It wasn't hard to guess what country little Rebekah Stankowicz represented during the Novi-Northville Montessori Center Christmas Program last Wednesday morning. The 30 Montessori students, with the help of director Geetha Rao, greeted parents and guests with their rendition of "It's A Small World" sung in English, French, Indian and Japanese. According to Rao, a native of India, the Montessori students have studied many cultures and celebrate all holidays throughout the year — culminating with Christmas. Formerly located in Novi, the Montessori Center moved to classrooms in First-United Methodist Church of Northville three years ago. Record photo by Steve Fecht.

School board slates public hearing to review proposed boundary plan

By MICHELE M. FECHT

Some 440 Northville elementary students may be heading to new schools next September should the board of education approve a redistricting plan unveiled Monday night during a special call meeting.

The revision of the school district's current attendance boundaries will be the subject of a public hearing scheduled for 7:30 p.m. January 9 in the high school cafeteria. The board approved the hearing at the request of Superintendent Bell.

"I think it's necessary for us to provide an arena for concerned parents to air their views," Bell told the board.

A citizens committee representing each of the current elementary attendance areas met with the superintendent last Wednesday to discuss the recommended boundary changes.

Bell told board members that the prospective boundary revisions received a "generally good reception" from members of the committee. However, he noted that he planned to tour Silver Springs Tuesday morning with some Amerman parents whose children most likely will be transferred to that school next fall.

Plans for redistricting elementary school students beginning with the 1985-86 school year have been under way since the board's November decision to close Moraine Elementary and Cooke Junior High.

Bell told the board that a straight line projection of the district's current enrollment in the existing four elementary schools plus next year's estimated 52 kindergartners per building results in a total K-5 (sixth graders will move into the middle school in September) enrollment of approximately 1,167 students.

With the closing of the Moraine facility (which currently houses some 400 students), the district will need to divide the total anticipated enrollment into the three remaining buildings and has placed a target figure at 389 students per building.

Bell noted that the 389 figure is simply being used as a target and that administrators have estimated that in order to house approximately that many students in the three remaining buildings, at least 127 more students will be needed at Amerman, 146 more at Silver Springs and 48 more at Winchester.

It was noted that Amerman, with a capacity for 706 students (the largest of the district's elementary schools) currently is only at 44.2 percent capacity.

In outlining the plan, Bell pointed out that the district's east-west corridors serve as natural divisions between the building attendance areas.

Using the east-west corridors as a guideline, the administration has proposed that:

- Everything north of a line on Eight Mile beginning at the western extremities of the school district running to Beck Road, south to Main Street, and across Main Street to Northville Road will be in the Amerman Elementary School area.

- Students living between Eight Mile Road and Six Mile Road and south of Main Street in the central city area, along with the current Silver Springs attendance area in the Highland Lakes development will attend Silver Springs Elementary School.

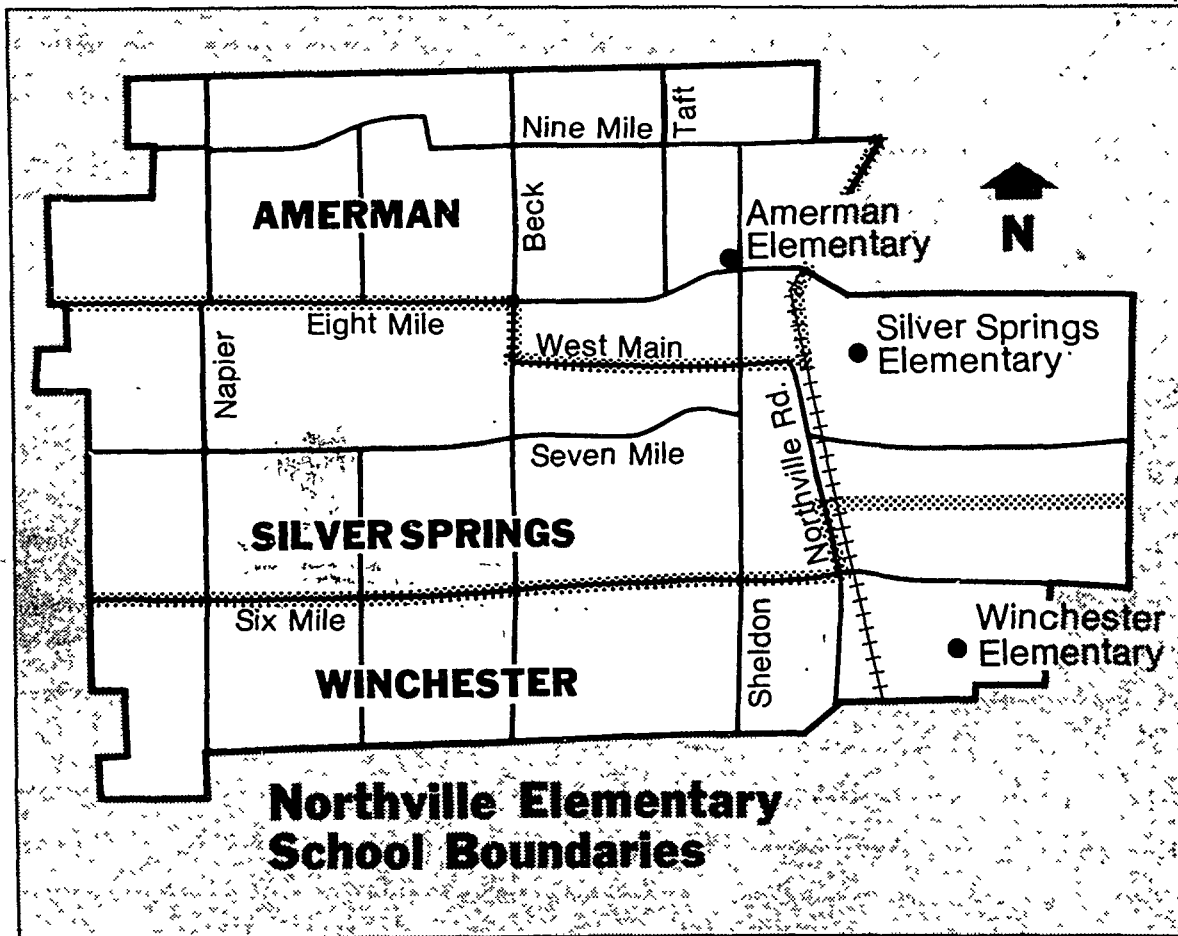

- Students living south of Six Mile Road beginning at the western extremity of the district, across to Northville Road, moving north to the southern boundary of Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital will attend Winchester School. Currently only one Northville student lives in the sparsely populated area between Five and Six Mile west of Sheldon Road.

Bell said the boundary revision would put the district close to its desired enrollment in each of the three elementary schools. Should the board approve the proposal, some 170 additional students will attend Amerman bringing its total K-5 enrollment to 432 and 148 more students will attend Silver Springs bringing its enrollment to 391. Winchester's enrollment is expected to be about 341 students with only the addition of new kindergartners.

Bell said the boundary revisions primarily impact students in the

Sewer project revival sought

By KEVIN WILSON

Suburban officials will have to learn to get along with the City of Detroit if they want to correct sewer problems in western Wayne and Oakland counties.

That was the message delivered at a Monday meeting of suburban officials with Richard Hinshon, the recently-appointed leader of a plan to revive what is left of the Son of Supersewer project that was rejected by the federal EPA earlier this year.

Northville officials who attended the get-acquainted meeting with Hinshon said cooperation with Detroit is a major element of his proposal for what has been called "grandson of supersewer."

Hinshon, a state DNR employee who was recently attached to Wayne County specifically to address the sewer issue, told those attending the meeting that without Detroit's cooperation there would be no revival of the project.

Township manager David Leiko said the "general consensus was that this was something we should pursue but there is some feeling that if Detroit's not going to cooperate, let's find out about it up front so we don't go through all the planning and everything only to have it killed at the last minute."

That's roughly what area officials contend happened to the North Huron Valley/Rouge Valley Wastewater Disposal system this fall, when the EPA rejected the request, routed through the DNR, for 75 percent federal grant funding of the project. The earlier split of the former Supersewer proposal into north and south segments, Plymouth and Canton contend in a lawsuit (see related story) was caused by opposition from Detroit and the subsequent rejection of the northern segment was inevitable.

But Northville Mayor Paul Vernon told city council Monday night that Hinshon disputes that version of events.

"He actively defended the position that there was no overt action by the City of Detroit or the DNR to torpedo the project," Vernon said of Hinshon's explanations of the EPA rejection. "He said we, the local communities, have to share the blame for not transmitting all the information needed by the EPA and that the DNR failed to recognize how much information the EPA required."

Vernon called Hinshon's explanation of the EPA rejection "the old political cop-out that everybody's blame but nobody's to blame."

Although Leiko said "cautious optimism" would be a proper description of the results from the meeting and city manager Steven Walters suggested Hinshon could be "just telling it like it is," Vernon was more critical.

"I came away from the meeting feeling that we'd really accomplished nothing," he said. Hinshon's position that the out-county leaders had to cooperate with Detroit and particularly with Mayor Coleman Young, he said, "did not go over very well."

He said the only enthusiastic reaction to that proposal came from Novi City Manager Ed Kriewall. Novi's critical

Teachers, board ratify new pact

By MICHELE M. FECHT

The Northville school district received an early Christmas present Monday night when the board of education ratified a tentative three-year contract agreement with the Northville Education Association — one of the earliest settlements in the district's history.

Ratification of the new agreement culminates more than seven months of informal meetings between the administration and NEA leadership.

The new contract, which covers the period from September 1, 1985 to August 31, 1988, includes a new concept of revenue based salary increases for teaching staff.

Salary schedules for district teachers will increase percentage-wise in direct proportion to the increased State Equalized Valuation (SEV) of the school district, according to the new contract.

With this new formula, the district guarantees at least a four percent minimum and seven percent maximum in salary increases regardless of the increase in the district's SEV.

The Headlee factor also is taken into account and any differential that may occur as a result of Headlee will be shared by both parties.

School Superintendent George Bell noted the revenue based salary formula "recognizes the district's financial situation."

MERRY CHRISTMAS!

Neighbors seek assist in search for 'Wixie'

"Wixie," who was just a small, black ball of fur when he was adopted by Steven Nichols and his family of 638 North Center last June, managed to capture the hearts of his entire neighborhood in the short time he resided there before disappearing early this month.

A black cat with gold eyes, he arrived on the scene about the same time as the Wixom black panther sightings made news in Wixom — hence his official name of Wixom.

However, Wixie never would have been mistaken for a ferocious animal. Steven Nichols' mother Yulonne explains that the stray her son brought home had a severe hip dislocation. "The bone jutted right up so you could see it," she recalls as she explains that it became a neighborhood concern.

The young women in a next-door apartment contributed, and Dr. Richard Slating at the Millstream Animal Clinic on Northville Road operated on Wixie, removing the ball in the hip joint and enabling the growth of what is called a fiberness sling. This operation works well with animals weighing less than 20 pounds, Dr. Slating reports, adding that Wixie was "80 percent functional and doing great."

"Dr. Slating was wonderful," says Mrs. Nichols. "He even gave my son work to do to help with the cost."

Afterward, Wixie's right leg required special exercise so that the muscle didn't tighten up, but Mrs. Nichols and Dr. Slating are sure that this didn't cause Wixie to run away.

"He already was climbing the apple tree," Mrs. Nichols recalls, "when he disappeared about December 3."

Mrs. Nichols fears he may have been more mature than they realized and just wandered away as he was not neutered.

Since then the Nichols' have placed signs in the area supermarket and called area veterinarians in the hope of some word.

"We feel confident he's still in Northville," Mrs. Nichols says. "We just want Wixie to come home for Christmas — any information will be appreciated."

Haggerty sewer assessments may be disputed at hearing

By KEVIN WILSON

Methods of spreading the estimated $3.13 million cost of Northville Township's proposed Haggerty Road sewer among benefiting parties will likely be contested at a January 3 public hearing.

The township board set the January 3 hearing date at its regular meeting December 13, where it also heard what is likely to be the first of many protests from homeowners in the special assessment district established in July.

Technically, the hearing is to confirm that each of the 84 parcels in the district actually is within the district, owned by the listed person, does not presently receive sewer service and has been assessed in accordance with the procedure used. Past special assessment hearings, however, have usually featured involved discussions about how equitably the cost has been spread among property owners in the district.

For Haggerty Road, township consulting engineer Edward J. McNeely has proposed a relatively complex method of spreading the costs that had at least one homeowner — Marvin Gans of 40123 Six Mile — protesting that the share assessed to homeowners is out of proportion to the shares assessed large property owners.

Gans, who is a member of the township planning commission, showed board members his own calculations showing that Dun Rovin Golf Course, which is zoned R-3 for single family housing, would be assessed a per acre cost somewhat over $1,200 while the average for individual homeowners exceeds $1,900 per acre. The area from Haggerty west to Boyer and from Dun Rovin's southern boundary to Six Mile, he said, bears an average cost of $1,664 per acre — more than Dun Rovin would pay but significantly less than would the homeowners in that area.

Gans also suggested that the City of Novi, which would like access to the Haggerty interceptor in order to reduce the cost of serving new development near the Eight Mile intersection, is not being charged enough for the privilege.

"As for Novi," Gans told the board, "I understand that joining the Haggerty sewer would save them money by eliminating some pumping stations" and simplifying the routing of

"I certainly hope there would be some continued fees for providing service. As it is, $350,000 is highly inadequate for the benefits Novi would receive."

wastewater from the Eight Mile-Haggerty intersection. "I certainly hope there would be some continued fees for providing service. As it is, $350,000 is highly inadequate for the benefits Novi would receive."

According to McNeely's proposal, Northville Township's water and sewer department would pick up $450,000 of the total cost and the city of Novi would pay $350,000 for the privilege of routing some of its sewage through the Haggerty interceptor. Forty percent of the remaining $2.33 million would be covered by "unit factor access charges" and 60 percent ($1.39 million or a bit more than one-third of the total) would be paid by the special assessments.

Unit factor access charges are one-time flat fees for tying into the sewer system. Under McNeely's proposal, each parcel of property large enough to house a family under the prevailing zoning classification would be charged $932 for sewer access.

The special assessment costs would be spread by a method similar to that used by the township in the past. One portion of the assessment would be determined on the basis of how much of the property fronts on the sewer line — McNeely suggests a charge of $15 per linear foot, which puts 30.84 percent of the assessed cost under this portion. The remaining 69.16 percent would be assessed per "acreage-zoning unit (AZU)."

This latter charge amounts to a count of how many sewer tie-ins could conceivably be generated by a property under its current zoning class. An example cited is a 10 acre parcel in an area zoned R-3. The township's R-3 zoning allows 2.7 home per acre, thus such a parcel would be assessed for 27 AZUs. The cost per AZU is proposed at $404.15. With commercial properties assessed at a rate of 5 AZU per acre and multiple family residential at 6.2 per acre, the total number of AZUs in the district comes to 2,392.7, according to McNeely's calculations.

The assessment roll reflects the ownership of property within the SAD by the State of Michigan, which is not listed as a participant in the funding plans. State-owned property used for Hawthorn Center and the Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital fronts on Haggerty. Elimination of a pumping station on the state property is possible if sewage is routed to Haggerty instead of to the west, McNeely explained during earlier meetings.

Local governments cannot levy an assessment against state-owned land, but McNeely had been seeking an agreement from the state allowing it to tie into the system in exchange for paying some share of the cost. The assessment roll shows no payment from the state is anticipated.

A lawsuit filed August 10 by the owners of the Dun Rovin Golf Course seeking an injunction to prevent the township from levying the assessments plus unspecified monetary damages no longer poses a threat to the project, according to township supervisor Susan Heintz.

Heintz said the dispute has been transferred from circuit court to the Michigan Tax Tribunal, which cannot grant an injunction to stop the project.

Dun Rovin owners contend that the 137-acre golf course, zoned R-3 (the township's maximum density single family residential class), would have to go out of business and be developed as a subdivision if the assessments are levied. The assessment roll shows Dun Rovin would pay $175,589.88 within the SAD. Unit factor access charges would raise that amount by $932 per buildable parcel as sewer service was connected. SAD roll calculations show 370 single family homes could theoretically be constructed on the golf course property.

Detroit planning chief opposed suburban sewer plan

By GARY M. CATES

Did Detroit want the original Supersewer project abandoned to stop development in western Wayne County?

That is one of the key questions being asked in a lawsuit filed by the townships of Plymouth and Canton following a 1983 decision to split Supersewer into north and south projects.

The decision was made by a governor's task force and eventually led to the loss of 75 percent federal funding for the north project — raising doubts whether it ever will be built.

The township's lawsuit alleges, among other things, that Detroit officials including Mayor Coleman Young played a major role in the task force's decision. The litigation currently is before Wayne Circuit Court with hearings set to resume in late 1985. Besides Detroit, other defendants in the suit include the state, Wayne County and several downriver communities.

In a deposition taken during October and released to the Plymouth Observer last week, Detroit planning director Corrine Gilb discussed the impact of Supersewer and Son of Supersewer, or the North Huron Valley Wastewater system.

"Let me first say that my department has no positions separate from those of the mayor," Gilb said. "The mayor makes the policy for the city. We advise and we inform, but we have no independent positions."

"My impression is that the city feels, and certainly I feel this way as an 'urban expert,' that urban sprawl is not desirable; it leaves all sorts of social and fiscal and other kinds of pathologies in its wake," she said.

Gilb defined urban sprawl as development or growth activity "which has motivations or causes other than population pressure."

"It would be to the advantage of our society to stop urban sprawl."

Detroit's position on Supersewer was that any plan which included both the north and south areas "was unnecessary, was fiscally unsound and was costly to society," she said.

Would it be to Detroit's fiscal advantage to stop growth in Western Wayne County?

"It would be of fiscal advantage to the state, to the people in the state, and Detroit is 13 percent of the state; so, yes in that respect."

"It is a cost benefit balance consideration and the costs are not only the direct costs of any project, but the corollary costs, the supportive costs that go with any project, but also the costs of the social goods, the infrastructure that gets abandoned as a result of the growth, which gets no longer utilized, which constitutes waste of facilities," she said.

"I am against waste, very strongly against waste."

According to Gilb, it costs society $42 for every dollar spent on major projects designed to provide infrastructure for undeveloped areas — the ratio she uses when discussing Supersewer. She said she wasn't certain of the condition of western Wayne County's infrastructure.

"It is the policy of the city to curtail growth when that growth has the results that I just described. If the growth does not have the results, I think the city wouldn't be so concerned," Gilb said.

"Detroit has 15 square miles of vacant land," she said. Gilb said she prefers to see that area filled before an unbuild area develops.

Thus, does Detroit hold a "zero-growth" position toward western Wayne County?

"I won't say that absolutely. It would be preferable that the balanced population remain in built-up areas," she said.

"In general it is our position that we, society, the State of Michigan, should make the most of what it has already got."

Does that mean that Mayor Young is against growth in the western suburbs?

"I believe that the mayor, with all his heart and soul, serves the people of the City of Detroit. Anything that would hurt their interest, he would be against," she said.

Gilb said she considers any project resulting in a population loss for Detroit as something the mayor opposes. Gilb said she was aware of the mayor's position and used it as her starting point in dealing with Supersewer.

Under what authority does Detroit say whether other communities, recognized under state law with their own planning powers, can develop?

"It is the same sort of consideration that makes me worry about unborn children. There is such a thing as a higher good."

Does that mean people shouldn't be able to live where they want?

"That's right, not wherever they want. There should be social criteria. There should be social guidance to some degree," said Gilb, who called herself "a considerable expert on world development."

Property sale not approved

Don't reach for your checkbooks yet — the 200-plus acres of Plymouth Center for Human Development property declared surplus by the state department of mental health is not officially on the market.

The legislature failed to approve the sale prior to the end of its session December 11; so the land will not be available until sometime next year.

State senator R. Robert Geake explained that the sale of the property, valued at $4.4 million, was approved by the capital outlay committee as part of a supplemental appropriations bill.

"The sale was a clause in what we call the boilerplate language of the bill," Geake said. "But everything was stripped out of the supplemental appropriation except for the $15 million for expanded prison capacity."

Geake said he expects another supplemental appropriations bill will be approved in the legislature's next session — likely sometime in late January or in February.

There are few doubts that the land will actually be sold, however. Township planning commissioners met in a study session Tuesday night (after The Record went to press) to discuss possible zoning changes for the property.

Based on her beliefs and impressions of the Supersewer project, Gilb wrote a letter in June, 1983 to Marge Malarney, just before Supersewer was split into separate north and south projects.

Malarney "represents the city in Lansing for whatever the mayor directs her to do," Gilb said.

"The purpose was to alert her to a series of events and actions which might result in the city's interest not being adequately represented," she said.

The letter, saying Supersewer would result in lost dollars for the Detroit sewerage system, was authorized by Young, she said.

The letter suggests Detroit's interest in Supersewer be reaffirmed and offers assistance from Detroit if the political pressure interferes with review of the project.

Gilb said she relied on the Detroit Water and Sewer Department for a statement in the letter that Supersewer would result in excess treatment capacity at the Detroit treatment plant.

She said her statement was based on a general belief that "there needs to be repair, but that the costs of such repair would be less than the costs of new construction, all costs taken into account."

One of the problems with the current system is that raw human waste is discharged into rivers. Gilb was asked what her department's policy is on such pollution.

"Our thoughts about it most certainly would be that we should not do that," she said.

If the Supersewer split would increase such pollution, would that change her recommendation on splitting it?

"Yes, I would say there should be better treatment of that water before it hits the river," she said. One of the reasons the EPA rejected the north project earlier this year was a belief by EPA officials that it might increase pollution in the waterways.

Gilb was asked which was the more serious problem — urban sprawl or pollution?

"Pollution is technically correctable," she said. "Sprawl produces human and fiscal results which are irreparable."

After the Supersewer split, project planners decided to combine the North Huron construction with repair of pollution problems along the existing Rouge Valley sewer system which leads to Detroit.

Sewer plan needs Detroit

need for expanded sewer capacity is well known and Vernon said he thought Kriewall's support "was more out of desperation than good judgement."

Council member J. Burton DeRusha said he sees merit in the idea of cooperating with Detroit. Of Vernon's report that Young may not cooperate unless the suburbs drop litigation involving sewer and water rates, DeRusha said he saw a major stumbling block.

"I think it makes sense to cooperate and where and when we can," DeRusha explained. "But there shouldn't be preconditions."

Leiko said "the bottom line is we're going to go ahead and see what happens. No one is getting very excited about it — we've been through it too many times, I'd guess. We've got to go through Detroit (and its sewage treatment plant) if it's going to fly."

He said there was "a lot of skepticism" expressed at the meeting and a lot of concern about funding for the program. The EPA rejection means any project to serve this area has missed the December 31, 1984 deadline for 75 percent federal grant funding — the federal government will pick up only 55 percent of any new version, leaving serious doubts about the ability of the 17 affected communities to raise the remaining 45 percent.

Vernon noted that the 55 percent funding level more than doubles the local share of the cost, since the state was going to pick up five percent of the former project's cost.

Police Blotter

Drunk driver hits Novi patrol car, officer injured

From state police...

Drunk driving charges have been filed against a Northville man whose car ran into the back of a Novi Police Department patrol car on Novi Road at Grand River December 8. Arraignment on the charges is scheduled January 9 at the 52nd District Court in Walled Lake.

Injured in the accident were Novi police officers Dennis J. Jelley and Paul R. VanPelt. Both were wearing seatbelts at the time of the accident, the police report states. Jelley, 33, suffered a laceration on his head near the top rear of his skull. State police speculated that he may have hit his head on the patrol car's overhead gun rack. Jelley was transported to medical aid via CEMS ambulance. He was treated and released at Providence Hospital's Novi Emergency Care Center. Novi police sergeant Charles Brown said Jelley was still on occupational injury leave December 17 and the date he will return to work is as yet uncertain.

VanPelt's injury was less severe and he is back to work. Damage to the patrol car has been estimated at $1,800. The collision occurred at 2:13 a.m. December 8 shortly after the officers drove the patrol car out of a gasoline station on the southwest corner of Grand River and Novi roads, stopping in the right lane for a red traffic signal for northbound Novi Road traffic at Grand River.

The 26-year-old Northville man was driving his compact 1984 Ford northbound on Novi Road and ran into the rear end of the stationary police car, according to the state troopers' report. The Novi officers told state police they heard brakes squealing behind them moments before the collision. They also said the driver appeared to be intoxicated.

State police noted that the roadway was ice-covered and slippery. The driver said that when he last saw the traffic signal, it was yellow, and that he was traveling at 45-50 miles per hour. He said he had just gone around the right side of a large truck when he saw the police car, too late to stop.

Witnesses to the collision who were also northbound on Novi Road said the vehicle had passed them at an excessive rate of speed farther south after entering Novi Road from the Novi Bowl parking lot. The witnesses said they saw brake lights on the Northville man's car only at the last second before he hit the police car.

The driver of the Ford told police he'd been drinking at the bowling lanes and was headed for Walled Lake at the time of the accident. Neither he nor his passenger, a 26-year-old Farmington man, was seriously injured in the accident.

The driver failed police field sobriety checks and registered a .18 percent blood alcohol content on a field breathalyzer. A later breath test showed a BAC of .19. Michigan law has a .10 BAC limit for charges of Operating a motor vehicle while Under the Influence of Liquor (OUIL). Operating While Impaired (OWI), a lesser charge, begins at .07 BAC.

The man's drivers license had expired in July. State police said he was charged with OUIL and violation of the state's "per se" law, which states that driving with a breathalyzer reading of .10 is by itself a violation.

Careless driving charges have been filed against a Walled Lake man police believe was involved in two traffic accidents on I-275 December 5. In one of the incidents, a car carrying a Livonia woman and her two children was knocked off the roadway into the ditch just north of Five Mile, injuring all three occupants.

According to state police reports, the man is suspected of driving his 1984 Corvette at an excessive rate of speed on I-275 and hitting the Livonia woman's 1983 Ford Escort in the rear end. Failing to stop at the scene, the man then ran off the roadway on the ramp from northbound I-275 to Eight Mile Road, police reports said.

The Livonia woman suffered minor injuries to her back and neck, was treated and released at St. Mary Hospital Livonia. Her two-year-old son, who was riding in a child safety seat in the front passenger position, suffered a minor bruise to his forehead while a seven-year-old riding in the back seat behind the driver suffered a broken shoulder. Neither the woman nor the seven-year-old was wearing seatbelts.

The woman told police she had just turned onto I-275 from eastbound M-14 while returning home from Ann Arbor at about 11 p.m. December 5. She said she was driving in the second lane from the right when she saw headlights in her rearview mirror, closing rapidly on her car. She could not describe the car except as a dark car with headlights fairly low to the ground. She said she initially tried to move over to the right lane but hesitated when it appeared the car behind her might try to pass there. The car hit the left rear quarter of hers, she said, sending her vehicle into the ditch at the east side of the road about one-quarter mile north of Five Mile.

There were no witnesses to the accident, though some passers-by who had stopped to give aid said they had seen a dark late-model Corvette speed past them farther south on I-275.

State police reported this accident as a hit-and-run until linking it with a later report. In this incident, police were called to the I-275 exit ramp at Eight Mile by a passing motorist. When they arrived, there was a dark 1984 Corvette off the east side of the road, but there were no people present and the car was locked.

They later caught up to the driver at Providence Hospital's Novi center, where the passing motorist had taken him for treatment. According to the state police report, the man told the Providence doctor that he remembered only drinking while bowling at Plymouth and Middlebelt, then driving. He did not know where his car was and was not aware of being in any accident. A blood test, conducted because the man's bleeding mouth negated the value of a breath test, showed alcohol content of .19 percent. The passing motorist, who had left when police arrived, told emergency room personnel he had been following the Corvette on the exit ramp when it suddenly swerved and hit the embankment at the east side of the road.

The Corvette had suffered minor damage to the front end. Police reported that since there were no available witnesses to either collision who could identify the man as the one behind the wheel, no drunk driving arrest was made nor were charges other than careless driving filed. Arraignment on that charge in 35th District Court in Plymouth is scheduled in early January.

Former resident killed

A former Chubb Road resident was killed Friday evening while walking along Northville Road near Reservoir, according to township police.

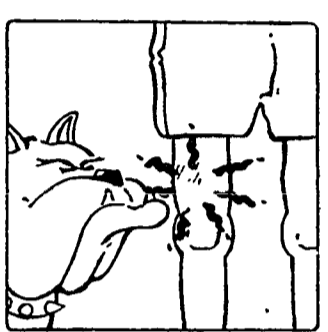

Township police officer Clyde Anderson said that Gene Darell Peach, 56, apparently was "in the roadway" when struck by a vehicle driven by a Farmington resident.

Anderson said the incident occurred at approximately 10:23 p.m. and that a passenger in the vehicle called police.

CEMS also was called to the scene to transport the victim to St. Mary, where he was pronounced dead on arrival.

Anderson said the incident still is under investigation but noted that the accident probably occurred as a result of poor visibility due to foggy weather conditions. He also noted that Peach was dressed in dark clothing.

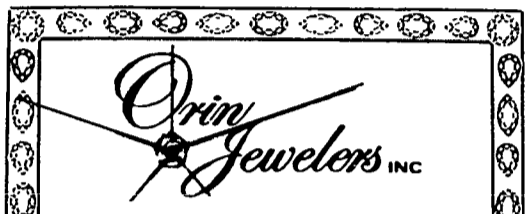

A report from the Wayne County Medical Examiner is expected by the end of the week, Anderson said.

Hospital fence money draws little comment

By KEVIN WILSON

Burned once before, Northville Township officials are being cautious about commenting on reports that Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital has money in its current fiscal year budget for construction of a fence.

"If it happens, we couldn't be more pleased," said township supervisor Susan Heintz. "They've had money appropriated for a fence before, however, and it was never used. We just have to wait and see what happens."

State senator R. Robert Geake confirmed that the money was included in this year's NRPH budget "but ground has not yet been broken for the fence — representative (Gerald) Law and I have been in weekly contact with them urging them to get going with it."

The state department of mental health has not returned several phone calls in the past two weeks requesting information about whether the fence would actually be constructed. Transfers within the hospital or department budgets could conceivably remove the fence funding from its stated purpose, or DMH could simply not construct the fence and leave the money unspent. Earlier fence funding was diverted from that purpose in the mid-70s.

Currently, funding is available for a three-sided fence, leaving the Seven Mile frontage closed in only by hedge plantings. Much of the cyclone fence would be in woods surrounding the property. DMH officials have rejected previous fence proposals on grounds that fencing the hospital would give patients the impression they had been imprisoned — an impression that may adversely affect treatment.

DMH information director Tom DeLoach told The Record last week that fencing psychiatric hospitals is "highly unusual, we've actually been in the business of tearing down fences for quite awhile now — we don't normally fence mental health facilities."

He said that, to his knowledge, the department "tore down its last fence some time in the late-1950s." He went on to say, however, that he understood money for fencing had been budgeted for Northville in the current state fiscal year.

Township government and homeowners have long sought to have the Northville hospital fenced, largely in response to a problem with patients frequently "walking away" from the hospital.

After mental health department staff reductions during the recession, and an expansion of the hospital's census population to average 1,000 patients in the facility designed to house 650, the walkaway problem became more pressing. Heintz noted that the average figure for walkaways from the hospital has been as high as three per day in the past two years.

A compromise between those who wanted the facility fenced and DMH officials who contend fencing is anti-therapeutic resulted in the planting of a hedge on the perimeter of the property more than a year ago. The plants were small, however, and advocates of a fence were disappointed in the project. Several candidates in the township board election this year called the hedge "a joke."

With or without a fence, the walkaway problem would likely be lessened if the legislature appropriates funds next year for a DMH plan to reduce the NRPH population. The multi-faceted plan includes the transfer of roughly 100 patients from the Seven Mile hospital to the Plymouth Center 'A' building on Sheldon Road — that building is the one portion of the Plymouth Center property DMH did not include in a recent decision that the land was surplus and should be sold.

former Moraine and Amerman areas. Students currently attending Silver Springs and Winchester will remain at their respective schools.

The superintendent noted the major concern of citizens most likely will be the 130 students currently attending either Amerman or Moraine who will be transported to Silver Springs. He pointed out that in the central city area south of Main Street between Beck and Northville Road there currently are 71 students who will be in elementary school next year. Thirty of those students attend Moraine and 41 attend Amerman. All will attend Silver Springs should the board approve the plan.

Bell noted that the proposed changes "represent a geographical boundary that will be equally understandable in the perspective of history."

He noted that not only will the boundaries "stand the test of time" but also will balance enrollment and provide a more efficient transportation system if it is built around the major mile roads and Main Street with straight line access to the buildings.

Bell said one of the largest attendance problems currently prevailing in the district is in the central city area. He noted that when Main Street Elementary was closed, students within walking distance of Amerman, were given the option of attending either Amerman or Moraine.

The superintendent described the situation as a "politically expedient decision" to calm the public furor over closing a "neighborhood school."

However, as a result of that decision, students currently are being bussed past one school to attend another and neighboring students in adjacent houses, in many cases, are attending different schools.

Bell noted that should the board approve the plan, the district will have to deal with the condition of Wallis Road, which extends east off Northville Road, under the viaduct to the Silver Springs area.

Wallis would provide a key route to transporting students from the central city area south of Main Street to Silver Springs.

The problem, however, is that only two-thirds of Wallis is paved. Bell said he is discussing the road condition with both city and township officials.

Bell noted that maps and demographic information will be available at the January 9 public hearing. The board of education is expected to decide the issue at its January 14 meeting.

Church services announced candlelighting will be at 11 p.m.

This Sunday junior and senior high Sunday School youth will participate in the worship service of "Lessons and Carols" at 9:30 and 11 a.m. The Reverend Eric Hammar explains this service was first conceived by Archbishop Benson for use in the Truro Cathedral at the turn of the century. In 1918 the service was simplified and adapted for use in King's College Chapel, Cambridge, by Dean Eric Milner-White.

He explains the beauty of this service is its musical dialogue through carols and anthems based upon the Advent and Christmas scripture readings.

BUSHNELL CONGREGATIONAL
This Sunday at 9:30 a.m. the Chancel

Choir of Bushnell Congregational Church, 21355 Meadowbrook, with soloists Cheryl Barnes and Rosemarie Murch and harpist Mary McNair will join in offering various selections from the "Ceremony of Carols" by 20th century composer Benjamin Britten. The harp along with the organ will accompany carols by the congregation.

The traditional family Christmas Eve service and Nativity pageant will be given at 5 p.m. The music will feature the children of the church school, the solo, "O Holy Night" by Adams sung by baritone Timothy Lentz and the chancel choir singing "Once in Royal David's City." The latter work is featured annually in the traditional service of "Lessons and Carols" in the chapel at King's College, Cambridge University, England.

Assistance sought for needy during holiday season

The year-end holidays tend to bring out people's willingness to part with some of their hard-earned pay for worthy causes. But if there's one time of year that's short on time to follow up on the goodwill, it's late December.

To help make it easy for warm hearts to help those with small budgets — the Northville Record is providing this list of organizations which would like your assistance, particularly at this time of year. Included are phone numbers and addresses for donations and more information.

Donations of goods, money and time are eagerly sought by local agencies, and representatives stress that even modest gifts of any of these are most welcome.

AFRICAN FAMINE RELIEF: The Southeastern Michigan Red Cross chapter is accepting donations to help feed more than 40,000 starving Africans per month. Only $4 per month, or $48 per year keeps one human being sufficiently nourished. Individuals interested in contributing may make tax-deductible donations by checks payable to the American Red Cross earmarked "African Relief," and mailing them to Executive Office, Southeastern Michigan Chapter, American Red Cross, P.O. Box 351, Detroit 48232.

AMERICAN HEART ASSOCIATION: The A.H.A. funds research of cardiovascular disease, and offers a Time To Remember program, under which donations may be made in memory or honor of any individual. To obtain a Time To Remember Envelope (no minimum donation required) or for more information on making donations, phone the association at 557-9500 or write to: American Heart Association of Michigan, 16310 West 12 Mile Road, P.O. Box 160 Lathrup Village, Michigan 48076. Checks may be made payable to the American Heart Association. Be sure to earmark "donation" on checks.

AMERICAN LUNG ASSOCIATION: Through the Christmas Seals program, many residents already may have heard from the association. The A.L.A. supports more than 40 services which directly benefit Wayne-Oakland-Macomb county residents. Ninety percent of each donation is returned to local projects ranging from funding breathing equipment rooms to programs for asthmatic children. Ten percent is used for national research and program planning. Tax-deductible contributions may be made by checks made out to: American Lung Association. For information on how to make donations of money or time, phone the A.L.A. at 961-1697 or write: American Lung Association, 28 West Adams, Detroit 48226.

AMERICAN RED CROSS: The Red Cross is asking area residents to give the gift of blood between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. on one of the Save-A-Life Sundays, December 23 and December 30. During the holidays, blood donations actually slow down, putting a great deal of strain on blood supplies. Most healthy people age 17-66 weighing at least 110 pounds may donate. To arrange an appointment to give blood at any nearby donor station, phone 494-2800. Blood team volunteers are also needed. For details on volunteering, phone 1-800-552-5467. Write to: American Red Cross, Southeastern Michigan Chapter, 100 Mack Avenue, Box 351, Detroit 48232.

CIVIC CONCERN: A relatively new organization, only two years old, Civic Concern has been a source of food, financial assistance and clothing to nearly 75 local households. The organization works with Jaycees, Rotarians, Kiwanis, FISH, Goodfellows (which has food collection boxes at Northville City Hall) and other groups to coordinate contributors of such gifts with needy residents in Northville and Novi. Tax-free monetary contributions may be made by check to "Civic Concern Committee," and mailed to Ann Roy, Civic Concern Treasurer, 150 North Center, Northville 48167. Volunteers who represent civic organizations are welcome to join. For information on Civic Concern, phone

C.A. Smith, 349-0854.

FOCUS:HOPE: In cooperation with WDIV-TV, Focus:Hope is sponsoring "Share With A Senior," a program that provided holiday food for nearly 12,500 needy area seniors over the past two years. Contributors can buy and deliver a box of food, buy and deliver food to Focus:HOPE and have it delivered in the donor's name, mail a cash donation and food or gift certificate will be provided in the donor's name, or donate time. Volunteers are needed to answer phones, match donors with seniors, file records and deliver food. To Share With A Senior or volunteer time, phone 883-3131. Seniors in need may call 883-7440.

FLOOR SQUARE DONATIONS: Individuals, families and businesses can make a lasting contribution to the Northville Community by donating a "floor square" to the Northville Community Center. A square around the perimeter of the center's basketball court will be indelibly imprinted with the name of the donor or honoree for each $50 donation. To take part in the fund raising effort, obtain a recreation winter brochure and fill out the form marked "Floor Square Donation." For more information, phone 349-0203.

KING'S DAUGHTERS AND SONS: A cooperator with Civic Concern, King's Daughters coordinate a year-round series of services to area needy, elderly and children. In the Northville area, the organization helps coordinate food baskets and meal planning on a local basis each holiday season. Monetary donations are especially welcomed in order to permit flexibility in arranging food donations. Anyone interested in volunteering for the group is also welcome. For information, phone Marge Bolton at 349-3518 or Ann Chizmar at 349-0825. Donations by check may be made out to "King's Daughters and Sons," and mailed to 16355 Bradner, Northville 48167.

NORTHVILLE-NOVI FISH: Practically any useful items are suitable contributions for Novi-Northville FISH, an agency which coordinates donated goods such as food, clothing and other necessities with needy recipients in the Novi-Northville area. Donated items may be picked up at the donor's home. Tax-deductible monetary contributions are welcome, as are volunteers to help deliver goods and provide transportation to those who need it. A 24-hour phone line (349-4350) is available for more information.

SALVATION ARMY: The long-lived organization is continuing its active role in distributing Christmas baskets and clothing to families throughout the metropolitan Detroit area. Tax-deductible ($5 and over) donations by check can be made out to The Salvation Army and mailed to The Salvation Army, 601 Bagley, Detroit 48226. Cash, checks or donations of food and used or unused clothing are welcomed at nearby Salvation Army outposts in Farmington (27500 Shiawassee, phone 477-1153) and Plymouth (9451 South Main, phone 453-5464). For information about the Salvation Army, phone 961-2292.

TOYS FOR TOTS: Unneeded toys in good condition will be collected in several places where they may be distributed to needy children. Under auspices of the U.S. Marine Corps, Detroit-area children will receive toys left at Cutler Realty, 103 Rayson. The Northville Jaycees will accept old and new toy donations in the large, white gift-wrapped box in the town square park across from the clock on Main Street. At Northville Plaza Mall on Seven Mile, the mall merchants' association is accepting toys in boxes that will be donated to Civic Concern for distribution to local needy families.

UNITED FOUNDATION: The U.F. (also United Way) supports the following Torch Drive-supported agencies on a local basis: The Mental Health Association of Michigan, Child and Family Services of Michigan, Oakland Family Services, Jewish Family Service, Lutheran Social Services of Michigan and Catholic Social Services in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb Counties. Tax-deductible contributions may be made payable to United Foundation.

For information, phone 965-7100, ask for "campaign development." Write to: United Foundation, 1528 Woodward, Detroit 48226.

Warming others

Allen Terrace resident Vance Masters adds her knitted donation to the tree in the lobby of the senior citizen residence. While called a "mitten tree," the Christmas tree also is hung with caps, scarves and other cold weather warmers. The residents plan to donate the gifts to the Plymouth Salvation Army for area needy. Teachers, district ratify tentative contract

"This particular contract is more palatable to Northville and our ability to pay — not another community's ability to pay," he said.

Under the current contract, ratified in January, 1982, teacher salary increases have been maintained during the last two years in accordance with the 17 districts which Northville Public Schools commonly compares. Last year teachers received a 5.59 percent salary increase and this year a 4.3 percent increase.

"In the past we've negotiated away money we didn't have," Bell said, noting the district is on a "fixed income."

In comparing the new agreement with the current contract, which expires August 31, 1985, NEA President Barbara LeBoeuf pointed out that "in both respects we were dealing with the unknown."

She noted with the current contract, teachers' salary increases were contingent upon increases in other districts. In the same respect, salary increases in accordance with the new contract will be based on the district's ability to pay.

Board trustee Karen Wilkinson echoed LeBoeuf's remarks and noted the new agreement "seems fair to both sides."

"There's a little bit of risk on either side," she said. "If our SEV only goes up two percent, we still have to pay the four percent." However, she further stated that should the district's SEV take an unexpected upward turn, a seven percent cap has been placed on salary increases.

While the new salary concept is a "custom made program for Northville" according to Superintendent Bell, it was mentioned at Monday's meeting that other districts such as Livonia have ratified contracts with similar agreements.

Under the new revenue based agreement, the salary schedule for next year based on the minimum four percent increase would put K-12 teacher salaries at $17,688 to $30,675 for those with a bachelor's degree. Salaries for K-12 teachers with master's degrees will range from $19,480 to $36,450 — based on the minimum four percent increase.

By the last year of the contract, the four percent minimum increase will put K-12 teacher salaries at $19,132 to $33,276 for those with a bachelor's degree and $21,069 to $39,424 for teachers holding master's degrees. The increases are based on a 187 day teacher salary schedule.

Minimum increases for ISEP teachers for 1985-86 — based on a 232-day teacher salary schedule — range from $20,716 to $35,944 for those with bachelor's degrees and $22,830 to $42,713 for those with master's degrees.

LeBoeuf, who negotiated the new contract along with John Reynolds, said the teachers' association membership "reacted very favorably" to the new agreement prior to its ratification last Thursday afternoon.

"It was a risk," she pointed out, "but teachers were looking at other things such as longevity and unused sick days."

Three-year contract ratified

"I think they also like the certainty," she added, noting that there has been considerable uncertainty in the district during the past year.

In addition to the revenue based salary increases, other compensation changes include the introduction of a new concept in the retirement pay language and a change in longevity pay.

In accordance with the new retirement pay language, a retiring teacher with at least 10 years in the district would be paid $10 per day of unused sick days or the fixed dollar amount outlined in the current contract — whichever is greater. Teachers can accrue a maximum of 155 unused sick days.

Assistant Superintendent Burton Knighton, who represented the administration during negotiations along with Director of Personnel Debra Wangrud, said retirement pay currently is made in flat amount payouts after 10, 15 and 20 years of service. He noted that while the NEA and administration plan to phase out the current retirement compensation plan in light of the new proposal, longtime teachers will be eligible for the old fixed amount if it is greater than the new rate.

Another compensation for teachers is a revision in annual longevity payment for those who have served with Northville Public Schools 16 years or longer.

In the current contract, a longevity stipend of $150 is given to those teachers commencing their 16th year of service with the district.

In accordance with the new plan, teachers beginning their 16th year with the district in 1985 will receive a $500 stipend and those beginning their 21st year next September will receive $1,000.

During the 1986-87 and 1987-88 school year, teachers beginning their 16th year and those beginning their 21st will receive $500 and $1,000 respectively while those beginning their 26th year will receive $1,500.

Bell noted that the revision in the longevity pay plan "recognizes the career teacher in Northville who has passed the incremental steps on the salary schedule."

Knighton told board members that the two parties "cleaned up contract language that was a little nebulous" and noted that the only language change in the contract pertains to snow days.

In accordance with a new State law eliminating snow days as "Acts of God" and requiring they be made up during the school year, two extra days were built into the K-12 calendar for each of the three years of the contract.

LeBoeuf explained that the State requires school districts to offer at least 180 days of instruction. Northville currently offers 181.

She noted that should it be necessary to close school for more than one day due to extreme weather conditions, the district will have to make up those extra days at some point during the school year.

Madonna course offering focuses on hospice care

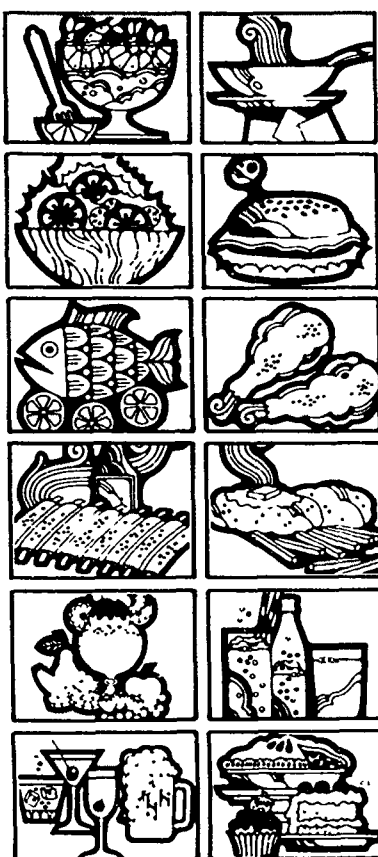

Spiritual and ethical considerations of hospice care will be the subject of a course offered at Madonna College during the winter term.

The course is open to nurses, volunteers, religious or lay counselors who care for the terminally ill.

The course is one of four courses offered in the hospice curriculum directed by Sister Mary Cecilia Eagen.

The academic program in hospice care is one of the first of its kind in the country and was developed with the assistance of the Archdiocese of Detroit.

Persons interested in enrolling in this or other hospice care courses beginning in January should contact Sister Eagen at 591-5190.

Our Opinions

Fence the hospital, improve relations

"Joke of the century." That's how one Northville Township trustee described the hedge surrounding Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital property. Intended as a compromise between department of mental health leaders who find fencing the hospital a distasteful notion and local officials and residents who wanted a solution to the walkway problem, the hedge was supposed to provide a "living fence" that addressed the needs of both.

Except for the stretch along Seven Mile Road, where larger plants were used, the hedge shows little promise of ever accomplishing its intended goal of reducing the number of walkways. That's why fencing the other three sides of the property is imperative.

DMH's good intentions to reduce hospital population over the next few years should help also, but the present situation cannot be allowed to continue — in one recent month, more than 90 patients were reported as walkaways from the facility. That's an average of more than three per day and returning those patients to the hospital takes up much valuable time of the state and township police departments.

We all know from experience that having the money available for a fence and having a fence constructed are two different matters. So the reasons for fencing the hospital bear repeating.

No one expects the currently proposed six-foot cyclone fence on three sides of the property to keep patients who really wish to leave the hospital from doing so. What it can do is restrain those with vague intentions from wandering too far away and keep them on the hospital property, where the facility's own security force can round them up and return them without the assistance of area police departments.

The strongest argument against fencing the facility — that the sight of a fence might be anti-therapeutic and runs contrary to the DMH philosophy of returning patients to the community — is understandable but does not carry much weight when applied to the specific proposal. We are not talking about fences like those at the Phoenix Correctional Facility but of one more like that surrounding Maybury State Park. Most of the fence would be hidden among the trees surrounding the property, or so far from the hospital buildings that the sight of it could hardly be objectionable.

Assuming that DMH comes through this time and uses the money appropriated for a fence for that purpose, the community is going to have to accept that this is the solution. There may still be walkaways from the hospital despite the fence, but the goal is a reduction of what is in practical terms an impossible problem to solve completely. Northville and the state are at each others' throats far too often. If this one issue can be settled to both sides' satisfaction, it will be time to get on with the business of being good neighbors.

Off the record

By B.J. Martin

A wise guy salutes wise men

I expect readers will find their holiday tidings of comfort and joy from more eloquent sources than here. I'm no theologian — I couldn't name the Three Wise Men if entry through the gates of heaven depended on it.

But I do want to send our readers best wishes for the holidays through this week's "Off The Record." The best way I can think of to do just that is to relate some thoughts by some Wise Men I do know a very little bit about. They've brought me some comfort and joy:

"If one advances confidently in the direction of his dreams, and endeavors to live the life which he has imagined, he will meet with a success unexpected in common hours . . . If you have built castles in the air, your work need not be lost; that is where they should be. Now put the foundations under them."

— Thoreau

"No ceremony that to great ones belongs, not the king's crown, nor the deputed sword, the marshal's truncheon, nor the judge's robe, become them with one half so good a grace as mercy does."

— Shakespeare

"The stationariness of religion; the assumption that the age of inspiration is past, that the Bible is closed; the fear of degrading the character of Jesus by representing him as a man — indicate with sufficient clearness the shortcomings of our theology. It is the office of a true teacher to show us that God is, not was; that He speaketh, not spake. The true Christianity (is) a faith like Christ's in the infinitude of man."

— Emerson

"A faith that is able to transcend the catastrophies of history must be able to define both the possibilities of human creativity and history and the limits of human possibilities . . . (Christian faith) recovers its own profoundest insights precisely in those periods of social chaos when all simpler interpretations of life break down and force men to seek a profounder interpretation of existence."

— Reinhold Niebuhr

Up and over

After the fact

By PHILIP JEROME

Some time around 12 o'clock last night I typed a press release from the American Animal Hospital Association (AAHA) about potential hazards for pets during the holidays.

As the co-owner of three cats, I have to admit the AAHA did a pretty decent job.

There was all kinds of information about things to look out for during the holidays. The kind of article that will get more readership than weighty tomes about the latest city council meeting. The kind of article my wife will read and clip out for future reference.

It contained the usual information about how holly, mistletoe and poinsettias are extremely poisonous when eaten. About making sure your Christmas tree is well-secured to avoid having it toppled over by a tree-climbing cat or dog.

However, there is one holiday hazard which the article failed to address.

We have a little creche in our house. Hand-carved wooden figures set up on the coffee table and surrounded with evergreen boughs.

The problem is that Clyde, half the famous cat team of Bonnie and Clyde, has formed a strange attachment to the Baby Jesus.

I'd like to be able to tell you something "heart-warming" about Clyde's fondness for the Christ Child . . . like he takes the little wooden figure into his room and nestles it in his blanket.

But the sad truth of the matter borders on sacrilege. Clyde likes to play with the Baby Jesus . . . and he plays rough with the Baby Jesus, batting it across the floor, pouncing on it and then batting it again.

To make matters worse, Clyde apparently realizes that playing with the figure of the Christ Child is not permitted by the people who feed him and restricts his activities to the wee, small hours of the morning when everyone's asleep.

I now get two wake-up calls in the morning — first, the alarm clock and, second, my wife reporting that the Baby Jesus is missing again.

What I'm hoping is that next year the AAHA will include some suggestions on what to tell the minister when he observes that the Baby Jesus in the creche seems to be covered with teeth marks.

Sewer installation not up to resident's expectations

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following letter is a copy of one the writer (whose address is 40145 Fairway III Drive) sent on December 10 to the township board of trustees, with copies sent the water and sewer commission, planning commission, consulting engineer Jack McNeely, former supervisor John MacDonald, Meijer Inc. and The Record.

To the Editor:

The purpose of this letter is to bring to your attention a potential serious problem that exists with the connection of a pressure feed line (pump lift station) from the new Meijer store being constructed at Haggerty and Eight Mile Road. The problem, simply stated, is that raw sewage could be forced directly into the first floor level of my home if the down stream sewer line should become plugged for any reason. The elevation of the sewer line and connection of the pressure feed line is only about three feet below the first floor level of my home.

Perhaps some background on the problem will be helpful. The problem was first discussed last January and February at the planning commission meetings when the Meijer project was under discussion. The commission recognized the problem and requested that both the water and sewer commission and Meijer Inc. come up with an acceptable solution. On February 13, I wrote a letter to the water and sewer commission (attached) describing the problem and attended their next meeting.

I was assured (by John MacDonald, then-township supervisor, and Tom Handyside, water and sewer commission chairman) that the problem could be corrected through the use of a "line check" and that it could be connected to my sewer line at the point where it enters the sewer system.

Meijer Inc., through Mr. John S. Stephenson, vice president of real estate, agreed to pay for the cost of the device and its installation as part of the lift station costs. (This was reconfirmed November 9, 1984). This information was transmitted back to the planning commission, accepted and the Meijer project approved.

On November 2, with no notification or prior review as suggested in my letter of February 13, 1984, the private road in front of my house was dug up and the pressure feed line connected to the sewer. Discussion with the construction personnel revealed that no line check was installed nor was one planned. The water and sewer department was informed of the oversight November 5, 1984 and indicated that Mr. McNeely, township engineer, would call back and resolve the issue. (Mr. McNeely was present at all of the January and February planning and water and sewer commission meetings and was familiar with the problem and the agreed solution.) Mr. McNeely did not call back, nor did anyone else from the water and sewer department.

Also on November 2, Mr. Tom Handyside, water and sewer commission chairman, was informed of the problem and reminded of the agreed upon solution. He indicated that he would take the matter up with the water and sewer department and have them call me with a resolution of the issue. No calls were received.

After several weeks it became clear that no action was intended. I called Mr. McNeely to find out why no action had been taken. He informed me that the township had no intention of putting a line check in place. Further, if I wanted it, I would have to put it in myself and maintain it. This was not what was agreed to months earlier. The line check was considered a prudent precaution and was the responsibility of the township.

In summary, I have raised what has the potential to be a serious problem with the Meijer lift station connection with the Fairway III Drive sewer. My problem is perhaps more serious than others in the township because of the small difference in elevation between the first floor toilets and the sewer connection.

I have taken the time and trouble to become involved in the various township review steps for the project with both the planning commission and the water and sewer commission. Assurances that the problem would be resolved were given to both myself and the planning commission, to no avail. The township and the key people involved have been given ample opportunity to correct the problem at no cost to the township other than normal maintenance to the lift station. I'm left with no alternatives other than legal action against the township and the key people involved should an accident occur.

Respectfully,
Wallace O. Bailey

Praise for Lotto story

To the Editor:

On behalf of all the Michigan Lottery players in your area, I extend special thanks for the excellent coverage given our various games by you and members of your staff. You have responded to a growing interest in Lottery news which continues to be reflected by increased sales figures throughout the state and record prize money being awarded.

Due largely to the successful launch of our Michigan Lotto game, we are nearing the award of Lottery prizes at a rate equivalent to $1 million a day. Anticipated sales this year should erase all the newly-established records achieved in fiscal year 1984 which ended September 30.

These included total sales of more than $585 million, nearly $290 million paid to winners and some $36 million earned by Michigan businesses serving as Lottery agents.

Of key interest is the record of more than $234 million in net revenues earmarked for the State School Aid Fund to help support K-12 education throughout Michigan. This equated to $137.05 per pupil and is especially important now that the budgets have been increased to provide children with greatly improved elementary and secondary education quality. Without Lottery funds, providing this same support for our schools would have cost the average Michigan household an added $73.23 in tax dollars.

We will continue to make every effort to alert you to all Lottery news as early as possible. Should you have special needs or require additional information please contact our Lansing office, and we will offer our full cooperation.

Sincerely,
Michael J. Carr

AAUW offers thanks

To the Editor:

One of the compliments frequently heard about Northville is that there is a remarkable community spirit. Part of that spirit is demonstrated in the generosity of Northville business owners toward local organizations.

In November, the Northville Branch of the American Association of University Women held a craft auction which raised over $1,400 for scholarships which will be awarded to Northville High School students.

A large part of the success of the auction was due to the donation of gifts and services by many Northville businesses. We are very appreciative of the support given by the following businesses:

Anne's Fabrics, Bookstall on the Main, Crawford's, Fashion Cellar, Fox Portrait Studio, Gerald's Northville Salon, Genitti's Hole in the Wall, Green's Home Center, Holloway's Old Fashion Bakery, Juan Carlos, Judy's Country Curtains, The Little People Shoppe, Long's Fancy Bath Boutique, MacKinnon's of Northville, Marquis Boutique.

Others are Northville Camera and Hobby Shop, Northville Pharmacy, One-Ten West Salon, Orin Jewelers, Parmenter's Northville Cider Mill, Paul's Farm Fresh Produce, Riffles, Sandie's Hallmark Shoppe, Town and Country Cyclery, Town and Country Music and Village Sweets and Treats.

We hope that members of the community will be equally supportive of these businesses.

Sincerely,
Lee Rebaun

Bill prevents state taxation

State representative Willis Bullard, whose 60th District includes the Oakland County portion of Northville, recently praised state house approval of senate bill 583, which has been sent to the governor's desk for signing.

The bill prevents Michigan from collecting income tax on Social Security benefits.

"I don't think the state should tax

Social Security benefits in any way," Bullard said. "Passage of this legislation ensures that benefits will be excluded from state income tax."

While there was opposition from those who supported taxing the benefits of "higher income" taxpayers, Bullard argues that today's "higher income" taxpayer could be tomorrow's "ordinary" taxpayer.

Local women incorporate to sell their 'Inspirations'

By SHARON ROSE

Paris may be the acknowledged center of the fashion industry. But if designers Marcia Thorpe and Janet Pray have their way, Novi may soon find a spot on the fashion map.

Most days they can be found in their fabric-filled second floor studio on Grand River near Novi Road, heads bent over sewing machines, hard at work on their creations. The women recently incorporated under the name "Inspirations," with an eye-catching logo of a crescent female moon (no man in the moon for them!) and star.

"The rising moon has always been a symbol that gave me a feeling of peace and tranquility," explained Thorpe. "It signifies a shedding of the past and a looking toward the future."

Thorpe has been a Novi resident since 1959, and graduated from Novi High School in 1972. Willowbrook subdivision residents may recall her as the young entrepreneur who sold handmade Barbie doll clothes when she was only 12 years old. She won the Crisco Award for excellence in home economics while attending Novi High School.

"Pat Sumpter was my Home Ec teacher in grades 7-12," smiled Thorpe. "She was great. She taught me really good basics. If it wasn't right, she made me do it over until it was. She encouraged my designs and never stifled me. Pat is teaching at Novi Middle School South now."

How and when does a designer get started? "I was knitting from the time I was three," Thorpe said, "learned marketing lessons at 12 when I harassed people by selling doll clothes door-to-door, at 14 did alterations for the cheerleaders and at 16 was sewing clothes for my teacher, Pat."

Thorpe met Pray while both were working at a local store and subsequently on an auto assembly line. They quickly found they shared a love of sewing and unusual styles.

"Fashion has always been a part of my life," said Pray. "The kids in high school always wanted to know where I bought my clothes. They couldn't believe I made them myself. They'd actually look for the tags at the neck to see where I got them."

She laughed, "Then they wanted me to make it for them. Marcia and I made clothes for anyone who'd stand still long enough to be fitted."

Thorpe started selling feathered jewelry and soft-sculpture items at craft fairs several years ago, and gradually convinced juries to allow her to add clothes. After attending the Renaissance Festival in Clarkston, she began renting space and selling her wares there, as well as at similar festivals in Texas and Florida.

Both agree that their partnership has worked well. According to Pray, "We bounce energy off each other. Marcia does most of the designing and the road work. I stay behind and do production."

Thorpe insists there is collaboration on many designs.

"Janet has great ideas and I do the mechanics. Sometimes I get the basic ideas and she does a tuck or adds something that makes it really different."

Thorpe admits that she doesn't pay particular attention to big name designers. She credits her mother, Shirley Thorpe, with having an influence on her work.

"My mom has a very wonderful sense of style. She's also been very supportive. She's the best salesperson we've got, and pitches in when needed by doing such things as cutting and pressing."

Pray agreed: "Right at this moment, she's babysitting for one of my children. She's a real switch hitter."

Thorpe describes her designs as unconstructed, versatile adaptations, in many cases, of ethnic designs — African, Slavic and Oriental.

"They're for people who like and aren't afraid to wear something different. They are not preppy," she emphasized.

Some of her current specialties include the lapaz, a strapless cocktail/sundress made from one long band of fabric and sized according to height; a wool cape which can be draped over a shoulder or worn belted; and the flutterby, a flowing, cocoon-style jacket offered in a variety of fabrics from sweatshirt fleece to soft silks.

"Mom named the flutterby," explained Thorpe. "It reminded her of a butterfly, so she said why not call it a 'flutterby.'"

The women insist that every woman, no matter what figure flaws nature gave her, should look and feel attractive in clothes that reflect her creativity and individuality.

"I've never been the kind of person who would wear something just because it was the style," said Thorpe. "I don't like tight clothes. I want to be comfortable."

Why visit Inspirations rather than a major department store?

"Our clothes are much more original in thought, and of limited production in that you're not going to see someone else in the same outfit or color. We produce styles in dozens rather than thousands, and purchase fabrics in relatively limited amounts," Thorpe stated.

"There are times when something is one of a kind," she added, holding up a hand-painted flutterby as an example. "It's really something to cherish. Everybody wants to feel special."

Thorpe was critiqued by Tavy Stone of The Detroit News and a panel of fashion experts about a year ago. Shortly afterwards, she was asked to join the panel as an expert and participate in evaluating and advising other young designers. She enjoys the activity and says it is one in which she continues to grow and learn as she helps others.

Appointments can be made with Thorpe and Pray at their studio by calling 471-0684. Their fashions can be purchased locally at Designs on You in Farmington and Victoria's Place in Northville.

New trim

Mariann Leszczyk, left, and Carol Stempien, new owners of Continental Hair Designs, give Santa a free beard trim at their shop in Northville Plaza Mall. Formerly Georges Coiffures, the shop was purchased the beginning of November from George Saikaly, who had operated it for eight years. He will continue on the staff. Both new owners have been Virginia Farrell beauty school instructors, both have been shop owners in the past and have 22 years' experience each. Stempien will be in the Northville township shop full-time. Leszczyk will continue as instructor-manager at Virginia Farrell in Redford and will be in the shop Thursday evenings and Fridays. Present staffers Dawn Malone, Marty Springborn, Helen Rons and Holly Carroll all are continuing. The shop will be open by appointment this Sunday and next for appointment customers.

Full service pays off for this owner

By KEVIN WILSON

Once upon a time, the common service station wouldn't rate notice. Self-serve gasoline didn't exist, and specialty service shops dealing exclusively in one type of car repair — brakes, mufflers or radiators for instance — were rare.

Cars were simpler then, and gasoline so cheap no one worried that the cost of the extra service might be included in the pump price.

Jim Davis, owner and manager of Eight & Taft Auto Service, still does it the old way, with a few new twists. Davis is marking his fifth year managing the Gas-N-Go station in Northville by hosting an open house and drawing at the Eight Mile and Taft station December 26.

The fifth anniversary celebration also includes a drawing, with first prize being a set of four tires, mounted and balanced. The winner can choose either the Goodyear Arriva or B.F. Goodrich XLM tire. Second prize is four Monromatic shock absorbers, including installation. Third is a "winter supply," actually 10 gallons, of windshield washer solvent.

Entry blanks will be available at the station December 26 and in this newspaper.

"Our customers really appreciate the service," Davis says. "We'd like them to know we appreciate their support."

he adds, explaining how his business has managed to thrive during a time when many others have gotten out of the repair business and turned to self-serve gasoline.

Davis's station, which was owned and operated by Boron when he assumed management in December, 1979 (he bought the facility two years later), once proposed going to self service as did a Clark station on Northville Road. Both decided to stay with self service in part because the ordinance requirement reduced the labor savings self service represents to the operator.

In the five years Davis has run the station, he says, gasoline sales are up and the service end of the operation has gained.

"There are advantages to full service that people are willing to pay for," Davis says. "We're fairly competitive on gasoline — a couple of cents above self-serve stations in the area, at the most. And we do things that save money in the long run. People at self serve pumps sometimes forget to check the oil or other fluids, or maybe their tire pressure is down. Those can be expensive things to neglect."

HOW TO MAKE YOUR KID
HAPPY THIS CHRISTMAS!

The Yamaha Tri-Zinger was designed with kids in mind. It's small, easy to handle and it's got an automatic transmission so junior can worry about where he's going instead of what gear he's in. But best of all, the Tri-Zinger has adjustable power. So as the rider grows up, you can simply give him more power.

the fairy godmother's secret is out!

Don't let that "magic wand" fool you! She's tried to make us believe that with a wave of that wand, she can turn pumpkins into carriages, mice into white horses and rags into white gowns. But we know she's just like the rest of us! When we want to turn a baby crib into cash... an older car into a new one... or change from sales clerk to doctor's receptionist... the only magic wand we hold in our hand is a telephone receiver and the only thing we wave is our index finger as we dial the Classified Department of our newspaper! It's like magic the way good things come true for us with the help of Want Ads. And besides, we have a strong feeling that's the way the fairy godmother makes all her magic, too!

Her tree sparkles with handmade ornaments

Norma Vernon displays a favorite Chrismon star she designed

Last January Norma Vernon began making ceramic Christmas tree ornaments to add to a 15-year collection that decorates the Vernons' tree and to give to special friends.

In a time-consuming process that requires three firings and careful decorating she has made about 50 golden bells and other designs this year.

"Bells are my favorite as they seem so much a part of Christmas to me," she says.

Not a fan of television, Mrs. Vernon explains that since her husband, Paul, the city's major, has so many evening meetings, "I'm often alone at night so I just go out in the laundry room and work on them."

"I've kept one, or maybe a couple, of all the designs that I've made," she says, pointing out favorites on the all-white tree that is the background for the multitude of handmade ornaments.

On the branches are a cornucopia and a few other ornaments not associated with the true meaning of Christmas, but their maker says she much prefers those that do have the religious association.

Displaying a golden star, she remembers rolling out the clay and making Chrismon stars in her own designs.

Usually, she says, she buys the unfired clay designs, called greenware.

"After Christmas last year I went to every ceramic shop I knew about and bought bells I liked," she explains of her year-long project.

She also points out that the ornaments she made years ago are not the delicate, porcelain quality of the ones she now makes.

"I have to give them tender care until they are all fired," she says, noting that they are easily broken. The process begins with cleaning the ornament, then firing it.

"It's now called bisque after the firing," she explains. The ornaments then are fired a second time. If the design calls for color, that is applied. This is a precise, tedious process, says Mrs. Vernon. One design, in typical oval ornament shape, bears a village scene. Mrs. Vernon has made another, a special design for 1984, for her daughter, Carmen Kuckenbecker, and her family. She adds that she enjoys the detail work.

Final process after glazing is the gold application. "I use the best English gold as long as I'm spending so much time on them," she notes.

Because she does not have a kiln, Norma Vernon mentions that her year-long hobby would not exist without the help of her friend, Chieko Prince. She takes them to her home on Curtis for the firings.

The ceramic tree ornaments were not Mrs. Vernon's first Christmas tree decorating project.

Twenty five years ago, she recalls, she began decorating Styrofoam balls as tree ornaments. She did so until beginning the ceramic decorations 15 years ago. The results of her earlier project also are part of the holiday decorations at the Vernon home on Allen Drive. The elegant ornaments are arranged on table tops in the living, dining and family rooms.

"I used old jewelry and scraps of fabric and ribbons," she says, pointing to velvet and brocade bits on the completely covered Styrofoam ornaments.

With her special hobby, Mrs. Vernon agrees that she "keeps Christmas all year."

A Christmas Eve tradition

Rotarians selling outdoor luminaria kits

Northville Rotary Club is continuing a long-time local tradition by selling Christmas kits of luminaries that are used to decorate and illuminate driveways and walks with glowing candlelight during the holiday season.

During the past several years many residents have instituted the tradition of using the luminaries on Christmas Eve to light their entire block or neighborhood.

They also are popular with people giving Christmas parties as they provide guests with a welcoming light.

The kits are $6 and contain candles, bags and sand sufficient to make 12 luminaries. Rotarians will be selling them downtown this Saturday as well as on the morning of Christmas Eve.

They also are available at Allen Monument, 508 South Main, during business hours.

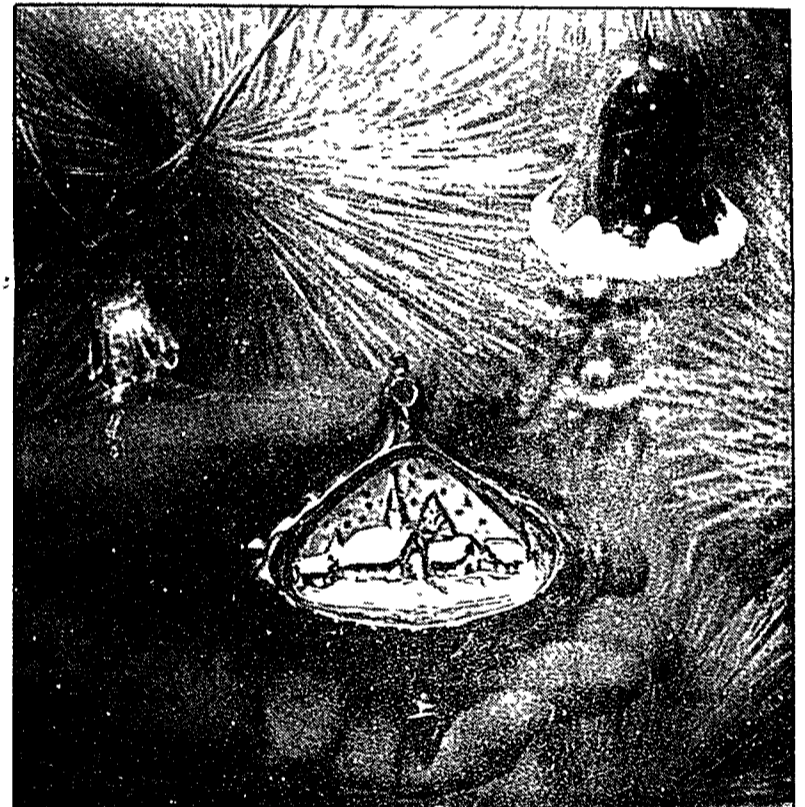

Traditionally, the luminaries, or luminaria, were an idea brought to Northville by Nat and Mary Whiteside. It had been popular in their former community in Illinois.

Luminaries, however, originate in the Southwest where they were used "to light the way for the Christ child on Christmas Eve."

The light given by the candles in the paper bags is a soft, glowing one. The luminaries should be spaced between six to eight feet apart for greatest effectiveness.

The Rotary kits contain simple step-by-step instructions for assembling the luminarias as well as a diagram. The bags are filled with sufficient sand to hold the candle in place and anchor the bags. A cuff is turned down on the bag top.

There also is a warning that they should be used only outdoors and under supervision with the "plumber's candles" provided.

In Our Town

Club will welcome new members Friday

By JEAN DAY

As Northville Woman's Club prepares to welcome members who have joined during the past year at its traditional Christmas tea program this Friday, president Lois Winters reports that membership is at an all-time high of 168 — and is close to the limit of 175.

"It's fantastic that we've been able to keep going so well," she comments, noting that many other social organizations have had decreasing memberships as more and more women join the work force.

She adds that she agrees with an observation made by Jan Wilhelm that she "has never lived in a community with so many things that you can get involved in."

This Friday's program at 1:30 p.m. at First Presbyterian Church will feature music of the season. It is being planned by Alice Chamberlain and Joan Sellen. Mrs. Chamberlain, wife of the senior pastor of First Presbyterian Church, is an accomplished musician. She will be playing duets with David Heinzman, church music director, program chairman Ann Guldberg announces, noting that it will be a merger of "two very fine talents." The program is to include a holiday sing-along.

Club members enjoyed a double Christmas treat this month as the December 7 program featured University of Michigan professor of English Bert Hornback, author of three books and six short plays on Charles Dickens. He currently is working on a book, "Great Expectations," to be published in 1986.

In Dickensian costume, he arrived as the English novelist (1812-1870) to read the story of Scrooge, "a greedy man."

He began with a message: "The world needs more care for the needy, more thought about the way we live our lives, more love for and from all of us."

"Greed," he said, "is an ugly word, but a true word and, as long as there are greedy men in the world, we must use it." Putting an end to greed, he continued, is what Christmas is all about. "If we can keep Christmas all year, then we shall make the earth a different place," his message concluded.

First Step seeks help and equipment for shelter

First Step, a non-profit organization concerned with assisting families of domestic violence, currently is seeking office and shelter volunteers as well as donations from both private and public sources.

The organization, which services residents in the out-Wayne County area (including Northville), is experiencing a particularly needy period in light of the holidays, according to executive director Jane Dewey.

Donations of supplies (paper, staples, pens, etc.), office equipment, bedding, furniture, tools, cleaning supplies, paper goods, hygienic supplies, house plants, food (particularly fresh fruits and vegetables), children's center supplies, children's center equipment and linens, are being sought for the organization's Westland-based office and its shelter. First Step also is looking for someone with a van or truck who would be willing to help the organization transport furniture and supplies.

Dewey noted that anyone wishing to make a cash contribution or donate goods can do so at the center at 8381 Farmington Road. Anyone interested in volunteering for center or shelter work can contact the center at 525-2230.

Dewey reported that First Step has assisted more than 1,000 families this year alone in the 34 communities it serves. She added that the organization's shelter, opened last year, houses some 15-20 families per month for a period of up to 30 days.

Northville volunteer Diane Craig noted that First Step depends on the contributions of businesses and residents in the communities it serves to continue operation.

Dewey pointed out that in addition to both private and public donations, half of the governments in the communities First Step assists also donate monies. (Northville and Northville Township both are contributors).

Dewey said despite the improved economy, the center has seen little reduction in the number of families it serves. She noted twice as many women and children sought assistance in October following the television showing of "The Burning Bed," based on the story of abused Michigan housewife Francine Hughes.

She said volunteers are needed to take crisis calls, work with women and children at the center and shelter, help with fund raising projects and work on community outreach programs.

Dewey added that volunteers and staff at First Step are available to make presentations to groups and organizations about their services.

First Step is the primary source provider for victims of domestic violence in the out-Wayne County area. Anyone needing assistance should call the First Step crisis line at 525-2230.

"No one deserves to be beaten," Dewey noted. "If you are, just pick up the phone and call us... it's the first step."

Christmas present

The tall spruce tree aglow with tiny multicolored lights this Christmas season in the town square park across from the clock is a living gift to the community from the Northville Branch of the Women's National Farm and Garden Association. Branch members responsible for the project posing before the tree are, from left, Ruth Klein, ways and means co-chairman with Carol Pappas, right, and Tina Sellas, civic improvement chairman, and Olga James, president. Some of the proceeds of this year's Greens Mart were used for the tree purchase and planting, they report. Record photo by Steve Fecht.

Colleen McCormick is married to classmate in Ann Arbor

Colleen McCormick and Richard Ulrey culminated a romance that began on the University of Michigan campus with their marriage October 20. The 11 a.m. double ring service took place at St. Thomas Church in Ann Arbor with Father Louis Martin officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon McCormick of Northville. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ulrey of Cadillac.

Both the bride and bridegroom were graduated from U-M in April, 1984.

The bride's gown of candlelight taffeta was fashioned with Alencon lace appliques on the bodice and sleeves that were adorned with aurora borealis beads. Alencon lace flowers formed the headpiece for her mantilla-type veil. The bride's mother made the gown and veil as well as the dresses of her bridal attendants.

The bride carried a cascade bouquet tied with satin ribbons.

Kay Sicheneder was the matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Crystal Glass, Sharon Peters and Tamara Ulrey.

They wore off white tops and plaid taffeta skirts in blue, red, green and gold. They carried baskets of silk and natural flowers in shades of blue, red and gold. The bride's mother also made the attendants' baskets and those that decorated the altar.

Kim Parrette was best man. Ushers were Keith Ashby, Chris McCormick and Ken Sicheneder.

During the service Jeanie Head, vocalist, sang "Morning Has Broken," "The Wedding Song" and "Ave Maria."

A reception for 150 guests followed at the Ann Arbor Lawyers' Club.

After a wedding trip to Mackinac Island, the newlyweds are making their home in Traverse City.

TAX TIPS

LEE E. HOLLAND, C.P.A.

CHILD CARE TAX CREDITS

If you and your spouse both work or if you are a single parent and have child-care expenses, you can benefit from the liberalized deductions allowable under the new tax law. The congress realizes that there are more two-income families today than ever before and, therefore, has increased the amount of money you can deduct for child-care expenses incurred in order for both parents to work. The latest tax law has increased both the percentage and the maximum allowable expenses.

For those who earn $10,000 or less the law allows you a maximum credit for 30 percent on total expenses of $2,400 for one child or $4,800 for two or more children. This increases the credit to $720 for one child and $1,440 for two or more, or almost double what it formerly was. For those who earn between $10,000 and $28,000, the 30 percent credit is reduced one percentage point for each $2,000 of additional income. When income exceeds $28,000 the percentage becomes 20 percent but the maximum allowable expenses remain the same.

Amerman holiday

Amerman parents Reiko Bovee, right, and Sanae Yoshizawa dressed in traditional Japanese kimonos to display Japanese artifacts and explain the customs and traditions of the Japanese New Year for the "Holidays in Other Lands" program presented for Amerman students last Thursday. Christmas customs of French Canada and traditions of Hanukkah also were explained as ethnic foods were tasted. Terry Boyle, an Amerman parent, explained the Menorah, the Hanukkah candelabrum, and played a dreidel game, a Hanukkah tradition, with students. An annual Christmas sing-along in the Amerman courtyard in the evening concluded the day. Record photo by Steve Fecht.

Christian Scientists from area participate in satellite conference

Northville and Plymouth Christian Scientists from the Plymouth church congregated in Detroit December 8 to participate in the first satellite transmitted videoconference of Christian Scientists gathering simultaneously on four continents.

In announcing the meeting only two months ago, church directors referred to the urgent needs facing humanity and the necessity for specifically facing and bringing healing to these challenges.

"To live for all mankind," the meeting's theme, was taken from the writings of Mary Baker Eddy who founded the denomination in 1879.

It was 9 a.m. in Honolulu, Hawaii, and 10 p.m. in Nairobi, Kenya, as church members from some 3,000 congregations gathered simultaneously in churches and convention centers in 140 cities. The denomination's historic Mother Church in Boston was the focal point for the meeting — its 19th century stained glass windows depicting Biblical scenes providing an interesting contrast to the space-age satellite receiver parked outside.

In introducing the videoconference, Harvey W. Wood, from the church's five-member board of directors, explained: "This meeting is about lives — it's about the Christ speaking to human consciousness through individuals who are living truth. It's about hearts speaking to hearts." He also spoke of the "spiritual urgency . . . to address the needs of our fellow man at the deepest possible levels."

A panel of reporters from The Christian Science Monitor joined the meeting via satellite from the Old Royal Observatory in Greenwich, England.

In keeping with the Monitor's 75-year tradition of in-depth coverage of social, economic, political and cultural affairs, the panel discussed a broad range of pressing challenges — from the nuclear arms race to what one panel member termed "the saturation point of materialism in some of the western world."

The very urgency of today's problems, said veteran European reporter Elizabeth Pond, "reminds us that our personal lives aren't here somewhere and world problems out there somewhere else."

In Boston the panel was joined by Monitor editor Katherine W. Fanning and Allison W. Phinney Jr., editor of the monthly Christian Science Journal and other church publications.

Phinney addressed the question of the Christian's relation to the world and responsibility toward solutions to contemporary challenges.

Now is the best time to take out an IRA!
(Individual Retirement Account)

Anytime is a good time but not the best time. Tax deductions (up to $2,000 per wage earner) are not retroactive from year to year. If you don't take advantage of tax-deferring your contributions for this year, you've lost the IRA tax shelter on that money forever. Also, further delays in getting started could cause you to lose significant compounding interest.

Start now with a $2,000 contribution and add another $2,000 every year. You'll be surprised how quickly your IRA can mount up. For example, if you contribute $2,000 every year from age 35 to 65, even at 8% interest you'll have nearly $245,000 in exchange for a total investment of only $60,000.

Our interest rate for IRA fixed annuities is higher than this assumed rate and guaranteed for a year. It's currently:

11.75%*

Even if interest rates change, our current rate will still be guaranteed on accumulated values for one full year from date of change.

So, even though anytime is a good time to contribute to your IRA, what better time than right now. While it's fresh on your mind. Call today. We'll show you how easy it is to make your retirement years easier.

The Northville Record

Mustang tankers third at relay meet

Northville's varsity swimmers posted notice they're among the cream of the Western Lakes crop last Saturday, finishing behind only Lakes Division powers Livonia Stevenson and Plymouth Salem at the Western Lakes Activities Association relay meet.

Stevenson's 105 points took top honors, while Salem chugged into second with 76 and Northville placed third with 68. Farmington took fourth with 61 points.

Taking first-place medals with a meet record 4:00.06 in the 4x100 individual medley relay were Northville's Dave Wayne, Darius Mikalonis, Jeff Bainbridge and Doug Buell. "They were cruising," beamed Mustang Coach Derek Gans. "They broke the old record by more than three seconds."

Northville got one other first-place finish — Mikalonis, Randy Holloway, Buell and Bainbridge won the 4x50 backstroke relay by half a length in 1:52.2.

Northville's two-man diving team of Joel Grasley and Jeff Pawloski came 0.3 points shy of Plymouth Salem to finish second in diving relay. "It was really warm in (Salem's) pool area,"

'For a lot of the guys, it was their first meet ever. I think they learned a lot from it.'

— Derek Gans
Northville Swim Coach

Gans said later. "Our divers had to wait around for a long time and they got kind of drained."

Also placing second were Mustangs Wayne, Holloway, Ron Johnston and John Gass in the 4x50 butterfly relay. While their combined time of 1:50.1 was excellent, Farmington swam a meet record to edge them for first place.

Northville took third in the 4x50 freestyle relay with an all-freshman lineup of Ed Valentini, Chris Sellen, Tom Valade and Craig Smith. The quartet clocked a 1:42.0.

It was in the 50-100-150-200 "crescendo" relay, however, that Northville got its biggest individual effort. After Grasley's 24.7 leadoff leg, Smith sizzled through a 55-second 100-yard split — his first-ever varsity performance. Ron Johnston swam the 150 yard leg and Tom Valade the 200, and the foursome ended up fourth, barely out of third place.

Taking fifths were Northville's 4x100 medley relay team (Paul Stoecklin, Eric Leidecker, John Gans and Dave Ziegler), the 4x50 breast stroke relay (Leidecker, Steve Guldberg, Chris Shaw and Chris Sellen) and the 4x50 medley relay (Stoecklin, Guldberg, Jeff Buell, Jason Hill).

Taking sixth was the 4x100 freestyle quartet of Drew Paredes, Mike Simmons, Valentini and Hill.

"Overall, the kids did real well," said Gans. "Most improved their times from time trials and from last year."

"We're going to need to work on our distance events," the first-year coach pointed out. "All the events over 100 yards, it looked like we weren't quite in shape. I think it's partly because we haven't had any meets yet, and some of the other teams have."

But with a three-week layoff from interscholastic competition, Gans has plenty of time to whip his crew into shape.

"The best thing about the meet," he said, "was that the guys were coming up to me and saying, 'We've got to work harder on our distance workouts.' I think that shows they're willing to really put out."

Gans said he was also pleased about how his freshmen handled their debut meet. "For a lot of the guys, it was their first meet ever. I think they learned a lot from it and they'll be much better for it."

The Mustangs won't open their dual-meet season until January 10, when they host WLAA rival Livonia Bentley at 7 p.m.

Heitert excels on NMU unit

Northville High School's 1983-84 Athlete of the Year is making good at her new place of study, Northern Michigan University.

Cathy Heitert is now the third leading scorer on Northern Michigan's 2-2 women's gymnastics team.

The freshman registered a 33.05 all-around score in the Wildcats' quad meet with Central Michigan, Kent State and Northern Illinois. Her best individual efforts thus far have been an 8.50 in vault, 8.35 in uneven bars, 8.10 in balance beam and 8.45 in floor exercise.

At Northville High, Heitert cemented her reputation as Northville's best gymnast ever. She placed tenth in the state her senior year at the MHSAA Class A State Gymnastics Meet last winter. Her score of 8.75 in balance beam was second in the state, far ahead of lower scorers.

At the Western Lakes Activities Association meet, also last winter, Heitert placed second in the league to Plymouth Canton's Linda Beagle.

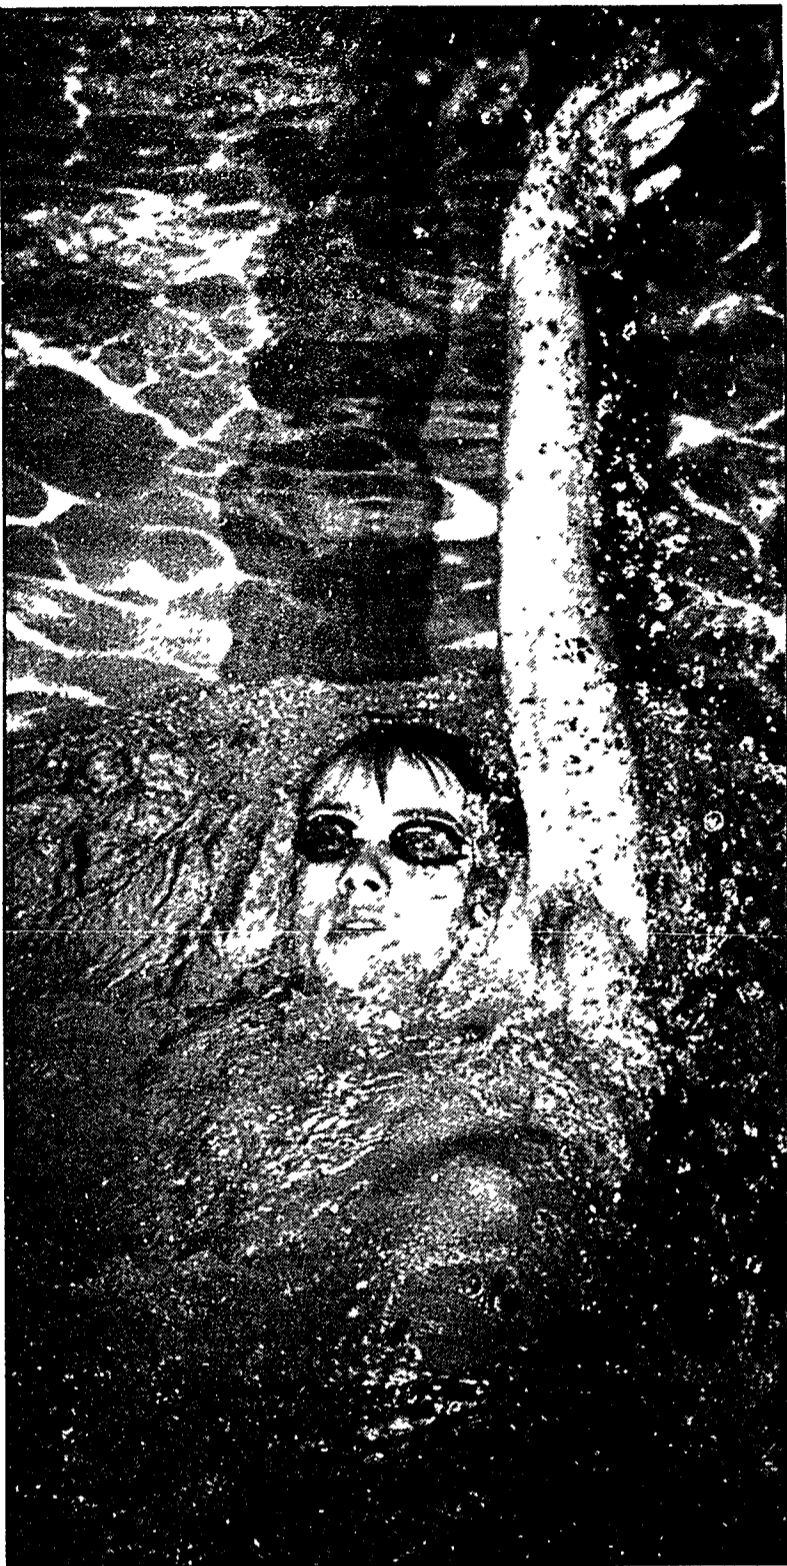

Rec spike teams set for playoffs

Northville's volleyball glory hounds will take to the Community Center gym this week for the season-closing Community Recreation Co-Ed volleyball tournament.

While Getzie's claimed top honors in regular-season league play with its 44-6 final record, contenders Ball Bangers, Old Guard, Lucky Spikes and Family Feud are expected to provide all the competition Getzie's can handle in the playoffs.

Final results of season play were: Getzie's (44-6), Ball Bangers (40-0), Old Guard (39-1), Lucky Spikes (34-6), Family Feud (29-21), Net Gang (27-23), Optimistics (26-24), The Farm (25-25), Keford Collision (25-25), Grape Nuts (19-31), Diamond Dogs (18-32), Just Friends (11-39), Magnum (8-42), New Kids (7-43).

Falcons pin down Mustang matmen

By B.J. MARTIN

The going just got rough for Northville's varsity wrestlers.

After crushing past Stevenson and Farmington Harrison to open their dual meet season, the Mustangs were thumped by South Lyon and by WLA foe Farmington last week to fall to 2-2.

"We're just awfully young," sighed Mustang mat coach Jack Townsley. "A lot of our guys are freshmen who've never even seen a wrestling match until this year."

More experienced South Lyon topped Northville 43-30 on Tuesday, pinning Northville's entries in three of the four lightest weights in either the first or second period.

The Mustangs rallied briefly, behind John Lazar's pin of Paul Grahl at 3:05 of the 132-pound match and Ken Kehoe's pin of Steve Acheson at 4:39 of the 138-pound match.

But only Dino Candela and Joel Vogt could manage victories in higher weight classes. Candela pinned Todd Leach at 5:06 of the 167-pound match, while Vogt landed Ron Slowbridge on his back in just 20 seconds at 185.

"Joe just gave him a bear-hug takedown and went right into a pin," Townsley said.

Mustang 198-pounder Tim Millen did a yeoman's job of staying off his back against tough Charley Ackalien at 198 pounds, falling at last 9-1. But at 145 Northville's Jason Lazar lost a 7-3 decision to Jerry Parrett, at 155 John McRae lost on a pin at 3:14 and heavyweight Ken Wells was pinned 16 seconds into the second period by Tim Orsini.

Falling by pins were 98-pound freshman Keith Graham, 112-pounder Scott Wiley, 119-pounder Paul Maliszewski, and 126-pound freshman Mike Herral.

A talented, balanced Farmington unit handed the Mustangs their first league loss Thursday, by a 51-18 count. Six of Northville's points came on a Falcon void at 185 pounds. The remaining 12 came on Ken Kehoe's pin of Mike Cody at 2:46, John Lazar's 8-3 decision over Darrell Tharnish, and Jason Lazar's 3-2 decision over Mike Mecem.

"Both the Lazars wrestled really well in that meet," said Townsley. Indeed, John had to tussle with a face guard throughout his match. Candela, fighting illness, had to make a last-minute cancellation against tough Ab Hazen at 167 pounds.

Ranks still thinned by illness, Northville finished seventh at the Ypsilanti Invitational, an early-season showcase for many strong Class A wrestling teams.

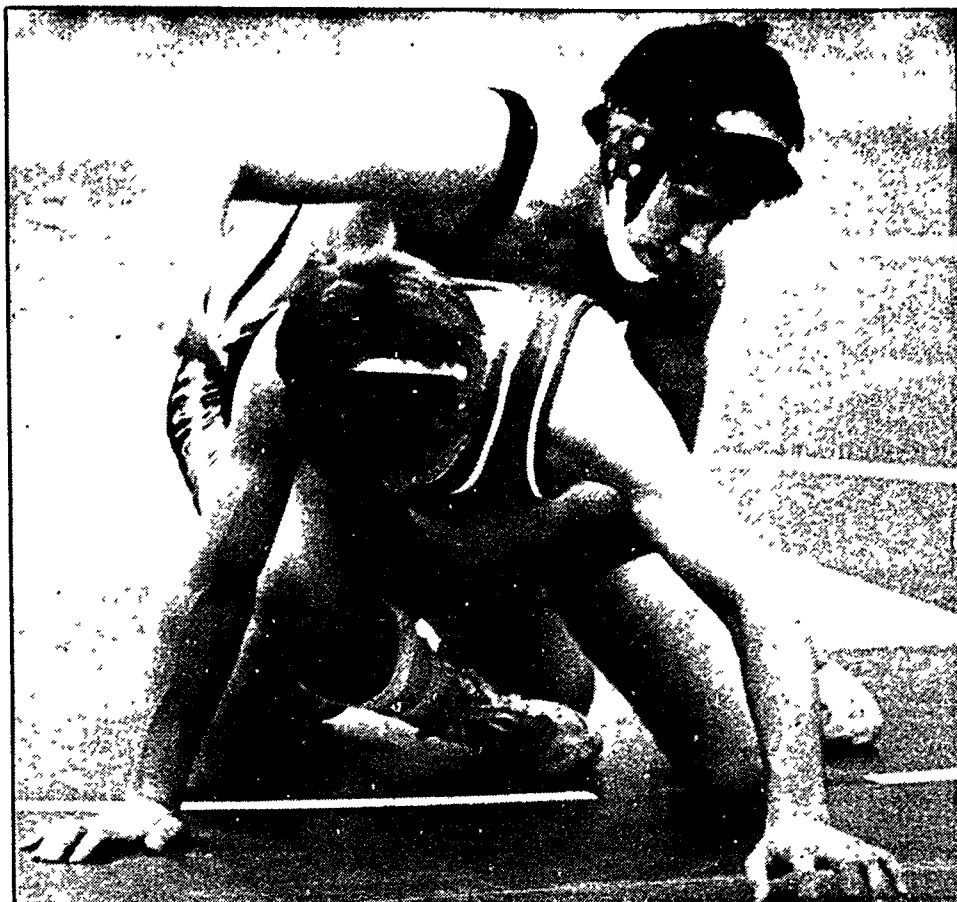

Davison was the meet champion with 182 points. Belleville was second with 142, followed by Saline with 109, Ypsilanti with 87.5, North Farmington with 71 and Northville with 55½.

While Northville could boast no individual finalists, plenty of Mustangs made either the finals or consolation finals.

Candela and Vogt were the Mustangs' top finishers, each winning decisions in consolation finals to take thirds.

At 98, 105 and 112 pounds, more experienced grapplers eliminated Mustang first-year men. At 119, however, Maliszewski made the consolation finals and finished fourth, falling on a pin to Troy Tomolah of Saline at 1:24.

Also taking fourth was Mike Bates at 126. Bates was dropped from the winner's bracket by Mike Beckley, voted the meet's outstanding wrestler. But

Jason Lazar (top) eked out a 3-2 decision against Farmington Thursday

Bates picked up a consolation semi pin before Davison's Brian Blake pinned him for third.

John Lazar walloped his first 132-pound opponent 18-0, but then was toppled by three-time state qualifier Scott Blackmore of Saline. Lazar lost 7-1 in that match, took a 4-3 overtime decision in consolation semifinals, and then, very tired, lost to James Benda of North Farmington 11-3 to take fourth place.

Jason Lazar at 145 pounds took fourth place, winning one match before falling to Flushing's Rick Hays at 1:58 of the consolation finals. John McRae nipped North Farmington's Kurt Hickley 9-7 before finishing fourth with an 11-5 loss to Dick Isaacson of Ypsilanti in the 155-pound final.

Local gymnasts place

Northville's Yvonne Beebe and Kathy Abraham were among the Livonia Y Twisters who won ribbons in their team's first-place finish at a gymnastics tri-meet hosted by Farmington Sunday, December 2.

Yvonne, an eighth grader from Cooke Junior High, placed first on vault, first on floor, first overall and second on bar. Kathy, of Meads Mill Junior High, placed third on floor and third overall.

Third-quarter Hawks surge buries cagers

In last Friday's battle of the Harriers, it was Farmington Harrison that prevailed.

Northville Coach Omar Harrison's Mustang basketball team dropped its second game of the season to the division-rival Hawks 62-40 — a romp that started out as anything but.

"We played pretty good for three of the four quarters," said Harrison (Omar, that is). "But that third quarter

In those fateful eight minutes, the Hawks outscored the Mustangs 27-7, boosting their lead from two points to 22.

More than anything else, Omar Harrison said, the Hawks just "hit everything they threw up."

Hawk point guard Ken George, the game's high scorer with 16 points, set the pattern with three straight 20-footers launched from the corner. A few baskets off the Falcons' press compounded Northville's woes.

"It seemed like everything just kind of fell apart at once," said the Northville coach. "They had a few fast breaks on us and this George guy just went on a tear."

"We can only hope once the season gets going, we'll get into some kind of groove," he added. "We're not panicking. We've just got to show some character. Nothing's going to come easy."

Don Norton was Northville's leading scorer with 11 points. John Storm chipped in 10 and had seven rebounds, and Greg Wendel added eight points.

"In both games this year, our best shooters have been really cold," Harrison noted. Mike Hilfinger — one of the players Northville must rely on for offense — showed signs of breaking out of his scoring slump with six fourth-quarter points Friday — long after the outcome of the game had been decided.

Northville's next game will be at Farmington tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. Always tough on their home court, the Falcons this year feature good backcourt talent and a tall front line led by 6'6" senior center Matt Lundh.

"We've had some real barnburners with those guys," said Harrison. "I'm expecting it'll be a real nip and tuck game."

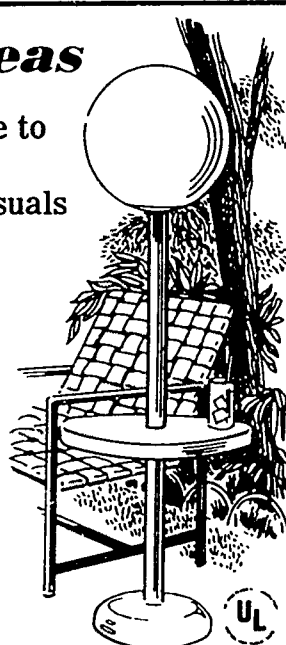

Following the Farmington game, Northville will remain idle until Tuesday, January 8, when the squad hosts division rival Plymouth Canton.

Beck Road Park Master Plan

Total Site: 38 Acres Total Parking: 204

Park plan

While completion of the Beck Road Park is still far away until funding comes through, the Master Plan for the park submitted by landscape architects John Grissim and Associates will serve as a guideline for its development. The plan was recently placed before community officials after being ordered earlier this year. A complete report detailing the plan's engineering aspects, construction guidelines, appropriate lighting, paving, and developmental costs (cumulatively pegged at $1.7 million, but likely to be a long-term, step-by-step process) is available from several community sources for review. Record graphic by Jeff Lapinski.

Wayne County revives winter park programs

While winter may be lagging, Wayne County officials are gearing up for a reopening of the county parks' winter sports programs.

For the first time in many years, the county parks' system will offer an active program for county citizens. All activities will provide full-time on-site supervision by qualified individuals at little or no cost. Residents using park facilities this winter will also find a stepped-up security and law enforcement program, according to the Wayne County Executive's Office.

Sleigh rides, "nature and interpretative" walks and outings (by reservations only), plus food and beverage concessions will be available in designated park locations.

Daily hours of operation will be from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. including weekends and holidays. While it is anticipated the facilities will open upon the arrival of winter weather and remain open the entire season, participants are advised to contact the Parks and Recreation offices if conditions appear doubtful.

Nankin Mills Nature Center, 33175 Ann Arbor Trail, Westland, is the office to be located nearest Northville residents. The Nature Center will serve as an information point for residents seeking maps, dates, times, etc. for all park activities as well as a general assistance and emergency center.

A cross-country ski shelter will be housed on the lower level of the building, located adjacent to Edward Hines Drive. Marked trails with warming shelter and restroom facilities, plus ski rental, will be available.

Ice skating and fishing will be offered on designated areas of both Newburgh and Wilcox lakes. Lights, warming shelter and restroom facilities will be available. Ice conditions can be confirmed by calling the park office at 261-1990 or the Wayne County Sheriff's Department, Division of the Park Patrol.

Tubing and sledding on Middlebelt Hill will be offered. Lights, warming shelter and restroom facilities will be available, with a $1 charge for tube rental.

Cass Benton will also offer an improved, lighted toboggan run near the Nature Center with warming shelter and restroom. For additional information on park activities and offerings, phone the Nature Center at 261-1990.

Kensington Park offers tips for safe sledding

Winter sports enthusiasts should follow these safety tips concerning the use of toboggans and sleds, according to Chief Park Ranger Howard Chantler of Kensington Metropark near Milford:

1. KNOW THE AREA.

- Check for hidden hazards. Snow may hide logs, stumps, stones or fences.
- Check snow condition before taking your first ride. Frozen snow and ice can do like broken glass.
- Do not go down any hill when you cannot see the entire length of the ride.
- Do not use areas or hills where there are bumps or dropoff areas.
- Read and obey posted rules and signs.

2. USE PROPER EQUIPMENT.

- Wear warm clothing and footwear.
- Protect your hands and face with a hat, gloves and a scarf.
- Have a good toboggan pad securely attached to the toboggan at all times.
- Check your toboggan for broken or cracked boards after each run. Do not use broken equipment.

3. USE EQUIPMENT PROPERLY.

- Remember, a toboggan is very hard to steer, especially on hard-packed snow.

- Do not overload toboggans or sleds.
- Be sure to keep arms and legs inside the toboggan or sled. Hold tightly to side ropes and hold the legs of the person behind you under your arms, and do not let go.

4. USE AREA SAFELY.

- Do not use sleds and toboggans on the same runs. Sleds cut ruts and make it difficult to keep toboggans running smoothly. Toboggans pack snow and make it difficult to steer sleds.
- In heavy use areas, allow the group ahead of you sufficient time to get out of the way before starting downhill. Remember, you don't have any method of stopping once you start your ride downhill.
- Use marked returns. Do not walk up the hill where others are sledding. Get out of the way as soon as you stop. Be alert for other groups coming down the hill after you.

These safety tips apply to persons tobogganing or sledding anywhere in Michigan. For information on sledding and tobogganing at Kensington Metropark, phone 685-1561, or for information on any of the metroparks, phone 1-800-552-6772.

GOOD NEWS

December proclaimed state's Winter Driving Month

Don't be fooled by this temporary lull in the weather, the snow and sleet and icy roads are just around the corner.

Driving is one of the major winter hazards facing Michigan residents, and Governor James Blanchard has proclaimed December to be Winter Awareness Month.

No one drives during bad winter weather unless it is necessary. However, business or holiday plans often make winter traveling a necessity. The following tips on driving in winter may make your trips safer.

- Plan the trip carefully. Listen to weather reports and travelers' advisories, and keep an alternate route in mind. Let someone know where you are going and what time you plan to arrive. Travel by daylight and use major highways whenever possible. Try not to travel alone.

- Be sure your car is in good running order and properly serviced. Make certain your tires are in good condition. Snow tires or chains are best for winter driving, but all-season radials are adequate in areas with light to moderate snowfall.

quate in areas with light to moderate snowfall.

- Before you start driving, clean snow and ice off all parts of your car — windows, hood, roof, trunk and lights. Snow left on the car could affect visibility once you start driving.

- Keep your gas tank as full as possible, especially if you are unfamiliar with the route you are traveling and also to prevent gasoline freeze-up. Even if you restrict your driving to short, local trips, certain supplies can help in an emergency.

- Always keep in the car basic items such as a windshield scraper, battery booster cables, a tow-chain or rope, a bag of sand or gravel and a flashlight. For longer trips add a transistor radio (with extra batteries), a first aid kit, road maps, some non-perishable food such as nuts, dried fruit and candy. Include matches and candles, blankets and two or more large coffee cans (for sanitary purposes and to burn candles for heat).

- Don't overdress when driving.

Even on short trips, your clothing should be loose-fitting and comfortable. Heavy clothing should be removed after the car has warmed up. Do pull over to the side of the road instead of struggling out of heavy clothing while driving.

- If you should get caught on the road during a winter storm, keep calm. Give some indication you are in trouble — turn on your flashing lights, raise the hood or tie a cloth from an antenna or door handle.

- Stay in the car. Do not try to walk from the car unless you can see a shelter within a reasonable distance; disorientation comes quickly during a blowing snow storm.

- For heat, turn on the car engine for brief periods. To avoid carbon monoxide poisoning, always leave a downwind window open slightly. Also make sure the exhaust pipe is clear of snow when the engine is running.

- Exercise from time to time by clapping your hands and moving your arms and legs. Do not stay in one position too long, but do not overexert yourself by shoveling or trying to push the car.

- Leave the dome light on at night as a signal to rescuers. If more than one person is in the car, sleep in shifts.

- Don't drive while tired. Always use your seatbelt. Never warm up a vehicle in an enclosed area.

Racing violations noted during season at Downs

Sixteen violations ruled by stewards during the Jackson racing season at Northville Downs between November 6 and 27 have been reported by racing commissioner W. S. Ballenger.

They range from $25 fine for failing to follow instructions of racing official to one $250 fine and purse redistribution on positive finding of Lasix, a controlled medication in the horse Bakavic of Dixie Butler of Clinton.

Positive finding of Guaifenesin in the horse Autumn Jet (Grant Dale of South Lyon) brought a 15-day suspension, denial of privileges and purse redistribution.

The racing commissioner ruling on Ron Wrenn of South Lyon on withdrawal of appeal of Steward Ruling No. 5 for coming out without sufficient clearance while driving Shannon Key, eighth race, October 23, resulted in reaffirmation of three-day suspension.

Steward decision also was reaffirmed with a $100 fine against Jeff Sweeney of Metamora for failure to get his horse back on proper gait, using whip in an indiscriminate manner by hitting Royal Bandelier while not on proper gait, fifth race, August 23.

Michiganians take to airways, home ski lodges for holidays

A respite at a Michigan ski lodge continues to be a favored holiday activity, but more travelers are opting to fly to warm-weather destinations compared to the last Christmas-New Year's period, according to the Automobile Club of Michigan.

"Airline travel is up an average 10 percent while holiday bookings at Michigan ski lodges are about even with last year," said Auto Club Travel Operations Manager Jim Drury.

"Despite a slow start," Drury added, "operators are optimistic that with good snowfall, ski revenue this season will rise at least five percent over last year's $134 million total."

Michiganians should find space available at most of the state's 17 ski facilities with overnight accommodations. The most heavily booked period is between December 26 and January 2, when six resorts surveyed by the Auto Club have capacity reservations. None of the lodges checked are fully booked on or before Christmas Day.

Accommodations are available for both the Christmas and New Year's holidays at west Michigan's Boyne Mountain near Harbor Springs, Caberfae near Cadillac; Chrystal Mountain near Thompsonville, Hilton Shanty Creek at Bellaire, Nub's Nob near Harbor Springs, and Schuss Mountain near Mancelona. Boyne Highlands is filled December 28-January 1.

Most east Michigan ski lodges have space throughout the holidays, except Tyrolean Ski Resort near Gaylord from December 26-January 1 and Sylvan Resort near Gaylord from December 26-January 2.

All Upper Peninsula facilities with overnight lodging have Christmas and New Year's vacancies except Indianhead near Wakefield, which is filled December 28-30, and Blackjack near Bessemer, booked December 28-31.

Vacationers planning lodge visits should make reservations as soon as possible.

The Michigan Department of Transportation estimates that mileage driven in the state is up about 4 percent compared to last year, a trend that should continue over the year-end holidays.

The Christmas holiday officially begins at 6 p.m. Friday and runs through midnight Tuesday, December 25. The New Year's period is from 6 p.m. Friday, December 28, through midnight Tuesday, Jan. 1.

Air carriers report Florida and the Caribbean are the most popular holiday destinations. The most heavily booked days are Friday through Sunday and the Saturday and Sunday after New Year's. Best days for travel are December 25-27 and January 1-3.

For vacationers planning to travel south, tickets should be purchased in advance and passengers should arrive at the airport 1½ hours before departure. All bags should be clearly labeled inside and out. Carry-on luggage, including gift-wrapped packages, must be small enough to fit under the seat in front of the passenger.

Amtrak officials suggest travelers book rail reservations as far in advance as possible, using a new toll-free number: 1-800-USA-RAIL. Greyhound officials said they would add enough buses to fill all travel needs.

An AAA analysis revealed that of the combined 13 traffic deaths over 1983 Christmas and New Year periods showed alcohol was a factor in 10. Ten of those killed were not wearing seat belts.

An auto club survey also showed holiday travelers should find plentiful gasoline supplies. Sixty-six percent of 300 stations along main state highways expect to be open daylight hours on Christmas Day.

Weekend opens Canada goose hunt

Waterfowl hunters will be able to take advantage of Michigan's unique late Canada goose season in southern Michigan, which begins Saturday and runs through February 16, 1985. Both the Department of Natural Resources and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service hope the late season and expanded hunting area will help control locally-reared giant Canada geese.

This year, the hunt area was expanded to include parts of 24 counties, including Wayne, Oakland, Livingston, Washtenaw, Genesee, Macomb, Monroe, Lenawee, Hillsdale, Ingham and others.

The boundaries of the Southern Michigan Goose Management Area, the hunt area, are shown in the state's 1984-85 waterfowl hunting guide, available at DNR Information Services, seventh floor, Mason Building, Box 30028 Lansing, MI 48909, or call (517)-373-1220. Hunters are reminded the daily bag limit is three Canadas.

"Many winter geese are found on private lands," noted Jerry Martz, waterfowl specialist with the DNR. He cautioned hunters to obtain permission from landowners before setting up their hunt. Hunters should check with local conservation officers and wildlife biologists at DNR District offices (locally, Pontiac Lake, 313-666-1500) if they have questions about public access, hunting closures or local hunting conditions.

The department is also seeking hunter cooperation in collecting biological samples needed to identify the proportion of locally-reared giant Canadas harvested. Interested hunters should contact wildlife biologists at the DNR District office for instructions and materials.
