Sweet hunters

Matthew Snyder, 11 months old, eyes the starter at the Jaycees' Easter Hunt Saturday, with his mother, Lynn Snyder. Jesse Thomas, 4, left, used a back pack as a "tummy sack" to collect his candy. His parents, Mark and Dian Snyder help him sort while sister Holly, 1, below, also investigates. The Jaycees moved the hunt for the youngest children to the recreation building as skies darkened. Officials to review developer's plan for downtown

By B.J. MARTIN

Many years in the future, people may look back at next Tuesday as a pivotal time in the history of the City of Northville.

That's when city officials are expected to review plans for a dazzling multiple-use building complex to be built on the Center Street block between Main and Cady.

The complex would contain a restaurant, specialty shops, offices and 46 apartment units of various shapes and sizes. When finished, it would transform the site from the most noticeably underdeveloped downtown parcel to the most architecturally and economically dominant.

The complex is the dreamchild of two young men: Paul N. Hoffmann and John Standish of The 108 Group, a real estate developing firm based at 108 North Center. If no complications arise, the project — the two-month-old firm's first — could be completed by the end of 1986.

Complications — at least in the governmental approval process — appear unlikely. Reactions from officials and business people familiar with the project have been overwhelmingly favorable.

Typical were the remarks of City Planning Consultant Ron Nino when he and city planning commissioners at last week's meeting informally discussed site plan blueprints submitted by The 108 Group.

"Northville needs this," Nino told commissioners. "If the project comes through you're going to see people out on the street at night. You're going to have people living, shopping and working downtown." Not often prone to overstatement, Nino referred to the project as "the most exciting thing I've ever seen."

The Northville Historic District Commission has scheduled a special meeting at 8 p.m. Monday to review the plans. The Northville Planning Commission will review them the following night. For the multi-million dollar project to go ahead as planned, both groups' approval is required.

To encourage the official thumbs-up, representatives of The 108 Group plan to unveil full-color architectural renderings and a scale model next week.

Neither the model nor the color drawings are required by city ordinance. But both are in keeping with the developmental philosophy of Hoffmann, the entrepreneurial counterpart to Standish, the technician behind The 108 Group.

"It's a very nice partnership," Hoffmann said last week. "John is strong on making the project go, while I'm into creating the image of it."

Hoffmann has grown to know the site well. Five years ago he moved headquarters of his building maintenance contracting firm into an upper-floor Center Street office. From the chair behind his sleek modern black desk, the view out his window directly overlooks the intersection of Main and Center.

"I'm entrepreneurial by nature,"

Hansen faces no opposition

Northville Board of Education president Jean Hansen will have little trouble winning reelection to a second four-year term in this year's school board race.

The former teacher was the only resident to return a nominating petition by Monday's 4 p.m. deadline. In fact, according to the business office, Hansen apparently was the only candidate to circulate a petition.

The June 10 school board election will be the first uncontested race in recent history.

Elected in June, 1981, Hansen currently is serving her first term as president of the board. She also has held the offices of vice president and treasurer during her four-year tenure.

Hansen announced her intention to seek a second term at the March 11 school board meeting. She noted at that time that "to quit now would be to stop in the middle of things."

Barring any write-in balloting, it appears Hansen won't have to worry about not seeing the district's changes through to completion.

DeHoCo back on legislature's agenda

Political maneuvering on the state purchase of the Detroit House of Correction will reopen in Lansing next week when the legislature reconvenes April 16 after its Easter break.

State representative Gerald H. Law (R-Plymouth Township) said his understanding is that he'll have at least two bills dealing with DeHoCo coming up for House of Representatives votes in the next few weeks.

Law's own bill, HB 4340, calls for a moratorium on further prison sitings in communities which already have one unless the local government agrees. Directly related to a joint resolution by the trustees of Plymouth and Northville townships, the bill is still being opposed by the department of management and budget, Law said.

"I'll be trying to have that tie-barred to HB 4392, which is the DeHoCo purchase," he said. If he is successful, the vote on the DeHoCo purchase and the moratorium would occur simultaneously, with a single roll call deciding both issues.

The purchase bill, which establishes that the state will buy DeHoCo from the City of Detroit for $6.7 million, cleared the legislature's joint capital outlay committee just before the Easter recess. It was referred to the House appropriations committee.

Law said Monday he understands HB 4392 will be treated as an authorization bill — that is, it authorizes the expenditure of funds previously appropriated. The legislature late last year appropriated $15 million for prison acquisition and expansion, but each expenditure from that total requires a separate authorization under terms included by State Senator R. Robert Geake (R-Northville).

Another bill dealing with DeHoCo is the supplemental appropriation (SB 52) approved by the Senate March 28. The senate version includes a moratorium on further prison sitings in Northville or Plymouth townships and a cap of 500 on the number of prisoners who can be housed at DeHoCo.

But, an appropriations bill is non-binding beyond the period of the appropriation — so-called "boilerplate language" attached to the appropriation expires with the next appropriation the legislature makes. Law said he'd prefer to see the moratorium written as a separate piece of legislation and obtain approval by tie-barring the bill to the DeHoCo acquisition.

He noted the house appropriations subcommittee on corrections has already eliminated the 500-prisoner cap Geake had inserted in SB 52 and lifted the capacity to 750.

"I don't want to get too hung up with appropriations — if the moratorium or the cap is in there, fine, but my real interest is in getting my bill tie-barred to the purchase," Law said.

It is likely that a joint conference committee comprised of both representatives and senators will have to iron out differences between the versions of the appropriations bill approved by the house and senate. Conference committee action is also possible on the DeHoCo purchase bill.

Law said a touted "compromise" with DMB officials has not yet borne fruit. "We were willing to move up (the number of prisoners allowed at DeHoCo on a temporary basis) if they'd tie-bar our moratorium to it," Law said. "But the DMB people didn't like that — they offered to tie-bar a prisoner cap at the three prisons to the purchase."

Published reports said a compromise agreement had been reached allowing 750 prisoners until the Scott Regional

Firefighters battle weekend blazes

Instead of hunting for Easter eggs last weekend, Northville Township firefighters battled two separate blazes at the abandoned Wayne County Child Development Center site on Sheldon Road.

Fire chief Robert Toms said there have been "seven major fires" on the Sheldon Road property in the last few months with four set in the last six weeks.

"They are deliberately setting them off," Toms said, noting arson is suspected in the weekend incidents. "They actually cut down six-inch thick Christmas trees and dragged them into the building before setting the fire."

Toms said firefighters were first called out at about 2:15 p.m. Saturday to battle a blaze at the former water and sewer department equipment building.

"When I opened my front door, I could smell the smoke," said Toms, who lives on Sunnydale off Bradner.

Township firefighter Todd Andrews spotted the blaze while traveling south bound on Sheldon Road near Six Mile. He told police he saw smoke coming from the old water department building and went to the station to report the fire.

Noting the winds were blowing about 45 miles per hour, Toms said the entire building was engulfed in flames by the time firefighters arrived.

The building, which contained some 20 garages, was completely gutted.

Firefighters worked more than two hours battling the blaze which caused an estimated $30,000 damage to the facility.

Toms discovered the second blaze Sunday morning while investigating Saturday's fire.

He said he noticed smoke coming from the manhole covers near the former gymnasium.

He noted he called out firefighters around 10:45 a.m. to battle the blaze which caused an estimated $5,000 damage to the bowling alley of the gym.

"We've got a real problem out there," the chief noted. "The police realize that, too."

"We're spending a lot of township tax dollars to go out there and fight fires."

Township police chief's among new FBI graduates

Fewer than one in every 200 law enforcement officers in the U.S. is selected for the training course offered by the FBI National Academy, but Northville now boasts two graduates.

Township Police Chief Kenneth D. Hardesty recently completed the 11-week management training program in Quantico, Virginia, joining city chief Rodney Cannon among graduates of the prestigious institution. Cannon is current president of the Michigan chapter of the FBINA Graduates Association.

Hardesty began training January 6 and was graduated with the 140th session March 22. There are four sessions per year, each enrolling 250 officers.

"I enjoyed it," Hardesty said of the rigorous program of study and physical training. "It was a real challenge. In a lot of ways, it was like the military. I liked it, but I wouldn't do it again. When you've got kids and family at home, 11 weeks is a long time to be away."

Hardesty, who lives in South Lyon with his wife Joanna and their three sons (Kenneth Jr., 10; Edward, 7; and Joseph, almost 3), managed only two quick weekend trips home.

"Joey's been my shadow since I came back," he confided last week. "He wants to make sure I don't go away again."

Hardesty said he believes he did very well in the program. Final grades in the course work are not compiled "but from my test scores and knowing how much each weighed, I figure I was at about the 3.5 level" on a four-point scale.

Simply being selected to attend the academy is an honor in the law enforcement field. Those applying include law enforcement officers (police, military police, investigators for government agencies and prosecutor's offices) from throughout the world.

Hardesty applied in January, 1982.

"I made the list and it was felt I would be in the April class," Hardesty said. "Then, they notified me January 3 (of this year) that they had an opening in the January class — I had to report January 6. The school's a once-in-a-lifetime chance — I went."

That wasn't quite the disruption to his life and work it may appear, Hardesty noted. "They often go to the next class when there are openings. The (FBI) agent in charge of the Detroit office had everything in order. You have to go through a very thorough physical and some tests — all the pre-testing was done and on file when they called. All I had to do was pack and go."

In his absence, Captain Phillip Presnell led the township department. When Hardesty returned, he found the department offices repainted and sporting new carpeting in accordance with plans he'd made before leaving.

Upon arriving at Quantico, Hardesty embarked on a full-time load of study that was often prefaced by 7 a.m. physical training sessions. In addition to 14 credit hours of course work at nearby Virginia State College, there were 12 daytime seminars at the academy plus optional evening lectures. All classes were taught by college professors and instructors considered to be among the best in the world in the field.

Hardesty's college work had to include one course each in law, forensic science, education and communication arts, behavioral science, and manage-

Northville native traces history of Michigan Indians

"Tonquish Tales," a story of early d'Etroit, pioneers and Michigan Indians, holds special interest for local readers as it traces the history of those American Indians who followed the Grand River trail to Plymouth Mound — the Potawatomi under Chief Tonquish.

The paperback size volume is the work of Plymouth resident Helen Frances Gilbert, who points out she also is a Northville native who lived with her parents in a Victorian house on the southeast corner of Rogers and Main before the family moved to Plymouth.

The tales first appeared in 1982 as fortnightly columns in the Plymouth Observer and last year were compiled into a history of the American Indians who lived in this area.

"Any fair assessment of stories about the American Indian must take into account that we are exploring the history of a people who left us no written language," comments Gilbert as she explains her aim has been to "humanize the Indians who lived in this area."

She points out that cultural remnants and sign language of the Indians have led at times to a variety of interpretation.

"The Indian has often been misrepresented and misunderstood because of ignorance of his true condition and beliefs. And the plight of these native Americans has been made worse by exploitation, political chicanery and selfish greed.

"A consistently more humane and reasonably truthful approach to the Indian is long overdue."

Helen Gilbert's history of the Tonquish Indians indeed personalizes these early settlers of the region.

Readers will find it easy to picture such Indians as Shaman in Gilbert's narrative: "Alone on his tired, little Indian pony, limping along Pontiac's ancient trail the last Shaman (medicine man) of the Tonquish Potawatomi pondered his plight..."

The description begins a chapter (Old Shaman of the Tonquish Faces Governor of Territory) in which the medicine man was going to Plymouth Mound to install Tonga as the tribe's new chief.

For her book Gilbert has compiled an extensive bibliography of books about early Michigan Indians, Chief Tonquish, Cadillac's d'Etroit and Luther Lincoln, a founding father of the City of Plymouth.

She also admits she haunts museums and libraries, and has done much research in the libraries of the University of Michigan and the Burton collections of the Detroit Public Library. She has interviewed such persons as Susie Pokagon, widow of Jewett Pokagon, a grandson of Chief Simon Pokagon.

Gilbert's acknowledgments include conversations with former Northville resident Marian Sober, an artist who was interested in the American Indian.

"Tonquish Tales" has been a retirement project for Helen Gilbert. A graduate of Michigan State Normal School, she received her master's degree from Wayne State University.

She taught journalism for 25 years after a stint on the Daytona Beach Journal and as a member of the public relations staff for Michigan Bell Telephone Company during World War II.

The book and her research, she says, rival duplicate bridge as consuming interests.

Her 172-page history of the Tonquish Indians was published in a limited edition of 1,000 for the Plymouth Fall Festival last year, and Gilbert is hoping it shortly will be going into a second edition. It was published by Pilgrim Heritage Press in Plymouth and is available by mail from P.O. Box 473, Plymouth, 48170. Locally, the book is available at Bookstall on the Main where it is priced at $6.50.

Township building ongoing

Anyone preparing a list of developers expected to be most active in new construction in Northville Township over the next few years has to include the township itself.

Aside from sewer and water installations, the township has four separate building programs in various stages of the planning process.

These include, in order of likely construction:

- A new water and sewer department maintenance facility on Beck Road behind the reservoir tank, to be built this season. Final site plans were recently approved by the planning commission. Funding is from the water and sewer department, with cost estimates running from $250,000-$350,000 (see related story).

- Township hall improvements. These include near-term expansion of the parking area, a roadway leading from the police and fire department to Winchester, and upgrading the ball fields. The park and parking lot may receive grant funding, with the remaining financial support of nearly $28,000 coming from the township general fund. The budget for the year that began April 1 also includes $12,000 to have architectural plans drawn for expansion of the township hall building itself.

- A second fire station on recently-purchased land on Seven Mile west of Beck. Architectural planning is budgeted this year for $3,700. Both this project and the township hall expansion depend upon voter approval of bond issues supported by property taxes. The next election at which voters could approve bond issuance is the gubernatorial primary in August, 1986 — unless the township opts to conduct a special election to consider the questions before then.

- Beck Road park development. This is likely to be phased, with sorely-needed softball diamonds and soccer fields a top priority. Plans for the park include many other facilities. Officials hope to fund park development through one of several grant programs offered by the federal and state governments.

Except for the water and sewer department building, the township projects are all in early planning stages. Parking lot expansion at township hall has been a long-term goal. When the ballfields are in use and a meeting is under way at township hall, drivers are forced to park on the grass north of the lot. Particularly active meeting nights create the same problem to a lesser degree.

Current plans are to grade the area east of the present parking lot and lay the base (composition) this building season. Asphalt paving would be laid in 1986, after giving the base a year to settle firmly.

While grading the parking area, township officials plan to cut the road through from the police/fire facility west to Winchester. The steep hill and narrow drive presently used both for general access to township hall and for emergency vehicle routing poses several concerns — including fear that the drive might be blocked by an accident and delay police and fire response to emergencies.

It may be possible to combine these improvements with a grant-supported upgrading of the ballfields at township hall.

Land acquisition for both the new western fire hall and the Beck Road park was approved by voters last August. Timing on these developments is flexible — plans have been drawn for the park and phased development of the estimated $1.7 million facility can begin whenever funding is available.

Architectural work on the fire hall is to be done in the current budget year. Fire chief Robert Toms is urging the township board to conduct a special election to approve bonds for the project this year so that construction can begin by 1986. The new fire hall might not arrive until late 1987, and may be more costly, Toms suggests, if the township waits to get voter approval in the gubernatorial primary.

Also likely to require bonding is expansion of the present township hall. Early indications during recent budget sessions suggested a two-story addition off the back (west face) of the building. Expansion has been discussed in the past five years, and there is a 1981 study defining a need for extra office space in the police department and for additional storage areas to serve all departments.

Maintenance facility gets officials' approval

Plans for a new water and sewer department maintenance building to be constructed behind the Beck Road reservoir were approved by the Northville Township planning commission and board of trustees recently.

The structure, estimated to cost $350,000 once completely furnished, will not be visible from Beck Road, since it will be shielded from view by the large reservoir tank.

This led to a water and sewer department decision to construct a cinder block building. But planning commissioners and township trustees objected to that proposal, and the structure as approved will have brick facing.

"I don't think it should be a block building," said planning commissioner Richard Allen, the trustee liaison to the commission. "This is a future residential area. It would behoove the township to make the building as attractive as possible."

Commissioners were reviewing a letter from water and sewer commission chairman Thomas Handyside. The letter explained that, since the building would not be visible from roadside, Handyside's commission had determined that it would be irresponsible to pay the extra cost of brick facing from water and sewer department revenues.

But Allen noted that the township master plan calls for single family homes to be built behind the reservoir site.

Planning commissioner Charles DeLand noted that "three sides are not screened by the reservoir and would be visible by future residents."

Allen pointed out that the planning commission has authority only to review the site plan for the structure. "We don't really have a vote on an elevation," he said. "The planning commission could make a strong recommendation to the board of trustees and the water and sewer people that they use brick."

Planning consultant Claude Coates said several other communities served by his firm (Vilcan-Leman Associates) have provisions in their zoning or-

OLV students win science honors

Our Lady of Victory School seventh and eighth graders took honors in this year's Metropolitan Science and Engineering Fair held at Cobo Hall the weekend of March 1-3.

Our Lady of Victory School Science Fair project winner Julee Lautzenheiser was awarded the All Grand Gold Second Special Award for her work.

She was presented with an engraved plaque as a memento of her scientific achievement at the University of Michigan April 1.

Blue Ribbons for second place were awarded to David Best and John Okasinski. Exhibitor ribbons were presented to Janet Schlachter, Jude Pereira, Matt Scarlett, Kris Harris, Michael Kelly and Fred Cook.

Honorable mentions were awarded to Sarah Imrick, Liz DeMattia, Jeff Duwel, Jason Baldas, Dan Tomica, Susie Alfoidy and Eric Galardi.

Each year Detroit Edison presents special awards for outstanding projects. This year, special awards went to Dan Tomica and John Okasinski.

OLV science teacher Cynthia Haley directed students with their projects.

"...Retirement's only 10 years away—it's too late to start an IRA... right?"

Wrong.

Putting $2,000 each year into a Down River Federal Savings Individual Retirement Account for 10 years could give you an extra nest egg of $35,833.*

After all, why settle for just getting by when you can start now and build a bigger and more secure future? At $2,000 a year, you'll have a tidy sum in ten years. An extra $250 deduction is allowed for a total deduction of $2,250. And married couples who are both employed may contribute up to $4,000 a year to an IRA — so you'll have twice as much in your nest egg!

And, let us tell you about how your IRA contribution can lower your income tax each year (even last year if you act before April 15).

Downtown project's plans show a dazzling building

Hoffmann explained, "So many times I've said, 'Someone's got to do something with that corner.' "I went down to talk to Walter (architect Walter Coponen, the Northville resident who designed the project) because I knew it would be a huge project."

He also brought up the subject with

Who's behind the new project

PAUL N. HOFFMANN, a downtown businessman, visualized a stylish multi-use building on the site. "I'm entrepreneurial by nature," he explains. Hoffmann expects to play an ongoing role in running the building.

JOHN STANDISH, with Hoffmann co-founder of The 108 Group, tackled the monetary details of the project — at first, completely unbeknownst to Hoffmann.

WALTER F. COPONEN, architect, designed the building plans. A City of Northville resident, Coponen says his fee is his last consideration in drafting the plans, since he himself will be a neighbor.

John Standish, who operated Standish Services, a business based down the hall from Hoffmann's office.

"We were talking about it while we were having a beer at MacKinnon's," this was about eight weeks ago," Hoffmann recalled. "The next day John went down and contacted his real estate brokers — this is all without me even knowing — and they began negotiating with the Ten Grand Club (a group of nine investors who are selling the 40,000 square-foot parcel to The 108 Group)."

"The next day John comes in and says he's made an offer on it. I said, 'I'm in!'"

That's when the pair formed The 108 Group, and roped in Coponen, a longtime acquaintance of Hoffmann, to handle the architectural design.

Coponen faced a particular challenge. He has lived and worked in the city for 16 years and he is well aware that, for better or for worse, the concept he has developed for the site could become a part of his everyday life.

Coponen explained, "One of the most important design considerations was scale. We felt the building has to have a personal scale. I told Paul if he was talking about a monolith where the idea was to maximize every square inch of the site, he'd have to find someone else to design it."

Instead, Hoffmann and Standish shared Coponen's vision. "We could have built a lot more than 46 units on the site," Hoffmann said. "We could just build a box and fill the whole thing in. Instead we've got various levels, and the height of the frontage on Main Street is compatible with the other buildings nearby."

"We'll be losing a lot of usable space, but we wanted a project the citizenship can support... We didn't want a chrome and glass skyscraper downtown."

Coponen added, "I believe in the project. Of the reasons I'm doing it, last on the list is the fee I'll get."

Toward that end, Coponen's design is bold and distinctive, yet focused on accommodating pedestrian traffic with walkways, plantings and lighting in keeping with the surrounding downtown area. He agrees with Hoffmann that an appropriate adjective to describe the goal of the design is "timeless."

"We want to carry on the downtown theme, so we're working with wrought iron, brick walkways and other ways to establish downtown shopping," said Coponen. "I think people like being able to look in shop windows. We went out of our way to stay away from a mall-type approach."

Already, influential officials such as Nino, City Manager Steven Walters, Mayor Paul Vernon and Council member G. Dewey Gardner have had positive reactions to the architectural drawings, Hoffmann reports.

Should approval be granted and financing arranged (Hoffmann declared he anticipates no problem rounding up investors — in fact, he said he already has received many unsolicited offers), both Hoffmann and Coponen plan to remain active in administering the building on an ongoing basis — even after it opens.

Hoffmann intends to oversee the design and management of the restaurant and bar, while Coponen would oversee how the building accommodates new businesses and offices from an architectural standpoint.

Hoffmann is still forming a concept of the bar and restaurant. He visited Chicago last weekend in part to research some of that city's successful restaurants.

"I'd like it to be a sophisticated kind of place, maybe have a grand piano on hand, a place with some personality, something lively," he explained. "I don't think I want it to just be a place with a lot of booths."

As for his ongoing role in the building, Coponen said, "Usually when an architect does a project, he simply gives the developer a 'shell' and the developer decides what goes where while the architect's job is done. I plan to be in on design decisions even when a business is replaced after a few years."

Coponen, in fact, said he plans to apply for a seat on the Historic District Commission after the commission is finished deciding the fate of the project.

Details of construction plans

Developers of the multi-use shopping/residential/office center proposed for downtown Northville say they have taken pains to scale their project so that it is in keeping with the surrounding downtown area.

If that proves anything, it's that "scale" is a relative term. If the new center does not dominate the downtown area, it's going to come pretty close. Here is a description of the proposal now under study:

The building would extend from Cady Street all the way to Main Street and will be situated over a ground-floor level parking garage with driveways facing Center and Cady. Where it fronts on Main Street, the building will be 42 feet above the sidewalk and taller than the Winners Circle building. Where it fronts on Cady Street, it will be 68 feet tall — six stories — and taller than any other building downtown.

The variation in height is due to a tiered roof arrangement, with the lowest roof heights fronting Main, and the highest fronting Cady.

The exterior of the building will be brick, with plenty of glass, particularly on the first level. Most striking visually will be an angled skylight.

The staggered height of the building will ease the impression of its verticality, as should pedestrian walkways, shrubs and tree plantings and first-floor attractions such as stores. The sixth floor of the building will provide open-air decks for residents. There is 11,000 square feet of office space, and slightly more square footage for stores.

About the type of stores shoppers could expect, The 108 Group's Paul Hoffmann said: "We have definite ideas of what we want. If one retailer came in and said 'I want all 11,000 feet,' we'd turn him down. We want a variety of stores, maybe something on the order of a Ralph Lauren Polo shop, maybe a rotisserie, maybe a wine and cheese shop."

The walkways winding around the shop windows will encourage pedestrian traffic not only with streetlights much like the existing ones downtown, but with recessed lights in the surrounding parapet.

Because the project's on-site parking provides for only 57 parking spaces, and because of the likelihood of the downtown business district extending further south along Center Street, the parking lots south of Cady downtown will likely see increased use. City Manager Steven Walters has suggested the possibility of a parking garage deck behind the M.A.G.S. building.

Hilton adds impetus to Novi-Northville boom

By B.J. MARTIN

More than one piece of architecture since Twelve Oaks Mall, the 88-foot powdery silver facade of the Novi Hilton signifies this area has become a prime contender in the hot suburb sweepstakes.

Developer Joe Gerak knew it would when he acquired the site in 1967, when the construction of I-275 — virtually the project's entire reason for being — still loomed nearly a decade in the future.

"We did our economic and industrial studies and zeroed in on this site," says Gerak. "We knew eventually we'd build it here. There was never a question about it. The only thing to be settled was, 'When?'"

When it's finished this year, the Hilton will be a high-tech, state-of-the-art, streamlined, computerized knockout of a meeting center on the go exec types. At the same time, it will provide enough decorating and entertainment touches to draw even in-towners for a little classy R&R.

From the north-south routes to the east, the hotel now looks almost finished. Add a little grass and some trees, and it resembles the environmental drawings developers showed city officials to sell them on what was to become the city's tallest commercial structure.

But while the Hilton's gleaming exterior appears complete, the interior is still a mess of pillars, beams, pipes and wires, most coated with a couple layers of industrial dust.

While it's not very comfortable — not just yet — the way the Hilton looks right now offers an interesting look at the way a blueprint becomes reality.

Actually, in the case of the Hilton, there are 154 blueprints: 32 architectural, 25 mechanical, 20 electrical, nine structural, seven site improvement, seven for food services and four for laundry services. Fifty more blueprints contain information on miscellaneous architectural details, including millwork and fixtures.

Of all the blueprints, the architectural, prepared by Nordstrom-Samson

A high-tech wonder, the Hilton should open this summer

Associates, provide the most comprehensible overall perspective of the project.

THE SHAPE OF THINGS: Seen from above, the top six floors of the Hilton have roughly the same shape: basically a long, rectangular south wing and an equally long, rectangular north wing joined off-center.

The ground floor (basement) and the first floor have somewhat different configurations in keeping with their different purposes. Put simply, the ground floor is shaped something like an Etch-a-Sketch map of Texas and the main floor like a slightly larger Illinois.

At its tallest — the decorative penthouse extension directly above where the south wing meets the north — the Hilton stands 86 feet, six inches above the ground, making it the city's tallest building. For practical purposes, however, the building's height is 70 feet, six inches.

THE SKELETAL SYSTEM: The construction method for the hotel is what builders often call a "steel skeleton." A grid of more than 100 columns defines the building's dimensions and shape.

Each column is individually anchored in concrete. Connecting the columns at various levels is a network of beams which divides the building into seven floors — eight, if one includes the ground floor.

By the time the Hilton is finished, approximately 450 workers will have done their specialized bit, from contractors to carpet layers, computer engineers to riveters.

So much for the technical stuff. Now comes the fun part.

GROUND FLOOR: Already, the ground floor's home-plate-shaped pool has been installed, along with the fixtures for a circular, 8-foot diameter jacuzzi to the side. Opening windows connect the interior pool terrace to an exterior pool terrace.

Guests get to and from the pool either by a short hallway leading to an elevator or by a stairway that leads upward to the cocktail lounge which overlooks the pool.

The hotel's most distinctive architectural feature is probably the diagonally sloped glass skylight which extends above the pool and its surrounding interior terrace. As of yet, the glass has not been installed, and the pool below now contains what it has collected from the skies of Michigan.

Supporting the sloping skylight is a row of V-shaped beams intersected at their meeting points by a perpendicular beam. Located to the side are four joined pyramidal skylights located in the ceiling directly above the cocktail lounge.

Away from guests' usual travel routes, the main part of the basement will be given over to hotel operations invisible to guests: offices, laundry room, maintenance room, boilers, phone and electrical nerve centers, central plant and equipment, and lockers and showers to accommodate many of the hotel's 150 permanent employees.

MAIN FLOOR: The main floor contains the front entrance, lobby, check-in desk, and most of the entertainment attractions: a cocktail lounge, a coffee shop, a restaurant ("Seasons"), a lecture hall, and a banquet area which can be divided into four sections by retractable walls. Best of all, there's an entertainment lounge ("Reflections") featuring a two-tier island bar, dance floor, disc jockey booth, plus nightly live entertainment.

The banquet area will have eight chandeliers, providing at least one in each section when the banquet area is divided.

Also on the main floor are the hotel's administrative offices, the kitchen, and the employees' dining area. At the northwest corner of the building is the truck and kitchen for easy delivery and transport of goods.

Among the technological wonders are the hotel's telecommunications and video conferencing capabilities. A master computer controls food and beverage systems, and can instantly post restaurant charges to the guest's room bill.

GUEST FLOORS (2-7): Some of the niftiest touches of detail are reserved for the 240 guest rooms, appropriately enough. Each guest receives not a key, but a keycard. "To protect a guest's privacy even the maid's keycard will not open the lock when the room is occupied," says General Manager Gary Seibert.

Guest bathrooms are equipped with a switch-operated infrared heater that provides bathers or shower takers with a little extra blast of heat.

Bathrooms on the seventh floor will have an extra touch — television sets which can be viewed from the commode or the bathtub.

The north wing of the second floor will house the rooms to be used most frequently for business conferences. Each of the meeting/guest rooms is double the size of a typical guest room.

The typical upper-level floor contains 44 guest rooms. Parlor suites located in the north wings of the fifth, sixth and seventh floors are outfitted with a bar and two adjoining guest rooms. The suites, like the meeting/guest rooms on the second floor, are double the size of the typical guest room.

Rooms facing the west will have a surprisingly leafy view. Aside from the partially screened Orchard Hill Place buildings, trees effectively shroud the city from the building and vice versa.

An upper-floor view east permits a long look down I-275. Detroit's tallest buildings are visible in clear weather.

TOPPING IT OFF: The rooftop, as is common in buildings of its size, houses fan units which, in case of fire, pressurize the air inside the stairwells to keep them free from smoke.

Around the perimeter of the rooftop is a parapet less than two feet high. Inside the parapet, there is a layer of gravel distributed atop the roof. The gravel serves as an extra protection to the roof against high winds.

Police Blotters

Vandals damage mausoleum crypt

In the City...

City police are investigating leads regarding a breaking and entering of the mausoleum in Rural Hill Cemetery, which occurred sometime between April 2 and 4.

Damage to a crypt that the intruder(s) attempted to pry open was estimated at $850.

According to the report, a brass flower vase was pried from its base and the brass plate removed. It appeared the vandal(s) were attempting to reach the coffin but were stopped by the concrete casing.

...In the Township

Unknown suspect(s) stole a 1975 Pontiac Ventura from the driveway of a Sunnydale residence sometime between midnight and 7:40 a.m. April 4, township police report.

The complainant said the vehicle was locked and that no one at the residence heard anything suspicious.

Value was estimated at $1,300.

A radar detector and 35mm camera were stolen from a 1983 Honda Accord parked at Oasis Golf Center on Five Mile sometime between 4:45 and 5:20 p.m. April 5, police report.

The complainant said unknown person(s) gained entry to the vehicle by throwing a brick through the passenger door window.

Damage to the window was estimated at $150.

Combined value of the radar detector and camera was $600.

Unknown person(s) caused an estimated $250 property damage to a fence at the Kings Mill complex sometime between 6 p.m. April 2 and 9 a.m. April 3, police report.

The complainant told police unknown person(s) drove into a wooden gate at the entrance of the trash dump.

The complainant further stated a tenant heard a crash at approximately 11:45 p.m. April 2 but did not look outside to investigate the incident.

Police at the scene observed that the gate was destroyed and noted that numerous damaged auto parts strewn about the area had been left by the suspect vehicle.

Clubs donate films to state police

Donations from Northville Rotary and Jaycees and from Plymouth Lions have paid for the addition of three new audio-visual films available through the Michigan State Police — Northville Post.

According to Trooper Robert Garcia, community education has become a major thrust of the department's efforts to reduce crime.

The three new films, "Every Eight Seconds," "Marijuana: The Inside Story" and "Child Abuse" are available from the post for showing at schools, parent groups, civic clubs and other law enforcement agencies.

"Every Eight Seconds" addresses the home burglary issue. It examines myths about burglary, points out vulnerable points of entry into a home and suggests effective and common sense precautions to be taken daily.

"Marijuana: The Inside Story" provides up-to-date facts about marijuana for the pre-teen audience. It uses a cartoon format involving two young people and their dog in a magic, fun-filled adventure.

"Child Abuse" provides accurate, current knowledge about the four forms of child abuse, and gives concerned citizens the opportunity to do something about the problem. The four forms of child abuse are physical abuse, neglect, emotional abuse and sexual abuse. It is the cause of much suffering, including broken lives and wrecked families.

The local civic clubs each donated $150 to add the films to the Northville Post's library. Additional information is available through Garcia, who may be reached at the Seven Mile Road post, telephone 348-1505.

Township plans building

dinances or other regulations that demand certain types of building materials, but that Northville Township does not. He also said other communities have provisions in their codes that spell out strict review requirements for government-owned structures, but the township does not.

"We should review this just like it was from an outside developer," said commissioner Marvin Gans. "If a developer wanted to put a block building in there, we'd lean on them pretty heavily to use brick. We wouldn't have any more power to require that than we do in this case, but the developer would usually comply when we asked that he be a good neighbor. I would expect the township to behave in the same manner."

The planning commission voted unanimously to approve the site plan and to strongly recommend that the building be made of brick.

By the time the plans reached the township board of trustees, only two days later, the proposal was for a brick-faced building.

ment and police administration. His choices were Constitutional Criminal Procedure, Classification of Fingerprints, Effective Communications, Interpersonal Violence, and Police Labor Relations and Collective Bargaining.

Academy training included Firearms I, II and III, firearms-related research, trends in law enforcement research, undercover operations, deadly force, crisis management, firearms safety, ethics and leadership, politics and the chief executive, overview of bombing matters, forensic science — arson and bombings, and behavioral science in law enforcement.

Hardesty said one evening program that stood out in his mind was an analysis of police actions in the incident described in Joseph Wambaugh's book, "The Onion Field."

Aside from the professional enrichment, Hardesty said, both he and the township benefit "forever" from access to the academy's resources.

"The facilities are incredible," he said. "There's a three-level library, laboratories, almost anything you can imagine."

Two programs being established now correlate statistics from sources throughout the world on serial killers and on missing children, he noted.

In one of his courses, Hardesty learned about new technology being applied to fingerprint identification. Fingerprints are being cataloged by computer. Investigators seeking a match for a particular set of prints will be able to enter a list of characteristics and the computer will select possible matches.

"Instead of searching by hand through hundreds or thousands of cards, they'll be able to narrow it down through the computer to maybe four or five cards," Hardesty explained.

The township chief's classmates at the academy included officers from each of the states excepting North Dakota, Rhode Island and Wyoming.

The academy was founded in 1935 and has since graduated 18,884 officers.

We have all your IRA answers.

"I'm going to retire in 20 years—no sense starting an IRA now... right?"

Wrong.
Start now with an annual $2,000 contribution to a Down River Federal Savings Individual Retirement Account, and at the end of 20 years, you'll have an extra $132,049* to play with!
$132,049 isn't bad when you stop to think that it means less than $9 a week to make a $2,000 a year contribution into your IRA. That's a lot less than many people spend on entertainment!
And, you'll be creating a solid secure addition to your future. Here's a pleasant bonus. That $2,000 a year is deducted from your income — and the taxes you'd normally pay on it and the interest earned are deferred.
Here's your first step. Visit or call any of our 24 neighborhood offices. In the Downriver area call 285-1010, Northwest area 477-9340 and in the Monroe area 243-6600.

Local students excel in OM competition

Four OM (formerly Olympics of the Mind) teams from Northville successfully competed in the Southeastern Michigan Regional OM Competition in Troy March 23.

Students comprising the Division III Ecology Dozer Team will go on to the State Competition at Michigan State University May 4.

All four teams demonstrated workable, creative products.

OM is a creative, problem-solving competition where students plan and create a product or production according to established criteria.

The four teams were sponsored by the Gifted Program, but membership in the program was not required to participate on a team.

The Division I (grades K-5) Compound Fracture team designed and built two support structures with 35 grams of balsa wood which were identified to support as much weight as possible.

Coach of the Division I Compound Fracture team was Peter Albertson. Team members included Leslie Allen of Winchester, Eric Albertson of Winchester, Jeff Kinnely of Amerman, Nick Selinsky of Winchester and Ian Switalski of Moraine.

Division I (grades K-5) High Tech: Smarty Pants team designed and assembled a system which performed a series of tasks such as picking up trash, delivering a card and completing various school work.

Coaches of the Smarty Pants team were Sylvia Gucken and John Kapusky. Members of the team included Braden Robinson of Amerman, George Lemmon of Amerman, Michael Mitchell of Amerman, Michael Williams of Winchester, Spencer Hooks of Amerman and Jason Fisher of Silver Springs.

The Division II (grades 6-8) High Tech: Smarty Pants team designed and assembled a system similar to the one built by the K-5 team.

Coach for the Division II team was Christine Fankell. Members included Julie Heintz of Meads Mill, Aaron Frankel of Winchester, Matt Beemer of Moraine, Kim Field of Silver Springs, Jennifer Rossow of Silver Springs, Adam Fisher of Silver Springs and Chris Lemmon of Amerman.

The Division III (grades 9-12) Ecology Dozer team designed and built a vehicle powered by two hydraulic jacks. One driver picked up trees and another driver tested the distance of a run on one jump of the jacks.

Coaches for the team were Jack and Marilyn Michelitch. Members were Marylyne Michelitch of Cooke, Pat Beemer of Cooke, Tod Clason of Cooke, David Tadrzyaski of Northville High School and Donald Bisdorf of Catholic Central.

Janchick resigns post

The Northville School District currently is interviewing prospective candidates to fill the position of former Cooke Junior High School math teacher Michael Janchick, who resigned his post March 19.

Superintendent George Bell said a substitute teacher who has taken over Janchick's former class in his absence may be eligible for the post should her certification be updated before her 90-day substitute limit expires next week.

Bell said the post will have to be a contract position.

Janchick was hired by the district in the newly-created administrative assistant for operations post in July 1976.

After a fairly rocky tenure in that position, Janchick, a former Meads Mill principal, requested a transfer to a teaching post in the fall of 1979. He had served as a math teacher at Cooke for nearly six years.

Bell said parents in the district were notified of Janchick's resignation.

Prison opens, with only 500 allowed at DeHoCo after that. Law said DMB offered to tie-bar a bill on the purchase authorization that would cap DeHoCo at $50 temporarily, 500 permanent, plus limiting Scott to 550 and Phoenix to 311.

"We're not getting anything that way — what we want is the moratorium," Law said. "Phoenix is only designed for 311, Scott is being built for only 550.

They may be able to squeeze a few more in there, but a cap on those isn't that valuable."

ADVERTISEMENT FOR BIDS FOR KITCHEN EQUIPMENT and NEW BLEACHERS for ADDITION AND ALTERATIONS TO NORTHVILLE HIGH SCHOOL

Northville Public Schools will receive sealed Separate Proposals for (a) Kitchen Equipment; and (b) New Bleachers for the Addition and Alterations to Northville High School until: 3:00 P.M., local time, Thursday, April 18, 1985 at the offices of Northville Public Schools, 501 W. Main Street, Northville, Michigan 48167. Proposals received after that time will not be accepted. All proposals will be publicly opened and read aloud at the same time and place. All interested parties are invited to attend.

Proposed Contract Documents may be examined at the following locations during normal business hours by prospective Bidders:

a. The offices of: Coquillard/Dundon/Peterson and Argenta, Architects and Engineers; 3000 Town Center, Suite 1515; Southfield, Michigan 48075, Telephone: (313) 354-2441.

b. The Construction Association of Michigan, Detroit, Michigan.

c. F. W. Dodge Corporation, Detroit, Michigan.

General Contract Bidders may secure copies of the proposed Contract Documents from the Architect-Engineer after April 2, 1985 on a loan basis as follows:

1. Two (2) copies of the Project Manual, plus two complete sets of prints of Drawings, no deposit. All sets shall be returned in good condition to the Architect-Engineer within five days after bid opening.

2. Additional copies of the Project Manual, including Specifications, plus additional sets of prints of the Drawings, for the cost of reproduction and handling, non-refundable.

3. No partial sets will be issued.

Each proposal must be accompanied by an acceptable bid security in the form of a certified check, cashiers check, or standard form bid bond, made payable to Northville Public Schools, 501 W. Main Street, Northville, Michigan 48167, in an amount of not less than five percent (5%) of the base bid submitted. Failure of any accepted Bidder to enter into contract for the work will cause forfeit of his bid security. After contracts for the work have been signed, all bid securities will be returned.

The accepted Bidder will be required to furnish a satisfactory Performance Bond and Labor and Materials Payment Bond, each in an amount equal to 100% of his Contract.

Rates of wages and fringe benefits to be paid to each class of mechanics employed in the project by the Contractor and all of his subcontractors shall be not less than the wage and fringe benefit rates prevailing in the locality in which the work is to be performed and as determined by the Michigan Department of Labor, all as per the Prevailing Wage Law, Act No. 166, PA of 1965, Amended 4-1-79. Refer to Prevailing Wage Determination included in the Project Manual.

Bids may be withdrawn up to the time and date of bid opening. After bid opening, bids may not be withdrawn for a period of 45 days thereafter.

The Owner reserves the right to waive any irregularity or informality in bids, to reject any and/or all bids, in whole or in part, or to award any Contract to other than the low bidder, should it be deemed in his best interest to do so.

With Plymouth Symphony

Concerto debuts in concert Sunday

This Sunday the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Johan van der Merwe, will present the world premier of Schoolcraft College resident composer Robert W. Jones' "Concerto for Viola and Orchestra."

Soloist will be one of the world's best-known and most highly respected violists, Paul Doktor.

Accustomed to performing with the world's most famous orchestras and recording with such prestigious labels as Deutsche Grammophon, Doktor's performance marks his second appearance with the Plymouth Symphony and his fourth in the West Suburban area.

Compared with the violin and cello, the concerto literature for the viola is practically non-existent save for a few works by Bartok, Hindemith and Walton.

"Concerto for Viola and Orchestra" is the eighth composition written for the Plymouth Symphony by Robert Jones.

PAUL DOKTOR

It also will be his last as the Schoolcraft College instructor will be retiring to San Diego, California, in May.

The remainder of the April 14 program will consist of Samuel Barber's overture, "School for Scandal," and Tchaikovsky's Symphony No. 6, "Pathétique."

The concert will be held at 4 p.m. in the auditorium of Plymouth-Salem High School. Tickets, at $6 for adults and $3.50 for full-time college students and senior citizens, will be available at the door. Students 12th grade and under are admitted free.

Tickets may be purchased in advance at Beitner Jewelry in Plymouth, Hammell Music in Livonia and Arnoldt Williams Music in Canton.

There is no charge for the babysitting service for preschoolers provided by a Girl Scout troop during the concert.

Funding for the writing of the composition and the appearance of the soloist was provided, in part, by the Michigan Council for the Arts and the Michigan unit of the American String Teachers Association.

Township set to tape calls

A $25,000 taping system to record automatically all calls coming into the Northville Township police department is a budgeted capital expense in the 1985-86 fiscal year that began Monday.

Township treasurer Richard Henningsen said he believes the system is necessary to reduce the department's liability risk and to protect dispatchers and other officers from groundless lawsuits.

Primary concern is with calls placed to the 911 emergency number. The system will log the time of the call and the words spoken by both the caller and the police dispatcher answering the phones. Calls to other township police department lines answered on phones regularly used by dispatchers will also be recorded — not all phones will be tied into the system.

"The idea isn't to be looking over the dispatchers' shoulders," township manager David Leiko said. "It's more for their protection — we're not going to use it to analyze their productivity or anything like that."

JAMES MCKNIGHT, son of William and Edith McKnight of 15874 Hickory Ridge, was among the Alma College students touring with either the Alma College Kiltie Band or the Alma Choir during the recent winter break.

A freshman at Alma, McKnight is a 1984 Northville High School graduate and is majoring in biology.

Five Northville residents were among the 53 students recently initiated into Schoolcraft College's chapter of Phi Theta Kappa, the national honor fraternity.

Among those initiated were NICK KOLB, KRIS PETIT, CASIMIR STAWARZ, MARY TRAUSCH and MAUREEN TURNER.

All members of Phi Theta Kappa must maintain a minimum 3.3 grade point average for at least 12 credit hours in 100 level courses or above.

Two Northville residents were among the 360 Albion College students recently named to the dean's list.

Students must maintain at least a 3.5 grade point average while carrying a full schedule of classes to earn dean's list honors.

Students named to the dean's list were CARL D. LANG, son of Mrs. Elizabeth A. Lang, 20404 Lexington, and DANIEL D. QUINT, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Quint of 42065 Banbury.

SUSAN BOSANKO, a sophomore at Central Michigan University, has been elected vice president of Beta Chapter of Alpha Sigma Tau sorority for the 1985-86 year. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Bosanko Jr. of Westmeth Court.

PATRICK ISOM, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Isom of Northville, recently pledged the Delta Sigma Phi fraternity at Hillsdale College.

A graduate of Detroit Catholic Central, Isom currently is a freshman at Hillsdale College.

BILL HARMON of Northville is a member of the lacrosse team at Southwestern University in Georgetown, Texas.

He is a freshman at Southwestern.

Three students from St. Paul's Lutheran School have been named local winners in the 16th annual American & Me Essay Contest, sponsored by Farm Bureau Insurance Group.

The three, who earned the first, second and third place awards for their school are CARA BROTT, first; LAURIE WILSON, second; and AMY MILLER, third.

All three received award certificates for their achievement. As the school's first place winner, Cara's name will also be engraved on a plaque for permanent display in the school.

Her first place essay now advances to the state level competition, from which the top 10 essays in Michigan will be selected.

Obituaries

FRANCISS S. JENNINGS

A memorial service for longtime Northville resident Francis S. Jennings is being held at 11 a.m. today at First Presbyterian Church where he was a member. Dr. Lawrence Chamberlain, senior pastor, is officiating.

A retired WJR radio engineer with 34 years' service, Mr. Jennings died April 2 at St. Mary Hospital after a month's illness. He was 79.

He was born May 24, 1905, in Wauson, Ohio, to Charles and Anna (Snyder) Jennings. He married Marjorie Poulson June 28, 1930. They moved to Northville in 1945.

In addition to his wife he leaves a son Ronald of Northville and three grandchildren. He was preceded in death by two brothers and three sisters.

Mr. Jennings' body was donated to the University of Michigan Medical School. The family suggests that memorial tributes may be made to First Presbyterian Church of Northville. Arrangements were by Casterline Funeral Home.

WALTER JOHN KNAPP

Country Estates resident Walter John Knapp died at his home April 6 following a long illness. He was 67.

Born September 25, 1917, Mr. Knapp lived in the community for 30 years and was a retired mechanic.

He is survived by his wife Ruth Ann, whom he married November 8, 1974, and his stepdaughter Shelly of Ann Arbor and stepson Sean of Pennsylvania.

Other survivors include his brothers Bill and Harold of Illinois and two sisters Mary Kay and Lena.

A memorial service will be held at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow (Thursday) at Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints at the corner of Six Mile and Merriman in Livonia.

ALPHA KING MURRAY

Former Northville resident Alpha King Murray died March 28 in Athens, Tennessee. She was 81.

A native of Nashville, she spent most of her life in Northville until moving to Athens eight years ago. She had resided in the Idlewild Community near Athens.

She was a daughter of the late Alfred and Carolyn Murray King. She was preceded in death by her husband, Annis G. Murray, and by a daughter, Sonja Johnston.

She leaves a daughter, Mrs. A.T. (Doris) Gillahan of Athens; a son Stephen Murray of the Isle of Sicily; seven grandchildren; 11 great grandchildren; and one brother, Samuel Kruss of Staten Island, New York.

Graveside services were held March 31 at Cedar Grove Cemetery with the Reverend Don Wattenbarger officiating. Jerry Smith Funeral Home in Athens was in charge of arrangements.

We have all your IRA answers.

"IRA? I won't be retiring for 40 years, I have plenty of time to start an IRA... right?"

Wrong.

Start now with $2,000 each year in your Down River Federal Savings Individual Retirement Account, you'll have $1,084,067 set aside in 40 years!

That's only about $167 a month you probably spend that much on your car payment. But you don't have to start that high — we can set up an IRA for you for as little as $50 and you can contribute as much as you like at any time.

Plus your contributions are deducted off the top of your income, so the income taxes you'd normally have paid on that amount including the interest earned are deferred!

We make it a little easier for you.

The last thing you need when you're over 55, is a problem paying for your car insurance.

Age has its rewards. Sometimes. It does with Auto-Owners. They give good drivers age 55 or older a discount. So instead of raising your premiums or reducing your coverage you may pay a little less for your auto insurance.

Auto-Owners respects maturity and a good driving record.

Just ask your "no problem" Auto-Owners agent how he can save you money on your car insurance. When you hear the news, you'll be glad you've got a few years behind you.

The Northville Record

Our Opinions Cooperation's good

Last week's changes in the location and arrangements for the annual City Garage Sale, which will be May 18 this year, are major. The sale, which has been under sponsorship of the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce, will be moved from downtown Main and Center streets to the eastern half of the parking lot behind the MAGS building.

Taking the sale off the downtown streets has been sought for several years by members of the Downtown Merchants' Association who do not wish to see the streets closed for the event. We do not believe the sale will be hurt by the new location. In fact, shopping the booths laid out in the parking lot could be easier. And merchants are aware that such attractions bring visitors to town who continue along Main and Center streets to shop.

We have more concerns about the agreement to split proceeds from the sale of the spaces with the Downtown Merchants' Association which, representatives state, this year badly needs funds. It should be noted that the agreement was made — and intended by the chamber — to be for this year only. The garage sale is one of the chamber's main fund raisers. The merchants sponsor and receive proceeds from the summer sidewalk sale.

In agreeing to the changes, however, the chamber and the merchants' association last Tuesday indicated there should be constructive results from the discussions, which began heatedly at the first confrontation the week before. It was agreed that it would be to the benefit of both organizations to work together on their like goal of promoting the community — and that each should be more aware of what the other was doing.

Charles Lapham, with son Scott, has sold space for the garage sale in his store and also has willingly risen at dawn with Scott to mark the spaces. He agreed to continue doing so. He also said he would try to see that chamber members received notification of merchants' meetings with a view to having chamber representation at the merchants' meetings and merchants' at the chamber ones. As he moved for closer cooperation, Lapham said, "This is a challenge for the merchants to get people (at the garage sale) uptown." It also is a challenge for the two organizations to see that the cooperation promised materializes — for it will benefit both.

Plus for downtown

Exciting. That's the only word to describe both The 108 Group's proposal for a large multiple use building at Main and Center streets and the possibilities the project would open up in the downtown.

Properly overseen, the 108 Group project would be the type of influential investment the city has been seeking to attract with the Mainstreet '78 project. Far more than simply adding a building at an underutilized site, the project could be a tremendous influence toward both expanding the business district and attracting other investors downtown.

Given its location and the likelihood it would be the dominant feature of the downtown for some time, particular attention should be paid to ensure that it is both financially viable and physically attractive. Viability is a question the investors alone must answer, though the governmental incentives available can help make the proposal an attractive one. Financing is always an open question when such a proposal is made, and those of us looking in from outside can only speculate as to whether we are examining a possibility or a pipe dream. Reason tells us Northville is ripe for such an investment. In that light, the 108 Group proposal should be treated seriously.

We are most concerned that the city's historic district and planning commissions pay particular attention to the visual impact of the building. The 108 Group is making all the right noises about designing the building to fit in with the rest of the downtown and not allowing its size to be its only notable feature. Use of brick and wrought iron materials in an architectural style that pays heed to the surrounding buildings could make this structure one that ties the downtown together visually. Given the developers' evident willingness to pursue that goal, proper guidance from the city should ensure that the new structure is one we all can be pleased to have here.

In reviewing this proposal next week and in the subsequent process of establishing final parameters for the building, we hope none of us becomes so carried away with the tremendous possibilities that we neglect the importance of having this structure develop as an asset not only to the tax rolls or to a particular site, but to the entire community. That done, we can all give way to our excitement.

He'll be missed

Some 250 friends, past and present employees and civic leaders joined the family of Jan Reef in paying tribute to his memory last Thursday morning at First Presbyterian Church. The fact that so many cared to attend a service for someone who was 88 indicated, as the Reverend Lloyd G. Brasure, pastor emeritus said, that "that man touched the lives of so many — we could never come up with a number."

Calling Mr. Reef an inventive genius who lived in a world of machines and growing technology, the minister said he was also a man of love and compassion who whenever possible assisted those in need, and did so anonymously. A native of the Netherlands who came to this country in 1921, and to Northville in 1956, he was a man of deep feeling for his community and nation, the minister continued. He related that Mr. Reef had once explained, "This country has been good to me — I won't complain about taxes."

In addition to his church, Mr. Reef had been a generous benefactor to Schoolcraft College serving on the college foundation and establishing the Jan and Nelly Reef Scholarship. He also had been a supporter of such local school activities as the Northville band, helping buy its uniforms. In 1983 the community learned that he, through Northville Rotary, had been the "keeper of the well." When the landmark was drying up, he paid for drilling the well, for subsequent pump purchases and maintenance.

"He was an action type person with loyalty to little tasks about town," Mr. Brasure said, adding, "When others were standing around and scratching their heads wondering what to do, you could count on Jan to do it."

He will be missed by many.

Coming soon to your TV

By B.J. Martin

I think they're crazy if they think people ordered cable TV to watch council meetings or some official reading them the minutes of this or that meeting on their local cable stations.

You want to televise something that involves the local community, yet still provides entertaining viewing? The solution is simple: broadcast the weekly editorial meetings here at the Northville Record/Novi News.

For video drama, I'll bet we could outpull any council, board or commission meeting, and maybe Divorce Court and T.J. Hooker too. I can see it now . . .

Every week we'd open with some little "grabber." Maybe the first week it would show the first staffer walking in bleary-eyed Wednesday morning when suddenly the smoke detectors blast an ear-splitting siren.

The staffer doesn't react at all. Never looking up from his newspaper, he just calmly walks over to the kitchen and removes the coffee pot that's been left on all night. Freeze frame, fade to black and into the weekly intro.

The credits roll and the theme music starts up. Nothing bouncy like the theme from Cheers or Mary Tyler Moore. More like B.B. King's "Nobody Loves Me But My Mother and She Could Be Jiving, Too." On the screen we see the title, something like Danger: Deadline or Stop The Presses.

The theme music continues as one by one the stars are introduced: The Managing Editor (M.E.). The Editor. The Photographer. The Writers, and of course, their boss The Receptionist.

As each name is flashed on the screen, we see little snippets of them in action: The M.E. playing Pac-Man. The Photographer aggloming over doughnut prices at the bakery. One Writer trying to get his car started while his cute kid empties the contents of the glove compartment onto the floor. Another hiding her empty pop bottles behind a curtain. The Editor actually working. One Writer wrinkling her nose at another's ranch-style desk mess as if it were an open cadaver. Fade to black.

A commercial. Then we fade in on the M.E.'s office as the staff files in with full-to-the-brim coffee cups, notes and copies of last week's paper. The M.E. and a Writer are arguing whether "O.K." or "Okay" is correct.

A harumph from the gathering multitude, and the noted author of the column below launches the meeting. The cast reviews the edition of the paper which has just hit the newsstands.

The paper probably looks just fine to you, but if you pay close attention to the show, we'll explain in minute detail exactly why it's a disaster.

Then we move on to what we'll write about in the coming week. Watch a council, board or commission meeting on TV, and what do you get? Motion to amend the original amendment repealing the motion that affected the first part of the former amendment except where the exemption amendment was noted to have amended the portion already approved retroactively.

Watch an editorial meeting and it is: "The turkeys really came up with a lulu last night, boss. They passed a law that requires lawns be mowed from right to left and all Democrats be bribed with an D on their foreheads."

Then we move on. We discuss the managing editor's suggestion we run a centerfold every so often in the Green Sheet.

It's put on hold for the time being, but the columnist for the upcoming week is encouraged to mention it. A voice-over encourages the viewer: "Stay tuned."

Bottoms up

I declined the challenge. Not because I was afraid to pit my skills against his, but because a game of Ms. Pac-Man takes about 30 minutes. And with two good players going at it at the same time . . . well, you're talking an hour and I had already promised my wife I'd be home for supper 10 minutes ago.

Besides I had just plopped a quarter in the machine and wasn't about to blow off my game just for an opportunity to take on this out-of-towner . . . show him that we country folk know what to do in front of a video machine.

But that didn't stop him from watching me play and carrying on a broken monologue as I was whipping through board after board.

He said the best player in Detroit is a guy named something or other and that this hotshot averages about 190,000 per game.

I just stayed cool and moved through another board.

By the time it was all over I had chalked up a score of 178,900 — not 190,000, but my best score ever and good enough to at least be considered in the ballpark "with the best player in Detroit."

The out-of-towner watched in steely-eyed silence.

Finally, after my last man had bitten the dust, he gave me one last shot.

"You're definitely above average," he said. Under the circumstances, I took it as the ultimate compliment.

After the fact

By PHILIP JEROME

It had all the flavor of a John Wayne western.

There I was, standing in front of the Ms. Pac-Man machine, when some dude from out-of-town came up behind me.

"They tell me you're pretty good at this game," he said.

I was tempted to come back at him with something like, "Well, they tell you right, partner." All in my best Gary Cooper drawl, of course.

But I resisted the temptation and said simply, "I spend a lot of quarters on this machine, if that's what you mean."

"I want to play you," he said. "I want to see if you're as good as they say you are."

Supporters defend Geake's efforts on prison issue

To the Editor:
This letter is to update you, and the people of the Northville-Plymouth area, regarding the status of the efforts by the State of Michigan and Detroit to target your area for more prison construction. As the State struggles to find more places to imprison felons, attention has been naturally focused on lands already owned by the State or by cities such as Detroit which are anxious to sell land.

Last year, when the Senate passed Public Act 316 which contained a $15 million lump sum appropriation for purchasing land and remodeling buildings for prisons, the Department of Corrections wanted no strings on the funds so they could buy and build wherever they pleased. A prime target for the project was DeHoCo. At that time Senator Bob Geake successfully added an amendment to require legislative approval of each site individually.

This year when the supplemental appropriation bill (SB 52) was before the Senate Appropriations Committee, it was Senator Geake who fought for and won passage of sections 9 & 10 in the bill placing the cap on the number of prisoners to be housed in the Northville-Plymouth area, the security levels at the prison and a moratorium on future construction without approval of the township governing boards. These points were all specified in resolutions passed by the township board which were forwarded to the Legislature. As can be seen, the local positions had an impact.

When SB 52 was before the full Senate, Senator Geake added additional language citing the 500 bed maximum (Detroit and the State were asking up to 1,000) and requiring that the staff at DeHoCo be regular state employees.

When the Corrections Department comes back to the Senate for operating funds for DeHoCo, it will have to go to the subcommittee chaired by Senator Geake.

Senator Geake has led the fight for fair treatment of the Northville-Plymouth area, backed by Senate Republicans and Western Wayne County legislators of both parties.

Arrayed against them has been Governor Blanchard, the Corrections Department, the Department of Management and Budget and the City of Detroit. The in-fighting has been acute, the confrontations long and bitter, and the battle has raged over a long and cloudy front involving five pieces of legislation, numerous committees and subcommittees and convoluted parliamentary maneuvering. Still, we have just seen the opening round of what promises to be a long struggle.

The Northville Record should reserve such absolute comment until this issue has run its complete course in the Legislature. Bob Geake is known in Lansing as a Senator who serves the interests of his district with honor and tenacity. He will do no different on this issue.

Sincerely,
John M. Engler
Senate Majority Leader

To the Editor:

Senator Geake has always been cooperative with the Township of Northville. We certainly appreciate all his efforts to help us quickly resolve the prison issue.

Sincerely,
Susan J. Heintz
Supervisor
Township of Northville

To the Editor:

I feel compelled to respond to your recent news articles and editorials concerning the issues surrounding the State's purchase of the Detroit House of Corrections Facility. By way of background, Karoub Associates has been retained by the Townships of Northville and Plymouth, respectively, to serve in a legislative consulting capacity regarding prison issues as they impact the townships.

During the past five months, we have been working closely with Senator Robert Geake (R-Northville) and Representative Gerald Law (R-Plymouth) on the prison siting issues affecting both Plymouth and Northville townships.

In January of this year, we began discussions with the Department of Management and Budget. At that time, we expressed the concerns of the townships by presenting a joint resolution of the boards of trustees of the Charter Township of Plymouth and Northville Township regarding the siting of prisons, penal institutions or correctional facilities, which was adopted concurrently on January 22, 1985.

It was through the leadership of Senator Geake and his position on the Senate Appropriations and Joint Capital Outlay committees that we were able to come to an agreement with the officials in the administration concerning limits on the number of inmates to be housed in the DeHoCo, Scott and Phoenix correctional facilities in Northville and Plymouth townships. The agreement also includes a moratorium which would prohibit the state from siting any additional correctional institutions in these townships.

A resolution of this complicated and sensitive issue would not have been possible without the total commitment and skillful political networking by both Senator Geake and Representative Law. It was through their collective action that we were able to enlist the support of Democrats and Republicans to assist us in obtaining an agreement with the administration on the issues concerning a cap on total inmates and an institutional moratorium.

It should be pointed out that both the concept of an inmate cap and an institutional moratorium are without precedent in state statutes. Throughout the lengthy negotiations concerning these issues, both Senator Geake and Representative Law have diligently worked in the best interests of the people of the Northville-Plymouth area.

Senator Bob Geake's tenure in the legislature has given him a comprehensive understanding of the complexities and subtleties of the legislative process. For the editorial staff to suggest that his absence from a committee meeting was significant in terms of the process completely ignores the favorable aspects of the agreement that was reached.

Sincerely,
Patrick L. Harrington

Sale move protested

To the Editor:

I feel the merchants are wrong to move the sidewalk sales to the MAGS parking lot. Many people park here for these types of events. Then parking will become a problem!

If the merchants are running good sales, they should get more people into their stores than on a normal week day. I can't see how this can hurt their sales. I personally will not go back up into town after 1 view the sale. I would prefer to view the booths and the shops at the same time.

I thought the sidewalk sales, garage sales, autumn days and the Christmas Walk were all events put on to bring the people into Northville. That was the reasoning when so much money was put into beautifying Northville.

Sidewalk sales generate fun with a friendly atmosphere. People come from other cities to view these events. If they like a nice friendly town, then and only then will they come back to shop!

Support appreciated

To the Editor:

The Country Girls Branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association is very appreciative of all the help we received on our Salad Luncheon from the Northville merchants.

The merchants gave us door and raffle prizes, their clothes to model and, most important of all, their time.

Again, thank you for making our Salad Luncheon a success.

Excerpts from mayor's Senate testimony

EDITOR'S NOTE: Northville Mayor Paul Vernon testified before the Senate Appropriations Subcommittee on Agriculture on March 20 in regard to state appropriations of parimutuel tax receipts to cities hosting horse racing tracks. The following excerpts from that testimony are reproduced here because The Record staff believes the mayor's remarks include information of interest to the community.

We appreciate this opportunity to appear before this subcommittee and present testimony regarding the costs associated with the operation of Northville Downs racetrack. It is sincerely hoped the information we provide will be helpful to you in better understanding a critical situation that has developed in Northville and in considering allocation of racetrack revenues to the City of Northville.

Please permit me to introduce myself. I am Paul Vernon, and I'm serving my fourth two-year term as mayor of the City of Northville. Prior to that I served on the Northville City Council for six years with the last four of those years as Mayor Pro-Tem. My predecessor was mayor for 19 years.

The City of Northville is a quaint country-village type town about thirty-five miles northwest of downtown Detroit. It is a bedroom community with very little industry and no opportunity for any because we are almost totally developed. We have just completed the first phase of a downtown revitalization that has captured the interest of communities throughout the state and received recognition by a Governor's Committee for its success in overcoming a declining tax base and improving the business climate. That Mainstreet '78 Plan is financed totally through Community Development Block Grant funds and the Tax Increment Financing Plan enabled by state statute. No racetrack revenues have been used for that development although Northville

Downs racetrack is located adjacent to that downtown business district. Northville Downs is obviously considered an integral part of the Northville community and has been for many years.

The invitation to appear here today asked that we provide detailed documentation of actual direct costs and any indirect costs with comparisons between the direct costs and the appropriation by the State of Michigan.

We are fully prepared to do that, but I believe it is important to understand the almost partnership relationship that exists between the City of Northville and owners and operators of Northville Downs; so I want to take just a few minutes to explain that relationship.

Horse racing in Northville started around the turn of the century when a group of Northville residents got together, bought land, scraped a track and started the Northville fair as the Northville Driving Club. With World War II such things as fairs were more or less forgotten until 1944 when a group of businessmen wanted to discuss the possibility of holding night parimutuel programs at the Downs. It had been successful at Roosevelt Raceway in New York.

There were those at first who agreed that harness racing under the lights at Northville Downs would never go — the pacers and trotters had never raced in anything but daylight and who'd come out to watch them at night? More than that, where would anyone get horses to compete under the lights? It was unheard of and seemed extremely risky from a financial angle.

After considerable difficulty the great experiment finally jelled in the Fall of 1944 with the track ready, the operators ready but less than 30 horses on the grounds.

Thus, parimutuel harness racing started in Michigan. There was a touch

Excerpts of mayor's testimony on track costs of county fair to the program. The field in the first race came back for the fourth and seventh; that in the second was back for the fifth and eighth and starters in the third were back in the sixth. But there were eight horses going in each of the eight races.

There was considerable question in the minds of many when the nightly handle averaged only $20,000 and there were many "I told you so" pessimists.

The Fall of 1984 marked the 40th year for parimutuel harness racing at Northville Downs, and they have an enviable record of growth during those 40 years. As an example, last Saturday there was $1,273,659 wagered at Northville Downs. By comparison, on that same day, there was $785,486 wagered at Windsor Raceway in Canada. As you are probably aware, Northville Downs has run head to head with Windsor for a number of years, and last Saturday was typical of their performance during that time. That means Northville Downs has been successful in keeping more wagered money in Michigan. In fact, in the United States, the State of Michigan has benefited tremendously from that performance.

A logical question would be "Why has Northville Downs been so successful?" and the answer is quite simple. Northville Downs has developed and maintained the type of facility that attracts racing patrons even when other local tracks are losing patrons every year. We are proud to say that the City of Northville has been a willing partner in the development of an appealing environment that brings more track patrons to Northville Downs every year.

But that has not been without sacrifice. Nearly every racing night, and especially on Fridays, Saturdays and Mondays, the Northville Downs parking lots fill rapidly and parking overflows into city parking lots and our downtown parking deck to the inconvenience of businesses and their customers. Taxpayers in Northville have voted for bond issues to improve entrance roads to Northville Downs and to repair streets damaged by the heavy traffic generated by patrons of Northville Downs. We'll provide more detail about those commitments later in our testimony, but now I'd like to read relevant excerpts from testimony I presented to the State Racing Commissioner at a racing date hearing. I believe it attests to our relationship with Northville Downs and helps to explain why racing in Northville has contributed so much to the State of Michigan through the years:

"Northville Downs, located in the City of Northville, is the pioneer harness track in the State of Michigan. History records its evolution from a fair grounds race track with nondescript wooden bleachers to the beautiful enclosed facility it is today. No one can deny that Northville Downs helped establish harness racing in the State of Michigan and has continued to make a significant contribution to its growing popularity today.

"The commissioner and those in Lansing who count the money are well aware of the financial contribution Northville Downs has made to the economy of the state, especially in recent years. However, they may not be aware that Northville Downs has been able to make that financial contribution because it is the only race track in the State of Michigan where races can be held in the wintertime.

"How that came about is a story in itself. Several years ago when Windsor Raceway had a monopoly on winter racing, management of Northville Downs was asked to winterize to compete with Windsor Raceway and to keep some of the money in Michigan that was going to Canada. Although I was not in attendance at the meeting where that request was made, I have talked with a number of people who were and who have told me they are willing to testify under oath at an appropriate time that management of Northville Downs was assured of winter dates in addition to their share of summer dates in return for winterizing. One need only look at the racing dates awarded Northville Downs in recent years to realize that commitment was not kept by those responsible for assigning racing dates.

"Because Northville Downs did winterize and because its management has continued to improve the facility and the environment, Northville Downs has enjoyed a constant growth so that in the last winter meet it outdrew Windsor Raceway night after night to the benefit of the State of Michigan and, to a lesser degree, Northville Downs and the City of Northville.

"The City of Northville has been a willing partner in that growth too because we have cooperated with track management to make attendance pleasant and convenient even during inclement weather in the dead of winter, and we are firmly committed to continue to support harness racing in any way we legally can.

"At considerable expense, a few years ago, the City of Northville extended Griswold Street from Main Street to Northville Downs to provide direct track access from Eight Mile Road and areas to the north. In a meeting this past week with representatives of the Wayne County Road Commission verbal agreement was given to participate in radical improvement of South Main Street (Northville Road) which is the main access to Northville Downs from the south and east.

"Now there are those who have an interest in both of the Detroit area tracks with thoroughbred racing dates that want to capitalize on the success of harness racing by reducing thoroughbred dates and increasing harness dates at their tracks on the theory that harness racing will be profitable for them even though thoroughbred racing is not.

"Mr. Commissioner, if those in control of the thoroughbred tracks will make the same commitments of time, effort, facility improvement and astute management to thoroughbred racing that operators of Northville Downs have made to harness racing, it will be profitable to them and of benefit to the State of Michigan. To reward any obvious unwillingness to make that commitment and the apparent present mismanagement at those tracks by reducing their thoroughbred racing dates and increasing harness racing dates will only compound the problem and lead to the same public attitude toward harness racing that now exists with thoroughbred racing. The State of Michigan needs more reputable tracks like Northville Downs that are a credit to racing and that have the respect of racing fans.

"The City of Northville supports the request of Northville Downs and Jackson at Northville and at the same time we suggest the State of Michigan consider increasing by one percent the money returned to the track operators of all tracks in the State of Michigan with the provision that it be used exclusively for facility improvements and that a system of accountability be developed at once. Such action is essential to the future of racing, both thoroughbred and harness, in the State of Michigan.

"Mr. Commissioner, on behalf of the many thousands of residents in the Northville community, not just the City of Northville, who consider Northville Downs their good neighbor, I request that this testimony be made a part of the proceedings of this hearing and that it be given careful consideration by you in establishing the harness racing dates for the 1980 meeting."

Since 1980, the City has been hard pressed to implement plans that would further enhance the environment because racetrack revenue returned to the City has been reduced well below the maximum authorized by state statute.

Cuts, fractures, sprains, fevers and other minor emergencies happen when you least expect them. And when they do, you need quick, professional attention.

That's the reason Providence Hospital opened the Novi Emergency Care Center (NECC). It's conveniently close to everyone in the Novi, West Bloomfield, Northville and Farmington area. Edgar Beatty poses with his "Airport Special," a four-wheel-drive Chevy Suburban

Milford man offers delivery to airport for area commuters

By MATT SEIDL

Detroit has one. New York has one. Chicago has one. And Los Angeles definitely has one.

Of course, the area of Milford, South Lyon, Novi and Northville also has one now.

The connecting link from the otherwise matter-of-fact communities is an airport passenger delivery service. Beginning last December, Milford resident Edgar Beatty brain-stormed with a few business associates and came up with the "Airport Special."

"The idea, or suggestion, really came from Barb Cien of the Howell Travel Service," Beatty said. "She talks to a lot of people who could benefit from something like this, so she kind of passed the idea on to me."

"We're still very much in the early stages, but we're confident of the potential here," he continued. "The idea is great; now we just have to adjust things so that the customers are accommodated."

Beatty, who owns a corporation called Edgar Beatty and Company, is very enthusiastic about his latest activity. Currently, though, he's in the middle of attempting to solidify a system.

The transportation is handled by a four-wheel-drive Chevy Suburban truck, which comfortably carries seven passengers. Beatty has two part-time drivers who have been transporting people to and from Metropolitan Airport since December.

"We haven't had a great deal of business yet, but the response from the people who have used our service has been very positive," Beatty said.

"We want to make this happen," he added. "Right now, we're usually running just one or two passengers at a time. In the future, though, we're interested in taking four, five or six at a time."

The main areas of concentration by Beatty and his team right now are Milford, Howell and Brighton. However, he says the service is unlimited and would provide transportation for any of the surrounding cities or villages.

A routine run, from Milford for example, would start with the customer calling for a pick-up, "preferably in advance," according to Beatty. Beatty then would notify one of his drivers, who would start the ball rolling.

In Milford, the pick-up place usually is the Milford Travel Service, but special arrangements have been made for disabled people and senior citizens.

From there, it's on to the airport. Beatty says that his service is full, providing luggage movement and "assistance in any way possible."

Airport Special also brings people home from Metropolitan. This is a process which obviously must be arranged in advance.

"When you're a young business, you have to be willing to try anything," Beatty admitted. "We'll do pretty much everything right now. We need to find out what people's needs are and work up from there."

"For instance, if we're picking you up at Metro and your plane is late, we'll wait two hours if we have to. A major company, let's say in New York, would

Need a good investment? Start saving Barbie Dolls

Looking for a hot investment? Go no farther than your children's toy chest.

According to Alan Crittenden, editor of "The Almanac of Investments," Barbie Dolls, her friends and their accessories are the hottest investments, even better than Apple Computer stock.

Any Barbie doll over 10 years old is valuable, said Crittenden, and those in excellent condition vary in resale value from $30 to $1,000.

Prices for Barbie accessories also have risen at doll auctions around the country. $1,000 was paid for Tutti's bedroom set. And $800 bought Barbie's stewardess outfits from the mid-'60s.

Barbie's gift sets, complete outfits bought separately, are hot items. Sears and Roebuck's Miss Barbie with Lawn Swing, which sold for $3 when new, now sells for $500 to $600. It was available on the market for only two years.

Barbie collectors find a wide range of Barbie siblings to hoard. Barbie's younger sister, Midge, which was made with teeth for only one year, now sells for $500. Black Francie should bring in at least that much at auction.

There's bad news for the men, however. Barbie's sweetheart Ken sells for only $100. In fact, his business suit is worth more than he is, selling for $150.

MANY ARBOR DRUG STORES now have the latest trend in vending machines — video tape dispensing machines.

Arbor Drugs recently installed 12 video machines at various store locations in the area. They include Arbor of Northville at 133 East Dunlap, Arbor of Walled Lake at 1192 West Maple, Arbor of Milford at 963 Summit, Arbor of West Bloomfield at 4389 Orchard Lake Road and Arbor of Livonia at 28598 Seven Mile in Livonia.

By fall, all Arbor Drug locations will have a video tape dispensing machine in an effort to further customer convenience.

The easy-to-operate video machine accepts Mastercard and Visa credit cards. Price to rent a tape is $2.99 for the first 24 hours and $2 for each additional day, which, the firm states, is very competitive and requires no membership fee. Once a week the machine receives new and current selections, plus selections of classic Hollywood movies.

KEITH M. LANGHAM

DOUGLAS R. DRAPAL

KEITH M. LANGHAM of Novi has been appointed manager of External Communication by Ex-Cell-O Corporation. In his new position, he is responsible for corporate public relations and advertising, and is the company's primary spokesperson to the news media.

Langham joined Ex-Cell-O in 1976 as a writer in the Corporate Public Relations and Advertising department. In 1981, he was named Marketing Communications Manager, Packaging Systems Division. Most recently, he served as Director of Marketing Services for the division.

Langham is a Michigan State University graduate with a BA degree in Journalism. He is a member of the DFSA (Dairy and Food Industries Supply Association) Marketing Communications Committee. He and his wife, Kathy, reside with their daughter and a son in Novi.

DOUGLAS R. DRAPAL of Northville has been appointed marketing services manager for The Detroit News. The announcement was made by Sonny Eliot, marketing services promotions director of The News.

In his new position, Drapal will be responsible for the paper's marketing services which include advertising, circulation and editorial promotion. Drapal, 34, joined The News as public relations coordinator in 1980. He was promoted to public relations supervisor in 1982, and since 1984 had served as public services manager. A graduate of Michigan State University, he lives in Northville with his wife and son. He is active in community affairs and serves on the Northville Recreation Commission.

BEVERLY WOLF (left) of Northville, a Silverliner (current and former flight attendants) in the Detroit Chapter of Eastern Airlines Silverliners, holds Stacy Hamilton, 1985 Myoelectronic arm recipient, as they pose with Kathleen Laper, a Silverliner from Rochester.

They are promoting the chapter's 10th annual Gin Rummy Tournament to be held April 26 at the Dearborn Fairlane Club. Proceeds go to the Variety Club Electronic Limb Research Center at the Detroit Institute for Children. Registration begins at 4 p.m. with play starting promptly at 6 p.m. Cost is $100 per person or $200 per team and is tax deductible.

Dinner, complimentary cocktails and door prizes as well as more than $3,600 in prizes will be included. The public is invited to participate. Proceeds will be used to buy 22-month old Stacy's myoelectronic arm.

JOSELYN MOORE of Northville recently had an article published by the National Park Service. A lecturer of humanities at Lawrence Institute of Technology, Moore wrote the article based on her findings during a recent archeological excavation in Georgia and South Carolina.

She was contacted to analyze prehistoric plant remains recovered from a series of excavations which came about because a dam was being built that would eventually flood a number of culturally significant archeological sites. The excavation was a federally-funded attempt to lessen the damage to these sites.

The article, "Archeobotanical Analysis at Five Sites in the Richard B. Russell Reservoir Area, Georgia and South Carolina," appears in "Prehistoric Human Ecology Along the Upper Savannah River: Excavations at the Rucker's Bottom, Abbeville, and Bullard Site Groups."

CADILLAC ASPHALT COMPANY of Novi was named third-place winner in the four-color category of the National Asphalt Pavement Association's (NAPA) newly-inaugurated brochure competition.

Chuch Van Duesen, vice president of Cadillac Asphalt, received a certificate of appreciation at NAPA's 30th annual convention in Hollywood, Florida.

The brochure competition was established to encourage NAPA members to publish quality brochures and to recognize those firms that already have done so.

Headquartered in Maryland, NAPA represents over 900 firms in the Hot Mix Asphalt industry on the national level with Congress, government agencies and other national trade and business associations.

GODDARD-TALMAY AGENCY in Walled Lake received the Outstanding Agency Award from the Citizens Insurance Company of America at its 1985 Agency Regional meeting at the Troy Hilton.

James Coville, vice president of marketing at Citizens Insurance Company in Howell, said Outstanding Agency Awards are presented to independent agencies representing Citizens who have experienced substantial growth, provided professional service to customers and met minimum premium requirements.

An Outstanding Agency is selected from each of Citizens' field territories in Michigan. These agencies are recognized for outstanding performance with Citizens during the previous year.

Goddard-Talmay is one of over 570 independent agents who market Citizens' automobile and homeowners insurance and commercial insurance, including workers' compensation in the state. The Walled Lake agency has represented Citizens since 1923.

Existing home sales rebound to levels reached during 1980

Existing home sales are continuing to rise, according to Metro MLS which reported that the 1,502 sales during March represented the highest month since May 1980.

The 3,594 sales by members of the multiple listing service in the first three months of 1985 marked the best first quarter since 1979.

March sales also showed a 27.6 percent jump from February and ran more than 10 percent above a year ago. The average price for the month at $61,599 dropped from the record $62,345 posted in February, but the quarterly average of $61,347 was up six percent from 1984.

Indicating continued improvement in the sales picture was a sales-to-listing ratio of nearly 40 percent — the highest level since July of 1979. While still indicating a plentiful supply of homes on the market, listings continued to slide. The March figure was down nearly 14 percent from a year ago with the first quarter figure off 17 percent.

Also demonstrating the increased strength of the existing home market was a near 30 percent drop in listing withdrawals and price reductions from 1984.

"Mortgage interest rates are continuing to fluctuate only slightly month by month and show no clear upward or downward trend," said Robert F. Craver, Metro MLS president. "With no imminent prospect for solution to federal deficit problems, buyers apparently are not looking for a significant decline in rates and increasing numbers are making their move now."

"Unless rates do jump sharply, we see continuing growth in the housing market," Craver continued. "The long recessionary period left a lot of pent up demand that remains to be satisfied. Many so-called 'baby boomers' have held off home-buying decisions, but many are now ready to move into the market from a position of affluence. They will be a strong factor in the market, particularly toward the higher end of the price scale."

Ford Research Engineer Joe Byars checks the windshield's performance in a cold test room

Ford introduces new windshield option

A new, clear, electrically-heated windshield has been developed by researchers at Ford Glass Division for introduction later this year on the 1986-model Mercury Sable and Ford Taurus, according to D.E. Siddall, general manager of Ford Glass Division.

Based on technology developed for solar-control architectural glass, the optional InstaClear windshield clears away ice and frost within two minutes and relies on a metallic coating applied directly to the glass.

Siddall said Ford tests show that the InstaClear system can remove a tenth of an inch of heavy windshield frost at a temperature of zero degrees Fahrenheit in two to three minutes without the aid of windshield wipers. Defrosting a conventional windshield with only the car's defroster-blower takes 15 minutes or more.

"As more and more car owners have an opportunity to use this type of electrically-heating windshield, we expect it to become almost as popular as today's heated rear window," Siddall said.

Although both the heated InstaClear windshield and heated rear window are designed to produce the same result — a frost-free, fog-free view — each system uses entirely different technology.

A typical automotive windshield is actually two relatively thin sheets of annealed glass sandwiched around a sheet of clear vinyl. Glass Division engineers have applied an ultra-thin (100 billionths of a meter) of silver and zinc oxide to one of the inner surfaces. A thicker band of silver is painted around the perimeter of the windshield to serve as a conductor. Two wires at the base of the windshield attach to the car's alternator. With a flick of a switch, the metallic coating transmits heat throughout the windshield, clearing away frost within minutes.

Heated rear windows, on the other hand, depend on small conductive ceramic lines printed on a single sheet of glass. The printed circuit would interfere too much with visibility for use on the windshield.

"The new windshield should make safe winter driving a lot easier," Siddall said. "We eventually plan to make it available for all car models, and we also are looking at some retrofit applications."

Although 1986-model prices have not been established, the InstaClear option is expected to carry a suggested retail price of about $250 at introduction. It will be produced at Ford's Niagara Glass Plant in Canada.

"This new feature isn't meant to replace a conventional in-car defroster system," said Siddall. "A blower still will be necessary to help clear side windows and maintain visibility while the car is being driven."

The current system isn't Ford Glass Division's first experience with heated windshield technology. A similar option was offered on some luxury models between 1974 and 1976. At the time, thin sheets of gold-coated polyester were sandwiched into the windshield. The gold sheets, however, were difficult to work with and the overall price was nearly twice the amount of the new option.

Strings come attached to 'zero coupon bonds'

Sales campaigns for houses, cars and furniture using "free" or "bonus" zero coupon bonds frequently are misleading or neglect to inform consumers of potential "traps" related to the securities, according to the latest edition of Investor Alert, a quarterly publication of the North American Securities Administrators Association (NASAA) and the Council of Better Business Bureaus (CBBB).

The Alert explains: "State securities regulators and Better Business Bureaus have observed a disturbing new trend in 'zero-based' sales campaigns which frequently fail to inform customers of the current value of the bonds, tax consequences, possible liquidity problems and the extreme susceptibility to interest rate fluctuations when 'zeros' are redeemed prior to maturity."

Investors have purchased zero coupon bonds with a total face value of more than $100 billion in the last two years. The Alert illustrates the problems with "zeros" used to hype sales of houses and other items. Several states have recently banned or sharply restricted the use of zero coupon bonds to promote retail sales.

The Alert highlights potential problems with the use of zero coupon bonds as sales promotions and provides a checklist to avoid these pitfalls.

The Alert also states that "zeros" are just like any other investment and recommends that the following steps be followed before a decision is made to buy or sell:

- Determine the current price of "zeros" offered as sales promotions.
- Find out about the tax consequences of the "zero" offered.

'Zero coupon bonds are not the same as the air conditioners, china sets and Las Vegas trips that retailers sometimes use as "freebies" to entice customers.'

• Don't be misled by the words "government-guaranteed" or similar phrases.

• Remember there is no such thing as a free lunch.

• Ask about the markup if you're buying the "zero" bond from a broker.

• Get access to information about the resale market for the bonds if you are planning to sell prior to maturity.

• If the "zero" is offered in a sales promotion take the time to contact your state securities regulator.

• Contact a tax advisor if you're getting a "zero" with a new house.

• Remember that all bonds carry the risk that the bond issuer may not be able to pay the face 10 or 20 years down the road.

"Zero coupon bonds are not the same as the air conditioners, china sets and Las Vegas trips that retailers sometimes use as 'freebies' to entice customers," said Thomas Ashcraft, Detroit BBB president. "A zero coupon bond is an investment and should be dealt with as such."

Firm delivers to airport

more than likely move on to its next customer."

The drive from Milford is 45 miles, compared to 54 from Brighton and 57 from Howell.

Airport Special does not run on a schedule, either. The crew has been on the road during all hours of the night, something that is a must in this field, according to Beatty.

The current cost for a one-way trip is $25 per person. If a family is involved, however, Beatty says there usually is some type of special rate.

As for the types of people who are taking advantage of the service, it has been fairly wide-spread. Business-oriented people are the most common, but there has yet to be a trend.

"We're just trying to run the service like an old-fashioned American business," he said. "We want to give people their money's worth, and do things according to the way they want it done."

"We also want to give the service a home-town flavor. We kind of want to personalize it."

If all goes as planned for Beatty and Company, it sound as if the ride to Metro may be a little special.

Road builders cite employment levels

Some 1,200 more workers were employed on highway construction in 1984 than in 1983, according to figures obtained recently by the Michigan Road Builders Association (MRBA).

The MRBA said highway and street construction contractors had a total employment of approximately 4,900 on-site employees in 1984, an employment gain of 32 percent over the course of one year.

The MRBA's figures show that approximately 3,700 on-site employees worked only 4,922 million hours in this area of construction in Michigan in 1983. It also was the year with the highest unemployment rate for the industry. In 1983 employment was down 25 percent from 1980 which was a good year for highway and street construction and repair.

In comparison, 1984 was only two percent below 1980 when approximately 5,000 on-site employees spent 6,576 million hours engaged in the construction of highways, roads, streets and bridges. Nearly 6,475 million hours were worked by on-site employees in the industry last year.

These figures only take into account on-site employee hours for work on public construction projects, such as repair to primary and secondary roads and bridges. It does not take into effect the additional employment of private construction projects.

Lawrence Martin, executive director of the MRBA, said the figures demonstrate that the highway construction industry is back on its feet. "We are almost back to the employment level the industry had before the recession," he explained. "The increase in state and federal funding provided these needed jobs. This has had a great impact on reducing unemployment in the state."

Straight Talk

How two parents faced the truth about their son's drug abuse — and won him back

By MARILYN HERALD

"If your child had cancer, you, as a parent, would put him or her in a hospital for treatment. So why would you not put a child who is doing drugs into a treatment center?" asked Sandy Chouinard.

Chouinard, chairman of Northville Town Hall, was describing her own family's experience with Straight, Inc. The organization's Cincinnati, Ohio, treatment center has become an acclaimed treatment alternative for young people who are chemically dependent.

Chouinard's husband Leo, equally enthusiastic about Straight, added, "I wish the whole world could be exposed to it (Straight), not because they are on drugs or alcohol but because of what it can do for family communications and how it can change their lives. It is not a Disney World — it is reality and listening to the kids and the parents talk about the problems so openly is wonderful."

The Chouinards can tell you the exact day — October 17, 1982 — when they first learned about Straight. A family friend, a nurse who had a child in the program, had suggested that Sandy go to a Logan and Harris lecture on chemical dependency at St. Joseph Hospital in Ann Arbor.

It was at the lecture that the light began to dawn and Sandy began to realize that the things she had noticed about her son's behavior were probably not going to just go away — that they could not be put down to adolescence.

"We didn't realize he had a drug and alcohol problem before that," Sandy said.

"We didn't want to believe that that was what it was," Leo added.

Sandy explained that after she completed a test of things she had noticed about her son's behavior, it became apparent that their son was probably a "druggie."

"It will seem to other parents that we should have recognized the problem in the four years he had been on drugs," she said. "But he was always a loving child, always home when we told him to be. He was very lovable."

"But his grades were horrible. He had done very well racing bicycles and really loved it. When things started going downhill and we pulled our support of his racing, he had no incentive to go out and get a job so he could continue."

"He didn't look like a druggie or dress like one," his father said. "He was what they call a preppie druggie."

"I'm sure if we hadn't gotten him into the program there would have been more extreme changes. There were many telephone calls from strangers. Strangers came to the house and then left in a few minutes. I know now that my son was supporting his habit by selling drugs, but I didn't realize it until I went to that meeting. I just knew there was something wrong."

Both the Chouinards are frank about the fact that they tricked their son into going to Straight. "We took him for a ride. He was very angry and told us he didn't have a problem, we did. But in the end he did sign himself in."

The Chouinards said their son soon got over his anger and is very grateful for the help he got, even though at one point he ran away from Straight.

Children in Straight are not locked in, but in the first phase of the program they are never left alone. They live with a variety of host families and go to daily meetings where problems and feelings are shared.

During the second phase they are assigned to a permanent host home where the parents act in the stead of their own parents and all adults are called mom and dad.

Sandy explained that during the first phase the young people are helped to get themselves back together. During the second phase they get back to communicating with and being part of a family; the third phase puts them back into the community and school life. In the fourth phase they can take jobs and get mixed permissions for other activities. The fifth phase is a sort of "giving back" of what they have learned. The child is gradually introduced back into the family and community by the various structures of Straight, the Chouinards said.

Their son ran away during one of the latter phases and came back home because he felt he could handle a life without drugs by then. His parents, however, believed that he should finish what he has started and would not allow him to return home. He did go back to Straight, had to start over at phase one. He did complete the treatment.

He is completing high school this year — a little late, but still finishing, much to the relief of his parents. Their family life is better than it has ever been.

"When I realized that he was chemically dependent, I knew we had to do something or we would lose him," Sandy recalled. "If a child is ill, you take him for treatment. Chemical dependency is an illness and must be recognized as such."

The Chouinards talk openly about their family's experience, something they learned to do while participating in Straight.

Because they would like to help other parents who may have only just begun to suspect their child has a problem, the Chouinards may be reached for confidential Straight information by calling this newspaper at 349-1700.

"For our family, it was a time of blessing and gave us back a new, revitalized way of living," Sandy commented. Her belief in the program is such that she has agreed to help administer an auction to raise funds for Straight.

She explains, "Chairing this auction has been fantastically rewarding, because people have been so cooperative and because Straight in Michigan will help so many youngsters."

Leo and Sandra Chouinard describe their family's experience in the Straight program

It's no quick fix, but Straight, Inc. works

The national problem of drug (and alcohol) abuse by young people has grown more and more serious. So have efforts to combat it.

Straight, Inc., which plans to open a drug abuse treatment program in the Detroit area this year, probably has accumulated as much praise as any of such efforts. Robert L. Dupont, president of the American Council on Marijuana, has called Straight "the best drug treatment program in the country."

A Southeast Michigan parent group of Straight is proposing a facility which would be able to accommodate 175 clients at a time. The group hopes to locate its facility in the western suburbs of Detroit.

The Straight, Inc. organization now offers programs based in Cincinnati (now serving 65 youngsters from Michigan); St. Petersburg, Florida; Atlanta and Washington D.C., and plans to open yet another program in Boston this year. There are currently more than 800 youths — between age 12 and 22 — undergoing treatment.

What is Straight, exactly? It's a family-oriented treatment program which involves the young drug abuser as well as his or her family.

While not an inpatient facility, Straight conducts an intense daily schedule of therapeutic sessions, utilizing the dynamics of peer pressure in a positive fashion to create a new lifestyle for the clients.

The therapeutic tools utilized by Straight, include a modified version of the Alcoholics Anonymous' Steps and Signs which Straight calls the "Tools of Personal Change," plus cognitive therapy techniques dealing with how a person thinks.

The program uses a combination of intensive therapy and a structured, progressive approach where young people earn their way through five phases of the program to graduation. Adult professionals supervise young staff members who have been through the program and have subsequently been trained as counselors.

The Seven Steps Straight prescribes are principles of living — tools learned and used during the program and throughout life to help guide the person through the choices that confront him or her. While spiritual in theory, in therapy sessions the emphasis is on practical interaction with peer groups and with family members.

The Seven Steps are:

- "Admit I am powerless over drugs and come to believe that a power greater than myself can restore me to sanity."
- "Make a decision to turn my will and my life over to the care of God as I understand Him."
- "Make a searching and fearless moral inventory of myself daily."
- "Admit to God, myself and another human being the exact nature of my wrongs, immediately."
- "Make direct amends to such people wherever possible except when to do so would injure them, myself or others."
- "Seek through prayer and meditation to improve my conscious contact with God as I understand Him, praying only for knowledge of His will for me and the power to carry that out."
- "Having received the gift of awareness, I will practice these principles in all my daily affairs and carry the message to all I can help."

April 21 auction will benefit rehabilitation program

Co-chairs Kathleen Root and Sandra Chouinard and secretary Sue Kolb show off items for auction Going, going at auction — a trip for two to Toronto, mini-weekends at the Plymouth Hilton Inn, the Marriott and Weber's Inn.

Also on the block for the benefit of the Straight program will be such rarities as a 1984 World Series autographed bat, Elizabeth Taylor's tote bag and M.A.S.H. memorabilia, including autographed scripts from Alan Alda.

Jerry Duncan of South Lyon will be the auctioneer for the benefit auction at 2 p.m. Sunday, April 21, in the Northville Downs clubhouse.

Tickets will be sold at the door for $2 a person with all proceeds going to aid the development of Straight of Southeastern Michigan, a family oriented treatment program for drug-using young people and their families.

Northville Town Hall chairman Sandra Chouinard, who is co-chairing the auction with Kathleen Root, also has enlisted the assistance of WJR's Bob "The Singing Plumber" Taylor to be the emcee for the program which will include music by the Brian Cleary Quintet.

The committee also has arranged for door prizes and a silent auction table featuring donated merchandise and celebrity items. Food and refreshments will be available.

The auction committee now is seeking merchandise from local businesses to round-out the celebrity items being offered. It can use small appliances, power tools, gift certificates, complimentary dinners. Anyone interested in making a donation should call 437-0947. The committee points out that all contributions are tax deductible.

Recent additions to the auction list include a sports oriented afghan and a three-foot stuffed polar bear.

For sports fans the list of collectibles includes caps of Detroit Tiger players Kirk Gibson, Dave Bergman, Dick Tracewski, Dave Rosema, Marty Castillo and Larry Herndon.

Also included in the sports collectibles are original Briggs Stadium box seats and an autographed ball.

Donations in other categories include:

In Our Town

She's party veteran

By JEAN DAY

Parents planning this year's senior party following commencement June 14 have veteran assistance. Suzanne Kaley, whose son Chris is co-president of the 337-member senior class, already has graduated sons Mike (Class of '83) and John (Class of '84).

As she helps with plans for the party with its "Happy Days" theme, Mrs. Kaley adds that she still has son Joe, a seventh grader at Cooke Junior High, coming along.

Perhaps because she's the mother of four sons and no daughters, Suzanne Kaley's hobby is doll collecting. Her collection includes rare bisque types and also Barbie dolls.

Early Barbie dolls, she relates, have become very collectible, probably because of their high fashion clothes. Mrs. Kaley is involved in the Barbie Collectors national convention which is to be held in July at the Airport Hilton here. She mentions that collectors of the doll and her fashions created by Ruth Clonk come from as far as California for the convention.

College Foundation to hold Art Sale '85

Schoolcraft College Foundation's third annual art sale is planned for Sunday, April 21, from 1-5 p.m. in the lower level Waterman Center on the Haggerty Road campus. It is open to the public.

Oil paintings will range in price from $35 to $90. The Foundation sponsors explain the sale is unique in that purchasers may select a frame to suit both painting and home decor. Early guests can have their oil selections framed during the afternoon. Proceeds from the art sale go to the Foundation endowment fund.

The Schoolcraft College Community Wind Ensemble will present its spring concert at the event. The program is to include overtures, show tunes and marches. It will begin at 2:30 p.m. on the upper level of the Waterman Center. There is a $2 charge at the door. Foundation members, however, are guests. Concerts proceeds are used for the Fine Arts Music Scholarship Fund.

Luncheon to begin year for Mill Race Docents

The luncheon meeting that begins the season for the Mill Race Docents is scheduled for 1 p.m. April 20 in the New School Church in the historical village. Elaine Elliott and Enid Manheimer will be co-chairing the group of guides who show visitors through the village.

They report that new docents are welcome and that anyone interested may call them at 348-5241 or 348-7375.

Students offer preschool

The Northville High School Parenting Preschooler Class, under the direction of Carla Tibble, will offer a morning preschool program for three and four-year-olds. The preschool program will be held from 9:45-11:15 a.m. Tuesday and Thursday mornings May 7-23.

The program will provide girls and boys with an introductory preschool experience and is recommended for children who will be entering other preschool programs or kindergarten in the fall.

There is no charge for the program.

For additional information, call Carla Tibble at 349-3400, extension 327 during the school day or at 349-4896 after 4:30 p.m.

It's dance time

The spring dinner dance sponsored annually by Northville Mothers' Club gets a promotional assist from club Life Members and past dance chairmen Glad Evans and Margie Davis who donned long gowns that used to be "the thing to wear" for this year's chairman, Phyllis Kennedy, at left. This year's event will be held at Meadowbrook Country Club April 20 with cocktails at 7 p.m. The benefit dance has been held for more than two decades in various locations. Tickets for this year's dinner dance are $37.50 a couple and are available from present club members or by calling Mrs. Kennedy, 349-1140, or co-chair Karen Hill, 420-2718. Club life members who have served actively for 10 or more years are especially welcome, this year's sponsors report. Record photo by Steve Fecht.

Town Hall hosts writer

Sylvia Auerbach, a woman who writes and teaches about money, will be Northville Town Hall's final speaker in the 1984-85 series at 11 a.m. April 18 at the Sheraton Oaks-Now.

Auerbach, an editor and writer for Publishers Weekly and for the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, has written two books on the techniques of managing money.

Town Hall chair Sandy Chouinard, in announcing Auerbach's appearance in place of Bess Abell, who canceled, says she is delighted to have Auerbach. "She's warm, she's intelligent, but there's not one ounce of pomposity in her body," she reports.

Auerbach was educated at the University of Pennsylvania, Columbia and the London School of Economics.

Her books contain pertinent, practical facts and suggestions to help women master the techniques of managing money. "Your Money, How To Make It Stretch" was published in 1974 and was generally designed for young people. "A Woman's Book of Money," a guide to financial independence, has a publication date of August 27.

It includes sections on job and salary discrimination, marriage and marriage contracts, divorce and widowhood, part-time jobs, having your own business, credit, taxes, insurance and wills.

Tickets for the 1985-86 silver anniversary season with Jayne Meadows, Bob Taylor, Ronna Romney and Steven Ford will go on sale the day of the lecture. Price remains at $25 for the series.

Births announced

Zachary William Martin, first child of Mr. and Mrs. John Martin of Chicago, was born March 30. He weighed seven pounds, 13 ounces.

Mrs. Martin is the former Sally Sliger.

Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. William C. Sliger of Northville.

David and Lisa (Newby) McLean of South Lyon announce the birth of their first child, a daughter.

Christine Marie was born February 18 at St. Mary Hospital in Livonia. She weighed seven pounds, four ounces.

Maternal grandparents are Don and Evelyn Newby, formerly of Northville. Paternal grandmother is Madge McLean of Northville. The new baby also has a maternal great grandmother, Alice Newby of Florida.

LOSING YOUR HOME IS A TERRIBLE TRAGEDY. ESPECIALLY IF YOU'RE NOT ADEQUATELY INSURED.

You probably carry a basic home owners policy to protect yourself against the loss of your home. Unfortunately, with inflation and the ever increasing costs of construction, your present policy may not provide enough protection.

Do you have replacement coverage of the dwelling? On personal possessions? Are special items like silverware and collections adequately covered? How about your liability as a homeowner?

That's why it's a good idea to consult us before choosing, up-dating or renewing your homeowners policy. We're Independent Insurance Agents. As insurance professionals we can help you make sure you have the proper amount of insurance to assure you of the maximum benefits. And because we represent several companies—not just one—we can also help you make sure that you get precisely the right coverage at the right price.

New Japanese 'Super Pill' Insures Rapid Weight-Loss

No Dieting — Eat All You Want, Pill Does All The Work

BEVERLY HILLS, CA — An exciting new "all natural" weight-loss "Super" Pill developed by the JMA (Japanese Medical Association) has just been approved for distribution in the United States. Reportedly, it can guarantee that you will lose more than a pound a day without dieting, from the very first day until you reach your ideal weight and figure. News of this "Super Pill" is literally sweeping the country. It's called Amitol and there has never been anything quite like it before.

"Flushes Calories Right Out Of Your Body"

What makes Amitol so thrilling and unique is its reported ability to flush calories right out of your body. Amitol is completely safe, it contains no drugs, whatsoever. Its ingredients are derived solely from the Konjac root which grows primarily in Northern Japan.

Why the Konjac root? It has been used in Japan for over 1600 years to produce rapid and natural weight-loss!

Japanese studies verify that Konjac root actually prevents fat producing calories from being absorbed into your system. They say it does this by surrounding much of the fats, proteins and carbohydrates you have eaten with a protective viscous coating which is then gently flushed out of your system. And according to Japanese research this produces absolutely amazing results.

And who can disagree! Amitol (although brand new to this country) is already being called by many people, "the most exciting weight-loss breakthrough of the century." In fact, everywhere there are reports of easy and fast weight-loss from formerly overweight people (in all walks of life) who are now slim, trim, and attractive again.

Company Offers Extraordinary Guarantee

You now can purchase Amitol direct from the North American distributor, and it comes with an extraordinary guarantee.

If you place your order now and then follow the simple instructions for a period of 30 days, you must be completely satisfied with the dramatic visible results or just return the empty container and Dyna Labs will immediately send back your entire purchase price. This guarantee applies regardless of your age or current weight level. What could be better than that! It's just that simple. If you've tried to lose weight before and failed you no longer have an excuse. Amitol is available, it's easy and it works without dieting!

$19.95—30 day supply, or $35.95—60 day supply. Order immediately by sending a check or money order to DYNALABS, 270 No. Canon Dr., Ste. 1255 (Dept. U-21) Beverly Hills, CA, 90210. (Enclose your return address). Credit card holders can order by simply dialing toll free: (1-800-367-2400) 24 hrs a day, 7 days a week. Either way your order will be promptly sent. Please don't wait. You really do deserve to be thin.

Engagements announced

St. John's slates summer session classes

DAVID BEHRMANN, LINDA PEERY

Mr. and Mrs. Chet E. Peery of 24036 Lynwood, Northville, announce the engagement of their daughter Linda Rae of Houston, Texas, to David Mark Behrmann of Beaumont, Texas. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Behrmann of Scarsdale, New York.

The bride-elect is a 1976 graduate of Northville High School and a 1980 graduate of Eastern Michigan University. She is a member of Alpha Xi Delta sorority and is employed as a paralegal with Baker & Botts law firm in Houston. Her fiancé is a 1976 graduate of Iona College Preparatory School in Scarsdale and a 1980 graduate of Ithaca College. He is credit manager for PYA-Monarch. An August 3 wedding date has been set.

The engagement of their daughter Julie Lynn of Amherst, Massachusetts, to Daniel D. O'Brien III of Amherst is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Howard of Northville. He is the son of former Novi residents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel D. O'Brien Jr., now of South Deerfield, Massachusetts.

The bride-elect is a 1978 graduate of Northville High School. She attended Ferris State College and Kay Harvey Hair Design Academy. Her fiancé is a graduate of North Hampton High School and Greenfield Community College. He presently attends the University of Massachusetts and is employed as an Amherst police officer. A June 22 wedding date has been set.

A five-week religious education track and two evening courses are new features of the Summer Session opening its fifth season at St. John's Seminary in Plymouth. Core courses for the MTS degree and academic and pastoral education also will be offered, beginning June 24 to 28 and July 8 to August 2.

Daytime classes meet for only one week, Monday through Friday, from approximately 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.; evenings for two weeks, Monday through Friday from 7-9:30 p.m.

Information and registration may be obtained by writing the Academic Dean at St. John's Provincial Seminary, 44011 Five Mile Road, Plymouth or by calling 453-6200. Registration closes June 14.

Nationally recognized religious educators will conduct courses for catechists. Ruth McDonnell, IHM, a former consultant in Chicago and associate secretary of education in Washington, will present "Summer Bible Schools Revisited - Catecheses/Creativity/Criteria" June 24-28. Sister McDonnell directs the religious education program at St. Mary's in Milford. Father Jerome T. Walsh, associate professor at St. John's will serve as consultant. A director of Catholic Campus Ministry and the Interfaith Community at Albion College, Father Thomas F. Watkins will conduct "Youth Ministry for Catechesis" July 8-12. Father Watkins has been in youth work much of his life as a Marianist.

On July 15-19, Father Robert J. Hater will present "Ministry and Catechesis in the 80's." A priest of the Archdiocese of Cincinnati and associate professor of religious studies at the University of Dayton, Father Hater is the author of books and articles catechetical and religious education. He has been research/resource theologian for the National Conference of Diocesan Directors of Religious Education since 1979.

Christine Matthews, OP, will address issues of concern to the entire parish staff in "Organization and Communication Skills for Parish Ministries" July 22-26. Director of Resources for Programming and Planning in Detroit, Sister Matthews conducts workshops on parish staff formation and development, personnel issues and conference planning process.

In the final week, July 29 through August 2, Father John P. Zenz will develop "Spirituality of and for Catechetical Leaders." Associate Director of the Religious Education division of the Detroit Archdiocesan Department of Education, Father Zenz completed his doctorate in spirituality in 1984 and teaches at Sacred Heart Seminary in Detroit.

Summer evening classes, another "first" at St. John's, will include a core course and a ministry elective in two-week sessions. July 8-11 and 15-18, Father Jerome T. Walsh will present "Introduction to Old Testament Studies," an MTS core course. A guide and instructor for Holy Land Study tours, Father Walsh also is chairperson of the Catholic Bible Association, a lecturer and contributor to periodicals and journals in biblical languages and literature. His PhD in Near Eastern Studies is from the University of Michigan.

Dr. Gwynn S. McPeck, professor emeritus of music also from the University of Michigan, will lead "Music in the Service of the Western Church," July 15-18 and 22-25. Dr. McPeck is an author of scholarly books and articles, editor of music, and a specialist in medieval music and culture. He has held a number of research grants with publications in five languages.

Other core courses include "The Church: Its Ministries - Past, Present and Future," June 24-28 and "Sacraments of Initiation" July 22-26. For the second year the ecclesiology course will be conducted by Saginaw Bishop Kenneth E. Untener and his team of four diocesan priests and two women faculty of St. John's. Father John G. Budde, co-author of "Resource Eleven: Parent Preparation for Infant Baptism" will lead the "Sacraments" course. Mary Ann Hinsdale, IHM, like Father Budde, a fulltime faculty member at St. John's, will present "Foundations of Belief, Worship and Spirituality" July 15-19.

Tuition at St. John's is $70 per graduate credit hour and $40 per audit hour. Residence for a summer session week from Sunday evening to Friday noon is $100. Commuters may order lunches or bring their own.

Straight program explained

Completing the five phases of the Straight program is no quick fix — it takes more than half a year. In the first phase, which lasts a minimum of two weeks, the youth develops a sense of "self." He or she spends 12 hours a day in the building six days a week, seven hours on Sunday. The rest of the time is spent with a host family with a child in an advanced stage of the program.

In the Second Phase, the youth returns home and adds working on family relationships to working on self — again the teen spends 12-hour days at the center.

In the Third Phase, the youth returns to school or work, once again confronting peer pressure to resume drug-abusive behavior. He or she spends weekends at the building.

The last two phases require the longest time to complete. The minimum combined time is five months.

In Phase Four, the gradual withdrawal from active involvement in the program is begun. The youth returns periodically to the program building four days and works on constructive use of leisure time, and is permitted to go places for recreational activities with family or friends in the program.

In the Fifth Phase, the youth adds social responsibility to his development. Fifth Phasers assist the Straight staff in working with newer entrants.

"Rap" therapy, family involvement and "aftercare" — topical discussion of relationships and related issues of lifestyle — are all blended into the phases.

For information on Straight, Inc. programs and on its efforts to build a suburban Detroit facility, write to Straight, Inc., P.O. Box 2914, Ann Arbor, MI 48016.

Three local students selected to fashion panel

Three Northville High School students have been selected to serve on the Twelve Oaks Fashion Panel for 1985.

The students include 10th grader Michelle Valentine, daughter of John and Linda Valentine of Northville; 11th grader Kimberly Abraham, daughter of John and Barb Abraham of Northville; and 11th grader Sandee Schaal, daughter of Thomas and Carole Schaal of Northville.

The three were among 34 selected to serve on the panel. They were chosen from among 200 applicants, ages 16 to 22.

Selection was made on the basis of personal interviews and runway presentations.

The panel will serve through December, attending workshops on poise, grooming and fashion forecasting. Members of the panel gain experience and exposure in the fashion and retail industry by participating in fashion shows, in-store seminars, photo sessions and restaurant and window modeling.

A DUM PROGRAM

Dum is a word we use to refer to that which is senseless or unnecessary. If you live in Schuylkill County, Pennsylvania, however, DUM has another meaning. Dum is an acronym which stands for Destroy Old Medicines. Unused medicines were brought to local pharmacists who conducted their disposal.

The empty medicine containers were taken to a senior citizen center where names, dates, and prescription numbers were recorded. Prizes were awarded to persons with the oldest prescription containers and to the two senior groups that brought in the most containers. The prize for the oldest container went to an individual with a medication label dated in the late 1940s!

Pharmacists are frequently questioned about old medicines. In general, the following rules apply to safe use of "aging" medicines: (1) Medicines that have past their expiration dates should be destroyed. (2) Undated medicines can usually be stored for two years. (3) Medicines which have undergone odor, hardness, color, or other visual changes should be discarded (flushing down the toilet is usually acceptable). For information about specific products, ask your pharmacist.

Mustang nine will open season with a lot of new faces

By B.J. MARTIN

Jay Bartling. Doug Doyle. Steve Frellick. Dave Longridge. Mickey Newman. Dan Nielsen. Steve Schrader. Remember them? You'll have to. Because they're not back.

When Northville's Class of '84 members took home their sheepskins last year, the Mustangs lost a very good crop of ballplayers. While the players remaining on this year's varsity baseball squad compare well in hitting, pitching and fielding with last year's squad, they fall short in one important area: varsity experience.

"I know we're going to be very competitive," says Coach Bob Frellick, who inherits the reins from Fred Holdsworth after Holdsworth's retirement last year.

"We've got good pitching depth. We should be a good hitting team. And our defense will be as good as it's ever been. I don't know why we can't be as good as we were last year."

Of the Mustangs' pitching staff, only one has been tested at the varsity level: Co-captain CHRIS WILLERER, a senior. Willerer pitched quite well on last year's squad, where he was overshadowed to some extent by standouts Nielsen and Doyle. "Chris throws hard, he's got good control, and he's developed a good breaking ball to go with his fastball," Frellick observes.

Joining Willerer in the starting rotation will be juniors CHRIS DOMINIQUE, TONY CRAIG and BRETT LOOMIS. "I'm thinking of going with a four-man rotation for a while, especially in the early part of our season," Frellick says. "We're going to try to take it easy on the guys' arms and limit the number of pitches they throw."

Craig, who returned to Northville after a short stay in Kentucky, is a big, hard-throwing righthander. Dominique was an outstanding Mickey Mantle League hurler last summer and has developed a good fastball-curve mix of pitches. Loomis has some good "junk" pitches, best of all a big curve.

In the bullpen will be junior KEITH DUTKIEWICZ in short relief spots and senior KELLY BELL, a control pitcher with "good breaking stuff" according to Frellick. Hard-throwing senior KEN KEHOE, the team's only lefthander, could come in handy, Frellick adds.

Junior MARK DEAL has locked up a first-base job with his long-range hitting stroke and a quick glove besides. Craig may spell him on occasion, but Deal appears cemented into the middle of the Mustang batting order.

At second, Co-captain CHRIS HAUSER is a leading candidate for leadoff hitting duties, possessing a quick bat and quick feet. STEVE BURNWORTH, like Hauser a senior, may also see some work there.

Junior SCOTT PETERSON is already being hailed by Frellick as one of the conference's best defensive third basemen. Peterson packs good speed besides and looks to become a valuable member of the team. At short, seniors JERRY O'BRIEN and TOM ROSS are the leading candidates. Both are good fielders, but O'Brien has turned heads with his hitting in early-season practices.

In the outfield, there are six players who all should see some duty. The two best glove men appear to be speedy junior FRED CAHILL and Kehoe, also quick on his feet. In right field, DOUG HARTMAN returns after a tremendous junior year on the varsity in '84. Hartman and Deal pack a devastating one-two punch in Northville's batting order.

Dutkiewicz has the best outfield-type arm of those expecting some outfield work. Long-ball threat JEFF BAINBRIDGE will likely find a spot in the order with his hitting power, and PAUL NEWITT, a well-rounded player who could help at first base, will also log some playing time.

Frellick doesn't consider any of his outfielders a defensive liability. "They're all good fielders," he says.

Behind the plate, JOHN NORTON, backup backstop for Bartling last year, is in excellent shape this spring and brings steadiness, a good arm and a good attitude to the job. Junior MARK OLSEN is the same type of player and will also see plenty of action.

"Our philosophy's going to be you'll stay in the starting lineup until you aren't contributing on offense and defense. If you don't produce, some of the others are going to get a shot at it."

Northville opens the season fast, with back-to-back doubleheaders against South Lyon and Hartland next week. Frellick says he plans to be careful with his pitchers' arms over next week's six games. It's likely every player on the team will get a good once-over in the non-conference battles.

Kickers blast Hawks 11-0, get hat trick from Flading

Tricia Ducker never broke a sweat. The Northville goalkeeper might as well have sat out last Wednesday's soccer opener at Farmington Harrison. The Hawks never managed a shot on goal and the Mustangs drilled them 11-0, led by Kim Flading's hat trick.

"We were a little worried when we got there," said Northville Coach Stan Smalec. "After we arrived, about 30 girls in warmups ran out to their field and started doing laps, and they looked like they were really in shape, pretty tough."

They were. They were Harrison's women's track team. The soccer team came out a few minutes later.

"They're rebuilding," Smalec said of the Harrison kickers. "They've got some talent, and their numbers are up from last year."

For the game's opening 15 minutes and 40 seconds, the Hawks managed to hold Northville scoreless. "It was our first game, and it took us some time to get into our regular style of play," said Smalec.

But after Flading opened the scoring by volleying in a corner kick from Kathy Korowin, Harrison quickly came unglued.

In the next four minutes, Jenny Schuerman set up Michelle Cross for Northville's second goal, then scored herself on a scramble in front of the Hawk net.

Before the end of the half, Roxanne Serkaian scored on an assist from Korowin, and Linda Townsend added a breakaway goal to give Northville a 5-0 lead.

Even though Smalec rotated his entire roster into the game, Northville intensified the pressure in the second half. At 45:10, speedy Robin Strunk scored on a breakaway and once again the onslaught began.

Flading picked up her second goal on a cross from Cross at 53:00 and Cross followed two minutes later by pounding in the rebound of a shot by Flading. Playing left wing, Schuerman added a breakaway goal at 65 minutes for Northville's ninth goal.

League tennis title could be 'dogfight'

It looks as though Northville's varsity netters will continue to battle for top honors in the Western Lakes and Western Division this fall.

That's nothing new. The Mustangs were close to the top last season, and were division champs in 1983. This year, the Mustangs will pack a junior-heavy lineup bolstered by a few freshmen with potential to burn. It's likely Northville will be among the teams to beat in the WLAA for years to come.

"(Farmington) Harrison's going to be pretty tough in our division this year," said Northville's veteran tennis coach Dick Norton. "But we've got a chance to beat them, I think — especially if we switch our lineup around a little bit."

"Stevenson's probably the toughest team in the Lakes Division. I don't see anybody getting past them."

well. "They're returning just about all their players from last year," Norton observed. "It should be a real dogfight among Harrison, Canton and ourselves."

One reason the Mustangs expect to be in the thick of things is the arrival of junior TERRY MICHELITCH, a transfer student from New York. Michelitch, Norton hopes, will go a long way toward filling the shoes of Northville's top singles player last year, Arvind Sreedharan, now graduated.

Returning from last year's squad are varsity regulars MARK REITENGA, DAVID KAMINSKY, DON NORTON, DAVID MERRIFIELD and MIKE REITENGA. All are juniors except Mike Reitenga, a sophomore.

Mark saw plenty of work for Northville at third singles, and when he's not doing doubles duty this year, he'll appear at second singles. He was 8-7 in singles last year.

Softball nine 'improved'

By B.J. MARTIN

Don't be surprised if the varsity softball team surprises you.

Remember, you heard it here first. The Mustangs could be the Western Lakes Activities Association's most improved squad. Coach Sue Heinzman started pre-season conditioning and practice as early as last November, and she's looking forward to seeing what the extra time — and some extra equipment — can do to help her second season with the team.

The team has a regular home at Ford Field, and new uniforms — but, best of all, there's the team's very own batting practice machine.

"Please tell the booster club thanks for the pitching machine," Heinzman said Monday. "It's great. I really think it's going to help us a lot."

If only it could do all the team's pitching. Sophomore SUE SCHRADER figured to be the team's ace this spring, but she overworked her arm at a pre-season camp, and is now hurting from tendonitis. Schrader will stay in the lineup, but as a first baseman.

Much of the mound duties will fall on the shoulders of another sophomore, last year's JV regular, LISA CRAWFORD. "She throws good junk," Heinzman chuckled. "She can move the ball around and she's got good control."

Much-improved senior LORI HOUSMAN uses quicker stuff and has good accuracy, and equally important, good endurance. In the early part of the schedule, Housman's ability to go as long as seven innings will come in handy.

"It's going to be a rough first week," Heinzman predicted. "The first two days back from vacation, we've got two doubleheaders, and then two more games later in the week. We're going to have to catch on fast."

Behind the plate, CHRIS MCGOWAN returns after making All-Division and All-Area teams as a sophomore. The versatile "McGoo" might also see time at shortstop and in the bullpen when necessary.

When she does, sophomore DOROTHY ZIEGLER will put on the shin guards. A utility player with a good batting stroke, Ziegler might find a way into the lineup in the infield or outfield.

Freshman NANCY DUTKIEWICZ also has swung the bat well this spring and may share time with Schrader at first. JULIE CASS and CHRIS BUELOW, both juniors who played regularly on the JV last season, will spend time at second. "They're both real quick on the basepaths, and their fielding is pretty good, too," Heinzman reported.

At shortstop, JACKIE MATTEUCCI is a returning starter and one of the premier shortstops in the conference. The junior likely will be one of the two or three key players on this year's team.

Soccer tourney will be rough one

Back Cheryl Spaman brought the scoring into double figures with a demoralizing, high, hard bullet from 40 yards out at 70 minutes. Fittingly, it was Flading who wrapped up the scoring blitz four minutes later on one of the game's prettiest plays. Jodi Smalec sent a chip over to Cross, who sent a beautiful centering pass through to Flading for her third goal.

Coach Smalec said the defensive work of Korowin, Jenny Kuffner and Jodi Smalec helped keep the Hawks bottled up in their own end of the field throughout the game. He was also pleased with how right wing Schuerman is fitting into the team's offensive game plan.

"(Assistant Coach) Doug Lyon and I felt if Jenny'd pulled the trigger a little more often she'd have had three or four goals," said Smalec. "She had some beautiful crosses, some chest-high pills. It was neat to watch her and the other girls on the line work together."

Because of players vacationing during spring break, Northville's roster will be severely depleted going into this weekend's Schoolcraft College soccer tournament (see schedule). "It's going to be rough," Smalec grimaced. "We're going to be down to maybe 11 kids. They're going to see a lot of work."

Following the Schoolcraft tourney, Northville will return to action at Farmington at 4 p.m. Wednesday, April 17.

TAX TIPS

LEE E. HOLLAND, C.P.A.

CREDIT FOR CONSERVING ENERGY

The cost of energy will probably continue to be one of the major items in your family budget. For this reason you may have installed one or more energy-saving devices in your home. This would make you eligible for an energy credit deduction on your income tax. For instance, under current IRS rules you're allowed to claim a credit of 15 percent of the first $2,000 you've spent for energy-saving components up to a maximum credit of $300. This would include a long list of items. In fact everything you've done to seal out cold drafts and cut down in the use of heat, hot water, and electricity.

If you've invested in one of the renewable energy resources, such as solar and geothermal energy, windpower, or hydroelectricity, the tax credits can be substantial. You are now allowed to claim a credit equal to 40 percent of the first $10,000 spent on renewable energy sources. This would give you a maximum credit of $4,000.

Whatever you have done to conserve energy in your home not only increases the value of your residence but also allows you to make deductions in your income tax. For a review of these and other ways in which your income tax can be reduced, call us for an appointment.

Jackie Matteucci: 'One of the best in the league.'

Mustang softball team looks much improved

Classmate MICHELE SIEMASZ has been one of the hardest workers in early-season workouts and combines with Matteucci to make a first-rate left side of the infield. MINA RAHIMI, up from last year's JV, will spell Siemasz at third.

Heinzman called the Mustang outfield "one of the best in Northville history."

"I feel really confident about the outfield," she said. "Everyone out there is good with the glove and has a good arm." Strong-armed power hitter KIM RICHCREEK, a senior, will move from center to left to make room for VICKI ROBINS in center. Robins, also a senior, packs plenty of speed on offense and defense. She is the leading candidate for the job of leadoff hitter in Northville's offense.

In right, JULIE KAESTNER is expected to see plenty of action, especially when Housman's fastball gets opponents swinging behind the pitch. "She's got one of the best gloves on the team. Julie's an aggressive fielder. She goes for everything and usually comes up with it," said Heinzman.

AMY FRIEMUND may be promoted to the varsity within a few weeks as an outfielder or pitcher, Heinzman added. Housman and Ziegler may also log some outfield time this year.

"I think the big difference this year is that we'll have at least two consistent pitchers," Heinzman pointed out. "Our pitching and catching looks solid, and our hitting has improved a lot, too." Heinzman thinks the Western Division race could be a tight one, with Walled Lake Western the early favorite.

Northville will host for the first time an eight-team invitational softball tournament Saturday, April 27, to be held at Ford Field and Fish Hatchery Park.

Tennis team strong again

Kaminsky was 6-5 as a second doubles player for the Mustangs in '84. He will usually team with the younger Reitenga in doubles, but will also see some fourth singles work.

Norton went 9-6 in second doubles last year, and probably will be used at first doubles this season. He and Mark Reitenga will team up when Coach Norton sees an advantage in deploying the older Reitenga in doubles.

Mike Reitenga played third doubles last year, scratching out a 5-6 record. Coach Norton calls him the "most improved player so far" this spring. This season, Mike will see time at doubles and probably third singles as well.

Merrifield had a combined record of 7-6 in both second and third doubles responsibilities last year and this year will get some singles work in addition to doubles.

The team's only senior, JOHN BALES, will likely see plenty of time at third doubles this season, and on occasion, he'll also be used as high as second singles. He was 1-2 last year in varsity matches. Sophomore DON HUBBARD will shift between doubles and singles as the situation dictates.

A group of seven juniors will give the Mustangs depth to spare: MIKE TABACZYNSKI will see some varsity doubles work, while KIRK MORRISON, JEFF STUART, MIKE TODD, DAN BOLAND and DAVID HALL will come up from last year's junior varsity. First-year player ERIC GALA will also be carried on the team.

Fourteen freshman tried out for the varsity this year, and two have emerged as potential standouts: DOUG KAMIENECKI has been hitting the ball well this spring, and will get some singles work on the varsity as a result. AVANISH BHAVSAR has been impressive as well.

Northville scrimmaged Westland John Glenn last week, and won every match that was played. "That's kind of an indication we're looking fairly good this year," Coach Norton pointed out.

"We'll have a real good idea how it's going to be when we face Harrison (at 3:30 p.m. next Wednesday)," he added. "It might be a good thing we're facing them this early."

Norton expects to use "pretty much the same lineup as we'll use against Harrison" in the squad's season-opening match Monday, when the Mustangs host Brighton for a 3:30 p.m. non-conference match.

Most likely, that lineup will consist of Michelitch at first singles, Bales at second, Merrifield at third and Kamienecki at fourth. The doubles teams will probably be Norton and Mark Reitenga at first doubles, Kaminsky and Mike Reitenga at second, and Hubbard and Tabaczynski at third.
