WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 1, 1986—NORTHVILLE, MICHIGAN

Onward and upward

Winter moved in at a fast and furious pace last week blanketing much of the area with a fresh coat of white snow. While many grimaced at the sight of snow-covered roads and driveways, the white landscape came at just the right time for local students hoping to try out new sleds, skates and skis during the schools' winter break. At Cass Benton Hill last Thursday, Sarah Welchens, 7, at left, and Lisa Pratt, 10, took to the hills to try the toboggan run. The Hines Park toboggan hill currently is open until 10 p.m. The hills are lighted, and a supervisor is on duty to keep an eye on sledgers. Record photo by Steve Fecht.

Rush anticipated to pay tax bills to get deduction

By KEVIN WILSON

City and township officials were expecting a flood of taxpayers visiting their offices this week as property owners rush to pay local tax bills in time to deduct them on federal income tax returns.

It appeared there would be no repeat of last year's problem in which one major mortgage lender failed to pay the bills from escrow accounts prior to the December 31 deadline, leaving hundreds of township taxpayers unable to deduct the tax payments they had made all year.

Township treasurer Richard Henningsen said Empire of America, the lender that missed the deadline in 1984, was the first to pay tax bills this year.

Although tax payments are not due until February 15 in the township and February 28 in the city, federal tax rules prohibit taking the deduction for local taxes unless paid within the calendar year. As those with Empire of America mortgages found out last year, payments into an escrow account are not considered deductible until the year the mortgage holder forwards the money to the tax collector.

Because Empire of America paid tax bills for 1984 in February of 1985 and for 1985 in December, homeowners with mortgages from the firm will be able to deduct both years' taxes on this year's income tax return. Some may use the extra funds to repay interest-free loans Empire of America offered as compensation for last year's late payments.

Henningsen said a handful of homeowners paying into Comerica escrow accounts may encounter a similar situation for 1986, in that the Day-after shopping up

Shoppers seeking bargains at after-Christmas sales were responsible in large measure for crowds at local stores last Thursday and Friday. A smaller number were toting packages to return or exchange.

Scott Lapham, president of the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce, said that returns this year seemed to be "minimal" for his shop (Lapham's Clothing) and that he had received no reports of many from other merchants along Northville's Main Street.

"Sandie's Hallmark (at 124 East Main) had people waiting for the store to open at 9 a.m. Then they were lined up from one end of the store to the other," Lapham reported.

Owner Sandie Thorsen confirmed the early activity, mentioning that "we opened at nine, and they were lined up at 20 to eight."

She said the store was pretty much cleaned out of Christmas merchandise Thursday and that all Christmas wrapping was gone.

"It was a very good season — before and after Christmas," she reported.

PCHD funds okayed

Appropriations to study means of cleaning up the smoke from the power plant at Northville Regional Psychiatric, to buy portions of Plymouth Center for Human Development from Wayne County and to continue work at state prisons on Five Mile Road are included in a bill approved by the state legislature just prior to its holiday break.

The capital outlay bill began as a prison funding measure and includes $10 million to continue work on the Scott Regional Correctional Facility at Five Mile and Beck and to authorize work already completed at Western Wayne Correctional Facility (formerly the Detroit House of Correction).

Added to the bill is an appropriation of $1.06 million to clear title to portions of Plymouth Center for Human Development, which Wayne County claims should be returned to its possession under terms of the 1957 quit claim deed that gave ownership to the state.

The "reverter clause" requires the state to use the land as a mental institution for children or return it to the county.

At last report, negotiations between the state and county had not yet delivered an agreement regarding ownership. The amounts included in the bill are the same as those detailed in an unofficial state offer which the county has so far rejected.

The state Department of Mental Health (DMH) wants to retain the main building on the northeast corner of Five Mile and Sheldon for use to house patients in a special program and for offices. The state department of management and budget also wants clear title to the portion west of Sheldon Road, where a campus-like grouping of

Suspension of nurse is overturned

By KEVIN WILSON

For the second time, disciplinary action taken against a Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital employee in connection with the May 26 killing of patient Greg Helzerman has been reversed.

Ronald Stafford, RN, a nursing area supervisor who was suspended for one day in June, last week won an appeal before a state civil service hearing officer reversing the disciplinary measure.

The Department of Mental Health (DMH) was ordered December 23 to restore Stafford's pay and benefits for the day he was suspended and to remove all references to the incident from his personnel file. DMH can appeal the decision to the state Employee Relations Board, but a spokesman said it has not yet decided whether it would do so.

Stafford was suspended for failing to note that no charge nurse had been assigned to ward M-1 on May 26, the day Helzerman was allegedly assaulted by three other patients and died. Four caretakers on the ward were all Resident Care Aides (RCAs) without supervision. Stafford was deemed responsible for failing to review the assignment schedule that showed no supervisor on the ward.

Robert D'Atizio, of the Michigan Association of Government Employees (MAGE), represented Stafford through the appeal process and said that others in Stafford's position have failed to assign a charge nurse both before and after the killing, but no one else has ever been disciplined for the alleged infraction of hospital policy.

"My personal opinion is that the administration deliberately overlooks the situation," D'Atizio said. "Because of the short-staffed hospital, these employees have to pre-empt certain responsibilities because other responsibilities take a higher priority. And the department knows this."

D'Atizio argued during the hearing that the investigation that followed Helzerman's death "was not fair and objective — it was tainted by this unfortunate incident."

In all, eight employees were fired or suspended after the in-house investigation into Helzerman's death. Seven have appealed the measures, with five cases still pending. Union leaders at the hospital claimed at the time that the disciplinary measures, including the firing of three RCAs, a psychiatrist and another nurse, represented

Council takes care of some old business

By KEVIN WILSON

Talk about unfinished business.

It was a mere 32 years ago that the then-Northville Village Commission agreed to give up any claim to a narrow strip of land it might own adjacent to Dubuar Street.

The Northville City Council December 16 learned that nobody ever got around to finishing the paperwork. So it launched the process again, ordering legal work to complete the transfer of ownership.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Becker of 543 Dubuar are hoping it happens this time. The property in question is the first 24.5 feet south of Dubuar, obtained for a long-forgotten road-widening plan — it just happens to include the land on which their living room rests.

Not that the Beckers didn't know about the situation — they learned about it 32 years ago, shortly after they bought the house from Mrs. Jennie Cousins of Ann Arbor. Right off, they went to the village commission to have it straightened out.

According to articles printed in The Record at that time, the commission determined that Cousins evidently deeded the strip of land, 315 feet long, to the village sometime prior to 1938. She was apparently unaware that, if the street had been widened, it would have run right through the living room of the house.

Known officially as lot 377 of Assessor's Northville Plat No. 5, the narrow strip is adjacent to what is now the Becker house on lot 376, except that the house is set back only 14-15 feet from the street, leaving 10 feet or so of living room sitting on the parcel Cousins gave away.

What plans were in mind, no one now knows or remembers, but Cousins did own seven acres (lot 378) on the opposite side of Dubuar and perhaps thought the extra bit of roadway would come out of the other side of the road. Eyeballing the shape of the house on a tax map, one could also argue that perhaps Cousins thought the piece of house on lot 377 expendable — it looks as though it might have been an addition or other appendage. If so, no one knows if it was added before or after the lot was turned over to municipal ownership.

With Mrs. Cousins long gone, and no plans for road-widening evident or possible, the commission of 1953 scratched its collective head and launched an investigation.

Commissioner Earl Reed found that the village might own the land, but then again, it might not. There was no copy of the deed on file, so village ownership was shown only on assessor's books: the village could claim no clear title to the land.

But neither could the Beckers. Village Attorney Phil Ogilvie had a plan: the village could write up a quit claim deed transferring whatever interest it had in the property, if any, to the Beckers. For all effective purposes, the two lots would become one and the Beckers need worry no more. The story in The Record was headlined: "Commission settles controversy on property."

Which it did on the tax records, according to Ogilvie, who showed up Monday night (December 16, 1985) to represent the Beckers, who he said have been paying taxes on lot 377 all along. As the former village attorney, he also had some insight as to why, somehow, the village commission vote of 1953 had never been translated into action.

"We didn't have a city manager back then to keep track of these things and say, 'Hey, get moving on this,'" Ogilvie explained. "There was some reason to delay it at first, and it kept getting put off until it just never got done."

Today, Ogilvie said, Wilfred Becker is in poor health and wishes to sell his home and retire to Florida. Except that selling the house is difficult, given that any potential buyer or lender can clearly see that some 10 feet of it rests on property to which the Beckers have no clear title.

He asked that the council complete the job he'd recommended 32 years ago: giving the land back to the owners of lot 376.

He even offered to prepare the quit claim deed for review by the city attorney, minimizing the cost to be borne by the city. The council of 1985 agreed to complete the job begun more than 30 years ago.

"Earl Reed and Pete (former village mayor Claude N.) Ely can rest easy tonight," Mayor Paul Vernon said.

Anti-smoking musical scheduled at Madonna

The musical comedy, "The Night Harry Stopped Smoking" (a play for children of all ages), will be performed by the Michigan Opera Theatre at 3 p.m. January 26 at Madonna College in Livonia.

Opera singer, John Davies, created the anti-smoking musical as a non-threatening health message to counter cigarette advertising that is influencing children. The play relates the perils of smoking in a musical, humorous fashion by allowing the audience to look inside the lungs via imaginative set tings. Harry falls asleep before his TV set and in a dream finds himself in a strange place — his lungs. Guided by two nerve cells, Fred and Ginger, Harry discovers how hard his body works to keep him healthy.

The performance will be held in Kresge Hall. Admission is $2 for adults, $1 for senior citizens and children under 12.

For information, call 591-5056.

New ministry introduced

A clown ministry was introduced to members of Hope Lutheran Church in Farmington Hills during the Second Advent Vesper during the Christmas season.

Four young people from the congregation, which includes Northville residents, recently attended a workshop in this unusual ministry, the Reverend Victor Mesenbring, church pastor, reported.

After learning the technique of grease paint and clown costuming, they were anxious to return to the parish to introduce this method of presenting Gospel messages, he said.

Their vesper service message was based on an advent prophecy from the Old Testament book of Isaiah.

Participants were Linda Pfaffmann, Jodi Perian, Bill Douglass and Henry Maicki Jr.

The pastor said he hopes to use their talents occasionally in place of the more traditional sermon on Sunday mornings and also will ask them from time to time to present the Children's Talk, a part of the weekly Sunday worship at the church.

Shoppers line up to buy day-after-Christmas bargains at Sandie's Hallmark shop

Busy post-holiday shopping season here

Thursday morning business also was brisk. Both stores had reduced Christmas merchandise, cards and wrapping to half price.

"They were here at 9 a.m. with their noses pressed at the front door," Louise Whittington of Four Seasons reported. She added that a Detroit couple was among the store's first customers and that they purchased almost $500 of Christmas merchandise.

"It seems they had dinner earlier in the month at Genitti's and then gone window shopping in town," she related, "and someone had told them about our after Christmas sale."

"We asked if they had a shop, but the woman said no, that her husband was just in love with Christmas" and they decorated "from basement up through the whole house."

Four Seasons' owner G. Dewey Gardner said he did not believe the shop had a single return.

Lapham attributed the minimal number of returns at his store to the effort of salespeople to help with sizes as Christmas selections were made.

"I guess we did a good job of figuring sizes," he said, noting that customers had been encouraged to bring in clothing so that salespeople could judge the size.

Lapham said that Northville merchants do not have a uniform return policy. His store will make returns or give cash refunds (if customers have receipts) through January 6.

"We have to have it (merchandise) back so we can start our sale January 8," he explained.

He said a few local stores give bills of credit rather than cash exchanges and emphasized that each store has its own policy.

There is no uniform policy on returns or exchanges at Twelve Oaks Mall in Novi, mall manager William Clogg said last week.

"All (stores) have their own home offices and their own policies," he said.

He described post-Christmas at the mall as "typical for the day after Christmas" and mentioned that "anytime you buy there's the chance of the wrong size, or color, or it just doesn't work."

He also reported that "there's an awful lot of money—customers are out spending (money gifts from Christmas)."

"Store managers are very positive about the way sales are going. There doesn't seem to be a lot of hostility in the air. I haven't seen any on either side (purchaser or salesperson)."

Clogg explained that excessive returns or lack of merchandise to make an exchange could cause hostility, but emphasized there did not seem to be that situation this year.

"The clean out (of Christmas merchandise) was very orderly in the gift shops, such as Hallmark, in the mall," Clogg added, noting that Lord and Taylor had put its Christmas items together in one area.

Linda O'Neill, manager of the Eddie Bauer store in the mall said that she is not allowed to give out figures but said that returns were "average" and that customers were doing much sale shopping.

"An awful lot of (mall) stores had shelves very bare before Christmas as a result of a very strong season. We can't complain," Twelve Oaks Mall manager Clogg summed up.

The Better Business Bureau of Detroit and Eastern Michigan notes that most retail businesses have a specific refund, return or exchange policy and points out that "they are not required to give you a cash refund."

"Some stores have an exchange policy only. You can exchange the gift for a similar item, but you cannot get a refund. Others give full cash refunds or credit your charge account with no questions asked," the BBB report states, adding that policies should be posted or noted on sales slips.

The Better Business Bureau of Detroit and Eastern Michigan suggests that shoppers call or write the BBB for reliability reports on unfamiliar companies before dealing with them. Call 962-7566 for information; 962-6785 with complaints; or write 150 Michigan Avenue, Detroit, MI 48226.

Local youth hit by a car

A 15-year-old Northville youth remains hospitalized at Botsford General Hospital in Farmington Hills after he was struck by an automobile on Novi Road on Monday, December 23.

A hospital spokesman said Monday (December 30) that Wayne Harrison of First Street in Northville is listed in "stable" condition. The spokesman also said the youth was "comfortable."

Harrison suffered extensive injuries when he was struck by an automobile while attempting to cross Novi Road from the West Oaks shopping center to the Twelve Oaks Mall at approximately 6:14 p.m. on December 23.

The accident occurred during a peak traffic period, and Novi police officers were on the scene at the time, attempting to alleviate the congested traffic conditions.

According to police reports, Harrison and his father were attempting to cross Novi Road just south of West Oaks Drive. The father observed a south-bound vehicle approaching from the north and stepped back onto the curb, police said, but the youth apparently did not see the vehicle and proceeded to walk into the path of a 1981 Ford Escort driven by Richard Frank Wright, 26, of Novi.

The youth was knocked into the air by the force of the impact and landed on the pavement, officers said. He was dragged out of the path of oncoming traffic and onto the side of the road by his father, according to reports.

Officer Thomas Hesse was at the scene at the time of the accident, directing traffic on the east side of Novi Road. Hesse said traffic was so heavy that it took him some time to make his way across the road.

Hesse reported that there is no pedestrian walkway at the location and that traffic flow was continuous when the accident occurred.

Harrison suffered extensive internal and external injuries as a result of the crash, police said. He was transported by ambulance to Botsford Hospital listed in critical condition. His condition later was upgraded to grave. As of December 30, his condition again had been upgraded to "stable and comfortable."

Investigation of the accident will be conducted by Officer Herbert Harbin. A police spokesman said no citations have been issued and the accident remains under investigation.

fective communication for professional development.

The network is open to all professional women in the area and meets on the second Friday of each month through June.

Property owners rush to pay local taxes bank did not forward the necessary request to receive copies of tax bills for properties on which it holds mortgages. All those tax bills were sent to the homeowners, who were responsible for forwarding the bills to Comerica if the payment is to be made from an escrow account, Henningsen said.

The treasurer was worried late last week that few homeowners had sent their tax bills to the lender, but many of the payments were received Saturday, he said.

"We got 125 to 150 delivered Saturday," Henningsen said. "I suspect that's most of them, though there may be a few who are out of luck."

Those who received tax bills in triplicate also received a notice that they were responsible for paying the bill — if taxes were to be paid from escrow accounts, the notice said, the homeowner should forward the bill to the lender.

"People should be reminded to do that if they haven't already," Henningsen said. "Even if they've missed the December 31 date, the banks have got to have that bill to pay it before it's delinquent."

In addition to Empire of America,

Henningsen said tax bills had been paid by First Federal and Standard Federal as of Friday. The township had yet to receive payments from National Bank of Detroit (NBD), Michigan National and Manufacturers Bank, but the treasurer said he expected all three would deliver payments prior to December 31.

Both city and township offices were scheduled to be open the full day December 31 to accept tax payments. City taxpayers who deposit payments in the drop box at city hall after the office closes on New Year's Eve but before it reopens January 2 will have their payments recorded as of December 31, according to Donna Kohs of the city finance department.

Henningsen said payments made after the township office closes Tuesday will be recorded as of January 2, but noted that a check written, dated and delivered to the drop box December 31 may qualify the taxpayer to deduct the payment on federal income tax returns.

"That's really up to them and their bank," Henningsen said. "If we don't put our hands on the check until Thursday, it will be recorded paid as of January 2."

buildings was constructed by the state. The capital outlay bill, ushered through the legislature with the assistance of State Senator R. Robert Geake (R-Northville), calls for paying the county for everything except a portion east of the main building, which might be returned to county ownership.

Geake, in a letter to township supervisor Susan J. Heintz, said the bill also authorizes the state to sell the portion west of Sheldon "at fair market value."

Heintz has pressed to have the entire PCHD property returned to county ownership in hopes that it can all be sold to private interests. She said last week that the county might be better able to arrange a sale, as it also plans to sell off adjacent property formerly used by the Wayne County Child Development Center.

The supervisor and township board of trustees have opposed the DMH plan to continue using the main building.

Heintz argues that the township "does not want a second state mental hospital within our borders."

The funding measure also includes an unspecified sum to study renovations of the NRPH power plant, which has been repeatedly cited by the Wayne County Health Department and, more recently, by the federal EPA for air pollution violations. On March 15, 1985, the plant was placed on the EPAs "significant violations" list and the state anticipates enforcement actions in the near future.

The coal-fired power plant emits heavy black smoke that violates several air pollution standards. Funding in the capital outlay bill authorizes the preparation of plans to address the problem. The contract for a study of the plant's deficiencies will likely take several months to award. A further appropriation will be needed to implement the improvements needed.

"scapegoating" to cover up inadequate staffing and administration.

DMH director C. Patrick Babcock has replied that the investigation revealed a failure to follow procedures and an adequate level of staff on ward M-1. During a meeting with township officials in November, he complained that having disciplinary measures overturned in the civil service system hampers the department's ability to enforce its policies.

Civil Service hearing officer Marshall Burns ruled in Stafford's favor in the fourth step of the hearing process, the first outside of the DMH system. Burns found there was "no negligence" on Stafford's part, that there was "ample evidence" that the ward was short-staffed and therefore there was "an absence, from the evidence, of gross or ordinary negligence on the part of the employees, so far as causing the death of the patient was concerned."

Burns held that the failure to designate a charge nurse on the ward "had no effect whatsoever" on the course of events leading to Helzerman's death.

D'Atizio said the ruling is an exoneration for Stafford and, noting that his client has served in DMH for 30 years without ever being disciplined before, said the department has unfairly hurt his client.

"What this does to the personal life of the employee is horrendous," D'Atizio said. "What the department is intimating when it does this (suspend Stafford) is that the employee has played a role in the murder of an innocent boy."

Helzerman was found dead in a quiet room at the hospital on May 26. Three patients suspected of beating and strangling the 26-year-old were charged with the killing and two of the three were found competent to stand trial. Both cases are pending action in Wayne County Circuit Court.

Downs reports bomb threat

At 5 p.m. on December 27, the switchboard operator at Northville Downs received a bomb threat over the phone.

According to the police report, a male voice said to the operator, "There are two bombs in the grandstands and they will go off at 8 p.m." The caller then hung up.

Northville city police assisted the track security in searching the upper and lower grandstand area but found nothing.

December 28, was assaulted and robbed outside his apartment.

The Police report states that two black males approached the victim in the parking lot of Allen Terrace Apartments. One man threw the victim to the ground while the other took his wallet from his left rear pocket. The two men then fled the scene with the wallet that contained $48 in assorted bills and three keys.

The next day, a Northville Downs track maintenance man reported to Police that he found the wallet on Beal Street, about 75 feet east of the entrance. Two keys were later found in the area, but the money is still missing.

Fundraising successful for charities

Both the Northville Jaycees and local Goodfellows report successful Christmas fundraising for area needy.

The annual Goodfellows' paper collection to ensure "No Child Without a Christmas" on December 14 raised $1,800 which provided Christmas for local needy.

Northville city fire chief Jim Allen headed the Goodfellows' drive this year, taking over the campaign headed by the late J.A. Smith. Members of the Northville Rotary Club, city and township fire and police departments assisted.

Distribution of food and gifts to area needy was by Civic Concern, an organization founded by Smith.

Pam Hoetger, who headed the Northville Jaycees' Toys for Tots campaign, reported Monday that donations continued even after Christmas. The box in the Town Square Park was to be taken down Monday.

Donations were distributed through Civic Concern and FISH, she said, with additional toys being given to Holy Trinity Church in Detroit.

City snow removal policy enforced

Northville City Police are sending out reminders to area residents about the rules set down by the city charter regarding snow and ice removal.

Section 7-135 states: "No person shall permit any snow or ice to remain on the sidewalks in the front, rear or sides of any house, premise, building or lot owned, occupied or controlled by him, longer than 24 hours after the same has fallen or formed; and where either has fallen or formed on any such sidewalk, such owner, occupant or his agent as above provided shall within 24 hours after the same has fallen or formed, remove said snow or ice, or cause sufficient quantity of salt, sand or ashes to be strewn thereon in such a manner as to render the same safe for persons walking thereon. No snow and/or ice removed from private parking lots and driveways shall be moved, deposited or pushed into, or across any street or alley in any manner which impedes traffic or substantially reduces the maintained roadway surface."

The article states that the penalty for persons refusing or neglecting the provisions of the above section, upon conviction, is a fine of not more than $100 or imprisonment for a period not to exceed 90 days, plus court costs.

Our Opinion

Better government goal of '86 agenda

The holiday pause in the normally frantic pace of modern life gives us all an opportunity to reflect on what has been accomplished in the past year and to lay plans for the next. Assuming that our elected representatives in Washington and Lansing have also managed to step back from the furor of daily budget battles and partisan ax-swinging, we'd like to suggest a few items that we feel deserve attention in the coming year.

This is not a priority list — you won't find the state prison program or the malpractice liability issues discussed here, nor will we address federal tax reform or the Strategic Defense Initiative. We've tried to focus on items that receive less attention but should not be stuck on the back-burner.

High on the list of necessary items for this area is Infrastructure Improvement. Sewers and roads both are feeling the strain of the continuing development boom in the Novi-Northville area. Local governments can go only so far in addressing these problems.

Getting some form of the former Super sewer project reinstated would go a long way toward not only accommodating the development taking place, but also toward improving the environment. The Rouge River is acknowledged as little more than an open sewer that slashes through Oakland and Wayne counties like an infected wound. Improving and expanding sewer service through the river valley deserves a higher priority than it is getting in Lansing or Washington.

Similarly, traffic congestion is becoming common on Haggerty, Novi Road, Six, Eight, Ten and Twelve Mile roads. For all the noise about Michigan's improving business climate, and the real evidence that the improvements have led to business expansion, too little attention is paid to the need for roads to service this expanding economy.

While we may be contradicting ourselves a bit, we also feel certain that Reducing the Federal Deficit is a necessary step that demands an immediate response. Doing so might mean postponing some infrastructure improvements we think necessary, but that price is acceptable if the burden is spread evenly. For all the publicity on this issue, real progress has been invisible. Although the deficit and the strain it puts on the lending system is a threat to the economic recovery, our major concern is that we are mortgaging our nation's future to fuel an economic boom for political purposes. Anyone who has tried it with their household budget knows you can't go on borrowing forever — one day it all comes due. Even if there is a way to put it off for now, it is immoral to hang that burden over our children's heads.

Stopgap measures to address deficiencies in Michigan liquor licensing laws are commonplace and we hope to see yet another passed early in the year to help restaurants to serve beer and wine on the premises. But what's needed is a Complete Review and Revision of the Liquor Licensing System. The current quota system has substantial support from those who have invested heavily in it, but a more objective look indicates that the system creates a needless restraint of trade in some instances.

Regionalizing the quota system so that it is less dependent on boundaries between local governmental units is one means of addressing the problem. Another would be to draw clearer distinctions between the various licensees — there is no sense to a system that denies a restaurant the privilege of serving wine with full meals because there is a bar down the street that survives by selling shots of whiskey.

Every six months or so, we see another proposal to reorganize the Michigan Department of Natural Resources to make it more efficient and more effective in performing its duties. It's about time for the talk to turn into action.

The problem is not only with the DNR — environmental protection, for instance, is assigned to a hodge-podge of state departments, as is the promotion of tourism. The most rational proposals we've seen would make the present DNR a nearly pure parks and recreation service while assigning its environmental and tourism duties to new departments.

Such sweeping change is unlikely in an election year like 1986, especially if it means hiring additional state employees. Governor James Blanchard is intent on keeping state employment levels down at least through the election because it makes for a handy little illustration of purported efficiency. We think most voters understand that efficiency is more than raw numbers and would welcome a more rational organization of state government.

Which brings us to the issue of bolstering the Department of Mental Health. If Blanchard is serious about making room for new prison guards on the state employment rolls by cutting employment in all other departments, he will do a disservice to DMH. The DMH was damaged as much during the recession, and needs restoration at least as badly as the department of corrections.

We aren't exactly enthusiastic supporters of the way DMH has been run in the past decade, but we have to acknowledge that strict limitations on resources played a major role in some of the worst decisions the department has made. We neglected our corrections system until it got so bad that it could no longer be ignored. We should learn from that experience and address the problems in DMH before they reach crisis proportions.

Michigan passed a seatbelt law in 1985 and started trumpeting decreases in traffic fatalities almost immediately. At the same time, the state police spent a bundle on an absurd high-intensity enforcement effort in order to get 51 percent of the highway drivers to drive at 55 mph or below to keep the federal government from withholding highway construction funds. A repeat of this wasteful effort is virtually inevitable in 1986.

The limit was initiated in 1974 as a "temporary" measure to address the oil shortage, which has since become a glut. A decade of this foolishness is enough — Abolish the 55 MPH Speed Limit and let's spend our time and money on more fruitful pursuits.

Airborne flocks gather

By Jean Day

It wasn't until 10 minutes after 10 a.m. Christmas morning that we knew whether we would be eating Christmas dinner in Northville or in Ada, Michigan (a Grand Rapids suburb).

Daughter Laurie is a visiting nurse in Kent County and was "on call" until 10 a.m. Christmas morning. Had she gotten a telephone message to go on emergency duty we were going to pick up the 33-pound turkey (which had been cooking in the oven since 7 a.m.) and take dinner across the state. Thankfully, she wasn't called, but it made us realize how much we look forward to the togetherness of Christmas.

Actually, it at times is easier to get together from across the country than across the state. Air travel has helped continue the tradition of "home for Christmas" for great numbers of people. Daughter Robin flew in from Seattle (bringing vivid pictures of her trekking adventure in Nepal, India and Thailand to show).

The large number of former Northville residents now living in the Puget Sound area found this holiday season that there finally are non-stop flights between Seattle and Detroit. John Jerome, his wife Becky (the former Becky Kaake) and their baby daughter Emily also flew in from Seattle for the holidays — and stopped by the newspaper office to see John's brother Phil.

Northville Township treasurer Richard Henningsen reported he had his sons, daughter and parents for the holiday and also had a story of a Christmas season birthday celebration made possible by some well-planned air connections.

Henningsen's wife Ann and daughter Beth, on vacation from her studies at Michigan State University, had taken a trip to Phoenix and routed themselves home via New York City in order to participate in a surprise birthday celebration there.

Beth's friend and Northville Commons neighbor, Lisa Ehler, now a student at Kalamazoo College, was celebrating her 21st birthday with a trip to N.Y.C. As she and her mother Kathy Ehler stepped off the plane to begin the birthday adventure, a surprised Lisa was greeted by Beth and her mother. The four then had a special lunch and shopped along Fifth Avenue, making for a memorable 21st Christmas season birthday.

The holiday reunion for the Ed Jamieson family (he's owner of Northville Travel Plans) brought together son Jeff from Michigan State University and daughter Kelly from Stockholm, Sweden. Kelly is staying with a former roommate from the University of France and her mother in Stockholm while interviewing for a position in international marketing.

The visit initially was scheduled by the loss of the family's retriever to cancer two weeks ago. Someone, however, recalled seeing a Green Sheet classified ad for golden retrievers and the Jamiesons traced it down last weekend.

From a litter of 12 five-week old puppies, they have reserved one to be picked up next week — leaving just enough time for Kelly to train the Christmas present puppy before she returns to Sweden.

These tales of Christmas are a far cry from the "over the river and through the woods" versions of the past, but they will be the memories of Christmas 1985 in years to come as Lisa recalls the year she flew to New York and the Jamiesons remember their golden retriever's age by the season in which he joined the household.

After the fact

My plea last week for the recipe for cinnamon roles that appeared on the old Bisquick boxes was answered Christmas morning... sort of.

Anybody who found time to read last week's column may remember that one of the Christmas traditions in my family was that my mother always made special cinnamon roles after we had opened our gifts on Christmas morning.

Well, we're still hoping that somebody remembers the recipe, but in the meantime we had the next best thing.

We were sitting around the Christmas tree opening our gifts Christmas morning when my wife suddenly announced that someone was at the front door and asked if I recognized him.

I glanced quickly out the front window and saw a man who I did not recognize standing outside with a big smile on his face.

"I don't know who it is," I announced, getting up to answer the front door.

It was while I was passing the living room window that I saw the long, sleek, grey limousine standing in the driveway. "But whoever it is travels in style," I added.

After arriving at the front door, I realized there were two people, not one, standing outside.

And when I opened the door, I was able to see the second man — Gary Seibert, general manager of the Novi Hilton. All dressed up in a suit and a nice overcoat.

"I read your column yesterday and thought you might enjoy some of the cinnamon roles from the Novi Hilton," he announced. "I don't know if they're the same kind your mother used to make, but I guarantee they're good. Our pastry chefs at the hotel baked them up."

He then handed over seven boxes of cinnamon roles, declined my invitation to step inside for a cup of coffee, got back into the limousine with his aide and drove away.

He was right about those cinnamon roles, too. They were great. Not exactly the kind my mother used to make, but several of them were very close. Very, very close.

It was a really nice gesture... added a special touch to our Christmas morning. And even though the Hilton's cinnamon roles weren't exact duplicates of my mother's roles, they tasted just as good.

No crisis, no action

By Kevin Wilson

Something about the New Year warps the editorial mind, compelling it to make rash predictions, call for action in the coming year that is known to be highly unlikely and generally roam about claiming that the next 12 months should be better than the last. The idea of something being "new" makes us forget that the calendar year is an entirely arbitrary measure of time and that the wheels of government turn slowly, if at all.

So it was with our editorial staff last January, when we drummed up an agenda for government actions we hoped to see in 1985. At the risk of great embarrassment, I looked up that editorial to see what happened. We made five suggestions and, being generous in interpreting them, we can say two bore fruit.

We are not so presumptuous as to claim it was because of our words, but we did see a continued improvement in Michigan's business climate and measures taken to protect the Great Lakes from the potential of diversion. Read last year's editorial in detail, however, and you'd note that the measures taken don't match the ones we'd suggested very well.

On the other three issues, we've seen less progress. Included was a call for a renewal of effort to expand sewer capacity in northwest

Wayne and southwest Oakland County. The suggestion is repeated in today's editorial because nothing has been done. We also suggested work toward an equitable and swift means of designating prison sites — that Oakland County used up the entire year before coming up with a solid recommendation is ample evidence that no one took that suggestion seriously. And, finally, we urged a re-evaluation of the formula for the distribution of state school aid funds — fat chance.

We weren't totally off-base — all three suggestions remain sound to my mind and have been topics of discussion. But getting action out of government, unless there is a crisis, has become virtually impossible. Consider the things that did happen in 1985 that we might have suggested that would have improved our record.

There was the seatbelt law, for instance. It looked dead-in-the-water last December but came back to the forefront more rapidly than even its strongest supporters could have reasonably hoped. Then there was the long wrangle over liability laws and the insurance industry — which will carry over into 1986. And there was the continuous partisan squabble over when the state income tax would be rolled back, particularly in light of the hyped-up "Solvency Day" when the deficit was at last eliminated. And don't forget all the attention on South Africa and the resulting debate over eliminating state investments in companies that operate there.

In Washington, it was the budget deficit and the Strategic Defense Initiative (Star Wars) that dominated the activity. Meanwhile, many worthy ideas receive lip service and nothing more. Looking at the editorial agenda we've compiled for 1986, you could make a case that no significant action is likely on any of the six items within 12 months.

With luck, all the talk about the federal deficit will produce something. But review of the state's liquor laws, re-organizing the DNR, changing the highway speed limit and investing in mental health are all risky ventures for an election year — they may generate campaign rhetoric, if anyone feels compelled to talk sense. We can hope for better roads and sewers, but expecting results in one year may be wishful thinking.

So why do editorial writers, not only here but in almost any paper you can name, devote time and space to talking about these things? Because we're people; like you, we try to find order in the midst of chaos and see in the turning of a calendar page some slim, elusive cause for hope.

Heintz no threat to Geake's seat

To the Editor:
I read with interest Kevin Wilson's column on December 18 speculating that your Township Supervisor might be thinking about challenging Senator Robert Geake in the Republican Primary election next year.

I was Senator Geake's campaign manager back in 1978, the last time a local public official took on Geake in a Republican primary. That year he was challenged by Livonia City Clerk Addison Bacon, and we were very concerned. Livonia is the largest community in the senate district, and Bacon was well known and respected. Geake was not as well known at that time and did not have the huge campaign war chest he has built up since.

We need not have worried. Geake beat Bacon by a margin of better than five to one, getting 10,528 to Bacon's 2,462.

PUBLIC NOTICE

COUNTY OF OAKLAND RENTAL REHABILITATION PROGRAM REQUEST FOR RELEASE OF FUNDS COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT DIVISION, 1200 N. TELEGRAPH ROAD, PONTIAC, MI 48053 (313)858-0493

On or about January 3, 1986, the County of Oakland will request the U.S. Department Housing and Urban Development to release Federal funds under Title 1 of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974 (PL 93-383) for the 1984 and 1985 Rental Rehabilitation Programs (RRP).

The RRP is designed to assure an adequate supply of standard housing affordable to lower - income tenants by providing 1) government funds to finance the rehabilitation of privately - owned residential rental properties and 2) rental assistance to lower - income persons to help them afford the rent of these units. Approximately $5,000 from 1984 funding and $149,000 from 1985 funding will be used to assist the rehabilitation of rental housing located in specific low and moderate income neighborhoods throughout forty - eight communities participating in the Oakland County Community Development Block Grant Program.

An Environmental Review Record respecting the within project has been made by the County of Oakland which documents the environmental review of the project. This Environmental Review Record is on file at the County of Oakland Community Development Division, 1200 North Telegraph Road and is available for public examination in room 112 of the County Executive Office Building between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 5:00 p.m., Monday through Friday.

All interested agencies, groups and persons are invited to submit written comments regarding the Environmental Review Record to the Oakland County Community Development Division Manager from December 27, 1985, until the close of business at 5:00 p.m. on January 2, 1986.

The County of Oakland will undertake the Rental Rehabilitation Program as described above with Block Grant funds from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), under Title 1 of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974. The County of Oakland is certifying to HUD that the County of Oakland and Daniel T. Murphy, County Executive, consent to accept the jurisdiction of the Federal courts if an action is brought to enforce responsibilities in relation to environmental reviews, decision-making, and action; and that these responsibilities have been satisfied. The legal effect of the certifications is that upon its approval, the County of Oakland may use the Block Grant funds and HUD will have satisfied its responsibilities under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969. HUD will accept an objection to its approval of the release of funds and acceptance to the certification only if it is on one of the following bases: (a) That the certification was not in fact executed by the chief executive officer or other officer of applicant approved by HUD; or (b) that applicant's environmental review record for the project indicates omission of a required decision, finding, or step applicable to the project in the environmental review process. Objections must be prepared and submitted in accordance with the required procedures (24 CFR Part 58), and may be addressed to HUD at Patrick V. McNamara Federal Building, 477 West Michigan Avenue, Detroit, Michigan 48226. Objections to the release of funds on bases other than those stated above will not be considered by HUD. No objection received after January 2, 1986, will be considered by HUD.

Joint capital outlay package receives mixed reviews

"A personal victory," beamed state Senator Patrick McCollough, D-Dearborn.

"A pork barrel," sniffed state Representative Lyn Banks, R-Livonia. "A very expensive piece of legislation," intoned Senator Doug Cruce, R-Troy.

"There was something here Northville Township wanted," explained Senator Robert Geake, R-Northville.

"I don't see the Wayne State University library project," demanded Senator David Holmes, D-Detroit.

"They're zipping it through," complained Representative Mat Danaskiss, R-Lake Orion.

They were talking about the same bills—the joint capital outlay package: $323 million in construction, including $154 million for new prisons and $58 million for colleges.

The companion bills meant different things to different people.

While most Democrats supported it, all area Republicans but two were opposed.

Senator Richard Fessler, R-West Bloomfield, was absent. And the second exception was Geake, who said constituents would be pleased by an unspecified amount for a renovation study of a power plant at Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital. Nearby residents complain their air is polluted by "heavy, black ugly smoke" from the hospital.

Banks, a first-term Republican from Livonia, said she was "upset at voting against prison money. The only money absolutely necessary was the prison construction money."

Despite his own "yes" vote, Geake agreed with her, noting that "the popular clamor for prisons was used to drive through the bill for new buildings. The colleges are using the popularity of prisons to drive through a bill which does both (construct colleges and prison buildings)."

Geake, a member of both the Senate Appropriations Committee and Joint Capital Outlay Committee, said the package also includes:

□ $10 million for continued construction of the $33.5 million Scott Regional Prison in Northville Township.

□ $1 million for clear title to the former Plymouth Center for Human Development properties west of "... the popular clamor for prisons was used to drive through the bill for new buildings."

— Senator Robert Geake.

Sheldon Road. When the state acquired the site from Wayne County, there was a clause saying the land would revert to the county if the state used it for anything other than a children's mental institution. The state intends to sell the land, possibly to a private developer.

□ $225,000 for plans and the start of construction of a $9 million library for Oakland University.

McCollough, whose Senate district includes both the University of Michigan-Dearborn campus and Garden City, trumpeted his victory in getting $350,000 in planning money toward $11 million worth of renovations at the U-M-Dearborn campus.

"This was not an easy assignment, given a commission report questioning the future of the U-M-Dearborn campus," said McCollough, referring to a report by Governor Blanchard's special commission on higher education which did indeed question the need for U-M-Dearborn.

"The turning point in our effort came this fall when budget director Robert Naftaly accepted my invitation and toured the Dearborn campus with me," the senator said.

"Only then — after witnessing the need for better classroom space, the replacement of 10 outmoded modular structures, and the use of otherwise abandoned space in the old student activities building for university and community-oriented cultural programs did he agree to include the initial $350,000."

(In a separate news release, U-M-Dearborn thanked McCollough and two Dearborn-area state representatives for winning $25,000 in special aid for steam line and heating system improvements.)

Dunaskiss' northern Oakland County district had been eyed by the state Corrections Commission for a regional prison, and he is unhappy about it.

Area residents are vehemently opposed to the site — near an elementary school — and the Oakland County Board of Commissioners, after ducking the issue last May, recommended in favor of vacant land next to a mental hospital in Pontiac.

Dunaskiss voted against these two measures.

Meanwhile, the Corrections Commission took the Orion Township site off its December 19 agenda and will consider it again in January. Reason for the delay is that the site is state recreation land paid for with federal funds, and it may not be converted to another use without a federal waiver.

Each state university got money for one or more projects. Examples:

□ University of Michigan-Ann Arbor got $1 million toward a chemical sciences building and $675,000 to renovate their Natural Sciences Building.

□ Michigan State scored $1.6 million toward a veterinary center, $1.1 million toward an engineering building and $3.5 million to complete a plant and soil building.

□ Wayne State got $375,000 to start renovations of Mackenzie Hall, $850,000 to start a biology building and $1.4 million to complete an engineering building.

One bone of contention was a science building earmarked for Central Michigan University, home base for Senate Majority Leader John Engler, R-Mt. Pleasant.

Engler demanded that, in exchange for Senate passage of the prison money, Governor Blanchard would agree not to use his line-item veto. Blanchard had earlier vetoed money for the CMU project.

Blanchard in a news conference accused Engler of "holding crime-fighting money hostage." The Democratic governor urged Senate Republicans to "work around him or convince him he's wrong."

But Geake said Senate Republicans fully supported the position and felt Blanchard's veto of the CMU building was "political."

OLV slates 'Welcome Home' series

"Welcome Home," an outreach program for former and inactive Catholics, is being sponsored at Our Lady of Victory Church by O.L.V. Adult Education from 7:30-9:30 p.m. in the church parish hall, 700 Thayer, beginning January 9. The Reverend Frank Pollie, pastor, and Anne Evans Moloney, director of adult education, are serving as facilitators for the four-session forum, January 9, 16, 23 and 30. Sponsors explain that the focus during the sessions will be to give an opportunity to examine the church as it is today; to explore the church of participants' past and let them express their problems with the church; raise questions; examine religious concerns and needs of today; and make participants feel welcome to be with the church community again.

The sponsors add, "A real goal of ours is to be the ones who reach out and invite people to join us for four weeks to hear their questions, their hurts, their own religious needs while exploring the Catholic Church today (in light of) their experience in it in years' past."

"We recognize that people have different reasons for coming to the group. Many have been away for a long time — some since before the Vatican II changes. A lot has happened in the church over these years. They have to learn to 'belong again.' It's a scary business to come back to a church and to people they don't know anymore. They are afraid they might get cold feet. They need the support of a group, the staff explains.

Hemorrhoid Medicines

Pain, burning, itching, discomfort, swelling, inflammation, irritation - all symptoms of an inconvenient health problem that affects more than half of the adult population. Hemorrhoids, also known as piles, are deposits of blood vessels and tissues which bulge in the rectal area. The typical North American low-fiber diet probably contributes to hemorrhoid development.

We Americans spend 75 million dollars each year for nonprescription products intended to relieve symptoms. Many preparations are effective. Ask your pharmacist for a good product containing one or more of these:

Anesthetics provide temporary relief of pain, itching and burning. These medicines block the transmission of nerve impulses from the rectum to the brain where symptoms are sensed.

Astringents may decrease mucus and other secretions and protect tissues. Calamine and zinc oxide are commonly used astringents.

Protectants such as white petrolatum, lanolin, and cocoa butter coat hemorrhoids and reduce contact with irritating fecal materials.

Carols in harmony sung at holiday tea honoring members

Northville Woman's Club's annual Christmas music program, held December 20 at First Presbyterian Church, has become one of the 93-year old club's most popular programs. The Crystal Classics, a quartet of members of the Sweet Adelines Chorus, an international singing group to teach barbershop harmony through competition, lead members in singing Christmas carols, left. In keeping with tradition, 16 new members who have joined the club in the past year (wearing carnation corsages) are welcomed by Marge Bolton, vice president, at podium, and their sponsors, above. The last thing you need now is a problem with insurance that doesn't offer guaranteed home replacement cost coverage.

Insurance means 100% assurance, right? Wrong. Sometimes it doesn't. Although you wouldn't live in half of a home — that might be all the limits of coverage your present home insurance gives you.

Auto-Owners doesn't agree with that. They believe that homeowners insurance should ideally protect and replace 100% of your home. Because anything less, isn't 100% protection. The Guaranteed Home Replacement Cost Coverage is from your "no problem" Auto-Owners agent. Ask him if your home qualifies, and find out what 100% peace-of-mind is all about.

Top ranked U-M cage team looks to Northville's Schrot

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

He shakes the hands of Roy Tarpley and Gary Grant before every game to show his support.

He jokes around with Antoine Joubert and Garde Thompson during practices and before games.

Bill Frieder is always asking him for a favor or advice.

No, he's not the University of Michigan Athletic Director Don Canham. He's Northville Township's Christopher Schrot.

As the senior student manager for the Wolverine basketball squad, Schrot is as much a part of the team as a Richard Relford or Butch Wade. Schrot puts in just as much time as many of the players, and keeps things running smoothly for coach Frieder — it's his job.

"(Frieder) is a hard worker and it carries over to everybody," Schrot said before Michigan's December 14 clash with Western Michigan. "He wants a lot of things done and done right. He likes to keep things consistent — no surprises."

When an important errand or task needs to be done, chances are Schrot is the man for the job. He's been a manager ever since he started at U-M as a freshman three years ago, and he knows how things work.

Sometimes it gets hard to juggle classes, studying and work at the same time, but Schrot's love of basketball and the University of Michigan make the job a lot easier to handle.

"I really like basketball a lot and I've been a Michigan fan for as long as I can remember," he said. "Most of the time it's fun. It's a good way for me to get away from things.

"But there's times when I get tired of it, too. We go from September to late March and it's a long season. There are definitely days when I would like to miss practice and relax — but I don't."

As a senior manager, Schrot is expected at every practice and is one of two managers who travel with the team. Is it fun going to places like Hawaii and California with the team?

"Traveling and being with the team is fun, but the games are the best — that's what it's all about," Schrot explained. "When I was a freshman, traveling was really exciting, but now it's not all that big a deal."

The Wolverines opened the 1985-86 season in Hawaii for the Siversword Classic back in November. Even Schrot admits that it was much more exciting than traveling to Iowa City or Columbus.

"I got to go golfing in Hawaii, and it was the highlight for me," he laughed.

Trying to describe exactly what Schrot does isn't very easy because he does so many different things. No two days are ever alike.

During home game days, he is usually at Crisler Arena two hours before tip-off. You can find him taking care of ticket requests for the players, getting statistics ready for the game, helping the players stretch, putting up signs to motivate the team, working on a scout board along with the graduate assistant, or a hundred other things.

During the game, he keeps stats that Frieder and his staff often want to refer to during time-outs and at halftime. On the road, he usually takes video tapes of the action so that the team can study the films later. In all it's quite a lot of work, and Schrot doesn't get paid a dime for it.

"At this time of year, I'm with the players every day," Schrot said. "I see them more than I see my roommates and friends."

"Sometimes I'm down (at Crisler) before the players get there and I usually stay later. At times it's hard to fit everything in."

While attending Redford Catholic Central high school, the basketball squad needed a manager, so Schrot volunteered. During his senior season, Catholic Central took on Detroit Southwestern for the city championship at Cobo Arena. Southwestern's Antoine Joubert — now a U-M player and friend — was one of the top players in the county that year. It was Schrot's first glimpse of what big-time basketball was like, and he loved every minute of it.

"It was a really exciting moment for me because we were playing in such a huge place in front of thousands of fans," he admitted. "That's when I decided I would like to be a manager in college."

In the fall of 1983, Schrot began taking classes at Michigan. During his first week in Ann Arbor, he went to Frieder's office to see about being a manager. At first he was told there was no room, but when one of the managers quit, he went back and got the job.

"I went down and talked to them again just to show them I was still interested, and I started that day," he said.

There were only four other student managers when Schrot started. But, as the U-M program has catapulted into the limelight the past few seasons, so too has the popularity of being a manager. Now there are seven others.

"When you're a freshman, the senior managers tell you what to do," Schrot said. "It was basically a lot of boring, odd jobs."

But now that he has paid his dues and is a senior manager, Schrot lets the four freshman newcomers handle most of the undesirable jobs.

Since he's been involved in the program, the Wolverine team has developed into one of the country's best teams and is currently 9-0 and ranked second nation-wide. Has it been just a coincidence?

"I like to think that it's all turned around because I've been here," he laughed.

Even though he usually sits 12 chairs away from Frieder on the Michigan bench, Schrot is very much a part of the team. And the players are the big reason it can be that way.

"All the players are really fun to be around," Schrot said. "None of them treat you like a second class citizen — they treat you like you're just another part of the program."

"Especially the upperclassmen, like Antoine (Joubert) and Garde (Thompson) — because I came in when they came in."

Schrot lives in an apartment just three blocks away from Crisler, in a complex that houses a lot of athletes. Garde Thompson lives one floor up while center-forward Steve Stoyko lives next door.

To the players and coaches of one of college basketball's most dominating squads, Chris Schrot is just another member of the team.

'Craziness' hampers gymnasts' workouts

The 1986 season is still a week away, but things are already starting to go awry for coach Michele Charniga and the Northville gymnastics team.

On the first day of practice in early December, the team was greeted with broken equipment which hampered the early practices. In addition, the school's only floor exercise mat was already claimed by the wrestling team and was being used in the high school annex. The problem: the gymnasts practice in the high school proper.

"It's just been total craziness so far this year," Charniga admitted.

But fate lent a hand, and suddenly an extra three weeks to prepare for the season-opening meet was granted to the team. The Mustangs were originally slated to begin the campaign on December 16 against Farmington, but scheduling problems forced the date to be postponed until February, making the January 6 meeting with North Farmington the opener. Charniga couldn't have been happier.

"I knew we wouldn't have been ready (by December 16)," she said. "It was a blessing in disguise."

Charniga probably wouldn't mind if the season didn't get under way until March or April. That would give her even more time to work with her extremely young squad.

Of the 11 members on the roster, only one is a senior and just three were on the team a year ago. Over half are either ninth or tenth graders and two of the top three performers are freshmen.

"A lot of how we'll do depends on the development of the younger gymnasts," Charniga said. "They really have the tools and the talent, it's just a matter of execution."

Needless to say, this season would be best described as a rebuilding year. Two of the top all-arounders in Northville history — Diane Hale and Mandy Walts — are gone from last year's team. But the emergence of freshmen Wendy Beach and Yvonne Beebe could be the start of another pair of future greats. Both Beach and Beebe are all-arounders who don't perform like freshmen.

"The two freshmen are from club gymnastics, so they do have a lot of experience," Charniga said. "They will be two of my top three performers, and they will definitely contribute right away."

The third all-arounder is junior Tanya Hickman who is a returnee from 1985. Charniga will probably have to depend on these top three to carry the team scoring-wise this season.

"They (Beach, Beebe and Hickman) will be competing in every meet and in every event," she said. "We are looking for them to carry a lot of the load, especially in the early going."

Junior Donna Dunnabeck will probably be the Mustangs' fourth all-arounder, but that may change. Charniga knows how important the fourth person's score is, and whoever is performing well will probably get a shot.

"It's a matter of depth," Charniga said. "We're pretty set on the top three but in high school, they take the top four scores in dual meets. How well we do on our fourth all-arounder scores is gonna be very important for us."

Patti Dunnabeck is the squad's only senior and will be working on the balance beam as well as junior newcomer Elizabeth Hartman. Junior Theresa Gatti will see action on the vault and balance beam but has been hampered lately by an injured knee.

Sophomores Sherri Lane, Angie Miller and Shelly Steinhel will all try floor exercise routines in addition to the vault, while another freshman, Jennifer Riker, has shown promise and will participate in every event except the parallel bars.

With all the youngsters, Charniga may have her hands full now, but three or four years down the road, it may all pay off.

OLV action continues

The Our Lady of Victory CYO basketball teams have now completed the first three weeks of action with the following results in weeks two and three:

7th-8th GRADE BOYS: The "Blues" were edged 36-31 by Divine Child on December 14 and then lost a fast-paced 53-48 decision to Plymouth's Our Lady of Good Counsel the following weekend. David Best was the offensive player of the second game for the Cougars. The "White" team dropped a 23-20 decision to Our Lady of the Lakes but bounced back to record its first win of the season, a 37-7 trouncing of St. Patricks.

5th-6th GRADE BOYS: The "White" team won its second and third games in a row with impressive wins over St.

Regis (25-17) and St. Patricks (38-25). Coach Dycia reported that the victories were both total team efforts.

7th-8th GRADE GIRLS: The Cougars fell to Divine Child 22-17 on December 14, before dropping another close contest to Our Lady of Good Counsel, 31-27. Liz Demattia and Sue Laprad were named offensive MVP's.

5th-6th GRADE GIRLS: The Cougars showed great improvement but still fell short against Divine Child 25-15. Susie Weidenbach paced the team with four points and 14 rebounds. Our Lady of Counsel pinned an easy 22-8 defeat on the team the next weekend, despite Weidenbach's team-high six points.

Business Briefs

It's last chance to save on '85 taxes

NOVI HILTON EMPLOYEES are learning valuable lessons in cardiopulmonary resuscitation and fire prevention in classes geared to educate them about hotel safety. The classes are being offered by trained professionals from the Woodland Medical Center and the Novi Fire Department.

The Novi Hilton requires that all security officers be certified in CPR, fire prevention and first aid. In addition, the Novi Hilton has worked with the National Fire and Protection Association to produce a 22-minute film entitled "Hotel Fire Alert." The film is reviewed by Hilton employees annually as a refresher course in safety procedures.

The Novi Hilton opened in August and is located on Haggerty Road at I-275.

PAUL G. SZILAGYI of Northville has been promoted to a managerial position at the Detroit Region offices of Touche Ross. The appointment was announced by Daniel J. Kelly, partner in charge of Michigan/Northern Ohio operations and vice chairman of the international public accounting and management consulting firm.

Szilagyi was named a manager in accounting and auditing. A CPA, Szilagyi received his bachelors degree in business administration from Western Michigan University before joining Touche Ross in Detroit in 1978. He is a specialist in the health care industry. Szilagyi is chairman of the Chapter Delegates Committee of the Health Care Financial Management Association, Eastern Michigan Chapter.

Year-end tax planning takes on particular importance this year in view of the possibility of reductions in the tax rate in 1986 under the Reagan or alternative tax proposals, according to Dominic V. Palazzo, Partner in charge of Tax, Detroit office Peat Marwick, the international accounting firm.

Palazzo lists six areas which merit attention before the end of the year — state and local tax payments, sales of property, tax shelter investments, charitable contributions, interest payments and contributions to IRA, Keogh and 401(k) plans.

"To save the most, it's essential to act early," he explains. "The longer you wait, the fewer the options available. Income, where possible, should be deferred until 1986, and opportunities should be sought to take deductions in 1985 instead of 1986. Income deferred until 1986 may be taxed at a lower rate, while accelerating deductions into 1985 will provide greater tax benefits."

State and Local Taxes: State and local taxes are itemized deductions in the year in which they are paid and the timing of the deduction is within the control of the individual. Thus, the final installment of estimated 1985 state income tax, typically due in early 1986, can be paid before the end of 1985.

Similarly, local real estate taxes due early in 1986 also may be pre-paid, but if they are paid through a bank or other escrow agent, the deduction can be taken only in the year in which the bank or agent pays the taxes. Therefore, if you want the deduction in 1985, you must have the bank or escrow agent make the payment before year end.

Property Sales: Because of the prospect of lower tax rates under the various tax proposals, many people are putting off a decision to sell property, particularly property which is used as a vacation home or which is held for investment purposes. Such property may, however, be sold this year and the gain put off until next year. This is accomplished by entering into a contract now, but deferring the receipt of proceeds until 1986.

The rules, of course, continue to be different for a primary residence. As long as you buy a residence more expensive than the one you sell, there is no capital gains tax.

Tax Shelters: For those for whom it is an appropriate investment, 1985 may present several "last chance" opportunities for tax deductions through a tax shelter. "There are certain tax benefits that may well go away if any of the proposals are adopted. So a good tax shelter entered into this year could offer tax benefits which will not be available in 1986. At the same time, it could defer income until 1986 or 1987, at which time, perhaps, the tax rate may be lower."

Charitable Deductions: For those who do not itemize their deductions, there is a significant change this year. In 1985, taxpayers who don't itemize may still deduct up to 50 percent of their charitable contributions. This opens the door for more widespread participation in the tax benefits of charitable contributions.

There is also an important new requirement affecting those contributing property to charity. If the value of that property is greater than $5,000 ($10,000 in the case of closely held corporate stock), an appraisal made within 60 days of the gift by a qualified appraiser must be attached to the 1985 return.

The mileage allowance for the use of an automobile in charitable services has risen from 9 cents a mile in 1984 to 12 cents a mile for 1985. Taxpayers must, however, maintain an adequate record of this mileage.

Interest: An interest deduction is allowed in the year it is due and paid. Most mortgage interest is paid after it is due. Therefore, payments usually made in January of 1986 represent interest due for 1985 and may be deducted if paid prior to year end. The same concept applies to most interest payments on credit card and consumer loan balances.

IRA, Keogh, and 401(k) Plans: Look into where you can get the greatest rate of return. IRA contributions for 1985 must be made by April 15, 1986.
