Parents protest school district bus policy

By MICHELE McELMURRY

A handful of concerned parents turned out at the Northville Board of Education meeting Monday to protest the district's current busing policy.

Since the elimination of six bus routes in August, 1981, following the defeat of a 9.5 mill renewal and subsequent passage of a lesser millage proposal, complaints about the district's bus policy have been an annual rite of the back-to-school season.

Parents addressing the board Monday evening primarily voiced concern about the district's policy of busing only students who live one and one-half miles or more from their assigned schools. The board's policy follows the State of Michigan guidelines.

Patricia Warner of 932 Novi Street and the mother of an afternoon kindergarten voiced concern about her daughter walking alone to Amerman in the middle of the day.

She said she was not concerned about her daughter returning home from school as there are older children to accompany her.

However, she noted that some morning kindergartners in her area are returned by bus in the mid-afternoon. She told the board she felt that the policy was inconsistent if morning kindergartners were being dropped off at home but afternoon kindergartners were not being picked up.

School Superintendent George Bell acknowledged that some morning kindergartners are dropped off in mid-afternoon — regardless of the district's one and one-half mile busing policy.

He also pointed out to Warner that she lives three-tenths of a mile from Amerman and that there are sidewalks and safety patrols on duty.

Warner, who said she has been driving her daughter to school, also voiced concern about the current congestion problem in Amerman's south parking lot.

She said she felt the parking congestion posed a real safety hazard for students and noted parents are dropping off afternoon kindergartners as well as preschoolers during the lunch recess period.

"There are kids all over the place," she pointed out.

The board directed the administration to look into the parking situation at Amerman and board trustee Karen Wilkinson also asked that the busing policy for kindergartners be investigated to try to resolve the safety problem and insure consistency.

Swan Harbor residents Debbie Nelson and Lianna Fella voiced concern regarding the district's busing route to Silver Springs Elementary School.

Nelson, whose elementary-age son walks to school, told the board she has concerns about her son's safety in light of the traffic volume along Seven Mile Road.

She also protested the board's changes in its busing policy.

She noted that her son has been bused to school for two years and was bused the first day of the current school year before being told he would have to walk.

The board noted that there has been no change in its busing policy since 1981. However, this year the district is more strictly enforcing its policy on busing only students who live outside the one and one-half mile radius to their respective school.

Bell noted that "there has been a history of drivers picking up kids who live within the one and one-half mile range — even though the district is penalized."

"This has been going on since long before I got here," he noted.

The district's transportation is supported in part by categorical aid from the state and the district is only reimbursed by the state for mileage beyond

Police continue panther search in township

Several more sightings of a supposed black panther have been reported to Northville Township Police during the past week.

Township Police Captain Philip Presnell said police have logged "five or six" reported sightings by township residents since last Wednesday.

He noted the last sighting occurred at 8:30 a.m. Monday in the area of Seven Mile and Fry and is "reasonably consistent" with the original reports logged August 29 and 30.

Another sighting was reported at 5:37 p.m. Friday on Steepleview west of Bradner.

The first reported sighting of what was believed to be a black panther occurred at 9:15 a.m. August 29 in the Ridge Court area between Six and Seven Mile roads. A second sighting was reported in the same area around midnight August 30.

Presnell said that in light of the recent sightings, police are continuing their investigation and are urging residents to be cautious.

He further noted that federal officials confirmed that paw impressions obtained from the Ridge Court area belong to an animal in the "large cat family."

Police have been working with other police departments as well as agents from the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Department in their investigation. Additional township police patrols also have been put out to scout the area where the sightings were reported.

The animal has been described as being approximately four feet long with a two-to-three foot tail, light colored whiskers and about 150 pounds in weight.

Police said they believe the animal sighted in Northville Township is the same one sought by Wixom Police, who have been searching for the panther since mid-July.

Another panther also has eluded Manchester police for the past several months.

Presnell said police are asking residents to call township police should they spot the animal. Residents missing animals — specifically dogs, cattle or horses — also should contact police.

The captain also said residents should keep their dogs inside, should not investigate dog barking and should not walk their dogs near wooded areas.

Garage doors and out buildings also should be kept closed. Presnell noted that if cornered, a panther may try to defend itself.

Small children also should be kept close to home and youngsters should be cautioned against playing in wooded areas and open fields, he noted.

Football fever

Kristin VanderBok goes airborne to cheer on the Mustang football team in last Friday's season opener. Giving her a lift are Robin Strunk and Mina Rahimi. The Northville High School cheerleaders must have been doing something right — the Mustang gridders stunned defending Kensington Valley Conference champion Brighton 16-7. State GOP selects candidates

By KEVIN WILSON

Michigan's Grand Old Party had a rare old time at the Westin Hotel and Cobo Hall in downtown Detroit last weekend at this year's second state Republican convention.

While there was work to be done — the selection of electors for the presidential electoral college and candidates for the state supreme court, board of education and three university boards — the main business at hand seemed to be having a good time while raising some money for the fall campaign.

District caucuses were scheduled for three hours — 9 p.m. to midnight — Friday at the Westin. Business took roughly one-half hour, with the remainder devoted to listening to speeches from candidates, joke-telling and the sale of tickets to Saturday's reception for vice president George Bush.

At the Second Congressional District caucus, Northville delegates and politicians listened to district chairman Michael Legg of Livonia and his entertaining efforts to keep delegates from leaving the somewhat dull and repetitive speeches for the food-and-drink spreads at dozens of hospitality suites in Westin rooms. Elevators at the Ren-Cen hotel were jammed with would-be party-goers and dozens eventually gave up on efforts to reach the upper floors.

Legg was tapped as the district's representative to the electoral college and said he considered it a great honor and that he hoped to cast "a real vote for a really great president" in December. If the Michigan popular vote favors the Republican presidential ticket, Legg will be among the state's 20 representatives to the electoral college, which casts the actual ballot for president.

Selected to serve on the state party's credentials committee was Northville resident John Leinonen, elected in August as a delegate from Northville Township precinct three.

Others attending the caucus included Elma Belasco from the city and from the township Gregory Dawson and Myron Kasey, both elected delegates in August though they fell short in bids for election to the township board. Township clerk Susan Heintz and deputy clerk Georgina Goss, both members of the host committee for the convention, hob-nobbed with state representative Gerald Law, state senator Robert Geake and Denise Radtke of Congressman Carl Pursell's district office.

While Legg tried and failed to convince the caucus to debate several issues to be voted on during the convention, Heintz perused photographs of the national convention in Dallas. The photos, brought to the caucus by Livonia's Elaine Donnelly, featured Donnelly, Heintz, Legg and several other Michigan politicians at various convention events.

While listening politely to several candidates, those at the caucus were anticipating an appearance by Robert Griffin, former U.S. Senator and a candidate for the state supreme court. He was said to be in the next room and "three minutes away" from the Second District caucus. When Griffin did not show up in the following 45 minutes, delegates began trickling out of the room and heading for the hospitality rooms.

Partially making up for Griffin's absence was an appearance by Dorothy Comstock Riley, also a supreme court candidate. Her speech, in which she called for a court that "understands its role is to interpret the law and not to make it," was one of the few to produce a lot of audience response in the caucus room.

While politicking was generally low key and clean, an occasional extremist managed to draw gasps from the delegates. Prominent in this group was

Jewelry store break-in nets thousands in goods

It took between three and five minutes early Sunday morning to pull off what is believed to be the biggest store theft in Northville history.

According to city police reports, at 4:29 a.m. Northville City Police received a call from Orin Jewelers' contracted alarm service. Police arrived at the business at Main and Center at 4:30 a.m., discovering the plate glass front door had been shattered.

By that time, jewelry later estimated at "at least $35,000" in value had been cleaned out from two display cases inside the store. As of yesterday, the Mazzoni family, who own the store, and insurance agents were still tabulating a more precise estimate.

Orin Mazzoni Jr. said yesterday he expected a final estimate to be prepared "within a week."

Police believe the theft took place this way:

Person(s) used a 30-pound cement block to smash in the front door window, triggering one of the jewelry store's two alarm systems.

According to Mazzoni, the alarm was triggered at 4:27 a.m. and relayed to city police within the next two minutes.

The cement block was used to smash the plate glass top to the first display case on the left inside the store. The case's contents were stolen and the cement block left atop the case.

The fifth display case on the right was also broken into. The base of a mirror kept atop one of the display cases was used to shatter its plate glass top.

The culprit got away by heading north on Center Street and ducking into the alley/walkway leading to the parking lot behind the Main Street and east Center Street stores.

Investigators believe this was the escape route because 25 feet north of Main on Center, a yellow-gold ladies ring and a man's ring with an aquamarine stone were discovered on the sidewalk. By the time police arrived, nobody could be seen in the vicinity.

The scene has been dusted for fingerprints, and city police are continuing to investigate. It is expected an insurance company investigation also will be conducted.

According to a preliminary theft report (an exact inventory of stolen merchandise still is being conducted), stolen merchandise included: 80 gold mountings, 48 stone rings, 15 assorted gold pendants, bracelets and rings, three gold chains, one credit Swiss gold piece, a one-ounce Kruggerand gold piece, a $20 gold piece money clip and a 32nd degree Masonic ring.

Theft stuns shop owner

By B.J. MARTIN

Orin Mazzoni Jr. has seen it before. His family's jewelry store in Garden City had been broken into in November, 1980. Thieves ransacked the building for a loss of more than $50,000 in stolen goods. And now a comparable theft had been pulled off in Northville in the store he had opened just last year.

"There are a lot of good people who don't want to think about things like that happening in our town," Mazzoni said yesterday about Sunday's theft. "A lot of people who came by our store

Cummings meets British women Jaycees on trip

By JEAN DAY

When Northville Jaycees' president Bob Cummings called a Jaycee in Ireland during a European vacation last month, he little realized that it would lead to meeting the national president of all the Scottish Jaycees — Heather Sheerin.

"That's right — Heather," says Cummings, adding that the meeting took place in Inverness. "There's absolutely no problem. British women are full members," reports Cummings.

"I'm trying to get this through to my members. I know it's going to work. It's been proven right there," Cummings adds, referring to the controversy that has developed in the organization since the U.S. Supreme Court ruling of July 3 permitting states to use anti-discrimination laws to require Jaycees to admit women to regular membership.

First nationally, and then in Michigan in mid-August the Jaycee organization approved admitting women to full membership.

Nothing that locally the women's group has until the end of October to merge with the Northville Jaycees, Cummings says he met last week with Debbie Belkowski, president of the Jaycee Women, and other members and is meeting at 8 p.m. tonight with the Jaycee board at city hall.

"I'm hoping we can combine both boards — I don't mind sharing my office," says Cummings, expressing his hopes for "a positive attitude."

His month-long trip with visits with Jaycee members in Ireland, Scotland, England and Germany has reinforced his belief that the U.S. merger can work.

Cummings joined his nephew, Dan Cooper of Walled Lake, who had been working last summer in a London hotel, and the two toured Britain by car. Cooper now is back at his University of Michigan studies and Cummings is at work at Ford Dearborn in design.

Amerman plans garage sale

Now that the kids are back in school, it's time to rummage through the house for items to sell at the Amerman Community Wide Garage Sale, to be held Saturday, September 29.

Everyone in the community is invited to rent space and sell household items (for their own profit) at the sale, which will run from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m.

The charge for a ten-foot space is $15. The P.T.A. also will have a booth for goods donated to the sale. Anyone who has items to get rid of but does not wish to sell them himself can drop the items off at the P.T.A. booth on Saturday.

To reserve a space for the garage sale, contact Judy Beyersdorf at 349-0637 or Mary Carrington at 348-6259 before September 19.

In case of rain, the sale will be held Saturday, October 6.

Air patrol open house slated

Northville residents of both Oakland and Wayne counties are invited to attend an open house of the Sixgate Composite Civil Air Patrol Squadron at 7 p.m. next Tuesday at Novi Middle School South, 25299 Taft.

In issuing the invitation, Lieutenant Timothy Dickinson explains that, while the group meets in Novi, it has more members from Northville than from any other community.

He describes the concept of Civil Air Patrol as "elementary school for the Air Force Academy" that stresses humanitarian and civilian projects.

Bike lights promoted

All Northville area residents who own bicycles — both young and old — are invited to participate in "Lite-a-Bike Day" this Saturday.

In a program sponsored locally by the Northville Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 4912 and its auxiliary, reflecting strips of tape will be attached to all bicycles brought to the post at 438 South Main between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. There will be no charge for this service.

A community service officer for the city will be on hand if anyone wishes to register a bike. There is a $1 fee for this registration.

In recognition of the program, Northville City Council proclaimed the week of September 8-15 as Bike Week in Northville.

Signed by Mayor Paul R. Vernon, the proclamation, in part, states, "There is a definite need for safety precautions such as lighting and marking bikes so they may be clearly seen at night and a need to mark bikes for identification purposes."

It also notes that "it has been proven that riding bikes is not only enjoyable but healthy exercise, and, with the energy crisis there will be more and more people riding bikes as a method of transportation to work."

EPA bounces super sewer report, project threatened

Local costs for a sewer project designed to serve the area well into the next century could nearly double, perhaps killing it altogether, if state and federal officials do not come to some agreement in the next week.

The federal Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) last week rejected the state DNR's proposal for the Huron-Rouge Valley sewer interceptor project, stating that the DNR report requesting funding was inadequate.

Formerly known as "super sewer," the portion of the project critically affected by the EPA move is the northern section including Canton, Plymouth, Northville and Novi and known as the North Huron Valley-Rouge Valley Wastewater Control System. It would start in Commerce Township, serve 17 communities and route sewage to Detroit.

Citing technical concerns regarding the project's environmental impact, the possibility it would encourage urban sprawl, and insufficient documentation of its need in Plymouth, Canton and Commerce townships, the EPA's Chicago office rejected the application.

Approval in the current federal fiscal year, ending September 30, is crucial to the project. Before that date, federal funding would be 75 percent of the total cost. In the following year, only 55 percent federal funding will be available.

Frank Naglich, of the Oakland Coun-

'The DNR said they could meet all the requirements. They were calling all the shots and telling everyone what to do. Somehow they failed.'

— Maurice Breen

Plymouth Township supervisor

ty Sewer and Water Division, explained the action that took place last week: "The EPA rejected the project and an appeal was filed. We submitted more data and answered their questions on the environmental assessment. They also questioned the impact of construction and development. They got into technical areas and I think we answered them."

The difference in cost to the local communities participating in the $120 million project is $24 million — enough to prompt some communities to withdraw, officials fear.

Susan Heintz, unopposed candidate for Northville Township supervisor and director of the Conference of Western Wayne, said the EPA rejection was "bad news" but that Northville Township, at least, will continue to pursue the project regardless of the federal share.

"Keep in mind that this plan is a great deal less costly than the one we were prepared to participate in before," she said. "We'll have to wait and see what happens, but I don't think it's the end for us."

Heintz noted that the problems cited by the EPA are similar to those claimed by Plymouth and Canton townships in a lawsuit filed against the DNR. The townships filed suit after the northern tier communities were split from the larger project, which includes downriver cities and townships and a new treatment plant in Brownstown Township.

The DNR last year demanded that the northern communities create a separate project utilizing the present Rouge Valley system and Detroit processing plant. Shouting that the move was "politically-motivated" to appease Detroit mayor Coleman Young, Plymouth and Canton opposed the split in court while several other communities, including Northville Township, participated in the split project while questioning it.

Opposition from the northern communities includes questions regarding the sufficiency of capacity in the Detroit treatment plant — the EPA echoes that question in its concern regarding provisions for overflow from the system to be dumped into the Rouge River.

Plymouth Township supervisor Maurice Breen told the Plymouth Observer this week that when his community filed the legal challenge to the split system it did not really anticipate EPA rejection "but it doesn't surprise us either. When we met with the EPA in Chicago, they said they knew of the problems that were inherent" in the plan.

Plymouth and Canton townships did sign service agreements binding them to the plan even though the lawsuit is still outstanding. Breen suggested they had little choice.

"The DNR said they could meet all the requirements. They were calling all the shots and telling everyone what to do. Somehow they failed," he said. "We thought it would be pretty routine at the EPA because they had delegated this review to the DNR," Naglich said. "The DNR had finally accepted the program."

The split system was approved by the DNR after lengthy reviews. "It is hard to say what the problem at the EPA is," commented Naglich. "Maybe its political. Perhaps they have just decided they don't want to spend the money. Maybe they are concerned environmentally."

Heintz suggested that a return to the joint "super sewer" project might address the EPA concerns.

Wayne and Oakland county officials were scrambling this week to obtain EPA approval before the end of the fiscal year. Heintz noted that the Wayne County executive's office has been active in the battle for federal approval, with executive William Lucas meeting with vice president George Bush last weekend when the vice president was in town for the state GOP convention.

Bush contacted the EPA requesting further analysis of the information and additional information presented by DNR representatives last Friday.

EPA water director Charles Sutfin said the information would be reviewed but did not hold out much hope for approval this year.

In his letter rejecting the plan last week, Sutfin said the concerns were significant and substantive. "In our opinion, these issues will require a substantial amount of data gathering and analysis and cannot be satisfactorily resolved by the end of this week," he wrote.

If 75 percent funding is lost, it is possible that Michigan's Congressional delegation could push through legislation supplying more than the 55 percent maximum for next year's system.

Diploma's life 'accomplishment'

By MICHELE McELMURRY

For Rise Burke, going back to school meant a little more than packing a book bag and buying new notebooks and folders.

The 27-year-old divorced mother and township resident on Maxwell Road headed back to the classroom two years ago to complete an education which had been on hold for nearly a decade.

Through Northville Public Schools' Community Education Program, Rise Burke received her coveted high school diploma in May. However, it was not without considerable determination and effort.

A Northville native, Burke attended Livonia Public Schools until the fifth grade when her family relocated in Missouri.

"I quit after the 11th grade," she says of her school days in the south. "I decided I didn't want to go to school anymore... I wanted to get married."

After seven years of marriage, Burke says she and her husband divorced and she moved back to Northville with her daughter Christy, 7.

She says her decision to complete her high school education was not a difficult one.

Though she had held a number of jobs from waitressing to nurses aide, Burke says she realized she "had no training whatsoever."

After a little soul searching, Burke went back to high school. Though she took GED classes, Burke says she wasn't getting enough out of them and decided to go the full course.

"I decided if I was going to do it, I was going to go all out," she notes.

"Besides the separate classes helped me a whole lot," Burke notes, adding that the GED courses only offered her brief summaries of each subject.

After two years of courses, Burke earned her diploma.

"I felt like this was one of the biggest accomplishments in my life," she relates, noting that with a high school diploma under her belt she felt more confident heading into the workplace.

However, while she felt more marketable with a high school diploma, Burke said she decided to continue her education before moving into the workforce.

Currently a student at Detroit Business Institute, she is working toward completing a program in data processing and hopes to work as a data processing secretary.

She notes that her decision to seek a career in data processing stems from a longtime interest in computers.

Currently keeping an "above B" average, Burke says she expects to complete the program next June.

With her mother babysitting for Christy, Burke says she divides her time between classes and homework.

"It really keeps me busy," she says. "I come home and I'm right back into the books again."

Lloyd H. Green Post 147 of the American Legion in Northville paid tribute to its senior members at an honors dinner August 29.

Dr. Waldo T. Johnson of Northville was cited for his 61 years of continuous membership.

George E. Shoebridge, now of Milford, was cited for 59 continuous years.

John F. Lewis of Salem was honored "for maintaining the high standards of the American Legion for 34 continuous years."

Also honored but not present were Antonio Belanger of Pontiac for his 50 years of continuous membership and Merrill Sweet of Delray Beach, Florida, for 63 continuous years.

Milt Lobstein, past Department of Michigan Commander, made the presentations.

It was also noted that at the time of his death earlier this year Charles Freydl Sr. had 63 years' continuous membership with the Lloyd H. Green Post.

The post thanked the dinner committee of Tiny Utley, Judy Utley, Ruby Galloway, Doris Myers, Joanne Kearns, Mickey Larno, Marilyn Stockelman, Mary Funke, Lorraine DeBoutte, Diane LaPrise, Pat Alkire, Betty Durham, El Durham and Hank Gardner.

Police Blotters

Automobile, parts reported stolen in separate cases

In the township...

A 1984 Pontiac Trans Am was stolen from a Norwood Court residence sometime between 9 p.m. September 6 and 6:15 a.m. September 7, township police report.

The complainant told police the vehicle was parked in the Norwood Court parking lot at the time the incident occurred. He also stated the vehicle was locked and the keys were in the house.

The complainant further stated that approximately two weeks ago the vehicle was stolen from the Fairlane Town Center parking lot in Dearborn.

He added that Dearborn police recovered the auto.

Township police confirmed the incident with Dearborn police and entered the vehicle into LEIN (Law Enforcement Information Network).

Estimated value of the vehicle was listed as $16,500.

A 1973 Mercury Monterey stolen from the parking lot of a Novi shopping center was recovered by Northville Township police on the north shore of Lake Success August 8.

According to the police report, an officer was dispatched to the scene at approximately 7 p.m. on a report of a vehicle at the shore of Lake Success with the engine running and no occupants in the vicinity.

Upon arrival, the officer observed the vehicle with the key in the ignition and the engine running.

Police at the scene noted the vehicle to be in extremely poor condition with extreme rust. Fresh damage also was noted on the windshield and rear window. The head and tail lights also were broken out.

A rock was observed on the front seat and a small roll of chain link fencing was found in the back seat. No license plates were on the vehicle.

The owner of the vehicle, a 16-year-old Novi resident, was notified about the incident. Police were told the car was stolen from the parking lot of A & P at Ten Mile and Meadowbrook at approximately 5:15 p.m. that day. The owner had not yet notified Novi police about the incident.

The officer noted that investigation at the scene indicated that an attempt to dump the vehicle in the gravel pit was unsuccessful due to sand at the water's edge.

Chains and binders valued at $555 were reported stolen from a Gerald Street hauling firm sometime between 5:30 p.m. September 4 and 8 a.m. September 5, police report.

The complainant told police unknown suspects removed the 10 chains and binders of various lengths from the top of a flatbed trailer.

...In the City

Nearly $2,500 in auto parts were stolen from nine autos kept on the McDonald Ford parking lots at Seven Mile and South Main. Twenty-four wire wheel covers were reported stolen from six Crown Victoria LTD's and three 1984 Escorts. Also taken were three Escort trunk emblems and two LTD trunk emblems.

No apparent use of force was used in the thefts, which took place between August 10 and last Wednesday. Police are continuing to investigate the incidents.

A sliding glass door to a Northville Green apartment (Randolph and Eight Mile Road) was shattered by an unknown object at 5:10 p.m. last Wednesday. The apartment resident could not find the object which shattered the west-facing window. Damage was estimated at $150.

...From State Police

A clock radio and calculator, together valued at about $250, were reported stolen from a Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital office last week, according to state police reports.

The items went missing while the employee who works in the office was on vacation between August 22 and September 9, the report states. There was no sign of forced entry to the office, and security forces could not trace who could have had access to keys during that period.

The missing radio, valued at $50, was described as a GE AM-FM clock radio and was owned by the employee. The TCA electronic tabletop calculator with paper tape readout was state-owned and valued at $199. The radio was on the desk, the calculator on a table behind the desk beside a window. Whoever took the calculator had to move a personal computer to reach the cord, police reported. The computer was not damaged or taken.

keys for office spaces within the hospital is almost non-existent," making it virtually impossible to establish who could have had access to the room. Police questioned several individuals but could establish no positive suspects.

The report states that "the control of later Sunday and found out what had happened were outraged. They were extremely upset this had happened in Northville, in such a close-knit town.

Jewelry store break-in 'disturbing'

"The biggest thing that upsets me," he continued, "is that there is somebody who had the nerve to come in and destroy and steal this property right in the middle of town."

Mazzoni said he at first found it hard to believe the theft could have taken place in the short time it did. "But then I walked through, and I can see it really wouldn't take too long. When you clean out 80 gold mountings it adds up pretty fast."

"The first time this happened to me," he said, speaking of the Garden City store heist, "all those emotions of rage and anger came over me. You feel like someone has invaded your privacy."

The theft at the brand-new, remodeled Northville store was unsettling in a different way. "It's not just the money," he explained. "As a businessman you take a lot of pride in the way you put your building together and the way you run your business. And here a guy comes in and ruins all that ... It's very disturbing."

"Whoever did it had been to the store and knew what he was doing — a real pro — or else he was very, very lucky knowing just which cases to hit. I mean, someone coming in and breaking in through a Main Street door two blocks from the police station with patrol cars on the road. This guy had some nerve."

Mazzoni said the plate "safety" glass window of the store's front door would be replaced with more durable "riot" glass, which all the windows now have. "You can still eventually break it, but it might take three or four minutes of smashing away at it," he explained.

"You know it upsets people when we keep a guard in our store," Mazzoni added. "People told me that kind of thing isn't needed around here."

"But it's not the people around here I'm worried about," he said. "It's people from outside the community, maybe some guy cruising through town looking for an easy mark. And if I need to take precautions to insure the safety of my workers and my customers, that's what I have to do."

"In a way, I'm glad it happened when it did, at night," he added. "I don't like to think about someone, maybe some junkie trying this during the day here. Even with a guard."

Mazzoni said he thought city police and his alarm company did a good job responding to the alarm, and added he had confidence police would do a good job with their continuing investigation.

Cummings brings European ideas for Jaycees

They clocked 3,800 miles on the car, visiting Ireland, Scotland and England. Cummings recalls that he gave the Jaycees in Carlow, Ireland, only a few hours notice of his coming when he called from Waterford. He admits he was surprised at the warmth of the welcome, both in Carlow and Wexford.

From the Michigan Jaycee president, Cummings had gotten medallions to present to presidents of the European chapters.

"We were off to a good start (in Ireland)," Cummings recalls, declaring it would be "hard to top what they did."

In Carlow the Jaycees presented a Castle souvenir to Cummings as he gave them the Michigan medallion. "They even had the newspaper on hand to cover it," he relates. Both in Wexford and Carlow the visitors were "shown the sights."

They were invited to stay with Con O'Neill, deputy national president of the junior chamber of Ireland. It was he who called Scottish president Sheerin in Inverness to arrange their visit.

"She had a dinner party and made us the traditional dinner with haggis,"

Cummings relates.

In Europe, Cummings mentions, the Jaycee organization is known as JCI — Jaycees International.

"They don't rely on community support," he says of the British Jaycee organizations. "They are sponsored by companies. Heather Sheerin got Vat 69, the whiskey firm, as national Scottish sponsor."

The British Jaycees have many similarities with the American chapters, Cummings points out, mentioning the Carlow chapter had a barbecue.

"It's very similar — they have about the same number of members — we're thinking of 'twining' with them — they suggested it."

"They're quite involved and have many awards for international projects, similar to what we have."

Cummings also visited the two-city Jaycee chapter of Leamington and Warwick and met its president, John Starley.

Cummings says he told the British Jaycees about such projects as the Halloween Haunted House. They were "very interested," he reports.

"One thing they do that I'm thinking of checking into is that they wear a badge of office, maybe two to three inches in diameter, hung on a ribbon at their meetings and JCI functions."

As much as Cummings found the British Jaycees similar, he discovered that in Germany they "were totally different."

He talked with Hermann Neusser Jr. of the Bonn chapter and reports that the youngest member was 30 with the chapter members' age range going to 40 in contrast to the U.S. age range of 18 to 35.

"There were no restrictions on women in Germany, but to be a Jaycee a German must have his own business, or be a high ranking official in his company."

Cummings says he asked the groups he visited in Britain and Germany to send him their bylaws. He understands some restrict their memberships "so there are no housewives" while another stipulated that no more than 25 percent of the membership could be women.

Noting that the Jaycee Women chapter in Northville currently has seven members, Cummings has been conferring with members of the Jaycees individually to report that internationally women are accepted and that there "should be no problem" locally.

"We'll have to decide how many projects we'll have," he notes, citing the blood drives, haunted house and Christmas Toys for Tots and visits to Santa as ones the auxiliary always had assisted. The Jaycee Women, he listed, have had their own projects.

KENNETH J. GIVENS

Kenneth J. Givens of Salem Township, a life resident of the area, died unexpectedly at St. Joseph Hospital in Ann Arbor September 1. A bus driver for the Ann Arbor Transit Authority, he was 28.

Funeral service was held at 11 a.m. September 5, at Salem Bible Church in Salem. Officiant was Pastor Dennis Hacker of King of Kings Lutheran Church in Ann Arbor where Mr. Givens was a member. Mr. Givens also was very active in sports.

He was born March 15, 1956, in Ypsilanti to Morris and Julia (Lewis) Givens. He married Rose Ann Henry October 17, 1981.

In addition to his wife, he leaves a son Kenneth II at home, sisters Margaret Givens Green of Romulus and Susan Givens Strong of Ypsilanti, brothers Vince and Daniel of Ann Arbor, Vance, Raymond and Joel of Salem.

Burial was in Thayer Cemetery in Northville Township. Visitation and arrangements were by Casterline Funeral Home in Northville. Memorials are suggested to Kenneth Givens II.

JAMES THOMAS NALLE

Northville resident James Thomas Nalle died August 31 at Botsford General Hospital in Farmington Hills after an illness of several months. He was 73.

A retired machinist at American Standard, he had moved to the community from Redford in 1981.

He was born May 10, 1911, in Fort Defiance, West Virginia, to John B. and Lillian (Tittlow) Nalle. He married Carrie Smith Nalle who survives.

He also leaves sons Ernest and Charles and a sister Ruth Ann Areland in Kentucky.

Funeral service was held at 11 a.m. September 4 at Casterline Funeral Home with the Reverend Eric Hammar of First United Methodist Church of Northville officiating. Burial was in Oakland Hills Memorial Gardens in Novi.

HATTIE LOUISE DAHL

Hattie Louise Dahl, who lived most of her life in this area, died unexpectedly September 4 in University Hospital in Augusta, Georgia, at the age of 82.

She was a homemaker and a retiree of Dahl Awning Company.

Funeral service was held at 11 a.m. Thursday at Casterline Funeral Home in Northville. Officiant was Dr. Lawrence Chamberlain, senior pastor of First Presbyterian Church of Northville where she had been a member. Mrs. Dahl also was a 50-year member of the Plymouth chapter of Eastern Star.

Burial was in Lapham Cemetery in Salem Township.

Mrs. Dahl was born December 29, 1901, in Superior, Wisconsin, to Nelson and Hattie Rose (Fields) Williams. She married Arthur R. Dahl who preceded her in death June 6, 1979. One sister also preceded her in death.

She leaves sons David A. Dahl of Livonia and Raymond E. Dahl of Augusta, Georgia, a sister Mrs. Doris Marshall of Plymouth, and six grandchildren.

The family suggests that memorial tributes may be made to First Presbyterian Church of Northville.

RAYMOND JOHN LADA

Raymond John Lada of Northville died August 31 at Botsford General Hospital in Farmington Hills. He was 52.

Funeral service was held at 10 a.m. September 4 at Our Lady of Victory Church in Northville where he was a member. Father Frank Pollicie officiated. Visitation and prayers were at Casterline Funeral Home. Burial was in Rural Hill Cemetery in Northville.

A retired steelworker, Mr. Lada moved to the community from Detroit in 1981.

Mr. Lada was born July 18, 1932, in Detroit to Walter and Alexandra (Poniatowski) Lada. He married Margaret Burns Lada who survives.

He also leaves sons Daniel, Martin, Stephen, Glenn and Christopher, three brothers Sylvester, Casimer and Richard, and three grandchildren.

RUTH M. HOLMES

Funeral service for Ruth M. Holmes was held at 10 a.m. Monday at Casterline Funeral Home with Father Frank Pollicie of Our Lady of Victory Church officiating. Mrs. Holmes, who was 86, died September 6 in Delray Beach, Florida.

She had been a Northville Township resident of Beck Road from 1929 until moving to Palm Beach, Florida, several years ago.

She was retired from Detroit Edison. Mrs. Holmes was born July 19, 1898, in Detroit to John H. and Katherine (Hannan) Marlborough. She married Thomas M. Holmes who preceded her in death June 16, 1972.

She leaves a son Thomas Holmes of Post Falls, Idaho. Burial was in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery in Southfield.

HARVEY A. ALDRICH

Harvey A. Aldrich of Independence, Michigan, brother of Edna Leonard of Northville, died August 17. He was 63. He worked for General Motors Corporation before retiring and was a member of the National Rifle Association and a veteran of World War II.

He also leaves sisters Ellen Easin, Iva Vaughn and Marie Gossett; brothers Paul, Fred and Arthur.

Funeral services were August 23 at the Thayer-Rock Funeral Home in Farmington with the Reverend V.F. Halboth officiating. Burial was in Oakland Hills Cemetery in Novi.

ELDEN B. BIERY

A memorial service for former Northville resident Elden B. Biery will be held at 11 a.m. Saturday at First Presbyterian Church of Northville where he had been a member.

Dr. Lawrence Chamberlain, senior pastor, and the Reverend Lloyd Brasore, pastor emeritus, will officiate.

Mr. Biery died August 28 in Cocoa Beach, Florida, where he had been living for the past year since moving from Northville.

Mr. Biery, who was a former supervisor at Burroughs, was 70.

Mr. Biery leaves his wife Arline, sons Dick and Don, all of Cocoa Beach, son David of Staunton, Virginia, sisters Kathryn Lee and Ruth Black, both of Detroit, another sister Grace Willis of Columbus, Ohio, six grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

GOP nominates candidates

Frederick S. Klein, running a campaign for the state board of education.

A former teacher with experience in the Detroit public schools, Klein as-tounded listeners with a reference to the MEA (Michigan Education Association — a teachers' union) as the "Michigan Extortion Agency." He up-ped the rhetorical assault with a reference to the education establish-ment as being dominated by "The Three S's — the sickles, the stupids and the big S, Satan."

Klein didn't gather much support when nominations were made Saturday — the candidates are Dorothy Beard-more, former member of the Rochester school board and current member of the Oakland County Intermediate School District board, and Cherry Jacobus, a two-term member of the East Grand Rapids school board.

Those who stuck it out at the caucus heard nearly all the eventual nominees, including U-M Regent candidates Neal Nielsen, a Brighton attorney, and Veronica Latta Smith, Grosse Ile businesswoman.

Other nominees: MSU Board of Trustees — Kathy Wilbur of East Lansing and Dean Pridgeon, former director of the state department of agriculture, of Mont-gomery.

Wayne State Board of Governors — Dr. Gary Artinian, heart specialist from Birmingham, and George Bashara, attorney and former appeals court judge. State Supreme Court — Riley for an eight-year term, Griffin for a six-year term and former lieutenant governor and Eastern Michigan University president James Brickley. Brickley is the sole incumbent, running for the remain-ing four years of a term former gover-nor William Milliken appointed him to shortly before leaving office in 1982.

Live elephant a Detroit star

Next to U.S. Vice President George Bush, the star fund-raiser of last weekend's Republican state convention in Detroit was a fellow named Jack.

Jack is an elephant who plays har-monica, does other parlor tricks (if you have a very large parlor) and, most im-portantly, poses for photographs with Republicans who toss up $5 apiece for the privilege of holding his trunk while the cameraman does his thing.

The arrangements for Jack's visit to the convention were among the ac-tivities of the host committee, including township clerk and deputy clerk Susan Heintz and Georgina Goss.

Bush's appearance, scheduled late in the planning process, somewhat upstaged the host committee's ac-tivities. The hour and one-half recep-tion for the vice president ate up time during which the committee had plann-ed to show inspirational films like those shown delegates in Dallas, Heintz ex-plained.

"They had Jack Lousma speak in the morning, and we followed the regular schedule until the Bush reception," Heintz said. "We had the Northwest High School jazz band, they were really good, that sort of thing."

Heintz said the Bush reception raised "tons of money for the state party and that will trickle down to the districts" for the upcoming campaign.

Speeches by Lousma and Bush were notable, Heintz said, for "staying away from low-blow politics." She said Lousma referred to his Democratic op-ponent Carl Levin as a "decent honorable man who is wrong on the issues." Bush used nearly identical words in reference to Speaker of the House Tip O'Neill. The vice president was making reference to Levin as one of the "most liberal" senators and classing him with O'Neill and Massachusetts Senator Edward Ken-nedy.

Sewer rejection was avoidable

Let's talk about irony. About how the state DNR in its wisdom passed up the opportunity to proceed more than one year ago with a super sewer project that likely would have received EPA approval and how the EPA subsequently rejected the "better idea" the DNR invented in its place.

We were told last year that the combined super sewer project was too large and ignored concerns about the viability of Detroit's wastewater treatment plant, and therefore would not be eligible for EPA funding administered by the DNR. We never heard an EPA decision on that — the DNR managed to reject the plan without ever submitting it. As a hammer to force compliance with its wishes, the DNR threatened to impose a moratorium on new construction in the area if the suburbs did not go along. Communities that had worked for years to design an eligible system justifiably shouted "foul" and whispered that the DNR action was a product of a Democratic administration in Lansing playing in the hands of the City of Detroit.

What few looked forward toward at that time was last week's action — in which a Republican federal administration proved far less susceptible to political pressure from Detroit and started looking at the plan rationally. Why, the EPA asked, is so much sewage being routed to the Detroit plant that planners have suggested an overflow into the Rouge River? Isn't overflow of raw sewage into that very river one of the primary arguments for building the system in the first place?

And, if the DNR's split system is such a great idea, why are two of the communities involved suing to stay with the older version of the plan and others going along only grudgingly? The DNR argues that the "inadequate" report that accompanied the sewer grant application is "no one's fault" but just the product of numerous delays.

Who, pray tell, caused the delays by changing plans at the last minute? Who presented the report on the last possible day, leaving no slack in the schedule to respond to EPA questions? The DNR did, of course. While the department would like to lay off the blame on communities that balked when the bureaucrats said "jump," it is hard to ignore the fact that everyone involved (excepting Detroit, which was only peripherally affected, not a partner in the project) was in agreement until Lansing started changing the rules and threatening to take its ball and go home if everyone else didn't play along.

While the "son of supersewer" is less expensive for the northern tier communities individually (including Northville), when both the northern and southern segments are combined its overall cost is higher. Why? Because the DNR insisted on combining improvements all the way through Wayne County with a plan that initially included only the westernmost Wayne County communities. From the larger perspective, EPA is looking not at two smaller projects formed from the original super sewer idea but one smaller one in the south and another nearly as large as the original in the north. The idea serves Detroit well, and we won't argue that Detroit and other nearer suburbs don't need sewer improvements — they do. It's just that the DNR has endangered the welfare of the "super sewer" communities by forcing them into a project they didn't want in the first place. Removing these communities from the Rouge Valley and Detroit system would also lessen the need for improvements to the east.

These things have a way of sorting themselves out. The initial panic at EPA rejection may subside if the DNR can provide enough information, and area officials can generate enough leverage, to change the agency's opinion. Even if 75 percent funding is lost, those communities most in need of sewers will likely find a way to participate with 55 percent federal funding or provide sewage treatment by another method. Delay, however, seems inevitable. Which prompts just one last question. If the DNR thinks the need for sewer improvements in this area is so critical as to consider a building ban, why was it so willing to play games with the plans?

Bright idea

Northville Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 4012 and its auxiliary are to be commended for the latest VFW community program — "Lite-a-Bike Day" this Saturday.

We hope bike owners of all ages who do not have reflectorized bicycles will take advantage of the post's offer to attach reflecting strips of tape without charge to all bicycles brought to the post at 438 South Main between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m.

Days are growing shorter as fall approaches on September 22. Any precaution that adds to the safety of bike riders should be encouraged. It's a "bright idea" for which there is a definite need.

Off the record

We're networking, goal setting

My vocabulary has some new words — words that have come into being because close to 49 percent of the total work force is women. While I have been in the work place — full or part time — most of my adult life, 10 years ago I had heard little of "networking," "goal setting" or even much about "sexual harassment" and "managing stress."

I think my boss, general manager Jack Hoffman, may be aware of the prediction that by 1990 — given the current rate of growth — approximately 40 percent of all supervisors will be women because he sent seven of us who currently are supervisors in our company to a conference for women supervisors. The statistics were encouraging for my sex. Marilyn Severson, the "presenter" for Padgett Thompson, definitely was an "upbeat" person and my statistics are from her program.

Any working woman could gain from her "act as if —" advice. We women, she says, aren't used to acting "as if" we've achieved power, "as if" we have influence, or are accomplishing goals.

Newer to working women is the concept of risk taking, she says. Women feel scared and "expect to fail," she explains, telling how to take a risk. We should "narrow down our goal and perceive it as it will be." Then make two lists, the first stating three reasons why it is worth taking the risk and the second, three telling why not. If the risk taking then seems worth doing, consider what the worst possible consequences could be — and if they could be handled.

"Networking," was advocated by Severson as the female equivalent of the "Good Ol' Boy" connections long used by men. It "enhances your self awareness and career development" and can become a way to find and use business contacts for information, new ideas and feedback. She suggests any working woman can begin by getting to know three other women peers in her organization and getting together to discuss jobs in general and what's happening in business. Her emphatic advice, though, is that it must never be a gripe session.

In addition to stretching and shrugging in your chair at work to "de-stress," we were told, we can be easier on ourselves by realizing we can't be all things to all people and that we "can't do it all alone."

"Never condone" sexual harassment, the speaker said as we took a quiz from the U.S. Department of Labor on the subject. One question indicated that it is true that "sexual harassment is more related to power than to male/female relationships." Like most problems, ignoring it doesn't make it go away.

"Goal setting," one of those key words for working women, I don't feel is sexist, however. Both men and women use the same skills to be successful in this process. In fact, it's applicable beyond business. Those lists mother posts on the bulletin board about cleaning a room closet or the garage by Saturday set goals. They conform to the rule that a goal must be written down (otherwise, it's a "good intention.") Goals should be stated in positive form; they must be specific and measurable with a deadline. They must be both short and long term.

The presenter said, too, that goals must be realistic with "a touch of visionary." I like that — women have always been visionary. It takes envisioning to see a bolt of material and a pattern become a dress, to know that given ingredients produce a sponge cake, that a child is ready for a new challenge. Think what can happen as we use this asset in the work place.

Decisions, decisions

After the fact

By PHILIP JEROME

Part of my schtick is to talk big and avoid confrontations.

It works like this: Tell people you can do anything, but never put yourself in a position of having to prove it.

For example, Bill Scott of the Novi Trackers Running Club has been trying to get me to run a marathon with him for several years. If there's no marathon that particular weekend, he invites me to run in one of those five or 10 kilometer races.

Scott probably runs 10 miles per day. I probably run 10 miles per year. But to hear me tell it, Scott will be in a lot of trouble if I ever decide to race him.

"I think I can beat you," I tell him. "I've seen you run and you look awfully slow."

Having issued the insult, I promise to race him in the big marathon. I then pull out my engagement book, check the date of the race and wall in disappointment over having a previous commitment at the time the race is scheduled to begin.

"I was really looking forward to it, too," I tell him, pounding the desk in anger. "I'm tired of listening to all your big talk."

This has been going on for a couple years now and Scott is frustrated. If I ever jog up next to him on a starting line, I suspect he'll keel over from amazement.

I have a neighbor, Carol, who's a lot like Scott. The only difference is her game is Scrabble.

"I happen to be particularly good at Scrabble," I told her after hearing her say how much she liked the game. "In fact, I don't think I can be beaten. Let's play."

That's when I spied the Scrabble Dictionary sitting on her dining room table. "Unfortunately," I added quickly, "I can't play at this particular moment, but let's get together some time. I promise to take it easy on you."

That was four years ago, and Carol is still trying to schedule a Scrabble game with me. Hope springs eternal, I suppose, but Carol has as much chance of getting me to play Scrabble as Bill Scott does of meeting me on the starting line.

Millers respond to bump shop critics

To the Editor:

We would like to thank you for your article on the front page of The Record last week. We feel, also, that some response is necessary from us to Mrs. Delany's complaints.

We wish to reassure both her and our other neighbors that we have not forgotten the requirements with which we must comply. Had we been allowed to make planters with petunias and other flowering beds, we certainly could have done so during the heat of July and August with some success. However, as your article pointed out, planting shrubs is best done in the cooler weather in order to assure their success.

We did, indeed, receive a letter from the City Manager reminding us of our obligations.

We think it important to point out, also, that the city sweeper indicates he was never in our lot. We certainly did not ask him to do anything with our parking lot. Perhaps he was just turning the machine around. Fire fighters and other vehicles also make use of our lot occasionally, as do people attending council, zoning and other meetings.

It is a puzzle to us that our neighbors beside, behind and across from us enjoy amicable relations. The two most vociferous families live a block away from our business.

On a personal note, we might feel more enthusiastic about the landscaping and fencing requirements had we received a more gracious treatment by our neighbors at the zoning and council meetings.

One person stood and urged repeatedly that so many stringent restrictions and requirements be given us that we would be virtually unable to meet them and, thus, be forced to lose our business. We should like to remind him, as we have before, that this business stood at this location before he or any other of the neighbors purchased their homes. We did not catch them by surprise. If they did not wish to live near a bump shop, they should not have bought homes near one.

We have just painted the front of our building, and redone the sign work. Fencing should be up within the month. Work will also begin on the plantings shortly. Perhaps Mrs. Delany will now feel less disgruntled.

Fairfax Court repaving assessments set

By KEVIN WILSON

Ten homeowners on Fairfax Court and Springfield Drive will be assessed a portion of the estimated $46,000 cost of repaving the court under a complex formula designed by city council last week.

The court is to be torn up and completely reconstructed due to deterioration caused by stormwater running under the street and eroding the sub-surface. Pavement has collapsed in several spots.

Meeting September 4 due to the Labor Day holiday on its regular meeting date, council spent more than two hours deliberating on the share of the cost to be assigned each of the homeowners.

As finally established, each of six property owners on the court will pay 13.71 percent of the assessment, while owners of two corner lots will pay 6.87 percent and the owners of two properties on the north side of Springfield only incidentally bordering the improvement will pay a total of 4 percent between them. A roll spelling out the specific shares for each property will be reviewed in public hearing at council's next regular meeting September 17. Once the roll is established, council can award the paving contract, having already received bids. Construction could start September 18.

Property owners together are responsible for 42.86 percent of the total cost while the city picks up 57.14 percent. Those proportions are irregular — normally, special assessments require benefiting properties to pay 75 percent and the city 25 percent. Fairfax Court residents convinced council to pick up a larger share for the city in recognition of the unusual circumstances, arguing that the problem should have been foreseen when drainage plans for Lexington Commons were approved.

As a result, the total assessments for those with the largest shares will be roughly $2,700 instead of the $4,700 it would have been if the property owners had been assigned the customary 75 percent.

The division of shares between the special assessment district and the city was established by dividing the average 21-year life of pavement by the 12 years since Fairfax Court was constructed. That proportion was then applied to the "normal" 75 percent share to produce the 42.86 percent portion to be assessed against property owners.

The division among the homeowners was more complex — working from an administrative proposal that shares be divided on a front-footage basis, adjusted to reflect the odd shapes of lots on the court, council chose the proportions for each property after hearing several arguments from homeowners and considering various permutations of the formula.

Two major changes were made in the administrative proposal. The six houses on Fairfax were each assigned an equal share, rather than the varying ones created by the front-footage formula. This was done by first subtracting the shares to be paid by the other four property owners (two at the corner of Fairfax and Springfield and two across the street from the court), then dividing the remainder (82.26 percent) among the six.

The proportions for the corner properties were, as was proposed by city manager Steven Walters, assigned one-half the amount to be assessed the remainder of the court residents, on the theory that they will later be assessed for improvements on Springfield Drive also.

The second major change from Walters' proposal was made by assessing those properties on the opposite side of the street roughly one-half the amount suggested by the front-footage formula. This was done when council realized that one of the Springfield properties would actually be assessed more than would the two corner properties. Thus the approximately 8 percent share assigned to the two Springfield properties was sliced in half and the remainder spread among the other eight property owners.

Fairfax Court residents got one councilmember's support in their arguments that the city should pay the full cost of reconstructing their street. Paul Folino moved that the city fund the entire project, arguing that the "streets belong to everyone." His motion died for lack of support.

Improvements to properties in the Lexington Commons area to change the drainage pattern in the area will be funded fully by the city. There was a proposal to assess the commons association for the cost of constructing a berm and swale to redirect storm-water flows away from Fairfax. The association's attorney argued that such an assessment would be improper, since the improvements would not benefit the commons itself.

City attorney James Kohl agreed that the assessment likely would not stand up in court if challenged. Council opted to pay the full estimated $2,000 cost.

Presbyterian church proposes parking plan

City council has approved "in concept" a proposal from the First Presbyterian Church that would add more than 40 public parking spaces on Church and Cady streets.

A. M. Allen and Philip Ogilvie presented the proposal to council September 4 after receiving approval from the church session. Under the proposal, the church is to deed land to the city allowing expansion of off-street parking on the north side of Cady and the west side of Church and purchase lot 55, 127 Church Street, for use as a parking lot. Twenty feet would be taken off the back of the church property, and Church Street would be widened under the proposal.

With approval from the church congregation, the lot 55 land would be purchased and leased to the city for eight years. After that, the property would be deeded to the city. Presently owned by Frank K. and Jean G. Hibbard, the property now has a house and garage on it.

Council appeared generally receptive to the plan, which Allen said was proposed in fulfillment of the church's obligations to provide parking in the area. The church, Allen said, "is the only one in town that doesn't really provide sufficient parking. The merchants paid for all their parking, and it is only right that we provide some in that area."

Mayor Paul Vernon noted that the city council could not accept the plan right now, since development of the parking area would be part of the second phase downtown development.

"This should really go to the DDA (downtown development authority)," Vernon said. "It fits in with what they are planning — there are already engineering drawings existing for something very similar."

Ogilvie requested some indication from council that the idea was acceptable, however, so that approval could be sought from the church congregation at the earliest possible date. "I've sort of been stalling these people (Hibbards) while we go through all the procedures," Ogilvie said. "If we had to wait for a DDA meeting before we could take this before the congregation, I'm afraid they would get fed up with me."

Council voted unanimously that it was "in agreement with the concept" and referred the matter to the DDA. With DDA approval, the plan would be referred back to council for final consideration.

A letter from Pastor Lawrence Chamberlain detailing the proposal makes clear that development of the properties as parking areas would be the city's responsibility, as would maintenance of the area as a public parking facility.

CITY OF NOVI NOTICE

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE NOVI ZONING ORDINANCE NO. 84-18

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Planning Board of the City of Novi will hold a public hearing on a proposed amendment to the Zoning Ordinance No. 84-18. Said ordinance is to amend Section 2516, Site Plan Review (All Districts), as printed below.

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN that this hearing will be held on Wednesday, October 3, 1984, at 8:00 P.M. EDT (or as soon thereafter as same may be reached), at the Novi Public Library, 45245 West Ten Mile, Novi, Michigan.

The amended portion of Section 2516 reads as follows:

SEC. 2516. SITE PLAN REVIEW (ALL DISTRICTS)
1. A site plan shall be required to be submitted to the City for review. Such plan and accompanying documents shall be prepared and submitted on the City's application forms for site plan review which are available through the City Clerk's office. All site plans shall be prepared in accordance with the requirements of this Ordinance and the City's Site Plan Review procedures Manual.

If during any administrative review process, as set forth in this Section, it is determined that changes or modifications to a site plan may significantly impact the site or adjacent areas, the site plan shall be forwarded to the Planning Board for review and approval.

All site plans shall be subject to review under at least one of the following procedures and shall further be subject to review by the appropriate administrative departments and consultants:

a. Site Plan Submittal (Administrative Approval)
A site plan may be submitted for administrative review and approval when:

(1) Improvements to, or expansion of, an existing off-street parking area are proposed.

(2) Modifications to previously approved off-street parking lot layouts is proposed so long as the modification does not reduce the number of approved parking spaces to less than the minimum number of spaces required by Ordinance.

(3) A change of use within an existing freestanding building or the interior modification of an existing use results in an attendant increase in off-street parking need.

(4) Improvement, expansion, extension or abandonment of any public or private overhead or underground utility or utility related lines or easements is proposed.

(5) Revisions to previously approved landscape planting layouts are made, provided that in the case of required planting screens, the minimum applicable standards of this Ordinance are not compromised.

(6) Modifications are made to the approved location of buildings, provided no such building relocation will displace approved off-street parking areas or will significantly impact the site or adjacent properties.

b. Site Plan Submittal (Planning Board Approval)
A site plan shall be submitted for administrative review and recommendation to the Planning Board for approval, or where required, for recommendation by the Planning Board to the City Council for approval when:

(1) Any new principal use excluding site-built single and two family residential is proposed for which off-street parking is required as set forth in SEC. 2505 of this Ordinance, including all multiple-family and any nonresidential development.

(2) Any new residential related use permitted in the various residential districts, such as but not limited to: churches, schools and public facilities are proposed.

A copy of the amendment is available for public review at the City Administration Offices, 45225 W. Ten Mile, Novi, Michigan, 48050. Comments will be received in the Planning Department until 5:00 P.M. Wednesday, October 3, 1984, at same address.

Board names administrator

A Brighton middle school assistant principal will take over the duties of administrative assistant for curriculum following the Northville Board of Education's unanimous approval of her appointment Monday night.

Margaret (Dolly) McMaster, assistant principal of Maltby Middle School in Brighton and a nationally renowned authority on the middle school concept, will take over the position vacated by Marcia Scarr in August.

Scarr, who served as director of curriculum for a year following her principalship at Silver Springs, left the district to take the principal's post at Maple Elementary in Walled Lake.

McMaster, who is expected to take over her new post today, was chosen from a field of more than 66 candidates applying for the position.

An interview committee comprised of assistant superintendents Nancy Soper and Burton Knighton, personnel director Debra Wangrud, Cooke principal Dave Longridge and teacher Mary Najarian interviewed nine candidates screened from the applicants.

Of the nine candidates, three were recommended to Superintendent George Bell who made the final selection.

In recommending McMaster to the board for approval, Bell noted that she has been in the Northville district on

"She is an outstanding candidate for the job."

— George Bell,
School Superintendent

several occasions working with staff on the middle school planning.

"She is an outstanding candidate for the job," Bell pointed out. "She can bring a great deal of expertise to the school district at this time of change."

Board vice president Glenna Davis said the "district is very lucky to get her" and noted that her expertise in the middle school area will be helpful in the district's planning for its middle school conversion in September, 1985.

The board approved McMaster's contract from September 12 through June 30, 1985 at a salary of $40,000.

As administrative assistant for curriculum, McMaster will primarily be working with assistant superintendent

Nancy Soper in planning for the middle school as well as other curriculum-related activities.

An assistant principal in Brighton since 1981, she held the same post at West Bloomfield High School from 1979 to 1981.

Prior to that time she worked as a team leader at West Middle School in Plymouth from 1966 to 1979.

An Eastern Michigan University graduate, she holds a bachelor's degree in social science and a master's in reading. She currently is working on her doctorate in administration at Michigan State University.

An inservice consultant for more than 12 school districts, McMaster also serves on the Michigan State Board of Education Task Force on Secondary Education and the Michigan State Board of Education Middle School/Junior High School Task Force.

She has been a member of the Michigan Association of Middle School Educators since 1970 and has served as its president. She also is a member of the board of directors of the National Association of Middle School Educators.

She was honored as Outstanding Young Woman of America and has served as a guest lecturer and visiting instructor at Michigan State University.

By JEAN MacINTOSH

Just east of the Rosewood Restaurant, tucked away behind the trees, lies one of Novi's best-kept secrets — the estate of Florence Harris.

From outward appearances, the home of the late community leader and owner of the Rosewood Restaurant is a simple brick house, similar to many of those found along busy Grand River Avenue.

Upon entering the home, however, one steps directly from the hustle and bustle of the outside world into the 19th century. There, the glossy, high-tech feeling of 1984 is replaced by the elaborate, ornate detail of the Victorian Age.

According to Reverend Karl Zeigler, an executor of the estate which will be sold this weekend, the elegant furnishings have been a part of the home since Florence and her husband moved in in 1948.

Mr. Harris and his mother — who lived with the couple — are said to have made three different trips, including one world tour with stops in Egypt and India, to acquire the furniture and accessories that decorate the rooms and give the house its museum-like quality.

Mrs. Harris had been a widow for many years as her husband died about 10 years after they moved to Novi.

The front room boasts an impressive collection of parlor chairs, sofas, settees, Lincoln rockers and two unique "dolphin" tables, so named for the dolphins carved on the ornate table legs.

Another highlight is a Victor Talking Machine Electrola, complete with a library of old records.

In the dining room are a pedestal dining table, twin corner cupboards and a magnificently carved sideboard.

The focal point of the bedroom is a spool-turned, four poster Lincoln bed.

"Almost everything in the home is Victorian, or turn of the century," explained Mary Geo. Caleal, who is handling the estate sale. "It's a very good representation of the period."

All the rooms in the house are virtually as they were found at the time of Mrs. Harris' death last April, and as they will be displayed at the sale.

"Reverend Zeigler felt it was best to sell the goods here," explained Caleal. "And I agree."

"With the furniture in this setting, people will get more of a feel for the era. They can feel the sentiment, the romance of the period," she added.

Caleal, the first female auctioneer of fine art in the Midwest, heads her own auctioning and appraisal company in addition to representing a French auctioneer in Paris. The Harris estate is her first assignment in this area and is a priced sale, not an auction.

Caleal said Harris had a "very fine" collection, and she is expecting people from Indiana and Ohio, as well as Michigan, to attend in hopes of purchasing some of the especially important pieces, such as the dolphin center table.

Despite the high prices that will accompany some of the articles, Caleal stressed that there should be articles in almost every price range.

"We want to sell out the house," she explained, "so everything will be priced to sell; there will be a lot of good buys."

In addition to the larger pieces of furniture, the sale will include marble top tables; gilt and gessoed pier mirrors; an antique radio collection; clocks by Seth Thomas, E.N. Welch and E. & A. Ingraham and prints by Currier & Ives.

A collection of Haviland Limoges dinnerware, depression glass and hand-crocheted lace will also be featured.

"There's a lot to see, something for almost anybody with an interest in this kind of thing," explained Caleal.

Aside from the antiques, a collection of everyday household goods, including dishes, appliances and pots and pans, and garden tools, such as hoses, rakes and two riding mowers, will also be sold.

There will be no admission charge at the sale, which will be held this Saturday and Sunday, September 15-16, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Anyone who is interested in "just looking" is welcome, Caleal added.

The Harris home is located at 46045 Grand River, west of Taft Road. For more information, call Caleal at 446-6833 or 341-6991.

Kreative Kid

Four-year-old Julie Flis, of 21666 Welch, models a new school fashion as one of 18 amateur models in a Back-to-School fashion show at Northland Cooperative Preschool last year, was getting ready to enter Kids' Kreative Korner at Amerman Elementary last Monday. A life resident of Northville, she's the daughter of Donald and Barbara Flis and "big sister" of 10-month old Mary. The fashion models (the Flises responded to an ad) were chosen from some 700 applicants and each received a $25 gift certificate for modeling in the August show.

Parents protest bus policy

Assistant Superintendent Burton Knighton noted that "any mileage is disallowed if you pick up within one and one-half miles."

Board president Jean Hansen told parents attending the meeting that she was sympathetic to their concerns but felt the board was not in a position to change the policy for a only a few students.

"We cannot make the change for some and not others," she noted. "We have to draw the line somewhere."

"I sympathize with you," she said. "I have kids, too. Frankly, I drive them to school because I don't want them walking."

Board trustee Doug Whitaker echoed Hansen's remarks and noted that "the concerns expressed tonight are very real."

"I'm afraid it boils down to the matter that safety and responsibility of children rests with us (parents)," he added.

Trustee Wilkinson pointed out that the district "is spending over one-third of a million dollars in transportation."

"We're in the business of education," she noted.

Superintendent Bell said that adding more bus runs would prove "very costly" to the district and noted that the district already is operating with a deficit of more than $300,000 in the current fiscal year.

Hansen told the audience that after the 1981 millage defeat "one of the first things the citizens' committee did was to move busing from one and one-quarter mile to one and one-half mile as the state requires."

"The citizens' committee decided transportation should go because it only benefits a few kids," she noted.

Complaints about the district's busing policy during the past three years can be traced back to the 1981 millage defeat and the citizens' committee recommendation that the transportation budget be reduced in order to cut district costs.

At the time, the committee recommended that the board eliminate busing from particular areas which lie within a one and one-half mile distance of the assigned school and change the board policy to bus only children who live one and one-half mile or more from their respective school.

Diet Pill Sweeping U.S.

New Grapefruit 'Super Pill' Gives Fast Weight Loss

No Dieting - Eat All You Want
Pill Does All the Work

BEVERLY HILLS, CA. (Special)—An amazing new "super" grapefruit pill has recently been developed and perfected that reportedly "guarantees" that you will easily lose at least 10 pounds in 10 days. Best of all, it allows you to "eat as much as you want of your favorite foods and still lose a pound a day or more starting from the very first day until you achieve the ideal weight and figure you desire."

This "super" grapefruit pill is a dramatically improved version of the world famous grapefruit diet. It is far more effective than the original and eliminates "the mess, fuss, and high cost of eating half a fresh grapefruit at every meal."

"Pill Does All the Work"

According to the manufacturer, "the pill itself does all the work while you quickly lose weight with NO starvation "diet menus" to follow, NO calorie counting, NO exercise, and NO hunger pangs." It is 100% safe. You simply take the pill with a glass of water before each meal and the amazing combination of powerful ingredients are so effective they take over and you start losing weight immediately.

Pill Has ALL Daily Vitamins

The powerful and unique combination of ingredients are what make this a "super-pill". It contains highly potent grapefruit concentrate and a diuretic to help eliminate bloat and puffiness. No need to take any vitamins to maintain your good health and energy. The pill is fortified with ALL (100%) of the U.S. Government daily vitamin requirements.

Contains Japanese 'Glucomannan'

Each pill also contains an amazingly effective amount of "glucomannan", the remarkable natural dietary fiber discovery from Japan (used successfully for over 1500 years) that expands in your stomach and gives you a full and satisfied feeling all day long.

The super-pill is already sweeping the country with glowing reports of easy and fast weight loss from formerly overweight people in all walks of life who are now slim, trim, and attractive again.

Now Available to Public

You can order your supply of these highly successful "super" grapefruit pills (now available directly from the manufacturer by mail order only) by sending $12 for a 14-day supply (or $20 for a 30-day supply, or $35 for a 60-day supply) cash, check, or money order to: Citrus Industries, 9903 Santa Monica Bl., Dept. W24, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. (Unconditional money-back guarantee if not satisfied.) Visa, MasterCard, and Amer. Express OK. (Send card number, expiration date, and signature.) For fastest service for credit card orders ONLY call toll free 1-(800)-862-6262, ext. W24.

Friends' benefit planned

Twenty two tickets still are available for the Friends of Northville Library benefit dinner at Genitti's September 26, president Sue Fostey reported last Friday.

Some 70 have been sold at $15 a person for the seven-course Italian dinner being donated by John and Toni Genitti to aid library projects of the Friends.

The evening begins with a cash bar at 6:30 p.m. with dinner following at 7:30 p.m.

"It's a good chance for anyone who hasn't done so to experience the fun of an evening at Genitti's Hole in the Wall," says Fostey.

Tickets are available at the Northville Library and at the Bookstop in the Northville Plaza Mall on Seven Mile in the township.

Proceeds from the benefit will be used to help the Friends fill library needs," Fostey explains.

'Sneakers' are shoe biz stars

By BOB SMITH

Everyone associates sneakers with recreation. The work or school day is over, and it's time to relax with a comfortable, flexible set of footwear.

Since the jogging explosion of the 1970s, sneakers and related shoes have greatly increased in variety, according to area shoe store owners.

These uses range from serious running to playing in the yard and from taking a morning stroll to break dancing.

"There is a shoe for about any purpose," commented Tana Marbury, co-owner of Run 'N' Stuff in Lyon Township.

"There's got to be at least 20 sports" that have their own shoe, noted Ila Black of Del's Shoes in Northville. "Roughly guessing, it could be as much as 60 percent," Black said of the percentage of the shoe sales in her general shoe store that are sneakers and running shoes.

The word sneaker might bring to mind long wide shoe laces, the color white, flat and traction-built soles and a big rubber cover on the toe.

It might also bring to mind squeaks on a gymnasium floor or gritty, abrupt skids on dirt. Both of these images indicate a big benefit of the traditional, flat-bottom sneaker — control of lateral movement.

GOOD NEWS

JAMES R. DUPREY

MAX ROBERTSON

JAMES DUPREY of Northville has been appointed manager of market analysis and planning by the Packaging Systems Division of Ex-Cell-O Corporation. In his new position, he is responsible for analyzing new product market opportunities and assisting in formulating business plans for commercial development activities.

Before joining Ex-Cell-O, Duprey was a planning analyst at Hunt-Wesson Foods and previously an assistant to the vice president of finance with the W.W. Henry Company.

He holds BS and MBA degrees from the University of Michigan and an MS degree in Strategic Planning from the University of Southern California.

Duprey lives with his wife Michele and their two children in Northville.

MAX ROBERTSON of Northville has been named general manager for the state of Michigan for Coolidge Glass Company. The firm is a wholesale distributor of glass products in the midwest, with three Michigan locations.

Robertson has an extensive background in the industry, working for Shatterproof Glass as well as operating his own glass business. Prior to his appointment as general manager, Robertson was a sales representative in Michigan and Ohio.

JOSEPH C. HEFFERNAN, CPA, has been named an audit associate at Plante & Moran, certified public accountants and management consultants. Managing partner Ed Parks announced the appointment at the firm's summer conference.

Heffernan joined the firm in 1979 and has become a governmental specialist in auditing and consulting, as well as audit manager of wholesalers, retailers, contractors and various non-profit associations.

He is a member of AICPA and MACPA, graduated from the University of Michigan with high distinction in earning his B.B.A. and resides in Novi with his wife, Chris.

WILLIAM A. DOYLE III, CPA, has been promoted to audit partner at Plante & Moran, certified public accountants and management consultants. The announcement was made at the firm's summer conference by managing partner Ed Parks.

Doyle has extensive experience in all areas of accounting, auditing and tax and has served government, public and private sector clients. His specialization is real estate, in which he has assisted clients in such projects as cash flow projections, project feasibility analyses, design and integration of cost systems and preparation of investment memorandums.

He is a member of AICPA, MACPA, Macomb County Treasurers Association and the Oakland County Chamber of Commerce. HE is also an active member of several of the firm's internal office committees and has been instrumental in many training seminars.

Business Briefs

JEFFREY A. KNIGHT, formerly controller with Guardian Industries was elected by the Board of Directors to the new office of vice president of finance and chief financial officer on August 15.

Knight, 33, joined Guardian in 1977 as manager of accounting systems, was appointed assistant controller in 1979 and promoted to controller and chief accounting officer in 1981. He received Guardian's 1983 Employee of the Year Award last December.

Before joining the firm, Knight was on the audit staff of Coopers & Lybrand. A Certified Public Accountant, Knight received a Bachelor of Business Administration degree from Western Michigan University. He resides with his wife and a daughter in Milford.

GUARDIAN INDUSTRIES' Board of Directors named Steven F. Hodgkinson, formerly assistant controller, to the office of controller and chief accounting officer at its regular quarterly meeting on August 15.

Hodgkinson, 32, joined Guardian in 1978 as manager of corporate accounting and has held the additional positions of manager of financial reporting and assistant controller.

He received a Bachelor of Business Administration degree from the University of Michigan and is a Certified Public Accountant. Hodgkinson and his wife reside in Northville.

GARY A. BEATTIE, new vehicle salesperson for Oakland Dodge in Madison Heights, received an award for individual performance in selling Dodge vehicles.

A resident of Milford, Beattie has reached the Silver level of recognition in Dodge's unique Sales Professional Club.

Specially-designed incentives and awards are provided for outstanding product knowledge and sales achievement at three performance levels — Bronze, Silver and Gold.

JEAN LAUWERS NEEDLEPOINT in Novi is sponsoring its second annual art and craft fair September 16 from noon to 6 p.m. In event of rain, the fair will be rescheduled to the following Sunday.

Featured will be stenciling, hand-made stationery, bobbin lace, thimbles, metal-punch lamps and shades, oil painting, rug hooking, quilting needlepoint, embroidery, and other arts and crafts exhibited by local persons. Refreshments will be available and special prices are offered in the "Yellow House" at 40500 Twelve Mile.

STE. CLAIRE ADVERTISING of Novi recently added three IBM Displaywriters and an AM Varityper digitized typesetting machine to its list of in-house equipment. The firm is a full service industrial advertising agency boasting more than 40 years service to a diverse technical and manufacturing market.

The Displaywriters are intended for production and storage of military and commercial technical manuals. One was modified to simplify the company's accounting functions.

Adding in-house typesetting equipment simplified the production of camera-ready artwork with type sizes ranging from 2 to 99 points in a variety of styles.

Services provided by the agency include facilities brochures, ads, news releases, product flyers, photography, and audio/visual sales and technical training programs. The firm, founded in 1941, is one of the oldest technical writing concerns in the state. It expanded into industrial advertising in 1946.

GREEN OAK AUTO owner Dennis Dubuc (pictured above) announced an expansion of his shop recently. Dubuc is adding a 50-square-foot addition to his automobile shop at 12676 Ten Mile, just east of Rushton, in Green Oak Township. The addition will help Dubuc meet requests for special work from corporate clients such as Cars and Concepts.

In addition to expanding the shop area, Dubuc will be asphaltting the driveway and parking area. The remodeling is being done by J&J Pole Building of New Hudson. J&J is owned by Bob Hudson, who has done all of Green Oak Auto's remodeling. Green Oak Auto opened in May 1983.

Stores run up profits selling sports shoes

Despite this benefit, both Marbury and Black said school-age children — with their recesses and physical education classes — prefer the jogging shoe, whose flexibility, lightness and heel cushioning is built more for running than games like basketball or racquetball.

"A lot of people don't know what they're used for," Black said about running shoes. "They want the look. The salespeople tell them what they're used for, but that's not necessarily the important thing."

"They (children who play in running shoes) will tear them up real fast because they're not built for lateral movement," said Marbury, who added that "court shoes" are best for children who move around a lot.

Court shoes have been specialized, Marbury said. Racquetball shoes often feature a glued or stitched rubber outer sole, toe-capping, lacing around the back of the ankle (to secure the foot better), terry cloth lining, and no mid-sole cushioning (a distinguishing feature of running shoes).

Eric Foote helps customer Rene Consiglio find the proper fit

One of the biggest current fashion trends involves court shoes, Marbury and Black noted.

Many middle and high school-age students are buying the high-topped court shoe. "They lace them up part of the way and let the top hang loose," Black explained.

Black attributed this in part to the interest in break-dancing, while Marbury credited basketball for this trend. "The girls are wearing them, the boys are wearing them, even if they don't know how to spell basketball," said Marbury, who added that the trend started this past spring.

Another trend in sneakers and running shoes is the Velcro fastener, which replaces laces. "I think the kids like it because of the speed," Black remarked. "They don't have to tie their shoes."

Sneakers and running shoes have become very popular all-purpose shoes for both the young and old, Marbury said. Both she and Black mentioned the rise in popularity of "ath-leisure" shoes, which combine some of the elements of simple tennis shoes and athletic shoes. "It can be used for other things other than what it was made for," Black commented about the "ath-leisure" shoe.

White is the favorite color for the simple tennis shoe, Black noted. "They go with everything," she explained. Gray is the second favorite color, followed by navy blue, she added.

Court shoes range in price from about $30-100, Marbury said. A good basketball shoe runs about $40, and a useful racquetball shoe costs about $35, she said.

Cushioning and side support play a big part in the cost of a running shoe, Marbury said. A good starter shoe for a runner costs about $35, while serious runners often spend up to $50-60, she noted. Running shoes range in price from $20-130.

New Balance is the "top dollar" shoe, Marbury said. Run 'N' Stuff sells mostly the Nike shoe, she added. Other popular shoes are Etonic, Lotto (specializing in court shoes), Peaks and Converse (which is famous for its basketball shoes).

Another recent favorite is the P.F. Flyer, which many current adults were drawn to in the mid-60s because of the slogan, "They make you run faster and jump higher," Black said.

"The parents who are buying shoes for their children now are relating to that," Black remarked.

Survey pinpoints homebuyers' priorities

Recent surveys show that owning a single family detached home like the one in which they grew up remains a goal of young people today, both married and single.

"For many, the final choice will be an existing home — often considered a starter home that will be the first of several as they move up the housing scale," says David N. Jensen, president of Metro MLS, the area's largest multiple listing service.

"Price generally is a major consideration and some will look for a property that they can work to improve and increase its value in contemplation of a later move," he adds. "Others will stretch their budget to buy a home in top operating condition that will not require any additional expense for some time."

"Through surveys of active home shoppers, sellers of existing homes on the market can discover how their properties measure up in terms of price range and features being sought by this important marketing segment."

One such national survey among shoppers of new homes found a median age of 31.4 years, median incomes of $37,400, expecting to pay an $88,000 median price with approximately seven percent down.

In Southeast Michigan, Jensen suggests, the expected median price is likely lower and the down payment percentage higher than these national averages.

Motivations for buyers in the national survey were the desire for a larger home (60 percent); "tired of renting" (49 percent); investment potential (49 percent), and tax advantages (43 percent).

More than half stated a preference for an open floor plan with room definitions but a visual flow throughout living and family room areas. Fifty-three percent listed a basement as a desired feature, 43 percent named a built-in laundry room and 29 percent a two-car garage as high priorities.

Indicating that shoppers recognize certain home features as an added value and cost, extra-cost items they seek, were grouped in various price ranges.

Among $300 to $500 items were tile or wood entries, skylights, upgraded kitchen floors, double basin master bedroom vanity, oversized tub and microwave oven.

In the $500 to $1,000 price range, the surveyed shoppers named walk-in kitchen pantries, French doors, built-in shelving, and an island cook-top/work area. Items grouped at $1,000 value or more were a family room fireplace, bay windows, patio-deck slab, and a master bedroom fireplace.

"These listings indicate the type of features today's buyers appear most interested in and provide information on what can be emphasized in existing home listings to catch immediate buyer interest," Jensen said. "Realtors can also study other homes listed to indicate to buyers how desired features can be economically added at a later date."

Quanex financial statement strong

Quanex Corporation, the parent company of Michigan Seamless Tube of South Lyon, announced in August that its net sales for the third quarter ending July 31 were $99.8 million, up 31 percent from 1983.

Earnings of $2 million were reported for the quarter, compared to a net loss of $11,000 for the same period last year.

For the nine months ending July 31, net sales were $301 million, up 41 percent from the $213 million reported a year ago. A net income of $6.8 million was reported this year, compared with a net loss of $4.5 million for the first nine months of 1983.

With the exception of sales to the energy exploration and production market, sales were higher this year as compared to the same quarter in 1983, stated Quanex. Imports of oil country tubing and casing are taking about 70 percent of the energy market, Quanex added.

cards and visits during my stay in the hospital. Virginia Todesciuk.
MORE than 130 guests attended the Anniversary Celebration of Marge and Ray Kellenberger and to witness the renewal of their vows made to each other 50 years ago. Their 5 children and 10 of their 11 grandchildren and also their only great grandchild were present. Relatives came from Indiana, Illinois, Tennessee, California and all over Michigan including the Upper Peninsula. Festivities included pre ceremony cocktails and a buffet dinner.
A special thanks to all those who helped make this such a memorable event. Marge and Ray Kellenberger.

THANK you to the many friends and neighbors of Esther Kauppi for the joy and meaning you brought to her life. She felt a special love and closeness to many of you for so long, and found in her new friends, excitement and appreciation. Thank you to Pastor Donald Simon and her great friends and members of Christ Lutheran Church with whom she shared and grew in her faith. Thank you to the Reverend Joe Gerrard and the Lemery family for the riches shared with her. We are likewise enriched by the gifts of love shown to her. May God Bless each and every one of
you. Robert J. Kauppi, James
D. Kauppi.
THE family of William Schneider would like to thank those who so generously gave flowers, memorials, food, cards and other expressions of sympathy. They were all greatly appreciated.

Newcomer events open fall season

Northville Newcomers welcomed both those new to the community and members of Newcomers' alumnae over tea and coffee cups last week. More than 70 attended the Newcomers' annual membership coffee at First United Methodist Church last Thursday evening, reports president Judi Amatangelo. Club programs, both monthly ladies day events and couples' outings — including a Detroit Tiger-Toronto Blue Jays baseball game September 14 — were described. Last Thursday morning new and returning Newcomer alumnae gathered at a membership tea at the home of Gerrie Dent on Rippling Lane.

Bud Guest opens Woman's Club season

By JEAN DAY

Edgar A. "Bud" Guest, familiar to longtime radio listeners for his "Sunny Side of the Street" program on station WJR before his retirement, will entertain members and guests of Northville Woman's Club at its opening luncheon October 5 at Meadowbrook Country Club.

The program that begins the club's 92nd year traditionally honors past presidents and the club's three honorary members. Ann Guldberg is program chairman.

The club, which has some 168 active members, 54 associate and 43 life members, is headed by Mrs. John K. Winters, who is beginning her second year as president.

Mrs. Earl Eden continues as vice president. Mrs. Russell Anger is recording secretary; Mrs. Bruce Turnbull is corresponding secretary; and Dale Gloer is treasurer. On the club board of directors are Mrs. Douglas Bolton, Mrs. Thomas Curl, Mrs. Christopher Gazlay, Mrs. Francis Jennings and Mrs. Leland Mills.

The club, which meets twice monthly from October through March, will hear a program on "How to Get Started in Genealogy" by Ruth Rosenberg on October 19 at First Presbyterian Church.

Bohns return from Panama via New Jersey

Richard and Nancy Bohn returned to Northville four weeks ago and now are living on Grace Street. The former residents who were active members of Northville Historical Society were transferred by Ford to Panama for six years after living here four. For the last year and a half they have been living in New Jersey. He's now working at the Ford Wixom plant.

Nancy Bohn says it's nice to be closer to her daughters. Marjorie, who married Clifford "Kip" Thomas in September, 1982, is living in Ann Arbor where he is in dental school at University of Michigan. Daughter Carolyn is married to Robert Mills and is living in Lansing.

Dorothy, Bill Gaul head west with Starcraft rigs

If making snowballs on a glacier in Glacier National Park or taking a raft trip on the White River don't seem like senior citizen activities, think again. Dorothy Gaul, who serves as senior citizen liaison person for Northville Township, and her husband Bill have returned from a six-week trip with the Starcraft RV club to Wyoming where they rafted and made the glacier snowballs. In Wyoming 35 participating Starcraft "rigs" parked at a working ranch where the vacationers rode trails with western wranglers.

The recreation vehicles came from all over the country, Dorothy Gaul recounts. The Gauls, who are active residents of

Symphony to feature 'No Elephant Circus'

The Plymouth Symphony League will feature the "No Elephant Circus" in its annual Young People's Concert scheduled October 7 at the Plymouth Salem High School auditorium.

The No Elephant Circus features six performers — but no elephants (because elephants eat about $150 worth of hay and feed daily).

The circus performers make members of the audience an integral part of their fast-paced performances by including them in juggling routines, fire-eating, unicycles, puppets, pantomime and just plain clowning around.

Throughout the circus festivities, Johan van der Merwe will conduct the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra in several classical music selections.

All attending the No Elephant Circus performances will receive an innovative elephant mask of original design.

Two performances are scheduled — at 2 and 4 p.m. Sunday, October 7. Tickets for the circus are $2.50 and may be purchased at Orin Jewelers in Northville, Beitner's Jewelry in Plymouth or at Plymouth/Canton Schools the mornings of September 18, 19 and 20.

Mail order tickets also are available until September 18. Those ordering by mail should specify performance, make checks payable to Plymouth Symphony League and enclose a self-addressed stamped envelope.

Ticket orders should be mailed to Young People's Concert Tickets, P.O. Box 467, Plymouth, 48170.

For ticket information, call 455-5837 between 9 a.m. and 6 p.m. weekdays.

Missions Convention begins at Christian Community

"Love Enough to Give Enough" is the theme of this year's Missions Convention at the Christian Community Church.

The convention begins at 7 p.m. September 19 with missionary Mike McClafin from Kenya as main speaker. On September 20, the Reverend Eugene Grams will present his ministry in South Africa at 7 p.m.

"Home Missions Night" will be held September 21 with the Reverend Paul McCullough as guest speaker.

An International Missions Banquet is planned for 6 p.m. September 22, complete with ethnic foods.

The services of Sunday, September 23, again will feature Mike McClafin at 11:30 a.m. and 6:30 p.m.

All are invited to attend. For further information, call the church at 348-9030.

Fran Mattison's back from European trip with Y

Fran Mattison, who returned last month from an 18 day, nine country tour of Europe sponsored by the Plymouth Family Y, reports it was a good way to see much in a short time. She adds that the Y group of 23 Plymouth residents was a most compatible one.

The travelers flew to London, then to Rome where they boarded a tour bus to visit Florence and Venice, Italy, Vienna, Austria, Lausanne, Switzerland, Cologne, Germany, Amsterdam, Holland, Brussels, Belgium, and Paris.

Long an active member of Northville Town Hall, Mrs. Mattison this year is handling publicity for the Sealarks in Northville. The group for single women meets at First Presbyterian Church monthly on Tuesday evenings. At 7:30 p.m. on October 30 a special program is being presented by Betty Lloyd. She will show slides of her trip on the square-rigged sailing ship, "Romance." New members are welcome.

Wrights mark 50th at country club lunch

Former Northville Township supervisor Lawrence A. Wright and his wife Betty celebrated their golden wedding anniversary exactly 50 years to the day after their marriage on August 11, 1934, in Detroit.

Joining the longtime residents of Fairway III Drive for the luncheon on Saturday, August 11, at Meadowbrook Country Club were 50 close friends and family members. They included their children Dana Wilcox of East Grand Rapids, Larry Wright Jr. of Utica, Tom Wright of Livonia and Cyndi Won of Kailua, Hawaii, and their spouses and nine of their 11 grandchildren. Also attending was Mrs. W. Herbert Bretzlaff of Reno, Nevada.

The honorees delighted their family and friends when they danced to the music of Len and Brad Owen on the piano and base fiddle.

They received beautiful flowers and leis flown in from Hawaii where daughter Cyndi, her husband Dexter and their two daughters live.

He was born in Wisconsin while Mrs. Wright, the former Betty Kehlet, was a native of California. They met through a telephone conversation arranged by his sister in Detroit in 1927.

Twenty-seven year residents of Northville, the Wrights have been spending their winters for the last several years in Hawaii. They are members of Meadowbrook Country Club.

He is a 32nd degree Mason and is retired from Wright Bearing Supply Company.

Church plans ground breaking

Good Sheperd Evangelical Lutheran Church of Novi is planning a church ground breaking this fall on its three-acre site at Nine Mile and Meadowbrook roads.

The congregation, which currently is worshipping at the Novi Community Center, broke ground for the parsonage in July.

Those participating in the July ground breaking were Pastor Gene E. Jahnke, congregational chairman Dave Yarmuth, and building committee members Rick Simpson, Rick Breckenridge and Cliff Rose.

What's new at the library

New books for young adult readers include the following fiction titles at the Northville Public Library.

IF THIS IS LOVE, I'LL TAKE SPAGHETTI by Ellen Conford. Nine short stories explore the trials and tribulations of teenage life.

NIGHT TALKS by Patricia Lee Gauch. Three well-intentioned teenage classmates from a well-to-do Detroit suburb share their summer camp tent with an underprivileged inner city girl, resulting in unexpected turns of events.

TAKING TERRI MUELLER by Norma Fox Mazer. Fourteen-year-old Terri remembers only life with her father, but then she discovers that he kidnapped her from her mother after a divorce and that her mother is still alive.

THE DAY THE SENIOR CLASS GOT MARRIED by Gloria

Miklowitz. Seventeen-year-old Lori is convinced that marrying Rick right after graduation is what she most wants in the world and that participating in the simulated marriage unit of their Consumer Economics class will only help them start their marriage on the right foot.

THE CASTLE IN THE SEA by Scott O'Dell. The inheritance of her father's vast fortune and contact with a variety of people with suspicious motives triggers a series of attempts on Lucinda's life in her isolated island home, which is a stronghold of Spain within the boundaries of the United States.

WORKING TROT by Jessie Haas. His love of horses takes James away from the conventional world of his parents, who want him to pursue a college degree and a business career rather than the life of a horse-trainer.

Northville Township Planning Commission

Laura Willoughby wed in double ring nuptials

MR. AND MRS. JOHN KENTON GRADY

Laura Ellen Willoughby and John Kenton Grady, who had met as students at Auburn University in Auburn, Alabama, exchanged vows and rings in a July 14 ceremony at First Presbyterian Church of Northville.

Dr. Lawrence A. Chamberlain officiated at the 10:30 a.m. service which included the symbolic lighting of a unity candle.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald A. Willoughby of Northville. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Grady of Prospect, Kentucky.

During the service Scriptures were read by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Paul Hawks, and the bride's godmother, Mrs. Bill Gambrell. David Heinzman was organist and John Merrifield, soloist. Acolyte was the bride's cousin, Bryan Hawks.

The bride's gown of re-embroidered Alencon lace adorned with seed pearls was designed with off-the-shoulder ruffled tiers of Rochelle lace. Matching lace tiers edged the hemline of her gown which extended into a chapel train.

A floral garland held her illusion veil, made by Mrs. David Thomasson. The bride's garter was made by Mrs. Thomas Curl. The bride's cascade bouquet contained dendrobian orchids, white roses, miniature carnations and ivy.

As an added bit of sentiment, the bride carried the lace handkerchief that the bridegroom's mother had carried during her wedding.

Lisa Willoughby was her sister's maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Jennifer Kennedy of Fort Lauderdale, Kelli Kissel of Northville, Lori Minnear of Fort Lauderdale and Kelly Tew of Atlanta. They wore floor length, off-shoulder gowns of ice pink summer taffeta with bell sleeves and carried crescent cascades of pink glameillas and ivy.

David Tew of Atlanta was best man. Ushers were James Dickerson of Dayton, the bridegroom's brother Robert Grady of Lexington, Kentucky, and the bride's brother James Willoughby of Northville.

Lois Housman kept the bride's book.

Among the 170 guests attending the wedding and luncheon reception following in the Plantation Room of the Holidome in Livonia were the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James Willoughby, and her grandmother, Mrs. Bill Gambrell and her husband of Atlanta, the bride's aunt and cousins, Mrs. Paul Hawks, Barbara Douglass, Ginny and Bryan Hawks of Oxford, Mississippi, and her cousin, Frances Kennedy of New York City.

Relatives of the bridegroom attending included the Dan Blackwoods, Jim Blackwoods of West Virginia, Neil Oblonsky of Cleveland, his sister and niece, Pat and Lindsay Conn of Indianapolis.

The heart-shaped wedding cake made by Debbie Fidge as a gift for the bride was topped with the crystal decoration from her own wedding cake.

After a wedding trip to Hot Springs, Arkansas, the newlyweds are living in Grotton, Connecticut where the bridegroom is in the nuclear submarine program of the U.S. Navy. After being graduated in nursing, the bride will be working at Lawrence and Memorial Hospital in New London, Connecticut.

Parties for the bride and bridegroom were given by Lois Housman, Anna Mary Postma, Connie Qualman, Lois Curl, Kathi Jerome, Ardis McLeod, JoAnn, Shanna and Kelli Kissel and Debbie Fidge.

Engagement announced

MARY GROVES, DAVID PELTIER

Mary R. Groves of 21640 Kilrush announces the engagement of her daughter Mary Elizabeth to David Wayne Peltier.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George T. Roberts of Farmington Hills.

The bride-elect is a 1980 Northville High School graduate and currently is a senior at Berea College in Berea, Kentucky, where she is majoring in hotel/restaurant management.

Her fiancé is a 1978 Clarenceville High School graduate and a 1984 Mo-Tech graduate. He currently is employed at Novi Motive and is pursuing a career in mechanical and electrical engineering. A May, 1986, wedding is planned.

Nickolas, Bryan welcomed

Donald and Carol Strauch of 327 Yerkes announce the birth of their son, Nickolas Jay.

He was born August 27 at William Beaumont Hospital and weighed seven pounds, eight ounces.

He joins older brother Don, 3.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Strauch of Livonia are paternal grandparents. Mr. and Mrs. Karl Wuerfel of Redford Township are maternal grandparents.

Mr. and Mrs. William Brown of Plymouth are maternal great-grandparents.

Tom and Karen McLaughlin of 20141 Taft announce the birth of their son, Bryan Thomas.

He was born August 19 at Providence Hospital and weighed eight pounds, 13 ounces.

He joins older sister Kelly, 18 months.

David and Carol McLaughlin of Northville are paternal grandparents. Maternal grandparents are Don and Bernice Shippa.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Higgins of Pennsylvania are paternal great-grandparents.

Schrot-Jensen vows exchanged in OLV rites

Carolyn Rosanne Schrot, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Schrot of Northville, exchanged marriage vows with Jeffrey Robert Jensen of Lansing June 15 at Our Lady of Victory Church.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jensen of Northville.

The double ring ceremony was officiated by Father John Buddy of Our Lady of Victory Church.

The bride wore a Victorian style gown of chiffon and silk embroidered with flowers. Her picture hat and veil were enhanced with matching embroidery and pink rosebuds.

Laurie Joseph of Dearborn was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were the bride's sister-in-law Sue Schrot of Plymouth and the bridegroom's sister Jill Jensen of Northville.

The bride's attendants wore tea-length pastel pink dresses with white chiffon overlay accented with embroidered flowers. Each attendant wore a rosebud in her hair and carried an arrangement of pastel colored roses and mixed flowers.

Christopher Fries of Lansing served as best man. Ushers were the bride's brother Christopher Schrot of Northville and the bridegroom's brother David Jensen of Walled Lake.

Groomsmen included the bride's brother Jaymie Schrot of Plymouth and the bridegroom's brother Steven Jensen of Lansing.

A dinner reception for 200 guests followed the ceremony at Roma's of Livonia.

A wedding trip on the Carnival Festival, a Caribbean cruise ship, with stops in the island ports of Nassau, San Juan and St. Thomas followed. The newlyweds are making their home in Lansing.

The bride is an engineering secretary/data entry operator for Roberts Corporation-Engineering Firm.

The bridegroom is a financial accountant for Henderson, Hall and Company.

MR. AND MRS. JEFFREY JENSEN

The Northville Record

Mustangs trip Brighton 16-7

Out in Brighton the folks considered it an upset. Not Dennis Colligan.

"I don't think I'm ready to call it an upset," said the Northville head football coach after the Mustangs' 16-7 defeat of Brighton last Friday. "When I lined up everything, I expected a close ballgame."

That's what he got. But that's not what the Bulldog partisans were expecting.

Especially after their team went 9-0 in 1983.

Especially on Brighton's own field. Especially against a team that lost a lot of talent with last year's senior class.

Early in the game, it looked like the Brighton fans wouldn't be disappointed. On the Bulldogs' second play from scrimmage, speedy tailback Mike LaMarra busted past a scrimmage-line pile-up and galloped 66 yards for a Brighton TD.

Riding workhorse fullback Doug Hartman, Northville answered with a 58-yard scoring drive, squaring the score at 7-7 on Rick VanBuren's three-yard dive and Jack Sylvestre's extra point with 2:47 left in the half.

That score didn't change until 8:08 remained in the game. That's when Sylvestre broke the deadlock with a 19-yard field goal.

Explaining his decision to go for the field goal on fourth and goal from the three, Colligan said, "I have a lot of faith in Jack and in our defense. I

'We beat a really good team. Brighton's going to win a lot of games this year.'

— Dennis Colligan
NHS Football Coach

thought all we needed was a lead, and our defense would hold 'em.

"When we came out in the second half, we elected to take the wind in the fourth quarter because we thought the game might come down to a field goal, and we wanted to get Jack the wind."

Against the wind, Sylvestre had barely missed a 47-yard third-quarter attempt. But the soph drilled his fourth quarter try.

Brighton came back throwing, but Mustang cornerback Don Norton intercepted at the Bulldog 39 to set up another Northville score.

Hartman carried five times for 25 yards as Northville marched to the Brighton three. This time Hartman got the call, and bulled his way to paydirt with 3:23 remaining. A bad snap prevented Northville from converting the EP.

Hartman's TD capped a fine afternoon of running for the senior, who collected 85 yards on 17 carries. Van Buren carried 22 times for 83 yards.

On Brighton's next series, safety Paul Newitt intercepted with 2:30 remaining. Brighton had used up its timeouts and the Mustangs ran down the clock to chalk up a victory.

And about Northville's new starting quarterback, Rick Van Buren? The senior completed 6 of 12 for 55 yards, with no interceptions. Three of his completions came on third-down passing situations.

That's the offensive story. But Colligan was quick to point out it was Northville's defense that was most responsible for the win. The Mustangs held Brighton to 102 yards total offense. Take away the 66-yard TD, and that makes a lot of defense.

Colligan also noted Northville played the entire game without committing a turnover. And that his team was assessed just 35 yards in penalties. For a season-opening game, those are respectable statistics.

"For not having that much experience, I thought we played really well," Colligan said. "We made defensive adjustments quickly and made some big defensive plays. We beat a pretty good ballclub. They're going to win a lot of ballgames this year."

Hartman led Northville tacklers with eight first hits. Greg Wendel had three with five assists, and Todd Deal had five first hits and two assists. But the game's biggest defensive play may have been big tackle John Storm's quarterback sack that ended the first half.

"That got us fired up and confident going into the locker room at halftime," Colligan noted. "Stormy just made a great play on that one."

One more factor — Gary Strunk's consistent punting. Strunk nailed five punts for a 35 yard average. Brighton never started a drive in Mustang territory all night.

Northville has another non-conference game against a KVC school this Friday, when the Mustangs host South Lyon. "They lost last week, but they moved the ball and probably should have won," Colligan noted. "I'm expecting a hard-hitting game."

Men's harrier squad improves, but Lions are just too much

South Lyon's men's cross-country squad made the Mustangs' season debut a rough one last Thursday. The Lions clawed Northville 18-37, with only Rich Naszradi's third place breaking up a Lion sweep.

Co-captain Naszradi clocked a swift 17:31 on the somewhat "fast" South Lyon course.

"South Lyon has a pretty talented team," observed Northville Coach Ed Gabrys. "We'd run them in a time trial (scrimmage) meet the week before, and didn't get any places at all.

Gabrys added he was pleased with the way the Mustangs packed to take the next five places. "Our next five were very close to their fifth runner and all packed within 27 seconds," he pointed out. "We just need to move our pack up to a quicker pace. But we're going up there pretty solid."

Matt Winquist led the Mustang pack, taking seventh in 18:04. Brett Netke was next in 18:19, followed in turn by Kevin Haas in 18:26, Alan Griffith in 18:27 and Scott Wiley in 18:31. John Huston clocked an 18:40.

"We have a minute between our top six as a goal," Gabrys said. "We're not too far off that."

The loss won't cost Northville in league competition. The Lions belong to the Kensington Valley Conference, perhaps the state's strongest in cross-country.

The Mustangs got their first look at their league rivals on Saturday at West Bloomfield High School's Marshbanks Invitational.

About 75 schools sent teams to the annual early season meet, and were divided in three groupings according to school size. Northville was classified in the middle and placed 16th of the 26 teams in that group.

"We had good individual performances," Gabrys commented. "I thought we should have been in the top 10, maybe have a shot at the top five. But we just couldn't put it together."

A more predictable performance from Northville's junior varsity runners would have helped. In a reserve meet that followed the varsity meet, three Mustang harriers ran quicker times than their varsity counterparts.

"We have 10 guys with a legitimate claim to running on the varsity," Gabrys said. "It's hard to predict who'll have a good day on any given day."

Naszradi again was Northville's top runner at the meet, running an 18:18 for 65th place on the Marshbanks Park course. Haas was at his heels for 66th place in 18:19. Although Griffith finished just nine seconds later, he placed 83rd. Winquist was 88th in 18:30. Brett Netke ran a 19:10 (124th) and Wiley (130th) in 19:17. Huston drew a varsity slot but was forced to pull out when he aggravated an old ankle injury.

Surprising performances turned in by JV competitors included Kirk Kabel's 18:50 (fifth overall in the reserve meet) and Matt McDonough's 19:04 (sixth).

"They probably would have moved us up a couple places (had they run varsity)," Gabrys noted.

Division rival Walled Lake Western finished 50 points ahead of Northville at the meet. "They're going to be strong again," Gabrys sighed.

Lori Housman rips a forehand volley

Flying start for Robins

Mustang netters post three wins

No signs of slowdown here.

Northville's varsity tennis team picked up where it left off in 1983—winning. The Mustang swept matches against Novi, Hartland and Western Lakes rival Livonia Stevenson, all in convincing fashion, to open their '84 season. The Mustangs tripped Novi Wednesday 6-1, a match somewhat closer than the score would indicate. All the top three singles matches were lengthy three-setters.

Vicki Robins prevailed at first singles 6-4, 6-7, 9-7. "It was really close," said Northville Coach Uta Filkin. "There never was a break, they just kept holding their serves."

Denise Colovas struggled to defeat Novi's Kelly Case 6-4, 4-6, 6-4 at second singles. At third singles, Lynn Frellick fell to Michele Wagner 4-6, 6-2, 4-6. Despite Frellick's loss, Filkin said she was "very pleased with how Lynn fought back. It's nice to know she can take advantage of her assets."

Dorothy Ziegler handily defeated Michele Benoit at fourth singles 6-2, 6-2, and Northville's strong doubles teams all won two-set victories over their Wildcat opponents.

Jennifer Trausch and Lori Housman topped Jill Bekish and Lisa Latham 6-3, 6-3 at first doubles. Leslie Oliver and Shari Feydenko won their second doubles match 6-1, 6-1, and Diane Lindquist and Kathleen Kotarski were easy 6-1, 6-1 winners at third doubles.

All six junior varsity doubles teams won: Lauren Oliver-Jennifer Millgard, Sue Lane-Lisa Felicelli, Wendy Weeker-Jill Stiles, Sue Duncan-Nancy Dutkiewicz, Shannon Couzens-Merrilyn Michelich and Carolyn Abraham-Karen Morgan.

Robins and Colovas had equally tough workouts the following day against their Hartland opponents, although Northville prevailed easily, 7-0. Robins won a three-set victory over Sandy Andrews 7-5, 2-6, 6-4, and Colovas ground out a 6-4, 7-6 win over Michelle Portman.

"That was a good match," Filkin recalled. "That girl (Portman) had a good serve. In the first game she aces out Denise and I thought, 'Oh, no.' But Denise played a tough match. She's a great retriever."

All the other Northville entries posted straight set wins. Only one set was close — Trausch-Housman edged Tracy Meek and Dawn Adrade 7-5 before settling down and whipping the Eagle duo 6-1 in the next set.

Despite a 5-2 score, Filkin described Northville's win over Stevenson as a "cliffhanger."

Robins once again went three sets against her opponent, finally dropping Sylvia Kleer 5-7, 6-4, 6-2. "That was the best I've seen her play," Filkin remarked. "It was 7:45 by the time that match was ending."

Colovas won a default match over Christina Bailey, who had to pull out with strained back muscles. The match had shaped up as a close one. Colovas took the first set 7-5 and the score was 3-3 in the second set when play was stopped.

Frellick played an outstanding match to take a two-set squeaker over Michelle Dubuque 7-5, 7-6. At fourth singles, Ziegler fell 3-6, 5-7, although she "fought like a lion," Filkin said of the sophomore. "She's going to help us a lot."

Trausch-Housman disposed of Kelly Cascaden and Tanya Petolajoff 6-4, 6-3 at first doubles. Oliver-Feydenko whipped Chris Brockelhurst and Emily Snow 6-1, 6-1, and Lindquist-Kotarski fell to Alison Eischhorn and Susan Ting 0-6, 6-3, 4-6 in a game much affected by Friday's strong winds.

The Mustangs resume league play at 4 p.m. today when they host Plymouth Salem. Tomorrow, Northville hosts Farmington Our Lady of Mercy.

Pirates shanghai cold-shooting Northville in '84 cage opener

By B.J. MARTIN

It's back to the rifle range for Northville's varsity cagers. Time for a little shooting practice.

Going 3-for-24 from the floor in the second half, the Mustangs fell to Pinckney 28-16 Tuesday of last week to open their '84 season and Ed Kritch's varsity coaching career.

"I'm really surprised at how badly we shot," Kritch said later. "I felt we were as good a team as they were. But they have a veteran team and we're a little inexperienced."

"The kids will get better," he insisted. "It's just that instead of wanting to do something positive and take a chance, everybody was simply trying to avoid making mistakes."

Kritch had no complaints defensively. Although Pinckney took advantage of Northville for a few easy baskets off the Mustangs' press late in the game, the Pirates managed only 17 points during the first three quarters, and led by just three going into the final quarter.

But by then, the Mustangs had serious problems. The starters were tired and growing more and more frustrated by missed shots. Team sparkplug Sue Terwin was neck-deep in foul trouble, and without her on the floor, Northville's offense and press suffered.

"We really need her quickness and court presence," said Kritch. "We pressed effectively with her in, but I didn't want to risk letting her foul out, so I had to keep her on the bench."

Point guard Kathy Korowin had a good night on offense and defense, playing the entire 32 minutes of the game. She and forward Tricia Ducker each had six points to pace the Mustangs.

While Terwin was on the floor and not fouling, Kritch noted the senior played effectively. He added sophomore forward Sue Schrader did a "nice job" crashing the boards.

"I know we're going to get better play from everybody as we acquire a little more experience," Kritch said. "When the kids came out for the second half, you could tell they felt tight."

"We'll do OK," he added. "We just need to put the ball in the basket. I think as we get a little more experience and confidence we can do that. We're shooting great in practice."

The loss to Pinckney won't hurt Nor-thville's conference record. The Mustangs' Western Lakes season begins at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at Farmington Harrison. The Mustangs whipped Harrison twice last season (so did everybody else). But this year the Hawks are showcasing a slightly improved offense, scoring 32 and 29 points in their first two games.

Tuesday, Northville hosts Farmington, another WLAA team, at 7:30 p.m.

RECREATION BRIEFS

DISCOVER NORTHVILLE RUN

Plans are in place for the annual "Discover Northville Run," 10 a.m. Sunday, October 6. Featured are 10-kilometer and 5-kilometer races as well as a one-mile "Fun Run" for kids. Pre-registration fee of $7 includes a long sleeve t-shirt and refreshments after the race. All races begin and end at Northville Downs. Day-of-the-race registration is $9 and will be accepted from 8 to 9:30 a.m. Proceeds from the run will go to community service projects through the Northville Rotary Club, which is co-sponsoring the meet with local businesses. Trophies and medals will be awarded to top finishers in the 5-K and 10-K races, and ribbons will go to all entries in the Kids' Fun Run. Mail registration with a check made out to the Northville Rotary Club to Bill Tomczyk, 42145 West Seven Mile Road, Northville, MI 48167. For more information, phone (313) 348-1509 or 420-2777.

VOLLEYBALL MEETING

A meeting for teams interested in playing volleyball this fall will be held at 7 p.m. tonight at the Northville Community Center.

FALL REGISTRATION

Friday is the last day to sign up for fall Northville Community Recreation programs. For up-to-the-minute information on programs and offerings, phone the department at 349-0203.

SOCCER: Fall schedule under way

UNDER 10 GIRLS: Stephanie Neff scored both goals in the Pandas' 2-1 win over Plymouth Six. Defender Karen Schwartz and striker Sunaina Gill played good games for the Pandas. Valerie Schuerman, Jane Luterek and Beth MacLean each scored to lead the Stomper to a 3-2 win over Plymouth One. Karen Saydek was the Stomper's outstanding defensive player, and Beth MacLean was tops on offense.

UNDER 10 BOYS: United trampled Orange Crush 5-0 Saturday, led by the fine play of defender Mike Husak and striker Clay Cutchins. The Plymouth Wild Hawks defeated the Celtics 3-0 despite good performances by Brandon Tewa and Matt Parkinson. Brad Cutler's goal gave the Panthers a 1-1 tie with the Farmington Flame.

Outstanding games were turned in by defender Kurt Wahl and striker Craig Yarmuth. The Heitert brothers, Steve and Jamie, each scored a goal and Derek Hanson added one more to lead the Raiders to a 3-1 win over the Plymouth Express. Defender Dan McQuaid and offensive player Jeff Ozanich were standouts for the Raiders. The Northville Express nipped the Plymouth Rowdies 3-2 on goals by Matt Sica, Pat Kennedy and Rodger Kotylo. Northville's Rowdies fell to the Plymouth Blue Demons 5-0. The Eagles edged the Hot Spurs 2-1, with Mike scoring all three goals. Mike Barnett and Mike Gassner scored for the Eagles and Mike Hamilton for the Hot Spurs. Ian Switalski was named the Eagles' top defensive player. Matt Mills earned the honor for the Hot Spurs and Matt Rossing was the Hot Spurs' offensive MVP.

UNDER 12 GIRLS: The Demons and Desperados battled to a 0-0 tie last weekend. Demon striker Beth Ursel and defender Meyssa Colizzi turned in outstanding games, as did goalkeeper Catherine Donkers. A "total team effort" was turned in by the Desperados. The Pandas trampled Farmington One 4-2 thanks to two goals by Andrea Barber and two by Anna Marchesotti. Defender Karen Vogt and Susie Weidenbach turned in fine games for the Northville squad. The Panthers fell to Plymouth Five 3-1 with only Julie Howard's goal staving off a shutout. Teresa McConville and Karen Kepner played well in the losing effort.

UNDER 12 BOYS: Plymouth Nine trampled the Hot Spurs 3-0, despite fine performances by defender Randy Huber and offensive player Dennis Gray. Eric Newton scored both Strikers' goals in his team's 3-2 loss to Plymouth 12. Chris Heaton contributed a strong defensive game, and Peter Beyeradoff played well on offense. Arsenal defeated Farmington Seven 2-1 on goals by Brett Davis and Paul Houghans and a fine team effort. United dropped a 5-1 contest to Farmington Five, with only Matt Stevens' goal on the books for Northville.

UNDER 14 GIRLS: The Warriors fell to the Plymouth Panthers 5-1 Sunday, with only Mo Morrissey's goal staving off a shutout. The Plymouth Kicks edged the Foxes 1-0. UNDER 17 GIRLS: The Wildcats defeated the Angels in a cross-town match, with Sue LaChance and Michele Cross tallying for the winners. Ann Marie Petrocki and Diane Dragon performed well for the 'Cats.

Here's rarity: Chief golfers tie Northville

Plymouth Canton and Northville posted a prep golf rarity — a tie — when both teams carded rounds of 215 last Wednesday in the Mustangs' season opener.

"Usually, a tie is settled by a sudden-death playoff," said Northville Coach Joe Blake. "But the course was so crowded we weren't able to get one in. So it'll have to be resolved at a later date (still to be determined)."

Blake said he was somewhat disappointed his squad couldn't better its score. "I thought we'd be down around 210 or 212," he said. "We were fortunate our last group did so well. Our fifth and sixth guys beat theirs by six strokes. We needed that help."

Bob Justus carded Northville's low round with a 39. Eric Morfe was two strokes back at 41 and Bob Baird at 44. Greg Abraham shot a 45 and Rick McCulloch a 46.

Northville's depth proved even more helpful in Friday's 211-216 non-conference win over Redford Thurston.

Despite playing on their home course, Morfe and Justus each shot 44's — far back of their usual rounds at Salem Hills.

Baird carded the day's low round at 39, with Ron Demeter and Abraham each shooting 42's. Rick McCulloch continued his consistent play with a 45.

"I'm glad those two matches are out of the way," said Blake. "Hopefully now we can start playing the way we're capable of playing."

Northville will take on division rival Livonia Churchill at 3:15 p.m. today at Salem Hills, then return to the same course to play South Lyon in a non-league match Friday.

Continuing its busy schedule next week, Northville will host Livonia Bentley at 3:30 p.m. Monday, then compete at the Plymouth Invitational at Brae-Burn Golf Course all day Tuesday. Wednesday, Northville will take on Plymouth Salem at 3 p.m.

Women's cross-country team runs third at invite

Two meets under their belts and already Northville's women's cross-country squad is making people take notice.

After trailing South Lyon in a scrimmage meet the previous week, the Mustangs nipped the Lions 24-31 last Thursday in the real thing for their dual meet debut. Then two days later, the squad brought home a third-place trophy from the West Bloomfield Marshbanks Invitational.

"I was looking over our results from the time trial (scrimmage) meet," said Coach Ed Gabrys, "and I saw where we could improve by a little bit. The girls got stronger in the last two miles."

Cindy Panowicz was an easy winner in the South Lyon meet, clocking a 20:55. Trailing Panowicz was teammate Pam Cavanaugh in 22:20, who had run third in the pre-season tune-up.

Wendy Nuechterlein was Northville's next finisher, taking fifth place in 22:41. Jennifer Goshorn was three seconds back in sixth place.

Dawn Schweim claimed ninth in 24:11 and Sue Blanchard ran 12th in 26:37.

"The girls are becoming believers," Gabrys noted. And the Marshbanks Invitational confirmed it. Northville placed third of the 22 teams in its size grouping, with Portage Northern taking top honors.

More importantly, the Mustangs finished ahead of powerhouses like Andover and Holly.

"That was a real confidence builder," Gabrys agreed.

Panowicz was Northville's top finisher, taking 14th in 20:54, 32 seconds faster than the senior ran at the same meet in 1983. Cavanaugh was 38th in 22:20, Goshorn 41st in 22:27. Nuechterlein ran 22:44 to place 48th, Blanchard took 74th in 23:52 and Schweim ran 89th in 24:23.

The Mustangs will next run at this Saturday's Schoolcraft Invitational.

Locals take first, second in grid contest

John Wood of Northville copped top honors in the first week of the Northville Record/Novi-Walled Lake News Football Contest, missing just two of 10 games.

Three entrants had three incorrect predictions to tie for second place, but when the tiebreaker rule was applied Ann Marie Petroski of Northville had won second prize and Anne White of Plymouth had claimed third prize.

Petroski guessed that the Detroit

Lions and Atlanta Falcons would produce a combined total of 52 points, just one away from the actual total of 51 in Detroit's 27-24 overtime victory. White's prediction was 49.

Judy Montgomery, another Northville resident, also missed just three games, but her prediction of 27 total points in the tiebreaker was 24 points off the mark.

For their efforts, Wood receives the $10 first prize, Petroski takes home second prize of $5 and White receives the $3 third prize.

The first week proved to be a tough one for grid prognosticators as 42 percent of the entrants missed more than 50 percent of the games and 25 percent missed 70 percent.

One note for next week — several entrants failed to make a prediction in the tiebreaker. In addition to predicting the total number of points scored, entrants must also pick a winner in the tiebreaker game.

Soccer team trips Hawks in first WLA encounter

First-half goals by Matt Peltz, Doug May, Fred Cahill and Joe Mackle staked Northville to a 4-0 victory over Farmington Harrison Friday in both teams' Western Lakes Activities Association season debut.

Northville controlled play continually against the struggling Hawks. Coaches Dan Swayne and Marvin Gans were able to circulate 30 Mustangs into the game.

Harrison had only one scoring chance in the game, a breakaway stopped cleanly by goalkeeper Kurt Settino's diving save.

The easy win gave Swayne and Gans a chance to rest center back

Dan Magdich and forward Bob Goldberg, each of whom had been nursing injuries. "It helps being able to bring in fresh players the way we did," Gans noted.

All four Northville goals came from shots taken outside the penalty area.

The Mustangs will face two tough opponents during the upcoming week. Tomorrow at 7 p.m. Northville will host Western Division rival Plymouth Canton, hungry for revenge after losses to the Mustangs last year.

Another arch rival, Livonia Stevenson, will host the Mustangs at 7 p.m. Tuesday.

TAX TIPS
LEE E. HOLLAND, C.P.A.

COMBINING BUSINESS AND PLEASURE

If occasional travel is an important part of your business or profession, you're entitled to certain deductions for expenses, especially when you're away from home overnight. Attending a convention is a good example. If that's the primary purpose of your business trip, whatever personal pleasures you add to it as long as they are separate won't be questioned by the Internal Revenue Service. Just make sure whatever items you claim for deductions are directly business-related. These would include the cost of transportation, meals and lodging, business entertainment and all convention fees. However, to protect yourself you should keep records of your expenses so you can justify them, if need be. You should also keep a copy of the convention program and check off the sessions you attended. Where possible, use your checkbook or credit cards to pay for all of the business-related expenses.

Many other business expenses are allowed under the new tax law. For a full review of the tax-saving opportunities available to you, why not call us for an appointment?
