Three to vie for two seats in board race

By MICHELE M. FECHT

Two newcomers and incumbent Glenna Davis have filed petitions to run for two four-year terms on the Northville Board of Education.

Joseph L. Dunkerley, Jr. of Woodbend Drive, Robert O. McMahon of Sunnydale and Davis of Fry Rd. returned petitions for the posts by the 4 p.m. Monday deadline.

The three candidates will vie for two four-year terms in the annual school election June 9. Candidates have until 4 p.m. tomorrow (Thursday) to withdraw from the race.

Davis, a five-year veteran of the board and currently its president, is seeking her second four-year term.

Longtime trustee Karen Wilkins' decision not to seek re-election after 12 years on the school board will put at least one new member on the board.

Dunkerley, an engineering supervisor for Ford Motor Company, currently has four children enrolled in Northville Public Schools with a preschooler joining the ranks next September.

He has been actively involved in school committees for the past two years as a member of the Middle School Advisory Committee, the Transportation Committee and the district's representative at the initial Future Needs Committee meeting which brought together officials from the school district, city and township.

"I guess I got involved in a negative sense," Dunkerley says, noting that he first started attending board meetings when the district began its initial discussions about closing Moraine and Cooke (where his children attended school).

"I was involved in the closing of schools because I wanted to observe the decision-making process that got into that," he says.

While he says he agrees with many of the board's decisions, Dunkerley is quick to point out he "would have a little different set of priorities."

Though emphasizing that the "physical plant is important," Dunkerley says he would like to see more attention paid to the academic program.

"Some of the things I would like to see more emphasis on are curriculum, math and science in the elementary schools and gifted education," he notes.

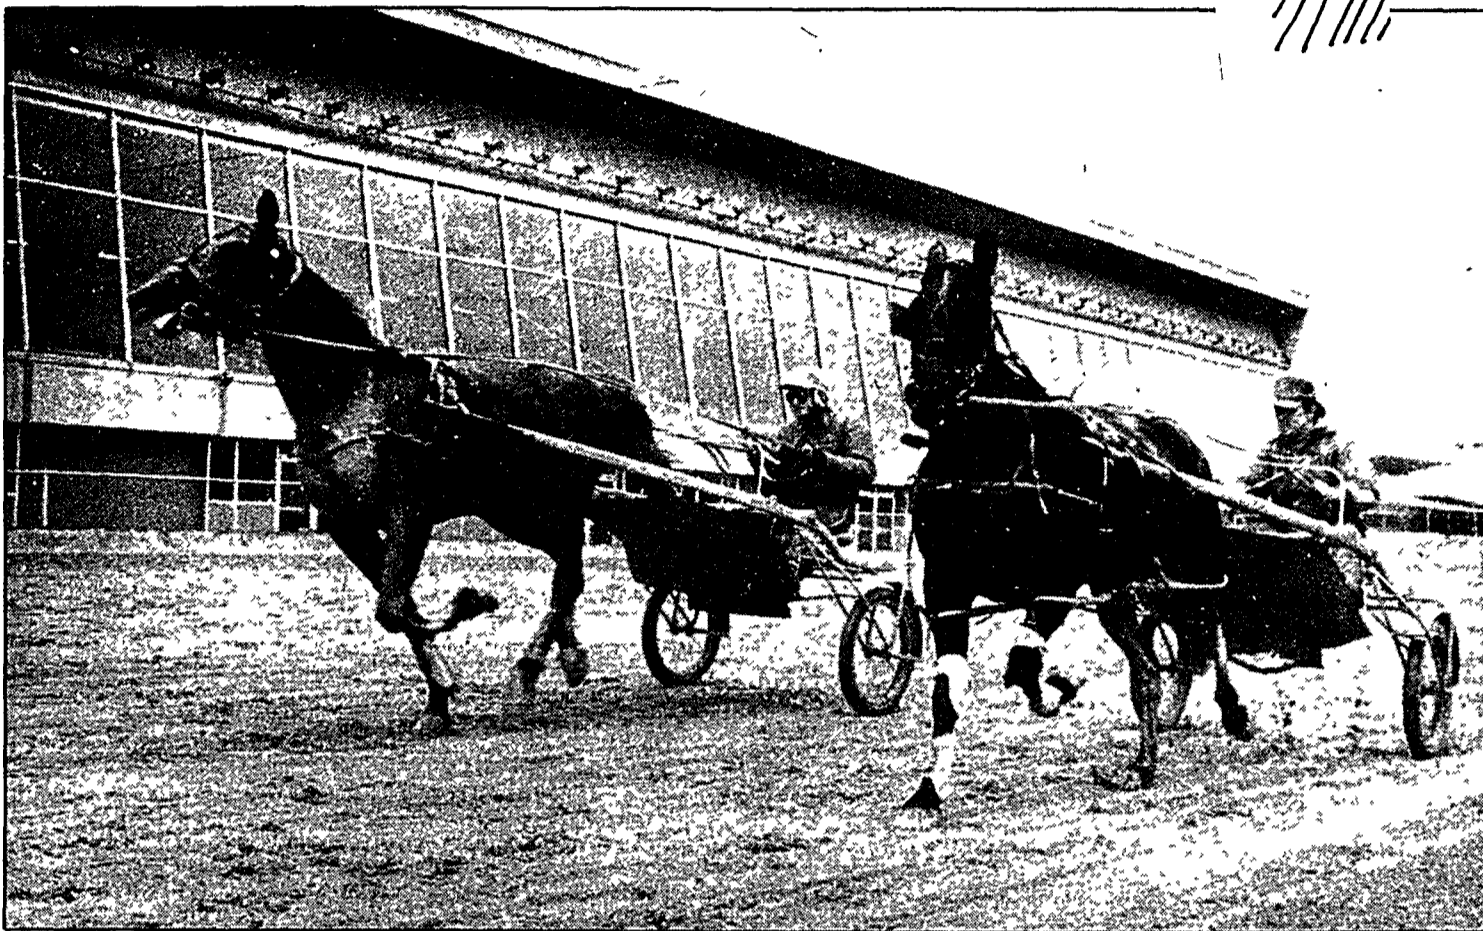

McMahon, who has two elementary-aged children in the district, is the manager of Community and Economic Development Programs for the Southeastern Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG).

He is 44 and has lived in the district since 1978. McMahon was out of town and not available for comment before The Record went to press.

Davis, who announced her decision to seek re-election following the board's March 24 meeting, said "the district's opportunity for stability" was among her reasons for seeking another four-year term.

First elected to a one-year seat in 1981 to fill the remaining term of former trustee Richard Barron, Davis won re-election to a four-year post in 1982.

In addition to the local school board, Davis has served on the Schoolcraft College Women's Advisory Committee, was Michigan president of the Homemakers' Equal Rights Association and the Western Wayne County National Organization for Women.

Hitting their stride

Horses and drivers enjoy a brisk exercise session at Northville Downs before the Northville action ended for the season last weekend. The Downs marked up a record handle March 28 of $935,067. Part of the reason was the prospect of a big twin Trifecta win — which materialized at $65,418. Margaret Zayti, Downs recording secretary, reported the season ended with attendance up about 4 percent and the mutuel handle up almost 10 percent. The average mutuel handle for night racing was $561,293 for a total of $46,026,009. Average handle for the 15 matinees was $472,018 for a total of $7,080,270. Combined total tops $53 million.

Planners approve new subdivision

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

It's been a long time since the Northville City Planning Commission has given final approval to a preliminary subdivision plat — 10 or 12 years, as estimated by consultant Ron Nino.

But the Commission changed all that following an April 1 meeting and public hearing by giving the go-ahead to the engineer and developer of the planned Abbey Knoll Estates Subdivision. At the commission's next meeting on April 15, it is expected to do the same for another new subdivision, the Ponds of Northville (Developers have indicated they intend to change the name to Pheasant Ridge but have not yet done so officially).

"We are kind of rusty at this because it's been 10 or 12 years since we've worked one of these things," Nino said. "Now we are going to take on two (subdivision approvals) in one month."

With the approval from the planning commission, the project has been added to the agenda of the City Council meeting slated for April 21, at which council members must give their final approval as well.

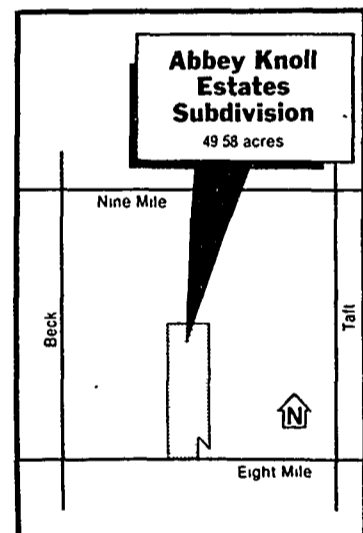

The subdivision will be built on a 49.58 acre site north of Eight Mile and immediately east of the existing Northville Estates Subdivision. The proposed Ponds of Northville, if approved, will eventually be the connector between Abbey Knoll and Lexington Commons to the east off Taft Road.

Project engineer Gene Ziemet told the commission and residents that the plan goes back to 1984 when it received approval but was resubmitted when the developer purchased an additional 10 acres which were then added to the site along the east section. The current plan sports minor revisions including the omission of several cul-de-sacs after the Department of Natural Resources prohibited them from building on an area regarded as wetlands.

Most attending the public hearing were residents of the area who expressed questions about the planned sewer system of the new subdivision and possible tie-ins with the homes in Northville Estates Subdivision, as well as the kinds of homes that will be built.

"This development facilitates the availability of sewers to Northville Estates," Nino pointed out. "What this does is makes them available to the residents of Northville Estates, if

Membership requirements changed for commission

Membership of the Northville Historic District Commission is now governed by different rules.

City council adopted an amendment to the governing ordinance Monday night to make it conform to state law. The amendment was one of a series enacted in response to an opinion from the city attorney, who agreed with the position of some community critics that conflicting interests result when membership of city boards and commissions is confined to a small group.

Under the revised ordinance, the seven members of the commission will be:

- The Mayor;
- One City Council member;
- Two members from a list submitted by Northville Historical Society (the only group that qualifies under the ordinance language referring to a "duly organized and existing preservation society or societies");

• An architect registered in the state who resides in the city, if such a person is available;

• Remaining positions (either two or three, depending on the availability of a resident architect) filled by interested and qualified residents, or "citizens at large."

Resident Ron Bodnar asked about the reappointment of A. Malcolm Allen and Francis P. Gazlay, which had taken place earlier in the meeting. He was told Allen was appointed as a citizen-at-large and Gazlay as a historical society member.

The ordinance formerly called for one member to be a city planning commissioner and for three to be drawn from the historical society, plus the mayor, council member and architect.

Budget surplus may offset street repair

The first year-end city budget surplus since 1982, combined with a forecast of tax base growth, may help offset the cost of a massive street repair program, city council learned Monday night.

City manager Steven Walters delivered a budget message predicting a year-end (June 30) surplus of $121,000 due to higher-than-anticipated revenues and lower-than-expected expenses.

He also said two new subdivisions and a major downtown construction project should generate a 20- to 30-percent growth in the city's tax base over the next four or five years.

Between the surplus and anticipated revenue growth, Walters said, the city should be able to tackle its street repair program with less tax millage than might otherwise be necessary.

However, the growth in building activity and population will require the hiring of a full-time building inspector and expansion of Department of Public Works staffing, Walters said. He also suggested council members consider a $25,000 purchase of new computer equipment to take advantage of advances in technology.

Detailed analysis of the city's 1986-87 fiscal year budget, which takes effect July 1, will begin at a special meeting April 14, council members decided. Two additional special budget sessions may be necessary before formal adoption of the city's fiscal plan expected June 2.

Walters said the complications of a probable ballot request for increased millage require that the city have its budget prepared somewhat earlier than would normally be the case. In advertising its public hearing on the budget, the city must publish a proposed millage rate (exclusive of any voted increase).

"You will have to decide whether to reduce the millage or to keep it where it is and use the surplus revenues to assist with the street repair costs," Walters told council. The budget being prepared for review calls for continuation of city services at present levels, and for the first time in many years has a fixed figure for salaries of employees represented by collective bargaining units. Walters noted that none of the contracts expires this year, which he called "a great relief" for those laying out the spending plan.

Five variations from the current budget expected are:

- Addition of a full-time building inspector, the cost to be covered by increased permit revenue from the current expansion in construction. Services are presently provided by the City of Plymouth's inspector, who is also under contract to Plymouth Township and is increasingly pressed for time, Walters said.

He proposed that revenue from permit fees be strictly earmarked for building department operations, rather than treating the funds as a "windfall at peak periods." Excess revenues would be banked against future decreases from building slumps, allowing the city to continue its building department operation in

Lights ... ... Action

Northville ought to be in movies and within two weeks the community will be. Marguerite Parise Production Services selected downtown Northville to film a 10-second commercial for the Michigan Lottery's new Superplay. "We picked Northville because of its quaintness, its cooperation and its look as a real downtown," Parise said, adding there were 126 people, many of them local residents, appearing in the commercial, which was filmed Friday.

NEWS BRIEFS

TWO MAYOR EXCHANGE DAYS will mark the city's participation in Michigan Week this year. Northville council members will visit Grand Ledge for an all-day celebration, beginning with a parade, on May 19. "They make a big deal out of Michigan Week in Grand Ledge," said council member Paul Folino, who outlined the plans Monday.

Grand Ledge representatives come to Northville on Wednesday, May 21, when they'll be treated to the traditional tour of city attractions, a Rotary Club luncheon (rescheduled from Tuesday and featuring this year's beautification awards) and will be invited to the city's appreciation dinner, honoring employees and members of boards and commissions, at Schoolcraft College.

The appreciation dinner was canceled in recent years because of city budget constraints, city manager Steven Walters noted.

NORTHVILLE PARKS and Recreation Department intends to apply for a $100,000 grant for development of the Northville Community Park on Beck Road. Applications are being made through the land and water conservation department and through the Michigan resources trust fund, John Anderson, parks and recreation director announced.

The land and water conservation department funding would yield half the cost of the project with half being provided in matching funds. If the request through the resources trust fund were successful, 75 percent of the cost would be covered through the grant with the city and township's share being 25 percent.

IT'S GO BLUE for University of Michigan alumni. The University recently has organized an alumni group in the Plymouth/Northville area. First activity will be attending the Plymouth Theatre Guild's production, "Everybody Loves Opal," at 8 p.m. May 2 at Plymouth Central Middle School.

Tickets are $4 ($3 for seniors) and may be purchased from Dr. Robert Evans, DDS, at 496 W. Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth. For more information, call 420-2366.

A SMALL BUSINESS PERSON of the Year in the Northville community will be honored for the first time during Michigan Week, May 19-23.

The idea of honoring a local business person by the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce was suggested to the chamber board by executive director Laurie Marrs at the board's April 3 meeting and was approved unanimously.

By governmental definition, a small business is one with 500 or fewer employees. Most Northville businesses should qualify.

Library Friends seek new members

A membership drive by Friends of Northville Library is being held to coincide with National Library Week, April 6-12, outgoing president Geraldine Mills announces.

New officers of Friends are manning a desk at the library in city hall this week to sign up volunteers.

New officers for the Friends are Betty Griffin, president; Pat Kitchen, secretary; Val Cook, treasurer; and Pat Allen, vice president.

The Friends, a group of volunteers who work to establish a closer relationship between the library and the public it serves, has a membership of 66, both active and inactive.

Four meetings are held each year at city hall to plan events. These include four book sales, three in the library and one outside during the merchants' summer sidewalk sale. In addition, members meet twice a month, Mills notes, to sort books that are donated to the library by the community. Paperbacks that are donated are sold for 25 cents in a special corner of the library in an ongoing project of the Friends.

Funds raised in the used book sales are used to purchase items for the library and supplement the library's book budget.

Friends also volunteer their time to assist the library staff in such worthwhile projects as summer reading club parties for elementary school children, a Christmas program for children, clerical duties and assisting in restocking books on new shelves.

Two years ago a tradition was begun in September by John and Toni Genitti at their Hole in the Wall Restaurant. The Friends report they have "generously donated their time and proceeds from their famous seven-course Italian dinners" to the Friends' treasury.

The annual dinners with guest speakers have become an exciting addition to the Friends' list of activities, the board adds.

With funds raised, the Friends have in the past purchased books, furniture in the reading area, record holder unit and records, wall hangings and a clock, $32.20 worth of plants, tape cassettes, headsets for the cassette player, a $600 Xerox machine, $1,648 of video cassettes.

The Friends also have made a donation for rental best sellers, purchased a film projector, book bags ($88.40), puppets and puppet stage, roll film attachment for microfilm ($70), audio tapes ($200), VCR stand ($172.80), Atlas case ($41), conference table ($258) and a telephone answering machine.

Other projects in 1985 included the summer reading program ($92), Christmas puppet show ($125) and Fourth of July parade candy ($50).

During Library Week "special Friends" are being cited "for volunteering extra time" to library projects: Pat Allen, Carolann Ayers, Jean Chase, Elizabeth Church, Gloria Collins, Val Cook, Paul and Margaret Dawson, Edie Dunbar, Sue Fostey, Stan and Ann Freed, Betty Griffin, Claudene Kinnaird, Dorothy Marr, Fran Mattison, Don McCulloch, Geraldine Mills, Margaret Spigarelli, Fae Taylor, Rose Wagner and Lois Winters.

The board also gave "extra thanks to our benefactors, John and Toni Genitti."

Reickel elected to Rouge River group

R. Eric Reickel, a member of the Northville Parks and Recreation Commission and the head of the Wayne County Parks and Recreation Department, is one of 11 directors recently elected to the Friends of the Rouge River, a diverse group of Wayne, Oakland and Washtenaw county residents.

The organization has scheduled a cleanup program June 7. Daylong events will include volunteer efforts to remove logjams and debris, picking up litter, and painting and repairing rest stations, docks and bridges.

Area parks and recreation departments are expected to host recreational activities that day, spearheaded by the inclusion of two additional Parks and Recreation department directors — Steve Marshal of Southfield and Don Kirchbaum of Detroit — on the Friends of the Rouge board.

Other board members include James Murray, a member of the state Water Resources Commission, Ted Textor, WJBK-TV weatherman; Jack Smiley of the University of Michigan-Dearborn; Carla Worsham of Westland, an Army Corps of Engineers employee; Kay Cushman, representing Dearborn League of Women Voters; Milt Handorf, Oakland County Public Works director; Grant Hyatt, a Dearborn physician; and Judy Nelson, Dearborn Heights schoolteacher.

In addition to fundraising efforts by the Friends of the Rouge, a major corporate sponsor is expected to provide funding for the project, which aims to clean up the polluted waterway by the year 2005.

To that end, the group has been able to increase the work hours of Bruce Monson, director of the Rouge River Watershed Council, from 20 to 40 hours weekly. Corporate sponsorship has also provided an opportunity to increase the number of professional consultants working on the cleanup.

Jack Doheny checks out a sewer cleaning truck earmarked for the city of Detroit

A dirty job but Doheny's cleaned up well since '65

By ANITA CRONE

When Jack Doheny travels overseas or to new cities, he isn't a typical visitor. He doesn't head directly to the tourist attractions. He's more likely to be found at a town's lowest point, checking out a sewer system.

"Water runs downhill, so that's where I head," Doheny said.

Cleaning and maintaining sewers may be dirty work, but somebody's got to do it — and Doheny is that somebody. He does it so well in fact, his company, Jack Doheny Supplies, Inc., will gross between $10 and $12 million in sales this year, nearly all of it from Michigan municipalities.

The company has moved into its third home since Doheny, 55, founded the firm in 1965, and this year the company has expanded into street cleaning equipment.

"The new line is related to sewer cleaning systems," Doheny says. "Both kinds of equipment are necessary for keeping cities clean."

There is little relationship, except for Doheny's mechanical aptitude, between his upbringing on a Minnesota farm and his current profession.

"If we hadn't lost the farm, I might still be living on a farm in Minnesota," he said.

Instead, Doheny went into the business world after graduation from Wright Junior College in Chicago, and directly into the sewer business. His first job was putting together sewer machinery, and he parlayed that endeavor into a position as a commission salesman after a stint in the Air Force.

"I remember traveling over 100,000 miles a year, taking much of the equipment with me," he says. "I really liked the travel, but after I got married and had a family, I knew it was time to cut back."

The company he was working for, O'Brien Manufacturing, also had a hand in Doheny's decision. The firm was taken over by a conglomerate which moved to eliminate commission sales people from its list of employees in 1965. For Doheny, the decision was simple. He went to work for himself.

"It wasn't something I particularly looked forward to doing," he said. "But I was trained to sell, I was a good salesman and the company essentially said it didn't want me on my terms anymore."

Doheny set his own terms with his own company. Even today, he still employs two commission salesmen.

"The important thing was to provide good service and that precept is something I have always believed," Doheny said.

"The average municipality has several police cars, a number of fire trucks but only one sewer cleaning machine. I decided that one machine would be one of mine."

It wasn't easy implementing that decision. Six months after Jack Doheny Supplies opened, Doheny was called to jury duty for 30 days.

"I tried everything I could to get out of it," Doheny recalled. "I wasn't opposed to sitting, but I really needed time to get the business off the ground."

He also needed to provide for his wife, Edie, a former teacher, and his three children, Kay, who directs a related company on the east coast, Michael, who works in the shipping and receiving department of Jack Doheny Supplies, Inc., and Maryjo, now an attorney in San Francisco.

While jury duty may have slowed Doheny, it didn't stop him.

"I think we were in the right place at the right time," he said. "When we opened in 1965, people were just becoming aware of how necessary maintaining a municipal sewer system was. The government was just beginning to impose stringent regulations and frankly, towns needed to upgrade their equipment. We were there," he said.

The company has been there ever since, and Doheny has personally and professionally prospered. His is the only outside contracting firm ever to be hired at Walt Disney World and Epcot, and Doheny says it is not unusual to be called from cities all over the world.

If a customer can't reach Doheny at his Northville office, he can be reached at his home. "It's all part of the service we offer," he explained.

There are increasing times, however, when Doheny isn't as available. He can be found on the golf course, either in Northville or Vero Beach, Fla., on weekends, but he knows the company is still in good hands.

"I can only think of one employee who quit after she was hired. And she left to get married. I don't think I've ever fired anyone," he said.

And while he has made some changes, including opening the new 35,000 square foot service center, Doheny said the company has remained pretty much a small organization.

Doheny has few plans to slow down, although he firmly insists the company will not move again.

"When we opened the last office on Doheny Rd., we bought this land with the intent of using it to expand. We've now expanded and that's it," he said. He will, however, make one more move of his residence, right across a small lake from the company's new home.

After that, Doheny said, he would dearly like to travel, particularly to take a cruise down the Yangtze River in China.

"I wonder how they handle their sewage," he mused.

'Star Wars' foe to speak at OCC

Dr. Robert Bowman, one of the nation's foremost critics of the "Star Wars" program, will speak at the Orchard Ridge campus of Oakland Community College tomorrow (Thursday) at 9:30 a.m.

Bowman, founder and president of the non-profit Institution for Space and Security Studies, is appearing in conjunction with OCC's Distinguished Speaker Series.

There is no charge for his presentation in the Wallace Smith Theatre on the Orchard Ridge campus at Orchard Lake Road and I-96 in Farmington Hills. For more information call 471-7750.

A retired Air Force career officer who flew more than 100 combat missions in Vietnam, Bowman was once director of Air Force advanced space programs development. He will argue that the government's space-based Strategic Defense ("Star Wars") Initiative (SDI), although presented as a defensive weapons system, is actually "the ultimate hair-trigger" — an offensive weapon that enormously increases the potential for all-out nuclear war.

"The government's official policy in space weapons has been completely reversed since I retired," said Bowman. "At that time our policy was to seek a treaty banning weapons in space."

"SDI would put us in a position of superiority. The problem is that I don't think the Russians will ever allow us that kind of superiority; they would do whatever was necessary to maintain their position — and that includes risking nuclear war."

Bowman is now president of the Institute for Space and Security Studies, a private think-tank. He recently authored a book entitled, "Star Wars: Defense or Death Star?" which evaluates the feasibility of SDI and its impact on military and foreign policy.

The book concludes that there is "no legitimate objective to the program we are now pursuing."

slow periods.

Expansion of the DPW by one person in 1986-87 and a second in 1987-88. Walters said the DPW is the one city department likely to require expansion due to expanding population from two additional subdivisions on Eight Mile, totaling 265 homes. This represents a 15 percent expansion in water and sewer customers and 11.5 percent in road mileage to be maintained. When the subdivisions are finished, he said, the new homes will pay more than $200,000 in city taxes, more than offsetting the cost of DPW employees.

Street reconstruction program. Some portion of the city's tax revenues will likely be devoted to the program, Walters said, leaving up to council to decide how much.

Upgrading the city's central computer at a cost of $25,000 will save $3,300 a year in maintenance contract costs and double the speed of the system, Walters said. An additional eight work stations could be added and memory storage expanded greatly.

Play ball!

You can take Tiger fans away from the ballpark but not from the fun

By ANITA CRONE

They didn't have tickets, but that didn't stop about 50 people from celebrating Opening Day anyway. They weren't at the ball park; they were at the Goat Farm.

Maybe, if they had been able to obtain tickets and had planned to be at Tiger Stadium April 7, they would have had more time to come up with an explanation as to why they failed to return from lunch.

"We had tickets, but they were obstructed view seats," explained Penny Blaton of South Lyon. "I thought we'd be able to see better here."

Here was The Goat Farm in Novi, where five televisions were tuned to the Tiger baseball game and the fans' interest was tuned to the Tigers.

"On the money we saved, I figured we could have a real good dinner tonight," chimed in Jack Riley, former president of the Novi Jaycees.

Blaton and Riley were the exceptions, however. Most of the Goat Farm patrons merely stopped in to have lunch and had every intention of returning to their work.

Margaret Johnson, owner of Wilkins Parts and Equipment, was one of the few who kept her promise.

"Opening Day is fine for those who really love baseball," Johnson said. "I used to go to the game when my husband was alive, but somehow, it isn't the same now."

Johnson has not totally avoided the summer game. She confessed to having watched the Atlanta Braves play while visiting a daughter in Atlanta.

But even in Atlanta, Johnson confided, she didn't have the fun she was having at the Goat Farm, where beer was flowing for 90 cents and hot dogs were 50 cents.

Jim Doyle of Northville and Jerry Tuggle opted to spend their money at the bar, rather than the ball park.

"We've been going down for five or six years now," Doyle said, "hoping to find someone willing to sell us box seat tickets. This is the first year we weren't able to find any at a price we were willing to pay."

"It was definitely a seller's market out there," said Jerry Tuggle, drinking a cold beer.

Neither Doyle nor Tuggle said they were interested in purchasing tickets early, however. "Half the fun is getting down to the ball park at 11 and watching the people. Then we start watching the ticket prices fall," Doyle said.

Watching good intentions fall by the wayside seemed to be the order of the afternoon. Although there were only two Tiger hats in the bar, it was obvious the clientele were Tiger fans.

They booed Coleman Young's bobble of Gov. James Blanchard's first pitch, and the bar noises stopped altogether when Boston leadoff batter Dwight Evans blasted Jack Morris' first pitch into the centerfield seats.

But things settled down to a dull roar as beer and hotdogs flowed.

"This is almost like being at the ball park," said Jack Lahie, between bites of his hot dog. "The only difference is about 40,000 people."

Lahie confessed he expected the final score to be 5-3 in favor of the Bengals and Morris would throw a five-hitter. He even put money on it.

They weren't the betting crowd, but Charmagne Albers and Beth Planta of Novi were rooting for Detroit.

"Of course the Tigers are going to win. They wouldn't dare lose," Planta said.

Jeff Malmsten, of South Lyon, was a breath of fresh air in the sports-minded crowd.

"To tell you the truth," he said, "I didn't even know it was Opening Day until I got here. I just wanted to have lunch."

He got more than he bargained for — a 6-5 Tiger win for dessert.

Time for a change

Malcolm Dedes and Bob Thomson, both former Northville residents, engage in some backbreaking labor as they lower the wall surrounding Northville's famous clock to prepare the timekeeper for its anticipated new sounds. When work is complete, the wall will be about one-foot lower and speakers will be installed into the clock base to enhance the sounds of the carillon chimes that will become part of the clock's charm.

Police Blotter

Jewelry, electronic equipment stolen in break-in

In the township ...

More than $3,000 worth of jewelry and electronic equipment was reported stolen in an April 2 burglary of a Six Mile Road residence.

Township police reported that the burglar(s) entered the home by breaking out a back-door window, reaching through to unlock the door, and thereby gaining access to a patio. Breaking another door window gave entry to the house.

Stolen from a bedroom were a $50 jewelry chest and its contents, including an $800 diamond ring, a wide selection of new and antique gold and silver jewelry, a $150 pocketwatch, and $100 worth of costume jewelry. Also reported stolen were a 13-inch color television valued at $310 and a $575 videocassette recorder.

Police said the theft occurred between 9 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. No fingerprints were discovered; the homeowner found a pair of rubber gloves in the bedroom. Police investigators found tire impressions in the lawn along one side of the house and behind the broken door.

The teenage rider of a moped suffered moderate injuries when struck by a car at 11:50 p.m. April 3, Northville Township police reported. The West Main resident was taken to St. Mary Hospital in Livonia by CEMS ambulance for treatment of injuries not severe enough to require hospitalization.

Police said the 16-year-old was driving northbound on Northville Road and entered the intersection at Seven Mile on a green traffic signal. The Farmington Hills driver of a southbound car made an illegal left turn from the far right lane and collided with the moped, telling police she "didn't see it."

The automobile driver was issued a traffic citation for making an improper turn.

Township firefighters battled yet another arson blaze at the Wayne County Child Development Center in the early morning hours April 3.

A Plymouth Center security guard reported the fire at 1:45 a.m. and township firefighters arrived at the scene shortly thereafter to find two grass fires just south of the center's fire station and another blaze inside a building.

Arson investigators said the fire inside a building described as being "east of the gymnasium" was set in a pile of paper and wood. It was extinguished and listed as an arson — investigators had not yet determined whether an accelerant was used to ignite the fire.

Police are seeking a warrant for the arrest of two adult males suspected of stealing a 1980 Pontiac Grand Prix and attempting to dump the partially stripped car in Northville Township.

State hospital security patrol officers were first to spot something unusual taking place on the north side of Six Mile on a track leading to Waterford Pond. A U-Haul van was parked in the drive at 12:45 a.m. Monday with its lights on. Planks and bricks were discovered forming a ramp from the back of the truck.

Asked what they were doing, the two men beside the truck told police they had spotted an abandoned car and were attempting to pick it up. The car was inside the van.

"Our position is that they were going to dump it," said township police captain Phil Presnell. "They weren't picking it up."

The car showed up on police computers as being reported stolen from a Detroit resident-owner.

Law officials warn of moped dangers

The arrival of spring already has resulted in complaints on misuse of mopeds and minibikes at the Juvenile Traffic Court division of the Oakland County Probate Court.

While there is no doubt that motorcycles, mopeds and minibikes can provide a lot of healthy outdoor recreation for youngsters, there also are laws that govern their use to ensure they are ridden safely and do not become a nuisance to others in the community, the court points out.

In many areas, the illegal operation of these vehicles has become a nuisance and a danger, as both local and county court personnel attest.

Last year the Oakland Probate Court — Juvenile Traffic Division heard 1,224 complaints regarding misuse of mopeds and minibikes.

Wayne Callihan, juvenile court traffic referee says, "Most parents who accompany their kids to juvenile court on a moped violation seem to be unaware that there are restrictions governing the use of these vehicles."

Last year the Probate Court's Juvenile Traffic Division heard 1,224 complaints regarding misuse of mopeds and minibikes.

Northville city police chief Rodney Cannon agrees that spring is bringing out mopeds and minibikes and notes that laws governing their operation in both Oakland and Wayne counties "about identical."

The following laws are the ones most violated in the operation of these vehicles:

1. Youngsters under 15 years of age cannot ride motorcycles, mopeds or minibikes on public roadways or areas open to the public.

2. If a youngster is 15 years old, he can obtain a moped license through the Secretary of State which will allow operation on public roadways as long as traffic laws are observed.

3. Motorcycles, mopeds or minibikes may not be ridden on sidewalks or bike paths.

4. Passengers may not be carried on a moped — even if extra seating space is provided.

5. Minibikes and go-carts are not considered motorcycles or mopeds. They cannot be licensed and are not permitted on public roads.

Because of the increasing number of serious accidents, police have begun to impound illegally operated vehicles and, in some cases, are issuing citations to parents for allowing youths to ride illegally, the court says.

Youths under 16 do not always realize moped violations can hurt their future driving record. The court sometimes sends a record of the violation to Lansing so that the youngster will have two points on his license on issuance. It also is possible that a moped violation would result in the youth being restricted from obtaining his driver's license until age 17.

The laws governing the operation of moped, minibikes and motorcycles are available in brochures at any Secretary of State's office or the Oakland County Probate Court.

State knocks three-wheel ATVs off roadways

The Michigan Department of State will no longer register three-wheel All-Terrain Vehicles for use on the state's roads.

In the past, modified three-wheel ATVs could be used on roads and registered as motorcycles; however, because of the rising death rate for ATV operators and a warning by manufacturers of the potential hazard for operating the vehicles on paved surfaces, the department opted to stop registering them.

ATV owners may still register their vehicles for off-road use.

All of the three-wheel ATVs have balloon tires. The live axle drive system causes the vehicles to lose stability when driven on paved surfaces and that loss of stability could result in injury or death. The Consumer Product Safety Commission said at least 16 people died in ATV-related accidents in Michigan during 1985, 10 of them under 15 years old.

Four-wheel ATVs have not been allowed on Michigan roads since 1984.

NOTICE

Recently the City Council adopted a resolution establishing a young adult development committee. The resolution states in part, "There seems to be an identified need for a concerted community effort to establish a gathering place for young adults and that a team effort to work toward the development of a project that is friendly and attractive to our young adults is envisioned as a starting point in the development of this concept." The committee will work with the Planning Commission to foster the development of concepts, ideas and if necessary planning and zoning of an area to attract the private sector development of a project (s) that would be conducive to the needs of our young adults.

This committee will be comprised of 5 high school students, 1 representative of the Planning Commission, and 6 Novi residents. The council is seeking 6 Novi residents to serve on this committee. Any resident interested in serving in this capacity should contact the City Clerk at 349-4300 for an application. Please submit applications by April 17.

The Northville Record

Non-Taxable Property

Looking at non-taxable land in the City of Northville and Northville Township

Record Map/JEFF LAPINSKI

Our Opinion

What's wrong with this map?

That Northville has too much land devoted to nontaxable purposes is evident to anyone who studies the situation illustrated by the map on this page. More than one-third — 38 percent — of the township land area is untaxed, according to township officials. The figure includes some church-held land that is still, for now, on the tax rolls, but we've shown it on our map for discussion purposes.

The situation is somewhat better in the city, but this problem concerns city residents as well because the township makes up the largest portion of the school district's tax base. There is no surprise to this revelation — the amount of untaxed land has long been a primary concern of township government.

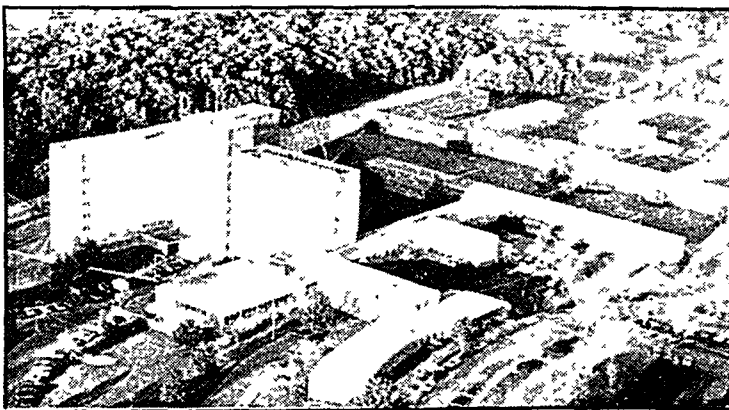

What to do about it, however, is an open question. While we can agree with the goals of the township's current effort to tax Detroit-owned land — to encourage the city to sell off its holdings here and return them to the tax rolls — we cannot support the underlying supposition that idle government-owned land in general is to be treated differently from other government-owned land.

Having one government assess taxes against another is simply a matter of moving taxpayers' money from one pocket to the other while absorbing a slice for administrative costs. While it might not seem that way at first glance when the two governments are Northville Township and the City of Detroit — since our first assumption is that Detroit taxpayers would be paying Northville Township, thereby sharing the public cost of police and fire protection — modern governmental structure does not allow for such simplistic analysis.

The fact is that Detroit's money is our money. Some of it comes from the federal government, some of it from the state, some of it from the income of Northville residents who work there. Should the township win its case against Detroit (or, more properly, should Plymouth Township win, since that litigious community was first to take this approach), the precedent could have far-reaching consequences. Governments taxing other governments seems to us a likely way for each level of government to claim it needs increased revenues to offset the taxes it is paying to others, and to pay for the cost of keeping track of who owes money to whom, and how much. The "public" in "publicly owned" is all of us, regardless of the name of the particular unit that is attached.

It might be worthwhile to make a distinction here between government and other tax-exempt institutions, most notably churches. The properties at Six Mile and Haggerty that are shown as vacant parcels remain taxable today — not until they are used as churches do they go off the tax rolls. That is, we think, as it should be. There are public costs associated with vacant land, and even higher costs with developed land used for profit (i.e. office structures that might be owned by the church but rented to profit-making firms) that should not be borne by the public-at-large if the public does not hold title. There's a legitimate policy debate here, in some eyes, but we find the distinction between public and quasi-public ownership a useful one.

To return to the primary topic, we suggest those who still find the prospect of taxing Detroit enticing take another look at the unused land shown on our map. It includes a sizable school-owned parcel on Six Mile Road that would become taxable under the legal theory advanced by the townships. Meanwhile, the township park immediately north of the two prisons would become taxable by the school district, which levies a millage nearly 10 times the township's. Except for a ream of paperwork and the addition of some clerical time to the taxpayers' costs of government, the situation would likely be a wash.

Of course, the township could avoid taxation by putting up a sign on its parkland calling it a park and paying enough in liability insurance to allow people to take "nature walks" on it — no improvement to the land is necessary. Similarly, Detroit is claiming it uses DeHoCo for police training, and who is to say they never did or will? Courts most likely will find that even holding vacant land against some future need is a legitimate public "use" of land.

The school property again makes a good example — the district bought the land some time ago and is holding it against the day it needs property for more school buildings. The building need not be put on this site to make this a worthwhile venture — the land was bought at what now seem bargain rates and could be sold or traded to acquire property at the correct site, if the need arises.

Still, Northville must do something to get these other governments to quit sitting on land they have no foreseeable use for and get it sold to private interests. That, we think, is the intent of assessing taxes against Detroit. Perhaps, the politicians think, if we raise the cost of holding that land as high as we can by making the city spend money on legal fees to defend it, and at the same time threaten to establish a fearful legal precedent, Detroit will just sell off the land to get out of it. Perhaps it will work . . . we don't think so.

For most governmental entities, the incentive to sell off unneeded land is strong. Not only is there potential income to be had from the sale, but if the new owners are taxable, there is a long-term gain in expanded tax base. This holds true for the state, county and school-owned properties. The balance between public uses and costs, and the potential benefits of selling, should ultimately work in Northville's favor. But Detroit doesn't get to tax DeHoCo after it's sold. And it has a strange opposition to letting the outer suburbs grow at their own pace. The problem, then, is one of trying to alter the balance between Detroit's goals and Northville's.

One way might be through the concept of "payments in lieu of taxes." Our map shows the Allen Terrace property as untaxed, but the city does get revenue out of it through payments in lieu of taxes that offset the cost of police, fire and DPW services. In a similar vein, the state is also supposed to pay local governments for the cost of providing fire protection to state properties. Expending effort at the state level to allow for similar agreements at the local government level seems to us the more rational approach to the cost side of the equation.

Meanwhile, getting the county and state to sell off part of their holdings seems a more attainable goal. Both hold more land than does Detroit, and there may even be a more legitimate tax case against Plymouth Center, where buildings have been leased to non-government entities. While taxing DeHoCo may make for great headlines, as do most forms of Detroit-bashing, treating the city's property differently from the county's doesn't do much to convince anyone that we care about their best interests.

What do you think? Should government property be taxed? How can Northville go about reducing the disproportionate share of public land in the township? Do you want to see those parcels developed? Will development reduce taxes by expanding the number of taxpayers, or increase them by increasing costs for service? Write The Editor, 104 West Main, Northville, MI 48167.

Blue skies, just dandy

By Anita Crone

As a current woman of the world and a former fly-by-nighter, I had the opportunity last week to gather a new perspective on airline travel.

I didn't go anyplace, but a family member did, and that's where the whole story picks up after a three-year hiatus from the not-so-friendly skies.

Back in the middle ages of airline travel, when airline companies were as abundant as tulips in the spring, certain carriers had developed reputations for consistently providing certain services, most of which they never used in their advertising brochures.

To those companies, I now owe an apology, especially to Alleghany, now called US Air.

You see, my mother went to visit her sister in Pennsylvania, and when she left Detroit she took all her luggage but neglected to pack her medication.

Everything would have been copacetic had she not gotten sick 400 miles away from a doctor who was familiar with treating her and nearly 500 miles away from her pills.

Of course, like children, parents never get sick at a decent hour; they wait until doctors are away from their office and until only an all-night pharmacist is still open. The problem, therefore, was to get the pills from Farmington to York, Penn. without going crazy.

The package delivery people were sympathetic, but my timing was off. They had already made their last pickups from the area, and while they were certainly willing to deliver the medicine if I could get it to their facility, they were unable to guarantee delivery the next day unless I could arrive at the airport within half an hour.

They also wanted cash money up front. I don't blame them. That's how they run their business. Unfortunately, I was cash poor. Scratch that idea.

Enter a personal savior. Traci Brown, customer service supervisor for US Air at Detroit Metropolitan Airport, offered a hand. She'd be willing and able to get the pills to Pennsylvania, providing I gave her a smile at 6:30 a.m. on a Tuesday morning.

Brown didn't know what she was asking. Tuesdays are Deadline Days at the newspaper and the emphasis is on dead. But I tried and she did more than tried.

When I arrived at Metro, Brown was already on duty, despite having worked the late shift the night before. She had her clothes pressed, makeup in place and was actually grinning as I struggled to find her through sleep-covered eyes.

She made three phone calls that I know of to Pittsburgh to ensure the package changed planes and didn't get lost in the shuffle, and personally delivered the goods to the plane at Metro.

It made my day and she didn't even ask for the smile.

Tigers were definitely smart for signing him to another contract.

"But I don't think you can say he deserves several million a year on the basis of one good game."

"One good game," she shrieked. "That was just the first game of the season. Wait for the second game. . . and the third game. If he keeps up this pace of two homers and five RBIs per game, he'll finish the season with 324 home runs and 810 RBIs. Maybe then you'll admit he's worth all that money."

I was beginning to get the distinct feeling that any semblance of logic had deserted her thinking and that I was losing the argument by a score of something like 28-0. So I dropped the subject.

Besides, I was sort of hoping she was right.

Students design world peace flag

To the Editor:

This letter is being written to you and to high conscious individuals everywhere. It is especially addressed to individuals associated with higher education who desire to contribute thought-action-energy to world peace communications.

We are designing a Higher Education World Peace Flag. We the originators are "The Students for the Development of World Peace Communications," a nonpolitical, nonreligious, nonprofit group which emerged from a Schoolcraft College Communications 61 class.

The Peace Flag is green in background. It is centered by the world (superimposed by a bell). Over the world is a rainbow, symbol of hope, held in the mouth of an ascending dove. The borders of the flag are purposely being left vacant for suggested symbols to be contributed by students in other colleges and universities, both in America and in other lands.

We desire that higher education students in every country provide us with a higher conscious symbol to add to the border of the basic flag in future editions.

Our conscious purpose is to generate peaceful thought, energy and attitudes in a "possibility thinking" manner. Our global purpose is to gain a positive response from students in every country. Our communication purpose is to involve you.

Soon this flag will be available in printed form for a positive participant to fly from the radio antenna of his car.

We ask that CB and Ham operators everywhere communicate the purposeful possibilities of this project. In this manner we invite a positive response from every state and country and every institution (and individual) of higher consciousness. Please know that on the flag design is the image of a bell.

We are asking that higher conscious institutions everywhere, whether educational or religious, toll their bells for peace on May 25 and December 31, 1986 . . . these international peace days.

Why this possibility thinking project? For whom do the bells toll? Let them toll for world peace and let this seamless flag, replete with rainbow be raised with high consciousness.

Write to Students Dev. World Peace Communic., Schoolcraft College, 18800 Haggerty, B-544. Livonia, MI 48152.

Car wash funds aid burn medicine group

To the Editor:

The Northville (City) Fire Department did it again, folks. Fire fighters raised $450 for the National Institute for Burn Medicine. The fire fighters' car wash held on March 22 at the station at 215 W. Main St. was a success.

The fire fighters want to work closely with NIBM this year and help make Michigan the model state for the entire country in burn medicine and education programs. The Northville Fire Department wants to thank those people who participated in the car wash.

The National Institute for Burn Medicine is a health care support organization headquartered in Ann Arbor, and it works on the burn problem in research, education prevention programs and patient care support.

After the fact

By PHILIP JEROME

"Well, what do you have to say now?" she demanded as our paths crossed briefly Monday night.

There was a note of triumph in her voice when she said it . . . one of those "I-told-you-so" tones. So I inquired politely as to what on earth she might be referring to.

"You know," she responded. "Kirk Gibson. The Four Million Dollar Man. The Home Run King."

"Why he beat those Red Sox all by himself. So maybe now are you willing to admit he was worth all that money the Tigers gave him?"

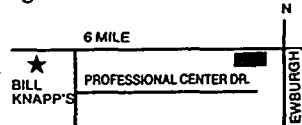

If there's one thing that makes me mad it's when a woman decides she knows more about baseball than I do. In the first place that's highly unlikely. And in the second place I couldn't ever remember having said Kirk Gibson isn't worth the money the Tigers are paying him.

"You don't need to tell me about Kirk Gibson," I told her. "He's a jerk — they don't call him 'Kirk the Jerk' for nothing, you know. But he can hit the baseball and the

Barbara May, Glen Betts and Debbie Dotson make things work at Milford's Great American Pizza

Marketing plan is key to success for pizza parlor

By MATT SEIDL

During Glen Betts' days as drum major for the Milford High School marching band, he never once thought about owning a pizza establishment.

The only thing on his mind as he high-stepped up and down the football field was music. He instructed some elementary music classes during his senior year at MHS and then went on to study the art for a couple of years at Eastern Michigan University.

"What I really wanted to do was come back to Milford and be a band teacher," explained Betts, who currently is part owner of Great American Pizza in downtown Milford.

"I guess you could say I got side-tracked a little. I went into the service (Army) in the early 1970s and then did some consulting work for potential fast-food places."

It wasn't until July of 1984 that Betts got involved in the pizza business. He answered a newspaper ad from his current partner, "Mr. Adams," who was interested in buying out Big Louie's.

Adams was a rookie in the pizza business as well, but had a solid background in advertising and marketing. So, with Adams handling the paper work and Betts taking care of the leg work, the duo turned Big Louie's into Great American Pizza.

"This is our taking-off point for product research," Betts commented. "It's kind of our guinea pig."

Area Realtors predict record year for sales in existing home market

Based on the first two months, 1986 could be the year which will establish new records for local home resales, according to the Metro MLS.

"Most of our members and many homeowners recall the record setting market of 1978 when we sold nearly 18,500 homes," said Joanne R. Bryngelson, president of the multiple listing organization. "We neared that mark here in 1985 with the sale of more than 17,000 homes and condominiums."

"Through the first two months of 1986 we are running some 24 percent ahead of last year's pace. Unless there is some unforeseen change in market conditions, this will become our new benchmark year."

She noted, however, that part of the success of this year's home resale market will hinge on finding sellers ready to move up in the housing market.

"Diminished listings and rising prices are natural accompaniments of a growing market and, in many areas we cover, top properties are coming into short supply, she said. "This, more than the higher prices, seems to be surprising buyers just coming into the market."

Bryngelson said that many Metro MLS members have buyers waiting for particular types of homes in preferred locations to come on the market.

"As a result, the ink is hardly dry on some new listing agreements before sellers begin receiving offers," she said. "Part of this rapid turnover, however, is due to our improved computer service that speeds new listing information directly to member offices on call."

Bryngelson feels some sellers noting rising home prices may be withholding their properties from the market until it heats up even more and the home may command even higher value.

"Unfortunately, this also will apply to the home they wish to purchase as a replacement," she stated. "If the new home is in a higher price range, the delay could end up costing them considerably more. They also will find a better selection of homes now, because we feel the supply will continue to drop."

Here's tips for computing withholding

Money Management

Have you been getting too much taken out of your paycheck for taxes?

Do you get a little unnerved wondering about whether you properly filled out your W-4 form? You're not alone. Most people say income tax withholding is a confusing topic. According to the Michigan Association of CPAs, an easy to follow withholding tax calculation can clear up any questions you may have about withholding of your weekly wages.

Withholding is the federal government's way of collecting tax on your income. Your employer figures out how much of your wages should be taxed based upon information you provided when you filed your W-4 form.

The W-4 form is the one that's given to you when you begin a new job. But when people begin a new job, about the last thing they want to contend with is an IRS form they do not understand — even after they've read it over several times.

Because the form is so complicated, many people incorrectly fill out their W-4s. Fortunately, you can straighten out any withholding problems by filing a new W-4.

In fact, while the details of your 1985 tax return are fresh in your mind, this is an opportune time to address the issue. You'll want to consider filing a new W-4 with your employer if you expect to receive a large refund from the IRS as a result of having too much withheld from your wages last year. A big refund means you allowed the government to withhold too much, and you gave Uncle Sam an interest-free loan, according to CPAs.

Another reason to file a new W-4 is when too little was withheld from your paycheck. If you filed your 1985 return, consider adjusting your withholding to have more taken out of your weekly paycheck. This can save you from having any penalties imposed for having too little withheld. The penalty can be avoided by applying one of the following safeguards: Pay at least 80 percent of your tax liability during the year or pay an amount equal to or greater than your tax liability of 1985.

The other important reason to consider filing a new W-4 is if your expected annual financial situation to occur in your financial changes. For people who purchased their first home this year, for instance, the mortgage interest and local tax deductions on their 1986 returns may allow them to claim extra exemptions on the W-4 and have less income withheld.

Unfortunately, the W-4 is one of the most perplexing tax forms Americans must fill out. To save you the trouble of laboring over the hard-to-follow W-4, here is a four-step formula that can help you figure out how much to withhold from your weekly paycheck. Grab a pad and pencil.

1. Add up the following: Contributions you expect to make in 1986 to an Individual Retirement Account (IRA) or Keogh; alimony you will be paying; the amount you plan to claim for a two-earner deduction (this is for working couples only) and the total of all itemized deductions you will claim. (Reminder: itemized deductions are medical expenses that exceed five percent of adjusted gross income, charitable contributions, casualty losses that exceed 10 percent of adjusted gross income, interest payments, state and local taxes and certain job and investment expenses).

Some less common items that you should also add to your total include: deductible moving expenses; business and investment losses; unreimbursed employee business expenses and an adjustment for a child care tax credit.

2. If you do not plan to itemize deductions in 1986 simply add any charitable contributions to the total you got in step one and go directly to step three.

However, if you will be itemizing deductions on your 1986 return, subtract your zero bracket amount from the total in step one. The zero bracket amount for a single person in 1986 is $2,480. For a married person filing jointly, the zero bracket amount is $3,670, and it's $2,480 for a person who files as a head of household.

3. Divide the total from step two by 1,080. Round off your answer to the next highest whole number. If your answer is 1.2, for example, round it off to two.

4. Add the number you obtained in step three to the other personal exemptions to which you are entitled. You are allowed to claim one personal exemption each for yourself, your spouse (except if your spouse works and claims an exemption on a W-4), your children and other dependents. In addition, you are entitled to an extra exemption if you or your spouse are age 65 or older or are blind.

According to the Michigan Association of CPAs, the final number of exemptions you now have is the one you can insert on line four of the W-4. You submit that form to your employer. Based on the number of exemptions you have entered, the employer uses a table to figure out how much to withhold from your weekly paycheck.

Be aware, however, that the amount of withholding you have figured out here applies only to your income from your paycheck. Significant amounts of interest income or other sources of income will require additional amounts to be withheld.

Also keep in mind that if you claim more than 14 exemptions on your W-4, your employer is required to notify the IRS. If you need further assistance in sorting through the withholding questions or if you have other tax planning issues you want to resolve, consider getting the help of your local CPA.

State tax cut to raise some jobless benefits

The cut in Michigan's state income tax rate could slightly increase weekly unemployment benefit amounts for about 25 percent of the 131,200 currently receiving regular state jobless benefits.

The tax cut took effect March 31. Richard Simmons Jr., director of the Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESC), noted that the agency by law must adjust its benefit rate schedule whenever there is a change in the state or federal income tax rate.

"Although the benefit rate change will not affect most unemployment benefit claimants, we estimate that approximately 34,000 claimants will receive an increase in their benefits of $1 or $2 per week because of the drop in Michigan's income tax rate," said Simmons.

The increase will take effect for weeks of unemployment beginning on or after April 6, 1986, and will start appearing on benefit checks issued during the following week.

The MESC bases a worker's weekly unemployment benefit rate on the individual's after-tax earnings. These earnings will be affected by changes in the tax laws.

The commission is required to adjust its benefit rate tables based on changes in withholding schedules published by the Internal Revenue Service or the Michigan Department of Treasury or on changes in the Social Security tax rate.

Governor James Blanchard signed legislation on March 4 reducing the state income tax rate from 5.1 percent to 4.6 percent.

The current change in weekly unemployment benefits rates marks the third rate change since December 1985. In December the state income tax rate dropped from 5.35 percent to 5.1 percent. A month later changes in the federal income tax and Social Security tax rates caused further adjustments in some jobless benefit rates.

U-M symposium aims to stimulate new business ventures

"For a nation whose critics have wondered aloud if its 'can-do' is done for, I have some good news," said University of Michigan Finance Professor David J. Brophy of the U-M School of Business Administration.

"The American dream is not dead and there are all kinds of entrepreneurs out there proving it."

"Although our economy has been dominated since World War II by large corporations that consolidate several operations under one roof," said Brophy, "international competition, new technology and deregulation give new significance to the entrepreneur and the independent business unit."

Entrepreneurial thinking is part of a worldwide phenomenon that suggests a major restructuring of economic activity, according to Brophy. "People are spinning off new firms from large companies or starting independent entrepreneurial units within companies. Business leaders realize that innovation moves faster in smaller, leaner organizations."

The spinoff phenomenon, largely absent from the Midwest, has been most evident on the nation's coasts, where the "big corporation culture" has been strongest, said the U-M professor. But as managing director of the Growth Capital Group, an organization created to stimulate the development of emerging growth companies, Brophy hopes this year's Growth Capital Symposium, April 15-17, will again stimulate new business in Michigan.

"The symposium brings together professional investors with entrepreneurs, whom we train to make effective presentations in seeking growth capital," explained Brophy.

Typically, representatives of 20-25 emerging growth companies address an audience of more than 300 venture capitalists, investment bankers, individual investors and representatives of financial service firms.

"Over the years, two-thirds of our presenting firms have received a total of about $90 million in funding," said Brophy. "The others get an education in venture capital."

Michigan's leaders have shown their appreciation.

According to Douglas Ross, director of the Michigan Department of Commerce, "Michigan has emerged as one of the states with the fastest rate of new business starts in America, and I have no doubt that Dave Brophy can claim substantial credit for this entrepreneurial renaissance."

Michigan Governor James Blanchard, who keynoted last year's symposium, calls the gathering "a critical asset for Michigan's economic future."

Outside Michigan, Sandy Robertson, a leader in the Northern California investment community, said the U-M Growth Capital Symposium "has been a forum for companies that are pretty manufacturing-oriented, that you don't find in any other part of the country."

The symposium also gives selected U-M graduate students a chance to attend and witness the interplay among investors and entrepreneurs from throughout the country and abroad.

Brophy got into venture capital research shortly after joining the U-

M faculty in 1966, "before emerging growth companies became chic." As a co-founder of Vector Research Inc., which specialized in military contracts research, he experienced firsthand "a Michigan financial community that had a limited number of venture capital specialists."

Later, with Donald N. Smith, director of the Industrial Development Division in the U-M Institute of Science and Technology, Brophy saw a need for a forum to bring together investors and entrepreneurs. They started the Growth Capital Symposiums in 1980.

Since then, says Brophy, more than 100 companies have participated, along with state officials, foundation members, attorneys, accountants, local venture capitalists and bankers. "There are now similar symposiums on a half-dozen college campuses across the nation," according to Brophy.

Brophy said academic support is critical to high technology growth. "The creative minds along 'Route 128' near Boston were trained and supported by Harvard University and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, while Stanford University provided a primary boost to development of 'Silicon Valley' in California," he noted. "Likewise, The University of Michigan is helping develop growth companies in the Great Lakes area."

But Brophy doesn't condone pitting region against region. "The War Between the States is over," he says. "What we're trying to establish is a general climate for growth."

This climate requires more than capital, Brophy said. "It needs such things as local supplier and customer networks, supportive local and state development units and firms which offer modestly-priced legal and accounting services to emerging business in hopes of developing larger clients for the future."

He said increasing attention is being paid to emerging growth companies for good reason:

□ By one estimate, 80 percent of the new jobs in the United States are in entrepreneurial companies, while the number of employees in "Fortune 500" companies has shrunk.

□ Per-employee productivity is much greater in smaller operations than larger ones.

□ Large companies are adapting entrepreneurial tactics, letting "intrapreneurs" lead new growth units within companies.

□ The potential market for emerging industrial technology is estimated at $100 billion for the Midwest alone.

Yet, Brophy cautioned against relying too much on this momentum. "It would be sad for entrepreneurs and venture capitalists to say, 'amidst a stable economy, we can relax now. We don't have to hustle anymore.'"

"People willing to develop an emerging growth company possess an energy that our society should put to good use."

Marketing strategies crucial for pizza parlor

"We're using some different techniques, both with our product and in marketing."

The experiment has been successful so far. Just last December, Adams opened another Great American Pizza establishment in Northville on Novi Road. Betts is not involved with the Northville store, however.

Great American Pizza's biggest claim to fame is its crust, which is "thick and bread," according to Betts.

"At most pizza places, the crust is thin and crackery," he said. "We definitely feel our's is the better of the two."

"The type of pizza we offer here is deep-pan pizza. A lot of people get it mixed up with deep-dish, but there is a technical difference. With deep-dish, the dough and ingredients are kind of layered like an apple pie."

Great American Pizza offers the 2-for-1 deal, which is becoming common in the pizza world. The restaurant also offers 13 different toppings, pocket sandwiches, salads, breadsticks and beverages.

"Our emphasis is on free delivery," Betts said. "We do have a few tables to sit down and eat at, though. A lot of the local merchants like to come in and sit down during their lunch break."

Betts admitted that his prices are higher than most in the area. The average costs at Great American Pizza (GAP) are $8 for a small pizza, $11 for a medium and $13 for a large.

But Betts also added that the quality of the pizza and the service at GAP is top-notch. He says the public response has been good during the last 20 months.

"Milford has been great to us," he said. "We've had some marketing campaigns where we'll actually call the customers and see what they think. They really seem to like our service."

At Great American Pizza, the average delivery time is 30 minutes. If the delivery is more than 15 minutes late, there is no charge for the food.

"We have a lot of marketing strategies and we're always working on more," Betts said. "You have to concentrate in that area if you want to be successful in the pizza business."

"This is a tough business to compete in," he added. "Only so many dollars are going to be spent on pizza, and there are a lot of places to buy pizza. In order to get your share of the pie, you need to come up with what the majority wants."

"That's how (Tom) Monaghan got Domino's Pizza going. In Ann Arbor, the best thing you can do is cater to the college kids. That's exactly what he did. In Milford, we feel quality service is what the people are looking for."

Betts said his main competitors in the Milford area are Pizza Shack, Hungry Howie's and Little Caesar's.

"We eventually would like to expand more," Betts said. "We enjoy the small-town atmosphere here in Milford. True, the big bucks are in the big cities, but dollars is not our ultimate goal."

"To me, this is an enjoyment. I've always wanted my own business in a town like Milford. I like to know the people by name when they come in. It's kind of a neat feeling."

Betts does just about every job imaginable for Great American Pizza. He cooks, he cleans and he delivers.

Some of the key people who assist Betts are manager Mary Phipps, assistant manager Debbie Dolton and crew leader Barbara May. All three are Milford residents.

Oakland Chamber sets secretaries' luncheon

Gratia Lousma, wife of astronaut Jack Lousma, will be the guest speaker when the Oakland County Chamber of Commerce presents its eighth annual Secretaries Day Luncheon on Wednesday, April 23.

The luncheon will be held at the Main Event in the Silverdome at 11:30 a.m. Tickets are priced at $12.50 per person, and advance registrations must be made by April 16. For more information or reservations call the Oakland County Chamber of Commerce at 683-4747 or 644-1229.

Lousma will talk about "The Life of an Astronaut's Wife." Her personal insights into the life of an astronaut are especially timely.

How do the demands and dangers of an astronaut's job affect the whole family and how does the family deal with the pressures? She also will present a documentary film created by her husband featuring footage taken in outer space.

Employers are urged to let their secretaries know how much they are appreciated. Each secretary will receive a complimentary cocktail, floral gift and a surprise gift. Arrangements have been made by Manpower Temporary Services, Kelly Services and Entech Services.

Tree-Tips

Most of the year, we Michiganders tend to take our trees for granted. Oh, in April and May we might notice when they bud, bloom and blow sweet aromas into the air. In October we might notice when they present a free psychedelic sideshow, and in November we might notice when we have to rake up their annual pre-winter deposit of leaves.

The rest of the time, trees quietly and thanklessly re-charge our oxygen supply, shelter us from the elements, suspend our hammocks, and tree houses, and enrich our horizons.

Now and then, however, something happens that makes us acutely aware of their value. In Northville two springs ago, it was a severe wind storm that tore up trees of incalculable historical value. In Novi right now, it's a construction boom that's sending residents and officials scurrying to the defense of the city's remaining forests.

Maybe the time is right to pay more attention to Arbor Day, which has been observed every April since 1872 to commemorate the birthday of its originator, Nebraskan Julius F. Morton.

This year, Arbor Day comes up Friday, April 25. In the meantime, we hope you'll find some of the arborial lore we've gathered here, well — fruitful.

Leafing thru the textbooks

First of all, trees are very big plants. Most are more than 10 feet tall, so if your sapling seems unimpressive now, hang in there. You may be surprised at how quickly it will reaffirm your patience.

Trees are divided into two groups: conifers and deciduous.

Conifers are principally evergreens and keep their leaves (or needles) year-round. Deciduous trees shed their leaves each fall.

There are more than 1,000 species of trees native to the continental U.S., including a few imports that have become naturalized to the extent of reproducing themselves in the wild state. The world's oldest are said to be the bristlecone pines, most of which grow in California's White Mountains. Some are estimated to be nearly 5,000 years old.

The tallest, as many know, are California's redwoods, the tallest of which was recorded in 1972 at 362 feet.

Michigan boasts the country's tallest members of many species, including red maple (125 feet, Armada), beech (161 feet, Three Oaks) and black cherry (114 feet, Lawrence).

A few are a short drive away. The U.S.' tallest pear tree (57 feet) is in Clawson. Utica is home of the tallest American bladdernut (36 feet) and crack willow (112 feet). Oakland County has some of the tallest plum trees (35 feet), Lansing is home of the tallest northern catalpa (94 feet), and Washtenaw County boasts a record 130-foot thornless honeysuckle that's the country's tallest.

Both Novi and Northville literally and figuratively were carved out of Michigan's virgin forests. Northville's founding families, including the familiar names of Dunlap, Cady, Horton, Yerkes, Hutton, Starkweather, Tibbitts and McFarlan, subsisted largely on bountiful hickory nuts in winter. Two of Novi's earliest industries were sawmills, one founded in 1830 by David Guile and another by A.C. Smith in 1833.

Right timber for your yard

So now you're fired up. You're ready to turn your lawn into a wildlife preserve. Let's talk about your options as to what tree is right for your needs.

Apple. If they get plenty of sun, apple trees tend to be hardy enough for city life. But if you're expecting to harvest fruit, you should be aware you'll need more than one tree. It takes two or three comparable varieties which bloom at the same time for the pollination that produces apples to take place. Crabapples are beautifully florid and make a tart fruit that's good for jellies and preserves and also present an intense attraction to animals. Pear trees have a comparable need for sun, but not for companionship.

Ash. Black ash is a hardy variety and flowers pleasantly, but tends to attract insects and may require some maintenance. Various olive trees belong to this family and can survive in Michigan, although they are not native.

Beech. Durable and possessing dense foliage, the beech is a very good shade tree. It tends to grow slowly and requires a good deal of moisture. Its leaves turn an attractive bronze in the fall and hang on through most of the winter.

Birch. Birches aren't well-suited to city life. They require spraying because of their susceptibility to certain insects, and they need very dark nights.

Black gum. Also known as tupelo, the black gum is picturesque year-round, with scarlet, maroon and green leaves visible in fall. They need plenty of water and tend to grow slowly. Sweet gum is similar, and needs plenty of sun and room to grow. Other than watering, gum trees are relatively easy to maintain.

Cedar. Varieties of these fragrant evergreens that can thrive in urban areas include arbor vitae (white cedar), which likes cold, wet sites and slow but not stagnant drainage, and red cedar, which prefers dry but rich bottom land soils and does well even in dense plantings.

Elm. Thanks to Dutch elm disease, you can pretty much forget 'em.

Flowering dogwood. These are spectacular in spring, with bright white blossoms and red buds, and in fall, with purple and scarlet colored leaves.

Ginkgo. This oriental transplant isn't common, but it grows well in urban areas and it's a nice change of pace with its interesting branch patterns and bright green fan-shaped leaves which turn a buttery yellow in fall.

Hickory. Shagbark hickory has a trunk that is indeed shaggy. They smell nice and they're a pretty yellow in fall, but not good for shade since they tend to litter husks and nuts many months of the year.

Hawthorn. Compact enough to complement ranch-style homes, hawthorns survive city life quite well. They bloom white and white-pink in spring and are attractive to many varieties of birds.

Locust. The black locust has showy flowers and grows quickly in sunny areas. The honey locust is not a good bet for suburban turf. Its pods tend to litter the ground and its branches have stiff, treacherous thorns.

Magnolia. The magnolia virginiana is one of the few magnolias that can stand up to a Michigan winter. They grow relatively slowly and require some maintenance, but the characteristic vivid white blossoms associated with the species make them worth the trouble.

Maple. The densely-packed leaves, bright red and yellow fall colors and durability of maples make them favorite trees for landscaping. Black maple keeps its leaves well into the fall and is tolerant of shady areas. Sugar maples, the chief source of maple syrup, are less hardy and need plenty of moisture. Red maples grow quickly, are disease-resistant and have attractive red buds in spring. Silver maples also grow quickly. Their branches tend to hang in a pretty way, but their roots pose problems in urban areas and they require pruning of decaying limbs. Norway maple is a common, low-maintenance variety.

Oaks. There are nine species of oak native to America. The properties they share are fairly easy maintenance, slow-to-medium growth and excellent leaf density for shade — if you ignore the occasional acorn on the noggin.

Pine. Pine trees tend to grow slowly, but extremely tall. In maturity they tend to dominate suburban landscapes unless their roots are pruned. But the hardy, evergreen properties of most commercially distributed pines, firs and spruces tend to be excellent as windbreaks. Used sparingly, they tend to be easily maintained. But don't park under their boughs in summer if you value your car's paint job.

Redbud. They grow well in shade and bloom riveting magenta blossoms in spring. Redbud leaves are shiny green all summer and turn yellow in the fall.

Sycamore. Tall and thin, a healthy sycamore will live for centuries. They're a good ornamental tree, need moisture, sun and regular maintenance. They tend to shed their leaves, which are bright yellow in fall, year 'round.

Wild plum. Among the most pungently fragrant of any trees, they grow quickly in rich soils, and blossom beautifully white and light-pink in spring. Canada plums are similar.

Willow. Willows are pretty all right, with their hanging branches and leaves, and they grow rapidly and with little prompting. But they're also susceptible to insects and diseases, so they may require an occasional spraying.

On care and feeding

Trees may be invaluable from a psychological standpoint. But from an economic standpoint, things are different — there certainly is a value.

Trees cost money. That's why it's wise to think over your investment carefully before — and after — plunking down your hard-earned cash.

Before buying a tree, any tree, consider exactly what you will use it for. Whether decorative or utilitarian, make sure the location you have chosen will work out.

Take care to note where electrical lines pass overhead — Edison and Bell have the right to remove your tree if it's likely to interfere with their wires. Also avoid underground pipes. Many variety of trees have powerful enough roots to wreak havoc with your plumbing.

While planting trees usually is regarded as a cosmetic landscaping improvement, when they are placed wisely, they also have fine properties as energy-savers.

Coniferous trees, for example, if densely planted to the north-northwest of your home, can deflect close to 80 percent of a hard wind's intensity. They also can block out warming sun rays, so it's wise to keep them a good distance from your house — a distance of about 1½ times their height makes for the smartest deployment.

Deciduous trees offer equally energy-prudent uses. By planting them to the east and west, they will shade your house and you from the sun in summer and allow plenty of sun to shine through when their limbs are bare in winter.

If your planting is a relatively small-scale affair for which professional help is not likely necessary, then play amateur landscape architect. Draw a map of your property showing where your house is located and where there are existing trees, and draw an elevation sketch of your house. If you want detail, you can trace a slide projection on paper.

Then sketch in your new tree(s) — what you'd like it to look like. Maybe it's a fir tree, maybe a bowl-branching oak. Remember, it's easier to re-draw a sketch than re-plant a tree.

Then take your sketch down to the nursery and describe as carefully as possible what you want out of your new investment. Low maintenance? Lots of shade? Tall and narrow growth or wide, low-to-the-ground branches? The more detail you can give the tree dealer, the more likely you'll get sound advice on what variety of tree to buy.

When you're ready to plant, be sure to consider the properties of the soil — a good deal of humus fertilizer is almost always advisable. When transplanting a tree, make sure it is planted to the same depth from which it was taken.

And when you plant it, water it, water it, water it — that gets the roots straining outward to the new soil.

Whenever watering a tree, water it deeply and infrequently. Watering frequently and lightly will keep the roots growing erratically and close to the surface of the ground, causing instability. The best time to water is in late afternoon or early evening, thus allowing the moisture to be retained instead of evaporating in the sun.

If you're doing your own pruning, stick to relatively small jobs: dead, low branches. Make sure the branch is pruned flush, not left in a stub. If you're in doubt or faced with pruning or trimming big branches on big trees — it's safer physically and monetarily to leave it to a reputable arborist. There are many around eager for the work.

Haynies file Florida retirement report

By JEAN DAY

Not only is Florida a favored winter vacation spot for local residents it's also gaining as a second home or retirement destination.

Among the most recent — and happiest — retirees at Charlotte Harbor south of Punta Gorda, Fla., are Midge and Bob Haynie, former longtime residents on Cottisford in Brookland Farms. Midge, who was a director of the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce, also was well known for her association with News Printing.

She reports that she had only 11 days from the date their home sale here was finalized to December 1 when they had to vacate and, therefore, good-byes were limited. In addition, she writes, there only was time to check out one Florida location.

Happily, it turned out to be a right choice. She writes that they are congratulating themselves often on their "find" — it's a condo in Burnt Store Marina where, Midge says, "some days we just sit here in our living room and watch the brown pelicans dive for fish, the fishermen on the bank 30 feet away, the boats ... a pair of mockingbirds building a nest in our tree." She adds that she welcomes stops by friends.

A reminder comes from West Palm Beach

Alice Pooley, who is chairing arrangements for Northville Historical Society's auction at 8 p.m. April 17 in New School Church in Mill Race Historical Village, sends a reminder from West Palm Beach, Fla.

Everyone in the community is invited to come and bid. Donated items also are welcome. They will be accepted from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday, April 12, in Mill Race Village. Collectibles and antiques are especially sought. All donations are tax deductible, and light refreshments will be served.

Chairperson Pooley with her husband, Art, and sister and brother-in-law, Marian and Dick Roller, have been spending a month in Florida. Alice and Marian have been strong supporters and workers in the historical society. They co-chaired the docent program a couple of years ago.

The Florida sojourn also was a reunion as the Rollers' son Rick and his children, Kristine and Dan, from Traverse City spent a few days at Epcot before arriving at the condo, Alice Pooley relates, adding that they arrived with their son Tom and daughter-in-law Liz from British Columbia. Since cousins Rick and Tom had not seen each other for at least 10 years, it was a special reunion for the two — both avid fishermen. The Pooleys' daughter Nancy and son-in-law David with sons Brian, Nathan and Matthew made an Easter visit to Florida from their home in Bloomfield Hills.

"We all saw Halley's comet several times from our balcony overlooking the Atlantic," Alice Pooley adds.

Local mission group slates visit to Mexico

Ten members from First Presbyterian Church of Northville will flying to Cancun, Mexico, this Friday on a week-long visit to view a Presbyterian mission project there.

The trip is being made at the invitation of the Rev. Ramon Celis, pastor of First Presbyterian Church of Cancun, and may result in possible financial support for the mission in Mexico from the Northville church.

The Rev. Nile Harper of the Northville church, who is one of the 10 participants, explains that the invitation came after the Mexican minister visited the local church and spoke to about 100 at a dinner last November. He was in the Detroit area visiting other churches participating in the Mexican mission projects.

Other study tour participants are Ralph and Margaret Spigarelli, Bob and Denise Reese, Ken and Janice Goldi, David Buckland, Jessica Bohan and Jean June, who is clerk of the local church session.

Rev. Harper notes that, because of the failing oil economy, there is even greater need for assistance in Mexico. The visit will have four study aspects, he said.

The group will learn about the evangelism project at the Cancun church which is is an outreach project to almost 100 churches in small villages.

The visitors also will learn how, through the Project Logoi, lay persons are trained to become pastors in the many new Presbyterian churches organized throughout the Yucatan and other parts of Central America. Project Logoi is a three-year training program. Rev. Harper said that the village pastors receive intensive training in Cancun. The staff also makes visits to the village churches.

During their stay, the Northville visitors will visit some of the small village churches.

They also will visit the youth hostel and health clinic which are part of the Presbyterian Mission outreach of the Mexican church. Rev. Harper explained that the youth hostel is "essentially an orphanage for pre-teens and young teen who have no parents."

Headquarters for the group will be the Hotel America in downtown Cancun.

Upon return, the visitors will report on their experience and make recommendation to the mission committee of the church about giving support to the Mexican church and its outreach projects.

Annual winetasting event planned at Novi Hilton

Local residents will have an opportunity to preview the latest wines from the Sonoma County Wine Growers Association at the Novi Hilton on Tuesday, April 15, from 7:30 to 10 p.m.

The preview at the Novi Hilton is part of the association's 10th annual wine-tasting tour. More than 40 Sonoma County wineries will be represented, each presenting two of its newest wines including the just-released 1983 and 1984 reds and the not-yet-released 1985 whites.

In addition, the participating wineries will be represented by the actual winemakers and owners, who will be available to discuss the attributes and characteristics of their wines. Each guest will receive a wine-tasting book to note their particular favorite wines for future reference.

Cheeses, breads, crackers and fruits will be provided by the Novi Hilton.

Proceeds from the event will benefit the Detroit Community Music School. Located in the cultural center of Detroit, the school offers a wide range of music, dance, education and performance programs to students of all ages.

Tickets for the wine-tasting benefit are priced at $25 per person. The cost of the tickets is partially tax-deductible. For more information call the Detroit Community Music School at 831-2870. To obtain tickets send your name and address along with checks payable to Detroit Community Music School at 200 East Kirby, Detroit, MI 48202.

Those who attend may select from approximately 30 Chardonnays, 16 Cabernet Sauvignons, 16 Sauvignon Blancs, six Pinot Noirs and five sparkling wines, Zinfandels, Melots, White Zinfandels, Rieselings and special vintner blends.

Michael Dixon, president of Simi Winery and the Sonoma County Wine Growers Association, said the event offers people the opportunity to discover the "quality and diversity of our premium wine-producing region in California."

A compilation by The Wine Spectator revealed that more than half the winningest wines in American competitions in 1985 were from Sonoma County.

"We definitely believe we are becoming one of the most important wine-producing regions in the world," said Dixon.

Saves Lives and Money

Diseases that once killed thousands are now totally preventable or curable. Pneumonia and tuberculosis were dreaded conditions around the turn of the century. Antibiotics such as penicillin and streptomycin first of the so-called "wonder drugs" eliminated much death and suffering resulting from these and other bacterial infections. And vaccines were developed which provided protection against dreaded viral diseases such as polio, mumps, tetanus, and others.

In the last 20 years, diuretics and other anti-hypertensive agents have helped reduce heart disease-related deaths by approximately 20 to 25 percent and brought about an estimated reduction in strokes of between 35 and 45 percent. The National Cancer Institute estimates that the cure rate for cancer five year survival after diagnosis has increased from 33 percent in the 1950's to a current level of about 50 percent. Much of the increase has been attributed to drugs.

In addition to saving lives, drugs have been found to save millions of dollars each year in health care expenditures. According to a series of studies sponsored by the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association, drugs often cut health care costs by reducing the need for more expensive therapies such as surgery and hospitalization.

gave Biblical readings. Tim Johnson, Sally Johnson Flayer, Tish Johnson and Joe Hoffman provided guitar music and sang.

The bodice and puff sleeves of the bride's satin gown were adorned with embroidery. A simple headband held her illusion veil.

She carried a bouquet of red roses, white carnations, stephanotis and ivy.

Lesley (Cooper) Ripper was matron of honor. Ann (Dayton) Turnbull was bridesmaid. They wore cranberry satin gowns and carried red roses and pink carnations with stephanotis and ivy.

Brian Turnbull was best man.

Ushers were Joe Sevcik of Kansas City, Neal and Paul Smith, brothers of the bride. Matthew McFarland, the bridegroom's nephew, was ring bearer.

A reception for 150 followed in the ballroom of Dearborn Inn.

The newlyweds honeymooned at Marco Island, Fla.

He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Peter Bucklin of Okemos. They exchanged vows and rings in an 11 a.m. service February 15 at Memorial Church of Christ in Livonia. Mark McGilvrey was the officiating minister.

During the ceremony, parents of the couple lit candles from which the couple lit a symbolic unity candle. Linda Fitch, cousin of the bride, and Norman Lloyd, brother-in-law of the bride, sang "Sunrise, Sunset" and "One Hand, One Heart." Andrea Clark, aunt of the bride, played the organ for the ceremony and accompanied the soloists.

As she was given in marriage by her father, the bride wore her mother's wedding gown of cream chantilly lace and tulle. It was fashioned with a fitted lace bodice with beaded bateau neckline. Beading also adorned the long, puffed sleeves that tapered to points at the wrists. The skirt was made of layers of tulle with a draped overskirt of chantilly lace. The detachable train also was of lace and tulle.

The bride wore a chapel-length veil and wreath of silk satin rosettes, baby's-breath and bits of tulle. She carried a bouquet of white roses and baby's-breath nestled in white tulle.

Karen Bucklin, sister of the bridegroom, was honor maid. Kimberly Lloyd and Joan Clark, sisters of the bride, Terri Tromans and Claudia Hite were bridesmaids. They wore tea length dresses of white embroidered organza over red taffeta. Junior bridesmaids were Lindsay Clark and Nickie Lang, cousins of the bride and bridegroom respectively. # Symphony concert will feature cellist

Final regular concert of the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra's 40th season at 4 p.m. Sunday will feature cellist Jeffrey Solow. It will be held at Plymouth Salem High School Auditorium, Joy Road west of Canton Center Road.

The orchestra's last appearance of the season will be the annual Pop's Concert at 7:30 p.m. May 3 in the Canton High School cafeteria.

Conducting this Sunday's concert is Charles Greenwell, interim conductor.

Cellist Jeffrey Solow has been praised by critics and audiences alike for his performances as a chamber musician, recitalist and soloist with orchestras world-wide.

After his recital at Lincoln Center's Alice Tully Hall, The New York Times proclaimed, "Mr. Solow and his instrument seemed to have a single artistic existence. The music flowed from his cello with an extraordinary naturalness and ease."

Having won the Young Concert Artists audition, Solow made his New York debut in Carnegie Recital Hall, receiving unprecedented rave reviews. He also was the first winner of the "Gregor Piatigorsky Award" of the Young Musicians Foundation.

As a chamber musician, Jeffrey Solow's appearances have included the Festivals of Spoleto, Newport, LaGrasse, Chamber Music West, Skaneateles, Sitka and Marlboro.

He was graduated magna cum laude in philosophy from UCLA and was a member of the music faculty for four years. He has made numerous recordings on many labels, including ABC, Orion, Columbia, Everest, Telefunken, Desmar, Pelican, Marlboro Recording Society, Entr'acte and Laurel records. He currently resides in Michigan and is associate professor of cello at the University of Michigan.

Tickets for the concert will be available at the box office Sunday. Single tickets are $6 for adults, $3.50 for senior citizens and full-time college students, and $1 for 12th graders and under.

This concert is made possible by sponsorship from Michigan Bell, a grant from the State of Michigan through Michigan Council for the Arts and the Plymouth Symphony League.

For the annual Pop's Concert next month soloists will be "Fat" Bob Taylor and Robert Angus. Tickets go on sale at Saks of Forest Avenue today. Mail orders may be sent to Plymouth Symphony Pop's Concert, 45287 Woodleigh Way, Plymouth, 48170.

Debbie Schwartz will be watching herself on Wheel of Fortune in the weeks ahead

Record/JERRY ZOLYNSKY

Ride on 'Wheel' worth five grand

By ANITA CRONE

Some weekday evening in late April or early May, Debbie Schwartz intends to close her bedroom door, turn on the television and sit down to watch "Wheel of Fortune." She won't be trying to solve the puzzles. She already had her chance. What she will be trying to do is find out how she looks on television, and how she looks as a winner on the top-ranked syndicated game show in the country.

This particular show ends with Schwartz, 19, winning more than $5,000 in prizes, but missing the chance to return home to Novi with a trip to Hawaii, the prize she selected as the top winner on the show to play for in the bonus round. Failing to win the trip doesn't bother her, however. The important thing was she didn't embarrass herself on television, and had a great time, besides.

Schwartz graduated from Novi High School in 1985 and works in the accounts payable department at McDonald Ford in Northville.

Schwartz's odyssey started in March when her mother, Judy, noticed a very small advertisement in the paper, alerting metro Detroiters to the opportunity to try out for the syndicated game show.

"I called the phone number, about 15 minutes before the time in the paper, got through, got an appointment and that was the beginning," Schwartz recalled. Her mother also got an interview during the contestant search.

"I think they (the contestant interviewers) were looking for people who were outgoing, not afraid to speak out, and maybe a bit loud and obnoxious," Schwartz said. She agrees that she fit the bill.

In addition, the interviewers were looking for people who could play the game, which involves finding letters in a puzzle. Spinning a wheel and landing on a dollar amount determines the cash value of the found letter.

Schwartz said initial testing required prospective contestants to "solve" up to 15 puzzles within a five-minute span.

The television show's interviewers then whittled the list of entrants down to a group of about 100 who were asked to return for a second interview two days later. Schwartz made that second interview, and, along with the other finalists selected, actually was put through the paces of an actual game situation.

"We really had no idea what would determine whether we made the show or not," Schwartz said. "After the second interview, they said to go home, if we heard from them within 10 days or two weeks, we would make the show." Schwartz was one of those who received a letter.

She had to pay her own way to California where the show is taped, and was responsible for her own meals and lodging. She also is responsible for paying taxes on the prizes she won.

"I'll worry about those next December," she says. Most of her prizes are still in California, but one prize, a gold and diamond necklace, came back with her to Novi.

"I don't know what I'll do with it," she says. "It isn't my style of jewelry at all."

Her fiancé, Bernie Jodoin of Livonia, accompanied her to California.

"I think he was more nervous than I was," Schwartz said. "He was sitting in the bleachers with the rest of the audience and prospective contestants during much of the taping, and afterwards said he couldn't understand what I was doing.

Schwartz said she knew exactly what was happening, especially when it came time in the second round for her to spin the wheel.

"I knew it was a phrase and I thought I knew it right after I spun the first time," she said.

"I asked for an 'L' and then bought an 'E' and then asked for a 'V'. Bernie said he couldn't understand what I was doing. But all the letters came up, and the dollars were right, and then I won the necklace. It all worked out," Schwartz said. "I don't think I'll ever forget that 'Love makes the world go round'."

The only thing that didn't work out was the weather. "We were in California for six days and it rained for five," Schwartz said. But $5,000 worth of prizes helped to lighten the mood.

These groups welcome spring cleaning donations

Homemakers who have been inspired to begin spring housecleaning by recent sunny days have many places to donate unneeded items:

- This Saturday Boy Scouts in Cub, Scout and Explorer troops in Gemini District which includes Northville will be distributing collection bags to local households in Northville neighborhoods.

- The following Saturday, April 19, the scouts will pick up the bags to take them to assigned collection stations for Goodwill Industries.

The collection will be held in Northville, Livonia, Plymouth, Redford and Northwest Detroit — the area served by the Gemini District.

After processing by the handicapped, the clothing donations then are sold through Goodwill Retail Stores. Anyone wishing a pick up may contact a local scout or call 897-1965.

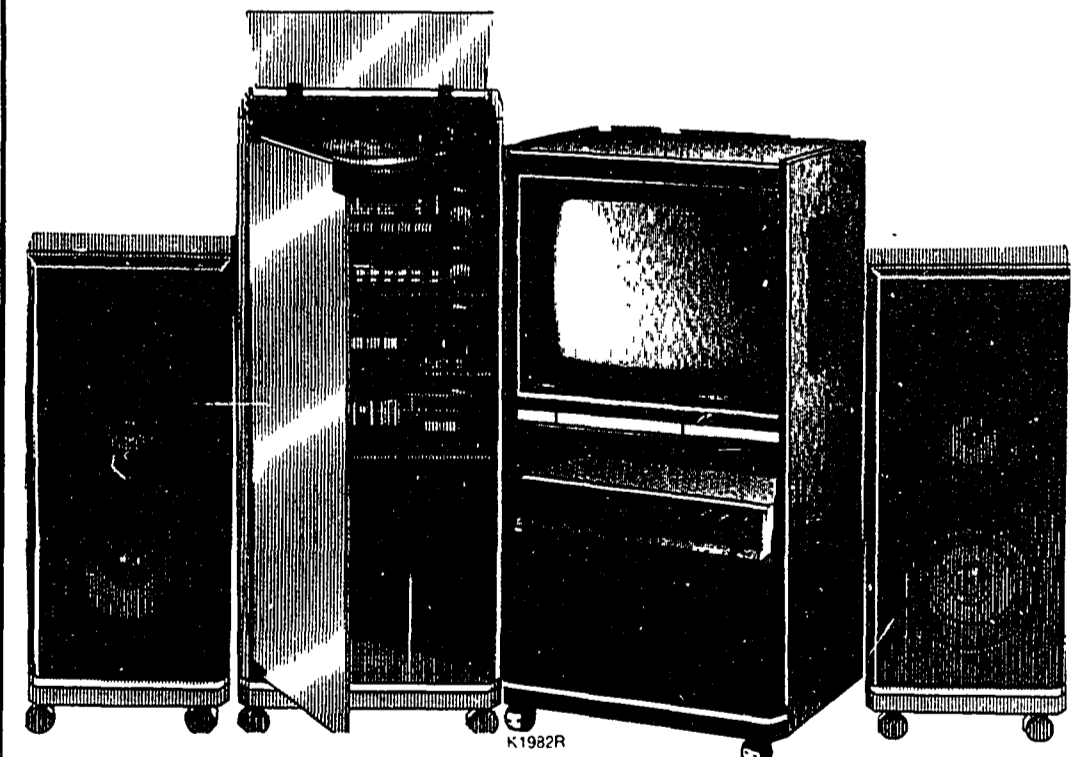

- The men of Northville United Methodist Church are picking up items for their Masculine Rummage Sale to be held from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Friday, April 25, and from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, April 26, at the church at Eight Mile at Taft.

They are accepting everything but clothes. Call Oliver Collins, 349-3725, or Ed Meyer, 348-2126, for pick up.

- The Women's Association of First Presbyterian Church will hold a two-day rummage sale at the church at 200 E. Main of both clothing and household wares.

It will be held from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Thursday, April 24, and from 9:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. Friday, April 25. Items may be brought to the church April 23 beginning at 10 a.m.

The Northville Record

Girls' track squad sports key returnees

Replacing Panowicz is big question

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

The 1986 Northville girls' track season could probably be best described as "year one A.P." (after Panowicz).

Yes, Cindy Panowicz, recognized as the greatest Mustang female athlete ever, has moved on to major-college competition in Kansas, leaving first-year Coach Mike Webb some pretty big shoes to fill indeed.

But before you shed any tears for Webb, consider the large group of quality performers who are returning to action after another year of experience, as well as a top-notch collection of sophomores, the stars of the future. If things fall into place, the current Northville squad could be every bit as strong as its predecessor.

"This year really isn't a rebuilding year because we have a lot of good kids," Webb said.

Strengths for the Mustangs lie in the relays and distance events, but the situation in the sprints and middle distance races aren't any trouble either. The areas of concern are likely to be in most of the field events — the high jump, discus and shot put specifically.

"I think our relays will be strong because most of the girls are coming back," Webb pointed out. "The only real loss was Cindy (Panowicz), and I think we will be able to fill the void."

In the 440 and 880-yard relays and all the sprints, a host of returning standouts are back — several were part of teams who set new school records last season. Sophomore Christy Lenaghan, Erin Holmberg and Karen Stinson are all record-holders in the 440 relay while Lenaghan and Holmberg were also members of the 880 relay that set a school mark.

Another young sprinter Webb is optimistic about is freshman Krista Swartz.

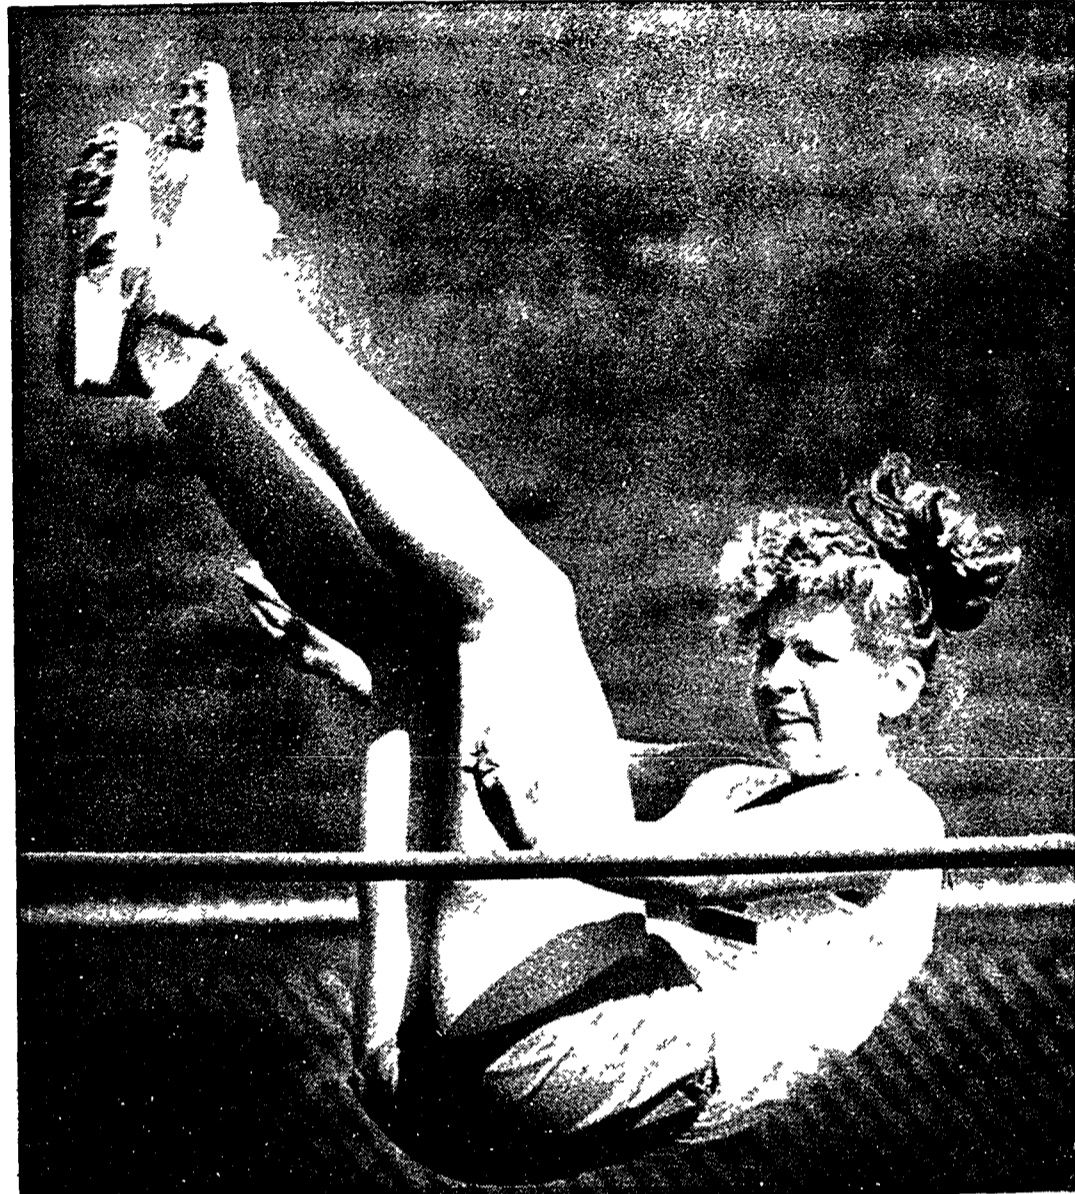

"I haven't seen her run myself, but I heard that she put in some great times as an eighth grader last year," Webb related. "She's had trouble with pulled muscles, but I'm hoping she can avoid that and put in a solid season."

In the distance relays, Northville is equally strong. Stinson will team with Pam Kavanaugh and Lynn Bills — three of four members of the record-setting mile relay team of a year ago. The two mile relay will feature senior distance standouts Wendy Nuechterlein and Anne Griffith, plus sophomore Jennifer Goshorn.

Griffith, who set a new school mark in 1984, will also set the pace in the mile run but will be pushed by Goshorn. Nuechterlein is a returning recordholder too, in the two mile run.

"Griffith is really strong, and she looks real good so far," Webb said. "But Goshorn will definitely be a factor. She has gained a lot of strength in the off season, and I expect quite a bit from her."

In the middle distance events, Stinson again will be one of the Mustangs' biggest weapons as well as in the long jump. Webb is confident with her in the 440 dash but is still searching for a someone to take the forefront in the 880. That person could be senior Sue Blanchard.

First year Coach Mike Webb has quite a few talented thinclads back in '86, but he will have to make do without key performers like Shari Thompson (left) and Cindy Panowicz (top). Thompson is concentrating on swimming, while Panowicz has graduated to the college ranks.

The shot put and discus are another potential trouble spot without the services of last season's top performer Shari Thompson.

"She's not coming back this year," Webb explained. "I tried to talk her into it, but I guess she decided to concentrate on swimming and not go out for track."

Webb has two top candidates who have the ability but lack experience. The shot putting chores may fall entirely on the shoulders of Julie Trausch while Anne Griffiths and Trausch will fight it out in the discus.

"(Trausch) is looking good right now," Webb said. "I think she's got the ability to be as good as Shari — I think she'll be very strong."

"But as far as overall in the shot and the discus, I'm not sure how strong we'll be. I feel a little weak about it right now, but I think the girls we have in there can do it."

One area Webb isn't concerned about is the hurdles, because Lynn Bills and Kris Marrone are a quality 1-2 punch.

"We have one of the strongest hurdlers in the league with Lynn Bills," he stated. "She was right behind (Panowicz) last year, and I'm expecting a lot out of her this year."

Webb, who was an assistant coach for the Northville men's track team in '85, knows the level of competition in the Western Lakes Activities Association is tough — but on the girls' side, he doesn't know how tough.

"I'm expecting a strong season, but I don't know what to expect from the other teams in the league," he said.

On April 17, Webb will lead the Mustangs into battle against Farmington in the WLAA opener, and he'll soon find out.

Pashnick as a Twin

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

Former Detroit Tiger pitcher Larry Pashnick may have given up pro ball several years ago, but he never decided to give up baseball completely.

Pashnick, who was a starter for the Tigers on and off during the 1982 season, is now venturing into the coaching field, and the Northville Collegiate baseball team is the real winner. The pitching staff of the Northville entry in the Livonia Collegiate Baseball (formerly Livonia Adray) League will have the privilege of picking up pointers from a former big leaguer because Pashnick has agreed to help co-coaches Bob Peterson and Fred Schmidt during the coming season this summer.

Pashnick is currently a sales representative for Ambler Enterprises-Delwal Corporation in Northville, and through business associations he met Peterson.

"I ran into Bob (Peterson), one thing led to another and he asked me if I was interested in helping out with the pitchers," Pashnick explained. "I was delighted for the offer."

Originally, Pashnick was just supposed to give a few pointers to the pitchers, but now it appears he will be able to spend a little more time with the team.

"I will be working with the pitchers, but I don't think there are any definite restraints on whom I'll be coaching," Pashnick pointed out. "Obviously, pitching is my expertise and that's probably where I can be of help the most."

Peterson said he would be grateful for any assistance.

"I told Larry I would appreciate any help he can give us," Peterson said. "As the season draws closer, he's sounding more interested. He really sounds anxious for the season to start."

After nearly 15 years, Pashnick is exchanging the nerve-racking world of competitive pitching for the sometimes equally draining world of coaching. But it's something he wants to do.

"I won't be playing anymore," he admitted. "That's on the back shelf. Work, business and family commitments are the big reason. I haven't had a summer to myself in 14 or 15 years."

As a 1979 graduate of Michigan State University and the top pitching prospect for the Spartans, Pashnick was signed on as a free agent by the Tigers and made the team's A minor league affiliate squad in Lakeland, Fla. The following year he moved up to the AA squad in Montgomery, Ala., and on to AAA Evansville in 1981.

By '82, Pashnick made it to the big leagues and was considered Detroit's fifth starter in the pitching rotation.

"That was the year I got the most playing time and innings in for the Tigers," Pashnick recalls. "Milt (Wilcox) and Rosie (Dave Rosema) were injured during the season, and I stepped in and started in their place, especially late in the season."

In the winter of '83, Pashnick was traded to Minnesota, but after half a season with the Twins, Larry was sent down to the minors. He played out the season and called it quits.

"It just didn't work out," Pashnick explained. "I decided to pursue a career in business rather than wait around in the minors and hope I'd get another chance to make it back to the big leagues."

Last summer, Pashnick was coaxed by former Tiger player and coach Gates Brown to pitch "once a week" for one of the state's top class A teams out of the Pontiac League. He was the league's top pitcher, but it took more time than he anticipated.

"I played class A in Pontiac last summer as a favor to Gates Brown and the team I played for, 'Don Nick,'" Pashnick said. "It ended up being a lot more time and effort than I originally thought. My whole summer was gone before I knew it. It just wasn't worth the hassle."

So this summer, he'll be teaching area pitchers some of the secrets that helped him make it to the majors.

"I'm gonna try and help out, as much as my schedule will allow," he said. "I doubt if I'll be able to go to every game and practice, but I'll do the best I can."

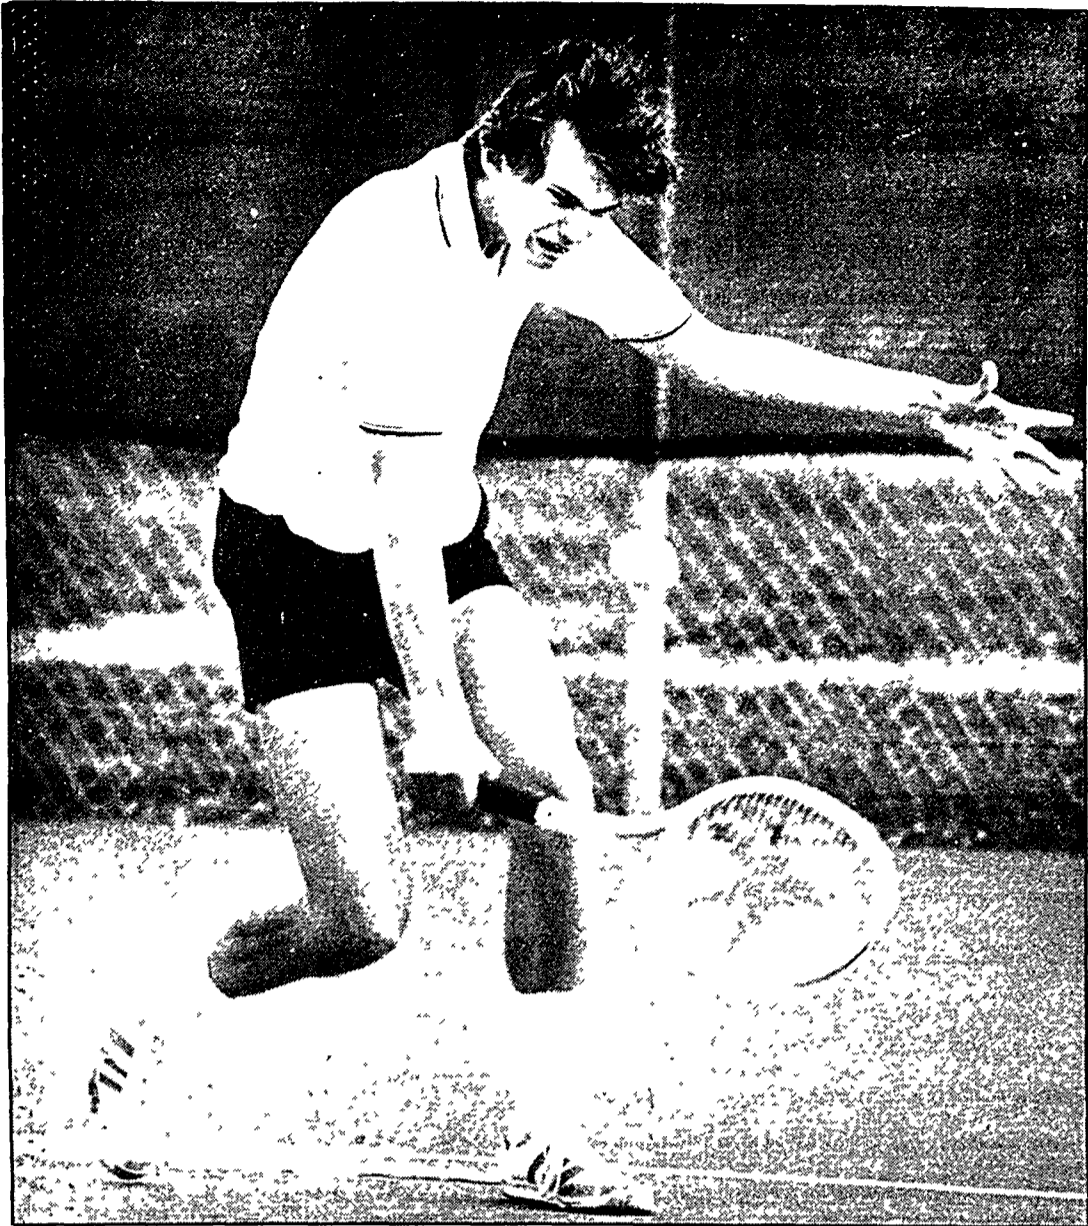

"I want to let the pitchers take anything I can give them. If there is something I can help them with, to make them better players, I think it's great. I've always liked and enjoyed working with younger pitchers and I hope they can learn something from me."

There is usually a lot of sound advice an experienced baseball person can give to the young aspiring

Mustang Netters have top four singles players back

Terry Michelitch, 16-2 last season, is back at No. 1 singles for the Northville tennis team

With all four starting singles players returning, Dick Norton's Northville tennis squad looks ready to start where it left off a year ago.

In 1985, the Mustangs had a very successful 13-1 dual meet campaign but lost out to Farmington Harrison in the race for the WLAA Western Division title. To say it was a dogfight would be an understatement. But Norton says that the race this time around could be even more difficult with Northville, Harrison, Plymouth Canton and Livonia Churchill all in the hunt.

"There were a lot of things that went our way to get the 13-1, but I think the league is tougher this year," Norton admitted. "I'm looking for probably not as good a year as last year — but we certainly should have a good season."

What Norton views as a lack of depth in the No. 2 and 3 doubles teams is a big concern. And he isn't sure the strong group of singles players will be able to overcome the problem against the other top teams in the league.

"Sure we have all the singles players back, but we lost a lot of depth in doubles," he pointed out. "At No. 2 and 3 (doubles) I don't think we are as strong as we would like to be — it is definitely an area of concern."

Maybe Norton is focusing all his worries on the doubles because he knows the Mustang are as solid as anybody in the league when it comes to singles.

"I think we'll be especially strong in the singles," Norton said. "Somewhere along the line I anticipate transferring some of my strength at singles to the doubles so we'll be more competitive there."

Northville's top player won't cause much (if any) concern in '86. Terry Michelitch was 16-2 last year at No. 1 singles as a junior and has returned with another year's experience. His only losses were in the regional semifinals and to Harrison's Ken Davidson, the top singles player in the WLAA in '85, in the league tournament.

"Terry has good ground strokes and is a good serve and volleyer," Norton explained. "He's a good all-around tennis player really, and I'm planning on a good year from him."

No. 2 and 3 singles will be held down by senior Mark Reitenga and his brother Mike, a junior. Mark was 11-5 a year ago at No. 2 and is also a dangerous server, but Mike may wind up as the No. 2 player by the end of the season if he continues to show improvement.

"Mike probably improved more than any player on the team last season," Norton pointed out. "And he is playing extremely well this spring."

The last singles spot will probably go to sophomore Doug Kamlenecki. He saw lots of action in both singles and doubles in '85 and recorded a respectable 6-7 record as a freshman.

At No. 1 doubles, Norton feels confident with a pair of seniors — Dave Kaminski and his son, Don Norton. Kaminski was 12-6 last season as he switched between No. 4 singles and No. 1 doubles while Norton was 14-3 at No. 2 doubles, teamed with another senior Mike Tabaczynski.

"The problem with Tabaczynski is he got in his physical late and probably won't be playing in our first meet," Norton explained. "He's only been out to practice one day and then went down to Florida for Easter break — so I haven't really seen him play."

Other possibilities for the doubles are seniors Dan Boland and Dave Merrifield. Boland will likely be shuffled back and forth between doubles and No. 4 singles. Merrifield played in several spots for Norton last year and compiled a 7-10 mark.

"Against most teams our singles will probably win for us," Norton predicted. "Most of the teams on our schedule won't be able to match up with us in the singles but, when we go against teams like Harrison and Ypsilanti, it will be another story."

Pashnick to give pitchers advice

players, and Pashnick is no different. "If someone is looking to move on to higher competition, it's more mental than it is physical," he stated. "About 90-percent of them have the physical ability but it's another thing to be mentally prepared every time you go out on the mound. "There are a million little things you can do to get ready but sometimes it's hard to put your finger on the problem."

The decision to coach wasn't an attempt to fill a void, Pashnick said. It's just something he'd like to do because he still loves the game. "It will be a part of me as long as I live," Pashnick admitted. "I know it will never be out of my system. You can't just turn something like that off, especially if you spend so much of your life playing the game, like I did."

Record/JERRY ZOLYNSKY

Ed Jamieson may not like how the current Red Wings play, but his allegiance is plain to see

Jamieson keeps Wings on course — off the ice

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

Not too many players in the National Hockey League relish the thought of playing for the lowly Detroit Red Wings, who just wrapped up the worst season record in franchise history last week.

Sure there is the constant threat of being traded, and the abuse they take as the laughing stock of the NHL. They also must expect a new coach every year or so. But one thing that a Red Wing can't complain about is the traveling arrangements. Ed Jamieson makes sure of that.

Jamieson, a Northville resident for 12 years, has had a long association with the Red Wing organization. For the last three years, since pizza magnate Mike Illich purchased the Detroit hockey franchise, Jamieson's Northville Travel Plans business has handled all the team's travel arrangements.

"I used to work for (the Red Wings) back in the '60s," Jamieson said. "And I went to see my first Red Wing game in 1946 — I've followed in the glory years and in the bad times."

Jamieson's initial link with the Wings was as an employee at the Olympia Travel Agency, an in house corporation owned by former Red Wing owner Bruce Norris. The agency was housed in Olympia Stadium, and handled all the team's travel along with a long list of regular customers.

Jamieson left Olympia Travel in 1974 to help form Howe Travel with three other corporate partners including hockey legend Gordie Howe. For three years Howe Travel was in business with offices in Southfield and Houston, Texas. But when Howe left the area to play hockey for the Houston Aeros of the now defunct World Hockey League, Howe Travel was sold to another conglomerate.

"We all split up and went our own way because the partnership was sold," Jamieson recalls. "So then, I was looking for a travel agency to buy."

When Jamieson found out that Northville Travel Plans, located five minutes from his home, was for sale, it seemed like a dream come true.

"It was perfect," he said. "When I found out it was for sale, I made an offer and took over fairly quick. It made it nice, just five minutes from home, and I brought over a lot of accounts from before at Howe Travel and Olympia Travel."

One of the biggest was the corporate account of Little Caesars, owned by Illich. So naturally, when Illich bought the Red Wings in 1983, he wanted Northville Travel to handle the hockey account.

"He asked me if we wanted to handle it, and I was happy," Jamieson said. "Especially since I've had such a long association with them."

Every year, the NHL releases its schedule for the coming season in August and Jamieson quickly gets to work.

"We sit down with the coaches and go through the schedule," Jamieson said. "Within one hour, we make sure the flights for the whole season are booked."

For the past few seasons, the team has been scheduled to travel on commercial airlines 90-percent of the time, with the other 10-percent on special charter flights. A problem Jamieson must deal with is the NHL rule prohibiting two teams from traveling on the same flight.

"Within a day or two after booking, we find out if any other teams are using the same flight, and if someone is, we usually correct it," he said.

In February, the Wings and St. Louis Blues were ready to head out of Detroit Metropolitan Airport, en route to St. Louis to complete the second game of a home-and-home series. Naturally, the two teams were booked on different flights, but everything was grounded because of fog. The Blues flight was then canceled and the only other plane going to St. Louis was full of Red Wing players.

"The NHL waived the rule on a one time basis and let the two teams fly on the same plane," Jamieson reported. "It was funny because both teams sat there and made nasty glances at each other for a while."

But there have been some truly frightening experiences for Jamieson and the team while in flight. Before the start of the current season, Detroit was to play an exhibition game in Marquette, Mich., but an engine on the plane caught fire somewhere over Saginaw and it forced an emergency landing. Everyone was safe, but 4,000 hockey fans were upset in Marquette when the game was canceled.

A few weeks later, while flying to Minneapolis from Detroit, engine failure on takeoff forced the plane to go back for an emergency landing. Within an hour, the team was on a different plane, heading for Minnesota.

"About two or three times a year I travel with the team on the long hauls," Jamieson said. "If they have a long road trip out west to Los Angeles or Vancouver, I go to help coordinate everything."

As a long time observer of the Wings, Jamieson knows the team and knows his hockey, but he can't figure out why they have been one of the league's poorest teams for the past decade.

"They have the raw talent now," he explained. "I think they are going in the right direction, getting the young talent and strengthening though the draft, but I really don't have any answers why they have been losing so much."

With Jamieson coordinating the travel arrangements, Illich knows that the Red Wings are always heading in the right direction — at least off the ice.

Q's & A's

WHAT YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT CHIROPRACTIC

Q. What is chiropractic?

A. You've been hearing a lot more about the effectiveness of chiropractic in the past few years, but it is far from being a fad. Chiropractic is the healing science based on the principle that the body is a self-healing organism — and that illness and pain can result from displacement of vertebrae in the spinal column. Modern chiropractic had its beginnings in 1895, and now is being hailed as the health care profession of the 1980s. That's because today's highly-educated chiropractors, skilled specialists in spinal care, have successfully treated millions of patients with a variety of health problems.

They use gentle adjustments of displaced vertebrae to restore the unbroken flow of vital nerve energy throughout the body, enabling the body to heal itself. Chiropractic is a natural form of care, using no drugs, potions, injections, or surgery to heal. It is the natural alternative.

Q. Is it expensive?

A. You be the judge. We welcome a comparison of our fees with those of any other professional health-care provider. Too, we offer a special Family Plan in cases where there is no reimbursing health insurance.

NO ONE IS REFUSED TREATMENT HERE FOR INABILITY TO PAY. THAT IS THE STANDING POLICY OF THIS CLINIC.

Q. What's involved in chiropractic care?

A. Care is determined by examination, including X-rays and other means. Gentle adjustment of the spine to correct misaligned vertebrae and to open the nerve paths is administered by the chiropractor. Proper diet and exercise also are emphasized.

Q. Can chiropractic help ME?

A. Yes. By enabling the body to heal itself naturally, chiropractic care has improved a vast range of conditions, including back trouble, knee pains, hemorrhoids, skin eruptions, menstrual irregularities, chest pains, colitis, asthma, rheumatism, sciatica, gastritis, skin diseases, heartburn, itching, pleurisy, sinus trouble, functional heart condition, earache, poor circulation, neuralgia, arm and shoulder pain, bursitis, pinched nerves, thyroid condition, arthritis, shortness of breath, nervousness, ulcers, leg pains, whiplash, headaches, and constipation. If your case is not one that will respond readily to chiropractic, we will tell you that. Our many unsolicited testimonials are examples of how numerous peo- ple with numerous problems HAVE BEEN HELPED by chiropractic. Millions of American families, now under chiropractic care, have turned to this natural way toward good health.

Q. What about children?

A. Children can benefit tremendously from chiropractic care. We recommend that it begin shortly after birth. Kids enjoy their visits to the clinic; they know they won't receive painful injections or bad-tasting medicine. Remember, "As the twig is bent, so grows the tree . . ."

On-The-Job Injuries and Chiropractic

No matter what your job, you probably know of someone who was either injured in their work surroundings or was directly injured in the performance of their job responsibilities.

Research has found that many "on-the-job" accidents are the result of unsafe working habits or conditions. In most cases, these conditions are the result of oversight, rather than a conscious intent to cause injury.

Perhaps your job is the one that is "done that way because we've always done it that way," or one that uses short-cuts to get things done, with a dangerous hazard taken for granted as a by-product of higher production.

You can help keep yourself and your co-workers safe by taking a few moments and thinking of things in or around your job which could potentially result in a work disability.

Whether it is the icy sidewalk, the cluttered stairs, the unsafe wiring, or whatever, make it your responsibility to see that it is corrected.

If you happen to be one of the misfortunate ones and find yourself with a work-related malady, why not start at the top? Find your way to the phone and call for an evaluation in our office today.

Chiropractic can help relieve discomfort by restoring natural nerve energy flow to the affected area. It may just mean you get back on your feet, and back to work sooner than you had hoped.

After the Crash - Whiplash!

First there may be a squeal of brakes, then that heart-stopping thud of metal colliding. You may be lucky and walk away with little or no pain, but don't let that fool you. We in chiropractic know that even a slight displacement can either cause tremendous pain immediately or weeks or months in the future! Even if you think you have not suffered injury, a simple and painless spine and nerve test can quickly tell if treatment is required.

Among the symptoms associated with the trauma of whiplash are: ringing in the ears, poor memory, periods of depression, loss of balance, fatigue, muscle spasms, tension, head and neck pains, tremors, nausea, extreme nervousness, cold hands or feet, palpitations, pinched nerves, night blindness or blackouts.

Most auto accident policies provide chiropractic care for disabilities sustained in or about an automobile. Chiropractic is particularly effective in the treatment of whiplash injuries and upper back and neck injuries resulting from auto accidents. If you have even a "minor" accident, be sure to come in for a checkup.

CHIROPRACTIC WORKS!

WE GET RESULTS & THAT'S WHAT COUNTS

"I WAS ALWAYS IN PAIN!"

I had bad headaches, upper and lower back pain and numbness in my legs and arms, which caused me to come home from work early because I was sick to my stomach from the headaches and my legs hurting. Within a couple of weeks of treatments, I started feeling much better. I feel more active, sleep better at night and just feel more like doing things. I recommend chiropractic highly; I always am telling others of the good things that happened to me, especially if the other person isn't feeling good. I wish everyone would try chiropractic; they won't be sorry.

"I SUFFERED FOR OVER 12 YEARS!"

For 12 years of my life, I couldn't sit comfortably, and that fact interfered with everything I did.

I had tried many doctors without relief.

Then a friend told me about chiropractic. I started chiropractic treatments and began improving in a few weeks and have been improving steadily ever since.

Thank you for relief from that miserable pain that robbed my life of joy for 12 long years.

WE HELP FAR MORE THAN SORE BACKS!

When you first heard about chiropractic, you knew that it was probably where you went if you had a back problem. Now you understand there is just a host of other health problems that have been successfully treated through chiropractic care. How did chiropractic, in the first place, get the reputation for just being for sore backs and, secondly, how did it manage to overcome that?

Number one, chiropractors don't "treat" anything. Chiropractors look for and detect spinal subluxations which damage the central nervous system and peripheral nerves that control how your body works — which causes health or disease, depending on the damage. Chiropractors have got this "back doctor" image because we work with the nervous system and it comes out of the spinal cord; that's the "back". Or the neck. If the nervous system centered in the leg, we'd be working on your leg; if it centered in the foot, we'd be working on your foot. That just happens to be where it is — in your back and neck.

Chiropractors obviously are excellent "back doctors". Many of our patients have musculo-skeletal problems — back and shoulder and leg and arm problems — but a lot of our patients have them, coupled with other health problems, nerve damage that has eventually led to these other problems: asthma, allergies, migraine headaches, ear problems, sight problems, lowered resistance to infectious diseases, menstrual cramps, leg cramps and bowel problems, to name a few.

These symptoms that I've just mentioned can be manifestations of a malfunctioning, nonfunctioning nervous system. It might have taken years to develop before you get the symptom. By the time you experience the symptom, it's too late to prevent the problem that must be cared for.

But we help the nervous system to regain its function and start solving the health problem. We don't treat symptoms — we correct the cause!

Stopping smoking is easier than you can imagine, if you use hypnosis to block awareness of your physical withdrawal from nicotine. You will not feel deprived because you will not be giving up something — you'll be converting yourself to a non-smoker with no desire to smoke, by choice!! Don't worry, you'll also receive suggestions to keep you from substituting food for cigarettes. This seminar has a proven success rate of 4 out of 5 who complete the program. The group will be hypnotized 4 times during the 2-hour session, and all participants will receive a cassette tape to keep the hypnosis working for them.

Hypnotist: Pat Carroll

Location: Plymouth Township Hall

Time: 6:00-8:00 p.m.

WEIGHT LOSS CLINIC

You'll also improve your self-image and learn to cope with stress without overeating. Don't stay stuck in a fat body! Let hypnosis give you a slim figure. The group will be hypnotized 4 times during the 2-hour session and all participants will receive a cassette tape to keep the hypnosis working for them.
