MacDonald tops judge vote

By KEVIN WILSON

Township supervisor John E. MacDonald outpolled nearest opponent Robert Greenstein of Canton by almost 2-1 to top the list of six candidates vying for the 35th District judgeship in Tuesday's primary election. MacDonald and Greenstein will face off in November to determine the ultimate victor in the contest to replace Judge Dunbar Davis, who retires this year.

MacDonald was victorious in four of the five communities in the 35th District. Greenstein won his Canton Township home base 797-551 while MacDonald ran strongest in the Northville and Plymouth portions of the district. He had 962 votes in the township and 322 in the city, while Greenstein had only 163 and 46.

Northville resident Jacqueline George ran second to MacDonald in both the city (141) and township (163) but wound up third overall. Similarly, Cantonite Bruce Patterson ran well in the southern reaches of the district but finished fourth. Stephen Foley and Alan Davis gathered only meager totals district-wide, with Foley taking 403 votes and Davis 334.

In the Northville Township trustee race Donald B. Williams racked up the most votes with 884 to join Richard Allen (842), James Nowka (804), and Tom Cook (702) in winning the four Republican nominations to the board. Greg Dawson ran fifth with 615 votes. Marilyn Little was sixth with an unofficial total of 495 votes. Her vote count was in question with some tallies running as low as 405.

Regardless of the eventual outcome, she certainly received more support than did Myron Kasey, who trailed the GOP field with 193 votes. Three of the four GOP nominees are certain to gain board seats with only Democrat Michele Demers, who garnered 226 votes in the Democratic primary, opposing them in November.

Township voters overwhelmingly approved all three local ballot proposals, with the yes votes running between 70 and 85 percent of the totals in all precincts. The proposals call for purchase of park land on Baek Road, renewal of 0.5 mill property tax for the fire department and the purchase of land on Seven Mile west of Beck for eventual construction of a second fire station.

Northville voters joined their Republican cohorts district-wide in tapping incumbent Mary Dumas for the 10th District Wayne County Board of Commissioners seat. Overall, Dumas outpolled Livonia treasurer Elaine Tuttle 5938 to 3869 with Livonia businessman Hugh Patrick O'Neill tallying 2132 votes.

Locally, Dumas had a more impressive margin in the township, she garnered 941 votes compared to 226 for Tuttle and 266 for O'Neill. In the city Dumas posted 165 versus 36 for Tuttle and 28 for O'Neill. She will face Democrat Laura Toy who was unopposed in her primary, in November.

Top vote-getters in the township included GOP Congressman Carl Pursell with 1350 and State Representative Gerald Law (R-Plymouth) with 1330.

Posting large totals in unopposed races were current township clerk Susan J. Heintz, who took 1299 votes in her bid for supervisor and Treasurer Richard Henningsen with 1221 in his run for reelection. Deputy Clerk Georgina Goss who has not run for political office before nonetheless rivaled these totals with 1208 votes.

Total turnout in the township was above 23 percent, considered good for a primary election. The city's percent was not available at press time but was considerably lower. Complete returns will be available in next week's Record.

City will buy condo site from the state

Cheap land. While township residents were voting on a ballot issue allowing a $1 expenditure to acquire park land near the new prison site Tuesday, the city was quietly picking up a parcel in a somewhat more desirable neighborhood for the same price.

Council voted Monday to request title on a parcel in the Lexington Condos area which has reverted to the state for non-payment of taxes. Under a 75-year-old law, the city can obtain the property for $1.

City manager Steven Walters explained that the parcel in question was included on the Lexington Condo site plans as a building site near Eight Mile Road just west of the entrance to the complex.

"This is a building site the developer decided not to use," Walters said. "Since the developer did not want it, he simply did not pay taxes on it for three years and title reverted to the state. If we don't pick it up for public use, it will be sold at auction."

The legal description of the property calls it Building EC, apartments 98, 99, 100, 101, 102, 103. But the building was never constructed.

Under Public Act 223 of 1909, the city can request title to the property so long as it is for public use only. The city's application states the intended use as "public open space."

Terms of the land transfer reserve for the state all mineral rights and rights of access to any watercourse or stream. It also reserves for the state all right to "aboriginal antiquities, mounds, earthworks, etc."

Assuming the state DNR approves the transfer (a likely prospect according to a letter from a DNR staffer to the city), Walters said the city would likely negotiate a "25-year lease or something on that order with the Lexington Commons Association that would give them control over it — it's connected with their open space and I assume that's what they'd like to do with it."

Walters suggested the city acquire the property to prevent it being sold at auction, since a private party who purchased it from the state could develop the parcel. "This way, we insure that it's for public use," he explained.

While the township requires a vote of the people to buy or sell property, the city council is authorized by state law and city charter to act as the representative of the citizenry in such matters.

Emily and company

Last week seven-year-old Emily Lawrence sent The Record staff a carefully printed note and a picture of "my friend's and my seaturtle" made in her sandbox. Her mother enclosed an explanation that "Emily thought it would be nice for you to see what kids do in the summer." We thought our readers also would like to see Emily and her friend Chris O'Connor with their seaturtle in Emily's sandbox at her home on Beacontree. Record photo by Steve Fecht.

Main Street closing denied due to costs

By KEVIN WILSON

Citing crowd control problems at last year's event and the cost of doing so, city council Monday rejected a request that Main Street be closed for Northville Charley's "Gastronomic Gallop" August 26.

Main was closed between Center and the town clock for the first event last year. The Gallop brings together employees from area restaurants and taverns who race through an obstacle course of tables and chairs carrying a tray bearing a filled wine glass. It raised $1,000 to benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Association last year, said Northville Charley's general manager Michael Collins.

But some spectators at last year's event were drinking alcohol on city streets — a violation of city ordinances. Police reported difficulty in controlling the crowd. Together with the costs of closing Main Street, recently placed at roughly $800, the drinking problem led to council's refusal to allow the street closing this year.

"I was disturbed last year after Chief (Rodney) Cannon's report about the drinking and abusive language toward the officers trying to stop it," said mayor pro tem Dewey Gardner.

City manager Steven Walters noted that the event "carries no direct benefit to our downtown business community" since it occurs on a Sunday when most are closed and does not involve the merchants directly. "This is also the kind of event that can pretty much occur in any place, it doesn't have to be (on Main). Most of the events we close the street for could occur nowhere else."

Gardner wondered why Northville Charley's does not "just use their own parking lot?"

Council member Carolann Ayers stressed the cost involved in closing the street for "this small, specific group. I could not even consider closing the Office zone hearing set

Wil-O-Mac, Inc. of Plymouth has asked that a section of the company's property in the southeastern corner of Northville Township be rezoned to permit an office building to be built where property is now zoned for single-family residential use.

The property is located immediately north of Five Mile Road and immediately east of Haggerty. Should the rezoning be permitted, the corporation would build "a professional office park" that would meet Office Service Zoning requirements.

In its petition for the rezoning, Wil-O-Mac Vice-President Robert Osborn stated: "It is our belief that the character and nature of the use of the subject property and the uses of the neighboring area have changed from residential to more of a nonresidential character."

"Traffic has also substantially increased as caused by this increase in nonresidential development which traffic has contributed to the diminished quality and character and detracted from the ongoing residential use and enjoyment of the area."

The petition further claimed the property is "ideally suited for office service development" because of its convenient access to I-275 and its compatibility with established and surrounding uses of the area.

The firm submitted its request to Northville Township last month, and the Township Planning Commission has scheduled a public hearing on the request for 7 p.m. September 18.

The commission expects to receive an impact study on the proposed use in time for its August 28 meeting. The study should provide more details on the proposed office development.

Schoolcraft mandates studies of women, minorities

By MICHELE McELMURRY

Despite a decline in student interest toward the study of women and minorities, Schoolcraft College is taking steps to assure that the contributions of these groups receive attention in the higher education curriculum.

Conway Jeffress, vice president for instruction, told the Schoolcraft board of trustees at its July meeting that the administration has outlined several approaches to address the study of women and minorities in its classrooms.

In examining women's studies offerings throughout the state, Jeffress noted that administrators "found the existence of a full-fledged program to be just about nil at this time."

In an outline of the administration's findings, Jeffress noted that during the 1970s, virtually all of Michigan's 29 community colleges offered either a program, series of courses or at least one course which addressed the issues of women and/or minorities.

He further stated that "our most recent survey shows that no community college offers or continues to offer a full Associate Degree program in 'women's studies,' and only five of these 29 colleges offer discrete courses on the subject."

The vice president noted that the consciousness raising of the 70's gave rise to the student demand for full-blown programs in courses such as "black studies" and "women's studies."

However, he added that "while there are some courses at the community college, we're seeing that, as student awareness increases, interest diminishes."

"In the last two years we've tried about five times to get courses rolling," he added, noting that the college met with little success in either attempt.

Despite the apparent lack of student interest, Jeffress said colleges and universities still have an obligation to address such issues.

He noted, however, that such courses and programs generally attract only those persons who already are sensitive and knowledgeable about such subject material.

"I'm concerned with courses that pertain to particular interest groups," he said. "They seem to preach to the same — not the people who need it."

Jeffress told the board "there are several ways we can deal with the subject matter."

In outlining the administration's approach to incorporating such studies in the college curriculum, Jeffress noted that the establishment of a "women's studies" program was not recommended.

"We know with certainty that there are no occupational opportunities for any two-year graduate in a program which might be entitled 'Women's Studies,'" he said.

However, he noted that the administration has undertaken "careful and specific review to consider the contributions of women and minorities in all areas."

He added that in its attempt to bring the contributions of such groups into the curriculum, the administration also hopes to "offer some increased awareness and sensitivity to faculty members who are here."

Among the recommendations cited by Jeffress are the establishment of additional courses in the departments of history, political science, psychology and sociology with the approval of the Curriculum-Instruction Committee. He noted the first effort would be in the area of psychology.

Jeffress also said the administration would seek the review of curricula in existing courses which would highlight the contributions of women and minorities as well as non-social science areas in order to determine if the contributions of women and minorities have received proper attention.

In addition, he noted the college would offer a series of courses and workshops through its continuing education unit dealing with subject matter about, and of interest to, women and would seek guest speakers for both individual classes and major presentations to provide awareness information for students, staff and the community.

Barbara Gell, vice president for student services, said the administration's intent is to "take what we can from the women's studies program and integrate it into the existing program."

"It's a much more subtle method," she noted.

Jeffress told the board he believed the proposed recommendations were consistent with Schoolcraft's long-range goals for dealing with the exploration of social issues and said the administration "intends to begin curricula changes as the faculty arrives," street when it does not involve more than a few people, never mind the violations from last year."

Although Mayor Paul Vernon said he considered the cost factor so severe that "we'd be better off just to make a donation equivalent to what was raised last year," and that he thought the problems at the event last year "a discredit to our town," he softened his views after learning Collins was in the audience.

Vernon said he was particularly concerned about the drinking problem "because it puts our police between a rock and a hard place, so to speak. If they enforce the law, they wind up making wholesale arrests at an event we have authorized. If they ignore it, they are allowing flagrant violation of our drinking laws, and that's not right."

Collins said he was not aware that the problem was as severe as described by council members, but acknowledged that he was involved in coordinating activities and did not have much opportunity to observe the spectators. He suggested notice that drinking is prohibited could be added to invitations to participants.

Council member J. Burton DeRusha said he thought the event made for good

Scott Gray completes basic

Army private Scott D. Gray has completed basic training at Fort Sill, Oklahoma. He is the son of Marvin and Krystal Gray of 41866 Rayburn. Gray, a 1983 Northville High School graduate, received instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid and Army history and traditions.

Record reporter wins national award

Northville Record reporter Michele McElmurry has won a major award in the National Newspaper Association's 1984 National Better Newspaper Contest.

She received the First Place award for Best Column, serious subject, in the Record's circulation category of 5,000 to 9,999 for her Off the Record column "Remembering Life on the Farm."

This is the second year in a row that she has been a National Newspaper Association winner. Last year she received a third place award in feature writing for a three-part photo story, entitled "Time Enough for Love."

McElmurry's story also was an award winner in the 1983 Suburban Newspapers of America (SNA) competition. Photographer Steve Fecht received the SNA's first place award in photojournalism for the series.

This year's winning entry was a column McElmurry wrote about her grandmother shortly before her death.

A staff reporter since July, 1980, McElmurry is responsible for the Our Town section of The Record and covers Northville schools and the Northville Board of Education. She came to The Record after her graduation from Michigan State University in journalism.

Among the Sliger/Livingston Publications, Alice Davies, a reporter on the Milford Times, also was named a NNA winner for her environmental story on the gypsy moth.

The awards presentation will be made September 27 at the NNA's 99th annual convention and trade show in Reno, Nevada.

Community band concert highlights OLP picnic

As they have done in past years, some 22 members of the Northville Community Band took their instruments and music to the grounds of Our Lady of Providence School on Beck Road in the township the last Sunday in July to give a concert at OLP's annual picnic.

Janis Stevenson, who has been serving as director of the band, brought the group together for the special summer appearance.

"The girls are a super audience," member Fran Holinoty observed, relating the members are glad to give the concert for the picnic.

Most of the band members in the summer appearance were high school and college students, Stevenson reports, adding that there is interest in continuing summer sessions and in playing at community events if more members can be recruited. She may be contacted at 349-8870.

Playing at OLP were Betsy Buckmaster and Katie Schmidt, flutes; Saumya Bhavsar, Wally Holinoty, Roger Mills, clarinets; Deborah Stevenson, bass clarinet; Lee Ann Mac, bassoon.

Also, Abdhish Bhavsar, alto sax; Eric Noffz, tenor sax; Randy Chisnell, baritone sax; Fiona Bicknell, Bob Chapman, Lani Chisnell, Francine Holinoty, Bill Lockwood, trumpets; Bill Bailey, Ira Benstein, trombones; Eileen Bour, french horn; Joel Vogt, tuba; Brian Buckmaster, Steve Chisnell and Scott Martin, percussion.

Swim Club bash makes one big splash

Last Friday's Northville Swim Club bash provided food and fun in the sun for nearly 200 young club members and guests. "We had a lot of fun last year when we did this for the club's 20th anniversary," explained lifeguard Tom Valade, "so we decided to do it again." The club's lifeguard crew fixed up games like the Greased Watermelon Race and the Kiddie Pool Goldfish Catch, a hot dog cookout and cake, plus a pair of poolside skits, "A Day at the Club" and the "Northville Sea World Dolphin Show." At left, the put-upon star of "A Day at the Club," lifeguard Brian Postma, gets no respect from fellow crew members Valade, Fred King and John Zimmerman. Top right, Sue Bosanko, Holly Sellen and Kim Thompson ignore Postma's cries of "One at a time on the diving board." Lower right, it's feeding time the star of the "Sea World" segment, "dolphin" Paul Cooper (yes, that is a live goldfish). Below, poolside "Sea World" visitors get a welcome finside splash. Also helping with the festivities were lifeguards Dave Wayne and John Gass. Record photos by Steve Fecht.

Officials reject condo plans

By B.J. MARTIN

Township planners last week rejected site plans for Harbour Village, a condominium development of 27 four-unit apartment buildings to be located just east of Swan Harbour apartments on Seven Mile Road.

It's anticipated an amended variation of the site plans will eventually get the Township Planning Commission's approval. But the project's developers will need to clear up site plan shortcomings pointed out by Township Engineer Edward McNeely and Planning Consultant Claude Coates at the commission's meeting of last week.

According to site plans drawn up by Zeimet, Wozniak and Associates of Southfield, the development would occupy a 22-acre site extending from Seven Mile Road north to Swan Harbour Lake. There would be 54 two-bedroom apartments and 54 three-bedroom apartments. Approximately 218 residents are expected to occupy the dwellings.

The same firm submitted a plan for the same site in 1981. That plan was approved. But sluggish economic conditions for builders prevented completion of the project, developed by Harbor Hill Associates of Southfield. Since 1981, changes in the township zoning ordinance mandated several changes in the site plan requirements.

The plans submitted last month were similar to the original ones in many respects. The arrangement of the streets which would service the units is nearly identical to the originally proposed arrangement.

One significant alteration from the original plans was that, in 1981, a recreation area was included. In the new submittal, there was no such provision for a recreation area.

According to the township ordinance, a site plan like that of Harbour Village would require 33,750 square feet of recreation space to be "located and designed in such a way as to facilitate access and usability."

Site plans also failed to provide for an ordinance-mandated 4.5-to-6-foot wall which would partially screen the complex on the east and on the south boundary not adjacent to Seven Mile.

Engineer Thaddeus Wozniak told commissioners he thought a wall would be a bad idea. "It would be an unsightly addition," he said. "We would like to see more trees and plantings along that edge. Our residents and we would prefer landscape screening to a wall."

Acting chair of the Commission (in the absence of F. Richard Duwel) Bernard Baldwin told developers such a disagreement over the zoning ordinance would have to be resolved either by changing the site plans or obtaining a variance from the Township Board of Zoning Appeals.

Asked yesterday whether developers would seek a zoning ordinance variance or change and resubmit the plans, Sam Yaker, president of Liberty Construction Corporation (the project's builders) said at least the wall issue would be brought before the BZA.

"We plan to ask the zoning board to approve a berm and a greenbelt instead of the wall," Yaker said. "Walls are not a thing of beauty . . . Speaking as a homeowner, I'd much prefer screening by greenery or topography to walls."

About the recreation area, Yaker was less certain. "We've got a low density relative to what the ordinance there allows . . . I expect we might go to the zoning board on that, also."

"We've been working on this project for a long time, and we had hoped we'd have been approved and been working on it by now. But we'll go through the procedures and try to get it done in as beneficial a way as we can."

Other shortcomings noted by Coates were technical in nature, and developers told commissioners adjustments for compliance posed no problems.

Those hitches included a failure to submit building distance dimensions and building elevations.

Obituaries

CRAIG K. RATHBURN

Former longtime Northville resident Craig Kenneth Rathburn, 48, died unexpectedly July 29 in Arizona. He had been making his home in Phoenix, Arizona.

Funeral services were held at 1 p.m. last Thursday at Casterline Funeral Home in Northville with the Reverend Lloyd Brasure, minister emeritus of First Presbyterian Church of Northville, officiating.

Burial was in Rural Hill Cemetery. Formerly associated with Rathburn Chevrolet of Northville, Mr. Rathburn was born April 15, 1936, in Plymouth to Kenneth and Madelon (Shingleton) Rathburn.

He leaves his wife Jean; his mother Mrs. Madelon Rathburn of Northville; daughters Mrs. Connie Russell and Debra Rathburn; a son Robert; a sister Mrs. Susan Jane Wells; and a brother Roger Wilson Rathburn of Northville.

The family suggests that memorial tributes may be made to the charity of the donor's choice.

EVONDA "Billie" Leleendecker

Funeral service for Evonda "Billie" Leleendecker of Deshler, Ohio, mother of Robert G. Leleendecker of Northville, will be held at 1:30 p.m. Thursday at Immanuel Lutheran Church in Deshler. Pastor Earl Key will officiate.

Mrs. Leleendecker, who was 63, died Sunday at Medical College of Ohio in Toledo after a year's illness.

She was born September 21, 1920, in McClure, Ohio, to Gail and Alta (Court-wright) McClure. She was preceded in death by her husband Robert in 1964.

A member of the Immanuel Lutheran Church, Mrs. Leleendecker had been a clerk in a local grocery in Deshler for 14 years.

In addition to her son, she leaves one daughter Mrs. Paul (Judy) Rohrs of Deshler, a brother Donald McClure of McClure and seven grandchildren.

Visitation will be in process all day today at Dubbs-Rodenberger Funeral Home in Deshler and until noon Thursday when the remains will be removed to the church to lie in state. Burial will be in Woodlawn Cemetery in Deshler.

The family suggests that memorial tributes in Mrs. Leleendecker's name may be made to the Henry County Cancer Society, 132 West Washington Street, Napoleon, Ohio, 43545, or to her church.

SIMON KALOUSTIAN

Funeral service for area resident Simon Kaloustian of Farmington was to be at 11 a.m. today at St. John's Armenian Church in Southfield with the Very Reverend Parn Aveikian officiating.

Mr. Kaloustian died August 5 at Providence Hospital in Southfield after a short illness. He was 82.

He was born July 17, 1902, in Turkey to Garabed and Saset (Maderosian) Kaloustian.

He leaves his wife Gulazur (Barikian), sons and daughter George of Livonia, Mrs. Ralph (Rose) Kalajian of Livonia and Vahan of Farmington, 11 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

He also was the brother of the late Mrs. Haghouhy Baharian and Carl. He was preceded in death by a son Harry.

Mr. Kaloustian had been a resident of northwest Detroit area for 33 years. He had worked for Ford Motor Company for 22 years. He founded the Daily Cleaners in Detroit in 1950, retiring in 1958.

He was a life member of St. John's Armenian Church and was a member of Redford Lodge 152, F. & A.M.

Burial was to be in Grand Lawn Cemetery in Detroit. Funeral arrangements were by Ross B. Northrop and Son Funeral Home.

EDITH RUTH SIMONS

Funeral service for Edith Ruth Simons, aunt of Ralph G. Simons of Northville, was held at 11 a.m. Tuesday at Ross B. Northrop and Son Funeral Home in Northville. The Right Reverend Joseph L.W. Angwin of the Incarnation Orthodox Church officiated.

Miss Simons died August 3 at St. Joseph Hospital in Clinton Township of Macomb County. She was born in Detroit to Charles J. and Edith (Hamilton) Simons.

A lifetime Detroit area resident, she was graduated from Northwestern High School in 1917 and Teachers College in 1919. She was employed first with Home Savings of Wayne County. In 1933 she was employed by Detroit Bank & Trust. In 1945 she was made manager of the safe deposit and vaults, a post she held until she retired in 1976.

Township police recover stolen car on DeHoCo property

In the Township...

A 1984 Renault Encore stolen from a Redford residence was found in flames on DeHoCo property at Six Mile east of Ridge Road early Monday morning by Northville Township Police.

Township police were dispatched to the Six Mile area on a report of a grass fire at approximately 1:30 a.m. Monday.

The officer at the scene noted in his report that upon arrival, police found the vehicle totally engulfed in flames approximately 150 yards south of Six Mile.

The fire was extinguished by township firefighters.

The officer at the scene provided the township dispatcher with the license plate information in order to contact the registered owner.

The dispatcher advised the officer that the owner was unaware the vehicle was missing and upon checking his driveway found it was stolen.

The owner of the vehicle told police he had last seen the car at approximately 11:30 p.m. Sunday, August 5, and had not realized it was gone until contacted by police.

He told police the value of the vehicle was estimated at $9,000.

A sergeant at DeHoCo told township police that the property had not been checked on the midnight shift and that there are no records available as to when the area was last checked.

Police noted that the vehicle was totally charred and estimated damage at $9,000.

A set of golf clubs valued at $1,100 was stolen from a rack outside Meadowbrook Country Club sometime between 6 and 8 p.m. July 16, township police report.

The complainant told police the golf bag and clubs were left unattended on the rack outside the cart barn area of the club.

The complainant further stated that his wallet and watch also were in the bag. Value of the wrist watch was estimated at $100. The wallet, containing about $50 cash, was valued at $50.

There are no suspects or witnesses in the incident.

Fifty-five cassette tapes estimated to be worth $440 were stolen from a 1974 Ford Torino parked on Crystal Lake Drive sometime between 11:30 p.m. August 2 and 6:30 a.m. August 3, police report.

The complainant told police unknown suspects entered his vehicle and stole a brief case from the floor behind the driver's seat. The tapes were contained in the briefcase.

The complainant further stated that he thought the vehicle was locked at the time the incident occurred. However, he noted the driver's side door was ajar when he returned to the vehicle.

Police found no damage or signs of forced entry on the car.

Items valued at approximately $230 were stolen from 1982 Datsun Sentra parked at a Dunswood residence sometime between 9 p.m. July 31 and 7:30 a.m. August 1, police report.

The complainant told police unknown suspects gained entry to the vehicle by breaking the rear window on the right side of the car.

The complainant further stated that he has no suspects and heard nothing unusual during the evening.

It is unknown how the window was broken or with what, police noted in their report.

An electrical fire at a Six Mile residence the morning of July 24 caused an estimated $400 damage to the brick and aluminum home, police report.

According to police, an officer dispatched to the scene observed flames on the southeast side of the house.

Police noted that flames were coming from the electric meter and wire. The scene was turned over to the township fire department upon its arrival.

According to police, the township fire chief listed a short in the electrical system of the home as cause of the fire.

Vandals caused an estimated $225 damage to a West Six Mile Road golf course sometime between 10 p.m. July 25 and 5 a.m. July 27. The complainant told police unknown subjects broke marker poles on the course and pulled ball washers out of the ground. Police noted the ball washers were anchored in the ground by concrete.

The complainant stated that none of the employees was on the property at the time the incident occurred.

In addition to the more than $200 damage, 17 hole markers, valued at $61, were stolen.

Township police received five reports of automobile break-ins between July 24 and 30. The five complainants all reported car stereo equipment missing following each of the incidents.

The recent rash of automobile break-ins follows four similar incidents which occurred at a Seven Mile apartment complex between July 18 and 20. Police noted in their reports that one of the automobiles was damaged. However, the value of stereo equipment stolen in the incidents ranges from $150 to $410.

...From State Police

A $150 telephone recording device was reported stolen from a construction trailer on the Meijer building site at Eight Mile and Haggerty July 10, state police reported.

A supervisor on the site told police the machine was present at noon the day before and was noticed missing at noon that day. The machine was taken from a desk in the back of the trailer. The man reporting the incident said he did not believe any of the workers at the site had stolen the device and speculated that it must have been someone who came through the area when no workers were around.

Charge filed in fatal crash

Lary Lee Latzman of Wayne has been charged with negligent homicide in the July 3 death of 19-year-old Susan Marie Prim, according to state police. Examination on the charge is slated today in 46th District Court, Southfield.

Latzman was the driver of a car police charge was being driven the wrong way on a freeway entrance ramp from southbound Telegraph Road to westbound I-696 in the early morning hours July 3. His car collided head-on with one driven by Halley Mallette. The two young women from Northville were returning from downtown Detroit, where they had gone to watch the Freedom Festival fireworks the previous evening.

Prim was killed instantly in the crash, with the cause of death being listed by the coroner as a massive skull injury and severed spinal cord. An NHS honors graduate and cheerleader, she had only recently completed her first year of study at Michigan State University.

Mallette was severely injured and lay in a coma for nearly a week. At last report, police said, she was recovering from her injuries.

Blood alcohol tests done at the hospital where Latzman was treated for injuries showed he was legally intoxicated, police said. They declined to release the specific alcohol content figures on any of those involved in the accident.

A warrant on the negligent homicide charge was obtained July 25 and arraignment on the charge was July 30 at the Southfield court. Bond was set at $25,000 and Latzman was released on personal recognizance.

Our Opinions

Geake's help needed for fence

Passage of Senate Bill 642 in July by the Legislature with support of State Senator Robert Geake is good news for the Mental Health Association in Michigan. Tom M. Sovine, executive director, calls it "one of the best budget bills for public mental health services that has been passed in several years."

The bill provides for continuation of many current services plus giving funds to pilot innovative new community programs which depart from traditional models. Sovine gives credit to Senator Geake of Northville, who chairs the Senate Appropriation Subcommittee on Mental Health, for working to secure an adequate level of funding.

We hope Senator Geake's influence will continue in Lansing and that there will be funding provided for the much-needed fence at Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital on Seven Mile in the township. The living hedge barrier planted in May of 1983 certainly has not been an answer — that it has survived this hot, dry summer at all is somewhat amazing. It has in part survived, but it hasn't become the fast-growing "living fence" promised. The hedge height can be measured in inches, not feet, and certainly would not be a barrier to any confused patient wandering away from the hospital.

In March of this year it appeared the Legislature was considering seriously the erection of a fence, at least around three sides of the property. With only the area facing Seven Mile open, the surveillance by hospital guards could be much more effective.

The need for the fence long has been documented locally and in Lansing. It was sought before John S. Reynolds became director of the facility in 1979. Governor William Milliken signed a bill providing funds for the fence in 1980, but budget cuts ever since have sidetracked the project, as have some objectors in the mental health department.

We hope that Senator Geake, who has supported fencing the hospital for years, now will be able to be as effective in seeking the fence as he has been in obtaining needed funding for mental health department services and programs. The fence could be installed close to the present hedge — and with a bit of luck the hedge eventually could soften the fence image that is the objection of some.

Women deserve equal recognition

While Geraldine Ferraro and Sandra Day O'Connor most likely will be remembered in the annals of history, it is unfortunate that many of their sex have not received equal recognition for their contributions to society.

In all fields of study — from history and science to literature and the arts — students of this century have come to understand the accomplishments of Lincoln, Einstein, Hemingway and Renoir.

However, only the most astute are likely to know of Jane Addams, Maria Goepfert Mayer, Willa Cather and Mary Cassatt. Though all were achievers (Addams and Mayer were Nobel Prize winners), their contributions to society have in most cases hardly earned them more than a mention in current classrooms.

At best, such an oversight can only be regarded as pure negligence. While Title IX legislation and the consciousness raising of the last decade have made society more aware of women's accomplishments, educators still have a long way to go in acknowledging the contributions of the female sex.

We are pleased to see that in the higher education arena, Schoolcraft College has initiated steps to incorporate the contributions of women and minorities into its curriculum.

This fall, the college will begin reviewing its curriculum in all areas of study — most notably history, political science, psychology and sociology — to assure that the contributions of women and minorities are highlighted.

In presenting recommendations for the college's vast overview of its curricula, Conway Jeffress, vice president for instruction, noted that during the 1970s, virtually all of Michigan's community colleges offered a program or courses addressing the issues of women and/or minorities.

Today, only five of those 29 colleges offer courses on the subject. Schoolcraft is to be commended for recognizing its obligation to address such issues and, furthermore, its plan to fill the gap in its curriculum. We believe it is an appropriate proposition for a college which has developed one of the leading Women's Resource Center's in the state.

It is our hope that students of the 21st century will be able to put Lillian Hellman alongside Tennessee Williams, Edith Wharton by Henry James and Georgia O'Keeffe next to Salvador Dali.

Schoolcraft College has taken the first step in making that a reality.

Phone hang-ups

I used to think my personal phone conduct was quite becoming. I was pleasant, helpful and courteous — even to people with the wrong number.

However, I'm afraid my phone conduct as of late would make Miss Manners throw in the towel. Though I still have retained some sense of grace when talking person-to-person (for those who may not remember, that was the old fashion way of talking to another human being over the telephone), I am downright rude when it comes to person-computer and person-recording phone messages.

The straw that broke the camel's back, so to speak, was the phone call I received from "Tim" a few weeks ago. A personal computer, he said he only wanted to ask me a couple of utility spending-related questions. All I had to do was give a short answer at the sound of every "beep." Let's just say that we did not say goodbye on the best of terms.

Now I realize that Tim is just another product of the computer age and that perhaps it wasn't fair to be so insolent to the little guy. It's just that if I'm going to talk to a little recording box, I might as well just talk to the wall.

I've found that credit departments, magazine solicitors and other such voices — which always call during dinner — also have taken to using this form of impersonal service.

Not too long ago I received a call from a Detroit-based department store with regard to my last billing statement. The woman on the other end of the line spent five minutes just trying to pronounce my last name. Once she made it over that hurdle, she asked if I would be so kind as to listen to the computer message about my bill. I hated to disappoint her after all the trouble she went through trying to spit out my Irish surname, but I had to tell her that I did not talk to computers. End of conversation.

I'm the same way with phone answering machines. I realize that these state-of-the-art contraptions are commonplace in most homes today; however, I have a real problem leaving my name, message, phone number, place of employment, etc. with a machine that will be played back to an entire household. I suppose listening to the answering machine could be a cheap form of entertainment for a family deprived of a video cassette recorder or cable TV, but I prefer not to be the star attraction.

To be fair, I should point out that I'm not angry at the computer. After all, I'm writing this on the office Mycro-Comps. They have their moments, but all-in-all they're reliable little VDTs, and most reporters and editors agree they prefer them to the now archaic typewriters.

However, while our machines may zap an occasional story or headline without warning, we do not pin the blame for our mistakes on the computer. For instance, a misspelled name or incorrect attribution is the fault of the person writing the story — not the computer.

I wish the same were true in other businesses. I recently spent an afternoon arguing with a bank over why they continued to sent me late notices on my car loan when I had paid it weeks ago. The woman in the loan department insisted that they never received my payment. In the event that it was lost in the mail I sent them another one. Having received my canceled check on the second payment I felt assured that everything was under control.

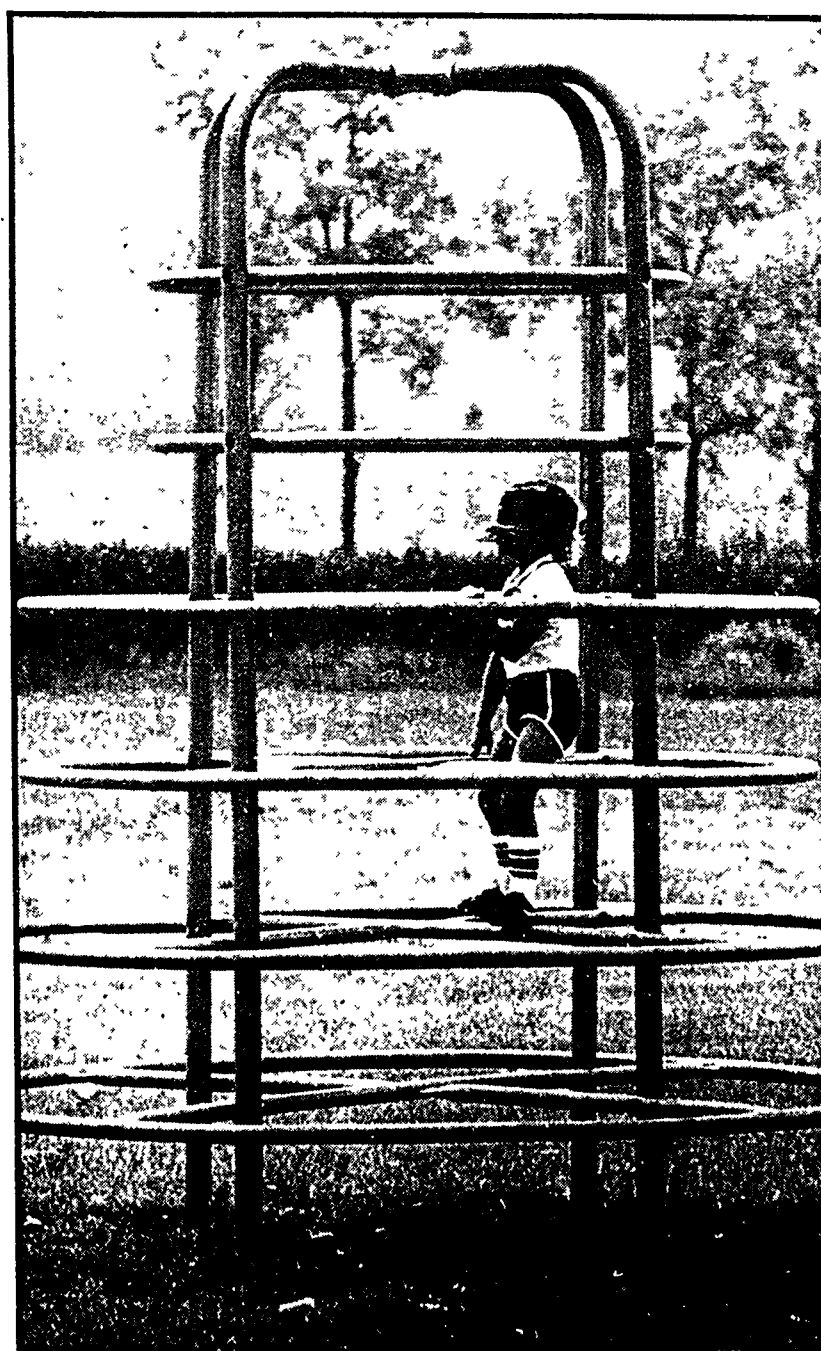

However, the following day she called to say she still had not received the payment. They tell me that despite my hysteria I did manage to tell her that I received my canceled check and, therefore, she must be losing her marbles. After a few moments, she came back to the phone. I could have predicted what she was going to say. She told me they had been having trouble with their computers and that it must have been paid to the wrong account.

Bad computer, bad, bad computer.

Blind ambition

After the fact

By PHILIP JEROME

Well, I'm back ... after what turned out to be a four-week vacation from column-writing.

And, according to some people who were kind enough to say so, my return comes not a moment too soon.

For those of you who weren't paying attention, this space was filled during my absence with excerpts from an exciting new novel, "Duke of the City" by Jerome Phillips.

Unfortunately for Jerry, as he's known to his friends, "Duke" was something less than a smashing success. A few people said they enjoyed the exploits of Duke Bullet, the dashing hero, and one man even suggested we should serialize the entire book as an added feature in the paper.

But by and large the reviews were negative. Several people even asked why we printed such trash in the first place.

Well, it's over now. No more "Duke of the City." But I would like to thank Jerry for filling in for me.

Before we return to our regular programming, however, there is one more thing I'd like to say about the Duke.

Some people have suggested the Duke and I had a lot in common, and perhaps even the Duke was modeled after yours truly.

It hadn't occurred to me, but I must admit there may be a few similarities. Like the Duke, I am a suburban journalist. A few people have suggested that I, like the Duke, am handsome in a rugged sort of way, although those who know me will tell you I'm a modest sort who would never make such a judgement about myself. And, yes, I, like the Duke, do drive a bright yellow 1978 Mustang.

But that's the extent of the similarities between the Duke and myself. My friends will tell you I'm not the kind of guy who goes screeching around the city in hot cars, trying to save damsels in distress on sweltering summer nights.

To put the question to rest once and for all, I asked Jerry himself if he saw any similarities between his fictional Duke Bullet and myself. He just laughed and said it was ridiculous. See, I told you.

Mental health proponents praise Geake

To the Editor:

The Legislature recently passed Senate Bill 642, which is the Department of Mental Health Appropriation Bill for fiscal year 1984-85. In the opinion of the Mental Health Association in Michigan, this is one of the best budget bills for public mental health services that has been passed in several years.

The budget will allow for the continuation of many important current services, plus significant funds to pilot innovative new community programs which depart from traditional models. This legislation represents the willingness by the Legislature to recognize mental health needs in Michigan.

It also represents the caring and efforts of many persons, including Senator Robert Geake of Northville who chairs the Senate Appropriations Subcommittee on Mental Health. He is articulate and well-informed on mental health issues, and has worked diligently to insure an adequate level of funding for these vital services. We applaud and appreciate his efforts on behalf of the mentally ill, and their families, in Michigan.

Sincerely,
Tom M. Sovine

Seeks buyer from sale

To the Editor:

On Thursday at our Garage Sale a gentleman purchased a dovetail templet, but I was unable, after a long search, to find the printed instructions for its use until five minutes after he left.

I hadn't asked his name. All I had learned of him was his interest in Shaker furniture and that he had visited Pleasant Hill, Kentucky, the restored Shaker Colony.

This letter is being written for the purpose of informing that gentleman, wherever he may be, that I have the instructions for mounting and using the templet and would be glad to give them to him if he would call me at 349-0349. Thank you for your help.

Very truly yours,
C. Phelps Hines

Thanks to firefighters

To the Editor:

On July 31 we were unfortunate to have a grass fire in a field next door to our home. It was most frightening to see fire rapidly moving to our home.

We would like to thank all our neighbors who tried to help put the blaze out.

Our most sincere thank you to the township fire department who managed to extinguish it in a most professional manner.

Sincerely,
The Stowell family

Hobbyist seeks tokens

To the Editor:

I am a lover of history, and I have a somewhat unusual hobby. I collect old tokens used by stores, barber shops, Indian Traders, saloons, forts and other businesses years ago. The tokens were "good for" $1, 50 cents, 25 cents 12½ cents or such in trade or merchandise or "good for" a loaf of bread, one drink, one shave, one ride or whatever.

They usually were made of metal, and while having the general appearance of a coin, they were made in all shapes and sizes with some even picturing buildings, animals, etc.

I have reason to believe that some of these tokens were used in your area years ago, and I would be most interested in obtaining some of them for my collection. I know this request is relatively unimportant but I do get a great deal of enjoyment from my hobby, and I do believe that these concrete reminders of our great heritage are worth preserving.

I would like to hear from anyone having one or more of these tokens or from anyone that might be able to help me. I now live in South Dakota and my address is P.O. Box 1573, Sioux Falls, S.D. 57101.

Thank you in advance and best wishes,

Report from Lansing

MSHDA is expanded

By GERALD H. LAW
State Representative

Landmark housing legislation enabling the Michigan State Housing Development Authority (MSHDA) to broaden its scope and provide financing for approximately 17,000 homes and apartments was recently signed into law.

House Bill 5454 (which I cosponsored) expands the powers of MSHDA to finance additional rental housing for families and senior citizens and raises its bonding limit by $600 million until June 30, 1986.

This important legislation will allow MSHDA to continue its financing for affordable housing despite today's high interest rates. While providing housing for low and moderate income families, the measure will also supply more than 10,000 jobs for Michigan workers over the next two years.

The legislation also establishes higher-income limits to increase the market for MSHDA-financed rental housing, permits the sale of taxable as well as tax-exempt bonds, and broadens the definition of eligible "distressed" areas.

The authority does not use state tax revenues for its loans. Instead, it relies on the sale of revenue bonds and notes to private investors.

The authority's new bonding powers will be allocated as follows:

- $200 million for direct loans to housing development firms and nonprofit housing corporations for new construction or rehabilitation of rental housing that meets MSHDA underwriting standards and income limits. Of this allocation, $50 million would be administered through loans to lending institutions.

- $200 million for a "pass-through" rental housing program in which MSHDA would sell bonds on behalf of developers who provide their own credit guarantees. Such bonds would not be obligations of the authority or of the state. Income limits would be higher than in MSHDA's direct loan program.

- $200 million to continue the authority's home mortgage program and home improvement loans. In certain distressed areas, the new law raises the purchase price limit of existing homes to $50,000 from $36,000 and the buyer's household income limit to $25,000 from the current $23,000.

The authority was established in 1966 by the Legislature to address the housing needs of Michigan's low and moderate income residents. It has invested approximately $1.7 billion in various loan programs, including financing for more than $33,000 apartments and townhouses throughout the state.

Satellite dish market is looking up

By MATT VALLEY

Poor television reception may be a thing of the past thanks to the marketing of satellite dishes.

Technological improvements resulting in lower prices have made the dishes a feasible investment for homeowners, evidenced by the number of dishes popping up all over the area.

Take, for instance, Frank Cleary, owner of the South Lyon Hotel, who purchased a satellite dish for the hotel in July to accommodate customers.

"There are several sporting events and movies you can pick up with the satellite that you can't get with the regular TV," Cleary said. "It's convenient for a lot of people to come to watch programs they can't get on regular television."

In the past six months, the number of customers interested in buying satellite dishes has increased by about 40 percent, some local television shops say.

"A lot of homeowners and business people come into the store who don't know how the dishes work, what they cost or how to install them, so we educate them," said Jim Atherton, salesperson for Michigan Satellite in Ann Arbor.

"In the future, every home outside a major metropolitan area will have a satellite dish because the dishes offer the solution to poor reception and are able to offer more channel selection at the same time," Atherton said.

Prices of satellite dishes vary, depending on their diameter and the quality of the hardware components. Installation of a nine- or 10-foot dish may cost between $3,500 and $4,000, according to dealers. Some four-foot dishes sell for as little as $300.

In Novi, South Lyon and neighboring communities, the ordinance governing the use of accessory buildings in residential areas also applies to satellite dishes.

The dish cannot exceed 12 feet in height and must be secured at least 10 feet from the main building, according to the South Lyon building inspector.

Dealers say the biggest problem facing customers who wish to install the dish themselves is finding a good site.

"If it's not placed in the proper spot

Dish antennas like this one at a South Lyon business receive television broadcasts from space satellites with regard to longitude and latitude the satellite dish will be of little use," said Thomas Loy, owner of Loy's Television in Ann Arbor. "But generally speaking they are not difficult to install."

One of the great advantages of satellite television is that several educational programs occupy the channels, Atherton said.

"A lot of universities are renting the open channels to teach courses," Atherton explained. "There are all kinds of cooking shows and instructional shows on the air now. In the future, schools may be taught in large part by the television medium."

While several homeowners and merchants seem thrilled about the availability of satellite dishes, at least one pay TV channel is up in arms over them.

Home Box Office, the nation's leading pay TV movie channel, has fought bitterly with satellite-dish users. HBO says it is illegal to intercept the signal free of charge.

As a result, HBO is spending between $8-$10 million on a highly complex scrambling system that will be implemented sometime in 1985, according to HBO spokesman Larry Lauck.

"We estimate that there are nearly 60,000 people receiving HBO who are not paying for it and that is wrong," Lauck said.

"We are a business out to make money and we pay for the copyrights to the films we show," Lauck said.

"Besides, it isn't fair to the people who have to pay for the channel. We have taken legal action in some instances and won."

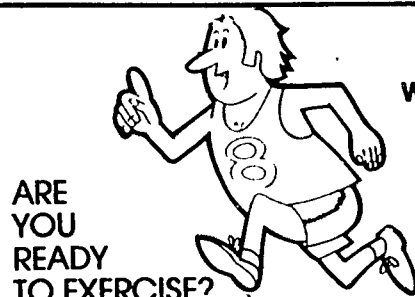

Cleary, however, thinks HBO is attempting to infringe on the rights of satellite dish users. "The airwaves are free to everyone as far as I'm concerned," Cleary said.

"If the federal government said it was illegal for us to intercept the signal for free I would abide by the law. But at the present time, I know of no such law preventing us from receiving the signal free of charge," Cleary added.

Lauck expects other pay channels to implement scrambling systems similar to HBO's system in the near future.

"When the scrambling system goes into effect there will be a lot of irate people, I'm sure," Lauck said. "But those people should never have had received the signal for free anyway."

We're fighting for your life.

Business Briefs

RUBY OFFICE SUPPLY, Inc. is celebrating the first anniversary of its Northville location at 42361 West Seven Mile Road this month. The company has been in business more than 50 years with two Detroit locations. The suburban site is next to the Secretary of State's office in the mall.

Owner and manager Leslie Lightstone (at left in photo) reports business at the Northville location is doing very well. The store carries a wide range of supplies, plus complete office furniture, desks, files and chairs from many manufacturers.

Sales associate Joan Gilders (above right), a Northville Township resident, says Ruby's services include making rubber stamps and delivery of purchased goods. The firm plans a September anniversary sale and is welcoming new commercial accounts. Hours are 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday-Friday.

WILLIARD (BILL) PETERSON of Novi has joined Farm Bureau Insurance Group (FBIG) as a new agent serving this area.

Peterson, 24, recently completed FBIG's month-long career development school for new agents, which prepared him for the state insurance licensing examination and provided instruction in all areas of property-casualty and life insurance.

Training included Michigan State University's Institutes on Life and Property/Casualty Insurance and two weeks of instruction at the company's home office in Lansing.

Prior to joining Farm Bureau Insurance Group, Peterson was the high school supervisor at Novi Christian School. He graduated from Oakland University in 1982.

Peterson joins a force of more than 420 FBIG agents serving 300,000 Michigan policy holders.

RICHARD AGINIAN, president of Suburban Communications, Livonia, which includes Sliger/Livingston Publications, has been elected first vice president of Suburban Newspapers of America at the group's 1984 annual convention, held June 20-22 in San Diego.

Aginian was elected along with a panel of officers to serve a one-year term. He presently serves as a director of the Michigan Press Association and is a member of MPA's Long Range Planning Committee.

Suburban Newspapers of America is a national trade organization comprised of 950-plus suburban and urban community newspapers with a total combined circulation of more than 12.7 million.

DONNER ENTERPRISES has opened its doors in South Lyon. Owned by New Hudson residents Tom and Tony Donner, Donner Enterprises houses three businesses under one roof at 390 South Lafayette at McHattie.

The brothers' oldest enterprise is a video taping service, which they have operated for over a year. Weddings, parties, family reunions and other important occasions are preserved on video tape by the Donners. "Tapes can be made for people's use in the future, even if they don't own a video-cassette player right now," Tony said.

Donner Enterprises' second business proposition is sign-making and graphic illustration. Tony said they specialize in all types of signs, from electric to hand-painted and moveable letter signs. In addition, the Donners will paint murals on building walls and undertake a variety of graphic illustration tasks, Tony said.

South Lyon's first all-around hobby shop is the Donners' third enterprise. The store stocks Sterling, Guillows and Carl Goldberg model planes, Dumas boat models, Athearn trains, rockets, motorized boats, planes and trains and models of all scales. K&S Metal Setters for metal bending are also available at Donner enterprises. A popular game, Dungeons and Dragons, is a staple at the store.

In addition, a full range of artist's supplies are in stock, varying from paint-by-number kits to oils, acrylics and water colors.

The 2,200 square-foot store opened July 18. Business hours are from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. Monday through Saturday and from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday. Donner enterprises can be contacted at 437-8051.

In the future, the Donners hope to organize a model-making club. A 10 percent discount on model-making goods will be offered to club members, Tony said. The Donners ask that interested persons contact them, so they may determine interest in such an organization. Persons interested in teaching model-making are also asked to contact the Donners.

A 'VOTRE SANTE' (to your health) Myomassology Center is now open in Sandy's Hair Junction, 431 North Main Street, Milford.

Myomassology is a form of therapeutic massage combining basic massage techniques with other therapy-related skills to promote relaxation, stress reduction and good health.

Massage effectively stretches muscle fibre and relaxes muscle tissue. It promotes good circulation, enhances movement and may provide relief from muscular aches and pains. Massage is also a pleasant release from stress and anxiety.

The center is staffed by qualified professional myomassologists Dave Vermillion and Margaret King.

The therapeutic massage service is available to men, women and children of all ages. Pre-natal massage is also available.

A 'Votre Sante' is open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday. Call 684-8305 for information or an appointment.

GARY P. WILSON, a resident of Northville, has been named general sales manager for DataWay Electronics.

He is former marketing manager of the New Hudson Corporation of Milford.

DataWay Electronics is a Michigan based firm responsible for the development and marketing of Touch-Tone telephone data entry and voice response systems and other computer related technology. The company is a subsidiary of A.D. Kahn, Inc.

Wilson and his wife Carol are parents of four grown children.

JOHN S. GUZIEL, a manufacturing engineer at Kelsey-Hayes Company in Milford, was one of 41 engineers, managers and technicians from 14 states to complete a three-day summer workshop at Lehigh University on "The Selection, Preparation and Use of Cutting Tools in Material Removal."

The three-day program, sponsored by Lehigh's department of industrial engineering, included lectures and laboratory demonstrations devoted to the basics of tool materials, tool geometry and tool preparation.

LORNA PERRY of Novi recently returned from Flint where she attended training sessions as a supervisor for House of Lloyd. She will be interviewing, hiring and training demonstrators in this area for the world's largest toy and gift party plan company.

Paul Holler works on reroofing weavers' cottage

Weavers' cottage is gaining authentic cedar shake roof

Mill Race Village continues growth

By JEAN DAY

Like many communities, Northville initially geared its historical restoration — Mill Race Village — to the Bicentennial, focusing on having the New School Church, generally known as the old library building, and the Hunter House next door as well as the Victorian Yerkes House finished in 1976.

To the credit of many dedicated workers, however, the village has continued to grow and — importantly — be used for a host of local activities. Paul Folino's former insurance building has become the home of the Mill Race Weavers' Guild. Headed by Ruth Whitmyer, the guild has made the house just over the bridge its headquarters, and has conducted many handweaving demonstrations.

A major contributor to the success of the village restoration is the fact that individuals have "adopted" various buildings, researching, restoring and maintaining them. Wanda Huber is such a "caretaker" for the weavers' cottage, which presently is getting a new roof.

She reports that four layers of asphalt shingles are being removed before the building is given a cedar shake roof, which, it has been determined, was the original roofing.

The estimate that the cottage was built just before the turn of the century has been confirmed in the reroofing process, she relates, as workers found the attic had been insulated with early copies of The Northville Record — all dated 1892.

Wanda Huber called The Record last week to relay some of the newspaper contents. An ad for wash tubs listed the price as 58 cents. A story about a 40-year old resident with 17 children noted that she "had only one husband."

Huber also reported that the cottage is going to get a new color scheme in an upcoming repainting. Historical society consultant Donald Fee, she said, has selected a beige color with reddish brown trim.

The blacksmith shop is under construction next to the Wash Oak Schoolhouse. Historical society president John Brugeman says it is hoped to have work completed by winter. The project is being guided by Fran Gazlay. Right now cobblestone exterior walls are being constructed to cover the concrete block foundation. The work is being done by Frank Krol, a stonemason from Redford. Cobblestone also will cover the interior walls of the two-room structure planned as a working smithy shop and also as a museum-office for Northville Historical Society.

Brugeman reports that the historical society was given an assist with this building by Greenfield Village. It received a donation of roof boards and vertically sawed rough lumber for trim from the village. It's Michigan white pine, Brugeman says, that the village needed to get rid of to make room for the Firestone farm being moved to Greenfield Village from Ohio. Local

In Our Town

Yes, Lexington's really on Lake Huron

By JEAN DAY

Yes, yes, yes, the Village of Lexington, Michigan, is situated on Lake Huron. It's about 20 miles north of Port Huron, and we really didn't mean to relocate the Great Lakes when some gremlin of this business had us place it on Lake Michigan in a story in last week's Record about The Governor's Inn, a Bed and Breakfast establishment there.

We appreciate the interest of readers in sending notes and calling to make the correction. We're finding that there's much interest in B & B establishments.

Virginia Hayward, an active Quester and member of Northville Historical Society, reports that she enjoyed staying in Bed and Breakfast homes on a trip east through upper New York State. She adds that she and her daughter Cindy have been seeking a suitable home in Ann Arbor to open a Bed and Breakfast themselves. This is in between Ginny Hayward's planning for a trip to the People's Republic of China later this year. A world traveler, she previously has participated in Earthwatch programs of working scientific vacations and in 1982 visited Sweden and in 1983 Belgium.

Bed & Breakfast generates much interest

A former Northville resident, Bev Ballash, has opened a Bed and Breakfast home in Sonora, California, about 150 miles east of San Francisco, Mrs. Hayward reports. While strict zoning restrictions have been a problem, she says, difficulties have been overcome. California, she notes — as did those interviewed for the Bed and Breakfast article — boasts a growing number of B & Bs.

A couple of callers said they even looked at their atlases and maps to be sure of the location of the Great Lakes as they read about the Governor's Inn operated by Jane and Bob MacDonald in the former summer home of Michigan Governor Albert Sleeper.

In conversation with Carol Forrer, we learned of other travelers. The Forrers' son and his wife, the John Forrers, are back from a two-week trip to Europe and are most enthusiastic about England.

Joy Tsoucaris follows family footsteps — to Greece

Joy Tsoucaris, 14, this summer attended Ionian Village Summer Travel Camp sponsored by the Greek Orthodox Archdiocese of New York every year. She followed her brother Stephen, who attended in 1977, and her sister Valissa, who went in both 1978 and 1981 to the camp which offers a cultural history of Greece as well as visits to surrounding areas.

Afterward, she joined her parents, Dr. and Mrs. James Tsoucaris of Edenderry who had been touring and vacationing, to meet and visit with great aunts and uncles and cousins on the island of Chios. Both Dr. and Mrs. Tsoucaris' families came from Chios, and they have kept in active contact with family members.

In checking in at the Athens Airport as they returned last month, Joy identified boarding the flight as members of the Greek Olympics team coming to the United States for the competition in Los Angeles. They chatted with the swimmers and had pictures taken with them. In all, they report, there were some 46 on board with 24 trainers. It made watching the competition on television especially exciting for the travelers.

Joy, who had been the "most apprehensive" of the Tsoucaris youngsters about attend the Ionian Village, her father relates, felt the "raps" with Greek Orthodox priest on faith and the church one of the highlights of her experience. She also brushed up on the Greek language and learned new skills — mounting icons and making copper jewelry.

March 23 wedding set

MARGARET SIEFERT, ALASTAIR DEANE

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Siefert of Saline announce the engagement of their daughter, Margaret, to Alastair Deane, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Deane of Northville.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Saline High School and received her bachelor of arts degree in business and communications from Albion College in 1982. She currently is employed as director of store operations for a retail chain in the Detroit area.

Her fiancé, a 1979 graduate of Northville High School, will receive his bachelor of science degree in mechanical engineering from the University of Michigan in August. After completing the co-op program with Kelsey Hayes Company in Romulus, he has accepted a position as a product engineer with the company.

A March 23, 1985, wedding date has been set.

Deborah Hill married in Indiana ceremony

MR. AND MRS. TERRY WILLIAMS

Deborah Ann Hill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Hill of 16319 Winchester, became the bride of Terry L. Williams of Indianapolis, Indiana, in a double ring ceremony April 7 at Epworth United Methodist Church in Indianapolis.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Luzador of Gaston, Indiana.

The bride's two sisters, Cindy and Brenda, served as bridesmaids. Tamara Stevenson of Indianapolis was maid of honor. Best man was Thomas Bewley of Munster, Indiana.

The bride and bridegroom are graduates of Indiana University and now reside in Denver, Colorado.

The bride is an accountant for Firstmark Financial Services and the bridegroom is an assistant controller with J.W. Brewer Tire Company.

Allison, Joshua welcomed

Cynthia and Paul Damon of Plymouth announce the birth of their first child, Allison Marie.

She was born July 25 at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor and weighed 8 pounds, 9 1/2 ounces.

Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hanish of Northville. Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Gilders of Northville are maternal grandparents.

Maternal great-grandmother is Beatrice Scrivens of South Lyon.

Joshua Jerrett Busscher, first child of Mr. and Mrs. Randal Busscher of Holland, Michigan, was born July 14. Mrs. Busscher is the former Sue Forrer of Northville.

The baby weighed seven pounds, four ounces at birth. His middle name continues a family tradition.

Maternal grandparents are Dr. and Mrs. Gordon Forrer of Northville. Mr. and Mrs. Andrew B. Busscher of Hamilton, Michigan, are paternal grandparents.

Maternal great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hanke of Milwaukee. Mrs. Hanke already has visited her new great-grandson.

August open house slated at Plymouth academy

Plymouth Christian Academy will hold an open house for preschool, elementary and secondary grades from 7-9 p.m. August 16 and from 10 a.m. to noon August 17.

Interested parents may tour the rooms and visit with teachers and administrators. An advanced computer math course and a basic computer application class will be offered to secondary students this fall.

Plymouth Christian is located at 43065 Joy-Road in Canton behind Calvary Baptist Church.

Anniversary marked at local celebration

LYNN AND MAISIE JOHNSON

Lynda Hohnacki of Dundalk Court hosted a 50th wedding anniversary party for her parents, Lynn and Maisie Johnson of Dunedin Beach, Florida, at her home August 4.

The Johnsons, former West Bloomfield residents, reaffirmed their wedding vows in a noon service at Christ Church Cranbrook in Bloomfield Hills.

Married in Detroit, August 4, 1934, the Johnsons met while attending University of Michigan.

Lynn Johnson is a retired mechanical engineer for Michigan Bell. His wife, the former Maisie Oliver of England, was a secretary for the Oakland County Board of Education.

During their 50-year marriage, they have enjoyed tennis, bowling and bridge.

They have two children, Lynda, and Sonja Carrico of South Bend, Indiana. They also have two grandchildren.

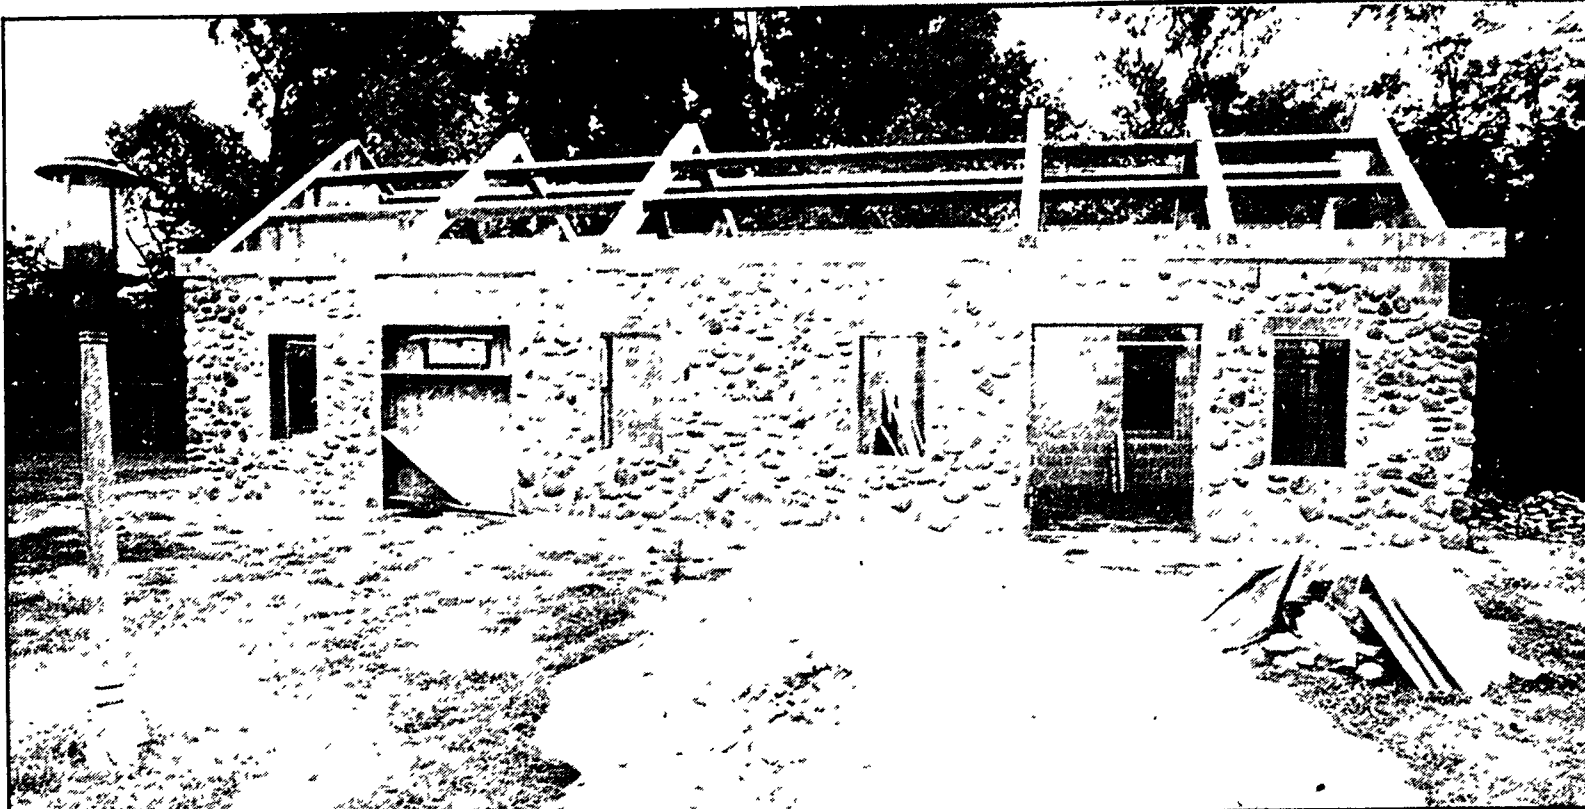

Adoptive parent classes offered

Expectant Adoptive Parent Classes will be offered beginning September 6 at Botsford Hospital in Farmington Hills.

The series of four weekly classes, to be held at 7 p.m., are for families waiting to adopt an infant up to two years of age.

To register or receive further information, call Terry Allor, Project Director at 459-7383 or Maureen Shea at Catholic Social Services at 883-2100.

Cobblestones face new smithy shop now under construction

Mill Race Historical Village still grows

volunteers trucked the pine from Dearborn to the Mill Race.

Located near the south entrance to the Mill Race, the blacksmith building, Brugeman notes, easily could serve as a headquarters for the historical society. At present, the telephone listed for the village is located in the basement of the New School Church which is not always occupied. Brugeman adds that interest has remained high in the historical society which presently has more than 400 members.

New School Church, which has been restored with rest room facilities and air conditioning, is the setting for meetings, weddings and receptions. Mary Bandyke, who is in charge of rentals, reports, however, that the gazebo across the way is the most popular location for weddings. Right now the village is averaging four or five a month, she says, with most taking place on Saturday with some also on Sunday. She points out that the wedding party actually has the entire Mill Race setting as background for the ceremony. While some brides also rent the church building for receptions or as backup in case of rain, she says most "just take a chance on good weather."

Hunter House is furnished with donations and loans from Detroit Historical Society and is open along with other buildings from 1-4 p.m. Sunday afternoons. Mill Race Docents, versed in the history of the village and its buildings welcome visitors.

Yerkes House, one of the first buildings onsite and the largest, has been an ongoing labor of love on the part of Jack Burkan, whose wife Ruth is a member of the Yerkes family. Burkan was joined in the project by E.A. Chapman, who died last year, and Don Sober, who died in June. The main floor of the home is furnished authentically with fine Victorian furniture.

Brugeman says the society is hoping for more volunteers interested in completing the upstairs and kitchen. Brugeman may be called at 349-2659 for information about membership in the historical society and its projects.

Wash Oak Schoolhouse is the most recent restoration to be completed in the village under the dedicated guidance of Harriet and Bob Welland and Kay and Doug Otton. They still are seeking books and other memorabilia of 1873 vintage.

Heart, lung disease topic of hospital series

Two series of classes focusing on how to live with a heart condition and learning to breathe easier are being offered without charge at St. Mary Hospital.

Learning to Live With Your Heart Condition, a five part series of classes on Tuesday and Thursday evenings at 7 p.m., is a three-week program for heart patients and their families.

The classes address:

- "Your Heart Condition and Your Future," explaining what causes heart disease and how risks can be reduced;
- "Signals for Action," on physical activity after a heart attack;
- "Your Prescription for Health," a discussion of effective use of medicines by a pharmacist and nurse;
- "You Are What You Eat," a dietitian's evaluation of special diets and healthy eating for heart patients;
- "Coping with Stress," on how emotional reactions cause physical stress and what to do about it. Learning to Breathe Better is a series of four classes offered at St. Mary on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons to help people cope with chronic lung disease.

The series includes:

- "Understand Chronic Lung Disease," characteristics of the disease and advice on how to stop smoking;
- "Lifestyle Modification," how to minimize breathing problems through lifestyle changes, and exercises to improve breathing;
- "Medications," a pharmacist explains the effects of different medications and how to take them safely;
- "Diet Modification," a dietitian discusses how what you eat affects your breathing.

Call nursing services, 464-4800, extension 2314, for more information about both series of free classes.

The Northville Record

Doug Doyle angles a bunt attempt

Mack falls in regional

Northville didn't last long at the National Amateur Baseball Federation Connie Mack Regional last Thursday, as Sterling Heights and Birmingham-Troy eliminated Northville in its first two tourney games.

In a 9-8 loss to Sterling Heights, newly-recruited pitcher Craig Matthews was shelled with eight earned runs in five and two-thirds innings. Both teams put together six-run rallies in the sixth, but an early Sterling Heights lead proved the difference.

Steve Frellick singled in two runs in the fifth and drove in two more in the sixth with a bases-loaded single. The sixth-inning rally also included four walks, a hit batter and a run-scoring sacrifice fly by Mark Chambers.

In Thursday's 7-3 nightcap loss to Birmingham-Troy, heavily-scouted starter Dan Nielsen was somewhat effective, but only went three innings. Rick Mueller relieved him with mixed results.

The B-T squad never trailed, scoring once in the first, and twice in the third, seventh and eighth innings (tournament games had nine regulation innings).

Northville's Tab Brown scored on Craig Matthews' sacrifice fly after tripling in the seventh. Matthews hit a bases-loaded single that scored Dirk Nowka and Steve Frellick in the eighth after a walk to Nowka and a single by Frellick.

Northville ended its season with a 7-9 record. Nielsen and lefthanded pitcher Doug Doyle may see some action as add-ons for other nearby teams for tournament play later this month.

World Series returns to Northville

For the second straight year, Northville will be the host community for the National Amateur Baseball Federation's Junior World Series.

This week's two-game knockout tournament will feature championship teams from five NABF Regions plus tourney hosts Northville Blue in a display of some of the top young (age 15-16) baseball talent in the country. And, as last year, the Northville community is expected to roll out the red carpet.

This year's World Series activity will start at 8 a.m. Thursday with opening ceremonies. Among those expected to attend the ceremonies are District Court Judge Dunbar Davis, Township Supervisor John MacDonald and Mayor Paul Vernon.

The Northville High School Cheerleaders and Pom-Pon Squad will escort visiting teams through the ceremonies.

At 7:30 p.m. Thursday, there will be a special banquet at the Northville Community Center in honor of the Series. Special guest will be Bud Midau, baseball coach at University of Michigan.

State Senator Robert Geake, Northville High School Principal David Bolitho and Superintendent of Schools George Bell are expected to attend the banquet, which the public is invited to attend. Tickets at the door are $3.

Tournament Director Bob Frellick said the NABF Board of Directors had again selected Northville as Series hosts because of "the outstanding job" done by organizers last year. This year, he added, is no different.

"I've gotten 100 percent cooperation from the (organizing) committee, from school officials and from the Recreation Department," Frellick said.

Tournament games will take place at the Northville High School baseball field, with the exception of one 9 a.m. game Friday, which will take place at Novi High School. Concession stands selling food, drinks and World Series souvenir t-shirts and caps will be on hand.

Among the competing teams are the defending World Series Champion Bayside Yankees, representing the Long Island Regional in New York. The Yankees took the title with a wild 12-11 victory over Moraine Body Shop of Miamisburg, Ohio in last year's final game. The Yankees rallied for a 9-8 win over Northville Blue in early tourney action — returning Blue players remember that well.

The Macomb Phillies will represent the Col-dwater (Michigan) Regional. Champions of the Louisville, Kentucky, the Perrysburg, Ohio, and the Akron, Ohio regional tournaments were yet to be announced as of Monday night.

Friday games will be played at 9 a.m., noon, 3 p.m. and 6 p.m.

Meet series hosts, Northville Blue

A quick look at Northville II (season record: 16-8), the team that will host this year's World Series:

Leadoff hitter ROB CANNON is the team's key to quick starts. The centerfielder led the team with 20 stolen bases and 15 runs scored while packing a .349 batting average.

Catcher CHRIS HAUSER and third baseman SCOTT PETERSON contributed steady glove work while packing batting averages of .400 and .389 respectively. Peterson had 12 RBI for the year and had a .595 on-base percentage.

GEORGE DARABAN, besides providing steady work at shortstop and on the mound (3-1) had three homers this year and tied Cannon for the team leadership in hits. Backup catcher (and left-handed hitter) MARK OLSEN hit over .300 for the second straight year and has greatly improved his defensive skills.

JEFF BAINBRIDGE tied with Daraban for the team's home run leadership. He ended the season with a .333 batting average. FRED CAHILL, probably the team's best defensive outfielder an best bunter, was second on the team in RBI.

KEITH DUTKIEWICZ hit .333 and played four different defensive positions — he also turned in some clutch pitching and currently carries the team's hottest bat with a .428 average at the recent Newark, Ohio Tournament. PAUL NEWITT, a flashy left fielder, carried a .378 average this year and had eight RBI.

Novi High School varsity keystoneer STEVE CODY and JOHN MEADOWS both saw time at second base. Each flashed a steady glove while their batting averages wavered up and down.

First basemen MARK DEAL and SCOTT SWIENCKOWSKI were both slow starters at the plate but both finished the year hitting .300 with power.

CHRIS WILLERER achieved notoriety as Blue's top hurler, posting a 6-2 record and blanking Durand in the Continental Amateur Baseball Federation Regional Tournament. He traveled with regional champ Grand Rapids to a national tourney in Columbus, Ohio, firing a sharp three-hit shutout in the Michigan team's only win.

CHRIS DOMINIQUE ended his league season with a 2-2 record, but often faced inconsistent defense and hitting by teammates in his appearances. A .300 hitter, he filled in well at shortstop. BRETT LOOMIS, 15, turned in several strong pitching appearances this season, and may see some tournament work this week.

Ex-cancer patient says golf's been his 'link' to health

By BOB SMITH

Some people play sports to release a competitive desire. Some people get involved to stay physically fit and attractive. Vern LaVassaur played golf to stay alive.

LaVassaur, a Northville resident who plays regularly on the Godwin Glen and Salem Hills golf courses, is a former cancer patient who credits the slow, leisurely pace of golf with helping him keep his mind off his cancer.

At one point, LaVassaur's doctor at the University of Michigan told him that golf "was the best doctor you've got."

LaVassaur, who will turn 69 in August, said his cancer taught him a lot of lessons.

"The thing is, if you're playing golf, you're not thinking about anything else," LaVassaur commented. "You'd figure there's five hours when you're not feeling sorry for yourself."

Self-pity is the worst thing that can happen to a cancer patient, LaVassaur noted. "Then your mind takes over, and you stop eating, and you get weak and then it's too late," he explained.

Even when his self-control was lagging, LaVassaur was aided by the concern of his friends, including Horace and Helen Godwin, the owners of Godwin Glen. "I don't think they realize what they did for me, but sometimes I think they saved my life," noted LaVassaur.

LaVassaur, a former touring and golf club professional, started his bout with cancer in December 1976, when he had exploratory surgery for a bowel obstruction. When cancer was discovered, he underwent chemotherapy for eight months.

More tests followed in January 1978, with the same result: the cancer lymphoma. Chemotherapy treatments stretched over the next 13 months, LaVassaur said.

In all, between 1976 and 1984, LaVassaur had five major cancer operations. In addition, he also contracted a case of the shingles, which spread in a bloody, sensitive rash across his head.

The chemotherapy itself left nightmarish results. LaVassaur said he would chill and shake for four days after a treatment of chemotherapy, despite layers of blankets and heating pads.

"I never realized in my life what alone was until I went to bed for four days," LaVassaur said. "It's just you and God."

Surprisingly, LaVassaur said after those four days he felt very fit. "I'd get up and go out and play some golf," he said.

After suffering through the chemotherapy, LaVassaur said he needed to make a change. He transferred himself from Providence Hospital in Southfield to the University of Michigan Hospital in Ann Arbor.

At U-M, LaVassaur said he took some medication and had some special chemotherapy. That treatment did not help him, and in November, a Computerized Axial Tomography (CAT) showed a four-by-four-inch bulk of cancer by his stomach.

Radiation treatment was suggested to LaVassaur, who took 29 of those treatments in December and January. At his next CAT scan in February, a miraculous surprise awaited LaVassaur.

"The CAT scan showed I had no cancer," LaVassaur said.

The day the CAT results showed no cancer was one of the happiest days of LaVassaur's life. "I felt pretty damn good — a hell of a lot better than I felt the week before," he said. "It was quite a shock."

Since then, LaVassaur has continued his lifelong avocation of golf. Wielding a 3-7 handicap, he belongs to the Michigan Senior Golf Association and will be competing next month in a seniors tournament in Battle Creek.

LaVassaur, a retired sand and gravel worker, also helps out at Salem Hills and teaches a little.

As LaVassaur passes the latter days of his life, he reflects on the lessons he learned as a cancer patient. "Have something to do and don't feel sorry for yourself," is LaVassaur's motto.

Northville's Stephens, Morse place at Ann Arbor link tilt

Two Northville youngsters won honors during the ninth annual Southern Michigan Junior Championship Golf Tourney last week.

Eric Morse, 16, finished second in the 15-16 year old division, while Mark Stephens, 13, finished third in the 14-and-under division.

The championship tourney attracted top junior golfers from across southern Michigan and was played at the Leslie Park Golf Course in Ann Arbor.

Golfers played three 18-hole rounds over three days during the tourney.

Morse finished second in the 15-16 division with a three-round score of 230. He opened with a 79 and then shot 75 and 76. His cumulative score of 230 left him tied for second with two other golfers and set the stage for a sudden-death playoff.

Morse parred both holes to win the playoff and finish second in the tourney.

Stephens finished third in the 14-and-under division with a cumulative score of 245. He carded an 85 on the opening day, came back with a 76 on the second day and then finished up with an 84 on the final day to finish third in his age division.

Morse will be a senior at Northville High School in September and is a member of the Mustang golf team. Stephens will be an eighth grader at Cooke Junior High School when school resumes in the fall.

Horse care seminar offered

The Advanced Equine Seminar is presenting a fall course on preventive medicine and lameness in horses. Classes will be held between 7:30 and 9:30 p.m. Tuesdays from September 18 to November 6 at the Oakland Equine Center, 56560 West Ten Mile Road (just east of Millford Road) in South Lyon.

Anyone 12 and older is welcome to register and attend. Registration will be accepted as space permits. Class size is limited to 45 and a minimum of 25 will be required to conduct the course.

Advance registration is required of all wishing to attend. Registration will be accepted at the first class session if space is available.

The course covers the following topics: Anatomy and Lameness, Treatment of Lamenesses (optional lab session involving dissection of a horse's limb — $10 additional fee includes lab specimen and equipment), Gaits of the Horse, Preventive Medicine and Dentistry, Equine Emergencies (First Aid, Restraint, Bandaging Techniques), Surgery on the Equine.

In addition to the lectures and optional lab session, participants will receive preprinted material and will view slides and movies.

The advanced (prepaid) registration fee for each person is $45 for eight sessions. If more than one member of a family wishes to attend, the fee is $45 for the first family member and $35 for each additional family member. Registration at the first class meeting will be $50 per person and will begin at 7 p.m.

TAX TIPS

LEE E. HOLLAND, C.P.A.

ARE TRUSTS BETTER THAN GIFTS?

If you are undecided about whether to make a gift or set up a trust, under current tax law you will find that trusts have several advantages over gifts. One of the major advantages is that the principal returns to you when a trust expires. This may be an important factor if an elderly parent or other relative is the trust's beneficiary. At his or her death, the property reverts to you. A gift would be considered part of the beneficiary's estate.

Another advantage in trusts is that any capital losses in the trust can be used by you in your tax return. You may also be allowed to borrow some of the principal. According to current Internal Revenue Service rules, however, you must give security, pay interest, and repay the loan within the year unless the trustee is in no way "related or subordinate" to you.

For a review of the regulations affecting gifts and trusts and other tax-saving opportunities under the new tax law, why not call us for an appointment?

NEW ACNE TREATMENT

Accutane is a strong new pill for severe acne. It works far better than any previous acne medicine. Since Accutane does have some side effects, it is not recommended for mild or average cases of acne. We can treat these milder cases with prescription lotions or other pills. Most acne treatment of all types is paid for by your medical insurance. (We take care of the forms and billing for you).

Local rider goes to nationals

Sixteen-year-old equestrian Nancy Holmes of Northville qualified Saturday for the National Ride-Off affiliated with the American Horse Show Association.

Sponsored by the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, the National Class A Show will take place in New York City's Madison Square Garden in November.

Holmes will be a junior at Northville High School this fall. She is a Junior A Circuit rider with the U.S. Equestrian Team.

To qualify for the Nationals, Holmes needed to win two ASPCA Sportsman-ship Classes. She got her first win at the AHSA Class A Show in June at the Stony Ridge Farms Show in Chelsea. Last Saturday, she won her second qualifying show at Haverhill Farms — the first AHSA Class A Show the Walled Lake-based club has sponsored in several years.

She will next compete at the Michigan Hunter Jumper Association State Medal Ride-Off Finals August 22-26 at Stony Ridge Farms.

Varsity tryouts under way

An information meeting concerning the Northville High School varsity women's swim team will be held for swimmers and parents at Northville High School Room A-4 at 7 p.m. tomorrow (Thursday). First practice for the team will be held at 7 a.m. Monday at the Northville High School gym.

school at 349-3400.

Coaches Mary Gans and Dan Swayne will begin conducting tryouts and practice for the Northville High School men's varsity soccer team at 6:30 p.m. Monday at Schoolcraft College's Field No. 8. Participants should dress to play.

Tryouts for the women's varsity and junior varsity women's basketball teams will begin at 6 p.m. Wednesday, August 15, at the Northville High School gym.

SPECIAL EVENTS:

ALL-STAR SOFTBALL: An all-star softball game is planned for Tuesday, August 21, at Thomson Field from 7:30-8:30 p.m. A Northville all-star team will challenge Snyder's Softball Team, a traveling Class A squad. Admission is free.

ST. JOHN'S CLASSIC: St. John's Provincial Seminary has announced its second Annual Desert Classic will be played Wednesday, August 22, at Mission Hills Golf Course, surrounding St. John's of Plymouth.

Clergy and lay golfers will participate in this fund-raiser to benefit the Holy Land Program, which sponsors a 10-week study term in the Holy Land for seminarians. For information, call 453-6200.

ADULT LEAGUES:

Teams enter last week of regular season

ST. PAUL'S 11, GETZIE'S 5: The pitching and hitting of Greg Wallace, plus an eight-run fourth inning, propelled the churchmen to another key win. Paul Fallert and Ken Crawford each drilled homers in that frame. Wallace and teammate Ed Sanders each went 3-for-4, with Wallace scoring after all three of his hits. Bob Potter went 3-for-4, while teammates Dave Jensen, Les Menyhart and George Bird each added a pair of hits for Getzie's.

STERLING OIL 6, BUSHNELL 1: The Oilers needed a win to keep a firm grip on first place in the N.L. standings, and got it. Five singles and a pair of Bushnell errors gave Sterling Oil five first-inning runs. While Bushnell pitcher Cliff Kinner quelled Sterling bats after that, Don Phillips and Mike Taschner were even more effective on the mound for the winners, allowing just one run. Bob Martain had three hits in three trips to lead Sterling Oil, while Tony Pump and Ray Janise had a pair each. Russ Courville led Bushnell with a 3-for-3 effort.

BELANGER'S 11, MASTERS 1: Three straight walks, an error and then five straight hits brought in seven first-inning runs for Belanger's in a five-inning mercy rule victory. Marty Salazar blasted a two-run homer in the fifth, and Graig Lee added a double and a two-run triple for the winners. Only Keith Flour-nay's solo homer in the third prevented Belanger's Dave Kozar from picking up a shutout victory.

NOVI BOWL 6, NORTHRIDGE 3: Rick Stratton singled in Andy Haas with the winning run in the seventh inning to spark a three-run rally that busted open a 3-3 tie. John Sherman retired Northridge 1-2-3 for the fourth straight inning in the bottom of the seventh to hang on for the win. Jeff Moon homered once and singled twice, while Haas, Norm Kubitsky, Bill Carlton and Gary Callendar each had two hits for Novi Bowl. Tim and Rick Parks each had two hits, a run and an RBI for Northridge.

DALES' GRAPHICS 9, JAYCEES 8: Anyone who came to the game late missed the fun, as each team scored four in the first and three in the second. But Dale's picked up two more runs in the third inning, while the Jaycees could only manage one in the fifth. Dales' Jim Mills and Marty Rapson of the Jaycees each clobbered first-inning home runs. Don Dales went 4-for-5 for the winners, while Tom Halm and Jamie Matthews each picked up three singles. For the Jaycees, Rapson went 3-for-4, as did Mark Rhodes, who doubled twice and singled once.

O'SHEEHAN'S ON THE GREEN 14, THERMAL SASH 5: No surprises as the American League leaders remained undefeated with power hitting aplenty. Mark Reinward went 4-for-4 with two singles, a triple and a home run for the Greens. John Boland also homered, Todd Els hit three singles, and Dan Thomas and Tim Doyle each hit a pair of doubles for the winners. John Wiedman hit a two-run homer for Thermal Sash, while teammate John Foley went 3-for-3.

GETZIE'S 15, WAGON WHEEL 8: In the Battle of the Bars, it was Getzie's who came out on top with a miraculous 12-run rally in the bottom of the sixth. Down 8-3 going into the inning, Jim LaPlant singled to start off a streak of seven consecutive hits. Smack in the middle of the streak was a homer by Mark Lisousk. Five more singles and a Craig Forhan's second double of the inning turned a sure loss into a resounding win. Tex Trumbell was 3-for-3 for Getzie's with two singles and a triple. Wagon Wheel rolled up seven runs in the fifth on six straight hits. Greg Polmarc was 3-for-3 and Jim Behn 3-for-4 for Wagon Wheel.

LONG MECHANICAL 6, ARIES 2: Long pitcher Rick Bingley blanked Aries for six innings before allowing two in the final inning to pick up the win. Bingley and Ron Tini were the only Long's players with two hits. Tini doubling twice and Bingley singling twice. Steve Rennie, Jerry Vanderhoof and Chris Miller each had two hits for Aries.
