Babcock to answer questions about NR

By KEVIN WILSON

Michigan Department of Mental Health Director C. Patrick Babcock is scheduled to appear before the township board of trustees at its Thursday night meeting to discuss issues regarding Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital, particularly the problem of patient escapes.

108 Group nears closing on property

By KEVIN WILSON

Ownership of property at Main and Center streets will probably be transferred to the 108 Group, developers of a proposed multi-story residential/commercial/office structure for the site, before the end of the year.

Transfer of the Class C liquor license from the Ten Grand Club, current owners, to Paul N. Hoffmann is up for approval by the Michigan Liquor Control Commission today. Northville City Council approved the transfer on a 3-1 vote November 4.

The license transfer is the last contingent condition of the 108 Group's purchase offer tendered in March of this year. The offer was also contingent on city approvals, all of which have been granted.

"The closing on (the deal) is all related to the liquor license now; once that goes through, you're talking closing within 30 days," Hoffmann said Tuesday.

He said financing for the purchase is lined up and "ready to go." Plans for the building, tentatively named 100 Center Street, have already received city planning commission and council approval.

There has also been a resolution of inducement approved by the city Economic Development Corporation, though Hoffmann noted that federal legislation may abolish the EDC financing option and he is prepared to proceed with the project without it if the need arises.

Transfer of the liquor license is expected to be a routine matter as the city police department has reported favorably on its investigation of Hoffmann and council has approved.

Only council member J. Burton DeRusha voted against the transfer of ownership. In one of his last votes as a council member, DeRusha remained consistent with his oft-stated opinion that downtown Northville has more than enough liquor licenses.

"I'd favor this on the condition that the new owners use the license the same way it is being used today — this exact day," DeRusha said. The bowling lanes and bar have been closed for several months.

DeRusha was aware before the vote that Mayor Paul Vernon, Mayor Pro Tem Dewey Gardner and council member Paul Folino would likely approve the transfer to encourage the 108 Group development. Council member Carolann Ayers was absent from the November 4 session.

The meeting begins at 7:30 p.m. at township hall, 41600 Six Mile Road. Anticipating a large crowd to hear Babcock and to address the board on several local issues, the township has scheduled extra police officers to direct traffic and coordinate parking in the limited areas available.

Township supervisor Susan Heintz directed a letter to Babcock last week asking that he be prepared to address the following issues:

- What is the proposed solution to the walk away problem?
- Are there any plans to install gates at the various openings in the existing three-sided fence?
- Are there any plans to man the guard house at the entrance of the hospital?

• Are there any plans for a four-sided fence?

• Are there plans to have more security patrolling the front of the hospital?

Also to be addressed is the hospital's power plant, which emits heavy black smoke. The township has, on several occasions, complained about the smoke emissions and the hospital has been cited by the county health department for pollution violations.

Heintz said Monday that county health officials may also attend the meeting. The NRPH powerplant uses either coal or oil and has been cited frequently for improper fuel and inadequate monitoring of smokestack emissions.

Babcock had been tentatively scheduled to appear at the board's October meeting to discuss walkways and the fence completed in late September. A schedule conflict delayed his appearance. In the intervening period, a walkaway from the hospital broke into a residence near the Seven Mile Road facility, renewing long-standing concern among residents of the area.

Heintz said a police department tally of walkaway incidents through November 11 shows an increase of 100 reports over the same period in 1984.

The supervisor said she will ask the board to alter the meeting agenda so that the discussion with Babcock is the first item addressed, anticipating that media interest in the hospital's problems may attract television cameras to the meeting room.

Other agenda items for Thursday meeting include several that have previously drawn large numbers of residents. Those expecting the board to reconsider its earlier denial of a rezoning petition for expansion of the Northridge multiple-family housing complex on Seven Mile may be disappointed — the Dalby Corporation has asked that reconsideration be tabled indefinitely.

Other issues on Thursday's agenda are:

• Rezoning proposals to allow multiple-family housing on 300 acres at Six Mile and Sheldon;

• A report on progress in improving security at Western Wayne Correctional Facility;

• A special assessment district to supply water service in the Fairway III area just south of Meadowbrook Golf Course;

• A request for traffic stop and yield signs in the Lakes of Northville subdivision.

Oakland votes lifted victors

By KEVIN WILSON

Northville Mayor Paul Vernon was to launch his fifth term and new council member John Buckland his first term with installation of newly elected officers Tuesday night.

Judge James Garber of the 35th District Court was scheduled to perform the swearing-in ceremonies, delayed one day due to the national Veterans Day holiday Monday. Council was also slated to elect a mayor pro tem. The city council meeting took place after The Record went to press.

Official vote tallies for the November 5 election from the city clerk's office indicated only one change from the figures reported in last week's Record: the total number of voters was 1,117 rather than 1,206. The change puts the percentage turnout just above 27 percent of the 4,198 registered.

Voters gave Vernon 53.8 percent of the total (601) and challenger Eugene (Bud) Kunz 44.6 percent (498), while 1.6 percent (18) of those entering the booths chose neither candidate.

Of the total vote for mayor (1,099 cast), Vernon rang up 54.7 percent and Kunz 45.3 percent. The split between the same two candidates in 1983, when 828 of 843 voters (22 percent of those registered) made a choice, was 62 percent for Vernon and 38 percent for Kunz.

Vernon acknowledged the 7.3 percent decline in his support on election night, when he noted he must have done something to "displease" a portion of the electorate and pledged to reach out to those dissatisfied with his leadership. He invited those who voted against him

Expired school millage faces voters March 24

By MICHELE M. FECHT

Northville Public Schools will ask voters to approve a renewal of its entire voted operating millage in a special millage election March 24.

The board of education unanimously approved Superintendent George Bell's recommendation for a March 24 election at its meeting Monday night. However, the board is delaying setting the actual millage rate until an updated report of the 1985-86 budget is presented at its November 25 meeting.

The district's entire voted operating levy of 26.5 mills will expire this year. Though the district's total operating levy is 35.4 mills, 8.9 mills are allocated by the county.

Though the exact millage amount will not be determined until after the board's next meeting, Bell noted that the split tax collection approved in 1983 will allow the district to reduce its debt retirement millage during fiscal year 1986-87.

While the amount of the reduction in debt retirement will depend on the increase in the district's State Equalized Valuation (SEV), Bell said, "We will be assuring voters we will be reducing millage."

In a memorandum to board members, John Street, director of business and finance, outlined how the summer tax levy will enable the district to lower its debt retirement levy and provided estimates of the amount of millage reduction that will be possible depending upon the increase in SEV.

Street explained that the district currently owes the School Bond Loan Fund (SBLF) about $700,000 from borrowing in prior years for the purpose of meeting bond payments without being forced to levy a high millage.

Until the School bond Loan Fund is repaid, the district must levy a minimum of 7.0 mills. This would be paid off at the rate of $150,000 to $200,000 per year based on the excess revenue generated by the 7.0 mills.

With a winter-only tax collection, the district had to carry an extra $700,000 to meet cash flow needs. With a split tax collection, the cash formerly reserved no longer is needed and can be used to repay the School Bond Land Fund in full.

Street noted that beginning with the 1986-87 fiscal year, the excess revenue, formerly used to repay the School Bond Loan Fund, will not be needed so the millage can be reduced proportionately.

Street provided the board with three examples of estimated reductions in the debt millage based on various increases in the district's SEV for 1986-87.

He noted that a 4 percent increase in the district's SEV — which is a fairly conservative figure — would generate approximately $2.34 million. The SEV increase minus the debt payment of $2,074,000, would leave the district with excess revenues of $266,000 or a .8 mill.

He estimated a reduction of .91 mill with a 6 percent SEV increase and a decrease of 1.02 mills with an 8 percent SEV increase.

Though the estimates did not take into account interest income during the year and cash on hand needs in an-

MEAP results show increase in district-wide achievement

By MICHELE M. FECHT

Despite the closing of two schools, a grade reorganization and split scheduling at the high school, Northville students have given one of their best performances on the Michigan Educational Assessment Program.

Results of this year's MEAP, outlined by Dolly McMaster, director of curriculum and instruction, at the board's meeting Monday night show that student performance scores on every objective for both mathematics and reading for all three grades 4, 7 and 10 reflect a higher percentage of achievement.

McMaster noted that results for all three grades in mathematics indicate that 84.4 to 96.6 percent of the students accomplished 75 percent or more of the objectives. Reading results show that 92.9 to 94.1 percent of the students accomplished 75 percent or more of the objectives.

"Of real significance in this year's scoring is that we've learned something about the resiliency of children and the dedication of the teaching staff," McMaster said in reference to the district-wide changes which have taken place this year.

While she emphasized that comparisons between prior results can be somewhat misleading as different students take the test each year, McMaster pointed out that this year's scores are among the highest since 1980.

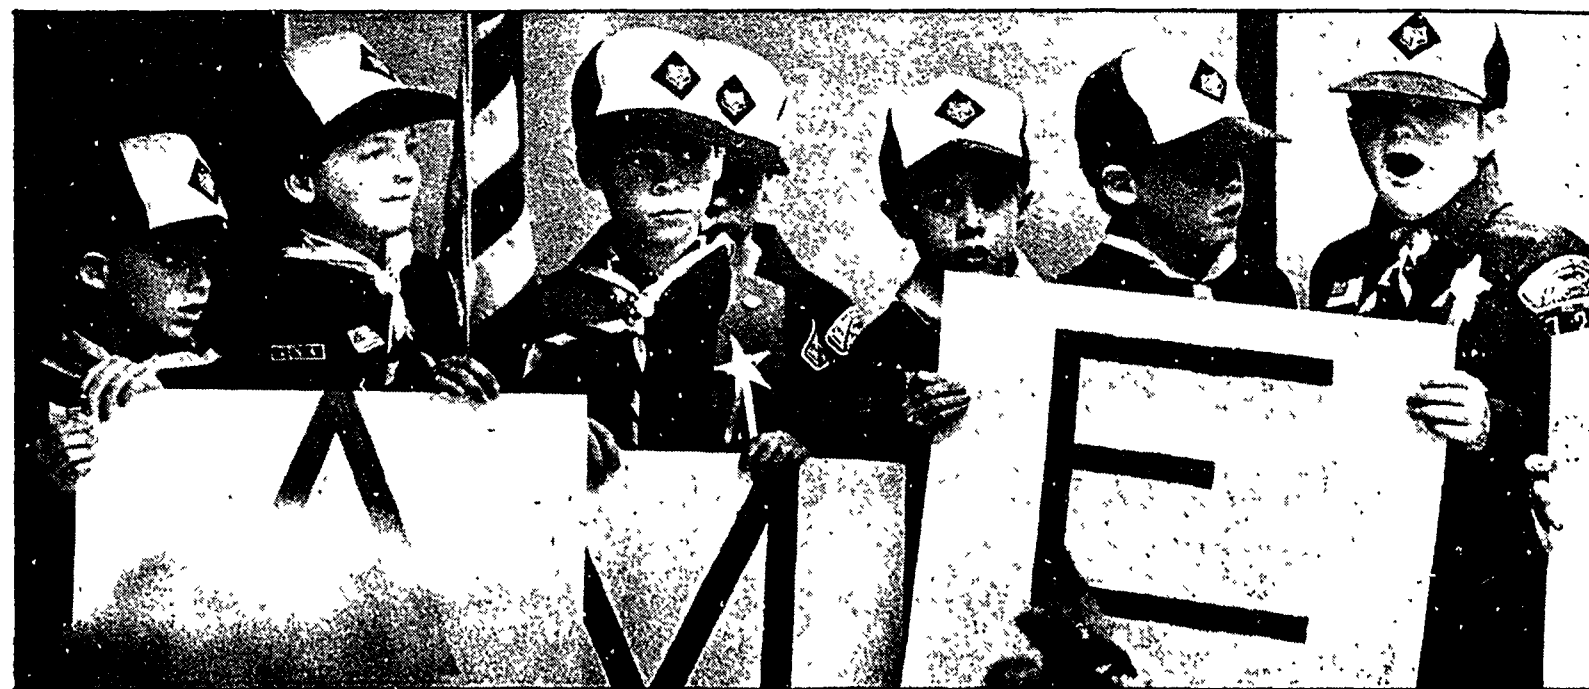

Northville students improved in four areas with only slight declines in seventh grade and tenth grade reading results.

The greatest improvement was seen at the seventh grade level where 84.4 percent of the students accomplished 75 percent or more of the math objectives — an increase of 6.6 over last year's 77.8.

This year's fourth graders gave a sterling performance in both mathematics and reading with 96.6 percent of the fourth graders accomplishing 75 percent or more of the mathematics objectives and 94.1 percent accomplishing 75 percent or more of the reading objectives.

The fourth grade results show an in-

Lapham's new chamber president

Scott Lapham, who was elected president of the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce at the board of directors' meeting last Thursday, now is assisting with arrangements for the annual Christmas Walk to be held Sunday, November 23.

This year's walk will include a parade at 1 p.m. headed by Santa and Mrs. Claus, he reports.

Lapham succeeds Charlotte Spaman who has served two terms as president, in 1984 and 1985. Lapham will be serving as president for the second term, having first served in 1983.

Other officers elected at the board meeting are Clancy Ely, vice president, Richard Lyon, treasurer, and Betty Allen, secretary.

Lyon, who previously served on the board and was president of the 21-year old chamber in 1976, was elected to the board along with James Davis at the annual dinner meeting November 1. Davis was elected to a one-year term to fill out the vacancy caused by the resignation of Midge Haynie.

Lyon was elected to a three year term. Ely and Spaman were re-elected to three year terms and G. Dewey Gardner was re-elected to a two year term.

Hours on November 24 will be from noon to 5 p.m. for the walk.

Residents are invited by the chamber and merchants to come to town to see shop windows decorated for the holidays and Christmas merchandise on display. The windows will be judged in various categories by a committee from the chamber.

In conjunction with the Christmas Walk, Northville Historical Society announces that the Mill Race Historical Village, off Main on Griswold, also will be open from noon to 5 p.m. Sunday, November 24.

President Martha Nield reports that docents will be on duty in the buildings and that the Mill Race Weavers and the Mill Race Basket Guild will hold a sale in the village.

Members of the Northville Branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association will hold their annual Greens Mart at the corner of Main and Center by the Community Credit Union.

Napier water quality studied

By KEVIN WILSON

Wayne County health department officials who have reviewed groundwater contamination reports involving the area east of Napier Road told Northville Township officials this week that it appears the contaminants are not moving toward residential wells in the area and remain 1,000 to 1,500 feet away from the Johnson Drain.

The initial reports of benzene and trichloroethene contamination also show lower levels of the chemicals than the county officials had anticipated. The county had not yet completed a detailed review of the engineering reports prepared by two consultants.

Northville Township supervisor Susan Heintz said Wayne County officials are "playing catch-up at this point" since the entire investigation of the groundwater quality was conducted by Washtenaw County health officials and the Michigan DNR Jackson office. Napier Road is the dividing line between Wayne and Washtenaw County and also divides DNR territories served by the Jackson and Northville offices.

The first notice to Northville Township that issues involving a license for expansion of the Holloway Landfill on the west side of Napier (in Salem Township) also have implications for 10 acres of land on the east side of the road came in a November 1 inquiry regarding plans to excavate the Holloway-owned cattle pasture, Heintz said.

Excavation is required under a consent agreement not yet signed by the Holloway owners. A meeting in the Jackson DNR office last week was attended by Wayne County health officials, who heard of the activity only after Northville Township requested information.

Wayne County has also asked the state department of health to investigate the findings.

The consent agreement under negotiation between Holloway and the DNR requires excavation of the 10-acre parcel in Northville Township with periodic testing to determine whether the contaminants found in test wells have infiltrated the soil.

Wayne County and township officials are 'playing catch-up at this point.'

— Susan Heintz

She said the county has agreed to test water from at least one residential well on Napier in Northville Township and may be receptive to requests from other residents of the area.

Township and county officials are to establish a meeting date to discuss their approach to the issue later this week.

The Holloway Landfill site and the nearby Salem Landfill (formerly operated by the City of Plymouth, now closed) are both identified in Michigan DNR documents on a priority list of environmental contamination sites requiring "interim response" toward clean-up.

In a 15-point state numerical ranking system that gives 9 points or more to sites of highest priority (including the potential for use of federal "Superfund" money), the Holloway site has been upgraded from a 2-point score in early 1984, to 4 points in late 1984 and 7 points in early 1985.

The Salem Landfill site has, in a similar period, been upgraded from 2 points to 5 points and recently to 7 points. The Salem site is off Chubb Road between Five and Six Mile. The Holloway site is between Five and Six Mile on the west side of Napier.

Both are on a secondary list identifying sites that may require state action after the first 305 priority sites are cleaned up. Where possible, the state hopes to work out agreements with the site owners rather than investing state and federal money for clean-up.

The Holloway Landfill's application for licensing expansion, coupled with protests from Salem Township residents living near the site, prompted the drafting of the consent agreement now under discussion.

Cider mill annexation to city gets tentative approval

By KEVIN WILSON

Parmenter's Cider Mill, long a Northville Township property, likely will be in the city by Christmas.

No, owner Verner Bodker of Brighton isn't moving the mill — the state is moving the city. The Michigan State Boundary Commission on November 5 ruled in favor of a petition annexing the cider mill property to the city and ordered its staff to prepare documents establishing the boundary change.

Commission secretary James J. Hyde said the report of "Findings and Order" is tentatively scheduled to be presented for a commission vote on December 3.

Bodker petitioned for the annexation in February, noting that his property is presently divided by the city-township boundary. Long-range plans to expand the popular cider mill might require sewer service to the main building. Due to topography, the township is unable to provide water and sewer service to the Baseline mill.

Final vote of state boundary commission is expected December 3.

Bodker's petition came on the heels of a request from Normac Inc. for an extension of city water service to its facility just east of the cider mill. When city officials suggested annexing Normac rather than extending services to a township property, the township swore to fight the effort.

Subsequent discussion between leaders of the two governments resulted in an agreement that water service would be made available to Normac without annexation while the township would not oppose annexation of the cider mill.

Without substantial opposition to Bodker's petition, the boundary change becomes almost a routine matter.

A side issue brought about by the annexation discussions was the township board's decision to incorporate as a charter township, initially motivated by a desire to protect against hostile annexations. The move had been considered several times before, but always rejected due to charter provisions authorizing a tax hike. When the Normac issue arose, investigation showed the taxing authority was not available to townships incorporating on a vote of a board rather than a vote of the people. Northville Township incorporated as a charter township on April 29.

In a related matter, the township board is scheduled to conduct a public hearing at 7:15 p.m. and vote during its regular monthly meeting at 7:30 p.m. Thursday on a petition filed by Normac Inc. requesting tax abatement on the building expansion made possible by the extension of water service.

Normac (formerly Northville Machines) could receive up to a 50 percent abatement for up to 12 years on property taxes for the building addition. The firm makes precision machine tools used in the manufacture of drill bits and plans to add new employees in the expanded facility.

The board earlier established an "industrial development district" on the Normac property, making new construction eligible for tax abatement. If granted, the abatement would be the third approved this year — abatements have been granted for buildings constructed for Doheny Supplies Company and for Belanger Inc. in an industrial park north of Doheny Drive. Prior to 1985, Northville Township had never granted tax abatements to encourage development.

A sidelight to the transfer process mentioned during the meeting was that city council had received its communication from the LCC nearly a month after it was expected.

City manager Steven Walters, explaining that the police department approval had already been processed, said the LCC's Lansing office had forwarded the notice to city council to the Detroit regional office.

"They were supposed to hand-deliver it so it would be here for the first October meeting (of council)," Walters said. "Somehow, that wasn't done and it got here later than it would have if they'd mailed it."

Mayor Vernon joked that, "they decided to speed up the process and it only took a month longer."

Eric Lampela poses in front of F-14 Tomcat he pilots

Former Mustang quarterback now pilots fighter aircraft

By CHRIS RINK

There are two kinds of cats you don't want mad at you. There's Garfield, the overweight cartoon cat. If you eat any of his lasagna, he'll tie your tongue in a knot.

And there's the Navy's F-14 Tomcat. Northville Navy officer Eric Lampela may or may not be familiar with Garfield, but he knows Tomcats.

The 27-year-old son of Paul J. Lampela of Northville pilots the F-14 fighter aircraft. He's assigned to Fighter Squadron 32, based at Oceana Naval Air Station in Virginia Beach.

There are two men in the crew of an F-14: the pilot and the radar intercept officer. As the pilot, Lampela controls the fighter jet capable of speeds at twice the speed of sound.

"It's the largest fighter in the world right now and so well built," Lampela says. "It protects the carrier — the mother ship — and is designed for the pilot's work load. It flies just as nice as a smaller airplane and you go home smiling because you can never get enough."

On an aircraft carrier, the F-14 pilot must land the 20-ton aircraft, traveling more than 170 mph, within 300 feet.

His challenge, the lieutenant adds, is trying to make the best landing possible on the carrier deck — at night.

"All pilots love to fly," he continues. "We put our skill levels as naval aviators through the ultimate challenge when we land just a few hundred feet from the water."

"It demands all of your concentration, so your mind can't wander the least bit. You start your approach coming in at low altitude and then catch the arresting cable just right. It's tough, but it keeps you sharp and on your toes. It also inspires a certain amount of competition among the pilots. Who can make the best, most perfect landing on the carrier?"

In addition to his duties as a pilot, Lampela also supervises 13 men in the squadron's electronics repair shop.

Lampela, a 1976 graduate of Northville High School where he played quarterback with the Mustangs, says he enjoyed piloting small civilian aircraft and thought he'd go for something a little more challenging.

"As a civilian, I thought a Navy fighter jet would be more of a 'machine,'" the pilot says. "But flying it is fun."

"My wife encouraged me to join and look at all of the options the military had to offer. So, after I got my degree, I went right through aviation officer candidate school."

Lampela says his wife, the former Brenda Fox of Farmington, enjoys the military and supports his career. They reside in Virginia Beach and have a one-year-old daughter, Heidi.

Lieutenant Lampela prepares to fly

The 1981 Eastern Michigan University graduate's first assignment with a sea-going squadron provides Lampela the unique opportunity of flying with pilots who have had more than just peace-time flight experience.

In April, 1984, Fighter Squadron 32 completed the Navy's first combat deployment since Vietnam. The accident-free, six month cruise included combat air patrol and reconnaissance missions in support of U.S. and multinational peacekeeping forces in Grenada and Lebanon. They provided the reconnaissance images of the December 4, 1983, American air strikes on Syrian positions in Lebanon.

Some day, Lampela says, he would like to command a fighter squadron. But his immediate plans are to attend a test pilot school, or "Top Gun."

"Top Gun" is the Navy's most elite fighter-pilot school at Naval Air Station Miramar outside of San Diego. Lampela says it's advanced fighter training in knowing your opponent — a type of graduate school for pilots.

"Top Gun" is also Paramount's $25 million movie of the same name scheduled for release in summer 1986. Tom Cruise of "Risky Business" fame will star as a young Navy flier attending the advanced fighter training school.

"I enjoy being a pilot and the training I've received in the Navy," Lampela concludes. "Every time I fly, I learn something new."

Chris Rink is a Navy journalist serving with the Navy Public Affairs Center in Norfolk, Virginia.

Horse racing bill would cut tax, please most interests

Race tracks are happy. Cities with racetracks should be happy. Standardbred horse owners are happy. Thoroughbred horse owners could be happier, but they aren't complaining loudly.

"We'll have almost squeaky clean horse racing in Michigan," said state Senator Richard Fessler (R-West Bloomfield) as his senate committee reported out a bill to regulate and promote the industry.

"The guts part is better security of racing and to promote the industry," said sponsor Nick Smith (R-Hillsdale County). "There is $440 million spent on maintaining horses and $22 million in state revenue."

The Senate State Affairs, Veterans and Transportation Committee, after a three-hour hearing October 31, reported out the third version of Senate Bill 212 on a 3-0 vote with one member absent and one abstaining. Fessler voted in favor.

In an unusual move, the bill has gone through two Senate committees — Smith's Agriculture Committee, which conducted an investigation of Michigan's long-declining horse industry, and Fessler's, which deals with regulations.

While Fessler said he rewrote approximately 10 percent of the bill, he said Smith's key points are preserved. Fessler's western Oakland County district has one of the biggest concentrations of stables in Michigan.

Only a Detroit senator, Democrat David Holmes, complained. He noted the bill would prohibit a track from locating in the gambling-hungry city without legislative approval. "Everybody picks on Detroit," said Holmes, who represents the district Mayor Coleman Young served in his days as a senator.

"There should be some consideration for those tracks already in the market," replied Fessler, referring to Ladbrooke DRC in Livonia, the Hazel Park and Northville Downs tracks. "Besides, we (state and suburbs) are building you a new convention center."

Key provisions of SB 212:

- The tax on parimutuel betting would be dropped from six percent to four percent, costing the state about $7.8 million in revenue.

- Cities with tracks would get their cut of taxes directly from the track rather than after it was funneled through the state treasury. Since the 1979-82 recession, the state has reduced payouts to the cities as a budget-balancing measure. Future governments would be denied that option.

- Limited simulcasting is allowed — that is, tracks could show on television and take wagers on approximately one race a day from outside Michigan. With the racing commissioner's approval, tracks also could sell simulcasts of their races.

'Michigan (standardbred) yearlings sold for 53 percent more than Ohio yearlings. We don't need a lot of help. Thoroughbreds need help.'

—Bob Huff
Standardbred breeder

- Race tracks would be expected to use part of the revenue gained from reduced taxes, about $3.4 million, to upgrade their physical facilities. Owners of Ladbrooke DRC indicated they plan to improve security, add a new racing surface, improve rails and build new barns — to the great satisfaction of thoroughbred horse owners.

- More funds would be channeled into promoting the industry and into purses for Michigan-bred horses. Thoroughbred owners, in particular, blame small purses for the 20-year decline in their sport.

- The racing commissioner would be empowered to make random tests of horses for drugs. Officials, jockeys, drivers, trainers and others in direct contact with horses would be subject to tests for controlled substances.

- Penalties for race-fixing, drug-trafficking, drunken riding and drunken driving would be stiffened.

Both Holmes and Elwin Tripp of the Horsemens Benevolent and Protection Association called for a longer season for thoroughbred runners.

"From November 10 to April 1, racing money is going through Detroit to Canada," said Holmes, referring to Windsor Raceway's winter harness season. "Lots of owners can't afford to send their horses to Florida or Arizona (for the winter), but there's nothing to do here in Michigan."

Added Tripp, a Milford breeder and owner: "It's vital to extend thoroughbred racing in Michigan. For years we struggled with 90 days at DRC and 90 at Hazel Park. Then we went to 200 days. Now there's a deterioration."

Stephen Mazzetti, representing the Michigan United Thoroughbred

Breeders and Owners Association, asked for winter racing for the runners and reduction of parimutuel betting tax to two percent in winter. "Michigan owners are out of business five months of the year," he said.

But Senator Michael O'Brien (D-Detroit), noted the tracks aren't anxious for more dates.

"It used to be the thoroughbreds were horrified at less than 200 racing dates," he said. "But the silence was deafening (this year) when 174 dates came through for Ladbrooke."

O'Brien added that state budget officials would "throw us out the door" for suggesting a further tax cut with the budget only precariously in balance.

Other comments on the bill were highly favorable.

Steve Zimmerman, an attorney representing Oxford Building Company, which owns the land underneath the Livonia track, asked for and received an amendment to ease the requirement for comprehensive audit reporting for "passive" owners of track interests.

Bob Huff of Durand, representing the Michigan Standardbred Breeders Association, said harness racing is in good shape. "Michigan yearlings sold for 53 percent more than Ohio yearlings," Huff said. "We don't need a lot of help. Thoroughbreds need help."

Dr. Lyle Hartick, a veterinarian and breeder, said that "this is a good bill" and added that "simulcasting will help our track."

Minnie Greenlee of Milford and president of the Michigan Harness Horseman's Association, said, "We support the bill as it stands, in its entirety." She added that simulcasting would be "Okay, if there is a full program of live racing."

Artist and educator Virinder Chaudhery will lecture on Indian architecture

Northville artist captures Indian legacy

By B.J. MARTIN

India is hot — figuratively as well as literally. Perhaps at no time since the late '60s has the Asian nation's culture exerted such a pull among Westerners.

But this time around the renewed interest in India promises to yield more fruit than Nehru jackets and sitar music. Filmmakers, writers, artists, philosophers and architects lately are looking to India for inspiration the way fashion designers and musicians have done off and on (it's 'on' again at the moment) for nearly 20 years.

All of which makes tomorrow night's Second Thursday Series lecture at Northville City Hall such a promising event. Guest lecturer will be artist and educator Verinder Chaudhery, a local resident born and raised in India.

Chaudhery will talk about Indian architecture, focusing primarily on works of two dynasties: the "Muslim Slave Dynasty" of the ninth century and the "Mughel Dynasty" of the 15th century.

"Indian art is more decorative, more ornamental (than Western),"

Chaudhery said last week. "It's probably an outgrowth of the climate, the environment and the tastes of the people."

For thousands of years, India has been subject to periodic raids from the west. While the raids destroyed many great ancient works of art and architecture, the ideas and skills of Indian artists often were transported back to Europe and Arab lands, where they helped found many artistic traditions often accepted as purely Western.

At the same time, Chaudhery noted, Indian architecture assimilated many Arabian influences, resulting in perhaps the ultimate architectural work, the Taj Mahal.

Educated at Howard University in Washington, D.C., and at the University of Michigan, Chaudhery has achieved a noteworthy international reputation. His works are exhibited not only in the U.S. and India, but also in Pakistan, Scotland, England and Paris, France.

Chaudhery's paintings (he also works in sculpture, craft techniques like batik, photography and is a skilled Indian percussionist) are quite distinctive, often taking Hindu religious themes as subjects and rendering them through Western modern art techniques, particularly those appearing in early-20th century Expressionist works. He also is an ardent admirer of R. Tagore, the multi-talented 20th century Indian artist/musician/dramatist.

Chaudhery, currently a professor of fine arts at U-M and at Wayne County Community College, recently was offered the chair of the fine arts department at University of Bombay, Bombay, India.

"I have not decided whether to accept," he said last week. "I plan to visit there for an exhibition after going to Europe in December. I would like to take the opportunity."

"It's very exciting, but I have to meet people and look over the accommodations," added Chaudhery, who has lived with his wife, Sumita, in Northville Township since 1976. Sumita, who has a doctoral degree from U-M, is an English instructor at Schoolcraft. The couple has two daughters, Mitali, a senior at Northville High School, and Malasri, a first-grader.

While Chaudhery has achieved widespread recognition as an artist, during his years growing up in central India (near Delhi), he had to keep his artistic impulses hidden.

"I pursued my painting (oils and acrylics) secretly," Chaudhery recalled. "My parents knew that to make it big in the arts is rather difficult."

"Even in this country, being an artist can be very discouraging," he said. "But I found that even being in the arts I could make some headway, and I feel it is possible. There are an unlimited number of possibilities in the arts. You can survive. But you have to make an effort."

Verinder Chaudhery will present "Indian Architecture in the Time of the Muslim Kings," an audio-visual lecture sponsored by the Northville Arts Commission, at 7:30 p.m. Thursday night at Northville City Hall, Main Street east of Center (Sheldon). A $2 donation at the door is requested. Refreshments available.

Groundless AIDS fears curb needed blood donations

By MATT VALLEY

By now, AIDS (Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome) has become the most baffling disease of the 20th century.

The disastrous effects of AIDS have been documented in frightening fashion: the way it infects and destroys disease-fighting cells in the body, and the way it allows other organisms to infiltrate body tissues.

The two main ways an individual can contract the disease are by having sexual intercourse with an AIDS victim or by sharing a blood-contaminated needle with an AIDS victim. Since 1979, nearly 14,000 cases of AIDS in the United States have been reported to the Center for Disease Control. Some 7,000 victims of the disease have died.

But due to misinformation about AIDS, the disease poses a new threat.

Fear.

That fear actually has jeopardized local and national efforts to help people whose medical needs have nothing to do with AIDS.

On an average day the American Red Cross in Southeastern Michigan collects 1,000 pints of blood. The recipients of donor blood include open-heart surgery patients, badly burned victims, hemophiliacs and even cancer patients.

But in recent months daily collections have fallen off to between 800 and 900 pints per day — sometimes even lower. As a result, it has not been uncommon of late for hospitals to cancel such elective surgery as hysterectomies.

The major reason for the decline in blood donors stems from irrational fears of AIDS, according to Dr. William Shafer, director of blood services for the Red Cross in Southeastern Michigan.

"There are few things in this world that are absolute. Donating blood is an absolute. We know it's impossible to contract AIDS from donating blood — just impossible," said Shafer.

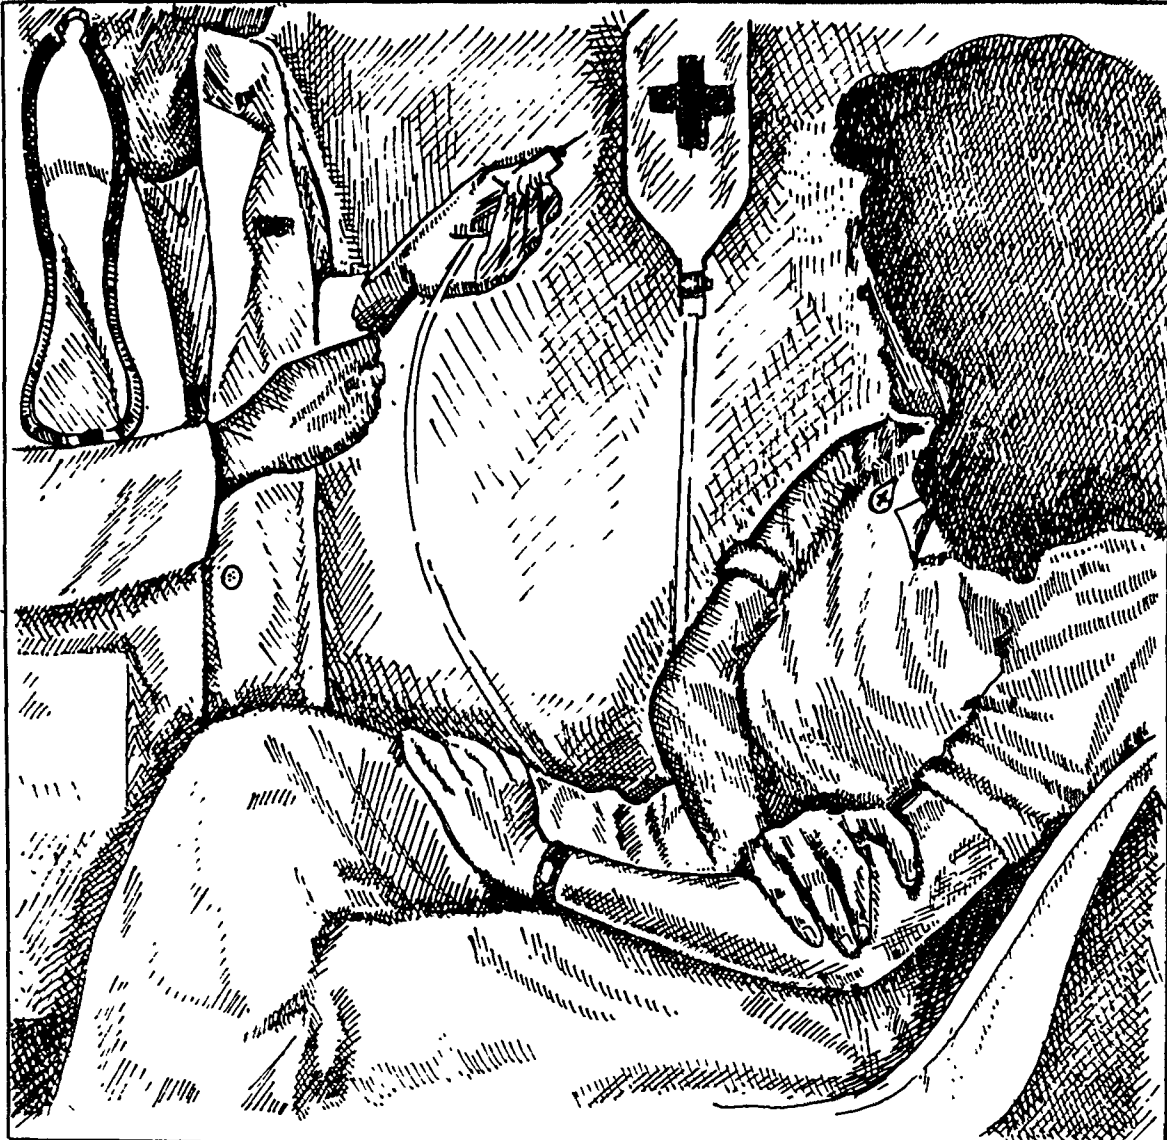

"We use disposable equipment that is used one time and discarded. There is no possible way to have your blood contaminated by donating blood."

In 1984, blood donations from the Novi-Northville area numbered 847 pints. As of last week, area blood drives have netted only 511 pints so far this year.

"It's reflective of what's happening all over," said Noreen Petersen, assistant director of public affairs for the Southeastern Michigan Red Cross. "The problem is worse than it seems because the need for blood for patients is greater than ever, with chemotherapy and liver transplants requiring hundreds of units."

Calling the situation the worst he has seen during his 10 years with the Red Cross, Shafer said the blood donor shortage has grown progressively worse during the past two to three months.

The considerable media attention given to the topic has fueled the AIDS scare, according to Shafer.

"There is so much information circulating about AIDS. So many people are talking about it that it has caused an information overload. People are not able to synthesize the material and come to a logical conclusion," said Shafer.

Much of the information about donating blood is a result of fear generated toward AIDS victims who contracted the disease as a result of a blood transfusion, explained Shafer.

"There is a definite difference between donating blood and receiving a blood transfusion. Something like 225 cases of the 13,000 have involved blood transfusions. But again, that is receiving blood and we're talking about donating. The two are not the same," said Shafer.

Last month Red Cross officials began distributing posters explaining to potential donor groups the safety involved in donating blood, said Larry McGee, regional representative for Red Cross blood services in Oakland County.

According to McGee, the blood donor problem poses a serious challenge for Red Cross officials. "It is a whole new issue that we haven't had to address in the past," he said.

There is a standard procedure blood donors follow when they take part in a blood drive. Donors are first given literature explaining the various donor high-risk groups, which could pose a threat to someone receiving blood.

The individual's name is then registered on a donor card and the medical history of the donor is recorded by Red Cross workers. The next step is to give the potential donor a brief physical exam. According to Shafer, 92.5 percent of all potential donors in the Southeastern Michigan region pass the initial test.

The donor then lies down on the table and the arm is sterilized in the area where the needle will be placed. Approximately one pint of blood is extracted during a span of seven to eight minutes. After a brief respite and some juice, the individual is sent home.

All needles are used exactly once. They are sterilized before use and then thrown away immediately afterward.

"Usually donors feel better when they leave than when they came in. It's an emotional high for most people because they know they are doing something for somebody," Shafer explained.

Sixty-five percent of all blood collected in Southeastern Michigan comes from blood drives, said Shafer. The remaining 35 percent is collected by the nine permanent donor centers in the region. During times of recession or during automotive strikes the blood supply can be affected. For instance, a blood drive involving workers at Chrysler Corporation scheduled for two weeks ago was canceled because of a labor strike.

"I don't want to make an issue out of the Chrysler strike. I just want to point out that there are many factors that determine the amount of blood you collect," said Shafer.

"Every time there is a new flare-up about AIDS the problem seems to get worse. It is such an emotional issue that it terribly frightens people. But donating blood is safe," said Shafer.

For more information about donating blood contact the American Red Cross-North Oakland at 1-334-3575. See also related story about bloodmobiles in the area.

Supplementary information for this article, excerpted from The South Lyon Herald, was compiled by B.J. Martin.

Local blood donors sought

A Red Cross bloodmobile will be located at Schoolcraft College, 18800 Haggerty, from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. this Thursday. For an appointment call Ann Hall, R.N., 591-6400, extension 388.

Also in the area, a bloodmobile will be at St. John's Seminary, 44011 Five Mile, Plymouth, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday, November 18. For an appointment call Bradley Fortintos, 453-6200.

Blood can be donated by anyone who is in good health between the ages of 17 and 70 who weighs at least 110 pounds, the Southeastern Michigan Region of the American Red Cross blood services reports.

"There is absolutely no risk to the donor of contracting any infectious diseases. Donating blood is safe, simple and risk-free. A new sterile needle is used for each donor and then that needle is discarded," it is explained.

Oakland County votes played a key role

Kunz outpolled the mayor among absentee voters and Wayne County (Precinct 1) electors, but Vernon's margin of 326 to 173 in Oakland County (Precinct 2) carried the day. There were 170 votes cast on absentee ballots, 444 in Precinct 1 and 503 in Precinct 2.

The higher voter turnout north of Baseline not only favored the mayor, but also carried Buckland to the second council seat by giving him 302 votes — second only to Vernon's tally in the precinct and, combined with a 74-53 edge in the absentee count, enough to overcome Luigi Folino's 170-to-159 margin in Wayne County.

Buckland's election to council as the highest vote-getter among non-incumbents (including Kunz) with 535 allows him to fill the seat vacated by J. Burton DeRusha, who opted not to seek re-election.

Voters were to choose two of the five council candidates. It is virtually impossible to determine how many voted for only one candidate or completely skipped the council election while voting for mayor.

Comparing individual tallies to the total vote, however, reveals that incumbent Mayor Pro Tem G. Dewey Gardner was the only one of the five to be named on more than half the ballots with 55 percent of the vote (614).

Buckland got close to the halfway mark, gaining a plurality of not quite 48 percent. The only other candidate gaining over one-third of the vote cast was Folino, whose 378 total represents just under 34 percent. Maclyn Burns got 27.4 percent and Ron Bodnar nearly 21 percent of the vote.

Gardner, Vernon and other city officials said they were mildly disappointed by how few voters actually cast ballots.

Those concerned over the relatively light voter turnout figure noted that the percentage is skewed by state voter registration rules that prohibit the city from purging the list of voters of those who die or move away. Unless some form of official notice is made to the city clerk's office, those registered voters remain on the list through 10 years of inactivity before they are removed.

City manager Steven Walters said he suspects that 10 percent of those listed on the official roll are no longer eligible to vote in the city. Decreasing the registration total by 10 percent suggests an actual tally of just under 3,800 eligible electors.

Using that base, the voter turnout still falls well below one-third of those eligible at 29.4 percent.

Still, Northville voters showed more interest in the odd-year elections than did those in other nearby cities. Novi reported a 23.2 percent turnout in a heated mayoral contest that saw challenger Patricia Karevich unseat incumbent Robert Schmid. The turnout in Plymouth was 22.5 percent and in Livonia, 20.8 percent made the trip to the polls.

There were no mayoral contests in either of the latter cities, though Plymouth had an eight-way race for four council seats with one of the four to be chosen mayor by his peers. The Plymouth election also featured a library district millage vote that involved township voters, where 23 percent turned out to vote on that issue and a township-only 2-mill police and fire tax levy.

Meanwhile, Livonia's election, with a bare fifth of the electorate casting ballots, saw two incumbent council members unseated by challengers and a race for the city clerk position decided in favor of the incumbent. The city treasurer was also up for re-election, though unopposed.

Election day

G. Dewey Gardner (above, right) welcomes newcomer John Buckland to the city council after vote tallies were announced at city hall on election night. Buckland was the top vote-getter among council candidates in Oakland County, while Gardner posted the highest overall vote total of the election. At left, Precinct 1 (Wayne County) election chairperson Betty Allen awaits her own turn to vote at city hall. While election workers Marjorie and Lillian Kelner check Allen's eligibility, Rita Turnbull waits near machines to provide any needed instructions. Record photos by Steve Fecht

The facts about cataracts don't have to be blurred

It is a fact that cataracts cause many people to miss out on some of life's greatest pleasures — like taking a good look at their grandchildren. And if left untreated, cataracts can cause blindness.

At Livonia Cataract Center we see many patients who have endured clouded vision for years because of misinformation or a lack of information about cataracts. And because they are afraid.

Because we have performed thousands of cataract removals and lens implantations, we can assure our patients that they have everything to gain and little to fear from cataract surgery.

We would welcome the opportunity to answer all of your questions personally and to describe to you the advanced procedures we use that make cataract surgery more effective and much simpler than ever before. Call Livonia Cataract Center at 522-0805 for an unhurried consultation and a return to good vision.

Former resident sentenced for Northville Estates larceny

In the city...

Former Northville resident James Paul Broad, 19, has been sentenced to three to 15 years imprisonment after a conviction for larceny in Northville Estates in Oakland County Circuit Court. He also was sentenced to a four to 30 years as a habitual offender with the sentences to run concurrently, the Northville Police Department reports.

He presently is starting to serve the sentence in Ionia.

"Fine work by Lieutenant Gerald Ryan" was credited by Officer David P. Fendeleit in solving the rash of break ins and attempted break ins, larcenies and attempted larcenies from automobiles that began June 11 in the subdivision.

In the opinion of the city police department, the nine subsequent break ins, attempted break ins, larcenies and attempted larcenies from automobiles were the work of the same person because of the time frame and method of operation.

An attempted break in at Crawfords'

Restaurant is being investigated by police. The owner reported to police November 8 at 11:35 a.m. that a window screen had been cut and an attempt made to open a window. Several latent fingerprints on the window were taken by police officers.

Northville Recreation Department reported to city police November 5 the theft of a six-foot drag rake used to smooth ball diamonds. It was reported that it had been missing from the south side of the recreation department building for two weeks.

Estimated to be worth $600, the rake was painted red and can be identified by an employee, police were informed. A search of several area ball fields by police failed to turn up the missing rake.

Theft of a three-by-five foot American flag from the flagpole in front of the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce building was reported to city police. The flag, estimated to be worth $20, was taken sometime between October 24 and 28, it was reported.

... In the township

Items valued at approximately $1,000 were stolen from a Fanner Court residence sometime between 5:30 p.m. November 7 and 7:55 p.m. November 10, township police report.

The complainant told police unknown subject(s) pried open the front door to gain access to the home. Police observed damage near the lock area of the door.

The complainant further stated he found a patio door open and told police he locked the door when he left the residence.

Items stolen include a .22 caliber automatic pistol valued at $50, a General Electric 10-inch color television valued at $170 and a Quasar VCR valued at $750.

Two handguns and a VCR were stolen from a Beck Road residence sometime between 1:15 and 3 p.m. November 7, township police report.

The complainant told police unknown subject(s) broke into the home and stole an Emerson VCR from the family room and two revolvers from a bedroom closet.

Police found no signs of forced entry.

The complainant stated she locked the doors but was not sure if the rear door was latched.

Police observed that the house was not ransacked.

A handgun was found on the dining room floor by a hall leading to the bedrooms. Police noted the subject(s) apparently dropped the weapon when leaving.

Jewelry valued at $400 was stolen from a Marilyn residence sometime between 7:45 a.m. and 4 p.m. November 7, police report.

The complainant told police the subject(s) apparently walked into the open garage and entered the residence through an unlocked door.

It was noted that the complainant's dog was sitting in the room by the door at the time the incident occurred.

Items stolen from a jewelry box on top of a bedroom dresser include two plain gold bands valued at $200 and an onyx ring in a gold setting valued at $200.

Unknown subject(s) stole $600 worth of wood from a construction site on Weatherfield sometime between 6 p.m. November 8 and 8 a.m. November 9, police report.

The complainant told police that more than 400 pieces of wood were stolen from the site.

Warren man to stand trial

A 20-year-old Warren man has been bound over to Oakland County Circuit Court to stand trial on manslaughter charges stemming from a June 23 accident which took the life of a Novi resident.

Karl Edward Bendert was bound over to circuit court by Judge Harold Bulgarelli following preliminary examination in the 52nd District Court, First Division, in Walled Lake last Thursday. He will be arraigned before Circuit Court Judge Frederick Mester later this month.

Bendert is charged in conjunction with an accident which claimed the life of Robert A. (Randy) Haass, 40, of Novi on June 23.

According to police reports, Haass was traveling eastbound on Ten Mile at approximately 2:16 a.m. when he was struck from behind by another east-bound vehicle driven by Bendert.

After the impact, Haass' vehicle veered onto the south shoulder of Ten Mile, while the Bendert vehicle veered onto the north shoulder of the road. Bendert and a female passenger in his car incurred non-incapacitating injuries in the accident and were transported to local hospitals for treatment.

According to Novi police, Bendert had been attending a graduation party in Novi on the evening of the fatal accident and had a blood alcohol level of .18. Police also stated that Bendert's vehicle was traveling "well over the posted speed limit" at the time it overtook and struck the Haass vehicle from behind.

More than 100 children participated in a Child Identification program sponsored by Northville Post 4012, Veterans of Foreign Wars, at the post home October 26, Kerry Bogater, coordinator of the day's activities, reported. The program was held in conjunction with the Lita-A-Bike project at the post.

Each child participating in the Child Identification program was fingerprinted, photographed and had vital statistics recorded for parents' files. A movie, "Too Smart for Strangers," donated by Movieland of Novi, was shown four times to full audiences. Parents were encouraged to view and discuss the film with their children.

Police officers and volunteers were available to answer questions.

"Abduction is a serious problem, one which our community as well as others has been forced to recognize. We had to address this concern," explained Bogater, adding, "Although there is no way to measure the results of a program such as this, I feel strongly that we have taken the first step toward educating the public on a tragic situation that is all too common."

"Abduction is a serious problem, one which our community as well as others has been forced to recognize. We had to address this concern."

Kerry and her husband Don are co-chairpersons of the post youth activities committee. As parents, they said they share the community's concern for child safety. "This was an emotional program to work on," Don Bogater noted. "No one wants to believe that abduction could happen to someone they love, but it's happening every day. We have three children, and they participated in the entire program."

He said he also feels "the professionalism of the program's volunteers made this an informative and rewarding experience for all."

After watching the movie, each child's height and weight was charted by VFW members Harold "Butch" Hubbard and Llyod Morgan.

Photographs were taken by Don Bogater with film donated by the Plymouth K-Mart. Sandy Erickson, Dorothy Bays, Betty Morgan and Lynn Bersche of the post auxiliary and Jill Bogater recorded vital information on personal identification profile cards. Fingerprinting was done by Captain James Petres, Northville City Police, and Captain Jack D. Gardner, Phoenix Correctional Facility.

Robert Schmidt was in charge of the Lite-A-Bike project, instructing each child on the importance of having bicycles property set with reflective material. Free reflectors were give to those needing to make their bikes safer for night riding.

American flags and pamphlets on abduction prevention and bike safety were presented along with the child's completed identification profile to parents by auxiliary members Diane Gardner and Lee McArthur. It was suggested that a few strands of hair could be added to the profile.

Program sponsors also reminded parents that the vital information should be updated yearly.

ALCOHOL PLUS MEDICINES

When depressant medicines (those that cause drowsiness such as barbiturates, antihistamines, and tranquilizers) are taken with beverage alcohol, increased drowsiness and decreased breathing may occur. Operating motor vehicles and machinery is dangerous. Death due to respiratory failure has occurred. Yet there are other medicine types that also should not be taken with alcohol.

ANTICOAGULANTS: Alcohol can both increase and decrease the "blood thinning" action in an unpredictable manner. Uncontrolled bleeding or loss of medicine effectiveness may result.

SULFONAMIDES: Alcohol taken with sulfonamides may result in severe headache, dizziness, nausea, vomiting, and flushing of the skin.

PHENYTOIN: Alcohol increases liver enzyme production. Seizures may occur due to rapid metabolism of this antiseizure medicine.

The list of medicines that should not be taken with alcohol grows longer each day. For information about the medicines you take, ask your pharmacist.

Schools to seek millage in March 24 election

tipication of delinquent taxes, Street told the board the trend in subsequent years should be downward as the SEV increases.

He also noted that the district will be in a better position to determine the amount of the reduction as the March 24 election approaches.

Bell told board members the March 24 election date will allow the district the necessary time to prepare a budget and complete staffing details for the opening of the 1986-87 school year.

He also noted that Schoolcraft College has selected March 24 for its special millage election, allowing the college and school district to share election costs.

The Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees is expected to decide the amount of millage to be requested at its meeting tonight. At a special meeting Saturday, board members agreed in a straw vote to a .5 mill hike.

Schoolcraft is seeking additional revenues to help offset rising costs. This year, the college balanced its $18.5 million budget by dipping into its reserve funds. Next year, the revenue shortfall is expected to be $700,000 with the shortfall expected to increase to $2 million by 1990.

Schoolcraft voters approved one mill in the early 1960s and 0.77 mill for debt retirement in 1967. Because of state law changes, the college now uses the entire 1.77 mills for operating and levies and additional 0.15 mill for debt retirement, for a total of 1.92 mills. No increase has been voted since 1967.

District MEAP scores climb

crease of 4.8 in mathematics in comparison to last year's 91.8 percent and a 4.9 point increase in reading compared to last year's 89.2.

McMaster told board members that items and objectives on this year's MEAP were virtually unchanged from those of 1984-85.

She noted that a major revision of all aspects of the assessment program is expected within the next several years and will include mandatory science testing in grades 4, 7 and 10 in the fall of '86 incorporating higher thinking skills; a major rewriting of reading objectives which will include order thinking skills to be implemented in the fall of '86 and social studies and health components which may be mandatory on a rotating basis.

McMaster said the district already is meeting the challenges of the future MEAP objectives through its mathematics and science curriculum work as well as staff inservice dealing with Bloom's Taxonomy (Higher Order Thinking Skills) and Essential Elements of Effective Instruction.

The following is a summary of the 1985-86 MEAP results:

□ At the fourth grade level, 96.6 percent of the students mastered 75 percent or more of the mathematics objectives. This compares with 91.8 percent in 1984, 87.5 percent in 1983 and 88.1 in 1982.

□ Some 94.1 percent of the fourth graders mastered 75 percent or more of the reading objectives. This compares with 89.2 percent in 1984, 88.5 in 1983 and 91.7 in 1982.

□ At the seventh grade level, 84.4 percent of the students mastered 75 percent or more of the math objectives. This compares with 77.8 in 1984, 81.2 in 1983 and 81.8 in 1982.

□ Some 93.8 percent of the seventh graders mastered 75 percent or more of the reading objectives. This compares with 95.6 in 1984, 94.2 in 1983 and 93.6 in 1982.

Aerial view of Northville State Hospital prior to fence installation

Hospital's problems are not solved with empty state promises

Quite a lot of water has passed under the bridge since Michigan Department of Mental Health Director C. Patrick Babcock last made a public appearance in Northville Township. That was back in October, 1981, and the immediate concern was that a walkaway from Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital had broken into a nearby residence.

It was believed to be the first time a DMH director met with township officials, and the meeting ended on an optimistic note resulting from the open communications. One eventual result was the now-discredited "living fence," or hedge, planted around the hospital. It has since been replaced on three sides by a fence, albeit a fence with gaps in it, yet Babcock returns to a community similarly enraged by a walkaway patient breaking into a neighboring home.

To refresh some memories before Babcock's scheduled appearance at the township board meeting Thursday night, we recall that the hospital patient population more than four years ago was over 1,000. Babcock, then only recently appointed to the position overseeing an embattled department, said the number should be more like 600 and that 240 more staff members were soon to be hired.

The patient census remains near the 1,000 mark, and the projected staffing improvements were never made in full. In fact, when state employee unions rejected a concessions contract in early 1982, layoffs further damaged the ratio of staff members to patients. In the four years since Babcock stood in township hall and promised that improvements were coming, nothing has changed. If anything, the situation at NRPH is worse. The facility still is not accredited, has been subject to a federal investigation that cited civil rights abuses and substandard conditions within the hospital walls, and has been the subject of several media investigations confirming the general tone of the federal study, including abysmal staff morale.

In the current year alone, the hospital has been the scene of a heavily publicized Memorial Day weekend killing of a patient under questionable circumstances. Subsequently, NRPH has lost some of its most experienced doctors to resignations, while another doctor is under investigation under old charges of engaging in homosexual relations with patients. And the walkaway problem continues unabated — township officials are prepared to testify Thursday night that there have been 100 more walkaways reported to date in 1985 than had been recorded by this point in 1984.

Four years ago, DMH officials suggested that the skyrocketing number of walkaways was due to overpopulation and understaffing. Granting that there were some hard years for the state in the intervening period, we still find it hard to understand why so little of consequence has been done to address those problems. We've seen two separate plans to reduce the population put forward since 1981. The latest has a target of 700 patients rather than the 600 figure advocated in 1981, and a projected timeframe of several years. Meanwhile, conditions for patients committed to Northville are as bad or worse than they were four years ago — no one should be surprised that so many choose to leave.

Nor should anyone be surprised that the residents and leaders of Northville Township are angry about it. We suspect that if Mr. Babcock trots out the same explanations and promises of near-future improvement that he gave us four years ago, many will laugh in his face. People get emotional when they perceive a threat to safety in their homes — that emotion is real whether the threat is exaggerated or not. We hope those attending tomorrow's meeting can keep their emotions in check and direct attention toward finding solutions to the problems that plague NRPH.

We also hope Babcock can understand those emotions and take them into account when forming responses to the many questions he is likely to face. Residents feel betrayed that the fence ultimately built is not continuous; expecting one thing, they've been given another, and suspect some insincerity on the state's part as the cause. They've also seen a guardhouse constructed on Seven Mile Road but rarely, if ever, occupied by a security guard. They've contrasted Babcock's 1981 assertion that NRPH patients are not dangerous with the subsequent public revelation that the hospital has its own forensics ward for patients who are considered dangerous. Babcock should be sensitive to the resulting mood.

At the same time, residents should understand that the top priority must go to patient care, not prison-style security. In the four years since Babcock last visited, we've not had a legitimate test of the thesis that improving conditions inside the hospital is the best means of reducing the number of walkaways. We believe that is probably true and expect Babcock to be prepared to tell us just what he plans to do at NRPH; not only how he will lower the number of walkaways, but also how we can give the patients the quality treatment to which they are entitled.

Reporter's law review

By Kevin Wilson

Pages torn from a reporter's notebook:

• "Enclosed (is) a copy of a decision recently handed down ... (by) the ... court. ... The power of the reasoning, the breadth of the issues covered and the cogency of the arguments make it truly noteworthy."

Sounds like an enthusiastic review of a U.S. Supreme Court opinion (or one of Frank Kelley's press releases), doesn't it? Actually, the enclosure in a letter sent to local governments in Michigan was a 12-page legal opinion supporting a decision handed down September 26 by none other than 35th District Court Judge John E. MacDonald, former Northville Township supervisor.

At issue? Canton Township's attempt to enforce a portion of its zoning ordinance and building code restricting the location of "structures" in residential yards. The structure in question was a satellite dish antenna. Obviously, the enthusiastic review of MacDonald's legal prowess comes from a biased party — namely a staffer for the Satellite Dealers Association of Michigan. Now you can probably guess that MacDonald's decision went against the township and in favor of the property owner who had erected such an antenna in the side yard of her home.

What MacDonald said, in 12 pages, boils down to this: If a government wants to regulate the location of dish antennae, it should pass an ordinance doing so, rather than attempting to stretch provisions ordinarily applied to such "structures" as air conditioner compressors and toolsheds. What got the Satellite Dealers Association all excited is that MacDonald cites the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and a handful of court decisions as restrictions on governmental authority in this instance. In short, he says the government has to go a little farther to justify regulating a means of communication than it does when restricting such mundane items as fences or flag poles.

I suspect the good judge would have made a lot more money for his trouble had he remained in his legal practice and offered his opinion for a fee to all the communities that now have it in their files. But, then nobody would circulate letters praising the power of his reasoning, the breadth of the issues covered or the cogency of his arguments. Not all the rewards of public service are monetary ones, it seems. Then again, maybe the dealers association would be interested in contributing to MacDonald's re-election campaign — in 1990.

• PUBLIC NOTICE: As of November 8, all "undesirable tenants" were evicted from the Wilson high-rise in-box. Some crazy reporter looking to stir up trouble has now rendered homeless an aging collection of auto company press kits, copies of the Michigan Milk Messenger and a AAA announcement of Labor Day traffic safety measures.

The owner hereby lodges a protest against the inaccuracies included in an investigative story appearing under B.J. Martin's byline last week. Nowhere on my desk was there any material from the Wisconsin Society for Oleomargarine Standards. Furthermore, an engineering study shows no substandard materials were used in the high-rise construction — it's made of metal and was manufactured circa 1935. This slur to my reputation has caused irreparable harm. Thinking I had become a slumlord, my wife launched an in-depth investigation resulting in designation of the interior of my car as a toxic waste dump. While awaiting action from the federal Superfund, I am preparing a libel suit (pinstripe gray, three-piece with reversible vest).

• Speaking of the law and of libel (weren't we?), anyone interested in those topics might want to pick up the November issue of Washington Journalism Review and look up a story by Paul Magnusson, former Detroit Free Press reporter and now a Washington correspondent with its parent company, Knight-Ridder. "How I Lost My Libel Case" is the reporter's view of the same trial in which my wife, astonishingly, was kept on the jury despite her obvious bias. Although he notes the jury ruled 7-1 against him and the Free Press, and points out a number of ways he might have handled the situation better, Magnusson's story misses the most obvious step he could have taken to win — find seven more jurors who share homes with reporters and, therefore, understand libel law.

After the fact

By PHILIP JEROME

One of the nice things about elections, particularly heated ones, is that the Ol' Editor is ascribed a certain degree of importance which he does not ordinarily receive when times are good, the livin' is easy and nobody's political career is on the line.

Actually, it's not nice at all. It's just that I've been through it so many times before that I'm becoming immune.

It works something like this. Candidates for public office tend to believe it's important to secure you-know-who's endorsement. It's sort of flattering in a way, and, at the risk of sounding a tad presumptuous, it's also probably true to a degree.

But in the emotionalism that builds as election day approaches those closest to the campaign try to figure out who's going to win the endorsement ... and think nasty thoughts about the Ol' Editor in case I'm stupid enough not to endorse the individual they think I should.

Hard as it is to believe, some people have said some rather unkind things about me in the past. But this year I heard one which struck at my very soul.

"They're saying you're such a chauvinist, you would never endorse a woman," came the message from a friend who was active in one of the political camps.

"Me? A chauvinist? You've got to be kidding," I responded. "Ol' Phil, the friend of the women's liberation movement? Whose esposa is the very epitome of the contemporary professional woman? Whose staff in recent years has consisted of Karen Rice and Kathy Jennings and Pat Bowling, not to mention Jean Day and Michele Fecht?"

I was still reeling from the unfairness of the allegation later that night when I mentioned it to a friend. "Guess what they're saying about me now?" I asked, my voice fraught with incredulity. "They're saying I'm a chauvinist."

"Oh, I heard somebody say that about you at lunch today," came the unexpected reply.

I was stunned. There it was again. The old chauvinist charge twice in one day. Well, it's clear to me now that I must put this scurrilous charge to rest once and for all. Believe me folks, it's not true. In fact, let me make this perfectly clear — I am not a chauvinist.

Train wreck victims' family thanks Trooper Haire

To the Editor:
On October 3, 1985, our family suffered a tragic loss. Our mother was killed when two runaway boxcars from the Chessie System Railroad crashed into our parents' car. Our father survived the accident, and for that we are extremely thankful.
However, this letter is not intended to bring additional attention to our loss, but rather to give our heartfelt thanks to Trooper David Haire who played a vital role in our father's survival.
We have been informed that Trooper Haire is a 12-year veteran of the Michigan State Police force. On the day of the accident he performed a truly heroic act. At the risk of his own life, he jumped on the moving runaway boxcars. By applying the braking system, he was able to stop the boxcars before our father's life was also taken.
Trooper Haire was later quoted as saying, "I was only doing my job."

Well, this is one family that is certainly grateful for the manner in which he approaches his job.
The story of Trooper Haire's feats have received the media attention that it deserves as is evident by the many friends and family members who mention reading about Trooper Haire's heroism when calling to express their condolences over our loss. They have called from such places as California, Florida and Tennessee.
As difficult as it is for us to continue reading about the circumstances that surrounded our mother's death, we are pleased that Trooper Haire's heroic feats are receiving the publicity that they deserve. We certainly hope that he receives the highest commendation for his selfless actions.
Thank you and God bless you, Trooper Haire.
The family of George and Celene Yokich

Tuttle will run again for Wayne County seat

Livonia's outspoken and sometimes controversial treasurer has announced she will run again for a Wayne County Commission seat in 1986.
Elaine Tuttle was defeated in the Republican primary in 1984 when she ran against incumbent Mary Dumas (R-Livonia). The district includes Livonia, Northville and Plymouth. Dumas is the sole GOP commissioner on the 15-member county board.
"I just plan on running for Mary's job until I get it," said Tuttle.
Just as she did in 1984, Tuttle said she would continue to hold her job as Livonia treasurer even if she wins election to the county board. Tuttle was re-elected, unopposed, to a two-year term as treasurer in city elections November 5.
In her 1984 bid, she garnered 25 percent of the GOP primary vote to the Dumas' 39 percent.
During that campaign, Dumas questioned Tuttle's intention of keeping her position as treasurer while serving on the county commission. Dumas charged there was a "moral" question involved and suggested there was a conflict-of-interest in representing both the City of Livonia and the county government.
Tuttle said last week she knows of no legal barriers that would keep her from holding both posts.
"I wouldn't be voting on anything (as a commissioner) that has anything to do with my being treasurer," she said.
"Both (positions) are governed by separate state laws."

According to election laws, a conflict arises when one person is elected to two full-time jobs. Tuttle claims the county commission post is a part-time position, though it pays $27,000 a year. Dumas disagreed during the 1984 campaign, arguing that the job is full-time.
As for the time commitment required in fulfilling both jobs, Tuttle said she forces no problems.
She admitted she would take time off from her Livonia duties to attend the day-time county board meetings. "If unable to attend a board meeting due to city duties, she said, she would send commission aides (provided for in the county budget) to represent her."
"The only conflict I see is in attending the daytime meetings," Tuttle said. "But I can plan for that. Other (commissioners) have full-time jobs and they do it."
Tuttle said she thinks a successful bid for the county seat would be an important step toward her political ambition of being elected a U.S. representative, "probably" in the 15th District if U.S. Representative William Ford (D-Westland) decides not to run again.
"But mostly I want it because it would help me stay here in Livonia," she said, adding that as city treasurer she is lowest paid department head in Livonia. The treasurer is paid $36,000. "If I have the county commission job, then I would have no reason to look for anything else (in the private sector)."
"I think I can do a better job. I'm very accessible here in my office and again, it fits into my future plans," she said.

Lawyers claim insurers inflate malpractice costs

Insurance companies' responses to the Michigan House Subcommittee on Medical Malpractice's Questionnaire reveal that neither "frivolous lawsuits" nor "excessive" jury awards affect the pricing of medical malpractice premiums, according to an analysis by the Michigan Trial Lawyers Association (MTLA).
The MTLA claims that the major factors behind the rate hikes are, rather, their increasing reluctance to settle claims without litigation on the part of defendants, more public awareness of medical malpractice and an unquenchable thirst for more money.
"The insurance industry has created a phony medical malpractice 'crisis' by blaming innocent victims of medical malpractice, plaintiff's attorneys and the United States Jury System," according to Leonard Esquina, Legislative Counsel for MTLA.

"However, once their books were opened and they were confronted by direct questions, their cries rang hollow."
In their testimony to the House, not one company alleged that frivolous lawsuits had a significant effect on rising premium rates. In fact, Henry Ford Hospital said it did not believe there would be much of a reduction in malpractice premiums if all frivolous lawsuits were eliminated. When asked who should make the ultimate decision as to which cases were frivolous, Michigan Hospital Association Mutual Insurance Company (MHA) said "it should be determined by a judge."

None of the insurance companies claimed that a cap on non-economic damages would definitely lower premium rates. Michigan Physicians Mutual Liability Company (MPMLC) did say that since most large claims involve substantial medical costs, "it appears that few of our claims would be reduced significantly by a $250,000 cap."
When asked what was the problem, Michigan Physicians Mutual Liability Company (MPMLC) stated, "A very significant part of our loss picture is due to legal expenses." In 1984, MPMLC paid $7 million in legal defense fees compared with $19 million in indemnity payouts. Defense fees account for more than 25 percent of the insurance company's payouts on claims, according to MHA.

Insurance companies are increasingly reluctant to settle malpractice claims which would help to eliminate the added costs and expenses of litigation. In 1977-78, for example, Physicians Insurance Company of Michigan (PICOM) settled half its paid claims without litigation. From 1979 on, fewer cases were settled without litigation each year. In 1985, only four percent of their cases were settled without legal battle.
New information from the insurance industry contradicts the lament that they cannot afford to keep insuring Michigan health-care providers, claims the MTLA. The Michigan Hospital Association Mutual Insurance Company has doubled the amount of hospitals it insures since 1981.

Michigan/Ohio region leads in Peace Corp recruitments

The two-state region of Michigan and Ohio was responsible for the highest percentage of new Peace Corps volunteers in the country last year.
In the past 12 months, some 310 Michigan and Ohio residents have gone overseas to serve in the Peace Corps. This number has exceeded the agency's recruitment goal for the two-state region by 24 percent and is the highest recruitment rate for any of the 16 regional recruitment offices in the United States and Puerto Rico.
Since the Peace Corps was started in 1961, nearly 4,700 Michigan residents have served as volunteers in 90 developing countries in Africa, Asia, Latin America, the Caribbean and the Pacific.
For the second year in a row, Michigan State University won top honors among colleges by placing 44 graduates into Peace Corps service. The list of MSU graduates who entered the Peace Corps last year includes Julie Heinrich of Novi.
The University of Michigan finished third with 39 graduates leaving this year for overseas assignments.

Duane DeBruyne, Peace Corps public affairs officer, credits both the skills and character possessed by Michigan residents for the results of the 12-month survey.
"The wealth of skills and education found in this state align closely with the needs of emerging nations," he said. "The skilled trades professionals, backyard gardeners and the college graduates in science and math found in Michigan are in great demand overseas."
"Secondly, I think people from Michigan have a tradition of doing more than just talking about their convictions," he added. "They act on them."
DeBruyne said the Peace Corps currently is seeking new applications for 1986 assignments. Nearly 3,500 openings are anticipated.
Individuals wishing more information about joining the Peace Corps may call 226-7928, extension 456, or write: Peace Corps, 477 Michigan Avenue, Room M-74, Detroit, Michigan 48226.

How to keep houses warm

"Old Man Winter" is hiding around the corner and it's time to start thinking about battening down the hatches against the cold outdoors.

"The official arrival of fall does help you get in a better frame of mind to do the necessary work to prepare your house for winter's onslaught," said Jack Ratliff, superintendent of District Market Services for Consumers Power's Livonia District.

"When thinking about the things that need to be done to protect your house, it helps to picture it as a hot air balloon that you don't want any air escaping from. The problem then becomes: What do I need to do to prevent any warm air from escaping?" said Ratliff.

With the thought of preserving that precious warm air, Consumers Power offers the following tips for preparing your home for winter:

- Among the major energy users in your home, the furnace is number one. Furnace filters should be replaced or cleaned regularly. Dirty filters make a furnace work harder and require more energy. Furnace air ducts and registers should be checked for possible blockages.

- Adequate insulation is essential for keeping the heat where it is needed—in the house. Consumers Power recommends a minimum of six inches (R-19) of insulation in the ceiling or attic. To help finance this, Consumers Power offers a special, zero-interest loan program for qualifying gas space-heating customers. Family income is not a factor in determining eligibility. For more information on the loan program, call your local Consumers Power office.

- Putting weather stripping around doors and windows is necessary to keep out expensive drafts of cold air.

- Caulking around windows and door frames is also important to prevent heat from escaping.

- Heat also can leave through unprotected single-pane windows.

WRC aids displaced homemakers

The Women's Resource Center at Schoolcraft College, through a grant from the Michigan Department of Labor, Office of Women and Work, announces a Displaced Homemaker Program to provide job readiness and job placement for the displaced homemaker.

The center defines displaced homemakers as people who have worked in the home most of their lives, lost their source of income due to death, disability, desertion, divorce or separation from the person on whom they have been dependent.

The program offers without charge job seeking assistance, personal skills evaluation, resume and interviewing tips, and job placement services.

Eligibility is based on marital and employment status. It is being conducted in conjunction with the already established tuition assistance program for the displaced homemaker, which also is administered through the Women's Resource Center.

Edward and Rita Hock have added a driving range to their Ten Mile sod farm in Lyon Township

Hocks adjust to changing economy

By MATT SEIDL

Edward J. Hock is the man who provides a good lie on several local golf courses. He's also partially responsible for some of the attractive yards in the area, as well as the grass that surrounds apartment complexes.

No, the 51-year-old South Lyon resident is not a greens superintendent or an employee of a fertilizing company. Instead, he's the owner of a sod farm on Ten Mile, three miles east of the South Lyon city limits.

Hock has been growing and selling sod since 1960. Just recently, however, he turned all his accounts over to close friend Harold Edwards, owner of the Pebble Creek Golf Course which is across the street from Hock Nursery Sod Farms.

Edwards now handles the leg work, while Hock takes care of the planting and growing. Edwards purchases everything that Hock grows, usually by the acre.

"We used to do it all," said Hock, sitting at a desk inside his home. "We used to seed it, grow it, remove it and deliver it. We've even shipped it as far as Cleveland before."

"But just last year we decided to give up retail. We've got the driving range now, so that takes up a lot of our time."

The driving range, called Hock Acres, is located just east of the farm. It opened July 4, 1977, and has been "going strong" ever since, according to Hock.

The Hocks have been in South Lyon since 1937. For the first 23 years, they simply were involved with general farming, as were several other people in the area.

But with increasing taxes, farms started going up for sale. The Hocks felt the pinch as well, but instead of surrendering, they discovered an alternative.

"My dad (Edward R. Hock) and I got the sod farm going," Hock said. "We just started clearing woods and planting sod. It was a slow process, but it paid off."

The sod farm began paying big dividends in approximately 1965. Since then, it has been a mild roller coaster, but the track currently is headed upward.

"It's starting to peak again," Hock said. "From 1965 until the early 1970s, things were real good. It's been kind of on and off since then. Three years ago things were pretty slow, but they're turning around this year."

There used to be over 150 sod farmers in Michigan, one of the first states to specialize in sod, but the current count is somewhere between 60 and 70. Economic problems in 1982 forced several growers to quit the business.

Ross claims economy's making quite progress

Quiet progress is being made on two of Governor James Blanchard's economic recovery programs, according to State Commerce Director Doug Ross.

One is called "technology transfer" — the ease with which college professors can make money from their research and inventions. The other is a streamlining of state franchising laws.

"We and California led the nation in research and development," Ross said in a talk at Schoolcraft College recently.

"In technology transfer, there is opportunity on two levels," said Ross in an interview.

"First is to get professors to interact with entrepreneurs over inventions with commercial possibilities," he said.

To do that, the state is setting up a computerized technology transfer network linking his Department of Commerce with five universities, including Wayne State and the University of Michigan.

The network will contain an inventory of college professors and their areas of expertise. "We're taking applications for the network," he said.

Second, he said, "We have initiated discussions with universities to have them review their own rules on proprietary involvement of faculty and patents."

Blanchard in 1983 said Michigan trailed other states in translating university research into productive inventions because of laws inhibiting professors from licensing their research. Blanchard held up the state of Minnesota, where he went to law school, as a model place where professors can reap maximum economic advantage of their inventions.

The administration now says, however, that amending university rules will surmount the problem.

Ross, a former Democratic state senator from Southfield (1978-82) and founder of the Michigan Citizens Lobby in the mid-1970's, said the area along the freeways from Oakland University in Rochester Hills to the U-M in Ann Arbor is emerging as a high-technology center of national prominence.

Ross said the belt — along I-696, I-275 and M-14 — has three major advantages: educational resources, quality of life and proximity to industrial customers.

"We really did a job with the franchising laws," said Ross.

Franchising is a procedure whereby a national firm grants a local businessperson a name and method of doing business for a fee. Examples are fried chicken restaurants and shopping center printing shops.

"Michigan has gone from one of the most difficult states to establish a franchise to what the Wall Street Journal called the most accommodating," Ross said. "I don't know yet what the impact will be on franchising."

Blanchard won amendments to the state Franchise Investment Law eliminating the time-consuming review system by the Corporations and Securities Bureau. The changes were suggested to Ross' predecessor, Ralph Gerson, who left the Commerce post earlier this year, by the Governor's Commission on Small Business and Entrepreneurship. Among its members were Judd Freeman of American-Speedy Printing Inc. in Birmingham; Richard May, attorney in Bloomfield Hills; and Fred Woodworth, Birmingham lawyer with a Detroit firm.

Franchised businesses have a very high success rate after two years, while a majority of independent businesses, call it quits in the same time frame.

Ross told a Livonia gathering that Michigan will recuperate economically — despite Texans' predictions that "you're turning into a big Greenfield Village, a museum to industry."

"They missed something vitally important — that this is the most powerful industrial system ever created in the world. They forget we knew how to compete."

The success formula, he said, will be a partnership between government and business, an end to the "old confrontive relationship" between business and labor, and expansion by existing small businesses.

Sod farm adds driving range

Hock's innovation again was apparent in 1977 when he came up with the idea of a driving range and miniature golf course. Before starting construction, however, he had to convince his father it would be successful.

"He couldn't believe people would actually pay money just to hit golf balls into an open field," Hock said. "I had to take him over to Oasis (corner of Five Mile and I-275) just to prove it to him."

"I figured the range was about five years ahead of its time, but I also knew it would catch on eventually. And it has."

Just a couple of weeks after construction of the driving range began, Hock's father died. The two-man show which had produced a very successful business suddenly was a one-man struggle.

Hock picked up the pieces, though. He kept the sod farm going, and opened the driving range three months later. The company was back on its feet.

Hock delivered sod all over Michigan, but the one stop he'll always remember was at a mobile home in Novi 14 years ago. The owner of that mobile home is now his wife, Rita Hock.

"It was a real romantic beginning," she said, while holding back a laugh.

Rita, who was raised in Detroit, runs the driving range during the spring and summer months. According to her husband, she's involved with the business just as much as he is.

The Hocks used to have five or six employees, but since turning over their accounts, they've cut down to three. Of course, the help is necessary only between March and October.

In the winter months, Rita and Ed work alone. It's a time for repairing equipment, painting and simply gearing for the upcoming season.

The "gearing" this winter includes an expansion of the driving range, which will be concluded next spring.

"The sod farm definitely was a good move," Hock said. "The driving range was better move, though. It's improved every year since 1977."

Hock admitted he has had thoughts of building a golf course, but says his age is a factor now. "I'm getting too old for something as wild as that," he commented.

Hock never played a round of golf before building the driving range, but he now plays an average of four times a week during the season. Rita also plays on a regular basis, but says she can't match her husband's consistent scores in the 80s.

Hock also was an excellent baseball player during his prime. He was a pitcher on two world championship amateur teams, and received an offer to try out for the St. Louis Browns after graduating from South Lyon High School in 1952.

"We just couldn't get together money-wise," he commented. "Back then in pro baseball, you either took what they offered or hit the road."

Hock did hit the road, and instead of hitting baseballs, he's hitting it big in the sod and driving range business.

As Dr. Harold Wright, director of Hawthorn Center, talked to parents of elementary and middle school children on the subject of drug abuse among children last Thursday, he observed that the 30 years he has spent in the field of child psychiatry has coincided with a tremendous increase in the problem.

Asked by the Northville Action Council to speak at the public forum, Wright said he was guardedly optimistic about recent studies indicating that with the exception of alcohol, drug abuse among young people has tended to decrease within the last five years.

He is concerned, though, about a "drifting down" or use of drugs among children as young as fifth graders.

He said that when addressing the subject, the whole spectrum of addictive substances — including alcohol, marijuana, cigarettes and illicit drugs — should be included. He called alcohol the greatest problem of abuse at this time to the country in general.

It is a particular problem for young people, Wright said, because

'No matter what problem you are addressing — delinquency, academic underachievement, inappropriate sexual activity — the most influential factor in keeping the child in line is the family situation itself.'

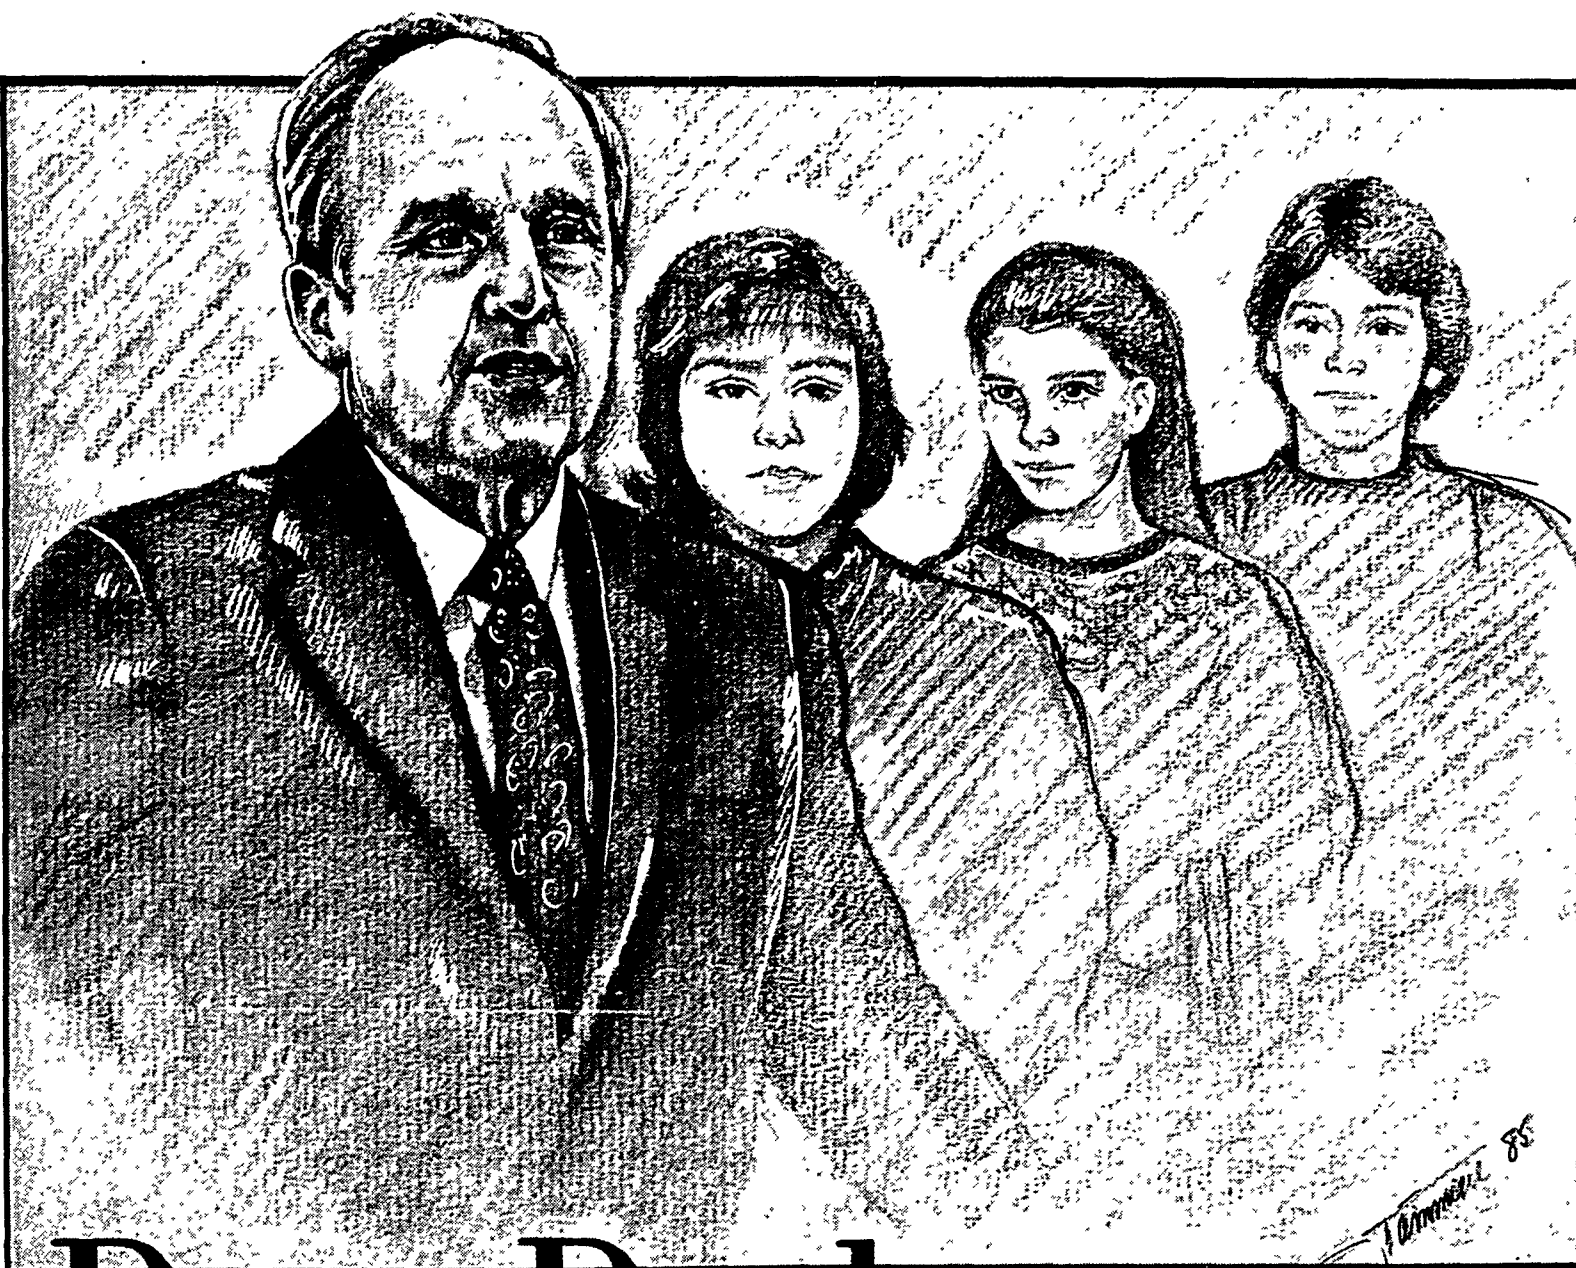

it can do its most severe damage in the developmental period when young people are learning new skills and developing lifetime habits.

The psychiatrist regrets that health professionals did not take a firm stand sooner on the dangerous effects of certain substances — especially marijuana, which more studies are indicating has very serious adverse effects.

There is a definite, recognizable pattern, he claimed, that most young people go through if they are headed toward the drug culture.

Experimenting first starts with beer, wine and cigarettes. Next comes hard liquor, third, marijuana and, finally, hard drugs. It does seem, Wright said, that if a teenager stays away from beer, wine and cigarettes through middle and high school, he or she is very unlikely to ever take illicit drugs.

The drug culture, he said, increased in an uncontrolled way from World War I until the mid-1970s when parent groups started forming to combat the problem. And he emphasized one cannot minimize the impact of such groups, which since have mushroomed with various projects all over the country to fight the spread of drugs.

He cited an annual study begun by Dr. Lloyd Johnston in 1975 in which high school graduates were given questionnaires to document the extent of their involvement with drugs.

Until 1980, Dr. Johnston's study showed a gradual, continuous rise in the use of all substances. In 1980 the use began to diminish in most of the categories, continuing to do so until this year when it began to level off. This year has seen a slight increase in TCP, cocaine and opiates, but the overall picture is brighter.

The study, he said, suggests that parent groups and other educational devices are having an impact.

While maintaining there is no easy single answer for combating drug use, Wright stressed, "I do think that there's no single device that is so useful in that respect as the influence of the child's parents."

He recognized, however, that in some cases there may be biological predisposition to addiction and that peer pressure can be a strong influence on children.

"There's no question," he said, "that the youth who becomes involved with hard drugs or alcohol tends to associate with youths who are having similar problems."

But he said he feels parents can overreact and tend to blame the peer group too much while simultaneously underestimating their own influence.

Certain symptoms in children below 12 years old can be precursors to drug involvement, he warned. These are low academic achievement, low motivation, rebelliousness, alienation, low self-esteem and low religiosity. He explained that not all children with any of these symptoms necessarily are headed for disaster, but he added they are warning signs to be aware of.

Parental attitudes toward drugs also have a great influence on children and if parents adopt a laissez-faire attitude, children may take advantage of it.

"I think limit setting is vital," Wright stressed. Parents are wiser to find some kind of agreement on issues regarding drugs, curfews and sex education and present a united front on these issues when possible, he advocated.

Discipline should be fair and consistent, Wright said, with firm family guidelines.

"In a child's life no matter what problem you are addressing — delinquency, academic underachievement, inappropriate sexual activity — the most influential factor in keeping the child in line is the family situation itself."

He did concede, however, that outside factors, such as peer pressure, availability of drugs, paraphernalia shops are all an influence.

Other factors making the family's work more difficult are the urbanization of society, high divorce rates, and the economic situation, making it necessary for both parents to work.

Creative measures are necessary to fight these pressures, such as parents working different shifts so one of them can be with the children, he advised.

It is now recognized, he mentioned, that fathers are excellent parents, too, and it does not always have to be the mother at home with the children.

The high divorce rate especially worries Wright, and he said he has noticed from his own extensive practice and long experience, and has heard from other professionals, that they have never treated a child in a divorce situation who did not think the bottom was falling out of his world.

Wright said he wishes he could persuade people to work harder at their marriages, because both a bad marriage and divorce are devastating to children.

When children are faced with inconsistencies at home, they cannot develop self-esteem, confidence and the feeling of self-worth that they need to face the outside pressures, he explained.

Open communication lines between parents and children are vitally important, Wright stressed. Even be prepared to talk about problems the parents have with substance abuse, be it smoking or drinking, he advised.

"Let the children know you appreciate their concern for your smoking habit and that you are working on it but explain it is harder for adults to break a set habit than for a child," he said.

There should be no taboo subjects between parents and children, and it's important to treat drug abuse questions, stranger interaction, sex education and disciplinary matters matter-of-factly when they come up, he told parents.

When adolescents give parents a hard time about limits, Wright said he thinks it's important for the parents to be able to say, "These are the rules in our household. This is the way it is here no matter what happens in Johnny's house."

It is helpful, though, if parents in a community can come up with similar appropriate household rules, the speaker said, advising, "If not, stick to your own."

Don't feel bad about calling the adults in a home when your child is attending a party to be sure an adult will be present, Wright advised.

Throughout his long practice — and he now has treated the grandchild of an original patient — Wright said he has had the opportunity to see the long-term results of firm but fair limit setting. Youngsters grow up to appreciate parents who were strong enough to set rules, even if at the time it seemed hard to do.

Another piece of advice Wright offered was that "if you have the slightest suspicion your child is on drugs, do ask about it. Don't look for excuses or avoid the issue."

It is all right to say, "I could be wrong, but I'm worried about you and I think we'd better talk about this."

You may get initial denials, Wright said, "but you've let the child know you care."

Keeping up some type of physical activity with the children as they grow up, where it is natural to talk to each other, is important, Wright feels.

"I think that when you keep that ongoing communication, encouraging self esteem and praising good behavior, in the long run the child will talk to you and be a warm individual, and have much less need to act out in the substance abuse area."

'I think that when you keep that ongoing communication, encouraging self-esteem and praising good behavior, in the long run the child will talk to you and be a warm individual, and have much less need to act out in the substance abuse area.'

He mentioned, too, that it is possible for single parents to do a good job raising children but the very fact that there is only one person instead of two makes it very difficult.

In conclusion, Wright suggested that parents expose their children to many varied activities so they have worthwhile ways to pass their time. It saddens him, he said, when some of the children he sees in his practice say "nothing," when he asks them what they most like to do.

He joked that he may have overdone that a little with one of his own children. The son, who had been taking piano lessons for two years, finally said, "Dad, are you trying to make me the same kind of person you are?" — and went on to be the Athlete of the Year in his senior year.

The point, he noted, was that he let his son try a variety of activities until he found something that suited him.

Local organizations help combat substance abuse

By MICHELE M. FECHT

Growing concern over drug and alcohol use among local youth has prompted school, student and parent groups in the Northville and Novi communities to take a tough stand in the fight against substance abuse.

Through the efforts of such groups as the Northville Action Council, Novi Youth Assistance and SADD (Students Against Driving Drunk), parents and community members have become more aware of the dangers of drug and alcohol abuse and what can be done to prevent it.

During this past year, students at both Northville and Novi high schools formed separate SADD chapters in an effort to educate fellow classmates about the hazards of drinking and driving.

An offshoot of Mothers Against Drunk Drivers (MADD), SADD's thrust is on positive peer pressure. The group requires students and parents to sign a "Contract for Life" stating that if a student is drinking, he or she will contact a parent for a ride home. The agreement also applies to parents who are expected to call their child if they cannot drive themselves home.

Novi High School's SADD chapter, founded last February, currently is gearing up for a new recruitment drive and plans to send 10 students to the November 19 Leadership Conference for the planning of 1986 Project Graduation.

Project Graduation has gained considerable support in the metropolitan Detroit area during the past few years through its efforts to promote drug and alcohol-free prom and graduation activities.

Some 43 students at Northville High School recently met for their first SADD meeting with nine members and two counselors scheduled to attend the Project Graduation conference.

While admitting that the problem of substance abuse occurs at different times for different reasons, William Hamilton, Northville High School assistant principal, notes that the "two prime times of the year are prior to Easter break and before graduation and prom."

"Christmas time is more family-oriented," he explains.

Hamilton, an active proponent and administrative liaison to the Northville Action Council (NAC), says the organization's efforts since its grassroots beginnings in 1983 has helped open communication between parents and children.

"We are beginning to make an impact," Hamilton says of the NAC. "Parents are much more open about what their kids are doing."

Though participation at the organization's monthly meetings usually totals no more than a dozen parents, Hamilton emphasizes that a lack of numbers does not reflect a lack of enthusiasm or energy.

"Our focus is more on activity planning," Hamilton notes, adding that during the past two years the NAC has sponsored several community-wide lectures, compiled brochures for local liquor store owners and supported staff training for the development of student peer groups.

Hamilton notes that within the next few weeks, the NAC will offer its first support group for students who have been through a drug or alcohol rehabilitation program.

"We feel there is a need for us to provide this service to students who have committed themselves to ending substance abuse," Hamilton notes. "The main objective of the support group is to provide them with positive reinforcement in school."

"We don't want kids to feel that because they are into this that they are outcasts," he adds.

While much effort has been placed at the high school level, Hamilton says the NAC is looking to expand its prevention program to the elementary and middle school grades during this school year.

In addition to last Thursday's lecture by Dr. Harold Wright (see related story), the NAC also will sponsor the Crossroads Productions presentation of "One for the Road, Case No. 9177" to middle and senior high students next March.

The group also plans to send high school social studies teacher Jane Lauber to BABES (Basic Alcohol and Drug Addiction Beginning Education Series) Training this spring. Lauber in turn will train her community services students to present programs to elementary children about the dangers of alcohol and drug abuse.

"The focus really needs to be on the early age levels," Hamilton says. "So hopefully in the future we won't need to do the things we're doing at the high school."

Fran Jozefowicz, co-chairperson of the Family Education program for Novi Youth Assistance, notes that her group also is aiming much of its programming toward younger students.

Noting that drug and alcohol abuse prevention programs are only one of the many services offered through Novi Youth Assistance, Jozefowicz emphasizes that the organization's thrust is on prevention.

"Novi Youth Assistance works from two aspects — problem prevention and counseling," she says.

Formed in 1974, the organization is supported by the Novi Community Schools, the City of Novi and the Oakland County Juvenile Court.

Programs range from parenting classes for high school students to self-reliance workshops for lower elementary children, Jozefowicz explains.

"We also do programming in terms of substance abuse," she says, noting that organizers currently are meeting to discuss programs for the new year.

"We try to increase parental awareness of the problem," Jozefowicz says.

Greens Mart helps finance beautification

By JEAN DAY

"Civic Improvement" to members of that committee in the Northville Branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association means just that. Last Friday they were on their knees helping plant 7,000 tulip bulbs in the boulevard islands on South Main.

The branch also has donated more than $4,000 toward purchase of the tulip bulbs, shrubbery, plantings and an underground water system for the islands, branch president Olga James reports. "It's been one of our ongoing projects," she notes, mentioning that the branch has about 100 members, counting life and associate members, with 90 percent actively participating in its projects.

She notes that the annual Greens Mart held in conjunction with the downtown merchants' Christmas Walk on the Sunday before Thanksgiving (November 24 this year) is the major fund raiser for branch projects that include beautification, Mill Race Historical Village restoration and youth scholarships.

Branch members now are making monthly visits to Beverly Manor and Wishing Well Manor convalescent homes to conduct horticultural therapy projects.

They're moving but not leaving

This fall has seen many moves about town — residents have been moving to gain either smaller or larger quarters but right in our community.

"We just lost all the tenants," explains Mary Ronayne of the move she and her husband, Dr. John Ronayne, made from their quad-level home on Woodhill in Taft Colony to a three bedroom ranch home on Mayo Drive in Connemara Hills subdivision. The Ronaynes, parents of 11, now have only son Kelly, a student at Michigan State University, and daughter Mary Beth at home. Mary Beth is finishing her studies at the Center for Creative Studies while working in a full time post at Metropolitan Detroit. The Mercy High School graduate is doing layout at the magazine. Mary Ronayne adds that son Matt is buying a condo and will be on his own.

The G.L. Matthews family will be moving into the Ronaynes' former home.

The Leonard Kleins have completed their move from their home on Feramanagh Court to an apartment in North Hills Village at Sheldon and Nine Mile. It wasn't as easy as it should have been, however, for in packing earlier this month, Ruth Klein fell and broke two bones in her left arm as well as injured her ribs. "At least it was my left arm," she says gamely.

The Robert DeAlexandris family purchased the Klein home and will be moving into it from their home on Pickford in the adjacent Shadbrook subdivision.

It may lead to confusion, but neighbors in North Hills include Hazel and Ben Kline, who moved into an apartment from their home on Fonner Court East in Taft Colony.

Eugene Cooks have settled in the West

From Bothell, Washington, comes word from Eugene and Faye Cook who say they still keep in touch with Northville through The Record. After spending most of the winter in Florida, the Cooks returned to sell his cottage at Lake Columbia in Jackson County. Then they headed for the Northwest on a five-week leisurely trip that included visiting as many National Parks as possible, as well as friends and relatives along the way, they report.

Right now they're living in an apartment but have contracted a builder for a house to be built on an acre near Carnation, Washington, about 15 miles west of their present location. Gene Cook reports they are excited about the lot as it boasts a number of "world class" trees. A longtime Northville resident, Cook served on the Northville school board.

Local artists in fall sale and exhibit

Farmington Artists' Club is inviting Northville-Novis residents to attend its fall art exhibit and sale November 22-24 at Mercy Center, Eleven Mile and Midlebelt roads.

Hours will be from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Friday and Saturday and noon to 5 p.m. Sunday.

The exhibit contains approximately 100 juried paintings in oils, watercolors, pastel and acrylics, as well as collage and some sculpture.

Eloise Craig, a club member living in Brookland Farms, notes that some of the work will be that of neighbors, as about 10 percent of the membership lives in the Northville-Novis area.

She adds that it is considered a "very high quality show." Art work selected for the show was juried by Stanley Rosenthal, associate professor of art at Wayne State University and current head of the print-making department. He is well known as a fine painter and speaker on fine art and is in demand as an art juror.

In addition to the juried art, there will be an open exhibit and a sale of unframed paintings.

Proceeds from a raffle of paintings donated by the artists will benefit the Farmington Art Foundation, sponsors of the "Picture Lady" youth programs, as well as adult and senior art programs.

There is no admission charge. The exhibit is made possible by a grant from the Farmington Arts Commission.

Madonna offers Golliwhoppers!

Madonna College will present the live stage production of "Golliwhoppers!" at 3 p.m. November 24 at the Activities Center on the Livonia campus.

"Golliwhoppers!" is a tribute to one of early America's favorite forms of entertainment — the tall tale. Mime, song, dance and storytelling are combined to recapture the exuberance of America's ethnic heritage.

The production is a presentation of Crossroads Productions, Ltd., now in its seventh season as a professional non-profit touring theatre company.

Admission is $2 adults; and $1 for students, senior citizens and children under 12. For more information, call 591-5056. Madonna College is located at I-96 and Levan Road in Livonia.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Oben of Bloomfield Village and Boca Raton, Florida, announce the engagement of their daughter, Linda Jean, to James Charles Demmer of 42485 Steeple View.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Demmer of Dearborn.

The bride-elect is a 1982 graduate of Kingswood School/Cranbrook. She is completing her B.A. degree in communication arts at Michigan State University.

Her fiancé is a 1975 graduate of Divine Child High School and a 1979 graduate of Northwood Institute. He is associated with the family firm of Jack Demmer Ford in Wayne.

The couple is planning a June 20, 1986, wedding at Holy Name Church in Birmingham.

Lauren Parilo is wed to Timothy Johnson

Lauren Elaine Parilo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Parilo of 38289 Southfarm, became the bride of Timothy James Johnson in a noon wedding mass August 10 at St. Colette Catholic Church in Livonia.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Thomas E. Johnson of 47234 Dunsany.

The Reverend John G. Budde officiated at the service. After their wedding vows were exchanged, the bridegroom played his guitar and sang "Perhaps Love" to his bride.

Music during the service was by friends of the bride and bridegroom, Joe and Mimi Hoffman and Derek Hood, and by the bridegroom's sister, Sally Johnson.

Readings were given by the bridegroom's uncle, Bill Johnson, and by the bride's aunt, Marie Bormancin.

The bride's long, white satin gown was styled with a sheer off-shoulder yoke adorned with lace and puffed half sleeves. The skirt extended into a train. A halo style headpiece of white silk flowers held the bride's veil of illusion.

She carried a cascading bouquet of white and light pink silk roses and carnations.

The bride's sister Peggy VanSickle was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were the bride's sister Pat Parilo, the bridegroom's sisters Sally and Tish Johnson, friends Dorreen Benoit and Sue Neumann.

They wore light pink tea-length satin dresses with puffed half sleeves and matching pink shoes and carried bouquets of pink and white fresh sweetheart roses and carnations.

Greg Johnson was best man for his brother.

Ushers were the bridegroom's brother, Chris Johnson, the bride's brothers, Bill and Dan Parilo, friends Kerry Sullivan and Dan Geisler.

The couple received guests at the Finish Cultural Center in Farmington Hills where dinner and dancing were part of the celebration.

After a wedding trip to Toronto, the newlyweds are making their home in Wixom.

Christian Scientist to give lecture

Patricia Lyeth Webb of New York City will lecture in Plymouth on the subject of "God's Protecting Power" at 8 p.m. Tuesday, November 19, at First Church of Christ, Scientist, 1100 West Ann Arbor Trail.

The lecture is open to the public, and child care is provided. Practitioner Webb states that "God's might is as effective today as it has been throughout Christian history."

"If sulphuric acid spilled on your hand, what would you do — would you pray?" The question, for the speaker, is not hypothetical. When a lab partner in college accidentally dumped the boiling corrosive chemical on her, she says she "turned wholeheartedly to God to understand His presence and protecting power."

As she tells it, "Within moments, the intense heat faded. All the pain left. There was no disfigured flesh. And I was at peace."

Webb is a Christian Science practitioner, an individual who devotes full time to the ministry of Christian healing.

Michigander Smockers plan activities

The group of women from the Northville and Novi area who have been meeting regularly in the Novi Public Library to smock together has been organized officially as the Michigander Smockers.

The group voted at its October 24 meeting to make "Michigander Smockers" its official name.

Nancy Smith is president, succeeding Emily Helmreich. Other officers are Mary Williams, vice president/membership; Marion Brown, vice president/programs; Meg Manning, treasurer; Jane Wojtan, secretary; Betsy Tagami, hospitality; Mildred Trimble and Dorothy Moy, newsletter; Carol Digby, fund raising; and Jean Barry, community service.

Michigander Smockers chapter is divided into a day and an evening group. The evening group was formed recently for women who work or prefer to gather in the evening. It will meet at 6:30 p.m. on the third Thursday of the month. The daytime group meets at 10 a.m., also on the third Thursday.

President Smith hosted the September 19 meeting of the evening group at her home in Novi. Next meeting will be November 21; it will be an auction. A covered dish dinner is planned for 6:30 p.m. December 19 at Smith's. Those planning to attend the evening sessions should make reservation with the hostess.

Annual auction of the day group is set for November 21 at 10 a.m. at Novi Public Library with Carol Digby serving as auctioneer. Such smocker "white elephants" as patterns, material and unfinished articles are to be brought for the auction. Teaching of the next stitch — a rose — on the sampler will be done by Maggie Vachon and Irma Guest. President Smith notes that visitors are especially invited to this meeting. Anyone interested in the craft of smocking may call her for more information at 349-7048.

December 19 the day group will be stitching last minute articles for Christmas. There also will be a cookie exchange with each member bring three dozen cookies — one for the meeting treat and two for the exchange.

Children's Christmas workshop set

In the spirit of Christmas past, Northville Historical Society will host its Seventh Annual Children's Christmas Workshop from 1-3 p.m. Saturday, December 7, in the New School Church in Mill Race Village.

Children in grades 1-6 are invited to participate in an afternoon of fun and crafts.

Although the projects planned are to be Christmas surprises, youngsters will be making early-American decorations and gifts with natural materials.

Planner Carole Jean Stockhausen, a former art teacher, guarantees all participants will leave with a shopping bag full of old-fashioned gifts wrapped and ready for the holidays.

Due to space limitations, only the first 75 children enrolled will be accepted.

To enroll a child, deliver name, address and a $8 check made payable to the Northville Historical Society to 218 Dunlap, Northville. Registration deadline is November 20.

Workshop planners also are asking that anyone with junior sized baby food jars bring them to the Dunlap address with registration.

Parents are asked to park in the Griswold parking lot and walk children over the bridge to New School Church.

Park plans lunch, ride with Santa

Children will be able to eat lunch with Santa and visit with him on a hay ride or sleigh ride in December at Kensington Metropark Farm Center Country Store.

The event will be held on two Saturdays, December 14 and 21.

Cost is $5 with tickets to go on sale November 22 at Kensington Metropark Office. The office may be contacted at the toll free number, 1-800-552-6772, or at 685-1561.

The Northville Record

Mustangs dominate '85 All-Area defensive team

The defenses never rest!

The above statement is a fact about football in this area. Teeth-jarring tackles, sacks, interceptions, negative yardage and broken helmets are all common occurrences on Friday evenings and Saturday afternoons.

The Northville defense was mean. Big linemen, quick linebackers and smart backs. That's why five Mustangs head the All-Area defense. The defenders at South Lyon were also fierce this fall, rarely giving up big yardage on the ground while producing a very stiff secondary.

Novi, Lakeland and Milford did not stop all of their opponents, but they did come up with a few solid road blocks. Anytime one of the five teams from this area stepped onto the field, you could expect a physical contest.

With that in mind, here's a look at the Sliger/Livingston East All-Area Defense:

DAVE ROBINSON, Milford, lineman: It is rare for a noseguard to lead his team in tackles, but this 5'8", 170-pound senior accomplished that feat in 1985. Robinson compiled 67 solo tackles, six of which were quarterback sacks, and 22 assists. "Dave has good quickness and a good nose for the ball," Milford coach Jim Schroder commented.

DAN BOLAND, Northville, lineman: Boland was the only Northville player selected to the Western Lakes All-League team. An imposing figure in the defensive trenches, Boland goes 6'1" and 205 pounds and has the stats to back up his fine senior campaign — 34 solo tackles, 40 assists, five sacks and a fumble recovery.

KIRK SHAW, Novi, lineman: Shaw was a linebacker last season, but added weight and strength enabled Wildcat coach John Osborne to fill a gap within his defensive line. Shaw responded with 24 solo tackles and 34 assists. "Good foot speed," says Osborne, is Shaw's biggest advantage over opposing offensive linemen.

TOM FLACK, South Lyon, end: Flack was at South Lyon High School last season after transferring from Redford Catholic Central, but was ineligible to play under state rules. The 6'5", 208-pounder made the most of his senior year, however, recording 40 tackles, five blocked passes and one fumble recovery.

PAUL NEWITT, Northville, end: Mustang coach Dennis Colligan rates Newitt as the team's best athlete. Newitt also guided the Northville offense as quarterback. A 6'0", 175-pound senior, Newitt was all over the field for the Mustangs' hard-nosed defense and recorded 34 solo stops, 24 assists, two blocked kicks (one for a touchdown), three fumble recoveries, five sacks and three interceptions. "He was 'Mr. Everything' for us," Mustang coach Dennis Colligan said.

"Teams found out very quickly that we have two good linebackers," Scheloske said. "Everyone tried to run away from (Dave) Iafolla, but Kevin would be right there." Collins (6'4", 190) had 61 first hits, second only to Iafolla. He also had one interception and two fumble recoveries.

BRETT GILLICK, Novi, linebacker: Referred to by Osborne as "our best player who has college potential," A vicious hitter, Gillick has good size for a linebacker (6'3", 190 pounds) along with good speed. His 66 solo tackles and 46 assists were almost double that of any other Wildcat defender. His 23 tackles against Northville set a school record.

TIM MILLEN, Northville, linebacker: A very hard-working and talented player, Millen led the Mustangs in tackles (58 solos, 43 assists) and is ideal size for a high school linebacker at 6'1" and 205 pounds. He also had four sacks, two fumble recoveries and caused three fumbles. Millen averaged 5.3 yards per carry as Northville's fullback.

BRENT HEPPNER, South Lyon, back: Heppner's eight interceptions led the Kensington Valley Conference, and he also recorded 34 tackles. "Opposing offenses knew where Brent was on the field, and I'm sure they tried to avoid him," said Scheloske, commenting on the fact that Heppner had seven of his pick-offs in the first five games.

DON NORTON, Northville, back: This 6'2", 175-pounder can do it all. As a free safety, Norton picked off five passes, pounced on three fumbles and was in on 33 tackles (22 solo). He also returned punts and grabbed 11 passes for three touchdowns as a wide receiver. "He held our defensive secondary together through all the injuries," Colligan said.

JEFF HINKLE, Lakeland, back: Only a junior, this 6'0", 166-pounder was a stalwart on defense for the Eagles with 54 tackles, 20 assists, three interceptions and one fumble recovery. "Jeff will probably play linebacker for us next year because we want him closer to the ball," Lakeland coach Bill Mohr said. The highlight of his season was a 70-yard fumble return against South Lyon.

JIM MITCHELL, Milford, punter: Mitchell's statistics are better than most punters in Michigan, but being a member of a 2-7 team more than likely will limit his state recognition. This 6'2", 160-pound senior punted 35 times this fall and averaged 42.7 yards per boot. "If he wants to kick or punt for a college team, I believe he can make it," Schroder said.

Player and Coach of the Year honored

The South Lyon football program scaled the heights of greatness during the 1985 campaign, and few could deny that it couldn't have happened without the immense contributions of two men — Lion's coach Bob Scheloske and senior fullback/linebacker Dave Iafolla.

Bob Scheloske came to South Lyon last summer to take over a football program that had three football coaches in three years. A few months later, however, his outstanding performance has earned him Sliger/Livingston "Coach of the Year" honors for the 1985 football season.

The Lions were 3-6 in 1982 and 5-4 in both 1983 and 1984. Enter Bob Scheloske, the product of a 10-member screening committee. Scheloske actually was the second choice by the committee, which initially picked Ann Arbor Pioneer assistant Paul Test.

The result was one of the best seasons ever by a South Lyon football team. The Lions posted an 8-1 record, with the lone blemish being an 8-7 loss to Kensington Valley Conference champion Howell, and just missed making the Class A state playoffs on their school's 100th anniversary.

Successful football is back in South Lyon, and the Lions' coach is one of the main reasons behind the transition. "Don't give me the credit," said Scheloske, after hearing about his honor. "It's the kids on the field every Friday night that deserve it."

Scheloske admits to being a little surprised by South Lyon's success this fall, but said he knew the team would win its share of games.

"I'll always remember the 1985 team," Scheloske said. "This was one of my most enjoyable seasons ever. This group of kids is very special."

One of those special kids was Dave Iafolla.

During the next three months, Iafolla will get nearly as much attention as Santa Claus. Several universities around the country will be asking him for a big gift — to spend the next four years on their campus.

The reason for all of the expected hoopla is Iafolla just happens to be one of the top football players in Michigan.

The 6'1", 212-pound bruiser rushed for 1,232 yards and 17 touchdowns this past season, therefore earning first-team status on every local all-star team that has been selected.

In addition, Iafolla has been named Sliger/Livingston East "Player of the Year" for 1985.

"I don't think there's a better fullback in the state," South Lyon coach Bob Scheloske claims. "In all my years of coaching, I've never coached a high school player who has the combination of speed and power like Dave."

Iafolla was clocked at 4.57 and 4.60 in the 40-yard dash at last summer's University of Michigan Football Camp. It was there that he was named the camp's "Most Outstanding Linebacker."

On defense this past season, Iafolla recorded an area-best 103 solo tackles. He also had four fumble recoveries and two interceptions.

Another item high on the list is academics, but Iafolla once again surpasses the standard. In almost three and a half years at SLHS, he has recorded a 3.25 grade point average.

Some of the colleges who already have shown interest in Iafolla are Michigan State, Michigan, Notre Dame, Southern California, Central Michigan, Eastern Michigan and Toledo.

Tanderys, Iafolla head All-Area offensive unit

This area may be recognized for defensive-minded football, but the offenses are starting to catch up.

At Novi this fall, the Wildcats had a tall and talented quarterback with an arm of gold. He shredded defenses most of the season, and just think, he's coming back next year.

At South Lyon, the Lions had one of the top fullbacks in the state of Michigan who has college recruiters drooling.

Milford, Lakeland and Northville also had some outstanding offensive players. As a whole in this area, the backs were skilled, the linemen were strong and the receivers were smooth.

So, introducing the Sliger/Livingston East All-Area Offense:

JEFF TANDERYS, Novi, quarterback: This junior signal caller was the key cog in Novi's potent passing attack. At 6'3" and 175 pounds, Tanderys has a strong, accurate arm and is tall enough to spot his open receivers. He passed for over 800 yards in six Kensington Valley Conference games and had 1,116 for the season. "He definitely has the tools to be a great high school quarterback and is a good college prospect," Wildcat mentor John Osborne said.

DAVE IAFOLLA, South Lyon, running back: "I don't think there's a better fullback in the state," South Lyon coach Bob Scheloske said. Iafolla, who runs the 40-yard dash in 4.57, scored 17 touchdowns this season and rushed for a school-record 1,232 yards. And at 6'1", 212-pounds, that is amazing.

KENNY MCKEE, Lakeland, running back: "Kenny was probably our biggest bright spot this season," Lakeland coach Bill Mohr said. McKee, a 5'11", 174-pound senior, rushed the ball 123 times for 510 yards (4.1 per carry), and seven touchdowns.

RON LITTON, Milford, wide receiver: This 5'11", 160-pound junior provided Milford with one of the few big play threats in the area. "He runs excellent patterns, and should be a major part of our offense next season," Milford coach Jim Schroder said. Litton caught 10 passes for 258 yards and three touchdowns.

STEVE SHANKEL, Novi, wide receiver: At 6'4" and 165 pounds, Shankel is a big target with a combination of good speed and moves, ala Harold Carmichael. He hauled in 20 passes during the year for 412 yards — an average of over 20 yards per grab. "Steve is a good athlete and is deceptively fast," Osborne said. "He is the fastest player on our team and he has great concentration."

SCOTT KNAPP, South Lyon, tightend: Whenever the Lions faced a third-and-long situation, this 6'2", 200-pound senior was the man they looked for. "He runs sharp patterns and we always felt he could get open," Scheloske said. Knapp caught 14 passes for 241 yards and one touchdown, and also was one of the Lions' top blockers.

PAT GOLDEN, Milford, center: Weighing only 165 pounds, Golden makes up for his lack of size with great intensity. The senior has started every game for Milford the past two seasons. "He didn't have any bad exchanges this year, and he did a good job blocking," Schroder said.

REX LONDON, South Lyon, lineman: This 6'1", 217-pound senior not only is one of the best linemen in the area, he's also a state champion powerlifter in his weight division. "That strength is what makes Rex so good," Scheloske said. London was South Lyon's top blocker, grading out at 91 percent on the Lions' scale for offensive linemen.

MIKE ANDREWS, South Lyon, lineman: Andrew's strength and ability to improve each week were his biggest assets according to Scheloske. "There wasn't a tackle in the league that he couldn't block," the Lions' coach said. Andrews, who has good size at 6'2" and 240 pounds, scored 83 percent on the Lions' scale for offensive linemen.

DAVE INGMIRE, Novi, lineman: "Dave was a mainstay in the trenches for us on offense," Osborne said. "When we needed the tough yards, we went his way." Very quick with good techniques, this 6'0", 185-pounder can open big holes and provide protection for a passing quarterback.

PAUL FRESCOLN, Lakeland, lineman: Frescoln, 5'11" and 180 pounds, used quickness and upper-body strength to move opposing players. "He was our most consistent lineman," coach Bill Mohr said. Frescoln, who came into his own late last year, scored 86 percent on Lakeland's scale for offensive linemen.

DARRIN MACK, Novi, kicker: His value as a kicker rose steadily throughout a tremendous senior season. Mack's booming kickoffs helped the Wildcats pin opponents deep in their own end very often, and his accuracy and distance on field goals also were a big plus. Mack connected on 13-of-15 extra points and three field goals, including a 42-yarder. "He has a strong leg and his biggest strength was his kickoffs," Osborne pointed out. "His distance and height on kicks were outstanding."

Cagers fall in rematch

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

How can you talk about the Northville girls' basketball team without talking about defense?

As much as the Mustangs lack in offensive firepower, they more than make up for it with a stingy, hard-working and effective defense. How else could Northville stay close to a state power like Plymouth Canton and demolish another like Farmington.

If you remember, the Mustangs stunned the Chiefs back in October, Canton's only loss of the season so far and everybody knew revenge was in the air last Thursday when the two teams met again. Canton avenged the loss with a 37-27 win, but it was a struggle all the way in the Western Lakes league contest played in the new Northville High School gymnasium.

"We did prove one thing," Northville coach Ed Kritch said. "Our upset over them wasn't a fluke. I'm sure they thought they were gonna come back and blow us away with the revenge factor and everything, now they know that we can play with them."

After falling behind 14-8 after one quarter, the Mustangs started to click on offense and pulled into a 19-19 tie at intermission.

"We knew we were in good shape at the half," Kritch admitted.

After three, the Chiefs had just a three point advantage, 27-24 but Northville couldn't find the basket in the final quarter, and Canton held on for the win by hitting its free throws down the stretch.

The Mustang backcourt players combined to hit just 1 of 22 shots in the game, a stat that looms big in the loss.

"For us to be able to compete against a team like Canton with that kind of shooting from the backcourt is an indication of how hard we played," Kritch explained. "Shooting-wise it was just one of those days."

Forward Tricia Ducker topped all scorers with 14 points, more than half of the team's total points. Ducker also grabbed seven rebounds and center Suzie Schrader added six.

"We shot the ball poorly in the fourth quarter and that was the difference," Kritch said. "But overall we played very well."

On November 5, Northville had little problem

Mustang defenders Roxanne Serkaian (34) and Chris McGowan (22) put the squeeze on a Canton player dusting off Farmington 42-25 to gain a split for last week's games.

"We were stronger physically than they were and we dominated the boards," Kritch said. "To be honest, we did pretty much what we wanted to against Farmington."

The Mustangs took an early 13-10 lead and just gradually widened the gap each quarter until the Falcons were too far behind to catch up.

Every player on the Northville roster saw some action, but it was the frontline group that caused the most damage. Schrader, Ducker and forward Anne Griffiths hauled in 11 rebounds each, and Ducker again led the way with 12 points. Guard Roxanne Serkaian had what Kritch called her best offensive outing of the year by chipping in eight points — all from long range.

With a little over a week until the district playoffs begin, the Mustangs have amassed a 10-8 overall record, 8-8 in the Western Lakes.

Ayers wins tie

Thank goodness for the tiebreaker.
No fewer than 16 contestants submitted entries with just three mistakes in last week's Novi News/Northville Record football contest, meaning the tiebreaker had to be invoked once again to break the log jam at the top.

But, after all pretenders to the crown had been eliminated, Northville City Council Member Carolann Ayers stood all alone in first place to win the $15 first prize. Ayers was just two points off the actual number of total points in the Detroit Lion/Chicago Bear tiebreaker, predicting the two teams would ring up a total of 29 points on the scoreboard.

Not even the tiebreaker was sufficient to determine second and third place winners, however. James Bonnell of Novi and Bob Darrow of Plymouth both predicted the Lions and Bears would score a total of 37 points, 10 away from the actual total of 27 in the Bears' 24-3 victory. As a result, Bonnell and Darrow will split the second and third place prize money of $15, receiving $7.50 apiece.

Other contestants who missed just three games but were more than 10 points away from the actual tiebreaker score were Chris Odom of Northville, Bob Pode of Ann Arbor, Hub Copp of Novi, Patricia Robinson of Walled Lake, Daren Johnson of Novi, Ken Chasse of Novi, Kenneth Booth of Northville, Brian Odom of Livonia, Robert L. Smith of South Lyon, Dave Viers of Novi, Donald Chamberlain of Northville and Ann Marie Petroski of Northville.
