Three seek to fill two school board seats

Northville voters will head to the polls Monday, June 9, to select two Northville Board of Education trustees from a field of three candidates.

Incumbent Glenna Davis, a five-year veteran of the board, is seeking election to her second full term. Challengers are Joseph Dunkerley and Robert McMahon.

At least one new trustee will sit on the board following Monday's election. The vacant seat on the board was created by Karen Wilkinson, who decided not to seek re-election to a fourth term.

Monday's election is expected to generate a somewhat larger voter turnout than last year when less than two percent of Northville's approximately 12,700 voters re-elected incumbent Jean Hansen to her second four-year term. Hansen was unopposed in re-election bid.

Appointed to the board in 1981 to fill the remaining term of former trustee Richard Barron, Davis was elected to her first full term in 1982.

A homemaker and student at Eastern Michigan University, she is active in several local and area organizations including the National Organization for Women, League of Women Voters, Art Guild, Northville Action Council and PTA.

She is a member of the Schoolcraft College Women's Advisory, Michigan Media Project (a group working toward improving the image of women in all media, particularly advertising), Project Peer (currently working on a report on the status of Title IX in Wayne County) and the Northville State Hospital Security Council.

Davis lives at 19405 Fry with her husband John and their three children.

Joseph Dunkerley is Supervisor of Energy, Environmental, and Preventative Maintenance Planning for the Engine Division of Ford Motor Company.

A resident of Northville since 1980, he has served on the Middle School Advisory Committee, the Elementary School Redistricting Committee and served as the school board's representative to the Future Needs Committee in the absence of Superintendent George Bell.

He also is a Commissioner of Under 14 boys Soccer, served as Vice President of the Northville Association for the Academically Talented and was treasurer of Cub Scout Pack 721 in 1984-85.

He lives at 20370 Woodbend with his wife Joyce and their five children.

Robert McMahon, a resident of Northville since 1978, is Community and Economic Development Manager of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG).

He serves on several civic and professional organizations including the Strategic Planning Committee of United Community Services of Metropolitan Detroit, Madonna College Gerontology Advisory Committee, Advisory Council to the Area Agency on Aging, Board of Directors, United Community Services — Wayne Division and the Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital Citizens Advisory Council.

He lives at 42029 Sunnydale with his wife Bonnie their two children.

Polls will open at 7 a.m. Monday and close at 8 p.m. Voters are reminded that polling places for Monday's school election may differ from general election locations. Voters should check their school voter registration card for precinct and polling place.

Polling places by precinct are as follows:

- Precinct 1 — Northville City Offices, 215 W. Main;
- Precinct 2 — Silver Springs School, 19801 Silver Springs;
- Precinct 3 — Winchester School, 16141 Winchester Drive;
- Precinct 4 — Amerman School, 847 N. Center;
- Precinct 5 — Northville City Offices, 215 W. Main;
- Precinct 6 — Moraine School, 46811 W. Eight Mile.

Division Champs

Northville pitcher Chris Dominique (No. 20) is congratulated by his teammates after going all the way on the mound and leading the Mustangs to a 12-1 win over Livonia Churchill on May 27. The win, in the 1986 season finale, clinched a share of the WLAA Western Division crown for Northville. The baseballers ended the season with a fine 14-8 overall record and tied with Livonia Franklin for the Division title with an 8-2 mark. In seven innings of work, Dominique surrendered no earned runs, four hits and struck out nine batters.

Detroit files suit to keep DeHoCo land tax exempt

By ANITA CRONE

The city of Detroit has filed suit in the Michigan Tax Tribunal seeking to stop Northville and Plymouth townships from placing city-owned parcels on their tax rolls.

The Northville Public Schools also received a summons and complaint form; however, the district was not named as a defendant. John Street, director of business and finance said he had turned the matter over to the board's attorneys.

The parcels on the former site of DeHoCo (two of which are in Northville Township) have been tax exempt because Detroit has contended it used the land to train police officers. However, Northville Township contends the land is not being used for governmental purposes and thus should be on the tax rolls.

In a March 26 letter to the Michigan Tax Commission, Supervisor Susan Heintz advised the group the township wanted the land to be taxable under Michigan Compiled Law 211.91, which states: "When an assessing officer finds that any real property or personal property which for any reason is exempt from taxation under the laws of this state, is not being used for the purposes for which the tax exemption is granted, he shall after approval of the state tax commission place the property on the tax rolls and the property shall be subject to taxation in the same amount and to the same extent as though it had not been exempt from taxation."

Heintz said she has not been informed of any ruling by the commission, and was "very surprised" when served with the suit May 30.

"Detroit didn't call us. They didn't make an attempt to find out what, if anything, we had done about putting the land on the tax rolls. All they did was file this suit," Heintz said.

Maurice Breen, supervisor of Plymouth Township, was on vacation last week and could not be reached for comment. However, Heintz said the two townships would fight the suit together and the matter had been turned over to former State Rep. Robert Law, a member of the firm of Nora, Hemming, Essad, Polaczyk.

The suit says the two properties in Northville Township were tax exempt, being used for a governmental purpose, as an integral part of DeHoCo and the township arbitrarily withdrew the exempt status of the properties.

Heintz contends the exemption was never withdrawn. "We haven't gotten a response from the tax commission. We didn't place the properties on the rolls," she said.

The suit further contends the township had not enabled the tax commission to fulfill its statutory duty by informing the commission of the alleged change of status; and, the properties since before Dec. 31, 1985 and since, have been used for a

16-year-old leads 1986 high school honor roll

By KATHY PETERSEN

Science and high finance are possible careers for Northville High School's top 1986 graduates.

Class valedictorian Mark Ber-taglianni earned a 4.0 at Northville High School after skipping ninth grade. Bertagnoli, 16, plans to attend University of Michigan in the fall to study engineering.

He said he may switch his major later to business with a possible career in either institutional stockbroking or investment banking.

While in high school he was on the tennis team and played on several city recreation teams including soccer.

Also during high school Bertagnoli was vice president of finance and co-partner of his Junior Achievement business, National Honor Society treasurer, German Club vice-president and voted "Most Likely To Succeed" by his classmates.

At college Bertagnoli is considering running for a residence hall representative position.

Janice Van Loke, valedictorian, maintained a 4.0 grade point average during her high school career. In addition to studying, Van Loke played flute with the marching band for her first two years and served as drum major for her last two years of high school.

Van Loke, 17, was also involved backstage with the high school plays and musicals for four years. She said she helped build the sets, sell tickets and apply the performers' make-up.

Van Loke plans to attend the University of Michigan. Her major is undecided, but she is leaning toward a high school teaching career in science.

Her other academic interests include courses about computers and psychology.

Van Loke qualified for a Regents Scholarship from the University of Michigan and a Northville teachers' Alpha Nu Chapter, Delta Kappa Gamma, scholarship.

Jill Werdell, salutatorian, received one "B" during the past four years of her academic career. It was for a sophomore composition class, she said.

Werdell, 17, spent time on the marching field with Van Loke. She played flute in the band for four years and also sang for four years with the school choir.

In addition to her school activities Werdell took music lessons in flute and piano.

She will attend Reed College in Portland, Oregon, to study biology. Werdell, a National Merit finalist, has not decided what her career will be after college.

Uncle charged with rape

A 47-year-old man was arrested by Northville City Police May 30 and charged with two counts of third degree criminal sexual conduct.

William Holt McIntosh, of Northville, is currently in the Oakland County Jail awaiting a preliminary examination scheduled for June 9, in connection with two alleged rapes on March 27 and 29 of this year, according to the police report. The victim is a 13-year-old niece of the suspect who was visiting from Lebanon, Ohio, over the Easter holiday.

The Warren County Children's Services in Ohio contacted the Northville Police in April, a warrant was issued on May 29 and McIntosh was taken into custody the following day. Bond was set at $25,000.

Corrections

In the story about the sale of property in Northville Township by Ward Presbyterian Church on the front page of The Record May 28 it was stated incorrectly that the church currently has 1,000 members. It has between 4,300 and 4,500 members.

Its current sanctuary in Livonia seats 1,000 members. The new sanctuary planned for the township site at Six Mile and Haggerty roads is to seat 3,000.

Annual ice cream social at Amerman Elementary, Eight Mile and Center streets, will be held from 5:30-8 p.m. Friday, not today as listed in last week's community calendar. As reported in the PTA news, it will be held Friday in conjunction with the school art fair.

We were so carried away with the number of repeat grand prize winners in the Northville Beautification Commission's annual awards that we incorrectly reported Dr. William Demray was a three-time award winner and IV Seasons won its second. In reality, IV Seasons was a three-time winner and Demray won his second award.

NEWS BRIEFS

PHILADELPHIA has the Liberty Bell which doesn't bong, and Northville has its Westminster chimes which do.

City Council Monday got a sneak preview of the 38-song patriotic magnetic tape which chimes from the clock on the half hour and the hour. In addition, the chimes will play a 10-minute concert at 10 minutes past each hour.

Among the selections previewed were the Marine's Hymn, Battle Hymn of the Republic, America the Beautiful and God Bless America as well as a tune "which is played at every military funeral" but which no one at the 10 p.m. impromptu concert could identify.

The chimes were a gift from the E.O. Whittingtons.

NORTHVILLE YOUNGSTERS aren't the only ones to be knocked off their skateboards and to have bruised feelings. It seems, according to an article in the New York Times May 11, teen-agers in Northampton, Mass., brought their boards to a city council committee meeting when that town council was considering a ban on the boards.

A sign on the Northampton City Hall steps read, "Would you rather we do drugs?" and a 15-year-old was quoted in the clipping sent to The Record as saying, "There's hardly anything to do in this town."

OAKLAND COUNTY COMMISSIONER John Calandro, R- Novi, was making waves June 2 on two fronts. Calandro made a campaign swing through Northville to announce his bid for re-election and also to hear once again tongue-in-cheek moans about the lack of passes to the county's wave pool. The passes were eliminated years ago in a cost-cutting move. It appears council will have to content itself with making waves in Northville. Calandro represents the Oakland County portion of the city.

BOOK HOARDERS COME BACK. All is forgiven. The entire month of June will be an amnesty period at Novi Public Library. Individuals may return overdue books, magazines and pamphlets and no fines will be charged.

Patrons may drop off items at the library's circulation desk, or if they're too embarrassed to face the librarian, in the drop box. Videocassettes and rental books are exempt from the amnesty, and fees will be charged.

County commission field is crowded

The field to fill the 10th District Wayne County Commission seat currently held by Mary Dumas, R-Livonia, is becoming cluttered.

Four candidates — Northville Township Supervisor Susan J. Heintz, Livonia City Treasurer Elaine Tuttle and Doug Schweiger have filed to run in the Aug. 3 Republican primary and John K. Kopka has filed to run as a Democrat.

Dumas, despite speculation that she would not seek re-election, filed shortly before the 4 p.m. deadline Tuesday.

Kopka is making his first try at public office and says he is running to make some reforms in the commission, especially in the area of salary.

"It's a part-time job, and they make $26,000 a year and get full benefits. The chairman makes $32,000. I've done some comparisons, and the workers in Wayne County are paid excessively," he says.

Describing himself as a conservative Democrat, Kopka is a research technician for Eaton Corp. in Southfield, the second job he ever had, he says proudly. He is a 20-year retired veteran of the United States Air Force.

Kopka and his wife, Thurza, have three children, two married daughters and a son, John, Jr., a senior at Livonia Franklin.

The Kopkas have lived in Livonia for 14 years.

Tuttle is making her second try for the commissioner's seat, having lost to Dumas by some 2,000 votes in 1984. She says she also sees the job as a part-time position and says it will not interfere with her current job as Livonia treasurer, a position she has held since 1979.

Tuttle has been attending commission meetings for some time and says she feels she would be able to fulfill the duties of a commissioner adequately.

"Much of what it (the commission) does is financial," she says. She has a certificate in accounting and financial administration from Walsh College, in Troy, and is president of the National Association of Accountants, Western Wayne Chapter.

Tuttle is a board member of the Data Processing Management Association of Detroit and is a member of the Economic Club of Detroit and the Municipal Treasurers Association.

A resident of Livonia, Tuttle has three grown children.

Heintz, who announced her candidacy March 12, serves on a number of southeastern Michigan elected and appointed boards. She is a member of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments Executive Committee, Southeast Michigan Transportation Authority Board of Directors, chair of the Rouge River Watershed Council and former executive director of the Conference of Western Wayne.

"I believe that the constituents of this area need a strong voice on the Wayne County Board of Commissioners," Heintz said. "My demonstrated leadership and ability to work effectively and have the respect of many diverse groups will give this district effective representation."

Heintz is married and has two children, Julie 13, and Jimmy, 10.

Efforts to reach Schweiger were unsuccessful.

Attorneys square off for chance to face Geake

State Sen. R. Robert Geake, R-Northville, has announced his intention to seek a third full term in the Michigan Senate.

Chairman of the Senate Committee on Senior Citizens and Social Services and vice chairman of the Appropriations Committee, Geake was first elected to the Senate in March, 1977, to fill the unexpired term of U.S. Rep. Carl Pursell.

Geake, 49, is a licensed psychologist and was an administrator at the former Plymouth Center for Human Development. He holds B.S., M.A. and Ph.D. degrees in education and psychology from the University of Michigan.

Geake is a life member of the National Education Association and a member of the American and Michigan Psychological associations, Rotary International and has been active in numerous historical and genealogical societies.

Geake and his wife, Carol, a veterinarian, have three children.

Two Democratic challengers will seek to unseat incumbent State Sen. R. Robert Geake, R-Northville, in the August primary election.

Scott Bassett, 30, a University of Michigan law professor, and Thomas H. Healy, an attorney in private practice, have filed for the Democratic nomination for the seat. Geake has no Republican challenger.

A member of the State Bar of Michigan and the American Bar Association, Bassett has served as counsel for five firms in southeast Michigan and has been called upon numerous times to provide expert testimony in child abuse cases.

Bassett, who received his B.A. in political science from Wayne State University and his J.D. degree from the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, is married and lived in Livonia between 1963 and 1979 and returned to his home town upon graduation from U of M in 1984. He and his wife, Debbie, have one daughter, Vicki, 11. 62, a Plymouth city resident, is making his second run for elected office. He ran for 35th District Court judge against Dunbar Davis.

A member of the Elections Commission for the city of Plymouth, Healy is a board member of the Plymouth Canton, Northville YMCA and a member of the Michigan State, Detroit and American Bar associations.

He is a former Michigan assistant attorney general, serving in that capacity from 1956 until 1964.

Healy received a B.S. degree in Commerce from Drexel University in Philadelphia, Pa. and an L.L.B. degree from the University of Michigan law school in 1950.

He and his wife are the parents of six grown children.

Council eases city parking restrictions

Patrons who use two municipal parking lots are getting a break. City Council unanimously agreed to lift some time restrictions on parking in Lots 2 and 4, allowing vehicles unlimited parking in those lots. In Lot 4, located behind the Michigan Association of Gift Salesmen building and across South Wing from the post office, parking on the curb line south of Cady and east of Wing would retain the first 12 spaces as 30-minute parking. Much of the rest of the lot would have unrestricted parking, except from 2:30 a.m. until 7 a.m., when vehicles would still require a permit for overnight parking. In Lot 2, all 41 spaces south of a line extending eastward from the entrance driveway on Wing Street would retain a two-hour limit. However, the three-hour restriction for vehicles parked in the northern portion of the lot and east of North Wing, has been lifted. Parking between 2:30-7 a.m. still requires a permit. The easing of parking restrictions comes in partial response to recommendations made by the Downtown Development Authority's two-man parking study committee. Ideas proposed two years ago were nixed by the council at that time, including time limits on street parking in the downtown area. Committee member William Sliger said the committee did not suggest time limits on street parking this year. "The council implemented the committee's recommendations," noted Steven Walters, city manager. "We didn't do anything it hadn't requested." Walters added that the city's downtown parking meters were eliminated in the summer of 1981 when new sidewalks were put in place and since that time parking on downtown streets has not been time restricted. "Even when the meters were in place, it was pretty much a wash in terms of the revenue derived from violations as opposed to the costs incurred in patrolling for parking violators," he said. The new regulations will take effect as soon as signs can be erected at the affected lots. The DPW office reported Tuesday that the work order has been received and should be processed this week.

Some parking signs will be removed from city lots

Allen Terrace residents receive rent increase

Residents of Allen Terrace will be getting a rent increase beginning in July, but even with the raise in rent, the senior citizen dwelling still is less costly than other Northville area apartments, council was told as the increase was sought at the May 27 meeting. The increase, requested by the Northville Housing Commission and approved by city council last week, would raise the rent from $377 to $390 per month, and is expected to generate an additional $8,820 in revenue. Residents receiving Michigan State Housing Development Authority subsidies would not see an increase in their rent, however, as MSHDA would also increase its subsidies. However, Frances Yoakam, housing director, said Congress has not yet determined the federal allowable inflation factors for this fiscal year. Yoakam said 43 residents are currently receiving the MSHDA subsidy. An additional seven residents receive trust fund subsidies. The trust fund is a locally-provided fund which provides partial subsidies for residents until they can receive MSHDA monies. Yoakam said there is about a one-year wait for the state fund, but noted not long ago applications were not even being taken. In asking City Council to approve the increase, Yoakam noted Allen Terrace still would charge less than other apartment complexes. Allen Terrace rents include heat and electricity in its rates and also provide more common areas — library, arts and crafts room, and a beauty shop — on the premises. Yoakam noted while there may be apartment complexes charging less in rent, the rent does not include all utilities. Allen Terrace operates within a $502,200 budget, with rents constituting 74 percent of that money.

Willis Bullard announces bid for third term

State Rep. Willis "Bill" Bullard, R-Milford, has announced he will seek a third term in the state House. Bullard, who serves as assistant Republican floor leader, represents the western portion of Oakland County, including the Oakland County portion of the city of Northville and Novi. He first was elected to the House in 1982 and was the recipient of the first Legislator of the Year award from the Michian Townships Association. "I believe that my experience in the Legislature and leadership position serve my district very well," Bullard said. "I look forward to representing the concerns of the citizens in the 60th district in the Michigan House for another two years. "In the past four years, we have had several successes, and I will continue to address problems that have not yet been solved," Bullard said.

"Some of those include keeping taxes at a low rate, continuing to restrain governmental spending and improving the business climate here in Michigan."

Two seek Pursell's seat

Two Democratic challengers have announced their intention to run for the 2nd U.S. Congressional District seat held currently by U.S. Rep. Carl Pursell, R-Plymouth. Don Grimes, a research economist at the University of Michigan's Institute of Labor and Industrial Relations, and Dean Baker, a doctoral candidate in economics at U of M will square off in the August primary for the right to challenge Pursell. Grimes announced his candidacy during a press conference in Lansing June 2. Baker told supporters at a May 21 rally he would run for the seat. Pursell, who is unopposed in the Republican primary, was first elected to Congress in 1976. He is a member of the Appropriations Committee.

Davis, Dunkerley, McMahon address school issues

Voters in the Northville school district who go to the polls in Monday's election will select from three candidates to fill two four-year terms on the Northville board of education. Incumbent Glenna Davis is seeking her second full term on the board. Challengers Joseph L. Dunkerley and Robert McMahon are vying for their first term. Longtime trustee Karen Wilkinson's decision not to seek a fourth term ensures that a new face will join the board. The three candidates recently were interviewed by The Record. Reports from those interviews follow.

Glenna Davis

First appointed to the board in 1981 to fill the remaining term of former trustee Richard Barron, Glenna Davis was elected to her first full term in 1982.

The five-year veteran of the board says she is seeking another term to focus attention on finetuning the current program as well as to bring to the forefront issues left on the backburner during the past few years.

The incumbent says she feels her strengths as a school board member include her accessibility as well as her ability to listen to constituents.

Priority issues for Davis include facility usage, finetuning the current program and developing programs for special needs students such as the academically gifted.

Noting that the district has "too many buildings," Davis says she would like to see the school board look at alternate uses for its Main Street and Cooke facilities. She states she would consider selling the Main Street site to contribute to Northville's downtown.

She says she is pleased with the success of the Moraine Early Childhood Development Center and would like to see continued support for the program as well as the district's latch-key offerings.

She notes the board is in the process of outlining a maintenance program to keep the district's facilities in shape.

Having focused much of its attention on the district's physical plants during the past few years, Davis says the board already has committed itself to finetuning programming—particularly at the high school level.

She notes that the board's goals for the next few years include assessing both the middle school program and the elementary school day as well as examining the co-curricular and elective programs at the high school.

Davis also notes that the board will be developing a program for the academically gifted.

"We do not have a well-defined program," she admits, noting that the board is hoping to bring together parents of both gifted and average students to work on developing a program.

Davis currently is president of the

ROBERT MCMAHON

Northville Board of Education. She is a senior at Eastern Michigan University and is a member of the National Organization for Women, League of Women Voters, Art Guild, Northville Action Council and PTA.

She also serves on the Schoolcraft College Women's Advisory Committee and is a member of the Michigan Media Project, a group working to improve the images of women in all media with particular emphasis on advertising.

As a member of Project Peer, Davis is working with the organization in putting together a report on the status of Title IX in Wayne County. She also is serving on the Northville State Hospital Security Council.

Davis resides at 19405 Fry with her husband, John, and their three children.

Joseph Dunkerley

A resident of North Beacon Woods since 1980, Joseph Dunkerley was a constant presence at school board meetings during the school closing discussions two years ago.

Though a member of the PTA and other school committees, Dunkerley notes that it was not until the district began discussing closing Moraine that he approached the board table.

With his wife Joyce, Dunkerley prepared neighborhood statistics on population projections and presented them to the board during its discussions about closing Cooke and Moraine. His initiative brought him to the attention of school administrators and board members and eventually landed him a spot on both the middle school advisory committee and the elementary redistricting committee.

"I started thinking about running for the board about a year ago," Dunkerley says, adding that he feels familiar with the board's operations having attended most of its meetings during the past two years.

Noting that his father served on a school board for 12 years, Dunkerley says he realizes the commitment necessary to serve on the board.

GLENNA DAVIS

A supervisor at Ford Motor Company, Dunkerley says he believes his business background can bring a different perspective to the current board.

Among the priority items Dunkerley says he would like to see the board address are energy maintenance, a unified curriculum throughout the district and a clearly defined gifted and talented program.

As supervisor of energy, environmental and preventive maintenance planning for the engine division at Ford Motor Company, Dunkerley says he believes his professional insight could help the district in implementing its energy maintenance program.

In looking at the district's surplus buildings, Dunkerley says he supports the idea of renting the Main Street site, but would not sell the building at this time.

Having worked on the district's future needs committee, Dunkerley notes that the "potential in the township is tremendous."

"We have to make sure we can accommodate that situation," he adds, noting that the district might need its current surplus facilities to house an increasing student population.

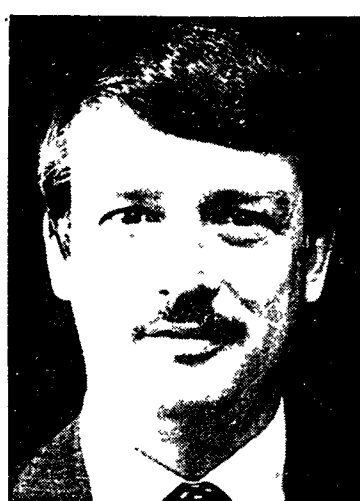

In the curriculum area, Dunkerley says he would like to see the district unify its program so that there is continuity from one grade level to the next.

He notes that while the administration has made major efforts to change the curriculum in recent years, Dunkerley says there still is room for improvement.

Among the curriculum areas the board needs to address is the gifted and talented program, Dunkerley feels.

A former vice president of the Northville Association for the Academically Talented (a group for parents of academically gifted students), Dunkerley says the district currently does not meet all the needs of high achievers.

"I think a better program would enhance our otherwise good reputation," Dunkerley notes, adding that many parents of gifted students leave the Northville Public Schools because of that program's shortcomings.

"I would like to see all children seek their own potential."

Dunkerley has been employed with Ford Motor Company for 20 years. He holds a bachelor's degree in mechanical engineering from the University of Cincinnati and master's in business administration from Xavier University. He is commissioner of Under 14 boys soccer, a former soccer coach and was treasurer of Cub Scout Pack 721 from 1984-85. In 1984, he and his wife received the Honored Parents Award from Moraine School at the Founders' Day Banquet.

Dunkerley resides at 20370 Woodbend with his wife, Joyce, and their five children.

Robert McMahon

A resident of the community for eight years, Robert McMahon says that while he's considered petitioning for a school board post in the past, there have been few opportunities to seek an open seat without challenging an incumbent.

He notes that Karen Wilkinson's decision not to seek another term prompted him to throw his hat in the ring this year. Though not dissatisfied with the current board, McMahon says he believes he can bring an "independent perspective" to the district.

"I have two children at Winchester and am very interested in the quality education they are getting," McMahon says, noting that the school system was among the reasons he moved his family to Northville in 1978.

Community and Economic Development Manager of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG), McMahon has an impressive list of civic involvement.

He says he views his candidacy for the school board as a "further extension" of his commitment to serving the community.

Among the priority issues he believes the board needs to address are future facility needs, finetuning curriculum and updating the long range plan.

McMahon says he is pleased that the thrust of the board's goals for the next few years will be on improving curriculum at all levels.

"I think that goal is extremely important," he notes. "We need to be working for all students as well as all parents and staff."

He says he would like to see the board form citizens' groups to study curriculum in the same way it brought together residents to explore the district's facility needs.

He notes one area which could use community input is development of the gifted and talented program.

In the area of facilities, McMahon says the board needs to look at alternative uses for all its surplus buildings.

"We need to look at how we can benefit the entire community," he notes.

Having recently toured the Moraine facility, McMahon says he was "really impressed" with the program and would like to see an expansion of the present offerings to include senior citizens.

"We have to address the entire community from early childhood to senior citizens," he says. "I think senior citizens are a resource we haven't tapped."

Having spent the past few weeks campaigning door-to-door, McMahon says class size seems to be among the biggest concerns voiced by residents.

While he would like to see the board look at that issue, he notes that class size needs to be weighed against other factors such as cost and impact on curriculum.

In addition to his SEMCOG post, McMahon also is involved in many local and area organizations. He is a member of the Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital Citizens Advisory Council (he chaired the group from 1984-85); the Madonna College Gerontology Advisory Committee; Advisory Council to the Area Agency on Aging; Board of Directors, United Community Services—Wayne Division; Board of Directors for the Michigan Industrial Developers Association and the Executive Committee of the Michigan Community Development Director's Association.

He holds a bachelor's degree from the University of Connecticut and a master's from Wayne State University. He is a member of the Northville Colony Estates Subdivision Board and the Winchester PTA.

McMahon resides at 42029 Sundydale with his wife, Bonnie, and two children.

City water costs flow to subdivision

By ANITA CRONE

City water will be coming to the southeast portion of Northville Estates, but not everyone is happy about it.

Acting on a petition signed by property owners of 12 lots in the southern portion of the subdivision, City Council unanimously approved the creation of a special assessment district to pay for the project. However, as it had done previously for water mains in the northern part of the development, council specifically excluded five lot owners who had protested the project.

Cost of the project in the southern end of the subdivision was set at $4,044 per lot, with the cost to be spread over 15 years. Those who have been exempted from the project may join the special assessment district; however, they would have to pay the entire per lot cost at one time and would also be assessed interest.

Among those most vehemently opposed to the assessment was Richard King, who told council: "I'm personally opposed to this assessment. I invested my $4,000 into a well two years ago. I don't want to have to pay it again."

City Manager Steven Walters told the gathering that previous policy had indicated people could continue to use their wells as long as the water quality tested properly. However, once the city water came into the subdivision, no new well permits would be issued.

Jerry Hatch, another lot owner, told council he was under the impression that he would have to dig a well if he built a home in the area.

"I'd rather put the $4,000 into city water," Hatch said.

The southend project costs would cover only water lines. Sewers were not included in the project and David Maley, the man who started the petition, noted he did not intend to petition for sewers at this time.

"I've lived with wells before, and I have found it much more cost effective to have city water than wells," Maley noted. "In talking to some neighbors, I also know there has been a real problem with the water quality of some wells. There are people who have had to move out of the subdivision because they were unable to drink the water."

"The city is not forcing water on anyone," Mayor Paul Vernon said. "We are only acting on the petition."

Vernon added there had been opposition a year ago when several residents in the north area of Northville Estates had indicated opposition to water being brought into that portion of the subdivision. However, when the actual assessment list was prepared most of those originally opposed to the project had requested to be included.

Final listing of the lot owners in the northern district was held June 2. Walters estimated water would be brought into the southern end of the subdivision by the end of August.

There's lots of room for small motels

With the number of large hotels opening in the area, one might think that the area's small motels would fear for their survival. But so far, they are not.

Hank Huisman, owner of the Fair Lane Motel on Grand River in Novi, said, "There are so many travelers in the area. There will be more competition for them, but they'll all end up somewhere."

The cost of a room per night is one reason motels will survive, according to Jack Skotcher, owner of the Revere Motel in Farmington Hills. Ranging from $26.50 to $32.50 depending on how many people and the number of beds needed, Skotcher said, "Price-wise, people think our rates are high so they'll think theirs (large hotel's) are even higher."

In addition to the large chain

'There are so many travelers in the area. There will be more competition for them, but they'll all end up somewhere.'

Hank Huisman

hotels, some budget hotels will be locating in this area. This is where more competition for his six rooms will come from, said Huisman. Skotcher, however, feels that the costs for these hotels in construction of over 100 rooms and of actually opening a hotel will make them less than competitive price-wise, to start with.

Both owners of these family-run businesses felt price played a role in their guests' selection of their motel. However, Huisman described another aspect of his motel that gives it an appeal different from that of a large hotel. "It's a nice, quiet place. The guests are away from the traffic and noise generated by a bigger hotel."

At these motels, the average length of a guest's stay is one to three days and like the larger hotels, the clientele really varies. Skotcher sees construction people who will stay for weeks at a time, businessmen in town for a couple of nights, and occasionally someone "just passing through who will stay for one night."

In the increasingly competitive hotel market, a place remains for the proprietor who simply offers a place to sleep for the night.

Township's first hotel gains commission OK

Northville Township has taken a giant step toward having the first hotel constructed in the township.

The planning commission gave final site plan approval to plans to build a 128-room Hampton Inn at Eight Mile and Haggety roads and for construction of an office building at the southeast quadrant of the site.

Although the two projects are related, plans for the construction were presented separately.

Developers of both projects had sought approval under current B-3 zoning requirements; however, once the township's new freeway service and large office zoning is in place, they would qualify under provisos of the proposed zoning.

Because the hotel plans violated current height requirements, the developers had asked the zoning board of appeals to grant a height waiver. The structure will be four stories high.

In addition, 20 office center parking slots will be used by the hotel. Office center parking plans showed 60 more spaces than required by ordinance.

Despite the approval of the local body, Wayne County must give its OK for entrances and exits off Haggety, a county road.

Curses! Voodoo priestess spells trouble for Sheraton

By ANITA CRONE

The Rev. Dr. Lady Bishop won't be opening an office at the Sheraton Oaks Hotel in Novi. As far as the hotel is concerned, she never was going to open an office there. But try telling that to the voodoo priestess. If she has her way, there may not be a manager or a night manager—but there will be a law suit filed against the hotel, charging the facility with discrimination. The self-proclaimed voodoo priestess spent four nights at the Novi Sheraton Oaks while promoting a proposed metropolitan office from which she would offer consultations, prayers and voodoo incantations to clients, all for a donation, of course. While Bishop told television viewers of her plans to use the Novi

Sheraton-Oaks as a base, she failed to talk things over with Sheraton Oaks management, who first heard of the effort when a number of prospective clients began calling the hotel for appointments.

"We must have had between 50 and 100 calls," said Jerry Abel, the hotel general manager. "But Michigan law forbids residential hotels from allowing commercial ventures from the premises. She couldn't have opened her office here at all." While Bishop did move out of the hotel, she didn't move out happily. Hotel manager Ray Biggs says he received a mailgram, informing him Bishop had "put a divine mirror between you, me and (the night manager). If you have reflected good, let it come back to you. If you have reflected evil, let all the evil of the world come back to you 100 times."

Biggs says he really hadn't reflected any ill or good feelings toward Bishop.

He explained the Sheraton Oaks has a contract whereby guests appearing on Kelly and Co. stay at the hotel, with the television station picking up the tab. The station did pay for one night of Bishop's stay and the Cleveland-based priestess paid for the remaining three nights. Abel said Bishop apparently failed to pay for her long distance calls. And that's where a problem developed.

"It is obvious the hotel was not comfortable with a black woman who did not pay with a credit card staying there. God doesn't deal in credit cards and neither do I," Bishop said from Cleveland. "I pay my own way where ever I go. And the spirit told me to get a receipt because there would be trouble with the hotel. I always listen to those warnings." Bishop said she was locked out of her hotel rooms in the dispute. But her belongings, including a "priceless" rooster head used as part of her readings, were locked inside. The dispute was settled when Lonnie Sobel, Bishop's business manager and close friend, paid the disputed bill.

As far as the hotel and Biggs are concerned, the matter is settled—except for one small item. The telegram said the Rev. Dr. Lady Bishop was sending a black orchid to symbolize her feelings toward the hotel. It has not arrived.

"I hope it's a boutonniere," Biggs said. "I just love flowers."

Marion Yockey looks forward to leaving her desk at Winchester Elementary

Record/JERRY ZOLYNSKY

Marion Yockey bids farewell to three decades of teaching

By KATHY PETERSEN

Reflecting on 36 years of teaching, Winchester Elementary School teacher Marion Yockey said the best part of her job was watching her students "blossom."

Yockey, who has been teaching in Northville since 1974, said at the beginning of the school year her students are shy. By the end of the year they have not only gained knowledge and skills, but also confidence.

"You have watched these children blossom," Yockey said.

She said Northville schools help the blossoming process along through their special programs for students with different needs. These programs range from accelerated classes for gifted students to special facilities for students with handicaps.

Yockey said Northville does an especially thorough job of providing these services to students.

Before coming to this district in 1974 Yockey taught in several other Michigan school districts, including Midland, Lansing and Berkley Schools.

She received her bachelor's degree in elementary education from Michigan State University in 1950. Yockey said she continued to take classes from Central Michigan University and Oakland University toward her master's degree but never completed the curriculum.

She said her husband, Fred Yockey, was sick for awhile and she was unable to continue taking classes. When she was able to return to school, some of the credits she had already earned no longer were valid.

"I decided, 'I'll take classes I want to take, but forget the degree,'" Yockey said.

Another enjoyable part of her job was working with the principal, other teachers and staff members, Yockey said.

Her least favorite activity was late night paper grading.

"When it gets to be around 11 or 11:30, boy, you're glad when you finish the last one," Yockey said.

After retirement Yockey and her husband plan to travel. They have purchased a condominium in Midland and already own a cottage on Hubbard Lake. They will divide the spring and fall months between these two places. Yockey said they will spend winters either in Florida or visiting their daughter in San Diego, Calif.

"We'll just go off and play a little golf and watch the grass grow someplace where it's warm," Yockey said.

Golf is only one of the hobbies Yockey plans to find more time for after retiring. She will also read and spend time with her four children and two grandchildren.

"There are quite a few novels on the shelf that can be gotten out and read now," she said.

This is the first in a series of stories about teachers who are retiring from the Northville School District at the end of the school year.

Police Blotters

Naked truth: Three exposure cases told

In the township . . .

Police are looking for two men and a third is under a doctor's care at the Psychiatric Intervention Center in Westland following three separate incidents of indecent exposure.

A 43-year-old white man was taken to the Psychiatric Intervention Center May 31 after he met two Northville residents on the front porch of their home. The man, a former patient at the Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital, was wearing no clothing at the time, according to police reports. When police arrived at the scene, the man walked up to the patrol car and "gave rambling and incoherent responses" when questioned by officers.

A Quik-Pik employee reported May 29 an unknown male purchased a bottle of pop at 4:50 p.m. and asked for an opener. When she looked down to give him the bottle opener, she noted he was exposing himself. She called the police, who are looking for a white male, between 28-30 years old, about six feet tall.

Less than half an hour later at 5:15 p.m. the same employee informed police a second man, described as about six feet tall with blond hair and about 25 years old, entered the store, purchased a bottle of pop and asked for a bottle opener. When she handed the man the opener, she reported she noticed he also had exposed himself.

A five-speed bicycle, valued at $190, was reported stolen May 28 from the Northville Forest Apartments. According to police reports, the owner of the bicycle had left his bike in the entrance hallway May 27 at 11 p.m. and, when he looked for it at 9:30 a.m. the next morning, it was gone.

The police report noted there appeared to be no signs of forced entry into the building nor were there any suspects in the incident.

William S. Thomas told police May 28 a white vinyl golf bag containing 11 irons and three woods was stolen from the Brooklane Golf Course.

Thomas told police he left the bag with the clubs outside the lounge while he went inside to have a drink. When he returned, the bag and clubs were gone. There are no suspects in the incident.

Police are investigating a suspected break in at 13th hole refreshment stand at Meadowbrook Country Club. According to the police report, an unidentified youngster reported seeing a man running out the building about 4 p.m. May 27, a day when the club is closed to golfers.

An investigation revealed the building was secure with no signs of anything missing.

. . . in the city

A 17-year-old female student at Northville High School reported to police that her purse was taken from her unlocked locker on May 30 at about 12:30 p.m.

The purse contained a driver's license, keys and other items. The value of everything taken is estimated at $160.

The driver's side window of a Northville man's 1977 Lincoln was broken out with an unknown object, according to a police report. The incident happened between 10 p.m. on May 26 and 9 a.m. the following day. Nothing was missing from the vehicle and damage sustained was estimated at $150.

Detroit sues to keep land off townships' tax rolls

governmental purpose. Detroit asks that the property be struck from the tax rolls and that a refund of such taxes paid be repaid to Detroit with interest and costs.

However, since the property is not on the tax rolls, no taxes have been collected and no interest is due, Heintz said.

She added the tax board of review, which also is named in the suit, had heard an appeal from Detroit regarding the land. The board denied Detroit's appeal since "(the board) cannot find any evidence that the property is being used as petition states." That document was signed by Heintz March 25 and noted the property would be assessed at $2,000 an acre for a total of $456,470.

Efforts to reach city of Detroit officials were unsuccessful, however, a spokeswoman for the Michigan Tax Tribunal said that if the tax commission had not made a determination on Northville Township's request, it seemed unlikely Detroit would have grounds for a suit.

If the suit is pursued through the tribunal, it could take a minimum of seven months before it even came to pretrial, the spokeswoman said.

A spokesperson for Wayne County said the county had received a copy of the suit against Plymouth Township, but not a copy of the suit against Northville Township.

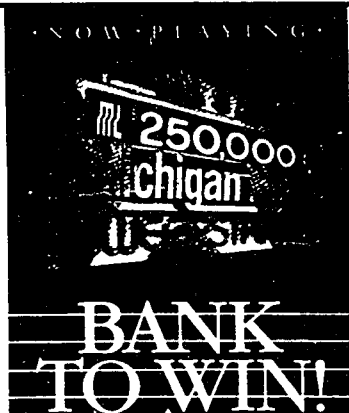

The Northville Public Schools also were served with the suit.

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

Over 60 million people in the United States have hypertension. It is the largest single cause of preventable disability and death. Hypertension is sometimes known as the "Silent Killer" because it often has no symptoms. The cause of hypertension is often unknown, but certain risk factors are well known. With proper evaluation, treatment is usually simple and may help prevent life threatening or disabling conditions such as stroke and heart disease.

For a complete blood pressure evaluation and treatment call Laurel Park Medical Clinic at 484-8222 for an appointment.

Reclaiming The Rouge

By KATHY PETERSEN
staff writer

While officials and environmentalists are glad this coming Saturday's Rouge River Clean-Up Day will focus attention on efforts to reverse the deterioration of the Rouge, they acknowledge a clean river won't be built in a day.

State and local officials will attempt to correct the decades-old problem of pollution in the Rouge River with a 20-year program beginning this summer.

The program will be coordinated by the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG) under contract from the state Department of Natural Resources.

SEMCOG Environmental Engineer Kathy Berry noted the problem of heavy pollution in the river has been building for more than 50 years.

"It took a long time for it to get this bad," Berry said.

Experts have not yet pinpointed all the sources of the pollution, but they agree the main cause is six billion gallons of sewage draining into the river from combined sewer overflows. Other contributing factors include non-point sources and general debris and trash.

"Basically the river has not had anything significant aimed at it in years. It's just in dismal shape."

The river is currently labeled by the federal government as safe for partial body contact, said Roy Schrameck, Michigan Department of Natural Resources district supervisor for surface water quality. Partial body contact means it is suitable for wading, fishing and boating.

But Schrameck said the Rouge "is not even capable of supporting those uses now."

He said the river is usually safe for partial body contact but after a heavy rain it may contain a high concentration of bacteria. Sewer systems in the river basin are combined sewer overflows, meaning the stormwater drainage pipes also carry sewage. After a heavy rain the pipes can not handle both systems so some of the untreated sewage and rainwater is drained directly into the river.

Schrameck said the sewage contains bacteria found in the intestinal systems of warm-blooded animals, including humans. These bacteria in the water increase the risk for humans to contract any water-borne disease.

When these sewers were built, the system was legal and accepted as a safe method for disposing of sewage and rainwater.

"This was the accepted technology, not only in Detroit and Michigan, but all over the country a few years ago," Wayne County Environmental Health Director Glenn Brown said.

He said this form of pollution will continue until a viable alternative system is devised and constructed.

"The alternate to dumping it in the river is having it go into everyone's basement," said Brown.

It is difficult to locate a source for non-point pollution. A common cause of this type of pollution is rainfall running over the soil and into the river. The water picks up different bacteria and materials from the soil.

Brown said some of the industrial sewage from area businesses also feeds directly into the river.

Through the summer the DNR will be monitoring the water quality. Through this they will develop a data base and help determine where and to what degree the problem exists.

"It's a very complex river system and the solutions will be just as complex," Brown said.

He added the federal goal for the river is to make it "swimmable and fishable." Points along the river are currently used for both purposes but many of the fish species are understocked and the river is not always safe for swimmers, he said.

Berry said clean-up committees have not determined where or how they will begin to tackle the problem, but June 7 Michigan residents will kick off the effort with a physical clean-up.

People from the 47 communities the Rouge passes through on its 126-mile journey will pitch in to help remove log jams and trash, like tires, from the river. The river passes through Oakland, Wayne and Washtenaw counties.

Bruce Monson, Rouge River Watershed Coalition of Governments director, said part of the current debate about the clean-up project centers on where to begin. One of the worst areas is the Hubbard-Southfield outfall near Dearborn. Of the six billion gallons of sewage drained annually into the river, between 1/2 and 1/2 comes from the Hubbard-Southfield outfall.

The other point being considered for beginning is the head waters in Novi and Plymouth. The argument for starting the project there is the head waters are not as polluted and would be easier to clean so the goal of being swimmable and fishable would be reached faster. Plus the head waters are downstream from the Hubbard-Southfield outfall. If the outfall is cleaned first pollution from the headwaters will wash down and re-pollute the already cleaned area.

Monson, Friends of The Rouge Director, said organizers are leaning toward cleaning the head waters first.

Wherever organizers decide to begin the cleaning, June 7 will mark the beginning of one of the first major clean-up efforts ever conducted on the Rouge.

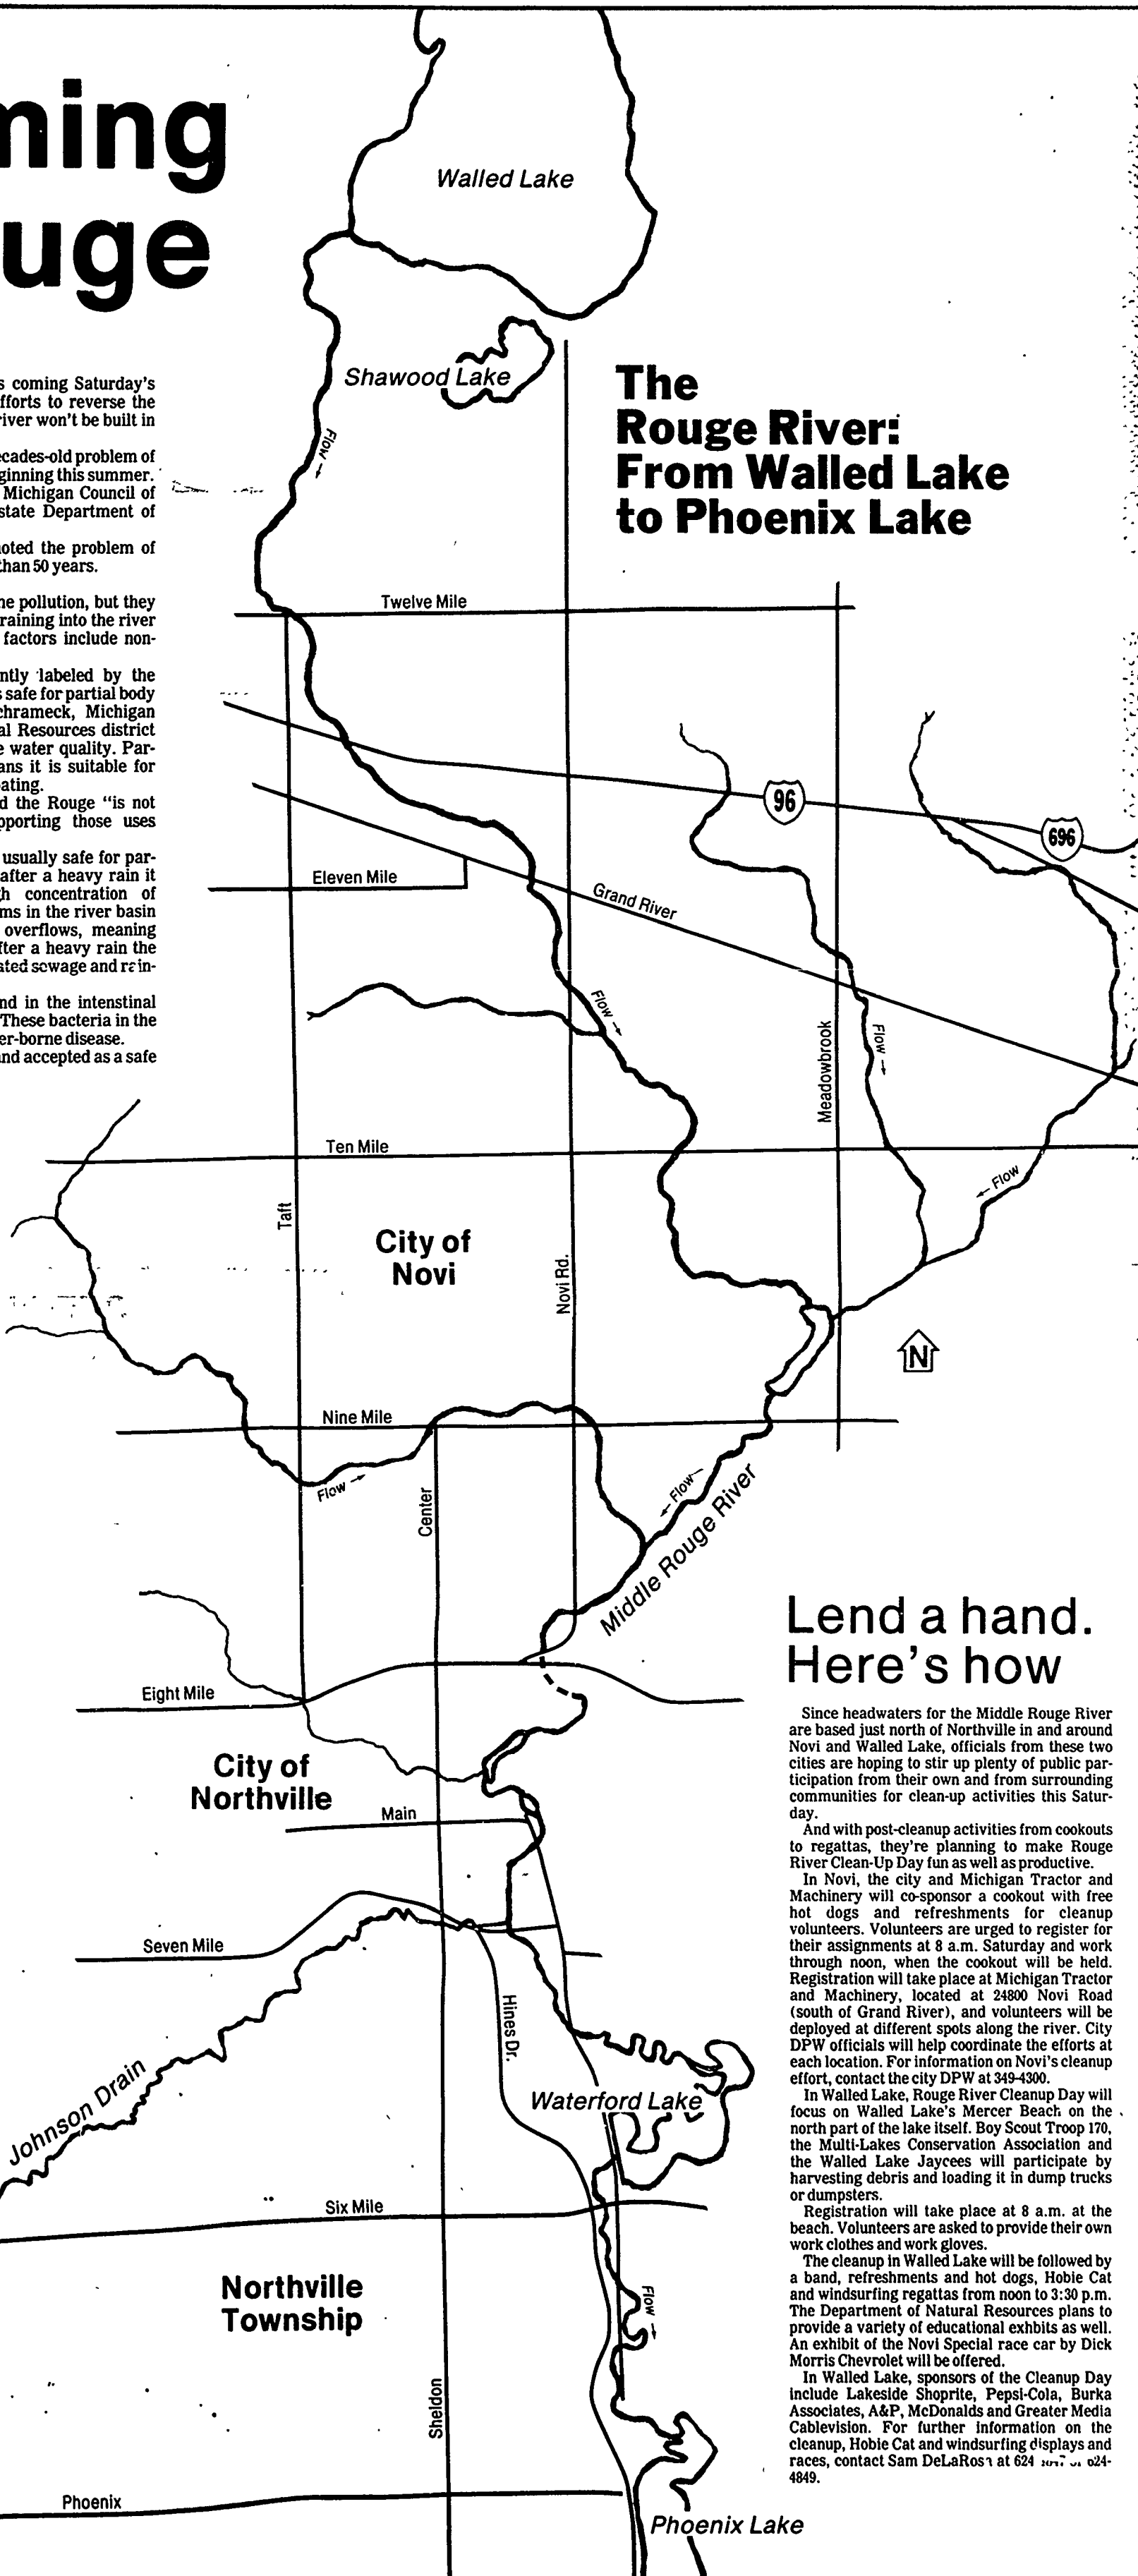

"Basically the river has not had anything significant aimed at it in years. It's just in dismal shape," Schrameck said.

Brown said the June 7 clean up may not improve water quality much but it will increase public awareness, one of the things necessary for maintaining the river after the 20-year program is finished.

"It may or may not have that much effect on water quality," Brown said.

He said removing log jams and other large debris will allow the water to move freely but the main benefit of the citizen involvement is garnering support for the long-term clean-up effort.

The Rouge River: From Walled Lake to Phoenix Lake

Lend a hand. Here's how

Since headwaters for the Middle Rouge River are based just north of Northville in and around Novi and Walled Lake, officials from these two cities are hoping to stir up plenty of public participation from their own and from surrounding communities for clean-up activities this Saturday.

And with post-cleanup activities from cookouts to regattas, they're planning to make Rouge River Clean-Up Day fun as well as productive.

In Novi, the city and Michigan Tractor and Machinery will co-sponsor a cookout with free hot dogs and refreshments for cleanup volunteers. Volunteers are urged to register for their assignments at 8 a.m. Saturday and work through noon, when the cookout will be held. Registration will take place at Michigan Tractor and Machinery, located at 24800 Novi Road (south of Grand River), and volunteers will be deployed at different spots along the river. City DPW officials will help coordinate the efforts at each location. For information on Novi's cleanup effort, contact the city DPW at 349-4300.

In Walled Lake, Rouge River Cleanup Day will focus on Walled Lake's Mercer Beach on the north part of the lake itself. Boy Scout Troop 170, the Multi-Lakes Conservation Association and the Walled Lake Jaycees will participate by harvesting debris and loading it in dump trucks or dumpsters.

Registration will take place at 8 a.m. at the beach. Volunteers are asked to provide their own work clothes and work gloves.

The cleanup in Walled Lake will be followed by a band, refreshments and hot dogs, Hobie Cat and windsurfing regattas from noon to 3:30 p.m. The Department of Natural Resources plans to provide a variety of educational exhibits as well. An exhibit of the Novi Special race car by Dick Morris Chevrolet will be offered.

In Walled Lake, sponsors of the Cleanup Day include Lakeside Shoprite, Pepsi-Cola, Burka Associates, A&P, McDonalds and Greater Media Cablevision. For further information on the cleanup, Hobie Cat and windsurfing displays and races, contact Sam DeLaRos at 624-4849.

The Northville Record

Our Opinions

Davis and Dunkerley best of qualified slate

Northville voters heading to the polls next Monday will decide among three strong candidates for two seats on the Northville Board of Education.

We are encouraged by the emergence of two qualified newcomers in this year's race. Both Joseph Dunkerley and Robert McMahon bring impressive credentials to their candidacy and have shown a strong commitment to serving their community.

That both are making their first bid for the board at the same time incumbent Glenna Davis is seeking reelection is disappointing. All deserve special recognition, but only two will win election next Monday.

As a five-year member of the board, GLENNA DAVIS deserves a second four-year term on the basis of her experience and commitment to the school community. Appointed to the board in 1981 — the same year Northville voters defeated a 9.5 millage renewal — Davis earned the respect of fellow trustees and the citizenry through her patience and accessibility to residents. We have not forgotten that she was among those who encouraged greater communication between the school board and its constituents and supported the formation of citizens' committees to study future facility needs and the high school renovation.

Davis' involvement with the Michigan Media Project, the National Organization for Women and Project Peer has made her politically astute and has brought to the board a new dimension of credibility. We have been impressed with her leadership abilities as evidenced during her current tenure as board president. In a year fraught with disappointments, Davis has provided the leadership needed to guide the district through its difficulties.

Detroit's lawsuit waste of tax funds

The lawsuit filed by the city of Detroit against Northville and Plymouth townships regarding the announced intentions of the two townships to place vacant DeHoCo land on the tax rolls is nothing more than a attempt to spend Detroit taxpayers' dollars in a frivolous manner and to increase hostile feelings between the city and its suburban neighbors.

The suit, which has been brought before the Michigan Tax Tribunal, might be looked at in a different light if either of the two suburban communities had actually placed the property on the tax rolls. But as of now, that has not occurred. In fact, the matter is before the Michigan Tax Commission, the proper body to approve or deny tax exemption for the land in question.

Detroit has consistently contended since it closed DeHoCo the land on which the facility was located was used to train police officers for the city. But repeated visits to the site have failed to turn up any evidence of such use.

Choosing a second candidate to fill the seat being vacated by longtime trustee Karen Wilkinson is a more difficult task. Based on his nearly two-year commitment to serving the district as a concerned citizen, our endorsement goes to JOSEPH DUNKERLEY. He first appeared before the board in 1984 during the district's discussions regarding the closing of Cooke and Moraine. His initiative in compiling enrollment statistics not only provided the board with concrete data but also gave them insight into residents' concerns.

To his credit, Dunkerley has attended nearly all school board meetings over the past two years — a rarity in school board races. The norm has been for candidates to pop out of the woodwork only after announcing their intentions. If defeated, they vanish back into anonymity after the election. Dunkerley's presence at meetings combined with his membership on the middle school advisory committee and redistricting task force indicates his commitment to the district. We also believe his professional background could offer the board some needed insight in the years ahead.

While our nod goes to Dunkerley, we also were impressed by Robert McMahon. Though he does not have the experience of the other two challengers, he has offered some fresh ideas and could be a formidable contender in the future. If he is not elected Monday, we hope he will continue to contribute by serving on committees and attending board meetings.

As a final note, we hope that residents reciprocate the interest shown by the three residents vying for the school board by turning out at the polls Monday.

It was the lack of such evidence that led the Northville Township tax Board of Appeals to rule against Detroit in March and to clear the way for the state tax commissioner to rule on the issue. And it was that action which led to the board of appeals being named as a defendant in Detroit's suit.

We can only begin to guess how much money could have been saved had Detroit's legal department contacted Northville Township directly and asked the status of the property. Certainly a long-distance telephone call, even a person-to-person call, is cheaper than attorney's fees.

We have found township officials to be accessible in our dealings with them, and open in their comments. That is not the case with Detroit. Repeated phone calls to the legal department have met with unfilled promises of return calls.

There is no need to wonder why the city and suburbs continue to snipe at each other when incidents like this occur. The reason is all too plain.

Silly season's back

By Anita Crone

The silly season is upon us.

It's the time of year when candidates point fingers at one another and with increasing frequency insult the intelligence of the average and not so average voter, not to mention those who are trying to carry out the business of government or a school system.

A lot of the namecalling that occurs as an election draws nigh is to be expected. It is obvious some candidates believe the best way to state a position is to tear down an opponent's. But is that what politicking is all about? And with state and federal funds being given to candidates, is that what we want our tax dollars to be spent for?

It was not so long ago that an election was open season. No restrictions, other than common sense, were placed on candidates, and apparently there was no need to legislate behavior. But that was before dirty tricks became synonymous for electioneering.

Having been involved in campaigns, at one level or another since 1960, I have seen my share of America at its worst. I was in Ohio when speech notes were held hostage by the opposition and a state police trooper had to take time away from his duties to get the notes back because the opposition wouldn't return them on its own.

I have watched scheduled events fall flat because the other side aired a rumor that a really big name would be in a neighboring town at the same time an event was scheduled. And I have sat in the office here, while the school reporter sits with a telephone to her ear, listening to people tell tales on candidates.

Some of those tales have proven not only to be newsworthy, but have actually helped to make the voters better informed. But all too often candidates who file for election feel that now is the time to get involved.

If a candidate is really concerned about a school budget, let that candidate sit in on meetings to watch the budget being formulated. A public hearing is not the time to question how a budget is made. Nor is it the time to question a text book purchase. Those issues have been previously decided.

What about a candidate is to be considered fair game during an election? Certainly a voting record, which is public information, can be called into question. And certainly the veracity or falsehood of the image a candidate projects should be able to be called into question. And there is no question that voters should be informed about whether a candidate has a criminal record. Most importantly, voters must demand to know whether a candidate meets minimum qualifications for the office in question.

That's where the line of rationality comes into play. It does not matter whether the candidate voted Republican or Democratic in a national election if he or she is running for school board. It should matter whether the candidate took the time to vote in school elections.

If a candidate is running for the state's highest office, it should make a difference as to how that candidate handled his or her business's fiscal affairs. It may or may not matter if he had private affairs.

It is not surprising, unfortunately, that some candidates think the voters are dumb or just don't care. All too often candidates' nights are ignored and people seem more interested in gossip and scandal than in records of accomplishments. But for those of us who do care, keep beating us over the head with truthful verifiable information. We need to exercise our minds in this silly time of year.

After the Fact

By Phil Jerome

Ahh, back to work.

Yes, folks, I'm back. Just returned from a two-week vacation that included a trip to the Windy City where we did the tourist bit, visiting the art museum, aquarium, zoo and various other places of cultural interest.

I even went to a play, for crying out loud. See, I told you I was a semi-cultured kind of guy.

I'm always a bit reluctant to admit to having been gone for any length of time. Seems that such an admission creates an irresistible urge among local ways to make clever comments about my absence.

"Oh, that explains why the paper has been so much better the last couple of weeks." You know, that kind of thing.

I suffer their gentle gibes graciously, partly because it's my nature and partly because I can usually use the really good ones for upcoming column material.

At any rate, I'm back and seem to be recovering nicely from my annual bout of post-vacation blues. It always takes me about a week to catch up with everything that's been going on. It's one of the reasons I'm reluctant to go on vacation in the first place.

I did return to one piece of good news. Despite the skepticism of the staff, the response to my request for calls from ladies who can still wear their wedding dresses has been very nice. I told 'em it would work . . . that ladies who can still wear their wedding dresses are darn proud of themselves.

The task now is to sort through all the responses and develop a page that will give credit to the ladies who called.

We did get one complaint; however. Some fellow, whose identity I quickly determined, called in to accuse us of being sexist. "I can still wear the tuxedo I got married in," he said. "How come only the women get the credit?"

Tennis, anyone?

By Neil Geoghegan

Nearly six years back, while playing intramural football at Michigan State, a fluke knee injury ended my days of very strenuous athletic competition in a hurry. I didn't know it at the time, but those days were over.

I tried to return to the vigors of three on three basketball games, racquetball matches at OCC and snow football — but it was never the same. First, I tried to come back too soon and reinjured the knee. After surgery (and I mean real surgery, not the picnic they now call a scope), I never regained what my previously healthy left leg once had.

Not to say I was a track star or anything. But the weakened leg slowed me down to a crawl compared to what I once was. Lateral movement was slow and awkward, straight forward running was a glorified limp. My rehabilitation included work on a Cybex machine, the same machine that Kirk Gibson is using to get his ankle back into shape, but I could only get the strength back to about 90-percent.

And the biggest problem was mental. As a righthanded person, in basketball I usually jumped off my left leg — but not anymore. When I finally went back on the court, subconsciously the left leg wasn't used. I either jumped with both legs or just the right, and I always made the cuts with the good leg. The excruciating pain that came whenever I reinjured the leg had imprinted something on my mind — do whatever you have to to avoid another injury.

It took a few years, but I realized that my love for hoops and racquetball and football would have to be fulfilled through passive participation — you know, T.V. I then set out to find the sports I could play, ones that wouldn't be as much a threat to the knee. Croquet, chess, cards, darts and pool were the first to come to mind — but I wanted something more strenuous, something that could break out the sweat. I mean, the only person who sweats playing pool is Minnesota Fats, and that's because he sweats all the time anyway.

Actually the choices were rather simple. Tennis and golf had always been fun to play, but I hadn't had much experience with the two. As a competitive person, I have this inborn drive to excel in any type of contest, so it was hard on me to take up two new sports and bumble around like so many uncoordinated people I used to snicker at. To this day, golf is still a sport that I can satisfy myself by saying, "I just play for fun — I'm no good." But with tennis, I am getting better, and my expectations are much higher.

If I blow a very rare putt for par, I am disgusted — but I can laugh at my incompetence. In tennis if I miss an easy volley or double fault, I am furious with myself. The game is so darn frustrating and so different from a game like golf.

In tennis, you are competing directly against an opponent. In golf you play with other people and compare scores at the end. And I think this is where all the problems lie. Golf is a mental game just like tennis, but how often do you see a professional golfer going through the agony a losing pro tennis player goes through?

Is it just a coincidence that all the nasty athletes pick tennis and all the well mannered ones go with golf. No, it's the nature of the sport. Tennis sometimes gets a bad name because viewers often don't realize the tremendous pressure, stress and frustration that always seem to go hand in hand with competitive tennis. The majority of the people who say, "that McEnroe or that Connors are nothing more than spoiled brats," have never really played the game. For those who have, it is very easy to understand what they are going through.

That's not to say golf isn't frustrating or pressure packed — it's just not tennis.

This was a great day, combining (mayor's exchange) with our city appreciation day dinner. However, the change in the program format combined with Mayor's Exchange Day did not allow us to include the introduction of all the people present. They are all appreciated and not forgotten. We are sorry that this change in the format disappointed some of the guests present.

Mustangs share Division crown

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

After making a hasty exit from the state tournament, the Northville baseballers really needed something to end the season on a positive note.

How about a share of the WLA Western Division? As it turned out, that was just the remedy for a talented and successful Mustang team. With the division title hanging in the balance, Northville destroyed Livonia Churchill 12-1 on May 27 to tie Livonia Franklin with an 8-2 mark against other division opponents.

The win also moved the home team into sole possession of second place in the 12-team conference (11-4 record), two games behind first-place John Glenn and a half game in front of Franklin. A strong push in the last half of the campaign gave the Mustangs a fine overall mark of 14-8 including wins in six of the final eight games.

"This sure was a nice way to end the season," Coach Bob Frellick said. "Everybody played well, came out hitting and just seemed to really want that share of the division championship."

Northville broke out of the gates in the first inning to go up 3-0 and then cruised the rest of the way behind brilliant pitching from Chris Dominique and hitting by Keith Dutkiewicz and Eric Terlecki. A Terlecki single opened the game. Dutkiewicz followed it up by driving him in with a double. Scott Peterson then walked, Paul Newitt singled and Mark Olsen drove them both in with yet another double.

In the third, the Mustangs strung together five consecutive hits, including a three-run homer by Dutkiewicz, to score seven more times and take a commanding 10-0 lead.

Dominique had a momentary lapse in the fourth and gave up two walks, a wild pitch and a hit which lead to Churchill's only run, but was nearly perfect the rest of the way. After Newitt scored in the fourth, Dutkiewicz wrapped up a 3-for-4 outing with another hit in the fifth and eventually scored to provide the final margin.

The line on Dominique was four hits, no earned runs and nine strike outs in seven strong innings of work. Terlecki also went 3-for-4 with two runs batted in and Olsen went 2-for-4.

"We had a chance to play a lot of players, and they all came through for us," Frellick pointed out. "Nine different batters had hits. It was just a fitting conclusion to a strong season."

"These kids committed themselves to doing the best they could. They kept the intensity up all year and came out ready to play every game — it is a tribute to their dedication."

Kickers among state's elite for fifth consecutive season

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

The Northville girls' soccer squad never seems to get much attention until the end of the season draws near.

It's not that the other teams don't know about the talented Mustangs, it's just that for some unexplained reason, Northville is a non-flashy bunch that always seems to gain momentum and emerge at season's end with one of the state's best teams — year in and year out. In the final state rankings, the Mustangs found themselves in third place, behind the two state finalists.

"I feel we have been in the running for the state title for the last five seasons, including this year," Coach Stan Smalec said. "We don't get much exposure or attention until the end of the season, but we have always cause a lot of headaches to other teams all during the year."

Livonia Churchill beat Troy Athens last Saturday at the Mustangs' own home field to win the '86 state title. Ironically, it was the Chargers who handed Northville its only regular season defeat this year and who knocked the team out of the title chase with a regional final win at Plymouth Salem on May 24.

"Every game in our regional is like a championship match because the level of play is so high in this area," Smalec said. "Anybody can go all the way, and I thought we also had a shot at it."

The 1987 season is already on Smalec's mind and for good reason. The Mustangs do not have a single senior on the roster which means every player, plus a few newcomers, will be back for another shot at the state championship. That fact may give Northville more preseason exposure, and Smalec will be glad to see it.

"It will do them good to know that others think they can do it," he pointed out. "This year there was a lot of internal pressure on us because the finals were at our home field. I don't think any more pressure will have an adverse effect."

"I've noticed that the Northville kids rise to the occasion against the good teams. They seem to sense when the competition gets better and they get better."

Tricia Ducker was a third team all state goalie in '85 as a sophomore and a lot was expected from her this season. In 20 games, Ducker surrendered just 13 goals (.65 per game), including 13 shutouts. Needless to say, Ducker rose up to the challenge. She was recently named a first team All-Stater and an All-Western Lakes Conference goaltender.

Joining Ducker as an All-Conference selection is another junior, Julie Anger, who was a catalyst on both offense and defense for the Mustangs. Michele Cross and Kim Fladding, two key cogs in the rock-solid Northville defense, were also named to the All-Western Division team. Jill Gallagher, Amy Spaman, Jenni Schuerman and Jodie Smalec received honorable mention.

"I'm pleased with what we got," Smalec declared. "Our defenders probably could have gotten more recognition, but there were so many good defenders in the league."

Schuerman, just a sophomore, paced the Northville attack in '86 with 15 goals, and Smalec was tied for third with nine. Freshman Karen Baird, who missed four games with ankle problems, was second with a dozen goals, and Robin Strunk was tied with Smalec in goals scored.

At the team banquet, Anger was honored as the team's Most Valuable Player, sophomore Jenni Stevens received the Most Improved Award while Ducker and Beth Swayne were the co-winners of the Academic Award. Both Ducker and Swayne have a 3.83 grade point average.

"The defense was a pleasant surprise right from the start. They jelled right away and held the shots down from last year."

Smalec saw some very encouraging trends this past season — trends that indicate improvement. The team's goal totals improved for the third straight year from 68 in '85 to 76 in '86, while the shots allowed dropped from over 200 to just 146.

"Needless to say, we are very excited about next year," Smalec said.

ALL-STATE PERFORMER — Northville's junior goaltender Tricia Ducker was named a first team All-State soccer player last Sunday by the Michigan State Coaches Association. Ducker received the seventh highest vote total in the state and was a key defensive player for the Mustangs in 1986. Ducker, who was named to the All State third team last season as a sophomore, recorded 13 shut outs in 20 games and had a goal per game average of under one. "It's recognition (Ducker) should have had sooner but her youth has held her back," Northville Coach Stan Smalec said. "You also have to give some credit to the defense that played in front of her — and Tricia would be the first to tell you that."

Northville's collegiate baseball entry opens season

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

Tom Holzer Ford, the Northville entry in the Livonia Adray League, played the first contest of a 30-game season last weekend. It's a team built around a young nucleus of players formed by co-coaches Bob Peterson and Fred Schmidt last season.

Even though over half the team played on the Northville entry last year, it's possible that a good portion of the players will have to think twice when asked the name of their team. Yes, it's Tom Holzer Ford, but quite a few have just gotten used to being Chippewas. That's because half a dozen players on the roster played for Central Michigan University just this spring. There are also players from the University of Detroit, Michigan State and Hillsdale.

"Last season we had only three college players and 15 from high school," Schmidt said. "This year 13 are from college and only four from high school."

Both Peterson and Schmidt realize the importance of a veteran team in the strong Adray League, but, in reality, the switch to college talent is nothing more than a lot of high school players from a year ago who have moved up to the college level.

"Even though there are a lot more college players, we are still very young compared to some of the others," Schmidt said. "All six players from CMU were redshirted freshmen and of our seven pitchers, not a single one is 20 years old yet."

Heading in, it appears Tom Holzer is long on talent, short on maturity and a mixture of experience. Of the starting group, up the middle is very strong, the whole infield is solid defensively and a few power hitters dot the line-up. As usual pitching looks to be the main center of focus.

"The big question is our pitching," Schmidt pointed out. "Is our pitching good enough to win at this level?"

"We are young and maturity makes a big difference. Overall, we stack up talent-wise, but the big concern is pitching."

Four returnees from '85 will form the heart of the rotation. Northville High's top hurler last year, Chris Willerer, is the ace of the staff. At Hillsdale this spring Willerer was the No. 2 pitcher in the rotation. Last season for Northville Collegiate, he had a 5-1 record and a 2.50 earned run

"We are young and maturity makes a big difference at this level. Overall, we stack up talent-wise, but the big concern is pitching."

— Holzer Coach Fred Schmidt

average as an 18 year old.

Northville resident and CMU freshman Greg Ryba is also back. Ryba, a graduate of Redford Catholic Central, is also a fine hitter and outfielder. He was named to the Adray All-Star team with a .290 batting average in '85 and was the team leader in homers and RBIs.

The other two returning arms are Mark Persall and Chris Dominique. Persall, a recruit from Windsor, Ont., will likely be the top reliever, and Dominique, who just completed a fine high school career for Northville, will be a long reliever early and a spot starter as the season progresses.

New pitchers include Dan Kopit-ske, Chris Stout and Troy Connors. Kopitske, an All-Stater from Grosse Pointe South last year and pitcher for U-D this year, is the likely candidate for third starter. Stout was a red-shirted frosh from MSU and Connors is another CMU hurler.

One of the big recruiting coups was nabbing catcher Kevin Ritter, who is likely to start for the Chippewas next year. The 19-year old played on the Utica 17-18 year old team that won the National Championship (along with Kopitske and Stout) and is a power hitter with a great arm.

Teamed with Ritter to supply most of the power is big (6-4, 220) Darren Genereau, a firstbaseman and graduate from Royal Oak Kimball.

Genereau is slated to hit in the cleanup spot.

Returnee Tom Cotter hit .300 last season and is a consistent fielding secondbaseman and will again be teamed with slick-fielding Eric Engel at shortstop. Engel, a leader and fine athlete from Hope College, is considered the league's finest defensive shortstop, and batted .250 in '85.

Scott Peterson, another player who just recently ended his high school career with the Mustangs, is very solid in the field. He is very young but has yet to prove he can hit at this level. Both coaches believe he is a solid player for the future and will probably stay with him all season long.

Two outfield spots are set. Northville native Rob Cannon will lead the attack at the plate but needs work defensively in left field, while Scott Draper is just the opposite. Draper is one of the top defenders in the league, has the most athletic ability on the team, but hasn't been a big threat at the plate. Draper, a demon on the bases, stole 34 last season and batted .275.

Jeff Bainbridge and Martin Eddy are the two candidates for rightfield, and Schmidt said that both will see plenty of playing time. Bainbridge led Northville high with four homers in '86 while Eddy is another prized recruit. Playing for Macomb Junior College this spring, Eddy lead the state champs in hitting, homers and RBIs.

"We play an aggressive game — we like to run," Schmidt said. "I expect us to be decent. Last year we won 13 out of 30 games so this year we expect to be over 15 wins this time around."

"Realistically, we are probably a year away, but we have the talent. If the pitching really comes around, you never know. We can be competitive with anybody."

Schmidt said he expects Walters Appliance to be the pre-season favorite with Livonia Adray and Redford Little Caesars in the next echelon.

In the team's season opener on May 30, Walters pulled out an 8-6 win despite a valiant comeback bid by Tom Holzer. Dan Kopitske was roughed up in three innings of work

Winless year didn't stop girls' trackers

Making it through a winless season is probably the most difficult thing an athletic team will ever have to do. Many times, the squad becomes disenchanted, uninterested and loses all confidence and the will to continue.

But the Northville girls' track team is different. Yes, the Mustangs failed to win a dual meet in '86 and placed last out of 12 teams at the May 28 WLAA championships — but they never once quit or gave up.

"The girls gave it everything they had," Coach Mike Webb said. "They never stopped one minute and were always out there giving it their all and trying to win."

"It's so easy to sit back and say 'we're going to lose anyway so why even try.'"

It wasn't a big surprise to Webb that Northville only placed (top six) twice and scored just nine points, more than 10 points behind Livonia Churchill, the 11th placed team. After all, the Mustangs went 0-6 against league opponents during the regular season.

"I figured we'd be at the bottom because we were going up against good competition," Webb pointed out. "I wasn't disappointed though — we had 13 individuals who bettered their season best times. All four relays had season bests.

"It was the best effort of the season for us as far as times go. It showed that the girls didn't give up and bettered themselves as the season progressed."

The Mustangs 800-meter relay team of Kristi Lenaghan, Karen Stinson, Kris Marrone and Erin Holmberg sliced 3.6 seconds off the team's previous best time to place fourth overall. The only other top six finish was Stinson in the 400-meter dash. Her time of 1:03 topped her previous record by a second and was good for sixth place.

Steady Anne Griffith didn't score any points but put forth some great efforts in the mile, two mile and as a member of the mile relay. Griffith was seventh in the mile (5:38) and shaved seven seconds off her old best time, and was seventh in the two mile (10:29, an improvement of four seconds. She then teamed with Pam Cavanaugh, Sue Blanchard and Jennifer Goshorn for a 25-second improvement in the mile relay (10:29).

Other highlights were personal records by sophomore Robin McDuffie in the 400 (1:04.8), Marrone in the 300-meter hurdles (52.5) and Holmberg in the 200 (28.7).

Fish without license

Michigan's sport fishermen and women will be getting a break this weekend. They won't need a license to fish.

The Department of Natural Resources has designated June 7 and 8 as free fishing days; so residents and nonresidents alike will be able to fish without the licenses. However, DNR Director Gordon Guyer notes they must abide by the same fishing rules and regulations normally required of license holders.

"We hope that many individuals and families who might otherwise not have had the opportunity to fish will become involved in fishing these two days and ultimately support recreational fishing through their continued interest," Guyer said.

Nine states, including Michigan, have authorized free fishing days.

Holzer wins 2 of 3

for five runs and seven costly walks, and Walters grabbed an early 4-0 lead.

But in the third inning, Troy Conners smacked a two-run single to cut the lead to 4-2. After Walters added four more in the fifth, Holzer rebounded with four of their own to cut it to 7-6. Martin Eddy, Darren Genereau and Kevin Ritter all had RBI hits in the inning.

Walters relief pitcher Tom George, then came in and shut out Holzer until the sixth inning when the game was suspended because of curfew.

Two days later, Holzer swept a twinbill from West Bloomfield and ended the first week of action with a 2-1 record and in second place. West Bloomfield forfeited the opener and fell 10-2 in the nightcap. The big inning for the Northville entry was an eight-run fourth inning that broke open a 2-2 tie.

Eddy slammed a 370-foot homer with a man on while Eric Engel, Tom Cotter, Scott Peterson and Scott Draper also drove in runs during the big inning.

Chris Willerer went five innings, gave up five hits and just one walk, and notched the win.

Gerlach reflects on first season as softball coach

Nobody likes to put the blame on one group of performers following a sub-par season, but Mustang softball coach Bob Gerlach hasn't any choice.

Northville ended the season, its first under Gerlach with a 3-19 record, and even though the truth can sometimes hurt — pitching deficiencies were the main culprit. Gerlach is the first to point out that it is nothing personal against the members of his pitching staff — they just plain weren't effective. And it wasn't from a lack of effort or desire. It was the lack of two very important intangibles: experience and talent.

"If I was honest, I really think that, if we would have received better pitching, we could have won a lot more games," he admitted. "I didn't really have very high expectations heading into the season, but we didn't do as well as I thought we could.

"Pitching is so important and, if you don't have it, you're in trouble. Our team was not a 3-19 team. Maybe we weren't good enough to win half our games, but we had the talent to be better than our record shows."

Before the season began, Gerlach knew that pitching would be the team's downfall, but he thought that solid fielding and hitting could make up for it. He soon found it wasn't the case.

"We played as good a defense as anyone," Gerlach pointed out. "And we hit the ball well most of the season."

One of the few positive aspects of the season was that Northville won all three of its games against WLAA Western Division teams. And with a team of eight sophomores and four juniors, Gerlach can see a light at the end of a long dark tunnel.

"I like that," he quipped. "You want to win all your games, but the division games are the most important. That's the goal — to win your league. With the exception of (Livonia) Franklin, we felt we could stay with and even beat any of the other teams in our division."

The big loss next season will be the departure of senior Chris McGowan. The spunky catcher was always right in the middle of every Mustang scoring threat and was the soul of the strong defense behind the plate.

"You can't replace a McGowan," Gerlach said. "She isn't a power hitter but led our team in hitting and always found ways to get on base. As a catcher, she was just great. She had tremendous agility and blocked just about everything with her body."

Two more seniors who will be missed are Julie Kaestner and Michelle Siemasz. Both struggled early at the plate but came on strong the last half of the season and were especially strong fielders. Kaestner was named the team defensive MVP at the end of season banquet last Thursday while junior slugger Sue Schrader was named the offensive MVP.

"I'm looking forward to next year because we do have a lot of good talent coming back," Gerlach said. "We never once plugged in a younger player just to build for the future because I am only concerned with the season at hand. I never looked ahead, we used the best players available, but now that the season is over, I'm looking ahead and I see a lot more experience."

Michelitch ousted at state meet

Northville's top tennis player, Terry Michelitch, made a quick exit from the state championships in Midland last weekend, but he was in a very select group of talented players.

Only 34 No. 1 singles players qualified for the state meet, and Michelitch was one of them. In his opening match, Michelitch fell to Flint Carmen's Mark Restiner 3-6, 4-6 and was promptly eliminated, but Mustang Coach Dick Norton wasn't disappointed.

"We are still very pleased with the season Terry has had," Norton said. "It's really an honor and a great accomplishment just to get that far."

Restiner advanced to round two and had to go up against the defending state champ Chris Walker from Grand Rapids Creston, the tournament's number one seed.

In the first set, it was tied at 3-3 with both players on serve, but Michelitch was having trouble getting his first service in. In the seventh game, Restiner broke serve and then coasted in with the set.

"Terry had trouble with his first serve and that spells trouble for a player that likes to serve and volley," Norton said.

Restiner broke Michelitch one time in the second set, and that was enough to pull out a 6-4 win and the match.

League Line

BASEBALL: Padres pound Giants

G-LEAGUE: The Padres scored five runs in the second and another five in the third inning and coasted to a 15-7 win over the Giants on May 20. Joe Stankis paced the Padres attack with three doubles while Kevin Shaw went 2-for-3 on the day. Stankis also pitched three innings, struck out six and recorded the win. The Padres scored all seven of their runs in the first two innings and held on the rest of the way for a 7-2 victory over the Reds May 21. Aaron Hodgkin belted a homer and drove in two for the Astros. Tim Petrosky pitched three scoreless innings to get the win. The Expos slipped by the Braves 6-3 behind the pitching and hitting of Brendan Noth on May 22. Best pitched a five-hitter to notch the win and had two hits and drove in the winning run. The Giants recorded their first win of the season May 22. Jim Luebeck pitched three scoreless innings in the 15-6 win over the Reds. Mike Dorrington and Brandon Datzel had three hits apiece for the Giants and Dorrington drove in five runs. The Pirates went 4-0 on the season with a 13-3 triumph over the Giants on May 23. The Pirates came from a 3-0 deficit to score three in the second, five in the fourth and four in the sixth. The Padres overcame an early rally by the Expos to win 9-4 on May 23. Joe Stankis was the winning pitcher. Brendan Noth suffered the loss.

H-LEAGUE: John Wilds, David Morelli and Ross Flemming combined for the shut out as the Reds downed the Mets 4-0. Jeremy Johnson had a key two-run double to open the scoring for the Reds. David Horning and Ben Patel pitched very well for the Mets. The Reds then rallied from behind to trip the Phillies 11-4. James Heiter paced the Reds' attack with four hits. The Expos trounced the Phillies 17-3 on May 19 behind some excellent pitching by Ken Rebbholz. The Expos scored at least three runs in each of the first four innings, led by Matt Popov, Chuck Sweeney, Andy Genitti and Erik Gustaf.

SOFTBALL: Gems pull out 8-5 win

GIRLS INTERMEDIATE: The Gems needed five runs in the fifth inning to pull out a close 8-5 win over the Liberties on May 12. Rozann Stankis and Allison Downs had two hits each for the Liberties. But on May 14, the Liberties turned it around with a 14-2 clobbering of the Aztecs. Laura Apigian had four hits and scored three runs for the winners. The Sunbirds fell to the Falcons 10-4 thanks to some fine hitting by Nancy Ballard and Elizabeth Lamb. Kris Fortenberry was a perfect 3-for-3, but it was in a losing cause for the Sunbirds. The Liberties went 3-1 with a 15-8 win over the Travellers on May 21. Laura Apigian, Cathy Best and Heather Salgot each had a pair of hits for the Liberties. The Liberties followed with a 15-4 clubbing of the Sunbirds on May 21. Laura MacDuff drove in three runs and Allison Downs had three hits for the Liberties.

GIRLS PRIMARY: The Sunbirds and Liberties each scored four runs in the fifth inning to break a scoreless tie, but the Sunbirds added three more in the next inning for a 7-4 win on May 20. Jennifer Hayden went 3-for-3 and Molly McLoud 2-for-2 for the Sunbirds, and Krista Hurst was the winning pitcher.

Boys' track team places 11th in WLAA

Farmington Harrison nipped Northville during a regular season dual meet which ultimately deprived the Mustang boys' track team of a win in the WLAA this season.

Harrison was the only team Northville could really stack up with, and once that chance was gone, the Mustangs went 0-6 against league opponents. But at last Wednesday's (May 28) Conference Championships at Livonia Churchill, Northville gained a small measure of revenge by scoring eight points and slipping past Harrison and avoiding a last place finish in the 12-team competition.

Top six finishes in two events were all the Mustangs could muster, but the Hawks managed just one. Coach Paul Osborn wasn't ecstatic with the performance, but he was pleased with a large portion of season and personal best records.

"This meet was really no different from any of our other meets," he said. "We can't keep up with a lot of these teams, but we went in with a positive attitude."

"I'm proud of them because they put a good effort forth and showed a lot of heart. It's very difficult to keep up with teams like Canton and Salem."

Jeff Harp, who was struggling to better his times in the half mile earlier in the season, rose to the occasion and placed fourth with a personal record of 2:00. It counted for four points, and Tim Millen's fourth in the 300-meter low hurdles provided another four and enabled Northville to avoid last place. Millen ran a personal record time of 41.4. Harp was also a member of the two mile relay squad that didn't place but sliced a full 15 seconds off its previous best time. John Frisbee, John Gird and Steve Brooks teamed with Harp for a time of 8:04 with Harp's split a fine 2:00 again.

"That's positive for those young kids," Osborn explained. "We didn't do well as a team, but we sure improved from the beginning of the year."

Milford firm can supply party 'hot tubs'

By JULIE MURDOCK BROWN

Larry and Annette Chain want to get you in hot water, and if you can't come to them, they will come to you.

They own Custom Creations Unlimited at 7009 E. Highland Rd. in Milford. The shop sells, installs and in some cases rents hot tubs, saunas, portable spas and jetted bathtubs. Also offered are pools and pool chemicals, tanning beds and greenhouses.

But the most unusual feature of their business is a mobile hot tub unit, a kind of hot tub party on wheels.

"My husband came up with the idea of customizing a 38 feet long, fully enclosed trailer," Annette said. "Inside the trailer is a 5-foot-by-4-foot hot tub, a 6-foot-by-8-foot sauna, a wet bar, lounging area and even a small dance floor."

The trailer can be rented for parties, promotions, anniversaries and honeymoons. Rates vary throughout the week, but the cost for a 24-hour period on Friday, Saturday or Sunday would be approximately $175.

"We will deliver it and set it up just about anywhere within reason," Annette said. "All we need are two separate electrical outlets and a water supply."

The trailer will hold about 20 people and the sauna inside holds eight. When asked how many people will fit into the hot tub, Annette laughed.

"I would say six, comfortably," she said. "But my husband says up to 15 people will fit."

The mobile unit also is used as a secondary showroom for the store's product lines. On display in the shop itself are portable spas, saunas, hot tubs and jetted bathtubs.

The portable spa provides a bubbling, hot water massage and is available in several sizes and shapes, including round, octagonal and rectangular. It can be installed permanently, inside or outside, but also functions as a freestanding unit.

"You can just take it home, it fits through any standard door, plug it in and add water," Annette said.

The Chains got interested in the hot tub business six years ago. Larry, a carpenter, contractor, builder and designer, responded to an advertisement for dealers to distribute hot tubs.

He originally worked out of their home in Detroit. They moved to Drayton Plains in March 1985 and later that year bought a house in Highland, where they live with their four-and-one-half month old daughter, Nicolette.

They decided to go into business full-time and opened Custom Creations Unlimited in February 1986.

"We chose this location for the shop because it's a very busy area," Annette said.

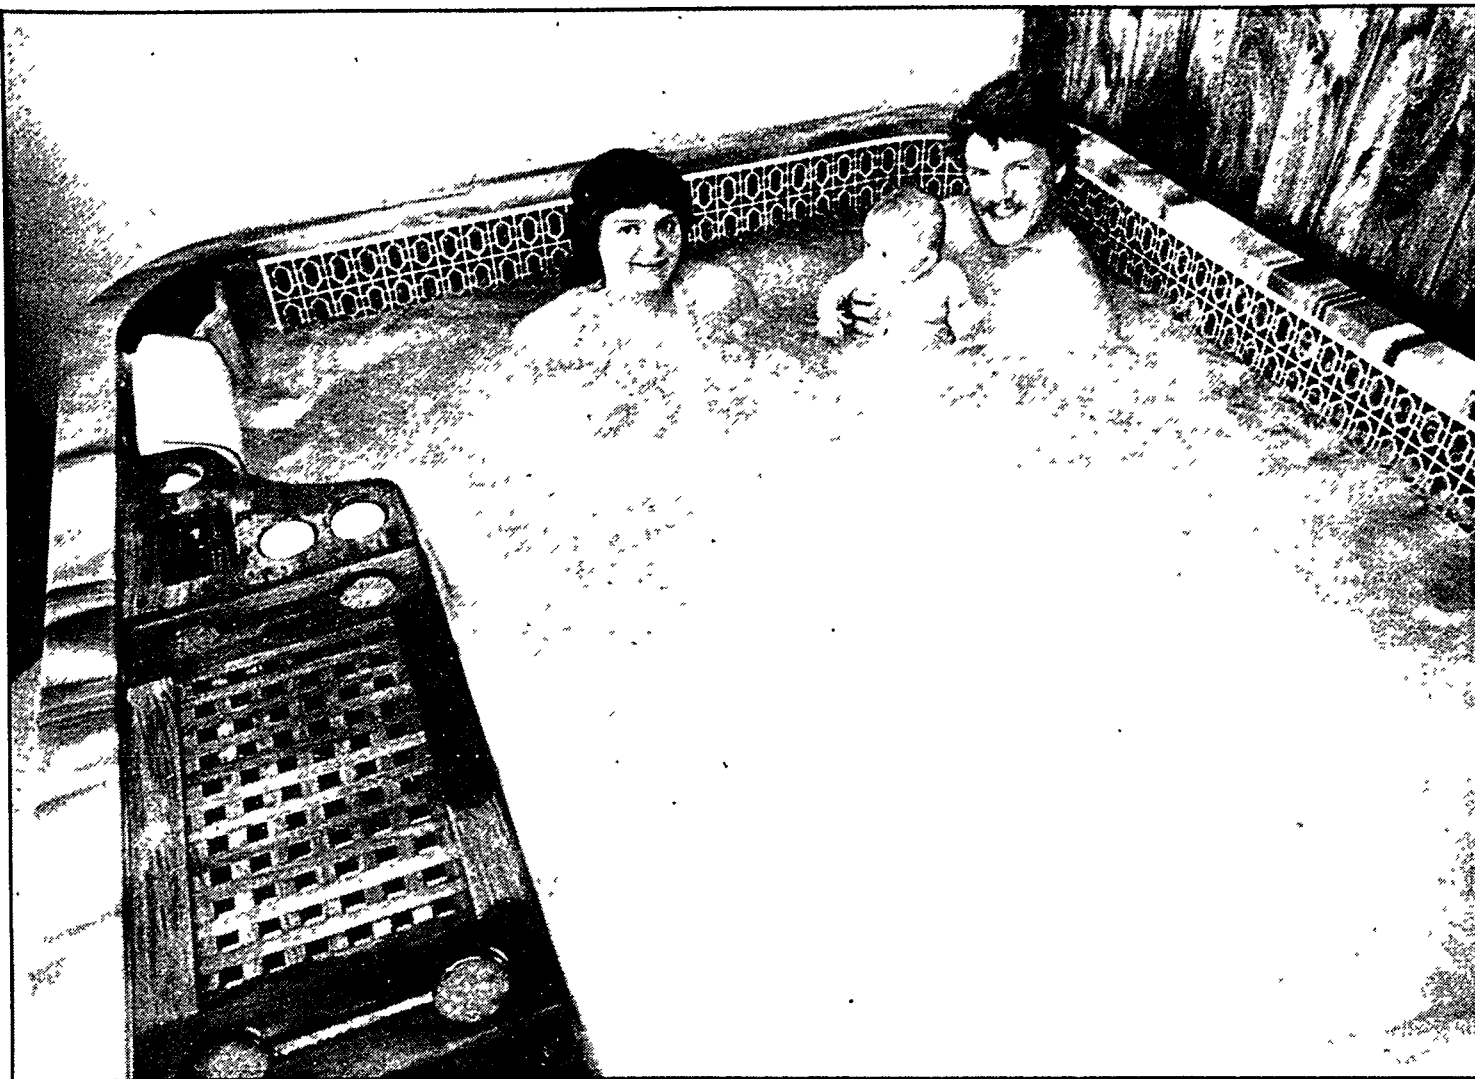

They work with individuals and also offer special discounts to builders. Most customers prefer to have their saunas, hot tubs and spas installed, but some purchase kits and install their own.

The saunas range in size from 4-foot-by-4 feet to 12-foot-by-12 feet and hold from two to 10 people. One variation is a free-standing unit that looks like a wooden barrel tipped on its side.

In addition to the regular line of products, the Chains design and build wood decks and fences, solar rooms, additions and store fronts. They also install in-ground swimming pools and can place orders very quickly. And, for anyone who is trying to get or maintain a suntan, the shop carries a tanning bed that is practical and reasonably priced for individuals.

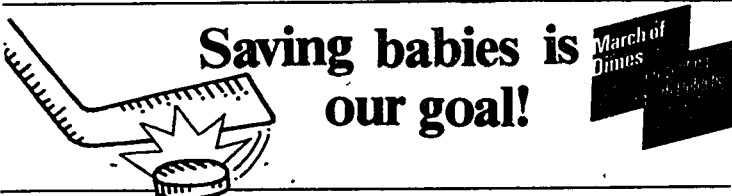

"We have different specials every month," Annette said. "Last month we offered a free cover with the purchase of any spa."

Without a doubt, the Chains have added another twist to the world of entertainment.

Here are five ways to establish credit

Money Management

Whether used as convenience, a budget-stretcher, or a necessity, most of us rely on credit. But if you are just starting out or have never established credit in your own name, doing so may take some planning and a little discipline. The Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants cites five basic steps to build and maintain a solid credit rating.

Good credit is not very difficult to achieve. In most cases, all you need is a steady income and a record of paying bills on time. Who maintains this record? The consumer credit reporting industry, which processes more than 150 million credit reports each year, maintains information ranging from your name, address, occupation and earnings to your marital status, moving habits and employment record. It also keeps records of previous loans and repayment patterns.

When a bank or other lender processes your loan application, it decides if you are a good credit risk based heavily on information kept by a credit bureau. The lender considers how you are likely to perform as a borrower, your ability to repay and your tangible assets. Then the lender assigns a favorable or unfavorable credit rating.

credit rating.

Here are five ways to establish credit and build a history of creditworthiness:

□ Acquire a department store credit card. When shopping at the local department store, fill out a charge account application. If your income is verifiable and you meet the store's credit requirements, expect a card in the mail. If you already have a joint account, point out that you now want to establish a separate account. Try the larger department stores first since they are likely to subscribe to a credit reporting agency. Pay your bills on time and the agency will duly record prompt repayment. You might also apply for a charge card at a gas station, as well as at other retail outlets.

□ Open a savings and checking account. While you are beginning to build a good credit rating at the department store, open a checking or savings account. Doing so will not actually establish credit, but it will demonstrate ability to manage money. It will also give you an opportunity to develop a good relationship with the same bank which later could grant you credit.

□ Sign-up for an overdraft checking account. A checking account is a useful safeguard that will protect you if you overdraw your account. The bank will cover the overdraft from the approved line of credit, then repay itself by taking the amount from your checking account. You also have the option of repaying the bank quickly in one lump sum, thus minimizing interest charges. This type of account will also protect your good name in case any of your checks are returned and will allow you to borrow money simply by writing a check. Be careful not to abuse this feature.

□ Apply for a bank charge card. Relatively low interest rates have lately encouraged more Americans to borrow money and many banks and savings and loans seem anxious to loan that money through charge cards such as MasterCard or VISA. This is good news for those needing to establish credit. Banks usually require several credit references before extending this type of credit. In most instances, banks also require that you've been employed for a least one year — preferably in the same company.

Bank charge cards have real value in building credit because a bank's credit standards are more stringent than those of retail stores. Also, credit transactions listed with the bank's credit reporting agency will go a long way in helping you document your credit history.

□ Make an installment loan. An unblemished report of prompt installment loan payments (monthly payments) will be a vital part of your credit history and will improve your chances of gaining future credit. As is true for any borrowed money, make sure you use the money wisely.

Whether you borrow a large or small amount, the key is to create a good payment record at the credit reporting agency and at the bank. And to do so in your own name.

These taxes finance state road, bridge work

The State of Michigan will spend over $1 billion in 1986 to repair and maintain the state's roads, highways, bridges and public transportation systems. Most of the revenues for such projects come from the 15 cents per gallon gasoline tax. Since gasoline prices have been plummeting in the last months, does this mean that people will use more gas, create more revenues from the gas tax and therefore generate more road repair?

Unfortunately, that will not be the case, according to Michigan's Office of Revenue and Tax Analysis (ORTA). Studies in recent years have found that gas consumption stays the same as prices fluctuate. People usually don't change their driving habits unless there is a drastic change in prices.

Combined with this is the fact that people now drive smaller, more fuel-efficient cars that use less gasoline. Even though people may drive more, their autos are using less gas than they did one year ago. Lower gas prices, therefore, will not make a drastic change in the amount of funds available for road maintenance and repair.

The state of Michigan tries to link the amount each taxpayer pays for transportation services with the taxpayer's use of those services. All revenues generated from transportation taxes go into the Michigan Transportation Fund (MTF). The largest contributor to the MTF is the gasoline tax. The intent is that payment of this tax should reflect the buyer's actual use of Michigan roads.

The second largest transportation-related tax is the annual fee we pay for vehicle license plates, known as the Motor Vehicle Registration Tax. For passenger vehicles purchased after September 30, 1983, the tax is based on the value of the vehicle with a four-year depreciation schedule. Heavier vehicles, such as trucks, are taxed according to weight of the vehicle, since heavier vehicles tend to cause more wear to roads than lighter passenger vehicles.

The three remaining taxes, which make up a smaller portion of the MTF, are the Diesel Fuel and Liquefied Petroleum Tax, which are both 15 cents per gallon of fuel sold, and the Motor Carrier Privilege Tax, which is an annual fee paid on commercial carrier vehicles such as busses and trucks.

The Michigan Transportation Fund is divided five ways. Ten percent of the MTF is put into the Comprehensive Transportation Fund (CTF). This fund provides grants for public transportation systems, transportation for the elderly and handicapped, and railroad systems. Public transportation, however, is only partially funded by the CTF; most funds come from user fees, local millages and federal grants. The CTF also receives a share of the 4 percent sales tax for auto-related items such as cars, car parts and auto repair supplies.

Five million dollars of the MTF is put into the Statutory Critical Bridge Fund, which is used to repair or replace bridges in Michigan. In addition, $3.5 million is allocated for maintenance and repair of the Mackinac Bridge.

The State Trunkline Fund, which funds the maintenance and construction of state highways and highway bridges, receives 39.1 percent of the remainder of the MTF revenues. At least 90 percent of the Trunkline funds are earmarked, by law, for maintenance; no more than 10 percent may be used on new construction. Another 39.1 percent of the MTF is allocated to the state's County Road Commissions for use on county primary and local road systems. Again, state law mandates that 90 percent be used for maintenance. Michigan's cities and villages share the remaining 21.8 percent of MTF revenues for use on local streets.

Cities and villages may use MTF funds for new construction only if MTF dollars are matched by local revenues.

For more information on how transportation services are funded or on other tax topics, send a self-addressed, stamped business envelope to the Michigan Tax Information Council, 115 W. Allegan, Suite 540, Lansing, MI 48933. The Michigan Tax Information Council is a nonprofit, nonpartisan educational organization designed to provide clear and timely information on Michigan's tax and spending policies.

Bill gives cooling-off time

Consumers who find themselves on the losing end of high pressure sales could benefit from legislation recently passed by the Michigan House.

House Bill 5408 would give consumers a three-day cooling off period during which they could revoke a contract binding them to purchase real estate, memberships or services totaling $500 or more.

The bill was prompted by cases in which Michigan consumers fell victim to high pressure sales tactics used to convince otherwise hesitant buyers.

What frequently happens in sales situations, specially for high-priced items, reports 36th District Representative Gerald H. Law, is that one person may be in the market for a product and the other is working for a commission. Sales persons may offer free gifts if the consumer buys, or say there are a limited number of a particular item left for purchase. In essence, they could create an atmosphere where it is difficult or impossible for the buyer to think about the pros and cons of the purchase.

Under this legislation, consumers have an adequate period to think about their purchase and make a more rational decision. A waiver provision may be utilized if the buyer so chooses.

Take a WILD RIDE

Forget the slow rides; get ready for some high-speed, tipsy-turvy, gut-wrenching fun

Story by Buddy Moorehouse

Merry-go-rounds? You can have 'em. Ferris wheels? Give me a break. Choo-choo trains? Please.

When it comes to amusement-park rides, you've got to go for the thrills. None of these wimpy little things that wouldn't frighten a church mouse.

We're talking about strapping yourself into a roller-coaster that screams along at break-neck speeds, whipping you around and around and upside down. We're talking about holding on tight as your tiny boat plunges down a 50-foot waterfall into a turbulent pool.

We're talking about thrill rides—roller-coasters and water rides and other such daredevil devices.

And if the ol' ticker can stand them, they're just about as much fun as you can have this summer. Thrilling amusement-park rides are sort of a safe way of courting danger—deep down, you know you'll survive the ride alive, but something inside still tells you that there's an element of danger involved.

Thrill-seekers in Michigan are lucky, because quite a few of these rides are just a few hours away. Travel less than five hours in almost any direction and you'll find yourself at an amusement park, ready to ride the rapids or careen along on a roller-coaster.

The closest amusement park to these parts is Boblo Island, located in the Detroit River south of Detroit. Board the boat in Motown and you'll be coaster-bound in less than two hours.

Boblo's scariest roller-coaster is the Screamer Corkscrew, which covers 2,388 feet on the island. This type of coaster loops around and then takes riders into a double helix—a "corkscrew." Corkscrew coasters have become very fashionable in the last 10 years, and the one at Boblo is among the best.

Another hair-raising ride at Boblo is the Falling Star, a 70-foot pendulum arc which plunges to Earth at more than two times the force of gravity. It's a wild feeling.

One of the most popular amusement parks among Michiganders is Cedar Point, a park in Sandusky, Ohio that features rides, rides and more rides.

Almost every year in the last decade or so, Cedar Point has added a major ride to its already impressive lineup. This year's addition is Thunder Canyon, a quarter-mile-long water ride.

A dozen riders are loaded into a round raft, and the adventure begins. Simulating a wild raft ride down the rapids, Thunder Canyon guarantees to drench anyone who dares hop aboard.

In 1978, Cedar Point debuted the Gemini, one of the fastest and scariest coasters around. The Gemini is a double racing coaster (two trains race each other around the track) which reaches speeds of 60 miles an hour. And at one point during the ride, you'd actually swear that a wooden beam is going to take your head off.

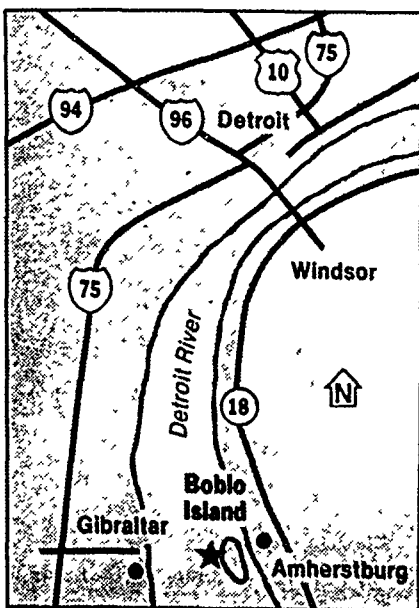

If you're in the mood for a more traditional coaster, try the Blue Streak, which

Take the plunge

You say you want to try some of these thrill rides for yourself? Take a look below and you'll find directions to the amusement parks, hours of operation, ticket prices and all the other pertinent info.

BOBLO ISLAND — take off on the popular Screamer Corkscrew roller coaster, new last year. The two trains, each with six cars allow 24 passengers at a time to scream through the 2,388 feet of twisting steel track. The 272-acre Boblo Island is located in the Lower Detroit River and has 35 rides.

Boblo is reached by two historic boats starting at 9:30 a.m. daily from Detroit docks with tickets (boat ride, admission and all amusement rides for one price) at $14.95 for ages 10 and up, $12.95 for 3-9 years. Senior citizens, 61 and over, are $12.95 Monday through Friday only. Four boats also leave the Gibraltar dock each day beginning at 10:30 a.m. with prices at $11.95 for 10 years and up, $10.95 ages 3-9 and $10.95 for seniors 61 and over.

The Detroit dock is reached by taking I-75 to the John Lodge (US-10) to West Jefferson, exit at the Joe Louis Arena parking garage, follow the signs. To go to the Gibraltar dock, take I-75 south to exit 29-A and go right on Middle Gibraltar Road for just over two miles, then left on North Gibraltar Road to the dock, follow the signs. Boats also leave Amherstburg, Ontario daily on a similar schedule.

KING'S ISLAND — ride the relentless Beast, the biggest, the baddest, and the longest wooden coaster in the world. Also take the challenge of King Cobra, a 'looping,' twisting, spine-tingling roller coaster you ride standing up. This is a theme park, located 24 miles north of Cincinnati, Ohio on I-75. Watch for King's Island signs. Opens 9 a.m. seven days a week from Memorial Day to Labor Day and selected weekends in April, May, Sept. and Oct. Tickets for those 7-61 years are $14.95 at the gate, children 3-6 are $7.25. Senior citizen rates available at the gate.

CEDAR POINT — try the triple-looping Corkscrew, a steel coaster which features an 85-foot first hill and reaches a speed of 50 miles per hour. Towering over the midway is the Demon Drop which offers riders a 10-story, free-falling plunge. The four-passenger cars travel from zero to 55 miles per hour in 1.8 seconds. On the Gemini, a racing coaster with a 125-foot-high first hill, the twin racers reach a speed of 60 miles per hour. And there is the new Thunder Canyon ride, a 1,600-foot raging river rapids ride. The white-water rafting ride includes waterfalls and rocky canyon walls with 900,000 gallons of fresh Lake Erie water pumped into the ride basin each day.

The amusement park is located at Sandusky, Ohio, midway between Cleveland and Toledo. Take I-80 east to exit 7 and follow the signs north on US-250. Gates open at 9 a.m. from May 24 to September 1 and on special weekends in May and September. Admission at the gate for ages 9-61 is $14.95; ages 4-8, $8.95. Senior citizens 62 and over are $9.95 at the gate (no discounted sales in advance for seniors).

GEAUGA LAKE — at Aurora, Ohio features a wild water complex with a two-million gallon wave pool, a six-foot tidal thunder wave and an undertow ending in a 60-foot water toboggan slide. Neptune Falls gives riders 1,200 feet of thrashing, dipping water shoots. Three daring roller coasters are aimed at thrill seekers.

The park is located across from Sea World at exit 13 off I-80, east of Cleveland. It is open from May 24 to Sept. 1 and special weekends. Hours are 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. on weekends and 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. weekdays. Admission is $10.95 at the gate for ages 4-60, three and under free. Special senior citizen rates available at the gate.

CANADA'S WONDERLAND — a sister park to King's Island is located north of Toronto. Thunder Run, a highballing coaster-train ride within a mountain that is the centerpiece of the park, opened in early May. Try one or all of the four fabulous, fast and furious roller coasters. The Dragon Frye flings riders into two 360-degree loops and a corkscrew. Sol Loco swings passengers 100 feet above the ground — upside down.

There are five theme areas in the 370-acre park located 10 minutes north of Toronto on Highway 400. From Detroit, take Highway 401 toward Toronto and turn north on Highway 400, exit at Rutherford Road and go east to the park entrance. The pay-one-price admission is $15.95 in Canadian funds.

The park is open daily at 10 a.m. June 4 through Sept. 5 and weekends from Sept. 10 through Oct. 9.

In Our Town

Gwen Frostic to address garden club

By JEAN DAY

The "busy season" is beginning for Louis Hopping. As a magistrate of the 35th District Court, he is getting calls from couples who would like him to tie their marital knots.

Louis and Helen Hopping moved into King's Mill cooperatives 14 years ago. They celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary in November, 1984, but the milestone has far from slowed them down.

A week ago Friday, Louis Hopping officiated at a wedding on the lawn behind their home. Helen Hopping says that many couples come to their front door asking to be married. The Hoppings willingly allow the ceremony to be performed in their living room or outdoors. He also officiates at weddings held in Mill Race Historical Village.

"I think our lawn is a nice setting," Helen Hopping observes, noting that it is well kept. She explains that the residence of the participants is not what is important: the requirement is that the ceremony be performed in the magistrate's jurisdiction. In this case, the 35th District Court includes Northville Township where their home is located, the City of Northville in which the Mill Race Village is located, Plymouth City and Township and Canton.

Helen Hopping often — as she did a week ago Friday — serves as witness. She even rounded up a neighbor to be the second witness for that most recent ceremony.

The Hoppings have had many different experiences as a result of his officiating at weddings. Mrs. Hopping recalls having a couple arrive in a limousine asking to be wed. After a ceremony in the New School Church in Mill Race Historical Village last summer the newlyweds walked out of the church — and stepped into the gondola of a hot air balloon which immediately took them skyward.

Both enjoy this "extra" magistrate activity. He is a graduate of George Washington University Law School and has an honorary doctorate from the bar association of Venezuela. After eight years in Washington, D.C., the Hoppings came to Detroit in 1931 where he served as an assistant U.S. attorney until 1945.

Louis and Helen Hopping, who have been married 62 years themselves, help couples get married. See In Our Town.

While he still is involved with magistrate duties, Helen Hopping, who wrote a cookbook several years ago, continues her catering business when she has time. The active octogenarians are busy with community, church and club activities.

Gwen Frostic to make second appearance here

Northville Branch of the Woman's Nation Farm and Garden Club, which has just marked its golden anniversary year, already is planning an outstanding program for its September 9 meeting.

Gwen Frostic, noted wildflower artist and poetess whose studio in Benzonia, Mich., is sought out by her admirers, will be the guest speaker at the guest day meeting at First Presbyterian Church.

The artist spoke in Northville several years ago. She is a longtime friend of Marcella Douglas, who lived on Rogers before moving to Plymouth. They met, Mrs. Douglas recalled last week, through business and professional club activities. Gwen Frostic is the daughter of a former superintendent of schools in Wyandotte. Mrs. Douglas, who taught in the area, retired as principal of the Wayne County Training School.

The garden branch also has on tap its annual picnic and auction of plants, jellies, pickles and crafts at noon June 9. Barbara VanBuren is hostess.

Questers head for the Irish Hills

For their last meeting of the current season, members of Waterford Bend Chapter of Questers will be heading for the hills — the Irish Hills. They will car pool at 9 a.m. June 10 from in front of Arbor Drugs to drive to the cottage of member Ruth Jacobs.

This year the chapter of the antiques study and preservation society has repeated its donation of books on antiques, giving a book to both the Northville and Novi libraries.

Polinsky-Sinkwitts vows read in Farmington Hills

A wedding trip to Casa de Campo resort in the Dominican Republic followed the marriage of Donna Polinsky of Novi and Dr. Joseph Sinkwitts of Northville.

The candlelight ceremony took place at 7:30 p.m. April 4 at Northwest Unitarian Church in Farmington Hills. The Rev. David Bayne officiated at the single ring service.

Attendants of the couple were Gail Bagnasco and the bridegroom's brother, Edward Sinkwitts.

The bride, a tennis instructor for Novi Parks and Recreation, is the daughter of Mary and Walter Collins of Dearborn. Dr. Sinkwitts' parents are Tony and Katherine Sinkwitts of Sterling Heights.

A reception was held at Western Country Club.

King's Island roller coaster's planet's longest

has thrilled more than 30 million Cedar Point visitors since 1964. The Blue Streak is your garden-variety dipsy-doodle coaster, reaching tame speeds of only 40 miles an hour.

One of the more recent additions at Cedar Point is the Demon Drop, which lets riders simulate a free-fall from a 10-story building. The ride reaches a speed of 55 mph in just 1.8 seconds. Cedar Point also has a corkscrew coaster, as well as White Water Landing, one of the largest water rides in the country.

The longest roller-coaster on the planet is also just a few hours away, at King's Island, located north of Cincinnati.

It's appropriately called the Beast, and it covers a whopping 7,400 feet—well over a mile. Built in 1979, the Beast has a vertical drop of 141 feet, reaching speeds of almost 65 mph.

King's Island also has the Racer, a double coaster in which one car races forward while the other races backward. It can travel 61 mph. Another popular thrill ride at King's Island is the King Cobra, a loop-de-loop coaster in which the riders are standing up. It clocks in at 50 mph.

Visitors to Ontario won't want to miss Canada's Wonderland, located in Toronto.

The fastest ride at Wonderland is the Mighty Canadian Mine Buster, a wooden coaster which covers 3,828 feet. With a high drop of 90 feet, this little dandy can travel 62 mph.

Another popular ride is the SkyRider, a stand-up coaster which careens around at 50 mph. The Wilde Beast, a wooden coaster which covers 3,150 feet, hits speeds up to 54 mph.

The newest ride at Wonderland is Thunder Run, a $2.7 million thriller. It's part coaster and part runaway mine ride. On a heavily banked track, this one takes riders through Wonder Mountain, located in the center of the park.

Geauga Lake, near Cleveland, also has some thrilling coasters. The Double Loop is just what it says—a coaster which takes you upside down twice.

Geauga Lake also features a corkscrew coaster and the Big Dipper, a long, wooden coaster.

Now that you know where the thrill rides can be found, strap yourself in, put your hands in the air and start screaming.

Happy coasting!

Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Johnson of Port Huron announce the engagement of their daughter, Cheryl Ann, to Brady Karl Kramer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russ Kramer of Northville.

Her fiancé is a 1979 graduate of Northville High School and has his bachelor's degree in electrical engineering from Western Michigan University. He is employed by CTS Corporation in Elkhart, Ind.

A July 5 wedding is planned in Port Huron.

Halls celebrate 40 years together with family dinner and a trip

A dinner this weekend at the home of their daughter will begin a special celebration of the 40th wedding anniversary of Dale and George Hall of 894 Yorktown Court in Northville.

Then, June 28 the Halls are planning a trip to Vancouver, B.C., to mark the anniversary with Mrs. Hall's three brothers, two sisters, 16 nieces and nephews and friends.

After meeting on a blind date in Vancouver in August, 1945, the couple married there on May 25, 1946.

Mrs. Hall, who was Dale Spagnut when she met her future husband, is a native of Canada. She was born at Britannia Beach in British Columbia. He was born in Detroit.

In addition to visiting family, the Halls will be viewing Expo '86 in Vancouver.

The anniversary party at 2 p.m. Sunday will be at the home of the Halls' daughter, Cheryl Cassidy, in Northville Estates. Guests will include the couple's four children and their spouses, Mr. Hall's mother and four of their six grandchildren as well as friends and other relatives.

In addition to Cheryl, the couple's children are Linda Haugsby of Yellow Springs, Ohio, George Hall III of Livonia and John Hall of Plymouth.

During the couple's 40 years of marriage, they note, they have lived in Parma and Cleveland, Ohio, and Detroit, Dearborn, Plymouth and Northville. He is an engineering specialist with Ford Motor Company.

Dale Hall is a senior citizens' activities director. Previously, she had been a beautician.

They are members of First United Methodist Church of Northville and are active in American Legion and Ford Old Timers groups. She also belongs to the Women's Republican Club.

As they celebrate their 40th anniversary the Halls say they plan to spend winters in Florida or in traveling in the United States and Canada after retirement. Both say they "enjoy travel, warm weather and sunshine."

First Methodist slates June events

First United Methodist Church in Northville has special events planned during June.

The June 8 services will celebrate the music ministry of the church as well as honor high school and college graduates. At both the 9:30 and 11 a.m. services, the Brass Choir will perform Purcell's "Trumpet Voluntary." The Sanctuary Choir will sing "Jubilate Deo Omis Terra" and "Praise to the Lord the Almighty."

The music celebration will continue June 15 when the Adult Bell Choir and the Ladies Choir will play and sing songs honoring fathers.

Beginning June 17, the church will sponsor a repeat of last year's successful Jerusalem Marketplace, which gave youngsters from preschool through fifth grade the opportunity to "live" as they did during Jesus Christ's time on earth.

The preschool program runs from 9:30 a.m. until noon June 17-19 and older children may participate from 9:30 a.m. until 2 p.m. all three days.

Activities include baking bread, dressing in costumes, learning songs and dances, drawing water from a well and the opportunity to be an apprentice at basket-weaving, candy-making and brick-making shops.

Family and friends are invited to the grand finale of the Jerusalem Marketplace at 7 p.m. June 19.

Cost for the program is $3 for preschoolers, $5 for school-age children or $10 for a family. Registration will be held from 10 a.m. until noon, Saturday, June 7.

Information on the Jerusalem Marketplace may be obtained by calling Jane Berquist, 349-1144; Debbie Stein, 420-2777; or Sue Nix, 348-1634.

Lecture set at Christian Community

The Christian Community Church will host a special series of Wednesday evening services, beginning at 7 p.m. and focusing on the work being done by Keith Tolbert, principal lecturer of Apologetic Research Coalition.

The programs will deal with the number and kinds of bizarre religious cults permeating society today, what makes a particular group a cult, and what are the facts of Christian life as opposed to the cults.

Keith is director of ARC Fellowship, where three computers research cults. The ARC library contains extensive primary and secondary data of cult literature.

Keith has lectured on the college level and has syndicated columns appearing in four magazines and five newspapers. He has made numerous television appearances.

The services, with Keith as keynote speaker, will be held June 4, June 11, June 18 and June 25 and Keith will also be at the Sunday, June 29 service at 11 a.m.

The Christian Community Church is located at 41355 W. Six Mile Rd. in Northville.

Christian Scientists videotape meeting

The Church of Christ, Scientist, convening its 91st annual meeting in Boston June 2, focused its attention on fulfilling the denomination's "Mission of Christ-Healing." The theme was traditional for Christian Scientists, but the meeting was not.

In a pre-taped video, the five-member board of directors stressed the church's founding purpose, dating from 1879, to commemorate the teachings and life of Jesus Christ "which should reinstate primitive Christianity and its lost element of healing."

For the first time, videotapes of the Boston meeting will be shown at Christian Science churches around the world, enabling members of the century-old denomination to be part of the meeting in their respective cities and countries. In Plymouth, members of First Church of Christ, Scientist, will be able to view the tapes later this summer.

Church officers and chairpersons of church committees, as well as Christian Scientists from around the world presented reports on videotapes, recorded at the Boston meeting.

97-year-old still helps kids

Perhaps because a Northville resident who is nearing the century mark once taught school, she now has a project for youngsters that fills her days.

Harriet Angell, who has lived in the community almost 60 years, has sent a total of 108 picture scrapbooks to the Mott Children's Hospital in Ann Arbor during the last three years. Two weeks ago she sent the latest batch of 17 scrapbooks filled with bright pictures culled from magazines that she feels appeal to children.

Her daughter, Ruth Angell, explains that "she does a pretty good job of cutting out the pictures" which she slips into the clear plastic sheets of photo albums.

Her daughter keeps her supplied with the albums and conceived the project three years ago. Ruth Angell is a member of Mizpah Circle of King's Daughters, and the circle has a long history of assisting the children at the hospital.

Friends, neighbors and relatives provide the magazines from which Harriet Angell clips the pictures. Mizpah Circle members take the scrapbooks to the hospital.

Harriet and Ruth Angell live in the house at 504 W. Cady that Harriet Angell had built when she came to Northville 60 years ago this November.

Now 97½ years old, Mrs. Angell had taught school in Redford for three years, from 1907-1910, before she married Russell Angell. She was born Harriet Smith in Redford December 15, 1888.

The Angells moved to a farm at Eight Mile and Napier roads in 1916. After he died in May, 1926, Mrs. Angell had the Cady Street house built and moved into town.

In addition to her daughter, Ruth, she has a daughter, Grace McGaffin in Royal Oak, and a son, John, who lives on Meadowbrook Road.

"The nice thing about the scrapbooks," Ruth Angell explains, "is that any child who wants to can take them home."

This is important, she notes, in the case of children who may have been hospitalized with a contagious disease. Thanks to Harriet Angell's hours of clipping, these children still have the books to help time pass.

"She gets nice letters from the hospital," Ruth Angell notes, saying that they are appreciated by her mother and serve as an incentive to keep the project going.

Former 4-H leader continues local farming tradition

By ANN CHOWDHURY

Anyone who thinks the life of a farm boy is boring and uneventful should meet Joel Vincent Visnyak, 19, who lives on Nine Mile, on a farm his great grandfather planted with orchards in Northville's early days.

Last year's 4-H King for Oakland County, Visnyak was the county's goodwill ambassador, and took a leadership role at the Oakland County Fair. It was the culmination of an outstanding 11-year involvement with the organization.

Visnyak graduated from Northville High School in 1984 and is now a sophomore studying animal science at Michigan State University.

Experiences in 4-H inspired him to follow a career in agriculture, even though many farmers are now facing hard times. He has proved he has the determination necessary for success.

Visnyak's mother, Shirley, explained that, when her son graduated from high school, there were three college-age students in the family, so a four-year college seemed out of the question.

Joel won scholarships, however, from the American Association of University Women, 4-H, Moormans' Feed Company and Oakland Soil Conservation District. The rest of the money he earned himself.

It was his knowledge of pigs, learned during his 4-H experiences, that helped Visnyak earn much of his tuition. During the summer vacation he worked on Virginia Amo's pig farm in Ann Arbor.

"I earned more than I would have in a restaurant and had a lot of fun," he remembered.

He explained that some of the pigs were used by the University of Michigan Hospital. Their heart valves are used to replace human heart valves and their skin for grafts for burn patients.

"I study five hours a day during the week at college, so I can come home every weekend and work."

feed them milk, and they gained quicker than usual. When he showed them at the Oakland County Fair, they weighed about 230 pounds and sold for $2.25 per pound instead of the average 80 cents.

Visnyak is continuing to earn college money as he studies. "I study five hours a day during the week at college, so I can come home every weekend and work," he said.

He and his father, Zolie Visnyak, have rented an apple orchard in Brighton, and cleaned out one of their old family orchards that has not been tended for many years. This year they plan to have 4,000 bushels of apples to sell at Eastern Market. Joel also is growing sweet corn and pumpkins.

One year he worked at Parmenter's Cider Mill and learned about the cider business. "I might have some of my apples pressed and give them a bit of competition this year," he joked.

He explained that the apple business will fit in well with college because the picking season is just about over by the time college starts again.

In addition, Visnyak has applied for a summer job in the 4-H offices of the Cooperative Extension Service in Pontiac. If he gets it, he will commute to Pontiac daily and fit his farm chores around the job and into weekends.

In addition to his jobs and farm chores, Visnyak has been an umpire for the Northville and Novi parks and recreation baseball and basketball programs, served as president of the local 4-H during his junior and senior years in school, and was previously 4-H treasurer.

Visnyak took the 4-H motto, "To make the best better," to heart and, even though too old for membership now, still strives to meet high goals.

"They would come for a pig for the hospital and want a certain weight and color," Visnyak said. "I would pick out a pig of about 75 pounds and struggle to hold it squealing and wriggling on the platform scale."

"Virginia was really fond of her pigs, and she would decide it was a nice looking one and didn't want to let it go, so I would have to struggle through the whole routine again with another pig."

He earned more college money by raising his own pigs. The Christmas before last, Visnyak spent three weeks gathering 100 bushels of corn off the ground for pig feed, and hauled it out of the field on his back.

During the summer it molded, and his pigs failed to gain weight. When he spotted the problem, he started to

For How Long?

A frequently asked question concerning prescription medicines is "how long should I take it?" Two most important factors that help determine the duration of medicine use relate to the medicine itself and the condition or problem for which the medicine is being used.

If symptoms "come and go," medicines are usually prescribed for only a few days. Fever, acute pain, diarrhea, and the common cold are conditions that fall into this category.

Conditions that require long term treatment (the so-called chronic diseases) include diabetes, high blood pressure, arthritis, heart failure, angina pectoris, and some seizure disorders. For these chronic problems, prescribed medicines are usually taken each day for the duration of one's life.

Infections generally fall into a specific time treatment category. A rather large number of infections will respond to antibiotics and other infection fighters over a short period of time. Penicillin in its various forms, for example, is routinely given by mouth for seven to ten days. Some infections will take longer to treat.

Exhibiting at Greenmead

A mother-daughter team of Nola Hykal, right, of Northville and her daughter, Fran West of Canton, will be among the 200 exhibitors who will participate in the Livonia Arts Commission's Arts and Craft Show Saturday and Sunday, June 21-22. The show will be held at Greenmead, Livonia's historical park located at the corner of Eight Mile and Newburgh roads. The admission is free, the commission notes, adding that plenty of parking is available at the historic home site. Nola Hykal reports that she and her daughter will be displaying and selling hand-quilted items that emphasize the country look. They cut and piece their own quilts and make the frames to go with their quilt pictures. They have been exhibiting in shows for four years and have booked 15 for this year. Hykal recommends sewing as "good therapy" and says, as an added benefit, they find their work is "very salable."

Amerman to hold art fair, ice cream social Friday

will be available.

Students, teachers and parents invite the community to share in the festivities at this year's social.

The last thing you need now is a problem paying for more car insurance.

A family can have many drivers. And many drivers can mean many cars. There may be a problem with finding a full gas tank or the right keys. So you don't need a problem with car insurance.

You deserve a discount. And, that's exactly what Auto - Owners gives families with two or more automobiles. A nice one too!

Your independent Auto - Owners agent prides himself on the substantial savings he can give multiple car families.

And with a name like Auto - Owners - he's won fame with his claims service. Find out from your "no problem" Auto - Owners agent just what the one advantage could be of having many cars and many drivers in your family. It's no problem!

Ridin' the Rapids

There is a way to shed the hum-drum of your work week, leave the office desk behind, brave the challenge of the great outdoors, and be safely and snugly at home in time for "60 Minutes."

White-water rafting—which appeals to the adventurer in most people—is nearby, relatively inexpensive and all the fun it is cracked up to be.

West Virginia is somewhat of an East Coast mecca for whitewater rafting. The starting points for trips on five rivers—whose difficulty ranges from mild rolls to truly world class or "serious" whitewater—are only seven- to eight-hour drives from the Detroit area.

But it is a trip into another world—a world of back woods, swirling rapids, rushing rivers and, above all, excitement.

"We're all a little bit of a thrill seeker," says Cindy Lacey, a spokesperson for Appalachian Wildwaters, based in West Virginia.

"It (white water rafting) allows you in a weekend's time to do something that you normally don't do. And it's quite cost effective."

Single day trips range from $39 to $63 a person with weekend trips costing more than those on week days. There are plenty of motels in the area for lodging, but about half the rafters take advantage of nearby campgrounds, said Lacey.

Appalachian Wildwaters provides guided trips on the Cheat and Tygart rivers in northern West Virginia, the New and Cauley rivers in southern West Virginia, and on the Upper Yough in far west Maryland, near the West Virginia border.

There are also trips from two to four days on the New River that cost from $119 to $295 a person. In all cases, prices include guides, prepared meals during the trip and raft rental.

Although Lacey concedes that the perceived danger is one of the great appeals of whitewater rafting, she quickly adds that the sport is actually quite safe.

"We have bumps and bruises, of course, but we've never had a serious accident," she said. "The number of injuries per 1,000 days is substantially less than in snow skiing."

Rafting is an exhilarating and somewhat strenuous experience, but the challenges of the rivers vary enough to allow a good time to beginners or experienced rafters.

Rivers in the eastern United States are rated from 1 (easiest) to 6 for rafting purposes. Most of the trips include rapids rated from 3 to 6, said Lacey.

One river, the Cheat, has recently been upgraded because of a once-in-500-years flood last fall that changed the river permanently. Now, the river is limited to those who have had previous rafting experience.

But many rivers are fine for rafters of all ages and abilities. A two-day package on the Upper Yough, for instance, starts on the first day with a gentle ride. On the second day, youngsters participate in a structured activity, such as hiking, while their parents take on a more challenging stretch of the river.

Rafts generally carry from four to 10 people. Guides accompany most rafts and one-man kayaks zip along side rafters to keep them straight during the narrows.

Appalachian Wildwaters also offers two-day canoeing and kayaking schools.

For more information, call Appalachian Wildwaters on a toll-free line: 1-800-624-8060.

Ask for the free booklet, "Excellence on Whitewater," which focuses on what to look for when selecting a rafting outfitter.

Confetti's: Pasta with pleasure

out
KOVACS

The nice thing about Bruce Cameron restaurants is that they're all distinctive. Usually upbeat and trendy, Cameron's restaurants usually provide a good way for Michiganders to keep track of what's taking place on the east and west coasts.

Cameron is the fellow who brought you the Double Eagle in Troy, Treats in Orchard Lake, the Midtown Cafe in Birmingham and the Cafe Pastel in Rochester among others.

One of his newest offerings is Confetti's at the corner of Orchard Lake and Maple roads in West Bloomfield. Located in what formerly was the Maple House (another Cameron restaurant, Confetti's capitalizes on the current popularity of the pasta craze.

A pasta-maker is on duty fulltime during the evenings, and diners can watch the pasta being made before it's shipped back to the kitchen for preparation into the dishes which are brought to the table.

The Italian influence is particularly evident on the menu which gives a definite advantage to people who are bi-lingual. It would be difficult to know what's coming if you order "paglia e fieno," for example, if the menu didn't also let you know that it's a spinach fettuccine and egg linguine with prosciutto, peas, cream, garlic and parmesan.

As every good Italian or would-be Italian diner knows, Italian food tastes better with wine. And Confetti's offers a nice little wine menu to accompany the meal. Included is everything from a Chenin Blanc from California to a Dom Perignon from France priced at $105 per bottle.

Another feature at Confetti's is a small selection of pizzas — not your standard American pizzas, mind you, but the type of gourmet pizzas currently popular in California.

Diners receive interesting food in a contemporary setting at Confetti's in West Bloomfield

The Pizza con Salsiccia D'Anitra, for example, comes with duck sausage, sage, goat's cheese and tomatoes, while the Piaaz con Spinaci comes with fresh spinach and garlic along with a blend of romano and provolone cheeses. If you have a strong yen for pizza, go to Buddy's. But if you want to try something a little out of the ordinary, Confetti's pizzas are interesting eating.

If you're beginning to get the idea that Confetti's offers some unique foods, you're right on track.

The selection of appetizers contains shrimp saute and a cheese plate — fairly standard. But it also includes Mussels Confetti (mussels steamed in white wine with oranges, onion, bay leaf and sage) and Steamed Artichoke (served with brown butter and a tasty blend of spices called aioli).

Entrees range in price from a Vegetable Plate at $8.75 to a Semi-boneless Half Duck at $14.25.

While the Steamed Artichoke we sampled on a recent outing did not meet with our taste, a couple of the entrees were outstanding. There's a Warm Duck Salad (duck sauteed with pancetta and oyster mushrooms, tossed with wilted greens and topped with a sweet-and-sour dressing) that was a genuine treat.

Likewise for the Cioppino, an Italian fish stew with shrimp, mussels and clams.

For dessert, diners at Confetti's have a selection of pastries made at Treats, another Cameron restaurant just a few miles down the road. Of special interest are a selection of ice creams made in Confetti's own kitchen.

As is typical of Cameron's other restaurants, the decor at Confetti's is attractive and distinctive. Tables are covered with white linens (under a glass top), and the contemporary theme is carried out with use of neon signs in the interior.

Confetti's is not a great restaurant. The food does not equal that found at MacKinnon's or Chez Raphael. But those comparisons are unfair, because it does not try to be.

What it does try to be is a pleasant little restaurant with some unusual, out-of-the-ordinary items on the menu. And in that regard, Confetti's is successful and an interesting place to dine.

Confetti's, 6480 Orchard Lake Road, West Bloomfield. Open for lunch Monday through Saturday from 11:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. Dinners served Monday through Thursday from 5-11:30 p.m. and Friday and Saturday from 5 p.m. to 12:30 p.m. Open Sunday from 4-11 p.m. Liquor license. Visa, MasterCard and America Express. 626-3341.

JUNE ON

What's Going

Music

MUSIC AND DANCE: JUDY COLLINS, Power Center for the Performing Arts, Ann Arbor. Celebrating opening night of the third Ann Arbor Summer Festival, vocalist Judy Collins will present a special concert at 8 p.m. June 28 at the Power Center for the Performing Arts. Tickets are on sale now at all Ticket World outlets and the Power Center Box Office in Ann Arbor. SWEET ADELINES, Botsford Inn, Farmington Hills. The Sweet Adelines of Farmington Hills will perform a salute to the 150th anniversary of the Botsford Inn in a Courtyard Concert June 10. Using as a reference, the recently-published book, "More Than a Tavern — 150 Years of the Botsford Inn," musical director Julene Fabrizio is arranging a program of song and dance to reflect the history of the Inn and the spirit of America. Tickets for the concert will be $5 per person and are available through the Sweet Adelines by calling Betty O'Conner at 661-0628 or the Botsford Inn at 474-4800. PILOBOLUS, Power Center for the Performing Arts, Ann Arbor. Pilobolus Dance Theatre is scheduled for two performances at 8 p.m. June 30 and July 1 during Ann Arbor's Summer Festival. Based in Connecticut, Pilobolus has toured extensively worldwide in the past 15 years. The company has been the recipient of many commissions from the American Dance Festival and is a veteran of two seasons on Broadway. Tickets to Pilobolus may be purchased at any Ticket World outlet or at the Power Center Box Office in Ann Arbor. Call 763-TKTS for ticket information. "MAMMA I WANT TO SING," Music Hall Center for the Performing Arts, Detroit. "Mamma I Want To Sing," the longest running off-Broadway black musical since 1933, will open June 17 at the Music Hall Center for the Performing Arts. Performances will be at 8 p.m. Tuesday through Friday; 5 p.m. and 9 p.m. Saturday and 2 p.m. and 7 p.m. Sunday. Tickets are $18.75 to $24.75 and may be purchased at the Music Hall box office or by phone at 963-7680.

Theater

THEATRE: "BELVEDERE," Henry Ford Museum Theater, Dearborn. "Belvedere," the stage version of the popular 1948 movie, "Sitting Pretty," which introduced Clifton Webb as the overbearing Lynn Belvedere, will be presented at Henry Ford Museum Theater June 6 through July 19. Belvedere, a self-proclaimed genius author, hires out as a babysitter in exchange for free lodging while he writes his great life work. Hilarious complications develop because he really despises children. Performances of "Belvedere" are at 8:30 p.m. Fridays and Saturdays. Tickets are $6 for reserved seats. For information, call 271-1620. A combination dinner and theater package, at $19.95 per person, also is available.

And more

The Detroit Historical Museum also will offer several related activities in conjunction with the exhibit including several films, a workshop, and a Quilt Discovery Day June 14. For further information on other activities, call 833-1419. The Detroit Historical Museum is open from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Wednesday through Sunday. Admission is by voluntary donation. Colorful encampments involve visitors with Civil War life. There is no additional charge for the festival beyond the regular village admission. PLYMOUTH HISTORIC OLD VILLAGE FESTIVAL, Old Village, Plymouth. "Dearie, Do You Remember When?" Festival will be held from noon to 8 p.m. June 29 in Plymouth's Historic Old Village.
