Site plans for shopping center put on hold

By B.J. MARTIN

Township planners have put on hold their approval of final site plans for the 33-acre Meijer Thrifty Acres shopping center to be located at Eight Mile and Haggerty roads.

At its January 31 meeting, the Northville Township Planning Commission voted unanimously to table granting final approval until several problems with the retail department store chain's site plans are resolved. Of those problems, the one which appears the most troublesome is sanitary sewage disposal from the site.

The plans provide for a six-inch diameter pipe carrying high-pressure sewage from the store plus 65 acres of surrounding properties as those 65 acres are presently used.

Sewage would be transported to a pumping station on the southeast corner of the Meijer parcel, then would be pumped into the existing gravity sewage disposal route which serves subdivision residents to the south and southwest.

Township engineer Jack McNeely reported the proposed and existing sewage disposal routes are adequate to handle the Meijer sewage, together with that of the present demand of adjacent properties. But, he added, additional development in the 100 acres would likely put too much strain on the system.

Some residents who live right at the end of the pressurized sewage linkup and at least some township planners are concerned that strain might already be too much — and perhaps unnecessary.

The much-discussed Haggerty Road sewage route serving subdivisions and businesses to the west is a high-priority township project, and Meijer representatives agree it is the best long-run solution to the shopping center's disposal requirements, as well as those of surrounding properties.

But McNeely told the township board that the Haggerty Road sewer could not be built in time for Meijer's planned construction, scheduled to begin this spring.

Meijer representatives made it clear they do not intend to wait. The firm first acquired rights to the property in 1972 in anticipation of the Super Sewer project which would have served that area. After Super Sewer plans were scuttled, Meijer developers waited until economic conditions appeared too good to wait for the Haggerty Road sewer, and proposed the southwest routing.

Since that plan was approved by McNeely and the township water and sewer commission, Meijer Vice-President of Real Estate John Stephen-

Redistricting will cost city over $2,200

By KEVIN WILSON

State legislative reapportionment is going to cost the city of Northville more than $2,200 to make notification of district changes to voters, city clerk Joan McAllister reported to council Monday night.

The estimated cost covers only the printing of new voter registration cards for those voters residing north of Eight Mile Road and required first class postage, she said. Labor costs and other incidentals are not included.

District lines were redrawn late last year following the successful recall of two Democratic state senators. The unusual mid-decade reapportionment followed the routine one by two years. Locally, it changed state and house and senate districts for that portion of the city in Oakland County.

State law requires that the city notify the Oakland County voters twice — once by April 1, 1984, in regard to the alteration of the state house district (from the 60th to the 36th); so that voters know well advance of this August's primary.

Notice of senate district alterations in the same area cannot be accomplished at the same time, however; so a second notice will be required prior to the next senate election in 1986, McAllister added.

She sought, and received, a council resolution supporting a letter from the Michigan Municipal Clerks' Association seeking support from the Michigan Municipal League for a bid to have the costs reimbursed by the state.

Under provisions of the Headlee amendment to the state constitution, the letter states, it is the clerks' association's belief that these costs should be reimbursed because the second reapportionment within two years represents and increase in the level of an existing service.

McAllister is first vice president of the clerks' association.

She said smaller communities are reporting costs in the same neighborhood as that calculated for Northville (no districts are changed in the township, so notification is not required there), while larger communities bear a proportionately larger burden.

♥ Valentines ♥

For 32 years Lois and Tom Curl have been Valentines. They admit they still enjoy doing things together — from a morning coffee to regular walks in their neighborhood.

Their love story is one of four being told for St. Valentine's Day in the Our Town section, page 1-C. Record photo by Steve Fecht.

NHS to honor alumni

To recognize the achievements of Northville High School graduates, a distinguished alumni award has been established in the district with nominations currently being accepted by School Superintendent George Bell.

The award is to be conferred upon a Northville High School graduate who has brought credit to his or her community, business or self as well as Northville High School.

A special screening committee has been established to review nominations for the distinguished alumni award. Committee members include Elroy Ellison, former high school principal; Pat Dorrian Sandbothe, Northville High School teacher; David Bolitho, Northville High School principal; Jean Day, editor of The Northville Record; a member of the Class of '84 and the Class of '85; a member of the board of education, Marian Zayti, in charge of child accounting for the school district and a member of the district's Central Office Cabinet.

Nominations for the award should include the alumni's name, year of graduation and 250 words of supporting documentation highlighting the nominee's achievements.

Nominations should be mailed or dropped off at the superintendent's office, 501 West Main, Northville.

Nominations will be accepted through March 16 — with the screening committee reviewing the nominees by late April.

The high school will make arrangements for the recipient to be presented at graduation ceremonies in June and make a brief address at commencement.

According to Superintendent Bell, the presentation of a distinguished alumni award is aimed at elevating the dignity of graduation ceremonies as well as recognizing excellence at Northville High School.

City reaches agreement with command officers

By KEVIN WILSON

A new labor agreement for city police command officers (all ranks from corporal up, excluding the chief) was ratified by Northville City Council Monday.

The 1983-84 pact (from July '83 to June 30, 1984) follows in the pattern set with other city employees in that it includes no wage increase and only minor additional benefits costs, city manager Steven Walters reported.

The agreement covers eight officers and was approved by NCOA last week. The wage freeze provisions, a key element of the city's negotiating stance as it battles a deficit exceeding $400,000, have now been officially accepted by all but one city bargaining unit.

The contract is essentially a carry-over of the 1982-83 agreement with the following modifications:

- Bereavement leave for the death of immediate family members expanded from three days to five for a portion of the list of those relatives defined as "immediate family."
- A change in the titles of the ranks of corporal and sergeant. Officers in those ranks will hereafter be called sergeant and staff sergeant.
- Reduction of one vacation day at all steps in the seniority scale. The scale is

NEWS BRIEFS

OUR LADY OF VICTORY will be hosting an open house from 10-11:30 a.m. Thursday at the school, 133 Orchard between Seven Mile and Main. The general public is invited to observe classes in session and the school's new computers.

TWO ROBINS were sighted in Northville last week, probably a better harbinger of spring than the groundhog. One was seen Tuesday in town, the second last Friday in the back yard of Marion Menyhart's home in Northville Colony Estates.

NORTHVILLE Board of Education will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the board conference room at Old Village School. The Blue Ribbon Citizens' Committee studying the district's financial accounts is to make a recommendation for the school's upcoming April millage election.

RECREATION Commissioners will meet tonight at 8 p.m. Among the agenda items is discussion of the Northville Recreation Department's 1984-85 fiscal year budget.

City's best-known resident talks about labor

By KATHY JENNINGS

Douglas Fraser and his wife, Winifred, have chosen a contemporary condominium in Northville for their retirement home.

They have been living in Northville since July and say they will continue to do so "probably forever."

The former president of the United Auto Workers explains the move was one of convenience. Northville is close to his six grandchildren. Jason and Julie Walker — his daughter Jeanne's children, and Kate and David McKenzie — Winnie's daughter Barbara's children, all live in Novi. Two more grandchildren live in Southfield.

The city is also convenient to Metropolitan airport where Fraser spends a lot of time on his way to teach, speak or serve on any of a number of boards and committees on which he is still active.

Since retirement from the U.A.W., Fraser has taught, first at University of Michigan, then at Wayne State. He also gives seminars at Harvard where he is speaking on trade unions at the John F. Kennedy School of Government and the Kennedy Institute of Politics.

From the couch of his living room, the past president of U.A.W. describes the future of the labor movement in the United States as he sees it.

Fraser doesn't agree with those who are ready to strike the death knell for unions in this country. "I don't take a pessimistic view of the unions," Fraser says.

Despite a growing anti-union atmosphere and the difficult times unions recently have gone through, Fraser sees continued growth for the labor movement.

"Unions will have to become more involved in the political arena and provide more education within the union," Fraser says. "They will have to explain the union and its role in society. The membership has to be educated on what is fair collective bargaining. That will be the challenge for unions."

But in order to meet Fraser's expectations unions will have to continuously change.

"Unions aren't perfect. Some are less perfect than others. The most difficult things to change are habits, especially bad habits. And unions have them. Unions will have to develop the ability to change. It will be very difficult and slow in coming. But as long as there are bosses there will be unions."

Fraser admits recently times have been difficult for the labor movement, due to a combination of self-inflicted problems and those outside the unions' control.

"This is not a good time for the labor movement. There's been the recession and many things beyond the union's control. The Iranian revolution changed things dramatically. When the oil supply dropped two million barrels a day and gas lines formed the country switched from large to small cars, overnight. It's been shown that in Canada where they didn't have gas lines they kept their big cars.

"We got sloppy in our quality," Fraser continues. "In 1977 and 1978 the auto companies were selling everything they could build. Dealers were selling every car. The plant manager's responsibility was to get as many cars out the door as he could. Priorities shifted."

"Japan was building a good quality car, and to be competitive American companies had to improve, and they have — substantially."

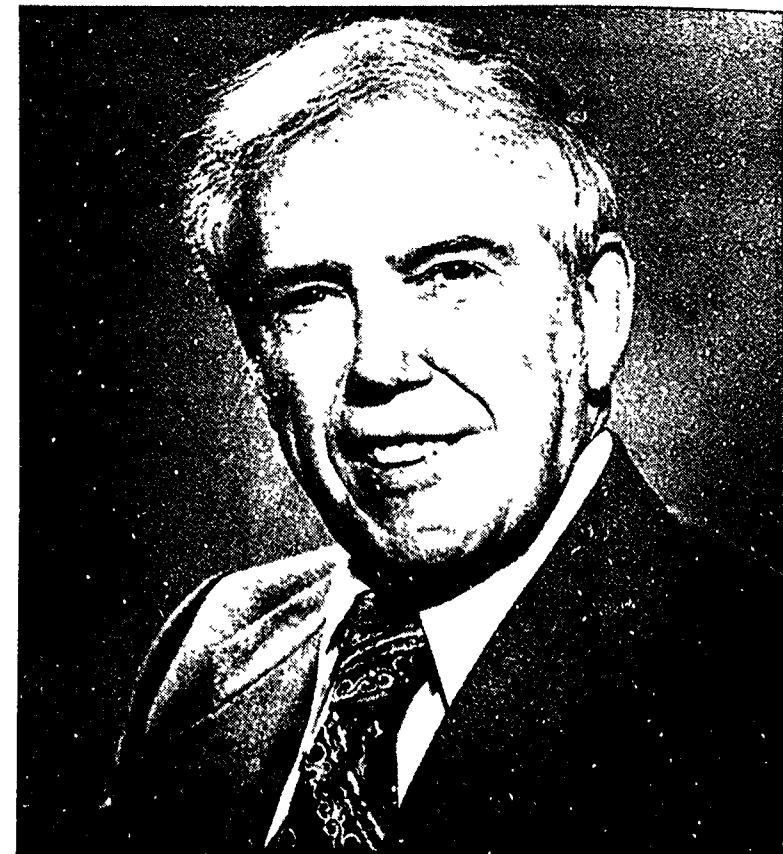

"The auto industry is trimmer, more profitable. During the next downturn they'll be able to absorb more without losing the tremendous amounts of money that was lost."

As a result, Fraser predicts: "Within a week they'll be reporting record profits and they've done it on relatively low volumes."

Fraser also does not agree with those who believe union membership, used to rich contracts of the past, has simply become greedy.

"Unions have made concessions... There are situations in which they are not going to do it, when they think the management was bluffing or that there were alternatives. And there is a point beyond which people will not go. In a democratic union you've got to let the membership make those decisions..."

DOUGLAS FRASER

Fraser: 'As long as there are bosses, there'll be unions'

"It's a matter of timing and strategy — not principle," Fraser continues. "It depends on the economic circumstances. When workers have high wages and good fringes, there are situations where they should take concessions. But when management tries to take advantage and exploit the workers, even when they are profitable, the workers should resist."

"In 1984 there is no justification for concessions and the companies wouldn't be so bold as to ask for them in light of the profits they will report."

For Fraser the labor movement is an integral part of a free society.

"If you look around the world, wherever there is a democratic country there are free trade unions. Where there are no free trade unions there is a totalitarian government. The first thing dictators do is destroy the labor movement."

He also is a firm believer in the labor movement as an instrument for social change.

"What is the union's role in society? Some people in the union feel it's limited to putting money in the paycheck and increasing fringe benefits..."

"I've spent my entire adult life in the labor movement, and I wouldn't have spent five minutes of it there if we hadn't taken the broader view of advocating social change and helping the people of this nation," Fraser explains.

"For example, if you go back far enough we fought for public education.

We were in the forefront of the struggle for civil liberties and civil rights. We worked for increasing the minimum wage, even though none of our people work for minimum wage. The appropriate role of the union is a philosophical argument."

"That doesn't mean the unions always know what's best," Fraser adds. "We can't do it alone... We can't make something happen without support. We have to have a coalition with other segments of society."

Fraser explains that, when the unions advocate changes the rest of society does not agree with, the unions will not be able to put together the coalition of support necessary to make it take place. "If you have outlandish ideas, they aren't going to be supported."

But Fraser adds, "The fact you're taking a minority point of view should never be discouraging. You build from that by convincing and persuading people. Maybe then the minority will become the majority."

As the former leader of what has been described as one of the country's more liberal and socially conscious unions, Fraser many years ago was dubbed a "self-proclaimed ultra liberal." With a laugh, Fraser now dismisses the label, saying it's meaningless. He says his politics could be described as liberal, but he sees them as "progressive."

"I like to view myself as a 'pragmatic idealist.' The important thing in life is to have the ability to change. Too many people are wedded to history. You have to change with the times and events. You have to be ready to change."

"One thing about the changes in the world in the last couple of decades is that change comes about more quickly and profoundly," Fraser continues. "That makes it more important to review decisions and correct them if necessary. You have to be flexible, you can't be a captive of history. That's one of the secrets to successful government and leadership."

Having led an organization that once counted 1.5 million members, Fraser has a number of views on leadership.

"The role of a leader is first to lead, not simply react, express and vote the wish of the constituent. Sometimes you have to take a risk and chances and get out ahead. When you're in a leadership position, you have more knowledge available to you."

As an example of a risk he took, Fraser notes he marched with Martin Luther King at a time when U.A.W.

members in the south would not have approved.

"At times there is a test of leadership," Fraser says. He cites Michigan's tax increase as one of those tests.

"Phil Mastin and David Serotkin were absolutely right supporting it. But they paid the price of leadership. They took a risk and paid for it."

Fraser served on a state commission made up of representatives of diverse political viewpoints which reviewed the state's fiscal position. "The committee came up to the unanimous opinion that the state had a $900 million deficit," Fraser says. "When they learned the facts, the legislature stepped up to its responsibility."

son said he thought it was unfair to hold up the project now. He told commissioners, "We gave the township the opportunity to say we couldn't proceed long ago. The word was then to go ahead."

"We're willing to help pay the cost of the (Haggerty) sewer line, but not to the point where we're willing to wait three or four years to build the store," he added.

In effect, there are three options: one, to build as planned; two, to delay construction of the site; and three, to have Meijer sewage hauled away on a daily basis until the Haggerty sewer line is built.

Of those three options, it appears the first is most likely to happen — it would be incumbent on future developers of businesses to make improvements to the sewer line. Also, it is the least expensive short-run sewage disposal method for Meijer.

A potential hazard of that option is what could happen in case of an obstruction downstream from where the pressurized sewage line meets the gravity-flow system. Commission Vice-Chair Bernard Baldwin repeated his earlier concerns about the disposal route:

"Basically, what you've got is sewage forced for over half a mile," he said. "If anything gets in the way downstream, that pump will keep pumping and it'll have to pump (the sewage) somewhere. And it's got the pressure to pump it 70 feet uphill."

At the meeting, it was revealed that some of the homes in that area had septic systems very close to the gravity-flow line's elevation.

Wallace Bailey, a resident of Fairway Drive, where homes would almost certainly be affected if such a back-up occurred, said: "In the short term it looks like (the system) can handle it. But how about what happens if it gets plugged? My system is only three feet above the line, and it'll back up in a hell of a hurry."

Complicating the situation is the fact that, since the sewage route would serve more than one parcel of property, the township would bear responsibility for its maintenance. And yet, because of the already highly-pressurized sewage line, only one business can be served by the route.

Again, Baldwin was not happy with the arrangement. "Nobody in any (future) subdivisions to the south can get use of the main despite it being called a township sewer," he said. "It's a white elephant that we've got to service."

Estimates demonstrate the township's expense is no small matter. McNeely pegged the figure at $17,000 a year and almost certain to increase.

Stephenson responded that the Meijer plans weren't designed to circumvent covering the cost of sewage disposal, and that the company could maintain a private sewage line. "We were told to have a public sewer," he told commissioners.

It was finally Commissioner William J. Bohan who made the motion to table the issue to allow further study and resolution of other site plan issues identified by Claude Coates: sign ordinance noncompliance, nonspecific parking lot lighting plans and the rearrangement of 11 trees in the parking area.

Meijer developers noted two of those issues — lighting and sign ordinance — were to be discussed at the February 20 meeting of the Township Board of Zoning Appeals. Developers are expected to request variances of ordinances restricting light placement and sign size.

With Commission Chair Richard Duwel absent, the planning commission vote to table was unanimous.

Responding to the action, Stephenson said it was unlikely there would be extensive changes in the plan at this late stage: "We presented what we thought was our best shot," he said. "We'll talk to the water and sewer commission, but we don't see any changes."

also changed to make steps occur only at full-year intervals rather than at six-months (conforming with other city contracts). The six-month step applied only to first-year employees, who had been allocated one week vacation at that point. Language is changed to clarify the ability to carry over vacation days from one year to the next.

- Cleaning allowance for uniforms is increased $50 to a total of $450 per year.
- One officer assigned to the detective bureau is to receive $200 every six months as a clothing allowance. The detective is required to maintain both a uniform and civilian clothing. The duty rotates on a roughly annual basis.
- Officers will receive annual straight time compensatory time off for the required 15-minutes they must report prior to the start of a shift.
- There is, as in other city labor agreements, a reopener clause that takes effect only if subsequent labor negotiations between the city and other groups results in a contract more valuable than the one reached by NCOA. Also added is a clause referring to the present scheduling arrangement. This is carried over from the agreement with the Fraternal Order of Police, which represents patrol officers and dispatchers.

Council discussed the pact in closed session for approximately 20 minutes near the end of Monday's council meeting. The session was opened to the public again and a unanimous vote taken ratifying the contract. No council member commented on the issue during open session. Mayor Paul Vernon was not in attendance.

With the command officers, the only city employees working without a contract at present are clerical workers at city hall. They are in an independent bargaining unit which split from the AFSCME local representing DPW employees two years ago.

Walters noted that there is some pressure on the clerical workers to reach agreement relatively quickly, since the end of the fiscal year is now less than six months away. If agreement is not reached soon, negotiations would be folded into the next year's, he said.

Township fire chief Robert Toms and supervisor John MacDonald examine equipment

First jaws device delivered

By KEVIN WILSON

No one's saying so for attribution, but it looks as though the Northville Jaycees may contribute their entire Jaws of Life fund toward the township's purchase of the tool and then join in a fund raising effort to buy a second one for the city.

The first Jaws of Life to serve the Northville area exclusively was delivered to the township fire department earlier this week. The tool is a hydraulic machine used to extract victims of car accidents from crushed autos. Estimated cost for the machine and employee training exceeds $8,500 for each.

Jaycees met January 25 to determine how to distribute an estimated $6,000 they have raised toward the purchase of the tool over the past several months. Options included splitting the fund between city and township or donating the entire amount to the township and beginning fresh to raise a similar amount for the city.

Publicity chairman Ron Barnum said Tuesday a decision had been reached but that at the same meeting Jaycees determined that only president Greg Dawson could make an announcement. Dawson was not available for comment prior to The Record press time.

No Jaycee representatives appeared at the Monday city council session, the first since the decision was reached. Had the organization determined to split the funds, such an appearance would be expected. The township board of trustees meets Thursday evening, but the Jaws of Life item is not on the board agenda. The issue was discussed last month under the fire department report, however.

Council did discuss the city drive Monday, authorizing fire department fund raising car washes February 25 and March 24 with all proceeds to the Jaws of Life fund. The fund is at an estimated $3,000. The fund was begun with $2,200 realized in the sale of obsolete paging equipment, and earned another $500 in a January car wash. Additional individual donations have been made as well.

A fund raising letter was included in city water bills last week, and council member Paul Folino suggested another might be in order, this one quoting fire chief Jim Allen's contention that the purchase could be made if each city resident contributed $1.

Garden club hosts meeting

Northville Branch of the Women's National Farm and Garden Association will meet at 12:30 p.m. February 13 at the home of Pat Allen.

The topic of Monday's program will be Toxic Waste Dumping to be presented by a staff member of the Natural Resources Department.

Social chairman for the day will be Mary Platt and members are reminded it is guest day.

Wild food walk topic

"Wild Foods of Winter Wildlife," a 1½-hour nature walk, will be held at the Nature Center of Kensington Metropark near Milford at 2 p.m. Sunday, February 12.

Park naturalist Mark Szabo will discuss how and where wild animals find food in the winter and why artificial feeding programs can sometimes be harmful to wildlife.

The program is free; however advance registration and a vehicle entry permit (daily — $2, annual — $7). For information or to register, contact the Nature Center of Kensington Metropark, call 1-800-552-6772 (toll-free).

"Grand Rapids is estimating its cost will be at least $30,000," McAllister said. "That's just printing and postage."

Council member J. Burton DeRusha noted that similar costs spread statewide add up to a significant imposition on local governments.

Included in council packets was a copy of letter from Senator Ed Fredricks (R-23rd District) in reply to an inquiry from the Coopersville city clerk. In the letter, Fredricks states he would support a bill requiring reimbursement of the costs but that "I think the reason such a bill has not been introduced to reimburse the local units is that it would draw attention to the cost imposed by the local units by the legislature and would in fact be an admission of guilt."

Fredricks noted that the Republican Central staff examined the question and made an initial determination that the requirement to notify voters existed prior to the Headlee amendment and therefore would not be a reimbursable cost.

Fredricks said he would support a bill requiring reimbursement only if it received substantial support from the municipal league and the Michigan Townships Association.

According to the clerks' association letter (signed by association president Donald Schipper of Holland, who estimated his city's cost at $2,500) many legislators did not appear to be aware the reapportionment would impose any cost on local government.

Salem Township Supervisor Taylor dies

FLOYD ELLERY TAYLOR

Salem Township Supervisor Floyd Ellery Taylor died February 3 at Grace Hospital in Detroit at the age of 76. An area resident since 1953, Mr. Taylor lived at 55815 Eight Mile in Salem Township. He was a former member of the Washtenaw County Board of Commissioners, serving 13 years. He was a past president of the Michigan Fur Breeders Association and a member of the Salem Farmers' Club. He was a member of St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Northville and the Lutheran Laymen's League. Funeral service was held at 11 a.m. Monday at St. Paul's church with Pastor Charles Boerger officiating. Burial was to be in Glen Eden Memorial Park in Livonia. Mr. Taylor was born March 14, 1907, in Marshall, Texas, to James E. and Della (Bell) Taylor. He was preceded in death by his wife Hazel on April 26, 1982. He leaves six children, James and William of Northville, Margaret Taylor of Livonia, Marcia Taylor of Frankenth, Leslie Taylor of Flushing and Mrs. Joan Agent of Union, Mississippi. Survivors also include a sister Mrs. Mary Schaffhauer of Marvell, Arkansas, and seven grandchildren. Visitation and arrangements were by Casterline Funeral Home.

BRIAN DONALD BUTLER

A memorial service for Brian Donald Butler, 29, of 433 South Ridge, South Lyon, will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday at Casterline Funeral Home. The Reverend Eric Hammar, pastor of First United Methodist Church in Northville where he was a member, will officiate. Mr. Butler had lived most of his life in the area. He was a truck driver for Allied Vans. He died unexpectedly February 5 in a snowmobiling accident in Ogemaw County. He was born December 10, 1954, in Detroit to Donald and Jean (Stolanoff) Butler. He leaves his parents in Northville and a brother Mark in California. The family suggests that memorial tributes may be made to the heart or cancer foundations.

HENRY DONALD COLLINS

Funeral service for Henry Donald Collins, 49, was held at 10 a.m. Saturday at Casterline Funeral Home with Pastor Luther Stanley of New Hope Baptist Church in Salem Township officiating. Mr. Collins died at his home at 16980 Franklin in Northville Township February 1 after an illness of two years. A memorial service at 8 p.m. Friday at the funeral home was conducted by the Northville American Legion Post 147 and Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 4012. Mr. Collins was a member of both. Burial was in Washtenong Memorial Park in Ann Arbor. A resident of the community since 1962, Mr. Collins was employed by Dunn Steel. He was born May 9, 1934, in Louisville, Kentucky, to Henry and Mattie (Hoskins) Collins. He married his wife Marie E. Collins in 1956. Survivors include his wife and his mother, Mrs. Mattie Ramsey of Detroit, as well as daughters Joyce L. Collins and Mrs. Debra Ann Hackney, both at home, and several brothers and sisters. He was preceded in death by a daughter Evelyn Marie Collins, who died June 5, 1973, and by one brother and two sisters.

KENNETH SHELLY

A memorial service for former Northville township resident Kenneth Shelly is being held today at Valley United Presbyterian Church in Green Valley, Arizona. Mr. Shelly died February 5 in Green Valley after an illness of two years. A former Ford Motor Company executive, he had retired to Green Valley. He had been a township resident on Pickford in Shadbrook subdivision. He leaves his wife Margaret, daughters Lenore, Peggy and Heidi and four grandchildren. He had been a member of First Presbyterian Church of Northville. The family suggests that memorial tributes may be made to the American Cancer Society or either the Northville or the Green Valley Presbyterian Church.

CHARLES ARTHUR PROVIS

Funeral service for Charles Arthur Provis of 515 Novi Street was held at 11 a.m. last Thursday at Casterline Funeral Home with the Reverend Eric Hammar of First United Methodist Church officiating. Mr. Provis died January 31 at Botsford General Hospital at the age of 59. Members of Northville Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 4012, in which Mr. Provis was a member, served as pallbearers. Burial was in Rural Hill Cemetery. Mr. Provis also was a member of Northville American Legion Post 147 and of the Northville Eagles. He had moved to Northville five years ago from Livonia and was self employed as a flooring installer. He was born April 4, 1924, in Detroit to Arthur and Winifred (Chellew) Provis and was married to Annabelle Chesney Provis. In addition to his wife he leaves a son Charles of Livonia, daughters Mary Ann Bond of Brighton and Linda St. Clair of Northville. He also leaves a sister Thersa LaVasseur of Livonia and four grandchildren.

Former Northville resident dies in snowmobile mishap

A South Lyon resident was killed near West Branch February 4 when a snowmobile he was driving collided with the rear end of a pick-up truck. Michigan State Police Sergeant Ken Bennatt said Brian Donald Butler, age 29, died at 7:30 p.m. Saturday after the snowmobile-truck collision. Bennatt said the truck had been parked on the shoulder of M-55 in Ogemaw County's Logan Township and was attempting to get back on the roadway. According to the police report, Butler was traveling westbound on the shoulder of the road at the time of the accident. Bennatt said visibility was poor due to blowing snow. The driver of the pick-up truck was not cited in the incident.

The police officer said Butler had been snowmobiling with a group but became separated from the party. He was alone when the accident occurred, Bennatt said. Butler lived at 433 South Ridge. He came to the city about four years ago from Northville, according to his friend, Sheri Northrup. Butler was employed as a truck driver by Allied Van. This was the second fatal snowmobile accident in Ogemaw County in the last three weeks, the sergeant said. It was the first automobile-snowmobile fatality this year. Bennatt said the accident occurred when a snowmobile plunged through ice and the operator drowned.

Registration under way for Schoolcraft telecourses

"Put a Little Class in Your Home" is the suggestion of Schoolcraft College Community Services in regard to its credit-free mini-telecourses for the winter semester. A three-week course on Quality Circles begins February 14. It can be seen on the College Cable Channel at 5 and 10:30 a.m. and repeated at 5 and 10:30 p.m. Omnicon, Channel 16, will carry it only at 10:30 a.m. and 5 p.m. The fee is $20. Personal Time Management, which starts March 6 for six weeks, runs at 5 a.m. and 5 p.m. It will be repeated starting March 10 at 10:30, mornings and evenings. Omnicon, Channel 16, will carry it only at 10:30 a.m. and 5 p.m. Personal Time Management is a "nuts and bolts" course emphasizing specific techniques of scheduling systems, priority definition, delegation and handling interruptions. Participants will learn how to conduct productive staff meetings and to set up filing systems that work. Fee for the course is $25. These programs can be seen on College Cable channels throughout the metropolitan area. Check your cable guide for the channel number. Both of the courses will be repeated beginning mid-April. Study guides may be picked up in the Office of Community Services in the Administration Building upon presentation of a tuition receipt. For information, call 591-6400, extension 409.

Local residents sought for new Toastmasters club

Toastmasters International, known as a world leader in communication and leadership skills, is organizing a Northville-Livonia area club. Phyllis K. Sullivan of Plymouth is taking names of interested residents at 455-1635. She explains that the Toastmasters' communication and leadership program takes each member step-by-step from being "hesitant to speak before an audience to one who can comfortably participate in any speaking situation with confidence and assurance." She adds that the program allows for continuing development at one's own pace. "It is not a classroom situation, but a club meeting in a congenial dinner atmosphere of growth and development." Sullivan calls membership fees "modest." The Toastmasters' goal is to aid participants in expressing their thoughts, ideas and opinions and, thus, leadership potential. Programs include information on how to construct a speech, use of voice, persuasion and give experience in doing so. The organization is international with world headquarters in Santa Ana, California.

Correction

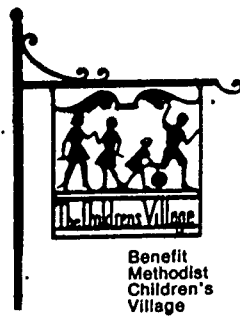

Wayne L. McBride, a member of the Brighton Hospital Board of Trustees, erroneously was identified as a former Northville resident in The Record. Wayne L. McBride, president of Mason-McBride Incorporated, has never lived in Northville, William G. Yagerlener, community relations director of the hospital, reports. The Record regrets the mis-identification. Yagerlener adds that many staff members and patients of the hospital which treats the disease of alcoholism are residents of the Northville area, however. He notes that the hospital's free community education program conducted on the first Tuesday of the month has been well attended by residents of surrounding communities.

Academic club slates meeting

The Northville Association of the Academically Talented will meet at 7 p.m. February 14 in Mrs. Gayle Fountain's office on the lower level of the board of education building on Main Street. Those attending are asked to enter from Cady Street. Plans will be finalized for an astronomy program to be given March 13. It will be presented by Richard Ensign from the Crestwood Planatorium.

'The King And I' leads off film series

By B.J. MARTIN

"The King And I," Rodgers and Hammerstein's adaptation of Margaret Landon's novel, "Anna And The King Of Siam," kicks off the Northville Marquis series of "classic" films to be offered each weekend.

The 1956 Yul Brynner-Deborah Kerr vehicle has been eased out of the regular late-night television movie rotation (probably in favor of pickup truck and girl hitchhiker flicks) and is worth investigating as a complete whole. There aren't many who can remember what it looks like undiced by commercials.

It's a far cry from an "art" movie, but it is admittedly "artistic," under the hand of director Walter Lang.

It's often sentimental and coy, yet never less than captivating thanks to the charm of its two protagonists, Brynner in particular, who won a "Best Actor" Academy Award for reprising his Broadway role. Certainly not a movie for those without a mushy streak in them.

Brynner, of course, looks as Siamese as Charles Bronson, but brings a kind of classy, exotic appeal to the movie (In a 1946 non-musical film adaptation of the book, Rex Harrison played the King). His tongue-in-cheek portrayal makes the prim histrionics of Kerr (Mamie Nixon dubs in singing parts) look absurdly melodramatic and naive. But of course, that was the point in the first place.

Included in the musical package: "Hello, Young Lovers," "March of the Siamese Children," "Getting To Know You," "Shall We Dance?" "This Is a Man" and "Whistle a Happy Tune."

Things to watch for: the climactic adaptation of Jerome Robbins' brilliant stage choreography of the King's family's play-within-a-film, "The Small House of Uncle Thomas," as they translate it. We call it "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

The Sunday matinee might be a good diversion for snowbound kids and grandmas, as this is fine G-rating fare.

Marquis Theater to present slate of seven classic movies

The Marquis Theater has announced a series of classic films to be shown over the next seven weekends, beginning this Friday and continuing through April 1.

Here is the seven-film schedule:

"The King And I," Friday, Saturday and Sunday;

"The Seven Year Itch," February, 17, 18 and 19;

"Picnic At Hanging Rock," February

"La Vie Continue," March 9 and 10;

"Educating Rita," March 16, 17 and 18;

"Reds," March 23, 24 and 25;

"Ordinary People," March 30, 31 and April 1.

Friday and Saturday showings are at 8:30 p.m.; Sunday matinees are at 2:30 p.m.

4-H offers career program

Oakland County 4-H is sponsoring a free careers program every Tuesday and Thursday at 5:30 p.m. through February at the Pontiac Boys' Club for young people ages 15-20.

Participants will learn interviewing techniques, resume writing and "how to dress for success" in the program. It also is intended to motivate participants to pursue an education.

Quincy N. Stewart, Oakland County 4-H program assistant, says business people and professionals will take participants for a day to show them their jobs.

Call 858-0889 for more information.

Peter Jennings was guest speaker at the meeting.

Women's Network to meet Friday

Reservations are being taken today for the Professional Womens Network meeting scheduled from 7:30-9 a.m. this Friday at the Farmington Community Center, 24705 Farmington Road.

The monthly meeting will begin with breakfast and guest speaker will be Kay Britton of Kay Britton Travel.

Britton will discuss several aspects of travel including travel from the travel agent's perspective, how to find and use a travel agent, travel for women alone and deregulation and what it means.

All professional women in the area are invited to attend. The Professional Womens Network meets the second Friday of each month.

Cost of the program is $5 and reservations can be made by calling 477-8404.

Compare IRAs

Which would you prefer... a higher stated interest rate or more money?

Michigan National compounds interest monthly to pay you more money for your money

Higher stated interest rates on Individual Retirement Accounts (IRA) may sound good initially. But, if you're interested in earning more money for your money, consider the effects of Michigan National's monthly compounding of interest versus other banks' simple interest method of payment.

Earn interest on your interest

A minimum deposit of only $50 at Michigan National earns interest each month. So, month by month, year after year you continually earn interest on your interest.

Most other banks, however, pay interest on a simple basis.

No compounding.

No payment of interest on your interest.

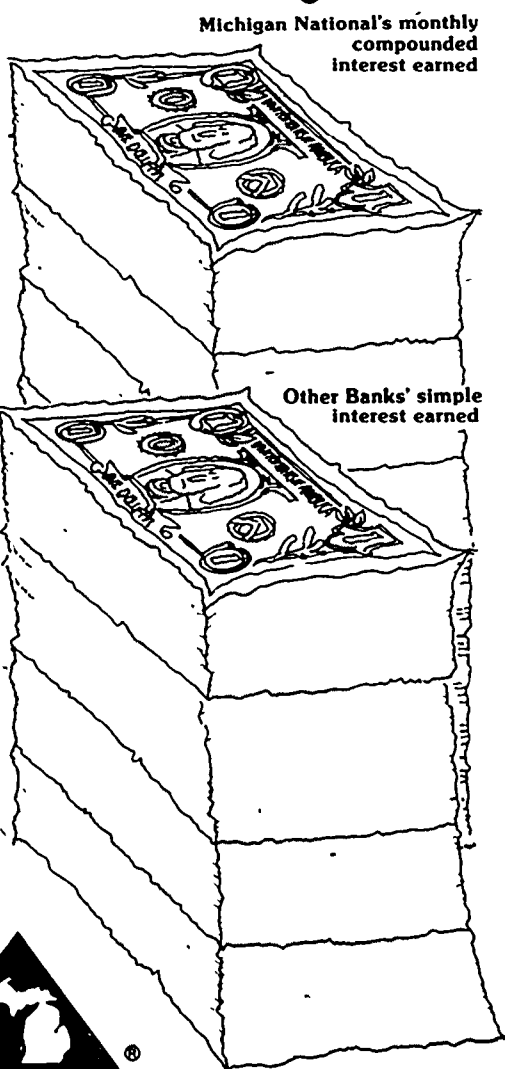

That's why other banks can quote a higher rate, and yet, pay less interest over the lifetime of your investment.

Don't be fooled by high interest IRA claims.

Invest your retirement savings with Michigan National where your IRA will earn more money for your money with monthly compounding.

Need a loan to fund your IRA?

Borrow up to your annual IRA contribution limit at preferred rates to take advantage of 1983 or 1984 tax deductions. Then write off interest payments for an additional tax savings. Ask for details on the advantages of an IRA at any branch office.

Michigan National Corporation Banks

Substantial penalties and tax liabilities imposed for withdrawal from IRA prior to age 59½, except in cases of death or disability. Withdrawals must begin by age 70½. Member FDIC.

Michigan's major statewide banking group with over 160 branch offices offering Michigan's largest ATM network. Michigan's largest insured deposits up to $100,000 by the FDIC, backed by over $486 million in Depositor Protection Accounts. Total assets exceed $6.7 billion.

Commissioners select officers for '84-'85 term

All officers of the Northville Township Planning Commission were reelected at the group's meeting Tuesday of last week. Retaining their offices for another year will be Chair Richard Duwel, Vice-Chair Bernard Baldwin and Secretary Pat Wright.

All the officers were reelected by unanimous vote at the meeting, with Duwel absent.

In other action at the meeting, the commission submitted an unchanged budget proposal for the 1984-'85 fiscal year in its annual report to the Northville Township Board. The $10,000 budget includes $8,000 in available fees for planning consulting, $2,000 in available fees for engineering consulting and $1,000 for legal consulting.

Clerk Phyllis Bell retires from city post

By JEAN DAY

Phyllis Bell will be leaving her desk in the city building department for retirement February 29 — but living mementoes from her 18 years of service at city hall will remain for fellow workers and her successor.

The umbrella plant beside her desk scrapes the ceiling and is "just too big" to move, she says, recalling that it was only inches high when it was a "get-well gift" from fellow employees in 1974.

The floor by the window opposite her desk is filled with flourishing plants. An asparagus fern is tagged for co-worker Mildred Hudolin, and Donna Kohs is going to receive a plant potted in a copper kettle — as a reminder to turn off the tea kettle in the kitchen.

Phyllis Bell explains the kettle was left on and forgotten by Kohs once in the kitchen for employees. Afterward when it leaked, it became a planter.

The plants have been a conversational ice-breaker, their owner observes, with men who come in for building permits or requests for variances commenting they, too, are growers.

Phyllis Bell says she is retiring at the end of the month "because at 66 it's time to leave."

She mentions that she "could have left after cancer surgery, but I had to prove to myself I could come back."

In May of 1982 she did return to her desk. It was just 3½ months after her surgery which included a colostomy. "They told me that it usually is a month's rest and then a year before you return to work, but I didn't want to wait."

"If I hadn't, it would have been easy to become an invalid," she admits.

Her job was somewhat easier when she returned because water and sewer department billing and calls, which had been Bell's responsibility, were transferred to the finance and DPW departments. The billings are done by computer.

"The phone would ring constantly after the bills were sent out," Bell relates. She also remembers that they used to be sent quarterly instead of bimonthly.

"The usual bill was $3.30 for both water and sewer, and $6 was a really considered high. Now, the average every two months is $30 to $40, and $100 is not unusual, especially in summer," she says.

In addition to helping applicants with building permits, much of Phyllis Bell's work now is for the board of appeals, planning commission and historic district commission.

"I find the work for the appeals board especially interesting," she adds, explaining that she compiles the packets of information for the nine board members, notifies neighbors who live within 300 feet of pending requests and actually diagrams locations of house to lot line for the board.

"Usually," she observes, "board members go out and look at the situation — where the lot line is, where the variance (addition, etc.) is requested."

"It's important," she points out, "because there is no appeal (to council) from the board's decision. Once the decision is made, the only appeal is by going to court."

She observes that the appeals board headed by John Hinman "really listens to what neighbors say."

Phyllis Bell remembers that when she joined the work force at city hall January 13, 1966, she was one of only four women in the office. She worked with the late Martha Milne, who was city clerk, and with deputy clerk Hilda Boyer and Marion LaFevre.

"In those days everybody did everything; we had to know about taxes because the office was open Saturday mornings, and we rotated working."

It was then-city attorney Philip Ogilvie who hired Bell. She recalls that he was serving as interim city manager before Frank Ollendorf was hired. She worked for Ollendorf for seven years, and since for Steven Walters.

"I had worked for Wayne McBride, a custom home builder, when the vacancy came up."

The move to city hall proved to be a good one, she says, because her first husband died of cancer in 1968. Her only daughter, Linda, now married to Michael Curtner and living in Novi, still was at home. In those days, Phyllis Bell relates, insurances weren't so ample and "you were glad to have an income."

Linda weighed only 2½ pounds when she was born in 1949 in Northville at Sessions Hospital, her mother relates. As she was during her bout with cancer, Phyllis Bell then was a patient of Dr. Russell M. Atchison whom she calls "the greatest in the world."

He sent the new baby to Ann Arbor in a portable incubator, she continues. Linda was there for two months. "Her footprint and my fingerprint were the same size," her mother recalls.

"By the time she is three she will be all caught up," she was told, and it turned out that way.

Phyllis Bell moved to Northville when she was three years old. Her father, Edwin Flaherty, was manager of the Ford Valve Plant.

When she was graduated from Northville High School in the Class of 1935, Phyllis Bell remembers, "We took Mr. and Mrs. Amerman with us on our senior trip to Washington."

She mentions her class has been close and very active, holding reunions every five years. Marguerite Hartner and Sally Johnson were among her classmates, she notes.

Phyllis moved to Novi when she married Ron Bell 13 years ago. He has been with the Farmington Public Schools for 23 years and is not yet retiring. The marriage gave her three stepchildren.

Since she "really cleaned the cupboards" while she was recuperating from the cancer surgery, Phyllis Bell says she will do volunteer work again if she finds she has time on her hands. She had had a Girl Scout troop for 12 years.

Phyllis Bell currently sees an upswing in building. "We're a lot busier," she says, pointing out that five new houses have been built in the city dur-

Two Northville residents were among the more than 100 Eastern Michigan University students recently named to the Golden Key National Honor Society.

Named to the honor society were BONNIE BROWNLEE of 20453 Lexington and PAMELA

SUE ELLIS of 1039 Allen Drive. Brownlee, a senior at Eastern, is working toward a bachelor's degree in business computer systems. She is married to LeRoy Brownlee, an instructor at Henry Ford Community College.

Ellis, a junior at Eastern, is working toward a bachelor of science degree. She is majoring in English literature and speech. She is a member of Kappa Delta Pi and the Association for the Betterment of Childhood. She is married to Tim Ellis, an employee of Schrader's Furniture.

Only juniors and seniors who hold grade point averages which fall in the top 10 percent of all EMU students are eligible to become Golden Key members.

Northville resident ANNE FONDE recently was initiated into the Alpha Gamma Chapter of Zeta Tau Alpha Sorority at University of Michigan.

PATRICIA NEWELL, daughter of Douglas and Mary Newell of Northville, appeared as Miss Campbell in "The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie" at Wayne State University's Bonstelle Theatre through February 5.

GARY WATERMAN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wade R. Waterman of Woodhill, is among the 174 students who earned a place on the dean's list for the fall semester at Taylor University.

To attain the dean's list, a student must earn a 3.6 or better grade point average on a 4.0 scale for the semester while carrying 12 or more hours of credit.

STEVEN BOURNE of 47255 South Chigwidden is among the more than 1,600 Miami University students named to the dean's list for the first semester.

Students named to the dean's list must have earned a 3.5 or better grade point average.

Northville resident JAMES ROTH is a principal actor in the Rooper City and Country School's production of "Godspell."

The production will be presented at 8 p.m. February 16-18 and at 3 p.m. February 19. Tickets for all performances of "Godspell" may be obtained by calling the Birmingham campus of Rooper at 642-1500.

SHERYL WILKINSON, daughter of Mrs. Karen Wilkinson of Fermanaugh, is playing the role of a nurse in the upcoming production of "Equus" at Albion College.

The play is being presented at 8 p.m. February 15-18 and at 7 p.m. February 19 at the Herrick Center for the Performing Arts.

Three Northville residents are among the students named to the dean's honor roll for the fall term at Lawrence Institute of Technology.

Students named to the dean's list include DEBORAH M. ISABELL, DONALD W. LUCAS and BRUCE TROJANOWSKI.

Students named to the honor roll must maintain at least a 3.5 grade point average and be a full-time student.

ANNE M. KIRKPATRICK of 45260 Byrne Drive is among the more than 1,000 undergraduates at Northern Michigan University named to the dean's list for the fall semester.

To be named to the dean's list, students must earn at least a 3.25 grade point average.

Income taxes are topic for chamber breakfast

"Income Taxes" will be the subject of the February breakfast meeting of the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce at 7:30 a.m. February 15 in the fellowship hall of First Presbyterian Church.

Jack Van Assche, a Certified Public Accountant with a practice in Livonia representing the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants, will talk and make a slide presentation.

The continental breakfast at $3 will be served from 7:30-8 a.m., chamber president Sherry Spaman said. The talk will begin at 8 a.m.

The breakfast programs are a new activity of the chamber. The first was held January 18 with speakers on AT&T.

The chamber board will hold its semi-monthly meeting at 8 a.m. this Thursday at the chamber building.

The chamber has scheduled a "Night at the Races" for 6:30 p.m. March 1 at Northville Downs Clubhouse. Tickets at $15 are available at the chamber office. Spouses and guests are welcome. The ticket price includes buffet dinner, admission to the clubhouse and racing program.

The chamber reports that the flea markets it sponsors inside the Northville Plaza Mall are continuing on the first and third Saturday of each month.

Support group formed

A support group for residents wishing to learn more about Parkinson's Disease will host its first meeting at 7 p.m. tomorrow at Hull Elementary School, 34715 Lyndon in Livonia.

The support group, for residents of Northville, Novi, Plymouth and Canton, is open to Parkinson patients, their families and friends. Members are given assistance to cope more effectively with daily problems.

Parkinson's Disease, a slowly progressive neurological disorder, affects about one percent of the population over age 50 and occasionally younger persons.

Though there is no known cure, systems can be controlled by medication.

Parkinson affects certain areas of the brain and causes abnormal movement such as tremor of the head, hands and legs, slowness of movement and stiffness of muscles.

Nancy Kelley, a physical therapist at Harper Hospital, will be the guest speaker at tomorrow's meeting.

Phyllis Bell to retire soon

ing the past year and that construction has resumed on the Lexington Condos on Eight Mile.

City Manager Steven Walters says that Phyllis "has the experience to be aware of the relationship of things — it's something you don't get in a new employee."

Because of the computer, it was possible to shift the water and sewer department queries to the DPW and other duties to the finance department, Walters notes, saying that there probably will be internal shifts to fill the vacancy.

"It may eliminate the need for a layoff," Walters observes, referring to the city's budgetary problems.

There will be a special void at her desk, however, as Phyllis is known throughout city hall for keeping a filled candy dish on her desk. "There's always chocolate, of course, and peanut butter cups for the boys working in the water department," she smiles.

Everyone at city hall, former employees and friends in the community are invited to attend a farewell dinner in Phyllis Bell's honor. It is scheduled for February 27 at Genitti's. City hall employees are taking reservations at 349-1300.

TAX TIPS

LEE E. HOLLAND, C.P.A.

DO YOU HAVE A TAX SHELTER?

If you want to reduce your tax liability, consider investing in a tax shelter, such as real estate, a limited partnership, or some other worthwhile investment. This will not only "shelter" your regular income by reducing taxes, it can also produce savings. This can be accomplished in three ways: by deferral, leverage, and conversion.

When your investment generates tax losses, particularly in the early years, you can defer liability on your regular source of income until the investment begins to show a profit. In the leverage method, the money you borrow from a bank or other financial institution for your investment can be used as a depreciation deduction and possibly qualify as an investment credit. Conversion means that when you sell your investment the profit is taxed as a capital gain instead of ordinary income.

For a review of tax shelters and other ways to use your income to your tax advantage, why not call us for an appointment?

Rape:

A crime not of passion, but of violence, says detective

By JEAN DAY

Rape. It's the four letter word that is devastating to a woman, causing the same kind of fear that "castration" incurs in a man.

The comparison is Detective Jerry L. Wright's. He is crime prevention specialist in the crime prevention section of the Ann Arbor Police Department and a frequent speaker on rape prevention.

His message to women is that this crime often can be prevented if "you use your head" — literally as a weapon but more often to keep thinking in a potentially dangerous situation and to avoid creating one.

The talk he gave last Friday to more than 80 members and guests of Northville Woman's Club brought no smiles. Wright, a police veteran with 16 years in the Ann Arbor police department, didn't expect it would.

The detective, who has conducted more than 300 workshops on how to avoid rape, emphasized that rape is a "crime of violence, not passion."

"I have investigated rapes of women of all ages from infants up to 79 years old, and there were many times I did not sleep at night," Wright said, admitting that he does not go to movies that deal with the subject.

The recent rape-homicide of an Ann Arbor woman who was grocery shopping, he reported, "really shook up the community." Kroger noted a $2,500 reduction in business, and stores changed their hours," he related.

"There's nothing wrong in being paranoid for survival," he said as he spoke of the reaction.

Commenting that the "sad thing about prevention is the fact that there is no way you can recognize whom you're dealing with," Wright asserted that "all in this room have the ability for deviate behavior. Police officers, doctors, counselors are all possibilities."

To illustrate, Wright recalled that John Norman Collins had been a friend and fraternity brother of his at Eastern Michigan University. "I would not have given recognition," he said, "that he was a mass murderer yet in 1980 he was believed responsible for 25 murders in Southeast Michigan."

Mentioning that police are seeing more instances of child molestation, Wright said that rapes are "a family situation."

Better than 51 percent know who their attacker is — it could be a casual acquaintance, Wright warned, advising that families need to discuss the subject.

What can you do to minimize your chances of becoming a victim?

Wright cites several things:

- Lock your home doors securely.
- Keep your car doors locked.
- Walk a longer route to your destination if it's lighted and avoid dark blocks.

"Keep in mind that rape is not for sexual gratification. It's dominance, power, control," Wright warned.

The detective related that in a recently publicized rape of an Ann Arbor woman in her home the husband had been tied up and his wife raped twice.

The rapist then said to her, "Aren't you humiliated?"

Unfortunately, the officer commented, this rape need not have occurred. The man entered through a window that was open and not secured with a barrier.

Because the rapist is not acting in

Detective Jerry Wright addressed the Northville Woman's Club Friday

passion, Wright said he doubts that drugs being produced to lower sexual urges would be any help.

Michigan, he said, now has a criminal sexual conduct statute that replaced the old rape law. It protects men, women and children who have been sexually assaulted.

"The code took male and female out of the act," Wright explained, observing that rape has been a question men have not normally had to address.

The code prohibits both sexual penetration (including oral) and sexual contact (touching or forced touching of genitals, groin, inner thigh or breast) with the maximum penalty varying according to the circumstances.

"This means you do not have to be penetrated to prosecute for rape — a lot of people are not aware of this," Wright said. He noted that there is a better attitude toward a rape victim now than in the past. In Ann Arbor officers have received sensitivity training and some hospitals have special sections with counselors for victims.

However, the officer said the law currently is changing. In the future prior history may not be allowed to be part of a court case. There also is consideration that the accused need to be protected.

"Once accused, the stigma stays with you the rest of your life. It's important to have safeguards," he said.

"If you are raped, it will modify your lifestyle for the rest of your life," Wright told the women.

He suggested some pre-planning, especially for those who live alone.

• Your first name should not be listed in the telephone book.

• Call forwarding telephone service ensures that your call will be answered whether or not you are home.

• The best way to deal with obscene telephone calls is to hang up as soon as you hear the heavy breathing. Don't wait.

• If you are driving, make sure your car is working properly and let someone know when you will be at your destination.

• Some women who drive at night have a mannequin seated in the car with them.

• When you are walking, you might carry a portable alarm system in your hand. If the street is not lighted, walk around the block for a safer route.

• A 60 watt bulb burned every evening costs about $2.50 a month and lets you enter a lighted house.

• One woman, Wright reported, who had concerns about admitting service people went so far as to purchase some men's clothing and have it on view. Then she said, "Please be quiet my husband's sleeping."

• A person who said, "I can't afford to move (from an unsafe neighborhood)" reported taping the sound of a vicious dog which was played whenever a knock was heard on the door.

• An inexpensive tool can be purchased to secure sliding glass doors; dead-bolt locks should be used on all doors.

• Close your draperies at night.

• Don't open the door without knowing who is outside.

Wright also cited the effectiveness of watch groups in communities like Ann Arbor, saying incidents have gone down in such areas "but suspicious calls have

ABUSE

Dr. James Luther

The only things more difficult to explain than the wounds of war are the bruised bodies of babies. Such injuries are the result of terrible attacks on children by "adults", often by their own parents. Even as we shake our heads in disbelief, we know the stories are true! Why?

Man's inhumanity to man is a result of sin.
As our fallen nature struggles against God, it produces a variety of violence and sorrow.
The Bible says:

*"Now the works of the flesh are manifest: fornication, uncleanness, idolatry, sorcery, hatred, strife, wraths, divisions, heresies, envyings, drunkenness, wildness and the like;... they that practice such things shall not inherit the kingdom of God" (Gal.
5:19-21).*

With the acceleration of wickedness in these last days, anything can happen. And it will! One of the signs of the last days is the absence of natural affection (I Tim. 3:3).

For the sake of children and adults alike there is a great need for people to turn to God. Those who receive Christ, receive a new nature as well. The Spirit of God in a life produces "love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness and self control." Think of how that would change your home.

Potential rape victims face three quick choices

"You have three alternatives when you have been selected as a rape victim," Detective Jerry L. Wright told his Northville audience last Friday.

Give in. Exhibit non-aggressive behavior. Or resist.

He cited instances when with non-aggressive behavior the intended victim was able to avoid being raped.

This only works, he warned, if you can stay calm and keep thinking. Women have turned away a would-be rapist, he said, by acting crazy or saying they are pregnant.

"Some have accomplished this by having seizures or vomiting," he illustrated, reporting that one woman slipped a bromo seltzer under her tongue and the white foam coming from her mouth "turned off" the attacker.

"I don't know how much you want to do," he told members and guests of Northville Woman's Club, "but you have to decide immediately."

The only other path is active resistance, he continued.

"One word of caution if you're planning this method. If he (the attacker) shows or infers he has a weapon, do not use active resistance."

'Fingernails are a good way to inflict as much pain as possible. Filed in points, they're your weapon. They also collect physical evidence.'

— Jerry L. Wright
Detective

To win with active resistance, the detective said, "you've got to use your mind, control the situation and be as forceful as possible — up to taking human life."

Wright emphatically stated he does not encourage using devices for protection as the spray usually is in a woman's purse and there will not be time to get to it.

"You can't say, 'wait until I get out my spray from my purse,'" he commented.

The other objection to devices, he listed, is that they easily can be turned on you by the attacker, who probably is bigger and stronger.

"Do instead use your mind and parts of your body — pull on a little finger or thumb, and it will break or come off."

"If the attacker grabs from behind and is about your height, hit him hard with the back of your head. That can hurt, really hurt, his face and nose and in that instant you may be able to get away."

"Nails are a good way to inflict as much pain as possible. Filed in points they're your weapon. They also collect physical evidence. Used on the face, they can give skin samples, and samples can convict."

Wright reported that mass murderer

John Norman Collins was convicted with a strand of hair.

"Inflict as much pain as you can," he continued. A knee in the groin area or a kick hurts terribly — you may have gained time to run.

"If the rapist is behind you in a lock position, hit his kneecap, or his instep."

There are three issues if a human life is taken, Wright outlined.

"It's going to impact you for a long time — you've got to deal with the moral issue," he warned. There's also the possibility of a civil lawsuit, he said, relating how a man convicted of robbery was released after serving a prison term for the offense and then sued the victim because of the limp resulting from his being shot. He was awarded $78,000 damages, Wright reported.

It's also a major inconvenience to be involved in a lawsuit, and there are more and more of them as it only costs $15 to file. It could mean 'there goes my livelihood,' Wright said.

Another warning: screams may not bring help as many people do not want to "get involved."

The officer suggested more help might be forthcoming from a call of "your house is on fire!"

"What if everybody took this view," Wright questioned, noting that less than five percent of the population are victims, but the other 95 percent has to get involved, if only to call a 911 number.

Center widening snag: No federal grant money

City hopes to have Center Street widened north and south of the Eight Mile intersection concurrent with the widening of the mile road were dashed this week when the Wayne County Road Commission reported that federal money would not be available for the project.

The widening project, estimated to cost $100,000, would not be eligible for federal funding as an addition to the Eight Mile project, William G. Walker, road commission design engineer, stated in a letter received in city hall Monday.

Walker said he had spoken with a Michigan Department of Transportation engineer requesting information as to how to enlarge the Eight Mile project and was told it could not be done.

The city must now consider the project as one requiring 100 percent local financing rather than 20 percent, city manager Steven Walters told council, and may approach the school district regarding any possible cost-sharing based on the project including deceleration lanes for both the high school and Amerman elementary school.

Walker's letter noted that the road commission will proceed with the Eight Mile widening, taking the city project into account when designing any alterations to the intersection at Center Street.

Walters said this might indicate that at least that portion of Center designated a part of the intersection proper would be widened, relieving a small portion of the cost.

He added that it appeared possible the city should delay the widening until after completion of the Eight Mile widening rather than proceeding concurrently. The availability of funding now becomes the key concern, he added.

Politics and 'Freeze' topic

Jerry Raymond, chairperson of the issues seminar for the Wayne County 2nd District Democratic Party is key speaker for the Peace Resource Center meeting February 13 in the Newman House.

"The Nuclear Freeze Campaign and Political Activity" will be the topic of discussion for the 7:30 p.m. meeting. The public is invited.

The meeting will be recapped in a 10 a.m. meeting February 15. Newman House is at 17300 Haggerty, just north of Six Mile Road, near the Schoolcraft College campus.

Police Blotters

City police investigating suspect in '83 assault case

In the City . . .

Northville city police are investigating a Livonia man in connection with an assault which took place almost exactly a year ago in a downtown clothing store.

Police received a tip Tuesday of last week from a store clerk that there was a suspicious individual shopping at the Marquis Boutique: a tall, powerfully-built man dressed as a female was reported blunting object.

Using a blunt object, a man with a generally similar description had assaulted a 56-year-old saleswoman in that store February 9, 1983. He has never been apprehended.

City ordinance section 8-101.24 reads: "Any person who shall be found in any public place dressed in the attire of the opposite sex shall be declared a disorderly person." On that basis, city police arrested the man for the misdemeanor of violating the city disorderly conduct ordinance.

As of this week, police were seeking a positive identification from the attack victim, but, according to Police Chief Rodney Cannon, have been unable to contact her.

There were two minor incidents of malicious destruction of property reported in the city during the past week — the mailbox post of a home on Summerside sustained $25 worth of damage when unknown person(s) broke it, reportedly between 8 p.m. Saturday and 2 a.m. Sunday.

The other incident took place between 4:30 and 8 p.m. Sunday at First Presbyterian Church, 200 East Main. A 12" by 8" window pane to an exterior door was broken, with damage estimated at $5.

. . . In the Township

Northville township police are investigating two break-ins at Northridge Apartments which occurred during the daytime hours of January 30 and 31.

According to police, the first incident occurred sometime between 11:30 a.m. and 3:45 p.m. January 30 when unknown suspects stole an estimated $1,700 worth of items.

The complainant told police she was certain she locked the door upon leaving her second floor apartment but was not sure she locked the dead bolt.

The complainant further advised the officer at the scene that the entry door to the apartment building does not lock. This was confirmed by the officer.

The complainant told police that when her 13-year-old son returned home from school, he found the door locked but not the dead bolt. Upon entering the apartment, he discovered the television and video game missing and called the complainant.

The complainant called police when she returned home.

The complainant stated that the television and video equipment were removed from the living room and $27 in cash, which had been left for her son, was taken from the dining room.

A jewelry box and its contents were removed from her dresser top in the master bedroom and a cream-color chenille bedspread was taken off her son's bed in the second bedroom.

According to police, no signs of forced entry were evident. The complainant told police the balcony doorwall off the apartment, which is always locked, was found unlocked after the break-in.

However, police could not find any evidence of entry or exit from that point.

A neighbor in the apartment building told police that at approximately 1:30 p.m. he was returning home from grocery shopping when he observed a lone white male exit a small, dark brown vehicle in front of the building.

The neighbor said the subject went in to the building and pressed one of the door buzzers.

The neighbor said on his next trip into the building, he observed the subject inside and knocking on the door of an apartment.

He described the subject as being about 5 feet 10 inches tall, medium build, 25-30 years old with dark hair and a mustache.

Items stolen included a $400 Quasar television, Coleco Vision video game valued at $175, four video cartridges worth $120 and a $75 adapter for Atari tapes.

Jewelry stolen included two pearl rings valued at $200, a $50 opal ring and a $50 amethyst ring, a platinum antique ring with a floral design valued at $100, Trenton High School Class of '64 men's ring valued at $100, a $100 silver charm bracelet, $50 gold charm bracelet, a Timex Quartz watch valued at $50 and assorted costume jewelry valued at $200.

In a similar incident, an apartment in the same building was burglarized sometime between 8:55 a.m. and 4:50 p.m. January 31.

According to police, items estimated to be worth $5,000 were stolen from the second floor apartment.

The complainant stated that she locked the door upon leaving for work but was unsure if the dead bolt was locked.

The complainant further stated upon returning home she found the balcony doorwall to be unlocked. According to the report, the doorwall was locked prior to the incident.

The complainant told police that whoever entered her apartment also had gained access to her mailbox as the mail had been taken out and left on the credenza where the television had been.

The complainant said when she returned home from work, she unlocked the door and observed the television had been removed from the living room. A jar containing change also had been emptied.

Other items missing included a set of flatware and a jewelry box and its contents.

Police at the scene found no signs of forced entry.

Items stolen included a $350 Gold Star television, a $250 Holmes flatware service for six, a $30 jewelry box containing six pairs of gold earrings valued at $450, a large opal pendant worth $450, a gold neck chain valued at $400, gold chains valued at $450, gold bracelets worth $90, a $45 pair of pearl earrings, an aquamarine ring valued at $1,500, a lady's pinky ring with a Mexican coin valued at $500, a Northville High School Class of '81 ring, a $75 black sapphire ring, a $100 pair of black onyx earrings and other miscellaneous pieces of jewelry.

A motorized wheelbarrow valued at $6,000 was stolen from a Gerald Avenue business sometime between 5 p.m. January 27 and 2 p.m. January 30, township police report.

The complainant told police that unknown suspects stole the wheelbarrow while it was parked on a trailer next to the building.

The complainant further stated he has no suspects or witnesses. The stolen equipment was entered into LEIN (Law Enforcement Information Network).

Wheel covers valued at $300 were reported stolen off 1981 Buick Riviera parked at a Seven Mile restaurant sometime between 6:30-7:30 p.m. February 3, police report.

The vehicle was parked in the lot at the time the incident occurred. There are no suspects or witnesses at this time.

. . . From State Police

An estimated $1,150 worth of goods was stolen in a burglary at the Trading Post store on Seven Mile January 29, according to state police reports.

The store owner reported the theft of 100-150 bottles of assorted brands of liquor, 10 cases of soft drinks and 10 cartons of cigarettes, the police report states.

Entry was most likely made through the front door, police theorized, with the burglar probably using a screwdriver or similar tool to pry open the door, which was the type installed in a doorknob. An adjacent deadbolt lock had not been engaged, police stated.

Police noted that the owner did not call police until 11 a.m., a full hour after opening the store. Routine business had obliterated any evidence that might have provided police a lead in the case, according to the report. The owner estimated that the break-in occurred sometime between 11:15 p.m. the previous evening and 10 a.m. She said she had noted items missing in the past, suspected that there might be a problem, but did not contact police until confirming the large loss.

State police make transfers affecting Northville post

Three personnel transfers affecting troopers at Michigan State Police facilities in Northville were made January 29.

Sergeant John A. Davis was transferred from the Northville post to the Traffic Services Division in Lansing. Davis enlisted in 1968 and has served in South Haven, Mt. Pleasant, Lansing and Flat Rock. He calls Bay City home.

Detective Sergeant John H. Slenk was transferred from the Investigative Services Division of the Second District

Headquarters in Northville to the same division in Flint. Slenk, from Holland, Michigan, joined the force in 1973 and served previously in Flint.

Specialist Sergeant Norman J. Maxwell Jr. moved across the hall in Northville, transferring from the local post's Forensic Science Division to become Detective Sergeant in the Second District Headquarters.

Maxwell joined the force in 1971 and has prior service in Detroit. He lists Port Huron as his hometown.

each were reported stolen from a 1982 Oldsmobile four-door parked in the Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital parking lot February 2, state police reports said.

The owner told police she parked the white Olds upon reporting for work at 7 a.m. and noticed the wheel covers missing at 12:30 p.m. Value of the stolen covers was placed at $500.

Three Michigan State Police troopers were transferred from the Northville post to the Detroit post January 1.

Troopers Quentin J. Allen of Detroit, Cledonia Garza of Alma and Richard

A. Hetu of Dearborn were reassigned to Detroit. Allen and Garza both joined the department in 1979, Hetu in 1982.

Under the troopers' first collective bargaining agreement, the department's former procedure of making frequent transfers between posts was limited. Under the contract, troopers can only be transferred once, and that within the first five years of service, unless the trooper requests the relocation.

Allen and Hetu both began their service at the Northville post. Garza served at the Niles post prior to being assigned to Northville.

We have all your IRA answers.

"IRA? I won't be retiring for 40 years, I have plenty of time to start an IRA... right?"

Wrong.

Start now with $2,000 each year in your Down River Federal Savings Individual Retirement Account, you'll have $1,084,067 set aside in 40 years!

That's only about $167 a month — you probably spend that much on your car payment. But you don't have to start that high — we can set up an IRA for you for as little as $50 and you can contribute as much as you like at any time.

Plus your contributions are deducted off the top of your income, so the income taxes you'd normally have paid on that amount including the interest earned are deferred!

We make it a little easier for you.

DUCHESS REIGNS — Duchess Faye, five-year-old trotting mare, received the award of United States Aged Trotting Mare for the year 1983, awarded by the Harness Riders of America. A regular at Northville Downs until a rear leg fracture ended her racing career, Duchess Faye was honored with a special race and a tribute dinner at Northville Downs. Special surgery allowed the mare to retire to a productive life at pasture. Here she is shown being driven by owner Phil Peavyhouse of South Lyon.

Downs trotter gains national acclaim

By MARILYN HERALD

It was Duchess Faye night all the way at Northville Downs January 27 and she didn't run a race all evening.

The Standardbred trotter bred and owned by Phillip and Sandy Peavyhouse of South Lyon was recently voted Aged Trotting Mare in the United States for 1983 by the Harness Writers of America.

As a tribute to the top trotter, the Downs made January 27 Duchess Faye Night, dedicating a trot to her and honoring her with a post parade and several awards on her last night in Michigan. A Duchess Faye Tribute Dinner preceding the races was sponsored by the Michigan Harness Horseman's Association and the Michigan Breeders Association. The Peavyhouses were presented a blanket in the tan, red and black colors of their Rushton Road horse farm, which is located west of South Lyon.

dedicated breeding operation in New Jersey and New York. Duchess, a five-year-old, will be bred there for the first time to the stud, Speedy Crown, a top trotter in his own right, Sandy explained.

While the future holds much promise for Duchess, there was a time when the Peavyhouses nearly lost her. Shortly after Duchess and her owners returned from an international invitational trotting trip to the Scandinavian countries last spring, the trotter broke her left rear leg — an injury often fatal to a horse.

"We would have lost her if it had been a horizontal break," Sandy explained, adding that there would have been no way to repair the damage. "But it was a vertical break that now has four screws holding it together."

"Dr. Keeran (veterinarian R.J. Keeran of New Hudson) flew out to New Jersey, where Duchess was injured, and operated on her using a local anesthetic while she was standing up. They usually put a horse on a table to operate on them but when they slide them off, they have to stand on their legs. Dr. Keeran was afraid that would be too much strain on the leg and decided it was better to do the operation with her on her feet."

Sandy said Dr. Keeran thought the horse could be trained to run again, but Phil decided it would be better to retire her at the top and have her bred.

"The stud fee for Speedy Crown is $50,000 and the babies are sold as yearlings," Sandy explained. "There could be a lot more expense involved than just the stud fee; so we decided to lease her."

"We leased her to Lana Lobell farms, and they pay the stud fees and the board bills. We split 50-50 whatever money the babies bring. The farm has the right to half of her first three foals and then we can renegotiate the contract or bring her back to Michigan if we choose."

It will be somewhat of an old story to the Peavyhouses when they go east this spring to pick up Duchess' Trotting Mare of the Year award. Although this is the first such award they have received, the horse has won a host of races and trophies. She set three world records in one day in the World Trotting Derby in DuQuoin, Illinois, in 1981.

It was a nostalgic trip around the Downs track January 27 for Duchess and Phil as Sandy watched. The awards and honors were many and deserved by the horse which was the foal of two Standardbreds Phil had picked up for little more than a song — a true Cinderella story ending in a top racing career.

We have all your IRA answers.

"Every dollar we put into our IRA is tax deductible... right?"

Right!

Your Down River Federal Savings IRA contribution for the year is taken off your annual income... plus the interest your IRA earns is also deferred!

For example, a married couple with a $2,000 contribution to an IRA can save taxes as this chart shows

TAXABLE INCOME	TAX SAVINGS
$16,000 to $20,200	$380
$20,200 to $24,600	$460
$24,600 to $29,900	$520
$29,900 to $35,200	$600
$35,200 to $45,800	$700

If both members are employed there can be a $4,000 yearly contribution so the tax savings can be even greater. To find out more call or visit any of our 24 neighborhood offices. In the Downriver area call 285-1010, Northwest area 477-9340 and in the Monroe area 243-6600.

Our Opinion Time for plaudits

Friends make a difference. Our community is fortunate in having lots of friends — both official Friends and friends who work in many ways for the betterment of our town.

With February 14 approaching, it seems as good a time as any to send some Valentines.

For starters, among the first official Friends were the Friends of Northville Library now in existence for almost 10 years. The group has sponsored used book sales regularly to finance such projects as puppets for the children's department, story hours and featured speakers.

By contrast, one of the newest groups of Friends is the Friends of the Arts. Organized to work with the Northville Arts Commission in bringing cultural events to the community, the Friends last month held a first "Celebration of the Arts" evening successfully at the Marquis and plan regular future events.

The City of Northville and Northville Township are fortunate in having active beautification commissions. Both have created garden areas that bloom throughout the spring, summer and fall, adding much to the attractiveness of the entire community. In the city, the beautification commission aided greatly in completing the Mainstreet '78 project, planting hundreds and hundreds of bulbs and shrubs in beds throughout town. In the township, the approach to township hall was enhanced with a season-long blaze of color.

Members of the Northville Historical Society have been among the community's hardest workers. Since the group's official organization almost exactly 20 years ago on February 28, 1964, members have worked to preserve and restore buildings that represent Northville's history. Many members physically donated time to reconstruct the buildings while others worked on many, many fundraising projects.

The organizational meeting culminated more than a year of planning with the primary aim of "saving the library building." Not only was the library building, now called the New School Church, saved, but an historical village was created that is a hub for community festivities. Yerkes House, Hunter House, Wash Oak Schoolhouse, the Weavers' Cottage all have found their way to the Mill Race Historical Village and been restored.

The village represents the gifts of many — Ford Motor Company donated the land, Northville Downs gave the Yerkes House, Paul Folino the weavers' cottage which Mill Race Weavers' Guild restored. Northville Community Chamber of Commerce gave the footbridge entrance to the village, and students at John Glenn High School constructed the gazebo.

For sheer numbers — numbers that enable ambitious undertakings in our schools — the PTA must be recognized. It also must be applauded for its growth. All elementaries and both junior highs have PTAs and PTSAs that have been increasing their memberships and activities.

The only concern we have here is that the schools with the most active, best fundraising parent groups are getting more equipment, perhaps unequally compared with others. The PTAs undoubtedly have made possible major purchases — from computers to playground equipment — the schools' budgets would not have permitted otherwise. Cultural offerings also have been made possible through the Junior Entertainment Series.

At the high school level the Northville Boosters Club has been an important benefactor.

Northville Mothers' Club, organized in the 1930s to provide milk for needy students, has been a constant contributor to public school projects at every level from elementary through high school.

Service groups by their charters aim to serve their communities, and both Kiwanis and Rotary take that mandate seriously. For youth, Rotary locally has an active exchange program. It long has been the keeper of the Northville well. The landmark's maintenance has been an individual project for some time of Rotarian Jan Reef.

Northville Kiwanis Club has made life better for disadvantaged youth of our community. It has sponsored Special Olympics and regular bowling for the handicapped as well as many outings.

Veterans' groups, both American Legion Post 147 and Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 4012, have been responsible for our Memorial Day parades each year. They see to it that veterans' graves in Rural Hill Cemetery are tended and decorated appropriately. They also are the ones who see that the flags are displayed along Main Street on Memorial Day and other holidays. It is these groups with their auxiliaries who pay visits to hospitalized veterans and who remember patients in local convalescent homes.

The city fire department and auxiliary also give time and funds to others, as do such fraternal groups as the Masons and Eagles. Both Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts have made their youthful contributions to the community. Scouts have worked alongside garden and beautification members planting bulbs; they have entertained at convalescent homes; and contributed labor in the Mill Race Village.

It is doubtful if there would be a July 4th celebration here if it were not for the Northville Jaycees who spend months raising funds for and planning the spectacular parade and fireworks. Their Christmas Toys for Tots is another civic project.

For direct aid to the needy King's Daughters Mizpah Circle long has been called upon for Thanksgiving baskets. Joining in helping during the recessionary days is the Civic Concern Committee organized by C.A. Smith to continue year-round the aid offered by the Goodfellows.

You're all some Valentines!

Musical notes evoke memories

Twenty years ago this week, top Detroit disc jockey Robin Seymour was guest-hosting a Northville Jaycee teen dance. There might be a few of you who remember Rockin' Robin and what Detroit radio was like back then.

It was in the pre-FM and post-television era. And as TV supplanted the radio as America's favorite entertainment medium, radio stations were forced to adapt. Those that were smart focused on music, and in particular, Top 40.

Sure, the Motor City had its landmark talk-and-sports stations, and they haven't changed a lot. Conservative. Reliable. And completely irrelevant to on-the-edge-of-teenhood kids like myself (exception: WJR baseball broadcasts, especially circa 1968).

So it was Robin Seymour's station, WKNR, "Keener 13," and the "Big Eight," CKLW, that provided the soundtrack to my elementary and junior high years. And what was humming in the airwaves was something I'll never forget: maybe the most exuberant, exhilarating, vibrant, uplifting, energetic and inspirational music ever made — especially if you were near or at my age.

The biggest two ingredients were of course, our hometown Motown acts, and a group called the Beatles. The Beatles have gotten a lot of media attention recently because this is the 20th anniversary of the date they touched down in the USA for the first time. Keep Mozart's days in Vienna or Debussy's days at Paris — here and then were the place and time for music.

I try to resist nostalgia. A lot of people my age and older haven't let go of that era and still live there. And I really can't blame them. Except for The War, by all accounts it was a remarkably optimistic and non-cynical time.

The Great Society appeared to be working. There was a sense of unity among the emerging generation. Great strides were made in civil rights and economic justice and it appeared only a matter of time before technology solved all our problems.

Those hopes are pretty much gone now, and despite sporadic flashes by some of the artists who have survived the passage of that era in healthy form (Diana Ross, Paul McCartney, Marvin Gaye, and that singer who used to be in the Jackson Five), so is the music.

That's not literally true. Not only have some of the Motown artists successfully updated their styles, like Smokey Robinson and the artists noted above, but a lot of the old groups like the Temptations and Four Tops still stay together to zip through songs like My Girl and Reach Out I'll Be There on supper-club and theater tours.

But a teen dance just isn't the same. When Rockin' Robin was spinning discs at the Jaycee dance, he probably had the place packed with people hopping to "Dancing in the Street" or snuggling up to "You Really Got a Hold on Me." As a recent Jaycee teen dance demonstrated, that's a thing of the past.

People my age heard the same thing from parents — "It seems kids don't know how to just have fun any more." Oh, we did. But like our parents, I wonder the same thing about teens in our community now.

I get the sense that a lot of them are under pressure. Northville parents have set a very high standard of success for their kids to follow — a standard that might be impossible to keep up with, a fact that many parents and kids will have to accept. Economic turnaround or not, the days when just about anyone with a job could live comfortably or even buy a house are gone, possibly forever.

I think we're seeing a generation of very serious young people. I don't think there are many future artists or musicians among them. I think there are a lot of future heart attack and ulcer victims, though.

I was lucky. No matter how sad or frustrated I got when I was a kid, I had that music. I like a lot of new music, even new wave, but it's hard to picture a group on the charts these days saying, like in My Girl: "I don't need no money, fortune or fame..."

They'd probably get laughed out of the studio.

About Town

By Steve Fecht

After the fact

By PHILIP JEROME

Well, the word is out ... the Jeromes are headed south. A cruise, maybe. Or possibly one of those sun-drenched Caribbean Isles where couples walk hand-in-hand through the surf on deserted beaches.

It's not true. The Jeromes simply aren't affluent enough to take a cruise on the Pacific Princess, Atlantic Princess or Caribbean Princess. We could afford a cruise on the Walled Lake Princess, but the liner is still in production.

But the word is out, the Jeromes are headed south. And the way it happened is somewhat interesting.

Being the miserly type, I do all my shopping in the off-season because you get pretty good deals. And when one of my favorite clothing stores held a pre-season sale on "cruise-wear" last week, I headed into town to pick up a few items that I'm going to need this summer.

"You must be going on a vacation," said the clerk as I tossed a pair of shorts and a jacket on the counter.

"Sounds awfully good," I responded innocently.

I didn't figure out what was happening until I went through the same process at the local shoe store. Needing a pair of casual shoes for the summer, I took advantage of a winter clearance sale to purchase a pair of deck shoes.

"Are you going on a cruise?" asked the clerk as she placed my shoes in a bag.

That's when it hit me. People were assuming I was headed south just because I was buying summer clothing during the winter.

"Been thinking about it," I replied, honestly and dishonestly at the same time.

The more I thought about what was happening, the more I liked it. By buying shorts and deck shoes in February, people were ascribing affluence to me even though it didn't belong.

Don't get me wrong. I'm not the type who purposely goes about trying to create false impressions. And if the clerk at the drug store who sold me the gallon of sun tan lotion Saturday reads this column, I want you to know I was just thinking ahead to this summer when I'll need it.

Tight budget needed

By GERALD H. LAW
State Representative

Five days after Governor Blanchard addressed the legislature on the State of the State, he unveiled a zero growth budget in which he proposed spending $70 million less in 1985 than the estimated expenditure for 1984.

The Governor emphasized four specific areas in his speech: a tight budget; an accelerated income tax rollback to 5.35 percent by October 1; a shift in spending to education; and economic development initiatives. His budget is his effort to implement this course, and the abrupt political retreat from the tax and spend policies that characterized his first year in office will be more welcomed by Republicans than by many members of his own party.

The budget is predicated not only on tight spending, but on a moderately optimistic forecast: improved auto sales, reduced unemployment, a lower welfare caseload, and reduced Medicaid costs. In an about-face from last year, when he recommended a five percent increase in welfare benefits, the Governor has told the Department of Social Services to bite the bullet and send some $94 million less next year than this year.

He wants to increase spending for elementary and secondary education by $190 million and boost money for the environment by more than $15 million. He has also taken the carrot and stick approach to higher education funding by promising a 10 percent increase to colleges and universities which freeze tuition. Those which don't will receive only six percent more.

Naturally, I'm happy to see this kind of approach, but up to this point the Governor hasn't released the budget details. When he does, it will be important to take a close and careful look at every department to see exactly where the money is going.

State tax booklet's available from legislators

The Michigan Taxpayer's Guide, an easy-to-understand booklet with helpful hints on filling out this year's tax forms, is available at post offices, city, village and township offices statewide.

The booklet contains information about property taxes, the property tax credit, the Michigan income tax, the single business tax and other tax-related subjects.

Remember, last year the spending level in state government was increased nearly 13 percent, even though the inflation rate for the year was less than four percent. A spending freeze this year still leaves us with plenty of revenue to work with. And while the Governor has promised a "zero growth" budget and a shift in priorities from welfare to education, we must be cautious that supplemental appropriations don't boost spending substantially after the budget is adopted if certain assumptions — such as fewer welfare cases — prove to be inaccurate. After all, the Governor is asking for another appropriation of some $54 million for the 1984 budget.

Furthermore, it appears that more than half of the $70 million in proposed cuts are really bookkeeping changes that won't affect the amount of taxpayers' money spent on state programs. And the higher education proposal may be constitutionally flawed, even though it may be a popular idea. It is also a departure from the procedure established in the present budget in which the University of Michigan, Michigan State University and Wayne State University each received between 10 and 20 percent more than the state's other schools in recognition of their roles as three of the leading research institutions in the nation.

The Governor is banking on a continued national recovery to spur Michigan's job growth and improve economic conditions in the state. I believe the recovery will continue, but we must concentrate on changing policies that hindered Michigan's ability to compete favorably in the past. Up until this point, the Governor has spent his time with the mere mechanics of government, not the long range innovations that will put our citizens back to work.

Adopting a tight budget is the first step. After that, the difficult work continues.

The American Red Cross Blood Services recently emphasized that the community blood supply is safe, despite newly released information linking AIDS with blood transfusions.

"Perhaps only one patient out of a million risks contracting AIDS following a blood transfusion," stressed A. William Shafer, M.D., director of Southeast Michigan Red Cross Blood Services.

"Risks occur with every blood transfusion," related Shafer, a hematology specialist. "But the medical necessity of blood transfusion far outweighs the risks, factors which all trained medical personnel consider before ordering blood transfusions."

"To give you two specific examples of risks related to blood transfusions," Shafer continued, "the risk of hepatitis is perhaps five to seven percent of all patients who receive blood transfusions and the risk of contracting malaria is one in a million. No one talks about contracting malaria following a blood transfusion. Yet the general public is fearful of contracting AIDS and the risks are the same as they are for contracting malaria."

In the January 12 issue of the New England Journal of Medicine the Center for Disease Control reports 18 cases nationwide of transfusion-transmitted AIDS. The CDC has completed investigations on seven of those cases and believes that each of the victims received transfusions from at least one high risk donor.

A total of eight high risk donors whose blood was transfused to AIDS victims have been identified. According to Shafer, compliance with screening procedures now in use by the Red Cross would have excluded seven of those eight donors.

"Most of the information in the CDC report was gathered before August, 1983," he said. "All of the victims received blood before the nationwide screening program for volunteer blood donors was implemented in March, 1983, by the American Red Cross and all voluntary blood collection agencies."

There may be additional reports of transfusion-related AIDS cases because of the long incubation period for the disease. Shafer estimates it will be two years or more before the effects of the screening procedure can be assessed.

Since March, 1983, the Red Cross and all other voluntary blood collection agencies have been screening potential donors in compliance with recommendations on AIDS from the Office of Biologics, Federal Food and Drug Administration.

Donors are advised of the signs and symptoms of AIDS and of the four high-risk groups: homosexual or bisexual males with multiple partners, past or present street drug abusers, recent entrants from Haiti and hemophiles. People in the high risk groups are asked not to donate blood. Additional questions during the screening procedure eliminate any individual in the high risk groups from donating.

Beginning February 1 an additional precaution is being initiated by the Red Cross and other blood collection agencies. Potential donors who have any question or concern about whether the blood they donated should be used for transfusion will be advised to call the blood center as soon as possible. This will allow any donor who is concerned about his or her donation to contact the Red Cross and request that the blood not be used for transfusion.

Red Cross officials are also stressing that AIDS cannot be contracted through blood donations. Fear of acquiring AIDS when donating blood, they believe, may be keeping people from doing so.

This fear, the Red Cross assures, is totally unwarranted. Each donor collection bag has a self-contained needle used for only one donation and disposed of when the donation is completed.

Sterile, disposable equipment cannot transmit disease, nor can AIDS be spread through contact with doctors, nurses or donor beds. Research has shown the disease cannot be spread by casual contact.

Which would you prefer... a higher stated interest rate or more money?

Michigan National compounds interest monthly to pay you more money for your money

Higher stated interest rates on Individual Retirement Accounts (IRA) may sound good initially. But, if you're interested in earning more money for your money, consider the effects of Michigan National's monthly compounding of interest versus other banks' simple interest method of payment.

Earn interest on your interest

A minimum deposit of only $50 at Michigan National earns interest each month. So, month by month, year after year you continually earn interest on your interest.

Most other banks, however, pay interest on a simple basis.

No compounding.

No payment of interest on your interest.

That's why other banks can quote a higher rate, and yet, pay less interest over the lifetime of your investment.

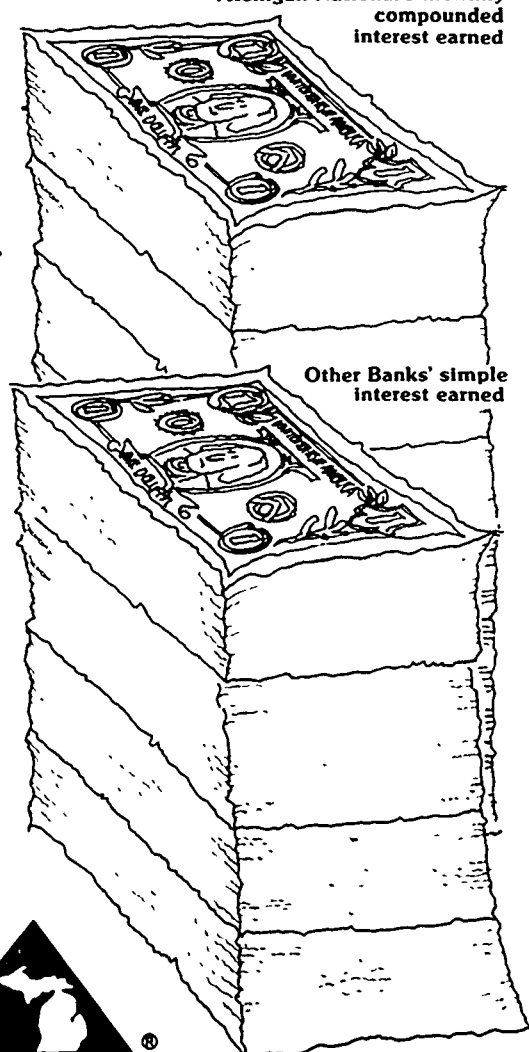

Don't be fooled by high interest IRA claims.

Invest your retirement savings with Michigan National where your IRA will earn more money for your money with monthly compounding.

Need a loan to fund your IRA?

Borrow up to your annual IRA contribution limit at preferred rates to take advantage of 1983 or 1984 tax deductions. Then write off interest payments for an additional tax savings. Ask for details on the advantages of an IRA loan at any branch office.

the Northville-Harrison game. Chairman Edie Pegrum reports that tickets at $2.50 for adults and $2 for students are available from club members and will be sold at the door. She is being assisted by Nancy Perpich. Record photo by Steve Fecht.

New owners expand role of center

By SUE LOWE

When Bob and Connie Schott opened Highland Pines School and Day Care September 7, 1983, clients of the former center noticed some "big" changes.

The playground equipment was painted and permanently stabilized in cement; the inside had undergone remodeling; and, all was spit-spot clean. The big change, however, was epitomized by the word "school".

Bob and Connie agree that neither of them could run a babysitting service where children could be dropped off, spend time, and be picked up. "We want a chance to make a difference," Bob said.

"That is basically why we chose the area near the former Duck Lake Elementary School as the location for our center. This is an area where children need what we have to offer," Bob explained. "We could have opened in West Bloomfield or Royal Oak and made more money for our services, but here we have a challenge and an opportunity to make a living as well."

The center is at 5085 Duck Lake Road, Highland. It is open Monday through Friday from 6:30 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Enrollment can be daily for pre-schoolers whose parents work, or only for scheduled school days for pre-schoolers whose parents want their child to attend pre-kindergarten development classes. Classes are Monday and Wednesday for one group and Tuesday and Thursday for another. Highland Pines is one of few centers accepting infants.

Connie has a college degree in social work and 12 college hours in child development. She was a social worker with the Farmington schools and director of the Myasthenia Gravis office in Mount Carmel Hospital. She is director of the Highland Pines center and Bob business manager.

There are five employees. All were chosen by Bob and Connie for expertise with children, and all receive on-the-job training from Connie.

A school day at Highland Pines begins at 9 a.m. with free play. At 9:20, Connie takes attendance, followed by finger play or a flannel board story. Then the children break up into groups to participate in activities at four or five interest tables. Connie says she tries to have a craft table, a science table, an alphabet recognition table and a pre-math table daily. Often, she has the water table where the children subconsciously learn while playing in water. "They love it!" Bob laughed.

The schedule for the children on the day-care program begins with breakfast at 7:30 a.m. Day-care children get two meals and two snacks daily while pre-school children receive one snack. Day-care children can nap from 1 until 3 p.m. Each child has his own bed every day and his own linens and blanket.

Most meals are cooked from scratch by the employees. Bob has installed a large freezer in the kitchen so he can take advantage of grocery sales and so the cooks have fresh food available for snacks and meals.

Not all the children's learning experiences are sit-down type activities like alphabet recognition. Some are play activities such as gymnastics, field trips, song and dance sing-alongs, and supervised outdoor games. The playground is fenced and the children are encouraged to go outside every day unless the weather is inclement.

The average age of the 45 children at Highland Pines is 2½-years-old. Connie says she tries to offer activities and crafts to fit each age, but finds it difficult sometimes.

Bob said he feels it is good for the little children to see the older ones doing something they are not quite able to do. "It really encourages those little ones to try harder when they see the big kids doing neat things," he said.

One mother agreed with Bob. She said her son had matured greatly since he had been enrolled. She also said she was pleased with the school's program and was glad her child could take advantage of the curriculum.

Tuition for the school varies according to age and whether or not the child wears diapers. Interested parents may call 887-1160 or 624-8185 for more information.

Videomat machine rents movies on video cassettes

Video rental business uses vending machine

By KEVIN WILSON

Renting home video cassette versions of major motion pictures just got a lot easier — and cheaper — for patrons of a new computerized vending machine placed on a trial basis in a Northville store.

Handy Video, Inc., a Southfield-based corporation, is counting on the ease of access and lack of club membership fees to draw business to its Videomat machine located at the Northville Arbor Drug store.

The machine, manufactured in Connecticut by Essex Enterprises, operates in much the same way as the electronic teller devices for banking transactions.

"These are going to be distributed nationwide," said Handy Video marketing director Howard Perlman. "Right now they are placed on a trial basis in two Michigan locations and a couple others in Vermont."

The metropolitan Detroit area, he said, was chosen as one that gives "a very good reflection of consumer response." In choosing to place the machines in convenience locations, Perlman added, the firm approached both Arbor Drugs and Farmer Jack's grocery chain to arrange locations.

Farmer Jack's chose an east side location and Arbor the Northville store, based on traffic volume and demographics.

"We share a percentage of the gross with the store, in exchange for the space (only nine square feet) but what they're really counting on is that the machine will draw additional traffic," he explained.

Perlman said another 30 machines will be installed in Michigan starting about two months from now.

Guided through each step by instructions appearing on a small video display screen, customers insert a Mastercard or Visa in the appropriate slot, punch in the code number of the selected video cassette (VHS or Beta formats) and receive the tape and a receipt.

The receipt shows rental rates ($4 the first day, $2 each day thereafter, plus Michigan sales tax), date and time the transaction was made, and the credit card number. If there has been an error, the tape can be returned within 10 minutes and there will be no charge.

Assuming the customer accepts the tape, the built-in computer begins clocking the rental time. To return a tape, the customer simply inserts a credit card (not necessarily the one used to remove the tape — a friend or relative could drop it off and use a different card), and a drawer opens into which the tape is dropped. The machine reads a bar code to verify that the tape is returned and memorizes the information for inventory purposes.

Another receipt is produced, showing the rental charge (the first day is timed at 25 hours, to allow for potential delays in making the return) and the original credit card number. The charge is made to the credit card via a telephone link to the machine.

"Some people are a little afraid of it at first," Perlman said, "but it's really very easy to use. All you need is a credit card and to know how to read. And a VCR, of course."

FRASER D. SMITHSON, director of General Motors Proving Grounds, has been appointed chairman of the Milford General Motors Public Affairs Committee for 1984 by GM President F. James McDonald.

GM's Public Affairs Committees are organized to coordinate GM involvement and participation in activities which benefit the local community, and include financial and other varieties of support for non-profit organizations. Composed of local top management, GM Public Affairs Committees operate in more than 70 U.S. cities and several foreign countries where GM has manufacturing or other major operations.

Smithson, a graduate engineer from the University of Florida, has been with General Motors since 1963 and has held a number of engineering positions at the Proving Ground and the GM Technical Center in Warren.

In addition to Smithson, other members of the Milford Public Affairs Committee are J. King

FRASER D. SMITHSON

Foster, H. Peter Leitz, Jere L. Michaels, Kenneth G. Peterson, Ralph W. Wiese and Kenneth A. Cameron.

Smithson succeeds Donald R. Bowen, who was recently appointed assistant chief engineer at the Buick Motor Division in Flint.

IDEAL MASONRY, Incorporated, of South Lyon was cited recently by the Masonry Institute of Michigan, Incorporated, for its construction work on the Brighton Civic Center (above). A record 12 Michigan building projects and their architects were recognized for masonry design excellence in the ninth annual "M Awards" program sponsored by the masonry institute. The institute is the educational, technical and promotional arm of Michigan's masonry institute. The architect for the Brighton Civic Center was Straub Associates/Architects of Troy, which received two "M" awards. Completed in 1981, the civic center houses that city's library, municipal offices and council meeting room.

Business Briefs

PAMPHILE ROSELLE of Phil's 76 Service in Northville won a three-day trip to Las Vegas recently in the Automobile Club of Michigan's "Quality of Service" program.

Roselle was among nine Michigan contractors to win trips for rendering timely, efficient road service," said Robert Tellier, Auto Club's Emergency Road Service manager.

Roselle and a guest will spend three nights at the Aladdin or Maxim hotels in Las Vegas, arranged by the Auto Club's World Travel department.

Winners are announced quarterly by the Auto Club. A grand prize of a one-week cruise for two aboard the NCL Starward is awarded annually to three garage owners.

COMMUNITY NATIONAL BANK President James W. Fisher announced that the bank's 1983 earnings exceeded that of a year ago. Net income for the 12 months ending December 31 was $3,040,664.

It is the second consecutive year in which earnings have exceeded $3 million. It also represents the third highest earnings level in the bank's 50-year history.

Fisher stated that fourth quarter 1983 income, excluding gains or losses from security transactions, exceeded that of 1982 by nearly $500,000, net of income tax effect. "Every indication is that the bank is in a positive position for the improving economic climate that hopefully lies ahead."

EX-CELL-O CORPORATION reported a three percent increase in net earnings for fiscal 1983 compared with the prior year, despite a seven percent drop in sales. Earnings on a per share basis increased eight percent.

E. Paul Casey, president and chief executive officer, said for the year ending November 30, 1983, sales were $953.8 million and net earnings $49.8 million ($3.51 per share). For the previous year, sales were $1,027.1 million, net earnings $48.2 million and per share earnings $3.25.

Net earnings for fourth quarter 1983 totalled $11.9 million or $.84 per share, compared to $10.1 million or $.70 per share one year ago.

Casey attributed the sales drop to the recession, which was "with us most of the year." He said it affected primarily the company's Industrial Equipment segment, including a depressed machine tool business. The segment, a major contributor to 1982 earnings, suffered a loss last year.

But the Automotive Components segment more than made up the difference, while the company's Aerospace and Ordnance segments equalled record 1982 performances, though with slightly lower sales. The Specialty Products segment posted a sharp earnings gain.

The outlook for 1984 is "encouraging," Casey said. "We expect sales and profits to improve in the Automotive Components segment as the industry continues its recovery, and we continue to improve our market penetration. With the exception of machine tools, our other businesses should remain strong. The machine tool market will remain depressed, but should show some improvement late in 1984."

Ex-Cell-O Corporation, with headquarters in Troy, is a diversified manufacturer of aerospace components, automotive parts, machine tools, ordnance equipment, packaging systems and other precision industrial products. It operates a packaging systems manufacturing plant in Walled Lake.

SECURITY BANCORP, INC., has announced that 1983 consolidated net income increased 7.2 percent from $8.225 million in 1982 to $8.819 million in 1983, an all-time corporate record.

Record 1983 earnings were achieved because of significant increases in deposits, increases in loans, moderate reduction in loan losses, effective cost containment programs and favorable effects of acquisitions in late 1982 and early 1983. The loan increase was achieved as a result of an aggressive retail-directed marketing program.

Security Bancorp is the parent company of Security Bank Oakland County as well as Security Bank and Trust Company, Security Bank of Richmond, Security Bank St. Clair Shores, Security Bank of Monroe and SecureData Corporation.

EDWARD J. MARKLOW, III was named president of Little Caesar Enterprises, Inc. at a special meeting of corporate personnel at the Dearborn Hyatt Regency January 19, chairman of the board Michael Ilitch announced.

Marklow has been with Little Caesar Enterprises, Inc. since 1963 when he worked as an hourly employee while in high school. After graduating, he became a unit manager working full time while earning a college degree and serving in the Army Reserve. He earned a bachelor's degree in business management from Wayne State University in 1971 and was promoted to supervisor in company operations. In 1974 he was promoted to vice president of operations. In 1981 he was made senior vice president of operations in 1982 senior vice president of the company.

Since his April, 1982 promotion Little Caesars has expanded its hours of operation and its menu, tripled the number of states where locations can be found and increased sales volumes by more than 40 percent in each of the past two years.

"Adults are sometimes a little spooked by it at first, but the kids know how to use it — we've seen them showing their parents what to do," Perlman said. He noted that, when first placed in the Arbor store, the machine attracted so much attention that there was some concern about the crowd blocking the aisle.

• Failure to return a tape within seven days results in a charge of $89.95, "somewhat above retail, to discourage people buying tapes from the machine," Perlman explained. "We really don't want to see people buying the tapes, because it makes a mess of inventory control."

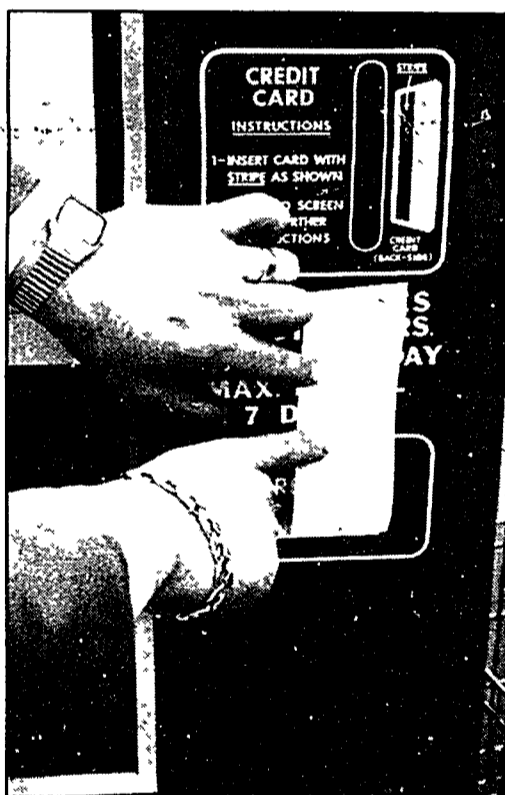

Acting in good faith, he noted, the company has made refunds during the trial period to those who did not understand the seven-day limit.

No more than three tapes may be rented at one time on a single credit card. The machine has sufficient memory that renting three tapes one day and returning to rent another on the same card the next day, without returning the first three, is prohibited.

Capacity of the machine is 55 selections and 168 tapes. Inventory can run up to 200 tapes, thanks to a proportion being in constant circulation, noted Handy Video's Barry Wolk, director of technical services.

Current titles include Blue Thunder, Flashdance, Michael Jackson's Thriller (the most popular entry at present), Gandhi (in two parts), High Road to China, Sophie's Choice and other recent movies. Also offered are a selection of Disney films and others geared toward children. No X-rated films are stocked.

"We think this is going to be the wave of the future in movie rentals," Perlman said. "The attention it's drawn already is incredible."

Store design comforts computer shoppers

Does the thought of computer shopping intimidate you? You're not alone.

Most people think they don't know enough about computers, so they put off buying a system until they know more — which may never happen.

David Gonynor Jr., owner and manager of the recently-opened Incomp Computer Center (formerly known as Computer Mart) at Novi's West Oaks shopping center, doesn't think computer shopping has to be this way.

To help bridge the computer literacy gap, Gonynor is offering a complimentary class, "Introduction to Microcomputers," for people who have never touched a computer keyboard before. Anyone interested in the class should call the store at 348-8841 for reservations or stop by to see the showroom and learning center.

"In the beginning of the computer boom, computers were sold to companies with technological interests," said Gonynor. "Now computers are needed for small businesses or personal use, yet most people don't understand computers — and there's no reason why they should."

"It's the responsibility of computer salespeople to educate customers and help them understand what hardware and software they need.

"Computers need to be sold in a pleasant setting where people feel comfortable," continued Gonynor. "After all, it takes time to make a decision involving such an investment, so why not make the shop-around time enjoyable?"

The new Incomp store at West Oaks across from Twelve Oaks Mall is a far cry from most other computer stores. With its plush carpeting, custom-made fixtures and hues of burgundy and gray, the spacious interior was designed with customer appeal in mind.

In fact, the Novi outlet has been established as the prototype for current remodeling of the 17 Incomp Computer Centers in the Michigan region and for all future stores.

The model store displays products and after-sales information to help customers research at their leisure. Three salespersons, an education coordinator, a technician and an administrative assistant are available to complete the personal touch and offer necessary expertise.

"We have a pool of quality people who do well in identifying our customers' needs and in helping them understand how computer brands and products work together to create a beneficial system for them," Gonynor said.

"People walk out of our store with an awareness of our products as well as our unique after-sales support, which is an important part of an investment decision."

The Novi franchise also includes an education center geared to meeting specific concerns in the area.

"We see a big need to support local universities in their microcomputer courses because they are not able to keep up with the software market," said Lynn Beattie, education coordinator for the Novi Incomp store.

Beattie, who holds a master's degree in secondary education from the University of Michigan, currently teaches three classes at the Novi store: an IBM orientation, word processing and an introduction to popular software packages.

She said that plans for additional classes and individual tutoring are underway.

Gonynor is optimistic about the success of his store in Novi, which he said is an excellent store site because of its rapid growth, accessibility and "good community spirit." He is not worried about competition.

"We run our store with the Incomp commitment to customers' long-term needs, which people appreciate," he said. "For instance, our base-satellite system is set up so when customers need additional software or have a technical problem, a full-service store is right in their neighborhood."

"And if needed, we can get extra technical assistance from over 30 qualified people at corporate headquarters."

He pointed to his service technician, Novi resident Daniel Wozniak, as an extremely important part of customer service.

"Dan is able to keep up with the ever-changing complexities of computer systems and understands that working with customers is just as important as technical competence," he said.

Compaq, IBM, Apple and Digital Equipment Corporation products are Incomp Computer Center Novi's name brand products.

Money Management

Tax break for couples

Many married couples nowadays have a hard time making ends meet. And, with tax filing season upon us, they need to get the best deal they can from the IRS. When it comes to taxes, that means taking advantage of what the law allows, advises the Michigan Association of CPAs.

The most significant tax break this year is the deduction for married working couples. It has doubled since last year. If you and your spouse file a joint return, you can deduct up to 10 percent from the salary of the lowest-paid spouse. The maximum deduction is $3,000.

Last year, when married working couples could have received as much as $1,500 for the marital deduction, two million couples failed to claim it. If you are among them, file an amended return to get your deduction, plus interest. The IRS is paying 11 percent interest (compounded daily) for the overlooked deductions, and the interest paid is computed from your filing deadline of last year.

Here's how the marital deduction works. If Bob earned $20,000 in 1983 and Linda's salary was $15,000, they can deduct $1,500 (10 percent) from Linda's salary if they file jointly. Keep in mind that contributions to IRAs and Keoghs, as well as business expenses, must be subtracted from gross income before making the deduction.

Though the marital deduction provides an easy-to-get tax break, some couples may get even bigger breaks if they file separate returns and take advantage of other tax laws. Just a few minutes of simple computations can help you see which option is best, CPAs say.

To illustrate, take a look at this year's tougher medical deduction formula.

Now you may deduct only unreimbursed medical expenses that exceed five percent of your income (it used to be three percent). Furthermore, you may no longer deduct $150 separately for medical insurance premiums you paid; they're to be included with your overall medical expenses.

In Bob and Linda's case, with combined income of $35,000, they can deduct any medical expenses above $1,750 (five percent) if they file jointly. Because Linda incurred $3,000 in medical expense, they are entitled to a $1,250 deduction if they file jointly.

If they file separately, however, Linda alone is entitled to a $2,250 deduction ($3,000 minus five percent of her income). Since the $2,250 deduction is greater than the $1,500 marital deduction, it may pay for Bob and Linda to file separate returns. Always figure it out both ways, CPAs say, because there are many factors involved, including a higher tax rate for separate returns.

One of the best ways for a married couple to cut taxes is to open two IRAs. Two wage earners can stash away up to $4,000 a year in their Individual Retirement Accounts and avoid paying taxes on that amount until the money is withdrawn. The principal is tax-deductible and the interest it earns is tax-deferred.

Married couples with children may be eligible for a child and dependent care tax credit if they paid someone to watch their children while they were at work or attending school full-time. If your child is under 15 years old or if you have another dependent who cannot care for himself or herself, you may qualify for the credit.

The credit is allotted on a sliding scale. For families with an income of $10,000 or less, a 30 percent credit may be claimed on child or dependent care expenses of up to $2,400 for one child and $4,800 for two or more children.

Refund to be reported

Some taxpayers need to report 1982 state and local income tax refunds on their federal tax returns, the IRS notes.

This applies to taxpayers who itemized deductions the previous year and claimed state and local taxes as an deduction. Refunds, credits or offsets for a tax paid in a year when not claimed as an itemized deduction do not have to be reported.

In its increased enforcement effort, IRS expects to match all data from state and local governments in this reporting program. Because states will be sending the information on refunds to the federal government using magnetic tape, the matching will be easier.

Worksheets in the tax package and publication 525 help figure the amount or part of the refund to be reported as income. The worksheet in publication 525 is most appropriate for Michigan taxpayers.

THE SIX STEPS TO CLEANING UP WITH CLASSIFIED

1. Gather up all unused articles of clothing, jewelry, furniture, glassware, china — or almost anything else!

2. Put a reasonable price on each article to be sold.

3. Write an ad describing all the articles you wish to sell or . . .

4. Call us and let us help you write an ad that will sell your "treasures."

5. Wait for the phone to ring with buyers who are happy that you are selling exactly what they've always wanted.

6. Smile as you "clean up" on your clean-up sale.

Filing separate may be bigger tax break for married couples

Many married couples nowadays have a hard time making ends meet. And, with tax filing season upon us, they need to get the best deal they can from the IRS.

When it comes to taxes, that means taking advantage of what the law allows, says the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants.

The most significant tax break this year is the deduction for married working couples. It has doubled since last year. If you and your spouse worked and file a joint return you can deduct up to 10 percent from the salary of the lower-paid spouse. The maximum deduction is $3,000.

Last year, when married working couples could have received as much as $1,500 for the marital deduction, two million couples failed to claim it. If you are among them, file an amended return to get your deduction—plus interest.

The IRS is paying 11 percent interest (compounded daily) for the overlooked deductions, and the interest paid is computed from your filing deadline of last year.

Here's how the marital deduction works. If Bob earned $20,000 in 1983 and Linda's salary was $15,000, they can deduct $1,500 (10 percent) from Linda's salary if they file jointly.

Keep in mind, however, that contributions to IRAs and Keoghs, as well as business expenses must be subtracted from your gross income before making the 10 percent deduction.

Though the marital deduction provides an easy-to-get tax break, some couples may get even bigger breaks if they file separate and take advantage of other tax laws. Just a few minutes of simple computations can help you see which option is best.

To illustrate, take a closer look at this year's tougher medical deduction formula.

Now, you may deduct only unreimbursed medical expenses that exceed five percent of your income (it used to be three percent). Furthermore, you may no longer deduct $150 separately for medical insurance premiums you paid; they're to be included with your overall medical expenses.

In Bob and Linda's case, with their combined income of $35,000, they can deduct any medical expenses above $1,750 (five percent) if they file jointly.

Because Linda incurred $3,000 in medical expenses, they are entitled to a $1,250 deduction if they file jointly.

If they file separately, however, Linda is entitled to a $2,250 deduction ($3,000 minus five percent of her income).

Since the $2,250 deduction is greater than the $1,500 marital deduction, it may pay for Bob and Linda to file separate returns.

Always figure it out both ways, because there are many factors involved, including a higher tax rate for separate returns.

One of the best ways for a married couple to cut taxes is to open two Individual Retirement Accounts.

Two wage earners can stash away up to $4,000 a year in their IRAs and avoid paying taxes on that amount until the money is withdrawn. The deductible and the interest it earns is tax-deferred.

Married couples with children may be eligible for the child and dependent care tax credit if they paid someone to watch their children while they were at work or attending school full-time.

If your child is under 15, or if you have another dependent who cannot care for him or herself, you may qualify for the credit.

The credit is allotted on a sliding scale. For families with an income of $10,000 or less, a 30 percent credit may be claimed on child or dependent care expense of up to $2,400 for one child and up to $4,800 for two or more children.

So, a couple with an income of $10,000 or less who paid $2,400 to care for their child can subtract $720 from their tax bill. The maximum credit for two or more children would be $1,440.

As income increases to $28,000 and more, the credit decreases to 20 percent of expenses. The maximum tax credit for one child at that level is $480 and $960 for two or more children.

This was prepared by the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants.

A humidifier can increase comfort, protect furniture

In the dog-days of summer, it's high humidity that makes us especially uncomfortable.

In the winter heating season, it's the lack of humidity that makes us uncomfortable and causes many other problems around the house.

According to the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau, the relative humidity in many homes drops to around 15 percent during the heating season. That's drier than the desert air in Death Valley.

The reason is that cold air can't hold much moisture. The colder it gets, the less moisture it can hold.

Lack of proper humidity, as most everyone knows, causes static electricity—that shock and spark you get when you touch metal, usually after walking across a rug.

It's not good for the furniture, causing it to dry out and crack sometimes, and fasten to the furnace plenum, but there are also units available for hydronic (hot water) heating systems that are connected to the boiler and preset.

The Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau advises prospective buyers to check out these factors:

•Capacity: Be sure the humidifier you select has the capacity to meet the requirements for your home.

•Automatic control: This is a must for large capacity humidifiers. A humidistat works like a thermostat, sensing the amount of moisture in the air and turning the humidifier on and off as needed. Adding this to the system is well worth the cost.

•Suitability: Make sure the unit is the effective with your particular type of heating system. A contractor can recommend the proper unit for your home.

and it also contributes to dry, itchy skin and irritated nasal passages.

The solution, of course, is to add moisture to the air. Grandmother knew this, that's why she set pans of water about the house. This helped some, but she had no control over the amount of water added.

For the sake of both health and comfort, a home heated to 70 degrees should have a relative humidity of about 35 percent, the bureau advises. The modern way to achieve this is to have a humidifier installed at the heating plant.

Humidifiers are available for every type of heating system. They come in a choice of sizes and types to fit almost any requirement. There are console humidifiers that are portable and often look like a handsome piece of furniture.

Power humidifiers are designed not only for use with warm air systems

Jaycee Women share recipe for bread starter

Northville Jaycee Women discovered the versatility of having a coffee cake starter recipe on hand during the holidays and are sharing some of the recipes for coffee cakes that may be made from it — as well as the secret of “how to make Herman, the starter, if a friend doesn’t give you some.”

For someone looking for a new activity during the dull days of winter making a “Herman” starter could be a satisfying project.

The Herman Cake is a take-off on sourdough baking. It is popular on the west coast, the Jaycee Women report, and is picking up popularity here as more weekend cooks get into bread baking. From the starter, cinnamon rolls and pancakes also can be made.

In “The Complete Book of Breads,” author and bread specialist Bernard Clayton Jr. explains that the starter used on the American frontier as the leavener for breads and biscuits was not yeast as we know it today.

It was, and still can be, a mixture of flour and a liquid into which bacteria is introduced naturally, without help of the contents of a little silver envelope labeled yeast. Such a mixture is classified as a wild starter.

“Herman, of course, is a recipe but far more exciting than the average ones we exchange,” say the women. “The result is a coffee cake, but you cannot just whip one up when you are in the mood. Herman needs a starter, and the starter must be fed at least twice before the cake is made, which turns the production into a 10-day plan.

“The hard part is remembering to feed the starter on the first and fifth days after you have received some or made your own,” the Jaycee recipe states.

“Put a note to ‘feed Herman today’ on the refrigerator door,” the instructions suggest.

The only other requirement is that the starter must be stirred every day, which takes only a second.

STARTER

2 cups flour
2 cups warm water
¼ cup sugar
1 envelope yeast

Mix together in plastic or glass container (no metal) and let stand overnight in a warm place with a lid, but do not cover tightly.

Refrigerate, covered, but on the first day and fifth day feed with 1 cup flour, 1 cup milk and ½ cup sugar.

In some sourdough starters, the mixture is left in a warm place for three to four days. Stir each day and re-cover until it has fermented sufficiently and has a pleasantly sour smell.

The starter should be fed again on the fifth day with the same amounts as on the first. It can be baked on the 10th day.

On the 10th day, the Jaycee Women’s instructions read, measure out one cup to give to a friend, which leaves a cup of starter for you, and — because it has grown — two to be used in the cake recipe.

COFFEE CAKE RECIPE

2 cups Herman starter
2 cups flour
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon soda
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
2/3 cup oil
1 cup chopped nuts
1 cup raisins

Pete Talbot & Kathleen Platte

Pete Talbot got a sheepish look on his face when asked about his Valentine’s Day plans.

The Northville High swim coach and recreation department supervisor had announced recently he would resign those posts because he was planning to move away. “Subsequent investigation” revealed Pete is planning to marry his girl friend from his days at Northville High School, Kathleen (a.k.a. “Trinky”) Platte, June 9.

“I’m planning to visit her in North Carolina,” Pete said while his eavesdropping co-workers suppressed giggles. “I have to deliver some flowers.”

“I heard on the radio roses are going for $100 a dozen,” interjected Recreation Director Jef Farland. “Scratch that!” Pete laughed.

For such a young guy (he was graduated from Northville High in 1976), Pete and Trinky (Northville High, Class of ’79) go a long way back. After being high school sweethearts, each went on to Michigan State University. She was graduated last year with a degree in business marketing, and last month took a job in North Carolina, where the newlyweds plan to make their nest.

Asked if he knew Trinky would be the one even back in high school, the burly coach blushed like a kid. “Yeah, I did,” he admitted. “I remember. It was senior prom night.”

His co-workers ceased to suppress their giggles.

Tom & Lois Curl

Some love stories are made up of simple pleasures — like going walking together.

“Hey, come walk up town with me,” Tom Curl used to entreat. More than 30 years later, Tom and Lois Curl still are taking their walks together. In fact, they sound as much like Valentines as they must have when they were married 32 years ago.

“He was such a nice guy that I’d say ‘Oh sure,’” Lois Curl remembers, relating that she was going with someone else and “he was just a friend for so many years.”

The couple met at the Presbyterian manse. The minister at that time, the Reverend Harold Fredsell, used to hold open house for young people on Sunday nights,

Lois Curl says, recalling that “the boys were just back from service, and they used to sit there smoking their cigarettes and pipes.”

Tom was a U.S. Army veteran who was attending electrical school when Lois first knew him. He was a Northville native; she had come here from the thumb when her sister, Jessie Sanford of Plymouth, moved to the area. Lois was working for Novi Equipment on the line and doing first aid.

“But 32 years ago last November 10 we went back to Uby where mother had a farm to be married,” Lois Curl says.

The Curls live in the west part of the township on Clement Road — where neighbors and friends see them regularly as they walk to town. “We’ve stopped our walks until spring, however,” Tom Curl explains, “because Lois hurt her leg.” They’re giving it time to heal completely.

One of the Curls’ big satisfactions: their three children all are married “and are as happy as we are.” Jim and his wife Mary live in Southfield; Richard and Beth live in Northville with their daughter Sarah and Debbie and husband Jeff Fidge also live in Northville.

Two years ago in June the Curls’ life changed as Tom retired from the Ford Valve Plant on his 55th birthday when it was closing. Since then, he has been developing a clientele that needs home maintenance work. “My children gave me business cards for Christmas,” he mentions. Lois Curl notes they also presented him with a license plate, “TOMS” for his van.

Wade & Sarah Deal

More proof positive that high school sweethearts are something of a tradition at Northville High School (see the article on Pete Talbot and Kathleen Platte) is the long-standing romance of Wade and Sarah Deal.

The Deals are best known nowadays — as well as back in the early sixties — for their participation in the Northville High School sports scene.

Back then, Wade was a hard-hitting center for the Mustangs’ football squad while Sarah was a drummer in the high school band and, yes, a cheerleader. Among Wade’s teammates was Nelson Schrader, who is Sarah’s brother and Steve’s dad. You remember Steve. He was Todd’s teammate on the Mustangs’ football team last fall. You know Todd. He’s the son of Wade and Sarah.

Think that makes it a small world? How about this — the Schraders and Deals’ parents were next door neighbors in Northville.

Old Northville High.

Wade and Sarah started dating their senior year at NHS, and married while students at Michigan State University in 1963. “After I started going out with Sarah, I never went with anyone else,” Wade said. He added he wasn’t so sure about Sarah at first, “but since then it grew.”

And kept on growing?

Nowadays, the tough guy is president of the Northville Booster Club, and Sarah an active participant in the club’s activities.

And what about fourth-generation Northvillian Todd? Well, he’s more interested in going to Western Michigan than Michigan State.

LOVE STORIES

Charles & Mary Freydl

fter nearly 26 years of marriage, Charles and Mary Freydl still reserve Saturday night to be together.

“That’s our date night,” explains Mary, adding that with their hectic work schedules they need to have at least one night a

Marking their 26th wedding anniversary March 15, Mary says she “always knows the number of years” they’ve been married but has trouble pinpointing the year. However, while the numbers may be confusing, the Cooke Junior High School teacher vividly remembers their first date.

A bank teller at Manufacturer’s, she admits she “was thrilled to death” when Charles asked her out on their first date.

“I found I was more comfortable with him than with anyone I had dated,” she says. “We were very much in tune with one another.”

“We found we cared about things in the same way.” That camaraderie and caring seems to have nurtured throughout the Freydls’ marriage.

Charles notes that while their lives mostly have centered around kids and family, they also have encouraged each other to pursue their own goals.

Mary mentions that after the youngest of their three sons was in kindergarten, she decided to go back to college — after a 13-year absence.

Mary continued her education until she received her master’s from University of Michigan.

A longtime teacher in Northville Public Schools, she notes that she also helps Charles with the family business, spending many weekends with him on buying trips.

St. Valentine’s Day origins not for weak hearts

he origin of Valentine’s Day has as many explanations as the origins of most love affairs. Depending on what story you want to believe, it descends from pagan rituals or from the sanctioning of the Pope himself.

To start at the middle and work toward both ends, there really was a Saint Valentine — or at least, there’s no reliable evidence there wasn’t. More accurately, there were somewhere between two and eight St. Valentines, although two have emerged as the most important:

One was a Roman priest of the third century who suffered martyrdom at the hands of Emperor Claudius II Gothicus. This Claudius had proclaimed an edict that there were to be no more marriages. Whether this edict was sensible or not is up to you, but legend has it St. Valentine performed Christian marriages in violation of the law. And when he refused to renounce his Christianity, he was put to death — on February 14, 269 A.D.

During his imprisonment, he was said to have received secret notes from those he had helped along the way, and this is the origin of Valentine Cards. Another story says he fell in love with the daughter of his jailer, and exchanged notes with her.

The other St. Valentine was a more conventional bishop from Interamna, now called Terni. He supposedly was a victim of Claudius’ persecution, and was beheaded a martyr in Rome — also on February 14.

Nearly a century later, Pope Gelasius I proclaimed February 14 St. Valentine’s Day in his or their honor (it isn’t quite clear). A large basilica was built in Rome to contain his remains.

St. Valentine, unfortunately, was stripped of his canonization in 1969, due to the questionable origin of his legend — maybe that’s why love seems to have passed a little out of fashion since then.

Jaycee Women share recipe for bread starter

Northville Jaycee Women discovered the versatility of having a coffee cake starter recipe on hand during the holidays and are sharing some of the recipes for coffee cakes that may be made from it — as well as the secret of “how to make Herman, the starter, if a friend doesn’t give you some.”

For someone looking for a new activity during the dull days of winter making a “Herman” starter could be a satisfying project.

The Herman Cake is a take-off on sourdough baking. It is popular on the west coast, the Jaycee Women report, and is picking up popularity here as more weekend cooks get into bread baking. From the starter, cinnamon rolls and pancakes also can be made.

In “The Complete Book of Breads,” author and bread specialist Bernard Clayton Jr. explains that the starter used on the American frontier as the leavener for breads and biscuits was not yeast as we know it today.

It was, and still can be, a mixture of flour and a liquid into which bacteria is introduced naturally, without help of the contents of a little silver envelope labeled yeast. Such a mixture is classified as a wild starter.

“Herman, of course, is a recipe but far more exciting than the average ones we exchange,” say the women. “The result is a coffee cake, but you cannot just whip one up when you are in the mood. Herman needs a starter, and the starter must be fed at least twice before the cake is made, which turns the production into a 10-day plan.

“The hard part is remembering to feed the starter on the first and fifth days after you have received some or made your own,” the Jaycee recipe states.

“Put a note to ‘feed Herman today’ on the refrigerator door,” the instructions suggest.

The only other requirement is that the starter must be stirred every day, which takes only a second.

STARTER

2 cups flour
2 cups warm water
¼ cup sugar
1 envelope yeast

Mix together in plastic or glass container (no metal) and let stand overnight in a warm place with a lid, but do not cover tightly.

Refrigerate, covered, but on the first day and fifth day feed with 1 cup flour, 1 cup milk and ½ cup sugar.

In some sourdough starters, the mixture is left in a warm place for three to four days. Stir each day and re-cover until it has fermented sufficiently and has a pleasantly sour smell.

The starter should be fed again on the fifth day with the same amounts as on the first. It can be baked on the 10th day.

On the 10th day, the Jaycee Women’s instructions read, measure out one cup to give to a friend, which leaves a cup of starter for you, and — because it has grown — two to be used in the cake recipe.

COFFEE CAKE RECIPE

2 cups Herman starter
2 cups flour
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon soda
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
2/3 cup oil
1 cup chopped nuts
1 cup raisins

Tom & Lois Curl

Some love stories are made up of simple pleasures — like going walking together.

“Hey, come walk up town with me,” Tom Curl used to entreat. More than 30 years later, Tom and Lois Curl still are taking their walks together. In fact, they sound as much like Valentines as they must have when they were married 32 years ago.

“He was such a nice guy that I’d say ‘Oh sure,’” Lois Curl remembers, relating that she was going with someone else and “he was just a friend for so many years.”

The couple met at the Presbyterian manse. The minister at that time, the Reverend Harold Fredsell, used to hold open house for young people on Sunday nights,

Lois Curl says, recalling that “the boys were just back from service, and they used to sit there smoking their cigarettes and pipes.”

Tom was a U.S. Army veteran who was attending electrical school when Lois first knew him. He was a Northville native; she had come here from the thumb when her sister, Jessie Sanford of Plymouth, moved to the area. Lois was working for Novi Equipment on the line and doing first aid.

“But 32 years ago last November 10 we went back to Uby where mother had a farm to be married,” Lois Curl says.

“Tom has the best morals of any man I ever knew. He’s an all-round good man,” his wife says appreciatively.

“I don’t know of anybody in this world as lucky as we are,” she adds.

The Curls live in the west part of the township on Clement Road — where neighbors and friends see them regularly as they walk to town. “We’ve stopped our walks until spring, however,” Tom Curl explains, “because Lois hurt her leg.” They’re giving it time to heal completely.

One of the Curls’ big satisfactions: their three children all are married “and are as happy as we are.” Jim and his wife Mary live in Southfield; Richard and Beth live in Northville with their daughter Sarah and Debbie and husband Jeff Fidge also live in Northville.

Two years ago in June the Curls’ life changed as Tom retired from the Ford Valve Plant on his 55th birthday when it was closing. Since then, he has been developing a clientele that needs home maintenance work. “My children gave me business cards for Christmas,” he mentions. Lois Curl notes they also presented him with a license plate, “TOMS” for his van.

Wade & Sarah Deal

More proof positive that high school sweethearts are something of a tradition at Northville High School (see the article on Pete Talbot and Kathleen Platte) is the long-standing romance of Wade and Sarah Deal.

The Deals are best known nowadays — as well as back in the early sixties — for their participation in the Northville High School sports scene.

Back then, Wade was a hard-hitting center for the Mustangs’ football squad while Sarah was a drummer in the high school band and, yes, a cheerleader. Among Wade’s teammates was Nelson Schrader, who is Sarah’s brother and Steve’s dad. You remember Steve. He was Todd’s teammate on the Mustangs’ football team last fall. You know Todd. He’s the son of Wade and Sarah.

Think that makes it a small world? How about this — the Schraders and Deals’ parents were next door neighbors in Northville.

Old Northville High.

Wade and Sarah started dating their senior year at NHS, and married while students at Michigan State University in 1963. “After I started going out with Sarah, I never went with anyone else,” Wade said. He added he wasn’t so sure about Sarah at first, “but since then it grew.”

And kept on growing?

“Yeah. But don’t think all that mush means I’m not really a tough guy,” he laughed.

Nowadays, the tough guy is president of the Northville Booster Club, and Sarah an active participant in the club’s activities.

And what about fourth-generation Northvillian Todd? Well, he’s more interested in going to Western Michigan than Michigan State.

LOVE STORIES

Charles & Mary Freydl

After nearly 26 years of marriage, Charles and Mary Freydl still reserve Saturday night to be together.

“That’s our date night,” explains Mary, adding that with their hectic work schedules they need to have at least one night a week to themselves.

With Charles at the store six days a week and Mary’s teaching career keeping her busy well into the evening hours, they both admit the time together is a welcome refuge.

With their three children away from home — two are married and one is a junior at University of Michigan — Mary notes that they “seem to be together all the time.”

Marking their 26th wedding anniversary March 15, Mary says she “always knows the number of years” they’ve been married but has trouble pinpointing the year. However, while the numbers may be confusing, the Cooke Junior High School teacher vividly remembers their first date.

A bank teller at Manufacturer’s, she admits she “was thrilled to death” when Charles asked her out on their first date.

“I found I was more comfortable with him than with anyone I had dated,” she says. “We were very much in tune with one another.”

“We found we cared about things in the same way.”

That camaraderie and caring seems to have nurtured throughout the Freydl’s marriage.

Charles notes that while their lives mostly have centered around kids and family, they also have encouraged each other to pursue their own goals.

Mary mentions that after the youngest of their three sons was in kindergarten, she decided to go back to college — after a 13-year absence.

“He’s the guy that stayed home and supported it (her education),” Mary says fondly of her husband.

Mary continued her education until she received her master’s from University of Michigan.

A longtime teacher in Northville Public Schools, she notes that she also helps Charles with the family business, spending many weekends with him on buying trips.

St. Valentine’s Day origins not for weak hearts

The origin of Valentine’s Day has as many explanations as the origins of most love affairs. Depending on what story you want to believe, it descends from pagan rituals or from the sanctioning of the Pope himself.

To start at the middle and work toward both ends, there really was a Saint Valentine — or at least, there’s no reliable evidence there wasn’t. More accurately, there were, somewhere between two and eight St. Valentines, although two have emerged as the most important:

One was a Roman priest of the third century who suffered martyrdom at the hands of Emperor Claudius II Gothicus. This Claudius had proclaimed an edict that there were to be no more marriages. Whether this edict was sensible or not is up to you, but legend has it St. Valentine performed Christian marriages in violation of the law. And when he refused to renounce his Christianity, he was put to death — on February 14, 269 A.D.

During his imprisonment, he was said to have received secret notes from those he had helped along the way, and this is the origin of Valentine Cards. Another story says he fell in love with the daughter of his jailer, and exchanged notes with her.

The other St. Valentine was a more conventional bishop from Interamna, now called Terni. He supposedly was a victim of Claudius’ persecution, and was beheaded a martyr in Rome — also on February 14.

Nearly a century later, Pope Gelasius I proclaimed February 14 St. Valentine’s Day in his or their honor (it isn’t quite clear). A large basilica was built in Rome to contain his remains.

St. Valentine, unfortunately, was stripped of his canonization in 1969, due to the questionable origin of his legend — maybe that’s why love seems to have passed a little out of fashion since then.

Minnie Korzon Day marked 80th year

By JEAN DAY

The last Friday in January was "Minnie Korzon Day" officially in Bloomfield Township, a proclamation that was a surprise to the Northville resident.

"Complete surprises" as a rule are rarities, but the party her son gave to celebrate her 80th birthday was an unexpected delight for Mrs. Korzon. Her son, Fred Korzon, is Bloomfield Township supervisor. He and his family honored Mrs. Korzon on her birthday, January 27, with a surprise dinner party at Wabeek Country Club.

Among the 25 guests were seven of Mrs. Korzon's eight grandchildren and her 11 great-grandchildren. She received a call from the eighth grandchild in Hawaii.

A resident of 616 West Main for 17 years, Mrs. Korzon is the former Minnie Kreeger. She was born in Northville. Her parents, the Fred Kreegers, lived on a farm on Eight Mile and she attended school here until the 10th grade when her family moved to Detroit. She then was graduated from Cooley High School and went to work for the Detroit Board of Education as a dietitian.

Mrs. Korzon's late husband Adam Korzon was a City of Detroit supervisor. Her older son Clarence died in 1968.

A member of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Mrs. Korzon serves on the church visiting committee. She also is a member of the Northville-Plymouth chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons and of the Northville Senior Citizens.

They're exhibiting in Michigan Potters' show

Works of two local artisans will be on view at Michigan Ceramics '84, seventh annual statewide juried exhibition sponsored by the Michigan Potters' Association February 10 to March 2 at the Detroit Artists' Market.

Work of both Louise Pargoff and William Cloutier has been accepted for the show which features 104 pieces by 71 "artists in clay" from throughout Michigan.

"It's really thrilling," says potter Louise Pargoff, explaining this is the first time she entered the juried show, and her piece was accepted. It's a decorative piece that is unglazed but is smoke, or pit, fired. "My husband says it looks like a pitted olive," Mrs. Pargoff says when asked to describe her entry. A piece of her smoke-fired work in terra cotta was in the Wabeek pottery exhibit at the pottery on Jefferson, which just closed.

Historical society dinner's almost sold out

Only three reservations remained last Friday for the progressive dinner March 10 being sponsored by the Northville Historical Society. Chairperson JoAnn Dalziel reports that reservations opened last Wednesday and the response was immediate. However, she adds, the committee will be starting a waiting list as past experience has shown there will be cancellations. Val Cook is taking reservations at 349-2158. They are $25 a couple, or $12.50 a person, plus a passing dish. The historical society supplies the meat, dinner wines, coffee and tea.

Ten homes, almost all in Northville's historic district, will be open for the dinner. Dessert will be at two other homes on Nine Mile, including the reconstructed barn home of Barbara and Dan Williamson.

Reservations were limited to 120 because the evening begins with cocktails and hors d'oeuvres in the Victorian Yerkes House in Mill Race Historical Village, which accommodates only that number.

This year's dinner is a benefit for the Hirsch blacksmith shop now under construction in the village. It will be a working shop and also a museum. The society hopes to place on display there many of the donations it has received relating to early Northville.

BPW seeks applicants for Bea Carlson award

Northville Business and Professional Women's Club is seeking applicants for its Bea Carlson Womanhood Award.

The award assists a woman in need of short-term financial assistance to begin, resume or upgrade her career. The award may be used for education-related expenses including child-care, travel to school and books. The award does not cover study at the doctoral level, correspondence courses or post-doctoral studies.

Applicants must be officially accepted into an accredited program or course of study, be a resident of the City of Northville, have a Northville mailing address or be a member of the Northville Business and Professional Women's Club.

Applicants also must demonstrate need for financial assistance to upgrade skills or complete education for career advancement or plan to use the desired training to improve chances for advancement, train for a new career field or enter or re-enter the job market.

Selection for the award will be based on need as shown on the application and potential for use of the grant.

Applications are available at Bookstall on the Main, 116 East Main, and at the Bookstop, 42309 Seven Mile in Northville Mall.

Completed forms must be returned to either location no later than 5 p.m. May 18.

As for historical scholars less romantically inclined, the February 14 date's proximity to Lupercal, the ancient Roman holiday, offers a more sinister explanation.

Lupercal was traditionally celebrated on February 15, and was in honor of the Roman god Lupercus — the equivalent of the Greek god Pan, god of woods, fields and flocks — or the god Faunus, god of wild beasts. And the customs associated with Lupercal will immediately quench any present-day wishes for an "old-fashioned" Valentine's Day.

The Festival of Lupercalia began with a giant feast. Then, in a cave where the founders of Rome, Romulus and Remus, were said to have been raised by wolves, pagan priests would sacrifice a dog and several goats.

The skins of the animals would be made into thongs, whips or strips which were used by men called Luperci to beat women — it was said a blow rendered by the Luperci would cure sterility, or at least enhance fertility.

Not to worry — the festival was discontinued in 494 A.D., when the Church replaced it with the Feast of the Purification of the Blessed Virgin, also known as Candlemas.

Another explanation for Lupercal was that the sacrifices were made to ensure protection from wolves. In either case, the practice of boys and girls drawing names to be each other's annual sweethearts began as part of Lupercal.

Despite periodical efforts by the Church to water down the tradition (such as drawing names of saints to emulate instead), the tradition as preserved quite well. It appears the holiday was popular throughout the late Middle Ages, as references to it are made by Chaucer and later, by Shakespeare, as the day birds are said to mate.

As for how you intend to celebrate Valentine's Day, we suggest gifts and cards, maybe birdwatching. Sacrifices are awfully messy.

Spinnakers host February events

The community-wide fellowship group, Spinnakers, has planned two special February events.

The first event is a potluck dinner scheduled for 6:30 p.m. Saturday at the First Presbyterian Church of Plymouth. The dinner will be followed by a slide show of Hawaii and a hula demonstration.

Participants are reminded to bring their own table service and a passing dish. Beverages will be furnished. Cost is $1.50 per person. For more information,

Spinnakers also has planned a Winter Weekend at Camp Grindley near Pinkney February 17-19.

Cost is $35 and includes lodging and meals. Both indoor and outdoor activities are planned including cross country skiing, ice skating, hiking, cards, table games, fireside chats and informal singing.

Reservations should be made with Sue Harper at 348-0377 by February 15. Car pools will be arranged.

MRS. RICHARD SUPE

Lea Ann McElroy married here

A brunch reception at the Rocky Mountain Club in Colorado Springs December 11 followed the marriage and reception here of Lea Ann McElroy and Richard Supe on November 19.

The bride, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Sheldon A. McElroy of Northville, and bridegroom flew back to Michigan from Colorado Springs, Colorado, to be married in the Greenfield Congregational Church in Dearborn where her parents and her sister Kay had been wed.

The Reverend Ric Brightman officiated at the 6:30 p.m. double-ring ceremony. The unity candle that had burned in the church for her parents' wedding was used in the service.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Zinalda Supe of Riverside, California.

The bride's gown of Chantilly lace was fashioned with a scoop neckline and long sleeves ending in ruffles at the wrists. Matching lace edged her fingertip veil of illusion. She carried a nosegay of roses and baby's breath with satin streamers.

The bride's sister Kay Mikulec of Howell was matron of honor.

Bridesmaids were Susan Bartz of Lake Oswego, Oregon, Gale Fox and Kathleen Fitzpatrick of Colorado Springs and Joni Arbanas of Grand Rapids. The bride's niece and nephew, Erin Mikulec, 2, and Zachary Mikulec, 6, were flower girl and ring bearer.

Best man was Walter Ast Jr. of Colorado Springs. Ushers were Edmund Stevens of San Francisco, Charles Grote of Denver, Donald Mikulec of Howell, brother-in-law of the bride, and David McElroy of Northville, brother of the bride.

Carolyn Hicks of Farmington Hills served as hostess.

Special guests at the wedding and dinner reception at the Chamberlin Restaurant in Dearborn included the bride's maternal grandfather Coleman Butterworth.

The bride was entertained at showers given by Ms. Fox and Ms. Fitzpatrick, bridesmaids, in Colorado Springs. Northville bridal showers were given by Mrs. Daniel Swayne and by Mrs. Theodore Heckler, assisted by Mrs. Gregory Boll Mrs. Bryan Riegner.

After a wedding trip to Papeete, Tahiti, and Moorea in French Polynesia, the newlyweds are making their home in Colorado Springs where the bride is a senior buyer for Hewlett-Packard Corporation.

Mix all with mixer on medium speed until well-blended, adding nuts and raisins last. Pour into well-greased and floured 9 by 13-inch pan. Before baking top with 1 Tablespoon flour, 1 cup brown sugar, 1 Tablespoon cinnamon, ½ cup melted butter. Mix and sprinkle over the top and swirl through with a fork or spoon. Bake 35-40 minutes in 350 degree oven. Be careful not to overbake.

GLAZE AFTER BAKING

1 stick butter
1 cup brown sugar
¼ cup milk
Combine in sauce pan and boil five minutes. Pour over cake when it comes from the oven. The Jaycee Women say that the amount of brown sugar can be cut down in this recipe if you wish as it is a very sweet product.

CINNAMON ROLLS

2 cups starter
2 cups flour
½ teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
4 teaspoons baking powder
½ cup oil
Mix and knead on floured board lightly until it is not sticky. Roll out dough until ¼ inch thick and spread with soft margarine. Sprinkle with cinnamon and sugar. Roll up as for a jelly roll. Slice into ½ inch slices.
Combine one stick melted butter, one cup brown sugar, and ½ cup nuts. Spread in bottom of 9 by 13 pan. Place slices of dough, flat side down, on top and bake in a 350 degree oven about ½ hour, until golden brown. Invert.

PAN BISCUITS

1 cup starter
1 cup flour
¼ teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons baking powder
¼ cup oil
Combine all ingredients and knead on a floured board. Pinch off small bits of dough and form into shapes to bake. Or roll out dough and cut with a biscuit cutter. Let rise in a warm place for an hour. Bake in 350-degree oven 30 minutes.

PANCAKES Herman's sidekick

1 cup flour
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon soda
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 cup milk
1 cup starter
2 beaten eggs
Combine dry ingredients before blending in the remaining ingredients. Mix just enough to moisten the dry ingredients. Use ¼ cup batter for each pancake.

Curls' special love story

It really works out well, he explains, because many jobs are afternoon or evening ones, leaving time for morning walks. He says that Lois has been a helpmate, painting along with him when he takes a job. She confides that she knows he "really doesn't like to paint," so she helps. "If there's any job he needs help with, I'll go along."

Tom Curl agrees that he likes to have his wife with him. Lois Curl repeats a friend's assessment of the reason for the success of their marriage — "You put Tom first; Tom puts you first, and you both put your children first."
What are they doing for Valentine's Day? "I haven't even thought about that yet," says Tom's Valentine.

The Northville Record

Bob Pegrum goes for a loose ball

Cagers notch two wins

By B.J. MARTIN

Northville basketball coach Tim Lutes has tried more combinations than a safecracker this season, and it looks like he may have found the right one last week.

The Mustangs mounted their two most impressive victories of the season, topping the WLAA's two injun teams, first the Chiefs from Plymouth Canton 68-57 on Tuesday, then the Warriors from Walled Lake Western 72-58 on Friday. And two players with new-found roles may have made the difference: Greg Wendell and Dan Nielsen.

"I had been concerned earlier on about whether Dan and Greg would help us a lot on defense and rebounding," Lutes said. "But they're both rebounding strong and complementing our guards and Steve (Schrader) really well."

Both Wendell and Nielsen are likely a step or two slower than Northville's original forwards Scott Gala and Mike Weber. But both have added critical dimensions to the Mustang attack.

Wendell has led the team in rebounding his last two appearances, and has utilized his excellent passing skills to get the ball inside to Schrader — formerly a problem in the Mustangs' halfcourt game. Against Canton, the 6'2" senior had 12 rebounds, three assists and eight points.

As for Nielsen, his showing in Tuesday's contest spoke for itself. Inserted into the lineup with Northville down 25-21 at the half, Nielsen canned six straight perimeter jumpers to lead a 25-13 Mustang surge in the third quarter. The Mustangs picked up 22 more points in the fourth quarter, as the formerly dormant offense began to show signs of exploding.

"Danny gives us another guy who can hit the outside shot," Lutes explained. "And he's also a very hard worker."

While Nielsen and Wendell supplied the late-game muscle against the Chiefs, Northville's backcourt supplied the flash: Steve Frellick fired in 18 points, including eight during the third quarter. Bob Pegrum added 14 and nine assists.

"Bob's been fantastic at point guard for us," Lutes said. "He's playing his best basketball of his life, and so is Steve."

That might be true of all the Mustangs — the team had 17 assists against Canton and 21 assists against Walled Lake Western.

"We've always played pretty good team defense," Lutes said. "But I

Mustang tankers dunk Churchill 43-30

"This was our biggest win in the last five years," grinned Northville swim coach Pete Talbot. "Everything is starting to turn the corner for us now."

What was the all the fuss about? Well, last Thursday, Northville's varsity tankers dunked their biggest obstacle to a Western Division WLAA championship with a 43-40 victory over Livonia Churchill.

That score might sound too close for comfort, but Talbot said he was breathing easily with four events to go and the score tied at 26-all.

"I knew we'd slam at least two of the last four events," Talbot said later. "We're very strong in the 500 free and backstroke."

Talbot was right on the money — in the 500 free, Adam Swallow's 5:24.55 was almost half a minute faster than the Chargers' top entry. Northville swam one-two, as Tom Valade took second in 5:35.53.

Jeff Bainbridge won the backstroke with a 1:00.2 clocking and Darius Mikalonis added a second in 1:01.25. After that point, all the Mustangs had to do was swim carefully and avoid disqualification. They did.

Each event up until the 500 free had been close, except diving. Jeff Metz easily remained unbeaten in WLAA competition, racking up 203.25 points. Joel Grasley finished third with 185.70.

But Northville's medley relay foursome of Bainbridge, Doug Buell, John Gass and Chris Johnston swam a 1:49.3 to finish less than a second behind Churchill. It was a good time, less than four seconds off the state qualifying standard, and Talbot plans to push the foursome to make the cut.

Mikalonis swam to a first in the 200 free and Buell to a first in the 200 individual medley to tie the score at 12-all.

Churchill took a one-point lead after the 50 free, with less than one second separating first and third place. But despite the Chargers' four firsts in the last six events, Nor-

"This was the one we were shooting for... It was the best we swam all year."

— Pete Talbot

thville's superior depth kept them at bay.

"They did not swim as well as I thought they would," Talbot said of Churchill. "But we were pretty pleased. This was the one our guys were shooting for, and they looked the best they have all year."

Two days earlier, Northville swamped Novi in an easy 98-74 non-league contest.

In the early going, the meet looked to be pretty close. Northville clung to only a four-point lead after four events. But thereafter, it was the Mustangs' show all the way. Northville took firsts in all but three events — and Novi's excellent freshman Jeff Cohen had a hand in all three: the 100 breast stroke, the 200 medley relay and the 200 I.M.

But Swallow took first in the 200 free (2:01.95), Bainbridge first in the 100 back (1:02.92), Buell first in the 50 (23.95) and 100 free (52.69) and Dave Wayne first in the 100 fly (1:03.09) to pace the victory. Metz and Grasley finished one-two in diving.

Mikalonis, Wayne, Buell and Bainbridge teamed for an easy win in the freestyle relay, clocking a nondescript 3:38.55.

The Mustangs will need better showings from top to bottom to give Plymouth Salem a run for its money in the Rocks' pool at 7 p.m. tomorrow. But Talbot thinks making sure his squad is ready to peak again at the WLAA playoffs later this month is more important — and after easy practice sessions in store for the next couple of weeks.

Matmen gearing up for WLAA tourney

There may be a good turnout for Northville's wrestling match tomorrow night against Farmington Harrison, the team's final home meet of the season. But the Mustangs might not even be there — mentally.

They've got bigger things on their mind, like the Western Lakes Activities Association meet at Walled Lake Western this Saturday. Right now, Northville is a long shot for the league title, but certainly can't be counted out.

"I'd have to say Canton's the favorite going in," said Mustang mat coach Gary Emerson, who ought to know. The Chiefs thumped Northville in a dual meet last Thursday, 36-26.

"It's possible we can take the whole thing if we do everything perfectly," he added. "A lot of people think it'll be really close, but you never know. The team that gets the most places in the final can win it — I can't see any team in the conference getting shut out."

At least in the upper weight brackets, the Mustangs have a couple of good cards under their saddles. Senior heavyweight Brian Burgett (25-4) still hasn't lost a league match, and Emerson expects he won't, either.

"We've had a pretty good tradition of heavyweights here," Emerson noted. "Brian did a good job for us last year, and before that we had Vince Candella, who had over 30 wins for two straight years. Where we'll find one next year, I don't know."

Vince's "little" brother, Dino, has a shot at the league title at 198 pounds, with an 18-9 record going into this week. And Joel Vogt at 185 has earned a reputation as one of the WLAA's best at that weight. Vogt is on a tear lately, and possesses a 21-8 record.

Tomorrow's meet should provide the answer to a question that has been on Emerson's mind a good deal during the Mustangs' four-game loss streak: "Will Ernie Bock be healthy?"

The 155-pound senior was 15-3 before pulling stomach muscles at midseason, and Emerson has been reluctant to chase him back into the lineup before he is healed. But Bock is scheduled to be on the mat for tomorrow's match. If his strength and quickness have not diminished too much, Bock could be a contender for the WLAA's 155-pound champion.

But Emerson isn't worried much about that crew. It's the wrestlers with records close to .500 the Mustangs will credit or blame Saturday. Jay Anderson at 145 has a 17-15 record and has wrestled both brilliantly and below-par this year. Norm Estigoy at 126 has a 17-

'It's possible we can take the whole thing if we do everything perfectly.'

— Gary Emerson
NHS Wrestling Coach

11 record, and the Mustangs are counting on Estigoy for some points Saturday.

Performances by Mike Davis, a 15-10 137-pounder, Steve Smith, 8-7 at 167, Mike Bates and John Lazar are also critical, as Northville will need every point it can get.

The Mustangs faced a similar challenge against Canton last week — but didn't meet it.

"We had our chances," Emerson said. "Canton's not that tough. Our loss to them was just a matter of seniors against sophomores in experience. We've got to squeeze out every point possible, and that's what a veteran team is all about."

Emerson remembers that well enough. In 1979 the Mustangs took a league title with senior wrestlers who had been under Emerson's eye since their freshmen year.

As is often the case when Northville wrestles, the opponent leaped off to a seemingly unsurmountable lead following light weight class victories.

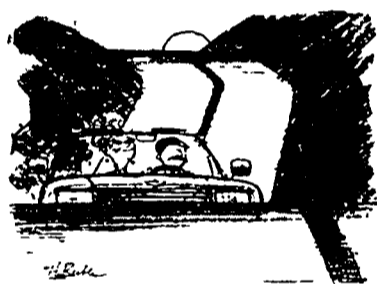

Freshman Toby Balai (98 pounds), Bates (119) and Davis (138) all lost on pins, while Jim Assemany wrestled to a major decision 14-2 loss.

Don Graham was ahead of Canton's 112-pounder Dave Dunford 4-3 and had a headlock late in the third period — had Graham simply stood up, Northville would have been five points better off. But Dunford sprung a reversal on Graham in the last five seconds for a 5-4 victory.

Anderson lost an 8-0 major decision, Leavitt a see-saw 13-7 decision and Smith a 15-3 major before Canton's dam finally broke.

Vogt took a 19-4 decision, Candella a pin at 2:37 and Burgett a pin at 3:43 to pull the match close.

Wrestling will go all day at Western Saturday, with finals scheduled to begin around 6 p.m.

The last thing you need when you're over 55, is a problem paying for your car insurance.

Age has its rewards. Sometimes it does with Auto-Owners. They give good drivers age 55 or older a discount. So instead of raising your premiums or reducing your coverage you may pay a little less for your auto insurance. Auto Owners respects maturity and a good driving record. Just ask your "no problem" Auto Owners agent how he can save you money on your car insurance. When you hear the news, you'll be glad you've got a few years behind you.

thought we needed a little more scoring punch. And with this combination, we seem to be getting that now."

The Mustangs are a team almost made-to-order for coaching — each player has balancing strengths and weaknesses. Few coaches have the luxury of relegating players like Dan Perpich, Dave Longridge, Weber and Gala to off-the-bench roles. And all four played effective parts in Friday night's win, especially Longridge and Perpich.

More noticeable than anyone else in Friday night's game, was 6'6" center Schrader. The big senior hit 11 of 19 from the floor and hauled in 13 rebounds. Also finishing in double figures against the Warriors were Pegrum with 13, Wendell with 11 (and 10 rebounds) and Frellick with 10 points.

Even the Mustangs' problem with free throws looks to be improving. Against the Warriors, Northville was 12 of 20 and against the Chiefs, the Mustangs sank 20 of 32 — nothing great, but for the Mustangs, who have often hit below 50 percent from the line, it was a marked improvement.

"We're coming around," Lutes said enthusiastically. "It took longer than I thought it would, but it couldn't come at a better time."

The Mustangs, now 5-5 in the WLAA (8-5 overall), are entering the home stretch in league competition.

Cage coach Hurst quits

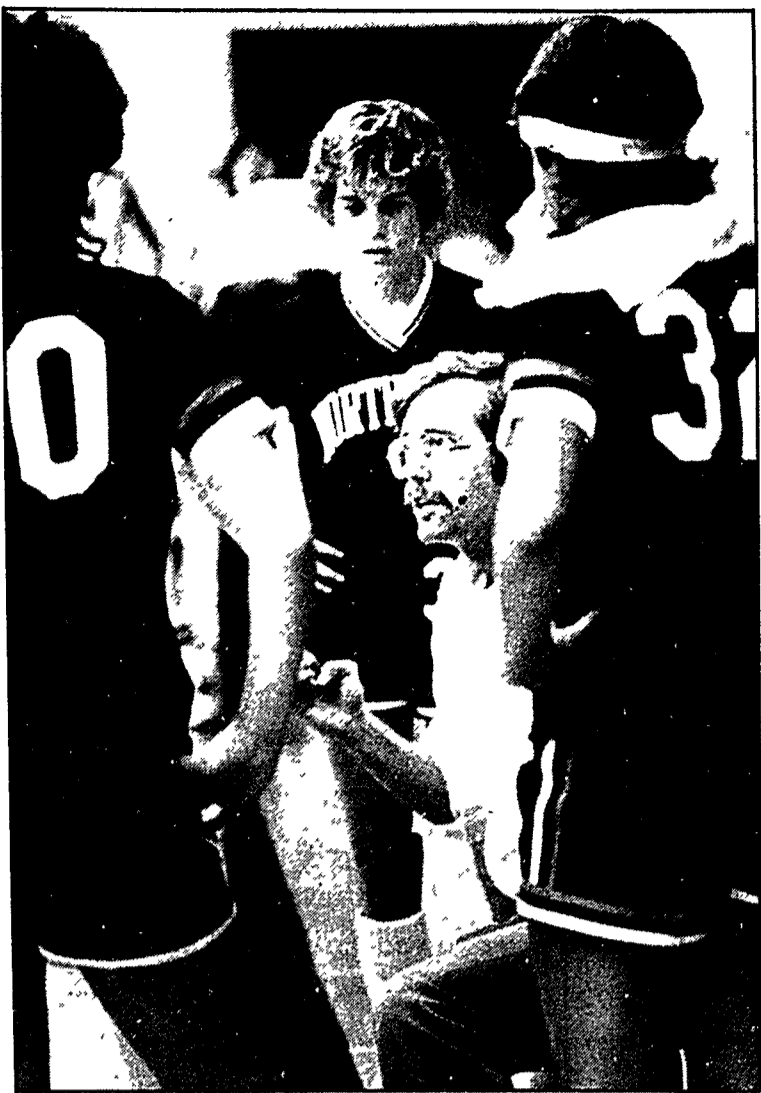

Northville Athletic Director Ralph Redmond has received the resignation of varsity girls' basketball coach Rick Hurst, he announced Monday.

Hurst's two-year tenure as head coach had been a difficult one — in two seasons, the Mustangs could manage only three victories, and team spirit suffered because of it. But together with other coaches in the program, Hurst had begun to set a foundation for a steadier future.

Northville's successful junior varsity team and several good young players who saw time on the varsity were among the signs the varsity could become more competitive with other schools in the league within two or three years.

Redmond said he accepted the resignation "with regret." Already the Northville A.D. must fill two or three spring coaching positions, and find a replacement for Hurst in time to coach a summer session — practically a necessity to survive in the competitive WLAA.

"I'll need to post a notice to school district employees first," Redmond said, "then open it up to applicants from elsewhere, if we need to."

Rick Hurst in action last fall

Spring coaches to be named soon

Coaches for the varsity and junior varsity softball teams at Northville High School are expected to be named by NHS Athletic Director Ralph Redmond late this week.

Redmond has been conducting interviews of applicants for the head coaching job for the Mustang softball team, vacated by the resignation of Mary Minor, coach of last spring's squad. The varsity softball team last spring compiled an 8-11 overall record under Minor. The young squad was 8-9 in the WLAA and is returning many of its best players this spring.

This week, Redmond also interviewed candidates for the boys' varsity track head coaching job. Last season was Gary Polley's only season at the post, but when his teaching job was trimmed from the Northville Schools' budget, Polley sought — and found —

Under Polley, the Mustang boys track team showed promise, but managed only a 1-7 season record. Many of the team's best athletes are returning this spring and the squad's record is certain to improve.

Redmond expects to name that coach "in the near future" also, since pre-season training for spring teams begins next month.

Two more tough losses for spikers

Northville's varsity volleyball team is still struggling to snap its losing streak, which extended to seven games following losses last week to Farmington Harrison and Livonia Bentley.

"They're pressing," admitted Mustang Coach Steve McDonald. "We just have to be mentally tough right now, because the girls are definitely capable of winning."

In Monday's contest against Harrison, it appeared the Mustangs were about to break the jinx, as the squad gained momentum in a 15-11 first-game loss, then took the second by the same score.

"It seems like we have to fall behind to start playing well," McDonald noted. The first game was a perfect example. Northville fell behind 10-2 before the team mounted a rally to cut the lead to 12-9. And the girls looked strong in the second game.

But the Hawks put the clamps on in the third, again by a 15-11 score. The difference may have been one of maturity. Despite the fact Harrison has won only three matches this year, the Hawks have plenty of seniors, while Northville is much younger.

Cheryl Berryman, Northville's senior exception to the rule, played a good overall game with 18 good serves, none bad, including two aces. Berryman also had 25 good sets, with just two bad.

Bev Henderson added 13 good serves and two aces, and she socked four good hits and two dinks. Lyn Frellick, seeing more than her usual time on the court, had her best serving night of the season, with 14 good serves and two aces.

"I've been alternating Lyn with Cheryl Spanman and Nicki LaRoque as power hitters," McDonald reported. "When she plays with confidence she's a real good player, although she needs some more experience."

Hitter Erin Ryan also continued to improve, collecting 10 good hits and two good dinks.

McDonald called Wednesday's 6-15, 10-15 loss to Bentley the team's most frustrating all year.

"I didn't feel they were that good a team," he said. "They didn't hit that hard or play that well. But we just had a really bad game."

Bad game? It was a nightmare. Every Northville player missed her first serve. Even Henderson, usually the Mustangs' most dependable server, muffed three of five.

"It was just a lack of concentration and relaxing up there," McDonald said. "We didn't come in real loose and easy."

Nicki LaRoque, Ryan and Henderson all played well at the net. LaRoque nailed six good hits and three good dinks, Ryan pummeled 10 good hits — none bad — and Henderson picked up six good hits, with just one bad. Frellick also looked capable, with three good and three bad hits.

Tracy Martin, Berryman and Chris

McGowan contributed steady setting play, teaming for 57 good sets and only two bad.

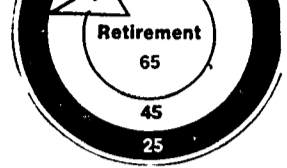

The two losses dropped the varsity Mustangs' overall record to 2-8, 1-7 in the WLAA.

McDonald is optimistic the squad can pull together soon — tonight the Mustangs take on Plymouth Canton, whose program is struggling this season. Then on Monday, Northville travels to Walled Lake Western, who narrowly defeated the Mustangs earlier this season.

Our Lady of Victory boys' team in second

The Our Lady of Victory Cougars nabbed second place in grade 5-6 basketball by knocking off league-leading Redford St. Mary's 30-24 Sunday. The boys are now OLV's winningest team with a 5-3 record.

Paced by Liz DeMattia's two free throws late in the game, the grade 5-6 girls' team pulled out a 12-10 win, the girls' second of the season.

The grade 7-8 boys' and girls' teams were less fortunate. St. Mary's defeated the boys 62-30 and the girls 36-9. Following those losses and losses by all four squads to Dearborn Divine Child the previous weekend, the girls now are 0-8 and the boys are 2-6.

All four teams will tip off against Detroit St. Scholastica this Sunday, with basketball action beginning at noon.

Rec registration 'good'

Recreation officials, volunteers and members of the Northville Junior Baseball Board of Directors reported a successful sign-up campaign Saturday, with nearly 600 boys and girls expected to play on junior baseball and softball teams this spring and summer.

Similar numbers are reported for youth soccer teams this spring, as soccer registrations were also accepted Saturday. There is still no word on finding additional soccer fields, however.

CHOOSING AN ACCOUNTANT

Who'll prepare your tax return this year? It's time to start choosing a professional, and to undertake the planning that may help you shelter some of your income from taxes.

If your income is fairly straightforward and deductible expenses minimal, you might satisfactorily use a short-form return and do it yourself or with the help of a tax preparer. But with more income, and more deductions, as the return becomes more complicated, you're going to want a tax professional. Why? Because it's worth the difference to put your tax return in the hands of someone with the knowledge to find every likely loophole, and the experience to know which are acceptable. And as you reach the higher brackets, you'll get the advice you need on sheltering some income from taxes.

Some free help is available from the IRS. Revenue employees will answer your questions (but the tax court has challenged some of their answers) and prepare the simplest returns. There are also independent and chain tax preparers who pop up at tax season. Their workers may not be experienced enough to catch all legal deductions. A certified public accountant can handle most complex returns and are familiar with shelters and investing. His or her tax know-how can save you more than the fee.

How do you choose a professional? Recommendations from satisfied clientele are one way, as are referrals from lawyers. Once a relationship is entered, the client will find his accountant helpful in making financial decisions all year round.

When we sign a tax return that we've prepared, we're proud of having done the best possible job for you. When you see our signature on your tax return you can be sure that:

1. The counselor who prepared your return was competent and thoroughly experienced in tax matters.
2. You have received the maximum legal deductions and the minimum legal tax.
3. Your tax return has received all the time and attention that was necessary to do a proper job.
4. Your tax return has been double-checked for both accuracy and tax saving possibilities.
5. Your return has been handled in a confidential manner.

TOP TUMBLERS— Scenes from Tuesday night's loss to Walled Lake Western: Above, sophomore Kim Wobermin demonstrates her balance beam routine despite an ankle injury. Far right, junior Diane Hale in floor exercise, where she earned an excellent score of 7.95 — a remarkably high score in lieu of the lower-than-usual grades that were the norm in the meet. At near right, gymnastics coach Debbie Heck offers last-minute pointers to one of the team's most promising freshmen, Tonia Hickman. Record photos by Rick Smith.

Mustang gymnasts fall to Lady Warriors

By B.J. MARTIN

Northville partisans are notoriously partial when it comes to evaluating judges and referees, but in the varsity gymnasts' meet at Walled Lake Western last week, even coach Debbie Heck thought the Mustang fans might've had a point.

The Lady Warriors edged Northville 105-100 on Tuesday, January 31, a loss Heck said was "very hard on the kids."

"I really don't care that much about winning or losing," she declared. "But seeing scores that low really hurts the kids. I thought we performed better than we had in our previous meets. There's no way we should have had only 100 team points. It should've been between 106 and 110, from what I could see. "I kept wondering if I'd missed things the judges saw, but other people who were there thought (the judging) was going badly."

Case in point: in an uneven bars routine, a Western gymnast who had three falls scored higher than a Mustang with no falls. Gymnastics is perhaps the most subjective of all sports, but Heck said she couldn't understand a number of the scores.

"Scores will change from meet to meet, but in individual events, they should almost always be within 0.5 points of the usual score," she said. "But you're not allowed to object to the judges' ruling except on whether a routine is graded according to full difficulty."

'I don't care that much about winning or losing, but seeing scores that low hurts the kids.'

— Debbie Heck
NHS Gymnastics Coach

Diane Hale kept her cool, anyway. The junior took three firsts, two with regional-qualifying scores: her brilliant 7.95 in floor exercise and her 7.8 in vault. She added a first in uneven bars with a 7.4, but only managed 7.1 in balance beam.

Hale has already qualified for regional competition in beam and floor, and needs just one more qualifying score in bars and two in vault to qualify for all-around competition.

Wendy Wobermin's "Planet Rock" floor exercise routine earned her a personal-best 7.9, good for second. Wobermin added a third in uneven bars with a 5.25 (a score Heck thought unfairly low) and a third in vault with a 7.15.

Heck said other scores awarded to Mustang gymnasts weren't a good measure of their performance. "We were tied going into balance beam and floor exercise, and I thought, 'no sweat, those are our best events.' But they gave four girls from Western more than seven points in floor," she said.

Heck noted sophomore Deana Shackelford looked good in her first-ever varsity performance in uneven bars, and praised Terri Forte's 5.15 score in vault — the first time Forte has ever tried the event in competition.

Northville (1-4) travels to Hartland tonight for a contest Heck expects will be "lots of fun."

She explained, "A lot of our girls participated in Hartland's summer program, and we know their girls pretty well. It'll be a very friendly meet."

This week also marks the return of Cathy Heitert to the team after club competition. "It couldn't come at a better time," Heck sighs. "The girls were really down after our last meet and Cathy's not just our best gymnast, but she gives her teammates a real psychological boost, too."

Following tonight's meet, the Mustangs will travel to Farmington Harrison Monday, then host Belleville Wednesday, February 15.

Sellen swims for Albion

Albion College freshman Holly Sellen, a 1983 graduate of Northville High School, is a member of the '83-84 Briton women's swim team.

Sellen was a versatile swimmer for the Mustang varsity in 1982, appearing in individual and relay events for Northville.

Sellen, a backstroke specialist for the 3-1 Britons, clocked a 1:09.37 against Valparaiso in the 100-yard backstroke for her best effort of the season. As a team the Britons finished strong at the Grand Rapids Press Invitational meet with 408 points, three ahead of returning MIAA champ Hope College.

Sellen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sellen, 20031 Caldwell, Northville.

Miami lands Schrader

Mustang football, baseball and basketball standout Steve Schrader is expected to sign his "letter of intent" to attend Miami University of Ohio on a full football scholarship.

Schrader, a unanimous pick at defensive tackle on the Sliger-Livingston Newspapers-East All-Area Football Team last season, also was named to the All-Western Lakes Activities Association team.

Mustang football coach Dennis Coligan said he was "pleased" with the signing, which will make Schrader the first Division I NCAA athlete at Northville in what Coligan called "recent memory." The signing ceremony is expected to take place at the high school today.

The 6'6" 220-pound senior is a second-generation football standout for Northville. His father, Nelson Schrader, also was an excellent player for the Mustangs in the early sixties.

Plus System

Michigan National Announces Nationwide Banking.

Introducing the Plus System®

We're pleased to announce our exclusive statewide participation in the nation's largest Automated Teller Machine (ATM) network — the Plus System. Together with 33 other leading banks (including Bank of America, Chase Manhattan and Southeast Bank), we're providing ATM access in 47 states making the Plus System the largest ATM network of its kind.

Within the state, we already offer 7 times more ATMs than any other bank and our participation in Magic Line (ML) enables cardholders to access over 1500 locations all across Michigan.

Our commitment to electronic banking enables our cardholders to enjoy the ultimate in state-of-the-art banking convenience. To take advantage of this commitment of service, we offer three banking cards. Depending on your needs, each card offers distinct advantages in addition to accessing your bank account with 24-hour nationwide banking convenience.....

The Michigan Money™ Card

This FREE card is far and away Michigan's most universal and popular banking card. It enables you to do all your routine banking without having to wait in line. You can make deposits, withdrawals, transfers, check your account balances and more whenever it's convenient for you. This card also accesses up to eight separate accounts to help you manage funds easily, in addition to obtaining cash advances on Michigan Bankard™, VISA® and MasterCard™ accounts. For all our customers, Michigan Money offers quick and secure banking service.

The Money Key™ VISA® Card

Only the Money Key VISA card offers you up to a $20,000 unsecured line of credit plus the convenience of ATM banking in one card! For a minimal annual fee, substantially less than other premium credit cards, qualified cardholders can have guaranteed purchasing power plus many other valuable services including access to your Michigan National Corporation Bank checking and savings accounts 24-hours-a-day, 7 days-a-week. Wherever you go, Money Key VISA identifies you as a person of impeccable credit credentials in addition to providing you with the ultimate resource in banking service — all with just one card.

The National Money™ Card

You can actually earn money with this card. For a minimal annual fee, cardholders will receive 10-40% cash rebates deposited to your bank account on the cost of a room at any hotel or motel or at any car rental agency throughout the world. Your card entitles you to free full-service travel agency assistance, 24-hour nationwide access plus $100,000 scheduled air accidental death insurance and much more. To the corporate and leisure traveler, this card enables you to put cash back in your pocket everytime you travel.

If you'd like more information on any of our cards, please fill out the coupon below and mail. We'll send you complete details and an application with no obligation to you. Or if you'd prefer, visit your nearest Michigan National Corporation Bank office.
