NHS student dies in crash on Six Mile

Students and staff at Northville High School observed a moment of silence Monday morning following the weekend death of a 14-year-old sophomore student in a two-car collision on Six Mile Road.

Jennifer Jakobic of Westridge died of multiple injuries at St. Mary Hospital as a result of the accident, which occurred on Six Mile between Haggerty and Bradner shortly before 9 p.m. Saturday.

Northville Township Police have disclosed little information regarding the fatal accident, pending further investigation.

According to information police did release, Jennifer was a passenger in a car driven by 16-year-old Tony Randall Signorelli of Old Bedford.

Signorelli, a Catholic Central High School student, was injured in the incident and was listed in "fairly good" condition Tuesday morning by a St. Mary Hospital spokesperson.

Police said the other driver involved in the accident was 36-year-old Ralph Winnicker, also a Northville resident.

The daughter of William and Susan Jakobic, Jennifer played softball with the Northville Recreation Department and was a member of Our Lady of Victory Church.

She was born November 18, 1969, and is survived by her parents and her brother, Jeffrey.

Jeff Radwanski, Jennifer's former counselor at Cooke Junior High School, said staff and students remembered her as a "pretty, happy, cooperative kid."

Funeral service will be held at 10 a.m. tomorrow at Our Lady of Victory Church with Father Frank Pollie officiating. Burial will be at Rural Hill Cemetery.

Visitation will be from noon to 9 p.m. today at Ross B. Northrop and Son Funeral Home with a Rosary to be held at 8 p.m. tonight.

Police chase truck driver near accident

Northville Township Police are seeking a warrant for the arrest of a 23-year-old Northville resident who allegedly hit a patrol car while police were at the scene of Saturday's fatal accident on Six Mile Road west of Haggerty.

According to police, the suspect, driving a Ford pickup truck, approached the accident scene at a high rate of speed, locked the vehicle's brakes and sped off squealing the tires.

An officer at the scene followed the vehicle to Six Mile and Winchester. When the officer approached the pickup, the driver sped off spraying the officer with gravel.

According to police, the officer continued to pursue the suspect to Six Mile and Beck. At that point, the driver turned the vehicle around and attempted to hit the patrol car.

Approximately 500 feet east of Chubb Road, the suspect vehicle slowed to approximately 20 mph and the driver put on the brakes.

According to the officer at the scene, the vehicle started backing up very rapidly and rammed the patrol car.

A 19-year-old resident then approached the suspect vehicle from south bound Chubb and forced the driver to stop.

Police transported the suspect to the township police station where he was processed and lodged.

Soaked to the core

tivities for both children and adults during the annual two-day festival. Though Colleen got some pointers from Dennis, she wasn't quite as successful during her turn at the dunk tank. For more on Autumnfest, see Page 3. Record photo by Steve Fecht.

Attorney says patrols illegal

By KEVIN WILSON

With the harness racing season at Northville Downs less than two weeks away, a legal issue has emerged as a threat to the city's traditional means of policing activity at the track.

"The city attorney says, essentially, that we are using our auxiliary officers in a way that is contrary to a state attorney general ruling," Police Chief Rodney Cannon told city council Monday night.

"He (city attorney James Kohl) suggests we should stop using auxiliaries at the Downs — that we are required to use full-time or part-time fully certified officers," said Sergeant Norman Kubitskey.

When the track opens this year, auxiliaries will be on the job, though their powers may be limited to acting as the "eyes and ears" of regular full-time patrol officers. In this way, they would function much like security guards. There appears to be no problem in their performance in the direction of traffic and similar duties — only in the enforcement of state laws.

The city auxiliary officers have been used routinely and under a regular schedule to perform virtually all police functions at the Downs. Under a recent attorney general's opinion, city attorney Kohl advised, those officers must either receive the full training and certification of full-time police officers, or be limited in their ability to enforce

Jewelry store break-in marks second in area

Items valued at approximately $35,000 were stolen from Michel's Jewelry on West Seven Mile early Saturday morning making it the second jewelry heist in Northville in less than a month.

Township Police Captain Philip Presnell said "there are a lot of similarities" between Saturday's incident and the September 9 break-in at Orin Jewelers in downtown Northville which netted thieves an estimated $35,000 in jewelry.

He noted specifically that the time of the incident and method are nearly identical in both cases.

Saturday's break-in occurred at approximately 4:55 a.m. — only 15 minutes after Northville township police checked the store's security.

Township police were alerted to the scene by the jewelry store's alarm company.

According to Presnell, an officer was at the scene only moments after receiving notification from the alarm company.

Upon his arrival, the officer found the front entrance door window broken out and noted the plate glass on top of two showcases near the right of the entrance was smashed. The officer at the scene secured the front entrance until another officer was dispatched to the jewelry store.

Upon further investigation, the two officers at the scene observed several pieces of jewelry to be missing from the middle show case on the left side of the entrance.

The officers also observed the top glass of the showcase to be broken and found the cloth covers for the cases on the floor.

A cement block was found inside a showcase on the right side of the entrance door. Police observed jewelry missing from the case.

In the Orin Jewelers' incident city police said they thought a 30-pound cement block, found inside one of the jewelry cases, was used to smash the front door window.

Township officers also found that the sliding doors on all three showcases to the right of the entrance door had been opened.

The store owner told police that approximately 60 yellow gold watches were stolen along with 50 yellow gold diamond pendants and approximately 24 pairs of yellow gold earrings.

Also stolen was a pair of diamond earrings.

A complete inventory list of merchandise taken during the break-in still is pending.

Police are investigating the scene for evidence and an alert has been sent out to all area police departments.

Only hours after the incident, police talked with an employee of Family Bakery near Michel's. The employee told police he was inside the bakery during the time the incident occurred and said that at approximately 4:45 a.m. he heard a vehicle speed down the alley behind the Seven Mile shopping center.

However, he told police he did not see or hear anything in the main parking lot.

'Discover Northville Run' under way this weekend

The streets of Northville will close once again this weekend — but not quite as long as last Saturday.

The occasion is the Fourth Annual "Discover Northville Run," sponsored by the Northville Rotary Club and a large number of local merchants. Organizers of the event report registrants are up 30 percent from last year at this time.

"We're expecting in excess of 400 participants, maybe way more than that if the weather's good," said the run's annual chief director, Lt. Bill Tomczyk of Michigan State Police.

"We've got people coming from as far as Battle Creek to run," he added. "So far everything has been going A.O.K., no problems at all."

The Discover Northville Run consists of a five-kilometer race, a ten-kilometer race and a one-mile "Fun Run" for kids directly on the Northville Downs track.

The Fun Run is scheduled to start at 9:30 a.m. Saturday and will be followed by the start of both the 5k and 10k races at about 10 a.m. The streets of the planned race route (see map) will be closed off from about 9:45 till 11:15 a.m.

"Hopefully we'll get everyone cleared away in time for the Michigan-Michigan State game," Tomczyk chuckled.

Registration will continue the day of the race from 8 to 9:30 a.m. The fee of $9 earns participants a long-sleeved t-shirt bearing the race logo.

Trophies and medals will be distributed to top placers in all the various age categories, male and female, and to the overall winners in men and women's competition in each race. Ribbons will be distributed to all participants in the Fun Run.

All participants will be able to help themselves to snacks, pizza, soft drinks and other refreshments after the race.

Proceeds from the Discover Northville Run will support various local and world-wide service projects coordinated by the Northville Rotary Club and by Rotary International. In recent years, the Rotary Club donated funds toward purchase of the downtown clock, among other projects.

For information on registering for the run or for answers to questions about the run, phone (313) 348-1509 or (313) 420-2777.

Judge candidates tussle

John MacDonald, present township supervisor and candidate for 35th District Judge, is dismissing charges levelled by the campaign of his opponent Robert Greenstein that MacDonald has not filed some required campaign finance information.

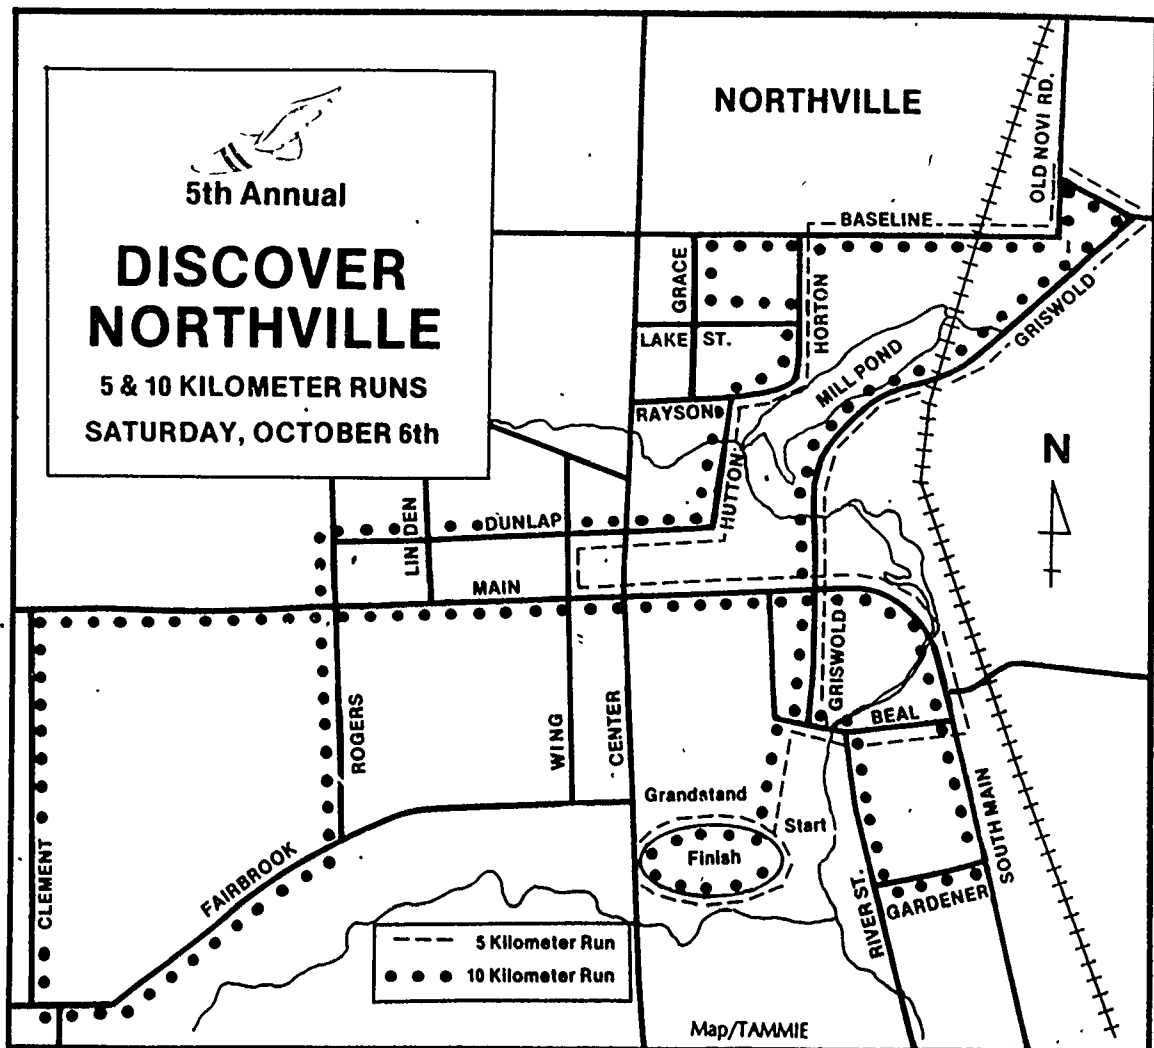

The Greenstein camp is charging that MacDonald has an in-kind arrangement with Associated Newspapers that should have been reported on campaign finance statements but was not. The arrangement reportedly calls for an exchange of MacDonald's services as an attorney for advertising space in Associated's paper in Canton.

MacDonald said Monday he does have such an arrangement with the chain of southern Wayne County weekly papers; but that the arrangement is an on-going exchange and the financial details will be fully reported when completed.

He explained that he has been Associated's legal consultant "for many, many years" and that the publishers had run up a considerable debt with the law firm. "They'd gotten up to $4,000 accumulated over a period of years," MacDonald said.

"I went to the publisher, Mike

Homecoming plans slated

Northville High School staff and students are getting ready for the start of homecoming festivities which will get under way Monday and conclude with the Mustangs' Homecoming game against the Livonia Churchill Chargers October 12.

Themes have been established Monday through Friday to mark Spirit Week. Student dress-up themes include Monday, Beach Day; Tuesday, Silver Screen Day; Wednesday, University Sweatshirt Day; Thursday, Tiger Day and Friday, School Colors Day.

Lunchroom activities also have been planned throughout the week.

Monday's event will be Guys Best Legs Contest and Horse Drawing; Tuesday will be Movie Trivia; Wednesday, Impressions and Juggling; Thursday, Pop Chugging and Marshmallow Stuffing and Friday, Air Bands.

Highlight of the week will be the pep assembly scheduled for 1:10 p.m. Friday, October 12. Homecoming King and Queen will be announced at that time.

The Homecoming Parade will get under way between 6:20 and 6:30 p.m. following the float judging competition at the Recreation Building.

Vernon said. "We should go to our legislators and enlist their help in either obtaining a favorable opinion from the attorney general or a change in the statute to recognize our situation."

Council agreed to that approach to the problem. The city manager and police chief are also exploring all possible alternatives to grant the auxiliary force at the Downs the widest possible enforcement powers.

Cannon noted that pressures for some kind of change are likely to come from other communities as well. "Livonia has 400 in their auxiliary," he said. "They're now requesting an opinion from their attorney in light of this opinion. We're not alone in this."

City debates use of auxiliary

laws.

"The problem is in our use of auxiliaries on a regular schedule," Cannon said. "If we commonly used full-time certified officers at the Downs and we had a problem, say one or two were sick, the auxiliaries could go in there and do everything they're doing right now."

But the law on auxiliaries says they are to be used on a temporary or emergency basis, and that's not what we're doing," the chief concluded.

The opinion has broad implications not only for Northville but for many other communities that utilize reserve or auxiliary officers, who are required to have only one-third the amount of training of regular officers, to perform routine police functions.

If auxiliary officers cannot be used at the Downs as they have been in the past, City Manager Steven Walters said, it "raises questions about the availability of personnel and the cost. There is no assurance we can find qualified personnel to work at the rates we are budgeted to spend in the current year."

The city has advertised for fully-certified officers to work part-time but has received little response. Cannon noted that several respondents are retired police officers whose certification has lapsed — thus they do not solve the city's problem.

The attorney general's opinion (two of them actually, one from 1977 and another this year) specifically addresses a situation in Lincoln Park, where a reserve force performs all the same functions as do regular officers. The latest opinion endorses that procedure, but Kohl notes that Lincoln Park's reserves are all fully-certified police officers and graduates of the police academy.

Only one of the city's auxiliary officers is so certified. Training Northville's auxiliaries to that level in time for the upcoming racing season is impossible — training takes nine weeks and the season begins October 15. Even if the auxiliary officers were to be trained, there is another concern, Cannon said.

"Most of our auxiliary officers have full-time jobs," Cannon said. "It is impractical for them to take nine weeks off their regular jobs to attend the police academy."

Mayor Paul Vernon asked what the implications would be if the city simply "ignored" the attorney general opinion and utilized the auxiliary force as it always has.

Walters replied it was the city attorney's opinion that such a situation would leave the city open to liability suits.

"There's an opportunity here to sue for false arrest," Walters said.

Kohl's opinion, sought by the police department after Cannon read the attorney general opinion in a trade publication, also cites liability as a problem.

"To avoid potential liability, any auxiliary officers (not certified or exempted from certification) should immediately be assigned to non-law enforcement duties only," Kohl wrote.

Vernon said he disagreed with Kohl that Northville's use of auxiliary officers is similar to Lincoln Park's. "I'd like to see if we can't get an opinion from the attorney general that this situation is different from that one,"

TAX TIPS

LEE E. HOLLAND, C.P.A.

"ORDINARY AND NECESSARY" ENTERTAINMENT

If entertaining is an important part of your cost of doing business, you don't have to feel unduly restrained if it can be classed as "ordinary and necessary." According to the Internal Revenue Service, your entertainment must be primarily for the purpose of negotiating business. It must carry with it the prospect of business income or other business benefits within the foreseeable future.

The cost for entertainment must also appear reasonable to the IRS based on the kind of business you're involved in and the customers you cultivate. Any entertainment that smacks of being "lavish and extravagant" might be subject to question by the IRS. On the other hand, the IRS doesn't expect you to be penurious or overly conservative in your entertainment spending. It doesn't expect you to confine your entertaining to third-class establishments.

Deductions for entertainment spending have a certain amount of flexibility. So do the many other deductions possible under the new tax law. Why not call us for an appointment to discuss them?

Township settles contract with police officer's union

By KEVIN WILSON

Northville Township last week settled a contract with its police officer's union that will raise labor costs in the township's most expensive department by 13.43 percent over the next three years.

Contract talks began in the spring but deadlocked in September. A state mediator was called in September 17 and helped the parties reach an agreement ratified by the union September 19 and by the Township Board last Wednesday.

The new pact with the Northville Township Police Officers Association calls for a five percent wage hike retroactive to April 1 of this year, when the previous contract expired. Increases of four percent will be accorded on April 1 of both 1985 and 1986.

Longevity pay has been increased $200 per year for five or more years service. Offsetting the cost is an agreement to freeze the current minimum rates, which will be increased four percent in 1985 (same as the general increase). A similar increase in the minimum is slated for '86 and the step rates within the range were altered. Maximum rates after four years are increased on the same basis as the general wage.

There are many detail alterations in the contract, negotiator Richard Ambler told township trustees at last week's meeting. The bargaining unit includes eight police patrol officers and seven dispatchers. The force's sergeants, lieutenant and captain are members of a separate bargaining unit.

This Command Officers Association typically completes its negotiations soon after the patrol officers do.

Patrol officers agreed to extend the useful life of police vehicles by 25 percent, a move long-sought by the township — patrol cars will be left in service until they have accumulated 75,000 miles. The old limit was 60,000 miles. The new clause also requires that the car be maintained in good condition.

Among the changes to the patrol officers contract, and likely to be included in the command officers pact now under negotiation, is a new dental insurance program partially offset by concessions that reduce the general health insurance premium, Ambler explained.

The dental plan, which requires the employees to pay 50 percent of the cost of dental care while the insurance company picks up the other half, was added in return for the union's agreement to a health plan requiring employees to pay 20 percent of health care costs and a $50 deductible per person. The old health insurance had a $100 deductible per person but employees paid only 10 percent of costs beyond that.

Ambler said Blue Cross/Blue Shield has agreed to offer the township an HMO (health maintenance organization) plan that could further reduce health care costs.

Other changes in the agreement add one vacation day per year for employees with 4 to 10 years service. Thus an employee with four years service gets 14 days vacation and one with 10 years is allowed 20 days — the old numbers were 13 and 19, respectively.

Other changes affect overtime served by police officers, giving full-time officers first opportunity at overtime before part-time employees. Also, officers scheduled for nine days work consecutively will be paid time and one-half for the ninth day.

The residency requirement, which has required police employees live within 15 miles of the township has been expanded to allow residency within 20 miles.

Under the new pact, senior employees will be allowed to bid for shift preference so long as it does not interfere with full-staffing and operation of the department.

Life insurance coverage paid for by the township has been increased from $15,000 to $25,000. Bereavement pay has been altered to allow for the deaths of aunts and uncles of the employee's spouse, rather than nieces and nephews as in the previous contract.

Detail changes in police operating procedures were also made in the contract. These involve securing the doors to the department; overtime rotation, use of bulletin boards, filing of counseling letters, overtime for employees in training, some language clarification regarding the uniform allowance, allowance of reporting time upon recall from layoff and a release from duty immediately following court appearances.

Overall labor cost changes to the township, Ambler said, will be 4.85 percent this year, 4.5 percent in 1985 and 3.52 percent in 1986.

Horton Street stop sign only on a 90-day trial

The four-way stop sign at Horton and Lake Streets is not permanent but a 90-day extension of the traffic study launched at the request of Cabbagetown residents, Police Chief Rodney Cannon said Monday.

Cannon told council the four-way stop is in place against his better judgement and that only if it improves traffic patterns in the area will he come back to council in three months to make the traffic control order permanent.

"The statistics just don't indicate that you need stop signs every block," the chief said. "Studies have shown that when you put up a lot of stop signs, the speeds in between actually go up. (The situation is not going to change — there will be more noise with the stops and starts, there won't be any fewer cars travelling there.)"

Council member J. Burton DeRusha said he sympathized with the concerns of Cabbagetown residents who requested alterations to the traffic pattern on Horton, but noted the traffic study performed there does not indicate a need.

"I remember when I lived on a busy street with small children and 25 or 30 miles per hour looks mighty fast when you're standing in front of your house and thinking your children might be endangered," DeRusha said. He noted that the study showed speeds were not excessive, though there is a heavy traffic volume.

"That's in the nature of living in a city where all the major routes through town go through residential areas," he said.

Mayor Paul Vernon said he is not inclined to make the four-way stop permanent. "What we're doing flies in the face of generally-accepted traffic engineering practice," Vernon said.

DeRusha noted that without council action, Cannon's traffic order establishing the four-way stop will expire in 90 days.

"We'll see what happens," Cannon said. "Maybe it will reduce the problem somewhat, though I don't expect it will. It's simply on a trial basis."

In related discussion, Cannon noted that the department "takes exception" to comments made by Cabbagetown residents that might be taken to imply "we weren't giving them a heads-up job" on the traffic study.

Council members assured Cannon that the department has proven itself trustworthy in such matters in the past. Vernon said the comments raised no questions in his mind regarding the department's performance and that the complaints by residents seemed to result from dissatisfaction with the results of the study rather than from substantive issues.

Marijuana, guns stolen from residence

In the City...

Two guns, stereo equipment and a box containing an "unknown amount of marijuana and paraphernalia" were reported stolen from a South Center Street home between 7:40 a.m. and 5:31 p.m. last Wednesday.

Stolen were a .22 caliber revolver and its brown holster, plus a 12-gauge shotgun with a 28-inch barrel — an estimated $500 in weaponry.

A box of .22 caliber bullets, a box of checks, a rifle scope and a comb were discovered in the house's living room, displaced from the dresser and bureau drawers in the bedroom where the owner had left them. Those items were tagged as evidence and are under investigation by the Michigan State Police Crime Lab.

According to the police report, unknown suspect(s) entered the house by kicking in the back door, damaging its casing, and exited through the front door.

Groundbreaking set at 'elderly village' site

Groundbreaking ceremonies are slated October 19 for what has been known as the "elderly village" plan on 101 acres of former Wayne County Child Development Center property in Northville Township.

Contracts between the county, the county economic development corporation (EDC), and a partnership prepared to develop the site on Sheldon between Five and Six Mile roads have been prepared and everything is ready to move forward in the next building season, according to Township Supervisor John MacDonald.

MacDonald, also a director on the EDC board which holds a 99 year lease on the property, noted that Singh and Associates of Southfield, Binder Building Company and Griswold Holding Company are the major partners in the project.

Planning for the project went more than five years ago and went through several incarnations before reaching its present state, which includes both nursing and residential facilities for the

Additionally stolen from the home were an AM-FM radio/stereo cassette player valued at $200, a Sansui turntable also valued at $200 and assorted cassette tapes valued at $50.

Police are continuing to investigate the case.

Damage estimated at about $150 resulted from vandalism at Rural Hill Cemetery last weekend. Between 6 p.m. Saturday and the time a complaint was filed, 1:15 p.m. Sunday, an unknown driver drove onto the grave sites and spun the wheels of his or her car. Graves and grass in the cemetery's south-center area and to the northwest area near the front entrance were damaged. One flower-pot was broken and left near one of the drives.

...in the Township

A $2,000 pear-shaped diamond ring was reported stolen from a Westview residence sometime during the last 10 months, according to township police.

The complainant told police that sometime between last Christmas and the morning of September 22 the ring was stolen from her residence.

She noted that the last time she saw the ring was on Christmas and only noticed the item missing two weeks ago.

The complainant said her home had not been broken into during the last 10 months and told police she suspects a previous babysitter may have taken the ring. However, she could not supply police with any names.

A Sears lawnmower valued at $510 was stolen from a shed behind a Bradner residence sometime after 10:30 p.m. September 25, township police report.

The complainant told police unknown suspects cut through a cyclone fence to gain access to the shed. He also reported that the master lock on the shed door also was missing.

The complainant told police he was home at the time the incident occurred and did not see or hear anything unusual.

Officers investigating the scene observed the cut in the fence and noted tire marks in the lawn from the fence to the road.

A $279 radar detector was stolen from a 1984 Cadillac Seville parked at Meadowbrook Country Club sometime between 5 and 10 p.m. September 26, according to township police.

The complainant told police unknown subjects smashed the passenger's side window of the vehicle and removed the radar detector from the visor.

The complainant further noted that the vehicle was parked in the west side parking lot under a floodlight at the time the incident occurred.

Damage to the vehicle was estimated at $250.

A radar detector valued at $175 was stolen from a 1983 Oldsmobile Omega parked at Northville Charley's sometime between 8:30 and 11 p.m. September 27, police report.

The complainant told police unknown persons smashed the front passenger's side window and stole a Cobra radar detector.

No physical evidence was found at the scene. Damage to the vehicle was estimated at $250.

A mail-tampering incident which occurred sometime between 4 p.m. September 21 and 1:30 p.m. September 22 at a Sunnydale residence has been turned over to the U.S. Postal Service, police report.

The complainant told police that on September 22 he found a birthday card for his son and a small piece of brown wrapping paper in his mailbox.

He noted that the card and piece of paper were part of a package sent to his son from relatives in Illinois. Items stolen were two pewter figures valued at $14.

The police officer at the scene was advised that the complainant's mail had been tampered with four times during the last year.

...from MSP

Residents of a Currie Road home were shocked September 14 to interrupt a burglar in the act of robbing their home, state police reported.

The complainant told police she drove up to her house at 3:30 p.m. that day with her daughter and grandson, and found an unknown car sitting in the driveway, its engine running.

The puzzled residents were looking toward a horse barn behind the house when a stranger came out the back door of the house and asked the daughter if there was a Ron or Roger at home. Before complainants fully understood the man was not known to the family, he jumped into a late-model car and drove away toward Six Mile.

Police investigators determined entry to the house had been made by pushing on the back door, and subsequently breaking its casing. A color TV, a rifle and a shotgun were found on the floor by the back door — all had been moved there by the intruder.

The complainants described the man as a white male in his mid- to late-20s, with strong, dark, collar-length hair and a short beard and mustache. Police took the weapons back to the crime lab in hopes of finding fingerprints on them.

By the time a Savoy Court resident realized the loaner car she got from a Pontiac dealer was missing September 13, it had been found by Detroit police, stripped of virtually all valuable parts, according to state police.

The complainant reported that she was driving the 1984 Pontiac Trans Am loaner vehicle while her own car was being repaired at Jim Fresard Pontiac in Royal Oak. She parked the loaner in a lot at Highland Lakes the night before and noticed it was missing at 8 a.m. September 13.

When police called the dealership to report the theft, the dealer had already heard from Detroit police, who had found it in their city, stripped, several hours earlier.

A 1984 Oldsmobile valued at $10,000 was reported stolen from the A&P parking lot on Seven Mile Road September 21. But state police recovered the car minutes later on I-27, where it had been taken by the thief, a Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital patient.

According to the police report, an Innsbrook Drive resident reported the theft to township police, who aired a bulletin describing the car and the white male believed to have stolen it. A trooper on a traffic stop on northbound I-275 at Six Mile Road heard the broadcast, looked across to the southbound lanes and spotted a car answering the description.

He caught up with the silver-grey Cutlass Ciera at I-275 and Warren Road. When stopped, the driver told the trooper he was a patient at the hospital and was on a weekend visitation pass. The patient told police he found the car, owned by National Car Rental System and leased to the complainant, in the A&P parking lot, keys in the ignition and the engine running. He said he just got in and drove it away, not stating where he was going.

City Council grants contract to landscape traffic islands

City Council awarded the contract for the landscaping of the islands in South Main Boulevard to low bidder Harold Thomas Nursery of Livonia Monday night.

The low bid of $21,728.30 exceeds the city's estimates by roughly $6,000, City Manager Steven Walters told council, but he expects the cost can be handled in light of the donations toward the project.

"The Beautification Commission has raised roughly half this amount," Walters said. "It would be reasonable, I think, to appropriate the difference to the Beautification Commission — they are aware that a portion of it will come out of their budget."

Mayor Paul Vernon said he was pleased with having Harold Thomas Nursery as the contractor for the project. "They do exceptionally good work," he said. "They normally are more expensive than the others, though."

Other bids submitted on the project came from F.J. LaFontaine & Sons Landscaping of Farmington Hills ($29,842), Green Ridge Landscaping of South Lyon ($23,976) and Maple Ridge Landscape of Napier Road ($24,610).

Educators blast Voter's Choice proposal

By MICHELE McELMURRY

Citing devastating revenue reductions for schools, colleges and universities, local educators are voicing their opposition to the Voter's Choice proposal (Proposal C) which will appear on the state ballot November 6.

Should Proposal C (dubbed the "Voter's Choice" proposal by its backers) be approved by Michigan voters, the state constitution would be amended to require that all taxes and fees (including tuition) at the state and local levels be rolled back to the 1981 levels unless approved by the voters or by four-fifths of the legislative body.

At its meeting Monday night, the Northville Board of Education formally adopted a resolution opposing the proposal with copies to be sent to local legislators in Lansing as well as the State Board of Education and other school-related organizations.

The Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees adopted a similar resolution at its meeting last Wednesday.

Northville Schools' Superintendent George Bell told the board of education that "the bottom line to the Northville Public Schools if Proposal C passes is the loss of $446,603 in revenue."

It has been estimated that such a rollback would reduce the state revenues by some $500-$600 million this year alone.

In its resolution opposing the proposal, the board of education cited several "harmful consequences for school districts" should the proposal be approved.

It was noted, for instance, that the

"To walk in with a meat ax and say 'welcome to 1981' is almost fraud."

— Chris Johnson,
School board trustee passage of Proposal C would nullify school millage successes achieved by the community since 1981 and would cancel school millage restorations made after 1981 by boards of education.

It also was pointed out that the school district will be required to rollback millage reinstatements made after 1981 under the 1978 Tax Limitation Amendment.

In accordance with the proposal, the school district also would be required to seek voter approval to raise millage levies beyond their 1981 levels even though the electorate previously authorized a higher rate.

"It's ironic that the particular governments that are going to be hurt by this are local school districts which already have to go to taxpayers and ask for millage," Board Trustee Chris Johnson noted.

"To assume other costs haven't gone up since 1981 is not dealing with reality," Johnson said. "To walk in with a meat ax and say 'welcome to 1981' is almost fraud."

Another concern voiced by board members is that the approval of the Voter's Choice proposal would change the representative nature of state and local government by instituting "government by referendum."

Superintendent Bell pointed out that the impact on state funding for education would be tremendous.

He noted that approval of the proposal would cut sales tax revenue dedicated to the School Aid Fund by some $36 million in 1985. The state general fund revenue would be cut by about $285 million in 1985 and a projected $24 million in 1986 thereby reducing the state's available resources for funding education.

He noted that the state's colleges and universities also will lose revenue as a result of the proposal. Bell noted that if Michigan's community colleges were forced to reduce tuition levels to what they were in 1981, the loss throughout the community college system would total more than $28 million in revenue.

At other colleges and universities, the loss in revenue has been estimated at $67 million.

At the Schoolcraft Board of Trustees' meeting last Wednesday, college president Richard McDowell told the board that for Schoolcraft the "impact for this year alone would be a loss of approximately $1 million."

He noted that if state appropriations and local taxes could not be raised to compensate for the lost revenue, student tuition would be increased.

Educators have voiced concern about raising tuition rates in Michigan in light of the state's already costly college and university fees which rank among the highest in the nation.

Trustee Harry Greenleaf told board members that while he thought "the Voter's Choice amendment was bad news for Michigan," he said he felt the impetus behind the proposal was voter dissatisfaction with government.

"I think there is a distrust in all levels of government," he pointed out. "We as public officials have to be sensitive to that."

Board trustee Mary Breen echoed Greenleaf's remarks and noted that "what concerns me about Voter's Choice is that people are still fed up."

"I'd like to know what we're going to do if this thing should pass," she added.

McDowell told board members that Schoolcraft already has approved this year's budget with some $800,000 in additional items.

"What we would do is go back into the budget and see what we could recoup from things that are new and different," he said. "We'd also have to work with the department of management and budget to see what kind of funding we'd be getting from the state."

McDowell said the administration is planning to talk with community groups about the ramifications of Proposal C.

I-96 exit proposed

By KATHY JENNINGS

Travelers heading west on I-96 may see another exit ramp directly north of Northville.

The City of Novi is seeking a $300,000 grant from the federal Economic Development Administration to cover an anticipated shortage in funds for reconstruction of a highway ramp to improve access into the commercial area west of Twelve Oaks Mall known as Section 15.

Construction of the ramp has been deemed a determining factor in the decision to construct a convention center in Section 15. Without a commitment to construct a convention center, the city stands to lose $400,000 in Jobs Bill funds earmarked for the ramp construction.

Community Development Director John Hazelroth said last week the ramp construction has been delayed because there was no firm commitment from the private sector to construct the convention center until approximately six months ago. Hazelroth said that commitment now has been made.

The main tenant of the convention center is the Children's and Women's Apparel Group. Locating in the convention center would allow the clothing group to centralize operations which now are scattered throughout the Detroit metropolitan area.

Construction of the convention center is expected to get underway by June or July 1985, Hazelroth projected.

An expansion of the Sheraton Hotel, constructed in conjunction with the building of the convention center, would add 160-225 new rooms to the hotel.

The hotel and convention center would be connected by a pedestrian walkway.

City council members learned Monday the ramp construction project, upon which the construction of the convention center hinges, is now expected to cost approximately $300,000 more than originally anticipated.

City Manager Edward Kriewall said city administrators have been reviewing ways to generate necessary revenues. "We could be looking for the city and the private sector to increase their share in the project. At the same time we are seeking an Economic Development Association Grant. We have been getting reasonable vibrations from them."

"We're at the point that the convention center can trigger further offices and massive development," Kriewall added. "But the convention center could be riding on the ramp and the potential for funding."

Kriewall explained that if the private sector backs out of the project, the ramp reconstruction simply will not take place. "If the convention center doesn't go, the plans that have been drafted will just go on the shelf. The convention center triggers everything. We need a public roadway to connect the ramp to—that is part of the special assessment district. The special assessment district will move when the convention center becomes a reality."

To date the city has committed $50,000 to the project. The Sheraton Oaks has made a commitment to pay another $50,000.

"With the implications for development for that area and the community, I think it would be a terrible mistake not to go ahead," Council Member Arlen Schroeder said.

Council members approved seeking a $300,000 grant from the federal EDA.

State police HEMP program fights abuse

Michigan State Police have launched an intensive campaign against marijuana planting in the state.

Dubbed Operation HEMP — Help Eliminate Marijuana Planting — the program is targeted on the growing, harvesting and sale of the illegal crop.

Marijuana growing can be a lucrative field, and results of a recent MSP survey to determine the extent of marijuana cultivation in Michigan shows the state was becoming increasingly popular for this endeavor. With high grade marijuana selling for as much as $1,000 a pound, police said, profits can reach into the millions of dollars.

Police cite research that they claim shows "marijuana is more than a harmless drug." Effects reported in the research include impaired perception and skilled performance and interference with "mental and physical health functions."

"The best and cheapest way to stop marijuana from reaching the streets is to stop it at the source," asserts a press release on Operation HEMP from the state police Lansing headquarters.

Supported by funding from the U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration, the program provides police with training, equipment, investigative and aircraft resources to track down marijuana fields. According to MSP, the program has a threefold purpose: to offset a growing criminal enterprise in Michigan, remove the profit from planting and thereby discourage others from engaging in the activity, and to alert an "apathetic public" to the dangers of marijuana use.

MSP states that, with a cooperative effort with law enforcement agencies and the public, a significant impact can be made on the problem. Those interested in more information may contact the nearest state police post.

prehensive textbook in the field.

Stone has read his poetry in more than 20 states. He has conducted sessions for other physician-poets at national conferences. In summer, 1984, he taught a course on Medicine and Literature at Oxford University, England.

Novi files lawsuit against EPA to stall sewer grants

By KATHY JENNINGS

Just hours before the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) was expected to complete distribution of money sought for a regional sewer serving communities in Wayne and Oakland counties, Novi officials filed a lawsuit against the federal agency.

It now appears the lawsuit may be too little, too late.

EPA Water Division Director Charles Sutfin said Tuesday the money which local officials had hoped would go for a regional sewer system, known as the Son of Supersewer, has been distributed.

Sutfin said the balance of $21 million previously reserved for the first phase of Son of Supersewer project was distributed Friday and over the weekend. The EPA has been distributing funds to other project for the past two weeks, Sutfin said.

Beneficiaries of the EPA action include Monroe County and the cities of Brighton, Sturgis, Richmond and Hudson.

Novi had hoped to halt distribution of those funds with its request for a restraining order against the EPA filed in U.S. District Court.

At approximately 4 p.m. Friday, Federal Judge Robert E. DeMacio heard Novi's request for a restraining order to prevent the EPA from disbursing the funds to other communities. Local officials believe the money should be earmarked for a regional sewer to serve 17 communities in western Wayne and Oakland counties.

DeMacio denied the request for a restraining order, saying he needed more information regarding the potential for the State of Michigan losing those funds altogether if the restraining order were issued.

"He said he didn't have enough information to determine whether there would be any damage to others' rights to the funds if this case were decided against the city," City Attorney David Fried said.

Although the city's request for a restraining order was denied, other legal remedies are being pursued. Fried explained a restraining order is simply one legal method to prevent an action from being taken. The city will pursue its request for a preliminary injunction against the EPA.

A date for a hearing on the request for a preliminary injunction has not been set.

Novi decided to take legal action against the EPA after the federal agency announced it would not approve funding for the $120 million sewer project.

The EPA said there was insufficient information regarding flood plain pollution concerns and the ability of the Detroit sewer system to handle the sewage flows.

In its lawsuit the city claims the regional director of the EPA "acted arbitrarily and capriciously in refusing to complete the evaluation of the environmental impact assessment prior to October 1."

The suit goes on to explain the EPA had under study for 10 years information furnished by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources which would have permitted it to complete its evaluation before October 1. Instead the EPA decided on September 13 that the project was too complex for the EPA to evaluate before October 1 and it would not evaluate the project in segments.

"Further, the director stated the EPA would not review the environmental assessment prior to October 1 because it was not in the best interest of the government to grandfather 75 percent funding level for this project," the lawsuit states. Had the project received EPA approval it would have received 75 percent federal funding throughout its construction, even though the level of federal funding for new sewer projects dropped to 50 percent October 1.

Additionally, the lawsuit states the City of Novi has already spent a great deal of money and committed itself to spending $1 million for the construction of a portion of the regional sewer project known as the North Arm Relief Interceptor.

In briefs supporting its complaint, the city argued current sewer facilities are not capable of handling sewage generated by the municipalities that were to be connected to the regional sewer system.

The reduction in the level of federal funding from 75 percent to 50 percent will mean the project cannot be constructed. "(The City of Novi) is informed and believes the communities involved in the grant application for the (regional sewer system) do not have the financial ability to fund the construction of (the system) if they are required to contribute 45 percent of the funding."

The suit goes on to say it is "environmentally necessary" for the regional sewer to be built because of the "spillage of sewage into the streams and on the land surface in the area served by the sewer facilities of the communities involved in the grant application."

In briefs supporting the request for a preliminary injunction, the city claims the regional administrator's decision was in violation of his duties proscribed in the Clean Air Act and the National Environmental Protection Act.

The regional administrator violated his duty under the Clean Air Act because it provides the director must act on plans and specifications as soon as is practical after they have been submitted.

"If these funds are not available and the court resolves the issue in favor of (the City of Novi) the environmental damage to the area served by the proposed (regional sewer system) will perhaps never be repaired," the briefs state.

Our Opinions

Law on auxiliaries needs redefining

There is cause for concern in the city attorney's opinion that Northville should no longer use its auxiliary police officers at Northville Downs in the manner it has in the past. City council chose the best means possible to address the problem immediately and we hope the effort to obtain a favorable opinion from the state attorney general or a legislative change is successful.

The immediate problem, of course, is how to enforce the law at the Downs without spending a fortune on overtime for regular police officers or leaving the city wide open to liability suits. Anyone getting the idea that this means the Downs is about to become a free zone for crime, we suspect, is going to get a rude awakening. With auxiliaries stationed there in a role more like that of a security guard than of a police officer, plus the full backing of the regular force, the procedures for making arrests and prosecuting criminals may become more complicated but we don't expect that enforcement will be any less strict.

In the longer term, the problem is more troubling. If the city must exceed its budget for police payroll by a relatively small amount this year while the problem is worked out, there would be problems but not insurmountable ones. Instead of dispensing with the current deficit completely by the end of the fiscal year, some portion might be carried forward. That, of course, strains the hopes to get the second phase of the downtown development underway, but wouldn't be a permanent setback. The situation might even make a powerful argument for the restoration of racing revenues that have been cut in past years.

If the state attorney general's opinion on the use of reserve officers in Lincoln Park stands as the governing rule for a long time to come, however, the city is in hot water. Patrolling the Downs is an essential function of the city department and the primary reason it is much larger than police forces in communities of similar size. If all patrols must be conducted by the regular officers, that department will have to expand and labor costs will skyrocket. Without an accordingly large commitment from Lansing to cover those costs, city taxpayers would soon find the mere existence of the Downs in Northville a tremendous burden.

The whole unfortunate situation arises from legislation that aims for a laudable goal — increasing professionalism of police statewide. By mandating certain levels of training for the performance of certain functions, the law attempts to insure a minimal level of competence among those whom the public trusts to enforce the law.

We hope, however, that either the attorney general or the state legislature can be made to see that requiring full certification for the limited range of activities taking place in a limited area (the Downs) is not the same as requiring those qualifications to patrol the city at large. The matter of regularly scheduling the hours of auxiliary officers is a somewhat arbitrary means of determining the qualifications required for the job — there should at least be a distinction made between being assigned a specific function and performing the general duties of a full-time officer.

It's curtains for new apartment dwellers

I've come to realize that a sense of humor can be your greatest asset when setting up a first household.

I'm specifically referring to the first household because so much of it is new — particularly if you are a newlywed or, as in my case, a newlywed-to-be.

This past weekend marked the first of our many moving days into the apartment. After being told we would have to wait an extra week before hauling our 26 years of accumulated junk into our tiny one-bedroom abode, we finally were handed the keys last Friday.

After loading up a few pieces of furniture and as many boxes as room would allow, we spent our first few hours unpacking all the new and unused dishes, glassware, stainless, etc. The fun ended after the first role of shelf paper was unwrapped.

First rule of thumb is: "Do not buy shelf paper with sticky adhesive on the back." No matter how hard you try, the paper will not stick to anything except itself. After hammering and pounding on 15 cabinets and drawers, I came to the conclusion that curled up edges and wrinkled shelves were better than resorting to violence — i.e. punching my fist through the wall. (Besides, we'd never get our security deposit back).

However, the shelf paper ordeal turned out to be peanuts in comparison to hanging drapes. Deciding to hang your own draperies is something like asking for a migraine headache.

Second bit of advice is: "Be wary of apartment management employees who tell you that your drapes should be 72 x 84 inches."

Without actually measuring the windows ourselves, we went shopping for 72 x 84-inch drapes. We had no reason to doubt that we were buying the right thing and went flitting from store to store like we knew what we were doing.

I'll admit that while size was the least of our problems at that point, cost quickly became a rude awakening. The bargain drapes and sheers we decided to purchase turned into a small investment once we added two rods, hooks, tiebacks and brackets. By the time we were finished, the drapery paraphernalia cost more than the drapes. Before it was all over, I'd spent my monthly car payment.

However, the real fun began when Steve and his dad attempted to hang the 72 x 84-inch drapes on the 72 x 84-inch window. After two hours of total hysteria, it was decided that the curtains were entirely too small for the window which overlooks the lovely slab of concrete they told us was a patio.

The end result was that the curtains, rods, hooks, brackets and sheers all needed to be returned — along with the extra set of mixing bowls, three tea pots, two wine decanter sets, a set of steak knives and eight placemats and matching napkins.

Though we've finally bought the right size drapes, we have yet to hang them on their respective window. We figure we have another adventure ahead of us when we try to find the stud in the wall.

Besides, the sheets we taped to the window seem to go better with the present decor of our apartment — the card table and chairs and plastic table cloth we're using as a makeshift dining table and the mattress thrown on the bedroom floor.

We're quite dismayed that we maneuvered the queen sized mattress into the van. It was truly a moving feat.

Now for the boxsprings and frame...

About Town

By Steve Fecht

Father and son

After the fact

By PHILIP JEROME

It was late — very late — when I arrived home from work one night last week.

I shut the car door quietly so as not to wake her, and stumbled toward the front door in anticipation of hitting the sack and getting some well-deserved rest.

Keys in hand, I reached to open the screen door only to encounter a significant problem — it was locked.

Perhaps only a husband coming home in the wee hours of the morning can appreciate the seriousness of the situation. The first question that comes to mind is — "Was the door locked by accident? Or have you been kicked out?"

I pondered the options. If I were being kicked out, there should have been a suitcase filled with my clothes on the porch. There was no suitcase — a good sign. But then, she's the type who might figure I should pack my own suitcase.

I checked all the other doors, but they were locked, too. So I sat down in the rocking chair on the porch to plan my next move.

The obvious answer was to raise a ruckus and wake her up. Ahhh, but any late-arriving spouse knows the obvious answer is not the best answer. Sure, I could wake her up, but then I'd have even bigger problems.

It wouldn't be her fault the front door was locked. It would be my fault. "Why can't you get home at a respectable hour like other husbands? If you'd get home at a decent hour, you wouldn't have to wake me up in the middle of the night. Now I won't be able to get back to sleep."

I sat in the rocking chair about an hour before I decided the best thing to do was go back to the office and sleep on the couch. Get up at 6:10. Show up on the porch at 6:15 when the alarm goes off and explain that the screen door was locked when I got home so I slept in the office rather than waking her in the middle of the night.

And that's what I did.

At 6:15 I arrived rumpled and red-eyed on the front porch, explained what had happened and headed for the bedroom to get another hour's sleep.

And, I'm proud to report, it worked. "Poor baby," she said as I slipped under the covers. "How can I make it up to you?"

Wagons hazardous

We were happy to see downtown's Autumnfest celebration appeared to be well-received, at least if trying to find a parking place downtown was any indication. But there was one nit we'd wish to pick.

While it's possible to appreciate the difficulties caused by the late news that streets could not be closed down Friday, we would recommend that truck-driven hayrides through city streets, particularly those with traffic moving on them, not be among the features to return with next year's festival.

Friday night, anxious motorists shared the road with kids riding in the back of the wagon in open air. Although traffic moved slowly and drivers were appropriately cautious, it wasn't hard to imagine the worst that could happen — a push, a fall and perhaps an accident.

More than simply avoiding streets with traffic on them, we'd like to see the further measure of avoiding streets. It's one thing for a kid to tumble off a wagon and land on dirt or grass — kids do that sort of thing all the time. But it's another for a kid to topple from a moving vehicle onto a cement surface like a street or curb.

Late harness date request will be hot topic at hearing

State Racing Commissioner William S. Ballenger announced Monday the Ladbroke Group PLC of London, England, has been granted a 1985 thoroughbred race meet license for 200 thoroughbred racing dates between March 22 and November 9 of next year, at the Detroit Race Course in Livonia.

By so doing, Ballenger is in effect forcing DRC owners to sell their track to the large British corporation, a response to charges that DRC owners had not adequately complied with divestiture orders dating from 1981.

The decision directly affects Northville Downs, which is primarily interested in obtaining an expanded harness racing meet.

One of the factors in Ballenger's decision was the Ladbroke Group's announced intent to acquire the DRC track by December 18, plus "a written request from Herbert Tyner (present co-owner of DRC and Hazel Park raceways) to amend his Hazel Park Harness Raceway application to allow only harness racing at that facility in 1985."

Tyner had originally sought thoroughbred dates as well as harness dates, but Tyner's withdrawal of the former request throws Hazel Park into more direct competition with Northville Downs.

Significantly for prospects of Northville Downs' application, the State Racing Law of 1980 requires all date request submittals to be accepted by September 1. Tyner turned in his amended request only last week.

Ironically, it was Tyner who bore major responsibility for writing that 1980 law in an effort to restrain the power of the Commissioner when considering race date applications. In a statement Ballenger later released, the Commissioner noted Tyner "now must ask a request of the Commissioner that his own lobbyist's wording inserted into the law would seem to render illegal."

"Because there are still many unanswered questions concerning the various applications for standardbred (harness) racing dates in 1985," Ballenger explained, "I am reconvening the dates application hearing on which the Office of Racing Commissioner took eight hours of testimony back on September 13."

The hearing will reconvene at 10 a.m. Tuesday and will take place at the Miles Standish Room of the Mayflower Hotel in Plymouth.

Here are excerpts from Ballenger's statement concerning the thoroughbred date allotment:

"One of Mr. Tyner's principal concerns in negotiating with potential buyers of DRC or Hazel Park has been that they possess the financial capability to finalize a deal. There is no question in my mind that of all the parties with whom Messrs. Hartman and Tyner have discussed a sale, Ladbroke has the most financial capability. Moreover, they have a demonstrated record of successfully operating a race meeting — as a matter of fact, they are viewed in some quarters as the saviors of a substantial piece of the British racing industry. We would be very lucky to have them here in Michigan."

"As usual, the racing industry is rife with rumors concerning the impact of the thoroughbred dates allocation decision here in Michigan. In trying to separate fact from fiction, I hope everyone in the industry will exercise more than the usual quotidian of common sense and good will ...

"I thank the Michigan Horseman's Alliance (MHA) for applying for a race meeting license at DRC in a sincere effort to provide some alternative for the Racing Commissioner to consider vis a vis continued operational control of that track by Messrs. Hartman and Tyner or their clone (sic), Race Track Management Corporation ... I urge the MHA ... to give Ladbroke every ounce of support they can muster ...

"There is mounting evidence that Oxford (Building Company, operators of DRC) may have violated the conditions of its track licensure over the past six years and in fact my never have acted as more than a passive 'shell' while DRC was in fact managed by Messrs. Hartman and Tyner. While no action will be taken between now and the end of the current thoroughbred meet at DRC October 21, I am reviewing evidence that may lead to future action which may preclude the awarding of a race meeting license to any tenant applicant, who, in conjunction with non-compliance by its landlord, is deemed to have violated the law ...

"Among the questions I will be considering (at next week's hearing) is whether I can act on the amended request by Mr. Tyner (dated September 27) for a full 168 days of harness racing at Hazel Park in 1985 even though the deadline for applications specified in the Racing Law of 1980 is September 1."

Fire Safety Week Open House set

City firefighters aim to teach local citizens about fire prevention in an Open House at the fire station on West Main Saturday, October 13.

Operated in conjunction with National Fire Prevention Week October 7-13, the open house will feature fire safety demonstrations for children and adults, Fire Chief Jim Allen said.

The chief has ordered educational films regarding the use of wood-burning stoves and fireplaces that he expects to show during the 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. open house. If sufficient room is available, Allen said, there will also be a demonstration of the Jaws-of-Life device recently acquired by the department.

Local G.O.P. politicians lunch with their Chief

When President Ronald Reagan breezed through Detroit Monday, several Northville government officials and politicians were among the 6,700 attending the Detroit Economic Club luncheon in Cobo Hall.

Township Clerk Susan Heintz attended with township attorney Donald Morgan, Township Supervisor John MacDonald with Wayne 2nd District Republican Chair Michael Legg and City Manager Steven Walters shared a bankers' table with Detroit city and school officials.

Every one of them noted that it was difficult for those attending to see the president during his speech due to a large scaffold structure covered with television cameras.

Impressions of the president from Heintz, MacDonald and Walters were completely favorable, as might be expected of officials from a conservative, Republican-dominated area.

"He talked about the same things he did in Dallas," noted Heintz. "About how we don't have a deficit because people are under-taxed but because government overspends. You know, when you see Reagan you're just proud to be an American."

"Seriously, you listen to him and you feel good about the country and where you're going," she continued. "You see Mondale and it's doom-and-gloom all the time."

MacDonald echoed those sentiments independently.

"He handles himself well," said MacDonald. "Regardless of what you think of his policies, you have to understand the appeal of the man himself. That's an important political skill and I think it shows in the polls."

County solid waste plan okayed, injunction granted

By KEVIN WILSON

Northville Township last week became the 30th Wayne County community to endorse the county solid waste management plan, but the city must analyze the implications of being within two counties before joining the plan.

Approval by only 29 of the 43 local governments in the county was all that was needed to implement the plan, assuming the Michigan Department of Natural Resources accepts it.

Before reaching MDNR, however, the plan may have to leap a legal hurdle. A landfill developer, Lyon Development Company, with plans to construct a fill just south of Metropolitan Airport in Huron Township, won an injunction from Circuit Court Judge Robert Colombo Sr. prohibiting submittal of the plan to MDNR.

The firm sought the injunction because the plan does not include the landfill proposal, noting that the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) had not yet reviewed it for possible impacts on airport operation. Downriver communities had threatened to vote against the plan if the project were included. The plan does include specific provisions that would allow the Lyon Development site to be added later, but only by meeting stringent requirements for review and a vote by the communities.

Judge Colombo's order requires another public hearing by the county solid waste planning committee to consider inclusion of the Lyon landfill site as a part of the plan, citing the recent completion of the FAA review. The hearing has been scheduled at 9:30 a.m. October 8 in conference room A, 7th Floor of the City/County Building in Detroit.

Wayne County Planning Commission director Maurice Roach told City Council Monday night that if the site is still not added to the plan, his directions are to forward it for DNR review. If Lyon wins inclusion of its site in the plan, it will have to be reviewed and approved once again by the local governments.

Asked if he foresees legal challenges to the plan, Roach told council Lyon Development appears to be in a "litigative posture." He noted suits by

Browning Ferris, Lyon Development's parent company, have been filed against Huron Township and the Michigan Aeronautics Commission. "If they don't get what they want, they seem to be willing to fight at every opportunity."

Implementation of a plan for solid waste disposal is required by Michigan Public Act 641 of 1979. Different laws cover the disposal of toxic and hazardous materials.

The Township Board voted to approve the plan at a special meeting last Wednesday. Roach explained that only eight years' landfill capacity remains accessible to the county at present.

According to county officials, solid waste (not including toxic or hazardous products) accumulates in the county at a rate that would fill Tiger Stadium up to the scoreboard every two weeks.

The plan specifies five-year and 20-year programs that would gradually shift the county away from use of landfills and toward alternatives, primarily incineration. Massive incineration plants such as one planned in Detroit would significantly reduce the volume of waste deposited in landfills, extending their expected life spans.

Most plans for new facilities have reached the stage where they are or could soon be licensed are included in the plan. Additions will be required periodically, Roach noted.

The plan allows the addition of any type of solid waste disposal facility to the plan. If not included now, those wishing to build new facilities must request an application from MDNR and obtain an amendment to the county plan.

An amendment requires a public hearing, approval of the county solid waste planning committee, the county commission, the county executive office and either the approval of the community where the site is to be located or by a two-thirds vote of all 43 communities (29 of them).

The city, Manager Steve Walters said, has been awaiting completion of the Wayne County plan so it could decide whether to join with Wayne or Oakland counties in long-range solid waste disposal plans. He noted it would be impractical to divide the city's waste disposal methods since collections here

"The Oakland plan is fine for communities that do their own municipal collections."

—Steven Walters

amount to one truckload per day.

"We really want to have the entire city in one plan or the other," Walters said. "We can't route one truckload to two different sites."

The major difference between the

Wayne and Oakland plans, Roach said, is that Oakland County intends to build its own waste disposal facility for use by municipalities within the county while Wayne relies primarily on the private sector and on the efforts of the individual communities.

Roach could not clarify the implications of the city of Northville approving the plan or its inclusion in both county plans. He and Walters made an appointment to work together seeking the opinion of the DNR regarding the city's situation.

Council appeared to lean toward joining the Wayne County plan because it would expand the number of possible bidders to make trash collections in the city. Oakland's plan, Walters said, would require the city's contractor to use the county's disposal facility — something several contractors who are in both the collection and landfill businesses likely would not find enticing.

"The Oakland plan is fine for communities that do their own municipal collection," Walters said. "But we got out of that business and we probably won't be going back into it — we'll be using contractors."

Wickett, and said I'd like to advertise in his paper but that I'm no fool — he owed us money," MacDonald elaborated. The two made an arrangement to provide MacDonald with advertising space in the paper, the cost being deducted from Associated's debt to MacDonald.

To date, MacDonald said, there have been three half-page ads at a cost exceeding $650 each.

When the value of the exchanged services becomes clear, MacDonald said, the arrangement will be fully stipulated in his finance statements. "My CPA said that was the way to work it," he said. "When this fuss started, I called the elections people in Lansing and they said, essentially, that I did have to report it but that there was nothing wrong in the way we intend to handle it."

Another charge from the Greenstein campaign is that MacDonald has failed to file information regarding his own contributions to the campaign. The

Northville center Erin Ryan battles Western's Val Hall for a rebound

Harriers leave Canton in dust

Rich Naszradi's personal-best 17:42 over Cass-Benton's cross-country course paced the field in Northville's 22-39 win over WLA Western Division rival Plymouth Canton Thursday.

For the senior Mustang lead runner, the first-place finish was quite an accomplishment — only two days earlier he had been unable to run due to a knee injury.

Naszradi led one of the tightest packs the Mustangs have turned in yet this season, with only 36 seconds separating Naszradi and the Mustangs' seventh finisher.

"This is the best packing team I've ever had," noted Northville Coach Ed Gabrys. "They're doing a good job of picking each other up."

Alan Griffith's 17:54 placed third. John Huston's 17:59 led a Mustang sweep of fifth through ninth place — Irven Meadows was sixth in 18:09, Kevin Haas seventh in 18:10, Matt Winquist eighth in 18:13 and Brett Netke ninth in 18:18.

The Mustangs competed in a non-conference triangular meet the previous Tuesday, but were no match for winner Dearborn. Northville had 58 points to Dearborn's 19, but bettered North Farmington's 67.

Northville's top finisher was Griffith, ninth overall with a time of 18:12 at North Farmington's Oakland Community College course. Haas followed in 12th, Winquist 17th, Kurt Kable 19th and freshman newcomer John Kissinger 20th in 18:41.

Rounding out Northville's entries were Huston, 21st in 18:48; Scott Wiley, 22nd in 1:49 and Brett Netke, 23rd.

"I'm pretty happy with that," Gabrys said later. "We had four really good times by our freshmen runners and if we can gain some confidence, they'll run really well for us in the future."

Saturday, Northville ran at the Walled Lake Western Invitational meet, which divides competitors into two categories: junior-senior and freshman-sophomore.

Northville took thirds in both categories. In the upperclass race, Griffith, Meadows and Naszradi all earned medals for finishing among the top 20 runners at the seven-team meet. Griffith took 11th with a time of 17:17. Meadows was 16th in 17:29 and Naszradi 17th in 17:30. Netke, Huston and Winquist finished 23rd, 24th and 25th.

In the freshman-sophomore meet, Northville had four medalists: Haas, eighth in 17:50; Wiley, 10th in 17:58; Kissinger, 16th in 18:18 and Kable, 17th in 18:22.

The Mustangs, now 2-4 overall (1-1 in divisional competition) will next take on division rival Farmington Harrison at 4 p.m. tomorrow, at Harrison. Tuesday, the squad will compete in the Redford Invitational at Cass-Benton.

Cagers stage near-stunner

By B.J. MARTIN

Halloween came early for Walled Lake Western's varsity basketball team last Thursday. The Northville Mustangs scared the state-ranked Lady Warriors plumb out of their sneakers.

Western won 38-34. Four points difference. Two baskets. Anybody who passed up watching last Thursday's game expecting a blowout might think that score is either a misprint or a fluke.

It's neither. Until the final 20 seconds of the game, the Mustangs had a very good shot at upsetting the state's tallest and physically strongest basketball team.

The score was tied 22-22 after three quarters and Western never led by more than four afterwards. The Mustangs tied the game once more with just under two minutes remaining on a one-and-one by sophomore guard Roxanne Serkalan and a steal and layup by senior Sue Terwin.

Barb Watts hit a layup and an 18-footer to give Western a four-point lead with 57 seconds left. Northville center/forward Tricia Ducker pulled the Mustangs within a basket yet again with a 10-foot jumper.

But in the final half-minute, Western ran an effective stall. Forced to foul, the Mustangs twice hammered experienced senior guard Sue Baglow. Baglow sank two of four free throws in the final 20 seconds to ice the game.

And what a game it was — referees "let 'em play," as they say, and there was more body contact than in a lot of hockey games. Western's 6'3" senior center Val Hall and Ducker, a 5'11" sophomore, went at each other like Bob Lanier and Bill Laimbeer.

With Hall and 6'1" forward Carol Croll, Western had a seemingly insurmountable size advantage (horizontally as well as vertically — stringbeans those two are not). But Northville's front line of Ducker, Michelle Siemasz and Erin Ryan returned every elbow and hip the Amazonian duo threw, and kept them from dominating the game.

Switching, double-teaming and boxing out with a tight zone defense, the Mustangs permitted Hall just 10 points and Croll a mere two.

Siemasz, a transfer from Western, came up with seven rebounds against her former teammates — five on the defensive boards, where Hall and Croll muscle in like fumble-hungry linebackers every time Western puts up a shot.

Ducker's defensive skills were repeatedly tested, and give the sophomore straight 'A's. Switching between containing Hall and defending sharpshooting forward Sheri Davis' baseline jumpers, Ducker was outstanding, and scored nine points to boot.

Northville's senior guards each turned in outstanding games. Unawed by Western's big inside players, Sue Terwin kept taking the ball to the hoop, canning six of 11 shots and scoring 13 points — her best offensive output ever. Controlled commander to Terwin's cage kamikaze, point guard Kathy Korowin sank six points, including four of four free throws.

As a team, Northville shot a respectable 36 percent and hit 10 of 13 free throws.

The loss left the Mustangs 1-5 and, despite 5-1 Western's reputation, far from happy about the game's outcome.

"We know that had the ball bounced our way a couple more times we could have beaten them," said Mustang Coach Ed Kritch. "But that's something we can build on."

"There's a big difference between being disappointed with a loss and being dismayed," added the first-year varsity coach. "We're looking forward to seeing them in our gym (October 23)."

Earlier in the week, Northville fell to strong Livonia Stevenson 39-26. The Mustangs again played impressive defense (they have yet to permit an opponent more than 40 points) but never got their offense on track. Ducker led with six points, Korowin five, Ryan, Siemasz and Serkalan four each.

The Mustangs host league rival Plymouth Salem, the only team to beat Western this year, tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. Next Tuesday, the Mustangs will travel to WLA Western Division opponent Livonia Churchill.

Women's cross-country places five at Western Northville's women's cross-country team capped an otherwise frustrating week with five medal-winning performances at Walled Lake Western's Invitational Cross-Country Meet Saturday.

Why was the week "frustrating?" First, Northville was disqualified from the official tallies of a three-way meet at North Farmington Tuesday due to lack of runners. Then two days later, the competition-hungry Mustangs won by forfeit over Plymouth Canton when the Chiefs fielded exactly three runners.

Saturday's meet was more eventful: Cindy Panowicz ran a brisk 20:01 to take a fourth-place medal in a very competitive junior-senior bracket. Pam Cavanaugh took eighth in 21:33, Sue Blanchard ninth one second behind her and Dawn Schweim ran 14th in 23 minutes flat (the top 20 finishers in each category receive medals).

Jennifer Goshorn, a freshman, ran a 21:00 to take eighth in the ninth-grade grade competition.

In Tuesday's three-way meet, Northville could only field Panowicz, Cavanaugh, Blanchard and Schweim to run. "Jennifer (Goshorn) had just seen a doctor who said she shouldn't run Monday," said Northville Coach Ed Gabrys. "So we thought the three-way meet the next day wasn't important enough for her to push it."

Northville is still awaiting the return of junior Wendy Nuechterlein, still recuperating from a stress fracture.

Panowicz ran an official 20:52 for an unofficial first place. Cavanaugh was fourth in 22:36 and Blanchard sixth in 22:46. Schweim was 18th in 24:34.

"Sue (Blanchard) has really come on strong for us," Gabrys pointed out. "She's improved her time over a minute over last week. We really need her in the low 20's, and it looks like she can do it."

Northville took (unofficial) first, second, fifth, sixth and seventh places against the two girls who showed up for struggling Canton Thursday.

The Mustangs (1-1 in divisional action) will face another Western Division rival at 4 p.m. tomorrow at Farmington Harrison. Tuesday, the squad will compete at the Redford Invitational at Cass Benton.

Local entrants sweep contest

John Horwath and Tim Munsell, both of Northville, came close to filling perfect Northville Record/Novi-Walled Lake News Football Contest entries last week, missing just one game apiece.

First prize of $10 goes to Horwath, as his guess that a total of 45 points would be scored in the Iowa/Illinois tiebreaker was eight points off the actual total of 37. Munsell's guess of 52 left him the $5 second prize.

The tiebreaker also had to be invoked to determine $3 third-prize winner Jeff Stuart. Stuart and six others missed two picks, but the Northville resident's tie-breaker guess was just one off the actual score.

A reminder — in addition to predicting the total points scored in the tie-breaker game, entrants also must pick a winner or be charged with an incorrect answer.

Halfback Rick Van Buren rushed for 165 yards and one touchdown against the Chiefs

Sylvestre gives Canton the boot, 24-21

Jack Sylvestre drilled a 37-yard field goal with just under three minutes to play to give Northville a 24-21 victory over division rival Plymouth Canton last Friday — the Mustangs' fourth straight win of the season.

The sophomore placekicker's heroics capped a stupendous fourth-quarter rally, as the Mustangs overcame a 14-point deficit with 17 points and enough Big Plays for a season. But with the state's top-rated team, Farmington Harrison, coming up on Friday, the Mustangs are hoping they haven't used up their Big Play supply.

"I'm hoping this win will be good for us," said Northville Head Coach Dennis Colligan. "I think it'll help the guys realize we can come from behind and win a ballgame."

Can they ever. Trailing 14-0 at the half on a pair of touchdowns by Chief quarterback David Knapp, the Mustangs proceeded to grind out a 12-play, 58-yard drive capped by quarterback Dave Denhof's one-yard TD plunge. Keying the march with 45 yards on six carries was halfback Rick Van Buren.

Then the fired-up Mustangs got a little too fired-up.

"Our guys got so pumped over scoring, they just outran the coverage on the kickoff," said Colligan. Result: the first wave of Mustang tacklers got a rear-end view of an 80-yard kickoff return by Canton's Matt Flower. Just like that, it was 21-7 Chiefs.

The Mustangs got moving again, with Van Buren busting in from the five to cap a five-play 63-yard drive. Sylvestre converted the extra point to cut the lead to seven.

Then came the play of the season so far. With Canton slowly marching into Northville territory midway through the fourth quarter, linebacker Greg Wendell popped Canton quarterback David Knapp and the ball popped free. Tim Millen snatched the loose pigskin at the Northville 20 and took off.

Millen covered 67 yards before Canton's backfield made up his head start and tackled him from behind at the Canton 19.

No matter — five plays later, Mustang signal-caller Dave Denhof sneaked in from the three. Sylvestre struck his third extra-point of the night and it was 21-14.

Canton stalled on downs on its next possession, thanks to the continued pressure of the Mustang defense — in fact, the Mustangs allowed Canton only one first down in the entire second half.

The Mustangs once again rolled into enemy territory, this time moving 43 yards on nine plays to set up Sylvestre's 37-yarder.

Sylvestre had missed a 47-yard attempt early in the game when his field goal try actually bounced off one upright. This time the soph was dead center with 10 yards to spare.

"I knew Jack was going to help us in a close game sometime," Colligan said later. "I can tell you, it's been a real lift to this team to know that if we can just get inside the 30, we've got a good chance to come away with at least three points."

It didn't have to be a close ballgame, though.

In the first half, Northville fumbled away one chance to score and fumbled again deep in the Mustang's own end to set up a Canton touchdown. As Colligan put it, "We stunk up the joint."

But Colligan was all praise for his team's performance in the second half. "Our defense did a great job of shutting them down, especially containing their passing game (Canton completed only one pass the whole game)."

Van Buren finished the game with 165 yards rushing on 19 carries for an 8.6

yards-per-carry average. Hartman rushed for 77 yards on 13 carries and delivered some bone-crunching blocks to spring Van Buren.

Despite Chief pressure that resulted in five fumbles, Denhof played it smart, completing five of seven for 69 yards — no interceptions. Tight end Gary Strunk caught three passes, two for big first downs, for 45 yards.

Phil Pendleton, Hartman and Mark Deal led the defensive charge. Lineman Dino Candella also had a strong night, nailing a Canton screen play for a loss that snuffed the Chiefs' final drive of the ballgame.

Now 4-0, the Mustangs must shift into a still higher gear to prepare for fearsome Farmington Harrison. The Hawks have walloped three 3-1 teams en route to their 4-0 record and Colligan acknowledges the Mustangs are going in substantial underdogs.

"We're going to come at 'em with everything we've got," Colligan said. "If we can keep it close, we'll have a chance with Jack kicking for us. But we're not going to roll over for them. They'll know they've been in a ballgame."

The Mustangs will play at Harrison at 3 p.m. Friday.

Soccer: Youth league scores

UNDER 10 BOYS: Steve Heitert's goal gave the Raiders a 1-1 tie with the Farmington Cosmos. Lex Madias and Greg Raby were the defensive and offensive standouts for the Raiders. Express fell to the Farmington Kicks 4-1. Pat Kennedy tallied once for the Express, who were aided by the good play of Rodg Kotylo and Mark Schwagie. A "good team effort" left the Rowdies short of Plymouth Express by a 3-1 count. The Hot Spurs topped the Farmington Aztecs 6-0 on a pair of goals by Matt Golden and single goals by Matt Roaring, Nick Sellinsky, Craig Willey and Gordie Collins. David Roaring and Jimmy Heinze played outstanding games for the winners. The Plymouth Panthers defeated the Eagles 5-1. Roberts Kukalinis scored for the Eagles and Mike Barnett was named the Northville team's outstanding defensive player. Mark Leo's goal gave United a 1-1 tie with the Plymouth Blue Demons. Duane Herman on defense and Steve Weiger on offense were named United's top players for the game. The Plymouth Rowdies topped the Celtics 6-1 despite fine play by defender Jon Dunkerley and striker Chris Lehr. Football: Colt varsity tops Packers

In little league football action Sunday, the Northville-Novl Colts varsity swatted the Ann Arbor Packers 33-27 to take some of the sting out of the Colt freshmen and JV squads' losses to the Packers.

In the varsity game, Scott Wladischkin scored four touchdowns, the last a TD pass from Mark Bertagnoli. Dave Pierle added a touchdown on a punt return in the second quarter and scored on three extra-point runs.

Pat Fagan led the outstanding Northville-Novl defense with a second-quarter fumble recovery that set up a Colt touchdown.

The JV team fell 19-12 despite touchdowns by Doug Cody on a 47-yard run and by Steve Bastian on a one-yard plunge.

Cody might have scored two more touchdowns had not two of his 60-yard runs been called back on penalties. Outstanding defensive players included Jason Wladischkin, Mike MacDonnell and Kevin Delaney.

In the freshman game, the Colts fell 25-7, scoring only on Ryan McCarthy's two-yard plunge and Jason Walker's extra point. Brett Blitz set up the TD with a 23-yard run.

Chargers shock tankers

The Chargers gave a jolt to Northville's division swim title hopes last Thursday, downing the Mustang tankers 101-68 with talent, depth and a big pool that rewards the latter.

"Churchill sure surprised me," said Mustang Swim Coach Bill Dicks. "According to some of the times they'd had earlier this year I thought we'd have a walkover. They must have had some girls sick or swimming way below par."

"I thought our girls would be kind of down and depressed after losing," Dicks added, "even though they'd swum extremely well. We had 18 personal bests at the meet. But they handled the loss real well, I thought."

The Mustangs gave away 20 points right off the bat because they had no divers. It seems everybody who has gone near the diving board this season has had to pull out either because of other commitments or because of injury.

"We've got a couple of girls who are going to try to dive for us so we can at least pick up a point or two," Dicks said. "They know they're not going to look great out there, but they're doing it for the team, and I respect that."

Shari Thompson swam to first in the 200 and 500 freestyle for Northville. Her only teammate to manage another first was Erika Nelsen, who led Dawn Blondi and Kim Brining in a 1-2-3 sweep of the breast stroke.

Adding seconds were Nelsen in the 200 I.M., Brining in the 100 butterfly, Jill Roth in the 500 free, Stephanie Warren in backstroke and both relay teams.

The 400 free relay finished about four seconds behind Churchill's top four-some and the medley relay lost by less than three seconds.

Taking thirds in Thursday's meet were Warren in 200 I.M. and Kris Valade in 100 freestyle.

The Mustangs, now 1-2 overall (0-2 in WLA competition) will host strong division rival Farmington Harrison tomorrow at 7 p.m. Dicks is expecting a close meet. "They have good numbers," he explained. "But if we can get a few first places, we can give them a rough time."

The Mustangs travel to Farmington next Tuesday for a 7 p.m. meet.

Mustang netters upset by division foe Canton

The Canton Chiefs ambushed Northville's tennis squad last week, handing the Mustangs their first league and divisional loss, 5-2.

Putting it mildly, Northville Coach Uta Filkin called the defeat "not planned."

"Well, Canton had been building their program and had been getting better," Filkin said. "But I feel very frustrated."

Not surprising — first singles player Vicki Robins and second singles player Denise Colovas each led her opponent 5-3 in third set only to lose her match.

Robins rebounded from a 3-6 first-set loss with a convincing 6-2 victory in the second. But Canton's Lisa Hays' soft-hitting game eventually threw Robins out of her groove and Robins fell 5-7.

"I think Vicki started playing Lisa's game," Filkin observed. "Sometimes that will happen when a strong player goes up against someone who doesn't hit the ball as hard. And I think when the Salem girl won that one, it gave Denise's opponent a lift."

In an endless second singles match,

Colovas exchanged 7-5 sets with Nancy Reinhart, but Reinhart won the third set 7-5.

Lynn Frellick and Dorothy Ziegler lost their respective matches at third and fourth singles, both in two sets.

Jennifer Trausch and Lori Housman were upset in two disappointing first-doubles sets 4-6, 6-7. Northville swept second and third doubles in two sets each with Leslie Oliver and Kathleen Kotarski, and Diane Lindquist and Lauren Oliver, respectively.

The 9-2 Mustangs will continue a tough stretch of their schedule at divisional arch-rival Farmington Harrison tomorrow at 4 p.m. In a rescheduled game, the Mustangs will host Farmington High School Friday at 4 p.m.

The season's most important tournament thus far comes up Tuesday, when Northville competes at the Western Lakes Activities Association Western Division playoffs at Salem. Conference finals will be settled either Tuesday or the following day at a place and time to be announced.

Solid league rivals defeat golf team

One step forward, two steps back.

That's the way it was with Northville's varsity golfers last week. League opponents Walled Lake Western and Farmington dealt the Mustangs a pair of league defeats, then Northville rebounded strong by outstriking Howell on Friday in a non-conference encounter.

In Monday's match at Salem Hills, Western put together a solidly balanced team score to nip Northville 209-205 — despite a fine one-under par 33 by Bob Justus, who has emerged lately as the team's most consistent player.

Eric Morfe shot a 41, but Bob Baird and Ron Demeter carded rounds of 43 and the consistent Warriors made up the difference with balanced team scoring.

Against Farmington at Godwin Glen Wednesday, it wasn't close. The top four Falcons totaled 200, a solid 19 strokes ahead of Northville. This time none of the Mustangs could crack the 40 barrier. Justus carded a 40, Don Tassic 43, Baird 44, Demeter 45 and Tom Veselak a 47 to round out the Mustang scores.

Despite their playing at the unfamiliar grounds of Falkwood Shores, Northville put together their best effort of the week to edge Howell 215-220. Justus again was low man with a 39, Greg Abraham shot a 42, Tassic 43 and Windisch a 44. Demeter was fifth man with a 47.

The Mustangs today face one of the favorites for a league crown this season, Walled Lake Central. Friday, the team will compete at the Midwest Invitational, where last season Northville placed second.

Early flurry gives kickers 3-1 victory

Northville's varsity soccer squad came out like "a buzzsaw" in the words of Plymouth Salem Coach Ken Johnson, scoring three first-half goals — two before breaking a sweat — to defeat the Rocks 3-1.

Minutes into the game, Jerry O'Brien took a pass from Doug May, dribbled diagonally across the Salem goal mouth and slipped in the first goal. May himself tallied with a header five minutes later following a throw-in by Matt Peltz.

Joe Mackle rounded out the scoring by volleying in a corner kick from May. Salem settled down a bit in the second half, but was unable to score until Dave Dameron broke the ice shortly before the game ended.

"We were fired up for Salem," said Northville Coach Marvin Gans. "The kids went after the ball and that's the way they need to play to win ballgames."

Gans credited the steady work of goaltender Eric Halverson, making his first-ever varsity start. Halverson was forced to leave the game late with a hand injury, but played exceptionally well and may see action more frequently in the future.

Forward Fred Cahill missed Thursday's game because of an ankle injury, but is expected to return to action by next week. When he does, Northville will be at full strength for the first time this season — barring additional injuries.

The Mustangs (5-3-1 overall, 3-2-1 in the WLA) will host Farmington Harrison at 4 p.m. Thursday, then play at Livonia Bentley at 7 p.m. Tuesday.

They're in one wild business

By KEVIN WILSON

Far northern Manitoba doesn't rank with Wall Street or Madison Avenue as a hotbed of commerce, but arranging for small groups of sportsmen to canoe, fish and hunt along rivers leading to or near Hudson Bay is providing lucrative opportunities for one Northville partnership.

Liz McCarville recently joined Terry Hartz in Seal River Outfitters. Together they are building what promises to be one of the largest of these special services in the northern wilderness.

Offering 30-day adventures along the Seal River and two-week fishing trips on the Laurie River, the outfitters can handle 70 clients on each river in a 90-day season. Also licensed to conduct similar voyages on the Caribou River, they hope to add the third choice in the next year or two.

"I'm really excited about it," says McCarville, who spent much of the past summer taking the tours herself in preparation for a busy off-season schedule of marketing the trips. "For me, it was as much like a vacation as a business, initially anyway. I've always wanted to be a partner in my own business. When Terry asked me to join him, I looked it over carefully and saw it could be quite lucrative if you marketed it correctly."

Hartz is the outdoorsman and logistical expert who laid the groundwork for the expanding business by conducting canoe trips along the Seal and Laurie for approximately five years. McCarville initially was hired into the business to handle marketing and sales of the trips, but was offered a partnership last spring.

Sportsmen and adventurers who sign on for the trips will find the outfitters handle most all details — Seal River travellers need bring only clothes and a camera. All canoes, high-quality camping and fishing gear, food, appropriate fishing licenses and other arrangements are supplied in the $3,750 per person cost. Airfare is not included in the Seal River package, but is in the two-week $1,875 Laurie River package. The latter doesn't include the use of fishing gear, however. Clients travel in groups of eight, one being an expert guide in the employ of the company.

Licensed as a guide, Hartz ran only two Seal River trips a year when he operated alone. Today, the company plans perhaps six of the voyages next year, in addition to 10 on the Laurie, and next building season hopes to begin construction of a lodge at Big Sand Lake.

Business partners Terry Hartz and Liz McCarville canoe through white water on Manitoba river

All travellers must fly into the area and the company has operated out of Lynn Lake recently, where there is an airstrip. A new airstrip is in the plans for the new lodge. Hartz and McCarville managed a lodge on Lynn Lake on the Churchill River this past season and considered buying it, but finally opted to build their own.

Operating such a business requires a close working relationship with the Canadian government, which maintains strict control over licensing of those who operate wilderness tours. The government will maintain ownership of the land on which the outfitters build their lodge, and restricts the number of tourists allowed on each river to 70 per year.

In return, the tourism ministry offers those outfitters who meet the standards some exceptional benefits. Seal River Outfitters holds the sole license on the waters on which they operate, is eligible for several government grants programs and will benefit from advertising prepared and paid for by the ministry that includes details regarding their offerings.

"The tourism ministry is very excited about our plans," McCarville says. "We have their full backing — there haven't been any licenses issued in northern Manitoba for a long time and they're anxious to see a well-run outfitters succeed there."

Part of the government's interest is in creating jobs for the native population — Chippewa, Cree and Eskimo. Preference in the hiring of guides goes to the natives, though McCarville notes that recruiting the Indians has not been as successful as might be hoped. Most of Seal River Outfitters' dozen or so guides are not native to the area, though every one of them is an experienced outdoorsman who has made the trip under Hartz's guidance at least once.

With the business requiring a lot of dealing with government and much one-to-one contact with potential customers, it looks to be right up McCarville's alley. Well-known in the Northville area for her political involvement and as a member of the joint city-township recreation commission, she actually found her way into the business in a round-about manner through politics.

While preparing to campaign for election as Northville Township clerk earlier this year, McCarville met Hartz through his roommate — who was to have been her campaign manager.

Hartz had been operating the tours alone at first, and gradually started to bring in other guides. He was looking at the Churchill River lodge and thinking about expansion, but knew he needed someone to help with marketing and sales.

McCarville was working in advertising and looking for something else to do to fill out her time if elected clerk — it's a part-time job in the township.

"As I got into it, there became a real question about whether I could do this part time and be the clerk at the same time," McCarville says. "It was a tough decision to drop the politics, but I decided being in business like this was what I really wanted to do and I couldn't let the opportunity pass."

The real key to the business, she notes, is that it offers what is becoming a very scarce commodity — genuine, virtually untouched wilderness complete with all the fishing and hunting opportunities that implies for sportsmen.

Of her own trips this past summer.

A NEW MAACO AUTO PAINTING and Bodyworks Center, specializing in auto painting and collision work has opened in Walled Lake at 1625 West Maple Road under the ownership of Rick and Phillip Bastianelli.

The new MAACO center is part of a national chain of retail outlets that has grown to more than 350 facilities in 42 states and Canada since its inception in 1972. The new Walled Lake center is the 17th in the Detroit area and 21st in Michigan.

The new center houses the latest sophisticated equipment and best materials to paint and repair automotive vehicles to peak appearance while using environmentally low pollutant materials.

Rick Bastianelli is a graduate of Mercy College with a BS degree in business management. He previously worked for Greyhound Food Management and ran various industrial feeding facilities for General Motors and the Ford Motor Company. Rick's younger brother, Phillip, was in the body and paint business four years prior to becoming a MAACO owner. Both are Livonia residents.

TRAVEL IS THEIR GAME and in pursuit of first-hand knowledge to impart to customers, two travel consultants from Phillips Travel Service in South Lyon recently completed widely diversified trips.

Linda Hammon, who has always opted for warm sunny beaches in the past, flew off to Alaska to join other travel agents in a whirlwind tour by Holland America Westours. "We had only eight days," Hammon said. "Most tourists have longer to enjoy it. But it was great and now I suggest it to people instead of an extended trip to Europe. Europe probably won't change that much in the next 10 years but Alaska will."

She flew to Fairbanks where the group boarded motor coaches to visit Valdez, Anchorage, Skagway and Denali National Park. They also took a small cruise ship to view the Columbia Glacier and flew in a six-seater plane to see the Mendenhall Glacier.

Loretta Powell recently spent a weekend touring Royal Caribbean Cruise Line ships at Miami. She visited two ships, The Song of America and The Nordic Prince, experiencing what the client would from embarkation. She and other agents were given a sampling of shipboard activities, including gambling. Lunch aboard The Nordic Prince gave the agents an idea of the "wonderful cuisine," Powell said.

Dallas Phillips, agency owner, said he encourages his staff to take advantage of these learning trips and other educational opportunities so they can stay abreast of changes in the industry.

THE WIXOM PANTHER? Not really, it's a stuffed version of the famous Wixom feline which was given away as third prize in a special "Capture the Panther" contest sponsored by Mr. Natural's restaurant in the Halabu Plaza opposite the Village Apartments on Beck Road in Novi.

The stuffed version of the panther was won by Bob and Sue Blackmore and their children, Julie, 4, and Joey, 6. Standing behind the panther are Kevin and Greg Pelt, owners of Mr. Natural's.

Mr. Natural's decided to sponsor the "Capture the Panther" Contest after the Wixom panther was reportedly sighted near the restaurant. The Peltos offered a first prize of free pizza for a year (up to $500) for anyone bringing in the panther alive and well, and a second prize of $100 for anyone bringing in a verifiable picture of the Wixom panther.

Greg Pelt reported that several people stopped by with pictures of panthers taken from National Geographic and two Wixom police officers came by with mug shots of a black house cat which they claimed was the Wixom panther. First and second prizes went unawarded, but the Blackmores were the winners of the raffle for the third prize of the stuffed panther.

"The contest was a lot of fun," said Pelt.

GORDON KUMMER, administrator of the Whitehall Convalescent Home in Novi, has been elected to the 1985 board of directors of the Health Care Association of Michigan (HCAM). The association represents 250 Michigan nursing homes and homes for the aged, caring for over 26,000 residents and employing an equal number of people.

Kummer has held elected posts in the association's southeastern Michigan region for the past four years. He was assistant regional director in 1981 and 1982 and regional director in 1983 and 1984. He also served as chairman of HCAM's homes for the aged operations committee in 1982.

Kummer is vice president of Whitehall Convalescent Homes, Inc., which owns and operates three long-term health care facilities in Novi and Ann Arbor.

A South Lyon resident since 1974, Kummer was a ruling elder of Fellowship Evangelical Presbyterian Church in South Lyon from 1980-83. A licensed nursing home administrator, Kummer has a BA degree and a MA degree from Wayne State University.

Money Management: Investor tax rules

Investors are being hit with new tax rules as part of the 1985 tax reform act. Whether you're a stock market player, a bond trader or real estate investor, these rules will affect you, the Michigan Association of CPAs says.

One of the changes gives investors favorable tax treatment on a capital gain. Under the new law, you must hold an investment for only six months and a day, instead of a year and a day to qualify for long-term capital gain treatment and avoid tax on 60 percent of your gain. The shortened holding period applies to purchases before January 1, 1988.

The shortened "long-term" holding period is double-edged: it now takes half the time to get a long-term loss and that's not to your advantage. One dollar of a long-term loss is worth 50 cents off your taxable income but one dollar of a short-term loss is worth a full dollar.

Bond buyers should be aware of changes in the way market-discount bonds are taxed. More than half of all bond market activity involves market-discount bonds; these are previously-issued bonds being traded on the secondary market.

If you buy a bond for $800 on the secondary market, but it is redeemable at maturity for $1,000, you have a market-discount bond. Under the old tax law, upon selling the bond the difference between the discounted rate and the $1,000 was taxed as a capital gain. Sixty percent of the $200, if it was long-term gain, was not taxable. Under the new law, this $200 is treated as fully taxable interest income when the bond is sold. Bonds issued on or before July 18, 1984 are not affected, nor are tax-exempt municipal bonds, bonds with maturities of less than one year and U.S. Savings Bonds.

Real estate investors and those owning rental properties will have to contend with smaller write-offs for depreciation. Previously, the full cost of a building could be written off over 15 years. Now the shortest period is 18 years, resulting in smaller deductions.

Another provision that affects real estate concerns below-market interest rate loans. When a buyer and seller agree to a below-market financing deal on a real estate purchase, the price of the real estate is higher. That's because the buyer agrees to pay a higher price in return for a lower financing rate — what is lost to the seller in interest income is offset by a higher price.

Award deadline

Those with potential nominations for the Michigan Society of Professional Engineers Fifth Annual Joint Practice Division Awards had better hustle — the deadline is October 5.

The competition sponsored by MSPE allows professional engineers the opportunity to tell employers, clients and the general public about advancements in the field. It recognizes five engineering accomplishments in all five practice divisions — construction, education, government, industry and private practice.

Also, an outstanding engineer from each division will be honored in the program on November 10 at the Flint Hyatt-Regency. The organization has 2,500 active members and 19 chapters, five of the latter in the Detroit area.

Any organization, firm or individual is eligible to submit nominations for the awards, regardless of MSPE association, all nominations must be directed to the appropriate division by an MPSE chapter, however. Outstanding achievements or individuals who have won similar awards in other organization's competitions are eligible. Achievements may have been executed anywhere in the U.S., but the work must have been substantially completed and publicly disclosed in calendar 1984 to be eligible.

Contact persons and chapter locations are available by contacting the organization at (517) 487-9388.

Energy info offered

The Michigan Energy Administration, a division of the state department of commerce, has a new series of video cassettes available for free loan that provide answers to many energy questions faced by homeowners.

House for All Seasons is a series of 13 video cassettes explaining various ways to maximize energy efficiency in the home and describing new energy-saving products and technologies.

Included are topics such as how to add insulation, locate hard-to-find air leaks in the home, housing designs for energy efficiency and products that can help save money.

Michigan residents or interested groups can call the Energy Hotline at 1-800-292-4704 to borrow the cassettes from the lending library. The hotline operates between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Adventure as business

McCarville says, "It was more than I could ever have imagined it to be. You're out there virtually alone — just you and the small group. You never see the other groups on the river. You learn a lot about yourself."

Wildlife abounds and the photos McCarville brought back include whales, seals, wolf, elk and dozens of trophy fish. Bears are common, of course, including polar bear. Eagles and many other birds and animals are also seen. Getting to it all demands some rigorous canoeing over a lot of white water, some of which demand that the vessel be towed on a line while the humans walk through thick underbrush along the shore.

The travellers average 20 miles a day on the Seal — 600 miles in 30 days — and a slightly slower pace on the two-week trip on the Laurie, which covers roughly 200 miles.

"It's a hard trip — I don't think you could do it with just a group of women unless they were all very experienced in the outdoors," she notes. "But it's very memorable. At the price — you could go to Europe, see the Eiffel Tower. I've travelled a lot in the U.S. and overseas. I've been to the Eiffel Tower, but this is much more memorable."

The trip is sold through travel agents, and McCarville conducts programs for various groups, targeting adventurers, canoeists, sportsman's clubs, and universities (the latter because professors and students most often have the time available to make a 30-day trip).

"Word-of-mouth is our best advertising, but I do presentations in the home, get a group of interested people together," she says. "We work with travel agents in places like Grand Rapids, Ludington, Pentwater, and they arrange for groups of maybe 50 or 100 and we put on the presentation."

One question often asked at these presentations — "What do you do if there's an emergency?" After all, it's not as though there's an ambulance around the next tree.

"I had some first-hand experience there," McCarville says. "I had an allergic reaction about two weeks into the Seal River. As near as we can tell it was to fish — I'd been eating fish every day for 14 days. I was swollen pretty badly, my throat was starting to close and it put me right out cold."

Her guide switched on one of the Emergency Locator Transmitters and McCarville was airlifted out from the wilderness to a local hospital. "You don't turn one of those things on for just a sprain or something, because the Canadian government is right there with a helicopter as soon as it happens. They're not going to run out there for every little scrap or bruise."

McCarville's condition was serious, but she offers one measure of how attractive the trip can be in noting that she flew back in to complete the adventure a few days later.

"You come face to face with Mother Nature and she throws something at you — you either handle it or you don't," she says. "You feel a lot better about it afterwards, knowing you can do it and that maybe, just maybe, Mother Nature doesn't have it in for you personally."

Rewards

If you have befriended someone
It will bring its own reward:
A brightened look, a grateful smile.
From a heart with trouble stored.

But we do not seek a prize
For a gesture here and there;
The reward is in the giving —
Not the getting of our share.

A Kite In Flight

Escaping to the sky,
My kite dips and
Swirls in the wind.
When I loosen my grasp on the string,
It flies like the spirit of a child,
Occasionally dropping beyond the horizon
In a playful game of peek-a-boo.

God Is Our Father

God is our Father, Jesus is his Son
We thank Them when the day is done.
We go to church on Sunday.
When we think of God, it is a fun day.
I go to church to thank God for the nice week we had.
I am sorry when I was bad.
I love you God, I love you Jesus.
Please pray for all of us.

Illusions

The end of a relationship, the death of a true friendship.
Hurt and bewildered; strike out at offender.
Scars permanently etched in the heart; bitter feelings of being used.
Hatred instead of love; ugly words of blame.
Where are my memories of first love?

For A Dandelion

Lowly dandelion awake,
Lift up thy cap of towseled, golden curls towards sun's pure radiance.
Let not unkind words, which speak of thee as only weed, dismay thy shining heart.
For you have been held, within the grasp of life's first innocence.
Thrust shyly forth to meet a mother's outstretched hand.
Oh, how she treasured and shall n'er forget lovers' offering of wild, sweet effervescence.

The Death of the Dragon (The Death of Satan)

I fought the dragon and won
I fought the dragon,
but it sure wasn't fun.
He had me beat
till I got back on my feet
I fought the dragon
The dragon's gone
I fought the dragon
Killed him with a simple love song

The Life Of A Cat

There he is, all rolled up in a ball.
He just wants to play with you,
That's all.

And when you get up,
He's right by your feet.
He's just telling you,
"I want something to eat."

Once he's fed,
It's back to bed, curled up in another ball,
Until it's time to get up and whine.
And start the day anew.

Eighty-Five and Holding

These words of mine at eighty-five
That find themselves in rhyme
Might not have been poetic
If they hadn't had the time!

Charles E. Hutton

And Still Time Passes...

My love, how did we get so far,
From where we were to where we are?
Nightmares have replaced our dreams,
Kept us from knowing what it means
To love each other one on one.
And now there's nothing to be done
To keep the flames of love alive,
To help this union to survive.
It's no one's fault, no one's to blame,
As springtime past and winter came,
Without our knowledge, it seems in time,
You grew in your way; I grew in mine.

June Pertile

Mid-Winter Thoughts:

Outside the snow is packed around naked bush and naked tree.
Everywhere we come and go the white is there for all to see.

When the sun is out, its dancing light.
But grey sky makes it deadeningly white.
It's then, it seems, as if it were an unwelcome guest who will not stir.

What pleasure can you see in its sprawling white monotony?
Especially when it settles and packs.
And automobiles leave dirty tracks!

New falling snow is something else!
It has wonder, beauty, pulse!
It covers ugly things on earth.
It gives the landscape rebirth.

When the sun comes out it changes things.
Then all the landscape romps and sings!
A walk with dog through snowy glen
This delight, I comprehend

When I see snow in static state
it's then I can hardly wait till Spring comes and gives a shove to bring color, grass and flowers I love!

Winter knows so much more than us!
Though we storm and stamp and fuss
Seasonal changes that delight you and me couldn't happen if one were in perpetuity.

Please!!! Squeeze the apples!!!

Story by Kathy Jennings and Pat Bowling

Benjamin Franklin tells the story of a Susquehanna Indian orator who patiently listened to a missionary's sermon on the Garden of Eden and the Fall of Man then responded: "What you have told us is all very good. It is indeed bad to eat apples. It is better to make them all into cider instead."

The plaque bearing the wise words of the Susquehanna Indian hangs on the wall of the Franklin Cider Mill, one of seven in a tour of area orchards and mills.

After every stop along the way my colleague and I, licking donut crumbs off our respective fingers, looked at one another and congratulated ourselves for thinking up a great assignment.

Not only did we enjoy the eating and drinking, we learned a few things along the way, too.

Every cider mill has its own personality, ranging from a sprawling country farm to a grist mill in the middle of town. Every person can find his or her favorite blend of cider — from a cloudy, brown, unfiltered variety to a clear, golden, clarified juice.

The best cider is pressed the second week of October, or the first week of September — depending on the cider connoisseur's taste buds. Those who like it tart line up at the mills for the first pressing in early September. Those who like it sweet and mellow wait until later in the season.

To get the perfect blend of sweet or tart, every miller has his own special recipe, some of which are kept secret. Most recipes change during the course of the season, depending on when the Winesaps and Wealthys, the Johnathons and Golden Delicious are ready for pressing.

One early-season recipe included pears to add sweetness, but most called for an apples-only mixture. Said Tony Palmer, a 37-year veteran of the Franklin Cider Mill: "I don't believe in mixing anything with it — just pure apple juice."

"We lean toward a more mellow cider," commented Sally Diehl of Diehl's Cider Mill in Holly. "Many people want that first pressing, but honestly, it's so sour. Green apple-lovers like the August-September cider," she said.

Most local mills use traditional cider presses run by gears or hydraulics. Wooden racks are filled with ground-up apples and wrapped in a special nylon burlap cloth. These apple-filled racks are layered and then lifted onto the press where as much as 200 tons of pressure is applied.

More modern mills may use a rotary press which combines the apple pulp with a grain, spinning both in a cylinder that allows the cider to filter out.

Whatever the method, the result is the golden drink that is autumn's specialty — the best complement to a warm donut ever invented: apple cider.

The mills on the tour are rated below: one apple, good; two apples, better; three apples, our favorites (this week).

Plymouth Orchard, 10685 Warren Road, Plymouth. 455-2290. Bring the kids, and if you don't have kids bring somebody else's. They'll love petting the goat, brown-eyed calf, and friendly horses. The large red barn provides indoor picnic tables in a room that converts to a square dance hall. Fresh donuts made daily provide the recognizable smell that greets the visitor's nose as he enters the door. The daily apple report tells which apples are ready for picking that day and an open wagon will transport the whole family out to the orchards.

Cider has an unfiltered, heavy Jonathon blend at $3.10 a gallon. Apples are $2.50 a half peck. Cider mill incidentals include fresh made pies, jams, maple syrup, and roasted peanuts.

Everything you wanted to know about apples

By SUSAN KAUPPILA

Looking for something fun to do on a fall weekend in Southeast Michigan?

Then going apple picking at one of the numerous orchards in this area might be just what you are seeking.

Although you can take your own baskets, most of the orchards supply easy-to-carry bags in various sizes.

In addition, some orchards such as Spicer's in Hartland Township and Erwin's Orchards in Lyon Township offer weekend wagon rides to your favorite apple trees. When you return, you can enjoy cider and doughnuts at the country stores and shop for specialty syrups, jams and honey.

What kind of apples should you pick? That depends on what you intend to do with them. Here is a list of the most common apples found in Southeast Michigan and their best use, according to grower Tom Erwin.

McIntosh: tart eating apple, very good for applesauce, does not hold its shape in pie

Cortland: use like a McIntosh

Red Delicious: good eating apple, not used for cooking or baking

Empire: is a cross between a Red

Delicious and McIntosh, good for applesauce and similar uses of McIntosh

Jonathan: tart eating apple, semi holds its shape when baked, fair for pies

Golden Delicious: good for eating and cooking, excellent for applesauce because it doesn't need sugar. Erwin says baby food manufacturers choose this variety because of its natural sweetness.

Ida Red: tart eating apple, excellent for baking and cooking, semi holds its shape when baked

Northern Spy: tart eating, best pie

apple, according to both Erwin and

Alan Spicer. Is used by most pie companies

Mutsu: developed in Japan, is our answer to the Granny Smith, a tart

eating apple

Rome: not especially good for eating, good for cooking, especially pies

Winesap: use like a Jonathan

"Many people use a mixture of apples for both pies and sauce," Spicer said.

"It is all in what type of flavor you want."

Prices for u-pick apples will generally range from $7.50 to $10.50 a bushel,

Spicer said.

Most orchards, however, offer utility apples at one-half the price. Windfalls, which can be used for applesauce or pies, are also generally available at half the regular cost.

As far as a picking timetable for available apples, Erwin said McIntosh,

Red Delicious, Cortland, and Jonathans are available now. By October 5, Golden

Delicious, Ida Reds, and Northern Spys are ready.

Linda Erwin gets ready for fly-in

Erwin Farms, Hudson Airport provide apple pickin' for pilots

By CINDY HOOGASIAN

Aviators from all over Michigan have been invited to participate October 7 in the state's first Apple Pickin' Fly-In, sponsored by Erwin's Orchards and New Hudson Airport.

"Flying families look for things to do," said Linda Erwin, whose husband Bill conceived the unique promotional idea. "They fly to special breakfasts, fairs. There was a fly-in pancake breakfast at the Howell Melon Festival. We thought having an apple fly-in would give families an excuse to fly."

Advertising flyers announcing the special event were sent to about 200 private airports all over Michigan, Erwin said. Aviators are expected to arrive between 9 a.m. and 6 p.m.

The Erwins will supply transportation from the airport to their orchards on Silver Lake Road and Pontiac Trail in Lyon Township. They will also supply containers for the apple pickers. Families will pick their own apples, and there will be plenty of varieties to choose from. Erwin said McIntosh, Empire, Red and Yellow Delicious, Jonathan, Ida Reds, Northern Spys and Mutsu apples will all be harvested that weekend.

Extra employees will be put on duty this weekend, but that will be only partially due to the influx of business from the fly-in. Erwin said this is traditionally their busiest weekend. Not only will aviating families be able to harvest the apples of their choice, but they will also be able to take wagon rides and enjoy homemade apple donuts, caramel apples and apple cider.

The Erwins have no idea how many flying families will land at New Hudson for the event. Linda said she would be pleased if 20 aviators turn into apple pickers.

According to Erwin, who admits to being a bit frightened in small planes, there's a little room in most aircraft for passenger luggage, including apples.

"We'll give out apple lapel pins to everyone who flies in for the day," Erwin said.

If the special promotion is successful, Linda said they will make it an annual event.

Variety abounds

Cider's not the only specialty at area mills

Parmenter's, 714 Baseline Road, Northville. 349-3181. The original old wooden press at Parmenter's was burned in a fire that destroyed the mill. A new rotary press combines grain with the apple pulp to make a clear, golden cider. Apples are from western Michigan and sell for $3.50 a peck. Kids can climb on the jungle gym, while adults watch the cider being pressed. For those who want a meal with their cider there's the Little Chow Mill, featuring hot dogs and kielbasa.

Cider is smooth, with a pleasant tang at $3.15 a gallon. Parmenter's store includes a wine tasting bar, fresh donuts, and caramel apples.

explain that Jonathons and Red Delicious are best for salads, while Cortlands are ideal for pies.

Foreman's uses six to seven varieties of apples in a blend of cider that differs as the season progresses. Honey, cinnamon and cloves are added to create Foreman's special hot cider. All the apples are grown on site and can be picked yourself or purchased by the bag for $3.50 a peck. Cider sells for $3.25 a gallon.

Franklin Cider Mill, 7450 Franklin Road, Franklin, 626-2968. Although not the original, the 60-80 year old press at Franklin Mill Site now is considered an antique. In autumn the mill becomes the gathering place for crowds of Oakland County cider enthusiasts. They come to watch the cider press and water wheel, as well as to purchase grapes, peaches, plums and Hickory Farms cheeses. Apples, cider and spice donuts, however, remain the favorite.

In early September the cider was a blend of McIntosh, Delicious and Paula Reds. But by October Sweet Red and Golden Delicious will be added. Apples are from Grand Rapids and Romeo and sell for $3 a half peck. Cider sells for $3.25 a gallon. Dixie cups, two cents each.

Diehl's Orchard and Cider Mill, 1478 Ranch Road, Holly, 634-8981. With picnic tables under shade trees, a makeshift hitching post for horses and a store with jellies, jams, maple syrup, homemade pies and cinnamon sticks, Diehl's is replete with country cider mill charm. The third generation of Diehls is now making cider and donuts at the orchard, which has been in the family 36 years. They host a Cider Fest in September, bringing in clowns and pony rides to help visitors enjoy the apple cider season.

The family's old gear-driven cider press wore out several years ago, and a new hydraulic press was installed. A blend of four different apples, including McIntosh, Delicious, Northern Spy and Winesaps, contributed to the mellow cider pressed in early September.

Apples fresh-picked at Diehl's run $3.80 a peck, and cider sells for $3.10 a gallon. Holiday baskets for shipping also are available.

Paint Creek Cider Mill, 4480 Orion Road, Rochester, 651-8361. Visiting

Paint Creek can be an afternoon that includes lunch or an evening that includes dinner. The mill features an adjoining restaurant which specializes in recipes using cider and apples. Entrees start at $3.50 for lunch and $9.95 for dinner.

Owner Jerry Mancour presses about 70 bushels of apples at a time, which produces about 120 gallons of cider. His apples are trucked from Romeo and Almont. The juice from Tyndeman, Reds and Wealthys were contributing to the early September cider. In addition to the usual warm donut and caramel apple fare, the cider shop at Paint Creek offers an outstanding cinnamon-apple nut bread at $1.65 a loaf. Cider sells for $3.30 a gallon.

Rochester Cider Mill, 5215 North Rochester Road, Rochester, 651-4224. The mill was pressing its first batch of cider for the year when we arrived. The 60-70 year old press was grinding apples from Romeo — although Bruce Parkinson, one of five co-owners, declined to reveal the blend. He noted, however, that it included a few pears to sweeten up the tart September picking.

A gallon of cider costs $3, and apples are $3 a peck. A visitor can also pick up a gallon of apple vinegar.

Apple pie — an all-time favorite

Prepare pastry for double crust

Place into a large bowl:
6 to 8 Northern Spy apples, sliced (second choice, Ida Reds)
About 1 cup of sugar (if apples are riper, use less)
1 Tablespoon flour OR 2 Tablespoons tapioca top and dot with 2 to 2½ Tablespoons butter. Cover with top crust, seal, flute and cut air slits in top. Bake in pre-heated 400 degree oven for 15 minutes. Then lower oven temperature to 375 degrees and continue baking for 35 minutes.

Mix well and pour into pastry-lined pie pan. Sprinkle cinnamon on

According to Wanda, this is her husband Alan's favorite pie. The couple own and operate Spicer's Orchards in Hartland.

Michigan's apple mania

The picking season in this area ends the end of October, but apples can be purchased from the country stores at the orchards until next spring.

Spicer said McIntosh, Red Delicious, and Golden Delicious are the most popular apples. "But once people start eating Golden Delicious, there is no stopping them because they really like them."

What do you do with the apples once you bring them home?

For the best keeping, Erwin advises placing the apples in the crisper drawer in your refrigerator along with a damp sponge.

"Refrigeration will draw the moisture out and cause the apples to wither. A damp sponge will add moisture and prevent that," he explained.

Of course, if you pick a bushel your crisper will not hold that many. In that instance, Erwin suggests placing the apples in an insulated cooler with a damp sponge and leaving the cooler in a cool space or your garage.

"They can be left in your garage until the temperature reaches 25 degrees Fahrenheit," he noted.

Sending messages

As part of its year-long emphasis on reading, Winchester Elementary School has scheduled monthly events "to celebrate all the good things" reading brings to students. Last Thursday, each grade selected representatives to launch

Library offers cassette check out

Spend an evening with Superman, Annie Hall, or Charlie Brown — all now available on videocassette from the Northville Public Library.

The videocassettes, all of which are VHS format, are loaned at a rental fee of $1 per calendar day. Anyone over 18 with a valid library card is eligible to borrow them.

From the recent crop of favorites are such movies as Terms of Endearment, Silkwood, Tender Mercies and Educating Rita.

And of course there are the blockbuster favorites such as Raiders of the Lost Ark and Star Wars.

Well worth a second (or third) viewing are such epics as Reds or Quest for Fire. Alfred Hitchcock is represented with the thriller Rear Window, and fans of musical comedy might take home Gene Kelly in Singin' in the Rain.

From the golden age of Hollywood are such enduring films as The Grapes of Wrath with Henry Fonda, Bogart and Hepburn in The African Queen, and Charlie Chaplin in The Great Dictator.

Classics from the 1960s include The Pink Panther and Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid, and nostalgia for that era is evoked in films like The Big Chill and American Graffiti.

For younger viewers, the library offers cartoons, ranging from Mickey Mouse to Curious George and Dr. Seuss. Perennial favorites for children, such as Charlotte's Web, Old Yeller, The Hobbit and The Black Stallion, are also available.

The Friends of the Northville Library contributed the funds to begin the videocassette collection and rental fees will be used to add more titles.

For a full list of titles available and details on borrowing procedures, stop by the library or call 349-3020.

Entertainment

The Northville Record

Hut one! Hut two! Plan ahead

Even die-hard sports fans can get a little intimidated by the hassles involved in going to a big-time college or pro athletic event.

First there's finding the tickets, getting to and from the stadium, parking (an extra charge), then scrambling around for a place to eat and drink. At the game, you might have lousy seats and obnoxious neighbors. And the trip to the game is often a breeze compared to exiting the jammed-up parking lot and driving home — especially if you've overdone your tailgate party.

Ready to forget the whole thing? Hold on — with a little planning and a few extra bucks (might as well, considering what you're paying for tickets), it's possible to avoid most of those headaches. To wit:

For those who will own up to being Detroit Lion fans, Novi Parks and Recreation is offering a round-trip bus and ticket package to the Monday, December 10, Lions-Raiders game at the Silverdome.

The $24 per person fee covers game ticket, a meal at The Goat Farm (a famed burger and beer establishment located on Novi Road north of Ten Mile) and transportation from The Farm to the Silverdome via bus (yes, one with a rest room).

Novi P&R also runs discount trips to a Pistons game and a Red Wings game each year (dates for trips this winter have yet to be announced).

For more information, call the department at 349-1976. You need not be a Novi resident to buy trip tickets at the discount rate.

If you're a Michigan State fan, you can catch a ride on Northville Community Recreation's "Green and White Special" — if you act fast. There are still plenty of package-trip tickets available for the October 20 Ohio State-MSU battle in Lansing. But registrants must sign up by this Friday at the latest.

The "Green and White Special" is quite a package — $32.50 per person covers game ticket, an all-you-can-eat brunch feast courtesy of the College of Agriculture and Natural Resources Alumni Association, and round-trip deluxe motorcoach transportation from downtown Northville to Spartan Stadium. For information, call 349-0203.

Don't mind driving yourself? Fine. The state's largest travel agency, AAA (yes, that AAA) offers a package for members and non-members alike for weekend accommodations and tickets to the MSU-Wisconsin game. This one's a bit more pricey — $125 covers ticket plus two nights at the Lansing Sheraton (that's $80 for double and $65 for triple occupancy).

If you belong to a group or organization, your group members may find it costs less than you might think to arrange a charter bus package. The Detroit area is home to a large number of charter bus companies, so prices are downright competitive.

Whether going to East Lansing, Pontiac or Ann Arbor, a bus for a group of 40 or a little more can often be had for less than $10 per head. Southeast Michigan Transit Authority (SEMTA) charters buses for 40-45 passengers (note — complete all pit stops before boarding) at $43 per hour with a three-hour minimum charge. Adding in group rate discounts on tickets for some pro games, the bottom-line bill can be quite reasonable.

Smaller group trips in smaller buses can be easily arranged, albeit at a little more cost. Many local travel agencies can pro-rate bus service according to the number of people going, and SEMTA offers a bus of 12-16 for $33 per hour with 10-day notice.

The new Nook: New charm

dining out

DIANE KOVACS

Habitues of the original El Nibble Nook on Grand River at Midlebelt took a long time to adjust to the new "Nook" down the road apiece at the corner of Grand River and Eight Mile in Livonia.

There was a certain unique charm to the original restaurant that was destroyed by fire several years ago ... a charm that wasn't recaptured in the new "Nook" until the past year or so.

But give owners Chuck and Audrey Beyer credit, the new place now has all the charm of the old in addition to having considerably more parking and seating capacity.

Actually, it may be impossible for me to write an objective review of El Nibble Nook. For the past 15 or more years it has been plain and simple my favorite restaurant.

Trying to compare restaurants is a difficult, if not impossible task. El Nibble Nook is "different" than a MacKinnon's or a Raphael's, for example. But for sheer enjoyment, there's no place I would rather go than Chuck and Audrey's unique little Tex-Mex restaurant in Livonia.

As the name — El Nibble Nook — implies, there's a bit of a "tongue in cheek" approach to Mexican cuisine at the "Nook." You don't have to speak fluent Spanish, or any Spanish at all, to read the menu — "especialidades del la casa" and "combinaciones deliciosas" translate fairly easily.

And if you can't figure out that "favoritas Norte Americanas" is strictly for gringos, you probably won't have as much fun as you ought to at the "Nook."

The same Americanization of the Spanish language that appears on the menu also applies to the treatment of the food. Few people who travel to Mexico return raving about the food, but the fare at the "Nook" is bound to conform to what we Norte Americanos believe Mexican food should taste like.

Perhaps the reason "veteran Nookers" are finally willing to rate the new "Nook" on the same scale as the old "Nook" is that the Beyers have finally loaded the place up with as much or more paraphernalia as the old place had.

Every nook and cranny is loaded with something — paintings of Mexican scenes, stained glass renderings of parrots, sombreros, serapes ... and — my personal favorite — a yellow paper-mache cat with red and black spots that stands four-feet high.

Adding to the flavor during the evenings is the music of Antonio, a strolling troubadour who goes from table to table playing everything from "Guadalajara" to "Cuando Caliente el Sol."

On Friday and Saturday nights, you'll probably have to wait for a table, which isn't all that bad because it gives you an opportunity to mix with the upbeat crowd and have time to get in the mood of things with a glass of sangria or a margarita — both of them specialties at the "Nook."

Despite the marvelous decor, delicious margaritas and the music of Antonio, the reason most people go to El Nibble Nook is the opportunity to partake of the Mexican food — and they won't be disappointed.

One of the nicest things about El Nibble Nook is the amount and cost of the food. Two people have really got to "pig out" to run up "cuenta" of more than $20, and if you skip the sangria — which you shouldn't — you'll walk away filled at a total cost of about $15.

The waiter will leave a basket of chips and dish of hot sauce on the table as you peruse the menu. And you can make a meal out of nothing more than the appetizers (botanas). Picadores con queso come highly recommended as do the cheese crisp (quesadilla). The "Mexican Revolution" is a combination plate of botanas, churros and mariachis calientes for individuals who want to try several selections.

Entrees range in price from the enchiladas de jocoque de topozilan and enchiladas rancheras at $5.50 up to El Supremo, chunks of prime fillet sauteed in a special sauce with chipotle peppers, cheese and tortillas at $12.95. The menu warns that this particular dish is "muy caliente."

Personal favorites at the "Nook" are the beef and cheese enchiladas ($5.95), pollo supremo ($6.95) and chimichanga ($6.95). Most dishes are served with side orders of rice, refried beans and a delicious coleslaw.

If you still have room for postre (dessert) after all that, the ice cream taco (a deep-fried pastry with vanilla ice cream topped with honey swirls and strawberries) is delicious as is the sweet chimi (a deep-fried tortilla stuffed with fresh apples, raisins and cinnamon, rolled in honey and nuts, and served with vanilla ice cream).
