Board seeks lower speeds on Six Mile

Acting on a request from homeowners in the Northville Colony and Northville Commons subdivisions, township trustees recently asked Wayne County to lower the speed limit on Six Mile Road.

Present and near-future residential development along Six Mile between Haggerty and Northville roads was cited as the reason for the request to lower the speed limit from its present 50 miles per hour to 45 mph.

Township supervisor Susan Heintz noted that the county has already agreed to place a traffic signal at Winchester and Six Mile in response to increased traffic flow. The two subdivision homeowner associations asked for the lower limit, which was considered at the board's August 8 meeting.

Continued development of the Lakes of Northville subdivision combined with the adjacent construction of Cedar Lake Apartments are the on-going projects expected to add to traffic volumes. Also announced and soon to begin construction is the Maple Hill subdivision just east of township hall and Lakes of Northville.

Developer Fred Greenspan has also announced his intention of completing the Northville Colony project with construction of new homes in Colony IV. Those new homes will have access to both Five and Six Mile roads, but with no freeway ramps at Five Mile and I-275, it is expected that most traffic will use the Six Mile route.

Township board members debated the speed limit question, with some arguing that it should be lowered to 40 mph and others contending that travel at the current limit is still safe.

Favoring a lower limit than the 45 mph suggestion was trustee James Nowka, whose motion that the request be made for a 40 mph limit died for lack of a second. Nowka subsequently seconded the motion by trustee Donald Williams that the request be for a 45 mph limit.

Unconvinced that there is a need for a lower limit was treasurer Richard Henningsen, who voted against the request for the 45 mph limit.

The motion to request county action was approved on a 5-1 vote, with trustee Thomas Cook absent.

Heintz stressed that the road is under Wayne County jurisdiction and the township board vote is only advisory. The request for a lower limit will likely result in a traffic study by the county Office of Public Services. The new speed limit, if any, would be established based on the evaluation of the study by DPS traffic safety engineers.

What, no candles?

It's easy to understand why the Northville Senior Citizens' Council opted to forego the candles on Tom Colleta's birthday cake last Thursday. Colleta celebrated his 90th birthday with his wife Lee and friends at the group's gathering last week. His birthday was August 17. As the cake would indicate, Tom is an avid Detroit Tigers fan. He and his wife will be celebrating their 59th wedding anniversary in November. Record photo by Steve Fecht.

Vernon, Gardner seek re-election, but not DeRusha

By KEVIN WILSON

November's city council elections started to come into sharper focus Monday as all three incumbents whose terms expire this year announced their intentions.

At least one new face will be among the five behind the council table come November as councilmember J. Burton DeRusha announced that he will not seek re-election.

Mayor Paul Vernon and Mayor Pro-Tem G. Dewey Gardner both announced that they will run again. Vernon for his fifth two-year term as mayor and Gardner for re-election to his four-year council seat.

Gardner also announced, however, that he will be a candidate for mayor in 1987. If re-elected this year, a mayoral candidacy two years from now would require Gardner to resign his council seat.

BEMS Engineering president Eugene (Bud) Kunz announced last week his intention to run for mayor this November. At the time, Vernon's intentions were unknown.

Picking up nominating petitions from the city clerk's office in the past week were Ron Bodner and Luigi Folino, said clerk Cathy Konrad Tuesday morning. She said she did not know whether the two intended to be candidates themselves or had pulled petitions to nominate others. The Record was unable to contact the two before going to press.

Village gets new lease

Plans for market rate apartments in addition to elderly housing at the proposed Cavanagh Retirement Village got a boost last week when Wayne County agreed to a lease revision and extension on a portion of the vacant Wayne County Child Development Center.

County commissioners voted last Thursday to amend the ground lease on the property, deleting a clause that restricted use to elderly housing. The lease was granted to the Wayne County Economic Development Corporation (WCEDC) in 1981 and the property subleased to Northville Elderly Development Company in 1984.

The partnership that proposes to develop the 101-acre site with both elderly and market rate apartments open to all age groups ran into immediate complications with the lease and township zoning restrictions that prohibited any development not exclusively devoted to elderly housing.

Northville Township zoning on the property still limits the project to elderly housing, but proposed amendments to the zoning ordinance may be considered as early as August 27.

The textual amendments proposed in late 1984 and repeatedly tabled by township planners at the developer's request would allow the market rate housing, among other measures to accommodate the plan.

Northville Elderly Development Company is a partnership put together specifically for the project. Among the firms in the partnership is Singh Development, a Novi-based real estate development company.

High visibility decisions

By KEVIN WILSON

Being a member of city council isn't all fun and glory — there are momentous decisions to be made that must weigh heavy on one's mind for weeks at a time.

Take Monday's meeting. Council members had to make a choice the entire city will live with for years to come. It has to be just right, because everyone who comes anywhere near the city is going to see the results.

The council was called upon to choose a color scheme for painting the municipal water supply tank near the high school.

For all its gravity, the issue was not controversial. The council simply accepted the recommendation made by city manager Steven Walters and DPW superintendent Ted Mapes.

Walters jovially suggested that he and Mapes were "rushing in where angels fear to tread."

For the record, the tank itself will be painted Sherwin-Williams Pearl with Light Bark colored lettering in Berkeley oldstyle bold typeface reading "Northville" and fully visible from the east and west.

Below the sphere, on the flared base and support stem, paint will be in Northville High School colors (black with orange striping) with a mustang head logo facing the school property.

Walters also reported that tank repair is proceeding on schedule under a contract awarded in early August. Work completion is expected to meet the target date of September 30.

East Main widening is planned to add parking

Detailed engineering plans for widening East Main Street between Griswold and Church to create 15-20 new parking spaces were created by city council Monday night.

City manager Steven Walters explained that officials initially thought that widening would require the purchase of additional property abutting the street, but that a survey shows sufficient right-of-way currently available on the south side of the street.

"If you stand at Griswold and sight along the curb line toward the Presbyterian Church, you can see that if the south curb line were straightened out, you'd have enough room," Walters said. "Right now, the curb in between those points is out in the right-of-way."

City engineers McNeely & Lincoln Associates estimated cost of the pavement widening at $27,500. The estimate includes the cost of new driveway ramps and sidewalks, regrading some front lawns, tree removal and relocation of street lights and business signs.

Walters said the city has several options for financing the improvement, with a major one being inclusion of the street widening in a second phase downtown development project now in the planning stages. Second phase DDA work would concentrate on parking expansion, he said, and the widening will fit in with the general project.

But Walters noted that several similar "small" projects around town should be engineered now "so we can move on them if something becomes available."

For East Main, the city manager said, "part of the goal is to get a similar appearance to the next block west, part to create more parking spaces. The DDA will reflect that in plan amendments when they come to (council) in the fall."

If not accomplished under the tax increment financing methods for downtown renovation, the widening could be paid for with community development block grant funds, Walters added.

Council member Paul Folino asked if repaving of the street would be done at the same time as widening, and Walters said it might, since East Main is designated for repair under the city's street renovation program.

Walters said the DDA had referred the widening to council "because they felt they needed council authorization to have engineering done, since they don't have their own source of funding right now."

Robin Meyers leaves Bushnell for Oklahoma post

By MICHELE M. FECHT

With only a few weeks remaining before his departure to a new church in Oklahoma, Robin Meyers is tying up the loose ends of his more than four year ministry at Bushnell Congregational.

His resignation as senior pastor of the liberal Protestant church came July 29, only a month after its membership voted to separate the city and suburban congregations.

Meyers notes the membership's overwhelming approval to divide the two churches (266 members favored the separation; 66 were opposed) signifies the first step toward incorporation for the Meadowbrook and Broquet parish. By January, Bushnell-Meadowbrook should be autonomous.

The June 30 decision to sever the ties between Bushnell-Detroit and its Northville church culminates a more than six-year struggle within the parish ranks.

For Robin Meyers, the action signifies an end to Bushnell's internal strife — and hopefully an end to the controversy which has surrounded the church and his ministry.

"I set out to be conscientious, not controversial," Meyers says.

With his departure coming so closely on the heels of Bushnell's most recent action, many have concluded the 33-year-old pastor bowed out as a result of the separation issue.

However, Meyers contends he "wasn't planning on leaving" the Bushnell parish. He notes his new urban Congregational parish will offer him an opportunity to minister a small — though growing — congregation, as well as teach at his alma mater, Phillips University.

"People have to believe a church is more than any particular pastor."

— Robin Meyers,
Bushnell senior minister

There's little doubt that his new post will offer challenges far different than those he faced more than four years ago as the new senior pastor at Bushnell.

Thrust into the limelight at 29 — only a week shy of receiving his doctorate degree from Drew University — Meyers became the central figure in Bushnell's struggle to retain its formidable northwest Detroit church while moving forward with plans for a new suburban parish at Meadowbrook and Broquet.

The youngest senior minister in the history of Bushnell Congregational, Meyers' appointment in June, 1981, ended a year-long search for a new pastor.

His youth and enthusiasm no doubt played a part in the selection committee's decision. For, in addition to standing behind the pulpit, the recent seminary graduate also was responsible for heading the development of the new church in Northville — and easing the trauma of closing the doors on the more than 50-year stronghold in Detroit.

More than a year before Meyers' arrival, Bushnell's board of trustees decided to sell the Detroit church as a result of declining membership.

The church, which once boasted a membership of 2,600, lost more than half its congregation during the 1970's as city residents moved in droves to the suburbs.

In 1980, the Detroit church was put up for sale and a 14-acre parcel on Meadowbrook Road was purchased as the new site for Bushnell Congregational. Construction of the new church was to be financed through the sale of the $1 million Detroit structure.

Such was the scenario at the time of Downtown craft show set

A wide variety of crafts will be on exhibit and for sale at the downtown Northville craft show from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. this Saturday.

Del Black, who is chairing this new event for the downtown merchants, reported Monday that the response has been "even greater than expected."

Initially, about 40 crafts persons were expected. Black said he now anticipates there will be between 50-60 exhibitors in spaces on the downtown sidewalks.

"It will be a good chance for early Christmas shopping, especially for handcrafted items for children," he noted, mentioning that there will be booths of wooden toys and doll clothes.

"There also will be a lot of woodwork, including wooden clocks, as well as calico and country crafts," he said.

Black said he had been selective in assigning space and that manufactured items were not permitted.

Among the other crafts listed for the show are pottery, ceramics, wreaths, punch tin work, puppets, stuffed ducks, tooled leather items, tote painted wares and hand painted jogging suits.

From 10:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. the Northville Alumni Band will be playing in the town square park.

Black said that crafts people would be setting up early — by 8 or 8:30 a.m. In event of rain, the show will be rescheduled for September 7, the Saturday after Labor Day.

Turnbull appointed to college director post

Former Northville resident Michael Turnbull has been named director of admissions for the Community College of Philadelphia. The college has an enrollment of 22,000 students.

Prior to joining CCP, Turnbull was director of admissions for Findley College of Ohio and, previously, director of admissions and financial aid for Montclair Community College of Sidney, Michigan.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Turnbull of Northville and a 1966 graduate of Northville High School.

He received his bachelor's degree from Michigan State University where he played football and his master's degree from Central Michigan University.

At CMU he served as head of the resident advisors. In the mid-1970s Turnbull taught at Walled Lake Western High School.

He also bicycled around the world.

He was joined on the cycling expedition by his brother Robert in Guam. Robert Turnbull was serving there as a librarian and Michael taught high school in Guam until his brother was free to join him.

They bicycled through the Far East, then continental Europe and Britain before going on to Africa and Egypt. They also toured Israel.

Michael Turnbull's interests include gardening, photography and sports. He is married and has three children. The family is living in the Drexel Hill suburb of Philadelphia.

Audit shows township ran large surplus in 1984-85

By KEVIN WILSON

When the books were closed March 31, Northville Township registered a $226,000 gain of revenues over expenditures for the fiscal year 1984-85.

Auditor Kenneth Kunkel of Plante & Moran told the board of trustees August 8 that the evident budget surplus was the result of delayed capital expenditures and unanticipated revenues.

The year's budget was projected to be balanced at $1.648 million. But revenues exceeded that figure by $95,000 and expenditures fell short by $131,000.

Kunkel noted that expenditures budgeted but not made during the year included paving of additional parking area in front of township hall and the acquisitions of one fire department and one police department vehicle. Unanticipated revenues included payments from the 35th District Court and what Kunkel described as "a pretty staggering increase" in building permit income.

On the spending side, budgeted costs of $97,000 for township hall and grounds fell $15,721 short when the projected cost of paving did not take place.

The second largest variance from budget on the expense side was in the police department, where expenditures were $34,699 under budget. Having anticipated the need for an additional police officer when the Meijer store opened, the township did not add the officer until July — after the budget year ended. The combined salary and fringe benefits savings, plus the anticipated cost of another car, resulted in the expenditure shortfall.

Also spending less than appropriated was the fire department, where expenses were nearly $22,000 lower than anticipated. Major reason? Delivery of a new fire truck came after year-end.

Also registering a large surplus was the general and administrative category, where expenses were $39,204 below budget. Lower-than-expected costs in several areas were responsible, with legal fees below projections.

On the revenue side, the township budget of last year projected property taxes $11,000 below the actual figure. It also anticipated only a $59,100 return from the 35th District Court when actual returns were $107,308, for a variance of $48,000.

Kunkel noted that the court revenue gain would have been hard to project, since the 1983-84 income from that source was only $35,000. Treasurer Richard Henningsen said when adopting the budget in March, 1984, that he was reluctant to project court revenue increases. Throughout the year, he praised the cost effective work of township police officers, who he and the court's judges said were writing few frivolous citations that raise court costs without generating revenue.

Building department revenues (all generated by various building and mechanical permit fees) exceeded the budget estimate by $28,293. Kunkel noted that the 1983-84 income from the department was only $76,000 while in 84-85 it doubled to $152,000.

"You did project a substantial increase in activity, budgeting $50,000 over the previous year's level," he said. "But there was a pretty staggering increase that no one could expect you to project."

Lesser revenue gains were seen in state shared revenues ($6,400 over budget at $472,400) and in federal revenue sharing ($4,000 over the $48,000 projection).

Many of the expenditures not made last year are budgeted for the current year, though the township budget picture has become complicated by the incorporation as a charter township.

Township department heads this month must submit projected spending plans to the supervisor in preparation for what will be the third budget-drafting session of the calendar year.

The township adopted a 1985-86 budget for the period from April 1 to March 31. That was scrapped when the township incorporated and moved onto the charter township fiscal year which runs January to December. The interim budget was adopted in late June and runs to this December.

The budget now entering the preparatory stages must be adopted by November 1 and will govern the 1986 fiscal year beginning January 1.

Normac may get a tax break

Tax abatements for industrial expansion at Normac Inc. on Baseline Road could be granted, despite an evident violation of one of the rules governing such abatements.

Township board members gave an unofficial "indication" August 8 that they would allow a 50 percent property tax reduction on a building expansion already under construction.

State rules require that an application for tax abatements be filed before work begins on a project.

Township supervisor Susan J. Heintz told board members she had been approached by Normac manager Samuel Pruchno with a request for tax abatement prior to the beginning of construction and she had been receptive but advised Pruchno to have an attorney draft an official application.

Subsequently, Normac's legal counsel backed away from the project and, during the resulting delay, the township issued building permits for the project.

"Because his legal counsel pulled out, he hasn't filed his application," Heintz said. "I guess I didn't make clear the them that they had to file before they started construction."

The state Department of Commerce is willing to write a letter to the state tax authorities requesting that Normac be exempted from the requirement to delay construction until after abatement is granted, Heintz said.

Normac, (the name originally was a contraction of Northville Machines) has moved its headquarters to North Carolina, Heintz said. Without tax abatement in Michigan, Heintz said, a pending defense contract may be assigned to the North Carolina branch, taking a projected 17 jobs and $30,000 worth of construction with it. The present expansion project is valued at $150,000 in new construction and $148,000 in equipment. It allows the addition of six or seven new employees.

Heintz said the possibility of losing jobs to North Carolina prompted the Department of Commerce to suggest a waiver might be granted on the requirement to delay construction.

"Apparently, the people in North Carolina had some problems doing business in Michigan and are requiring that the local manager show some government cooperation if he wants to expand here," Heintz said. "The Department of Commerce is willing to pursue it, but asked for a 'feeling' from the board before they go through the appeals process, which is quite involved. They don't want to go through it all, invest the time, and have this board reject the application."

Trustee James Nowka noted that the abatement on a $150,000 building "is not really that valuable. It doesn't seem to be worth his time." The savings, Heintz said, would be roughly $4,000 a year. Over the 12-year maximum period that could be granted, the $48,000 savings "probably would be eaten up by his costs of pursuing this," Nowka said.

But Heintz said Pruchno expects to handle the paperwork himself rather than hiring another attorney. "He understands that the savings are low," Heintz said. "I think it's more a matter of principle, of having something to show his superiors for why he is staying in Northville."

Heintz asked if any board member was opposed to granting a tax abatement on the project and got no response. She communicated that "feeling" to the Department of Commerce.

EXERCISE AND ASTHMA

Should asthmatics avoid exercise? Most of North America's 10 million asthmatics can actually benefit from brief exercise sessions. Stephen Smith, M.D., writing in Postgraduate Medicine, says, "With proper therapy prior to exercise... the patient should be able to participate fully in activity. Full participation is important not only for its contribution to good physical fitness but also for its psychological benefits, particularly for the young asthmatic patient."

People who have asthma know that exercise can bring on asthmatic attacks. About three-fourths of asthma sufferers experience "exercise-induced asthma." The type, intensity, and duration of exercise can affect the degree to which one experiences coughing, wheezing, tightness of the chest, and other asthma symptoms.

The "adrenalin-type" prescription and non-prescription medicines are frequently used to prevent and correct exercise-induced asthma. Hand-held aerosols of this type medicine continue to gain popularity. Aerosols are inhaled and quickly dilate the air passages in the lungs. The exerciser can, for example, carry an aerosol in his or her pocket and use it just prior to activity.

Hilton puts finishing touches on new Novi hotel

By PATRICIA N. BOWLING

It was like watching the pieces fall into place on a giant puzzle, each one adding another unique feature to the overall picture.

Those inside the Novi Hilton this summer — the managers, staff and various work crews — shared the excitement as color, texture and dazzling illumination were added to the grey shell of the seven-story building at Eight Mile and Haggerty Road.

"It's never fast enough," said Manager Gary Seibert on a muggy afternoon in mid-July. Inside an equally muggy July — the kinks were still being worked out of the air conditioning system — the hotel manager described his hectic summer days.

"It's a lot of work. I spend a lot of time opening boxes," he said. Among the shipments this particular week were pots and pans for the kitchen and desk tops for administrative offices. The desk tops were the wrong size and had to be shipped back — a small delay in the overall scheme, but irritating nonetheless.

There are still a few pieces missing here and there, but the grand picture of the Novi Hilton is close enough to completion for its proud developer, Joseph Gerak, and general manager, Seibert, to stand back and marvel.

"It's unlike anything else; it's unique, it's different," Seibert said of the formidable structure rising out of a wooded corner of the Orchard Hill Place office park.

From the point of drop-off under the glowing, Porte Cochere, to "Zip Out Check Out," Gerak and Seibert endeavored to create a unique experience for Novi Hilton visitors.

The 160-foot-long front desk is designed to prevent check-in delays, but guests may wish to linger anyway to enjoy the likes of Glen Michaels, Richard

"It's unlike anything else; it's unique, it's different."

— Gary Seibert,
Novi Hilton Manager

Kozlow and other Michigan artists whose works are featured throughout the lobby.

Seibert describes each room in detail, from the inlaid hardwood floor in the Orchard Cafe to the intricate neon lighting in Whispers lounge. But it is more the mechanics than the aesthetics that make the Hilton unique.

Gerak and Seibert chuckle over the publicity their plumbing system has received — less water with every flush saves money for the hotel and water for the city.

"We've got the newest and the latest in a lot of areas," they agreed. The elevators are another example. The system uses battery power to go up, then recharges the battery on the way down. It can operate up to nine hours with no electrical assistance. The system was developed by Otis Elevator last year. The Novi Hilton has the second system installed in Michigan.

The lock system in the Novi Hilton is the first of its kind in Michigan, according to Seibert. Produced by Safelock of Troy, the system replaces door keys with a plastic card. The cards, which have been pioneered in other hotels throughout the country, are inserted into the door; when a tiny light comes on, the door is unlocked. But the card must be removed before the door can be opened. "So you can't forget the card in the door," Seibert noted.

The anticipated market for the Novi Hilton is expected to lean heavily toward frequent, individual business travelers. Therefore the amenities designed especially for these traveling business men and women abound: oversized desks to accommodate computers, electric shoe polishers and pants pressers, bathrobes, televisions in the bathrooms (so they can listen to the news while shaving or applying makeup) and complimentary breakfast.

The Novi Hilton also has made special accommodations for the handicapped traveler. But instead of relying on their own ideas as to what a handicapped guest might want, Gerak and Seibert called in a local resident who is confined to a wheelchair.

"Some of the things he came up with we never would have thought of," Seibert noted. For instance, doors to the handicapped rooms now have two peep holes — one at eye level for someone standing, the other at eye level for someone seated.

Their "expert" also noted that hotel rooms often place heavy chairs in front of the air conditioning controls. This problem has been eliminated at the Hilton. "I think we've got all the angles covered," Seibert noted.

Gerak describes the staff of over 200 as "a very vibrant young group." Many are recent Schoolcraft college graduates in various areas, he noted. "They're all excited by the whole project — which is great."

The Novi Hilton has been opening piecemeal over the past two weeks as finishing touches are completed on the 237-room hotel. The 9,000-square-foot ballroom was inaugurated August 3 with a wedding reception. The Orchard Cafe and guest rooms on the third and fourth floors were opened for business the same weekend.

Since then the fifth floor, lobby and Whispers cocktail lounge have been opened, Manager Seibert reported. Whispers, a 160-seat lounge, offers entertainment and dancing Tuesday through Sunday evenings.

The sixth floor, a portion of the second floor, and the swimming pool were expected to be completed by last week.

A separate grand opening is planned for the Crystal Swan restaurant later this year.

The Novi Hilton will have an extensive conference center for meetings and seminars. "The Forum," an 85-seat amphitheatre with a stage and projection room, is expected to open August 25. Nine additional conference rooms on the second level are soon to be complete.

Seibert noted the seventh floor Executive Level is not yet open.

Schoolcraft may request one mill tax hike in '86

They have no doubt Schoolcraft College needs new revenue. They agree next March is the time to ask voters for a property tax increase.

But community college trustees want more time to mull over the ambitious 20-year financing plan proposed this month by Vice President W. Kenneth Lindner.

"I don't think I've ever seen anything like this before," said trustee Paul Y. Kadish of Livonia, a board veteran of more than a decade.

Lindner recommended an increase in the property tax of one mill for five years. With it the college could:

- Raise $3.4 million a year from 1986-90 for a total of $17.8 million.
- Spend only about $1 million annually for the first five years.
- Invest the excess at an estimated 8 percent interest.

• Spend the earning and principal over 20 years — achieving $33 million in improvements, double the amount taken in taxes.

It's a limited endowment plan," explained trustee Harry Greenleaf, a Livonian who has spent eight years on the board. "It's a better approach than bonding, where you have to spend some of your money on interest."

Lindner unveiled the plan at a special meeting August 7. It's likely to be on the agenda at the regular August 28 meeting and future meetings until a ballot proposal is formulated.

College officials are eyeing next March 17 and 24 as special election dates.

Trustee Rosina Raymond of Livonia liked the idea of asking for a round number — one mill — instead of a fraction of a mill.

"One mill is simple and clear. You'd be surprised how many people confuse 0.8 mills with 8 mills," she said, referring to unsuccessful millage requests of the past.

One mill amounts to $1 per $1,000 of state equalized valuation (SEV). A house with a market value of $60,000 would have an SEV of $30,000. The tax would cost $30 a year, minus state property tax rebates, which 60 percent of homeowners receive.

"We need a citizens' committee to help us (campaign)," said trustee Laura Toy of Livonia.

"Maybe a 'Friends of Schoolcraft College,'" added Raymond, recalling how a Friends of the Library group spearheaded a millage drive in the city of Livonia.

According to Lindner's outline, the money would go into four areas, partly capital, partly operating:

- Plant fund — 50 percent. Site improvements, major maintenance, renovation and remodeling, limited construction and refurbishing of the 20-year-old buildings.
- Equipment replacement fund — 25 percent.

Equipment for current programs where equipment is technically obsolete or physically worn out. Cited were computers, CAD/CAM (computer-aided design and manufacturing) and robotics.

• Development fund — 10 percent. Faculty and staff development (training), program development and grant applications supporting new programs.

• Budget stabilization fund — 15 percent. A variation of the common "rainy-day fund" idea, it would reduce the impact of uncontrollable circumstances, such as the mid-year state aid cuts during the recession, and such catastrophic losses as reduction in valuations or enrollments.

Trustee Sharon Sarris of Livonia commented: "The simpler it is for the voter, the better. This plan has four elements to it. We need to discuss whether that can be clearly stated."

Schoolcraft voters approved one mill in the early 1960s and 0.77 mill for debt retirement in 1967. Because of state law changes, the college now uses the entire 1.77 mills for operating and levies an additional (and decreasing) 0.15 mill for debt retirement, for a total of 1.92 mills. No increase has been voted since 1967.

"If we tried to place the entire burden for revenue growth on students (tuition), we'd price ourselves right out of the market," Lindner said.

"In the 1960s, our enrollment was 70 percent liberal arts (students planning to finish their last two years at a university) and 30 percent career," Lindner said. "Today it's 70 percent or more career and 30 percent transfer."

Career students cost more to train, particularly in areas requiring computers, microprocessors and word-processing equipment, he said. College officials have talked of the need for 10,000 square feet of space for a computer lab and business office computers.

"Ten years ago the average student carried 10 credit hours. Now it's seven credit hours. We are processing more heads to generate the same number of credit hours," Lindner said.

Thus, the need for registration, custodial and counseling staffs rises faster than the number of credit hours, he concluded.

Needs can be expected to rise two percent a year faster than revenues, Lindner said. Current budget, balanced by dipping into a reserve fund, is $18.5 million. Next year the revenue "shortfall" is expected to be $700,000 and that shortfall will grow to nearly $2 million annually by fall of 1990.

Lindner said the college has instituted many efficiencies — summer tax collections to reduce borrowing, faculty cuts, improved purchasing practices and utilities economies.

"But the number of options has been depleted," said Lindner, arguing that new revenue is needed.

Library expands video choices

A new special interest video collection has just been started at the Wayne Oakland Library Federation (WOLF) Film/Video Library containing informational, instructional and other videotapes not readily available from other sources.

Both Northville and Novi public libraries are members of the WOLF system.

Video collections are not a new addition to public library services — several libraries have been circulating feature videos for many years.

However, the collection is new in focus and will be growing from the current 100 titles in half-inch VHS format which cover subjects such as cooking, foreign language, sports, first aid, and business management.

Among the more popular titles are "Megatrends," "The One Minute Manager," "The 1984 World Series," "Wines of California" and the Massey tape series by Dr. Morris Massey.

A $4 service fee per title is collected at the time the video is borrowed from the WOLF library.

Videos are available to individuals and organizations in Wayne County or Oakland County communities served by a member library of the WOLF and can be ordered from and delivered to a local WOLF library.

In addition to videotapes, the Film/Video Library has the largest public library 16mm film collection in the state with more than 12,000 films. For further information contact the Film/Video Library at 326-8923 or a local WOLF library.

from 17 metro communities sing in the Schoolcraft College Community Choir.

Community Choir is offered through the College's Community Services program and may be taken for academic credit. Tuition is $30. Fall rehearsals begin at 7:30 p.m. September 10.

Prospective members should call 591-6400, extension 409, for an audition appointment and procedural information.

College choir auditions slated

The Schoolcraft College Community Choir's repertoire for its 21st season includes a Bach cantata and works by Gabrieli, Pachelbel, Brucker and Rachmaninoff.

Auditions for the Community Choir will be held August 27 and September 3 in Room 310 of the Forum Building on the college campus.

The 45-voice classical choir offers experienced singers the opportunity to develop their own talents while performing music of the masters. Residents

Northville residents JUDITH ANN ORR and STEVEN SMITH have been inducted into Michigan State University's chapter of Phi Beta Kappa for academic excellence in liberal arts and sciences.

Those selected are in the top 10 percent of their class and have studied a wide variety of courses, including two years of language and one year of mathematics.

Orr, a 1985 graduate, was an economics major and a member of Phi Kappa Phi national honorary and Omicron Delta Epsilon economics honorary.

Smith, a senior with a dual major in zoology and physiology, was also a member of Phi Kappa Phi.

Phi Beta Kappa, the nation's oldest honorary, was founded at the College of William and Mary in 1776. The MSU Epsilon chapter was chartered in 1968.

Outstanding seniors are invited to join on the basis of academic achievement and personal evaluation by administrators in the student's academic fields.

Orr is the daughter of Mary Ann Orr of 1827 Jamestown, and Smith is the son of John W. Smith of 41877 Sutters Lane. Both are 1981 Northville High School graduates.

ELIZABETH McMILLAN, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald C. McMillan of Morgan Circle, was among the Spring Arbor College students named to the dean's list for the spring semester.

To be eligible for the dean's list, students must be full-time undergraduates and carry a grade point average of 3.5 or better.

ERIC DONKERS of 41741 Rayburn was among 100 Michigan high school students selected to participate in the Michigan Freedom Academy July 27 through August 3 at Phelps Collins Air National Guard Base in Alpena.

The objective of the week-long program is to instill, promote and sharpen an understanding of and appreciation for "freedom" in America. The program is composed of prominent speakers, discussion group sessions, workshops and field trips.

Donkers is a student at Catholic Central High School.

Two Northville residents have received scholarships from Hillsdale College.

JENNIFER NIXON, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Travis Nixon, won a Trustee Scholarship which pays one quarter tuition to the college.

CLAIRE LANGRAN, daughter of

Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Langran, won a Presidential Scholarship — one of the most prestigious academic awards bestowed at Hillsdale.

Both Nixon and Langran will be freshmen at Hillsdale in the fall and are graduates of Northville High School.

SHERYL WOERNER of 42231 Ladywood is among the 324 students selected by Eastern Michigan University to receive the University's 1985 Recognition of Excellence Awards.

Winners of the $1,000 scholarships must have earned a 3.5 grade point average in high school or community college and demonstrated outstanding leadership ability.

Sheryl is a Northville High School graduate.

Three Northville residents were included on the Lake Superior State College dean's list for the spring term.

MARIANNE CONNER, DOUGLAS IFFERSON and PETER WORDEN earned a 3.5 grade point or better to be named to the dean's list.

RENE MARIE WISELEY of Seven Mile Road has been accepted to West Virginia Wesleyan College for the 1985-86 academic year.

Fall term classes begin September 4.

Northville resident JASON RUITER is among the students who participated in the "Diversity in Music and Computer Applications" Institute at Saginaw Valley State College July 28 through August 10.

The institute was designed for gifted students and combined ensemble and theory work with programming and musical applications of computer.

Ruiter, a student at Northville High School, was a member of the school's theatre light crew. He hopes to major in computer science at University of Michigan.

ELAINE C. VARGO of Linden was among the students named to the dean's list at Madonna College for the past term.

She is a senior majoring in child development.

Three Northville residents are among the students named to the dean's list at Lake Superior State College for the summer term.

MARIANNE CONNER, DOUGLAS IFFERSON and PETER WORDEN were among the students who earned a 3.5 or better grade point average.

Crafts demonstrations set

The Plymouth Historical Museum again will have demonstrations of Old World Crafts September 7 and 8 during the Plymouth Fall Festival.

A few of the crafts to be demonstrated are scrimshaw, tinsmithing, silhouettes, weaving, woodcarving, rug braiding and hooking, herbs and cornhusk dolls.

The Plymouth Historical Museum, located at 155 South Main Street, will have special hours during the festival: Saturday, September 7, from noon to 7 p.m. and Sunday, September 8, from noon to 6 p.m. Admission will be $1 for adults and 25 cents for children.

Incumbents announce city election plans

Nominating petitions must bear the signatures of between 50 and 75 registered city electors in order to place a candidate's name on the November 5 ballot. They must be turned in to the city clerk no earlier than September 1 nor later than September 30.

DeRusha's decision to leave his council seat had been rumored around town for some time — he said he told the mayor and other city officials of his intention not to run again two months ago. The two four-year council terms go to the top vote-getters in the election, candidates not being required to choose between the vacant seat or running against the incumbent.

DeRusha said he is leaving council "with deep regret" only because he expects to put his Northville Estates home up for sale next spring "and I don't expect I'll be living in the city after it is sold."

He said it would be "unfair to the voters" to ask them to elect him to a four-year term he probably would have to resign less than a year later.

DeRusha cited personal reasons for selling his home and said he hopes to find a residence nearby but cannot limit his options to locations within the city limits.

"There's another reason, too. I suppose," DeRusha said. "I don't think people should be on council forever, not meaning to take away anything from those like Paul (Vernon) and Dewey (Gardner) who are running again. I felt when I got into it that two terms would probably be sufficient."

Prior to his election to council almost eight years ago, DeRusha served seven years on the planning commission and two years on the property tax appeals board. "I've had 17 years of involvement," he said. "I'm not unhappy. I've enjoyed working with every one of these people."

In announcing his candidacy with a Monday morning phone call to Record editor Jean Day, incumbent Mayor Paul Vernon said his recent health problems have ended in a "clean bill of health." Robert Brueck, the mayor's campaign manager, said the decision to run again was made after Vernon's third surgery of the summer.

"I think the fact that he got a clean bill of health helped him to make up his mind," said Brueck. The mayor underwent prostate surgery in early summer and during his recovery developed gallstones that resulted in a repeat, but unrelated, hospitalization.

The first prostate surgery revealed "pre-cancerous" tissue that necessitated the third, exploratory surgery in early August. Tissue samples taken at that time showed all tissue benign, Brueck said.

Vernon was absent from both August city council meetings and is recuperating at his northern Michigan cottage. Brueck said Vernon would return to the city after Labor Day.

Brueck also said that, although it was not included in a page-and-a-half announcement of his candidacy that detailed his 17 years of civic involvement in Northville, Vernon's motivation to run again is to complete work-in-progress. The mayor said during his 1983 election campaign (opposed by Kunz) that he wanted to see the second phase of the downtown development project started before he leaves office. He said at that time that he expected it to happen within this term.

Brueck blamed the city's financial problems (battling a four-year-old general fund budget deficit) for the slow progress toward second phase downtown development.

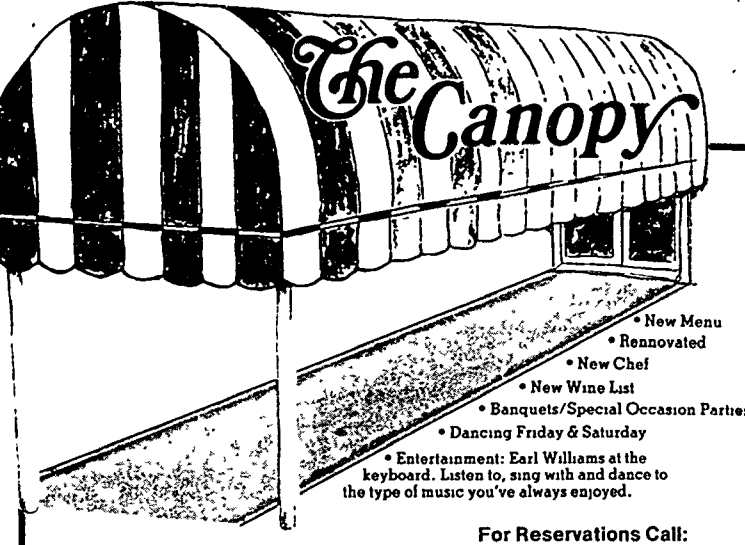

Gardner was poised to run for mayor this year if Vernon had opted not to seek re-election. His announcement that he would run for re-election to his council seat was coupled with an early statement of intent to run for mayor halfway through the term.

"I'm supporting the mayor and he's supporting me," Gardner said after conducting Monday's council meeting, noting that he and Vernon had discussed their candidacies over the weekend.

"I'm running for the seat I have now this year, but I'm also announcing that I will run for mayor in two years," he said. "The present mayor — and candidate for mayor — knows my intentions. I'm supporting Paul Vernon in this election. He's done, overall, a fine job."

Gardner noted that, had he opted to run for mayor this year, he would have had to resign his council seat. Present council member Paul Folino resigned a council seat to run against Vernon eight years ago when there was no incumbent in the race and lost. After four years off the council, he was subsequently elected in 1981 to fill out two-years of an unexpired term and re-elected to a four-year term in 1983. Folino's term, and that of second-term council member Carolann Ayers will expire in 1987, leaving three positions up for election that year if Gardner follows through on his pledge to run for mayor.

Meyers takes new post

Meyers' appointment. However, much would change over the course of the next four years.

After Meyers' arrival, the suburban congregation started meeting at Novi's Village Oaks Elementary and eventually moved to New School Church in Mill Race Village.

Plans were drawn up for the new church while members awaited the sale of Bushnell-Detroit.

However, with no potential buyers for the Southfield Road church, construction of a new structure was indefinitely stalled.

And in January, 1983, plans for a new church appeared to come to a grinding halt.

On January 23, the Detroit congregation reversed its 1979 decision by voting to retain the northwest Detroit church.

The membership's change of heart seemed to dash the hopes of ever building a suburban Bushnell. However, Bushnell's Detroit congregation — and its young minister — assured their 100-some suburban members that construction of a sister church would be completed.

On April 15, 1984, a multi-purpose building financed through the sale of bonds to church members, opened its doors to the community as the new Bushnell-Meadowbrook.

The opening of the new church placed Meyers at the helm of one church — with two separate congregations.

Reflecting on his tenure during some of Bushnell's most tumultuous times, Meyers notes he has "learned a tremendous amount" and "accomplished everything I set out to do."

Among the accomplishments he is most proud of is saving the Detroit church.

Recognizing that the decision to retain Bushnell-Detroit was not popular among some of the church membership, Meyers said action to separate the two churches hopefully will alleviate any remaining animosity.

He also notes that more than 200 new members have joined the church during the last three years.

With "a conspicuous absence of younger people" in the Detroit church, Meyers says "Detroit still has a long way to go" in terms of regaining much of its lost membership.

However, he adds the "opportunities there seem endless" and notes that Jordan College has recently opened a campus in Bushnell-Detroit's educational wing.

On the other hand, "the growth out here is two or three times the growth in the city," he says, adding that worshiping attendance is somewhere between 125 and 135.

With the search under way for an interim minister, Meyers says he will stay on until a replacement is found.

Having been a central figure during Bushnell's rebirth, Meyers' absence no doubt will be felt among those who found the young minister to be a guiding force during a difficult transition.

However, Meyers says he hopes his departure is not seen as another setback for Bushnell.

"People have to believe a church is more than any particular pastor," he explains.

Laura Jerome is tops in T.O.P.S., with weight loss sustained 26 years

By JEAN DAY

Twenty six years ago last month Laura Jerome lost 51 pounds. Because she's kept those pounds off, maintaining her weight at a petite-and-trim 119 pounds ever since, she's become an international K.O.P.S. celebrity.

K.O.P.S. (Keep Off Pounds Sensibly) is the organization to which successful T.O.P.S. (Take Off Pounds Sensibly) members graduate.

Because the Northville resident was found to be the "longest still active K.O.P.S." in the organization, she was honored at the International Recognition Day convention held July 10 in San Antonio, Texas.

How did she manage to lose and keep off 51 pounds? "I left all the goodies alone, especially ice cream — that was my downfall," recalls the honoree, who says she continues to watch her diet and to exercise and walk.

Northville members of T.O.P.S. chapter 177 were excited that their fellow member was to receive a plaque at the convention as well as an expense paid trip there. Therefore, a special effort was made to send a delegation of five other members from the chapter.

Leader Mary Lee of Wixom relates that they were even more surprised to see Laura Jerome "the star in Texas."

She became a K.O.P.S. on July 16, 1959, giving her the longtime honor.

Lee recalls that Jerome, "looking so little on the gigantic stage of the restored municipal auditorium," lit the first candle in the ceremony. "Then she stayed on the stage and all the other candidates came up and lit their candles off hers."

"We were so pleased for her," adds Lee, noting, "Laura's so encouraging, so grateful — that's why our main purpose in going was Laura."

She mentions that to have six attend from the 22-member Northville chapter was "tremendous."

At one point, when it was learned that the honoree would need a long dress, it might have been a problem. But Joan Foster, weight recorder for the chapter, stitched up a light blue gown of dotted swiss for Laura.

Foster, chapter leader Lee, Lucy Steeper and Margaret Doering, both of Northville, and chapter treasurer Liz Melidosian of Novi attended the convention with Jerome.

The longtime Northville T.O.P.S. chapter meets from 7:30-8:30 p.m. Mondays at First Presbyterian Church in Northville.

Members will be participating in an upcoming area recognition day October 19 at Detroit's Masonic Temple. Two local chapter members are to be honored then — Lora Keller of Farmington and Karen Lassen of Northville.

While Laura Jerome's honor was the motivation for attending the Texas meet, leader Lee says it has inspired her anew. "I lost 15 pounds in five weeks and have started to walk a mile a day," she confides.

She and Jerome were interviewed by a San Antonio television station during their stay. Lee admits she "loved every minute."

She notes that "when you have 50 pounds to lose, 15 doesn't seem like much" but says she's going to stick to it to try to be "the best loser in the state" so she can attend the 1986 convention in Hartford, Connecticut.

Lee remembers meeting a woman from Arkansas who had lost 177 pounds and who gave walking much credit for the loss.

"There were between four and five thousand people there," Lee relates, "and all said 'I walk' when asked how they had lost weight — not that they had taken exercise classes or aerobics."

New members are welcome in the chapter and may call Lee at 624-4207 for more information about the non-profit organization, which stresses information about diet and mutual support.

Anyone joining the Northville T.O.P.S. will get a chance to meet the chapter's national celebrity because Laura Jerome says, "Oh, yes, I'm staying — I'm not going to let myself put weight back on."

Two professors get Ferris stipends

Two Schoolcraft College professors have scholarships this summer to work on masters' degrees in occupational education.

Donald W. Waldenmayer, associate professor of electronics, and Raymond L. Anderson, professor of related instruction, have full tuition and housing stipends to attend Ferris State College at Big Rapids.

"It's another opportunity we think is fantastic," said Schoolcraft President Richard McDowell, who has worked to strengthen the skills of more senior faculty members.

McDowell said Ferris offered 29 scholarships — one for each community college in the state. Schoolcraft picked up the second scholarship when another college turned down the offer.

"We determine the selection process," said Sandra Florek, director of institutional advancement at Schoolcraft. "Next year we can recommend the same or different individuals."

It is expected that the Schoolcraft faculty members will attend each summer session until they complete the master of science degree. Their study includes workshops, seminars and research.

"Ferris emphasizes high academic standards," said Florek.

Waldenmayer joined the Schoolcraft faculty in 1974. A registered professional engineer, he has an associate in science degree from Mott Community College and a bachelor of science in electrical engineering from the University of Michigan. He will study high-technology areas.

Anderson joined the faculty in 1968. He has a bachelor of science degree from Michigan Technological University. He will specialize in plastic and metallurgy areas.

Larry Ordowski, associate dean of liberal arts and chairman of the college's staff development program, said the Ferris program is "yet another way our faculty can pursue their professions and enrich our instructional program."

Police Blotters

Vehicle break-ins reported

In the township . . .

Items valued at $400 were stolen from a 1983 Camaro parked in the Northridge parking lot sometime between 1 and 7:30 a.m. August 12, township police report.

The complainant told police unknown subject(s) damaged the left side steering column and dash board and stole an AM/FM cassette stereo and radar detector.

The complainant further stated the vehicle was locked at the time the incident occurred. The vehicle was parked in a car port across from the complainant's residence.

Estimated damage to the vehicle was $300.

In a similar incident, items valued at $524 were stolen from a 1984 Chevrolet parked at Northridge sometime between 8:30 p.m. August 11 and 6:55 a.m. August 12, township police report.

The complainant told police unknown subject(s) gained access to the vehicle by breaking into a side vent window. The vehicle was locked at the time the incident occurred.

Police noted that while removing an AM/FM cassette, the subject(s) caused extensive damage to the upper dash board. Damage was estimated at $300.

Items stolen included an RCA television valued at $99, a $90 CB radio, $30 antenna and a $300 AM/FM cassette.

A radar detector valued at $200 was stolen from a 1985 Ford Mustang while parked at a Five Mile Road clinic at about 4 p.m. August 13, police report.

The complainant told police the doors were locked at the time he left the vehicle. However, the driver's side door was unlocked upon his return.

A radar detector valued at $250 was stolen from 1985 Pontiac parked at Dun Rovin Golf Course sometime between 11 a.m. and 3:15 p.m. August 13, police report.

The complainant said unknown subject(s) gained access to the vehicle by smashing the driver's door window. Damage was estimated at $200.

The radar detector was taken off the driver's side sun visor.

A 1979 Ford Fairmont valued at $4,000 was stolen from the southeast parking lot at Meijer sometime between 1 and 3 p.m. August 9, township police report.

The complainant, a South Lyon resident, told police the vehicle was locked at the time the incident occurred.

A portable AM/FM cassette player valued at $75 also was stolen.

Northville Township Police have determined arson was the cause of a shrub fire at a Dundalk residence the evening of August 11.

Officers called to the scene at 11:55 p.m. observed the shrubs engulfed in flames with heavy smoke surrounding the area. Police noted the fire was being controlled by the complainant with a garden hose.

After the fire was extinguished, police found a road flare cap near the scene. They also observed what appeared to be a phosphorus residue common to road flares.

Items valued at $1,485 were stolen from a golf rack at Brooklane Golf Club between 11 and 11:30 a.m. August 6, police report.

The complainant told police she left her golf bag and cart with 20 to 30 other golf bags while she had lunch. She discovered the bag and cart missing from the rack after she returned.

The complainant further stated that she waited until the golf leagues were finished but could not locate her bag and cart.

In addition to the golf bag valued at $120 and the $40 cart, other items stolen include golf clubs valued at $360, a $40 putter, a $90 pair of eye glasses, a $35 umbrella and a diamond and ruby ring valued at $700.

Unknown subject(s) caused an estimated $750 damage to a 1979 Ford Fairmont parked in the east parking lot at Innsbrook Apartments sometime between 9:30 p.m. August 6 and 8:50 a.m. August 7, township police report.

The complainant stated all four tires had been punctured and the driver's seat was slashed.

Police investigation revealed that a knife probably had been used as all four tires contained about a half-inch puncture.

Police noted the vehicle was unlocked at the time incident occurred.

Four tires and rims valued at $125 each were stolen from a 1971 Volkswagen parked at Winchester Elementary School sometime between 9 p.m. August 4 and 8 a.m. August 7.

Police noted the parking area is west of the complainant's residence and that family members observed nothing unusual at the time the incident occurred.

Further investigation revealed the subject(s) attempted to remove the vehicle's battery to no avail.

Two tires and rims valued at $560 were stolen from a 1979 Corvette parked in the driveway of a Haggerty Road residence sometime between 1:30 and 6 a.m. August 8, township police report.

Police noted the two right tires (mounted on rims) and all 10 lug nuts were stolen. Further investigation revealed eight lug nuts were stolen from the left side of the vehicle. However, the tires were left intact.

Three more arrested

Rest area detail continues

Three more arrests have been made in a continuing decoy detail that Michigan State Police are operating at the Novi rest area off I-96.

Northville Post Detective Sergeant Wayne Bullen said the three arrests made August 7 bring the total number of persons taken into custody at the alleged homosexual hangout to 28.

Charges have ranged from gross indecency to disturbing the peace. Detective Sergeant Ripp Collins said the department has made undercover patrol of the rest area a priority.

Police reported no damage to the vehicle.

Items valued at approximately $400 were stolen from a 1977 Chevy Blazer parked in front of a Sunnysdale residence sometime between 6 p.m. August 4 and 8:30 a.m. August 5, police report.

The complainant told police the vehicle was locked and parked in the street at the time the incident occurred.

Though there was no damage to the vehicle, the unknown subject(s) left the passenger door open.

Items stolen from the vehicle were a $40 cooler, a box containing $150 in miscellaneous tools, a $45 portable spotlight and Pioneer speakers valued at $160.

Items valued at $495 were stolen from a 1981 Plymouth parked in the driveway of a Sunset residence sometime between 7 p.m. August 8 and 7 a.m. August 9, police report.

The complainant told police unknown subject(s) stole the items from the vehicle while it was parked in the driveway. The items were on the floor of the vehicle at the time the incident occurred. It also was noted the vehicle was unlocked.

Items stolen included two radar detectors valued at $130 and $180, a $70 work coat and $215 in cash.

A radar detector valued at $309 was stolen from a 1983 Nissan parked at Meijer sometime between 1 and 4:30 p.m. August 9.

The complainant told police unknown subject(s) broke the driver's side window to gain access to the vehicle. The radar detector was on a ledge under the dashboard.

In the city . . .

Unlocked vehicles, some containing radar detectors, cameras and wallets, have been the target of larcenies reported to city police.

Police received a series of reports August 14 in the Dunlap-Dubuar area. A Dubuar resident reported at 7:30 a.m. that dimes were missing from the console of his vehicle.

At 8:12 a.m. August 14 a Dunlap resident reported the theft of a camera, a wallet containing money and a radar detector from a vehicle parked in the driveway.

Another larceny from a vehicle was reported at 8:38 a.m. August 14 by a Dunlap resident with a credit card wallet and camera bag containing material used in the resident's business missing. The bag was found sitting on the ground later.

A Potomac resident reported to police at 11:30 p.m. Monday the destruction of a mailbox by a bomb made from a plastic pop bottle filled with liquid.

A Morgan Circle resident reported the theft of a flagpole and flags at 12:46 a.m. August 14. The resident reported observing three white males carrying the pole to a small foreign car. The pole was reported found lying by the road later. The flags were not recovered.

A breaking and entering at Northville High School was reported to police at 8:18 a.m. Monday by Principal David Bolitho.

Unknown person(s) entered the building, smashed the panel window on the audio-visual lab door and took unknown equipment (with a list to be compiled). Fingerprints and other evidence are being processed.

The assistant superintendent for Elgin builders reported to police Monday that a construction tool trailer had been broken into with tools taken at the high school site.

Damage estimated at $318 to a vehicle parked at the rear of a deli cafe on Center was reported to police August 14.

Owner of a vehicle parked in the upper parking deck reported to police Sunday that the driver's side window had been broken and a radar detector removed.

An Ely resident reported Sunday that a tire had been slashed on a parked vehicle.

Larceny from a vehicle parked at Fairbrook Apartments was reported to police August 16.

Spray paint graffiti on the north wall of the lower parking deck in the city was reported to police by a city D.P.W. foreman at 10:39 a.m. August 2. Damage was estimated at $500.

Larceny of parts and accessories from a Seven Mile automobile dealership was reported August 6. An unknown person(s) jacked up a 1985 Thunderbird and removed four wheels and tires, estimated to be worth $500.

The vehicle was let down on milk cartons which were crushed. The vehicle sustained damage to two fenders as it hit the ground, causing an estimated $600 damage.

Larceny of a man's bicycle, with an estimated value of $200, was reported to police August 4. The resident reported both he and his daughter saw the bicycle in the garage about 10:30 p.m. August 3. He noted it missing at 6:30 a.m. August 4. He told police he was not sure if the door had been left open but said it was not locked. The information was entered in the LEIN network.

"Those rest areas are particularly nice things for the traveler," Collins said last week. "If you've seen it, you'd know that this one in Novi is one of the nicest around. There are nice picnic tables there, it's clean, heated in winter. People should be able to stop there with kids and not have to worry about what they might see."

Bullen said the decoy detail will continue, though he believes the level of activity at the rest area has been tailing off since word of the arrests was first publicized.

Gerald Avenue petitions for improvement certified

A sufficient number of property owners have signed petitions to extend township water and sewer service, and to pave and construct storm drains along Gerald Avenue between Seven Mile and Doherty Drive.

In order to establish special assessment districts for the projects, owners of 50 percent of the land area within the district must sign the petitions.

Township consulting engineers reported at the August 8 board meeting that owners of 55 percent of the land area signed the petition for water and sewer service. Owners of 52 percent of the land signed petitions for paving and storm drains.

Gerald is the only township-owned street. The 50-foot wide right-of-way is a poorly maintained gravel road serving as access to most of the industrial firms within the township's boundaries.

Township board members established a September 25 public hearing date for evaluation of the proposed SADs. The hearings, set for 7 p.m. for paving and storm drains, and 7:15 p.m. for water and sewer, are the first in a series of steps required before the township can legally establish assessment districts. Property owners within the districts would pay the cost of the improvements.

Called a "necessity hearing," the September 25 session is intended to gather evidence from afected property owners regarding the need for the services requested in the petitions.

Board members picked the same date for a similar hearing on a request for water service in what has been designated the "Fairway III" area.

The proposed district includes the northern ends of Smock and Pierson streets north of Seven Mile, the northern part of Meadowbrook Estates, the parcel north of that subdivision but south of Meljer, and a platted-but-never-built subdivision called Northville Country Estates. The latter fronts on Haggerty Road and is now zoned for office uses.

Township engineers said a few property owners in between the proposed Fairway III district and the Grandview Acres subdivision, where a water service system is now under construction, were never asked if they wanted water services.

Those property owners will be approached before the September 25 hearing so that, if they decide to join the district, the system could be designed to link the Fairway III and Grandview Acres systems.

The necessity hearing for the Fairway III water district is scheduled at 7:30 p.m. or as soon as possible after completion of the Gerald Avenue water and sewer hearing.

Funds designated for options

City manager Steven Walters has been authorized to purchase options on property the city may be interested in acquiring without prior council approval.

City council made a $2,000 appropriation for property options Monday night so that Walters could proceed on his own authority rather than waiting for council approval on property purchases.

Having a standing appropriation in the budget allows Walters to purchase options without waiting for city council to meet to consider the issue.

Walters proposed the appropriation, noting that a recent attempt to purchase property for city use "was lost because another offer was made and accepted before the city could act to authorize the purchase of an option."

Legal restrictions on council action further complicate the acquisition of property, Walters said.

"Real estate in Northville is selling very rapidly now and this is likely to be a continuing problem in our efforts to obtain key properties for development projects," he said. "As you know, the Open Meetings Act further restricts this activity by limiting closed sessions on property acquisition to "up to the time an option to purchase or lease on that real property is obtained," and by prohibiting informal meetings or phone polling which leads to a decision."

Walters noted that the $2,000 appropriation would not actually result in a budget expenditure unless he purchased an option and city council subsequently decided not to acquire the property.

If the city proceeded to purchase property, the option cost would be reflected in the acquisition price and result in no expenditure shown for the property options line in the budget.

When council member Carolann Ayers asked how many options might be purchased with $2,000, Walters said the average option cost is $500. Based on that average, the city manager could purchase four options and council reject all four acquisitions before the appropriation would be used up. If council makes the property acquisition, the option price would not be subtracted from the appropriation.

Township will charge 1 percent fee

With Northville Township trustee Tom Cook absent and unable to cast his customary "no" vote, township supervisor Susan Heintz did it for him at the August 8 meeting.

Cook has made a practice of voting against the addition of a one percent administrative fee to tax bills on township property. The fee compensates the township for the costs of collecting taxes for other agencies, primarily the school district and county.

The issue ordinarily arises at the board of trustees' September meeting and is decided by roll call vote at that time in order to provide the information to the county in time for preparation of the bills.

But, treasurer Richard Henningsen said, there has been a change this year and the county wants to know "right now" whether the fee will be collected.

Henningsen supports the fee addition, pointing to his documentation that tax collection costs of the township exceed the revenues from the fee. Eliminating the fee would cut more money from the township budget than would reducing taxes one mill.

Heintz ordinarily has supported the administrative fee. But, after first trying to have the item tabl-

'I'm giving Tom Cook his due.'
— Susan Heintz

ed until the September meeting when Cook could vote on it, she decided to vote against the fee herself.

"You know Tom Cook likes to vote against this," Heintz said. "The county's been plenty late before, but Mr. Cook always wants to make his feelings known on this issue."

Henningsen said the county's desire for the information this early appeared legitimate to him.

"The problem is that this board only meets once a month," he said. "Whenever I talk to the county people, they tell us everybody else meets twice a month and wonder why we can't respond in timely fashion like they do."

On a roll call vote, Heintz hesitated for some time before casting a "no" vote. "I'm giving Cook his due on this one," she said.

College names David Jorlett new director

David Jorlett of Northville has been appointed artistic director of the Schoolcraft College Community Choir. Jorlett is the Southfield-Lathrup High School choral director. He also teaches choral methods at the University of Michigan School of Music.

Under Jorlett, his high school Madrigal Singers this year won their second gold medal in the International Music Festival in Montreal.

Currently serving as director of the Michigan Master Chorale, a professional chorale ensemble, Jorlett is also on the staff at both Interlochen and Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp.

Jorlett received a bachelor's degree in music from Gettysburg College, Pennsylvania, and a master's degree from Miami of Ohio in voice and conducting. He is pursuing doctoral studies at the University of Michigan.

Obituaries

ROSALIE M. BIERKAMP

Rosalie M. Bierkamp, 59, a resident of the Northwest Detroit area for 23 years and the mother of David Bierkamp of Northville, died at Hutzel Hospital in Detroit August 13.

A homemaker, she was born September 21, 1925, in Highland Park.

Funeral service was August 16 at St. Christine Church where she was a member. Bishop Dale Melczek officiated. Burial was in Mt. Olivet Cemetery.

She leaves her husband, Ernest W. Bierkamp, sons John and David, daughter Felicia, four grandchildren, five sisters and two brothers.

Arrangements were by Ross B. Northrop and Son Funeral Home.

CLARENCE BOLTON

Northville native Clarence (PeeWee) Bolton died August 13 in Tarpon Springs, Florida, at the age of 71. Mr. Bolton retired from Ford Motor Company, where he was employed as a claims and service supervisor in Dearborn, in 1978 and moved to Florida.

Born in Northville February 8, 1914, to Frank and Marquarite (Kahl) Bolton, he moved to Wayne in 1944 and lived there until retirement. He was a member of the Methodist church in Tarpon Springs.

He is survived by his second wife, Doris, whom he married June 28, 1975. Also surviving are his daughters Sandra New of Wayne and Sharon Hodge of Middletown, Ohio, and son Richard of Westland.

Mr. Bolton also leaves a sister Freda Yanick of Tarpon Springs, 10 grandchildren and one great-grandchild. He was preceded in death by a son Michael and daughter Marlene, and by two brothers, Melvin and Meryle.

Final funeral arrangements are pending. Cremation is to be followed by a memorial service arranged by Casterline Funeral Home. Interment is planned at Rural Hill Cemetery.

GORDON A. CULPERT

Funeral service for former South Lyon area resident Gordon A. Culpert, 74, was held at 10 a.m. Monday at St. Joseph Catholic Church in South Lyon. Father Kees Hillenaar, S.J., officiated.

Burial was in South Lyon Cemetery.

Mr. Culpert, who was retired, moved from South Lyon to Sterling Heights in 1983. He died August 16 at William Beaumont Hospital in Royal Oak after an illness of 1½ years.

He was born July 5, 1911, in Toledo to Henry and Hazel (Price) Culpert.

He had moved to South Lyon in 1969 from Detroit.

He leaves his wife Ruth Kent Culpert, daughter Joan of Roseville, son Gordon of Sterling Heights, sister Margaret Kelly in Tennessee, brother Marvin in California, eight grandchildren and two

Fall registration continues at SCC

Schoolcraft offers the first two years of most transfer programs, and more than 50 career programs including Electronics, Word Processing, Robotics, Computer Information Services, Child Care, Accounting and Cardiovascular Technology.

Resident tuition is $30.25 per credit hour; non-residents $41.50 per credit.

For further information, contact the Admissions Office at 591-6400, extension 340.

Regular registration for the 1985 Fall semester at Oakland Community College will be held from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. September 3 and 4 according to an alphabetical schedule.

Classes for the fall semester officially begin at 8 p.m. September 5.

Students may register at any of the college's four campuses including Auburn Hills, Highland Lakes, Orchard Ridge and Southeast/Royal Oak.

Applications for the 1985 fall semester currently are being accepted. New students should contact an admissions counselor at the campus of their choice for a schedule of classes and information on admission procedures.

Youth symphony seeks musicians

Metropolitan Youth Symphony will hold auditions for the 1985-86 season August 24 (string and concert orchestras) and August 31 (symphony orchestra).

Students in grades 5-12 seeking additional orchestral experience in a youth organization, which is beginning its fourth season, may reserve an audition time by calling 591-1408.

Three orchestras catering to three levels of expertise are tailored to complement a student musician's school music program.

MYS offers a string orchestra led by Judith Culler. Students in grades 5 and older must have a minimum of two years' instrumental experience and be able to read music.

The concert orchestra led by Douglas Bianchi is composed of students in grades 8 and up with a minimum of four years' experience.

The symphony orchestra conducted by Alan MacNair caters to the advanced young musician in grades 10 through 12 with five years of instrumental experience.

MYS offers opportunities to expand symphonic repertoire, be part of three formal concerts a year including the experience at Orchestra Hall, sectional work with guest musicians and a mid-year scholarship competition.

great grandchildren.

Visitation and rosary were held at Casterline Funeral Home Inc. in Northville.

BERNICE DENUNE

Funeral service for former Northville resident Bernice Denune, 85, was held at 1 p.m. Monday at Casterline Funeral Home Inc. Officiant was the Reverend William Frayer of First United Methodist Church of Northville, where Mrs. Denune was a member.

Burial was in Glen Eden Memorial Park, Livonia.

Mrs. Denune died August 14 in Spring (Texas) Convalescent Home after an illness of four months.

She was born July 7, 1900, in Michigan to Nelson and Mary (Martin) Ashley. Her husband Charles died in 1975.

She leaves a daughter Norene Earehart in Texas, sisters Addie McClellan of Ypsilanti and Mamie Davis of Traverse City, grandchildren Dale and Dean.

Mrs. Denune came to the Northville community in 1919 and at one time owned a flower shop at the corner of Wing and Main streets.

She was a member of Northville American Legion Auxiliary to Post 147 and past president of Veterans of World War I Auxiliary of Plymouth Post 267.

New Morning School slates open house

New Morning School, a state-certified preschool and K-8 parent cooperative in Plymouth, will be hosting an Open House/Registration Day from 9 to 11:30 a.m. August 28.

The open house will offer interested parents an opportunity to meet with teachers, view the classrooms and learn about the curriculum. A student-centered individualized approach is utilized with all of the age groups. Openings are available in the following programs:

• Me and My Shadow: Parent-Toddler Class. This is a new class for fall. The parent and child will participate in play time, crafts and songs and fingerplays. The class is for two and three year olds and will meet from 10:15-11:15 a.m. Thursdays for 12 weeks beginning September 19. Early registration is suggested.

• M.W.F. Preschool Class: There are limited openings in the M.W.F. morning preschool class which meets from 9-11:30 a.m. These classes provide a well-rounded educational program for children 2½ to 6 years in a consistent peer group. Music, French, computers, crafts, cooking and readiness skills are included. Class size is limited to 12 students. Parents may enroll as either a co-op or non co-op member.

• Early Primary-Kindergarten Class: This class is certified as a kindergarten program and meets from 12:15 to 2:45 p.m. daily. The introduction of academic skills is combined with ample opportunity for play, socialization and experimental learning. Some older, more mature four-year-olds will be accepted into this program. It also is suitable for children needing a transitional year before first grade because the class is small, individualized and activity-oriented.

• Middle School Program: Limited openings are available in New Morning's Middle School class. Limited to 12 children, it provides individualized instruction and much project-oriented learning. A full academic program is planned as well as music, French, computers, art, swim and gym. Students interests are incorporated in the program while initiative and responsibility is encouraged.

New Morning School is the only parent cooperative in southeastern Michigan for students in preschool through eighth grade. It has been a pioneer in family-centered education in the area. Co-op expectations are flexible and can be worked around a parent's work schedule. Parents assist as aides in the classroom, help with maintenance of the building, plan fundraisers and are involved in administrative and curriculum decisions. A non co-op option is also available for parents unable to assist.

For parents unable to attend the Open House/Registration Day, personal appointments may be made by calling the school at 420-3331 between 9 a.m. and noon.

The school is located at 14501 Haggerty, just north of Schoolcraft Road in Plymouth Township.

WWII concentration camp survivor speaks to Jaycees

Northville Township resident Marian Szczepanski will speak on his wartime experiences at a general membership meeting of the Northville Jaycees at 8 p.m. next Wednesday, August 28, in the city council chambers.

He will relate his experiences in Poland during World War II, including the 1939 campaign, his Russian imprisonment, his confinement at Auschwitz by the Nazis as inmate 4974, according to Kevin Hartshorne who will introduce the speaker.

Szczepanski also will tell about his work with the Polish underground, which he joined after his release from the concentration camp in 1942, the heroic Warsaw uprising, which Szczepanski says, "took the best SS troops to put down."

Szczepanski also spent seven months as a Russian prisoner of war before being liberated by the American 36th Infantry Division of the Seventh U.S. Army. He will supplement his talk with photos and other documentation.

Hartshorne says the speaker will answer questions following the talk.

Plans also will be made at the meeting for the Jaycees' annual haunted house, the chapter's biggest fund raising project

Psychic Eye opens local chapter for the spiritually-inclined

By B.J. MARTIN

Scorpiana peers across a table at a local lounge and says this:

"It's come to our attention that not all psychic people are spiritual people. We believe in using our psychic gifts to help people. We don't want to encourage devil-worship or witchcraft."

Her eyes and the tone of her voice project an image of utterly calm sincerity, as if as if she were confiding her reasons for forming a local gardening club instead of an entity she calls The Psychic Eye, Ltd.

The Psychic Eye, Ltd. is a non-profit organization dedicated to the study of what it refers to as the "esoteric sciences (among them clairvoyance, psychometry and many others) and psychic phenomena." It opened its fifth chapter in the Detroit area this summer, this one for residents of Plymouth, Canton and Northville.

The newest chapter (a sixth is in the process of being organized in Ann Arbor) now has about 15 members and is welcoming new constituents — if they have the right spiritual orientation.

"There is the potential to develop psychic ability and tune into the lower forces," explains Scorpiana (she prefers her given name not be publicized). "A lot of cults, especially out in California, have done this. We've had to tighten up (our membership) so we can keep the energy on a high spiritual plane."

"Generally, spiritually gifted people are kind, like animals, they have a peaceful temperament and they tend to meditate. . . . A person does not necessarily have to be psychic to join. But they have to be spiritual."

"People from all walks of life come to us. Usually the reason they come is something they can't explain."

Chapter functions generally consist of monthly dinner meetings with speakers, classes, meditation circles, readings and parties. Among some of the planned activities are a "Psychic Night at the Races" and an annual ghost story-telling party. "The only difference," Scorpiana adds, "is that we've got the real stuff."

"One of the nicest things about the organization is that you make a lot of friends and contacts with it. Basically that's one of our purposes."

But there is a larger agenda to The Psychic Eye's aims, she says. "When I'd founded it, I'd intended it to be a national organization," she explains. "I expect it will be an awesome force for national and international use. I see it as a network of helping people become more enlightened."

"We're not out to force our opinions on people. We like people to think for themselves. I think skepticism is healthy to a certain degree."

Scorpiana herself was the skeptical type. But she confides that a sudden spiritual-psychic awakening and subsequent prophetic dreams have persuaded her the supernatural world is very real.

"I remember one night seeing an angelic form and being surrounded by light. It was so bright I literally thought the room was on fire."

From then on, she was convinced. "The difference between a psychic and someone going to church is that churchgoers hear about prophetic things and have no way of knowing it. A psychic experiences it. Once you've had a spiritual encounter, life becomes full of questions. Your values change. But there is no doubt in your mind whatsoever that there is a life after death."

"I remember hearing all that stuff when I was younger, but it was always skeptical. But now there's no doubt in my mind that a higher force guides you through your life."

Scorpiana, a guest on local television and radio talk shows, herself does weekly individual readings at a local lounge. "Usually, I use cards or candle wax drippings when I do readings," she says. "Most people ask about their love life, but I hate it when they ask when they're going to die. I don't want to have to tell them when they're going to die."

Scorpiana herself is designing a deck of cards for fortune-telling based on animals and plants in nature. She hopes to have it placed on a national market by this Christmas.

Scorpiana, along with psychics Marlene Wilson, Jan Jarrell and Elaine Ulrich will be among the guests at this month's meeting of the Plymouth-Canton-Northville chapter of the Psychic Eye. The public is invited to come to the meeting, which will be held at 7 p.m. Monday, August 26, at the Plymouth Hilton. For more information on The Psychic Eye, phone headquarters at (313) 356-6354.

Our Opinions

Solid reasoning in Haggerty plan

Setting the stage for future development of Haggerty Road is a difficult task, but we believe township planners are closing in on an appropriate and rational means of controlling the inevitable growth. They have taken the time to do it right, and may complete the first stage (master plan revisions) next Tuesday evening. Zoning ordinance amendments to implement the plan will follow, and we expect planners will give those amendments the same careful evaluation they have devoted to the master plan.

While it may seem like a radical change to those who envision Northville Township as a purely residential community, the latest proposal for an expansive office district makes sense both from a land-use standpoint and for the retention of the township's upscale character. Once you accept that events on the Livonia side of Haggerty make quality residential development of our side of the road a virtual impossibility, it becomes clear that offices are the best use for the frontage.

Building from that premise, we believe planners would do well to make sure the office development is attractive and of high quality. And this is where the competition factor, as repugnant as it is to some people, is a necessary consideration. Given the sort of development taking place in surrounding communities (not just Livonia, but in Novi and Plymouth Township as well), building on the Northville Township property must be economically competitive if we are to attract the kind of quality office structure that would fit in with the rest of the community.

And that means four-story (50-foot) height limits. Some planners may be tempted to force a lower height restriction into play in a bid to soften community unrest over this admittedly drastic revision, but we believe that would be a grave mistake. One of the more attractive proposals on the table is for a 100-foot greenbelt requirement where the office district abuts single family residential areas. We believe that is a reasonable means of integrating the office district with the rest of the township, but it is not a rational or economic requirement if the office building is limited to a two-story height.

Moreover, limiting height to two stories would condemn Northville Township property to uses subsidiary to those in other nearby communities. While larger firms capable of building the high-quality, well-landscaped office structures went elsewhere, the township would limit itself to spillover effects. The smaller firms likely to build two-story offices (and only without the 100-foot greenbelt) are the ones most susceptible to downturns in the economy. We don't think that's what the township needs or wants.

That's why we believe the most recent shift away from the idea of using multiple family housing as a buffer between single family and office zones is correct. Trying to divide the territory between multi-family housing and office areas would not be conducive to quality development of either type. Planners should do everything possible to create an environment that encourages attractive, upscale and competitive office development. If fear of the drastic change required leads to restrictions so tight that they hamstring the very development they are supposed to allow, we believe the worst fears could become a self-fulfilling prophecy.

Conflict policy needed in township

We don't believe there was any ill-intent behind township trustee Donald B. Williams billing the township for electrical work done around township hall, but we are puzzled that there was no conflict-of-interest policy on the books to prevent his voting on the motion to pay his own company for the work.

Williams supervised the work out of what seem to be genuine public service motives. As the proprietor of DBW Electric, a contractor in the field, he found fault with the quality of work being done at township hall and tried to set things right. That this violated his pre-election pledge not to perform work for the township bothers us less than does the evidence that no one in the township administration saw fit to guard against the potential conflict of interests.

It is that potential, not the details of this occurrence, that should concern township board members. Innocent as Williams may be in this case, at the very least he should have abstained from voting to pay the bill. Measures to force at least that concession to the public interest in the future should be taken immediately.

NHS inconvenience: a small price to pay

Announcement last week that the school district will open both Cooke and the partially-renovated high school structure on September 3 should hardly come as a surprise to most residents. While it's unfortunate that the high school facility will not be completed by the start of the new school year, school officials have said since the project's inception that a September completion date was unrealistic.

Considering the setbacks during the past eight months alone — rebidding the project, two separate construction strikes and countless clean-ups from storm flooding — the district is fortunate to have more than half the building ready by September 3. While students and staff members will be inconvenienced for the first few weeks of school, we are confident they will face the adversity with the same patience demonstrated last spring. We hope others in the community follow their example.

After more than a decade of complaints from angered parents, residents, staff and students concerning the dismal condition of Northville High School, the steady flow of construction traffic at the top of the hill has been a more than welcome sight. Considering the scope of the project and the impact it will have on the community, the inconvenience seems inconsequential.

Risky business at home

By Kevin Wilson

My personal list of prohibited risks-to-life-and-limb has been expanded by one. The list includes such mundane items as driving northbound in the southbound lanes of I-275 at 100 miles per hour, jumping out of airplanes, piloting a barrel over Niagara Falls, and reading Joseph Sobran when my sense of humor is at low ebb. The new addition is the most fearsome risk of all — hosting a birthday party/backyard barbecue for a three-year-old.

It was more than two weeks ago now, so my pulse has returned to normal and the wounds are starting to heal, but the simple act of reflection is enough to quicken my heartbeat and make the scabs itch. I might have stayed out of psychoanalysis had the guest list not rapidly expanded in the last three days before the big event. Fortunately, they didn't all show up. If they had, I calculated that there was one square foot of backyard allocated to each guest. If it rained, I planned to call the police to disperse an ugly mob.

The guest-of-honor's mother had to go to work that weekend, so it fell to her obedient servant to dash about on Saturday, birthday boy-to-be in tow, making preparations for the big event scheduled late Sunday. Certain things are beyond contemplation, though, so the nine-month-old (who will never have such a party) was deposited with the sitter.

Five, count them, five trips to various grocery stores, butcher shops, produce markets and liquor stores later, wonder-boy and I dragged our numbed limbs into the house long enough to drink Kool-Aid and contemplate the vicious nature of Saturday shoppers. Knowing smirks from the woman who only had to care for cardiac patients for eight hours did not help my mood as I wove through traffic to pick up the baby, drop him at home and return to the produce market for more ears of corn for roasting and more cake. The anticipated crowd required at least 25 ears of corn on hand and enough cakes to feed all of Marie Antoinette's France.

The rest of Saturday was easy. Feeding time at the Wilson zoo, baths for the boys, and the long-awaited bedtime were followed by assembly of a Big Wheel and the wrapping of various oddly shaped packages. I stopped looking at the clock at 3 a.m. — too discouraging.

Anticipation so overwhelmed the youngster that on the actual day, he decided he wanted to cancel the whole thing. Too scary. I was beginning to agree. Sunday became a self-contradictory mix of mad activity interspersed with efforts to convince the focus of the hurricane that a birthday party was "no big deal, just some company coming over for dinner." Heaven took pity on us, canceled all scheduled heart attacks in the Dearborn area that day and allowed the kid's mom to come home four hours early. No pay for those four hours, but who cares at a time like that?

Memory of the remainder of the day is a sketchy pastiche of scenes that includes a flow of hamburgers, hot dogs and ears of corn across the top the grill, fights over new toys, crying and soiled babies, bandages on burns, tripping over great-grandpa's old dog and snapping too few photos. Examining the refrigerator later told more of the story.

Evidently, the shortage of guests with teeth capable of tackling an ear of roast corn-on-the-cob left us with 16 ears. This due to a few no-shows and our failure to subtract infants and senior family members from the shopping list. No-shows, diabetics and dieters left us with one layer cake in the freezer (reserved for future use) and another gorgeous teddy-bear cake made of rubbery, inedible angel-food. It stares at me accusingly, absent both legs, one arm and an ear, from a perch on the top shelf of the refrigerator.

The kid got over his fear of the battery-powered toy drill, loves the water colors, still can't pedal the Big Wheel, brags about his new clothes and tells everyone he meets that he's "three years old, now." Otherwise, his life has returned to normal. My therapist says I should be okay by October — just in time for his younger brother's first birthday.

Garage sales are not my bag.

Now I realize some people like nothing better than driving around to look at other people's discards. It's just that I'm not one of them.

Every garage sale I've ever been to seems to have the same old junk. And why anybody would want to buy that stuff is an absolute mystery to me.

But garage-sale junkies may be happy to learn that I finally found something worth buying . . . and it happened at a garage sale in my very own neighborhood.

I was really just paying a social call, stopping by to see how mad my neighbors were at me after the column about the lady in the aerobics class with the geese she calls "the guys."

And, lo and behold, as I was engaging the ladies in conciliatory chatter, I spotted them — four beautiful matched glasses in bright colors of red and blue, except, of course, for the gorilla who was colored brown.

"How much for the Godzilla glasses?" I asked anxiously, hoping that the price would somehow be within reach of my meager budget.

"That's not Godzilla; it's King Kong scaling the Empire State Building," came the reply. "If you look closely, you can see Fay Wray in his right paw and airplanes buzzing around his head. They're $1."

"I'll take all four of them," I said eagerly. "Let's see. That'll be $4, right?"

"Nope," said the lady with the geese, who were now waddling across the lawn in our direction. "It's $1 for the whole set."

Needless to say, I plopped my $1 on the table and took off with my four beautiful King Kong glasses. An unsolicited Saturday morning surprise for my lovely and adoring wife.

She was, of course, at a loss for words as I unwrapped them and placed them on the kitchen counter for her to admire. But she finally managed to thank me for my thoughtfulness.

God, America Next Exit

By B.J. Martin

"If you don't believe in God yet," Chris said as he wheeled our mini-van southward at Rock Springs, Wyoming, "you will pretty soon."

I'd been in some doubt of His existence for the last couple of days. I was baffled as to why The Almighty could not provide some sort of shortcut through Iowa and Nebraska. But the sun was setting over the mesas of western Utah as we sped toward southern California, and already I felt a supernatural chill at the sheer scale of the countryside.

Late at night, in the desert, Chris pulled over to introduce me to what the sky really looks like at night. From horizon to horizon there were no clouds and enough stars to drive someone mad if one stared at them long enough. As I looked at them, I couldn't help thinking about the Greek myths related to the constellations. Before, I had wondered what on earth could have inspired someone to write such wildly imaginative legends. For the first time, I could see with perfect clarity it wasn't something on earth at all.

We hit Las Vegas at about 10 a.m., a strange time, with all the neon signs turned off, and all the visitors trying to sleep off the night before. I pushed a nickel into a slot machine and pulled the handle. Grapes, then an orange, then a lemon.

All of a sudden, I'd never felt so ridiculous. This was Las Vegas? This was the place people couldn't wait to visit, the place where you couldn't get a hotel room on a Friday night? I guess I should have suspected I would be out of sync in a town where Elvis Presley impersonators and Wayne Newton sell out every show.

"Welcome to Southern California. Now go home," read countless bumper stickers hurtling along the manic Los Angeles freeways. It was easy to understand the sentiment. I had a hard time picturing how the L.A. area could maintain its present rate of growth, since already the city's expressways required a suspension of logic to drive. At warp speed, bumper-to-bumper, the vehicles whipped in and out of tiny pockets in the traffic flow.

California is a miniature United States. Everything is there: deserts, mountains, lakes, seacoasts, huge cities, virgin forests. It's no wonder the state has inspired so many secession jokes, and it's no wonder so many political honchos figure if they can make it there, they can make it anywhere. From Richard Nixon and Ronald Reagan to Tom Hayden and Jerry Brown, there's more than enough of a political prism for any country.

Well, I'm back from vacation now, and my horizons have shrunk from the Grand Canyon and the Pacific Ocean to perimeter of my word processor. Oddly, it hasn't been hard to adjust. I still feel Northville is important. Novi is still important. So are the stories that affect them.

About one I wrapped up this week — the third part of Kids Games, an examination of issues in local sports for children: Some people may remember I coached a girls' soccer team in Northville, and that my recent article's prescription of fair playing time for everyone in youth sports was one I myself violated many times as a coach.

I was wrong. That was a mistake, and I'm sorry I made it. I'll bet the girls I coached are sorry, too.

Why the change of heart? Call it seeing God out West.

Liquor sold illegally

To the Editor:

Last weekend our 16-year-old son was able to purchase alcoholic beverages (without our knowledge) over the counter of one of our local stores. He does not look anywhere near the legal drinking age and no identification was asked for.

We are dealing with our son regarding his poor judgment in this matter, but what alarms us the most is that someone in this community cared more about making a sale than for the safety of this boy (or any youngster).

We wonder if they cared or even gave it a thought that he might be driving a car or other motor vehicle while drinking this alcohol and cause himself or an innocent person injury or death.

Our son was wrong, his judgment poor, and he will have to earn our trust once again. He also knows that we will be checking on him in the future as we did this time.

We know where he purchased the alcohol and will be contacting the proper authorities. Let's hope all parents do the same if they experience this type of problem.

Bike maps available

A series of maps that show and rate roads by their suitability for bicycling in Oakland and Wayne counties is now available through SEMCOG, the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments.

For Oakland County the maps cover general Oakland County with more detailed maps for Novi, West Bloomfield, Southfield, Farmington Hills, Commerce, White Lake, Waterford, Pontiac, Avon, Royal Oak and Troy.

For Wayne County there is a map covering general Wayne County with more detailed maps covering Detroit, downriver, southern Wayne, northwestern Wayne and western Wayne.

Designed to provide useful information, these maps are for use by anyone who travels by bicycle in the tri-county area. Because most bicyclists ride on residential streets, the base maps for urban and suburban areas were selected to show these streets in addition to the main roads.

Those who travel several miles at a time by bicycle frequently make use of collector streets and main roads, but because conditions vary considerably on such roads, those have been rated using a scheme which is meaningful to bicyclists. The ratings are derived from data on measured and estimated traffic volumes, roadway width and traffic speed using a SEMCOG computer file. Ratings of paved through roads not in the computer file were estimated by bicyclists of the Greater Detroit Bicycle League.

Other features of the maps include listings of area bike shops and clubs, as well as bicycling laws and tips. The maps can be obtained either at no charge by picking them up in person at SEMCOG offices, 800 Book Building, 1249 Washington Boulevard, Detroit 48206 or by sending $1 c/o "Bike Maps" to the same address. Please specify which maps and how many when making a written request.

ABWA ready to start local chapter

"Educating women" is the goal of the American Business Women's Association (ABWA).

And work is under way to start an ABWA chapter in the Northville- Novi-Farmington area.

"We think there's a great deal of potential to have a very active chapter in this area," said Bettie Johnson, a Novi resident, who has been active in the ABWA better than 18 years.

Johnson is one of the leaders of the effort to establish an ABWA chapter in the local area, which she defines as including Plymouth, Canton, Livonia, South Lyon and Milford as well as Northville, Novi and Farmington.

She is joined in the effort by Kay Mule of Farmington and Gail Murphy of Northville.

All three women are accurately described as administrators. Johnson worked 40 years for Michigan Bell, starting as a switchboard operator and working her way up to the position of staff manager with administrative responsibilities across the state.

Mule worked 26 years with Ernst & Whinney, the international accounting organization, and currently serves as manager of the Detroit-West district of CPI Photofinishing Labs. And Murphy is responsible for the restaurant program at the Southwest Oakland Vocational Education Center in Walled Lake.

They stress, however, that ABWA is designed for all women who are "gainfully employed" — not just professional managers.

"It's a pretty diverse group," explained Johnson, who was general chairman of the ABWA's national convention in Detroit last year. "We have our share of attorneys, doctors and bank presidents, but our membership also includes goodly numbers of secretaries and clerks."

"The thing that's important about ABWA is that its objective is to promote the advancement and education of all women who work. The only requirements for membership are that you are a woman and you are gainfully employed."

An added qualification, added Mule, is that prospective members should have a desire to achieve the organization's goals — to promote the professional, educational, cultural and social advancement of women in business.

Founded in 1949, ABWA is comprised of more than 2,100 chapters and 110,000 members across the United States. National headquarters are in Kansas City, Missouri.

Johnson noted that ABWA is a non-partisan organization that strives to educate its membership on issues, business trends and topics of interest to women through its national magazine, Women in Business, and through seminars.

Membership in ABWA enables women to "network" with other business women on a one-to-one basis throughout the year. Monthly chapter meetings provide a setting in which members can develop self-confidence, sharpen business skills and build lasting friendships.

One of the organization's primary activities is offering financial assistance in the form of scholarships to women seeking educational advancement. Last year, for example, ABWA chapters awarded more than $2 million in scholarships for women needing additional education to attain higher positions in business.

The national magazine also contains numerous articles of interest to women, and speakers at the local, district and national levels are selected on the basis of being able to provide information useful to women in business.

Women interested in helping to start a local chapter may call Johnson at 478-5048 for more information.

"We have a good corps of people, but we need more to get started," said Johnson, adding that she hopes to charter a new chapter as soon as September or October.

Airman Nancy E. Russman has graduated from the U.S. Air Force financial management specialist course at Sheppard Air Force Base, Texas.

During the course, students were taught principles of accounting and the appropriation of funds. They also earned credits toward an associate degree through the Community College of the Air Force.

Russman is scheduled to serve with the First Special Operations Wing at Hurlburt Field, Florida.

She is the daughter of Alvin Russman and stepdaughter of Sherry Russman of 19505 Whitman Court, Northville. Her mother Judith R. Breslow and stepfather Jules W. Breslow reside at 7352 Creekview, West Bloomfield.

Russman is a 1984 graduate of West

Bloomfield High School.

Navy Seaman Recruit Scott M. Worden, son of Suzette C. and Peter B. Worden Sr. of 42072 Sunnyside, has completed recruit training at Recruit Training Command, San Diego.

During Worden's eight-week training cycle, he studied general military subjects designed to prepare him for further academic and on-the-job training in one of the Navy's 85 basic fields.

His studies included seamanship, close order drill, Naval history and first aid. Personnel who complete this course of instruction are eligible for three hours of college credit in physical education and hygiene.

A 1984 graduate of the University of Detroit Jesuit High School, Worden joined the Navy in May, 1985.

Valued at $1,295, the home system computer was the top prize during the "Fun in the Sun" Sidewalk Sale sponsored by West Oaks over the July 11-13 weekend.

The prize was donated by West Oaks Shopping Center and Inacomp Computer Center of Novi.

COUNSELING CONCEPTS is now accepting appointments in offices at 4100 West Seven Mile (Suite 214) in Northville. Co-owners Dolores E. Heeg and Deridre M. Warren note that individual, family and marital problems are not easy to overcome alone and stand ready to assist those people who seek counseling.

Heeg and Warren have 29 years' experience in mental health services with special training in substance abuse and general hypnosis, which is used at Counseling Concepts to combat "habit disorders" such as smoking and weight control. Both are licensed by the State of Michigan to provide efficient and effective treatment for individuals and groups.

Family therapy programs available at the clinic include parent and teen counseling and school and substance abuse counseling. A program for adult children of alcoholics also is available.

Aside from problem-related counseling, Counseling Concepts offers educational and consulting services for businesses, schools and other community organizations. This fall the counseling center will offer a program called "Job Strategies for Working Women."

Fees at Counseling Concepts are consistent with usual fees for private counseling. Counseling Concepts is a completely confidential service. The telephone number is 348-3121. Business hours are Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. and evenings by appointment.

DR. GENA JUREK of Riverview is the new full-time Director of the Department of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation at St. Mary Hospital in Livonia. She assumed her present position on July 15, after completing a three-year residency program in Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation at the Rehabilitation Institute at Wayne State University.

Dr. Jurek is Board-certified in the American Board of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation. She looks forward to further developing St. Mary's in-and outpatient care in rehabilitative medicine, including electromyography (EMG) and electrodiagnosis.

Dr. Jurek is the wife of Dr. Zdzislaw Jurek, also a physiatrist, who has been on the staff at St. Mary for the past three years.

CHARLES A. BAKKILA, president of Bump Shop Charlie's in Northville, has been elected vice president for membership development of the Small Business Association of Michigan (SBAM) for the 1985-86 membership year.

Bakkila was chosen by association members during their 15th annual membership meeting July 25 at Hilton Shanty Creek in Bellaire.

"As a successful, experienced small business owner, Bakkila is a valuable advocate for small business in Michigan," stated John Galles, executive director of SBAM. "He will be able to contribute significantly to the association's efforts to reduce business costs and make the state more competitive for small firms."

Bakkila was first elected to SBAM's board of directors in 1984. He has been active in the association's Legislative Action Council, a group that works to identify legislative methods of helping small business in Michigan survive and grow. In addition Bakkila was among the Michigan delegation to Small Business United's annual Washington presentation in 1984 and 1985. He also is active in the Northville area Masons and the Salem Jaycees.

A member-directed, non-profit organization, SBAM is the primary advocate for small business in Michigan and includes more than 2,500 member firms statewide. The association places a major emphasis on sponsoring and supporting state and federal legislation aimed at improving the economic climate for small business.

DEBRA LOWE, a former Novi resident, has been added to the customer service staff of Oakland Management Services, a software consulting firm in Troy.

Lowe brings four years of customer service experience to the firm. She earned a BS degree in Accounting from Madonna College and is continuing her education with graduate studies in Computer Science at Wayne State University.

She currently resides in Rosedale Gardens in Livonia.

ERIC MACINTOSH of Northville has joined Printing Services, Inc., (PSI) as vice president of sales. Based in the Madison Heights office, he will be responsible for major accounts such as General Motors, GM Photographic, Campbell Ewald and Ceko Publishing. He will report directly to PSI President Hugh Hain.

MacIntosh has over 24 years in the graphic arts field, including sales and managerial experience. He also has studied various aspects of the creative arts. His most recent position was vice president of sales for a medium-sized color printer in the Detroit area.

With plants in Madison Heights and Kalamazoo, Printing Services, Inc., specializes in direct mail and business forms printing. PSI has on-line Ink-Jet personalization capabilities, as well as in-house services for cutting, folding, die cutting, affixing labels and foil embossing.

With over 46 years experience, PSI offers comprehensive knowledge and high quality printing services to the direct response industry.

JOSEPH RUSSELL O'BRIEN, of Northville (left) is presented a certificate of recognition for 50 years' licensure as a pharmacist in the state of Michigan at the Michigan Pharmacists' Association Annual Award Night banquet June 25.

The presentation was made on behalf of the Michigan Board of Pharmacy which is headquartered in Lansing and represents the pharmacy profession throughout the state.

A graduate of the Detroit Institute of Technology (now Wayne State University), O'Brien earned his pharmacy license in 1934. He is the owner of O'Brien Drug Store in Detroit where he continues to work. He is a member of the Michigan Pharmacists' Association. Its purpose is to "preserve an individual's initiative and self-reliance while enhancing the pharmacy profession nationwide."

IRA J. KREFT, a Northville resident and assistant vice president with Barclays American/Business Credit, has been elected vice president of Finance and Administration of the Western Wayne Chapter of the National Association of Accountants for 1985-86.

The Western Wayne Chapter is dedicated to the personal and professional development of its members. Membership is comprised of accountants in industry and public practice along with teachers and students.

Tax changes alter college funding plans

Parents who are interested in making long-term plans to fund a child's education will have to make some careful choices in the next five months, before any tax measures are passed.

According to the Michigan Association of CPAs, tax rules on trusts and gifts for children are likely to be changed if a tax reform bill is adopted by Congress this fall.

The President's tax plan, designed to promote fairness, economic growth and simplicity, may force many families to rethink their long-term strategy for funding a child's education.

Right now, nobody knows if Congress will be able to pass a tax reform bill, much less exactly what a final version of the bill might say. That's still being decided in Congress. For contingency planning, however, it's important to know about the current rules on gifts and trusts and how they would be changed under the President's proposal.

Trusts and gifts have become a helpful answer to pay for soaring college costs. They can aid a middle-class family whose income is too high for federal financial aid, but strained by rising costs of college.

With a gift, a parent in a high tax bracket could give money or investment assets to a child who is in a much lower tax bracket. The income generated by the gift is taxed at the lower rate of the child.

Money Management

With a trust, the same income shifting occurs. But with certain kinds of trusts, parents can build a fund over a period of years while basically retaining control of the money during the life of the trust. Most importantly, assets contributed to the trust can return to the parent after a set period of time. But a gift is a gift.

Here's how income shifting typically helps a family under the current rules. The Smiths are in the 50 percent tax bracket in 1985, when they give their son a $20,000 certificate of deposit that annually yields 10 percent in investment income. The Smiths would have paid $1,000 in federal income tax on $2,000 of investment income, but their child, who is in the 15 percent tax bracket, pays just $300 in tax on the $2,000.

By managing their money right, the Smiths get a $700 tax savings in 1985. Thanks to income shifting, the Smith family over the years will pay less in tax on the investment income generated by their $20,000 gift.

Under current rules, certain trusts provide the same tax savings as a gift. The big difference between these trusts and a gift is that the amount originally set aside in the trust can be returned to the parents after a set period of time. Trusts that permit this are Clifford Trusts and Spousal Remainder Trusts.

According to tax experts, however, the proposed trust rules will effectively eliminate these trusts. That's because the rules proposed by the President say that all trusts will have to span the parents' lifetime in order to shift income from a parent to a child.

If you believe the rules proposed by the President will be adopted, you may want to consider establishing a Clifford or Spousal Remainder Trust before the end of this year. Income shifting trusts set up before then will be allowed to survive their term under proposed rules.

If you plan to set up an income shifting trust before 1986 or if you are thinking about giving your child a gift to start a college fund, there are some other changes proposed that you should know about. The new tax brackets proposed by the tax reform package put every taxpayer in the 15 percent, 25 percent or 35 percent tax bracket. A parent currently in the top bracket of 50 percent would lose 15 percent of the tax saving benefit of shifting income through a trust or gift under proposed rules. That's because the new top tax bracket would be 35 percent.

The Smiths, who had saved $700 by income shifting before 1986, would save $400 under the new bracket structure. In other words, income shifting would still be viable, but not as attractive, CPAs say.

The proposed rules also will affect a child under the age of 14 who receives more than $2,000 a year in investment income through parents' gifts or trusts. Those children will have any amounts above the $2,000 level taxed at the parents' higher tax rate. Once the child is 14 years-old, the $2,000 passive income cap is eliminated.

For further information about setting up a short-term trust, how your existing trust will be affected or how to cope with the $2,000 income cap, consult your local CPA who can answer specific questions about your personal situation.

Michigan drivers pick Florida for vacations

Florida continues to lure more Michigan vacationers than any other vacation area, based on AAA Michigan auto Triptik routings. The second most popular destination is the Ohio, Indiana and Illinois region.

"Many persons prefer vacations close to home, but those who do travel beyond Michigan borders have made Florida the hottest getaway spot for at least the last 10 years," said James Drury, AAA Michigan Travel Operations manager.

Interest in Florida remains high throughout the year, but is strongest in February and March. Although auto routings for Florida are down slightly so far this year compared to last, the state continues to draw twice the routings than the second-ranked Ohio, Indiana and Illinois region.

Other popular vacation destinations are Ontario, third; Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina region, fourth; and the mid-Atlantic states — Washington, D.C., Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia — fifth.

Last year, AAA Michigan provided members with more than 480,000 auto Triptik routings with more than half for the top five domestic vacation areas. Drury pointed out.

As of June 1985, AAA Michigan has given out 228,642 auto routings to nationwide destinations, about seven percent below the same period last year.

For those Florida-bound, Walt Disney World and the Epcot Center, Busch Gardens, Kennedy Space Center and Sea World are the most popular attractions.

The top draws in the Ohio, Indiana and Illinois region are Portside-in Toledo; the Ohio amusement parks, especially Cedar Point, Kings Island and Sea World; the Amish country around Shipshewana, Indiana, and the Chicago area.

Ontario travelers flock to Niagara Falls, the Toronto area and Stratford, home of the Stratford Festival which features 22 weeks of drama from early May to late September.

Triptik routings for the Georgia, North Carolina and South Carolina region rose eight percent last year.

Free handbook helps decipher job opportunities

The job market is becoming more complex with the introduction of new techniques, new machinery and new jobs to fill the needs of growing businesses.

To decipher the job market, a free publication entitled "Handbook of Trade and Technical Careers and Training" is now available.

Copies of the handbook are available by writing to NATTS: Department MS:

2251 Wisconsin Avenue, NW; Washington, D.C. 20007.

The handbook lists over 100 careers you can train for in two years or less, ranging from computer service technician to electronics specialist to x-ray technician. The free handbook also offers a check list for the career-hunter, suggestions on how to choose a school and career questions and answers.

Over 850 accredited post-secondary career schools are listed in the handbook with their addresses and phone numbers. The handbook also provides information on courses, class size, job placement service and how to apply to a career school.

Other features in the handbook include information on the importance of accreditation to the student, an order form for free career planning publications and mailback cards to use for contacting individual schools about courses and training programs.

22nd & 23rd

Startling On The Road-In Stimulating Response And Performance... Accented By Incredible Comfort.

The GOLDEN AGE Cabriolet is a hybrid of two golden ages in automaking. From the 1930's comes one of the world's most popular two-seat convertibles (with rumble seat), distinguished by its sleek graceful fender lines, bright chrome grille and chrome-plated extended bumpers, wide ribbed running boards, real wire-spoke wheels and rear-mounted spare tire. Underneath this classically styled body is the soul of present-day automotive technology! Ingeniously engineered and designed, this new Cabriolet contains a chassis based on the Ford Ranger suspension and drivetrain. The large V-6 engine and automatic transmission, are also from the Ford Ranger.

Whatever the occasion or for no occasion at all, your Golden Age Cabriolet provides you with a unique driving experience. Attracting attention without ostentation. Knowing you're virtually alone in the Cabriolet class. Satisfying your sense of tradition that combines harmoniously with your demands for luxury and today's technological advantages.

That's the Cabriolet. In a stunning brave new class all its own.

The X-ray equipment lets the doctor monitor the progress of the pulverization process.

The doctor, standing here near the X-ray monitors, can activate the shock waves manually or set the equipment on automatic.

The shock waves originate below the patient, travel through the water and into the body's soft tissue. A series of shocks breaks down the kidney stone.

The patient is strapped into a cradle to prevent movement. Precision is important in the operation. The waves need to be concentrated on the stone and away from any bones, which could be damaged by the shocks.

Hospital photo shows pulverization equipment in use

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following first-person story was written by Northville resident Ann Chowdhury, a freelance writer for The Record and a patient who had a kidney stone removed successfully in a new method being welcomed as a major scientific breakthrough.

By ANN CHOWDHURY

Exactly three months ago, on May 21, I found myself literally up to the neck in warm water and waiting for more than 1,000 shock waves to start pounding through my body.

I looked up at the life preserver someone had hung over the bath with a "Swim at Your Own Risk" sign attached. The attempt at humor helped relieve my tension.

This was not your everyday kind of bathtub. It had cost about $2 million and was designed to deliver powerful acoustic shock waves to the "bather" at the rate of about one per second. If I were fortunate, an hour's treatment would pulverize the large stone lodged in my only kidney.

In January, my urologist, Dr. Virinder Bhardwaj at Oak Creek Medical Center in Livonia, had shown me the stone on an x-ray. "That kidney is your lifeline," he said, "and to protect it the stone has to come out of there. You don't have another kidney to rely on so we mustn't wait too long."

I had already experienced episodes with high fevers and extreme weakness in the previous weeks and written them off as flu. They were, in fact, the result of an infection caused by the stone.

Small tasks were beginning to seem large burdens. Christmas had loomed ahead like a chore instead of a joy. I had not even had the energy to bake cookies and decorating the tree had left me exhausted.

There were two methods, the doctor told me, for removing the stone. One was open surgery during which the stone would be lifted out in one piece. It was major surgery with about two weeks in the hospital and a long, eight week recuperation. The other was percutaneous removal, whereby the stone would be broken with shock waves sent through a tube inserted into my kidney through my side.

The later method was less traumatic but still a major procedure and, if it caused bleeding in the kidney, I would have to have open surgery anyway.

I knew that kidneys were occasionally lost in such surgery, and I did not have a second one as a back up. The possibility, however remote, of having to rely on dialysis for the rest of my life or the need for a transplant was frightening.

The doctor understood my reluctance for surgery on that only kidney and encouraged me to investigate a new method of removing the kidney stone which was only just being approved for use by the Food and Drug Administration.

He warned me that it was not yet available in Michigan nor covered by most health insurance plans.

He sent me for a second opinion to Dr. Joseph Cerny, chairman of urology at Henry Ford Hospital in Detroit, who already had sent several patients for the new treatment to Methodist Hospital in Indianapolis.

The treatment is called Extracorporeal Shock Wave Lithotripsy. Extracorporeal means outside the body and lithotripsy means stone pulverizing.

The patient is placed in a bathtub-like device and acoustic waves are generated underwater by a "spark plug" electrode. Ignition of the electrode generates a spark which vaporizes a small amount of water. This causes a pressure wave to pass through the water and biological tissue to the stone. Multiple ignitions aimed at the stone result in its pulverization but do not damage the surrounding tissue. The gravel resulting from the stone is passed, usually painlessly, in the urine.

Dr. Cerny told me the method had been developed in West Germany by Dornier, an aerospace manufacturer, with the cooperation of urologists from the University of Munich. He said the treatment is to medicine what the Wright brothers' first flight was to aviation.

"It's the most striking advance in the treatment of kidney stone disease ever, a stupendous advance for the preservation of kidney function."

Unfortunately, it is not for everyone. There are height and weight limits and certain medical conditions that make the procedure unwise. Adults as old as 85 and children as young as three have been treated successfully, however.

I met the medical criteria, however, and my health insurance plan agreed to cover the cost. It would be less than open surgery — $4,600 as opposed to $6,200.

The waiting list, however, was a long one. I was taking antibiotics to keep infection at bay, and the stone was pretty uncomfortable at times. If it moved, or complications arose, I realized I would have to go ahead with surgery, but I decided to try to wait it out.

Often I would wake up at night, conscious of a nagging, tender spot in my side. It was a bit like living with a time bomb.

Finally the long wait was over, and I lay strapped to an operating platform which had been lowered into the bath with an overhead crane. My arms were strapped alongside my head, and my body was numb from my underarms to my toes.

The medical team positioned me so that the energy of the shock waves would be concentrated on the stone.

Dr. James Lingeman, a Methodist Hospital urologist and one of the first doctors to go to Germany to learn the new procedure, was now in charge of my case.

He instructed me to breathe shallowly and not to try to speak or move as the shocks were delivered. The doctors, he said, could see the stone on a screen because of the two x-ray monitors in place over my abdomen. They would monitor the progress of the stone as the shocks proceeded.

There was a bright flash under my right side and a loud bang. Then the shocks started to come in quick succession, like a jack hammer. It didn't hurt. All I could feel was a slight sensation in my side like someone flicking.

From time to time the shocks were stopped, and I was repositioned in the bath.

"It's breaking up," I heard someone say and tried to remain relaxed despite a surge of relief. I tried counting the shocks but was lightheaded with valium and could not keep count for long. It was well into the hundreds.

Then it started to get uncomfortable as the anesthetic began to wear off. The shocks started to feel more like a punch in the stomach than a gentle flick in the side. Dr. Lingeman, who kept watching me closely, noticed me whince, and the shocks stopped immediately until more anesthetic took effect.

The discomfort was never such that I regretted not having gone the more usual route and asking for a general anesthetic. I enjoyed visualizing the stone breaking up more with every shock. It was like being a conscious participant in my own return to health. I couldn't help thinking what the alternatives would have been had the stone only been found a few weeks earlier, before this method was available.

About 45 minutes and a total of 1,000 shocks later Dr. Lingeman said, "It's all broken up now. Just 200 more for good measure."

I tried counting them off in 50s and the feeling of relief as they came to an end was euphoric.

The whole medical team shared my happiness as though they were all enjoying being part of a procedure that is revolutionizing the treatment of one of the most painful diseases known.

"I am going to write about this when I get home," I told them as they lifted me out of the bath.

"Just be sure to spell our names right," one of them quipped.

Most of the next day was spent wandering around the hospital corridors, glass of water in hand, following my instructions to walk and drink a lot to help the gravel pass. Other patients were doing the same, and we compared notes and marveled at the new procedure that had enabled us to avoid major surgery.

The only evidence of the shock waves were a few slight bruises across my back and abdomen — nothing compared with the scars that would have resulted from surgery.

Next morning Dr. Lingeman released me from the hospital. I was free to travel back to Northville. No more antibiotics, no more waking up at night wondering about that nagging tenderness in my side.

After a good night's sleep at home I went to work energetically digging my garden, trying to make up for this year's late start.

I thought as I worked of what Dr. Lingeman had said. "The inventors of the lithotripter deserve the Nobel prize. It was a brilliant idea and brilliantly executed — it is as easy to use as pushing a button. It is less painful, costs less, shortens the hospital stay and has fewer complications."

To me it is nothing short of a miracle.

Former residents return for 50th anniversary

By JEAN DAY

Northville native Horace H. Nelson and his wife Margaret (Marge), who now are retired and living in Spanish Oaks, Ocala, Florida, returned to celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary July 28 at a family dinner at Burroughs Farms in Brighton.

They were married July 31, 1935, at Our Lady of Victory Church. A sister brought together Marge (whose maiden name was Turner) who lived in Farmington and Horace, who was born in Northville. Their high school blind date led to marriage. He was a meat cutter and she worked at both the D & C Store in Northville and at Crowley's.

Their son Phil lives in Redford Township; daughter Sally Potter is a resident of Seven Mile in Northville. She and her husband Garnet Potter hosted a cocktail party for 20 guests at their home before the anniversary dinner.

Special guests were "Red" Smith from Arizona, a Farmington High schoolmate who was in town for his 50 year class reunion and Betty Meyfarth, who was maid of honor at the wedding. The Nelsons also have four grandchildren.

Both enjoy golfing and attending flea markets in retirement. She also is a painter while his interest is horses.

Houses are Jane Martin's specialty

If Jane Martin, a township resident of Whipple Drive and an accomplished artist, had any doubt of the popularity of her pencil sketches, she need only look at the backlog of 18 commissions to sketch residents' home that are waiting to be done.

Plymouth Symphony begins 40th season

The Plymouth Symphony Orchestra will begin its 40th concert season October 13. This year's calendar will feature interim conductor Charles Greenwell and guest conductors Carolyn Eynon and Russell Reed.

The Sunday concerts will be held in the Plymouth Salem High School auditorium at Joy and Canton Center roads. In addition to the regular concert series there also will be three Sunday musicales and the annual spring Pops Concert.

Greenwell, who studied at Michigan State University, Yale University and the Royal College of Music in London, will conduct the October 13 concert.

The first concert of the season will feature clarinet soloist John Mohler in a tribute to Mozart.

Mohler studied with Philadelphia Orchestra clarinetist Ralph McLane at the Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia and with William Stubbins at the University of Michigan.

He currently is chairman of the Wind and Percussion Instruments Department at the University of Michigan School of Music and is a clarinetist with the University Woodwind Quintet. He has been a principal clarinetist with the Plymouth Symphony since 1958.

The October 13 program will include Mozart: Overture to "The Impresario," Clarinet Concerto, Divertimento in B flat, and Symphony No. 36 in C ("Linz").

Greenwell also will conduct the November 17 concert. Selections will include Mendelssohn: Fingal's Cave Overture, Haydn: Symphony No. 82 in C ("The Bear"), and Dvorak, Symphony No. 8 in G.

The Southfield Madrigal Chorus under the direction of Carolyn Eynon will join the symphony orchestra for the December 15 concert. Eynon is past director of the renowned high school ensemble, "The Hills," and was elected Honor Choir Director in 1979 by the Michigan State Vocal Association. She has completed extensive postgraduate work in choral conducting at the University of Michigan.

The Madrigal Chorus and Symphony Orchestra will present Respighi: Laud to the Nativity, Handel: Excerpt from "Messiah" and a Christmas carol sing-along.

Guest conductor Russell Reed will conduct the February 9 concert. Reed is professor of music and director of the symphony orchestra at Eastern Michigan University. He holds two degrees in music from the University of Michigan, is an active adjudicator of bands and orchestras and frequently serves as a clinician.

The selections for the February concert will include Brahms: Academic Festival Overture, Faure: Pelleas et Melisande Suite, and Shostakovich: Symphony No. 5.

The Annual Young Artists' Competition winners will perform at the March 9 concert conducted by Charles Greenwell.

The final concert of the regular season, April 13, will feature cellist, Jeffrey Solow, with Charles Greenwell conducting. Solow has performed in recital and as soloist with orchestras in Europe, Latin America and the Orient, as well as throughout the United States.

He studied with Gabor Rejto and Gregor Piatigorsky and is currently on the faculty at the University of Michigan.

The concert program will include Brahms: Tragic Overture; Saint-Saens: Cello Concerto No. 1; Dvorak: Serenade in d for Winds and Bizet: Excerpts from "L'Arlesienne."

Tickets for all concerts will be available at the door. Single and season concert ticket sales will be at Four Seasons Flowers in Northville, Beltner Jewelry in Plymouth, Arnoldt Williams Music in Canton and Liberty Music in Ann Arbor.

There will be free babysitting for preschoolers during the concerts.

Information on Plymouth Symphony memberships may be obtained by contacting the Plymouth Symphony Society, P.O. Box 467, Plymouth, 48170 or by calling 451-2112.

Since most summer weekends are spent at art shows along the west side of the state, the sketches have to wait until later, she says. She made a special exception last month, however, as she sketched the facade of First Presbyterian Church on short notice as a going away present from the congregation for David Heinzman, who left the post of organist and music director to begin doctoral studies in California.

She says she was persuaded to do so by her friend Norma Peltz — whose home she had sketched. Artist Martin also has done school sketches as mementos. She mentions that one of her commissions that has been completed was to do the condo that had belonged to Lance Parrish — but for the new owner.

Also a photographer, artist Martin first takes photographs of the building to be sketched; she recently did the appealing sketch of Mill Race Historical Village that appears on the new brochure of Northville Historical Society.

Five local artisans to be in Plymouth show

Joining Jane Martin as participants in the 14th annual Artists and Crafts Show sponsored by the Plymouth Community Arts Council September 7-8 at Central Middle School in Plymouth will be Mary Beth Baxter, Janet Clancy, Linda Clark and Caroline Dunphy.

They will be among 90 professional artisans at the Plymouth Fall Festival show. Hours are 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. Saturday, September 7, and noon to 6 p.m. Sunday, September 8.

Downtown summertime craft show's growing

The summertime arts and crafts show planned for this Saturday on downtown streets is proving popular as more and more artists and crafts persons sign up. Del Black, who is chairing the project for the downtown merchants, reports that, if there are enough requests for space, sidewalk space will be used along Center as well as on Main.

MR. AND MRS. HORACE NELSON

Three newborns

From West Virginia comes news of the birth of Andrew Stuart, first child of Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Turnbull. Their son was born August 1 in Princeton, West Virginia, weighing seven pounds, 12 ounces.

Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Turnbull of Northville. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Coombs of Manitowac, Wisconsin.

The baby's father is head librarian at Concord College in Athens, West Virginia.

Birth of their son Richard Belanger Wentworth is announced by Robert Jay and Michelle Belanger Wentworth of Ann Arbor. The baby was born August 5 at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor. He weighed eight pounds, 5 1/2 ounces.

He joins brothers Robert Jay Wentworth II and Andrew James Wentworth at home.

MR. AND MRS. DONALD McDONALD

Cancun trip follows ceremony

A wedding trip to Cancun, Mexico, followed the marriage of Diane Marie Barnes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Barnes of Novi, and Donald Andrew McDonald at Our Lady of Sorrows Catholic Church in Farmington.

The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Donald McDonald of Novi. They previously lived in Northville for 17 years.

Officiating at the double ring service April 26 were Father Kean D. Cronin, first cousin of the bride's father, and Father John Ortman, a friend of the bridegroom's family. During the service red roses were presented to the parents of the couple and to "Our Blessed Mother" as Chris Vogel sang "Ave Maria."

The bride's gown was of matte taffeta and Alencon lace embroidered with pearls. It was fashioned with leg-o-mutton sleeves and an illusion yoke. A satin and pearl headband held the scalloped, fingertip veil. White silk roses, stephanotis, baby's-breath and ivy were used for the bridal bouquet. The bride carried a white Irish linen handkerchief with embroidered shamrocks which her mother brought her from Ireland.

The bride's cousin Anne McClorey was honor maid. Bridesmaids were Eileen and Sue Barnes, sisters of the bride, Laurie McDonald, sister of the bridegroom, and Moira Witmer. They wore dusty blue taffeta tea-length gowns with embroidered white organza overskirts.

Tonni and David McDonald, niece and nephew of the bridegroom, were flower girl and ring bearer respectively.

Paul McDonald was best man for his brother. Ushers were brothers of the couple, Tom and Doug McDonald and Bob and Denny Barnes.

A reception for 250 guests followed at Glen Oaks Country Club in Farmington Hills.

The bride, a 1981 graduate of Our Lady of Mercy High School, is head bookkeeper at Steve Hagopian and Company in Southfield. The bridegroom, a 1979 graduate of Catholic Central High School, is a salesman at RAM Communications in Southfield. They are making their home in Farmington.

MR. AND MRS. DANIEL O'BRIEN

O'Brien-Howard vows spoken

Julie Lynn Howard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Howard of Northville, and Daniel D. O'Brien III of Amherst, Massachusetts, were married June 22 in Helen Hills Chapel in Northampton, Massachusetts.

The bridegroom is the son of former Novi residents Mr. and Mrs. Daniel D. O'Brien, Jr. of South Deerfield, Massachusetts.

The Reverend Thomas Derr officiated at the 5 p.m. ceremony.

The bride wore a Victorian-style silk organza gown embroidered with iridescent beads and seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white roses and ivy.

Susan Richardson was the maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Dawn Alder, sister of the bride, and Molly O'Brien, sister of the bridegroom. Bethany Ernest was the flower girl.

The bride's attendants wore lavender taffeta gowns and carried white and orchid mums.

Daniel O'Brien Jr., father of the bridegroom was best man. Tom Martin and Patrick Serio were ushers.

Following a reception at the Cambridge Center, University of Massachusetts, the couple left on a wedding trip to Cape Cod.

The bride, a 1978 Northville High School graduate, attended Ferris State College and was graduated from Kay Harvey Hair Design Academy in West Springfield. She is a hairstylist in Amherst.

The bridegroom, a 1978 graduate of Northampton High School, graduated from Greenfield Community College, the Springfield Police Academy and the University of Massachusetts. He is a police officer for the Town of Amherst. The couple will live in Amherst.

New Japanese 'Super Pill' Insures Rapid Weight-Loss

No Dieting — Eat All You Want, Pill Does All The Work

BEVERLY HILLS, CA — An exciting new "all natural" weight-loss "Super" Pill developed by the JMA (Japanese Medical Association) has just been approved for distribution in the United States. Reportedly, it can guarantee that you will lose more than a pound a day without dieting, from the very first day until you reach your ideal weight and figure. News of this "Super Pill" is literally sweeping the country. It's called Amitol and there has never been anything quite like it before.

"Flushes Calories Right Out Of Your Body."

What makes Amitol so thrilling and unique is its reported ability to flush calories right out of your body. Amitol is completely safe. It contains no drugs whatsoever. Its ingredients are derived solely from the Konjac root which grows primarily in Northern Japan.

Why the Konjac root? It has been used in Japan for over 1600 years to produce rapid and natural weight-loss!

Japanese studies verify that Konjac root actually prevents fat producing calories from being absorbed into your system. They say it does this by surrounding much of the fats, proteins and carbohydrates you have eaten with a protective viscous coating which is then gently flushed out of your system. And according to Japanese research this produces absolutely amazing results.

And who can disagree! Amitol (although brand new to this country) is already being called by many people, "the most exciting weight-loss breakthrough of the century." In fact, everywhere there are reports of easy and fast weight-loss from formerly overweight people (in all walks of life) who are now slim, trim, and attractive again.

Company Offers Extraordinary Guarantee

You now can purchase Amitol direct from the North American distributor, and it comes with an extraordinary guarantee.

If you place your order now and then follow the simple instructions for a period of 30 days, you must be completely satisfied with the dramatic visible results or just return the empty container and Dyna Labs will immediately send back your entire purchase price. This guarantee applies regardless of your age or current weight level. What could be better than that! It's just that simple. If you've tried to lose weight before and failed you no longer have an excuse. Amitol is available, it's easy and it works without dieting!

Best of all, ordering Amitol is simple, fast, and reliable! Simply call Dyna Labs, Toll Free: (1-800-441-5454) Ext. 911, and order with your credit card. If you don't have a credit card Dyna Labs will also accept C.O.D. orders shipped over the phone! All orders are shipped immediately by UPS, which means no delay and no orders lost in the mail!

$19.95—30 day supply, or $35.95—60 day supply. Operators are standing by and will be glad to take your order. You can order 24 hrs. a day, 7 days a week! Please don't wait to call. You really do deserve to be thin!

Northville Co-op Preschool hosts annual welcome tea

Northville Cooperative Preschool will be having its Annual Welcome Tea for all registered members at 1 p.m. tomorrow, August 22, at the home of Mary Rupley, 19740 Clement.

It will be an informal gathering so members can meet each other along with teachers and board members. The Co-op offers a Toddler Program for children 18 months to 2 years, a Three's Program for 3-year-olds (by December 1) and a Four's Program for 4-year-olds (by December 1). There still are some openings available.

For further information, call membership chairman Melissa Dore at 464-1134 or president Mary Rupley at 348-8739.

Two reunions announced

Area residents who ever attended St. Benedict school in Highland Park are invited to participate in an all-class reunion sponsored by the St. Benedict Alumni Association September 20 at the Monaghan K of C, 19801 Farmington Road, Livonia.

The reunion is not limited to graduates only, reports Anne F. Taggart, corresponding secretary, of Farmington. For additional information call 868-3876.

The Northville High School Class of 1980 will be holding its five year reunion August 24 at Burroughs Farms in Brighton.

The reunion will begin at 1:30 p.m. and will continue until 8 p.m. There will be a $3 gate fee plus a $2 service charge for those attending.

For more information about the reunion, call Tod Mack, Pete June, Sue Townsend or class officers.

Adoptive parents class set

Expectant Adoptive Parent Classes will be offered beginning September 13 at Botsford Hospital in Farmington Hills.

The series of five weekly classes is intended for families waiting to adopt an infant up to two years of age.

The classes will provide information on the physical care of an infant, growth and development, selecting infant clothes and accessories, common infant health problems and child safety.

The classes also provide the opportunity to explore parenthood and its relationship to being an adoptive parent.

To register or receive further information, call project directors Terry or Jim Allor at 459-7383.

Sports

The Northville Record

Keeping the playground from becoming a battlefield

By B.J. MARTIN

This is the final part of Kids Games, a three-part series on youth sports in the Novi/Northville area.

In Part One of Kids Games we noted three principal functions served by sports were: a fulfillment of the urge to play, an instrument of character development, and exercise. It stands to reason any successful physical education program, either in schools or in a governmental recreation department, should address those aims.

Let's examine how we can approach those three functions point by point:

The Urge To Play: How NOT to get in its way

When a child is signed up for a sport, the parents should consider themselves signees as well. As in any contract, parents should take a good look at the terms and make sure it's in everyone's best interests by asking themselves the following questions:

Is my child really interested in the game, or is he or she signing up because I (we) expect it?

There are numerous dangers in signing up a child for a sport he or she doesn't want to play. Among them is the worst thing that can happen in a child's game: boredom. Not only will the player not get the exercise he or she could get in a sport he or she likes better, but often a lack of interest results in a lack of playing time. And if a sport is boring to play, it's absurdly boring to watch from the bench.

Does my child's coach have an appropriate perspective on winning?

Rainer Martens of the Department of Physical Education at University of Illinois believes there are extremists on both ends of the question of youth competition: the win-at-all-costs faction and the winning-isn't-important-at-all faction.

Martens comments: "The key to whether youth sports are an opportunity for learning to cope or a jungle in which a high degree of coping is essential to simply survive is dependent on the objectives emphasized by parents, coaches and sport organizers. When the predominant emphasis is usually on the child's physiological and psychological development and not just on winning, the chances increase that competitive stress will be put in perspective."

Most importantly, make sure your child plays. If parents are vigilant in guarding their children's right to participate in the game, eventually every coach will get the message.

Is my child's ability and maturity suited to the level at which he is to play?

Children are susceptible to stress in sports, as Martens points out. In the charter of the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation (AAHPER) the problem of too much competition too soon is clearly addressed:

"Inasmuch as pupils below 10th grade are in the midst of a period of rapid growth, with consequent bodily weaknesses and maladjustments, partial ossification of bones, mental and emotional stresses and physiological adjustments, be it therefore resolved that leaders in the field of physical and health education should do all in their power to discourage interscholastic competition at his age level because of its strenuous nature."

It's obvious various competitive pressures have taken the teeth out of that original aim. To implement it, all our junior high interscholastic sports programs would have to be dismantled. But already in various parts of the country, and even locally, interscholastic competition at even the elementary-age level has been introduced and emphasized.

Already the cry may be going up, "But how can we expect our children to compete on a level with other schools when they get older, if other schools promote such competition?"

The fact is, youth sports programs often have little impact on the level of ability this or that player eventually attains.

For example, a 1973 study showed one junior high school in an eastern state boasted no fewer than seven boys who could run a mile in under five minutes — their combined average mile time was an outstanding 4:47.3.

Instead of becoming a nucleus to a high school track dynasty, in three years only one of the boys was still running regularly. The best time he ever ran? Four minutes, 23 seconds. Not bad at all, but hardly enough power for a track powerhouse.

In many cases, youth programs prone to regimentation may actually be detrimental.

As Richard A. Magill of Texas A&M's Department of Health and Physical Education points out: "Youth sports programs should encourage participants to experience a wide variety of skills. It is deplorable, for example, that an elementary-age boy who is large for his age and participating in organized football is used only as a lineman."

"He never gets an opportunity to be a receiver, a running back, a quarterback or a linebacker. He is used only to serve the team's present needs. The same child may be an early maturer and by high school he may actually be too small to be an effective lineman. Because he has had such limited experience in handling a football at other positions, his past experience will dictate his future lack of success in football. The same analogy could be made in other sports."

Indeed, New Zealand track coach Arthur Lydiard states flatly that longer sprints (200 meters to 800 meters) are simply unsuitable for children — they are too physically demanding. The easy pace of a mile run or the lesser demand of shorter sprints, he contends, is more appropriate.

Other top-notch sports figures find the way youth athletics programs are run similarly lacking. Football great Fran Tarkenton is an outspoken critic of youth football programs, and Hall of Fame pitcher Bob Feller has expressed similar sentiments toward little league baseball.

Character: Sports can develop it — for better or worse

Playing time isn't the only aspect of recreational sports necessary to preserve players' interest in athletics. Every season in youth athletics, it seems, there are losers. Not just 4-8 teams, or 2-10 teams, but 1-11 or 0-12 teams. Every time that happens, coaches and parents should take a very close look at what is happening in a league that causes that to happen.

At the beginning of most recreation sports seasons a draft is held to make sure there is a reasonably equitable distribution of talented and less talented players. More often than not, this is a loosely constructed draft that allows some flexibility with regard to geographic logistics and friends' ability to play on the same team.

But when the spirit of the draft is not entirely followed, coaches who are unfamiliar with the players are easy prey to be saddled with a team of less-talented players and a losing record.

So is that such a terrible thing? Jerry R. Thomas of the Department of Health, Physical and Recreational Education at Louisiana State University answers "yes."

"Failing players consider themselves low in ability, meaning there's little hope for future success," Thomas contends. "Subsequently they are less likely to respond to failure with increased effort (emphasis ours)."

In test cases of losing teams, he adds, "Children felt the outcome of the game is beyond their personal control, and thus, they tended to drop out (of the sport)."

Seconding that notion was G.C. Roberts, who said in a 1975 address to the AAHPER: "Teams which consistently lost were more likely to attribute their success to unstable factors (luck) instead of their own ability."

Thus, when coaches meet to select teams, they should take special care to spread the pool of talent as evenly as possible. Appointing an independent commissioner to approve the draft distribution may be an appropriate way to deal with continued lopsided records.

KIDS GAMES ...

sports program. These provide an excellent opportunity for youngsters to sample various sports, and parents may want to monitor their children's reaction to them carefully.

The better administered the intramural program, the better opportunity the young athlete has to learn a wide variety of physical skills, from the cardiovascular conditioning of distance running to the power and quick reflexes required for wrestling.

Improvements and expansions of intramural programs should be encouraged. An ideal intramural program would expose youngsters to sports not typical of the school curriculum: volleyball for boys, flag football for girls, skiing, bowling, archery, field hockey, and so forth.

Booster clubs and recreation departments are useful tools for meeting the demands of youngsters interested in sports. Both Northville and Novi's recreation departments welcome suggested additions and improvements to existing programs.

In this area already, ample demand has been demonstrated for junior varsity soccer competition — it's easily within the ability of booster clubs to help bankroll such an addition to the athletic curriculum.

As we noted, before, "lifetime" sports are the best to encourage; tennis and swimming are activities that will promote a lifetime of good exercise.

But perhaps the best way to stimulate youngsters' interest in athletics may be one of the simplest: ask them what they'd like to do. As long as adults keep tabs of what activities interest their youngsters, there's a good chance their children will develop physical education skills which are useful throughout their lives.

Suggested sports reading

Among the books useful in preparing Kids Games and provocative reading for adults interested in their children's physical education were:

Children In Sport: A Contemporary Anthology, edited by Richard A. Magill, Michael J. Ash and Frank L. Small (Human Kinetics Publishers, 1978). Contains an excellent series of essays on the psychological and physiological effects of youth athletics.

Sports In America, by James A. Michener (Fawcett, 1976). The epic novelist tackles the subject of the title with a critical but affectionate perspective. Every chapter contains interesting and thoughtful material.

Joy and Sadness in Children's Sports, edited by Rainer Martens (Human Kinetics Publishers). The list of essayists sampled in this collection ranges from columnist Erma Bombeck to Hall of Fame pitcher Bob Feller.

Erin Ryan (12) is making the jump to college volleyball

Ryan's hope fulfilled on MSU varsity

When the Michigan State women's volleyball team takes to the courts this year, a 1985 Northville High School graduate will be among will the players.

Erin Ryan, a standout for Coach Steve McDonald's Mustang squad last winter, is one of 14 players named to the Spartans' 1985-86 varsity roster.

Ryan is one of eight new players named to the Spartan varsity, as the Michigan State squad takes on a different look with a new coaching staff headed by Ginger Mayson, former head coach at South Alabama and an assistant at Kansas State.

Five starters graduated from last year's MSU team that finished 16-16 overall and 5-8 in the Big Ten Conference. The lone returning starter is junior Pam Wischmeyer, a 5'10" outside hitter from Lansing.

Although a fine high school player, Ryan's presence on Michigan State's varsity roster might come as something of a surprise. Northville finished with an unspectacular 8-14 record.

But news that the 5'11" Northville graduate had made the Spartan varsity did not surprise her former high school coach.

McDonald said he expected it all along.

"The thing about Erin was that she could have been a more dominant player than she was, but she was a little self-conscious ... she lacked confidence in herself, particularly at the start of the season."

"But as she continued to play, she became more and more confident in her abilities and began playing much more aggressively."

"The last five or six games of the season, she was really becoming a much more dominant player. She had developed confidence in herself and that confidence was evident in her play out on the court."

McDonald also praised Ryan's perseverance and personal characteristics.

"She had the tools ... the physical skills, but she is the one who developed them," said the Mustang mentor.

"You've got to give her a lot of credit. She's a hard worker, who's dedicated to volleyball and gets a lot of support from her family. You could tell that Erin was the kind of player who was just going to get better and better as she kept working at it."

"I expect her to continue to improve dramatically on the college level," he added. "She's a good blocker, and when they put her on a more advanced weight program, she will get stronger and become a more dominant player."

Mayson, the new MSU volleyball coach, apparently perceived the same potential that McDonald was aware of. In fact, the new Spartan mentor is planning significant improvement in the MSU program.

"As with any program that loses five starters, we will see a team without a lot of leadership at the start of the season," said Mayson. "We're bound to struggle at the start, but the talent is there and it's just a matter of time before the leaders take charge."

Although 10 of the 14 players on the MSU squad are upperclassmen, four members are new to the team this year and most of the returning players have had limited on-court experience.

"We will be young court-wise, but we will be able to throw things at other people that they aren't expecting," said Mayson.

Labor Day tourney set

Northville Methodist Church is gearing up for its First Annual Labor Day Softball Invitational Tournament, set for Northville's Ford Field August 30-September 1.

Participating in the battle of the churches will be teams from Ward Presbyterian, Plymouth Methodist, Farmington Methodist, Plymouth Church of the Nazarene, Newburgh Methodist, Detroit Nazarene, Plymouth Presbyterian, Livonia St. Matthews, Farmington Hills Grace Chapel, and Clarenceville Methodist.

Among the special attractions expected to attend the tourney are Kronk boxers Doug Ahonen and Mickey Goodwin (the latter the "official team mascot and bodyguard" for Northville Methodist) and radio personalities Ted Strasser and Dale Conquest, starting pitcher for Northville Methodist.

Meadowbrook's tops in swim showdown

Meadowbrook Country Club swimmers racked up 1,153 points to take first place in this year's Suburban Inter-Club Swimming Association Championship finals, held August 2-3 at Meadowbrook Country Club in Northville.

The host team landed swimmers in the finals of 34 of the 36 individual events at the meet to edge closest rival Pine Lake Country Club with 926½. Orchard Lake Country Club took third with 662½ points, followed by Birmingham Country Club (626), Forest Lake Country Club (614) and Bloomfield Open Hunt Club (446).

Meadowbrook's Angie Harrison clocked a 36.31 in the Girls' 15-17 50 breast stroke to set a league record in the event. Also taking first with a league record time was the mixed 64-Year 200 medley relay team from Meadowbrook, Beth Surowiec, Dan Hoops, Eric Davis and Hope Harrison, who all combined for a winning time of 2:07.40.

Liz DeMattia's first-place time of 33.72 in the Girls' 11-12 50 butterfly was good for a club record, and Hope Harrison's winning time of 17.07 in the Girls' 8&Under 25 freestyle also set a club record.

Individual first-place times for Meadowbrook also were turned in by: Ellen Surowiec in the Girls' 9-10 25 back (18.32) and 25 breast (20.81), Haley Hoops in the Girls' 11-12 50 back (38.53) and 50 breast (41.24), Greg Gentner in the Boys' 13-14 50 breast (36.41) and 100 individual medley (1:11.64), Susan Settles in the Girls' 13-14 100 I.M. (1:15.54) and 50 free (29.85), Peter Anthony in the Boys' 8 & Under 25 backstroke (21.97), Elliot Hoops in the Boys' 9-10 25 back (18.50), Beth Surowiec in the Girls' 13-14 50 back (34.30), Richard Reid in the Boys' 13-14 50 back, and Brad Dorchy in the Boys' 11-12 50 breast (41.18).

Other important point-scorers for Meadowbrook included:

SECOND PLACE:

Hope Harrison, Girls' 8 & Under 25 back (21.92); Eric Gentner, Boys' 11-12 50 back (39.31); Karen Neyer, Girls' 13-14 50 back (35.26); Beth Surowiec, Girls' 13-14 50 breast (38.93); Brad Cook, Boys' 11-12 50 fly (36.84); Renee LaForest, Girls' 9-10 25 free (16.55); and Liz DeMattia, Girls' 11-12 50 free (31.00).

THIRD PLACE:

Jennifer Szary, Girls' 9-10 25 back (20.00); Scott Richardson, Boys' 13-14 50 back (37.18); Elliot Hoops, Boys' 9-10 25 breast (20.77); Allyson Kennedy, Girls' 11-12 50 breast (41.49); Eric Gentner, Boys' 11-12 50 breast (44.57); Margaret DeMattia, Girls' 15-17 50 breast (37.78); Eric Davis, Boys' 15-17 50 breast (33.31); Renee LaForest, Girls' 9-10 25 fly (17.99); Scott Richardson, Boys' 13-14 100 I.M.
