Class of '85 takes final bow

By MICHELE FECHT

Rainstorms which submerged much of Northville High School in recent weeks were nowhere in sight last Friday evening when the Class of '85 took its final bow.

Sunny skies prevailed for the 324 graduating seniors, family members and school officials who turned out at the football field to witness Northville High School's 116th commencement.

This year's graduation, planned almost entirely by Senior Class officers and Student Congress members, went off without a hitch.

Among the first to address their fellow graduates were valedictorians Robert Guldberg, Jeffrey Peters and Karen Weaver and salutatorian Jeffrey Skolarus.

In his remarks to the Class of '85, School Superintendent George Bell told the graduates he was proud of their "spirit and resiliency" in the face of the many changes which took place at the high school this year.

He also noted he was proud of the "97.2 percent of you who were not suspended" — referring to a recent vandalism incident involving eight NHS senior girls. All were suspended from Friday's graduation ceremony.

DeHoCo transfer finish prison moratorium beg

By KEVIN WILSON

With a few strokes of the pen last week, Michigan Governor James J. Blanchard sealed the state purchase of the Detroit House of Correction and assured neighboring communities that no additional prisons will be demanded in the area.

In a Friday morning ceremony in the lobby of the Five Mile Road facility, Blanchard signed two bills authorizing the $6.7 million purchase from the City of Detroit and forbidding future prison expansion in Northville and Plymouth townships.

Noting that the acquisition is expected to add 650 beds to the state prison system this summer, Blanchard said "these cells will help us put a lock on Michigan's prison overcrowding problem."

Getting state access to those cells entailed an unprecedented legal commitment forbidding any future addition of cells in the two townships that share the Five Mile Road boundary.

"We think three prisons are a fair share for this area," Blanchard said, signing the moratorium bill introduced by state representative Gerald Law (R-Plymouth Township). "With three prisons, Plymouth and Northville townships have made a major contribution."

The bill both prevents additional prison sitings and sets a cap on the number of inmates allowed in each of the three institutions — 650 temporarily at DeHoCo and 500 after January, 1987, 311 at Phoenix Correctional Facility and 550 at the Scott Regional prison under construction at Five Mile and Beck. The latter two are on the Northville Township side of the boundary.

Just before boarding his helicopter for a flight to a governor's conference in Detroit, Blanchard reaffirmed his pledge not to seek additional prison sitings in Northville or Plymouth. Recalling a letter he wrote more than a year ago rejecting proposals that Plymouth Center for Human Development be converted to prison use, Blanchard said he had done so "against some criticism — we'll stand by that commitment."

"This area has certainly done its share in addressing the problem," he continued. "At this point, we want to

NRPH fence set for July-1 start

Construction of a three-sided, six-foot chainlink fence at Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital is slated to begin July 1.

Township supervisor Susan Heintz announced the anticipated construction date during last week's board of trustees meeting. She said clerk Georgina Goss had confirmed the plan through the department of mental health.

Local officials have long sought the fence as a response to the continued incidence of patients "walking away" from the hospital on West Seven Mile in the township. Heintz was making plans Monday for a groundbreaking ceremony.

Money to construct the fence was appropriated in the current state fiscal year budget. Bids for the project were solicited earlier in the year, but department of management and budget officials said the bid solicitation was in error and sent the plans back to DMH for review.

At the time, Heintz said it was "suspicious" that the bidding was stopped at the same time that legislation approving the state purchase of the Detroit House of Correction was stalled in the legislature. She would not directly link last week's news about the fence to the rapid completion of the DeHoCo negotiations.

Governor Blanchard seals DeHoCo deal to Law's satisfaction

Fired hospital workers not 'scapegoats' DMH asserts

By KEVIN WILSON

Employees of Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital staged a second "informational picket" last week while the Department of Mental Health issued a denial of the employees' claim that recent firings and suspensions at the hospital were unjustified.

Workers affiliated with the American Federation of State County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME) conducted a June 13 picket outside the main entrance of the hospital, repeating the charge leveled a week earlier that the employees fired or suspended after a May 26 killing at the hospital were "scapegoats" for poor administration.

They also criticized NRPH director Walter Brown for publishing a statement suggesting that some employees are selling contraband drugs to patients.

Neither hospital director Brown nor DMH director Patrick Babcock returned phone calls requesting a response to the union claims.

Tom DeLoach, a DMH spokesman based in Lansing, said the union assertions regarding the five firings and three punitive suspensions are "inaccurate."

"The disciplinary action reflected the judgments the review team (which included both Brown and Babcock) has made," DeLoach said.

He said the pending appeals of the disciplinary actions meant "I really can't get into all of the detail of who did what to whom," discovered in the review. Responding to AFSCME and MSEA claims that the department had not provided sufficient information supporting the firings and suspensions, DeLoach said "we have specified to each of the workers what the review team findings were."

The unions have argued that the disciplinary action is unfairly targeted toward a handful of employees when general overcrowding and understaffing conditions at the hospital are such that workers rarely have time to operate "by the book."

But DeLoach said that staff:patient ratios in the M Building when Greg Helzerman was killed by three other patients May 26 were adequate. "In the specific case, we had a case where four employees were working a ward with 19 patients — that's not overcrowding or understaffing," DeLoach said.

"I think the summation of the department's position is, there's no one in the department of mental health who contends staffing is at the level we'd like to see," he continued. "We haven't made any secret of the fact that the staffing is below the ideal level and the patient census is too high. But, that doesn't relieve any staff member of the responsibilities and duties he has been assigned."

Brown's statement, published in a hospital newsletter, "that some employees are selling illegal drugs to patients was contested by the unions. The bargaining units contend that an isolated incident of drug sales resulted in firings last year and that the problem was solved."

DeLoach said only that Brown had commented to him that drug sales by staff members "seems to be a problem."

New township manager on the job

By KEVIN WILSON

There's a new hand at the helm in Northville Township Hall.

Bruno Scacchitti of St. Marys, Pennsylvania, was hired as the new township manager by the board of trustees June 13 and began working the next morning.

Scacchitti (Ska-key-tea) replaces David Leiko, the township's first manager, who accepted appointment as assistant city manager in Mentor, Ohio, this spring after five years with the township.

Scacchitti earned a master's degree in public administration last December at the University of Pittsburgh — Leiko's alma mater. He was recommended by the township's manager search committee, which interviewed six candidates from a field of 39 applicants before making its selection.

"We are recommending the hiring of one gentleman we feel was the superior of the six candidates," treasurer Richard Henningsen, committee chairman, said.

Henningsen recommended an annual salary of $22,500, plus use of the township car (a Chevrolet Cavalier) and all the benefits afforded other employees.

Both the hiring and salary recommendations were approved on unanimous 7-0 votes of the board of trustees.

The new manager began work Friday morning, moving into an apartment in South Lyon over the weekend. He was conducting get-acquainted meetings with department heads early this week.

Technically, Scacchitti was present at last week's board meeting to be interviewed by the four members who had not served on the search committee.

Jaycees' anniversary parade highlights July 4 events

Theme for this year's Fourth of July parade is "Anything Silver" in recognition of the Northville Jaycees' 25 years of sponsoring the parade and celebration.

The Jaycees began plans for the 25th anniversary parade and other events early this year. The parade, with bike and antique car contests being held in conjunction, will begin at 10 a.m. A barbecue and other events will follow in Mill Race Historical Village. Fireworks, as has become a tradition, will begin at dusk.

A "just for fun" drawing is being instituted this year with the winner getting to press the button that will shoot off the first firework display.

There will be no charge to enter. Entry blanks are available at Cloverdale, Lapham's, The Liquor Shoppe, Paul Follino's State Farm Insurance office, Tiffany Art Glass, Long's Plumbing and MacKinnon's.

The drawing will be held June 26 at the city hall during the Jaycees' general meeting for June. It is not necessary to be present to win.

The committee is hoping that many organizations will enter floats in the parade. Any groups or individuals interested in participating are asked to call Kevin Hartshorne at 348-6315 as soon as possible.

Line up of floats, bands and dignitaries will start at 8:30 a.m. in the Northville Downs parking lot.

The parade committee reports it is anxious also to know which groups participating in previous parades will be returning this year. They should register with Hartshorne now.

All participants are to be in the line by 8:45 a.m. to be eligible for judging, which will begin at 9 a.m.

The decorated bike contest also will be held at the Downs parking lot with entrants to line up from 9-9:30 a.m. for judging at 9:30 a.m. Entrants should check in with Debbie Anderson, community action vice president for the Jaycees.

Antique cars are to get in line from 8:30-9 a.m. in the Downs parking lot. Judging will be at 9:15 a.m. Bob Cummings, Northville Jaycee Ambassador and past president, is in charge of this event.

A full schedule of events is planned at the Mill Race Historical Village following the parade. The Jaycees will serve chicken barbecue with coleslaw, chips and pop along with hot dogs throughout the afternoon. They also will sponsor a dunk tank on the grounds.

The Northville Rotary Club will hold a watermelon eating contest for kids of all ages at 1 p.m.

Northville Historical Society will hold an arts and crafts show.

The annual fireworks display sponsored by the Jaycees will begin at dusk. There will be a $1 donation charged for parking at the Cooke Junior High, Amerman and high school parking lots.

As they announce their anniversary celebration, the Jaycees also cite problems this year. Due to construction at the high school there will be construction equipment and materials on the high school grounds.

"The school board has requested that we double our security efforts at the high school as the Jaycees are held responsible for any damage that evening. Any support we can acquire to help us with the endeavor would be greatly appreciated," reports Teresa Follino, public relations chairperson who is in charge of July 4th publicity.

She adds that costs have risen even more than the Jaycees had anticipated for marching bands and fireworks.

The Jaycees, therefore, are seeking additional support from local merchants, organizations and individuals who would like to help with a donation. Anyone interested should call Follino at 349-3391.

"We would like to thank the Northville Rotary Club, Kiwanis Club, Northville V.F.W. post, Cloverdale, The Liquor Shoppe, both the city and township of Northville for their generous contributions of services, manpower and money already received," Follino says.

She notes that "year after year the Guernsey Dairy trucks have been present but, due to circumstances beyond their control, they cannot be this year. Yet, we would like to thank them for their support."

The Plymouth Family YMCA already has indicated it will be entering a float in this year's parade, but Hartshorne and the rest of the parade committee would like other previous entrants also to confirm if they are planning to participate.

They would like to hear from Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, cheerleader groups, preschools, equestrians, clowns, church groups and military units and merchants.

Inmates will start arriving in July

By KEVIN WILSON

Conversion of the Detroit House of Correction for use as a state prison began last week with the aim of moving medium security inmates into the facility by the end of July, state corrections officials said.

During a tour of DeHoCo after Governor James Blanchard signed legislation authorizing state purchase of the facility, officials explained the extensive changes planned to meet state prison standards.

Renovation to create the renamed Western Wayne County Correctional Facility includes construction of a double perimeter fence (a 12-foot high exterior, and 10-foot interior fence) augmented with razor wire and protected by an electronic detection system. The fence, identical to one credited with a very low escape rate at the nearby Phoenix Correctional Facility, is joined by a perimeter road to be patrolled by armed guards.

Fence construction at an estimated cost of $2 million was previously authorized by the state legislature. The state paid Detroit $6.7 million for the 123 acres of the 1,100 Detroit mills. The area purchased includes the main compound and trusty dormitories. Total acquisition and renovation costs are estimated at $22 million, still well below the $50 million estimates for new prisons.

State corrections department director Robert Brown said an estimated 110 former DeHoCo employees laid off since March would begin training as state employees Monday.

As a city-owned prison that housed as many as 1,000 inmates, DeHoCo employed just over 150 persons. As a state facility with population capped at 650 inmates, the work force will be in excess of 240.

State representative Gerald H. Law (R-Plymouth Township), said the extensive renovation work and higher staff-inmate ratio is "one of the major benefits of having the state takeover this site."

He noted that prisoners walking away from the facility were a major concern, particularly in Plymouth Township. Though escapes rarely lingered in the area, the local court was required to process in excess of 150 cases connected with DeHoCo escapes annually.

Although Blanchard said 650 inmates would be moved into the new facility by the end of July, Brown said it would likely take longer to build up to the full authorized capacity.

"We probably won't have 650 until late summer," Brown said. "We can move into a place like this faster than we can with a brand new facility that's just been completed, but we still have to bring (population) up gradually. We will have to build some new living areas before we can handle the 650."

State officials are moving as quickly as possible to add prison beds to the system, which at latest report is about 700 prisoners over capacity and adding a few hundred monthly. Blanchard has refused to authorize early release under the prison overcrowding emergency act, and reiterated his opposition to the law during his remarks last week.

"For too long, the state has solved its overcrowding situations by releasing prisoners," Blanchard said. "We now know that Michigan was cutting its own throat. The early release law was obviously a cheap solution — we were stuck during the economic downturn."

He credited an economic turnaround in the state with the new push to add prison capacity to the system. "The financial turnaround has given us the financial wherewithal and the credit rating to bring facilities like this one into the system," he said.

Noting that DeHoCo and the nearby Scott prison, combined with efforts in Ionia, Lapeer and Jackson would add 4,500 cells to the corrections system in 2½ years, Blanchard said all current plans will total more than 6,000 added cells by 1989.

Financing for that effort will entail much more than can be obtained from current operating revenues, which are the source for the DeHoCo acquisition.

The state legislature last week began a move toward raiding the state's "rainy day fund," a reserve set aside in recognition of Michigan's cyclical economy and intended to protect governmental operations from the effects of economic downturns.

Blanchard said he would prefer to have the state issue bonds to finance the prison construction efforts rather than raiding the rainy day fund. "I would prefer us to do bonding, though we're open to the legislature's suggestions," he said. "There is a way, I understand, that we can use part of the rainy day fund to get started and bond the rest. I think you'll see some combination of methods."

make sure we run this system the way it's supposed to run. That will require additional cells, but we're definitely not going to look to Northville or Plymouth for them."

State Senator R. Robert Geake (R-Northville) said he had no doubts about the administration's stance on future prison sitings here. "The governor's office was very helpful in getting the moratorium bill passed," Geake said.

The praise for a Democratic governor from a high-ranking Republican was a measure of the day's events, which Blanchard said were possible only because of "strong bipartisan support" and a "high degree of cooperation between state and local governments."

In addition to Blanchard, Geake and Law, those attending the ceremony included representative Carolyn Cheeks Kilpatrick (D-Detroit and chairperson of the House Corrections Committee), Northville Township Supervisor Susan Heintz, Plymouth Township Supervisor Maurice Breen, members of the township boards of trustees, and 35th District Court Judge John MacDonald.

The two township boards in January approved a joint resolution seeking the moratorium and prisoner caps. Both have hired the Lansing lobbying firm of James H. Karoub and Associates to assist in the effort.

"When we first talked about moratorium, we were told it was impossible, it'd never happen," Heintz said Monday. "I'm not going to listen to 'impossible' or 'never' the next time someone says it. It took a lot to get it, but it happened."

Kilpatrick, who introduced the legislation authorizing the purchase of DeHoCo, and Law both spoke after the governor completed his remarks.

Quality. It's as important in diamonds as in anything else you own.

There's more to a diamond than meets the eye. And to understand the differences between diamonds is to understand the 4C's—Cut, Color, Clarity and Carat-weight. It's these 4C's that determine the value of a diamond.

The differences between diamonds are subtle indeed. But to people of discriminating taste, it's quality that makes the difference. Orin Jewelers is the expert where diamonds are concerned. And Orin's can show you high-quality diamonds in all sizes. They simply look better and will enhance your jewelry, no matter what the design.

SEV increase, school closings help district balance budget

By MICHELE M. FECHT

Savings from the closing of two schools coupled with an increase in the district's State Equalized Valuation will help Northville Public Schools balance its 1985-86 budget — with a slight surplus to boot.

While the $28,000 anticipated surplus in this year's $12.6 million budget hardly is a windfall for the school district, it is a pleasant surprise compared with an expected loss of more than $370,000.

An outline of the proposed budget was reviewed by the board of education following last week's Truth in Taxation hearing. Less than a handful of residents attended the public hearing required by the district in order to levy its total operating millage of 35.40 mills during the 1985-86 school year.

The proposed budget, outlined to trustees and administrators by John Street, director of business and finance, is scheduled for adoption at the board's meeting Monday night.

"This is a living document — it will change," said School Superintendent George Bell, noting that several budget areas (such as transportation) remain uncertain.

The proposed budget reflects a slight increase — $44,000 or 4 percent — in operating expenses with an increase of nearly $450,000 or 3.9 percent in revenue.

Among the areas of greatest savings to the district will be the closing of Moraine Elementary and Cooke Junior High.

"If we had not closed the two schools, the budget would have increased five percent," the superintendent noted.

Street told the board the estimated savings from the closing of the two schools will be approximately $400,000 from such areas as custodial/maintenance, school administration, teachers, interbuilding travel, etc.

In a detailed analysis of the cost savings that will result from closing the two facilities, Street said expenses at the two schools "normally" would be expected to increase by about $500,000.

While the projected savings are significant, Street included a contingency for Cooke and Moraine in relation to costs that may be incurred during the transition period this fall when Cooke is used for some high school classes and Moraine is converted to a child-care center. A $40,000 contingency was set aside for Cooke, with $20,000 for Moraine.

Street noted that while contingency costs combined with the unemployment expenses will lower the cost savings for 1985-86, the subsequent year's savings should be proportionately higher.

Street pointed out that "another important — though less visible — change" reflected in the proposed budget is energy conservation measures implemented with the sale of energy conservation notes.

Last August, the school district sold $1.5 million in Energy Conservation Improvement Notes under the authorization of Public Act 431.

Monies from the bond sale are being used to implement energy conservation measures in the school district's facilities. "Improvements made with these funds will provide moderate savings during the first several years, with larger gains expected in future years," Street noted.

Northville Schools Superintendent

Coupled with the energy improvements are other measures implemented under a cost savings committee brought together to control costs within the district.

Street also noted the self-insured medical program through Blue Cross-Blue Shield also is expected to save the district some $36,000 from the current year with greater savings anticipated in future years.

Other specific savings noted in the '85-86 budget include a decline in special education salaries due to more efficient use of personnel as a result of school closings. Office of Curriculum expenses also will decline through the loss of one position and a cut of 15 percent in other areas.

Two fewer principals next year will result in a savings of some $80,000.

The district also will save approximately $27,000 in capital outlay due to the use of bond issue dollars for equipment at the high school.

School board trustee Chris Johnson said that while he recognized the savings incurred by purchasing high school equipment through bond issue monies rather than capital outlay funds, he emphasized that such an arrangement is only a one-time situation and that future budgets must reflect a capital outlay allocation for high school improvements.

"I've seen what's happened in this district when zero dollars are allocated for capital outlay," he said. "I want to make sure it's put back in the budget."

Street told board members increases will take place in fiscal services due to an expected jump in insurance rates. He also noted that transportation costs will increase as more students will be bused next year. However, cost projections at this point still are tenuous.

Combined elementary, middle and high school expenses will increase about $75,962 — or 1.5 percent.

Additional operating expenses also include a 4.95 percent increase in base teacher salaries as a result of the increase in property taxes. The three-year teacher contract ratified last December stipulates that salaries increases will be contingent upon the district's SEV.

The 4.95 percent increase in the district's SEV marks the first time since the 1982-83 school year the district has seen additional revenues from the local taxing unit.

"I think it's significant to note that the district is getting to the point where one mill generates as much as in 1982-83," School Superintendent George Bell told the board.

In 1982-83, a mill generated approximately $315,000, he noted. Next year, one mill will equal $321,000.

"I hope this significant change is a trend for the future," Bell added.

According to Street, other local sources should remain steady except for interest earnings which will decline along with the depletion of energy conservation cash.

Intermediate sources are expected to decline because of changes in the application of indirect reimbursements to operation and maintenance costs.

Street also noted that state categorical funding, coupled with the recapture provision, "should optimistically rise by $150,000," in part due to underestimating for 1984-85 revenue.

Schoolcraft concerts slated

Two concerts of the Schoolcraft College Community Wind Ensemble are upcoming.

The wind ensemble's small brass group is scheduled to perform at the Livonia Arts and Crafts Fair this Saturday. The 2 p.m. performance will be at the Civic Center Park, Five Mile at Farmington. The ensemble consists of approximately 50 area musicians who enjoy performing quality concert band literature.

The college community wind ensemble is scheduled to perform at the Livonia Spree at 8 p.m. June 27 at Ford Field, Farmington at Lyndon in Livonia.

Performance reviews planned for department heads

By KEVIN WILSON

A formal employee evaluation for city department heads will be instituted within 60 days, city council determined Monday night.

At the recommendation of Mayor Paul Vernon, council decided to adopt procedures for performance reviews at six-month intervals for the non-union department heads.

"One area council may not have all the information it requires is in personnel," Vernon said. "To address that, I suggest we have the city manager do performance reviews for our key people, to be shared with council."

"We would advise the employees that they could ask for closed sessions when the reviews come before council," Vernon added. "We can't close those sessions on our own, but if the employee feels it is in their best interest to have it done in closed session, they can request that it be done that way."

He said the council review of department head performance "would keep us more fully informed."

Vernon suggested that a performance review system extended to all city employees would also make for more efficient management of personnel.

"I think it would have been very helpful, for example, in the replacement of (retired DPW foreman) Charlie Nichols," the mayor said. "That is a case where we have not promoted from within, but rather went outside to hire a new foreman. There were reasons, very good reasons, for that choice, but none were on paper."

City manager Steven Walters said he was prepared to implement reviews for the department heads within 60 days, and thought he could get the first reviews done for council presentation in July.

"One of the things that makes it fairly simple is that we don't have all that many department heads," Walters said.

Vernon said he thought the review should include all non-union, supervisory personnel in city hall. He added that he thought the city housing director should be included.

Walters noted that management authority over the housing director is contingent on the final draft of the department's bylaws, recently reviewed with council. Under the present system, Walters said, "I don't think there's any question" that the city manager and council have authority to evaluate the director. "It really kind of depends on where budget control lands in the final draft of the bylaws, he said.

Walters noted that the head librarian and recreation director would not be included in city performance evaluations, since both are employed in joint service arrangements between city and township and are reviewed by the library and recreation commissions, respectively.

New city clerk hiring pending reorganization

Appointment of a new city clerk to replace Joan McAllister will likely occur some time in July, city manager Steven Walters said Monday night.

McAllister recently resigned her Northville position to accept a similar posting in the city of Oak Park.

Walters said her job may not be filled "on a one-for-one basis," since other pending personnel changes present an opportunity to reorganize the structure of the city operation.

He noted that the clerk's role can vary widely from city to city, pointing out that as Northville clerk McAllister acted as recording secretary for the city council and planning commission, scheduling meeting agendas and keeping the minutes. In Oak Park, he said, those jobs are handled by the city manager's office.

"There are lot of different ways to structure things," he said. "In several cities, the clerk and the comptroller or finance director are the same person. In others, the clerk strictly handles record keeping, voter registration and elections."

"We had a staff meeting last week to try to figure out what we were going to do," Walters said. "And what we determined was that we have to figure out what we're going to do."

Appointment of a clerk is not critical, Walters said, until late July. Preparations for this November's city elections are not crucial until August, he said. Clerical employee Cathy Konrad kept the council minutes Monday night.

Metropark programs slated

Several events are upcoming at Kensington Nature Center and Farm Center at Kensington Metropark.

"Slop the Hogs," a program in which youngsters can help feed hogs and other farm animals, will be held at Kensington Farm Center at 4 p.m. Saturday.

"Crawlers, Jumpers and Fliers," a nature program, will be held at 1:30 p.m. Saturday at Kensington Metropark Nature Center. Participants should bring binoculars.

"Avian Adventure," a morning guided bird walk, will leave the center at 10 a.m. Sunday. Participants should bring binoculars.

"Introduction to Summer," a study of nature in the summer, will be presented at the center at 2 p.m. Sunday.

While programs are free, advance registration is required. Call toll free 1-800-552-6772. A vehicle entry permit is required.

South Main blossoms

Decorative tubs of marigolds, geraniums and other flowers are getting a final touch-up from Northville Beautification volunteers, from left, Tina Sellas, who headed volunteer arrangements for the Northville Branch, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association, Dianne Kuckenbecker, representing local Girl Scout volunteers, and Norma Vernon, who heads the beautification program for the city. Country Girls Branch of the WNFGA also assisted with the planting as did interested individuals. With the replacement last week of shrubs and trees that had not survived, the gardens in the boulevards along South Main are completed. In addition, about 60 tubs have been planted along Main and Center streets and in city park areas by volunteers. Record photo by Steve Fecht.

Calandro: Commission couldn't agree on prison site

By KEVIN WILSON

Choosing an Oakland County site for a state prison should be no great problem — so the state ought to go ahead and pick one.

That's the explanation Oakland County Commissioner John P. Calandro (R-Now) offered when asked why the commission declined the opportunity to designate a site.

In accordance with its procedures, the state department of corrections asked the county several months ago to designate a prison site, citing also the provision of the department's procedures that says if no site is designated locally within 90 days, the state will choose one without local input.

County executive Daniel Murphy quickly responded by suggesting conversion of Clinton Valley Center, an all-but-vacant mental health facility adjacent to the county's own jail in Pontiac.

When that recommendation met with stiff opposition from the Pontiac area, a committee was formed to examine all the potential sites in the county. Last week, the committee made a recommendation. But the county board of commissioners chose not to adopt that recommendation — or any other, bouncing the political hot potato of prison site selection back in the state's lap.

"It's regrettable in a way," said

'The state extended the responsibility, but not the authority.'

— John P. Calandro

Calandro, who represents Novi and the Oakland County portion of Northville. "There's no question a regional prison in the county will be needed. It boils down to the old credo: one does not extend responsibility without extending authority. The state extended the responsibility, but not the authority.

"The department of corrections left no doubt that the final decision would be theirs," he continued. "They made it very clear that our decision wasn't going to be binding, that they'd go ahead and pick whatever they thought was the best site anyway."

Calandro was among the commissioners who voted to pass the buck back to the state. He said it was the only alternative that had sufficient support to get the commission's approval.

"We were unable to reach a consensus," Calandro said, confiding that the issue was not divided on party lines, with both parties being split among the alternatives.

"There are really three feasible sites," he said. "Personally, I supported properties very, very close to the county site, whether Clinton Valley Center or another nearby position, if only because of the high cost of transporting prisoners nowadays."

He noted, in discussion with Northville City Council Monday, that Macomb County has tied in a $9 million expansion program for its county jail, adding that Oakland's county facility could also use expansion.

Prior to Monday's council meeting, he acknowledged that the issue was a tough one politically and that the decision has resulted in some criticism of the county board.

"The state really makes it awkward for us, puts us between a rock and a hard place," he said. "They come to us and say they want local input, but won't let us decide anything about it. Let us take the heat and . . ."

Recalling the department of corrections' list of requirements for a prison site, Calandro said he thinks it's likely the state will choose the Clinton Valley site.

"Go through each of the 15 criterion and there's really only one choice that meets them all," he said.

Asked why the county board couldn't make that choice, he said: "I don't think we could have gotten 14 votes for any of the alternatives."

Calandro pointed out that the original process began by identifying all public lands in the county, "which resulted in some pretty strange things being included." Land in Novi owned by the state department of transportation was eliminated from the list well before the committee got down to making a recommendation, he said.

Township endorses revised sewer plan

By KEVIN WILSON

If a revised sewer expansion/improvement program for Detroit and its suburbs can be put together, count Northville Township in.

After reviewing the latest proposal for what used to be called "super sewer," the board of trustees last week endorsed the plan contingent on assurances from the City of Detroit that it will cooperate and on the creation of an affordable financing plan.

Richard Hinshon, a Michigan DNR employee temporarily assigned to Wayne County in hopes of solving the sewer improvement dilemma, made a presentation for the township board very similar to one he gave for city council two weeks earlier.

Hinshon's stint with the county ends July 1 and he has been trying to get the 16 affected communities to agree to a basic sewer improvement plan, absent any form of financing arrangement.

"This seems to be a better way of going about it," said township supervisor Susan Heintz. "Put together a plan everyone can agree to, get the state and federal approvals, then try to get a financial agreement."

Heintz, chairman-elect of the Rouge River Watershed Council, said she felt a major failing of last year's plan was that much time and effort was expended getting all the communities to agree to a financing package, only to find out afterward that the basic plan was unacceptable to the federal EPA.

Rouge River pollution resulting from inadequate wastewater transportation systems bordering the river has recently been designated the top-priority water quality problem in the state. The EPA rejected an earlier improvement plan, stating that the DNR's report was inadequate to ensure that the program would actually solve the problem.

Hinshon said the revised plan has been designed to address the concerns expressed by EPA when it rejected last year's version. The one-year delay resulted in a potential federal funding loss of 20 percent of the cost. A new version of the legislation governing federal spending on local sewer projects might result in restoration of some of that funding, Hinshon told the township board.

Given DNR and EPA approvals, Hinshon said the project could probably be funded two or three years from now. He indicated that he has been lobbying for a state contribution that would make up the 20 percent federal funding lost during the delay, but has encountered political resistance from legislators who want to see DNR and EPA approvals of the project before committing money.

He said the approvals are virtually assured. "The only issue that appears to be a threat is an EPA fear of not knowing what other major project might be needed to improve water quality in the Rouge River," Hinshon said. "We've attempted to address that fear."

The report presented to the township board included proposed improvements not only in this area (known to sewer planners as the Huron Valley, even though the Rouge River is closer), and downstream in the Rouge valley, but also near Milford. Other areas designated for sewer changes or improvements are near Evergreen in northwest Detroit and southern Oakland County and near the Detroit wastewater treatment plant where the Rouge meets the Detroit River.

Update forthcoming on senior citizens village

By KEVIN WILSON

Look for some solid word regarding progress on the township's senior citizen village plan in the next few weeks.

That's the word attorney Bob Law brought to the township board of trustees last week.

Law, a former state representative and brother of current 36th District representative Gerald Law, is an attorney employed by the township for special projects, supervisor Susan Heintz told the board.

His latest assignments have been a study of issues surrounding the stalled senior village plan and of legal ramifications of the proposed sale of state-owned land at Plymouth Center for Human Development.

"A number of meetings have taken place between the township, the developer, the county EDC and the county in the past couple of months," Law told the trustees. "We should be hearing some definitive statements in the next few weeks — either the developer is going to get started, or it's not going to go. If it's not going to go, we'll work with (the county EDC) and try to take a new direction."

The decade-old proposal to construct senior citizen housing on the vacated grounds of the Wayne County Child Development Center appeared to be making progress last year with designation of Northville Elderly Development Company as the developer. The partnership formed specifically for the project has a contract to develop the 101-acre parcel through the county EDC.

Contract terms require construction to begin this year, but nothing has been done. The most recent public communication to the township indicated the firm was awaiting processing on applications for state and federal funding programs.

The firm's request for amendments to the zoning ordinance to allow market-rate apartments (not limited to senior citizens) on the site has been tabled for months at the developer's request.

City ponders proposal to restrict downtown parking

By KEVIN WILSON

Visitors to downtown Northville who customarily park cars for longer than one hour on Main or Center streets dodged a bullet Monday night when city council took no action to implement a DDA recommendation to restrict downtown parking.

Downtown employers, however, will soon see a letter from city council strongly suggesting that business owners and employees avoid parking on the streets and in the parking lot areas closest to the stores.

Mayor Paul Vernon explained that the DDA recommendation was a outgrowth of his mid-January appointment of a parking study committee (Del Black, Charles Freydl, Ed Jamieson and Bill Sliger) in response to continued complaints that some store owners and employees were leaving their cars in prime locations all day.

That committee made its report to the DDA February 20. By the time DDA reviewed, amended and forwarded the recommendations to council, it was June 17.

The committee summarized the problem as a "good news-bad news condition."

The good news was that the downtown renovation project, which included elimination of parking meters, has been effective in spurring an economic upturn "and attracted new customers, who now have difficulty finding convenient parking to shop locally."

"The Bad News," according to the report, "is that much of the cause of the difficulty is self-inflicted by merchants, their employees and renters of office space in the CBD. They arrive at work early, take advantage of day-long free parking spaces as close to their work doors as possible."

Five recommendations were in the report to council:

- Limit parking to one hour on Main and Center and on Mary Alexander Court in the Central Business District (CBD);

- A two-hour limit on "certain designated sections of the western and central parking lots";

- No time limits in the upper or lower deck of the parking structure, or the Wing-Cady-Center lot south of MAGS, or the majority of spaces in the western and central lots;

- Designation of certain parking spaces in the most remote sections of the lots for employees, employers and renters of the CBD with colored stickers to identify these people's cars;

- Strict enforcement of the parking regulations, likely including the addition of a parking enforcement officer to the city police department.

These five were supplemented by an assortment of suggestions about loading zones, signage, parking structure security and related issues.

Vernon opened the council discussion with strong support for the DDA recommendations.

Council member Carolann Ayers was first to object to the proposals, calling the heavy restrictions "overkill."

She suggested that shoppers downtown who stop for lunch at McKinnon's or Genitti's could easily spend much more than an hour in a Main Street or Center Street parking space.

"Let me get this straight — you've not had any complaints about customers, only about business owners and employees?" Ayers asked. Vernon said that was correct.

"So why penalize the shoppers to get to the merchants and employees?" she continued. "You're establishing a whole parking system to try to get at what, six specific people?"

Vernon said that was an inaccurate summation of his position.

"I really believe there will be more spaces for customers to park if we implement this," he said.

But the mayor softened his position when council member G. Dewey Gardner (proprietor of IV Seasons Flowers on Main Street) said the number of merchants and employees parking in the most accessible spaces has decreased significantly since word of the DDA recommendation began circulating "on the grapevine."

"I've been on both sides of this situation," said Gardner. "The problems aren't there today that were there four months ago — those people aren't there today. In one case, the business closed, in another they've moved from the parking spaces. I truthfully thought this was a dead issue until it showed up tonight."

Vernon seemed taken aback by Gardner's news.

"Everyone told us they had a problem — now you say there isn't a problem?" he said.

Gardner and Ayers stated additional concern that implementing the DDA recommendations would require many signs throughout the downtown advising drivers of the parking restrictions.

"We've got enough problems trying to keep the place (downtown) uncluttered as it is," Gardner said. "I'm really very concerned at the amount of signage this might require."

Ayers cited parking regulations in the City of Plymouth as a "confusing mess" she didn't want to see Northville duplicate. She specifically objected to the idea of placing different restrictions on various spaces within the same lot, citing Plymouth's use of colored paint lines to separate such areas.

"As a visitor, I know how confusing it is to drive into a lot and sit there in your car trying to decipher this enormous sign about how long you can park in the red zone, how long in the blue zone, then have to guess how long you'll be there and try to find the right spot," she said.

City manager Steven Walters said initial study of the DDA recommendations was leading city officials toward a similar determination.

"We were definitely thinking we'd have to go to a color system," he said.

Vernon suggested that, as an alternative to implementing the DDA recommendation, the city council "send a communication from council to the downtown businesses, explaining that this is a recommendation from the DDA but that council is reluctant to take these drastic measures."

The letter would further suggest that, if downtown workers cannot solve the problem on their own, the city would be forced to take action.

Noting that Ayers' greatest objections seemed to be directed at the one and two-hour restricted parking, Vernon also asked that the city police department be asked to review the other recommendations and suggest how they might be implemented.

Council followed Vernon's suggestions, ordering the drafting of a letter to business operators downtown and forwarding the report for police department review.

New township manager on job day after hiring

tee. In practice, only supervisor Susan Heintz asked any questions of the candidate, requesting details of his experiences as a fiscal analyst for a Pittsburgh city councilman and a policy analyst for the Pennsylvania House of Representatives.

Those jobs, which date to September 1984, were preceded by stints as an administrative intern for Upper St. Clair Township, Pennsylvania, and as student government president at Gannon University, Erie, Pennsylvania. He graduated from Gannon in May, 1983, with a bachelor of arts degree in political science.

A member of the American Society for Public Administration and a student member of the International City Management Association, Scacchitti's experience and studies have centered on statistics, finance and accounting, budgeting and fiscal analysis.

The motion to hire Scacchitti was made contingent on a police department criminal check and the establishment of a mutually-acceptable personal services contract.

Trustee Richard Allen, who served on the search committee, said he was "very satisfied that Bruno is a very well-qualified candidate."

In oblique reference to Record editorials critical of the hiring process, Henningsen commented sarcastically about "how I do everything behind closed doors." Heintz made a point of stating that: "I'd like to thank the search committee. I feel the process was professional and thorough."

Members of the committee, in addition to Henningsen and Allen, were trustee James Nowka, labor consultant

Richard Ambler, Kathy McNally and Margaret Tegge.

Henningsen noted the amount of time committee members spent sorting through applications, interviewing six candidates and narrowing the list of finalists to three before making their recommendation.

He noted that applications came from as far away as Wyoming and as near as the City of Northville in commending the committee's work.

"I'm proud of the people who served on that," Henningsen said. "They did a heck of a job."

Race drivers rev up their high hopes

By KEVIN WILSON

Two local racing drivers are gearing up to show their stuff in front of the influential automotive powers filling the stands for Detroit Grand Prix IV this weekend.

Tim Evans and Gary Watson will drive in two different supporting events — races that fill out the schedule surrounding the main Formula One Grand Prix contest.

Evans, as he was last year, is entered in the Trans Am — a 100-mile race dominated by American production-based racers scheduled Saturday afternoon. The Brookland Farms resident will drive a Pontiac Fiero for the Buist/Syfert Racing Team of Birmingham. He'll also be behind the wheel of the Ford Thunderbird pace car for the Grand Prix itself.

Watson will take to the track in the Sunday morning race for Sports Renault cars, immediately preceding the Grand Prix race. The Sports Renault race features identical cars, thereby emphasizing driver skill. The first professional race ever conducted for the class was a feature of last year's Detroit Grand Prix.

Evans, sixth-place finisher in last year's Trans Am when he drove a Pontiac Firebird, returns to the downtown streets in the smaller, mid-engined Fiero. The event marks the first time Evans will drive the car in competition.

"I'm going to pray for rain," he said Monday, noting that the Fiero's four-cylinder powerplant, even in racing trim, can't hope to compete with the big V-8s of the larger Mercury Capris, Firebirds and Chevy Camaros that make up most of the field. "A little rain would cut into their power advantage some."

The little two-seater will likely be a tight wrap around Evans' 6-foot-5 frame, but the car's small size may prove an advantage on the tight Detroit track.

"The car handles beautifully," Evans said. "It should be more competitive on a tight street circuit than at some of the other tracks."

The Trans Am is the event that draws celebrity-driver Paul Newman to the circuit to pilot a Nissan turbocharged racer. Another turbo car, a Porsche 944, is also expected to be among the front runners.

An equipment disparity won't be a factor for Gary Watson, though. The 50-mile Lucas Sport Renault race that precedes the Grand Prix Sunday morning is similar to one-design sailboat racing in that all the cars are built identically. The winner is determined by thorough preparation of the basic car and pure driving skill.

The Sports Car Club of America (SCCA) established the class as an entry-level opportunity to drive $10,000 cars designed for racing. Strict controls over the 1.7-liter Renault Alliance powerplants and the designation of a single tire make (Goodyear Eagles) are intended to keep competition equal and costs down.

Watson, 32, began racing the mid-engined sports racing cars in April at amateur events. His previous experience was in "showroom stock" races in 1979-80. Since climbing into a Sport Renault he's been a consistent top-10 finisher in races at venues such as Blackhawk Farms outside Chicago, Indianapolis Raceway Park, and nearby Waterford Hills.

This weekend's race will be the first professional event for the Novi resident on Greening Court. There's a $20,000 purse to be spread among the first-through-fifteenth place finishers. The money has drawn nearly 60 entries for the race, which is the first of a four-event series in the Midwest.

Watson said he intends to run all four events. There are other series in the West and East, the top drivers to meet in October in Atlanta.

The Ford Motor paint process engineering supervisor (he works at the Wixom assembly plant) has lined up Glasurit America, a division of BASF that is an industrial paint supplier, as a sponsor for his weekend adventure. Watson's crew consists of his wife Carol, her brother Bill Stewart of Inkster, Stewart's friend Beth Ma of Novi and Richard Watson, the driver's father. Stewart is the chief mechanic, Ma's eight-year-old daughter Cattie the head cheerleader, Watson explained.

"I plan to win," said Watson, acknowledging that he won't know how competitive he is until practice begins. With money at stake, the field is going to be a lot tougher than those Watson has faced in amateur events.

"I went down the entry list and picked out 10 names of drivers who have won (SCCA amateur) national championships," he said. "The rest of them, I don't know anything about."

It's likely, though, that they'll have the same motivation Watson and Evans see — getting the attention of the some of the powers-that-be in motor racing who gather in Detroit each June. "The opportunity at the Grand Prix is primarily exposure," Watson said. "Whatever scouts or sponsors that're out there will be watching for talent."

The following Ordinance was introduced and adopted as an emergency ordinance by the Charter Township of Northville Board of Trustees at their meeting of June 13, 1985.

ORDINANCE NO. 85

Charter Township of Northville, Wayne County, Michigan.
AN ORDINANCE ENACTED PURSUANT TO ACT NO. 366, PUBLIC ACTS OF 1984, AS AMENDED, TO AUTHORIZE CERTAIN PUBLIC SERVANTS OTHER THAN POLICE OFFICERS, TO ISSUE AND SERVE APPEARANCE TICKETS WITH RESPECT TO PARTICULAR CLASSES OF OFFENSES OF LESS THAN FELONY GRADE AND TO REPEAL ALL ORDINANCES, OR PARTS THEREOF, IN CONFLICT WITH ITS PROVISIONS.

THE CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF NORTHVILLE ORDAINS:

PART I. Purpose

Pursuant to the provisions of Act No. 366, Public Acts of 1984, as amended, being Section 764.9c of the Michigan Compiled Laws, the provisions of PART II are hereby enacted for the purpose of authorizing certain public servants of the Charter Township of Northville, other than police officers, to issue and serve appearance tickets with respect to particular classes of offenses of less than felony grade, and to provide for repealing all ordinances, or parts thereof, in conflict with this Ordinance.

PART II. Section 1. Appointment of Public Servants to Issue and Serve Appearance Tickets.

The following public servants are hereby appointed and authorized to issue and serve appearance tickets in the Charter Township of Northville with respect to certain offenses of less than felony grade: (1) The Northville Township Building Official and his designated assistants, (2) the Northville Township Ordinance Enforcement Officer and his designated assistants, and (3) The Northville Township Dog Control Officer and his designated assistants.

Section 2. Appointment or Revocation of Authority by Board.

The Board of Trustees of the Charter Township of Northville is hereby authorized and may by resolution, appoint or authorize any additional public servant or servants to issue and serve appearance tickets as it may from time to time deem reasonable and proper. The Board of Trustees may further, in its sole discretion and by resolution, revoke the authority of any public servant or servants, including those enumerated herein, to issue and serve appearance tickets.

Section 3. Duties

The duties of those public servants who are authorized to issue and serve appearance tickets shall include, but not be limited to, the following: Investigation of violations of ordinances of the Charter Township of Northville; service of Notice of such violations; issuance and service of appearance tickets as authorized under Chapter IV of Act No. 175, Public Acts of 1927, as amended; appearance in court or other judicial proceedings to assist in the prosecution of ordinance violators; and such other ordinance-enforcing duties as may be delegated by the Township Supervisor or assigned by the Township attorney.

Section 4. Saving Clause

The provisions of the within Ordinance are hereby declared to be severable and the invalidation of any one or more of the same by any judicial determination or statutory or constitutional provision shall not invalidate the remainder of said provisions of Ordinance.

Section 5. Effective Date

This Ordinance is hereby declared to be necessary on an emergency basis and accordingly it shall take effect immediately upon publication. All ordinances of the Township of Northville heretofore or hereafter adopted shall hereafter be supplemented by the terms of the within Ordinance.

PART III. Adoption

This ordinance was duly adopted by the Township Board of the Charter Township of Northville at its regular meeting called and held on the 13th day of June, A.D. 1985, and ordered to be given publication in the manner prescribed by law.

Obituaries

EMMA (CARRIE) FOREMAN

Emma (Carrie) Foreman, a lifelong resident of the area, died June 12 at Whitmore Lake Convalescent Home at the age of 88.

Mrs. Foreman was a life member of Orient Chapter No. 77, Order of Eastern Star in Northville and a member of Salem Bible Church.

A homemaker, Mrs. Foreman was a member of the family that operates Foreman Orchards on Seven Mile.

She was born July 8, 1896, in Addison Township to Archibald and Anna (Brady) Johnson. She married Ralph F. Foreman who preceded her in death in June 1975.

She was the mother of Mrs. Pauline Mitchell of Northville Township, Louis F. Foreman of Gregory, Michigan, and Ralph F. Foreman of Northville Township and the sister of Madeline Davis and Wade Johnson, both of Pontiac. She had seven grandchildren and eight great grandchildren.

Funeral service was at 11 a.m. Friday at Casterline Funeral Home with Mr. John Nirdlinger of Canton Township officiating. Burial was in Thayer Cemetery in Northville Township.

DONALD P. BOOR

Funeral services for Northville resident Donald P. Boor are being held at 1 p.m. today. Mr. Boor died June 16 at his home on Amboy Court. He was 64.

Dr. William Mercer of First United Methodist Church of Dearborn is officiating at the service at Howe-Peterson Funeral Home, 22546

Michigan, Dearborn. Burial will be in Acacia Park Cemetery in Birmingham.

Mr. Boor who came to the community in the early 1960s was a steel company sales manager. He was a U.S. Army veteran of World War II.

He was born July 16, 1920, in Michigan to W. Paul and Melvina (Wertz) Boor.

He leaves six children, Kenneth, David, Douglas, Bruce, Mrs. Carlos (Kristen) Zaldivar and Mrs. Paul (Joan) Medenbach, a sister Mrs. William (Dorothy) Clements, his mother Mrs. Melvina Boor and three grandchildren.

VICTORIA NATION

Victoria Nation, mother of Mrs. John (Janice) Grindrod of Novi, died June 13 at Botsford General Hospital at the age of 79.

A resident of Brooklyn, Michigan, Mrs. Nation was born December 25, 1905, in Uniontown, Pennsylvania.

A homemaker, she was the wife of Otto R. Nation, who survives.

In addition to her husband and daughter, Mrs. Nation leaves grandchildren Christopher, Daryl and Kerry of Novi.

Graveside services were held June 14 at Acacia Park Cemetery with the Reverend Richard J. Henderson of Faith Community Presbyterian Church in Novi officiating.

The family suggests that memorial contributions may be made to the Michigan Heart Fund. Arrangements were by Ross B. Northrop and Son Funeral Home in Northville.

Vacation Bible Schools set

Vacation Bible School will be held from 9:30 a.m. until noon from June 24-28 at First Baptist Church of Northville, 217 North Wing.

Children who are pre-kindergarten age though those who have just completed sixth grade are eligible to attend. Bible stories, games, puppets, hand-crafts, contests and refreshments are planned. Children are invited to "come and bring a friend."

Children entering kindergarten through sixth grade are invited to attend a First Methodist Vacation Church School Jerusalem Marketplace from 9:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. June 25 through 27 at the church on Eight Mile at Taft.

They will experience village life in Bible times, baking bread, weaving, doing carpentry and visiting the "synagogue."

Chairperson Sue Nix reports that the marketplace will be set up outdoors in the natural setting of the church. Shops will be under tents and the well in the center of the marketplace is to be the site of many happenings.

Thursday evening the family of participants will be taking part in a celebration festival, including a small cluster family picnic with typical Bible foods and a worship service.

A Vacation Church School Marketplace began Tuesday morning at First Presbyterian Church with children from age four through fifth grade participating.

The youngsters are "experiencing the world of 29 A.D.," the church reports, gathering at the well, baking bread, being a part of one of the tribes of Israel and perhaps meeting a friendly beggar or an ambitious tax collector.

'Family Fun Day' planned Sunday

This Sunday, travelers along Hines Drive from Wilcox Lake down to Newburgh won't be in their cars.

The reason? A "Family Fun Day" is being hosted by the Wayne County Department of Parks and Recreation. Between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. Sunday, the Middle Rouge Parkway will be closed from Newburgh to Northville roads.

The event, park officials say, is the result of overwhelming citizen response to the recent May Activity Day held in the parkway.

On Sunday, families will be able to cycle, run or walk in a safe, unobstructed parkway.

As a special highlight, Wayne County Parks will be one of six sites for the 1985 "Walk Michigan" program. Each participant who walks at least one mile June 23 will be entered into a drawing with a regional winner receiving an expense-paid trip for two to the Labor Day Walk across the Mackinac Bridge. This program is being coordinated with Blue Cross/Blue Shield and the Michigan Recreation and Park Association.

Planned children's activities for the day include a "Big Wheel Grand Prix," a "Bike Olympics" for kids of all ages, both at Haggerty and Hines Drive at noon. A 12:30 p.m. "Diaper Derby" for infants, who will crawl from one parent to the other, may also be added.

Parking for activities will be on Hines Drive between Northville and Wilcox Lake, and also at Haggerty and Hines Park Drive.

For additional information on any of the Sunday activities, contact Vic Chaisson, chief of recreation for the Wayne County Department of Parks and Recreation at 261-1990.

Class of '85 takes bow

One of the highlights of this year's commencement was the presentation of the second Distinguished Alumnus Award by NHS principal David Bolitho. This year's recipient Dr. Russell M. Atchison, a family physician in Northville for nearly 50 years and a 1928 graduate of Northville High School, told the commencement audience "It is indeed a distinguished honor to be able to be recognized by the place in which you started."

The 74-year-old physician then relayed one of his experiences in high school which had a profound impact on his life and future career.

He noted that when he was in the eighth grade — which was then part of the high school — he had his first contact with the Palmer Method of penmanship.

"Regardless of what I did, I could not get my circles round and my straight lines looked like picket fences in the wind," he told the audience.

"My teacher told me there is only one solution — 'you must become a doctor,'" Dr. Atchison said. "So I became a doctor and that lady became one of my patients."

To the surprise of everyone — including school officials — Dr. Atchison then presented his former eighth grade teacher Lillian Rakestraw with a dozen roses.

Mrs. Rakestraw, a Northville native whose teaching career spanned nearly four decades, said the recognition took her by surprise.

"I thought I was going to sit with the other teachers," the 82-year-old former teacher related. "I was horrified when I had to get up by the podium."

Mrs. Rakestraw was not the only one to receive a gift from this year's distinguished alumnus. Dr. Atchison also returned to the school district a trophy given to the Northville Exchange Club in 1927.

Holding his faded high school letters (which he kept inside the silver cup), Atchison noted: "If you in the Class of '85 keep yours until 2042, they'll be as old as these."

"I just hope they don't have as many moth holes."

Another surprise at this year's commencement was the presentation of a diploma to University of Michigan student John Bertagnolli.

The former NHS student left the district as a junior last year to enter U-M's Young Scholars Program for exceptional students.

Bertagnolli, who advanced beyond the NHS curriculum, did not receive a diploma with other members of the Class of '84.

"I told him before he got his diploma he had to prove successful in his freshman year at U-M," Principal David Bolitho told the audience.

Needless to say, Bertagnolli proved very successful in his first year in college — and finally received that coveted diploma

Police Blotters

City police report weekend break-ins

In the city . . .

Northville City Police were kept busy the morning of June 11 as calls began coming in reporting break-ins, attempted break-ins and larcenies in Northville Estates subdivision. The first arrived eight minutes before midnight on June 10. By the time the final report was made June 13, police had logged 10 complaints, with hardly anything taken.

Most involved rummaging of glove boxes in parked cars. All reports are under investigation.

Initial report was from a Dunsany resident who reported at 11:52 p.m. June 10 he found the door of his 1982 Pontiac open as well as his garage door. It appeared the glove box of the vehicle had been rummaged through but nothing taken.

At 3:18 a.m. June 11 police received a report from Chigwidden residents of a break in. The woman said she had gotten up to let her cat, who was howling, in and saw the lower level grade door open as well as the garage door. The glove compartment of their Cadillac was open.

A purse containing a wallet was reported missing from the kitchen table. In investigating the complaint police discovered the purse with contents scattered on the ground behind bushes in the yard. A flashlight that the residents reported had been moved to a different location was taken to be checked for fingerprints.

At 7:09 a.m. June 11 a report was received of larceny from a motor van parked on Silchester Court. The contents of the glove compartment had been scattered and the horn ring removed but nothing was taken.

At 7:32 a.m. a Chigwidden resident reported that a phone had been removed from the console of a car parked in his garage. The transmitter in the trunk was not taken. According to the telephone company, police said, the phone alone is useless.

At 9:33 a.m. June 11 an attempted breaking and entering was reported by a South Chigwidden resident, who noticed the windows on the southwest side of the home had been tampered. Screens on two dining room windows and a kitchen window had been removed, but nothing was missing.

At 9:42 a.m. June 11 police received the report of a break-in at a residence on Stanstead. An unlocked vehicle parked in the driveway contained a garage door opener which apparently was used to open the garage door. The glove compartment in the vehicle parked in the garage was open. A cassette had been removed from the stereo and left on the seat.

Entry to the home was through a door in the garage. A purse the resident thought was left on an end table in the living room was reported missing.

An officer responding to the report of a neighbor found the missing purse in the east part of that yard.

At 10:50 a.m. June 11 an attempted breaking and entering was reported at an East Chigwidden house by a worker who had come to mow the lawn. A screen was removed and a window damaged. The house, which is sold, was being secured until new owners occupy it.

At 5:56 p.m. June 11 police received a report that the glove boxes of two vehicles, one parked in the driveway and the other in the garage of a home on Summerside, had been rummaged with nothing taken.

At 7:20 p.m. June 11 a Stanstead resident reported the doors of a Volkswagen open and the contents of the glove box scattered on the seat of the vehicle.

Final report, which the resident filed late, was received June 13. A resident of Dunsany reported the glove boxes of two vehicles parked in the garage had been rummaged.

Police were called to the scene of a hit-and-run accident at 10:43 p.m. June 13 at Eight Mile and Taft. Driver of a vehicle eastbound on Eight Mile, the complaint stated, crossed over and struck a westbound vehicle and then fled north on Taft.

Ruby Roudabush of Northville, driver of the westbound vehicle, was taken to St. Mary Hospital by CEMS where she was treated and released.

Another accident in the same area on Eight Mile was also reported. Judy Lynn Hoynes of Livonia told police she believed her car was not running properly and pulled onto the shoulder on Eight Mile near Lexington. It appeared all right and she pulled back onto Eight Mile but said she did not see the second vehicle being driven westbound by Rosemary Harrigan of Chigwidden and pulled out and hit it. Harrigan was taken by her husband to Woodland Medical Center for treatment.

Police received the report that an automobile parked in the south parking lot of apartments on Taft had a window shattered by a rock. The report was made June 16.

Also on June 16 police received reports that a window had been broken with a rock at Amerman School. Seven windows also were reported broken at Cooke Junior High. The report indicated that a heavy object, such as a club, may have been used as the windows were heavy and no rock was seen. Damage was estimated at $505.

Larceny of a new mower from the rear entryway of a shop on East Main was reported to police at 1:10 p.m. Monday. The owner said it had been purchased for his father and was left temporarily in the entryway. He discovered it missing a couple of hours after placing it there.

. . . in the township

T-tops valued at $500 were stolen off a 1980 Corvette parked at Tanger School on Five Mile sometime between 7:30 and 11:15 a.m. June 13, township police report.

The complainant told police that unknown person(s) smashed the driver's door window to gain entry to the vehicle.

The vehicle was left unlocked. Damage to the window was estimated at $150.

Local Jaycee wins prize

Northville Jaycees presented Doug Ritter with a check for $100 which he earned as winner of the Magic Ride held by Jaycees June 1 in Holt, Michigan, to raise funds for treatment and prevention programs against child abuse.

Ritter, past-president and a 12-year member of the Canton Jaycees, rode the entire 100 miles of the Magic Ride, raising $452 for the project.

The Jaycees report the ride was "extremely successful." About 500 riders had been anticipated, but 900 showed up. While final figures are not in, the Jaycees estimate that a total of $50,000 was raised.

Airline openings

Schoolcraft College's career planning and placement office reports it has information of flight attendant positions with New York Air.

Those interested are requested to stop by the office in the Waterman Campus Center at 18600 Haggerty for more information.

Register now for story hour

Registration continues for Northville Public Library's summer preschool story hour open to children 3½ to 5 years old who have not yet started kindergarten. Story times will be held in the library at 10:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. on Tuesdays July 2-23.

Registration is necessary since enrollment is limited. Stop by the library or call 349-3020 to register your child.

Cheerleader car wash is Saturday

Cheerleaders at Northville High School will be scrubbing cars from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday in the parking lot on Center behind Detroit Federal Savings and Loan offices in a free car wash. The cheerleaders have collected pledges to help raise funds to attend cheerleading camp the end of July.

CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF NORTHVILLE ORDINANCE NO. 77.02' 85

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND THE CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF NORTHVILLE ZONING ORDINANCE BY AMENDING THE TEXT THEREOF: THE CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF NORTHVILLE ORDAINS:

PART I. The Charter Township of Northville Zoning Ordinance No. 77, as amended, is hereby further amended by amending Article II, Article IV, and Article V.

A.) Article II, Section 2.2 Definitions by deleting No. 27 and 28 defining "site-built" and "manufactured" dwellings.

B.) Article IV, Section 4.1 Principal Uses Permitted to read as follows:

1. One-family detached dwelling units.
a. One-family detached dwelling units shall:
(1) Conform to all applicable Township codes and ordinances. In the case of a mobile home, all construction, plumbing and electrical apparatus, and insulation within and connected to said mobile home shall be of a type and quality conforming to the "Mobile Home Construction and Safety Standards" as promulgated by the United States Department of Housing and Urban Development, being 24 CFR 3280, and as from time to time such standards may be amended. Additionally, all minimum requirements for roof snow load and strength shall be met.

(2) Be permanently attached to a perimeter foundation.
(3) Be provided with exterior finish materials similar to one-family dwellings on adjacent properties or, if no such dwellings exist, then to one-family dwellings in the surrounding R-1, R-2 or R-3 Districts.

(4) Be provided with roof designs and roofing materials similar to one-family dwellings on adjacent properties or, if no such dwellings exist, then to one-family dwellings in the surrounding R-1, R-2 or R-3 Districts.

(5) Have a minimum width of twenty (20) feet on at least two sides within any single vertical plane.

(6) Have an overhang or eave as required by the building code of residential dwellings or similar to one-family dwellings on adjacent properties or, if no such dwellings exist, then to one-family dwellings in the surrounding R-1, R-2 or R-3 Districts.

(7) Be provided with an exterior building wall configuration which represents an average width to depth or depth to width ratio which does not exceed three (3) to one (1) or is in reasonable conformity with the configuration of similar one-family dwellings on adjacent properties or, if no such dwelling exist, then to one-family dwellings in the surrounding R-1, R-2 or R-3 Districts.

b. Procedures:

(1) Applications for one-family detached dwelling units shall be submitted to the Building Inspector who may require the applicant to furnish such plans, photographs, elevations and similar documentation as deemed necessary to permit a complete review and evaluation of the proposal.

(2) In reviewing any such proposed dwelling unit with respect to items 1.a. (1) through 1.a. (7) above, architectural variation shall not be discouraged but reasonable compatibility with the character of residential dwelling units shall be provided, thereby protecting the economic welfare and property value of surrounding residential areas and of the Township at large.

(3) Should the Building Inspector find that any such dwelling unit does not conform with all of the above conditions and standards, the proposal shall be denied. The applicant or an affected property owner may appeal the Building Inspector's decision by requesting a public hearing before the Planning Commission. Notice of such hearing shall be given in accordance with Section 17.8 Public Hearings, of this ordinance. Any such public hearing shall be held by the Planning Commission who shall then forward a copy of its findings and recommendations to the Township Board for final action.

C. Article IV. By Deleting paragraph 7 of Section 4.2 Uses Subject to Special Conditions.

D. Article IV By changing paragraph 8 to be paragraph 7.

E. Article V By changing paragraph 2 of Section 5.1 Principal Uses Permitted (multiple-family) to read as follows:

(2). Multiple-family or two-family dwellings subject to the conditions of Section 4.1, paragraph 1. Where reference is made to the R-1 through R-3 Districts in said paragraph 1, characteristics of any adjacent RM-1 District shall also be considered.

F. Article V By deleting paragraph 5 of Section 5.3 Uses Permitted Subject to Special Conditions.

G. Article V By changing paragraph 6 to paragraph 5.

PART II. CONFLICTING PROVISIONS REPEALED.

Any Ordinance or parts of ordinances in conflict herewith are repealed save that in all other respect Ordinance No. 77, as amended, is hereby ratified and reaffirmed.

PART III. EFFECTIVE DATE.

The provisions of this ordinance shall be in full force and effective on and after July 19, 1985.

PART IV. ADOPTION:

This ordinance was adopted by the Township Board of the Charter Township of Northville pursuant to the authority of Act No. 184, Public Acts of 1943, as amended, at a meeting duly called and held on the 13th day of July A.D., 1985, and ordered to be given publication in the manner prescribed by law.

RUBBING ALCOHOL HAZARD

Most people are aware that rubbing alcohol can be poisonous when taken by mouth. Fewer individuals realize that rubbing alcohol can be hazardous even when applied to the skin. Parents should be especially alert to the danger of using alcohol rubs to reduce fever.

The problems with rubbing alcohol are usually not associated with its absorption through the skin. When rubbing alcohol (either ethyl or isopropyl) is applied to the skin, rapid evaporation produces a cooling effect. Fever will be reduced — but not without danger. The alcohol vapor that is produced may be inhaled. Intoxication can occur where there is little ventilation (the typical bedroom?) or when children are small. Coma in children is a serious, but fortunately rare, occurrence.

Most child-health authorities strongly discourage alcohol to reduce body temperatures. Rather, they suggest baths in lukewarm water or simple sponging with water. Water has none of the danger associated with rubbing alcohol and provides moisture to often-dry tissues in the mouth, throat, and nose. Water is odorless, is just about free, and will not excessively dry the skin. Best of all, water is safe.

Our Opinion

Open evaluations are a public right

It is interesting to note that while Novi has placed the "keep out" sign on its evaluation process for its school superintendent, the Northville Board of Education has maintained an open door policy allowing public access to its review of the district's top administrator.

We might be better able to address the contrast in the two philosophies toward evaluating chief executives if there were vast dissimilarities between the Northville and Novi school districts. Aside from their different county jurisdictions, the two school districts share nearly identical enrollments and budgets, maintain highly regarded educational programs and have strong, competent leadership in their respective superintendents.

Both Robert Piwko and George Bell share solid working relationships with their school boards and — more importantly — have earned the respect and trust from the communities they serve. In the case of George Bell, there is no question that his performance as superintendent has more than met the expectations of the Northville Board of Education as indicated by his third evaluation as superintendent. Discussion at his performance review indicated not only that the superintendent had fulfilled the job required but also gave the public insight into long-range goals for the district.

While it appears that Robert Piwko also rated high on his evaluation this year, the four-paragraph summation of his four-hour performance review did little more than provide a numerical rating of 4.75 and a statement that he attained the "mutually agreed upon goals for the 1984-85 school year."

Without having access to the review, the public has no idea what criteria the board used in rating the superintendent. There also are no clearly defined "weaknesses" and "strengths." While a 4.75 rating on a scale of 5.0 scale indicates that the superintendent has performed to the board's expectations, we do not know what areas need improvement or where he has exceeded the board's requirements. Though we assume he has fulfilled the job required by attaining mutually agreed upon goals, such a statement is meaningless without knowing what specific goals and objectives were met.

As one Northville school board trustee pointed out, the annual evaluation of the superintendent is an assessment of the entire district. By maintaining open evaluations, the Northville school board and the district's chief executive continue to show a commitment toward serving the public's interest. By being privy to the performance review of the superintendent, the community has had the advantage of knowing what will come down the pike and being reassured that the administration is above board in its handling of district operations.

While the topic of open superintendent's evaluations warranted discussion back in March when the Novi Board of Education reviewed its chief executive, postponing comment until now only has reinforced our support for keeping the doors open at evaluation time.

For more years than we can remember, the Novi school board has evaluated its superintendent in the company of only its immediate members. This year's evaluation, held behind closed doors at the Sheraton Oaks, was no exception. While last year's passage of an amendment to the Michigan Open Meetings Act (Public Act 276, 1976) made it perfectly legal for public officials such as school superintendents to "request" closed evaluations, such a measure made little difference in Novi's handling of the chief executive's review. As past practice indicates, the school district has had little regard for the letter of the law — not to mention its spirit.

While the newspaper may have been remiss in not taking the Novi School Board to task over its past violations of the open meetings act, we believe the time has come for the district to reconsider its handling of the evaluation process.

While many will argue that public officials should not have to face public scrutiny in their performance review and that such action is an invasion of privacy, it should be pointed out that school superintendents oversee multi-million dollar districts largely funded by local tax dollars. With that being the case, public access clearly outweighs the advantages offered the official who requests a closed evaluation.

Others have indicated that open evaluations can be disruptive to the community should board members air concerns in the public domain. We also have heard the complaint that open evaluations inhibit the two parties from freely discussing the business at hand. In our opinion, such arguments clearly indicate the need to keep the doors open.

The Novi school board should consider the evaluation process used by its neighboring district. Disregard for the public's interests in overseeing the procedure surely is not in keeping with Novi's otherwise strong community relations.

With "1" being unacceptable and "5" being outstanding, the two school districts clearly are at opposite ends of the scale in their evaluations of the two superintendents. It is our hope that Novi will work toward making the grade when next year's review rolls around.

Diversity among dads

by Pat Bowling

"Does anybody know what day it is?" the minister asked the large group of children sitting at his feet. "Father's Day!" they offered eagerly. "Of course. And what do you do on Father's Day?" One enthusiastic youngster didn't hesitate in answering: "You buy your dad some aftershave and tell him how much you love him."

I laughed and envisioned the lineup of never-opened bottles of cologne and aftershave that used to line the sink in my parents' bathroom. As the minister continued his children's sermon, I pondered some additional thoughts spurred by his Father's Day discussion with the youngsters.

Three people came to mind, the first being my own father. My recollections are of a man I hardly knew, who worked long hours to give his family the things he felt were important. Of course, that his work was for my sisters and myself never occurred to me at age 12 or 13. I only knew that his time was spent on things that didn't interest me much as a little girl, primarily his job — and one hobby, electronics.

He built all our television sets from kits, each one a weekend and evening project lasting many months. He also assembled a fine stereo system over the years, adding components one by one. My sisters and I never took much interest in that "hands-off" system — until we started dating.

It became a matter of routine: Bring a guy home and show him dad's stereo system. We could just about be assured a second date. As I watched their eyes light up at the sight of all the paraphernalia behind those cabinet doors, I began to realize how frustrating it must have been for my father at times to have had three daughters.

He died shortly after his 43rd birthday, leaving behind three teenage girls. Their interests took all three in different directions, one a nurse, one a journalist and the third an accomplished pianist. I can't help but wonder what he would think of his three daughters on this Father's Day.

The second person that comes to mind is someone who filled in as surrogate father more than he probably realized. He was always there, interested in everything my sisters and I did. He drove us to basketball games, gave us nicknames, provided glowing references for scholarships and summer jobs and shared with us his unwavering Christian faith.

"Mr. P," my best friend's father, watched all three of us grow up and leave home, just as he did his own three daughters. Appropriately, his most memorable comment on my wedding day was the one he made to my new husband: "You take care of her," he directed sternly. I can't help but feel enormous affection for him on this Father's Day.

A third person occupies my thoughts for awhile this morning. He likes to call me his favorite daughter-in-law. That I happen to be his only daughter-in-law doesn't diminish the compliment a bit as far as I'm concerned.

My father-in-law works harder than anyone I've ever known. My husband reminds me that his father's wants in life are simple: "A place to work and a place to live." Even these have not always been easy to come by, but that certainly has not daunted his unyielding faith and optimism in life.

All three of these people make Father's Day worth remembering — although I'm sure they won't mind if I skip the aftershave.

Hats off!

After the fact

By PHILIP JEROME

I have good news for those of you who are tired or bored of reading about my wife, her cats or my prowess at Ms. Pac Man.

I have been assured by allegedly informed sources that one topic will dominate this space over the next three to six months — and it has nothing to do with wives, cats or video games.

My wife and I have decided to build an addition to our palatial abode. And everyone I know tells me the months ahead will be an experience I will not soon forget.

My sister-in-law told me as late as Sunday that the addition will generate plenty of column material during the summer . . . fall . . . winter, and probably into next spring. "But it probably won't be funny," she said.

I ordinarily pay close attention to advice offered by others. And everybody who has ever put an addition on their home seems to offer words of warning and a list of horror stories.

To heck with them. The die is cast. The decision has been made. Damn the torpedoes, full speed ahead. We're going to build that addition.

The thing is that in all probability I have passed the midpoint of my life. You know, more years behind me than ahead of me. "As the days dwindle down to a precious few . . . November, December." And all that jazz.

And I'm tired of living in squalor. The time has come to spend some of the hard-earned money I hope to accumulate in the years ahead. If I don't accumulate it in the years ahead, the bank will begin hiring collection agencies which will begin hiring thugs to hound my footsteps . . . encourage me to take a second job . . . seek a more profitable line of work.

So far, the results have been mixed. The architect was a nice enough chap, but we learned early on that "next week" means "next month." The only thing that arrived promptly was the bill.

And now we're about to mortgage the rest of our lives to the bank. Fortunately, the builder also seems like a nice fellow. And, unlike the architect, he's been very punctual in keeping his appointments thus far.

Still, the words of my sister-in-law ring through my head. Stay tuned. This could be interesting.

Change of name at NRPH argued

To the Editor:
I don't know where Mr. Sherman got his information or rather misinformation.

There are many Northville residents that work at N.R.P.H. (Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital) and many that have retired from there.

Those that work at N.R.P.H. but do not reside here do contribute. They buy here, and eat in the restaurants. If you doubt me, ask the merchants. N.R.P.H. has been on Seven Mile before you came to Northville. I see no reason to change the name.

In the past there have been unpleasant headlines linked to the City of Northville. We did not try to change the name of the city. We are made of stronger fiber than that.

We that were born and raised here feel that 17 years' residence is rather like a newcomer.

Lorraine Steimel
N.R.P.H. employee Lifetime resident of Northville

To the Editor:
Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital is as much a part of this community as Northville Downs or Northville Charley's.

Rather than writing your political representatives urging elimination of "Northville" from the name of the facility as suggested by one letter writer, would it not be better to write your representative expressing your moral and financial support for a mental health system that has adequate staff and competent management?

Can we really believe we are a "beautiful and gentle community" while tolerating the misery and suffering that is so much a part of Northville Hospital as management continues to shirk its responsibilities and blame its employees?

I thank your reporter, Kevin Wilson, for his insightful article on this subject and wholeheartedly agree that eliminating Northville from the name of the facility serves no other purpose than satisfying those who apparently believe we can rise above this issue by pretending it does not exist.

Sincerely,
John E. Hinman

To the Editor:
This is just to thank Don Sherman for his letter which appeared in your June 12 edition. I agree with him 100 percent.

I too feel sympathy for the patients and staff of the Regional Psychiatric Hospital. The conditions under which they are forced to live and work are deplorable. But I don't think it's the fault of this city.

It's obvious how hard the people here have worked to make this city what it is today. A progressive and well respected community. It's a shame that every time the hospital appears in the paper Northville's name is dragged in with it.

While visiting in the Charlevoix area this past weekend, comments were made to us about how they "read about our town in the papers" and "heard it on television."

I for one don't think the City of Northville deserves that kind of reputation.

Thank you,
Helen Jones

Bolitho praised

To the Editor:

I'd like to use your letter forum to bestow special praise on Mr. David Bolitho. He deserves public recognition for the long hours, dedicated service and patient determination he has given to bring about the changes at the high school the community has long been wanting.

As a member of the high school parent advisory, writer of the high school column and parent of a high school student I feel qualified to make such statements about our principal. He has always been open and above board with parent advisory members, listens well, and addresses problems brought up by members as immediately as possible.

He has kept us apprised of his activities as well as of the staff and encourages our suggestions or criticism.

I have been especially mindful of his good qualities during these last weeks of the '84-85 school season. They have not been easy ones for anyone working at the high school what with the renovation, flooded hallways and classrooms, and a group of destructive students.

I can't say how much I admire Dave Bolitho's stamina and stabilizing leadership during these trying days. Without it we may have seen the high school turn into a pile of rubble morale-wise as well as literally. Instead, despite the conditions, we see smiling faces, hear hopeful sounds for the future and feel excitement in the air.

Dave Bolitho may not see himself in such exalted terms, but he should know the community is wholeheartedly behind him. We know his decisions are based on a foundation of moral rightness, love for the students in his charge, and desire of success for his staff. I hope this letter will serve to boost his morale and encourage him to "stay the course."

Sincerely,
Lois A. Hoffmeister

To the Editor:

This letter regards the fabulous all night party, "Happy Days," sponsored by the parents of the graduating seniors.

The party was held throughout the school following graduation June 14. I would like to extend a giant "THANK YOU" from the entire Class of 1985. It was a grand evening for all who attended. Again, to all who helped, thank you.

Sincerely,
Keith Sanders and the entire Class of 1985

Words to the wise(guy)

By B.J. Martin

And now we turn the podium over to our distinguished commencement speaker, Moore T. DeYumm.

"Thank you, students, faculty and administrators, for allowing me to address you on this important occasion.

"I'm sure many of you seniors are curious about the tradition of bringing in a pompous windbag to bore you to tears before you at last receive your diplomas.

"It has to do with the need for discipline, with the need to inspire our nation's youth, and with the need for our generation to get even, seeing as how we had to put up with it when we graduated and we'll be damned if we let you punks get off easy.

"I'm sure many of you are also curious about the tradition of wearing a dumb-looking square board with a tassel on your head and a full-length gown over your clothes, and why some people insist on calling your diploma a 'sheepskin.' Me too.

"As you cross the threshold of adulthood this day, some of you are bound for college, some of you directly into the working world, some into the service, and some of you will sponge off Mom and Dad as long as you can get away with it. In any of these cases, it is only now that your real education will truly begin.

"For example, those of you who are bound for college soon will learn that all the trashy summer movie hype you've seen about college being four years of partying, practical jokes and indiscriminate gratification of lust is completely true. Enjoy it while you can.

"Those of you who are fortunate enough to find a promising job directly out of high school will learn that it is possible to enjoy these same things without spending $10,000 a year and without someone flunking you for cutting classes.

"Those of you who are entering the service will learn about the kind of character and intelligence it takes to make it to the top of our nation's militia. Try not to let it discourage you.

"As you know, generations sooner or later get stuck with a label. The '40s wartime generation was one of Sacrifice. The '50s generation was The Big Bore. The '60s generation was into self-discovery and revolutionary war games. The '70s generation was the Me Decade.

"The challenge for the '80s generation is to find out what labels are left. Here are some suggestions: The Them Decade. The 8.8 percent Financing Generation. The Mega-Ultra-Legendary-All-Time-Pop-Superstar-of-the-Month Decade. The Valley Generation. The Microchip Movement.

"Whatever your fate as a group, when you individually settle on your respective careers and lifestyles, remember that it's not important how much money you make. What's more important, when you get down to it, is how much stuff your credit will allow you to acquire.

"I leave you, seniors, with this concluding thought: A rudderless ship is like a half-full, half-empty cup going through the eye of a needle at harvest time for the sour grapes of the samaritan.

"I hope you'll find those words a source of inspiration and comfort in the years ahead. I never have, but maybe you will.

"Good Luck. You'll need it. Or at least it'll come in handy."

NOTICE - CITY OF NOVI REQUEST FOR BIDS - DEMOLITION

Sealed proposals will be received by the City of Novi, Michigan, as owner, until 2:00 P.M., prevailing eastern time, Wednesday, June 26, 1985 at the Office of the City Clerk, 45225 W. Ten Mile Road, Novi, Michigan 48050, at which time said proposals will be publicly opened and read.

The City of Novi seeks proposals for the following:

DEMOLITION AND REMOVAL OF THE HOUSE LOCATED AT 1807 E. LAKE DRIVE

Proposal, contract forms, and specifications under which the work will be done are on file and may be obtained at the Office of the City Clerk, 45225 W. Ten Mile Road, Novi, Michigan.

The bidder shall also attach to his proposal: (1) a complete list of all equipment to be used on the project indicating model, year, make, and serial number; and (2) a letter from his insurance company stating that they will provide all necessary insurance as required by the City within seven (7) days after the award of the contract.

No bidder may withdraw his proposal within sixty (60) days after the date set for the opening thereof. The City reserves the right to accept or reject any or all bids, to waive any irregularities and to make the award in a manner that is in the best interest of the City of Novi.

ALL ENVELOPES MUST BE PLAINLY MARKED, "DEMOLITION 1807 E. LAKE DRIVE."

Owner Carol Hussey and Kay Tobias show off the renovated interior of the Little People's Shoppe in Northville

New owner reports 'grand' renovation of children's shop

By JEAN DAY

Carol Hussey admits to a fondness for Teddy bears, smocked dresses, Oshkosh overalls — and grandmothers.

The new owner of The Little People Shoppe at 103 East Main in downtown Northville has lots of Teddy bears, smocked dresses (other kinds, too), some Oshkosh clothes for youngsters (she's waiting for a new shipment) on display — and a guaranteed appeal for grandmothers.

The children's store is holding a grand opening sale through Saturday after being closed 13 days for remodeling after Hussey bought it this spring.

"I saw it the last day of April and closed three weeks later to the day," recalls Hussey, who owns the Pied Piper children's shop on Plymouth Road at U.S. 23 in Ann Arbor near the Marriott Hotel. She purchased the store from Kathy and Bill Namet.

She explains she had been looking for a second shop for six months and liked what she saw in Northville.

She is expanding the stock of clothing, accessories and toys from infant through six years and plans to add sizes 7-14 by the end of July. She carries the infant through size 14 in her Ann Arbor store and has decided to expand to do so in Northville "by popular request."

Hussey and her assistant Kay Tobias, who is going to be working at both stores, logged the requests of customers for clothing in the 7-14 age range and decided there was a Northville market for it.

Hussey invited local officials and fellow merchants to a grand opening preview last Thursday evening. Last Friday the official grand opening began with helium balloons for young visitors.

"Look at the floor," she urges visitors, relating how everything — merchandise and equipment — went into a truck so that "we could uncover the original wood floor that had been in the 1927 dime store here."

Now stained dark brown, the floor boasts a large braided rug that complements the new Teddy bear design wallpaper in blues and ivory.

Business Briefs

CHARLES PELTZ

MICHAEL D. MILLER

CHARLES S. PELTZ of Northville has joined Dura Corporation as vice president of sales. Peltz formerly was group planning and marketing manager for Federal-Mogul's Engine and Transmission Products Group.

Dura Corporation, based in Michigan, has been active as an original equipment supplier for more than 60 years. The company was founded in 1922 at Detroit Harvester Company to manufacture agricultural implements. It soon began to make parts for automobiles. Today a prime supplier to the automotive industry, it has plants in Toledo and Adrian with sales and executive offices in the Omnicenter at 26877 Northwestern Highway.

Peltz and his family are Northville Township residents. He is a former Northville school board member.

MICHAEL D. MILLER of Novi has been named assistant loan officer of NBD Dearborn Bank, N.A., Western Metropolitan Regional Banking Division. The appointment was announced by NBD Bancorp, Inc., holding company parent of National Bank of Detroit.

JOHN MUCASEY, M.D. president of Woodland Medical Group in Novi, was awarded membership in the American College of Physician Executives during its 1985 national conference on "Health Care Leadership and Management" in Hilton Head, South Carolina, on May 16.

Dr. Mucasey was certified by the college as a "physician executive" and is now among a select group of physicians throughout the country who have been recognized and honored for achieving excellence in the clinical practice of medicine as well as demonstrating advanced management and leadership ability.

The American College of Physician Executives is the only national professional association exclusively serving, recognizing and certifying physicians in leadership and management positions in hospitals, group practices, HMOs, universities, the military and private industry.

KATHLEEN REYNOLDS-LYNCH of Northville was named to the Roster of Fellows of the American Occupational Therapy Association at the organization's 1985 annual conference held recently in Atlanta. Ms. Reynolds-Lynch was honored by her colleagues for her contributions in programming for vocational rehabilitation of the handicapped.

A faculty member of the Occupational Therapy Department at Wayne State University, she has served the occupational therapy profession as a clinical practitioner, an educator and an active participant in local and national occupational therapy associations. She has shared her expertise through a variety of activities including presentations, workshops, publications and consulting.

Reynolds-Lynch, a registered occupational therapist, holds a bachelor of science degree in occupational therapy from Western Michigan University and a Master of Science degree in occupational therapy from Wayne State University.

MICHAEL GABRIEL, a State Farm Insurance Companies agent in the Novi area, has been named to the Legion of Honor, one of the firm's most distinguished accomplishments. Only about one in four State Farm Agents qualifies for the designation. To qualify, agents must achieve high standards in all aspects of their business.

Gabriel has been a State Farm agent since 1980. State Farm, with corporate headquarters in Bloomington, Illinois, is one of the world's largest insurance companies and sells auto, fire, life and health insurance with nearly 16,000 agents and more than 700 claims offices in the U.S. and Canada.

JOHN B. WIEGAND of Northville has been appointed executive consultant in the Organizational Research and Development Section of GM's Industrial Relations Staff.

Wiegand, 45, graduated from Detroit's Redford High School and attended the University of Oklahoma and Michigan State University where he earned a BA in science in secondary education in 1965. In 1982 he earned a MA in organization and administrative studies from Wayne State University.

Wiegand began his career with General Motors in 1965 at the Fisher Body plant in Lansing and worked for Oldsmobile Division from 1966 to 1969. He served as a management development instructor at General Motors Institute in Flint from 1972 to 1974 and became supervisor of human resources development at GM's Detroit Diesel Allison Division in Detroit in 1978. He was a consultant on organizational development and Quality of Work Life (QWL) to GM's Truck and Bus Group from 1983 until he assumed his current position.

In addition to his GM service, Wiegand was a teacher and coach at Berkley High School from 1969 to 1972 and served as a consultant with Personnel Development Services in Lansing from 1974 to 1978.

Wiegand is a member of the American Society of Training and Development and the Society of Automotive Engineers.

WILLIAM HARRAL, president of Arch Associates in Northville, served as a panel moderator at a seminar entitled "Preparing To Do Business with the Japanese." Sponsored by the Downriver Community Conference and the University of Michigan-Dearborn, the seminar was held June 7 at the Grecian Center in Southgate.

Purpose of the seminar was to develop local awareness of the requirements and expectations of multi-national companies, especially the Japanese.

Other members of the panel moderated by Haral were Don Sullivan, executive consultant to Nipponendo — the largest Japanese auto supplier; Dr. Michael Flynn of the Industrial Technology Institute in Ann Arbor — a state-funded research group to upgrade technology in Michigan; and Cliff Carroll from the American Supplier Institute — a non-profit training and consulting group specializing in Taguchi Methodology.

Arch Associates is a management consultant firm dealing with productivity issues which are most easily identified as poor quality or excessive cost.

TIM MINER of Northville has started a new profession as a barber and hair stylist at Jerry's Barber Shop in Novi at Ten Mile and Meadowbrook Road.

Miner, who is shown above styling the hair of Bob Sad, has been a Northville resident 17 years and graduated from Northville High School in 1978. He is a graduate of the Detroit Barber College and licensed by the State of Michigan.

Miner specializes in hair styling for men and women. Perms are available by appointment.

Jerry's Barber Shop is open Tuesday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Saturday from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

ROBERT McALLISTER of Wixom has been named manager of the Foland's store in Rochester by A. Jerome Kroot, chairman and chief executive officer of the firm.

McAllister is responsible for 36 employees and the store's entire inventory flow. He also participates in corporate decision making. Before becoming manager, he spent three months studying store policies and inventory in Foland's Institute of Training.

McAllister came to Foland's after six years in sales and inventory control with B&F Auto Supply in Plymouth. He has a bachelor's degree in operations research and information systems from Eastern Michigan University. He and his wife Jeanne live in Wixom.

Foland's was established in 1973. The first department store was opened in Dearborn. It is second in Michigan for diamond sales and bridal registry. Foland's has six locations in southeast Michigan, including also Livonia, Southfield, Clinton Township and Warren.

Folino is the only Two Star qualifier in the district and earned the Top Fire Agent Award and the Top Auto Agent Award in addition to being a million dollar life insurance producer.

Folino operates professional offices at 430 North Main Street in Northville with three experienced secretaries: Mamie Folino, Judy Daniels and Kathy Copeland.

Renovation completed

"Blue's just my favorite color," Hussey explains of her new decorating. All the store fixtures have been painted a deep ivory to match the ivory curtains that form the window backdrop. New, too, are the Tiffany-style ceiling lamps that Hussey says are "Ann Arbor imports."

"The only thing our landlords asked us not to touch was the old tin ceiling (painted ivory)," says Hussey. Landlords are Nelda and Tom Morrison.

The new owner of the store begun by Mary Ware of Northville in 1957 and continued for many years by Clara Farmer is stocking nationally known children's brands of clothing. There are dresses by Polly Flinder, Bryan, Nanette and Nicole by Dorissa of Miami. There's the Oshkosh line, which Hussey says, "I can't keep in stock in the other store, but I'm hampered right now because we're in the middle of a season."

She also will feature Izod, Health Tex, Absorba (all cotton wear) and Carter's. Hussey carries 93 lines in her Ann Arbor operation and expects most also will be in the Northville store.

"We do have consignment items, and I'm keeping most of them," she adds, displaying a finely smocked dress with appealing apple design. Other consignment handcrafts include a bunny applique quilt and matching pillow.

New for summer are the toddler swim suits by Carter "just like mom's" with ruffled detailing.

Customers to the shop see a bassinet filled with Teddy bears, one hat rack filled with assorted hats for boys and another tree stocked with puppets. A cart holds such stuffed toys as Paddington bears and fluffy white cats.

A focal point in the glass wallcase is a hand embroidered christening gown by Feltman. It features tiny tucks at the shoulders and lace insets at the hemline and has matching bonnet and slip. "It's not cheap," warns Hussey as she lists its $94 price tag. With it is a delicate shawl from Italy and two pairs of white handmade booties. Consignment items, they are the work of an 86-year-old Plymouth woman.

Hussey points out that she also stocks other christening gowns that are less expensive.

Hussey, who notes that she has a silent partner in the Northville store, opened the Ann Arbor store a year and a half ago. While she had not had previous experience in retailing, she mentions that she had had other businesses.

Having a family of four — two daughters, now 21 and 12, and two sons, now 19 and 15 — helps. She adds that her husband Dan is "a very big help."

While she has been in Northville only a short time, Hussey already is on first-name terms with her fellow downtown merchants.

"They've all been so helpful," she says, pointing out that her blue rug came from Williamsburg Inspirations across the street, her Teddy bear wallpaper from Green's Creative Home Center, her curtains from Judy's Curtains (both around the corner) and her refreshments for the preview from Genitti's, also across the street.

Hussey is starting a mailing list during the grand opening. She plans to continue free gift wrapping on purchases and says the store will mail "for a nominal charge."

Hours are 10 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. Friday, and 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday. During the grand opening week most merchandise is discounted 25 percent.

Sales of existing homes continue to show gains

Local existing home sales took another sharp jump in May with the Metro MLS reporting a 17.2 percent increase over April and nearly a 30 percent climb over a year ago.

"We see this as a very positive economic indicator for our area," said Metro MLS President Robert F. Craver, "and one reflective of all Southeast Michigan. The 1,934 home sales by our members in May represented the best month since May, 1978, which ended as a record year here and across the nation."

"In the first five months of the year, our sales are up more than 16 percent from last year and the pace is only about 15 percent below that seen in 1978. With interest rates edging back to levels more acceptable to buyers, we hope to see the current sales trend continue."

"It is still too early, however, to judge buyer reaction to various aspects of tax reform proposals now being considered in Washington. If the final measures continue to acknowledge the American goal of home ownership, they could be productive in helping more people move into homes of their own."

Noting that new listings were running nearly 20 percent below a year ago, Craver said the sales to listing ratio by Metro MLS members topped 47 percent in April and 31.6 percent in May of 1984.

He said that, after remaining stable or even dropping during the recession period, home prices are rebounding to top the rate of inflation. The average price posted in the 1,600 square-mile Metro MLS territory in May set a new record at $62,348, besting the previous high of $62,345 reported in February. Prices in both May and for the year-to-date were up around 4.7 percent above 1984. Through April, the increase across the country this year was 3.2 percent.

Of the 39 sales areas covered by Metro MLS members in Wayne, Oakland and Livingston counties, those showing the greatest number of increased sales so far this year are Livonia, up 132 to 764; Redford Township, up 106 to 419; Canton Township, up 87 to 389; Dearborn Heights, up 81 to 298; Birmingham, up 70 to 158; Farmington/Farmington Hills, up 66 to 502; Southfield, up 64 to 397; Dearborn, up 63 to 455; Romulus and South, up 58 to 145, and Commerce/Wixom, up 50 to 257.

Craver pointed out that the figures do not include sales in the various communities by Realtors who are not members of the Metro MLS multiple listing service.

State unemployment figures remain stable during May

Michigan's labor market remained fairly stable in May as the state's seasonally adjusted jobless rate slipped by a tenth of a percentage point to 10.1 percent, according to Richard Simmons Jr., director of the Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESC).

The number of unemployed workers in Michigan fell by 11,000 to 435,000 during May. In April the statewide jobless rate was 10.2 percent with 446,000 out of work. A year ago, May 1984, Michigan's unemployment rate was 11.6 percent with 506,000 jobless.

Simmons said that some adjustments occurred in the labor market as the state's civilian labor force and total employment levels both declined during the month. The labor force dropped 67,000 to 4.309 million. Most of the labor force decline resulted from a 56,000 drop in total employment which fell to 3,874,000. The remaining 11,000 resulted from the drop in unemployment.

"Much of the employment drop occurred among the self-employed and those with part-time and temporary jobs," Simmons said.

Michigan's unadjusted labor force estimates show an unemployment decline of 19,000 during May as the state's jobless total fell to 429,000 and the rate dropped to 9.8 percent from 10.3 percent in April.

Nationally, the seasonally adjusted unemployment rate for the civilian labor force remained unchanged at 7.3 percent from April to May. The number of jobless workers dropped 13,000 to 8.413 million.

Real estate course planned

Schoolcraft College's Community Services program will offer a six-hour required course for real estate brokers and licensees at the college on Thursday, June 20, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. The college is located at 18600 Haggerty Road in Livonia near Northville and Novi.

The continuing education requirement must be met for 1986 license renewal.

Sponsored by the Michigan Association of Realtors, the course meets licensure requirements. Course content includes court cases, ethics and standards of practice, Michigan Occupational Code, Public Act 299; economic conditions—real estate financing, and interpretations relating to real property, 1984 Federal Tax Reform Act.

Fees of $20 for M.A.R. members and $35 for non-members include materials. Call 591-6400, extension 409, to register. Enrollment is limited.

Business leaders optimistic about future

People in charge of small and medium sized businesses are optimistic about the economy in general and prospects for their own companies, according to Touche Ross' third annual regionwide business survey.

Conducted in March and April by the Big Eight accounting and consulting firm in conjunction with Crain's Detroit Business, the survey was made of business owners and managers.

The survey was mailed to 4,000 businesses in southern Michigan and northern Ohio. Responses were received from 498 individual businesses, a 12.5 percent return rate. The results have a confidence level of plus/minus four percent.

The majority of respondents:

- Project higher sales and earnings.
- Anticipate higher levels of working capital expenditures in 1985.
- Plan to add employees but list labor costs as their number one problem.
- Favor reducing workers' compensation costs as the best way to improve the area's business climate.
- Are about evenly split on the impact of the federal income tax simplification proposal.

More than a third (36.8 percent) believe the economy is on an upward swing, and 58 percent feel the economy will at least maintain its current strength.

The optimism extends to their own businesses. Some 78.7 percent of the respondents said sales would go up and 71.5 percent said real earnings would rise.

"These results, as well as respondents' views of hiring and capital expenditures, are important signals for our economy," said Joseph Yarebek, Touche Ross partner in charge of The Enterprise Group which serves small and medium sized companies.

Yarebek said 60.4 percent reported that they planned to add employees during the year. And 55.5 percent said capital expenditures would rise from their 1984 level. Only 13.1 percent said capital expenditures would decrease in 1985.

Other highlights of the report:

- When asked to list their number one business problem, 24.3 percent identified labor costs first, followed by government regulations, interest rates, labor quality and competition from big business.
- To control employee benefit costs, nearly 40 percent of the respondents have increased medical deductibles or medical co-pays, while 8.6 percent have switched to HMO-type medical coverage.

□ Companies with the greatest growth potential were (one through five) computer services, high technology, service sector, health care and finance.

□ Industries with the least prospect for growth were manufacturing (auto related), construction, real estate and manufacturing (non-auto related).

□ Some 46.2 percent said they planned to grow by introducing new products or services; 37.2 percent said they would diversify their product/service line. Not surprisingly, 14.9 percent said they would grow through acquisition of other companies.

□ They were generally optimistic about auto sales. Some 56.4 percent predicted modestly or appreciably improve car sales.

Respondents were senior-level executives — 42 percent were company presidents, 9.2 percent were chief executive officers and 23.7 percent were chief financial officers.

The majority were in manufacturing (53.6 percent) followed by wholesale/distribution (12.1 percent), retail (11.7 percent) and service (11.5 percent).

PROVIDENCE HOSPITAL
NOV CENTER
← Outpatient Care
← 24 Hr. Emergency Care

A Night in the E.R.

Text by Phil Jerome/Photos by Steve Fecht

It's nine o'clock on a Friday night in the Emergency Room at Providence Hospital's Ambulatory Care Center in Novi.

It's quiet. A little girl sits holding her hand in a corner of the waiting room, sobbing softly while her mother talks to the registrar, providing the information necessary for admittance. Shortly later, two more people come in — a mother with her teenaged daughter. The girl slipped at work and her ankle has swollen.

Dr. Mark Thomson seems to be the man in charge. Another doctor, Paul Truesch, also is on duty. And there are two RNs, a nurses' assistant, a unit clerk, two registrars, a cardiopulmonary technician and an x-ray technician.

"I like it here," says Thomson, who has worked in the E.R. for the past two years. "I did my residency in family practice but decided to work full-time in the E.R."

Why? "It's acute care medicine," he explains. "It's primary care. Patients come here first. People come in with a problem and you have to figure out what's wrong. It's a challenge. We have x-ray and lab facilities available at all times, so you can find out pretty quickly what's wrong when someone comes in with a complaint."

The little girl with her mother is now in one of the treatment rooms. She smashed her finger in the car trunk. Dr. Truesch is talking to her, looking at the finger, giving directions to the nurses.

Dr. Thomson is seeing the young woman with the twisted ankle in another treatment room. He orders x-rays.

At 9:20 p.m. Vicki Harrington of Novi arrives with her two sons, Jim and Christopher. Christopher, 6, fell off a swing and says his arm hurts.

"I don't like to take any chances," says Vicki. "They're good here. I brought Jimmy here when he broke his arm, and they took good care of him. I've been very pleased everytime we've come here."

At 9:47 p.m. everything seems quiet. Quiet, but busy. Seven of the nine treatment rooms are filled with patients. The staff is busy, but nobody is running around. People are calm, efficient, organized. Going about their jobs with no wasted energy.

Dr. Truesch has drained the blood from the finger of the little girl whose hand got caught in the trunk lid and sent her on her way.

Laura Turk-Scherer sends x-rays of Christopher Harrington's arm up to be checked by Dr. Thomson. Good news, nothing's broken. Just a bruise.

Dr. Thomson explains to Mrs. Harrington: "If Christopher's team has an important soccer game tomorrow, it's okay for him to play. It's only a bruise."

He tells the relieved mother what to do about the bruise and sends the family home. Vicki Harrington looks tired.

Dr. Truesch has completed his examination of the x-rays from the girl with the twisted ankle. More good news. Nothing's broken. He sends the girl and her mother on their way with much the same instructions that Dr. Thomson gave the Harringtons. "If you want to play softball tomorrow, it's alright. Let pain be your guide. If the ankle hurts, stay off it."

She leaves on a pair of crutches.

At 10:30 p.m. the pace has subsided. The lobby is empty. The E.R. is empty except for a pretty little girl who has had an asthma attack. Dr. Thomson orders an I.V. Her mother sits quietly by.

"The thing you have to remember is that we're an emergency room, not a trauma center," says Dr. Thomson. "We get mostly minor injuries. Sunburns, insect bites. A lot of ATV accidents or softball injuries — broken bones."

"We also see some heart attacks and strokes. Some Sudden Infant Death Syndrome. We've pulled a few people back from heart attacks, but it's tough to pull back children."

Dr. Thomson said several babies have been delivered in the Providence-Novi E.R. "It's never happened when I've been on duty," he adds.

Maryann Hartland, an R.N., says it's a particularly slow Friday night. "Wednesdays and weekends tend to be busiest because those are the days doctors' offices are closed," she says.

Everyone who works in the E.R. is required to have had at least one year experience in the Intensive Care Unit. E.R. personnel are top people.

It's 11:45 p.m. Shift change. "We all go home now," says Diane Kjolhede, a cardiopulmonary technician. Fewer staff are scheduled on the midnight shift. Dr. Thomson remains on duty. The staff consists of a registrar, a unit clerk, an R.N. and a cardiopulmonary technician along with the lab and x-ray technicians.

"It's been an unusually slow Friday night," says Kjolhede. "Sometimes it gets crazy busy," adds Turk-Scherer. "You just happened to hit a slow night."

The little girl with the asthma attack remains in one of the treatment rooms, but there have been no admissions since 9:40 p.m.

At 12:10 p.m. Dr. Thomson is notified that Wixom police are bringing in a prisoner for treatment. The prisoner had been in a fight and suffered some head injuries. Officer Kirkpatrick of the Wixom P.D. arrives shortly later with the handcuffed prisoner in tow.

At the same time, Gerald Hartman of Novi brings in his seven-year-old son, Bryan. Bryan has been sick all day — fever, ear aches, vomiting. His stomach, ears and head hurt, he tells Dr. Thomson. He has a temperature of 103 degrees.

"They're good here," says the boy's father. "I hate to take up their time, but there's nowhere else to go this hour of the night. They're good people. They're good with children."

Wedding dates chosen

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Spade of 41902 Sutters Lane announce the engagement of their daughter Deborah Leigh Spade to Colton Paul Lawton.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Lawton of Plymouth.

The bride-elect is a 1985 graduate of Central Michigan University and a member of Phi Chi Theta women's professional business fraternity. She currently is employed in management by Winkelman's.

Her fiancé, a 1985 graduate of the University of Michigan, is an electrical engineer for Tera-dyne Corporation in Deerfield, Illinois.

A late July wedding is planned.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard D. Hannert of 515 West Dunlap announce the engagement of their daughter Edith Ann to Donald A. Carcone.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfredo Carcone of Livonia.

The bride-elect is employed by Dr. Peter Lazerchuck, D.D.S., at Advanced Dental Center in Novi. Her fiancé is employed by Deluxe Checking Company.

A November 9 wedding date has been set.

Annette Coram engaged

Announcement of the engagement of Annette Marie Coram to George Paul Vella of Plymouth is made by her mother, Mrs. Charles T. Coram of 21734 Taft Road.

The bride-elect also is the daughter of the late Mr. Coram. Her fiancé is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Vella of New Port Richey, Florida.

A 1982 graduate of Whitman Center for Adult Education, the bride-elect is affiliated with Housekeepers of America.

Her fiancé is a member of Franklin High School Class of 1978 and a 1983 graduate of Lawrence Institute of Technology. He is employed at Stro's world headquarters.

They have set an August 24 wedding date.

Reporter pays night call to ER

At 12:43 p.m. George Guzzio of Wall Lake brings in his son Joey, 6½ years. Joey has something in his eye and couldn't sleep. It hurts.

The head x-rays are back from Officer Kirkpatrick's prisoner. Nothing serious. It's okay to take him to jail. Just make sure someone wakes him up and checks him every three hours.

Dr. Thomson returns his attention to Joey Guzzio. He finds a small piece of metal in the eye. He's going to have to scrape it out.

Marta Laird, the R.N. on the midnight shift, is saying goodbye to the little girl with the asthma attack. Terri Bogucki is running tests on another patient who just came in. Dr. Thomson talks quietly to George and Joey Guzzio, reassuring father and son that everything will be alright. Be sure to see an ophthalmologist in the morning, he says.

It's a quiet night in the E.R.

Ted Strasser's last 'Patterns in Music' to be June 30

By JEAN DAY

Ted Strasser — Northville resident and host of the popular WJR Sunday morning "Patterns in Music" — will be broadcasting his final program June 30. While he is retiring, he still will continue to be the voice of the station's Sunday hymns program, doing the voice track on tape.

His successor for "Patterns in Music" will be Fat Bob Taylor, who has been his regular substitute when he has been off.

Ted Strasser says he "has nothing definite" in mind for retirement, but he and his wife Lois are looking forward to spending winters in their double mobile home in Lakeland, Florida — and watching the Tigers in spring training. They intend to stay in Northville in the summer, keeping their home in Highland Lakes. He says they both like Northville and don't plan to leave now.

Helpers are needed for 16th Tivoli Fair

"Hours can be arranged," says Tivoli Fair chair person Carol Kiraly, who has taken on the big task of heading the major craft show for her second year. She's seeking volunteers who might enjoy helping with the popular annual event that is the major benefit for Northville Historical Society.

It's the 16th Tivoli Fair of arts and crafts. It will be held September 27 at Northville Downs. Chair Kiraly, who took over the post from Martha Nield, incoming president of the historical society, says there are residents who have indicated they would assist with hosting. Anyone interested in helping is asked to call Jan Juhasz, 420-0703, or Sandra Kemp, 348-2374. Set-up and clean-up assistance also is being sought. Those who can help are to call the Kiraly at 348-3779, or Janet Clancy, 348-9803.

So sought after are fair booths that they are sold out for this year. "We're always interested in taking names for next year's fair, however," the Carol Kiraly emphasizes, explaining that the sponsors want new and different talent each year. They received 400 replies for the 133 spaces after the March 1 mailing. The craftspeople will be juried May 15 and those accepted will be notified.

Terry Stanton's upward bound in balloon race

Terry Stanton of 42122 Roscommon Drive in Northville is among the hot air balloon pilots competing for the title of Michigan Champion at the First Annual State Hot Air Balloon Competition in Howell June 21-23.

He will be flying "Aesthetic Pleasure" for sponsoring First National Bank of Howell.

Aesthetic Pleasure is red, orange and yellow with a white equator and white bunting. The balloon was manufactured by the Balloon Works.

It is Stanton's second balloon. The family, which lives just north of Eight Mile, started ballooning three years ago and has ballooned in the Wixom, New Hudson and Milford area.

The first weekend in June the Stantons took their balloon by trailer to Wisconsin to race there. They raced with 100 other balloonists on the Saturday but were "winded out" Sunday. Stanton reports that many of the competitors had come from Michigan.

Stanton is an airline airport manager who says he got into ballooning in 1981 "for the fun of the sport and for participation with the whole family."

The family has participated together at the Albuquerque International Fiesta, although most fun flying is done closer to home.

The Howell race is an official sanctioned race, which Stanton says he is looking forward to as he has not done much sanctioned racing. He adds he will be competing with Ann Arbor and Union Lake balloonists who are former world champions.

Lavish floral decorations created for June wedding of Terri Michele Smith

Ward Presbyterian Church in Livonia was transformed into a bower of flowers for the marriage of Terri Michele Smith and Brad Almond Thomas June 1.

Clusters of tall tapers were used against a solid background of white roses and foliage. Arrangements of fresh gardenias and ferns graced the brick walls in the chancel area. Tall, tiered arrangements of white roses and cascading gardenias adorned the aisle, and garden settings in similar flowers were arranged in the foyer and narthex of the church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Smith of 20480 Woodbend Drive in Northville. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clay Thomas of Mt. Clemens.

Dr. Bartlett Hess and the bride's uncle, the Reverend Chester L. Halstead, officiated at the 5 p.m. service.

Best man Mark Maccagnone also was soloist at the wedding. Trumpeter was James Underwood. Mrs. Jerry Smith was organist and Dr. Jerry Smith pianist.

The bride's designer gown of ivory chiffon over taffeta was styled with a sweetheart neckline and bishop sleeves. Venise and alencon lace and clusters of seed pearls adorned the bodice and sleeves. Snowflake lace bordered the skirt and train as well as the chapel length veil, held in place by a tiara of seed pearls and fresh flowers matching those in her bouquet.

The bride's bouquet was a European cascade of white and yellow phalaenopsis orchids, stephanotis and Singapore orchids. It was designed and made by her father, a florist who owns French's Flowers in Livonia.

Renee Meinhard was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Kim Pas, Barbara Foster, Kelly Pas, Lori Thomas, Pam Ferguson, Denise Smith, Patti Burnstein and Carol Gilroy.

They wore floor length chiffon gowns with tiered bodices with cap sleeves in tones of bonita, cinnamon and bittersweet, three maids in each shade.

Their flowers were French basquets of alsteromeria, roses, dendrobium orchids, hot carnations and lilies in shades of pink and apricot and terra cotta. All wore hair pieces matching their bouquets.

Kelly Mok, flower girl, wore a short ivory-hued dress trimmed with lace which had been hand made by the bride. Ring bearer Joshua Burnstein, cousin of the bride, wore an ivory suit made by the bride.

Ushers were Clay Thomas Jr., Bruce Liebzelt, Robert Lepley, Taggart Smith, Todd Smith, Paul Mok and Kent Thomas.

A sit down dinner reception for 300 guests followed on the grounds and in the dining room of Madonna College. The room was transformed into a garden setting. It featured a large lattice gazebo for the wedding cake. Giant topiary trees of white grapevine adorned with white carnations were placed behind the bridal table as well as around the dance floor.

Matching topiaries of sunia roses graced the entry way, serving areas and sweet table. Centerpieces on each guest table contained tall tapers in each shade of the bridesmaids' gowns and flowers designed in a European garden mode in matching hues.

The bride's father was assisted in creating the floral settings by several of his fellow florists. Two friends flew in from Connecticut and Chicago, and others came from Flint, Holly and other nearby areas.

The newlyweds flew to Miami and sailed on a Caribbean cruise. Upon return, they will make their home in Mt. Clemens.

The bride, a 1977 graduate of Northville High School, was graduated from Alma College with majors in French and business. She is a manager of apparel for Kmart.

The bridegroom is a 1973 graduate of Mt. Clemens High School and a 1977 graduate of Oakland University. He is in the insurance business.

MR. AND MRS. BRAD ALMOND THOMAS

Glatfelters announce birth

Birth of their first child is announced by Arthur and Gail Glatfelter of Milan. Their son Alexander William was born June 6 at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor weighing seven pounds, ten ounces.

The newborn's parents both are graduates of Northville High School (Class of '73 and Class of '71) where they were high school sweethearts.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Glatfelter and Mr. and Mrs. Daniel MacDermid, all of Northville.

Maternal great grandmother is Mrs. Florence MacDermid of Walled Lake. Paternal great grandmother is Mrs. B.F. Glatfelter of Redford.

Advisory group cited

Schoolcraft College's Advisory Committee has been honored in a resolution unanimously adopted by the college board of trustees. It cites the committee's efforts in the establishment of the college's Women's Resource Center, its 15 years' assistance and its emphasis on providing financial aid for returning students.

Schoolcraft president Richard McDowell expressed his appreciation to the committee in the presentation ceremony. Laura Toy, Schoolcraft trustee and an early member of the advisory committee, read the resolution.

Barbara Geil, vice president of student services, also an early member of the committee, presented four members with plaques in recognition of their continuing service to women of the community.

Wayne County Commissioner Mary Dumas, has served for 12 years; Laura Callow of Livonia, 15 years; Jean Wagner of Plymouth, 10 years; and Charlotte Adams of Westland, 11 years.

Lyn Banks, state representative (R) Livonia, presented all committee members and WRC coordinator Virginia Wilhelm the State of Michigan Certificate of Recognition Award for their outstanding volunteer service.

Goodwill will collect monthly at church here

A Goodwill Industries truck will be parked in the parking lot of the First United Methodist Church, Eight Mile at Taft, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. the first Thursday of each month to take collections.

The church board of trustees approved the request of Goodwill Industries this month for this use of the parking lot.

An attendant will be with the truck and will give receipts for donations.

The church reports that furniture and clothes, which should be clean and brought in a bag, will be appreciated.

Seminary offers July classes

July 5 is the final registration date for daytime and evening courses that will begin July 15 in the summer session at St. John's Seminary, 44011 Five Mile.

Students may register by calling 453-6200 weekdays between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. Classes are in session Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. with two credit or audit options.

One week daytime courses include "Ministry and Catechesis in the 80s" and "Foundations of Belief, Worship and Spirituality."

A two week evening course, "Music in the Service of the Western Church," will be presented Mondays through Thursdays from 7-9:30 p.m.

Instructors will be the Reverend Robert J. Hater, associate professor of religious studies at the University of Dayton; Mary Ann Hinsdale, IHM, who has her Ph.D. from the University of St. Michael's College and her STS from Regis College, Toronto; and Dr. Gwynn S. McPeck, professor emeritus of music at the University of Michigan.

Our 1985 All-Area softball squad's a winning hand

Collect 'em! Trade 'em! Any time you're dealing with our 1985 Sliger-Livingston East softball all-star cards, you've got a winning hand.

Our nine first-team, nine second-team and honorable mention picks were culled from high schools throughout the circulation area of The South Lyon Herald, The Novi News, The Milford Times and The Northville Record.

The electoral college of softball knowledge, constituted by the sports staffs of those four newspapers, made the selections after intense backroom negotiating. Result: a dream team that gave opponents nightmares.

And heeere they are:

FIRST TEAM

ANDREA NELSON, SOUTH LYON, P: While racking up a 13-8-1 record, the sophomore slinger led the Lions to a Kensington Valley Conference championship. She allowed only 26 earned runs all season and registered an amazing 158 strikeouts while walking only 37.

Nelson's 1.36 earned run average is the statistical proof behind Lion Coach Jeff Gale's statement: "She has the potential to be a great pitcher. She could dominate hitters, and that's something considering she's only a sophomore."

JULIE IRISH, MILFORD, C: "She does everything well," says Redskin Coach Chuck Verecke. Indeed, the senior's .473 batting average led all first-team candidates, but it was Irish's power and defense that made her our top pick at catcher. The Redskins' 85 MVP's 31 hits included five doubles and two triples.

A first-team All-Kensington Valley Conference coaches' pick, Irish's 25 RBI led all of this year's selections. And defense? Irish gunned down 23 runners this year, her third as a starter.

SHERI DAVIDGE, MILFORD, 1B: The Redskin first baseman is one of three Milford infielders on the first team. After a slow start, Davidge came on strong to hit .281 and drive in 12 runs for the Redskins. The senior clobbered four triples, two doubles and a homer for the season, scoring 12 runs.

"She hit with more power during the second half of the season," remarked Coach Verecke. "Sheri almost single-handedly won the Howell and Lakeland games for us."

CHRIS HEDLER, LAKE LAND, 2B: In her first year of varsity softball (she ran track her freshman and sophomore years), Hedler was a smash. She batted .274, but thanks to an area-leading 20 walks, Hedler carried a .430 on-base percentage.

She stole 13 bases and scored 16 runs for the Redskins and her best year may be ahead. "Once she realizes her potential look out! She'll be a big part of our team next year," Coach Kent Griffiths noted.

KELLY O'CONNOR, MILFORD, SS: The most consistent of the Redskins led the team in runs (16) and stolen bases

Mustangs' Housman, Richcreek among first-team picks

(14). She collected five doubles and nine RBI.

"Kelly was our most consistent player," Coach Vereecke said of the junior. "She gets on base and has good speed. She'll be a key for us next year."

MEG HUTCHINS, Milford, 3B: The Redskins ace at the hot corner batted third in the lineup all season, driving in 22 runs. The senior contact hitter struck out only four times all season while ripping six doubles and three triples.

Hutchins scored 18 runs for the Redskins and earned Coach Vereecke's compliment as "our best all-around player."

LORI HOUSMAN, Northville, OF: The senior outfielder/pitcher led all first-team all-area selections with a .485 batting average this season. Her 14 RBI and 15 steals helped the Mustangs rebound from a poor start and become one of the strongest teams in their division.

"She's probably our most improved player," said Northville Coach Sue Heinzman. "When we needed her to pitch for us, she did that well, and she was an excellent defensive outfielder."

MICHELLE BENNER, Lakeland, OF: Look out for this one. Only a freshman, Benner batted .321 for the Eagles, with 20 RBI, two triples, two doubles and seven stolen bases.

"She's a natural athlete," said Coach Griffiths. "She's got soft hands and an excellent arm — things you can't teach." Benner scored 15 runs for Lakeland.

KIM RICHCREEK, Northville, OF: The junior compiled a .365 average at the plate and co-anchored a dynamite defensive outfield for the Mustangs this year. Richcreek drove in 13 runs and stole 10 bases.

SECOND TEAM

MO KERN, Milford, P: The Redskins senior ace packed a 7-9 (4-3 KVC) record for the Redskins, but hung her first-team All-KVC honors on her slick 2.66 earned run average. Kern fanned 60 hitters this season, and even outduelled South Lyon's Andrea Nelson in a 2-0 showdown, prompting Coach Vereecke's tag as Milford's "most improved player."

CHRIS MCGOWAN, Northville, C: The Mustang sophomore's .516 batting average led all area hitters for the second straight year. Her bat and reputation as one of the WLAA's best defensive backstops landed "McGoo" a slot in All-Division slot in the WLAA. "She was our best all-around player," reported Coach Heinzman. "She kept us in a lot of games almost by herself."

GAYLE BILLINGSLEY, Lakeland, 1B: Combining a .963 fielding average with her .316 batting average, the Eagles' senior co-captain drove in 20 runs this season, slapping five doubles and stealing nine bases along the way.

"Gayle was a real solid player for us. She came through very well in the clutch," said Coach Griffiths.

JULIE CASS, Northville, 2B: Northville's most consistent infielder, Cass finished the year with a .900 fielding average and a .333 clip at the plate. She drove in seven runs, scored 11 and stole nine bases in the '85 campaign.

PAULA HAYES, Lakeland, SS: The Eagle junior compiled an estimable .962 fielding percentage at short this year, but she was far from a "good field, no hit" player. She batted .333 (.450 on-base percentage), clouted three doubles and two triples, and stole an area-leading 16 stolen bases.

MICHELE SIEMASZ, Northville, 3B: Siemasz provided an unexpected lift to the Mustangs this season when she earned a starting job after transferring from Walled Lake Western in 1984. The junior, also a fine basketball player, showed consistent improvement in the field while compiling a fine .310 batting average.

KAREN COULTER, Novi, OF: Despite a bout with the contagious injuries that plagued the Wildcats all season, Coulter batted .250 with power this spring. She also earned Coach Jim Tinsley's praise as "one of the outstanding defensive outfielders in the league." That opinion was seconded by Kensington Valley Conference coaches, who picked her for second-team honors.

ANDREA KOZARIAN, South Lyon, OF: The junior packed a .465 on-base percentage to accompany her .260 average. She collected five doubles, 27 runs, 11 RBI and six stolen bases as the Lion leadoff hitter. As for her defensive skills, Kozarian threw out five runners at first base from right field. As a pitcher, the Lion was 8-4 with a sharp 3.15 ERA.

Collegiate brings Angels down to earth

Northville was shelled in both ends of a Wednesday doubleheader. In the opener against Westland, Collegiate fell 14-3, as nine walks in the first three innings proved to be Collegiate's undoing. Westland scored eight runs in the fifth inning alone.

All three of Northville's runs came in the third inning. George Clark ripped a solo homer to break the ice, Scott Peterson scored on a single by Rob Cannon, and Jeff Bainbridge came home on Scott Draper's single.

In the nightcap, Northville took on Redford and appeared to be back on track, jumping to a 2-0 lead on a walk to Cannon, a single by Draper and a wild throw. Clark came though with an RBI single scoring Draper.

That score held until the third inning when Redford rallied for seven runs on three hits, three walks and an infield error. University of Michigan catcher Mike Betz led Redford's charge with three hits and five RBI.

Sunday, Northville bounced back by sweeping a pair of extra-inning one-run victories over the tough Livonia Angels — and both wins went to reliever Scott Ford, a recent roster addition from Canton.

Relieving starter Dan Zang in the first game, Ford retired nine straight hitters and picked up a 5-4 victory. Northville won the second game 7-6.

Scott Peterson scored the tying run in the seventh when George Clark nubbed a two-out bloop RBI single. Then Eric Engel stepped forward in the eighth, smacking a leadoff double, taking third on a long fly and sailing home on a pickoff attempt error.

The Angels threatened revenge in the nightcap, breaking a 3-3 tie with three unearned runs in the top of the seventh. But Northville came back with two runs with a nerve-wracking two-out rally. Tom Cotter socked a bases-loaded double to score two runs and Mark Chambers zipped home on a misplayed relay to tie the game.

The winning rally came in the ninth when Rob Cannon walked, moved to second on Chris Hauser's sacrifice, and stole third as Greg Ryba walked.

Sports camps train skills

Farmington Hills Parks and Recreation and Oakland Community College are co-sponsoring their second annual instructional sports camps program this summer.

Held at OCC's Orchard Ridge Campus or in the Farmington Hills area, the sports camps are designed to provide a personal approach to the development of skills and techniques in a variety of sports.

Camps are available to both boys and girls of middle school age and above. Each is limited in size to insure that students receive attention suited to their individual needs. Offered on a one-week basis Monday through Friday, students will receive 17.5 hours of instruction.

A registration fee of $45 per student, which includes a free camp shirt, will be charged for each camp. If a group of seven or more students registers at the same time, however, $5 will be subtracted from the registration fee.

This year's roster of sports camps includes:

BOYS BASKETBALL: Available in a choice of three sessions: 9:30 a.m.-1 p.m. July 8-12; 9:30 a.m.-1 p.m. July 15-19; or 1:30 p.m.-5 p.m. July 15-19. Camp Director is Lance Ivey, president Metro Detroit Basketball Academy.

GIRLS BASKETBALL: Available in two sessions: 9 a.m.-12:30 p.m. June 24-28 and 1 p.m.-4:30 p.m., June 24-28. Camp Director is Larry Baker, Associated Press' Michigan Class A Coach of the Year.

CO-ED DIVING: Available in a choice of five sessions, all from 8:30 a.m. to noon: June 17-21, June 24-28, July 22-26, July 29-August 2, August 5-9. Camp

Director is Don Mason, former Division II NCAA national champion and current diving coach at Oakland University and Precision Diving Club.

CHEERLEADING/POM-PON: Available in three sessions for elementary and junior high students: 12:30-4 p.m. June 24-28; 9 a.m.-12:30 p.m., July 8-12; 9 a.m.-12:30 p.m., August 12-16; and for senior high students, 12:30 p.m.-4 p.m., July 8-12. Camp director is Karen Blazettis of Mid American Pompon, Inc.

CO-ED SOCCER: Available in either 9 a.m.-12:30 p.m. sessions or 1:30-5 p.m. sessions on the following dates: June 17-21, June 24-28, August 12-16, August 19-23. Camp director is Mike Ruddy, former coach at Roper City and Country School and Troy High School.

CO-ED TENNIS: Available in four sessions, all 9 a.m.-12:30 p.m. on the following dates: June 17-21, June 24-28, July 8-12, July 29-August 2. Camp director is James Kerwin, teaching club professional, formerly employed by the Detroit Public School System and Parks and Recreation.

GIRLS VOLLEYBALL: Available in three sessions: 8-11:30 a.m. June 17-21; 1-4:30 p.m. July 8-12; 8-11:30 a.m. July 22-26. Camp director is Richard Nash, women's varsity volleyball coach, Kimball High School.

GOLF RULES CLINIC: Available in two sessions, both from 8-11:30 a.m. on the following dates: June 17-21, and July 8-12. Camp director is Jim Rademacher, Golf Coach, Brother Rice High School. For registration information and further details, call Farmington Hills Parks and Recreation at 471-6115 or the Orchard Ridge Campus Physical Education Department at 471-7715.

Deadline soon for golf tournament

Junior golfers from Indiana, Ohio, Illinois and Michigan will gather at Meadowbrook Country Club in Northville for the second annual Great Lakes Junior Masters Golf Tournament July 8-10. This is a non-handicap tournament open to the first 288 to register.

Golfers must be between the ages of 11 and 17. The field will be cut to 144 after 36 holes (Tuesday's round). Prizes will be awarded to both boys and girls in the following age categories: 11-13, 14-15 and 16-17. Twenty-seven golfers won trophies at last year's tournament, according to Meadowbrook PGA Pro, Joe Reid.

The $35 entry fee covers golf, trophies, food and beverages. Applications and information about housing can be obtained by calling Meadowbrook Country Club (313) 349-3606. Application deadline is 5 p.m. this Sunday.

RECREATION BRIEFS

DISCOVER NORTHVILLE RUN: This year's 5K, 10K and Fun Run events will begin at 9 a.m. June 29 at Northville Downs. Entry fee is $7 in advance, $9 the day of the race. Entrants will receive a free towel, as well as food and refreshments after the race. Proceeds for the run will go to Northville community service projects backed by Northville Rotary. Registration forms can be obtained through the mail by calling Dick Milder at 476-7330 or by writing to Milder, 2002 Farmington Road, Livonia, MI 48152.

TENNIS CLASSIC: The sixth annual Northville Tennis Classic will take place July 5-7 at Northville Fish Hatchery Park, located on Seven Mile Road, one-half mile west of Center (Sheldon). Championships will be awarded in men's singles, women's singles, women's doubles, men's doubles and mixed doubles. The tournament is a qualifier for amateur mixed doubles players in the Lipton Iced Tea Mixed Doubles Championship. Entry fee is $10 for singles, $12 for a doubles team. Balls are supplied. Entry deadline is July 2. Mail entry to Northville Recreation Dept., 303 West Main, Northville, MI 48167 or call tourney director Kerry Hady at 421-7661 or 332-9221.

FAMILY ACTIVITY DAY: The Wayne County Department of Parks and Recreation will host a Family Activity Day this Sunday. From 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. the Middle Rouge parkway will be closed from Newburgh to Northville Roads to allow families to bicycle, run or walk in a safe, unobstructed parkway. Planned children's activities will take place throughout the day. Parking will be permitted on Hines Drive between Northville Road at Wilcox Lake and at Haggerty and Hines. For more information, phone Wayne County Parks and Recreation at 261-1990.

SOCCER:

Northville teams strong in title games

10 & UNDER BOYS: Led by an outstanding "entire team effort" the Bandits tied Plymouth Five 0-0, so both teams shared a division championship. ... The Farmington Tornados topped the Eagles 1-0 in spite of a good game by Eagle forward Joel Elisser. ... Plymouth Six topped the Hot Spurs 6-1, with Chris Barbara scoring the Northville team's lone goal. Mark Ritter was named defensive player of the game and Matt Yagman earned offensive MVP honors. ... Livonia Lightning topped United 3-0 although Kevin McMahon on defense and Michael Koskela on offense played outstanding games for United. ... The Knights edged Plymouth Orange Crush 3-2, with Adam Davis scoring twice and Matt Toupous scoring once. Ted Downs was the Knights' outstanding defensive player and Bill McMillan was offensive MVP.

10 & UNDER GIRLS: The Stray Cats clawed out a 2-0 win over the Rowdies thanks to goalie Jennifer Lower's shutout, goals by Anita Wilhelm and Sarah Piner, and the fine play of offensive MVP Erica Hinz and defensive MVP Jennifer Hesse.

12 & UNDER GIRLS: A "good team effort" by the Stompers wasn't enough to offset Susie Weidman's goal for the Pandas in an exciting 1-0 match that decided the division championship. The Pandas got "great goal tending" by Renee Larabell in the win, as well as "an excellent team effort" ... The Blazers'

Beth Ursel and Cindy Tolsted scored to give their team a 2-0 win over Livonia No. 5. "An outstanding team effort" boosted by fine shutout goalkeeping by Aurilyn Method, Betsy Petrica and Laura Apiligan accounted for the victory.

14 & UNDER GIRLS: The Stray Cats tied Livonia No. 1 in a 1-1 battle. Sarah Piner scored the Cats' goal, while offensive MVP honors went to Julia Birmingham and defensive MVP kudos to Kelly Berger. The Rowdies fell to Plymouth No. 1-3-0 despite good games by striker Kristen Brown and defender Alicia Gustaf.

17 & UNDER GIRLS: Kristen Spigarelli's hat trick and Julie Nieuwoops single tally lifted Northville to a 1-0 win over Plymouth. Sandy Spigarelli was credited with the shutout in goal, while teammate Carrie Hardin was named offensive MVP and Theresa Wilhelm defensive MVP.

17 & UNDER BOYS: Steve Yezback's pair of goals couldn't offset single tallies by Dave Moore, Mike Ruschak, Garek Stolberg and Richard Smith in Arsenal's 4-2 loss to the Raiders. Kevin May was the Raiders' defensive MVP, while a "total team effort" went into Arsenal's game. Jack Sylvestro and Paul Maliszewski each scored twice to lead United's 6-0 pasting of Farmington No. 3. An "entire team effort" and the shutout goalkeeping of Todd Stowell paced the win.

BASEBALL/SOFTBALL:

Unbeaten Mets riding high in G League

1200 GIRLS INTERMEDIATE: In one day, June 14, the Liberties and Phillies had more hits than Elvis Presley did in 20 years. In a 51-hit slugfest, the Liberties prevailed 20-9. While the Phils had 19 hits, the Liberties pounded out 32. Mindy Hoover and Laura MacDuff homered for the winners, with MacDuff driving in six runs. Sister Cindy MacDuff and teammates Cathy Best and Allison Downs each had three hits for the winners. ... The Liberties defeated the Phillies 11-4 June 10, led by Jeanne LaPrad's pair of home runs and four RBI, plus Mindy Hoover's 3-for-3 hitting.

GIRLS PRIMARY: The still-unbeaten Sunbirds rallied for two runs in the fourth and two in the fifth to beat the Gems 9-6 June 13. Winning pitcher Karen Pump had two hits and three RBI, while teammate Tricia Lukowski had two doubles and two RBI, and Michelle McNally had two hits, two runs and two RBI. Katie Wright was 3-for-3 and Matt Kissinger 2-for-2. Brandy Birdsong and Lukowski teamed up for a double play for the winners. Jackie Roob had two RBI for the Gems and teammate Joy Luther had two hits and a run.

F LEAGUE: The 8-1 Padres hung on to first place in F League with a 16-4 win over the Astros June 14. Dave McKee picked up his first win of the season, allowing just one hit during his mound stint. Catcher Don Lewis was 3-for-3 with a double and two singles and Todd Daniels was 3-for-3 with two doubles and a single. ... Eric Semplan's two-run single in the seventh gave the Padres a 4-3 win over the Expos June 10. Todd Daniels (8-1) was the winner in relief of starter Dave McKee. John Fialbe doubled once and singled twice in three trips for the Expos. ... The Reds clipped the Astros 4-2 in a solid pitchers' duel June 6, with three Astros runs unearned. ... The Astros came back June 7 to top the Giants 7-2 behind pitchers Randy Jones and Eddy Ruiz. Scott Probert's grand slam provided all the runs the pair would need.

2 LEAGUE: The Mets topped the Cubs 8-2 June 7, with a four-run fourth and three-run fifth breaking open a close ballgame. Mets starter Mike Lang homered and drove in three runs for the winners, while teammate Ryan Kilner picked up the win in relief and added a single, double and RBI. Catcher Mark Hillinger gunned down two would-be base-stealers in the win. Scott Basall, Jason Urbahn and John Schreiber each went 2-for-2 for the Cubs. ... On June 13, the Mets slammed the Phillies 11-1, although no Met had more than one hit. Matt Bergstrom homered and drove in three runs to lead the undefeated league leaders while Mike Lang, Ryan Kilner and Chris Harris teamed up for a two-hitter. Phillies starter Tim Petrosky allowed just one hit and one unearned run in his three-inning appearance showing, but the Mets exploded for 10 runs in the two innings after his departure. ... The Mets scraped out a 5-3 win over the Angels June 14. Ryan Kilner and Mike Lang homered for the winners and Matt Bergstrom was 2-for-2 with good defensive support at shortstop. ... A balanced Cardinal offense gave the Redbirds a 12-7 win over the Phillies June 14. Kyle Legel homered and Matt Stevens tripled for the winners, while Kevin Rosinski tripled, and Joe Nehs and Andy Haas doubled for the Phils. ... The Cardinals exploded for seven runs in the seventh inning to post a 14-13 come-from-behind win over the Braves June 6. Kyle Legel homered and singled twice for the Cards and Brian Scholz drove in five runs on a triple and two singles. Scott Weiger and Kevin Smoot each went 3-for-4 for the Braves. ... The Mets dropped the Rangers 10-2 June 5, led by Mark Hillinger's two hits and three RBI. Andy Allison's RBI triple also paced the winners' offense. As of last Saturday, G League standings were as follows: 1.) Mets, 9-0; 2.) Angels, Cardinals, Padres, 5-4; 3.) Rangers, 4-5; 4.) Cubs, 4-5-0; 7.) Phillies, 2-7; 8.) Braves, 1-7-1.

H LEAGUE: The Pirates socked it to the Cubs 20-3 in a June 8 battle. While Pirate hurlers Paul Thomas, Bobby Deo and Dan Lyczak held the Cubs to three runs and three hits, Kevin Shaw led an offensive charge by going 3-for-4 with seven RBI. ... On June 14, the Pirates rapped out 14 hits to beat the Mets 11-0. Kevin Shaw went 4-for-4, socked two solo homers and teamed up with Joey Staknis (also 4-for-4) to fan 18 Met hitters. ... Andy Rodzialisowski's home run powered a 2-0 Expo win over the Dodgers June 14. Brian Kelley, Alan Smitley, Trent Stoddard and Neil Yeakle pitched well for the Dodgers. ... Jim Pilci's third hit was the killer in the Braves' 14-13 come from behind win over the Astros June 10. In the bottom of the last inning, Pilot launched a two-run game-winning homer for his fourth and fifth RBI of the game. Teammate Brian Nawrocki was 3-for-3. ... The Rangers scored five runs the fifth to run away from the Expos with a 14-8 win June 4. Tim Stewart socked two triples and drove in five runs while Mark Scholz went two-for-2 and drove in four runs for the Rangers. Mike McCormick runned and drove in three runs for the Expos. ... The Rangers socked the Astros 9-5 in a game that altogether featured 30 bases on balls. Tim Stewart homered for the winners and drove in four runs, while Eric Albertson, Mark Scholz and John Holland each clouted two hits.

Welcome to the City of Northville!

Mainstreet '78 is the ongoing downtown development program of the city. The first phase was completed in 1982 at a cost of $2,100,000. A second phase is now being planned to expand the improvements further.

The project is supervised by the Downtown Development Authority, a board of volunteer citizens appointed by the City Council. The plan, and its revisions as addition phases are developed, are presented to the public through public hearings before adoption by the City Council. In addition, the bond issue which financed the first phase was approved by the City taxpayers at an election. Thus, the citizens are directly involved in the process.

The City Beautification Commission has involved citizens in the project in another way. A donation program was established in 1981 to allow citizens, businesses and civic organizations to contribute trees, tree guards and benches to the downtown project. Since the program began, over $50,000 has been donated. The contributors are recognized by plaques on the donated items. A stroll through our downtown to read the plaques will show you the wide diversity of interest which has been shown in our project.

The short-term purpose of the project is to create a more pleasant and inviting downtown environment for shoppers and visitors to our city. This results in more business activity in the downtown area, which in turn makes the commercial taxbase stronger. The strengthening of the commercial taxbase, the long-term goal of the project, ultimately benefits the city's taxpayers by helping to hold tax burdens down while maintaining city services.

We hope you enjoy your visit to Northville, and in particular our downtown area, of which we are very proud.

Northville Community Chamber of Commerce

Welcome Visitors,

We would like to welcome you to our community and hope that you will enjoy your visit and return soon and often!

We are proud of our downtown area that quite recently has been rejuvenated through the efforts of many people. You will see an inviting atmosphere in which to browse, shop, enjoy some food in our variety of fine restaurants, rest on a park bench and keep track of time by the four sided clock, the centerpiece of downtown.

Just a short way, going east on South Main Street, is one of our famous landmarks, formerly known as 'Nebbs Well,' where the Pere Marquette Railroad stopped for water to use on their dining cars. Webb's Way was also featured in the comic strips in the 1900's in a Detroit newspaper. Now known as the 'Northville Well,' it attracts hundreds who come to sample the pure artesian spring water and fill jugs to take home with them.

Not far from the well is the Ford Motor Company. It intrigues visitors with its' Fitz Overshot water wheel. Also, many varieties of duck and game are now fed and make their home near the Ford plant. The ducks are entertaining for the old as well as the young.

For more than forty years harness horse racing has been held at Northville Downs, Michigan's pioneer pari-mutuel track. The racing season runs from the middle of October to the end of March.

Northville celebrates Memorial Day and July Fourth with parades down the Main Streets of the city. On Memorial Day the service at Rural Hill Cemetery is held at the unique Veterans' plot, a type of plot not found in many small community cemeteries. On the Fourth of July, additional activities are planned at the Mill Race Village ending the day with a beautiful fireworks display.

We are surrounded by State Parks. One of the most popular being Maybury which used to be the old state Maybury Tuberculosis Sanitarium. This has farm animals, field crops, cross country skiing and horseback riding.

Some Northville 'special events' are a Giant Garage Sale held on the third Saturday in May, a Sidewalk Sale the first weekend in August, Farmers' Market every Thursday during the growing season, fun runs, golf tournaments, Historical Society's Tivoli Fair the last week in September is a big two day event and the Northville annual Christmas Walk.

If you have any questions, please contact us at the Chamber Office and we will do our best to assist you.

Mainstreet Update

The Downtown Development Authority is currently working on plans for the second phase of the downtown development project. Many of the concepts and features which are being studied are reviewed in this issue.

Background: Completion of Phase I

The first phase of the MAINSTREET '78 project was complete in 1982, after five years of planning and construction. The project gets its name from the year in which the project plan was originally adopted by City Council, but the first planning started a year earlier with a downtown study committee appointed by City Council in 1977. The committee's recommendations, which were presented at a public meeting in May, 1978, included the following.

1. Make improvements to the public areas of the downtown and encourage expansion of retail space for greater shopping opportunities: these two points were the concerns most frequently expressed by both shoppers and merchants in an opinion survey which the committee had conducted as a part of its study.

2. Create a Downtown Development Authority to carry out the improvement plans: this was a vehicle which the State Legislature had created by the Downtown Development Authority Act in 1975.

3. Use tax increment financing under the Michigan Downtown Development Authority Act to finance the improvements: this procedure, which involves the use of the taxes paid by new developments in the downtown development district, is explained later in this issue.

The City Council acted positively on all of the recommendations. The Downtown Development Authority was created in August, 1978, and the original plan was adopted in December, 1978.

It took two more years of planning to work out the design details, and to arrange the financing of the project. The design development work was financed with Federal Community Development Block Grant Funds. The Downtown Development Authority meet weekly during this period to work out the details and problems that are inherently involved with a large-scale project being planned in an existing commercial district.

The detailed plans were completed early in 1980 and presented to the taxpayers with a request to approve a local bond issue for $1,600,000 to finance the construction of the public improvements. Voter approval would allow the sale of taxpayer-guaranteed bonds at a favorable interest rate. However, the bonds would be paid off with normal taxes paid by improvements within the development district, not with additional tax millage. The voters gave their approval in July, 1980, and the bonds were sold in December, 1980. Construction of Phase I was completed in 1982.

How Tax Increment Financing Pays for Mainstreet '78

The Michigan Downtown Development Authority Act allows the city to divert part of the taxes being paid by commercial improvements in the downtown district, and to use these "captured" taxes to make public improvements within the district. The tax base which exists when the development plan is adopted established the base assessed valuation. For example, when the Northville Downtown Development Plan was adopted in 1978, the downtown district was assessed for a total value of $3,955,700 which became the base assessed value. The taxing units involved (Northville Public Schools, Wayne County, Schoolcraft College and the City) continue to receive their normal taxes each year from this base assessed value.

However, the growth in the downtown district's assessed value, which had increased to $6,423,600 through 1984, has been "captured" by the Downtown Development Authority, and the normal taxes paid each year on the increased valuation ($2,467,900 as of 1984) are available to the Authority to pay for the public improvements in the district. When the captured taxes reach a point where they exceed the need of the Authority to finance the planned improvements, then the excess is returned to the taxing units, the fruits of this program to reinvest in the commercial district to provide a stronger future tax base.

What's Coming in Phase II?

The major components of Phase II of the downtown development project will be parking expansion, continuation of the landscape improvements in the outer edges of the district, and encouragement of new commercial buildings in the downtown to provide more retail space and more shopping choices. Some specific items currently being studied by the Downtown Development Authority include the following:

Parking expansion:

a. Widening of Main Street between Hutton and Griswold, Cady Street between Center and Griswold, and Church Street between Main and Cady, to provide additional street parking.

Commercial space and shopping opportunities:

b. Additional stores on the north side of the Main-Hutton lot.

c. Expansion of the district to include the commercial properties on the south side of Cady between Center and Church, and the west side of Wing between Main and Dunlap.

d. Additional stores on the north side of Main Street between Wing and Center.

e. Redevelopment of properties in the block between Church and Griswold, Main and Cady.

f. Redevelopment of the property at the southwest corner of Main and Center, where the bowling alley is now located.

Beautification Commission Raises Contributions for Trees & Benches

In 1981, the City of Northville Beautification Commission began a program of receiving donations for the Town Clock and the street trees, tree guards and benches which were planned for the downtown development project. Prices were set for each item, and a meeting of service organizations and interested citizens was held to announce the program. Small plaques would be mounted on the items with a dedication selected by the donator. Several commitments were made at the first meeting, and subsequent support was very encouraging. Since the program began, the Beautification Commission has raised over $50,000 for the project, including the Town Clock and most of the trees, guards and benches in Phase I.

There are still a few trees and tree guards available for donation and plaque recognition, and more opportunities will be available in Phase II as the plans are finalized.

Benches may be donated for $550 each. The recognition plaque is mounted in a recess on the back of the bench.

Trees may be donated for $100 each. The recognition plaque is mounted on the tree guard.

Guards may be donated for $250 each. The recognition plaque is mounted on the tree guard.

If you are interested in considering making one of these donations, contact the City Manager's Office.

What's Happening in Downtown Northville

MEMORIAL DAY PARADE

May 28th a day to remember and pay special tribute to those who died for our peace. Northville does this with a colorful parade starting at Northville Downs and processing to Rural Hill Cemetery where guns are fired to salute these beloved war heroes.

FOURTH OF JULY CELEBRATION

Parade, barbeque, craftshow, fireworks, it is all here and all for you as Northville swings through its Fourth of July Celebration. It is a day for family and good friends to enjoy colorful floats, good food, and lots of fun.

The parade passes along downtown Mainstreet, clowns and fire engines following. And when this is through you can go on to the Mill Race Historical Village for more exciting events that go on throughout the afternoon. And top off the day by bringing your blanket to the High School hill on Eight Mile and sit back and enjoy the colorful fireworks display in the night sky.

CHRISTMAS WALK

What sparks the Christmas Holidays into a warm glow? What makes one want to sing Christmas carols even before the first snow? Northville's traditional Christmas Walk. When crowds from miles around flock downtown to walk by beautifully decorated store fronts and go inside to browse and be served hot chocolate, punch and donuts. It is a warm and friendly way for Northville to start its Holiday shopping season. The tradition began in 1958 without intention by the owner of IV Seasons Florist having a Sunday afternoon open house to begin the Holiday season. Year after year more shops joined in and within ten years every downtown shop twinkled with white lights, red ribbons and snowy panes, winning prizes were awarded for the most attractive decorations. So come downtown and be a part of the delightful scene that captures the beauty of the Christmas shopping season. It is held the Sunday before Thanksgiving day from noon until five.

SIDEWALK SALES

It begins at the crack of dawn. Northville merchants are stirring in their shops getting ready for the big event of late summer in Northville, the annual Sidewalk Sales. They set up shop on the streets which are closed to traffic, marking down their prices for the two day sale, and donning their usual friendly attitude for the thousands of shoppers who will flock the streets. Along with the merchants various groups sell refreshments and baked goods and concession stands are also available. From balloons to crafts, you'll find it all on the streets August 2nd and 3rd. Over 50 merchants participate in the event attracting a crowd of approximately 7,000 people.

WALK FOR MANKIND

Take a walk for those who can't Be a participant or a sponsor in Northville's annual Walk for Mankind sponsored by the Northville Jaycees. Let's take advantage of our health and ability to help those who aren't so fortunate. Hot dogs and refreshments are furnished for those who complete the walk.

DUCK FESTIVAL

A wildlife arts and crafts exhibit sponsored by the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce is held in late August or early September. If you favor our feathered friends come to the community center building on West Main and see the exhibit. Eighty percent are ducks and all art may be purchased. Included are duck prints by well known wildlife artist Larry Haden.

ROTARY RUN

Leaving the starting line at Northville Downs. This 10 kilometer run sponsored by Northville Rotary Club is held late in September or early October. For those who take running seriously or for those who just like to go for a morning jog, all are welcomed. There is also a 5 kilometer run and earlier in the day there is a 1 mile run for youths 12 years and under. Trophies are awarded in the various race categories and there are generous amounts of free beer, pop and pizza. There is a $7.00 entry fee.

TIVOLI FAIR

Fall is Tivoli Fair time! One of the largest and the best arts and crafts show in southeastern Michigan. All exhibits are handmade and include tole painting, fabrics, pewter, oil painting wood and fabric duck decoys and many others ranging in price from $1.50 to three hundred dollars. This event is scheduled for the last weekend in September or the first weekend in October and will be held at Northville Downs. Admission is $1.50 for adults and 50 cents for children under twelve and 50 cents for senior citizens.

TAILGATE FLEA MARKET

From antique buffs to junk lovers, you can join them all at the Tailgate Flea Market held every first Saturday of each month from 9-2 at the Northville Plaza Mall. Space is available to all so when you get the urge to clean that long overdue basement or attic, pack it in the trunk and set up your junk from September through May.

1985 Northville Beautification Winners.

Northville Beautification Commission

For more than twenty years the Northville Beautification Commission has fostered programs to enhance and preserve the attractiveness of the Northville community. The City of Northville has consistently received national and state awards for their accomplishments.

The Northville Beautification Commission actively participated in the planning of Mainstreet 78, the widely acclaimed downtown beautification project.

Another major activity is the Annual Awards Program.

Twice each year members of the Northville Beautification Commission inspect the exteriors of commercial, industrial and institutional properties throughout the City and judge their appearance. Special attention is given to overall appearance, windows and landscaping (if applicable), and sanitation. Using a uniform standard, point values in each applicable category are awarded to all of the properties.

Those points are then tallied after the second inspection, usually done in April, and the properties eligible for recognition are selected based on their total points.

There has been an obvious increase in the number of recipients as more and more owners are improving their properties and that pride is very apparent with residential property owners as well.

Recognition is traditionally given at the annual luncheon honoring the visiting Mayor on Mayor Exchange Day during Michigan Week by presentation of attractive awards to be displayed by the recipients.

"Our Town Downtown"

This spring Northville Mayor pro-tem G. Dewey Gardner was concerned that all of the city's 40,000 tulips would be gone before Michigan Week when the downtown usually is its most colorful.

"It was too hot too soon," Gardner explained. Normally, the tulip show is at its peak about the third week in May. However, annuals are planted in the decorative tubs around town to provide bright color all summer long.

Visitors also see thriving trees planted between sidewalk and street and the four-sided town clock that is the downtown centerpiece of the city's renovation project, Mainstreet '78. The project attracted statewide attention as Northville became one of the first communities in the state to use what has been termed "captured taxes" to pay for improvements and beautification designed to keep and attract shoppers.

Basically, it means that the downtown development, completed and dedicated in May, 1982, almost is paying for itself. Since 1978 all tax base growth in the three-block central business district has been used to repay the $1.6 million borrowed by the city.

That growth — the difference between the pre-1978 assessed valuation of the downtown properties and the current value — will continue to be "captured" and used until the entire debt is retired.

City Manager Steven Walters points out that the plan has succeeded without any major development. Additions and a Down River Savings and Loan building have been the only growth although a major development currently is being proposed for the main intersection of town that would double the tax base.

The Downtown Development Authority (DDA) with its plans to improve sidewalks, parking lots and streets, including placing all wiring underground, was formed through the growing fear the Twelve Oaks Mall in Novi — then under construction — would lure away shoppers.

The downtown renovation project initially was not unanimously welcomed. The first financing plan submitted to voters failed; an intensive educational campaign stressing that the funds would be used only for public property followed. The funding passed by three-to-one at a second election five months later.

After residents and merchants lived through months of streets and sidewalks being torn up, a new look emerged. Attractive bricked areas were beautified with plantings, Victorian street lights and park benches.

Merchants began face lifts on their stores and overhanging street signs disappeared from Main Street. A local realtor, a liquor shop, flower shop, shoe repair and Williamsburg gift shop along Main Street all have acquired new facades in keeping with the Victorian look of the town. A new restaurant that opened also followed the turn-of-the-century decorative theme.

The city, City Manager Walters notes, is almost

4th of July Parade.

into the second phase of the Mainstreet project, which will extend the improvements east on Main and include adjacent Cady street areas.

Visitors often are surprised to learn that much of the beautification work has been done by volunteers who planted the thousands of tulips and other flowers in beds throughout the community. Trees, tree guards and benches were donated by individuals and businesses.

Their work is recognized at an annual beautification luncheon at First Presbyterian Church hosted by Northville Rotary Club during Michigan Week. At this time the Northville Beautification Commission makes awards to those businesses that have enhanced the community by beautifying their places of business, and to volunteer groups assisting in the city's beautification projects.

"All the ones (businesses) that give sales figures surely indicate that it (Mainstreet '78) has succeeded," Walters states, noting that the heavy business downtown restaurants enjoy is another indication of the Mainstreet '78 success.

Genitti's, an Italian restaurant, and MacKinnon's have been joined by a third Main Street restaurant, Crawfords', and all are busy.

There also are no vacant stores in the city. The 108 Group which is proposing a $10 million development at the southwest corner of Main and Center on the site of a bowling alley and parking lot says the attractive downtown is one of the reasons it chose Northville for the project.

Another attraction that visitors see here is the Mill Race Historical Village with a church, schoolhouse, weavers' cottage and two Victorian homes moved to the site and restored.

It is located right around the corner from the Ford Waterwheel Plant on Main Street that is one of the sole survivors of the plants started by the first Henry Ford. This is the plant that supplies feed for a large duck population that occupies its grounds year-round — the ducks themselves have become a tourist attraction with residents and visitors feeding them weekends.

Formerly Brader's

Started in 1924 by Sam and Mary Brader, the first store was opened on North Center Street in part of the opera house building constructed by Samuel Little. Four years later in 1928, it was relocated in a newly constructed building at 141 East Main Street where it continues today.

Sam Brader's nephew, Harry Himmelsteib, operated the store in a partnership until illness forced Brader to sell out in 1945. In 1963 illness also forced Himmelsteib to sell, and Aaron Gellerman became the new owner and manager.

The store was then purchased in 1979 by Del & Ila Black & is now known as Del's Department Store.

Northville Historical Society

Greetings from Mill Race Historical Village

The creation of Mill Race Historical Village was under taken in 1972 by the Northville Historical Society to: preserve examples of architectural styles common to the Northville area prior to 1900, establish a community historical museum, and create a park for community and civic functions. Ford Motor Company donated the land, which consists of 11 acres including a pond, to the city of Northville for use as a historical village and park. A grist mill occupied the site prior to Ford Motor Company's purchase of the land.

The Northville Historical Society is responsible for the financing and operation of Mill Race Historical Village. The buildings within the village are: the New School Church and the Hunter House, both of Greek Revival style, the Yerkes House, of Victorian Carpenter Gothic style, the Cottage House, used as a studio by the Mill Race Weaver's Guild, the Wash-Oak one room school house, and a Gazebo. A replica of the Hirsch Blacksmith Shop of Northville currently is being constructed in the village.

The Northville Historical Society's Board of Directors hopes that you can visit our village and enjoy your step back into the history of Northville.

Sincerely,
John K. Brugeman
President

Northville Jaycees

The Northville Jaycees are commemorating their 25th anniversary this year; twenty-five years of community involvement and leadership training for their membership.

Their next community project, and by far their most demanding, is the coordination and execution of the 4th of July Parade, Chicken BBQ and Fireworks display. The hours of organization and planning spent by each involved person culminate in a day of patriotism, food, and good old fun. It's a day that anyone living in the area has to experience to fully appreciate the efforts involved.

Toys for Tots, Visit from Santa, Millionaire's Party, Teen Dances, Easter Egg Hunt and Haunted House are just a few other projects that the community looks forward to every year and each one is run by the Northville Jaycees.

If you're between the ages of 18-36 please join us at a general membership meeting, held the 4th Wednesday of each month at City Hall, 8:00 P.M. Perhaps one of these projects interests you, or maybe you've got a great community project you'd like to see run — the Jaycees would love to hear your ideas and perhaps help your ideas become reality!

Northville Public Library

The Northville Public Library, located in the Northville Municipal Building at 215 W. Main Street, serves residents of both the city and township of Northville.

The library circulates books, pamphlets, newspapers, encyclopedias, video-cassettes, records and puppets. In addition, of the over 100 magazines subscribed to by the library, all but the most current issues may be checked out.

Library cards are required to check out materials. The only requirement for a card is proof of Northville city or township residency. Children under 18 also need a parent's signature.

As a member of the Wayne Oakland Library Federation, the Northville Public Library has access to books from 66 other member libraries in the system. If a patron requests a book not owned by Northville, it may be obtained through the interloan system.

Other services available through the WOLF system include 16mm films, census information on microfilm for genealogical searches and SAMS Photofacts for TV and radio repair.

The Northville Public Library also offers the following specialized services:

Investment information in Standard and Poor's and Value Line.

Xerox copier—10 cents per copy.

Large Print books.

"Talking Books," as well as cassettes, from the Wayne County Library for the Blind MOIS (Michigan Occupational Information System)—up to date career information on microfiche.

Civil Service job announcements.

Friends of the Northville Public Library

The Friends of the Northville Public Library is a non-profit organization whose goal is to strengthen the library's collection and services.

The Friends are volunteers committed to the importance of libraries and their role as resources for life-long learning.

Northville Calling Cart

The Northville Calling Cart has been welcoming new residents and acquainting them with the area for over 25 years. A personal visit is made to each new household and merchants are introduced through a gift, a discount, or a service. This thoughtful service that really makes a newcomer feel welcome, is available only because of the continuing support of most Northville merchants.

Northville, the unique city with the friendly, small town atmosphere, is the place where people care enough about people to take the time and trouble to supply the Cart with names and addresses of new move-ins.

I feel the way the Chamber of Commerce and everyone in town has worked to make this out-reach to the new people in our midst, a success, is a wonderful commentary about Northville. With our expanding support, we hope to grow along with Northville for another 25-plus years.

For further information about the Northville Calling Cart, please contact the Northville Chamber of Commerce or Barbara at 348-3996.

Why does Orin Jewelers do over half their business selling diamonds and precious gems?

It's simple. Orins sells only quality merchandise. We also have the most reasonable prices on diamonds, precious gems and gold jewelry set in the latest and most fashionable styles.

Don't be fooled by 1/2 off sale prices and special deals. You can buy a 1/2 carat diamond anywhere from $600.00 to $3500.00, depending on the quality. The bottom line is, that Orins cares how you spend your hard earned money, and we make it a point to see that you get what you pay for.

Does this sound like the kind of store you have always been looking for? If so, we hope you will give us the opportunity to prove the difference a professional jeweler can make.

Northville Town Hall Lecture Series

For 25 years this fall, the Northville Town Hall Lecture Series has been promising "the best" in lecture programs to ticketholders in Northville, Novi, South Lyon, Plymouth, Farmington, Livonia and several other areas. Our main purpose was to bring culture as well as entertainment to the community. The Northville Town Hall Committee is composed of women from Our Lady of Victory Church as well as the Northville Community. It is a Non-Profit organization with Our Lady's League as sponsors. One half of our profit is given to the League and the other half is awarded to charitable organizations in Northville, Novi, Plymouth, Livonia, Farmington and South Lyon. Speakers and dates for the 1985-86 season are scheduled as follows: Jane Meadows, October 10; Fat Bob Taylor, Nov. 14; Ronna Romney, March 13; and Steven Ford, April 10. The lectures begin at 11:00 a.m. and are held at the Sheraton Oaks in Novi. Season tickets for the lectures are $25.00 for the series. Individual tickets are not sold. Requests for season tickets with checks payable to the Northville Town hall Lecture Series should be mailed to P.O. Box 93, Northville, Michigan, 48167.

AAUW is a national network of 195,000 women who have joined together to use their education for the benefit of women and society. Our members are committed to advancement of women, education, the community, cultural interests, and international relations. We work to open doors of higher education for women, to provide scholarships and fellowships for advanced study, and to improve the quality of all education. AAUW also supports programs to prevent juvenile delinquency, to develop day care centers, and to improve mental health. Each year we raise funds through our auction and booksale to provide scholarships for graduating seniors from Northville High School. Speakers at our monthly meetings and study groups help our members keep abreast of current issues and events. Branch meetings are generally held on the second Tuesday of each month.

Any woman holding a baccalaureate or higher degree from an institution on the AAUW list of qualified institutions or a degree from a foreign institution recognized by the IFUW is invited to join. Applications for membership can be obtained from Joyce Liddle (348-2416), Macia Steward (349-8423) or Jean Hansen (348-6096).

Northville Cooperative Preschool

The Northville Cooperative Preschool (NCP) is a non-profit, non-sectarian, parent-administered preschool for children of ages from 18 months to 6 years. NCP was founded in 1951 by a group of parents who wanted to take an active part in the preschool education of their children. Through the years, NCP has grown from a small group to an organization involving over 50 families each year. We are fully licensed by the State and have two State certified teachers implementing our four separate programs for toddlers, 3 year olds, 4 year olds, and 5 year olds kindergarten preparedness. In addition to the teacher, each session day in each of the programs involves the participation of at least two parents of children in the program, on a rotating basis.

NCP is managed by a Board of Directors composed entirely of parents of children currently attending the school. In addition to participating on a rotating basis in the daily sessions of the school, each parent family in the cooperative has a job responsibility for the entire year. These jobs range from such activities as instructional and play material preparation and classroom clean up, through editing our school's newspaper, "Kid Bits." Each member family unit is also encouraged to provide its own special talents on all preschool projects and events. NCP participates in many community events, including the conducting of a pine cone wreath making workshop for members of the public as a fund raising event for the preschool each fall.

Home for NCP is currently 501 West Main, in the Old Village School in Northville. We have a bright and cheerful room in this facility which provides an appropriate setting for our preschool activities. Through the years, scores of parents have dedicated time, talent and donations to provide equipment and materials to enrich this environment and encourage positive learning and socializing experiences for the children involved in the program.

The preschool is a place where children grow and learn in an atmosphere of skilled direction, consistency, warmth and cooperation. Children in the program develop living and learning skills as well as problem solving techniques, as they learn to accept separation from their parents, to socialize with their peers, and to respond to other adults. A wide variety of materials are available from the earliest toddler sessions through the 5 year old kindergarten preparation sessions as the children both self-select and are directed into different activities individually and in groups.

Parent members of NCP, both mothers and fathers, gain an opportunity to meet other parents, an opportunity to both receive and give support during the joyous and trying times of child rearing, and an opportunity to become involved in their community. They are also given a chance to contribute their talents and abilities to their children and their community, and an opportunity to see, have a say in, and share in their child's development during the preschool years.

For further information with respect to Northville Cooperative Preschool, parents are requested to call 348-1791.

Northville Community Recreation

The Northville Community Recreation Commission represents recreational opportunities for the residents of the City of Northville, Northville Township and the Northville Public School District.

The Northville Community Center, dedicated in 1954 for community utilization, is located at 303 West Main in the City of Northville. The Community Center houses an official size gymnasium with bleacher seating, stage, meeting rooms, kitchen and locker and showerrooms, as well as the administrative offices for the Recreation Department. The Community Center hosts various activities and special events throughout the year and is available for meetings, parties, receptions and gatherings on a rental basis.

Recreation opportunities include a wide variety for the pre-schooler, youth, teen, adult and senior adults. Our popular programs include: swim lessons, day camping, Safety Town, golf and tennis lessons, downhill skiing, exercise activities, co-ed and women's volleyball, square dancing, ballet and tap lessons, cross country skiing, junior baseball, and soccer and senior citizen activities.

The Senior Citizen Center is located at 501 West Main Street, in the Northville Board of Education Office Building. Activities for seniors include: exercise activities, weekly and monthly shopping trips, a health screening series, trips to popular activities and areas, home service opportunities, special events and a variety of social programs.

Seasonal activity brochures are mailed to all residential patrons within our community and display the various recreational opportunities available to them. Registration for a wide variety of activities takes place year around and you may do so by mail or in person at the Northville Community Recreation Office.

The Northville Community Center and administrative offices are located at 303 West Main Street. The office is open Monday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

For additional information about recreation opportunities within the Northville Community or general information please contact us at 349-0203.

The Northville Woman's Club

The Northville Woman's Club was organized in 1892 for women interested in educational and intellectual meetings. They meet the first and third Friday from October through March usually at the Presbyterian Church or the Mill Race Village.

It is a non-profit club that supports an applicant for Girls State and gives a scholarship to a deserving senior student.

The Civic Improvement committee selects areas for beautification such as a tree, flowers and shrubs for the city of Northville and Northville Township Hall.

Programs vary from music by Northville High School students and Michigan Opera Company, community leaders, law enforcement agencies, travel information, TV and radio personalities, fashion, etc.

For membership contact President Pat Eden, 349-3366.

The Northville Arts Commission

Northville's seven member Arts Commission was formed in 1979. Our goal is to support the development of the Arts in the entire Northville City and Township community.

While 1984 was eventful for us, the 1985-86 season looks to be even more so. Plans include continuation of our monthly lecture series, and a series of four Friday evening concerts in the central business district park. Dates for the concerts are: July 12, 19, and 26 and August 9.

The 1985-86 lecture series will conclude with the June 12 lecture on the art of stained glass. The 1985-86 season will commence in September. Details on the next season will be available in our newsletter, Arts Notes. If you'd like to add your name to our mailing list, please send your name and address to:

The Northville Arts Commission
c/o Northville City Hall
215 West Main Street
Northville, MI 48167

Please stay in touch with us. We'd like to be a part of your 1985-86 plans.

Country Girls Branch

Woman's National Farm and Garden Association, Inc.

Northville, Michigan

The Country Girls Garden Club of Northville have spent many hours of planting, weeding and cleaning flower beds in downtown Northville. Our "green thumb" members have kept busy planting many of the tulips, geraniums and petunias in town. So far, 40,000 tulip plants plus the various annuals beautify the areas of Main St., Center St., Dunlap St., and Mary Alexander Court.

Our Club has purchased a bench located at Main and Center St. We have also contributed monetary gifts for shrubs and trees along South Main St.

Dr. William S. Demray, D.D.S. residence on Main and Griswold and Ware's Square on Hutton St. have received our club's "Garden of the Month" awards.

We will continue to help with the beautification of Northville in the future.

Designed to be...

... Different!

Perhaps you thought you weren't qualified to enjoy the benefits of being a member of COMMUNITY Federal Credit Union. You might have noticed that a lot of people in your community have already become members. You can benefit from being a member if you live or work in Plymouth, Canton, or Northville, or even if you have a relative who is already a member.

Why not become a member/owner of COMMUNITY Federal Credit Union instead of being treated like an ordinary customer at regular banks and savings and loans? All of our members are owners of the Credit Union and are entitled to share the earnings through increased dividends on savings, checking, and low cost loans. COMMUNITY Federal is a non-profit financial institution whose sole purpose is to assist people, like yourself, in the sound management of their financial affairs.

Visit one of our conveniently located offices, and see why so many people are joining.
