County lays claim to Plymouth Center la

By KEVIN WILSON

Wayne County is staking claim to the Plymouth Center for Human Development property it gave to the state nearly 30 years ago, citing a deed restriction that limits state use of the land to treatment of retarded children.

A June 18 letter from county corporation counsel John O'Hair addressed to C. Patrick Babcock, director of the state department of mental health (DMH) asks that the state turn over title to the 250-acre site at Five Mile and Sheldon in Northville Township.

O'Hair cites a reverter clause in the deed by which the county gave the land, formerly the Wayne County Training School, to the state in 1957. The county granted the property to the state at no cost. The so-called "reverter clause" in the deed requires the land be returned to county ownership if the state ever ceases to use it for treatment of "mentally diseased children and/or mentally deficient children."

In the letter drafted by principal attorney William Dietrich, the corporation counsel states that: "We have information indicating that the State of Michigan has closed the Plymouth State Home and Training School formerly operated on this site and has utilized the property other than as a hospital for mentally diseased and/or deficient children."

"It is, therefore, our opinion that by operation of the express provision in the Deed, title to this property has reverted to or reverted in the County of Wayne," the letter declares.

Plymouth Center has not housed mental health system patients since it was closed under a court order spurred by revelations of patient abuse. Prior to that time, it was home to institutionalized mentally disabled persons. Most of the residents have been transferred to community group homes.

DMH spokesman Tom DeLoach said he has not seen O'Hair's letter, but speculated that the department will attempt to retain the property. He later confirmed that the letter has been received and referred to DMH attorneys for review.

"I suppose you'd have to get a team of lawyers together and let them hash it out," DeLoach said. "There's a problem in that, at the time (1957), they spoke of retarded persons as 'children' regardless of age. To my knowledge, right from the beginning, people were admitted to Plymouth Center who were chronologically adults."

He also said that the site continues to be used for mental health purposes.

O'Hair said Tuesday, however, that a portion of the property the state plans to sell belongs to the county regardless of use of the remaining property, since the reverter clause addresses "the lands herein conveyed, or any part thereof..." Some buildings west of Sheldon are being used to house

Jaycees, VFW plan big bash for Fourth

Northville's day-long Fourth of July celebration this year will mark the 25th year that the Northville Jaycees have sponsored the annual parade of marchers, floats and bands that draws an area-wide audience.

A highlight of festivities this year will be the dedication of the flagpole plot in front of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 4012 building on South Main.

Parade route

Here's the route the Fourth of July parade will follow as it leaves Northville Downs at 10 a.m.:

North on Beal to Griswold.
Griswold north to Main Street.
Main Street west past the reviewing stand at city hall to Rogers.
South on Rogers to Cady.
East on Cady to Wing.
South on Wing to Fairbrook.
East on Fairbrook across Center and into the Downs parking lot.

Plan okayed, but not sewer

Northville City Council approved a request of Mijdub Realty Company and Belanger Inc. unanimously Monday to amend its EDC financing resolution to enable Belanger to lease a new, larger facility to be built by Mijdub on township property.

Belanger representatives explained the transfer of operations would bring the company's sales office back into the city and would "generate a good 15 additional jobs."

The firm is expanding its operation to include a new line of doors from West Germany, council was told. The resolution was an EDC requirement.

The council delayed action on the request from the township to extend city sewer service to the proposed facility at the Jack Doherty Complex at Doherty Drive and Gerald Avenue, asking city manager Steve Walters to seek more specific information on the meaning of "temporary."

The township letter stated that the connection to the eight inch sanitary sewer at the southwest corner of the property would be logical and "it would appear this situation would be temporary" as the project in the future probably would be connected to a township sanitary sewer.

Mayor Paul Vernon said Monday that Wayne County Executive William Lucas has promised to be on hand for the dedication about 10:30 or 11 a.m. Lucas in years past has been a familiar figure as he walked with other officials in the annual parade.

A 6 a.m. flag-raising at city hall officially will begin the Northville community's Independence Day activities.

It will be followed by an "all you can eat" breakfast at the Masonic Temple starting at 6:30 a.m. and continuing until the 10 a.m. parade time. Union Chapter No. 55, Royal Arch Masons, will be serving pancakes, sausage, scrambled eggs, juice and beverage for everyone. Donation is $3 for adults, $1.50 for children 12 and under.

A bed race along Main sponsored by the Northville Recreation Department, a bike decorating contest and an antique car judging will precede the parade.

Theme of this year's parade is "Anything Silver" in recognition of the anniversary.

The Jaycees are honoring both Karl Knott and Clancy Ely as co-grand marshals of the parade. Knott was chairman for the first Fourth of July parade in 1961. Ely was president at the time. Knott later served as president of the Jaycees in 1964.

The parade is scheduled to be televised on Omnicom cable television at 8 p.m. July 5.

Parade chairman Kevin Hartshorne is asking any groups planning to enter a float in the parade and who have not registered to call him at 348-6315. The lineup of floats, bands and dignitaries will start at 8:30 a.m. in the Northville Downs parking lot. All participants are to be in line by 8:45 a.m. to be eligible for judging.

Antique cars are to get in line from 8:30-9 a.m. in the Downs parking lot with judging to be at 9:15 a.m. by Bob Cummings, Jaycee past president.

Decorated bike contest judging will be at 9:30 a.m. in the parking lot. Entrants should check in with Debbie Anderson between 9-9:30 a.m.

The parade will proceed west along Main from its starting point at Griswold at the Downs parking lot.

Following the parade, there will be a full day of events in Mill Race Historical Village on Griswold north of Main near the Ford waterwheel plant.

The Jaycees will serve their traditional chicken barbecue with coleslaw, chips and pop along with hot dogs throughout the afternoon. A feature at the barbecue will be the A&W Root Beer Bear. The Jaycees also will be sponsoring a "fun" dunk tank.

A watermelon eating contest will be held by Northville Rotary for kids of all ages at 1 p.m.

Ready to dedicate

Commander Carl Baker of Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 4012 gives the American flag a test run up the new flagpole in front of the post home at 438 South Main. The flagpole is to be dedicated in Independence Day ceremonies Thursday following the Fourth of July parade. Wayne County executive William Lucas has accepted the invitation to officiate. V.F.W. members and auxiliary together with beautification commission workers have planted the area around the flagpole with red geraniums and white petunias. A brass plaque on the north side of the patio reads: "In memory of liberty's defenders, V.F.W. Post 4012, July 4, 1985." The flagpole project, with funding by the local post, completes the beautification of South Main. Record photo by Steve Fecht.

Fence 'delay' irks officials, bidding done

By KEVIN WILSON

There is no fence going up around Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital this week, disappointing local officials who believe the Department of Mental Health (DMH) pledged that construction would begin Monday, July 1.

A DMH official contends, however, that the project is "moving along" and that a misunderstanding is to blame for any belief that the fence is being delayed.

"As far as we can determine, the bids are in at the hospital but won't be sent to Lansing until some time next week and it may be another month before a contract is awarded," said Northville Township Supervisor Susan Heintz.

DMH spokesman Tom DeLoach said the bid procedure is in its concluding stages but said "I certainly hope that's not the case" when asked if bids were being received at the hospital rather than through regular department of management and budget procedures.

Bid specifications published earlier required construction to begin within 90 days of awarding of the contract. If the contract is awarded next month, the winning bidder may have until November to begin installation of the three-sided, six-foot high chain link fence. Construction money was included in the state budget for the current fiscal year, which ends in October.

Heintz said she was surprised that fence construction did not begin Monday, since DMH director C. Patrick Babcock reportedly told two local officials that was the date set for construction to begin.

"Babcock promised," she said. "He told (township clerk) Georgina (Goss) they would start construction July 1. Now we understand that they've done preliminary work — some surveying of the grounds and laying out where the fence will go. They can say, technically, that they were to 'start work' July 1. I definitely feel we've been misled."

First reports of the July 1 date came through Senator R. Robert Geake (R-Northville), who also spoke to Babcock and received the same information Goss was given, Heintz said.

But DeLoach said the July 1 date "is very probably some kind of misunderstanding. I'm not privy to every conversation Mr. Babcock has had on the subject, but I do know he is very wary of specifying a date certain, saying things like 'the fence will be up next Tuesday.' We all know it has to go through the regular bid procedures and that can result in delays."

He said the project "certainly is moving ahead" and that all planning and engineering work is complete. "It's been surveyed and staked out. The fence is more than a mile long. It should be constructed through the summer."

City denies housing director raise

After two closed sessions, city council Monday night ratified the contract of the Northville Police Command Officers' Association and denied the request from the housing commission for a salary increase for its director.

According to housing commission president Ray J. Casterline II, the request for an increase for Allen Terrace director Frances R. Yoakam was made following the commission's evaluation of "her continuing excellent performance" and because she has received an offer from a community in western Michigan with a "considerable salary and benefit increase."

After discussion in closed session, the council, with Mayor Paul Vernon and Carolann Ayers absent, voted 2-1 to deny the increase at this time. Mayor Pro Tem G. Dewey Gardner and J. Burton DeRusha voted no while Paul Folino voted yes.

After the vote Gardner told Yoakam,

"The denial is no reflection at all regarding your ability, but, inasmuch as the council is in process of beginning evaluations and reviewing salaries, we feel the request is premature."

DeRusha told Yoakam, "We hope you'll stay."

Northville currently pays its housing director $25,667. In addition to the city's five percent fiscal year increase budgeted for the director, the commission was seeking an additional 8 1/2 percent to be competitive with the offer she received from Wyoming, which pays $30,680.

The commission's salary comparison showed Midland, with a city-owned facility is paying its director $32,600, Livonia, $34,700, Albion, $28,000 (1984 figure) and Plymouth, $18,696 (part-time.) Only Plymouth does not offer a vehicle or vehicle allowance.

The acceptance of the NPCOA contract followed negotiations with the police officers' union. In it the city agreed to increase the gun allowance to $375 a year, to increase the clothing allowance to $500 a year, to increase life insurance coverage to 60/120 but rejected an increase in cleaning allowance as well as any increase in present longevity formula.

The two-year contract was accepted by both sides on condition that the steps between command officer ranks be equalized with the NPCOA willing to reduce the level of the top three ranks in exchange for bringing the lowest rank up to the proposed level.

In the new formula a sergeant will receive 8.4 percent more than a patrolman; staff sergeant, 12.4 percent; lieutenant, 16.4 percent; and captain, 20.4 percent. Based on the present formula 1986-87 salaries were listed at: sergeant, $30,825; staff sergeant, $32,406; lieutenant, $33,571; and captain, $34,694.

Activities rescheduled

Because of the Fourth of July holiday, both the weekly Northville Farmer's Market and the monthly Goodwill pickup times are being changed.

The Northville Farmer's Market, usually held from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Thursdays in the parking lot at Hutton and Dunlap behind Down River Federal Savings and Loan, will be held today (Wednesday) this week.

The new monthly pick-up of donations of the month in the parking lot at First United Methodist Church, 777 West Eight Mile, for this month only will be a week later on July 11. Hours are 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Goodwill announces that tax receipts will be issued for donations.

Because of space limitations, large items cannot be accepted, but "just about anything found in the home is needed," representatives of the organization report. On the "want list" are small appliances, television sets and radios, books, clean and usable clothing and shoes, china and kitchenware, toys and tools.

Goodwill Industries is a Torch Drive Agency which serves handicapped individuals in the Greater Detroit area. Materials donated help provide training and employment for the handicapped workers in thrift stores.

Escapee attempts suicide when caught

In the Township . . .

A 51-year-old Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital escapee attempted suicide when he was caught shoplifting a bottle of rum at a Seven Mile Road produce store June 24, according to township police reports.

The manager of Paul's Produce told police he stopped the man as he attempted to leave the store without paying for a pint bottle of rum. While driving to the scene at around 11:30 a.m., police were told the suspect had inflicted injuries on himself.

When police arrived, the report states, they saw blood on the man's arms and legs and a severe laceration on one leg. The escaped patient told police he had cut himself because he did not want to return to the hospital and knew he would be returned when caught. According to the report, the man cut himself with a piece of broken glass he had found in the field behind the store.

NRPH security officers helped township police load the patient into a CEMS ambulance, which took him to St. Mary Hospital in Livonia for treatment. Police filled out a form to request that the man be readmitted to NRPH. He was identified as an escapee from Ward A-1-1.

A blue 1985 Pontiac Trans Am valued at over $15,500 was reported stolen from an Innsbrook Apartments parking lot the night of June 24. The owner told police he parked the car shortly before 10 p.m. that night and noticed it missing at 9:30 a.m. June 25.

By that time, it had been recovered in the City of Detroit. Most of the car was recovered intact, but it suffered $2,800 worth of damage, police reported.

Both front fenders were buckled at an estimated cost of $1,000 each to repair, the steering column had been broken in the theft and the headliner (interior of the roof) had been damaged. The latter two items each were estimated to cost $400 to repair.

A township woman was injured Thursday while pumping gas at the Gas-N-Go station at Northville Road and Seven Mile, police reported.

Mary Reece, 34, suffered a severe leg injury when the car behind hers at the station rolled forward and trapped her left leg between the car bumpers.

Police ticketed Martha Rado, 64, a Glen Haven resident, for careless driving in the incident. Rado told police she pulled up behind Reece's car at the pumps, put her foot on the brake pedal and leaned over to go into her glovebox to open the trunk. She said she heard a scream and looked up to see Reece trapped between the cars.

Reece was taken by CEMS ambulance to St. Mary for treatment of her leg injury.

A 16-year-old Irongate Court resident was injured June 15 when he drove his car into a parked U-Haul truck on Crystal Lake Road, police reported.

The youth was ticketed for careless driving and received 65 stitches to close a laceration in his left arm, the police report of the incident states.

The teen told police he was driving at 30 miles per hour on Crystal Lake when he entered a curve where the road

Youngest VFW member

Lebanon and Grenada make him a vet

Residents who watched the Memorial Day parade May 27 may have noticed a younger-than-usual marcher among the veterans striding along together from Northville Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 4012.

He was William H. Shaw, a 22-year old Northville Township resident, who was installed into the post February 19 to become its youngest member.

Bill wasn't sure last week whether he'd be marching in the Fourth of July Parade but was quick to say he's enjoying being a member of the post.

Post Commander Carl Baker, also one of its younger members, remarked, "It's especially gratifying to welcome one so young to our ranks."

Bill enlisted in the U.S. Navy in 1980 after graduating from Northville High School.

During the Iranian hostage crisis, he was assigned to the aircraft carrier

U.S.S. Independence. He boarded the ship in the Indian Ocean after traveling from Alaska, Okinawa and the Philippines.

He served as a boatswain mate aboard the aircraft carrier during the Lebanon campaign and in the successful invasion of Grenada in October, 1983.

Bill, who lives with his parents, Robert and Elizabeth Shaw on Franklin

Road, explained, "I've wanted to join the V.F.W. ever since they sent us gift packages while we were patrolling the sea lanes around Lebanon. It sure was great to open those presents from back home."

Currently he is working at Holloway Construction in Wixom.

When he has time, woodworking and photography are his favorite hobbies and baseball is his favorite sport.

This Fourth is the 25th for Northville Jaycees

The Northville Historical Society will be held on the Mill Race grounds throughout the afternoon. Mill Race Docents will be on duty in the historic buildings to guide visitors through them.

Demonstrations of the old fashioned crafts of basket weaving and quilting will be given.

There also will be ice cream and lemonade booths staffed by Northville High School cheerleaders on the grounds.

The Northville-Nowi Community Band will be playing at the Mill Race gazebo at 1 p.m.

Fireworks will begin at dusk with the Jaycees setting them off from the top of the high school hill. Jaycees report that the fireworks will be ignited from a location east of the usual one because of the high school construction, and add that the best views will be from Amerman area and the hill on the east side of the high school.

From 8:30 p.m. until the end of the display, Eight Mile will be closed to traffic from Sheldon to Taft. There will be no parking along Eight Mile.

Thirteen-year-old Tim Daniels of 21800 Rathlone is the winner of a drawing awarding him the honor of setting off the first display.

Because of construction work at the high school, there will be no parking in the lot there. Parking will be available for a $1 donation to the Jaycees at both Amerman Elementary and Cooke Junior High. There will be seating on the hill of the high school, but not on the parking lot or school grounds.

In event of rain, the parade will be totally canceled, reports Teresa Polino, publicity coordinator for the Jaycees. Rain or shine, the chicken barbecue will be held under a tent.

Rain date for the fireworks is Saturday, July 6.

Donations from both the city and township as well as from local merchants have helped defray the costs of the parade and fireworks.

Police advise caution in buying fireworks

By MARILYN MORRISON

Fireworks and July 4 seem to go hand in hand. But so do fires and injuries resulting from the misuse of fireworks.

In Michigan, 356 fires caused by fireworks were reported in 1983. These fires resulted in property loss of approximately $286,664. In 1982 The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission reported 8,500 firework-related injuries treated at hospital emergency rooms throughout the nation.

Last July 4, two men, one from Novi and the other from Milford, were seriously injured after shooting bottle rockets through the roof of their van.

Police reported the two men were injured when a bottle rocket either did not fly out of the van or flew out and then back in to the van. Police said the bottle rocket hit a container of gun powder, creating a sudden, hot flash fire.

Novi Fire Inspector Ted Kovarik said the bottle rockets the men were using were illegal.

Kovarik said he realizes the Fourth of July is a festive occasion, but stressed that fireworks should be used properly and only if they are legal.

In order to make your July Fourth weekend safe and legal, the Novi Fire Department has outlined what's legal and what's not legal as far as fireworks are concerned.

Not all "D.O.T. Class C" (Department of Transportation — least dangerous fireworks) labeled fireworks are legal in Michigan for use by the consumer. The only fireworks devices which may be sold at the retail level and used by the general consuming public are restricted to the following: toy paper caps; wire sparklers (size No. 14 or less); flitter sparklers; toy snakes; toy smoke devices; toy trick noise makers; cone fountains and cylinder fountains.

Fireworks devices other than those noted are illegal for sale and use unless proper permits are obtained from the local governing body.

Fireworks that send a projectile into the air, spin, twirl, or emit an audible sound (excluding toy paper caps and toy trick noise makers) are illegal.

The Michigan Fire Service News suggests that when using fireworks, the following precautions be followed:

- Make sure the fireworks are legal for use by local ordinances or state law;
- Check for a manufacturer's label on all fireworks and instructions for proper use — illegally manufactured fireworks rarely have either;
- Provide adult supervision for children and do not allow young children to handle fireworks;
- Light only one device at a time;
- Ignite fireworks only outdoors and away from buildings and combustible materials;
- Do not attempt to alter the device or use in a manner not intended.

Most illegal fireworks find their way to Michigan from Ohio, where fireworks laws are much more liberal, according to Kovarik.

Aside from the tips given by Michigan Fire Service News, Kovarik said to be careful buying fireworks in retail stores. Not all the fireworks sold are legal, he said.

In the Novi/Northville area, Kovarik said the sale of illegal fireworks by local merchants is not a problem, but he didn't exclude the possibility it could become one.

"There are always people around that will do anything for a buck," he said.

changes from southbound to westbound. He said the car began to slide as he entered the curve and then he saw the truck parked at the outside curb. The youth told police he put his arm "to push away" from the vehicle when he saw that a collision was imminent. His arm was lacerated when the crash shattered the driver's side window. He was not using his seatbelt, according to the police report.

A 65-year-old Texas woman was injured in a June 14 accident on Eight Mile Road just west of Beck, township police reported.

Judith Ann Kohl, 34, of Northville was ticketed under a local ordinance for failure to yield while making a U-turn, the report states.

Kohl told police she attempted a U-turn while westbound on Eight Mile about 0.2 mile west of Beck in her 1981 Chevrolet truck (a van or pickup) shortly after 7:30 a.m. She had the truck sideways on the road when an eastbound car hit the truck broadside.

Brian Daavettila, 20, a Pontiac Trail resident, told police he was driving eastbound when he crested a hill and saw the truck across the road. He said he was unable to stop in time and hit it.

Daavettila complained of a minor injury but declined an offer of medical treatment. He had been wearing his seatbelt. His 1977 Chevrolet had to be towed away.

Jacquelyn Hamilton, 65, of Fort Worth, Texas was a passenger in the back of the truck and also was injured in the collision, police reported. Hamilton was not wearing a seatbelt at the time of the accident. She was transported by CEMS ambulance to Providence Hospital for treatment.

A fingerprint at the scene of one of a rash of 10 reported break-ins, attempted break-ins and larcenies the night of June 10 in Northville Estates Subdivision has linked an area resident to one of them.

Detective David Fendelet said Monday that the arraignment of James Paul Broad, 19, who has been living both in Northville and Westland, was made after fingerprints at the scene of one of the break-ins matched those on file.

He praised police work of Lieutenant Gerald Ryan in lifting a latent print from the scene. It was matched by Michigan State Police crime laboratory to Broad's.

A Not Guilty plea was entered for Broad who is housed in Oakland County Jail as he was unable to raise the $15,000 or 10 percent bond required. He is scheduled to appear in 35th District Court Monday, July 8.

A good move

Efforts to have unused state-owned property in the township sold to private developers received a boost from Wayne County's recent decision to lay claim to the property. Under a deed restriction dating back to 1957, the county hopes to reclaim title to the Plymouth Center for Human Development property — some 250 acres that abuts both the proposed senior citizens' village site and other county-owned land.

Assuming that the legal issues work out in the county's favor, the decision to enforce the "reverter clause" written into the terms of the agreement by which the former Wayne County Training School was converted to become Plymouth Center puts a big dent in the state department of mental health's proposal to house mental patients in the main building on the site. It also promises a more rapid sale of the remaining property to private interests.

Under state regulations, the property cannot be sold for less than the value placed upon it by a state-employed assessor. But township and county officials contend the pricetag established for Plymouth Center (exclusive of the main building, which DMH intended to keep) is too high. The property value established by the state assumes that the site would be used as an educational or training center and could make use of the buildings on the site. But township supervisor Susan Heintz says every developer who has toured the site indicated the present buildings would have to be demolished.

Clearly, no one is going to pay for buildings that will only cost more money to tear down. But if the county can take possession of the property, it is more likely a reasonable price can be established for it. Ironically, the state didn't pay a dime for the land and many of the buildings were already on it when the department of mental health took over. Yet it expects to realize a profit on its sale.

This is precisely the situation the reverter clause in the deed was designed to prevent — the community will benefit if the clause can be enforced.

Planners on track

Township planning commissioners nipped a bad idea in the bud last week and deserve credit for their stand. By rejecting an applicant's request for a waiver of fees and an "informal study session" prior to the actual filing of his rezoning petition, the commission demonstrated a continued commitment to serving the community's interests before the developer's.

There had been some nascent doubts in our mind regarding the direction the commission was taking — a quick turnover of commissioners in less than a year robbed the planning process of some seasoned veterans. It has often appeared that the new group is more easily swayed by applicants' pleas than was the more experienced commission of years past. The latest appointees reflect the township administration's more receptive policy toward development of virtually any sort.

One change has been more special meetings to review particular applications or work out difficulties a developer may confront. Such meetings sometimes can be productive, but should not be routine procedure. To be fair, an onslaught of development has increased the amount of planning activity of all kinds, but the number of study sessions was beginning to approach the limits of reason.

That's why last week's decision is important. The commission has drawn a line defining what issues it considers appropriate for study sessions — and a wholesale rezoning request is not among them. The request was from a firm that holds an option to buy hundreds of acres at Six Mile and Sheldon. The property, formerly planned as two single-family subdivisions, would be changed to allow multiple-family housing (apartments or condominiums) if the rezoning is granted. If the rezoning is rejected, the purchase offer presumably would be withdrawn. Developers often seek to "get a feel" for the commission's position before putting up the money to have plans drawn or file a rezoning petition. If their plan or request is totally out-of-line with the commission's goals, the developer wants to know before investing any money on a fruitless venture.

That's nothing more than a sharp business practice — if you can minimize the risk of failure before spending the first dollar, you'd be a fool not to try. But there are avenues of gaining the same information at less cost in time or money. In the case of a rezoning petition, close study of the published township master plan of land use and a review of past zoning decisions involving property in the area — both readily acquired through the township offices — should be sufficient. The master plan was drafted at considerable expense for just this purpose and the records of past decisions are public information.

Potential developers who are unwilling to put that cursory amount of study into the community before they move in, and are also unwilling to pay the reasonable fees charged to offset the cost of having the commission's consultants review their applications, probably wouldn't make very good neighbors anyway. If they can't live with the township's procedures, then perhaps they should look to communities that make less stringent demands. There is ample evidence that good developers can follow the procedures and produce better projects for having done so. Those are the ones we want to attract.

SWM seeks SF, ASAP

By B.J. Martin

I have never been able to acquire that certain something that all good columnists have. Something that immediately establishes their intimacy with readers. Something that consistently provides them an interesting subject to write about. I am speaking, of course, about a spouse.

Take Phil Jerome's column down below. Any time he's in need of inspiration, all he needs to do is recall some exchange with his dear wife, and then make sure he hides the paper from her. Patricia Bowling, Jean Day, Kevin Wilson, Michele Fecht, in fact all our other writers at one time or another have found their respective marriage partners to be veritable gold mines of column subjects.

I don't doubt for a minute that recounting the particulars of my occasional dates could provide some hilarious reading. But I suspect that if I put them in print, I would very soon have no more dates to write about, let alone a wife.

So I'm on the lookout for a full-time spouse. I will have to insist it be a female for several reasons: I would not like to be married to someone with more body hair than I, for one thing. Also, females tend to smell better, and they attract less notice during public displays of affection.

I'm sure you are surprised a guy as ruggedly handsome and virile as the one in that picture above, a man whose sex appeal has been compared to that of Gary "Radar" Burghoff and Don Knotts, has not yet tied the knot. I can't understand it myself. All I've been seeking is a simple, honest, one-to-one relationship with a woman with Jamie Lee Curtis's looks, Katherine Graham's money, Jean Kirkpatrick's brains and the marital philosophy of Marabel "The Total Woman" Morgan. As you can see, my wants and needs are no different from those of the average guy.

I'm not worried. I'll find her, because I know I have plenty to offer The Right Woman.

I'm a big spender, someone who can spend five, even six dollars on a date. I don't smoke cigarettes, pipes or cigars. I know most of the answers to Trivial Pursuit. I know how to change a tire. I can score over 20,000 on Asteroids every time. I can play Brahms Lullaby on a guitar. I know how to make guacamole. I don't snore. I own the complete recorded works of Roy Orbison.

All these qualities are just the tip of the iceberg of the madcap whirl a woman can expect if she settles down with me.

Probably the ideal situation for me is to find a female columnist who doesn't have a husband. This way, our wedding and reception costs, as well as her engagement and wedding rings, could be deducted as business expenses. I understand this is what John Kelly and Marilyn Turner have done. If by some chance things don't work out, I'm sure our divorce could be written off as depreciation.

I've been thinking about taking out a classified ad to find Ms. Right. For instance, in last week's classified section of The Record, there was an ad that read: "MINISTER will marry you anywhere," followed by his name and number. I admire the guy's flexibility, but my message would be a bit less open-ended.

My classified would probably read like this: "Handsome genius SWM, age negotiable, desperately seeking SF for euchre partner, possible marriage. If you're into Bowling For Dollars, ant farms, shadow puppets, and singing along with beer commercials, you have just met Mr. Right. Send photo, references, credit rating and police record, etc."

I can't decide where my ad should be classified, though. "Sporting Goods?" "Lost?"

Maybe "Absolutely Free."

After the fact

I thought the column about my wife's yellow shorts was over and done with.

You may recall that I wrote a column a couple of weeks ago about going to look for antique doors in Ypsilanti. My wife was wearing a pair of yellow shorts, and I was joshing her about the appropriateness of wearing them in public.

I got my comeuppance when she claimed her yellow shorts had created quite a stir among the fellows in the backroom at the door store, who, she claimed, discretely exited the workshop to check out the lady in the yellow shorts.

That was it. I got in my digs; she got in hers. And I thought that was the end of it. My mistake.

As we continue to plan the addition to our home, my wife decided to order one of those antique doors. So she called the store in Ypsilanti to place the order, and was told by the woman who answered the phone that it would be four to five weeks before it was ready.

Fifteen minutes later a young man from the same store called to verify the order. "By the way," he asked my wife at the end of the conversation, "are you the lady who was in here a couple weeks ago wearing yellow shorts?"

When she said that she was, the fellow announced that he had good news. "I think we can get you your door this week," he said. "We have a lull in the shop, and we ought to be able to get it for you by Friday."

My wife reported the conversation with great glee. "At least somebody liked my yellow shorts," she told me.

"So when are they planning to deliver the stupid door?" I asked between clenched teeth.

"This Saturday at 12:30," she said.

"Oh, good," I responded. "My schedule's free. I can definitely be here when they arrive."

"He said he'd deliver it personally," she reported.

"In fact, I think I'll mow the lawn Saturday around noon. That would free you up to go into town and do the shopping."

Thanks for help at burning car

To The Editor: Run support crucial

I would appreciate very much a chance to thank Mr. and Mrs. Lou Kingsley of Twelve Mile Road, South Lyon, for their help in a car fire we had on U.S. 23 Saturday, June 29, around 6 p.m.

We were returning from a short vacation up in Gaylord, when our car caught fire and burnt to the ground, so to speak. Mr. and Mrs. Kingsley, lucky for us, were returning home after a five-week vacation in western upper Michigan. He had a trailer hookup with him at the wheel and she was slightly ahead in a passenger car with a boat hookup. He pulled in behind us and got the fire extinguisher from his trailer, but the flames from the car had melted the locking springs on the hood latch and we couldn't get to the fire. He suggested emptying our luggage from the car's inside and luggage in the trunk.

With the fire in a full rage, he made a number of trips back to the car to empty out the trunk. Meanwhile, his wife had called the police and fire department. The Livingston Deputy, Jim Baldwin, arrived and seconds later the Hartland Fire Department came along and called for a wrecker to come tow the burnt-out car to a service station in Hartland.

The real thoughtfulness and generosity of these folks really came through when they drove us to their farm in South Lyon, transferred our luggage and gear from the trailer to the passenger car and drove us right to our door here in Northville.

Both of these kind people are former Northville residents (having lived here at the time when Mr. Allen was mayor). My wife and myself are in their debt for life. How can one reciprocate?

Imagine doing this for perfect strangers after a full day of driving! They departed for home several miles west of Marquette and had been on the go since before dawn Saturday morning.

When I mentioned to Mr. Kingsley how futile it was to try and thank him, his reply was, "Just do the same for someone else some time."

We wish to say thanks again.

Sincerely,
Connie and Dick Cronin

County wants title back on Plymouth Center land regional offices of the state Department of Natural Resources.

DMH last year declared two large portions of the property surplus (all property west of Sheldon, plus a smaller portion east of the main building bordering both Hines Drive and the railroad).

It also announced plans to convert the main building to house patients who would be transferred from the overcrowded Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital. The transfer and use are part of a $14.5 million DMH plan to address the overpopulation problem at NRPH. The plan was eliminated from end-of-session spending bills last December but is included in a legislative appropriations package now under consideration in Lansing.

Also included in that bill has been language authorizing the state department of management and budget to sell the surplus property.

But O'Hair said Tuesday morning that "it is not the state's property to sell. I don't think it was ever the state's property to sell."

He said the county's interest in regaining title to the property is based both on the issue of use and the potential value of land conveyed to the state without remuneration.

"It was transferred for a very specific purpose," O'Hair said. "If the property is not being used for the purpose it was conveyed, it should be returned. It's very valuable property. Whether the county would use it itself or whether it would encourage its development is, I think, at this point undecided."

"Whatever the case, here is a valuable tract of land not being used for the purpose it was conveyed — it belongs to the county," O'Hair concluded.

He noted that a similar situation in Detroit recently resulted in conversion of ownership. Detroit deeded land in the southwest section of the city to the county for operation of the D.J. Healey Home for neglected children.

"There was a similar clause in that deed that said if and when the county should cease to use the land to help neglected children, title would revert to Detroit, and that's precisely what happened within the past year," O'Hair said.

The county letter requests "immediate attention to this matter and your reply regarding whether mutual arrangements can be reached" to transfer possession, "or whether a suit to quiet title will be necessary."

O'Hair said he has not yet heard a reply from the state, but expects one shortly. Northville Township supervisor Susan Heintz said she expects a swift reply, noting that the end of O'Hair's letter says that while the state retains possession the county "will look to the state" for reasonable rentals and defense and indemnification in any claims or lawsuits which may arise regarding the condition or use of the land and buildings thereon.

GOOD NEWS

Rhymes and reasons

Jean Day

When God created man, she was only kidding. The sign on the bumper of the car I was following north on Interstate 75 brought a smile last weekend. Obviously the driver — female, of course — believed in women's lib.

The bumper sticker also brought back memories of the Burma Shave jingles along the roadside that millions of travelers read between 1927 and 1963 to escape boredom as they traveled. The pace was different then, and it was possible to read a row of signs, such as the all-time boy-girl jingle classic from 1934: He had the ring/He had the flat/But she felt his chin/and that was that.

Expressway traffic speeds make the one or two liner bumper stickers a better bet to lighten the trip today. In many cases they might be called contemporary social comments with a smile. For the past several trips I've been jotting down some, not the political variety that I think were the original bumper stickers, but the kind that sometimes bring a smile even when traffic is slowed for construction.

It's possible to tell a lot about the owner

Error made in letter corrected

The letter in last week's Record from Suzanne Kaley and Margaret Peters, general co-chairpersons of the 1985 senior class party, included thanks to both Nancy Roselot and Marcia Greiner, whose name was omitted, for chairing buffet arrangements. Roseane Richcreek was telephone chairperson. The Record regrets the omission.

of the bumper-stickered vehicle. Soccer is a kick in the grass — Redford. Obviously the car that passed me belonged to a Redford fan. Don't follow me — I'm lost — brought the mental response, "I wouldn't."

It's a man's world UNLESS WOMEN VOTE is a sticker that hasn't found its way to a bumper. It's above the desk of Northville-Nowi reporter Michele Fecht. That's what the League of Women Voters and NOW have been trying to tell us.

Japanese Cadillac. No comment on that one.

A lot of stickers use the heart symbol which can be interpreted as "love" in such bumper statements as, I (love) U. of M. For some reason, even headed toward Lansing, there appear to be more University of Michigan fans who proclaim their Blue and Gold love than there are green and white Spartan fans. Akin to the alma mater lovers are the pet lovers. I (love) cats is seen fairly regularly. A dog lover had to own the car with this sticker: Does your dog know where you are? It's after 10 p.m.

It's not easy being perfect, but somebody has to do it. That one goes right along on the tongue-in-cheek ego trip with To know me is to love me.

This must have been an early riser by necessity: I may rise but I refuse to shine.

Sometimes there's a public service message: Many teenagers are dying for a drink. Burma-Shave, too, issued warnings about drinking and driving: Drinking drivers/Don't you know/great bangs/from little/binges grow?/Burma-Shave.

I've seen a couple of stickers that tell a lot about the northbound traveler. On the bumper of a camper: I vacation weekends and Friday. In a similar vein, there was: Nothing matters but the weekend. The amount of traffic flooding all northbound lanes of the I-75 from early Friday afternoons to late at night makes it pretty obvious that those weekend lovers aren't alone.

But, how's this for an upbeat message: Go for it!

Gardens of Beacon Woods home named June winner

Record photos by Steve Fecht

The thriving gardens at the home of Donna and Al Benish at 20539 Woodbend in North Beacon Woods subdivision off West Eight Mile are admired by wildlife as well as members of Country Girls Branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association. The branch selected the tudor style home's landscaping as the June Garden of the Month. In 3½ years the couple has landscaped the grounds with many perennials, including such old fashioned flowers as iris, coral bells, forget me nots, foxglove and lilies. Many were transplants from her grandmother in Iowa, Mrs. Benish, pictured with daughter Sarah, 2, reports. They're joined in the photo of the deck, below, by the family pet, Thumper. Al Benish, who planned the landscaping, is a Michigan State University graduate in agronomy, the study of grasses and grass diseases.

Remember Mayo? You're their type

By B.J. MARTIN

Every month, from Washington, D.C., to California, thousands of die-hard Detroit Tiger baseball fans feverishly rummage their mailboxes in search of an envelope imprinted with a Northville return address.

Neatly folded inside each of these sustenance-giving envelopes is the latest correspondence from a rapidly-growing organization called the Mayo Smith Society.

If you remember Mayo Smith, the crotchety manager who piloted the Tigers to a world championship in 1968, you're probably exactly the type of fan the Society would welcome as a member.

"Mayo Smith is kind of an obscure name," admits Doug Petroskey, the Northville resident who handles the Society's incoming mail. "But we wanted it that way."

"You've got to be a fairly knowledgeable fan to want to join," he explains. "The Mayo Smith Society isn't designed for your average nine-year-old kid who's a Tiger fan since last year. . . . We're not calling it the Sparky Anderson Society for good reason."

Since being formed in April, 1983, the society fields letters from members, arranges special benefits and events with ex-Tiger personnel as guests, and even offers club t-shirts and pins. Plus, each member receives the monthly newsletter of the Mayo Smith Society, Tigers Stripes.

Tigers Stripes alone is worth the society's $10 annual membership fee (all club proceeds go to Detroit-area charities). In each issue, members can catch up with such vital information as Barbro Garbey's base-stealing success rate, or field trivia questions like: "Who is the only major leaguer to hit at least 300 career homers without ever hitting at least 30 in one season?" (Answer: Al Kaline.)

Blue streak ends at 10

The defense that kept Northville Blue riding on top of Mickey Mantle League standings all season finally let down Saturday. Blue fielders committed five errors, the fifth allowing the go-ahead run in a 4-3 defeat — the first loss of the season for the Northville team.

"That's what killed us," said Coach Ed Harp said of the defensive lapses. His team now trails undefeated Westland by one game in league standings.

Jeff Tanderys went the distance to absorb the loss, scattering five hits, walking five and striking out nine. Teammate Kevin Crampton contributed two key hits in the ballgame.

Blue posted two victories prior to the Howell loss, topping West Seven 8-7 on Tuesday, June 27, and topping North Farmington-West Bloomfield II by a 3-1 score last Thursday.

In the seventh inning of Tuesday's victory, Mike Tabaczynski doubled and scored the winning run when he came home on a wild pitch. Tabaczynski, Ken Kehoe and Jeff Harp each had two hits to pace a nine-hit Northville Blue attack. Tanderys worked the last three innings in relief to pick up the victory.

For the second straight Thursday, Doug Martin gave up enough hits to lose, but not enough wins. Martin allowed six hits, but just one run in going the distance while striking out six.

Northville went ahead to stay in the fifth inning when Eric Gala walked, took second on a passed ball, and scored on Jeff Harp's single. Harp in turn scored on Kapelanski's RBI single.

Now 10-1, Northville Blue will host Westland Federation II at Northville High School at 11 a.m. this Saturday. A second game may or may not be added, according to Coach Harp.

Northville 'home' to Mayo Smith Society

There now are about 1,200 fans in the Mayo Smith Society. About three-quarters are Michigan residents, while the remainder come from across the country. A sizable contingent is located near Washington, D.C., where the organization is headquartered.

The society attracts about 40 new members each week, according to Petroskey, who lives in Lexington Commons with his wife, Ann Marie. "Even though our headquarters is in Washington," he says, "We have a Michigan mailing address, and that gives our fans the feeling that we're in direct touch with the team."

Processing the club's mail may seem like tedious volunteer work, but Petroskey points out that's far from the case.

"Some of the letters we get are remarkable," he says. "Some people will send in stats they've compiled and real interesting stuff. It's great to find out in this day and age people can be such dedicated fans."

"One guy wrote in and said that when he dies, they'll have to bend the bill of his Tiger cap to close his coffin lid."

That sentiment sums up the devotion of two of the society's co-founders, Dennis and Dale Petroskey, Doug's brothers. The brothers Petroskey grew up in Birmingham, but while Doug remained in the area as a marketing representative for Burroughs, Dennis and Dale moved to public relations jobs in Washington D.C.

There, Dennis and Dale found themselves cut off from the game details they followed intensely when they lived in Michigan.

"There was nothing about the Tigers but the box scores in the Washington Post, Doug explains. "So they agreed to meet with other displaced Tiger fans at 8:30 every Friday morning and talk about how the Tigers were doing."

At the time Dennis, Dale and friend Bill Mackay founded the Mayo Smith Society, it was long before the Tigers established themselves as baseball's best team. That commitment, charter members think, will help the society survive when the Tigers inevitably fade in the standings (far in the future, of course).

The society certainly figures to be around as long as memories of Mayo Smith persist. At the society's second annual luncheon Saturday, Tiger President and General Manager Jim Campbell shared one of his favorite memories of Smith.

According to Campbell, he and Smith and swore to each other over drinks in a bar that they would hold to tradition: never would they allow the Tigers to follow in the footsteps of other major-league teams that printed players' names on the backs of their uniforms.

But at the beginning of the 1969 season, all the Tiger uniforms arrived in camp with each player's name right above his number.

When he found out, Smith collared Campbell and demanded to know what had become of their pact. Campbell replied, "Well, Mrs. Fetzer (wife of former Tiger owner Jim Fetzer) thought putting the names on the uniforms was a good idea. And Mr. Fetzer decided putting the names on the uniforms was a good idea, too."

"So," Campbell concluded, "I started thinking it was a pretty good idea, after all."

After a pause, Smith finally said: "Sounds like a good idea to me, too."

Campbell and ex-Tiger pitching phenom Mark "The Bird" Fidrych were the society's special guest speakers at the luncheon. Each was presented an honorary plaque on behalf of the society.

Campbell was honored for "his many years of service and dedication to keeping major league baseball in Detroit traditional and enjoyable year after year." The Bird was toasted for "showing us that a major league all-star can still play with a boy's heart."

"We had a great time," says Petroskey. "You could tell Jim Campbell and The Bird have a pretty good relationship — they were like a comedy team."

In other Mayo Smith Society events, Bill Freehan, Ernie Harwell, Gates Brown, Tom Brookens and Alan Trammell have been involved.

"The Tiger organization's been very supportive of what we're doing," Petroskey adds. "In fact, Jim Campbell's a member. He helped us by saving us some tickets for the playoffs and World Series, which we bought and raffled off to our members."

The society also helps organize activities like bus trips, such as one Washington members will take to the Tiger series in Baltimore this week. Petroskey adds that more fund-raising functions to support local charities are planned.

3-2 victory halts tailspin

If Eric Engel had executed a crucial ninth-inning play correctly last Sunday, Northville Collegiate might not have won its doubleheader nightcap.

You read that right. Engel scored the winning run of Collegiate's 3-2 win over Redford Little Caesar's when Redford put together two errors on his attempted theft of second base. The thing is, Engel wasn't supposed to steal.

"We'd called for a bunt and Eric was supposed to wait until the bunt was made," said Coach Bob Peterson. "Instead he took off on the pitch."

The bunt attempt failed, but the Redford catcher fired a wild throw into center field, and a botched relay from center allowed Engel to scramble home with the game-winner.

"We'll take it," Peterson smirked. The stroke of luck pulled Collegiate out of a three-game losing streak which started Wednesday with an 8-4 loss to Walter's Appliance. Livonia Adray jumped ahead early to hold off Collegiate 8-6 on Friday, and Little Caesar's defeated the Northville crew 4-1 in the opener of a Sunday doubleheader. In that game, second baseman Tom Kotter had two of Northville's three hits, one a solo home run.

"That was one of the toughest weeks on our schedule," Peterson said. "I'm glad it's behind us."

Now 7-11, Collegiate will take on Westland Federation away tonight, then host Walter's Appliance at 1:30 p.m. Sunday at Northville High School.

Mar Chlason answered with a homer for the Rangers. The Cubs defeated the Reds 9-1 June 25 on winning pitcher Jason Holman's one-hitter. Holman fanned 15 batters in six innings of work, while teammate Brian Rossiter, Jason Tarrow and Frank Leitman each contributed two RBI. The Expos topped the Astros 22-12 in a June 25 celebration of slug, Matt Popov doubled twice, Spencer Hooks tripled and homered, and Brian Buser singled twice and doubled to lead the Expos.

Jewelry store owner grew up in business

By MATT SEIDL

When John McMartin was four years old, his mother and father opened a jewelry store in downtown Milford. Little did he and his parents know, however, that 30 years later he would be the backbone of the company.

McMartin's Jewelry, located at the corner of Milford and Commerce Roads, currently is celebrating its anniversary. Harold and Ellen McMartin got the ball rolling in 1955, but today, the business is in the hands of their son.

The odd part about John's up-the-ladder story is the intense interest he showed in the field even during his teenage years. Gemology has been a major part of his life as long as he can remember.

"It's not that I grew up living to be a jeweler, but I've always been intrigued with gemology," he said. "My family was in the business, so naturally I was introduced to it."

"It just became more and more fascinating to me as I got older," he continued. "Once I got out of high school, I really became involved with it. There's so much going on here and so much learning to do."

McMartin's is a typical small jewelry store in the sense that it serves a rather small community and the employees are involved in everything from purchasing jewelry to stringing beads.

But McMartin's is unusual as well, mainly because of its in-depth work and study. It is not uncommon for John McMartin to travel to New York twice a month, or even to Brazil for a short period of time to purchase, photograph or simply learn about jewels.

Just last October he packed his gear and ventured to Brazil, and he's planning the trip again in September. Although John is not involved in South America's complicated mining process, he does observe. And it's Brazil where he purchases a great deal of the company's stock.

According to John and his mother, over 80 percent of the company's stock is developed by the McMartin's staff before it's put in the showcase.

"We don't buy too many things from manufacturers that are finished," John said. "We get a lot of our gems from Brazil, kind of fresh from the mine, or from some of the sources I've developed in New York."

"The city really is where you have to go to get the quality stuff," he added. "You just can't wait around for a small-time salesman to come to Milford. Sometimes they have nice things, but it's rare."

That type of "go for it" attitude is the reason McMartin is doing quite well in the jewelry business today. Of course, there's been some success in the past as well.

Ellen McMartin, the majority owner of the company following the death of her husband in 1973, does not prefer to look in the past, but she did comment on some of the early times.

"We were fairly small back in 1955, but we've grown just like most businesses do," she said. "Two jewelry stores had just gone out of business here, but Harold and I thought we could do it. It's worked out very well I would say."

Ellen is not involved in the company's daily operations as she once was, but she still has a hand in the major decisions.

"Well, I took last week off because I had some company," she said, before breaking into a laugh. "I still come in and make sure everything is running smoothly, though."

Ellen also has a daughter, Trudy Johnson, who works for the company. Trudy, who studied art at Central Michigan University, used to teach in the Huron Valley School District.

"She's very important here," John said. "Some days Trudy is our sales manager, and the next day she's stringing beads. We all have a lot of different jobs."

John attended Eastern Michigan University for two years after graduating from high school, but then decided to "roam around the world a bit."

It was during that period of time when his interests in gemology increased. He didn't become a steady employee for McMartin's until after his father's death, however.

One of the first big moves that John made after becoming an intricate part of the operation was to stop the purchasing and selling of watches in 1981.

"That was a tough decision because this company was based on watches," he said. "When my mother and father started out, watches were the main attraction here. But looking back, I think the move was a wise one."

John, a registered jeweler with the American Gem Society, also has given speeches and slide presentations to the Michigan and New York Chapters of the AGC.

"I've absorbed quite a bit of information over the years, but there's still a lot more out there to learn," he said. "That's why I got into this field I guess. There's always some type of challenge."

John, along with Trudy and co-worker Charlie Sanford, do all their work in a pair of small rooms in the rear of the McMartin's building. A high-powered microscope, a polishing machine, photographic equipment and a blow-torch are some of the tools used by the crew.

"This is where it all happens," said John, while demonstrating the technique of diamond mounting. "We're doing our best to be the best."

New Oakland logo plugs county's assets

"Oakland County — Where Success Is a Way of Life" is more than an observation. Accompanied with a contemporary logo, it's the new official trademark of Oakland County's Economic Development Group.

Joseph Joachim, director of the Economic Development Group, said the logo and slogan will begin appearing on all advertisements and new promotional materials including a brochure developed in Japanese to be distributed in Japan.

The Oakland County Economic Development Group was formed in April 1984 to stimulate economic growth and employment in the county through programs in business retention, expansion and attraction.

Specifically, the Economic Development Group provides businesses both in and out of Oakland County with site and building search, market demographics, business start-up information, economic trends, job training, tax abatement information and assistance with local, state and federal agencies.

Oakland County's emergence as an economically prosperous county is the basis for development of the logo and slogan. The average buying income of Oakland County households ranks third among counties in the United States with more than one million in population. The county's population of more than one million people exceeds the population of 12 states, and its aggregate effective buying income exceeds that of Utah, New Mexico, Delaware, Rhode Island and North Dakota.

The people and businesses of Oakland County show a strong commitment to a successful way of life by their support of education. Students in the county's school districts consistently rank near the top in annual statewide testing. In addition, they support 14 colleges and universities, 73 private and parochial schools, 34 public libraries and four vocational training centers.

Some 2,400 of the county's 25,000 businesses are manufacturing companies, ranking 19th among the 3,000 U.S. counties in value of manufacturing shipments. From 1982-83, the county's manufacturing growth topped all counties in the United States. Santa Clara County in California, home of the Silicon Valley, was second.

More office space has been built in Oakland County since 1960 than any other county within 200 miles. Fifty-six percent of the county's land is yet undeveloped, even though 8.5 million square feet of office space is now either under construction or planned. Oakland County is home to numerous high-tech industries as well as health and service businesses.

Conceived by The Berline Group, the Economic Development Group's advertising and public relations agency based in Birmingham, the logo and slogan are planned to be adopted by other Oakland County executive offices, as well as others in the business community. The logo features two oak trees, one traditional and the other a more progressive, 21st century design similar to graphics used to demote high technology.

Good maintenance increases resale value

A few wisely spent dollars used in readying a home for sale can bring a good return when it's time to attract buyer attention, but it doesn't usually pay to go all out.

That's the advice of members of Metro MLS multiple listing service covering a 1,600 square mile territory in much of Wayne and Oakland counties.

"Price remains one of the major factors in nearly all home-buying decisions for both buyers and sellers," said Metro MLS President Robert F. Craver.

"The seller hopes to get a fair return on all the money invested in the home, while the buyer is looking for a home meeting needs and representing a sound investment for the future."

"If the seller has spent lavishly making the home a neighborhood showcase pushing the real value far beyond other homes in the same general area, chances are that much of the added investment will be lost," he added.

"Few buyers, for example, will want to spend $90,000 for a home in a $75,000 neighborhood when the same money could bring a move to a more upscale area."

Craver said the best advice for sellers is to seek to make the home a "best buy" among all homes for sale in the same general area, and to put it in condition to show well to prospective buyers.

"If a home has been reasonably well maintained, it generally doesn't cost much to restore it to sale condition," said Craver. "Even small items that have been ignored, however, can lower the value of the home and turn buyer-interest away."

Craver offered the following check list:

- Lawns and landscaping should be at their seasonal best. Green, weed-free lawns and blooming flowers, whether annual or perennial, demonstrate fertile soil. Existing shrubs should be neatly trimmed.
- The roof should be leak-proof, eavestroughs clean and in good repair, all exterior trim should be freshly painted or washed. No loose brick, stone or stucco should be evident and all siding should be properly affixed.
- There should be no leaky faucets, stuck doors, loose knobs or cracked windows which give a bad impression of interior care.
- Few homes ever seem to have enough closet or storage space, so unneeded articles should be discarded. Excess items that overcrowd the space should be stored elsewhere, even off the premises, and all spaces neatly arranged to show their capacity.
- All plumbing should be working to perfection, bathroom tubs and showers should be well caulked and all tile and brightwork firmly secured.

- Bedrooms should be arranged to accent available space even if it means removing some of the normal furnishings that give a crowded look.
- A little paint or fresh wallpaper can set other rooms off to their best advantage while freshly-shampooed carpets, waxed tile and hardwood floors and newly-cleaned drapes indicate a well-kept home.

"Every seller should make an appraisal of the property from the buyer's point of view," advised Craver. "Consider the price you would like to get and then take a walk-through inspection to see if everything you see supports or detracts from the fairness of that figure."

"For example, if the furnace is relatively new or central air has been added, the price might go up. But if the furnace has been in place for 20 years or so and will soon need replacement by a new owner, start discounting."

"In most cases, major work such as a new roof, installation of a new bath or addition of a garage or patio should be left to the new owner. Making such changes or doing any other extensive remodeling at the last minute will only serve to increase the price you ask. It is doubtful that you would get a dollar for dollar return even then."

Ford audio-design engineers William C. Adamson (front) and William A. Forbes check for noise sources that might cause interference with radio reception on the Ford Aerostar's new

"SuperSound" system in an anechoic chamber at Ford's Diversified Products Technical Center in Dearborn.

Ford's Aerostar mini-van features remote control stereo sound system

Ford Motor Company's Aerostar mini-van features a Ford audio "first" — an optional sound system with remote controls for tuning the radio from either the front seat or rear compartment.

"Although we have had similar controls on our Continental Concept 100 electronics experimental car, this is the first time Ford has offered remote radio controls in production vehicles," said Lawrence A. Lopez, executive director of Audio Products Development and Manufacturing Engineering in Ford's Electrical and Electronics Division.

The "SuperSound" system in Aerostar consists of an electronically tuned AM/FM stereo search radio with cassette tape player and graphic equalizer in the front compartment, a separate control panel in the rear and six high-quality speakers, said Lopez.

The rear panel has two headphone jacks with individual volume controls, seek buttons to change stations up or down the frequency band, a memory button for selecting stations programmed in the radio, and an on/off knob for rear speakers.

"This deluxe system provides great listening flexibility for front and rear occupants," said the Ford engineering executive. "Children riding in the rear compartment, for example, can listen to their favorite rock music on two headphone sets while their parents in front carry on a conversation undisturbed."

"If dad tunes in something the children don't like, they can turn off the rear speakers — or if it's something everyone likes, they can surround themselves with sound from the six speakers."

The cassette tape player has a new feature for 1985 — program search, which enables the listener to skip over an unwanted selection to the start of the next or replay the one that just finished.

Other features include auto reverse, locking fast forward and reverse, and manual ejection.

The graphic equalizer has seven frequency-band controls for 12-dB boost or cut at 60 Hz, 150 Hz, 400 Hz, 1 KHz, 2.5 KHz, 6 KHz and 12 KHz. The unit also has LED-illuminated slider controls, an LED dual-output level meter and a custom-designed power amplifier that provides 80 watts RMS power.

Two 5-inch round premium speakers are mounted in the instrument panel, two 6-by-9 inch oval coaxial speakers in the rear trim panels, and two 3½-inch round premium speakers in the rear door. Left/right speaker balance is controlled by the radio, while the graphic equalizer handles bass, treble and front/rear balance functions.

For the Aerostar commercial van, the deluxe stereo systems includes the electronic radio with cassette tape player and graphic equalizer, together with six speakers, but does not have the rear controls.

Two 5-inch round premium speakers are in the instrument panel, two 4-inch round premium speakers are mounted in ported enclosures in the rear and two 3½-inch round premium speakers are in the rear door.

The Aerostar electronic radio provides precision tuning through custom-integrated circuitry that locks onto the exact center of the broadcast signal for the best possible reception.

The radio has four tuning modes — memory, seek, scan and manual. Memory allows programming for four AM and four FM stations for instant selection at the touch of a button. Pushing one of two seek buttons causes the tuner automatically to select and hold the next listenable station up or down the frequency band. When the scan button is pushed, the tuner automatically auditions each listenable station for about eight seconds until one is selected. Two-speed manual tuning lets the listener select any frequency for total flexibility in station selection.

The Aerostar electronic radio is equipped with an additional connector at the back for wiring to the remote control panel in the rear compartment.

A second optional sound system for Aerostar includes a mechanically tuned AM/FM stereo radio with cassette tape player, six speakers and a rear control panel with two headphone jacks and individual volume knobs. The radio also is available without cassette tape player.

This system has two 5-inch round speakers in the instrument panel, two 6-by-9 inch oval premium speakers in the rear, trim panels, and two 3½-inch round premium speakers in the rear door.

A mechanically-tuned AM radio with one 5-inch round speaker in the right side of the instrument panel is offered as standard equipment on the Aerostar, with delete option.

'Key people' weren't listed in story

In last week's Green Sheet article on Feigley Motors in Milford, two important names were absent from the list of "key people involved in the success of the company."

Merlin Feigley, the brother of owner Clody Feigley, and Pat Broom both were not mentioned in the story, and according to sales manager Tom Saputo, "they're both very instrumental in our operation here."

Feigley has been the company's service manager for over 30 years, while Broom has been the office manager for five years.

Cancer Myth #2

Bumps and bruises can cause cancer. Some people believe that if they get a bump or bruise it may lead to cancer. That's a myth. It's not true. Bumps and bruises do not cause cancer. If cancer is discovered after an injury, the cancer symptom probably was there before, but it just was not noticed earlier. Get regular checkups and learn to recognize a change in your body that might be a sign of cancer. Call the Cancer Information Service.

What's in that hot dog?

Story by Marilyn Morrison

The great American hot dog is almost as American as apple pie and Chevrolet, but do you know what you are eating?

If you read labels, chances are you probably do know. Under federal law, the ingredients used to produce the "great American hot dog" must be labeled according to contents — with the listing arranged in order of amount from highest to least.

If there are any by products (non meat products), they must be labeled.

In 1952, meat packaging laws pertaining to hot dogs were established in Michigan. These laws, more stringent than federal USDA laws, brought the Michigan hot dog to a "top dog" ranking.

These laws have provided nutritious eating — mothers plop the hot, hot dog into a soft bun, adding whatever the kids like on it and it becomes an easy lunch. Cut into "finger food," the hot dog often is one of baby's early solids.

However, these protective laws only are applicable to local producers. Larger manufacturers are regulated by the USDA and are free to add by products such as cereal, dry milk products and soy protein.

Originally meat packaging requirements were established as an aid to wholesale trading to enable the producer to get a price for his product in line with its quality. By establishing requirements, sellers and buyers were able to communicate about the quality of their products in a common language.

Harold Zorlen, the regional supervisor for the Michigan Department of Agriculture, said that many Michigan hotdog producers meet Michigan standards as well as USDA standards in order to give the consumer a top quality product.

"A lot of other states only follow USDA standards," Zorlen said.

STORY BY THERESE PETERSMARK

Hot dogs. They're everywhere. They show up at baseball games, parades and are even sold at the beach. They're as American as mom and apple pie.

Some people top them with ketchup, mustard, onions, relish and sauerkraut. Some even use chili and cheese. So what else could possibly be done with the little wieners? Just when you thought you knew all there was to know about hot dogs, there's more. At last, there's more to hot dogs than "meets the mouth."

According to Fran Altman, executive secretary of the National Hot Dog and Sausage Council in Chicago, Americans eat 50 million hot dogs a day. With more than 200 brand names of hot dogs, the choice is mind-boggling.

Hot dog's other names—wiener, frankfurter, frank—better connect it with its European ancestry as but one of many sausages. Whatever it's called, though, it still contains approximately 150 calories per serving.

Its main ingredient is meat, but that doesn't necessarily mean that it's high in protein. A cooked hot dog typically contains 55 percent water and about another 28 percent is fat. The bun does make up in protein for some of what the hot dog lacks.

Altman said that the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) keeps an eye on the product by regulating and inspecting hot dog production and labeling. Michigan, like every state, has its own regulations said to be somewhat stricter than others.

Hot dogs are said to be the most popular sausage in the world. It's probably true in the U.S. since the National Hot Dog and Sausage Council proclaimed July to be National Hot Dog month.

Hot dogs don't just come in a single type anymore.

There are beef franks, beef and pork franks, turkey dogs, chicken dogs, cheese wieners, and now Hormel has a new product called "Frank n' Stuff." These are frozen hot dogs that contain chili in the middle.

Altman said the variety of foods added to hot dogs to enhance its flavor will "keep adding on."

In the future expect to see things like hot dogs with smoked bacon bits and hot dogs with nacho cheese, which are already on the market.

"The variety of foods that are added to hot dogs may even fall over into other products, like smoked sausage," Altman said.

Altman also said that in Chicago one popular hot dog is the bagel dog and that "there's another variety of a hot dog wrapped in a real fluffy bread dough that is really selling."

Chicago isn't the only place to get an out-of-the-ordinary hot dog. Local restaurants are getting in on the business, too.

Red Hot Express, a restaurant that opened two weeks ago in Brighton, has a Chicago Style Dog. This is described as a Vienna Sausage on a "steamed poppy seed bun served with chopped onion and mustard with a cucumber slice and

"very green relish."

Another place that offers a variety of hot dogs is at Red Hot Lovers in Ann Arbor.

Hot dogs aren't just for meat eaters anymore. Red Hot Lovers offers a chance for vegetarians to enjoy the craze by offering what is called a No Dog. This has two types of cheese plus a choice of tomato, sprouts, lettuce, onions or any other condiments. The Tofu Tube Steak is another meatless meal that is described as having "crisp, browned tofogan on a whole wheat bun topped with cheese sprouts and tomatoes."

Some New Tricks for those Old 'Dogs'

Whether they're baked, boiled or grilled, Americans have a long-standing love affair with the hot dog. It's usually a favorite item for children and teenagers when it's time for a good, old-fashioned cook out.

Although many like their hot dogs accompanied by just a skinny strip of mustard to enhance their flavor, others have more exotic tastes. The Coney Island-style hot dog, smothered in chili and topped with raw onions, hits the spot for many connoisseurs.

But there are plenty of other interesting toppings and fixings to liven up even your 1,000th hot dog of the season. Here are some great cover-ups for that great American hot dog:

RELISHES TO RELISH

Try topping a wiener with home-made pepper relish. Grind two large green peppers, two large sweet red peppers and one medium onion. Pour boiling water over the ground vegetables, cover with a lid and let stand 20 minutes. Drain well.

Add to the mixture one-quarter cup sugar, one teaspoon salt, 1 1/2 teaspoons mustard seed and one-third cup cider vinegar. Simmer for 15 minutes. Chill well before serving. Makes two cups relish.

Corn relish is another interesting topping for hot dogs. Combine one 12-ounce can of drained whole kernel corn, two-thirds cup chopped celery, one-quarter cup French dressing, one-half teaspoon salt, two tablespoons chopped onion, two tablespoons diced green pepper, one tablespoon diced pimiento and one tablespoon vinegar. Cover and refrigerate for several hours. Yields two cups relish.

Other easy toppings for hot dogs include chopped cucumbers, diced jalapeno peppers, diced tomatoes, chopped black or green olives, mushrooms and crumbled blue cheese or Roquefort dressing.

MX DOGS

Different ways to fix hot dogs are endless. Experimental folks may want to make guided missile hot dogs. You'll need two or three whole dill or sweet pickles, one pound frankfurters and a special sauce.

Find pickles with diameters about the size of the frankfurters. Cut pickles in one-inch chunks. To make missile "nose cones," slice a 1 1/2-inch piece off the end of each frank. Sharpen the rounded end of the short piece, pencil fashion, cutting down from edge to center on four sides.

To assemble, run the long piece of frank length-wise on skewer. Thread on a pickle chunk cross-wise and then put a nose cone on the skewer. Broil over hot coals brushing on the following special Count-10 sauce.

COUNT-10 SAUCE

Cook one-half cup chopped onion in one-quarter cup butter or margarine. Add an eight-ounce can of tomato sauce, one cup water, two tablespoons sugar, one-half teaspoon sage, one-quarter teaspoon dry mustard, a dash of pepper, one tablespoon vinegar and one tablespoon Worcestershire sauce. Simmer uncovered for half hour. Makes 1 1/4 cups.

Serve the guided missiles by sticking skewers into a head of cabbage and passing toasted buns and extra sauce.

THE RIGHT STUFF

Grilled, stuffed franks wrapped in bacon are stand-by favorites. They are simple to make. Just slit the hot dogs lengthwise about three-quarters of the way through and slip the goodies in the center. Wrap the hot dogs in bacon and secure the strips with toothpicks at each end. Some prefer making foil "boats" on which to grill the hot dogs to

Janetzke reception celebrated 50 years

By JEAN DAY

Fifty years ago last Saturday, on June 29, 1935, (also a Saturday) Arthur and Clara Janetzke exchanged marriage vows in a 4:30 p.m. ceremony at St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church. The bride then was Clara Schuchard of South Lyon. The Reverend Leo Eickstaedt officiated.

Mrs. Janetzke remembers, however, that the church was a little white frame one. Her husband served as president of the congregation when the present church was dedicated on the site in 1950. Prior to that he had been chairman of the building finance committee. During their more than 50 years of membership in the church, their daughter Carol Bidwell relates, "they probably have done everything."

Their honeymoon was a short one, Mrs. Janetzke recalls, because he had just started a new job, a promotion, at Michigan Seamless Tube in South Lyon. They went into Detroit and to Frankenmuth for one of the famous-even-then chicken dinners.

The Janetzkes — he was from Lansing — had met through her brother when both were working at the South Lyon firm. He roomed with her family. Mrs. Janetzke worked in the company's office. After their marriage they lived in South Lyon for 10 years and then moved to Northville where they now live on North Rogers. He worked next for Ford Motor Company at the Waterford plant on Northville Road, and retired from the Ford Wixom plant.

Their three children and their spouses, Wayne of Bancroft, David of North Olmstead, Ohio, and Carol Bidwell of South Lyon and their six grandchildren were on hand last Saturday afternoon to host a golden anniversary reception for the couple at the Northville Recreation Center. About 200 friends and relatives were expected with some coming from as far away as Arizona.

The Arthur Janetzkes enjoy 50 years together

The Janetzkes also are planning to celebrate the milestone with a trip this summer to England, Scotland and Wales.

Martha Nield heads Northville Historical Society

Martha Nield was elected president of Northville Historical Society at the society's June 20 meeting in Mill Race Historical Village, which the society administers. She succeeds John Brugeman, who becomes a member of the board of directors.

"I think it's the first time a woman has headed the society since the village came into existence," President Nield observed after the election. Martha Nield comes to the post with much experience — she has been a board member for six years, serving most recently as vice president, and for several years headed the society's main fundraiser, the Tivoli Fair.

First president of the historical society also was a woman, the late Jean Johnson. Mrs. Johnson and the late Ruth Starkweather, who also served as president, were instrumental in the formation of the society with the impetus being to "save the old library." Louise Cansfield also served as president during the early years.

Other new officers are Dennis Cassady, vice president; Stephen Ball, treasurer; and Elaine Elliott, recording secretary. Virginia Hayward continues as corresponding secretary.

John Burkman has been made an honorary board member of the society. Other board members in addition to Nield, Cassady and Brugeman are Fran Gazlay, Robert Daniel, Enid Manheimer, Sonja Lane, Nancy Bohn, Carol Kiraly, Earl Bryant, Ken Harrison and Harriet Welland. Elaine Elliott and Enid Manheimer also are co-chairpersons of the Mill Race Docents.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN KLARR

MR. AND MRS. MARK CHARNEY

Trip to France follows ceremony

Patricia S. Prigeon of Northville became the bride of John Albert Klarr of Livonia in a double ring ceremony at First United Methodist Church May 26.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Prigeon of Omaha, Nebraska. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Klarr of Livonia.

The Reverend Eric Hammar officiated at the 4:30 p.m. service. Anna Aycox, who worked as a nurse with the bride at University Hospital in Ann Arbor, was soloist.

The bride wore a gown of silk satiness trimmed with Venice and Schiffl lace. The basque-waist bodice was styled with a sweetheart neckline and Edwardian sleeves and was adorned with seed pearls and sequins. The full skirt flowed into a chapel train and was edged with lace matching that on the sleeves. A wreath of Egyptian satin roses held the chapel-length veil.

The bride's bouquet contained two fresh Cattleya orchids, ivy and stephanotis.

Vicki Prigeon of Omaha was maid of honor. Mrs. Terry Prigeon Bell of New Ulm, Germany, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Dr. Carol Bennett of Ann Arbor, Judy Klarr of Livonia, Janine Klarr of Hermosa Beach, California, Susanne Klarr of East Lansing and Susan Lister of Bloomfield Hills.

They wore vivid lavender gowns styled with off the shoulder bodices and carried free-tied bouquets of daisies, iris and ferns.

Nieces Lisa Anne Klarr of Livonia and Maren Elizabeth Bell of Germany were flower girls in white taffeta gowns with lavender bows. They wore wreaths of lavender baby's breath and carried baskets of spring flowers.

Best man was Tim Trainor of Muskegon. Ushers were John Konkell of Detroit, Gerald Klarr of Livonia, Alan Klarr of Canton, Randy Pidhayny of Denver, Bruce Burns of Plymouth, David Christensen of Bloomfield Hills, John Prigeon of Lincoln, Nebraska, and Richard Prigeon of Omaha.

Kevin Gleason was ring bearer.

A reception for 165 guests followed at the Mayflower Meeting House in Plymouth. A special toast was given by David Christensen in memory of the bride's grandmother, Esther Prigeon, who died one week before the wedding. It was made in Danish, Mrs. Prigeon's nationality.

The newlyweds are making their home in Northville following a wedding trip to France where they visited the French Riviera, the Chateau Country, the Loire Valley and Paris.

The couple met 2½ years ago at a party given by groomsman Konkell.

The bride attended Baylor University, University of Nebraska College of Medicine and will complete her Anesthesiology residency at the University of Michigan.

The bridegroom was graduated from Western Michigan University, where he affiliated with Delta Upsilon Fraternity, and from Wayne State University College of Law. He is a trial attorney at the firm of Jacobs and Miller in Southfield.

Diane Pitak wed in May 17 rites

Diane Marie Pitak, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Pitak of 20137 Whipple Drive, exchanged vows and rings in a 6 p.m. ceremony May 17 at St. Colette Church in Livonia.

They had met while both were students at the University of Michigan. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thaddeus Charney of Warren.

Father Frank A. Pollie officiated at the service which included the symbolic lighting of unity candle with the mothers of the couple lighting the first candles. Music included "Father, We Come Today," "Ave Maria," "All I Ask of You" and "The Wedding Song." Organist and soloist was Linnet Popoff.

Readings from the books of Genesis and Corinthians were given by Robert Karolyi.

The bride's white organza gown was styled with a scoop neckline, three-quarter sleeves and a basque waist. The bodice, front and two back panels of the skirt were adorned with silk Schiffl embroidery. The skirt extended into a chapel train. A pearl-trimmed Juliet crown held the bride's fingertip-length veil which was scalloped and decorated with pearls. She wore pearls and earrings, which were the gift of the bridegroom.

She carried a bouquet of Dendrobium orchids, miniature carnations, stephanotis and California ivy.

Matron of honor was Paula (Hodge) Gloviak. Other attendants were Suzanne Charney, sister of the bridegroom, Karen Martin, Mrs. Candice (McCurdy) Geratowski, classmates of the bride. They wore Daphne rose chiffon floor-length gowns and carried baby carnations in rose and pink with ivy and stephanotis.

David Ruedisueli was best man. Groomsman were James Pitak, brother of the bride, Keith Jones, Kenneth Zaleski. Jeff Pitak of Dayton, Ohio, brother of the bride, also assisted as usher.

A reception for 150 guests followed at Meadowbrook Country Club where the table decorations followed the Daphne rose and pink theme. A nine-piece band, "The Royals," played for dancing.

Special guests included the bride's grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Tanner of St. Petersburg, Florida, and Mrs. Ronald Meserve, the bride's cousin from Naples, Florida.

The bridegroom's parents hosted a rehearsal dinner at the Mayflower Hotel in Plymouth.

A Pitak family reunion was held at the Holidome where wedding guests were staying before the bride and bridegroom flew to California to take a Carnival cruise to Puerto Vallarta, Mazatlan and Cabo San Lucas, Mexico.

Both the bride and bridegroom are graduates of the University of Michigan where the bride received her certificate in dental hygiene and will begin her third year in the School of Dentistry in August. Her husband received his M.A. in business administration from U-M and his B.A. in economics from Michigan State University. He is employed with General Motors Acceptance Corporation.

They are making their home in Plymouth.

ducers are allowed to add slaughterhouse by products. In the state of Michigan, only fresh skeletal meat from cattle, swine, sheep, chicken or turkey can be used.

Other Michigan standards pertaining to hot dogs require that only four percent dry milk solids be added to every 100 pounds of meat and that protein content be no less than 12 percent. Cereal additives are prohibited.

In addition to meat content, hot dogs may contain other additives which must be listed on the package. These may include salt; beet or cane sugar; maple dextrose sugars; honey; corn syrup; vinegar; sodium nitrate and flavorings. Most hotdogs are made from cured meats.

These hot dogs are chopped, seasoned, stuffed, smoked and then cooked. Each hot dog is precooked so you can eat it cold or hot, but by heating it, the flavor becomes much better.

keep cheese from dripping onto the coals.

Popular stuffings include American or cheddar or swiss cheeses. The adventuresome may wish to stuff some chopped water chestnuts or banana peppers and cheese into their franks. For variety, try combining a peeled, chopped tomato, two tablespoons of shredded sharp process American cheese, two tablespoons grated Parmesan or Romano cheese, a small clove of crushed garlic, and a quarter teaspoon of crushed oregano into a mixture to stuff inside franks. Wrap in bacon and grill well.

Cook ground beef and chopped onion in oil until brown. Add remaining ingredients and simmer 25 minutes. Use as sauce for hot dogs.

DEVILED HOT DOGS

2 medium onions, chopped fine
1 large green pepper, chopped fine
1 bottle catsup
2 Tablespoons butter
¼ cup brown sugar
¼ cup regular mustard
2 Tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
1½ teaspoons salt

Mix and simmer 30 minutes. Makes enough for three dozen hot dogs.

CHILI SAUCE FOR HOT DOGS

2 Tablespoons cooking oil
½ pound ground beef
1 onion, chopped
1½ cup water
3 Tablespoons vinegar
¼ cup pickle relish
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon chili powder
1 teaspoon mustard
Dash pepper

FRANKRAUTS

Split 8 to 10 franks lengthwise but not all the way through. Brush hot dogs with liquid smoke. Combine 1 cup drained sauerkraut, ¼ cup chili sauce, 1 teaspoon caraway seed; stuff franks. Wrap each with a strip of bacon, placing toothpicks to hold securely. Grill over hot coals, turning so that bacon cooks crisp on all sides, about 10 to 15 minutes.

Blood donors sought

A Red Cross Bloodmobile will be in Northville at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, 201 Elm, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday, July 6. To make an appointment to donate blood call Suzanne Taulbee, 349-1017.

A Bloodmobile also is at St. Mary Hospital, 36475 Five Mile, Livonia, from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. today.

Other area July Bloodmobile locations are: Livonia Church of Christ, 15431 Merriman, from 3-9 p.m. July 9, call Cindy Lapp, 522-3895, and Ward Presbyterian Church, 17000 Farmington Road, from 3-9 p.m. July 17, call Sally Butler, 476-9427.

In announcing the Bloodmobile locations, the Red Cross mentions that, seasonally, summer is a bad time for blood collections as schools are out and organizations, such as businesses and factories, that normally sponsor blood drives for the American Red Cross Blood Services are reluctant to do so because of vacationing employees and staffing shortages.

Donations also are taken at the Livonia Donor Center, Bell Creek Office Plaza, 29691 West Six Mile, from 2-8 p.m. Monday, Wednesday and Thursday; from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesday and Friday; and 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday. For an appointment call 494-2881.

Area residents are being asked to continue to support local collection efforts. A blood donation takes only 30 to 45 minutes, the Red Cross notes, adding that it is painless and can save up to four lives. Blood can be donated by anyone in good health between the ages of 17 through 65 who weighs at least 110 pounds.

Bibletimes Marketplace recreated

For three days last week, youngsters at First United Methodist Church met on the church grounds at the Bibletimes Marketplace, this year's ecumenical church summer school program, to learn what life was like in the days of the Old Testament.

Tents were set up on the church grounds to be the shops of the time. Center of activities was a well. Small tents scattered around the grounds on West Eight Mile became the home of the families of many Biblical tribes.

From 9:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, young people were invited to become apprentices to bakers, kite makers, metal workers, candy makers, musicians, potters, brick makers, basketmakers and weavers.

A daily event was a "donkey caravan" into the Sierra Desert to visit the great storyteller.

Participants played games of the time, sang Hebrew songs and moved to Israeli dances.

Grand finale, planned by chairperson Sue Nix, was a family festival celebration with typical foods eaten at a family picnic Thursday evening. The Bibletimes experience ended with a worship in the "Synagogue."

New Morning offers summer program

New Morning School in Plymouth is offering a special academic summer program for students needing review, reinforcement and instruction in basic skills over the summer. Small class sizes and individual help are planned to aid in successful learning.

An educational assessment will be followed by a learning plan geared to each child's needs. Parental input also will help to focus on weak areas. Individualized instruction in any or all of the following subjects will be stressed: reading, writing, math and study skills. Classes meet daily in three-week sessions for two hours each day.

The instructor for the Academic Summer School is Kathleen Kerekes, a Canton Township resident. She holds a master's degree from the University of Toledo with a background in learning disabilities and reading instruction.

The class, for grades 1-5, meets from 8-10 a.m. Grades 5-8 meet from 10:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. The first session runs July 8-26. The second session will meet July 29 through August 16. Class fee is $95.

Summer Enrichment Classes will also be starting in July for preschoolers and children ages five through nine. Information on "Cooking and Crafts" and "Nature Crafts" classes, both beginning the week of July 9 may be obtained by calling the school and requesting a summer class brochure.

NEW FOR REFLUX

Heartburn is a common problem that is not related in any way to the heart. Rather, there is a backing up or reflux of stomach acids into the esophagus. Many drugs and foods relax the sphincter that helps keep stomach acid in its place and contribute to discomfort. These include alcohol, caffeine, narcotics, several asthma medicines, chocolate, peppermint, and fruit juices.

Antacids and other ulcer medicines have been the medicines of most importance in reducing heartburn complaints. Now metoclopramide, a prescription-only medicine, is being approved for use in reflux disease. Metoclopramide seems to provide heartburn relief by at least two mechanisms. First, it increases the tone of the sphincter that separates the esophagus from the stomach, keeping acid from slipping into the esophagus. Second, metoclopramide seems to relax the sphincter that separates the stomach from the lower digestive tract, speeding the removal of acid and food from the stomach.

The timing of the dose of metoclopramide is important. If the medicine is taken more than 2 hours before symptoms usually occur, there may be no beneficial effect.

Entertainment

The Northville Record

The showboat is coming — a popular cry along the banks of the Mississippi River — the signal that a large riverboat carrying bands of entertainers was coming to town.

"The showboat is coming" is still a popular cry — right here in Michigan. On the banks of the Shiawassee River in Chesaning.

Once a year, the community of Chesaning takes center stage in state entertainment activities when it presents the Chesaning Showboat.

This year marks Chesaning's 44th Annual Showboat Festival. Festivities will begin with the giant Showboat Festival Parade on Sunday, July 7, at 1:30 p.m. and continue for a full week (July 8-13) with fun and entertainment for people of all ages.

During the past 43 years some of the nation's most popular entertainers have appeared in Chesaning during Showboat Week. And this year will be no exception. Headlining the six Showboat performances on the banks of the Shiawassee will be the Osmond Brothers. In the 25 years since the group was spotted by Andy Williams' father during a summer appearance at Disneyland, the Osmond Brothers have changed their image from squeaky clean to comfortably country.

Accompanying the Osmonds from the professional field during the 44th annual Showboat Week will be the 21st Century Steel Band of Trinidad. The group plays everything from the Hallelujah Chorus from Handel's

THE SHOWBOAT IS HERE! (IN CHESANING)

Messiah to contemporary tunes.

Dink Freeman also will be on hand to provide his special comedy routines. And Chuck Robinette and His Orchestra will return to pace the evening performances as backup for both the show business names and the talented local people who serve in the capacity of vocal chorists, energetic endmen and the gorgeous Bonaty Dancers.

Ah, yes, the talented local people. The "big names" may be the top draw, but the local entertainers are what make the Chesaning Showboat truly unique.

Five amateur acts precede each evening's offering of varied talent. Homemakers are transformed into choristers. Efficient businessmen turn their talents to parking cars and selling programs. And local youth take their place in the world of show business as they man the popcorn and soft drink concessions. Wherever you go in the vicinity of the charming showboat location, you'll find townspeople engaged in a flurry of activity.

The "Shiawassee Queen" — the showboat — and her cargo of professional and amateur talent are the primary attraction Monday through Saturday, however, sailing every evening at dusk to provide old-fashioned, family-oriented entertainment.

Showboat organizers promise non-stop enjoyment from the minute the first introductions are made through the thrill of watching the glittering showboat with its lights blazing and music playing, until the final aerial display of breathtaking fireworks.

Showboat Festival activities are not limited to the six performances in the riverside amphitheatre. The entire village unites to welcome guests. Area service clubs stage barbecue dinners and church groups prepare for hungry visitors by serving delicious homemade foods. An Arts & Crafts Show in Showboat Park draws artisans from miles around to display their wares.

A new addition to the attractions of Showboat Week this year is the "Grand Queen" — sister ship to the "Shiawassee Queen." The "Grand Queen" will sail daily, serving tasty meals that include continental breakfast, breakfast brunch, luncheon and mid-afternoon tea as well as late afternoon and evening dinner cruises.

Tickets and information for this year's showboat can be obtained by calling (517) 945-3056 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday. Tickets are priced at $9, $7 and $5 for Monday through Thursday performances and $9.50, $8 and $7 for Friday's performance. Saturday's performance already is sold out.

Bone-yard II: Eating American

dining out

"Eating ethnic" has become something of an American pastime.

The fad started maybe 20 years ago with the proliferation of Chinese restaurants across the countryside. And once entrepreneurs discovered that Americans were not only willing to sample more-or-less foreign cuisines but actually enjoyed ethnic dining, the flood gates were opened.

Italian restaurants and Mexican restaurants were soon to follow and enjoyed wide-spread acceptance. And in the case of Mexican restaurants, at least, the fast-food variety — Taco Bell — and chain variety — Chi-Chi's — were soon to follow.

However, there currently appears to be a new interest among the general public in a different type of ethnic cuisine — the American variety. To date, the renewed interest in "Eating American" seems to have found its most wide-spread acceptance in the proliferation of "rib shacks" — restaurants which specialize in that fine American food of barbecued spare ribs.

Although the most notable northwest suburban restaurant specializing in ribs is The Bone-yard Barbecue in Dearborn, we set out recently to sample the fare at a "rib shack" which is somewhat closer — The Bone-yard Barbecue No. 2 at 31006 Orchard Lake Road in Farmington Hills.

The Bone-yard II is located on the east side of Orchard Lake Road, directly opposite the Hunter's Square complex with its Tally Hall, which is something of a monument to suburbia's fast-paced, frenzied lifestyle.

Alas, Bone-yard II proved to be something of a disappointment.

Tables are crowded tightly together, leaving little space between groups of diners. The dress is decidedly informal, and the noise levels are high. Paper placemats and bottles of ketchup on Formica table tops complete the scene.

Such informality is not necessarily unworkable.

The Tunnel Barbeque in Windsor is similarly informal — tightly-grouped tables, paper placemats, Formica tables, bottles of ketchup on the table. But the Tunnel Barbeque manages to work it into a somewhat charming ambience, which doesn't work at Bone-yard II.

On the positive side of the ledger, Bone-yard II does have its attributes.

Featured on the menu, obviously, are the barbecued spare ribs. A whole slab ($11.25) serves two and comes with English fried potatoes, cole slaw and garlic bread. Also available are a whole slab for one ($9.95) and a half slab ($7.25).

Other selections include barbecued or broasted chicken, seafood (jumbo butterfly shrimp for $6.75, fish and chips for $3.55, breaded scallops for $4.95) and steaks (New York strip steak at $8.60 and either pork or beef shish-ke-bob).

In addition there are tempting combinations of all the above — ribs and chicken, shrimp and chicken, ribs and shrimp, or ribs, chicken and shrimp — each for $7.75.

And in all honesty, the food is really pretty good. On a recent visit, my companion and I selected the barbecued ribs for two. The serving of coleslaw which accompanied the dinner was more than ample, and there also were plenty of ribs and potatoes, as well as a respectably-sized, tasty chunk of garlic bread.

The potatoes were quite good, we agreed. As were the ribs, barbecued in Bone-yard II's own nicely-seasoned sauce. Our only complaint with the food itself was that the ribs served at our table were not particularly "meaty."

Diners should be apprised that Bone-yard II does not accept credit cards and does not yet have a liquor license.

With a few adjustments, we could rate Bone-yard II somewhat higher. Less crowded conditions in the dining room would be a good starting place.

Bone-yard No. Two, 31006 Orchard Lake Road, Farmington Hills. Open Sunday through Thursday from 11 a.m. to midnight, Friday and Saturday from 11 a.m. to 1 a.m. No credit cards. No liquor license. Carry-out service available. 851-7000.

More than 50 merchants in Plymouth will be offering much of their merchandise at 50 percent off in the third annual Inflation Sale.

To take advantage of the sale, you must rise before the crack of dawn and be in Plymouth at 5 a.m. when the sale starts. From 5 a.m. to 5:59 a.m. sales will be 50 percent off and starting at 6 a.m. merchandise will "inflate" to 40 percent off, at 7 a.m. to 30 percent off, at 8 a.m. to 20 percent off, and at 9 a.m. to 10 percent off. By 10 a.m. most of the prices will return to normal.

Many of the stores will offer more than half their regular merchandise in this sale.

Balloons to color summer skyline

What is 78 feet high, 55 feet wide, holds 77,000 cubic feet of air, is made up of 1,100 yards of material, and runs on liquid propane?

Answer — one of the more than 60 hot air balloons which will be participating in the fifth annual Mayflower Hotel Hot Air Balloon Festival.

The event will take place on Friday through Sunday, July 5-7.

This year a new launch site has been selected for the event, according to festival sponsors R. Scott Lorenz, general manager of the Mayflower Hotel, and Gordon Boring of the Wicker Basket Balloon Center.

The festival will take place at the Plymouth Centennial Educational Park (CEP), a 305-acre site at the corner of Joy and Canter Center Roads in Canton Township.

The new location should provide easy access to the event from nearby I-275 and M-14 freeways, explains Boring, and provide ample parking to give the expected 200,000-plus visitors a chance to visit the main shopping areas of Canton and Plymouth.

"It is through the cooperation of all governmental units that we are able to host the event at the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools' site," adds Lorenz.

This year the event will feature five races. The balloonists will compete for airline tickets from American Airlines, Eastern Airlines and British Airways, and a new car from Oldsmobile.

According to the event organizers, it is the competition which draws the balloonists from across the United States and Canada. The competition also makes the festival one of the most popular events in the midwest.

Launches will take place at 5 p.m. Friday, July 5, and at 6 a.m. and 6 p.m. Saturday and Sunday from the CEP. (Launch times are approximate and depend upon weather conditions).

For information about hot air balloon rides, call the Wicker Basket Balloon Center at 669-4230. For festival information call the Canton Chamber of Commerce at 453-4040 or the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce at 453-1540.

For access to the balloon launch site from I-275, exit at Ann Arbor Road and proceed west to the fourth traffic light (Sheldon Road), turn left (south) to the first traffic light (Joy) and turn right (west) to the launch site.

Motorists coming from the south should get off on the I-275 north exit at Ford Road (Canton) and proceed west to Canton Center Road (about three miles) and turn right (north) and proceed about two miles to the launch site.

From the M-14 freeway, exit at Sheldon Road and turn left (south) and continue to the sixth traffic light which is Joy. Turn right (west) on Joy and continue to the launch site.

Suggested routes and parking tips

There are a number of routes to the site of the Mayflower Hot Air Balloon Festival at the Centennial Educational Park (CEP) at Joy and Canton Center Roads.

But For persons who don't wish to drive to the site, shuttle service will begin at 4:30 p.m. Friday, Saturday and Sunday from the Canton Township Hall at Canton Center and Proctor Roads, south of Cherry Hill, for 50 cents per person.

Ample parking is available at CEP. The charge will be $2 per vehicle with proceeds to benefit high school music and band booster clubs.

Motorists coming from I-275 should exit at Ann Arbor Road and proceed west to the fourth traffic light (Sheldon Road), turn left (south) on Sheldon to the first traffic light which is Joy. Turn right and proceed west on Joy to the launch site.

From the south take I-275 north exit at Ford Road and proceed west to Canton Center Road about 3 miles. Turn right (north) on Canton Center Road and continue to the launch site (about two miles).

From the M-14 freeway exit at Sheldon Road, turn left and proceed south to the sixth traffic light which is Joy. Turn right and proceed west on Joy to the launch site.

The only streets to be closed will be those in subdivisions adjacent to CEP.

Traffic will be restricted to local residents.

AFTER SEVERAL thousand cars fill up CEP lots, traffic will be directed to Pioneer and Isbister schools, both within walking distance of the grounds. Parking also will be permitted along major nearby roads.

Acting Canton Police Chief Larry Stewart recommends that festival-goers wishing to avoid congestion attend morning launchings or arrive early and plan to stay late. "It won't be as busy at 6 a.m., so traffic problems will be minimized," Stewart said.

Motorists will need patience aplenty after the show, as everyone will want to leave at the same time, he added.

"I expect traffic to really be heavy. There's no doubt some people are going to be inconvenienced for a short time due to sheer volume and the fact they'll be traveling on two-lane roads. But everybody can have a good time if they can just be patient," Stewart said.

Police and reserve volunteers controlling traffic lights and directing drivers will be assisted by the Civil Air Patrol and Plymouth REACT.

Balloon enthusiasts are advised that there will be no parking refunds should weather postpone the air show.

Lots of fuss before flight

There's plenty of work to be done on the ground, as the crew prepares before a balloon launch and wraps up afterward. Kenneth Zawisa, shown here after touchdown, gets ready to pack up his gear, including balloon, basket and burner.

Staff photos by
Bill Bresler and Gary Caskey

Before the pilot of a hot air balloon can get off the ground, he has to know where he intends to land, so that his ground crew can be there waiting for him. Here, Linda Rowland and Walter Noeske plot the course for their hot air balloon.

It takes three persons to set up the burner, which heats the air in a hot air balloon. Preparing the basket, or gondola, for flight is part of the groundwork that has to be attended to before a balloon can lift off.

Waking up

Courtney O'Grady, 5, and Dawn Sinon of Brownstown Township were among the early birds, showing up at 6:30 a.m. during last year's festival. The pair came prepared, bundled up and armed with pillows and blankets to ward off the morning chill.

BILL BRESLER/staff photographer

Ballooning began with Frenchmen

The first recorded balloon flight occurred on June 5, 1783, at Annonay, France.

Two brothers, Jacques Etienne and Joseph Michel Montgolfier, sent a large, smoke-filled bag to the astounding height of 35 feet.

They were anxious to make a manned flight but because no one had ever done this before, they had no idea whether a human could survive at these heights.

So three months later they had assembled a balloon and basket combination into which they put a duck, a rooster and a sheep. This Winken, Blynken and Nod of early flight stayed for eight minutes . . . and lived!

King Louis XIV, who was an eyewitness to these experiments, offered the Montgolfiers the services of a condemned criminal for use in a manned flight. But instead Jean Francois Pilatre de Rozier, the king's historian, stepped forward and requested the honor. On Oct. 15, 1783, Pilatre de Rozier ascended to 80 feet and stayed aloft for 4½ minutes.

Although the Montgolfier's efforts seemed to have grabbed the historical spotlight, at the same time French physicist J.A.C. Charles was experimenting with balloons using the newly-discovered gas called hydrogen.

On Dec. 1, 1783, he made the first manned flight in a hydrogen-filled balloon — a spectacular journey which carried him 25 miles across the French countryside in a little less than two hours.

When the balloon landed, Charles asked his assistant to get out so he could try a flight by himself. As soon as the assistant stepped out, the balloon, lightened considerably, shot upward to 9,000 feet. Charles returned safely, having been given a view of the earth no man had seen before.

Antique planes will be shown

Chapter 113 of the Experimental Aircraft Association (EAA) will have a fly-in and pancake breakfast as part of the Mayflower Hotel Hot Air Balloon Festival.

The fly-in will be held Saturday, July 6, at Mettetal Airport, Lilley and Joy roads in Canton.

Breakfast will be served from 7 a.m. to noon. On display will be home-built aircraft plus antique planes dating back to the 1930s.

Plenty of parking will be available. Members of the local Civil Air Patrol will direct parking.

Home-built planes on display are typical of what you could build in your garage, basement or living room.

The time it takes to build the craft varies with complexity of the ship chosen to construct and how long your determination holds out. Building time can range from one to 10 years.

Among the craft displayed will be Stan Wallis' Red Wing Black Bird (a two-place bi-plane) powered by a 351 Ford V-8 automobile engine.

Another feature will be the formation flights of the open cockpit Stearmans (bi-planes) from the New Hudson airdrome. Weather permitting, planes will be flying in from many points in Michigan and Ohio.

Danish girls' band to play at festival

The Gladsaxe Pigejarde (girls' band) of Denmark will visit the Plymouth-Canton community July 3-6 as part of the Blue Lake International Exchange Program.

Some 106 members of the band will stay in private homes while visiting Plymouth-Canton, according to Jim Griffith, chairman of a committee which is making arrangements for the group's visit.

While here the Danish Girls Band will perform in the Plymouth Fourth of July Parade at the Plymouth Community Band Concert at 8 p.m. Thursday in Kellogg Park in downtown Plymouth and at the Mayflower Hot Air Balloon Festival on Friday evening in Canton.

The band is one of six international music groups which will visit Michigan during 1985 as part of the Blue Lake exchange program. The program began in 1970 when a 90-voice choir toured England, Belgium and Germany.

Since then nearly 4,000 high school musicians wearing Blue Lake uniforms have visited 400 communities in England, France, Italy, Germany, Austria, Luxembourg, Belgium, the Netherlands, Denmark, Sweden, Norway, Finland and Liechtenstein.

While touring Europe, Blue Lake groups stay in private homes and the foreign groups do the same when visiting Michigan.

Shutterbugs to compete at fest

Observer Newspapers again will sponsor a color photo contest in conjunction with the 1985 Mayflower Hot Air Balloon Festival.

As in past years, the winning entry will be published in full color on Page 1A of the Plymouth Observer and Canton Observer in the fall.

The contest is sponsored by the Canton and Plymouth Observer newspapers with co-sponsors Quicksilver One Hour Photo, 1313 Ann Arbor Road in Plymouth, and the Mayflower Hotel.

A major change in the competition this year is that the contest will be for color prints only, instead of slides as in past years. Prints entered will become the property of Observer & Eccentric Newspapers and will not be returned.

Anyone wanting to retain a personal copy should have an extra print made before submitting their entry for the contest.

All entries should have the name, address and phone number of the photographer placed on the back of the print. Persons are advised to keep the negative of their entry on file so it can be submitted if they are chosen a winner.

Photographs must be taken in the Plymouth-Canton area during the three-day festival, Friday through Sunday, July 5-7.

The deadline to submit entries is 5 p.m. Friday, July 19. Entries may be mailed or delivered in person to the Observer Newspapers at 489 S. Main, Plymouth. Questions may be directed to Marybeth Dillon Ward, editor of the Canton Observer, or to Emory Daniels, editor of the Plymouth Observer, at 459-2700.

The first-place winner, in addition to having his/her photo printed on Page 1A of the Canton and Plymouth Observers, will receive a weekend for two in the Mayflower Hotel, $50 cash, a 16-by-20-inch framed copy of their entry, two rolls of film and free processing from Quicksilver.

The second-place winner will receive a framed 11-by-14-inch enlargement of their entry, a roll of film and free processing from Quicksilver, $25 cash, and free Sunday Brunch for four in the Mayflower Meeting House.

Third-place winner will receive an 8-by-10-inch framed enlargement of their entry, a roll of film and free processing from Quicksilver, and Sunday dinner for four at the Mayflower Hotel.

Honorable mentions will receive free processing for one roll of film from Quicksilver and a meal pass for two from the Mayflower.

Only one entry per person will be accepted.

Employees or family members of employees of the Observer & Eccentric newspapers are ineligible.

Judging will be done by photographer Bill Bresler, assisted by members of the Observer news staff. Criteria will include composition, color, ability to reproduce on newsprint and degree of difficulty in taking the shot.

Billowing balloons

Hot air balloonists fall in love with the colorful, public spectacle a festival creates. Such peaceful pageantry arrives this weekend for folks in Plymouth and Canton.

Hot air balloon pilot school set

A Hot Air Balloon Seminar will be held in Plymouth the end of August.

The seminar will be conducted by Van Stifler who is associated with the Fort Wayne Ground Schools.

The session will begin at about 8:30 a.m. at the Mayflower Hotel on Aug. 3 and 4.

Those completing the two-day course will be eligible to take a written exam to become a licensed hot air balloon pilot by the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA).

The seminar will cover such topics as federal regulations, density, altitude, lifting force, landing, ballooning weather, equipment, vocabulary, aeronautical charts, weather reports, good operating practice, and mountain flying.

The seminar covers the information required for both private and commercial hot air balloons, and free balloon pilot licenses. Tuition of $125 (additional family members at $30 each) includes all classroom presentations, hand-out materials, and loan of an aeronautical chart, circular protractor, and test guides.

Stifler also is a designated written test examiner appointed by the FAA and will administer the test upon course completion. Stifler guarantees that persons attending the seminar will pass the FAA written exam or tuition will be refunded.

The classes begin 8:30 a.m. Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 3-4, with a lunch break at 11:45 a.m. Afternoon sessions will run from 1-4 p.m. On Sunday the written exams will be given at 1 p.m. and will last about 90 minutes.

Reservations are necessary and may be made by calling the Wicker Basket Balloon Center at 669-4230 or by calling Stifler at 219-747-5533. Payment is due on the morning of Aug. 3.
