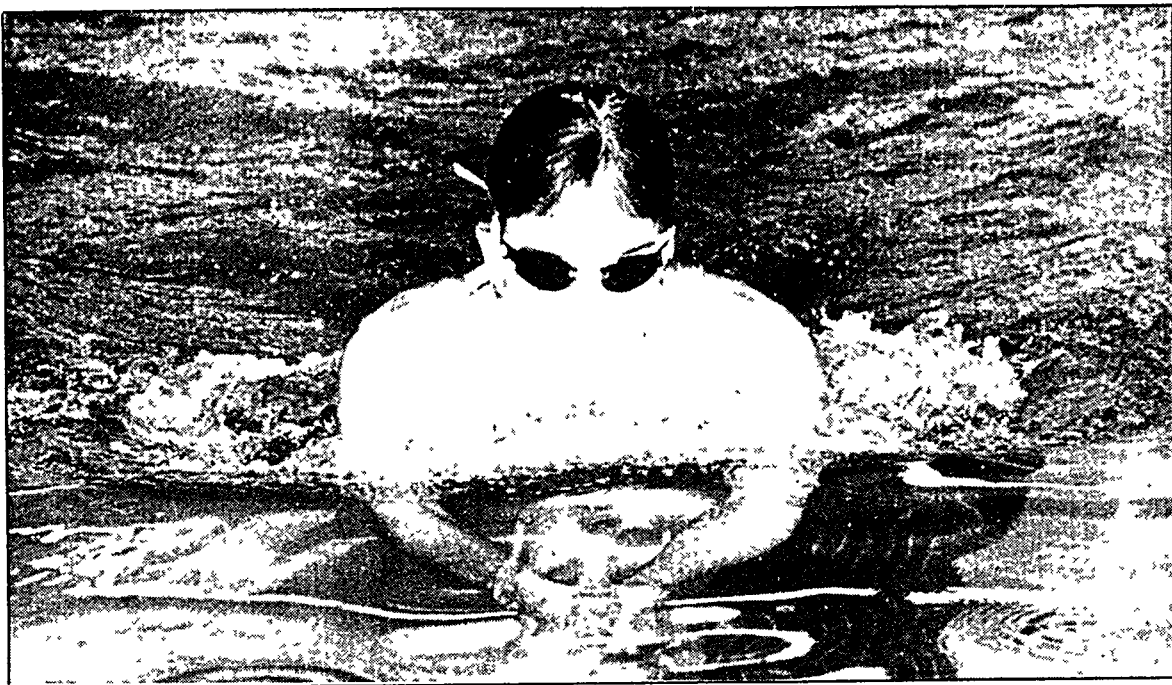

"Everybody did better than I'd hoped," Talbot said. "It was extremely exciting. I'd figured we'd swim well. It's kind of difficult to swim faster in the afternoon if you've swam in the morning, but we actually improved our morning times in four of the seven events."

Mustang tankers lodged only one first — in the 200 yard backstroke relay. Jeff Bainbridge, Doug Buell, Darius Mikalonis and Vince Shimp nosed out Plymouth Salem's foursome for first in 1:51.90.

Jeff Metz and Jeff Palowski teamed for second place in diving, finishing behind Churchill — but Talbot is convinced the Mustang divers can do better. The Mustangs also picked up second place in the 400 yard individual medley. The team of Buell, John Gass, Bainbridge and Mikalonis swam a 4:07.29, about 3.5 seconds off the pace of Churchill.

Anchoring the 400 I.M., Buell turned in a superb effort, clocking a 59.7 split and surging from half a body length behind the then-third-place swimmer to almost three seconds ahead.

The team of Shimp, Ron Johnson, Tom Valade and Adam Swallow registered a surprisingly good finish in the 50-100-150-200 crescendo relay, taking an easy second in 4:47.98.

The Mustangs placed third in the 200 medley relay with the extremely young trio of freshmen Randy Holloway and Chris Sellen, sophomore Dave Wayne, plus senior Swallow. The four clocked a 2:00.63, with Wayne and Swallow checking in with 27.9 and 26.0 splits.

ly, the first two seeds had to be undefeated, then state qualifiers got the next few places."

Davis took fifth by beating Hartland's Rich Tefler, the tournament's fourth seed, after Davis lost to the number one seed in the second round. Bock also took fifth, stopped by a 3-0 loss to the tourney's fourth seed.

Burgett finished fifth after making a mistake against Ken Schroyer of Howell, the second seed.

"Brian took him down, but the guy rolled over and got him on a pin,"

Emerson said. "Brian's just a second-year wrestler, he'll make a couple mistakes — he's not used to going against guys who go about 250 pounds — we don't have anybody nearly his size to wrestle in practice."

Finding wrestling partners in practice is a key concern of Emerson, who is trying to build a deep roster for the future. "We're trying to do all we can to encourage ninth graders to come up and try out and get some experience," he said.

The Mustang matmen resume interscholastic competition Thursday, January 5, at 0-4 Livonia Bentley.

OLV cagers split series

The distinct height advantage of the Redford St. Mary's Rustics proved too much for the Our Lady of Victory Cougars, as the Rustics took three out of four games at their own gym Saturday.

The Cougars' fifth and sixth grade girls took the only victory with a total team effort to prevail 13-12. The fifth and sixth grade boys were defeated 40-27 despite the offensive and defensive efforts of Paul Grant and Joe Charnley.

Seventh and eighth grade boys and girls teams also fell. CYO league play resumes Saturday, January 7, when the Cougars will play at St. Scholastica at 10 a.m.

Retailers making most of renovated downtown area

By KEVIN WILSON

First of a two-part article

Once you have a completed downtown development project, what do you do with it?

That's a question the Northville business community is beginning to find answers to — answers that may soon be of interest to those in Wixom, Walled Lake, Milford, Howell and dozens of other small towns throughout the state.

All of these communities have formed, or have begun planning, downtown development districts as authorized by state law. Using tax-free municipal bonds to finance the project, communities plan, design and implement improvements.

The popularity of the districts can be attributed to one major innovative stroke — tax increment financing. The development bonds are repaid from the property tax revenue generated in succeeding years from increased valuations on downtown properties.

Theoretically, the enhanced environment will attract new investment and inspire improvements to older properties so that the project not only pays for itself, but adds a bit more to the tax coffers besides.

Since Northville's Mainstreet 78 project was dedicated in May, 1982, it has become evident the theory will ultimately prove true. But it wasn't only the revised street design, brick crosswalks, ornamental street lighting, plantings, town square park and town clock that made the project into an example other nearby cities yearn to emulate.

A key element in Northville's success was an active business community that goes out and uses the facilities built by the city.

"We do feel the downtown business climate has improved dramatically," said John Beuter, vice president of the Northville Retail Merchants Association, echoing the opinion of most retailers throughout the affected area.

"It's a more comfortable place to shop and we've drawn a lot of favorable publicity."

PM Magazine has three times used Northville street scenes for backdrops, the metropolitan daily papers have published feature stories and photos of the new downtown, advertising agencies have employed various portions of the city in print and television ads and a student filmmaker shot a short feature there.

"We used to be somewhat off-the-beaten-path," Beuter said. "But now, people know where we are and what we have to offer. We all can attribute a lot of the influx of people to the restaurants we have here. I'd include in that Genitti's, MacKinnon's and Elizabeth's. They all have their own regional recognition."

Kay Keegan of the chamber of commerce noted that Thursdays (when the chamber operates a farmer's market downtown) are particularly active today, with many women's groups scheduling lunches at the restaurants followed by shopping.

Without the downtown improvements, at least one of those restaurants might have located in another community, while visitors to the others probably would not have been enticed to shop in Northville had it not looked so attractive, most merchants agree.

In addition to a community-wide chamber of commerce, there is the Retail Merchants Association, which has taken charge of coordinating a series of events in the renovated city center to bring people into Northville.

Three long-standing annual downtown events, all conducted with streets closed to traffic, set the tone — a summer sidewalk sale, a chamber-sponsored garage sale each spring (at which residents are invited to rent space on the street) and the Christmas Walk the Sunday preceding Thanksgiving.

Using the organizational talents and experience from those traditional activities, the merchants applied them to create new special events.

In and of themselves, the special events don't generate a lot of added business in the shops, excepting the restaurants and others, such as drug stores, that serve immediate needs, Beuter said. The events act, instead, as a way of publicizing the town and attracting visitors who will return to shop another day.

This past year saw "Summersong" in August and Autumnfest in October, both judged successful promotions as first-year efforts.

Summersong, as its name implies, put the season to music with performers in a bandshell at the town square. There was even an organ grinder wandering the town, complete with monkey.

Autumnfest took its cues from the numerous Octoberfest events, offering hayrides, a beer tent (in a recreation department building), free cider and donuts, hot air balloon rides, even an old car show and sale on Main Street.

"Autumnfest was an aggressively expanded version of a fall event," Beuter said. "We really utilized the new facilities in that one. Without the new surfaces and spaces, we couldn't have done Autumnfest."

DRAWING CROWDS — Northville merchant promotions like the sidewalk sale (left) bring throngs to the city center to rival the crowded shopping malls. One innovative technique used during this year's Autumnfest promotion was a taxi-service/hayride (below). Merchants put up the funds and volunteer association members drove visitors between major points of interest.

The Delval Corporation, which produces small stampings for Ford vehicles, was one of 36 suppliers honored at Ford's North American Automotive Operations headquarters in Dearborn.

"These suppliers are helping Ford Motor Company produce the highest quality cars and trucks of any major U.S. manufacturer," said Poling. "For their commitment to quality, we salute these Q1 Preferred Quality Award winners and we thank them."

Poling noted that Ford's quality leadership among domestic automotive manufacturers was proven in three consecutive annual surveys based on owner-reported problems during the first three months of ownership of 1981, 1982 and 1983 vehicles.

To be considered for the award, suppliers must have an excellent Ford quality rating and an effective quality assurance program that includes process control capability and the use of statistical process control methods.

State sets priority on auto suppliers

By TIM RICHARD

Auto suppliers — the hundreds of small firms which make parts for the Big Four auto manufacturers — are in deep trouble and want state help.

"We'll do anything we can do, either by getting out of the way or helping," said Governor James Blanchard last week as he unveiled a long list of efforts the state will make.

A report entitled "Auto Supplier Target Industry Development Program" said suppliers should be a priority industry once the Michigan Strategic Fund is in operation. Auto suppliers will be high on the list to receive help from federal-state job retraining funds.

And they will be helped by an array of educational resources — the fledgling Industrial Technology Institute in Ann Arbor, state universities and particularly community colleges.

Blanchard praised the work of a task force, headed by General Motors Chairman Roger B. Smith, for its 33 pages of recommendations.

Alan Webber, a Harvard University business school professor hired to review the report, said in an interview that the auto industry provides a "case study" in how other nations "are doing a better job of integrating business, government and labor efforts."

Indeed, a theme pervading the report and news conference was cooperation between those three economic sectors.

"The level of competition in the industry has increased dramatically," said Webber. Auto suppliers see their numbers shrinking, with remaining firms "being asked to take greater responsibility for innovation and new product development, as well as for improving product quality and productivity."

Webber said his six weeks of interviews with suppliers showed they

'The level of competition in the industry has increased dramatically.'

— Alan Webber
Harvard professor believe "the cost of doing business in Michigan is too high and must be reduced," particularly unemployment and workers compensation costs.

"Many suppliers said they needed information and training about new technologies, new production techniques... and new approaches to managing people to help them become more productive," Webber said.

"Most suppliers said they would welcome financial aid to help defray the costs of learning new methods," as well as help in developing new markets, he reported.

Of the 2,500 suppliers of parts, components and materials, 80 percent are small — fewer than 100 employees, Webber said.

While suppliers give educational and government efforts high marks, he said, they found most underfunded and understaffed.

A key organization in helping auto suppliers will be the Industrial Technology Institute (ITI) in Ann Arbor, and Blanchard promised it support.

Jerome Smith, director of ITI for the past four months, said it "is positioned between academia and industrial experimentation. We are hastening the process of putting research results into implementation."

"We are a private, nonprofit, research and development organization in the area of industrial automation," said Smith, a former professor of fluid dynamics at Princeton University and holder of three degrees in aeronautical engineering.

"We have 30 employees now and expect to grow to 250 in three years," he said. Funding has come from the state and from the Dow and Kellogg foundations.

What will ITI do? Smith gave these answers:

- Give direct consulting services to auto suppliers "where we can learn as well as perform a service."

- Conduct workshops on factory communications, including use of digitally-controlled devices for information storage.

- Indirectly serve as a technology developer by attracting bright, new people to the state. "Many may choose to start their own small firms here," he said.

Much of Blanchard's program for auto suppliers was a restatement of already announced plans, such as attacking the costs of unemployment compensation, health care and bureaucracy.

But even before Blanchard's news conference began, UAW President Owen Bieber issued a statement saying "the UAW would not favor steps to improve our state's so-called 'business climate' at the expense of necessary legislative protection for workers, or by shifting tax burdens unfairly to non-business taxpayers."

That failed to dismay Blanchard, a Democrat elected in 1982 with strong UAW support. Handed a newsman's copy of the UAW's remarks, the governor shrugged. "This is a broad statement that probably anyone could agree with. Owen Bieber has been a very helpful member of this task force."

Bieber said he supported "the process of tripartite industrialization." He said it was not surprising that in a report reflecting the views of business, government and labor, "specific recommendations do not totally satisfy the UAW."

Ralph Gerson, director of the state commerce department, outlined the task force's recommendations. Highlights:

- Auto suppliers will be "an investment target for the proposed Michigan Strategic Fund so that new, innovative financial assistance will be available to qualified suppliers." (A bill setting up the fund is tied up in a legislative conference committee).

- A pilot project to provide targeted, coordinated job training service for auto suppliers who are expanded to serve a new assembly plant, such as GM's new Lake Orion plant.

Blanchard will seek removal of workers comp and unemployment insurance from the base to which the single business tax is applied — "as soon as the state's fiscal condition permits."

He will "support the Michigan Community College Association effort to develop a statewide program to provide, with private sector participation, training and education in areas of production management, especially statistical process control and just-in-time production methods."

Accounting jobs focus of seminar

A free seminar exploring job opportunities for accounting assistant paraprofessionals will be conducted by the Oakland University Division of Continuing Education at 7:30 p.m. January 10.

The seminar, on OU's Rochester campus, is designed for those considering entering the 18-month Accounting Assistant Diploma Program, a noncredit evening program, as well as for current students and employers considering hiring an intern. A flexible, 80-hour internship is the final phase of the diploma program. Next term starts January 16.

Nearly 300 students are currently enrolled in the year-old program, which was developed in conjunction with the business community to meet its needs. A job referral service is maintained for graduates.

To make reservations for the job seminar or to obtain a detailed brochure about the Accounting Assistant Program, call the continuing education office, 377-3120 between 8 a.m. and 8 p.m. weekdays.

Community National adds Wixom office

Special ribbon-cutting ceremonies for Community National Bank's new Wixom branch were held November 21.

Participating in grand-opening ceremonies were Mayor Lillian Spencer, Councilman John Lee and Mayoral Assistant Stephen Bonczek. Representatives from Community National included James W. Fisher, senior executive vice president and cashier; Dennis W. Swartout, vice president and marketing director; Thomas E. Glenn, vice president and branch administrator; Kendel M. Jensen, vice president/Keego manager and Wixom's Downtown Development Authority; and Caron Wiles, manager of the Wixom branch.

Fisher noted that as Wixom's only banking institution, Community National "has a franchise and a commitment to the future development and prosperity of the Wixom community."

"We take great pride in showcasing our new Wixom branch as evidence of that commitment," said Fisher.

Noting that Community National is the leading financial institution in Oakland County, Fisher said the bank was prepared to provide the financial support necessary to ensure the redevelopment of Wixom's central business district. "This office will act as the catalyst in realizing that aim," he said.

Caron Wiles, manager of the Wixom branch, has over 11 years of banking experience with Community National. Most recently serving as assistant manager of the Keego office, Wiles said she is looking forward to providing for the financial needs of the Wixom community.

The newly-constructed Wixom branch features 1,700 square feet of office space, as well as modern drive-through banking, safe deposit boxes and night depository.

A 24-hour Bank Anytime machine also has been installed outside the building to provide CNB customers with around-the-clock access to banking operations.

Fisher said Community National is "proud to be a part of the Wixom community" and "looks forward to providing for the area's banking needs" at its new location on Pontiac Trail at Wixom Road.

Nation's lowest housing prices in metro Detroit

Urban dwellers seeking the lowest median price in the nation for existing homes should turn to the Detroit metropolitan area, according to Metro MLS, the multiple listing arm of the Western Wayne Oakland County Board of Realtors.

Citing a third quarter survey of home resale prices conducted in 31 metropolitan areas by the National Association of Realtors (NAR), Metro MLS said they ranged from a low of median price of $47,100 in Detroit to a high of $136,500 in San Francisco.

Following Detroit as the least expensive areas were Albany, New York; Indianapolis, Indiana; and Rochester, New York, with median prices of $50,000, $53,700 and $55,400 respectively.

Detroit also was one of four cities which experienced a decline in resale prices from a year ago. The range of decrease was from 0.2 to 2.1 percent. The other three cities were Fort Lauderdale, Florida; Salt Lake City, Utah; and Columbus, Ohio.

Bargain seekers would be well advised to avoid California where the national high price in San Francisco was followed by San Jose ($130,600), Los Angeles ($114,300) and San Diego ($100,200).

The median resale price across the nation in the third quarter was $71,200. The National Association of Realtors reported an average 3.9 percent price increase from the previous year and predicted a five percent increase in 1984 and close to a six percent hike in 1985.

Five of the areas included in the survey recorded double-digit annual increases. Metropolitan New York led the way with a 22.5 percent increase which brought the median to $92,700. Others were Atlanta where a 19 percent increase raised the median price to $67,100 and Providence, Rhode Island, where an 11.5 percent jump hiked the median price to $57,800. San Antonio recorded a 10.5 percent increase which raised the median to $67,600 and Rochester, New York, reported a 10.1 percent hike which made the median cost to $55,400.

The median price reported for each area reflects prices of resale homes sold within the Metropolitan Statistical Area (MSA) as defined by the U.S. Office of Management and Budget. Most extend beyond the city limits and include surrounding suburbs.

Sales continue to fall back

Sales of existing homes in November continued to slow from the accelerated pace enjoyed earlier this year, according to Metro MLS, the multiple listing arm of the Western Wayne Oakland County Board of Realtors.

Metro MLS reported the sale of 872 units during November, an 18.9 percent increase from November 1982 but a seasonal dip from the 938 sales recorded in October of this year.

For the year, sales continue to remain 47.7 percent above 1982 levels.

Indicating some inroads have been made into the existing home inventory, Metro MLS showed new listings this year up only 7.3 percent from last year. The $60,307 average price in November rose 4.6 percent from October, but year-to-date prices reflected only a 2.3 percent increase from 1982.

Conventional mortgages were used for 49.8 percent of the reported home sales in November, setting a new high for the year. Some local lenders note that more than 70 percent of these are one-year adjustable rate mortgages with an interest rate of 10.5 percent. The more traditional 30-year fixed rate mortgages generally are commanding rates at or near 13.75 percent.

The Simple Life

A saucy wench she is unencumbered by the need for protocol as undiplomatic in her forwardness as she is in her lust for living
She does not seek rewards or justification her motivation comes from deep within and flows as easily as the wind
She is natural in her vanity and her love and only hates the cold of hearts turned sour by pain and disappointment
She has time for everyone and no time is lost with wasted yesterdays
She can as easily sell fish as host a telethon
She is an earth woman with just enough grit to make her divine
On winter nights
no fireplace holds a candle to her warmth
She is an april flower her fate is in her eyes
they will not lie
She is the simple life

Tribute To A Friend

"Great 'Dane' Puppies," the ad read, "Show Quality"
"Seven left, some brindle, some fawn, each a rare beauty."

"I know, we don't want to 'buy,' I said to my husband, wistfully,
"But could we not just take a short drive and have a little 'look-see?'"

Well, there she was all shy and refined and off from the others
All were cute and frisky, but she'd be mine, if I were to have my "druthers"

We picked up two or three, had to be polite ... but when we were done my fair-haired beauty was our very own that same night.

We paid the nice people and whisked her away and she proved to be a joy and delight for 6 years and 10 months, almost to the day.

Such a clown, such devotion, such love between man and beast ... she'd have us in stitches then all 140 lbs. would plunk in your lap, figuring you'd not care in the least.

Always there to greet you, always at your heels, beside the bed each night, under the table at meals.

Our pride we'd try modestly to hide as we'd trot her down the road ... nonchalantly, as heads turned to gaze, she'd prance, head held high as onward we strode.

We knew we were safe from intrusion when she was about ... no one passed our portal until the password we'd shout.

At obedience school, she finished first and for a short time in the ring a few ribbons she won. She did us "proud" and it was all a good deal of fun.

But first, last and always she was our true friend ... and it was so sudden and without warning that it all came to an end.

There's a void we'll never fill and a stillness in every room, but you'll never be really gone ... the love in our hearts for our dear old girl will ever and always live on ... helping to erase the gloom.

If there's a place in God's heaven for our animal friends to share, we know you are still prancing and clowning and making others laugh, now that you are there.

It was a sudden, final farewell, but somehow I pray ... that you knew that the love you gave us, we returned without measure each and every day.

Lady Farah of Lockwood will Ne'er go down in fame, but there is a family named Gates who will 'eer speak with love and fond memories when they utter your name.

—E. J. Gates

Memories Are Made Of This

Christmas is tinsel and shopping
Pushing through crowds and choosing
Waiting in lines to purchase a treasure
Then wrapping it fancy with sparkles and bows

Taking a day to bake cookies galore
Goodies and treats from your kitchen, of course
Waiting some more for groceries to buy
What could be worse than nothing to serve?

While we run through pressured times
In their rooms the children wait
Out of reach, not underfoot
So much to do, no time to look

Christmas is children, who anxiously wait
It's friends and families too
And strangers who we push and shove
Who share this day with you

Christmas is a feeling time
Tradition's second place
Ignoring faces that implore
Just searching much like us

Time is scarce to share the best
That Christmas has to offer
A look, a smile, a hug
What better kind of treasure

Christmas is a special time
It feels good to love you
Love is naught a chore to do
But life's reward of pleasure

Memories are made of this
The wrappings thrown away
With presents that we scurried for Forgotten, tucked away

And years from now when we recall
This lovely time of year
It's not the gifts, or bows, or food
That remain forever new

But the feelings that we share
A special gift from you
This present only you can give
It's a part of you

It's time we need to stop and think
Which present is the best
It seems to me, the best of all
Is uniquely US!

Lin Olszewski

For A Better World

May we cross our swords together
Then forever lay them down.
Can't we stop this senseless slaughter
In the air and on the ground.

They will tell us war is necessary
And that it is here to stay,
But if we all work together
Can't we find a better way.

When we know the night is coming
And we fear for our very life,
Let us pray to God above
To help us end this awful strife.

—Glen H. Barnes

Milford

In my later years I came here,
After long in urban life.
With many times a moving
To avoid the city strife.

In school, at work and playing,
There were temporary friends.
But moving, moving, moving,
They were lost among the trends.

But now that I have settled
In this Milford atmosphere,
I marvel at the people
Whose roots have long been here.

Their associations nurtured
In the friendships of the past.
And families that remained here,
Have made those friendships fast.

There are so many names I hear
While walking on the street,
That in looking thru the records,
Their fathers' names I greet.

The schools and stores and churches
That are thriving here and now,
Were originally constructed
By great grandfather's plow.

The roots that are so missing
From the city life I led,
Have me now awishing, wishing,
That I'd long lived here instead.

Santa's Snowmobile Santa's Gift That Heaven Sent

Santa peered out through the window Christmas Eve

He knew that soon it would be time to leave.
The snow was falling on the ground below
The reindeer were hitched and ready to go.
His eyes were twinkling with delight
As he stood at the window this night.
With his arms spread wide on the window sill
He gazed with delight at his new snowmobile.
He had on his suit of white and red
And knew that the children were going to bed.
Outside to the yard he went with speed
Stopping to murmur "What else do I need?"
The reindeer pranced and jumped with joy
They knew that Santa would use his new toy.
Yes, tonight the old sleigh would remain at home
And with the reindeer and snowmobile Santa would roam
In the trailer behind and filled with toys
Were all the gifts for the good girls and boys.
Into the snowmobile he quickly went Into his gift that heaven had sent.
His voice bellowed out "Away we go!"
And off they went into the snow.
Through the air and the snow they went with speed
With all the gifts the children would need.
"When my reindeer get tired and need a rest I'll unhitch the reins and give the snowmobile a test."

Over the house tops they flew with the toys
Delivering the presents to the good girls and boys.

And from time to time he unhitched the reins
Started the snowmobile with its toys and can-dycanes.

Then off he went in a quiet speed
Laughing and smiling as he let the reindeer feed.

Oh, what a glorious sight to see Santa in a snowmobile, how merry was he!
Night was over and the day had begun
"Time to go," he said, I can see the sun.

I've got the good children what they've all asked me

And now it is time that away I must flee.
Yes, this was a night that was very well spent Cause Santa had a present that heaven had sent.
His red and white snowmobile had worked so well

His journey this night to the elves he would tell.
Though he delivered his gifts to every girl and boy
Santa too had a new toy.

And to the North Pole away he went
With the brand new gift that heaven had sent.

—Leo Feebish

Christmas Greetings

Hi! How would it be,
for you and me
to exchange our greetings on the phone.
Oh! You're going on a shopping spree;
and too late,
getting home.

If I could really,
have my choice,
I'd much rather hear your voice than lick and stick so many stamps.
My finger gets so sore and my hand goes in cramps.

Now, came another thought;
hope to be better yet,
Must do it right away
lest I soon forget.
Will put my greetings,
here in rhyme,
to all these dear, dear friends of mine, let each one know
I really care.
Neighbors near and everywhere.

Friends in the circle,
in the church pews,
up in the choir and where God does choose.

And to our Reverend, who as he stands — expounds the days message with his hands.
May tell the story with all of its Bliss what Christmas once was and really still is.

Merry Christmas Every One

—Harriet Read

Addendum—go now to kith and kin.

Christmas Morn

It was Christmas morn, and all through the house Things were strewn all over, even sister's new blouse.
The stockings that had hung by the chimney with care
Were tattered and torn and in need of repair.

The children that had nestled so snug in their beds
Were now live wires and crying to be fed.
And jolly St. Nick with his reindeer and sleigh
Was headed back north and well on his way.

The tree with its ornaments so shiny and bright
Had a touch of enchantment in the early light.
Old Jack Frost with his magical charm
Has painted window pictures of meadow and farm.

With the children now fed and raring to go
To grandmother's house over the new fallen snow.
It's a great treat once every year
To be with our families so dear.

—Glen H. Barnes

Santa Claus

Well Santa Claus, you're right in style,
And you've been around for quite a while.

With your flowing beard, and long white hair,
No young Santa could ever compare.

You giggle and laugh as you trudge along,
Hearing the tunes of a Santa Claus song.

I think the frost, must have nipped your nose,
It always looks red, like it's most half froze.

I have a picture of, when I was a child,
Sitting on your lap, in some department store aisle.

But now I've grown up, and time has gone by,
Can't sit on you're lap anymore,
Just watch the children, standing in line,
In that same old Department store.

Alta Lynch
(Grandma Appletree)

It's Christmas, To-night

It's Christmas, yes, it's Christmas.
Snow flakes flutter to the ground,
Can't you hear their Joyful sound?
It's Christmas, yes, It's Christmas.

Santa's sleigh is on the roof.
Can't you hear the Reindeer hoofs?
It's Christmas, yes, It's Christmas.

All the Toys and Dolls are singing,
And the little Drum beats out.
All the Bells out in the steeple,
Are ringing, shouting out,
It's Christmas, yes, It's Christmas,

Little Children, rosy cheeks,
Now I lay me, down to sleep,
It's Christmas, yes, It's Christmas TO-NIGHT.

Alta Lynch
(Grandma Appletree)

At Christmas

A child was born and the heavens did sing.
A child was born, the true King of kings.
A child was born, a miraculous
A child, a son, the fulfillment, the promised.

Praises, laud, and gifts they did bring
To the promised Messiah, the God Child, the King.
Joy came to Mary, the mother of Christ,
A joy to sustain her through a difficult life.
Pride came to Joseph in this son, and to his wife.

His birthplace a stable, His bedding was straw.
He came to the humble and filled all with awe.
He came as a servant and yet master of all.
He came, saw and conquered; he died for us all.
Yet he lives with all Christians as he lived in the stall.

On this Christmas day let us remember, one and all,
The babe in the manger, the child in the street.

It's Not Enough Just To Have Your Blood Pressure Checked.

If it's high, you have to stay on your medication to keep it under control. Some 34 million Americans have high blood pressure, but only half of them know it. And of those who know it's high, more than half of them don't have it under control. Let uncontrolled high blood pressure may lead to stroke, heart attack or kidney failure.

The Michigan Heart Association is fighting to reduce early death and disability from heart disease and stroke through free blood pressure screenings, research, and educational programs.

Free pamphlets about high blood pressure control, contact your local Michigan Heart office.

Christmas is a time for sharing, a time for festivities and traditions — and a time for remembering the reason for celebrating.

Proving that traditions hold meaning for youngsters at Christmas are the many that students at Cooke Junior High recounted in their English class journals before recess.

Trimming the Christmas tree, seeing what's in stockings and gathering for turkey or ham dinner with family and friends are very much a part of Christmas for most of the young writers. However, many report that the holiday also is a vacation when several go to Florida. A few vacation at northern Michigan winter resorts.

Michelle McGiffin reports that in her family "we all decorate the tree with all types of crafts that my mom collects and we string popcorn and cranberries on our tree."

Jenny Clark confides that "every year my father likes to decorate the house. He majored in art in college ... we always have pine trimmings on the stair, above the fireplace, and my father makes a wreath for the front door. Sometimes we even cut our own tree. We all help decorate it with our special ornaments we have collected over the years."

Jacque Trausch looks forward to getting in the car on Christmas Eve with her family and going "around to look at the way people have decorated their houses and yards. My sisters and I get up about 6:30 a.m. on Christmas and open our stockings ... my mom puts nuts, oranges and silver dollars in the bottoms of our stockings. She also puts up statues of the three wise men and Jesus and all the people."

Jennifer Dragon, noting that Christmas Day makes a lot of good memories, says, "we all like to look back at one special gift or a certain Christmas tree you liked best."

"If there is one certain thing I don't look forward to Christmas Day it's the nuclear light my dad's movie camera gives off. Every year he gets us when we come down the stairs. That light pierces through your eye like a needle through your thumb. However, it's worth it."

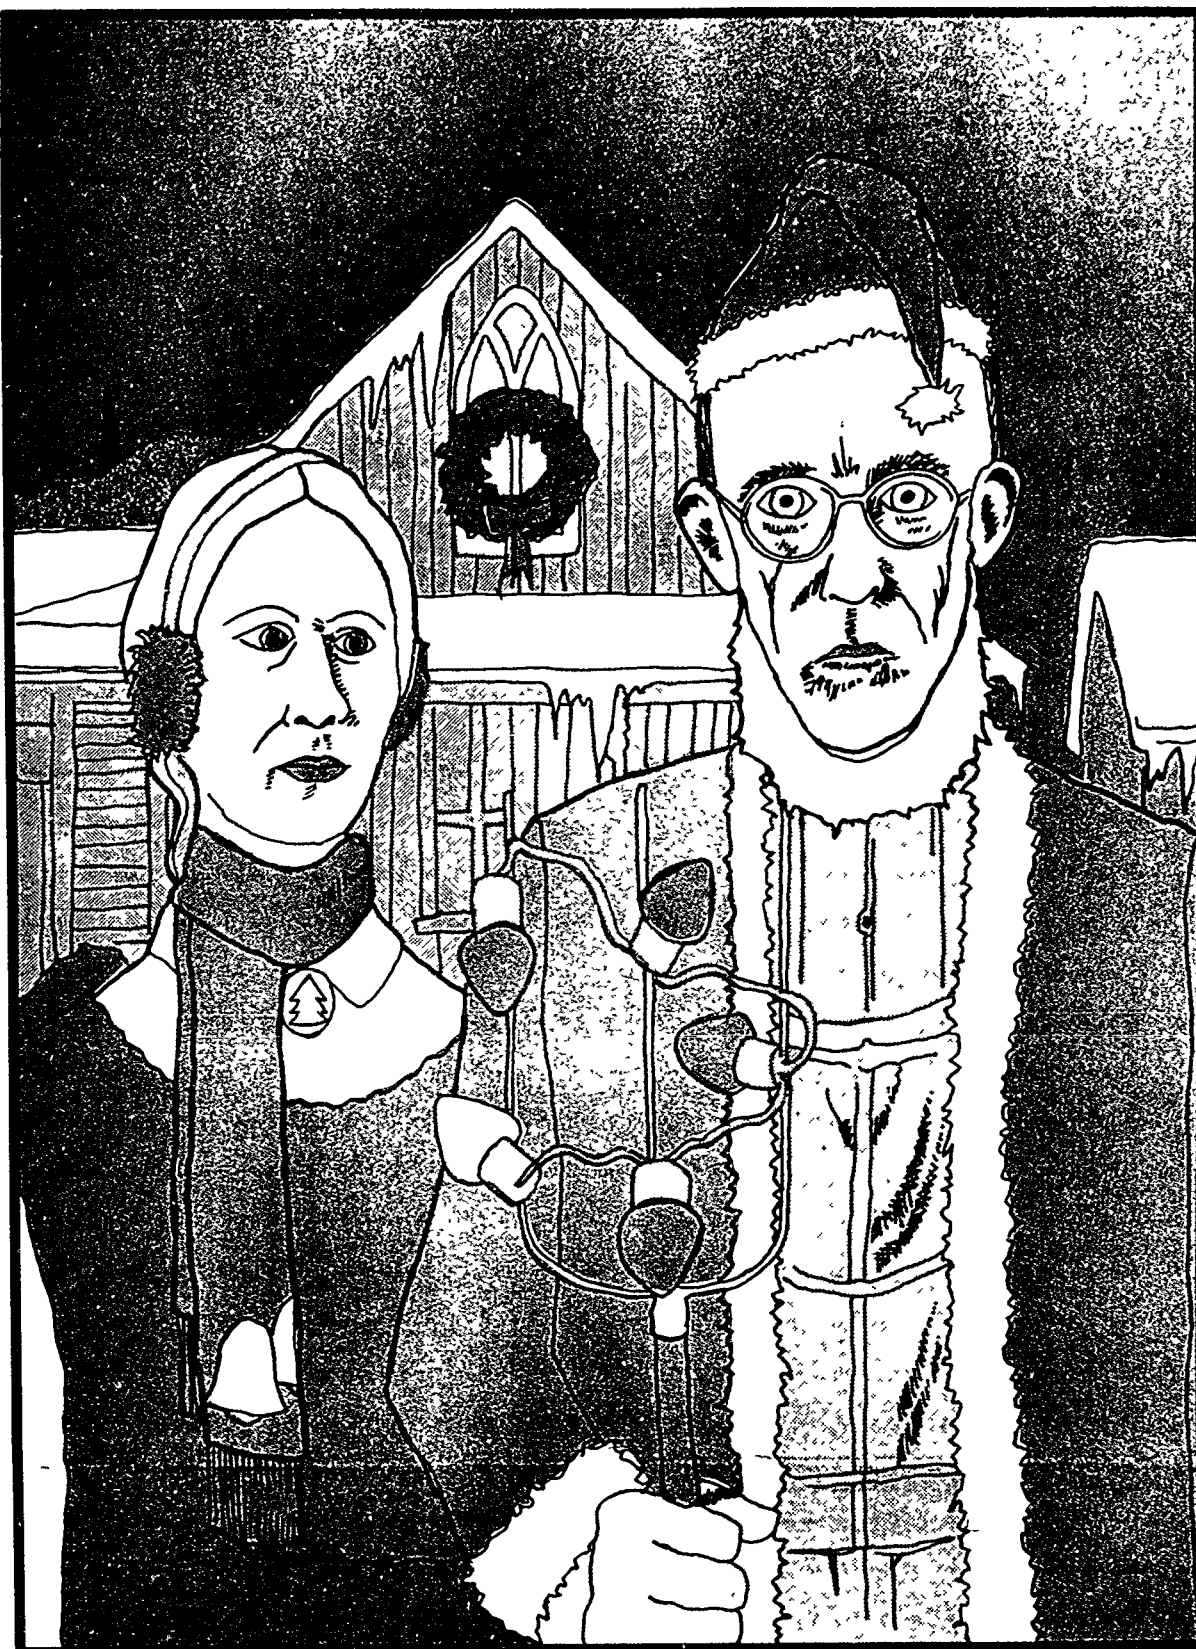

"This Thanksgiving our entire family gathered around the movie screen and watched home movies. Whenever there was a special toy shown my brothers and sisters would immediately recognize it. Movies really preserve old memories."

Amy Skrade explains that "we have always gone to Florida to visit my grandparents ... we celebrate Christmas early at our house then we leave for Florida. We arrive at our granny's house in a couple of days. When we get there, there's cookies and stuff waiting. In a few hours my other grandparents arrive ... then next all the relatives come (all very old) and we eat dinner around lunch. Later we open presents."

Mike Mathes reports that tradition rules the decorating of their family tree. After it is on the stand with the lights on it, "we divide the tree with imaginary lines into three parts. On one side my brother decorates with his ornaments, the opposite side my sister with hers, the third, facing the living room, is the one I hang my ornaments."

Stacey Lang says "Christmas is special in our home because we go to our grandparents' house and eat Polish sausage and exchange presents."

"In our family the older people all draw names so they only buy for one person. Everyone buys for the kids and my great-grandma. Christmas is a special time of year when on Christmas Eve we put out our illuminators and put out cookies for Santa."

AN AMERICAN CHRISTMAS

Well, there's Santa and Rudolph and religious observances and family and food and (pfeuf!) presents (who could forget presents?) and ... well, no matter how you add it up most agree: Christmas means sharing with loved ones

Yvonne Beebe tells us that "the Nutcracker Suite is a famous ballet about a girl who receives a magical nutcracker on Christmas Eve. Then at night the nutcracker came alive and had a battle with the giant mice, and Clara saved him. The nutcracker was grateful to Clara ... so he brought her to his Kingdom of the Sweets. I've danced in this ballet for two years. It really gets me into the spirit ... it really is fun to make other people happy while I'm on stage."

Scott Donnelly reports "our Christmas tree is different than all the others because our tree is 17 feet tall, and we use a 20-foot ladder and most families use a six-foot ladder. They probably use 70 light bulbs. We use 400 light bulbs. That's the way our Christmas tree is different."

Susie Rosselot relates that she and her mom make cookies and have guests over, "but on Christmas Eve we all go to church and then come home for some fondue. Then we all open one present."

"Christmas morning my brothers Ken and John and my dog go and see what's in our stockings. Even my dog has a stocking with her name on it. Then we take our parents' stockings up to them. Everyone comes downstairs and opens all their presents. All our relatives come over for dinner and that's what we do for Christmas."

Susan Settles reports that every year she and her sisters bake Christmas cookies, noting, "they always seem to turn out different each year even though we use the same cookie cutters. We try to think up special ways to frost and to decorate them. Sometimes we turn out to have a blue reindeer with green sprinkles or a green Santa with red sprinkles and silver balls. It's a lot of fun to be with your family and to do something you all like to do."

Jon Dickinson's Christmas tree is a tradition of his grandfather's. He reports that his grandfather "always brings back a live tree for us when he goes hunting." He adds that he and his sister have a small tree in their bedrooms.

Tony Ternes thinks his family is beginning a new tradition. "Last year I started playing an instrument; so my dad said that every Christmas I have to play a Christmas song on my tuba."

"Then after that someone hands out our presents, and we don't open them until we all have our gifts ... I get the most presents because my birthday is near Christmas. This year we are going to open the gifts on Christmas Eve because my mom has to work on Christmas Day."

"We have turkey, cranberries, stuffing, corn and potatoes. Then after dinner we all get together and sing Christmas carols."

Derek Forbing says his family always puts up the tree and decorates it about a week before Christmas. "Every year on Christmas Eve I always get to open one present. Every year on Christmas Day we open our presents and go to my grandma's house for dinner."

Karen Krueger observes that "in our house we don't have any family traditions that have been handed down from generation to generation. The only traditions we have are our family's own."

"On Christmas Eve we have ham for dinner. For as long as I can remember we've had ham. It is my family's favorite food ... the table is covered with a white tablecloth, and we use our best dishes. They're white with silver on the rims."

John Totten relates that "decorating is a tradition for my family. My mom hangs all our Christmas cards on the walls ... One day on the weekend or on vacation we decorate the tree. My mom and dad get each of us one new ornament a year. Mom likes to collect glass ornaments and the old antique ornaments."

"When we finish, we get the vacuum out and vacuum the floor."

Jessica Bohan remembers Santa Christmas Eve. She reports that "we have our grandma and grandpa and uncle over, then we go to church. The church gives us candles and we go home ... about 10:30 I decide to go to bed. I set out milk and cookies for Santa Claus. Then I go upstairs and try to go to sleep."

Chris Olson says "in our house we decorate the tree, and we listen to Christmas music while we are decorating. Christmas Eve we drink egg nog and eat cookies while watching TV specials. After that we go on a drive and come home and open one present."

"In the morning I do my paper route and when I come back I look through my stocking ... at Christmastime we always light the Advent candles."

Erik Forster reveals there will be a new tradition at his home this year because he was tired of turkey every year — "so just a couple of days ago I suggested a new Christmas meal. The family agreed so this year we're having duck!"

Jessica Lee confides that on the tree every year one decoration is special to her mother. "When my mom was little, she put a little angel on top of a tree instead of a star. Now she still has this angel, and we now put it on our tree. I must admit it's not the prettiest little angel I've seen."

Michelle Farmer enjoys Italian fare at Christmas. She reports that her mother bakes Italian Christmas cookies after putting up the tree two weeks beforehand because "it helps get everyone in the Christmas mood."

"My mother spends hours in the kitchen. On Christmas Eve we have a special tradition — we invite my relatives over and we have Italian soup and lasagna. That's one of my favorite parts about Christmas, besides getting presents."

Jim Luther says that on Christmas Eve "we turn off all the lights and read the Bible Matthew (verses) 1-7 — the Christmas story."

Jim Stone relates that his mom places 20 white candles on the mantel above the fireplace each year and completes the decoration with garlands — about 10 feet long — and an old Santa. "After she is done, on Christmas Eve she turns off all the lights in the house and lights those 20 beautiful candles."

The Northville Record

Michigan downhill skiers left in hibernation during last year's mild winter should start dusting the moth balls of their boots and poles and head for the hills.

After last year's dismal ski season — with a 35 percent downturn in lift ticket sales — the state's ski operators are looking to recoup their losses by expanding facilities and making improvements.

Improvements to Michigan's ski resorts run the gamut from increasing snowmaking capacity to adding new slopes.

At Caberfae near Cadillac, for instance, more than $2 million has been spent on improving the old Slalom Bowl/Stagshead area. Unused for many years, the Bowl/Stagshead area has been resurrected with the addition of a triple-chairlift routed through the forest for skier comfort and the addition of seven new runs — the longest of which is 3/4 mile long.

In the Upper Peninsula, Indianhead Mountain near Wakefield currently is completing a $1.5 million improvement project which includes renovation of the main lodge and expansion of its snowmaking capacity — despite its location in the middle of the Great Lakes Snow Belt.

With the improved snowmaking capacity, Indianhead will have slopes ready for skiing 36-48 hours under the right conditions instead of the previous one or two weeks.

Boyne Mountain near Boyne Falls has added a new 15-acre area call "Superbowl" encompassing three new slopes, snowmaking equipment and a double chairlift. Six new multi-unit condominiums also have been built to increase Boyne's overnight lodging capacity by 120 beds.

The Hilton Shanty Creek and Schuss

Mountain near Mancelona have increased snowmaking capacity by 35 percent and added new lodging and indoor pool facilities. In addition, Shanty Creek has added two new slopes served by a double chair.

Other improvements around the state include a new intermediate slope — measuring almost a mile — at Sugarloaf near Traverse City, a new restaurant at Traverse City Holiday, and increased snowmaking capacity at Alpine Valley near Milford, Riverview Highlands, Nubs Nob near Harbor Springs, Thunder Mountain near Boyne Falls, Cannonsburg and Briar Mountain near Vulcan.

Despite the vast improvements made to many of Michigan's 54 public ski areas this year, only a small portion of the improvement costs will be passed along to skiers.

Daytime weekend lift tickets will average $10.60 — a 10 cent increase over last year.

In Southeast Michigan, resorts will charge $4 to $13.50 for weekend daytime lift tickets.

With the help of an early December snowfall, ski resorts already are open and awaiting the onslaught of Michigan skiers.

The following is a list of Southeast Michigan ski resorts and lift fees per day:

- ALPINE VALLEY, 6775 E. Highland Road, Milford (887-2180), $13 weekend day rate, $9 night fee;
- MT. BRIGHTON, 4141 Bauer Road, Brighton (229-9581), $13.50 weekend day rate, $11 night fee;
- MT. GRAMPAN, 3745 Lakeville, Oxford (628-6160), $9.50 weekend day and nightly rate;
- MT. HOLLY, 13536 South Dixie Highway, Holly (634-8269), $12.50 weekend day rate;
- PINE KNOB, 7777 Pine Knob, Clarkston (625-0800), $10 weekend day rate;
- RIVERVIEW HIGHLANDS, 15015 Sibley, Riverview (479-2266), $8 weekend day and nightly rate;
- TEEPLE HILL, 5200 East Highland, Milford (887-5135), $4 weekend day rate.

Genitti's: Enough to fill a hole in the tummy restaurant

review

DIANE KOVACS

But it's far different from the Italian restaurants to which you may be accustomed. No, you can't get pizza. In fact, you don't even get a choice. You eat what's set in front of you ... and, fortunately, what's set in front of you is lots and lots of good Italian food.

After selling meat for several years, they decided to try their hand at the restaurant business and thus was born Genitti's Hole-in-the-Wall.

The meat market is still there, along with a little curiosity shop which makes for pleasant browsing to and from the seven-course dinners the Genittis serve up Thursday through Sunday nights. You have to pass through the curiosity shop and meat market before entering the small restaurant with its red-checked tablecloths, and, frankly, that's part of the charm.

What really sets Genitti's apart is its unique "family-style" approach to dining. Not only is the food served family-style, but the owners go all out to make you feel like you're right at home ... like you were going over to John and Toni's house for dinner.

You're likely to run into an apron-clad Toni on your way back to the dining room, and you're encouraged to look at the pictures from the Genitti family album which decorate the walls.

If you miss Toni, you won't miss John who, clad in his own apron and a Boston Red Sox baseball cap, rings a dinner bell promptly at 7:30 p.m. and tells you what he and Toni are cooking up for dinner that evening.

You've probably never dined at a restaurant quite like Genitti's Hole-in-the-Wall.

As you might surmise by the name, this pleasant little eatery on Main Street in downtown Northville features Italian fare.

Genitti's Hole-in-the-Wall is owned and operated by John and Toni Genitti, an enterprising young couple who almost a decade ago opened a little meat market in downtown Northville.

John also engages the evening's guests in conversation. Sort of a pleasant Don Rickles, he gently chastised one guest for coming in late — pointing out that her late arrival had delayed dinner for the rest of us.

John's likely to return after dinner to pass out cigars for the gentlemen and exchange jokes with the customers.

The family-style theme at Genitti's is maintained throughout the evening. There are no separate tables and you're likely to find yourself sitting with as many as eight to 10 other people. John and Toni's conviviality is contagious, however, and you're apt to wonder why you weren't fortunate enough to have met your dinner companions previously.

The food also is served family-style. The soup, for example, is served in a ladle it out for everyone at the table is elected to big it out for everyone. Same thing with the salad, which is served up in a frying pan. Simply help yourself and pass it on to your neighbor.

And don't worry about running out. If you need more food, just tell your waitress who will run back to the kitchen and return with more.

Genitti's serves up seven-course meals at $11.95 a head, and everyone eats the same thing. A basket filled with garlic bread and bread sticks starts things off and is followed quickly with a steaming kettle of soup — escarole soup on the night that my companion and I dined at Genitti's recently.

Following the soup comes a delicious pasta course of manicotti mixed with broccoli. The pasta was followed with an antipasto salad, featuring meats, cheeses and olives.

The main course consisted of three types of meats — spicy Italian sausage with onions, chicken and a breaded Italian beef dish.

For dessert we were served a scoop of spumoni ice cream in a paper cup, and that was followed by a tray of fruit — fresh sliced pineapple, oranges and grapes.

Genitti's has a liquor license but currently is offering only beer and wine with dinners. We ordered a pint ($2.50) of the house rose, which was served in an old Mason jar.

A kettle of soup? A frying pan of antipasto? Spumoni ice cream served in a paper cup? You heard right; it's all part of the "family-style" charm that has made this little restaurant such a popular dining spot throughout the metropolitan Detroit area.

Yes, reservations are necessary. And don't be surprised if you have to wait as long as a month or two before being able to enjoy a dinner at John and Toni's house ... er, restaurant.

Genitti's Hole-in-the-Wall, 108 East Main Street, Northville. 349-0522. Lunches: Monday through Saturday from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Dinners: Thursday and Friday at 7 p.m., Saturday at 6:30 p.m. and Sunday at 5 p.m. Reservations required. Currently serving only beer and wine with dinner. No credit cards.

Artist Tom Hale with Mickey Mouse

Tom Hale honored in art competitions

Artist Tom Hale of Northville has been announced as a top winner in two art competitions this fall.

He was a primary award winner at the ninth annual Festival of the Masters outdoor art show held November 11-13 at Walt Disney World Village at Lake Buena Vista, Florida.

He also captured first prize in the Farmington Artists Club fall exhibit for his painting titled "Chevrolet."

He was one of 10 area artists recognized in the Farmington show in which 62 artists submitted 152 pieces of work. William Tall, artist and instructor, juried this show. Judging for originality, individuality, competence, presentation, depth of workmanship, spontaneity and relation to the times, Tall said of Hale's painting that "it relates to contemporary society in its realism and it takes the subject beyond realism — a high impact painting, yet the colors and paints were kept free."

During the opening reception for artists and patrons of the Farmington show, club members voted for their favorite works, and Hale's "Rain Forest" won second place.

During the three-day exhibit the public attending had an opportunity to vote for their favorite paintings. "Kimberly's Dream," a watercolor by Edee Joppich, won both the artists' vote and the popular vote top spots.

Third place in the popular vote went to Northville artist Martha Barnes' "Barn Interior." Hale won an honorable mention in this category. The exhibit was made possible by the Michigan Council for the Arts and the Farmington Arts Commission. It was attended by approximately 2,000 people.

The Florida show featured works by prize-winning artists from 28 states who competed for up to $12,000 in cash awards.

Hale won second place in watercolor. First, second, third and merit awards were made in eight categories by the judges.

Only two other Michigan residents were cited in the show. Both Dee Knott of Flushing and Patricia Kessler of Clarkston were awarded merit citations in the watercolor classification.

To enter this competition under the "masters" concept, which was inaugurated in 1979, each applicant must have earned a primary award in a juried art festival within the last three years. It is sponsored by the Coca-Cola Company.

First prize awards are $700. Second are $350. In addition, the Disney organization will award up to $12,000 in purchase prizes for artwork purchased for the Disney corporate collection.

North Pole hotline available

There's good news for youngsters who want an opportunity to talk to Santa Claus before Christmas.

Thomas O'Branovic of the Novi Parks and Recreation Department reports that a special telephone link has been established with the North Pole to enable youngsters to talk directly with Santa in his workshop.

The special telephone number to the North Pole is 349-0505. Youngsters can call Santa on the Santa Hotline anytime between Monday, December 19, and Thursday, December 22, from 10 a.m. to noon.

In the event that Santa is busy with last-minute details, youngsters will be able to talk to his wife, Mrs. Claus.

"Santa said he is particularly interested in finding out if area children have been good boys and girls this year," reported O'Branovic.

Benefits, sales earn record proceeds for local projects

By JEAN DAY

Results of holiday benefits and sales are coming in — and are encouraging for local projects.

In two days, the Tivoli Fair of Northville Historical Society, held September 30 and October 1 at Northville Downs, yielded $13,000, Martha Nield reports. The fair has gained an area-wide reputation as a premier crafts event.

Proceeds have been earmarked for construction of the blacksmith shop-museum in the Mill Race Historical Village. Except for the gazebo, it will be the only new structure in the village. Under the eye of Past President Fran Gazlay, the foundations are in place and some of the walls are under construction. It is expected that a permanent roof will have to wait until spring, however.

As planned, the building will have two entrances — one for the smithy's operation and the other for a museum to display donations of early Northville.

Work on the blacksmith shop follows the near-completion of the furnishing of Wash-Oak Schoolhouse under the direction of the Doug Ottoms and Bob Wellands.

Harriet Welland announces that invitations have been sent to principals of the local public schools, Our Lady of Victory, St. Paul's Lutheran and William Allan Academy to have classes use the facility for a day. Students will be encouraged to dress in the period of 1873, and to assume responsibilities for "duties that were routine in the old days, such as sweeping the floor at the end of the day and cleaning out the desks they occupied." Reservations must be made at least two weeks in advance with Mary Jane Brugeman, 349-2659. Cost for each student for the day is $1, but any student unable to pay is to be admitted free.

The historical society still is seeking volunteers to sew vests and pinafores of the 1873 period for youngsters to wear on their visits to the school. Mrs. Welland adds that donations (which are tax deductible) still are needed of some items. These include a wood box, water bucket and dipper, bench for the bucket, dunce stool and cap, local maps of 1873, a shoe scraper, lunch pails, food warmers, games and a picture of Governor John J. Bagley.

Northville Branch sold a record 1,000 wreaths

Northville Branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association sold more than 1,000 wreaths — the most ever — at the annual Greens Mart held in conjunction with the Christmas Walk downtown the Sunday before Thanksgiving.

President Molly Manley says that means a profit of $4,380 to be used for branch scholarships. December 12 branch members heard the good news at their Christmas meeting, a luncheon held in Lovett Hall in Greenfield Village.

Mothers' Club hors d'oeuvres event nets $3,500

Northville Mothers' Club president Sue Anger tallied a profit of $3,500 from the concurrent cocktail benefits held December 3. It's the biggest amount ever, she mentions, noting that the price had been increased to $10 a couple, which added to the total. Incidentally, she says, the club has decided the price will stay the same for the near future.

Profits of the club are divided equally among the Northville Public Schools, President Anger states.

Newcomers plan first event of 1984

Northville Newcomers announce they will be having a coffeecake brunch in conjunction with a wheat weaving demonstration beginning at 9:15 a.m. January 10 in Mill Race Historical Village.

Each person attending will be able to make a country manse favor, explains president Joan Hursey. Cost is $6: reservations are to be made with Kathie Allen, 348-9798, by January 4.

President Hursey adds that all residents of Northville who have lived here less than five years are eligible for membership in Newcomers. Alums and guests always are welcome at meetings.

Date is set for Northville reunion in Florida

Former Northville resident Ed Barnes, who annually coordinates the winter reunion of former Northville residents and vacationers from Northville in Florida, reports that the date is set for Friday, February 17, 1984, at noon in the Crown House near Bradenton.

Reservations should be made with him at 324 Sally Lee Drive, Ellenton, Florida, 33532. This will be the 13th Northville reunion in the South.

Merry Christmas.

Class of '74 members sought

Planners of the 10-year reunion of Northville High School Class of 1974 still are seeking current addresses of class members.

Susan Heckler Boll reports that the master list used for the fifth-year reunion has been misplaced; so addresses of many class members are unavailable. She may be contacted at 349-1418.

Brian Mills, 348-2294, and Sally Johnson, 349-0111, also may be called.

Couple plans July 21 wedding

The couple's engagement is announced by the bride's father, Howard F. Balko of Nashville, formerly of Northville.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl J. Sieting of South Lyon are the prospective bridegroom's parents.

The bride-elect is a 1975 Northville High School graduate and a 1976 graduate of the dental assistant program at Oakland Community College. She is employed as a dental assistant for Dr. Harold Fromhart.

Her fiancé is a 1969 graduate of South Lyon High School and is an employee of the Northville Public Schools maintenance department.

Telecourses offered at Madonna

Madonna College in cooperation with the Southeast Michigan Educational Television Consortium and Channel 56 will be offering five telecourses during its upcoming winter term.

Scheduled courses are in business, history, humanities and natural science. Credit may also be earned for viewing "Vietnam: A Television History". Students are required to watch the televised programs scheduled on cable TV and attend some on-campus meetings.

The courses are coordinated by full-time instructional faculty and the college offers additional support services for those whose schedules may not permit regular viewing at the time the classes are televised.

Madonna courses are televised over Channel 56 and are also available on Cable Channel 16 in Plymouth, Canton, Northville and Garden City.

Registration for winter term will continue through tomorrow, December 22, at the registrar's office from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. The last day of registration is January 3 from 8:30 a.m. to 7 p.m. Students who have never attended the college should first visit the admissions office on campus.

The last thing you need now is a problem with insurance that doesn't offer guaranteed home replacement cost coverage.

Insurance means 100% assurance, right? Wrong. Sometimes it doesn't. Although you wouldn't live in half of a home—that might be all the limits of coverage your present home insurance gives you. Auto Owners doesn't agree with that. They believe that homeowners' insurance should really protect and replace 100% of your home. Because anything less isn't 100% protection.

Student writers recognized during 'Writing Month'

A barrage of student writings flooded Northville Public Schools last month as a result of the Northville Board of Education's proclamation declaring November "Writing Month" in the district.

The importance of writing not only in the English curriculum — but in all subjects was stressed with students in the elementary, junior and senior high schools, Assistant Superintendent Nancy Soper explained.

At the request of the Michigan Council of Teachers of English, the State Board of Education declared November as "Writing Month" in Michigan schools.

According to Soper, the emphasis for declaring the month of November as a writing month was to cross all areas of the curriculum to promote the importance of writing.

The following are samples of some student writings produced during "Writing Month" in Northville:

Nominations sought for mother-of-the-year

The Michigan Mothers Association of the American Mothers, Incorporated, announces that the deadline for sponsoring a mother-of-the-year candidate is January 14, 1984.

Mrs. Albert Kuhn of Birmingham, Michigan search chairman, reports that both Norma Vernon, wife of Mayor Paul Vernon, and Sue Anger, president of Northville Mothers' Club, have been sent information on nominating mothers for the honor.

Nominations must be made by a civic organization, church or synagogue. The mother's youngest child must be not less than 15 years old and the nominee must be active in a religious body.

Name of the Michigan mother chosen will be announced at a luncheon in March. She will then represent Michigan in New Orleans where the American Mother of the Year will be named, reports Peg Kuhn.

CHRISTMAS PRAYER

Dear God,

The snow is here
but there is no cheer

The bells are ringing
but no one is singing

The trees are bright
but there's no one in sight

Everyone here has no time to be a part in this Christmas of mine

Maybe this year
I'll get my wish
For some parents with half the wits

To really care and be my friend to heal my heart
when it needs to mend

Please God,
if you're listening to this prayer of mine try to remember me this time.

Amen

MICHIGAN

Michigan the land of dreams,
With lakes of blue and forest streams,
The sky above is fresh and clear,
With clouds that look like white-tailed deer,
This is a land of serenity,
This is a land of beauty.

Along the shore at our back door,
Is the tale of the glaciers from years before
They scoured the Earth
And caused the birth
Of a land of wondrous splendor,
Our Michigan, a land of wonder.

DANCE

Lifting me up my spirit flows flitting and flying,
my energy grows.
Pointing my feet,
stretching my toes,
what I am feeling,
nobody knows.
Across the floor,
I spin and I whirl
up on my toes around I twirl.
The hours of practicing,
sweat and tears,
overcoming my greatest fears.
Dancing is what I feel in my heart,
This isn't the end,
but only a start.

Jackie Lang, Meads Mill

CARELESS

The children
Romp
In the daisies,
Carelessly Crushing
The frail blossoms
With their feet,
As they crush each other
With their words.
The insults,
Like the feet,
Squashing
Tender hearts.

A HALLOWEEN GHOST STORY

We were out boating on Devil's Night.
The water was rough and a storm would hit any minute. The townspeople said no one came back alive from boating on a Devil's Night . . .

We decided that my dad was to be the captain and the driver. I was to be the lookout and my brother, Ben, the bailer. My mom just wanted to sit and rest.

I looked and looked and I saw something sticking out of the water. I yelled down to my dad and he said,
"Let's get a closer look at it." We got closer and suddenly, a huge shark jumped out at us, his enormous mouth opened wide and his razor sharp teeth took a bite out of our ship! He plunged back into the water and never came back. With the shark gone, we thought our troubles were over, but little did we know! As we neared home, seven alligators and a three-headed sea monster rose out of the sea; my mom fainted, my dad yelled, "Grab the daggers," and we went into the cabin and got them. We threw the daggers at the sea monster, but this only made him angry and he breathed fire and scorched me. My dad threw a dagger right in all three of its eyes. The sea monster thrashed around and smashed our boat.
The sea monster and the alligators went back into the sea, and we went home on a piece of wood. And we never went boating on Devil's Night again.

MIRACLE ON THE FARM

In the last stall
Of the blistered barn behind
Grandma's house,
Lolls the majestic,
Tawny-white cow.

The odor of fresh hay bales,
Dancing in the atmosphere,
Tickles my nose
And steals away, hermitted

Behind moans
Of her forcing the calf
Into the world.

Her fawn-eyes, spilling love,
Melt mine
As I watch her lift
The thin caul from
The calf's fragile body
With her big, steamy tongue.

We named him Ulysses.

REBEL

Old Man Rebel, eighty by cat time, bent double from arthritic pain, hobbles through the kitchen's slow yielding door on rheumatic shoulders.
Sagging stomach and drooping chin hang low, pulled carpetward by gravity's invisible hand, dragged down by the strength of time.

His rosebud nose no longer tells curry from tuna. Misty-grey eyes stare blankly
now, bathroom mirrors after a shower; ears twitch less often, thunderclaps a pin dropping. The gaping grin, his trademark once, nothing now but a toothless yawn, opens to reveal his leather-skinned tongue.

Most days he sleeps, soaking sun, dreaming of his supple past in woodland parks hunting two-legged prey.
Today birds easily evade his stilted chase, mocking his age-humbled gait.
Sleep pacific yesterday thoughts,
Rebel,
live now for your journey to tomorrow.

John Esper ordained

Deacon John Esper was ordained to the priesthood by Archbishop Edmund C. Szoka December 10 in Blessed Sacrament Cathedral in Detroit.

Father Esper, 31, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Esper of Northville. His home parish is Our Lady of Victory.

For the past six months Father Esper has served at St. Sylvester Parish in Warren. He will continue his internship at the parish for another six months.

Father Esper studied for the priesthood at Sacred Heart Seminary, Detroit, and St. John's Provincial Seminary in Plymouth. He is a graduate of Western Michigan University.

Father John has two uncles who are priests. Father Clement Esper is pastor of St. Hugo of the Hills in Bloomfield Hills, and Father Thomas Esper is pastor of Holy Innocents in Roseville.

A Mass of Thanksgiving was celebrated by Father Esper at 12:30 p.m. December 18 at St. Sylvester Parish in Warren.

FATHER JOHN ESPER

Why pre-arrange a funeral? Because there's time to talk things out frankly.

There are many reasons why making funeral arrangements is best for you and your family when planned out in advance. Pre-planning gives your family an opportunity to express their feelings in a relaxed atmosphere.

Advanced planning also spares your family from having to make many important decisions at a difficult time.

We are experienced in helping people arrange the kind of service that best satisfies their personal preferences. If we can answer your questions or help in any way, please don't hesitate to call on us.

Florida building boom lures Michiganians

Winter travelers planning to escape the Michigan winter and seek refuge in Florida will find a wealth of new water parks, elegant hotels and exquisite restaurants, according to the Automobile Club of Michigan.

More than 550,000 Michiganians are expected to travel to Florida this winter, approximately four percent more than last year, according to Auto Club Travel Operations Manager James Drury.

Seventy-five percent of them will go by motor vehicle.

For those who prefer to fly, the trip will be easier because of a $242 million expansion at the Lauderdale-Hollywood International Airport, a $100 million expansion at Tampa International Airport and a new $96 million Southwest Florida Regional Airport at Fort Myers.

Among the largest new projects in Florida is the $500 million Grand Cypress Resort adjacent to the Walt Disney World Village in Central Florida. The first phase of the resort, an 18-story, 750-room Hyatt Regency, is expected to open in early February.

Visitors to nearby Epcot Center, Walt Disney's spectacular $900 million visionary community that opened in 1983, can enjoy the world showcase pavilions, ride through history aboard the Communicore in Spaceship Earth or board the center's newest addition, a ride-through adventure called Horizons.

In Central Florida, the recent opening of the 870 room Buena Vista Place, the 445-room Kon Tiki Village Resort Hotel and the 220-room Caravel Inn brings the total room count in the Orlando-Kissimmee area up to 75,000.

For entertainment, visitors can climb aboard boat cruises now offered along the Dora Canal in Mount Dora or enjoy Kissimmee's Gatorland Zoo's recently opened Jumparoo Show, featuring snapping alligators leaping for food.

In northeast Florida, visitors will find that preservation efforts have served as a springboard for many new bed and breakfast inns, including Jacksonville Beach's 1924 Casa Marina Hotel and St. Augustine's Casa de Solana, a restored 1763 colonial home.

Travelers can tour Jacksonville Beach's restored turn-of-the-century railroad depot, now housing the historical society's museum of local history. They also can walk along the northward-flowing St. John's River, which has two new riverfront restaurants, the Chart House and Crawdaddy's.

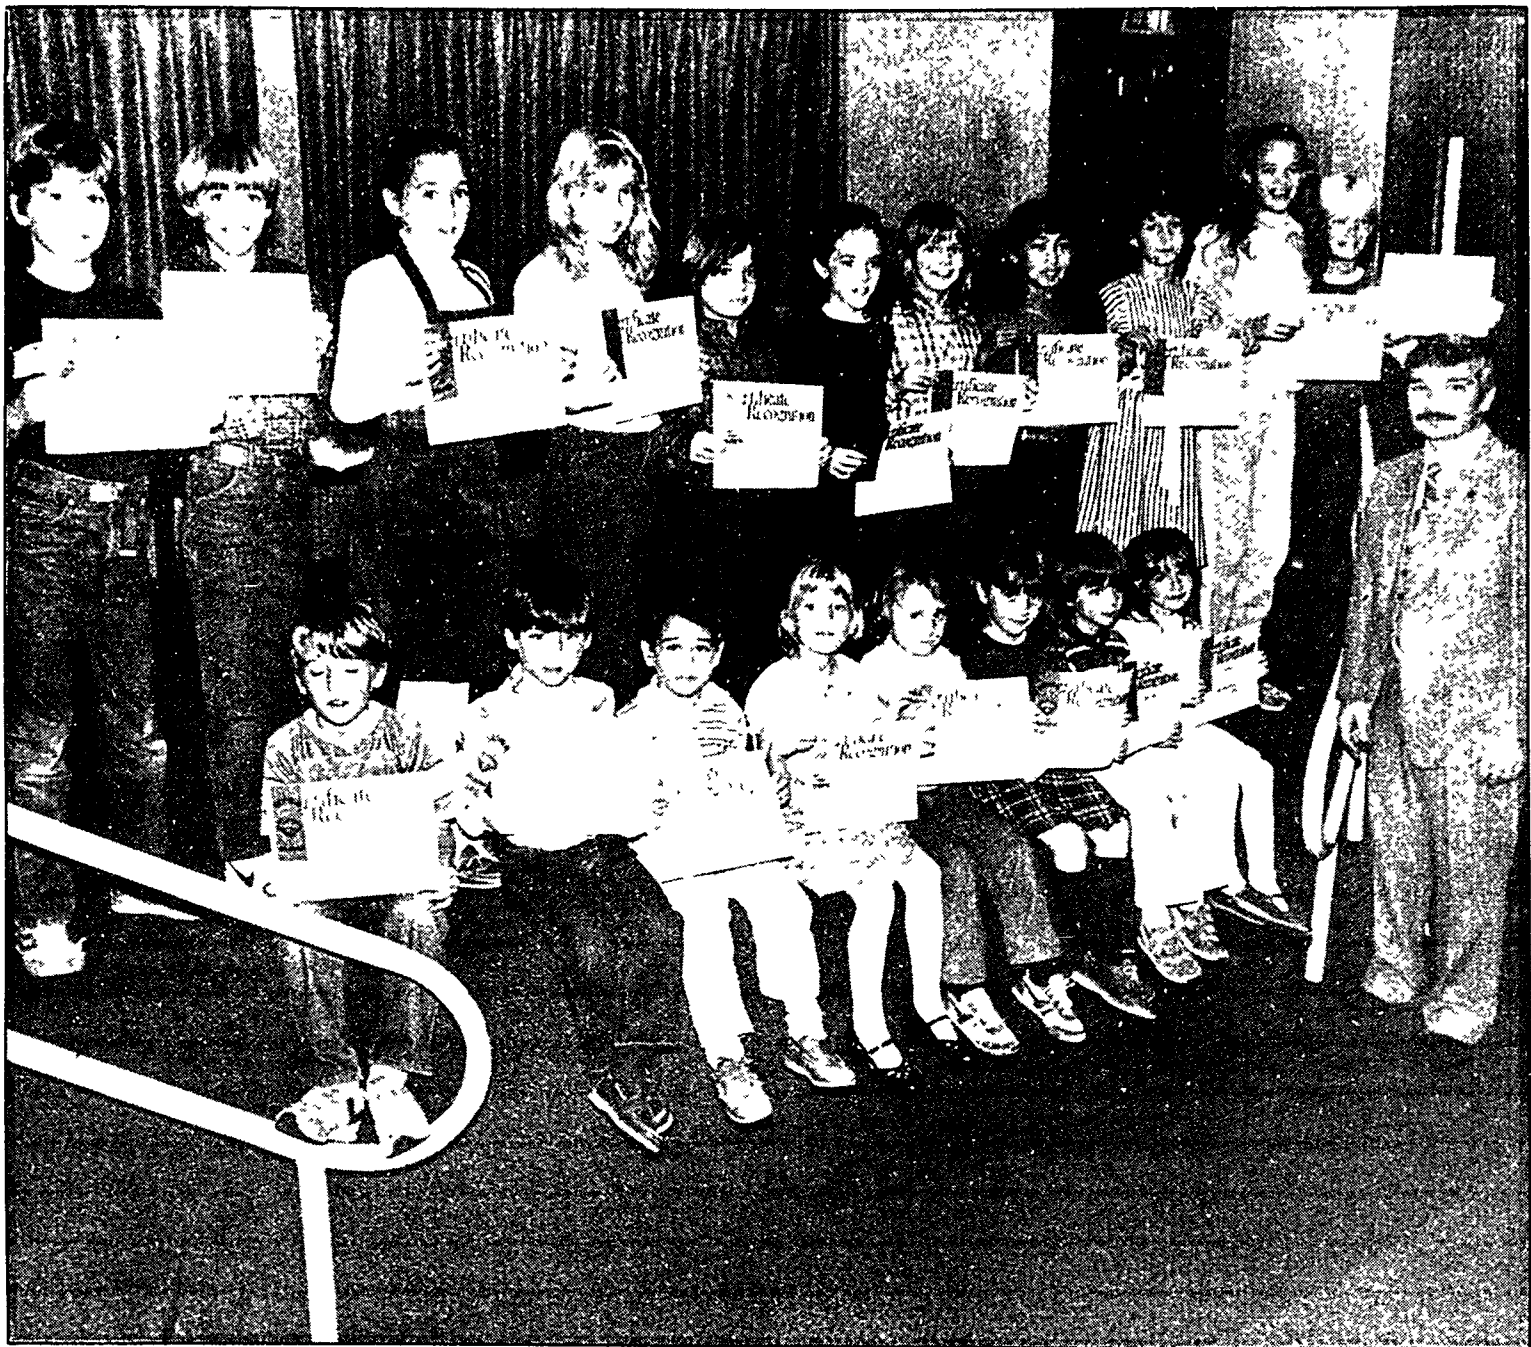

In southeast Florida, Miami Beach's restoration program includes a $944,000 landscaped riverwalk along the Miami River, while visitors can thrill at the 80 rides which make up the new $18 million water theme park, Six Flags Atlantis, nestled around an 11-acre lake in Hollywood.

The "World of Little Horses" opened recently in Pompano Beach with 48 Falabella miniature thoroughbred horses.

West Coast visitors can tour Adventure Island, a satellite of Busch Gardens in Tampa, which has opened a new water slide call the Gulf Scream. Entertainment of a different kind is offered at the new Ruth Eckero Hall, a $13 million, 72,000 square foot performing arts center in Clearwater.

Southeast Michigan drivers should allow at least 2½ days to reach the Florida state line and an extra day if traveling to Miami, said Drury.

The fastest and most direct route listed on the Auto Club's map for southeast Michigan motorists is along I-75, which covers 1,401 miles — all four-lane highway — with only about 50 miles of semi-mountainous driving in Kentucky and Tennessee.

Dorothy Sampson, R.N., M.S.N., coordinator and lecturer, will be assisted by clinical instructors in local general hospitals.

Classroom work will include lecture, discussions, audio-visual presentations and lab practice. Clinical practice will include patient care assignments made by the faculty, experience with medications and treatment and observations in some specialty areas.

Topics range from specific organ and site involvement, chemotherapy, control of pain and emotional aspects to cancer quackery, hospice concepts, community resources and death and dying. Faculty will be registered nurses from the in-service department and the oncology unit of Annapolis Hospital. Classroom work will include lecture, discussions and audio-visual presentations.

Tuition and fees for in-district students are $70.25, for out-district students $103 and for out-state students $148.
