Meijer backers seek .$10 million in bonds

By KEVIN WILSON

Up to $10 million in tax-free municipal bonds could be issued to finance construction of the proposed Meijer

Thrifty Acres store at Haggerty Road and Eight Mile.

The township economic development corporation (EDC) passed a "resolution of inducement" Monday that is the first step in having the bond sale approved. Action came on application from "Thrifty Northville, Inc." a corporation of "nominal net worth" which will own the store. Meijer will lease the property from Thrifty Northville for at least the period of the bonds.

EDC Bond Counsel Joel Piell of Miller, Canfield, Paddock and Stone told the five township EDC members at Monday's session that the resolution of inducement represents "the first bite of the apple" in a protracted legal process.

The resolution is a "legal fiction" that the township has "induced them" to proceed with the project, Piell said. He explained that it allows the corporation to proceed with construction without risking the opportunity to employ the tax-free bonds. "It is an important legal fiction in that Meijer cannot spend any substantial amount on the site" before it is passed, he said.

At least two more meetings of the township EDC and at least two meetings of the township board, plus a public hearing, are required before the bond sale is approved. The resolution of inducement, however, allows Meijer to make major investments on the site in anticipation of the financing arrangement. Meijer representatives said the firm hopes to begin construction next month. Planning commission and water and sewer commission approvals already have been granted.

The Meijer application states that the firm expects construction will create 375 jobs while the permanent operation will employ a minimum of 275 persons. Estimated property taxes on the developed property were placed at $100,000 annually to the township, schools and county.

Costs of processing the financing arrangement are to be paid from the bond sale with no cost to the township. The developer also repays the bonds issued under the EDC auspices. As a quasi-governmental body, the EDC is authorized to issue the tax-free bonds for purposes of promoting economic development in the community.

The project area defined in the application is restricted primarily to the building and parking area of the development. This excludes from the parcel owned by a Meijer subsidiary the northerly 400 feet or so, and the southeast corner of about 200-by-400 feet. The total parcel owned by Meijer is roughly 700 feet wide along Eight Mile, 1,400 feet wide on its southern edge and 1,600 feet deep. The store is to be angled on the parcel so that the front faces northeast and roughly parallels Haggerty Road.

In response to a query by EDC chairman Larry Sheehan, Meijer representatives said there are no plans at the present time to develop the excluded parcels beyond what is indicated in present site plans (including a bank on the northern segment and driveways in both

County economic development officials are trying once again to spur some action on the proposed senior citizen's housing complex on the site of the Wayne County Child Development

The Wayne County Economic Development Corporation (WCEDC), which holds a ground lease on the 101acre parcel on the east side of Sheldon between Five and Six Mile Road, last month granted a 90-day extension to a Novi developer's right to an option to sublease the property.

Township supervisor John Mac-Donald, also a WCEDC member, explained to township board members at the March 8 meeting that the extension on Singh Development Company's sixmonth right to option was granted on condition the firm demonstrate some progress toward having the site and submission by May 17 of a proposal for development as a housing project for the elderly. The latter must include an executed partnership agreement, analysis of available utilities (sewer, water, gas and electricity), soil boring analysis, site analysis, a tentative master plan including the type and location of facilities, a preliminary construction schedule setting forth a projected completion date, professional contracts relevant to the development and a tentative financing plan.

If WCEDC accepts the proposal, a sublease will be drafted providing for payment of $125 per housing unit per year, up to $148,500, plus cost of living increases, plus $35 per unit per year for each unit with a certificate of occupancy up to $35,000. the project has been the cost of money. 4"The mortgage market has been such that it just wasn't feasible economically," MacDonald said. "The market seems to be a little better, though there are some who would say it's not much

If Singh cannot produce the required plans and documents by the May 17 deadline, or the WCEDC for some reason finds them unacceptable, Mac-Donald said, there are at least two other developers who have expressed interest in examining the proposal. While the WCEDC hopes to proceed from this point, he said, it is encouraging to know there are others interested in looking the idea over.

None of the potential developers at MacDonald said earlier this week this stage were among the four firms who submitted detailed proposals

Townsh contracts discussed

Under terms of a new one-year personal service contract between Northville Township and manager David Lelko, if the township chooses to terminate the agreement it must provide 90 days written notice and pay the equivalent of four months salary.

Lelko, who joined the township in January, 1981 as its business managealso gains a revised title — township manager — under terms of the amended contract approved by the township board March 8.

Compensation was to be reviewed at a special budget meeting of the township board Tuesday night, after The Record went to press. All township salaries were up for review Tuesday. Inclusion of Lelko's salary in the regular budget process was another amendment — there was previously a requirement for an annual performance review each December. Under the new pact, Lelko will be reviewed at the same time other employees are each spring.

The term of the manager's contract was also revised. It was previously approved on a calendar-year basis, but now will coincide with the township budget year beginning April 1 and ending March 31, 1985.

Lelko's pay rate two years ago was changed to make increases coincide with the budget year, but was due for renewal each January. Three onemonth extensions were approved by the township board this year while the new pact was negotiated between Lelko, Supervisor John MacDonald, Clerk Susan Heintz and treasurer Richard Henningsen.

Most discussion at the and meeting focused on the termination clause, which features increased notification requirements for both parties.

Under the old agreement, Lelko needed only to give 14 days notice of resignation. That has been upped to 30 days. The board used to be able to terminate the contract after a hearing required within 10 days of notifying the manager. He would then only be entitled to compensation for the period between notification and the hearing.

The more liberal termination clause - 90 days notice and four months pay was negotiated with the idea that the manager should be entitled to the opportunity to seek other employment, Henningsen explained.

"It's not like he could just walk across the street and apply for another job," he said. "The reality of the profession is that he'd have to go through the

Planners oppose rezoning request

By B.J. MARTIN

A zoning change that would permit a home in a single-family residential neighborhood to continue being leased for sleeping rooms met opposition from neighbors and city planners at a public hearing March 6.

As a result, the City Planning Commission has recommended to City Council that Kenneth and Harriet Peavy's house at 625 Grace Street not be rezoned as the couple has formally

The Peavys have used the house exclusively as rental property since buy-ing it in 1974 from Hazel Kunz, who had used the home as a single-family residence. In 1982, Kenneth Peavy was served a warrant for continued violation of a city zoning ordinance which prohibited the building's use as a room-ing house with four sleeping rooms and an apartment.

The site of the house, as are all the lots in the area, is zoned First Density Residential District (R-1B). Under R-1B zoning, use is restricted to a single more than three unrelated persons.

As City Planning Consultant Ronald Nino noted at the Tuesday, March 6, hearing, all R-1B homes may allow two

The Peavys are seeking to rezone the house to a Third Density Residential District (R-3), which would permit a boarding or rooming house where there are more than three unrelated persons living together as a housekeeping unit.

Not only would such a rezoning allow the Peavys' present use to continue, it would permit them to make additions to the structure and further increase the number of unrelated persons allowed to

"If it (the rezoning) were to take place, almost anybody could come in and ask for any type of zoning," said David Cotton, one of the neighborhood residents who turned up at last week's meeting. "If that happened," he added, "the residential character of any neighborhood could be lost."

their defense, the Peavys claimed their property had been used as presently since its purchase without action by the city, and that unless the rezoning be approved, they would be unable to keep their property.

They also noted that, "The city has almost no sleeping rooms available which can provide low-cost housing for its lower-income residents."

In a memo to commissioners, Nino stated the following reasons for recommending denial:

"Since the enactment of the present zoning ordinance in September, 1974, no material change has taken place in the area which would render the subject site unsuitable as a one family residence;

"The subject site and adjacent pro perties all have one-family designed residences on the lots. There is no evidence of deteriorating or other adverse environmental influences on these properties which would have a negative impact (on the sale value) on the subject lot;

"The applicant has made no compelling argument why the property cannot be used for the purpose for which it is

Township endorses street light request

Township officials have joined with Northville Commons homeowners in an effort to have the Wayne County Road Commission place street lights at the corners of Six Mile and Bradner and Six Mile and Winchester roads.

The township board agreed to write a letter lending its support to the request to have the lights installed.

A letter from Commons homeowners association president E. Thomas Lee stated the association's opinion that the corners are dangerous at night due to low visibility. While the association maintains spotlights at Winchester-to provide some light, there is no light at Bradner, Lee noted.

The turn down a steep grade immediately east of the two intersections is not easily visible to motorists in winter when the westerly part of Six Mile, west of Northville Road, is visible to motorists, the letter added.

In a later letter, Lee added the association's request that the lights be installed and operated at county expense "as the lighting for automobile safety is the responsibility of Wayne County."

Water meter hike approved

Charges by the township water and sewer. department for water meters and their installation were increased last week for the first time in six years.

The township board, acting on recommendation of the water and sewer commission, approved a new fee schedule drafted by water and sewer department superintendent Walter Holinotv.

The new fee schedule increases rates to cover the actual meter cost plus labor costs of an average $9.97 per hour and department overhead computed at three times the direct labor rate.

Thus the cost for a 3/4-meter is computed at $130.90 ($51.14 for the meter, $19.94 for labor and $59.82 for overhead) and the new charge to customers is $131. The charge has been $115 since

Similarly, charges for a 1-inch meter rise from the $140 formerly assessed to $171; those for a 1.5 inch meter to $315 from $260 and those for a two-inch meter from $375 to $419.

The Oakland County Area Post Offices - as well as most Post Offices with 480 Zip Codes have indicated that they will shortly be accepting applications for the Clerk-Carrier Exam. Career Postal Clerks and Carriers make $25,000 a year to start, including benefits; men and women, regardless of age or experience, are eligible. The first step toward a postal service career is getting your name onto the "Register of Eligibles," which is accomplished by passing this Exam (which will probably not be given again for at least three years). To be one of the first hired. you need to get one of the higher scores! And to be hired at all during the next

★ 4-HOUR WORKSHOP: Score 95-100% or ★ Your Tuition is Refunded

It is possible to get a very high score with adequate preparation. From years of expenences and discussions with our Advisory Board (consisting of former postmasters, training managers and examiners), we know that it takes exactly 4 hours to teach you everything you need to know to score 95% or better - which is what you'll need to get a job

Benefits derived from this course extend far beyond the postal exam. The skills and attitudes will help in every area of future learning and test-taking. We have helped thousands of people successfully prepare for the Clerk-Carner exam. But don't take our word for it, take our guarantee! Come to the work shop. If you don't feel, at the end of the course, that will help you achieve a score of 95% or better, don't pay for the workshop! Furthermore, if your score is sess than 95% after using our techniques, we will * You are invited to bring your tape recorder to record the workshop for personal exam review

Policy change lets workers seek office

Don't be surprised if a township employee decides to declare as a candidate for public office in the future. Acting on the advice of its attorney, the township board of trustees last week deleted a clause from its employee policy manual that prohibited such ac-

''Ňels (Carlson) said it's illegal – there are court cases striking it down," explained clerk Susan Heintz. Employees may not be prohibited from running for election — only from conducting political activity during working hours.

It is, however, illegal for a person who has won election to public office to maintain a position as an employee of a public body, she continued.

The state attorney general issued an opinion last year stating that public employees (i.e. clerical workers, teachers, public works employees, department supervisors, etc.) may not maintain employment while serving in elected office.

The best-known example in this area is that of state representative Jack Kirksey, who was on leave-of-absence from employment as a school principal in the Livonia district. Following the attorney general's ruling, Kirksey announced he would not be seeking reelection and would return to education. He recently applied for the open position of superintendent of Clarenceville Public Schools, though the Livonia district is still holding a position for

The board of trustees deleted the prohibition clause in its entirety, though the clause was not solely concerned with employees seeking office.

It stated specifically that employees are allowed to participate in political activity "as individual citizens" so long as it was not during working hours. It also provided that such activity was allowed if employees avoided giving the impression that their activities were on behalf of the township. It prohibited employees running for, politicking for or campaigning for elected or appointed public office.

Meijer developers seek $10 million in bonds

Piell explained to EDC members, for whom this is the first project to proceed to this stage, that the primary goal is to secure the low-cost financing arrangement to "induce" Meijer to develop in Northville Township, based on the anticipated benefits in terms of tax base improvement, job creation and provision of a needed service.

Following the EDC approval, the township board of trustees will review and approve, disapprove or amend the project area, and a project district area (one which the project is deemed to affect most directly). Two special directors who either live, work or own property in the district area are to be appointed to the EDC board for the purposes of reviewing the project.

Then Meijer must supply a project plan to the EDC board, which can approve, disapprove or amend it. The board of trustees is required to conduct a public hearing at this point with strict legal requirements for notification to the citizenry. After the hearing, if the trustees approve the project plan, the EDC board is free to adopt a resolution authorizing the bond sale and approving the financial documents.

Piell said the proposed financing method is "very sophisticated" in that the applicants request that the bonds sold be "lower floater" bonds with a floating interest rate adjusted every 30 days, and that there be a "put and call issue" allowing purchasers a wide range of options in buying and selling

The inducement resolution was moved by township supervisor John E. Mac-Donald and seconded by Delores Field.
Together with Sheehan, Bill Miron and Jim Clark, MacDonald and Field voted in favor of the resolution. The five members constituted a bare quorom of the nine-member EDC. Quorom at the meeting set for 7:30 p.m. was not

Kee specifically pointed to the change in the district's top post and the head position at the high school.

"You have a vibrant, visible superintendent," he noted, "and an exuberant, many-houred principal."

Kee said he found the staff and student ratio to be "exceptionally fine" and told staff members that "your kids here seem to really like you - I don't think they had to say those things."

Noting that "individual and department pride" was predominant for a number of years, Kee urged the staff to "make sure there aren't too many parochial attitudes to be detrimental to the total school."

While the positive tone of this year's report clearly is a change over the school's evaluation seven years ago, the most noted difference between this year's evaluation and the last North Central report is the evaluation process

This year, Northville High School chose to design its North Central Evaluation based on a self-study reflecting an effective school model.

During the summer of 1983, the School Improvement Steering Committee, comprised of high school department chairpersons and and administrators, planned a self-study process reflecting current research on effective schools. A project was designed to assess the high school's current effectiveness on 14 identified characteristics of effective schools and provide a data base for planning im-

Improvement plans and assessment methods have been addressed by the high school staff throughout the year not only as part of its North Central Evaluation process, but also as part of its planning for the high school renova-

According to Weber, Northville's design of its own evaluation process is unique to the North Central Committee.

Noting that "North Central has always allowed districts to go with alternative (evaluation) plans," Weber said Northville is the first district to undertake such a project.

"Everthing they're doing is based on the effective school model," Weber said of Northville's evaluation process. "The evaluation is based on the standards the school has established for

He noted that with Northville's selfstudy in the "embryonic" stage, many of the district's goals will not be achieved for two or three years.

"They have really undertaken an enormous task," he noted. "They have set the stage for the next evaluation seven years from now."

Each of the 26 members of the evaluation team will be given two weeks to write individual reports. As chairperson, Weber will edit the reports for consistency and then a consensus will be reached on all areas.

Weber said the evaluation should be ready before the school year is out.

whole political process before being hired by another municipality.

The manager would be paid for the 90 days only if he continued to serve the township during that period. If Lelko terminates the agreement voluntarily, the provision does not apply.

Henningsen explained the four months pay as "three months regular compensation for work and one month's severance pay." MacDonald noted that the township had examined other manager's contracts and found notification agreements varying between 30 days and six months and continued compensation ranging up to one year after notification of termination.

'Educating Rita' a bit too pedantic

"Educating Rita," this weekend's movie offering at the Northville Marquis Festival of Film, has garnered critical favor from sources across the U.S., including "Sneak Previews."

To a large extent, this favor is by comparison to typical lackluster fare from Hollywood rather than by any unusual merit in the film itself.

"Educating Rita" is not Hollywoodian, however. It is a small-scale work perhaps better suited to the stage than to film. It's an English film, and uses the dialects of that country's provinces as much as the content of the dialogue to establish each character's social class and outlook.

In that respect especially, the movie recalls Pygmalion (in its musical form a.k.a. My Fair Lady). The twist on that old story is that unhappy housewife Rita (Julie Walters) seeks to re-invent herself through literature with the help of an experienced mentor, a disillusioned, self-pitying drunkard professor/tutor (Michael Caine).

All through the movie, we seem to be set up for a romantic involvement between these two characters, and the fact that there is none is used as proof of the film's "seriousness." More likely, it's just a take on the effectiveness of that ending in Pygmalion.

Despite some truly implausable plot situations (at one point, Rita interrupts her tutor's literature class with the breathless announcement that she enjoyed Macbeth the previous night. Sure.), and some smug selfcongratulatory literary references (especially to Blake and Shakespeare - apparently they're not going to go out on a limb in this department), there's plenty here to enjoy - especially the Caine fails, however, when he turns up the volume. His alcohol-addled speeches to his literature class are a caricature of the drunk-poet character and he doesn't carry these scenes very well. He redeems himself much in the intimate, one-on-one conversations.

As for Walters, her character's embrace of the self-improvement-throughhumanities myth isn't as convincing as Timothy Bottoms' more understated approach in the original Paper Chase.

But it's a comedy, right? Well, there are good comic scenes, particularly those with the professor's POSSLQ and her lover — a recurring gag that works I won't give away, and early on, with Rita and her husband.

"Educating Rita" plays at 8:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday nights and at 2:30 p.m. Sunday afternoon at the Marquis.

Township youth attempts suicide

A 16-year-old Northville township resident is recuperating from a self-inflicted gun shot wound suffered March 5 at his Park Lane home, township police report.

Police said they believe the incident to be an attempted suicide.

The victim was released from St. Mary Hospital Monday following a week-long recovery from surgery. The victim, who shot himself through the stomach with a .35 caliber revolver, suffered a perforated lower bowel, injury to the lower intestine and removal

According to the police report, the incident occurred at approximately 6 p.m. March 5. The victim's mother told police she was watching television in the living room of the Park Lane residence when she heard a "bang."

According to the report, the victim called to his mother from the top of the stairs alerting her that he had shot himself.

The victim's mother told police she ran to the basement to wake her other son and the two of them took the victim to St. Mary Hospital.

Township police were dispatched to St. Mary's emergency room on a report of a gun shot victim. At the hospital, police spoke with the victim and his mother about the incident.

According to the police report, when the victim was asked about the incident by the officer at the scene, the victim stated "I shot myself."

When the officer asked the victim how he shot himself, the youth replied,"I pointed the gun at my stomach and pulled the trigger."

The report further stated the victim would not answer when asked by the officer if he tried to kill himself.

According to the report, the victim's attending physican told police that from speaking with the victim, he felt "very strongly" that the incident was a suicide attempt.

When questioned by police if her son had a reason to attempt suicide, the victim's mother stated he had been grounded for skipping school and was very depressed about it.

Police investigating the scene of the incident found a revolver laying on the bed in the victim's upstairs bedroom. Police observed the gun to be loaded and noted a small amount of blood next to a hole in the mattress.

The slug was found inside the box spring of the bed and police noted in the report that the victim must have been laying on his back when he shot

No suicide note was found at the scene, police noted.

The victim's physician told police the youth would be seen the morning after surgery by a hospital staff psychiatrist.

All evidence from the incident was turned over to the Michigan State Police crime lab in Northville Township. Results are expected to be available in two weeks.

Police found no registration on the revolver used in the incident. According to the police report, the victim's father and owner of the gun told police he purchased it from a private owner and it was not registered. He did not relay the name of the previous owner to police.

He further stated he kept the gun in a case in the top drawer of his bedroom

Two teenage sisters from Highland Township were killed in a two-car headon collision on I-96 near Novi Road March 6, according to Northville Post Michigan State Police. Killed were Kimberly Lynn Schultz, the 17-year-old driver, and her sister

Theresa Christine, age 16, who was a passenger in the backseat of the car directly behind the driver. The sisters were among four teens driving eastbound on I-96 to see a movie at Twelve Oaks to celebrate Theresa Schultz's birthday the day before.

According to police accounts, a west-bound car driven by Arthur C. Hammerlind, 62, of Grand Rapids, crossed the median one-half mile west of Novi Road and hit the Schultz car head-on, driver's side to driver's side. The two girls were pronounced dead on the scene by a doctor at Botsford Hospital.

Hammerlind was listed in fair condition at Botsford. Other occupants of the Schultz car were 16-year-old Mark Davis of Milford and Stacy Stubbs of Milford, also 16. Davis was treated and released and reportedly attending school Monday. Stubbs did not regain consciousness until the day after the ac-

Police said witnesses saw Hammerlind slump forward at the wheel, either asleep or unconcious, just before his car crossed the grass median. The investigating officer stated that Hammerlind may have suffered a medical

TransAm stolen from apartment lot

In the Township...

A 1980 Pontiac TransAm was stolen from a Silver Springs parking lot sometime bwtween 9:30 p.m. March 8 and 8:30 a.m. March 9, township police

The complainant told police the car was parked under a car port in the apartment complex parking lot at the time the incident occurred. She also noted that her car payments were up to date and that the vehicle had about a half tank of gas.

The complainant's driver's license also was inside the vehicle.

The officer at the scene checked the area where the vehicle had been parked for signs of physical evidence - with negative results.

The owner told police the vehicle was a brown, two-door with black and tan checkered seats and gold pinstriping. She further stated the vehicle was dented in the right rear quarter panel.

The estimated value of the vehicle is

Items estimated at $1,000 were stolen from a township residence located south of Main and east of Beck sometime between 6:30 a.m. March 3 and 2 a.m. March 11, township police

The complainant told police unknown subjects entered the residence by going through the side door of the garage and kicking in the entrance door to the residence.

The complainant noted items stolen from the master bedroom included three yellow gold bracelets, a yellow gold ring, a butterfly pin with a diamond, a gold ring with a purple stone, a white gold wedding band and a gold pin with a purple stone.

The complainant further stated that an American stamp collection also was stolen from a downstairs bedroom.

The complainant told police he was not sure if the side entrance door to the garage was locked. Police at the scene found no signs of forced entry to the side door. However, damage to the door leading to the residence was estimated

Michigan State Police at the Northville Post are investigating the apparent theft of a $650 dictaphone machine from a Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital office, reports

The dictaphone was reported missing to hospital security officers February the theft was reported to police four days later. According to the report, the device was normally kept in a locked cabinet but the key to the cabinet was in an unlocked desk drawer in the same room. The key's location was "common knowledge" because the device was used by many hospital

The last verifiable use of the machine was January 31, though some witnesses said they had seen it on the desk in the office roughly one week before a doctor discovered it was missing.

Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital staff seized a four-inch paring knife March 3 that had been at the bottom of a package of food a patient's parents brought into the hospital for her, police reports state. The food had been kept a few days in the facility refrigerator. The knife was discovered when the patient requested the food and it was examined by staff. At no time was the patient in possession

A hospital patient is a prime suspect in the malicious destruction of two vehicles February 22 in the hospital parking lot. A 1975 Chevy van was broken into and a key ring and foldingblade knife stolen from the interior. Entry was gained by breaking a large window in the side of the van. Police collected blood stains as evidence.

While collecting evidence, they were approached by another hospital employee who said his 1979 Chevrolet had been broken into. The passenger window was shattered. Of five lug nuts the owner had left on the back seat, only four remained. What appeared to be the fifth lug nut was found inside the van.

Police are investigating a patient who was missing from his ward at the approximate time of the incidents and returned with lacerations on his right hand which he said resulted from a fall. The patient later turned in the stolen knife, saying he had found it in a

A break-in at Northville High School last weekend resulted in nearly $900 in damages to the building. The value and quantity of stolen goods has not yet been determined.

According to a City Police report, the break-in took place between 8 p.m. Saturday and 6:20 a.m. Monday, when evidence of the break-in was first discovered.

The person(s) who pulled off the break-in gained access to the High School building by prying open a window of the teachers' lounge. No tool marks were found around the window, however.

A soda machine was broken into, and an estimated $200 in change was stolen.

Several attempts to gain access to the school store failed before at last the subject(s) broke a hole through the cinder-block wall. Damage to the ceiling, to the steel door leading to the shop, to the display case window and to the wall totaled nearly $880.

As of yesterday morning, it was still being determined what had been stolen

> Rejoice Evermore

Dr. James Luther

Genuine piety is never long faced. Sin makes men unhappy; religious pride and egotism may make them miserable; but God's grace brings joy and happiness. Some think that a mournful expression indicates spirituality. The Bible indicates the opposite is true. Only a Christian has every reason for rejoicing. God's way is a way of joy: "In thy presence is fulness of joy; at they right hand are pleasures for evermore" (Psalm 16:11).

You see, a true believer in Christ has his sins forgiven! Having met God's conditions, he has the divine promise that his sin is removed (Heb. 8:12). Thus, he enjoys the constant companionship of God Himself.

Only the believer has power to resist temptation. "Greater is He that is in you than he that is in the world" (I John 4:4). All the storms of life are brightened by the rainbow of Christian hope. Even death itself holds no terrors for God's own. Because He lives, we shall also live (John 14:19). Have you found in Christ the only true joy and lasting happiness? If you have, show it with a smile, and share your joy. First Baptist Church of Northville 217 N. Wing • Northville

County seeks foster parents

A campaign to recruit Wayne County residents to become foster parents for persons with mental retardation will begin during March, Mental Retardation Awareness Month.

"Our goal is find homes for 50 children and adults now living in institutions, nursing homes and other settings," said Jan Myers, foster care recruiter for Wayne Community Living Services (WCLS). The agency occupies the former Northville Residential Training Center properties on Seven Mile Road. All residents of the center were placed in foster care or transferred to other institutions.

To reach potential foster parents, the recruitment campaign will make use of newspaper advertisements, news releases, public service announcements and local talk shows.

Individuals and couples are being sought to participate in the foster care program. To qualify, one must be between the ages of 18 and 65, live in a suitable residence, be in good physical and mental health, and have a source of income. Previous experience is not necessary, though a teaching or-nursing background is sometimes found

Three nominated to academies

Three Northville youths are among those nominated to American military academies recently by Congressman Carl Pursell. (R-Plymouth).

While Pursell makes nominations, the institutions make all final decisions on appointments. Nominations were, based on the recommendations of a citizen advisory panel, which interviewed candidates throughout Pursell's Second Congressional District.

Nominated to the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, New York were Thomas J. Ducker and Kelly L. Wool of Northville.

ICC orders investigation of rail abandonment

The Interstate Commerce Commission has ordered an investigation of Grand Trunk Western Railroad's application to abandon the Wixom to Sylvan Lake line.

The investigation was prompted by objections to the abandonment filed with the ICC by Gay Toys, Haggerty Lumber, the Michigan Department of Transportation and the City of Keego GTW Assistant Vice President George Stern said the company will have until March 27 to resubmit all documents supporting the abandon-ment. Objections must be filed by April 23, after which GTW will have until May 8 to reply.

Stern said he was "flabbergasted" by the ICC's action and noted, "I think it's not in the public's interest."

A decision on the abandonment, which Stern had thought would be forthcoming in April, now is not expected

Franklin resident Larry Coe, who has entered an agreement with GTW to purchase the Wixom to Walled Lake section of rail, could not be reached for comment. Stern said the contract with Coe stipulates the sale will be final 10 days after the abandonment is approved by the ICC.

"Obviously, (Coe) will be upset. He bought a locomotive and repaired it. He's also given us some earnest cluding Gay Toys, Haggerty Lumber, Marco Brothers, Beatty Lumber and Wolverine Foundry Supply, all in Walled Lake, are in the public's best interest, Stern said.

In addition, plans by the City of Orchard Lake Village to purchase the rail right-of-way to improve the Pontiac Trail/Orchard Lake Road intersections also are in the public's interest, he said.

The protest filed by the Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) is probably the primary cause of the delay in approving the abandonment, Stern suggested. According to the money," Stern said. Coe's plans to continue rail service to the customers along the six-mile stretch of rail, in or may be available on the line could result in the ICC not granting approval (of the abandonment.

Stern said the MDOT's suggestion was "just wrong." Nevertheless, the ICC has directed GTW to supplement its application with the identification of each carload shipper in 1983. This request is highly unusual, Stern noted, because the ICC has in the past always recommended great caution in protecting the identity of shippers.

Former Northville businessman exhibits photographs

By MARY KLEMIC

You may never have the chance to ravel around the world in 80 days, as did Verne's fictional character Phileas Fogg. But in a way you can make a similar trip in some 80 seconds.

That is, if you visit Frame Works in Plymouth now through March 28. The shop, at 833 Penniman, is featuring an International Photographic Exhibit by Lobert Webber. Included in the exhibit are photographs taken from North America, Latin America and Europe. There is a mountain in Switzerland.

Here is a guard in London. In that row you see the Tower of Pisa: Look in this row and you're watching sheep graze in Pennsylvania.

"Anybody can learn how to use a camera, but you have to recognize a picture when you see it," said Webber, who founded a camera shop and studio in Northville in 1965 and is a former president of the Northville Chamber of Commerce. He now lives in Plymouth.

"I've had my lucky shots," Webber said. "I happened to catch a Canadian goose with water on its back just right for one picture. But I've been known to wait an hour and a half for the weather to clear to get what I want. My wife is getting used to that. I might drive all

Many of the pictures have to do with water, boats or some other nautical theme. Among these are shots of a lighthouse on a rocky slope, colorful boats in front of old white structures along a coast in Spain and white gulls flocking behind fishermen. Webber adits having a certain fondness for such subjects.

Our Opinions Salary discussion should be open

Salaries of township employees were the major topic of a Tuesday night meeting of the township board as it went through its annual budget planning session. Board members expected to hear some public comment regarding discussion of raising the salaries for supervisor, treasurer and clerk.

While the meeting took place after The Record deadline, we were pleased to learn beforehand that any such increases would be :discussed in public session and above-board. Despite the opinion of some that such a proposal should be passed through the township wage and salary review commission (all but disbanded after it created the current pay scale), we would prefer, and believe residents prefer, to have such discussions take place at the board level in public session.

The major advantage of the review commission is that it leaves much of the decision-making process to a group of individuals who will not directly benefit from the ultimate determination. Though some may see that as a unique means to keep politicians from raising their own salaries, we view it as a tool that allows them to do so without taking the political heat for their action. Given that such commissions are only recommending bodies not subject to the open meetings act and generally conduct their business behind closed doors, it is difficult to analyze their true value.

Even after a commission presents a recommendation, it is the public body that must vote to adopt new salary schedules. We would prefer to see the people voting on the issue make their own proposals, provide their own justifications and accept whatever political consequences that may

With the salary increase discussion little more than rumor though well-founded in fact) heither we nor township residents may evaluate the idea on its merits. We have a feeling there is truth in the conjecture that the present salaries are too low to attract the qualified candidates we'd like to see running township government. On the other hand, it can be argued that the part-time positions of supervisor, treasurer and clerk should be viewed as public services not requiring large financial gain to persons interested in serving their community.

The temptation is to compare these jobs to that of the city's mayor, which pays only nominally in comparison. But that is not a fair comparison. The form of government adopted on the wage and salary review commission's recommendation four years ago requires from elected officials day-to-day involvement in the nuts-andbolts operation of township government. The manager position created is not granted the authority, nor the staff, of the city manager. The clerk is supposed to perform, part-time at a salary of $8,000, many of the duties the fulltime appointed city clerk is assigned. The supervisor is, by law, assigned many duties performed by city managers. The treasurer is ultimately responsible for tax collections. These are all jobs handled by city staff.

We believe the present township government structure was adopted with the idea that it was the most efficient means of running a growing community. Given the amount of time the top three elected township officials must devote to their duties, it is possible a case can be made that raising their salaries substantially is cheaper than it would be to pay a manager of broader responsibility and the staff the manager would require to perform those duties. What is essential is that the township attract top-notch candidates who not only can campaign for office but who can perform the duties that come with winning.

What no one knows is whether the present salaries are too low to attract that kind of candidate. One way to get an idea is to examine the pay scales in townships of similar size with similar organization and compare them with Northville Township's structure. The township doesn't need a review commission to do that — it just needs some leaders willing to take the matter up and enter into the

Off the record

By Kevin Wilson

Who wrote 'Off the Record?'

Some sociologist was quoted in USA Today recently on the weighty subject of "Trivial Pursuit," the board game that's become the sensation of the year, to the effect that the game's popularity results from our alienation from an increasingly

According to this expert, we love Trivial Pursuit because when we reach into the vast unorganized storehouse of knowledge that constitutes a human brain and come up with the correct five permanent members of the United Nations security council (the U.S., France, Great Britain, the Soviet Union and China), we have done on our own the sort of job usually entrusted to the computer — we've proven we're just as smart as any dumb machine.

Maybe. But you can overanalyze such simple pleasures as making the correct guess as to who built a boat out of gopherwood and thus coming away victorious from a game you felt certain to lose because you aren't a movie or sports addict and have forgotten 95 percent of what you supposedly learned in four years of college study in English Literature.

There's more than a bit of ego on the line in Trivial Pursuit, particularly so for reporters. We are supposed to be wellinformed about everything and experts in matters regarding the written word, history and, sometimes, geography (though a reporter for a community weekly like The Record doesn't have much call for knowing the capital city of Afghanistan). So when a supposedly friendly gathering of six journalists plus two companions sets to work at their first competition in the game, you'd expect nothing less than brilliance.

It didn't work out that way. Maybe it was the case of beer consumed in four hours of play, or the bottles of wine, or the fact that several of us were functioning on less than a full-night's sleep, but there were a lot blank stares. Happily, most of what I remember through the haze are the questions we got right, particularly the ones that had the happy result of stunning my col-leagues. Like, which U.S. astronaut appeared on Name That Tune? Who discovered penicillin? (Toni saved us from my initial blurting out of Jonas Salk, whose baliwick was polio, not penicillin).

Among the standout foul-ups of the evening was the response I gave to "Which Nixon aide during the Watergate: years later wrote a book entitled 'The Company.'" Now I know, and so do most who think about it, that it was John Erlichman. That was the first name that popped into my head. But did I say: that? No-o-o-o, what I said was, "This is probably wrong, but I'll say G. Gordon Liddy." The silence in the room at Wilson dropping the ball was deafening. Michele looked at me like I'd lost my marbles and Toni hit me. Happily, I was able to redeem myself on our next turn with the tidbit about John Glenn's appearance on a TV game show.

By the end of the evening, I think everyone had suffered the embarrassment of blowing the answer to a question everyone else knew (missed questions include the name of the moonlanding mission Apollo 11 and where the audience sat on the Howdy Doody show). But one party in particular blew us all away with brilliant answers to obscure geography questions (they were so obscure I no longer remember any of them), and we all had moments when we could show off specialized

And, high-falutin' sociologists aside, the real reason we all had a good time was that we got to show off a bit for our peers, share their bewilderment at absurd queries and embarrassment at boneheaded responses, learn about interests we didn't know we shared and compete without having to do anything vicious to our opponents (a major weakness of, say, Monopoly or many card games). Oh, and Noah built the ark out of gopher-wowood, a guess I made after 10 minutes of giggling speculation brought on by the strange sounding query "Who built a boat out of gopherwood?" That's a history question by the way. I was deathly affaith they ways going make us analysis a court of gopherwood. deathly afraid they were going make us answer a sports ques-

Easy does it

Editorial opinions of The Record are developed and written by Editor Jean Day and staff members Michele McElmurry, B.J. Martin, and Kevin Wilson.

A vicious rumor about my office hours is circulating around town that I want to dispel 🕀 once and for all — it is not true that I can be. reached during the day by calling the Winner's Circle Bar.

I know who is responsible for the rumor. he knows who he is so I won't humiliate him by printing his name. But I know how the rumor got started — this unnamed individual. came to see me last week, was told by the receptionist I was not in and then headed across the street to the Circle where by some odd stroke of fate he found me in front of the Super Pac-Man machine.

"I thought I'd find you here," he said.

"Blind luck," I responded, trying to-dispel any insinuation that I can be found at the Circle when I'm not in my office.

"You're pretty good at that," he said. In as much as I had just passed 180,000 en route to a score of 224,000, I accepted his praise, not 🐧 realizing they were loaded with innuendo.

"You must play quite a bit," he said.

"Oh, not that much anymore," I came back, scrambling to recover from the deceitful traps in his well-rehearsed interrogation.

'It's just that these video machines give me an opportunity to get in a little physical exercise during the day. It enables me to race back to my desk and be more productive, write better stories and generally get more accomplished."

I don't know whether he bought that explanation or not, but it's all I could come up with on the spur of the moment. Besides, I'm giving serious consideration to giving up my; Super Pac-Man time at the Circle anyway.

A certain rowdy element has taken over the end of the bar where the video machines of are located. I won't mention any names, but if you know Mac and Norman you know who I'm talking about. They're a pair of retired gentlemen who try to distract my attention by rating my column every week.

What makes their frivolous commentary all the more insidious is that they cloak their derision under the mantle of religion. Noting that last Wednesday was Ash Wednesday, Mac suggested that I should think about giving up my column for Lent.

Geake: Spoiled food result of fiscal waste'

By R. ROBERT GEAKE State Senator

So often in the course of legislative debate we hear the argument that government spending cuts mean taking food from the mouths of the

But those of us who insist that government expenditures can indeed be reduced point to the pockets of government waste that rob the poor more than any attempt to make government more cumbersome.

Never have I seen so dramatic or poignant an example of such waste than the City of Detroit's careless spoilage of federal surplus food intended for the poor.

Over 150 tons of food, stored in city warehouses, has spoiled due to lack of adequate refrigeration and contamination by droppings from birds, rats and insects. City trucks then took the food to the dump after hours. The haul included 1,200 turkeys totalling 12 tons, 36.8 tons of butter, 1,200 cases or 18 tons of cheese, 35 tons all-purpose flour, 35 tons bread flour and 13 tons of rice. A rough USDA estimate of the total loss is more than $200,000. The tonnage and the dollar loss are likely to grow.

The food came from the federal government in response to Mayor (Coleman) Young's pleas for help in Detroit's "human emergency." It is estimated the food was 10 times more than what was needed by Detroit soup kitchens and other distribution centers. The mayor said the food had to be warehoused because he received so much. Still, to this day, the warehouse is "overstocked far beyond" what is needed. It too is in danger of Detroit? If there's more than Detroit soup kitchens need, let's get it distributed statewide and put an end to both hunger and waste in Michigan. Then, let the Legislature get to work stamping out government waste. It's time to develop a more efficient method of helping the poor - and the answer just may not be throwing more money at the pro-

Stoplight at Eight Mile and Taft urged

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is a copy of a letter sent to the City of Northville and Northville City Police.

To the Editor:

I read the article in The Northville Record concerning the traffic light proposal at Eight Mile and Taft as being operational from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. I am 100 percent for it!

We live up the street near Eight Mile

Road and Beck. At least three times a day someone in our family passes by that terrible intersection. Along with the light being functional during those hours you will probably have to have a second light at the cross near Randolph Street and Eight Mile. Cars on Randolph trying to go west on Eight Mile would never be able to pull out onto the road. Two lights would also solve the gas station problem and the party store traffic problem. This is just a suggestion. We also suggest inset road "bumps" beginning at the hill and coming in both directions. Just the noise on the tires will wake up the people to be on the alert to slow down. Other states have adopted this method at treacherous intersections. My husband and myself have had many "near-misses" that a traffic light goods and other staple foods such as would not have allowed. I realize the sugar, flour, powdered milk, etc. would not have allowed. I realize the Zayti trucks will have to drive more slowly ("bumps" should help them be prepared) but after a short break-in period the road and traffic should flow smoothly.

Thank you for your interest in this light proposal. For those of us that live near the intersection, it is VERY worthwhile. Those city officials who don't travel that route just do not understand the severity of the traffic problem and driving situation.

Balanced budget law sought

By WILLIS BULLARD JR. State Representative

A resolution petitioning the U.S. Congress to call for a constitutional convention to specifically amend the Constitution of the United States by adding a balanced budget amendment, which I am sponsoring along with two other Republican representatives, is expected to move through the Republican-controlled Senate soon. It would then be forwarded to the Democraticcontrolled House for final approval.

House Joint Resolution 'N' requires passage in both the House and Senate before it is delivered to the Speaker of the House and Senate majority leader

It must also be approved by a total of 34 state legislatures before the Con-

This is one way to amend the U.S. Constitution. The other, more frequently used method, begins in the Congress and is then sent to the 50 state legislatures for ratification of 34 states. But it is apparent the current Congress is unwilling to place spending restrictions on itself, thus the convention method is being utilized.

Obviously, the climate in Washington is just right for a balanced budget amendment to the U.S. Constitution. While a balanced federal budget is President Reagan's only unkept campaign promise, it is also one of the many unkept campaign promises of the members of the U.S. House of Representatives and the U.S. Senate.

Novi Big Boy project delayed because of driveways

By KATHY JENNINGS

No building permits will be issued for the Elias Brother's restaurant at Eight Mile and Haggerty Road until plans for a service drive for the Big Boy and a McDonald's restaurant proposed next door have been explored,

Elias Brother received final site plan approval from the Novi planning department November 30, but the decision to halt the project came last week when planners were alerted to potential traffic problems in the area.

Planners have asked the Oakland County Roady Commission (OCRC) to hold up issuance of a driveway permit and the Novi Building Department has been asked to withhold building permits. Big Boy representatives will be asked to meet with city officials in hopes of working out a solution to the driveway dilemma.

Construction of the building is not yet underway but plans for the restaurant meet all city requirements. The decision to withhold building permits came after planners learned the police department's traffic division had not reviewed Big Boy's plans.

The matter came to their attention when plans for a McDonald's restaurant north of the Big Boy, ap-proximately 450 feet north of Eight Mile, were received. Both restaurants proposed two driveways. Police became alarmed at the possibility of four drives on Haggerty Road within close proximity to each other.

A service drive was suggested as a solution to the problem, but Planning Consultant Charles Cairns noted that in this particular case a service drive could render the narrow parcels unusable. Cairns also noted that if plans infringe upon the community's health, safe-ty and welfare they can be rejected, even if they otherwise meet ordinance requirements. "It's all part of your charge," Cairns said.

Engineering Consultant Raymond

Cousineau told planners it may be possible to put the service drive in the Oakland County Road Commission right-of-way, which may create enough room for the drive and the restaurants. Counsineau asked planners to authorize request to withold issuance of a driveway permit. 'We're more concerned with the Big Boy site plan, so we'd like the planning board to call the road commission's permit department and request those permits be held up," Cousineau said.

"They've indicated they will hold the issuance of Big Boy's permit pending the outcome of the service drive element of the plans," said Cousineau.

Cousineau said after the meeting that withholding permits was "in keeping with the final site plan approval for Big Boy. It was conditioned upon resolution of the driveway problem.' He explained it is necessary to take this course of action since the city did not want the restaurant construction to begin and then be required to change

Rail service at end of the line

By CINDY HOOGASIAN

As of today, there is no rail service connecting Wixom and South Lyon — Grand Trunk Western Railroad (GTW) has abandoned the line, claiming it was unprofitable to operate. Left behind are the shippers the railroad served and the communities that had planned future development around its route.

The railroad now seeks to discontinue service from Wixom eastward to Sylvan Lake and possibly as far as Macomb County, as well.

Businesses and industries are shipping less by rail and increasing their reliance on trucks as primary carriers of interstate commerce. Those are the major factors in GTW's requests to abandon trackage in Oakland County, according to a railroad spokesman.

GTW won the abandonment of the 9.6mile section of track linking Wixom and South Lyon effective today, according to an federal Interstate Commerce Commission order.

Pending before the ICC is a request to abandon another 12.3 miles of GTW track between Sylvan Lake and Wixom. A decision on that request is expected

April 12, according to GTW's attorney John Danielson.

In addition, GTW is conducting a study of its rail line from Pontiac east to Richmond in Macomb County to determine whether that 38-mile section is unprofitable, said GTW Vice President George Stern.

The 38-mile segment, which serves Romeo's Ford Tractor plant, Auburn Height's Letica Corporation and Rochester's James River paper mill, may well be GTW's next abandonment request, Stern indicated. He said abandonment proceedings would be initiated if the study determines that the line is unprofitable. The study is to be finished at the end of March, Stern said.

Losing the GTW track in South Lyon leaves the city's largest industry, Michigan Seamless Tube (MST) without rail service.

Instead, MST will rely on trucks to haul its seamless tubes and scrap steel, while negotiations continue to arrange for rail service by nearby Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad. The two railroads cross. just east, of South Lyon's downtown area, about one mile from the MST plant.

In seeking the Wixom-South Lyon abandonment, GTW claimed it suffered $128,568 of avoidable losses on that line between 1980 and 1982. Stern said the railroad lost $62,000 during the first six months of 1983 on the Wixom-South

Lyon trackage.
GTW places the avoidable loss on the Sylvan Lake-Wixom line at $109,480, using 1980 figures, Stern said. In 1981, GTW lost about $150,243 on that line and in 1982, it lost $95,035.

The net liquidation value of the railroad track and real estate along the 12.3 mile route is $426,200, Stern said.

Fewer and fewer carloads of goods were handled by the Sylvan Lake-Wixom line between 1980 and 1982. The high of 965 carloads in 1980 declined dramatically to 389 in 1981 and plummeted to 175 in 1982, Stern said.

Fewer loads of lumber and toys moving out of Walled Lake account for the greatest portion of the boxcar losses, he indicated. Stern said that in 1980, GTW took 457 carloads of toys and 403 carloads of lumber from that area. By 1980, that had dropped to just 28 toy loads and 99 lumber loads.

While GTW's position is that it cannot make a profit on the Sylvan Lake-Wixom trackage, Franklin businessman Larry Coe thinks other-

Coe and GTW have entered into a contract allowing Coe Railroad to purchase 5.7-miles of GTW trackage between Wixom and Walled Lake for the purposes of a short-line railroad, Stern said. A Coe Railroad spokesperson confirmed last week that a contract has been reached and plans are proceeding to pick up where GTW leaves off. Coe has previously stated that all busineses between Wixom and Walled Lake which now rely on GTW for rail transport will be served by his short-line railroad.

Gay Toys, Haggerty Lumber and Markey are among the prospective customers of the independently-owned

"In filing with the ICC, we indicated that all current customers will be served by Coe Railroad, which will connect with the Chessie (C&O) in Wixom," Stern said. "In addition, both the City of Orchard Lake Village and the Charter Township of West Bloomfield have filed statements with the ICC saying they would like to purchase the railroad right-of-way as by-passes for Pontiac Trail and Orchard Lake Road."

"I think (the abandonment request) probably will not be investigated because of being able to serve the current customers through Coe and because of the ultimate public purpose served (road development)," Stern

Stern is confident GTW will not be hindered in its abandonment attempt, but other influential agencies have filed protests against the request. Among the protests already filed are those by the Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT), Gay Toys and the Charter Township of Commerce. The MDOT protest hinges on a dispute regarding the numbers used by GTW in filing its application for abandonment.

"The numbers used do not adequately represent the current information," said Bill Balley, administrator of the MDOT's Modal Planning Division. "They don't provide an accurate picture. There is a possibility that additional traffic that is or may be available on the line could result in the ICC not granting approval."

Commerce Township Supervisor Robert Long said the township board is against the proposed abandonment because most of its industrial land is located along the GTW tracks.

Yes, lass, there really was a St. Patrick

St. Patrick's Day in the United States traditionally has been the day for a lot of good-natured blarney.

For one day, everybody's Irish. It's the only day of the year anybody would risk drinking green beer.

It is also a day to recall the memory of St. Patrick who was unceremoniously defrocked by the Vatican several Bickering historians have related various accounts of the famous saint's life. Some biographers have concluded that there were not one, but two, St. Patricks. Nevertheless, they agree that how ever many there were, they were a

According to the Books of Reference: At daybreak sometime late in the fourth century, Calpurnis, a deacon of the Christian Church in Bannarem Taburniae, Britain, son of the priest Potitus, hailed the birth of his own son, Patrick.

Sixteen-years later, Irish pirates raided the village and swept the boy away. Sold as a slave in Ireland, he was made a shepherd in Ulster and, during his six tortured years of captivity, Patrick looked toward God in his misery and became a devout Christian. As the slave Patrick slept in the fields

'Some biographers have concluded that there were not one, but two, St. Patricks. Nevertheless, they agree that how ever many there were, they were a great man.'

one night, he dreamed the ship that would return him to his homeland was about to embark. He escaped and walked 200 miles to the coast.

There the ship was, ready to head for Britain, but the captain balked at taking on such illicit cargo. After much arguing, the captain relented.

The three-day voyage was not a lucky one and finally ended on a desolate British shore with Patrick and the crew wandering for weeks in search of food and shelter. In his fervor, Patrick prayed and suddenly a herd of wild pigs crossed the path of the disheartened, starving men.

Nourished, the band split up as they approached civilization. Patrick searched town after town, village after village, until he found his long-lost

Once home, Patrick was destined to leave again; this time of his own accord. He went to Lerins, an island off the southeastern coast of France - or Gaul, as it was known in the Fifth Century. At Lerins, he studied to become a priest and then headed for Auxerre where he studied under the French bishop, St. Germanus.

Here, the biographers differ. Some say Patrick was made bishop of Ireland by Pope Celestine I after the death of the country's first bishop, Palladius. Others say Patrick was sent to Ireland to help Palladius and simply took the old man's job. Here follows the most interesting version.

Again, Patrick was beset with a vision in his sleep. A man walked toward him and handed him a letter. Atop the letter was neatly scrawled, "The Voice of the Irish" and it pleaded with Patrick to return as a missionary and save the pagan souls of Ireland's sons and daughters.

Patrick struggled with this calling, some biographers say, because he feared his lack of formal education during his slave years would thwart his efforts in Ireland. He tossed and turned over this decision until the day he set sail for Irish shores.

Patrick is said to have founded 300 churches and baptized more than 120,000 people after he returned to Ireland

Patrick wrote two books, "Confessions," an account of his spiritual development, and "Letter to Coroticus," which berated a British war lord for killing some Irishmen. Historians say the book shows the resentment Patrick felt at the way the British treated their Irish cousins.

He retired to Saul and died there in either 461 or 492, depending on which book you read. The large discrepancy in dates has led some to believe St. Patrick actually was two people.

The past 1,500 years have built St. Patrick into a legend. One famous story has the saint luring all Irish snakes into the sea, where they drowned. Another is St. Patrick's explanation of the mystery of the Holy Trinity. The Trinity, he supposedly explained, is like the shamrock, with three petals — the Father, the Son and the Holy Spirit.

GARACIAS MAGCALAS

DONALD FLIS

TWO LOCAL MEN — Deogracias A. Magcalas of Novi and Donald W. Flis of Northville — have been elected vice presidents of First Federal of Michigan.

Magcalas is assistant manager of the Accounting Department. A native of the Philippines, he is a graduate of Emporia (Kansas) State University and Wayne State University.

Prior to joining First Federal in 1982, Magcalas was controller of the United Northwestern Realty Association and a senior auditor with Peat, Marwick, Mitchell and Company.

Flis has been named regional branch manager of First Federal's Farmington Hills region in addition to being elected a vice president.

Flis previously was an assistant vice president and mortgage manager at First Federal's Farmington Hills office.

JAMES C. ROSE AND ROBERT L. WALKER were recently elected to seats on the Board of Directors, Dental Dental Plan of Michigan. Rose, a Northville resident and vice president of the Plastics Group for Key International in Southfield, has been on the board since 1981 and has also served on its Consumer Advisory Committee. He was re-elected to a three-year term.

Walker, of Novi, has been elected secretary of the board. Walker is administrative assistant to the vice president, GM division, International Union, UAW. He also is past president of GM Local 735. Walker, who was elected to a one-year term, has been on Delta's board for seven years and previously served as member-at-large of the executive committee.

DOUGLAS TEUBERT AND HAROLD HYLAND have qualified for membership in Lutheran Brotherhood's 1983 Top Club. This achievement is the highest sales honor of the national fraternal in-

Membership in Top Club was attained by less than 3 percent of the society's field force. Both earned membership on the basis of combined amount of life and health insurance, annuities and mutual funds placed with Lutherans in his area.

Both Teubert of Northville and Hyland of Novi are district representatives associated with Lutheran Brotherhood's Karl Mueller Agency in Rochester.

THE HEIRLOOM SHOP in Novi will host a "trunk showcase" featuring 10 of the top English smockers from across the United States this Thursday and Friday, March 15-16. The showcase will be open both days from 2-4 p.m. and 7-9 p.m. Call 349-7048 for more information

A member of the National Smockers Association, Smith opened the Heirloom Shop upon moving to the area and being unable to find a source of smocking supplies. The shop provides a large supply of smocking supplies, and Smith teaches classes in English smocking. She also teaches through the Northville Community Education Department.

OAKLAND LIVINGSTON LEGAL AID will present information on some common legal problems at a series of informal workshops beginning March 15 and on consecutive Thursdays through April 12. The workshops are from 2-4 p.m. in the Oakland Livingston Legal Aid offices, 10 West Huron, Suite 307, Pontiac. Those planning to attend should call 332-9175.

Workshop topics are: March 15, "Who has a right to your child" by Cathy Greenberg; March 22, "What to do when you get a notice to quit" by David Hull; March 29, "What to do when the bill collector calls" by James DiMeglio; April 5, "How to get your security deposit back" by Lonnie Peace, and April 12, "What's going to happen to your stuff when you die?" by DiMeglio.

GTW seeks to end Oakland service

"We used the GTW railroad as the basis for our industrial zoning district," Long said. "There are 100 industries in the industrial district, which give over 3,000 persons direct employment. We estimate it generates 6,000 jobs indirectly. The absence of service will have an adverse effect on the industries and the families deriving their income from those industries.'

Long said Commerce has 652 acres of industrially-zoned land along the GTW tracks. "It contains some of the largest industries in southwestern Oakland County," Long said, "including Williams International, which is our largest industry."

Commerce Township would be served by the Coe Railroad, Long said, but he expressed reservations about longterm service.

"I have no objection as long as we get the service," Long said, "but the possibility of a small railroad going out of business does concern me.'

Another resource available to the involved communities is State Senator Richard Fessler, chairman of the Senate Transportation Committee.

"We're going to give this a pretty strong effort," said Rick Simonson, Fessler's administrative aide. "The sense we're getting is that Grand Trunk decided to approach this in such a way as to get the least resistance, with the ultimate objective of shutting everything down from Pontiac to South

Lyon.
"I understand that it will be vigorouscontinued. "We ly fought," Simonson continued. "We have assigned a staff person to this project exclusively. Senator Fessler is the new chair of the Senate Transportation Committe and we will pull out all the stops (to block the abandonment).

Simonson supported the idea of a short-line railroad to serve affected communities if the abandonment succeeds. "In that way, they can continue rail service and positively affect the business climate instead of negatively affect it," Simonson remarked.

development of industrial

'The negative impact comes with loss of potential use... Industries which rely on railroads will not look at those areas without railroads when considering locations.

> — Debbie Schutt Assistant County Planner

districts planned along the GTW corridor in Oakland County may be hampered by the railroad's abandonment requests. While the issue has not been discussed by the Oakland County Board of Commissioners, Vice Chairperson Lillian Moffitt is concerned about the economic impact of the abandonments.

"It is bound to have an adverse effect on the existing businesses and the otential for businesses to exist there," Moffitt said. "Many communities have developed their master plans, deisgnating the railroad areas for industrial development. They will have lost a major selling point, the mode of transportation." Moffitt said it is hard to determine what the economic impact of the loss of rail service will be, especially since the railroad has taken a piece-meal approach.

Another concern of Moffitt's is in developing a better way to alert individual communities and the county to abandonment filings. She would also like to involve the state Commerce Department, MDOT and the abandonment request. Debbie Schutt, an assistant planner in the Oakland County Planning Divi-sion, agreed that municipalities in which land has been planned for industrial development based on railroad availability will likely be hurt by such abandonments.

"With the South Lyon to Wixom line, the damage to the existing business will be marginal," Schutt said. "There are not a lot of customers in that area. The negative impact comes with the loss of potential use in the future. Industries which do rely on railroads will not look at those areas without railroads when they are considering locations, or relocating. It's hard to gauge the im-

The Oakland County Road Commission long ago identified the Orchard Lake-Pontiac Trail area of West Bloomfield and Orchard Lake Village as needing improvement, Schutt said. The abandonment request provides a convenient solution to the trecherous configuration of those roadways, she noted.

State rail network shrinks

Michigan's network of railroads is rapidly thinning out, in part because of deregulation that allows carriers to shed unprofitable routes more easily and partially due to increased competition from the trucking industry, experts

MDOT's Railroad Transportation Planner J. H. Becker said Grand Trunk Western (GTW) is the major carrier now having abandonment requests filed. In addition to the 9.6 miles of track already abandoned this year, GTW has pending the 12.3-mile portion from Wixom to Sylvan Lake and another 50 miles of track in the Pigeon-Imlay City area, Becker said. GTW is also attempting to shed trackage in the Upper Penninsula, he said.

"Before the ICC for the state of Michigan at this time, there are requests for abandonment of 143 miles of railroad, not including the 50 miles in the Imlay area," Becker said. "There are 332 miles of tracks which carriers have indicated to the ICC will be abandoned in the next three years. There are 81 miles under study which may be subject to abandonment."

Becker said 1983 was a moderate year for railroad abandonments, with 83 miles of track abandoned. In 1982, 432 miles of railroad track were abandoned in Michigan, he said. There are approximately 5,150 route miles of railroad track left in the state.

"The system is really slimming down throughout the cate," Becker said. "Since the Staggers Act in 1980 (which deregulated railroads), it's easier for railroads to get abandonment certificates from the ICC due to more relaxed standards. They must show either an operating loss or they must show that they are not getting a 22 percent rate of return on their investment.

"The ICC has no public hearings anymore. Everything is done by verified statement. Before deregulation of the railroad industry, abandonments could be blocked if there was enough organized protest. Now it is much more of a routine operation of exchange of protests. We have not had any real success at blocking abandonments for the past several years."

This beautifully remodeled centennial home has been featured in Milford's Historic Home Tour. The large rooms with their careful restoration, formal dining room; modern kitrestoration, formal dining room; modern kitchen and breakfast area; completely finished rec. room will provide ample living space for those who appreciate 19th century craftsmanship and charm. Reflections

Angel faces dreaming dreams, How unreal it all seems. Weren't these four just little brats Jumping wildly, swinging bats? Painting pictures on the walls, Pouring kool-aid down the halls! Tracking up the floor with mud, Filling up the sink with crud, Pulling leaves off all the plants, Calling on the phone to France! Gazing at them lying there, Wrinkled p. j. 's, tousled hair I lightly kiss them on their heads Then fix the blankets on their beds. I start to melt but must be tough -Tomorrow, I know, it's the same old stuff!

June Pertile

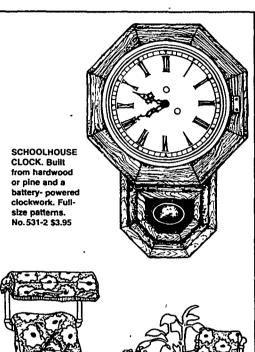

A Frosty Morning

"Look at that," she whispered As she gazed outside, and saw The trees in shining silver All dressed in shimmering awe.

Each glistening branch And frosted twig In crystal beauty stood As though honoring the Sculptor Of this heavenly solitude.

It lasted 'til the rising sun Turned the silver into gold. And then was gone in mystery. This wonder to behold!

Night at the Downs lures Chamber guests

Some 72 members and guests of the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce attended the chamber's Night at the Downs March 1. Participants were treated to a buffet dinner prior to the races. Among those attending was Sherry Spaman (below) with former mayor Mike Allen. Local resident Dave Heinzman, Director of College Relations at Schoolcraft College, shares a moment with Schoolcraft President Richard McDowell (at left).

Society benefit treats 120 guests to gourmet fare

It was a taste treat all the way last Saturday evening as the capacity crowd of 120 diners began with appetizers at the Yerkes House in Mill Race Historical Village and continued on to homes in the historic district for dinner, and ended the evening with dessert at two Nine Mile homes.

The benefit for Northville Historical Society saw those attending arrive with prearranged dishes chosen by Jeanne Hubbard and Lynda Heaton.

The evening began with hors d'oeuvres and a special Wine and Lime Punch.

While the following punch recipe serves 120 guests, it may be cut down to accommodate much smaller parties.

WINE AND LIME PUNCH

10 C. lime juice
10 C. pineapple juice
7 C. sugar
4 four-liter bottles Rhine wine
20 C. club soda (three bottles)
5 limes, sliced
5 oranges, sliced

Ingredients should be chilled before using. Club soda should be added just before serving. To form an ice ring garnish, freeze portion of punch with lime and orange slices.

Appetizers served were:

FILLED CHEESE PUFFS

2/3 C. water 6 Tbsp. butter 2/3 C. flour 1 Tbsp. sugar ¼ tsp. salt 3 large eggs 3 oz Swiss or Gruy

3 large eggs 3 oz. Swiss or Gruyere cheese, shredded In saucepan, bring water, butter, salt

In saucepan, bring water, butter, salt and sugar to rolling boil. (Butter should melt before water boils.) Remove from heat and immediately add flour. Beat with wooden spoon until blended and mixture leaves side of pan to form a ball. Beat in eggs, one at a time, beating well after each until dough is smooth and glossy. Thoroughly blend in cheese. Wet baking sheet with cold water, using 2 teaspoons, drop dough by scant teaspoonful portions on sheet. Set aside for 5 minutes. Then bake in preheated oven for 15 minutes or until puffed and golden.

Loosen IMMEDIATELY and cool completely on wire racks. When ready to serve, cut off tops with sharp knife, fill with small amount of chicken mixture and replace tops Makes about five dozen.

CHICKEN FILLING

1 C. cooked chicken breast, finely diced,

GOOD WEEKY

or 1 can Swanson white chunk chicken, chopped

4 C. nuts, finely chopped
4 C. mushrooms, finely chopped and sauteed lightly in butter
2-3 Tbsp. mayonnaise
Salt and pepper to taste
Dash of nutmeg

Combine all ingredients to make good spreading consistency. Can use food processor to prepare this, but be careful not to overprocess.

TERIYAKI CHICKEN WINGS

Marinade:
½ C. lemon juice
C. Kikkoman Teriyaki Sauce
½ C. vegetable oil
3 cloves garlic, chopped fine
½ tsp. pepper
½ tsp. celery seed
¼ tsp. dry mustard

4-5 lbs. chicken wings

To make marinade, combine all ingredients and mix well. Set aside. To prepare chicken wings, cut at joint and cut again to remove wing tips (discard tips, or use in soup or stock). Place wings pieces in shallow baking pan. Pour marinade over, cover and refrigerate at least four hours or overnight, turning several times. Drain and place on broiler tray about seven inches from heating element. Brush with marinade as you turn them marinade as you turn them.

Caution: don't cook them too close to heat or the outside will be browned before the inside is done. Excellent on the grill. Makes approximately 54-64 pieces.

WILLIAMSBURG OLIVE BALLS

½ lb. cheddar cheese ½ C. butter, softened ½ tsp. paprika 1½ C. flour 72-80 small stuffed green olives

Grate cheese and bring to room temperature. Combine cheese, butter, paprika. Mix well into flour until mixture is smooth and deep yellow in color. Cover and let stand at room temperature 15 minutes. Pinch off small pieces of dough — about 1 tsp. — and flatten in palm of hand to a circle about an inch and a half in diameter. Place a well-drained olive in center of the dough, bringing the edges together to cover the olive completely. Roll gently between palms of hands. Place on an ungreased cookie sheet; chill 10 minutes in refrigerator or freezer. Bake in a preheated oven at 375 degrees for 20-25 minutes or until lightly browned. Serve warm or at room temperature. (May be made in advance and frozen before baking. Bake frozen, about 30 minutes. Do not thaw beforehand.)

1 head cauliflower

VEGGIE BOWL

1 lb. brussel sprouts 4-5 carrots 1 box cherry tomatoes 1 can large black olives, pitted

Separate cauliflower into bite-size pieces. Scrape and slice carrots into 4inch rounds. Remove stem and outer leaves from brussel sprouts. Separately, steam cauliflower, sprouts and carrots lightly - no more than 3-5 minutes. (Cauliflower should take less time than the others.) While veggies still are warm combine with olives and tomatoes in covered container.

Prepare Italian dressing according to package directions and pour over all. Refrigerate. Marinate at least 24 hours, turning several times. To serve, drain well (dressing can be reused). Place in a glass bowl. Provide toothpicks for spearing. (Any combination of vegetables works well with these direcpart only) 4 6-oz. jars marinated artichoke leaves (save iuices)

2/3 C. Miracle Whip or mayonnaise 11/2 tsp. curry powder

Cook rice according to package directions. but omit butter and salt and substitute the 2 cans of clear chicken broth and 5 ounces of water for the liquid ingredients. Make sure all the water is absorbed. Let rice cool. Add green pepper, olives and green onions to rice. Toss. Drain artichokes (save liquid) and cut in half if small and in thirds if large. Mix liquid from artichoke hearts with Miracle Whip and curry powder. Blend well with whisk or top of a glass dipped in cold water. fork. Add this mixture and artichokes to rice. Toss lightly. Chill overnight. Mix once before serving. Serves 12.

LA MARMITE VEGETABLES

2 large bunches broccoli, fresh 1 pkg. Good Seasons Italian Dressing 11/2 pints cherry tomatoes (use 2 pints if serving 14)

2 pkg. Chinese pea pods, approximately 2/3 lbs. (Paul's or Erwin Farms) ½ ib. (8 oz.) lightly salted butter 2 garlic cloves, minced or pressed

Broccoli - Cut flowerets from stalk; cut into same size segments. Discard stalks. To blanch broccoli bring a large pot of water to boil. Drop broccoli in and have water come back to boil. Immediately drain in colander and rinse with cold water.

Tomatoes — Wash, remove stems. Cut in half. Have tomatoes at room temperature before cooking. Do not overcook or tomatoes will fall apart.

Pea pods - Snap off stem and pull string down straight side of pod all the way. To blanch pods bring a large pot of water to boil. Drop pea pods in and have water come back to boil. Immediately drain in colander and rinse with cold water. Cut in half on a slight angle.

Garlic — Separate two cloves from bulb. Peel. Mince or put through a garlic press.

Butter — Bring to room temperature and whip with beater.

You will need two large skillets to make serving for 12. Use half ingredients in each pan. Melt 4 ounces butter in each pan. Add minced garlic and saute a few seconds. Add broccoli and pea pods, stirring constantly, on medium to medium-high heat. Stir fry for three minutes. Add cherry tomatoes. Cook for another minute until mixture is hot. Serve immediately.

> FILET MIGNON Served on Crouton With Dumouchelle Butter

CROUTONS

Cut as large a circle as possible from 12

Brush both sides with melted butter and place on a baking sheet. Bake in preheated 350 degree oven for approximately 15 minutes or until golden.

DUMOUCHELLE BUTTER

4 oz. cream cheese

4 oz. butter 2 oz. blue cheese (Kraft cold pack is good) I bunch fresh parsley

Have cream cheese, butter, blue cheese at room temperature. Cream together with electric beater.

To fill, cuff top of decorating bag over your hand and insert mixure with a spatula. Fill bag half full. Bag can be refilled. To close, twist bag top shut, forcing mixture down into bag and tip. Hold twist between right thumb and forefinger. As you apply pressure, mix-ture will flow out of the tip. Hold bag at 90 degree angle, the decorating bag is held perpendicular to a large plate. With the tip almost touching the surface, steadily squeeze, lift the bag slightly as the mixture builds up into a mound; stop and pull tip away. Spiral mound shuld be approximately one inch in diameter and one-half inch deep. If mixture is too soft to form mound, slightly cool mix in bag in refrigerator. If a piece of blue cheese clogs tip, remove with toothpick.

Lightly sprinkle with finely chopped parsley. Refrigerate to firm. Scrape off plate with knife and place on hot filets. f you have extra mounds, place on table for guests wishing an additional

With your hands, rub each side with a small amount of vegetable oil (Wesson), black pepper and garlic salt. Meat should be left out of refrigerator during cocktail hour to take off chill. Spray broiler pan with PAM to make easier to clean and prevent sticking.

Filet Mignon takes a short time to cook. Remain by broiler. Preheat and set at broil. Place filets on rack in broiling pan at highest position. Allow three minutes on each side to sear filet. This is an important step to keep juices in. Turn with tongs. Lower pan to middle position and broil for approximately three minutes on each side. The filets should be pink inside and medium rare. Place one crouton on each plate and place filet on top. Just before serving top with Dumouchelle butter.

Dessert served was:

CHOCOLATE MOUSSE CAKE Doubly delicious as part of the mousse

bakes into cake, the other part fills it.

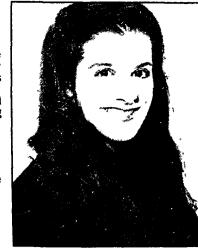

7 oz. semisweet chocolate 1/4 lb. unsalted butter 7 large eggs, separated 1 C. sugar 1 tsp. vanilla extract 1/8 tsp. cream of tartar

Whipped cream frosting ½ pint whipping cream (1 C.) 1/3 C. powdered sugar 1 tsp. vanilla extract

Preheat oven to 325 degrees. In small saucepan, or double boiler, melt chocolate (completely) and butter over low heat. In a large bowl, beat egg yolks and 3/4 C. sugar until very light and fluffy, about five minutes. Gradually beat in warm chocolate mixture and vanilla. In another large bowl beat egg whites with cream of tartar until soft peaks form. Add remaining ¼ C. sugar I tablespoon at a time. Continue beating until stiff. Fold egg whites carefully into chocolate mixture. Pour 3/4 of the batter into ungreased 9 x 3 springform pan. Cover remaining batter and refrigerate. Bake cake 35 minutes. Remove cake from oven and cool. Cake will drop as it cools and top will crack. Remove outside ring of Springform pan. Stir refrigerated batter to soften slightly. Spread on top of cracked cake. Put in freezer until firm.

Prepare whipped cream frosting. In a small bowl beat whipping cream until soft peaks form. Add powdered sugar and vanilla. Beat until stiff. Spread whipped cream frosting over top and sides. Decorate any way you wish. Suggestions include garnishing with chocolate curls made from candy bars or chopping semi-sweet chocolate chips in the cuisinart. Sprinkle on top and sides. Freeze cake. Cake will slice into 10 servings.

5-K, 10-K runs set for Saturday

They may not be the green hills of Eire, but 'tis the streets of Northville that hundreds of runners throughout the area will be filling this

What's the occasion? The second annual St Patrick's Day Run, sponsored by O'Sheehan's and the Northville Community Recreation Department. Already more than 100 participants have registered, but there's still time to sign up for the five-kilometer and tenkilometer races.

Both races begin and end at O'Sheehan's (corner of Seven Mile and Northville roads). The courses run similar routes, winding around the downtown area and parts of the township.

First and second-place plaques will be awarded to competitors in each age category, both male and female. Each participant will receive a St. Patrick's Day Run biker cap.

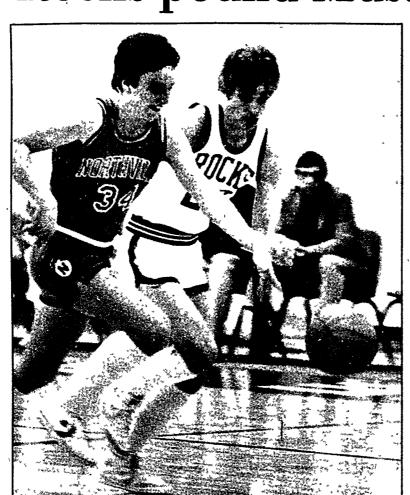

Entry forms are available at the Northville Community Center and at O'Sheehan's. Registration is $9 for all participants. Those wishing to register the day of the race can fill out forms at O'Sheehan's between 8 and 8:30 a.m. Saturday.

JV teams winners

Northville's junior varsity basketball and volleyball squads posted winning season records this year. Here's a brief look at the future for upcoming varsity seasons:

BASKETBALL — The only team to beat Northville's junior varsity cagers was Livonia Stevenson, who handed the Mustangs both losses in an 18-2 season — the team's best finish since Coach Omar Harrison's charges went undefeated several years

Rocks pound Mustangs in district final

Plymouth Salem outmuscled Northville 57-42 for the Plymouth Canton Class A District Basketball Championship Friday, two nights after the Mustangs upset their tourney hosts in a 52-50

By B.J. MARTIN

"Outmuscled" is the right word. There was more body contact in Friday night's game than a drive-in in summer. At times the game resembled a roller derby without the skates.

Braced by a tall, beefy front line, Northville generally benefits when the referees "let boys be boys." But the Rocks can dish it out too, and proved it early on by outrebounding Northville 20-7 to take a 26-20 first-half lead.

Although the Mustangs cut the margin to four points in the third quarter, they weren't able to pull any closer. Each time Northville made a run on the Rocks, a critical turnover, a missed shot, or a foul cand there were several calls that left Mustang players biting their lips) killed the rally. But Mustang Coach Tim Lutes credited good defense by Salem as the major reason Northville

"Salem's an excellent man-to-man defensive team, and that's given us trouble all season," said Lutes. "We tend to lack the quickness necessary to play effectively against a man-to-man defense."

In particular, Salem's 6'6' all-league center/forward Rick Berberet played extremely effective defense on his Mustang counterpart Steve Schrader, Schrader, Northville's leading scorer this season, was held to just two points and eight re-bounds, and was in foul trouble most of the game.

For almost the entire game, Schrader was forced to play cautiously to avoid fouling out and leaving Northville with nobody who could handle Berberet - backup center John Storm was sidelined with an

Greg Wendell's eight second-half rebounds helped re-establish Northville's board game, but Salem's slowdown offense and hard-nosed defense kept the Mustangs at bay. Bob Pegrum led Mustang scorers with 12 points.

and called time out. "That was a weird situation," Lutes recalled. "I asked the officials whether we'd get the ball at mid-court or the end line, and they told me the end line. So I set up a play for that situation. Then after the timeout, they gave us the ball at midcourt.

"I said, 'What are you doing?!' I set up a play for the end line and you're giving us the ball at mid-court?' And they said, 'Well, fine, we'll move the ball back to the end line.'"

Pegrum took the inbounds pass and quickly pushed the ball upcourt. He dished the ball off to Dan Nielsen, who took one dribble, then saw Schrader under the hoop. Nielsen fired a perfect bounce-pass to Schrader and the center took the ball up - and missed. But before the Northville crowd could groan, Schrader snatched the rebound and put the ball on the rim as the buzzer sounded.

And the ball fell in. Screaming Canton partisans claimed Schrader's shot came after the buzzer, but to no avail. "We felt we were in the perfect posi-tion to pull off an upset," Lutes said later. "Canton was coming off a real emotional win over Wayne on Monday and might have been looking ahead to playing Salem Friday night.

"They knew we hadn't been playing well lately," he added, noting the Mustangs' three-game losing streak go-ing into Wednesday's contest. "I think we caught them a little off-guard."

Schrader was the dominant player on the court, with 24 points and 10 rebounds. That his teammates were able to get him the ball - as they couldn't against Salem — was the crucial factor in the win.

'We made some adjustments in practice Monday and Tuesday," Lutes said.
"Teams had been able to double up on Steve all season, so we changed our offense to one designed to isolate Steve inside. As a result, he got off 23 shots — a lot more than he had been getting."

specialist Nielsen caught fire in the second half. The 6'2" senior forward home."

scored eight of his ten points in the final two quarters and helped force Canton to give up the tight zone it was using to contain Schrader.

Pegrum had an off night shooting, but adjusted his game to add six assists to his six points. Best of all, with Steve Frellick and Dave Longridge, Pegrum took turns as the chaser on Northville's effective 1-2-2 zone defense.

That defensive setup proved disastrous to the Chiefs' offense in general, and to all-league guard Mark Bennett in particular. The Chiefs took only eight shots in the entire fourth quarter. Bennett had nine assists in the contest, but was held scoreless - in fact, Bennett got off only three shots the whole game.

'Bob, Steve and Dave, those three guards did a real good job of shutting off Bennett," Lutes said. "They didn't let him penetrate." The week's split left Northville's season record at 12-10 — somewhat worse than what Lutes had hoped.

"It was a strange season," he remarked. "We lost seven home ballgames and that was a lot more than It also helped when shooting I figured we'd lose. Over the last five or six years we've been very tough at Leading the way for the Mustangs, as usual, was Cathy Heitert. The graceful senior finished second allaround with a sixth in vault (8.55). sixth in uneven bars (8.3), third in balance beam (8.65) and fourth in floor exercise (8.7).

Heitert's performance qualified her to compete in this weekend's MHSAA Class A State Championships. Semifinals begin at 6 p.m. Friday at Plymouth Canton. If Heitert qualifies for finals, she will compete Saturday beginning at 1 p.m.

Junior Diane Hale's routines averaged her in the teens — out of the medal bracket, but with good scores for a junior. Hale posted an 8.1 in vault; 7.85 in uneven bars, and 7.9 in beam and floor exercise.

In her last meet, senior Wendy Wobermin scored 6.95 in vault, 7.5 in bars, 7.55 in beam and 7.1 in floor. Wendy's kid sister, Kim, turned in a 7.3 in balance beam.

"We had good overall balance this year with no weak link," Harrison said. "Our defense was a strength, but especially our determination. Many games we trailed going into the fourth quarter, but pulled the game out."

The team put together a 12-game winning streak this season, and also took the junior varsity title at the South Lyon Invitational Tournament in December.

Forward Don Norton, a sophomore as are all his teammates, led the team in scoring with a 12.8 points-per-game average. Guard Mike Hilfinger and center Eric Gala also ended the year with double-figure scoring averages of 11.6 and 11.1 respectively.

Gala was the team's rebounding leader with 6.6 per game. The team's best defensive player, forward Paul Newitt, led the team in assists with 35 and also averaged 6.1 rebounds. Guard Kirk Morrison had 28 assists for the Sometime-starting guard Fred Cahill, forward Gary Harper and center Matt Hines were strong contributors in backup roles. Hines averaged four points and four rebounds per game despite his part-time role.

Harrison was quick to add there was little falling off in talent with his remaining players, who all contributed to a team that averaged 55 points a game to opponents' 48: Kyle Boring, Chris Dominique, Keith Dutkiewicz, Mark Olsen, Ron Demeter and Tom Storm. "I think the main thing that made our team a success is that they were all good athletes able to play basketball," Harrison noted.

Varsity Coach Tim Lutes added he was looking forward to overseeing the JV up-and-comers — many will play important parts on Northville's varsity right from the start of next season.

"A lot of them will be playing together this summer," Lutes said. "And I think they'll add some better outside shooting and quickness than we had this season.

VOLLEYBALL — "We peaked a little early," chuckled JV Coach Paul Osborn. "But the girls did a pretty good job. We were evenly balanced. "They had real good spirit for most of the season and didn't let down until we started getting a lot of those Monday night games," Osborn added. "That kind of wore them down."

The team went 8-7 in league competition and 13-8 overall. Its most impressive accomplishment was a second-place finish at the Ann Arbor Pioneer Junior Varsity Invitational
