Lucas commission to recommend DeHoCo

By KEVIN WILSON

Temporary use of the Detroit House of Corrections (DeHoCo) to house 1,000 state prisoners and eventual construction of a 550-bed regional prison on the DeHoCo site are among proposed recommendations of the Wayne County Commission to Study Prison Needs.

The commission will conduct its final meeting Thursday to adopt its report to county executive William Lucas. The proposed recommendations are accompanied by a minority report drafted by Northville Township Supervisor Susan Heintz and Wayne County Commissioner Mary Dumas objecting to the proposed DeHoCo regional prison.

Heintz, appointed to the commission's committee on site consideration, said she will request that an objection to any temporary use of DeHoCo also be added to the minority report.

"We didn't know the temporary housing thing was going to be included as a recommendation," Heintz explained Tuesday. "We only objected to a second regional prison at DeHoCo in our report and said we agreed with the rest of it. We'll try to get our objection to the temporary use added to the final report."

The 50-page document to be reviewed Thursday recommends the addition of 2,000 beds to the state prison system immediately, another 2,000 beds by the end of the decade and an additional 5,500 beds by the year 2000. Lucas appointed the commission October 25 and received a "draft" version of the report in November supporting efforts to have DeHoCo transferred to state ownership.

Expanded prison capacity within Wayne County, the report suggests, could be provided by:

- Accelerated construction of the Scott Regional Correctional Facility at Five Mile and Beck Roads to allow occupancy by late this year rather than in mid-1986;
- Use of DeHoCo to house 1,000 felons on a temporary basis (these prisoners would eventually be transferred to a 550 bed regional prison in Detroit and a new regional prison on the DeHoCo site);

- Construction of two regional prisons within Detroit city limits;
- A second Northville/Plymouth regional prison (tagged Scott II in the report) on the DeHoCo site;
- Renovation of the N Building on the Eloise site in Westland to provide 600 minimum security beds for state use;
- Renovation of the remainder of the N Building to 400 minimum security beds for county use;
- Contracting with the Volunteers of America to provide 120 beds for county use.

The Heintz/Dumas minority report argues that "the townships of Plymouth and Northville already bear a disproportionate share of the correctional space burden."

It notes that the current prisoner population at DeHoCo and Phoenix has averaged 600 to 900 over the past four years. "With the phase-out of DeHoCo and the completion of the Scott Regional Prison, we will still maintain space for over 850 prisoners in the northwest corner of Wayne County," the minority report states. "We accept this burden because we know the importance of controlling crime. However, the addition of another 550-bed facility to our tiny area would represent an excessive burden that other areas of the County should be asked to accept."

It further states that "We are not part of the group which says 'Build prisons but not in my neighborhood.' We speak as communities which have already accepted more than a proportionate share."

The overall commission report also recommends various measures to expand Wayne County jail capacity for misdemeanor and ordinance violators while transferring all responsibility for

Boundary revision approved by board

By MICHELE M. FECHT

Despite protests from angry central city residents, some 440 Northville elementary students are expected to head to new schools next September.

The board of education Monday night approved the administration's recommendation to revise current attendance boundaries effective with the start of the 1985-86 school year. Only a single revision of the boundary map proposed in December was made, dropping the Eight Mile line to the mid-point of Maybury State Park.

In light of the final decision Monday night, both the board and administration agreed that every effort would be made to accommodate parents wishing to take advantage of the open attendance policy which would let them select their child's school.

The new boundaries will even enrollments in all three elementary schools, according to the new plan.

Following a public hearing last Wednesday at Northville High School (see related story), the administration offered the board two additional proposals to its original plan for revising the district's boundaries.

The original proposal, presented to the board in mid-December, divided the district along its east-west corridors with the biggest change in the central city area. According to the original plan, students living between Eight Mile and Six Mile Road and south of Main Street in the central city area will attend Silver Springs along with students in the current Silver Springs attendance area in the Highland Lakes development.

The plan also stipulates that everything north of a line on Eight Mile beginning at the western extremities of the district running to Beck Road, south to Main Street, and across Main Street to Northville Road be in the Amerman Elementary School area.

Students living south of Six Mile Road beginning at the western extremity of the district, across to Northville Road, moving north to the southern boundary of Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital will attend Winchester, according to the proposed revision.

The original plan met with considerable opposition last Wednesday from central city residents wishing to keep their children at Amerman Elementary School.

As a result of Wednesday's hearing, alternative proposals were presented to the board at its meeting Monday night. Among the alternatives was a plan to drop the Eight Mile boundary to the Maybury State Park property at a line mid-point between Seven and Eight Mile Road.

Another option, which was outlined to the board by central city residents at

Party slated for Bill Craft

A reception for Amerman Principal William Craft, who will retire from his 17-year post January 31, will be held from 4-7 p.m. January 23 at Amerman School.

Families, friends, former students and the community are welcome to attend.

A dinner will follow at 7 p.m. at Northville Charley's. Those wishing to attend the dinner must make a reservation by calling Frances Miller at 349-2271 or Judy Beyersdorf at 349-0637 by January 18.

Officer Dennis Thompson keeps close watch over Sheldon-Seven Mile traffic

Curtain may drop on traffic cop's show

That city auxiliary police officer Dennis Thompson directs traffic — both vehicular and equestrian — with skill and flair is noticed by residents and harness racing drivers alike who watch him on duty at the intersection of Sheldon and Seven Mile adjacent to Northville Downs.

"He dances — you should get a picture of him," suggested longtime resident Helen Myers recently.

"He's a good man at the light," agreed police chief Rodney Cannon last week.

But the reason Thompson now is in the spotlight is concern on the part of horsemen who stable their horses on the hill south of the intersection that Thompson, as an auxiliary officer, may be replaced. A petition that, the horsemen say, was signed by every horseman on the hill, was sent to Chief Cannon asking that he be kept at the post.

"He does his job better than any (other) officer at the light — nobody watches horses like he does to make sure they don't get hit," one of the horsemen commented in reporting the petition to The Record.

Fear that Thompson would be replaced, Cannon said, stems in part from the department program of rotating officers so that all can handle various assignments. He said he also is breaking in certified officers at the intersection. Part of the reason to do so now, he said, is because of the Attorney General department's ruling in a Lincoln Park case that auxiliary officers may not be used in place of certified officers.

"If we can't get a clarification that the track is a different situation from Lincoln Park's then we have a problem," City Manager Steven Walters said Monday. He added that the city has been proceeding much as it had been, using auxiliary officers at the intersection. He said he hopes to be able to do so throughout the present racing season which lasts into April.

"We're hoping to have us excluded from the ruling," he said, "but it takes time to get an opinion. We should know what to expect against next October." The Jackson Harness season opens then.

Pointing out that most auxiliary of-

Zoning changes sought for village

By KEVIN WILSON

Sweeping changes to the township zoning ordinance as it applies to the Cavanagh Retirement Village are being sought by the developer.

Northville Elderly Development Company, through its architect/planner, Siegal/Tuomaala Associates, presented its request for ordinance amendments at the township planning commission's January 8 special meeting. The company has a contract with the county and its economic development corporation for development of the former Wayne County Child Development Center property.

The commission set a February 12 public hearing date for the proposed changes.

Leonard G. Siegal, president of the firm, told planners the changes are necessary to allow the mix of elderly and "market rate" housing that is a key element of Northville Elderly Development's proposal for the 101 acres of county-owned land on Sheldon between Five and Six Mile roads.

Without a mix of age groups and the market rate housing, he said, financing for the 1,200-unit development would likely be impossible to find. But the township's RME (residential — multiple elderly) zoning class, devised particularly for the parcel, does not allow housing for anyone under age 60.

"The major problem we have with the ordinance as presently constituted is that it restricts development to all elderly," Siegal said at the meeting.

"A realistic and workable alternative," he stated in a letter to the commission, "would be to require 50 percent of the units for elderly occupancy or in convalescent home beds. The balance of the project would serve the market at-large, including those elderly who could afford market-rate rents."

The firm also is requesting that the township drop its six story, 60-foot height restriction for high-rise buildings on the parcel in favor of an eight story, 75-foot limit. Three such buildings are planned, Siegal said, and in exchange for the taller limits he suggested that a three story limit be placed on 60 percent of the units in the com-

National Jaycee Week features party for kids

Northville Jaycees are sponsoring a new community service activity this Thursday — a Kids' Winter Party — as part of the chapter's observance of National Jaycee Week (January 13-19).

The party will be held from 6-9 p.m. in the Northville High School cafeteria for youngsters in kindergarten through fifth grade. Refreshments will be served, and there will be games for parents also. A parent must accompany each child.

Chairperson is Teresa Folino. There will be an admission charge of 50 cents per child.

At the party parents will receive information about a Kids' ID Program in which the Jaycees are assisting Farmer Jack's Supermarkets and Channel 4 in taking pictures and fingerprinting children to aid parents in cases of missing children. The photography and fingerprinting sessions will take place at the supermarkets, according to Mark Shugerman, publicity chairperson for the Northville Jaycees.

Jaycees is an organization for young men and women between the ages of 18 and 35. The purpose of the group is to provide leadership training through community service. By restricting the age of its members, the organization is able to put young men and women in leadership positions, thereby developing leadership skills that can be utilized in other endeavors after passing the age limit of 35 years.

In addition to leadership training and community service, the organization also provides a social outlet for younger citizens.

In Northville, the Jaycees sponsor such annual events as the Fourth of July parade and Mill Race activities, Halloween Haunted House, Toys for Tots and Visits from Santa.

St. Paul's sets preschool program

A preschool for three year olds will begin January 29 at St. Paul's Lutheran School. Classes will be held Tuesday and Thursday mornings from 9:15-11:45 a.m.

Bev Schultz, a certified preschool teacher, will be teaching the preschool

French exchange planned

New Morning School, a state-certified pre-kindergarten through eighth grade school in Plymouth Township, is coordinating a French exchange program for students ages 9-11 in the spring of 1986.

The school is looking for parents and children in the Northville, Plymouth, Canton and Livonia areas who may be interested in participating.

The program is sponsored by Campus International Ltd. in Westmont, Illinois. The firm reports that the program is well supervised with an experienced adult leader and teacher accompanying the group.

In the fall of 1985, American students will meet weekly for instruction in the French language and French culture and civilization. In March, 1986, students from a French classroom will be hosted for three weeks in homes in Northville, Plymouth, Canton and Livonia.

Parents interested in finding out more about this program, either to send or to host a student, should call Elaine Yagiela at 420-3331.

Charlie Brown returns

Charlie Brown, Snoopy and the six other characters of the famous comic strip created for an outdoor Christmas display by Pam Unsworth and her husband Don are back at the Unsworth home at 895 Grace.

They were stolen after they were on display for a week, leaving only Snoopy's empty dog house. After a picture appeared in last week's Record of Don Unsworth placing a "Snoopy ... come home" sign on the dog house, the family received a telephone call from a woman who said she had been taking a walk when she found the characters near the dumpster at Cooke Junior High.

Thinking they had been discarded after some school activity, she reported, she collected the three-foot high figures for her one-year-old grandson.

Saying the Christmas scene will be in place again next year, Pam Unsworth, an artist, said she will be making a substitute character for the youngster who was puzzled about "losing his new toys."

Children's films at library

Two new movies for children will be shown during a matinee performance at 2 p.m. Saturday at Northville Public Library.

"Cannonball" tells the adventures of a little lost dog who finds a home with a circus clown and saves the clown's outdated circus act and job.

The second feature, "It's Me Claudia," follows a girl's many attempts to change her appearance until she finally realizes it's crazy to be self-conscious over something that really doesn't matter.

The films are suggested for children at least four years old and up.

The program will last an hour.

For more information, call the library at 349-3020.

Divorce support program slated

Local therapist, Eva Reymer, MSW, will present a program dealing with the loss of self-esteem during divorce for the Women's Divorce Support Group sponsored by the Women's Resource Center of Schoolcraft College from 8-10 p.m. January 22 in Room F130 of the Forum Building.

Meetings take place the second and fourth Tuesday of each month. Attendance is free and no registration is required.

For further information, call the Women's Resource Center at 591-6400.

Storytime registration continues

Northville Public Library is continuing registration for the winter preschool story time, open to children 3½ to 5 years old who are not yet in kindergarten.

Story times will be held in the library at 10:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. Tuesdays from January 22 through February 26.

Pre-registration is necessary since enrollment is limited. To register, stop by the library or call 349-3020.

Lois McAllister's newest Hall of Famer

By B.J. MARTIN

McAllister was one-fifth of a world record-holding team

Petite and nearly as slim as she was 40 years ago, Lois McAllister hardly looks big enough to sling a bowling ball with any kind of authority.

That just shows how looks can fool you. The Northville Township resident, co-owner/operator of McAllister's Party Store in Plymouth, last month became the 28th woman to be inducted into the Michigan Bowling Hall of Fame.

One reason McAllister was selected for the honor was her dedication to developing senior and youth recreation bowling leagues in the west suburban area. But another reason cinched the award — for a while, she was among the top women bowlers in the world.

Between 1942 and 1949 McAllister was the youngest member of the legendary Gears by Enterprise team — a quintet that boasted one International Women's Bowling Congress world championship, three state titles, four city titles, and a world record women's bowling team score.

McAllister's association with the team began in 1942. Back then, she was Lois Hoffman, a 17-year-old hotshot who had been burning up the local alleys when she was recruited to take on the Gears by Enterprise team in an exhibition.

"I had a 240 game against them," she recalls. "After the exhibition, they asked me to sub for them on league night, and eventually I was asked to join full-time."

"It was such an exciting time. It was an experience I wish every 17-year-old girl could have."

Nowadays, it may be hard for some to imagine the enthusiasm bowling used to generate. But during McAllister's heyday, people used to flock to alleys just to watch.

"It was a great era for bowling. It was just coming into its fame, and we were getting all sorts of attention," she says.

The women on the team may have been local celebrities. But they weren't high rollers financially.

"We did everything for charity," she explains. "We used to bowl at all kinds of benefits for the war effort, for the Red Cross, for sending boxes of supplies, for War Bonds."

"One thing we used to do was bowl exhibitions against a team from the Detroit Tigers. We'd bowl against people like Dizzy Trout and Hal Newhouser. People would line up outdoors — they couldn't even get inside!"

Although there wasn't much money to be made in competitive bowling,

"People would line up to see us ... It was a great era for bowling."

— Lois McAllister

McAllister now says she wouldn't have traded the experience for anything.

"We had a wonderful sponsor, Otto Prefke," she says. "He owned Gears by Enterprise, which was a tool company on the east side of Detroit. He was probably the best sponsor any team could have. All our expenses were paid."

"He always made sure we had beautiful, tailored red-white-and-blue uniforms. We were always known for being the best-dressed team." Prefke even saw to it the team had a station wagon with a customized paint job for its tour to Texas. The team also made road jaunts to Chicago, Columbus, Ohio, and all over Michigan. It's clear the Gears by Enterprise team was a hot act.

The act was never hotter than when it came to Wurm's Recreation bowling alley in Detroit, December 16, 1946. It's an easy date for McAllister to remember, since her induction into the Hall took place last December 16. "A coincidence," she says.

On that night 38 years ago, McAllister, team captain Agnes Ekstrom, Marie Shamlock, Flo Morys and Hattie Wooster combined for a 1,141-pin game and a 3,132-pin series. Both scores stood as world records for nearly 30 years.

"That was thrilling," she says. "The old record wasn't even close to it. It was news all over the country."

"We had a real peppy team. Each girl had her own style. I used to lead off, because you wanted somebody who would pick the team up to start."

McAllister rolled a 650 three-game series, second-highest on the team to Eckstrom's 683. Wooster checked in with a 644, Marie Shamlock rolled a 590 and Morys 565.

It was a great night for the team, but McAllister's scores really weren't unusual for her level of play. After all, she carried a 197 lifetime average.

"It was harder to do that back then," she notes. "The pins were much heavier than they are now, and now they have grooved alleys, too."

None of those latter-day developments were in place when McAllister bowled her best game ever — a 289. She rolled strikes on all but her last ball. "I left the ten pin," she says with mock chagrin. She has also had a 278 game.

All of this was heady stuff for a young woman still in her teens. She now says she is grateful to have a family and teammates who helped her keep her feet squarely on the ground.

Her father, Clarence Hoffman, built and operated the first bowling alley in the west suburban area in 1940. Then called Livonia Lanes, it is now Sabatini's. When Clarence Hoffman operated it, it was a popular stopping-place for bowlers from all over the state because of Hoffman's drilling expertise and his friendly, knowledgeable manner.

Lois McAllister spent long hours practicing at the alley with her father, grandfather and brothers helping her.

"Dad would correct my form. He was a very good teacher, and I learned a lot about patience from him."

She says her three brothers, Wesley, Warren and Cass, "meant everything to me." All were excellent bowlers, and all three served with distinction in World War II. Wesley died in the war's European campaign.

During the war, Lois Hoffman became Lois McAllister for the record, marrying William McAllister. The couple still owns and operates the party store William built at Northville and Five Mile roads 40 years ago this March.

A bout with rheumatic fever, made worse by her hectic lifestyle, left Lois bedridden for six months. Although she later returned to full health, she decided to quit the Gears by Enterprise team to concentrate on family and business.

At Livonia Lanes, she excelled as an instructor and she became known as a pioneer in forming the area's first organized leagues for senior citizens and for youths.

Her nomination to the Hall of Fame was a "thrill," she said. A plaque has been placed in her honor in the Hall, which is maintained at the Detroit Historical Museum.

Kunz installed as advisor

Vicki Kunz of Novi will be installed as Worthy Advisor of the Northville Assembly of the International Order of the Rainbow for Girls in ceremonies at the Masonic Lodge in Northville on Tuesday, January 22, at 7 p.m.

Other new officers are Bethany Waite of Novi, Worthy Associate Advisor; Kitty Krueger of Northville, Charity; Karen Krueger of Northville, Hope; and Leslie Remali of Westland, Faith.

Also to be installed are Judy Krueger of Northville, Drill Leader; Samantha Wall of Plymouth, Chaplain; Lynn Higgins of Northville, Love; Pam Vowler of Plymouth, Nature; Bonnie Milligan of Livonia, Immortality; Nikki Foreman of Northville, Fidelity; Amy Remali of Westland, Patriotism; and Averil Comito of Canton, Service.

Rainbow Girls is a non-denominational group for young women sponsored by the Order of the Eastern Star. Purpose of the organization is to teach young girls to become young women.

As Worthy Advisor, Kunz has selected "Service" as her theme. Her colors will be pink and lavender, and her song will be "I'd Love to Teach the World to Sing." Her motto will be: "To help a friend in need; to be a friend in deed."

New city department slated

Creation of a new city department of finance will be discussed in public hearing during city council's January 21 meeting.

An ordinance creating the department was introduced at council's January 7 session. City manager Steven Walters explained that the new department "merely formalizes what exists already" and requires no additional city employees.

Designating the new department, he said, clarifies lines of authority on city spending and "establishes certain rights and duties," he said. The way was cleared for such a department when the finance director was determined to be a supervisory position during negotiation with the clerical bargaining unit, Walters noted.

We have all your IRA answers.

"... Retirement's only 10 years away—it's too late to start an IRA... right?"

Wrong.

Putting $2,000 each year into a Down River Federal Savings Individual Retirement Account for 10 years could give you an extra nest egg of $35,833.

After all, why settle for just getting by when you can start now and build a bigger and more secure future. At $2,000 a year, you'll have a tidy sum in ten years. An extra $250 deduction is allowed for a non wage earning spouse for a total deduction of $2,250. And married couples who are both employed may contribute up to $4,000 a year to an IRA — so you'll have twice as much in your nest egg.

And, let us tell you about how your

IRA contribution can lower your income tax each year (even last year if you act before April 15).

School board approves attendance boundary revision

the public hearing, would include changes proposed in dropping the boundary line to Maybury State Park and adding the central city area bordered by West Main Street on the north, Beck Road on the west, Seven Mile on the south and Northville Road on the east to the Amerman School area.

In outlining each of the three proposals, Superintendent George Bell said "it's important the board keep in mind the potential growth areas" in the district.

The superintendent noted that both Amerman and Winchester are considered to be potential "big growth" areas, whereas marginal growth is anticipated for the Silver Springs area.

Bell recommended the board approve the proposal to drop the Eight Mile boundary line to the Maybury State Park property at a line mid-point between Seven and Eight Mile Road. The revision to the original recommendation is only a minor change as few elementary students currently live in that area.

Bell told the board that by dropping the boundary line, the district could "accommodate students on both sides of Eight Mile." It was noted that the change would affect five students at the present time.

Bell pointed out that the revised proposal would keep student enrollments close to the district's target figure of 389 students per building.

In accordance with the revised plan, 437 students would attend Amerman, 386 would attend Silver Springs and 341 would be at Winchester.

The superintendent also pointed out that under the proposed plan, the district would be able to accommodate enrollment increases at both Amerman and Winchester. The superintendent's recommendation would put Amerman at 61 percent capacity, Silver Springs at 82 percent capacity and Winchester at 53 percent.

In the proposal outlined by central city residents, Bell noted that enrollment would be 508 or 72 percent capacity at Amerman with only 315 students (65 percent capacity) at Silver Springs.

Winchester would remain the same.

During discussion of the three proposals, board president Jean Hansen said she realized both advantages and disadvantages to the central city recommendation.

She noted, for instance, that most central city students live within a mile and a half of Amerman and could walk to school thereby saving the district transportation costs.

She also thought a school at 65 percent rather than 85 percent capacity might offer students and staff more flexibility.

However, Hansen said she questioned whether "it is a good idea to have a discrepancy of 200 students between Amerman and Silver Springs."

According to Bell, the optimum enrollment for an elementary school is considered to be approximately 400 students. He told the board that a 500-plus enrollment would require additional staff and services.

It was also pointed out that central city students currently are being bused to Amerman, regardless of the fact that most live within a mile and a half of the school.

Bell told board members that busing students in the central city area was a result of the Main Street School closing and is a violation of the school district's busing policy.

However, he explained, the situation developed as a result of the public's furor over closing Main Street and has remained that way regardless of the policy violation.

Among those attending Monday's school board meeting were several central city residents who had protested the administration's proposed plan at last week's public hearing.

A petition, signed by 36 central city residents protesting the change to Silver Springs, was presented to the board.

Mary Poole, a Fairbrook Court resident, questioned the superintendent about the growth areas around the three elementary schools.

Bell said the Beacon Woods subdivision on Eight Mile Road is expected to contain approximately 160 homes when completed and already is bringing more students into the Amerman attendance area.

Referring to a door-to-door survey conducted in October by Jay and Joyce Dunkerley in the Beacon Woods area, it was noted that by 1988, an additional 40 students will be attending Amerman from the 88 homes surveyed. There currently are seven students from that area at Amerman.

It also was noted that there is potential for greater enrollment as that area develops.

In the Winchester area, Bell said the Lakes of Northville area has potential for increasing that school's enrollment. However, Bell said "there is very little growth potential in the Silver Springs area."

"There are no large group subdivisions going in there," he added, noting that multiples planned around Silver Springs generally do not impact elementary school enrollments.

Poole also told the board she had "a problem with the noise factor" at Silver Springs.

Bell explained that while classrooms in both Silver Springs and Winchester open into a large media area, all rooms are carpeted which helps curb noise problems.

Trustee Glenna Davis stated she "had three children go through Silver Springs and noise has not been a problem."

In voting to approve the superintendent's recommendation to revise the boundary lines as originally proposed with the minor revision through Maybury Park, board trustee David Llewellyn noted that "what we're doing here tonight is the last step of a long range plan."

The board approved the superintendent's recommendation by a vote of 6-0. Trustee Douglas Whitaker was absent from Monday's meeting.

"We know we can't satisfy everyone," Hansen told the audience.

However, the board said it would make every effort to accommodate parents who wish to take advantage of the district's open attendance policy. (See related story.)

Parents voice concerns at public hearing

By MICHELE M. FECHT

Though calm prevailed in the district's decision to close Moraine Elementary School last November, the issue of redistricting elementary students stirred a heated debate at a public hearing last Wednesday evening.

Some 40-50 parents attended the hearing at Northville High School to voice their concerns about the district's proposed boundary revision.

Unveiled at the board's December 17 meeting, the proposal discussed at Wednesday's hearing divides the district along its east-west corridors into three attendance areas.

Superintendent George Bell told those attending the hearing that the "purpose in redistricting is to try and balance enrollments in the three buildings."

"Our target figure is 389 students per building," Bell said. He noted that should the proposed boundary revision be approved, projected enrollments will be 432 at Amerman, 385 at Silver Springs and 341 at Winchester.

"It's necessary for us to get at this decision at this stage," Bell told the audience. "It's important that transportation schedules and routings be made."

"The other concern is staff," he said, noting that staff members at both Moraine and Winchester will have to be reassigned prior to the close of the school year.

Bell told the audience the proposal was outlined in December to a citizens' committee representing each of the current elementary areas.

"I can't say the entire committee endorsed the proposal," Bell noted. "Many had concerns."

However, he said the proposal received a "generally good reception" from the committee as a whole.

Students primarily affected by the redrawn boundaries are those in the central city area south of Main Street between Beck and Northville Road who currently attend either Amerman or Moraine.

The majority of the parents protesting the new plan Wednesday night live in the central city area.

Fairbrook Court resident Mary Poole told school board members attending the public hearing that "in my neighborhood there is an extreme amount of apathy among parents in this area to be relocated."

"We're part of the city and we would like to stay in a city school," she said. "We do not want to go out to the township."

She further noted that there "aren't many children in the area and we would prefer to continue schooling our children at Amerman."

Poole's husband Rich told board members his family decided to move into Northville "because of the city."

"We also decided on Amerman School," he noted. "We prefer that school over the other two."

He further stated he would "look at all legal ramifications if the change really does come down."

First Street resident Patti Tomasak, a member of the citizens' committee, said that "since they closed our own neighborhood school, we think our children should go to a city school."

"We don't really relish being sent out to the township," she noted. "We think

Board maintains open attendance

The decision to close Moraine and Cooke schools coupled with the school board's approval Monday to revise the district's attendance boundaries has renewed interest in Northville's open attendance policy.

Since April, 1979, students in the Northville Public School district have been permitted to attend a school outside their attendance boundaries provided they meet all administrative guidelines when applying for transfer.

Among the guidelines stipulated by the board of education is that all requests be received in writing by the building principals no later than April 15 of the school year before the transfer. A review of the written request also is required by the building principal and principal of the receiving school, review of the request with appropriate building staff and review of the student's total educational needs.

Transfer is granted provided the sending and receiving principals recommend the change as being in the student's best interest, that there is physical space available in the school and grade being requested and that parents provide transportation for students being transferred. There also is a stipulation that students may not transfer back to their original school during the year of transfer.

The board of education decided in December to retain the policy.

The board agreed at that time it could accommodate the requests and noted the "mechanics" were written in the policy should it be necessary to limit transfers.

Currently only 20 students (most at the junior high level) attend schools outside their attendance boundaries.

Concern voiced

that since Silver Springs is a smaller school than Amerman, Amerman could absorb our children."

Tomasak further noted that at Silver Springs there are "rooms that don't have four walls and the noise levels are really high."

"The city is our neighborhood," she said. "Silver Springs is a community in its own. It will never be our neighborhood — never."

Estimating that Silver Springs would be at 82 percent capacity should the proposed revision be approved, Tomasak suggested the board move the boundary line for central city students from Eight Mile and Main Street to Seven Mile and Northville Road.

Tomasak noted that such a change in boundaries would put Silver Springs at 67 percent by allowing some central city students to continue attending Amerman.

"We're not saying anything bad about any of the schools," Tomasak told the board. "We just don't feel one school should have kids crammed into it."

J. L. Dunkerley, a Woodbend resident and member of the citizens' committee, mentioned that Maybury State Park also was proposed as a natural boundary.

Board president Jean Hansen noted that the board would consider all options at its January 14 meeting before approving a boundary revision.

"I'm going to retire in 20 years-no sense starting an IRA now... right?"

Wrong.

Start now with an annual $2,000 contribution to a Down River Federal Savings Individual Retirement Account and, at the end of 20 years, you'll have an extra $132,049* to play with!

$132,049 isn't bad when you stop to think that it means less than $89 a week to make a $2,000 a year contribution into your IRA. That's a lot less than many people spend on entertainment!

And you'll be creating a solid secure addition to your future. Here's a pleasant bonus: That $2,000 a year is deducted from your income — and the taxes you'd normally pay on it, and the interest earned are deferred.

Here's your first step: Visit or call any of our 24 neighborhood offices. In the Downriver area call 285-1010. In the Northville area call 477-9340 and in the Monticue area call 243-6600.

High school searched following bomb scare

In the City . . .

All rooms at Northville High School were searched Monday morning after a switchboard operator in the superintendent's office received a bomb threat about 11:07 a.m.

However, Principal David Bolitho decided not to evacuate the building when no sign of a bomb was found.

The operator reported a deep-voiced male stated, "I bombed the high school last night. I'm calling to give you time to evacuate."

Superintendent George Bell notified the principal. He with maintenance staff and police searched the premises. The operator reported receiving a second call at 11:31 a.m., asking, "Did you find it?" There was no further conversation.

City police have released a report on a call to an apartment on Church Street at 3:25 a.m. December 31 with the report of a suicide. The occupant, Gary Alan Gariepy, 27, apparently had shot himself with a shotgun.

Friends told police they heard the shot as they were leaving the apartment and notified the police then. They stated that the action apparently was the result of despondency after a domestic argument with a girl friend.

A breaking and entering at a Main Street car wash was reported to police at 8:04 a.m. Sunday by the manager, who estimated that $50 was taken from a cash box.

According to police reports, entry was gained by removing a steel grate on the south side of the building with the thief exiting the same way.

Theft of a wallet from his left, rear pocket was reported by a Taylor resident attending Northville Downs. The incident took place in the lower grandstands January 8.

The complainant told police he had just made a bet using money from the wallet. A friend then asked to borrow $50 and, he reported, when he reached for the wallet, it was missing.

The complainant later reported receiving a call from a Pontiac resident saying the wallet had been found in a lavatory at the track. He retrieved the wallet, which contained no money. He said the caller reported there was none when it was found.

. . . from MSP

One person suffered minor injuries in a three car collision on Seven Mile Road west of Northridge January 7, state police said.

Police said one car not involved in the accident was stopped in the left lane of westbound Seven Mile, waiting to make a left turn into the state police post at 11:55 a.m. that day. A second car stopped behind the first.

The driver of the third car, Betty Colovas of Cotswald Court, told police she did not see that the cars in front of her were stopped until too late. In her attempt to avoid ramming the stopped cars, she told police, she swerved into the right lane.

But a fourth car, driven by a Novi woman, was already traveling in that lane and could not avoid colliding with Colovas' car. The impact drove Colovas' vehicle into the second stopped car. She complained of minor injuries but sought her own medical treatment. She was cited for improper lane usage.

State police praised the action taken by a Livonia woman in a December 20 encounter with a man who was following her.

The woman reported she was driving westbound on Eight Mile at Farmington Road when the man, whom she did not know, bumped his car into the back of hers. As she continued out Eight Mile, she told police, it was evident the man was following her.

She turned left onto Silver Spring and the man continued to follow her, she said. Upon reaching Seven Mile Road, she drove directly to the state police post.

The man drove his car into the parking lot with her. When the woman went into the post to report the incident, the man sat in his parked car. Police went out to the parking lot and questioned the man, who denied bumping the woman's car and could not explain why he was sitting in his parked car at the post. He was detained while the woman left.

"She really did the smart thing," said state police community service officer Robert Garcia. "We advise people, if they are being followed or harassed, to go straight to a police station or another well-lighted public place — a McDonald's or something — and call police. Whatever you do, don't get out of your car if there is no one else around."

. . . in the Township

Three automobile tires valued at $347 were stolen from a 1984 Ford Escort parked on Windsor Court sometime between 10 p.m. January 2 and 8 a.m.

January 3, township police report. The complainant told police unknown person(s) also attempted to steal the fourth tire as all lug nuts were missing. Police at the scene found the rear of the vehicle supported by a piece of wood with an inexpensive jack holding up the front.

The complainant told police he found a lug wrench in a lot close to where he parked his car.

Police noted in their report that there was no apparent attempt to break into the vehicle.

Two vehicle break-ins occurred in the parking lot of a Five Mile bar sometime between 8 and 10:45 p.m. January 4, township police report.

Both vehicle owners reported stolen radar detectors valued at approximately $250.

Unknown persons smashed the rear window of a 1985 Oldsmobile Delta parked on Lehigh Court sometime between noon and 3 p.m. January 5, township police report.

Township amends budget

Township board members January 10 adopted budget amendments recommended by treasurer Richard Henningsen to reflect unanticipated revenues and expenditures during the current fiscal year.

Henningsen noted that revenues are above the budgeted $1.426 million figure and should be amended to $1.648 million. Revenues were above anticipated levels in many areas, he said, but particularly in the building department and through investments.

Investment income was budgeted at only $40,000, even though last year's final figure was more than twice that. Henningsen had anticipated a large drop due to summer school tax collections, but praised deputy treasurer

Sydney Harral for continuing to make advantageous investments.

Building department income was budgeted at last year's level, but a rapid increase in building activity pushed revenues beyond the budget figure.

Unanticipated expenditures ate up many of the gains, however. Henningsen said a leading cost was "the addition of an exorbitant amount of legal fees." The township has also added one employee, purchased a computerized voting machine, a new copier and invested in repairs to township hall. All those expenses were not included in the current fiscal year budget.

The township fiscal year begins April 1 and ends March 31.

Officials oppose DeHoCo lease plan

An arrangement by which state prisoners would be housed temporarily in the Detroit House of Corrections while Detroit continues to own and operate the Five Mile Road facility pending its sale to the state is drawing fire from area officials.

"There is a gentleman's agreement to use DeHoCo, but it hasn't been finalized yet," said Emmet Baylor, DeHoCo director.

Detroit Mayor Coleman Young revealed the pending arrangements, intended as an immediate response to the state's prison overcrowding crisis, after discussions with the governor's office.

"We're talking about a service agreement to contract for the care of state prisoners at the facility," Herb DeYoung, deputy director of the state department of management and budget, told the Plymouth Observer last week.

"It would be temporary until the purchase of the property or until all their inmates are removed," he said. "As they go out, we're going in."

But Northville Township Supervisor Susan Heintz, Plymouth Township Supervisor Maurice Breen and state legislator Gerald Law (R-Plymouth Township) are unhappy about what they believe may be happening at DeHoCo.

All three have been opposing the state's interest in purchasing DeHoCo for construction of a new state prison — but they find the temporary housing proposal a more ominous threat.

"The problem with using DeHoCo for temporary housing is the same problem DeHoCo has had all these years — security," said Heintz. "DeHoCo has not got the security provisions necessary for the housing of a thousand prisoners. Walkaways from DeHoCo have been as high as three a day at one point — it's another Northville State Hospital in that respect."

Heintz noted that the current DeHoCo prisoners are serving sentences of up to a year, and said prisoners from the state system would likely be those convicted of more serious crimes for longer terms in jail.

"Obviously, if they continue running it the way the city of Detroit did before, they're going to have serious problems with it," Heintz said. "Fortunately for Northville Township, the escapees won't be coming this way." She explained that almost all walkaways from DeHoCo head directly for the M-14 freeway due south of the facility.

She said an early discussion of the transfer of DeHoCo to state ownership revolved around "a Phoenix-type prison. We thought that might be all right — walkaways haven't been a problem there."

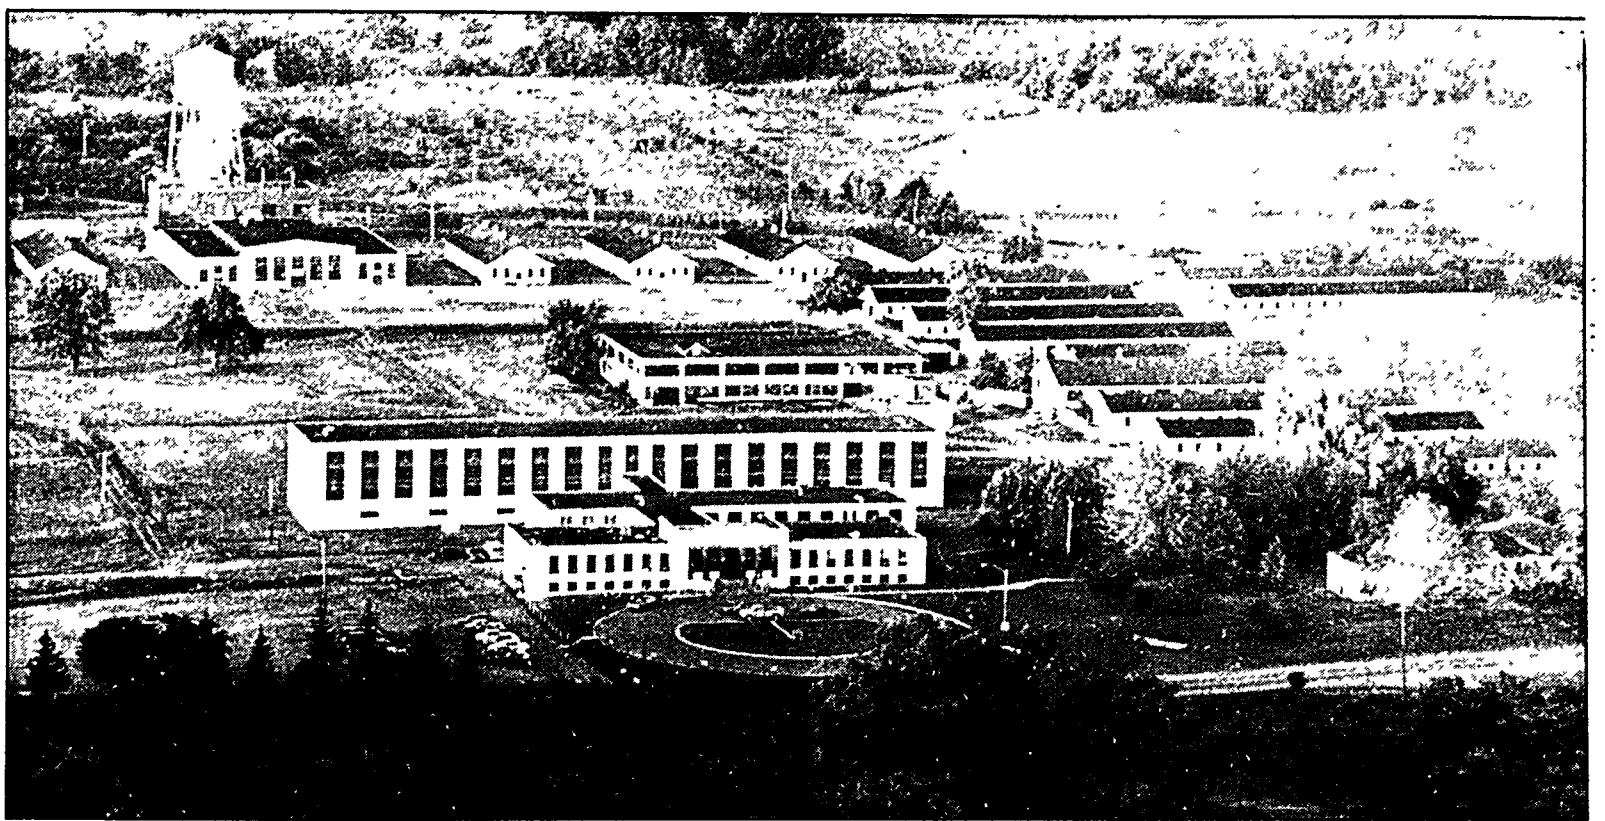

Phoenix Correctional Facility is on the north side of Five Mile in Northville Township. The state converted former DeHoCo women's division buildings into Phoenix by erecting new perimeter fencing and other security measures. It houses minimum and medium security inmates.

Heintz said later discussion has suggested the state would build a new regional prison like the prototype Scott facility under construction adjacent to Phoenix. "Then they started talking about temporary uses and then the regional prison. We know from our experience with Phoenix and Scott that when the state starts talking about temporary to be followed by a regional, what they really mean is two prisons operating at the same time," Heintz said.

She said she, Breen, state senator R. Robert Geake and Congressman Carl Pursell met Monday morning to discuss methods of opposing the state's apparent intention to begin housing prisoners at DeHoCo almost immediately.

The current population of prisoners at DeHoCo started moving to the new county jail January 10 and the transfer is intended to be completed by March. DeYoung said the state hopes to use DeHoCo for housing of prisoners who do not need the high-level security provisions of other state prisons.

"Both the supervisor of Plymouth Township (Breen) and myself are under the impression they don't have an agreement yet," Heintz said. "We're going to Lansing Wednesday and talk to everybody we can talk to about this."

convicted felons to the state and federal governments.

It solidly supports the state department of corrections' regional prison concept, noting that for it "to be generally accepted, regional correctional facilities must be built inside the City of Detroit. Without the willing participation of Detroit, the concept of community-based corrections will never become a reality."

Lucas' charge to the commission included a study of economic impacts of crime and of prison construction within the community. The commission's findings include the statement that the evidence reviewed "indicates that, properly located, designed and operated prison facilities are not a major deterrent to community development and property value growth in either urban or suburban environments."

It cites a University of Wisconsin study in Green Bay area showing that a suburb surrounding a new prison "had become the most desirable residential community in the area." As further support for the statement, the commission report cites Northville Township as an example. "The Northville Township government appears to consider the Phoenix Correctional Facility a good neighbor, and within one mile of the site are residential subdivisions with homes averaging about $100,000 in value, according to the 1980 census."

While property values may be unaffected, the report acknowledges there is additional burden laid on public services by prisons in a community.

The report recommends various measures to enhance economic benefits to communities where prisons are sited. It suggests state consideration of a local set-aside for purchases involving construction and operation of the prison, for instance.

It also recommends changes in the state revenue sharing formula so that all prison inmates would be counted in the community's population for revenue sharing purposes, rather than the present practice of counting only 50 percent of institutional residents. It also recommends that the addition be made to the census count immediately upon opening a new prison, rather than requiring a special census or waiting for the next U.S. Census.

Another recommendation calls for removal of "artificial limits" on fire protection payments made to local governments where state facilities are located.

The report defines Northville Township's $1 purchase of 30 acres of state land adjacent to the Scott prison site as a "bonus compensation" and recommends that similar "bonuses" be offered other communities. For Detroit, it suggests that a state police patrol in a one-mile area surrounding a prison site would make a desirable "bonus."

Traffic study delays plans

City planners last week dimmed Norman Naimark's hopes of building 26 apartments on an irregularly-shaped parcel of property near Taft and Eight Mile roads.

The developer's parcel borders Taft north and Eight Mile east of where the two roads actually meet — thus it wraps around the gas station and party store located there.

The Northville Planning Commission, at its meeting Tuesday, January 8, unanimously decided to delay consideration of approving site plans for the project until a city police report on the effects on traffic in the hilly area could be completed.

The commissioners in particular expressed concern about the visibility of cars entering and departing the street or drive proposed to provide access to the apartments.

Our Opinions

Zoning must reflect policy for village

Anxious as everyone is to see the township's Cavanagh Retirement Village project get started, planners must avoid the temptation to hand the developers everything requested in their petition to revise the zoning ordinance.

While we understand the developers' concerns that the RME zoning classification established particularly for this project may be needlessly restrictive, we urge planners to be cautious in adopting amendments. The entire concept of what the village is to be has been altered in a practically wholesale manner since the zoning classification was adopted, which is the source of much of the conflict. The major one is that "market rate" housing available to all groups would be a part of the project, though it is not allowed under the present zoning.

This means each alteration has to be considered not only in terms of how it affects the development itself, but also for what it implies about township policy in regard to what type of development is sought there. For instance, allowing the apartment structures to be 75-feet high rather than 60 feet, while simultaneously allowing up to 50 percent of the residents to be from age groups outside the previously defined "elderly" class may entice other developers to seek RME zonings elsewhere in the township. Is that what the township wants? We don't know, but we know the decision has to be made on that basis and not solely to solve a problem for the petitioners.

Similar considerations exist regarding the petitioners' request for deletion of a clause which states that convenience shopping on the site must not be visible from the roadway, and another alteration that would allow the planning commission to waive setback requirements without a hearing by the zoning board of appeals. All these requirements the developer wants changed were established after long consideration resulting in township goals for the project. It is time to reconsider those goals in light of the economic realities, but the result of reconsideration should be revised township goals, not an abandonment of them in favor of the developers' desires.

While we hope the township and developers can work together to develop the land in a way that suits everyone's needs, the responsibility for establishing policy belongs the township — it should not be relinquished even for so enticing a project as the retirement village. If the RME zoning classification cannot be amended to suit the developer while remaining reflective of township intents, then consideration should be given to downsizing the RME zone and changing to the township's standard multiple family classification on that area designated for market rate housing.

Method to fund sewer appears fair

With the possible exception of its impact on a handful of residential parcels along Six Mile Road, the funding methodology recommended by township engineer Edward J. McNeely for the Haggerty Road sewer district deserves praise as a model of fair treatment.

Consider that by financing nearly $1 million of the cost through "unit factor access charges" the township effectively offsets nearly one-third of the cost by a method that minimizes the impact on homeowners, for they must pay only one access charge. We believe it charges developers a reasonable rate for the opportunity to subdivide property previously undevelopable due to the costs of extending sewer service to the area. There is an incentive to pay these charges as early as possible, since interest will be added to them each year.

Consider also that by the simple expedient of modifying the charge per acre in accordance with zoning classification, nearly two-thirds of the special assessment is weighted most heavily on commercial and multiple family land uses, which place a heavier burden on the sewer system. In addition, a recent township board action assures that if property currently zoned for single family residential use is later changed to commercial or multiple family uses, the property owner will have to make a larger contribution to the district costs. Any wholesale rezonings would likely result in a reimbursement to the single family homeowners in the area after the bonds are fully paid off.

While we understand the concerns of those homeowners with lots that have large acreage but only small road frontage, and hope the township can find some way to ease the burden on them without opening the assessment methodology to legal challenge, we suggest that those homeowners first understand that their properties are being provided a valuable and expensive service at what appears to be a bargain rate overall. Thanks to participation from Novi and the township water and sewer department, assessments within the district are very reasonable in comparison to other township sewer projects of recent years.

Everyone wishes that the Haggerty Road interceptor had remained in the plans for a "super sewer" system and eligible for federal and state support. Unfortunately, it did not. A Haggerty interceptor is a vital element in the township's future growth and proceeding with it as quickly as possible is in everyone's long term best interest.

Error explained

An inadvertent error during composition of last week's Record editorial page led to the text of one editorial being printed twice while another intended for publication was left out entirely. The editorial intended to run under the headline "Method to fund sewer appears fair" is printed under the same headline this week. The commentary on Jerod Swallow that appeared in its place was an earlier draft of the one printed under the proper headline, "Swallow's feats show pride, effort." We regret the error.

Manage your own time

By Kathy Jennings

After reading a number of time management articles, I have concluded they are all written by people who have always known how to manage their time, and therefore have no understanding or sympathy for those of us who allow our time to go unmanaged.

These "time management experts" obviously are people who have never experienced the thrill of getting it done at the last minute; pushing yourself to the limit to prove it can be done.

Take it from someone who knows of that which she speaks: Procrastination is an American way of life. Why do we have fast food restaurants? So we can eat at the last minute. Why do we have 24-hour Martinizing? So we don't have to plan when to take our clothes to the laundry. Almost everything we do is done faster than it was six years ago. When you can do it quickly, it's safe to put it off.

But these "experts" have turned procrastination into a dirty word. It cannot be healthy to condemn millions of Americans for practicing what appears to be a natural state for many. All across the America workers are experiencing needless guilt, perpetuated by "time management experts."

What's more these "experts" are accusing us of guilt we do not have. For example, delegation is supposed to be one way to increase efficiency, but they say procrastinators refuse to delegate either because they are perfectionists who believe there is no one who can do it the way they can, or they feel they should be punished because they didn't do it expeditiously in the first place. As punishment the procrastinators must be the ones to do the job.

Hogwash. To delegate you have to have someone to delegate to. For most lower-level procrastinators it is as simple as that. In the case of those who have someone to delegate to, but who refuse to do so, the "experts" have confused procrastinators with martyrs.

Supposedly, procrastinators are preoccupied with time — always assessing how much they have to do and how much time is left to do it in. They are constantly playing games with the clock, trying to outsmart it. But their views of time are unrealistic, one "expert" says. They never allow enough time to accomplish what must be done.

Wrong, wrong, wrong.

Any procrastinator worth the name is simply a person who lives on the edge of an precipitating crisis. To remain cool in the face of impending doom, to stay calm when challenged by overwhelming odds, to finish the job when all indications are it can't be done; this is what procrastination is all about. Some people sky dive; some climb 12,365 foot mountains; procrastinators leave things to the last minute. In the end, they all have the same sense of accomplishment. But mountain climbers and skydivers are called courageous, while procrastinators are called unorganized. This is simply intolerance and inexplicable bias.

What the "experts" don't understand is procrastination is not necessarily a way to avoid unpleasant or overwhelming amounts of work. True procrastinators expect to get important work done; they just don't want to devote any more time to it than they have to. They know if they leave themselves eight hours before a deadline to accomplish something, it will take seven hours and 35 minutes to finish the task. But if they start it two weeks before it's due, they will spend 27 hours on it.

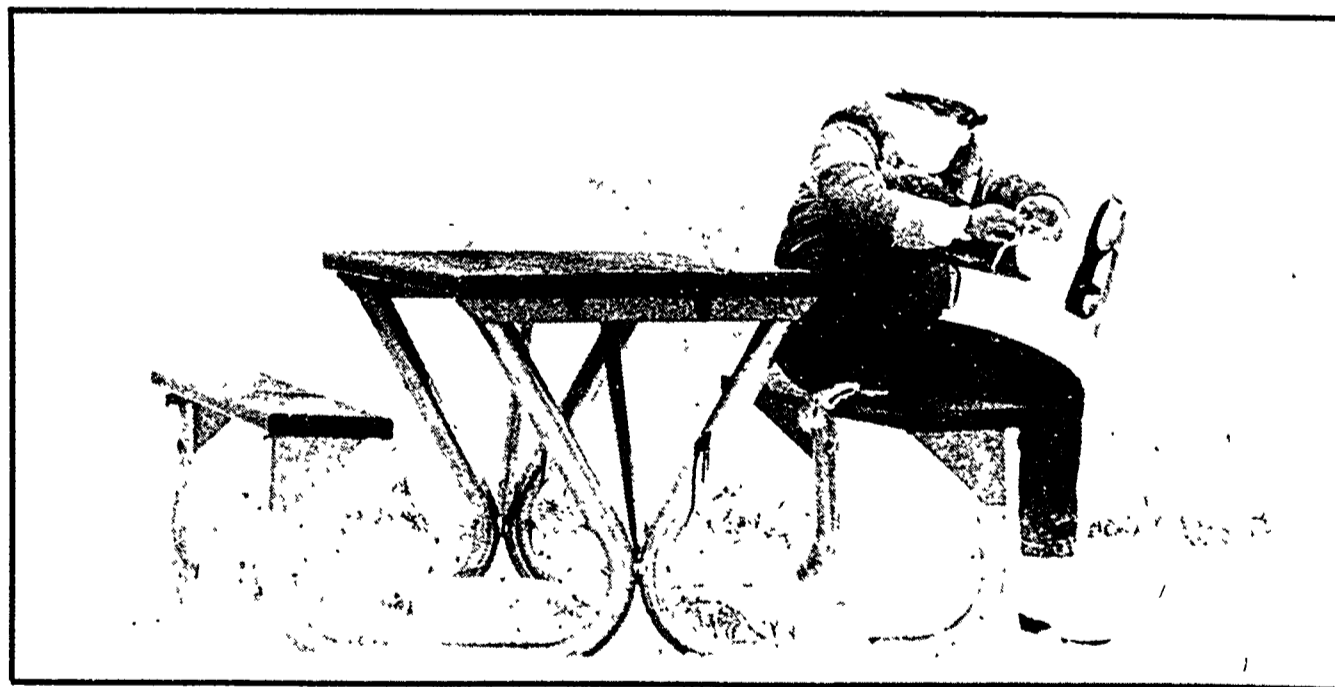

More advice from the experts: "use little bits of time." They say if you wait for a huge chunk of time, you may wait forever. They recommend tackling intolerable tasks 15 minutes at a time.

What? And drag out some God-forsaken job over weeks and weeks? Better to get it over with or never start it in the first place. If it is a truly irksome task, the procrastinator may put it off to see how long he/she can get away without doing it. Ultimately, it will get done, but not one minute before it has to be done — providing of course that it must be done.

As the Procrastinators' Club of America, a group 4,400 members strong, says: "Nonprocrastinators accomplish things that never had to be done in the first place."

After the fact

By PHILIP JEROME

The complaint came from an unexpected source.

I expected to catch a few snide comments from your basic "truth, justice and the American way" types after revealing last week that I was working my way through a set of Trivial Pursuit cards in anticipation of some upcoming competition.

It wouldn't have surprised me one bit to get a call from Dudley and Dora Doright, complaining that I was violating the concepts of fair play and sportsmanship by familiarizing myself with the Trivial Pursuit cards in advance.

But neither Dudley nor Dora called.

The complaint was lodged by my wife when she discovered I was keeping the cards by the edge of the bed so I could go through a few of them before getting up in the morning and a few more before retiring at night.

"You and those stupid cards," she complained as I was attempting to memorize the name of some obscure drummer with some obscure rock group of the mid-60s.

"First thing in the morning and last thing at night. Have you got them all memorized yet? Have you got Ginger Baker's name etched permanently in your memory? Do you know what Pope was visiting New York when the Yankees beat the Dodgers in the last game of the World Series?"

"Why can't you just play the game? Why do you have to bone up on all the answers in advance? You're just too competitive. You've always got to win."

"Ginger Baker played with Cream," I responded politely. "And I don't remember the name of the Pope. There are a lot of Pope questions on these cards and I can't get them all straight. It's like the space mission questions. I can't remember who did what on which mission. But try me on Watergate. I'm thick on Watergate questions."

She sighed and walked off, but she didn't fool me. I knew why she was upset. It was because I wasn't letting her go through the cards with me in anticipation of the possibility that we might not be on the same team.

"Hey, Diane," I yelled as she exited into the kitchen. "Who said, 'Winning isn't everything; it's the only thing?'"

Funeral service for Vera May Visnyak was held at 11 a.m. Monday at Casterline Funeral Home with the Reverend Willard Nance of the Evangelist Baptist Church of Melvindale officiating.

Mrs. Visnyak, who was 53, died unexpectedly January 10 at St. Mary Hospital. Burial was to be in Rural Hill Cemetery.

A homemaker and Redford Township resident, Mrs. Visnyak was a member of the China Painting Guild of Farmington. She was born March 14, 1931, to Jay and Audie O. (Smith) Hughes. She married Joseph G. Visnyak who survives.

She also leaves her father in Kentucky, daughters Mrs. Vera Rose of Redford Township and Sharon at home, a son Joseph at home and a sister Mrs. Peggy East in Kentucky.

Former Northville resident Violet P. Drillen, who had been living in Miami, died January 11 at South Miami Hospital after a year's illness. She was 83.

A homemaker, Mrs. Drillen had been an active senior citizen participant at Allen Terrace before moving to Florida.

She was born March 13, 1901, in Grimsby, Lincolnshire, England, to Frederick and Hanah (Stanger) Rushmore. She married Henry E. Drillen who preceded her in death in 1955.

She leaves daughters Mary Tripp in Florida and Beth Grieve in Texas, and three grandchildren.

Funeral service was held at Casterline Funeral Home at 11 a.m. Tuesday with the Reverend Kenneth G. Davis of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church in Livonia officiating. Burial was to be in Lakeview Cemetery in Clarkston.

GARY A. GARIEPY

A memorial service for Gary A. Gariepy, 27, who died December 31, was held at 7 p.m. January 3 at First Baptist Church of Northville. Dr. James Luther, church pastor, officiated.

Mr. Gariepy was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gariepy of 19691 Clement. He was born in Michigan October 30, 1957.

In addition to his parents he leaves two brothers Glen and Doug, a sister Denise and a grandmother, Mrs. Maud Piggot.

The family suggests that memorial tributes may be sent to the First Baptist Church of Northville to sponsor missions.

Funeral arrangements were by Ross B. Northrop and Son Funeral Home.

Memories of a matriarch

By Jean Day

Death has been a visitor in my life many times. Each time different, each time difficult. I'm coming to understand the feeling of loss. As the minister observed at my mother's funeral last week, what was part of my life now is a memory. It's this transition that is difficult, and — I have come to realize — it is one that is helped by the caring of others.

I didn't understand the value of leaving through memories the first time I encountered death. I was not quite a teenager and had returned from a summer visit in New Jersey with my aunt, uncle and Cousin David — their only child — when we received word of David's death at age 14. This was the cousin who took me hiking in the foothills that were almost in the backyard of the family's Victorian house. I had known that he had sugar diabetes and received daily injections but had no awareness that this would lead to such an early death.

We cousins stared at each other silently at the family gathering called to see who would go East for the service. There seemed no good answer to the "why?"

I was far from alone in receiving news of the death of the serviceman who smiled jauntily at me from the photograph on my dorm dresser during World War II. Almost everyone knew friends who had received the message from the War Department. In this case, it came to his mother — already a widow who had lost another son in childhood. (The Navy sent his twin home).

Recently a friend found one of Herb's V-Mail letters when she was cleaning out an accumulation of many years. The 4 by 5-inch photographic letters used to send mail overseas are a thing of the past, but I'm sure others of my generation remember them. This one, from France, said, "I hope and pray for victory soon because I've seen enough of this war." V-Day didn't come quite soon enough.

The loss of my father the month after he turned 65 was a real one. We were very close. I will always remember how he would make a trip to town to take me out for lunch on Saturdays. Like most of my friends in high school, I had a Saturday job; I worked as a salesclerk at JC Penney. It was our special ritual that he would meet me and buy my lunch, usually a sandwich at a favorite small restaurant. We would discuss the job, my school plans or some upcoming social event, such as the annual Robert Burns dinner — a January highlight for any Scotsman. As I remember this, I still feel the sorrow that he never knew either of his redheaded granddaughters.

After dad, my grandmother died. Even though she was 84, it was the loss of a good friend. She and I had been regular correspondents from my school days through the early married ones. From California she wrote, not of her health, but of my Scottish ancestry because I had asked questions. I still have the letters that are my link with our heritage. After Gram, we lost a half-dozen aunts and uncles, mine and my husband's. Then his mother died, and, not long after, his father. My husband's death in 1973 was an unexpected shock. Then, too, caring of friends helped.

In the years since, all mother's sisters (three younger than she) have died. It disturbed her for it was "out of order." She was the last of her family when she died at 88 of the cancer that she had given a hard battle for eight years. As I remembered her comment last week, I suddenly realized I'm the oldest of the next generation.

I remember the observation made sadly by a friend when her mother died many years ago. "When you lose your mother, you lose the one person who always thought you were better than you are." Getting used to being the matriarch will take a little time.

We have all your IRA answers.

"Every dollar we put into our IRA is tax deductible... right?"

Right!

Your Down River Federal Savings IRA contribution for the year is taken off your annual income... plus the interest your IRA earns is also deferred!

For example, a married couple with a $2,000 contribution to an IRA can save taxes as this chart shows:

TAXABLE INCOME	TAX SAVINGS
$16,000 to $20,200	$850
$20,200 to $24,600	$460
$24,600 to $29,000	$520
$29,000 to $35,200	$600
$35,200 to $45,800	$700

If both members are employed there can be a $4,000 yearly contribution so the tax savings can be even greater. To find out more, call or visit any of our 24 neighborhood offices. In the Downriver area call 285-1010 Northwest area call 477-9240 and in the Monroe area call 477-6600.

Need a loan to finance your IRA?

Borrow from us now and pay us back monthly. And remember the interest on this loan like your IRA is another tax deduction. IRS regulations require a substantial penalty for early withdrawal prior to age 59 1/2, on IRA accounts. Federal regulations require a substantial penalty for early withdrawal from certificate accounts.

Haggerty assessments await state response

Establishment of a special assessment roll for construction of the township's Haggerty Road sewer awaits a state decision on whether or not it will participate in the financing arrangements.

The township board had set a tentative January 17 meeting date for action on the assessment district, but township supervisor Susan Heintz said it may be early next month before the next meeting on the issue.

She said she is scheduled to meet with department of management and budget officials this Friday to discuss the possibility of the state contributing funds toward the project in exchange for being allowed to connect Hawthorn Center to the Haggerty Road sewer. Such a connection would allow the state to eliminate a costly pumping station from its system.

The township also wants the state's permission to install the sewer in land it owns adjacent to the roadway. While state payment of up to $180,000 has been mentioned, that figure does not deduct any consideration the state might want in return for easement agreements.

The township has no authority to levy assessments against the state property; so any payment will under a negotiated agreement.

Zoning amendments sought

plex.

He argued that taller buildings are better for elderly residents. "We are contemplating three buildings of government-assisted units. These are 150 unit structures. It is our experience that 150 units in six floors makes for long corridors. It is easier for elderly persons to travel vertically on elevators than it is for them to travel horizontally on long corridors," he said.

The firm also asked that the township lift a restriction on accessory uses (such as convenience retail and service outlets) that requires they not be visible from the roadway.

"We believe a small, well-located shopping/service area would be desirable," Siegal said. "I don't believe it's possible to provide meaningful convenience supported only by the 1,200 units in the complex — it would have to attract some patrons from outside if it was to be viable."

For that reason, he said, it would have to be visible from the roadway. He suggested altering the ordinance to give the planning commission authority to review the design and location of business uses so that they "will not adversely affect adjoining or surrounding areas."

Planners have the options of recommending the township board accept, reject or alter the proposal.

ficers have other jobs, such as security guard, Walters said getting certification is not an easy matter. "It's almost impossible to become a certified officer when you're working another job," he explained, "because it's a 10-12 week training eight to 12 hours a day." The training is done through a state training council using court fee funds, according to Cannon.

Stressing that at present there is "no change in the city's posture" that auxiliary officers can be used for track traffic, Cannon said that auxiliaries can test to attend the certification school, but concurred with Walters that it is not easy to gain certification "because most (auxiliary officers) have other jobs."

Lasting Lilt

*Just like bird notes
Swelling past the window screen;
I listened in silence
Less sad than I had been;
Then drove my car
Across the miles
Refraining "I must sing" Accompanied only with smiles.*

F. A. Hasenau

October Morn

*Early morning watery sun
After a shower of rain
Which woke me
As it cried
On my window pane.*

*Sounds are so much nearer now,
Colors much more bright
Washed away is the dust in the air
Which had settled overnight*

*Muddy tire tracks on the dirt road
From every car that passed
Worms stretched out hopelessly
Trying to reach
Safety in the grass.*

Kit Henderson

Glass Gropes

*I've shrunk my thoughts to
"Where are his glasses?"
When before was accomplished
Many learned classes
Of life, and resolutions.
Now the focal point is Did anyone here see
"Where are his glasses?"*

F. A. Hasenau

It's Coming

*It's time to pull the geraniums up
And winter them in their pot.*

*It's time to mow
For the very last cut
And rake up the leaves to rot.*

*It's time to take the screens out,
Give the windows a good clean,
And pick the last tomatoes
And hope they'll turn from green.*

*It's time for squirrels and others
To store nuts to stay alive,
And it will soon be time,
(Sooner than I think)
To shovel the 'partly cloudy'
Out of my drive!*

Kit Henderson

The Raven

*As the star ascends—
From the misty Heavens, the Raven emerges;
Swooping down—
Destroying all serenity.
Shrieking!—Shrieking! the requiem.
And he whose ear it falls upon is victim!*

*As the star descends—
From the graying Heavens, the Raven Disappears
Followed by His newly formed Flock—Another day past.*

Paul Franklin

Sharing Our Lives

*There are many joys for us to behold,
As we travel along life's way,
The beautiful scenes, the people we meet,
The friendship and warmth they convey.*

*If only we'd look for the sunshine in life,
It would brighten our paths as we go.
Forget the wrongs and hurts we are dealt,
Let only a friendly side show.*

*If we'd reach out a hand to the weary and sick,
And help them their burdens to bear.
Give them a smile, an encouraging word,
Let them know there are people who care.*

*For the more we give the more we receive,
Of blessings that warm heart and soul.
Each act of kindness, each pleasant word spoken,
Could enrich our lives many fold.*

*Some people have only hate in their hearts,
No warmth or love from within.
They usually look on the dark side of life,
Contribute much in the world towards sin.*

*They also refuse to love or be loved,
And reject anyone who would care.
They live in a world of total indifference,
Have nothing in life but despair.*

*It is never too late to turn life around,
And let the light shine in from above.
Cast out the darkness, and open our hearts,
Let our lives fill with joy, warmth and love.*

Foster Ashby

Almighty God

A mild rain — suddenly turning to ice in the early morning of the New Year, 1985 caused a spectacular, dazzling, Devastating sight!

*Broken transformers, cables, electric wires shrouded in ice, falling to the ground.
An act of God visible to thousands of people left homeless, cold, and without food, clearly spoke again of the providence of God over all creation.*

A reminder of His Divine Rule over-powering all human forces causing the rain to fall on the just and the unjust.

*Limbs on trees broken as His on the cross
heavy, over-laden with ice, split in half, appearing lifeless!*

*The next day, with clear skies sunshine, the Sonshine of His love brought magnificent sights
Beauty to behold!*

*Sparkling diamonds
In the forest groves, a winter wonder-land explicitly portraying
His handiwork.*

*Seen with the human eye
indescribable.*

Again He spoke to a lost world —

But — to those who love Him

"Behold, I make all things new Write, for these words are true."

Esther Cole

The Battle's End

*Silence runs rampant through the air.
It is a strange new sound;
Hauntingly eerie.
The bloodshed has subsided.
The battle won—
But along the way
The casualties were many
The stench of Death
Reaches as high as the Heavens—
Hoary—
Smoldering.
Brave, courageous men
Have died for their country.
Few are heroes
And many will be forgotten—
Until next time.*

Paul Franklin

'Sno Joke

*Oh!
Will you just look at that stuff coming down,
It's not pretty,
It just makes me frown.
It's snowing snowballs out there,
Big blobs of white stuff filling the air.*

*This is the storm we were promised last week,
It stayed in the Rockies playing hide and seek.
But it's here now,
Excuse me, folks, please,
I've got to go
To stock up on groceries!*

Kit Henderson

Serenity

*Out the window I do stare,
The ever-calm lea before me.
A rose of carmine softly sweeps—
No intention.*

Paul Franklin

Letter to an Outlaw

*Panther, panther,
Yellow eyes glowing bright,
Will you creep into a barn tonight?*

*Now that the skies throw snow and sleet
Where are the animals you hunted to eat?
Curled up warm in their winter's sleep,
Snug in burrows dark and deep.*

*We won't hurt you,
Surely you know that?
After all, you're just a pussy cat.*

*Come on, black leopard, give up, do,
They'll only catch you gently
And put you in a zoo.*

*To be poked and stared at,
Nothing to do,
Getting stiff and fat,
Bored all day,
I understand, panther,
Have it your way.*

*But I'll give you a tip for your feline ear—
Never, NEVER, come back here!*

Kit Henderson

Goodbye

*I sit here waiting For the end to come near
When the tears will fall—
Emotions overflow,
And we'll have to say goodbye
Going our separate ways—
Never to see each other again.
But the Love we've shared
And the memories we've created
Will never die
No matter where we are
Or what we do—
Our lives are permanently entwined.*

Paul Franklin

Nothing But The Moon

*I'm staring out not seeing you.
I'm looking hard,
but you're not in view.*

They told me you would be here soon, but so far nothing—but the moon.

*The sea'drops salt
upon the sand,
the wavelets form
upon my hand.*

*I'm waiting here
as time slips by.
If you don't get here
I may cry.*

*The sand is cold
The night air too, but I'll keep sitting here cause I love you.*

*I knew you once not long ago
when things were different;
wasn't that so?*

We had our life planned out so well, but now it's different can't you tell?

You live here and I live there and times are strange because we don't share.

*What happened to us
I don't know,
but it's time to change that;
don't you think so?*

It's pouring down rain and still no you Just me and the sand and the yellow-gold moon.

SUPER SNACKS BOWL

By LEANNE ROGERS

Just when you thought it was safe to turn on your television . . .

... Another football game. One good thing about the Super Bowl is that afterwards there is a short reprieve before the airwaves are inundated again.

I originally was asked to write this food column on dishes that "women could make for the men watching the Super Bowl."

Surely I misunderstood. No apparently intelligent, college-educated adult male could really be uttering such sexist drivel. "Excuse me?" I responded, offering the opportunity for him to quietly remove his foot from his mouth.

Some people can't take a hint. He repeated the initial statement with some elaboration. My reaction to any group, male or female, expecting free maid service is the same. To paraphrase playwright Caryl Churchill (Cloud Nine), "Fetch it yourself. You've got legs under that dress (or trousers, as the case may be)."

But I certainly believe in being a good host when I have guests. It is in that spirit that I offer these serving ideas. Anyone can prepare reasonably edible food with some concentration and effort.

Common sense doesn't hurt, either. Start out simple. You can't jump from Lean Cuisine to gourmet meals.

For a Super Bowl-type gathering, the emphasis should be on food which can be prepared in advance. That way, the hosts can join their guests.

DO-IT-YOURSELF BURRITOS

Two 16-ounce cans refried beans
6-8 ounces grated sharp cheese
3/4 cup taco sauce

Layer the beans in a glass baking dish alternating with cheese and taco sauce. Cover the dish and bake for about 30 minutes at 350 degrees. The taco sauce adds flavor to the beans and also keeps them from drying out. A bit of water or tomato juice could be used as well. But stay away from butter or oil since the canned refried beans contain lard.

Once the beans are thoroughly heated, they can be placed out so people can make their own burritos. Flour tortillas, heated in bun warmers or the oven, will be filled with the bean mixture. Various condiments such as chopped lettuce, tomatoes, onions, olives and sour cream can be set out for extra toppings. Serves 10-12 persons.

SHRIMP & CREAM CHEESE

Two 8-ounce packages cream cheese
Four 8-ounce packages shrimp in cocktail sauce

This is a very tasty, but easy dish to prepare. Just put the cream cheese on a serving plate. Pour the shrimp cocktail over the top. Serve LeAnne Rogers knows whereof she speaks. The Commerce Township resident brings the food pages of The Novi News-Northville Record a rare combination of culinary and writing skills.

From preparing catered meals to overseeing the bill of fare at the Birmingham Community House restaurant as head cook, Rogers has eight years' of wide-ranging professional experience in the restaurant business. (Her at-home cooking gets our kudos, too — the lady throws a good party.)

Add Rogers' kitchen know-how to her years of experience as a newspaper writer for the Novi News and other local publications, and you get a splendid concoction. Enjoy.

with crackers. If you want to get fancy, you can mold the cream cheese. You could buy shrimp and make your own cocktail sauce. But why complicate things? Crab cocktail can be substituted for different taste.

HAM ROLL-UPS

8 ounces sliced ham
4 ounces cream cheese
4-5 teaspoons pickle relish

Cream cheese is wonderful stuff. It can be used as a basis for countless dishes, dips and desserts. For this appetizer, soften the cream cheese and blend in the pickle relish. If you like olives better or capers, God forbid, then make a substitution. After it is well blended, spread the cream cheese mixture on the slices of ham. Roll the ham and chill thoroughly. Just before serving, cut the slices on their side to show the pinwheel effect.

RUMAKI

12 slices of bacon
12 chicken livers
1/2 water chestnuts

Drop the chicken livers into boiling water after draining any excess blood. The livers will cook within five minutes. After draining and cooling the livers, cut them into bite-sized pieces. Cut the bacon slices in half. Take the liver and a sliced water chestnut and wrap them with the bacon. Put a long wooden toothpick through appetizer to hold it in place. Bake the rumaki at 350 degrees until the bacon begins to brown. Drain the rumaki before serving.

STUFFED CUCUMBERS

2 large cucumbers
3 ounces crab meat
2 stalks of celery
1/2 cup diced onion
Half a green pepper, diced
1/2 cup mayonnaise
3 tablespoons chili sauce
Juice from a small lemon

Combine all the ingredients except cucumbers. Season to taste with salt, pepper, garlic, cloves, chives and horseradish. Whip the mixture until it is finely blended. Then chill it. Using a melon scoop, hollow the whole cucumber, removing the seeded sections. Score the exterior of the cucumber with a fork. Stuff the cucumber with the crab mixture, packing it firmly. Chill the stuffed cucumber thoroughly. Slice before serving.

VEGETABLE DIP

2 cups sour cream
1/2 cup mayonnaise
Juice from 1/2 lemon

Combine these ingredients and season to taste with garlic. Other spices can be added, such as oregano, parsley or celery seed. This is really a simple base for dips. Instead of garlic, curry powder could be used for example. Calorie counters can try using yogurt instead of sour cream in the dip. Make dips in advance since the spices take some time to fully blossom. This dip can be used for chips, also.

SPINACH DIP

One box frozen spinach
One pint sour cream
One cup mayonnaise
One packet dry onion soup mix (chunky)
One loaf pumpernickel or Russian bread, round and unsliced

Boil the spinach until tender. The only way this recipe can be really messed up is if the spinach is undercooked. Then the spinach is like rubber. Overcooking the spinach will cause a more pureed-type dip.

Drain the spinach and cool. Mix in all the other ingredients. Chill. Hollow the loaf of bread to create a serving bowl. Cut the excess bread into chunks for dipping. Other seasonings, such as pepper or garlic, are options in this dish.

In Our Town

Luck ran out on show

By JEAN DAY

Viewers of the "Sale of the Century" television game show last week Tuesday saw Northville township resident Maureen Porter come in second in a very close game. "I would have won but for luck," she observed when called at her home on Timberlane.

She did return with $65 in cash (her score value) and such consolation prizes as a case of Shasta, a beach towel, foods and cosmetics.

Getting on the popular daytime show turned out to be a feat in itself, she related. It was taped in December while the Porters — Maureen, husband Doug and sons Darrin, 17, and Brad, 14, — were vacationing in California.

"I've always liked game shows. I'm just one of those people who watch and say, 'I could do that.' I told everyone that I was going to try when we went."

Maureen Porter admitted, however, that she had no idea what she would have to go through before being accepted as a show contestant. First, there was a 50-question, general knowledge type test that "wasn't easy." During the interview, she also had to speak briefly. She was one of the finalists who returned for a second interview; she was asked to speak again and to play a short version of the game before being accepted. She was told that one in 120 candidates is accepted.

The show was taped at the network's studio in Burbank, California, right across from Johnny Carson's studio, while the Porters visited in Hollywood.

Back home, contestant Porter mentioned that it was a bit amusing that she had won the cosmetics inasmuch as she is a Mary K Cosmetics representative. A few years ago her husband had gifted her with a pink Thunderbird to carry out the pink color used by the company. She still drives a pink automobile, but, she mentions, "this one (a Buick) the company gave me."

Caroline Newton surprised on 86th birthday

Active, longtime Northville resident Caroline Newton didn't know she was to be honored with a birthday party until she returned home from having her hair done on December 22 — the day she turned 86.

Neighbors joined four of her six children for birthday cake and conversation at her home on First Street. Her late husband Bernon built their house in 1925. Mrs. Newton recalls that she moved in as a bride and has lived there ever since. She adds that it has been a fine neighborhood with "good neighbors."

On hand for the celebration were Mrs. Newton's oldest son Cleon of Saline, daughters Alice of Birmingham, Ila of Kalamazoo and Cecilia of Redford. Mrs. Newton also has sons Elvin in Fort Wayne and Walter in Florida.

As they planned the birthday surprise, her family recalled Mrs. Newton's many activities in the community and noted that she was known as "the strawberry lady" during the depression when she took her strawberries to Sessions Hospital as treats for patients there.

Maureen Porter runs video tape of her performance — she's at left on screen

Master gardener program begins

Although winter officially is not a month old, now is the time for gardeners to plan to sharpen their horticultural skills.

A Master Gardener training program of the Michigan State University Extension Service will begin the first week in February in Oakland, Wayne and Washtenaw counties and will continue for 10 weeks.

Unlike other classes in gardening, Master Gardener is designed for people with at least a moderate level of horticultural experience. However, formal training is not required.

Master Gardener candidates are expected to volunteer at least 40 hours of time during the upcoming garden season. These volunteers fulfill an active educational role by staffing plant clinics, telephone hotlines and by providing gardening talks.

Other services also may be acceptable.

Program sponsors report that Master Gardeners have assisted thousands of people and point out volunteer service is an integral part of being a Master Gardener.

Oakland County sessions will be held from 6:30-10 p.m. Tuesdays, beginning February 5, at the Oakland County Service Center, 1200 North Telegraph. The number to call for application information is 858-0887.

Wayne County Extension and Education Center announces the program will be held in several locations. Its number is 721-6550.

The Washtenaw number to call is 973-9510.

Total cost for participating in the Master Gardener Program is $40, including a $10 registration fee and $30 for materials.

Seek volunteers for Twelve Oaks fashion panel

Applications for Twelve Oaks' 1985 Fashion Panel are being accepted through next Sunday from young men and women 16-22 years old interested in fashion modeling and retailing.

Members of the fashion panel will meet monthly with fashion and retail experts to learn techniques in hair styling, make-up application, poise, polish and fashion directions. The panel will participate in mall activities such as fashion shows, in-store seminars, window and restaurant modeling.

Applications for the fashion panel are available at the Twelve Oaks information booth. Entries must be submitted with a non-returnable, recent color photo and a non-refundable $5 registration fee.

All applications must be returned to the information booth or postmarked to the Twelve Oaks Mall Management office at 27500 Novi Road in Novi by Sunday, January 20, at 5 p.m. No exception will be made.

Applicants will be interviewed by fashion experts upon notification January 28-29 at Twelve Oaks.

Mary Ann Pilarz married in OLV ceremony

Mary Ann Pilarz and Ty R. Bahr exchanged marriage vows in a double ring ceremony November 9 at Our Lady of Victory Church.

The bride is the daughter of Edward W. and Florence A. Pilarz of Northville. The bridegroom is the son of Ruth M. Bahr of Farmington and the late Leo A. Bahr.

The Reverend Frank Pollie officiated at the service. The bride's younger brothers Edward, Matthew and Joseph Pilarz played the "Trumpet Voluntary" and "Ode to Joy" on their trumpets, accompanied by organist David Heinzman.

Al Suarez, a close friend of the couple, sang "Our Father." The bride's oldest brother David W. Pilarz acted as lector.

The bride's gown was fashioned with full, sheer sleeves and an illusion yoke outlined with lace applique that also adorned the high neckline. A tiny bridal cap held her floor-length veil of illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink tipped roses and white carnations with ivy. Carol Pilarz Wilkaryasz of Highland was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Christina Schewe of Plymouth and the bride's niece, Erinn Wikaryasz of Highland.

They wore dresses they had fashioned with white blouson tops, gray skirts and cerise sashes.

Wayne E. Bahr of Farmington Hills was best man for his brother, Anthony E. Pilarz, brother of the bride, was groomsman.

A reception followed at the Finnish Cultural Center in Farmington Hills.

Special guests included Barbara Pilarz Link of Long Beach, California, Paul and Donna Habermas of Pearland, Texas, and Joseph Bahr of Houghton Lake.

The bride is a 1976 graduate of Northville High School and a 1983 graduate of Eastern Michigan University with a bachelor of science degree in microbiology.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Benedictine High School and a 1983 graduate of the University of Michigan.

The newlyweds are living in Farmington.

Parish sponsors forum for former Catholics

Beginning Sunday, January 27, Our Lady of Victory Parish will sponsor a four-week forum for former and inactive Catholics.

Anne Evans Moloney, parish director of religious education, announces that the decision to sponsor such a program grew out of an awareness that many of those who have left the church in the past have expressed an interest in taking another look at the church today, or have questions.

This program, entitled "Welcome Home," will continue for four Sunday afternoons from 2-4 p.m. in the parish social hall, 770 Thayer.

Ms. Moloney and the Reverend A. Frank Pollie, pastor of Our Lady of Victory, will facilitate these gatherings.

The "Welcome Home" theme was chosen because participants will be those who once had their spiritual home in the Catholic church, Ms. Moloney explains, adding that the parish wants all such people to know that they are welcome.

She states that no one attending the sessions is under any kind of obligation.

The gatherings are intended to provide a forum for former Catholics to raise their concerns about why they left the church, to ask questions and at the same time have the opportunity to examine the church now.

Those wishing more information may call the religious education office of the parish, 349-2559.

Pastor writes church guide

Dr. Kent R. Hunter, a Northville native now a resident of Indiana, is the author of "Your Church Has Personality," newest book in the Abingdon Press Creative Leadership Series.

He is a Lutheran Church — Missouri Synod — pastor, church consultant and Director of the Church Growth Center in Corunna, Indiana.

He is the son of Dolores Licorish, now of New Port Richey, Florida, and the late Robert Hunter.

"Your Church Has Personality" has received favorable reviews from booksellers and critics. It gives practical steps for developing a church growth philosophy of ministry for the local congregation and for using it for growth.

"This book is practical," says the author. "It fills a void in the Church Growth Movement. A lot of people talk about the importance of a written philosophy of ministry, but nothing has been available until now on how to do it."

The book currently is available from Abingdon Press, Nashville, Tennessee; Christian bookstores; and the Church Growth Center, Corunna, Indiana, 46730.

Plymouth Musicale schedules concert Sunday

Plymouth Musicale is calling its program this Sunday "a musical alternative on Super Bowl Sunday." Johan van der Merwe, pianist, and John Mohler, clarinetist, will be joined by Barbara Rondelli, soprano, in the second Plymouth Musicale concert of the season at 4 p.m. at St. John's Seminary, Five Mile and Sheldon in Plymouth Township.

They will be performing in various combinations selections by Johannes Brahms, "Three Songs of Innocence" by Arnold Cooke, six German songs by Ludwig Spohr, "Shepherd on the Rock" by Franz Schubert, and other selections by Szalowski, Bolcum and Osborne.

Lyric soprano Rondelli has had an international career in both concert and opera before settling in Toledo where she presently is associate professor of voice at the University of Toledo.

She has sung about 50 operatic roles and almost as many oratorios on three continents in a dozen countries, appearing with major opera companies and on television and radio stations. Recent performances include the role of Madame Butterfly with the Northern Indiana Opera Association and a German Requiem with the Plymouth Symphony. Her wide repertoire includes music of the Renaissance to the most avant-garde.

Johan van der Merwe was born in South Africa and completed his undergraduate studies at the University of Cape Town. A three year scholarship to the Royal Academy of Music brought him to London where he studied conducting, piano, organ, viola, harpsichord and flute.

After appointments in Germany and South Africa, he moved to the United States where he was on the faculty of the University of Michigan. He now is principal conductor of the Toledo Opera Association as well as serving his fifth season as conductor of the Plymouth Symphony.

Mohler studied at Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia and in 1950 became a member of the United States Marine Band and Orchestra in Washington, D.C. Further study at U-M led to his being that institution's first recipient of the Doctor of Musical Arts degree in wind instruments.

He currently is chairman of the wind and percussion instruments department of the U-M School of Music. He has performed with many orchestras and served on faculties of Drake University, the Brevard Music Center and the Cumberland Forest Music Camp.

The popular wine and cheese reception following the concert will be continued so that those attending will have an opportunity to meet the artists.

Tickets will be sold at the door the afternoon of the concert and are available in advance at Beitner's Jewelry in Plymouth and Hammell Music Store in Livonia. They also may be purchased through the box office, care of the Plymouth Symphony, P.O. Box 467, Plymouth, 48170. They are $5 for adults, $3.50 for students and senior citizens. For additional information call 451-2112.

Concert planners add that, in event of snow, extra parking space will be cleared around the circle close to the seminary building.

The Northville Record

Mustang spikers eke out two wins

When Northville's volleyball team got into a tight match last year, it usually meant trouble. While the team would play hard, the breaks often seemed to turn against the Mustangs.

But, from the looks of things in 1985, that stuff might be ancient history.

The Mustangs last week won two of three last week to open their '85 season, each match more impressive than the former.

The third match, Northville's conference debut against Farmington Harrison on Wednesday, dispelled any lingering traces of 1984. Northville took a 15-0 pasting by the Hawks in the first game, then amazingly came back to post a 15-11 win in the second and a 15-6 victory in the third.

"We weren't playing much differently in the second and third game than we were in the first," Northville Coach Steve McDonald commented. "It's just that in the first game, none of our serves were falling in, and by the second game, they were."

By late in the year, McDonald expects his strategy of serving for aces to pay off. "I've told the girls I want them to keep coming at them and not play it safe with our serves."

In the third game, the serving of Nicki LaRoque simply devastated the Hawks. Harrison had jumped to a 3-0 lead in the game when LaRoque began socking 14 straight good serves. When she was through, Northville held a 13-3 lead over the demoralized Hawks.

"Erin Ryan and Cheryl Spaman were hitting really well for us," McDonald said, "and Bev Henderson was outstanding at the net all day."

McDonald said he also was pleased with the development of setters Chris McGowan and Tracy Martin. "They complement each other really well," McDonald noted. "Chris is a little bit better at digging the ball out, at defense, and Tracy sets the ball a little better."

Two days before, Northville tripped Westland John Glenn and Lakeland in a three-way meet that lasted until after 11 p.m.

The Mustangs faced John Glenn first, and dropped their first game to the Rockets 15-8. But Northville began playing more consistently in the next two games, winning 15-9 and finally succumbing in the third, 15-13. McGowan had a fine night, with 18 good serves, all "pretty strong," and none bad. McDonald also praised Henderson's front-row work.

But the loss, as McDonald put it, "stuck in the girls' craw. We thought we'd outplayed them," he said. "If we'd played five matches, I think we would have come out ahead."

The Mustangs took out their frustration on Lakeland. "We came out smoking," McDonald said, and indeed, Northville slammed the Eagles 15-9 in the first game.

McDonald made numerous substitutions in the second game and Lakeland rebounded with a 15-5 win. Then came the all-nighter.

Lakeland took the Mustangs to game point, 14-9. But the Mustangs crawled back with six unanswered points to take the lead. The three that tied the match came on serves by Spaman.

Each team had an advantage in the ensuing action. Lakeland went up 16-15, then Northville went up 18-17. Finally a pair of serves by Henderson fell for aces, and the Mustangs had a 20-18 victory.

"We got some really big hits in that game from Nicki and Bev," McDonald said. "I've never seen either one hit better."

Northville finished in the middle of the pack at the 12-team Bishop Borgess meet Saturday. The Mustangs won five and lost five. While the team didn't qualify for the tourney title playoffs, McDonald said he was happy he got a chance to look over his bench and give his whole squad plenty of playing time.

"I've got a lot of confidence in our bench this year," McDonald said. "I'm not at all afraid to go to someone like Lynn Frellick or Mandy Olgren — there's no real drop-off in talent. That helps us a lot in practice even if they don't get in the game."

Today, Northville will host Plymouth Canton. On Monday, the Mustangs travel to Livonia Stevenson, the team McDonald considers the conference title favorite.

Swimmers fall to Brighton, top Bentley

Livonia Bentley and Brighton's swim teams may share the "Bulldogs" moniker. But that's where the comparison ends.

Northville proved it by thrashing Bentley 61-22 to open its dual meet season Thursday, then losing 102-70 to tank powerhouse Brighton Saturday.

"We gave them a run for their money," Northville Coach Derek Gans said of the western Bulldogs. "We just couldn't quite get the places we needed. Not too many of the first-place races were close, but a lot of the second-string races were. If we'd placed just a little bit better, we could have taken them right down to the wire."

Only three Mustangs managed individual firsts against Brighton. Darius Mikalonis' 2:09.4 won the 200 individual medley. Doug Buell took first in 100 butterfly with a 57.9 clocking, and Jeff Pawloski added a first in diving with a 202.1 points.

Northville's 400 freestyle relay team (Buell, Mikalonis, Jeff Bainbridge and Ron Johnston) also claimed a first in the final event of the day. But by then, Brighton had the meet well under wraps.

Taking seconds for Northville were the 200 medley relay team (Bainbridge, John Gass, Dave Wayne, Joel Grasley, 1:54.8), Buell in the 200 I.M. (2:10.4), Johnston in the 50 free (23.3) and 100 free (53.0), Grasley in diving (183.2), Mikalonis in the 500 free (5:15.6), Bainbridge in backstroke (1:00.3), Chris Sellen in breast stroke (1:15.2) and Northville's number-two freestyle relay team (Wayne, Tom Valade, Drew Paredes and Craig Smith, 3:48.3).

Valade took third in 200 free (2:05.6), and Wayne third in butterfly (1:02.2).

Bentley proved far less formidable. The Mustangs yielded only one first-place finish all night against their conference foe. Taking individual firsts with personal bests were: Doug Buell in 200 I.M. (2:13.0), Tom Valade in 200 free (2:02.7), Jeff Pawloski in diving (209.85), Jeff Bainbridge in backstroke (1:00.6) and Darius Mikalonis in 500 free (5:13.7).

John Gass won the 50 free with a time of 24.9 — identical to freshman Craig Smith's second-place time. Buell added a first in butterfly (58.5).

Northville swept firsts in both relays. In the medley relay, Bainbridge, Eric Leindecker, Gass and Grasley turned in a 1:52.7. In the freestyle relay, Mikalonis, Bainbridge, Wayne and Buell turned in a 3:34.8. Five seconds behind, Northville's second relay team (Valade, Mike Simmonds, Smith and Gass) took second.

The greatest improvement recorded was Paul Stoecklin's drop of five seconds in backstroke. Stoecklin took second with a 1:10.3. Leindecker's 1:12.2 was second in breast stroke, Valade's personal-best 55.7 in 100 free, Wayne's personal-best 1:00.8 in butterfly and 2:17.7 in I.M. and Grasley's 200.4 in diving.

Spartans too much for Mustang cagers

Plymouth Canton and Livonia Stevenson dealt Northville a pair of frustrating conference losses last week — frustrating in Canton's case because the game was there for the taking, and frustrating in Stevenson's case because it wasn't.

More than any other factor, the Mustangs' dismal foul shooting accounted for Tuesday's 47-36 loss to the Chiefs. Twelve times the Mustangs were granted free throws and 10 times they failed to convert them.

Meanwhile, Canton's 17-for-25 free throw shooting provided all the cushion the Chiefs would need. After eking out a seven-point lead after three quarters, Canton went into its slowdown mode.

"We got behind and they spread it out on us," said Northville Coach Omar Harrison. "Once we went into a man-to-man, we got into trouble."

"I didn't think we played that badly," he added. "We scored more field goals than they did, and had we hit our free throws, we could just as easily have beaten them."

Doug May scored seven points — not a bad night for the point guard — but his output led the entire team. Paul Newitt was the Mustangs' second leading scorer with six.

Northville's rebounding corps was more effective. John Storm ripped down seven, Don Norton six and Greg Wendel collected eight, plus four assists.

"Greg's the only one who is playing good basketball right now," said Harrison. "The other guys just are not. We're working hard, but we're not executing."

Although the margin of Northville's 66-42 loss to Stevenson on Friday was bigger than that of the loss to Canton, Harrison said his team showed a few more "positive things" against the Spartans.

Among the pluses were: improved defense from Storm, better offensive production from Mike Hilfinger, and good play from Newitt and Gary Harper. Wendel ripped down 15 rebounds, no small accomplishment against Stevenson's big front line.

The Mustangs didn't get a chance to miss many free throws Friday — they were awarded only four in the entire game. Stevenson shot 25.

"Some of those calls really took the wind out of our sails," said Harrison. "Every time it looked like we could make the game closer, we kept getting beat down by fouls."

The Spartans reeled off a 21-10 first-quarter scoring advantage, and slowly expanded their lead through the rest of the game.

"Our offense has been inconsistent," Harrison said. "When you go against a good team like Stevenson, that's really going to hurt you."

"They definitely had too much talent on us. They've got a kid who's bigger than Stormy and two more forwards who are bigger than Greg. And they were a little quicker, too. Their fast break hurt us."

Against Northville, the 5-1 Spartans showcased a balanced attack, with Bob Sluka, Vic Nettie and Ed Gilbert combining for 33 points.

Northville was led by Hilfinger with 10 points, Wendel with nine and Storm with seven.

The Mustangs (1-5, 0-4 WLAA) will try to get back in gear at 7:30 p.m. this Friday when they host Dearborn in a non-conference game. Dearborn (2-5) is coming off a one-point loss to undefeated Edsel Ford.

Next Tuesday, the Mustangs will host league rival Plymouth Salem. "Salem's got a real big center and a very good guard who well might give us some trouble," Harrison said. "Our schedule doesn't get much easier."

OLV girls win four straight

Our Lady of Victory's grade 7-8 "White" boys' basketball team, undefeated through its solid 35-23 victory over previously-unbeaten Waterford Our Lady of the Lakes January 6, was finally defeated by Our Lady of Sorrows 33-25 last Sunday.

Ray Jacques led OLV against Waterford with nine points and 18 rebounds, while Doug Cody added four points, plus "many key steals."

The grade 5-6 girls' cagers notched their fourth straight win with a 32-15 defeat of St. Scholastica. Ashley MacLean led the team with six points and 10 rebounds, while Susie Weidenbach made eight steals. A week before, the OLV girls notched an exciting 27-25 overtime win over Livonia St. Michael's. Allyson Kennedy hit a jump shot with nine seconds left in OT to seal the win. Ashley MacLean pulled in 11 rebounds.

The grade 5-6 boys tripped St. Michael's 31-21 January 6 behind 16 points by Jon Barbara. Jon scored 16 points in his team's 33-17 win over St. Scholastica. Contributing strong defense for OLV (now 4-1) over the two games were Mark Hilfinger and Kevin McCulloch.

The grade 7-8 girls' team and grade 7-8 "Blue" teams were defeated by strong squads from St. Scholastica and St. Michael's squads, and are still looking for their first league wins.

UNLAWFUL TAX SHELTERS

If you have a tax shelter or are looking for one that meets IRS standards, don't fall into a bogus tax shelter trap. Under current IRS regulations, all tax shelter promoters must register the shelter with the IRS or face a penalty of $500 plus 1% of the shelter amount over $1 million. They must also provide a registration number for each investor or face an additional penalty.

The target of the IRS are those tax shelters with big up-front tax write-offs that are obviously phony investments designed to make money on tax benefits alone. Anyone who invests in a tax shelter, whether legitimate or illegitimate, is required to put the shelter's tax-identification number on his return.

Investing in a legitimate tax shelter is still a good way for you to help minimize your income tax liability. For information about worthwhile tax shelter alternatives and other ways to limit your income tax liability, call us for an appointment.

Dino Candela was one of the few healthy Mustang wrestlers last week

Health woes throttle matmen

Maybe it's most accurate to say what was left of Northville's wrestling team lost to Livonia Bentley last Thursday.

The Bentley Bulldogs brought down a 47-30 defeat on the Mustangs' manes, thanks in part to three Northville forfeits — two due to illness.

"They were dropping like flies," said Northville Coach Jack Townsley. "Everybody's been sick with some kind of infection going around. It might have been a real close match."

Northville picked up 12 points on forfeits at 98 pounds and at 132 pounds — but 98-pounder Keith Graham and 132-pounder John Lazar would have been good bets to win anyway.

After a major decision over John Bauman at 105 pounds brought Bentley within striking range, the Bulldogs went ahead to stay with Salem Yaffai's first-period pin of Scott Wiley at 112.

John Frisbie, wrestling over his weight, lost by pin to Anwar Yaffai at 126. Dennis Nadeau pinned Bob Stepp at 3:12 of the 138-pound match and Ken Kehoe gave the lead back to the Mustangs, pinning his foe 1:57 into his 145-pound match.

The Mustangs were forced to give up six points because of John McRae's illness-induced forfeit. But 167-pounder Dino Candela (9-5) took back a one-point lead for Northville with an impressive pin of Dave Zenas at 1:28.

"Dino looked the best he has all year," Townsley pointed out. "He and Dennis Nadeau have been coming around real well for us."

But once again, illness struck the Mustang roster. Northville's ace in the hole, 185-pounder Joel Vogt, was forced to forfeit his match — in fact, Vogt was taken to a hospital for treatment. This time, Northville could not recover.

First-year grappler Tim Millen lost on a pin to Bentley's Marty Altounian at 198 pounds. And Northville, without a bona-fide heavyweight, had to post a void.

Saturday, the Mustangs competed equally short-staffed at the Romulus Invitational, finishing sixth of the eight teams there.

Northville landed three wrestlers in the tournament semifinals. Dennis Nadeau took a pin in the consolation finals for a fourth place. Lazar lost a 10-9 decision to take fourth at 132 pounds, and Candela lost his consolation final at 167 on a 4-0 decision.

"All three of those guys wrestled well," Townsley said. "But we took a lot of JV people up there because of illnesses and disciplinary things."

Northville (2-3 overall, 2-2 WLAA) will host division rival Walled Lake Western at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow (Thursday). The team's scheduled quad meet at Novi Saturday has been canceled.

On Tuesday, the Mustangs will take to the road for the Detroit Country Day Quadrangular Invitational.

Raiders spoil opening meet for gymnasts

Almost without exception, a gymnastics team opening its season at North Farmington is going to have bad news to take home.

That was the case for Northville last week. The Raiders, favored by many to repeat as Western Lakes champions, outpointed the Mustangs 124-95.55 to go 3-0 for the season.

But it wasn't just the fine North Farmington team that thwarted the Mustangs in their January 7 opener. It was an outbreak of illness and injury the M.A.S.H. team couldn't have squelched.

Cheryl Lane and Julie Cass were both too ill to compete. Heather Bogetta suffered a minor back injury shortly before the meet, and also took sick. Throw in a class scheduling problem that prevented Mandy Walts from competing in uneven bars, and that spells trouble.

"From here on out, our matches should be close," said Michelle Charniga, Northville's first-year coach. "Everybody's healthy now."

Diane Hale lived up to her name, anyway. The senior scored well above sevens in each of her events to lead the team. Hale posted a 7.45 in vault, 7.2 in uneven bars, 7.25 in balance beam and 7.6 in floor exercise.

Walt's 7.6 was good for third in vault. She added a 7.45 in floor exercise, but had an unusual — for her — amount of trouble in beam, falling twice and scoring 5.35. Sophomore Tonia Hickman turned in a solid all-around performance, scoring 6.45 in vault, 6.4 in floor exercise, 6.35 in beam and 5.4 in uneven bars.

Kim Wobermin scored 6.1 in vault, 5.55 in beam and 5.3 in bars. Dena Shackelford sustained a minor injury, and managed just a 4.1 in uneven bars. Donna Dunnabeck scored a 4.4 in beam, and Kathy Alfinito, vaulting gingerly after recovering from a knee injury, scored 4.45.

"Kathy's doing well now," Charniga reported. "She's doing handsprings in practice, and she wasn't able to do that at the meet."

Northville will compete at the 16-team Dearborn Invitational, which begins at 10 a.m. Saturday. At 7 p.m. Monday, the Mustangs will host their first home meet of the season, against division rival Plymouth Canton.

Bowl-a-thon is set

Northville Lanes will host a Bowl-A-thon during the week of February 1-8 as part of the "Bowl-For-Life" campaign sponsored by ALSAC/St. Jude Children's Research Hospital.

The "Bowl-for-Life" program is dedicated to "Terry," a nine-year-old girl from Mount Carmel, Illinois. Terry developed acute lymphocytic leukemia, the most common form of childhood cancer, in March, 1978. Since then, she has been a patient at St. Jude Children's Research Hospital in Memphis, Tennessee.

At the non-sectarian, non-discriminatory facility, scientists and physicians work side by side seeking not only better means of treatment, but also the cause, cure and prevention of catastrophic disease in children.

Sponsor forms for the Bowl-A-thon are now available at Northville Lanes, 132 South Center.

Here comes the snow Activate to fight winter blahs

By GEORGEA KOVANIS

Snow is falling for the fourth day in a row, the mercury has disappeared from the thermometer, and the roads are icy.

For some, a scene like this has all the makings of a winter wonderland. But blah, you're miserable.

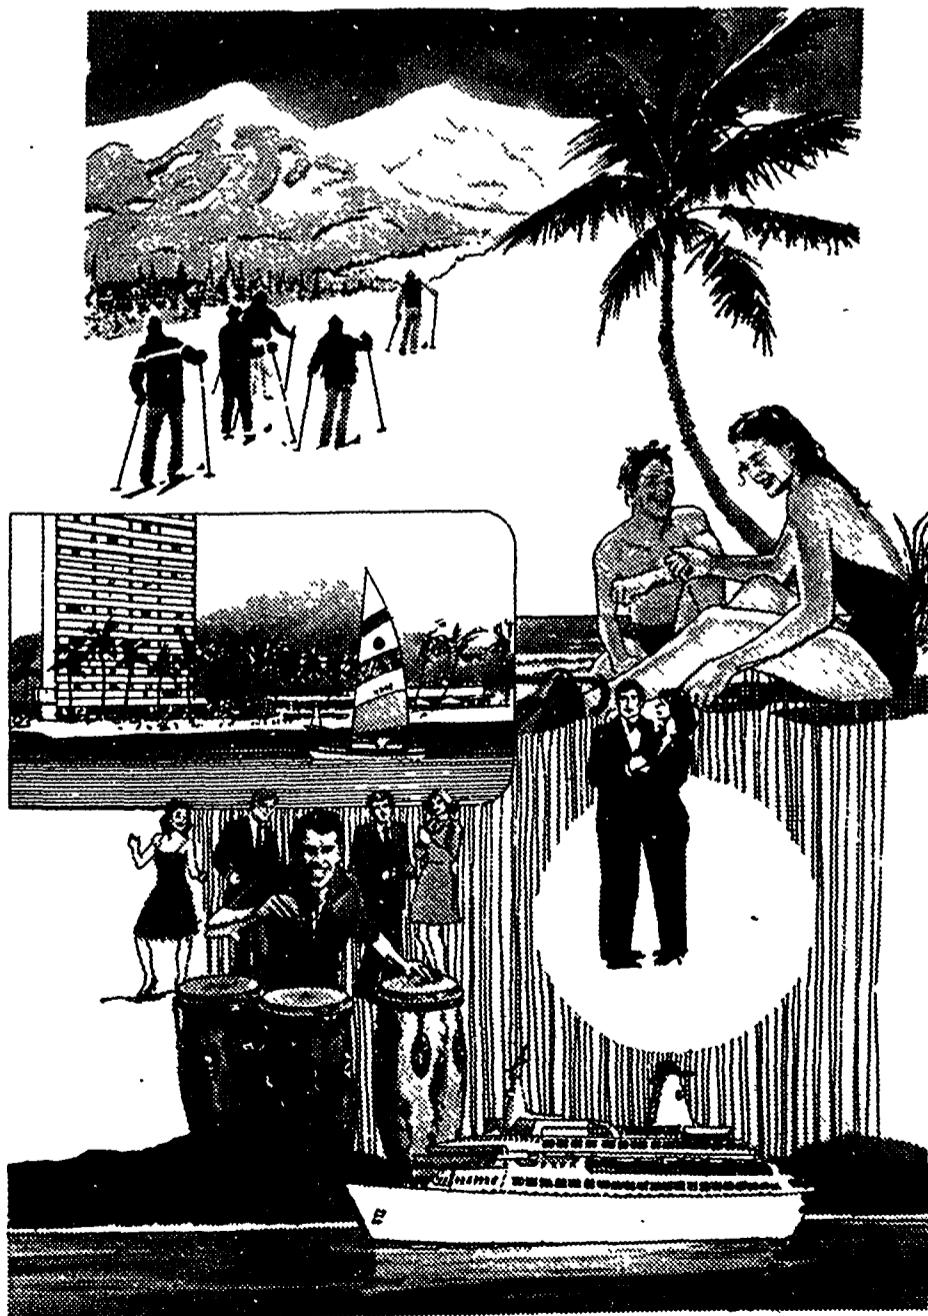

The winter blahs are an annual curse for many area residents. But according to experts, the malaise associated with winter can be avoided if you keep active during those cold months.

"One of the biggest problems with winter is that people allow it to socially isolate themselves," said Mac Miller, outpatient director at Livingston County Mental Health.

And isolation can lead to depression. "I think depression comes probably...because of the confine-

Look before leaping into winter fun

People who say "no" to hibernation and dive head-long into winter activities outdoors should be mindful of several safety measures they should take.

Low temperatures and strong winds cause people to tire easily and, because of rapid cooling of exposed surfaces, outdoor enthusiasts become more and more susceptible to frostbite, health officials say.

A strong wind, combined with a temperature slightly below freezing, can have the same effect as a still-air temperature of about 35 degrees lower.

Some wintertime safety measures to observe:

- Avoid overexertion. Cold weather itself, without any physical exertion, puts an extra strain on the heart. If you add this the strain of heavy physical activity such as shoveling snow, pushing an automobile or even walking too fast or too far, you risk damaging your body.

- Dress warmly. Loose-fitting, layered, lightweight clothing is best. Outer garments should be tightly woven and water repellent. Wear a hat. Protect your face and cover your mouth to protect your lungs from very cold air. Wear mittens instead of gloves.

- Watch for frostbite and other symptoms of cold-weather exposure. Frostbite causes a loss of feeling and a white or pale appearance in extremities such as fingers, toes, tip of nose, ear lobes. If such symptoms are detected, get medical attention immediately. Do not rub with snow or ice.

- Avoid alcoholic beverages. Alcohol causes the body to lose its heat more rapidly.

- Keep yourself and your clothes dry. Change wet socks and all other wet clothing as quickly as possible to prevent loss of body heat.

- Avoid hypothermia. When the body begins to lose heat faster than it can produce it, a condition called hypothermia begins to develop. Symptoms become very apparent and include:

- Uncontrollable shivering; vague, slow, slurred speech; memory lapses; incoherence; immobile, fumbling hands; frequent stumbling, lurching gait; drowsiness; apparent exhaustion; inability to get up after a rest.

If a person shows any signs of overexposure to cold or wet and windy weather, take the following measures:

- Get the person into dry clothing and into a warm bed or sleeping bag with a "hot" water bottle (which should actually be only warm to the touch, not hot), warm towels, heating pad or some other such heat source.

- Concentrate heat on the trunk of the body first—that is, the shoulders, chest and stomach.

- Keep the head low and the feet up to get warm blood circulating to the head.

- Give the person warm drinks.

- Never give the person alcohol, sedatives, tranquilizers or pain relievers. They only slow down body processes even more.

- Keep the person quiet. Do not jostle, massage or rub.

- If symptoms are extreme, call for professional medical assistance immediately.

Nutrition a big part of winter workout

If getting into shape is part of your planned winter activity, the Automobile Club of Michigan reminds that developing good nutritional habits is just as important as exercise for someone beginning a physical fitness program.

"You can do all the exercise in the world, but if you ignore common-sense eating habits by filling up on junk food and not getting enough of the basic food groups, you will not become physical fit," an Auto Club spokesperson said.

Moderation and balance are important to any good diet. The body needs protein for growth and repair processes, carbohydrates and fats for energy, as well as vitamins and minerals to regulate chemical processes.

"That may sound complicated, but it really isn't if you remember the four basic food groups—milk, fruits and vegetables, breads and cereals, and meats," the spokesperson said. "If you eat three moderate meals daily from each of these groups, and avoid excessive between-meal snacks, you should have a balanced diet."

The milk group—cheese, yogurt and ice cream—is high in protein as well as calcium, which is essential to a healthy bone structure. Since those items are high in fat content, they should be used in their low-fat forms.

Vegetables and fruits contain large amounts of vitamins A and C, as well as iron, which is important for the body's blood supply. Breads and cereals also provide essential vitamins and minerals. The highest source of protein is from the meat group and such foods as dried beans and peas, nuts and peanut butter.

Individuals with special conditions or health problems often require special diets, and they should consult a physician about proper diets.

"A very important part of diet is to develop good eating habits," the spokesperson said. "Often, how we eat determines how much we eat."

To improve eating habits, the Auto Club advises the following:

- Eat slowly, to give your stomach time to catch up with your appetite. If you eat too fast, you will tend to get a bloated feeling 15 minutes after you've eaten.

- If you are very hungry at a meal, take one or more glasses of water before you begin eating to help reduce your appetite.

- Don't eat while reading or watching television. It is too easy to lose track of how much you are ingesting.

- Don't go grocery shopping when you are hungry. You will tend to buy anything that appeals to you and often end up with a pantry full of empty calories.

- If you must eat between meals, make it a nutritious snack, such as fruits or raw vegetables instead of junk food.

Moderation is particularly important to alcohol intake. Not only does alcohol add calories but it also tends to decrease the intake of foods rich in important nutrients.

"In addition, a major step an individual must take on the road to fitness is to stop smoking," the spokesperson said. "The dangers of smoking are well documented, and it is difficult to be really healthy if you smoke."

Battle blahs with activity

ment," said Lou Goldman, a social worker at Clinical Resources, a Brighton-based mental health clinic.

Senior citizens are especially susceptible to feelings of confinement.

"In my experience, I would definitely say...wintertime does increase the amount of depression and illness because they're not getting out," said Terri Waldman-Miller, of the Oakland Livingston Human Services Agency.

"It's bad because the senior citizens that come to the center don't come because of the weather. If it's 20 below outside, they're not going to go," she said, adding that this is especially true of people who walk to the senior centers.

But according to Miller, people shouldn't feel housebound. The most important prescription for the winter blues is to plan indoor activities such as shopping mall excursions, adult education classes and exercise classes that won't be hampered by cold winter weather.

"I would recommend that (senior citizens) stay in contact with people they normally would stay in contact with," said Waldman-Miller.

"Invite people in," Miller said. Keeping busy can provide people with a better attitude about winter. He suggested that friends take turns visiting each others' homes, perhaps scheduling potluck dinners every Saturday night.

"If you're alone with just your thoughts, just getting outside breaks some of that (depression)," Goldman said.

However, for many, traveling a little farther than a friend's home is a solution to beating the winter blues. Vacations at tropical paradises are popular during the winter.

(Traveling) is really exciting, particularly if you have that kind of money," Miller said. He added that potential vacationers with limited budgets shouldn't feel left out.

Taking advantage of weekend specials at near-by hotels such as Detroit's Renaissance Center or a Holiday Inn is a good idea.

"You can have the illusion of a vacation in Florida even if you can't afford the air fare there and back," he said.

According to Miller, trips away from home are good because they give individuals a change of scenery. In most cases, being away from home makes people excited about returning. While travelers generally have a good time on vacation, they also miss their homes, he said.

Some attempt to outsmart winter by planning indoor parties and trips to warm climates, but others choose to cooperate with it. Instead of bailing out of the area when the first snow falls, skiers and winter enthusiasts actually rejoice.

These people don't loathe the snow, they love it, Goldman said.

"People who have the happiest solutions are people who cooperate with winter rather than fight it," Miller said, adding that participating in winter sports is another way to a better winter attitude.

But whether you decide to go cross-country skiing or shopping at a mall, the key to surviving winter is "not to let social isolation creep in," Miller said.

GALBRAITH

Mt. Brighton will host skiing events this weekend

Here is your complete schedule for the events of Winterfest '85 in Brighton, which runs January 18, 19 and 20:

FRIDAY

9 a.m. to midnight—Park your car and ride the Winterfest buses, 25 cents a ride or purchase a $2/day or $5/weekend pass in the Festival Tent. See map for bus stops.

9 a.m. to midnight—Winterfest Headquarters in heated Stroh Signature Beer Tent. Beverages and food available. Family entertainment throughout the day. Alcoholic beverages served from dinner hour to midnight. Purchase vacation raffle ticket in tent for $1.

9 a.m. to 11 p.m.—Downhill skiing at Mt. Brighton.

9 a.m. to dusk—Cross-country skiing, tour sleigh rides, ice skating, toboggan runs, nature center and country farm at the Kensington Metropark.

10 a.m. to 10 p.m.—Cross-country skiing include evening torch lit runs at Burroughs Farms.

10:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.—Snowmobile competition, radar races, poker run, hosted by Brighton Lions Club at the Island Lake Recreation area.

10:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.—Log Sawing Contest and Ice Fishing Contest—Hosted by the Brighton Lions Club at the Island Lake Recreational Area.

For decades, Brighton's lakes and rolling hills have attracted thousands of summer visitors. But Brighton is a mecca for the winter enthusiast as well.

This weekend, the Greater Brighton Area Chamber of Commerce is trying to capitalize on the community's winter assets by launching Winterfest '85, the first of what is hoped to be an annual celebration of winter in Brighton.

Brighton seems to be a natural for such a festival. It is home to Mt. Brighton and the Kensington Metropark, two long-standing favorites for downhill skiers, cross-country skiers and winter naturalists.

Relatively new on the scene is Burroughs Farms, a 565-acre recreational facility with well-raised cross-country trails and an invitingly warm Roadhouse restaurant where skiers can sit by the fire.

3 p.m. to 6 p.m.—Teen Dance to the Brass Angel Band in the heated Stroh Signature Festival Tent in the Brighton Mall.

6 p.m. to 9 p.m.—Hockey Tournament, Livingston County League versus Canadian League (ages 8 to 14) at Grand Oaks Arena.

6 p.m. to midnight—Open roller-skating at Rollerama.

6:30 p.m.—A Winterfest welcome

The innovative Winterfest organizers have added a number of other attractives—ranging from the expected (ice skating, hockey, food and beverages tent) to the unusual (sled dog races, fur fashion shows and a winter golf outing).

There is much more (snowmobile races, raffles for trips to New Orleans and Las Vegas, parades, snow sculptures, tennis tournaments, log-sawing contests) as the following schedule points out.

Many of the events are free and there is cheap (25 cents a ride) bus service to all events. Events are also designed for both spectators or participants; take your pick.

The fun starts Friday and lasts through the Super Bowl game Sunday. This weekend, the place to enjoy winter is in Brighton.

with a bonfire at the Brighton Mall.

6:30 p.m. to 9 p.m.—Tennis tournament, women's and men's singles at the Woodland Racquet Club.

7:30 p.m. to midnight—Festival Dance to Steve King and the Kitties in the heated Stroh Signature Festival Tent at the Brighton Mall.

8 p.m.—Comedy Skits by the Livingston Players at the Mill Pond

Theater.

9 p.m.—Presentation of the snow sculpture trophies in the festival tent. Snow sculptures on display all weekend.

SATURDAY

9 a.m. to midnight—Park your car and ride the Winterfest Buses, 25 cents a ride or purchase a $2/day pass in the festival tent.

9 a.m. to midnight—Winterfest Headquarters in heated Stroh Signature Festival Tent. Beverage and food available. Family entertainment throughout the day. Alcoholic beverages served from dinner hour to midnight. Purchase vacation raffle ticket inside tent for $1. Inquire at tent for child care services.

9 a.m. to 11 p.m.—Downhill skiing at Mt. Brighton.

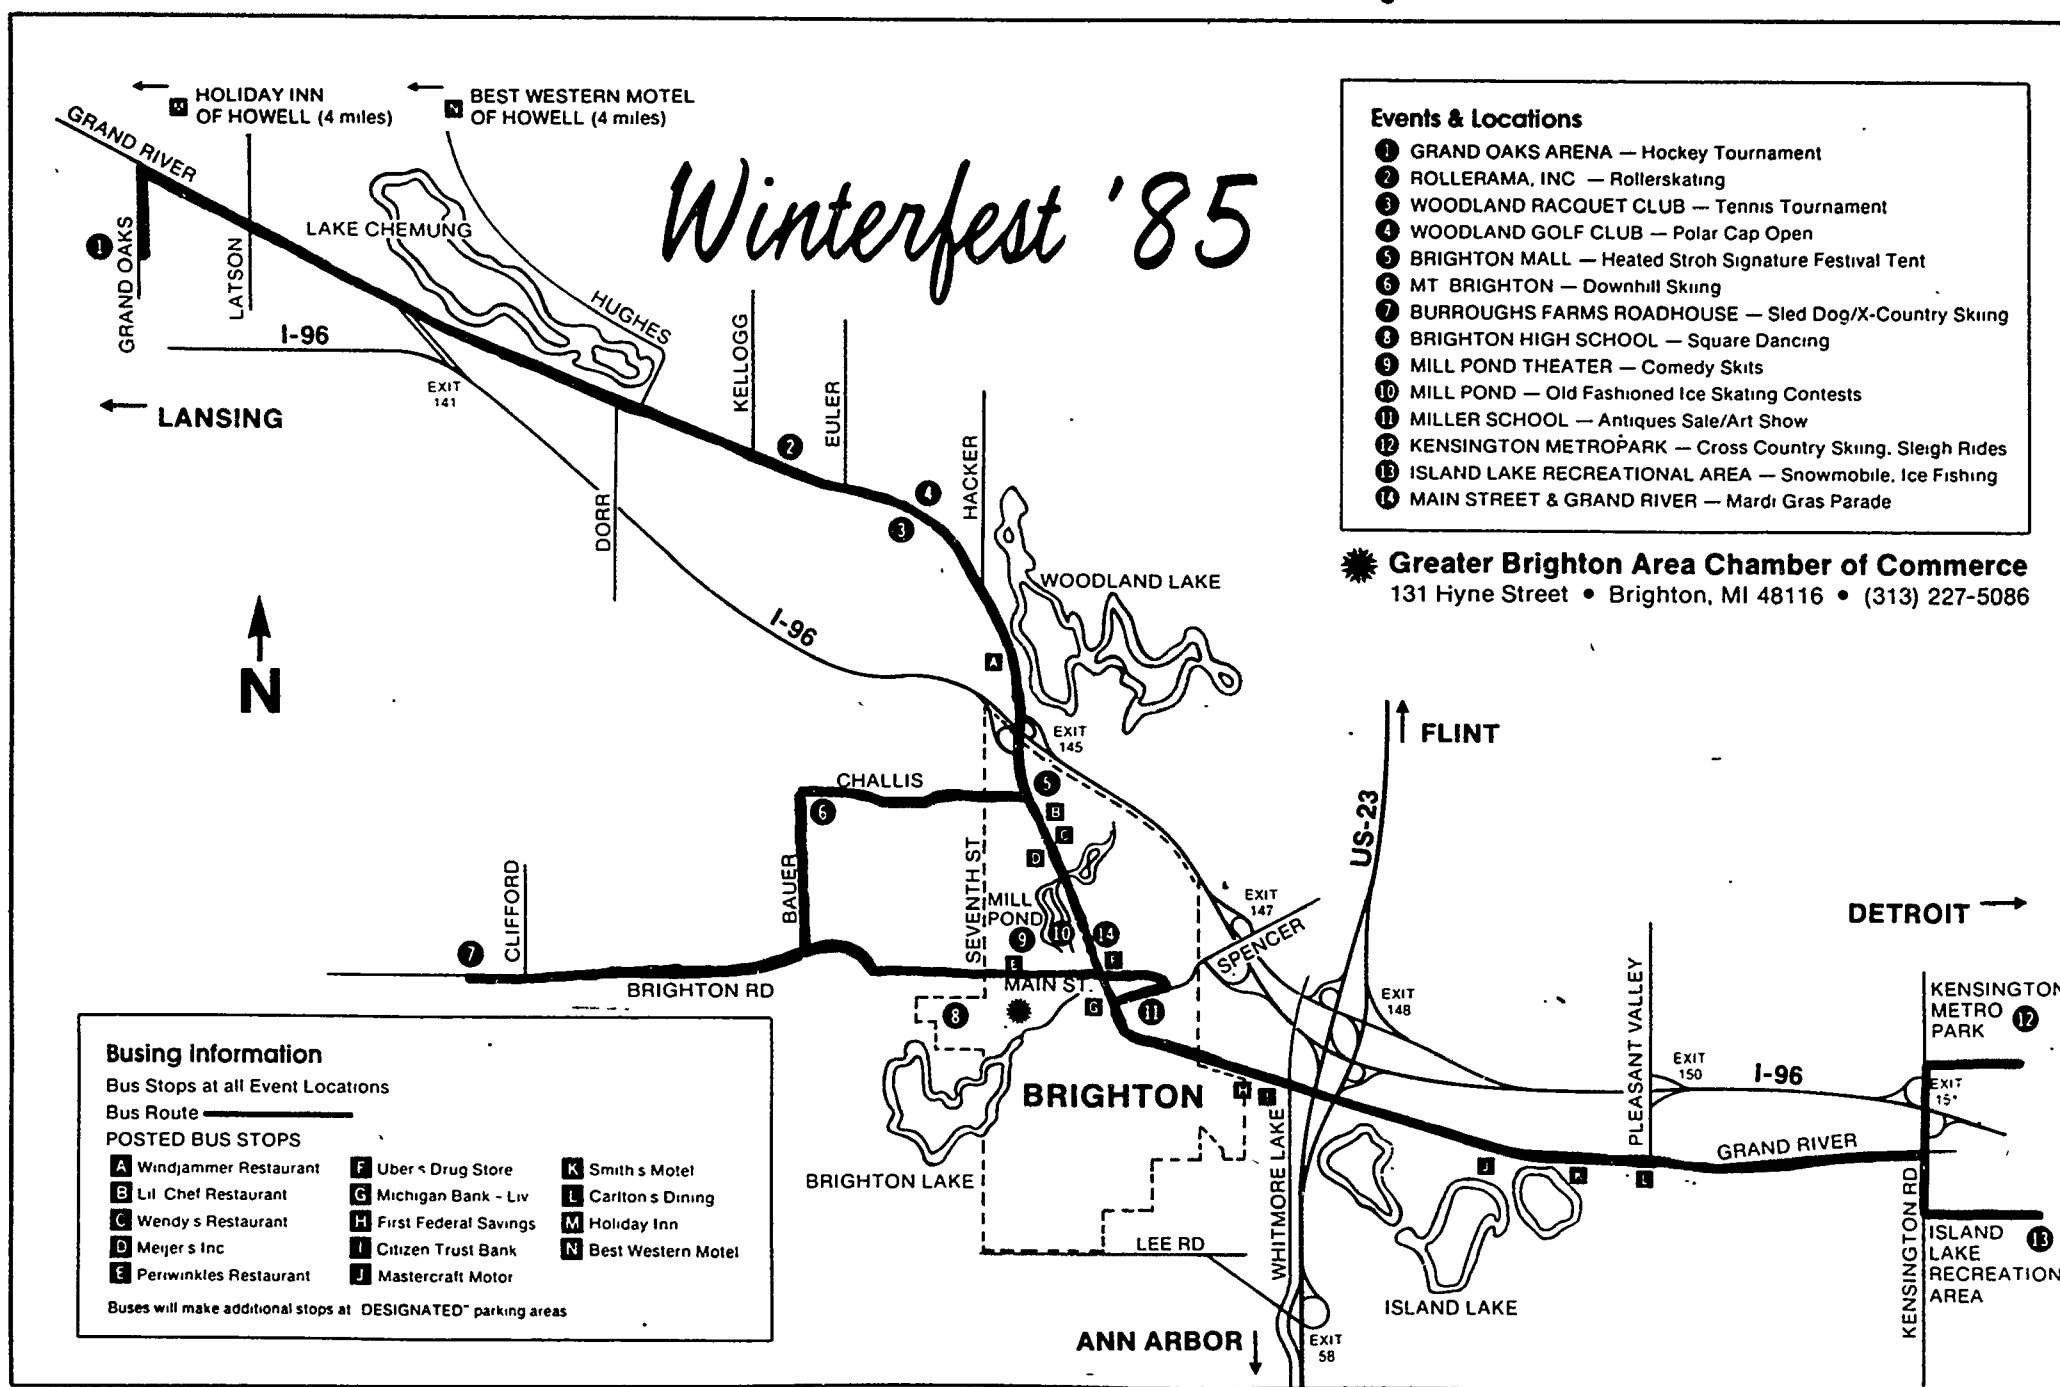

9 a.m. to dusk—Cross-country skiing, tour-sleigh rides, ice skating, toboggan runs, nature center and country farm at Kensington Metropark.

10 a.m. to 9 p.m.—Tennis tournament, men's and women's singles at Woodland Racquet Club.

10 a.m. to 10 p.m.—Cross-country skiing including evening torch-lit runs at Burroughs Farms.

Cotton Yarns Arriving Daily

By GEORGEA KOVANIS

When the wind starts to howl and temperatures begin dropping, most people put the camping equipment away until spring.

But most people doesn't include everyone, especially not Cameron Carter.

Carter, a chemistry teacher at Howell High School and a 4-H leader, has braved the cold before and he'll probably do it again. He is a winter camper.

"If there is snow on the ground, we build a quin-zhee," Carter said. He and the members of his 4-H Challenge Group don't use tents.

Instead they pile snow into a dome until it gets to be about five feet high. Then, they let it sit. As the snow crystalizes, campers begin to dig out the middle, making an igloo-shaped refuge from the cold.

And according to Carter, the quin-zhee is "a lot warmer than a tent." In fact, he said, studies have shown that the air inside of a quin-zhee can get as much as 20-25 degrees warmer than the air outside. Body heat and candles help warm the shelter.

Last January, Carter took a group camping in the woods behind his house on Byron Road. The temperature° About sixteen below zero, he said. And at night, it got even colder.

"It was pretty cold," Carter said. The group went out Saturday and came back on Sunday. They had planned to stay the entire weekend.

"Unfortunately, we picked the coldest weekend of the year," he said.

Carter said his group gathered around a fire, built outside the quin-zhee, to keep warm. "Keeping warm and dry is the main objective of winter camping," he said.

Campers use insulated sleeping bags. Carter said winter campers should wear wool clothing, not cotton which loses its insulating ability when wet. Campers must also carry a change of clothes with them in case they get wet.

Layering is the most important step for staying warm in the winter, he said. One layer should consist of long underwear, such as poly propylene underwear which does not absorb moisture. Campers should also wear a hat and mittens. Mittens are warmer than gloves. Leather boots are "out" for winter campers because they freeze, Carter said.

However, Carter and his campers take additional steps to keep warm.

"It's like continuous eating," Carter said, explaining that winter campers should consume about 5,000-7,000 calories a day. Campers should also eat a hot breakfast and a hot dinner, snacking in-between on cheese, nuts, dried, fruit and candy.

In addition, campers must drink two-three quarts of water to prevent dehydration.

"Winter camping for us is more or less simulation for survival, Carter said. "Well, basically, we spent most of our time surviving."

After the building the quin-zhee, campers have little time for fun. "(We) spent most time getting the fire built..and doing most of our activities to survive," he said.

"Our club is called the Challenge Club...I suppose (winter camping) does offer a challenge." The challenge provides campers with some additional knowledge about themselves.

"We learn a lot more about ourselves. We're constantly learning a lot more about ourselves in order to survive," Carter said.

After a winter camping trip, he said people appreciate things they take for granted every day. And winter camping makes it easier to cope with winter. "You can think back to the times, the miseries, you were surviving," he said.

Winter camping is strenuous, Carter said, and when bed time rolls around, campers are exhausted. "Usually we're pretty tired," he said. There's little time for ghost stories around the campfire. "When we go to bed we just talk about how crazy this is."

Kensington's fun brightens winter

Whether you like it or not, winter is here. And you can either love it or leave it.

Some people flee from the area as soon as the first snow falls but if you enjoy winter, you're in luck. Nearby Kensington Metropark has a host of activities available for winter enthusiasts.

The park, located near Milford, is open every day from 6 a.m.-10 p.m.

Kensington has about 15 miles of cross-country ski trails for novice, intermediate and advanced skiers. The park will rent you a complete set of skis to use for four hours for $5. The park also charges a $2 insurance fee, $1 of which is returned if the skis are brought back in good condition.

The trails are open from 10 a.m.-6 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 10 a.m.-9 p.m. Friday, 8 a.m.-9 p.m. Saturday and from 8 a.m.-7 p.m. Sunday.

In addition to skiing, the park also has five toboggan and two sled runs which are open from 10 a.m. until dusk. The park does not rent sleds or toboggans.

Park visitors can also ice skate and ice fishing enthusiasts can put up shanties at Kensington. The park does require that the shanties are marked on all four sides with the owner's name. The shanties must be removed by March 15 or before if the ice is unsafe.

The Kensington Farm Center, located on a 100-acre sight in the park, is also open during the winter months. The center is a working farm complete with cows, sheep, goats, pigs, chickens, rabbits, ducks, geese and horses. It's open from 9 a.m.-6 p.m.

The park also has four nature trails, ranging in length from a 1/2 mile to 2 1/4 miles. All the trails are labeled so hikers can follow the trails by themselves.

The nature center, located close to the trails, is open from 1-5 p.m. daily, and from 10 a.m.-5 p.m. on the weekends. The center has regular nature displays, such as animal pelts, for park visitors to study.

Admission into the park for a day costs $2 per car. However, park visitors may purchase park permits for $7 which enable them to use the park all year long.

Take a cruise Leave. winter in your wake

By GEORGE KOVANIS

Brrrrrrrrrrrr it's cold out there. How does a vacation in a nice, warm, climate sound?

For many area residents, soaking in some sun instead of struggling to keep warm sounds just fine. Many choose to break up monotonous, cold, winter months with trips to the tropics.

Cruises are popular and convenient. Instead of packing and unpacking every time you move to another island, cruise travelers stay on the ship which is their hotel.

"I promote (clients) taking a cruise, hanging up their clothes once," said Darlene Leader, owner of Leader Travel in Brighton.

"I book an awful lot of Hawaii. Just a ton of Hawaii." Most seven-day Hawaiian cruises make stops at four Hawaiian islands, Leader said. The islands of Oahu, Maui, Hawaii and Kauai are the usual stops for the ships.

In addition to Hawaiian cruises, Caribbean and Mexican Riviera cruises are also popular. About 80 percent of the cruises booked in the winter are to the Caribbean and Mexican Riviera, said Carson Lane, travel counselor at AAA in Brighton.

But if you think taking a cruise is like taking a ride on The Love Boat—beware. You'll be in for a few surprises.

"The cruise ships themselves are just like they are on TV," said Barbara Blaharski, owner of Better-World Travel in Howell. However, she added that most passengers don't have to wear the glittering gowns or tuxedos that are popular on television cruisers.

"You don't have to rent a tux for a ship," she said, adding that for most dinners, women can wear the same type of dress they would wear to dinner at a Holiday Inn. Men, she said, can either wear an open shirt or tie.

Most of the dress on cruise ships is casual, Lane said. However, for some dinners, he said dressing-up is expected.

And what does that mean? "That would be tie for gentlemen, jacket if they feel comfortable...an evening gown for women," he said.

"Some ships command a lot of clothes, others do not," Leader said.

Of course, some passengers choose to dress up more often.

"If you want to be the darling of the cruise and wear something different seven nights, you can imagine how much space that will take," Lane said. And for cruise ship passengers, space is a luxury.

Most cabins are not as roomy as those seen on television. "The cabins that are on The Love Boat are the suites," he said. An the pricetag on those suites can push the cost of a cruise up to about $3,000 or $4,000 per person.

The average cost of a cruise is about $1,200 per person, Carson said. In most cases, this price includes air fare to the departure point.

According to Leader, the cabins are "usually small."

GALBRAITH

The cabins on a cruise ship are about 30 percent smaller than an average Holiday Inn room, Lane said.

What you can expect is gourmet food, and lots of it. Meals are included in the price of the cruise, so are soft drinks, and wine at dinner, Lane said. Hard liquor can be bought at the bar, he said, adding that because the ships do not have to pay duty on the liquor, ship drinks are often less expensive than usual. Soft drinks are generally included in the price of the trip.

The average cruise ship carries about 350-400 passengers, Carson said. And most of the ships are safe, he said. "At least 80-90 percent of the ships are safe," he said.

Windjammer cruises are available for more adventurous travelers. These ships, which are similar to sail boats, are more informal than the traditional cruisers and on some cruises, passengers have the option of becoming part of the crew.

"It's not like being pampered on a cruise," Carson said.

And instead of dressing for dinner, travel agents say the dress is much more casual.

"It really takes a special kind of

See page 19

Cruise to warmth

person to go on that cruise," Leader said. "The food is not gourmet. It's very simple food." Instead of French cuisine, Windjammer sailers can expect simple meals such as hot dogs, fish and spaghetti.

"You have to match up the ship with the client," Leader said. This matching is important, she said, adding that in the past, some of her clients weren't quite sure what they were in for. Some have complained about the food, she said.

Cruises aren't limited to the Caribbean or the Mexican Riviera. Ships sail all over the world—even to the Amazon. According to Lane, Lindblad Travel, which in the past has sent a cruise through the Arctic circle, regularly runs Amazon cruises. The cost is about $3,000-$4,000 apiece and the cruises generally last for three weeks or more.

Most of the passengers on these cruises are biologists and naturalists, Lane said.

"I would say it's going to appeal to people who have special interests," he said.

"It's not necessarily a throw your head back and have a good time kind of a thing," he added. Passengers on this ship can expect land excursions and can also probably expect a learning experience, Lane said.

"They say this is a porpoise...this is an anaconda that'll strangle you...they say this is a lion, stay away from that..." he said.

However, cruises aren't the only option available to winter travelers. Many choose a Club Med village for a vacation spot.

The private villages are set up all over the world—including the Bahamas, Haiti and Mexico. And travel agents say that if you're not going to be traveling during your vacation, a Club Med might be the place to stay.

The villages have everything, beaches, sports, accommodations and sightseeing trips. In addition, many of the clubs have special programs for children. Like a cruise, nearly everything is included in the price of the trip. Money is taboo in the villages. Currency is exchanged for "bar beads" which can be used to purchase alcoholic beverages. They can not be redeemed for cash. Valuables can be checked in the village safe.

Some clubs have special programs such as computer workshops, tennis lessons and craft sessions.

"One price covers everything, covers all the food and covers all the wine," Leader said. "I think that are priced extremely well depending on one's needs, they have a certain Club Med for everyone."

"Booking through a Club Med is a lot cheaper," Lane said.

But Club Med isn't for everyone. "If you're a person who likes to eat at McDonald's and have a friend with a boat somewhere, Club Med probably isn't for you," Lane said.

"For the person that wants to be adventurous, matching up the right Club Med can be wonderful," Leader said.

But if a vacation away from home is inconvenient or too expensive, bringing a little of the tropics into your home might be an idea.

Theme parties, such as Luau parties, or beach parties are always popular during the winter time. What could be better than a limbo in the living room?
