The large plastic tunnel at the Moraine Early Childcare Center offers plenty of amusement to Joshua Ott (left) and Jonathan Littleton. The two little guys are among the nearly 200 students participating in one or more of Moraine's varied offerings. Since

New policies to affect hotel proposal

Negotiations will continue between the city and the single bidder for city-owned property on Main at Griswold after city council adopted a policy Monday night that will affect the proposal.

Northville Community Investment Company (NCIC), a partnership of Gregory Presley and John Schuman (owners of the Oldenburg Building on North Center) formed specifically for the project, has proposed a five-story, 32-room bed-and-breakfast hotel for the site.

The purchase price proposed is $120,000 with $12,000 earnest money deposit. The price was found acceptable by council, but two conditions of the bid conflict with a policy adopted Monday night on advice from the Downtown Development Authority.

The DDA board recommended a policy on commercial tax abatements and another on variances from the parking requirements, both based on the NCIC proposal.

While NCIC has requested a 10-year tax abatement, the DDA policy recommendation would make such abatements subject to a council determination that the proposed development "is expected to make a unique contribution to the Downtown Development District."

Possible land uses that would fall into that category, the DDA suggested, would be a hotel, bank, theatre, newspaper or post office.

Abatements under state law reduce taxes 50 percent per year, with the term allowed up to 12 years.

"The length of tax abatement should not automatically be the maximum 12 years, and the length of time should be based on the degree of operating risk or uncertainty for the particular development, primarily as a cushion to aid in the start-up of the operation," said a memo from city manager Steven Walters outlining the DDA recommendations.

The DDA suggested six year abatements be considered the norm for those projects qualifying.

The bidder has also requested a variance from the parking requirements that would allow the developer to claim 50 street parking spaces on Main and Griswold as a credit toward the "off-street" parking requirement.

Past practice in the city has been to require developers who could not meet the requirement to contribute to the city parking fund which develops public parking areas.

The DDA recommended that "parking concessions should not be granted as a development incentive," Walters' memo said. "Each project should provide its own required parking, either physically or through the parking fund credit system. The granting of parking space concessions will simply become a burden on the downtown

City adopts skateboard regulations

By KEVIN A. WILSON

After an hour of debate, Northville City Council on Monday adopted an ordinance regulating the use of roller skates and skateboards calling for issuance of citations to violators.

Most of those gathered for the public hearing, a majority of them young skateboarders, left after council's vote and did not stay to hear deliberations on the fine schedule. Initial violations carry a fine of $5. A fee schedule for repeat violations will be reviewed May 27.

Many of those speaking before council referred to the ordinance as a "ban" or "prohibition" of skateboarding downtown, although the adopted ordinance does not apply specifically to the central business district nor does it forbid skateboarding.

"Keep in mind, we are not prohibiting skateboards," Mayor Paul Vernon said early in the meeting. "It does restrict the use of skateboards. The object is to put skateboarders on their best behavior."

Bell makes the grade on annual evaluation

By MICHELE M. FECHT

In his fourth performance evaluation as superintendent of Northville Public Schools, George Bell once again received nothing but high praise from the seven-member board of education.

At his annual evaluation Monday night, Bell was given the highest rating (5) in all areas outlined in the evaluation. The evaluation was open to the public with only first-time school board candidate Robert McMahon attending.

The school board annually evaluates the superintendent's performance prior to negotiating his contract for the coming year.

The board evaluates the superintendent on his performance as chief executive of the board, performance as superintendent of schools and his achievement of goals.

In evaluating his performance as chief executive of the board of education, trustees gave Bell a "yes" rating in the seven designated categories.

Categories included (1) adheres to the policies of the board; (2) recom-

Bond vote June 24

City voters probably will be asked June 24 to authorize the issuance of a $3 million municipal bond obligation for street renovation to be repaid from added property tax millage.

The added millage will depend on the interest rate obtained when the bonds are issued and the amount drawn from the city's general fund budget.

"Our literature will have to state that the debt obligation amounts to a total of about four mills," said city manager Steven Walters. "Of that, two mills are coming from our current revenues and two mills will be new tax."

Council authorized the June 24 election in a Monday night vote—the date is still subject to review by Oakland County election officials, who must consider the timing of local school board elections in early June and the August primary election when drafting schedules.

Walters said the date appears to fit "into that window" between the elections. The school board election date cannot be used because polling places differ. The August ballot could carry the bonding question but occurs too late in the year to allow progress on the street renovation program this building season.

City council members stated a desire to avoid dates later in June or in early July because of the July Fourth holiday and a perception that many voters would be vacationing at the time.

State historical society honors Francis Gazlay

Last Monday Francis Gazlay, long a familiar figure in Mill Race Historical Village, was there working the ground between the Yerkes House and the Hunter House to get it ready to plant a garden.

"I was only helping Bob Russell," he declared, stressing that the garden was Russell's project.

It was for this kind of continuing service, wherever needed, that the longtime Northville resident was honored last Wednesday evening with the surprise presentation of the Historical Society of Michigan's Volunteer Recognition Award.

A dedicated volunteer in Mill Race Historical Village since its inception and an active worker in Northville Historical Society who has twice served as its president, Gazlay was given the award at an area conference of historical societies held in the village.

Thomas L. Jones, executive director of the Historical Society of Michigan, made the presentation, noting that Gazlay "as a longtime, dedicated volunteer, has contributed effectively to numerous facets of the Northville Historical Society and the restored Victorian village."

It was pointed out also that he plays the roles of historian, curator, planner, fund raiser and maintenance person for the village. Gazlay has the distinction of having written articles for the Mill Race Quarterly longer than any other contributor and also chairs many activities for the society.

Fran Gazlay began a program with the 35th District Court in cooperation with now-retired District Judge Dunbar Davis through which he supervised a crew of probationers who did gardening, painting, carpentry and cleaning at the village on Saturday mornings. He still has some probationers on Saturdays from the court in Plymouth as well as from Oakland County court.

"Francis Gazlay is recognized as one of many outstanding volunteers in Northville who, because of their interest and unselfish dedication, con-

COLLECT COOKBOOKS? Lots of hard cover books, including books on gardening, cookbooks, children's books and how-to books, as well as paperbacks will be on sale at the Northville Public Library from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. next Wednesday, May 14, in the Friends of the Library's final indoor used book sale until fall. Friends' president Geraldine Mills reports that the library is accepting used books, but asks donors to place them in boxes small enough for women to handle.

LOCAL TELEVISION viewers will see nineteen-year-old Debbie Schwartz of Novi (who is familiar to residents who have met her at McDonald Ford) on "Wheel of Fortune" May 20. Debbie applied to be on the show after seeing an ad and was accepted. She flew to California at her own expense to become a problem solver on the taped show — to the tune of $5,000.

AS WAS EXPECTED, city council accepted on Monday the school board's offer of a $3 per parcel fee to collect summer taxes, while folding into the 1988-89 budget a one percent collection fee to be applied to school and county tax bills in winter only. The fee will not be applied to city taxes or summer billings, according to the proposed budget advertised for a May 27 public hearing.

FORTY TO 50 TRUCKLOADS of earth per day may be routed to a former gravel mine on Beck Road at Seven Mile. Preliminary approval was granted by the township planning commission last week for plans to fill the area, moving a lake away from the road and preparing the site for eventual development as a subdivision. The estimated number of trucks was based on the idea of completing the earth fill in a single building season. Truck traffic on a daily basis would be lower if the operation were stretched over several seasons.

WHENEVER POPPY WEEK is supposed to be, it will be in Northville, city council decided Monday. Absent a specific request, and suspecting that Poppy Week precedes Memorial Day, council authorized a resolution proclaiming Poppy Week "whenever it is." Because of Michigan Week activities and the Memorial Day holiday, council does not meet again until May 27.

'YOU'D BETTER SAY THAT,' DEPARTMENT: In the course of discussing whether or not Abbey Knoll and Pheasant Ridge subdivisions should include sidewalks, council member John Buckland noted that the city planning commission recommendation to council favored sidewalks. "And I place a great deal of trust in the planning commission recommendation." Commissioner Lesa Buckland must be gratified.

'TAKE A SPACE' — Scott Lapham, president of the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce and chair for the annual chamber-sponsored City Garage Sale to be held on Center and Main street May 17, is hoping more entrepreneurs will do just that. Unlike previous years, spaces still are available at $25 for anyone one wanting to sell unneeded items, crafts, etc. "Maybe people are housecleaning only every couple of years," offers Lapham. Spaces can be purchased at Lapham's Clothing Shop on Main Street.

Sidewalks required of city developers

By KEVIN A. WILSON

Two new subdivisions planned for the City of Northville will share some attributes of the most prestigious township subdivisions — including prices in the $150,000 to $300,000 range and large lots — but they will also include such urban features as sidewalks and street lights.

Developers of the Abbey Knoll and Pheasant Ridge subdivisions appealed to the city council Monday night seeking exemptions from the sidewalk requirements and met with a concrete determination that city subdivisions will include the structures, regardless of the "aesthetic preference" for subdivisions without walks.

Representatives from both firms suggested that hilly terrain and a desire to preserve the natural features of the property along the north side of Eight Mile argued on behalf of sidewalk-less developments.

"The grading requirements to put sidewalks in would destroy some of the natural character of this property," said Mike King, speaking for Singh Development Company, developer of the Pheasant Ridge subdivision.

"We're trying to stay in the road

'Isn't there a practical reason for sidewalks? Every one of the subdivisions you mention (without sidewalks) is in a township, not a city subdivision.'

— Mayor Paul Vernon

right-of-way with the grading, to leave the rest of the grading natural for use by the builder," said Pat Keast, whose Farmington Hills based consulting engineering firm (Seiber-Keast & Associates, Inc.) drew the Pheasant Ridge plat.

Guy Barron, developer of the Abbey Knoll site, said that the safety of sidewalks for young children was not a primary concern, since houses in the price range contemplated are not typically within reach of parents of young children.

Council did not accept that premise, however.

"How can you say that?" asked John Buckland. "Can you prove it, can you support that claim? With the birth rate going up at later ages?"

"Who," asked Carolann Ayers, "is going to buy a $350,000 house without any kids?"

Barron suggested the residents of the subdivision would have teenage children rather than youngsters.

Mayor Paul Vernon asked "isn't there a practical reason for sidewalks? Every one of the subdivisions you mention (without sidewalks) is in a township, not a city subdivision."

Asked to clarify the distinction, Vernon cautioned that he was not certain but "the township subdivisions may not be as concerned about the character of their subdivisions."

Ayers acknowledged the value of the rural atmosphere of subdivisions without sidewalks, but noted that, "if you live in Quail Ridge, you don't connect with anything. There's no place to go (on a sidewalk). In a city, a lot of people will walk downtown."

Buckland said he had heard from many Lexington Commons residents who have walked the sites of the planned subdivisions for years.

"They want to be able to continue to enjoy it after it is developed," he said. "If there are city sidewalks there, they can."

Paul Folino said he found it "heart-warming" to see mothers walking babies in carriages on city sidewalks.

Ayers and Vernon also pressed for street lighting, though it is a negotiable item, since the contract for lighting is technically between the city and Detroit Edison.

"Statistically, streetlights are a deterrent to crime — there's no challenging those statistics," Vernon said.

City manager Steven Walters noted that the developers might find the appearance of Edison's lighting options aesthetically undesirable and may wish to negotiate an arrangement to install lights "more appropriate to how they want their developments to look."

Along with the sidewalk requirement, council voted to also demand planting of "street trees" — one per lot in the area between the sidewalk and curb.

Videos put sight into site plan review

By KEVIN A. WILSON

When the township gave Matt Modrack the title of "director," no one suspected he'd go Hollywood.

But community development director Modrack debuted the first of a new series of video programs last week for the township planning commission, narrating the show with phrases such as "pan around to the right," and, "a tight shot."

Modrack and township resident high school student Steve Lee videotaped the sites of four proposed developments that had applied for plan approvals April 29, to show commissioners the terrain and special conditions.

"I hired a Northville High School student at minimum wage — he was worth more than that in my opinion — and we went out and videotaped the sites," Modrack told the commission. "I know you don't all get the chance to tour all the sites, and even for those who do, I thought this could be sort of a reminder."

Modrack edited the tape to provide three-minute tours of each site — a length he admitted was "too long" after the initial trial run last week.

He noted that the tapes seemed particularly effective for two sites — that of the North Pointe office complex at Eight Mile and Haggerty and that of a proposed earth fill program of a former gravel pit on Beck Road at Seven Mile.

The North Pointe site will require extensive earth fill to become developable and the tape clearly showed standing water on a site that poses difficult storm drainage problems.

"In the future, I'd make (the tapes) shorter and maybe just use them to show special conditions," Modrack said after the meeting. "I'd also use more set shots instead of moving the camera quite as much."

Commissioners were generally enthusiastic about the tapes, agreeing with Modrack that three minutes was too long for the more ordinary sites.

Modrack took care to ensure that the tapes could be keyed to the drawings provided each commissioner, specifying where the cameraman was standing for each shot and the direction the camera was aimed.

He also made a point of taking pictures of identifiable landmarks to help commissioners correlate the plans and the scenes on the screen.

One hitch developed early in the evening when the planning commission altered the order of its consideration of agenda items. The plans were in A,B,C,D order, but after alteration of the agenda, the order became B,C,A,D.

The tape had been organized to follow the agenda in the order printed, so township manager Bruno Scacchitti had to wind the tape forward to get the proper scenes, then wind it back when the first item was considered. Fortunately, the starting point of each site review had been logged. Commissioners had to sit by while the VCR was again turned to fast-forward before viewing the last of the scenes.

The problem was a minor one of the sort to be expected when testing a new system. Modrack noted that the entire program was put together by the township with developers having to bear no direct costs of the presentation.

Moraine students take a lunch break

Moraine childcare program expands preschool offerings

By MAUREEN NASZRADI

Because of the success of the first year of the Moraine Early Childhood Development Center, center administrators are expanding programs for the 1986-87 school year.

When Moraine Elementary School was closed last year due to the district's decreasing enrollment, School Superintendent George Bell visualized the site as a child care center. "The need for this type of facility was quite clear," said Bell, "and the closed school had the perfect set-up."

What the center provides is a variety of programs for children ages 18 months to 11 years. Preschool programs include Kids' Creative Corner and Childcare. Childcare is available for a half or full day, but Moraine Program Coordinator Mary Kay Scullen emphasizes that it is not babysitting.

"What we are trying to do here is provide high quality care for children while meeting the differing needs of children and parents," said Scullen.

Other programs are Beginner and Wondergarten. Meeting about three hours Monday through Friday, Beginner is a developmental kindergarten for five year olds who would benefit from additional experiences before entering regular kindergarten, according to Scullen. Wondergarten is a morning or afternoon program designed to complement a kindergarten program.

Kids' Club, a before and after school program, is available to children in kindergarten through sixth grade. Although families may opt to come for only one of the sessions, Scullen reported that 30-40 percent of the children come for both. As part of the expansion program, Kids' Club now also will be available full-time in the summer.

To enlarge programs to allow for the expected increase in enrollment for next year, Scullen said she has added new Childcare and Creative Corner sessions. Another addition to the center's curriculum is a program called Parent and Child.

The program is designed to give parents and children a chance to interact with each other and their peers in an environment similar to the preschool session but with parents present, Scullen explained. Also, she said, "The classes serve as a transition stage for parents who aren't quite ready to leave their kids some place for a couple of hours."

A program involving participation in child care by students from Northville High School has worked extremely well this year, according to Scullen. After completing six weeks of studying preschoolers, including how to deal with their behavior in a positive way and "where they are," the 48 students in Carla Tibble's Parenting Preschoolers' Class went to the Moraine center for nine sessions to gain real experience in handling children.

Acting as assistants to the center's instructors, the students applied their classroom learning to actual interaction with the children at Moraine.

"I think it helps an individual student to be more cognizant of what it's like to be a preschooler as well as a parent because you learn about yourself in the process," Tibble explained.

The instructors at the center whom the students worked with have a B.A. in early childhood or a related field, have experience working with young children and knowledge of child development, Scullen noted. "We look for teachers who are excited about the program and share the philosophy that children need to be met at their developmental level. They're able to make their classroom warm, caring and exciting," Scullen said.

In addition to the teacher-child interaction, the center stresses parental involvement. "When parents drop off and pick up their children, the teachers have a chance to talk to them on a daily basis and get to know them. We make ourselves available to parents if they are having any questions or concerns about their kids," she added.

Stressing the importance of a family-centered early childhood, Scullen said the center's philosophy is to provide an atmosphere of warmth and loving care to nurture the children's development to their fullest potential, including attitudes about themselves and working with others. Scullen said the children are very excited about coming to the center and develop a positive attitude toward school.

Approximately 200 children currently are involved in all the center programs. "Next, we will be expanding and adding classes so it (enrollment) will be even higher," reported Scullen.

Available to district and non-district residents, the program costs range from $3 to $15 per session. The Moraine center is self-supporting, operating entirely on these fees.

In addition to increased enrollment, community support has been demonstrated in other ways. Scullen reported that donations in the form of ping pong tables, video games, bales of straw and other items have been made by area residents.

Following its authorization to have Bell set up the programs, the Northville School Board continues to oversee the project. "We are very pleased with the success of the project and particularly with the talented staff," said Bell.

Registration for children began May 1. Parents should register in person at Moraine or call 344-8465 before 4 p.m. daily.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON INCREASING PROPERTY TAXES

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that on May 14, 1986, at 7:45 o'clock p.m. DST at the Board Room the Board of Trustees of Schoolcraft College will hold a public hearing on the levying in 1986 of an estimated additional proposed millage rate of 0.114 mills for operating purposes pursuant to Act 5, Public Acts of Michigan, 1982.

The Board of Trustees has the complete authority to establish that 2.27 mills be levied in 1986 from within its present authorized millage rate.

The maximum additional proposed millage rate would increase revenues for operating purposes from ad valorem property tax levies in 1986 otherwise permitted by Act 5, Public Acts of Michigan, 1982, by an estimated five percent (5%).

The figure for increase in revenue for operating purposes is based on the latest estimate of state equalized valuation of property located within the College District. In the event that state equalized valuation as finalized is for any reason higher than the estimate used for this hearing, the Board of Trustees must hold another public hearing before levying millage on any higher valuation.

The purpose of the hearing is to receive testimony and discuss the levy of an additional millage rate. Not less than seven (7) days following the public hearing, the Board of Trustees may approve all or any portion of the proposed additional millage rate.

This notice is given by the Board of Trustees.

To help entering freshmen make the academic and social transition to college life, the OC volunteers return to campus almost two weeks before fall term classes start. They come to Alma for their final volunteer planning and preparation three days before freshmen arrive.

Erdody, a sophomore at Alma, is a 1984 graduate of Detroit Country Day in Birmingham. She is majoring in elementary education.

JAMES ROTH, son of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Roth of Northville, recently appeared in the Albion College Theatre production of Tad Mosel's award-winning play, "All the Way Home."

Roth, a sophomore at Albion, had the part of Andrew Lynch in this year's final production. The play marked his fifth show on campus.

CHRIS SCHALDENBRAND of 21234 Halstead recently completed a four-day concert tour with the Interlochen Arts Academy Choir and its smaller Chorale to high schools in Dearborn, Birmingham and Jackson.

The choir toured the state as part of an "Outreach" project supported by the Michigan Council for the Arts.

Made up largely of voice majors, whose training at the Academy includes sight-reading and private voice lessons, the Choir and Chorale have won many state and national honors.

Schaldenbrand, a senior at Interlochen, is a bass.

ROBERT ZIEGLER of Northville is among 12 Michigan State University students recognized as honorable mentions in competition for the coveted National Science Foundation Fellowships.

A total of seven MSU students received fellowships, which provide tuition and an annual stipend of $11,000 for graduate study in science and engineering at a university of the recipient's choice.

Ziegler is a systems science major at Michigan State.

Four Northville residents were among 63 outstanding business students honored April 9 by the Schoolcraft College Business Division for their academic achievement.

Honors are given to students who have completed 40 credit hours with a minimum of 15 credit hours with a minimum grade point average of 3.25.

Northville students honored were KAREN SUE BANKS, LINDA E. BESH, LAURETTE KOVALIK and KATHLEEN MCINTYRE.

JENNIFER MERRIFIELD of 384 Welch is among the undergraduate students at Indiana University (Bloomington) named to the dean's list for the first semester, 1985-86.

To achieve the dean's list, students must earn a 3.5 grade point average or better in a minimum of 12 hours of course work.

Hampton Inn plans rejected, appeal sent to ZBA

By KEVIN A. WILSON

Plans for a Hampton Inn budget motel at Eight Mile and Haggerty roads were rejected by the township planning commission for the second time April 29, but may be approved by the end of May.

Commissioners voted to reject the plan primarily because the hotel proposed would be 45.6 feet tall — more than 20 feet higher than is permitted under the B-3 (commercial) zoning category assigned to the 2.3 acre parcel on the southeast corner of the intersection.

Marvin Kramer, representing Hampton Inns (a subsidiary of Holiday Inns) said the firm plans to request a variance from the height restrictions when the zoning board of appeals (ZBA) meets next week.

Community development director

Matthew Modrack explained that the developer has designed the structure to suit the township's freeway-service commercial zoning district, which is not yet adopted but was reviewed by the planning commission last week and recommended for approval by the township board of trustees.

A new master plan for the Haggerty Road corridor, adopted early this year, recommends freeway service zoning for the Hampton Inn's site. The zoning standards approved last week would allow a 48-foot tall building in the district.

Waiting for final adoption of the new zoning standards and then for the rezoning of the parcel would require the developer to stall construction through most of the current building season.

If building is done under the B-3

"The last time we reviewed this, I was very critical of the Hampton Inn proposal. This time, you've brought us a very professional plan, it's a great improvement."

— Richard Allen

zoning, with variances allowed by the ZBA in accordance with the new freeway service category, construction may begin in early June.

Although a previous site plan submitted in February was criticized by the commission, the revised version reviewed April 29 earned high praise, despite the technical requirement that it be rejected so that an appeal to the ZBA may be made.

The plan is designed to work in conjunction with an adjacent office development (North Pointe Office Complex) immediately to the south, with the two sites to share entrance drives and some parking spaces.

The North Pointe site plan received preliminary approval from the commission last week (see related story), though serious questions remain in regard to engineering of storm drainage systems on the site.

Without permission to use 17 parking spaces on the North Pointe site, the Hampton Inn plan would fall short of its off-street parking requirements. It also does not meet the loading zone requirement of 500 square feet. The loading space may be appealed to the ZBA, since as a budget motel the Hampton Inn does not offer the kind of full-service operation contemplated in the drafting of the ordinance requirement, according to Kramer.

Combining the entrance drive with that of the office complex addressed one major concern of the commission — minimizing traffic complications on Haggerty. It also complies with an element of the freeway service zoning proposal, which "encourages" shared driveway and service roads.

"The last time we reviewed this, I was very critical of the Hampton Inn proposal," said commissioner Richard Allen, the liaison from the board of trustees. "This time, you've brought us a very professional plan, it's a great improvement."

Given the height problem, planning consultant Claude Coates told the commission "your action can only be to deny on the basis that it violates your ordinance."

When Kramer expressed concern about the rejection of the plan, suggesting that it be tabled, Allen noted that the only way to get to the ZBA would be to have the plan rejected.

"Consider it a rejection without prejudice," he said.

Much earth fill needed on office site

Dirt fill eight to 10 feet deep will be needed to create the grades shown on a site plan for a two-story office building on 6.4 acres on the east side of Haggerty Road south of Eight Mile, township planners learned while granting the plan preliminary approval last week.

The North Pointe Office Complex proposed by Detroit Realty Partners would feature two levels of underground parking to a depth of 18 feet, with 128,625 square feet of office space above grade.

The site is immediately south of the proposed Hampton Inn site and occupies the larger portion of the land contained by the triangle of Haggerty, Old Haggerty and Eight Mile Roads.

At its eastern (back) side, facing I-275, the building would appear to exceed the 30-foot height limit for office structures in the B-3 zoning category, but if grades are developed as proposed, the structure would be 29.4 feet above grade on the other three sides. The entrance to the underground parking is proposed on the east side.

Engineering consultant Edward J.

McNeely said the large amount of fill needed would require the developer to obtain a permit from the township, post a bond and consent to periodic inspections as the earth is placed on the site and compacted.

McNeely also cited several deficiencies in the plan for storm drainage of the site, which presently is described as "very wet" and receives storm water from much of the surrounding area.

The plan works in conjunction with the Hampton Inns site to the north (see related story) by sharing an entrance driveway.

When planning commissioner Marvin Gans suggested the development of a motel and office complex at the intersection would require widening of Haggerty, community development director Matt Modrack said the township hopes the ongoing growth in the area will prompt swifter action from the Wayne County road department, which has not been responsive to recent pleas to widen the road.

"The status of these two sites may generate more interest (in widening) on behalf of Wayne County," Modrack suggested.

Community education class teaches life skills to disabled

By MICHELE M. FECHT

This is the first in an occasional series on Northville Public Schools' Community Education Program offerings. This issue will focus on the "Over 26 Program" for the developmentally disabled.

For the students enrolled in Barb Sixt's class at Bryant School in Livonia, daily lessons involve much more than reciting their ABCs.

Visitors to the classroom are likely to find students measuring ingredients for a new recipe, practicing lacing a shoe or learning to pot a plant.

The program is designed for the "over 26" developmentally disabled student no longer eligible for special education programs and services as outlined by Michigan's Mandatory Special Education Act (Public Act 198).

According to Sixt, who has been teaching the class since its inception three years ago, students participating in the program cannot have completed more than a sixth grade education.

Sixt's class is designed to teach students basic skills training in areas such as survival cooking, consumer education and household and money management.

Though English and math are separate subject areas, Sixt notes that both skills are incorporated in all of the teaching methods.

For instance, in survival cooking, both reading and math are emphasized through in the introduction to basic food preparation. Students learn to use and recognize cooking tools, recipes and measurements.

A classroom grocery store helps students with money management and teaches them about purchasing and storing goods. The nutritional value of foods, wardrobe planning and organizing and caring for a home also are part of consumer education training.

The district's Over 26 program draws students from the local district, Farmington, Garden City, Detroit and many other areas. Most students in the program either live at home with their families or reside in group homes, Sixt notes. She says that often times group home students will divide their time between her classroom and work centers. She emphasizes students enrolled in the class are welcome to attend both full-time or part-time. Transportation is not provided.

Though there currently are 11 students enrolled in her second semester class (with ages ranging from 26 to 57), Sixt notes she has had as many as 23 students. She currently is assisted by classroom aide Sylvia Neal.

The state provides the district with funding for two 15-week sessions beginning in September and concluding in mid-May.

However, this year the district plans to run a six-week summer session beginning May 19 on a tuition basis. Lucia Danes, supervisor of Northville's Community Education program, notes that the district has received funding from the Plymouth Civilians and the Redford Lions Club to help defer tuition costs for the summer session. Others interested in the program can contact Danes at 344-8447.

Seniors to attend spring concert

Northville senior citizens will be attending the spring concert of the Novi Choralaires, "Healed for Parts Unknown," Saturday. Seniors will be picked up in the Northville Senior Citizen bus at the Big Boy Restaurant and Allen Terrace at 6:45 and 7 p.m. respectively. Cost for the concert, including the bus trip, is $4.

Citizens may participate in an hour-long bus tour of Northville beginning at 10 a.m. Participants will then stop at the Mill Race Historical Village for an hour-long guided tour by the village docents. They should bring a folding chair and sack lunch to eat on the grounds, weather permitting.

May 30 Northville Seniors will attend the Redford Theater showing of Around the World in 80 Days. The theater, restored to its splendor of the 1920s, also offers an organ prelude. Cost is $5 including round trip transportation. Pickup will be at the Big Boy and Allen Terrace at 6:30 p.m. Dinner is not included in this package.

Park supporters

City and township elected officials, recreation commissioners and members of the Northville Kiwanis Club give a hand to Northville Recreation Director John Anderson and his assistant Traci Johnson in erecting a sign at the Beck Road park site. It marks the beginning of a campaign to develop the property on Beck between Five and Six Mile with needed ball fields and other recreational facilities. The Kiwanis Club kicked off the drive officially by contributing a check for $3,000. Anderson, pointing out that the cost of a lighted ball field and parking lot could run to $100,000, said the recreation department has applied for $50-$70,000 in grant funds for the project. He estimated that a campaign then will have to raise $25-$50,000. As the sign says, call 349-0203 to contribute.

Annual bird count set this Saturday at park

The 10th annual May Bird Count, an all-day bird census for which binoculars are essential, will be held at Kensington Metropark Saturday, starting at 7 a.m. Participants may spend as little or as much time as they wish; teams with leaders will be assigned.

"Spring Discovery Hike," an opportunity to explore the park nature trail with a park naturalist, will be held at 1:30 p.m. Saturday.

"Bluebirds of Spring," a program about bluebirds which requires participants to bring binoculars, will be held at 10 a.m. Sunday.

"Mom, Spring and You," a naturalist-led nature walk, will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday.

Most programs at the park are free, but require advance registration. Call 1-800-552-6772. A vehicle entry permit is required to enter the park.

Catherine McAuley Health Center:

The Future is Brighter for Mental Health Care

This summer, Catherine McAuley Health Center will open its new mental health facility on the Huron River Drive campus. This new facility emphasizes our commitment to the caring treatment of emotional and mental illnesses. Our interdisciplinary team approach is committed to returning patients back into the community as quickly as possible. The new Mercywood represents the bright future of mental health care in this community, care of the whole person in a wider variety of treatment modalities.

Treatment of Mental Illness

Mental health problems, often triggered by unusual stress, show up in family violence, family breakdown, professional burnout, and depression. At Mercywood, we know mental and emotional problems can be alleviated. Our team of caregivers focuses treatment on the total person—physical, spiritual, social, and emotional. We emphasize individualized treatment with an approach that teaches skills for coping with life's stressors. Mercywood's inpatient program spaces are designed especially for individual and group therapy, family therapy, medical treatment and other therapeutic and educational programs. And most important, the inpatient program focuses on short-term, intensive intervention that helps you return to the community as soon as possible.

Outpatient Treatment for Mental Illness

The new Mercywood will include Partial Hospitalization services which allow you to continue daytime therapy and rehabilitation activities while returning home at night. Not only is this good therapy, but it substantially reduces the cost of treatment if you don't require inpatient care. The outpatient service (located at the Maple Health Building and Arbor Health Building satellites) also uses a team approach to care by incorporating psychologists, social workers and counselors. This service treats individuals with a variety of emotional problems and promotes minimal disruption of your life by allowing you to maintain ties with your family and friends.

For more information on Mercywood or the Partial Hospitalization Service please call 572-5351.

Six Mile office plans feature colonial style

No one from Lakes of Northville turned up to protest, so the planned Kosik office complex on Six Mile east of Bradner and west of Winchester probably is scoring points by virtue of its Colonial styling and pitched roofs.

Planning commissioners granted the plan preliminary approval April 29, with the only major alteration suggested being the reduction in the number of entry drives from two to one.

Homeowners from the adjoining Lakes of Northville subdivision were present in force for site plan reviews last year of the Cedar Lake Apartment Complex, but not a word of protest was heard in regard to the twin, single-story office structures proposed for a 2.4-acre parcel.

The land is the smaller of two vacant parcels zoned for OS-1 office service uses west of Winchester. Community development director Matt Modrack said a plan for the larger site will probably be presented in May or June. The Towne Hall office complex adjacent to the bank east of Winchester is nearing completion.

By comparison to those structures, the plans submitted by JFK Partnership for the Kosik Office Complex are much "homier," somewhat like scaled-down versions of the two-story office structure on Seven Mile opposite the state hospital.

The plans, consultant Claude Coates noted, call for setbacks that exceed the ordinance requirements. He also noted that the six-foot wall proposed for the north end of the 110-space parking lot does not meet requirements — instead, a 4½-foot wall is required at the property line.

Terrain on the site puts the adjacent homes in the Lakes of Northville far uphill from the office structures, so Coates suggested that a heavily planted greenbelt might be appropriate as a substitute for the wall.

Modrack pointed out that some of the adjacent residential lots are not yet occupied, and that the purchasers of those sites should be notified about the plans for the office parcel.

He said the plans have been shown to representatives of the subdivision homeowners' association, "and they were very pleased to see a pitched roof."

The plans must be returned to the commission for final site plan approval before construction.

Blood donor

Northville High School junior Leslie Oliver grimaces as she gives blood during the student blood drive held Monday at the high school. The Red Cross is back in town today for those interested in donating. The Northville Jaycees are sponsoring a blood drive from 2-8 p.m. today at First Presbyterian Church. Walk-ins are welcome.

Music students play

Nineteen students at the Giffdler music store, 302 E. Main, in Northville will be presented in a concert recital from 7-9:30 p.m. this Friday at Meads Mill Middle School.

Giffdler owner Tom Rice notes that all performers volunteered to participate in the concert and adds that the public is welcome. There is no admission charge.

Participating are Charity Albright, Brad Battey, James Bock, Denise Bolded, Matt Borruth, Chris Brave, Danielle Johnson and Valencie Johnson.

Others are Andrew Hathikanaua, Michele Hathikanaua, Ryan Leuthauser, Paul McGuire, Carrie Quint, Nancy Ray, Danny Rice, Justin Rice, Shannon Salisbury, Amy Stevenson and Michael Vartanian.

Fran Gazlay honored for outstanding 'volunteering' tribute to the continuing success and progress of Mill Race Village," Jones noted.

Gazlay was nominated for the honor by Virginia Hayward, corresponding secretary of Northville Historical Society.

In doing so, she noted that he had served in many capacities and had worked on restoration of many of the buildings. It is under his direction that the stone J. Hirsch blacksmith shop, a replica of an early shop on Main Street, has been built next to the Wash Oak School in the village. The shop also is to serve as a village museum.

"I was delighted," the retired teacher declared, adding that the unexpected honor really was a surprise.

The Historical Society of Michigan initiated the Volunteer Recognition Award Program in December, 1984, in an effort to recognize and honor the volunteers of local historical societies and museums in Michigan.

"The contributions of time, energy and enthusiasm by these volunteers are vital to sustaining the organizations that work to preserve Michigan's rich heritage," Jones said.

He noted that the award is "one of honor, not competition, and worthy volunteers are actively sought."

Fran Gazlay and his wife Elizabeth have been Northville residents since 1950 and have lived in their Victorian home at 221 S. Rogers the entire time. Gazlay laughed and said that they have too much in it to move.

Their four children grew up there. Son Chris, who married Cheryl Babbitt, and his family still live in Northville; Mark and his family are in West Bloomfield, Martha, who married Michael Conley of Northville, lives in Marquette; Julie, also married, lives in Danville, Calif. There are now nine grandchildren.

Gazlay doesn't plan to rest on his laurels — he now is directing his energies to the museum that is to open in the J. Hirsch Building.

Board gives Bell high marks on annual evaluation

tion to explain administrative recommendations to facilitate the board's decision making process; (6) supports board of education policy and action to the public and staff; and (7) goes directly to the board of education when he feels an honest and objective difference of opinion exists between the superintendent and any or all members of the board, in an effort to resolve those differences.

In the remaining two sections of his evaluation — performance as superintendent of schools and achievement of goals — the board was asked to rate the superintendent on a scale of one to five, with 1 representing "unsatisfactory" and 5 being "excellent."

Bell received an overall 5 five rating in each of the eight categories.

In a year wrought with difficulties — most notably the delays in the high school renovation project — board members credited the superintendent's leadership in helping pull the district together in the face of considerable adversity.

Since taken the helm of the district in 1982, Bell has rated near or at the top on all four of his performance evaluations. During his review Monday night, several board members took stock of the district's changes since his arrival four years ago.

Among the most notable improvements outlined by the board were the renovation of the high school, better utilization of the district's facilities, improved communications between staff members and the central office, grade structure realignment (middle school program) and a renewed pride within the community.

"I think we're really in a position we'd like to be in," trustee Chris Johnson noted. "We've overcome the glaring deficiencies of four years ago."

In his performance as chief executive of the board, trustees concurred that Bell's strongest areas were in adhering and recommending district policies and informing the board about district problems and activities.

In the category of policy recommendations, board members praised Bell's handling of the change in the high school lunch policy.

"I think the change in the high school policies were really responsive to what the community wants," board president Glenna Davis noted.

Davis, who is in closest contact with Bell, praised the open communication between the superintendent and the board.

"There has never been an issue in the community where I haven't heard about it from George first," she said.

Trustee Karen Wilkinson added that she appreciates knowing what is coming down the pike before dealing with an issue at a public meeting. "The big issues have been filtered through subcommittees and board study sessions (before being placed on the board's regular agenda)," she noted.

Nearly all board members praised Bell's handling of sensitive or disruptive issues and noted that there is little confrontation between the board and the district's chief executive.

"We talk about a situation before it gets to be a problem," Davis noted.

Trustee Doug Whitaker said he felt Bell was "successful in this area because he's a good listener."

In his performance as superintendent of schools, Bell was given top marks in all areas which included: (1) improvement of the instructional program; (2) student safety, health and well being; (3) facility management and planning; (4) management and organization of the district; (5) financial responsibility; (6) performance evaluations of the district's employees; and (7) community relations.

Board members concurred that delays in the high school renovation project caused some disruption of the instructional program at the senior high level. However, all trustees noted that improvements have been made at the elementary schools and Meads Mill.

"My son is at Meads Mill and I'm delighted with the how that's come about," trustee James Petrie noted. "Meads Mill is the star in this area in my opinion."

Noting that the district's performance this fall on the Michigan Educational Assessment Program (MEAP) was among the best in recent history, Davis said she felt that despite the disruption caused by delays in the high school project, the teaching staff remained on task in the instructional area.

"The atmosphere in each building right now is extremely positive," she noted.

Though they recognized the strides made in the instructional program at both the elementary and middle school level, Johnson and trustee David Llewellyn held back on giving Bell a unanimous 5 in his efforts to improve the instructional program.

With the middle school closing in on the end of its first year, Johnson said it is too early to evaluate that program.

Llewellyn said he gave Bell a 4 rating in improvement of the instructional program as a result of the delays at the high school.

"I think the high school instructional program did suffer," Llewellyn said.

In the area of facility management and planning, the board praised Bell for the conversion of Moraine to an early childcare center and the improved maintenance of all the facilities. The only shortcoming noted by board members was the delay in instituting energy conservation measures in the district.

The five-year millage renewal was cited as among Bell's greatest contributions in the area of financial responsibility as well as community relations.

"Despite everything that's gone on this year, you do have the support of the community... and it showed itself in the millage renewal," Hansen remarked.

In his achievement of goals and objectives, board members praised Bell for keeping on track with the district's long-range plan.

Nearly all trustees agreed that with the high school nearing completion, stabilization of the district and improvement of the instructional program at the high school will be goals for the coming school year.

"I feel the disappointments we've had this year are transitory," Whitaker noted. "The achievements will last and last."

Council passes skateboard regulations

The ordinance requires skaters to yield right-of-way to pedestrians, pass pedestrians in single file if skating in a group, and not approach or pass in a "reckless or careless manner." It also prohibits riding on benches, tables, planter walls, retaining walls and the like, allows the police chief to post a sign prohibiting skating, and bans "reckless or dangerous skating or riding."

The final clause prohibits riding on private property without specific written permission of the property owner.

David Totten of Horton Street, a city planning commissioner and father of a skateboarder, said the ordinance language, although not specifically excluding skateboards, could be used selectively to create an effective ban on the devices.

"There is language that says the police chief is 'authorized to erect signs prohibiting' skateboards," Totten said. "I assume that's at the chief's own discretion — the language is pretty broad. The power is there to ban skateboards totally, and that's not what I understood to be the aim. My understanding was that the banning would be temporarily for specific reasons such as a sidewalk sale."

Vernon said council's intent was only to have bans invoked in special situations such as sidewalk and garage sale days downtown, or when a particular area is being abused by skaters.

The broad language, he said, gives the chief the ability to enforce a ban without first obtaining a traffic control order from city council.

Totten also questioned a requirement that skateboarders on private property carry on their persons written permission of the property owner to ride the board at that location. He said a clause stating that riding on private property without such a permission slip is "prima facie evidence" of an ordinance violation "is a little severe."

"Kids are not going to be able to get written permission — even people who don't mind aren't going to put it in writing because of concern for liability," Totten said. "If every kid who wants to ride across a parking lot has to have written permission, you've banned skateboards."

He noted that the bicycle ordinance, which the skateboard ordinance is said to be patterned after, includes neither of the clauses he questioned.

"In effect, the ordinance that started out to be like the bicycle ordinance is going to wipe out (skateboarders') opportunity to do anything," Totten said.

He also said there was "a little bit of bad feeling about the police involvement — the police may have been a little heavy-handed" in employing the public nuisance laws against skateboarders, he said.

City manager Steven Walters said the intent of the ordinance is to provide specific direction to the police department to define acceptable and unacceptable uses of skateboards and clarify what kind of police action is required.

Mayor Pro Tem G. Dewey Gardner said, "Liability is the first and most important issue. We need ordinances on the books to protect ourselves and yourselves from liability."

Several skateboarders questioned an ordinance provision banning reckless or careless riding in pedestrian areas, asking "who defines what's reckless? What we think is in control, a police officer may call out of control," in the words of David Nelson of Springfield Court.

Nelson asked police chief Rodney Cannon how many complaints about skateboarders had been filed recently. Cannon said eight were on record dating back to Good Friday. Some were repeat complaints, and Cannon said the Arbor Drug store is the most frequent complainant.

The chief also said one accident attributed to skateboard use has been recorded, and that he had the police report of the incident in front of him.

"A skateboarder and a vehicle were travelling in the same direction, the skateboarder turned without looking and hit the truck," Cannon said.

Skateboarder Eric Smith, who said he was the one involved in the accident, claimed the report was inaccurate.

"I wasn't even on the skateboard when he hit me — I was standing there eating Juju-Fruits," Smith said. "That guy, I don't know, maybe he was drunk, he rolled into the lot and hit me while I was standing there. He wasn't moving fast, and I didn't get hurt. But, I wasn't even on the skateboard, so I don't see how it can be classified as a skateboarding accident."

Cannon said the discrepancy between the police report and Smith's version should be clarified. "If your side of the story isn't represented here, you should come back in (to the police station) and I'll have the officer review your side with you and make sure it's in the report."

Vernon said the city had attempted to reach a compromise that "puts you on your good behavior. The easy way out would have been to do what Birmingham did — ban skateboards entirely."

Council member Paul Folino and Vernon cited on-going efforts to obtain liability insurance that would allow designation of a specific skateboarding area — an aim many skateboarders supported, as evidenced by repeated pleas to "build us a ramp and we'll ride there."

City police still are investigating accident on Center Street that sent driver to hospital Thursday

Police Blotters

Woman injured in collision

In the city . . .

An unknown woman was injured and taken to the hospital after her Chevette was forced off the road last Thursday (May 1) at 1:15 p.m. on Center Street near Hardees.

According to Northville Police, another driver crossed the center line, struck the Chevette thus forcing it off the road and into a street light post. Northville officer Hugh Jordan attended to the victim prior to the arrival of the ambulance.

The extent of the injuries suffered by the woman is still unknown.

A total of $1,400 worth of damage was reported at a construction site on Taft Road just south of Cook Junior High School.

According to the police report, unknown person(s) broke seven windows in two construction vehicles between 3:30 p.m. May 3 and 2:30 p.m. May 4.

A 28-year-old Northville man was questioned and later released by police following what was originally believed to be an apartment break-in on May 4 at 1:44 a.m.

Northville Police dispatched to the apartment on 302 Pennell found the front door window broken out ($40 damage). Upon entering, the officers found nothing disturbed but did find the suspect hiding under a bed.

The suspect stated that he knew the owner of the apartment and had broken the window by accident. A resident of the apartment was located, came to the scene and identified the man as her roommate's boyfriend.

The shaken suspect said that he couldn't find the hidden key outside and kicked the door causing it to break. When the police came, the suspect said he hid because he was afraid of what the officers might do to him.

. . . in the township

A Farmington Hills man was injured in a hit-and-run collision at Northville and Seven Mile roads April 30, according to township police reports.

Anthony J. Dettore, 20, was transported to Botsford Hospital by CEMS ambulance. He was treated and released for moderate injuries (cuts, bruises or minor bone breaks) according to the report.

Dettore told police he stopped his car for a red traffic signal on northbound Northville Road on Seven Mile at about 12:29 a.m. April 30. While he waited for the light to change, Dettore's car was struck from behind by an older model Chevrolet, which then drove away. The license number of the alleged hit-and-run car was not obtained.

More than $1,000 worth of goods was reported stolen from a Seven Mile Road residence May 1.

The owner told police he was gone between 11:30 a.m. and 8:30 p.m. and returned to find the bedroom broken into and items stolen from the house.

Missing were a Canon AE-1 35mm SLR camera (valued at $400) and a zoom lens (priced at $120). Also reported stolen was a $600 Magnavox VCR. Damage to the window was estimated at $80.

Police issue warning about 'gypsy' scams

The Northville City Police are warning area residents to be aware of criminal traveling groups often known as "gypsies," who generally make their way back into Michigan this time of year.

These gypsies often organize scams that attempt to either steal or cheat citizens out of money and belongings, the police warn. They say they are concerned because the target of most of the scams is the elderly.

A few of the most popular scams include proposed home improvement work like painting, blacktopping, roof and gutter work. Their objective is to do a poor job — or no job at all — and get paid anyway. Another is the utility man gimmick where the gypsy will offer a "rebate" after money is exchanged. This is easy to distinguish — utility companies never offer rebates.

"They put on a good facade and come off as being professional," Northville Officer Dave Fendele said. "These people are pros at this type of stuff and this is the time of year that it happens."

There has already been a reported instance of gypsy activity in Warren this year. An elderly couple was approached and notified that some of the shingles on the roof were missing, with the gypsies offering to repair it.

The two then talked their way into the house and, while one distracted the couple by asking for a glass of water, the other entered the bedroom and took $50 from a wallet on a dresser.

If anyone has any similar experiences, they are encouraged to call the Northville Police at 349-1280.

district as a whole and will ultimately have to be satisfied."

Walters noted that the credit system often charges less per space than is required to construct the parking spaces, providing an indirect subsidy to development even when the full requirement is met.

Council adopted the policy as recommended, but only after hearing from Steve Ball of 315 Griswold, who objected to any tax abatements being offered to attract commercial development while residential improvements result in increased taxes.

"We're not a community in economic hard times where we need to give away our tax base to attract developers," said Ball. "If we were a community that were economically on the ropes, I could see it. I don't see this general trend in development to go for the tax abatement as something we need to encourage."

Walters and Mayor Paul Vernon said that the policy actually restricts and limits tax abatements far beyond what is customary in many surrounding communities.

Ball also questioned whether a hotel "is what we need on this piece of land." He cited published reports claiming that hotel developers are "overbuilding" the I-275 and I-96/M-14 corridors "because of the cheap money that's available, the low interest rates right now."

Vernon noted that the proposal calls for a different kind of hotel from those bordering the freeways, making it the "unique" kind of project called for in the policy.

Council authorized the city manager to continue negotiations on the property sale.

Piazza takes honors

For the second year in a row, the Piazza Dance Company of Northville won first-place at the Dance Masters of Michigan state-wide performing arts competition. Three first place prizes were awarded April 25-25 at Plymouth-Salem High School.

All three winning dances, with others, will be featured in the studio's annual dance recital to be held at 7:30 p.m. June 19 at Walled Lake Western High School.

Each winning group was taught by one of the three sister-owners of the dance studio located in the Highland Lakes Shopping Plaza at 4297 Seven Mile.

Gina Piazza of Livonia was instructor for Six after Six, a senior variety jazz-tap group dancing to a medley of tunes from The Cotton Club. Dancers included Michele Esper, 18, of Farmington Hills, Krystan Lim, 14, of Westland, Kirstin Schmidt, 14, of West Bloomfield, Lisa Bonkowski, 21, of Novi, Leslie Bonneville, 22, and Cathy Gromacki, 17.

Marilynn Esper of Farmington Hills choreographed a winning dance for her pre-junior jazz group, Jazzmatazz composed of 7-9 year olds, including Renee Guidrey and Amy Beth Frankel, of Northville, Wendy Grabowski, Kelli Clozza and Karen Albacker, of Novi, and Fawn DeVitis, of Dearborn Heights.

Denise Sleet of Walled Lake taught a group of junior girls, Bandstand Boppers, who performed a jazz routine to Bandstand Boogie. Peace Resource Center symposium scheduled

The Peace Resource Center of Western Wayne County will sponsor a "Peace in the Nuclear Age Symposium" May 15 at Madonna College in Livonia.

The event is intended to bring together local and national speakers to talk about issues such as the strategic implications of Star Wars, the influence of big business on military procurement decisions and such tactics of resistance as the World Peace Tax Fund, civil disobedience and non-violent civilian based defense.

The symposium will begin at 7 p.m. with a keynote address by Clara Vincent of Livonia. Vincent, who joined the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom in 1930, also attended the Second International Women's Peace Conference in Warsaw in 1950 at the invitation of Dr. Joseph Fletcher of the Episcopal Theological School of Cambridge.

First inspired to work for peace after seeing her husband's photographs from World War I, she has remained an active member of several local organizations working toward peace and justice.

Following Vincent's keynote address will be a Children's Peace Parade featuring student art and writings on peace in association with the Michigan Peace Child Project.

At 8:30 p.m., three workshops will be held simultaneously on the topics of "Star Wars," "The Economics of the Arms Race" and "Tactics of Resistance to War."

Among the featured speakers will be Capt. James Bush, associate director of the Center for Defense Information and a retired U.S. Naval officer; Dr. Dan Axelrod, associate professor of biophysics at University of Michigan; John Boies, doctoral candidate at the University of Michigan, department of sociology; Michael Oden, a member of Employment Research Associates, an independent consulting firm based in Lansing; the Rev. Peter Dougherty, a member of Covenant for Peace and a founder/member of Christian Faith and Resistance Community, which ministers at Williams International in Walled Lake; Frances Eliot, Ann Arbor Coordinator of the World

Peace Tax Fund, and Dr. John Mecartney, director of the Non-Violent Action for National Defense

Institute at Mercy College. For more information about the May 15 symposium, call 464-7766.

College awards given

Northville residents were among the honorees at the annual employee recognition luncheon held recently at Schoolcraft College.

Two Northville residents, Larry Gaitskill, political science professor, and Edward Ash, physical plant, were among eight 1986 retirees receiving plaques noting their individual contributions to the college. At the retirement reception they also received a copy of "The History of Schoolcraft College" by Plymouth author Sam Hudson and a framed sketch of the college by Professor emeritus Ralph Kelly.

Presidential Recognition Awards were given to 15 Schoolcraft employees, including Northville residents Edwynna R. Coplai, associate professor, general business, and James Van Vuren, culinary arts professor. President Richard McDowell cited the recipients for "outstanding contributions" to the college and the community.

Commemorative pins for years of service were presented by President McDowell to Northville residents Clarence Drouillard, physical plant, Leonard Stec, professor, culinary arts, and James VanVuren, professor, culinary arts, all of whom have 20 years of service.

Cited for 15 years of service were Northville residents Samuel Hallman, professor, psychology, and Martha Thuis, accounts payable clerk.

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

Over 60 million people in the United States have hypertension. It is the largest single cause of preventable disability and death. Hypertension is sometimes known as the "Silent Killer" because it often has no symptoms. The cause of hypertension is often unknown, but certain risk factors are well known. With proper evaluation, treatment is usually simple and may help prevent life threatening or disabling conditions such as stroke and heart disease.

For a complete blood pressure evaluation and treatment call Laurel Park Medical Clinic at 464-8222 for an appointment.

The Northville Record

Our Opinions

Skateboard ordinance is too restrictive

If Northville needs a skateboard ordinance — and we remain unconvinced that the city's liability is mitigated by it — the one adopted Monday night still misses the mark.

Council members claim their intent is to provide the police department with direction on how to handle skateboarding complaints. There was the suggestion Monday that police would be able to enforce this ordinance instead of using the broad latitude available under the nuisance and trespassing laws. Instead, police have been granted expanded authority without being instructed about any limitations.

Ordinance language is so broad and open to interpretation that the riders' concerns about what constitutes "reckless or careless" activity is legitimate. A minor alteration of the wording would have defined reckless or careless as activity adjudged likely to result in injury to persons or property. Instead, the clause is loose and gives police latitude to ticket for reckless or careless behavior without having to show it was endangering anyone. Mere assurances that the law won't be enforced except in case of an accident injuring a person or property don't measure up to a properly worded ordinance.

The ordinance also fails to limit the authority of the police chief to ban skateboarding by posting signs. If the need is truly only for special events or in case of continued abuse of a specific location, then those limits should have been provided in the ordinance. Instead, the chief is granted blanket authority to post prohibitory signs at will. In the case of downtown sidewalk sales and the like, the council reviews each request to close streets to vehicular traffic. We suggest that at least a similar procedure should be required to close sidewalks to skateboards.

Most disturbing is the requirement of written permission to be carried on a riders' person to skate on private property. On its face, it seems reasonable to suggest skateboarders need permission to use private property. The language, however, is more restrictive than is necessary. Written permission to ride a skateboard in a parking lot, as opposed to mere consent, carries with it much greater liability problems for private property owners. Nobody in their right mind is going to put in writing their permission to skateboard, even though some who seek the youth trade might not object.

Far better would be a clause requiring skateboarders to leave private property when requested to do so by the owner, or stay off land where the owner has posted a sign prohibiting skateboards. As it stands, the ordinance gives police the authority to stop a kid riding his board across the corner of a parking lot and demand that he or she produce a signed document granting permission to do so. No such requirement is necessary to walk, ride a bicycle or otherwise utilize a privately-owned drive or parking lot.

Worse, the ordinance states that failure to produce a written permission on demand "shall constitute prima facie evidence that said person is in violation" of the ordinance. That smacks of authoritarianism taken to an extreme — if the permission slip (assuming for the sake of argument that such a thing would ever exist) is left at home on a dresser or on a car dashboard, the skateboarder is considered guilty without appeal. In a worst case scenario, this clause would be an effective tool for any police officer seeking to harass an individual or group of youngsters.

We hope this isn't what the council means in saying it wishes to provide direction to the police department. We can agree that skateboarding is subject to regulations to protect the rights of others who use our sidewalks and streets, but still contend that there is nothing about skateboarding, per se, that requires stricter regulation than bicycling. Despite the claim to have patterned the skating ordinance after the bicycle regulations, the new ordinance is far more restrictive.

If skateboarders wore blue blazers and tasse loafers instead of T-shirts and black hi-tops, we suspect the ordinance would have paid more attention to a balance between their rights and those of pedestrians. As it stands, we can only hope the overly restrictive portions of the law are challenged in the courts, where we think most of the ordinance would be overturned. Ironical, when you consider the whole point was to stay out of court.

Great idea, Matt

We weren't sure that Northville Township really needed a community development director when it went hunting for one last year, but in the few months he's been here Matt Modrack has demonstrated several times that the decision was the right one.

His latest bright idea of showing videotape tours of development sites at planning commission meetings is the most obvious example. Planning discussions among people who haven't actually seen a proposed construction site tend to get very theoretical and detached from reality at times — it can only be to the good to have commissioners exposed directly to the site conditions while their reviewing the plans.

It didn't happen in the first run-through, but we expect inevitably at some point to see plans altered solely because a sharp-eyed commissioner picked up something on tape that wasn't otherwise considered. When that time comes, we hope someone has the good sense to thank Modrack for making it possible.

Off The Record

By Kevin Wilson

In the early morning hours, after the bars have closed, downtown Northville resembles an empty Hollywood set, or something out of the Twilight Zone. There's nobody around except the cops and, on Monday nights especially, those nuts who work at the newspaper.

After 10 p.m., you can stand in front of the office building shared by The Northville Record and The Novi News and listen to the relay switch for the spotlight at Main and Center — the first time you hear it, you jump out of your shoes. After a few years of locking the front door in the pre-dawn hours, the sound of the light changing is a comfortable old pal. It isn't a distinctive sound — just a loud KerCHUNK! — except only a handful of people come to know a thing like that, and that makes it special.

I'll miss that sound after today, though I won't miss the late-night meetings that kept me in town to hear it. I'll also miss many of the people at those meetings of the city council, township board, school board and planning commissions, some of whom I've never seen in daylight after nearly six years of writing for The Record and, later, The News.

As of today I begin a new job as news and industry editor of AutoWeek magazine, an auto "buff book" published by Crain Communications, a firm better known to those of you who aren't head-over-heels-nuts-about-cars as the publisher of Detroit Monthly and Crain's Detroit Business. Those in the industry may be more familiar with the trade paper, Automotive News. Readers who've noticed my automotive inclinations will understand that I'm excited about my new position. Some may even have figured out that this amounts to my dream job, combining professional and personal interests. But enough about that.

Ages ago (or was it yesterday?), I started writing a column in The Record that I chose to title "Off the Record," just for the pun of it. Later, the title was dropped in favor of headlines written to suit the column topic. I've used Off The Record this week because it is accurate (I am, after all, going to be off the staff by the time you read this) and for nostalgic reasons.

I've a special affection for this space because of the reader response to what's been done here. Investigative stories on the front page go by with barely a ripple, but when I recount the exploits of my kids or the travails of modern living in this space, I can count on frequent and enthusiastic comments from people all over town. When the topic's more serious, I still get better response than from a page one story.

When I suggested here that Northville Township was "stealing" county property from the child development center, the response was rapid and never-ending. Building official Troy Milligan is one of several who still complain I was unfair, and I still respond that the column accomplished its goal of having the property returned. Milligan says he'll never forgive me — I forgave him and everyone else involved long ago, but it's fun to argue the point.

When I suggested here that Phil Ogilvie had been unfairly treated upon being dismissed as Northville city attorney, the response was rapid and never-ending. Mayor Paul Vernon wrote a long letter, which he thinks I've never forgotten or forgiven. I've not forgotten, for I've tried to learn from every experience, but I forgave long ago.

There are a lot of things I'm going to miss about working here, though many of those I hope to replace by frequent visits and a possible relocation of my residence. The one thing I can't replace is the opportunity this column gave me to meet all of you and exchange opinions. Even a dream job has its deficiencies. See you in the funny papers.

After
Fact

By Phil Jerome

"What are you writing," she asked as I inked the signature of Chester T. Morris with great flourish at the end of the official-looking letter.

"Oh, it's just a letter from Chester T. Morris to our next door neighbor," I responded, trying to sound innocent.

She asked me who Chester T. Morris was. And I told her he was the township lawn inspector. "He's pretty upset about the magnificent crop of dandelions that Andy has growing in his front yard and he wrote Ol' Andy a letter warning him to clean up the dandelion menace before it spread to the lawns of his neighbors."

I thought it was kind of funny, and fully intended to leave the notice lodged in Andy's front door to read and think about when he got home from work.

But she wouldn't let me. Said it wasn't nice.

"You think it's nice the way he goes around cultivating those little yellow things? Are you going to get down on your hands and knees to cut them out of our yard when the wind starts blowing in our direction?"

"You've seen the way he goes around threatening me about how nice his lawn is going to look. Know what he told me yesterday? He said he has a secret lawn weapon that he's going to launch on me next week. Wouldn't tell me what it was. Said it wouldn't be a surprise if he did. But I should look out because once he springs the secret weapon my reign as lawn-king will be a thing of the past."

"But look at how hard he works on that lawn of his," she responded. "He's out there working all the time. So what if a few dandelions managed to pop up this spring? You're not going to send that letter from the township lawn inspector, and that's final."

I tried to convince her that it was sort of a cute letter. All in the name of a little neighborly fun. But she was adamant. I couldn't send the letter.

But every cloud has its silver lining. Fortunately, I was able to mail Andy his letter of commendation from the Michigan Society for the Preservation and Cultivation of Dandelions (MSPCD) before she figured out what I was doing.

To the Editor:
I, the undersigned, am sending this letter to publicly object to the front page picture in the April 30 issue of The Northville Record.

Many positive things happened in this game as well as the other games this year, and yet the only time the baseball program makes the front page is a negative situation, an unhappy situation. What purpose can a picture of a young man laying on the ground, blood streaming from his face, serve? It does absolutely nothing towards the development of that individual or anyone else on the team.

How nice it would have been to have seen a front page picture of Jay Moore rounding third base, with a broad smile, having just hit his first home run, or the happiness expressed by Mike Darrow and Scott Griggs after getting their first hits of the season, or a team picture of total happiness in which each and every player had made a contribution to the victory, and I could go on and on with positive situations.

I do not feel that this type of newsprint is necessary to sell newspapers in Northville, and I certainly do not want it as a part of the Northville High School baseball program or any other Northville High School program.

I respectfully request that your newspaper reevaluate their policies in matters of this nature and request that in the future you refrain from publishing the negative and accentuate the positive.

Thank you for your consideration of this matter.

Bob Frelick

To the Editor:

This letter is written out of concern for several of our coaches and athletic department at Northville High School. The concern stems from the front page picture which you chose to print in the April 30 issue of The Northville Record. The photo titled "Stricken Mustang," pictured a Northville player lying on the ground with blood streaming down his face. He had been accidentally hit in the face by a pitched ball. The shock of seeing this picture centers principally around the intent of this selection.

Injuries are certainly part of athletic competition. If your intent was to portray this fact then I feel your front page picture requires additional material. Perhaps a feature or editorial explaining injury in athletics would help the reader. Perhaps a factual account of the number of hours that coaches work in regard to prevention and care of injuries would help in digesting this somewhat negative image.

This game was not without front page positive images. Seven homeruns were hit in this ball game — (Photo — Homerun Derby). Several young players earned their first varsity hit in a Mustang uniform. The Northville victory and a total team effort certainly highlighted this contest. There was a great deal of front page news provided.

The concern for this letter certainly involves the intent to the reporter responsible for the front page picture selection. The sensationalism used in this portrayal is unusual and certainly not up to the standards of The Northville Record.

Sincerely,
Ralph W. Redmond

Don't ticket our kids

To the Editor:

This is a plea to let our children play! It is child's work to play and use their imagination, to laugh and to have fun.

I love to see our youth skateboarding and enjoying themselves. Some youths have a terrible time as it is in growing up.

It is a sorry state when the youth of our proud (?) community will be issued a violation and/or a fine for having fun.

We win energy 'war'

To the Editor:

BEMS Engineering, an energy consulting firm, was formed in 1980, when this great country of ours was dependent upon foreign countries for 80 percent of our oil.

Our past habits of being wasteful, in regard to our lack of concern in conserving our natural resources, made us a target for all the foreign oil producing countries in the world. Foreign countries looked upon us as the rich Americans, the throw-away nation.

As we look back, the energy shortage took 20 years to create. Between the years of 1950 and 1970, we had a population explosion. Our population increased by 45 percent. In order to accommodate this increased population, we had to build. The building business reached an all-time high and problems began.

With a 45 percent percent increase in population, our electrical energy use increased 600 percent. Natural gas use increased 300 percent. We, the people of the United States, represent 6 percent of the population of the world. At that point, we were using 35 percent of all the energy produced in the world. OPEC was formed. Oil prices went from $2 a barrel to $16 a barrel, from $16 a barrel to $32 a barrel and, in some countries, up to $40 a barrel.

This was the start of the biggest recession this country has ever seen. At the rate we were using energy, they predicted that by 1985, oil would cost $80 a barrel. Price of gasoline rose from 29 cents a gallon to 39 cents a gallon, then overnight to $1.39 a gallon. Some experts projected gasoline prices to rise as high as $2 a gallon by 1985.

In 1980 the people of the United States banded together and started one of the biggest energy conservation program this country has ever seen. We gave up our big automobiles for smaller, energy efficient engines. Millions of homeowners set back their thermostats, increased their insulation and recalculated their windows.

Schools, hospital and private businesses improved their buildings and energy using equipment. The battle had begun. Once again Americans were working together in a combined effort and were winning the war.

Today, five years later, OPEC is falling apart. They have lost their strength. They have been defeated without a shot being fired — thanks to the millions of Americans that took the time and foresight to buy that extra tube of caulking, added insulation and gave up some of the comforts we once enjoyed.

Library is a winner

To the Editor:

As tax paying citizens, we are always concerned about how our tax dollars are being spent. However, there is one service in Northville where these anxieties do not exist — and that is the Northville Public Library.

The personnel are courteous, efficient, professional and dedicated in their efforts to fulfill the needs of the citizens they serve. For example, on occasion we have requested materials that were not available at that time, and in every instance we were notified by telephone that the materials had been returned and that we could now check them out.

Obviously, the proficient leadership of the library is a major factor in this effective service. If at some future date the library finds that it is in need of additional funds to enhance and expand its services, my wife and I would be among the first in line to endorse the request.

Sincerely,
Charles Greig

Please help find ring

To the Editor:

Open letter to the editor of The Northville Record, with copies to David Bolitho and Roy Pedersen:

On April 4, my daughter lost her 1989 class ring in her last hour design class. The ring has a purple amethyst stone, a swimmer on the side and the initials, "S.S." inside. (Size 6).

Since that time, announcements have been made at school and she has checked with the office; so far with no results.

Because the ring means so much to Sue, I would like to appeal to students and parents. If you know someone who recently has acquired a class ring matching the above description, please get in touch with Sue, her teachers, Mr. Bolitho or with us.

A generous reward will be paid for return of the ring — no questions asked. Any information will be greatly appreciated. We need your help!

Our number is 348-9213, or I can be reached at work, 348-5533. Thank you.

The Northville Record

Mustangs lose close ones but dominate in the rest

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

Already a strange pattern is beginning to emerge from the current Northville baseball season. After nine games, the Mustangs (5-4 overall, 4-4 in WLAA) always seem either to blow out an opponent or lose the close ones.

This was the case again in three games last week. Northville demolished Farmington Harrison 23-8 on April 28 but came back to drop two close games in a doubleheader with Westland John Glenn 9-5 and 6-5.

"I've been saying it all along, even in the games we lose, we seem to play well," Coach Bob Frellick said. The numbers don't lie. For the season, the Mustangs have outscored their opponents by a whopping 82 runs to just 42, and yet the team hovers near the .500 mark. The reason? In almost every close contest this season, Northville has come up just short.

In games Frellick's team has won this season, the average margin of victory is an overwhelming 8.4 runs. But in the losses, the Mustangs average margin of defeat is only 1.7 runs. What it all means is that a measly seven runs is all that separates a .500 ballclub from an undefeated ballclub in Northville.

For the first two innings of the Harrison game it was close, but three big offensive innings by the Mustangs quickly put it very much out of reach. Starting pitcher Brett Loomis walked the first two Hawk batters to start the game and then a base hit put Harrison up 1-0. But Northville tied it up in its half of the first as Eric Terlecki walked and scored on a double by Keith Dutkiewicz.

Hawks star Brian Smolinski made it 3-1 with a towering homer with a man on in the second, but Jeff Bainbridge responded with his second four-bagger later in the inning to cut the lead to one.

Harrison failed to score in the third, but the Mustangs sent nine batters to the plate — six singled, one walked, one was hit by a pitch. Add to that five wild pitches and it's not hard to see why Northville scored five times to open a 6-3 advantage. The key hits in the inning were two RBI singles from Paul Newitt and Mark Olsen.

In the next inning the situation worsened for the Hawks. This time the Mustangs sent 14 batters to the plate and pushed across nine runs as the Newitt-Olsen connection again spearheaded the attack. Newitt smacked a two-run double his first time up and then drew a walk the second time while Olsen clubbed a three-run homer.

Loomis ran into a jam in the fifth, giving up four runs including another home run before Tony Craig came in relief and allowed just one earned run the rest of the way. In the meantime, Northville exploded again in the sixth with seven more runs including a three-run blast by Doug Ayers and a two-run homer for Jay Moore.

Newitt ended the day with two hits in three at bats and four runs batted in (in just four innings) while Olsen was 2-for-4 and 5 RBIs. Ayers, Dutkiewicz and Bainbridge all added two hits apiece.

"The wind was really blowing out, and it contributed to all the home runs," Frellick pointed out. "Everybody on our team contributed, both offensively and defensively, and that is always good to see."

In the opener with Glenn, Craig started but was roughed up in the early innings. The Rockets scored three in the first and another four in the second to take a big 7-1 lead, but Craig didn't get much help in the field as the Mustangs committed three errors.

He settled down and sent Glenn down in order in the third, fourth and fifth innings, but the Northville bats were silent against Glenn's ace pitcher Steve Irwin. They did scratch a run across in the fourth on just one hit but through the first six innings there were only four Mustang hits.

Another error, a walk and a triple helped the Rockets score two more off Craig in the sixth to take a 9-2 lead but Northville fought back. In the final inning, the Mustangs scored three times on clutch hits by Newitt and Bainbridge to make it interesting, but it wasn't enough.

Bainbridge went 2-for-4 with four runs batted in while Newitt and Olsen continued on a tear with two hits each.

"We were two equally matched teams, but they just made more of their opportunities than we did," Frellick said. "They jumped out ahead, got the momentum and we couldn't catch up."

Uncharacteristic sloppy play by Northville continued in the nightcap as Glenn scored twice in the first with the aid of three errors but not a hit off Dutkiewicz. In the third, the Mustangs came back to tie it briefly at 2-2 but in the bottom of the inning, the Rockets tagged Dutkiewicz for two hits and two runs — the first Glenn hits of the game.

Northville turned the tables to score three times in the fifth, thanks to five walks and six wild pitches and no hits to go up 5-4. But later in the inning, Dutkiewicz couldn't hold the lead as Glenn scored two times for the come-from-behind win.

"I think all the errors definitely hurt us, but kids are going to be kids," Frellick admitted. "Sometimes there are just games like that. When some players make an error they get all flustered, but our kids will come right back after an error and make a good play."

Dutkiewicz suffered the loss despite throwing a four-hitter and five strike outs.

Tennis squad back on track, win 3 straight league games

It couldn't have been a more perfect week of work for the Northville tennis squad, and Coach Dick Norton knows it.

In the first few weeks of the season, the Mustangs were beating up on everybody thrown at them — but the talent level of those teams wasn't the greatest. And then last week, Northville entered the meat of the schedule and hit gristle. Yes, Norton was looking for some tougher competition, but the Mustangs bit off more than they could chew and were trounced by Livonia Stevenson and Plymouth Canton.

Last week's confrontation with Westland John Glenn, Livonia Franklin and Livonia Churchill was more fitting. It was a line-up that Norton's netters could sink their teeth into — and they did. Northville bombed Glenn 6-1 on April 28, upended Franklin 5-2 on the 30th and turned back Churchill 6-1 last Thursday (May 1). The big difference is that these teams aren't pushovers, but the Mustangs still managed to win all three.

"This was a great way for us to prepare for the showdown with Harrison (May 6, after Record deadline)," Norton said. "We got some good competition, and we were able to win as well. It was a very good week."

In actuality, the Glenn match wasn't really much of a challenge, except for the losing No. 3 doubles team of Mark Bertagnolli and Dave Merrifield. They fell in three sets 6-4, 4-6, 4-6 to the Rocket's Don Rohloff and John Surdock.

But Doug Kamienecki, normally a singles player, teamed with Mike Tabaczynski at No. 2 to beat Rick Brown and Jeff Englehart 6-3, 6-1. Kamienecki was moved down in the line-up because of a sore shoulder. Likewise at No. 1 doubles, the Don Norton-Dave Kamienski duo won again (6-4, 6-1) to up their record to a fine 8-1 for the season.

Atingles it was more of the same easy wins. Terry Michelitch has shown signs that he is almost at 100 percent, following an injured ankle, with a routine 6-3, 6-1 win over Hyoung Park. Brothers Mike and Mark Reitenga were awesome at No. 2 and 3 singles. In a combined four sets, the two only dropped a pair of games. Dan Boland also disposed of Mike Quinn very easily — a 6-0, 6-0 shut out.

"It's hard to tell if we played well because (Glenn) wasn't real strong," Norton said. "The kids played well enough to win and that's the bottom line."

The Franklin match was what Norton called, "the closest meet we've ever had." On the surface, a 5-2 win doesn't appear to be all that close but the Mustangs' 7-0 loss to Canton two weeks ago didn't either. Six of the seven matches versus Franklin advanced to three sets and the seventh, the one that wasn't as close as the others, went to a tie breaker to decide it.

Michelitch took a little rest in the second set of his No. 1 singles match with Jeff McCalla, but still managed to pull out a 6-4, 0-6, 6-3 win. Mark Reitenga outlasted Paul Fujimoto 4-6, 6-2, 6-3 and brother Mike did the same against Aaron Tweedy 6-7, 6-4, 6-1.

In doubles, Norton-Kaminski held on to bump Mike Modano and Bob Bieganski 2-6, 6-3, 6-2 and Matt Oliver and Merrifield survived a 6-3, 6-7, 7-6 war versus Franklin's Jamie Turner and Chris Mazer.

Kamienecki lost at No. 4 singles (3-7, 6-7) and the No. 2 doubles squad of Tabaczynski-Boland was nipped by Scott Smith and Rob Farcus.

Heading into last Thursday's match with Churchill, Norton was concerned. Churchill is much improved over last season as most of the players from now-closed Livonia Bentley are now on the Chargers squad. But Norton soon found out that all the worry was for naught as the Mustangs played the best tennis of the year and clobbered a pretty good team in the process.

"I thought our guys played tremendous tennis — the best of the season," he said. "And let me tell you, it's coming at a good time."

Mark Reitenga got revenge from Churchill's Mike Gould a No. 2 singles match by winning 6-3, 7-5. It avenges a loss to Gould last season. Michelitch, Mike Reitenga and Kamienecki had no trouble in their matches, with all three winning in straight sets.

Norton-Kaminski beat Marc Janda and Bob Johnson 6-4, 6-4 at No. 1 doubles and Boland-Tabaczynski came back to record a 5-7, 6-4, 6-1 victory over Tom Yang and Dave Janda. But the No. 3 spot is still inconsistent as Oliver and Merrifield lost to Ed Yee and Ken Gilbride 4-6, 2-6.

"I'm still concerned about the last doubles team but other than that, I am very pleased with the line-up," Norton said. "I think I'm going to try Merrifield and Thierry Desmet at No. 3 and see how well they play together. If they do, I'll keep them there."

The Mustangs' pole vaulters placed fifth with a combined three best vaults of over 29 feet. The three competitors were Peltz, Ray Smit, Sean Starkweather. The only other relay group to place was in the sprint medley — Harp, Gird, Letarte and Frisbee grabbed sixth with a time of 2:42.

Tomorrow (May 8) Northville will get another chance to notch that first win of the season on the road at Farmington Harrison.

"I sure would like for the kids to get the win," Osborn said. "But I think a little patience is what we need with this team so we'll have to bide our time. It's good to see that they are not discouraged yet at all and are really working hard."

Karate awards given

Three Northville residents competed in the 1986 U.S. Tae Kwon Do Han Moo Kwan Open Martial Arts Championships on April 26 at the Taylor, Mich., Community Center.

Kirk Lee, 6, Jay Bullington, 12, and Steven Dillworth, 45, all members of Kil's Karate Tae Kwon Do School located on Seven Mile Road in Northville, competed.

Lee, a first grader at Amerman Elementary, won first place in the Form event and a second place trophy in the Sparring event. Kirk is currently a blue belt.

Bullington is a seventh grader at Meads Mill Middle School and captured a third place finish in Sparring. At the time of the competition, Jay was a green belt, but has since tested and received his blue belt.

Dillworth, a black belt instructor at Kil's, also was awarded two trophies. Steve won second place in Sparring and third place in the Weapons event.

Kickers drop first match, 3-0

A brutal schedule is really starting to put the bite on the Northville girls' soccer squad. After four weeks of action, the overworked Mustangs have played 12 games, with the last four ranking as one of the toughest stretches for any team in the state.

But Coach Stan Smalec sure can't complain about how his gutsy team has responded to the challenges. Last week, Northville (8-1-3 overall, 7-1-3 in WLAA) wrapped up that treacherous four-game stretch with two wins, a loss and a tie.

"I don't think anybody had a tougher four game schedule than we did," Smalec said. "We're through it now, but we can't let up — we still have six games in the next two weeks."

The Mustangs first loss of the season came in the 10th game, a hard-fought 3-0 defeat to a very physical Livonia Churchill team on April 28. But Northville didn't let down after the loss to the state-ranked Chargers — the team continued to play hard and reaped the benefits of back-to-back 3-0 shutouts over North Farmington and Plymouth Canton.

The Mustangs stayed with the more talented Churchill team for the whole game mostly on desire and smart play, but the Chargers rough style of play proved to be too much.

"It was a very rough game," Smalec admitted. "They came at us real hard, and we're just not physical enough to stay with them."

Churchill's first goal came at the 36 minute mark of the first half on a rare mistake by Northville goalie Tricia Ducker. She stopped the initial shot but failed to go after the rebound and cover it. A Charger player gained control right in front of the net and Ducker had no chance.

"She should have gone after the rebound, but one mistake in 12 games — you can't complain about that," Smalec said.

It ended at 1-0 at intermission but, when the second half started, Churchill stepped up the rough play and it worked.

"I was glad to get out of the first half with no injuries but in the second, they came out more physical because they were worried about us."

In retaliation for the rough play,

Thinclads remain winless following 88-49 defeat

Problems in the field events are still causing all sorts of concerns for Northville track Coach Paul Osborn.

The Mustangs (0-4, 0-3 WLAA) dropped their fourth straight dual meet of the season last Thursday (May 1), an 88-49 decision to Livonia Churchill. Osborn knows that his squad can keep up with most any Western Lakes team in the running events, but it's a glaring weakness in the field events — specifically shot put and discus — that always seems to hold Northville back.

"In the field events there are 45 possible points and we only picked up seven," Osborn said. "Most of the points (Churchill) picked up came at our expense in the field events."

Osborn is satisfied with the progress shown by the runners from a quarter mile on up but a lack of depth in the sprints and the field event woes may make the remainder of the season a long and arduous trek.

"We are really shallow in the sprints, and in practice we are spending most of our time with the field events people," he said. "Overall, I thought the Churchill meet went much better but they are a very strong team."

Dana Letarte had his third two-win meet of the season placing first in the long jump (19'-4 3/4") and the 100-meter dash (11.7). But he was also a member of the winning 400-meter relay squad with Matt Hubert, Tim Millen and Rich Gird (47.6).

Other wins by the Mustangs included Jeff Harp's 2:08 in the 800 run, Kevin Haas in the two mile (10:32) and the two mile relay group of Harp, Greg Newton, Steve Brooks and John Frisbee (9:01).

Rich Gird notched a pair of runner-up finishes in the 100 (11.8) and the 200 (25.04) while his brother John grabbed a second in the 400 (54.6). In the mile, Frisbee placed second (4:51) and Haas was right behind in third (4:52) while Matt Peltz scored the team's only other field event points with a second in the long jump (18'-7 1/2") and a third in the pole vault.

Northville then competed in the Observerland Relays on Saturday, and the results were much more encouraging. In a field of 14 strong teams, the Mustangs finished 8th with 13 points.

"Some of the teams, like Canton and Bishop Borgess, were real strong and it gave our kids a chance to see some top-notch competitors," Osborn said. "It was a very valuable day for us."

The brightest spot of the season so far was a gold medal performance by the Northville distance medley crew. The team of Harp, John Gird, Haas and Frisbee took first place with an outstanding time of 11:05.

"They did a real fine job for us," Osborn declared. "All four of those guys are solid and somebody like Frisbee, I can put anywhere from the quarter mile on up and he'll do the job."

Evans places second in SCCA race

By KEVIN A. WILSON

In a demonstration of why they call it "endurance" racing, Nov's Tim Evans drove a Dodge Shelby Turbo Charger to a second-in-class finish April 26 in Sonoma, Calif.

The six-hour event was the first of six races in the Escort U.S. Endurance Championship run by the Sports Car Club of America (SCCA) under "Showroom Stock" rules, which allow only minimal alterations to the production line vehicles.

Evans is contracted to drive one of the two Chrysler-backed team cars throughout the series this year, making it one of the most active in recent years for the Brookland Farms resident.

He and co-driver Garth Ullom battled an electrical problem that required the team to change the car's battery five times during the course of the race at the 2.52 mile Sears

Point road circuit.

"(The team) got pretty fast — 30 seconds to change a battery," Evans said afterward, noting that the event began at 4:15 p.m. and involved night-time racing for about half the duration.

"Once it got dark and we started using the lights, it got so that you'd run out of battery before you ran out of gas — the drill was to drive until the headlights got so dim you couldn't see anymore and then take it into the pits," Evans said.

He said the charging system failure might be traceable to an engine change the team performed in the short time period between Saturday morning's qualifying runs and the afternoon race.

"They changed the engine in one hour, 35 minutes," he said. "It ran fine, but it wouldn't charge the battery."

Attempting to get longer running times, the team lifted the batteries from the trucks that hauled the cars to the track, but even those were discharged fully in little time, he said.

Evans and Ullom were not alone in suffering mechanical ailments, however. The race-winning Mitsubishi Starion, Evans said, was able to use only fourth gear and was losing power when the race ended.

"We were closing on them," Evans said, "but ran out of time. The official results show us one lap down — we had just caught up and were working the same lap when the checkered fell."

The other Shelby Charger was third-in-class, having suffered throughout from a down-on-power engine and being involved in a collision early in the race.

The Chargers run in Class A, third-fastest of the four classes that race simultaneously on the track. The faster Super Sports and GT class Corvettes, Porsches and the like occupied the first 14 positions at race-end, with the Mitsubishi 15th and the Evans/Ullom Charger 16th overall.

The next event for Evans is a four-hour endurance race at Portland, Ore., May 10. In addition to the six Escort Endurance races this season, Evans is also slated to drive a Pontiac Firebird with Tom and Doug Goad at a 24-hour showroom stock endurance race at Watkins Glen, N.Y., June 14-15. The event is one of 10 in the Firestone Firehawk professional showroom stock series, which is similar to the Escort Endurance championship but sanctioned by the International Motor Sport Association (IMSA) under slightly different rules.

The Goads won the series opening six-hour race at Sebring, Fla., March 21 in the Bill Bayley-owned Firebird.

Soccer squad drops season's first match

The Mustangs lost their composure a little, and Churchill was awarded two penalty kicks in the last 18 minutes of the contest and both got by Ducker.

"I was afraid we would be flat for the whole week after losing to Churchill, but we weren't," Samlec said. "The kids did a heck of a job opening up the offense, and it generated a lot more scoring tries."

Against a good North Farmington team, Northville dominated the play, sporting shots on goal advantage of 26-7. And the defense was back to normal, helping Ducker record the team's 10th shut out in just 12 games.

"Defenders like Michelle Cross, Jill Gallagher and Amy Spaman did an outstanding job," Samlec pointed out. "They just were determined not to let anybody get by them, and they didn't."

The first goal and the winning goal was scored at the 13 minute mark of the first half on a pretty lob shot by Kim Fladding. She took a pass from Julie Anger and scooped a shot up over the outstretched arms of the goalie, and it was 1-0.

Heather Sixt made it 2-0 with five minutes left in the half on assists from Anger and Fladding. With Jodie Smalec out of the line up with an injury, Sixt was inserted into the front line and made the most of her chance.

The final goal was headed in by Jenni Stevens following a corner kick by Robin Strunk and a pass from Sixt — completing what Smalec called, "a very solid effort by us."

The Canton match was more of the same — good defense and more scoring chances. The Mustangs had 36 shots on goal to Canton's 11, but it was a fierce wind that was causing most of the trouble.

Even with the wind in their faces in the first half, Northville still managed to score once and take the lead at the half. Anger scored the goal unassisted as she used a slick instep kick that curved away from the goalie, hit the net post and ricocheted in.

Strunk made it 2-0 on a break away tally 11 minutes into the second half, and Jenni Schuerman closed it out with a score on a pass from Anger.

"The rap on us around the league is that we can't score," Smalec said. "I think that everybody was pressing and feeling the pressure to score so we needed to get back into our regular offense and get into a natural flow. I think we did that against Canton and hopefully we'll continue it the rest of the season."

SOCCER: Pandas win tourney

BOYS 10 & UNDER: The Livonia Lakers pinned the Hot Spurs with a 4-2 loss, their first of the season. Dominic Fracassi and Nathan Connell were credited with the two goals and Jason Fisher and Mark Ritter were voted the game's co-MVPs.

The Northville Bandits had a rough outing against the Plymouth Panthers, losing by a 6-0 count. Thanks to goals by Danny Schwartz and Bo Fowler, Northville United shut out the Plymouth Hornets 2-0.

GIRLS 10 & UNDER: The Livonia Raiders trounced the Northville Stompers 5-1 despite a goal by Katie Kohl and fine play by Emily Lawrence and Katrina Heckmeyer. It was a defensive struggle but the Rowdies came out on the short end of a 1-0 match with Plymouth No. 2. Defensive MVP was Lindsay Shullenberger and the Rowdies' goalie was Rebecca Hock. Anita Wilhelm's lone score wasn't nearly enough as the Livonia Strikers pounded the Pandas 5-1. Heidi Zimmerman was the offensive MVP as the Pandas used four different goalkeepers while trying to stop the Sinkers.

BOYS 12 & UNDER: Farmington Tornado blew by the Northville Express 5-0. Express MVPs were Rodg Kotlyo and Andy Woodrich. Northville Arsenal fell to the Plymouth Rowdies 6-0. The Hot Spurs battled to a 1-1 tie with the Plymouth Express. Jeff Ozanich collected the only Spur score while goalkeeper Clay Cutchins allowed only one to get by him.

GIRLS 12 & UNDER: Not even defensive specialist Jane Luterek was enough to stop the Livonia Sizzlers in a 4-2 win over the Northville Stompers. Bethanie MacLean and Tricia Lukowski scored the two goals. The Livonia Wings flew by the Stray Cats 4-0. Natalie Superfisky was the defensive MVP and Joleen Fickin was the offensive MVP. Amy Stinger's goal was all the Blazers could muster in a 5-1 defeat to the Plymouth Dragons. Mary Pat Sahl was the defensive MVP. Goals by Stephanie Neff and Mari Pando led to a 2-0 shut out over the Plymouth Tornadoes. Wendy Carroll was the offensive and defensive MVP for the Pandas. In other action, the Pandas played the Plymouth Flyers to a 0-0 tie. Shannon and Stephanie Neff combined for the shut out.

GIRLS 14 & UNDER: It could only be described as a very productive week for the Northville Pandas. On April 19, the Pandas grabbed first place in the Warren Tournament by defeating teams from Roseville, St. Clair Shores and Livonia. Three days later, the Pandas trounced the Plymouth Rowdies 8-2 behind three Pandas pulled out a close 1-0 win over the Plymouth Cougars. Renee Larabell recorded the shut out and Colleen Regan was named the defensive MVP. The Panda roster includes: MacLean, Larabell, Regan, Susan Collins, Nicole Cross, Rachel Davis, Vicki Eppers, Colleen Hesse, Tracy Jambor, Karen Kepner, Anna Marchessault, Teresa McConville, Meredith Mulgard, Rebecca Piner, Karen Voigt and Susan Weidenbach. The Livonia Cosmos nipped the Spartans 2-1 despite some outstanding defensive play from Kirsten Halverson and goalie Michelle Hoefer. Paula Schuerman scored the only Sparan goal. But four days later, the Spartans rebounded with a convincing 4-1 win over the Plymouth Rowdies. Both Ursel led the attack with two goals, Suzanne Orlovski and Kristin Jensen also tallied in the game.

BOYS UNDER 17: Todd Stowell collected another shut out in goal for Northville Arsenal in a 2-0 win over Farmington No. 1. Ken Spigarelli and Mike Louis scored for Arsenal. United exploded for 13 goals to demolish Plymouth No. 2 by a score of 13-2. Brad Maliszewski and Jeff Higgins each knocked in three apiece, while Eric Halverson, Mike Hillier and Ross Kern chipped in two each. The Hot Spurs beat Lakes II by a 5-1 count. Both Jim Burkowski and Rich Smith scored twice while Tony Pacheco and Matt Ho spearheaded the offense.

GIRLS UNDER 17: Lisa Irwin notches a pair of goals and Jenny Beyersdorf added another as the Northville Reds blanked Plymouth No. 13-0. Sue Seftles and Janet Schiacter were named game MVPs for the Reds.

Girls' trackers heading in right direction

Linda Groves placed second in the two mile versus Churchill

The Mustang girls' track team may still searching for that elusive first dual meet win of the season, but one thing is for sure — it is heading in the right direction.

Last Thursday's 65-63 heartbreaking loss to Livonia Churchill was just another indication that Northville is getting better and better every week. In the first meet of the season, the Mustangs only scored 38 points against South Lyon. Next it was 47 points, then 52 and now 63.

"We keep heading in the right direction," Coach Mike Webb said. "We're getting closer and closer with each meet, and I really can't ask the girls to do any more than they have been doing. The effort and determination are definitely there and our scores consistently show improvement despite the injuries we've been having."

A slew of nagging injuries is slowing down the already depleted Mustang ranks, but Webb isn't throwing the towel in yet. Karen Stinson, Christi Lanaghan, Pam Kavanaugh, Elissa Peters and Krista Schwartz are all hampered with injuries.

"If we could get all the girls in good health we have a pretty good group,"

Webb pointed out. "But with these injuries you never know."

The Churchill contest came down to the last race — the mile relay — but a quick final leg by the Chargers pulled out a win in the race and the meet. But in the events prior to the mile relay, Webb saw some outstanding efforts and that is what kept the margin so close.

Northville took first place in both the shot put and discus on Thursday for the first time this season. Up and coming Roxanne Serkalan threw the shot 27'-0" and Julie Trausch recorded an 82'-1" in the discus — both efforts were personal bests.

Lynn Bills broke out of a season-long mini slump in the hurdles by winning both the 110- and 300-meter events with times that were by far her best of the year.

"She finally came around to what we have been expecting her to do," Webb said. "Lynn has been working real hard at it and now her times are down to where they should be."

Stinson, despite a sore leg, won the 400-meter dash (1:08) and was a member of the winning 800 relay squad (2:01) along with Lanaghan, Lisa Teubert and Erin Holmberg. But because of the leg problem, Webb withdrew Stinson from the long jump and Schwartz, the other top jumper, may be out for the rest of the season with a torn muscle in the upper leg area. But even without the top two jumpers, the Mustang's Kris Marroni placed second in the event with a 13'-2 1/4" into the wind.

Anne Griffith continues to be productive and consistent in the distant events, winning the two mile (13:11.3) and placing second in the mile (6:00). Other seconds included: Sue Blanchard's 2:48.3 in the 800, Linda Groves in the two mile (13:46), Lanaghan in the 100 (13.4) and Holmberg in the 200 (29.7).

The big surprise there was the second recorded by Groves who had never entered the two mile on the varsity level.

"She came up to me during the meet and asked if she could try the two-mile," Webb explained. "I told her that I planned on putting her in there later in the season but to go ahead if she wanted to."

"She came through with all kinds of effort and determination to place second. She's the kind of athlete you want to have on your team — she'll do anything you ask for and is always willing to help the team."

Softballers sink to 2-11

The Northville softball squad hasn't won many games this season, but it does seem to rise to the occasion in the most important ones.

After another busy week of action, the Mustangs' overall record is a very discouraging 2-11. A 2-6 mark in the Western Lakes Activities Association isn't something to write home about either, but Northville has somehow managed to hold onto a respectable 2-2 record in the Western Division, putting itself in the thick of the race.

"With our overall record, nobody would believe that we still have a shot in the division," Coach Bob Gerlach said. "It just seems like we are lucky enough to win our games against the teams we really need to. If we're going to win any games, we would rather have it come against the teams in our division."

The Mustangs edged Farmington Harrison 3-2 on April 28 to start the week, but then lost five straight in a league doubleheader and a disastrous tournament.

Lisa Brannon pitched her best game of the year, walking just four, to get the win against the Hawks, but it took nine innings to do it. With Northville just one out away from winning the game in the bottom of the seventh, Michelle Siemasz committed a throwing error which ultimately led to the tying run, sending the game into extra innings.

But Siemasz redeemed herself with a clutch hit in the ninth following a leadoff walk to Chris McGowan. Sue Schrader then ripped the game-winning single, breaking the 2-2 tie.

Northville fell to Glenn 6-5 in the first game of the twinbill and dropped the nightcap 7-3. In the first game, the Mustangs blew a 4-0 lead and in the second, a four-run outburst by the Rockets in the last inning blew open a close 3-2 game.

At the eight-team Hartland Tournament on Saturday, Northville fell to the host team in the first game 10-0, lost to Ida 13-5 in the next round and wrapped it up with 9-6 defeat against Milford.

"Everybody was just dog-tired after playing three games earlier in the week," Gerlach explained. "We didn't really play well in any of the games, especially the first two."

The Mustangs connected for just one hit in the loss to Hartland and gave up numerous walks including seven in a row in the fifth inning.

Energy shortages may limit economic development

Analysts at the Rand Corporation predict that Michigan's electricity consumption could increase by up to 3.9 percent per year through 1994, confirming other projections that the state could need additional electrical generating capacity by that time.

The Rand study used a computer forecasting method, which verified its predictions against historical data, to project electricity growth in the United States as a whole and Michigan in particular.

Michigan's rate of electricity consumption could increase between 1.0 percent and 3.9 percent per year, according to Rand. The growth is expected primarily because of expanding industrial demand combined with slower, steady growth in the residential and commercial sectors. The major factors that will determine how much growth occurs are changes in electricity prices, economic activity and population.

The new study finds that national electricity sales could grow at an annual rate of 2.4 percent to 5.3 percent per year from 1985 through 1994. For the eight states in the East Central Area Reliability Coordination Agreement (ECAR) (Indiana, Ohio, West Virginia, Michigan's Lower Peninsula, and portions of Pennsylvania, Virginia and Kentucky), electricity consumption is forecast to grow at an annual rate of about 2.6 percent.

The study by Rand analysts Bridger M. Mitchell, Rolla Edward Park and Francis Labrune placed heavy emphasis on identifying and evaluating the uncertainties in projecting electricity consumption. These uncertainties are inherent in all forecasts and are the underlying reason why so many projections of electricity use vary widely from each other, according to study.

The report points out that utilities face difficult decisions in evaluating construction plans to meet future demand for electricity. If demand grows at the high end of the predicted range, and utilities haven't built enough additional capacity, the Rand study warns that the economy will be hurt by outages.

Further, the study states that "When generation and transmission capacity is almost fully used, large increases in the demand for electricity cannot be met by increased use of existing capacity except at higher unit cost."

The Rand results reinforce a study released in February, 1986, by the municipal, cooperative and investor-owned electric utilities in the State of Michigan. That study forecast annual peak load growth rates ranging from 0.6 percent to 2.6 percent per year through the year 2000, and concluded that given a mid-range growth figure of 1.6 percent per year, Michigan would face a shortage of generating capacity by 1992. If growth hit 2.6 percent per year, the utility study indicated a shortage was possible by 1990.

The Rand Corporation is a highly respected independent research organization based in Santa Monica, California. The electricity study was carried out by Rand's Private Sector Sponsors Program, under a grant from Bechtel Power Corporation, one of the world's largest designers and builders of power plants. The findings and conclusions of the report are Rand's, not Bechtel's.

Bechtel commissioned the study in order to obtain additional objective and reliable data on the nation's future electricity needs and the possible impact of various levels of electricity supply on the nation's economy in general and the industrial sector in particular.

ANIS AHMED

JAMES W. COLLINS

ANIS AHMED of Novi has been honored as the 1985 "Outstanding Life Insurance Agent of the Year" for Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company, Larry Herb Agency, in Southfield. Earlier in the year he was honored as "Agent of the Year" by the Southeast Michigan General Agents and Management Association.

Ahmed wrote over 100 policies totalling $9 million in insurance in 1985.

An Eastern Michigan University graduate, Ahmed joined Northwestern Mutual in 1976 and since that time has earned many professional, educational and production awards. He was the agency's "Rookie of the Year" in 1976. He also has won Northwestern Mutual's bronze, silver and gold awards, and has been the agency's leader in acquiring new clients since 1977.

In addition, he has received the industry's National Quality and National Sales achievements awards for the last nine years and been a qualified member of the prestigious Million Dollar Round Table for the past nine years.

Ahmed is a member of Novi Rotary and the Novi Chamber of Commerce. He resides with his wife, Anjum, and son, Ahad, on Jamestown Road in Novi.

JAMES W. COLLINS of Whitmore Lake is one of four recipients of the St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Professional Achievement Award for 1986.

Collins, director of engineering at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital and Mercywood Hospital in Ann Arbor, was nominated by hospital employees for his "knowledge, efficiency and dedication to the health center; for providing leadership in a compassionate professional manner; and for earning a high level of staff loyalty." He has been awarded a $1,000 U.S. Government Savings Bond.

Collins has been a hospital employee since 1969. During his tenure, he has served as director of security and communications and director of environmental services. He is a veteran of the United States Air Force. He and his wife Jo Ann have four children: Nathaniel, Jason, James and Tanya.

THE NOVI HILTON has earned the American Automobile Association's (AAA) four-diamond rating to rank among this country's best accommodations, according to AAA Michigan.

"In the physical sense, each of the four-diamond recipients is a luxurious facility that offers many amenities," said AAA Travel Services Manager James Drury. "Equally important, each staff's attention to service and hospitality significantly exceeds AAA requirements."

AAA's rating system requires accommodations to undergo rigorous inspections by field representatives. If they qualify, they are assigned an overall rating of one to five diamonds.

Twenty-four Michigan hotels, motels and resorts have been awarded four-diamond ratings this year.

Only about 7 percent of the more than 17,000 accommodations ranked by AAA in the United States, Canada and Mexico received the four-diamond rating, the organization's second highest.

Diamond ratings appear next to establishment listings in the 1986 AAA Michigan/Wisconsin TourBook. The 1986 TourBook will be available at AAA Michigan offices statewide in mid-May. In addition, the establishments will receive a plaque to commemorate the AAA honor.

CINCINNATI MILACRON, Industrial Robot Division, has announced the promotion of three Novi residents.

Michael Resh has been promoted to Account Manager/Ford Motor Company, Steven Tracey has been promoted to Account Manager/GM Truck & Bus Group and Frank Brennan has been promoted to Account Manager/Chrysler Corporation.

Cincinnati Milacron, soon to relocate from Southfield to Farmington Hills, is the largest American-made supplier of industrial robots.

AWARD PLAQUES from the Western Wayne Oakland County Board of Realtors (WWOCBR) were presented recently for educational achievement in 1985 to Real Estate One sales staff members, including Judy DePollo of Novi, manager of the Westland office; Carolyn Beyer of Northville, manager of the Northville office; and John O'Brien of the Northville office.

The awards are presented annually by the WWOCBR to real estate sales associates who have demonstrated they are continuing their real estate education.

GERALD T. HARRIS of Northville, newly appointed director of the personnel and budget bureau of Wayne County Department of Social Services (WCDSS), was among WCDSS staff members receiving the "outstanding support" award from the Black United Fund (BUF) for the agency's performance in the 1985 campaign among state employees.

Harris was chairman for the solicitation which raised $71,489. Presenting the award during the 1986 kick-off reception was Lawrence C. Patrick Jr., chairman of BUF and the Wayne County Social Services Board.

Turning over the keys

Students in the Auto Mechanics classes at Novi High School will have an opportunity to hone their skills on a 1985 Ford Tempo GL donated to the school by the Ford Motor Company. In the photo above, Novi School Board Member Raymond Byers (fourth from left) turns over the keys of the vehicle to Auto Shop Teacher Richard Elton. Pictured left to right are Novi Superintendent Robert Piwko, Novi High School Principal Robert Youngberg, Elton, Byers and Steve Brown of Novi Transport, which hauled the car to the school. Byers, who is supervisor of Personnel and Organization for Public Affairs and Governmental Relations at Ford Motor Company, reported that Ford donates anywhere from 100 to 150 vehicles annually to schools and other programs. The Tempo GL donated to the Novi School is one of Ford's "rainbow cars," specially color-coded vehicles which permit developmental engineers to research new designs and developments in everything from tape striping fixtures and rearview mirrors to engine compartments.

Home ownership seen as strong investment

The investment benefit of home ownership will increasingly become a factor in buying decisions, according to Joanne Bryngelson, president of Metro MLS and the Western Wayne Oakland County Board of Realtors.

"A recent national poll among some 400 brokers found expectation that home values will improve some 20 percent by 1990," she said. "The average price of resold homes across the nation reported in the poll was $98,100. This represented a 5.5 percent gain from a year earlier. Following the same track, the average price in 1990 should be near $120,000."

Bryngelson said housing in much of Southeast Michigan has long been bargain-priced compared with most metropolitan areas and may be poised to top the national price gain.

"Homes sold through members of our multiple listing service in January had an average price of $67,444," she noted. "This was nearly $7,800, or 13 percent, above the average a year earlier. By the end of March, it showed another 4.7 percent gain to $70,645."

"With our local market fueled on a record-setting path this year by growing employment, pent-up demand and lowered mortgage interest rates, we expect prices to continue to play catch-up."

She said with growing competition for the best homes in prime locations throughout the 1,600 square mile territory covered by her members, there is evidence that buyers are

"With the inflation rate now down to a more realistic figure, the increased prices homes will command through the next few years may actually represent a better return on investment especially when coupled with tax benefits," she said.

WWOCBR President

again recognizing homes as good investments.

"I don't think we'll see a repeat of the 1975-80 era when average prices here climbed nearly 80 percent," Bryngelson said. "In those days, more than half the annual increase in home values was the result of inflation which was running above 10 percent a year."

"With the inflation rate now down to a more realistic figure, the increased prices homes will command through the next few years may actually represent a better return on investment especially when coupled with tax benefits," she said.

PRAYER TO THE HOLY SPIRIT. Holy spirit you who make me see everything and showed me the way to reach my ideals, you who gave me the divine gift to forgive and forget the wrong that is done to me, and you who are in all instances of my life with me, I thank you for everything and confirm once more that I never want to be separated from the material desire might be. Season look painted in soft shades

If this year's spring and summer fashions were to be painted on canvas, one would either see bold splashes of effervescent yellow, fuchsia and cobalt or the softer shades of periwinkle, mint green and melon.

While the bold, bright colors which emerged as the dominant fashion statement last fall have retained their popularity, pastels have come on strong as one of this season's most popular looks.

Soft pastel hues are a refreshing diversion from the dark shades carried through this winter. The subtlety of pale yellow, coral and pink offers a delicate, romantic look in everything from casualwear to formal dress.

"We're seeing either very bright or very pastel... there's nothing in the middle," says Inge Zayti of Northville's Marquis Boutique.

While pink and blue seem to be the dominant shades for casualwear, Zayti notes light gray is one of her biggest sellers in separates and dresses.

Carol Kaiser, manager of Gantos at Twelve Oaks Mall, echoed Zayti's observation, noting that colors this spring are either bold or subtle.

"We do a whole pastel section and then a bright section," Kaiser notes. "The look is either very bright or very soft."

However, of all the colors featured this season, pink is without a doubt the most popular at Gantos, she relates.

"Pinks are always the fastest selling pastel," Kaiser notes, adding that pale yellow also is a strong.

Among one of the most popular casualwear lines carried in the Gantos' Twelve Oaks store is Cherokee, which Kaiser explains is predominantly pastel.

"It is a very casual look which makes a great pastel statement," she observes.

On the other side of the fashion spectrum is formalwear. Kaiser notes that this year's prom look is exclusively pastel with heavy emphasis on pink and peach.

"All the prom dresses are pastel and selling like crazy," she notes, adding that most of them have a debutante style; very romantic with yards and yards of lace, bows and frills.

Mother, daughter receive diplomas

By JEAN DAY

This Friday afternoon in ceremonies at 1:30 p.m. at St. Genevieve Church in Livonia Ellen Louis of 19170 Smock will receive her diploma with honors from Madonna College — a little more than a month earlier than her daughter, Clare, will receive hers in commencement exercises at 7 p.m. June 13 at Northville High School.

Both are proud of each other's accomplishments. "I hadn't gone to school in 20 years," Ellen Louis relates as she recalls her own graduation from Shrine of the Little Flower High School in Royal Oak. She mentions that she was active in Silver Springs PTA, working with Glenna Davis, in the 1970s. She also has served on the safety council committee for the Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital near her home.

Then, six years ago she made the decision to begin college. She gives credit to the Northville Business and Professional Women for assisting by making her the recipient of the club's scholarship for women returning to school.

"In fact, they gave it to me two years in a row, in 1983 and 1984," Louis notes, reporting it was encouragement as well as helpful assistance as she enrolled first at Schoolcraft. "Schoolcraft has been wonderful to ease back into school," she says. She took courses there for four years before going on to Madonna for her final two years.

During the time Ellen Louis has worked with preschoolers at Christ Community Church school and with girls at Our Lady of Providence. She presently is doing her student teaching at Woodcreek School in Farmington Hills and is hoping to find a job in the area. She relates that both Clare and son, Michael, a sophomore at Northville High School, have been most encouraging.

In fact, Clare now is planning to follow in her mother's footsteps by enrolling at Schoolcraft this fall.

Northville High's prom to be at Hilton

Tickets are on sale at Northville High School through Friday for the senior class prom which, class president Craig Kozler reports, will be held this year at the Novi Hilton on May 23.

Theme song for this year's prom is "The Best Is Yet to Come."

On our cover

The models featured on our cover are Jill Leslie of Northville and Cara Creager of Novi.

Jill, a senior at Northville High School, is the daughter of James and Beatrice Leslie of Steepleview. She works part-time at The Limited at Twelve Oaks Mall and plans to attend Eastern Michigan University this fall to work toward a degree in elementary education.

Cara, 3½, is the daughter of Reid and Ellen Creager of Valley Starr. She attends preschool at A Growing Place in Novi, where she enjoys art projects and playing in the sandbox.

Pastels offer refreshing shades for summer

Maxine Lapham of Lapham's Clothing and Tailoring Shop in Northville, says the dominant shades in this year's prom dresses are pink, mint green and white.

She notes this year's strapless, mid-calf dress is a definite throwback to the 1950s-style ball gown. Lapham says nearly all the gowns she's seen have layers of underskirts made of stiff lace with flounced hems.

"The tops are so tight they fit like corsets," she adds.

Zayti of the Marquis says her eveningwear line also is almost exclusively pastel. Though she caters to the more mature buyer, she notes even formalwear has a more romantic look this year — largely due to the subtle shades and fabrics.

Diane Fenrich, manager of The Talbots at Twelve Oaks, says this year's pastel statement seems to be attracting considerably more buyers than in previous years.

"Pink, the new mint shade and peach are very popular," she notes.

"We've seen a lot of pastels in our Lanz cotton dresses," she says of the garden party style dresses from the East Coast vendor.

The Victorian influence of Laura Ashley's designs make pastels a mainstay in its collection. Though the bolder shades clearly have a place in this season's look, eglantine pink is the best seller in the Twelve Oaks store, according to assistant manager Donna Doucet.

She explains that cotton dresses in pastel prints have been very popular this season along with accessories "which have always done well."

Doucet notes the pastel espadrilles, especially pink, have been "really popular."

Carol Kaiser of Gantos says pastels are definitely the dominant look in accessories.

"What we're really featuring a lot of is the roping and shells, all in pastel," she notes. Kaiser also explains that pale green, pink and light gray pearls also are big this year as opposed to the traditional white.

Inge Zayti of the Marquis notes she also has sold a tremendous amount of stones and shells in costume jewelry. "It's been the second biggest year in jewelry I've ever had," she explains.

MR. AND MRS. PATRICK JOSEPH DELANO

Karin Hixson is wed in double-ring rites

Karin Marie Hixson, daughter of Laura Smyth Hixson of Northville and Dumont F. Hixson, Jr., of Livonia, was united in marriage with Patrick Joseph Delano in a 5:30 p.m. ceremony at the St. Paul of the Cross Monastery in Detroit March 22.

He is the son of the late Joseph and Bernadette Delano.

Father Francis Cusack officiated the double ring ceremony. The couple lit a symbolic unity candle during the service in which the bride's brothers, Patrick and Tim Hixson, gave the Biblical readings.

The bride's satin wedding gown was fashioned with a fitted bodice with a Queen Anne neckline and lace overlay. The sleeves tapered to points at the wrists. The three-tier skirt extended into a cathedral train. The bridal bouquet was of white roses, carnations and stephanotis.

Kathleen Baker, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Lori Vest, a high school friend, Pamela (Allen) Morin, a Central Michigan University roommate, and Kathi (Gibbons)

Pouliot, a fellow nursing graduate, were bridesmaids. They wore sapphire blue gowns and carried white carnations and roses accented with blue starflowers.

Brian Barton, brother-in-law of the bride, was best man. Groomsmen were Steve DeYoung, a longtime friend, James Delano, brother of the bridegroom, and Dumont Hixson, III, the bride's brother.

A reception for 130 guests followed at Glen Oaks Country Club in Farmington Hills.

DAY CARE VACCINE

A few months ago, the United States Food and Drug Administration approved a vaccine that was developed to prevent a condition commonly referred to as Day Care Disease — a bacterial infection caused by Hemophilus influenzae type "b". Each year, this organism causes thousands of infections in young children, especially those between the ages of six months and six years. One of the infections produced in children by this organism is meningitis, an often fatal inflammatory condition of the membranes that cover the brain and spinal cord.

The new vaccine has been called a "major breakthrough" because of the high degree of protection it affords against nervous system diseases which either kill or impair thousands of children each year. Children under age five who attend day care centers have been found to be at a higher risk for contracting this bacterial infection than those who do not attend such centers (hence the name, Day Care Disease).

The government is recommending that children be vaccinated at age 24 months, particularly if they attend or will be attending a day care center. (Children under 18 months should not receive the vaccine). More vaccine information can be obtained from most local health departments and physicians' offices.

Summer season upcoming

Camps offer health, nature programs

The camp season is almost here, and area camps offer opportunities for both young people and adults to gain new skills — and even change lifestyles.

Arthur Weaver, professor of surgery at Wayne State University and a Northville resident, through his Better Living Seminars, a non-profit, health related organization, will be conducting his annual health camp in Grayling May 18-26.

In a scenic, 900-acre setting, Dr. Weaver reports, adult campers can "take advantage of nature's beauty, recreation and health-restoring influences."

The program offers include a live-in, five-day stop smoking clinic, weight control seminar, stress management seminar and creative cooking without meat seminar.

In addition, activities include canoeing, horseback riding, exercise classes, bird watching, ceramics, nature trails, health and lifestyle counseling.

"Good health," according to Dr. Weaver, "is more than the absence of discernible disease. It is a positive attitude and feeling of well being in the physical, mental, social and spiritual dimensions of life, including creativeness, enthusiasm about life and a vibrant and active lifestyle."

He adds that all instructors for the program at Ranch AuSable have volunteered their services, keeping the cost at a minimum. Lodging, meals, use of recreational facilities and all health education programs are included in the fee.

Costs are $295 for one person, $495 for husband and wife. Rates for the eight-day stay include a non-refundable processing fee of $25. Dr. Weaver may be contacted about family and senior citizen rates or for applications at 349-5683. Applications also may be obtained by writing to: Better Living Seminars, P.O. Box 574, Plymouth, 48170.

□ Swimming, canoeing and sailing are on the program for the 12th annual Michigan Safety School, a one-week camp conducted by the American Red Cross, Southeastern Michigan Chapter.

Participants are trained to become certified instructors in water safety, sailing, canoeing, first aid or CPR.

The camp safety school is scheduled for the week of June 7-15 at Camp Copneconic in Fenton. It is open to all Michigan residents 17 years old and over. Each student chooses a major and minor course of study and is involved in daily lectures, seminars, course instruction and practice sessions.

Instructors are expert volunteers from colleges, business and industry, and the Red Cross. A fee of $175 covers all room, board and textbook fees for the entire week.

Applications are accepted on a first-come, first-served basis, with limited enrollment. To register contact the Red Cross at 494-2868.

who are tired of the usual assortment of sports and crafts at summer camp are invited to explore the environment, study wildlife and learn valuable outdoor skills at the Michigan United Conservations Clubs' Summer Youth Conservation Camp, June 22 through August 2 at Mill Lake Outdoor Center near Chelsea in Washtenaw County.

In its 40th year of continuous operation, the MUCC Youth Camp offers a series of one-week summer camp seminars for young people between the ages of 11 and 14.

A separate advanced program also is available the week of July 27 for 13 to 16 year-olds who previously have attended youth camp.

"The youngsters are closely supervised by staff, and campers are scheduled in a class or outdoor education activity at all times," Kevin Frailey, MUCC Youth Camp director, notes.

The camp has drawn nearly 10,000 boys and girls from across the state since it was inaugurated in 1946. The camp program was made coed in 1981.

The youth camp offers youngsters a completely structured format that requires the individual camper to participate in a variety of activities and learning experiences from environmental awareness, Michigan wildlife and ecology studies to canoeing, riflery, archery, fishing and other outdoor activities.

At the camp, set in the 17,000 acre Waterloo Recreation Area, studying ecology of the area is a major emphasis. Frailey notes that "hardwood forests, meadows and a black spruce bog make the area an ideal outdoor classroom."

Campers have the opportunity to participate in special night time courses to earn a hunter safety or boater safety card. In addition, every camper can earn an American Red Cross Basic Water Safety card.

Campers work and play in groups of 10-12. Cost for the one-week seminar is $95. The advanced course for young people 13-16 with previous experience is $120. For applications, write the MUCC, P.O. Box 30235, Lansing, 48909, or call 1-517-371-1041.

Northville Branch of garden group marks 50th year

"Gardening for the joy it brings" is the motto of the Northville Branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association which is about to celebrate its 50th anniversary — but the activities of the branch have extended far beyond "green thumb" interests.

The branch is a major supporter of city and township beautification, both with generous financial donations and with members' labor. It also has raised funds to assist many local young people in attending college.

Last year the branch presented scholarships to two Northville High School seniors. These scholarships are among the largest given locally. Branch members give credit to the community for its support of the annual Greens Mart held in conjunction with the merchants' Christmas Walk. Members have donated thousands of hours to this project.

Members, area officials and other guests will assemble in the New School Church in Mill Race Historical Village at 12:30 p.m. Sunday, May 18, to celebrate their golden year. The branch was organized May 25, 1936. It elected Mrs. J. R. Carrington as its first president.

Today Olga James heads the branch of approximately 100 members, including 18 life members.

Two years after its founding the branch held its first flower show, repeating in 1939 and 1940. By 1951 the shows had grown to 50 exhibits with nine blue ribbon winners. In 1962 it cooperated with 13 other branches to present a flower show.

Branch members during those years were raising funds with card parties for such projects as landscaping the Boy Scout Building.

In 1962 the branch was presenting a horticultural therapy program at Northville State Hospital (Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital) and with children at the Wayne County Training School. Today members still donate time to horticultural therapy, working with residents at Beverly Manor Convalescent Center in Novi.

Among the "milestone" years was 1963 when members met at the home of Mrs. William B. Walker, who served as president from 1946-47, for a splash party and surprised her with a "This is Your Life" party in honor of her 50th anniversary.

In 1963, too, the branch participated in the dedication of Joe Denton Park in town, contributing the sign and stone.

In 1966 the branch marked its 30th anniversary at a special program held at the home of Mrs. Walker on Eight Mile. Charter president Rose Carrington reviewed the club history.

By 1970 the branch was taking on such responsibilities as refurbishing hanging baskets for the city.

In 1973 a gift of $500 was presented for restoration of the New School Church in Mill Race Village.

In 1976, the Bicentennial year, the branch celebrated its 40th anniversary with a gathering at the home of Betty Cooper, honoring past presidents.

The next year, branch records show, horticultural therapy was a project as the branch worked with youngsters from the Northville Public Schools' special education and special services classes.

1978 saw another major project come into being as the fountain at Allen Terrace, donated by the branch, was turned on, and members celebrated with champagne.

In 1981 civic tree plantings included donating landscaping, trees and shrubs worth $1,000 and an indoor garden at Northville High School.

The renovation of the downtown in the Mainstreet project was aided by a donation of benches and tree guards. The branch also made a major $1,000 contribution to the town clock.

In 1983 the branch assisting in landscaping at Northville Township Hall.

The following year, 1984, 60 tree seedlings were donated to third graders at Amerman Elementary. The spruce tree in the Town Square was another donation that year and the branch committed itself to landscaping the islands on South Main. This gift included $4,000 toward the underground water system for the boulevard islands.

To assist other gardeners, the branch in 1985 presented the Northville Public Library with a television, a VCR and tapes on gardening.

On its 50th anniversary year the branch is continuing its service to the community by donating money to purchase a horse chestnut tree for the Mill Race Village, funds to purchase four benches for the fish hatchery landscaping, money to help buy a band shell for the town square park, funds for a sign and landscaping in Northville Township.

In addition, the branch notes that members have planted 7,000 tulip bulbs throughout town — a "beautification effort" the entire community is enjoying.

One club highlight was meeting former Gov. William Milliken during downtown dedication

Hospice nurses organize first Michigan association

"Our role is primary care of the patient and the patient's family" — that's how hospice nurse and Northville resident Susannah Holstein defines her profession.

"But there's no such thing as a trained hospice nurse — we've learned as we went along by doing," she adds.

Hospice nurses share ideas and ask each other such things as, "what do you do about a patient's mouth" when they get together, she relates.

She stresses that hospice nurses who treat the terminally ill, helping them to die "the way they wish," are unique in the nursing field in that they are called upon to treat the entire family through the patient's illness and to follow-up through the bereavement of the family.

"The needs of such nurses are not being met as 'sometimes you can't see the forest for the trees' when there's so much to do," Holstein says.

"(Hospice) nurses need to network and educate one another," she says. That's why she and Cheryl Mascolo of West Bloomfield have been devoting their time for months to organizing the Michigan Hospice Nursing Association.

Holstein notes that she initially "went in as a hospice volunteer and then went back to become re-certified" and has been working since at the Hospice of Southeastern Michigan in Southfield where Mascolo also is a hospice nurse.

They explain that both felt support for what they were doing was needed.

"Are we doing the right thing — are we alone?" Sue Holstein says these are the questions that hospice nurses ask. "The feeling grew that we needed to share good ideas," she continues.

They set out to contact the nurses licensed as RNs or LPNs working though 94 hospice situations in the state.

The response was satisfying, Mascolo reports. On March 21 at the Clairton Hotel and Conference Center in Lansing, 75 hospice nurses attended the first meeting of the Michigan Hospice Nursing Association.

"There was an air of excitement and fulfillment as the realization became apparent that a long overdue goal had been accomplished," Sue Holstein relates.

But before the Michigan meeting came about she and Cheryl Mascolo had done the groundwork at the National Hospice Convention they attended in November, 1985, in Washington, D.C. It was there that the Michigan representation of hospice nurses developed its bylaws and was co-founded by Holstein and Mascolo, who became the organization's first president.

The purpose was defined as: to establish, develop and maintain a local hospice network to support hospice nurses; to address hospice nursing professional issues; to promote high standards of hospice nursing through continued educational opportunities and shared experiences.

The newly founded association is the first of its kind in the United States and has a charter year membership of 133 hospice nurses. It has adopted gold and white as its colors.

The founders point out that it is especially satisfying to them that the response has come from throughout the state. The membership chair and treasurer, Carolyn Adams, is from the Hospice of Lansing. Theresa Shiflet, bylaws committee chair, is from the R.P. Hicks Memorial Hospice in Newberry in the Upper Peninsula. Elise Olsen, historian, is from the Hospice of Northern Lights in Larium. Carol Sinclair of Fenton is public relations director.

Area members include Carolyn Griffin and Jeanne Hess of Novi, Marilyn Brady of Milford and Rebecca Kennedy of Howell. Fellow nurses Kathleen Pidruzney of Northville and Mary Ridgeway of Novi at the Hospice of Southeastern Michigan also are members.

"The response has been excellent from all over the state — from Petoskey, Fenton, Lapeer," Holstein points out.

The newly formed organization is seeking licensed nurses working in the field or having an interest in the field for members, according to Mascolo.

They can be working in the home of a patient or in a hospice, she says.

"The protocol is to take care of patient pain and to allow people to die the way they wish," the women say, defining terminal patients as those with less than six months to live.

Patients, they point out, have different care requirements if they are at home in stable condition from those in a hospice. They note that there are many types of hospice care with volunteers participating in some situations.

"Our role is primary care of the patient and the patient's family," they stress, noting that the care may be directed by the medical director of the hospice or that a hospice team may develop the care program.

"There's no uniformity of care," Mascolo states, advising persons considering hospice situations to check with the admission department to find out if the service is covered by Medicare or insurance.

"Three years ago we felt it imperative that standards of hospice care be set," she reports.

"Many families don't want the patient to know they're terminally ill, but hospice is not curative but palative. We try to make them (the patients) feel better," she explains.

"It's almost a given that, when someone expires, we go to the funeral," Holstein notes.

"When the hospital sends the person terminally ill home, how he is cared for — that is the reality — we are there to support the patient.

"It's tough — the family knows and the debilitation process is ongoing. The family needs to know how to cope. We're treating the symptoms, how we can make the patient pain free," she explains.

What the organization needs is donations to bring qualified speakers for meetings and workshops, the women say, as well as uniform standards.

Both Holstein, who has a daughter, Kate, 13, and son, Dan, 15, at home and Mascolo, who has a son, Matt, 12, at home and two older daughters, 19 and 23, feel fortunate that they have been able to spend time necessary to contact hospice nurses throughout the state and to attend meetings.

Next step they plan is seminars this fall.

They're also excited about the prospect of the Michigan Hospice Nursing Association growing into a national organization.

"It's possible — we're already getting inquiries from other states," Sue Holstein reports.

Hey sister, can you spare the time?

Getting through thirteen can be pretty tricky. The ups and downs. The discovery of boys. The emotional and physical changes of a child on her way to womanhood. The last thing she needs is a broken bike. A good mechanic would help. A good friend — even better. One woman, one girl, a few hours a week might just change the child's life. How about it, sister? Can you spare a little time?
