MacDonald to retain EDC director pos.

By KEVIN WILSON

John MacDonald won a court injunction June 28 prohibiting Wayne County Executive William Lucas from firing the township supervisor from his appointed post as a director of the Wayne County Economic Development Corporation (WCEDC).

Lucas had sought to dismiss Northville Township supervisor MacDonald and three other board members who voted to reinstate WCEDC director

Robert FitzPatrick. FitzPatrick had been suspended, with pay, while county and independent auditors investigated WCEDC finances after some board members alleged that FitzPatrick made improper expenditures. According to MacDonald, the auditors turned up no evidence of wrongdoing.

The injunction that stopped Lucas from firing MacDonald was granted at the first hearing of the case by Wayne County Circuit Court judge Marianne O. Battani, who noted it is likely Mac-Donald will prevail on the basis of his argument that Lucas does not have authority to dismiss WCEDC board members.

That power is vested in the county board of commissioners, the judge determined, because the commission is the body which appoints board members.

"In conclusion," the judge wrote, "the county commissioners have the power to remove (EDC) directors under section 4(6) of the EDC Act. The Chief Executive Officer does not have the authority to remove the directors of the EDC at his pleasure."

MacDonald was the sole victor among the plaintiffs who brought suit against Lucas and the county administration. WCEDC director Robert FitzPatrick lost his argument for injunctions barring Lucas from dismissing other board members. The judge also ruled that, absent a WCEDC board vote, FitzPatrick does not have standing to argue on the WCEDC's behalf.

Because MacDonald was the only one of four dismissed board members named as a plaintiff to the suit, the injunction enjoining Lucas from dismissing board members applies only to MacDonald. Prior to last week, a temporary restraining order kept all four dismissed WCEDC directors on the board.

Battani's opinion, however, makes clear the judge's understanding of the law ruling EDC appointments. Battani noted that state law specifically grants appointive powers to the board of commissioners and that the county charter does not, as it could have when drafted four years ago, hand that authority over to the executive branch.

"I'm pleased, obviously," said MacDonald. Pointing out that an agreement to develop the Wayne County Child Development Center property is due July 18, MacDonald said that with conclusion of the senior village matter he will "basically have completed what I was named to the board for in the first place."

Battani's opinion in MacDonald's favor was based on interpretations of three pieces of legislation — the state act delineating formation of EDCs, another state act authorizing the home rule county charter provisions, and the Wayne County Charter itself. The judge found that the EDC act placed appointive powers with the legislative branch, that the home rule county provisions would allow the charter to be written to move the appointive authority to the executive, but that the Wayne charter does not specifically grant that power to Lucas.

Gone fishin'

Todd Rivera, 12, (left) and Eric Newton, 11, took advantage of Monday's warm weather to get in a little summer fishing at Highland Lakes. The two boys were among the many lake-bound residents hoping for a catch or at least a dip in the water.

Though it looks as though the fish weren't biting, Todd and Eric appear to be contented just rowing on the water. At least Todd appears to be enjoying himself. Record photo by Steve Fecht.

Mistaken identity leads to police chase

By KEVIN WILSON

A confessed car thief who coincidentally fits the physical description of fugitive Alton Coleman spurred police into a massive search of the Eight Mile and Haggerty Road area Sunday morning.

By the time police had apprehended Melvin Benson, 20, of Lansing, there were a reported 27 police vehicles involved. Included were Michigan State Police, the Oakland County Sheriff's Department and officers from Northville Township, Novi, Farmington Hills and Livonia. Additionally, a state police tracking dog was dispatched from the Pontiac MSP post and the Wixom police took to the air in a helicopter.

State police trooper Ivan Figgins first spotted Benson southbound on I-275 near Grand River, driving a 1979 Oldsmobile Cutlass at 82 miles per hour in a 55 mph zone, the trooper's report states.

Figgins stopped the car to issue what he thought would be a routine traffic citation, but as he approached the driver's side the trooper noticed the steering column was wrapped in a jacket — apparently in an attempt to cover a punched-out ignition mechanism.

According to the report, Figgins ordered the suspect out of the car, had him lay face down on the trunk, patted him down for weapons and was about to handcuff the man when he "broke and ran toward Haggerty Road."

Noting that the man was black, about 5-feet 10-inches tall and weighed about 160 pounds, Figgins reported by radio that he had a suspect answering the general description of Alton Coleman fleeing to the west. Coleman is wanted in five states on various charges, including the murders of several children.

State police dispatchers sent two additional MSP cars and requested assistance from area police agencies, most of which responded with at least one, and some with two or three cars.

The search was conducted primarily in a one-half square mile area extending west from the Eight Mile/I-275 intersection.

While police hunted for the man, Benson approached the home of Richard Davis at 40440 Eight Mile Road. Davis, according to Figgins' report, "remained calm" and "offered the subject breakfast." While Benson awaited breakfast, Davis had his wife call police and returned with his Colt Python 6-shot revolver. Davis held the gun on Benson and told him to wait for police to arrive.

But the man fled, Davis firing four shots into the dirt at the man's heels, according to the report. Police were attracted to the area by the sound of gunfire, however, and soon apprehended Benson in the Applecrest orchard in Novi.

The arrest was made by officers from Farmington Hills, Livonia and MSP. Benson confessed to stealing the Cutlass, valued at $5,000, from Lansing and said he was en route to Detroit when captured, according to the MSP report.

The case was turned over to the Lansing MSP post for prosecution.

Renovation of the community center heating plant will be done at a bid cost of $14,998 after city council threw out the low bid of $14,090 due to irregularities in the submission process.

Council's Monday vote gave the contract for the block grant-funded project to J.A. Marble Company, Inc. of Detroit, the middle of three bidders on the work.

Low bid was received from Bumler Heating & Specialties, Inc. of Mt. Clemens at $14,090. The firm's original bid, however, was $10,965.

Council members questioned recreation director Jeff Farland regarding the two different figures quoted for Bumler's bid and learned that the firm had deleted a portion of the work from the original bid price and included it as an option to be done at an hourly rate.

"We asked them how many hours they might be talking about," Farland explained. "And they came out and took a look at it and said it would be just over $3,100."

This occurred after the bid opening, Farland noted. Council members stated concern that Bumler could have learned what the other firms bid and adjusted the cost accordingly.

On learning of the procedure followed, council member Burton DeRusha began shaking his head. He asked if the bid specifications allowed for an hourly rate bid and was told by Farland that they did not.

"That makes me very uneasy," DeRusha said. "Bumler could have found out what the other bids were. If that is indicative of the kind of business you're dealing with, you'd probably find yourself better off with someone else."

City manager Steven Walters also noted the irregularity of the process, pointing out that even if Bumler did not learn the amounts of the other bids, it gained an advantage over its competition.

"That could be a tool for him to opt in or out of the project depending on his work load, even though he was required to guarantee his bid," Walters said. "If he decided he wanted the work, he could bid the hourly portion low. If he took on too many other things and didn't want it, he could come in and say the hourly work would cost $10,000 and be pretty much assured of being eliminated from consideration."

Mayor Paul Vernon and council members Paul Folino and Dewey Gardner also questioned the process. Folino specifically raised the question of the city's legal liability should one of the other bidders challenge the awarding of the contract to Bumler.

"The difference between the low bid and the next one is $900," Folino said. "You could easily spend many times that amount defending the process."

County delay stalls tax bills

Property tax payers anticipating receipt of the first summer billing of Northville school taxes will have to wait a bit longer.

Bills are not due until September 14, but are normally posted July 1. As of Monday morning, however, township officials had not received the required documents from the Wayne County bureau of taxation. They arrived Tuesday.

A similar situation existed with the city and Oakland County.

The county authority prepares the bills and the tax rolls. The roll is kept in the municipal office and describes the property, its valuation and whether or not the tax has been paid.

Bills were ready for township pick-up Monday. "But we still have to separate them and get them mailed," noted clerk Susan Heintz. "They don't come all ready to mail, they're not in envelopes or anything."

Another delay is in preparation of the township's computer to generate a

Steel's a steal, says builder

By B.J. MARTIN

The building going up at the southeast corner of Eight Mile and Sheldon roads has attracted quite a bit of attention. People take a look at the steel girders and streamlined construction and think, "I thought they weren't allowed to build an office there."

Well, "they" aren't. They're building a house.

A two-bedroom domicile with library/guest quarters and a full-size basement, that is. And all held together with structural steel.

Now there's something you don't see every day.

"Yes, I'd say it's unique for our area," says the home's builder and future resident, Bob Melvin. Melvin should know. He directs Constructions Consulting Services in Novi, a commercial/industrial contracting firm.

"Maybe one in every 100,000 homes has it (a steel-supported structure)," Melvin notes. "Unless they're in the business, everyone thinks building with wood's a lot cheaper."

That's not so, Melvin claims. And his choice to build his house with steel, he hopes, will help demonstrate that.

"Steel costs about the same as wood, and the labor costs a lot less," Melvin says. "It's going to take us 60 days to build this house where the ordinary time span would be around 4-5 months."

The key, he adds, is the longer "clear span" distance he can get with steel. "If you go further than 14 feet with floors, you have to put in additional beams for extra support. You can go much wider with steel."

The trees on the building site's perimeter will remain, as will the earth berm facing north. And Melvin adds his property will still provide plenty of room when Eight Mile Road is eventually widened in that area.

The steel will hold in place the building's oak floors and cedar exterior walls and decking. Windows will be in irregular geometric shapes. Inside, a spiral staircase will complement the high-tech appearance.

Architect for the home is Sterling C. West of Detroit.

Zoning change sought for parcel on Taft Road

Described as "an island" surrounded by Northville School District property, a 4.1-acre parcel of land east of Taft Road will likely be the location of condominium developments in the future.

At a specially-scheduled meeting June 26, the City of Northville Planning Commission unanimously agreed to recommend City Council approve a request to rezone the property. If Council approves, zoning of the parcel at 21060 Taft, now single-family residential (R-1A), would be changed to multiple-family zoning (R-3).

A public hearing on the request will be held August 6 at City Hall, before City Council is to make the decision.

Should that rezoning be approved, developer Patricia Hahn said she would buy the property and build condominiums there similar to units she has built in Plymouth.

"It can be safely assumed it (construction of condominiums there) would not have a detrimental effect on neighboring property," City Planning Consultant Ron Nino told commissioners at their Tuesday, June 26 meeting.

In a June 19 report to planning commissioners, Nino characterized the parcel as "an island of private property surrounded by public land . . . The site is not desirable for single detached housing units, which is its present zoning status, because of the potential noise impact of adjacent school property."

"In fact," Nino added at the planners' meeting, "the present zoning could be considered a hardship, because a prudent investor would not purchase the property for single-family development . . . In general, I feel the rezoning is good planning."

Bocce tourney draws trustees' concerns

By MICHELE McELMURRY

Following on the heels of one of its most successful fundraising events, the Schoolcraft College Foundation is hoping to co-sponsor its first bocce tournament — provided the college's trustees can come to grips with the prize money to be awarded in the competition.

At its meeting last Wednesday night, Schoolcraft trustee Sharon Sarris questioned college president Richard McDowell about the discrepancies in prize money in the men's and women's divisions.

Total prize money to be awarded in the proposed August 11-12 tournament is $4,200 with the highest prize of $1,500 going to the first place men's team.

Sarris noted the $500 first place women's prize is considerably less than the men's first place award, and in fact, is only equal to the men's third place award.

Other trustees, notably Rosina Raymond and Laura Toy, echoed Sarris' concerns.

"I'm concerned too," Toy said. "Particularly if we put our name on it."

The bocce tournament, to be co-sponsored by the Schoolcraft College Foundation, Fonte D'Amore Restaurant and Action Distributing, is a first time endeavor for the college. Proceeds from the proposed event are to go to the Schoolcraft College Foundation and the Livonia Parksite development.

During the past year, more than $47,000 has been raised by the Foundation for college programs. Two years ago, the Schoolcraft Foundation raised $17,000.

President McDowell told the board Wednesday that the Foundation has exceeded its $40,000 goal for the year and noted that its recent golf tournament raised more than $10,000 for the college.

"For a first time endeavor it was a significant accomplishment," McDowell said of the Meadowbrook Country Club event.

McDowell attributed the tournament's success to the large community turnout. He noted that a "cast of thousands" participated in the event and said he hoped the bocce tournament would attract similar community interest.

However, the success of the bocce tournament will depend on whether the college irons out the prize money discrepancy.

Schoolcraft Athletic Director Marvin Gans told the board that "very few women compete in bocce ball in comparison with men" and noted that for every one women's team, some 12 to 15 men's teams will compete.

However, Gans pointed out that women may be included on the four-person teams in the men's division.

After considerable debate among board members, McDowell said the concerns raised at the meeting will be discussed in committee.

"We are not going to decide the rules of the tournament," McDowell pointed out, "but whether we will compete or not."

He told board members that it may not be easy for the college to pull out of its sponsorship as preparations for the tournament already are under way.

However, he noted, that "we've set the prize money on the estimated number of respondents."

"If large groups of women participate, the prize money will go up (in the women's division)."

In other board action Wednesday:

- Awarded a purchase order of $21,600 to Apple Computer Incorporated of Rolling Meadows, Illinois, for 18 Apple computers with approval to select Incomp Computer Center of Novi as the local dealer responsible for the equipment;
- Awarded a purchase order of $11,210.40 to International Business Machines, Incorporated of Southfield for 20 IBM typewriters to replace classroom machines that are between eight and 10 years old;
- Awarded a purchase order of $9,183.90 to McNaughton-McKay Electric Company of Madison Heights for two Allen-Bradely Programmable Controller Systems to be used in the electronics lab classroom;
- Approved a purchase order to be awarded to AT & T Information Systems for the purchase of 273 telephone instruments and selected peripheral equipment in the amount of $14,379.46;

County report cites community needs, characteristics

By B.J. MARTIN

Northville Township is one of two Wayne County communities to show a population growth since the 1980 census, according to a preliminary report recently presented to the Wayne County Planning Commission.

An estimate of the extent of the increase is being reviewed by county and township officials, and should be available within the next two weeks.

But according to a document outlining the needs and goals for 31 communities in Wayne County, "Estimates just released by the Bureau of the Census show that only Canton and Northville Townships can show any population increase."

The document is described as "drafts of the Community Needs" and was distributed at the WPCP Planning Committee meeting May 17. Township Clerk Susan Heintz submitted the document for review to the Township Board of Trustees, Planning Commission, department heads, consultants, the Economic Development Corporation and Block Grant Facilitation officials.

The drafts showed that despite an increase in the combined population of the communities analyzed, 15 Wayne County communities showed population losses between 1970 and 1980.

"These losses," the document stated, "were factors in the increase of the percentage of low and moderate income families (in the communities reviewed)."

Further, the report documented the extent of the economic downturn in housing construction between 1979 and 1982. Using the number of building permits issued as an index, the report showed a 23 percent decline between 1978 and 1979, a further 51 percent decline in 1980, a 47 percent decline in 1981 and a still further nine percent decline in 1982.

In 1979, there were 21,524 permits issued. In 1982 that number had dwindled to 5,155.

The draft also identified problems and needs of 31 Wayne County communities, including Northville and Northville Township (among communities not included were Detroit and Livonia).

Each of the communities was listed in one of six categories assessing its general stage of development: rural, developing rapidly, developing, mature stable, mature appreciating, and mature depreciating. These categories were drawn up to determine each community's developmental needs.

Northville Township was categorized as "developing," and the City of Northville as "mature appreciating."

The major factor used to determine which communities were in a "developing" stage was the increase in housing unit construction from 1970-1980. Other communities included with Northville Township in the "developing" classification included Plymouth Township, Belleville and Romulus.

Communities which have realized an increase of at least 90 percent in their state equalized value between 1970 and 1980 were classified as "mature appreciating." Along with City of Northville, Plymouth, Grosse Pointe, Grosse Pointe Farms, Grosse Pointe Park and Grosse Pointe Woods belonged to this category.

Problems and needs peculiar to and shared by each of the categories were identified.

Communities in the same category as the City of Northville were reported as lacking "range or balance (in) their housing stock," and needing more affordable housing for elderly and low-income households.

Other needs identified in mature appreciating communities were commercial improvements (in Northville, directed mainly at the central business district), plus the need to adequately maintain streets, sewer and water lines.

Developing communities such as Northville Township were described as having a strong need for elderly housing, plus rental and other "rehabilitation."

Other revitalization needs for developing communities were adequate recreation facilities, plus fire protection equipment and facilities.

Stone mason Frank Krol works on blacksmith shop

Workers build smithy at Mill Race

Construction of the long-awaited blacksmith shop at the Mill Race Historical Village is drawing near completion with the raising of the new post-and-beam constructed roof.

The roof, secured by hardwood pegs and containing no nails or bolts, was constructed by the Riverbend Timber Framing company in Blissfield. It was brought to Northville to be put on the stone building on June 19.

The roof will be completed by adding white pine planks to the frame. The northern Michigan pine was donated to the project by Greenfield Village from its steam-operated sawmill.

According to Francis Gazlay, chairman of the blacksmith project and past president of the Historical Society, the Mill Race shop is a replica of one that stood on the site of the parking lot and farmers' market at Main and Hutton downtown.

Like its model, both the inside and outside of the structure will be stone covered. Already more than half of the exterior has been finished by stone mason Frank Krol of Redford. Work on the interior has not yet been started.

This is the first time that the Historical Society has had to pay to construct a building. Due to the complexity of the roof structure and the time and materials involved in building the shop from the ground up, professional carpenters and builders had to be hired.

Money for the project — the roof alone cost $8,700 — was collected from events such as the Fourth of July celebration, house tours, and the auction.

"We do as much as we can until we run out of money and then we have to wait until we get some more," laughed Gazlay.

Volunteers have done some work on the site already, and will do more as the structure is completed. Gazlay hopes to have at least the roof on the building before winter.

When the shop is finished, only one-third will be used for blacksmithing. The Society has already obtained a forge (used for firing the irons) from Plymouth, and will hire a blacksmith to make the shop authentic.

The remainder of the building will serve as a much-needed museum for Northville curios. Gazlay encourages anyone who might have objects to donate to contact the Historical Society.

State colleges get high marks

Michigan residents give Michigan's community colleges high marks but feel the tuition at four-year colleges is too high, according to the findings of a statewide opinion poll released last week.

The State Board of Education's first statewide public opinion survey to measure citizen attitudes about higher education also showed strong support for Governor Blanchard's proposal to give more state aid to four-year colleges that freeze their tuition.

The poll also revealed that Michiganders place a greater value on higher education than people in other states.

Findings of the state poll were presented to members of the the Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees at their meeting last Wednesday.

Schoolcraft President Richard McDowell told the board that "overall higher education did very well."

He noted that Schoolcraft's research personnel will be disseminating the raw data from the opinion poll and bringing the findings back to the board.

State Superintendent Phillip E. Runkel called the poll's findings "very significant." Results of the interviews with 802 Michigan residents conducted by telephone in mid-May were released at a news conference in Lansing.

"Overall, this survey shows there is strong public support for our colleges and universities," said Runkel, noting the state has 100 public and private colleges and universities.

Runkel said the poll show that nearly three-fourths (74 percent) of all Michigan adults believe a college education today is "very important" compared to only 58 percent who placed a high priority on a college education in the 1983 Gallup Poll.

"Survey participants gave a high vote of confidence to the state's community and junior colleges and said they would vote for a millage increase if asked to do so by their community college," Runkel said.

Two out of the three persons (68 percent) gave an "excellent" or "good" rating on the way their local two-year college meets local educational needs.

Two-thirds (67 percent) said they would vote for a millage increase to enable their community college to continue providing services.

Runkel said the poll shows the public believes the three most important functions of Michigan's system of 29 community colleges are to prepare students to go on to a four-year college so they can earn a degree (88 percent), provide vocational training (85 percent) and give make-up instruction in basic skills (75 percent).

Questions concerning the state's 15 public four-year colleges showed that half (50 percent) of all citizens polled believe the present tuition at these colleges is too high and nearly four out of 10 persons (37 percent) feel the cost of attending a four-year college in Michigan is higher than in other states.

According to the National Center for Education Statistics, Michigan ranked sixth nationally in 1981-82 for the average annual cost (tuition, fees and room and board) for public two-year and four-year colleges.

The average cost in Michigan was $1,097, compared to a national average of $721. States that had higher average costs than Michigan included Ohio, Pennsylvania, Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont.

"The vast majority of persons who participated in the survey — 72 percent — believe colleges that freeze tuition costs at the same level as last year should get more state aid," Runkel said.

Michigan's state school superintendent said "another very significant finding of the poll is that a solid majority (55 percent) believe that planning and coordination for Michigan's colleges and universities should be done by the State Board of Education."

Other significant findings of the State Board's survey were:

- 91 percent said there is a community or junior college within driving distance of their home and 81 percent said there is a public four-year college within driving distance of their home.

- 46 percent said they or someone in their household have taken at least one class at a Michigan community or junior college.

- 73 percent of those polled said financial aid for college students should be based on both need and ability.

- 62 percent said they are opposed to the state providing any form of state aid for students going to a private or independent college.

- 59 percent said they feel Michigan's two-year colleges should raise admission requirements for students who enroll in academic programs, and 52 percent said Michigan's public four-year college entrance requirements should be raised.

- 57 percent disagree with a State Board of Education recommendation that colleges and universities require students to have two years of foreign language to be admitted to college or to graduate from college.

Northville's Longridge interns in capital

By JEAN MacINTOSH

Move over, Barbara Walters, here comes Karen Longridge.

Longridge, a University of Michigan student, is in Washington, D.C. this summer on an internship with the White House media relations department. The department handles the news highlights in Washington for media sources across the nation.

"We get calls from all over, wanting to know everything from what the president ate for lunch to the White House position on a certain issue," explains the daughter of Northville residents Dave and Marge Longridge.

Longridge originally heard about the internship this spring while participating as a sophomore in the "Washington Semester" program, offered through U. of M. Although it was too late to apply for the summer program, she wrote to ask about the possibility of participating next year.

"I got a letter back from Sue Mathis, who's the Deputy Director of Media Relations," says Longridge, "and she invited me to come in for an interview."

To her surprise, Longridge was offered a position in Mathis' department this summer.

"It was an opportunity I couldn't pass up," she says.

Longridge's job as a 'desk assistant' involves screening tapes, planning briefings for media groups, and researching information. She also has to keep up with current events.

"Every morning I come in and read the Post," she explains, "and I also read Time and Newsweek every week."

Her duties keep her busy, says Longridge. "I'm always working on a new project — I'm going from the minute I get there."

"It can get really crazy, especially since this is an election year," she adds. "There's rarely 'nothing to do'."

Her department makes sure she gets to see the big events that happen at the White House, says Longridge, who was present for visits by the Olympic torch runner and Michael Jackson.

Her favorite thing about her job is having the opportunity to meet many of the 'big names' in politics. Already she has met F.B.I. Director William H. Webster, and attended Vice-President Bush's birthday party.

"The really neat thing about meeting 'celebrities' is that you become more aware of the fact that they are just people," Longridge says.

"We set them up there on pedestals, not realizing sometimes that they have families, they go home at night like everybody else. I've seen how human they are."

Longridge, who shares an apartment with three friends in Georgetown, likes living in the Washington area. "It's a big city with a small town atmosphere," she explains.

Naturally, an air of politics surrounds the entire city. "You can't go anywhere without hearing a political discussion," she says.

"I've always been interested in politics, but I never considered myself especially 'political'. Now I've got two roommates who are strong Democrats and one that's very Republican — It's interesting," she laughs.

Longridge, who enters her junior year in the fall, would like to become either a broadcaster or a media liaison for a company or the government.

"I can't decide," she says, "they're both so different." She thinks her experience this summer — especially the fact that she's been exposed to many political figures — will be very helpful.

"If I want to work in Washington, I can't be afraid to talk to those people," she explains, "especially if I want to go into broadcasting."

Longridge admits to still feeling a little awe-struck by her new surroundings. "Sometimes I think, 'I can't believe I'm at this (event)...I can't believe I'm doing this.'"

"I wouldn't trade it for the world," she adds.

City police catch Detroit House of Corrections escapee

In the City...

City police caught an escapee from Detroit House of Corrections last Wednesday, as the inmate was bicycling along Eight Mile at 1:05 a.m.

Keith Bradley Newton, 18, of Detroit had been incarcerated for breaking and entering a motor vehicle and larceny and had been reported missing from the prison on Tuesday, June 26.

City police received a report of a suspicious person — who met the description of the escapee — sighted at Center and Main streets — a 6 foot 4, 180-pound white male in prison dress, with possible gunshot wounds. By the time patrolling officers caught up with Bradley, he was on Eight Mile west of Sheldon.

Bradley was wearing blue work pants and a blood-stained t-shirt inside-out when he was stopped by police. But officers were able to discern that "Detroit House of Corrections" had been imprinted on the shirt.

Bradley was returned to the Detroit prison.

As of Tuesday morning, city police were still trying to locate the owner of the 10-speed Raleigh bicycle Bradley was riding.

A $250 tape deck and the left windshield wiper arm and blade were stolen from a 1971 Volvo two-door automobile parked at Northville Downs last week.

The car, which was for sale, revealed no sign of forced entry upon investigation. According to a city police report, the theft took place between 10 a.m. June 24 and 3 p.m. Saturday.

A car reported to city police last Wednesday as blocking the driveway of a home on Washington Circle was discovered to have been stolen from an apartment parking lot in Livonia May 31.

A lien check on the vehicle revealed the auto's owner, a woman now residing in Fort Meyers, Florida, had reported the theft to Livonia police June 1.

The car, a 1978 two-door Pontiac, turned up June 20 on a Detroit street. Detroit police contacted the owner, who later told Northville police she had arranged at that time for her insurance agent to claim the car.

But the car was reportedly gone when the agent went to pick it up. It is unknown why the insurance agent did not report the car had been stolen again to police.

The car, which sustained damage to its steering column, has been impounded for further investigation of the case.

... In the Township

Northville township police are investigating the report of an indecent ex-posure which occurred around 11:15 a.m. Saturday in the parking lot of Silver Springs Elementary School.

Township police were notified about the incident by a township resident whose nine-year-old daughter was riding her bike in the school parking lot at the time the incident occurred.

The victim described the suspect as a white male in his mid-20s with medium-length light red hair, clean shaven and small eyes. He was wearing a white dress shirt with thin brown stripes, a tie and white pants with brown stripes.

The complainant told police his daughter was alone when a brown, newer model, full-sized vehicle pulled into the parking lot.

The victim told police the suspect was the only occupant of the four-door vehicle. She stated the man in the car asked her for directions out of Highland Lakes. After pointing toward Seven Mile, the victim said the man in the car exposed himself.

She told police she got frightened, left the area and went directly home. The man then left southbound on Silver Springs.

The victim told police the man never got out of his car and she had never seen him before.

Township police sent out an alert to other area departments.

Items valued at approximately $950 were stolen from a Ford van parked at a Haggerty Road golf course sometime between 7:30 and 8:30 p.m. June 25, township police report.

The complainant told police unknown suspects broke into his vehicle and removed a $500 Fuji men's 12-speed bicycle and a $450 set of golf clubs.

The complainant further stated that he did not see anyone near his vehicle when he put the golf clubs in his van at about 7:30 p.m.

He noted that all the doors were locked at the time the incident occurred.

Officers at the scene observed the point of entry to be the right vent window of the van and noted that the vent lock was pried open.

The complainant stated he spoke to employees at the course as well as other golfers, but no one saw anyone near his vehicle.

A Yamaha motorcycle valued at $600 was stolen from the garage of a Faragut Court residence sometime between 3 and 5:30 p.m. June 25, police report.

The complainant told police unknown suspects removed the motorcycle from the home's attached garage while the residents were away.

The complainant further stated that the garage doors were closed but not locked at the time the incident occurred. Police noted the motorcycle may have been taken out the service door of the garage rather than through the overhead door as a rubber raft left in the middle of the floor would have hindered moving the vehicle through the front of the garage.

The complainant advised that the motor was not in the motorcycle when it was stolen.

A $600 diamond and ruby ring was reported missing to township police by a Meade resident June 25.

The complainant told police she last saw the ring June 11 and noticed it was missing June 25.

She further stated that only family members were in the house prior to the time she noticed the ring missing.

Officers called to the scene noticed no signs of forced entry to the residence and no other items were reported missing.

The complainant described the ring as having four diamond chips with three ruby chips and set in a brush gold band.

... From State Police

A 1980 Toyota parked in the Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital parking lot June 27 suffered an estimated $300 worth of damage when unknown persons attacked it with what police believe was a tire iron.

The owner told police she parked the car in the lot when reporting for work at 3 p.m. When she returned at 11:30 p.m., she said, the car had been damaged.

Police counted at least three blows struck to the windshield of the car — each making a double impact mark that led to the conclusion a tire iron was used.

The culprit also flattened both tires on the passenger side of the car. Police observed no punctures or slashes in the tires, but noted that the valve stem caps were still on the tires.

Someone stole the front radiator grill off a 1980 Mercury parked in the Innbrook Apartments lot June 21.

One of the couple who own the car told police the grill was intact when she left in their other car after 11 p.m. June 20 on her way to work the midnight shift. When her husband went out 6 a.m., the woman told police, the grill was gone.

It was valued at $100.

Another odd auto parts theft took place at Six Mile and Northville Road June 20. A Detroit man reported that the horn ring was stolen from his 1984 Chevrolet.

The man explained that he was fishing in the area and returned to his car at a little after 3 p.m., only to realize he'd left one of his poles by the lake. He said he opened the car windows to let the interior cool while he retrieved the pole, and when he returned less than five minutes later, the horn ring was gone.

Our Opinions

Infighting harms EDC project plans

Despite a lot of politically-motivated distractions, it at last appears that the long-awaited development of the Wayne County Child Development Center property is at hand. As is the case with most projects that come to fruition only after long consideration by a multitude of interests, the project now proposed would hardly be recognizable to those who first pushed the idea.

Yet it holds onto key elements of the original senior village plan that were considered essential right from the start — provision of housing to elderly persons and renovation of the many potentially-attractive buildings on the site.

To retain these, some long-cherished ideas will have to move aside, including the idea of a retirement village exclusively for elderly persons. In a way, we find the economic reality that forces a wider spectrum of housing choices to be offered is more beneficial than detrimental. Most recent studies suggest that elderly people should not be walled-off from the rest of society, but rather should be allowed to mingle among younger persons.

Conversely, younger people have a more tolerant view of the aging if they have more frequent personal contact with older persons. Mixing age groups, yet allowing each the freedom to avoid the others when they so desire, is easily accomplished in the layout of a 101-acre complex. What drawings we have seen to date appear to be intent on accomplishing that goal. Retirees won't have to be around shouting children or loud radios if they don't want to, yet will have the option to mix with a younger crowd in the recreational areas when the desire strikes. This mixing may put off some potential residents of the complex, but should draw others who resist being shut away with only other elderly persons as company.

The township planning commission will likely have to change the zoning on some of the property, since the present classification allows only for elderly housing. There may also be a request to allow a small part of the parcel to be untaxed. The downside of these two situations is that there will be less tax money coming than originally proposed from the development, and, since there are likely to be at least some young couples living there, there will be added load on schools and other services that were not anticipated in early planning.

In the face of the potential benefits, however, those are small prices to pay. None of the land is currently taxable, so if as much as one-quarter of it stays off the rolls, there is still an enormous gain. And the load on services won't approach what results from a single-family subdivision of similar acreage.

Township supervisor John MacDonald expects final agreements between the county economic development corporation and the developer will be signed before the month is out. It is indeed unfortunate that the county executive has chosen to make a sideshow out of the EDC just when its biggest project is nearing completion. That William Lucas does not like having Robert FitzPatrick in charge of this operation should surprise no one — they were opponents in the 1982 election that put Lucas in the executive office.

We anticipated that Lucas would settle for seeing the EDC membership turn over as terms expire, leading to the eventual dismissal of FitzPatrick when his contract runs out. That, apparently, would take too long. So, at what urging we do not understand, we have witnessed what amounts to a smear campaign against FitzPatrick and, by extension, his supporters on the EDC board. Such distractions are hardly conducive to letting the EDC get on with its job — promoting development that benefits the entire county.

A greener Griswold

As it turned out, the city and Ford Motor Company will have their cake and eat it, too.

With the City Planning Commission's unanimous approval last week of landscape plans for Ford plant property west of Griswold, the two-year permit granting the firm the right to store their racks in the company's parking lot at last became official.

No firings of workers. No unconscionable expense to Ford imposed by city officials. And no more unsightly towers of racks. Just a plan to make Griswold Street look better and a better understanding between city officials and Ford executives.

While city officials may claim results for the way they applied pressure on Ford, and Ford may claim the plant's economic precariousness and the company's history of service to the community merited special consideration, that cool heads prevailed on both sides is something of a relief.

Off the record

Rallying for singles' and doubles' match

One of my former college roommates is expecting her first child at literally any moment. The arrival-to-be was expected Sunday but is running a few days late. Needless to say all of the new mother's college cronies are eagerly awaiting a phone call. The Michigan State baby memorabilia already is on its way to the new nursery outside of Chicago.

I called Chris last week to see how she was feeling. In a recent letter she indicated that her doctor advised she stop working due to the pending arrival. I figured she'd probably be climbing the walls at home and thought a phone call might cheer her up. She seemed in terrific spirits despite the fact that she felt "fat and anxious."

She indicated she had several phone calls that day — many from people she hasn't heard from for a long while. "You know," she remarked, "I've even heard from my single friends. I haven't talked to some of them in a year. Tom and I never see or hear from them. All of our friends are couples — you'll see what it's like when you're married."

I was surprised and somewhat disturbed by her comment — and also a little saddened. I'm one of her single friends. Though we haven't seen one another in more than a year, we regularly write or talk on the phone.

I don't think her remark necessarily was directed at me, however, I'm still bothered by her observation that married persons and singles simply don't mingle.

What I find even more disturbing is that I've been hearing the same sort of remarks from my single friends. While recently making plans for some after-work socializing with another college cohort, she stunned me by asking: "Will you still be as much fun after you get married?"

I was dumbfounded. It never occurred to me that matrimony would change my social status from "fun single person" to cloistered nun. I know a lot of married persons who actually are seen in public — both together and apart. I thought the "ball and chain" theory of marriage went out with skate keys.

I don't believe friendships have to take it on the chin when one gains a spouse. Certainly one's perspective changes with marriage — mine changes to ours, self-centeredness turns to sharing and a whole new set of rules are put into place. However, while self gratification may get pushed to the wayside in wedded bliss, I don't believe friendships should suffer the same fate.

Most of my friends have been longtime companions. The times we shared together have made for hours of reminiscing at our memorable though infrequent gatherings. While our lives are no longer as closely intertwined as they once were, all of us are basically the same people.

In ending my conversation with Chris, I told her I hoped to pay a visit before summer comes to a close. I asked if she could handle an ex-roommate and an infant at the same time. Though she said it was no problem at her end, she told me she thought I might find babydom too much to handle.

Having survived her daily doses of Mott the Hoople during our senior year at Michigan State, I reassured her that a small infant would be a minor inconvenience.

Big gulp

After the fact

By PHILIP JEROME

I was mad and she knew it. That's why I stalked out — leaving her alone to ponder in silence the error of her ways.

We had been discussing financial matters. And, as usual, she was making outlandish statements, totally unsubstantiated by any semblance of truth or wisdom.

But when I interrupted her ... to get her thinking back on the right track ... she got mad.

"Let me finish," she said. Actually it was more of an "ordered" than a "said."

And so I did. Fair is fair, and if she wanted to make a fool of herself by saying stupid things, well ... I guess she has a right. It's a free country.

Finally, after 15 minutes of harrangue, there was a lull in the conversation. I looked at her out of the corner of my eye. She said nothing.

"May I assume by your silence that it's my turn to shed some light on the situation?" I asked cautiously.

"Go ahead," she scowled. "It's your turn."

And so I began to explain the facts in a cool and reasoned manner. But I had no sooner finished my first sentence and started the second when she burst in. Cut my sentence off in the middle and was off to the races, uttering more gibberish than Carter has liver pills.

"Aha," I roared. "I get your little game. I have to be quiet when you're talking. But you can interrupt me whenever you darn well feel like it."

And that's when I left. Zip, boom, bam. Off into the night. Off to someplace quiet where I could collect my thoughts and give her time to consider how unfair she had been.

I came back, of course. Gave her enough time — about two beers' worth — to develop a really deep sense of guilt about her irrational behavior, walked through the door and flashed my famous killer smile.

"I didn't interrupt when you were talking, but you interrupted me during my very first sentence," I stated calmly.

"That's right," she growled. "At least you understand the rules."

Volunteers key to senior class party's rousing success

To the Editor:

The 1984 senior class party was held on June 15, following graduation. The theme this year was "The Big Apple." Over 85 percent of the class attended, which is a significantly higher rate than in past years.

The party was a huge success, thanks to many, many senior parents who gave of their time and talents unselfishly since January. These parents built and painted scenery, planned entertainment, cooked, etc. to make this party a reality.

It is impossible to list everyone's name here — about 200 parents worked on the party. The committee chairpersons were: Carolyn Nieuwkoop, treasurer; Lee Kellar, Ken Kress and Helen Nutter, decorations; Suzanne and Bill Kaley, entertainment; Joan Darrow and Sonja Lane, buffet; Lane Norton, breakfast; Diane Schrader, publicity; Pat O'Neill, telephone; Al Cassidy, security; Marge Longridge, check room; Dave Longridge, clean-up.

Thanks to every parent who was involved.

Thanks also to merchants and individuals who so generously donated prizes and helped in other ways. They are: A&P, Meyer's Berry Farm, Schraders Home Furnishings, The Bookstall, Genitti's, MacKinnon's, Sandies Hallmark, Northville Camera, Good Time Party Store, Freydl's, Northville Gallery of Flowers, Main Street Barbers, Juan Carlos, Northville Charley's, Northville Bike Shop.

A special thank you, also to the Board of Education, the high school staff and especially the high school custodial staff for their help in setting up and cleaning up. We could not have accomplished it without you.

Thanks also to Sara Ryan, Sue Hinds, Nancy and Ken Rosselot, who watched over everything during graduation.

Finally, thanks to the Class of 1984. Their enthusiasm and genuine appreciation made all of the work worthwhile.

Safety Town called asset to community

To the Editor:

We would like to publicly thank Northville Community Recreation for bringing "Safety Town" to this community. Also a special thank you to Carol and Jodi for their excellent work with the children.

This is a new program to Northville, but it is used and has been proven very effective nationwide.

As a community, every citizen needs to support this program for the safety of your children. There are waiting lists in other communities while Northville has sessions threatened to cancel due to lack of enrollment.

Also we understand that there is a need for donated materials to construct some buildings for the town, and some volunteers to help in constructing them. How about some senior citizens or high school students with time on your hands this summer? How gratifying it would be to know you helped protect a future citizen. As always, we're sure financial donations would help the cause, too.

Please get behind this program — make it work! Call the Recreation Department for information.

Sincerely,
Ralph and Mary Long

P.S. In moving from the Northville area (to South Lyon — ed.) before classes started we paid a non-resident fee and commuted every day. It would have been worth the money and time at twice the price.

County hospital lease best available option

One of 12 Wayne County commissioners voting to lease County General Hospital to Southwest General Hospital, Mary Dumas (R-10th District) says she is not altogether satisfied with the agreement but sees it as the best available alternative.

By a 12-3 vote in a special meeting, the commission approved lease of the 340 bed facility for 10 years, with option to buy for $15 million.

Under the agreement, Southwest would pay the county $500,000 a year for the first five years, and $600,000 a year for the following five. If it chooses to buy, Southwest would receive a $4 million credit toward the purchase price for treating county indigent patients.

"I'm not thoroughly pleased with the agreement, but we really don't have much of a choice," said Dumas, who faces three GOP opponents in the upcoming primary election. "It at least gives us an opportunity to keep the hospital open, and it is important that we maintain trauma and emergency care capability as part of our role in a coordinated disaster plan."

Further, Dumas said she considers the agreement acceptable because "We don't have the best of all worlds."

The hospital is scheduled to change ownership August 15, providing Southwest can negotiate new labor contracts with about 600 county hospital employees represented by more than a dozen bargaining units. The agreement is void if labor consensus is not reached by August 15.

Responding to Dumas prior to the commission's vote, Southwest director Reginald Ayala assured her the hospital would continue high-quality service and maintain all services now in place.

He also said the hospital would maintain its teaching association with the University of Michigan but in addition would open the facility to use by private physicians.

New Jaycee officers

It's time to catch up with who's who in the Northville Jaycees, sponsors for many of the community's July 4 activities. Left to right are the service organization's 1984-85 officers: Bob Cummings, president; Tom Hoetger, administrative vice-president and treasurer; Thom Manners, secretary; Mike Terry, In-

Lansing Report

Law pleased with tax cut package

A compromise hammered out by legislative leaders last month will mean $183 million in tax relief for Michigan citizens and more money for state schools, State Representative Gerald Law said last week.

Law said he is pleased with the agreement by legislative leaders to roll back the state's 6.1 percent income tax rate to 5.35 percent by September 1.

"By dropping the income tax one month sooner than the governor wanted, we will save Michigan taxpayers a total of $183 million," Law said. "And the tentative compromise also has a plan to reduce the income tax rate to 4.6 percent on October 1, 1987. Until now, there was no date set to lower the tax to the level in effect before the 1983 increase."

Law said the 1984-85 budget will now include a net increase of $43.5 million for the state's K-12 schools and $12 million for higher education which reflects the "Republican commitment to better fund our state's schools."

While Law claimed he was not completely satisfied with the compromise, the tax rollback plan is a victory for Michigan taxpayers and for lawmakers who have long cried that the initial tax increase was "too much for too long."

"House Republicans," Law continued, "did not receive everything they wanted in the compromise, but everyone involved in the process gave up something and the results were reduced taxes and a more realistic budget for the people of this state."

"The plan still has a long way to go," he concluded. "The House, the Senate and the governor must all approve it before it becomes a reality. But at least we've broken the deadlock on these important tax and budget issues."

Former Cloverdale owner Charlene Johnson dies

CHARLENE JOHNSON

Northville resident and former Cloverdale owner Charlene Johnson died June 29 at Hospice of Southeastern Michigan. She was 53.

A memorial Mass will be celebrated at 10 a.m. July 14 by Father Vaughn Quinn at Duns Scotus Seminary in Southfield. A traditional Irish wake will follow. Mrs. Johnson's many Northville friends are invited by her family to attend the services.

Although born in Chicago, Mrs. Johnson spent the majority of her life in Michigan. According to her daughter Suzanne, she married her "first and only love," Larry Johnson, in Detroit on Thanksgiving Day, 1948.

Together they raised four children — Suzanne of Harbor Springs, Lois Anne of Westland and sons Larry of Allen Park and John of Chicago. Other family members include daughter-in-law Julie, son-in-law Jack and granddaughter Sarah Marie.

In addition to her family devotion, Mrs. Johnson also was a successful career woman. While owner and operator of Cloverdale, she was a member of the Northville Businesswomen's Association. Prior to that, she was a volunteer at the Plymouth State Home from 1960-64, where she cared for Down's Syndrome children.

Mrs. Johnson was a district manager for Avon from 1965-74 and worked for the LOVE (Livonia Office of Volunteer Energies) Office from 1975-77, helping others by coordinating numerous requests with volunteer efforts in Livonia.

She also was a member of the Founder's Society of the Detroit Institute of Arts. In 1977, Mrs. Johnson returned to school to continue her education at Schoolcraft College.

An avid traveler, Mrs. Johnson's favorite national spots included northern Michigan, California and the hills of Tennessee. She also enjoyed Ireland, Mexico and Spain. Her many hobbies included the theatre and the arts, gardening, horseback riding and working with stained glass.

While a patient at the University of Michigan's Oncology Department, Mrs. Johnson helped others better understand and deal with cancer through her lectures at nursing seminars and cooperation throughout experimental techniques and procedures at Ann Arbor.

She joined Hospice of Southeastern Michigan in August of 1983.

Mrs. Johnson's favorite charities were Father Quinn's Sacred Heart Rehabilitation Center, the Detroit Institute of Arts and Hospice of Southeastern Michigan. Her family notes that Mrs. Johnson requested friends donate to one of the three charities in lieu of sending flowers.

City disqualifies bid

opted to disqualify the Bumler bid on the basis that it did not meet bid specifications as advertised and requested. That left the choice to either J.A. Marble or Monarch Welding & Engineering of Hazel Park, which bid nearly $2,000 higher at $16,925.

Asked if he knew anything about the bidding companies, Farland said the recreation department's consultant, BEMS Engineering of Northville, had recommended both Bumler and Marble. "The other one, I don't know anything about," Farland said.

The contract was awarded to Marble. Council also filed a request with Oakland County block grant administrators to juggle federal grant monies allocated for various projects in 1982, 1983 and 1984 to pay the cost. One of the projects funded through the process was the heating plant renovation, with $10,000 set aside for that work. Another $4,300 is to come from a 1982 allocation and the remainder from the 1984 grant.

Tax bill soon

mailing list for the bills — the tape the county provides was not ready.

Summer tax bills are new to the township, where all collections were previously done from December billings. State law authorizing school districts to collect taxes in July, however, caused the July billing date to be added.

Northville Public Schools is collecting one-half the annual tax on the summer bill and one-half on the December bill. The school tax bill is being mailed separately from the routine city tax collection in July.

Also collecting taxes this July is Schoolcraft College. The county intermediate school district opted to wait until December.

City and township officials expect that, regardless of how early the bills are mailed, most taxpayers will choose to pay during the last week prior to the deadline. December billings are customarily paid before the end of the year, though not due until February, because of the property owners' ability to deduct the tax on their income tax forms.

There is no such incentive mid-year.

McAllister president of clerk group

Northville city clerk Joan G. McAllister was elected president of the Michigan Municipal Clerks Association June 22 during a workshop conference at Shanty Creek in Bellaire.

McAllister, a certified municipal clerk, has long been involved in the association. She has been city clerk in Northville since 1976 and earned her CMC designation in 1980 after completing a three-year course of study for professional clerks at Michigan State University. She has continued her studies since then and was accepted last year into the Academy for Advanced Education of the International Institute of Municipal Clerks.

Her prior employment history includes Novi Community Schools, General Motors and Manufacturers National Bank.

McAllister was first elected to the MMCA board as a trustee four years ago, the same year she earned her CMC ranking. After McAllister's first four months as a trustee, the MMCA's third vice president resigned and she was moved up to that post.

She explained that the normal process is for clerks to start as trustees and rise annually to third, second, then first vice president and finally president. "They don't always make it, I found out," McAllister said Monday night. "There have been a couple of men recently who didn't make it all the way to president." Election is by the membership.

As president, McAllister also is a member of the board of trustees of the Michigan Municipal League. She said the MMCA usually conducts its meetings at the same time and place as the MML sessions. McAllister is attending her first MML meeting as a trustee this week.

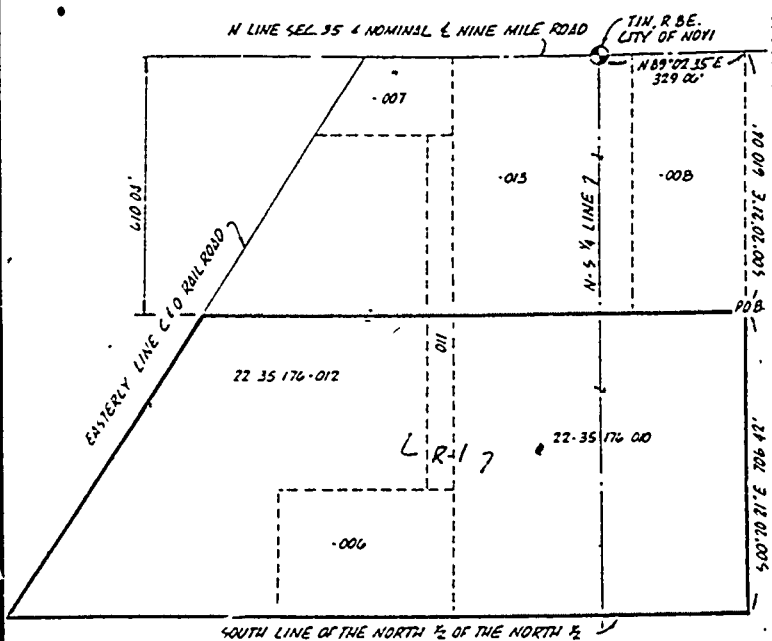

Her responsibilities as association president call for leading the MMCA and its sessions through next June, coordinating activities with other associations in this region of the international clerks group (including Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Kentucky) and seeing to the smooth operations of the Michigan association.

"There's a lot of work involved," McAllister said, sitting behind a desk piled high with papers. "Last year, as first vice president, I edited The Register — it's a newsletter to members that updates them on legislation (we sometimes get the word a little before anyone else) and what's happening in other states and at the federal level."

Congressmen ask reopening of Detroit passport office

At a meeting in Washington chaired by Congressman William S. Broomfield (R-Birmingham), the Michigan Congressional delegation today make a bipartisan plea for re-opening a U.S. Passport office in the Detroit metropolitan area. State Department officials promised the current backlog of approximately 18,000 passport applications in the Miami office which was temporarily handling the Michigan caseload, would be cleared within two weeks. State also made assurances that the excessive delays incurred by Michigan residents this spring would not recur. Despite the State Department's optimistic assurances, concerns continued that the backlog could be cleared so quickly or that the current system was sufficient to meet future requirements. Broomfield, the ranking Republican on the House Foreign Affairs Committee which oversees the State Department, told Donald Blevins, Deputy Assistant Secretary of State for Passport Services, and his superior, Ronald Spiers, Under Secretary of State for Management, that the only acceptable long-range solution was the re-opening of the Detroit passport office which was closed in 1981. Blevins said that a computer modernization program now completed at the Chicago Passport office would alleviate recent problems which caused many Michigan travelers to cancel or delay their departures.

Sisters forge way to store ownership alone

It was in July 1982 that the Hanson girls saw an ad for the Northville Party Store. It was owned at the time by a man named Hallm Sheena, better known as "Ali" to his customers. Negotiations to purchase the store got underway. The girls had their savings and were able to secure backing from the Small Business Administration. "We started negotiating in July and the deal wasn't closed until December 23, 1983. It took us that long," said Chris. "It was a great Christmas present," added Carol with a smile. "We were so happy." Because they had no previous experience in operating a party store, the sales agreement called for Ali to remain at the store for a month to teach them the business. "It was hard," said Carol. "Both of us were at the store every day from 7 a.m. to 11 p.m. We opened up in the morning, did the ordering, stocked the shelves, put the Pepsi in the coolers and closed up at night. But we learned the business; Ali taught us the business." "You have to learn the area and learn what people want," added Carol. "The drivers are a big help. Most of them have had the route for several years and they have a feel for what the demand will be." Seventeen months after buying the store, the Hanson sisters say they are totally pleased with their venture. In addition to the beer and wine, they sell coffee, donuts and sandwiches. The deli counter is popular — particularly with construction workers who stop off to get a sandwich for lunch. They have to put up with some shoplifting. And some of the kids from Cooke Junior High who stop by are "at an age where they have a smart mouth," says Carol. "But the people generally are great," she adds. "The people in Northville are nice and helpful; it's the people who make it enjoyable." It will be 5½ years before the loan is paid off and they own the store outright. They receive one or two offers to purchase the store virtually every month, but the Hanson sisters have no intentions of selling. "This is our store," said Carol. "We're earning a living, but we're not getting rich. In fact, we're making a lot less than what we did at our previous jobs."

Eltinge addresses OU engineering grads

A satisfying career in engineering will rest on elements found outside the workplace, Eaton Corporation executive Lamont Eltinge told Oakland University engineering graduates June 3.

Eltinge, director of research for Eaton, addressed graduates and parents at ceremonies that day in Verner Recital Hall.

Eltinge congratulated the students, noting that, "Your graduation demonstrates basic intelligence, interest in science and engineering and ability to work hard and well. That's a great start on your engineering-based career."

But Eltinge noted, "four elements will prove critical in the fit and satisfactory development" of the graduates'

'Every once in a while, stop briefly to enjoy the world and the satisfaction in the contributions you have made.'

— Lamont Eltinge
Eaton executive careers.

Those elements, he told them, are "continued attention to anticipate, realistically but imaginatively, the environment for your future and make choices and preparations that fit you;" and "full and steady development and adaptation of your technical knowledge and capability through continued formal education. Devote serious thought and substantial effort to both," Eltinge said.

Finally, Eltinge added, the graduates would need "good luck" and "the help of many others."

"Count yourself fortunate," he said, "for the measure of those latter two that comes your way and return the favor doubly.

"Every once in a while, stop briefly to enjoy the world and take satisfaction in the contributions you have made."

Eltinge, a Northville resident, joined Eaton in 1973, and says that his attention as director of research is focused upon identification and assimilation of new technologies that, when reflected in Eaton's operations, will help make products better and the businesses healthier and larger.

The commencement speaker received his master's degree and his doctorate in mechanical and aerospace engineering from Illinois Institute of Technology. He is a member of the industrial advisory boards of Bradley University, Oakland University, and University of Virginia.

Money Management

One half of all small businesses fail in their first five years, according to statistics from Dun and Bradstreet. So, before you start up a small business, the Michigan Association of CPAs recommends some basic financial strategies that may help keep your business from being counted among the failures.

A major reason for business failure is that people rely on hope to make their business successful, say William Dunkelberg, a professor at Purdue University and chief economist for the National Federation of Independent Businesses. The excitement of and personal involvement in business often deter people from approaching it as objectively as possible. Important first steps include surveying the market for your service or product, and projecting sales and expenses.

Start by gathering some marketing information. You'll want to be sure that the product or service you sell is needed in the area you will be locating your business. Statistics available from local government business development agencies and from the U.S. Census Bureau can tell you about the age and income levels of the population in your area, how many cars they own and other relevant facts. This will help you determine the profile of the market for your product. In addition, the local Chamber of Commerce can probably tell you how much competition you'll be facing.

Once you've laid to rest questions about the viability of your business in the location you've chosen, you should begin to confront the financial questions. According to Johnnie Albertson, of the Small Business Administration, one of the chief causes to businesses failing early is that they are underfunded. She stresses the importance of figuring out your initial and continuing expenses says, as a general rule, you should be prepared not to take any money out of the business for a full year.

When estimating the costs of starting up your business and paying operating expenses, you may want to consult your CPA. You'll need a detailed checklist of expenses to tell you how much business you must generate to turn a profit; that will help you structure your prices. Basically, selling prices are set according to your total costs for materials, direct labor and overhead which includes taxes, hospitalization and workmen's compensation.

To accurately forecast these expenses, you'll need to set up an estimated expense worksheet. Start by estimating operating costs such as rent, your salary and utility bills. Next, list your variable costs such as payments for materials and labor needed to produce your product. Finally, estimate all other operating costs for selling, insurance, administrative costs and other overhead, CPAs say.

Once you've completed this cost summary, you should have a good idea of how much you must charge for your product and how much of it you must sell in order to make a profit. You may want to draw up a projected sales summary estimating how much money your business should bring in at a given price for your product. If the prices you must charge are too high to be competitive, now is the time to face up to it. Examine your cost summary and ask yourself if you can realistically cut any of your costs.

Another good source for financial planning information comes from trade associations that represent your business. For almost every business, there is an association that can provide you with valuable financial data. For instance, you will be able to find the average profits in your industry, the ratio of expenses to profits and the average sales per square foot of selling space.

If you're still in the preliminary stages of planning a business, help may be available at your local Small Business Administration. Ask about the Small Business Development Center.

Farms offer raspberry crop through July

July is the month for picnics, parades, fireworks and raspberry picking.

This juicy fruit of the bramble bush, although a native of North America, has been cultivated by farmers since 1696.

Many varieties are grown today, but the most popular in the west Oakland County area are Red Canbys, Black Loudens and Brandywine.

Sandy Whalen, owner of Whale-Inn Farms with her husband Don, says that most of the pickers who come to their "U-pick" farm are totally devoted to a specific color of raspberry.

"Red raspberry lovers never settle for black or Brandywine and vice versa," she said.

"All three colors have their particular advantages," Sandy explained. "Reds are less seedy and ripen individually all over the bush thus increasing the length of the harvest season. Blacks ripen in a cluster and are easier to pick, and Brandywines, a 50-50 cross of red and black, ripen in clusters and have a tangy taste."

"Brandywines are less seedy and make excellent pies, jams and jelly," Sandy continued.

The Whalens tried many types of crops before they settled on strawberries, raspberries and grapes. Sandy smiled as she recalled the hog raising experiment, and the "U-pick" tomato crop. "We have raised broom corn for making hearth brooms and now we're experimenting with basket willows which are used in basketweaving," she said.

Whale-Inn Farms is the only farm where customers can pick black raspberries. Sandy explained that blacks are hard to grow. They are susceptible to disease and must be completely replanted often. Since it is three years before a new plant bears fruit, growers must anticipate loss of the old plants three years in advance.

The Whalens are just finishing their strawberry season; raspberry season will extend through July; and grape season begins in the fall.

Honda joins BBB program

Owners of Honda automobiles now have a route for mediation and arbitration of consumer complaints through the Better Business Bureau.

American Honda Company has joined the Better Business Bureau Auto Line program, according to Thomas Ashcraft, president of the BBB/Detroit and Eastern Michigan.

The Auto Line program, administered by the national BBB, handles consumer complaints about cars and light duty trucks. Current participants include General Motors, Nissan U.S.A. and Volkswagen of America (including Porsche and Audi).

Consumers who have been unable to settle an automobile problem with their Honda dealer or manufacturer can contact the BBB for mediation. If the case is not resolved at that stage, it will be submitted for arbitration.

ARE FOOD ALLERGIES KILLING YOU?

Headaches, sleepiness, insomnia, itching, hives, chronic coughs, ear aches, gas, acne, muscle aches, overweight, hair loss, no energy, dandruff, blurred vision, depression, hyperactivity, aggressive behavior, crying jags, stuttering, can't concentrate, overeating, diarrhea, constipation. These are just a few physical and psychological symptoms.

Lab technicians draw a tiny blood sample and test it with 200 foods; if your white cells crack, burst and die, that food is hurting you! Cytotoxic Testing and Nutritional Counseling can help you now!

NHS Class of '34 shares memories at 50th reunion

By JEAN MacINTOSH

At Northville High School's 1934 commencement exercises, Jack McLoughlin predicted in the 'class prophecy' that he and his classmates would "fly on a rocketship from the moon back to Northville" to attend a future class reunion.

Another classmate, Olin Fosgate, believed more practically that the class would "sit contentedly by their fires and tell their grandchildren that they spent four of the most interesting, exciting and unforgettable years of their lives at Northville."

On June 9, 17 of those classmates — many of them grandparents but none of them arriving by rocket — gathered at the Mayflower Hotel in Plymouth to reminisce about those years and celebrate their 50th reunion.

Ruth Angell of Northville and Eleanor Eaton Gust of Dearborn coordinated the event and reported that 17 of the 48-member class attended. (Sixteen members of the class have died and three could not be located.)

The Class of 1934 was the largest graduating class in Northville's history at the time. It was also unique in that the traditional format of the commencement ceremonies was changed for the class.

Dispensing with a guest speaker, the class performed a short play depicting the history and growth of the high school from its "earliest and most humble beginnings."

"We didn't have caps and gowns that year, either, because money was so tight," recalled Angell.

Instead, the boys wore "blue coats and white flannels" and the girls made their own graduation gowns. There was even a contest to see which girl could make the prettiest dress — within a budget of four dollars.

'Hat' party will mark five-year class reunion

Northville High School Class of 1979 is hosting its fifth year reunion party from 8 p.m. to 2 a.m. July 28 at the Northville Recreation Department gym.

Theme of the reunion gathering is a Hat Party and prizes will be given out for classmates with the most creative headpiece.

Though invitations have been mailed, reunion planners are reminding class

"We didn't have caps and gowns that year, either, because money was so tight."

— Ruth Angell

Class president Jane Lester Windeler, vice-president Jack McLoughlin, treasurer Marjorie Pierpont and secretary Ruth Angell were all present at the reunion.

Those traveling the farthest distance were Eleanor Grosvenor Bulloch, from California; Marjorie Pierpont, from Massachusetts; and Mary Jane Junod Raysor, from New York.

Six of the nine graduates still living in Northville attended. They are Darrell Bulmon, Mary Harper Yost, Ethel Hartner Ware, Ruth Angell, Robert Reed and Sallee Richardson Johnson.

All other members of the class, including Howard Balko, Norwood Dickinson, Eleanor Eaton Gust, Louise Faedie Bokar, Hilda Garchow Nacker, Jane Lester Wilder, Jack McLoughlin and Doris Sears Latta, are Michigan residents.

Retired superintendent Russell Amerman, who presented the class with its diplomas, attended the celebration with his wife, Ione Palmer, a former teacher, was also a guest of the class.

members about the party.

Tickets are $10 and spouses and dates are welcome. Music, food, beer, wine and mixers will be provided.

Those planning to attend should R.S.V.P. by July 15.

Benoits attend party for Titanic survivor

By JEAN DAY

Last Saturday Beverly Benoit and her family, of Whitman Court, flew to California to help celebrate the 100th birthday of her stepmother, Edwina MacKenzie. The birthday open house Saturday afternoon was being held at Clark Stadium in Hermosa Beach, California, as the honoree is a celebrity for more reasons than having lived to the century mark — she is the oldest survivor of the Titanic sinking.

She actually will become 100 on July 8, Mrs. Benoit says, but the celebration was scheduled ahead of time. She, her husband Bill, daughter Dorreen, a student at University of Michigan-Dearborn and another daughter and her husband, Charleen and Bruce Silliman of Wyoming, Michigan, were attending the birthday party. They also were visiting the Benoit's son James and his wife in Walnut, California, and seeing granddaughter Karrie, almost 5.

"My father was her third husband," Mrs. Benoit explains, relating that the couple had met when her father, James Morrell MacKenzie, retired to California and joined a senior citizens' group. They were married in 1963 and visited Northville afterward. Mr. MacKenzie died in 1968. He had been born in England, and his wife was a native of Bath, leaving from there for her trip on the Titanic when she was 27.

Edwina MacKenzie was the inspiration for a new book about the disaster of the "unsinkable" ocean liner that struck an iceberg written by Rustie Brown. Published in 1981, "The Titanic, the Psychic and the Sea" focuses on Edwina's account of the disaster. Mrs. Benoit's copy was autographed both by the author and her stepmother.

The author, a prizewinning newspaper writer, met Mrs. MacKenzie when assigned to interview her about the disaster. She was captivated by the then 96-year-old woman who, she wrote, "drives a canary yellow Pinto ... washes the car herself. She has a twinkle in her eye, a smile on her face and the stamina of a stevedore. She remembers everything that happened in 1912 as though it were yesterday."

Mrs. Benoit says her stepmother, indeed, is very outgoing and enjoys recalling the story of the Titanic. After Edwina (who was known as Winnie Troutt at the time) was seated in lifeboat No. 13, she was asked, "Miss, will you save this baby?" by a man on deck. She took the tiny, quilt-wrapped bundle and held it until the passengers were rescued by the Carpathia. After relating the incident on The Today Show, she received a call and met the man who was that baby.

"She even had a round, porthole window placed in her front door," Mrs. Benoit reveals, remembering how her stepmother mentioned that the luxury ship on its maiden voyage had cows for fresh meat and chickens for eggs on board.

She adds that Mrs. MacKenzie was named Woman of the Year in 1976 in Hermosa and also is honorary police chief of Redondo Beach.

Author Brown is intrigued with the psychic instances that seem to surround the disaster. Mrs. MacKenzie told her she had had a dream of the ocean liner long before she took her place in a second class cabin on the ship. She since has crossed the ocean some 13 times and, Mrs. Benoit says, "is not at all afraid of it."

Brown notes in the preface that "of all the books catalogued in the Library of Congress, the three most popular subjects, about which more words have been written than any others are: Christ, the Civil War and the Titanic." In her readable book she mentions the enormity of the loss: some 1500 lives and many of the world's millionaires. The fascination has been a lifelong one for Edwina MacKenzie, her stepdaughter agrees, adding that it really has been the highlight of her life.

Also tripping: Residents at Niagara on the Lake

Marge and Dean Lenheiser are among those who long ago discovered Niagara on the Lake in Ontario and its Shaw Festival. This year a group of 10 visited the Niagara peninsula town and saw the lighthearted production of "Roberta." In the group also were Rose Kelly, Mary Lou Armstrong, Betty Brennan and Jean West. They stayed at the restored Prince of Wales Hotel, says an enthusiastic Mrs. Lenheiser.

Keep Michigan Beautiful cites Norma Vernon, city

Keep Michigan Beautiful organization in its newsletter out last month chronicles the beautification efforts of Norma Vernon, who received a 1983 KMB Distinguished Service plaque. It notes that she has been a faithful member of the Northville Beautification Commission since 1972 and has served in all offices — chief coordinator with the Department of Public Works, two garden clubs, Girl Scouts and the commission in planting 10,000 tulip bulbs in the downtown area in 1982.

It states that she coordinated the judging and giving of awards to businesses and industry each spring and that in 1983 she again organized the plantings of hundreds of perennials and annuals in downtown Northville as well as working many hours herself weeding, feeding and caring for the plantings.

The city also in 1983 received a plaque for Mainstreet '78. Keep Michigan Beautiful now is seeking nominations for its 1984 awards to be presented in October.

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT TURNBULL

In Manitowoc

Turnbull-Coombs vows read

Margaret Mary Coombs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard A. Coombs of Manitowoc, Wisconsin, became the bride of Robert Bruce Turnbull, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Turnbull of Northville, June 16 at St. James Episcopal Church in Manitowoc.

Father David Kluttermann officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride wore a three-quarter length gown with a cinched waist, scoop neckline and double puffed sleeves. Her tulle of orange blossoms held a fingertip veil. She carried a nosegay of white and yellow roses, carnations, baby's-breath and stephanotis tied with white streamers.

Maid of honor was Ann Coombs of Manitowoc. She wore a three-quarter length dotted Swiss gown with rose bud inserts. It was tied at the waist with a satin sash. She carried a nosegay similar to the bride's.

The bridegroom's brother John Michael Turnbull of Ohio was best man. Leonard Coombs of Ann Arbor was usher.

A reception at Weber's Country Inn in Kellnersville followed the ceremony.

The bride is a 1971 graduate of Lincoln High School in Manitowoc. She earned a bachelor of arts degree in anthropology in 1975 from University of Wisconsin-Madison and earned a master's degree in library and information science in 1981 from University of Texas at Austin. She has membership in the American Library Association and the American Association of School Libraries. She currently is a faculty member at Concord College in Athens, West Virginia.

The bridegroom is a 1963 Northville High School graduate and received a bachelor's and master's degree in history from Michigan State University in 1967 and 1968, respectively. He earned a master's degree in library science in 1970 from University of Michigan. He was a member of Delta Chi fraternity and currently is director of the Concord College Library at Athens.

Both the bride and bridegroom will further their library studies at the University of Wisconsin this summer and will spend a few days at the Turnbull cottage near Pentwater on Lake Michigan before returning to Athens for the fall session. A delayed honeymoon trip to Florida is planned during the Christmas school break.

Cynthia Gardner to wed in September nuptials

R. Gardner of Carmel, Indiana, and Mrs. Dennis (Judy) Bryce of West Bloomfield announce the engagement of their daughter, Cynthia Kay Gardner, to Jody Allan Miller.

The bride-elect is a resident of Wixom and is an office manager at Unimation Incorporated, of Farmington Hills. She graduated from Novi High School in 1981.

The bridegroom-elect, also a Wixom resident, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor A. Miller of South Lyon. He is an applications engineer at Unimation Incorporated and was a 1979 graduate of Northville High School.

The couple plans a September wedding.

Girl Scouts kick-off annual Friends' campaign

Huron Valley Girl Scout Council's 1984 Annual Friends' campaign has been kicked off by Michian State Senator Lana Pollack who states, "Donating to Girl Scouting is one of the best investments around. By doing so you help girls to become independent women."

Senator Pollack is serving as the honorary chairperson for the Huron Valley annual giving campaign known as Friends.

Karen Dink is one of six area Friends chairpersons who will be seeking financial support for Girl Scouting. She is covering the Plymouth, Northville and Canton areas and is with the Michigan Automobile Association.

The Friends campaign is conducted by the council to enroll community members, parents of Girl Scouts and adult Girl Scouts as sustaining members who wish to further the work of the council by contributing money annually, in addition to their regular contribution through United Way.

The Friends campaign is conducted as a way to narrow the gap between growing community needs for Girl Scouting and the council's traditional financial support.

Friends chairperson Colleen Dolan-Greene is personnel administrator for schools, colleges, institutes and libraries at the University Michigan. A member of the Huron Valley Council Board of Directors, she is responsible for planning and recruitment of area Friends chairpersons and the implementation of this year's Friends campaign.

"Because it costs the Huron Valley Council nearly $50 per year for every girl member served, we can all appreciate the importance of Friends membership as a major source of income to finance quality programs, training and on-going maintenance of our camp properties," explains Ms. Dolan-Greene.

"By responding positively to an appeal for Friends membership enrollment, you will know that through Huron Valley's efforts quality Girl Scout programs will continue to be offered in all our communities. You will also know that you too are helping Girl Scouts prepare for tomorrow by making a contribution to Girl Scouting today," she adds.

Donations to become Friends members should be sent to Huron Valley Girl Scout Council, P.O. Box 539, Ypsilanti, 48197.

TAX TIPS

LEE E. HOLLAND, C.P.A.

SHOULD YOU INCORPORATE?

Maybe you're operating a business now as a sole proprietor or in partnership and are wondering if you should make the move to incorporation. Business growth may be the reason. Or perhaps your expansion has been held back because of cash shortages. A personal tax bracket in an upward climb may also make the lower corporate tax rates more attractive, or maybe it's the fringe benefits. Whatever the reasons, you should take a long, hard look at the latest tax rulings before you make a decision. Some of the advantages that favored corporations have now shifted to sole proprietorships and partnerships. For one thing, the maximum tax rate has been reduced to 50 percent. You can also make higher contributions to Keogh plans and individual retirement accounts.

There are still advantages to incorporating, including an increase in the accumulated earnings allowance from $150,000 to $250,000. It all depends on your individual circumstances and tax rates. Why not call us for an appointment to discuss it?

Panowicz places tenth in the 400 at Junior Nationals

By B.J. MARTIN

It's been quite a year for Cindy Panowicz.

The Northville High School track and cross-country standout didn't quit when school was over, either. If anything, her athletic activity increased.

She returned home last week after competing at the U.S. Junior National Track and Field Championships in Los Angeles June 22-23 — probably the most prestigious track and field meet for young Americans across the country.

Panowicz established a personal best of 62.2 in the 400 meters in the meet's semifinals June 23. That didn't qualify her for finals the next day. She needed to finish in the first four of her heat, a smoker won by national record-holder Leslie Maxie in 55.20. Panowicz finished fifth in her heat.

"Winning the race wasn't that important," observed Coach Ann Turnbull, who accompanied Panowicz on the West Coast trip. "She got to see some of the very best competition."

Best of all, Turnbull noted, Panowicz got a good going-over by college coaches across the U.S.A. While the 16-year-old excelled at state and midwest-based meets earlier this year, it was clear her performance in Los Angeles put her on the map of college track prospects from coast-to-coast.

"It was good to be at that meet," Panowicz added. "I know a lot of the coaches on the West Coast were at the trials. I met a lot of people and made some friends."

Turnbull and Panowicz stayed at the dorms of University of Southern California, within walking distance of the Los Angeles Coliseum where the meet was held.

Panowicz tuned up for the Junior Nationals by easily sweeping first-place honors in the 300 meter hurdles at the Carmel Classic in Carmel, Indiana, June 16 — a prestigious midwest-based invitational.

"I was really happy about that meet," Panowicz said. "Last year, I took second there, and this year I beat Caroline Ferguson, who beat me last time."

For her efforts, Panowicz took home a trophy more than two feet tall. "She'd had her eye on that one since last year," Turnbull laughed.

This weekend, Panowicz travels to Cincinnati to represent the Flint-based Michigan Track Club at the Junior Olympic Regionals. She qualified for the meet in the 400-meter and 100-meter hurdles.

"By belonging to the club, I can get my entry fees for some of these meets paid, and I get information (on meet details)," she said.

Should Panowicz finish in the top three in Cincinnati, she will travel to Baton Rouge, Louisiana, for the national championships July 20-22.

"If I qualify (for the nationals), I'm hoping to go to a heptathlon camp being run by college coaches there the week after the meet," Panowicz added.

The heptathlon is a series of events that may turn out to be Panowicz's forte in the long run. Panowicz has already showcased good high jumping, hurdling, distance and sprint ability. Although her long jump distances are down from the jaw-dropping personal bests she recorded in 1983, some attribute that to the exhaustive demands of her other events and to her occasional injuries.

"I haven't been pushing the heptathlon much this year — I've had some hip problems and the other events have kept me pretty busy — but it will help me in my training for it a lot."

Novi is Northville Mack's first victim, 9-4

SAFE AT HOME — Howell's Joe Feery beats the throw to Northville pitcher Doug Doyle after a wild pitch in Northville's 3-2 loss to Howell Saturday. Record photo by Rick Smith.

In Connie Mack baseball action last week, Northville snapped its five-game losing streak and Novi's four-game winning streak with a solid 9-4 victory Tuesday. But Howell edged Northville 3-2 Saturday to drop Northville to 1-6 for the season.

Mike Harper of Hartland went all the way against Novi to pick up his first win in his first start — but it was Northville's offense that made the difference.

Tab Brown of Milford went 3-for-4 including a three-run homer that broke open a two-run ballgame in the fifth. Steve Frellick added a solo four-bagger in the sixth, his second of the season, to ice the cake.

Bob Wisinski picked up three hits and Doug Doyle two with two RBIs in the contest. Bob Huotari homered for Novi, now 5-7.

Recovering somewhat from a back injury, Doyle had his best outing of the season against Howell. The Northville left-hander scattered three hits and struck out eight in seven innings of work. But Doyle was victimized by three unearned runs to take the loss.

Northville jumped ahead 1-0 in the third inning when Frellick singled, stole second and raced home on Brent Conn's RBI single. Howell tied it in the fourth on an error and a pair of wild pitches. Another error led to a Howell run in the fifth.

Howell added one more run in the sixth, on a two-out error. Doyle walked the next hitter, then yielded a run-scoring single up the middle that proved to be the difference.

Doyle scored a run in the bottom of the inning when he reached base on an error and came home on Tab Brown's single.

Although a second game had been expected, Howell elected not to play it.

Northville will host Novi at noon Saturday at Northville High School.

Frellick to start in all-star game

Northville's Steve Frellick will be the starting centerfielder in an Adray League All-Star game to be played Monday at Tiger Stadium in Detroit.

Frellick, an All-Area and All-Division outfielder for the Northville Mustangs last spring, will represent the Livonia All-Stars against the Lansing All-Stars.

Game time is 10 a.m. and admission to Tiger Stadium is free.

O'Sheehan's champions of Novi Class B tourney

O'Sheehan's of Northville and Action of Novi battled down to the final game before O'Sheehan's hammered out a 10-8 victory to win the 1984 Novi Class B and Under Softball Tournament June 16-17.

Eighteen teams from the Metro Detroit area competed in the tourney.

O'Sheehan's registered four straight victories to reach the finals of the double-elimination tourney while Action had to battle its way into the finals through the loser's bracket after suffering a 17-11 loss to Sottile Auto Parts.

After falling to Sottile, Action defeated Hawk Tool and Cellar's/Primo, and then edged Sottile 11-8 in a re-match to move into the finals against O'Sheehan's.

The Novi squad then evened the score at one loss apiece by rallying for a dramatic 8-5 victory over the Northville club. Trailing 5-4 after six innings, Action came up with four runs in the seventh to secure the victory.

O'Sheehan's regained its winning touch in the decisive showdown battle, however, pounding out a 10-8 victory to win the game and the championship.

Sparked by Dave Detters' three-run homer in the third, O'Sheehan's built a 10-5 lead through six innings and then survived a three-run Action rally in the seventh to secure the win.

Action's Mike Riley won the home run trophy for belting eight round-trippers during the tourney. Dave Plotowicz, also of Action, won the MVP Award for collecting 16 hits in 26 trips to the plate with five home runs and 20 RBIs.

Gold splits four games

It was a rollercoaster week for the Northville Gold Mickey Mantle team. Still one game under .500 at 3-4 (one game suspended), the Gold squad sandwiched a pair of losses to Westland-Wayne Ford and Crestwood I with wins over Crestwood II and Taylor.

Highlight of the week was Bob Martin's pitching performance in Gold's masterful 8-0 defeat of Taylor at Wyandotte Roosevelt High Saturday.

Martin, who will be a sophomore at Redford Catholic Central this fall, allowed just three hits and two walks, and fanned 14 of the Taylor hitters he faced. He also singled twice. Jeff Tanderys doubled twice in two trips and drove in three runs while John Lobbia was 3-for-4 with a double and two runs.

Gold's last win came in a June 21 3-1 defeat of Crestwood II. Eric Gala went all seven innings for Northville, allowing just three hits, striking out seven and walking six.

After Crestwood jumped ahead with an unearned run in the first inning, Blue rallied for two runs in the fourth on Jeff Tanderys' two-run homer. Tanderys added an insurance run in the seventh when he walked, stole second, advanced to third on a grounder and scored on a passed ball.

Tanderys was 2-for-2 for the day. Only one other Gold player had a hit—that was Lobbia with a first-inning single.

Wayne Ford slammed the door on Gold 13-3 two days later, with Jeff Tanderys taking the loss. Northville managed to bang out eight hits but only Eric Kapelanski's double and Jeff Harp's triple went for extra bases—and Gold left seven runners on base.

Last Thursday, Westland-Wayne Ford topped Northville 10-3. Kyle Boring had a two-run single for Gold.

Gold will play at Canton at 6:30 tonight, then return home Saturday to play South Farmington at 4 p.m.

Blue drops close ones

Northville's Blue Mickey Mantle League squad lost two one-run ballgames last week, falling to Melvindale Tuesday 4-3 and to Allen Park Thursday 10-9. A win by forfeit over the Detroit Eagles leaves Blue 9-4 for the season.

In the loss to Melvindale, Northville could only muster two hits—a single by Chris Dominique and a two-run double by George Daraban.

At Allen Park, the hitting came back, but the pitching eventually faltered, as the Parkers mounted a late-inning rally to take the victory.

Mark Olsen paced the Northville offense with two hits and an RBI. Keith Dutkiewicz drove in two runs with a second-inning single. Also picking up RBI hits were Rob Cannon, Daraban and Mark Deal.

Chris Dominique limited Allen Park to two hits in 5½ innings of work, but tired in the seventh. "He threw 107 pitches over that period," noted Blue Coach Bob Peterson.

Allen Park rallied for four runs in the bottom of the seventh to hand the Northville team its second straight loss.

Blue will get back to work at Garden City tonight, then embark on a road trip to Newark, Ohio, for the Mid-Ohio Coca-Cola Tournament.

The three-day (Friday, Saturday and Sunday) tournament will feature teams from Baltimore, Maryland; Erlanger, Kentucky; Cleveland and Newark.

Featuring three girls from Northville, Western Suburban Soccer League Under-12 champion United won the state BESL Soccer Championship Saturday, June 23. United defeated the Troy Blue Streaks 5-3 in the U-12 title game at Troy's Boulan Park.

The victory qualified United to play in the Midwest Regional Soccer championships to be held at Schoolcraft Community College July 20.

Playing key roles in United's 7-2-2 season and tournament contests were midfielder Marcie Dart, winger Dana Lehmkuhl and goalkeeper Kristy Turner, all from Northville. Girls from Farmington and Plymouth made up the remainder of the team.

Reds' ace hurler Shurin wins 1-0 extra-inning battle with Pirates' Cappy and McCreadie

E LEAGUE: Despite South Lyon II's eight-run rally in the sixth, the Reds (2-2) squeezed past the out-of-towners 11-10 June 22. Mike Crawford led the Reds' charge by going 4-for-4 and driving in two runs. Eric Gala doubled and singled to score two runs. Winning pitcher Eric Morfe worked 5½ innings, allowing five hits and three earned runs while striking out eight. Keith Dutkiewicz picked up the save ... Gala saved his biggest heroics for June 25. Pitching all but the final out of an eight-inning game, he allowed just four hits and struck out 14 batters in a 4-2 win over South Lyon I. Gala also delivered the game-winning hit—a two-out bases-loaded single that scored two runs.

F LEAGUE: It's a shame either team had to lose in the Reds' 1-0 eight-inning victory over the Pirates Thursday. In the end, however, the Reds' Eric Shurin got the win with a one-hitter—Dave McCreadie's two-out single in the eighth broke up Shurin's hitless game. Shurin struck out eight to lift his season record to 5-1. Jeff Cappy and Dave McCreadie were outstanding on the mound for the Pirates, between them scattering four hits and fanning nine batters. Lou Yeager scored the game's only run. The coming home on Chris Carraletti's sacrifice grounder after doubling to lead off the top of the eighth ... The Padres busted open a close game with the Giants by scoring 12 times in the sixth inning for a 21-11 mercy victory June 25. Todd Daniel led the Reds' charge by going 4-for-4 and driving in three runs. Brad Ebel homered and tripled and Curt Cleveland had four hits to pace the winners. Tom Skynar, Scott Gettign and Mike Hale homered for the Giants ... The Padres won again on Wednesday, taking the Mets 11-8 with a three-run rally in the seventh. Dave McKee picked up his second win of the week, while teammate Scott Holcomb led the Padres offense with a double and a single. Doug Meadows doubled twice and singled in three trips for the Mets ... "Pitching was the name of the game," said Cubs coach David Jerome of his team's 9-2 win over the Mets Wednesday. While Dave Best and John Schreiner were scattering just three Met hits, Dave Huff connected for two hits and scored three runs. Matt Smith and Dave Best also had two hits for the winners ... The Giants tripped up the Braves 10-4 Wednesday. Tom Wheel socked a three-run homer for the Braves, while Mike Hale socked three doubles and drove in two runs for the winners. Teammates Tom Skynar and Matt Oliver also had three hits and Don Conway picked up his first pitching win ... The Pirates defeated the Giants 12-4 Friday on the one-hit pitching of Dave McCreadie and a balanced hitting attack led by Gordie Gray (2-for-3, two RBI). Mark Boldt went 2-for-3 for the Giants ... After falling to the Mets 11-5 June 25, the Astros rallied for wins last week against the Expos 12-5 and against the Reds 5-4. Eddy Ruiz won his fourth and fifth game, getting relief help in each game from Dave Kozler. Kozler went 3-for-3 against and Michael Liddell 2-for-3 against the Expos. Against the Reds, Kozler homered and Michael Liddell went 2-for-2.

Standings — Pirates: Reds, 9-4; Astros, 8-5; Mets, 7-6; Braves, 6-7; Padres, 5-6; Giants, 4-9; Expos, 3-10.

G LEAGUE: The Rangers stayed 1½ games in front with wins last week over the Cardinals and Padres. The Rangers dealt the Cards a 9-0 loss June 26. Heath Meyers and Steve Bastian did the most damage for the winners—each hit a home run and pitched three innings with Meyers taking the victory. Bastian went 3-for-3 with four RBI to pace the Ranger attack, with Jed McDaniel and John McNeil each driving in a pair. John Mack went 3-for-3 for the Cardinals, including two triples ... The Rangers topped the Padres 10-0, with Bastian (the winning pitcher) and Meyers again splitting mound chores for a one-hitter. Charlie Darnavolates homered and tripled to drive in four runs for the winners. Brad Cannon's was the only Padres hit ... Rob Liddell clouted a

SOFTBALL:

McNeil, Pump duel in Primary contest

PRIMARY: The Falcons' Kara McNeil and Karen Pump of the Sunbirds had a whale of a pitching duel June 25, and it was the Falcons who prevailed 4-2. While Pump was striking out three and scattering six hits, McNeil struck out six, walked just one and also allowed just six hits—and was 3-for-3 at the plate with a double, triple and home run. Rozann Sakala had two RBI for the winners ... In other action last week, the 8-1 Sunbirds also split a doubleheader against the Gems and defeated the Liberties 22-6 on Wednesday. In the latter game, Pump collected six RBI and had four hits. Tricia Lukomski, Katie Wright and Mandy Berlinaki also had four hits for the 'Birds, and teammate Carol Braund had a home run and four RBI. Matt Macinnis, Tracy Sandu and Diane Robinson each had two hits for the Liberties. In the Friday doubleheader, Kristin Meehan went 3-for-3 and Barb Woodruff hit a three-run homer to lead the Gems to a 6-3 win in the opener. Meehan picked up a well-pitched win. Karen Cavanagh went 3-for-4 for the Sunbirds. In the second game, Pump again pitched a dandy, allowing just one run in a five-inning 11-1 win, and she doubled twice and drove in six runs. Cavanagh, Pump, Wright, Krista Hurst and Kim Kurzawa each had three hits for the winners. Teri Juhasz had two hits and drove in the Gems' only run ... The 6-3 Travelers defeated the Liberties 7-3 Friday behind Courtney Castelli's three hits and a home run by Nicole Cross. Marie Macinnis went 3-for-3 for the Libs ... The Travelers were coming off an 11-6 win Wednesday over the Falcons. In that game, Catherine Donkers homered for the Liberties while Becky Albanese and Kara Kelly each had two hits. Lori George had three hits and Beth Morelli ad Laura Martin two each for the Falcons. Winning pitcher was Karen Treppone, who also hit a triple. Teammate Kelly Castlerline's defense has been outstanding, as has the glovework of the Liberties' Haydee Ruiz, Marie Macinnis and Beth Gettig and the Falcons' Laura Martin and Jenny Smith.

The Annual Meeting of the Northville Junior League Baseball Board will take place at 7 p.m. Sunday at the Northville Community Center. Four new board members will be elected at the meeting.

Schoolcraft College to host Wolverine Soccer Tournament

By B.J. MARTIN

This weekend will be the biggest weekend of the year for youth soccer fans in the Metropolitan Detroit area as the City of Livonia and Schoolcraft College host the fifth annual Invitational Wolverine Soccer Tournament.

More than 3,500 boys and girls, ages 10-19, will be playing more than 350 games of soccer on 21 fields located at the college and at Livonia Bicentennial and Livonia Jaycee Park. Fields will be occupied all day with 500 hours of continuous soccer featuring the top youth teams from Michigan, Maryland, New York, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Ohio and Ontario, Canada.

The teams will play off to determine champions in boys and girls age brackets, including Under-12, Under-14, Under-16 and Under-19.

Players and teams will include several high school All-Americans and many state championship teams in different age groups.

Among the local BESL girls' teams scheduled to appear at the tournament are: United and Blue Streaks (Under 12), Stingers (Under 14), Strikers and Spartans (Under 16), Flip Rowdies and Sting (Under 19).

Local boys teams include: BESL Sting (Under 12); BESL Kickers, Titans and Rowdies (Under 14); BESL Scor, Rowdies and Juventus, and WSSL Villa (Under 16); BESL Arsenal and Cosmos (Under 19).

Tournament action runs from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, and 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday (all final matches will be played Monday). Spectators will be charged $1 per day for parking, but admission to the games will be free.

Concession stands and soccer paraphernalia sales merchandise and displays will be located on campus grounds near the playing fields.

It was recently announced Schoolcraft College will host the Midwest Regional Soccer Championships July 21-23. The tourney is co-sponsored by Coca-Cola, the Michigan State Youth Soccer Association and the college. Competition for boys and girls in Under-12, Under-14 and Under-16 age groups will include teams from 12 midwestern states.

Survivors rally falls just short

The Survivors softball team has had some trouble living up to the team name. However, the Northville squad nearly pulled off a stunner Saturday.

After being merced in the first game of a doubleheader — the team's third straight loss by a mercy rule — a seven-run rally in the seventh inning fell just short of the Garden City Dukes in a 10-9 loss in the nightcap.

The Survivors were trailing 9-2 going into the final frame. But the team battled around in the top of the seventh, getting key hits by Julie Kaestner, Debbie Isabell, Lynn Dudley and Lori Archibald. When the dust cleared, the score was 9-9, and Big Mo appeared to be on the Survivors' side.

But the Dukes picked up the go-ahead run on three straight singles to hand the Survivors their sixth loss against two wins (both by forfeit).

Kaestner went 3-for-4, including a triple, to pace the Survivors' hitting attack. Lori Archibald, Tracy and Heather Martin and Jenny Calahan each had two hits.

"We're improving," said coach Dave Settles, noting the team turned in two double plays. "We showed a lot of character by playing strong in the second game."

The Survivors host Farmington at 8:15 tonight.

Novi hosts net tilt

The Novi Parks and Recreation Department will sponsor an adult singles tourney on July 20-22 and a junior singles tournament on August 3-5.

The adult singles tourney is for individuals 18 or older. Trophies will be awarded to the top two finishers in both the men's and women's divisions. Costs are $7 for Novi residents and $9 for non-residents. Registration deadline is July 18 at 6 p.m.

The junior singles tourney has separate divisions for males and females in four classifications: 12-and-under, 14-and-under, 16-and-under and 18-and-under. Age groups will be combined if less than eight participants register. The top two finishers in each division will receive trophies. Fees are $6 for Novi residents and $8 for non-residents. Registration deadline is August 1 at 6 p.m.

For more information on either tournament call Novi Parks & Recreation offices at 349-1976.

- MICHIGAN LATAs
1. Upper Peninsula LATA.
 2. Grand Rapids LATA.
 3. Saginaw LATA.
 4. Lansing LATA.
 5. Detroit LATA.

All about LATAs, long distance calling, and Michigan Bell discounts.

LATA is a telephone term that's new to all of us.

Explaining that LATA stands for Local Access Transport Area doesn't help much, but LATAs are really very simple. They're telephone service areas. There are five LATAs in which Michigan Bell provides telephone service.

LATAs and long distance calling.

If you look at the map, you will see the five Michigan LATAs, including the LATA you are in. Now here's how LATAs work: When you place a long distance call from one LATA to another telephone number within the same LATA, Michigan Bell can carry the call for you over its own network. When you place a call from one LATA to another LATA, either in Michigan or another state, it will be handled by the long distance company that provides that service to you (not Michigan Bell).

For example, if you call from Detroit to Flint (two cities within the same LATA), Michigan Bell will still be able to handle the call as in the past. But if you call from Detroit to Traverse City (from a city in one LATA to a city in a different LATA), a long distance company other than Michigan Bell will carry the call. As you may know, there are now a number of different companies you may choose from to provide your long distance service.

Your long distance bill(s).

When you receive your Michigan Bell telephone bill, you'll find a page that lists your long distance calls handled by Michigan Bell. You may also find another page that lists long distance calls handled by other companies. This is because Michigan Bell may provide billing services for other long distance companies. Or you may receive a separate long distance bill directly from the company you've selected to handle your long distance calls.

Long distance discount periods.

Michigan Bell continues to offer discounts on direct-dialed long distance calls within each of the five LATAs. We suggest you save the chart below as a reminder of the times when you save 30% to 50% off the Day Full Rate.

NOTE: When you begin a call during one rate period, your call will be charged at that rate; however, should that call pass into a different rate period, your charges will change to the rate of the new period. For example, a weekday call that begins 10 minutes before 5 p.m. and ends 10 minutes after 5 p.m. will be billed at the full rate for the first 10 minutes and will be billed at the 30% discount rate for the last 10 minutes.

*During the Evening Discount Period, you pay 30% less than the Day Full Rate Charge for direct-dialed calls within each of the Michigan LATAs.

During the Night and Weekend Discount Periods, you pay 50% less than the Day Full Rate Charge for direct-dialed calls within each of the Michigan LATAs.

CLIP AND SAVE

More long distance discounts.

If you make a lot of direct-dialed long distance calls within 30 miles of your calling center and within your LATA, you may be interested in Circle Calling Service. By subscribing to this service, you get additional discount calling periods during which you can save 30% over the long distance rates in effect at the time of your call. The discount applies even when regular long distance discounts are in effect. No installer visit is necessary for Circle Calling.

We suggest you take a close look at the various Michigan Bell services available to you. At Michigan Bell, we're always ready to help in the selection of the service that's right for you.

Facts down the line. We suggest that you watch for further informational messages in your newspapers and in your monthly telephone bills. Because your telephone business office is busily engaged in normal day-to-day telephone service matters, we are providing this toll-free number as a source for answers to the questions you may have about your changing telephone company. 1 800 555-5000

Steps are taken to smooth flow of traffic to fest

Changes for the 1984 Mayflower Hot Air Balloon Festival will include steps to relieve traffic congestion to and from the Plymouth Township Park.

Those steps will include making Ann Arbor Trail a one-way route to the festival site, and offering festival goers the option of riding a shuttle bus to and from the site.

During festival hours, Ann Arbor Trail will be one-way westbound from Sheldon Road to Ann Arbor Road. McClumpha between Ann Arbor Trail and Ann Arbor Road will be blocked, except for local traffic, with parking banned on this section. Likewise Glenview and Powell from Beck to Ann Arbor Trail will be open to local traffic only.

To leave the site, motorists can take Beck north to M-14 or N. Territorial Road or south to Ann Arbor Road.

To ease the traffic problem Plymouth Township will be offering free bus transportation to the launch site from the Ford Motor Company parking lot located on Sheldon Road at the M-14 exit.

The buses will leave the lot every eight minutes and returning on the same schedule. The buses will be starting at the following times on the following dates: Friday, July 6, from 5-9 p.m.; Saturday, July 7, from 4 to 9:30 p.m.; and Sunday, July 8, from 4 to 9:30 p.m.

The buses will leave the Ford-Sheldon Plant lot and take M-14 to Beck, south on Beck to Powell and to the park. Buses will return to the Ford lot by the same route.

From past experience, there has been no traffic congestion for the sunrise flights.

Kite flying contest to be Saturday

The third annual kite flying contest, held in conjunction with the balloon festival, will be held Saturday afternoon at Plymouth Township Park.

The Plymouth Travel Kite Fly will begin at 2 p.m. Saturday, July 7, in Plymouth Township Park at the launch site. In case of rain, the activity will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday.

Prizes will be awarded for: 1. Highest kite flown; 2. Most beautiful kite; 3. Largest kite; 4. Smallest kite; 5. Oldest kite flyer; and, 6. Youngest kite flyer.

Registration will begin at 1:30 p.m. in the park, or pre-register for your category at Plymouth Travel Consultants, at 479 S. Main on street level of the Mayflower Meeting House.

Hot Air Balloon fest opens after July 4

The fourth annual Mayflower Hot Air Balloon Festival will be held July 6, 7, 8 at the Plymouth Township Park, Ann Arbor Trail at McClumpha west of Sheldon Road.

More than 60 colorful hot air balloons will be at the park starting 6 p.m. Friday, July 6, and again at 6 a.m. and 6 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday.

The festival has grown in stature from an event which once was held on the soccer field behind Central Middle School in downtown Plymouth to one which now is held at the 70-acre park in the township.

It is one of the United States' major hot air balloon festivals and is considered by many balloon pilots to be one of the finest in the midwest.

SEVERAL COMPETITIVE flights will be held to test the skills of the pilots.

The top balloonists will receive round-trip tickets for two on American Airlines, British Airways, and Eastern Airlines.

The event, as happened last year, is expected to attract more than 100,000 visitors to the Plymouth community. There is no admission for the festival which is sponsored by the Mayflower Hotel and Gordon Boring of the Wicker Basket Balloon Center.

Other activities for the weekend include the Mayflower's annual Balloon Ball to begin 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday on the deck of the Mayflower II. Cocktails and dancing to a live band will be featured for an admission of $5. Tickets will be available at the front desk of the hotel at Ann Arbor Trail and Main Street or at the door.

Another major event of the balloon fest will be Art in the Park which will be held from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday in Kellogg Park.

Plymouth Travel will sponsor its second Kite Flying Contest in conjunction with the festival. The contest will begin at 2 p.m. Saturday at Plymouth Township Park (2 p.m. Sunday in case of rain).

As a preview to the festivities, a '50s and '60s Party featuring Benny & The Jets will be held beginning 8 p.m. Wednesday, July 4, at the Mayflower Meeting House. Dancing and cocktails will be featured for an admission of $3 at the door.

A Sunrise Inflation Sale will be held from 5-10 a.m. Saturday in shops throughout Plymouth. A Sunday Balloon Brunch will be served from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Meeting House (for reservations call 453-1620).

THE MAJOR events for the balloonists include:

- American Airlines Race at 6 p.m. Friday.
- Hare & Hound Race at 6 a.m. Saturday.
- Eastern Airlines Race at 6 p.m. Saturday.
- C.N.T. Race at 6 a.m. Sunday.
- British Airways "Pick-em up Key Contest" at 6 p.m. Sunday.

Pilot: Jim Cardinal

Balloon: Flying Cardinal

"My most interesting balloon flight," recalls Jim Cardinal, "was in September 1982 when I was flying the Grand Rapids Balloon Race for the dedication of the museum for Jerry Ford. I carefully directed my craft over the city, over the Grand River, and over the center of the museum fountain and dropped my numbered marshmallow in the center of the blue park. Being the only pilot to complete the task, I was very proud of my flying and was issued first prize of $500 for winning the race. The FAA also issued me a prize in the form of a citation for flying too low over the city and lifted my license for 60 days. I was never very proud of breaking the FAA's rule, but it was my most interesting flight."

Flight of hot air balloons based on physics principles

The flight of hot air balloons is based on the well-known principle of physics that hot air rises and cool air settles.

To get a hot air balloon to ascend (pilot lingo for rise), the air temperature inside the envelope should be about 125 degrees warmer than the outside air.

By heating the inside of the balloon with a flame generated from propane gas, the balloon rises. To get it to rise higher, the flame is "stroked" again. By leaving the burner off, the air inside the balloon cools and the vehicle begins to descend.

TO LAUNCH a hot air balloon the envelope is laid flat on the ground.

Gas-powered fans are used to blow air into the envelope until it is partially inflated. Then propane burners heat the air which forces the balloon to rise.

A hot air balloon has no "speed" of its own but travels as slowly or swiftly as the wind. Because wind speeds varies at different altitudes, the pilot may speed up or slow down by maneuvering the balloon higher or lower.

Because the wind determines direction of flight, the pilot must ascend or descend to the altitude which has the wind blowing in the direction he or she wants to fly.

Normally a balloon can stay up for 2-4 hours, depending on the size of the balloon, weight carried (i.e., number of passengers), outside air temperature, and the amount of fuel used.

Balloons fly best in cool weather and when the wind is less than 5 mph. The best times to fly are after dawn and before dusk when the air is cooler and the wind is low.

WHEN THE PILOT is ready to land, he or she searches for a cleared area.

Pilots will avoid landing in a planted field so crops won't be damaged. Also avoided are sites where dogs are seen running loose. An experienced pilot, if necessary, can land on water and skim across the water to shore (as if piloting a sailboat).

The pilot controls the approach to the landing site by moderating the propane burners and by opening a cooling vent at the top of the balloon. As trapped air cools, the balloon descends.

Most balloon gondolas (baskets) are about 40 by 48 inches in diameter and can hold up to four people, including the pilot, depending on the altitude and air outside temperature.

Pilots may use maps, altimeter, a compass, rate-of-climb indicator, or interior temperature thermometers, and a transponder during flight. Radio contact is maintained during flight with the pilot's crew which is in a chase vehicle and will be at hand at the landing site to help load the balloon and basket back into the vehicle.

Want chance to learn to be a balloon pilot?

A Hot Air Balloon Seminar will be held in Plymouth the end of this month.

The seminar will be conducted by Van Stifler, who is associated with the Fort Wayne Ground Schools.

The session will begin at 9:15 a.m. at the Mayflower Hotel on July 28, 29.

Individuals completing the two-day course will be eligible to take a written exam to become a licensed hot air balloon pilot by the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA).

The seminar will cover such topics as federal regulation, density, altitude, lifting force, landing, ballooning weather, equipment, vocabulary, aeronautical charts, weather reports, good operating practice, and mountain flying.

The seminar covers the information required for both private and commercial hot air balloons, and free balloon pilot licenses. The tuition of $125 (additional family members at $30 each) includes all classroom presentations, hand-out materials, and loan of an aeronautical chart, circular protractor, and test guides.

Stifler also is a designated written test examiner appointed by the FAA and will administer the written test upon course completion. Stifler guarantees that persons attending the seminar will pass the FAA written examination or tuition will be refunded.

The classes begin 9:15 a.m. Saturday and Sunday, July 28-29, with a lunch break at 11:45 a.m. Afternoon sessions run from 1-4 p.m. On Sunday the written exams will be given at 1 p.m. and will last about 90 minutes.

Reservations are necessary and may be made by calling the Wicker Basket Balloon Center at 669-4230 or by calling Stifler at 219-747-5533. Payment is due on the morning of July 28.

Pilot: Jon Barberis

"One of my noteworthy flights," says Jon Barberis, "is when my passengers were a young woman, her mother and the mother's mother. The oldest of the three was 83-years-old. The day was a little breezy (I had hoped for no winds). I had concern for my special passenger. After telling her what kind of ride and landing she could have, I left it up to her. She was quite excited through her entire flight and with the help of a well-placed bush in the middle of a large field, we had a very soft stand-up landing. It was a very memorable flight, taking three generations up in one flight and to give them an experience together that I hope they would not soon forget."

Pilot: Ron McBurney

"My most memorable balloon flight occurred in last year's Mayflower Hot Air Balloon Festival," recalls McBurney. "I came within 15 feet of the sailboat mast trying to grab the car keys from the top. Even though I missed the keys the crowd's enthusiasm was most memoorable." McBurney may well be trying to forget his first appearance at the Mayflower Hot Air Balloon Festival when he burnt a hole in the skirt of the Lime Twist upon touchdown after finishing in the hare and hound competition.

Early-bird shoppers will race for values

Merchants and shoppers of Plymouth will be setting their alarm clocks for the wee small hours of the morning Saturday, July 7, for the Sunrise Inflation Sale.

The event, run in conjunction with the Mayflower Hot Air Balloon Festival, pits early-bird shoppers against the clock in a race for values. (Early bird risers looking for the worm instead could look under the trees in Kellogg Park).

Beginning at 5 a.m. many of Plymouth's shops will featured selected merchandise at 50 percent off. In each shop, special balloon tags will pinpoint merchandise involved in the sale.

The only catch is that at 6 a.m. the discount rate drops to 40 percent, at 7 a.m. to 30 percent, at 8 a.m. to 20 percent, and at 9 a.m. to 10 percent with regular prices resuming at 10 a.m. which is the normal opening time for most shops.

Last year thousands of bargain hunters filled the streets well before the first rays of the sun hit Kellogg Park. Some shops were literally overwhelmed by the crowds.

"I only had two sales people on," recalls Bill Armbruster of Armbruster's Bootery on Main Street, "I really didn't think anyone would get up that early to go shopping. My staff called me just after 5 a.m. with check-out lines clear around the store. We'll be ready for them this year."

Pilot: Kirk Johnson

Kirk Johnson tells of his most unusual experience flying: "While soloing at sunset, I becalmed over a very dense swampy area (Proud Lake). I landed the balloon in the only open spot for about a mile. There was no vehicle access at all so I packed up the balloon alone and walked out through very dark, dense brush, leaving the balloon overnight. The next morning we canoed down the Huron River with the inflator fan to find the balloon. After 2½-hours of dragging the fan through the dense brush, we inflated the balloon and flew it out."

Pilot: Philip Glebe

"My most interesting flight took place on Feb. 13, 1984," writes Phil Glebe. "It originated in West Bend, Wis., and took me over Lake Michigan. I landed north of Lansing some five hours later. The crossing took place at 12,000 MSL in sub-zero weather. Average speed over the lake was 47 mph."

Banks keep high profile

Hot air balloons and banks seem to go together.

The punster would suggest it's because of ballooning interest rates, or because the economy is up in the air right now.

In any event, at least two banks will play an active role in the Mayflower Hot Air Balloon Festival.

The First of America balloon was in Plymouth for last year's balloon festival and has become a familiar site here as it floats over the Plymouth-Canton community.

Another familiar banking balloon which participates here each year belongs to Liberty State Bank & Trust.

In 1979 Liberty State Bank & Trust purchased its 7-1/2 story high red, white and blue Raven Hot Air Balloon, registered N1127R but better known as "Miss Liberty I." In July 1983 a sister ship, "Miss Liberty II," was purchased.

The Miss Liberty appearances have benefited the Lions Club, heart fund, retarded citizens, United Way of Michigan, March of Dimes, Easter Seals, Adults for Kids in Cancer Therapy, multiple sclerosis, muscular dystrophy, and related charitable projects.

Balloon appearances are scheduled through Liberty Bank's marketing-personnel department which is located at the bank's operations headquarters in Troy. Directing the flying team is David Sgriccia, pilot, whose crew includes pilots John (Rick) Snurka and Paul Sgriccia and team assistants Nancy Sgriccia and Terry Snurka.

Pilot: Gordon Boring
Balloon: Detroit Free Press

"One of my most memorable flights," says Gordon Boring, "occurred during a cross country gas balloon race. The race originated from Las Vegas and our destination was Atlantic City, N.J. After leaving Las Vegas at 7 a.m., we flew south of Lake Mead and past the Hoover Dam. By sunset we were approaching Phoenix at 14,000 feet. At about 10:30 p.m. the wind direction changed to southwest as we headed toward Mexico. Between 10:30 p.m. and 12:30 a.m. we travelled over 120 miles. Not wanting to enter Mexico without permission, we were forced to land in the middle of the desert at 2:30 a.m. Our landing location was in the middle of an Air Force gunnery range. We left our downed balloon at 5:30 a.m. and walked out of the desert, 40 miles, to the highway.
