Voters approve 2 mills for street repairs

Door-to-door — Mayor Paul Vernon, left, spreads information on bond issue to George McLeod

Seventeen percent of the city's 4,560 registered voters approved the measure Tuesday, when the ballots were counted. Voters in both the Wayne and the Oakland county precincts, by a three-to-one margin, passed a two mill, 10 year assessment for street reconstruction.

Voters in both precincts approved the measure, with Wayne County residents giving their OK 240 to 87 and Oakland County city residents approving the measure 566 to 196.

"When the residents are informed, they respond positively as they did for the downtown project," observed Mayor Pro-tem Dewey Gardner as the results were known at 9 p.m. "However, it bothers me that 83 percent of the registered voters stayed home."

City manager Steven Walters said he would prepare the necessary paperwork to apply for bond sales through the state of Michigan bonding authority.

Walters anticipated bids for the project would be requested by Aug. 1 and work would begin once a low bidder was determined.

The entire project is expected to take three years to complete.

With voter approval for the project, Walters said residents would see the increase in their taxes beginning with the July, 1987, city tax bill. However, by that time, the project would be in the second year, with a number of streets already resurfaced.

Street repairs had been delayed while the city sought to recover from a deficit situation and Walters admitted only "emergency" repairs had been done for three years. The failure of the state Legislature to follow the formula returning race track monies to cities left the city with stringent budget constrictions.

In giving approval to the measure, voters also agreed to refund a portion of the money already paid for repairs to Allen Drive, Fairfax Court, Randolph Street, Baseline Road, Hill Street, Taft Road, North Center Street, Horton Street and Northville Estates.

Residents of those areas had already been assessed for previous repairs.

BFI buys township fill site

By ANITA CRONE

With the final purchase June 14 of the Holloway Landfill by Browning-Ferris Industries, it is expected that the controversy surrounding the site, particularly in Salem Township, will be blunted, at least temporarily.

Included in the agreement with BFI, is a promise by the Baltimore-based firm to pay a $10,000 annual fee for inspections for the life of the landfill, as well as a $25,000 one time fee to lease land. That land lease expires in 1990.

BFI agreed also to adhere to the consent agreement reached by Holloway and the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, which allowed Holloway to receive a license to operate an additional landfill on the site.

In announcing its procurement of the Holloway site, BFI informed customers that construction permits for additional cells have been obtained and work has been under way at both the Lyon Development and Holloway Landfill sites.

BFI is no stranger to Michigan, having owned and operated the Lyon Development Landfill in South Lyon since September 1982. In addition, BFI's refuse collection companies have provided service to municipal, commercial and industrial customers in the Detroit metropolitan area for the past 15 years.

The Holloway, now BFI landfill, has been given a life expectancy of 10-11 years, at the current operating level, 12,000-13,000 cubic yards per day.

While BFI officials indicated they have signed an agreement with Salem Township officials, they have yet to enter into any agreement with Northville Township officials.

Chatham closes doors on chain groceries in city

By ANITA CRONE

Almost exactly 10 years after Kroger closed its Northville grocery store, a victim of sagging sales and competition by Chatham and a newer A & P on Seven Mile, Chatham Supermarkets announced it too is leaving Northville, bringing to a close an era where supermarkets located within the city.

The closing, set for July 26, was announced last week by Chatham Board Chairman Alex Dandy. In addition to the local grocery store, other stores in Wayne County have been slated to close their doors, including Chatham stores at Morang in Detroit, Ryan Road and East Nine Mile in Warren, Greenfield in Dearborn, Van Dyke in Centerline, and Telegraph in Redford Township.

Others include stores in Livonia, Plymouth, Harper Woods, Dearborn Heights and St. Clair Shores.

"The stores will be closed," said Dandy, declining further comment. He would not confirm the date of the scheduled closing nor indicate how many people would lose their jobs.

However, a notice posted at the stores indicated the July 26 date and said union employees would be able to bump less senior workers at other stores in the area.

The notice said, in part, "the following stores are scheduled to be permanently closed July 26," and then listed the six stores. It was dated June 20 and signed by Dandy. A second notice, dated June 23, listed the additional stores to be closed. Apparently, the closing does not affect Oakland County Chatham locations. The firm has scheduled preprinted advertising supplements for newspapers, including the Observer & Eccentric.

The closing caught shoppers and Northville residents by surprise. However, Steven Walters, city manager, said the city had been contacted "about two months ago by someone introducing themselves as representing Chatham."

Walters said the person was inquiring about the possibility of using the Center Street Chatham location for a different type of store — certainly not a grocery store.

Walters said at that time he indicated city council might look favorably on a request for a tax abatement should Chatham remodel its store in Northville. However, Walters said, the contact person showed no interest in the suggestion.

A woman with a full shopping cart, who declined to be identified Monday evening, seemed surprised by the closing.

"I've shopped in this town for 45 years, and I don't know where I'll shop now," she said, indicating that she might go to A & P for her groceries.

Gladys Grigg was more emphatic. "I've been shopping here since they opened, but now I guess I'll be shopping at A & P. It's close, but I'll have to find out where things are located there," she said.

A store employee indicated that, even though the store closing was imminent, that the store managers had been instructed to keep the shelves fully stocked.

Neither Dandy nor store officials would give a reason for the closings; however, several shoppers who declined to be identified said it was apparent the opening of the Meijer store at Eight Mile and Haggerty had some impact.

"Once that store opened, it seemed like the management just let the store fall down," said one shopper.

"We're certainly sorry Chatham is closing its doors," said Dave Lukens, public and consumer affairs coordinator for the Grand Rapids-based Meijer chain. "But we hope that our one-stop shopping will continue to draw shoppers from Northville and the surrounding area."

Lukens said his firm also would "welcome" the opportunity to talk with displaced Chatham workers about employment opportunities. Meijer opened July 16, 1985.

Bang-up day is promised for July 4

With little more than a week remaining before the Jaycee-sponsored Fourth of July parade, parade chairman Bob Cummings is seeking any area marching bands willing to participate in the annual parade at 10 a.m. in Northville on July 4.

Cummings explains that he returned from attending the National Jaycees Convention in Milwaukee last weekend to find a cancellation on a confirmed appearance of the Lions' Club Youth Band of Windsor.

Cummings also is asking organizations making floats for the Northville parade to register with him if they have not done so already.

He notes that arrangements for the parade are being revamped to "move the parade along." Performance time will be limited in front of the judges' stand, he says, in the interest of fairness.

He has been signing up bands, floats, horse groups and officials to participate. He emphasizes that there will be no campaigning allowed in the parade.

Elys still adding fuel to community business

By ANN CHOWDHURY

"Every day's a new challenge. You just get up and are raring to go to work," claims Charles (Clancy) Ely, 51, owner of Northville's Ely Fuel, Inc.

Clancy Ely is the third generation of his family to have been in business in Northville, in a family business which has evolved and changed to suit the times.

Ely jokes that his employees keep coming to work just to see what is going to happen next, and a look back at the history of the business's evolution indicates that anything could.

The Elys started their love affair with Northville in 1920 when Carl Ely, Clancy's grandfather, was returning to Farmington with his family from Florida.

While waiting for the streetcar to be turned around on the tracks in Northville, he went for a drink in a restaurant, and asked if there were any area businesses for sale.

Before he left the restaurant, he had decided to buy a coal and ice company here.

It was not Carl Ely's first business venture. His father had been a farmer in Farmington, and sent Carl to Michigan Agricultural College in Lansing, (now Michigan State University) and expected him to help with the family farm after he graduated.

Carl's son Charles Ely Sr. (Chuck),

76, says, "It must have been a shock to Grandfather when dad came home and bought his own farm on Eight Mile in Farmington."

Carl did not take to farming, however, and bought first one blacksmith's shop and then another on Grand River.

About 1913, Chuck relates, "Henry Ford came along and said to his father, 'You've got a good business here but I've got something a little better,'" and talked Carl into setting up the first Ford dealership outside Detroit.

Chuck remembers, "I was always around the garage, a snotty nosed little kid. People from Northwest

Michigan would just come to my dad and pick up their car there.

"How much he made on a car I don't remember, but he was always trading horses, cows and wagons, like a car salesman does now with a used car."

In 1918 Carl sold out his dealership and tried his luck in Florida, but returned in 1920 and bought the coal and ice business.

According to Chuck, his dad knew nothing about coal and ice, but did not consider it a reason to hesitate when buying the business.

Chuck is convinced his dad was the smartest guy in the world, not only because he had the guts to tackle anything, but the ability to keep two boys (himself and his brother Ivan) at home working for nothing and not fighting!

At first the business was in a small building on Center Street between Schrader's and The Northville Record. In 1924 it moved across the street to the building now occupied by West End Co. A new automatic ice machine was installed, and Chuck remembers working 13 hours a night after his senior year in high school, making ice for the early morning deliveries.

First he had to pour water into the heavy, six foot-long cans and lower them into a brine tank which was kept at 12 degrees above zero. He then started up the automatic pump which pushed air through a small steel tube into the ice cake.

The resulting 400-pound ice blocks were thawed around the edge and tipped onto a device that shaped them. They were then rolled into a storage house about 12 feet underground.

At 7 a.m. his brother Ivan took over and loaded the blocks into a truck and delivered from house to house for ice boxes.

They made about 10 tons of ice a day for about 10 years. About 1931 the Elys stopped making their own ice blocks and built an ice shed on their present location at 316 North Center.

It became more economical at that

Baccalaureate reconsidered

"We have suggested that the service be held in the afternoon so that all area ministers be allowed to participate."

Lawrence Chamberlain

Though it has been a traditional part of Northville High School's commencement activities for nearly 60 years, the absence of a baccalaureate service this spring went virtually unnoticed.

While several local churches held their own baccalaureate for graduating seniors, the community service, traditionally held at the high school the Sunday before graduation, was canceled after some discussion between high school students and parents.

While poor attendance has plagued the service in the past, the most recent complaint from local churches as well as some residents was the timing of the 9 a.m. service.

High school principal David Bolitho noted that the local ministerial association sent a proposal to the district last year requesting that the time of the baccalaureate be changed so as not to conflict with morning worship services.

"They felt we were pulling kids out of their home congregations and putting them into the high school," Bolitho noted. While the request came too late to change last year's baccalaureate, the service was held without participation from any of the local clergy.

With the conflict left unresolved, Bolitho said this year's service was canceled after some discussion with the Student Council and Parents Advisory Committee.

Dr. Lawrence Chamberlain of First Presbyterian Church said that, while the ministerial association was hands of an assistant.

"These people have had to choose between serving their own congregations or the baccalaureate," Chamberlain noted.

"We have proposed we have a baccalaureate service at a time during the day that is not a conflict with Sunday worship service," he said. "That way, pastors do not have to choose between the two."

Chamberlain said the ministerial association also would like to see more than one pastor officiating at the baccalaureate.

"We feel it would be more of a baccalaureate with all congregation participating," he noted. "That way it would be more of a community service."

Chamberlain noted that the association even has offered to host the baccalaureate on a rotating basis at different area churches.

Though he said he does not believe the traditional service is a church vs. state conflict, it was noted that the baccalaureate is one denominational when only one pastor officiates.

He added that the ministerial association will likely come back to the school district with its original proposal.

While Bolitho made the decision to cancel this year's service, he said he plans to address the issue before next year's graduation plans are finalized.

"The bottom line is that I don't disagree with the ministerial association," Bolitho said. "After all, they don't hold things that interfere with the schools."

concerned about pulling students away from their own church, area ministers are in no way opposed to a community baccalaureate.

The ministerial association, comprised of ministers from the Northville area, sponsors many ecumenical services, Chamberlain noted.

"We would be happy to add the baccalaureate if the schedule allows," he said.

Chamberlain said the primary concern for local ministers is the timing of the high school service.

"We have suggested the service be held in the afternoon so that all ministers would be allowed to participate," he noted.

With many local churches having only one pastor, officiating the baccalaureate has been left to ministers with larger congregations who can leave their regular worship in the Council slates public hearings

A "Monday off" for Northville City Council hasn't materialized in June, following council's decision to call two public hearings for Monday, June 30.

Two hearings, both dealing with the questions of water and sewer in the city, have been scheduled for 8 p.m. June 30.

The first hearing, established during the June 16 regularly-scheduled council meeting, will create a special assessment district in the mid portion of Northville Estates to provide water or sewer or both to the people living in the subdivision.

Work already has started on water and sewer lines to the northern portion of the subdivision and a special assessment district including 18 lots in the southern portion of the area was established at the June 9 meeting.

The second hearing scheduled for June 30 will amend the west Eight Mile Road sanitary sewer roll.

Rotary announces winners

The seven winners for the week of June 17 in the Northville Rotary Club 1985-86 Community Calendar Lottery include Northville city finance director Betty Lennox, Lois Hollis and Mary Augustine, all of Northville.

Other winners of $25 each are John A. Macik of Plymouth, William H.

Albright of Redford, Sue Bulanda of Taylor and Pat Cosby of Madison Heights.

NEWS BRIEFS

DELINQUENT TAXPAYERS have just five more days to take advantage of Michigan's Tax Amnesty program, which expires June 30.

So far, the state has collected nearly $36 million from 42,576 taxpayers. Friday will be the last day treasury department personnel will be at Northville City Hall to assist people who want to take advantage of the program.

Callers can get confidential assistance on taxes and the amnesty program by calling 1-800-I.O.Taxes, from 8 a.m. until 8 p.m. Monday through Friday.

HOW'S THAT AGAIN? Following is the first paragraph of a letter from the city Department of Public Works:

Our department is aware of a problem of the inside water meter and the outside reader at your address not registering the same readings, of which they are supposed to do so, which enables us to bill you accordingly and properly for the water consumed at your address.

ELEVEN AMERICAN FLAGS stolen after flying along Main Street during the Memorial Day observance were returned to the V.F.W. post after an alert Ridge Court resident found the flags lying in the woods near his home.

Officer Howard Reeves retrieved the flags and gave them back to the post in plenty of time to fly once again for Flag Day.

JUDGE JOHN MacDONALD left no doubt that judges can throw the cowchips better than anyone else. MacDonald, 35th District Court Judge, was the overall winner Sunday during Plymouth's annual cow-chip throwing contest, heaving the chip more than 90 feet.

MacDonald says he likes to be competitive in all things and now has a response to anyone who says his decisions are bull.

The judge easily captured the judicial competition. He was the only entrant. But Northville Township supervisor Susan J. Heintz was not so fortunate. She finished third among three competitors in the supervisors' category.

LAST LAUGH: Though she has served 12 years on the Northville Board of Education, Karen Wilkinson proved Monday night that she still has a sense of humor. At her last board meeting (before turning over her seat to newly-appointed trustee Joseph Dunkerley), Wilkinson was quick to endorse Dolly McMaster's new title of assistant superintendent. "She certainly deserves it," Wilkinson quipped. "After all, she's losing her hair over it." McMaster, sporting a slightly shorter hairstyle, was amused.

DOWN ON THE FARM: One of the annual rites of spring for the Northville Board of Education is approval of a rental agreement with farmer Milan George on the district's 60 acres of property on Six Mile. In recommending that the rental agreement once again be approved, John Street, director of business and finance, told board members that "before the corn gets too high, we ought to approve this." For those who know John Street, such remarks never fail to incite a chuckle.

Board approves new title for McMaster

Having managed solely the school district's Department of Instruction since the death of former administrator Nancy Soper in February, 1985, Dolly McMaster will shed her former director title for that of assistant superintendent.

The position change, recommended by School Superintendent George Bell, was approved by the Northville Board of Education Monday night.

As Assistant Superintendent of Instructional Services, McMaster will be at the same cabinet level as Burton Knighton, Assistant Superintendent for Administrative Services.

In recommending the promotion, Bell noted that McMaster's efforts during the past year have been most evident in the successful implementation of the middle school program.

The superintendent further noted that the title change "will put instruction at the point of importance it deserves."

McMaster left her assistant principal post in Brighton in 1984 to take the seat vacated by former curriculum director Marcia Scarr.

With her promotion, McMaster also will receive a salary increase to $54,717 for the 1986-87 school year.

In addition to McMaster's salary, the board also approved two-year contracts for all central office administrators as well as building principals and supervisors.

Benefits for cabinet members include 7 percent salary increases based on the district's SEV formula, an improvement of an additional $1,000 stipend for a doctorate, $200 yearly to be provided for an annual physical and retirement life insurance at $50,000 through age 65, declining to $20,000 at age 67.

The title change "will put instruction at the point of importance it deserves."

George Bell

DOLLY McMASTER

Bell noted that the stipend increase for a doctorate will bring the total payment to $2,000 and will "perhaps make it a more desirable goal for future cabinet candidates."

Central office administrators with doctorates are Bell, Knighton, McMaster and Leonard Rezmierski, executive director of special education.

Salary adjustments for central office personnel for the 1986-87 school year are as follows:

□ Burton Knighton, assistant superintendent of administrative services — $56,945;
□ Dolly McMaster, assistant superintendent of curriculum and instruction — $54,717;

□ Leonard Rezmierski, executive director of special education — $53,627;

□ John Street, director of business and finance — $47,396;

□ Donald Van Ingen, administrative assistant — $44,649;

□ Tom Bailey, administrative assistant for operations — $38,010;

□ Norman Frank, supervisor of maintenance and operations — $30,099;

□ Yvonne Stephens, supervisor of food services — $29,110.

The board approved a three-year contract extension for the superintendent June 9 at a salary of $63,745.

Contractual agreements for building administrators and supervisors also were approved for 1986-87.

In recommending approval of the contracts, Bell noted that last year the district negotiated 6 1/2 percent salary increases for 1986-87 with openers for 1987-88. Having met with building principals regarding salary increases, Bell recommended the board approve a 7 percent salary increase for 1986-87, which would be in line with the SEV increase for other employee groups, and that salaries be locked into the SEV increase for 1987-88.

Bell noted that with the slightly more than 5 percent increase teachers will receive as a result of the payback to the district, the district is in a position to offer principals a "salary range commensurate with their responsibilities."

Salary schedules for building principals and supervisors for the 1986-87 school year are as follows:

□ David Bolitho, high school principal — $52,517;

□ David Longridge, middle school principal — $47,687;

□ Milton Jacobi, elementary principal — $44,687;

□ Kenneth Pawlowski, elementary principal — $44,649;

□ Bill Hamilton, assistant high school principal — $42,885;

□ Ralph Redmond, assistant high school principal — $42,885;

□ Tom Cey, middle school assistant principal — $41,392;

□ Viola Dougherty, supervisor at Bryant School — $48,155;

□ Chris Clinton-Cali, supervisor at Old Village — $42,134.

Police forces plan special operations on crime

In 1974, the Michigan State Police established an emergency support team. A year ago, the Wayne County Sheriff's Department began its tactical weapons team. And now, Northville city and township police departments are joining with Canton Township, Plymouth city and township, Van Buren Township and Belleville to look at implementing a special operations team.

While the Northville city police department has opted out of the initial program, reserving the right to enter the special operations unit at a later time, two officers in the township — Martin Patyna and Raymond Garbarino — have completed initial training toward the program.

Sgt. John Sherman has qualified as a state-certified instructor.

"Right now, the chiefs are establishing policies and procedures for the joint effort," explained Northville Township Chief of Police Kenneth Hardesty. Hardesty said he expects six months to elapse before the policies are firm, and the team actually becomes operational.

The township police department already has expended about $800 in training costs (for all three officers) and Hardesty said he expects another expenditure for weapons and protective gear once the actual program becomes operational.

Summer comes in on a song

It was a weekend of fun and frolic, songs and sales as Northville merchants and residents welcomed the return of summer to Michigan. When the warm season rolls into town, the city rolls out the welcome wagon for craftspeople from throughout the nation as they join with the downtown merchants to sell wares. At right, members of the Schoolcraft College Community Wind Ensemble

Chiggers are small red mites that are sometimes called red bugs or harvest mites. They are most prevalent during the summer and fall — especially in the southern United States. Chigger larvae attach themselves to the skin, release a destructive chemical that causes intense itching, and then fall from the body after becoming engorged with blood.

Bites are most commonly found on the feet, legs, and at the beltline and neckline. Golfers, berry pickers, farmers, hunters, and picnickers are frequently affected.

There are three approaches to avoiding chigger bites: (1) Stay out of weeds and grasses. (2) Wear clothing that fits tightly at the ankles, waist, and neckline. (3) Use insect repellent lotions or sprays. Although repellents are not universally effective, they will turn away some chiggers and reduce the number of bites.

When chigger bites occur, the primary symptom is itching which can be relieved to some extent by any of several non-prescription products. These include several skin preparations as well as oral antihistamines. Inflammation may be relieved by hydrocortisone preparations.

Program focuses on careers

By ANN CHOWDHURY

Planning her future and reaching for a dream is confusing for a junior high age girl in a world of changing expectations and values for women. Help is at hand in a Schoolcraft College summer class, Bright and Female.

The class will help girls plan their future by exploring careers in which they already are interested, and some which they may never have known existed.

As part of the program they will have the opportunity to spend time with mentors (local professional women) as they go about their jobs.

They will choose mentors in such fields as engineering, medicine, aviation, financial planning or journalism among others.

Robert Burnside, coordinator of the Talented and Gifted Program, said the class is designed for the junior high rather than the senior high student so the girls will still have time to plan a high school program accordingly.

Mary Ellen Goodwin, volunteer coordinator of Schoolcraft's Women's Resource Center, will teach the class.

She said that, when she taught girls in senior high school, she noticed that some suddenly decided in their senior year that they wanted to go to college, but had not taken the right classes.

"A lot of young women really don't look beyond high school," she said. "They don't think they need to do so."

"Even some parents who are college graduates really expect the schools to do the planning. When a young girl goes to a counselor and says, 'I'm not going to college and I'm going to take this, this and this,' I think the counselors often go along with what the students want to take."

She explained that the class will allow the girls to think seriously about their future, explore their attitudes and those of society towards the role of today's woman.

They will learn to explore their own

MARY ELLEN GOODWIN

"A lot of young women really don't look beyond high school. They don't feel they need to do so."

Mary Ellen Goodwin

values as a basis for making decisions.

The text book for the class, Choices: A Teen Woman's Journal for Self-awareness and Personal Planning, is a workbook which is planned to help young women plan ahead to reach their dreams and to assure them that it's all right to aim for ambitious or non-traditional careers.

Goodwin noted that there are many sources of funding for women who want to follow non-traditional careers. Planning to finance a college education or training program is part of the class.

Goodwin's philosophy in helping young persons plan their futures is not to limit their dreams.

One of her own daughters, a senior at Purdue, has wanted to be a pilot since she was small. She took her first flying lesson at 15 and will have her first job as a pilot this summer.

"I thought being a pilot was a nice thing to think about, but I did not think it would materialize for her," Goodwin said. "I kept my doubts to myself."

Her other daughter, a 1986 high school graduate, will attend the Fashion Institute of Technology in Manhattan. "My two daughters' dreams are very different," she said. "You have to look at your children as individuals."

Her philosophy is summed up in a favorite poem by Kahlil Gibran - "Your children are not your children. You are the bow, and they are the arrow and you fling them as far as you can."

The class will start July 7 and run for four weeks. It will meet Monday, Wednesday and Thursday from 1 to 3:45 p.m. For the last three weeks of the course the class will be held Monday and Thursday and, sometime during the week, the girls will meet with their mentors. Each student will meet three mentors, one each week.

Parents will be responsible for transportation, including driving their daughters to the mentors' place of work.

The class will cost $70, which includes the cost of the text book. Some scholarships are available through the Women's Resource Center.

Walk in registration is June 30 and July 1, from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Contact the Continuing Education Office at Schoolcraft College, 591-6400, Ext. 410, for further information about the class or Ext. 431 for scholarship information.

Williams writes duet score as he enters retirement

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

After 32 years as a teacher in the Northville School District, Robert Williams is calling it quits.

Williams, 57, is best known as the band director for Northville High School from 1959 to 1981, and, of the eight teachers in the district to retire in 1986, Williams has spent the most time in the area's teaching ranks of any of them.

"I just plain need something else to do," Williams said just prior to his last day on the job before school recessed for the year.

When Williams came to the district as an assistant band director in 1954, the new high school was only in the planning stages. He had previously worked as a substitute teacher in the Detroit area while working on his master's degree from Wayne State.

When the new high school was completed in 1959, Williams was promoted to band director, a post he held for over 20 years. In addition, Williams was working as a full time teacher at the high school, teaching theory, arranging and other aspects of music.

Over the years, Williams taught most areas of study when the need arose, including English, science and math.

"I did a little of everything as far as teaching," Williams pointed out. "My main job was being the band director, but the other subjects went along with it, whenever the need arose."

As the band director, Williams had the opportunity to work with the students both in and out of the classroom. It made for a very rewarding relationship for both teacher and student.

"My recollection about my teaching in Northville is 99-percent positive and good," Williams said. "I was one of the fortunate teachers because most of my students became personal friends of mine and that's great."

Williams admits that the highlights of his years as the band director are too numerous to point out, but several stand out.

One of the most satisfying accomplishments for Williams didn't really emerge until years later. He organized the Northville jazz music program, when college band directors were criticizing that brand of music. It was the first program of its kind in the state — but it wasn't until much later that Williams realized what he had started.

"Our program was the first in the state," he related. "For 10 years we had one and nobody else did. I never really thought of it that way before, but I guess you could say we were the pioneers of the high school jazz programs."

"Now, you don't have a music program unless you have a jazz program. Jazz is really the American classical music, and I could understand why it wasn't being promoted."

Williams also organized an adult jazz group that met every Wednesday night for over 10 years. Williams remembers when many of the best jazz musicians from Detroit would travel out to Northville to play with the group.

Another highlight is that 15 former students went on to become band directors themselves. Williams is also very proud of the enormous numbers of former students who received music scholarships over the years after leaving his program in Northville.

"Almost every day of my life, I enjoyed getting up and going to work," he said.

Although he hasn't any concrete plans for his retirement years, Williams' involvement in music and a love for airplanes are two areas guaranteed to keep him just as busy as ever.

Williams has been a commercial pilot and a flight instructor for 25 years and plans to continue his flying as long as possible.

"The flight instruction is very tentative because, when you get my age, they get very particular," Williams explained. "As long as I'm healthy as I am, I'll continue to fly."

Williams has been working hard the past two years on building his own airplane from scratch, and hopes it will be ready for flying by September. Seven former flying students also are in the process of building the same type of plane, and all eight help each other out.

"We got the plans and started from scratch," Williams said. "It's really more than a hobby to me."

In addition, Williams is a member of three big bands that currently play gigs in and around the Detroit area. He also plans to start writing music and poetry again.

"If I can work three nights a week regularly working in the bands, I wouldn't have to take another job," he said.

Three of Williams' four children went to Northville schools, and all are musicians. Williams has only good things to say about the teachers in the district.

"All of my kids got a great education in Northville," he declared. "There are absolutely astounding teachers here."

With a hand in so many different projects, it appears Williams likely will be a very busy man. To top it off, at his retirement party, he proposed to Northville High School teacher Marie Hopkins and she accepted. Williams will have to find time for the wedding.

DORAL L. LAPHAM

Dora L. Lapham, a native of Novi and former longtime Northville resident, died May 21 at Lakeland Medical Center in Lakeland, Fla., at the age of 89.

Funeral services were held in Lakeland where Mrs. Lapham had lived for the past 15 years.

A member of the Northville United Methodist Church, Mrs. Lapham attended First United Methodist Church in Lakeland.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Lucille Bauman of Jacksonville, Fla., and Mrs. Lorraine Fiser of Mentor, Ohio, six grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

She was preceded in death by her husband, Luther B. Lapham, in 1980.

ERNEST C. FISHER

Funeral service for Ernest C. Fisher of New Hudson, a life resident of the area, was held at 11 a.m. Monday at Casterline Funeral Home Inc. The Rev. Robert Mitchinson of New Hudson United Methodist Church where Mr. Fisher was a member officiated.

Mr. Fisher, who was 89, had been a self-employed hauler of cattle and livestock.

He died June 20 at St. Mary

Hospital in Livonia.

Mr. Fisher was born May 11, 1897, in Plymouth to William and Jennie (Westfall) Fisher. He married his wife Ann K. in 1938.

In addition to his wife he leaves a stepson, Olois Kudiza, brother Clyde of Plymouth and sister Camill Barlett of Livonia.

Burial was in Riverside Cemetery in Plymouth. The family suggests that memorial tributes may be made to the New Hudson United Methodist Church.

MILDRED S. CROSS

Mildred S. Cross, a Northville resident since 1950, died June 14 at Providence Hospital in Southfield at the age of 69.

Funeral service was held at 1 p.m. June 17 at Casterline Funeral Home Inc. with the Rev. Eric S. Hammar, minister of First United Methodist Church of Northville where Mrs. Cross was a member, officiating.

Burial was in Rural Hill Cemetery. Mrs. Cross, who was a homemaker and a foster parent, was born Sept. 28, 1916, in Detroit to Earl and Grace (Giebel) Sharpe.

She leaves her husband, Charles, and daughter, Mrs. James (Cathy) Totzkay of Northville.

While Hardesty said he was aware of the state police and sheriff's department teams, he maintains the establishment of the joint squad was essential.

"It takes a while for state police or the sheriff's department to respond," Hardesty said. "And when they do, they take over the operation."

While admitting there has been no incident in the last four and a half years where a special operations unit would have been an asset in Northville Township, he noted that there had been incidents in other communities where the team could have helped had it existed.

"But most importantly, we at the Northville Township Police Department have primary responsibility to protect the citizens of the township and, if a situation develops where a special operations team is needed, we could provide that service almost immediately," Hardesty said.

The chief described the team as being trained to handle critical situations — barricaded gunmen, hostage situations and the like.

"If there is a need to call in a special team, I want to know that the people in the front line working to defuse the situation are men familiar with the area," Hardesty added.

Twenty five officers currently are involved in the tactical portion of the state police emergency support team and another eight officers, including one assigned to the Northville State Police post, are trained as negotiators, explained state police Lt. Matthew Hogan, assistant Pontiac post commander.

Hogan noted his staff is fully trained and goes through additional four-day training sessions three times a year.

While maintaining the state police emergency support team was fully staffed and was provided with a full array of gear to handle potential problems, Hogan noted that, at times, time is of the essence in a special situation.

"The most critical time in a hostage situation is in the first 45 minutes to an hour," Hogan said.

"Sometimes, especially with our team members assigned to various state police posts, a local special operations squad can have a situation under control before we can arrive."

Tony Shannon, department executive director of training, programming and development for the Wayne County Sheriff's Department, noted a possible advantage in response time to local law enforcement agencies establishing their own special operations teams; however, he was quick to point out that if the local departments would make use of the sheriff's department squad, the squad would respect the local department's autonomy.

"The local police departments also would have greater familiarity with specialists who could be called upon for support, and I know they would know their own people and how to deal with them," Shannon said.

He noted that the tactical weapons team currently has 20 officers divided into four teams, pared from a list of 40 deputies who had indicated an interest in the program.

Those officers selected went through intensive psychological and physical tests, as well as specialized training to handle barricaded gunmen, hostage or terrorist situations.

The officers in the tactical weapons team also received advanced firearm training including instruction in the use of 308 and 226 rifles and the use of body armor.

"We have people constantly upgrading their training," Shannon noted.

Thus far, Shannon said, the cost of the program, including weapons, has averaged about $500 per person.

While five deputies are assigned to the sheriff's office in downtown Detroit, Shannon said the majority of the officers are assigned to the airport division.

While not giving wholesale approval to the creation of a special operations team in Northville Township, Supervisor Susan Heintz said she is not at all opposed to the idea.

"With the (Northville Regional Psychiatric) hospital and the number of prisons in the immediate vicinity, it certainly can't hurt to have trained personnel in the event a crisis develops," Heintz said.

She added, however, the board of trustees would "pay careful attention to the project."

Seniors will picnic inside

Northville Senior Citizens' Club will be holding its annual picnic July 15, Leon Price, club president, announces.

It will be held at noon in room 216 at the senior center at 501 W. Main. Those attending are to bring a dish to pass.

There will be games and prizes.

However, Supervisor Susan Heintz said the township would ask the firm to sign an agreement guaranteeing a continuation of the testing program for wells in the township which about the Napier Road site.

Preliminary testing indicated some contamination was found in wells near the site, but the source could not be attributed to the operations of the landfill.

"We don't feel, after the testing, that there is a problem with the wells," said Robert K. Line, market development manager.

"In one way, residents should be pleased we have purchased the landfill. We completed the testing and would not have bought the site had there been any problems with contamination," explained Kenneth Wishnick, BFI governmental affairs manager, east central region.

Wishnick said also the firm was "more than willing" to work with the various municipalities and governmental units which have an interest in the landfill.

Wishnick added that BFI intends to continue operating under guidelines imposed by the state and federal governments. In addition to the landfill, BFI also controls trucks and vehicles transporting solid waste to the site.

Line and Wishnick both explained, however, that BFI trucks are not given preferential treatment in terms of charges.

"It is a public landfill and we do not give 'discounts' to our trucks. Everyone is charged the same amount," Line said.

3 generations of Ely family have fueled community

time to purchase the ice from Detroit City Ice and Fuel.

Selling ice and coal together was as traditional as furniture and funerals at that time, according to Chuck. Originally there were three coal dealers in Northville and competition in the ice business.

The Elys were the only company to survive, however, because they out-worked the competition.

"We would deliver seven days a week," Chuck remembers. "The others didn't want to. If you wanted ice on Sunday, you had to have it from us the rest of the week, too. That makes sense doesn't it?"

He jokes that he often added extra services, too, like occasionally changing a baby's diaper for busy mothers on his round, little extras the competition didn't think of!

He did take time out of the business to study business at Ferris Institute where he met his wife, Margaret.

Chuck and Ivan worked with their father to increase the business, adding an office and increased parking area. In 1939 they established a larger, more separate fuel and oil business.

They discontinued ice deliveries in 1956 when the brothers assumed full management of the business. Carl Ely passed away in 1960.

The changes continued. They pulled down the old ice house and expanded into a summertime gardening center, maintaining the fuel oil business in the winter months.

It was an impulse decision made when he called Ivan at 3 a.m. one morning. Chuck admits that he jumped into the gardening business unable to tell the difference between a pansy and a petunia.

Like his father, he was a quick study and a born salesman. A customer once asked him a question about a plant that he could not answer. She retorted that no one should work in a field he did not understand. She then pointed to a plant that caught her interest, and Ely was ready.

"That's a shrimp plant," he told her. "On shrimp boats they get all these shrimps down in the bilge and periodically they have to clean it out. They throw it up on the shore and all of a sudden these shrimp plants start growing. Do you know she bought the whole flat!"

A few years later the brothers' two sons, Charles Ely Jr. (Clancy) and E.

ivan Ely Jr. (Chips) bought the fuel oil part of the business from their fathers.

Next they purchased the garden center which they converted into a hardware store in the early 1970s. In 1976 Clancy bought out Chip's share of the business.

service for automatic fill customers. "If they run out of fuel, it's my fault because I'm supposed to know when they're ready for a load of heating oil."

The service department offers fuel efficiency tests, installation of furnaces and heating equipment, burner replacement and equipment upgrading.

The business was recently featured in the Michigan Petroleum Association's magazine, "Michigan Petroleum Marketer." It credited Ely, who is chairman of the association's Fuel Oil Committee, with keeping abreast of the latest developments in the industry as well as in governmental programs affecting home heating oil consumers.

He says of his role in the long history of the Elys in Northville, "I have always felt that I have never come up with anything really original here I'm just taking a good idea and keeping it going. You've just got to keep coming, to work to see what will happen next."

What he does not admit is that like his father and grandfather, he is now one that makes the next thing happen.

All in the Family Part III:

Being the sole manager of two business proved too much for even a hard-working Ely. There were just not enough days in the week. "My wife, Phyllis, says the business is my other mistress," Clancy jokes.

To make the situation workable he sold the hardware business in 1980, but retained ownership of the building. He has leased the store space to SawMill Unfinished Furniture. A front section of the building is leased to the Donut Scene. With the money from the hardware store he purchased rental property in Northville.

Now that he has more time he is expanding the office of Ely Fuel to include a larger showroom for furnaces.

The business, branded Mobil since the mid-1940s, has seven employees, owns five tankwagons and distributes heating oil over a 20 mile radius. It does a steady one million gallon volume annually with about 85 percent in residential home heating oil.

In the Ely tradition, he offers that little extra to the customer, a 24 hour service, including 24-hour delivery

Clancy Ely hugs his father, Charles (Chuck) and mother, Margaret

Joint funding payments will be revised

By ANITA CRONE

In the future, the Northville Recreation Department may be receiving its money from the city and the township under a different time frame, but the change will not come about this quarter.

Northville Township, which contributes approximately 60 percent of the department's operating budget, earlier this month withheld a $27,000 payment after Treasurer Richard Henningsen noted the department was now solvent and there was no need to pay the township's share of the funding in advance.

Recreation Department Director

John Anderson noted the commission would be changing its billing cycle in the future so both the township and the city would provide funds on a regular basis.

He said the department had been through some "rough times" but indicated the department was now able to meet its financial obligations on time.

Neither Henningsen nor Anderson said they knew whether the township would meet its obligation on a quarterly or a monthly basis.

Under the terms of a cooperative services agreement dated April 1, 1977, funding for the recreation department would be assessed so the township would pay "a portion of its contribution sufficient to meet projected expenses each month during April, May and June and the city would contribute a portion of its contribution sufficient to meet expenses in July, August and September until the partial contribution of each party is proportionate to the cost-sharing formula provided herein; thereafter both parties shall contribute a portion of their contributions sufficient to meet projected expenses each month..."

Anderson said the majority of the department's expenditures occurred during the summer months.

Henningsen countered, however, that it was "unfair" to expect township taxpayers to contribute to a "front-end load" whereby all payments were due at the beginning of the township's fiscal year.

"It's not that we were trying to not pay our fair share — we just didn't want to pay it all at once," the treasurer said.

Steven Walters, city treasurer, said he "personally had no objection" to the township changing its payment procedure, but indicated he would have preferred for the township to sit down with the city and discuss the proposed change.

Council creates 2 new redevelopment districts

The owners of two properties within the city limits have asked the city council to consider zoning their properties as commercial redevelopment districts.

Marx Development Co., Inc., which owns property on the southeast corner of Center and Dunlap intends to demolish the existing structure and build an office/retail building on the site.

Council gave its approval to the creation of the district at Center and Dunlap, a move R. Michael Haggerty, president of the firm, said was essential to his firm's construction plans.

A second public hearing on a request to create a commercial redevelopment district on Main near Griswold has been scheduled for July 7 during a regularly-scheduled council meeting. Owners of that property intend to build a hotel.

They indicated they intend to seek a tax abatement.

Haggerty added he hopes to ask for a tax abatement to construct his building, which will include the company's world headquarters as its main tenant.

In scheduling a public hearing for the creation of the district, council noted it was in no way indicating it would give approval for an abatement should Haggerty request one.

Nor did the council promise it would provide an abatement for the bed and breakfast hotel on Main Street. However, establishment of a commercial redevelopment district is essential before an abatement request can be instituted.

Novi declines to join in Haggerty sewer plans

Novi officials June 16 tendered a "thanks, but no thanks" response to Northville Township's invitation to tie into a sanitary sewer system expected to render Haggerty Road south of Eight Mile a solid economic base for commercial development.

Under the agreement, Novi would have been charged a minimum of $350,000 to tie into the north-south sewer interceptor. However, the additional capacity added to the township's sewage line would have accommodated only Novi's Orchard Hill Place development along Haggerty Road.

According to Novi City Manager Edward Kriewall, The Samelson Group can provide its own sewage disposal much more efficiently without tying into the township's system, therefore the benefit to the City of Novi appears nonexistent.

Northville Township's engineering firm, McNeely and Lincoln Associates, is expected to conclude preliminary design of the system in the near future.

The special assessment bonds shall mature serially in not to exceed fifteen (15) annual installments, with interest payable on the unpaid balance at a rate of not to exceed 13% per annum, or such higher rate of interest as may be authorized by law.

SOURCE OF PAYMENT OF BONDS

The principal and interest of the special assessment bonds shall be payable primarily from collections of an equal amount of special assessments and the bonds shall also pledge the full faith and credit of the City of Novi.

IN CASE OF THE INSUFFICIENCY OF THE SPECIAL ASSESSMENTS, THE PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST ON THE BONDS SHALL BE PAYABLE FROM THE GENERAL FUNDS OF THE CITY OR, IF NECESSARY, FROM AD VALOREM TAXES LEVIED UPON ALL TAXABLE PROPERTY IN THE CITY, SUBJECT TO APPLICABLE CHARTER, STATUTORY AND CONSTITUTIONAL LIMITATIONS.

RIGHT OF REFERENDUM

THE BONDS WILL BE ISSUED WITHOUT VOTE OF THE ELECTORS UNLESS A PETITION REQUESTING AN ELECTION ON THE QUESTION OF ISSUING THE BONDS, SIGNED BY NOT LESS THAN 10% OF THE REGISTERED ELECTORS IN THE CITY, IS FILED WITH THE CITY COUNCIL BY DEPOSITING SAID PETITION WITH THE CITY CLERK WITHIN FORTY-FIVE (45) DAYS AFTER PUBLICATION OF THIS NOTICE. If such a petition is filed, the bonds cannot be issued without an approving vote of a majority of electors voting on the question

THIS NOTICE is given pursuant to the requirements of Section 5 (g) of Act 297, Public Acts of Michigan, 1909, as amended. Further information concerning the matters set out in this notice may be secured from the City Clerk's office.

Wilkerson escapes Lucas' shadow in executive race

Frank Wilkerson first met William Lucas 17 years ago when both were called to speak before a church congregation about crime problems and youth.

Wilkerson, then employed by the state Office of Criminal Justice Programs, and Lucas, representing Detroit Mayor Roman Gribbs, "liked each other's style," Wilkerson recalled.

A year later Lucas picked Wilkerson to become his jail administrator in the Wayne County Sheriff's Department, and, when Lucas was elected county executive in 1982, he named Wilkerson as one of his four assistants.

Today, Wilkerson is running to replace Lucas as county executive in a Democratic field of 10 others. But since Lucas' decision to become a Republican last year and run for governor, Wilkerson cannot expect support from the man down the hall.

"Having been in the executive's office for the past three and a half years, I saw priorities and problems that I disagreed with," said Wilkerson in discussing his reasons for running.

A resident of Southfield until moving back to Detroit to seek the executive's job, Wilkerson outlined a list of "top priorities" in his campaign. Most focused on economic concerns, though he said in a recent interview he is particularly concerned with Wayne County taking an active role to combat social ills such as illiteracy and juvenile delinquency.

Wilkerson said he would "put additional pressure" on the state Legislature to take responsibility over funding attorney services for indigent clients, a cost to Wayne County today of $5-$6 million.

"The state has taken over salary payments for judges in the circuit court and probate court and should take over payments of indigent fees," he said. "It's a matter for the state Legislature to pick up that remaining chunk of expenditures."

Wilkerson said he would force controls on spending by putting a cap on the county's outside business expenses.

"We (the current administration) never really looked at the business aspect of saving money. We looked at the unions (in seeking money-saving concessions) because that was the most obvious (source of savings)."

"We're going to go over every account, audit it and set a cap on these accounts," he said. "We're not going to pay more (than necessary)." The Michigan Department of Transportation found its lowest bid on resurfacing the Lodge Freeway was astronomically high. They rebid it and saved $6 million.

Eliminating "fat" within the county's own $200 million budget would focus on the sheriff's department, which accounts for 49 percent of expenses, he said. Calling sheriff services "an ever-growing, insatiable animal eating up our tax dollars," he blamed the county's construction in 1984 of the Baird Detention Center on Curtis, in Detroit, for "tripling" staff sizes and costs to the county.

"I'd like to see the jail sold to the state and see us build a new jail."

He criticized the structure for being poorly designed and "staff intensive" and said he would work to unload it on the state. Then the county could build a new jail, he said.

Noting the state's continued need for more prison space, he suggested it could use the Baird Center for a minimum security site. "(Wayne County) simply can't have a jail which requires two officers to guard 14-16 prisoners. It's too much."

He also proposed streamlining county services by turning tax collection over to local governments.

"I don't see why local municipalities can't collect that. Why should the county be in that business? It's additional overhead."

In addition to those areas, Wilkerson said both the County Board of Commissioners and the executive's office "could get along with less. They (the commissioners) have far too many aides for the kind of responsibility they have."

"We're talking about survival now," he said. "When you look at Wayne County losing $13 million in federal revenue sharing and the state being cut $380 million by the Gramm-Rudman-Hollings Amendment, some of which is going to affect Wayne County, we're talking about a budget that's going to be difficult to keep balanced."

Wilkerson has been a government employee since 1963, after graduating from Wayne State University with a bachelor's degree in psychology. He also attended Northeast High School after moving to Detroit from Tennessee.

Digging his work

A solitary workman on his machine is the only traffic allowed on Beck Road as work continues to pave the north-south roadway. While Beck Road is closed south of Ten Mile Road, traffic has had an easier time recently with the opening up of Novi Road. Construction is expected to continue through the summer.

Maps offer more details than just locations

Do you sometimes feel lost when you venture into different areas of Oakland County? Oakland County's Planning Division has a number of maps to help.

The division's Property Description, U.S. Geological Survey, Base, Thematic, and Street Index maps are efficient and easy to use. In addition to being street guides, these maps provide the location of lakes, streams, parks, businesses, homes and buildings.

"These maps furnish pertinent information about Oakland County. We are sure people will find them to be a great resource," said Oakland County Executive Daniel T. Murphy.

It's easy and inexpensive to get the maps you need. To do so, simply go to the Planning Division, which is located in the Executive Office Building in the Oakland County Service Center, 1200 North Telegraph Road in Pontiac. Business hours are from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday. Here's an explanation of the types of information available from the different maps:

- Property Description Maps: These maps define property lines for all public and private lots. They include names of subdivisions, streets, lakes, tax numbers, and property dimensions. Aerial photos can be combined with these maps.

- U.S. Geological Survey Maps: These are detailed topographic maps published by the U.S. Geological Survey. They include latitude and longitude. Contour lines show ground elevations. Color is used to distinguish man-made and natural features.

- Base Maps: These show existing streets, highways, railroads, lakes and streams. Each item is accurately located and named. Township, city, and village boundaries also are clearly indicated.

- Thematic Maps: These include a base map with a particular topic of your choice. Some of the "themes" are zip codes, school districts, voting precincts, population densities by square mile, zoning, land use and natural resources.

- Street Index Maps: These maps are printed in a set of four maps representing southeast, southwest, northeast and northwest sections of Oakland County. Each quadrant map includes information on services offered by Oakland County governmental agencies, facts about local governments and special attractions in each area. (Due to popular demand, the Planning Division presently is out of the southeast quadrant maps.) Another item provided by the Planning Division is custom Aerial Photographic enlargements. The pictures can be made to almost any specification and are available in less than a week. You may have use for an aerial if you need, for example, to locate a home, place of business, accident site or vacant property.

The Planning Division also prepares and collects population, housing, income and school facts among other data. Call the division at 858-0720, if you need information of this type.

Our Opinions

Special operation: SWAT it down

The request by the Northville Township Police Department for funds to enter into a mutual aid special operations team with the City of Northville the city and township of Plymouth, Van Buren and Canton townships and the City of Belleville on the surface seems like a fine idea.

There can be no doubt that communities working together for a stated goal only enhances the abilities of the individual members to solve individual and joint problems. And, with the increased number of participants, the costs are proportionately decreased. We have no objection to the joint effort.

In this case, however, banding together for a special operations team — more commonly known as SWAT — seems to be a duplication of hopefully unnecessary services.

The Wayne County Sheriff's Department and the Michigan State Police already have special operations teams in place. The state police have had their unit functioning since 1974 and the sheriff's department put together its team a year ago. The communities involved in this latest team effort have ready access to both units.

It is interesting to note that for the past four and a half years, the township police department has had no call for such a unit. And while we do not deny, as Chief Kenneth Hardesty has said, there is always the possibility of such a team being needed, we fail to see the rationale for any expenditure for such a team.

No one can deny the potential for disaster exists. After all, as recently as Monday a robbery attempt of a California jewelry store escalated into a hostage situation where a SWAT team was called in to help quell the violence. Three people died as a result of that incident.

Nor can we deny the potential for such a tragic situation exists in Northville Township, given the nearby location of Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital, and the number of prisons located in the area.

What we fail to see, and have yet to be convinced of, is the necessity for yet another special operations team to be created. This effort seems to be a less-than-necessary expenditure of manpower and dollars.

Given the sharp eye township treasurer Richard Henningsen keeps on expenditures, it is surprising to us he allowed township funds to be expended for the team, without some reference to duplication of services.

Given the proximity of the state police post in Northville and the sheriff's department at the airport, we fail to see what difference 10 minutes would make should the need arise for a SWAT team to be mobilized.

There is a case to be made for increased training among police officers. There also is a case to be made that police officers in both the township and the city (which has opted out of the special operations team for the time being) are well-trained and very professional. And there is also the case to be made that the officers, at least initially selected for special operations team training, have been chosen not only for their professionalism, but for their psychological makeup as well. But that is now and here.

Individual communities cannot be expected to exercise control over the officers other communities enroll in the program. Nor can individual police chiefs be expected to know intimately the makeup of the men in other departments. And what would happen in the future if a new chief of police should be appointed who may not have his community's best interests at heart? The scenario for tragedy is inherent in the creation of this team.

While we have been reassured that the individual chiefs of police are paying close attention to concerns as they hammer out the procedures for the implementation and makeup of the special operations team and that the actual formation of the team is still nearly a year away, we feel it imperative that close attention be paid to their efforts every step of the way. We would prefer that the communities involved turn to the teams already in place. But since they did not, we hope that supervisors, mayors, trustees and council members take steps to ensure the financial expenditures and the cost in terms of manpower for the special operations team is justified.

Evaluate tradition

The absence of a baccalaureate among Northville High School graduation events this year was disturbing — in some measure because it raised so little comment. It is not an unusual omission today, however, as many schools have dispensed with this tradition.

We hope there will be consideration of returning the baccalaureate service to the graduation agenda next year. While it is true that many graduates attend services in their own churches on the Sunday before commencement, it should not be impossible to schedule a baccalaureate service at a time that does not conflict with regular church services.

About a dozen years ago the services were held at 8 p.m. in the high school gymnasium with the program including participation by two ministers and a priest.

In 1977 serious consideration was given to eliminating the baccalaureate service inasmuch as about 25 percent of the class had been attending in the years preceding. After discussion, the service was retained and was held in the gymnasium at 9 a.m. Sunday. Slightly more than one third of the class — 131 seniors in caps and gowns — attended.

This was a difficult year at the high school with construction a top priority. Next year, as the Class of 1987 prepares to graduate, we would like to see discussion at the student, administrative, parent and board level. A tradition that adds meaning to commencement deserves this consideration.

Kitchener en route

By Jean Day

Phil and Diane Jerome should be here, I opined as I watched a couple trying out exercise and weight lifting equipment that looked like "state of the art" caliber in the recreation and fitness center of the Valhalla Inn in Kitchener, Ont. The observation was made from a 26-person whirlpool adjacent to the center, which might explain why Diane still can wear her wedding gown, and I probably can't.

The fitness center in this Canadian hotel also includes an indoor swimming pool, squash courts, sauna, bowling lanes and mini-golf and table tennis games. These accouterments were not the reason for the stay, however.

Why are you going to Kitchener? friends asked when told of last weekend's itinerary. As a practical matter, the town in the Waterloo region of Ontario was chosen as a stop en route to Niagara on the Lake. It was possible to drive there after work and still have time to walk down the street to dine at the fully restored landmark Walper Terrace Hotel where original tiles still decorate the floor of the corner dining room.

Actually, from childhood trips to visit family I had memories of the Galt, Kitchener and Preston areas. My Canadian cousins had played in the community band in parks in these towns. It was an event of our visit to attend these summer concerts in the park. The meandering stream still was there in Galt — and all the parks were blooming with carefully tended flower beds. The towns of Galt, Preston and Hespeler now are under the blanket name of Cambridge but still looked familiar with their oatmeal brick and stone houses. The amalgamation forming the new city took place in 1973.

Kitchener today is a pleasant surprise. Across from the Valhalla (rated four diamond by AAA) is the farmers' market and the new Market Square, a glass-enclosed square of shops, including an Eaton's store. There's a not-at-all traditional town clock in a glass spire.

Kitchener is a Mennonite region and will host the bicentennial celebration of the Mennonite people in Canada this summer. The Waterloo-Cambridge area also boasts many factory outlet stores for shoes and clothing.

Niagara on the Lake this year is celebrating the 25th anniversary of its now-famous Shaw Festival. Considered one of the prettiest in Ontario (or anywhere), the town at the top of the Niagara peninsula was the original capital of Ontario and boasts more restored early 1800s homes than any other I've seen.

For anyone wishing an "easy" weekend, I strongly recommend it. The main street is lined with gift shops and restaurants. Works of George Bernard Shaw are presented along with other offerings in the Festival Theatre, Court House Theatre (where the festival began in 1961) and the tiny Royal George Theatre.

Last weekend's fare was excellent: "Arms and the Man," a Shaw satire on war, was showing at the Festival Theatre while a lively "Girl Crazy" by George and Ira Gershwin played to sellout audiences both Friday and Saturday at the Royal George.

Like many other local residents, I've been heading for the Shaw festival as often as possible since the late 1960s. While the festival has spilled over into two additional theatres and the 1864-vintage Prince of Wales Hotel has expanded with additions into a 94-room hotel and a factory has become the Pillar and Post Hotel, the town somehow has retained its charm. There also are many bed and breakfast rooms in private homes. It's possible to find oneself sleeping in an antique four poster bed in a room with wide floorboards.

Bordering on Lake Ontario and the Niagara River, the Niagara Parkway begins at Niagara on the Lake and winds down to historic Queenston and Niagara Falls. The parkway at this time of year is filled with stands of fresh fruit, and there are turn-off areas for picnicking and looking at the river. In fact, many people don't even venture into the crowds downriver to look at the falls. The town at the top is a "wonder" of its own to me — and all of Canada is a bargain with the exchange rate of about $1.36 in Canadian dollars for an American one.

After the Fact

By Phil Jerome

She had been trying to reassure me all night long.

Which was O.K. because I needed reassurance. Ever since Don Johnson and Miami Vice burst on the scene, she had been trying to get me to spruce up my wardrobe a bit. You know ... dress a bit more fashionably.

And in a weak moment I had given in. Gone out to the store and bought a new outfit. Baggy white pants, unstructured light yellow jacket and one of those black Italian T-shirts to wear underneath it.

I knew you didn't need a tie with an outfit like that. But she told me wing-tips just didn't make it with the Miami Vice look and made me go out and buy some kind of Italian shoes that you're supposed to wear without socks.

My new clothes made their debut last Saturday night. I made sure we didn't go any place local, of course. I figured white pants, yellow jackets and black T-shirts would be less conspicuous in someplace like Ann Arbor than they would be around here. Besides, I figured the chances of being seen by someone I knew were considerably lower in Ann Arbor.

So I donned my new duds and headed for A-squared feeling a lot more like Don Knotts than Don Johnson.

"I feel foolish," I told her. She responded that wearing clothes is a matter of attitude. "If you feel foolish, you'll look foolish. But if you feel stylish when you're wearing clothes like that, you'll look stylish."

The advice worked well because I was really feeling and looking good before the night was over.

"I think those people over there are looking at me," I told her as we were leaving the restaurant. "Probably think I'm Don Johnson."

"I think they're looking at you because you've got your sunglasses on," she sighed, a note of frustration in her voice.

"What's wrong with that," I asked. "Don Johnson wears sunglasses all the time."

"Not at 11 o'clock at night, he doesn't, turkey."

VFW offers thanks

To the Editor and the Community of Northville:

The one incident that marred our Memorial Day observance has been rectified.

The 11 American flags that were stolen have been returned.

We do not know who took them and that is of little significance. We are grateful that they were returned.

Thank you to Jean Day in her editorial of May 28 for perhaps stirring up someone's conscience or making a parent alert to the sudden appearance of new flags. Thank you to the police department also for their help.

State reaffirms promise on single-bunking issue

While the Michigan Legislature has passed a bill extending multiple bunking in prisons through Jan. 1, 1987, and is expected to extend that deadline until Jan. 1, 1988, state Rep. Gerald Law, R-Plymouth, has obtained a signed letter from state officials reaffirming their commitment to single bunking.

The letter, signed by Robert Brown, Jr., director of the Department of Corrections and Robert Nafaty, director of the Department of Management and Budget, states, in part: "The purpose of this letter is to reaffirm our commitment to expeditiously continue converting the Western Wayne Correctional Facility to a 500 bed single-cell occupancy medium security prison."

Law said he asked for the letter to have a record of the state's intentions to turn the facility into a single cell facility, although the Legislature has extended its timetable for the renovation of the facility.

"The promise when the state bought it was that Western Wayne would be totally converted to single cell occupancy," Law said. "I understand there have been some problems with the conversion but that doesn't change the agreement."

Law said it was his understanding the Corrections Department was committed to single-cell occupancy and the department had built the Phoenix Center to house 311 persons and that the Scott Regional Correctional Facility, when opened later this year, would house a maximum of 650 persons.

Tax issue considered

The Michigan Tax Commission is expected to decide by the end of August whether Northville Township can place the property upon which the Detroit House of Corrections was located on the tax rolls.

Commission chairman Robert Vandemark said Northville Township's request had been received by the commission and was currently being evaluated by the membership and the commission's counsel.

"The tax rolls are not complete until December, so apparently there is no rush on this matter," Vandemark said.

However, the city of Detroit, which owns the land, had contested the township's intent to place the property on the tax rolls and had filed suit in the Michigan Tax Tribunal. None of the involved parties would comment on the status of the suit, which named the township, the county of Wayne and Northville Public Schools as defendants.

A separate suit had been filed against Plymouth Township.

Serving up topical punch

By Bruce J. Martin

Hey columnists — don't throw those old leftovers away. With a little spice and a few dots (...) with each ingredient they can make a zesty topical punch like this one...

... Journalism is to prose as ad jingles are to music. That thought occurred to me after I'd been talking to a friend about how frustrating it is to reduce what's important about life to a string of news flashes about rezonings, businesses, crime and the other all-too-mundane stuff that passes for items of interest in the black-and-white pages. On the other hand, it's not easy to lead off the paper with stories about sunsets, music, fantasies, games, dreams, art, love, baseball strategy, phases of the moon, tasteless jokes, etc. etc.

... I think we may be making progress on this score, however. On the front page of The Novi News last week, not once did the words "city council" or "planning commission" appear. I think this may have been a first.

... I read an article recently about a critically-acclaimed recording artist who modestly submitted that anybody could produce a great work of art if properly motivated. "If someone were to tell you you would be shot at the end of one year unless you produced a great work of art," he said, "you could be another Mozart."

... Which doesn't explain my theory that for most people, the most artistically productive years generally are the first dozen or so. For seven years you hone your skills in elementary art lessons, crafting papier mache heads, tints, valentine boxes, Mothers Day cards, cutouts, chalks, finger paints, clay animals and ashtrays... Then as you board the bus for junior high school, whammo. The ability to make papier mache is replaced by the ability to spell it.

... A writer I admire wrote: "It's never too late to have a happy childhood."

... One of the most enjoyable things about movies is watching the female and male lead strike sparks in the early going. I sometimes think it would make a great movie if someone just strung together a series of scenes of people falling in love. There's a visible, audible, tangible instant in real heart-tumbles — not the common kind in which the virtues and deficiencies of the prospective mate are sized up like an econ student charting a cost-benefit graph — where two people get struck and vibrate as fast as a harp string between the knowledge and the mystery of each other.

... After a lifetime of abstinence I took up smoking cigarettes for my 1986 New Year's resolution. I was getting too healthy. I would wake up every morning and not cough. I could run for hours without wheezing like an amplified bagpipe.

In just six months my life has changed dramatically, to the point where a couple trips up and down the soccer field are enough to make me dizzy. But the experience has been educational. For one thing, I now understand why people have trouble quitting. It's because those sneaky little dried out flakes of tobacco are utterly, perniciously addictive. They should be illegal.

... Why is it a woman finds a man in a three-piece suit irresistible, while a man prefers a woman in as little as possible for maximum fantasy stimulation? Don't know, but I'll stock up on three-piece suits.

School Notebook

EDITOR'S NOTE: Information for the School Notebook is sent to this newspaper by colleges, universities and organizations throughout the nation. Due to the vast student population of schools such as Michigan State University and University of Michigan, graduation and honors lists may take as long as 8 to 10 weeks to reach us. We print each item in the order we receive it.

KURT WARNING, son of Dale and Ebba Warning of Northville, graduated April 26 from Western Michigan University. He received a bachelor of science degree in geology.

Two Northville High School juniors were among the 100 students who participated in Operation Bentley, an eight-day intensive government study program at Albion College.

ROXANNE SERKAIAN, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Serkaian of 45755 Bloomcrest, and LUKE KAKOGEORGIOU, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charalampos Kakogeorgiou of 45780 Clement Court, participated in the May 16-24 program.

Students were selected on the basis of academic record, teacher recommendations, and high school and community involvement.

Students participated in an examination of the political process through classroom instruction, simulations and guest lectures by current political figures.

Twenty-one Northville residents were among the 619 Madonna College students receiving degrees at commencement ceremonies May 10.

Local students receiving degrees were ROBERT ADE, N. Hills Drive, Communication Arts; TRACY ADE, N. Hills Drive, Biology; CHERYL DE HOFF, Greenridge Drive, Nursing; PAULA DEMRAY, E. Main, Fashion Merchandising; SANDRA FLANNIGAN, Hill Street, Biology; FRANCINE HOLINOTY, Debra, Marketing; DEBRA JETT, W. Seven Mile, Legal Assistant; MELANIE KIRKMAN, Woodbend Drive, Nursing; SUZANNE KLOTZ, Eastfarm Lane, Nursing; FRANCES LAMB, Winchester Drive, Chemistry; KIM LEGEL, Winchester, Biology.

PATRICIA LICKMAN, Welch, Nursing; ELLEN LOUIS, Smock, Home Economics/Child Development; GORDON LYON, W. Main Street, Computer Information Systems; BARBARA MADIGAN, Forest Park, Legal Assistant; NICHOLAS PETLICK, Baseline, Computer Science; HELEN READING, Jamestown, Marketing; JULIE SCHNEIDER, Ironside, Biology; SUSAN TROMANS, Morgan Circle, Nursing; ELAINE VARGO, Linden, Home Economics/Family Life, and SHIRLEY BALDAS, Chatterton Court, Sociology.

Seven Northville residents were among the more than 1,000 Central Michigan University students named to the dean's list for the winter semester.

Among the students named to the dean's list were JEFFREY FESKO, 16506 Whitehaven, senior; CHRIS KALEY, 1022 Springfield, sophomore; RAYMOND McDONOUGH, 16212 Winchester, senior; MARJORIE MULLER, 724 Spring, senior; SUSAN PETERS, 21888 Cumberland, senior; EVELYN SMITH, 300 Sherrie, junior; JOHN VESELENAK, 849 W. Main, senior.

Honors students are chosen from the top 10 percent of each academic class. To qualify, freshmen must have earned a semester average of at least 3.52, sophomores must have earned 3.60, juniors must have earned 3.64 and seniors must have earned 3.73.

DALE BAIRD, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Baird of 22051 Cumberland, has been named to the dean's list for the second semester at Hope College. To be named to the dean's list, a student must have a minimum 3.5 grade point average on a 4.0 scale.

CYNTHIA M. MARTIN of 45202 Emery has earned the Geraldene Felton Leadership Award given each year by the School of Nursing at Oakland University in conjunction with its alumni affiliate. The award honors outstanding leadership and is named for the school's first dean.

Horwath double

Don't let the shirt fool you. The 'real' Mr. Horwath is on the left. Winchester student Derak Stein portrayed principal Ronald Horwath in a school skit performed during a retirement party for the longtime Northville administrator. Horwath's retirement at the close of the school year marked an end to his 30-year tenure in education.

Frank Zimmerman earns alumni award

Former longtime Northville Township resident Frank Zimmerman, senior vice president for corporate affairs in the Great Lakes region for Ameritech, was presented a Distinguished Alumni Award by Eastern Michigan University at an Alumni Awards dinner and dance recently at the Fairlane Manor in Dearborn.

The Distinguished Alumni Award is presented to alumni of 25 years or more whose accomplishments exemplify extraordinary dedication in their chosen fields, service to mankind and continued interest in the university.

Zimmerman earned his bachelor's degree from EMU in 1955. Prior to working for Ameritech, he worked for Michigan Bell in a variety of capacities, including executive vice president, chief executive officer for external affairs and general manager of operator services.

His professional affiliations include memberships in the University of Michigan Utility Executive Program Advisory Commission, the board of directors of the Midwest Business Group on Health and the board of directors of the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

In addition, he was honored by Junior Achievement with both the silver and bronze awards and is listed in "Who's Who in the Midwest."

He and his wife now are residents of Hinsdale, Ill. In Northville, they had been active workers in the Northville United Methodist Church and the Methodist Children's Home.

Other alumni award recipients included 1934 alumnus Ben Wright, a freelance writer and former publisher of Field and Stream magazine; 1954 alumnus Dr. John DiBiaggio, president of Michigan State University; 1967 alumnus Jim Applegate, professional golfer and former president of the Michigan Professional Golf Association who now works for Player-Litten Golf Course Design in Florida.

Others are 1969 alumnus Burnett Marus, president of the U.S. Tangible Investment Corp., the world's largest coin and stamp dealer; 1973 alumnus John C. Fovenesi, partner with Touche Ross Inc. and active participant in the Statue of Liberty fundraising campaign; and 1979 alumna Elaine Moncur, founder and president of ELM Group and Software Michigan Inc. and Gov. Blanchard appointee to the Entrepreneurial and Small Business Commission.

Post adds three troopers

The Northville State Police Post has added three new troopers to its ranks.

Trooper Richard G. Hayward has transferred from St. Clair, Annette M. Hittler has come from Manistique and Edward C. Lucas has moved from Detroit.

Troopers Randal L. Pompey and Kenneth R. Tassie have transferred from Northville to the Detroit post. All transfers were effective June 1.

G. Williker's restaurant opens up in New Hudson

Executive Chef Guy Robertson and Owner Dave Willaker plan to open new restaurant July 1

By MAUREEN NASZRADI

Gee willikers, what a wait! After initially presenting his idea to local planning officials about three years ago, South Lyon area building contractor Dave Willaker says the long-awaited G. Williker's Restaurant will open by July 1 in New Hudson.

After 18 months of attaining licenses and governmental approvals, followed another 18 months of building from the ground up, Willaker had hoped to open by June 1. But the Oakland County Drain Commission expressed concern as to whether the restaurant parking lot would drain properly into the New Hudson system.

The new eatery is located at the intersection of Grand River Ave. and Milford Road, a corner which has had its share of standing water problems over the years.

But Willaker now sees the end of his obstacle course. "I think the situation is under control. We're just waiting for approval (from the drain commission)." All other aspects of the restaurant are right on schedule, according to Willaker.

"Very good food at a good value and a nice, fun atmosphere" are Willaker's two main concerns. "If we accomplish nothing else, we will accomplish that."

To help him achieve these goals, Willaker has hired two experienced restaurateurs. Jack Shapiro will be his dining room manager and Guy Robertson will serve as executive chef. With experience in a New York restaurant and his own business in the food industry, Shapiro will be in charge of "everything outside of the kitchen."

"Very good food at a good value and a nice, fun atmosphere" are Willaker's two main concerns. "If we accomplish nothing else, we will accomplish that."

— Dave Willaker

Formerly the head chef at Nifty Norman's in Walled Lake for five years, Robertson has extensive experience in Cajun cooking, his specialty. Emphasizing the high quality and unique variety of what he will prepare, Robertson said, "We will not be chained to a menu."

A flexible menu featuring generous portions will be one of G. Williker's strong points. While Robertson plans to keep some items on a regular basis, the chef will introduce daily specials to take advantage of in-season market abundances. "We'll buy the freshest products available, taking advantage of the price altered with the season. And we'll pass the savings on to the customer," Robertson said.

Cajun dishes, appetizers, and fresh seafood will be the specialties of the house. Main entrees range from a choice 20 ounce New York Strip Steak

Business Briefs

BRYAN A. BECKER of Milford has received the first Alumni Recognition Award from the University of Michigan-Dearborn. He is a partner in the public accounting firm of Ernst & Whinney. Becker, a 1969 UM-D graduate, received the award from chancellor William A. Jenkins at the recent spring alumni banquet. Following his graduation, Becker joined Ernst & Whinney at an entry level position and has risen steadily to the position of partner. He is one of 11 partners in the Detroit office, which consists of 150 accountants.

Becker currently is in charge of the section overseeing accounting for privately-owned firms, and mergers and acquisitions. He has taken a leadership role in the field, serving as a director at large for the Detroit area professional group, Association for Corporate Growth. The latter group assists accountants in the work of mergers and acquisitions.

The alumni recipient is a member of the Detroit Rotary Club and has served as a director for new memberships in the Metropolitan Detroit Visitors and Convention Bureau.

Becker also has maintained close contacts with UM-D's Placement Office and regularly recruits students for his firm.

Becker is a native of Dearborn, where he attended Fordson High School and Henry Ford Community College before entering UM-D.

JULIANNE STARCEVICH of Northville has been named Group Sales Manager and Coordinator of Special Events for Holiday Inn-Gateway — a 500-room facility in San Francisco.

A 1980 Northville High School graduate, Starceвич earned a bachelor's degree from Michigan State University in communications/public relations. She formerly was Marketing Assistant for Detroit Renaissance Corporation.

She will reside in San Mateo, California.

DOUGLAS TEUBERT, FIC, of Northville was among a group of Lutheran Brotherhood Securities Corp. (LBSC) registered representatives selected to participate in a LBSC Investment Product Training Coordinator School.

Teubert is associated with Lutheran Brotherhood's Karl W. Mueller Agency, based in Rochester, Mich.

Designed to provide Lutheran Brotherhood's general agencies with experienced and knowledgeable resource people in the investment procedures field, the school reviewed mutual funds and other investment products, general training concepts, industry trends, sales and promotion ideas, and shareholder service.

Participants in the school will be able to provide initial training in marketing, sales and shareholder service to new registered representatives in their agencies. In addition, they will serve on an informal advisory panel to provide ideas and feedback on new products or services and will serve as a communications link between LBSC and its agencies.

PRICE WATERHOUSE has announced the promotion of Paul R. Otto of Northville to the position of Tax Consultant. The promotion becomes effective July 1, 1986.

CARL E. SCHLEH of Northville has joined NewCentury Bank-Metro West as vice president of commercial loans at the bank's main office in downtown Howell. It is one of eight banks affiliated with NewCentury Bank Corp.

The announcement made by Garner LeForce, president and chief executive officer, states that Schleh will be responsible for the ongoing commercial loan activity at the bank with a major emphasis on new business development within Livingston County.

He formerly was with Michigan National Bank-Metro West where he was responsible for business development and enhancement of community expansion through commercial lending. Previously, he was with Security Bank and Trust Co., Southgate, for a period of four years as a lending officer.

He has an MBA from Wayne State University and a BBA from Michigan State University. He currently lives in Northville with his wife and one son, but plans to move to the Howell area.

G. Williker's to open for $11.95 to Chicken Diablo at $5.95, both with salad, a potato or rice and a cup of soup may be added for just 85 cents.

Customers will also be able to choose from a list of "piled-high" sandwiches, a variety of salads, or be able to "create their own six or four ounce burger." Slightly unusual on the menu will be a crock of soup for two from their daily changing list of 40 varieties.

In addition to presenting a varied selection of quality food, Shapiro emphasized that being known as a restaurant that accommodates the customer is very important to the staff. "Even if it's not on the menu — steamed vegetables for a diet, for example — we'll prepare it if we can," he said. Williker added, "If one person is unhappy, he could spread the word."

With their wide appeal, the three men hope to make a lot of people happy. Willacker said the Lyon Township location has a lot of potential. "There is strong growth, the amount of new homes is a good indicator." He hopes to provide an atmosphere that can be equally enjoyable to local softball teams as to diners in evening dress on a Saturday night.

G. Williker's will be open seven days a week. However, no liquor will be served on Sundays for at least seven months because of state liquor regulations. After defeating the stiff competition to attain the license three years ago, Willacker must now demonstrate that a larger portion of his business is due to food output rather than liquor.

Inside, customers will dine in what Shapiro called "a bistro type of restaurant." The decor will feature many windows, natural oak, some stucco ceilings and lots of plants. While customers will dine to piped-in music to start with, Willacker said he has plans for adding live entertainment on the weekends sometime in the future.

To help promote a fun atmosphere, the restaurant plans to encourage community participation with, among other things, an apple theme in the fall during the local Apple Festival. The eatery at that time will feature apple drinks, desserts, entrees and even appetizers. Another plan is to ask employees to wear loud bow ties so customers can vote for a "tie of the week."

Trade in your old equipment on a new John Deere

Our frames separate the tractors from the toys

Just about anybody can make a tractor that cuts grass. And nearly everyone does, it seems.

But the mark of a real tractor is not only how well it mows. But how it handles heavy-duty endeavors. And many brands don't.

John Deere 300 and 400 Series are legitimate lawn and garden tractors that can load, till, blade and remove snow. Thanks to full-length welded steel frames. And C-channel siderails that won't twist under stress.

John Deere frames are tough. No bolts or rivets to jiggle loose. No lightweight metal to give out halfway through a garden plot or a pile of gravel.

In fact, the 420 Tractor frame tips the scale at a not-to-be-taken-lightly 139 pounds. A full 15 percent of the tractor's total weight. And a true indication of the quality John Deere builds in.

Before you buy that first or next tractor, ask the other guys about their frames. Then see us about what separates the real tractors from the toys.

The Temporary Help People

A Kelly job helps you make the most of summer

Kelly gives you the freedom and flexibility to enjoy summer to its fullest. Work afternoons and go swimming, sailing or waterskiing during the day. Or work days and have enough money to enjoy evenings out and weekends up north.

Light Industrial Word Processors
Secretaries Switchboard Operators

No matter what shift you work, Kelly can help you gain valuable experience. Plus, you'll earn money for a rainy day — like when your credit card bill arrives.

So come to America's number one name in temporary help. Make the most of summer with the men and women of Kelly Services. We can offer competitive pay, and the opportunity to work with some of the best companies in town.

Gardens without chemicals

by Linda Weiss

The old home remedies for keeping bugs out of the garden are being rediscovered now that modern chemical insecticides are becoming suspect and, in some instances, no longer effective. Even today's agricultural researchers have found scientific basis for many of the old customs.

Garlic as a pesticide is a good example. It has been in use since early Egyptian days. Down through the ages, the folk traditions have kept alive the belief that garlic does many good things for you.

In recent years scientists in California, Connecticut and England have pinpointed garlic's active principle in the allyl sulfides found in bulbs of the onion family. These have been found to control mosquito larvae, aphids in large numbers, flea beetles, tomato hornworms, Colorado potato beetles, onion flies and grasshoppers.

Garlic sprays are easy to make. Here are two recipes commonly in use today:

1. Put 3 cloves of garlic, 1 medium chopped onion, and 2 cups of water in blender, and blend for 1 minute. Add 2 teaspoons of hot pepper, steep (let set) for 4 hours, and strain through a nylon stocking or cheesecloth. Dilute with 5 cups of water before using.

2. Put in the blender 2 cloves of garlic, 3 fresh hot peppers cut up, 3 tablespoons of chopped chives or leeks and 1½ cups water. Blend 1 or 2 minutes and let steep for 24 hours. Strain and add 1 tablespoon of soap powder (not detergent). Dilute with 7 cups of water before using.

Save the mash from either spray to bury around any infested plants. These sprays are also effective against rabbits and woodchucks because of the hot pepper as much as the garlic. Also, swab some of the mash or spray on the ears of corn to foil raccoons.

A simple pepper spray is effective for pests such as black cucumber beetles and corn borers. Use 3 tablespoons of ground pepper in 3 cups of boiling water and apply it as soon as it is cool, adding 2 tablespoons of soap powder to help the spray adhere to the plants.

The simplest spray of all, a forceful hosing of plain water, is appropriate for aphids and red spider mites; if these pests persist, however, add 2 tablespoons of soft soap to 1 gallon of water and spray again, stubborn red spider mites can be treated with a 3 percent oil spray of water and mineral oil, or a slurry made from 1 pound of flour, ½ cup of buttermilk, and 5 gallons of water.

Pests on cabbage leaves can be sprayed with 1 ounce of salt dissolved in 1 gallon of water (but do not let it get on the soil). Bacillus thuringiensis will control lepidopterous pests (caterpillars) including tomato hornworm, cabbage looper, tent caterpillars, gypsy moths, leaf rollers, fall webworms, and European corn borers. Put it in the leaf whorls or use as spray.

To make another spray, put handfuls of tomato leaves through a juicer to make 1 cup. Add 8 cups of water and 1 tablespoon of cornstarch. Strain and use for black spots on roses and also for aphids, cabbage butterfly, and squash borers.

You can also boil 2 cups of the stems and cut-up leaves of tomatoes in 2 cups of water. Cool, strain and dilute with 4 cups of water. Solanine is the effective principle in tomato leaves.

A spray can be made from rhubarb leaves which are loaded with oxalic acid. Steep 1½ pounds of leaves in a gallon of water for 24 hours. Use it for aphids, red spider mites and for rose bugs, and pour it down planting holes for cabbages and other plants of that family to control clubroot. Caution: Never eat rhubarb leaves, which are toxic.

Another strong plant, tansy, with tannin and tannic acid in the leaves, is used to control ants, cabbage worms and aphids; feverfew, containing camphor and various artemisias are also used, especially the potent wormwood which contains absinthum. These plants are also good for companion planting where the strong aromatic essence repels flying insects which might otherwise come in to lay eggs.

For wormwood tea spray, pick the leaves in the early morning, during the period just before the plants bloom. Dry them in shade and use them fresh. Cover the leaves with water, bring to a boil and then cool. Dilute with 4 parts of water and stir for about 10 minutes before straining. Spray to control aphids, flies, fleas, slugs and crickets or sprinkle it on the soil around susceptible plants.

Many aromatic herbs repel pests. Spearmint may repel ants, black flies, beetles, cabbage worms and butterflies. Pennyroyal usually repels mosquitoes (Try rubbing some of its leaves on your neck and arms). Catnip and stinging nettles keep their own areas quite clear of insect pests. The foul smelling black horehound repels flies. Marigolds have a root ex-udate, or rather five, which will get rid of nematodes on the roots of nearby plants. Plant marigolds with tomatoes and beans. And plant nasturtiums and icicle radishes in the hills of squash and cucumber to help protect the vines from striped cucumber beetle and squash bugs. Also plant nasturtiums around fruit trees to repel aphids.

Onion maggots can best be controlled by scattering your onions around the garden so as to starve the maggots, while at the same time the onions' strong aroma will fend off other pests. A top layer of sand or Diatomaceous earth (made from the shell of a one-celled algae) around the base of the onion plant is also helpful.

Shallow pans full of beer attract and drown some snails and slugs. Diatomaceous earth or wood ashes sometimes help when spread between rows or around plants.

You may consider adding Epsom salts to the soil at the base of tomatoes and other vegetable plants to provide needed magnesium. Magnesium aids the plant to carry on photosynthesis.

A recent discovery that you may wish to try on fungus-prone garden plants tomatoes, melons, etc., is a cool drink of Tahebo (La Pacho) tea as a preventive measure. The tea is made from the bark of the La Pacho tree which grows totally free of fungus. Or you may place a handful of bark in the hole when planting. La Pacho tea is being used successfully in treating persons with recurrent fungal infections. It can be purchased at health food stores.

Citrus peel has also been found to have insecticidal qualities. You can make a spray using the oil from the peels or simply scratch the surface of the peels, and leave them lying around in your garden.

And last but not least, coffee, which is deserving of some good press, appears to be an excellent insecticide. Ground coffee beans can be spread around the garden, or spray a mist of pure coffee on the plants you wish to protect against caterpillars.

If you don't have time to concoct your own natural sprays, organic garden supplies are close at hand. Organic Culture Lawn and Garden Supply, located in Oak Park, Mich., specializes in chemical-free fertilizers and pest control. They sell beneficial insects, Diatomaceous earth, plant derived insecticides, insecticidal soaps and other disease controls. Edwin McLeod, the owner, teaches organic gardening and is a mine of gardening information. He can be reached by calling 313-543-1708, or writing to Organic Culture, 8855 Kenberton, Oak Park, Mich. 48237.

"Green Ban for Plants" is a concentrated liquid to be used as a plant spray. It is touted as being a one-step treatment that both feeds and protects indoor and outdoor plants against the damage caused by a variety of sucking and chewing insects, from lugs to aphids. It is made with Norwegian kelp, hederia helix, Dalmatian sage, garlic and Australian eucalypt oil and is based on the principles of biodynamic gardening and companion planting. It is available by writing to Mulgum Hollow Farm, U.S. office, 2269 Market St., 198, San Francisco, Calif. 94114. Can also be obtained at Good Food Co., 33521 W. Eight Mile, Livonia, Mich. 48152.

Ringer Research, another natural lawn and garden supply center, 6860 Flying Cloud Drive, Minn. 55344, is a mail order (and phone order) company that has been in business 25 years. Their free catalog contains natural products, not only safe for children and pets, but also safe for water systems. It includes products and information on growing healthier vegetable and flower gardens, fruit trees and indoor plants, as well as products for natural tree and shrub care, and even natural lawn care products.

If you can't find a solution to your particular pest problem in the catalog, you are encouraged to call or write their experts for assistance. Some of their products are available at Frank's Nursery & Crafts in most locations.

While there are many techniques for eliminating pest infestations, the best control is before the infestation occurs. Here are some steps that you can take to help insure a bountiful harvest.

□ Maintain a clean garden. Dispose of leftover plant material. Compost what you can, but do not compost diseased plant material this should be burned.

□ Rotate crops. Avoid establishing a disease or pest in a specific area by rotating crops.

□ Select resistant varieties. Many plant varieties carry a V, F and/or N designation. These indicate resistance to Verticillium Wilt, Fusarium Wilt, and/or Nematodes.

□ Destroy infected plants and plant parts. Regular inspection of your plants and immediate removal of diseased parts help avoid the spread of disease. A healthy well-nourished plant is naturally disease resistant.

MR. AND MRS. MICHAEL SCHMITT

MR. AND MRS. JAMES GLEESON

Schmitt-Riegner vows exchanged

Audrey L. Riegner and Michael S. Schmitt now are making their home in Jamestowne Green in Novi following their marriage at Mercy Chapel in Farmington.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard A. Riegner of 16863 Old Bedford. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Schmitt of West Bloomfield.

The couple was married in a double ring ceremony November 16. Father Gerald Donnell of Dun Scotus officiated. Soloist was Dr. Ralph Matalon.

Escorted down the aisle by her father, the bride wore a white satin gown fashioned with a high lace neckline and a lace and beaded bodice. The back of the gown was accented with a large satin bow tied at the waist. The full skirt, hemmed in lace, extended into a cathedral train. A satin bow held the bride's cathedral-length veil and she carried gardenias, roses, stephanotis and ivy from her sister's bouquet.

Shirley Riegner served as her sister's honor maid. Bridesmaids were Claudia Chandler, Valerie Dahlman, Cathy Markatos, Ann Russell, Sue Darrow and Laurie Krench.

The attendant's wore white taffeta blouses fashioned with puffed sleeves and black and white plaid taffeta skirts tied at the waist with a red sash. They carried sprays of red roses and greens.

Best man was David Schmitt. Ushers were William Schmitt, Dennis Dahlman, Bryan Riegner, Sam Mancuso, George Leventis and John Ross

A reception for 325 guests was held at the Holidome following the ceremony. Guests attended from Michigan, Florida, Chicago, New York and South Carolina. Among the special guests were the bride's grandfather and the bridegroom's grandmother.

The newlyweds honeymooned in Jamaica.

The bride is a Northville High School graduate and received a degree from Ferris State. She is employed with Southfield Underwriters in Farmington.

The bridegroom, a Farmington North High School graduate, received a degree from Michigan State University. He is in sales with Bemis Corporation.

May 17 rites unite couple

Linda Marie Brownell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Brownell of 45333 Galway, became the bride of James Dillon Gleeson of Canton in a double ring ceremony May 17 at Vista Maria Chapel.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Marge Gleeson of Canton and the late Harold Gleeson.

The ceremony was officiated by Father Edward Haggerty of St. Marys of Redford Parish. The bride's godparents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Weaver, participated in the service by bringing the offertory gifts.

The bride wore an ivory charmeuse Victorian-style gown accented with white Alencon lace and beaded pearls. Her pearl-beaded waterfall headpiece held a fingertip veil. She carried ivory and peach roses in an ivy cascade.

Lisa Susan Brownell served as her sister's honor maid. Bridesmaids were Sheryl Wissman of Northville, Judy Fitzmaurice of Chicago, Ann Turnbull of Northville and Jacqueline Gleeson of Canton.

The bride's attendants wore champagne off-the-shoulder chiffon gowns trimmed with peach piping. They carried peach gerber daisies and roses.

The bridegroom's brother Clarence Gleeson was best man. Ushers were Phil Creager of California, Mark Lignell of Connecticut, Craig Gleeson of Plymouth and Jeff Semak of Birmingham.

The champagne and peach color scheme was carried through at a reception at Vladimirs in Farmington. More than 300 guests attended from eight states including California, Arizona, Texas, Kentucky, Connecticut, Ohio, Illinois and Pennsylvania as well as Ontario. Among those present were the bride's two godmothers and the physician that delivered her at birth.

The bride is a 1979 Northville High School graduate and received a degree in advertising from Michigan State University in 1982. She is employed with Young and Rubicam at the Renaissance Center.

The bridegroom is a 1979 St. Marys of Redford graduate and a 1982 Michigan State University graduate. He is a mechanical engineer.

Following a wedding trip to Sanibel Island, the newlyweds will be moving to Wisconsin for five months where the bridegroom will complete training with the Trane Company.

Vows recited

Former Northville resident Donna Jo Hoover was married to Gene Thornton Rice Jr. June 14 in First United Methodist Church of Denton, Texas.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Hoover of Bartonville, Texas, and formerly of Northville, announce the marriage. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene T. Rice of Lewisville, Texas.

Linda K. Hoover was honor maid and Mike Turner served as best man at the ceremony which was followed by a reception at The Mansion on Turtle Creek in Dallas.

The newlyweds will live in Pleasant Hill, Calif., near San Francisco.

The bride was graduated from North Texas State University in 1981 with a bachelor of science degree in elementary education.

Her husband is a graduate of Texas A&M University. He received his bachelor of civil engineering degree in 1980 and his master's degree in civil engineering in 1982 specializing in geotechnical engineering.

College honors local associate pastor

The Rev. George Nixon, new associate pastor of Christian Community Church located at 41355 W. Six Mile in Northville Township, has the distinction, at age 75, of being the oldest graduate of Wayne County Community College.

The board of trustees of the college recently honored him at a dinner in acknowledgement of his many accomplishments in promoting its educational program. He received a plaque for dedicated service to the community and a resolution from the board in recognition of "the innumerable hours of assistance in providing both spiritual and temporal inspiration and guidance to the development of Wayne County Community College in the Downriver area."

For the past 12 years Reverend Nixon has delivered either the invocation or the benediction for commencement exercises of the college.

After the age of 65, he has earned two degrees: a B.A. in journalism from Madonna College and a B.A. in sociology from W.C.C.C., reports senior pastor Larry Frick of Christian Community.

He notes that the Reverend Nixon has been actively involved in ministry for 42 years and is now retired from the pastorate at West Road Assembly of God in New Boston.

Reverend Nixon and his wife, Elsie, whom he married in March, both had lost their previous spouses. She is a native of Wales.

Early this year they had renewed their friendship which culminated in the marriage before family and friends. A wedding trip to the Hawaiian Islands followed.

As he reported the accolades given the new associate associate pastor, who assumed his duties a few weeks ago, Pastor Frick commented, "the congregation of Christian Community Church is blessed by their fellowship and ministry within the church body."

Shirley Riegner sets August wedding date

MICHAEL ROGERS, SHIRLEY RIEGNER

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Riegner of 16863 Old Bedford announce the engagement of their daughter Shirley Susan to Michael Lee Rogers. He is the son of Mrs. Sara Rogers of 16604 Dundalk and Fred B. Rogers Jr. of Atlanta, Ga.

The bride-elect is a 1982 Northville High School graduate and is employed at Riegner and Associates in Southfield.

Her fiancé is a 1979 Northville High School graduate and is employed at Ingersoll-Rand in Farmington. An August wedding is planned.

Guidelines help to get your romantic news told

Many local brides have just exchanged vows during June, the traditional wedding month, and many more will do so in August, which is rising June as the romantic month.

For brides and their mothers getting the news into the paper often is a new experience. The Record welcomes news of both weddings and engagements and has forms available to fill out at the office at 104 W. Main. The office is open from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Mondays and Fridays and from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m. Tuesdays through Thursdays.

In recent months some difficulties have developed with the late submission of wedding stories. In the future we can accept them only within a reasonable time after the wedding. We understand problems that can develop, such as with an out of town ceremony, and try to accommodate the families of brides and bridegrooms.

However, most of the difficulty reported by couples has been in getting a photograph. If arrangements are made in advance when booking a photographer to have a black and white photograph taken, it usually eliminates the problem of color prints. Beforehand is the time for the bride to tell the photographer that she wishes a picture for the newspaper.

Some brides have a studio portrait taken before the wedding ceremony, making it possible to have the picture and story in the newspaper almost immediately afterward. If the couple prefers to have both in the picture, this is not feasible, of course.

While we try to work with color prints, many turn out too dark and are a disappointment to the couple. Therefore, we can accept only those prints which we feel will reproduce well.

The wedding form asks for complete names of participants and provides for a description of the bride's gown. The Record staff will be happy to assist in filling out the forms if there are problems.

Trip to Portside in Toledo offered for senior citizens

Three trips are being offered by Bianco Travel and Tours for area senior citizens through the Northville Area Senior Citizens' Advisory Council.

A day trip on the Arawana II with shopping at Portside near Toledo is scheduled for July 15 at a cost of $29.

Participants will be served coffee and donuts on the motorcoach en route to Toledo. They first will board the Arawana II for a boat ride on the Maumee River and then go shopping at Portside, a glass pavilion festival marketplace that houses a diverse selection of stores.

The outing also includes a stop at Crosby Gardens, Toledo's only botanical gardens and art center.

Lunch at a Toledo restaurant is included.

A two-night trip to Chicago is set for August 22-24 at a cost of $189.

A trip to London, Ont., is planned for Sept. 3 at a cost of $30.50.

The travel agency is giving a presentation on the trips at 11:30 a.m. today at the senior center at 501 W. Main.

Information about the trips also may be obtained by calling the center at 349-4140.

Center coordinator Karl W. Peters announces that any persons making reservations on the Northville tours will receive a 100 percent refund if unable to take a tour up until the day of departure.

Guild announces playbill

The Plymouth Theatre Guild recently held its annual election for 1986-87 board of directors. Elected to the board were Holly Hissong, president; Alvin LaCroix, vice president; Patricia Gresock, recording secretary; Richard E. Brown, treasurer; Cheryl Selden, corresponding secretary; Mike Gresock, newsletter editor and Craig Selden, membership chairman. Members at large include Dennis Schlicker and Joan Washburn.

The new board announced its playbill for 1986-87. Opening the Guild's 41st season will be the Neil Simon comedy, "Plaza Suite." Tentative dates are set for November 7, 8, 14 and 15 at the Central Middle School, Plymouth. "Murder Takes the Stage," an exciting murder mystery, will open January 30, 31, February 6 and 7, 1987, followed by the heartwarming comedy, "A Thousand Clowns," May 8, 9, 15 and 16, 1987. Season tickets are $12 for adults, $9 for seniors and students under 18. They can be ordered by mail by writing Post Office Box 451, Plymouth 48170.

The Northville Record

Holzer wins 2 more; now 7-4-1 in LCBL

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

The losses have been less frequent, the top teams have been beatable and the level of play is continuing to rise. That's the present situation for Tom Holzer Ford, Northville's entry in the Livonia Collegiate Baseball League. In the first third of the season, Holzer has proved to the rest of the league, and more importantly to its players, that on any given day, it can beat any opponent.

"In general, it has been a better all-around season than we first expected," co-coach Bob Peterson reported. "Our pitching has been pretty good and some of our younger players have shown they can hit at this level of play. We're staying in the thick of it."

In action last week, Holzer upped its record to 7-4-1 by winning a pair, dropping one and salvaging a tie. In the LCBL, ties are usually due to curfew, and are scored the same way as professional hockey. A win is worth two points and a tie worth one.

On June 15, Holzer trounced Redford Little Caesars 5-1 in the opener of a doubleheader, but had to settle for a 6-6 tie in the nightcap. On June 18, Holzer pulled out the most satisfying win of the season by knocking off one of the preseason favorites — Walters Appliance — 8-2. West Bloomfield brought the week to a disappointing close though, as it pounded Holzer 9-0 last Friday (June 20).

The win over Little Caesars wasn't as routine as the score indicates. Holzer was actually blanked through nearly six innings but put on a late charge with five runs in the final two innings for the win.

Ahead 1-0, Caesar's Mark Colburn was working on a no-hitter with two outs in the fifth, but following a walk to Martin Eddy and a pick-off attempt that went awry, the Holzer bats came alive. Three consecutive run-scoring hits by Kevin Ritter, Eric Engel and Greg Ryba enabled the Northville entry to pull ahead 2-1. Three more runs in the seventh closed out the scoring.

"That pick-off was the key play," Peterson said. "If they would have thrown Eddy out, they would have been up 1-0 heading into the seventh and had a no-hitter going."

Holzer starter Chris Stout went six strong innings to get the win. Stout, now 2-0, has only given up one run in the last 12 innings of work.

Game two was the opposite as Holzer jumped out to a 6-0 lead with runs in each of the first four innings, only to squander it all in the sixth. Caesars scored all six runs in that fateful inning as starter Troy Connors, who had shut down Redford for the first five innings, began to tire. After eight innings, the game was halted by the curfew rule.

"We were disappointed they came back, but, to be honest, we felt fortunate to pull out the tie," Peterson admitted. "They had all the momentum and after the big inning, we held them back in the seventh and eighth."

Ritter (3-for-4) and Scott Draper (2-for-5) were the hitting stars for Holzer.

The win on Wednesday was characterized by great defense, timely hitting and steady pitching. Starter Chris Willerer picked up his second complete-game win of the year, scattering four hits and two earned runs.

"It was probably our best all-around effort," Peterson said. "It wasn't our best pitching but (Willerer) pitched good."

Behind the hitting of Ritter, Connors, Darren Genereau and Scott Peterson, Holzer scored four runs in the first three innings to take the lead. In the sixth, Holzer added another four insurance runs and Walters countered with a pair, but it wasn't enough.

Pitcher Jim Robinson consistently fooled the Holzer batters in the loss on Friday and ended with a four-hit shut out win. Only Engel, Peterson, Draper and Eddy were able to get hits off the West Bloomfield ace. The losing pitcher was Stout, who gave up three runs in the first three innings. Reliever Marc Pearsall was also in constant trouble and was tagged for four more earned runs in the final four innings.

As the season's midway point closes in, Holzer has several players who are being considered for the All-Star game. The team's top four hitters include Engel (.391), Ritter (.371), Eddy (.351 and 15 RBIs) and Peterson (.348).

Das Hounds aren't dogs in co-rec volleyball league

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

The University of Georgia may have "the Dawgs," but the Northville co-rec volleyball league has "the dogs," or "the Red Dogs" or the "Diamond Dogs" or even a Germanic "Das Hounds."

Whatever you call it, this team is no dog when it comes to playing volleyball.

The basic core of three players is still intact for over a decade, and just a few weeks ago "Das Hounds" captured the co-rec volleyball championship of 1986 without so much as panting, gasping or even barking. As a matter of fact, Das Hounds was such a dominating team in '86, all the other teams went out with (pardon the expression) a whimper.

"We were basically unbeatable," said player/coach/manager Charles Stilec.

The "Red Dogs" were one of four charter teams in the newly formed Rec League in Northville some 11 years ago. Stilec, Jeff Parko and Jamie Flora were on that team and are still playing.

"The league started with four teams that splintered off from the rec league softball teams," Stilec recalls. "It was sloppy but it was fun. We played at Meads Mill."

In the early years, the Red Dogs didn't meet with a whole lot of success, so every few years the name would be slightly changed. The second name was the Diamond Dogs, then simply the Dogs and, finally, this season Das Hounds.

"We liked the Dogs because it kind of described how we played," Stilec said. "We didn't have much height but we were tough and scrappy. Then, when we would go through a season of bad luck, we would just change the name a bit to add some spice."

The Dogs have faithful followers and even a mascot — a large stuffed fox. It has a wire tail and, when the team wins, the tail is put up in triumph. Following a loss, the tail almost drags on the floor.

The mascot's tail was very rarely lowered this season as the team breezed through a 27-3 regular season and a 5-0 mark in the playoffs to notch the title. It was only the second such title for the team in 11 seasons (the other was in 1984) and Stilec credits the play of team superstar Todd Hutchins.

"He is my neighbor, and one day I asked him if he liked to play," Stilec explained. "Pretty soon we got him on our team, and he has since taught us so much and now dominates the league."

Hutchins is a 6-foot-1, 160 pound spiker who is a top notch athlete, a great jumper and has the necessary timing.

"He's the main reason we've done as well as we have," Stilec said. "He taught us very much. He was the strand that pulled the whole team together."

Todd's dominance and excellent spiking ability caused some controversy before the season as some other league members didn't want him to play.

"A lot of the teams weren't ready for Todd's caliber because he hits so hard," Stilec reported. "It caused a lot of controversy."

In the playoff finals, the controversy continued as Das Hounds' opponent — Athletes Feet — forfeited the match after dropping the first game. In game one Athletes Feet jumped out to an 8-0 lead, but Das Hounds went on to score 15 of the next 18 points to win the first game. It was a marathon, taking a full half hour, compared to a normal game of 12 minutes.

In game two, the civil defense siren sounded following some foul weather outside. Next came a vicious spike by Hutchins, and that was enough for Athletes Feet. To make matters worse, there were no officials to monitor the game.

"No refs showed up and they (Athletes Feet) just had enough," Stilec said. "When Todd got going, we broke their backs."

The other current members of the team include Liz Embre, Katie Stilec, Dennis Knight, Nancy Hutchins and Laura Flora. Most of the members of the team have good backgrounds in volleyball and have learned to play as a team — which is very crucial.

"Volleyball is the ultimate team sport," Stilec said. "Three members of the team have volleyball nets in their backyards and we get the team and families together all the time and play. It's a great way to learn cooperation and working together for a common goal."

Stilec, a chemical dependency therapist at Henry Ford Hospital, also used the sport in another rewarding way.

"I use it as therapy for drug abusers," he confided. "My theme is how you play volleyball is how you are with the world."

Can two wise choices make up for one off-base decision?

Chris McGowan — Female Athlete of Year

WHERE'S NOVI? One of the most disappointing things about the '86 baseball season for me was that Novi and Northville, for the first time in quite a few years, didn't meet on the baseball field.

When I started to examine the two teams prior to the season, I could tell it would be a whale of a game or series. But to my surprise, the schedule didn't show the match-up.

Apparently, Northville's busy league action in the Western Lakes Activity Association didn't leave any openings for a Wildcat-Mustang get together — but I don't buy it. If Northville didn't have any room for Novi, why did the team open the season with a doubleheader against Hartland, another KVC team?

From my sources, Novi Athletic Director John Osborne was asking the same question.

Osborne was quoted as saying something like, "I can't believe they didn't make room for us."

The 1985 game between the two was an extra-inning dandy, with the Wildcats pulling out an 11-10 win in overtime. And the coaches from both teams admit that they would have loved to play against each other.

"I would have loved to see that match-up," Frantz said.

"We always like to play Novi," Northville Coach Bob Frellick said.

It might have been a classic confrontation the Northville hitters against the Novi pitchers. I think it would have been very exciting to watch the Mustangs' Keith Dutkiewicz (.426 batting average) going against Jeff Tanderys (90 mph fastball).

Unfortunately, we will never know what might have happened.

Let's hope the two schools will make every effort to get back together next baseball season — no excuses.

GOOD CHOICES: On the lighter side, it looks like the Northville High School athletic staff did a good job picking the athletes of the year for both the boys and girls. In case you haven't heard, the boys' award went to Don Norton and the girls' to Chris McGowan.

I suppose the process wasn't very difficult because the two stood out both on the field and off. That's not to say there weren't some other good candidates, but just that Norton and McGowan really deserved the awards.

It's refreshing to watch someone like Don Norton compete, probably because of the simple fact that he is a good old fashion athlete. It might sound strange but with so many sports and so many different skills used, many of the high school competitors of today are specialized. I believe that Norton's athletic ability would probably allow him to play just about any type of high school sport out there — and with some time, he would probably excel in any of those activities.

"It's a pleasant surprise to me," Norton admitted. "All the teams I played on this year did pretty well and I guess it was a pretty good year for me all around. The only regret I have is that I never made the All-Conference teams."

In football last fall, Norton was the Mustangs' top receiver and safety. He was named to the WLAA All-Division squad and the All-Area first team. In basketball, Norton was the area's top player and was honored as the Sliger-Livingston East Player of the Year. In tennis, as a member of the No. 1 doubles team, Norton again grabbed WLAA All-Division honors.

If my memory is correct, that makes Norton the only Mustang male athlete to make the All-Division teams in three sports for the 85-86 school year. He also repeated the same feat as a junior.

For his high school career, Norton grabbed seven varsity letters.

"I'm sure this will be something I'll look back on and really enjoy."

McGowan is the type of competitor that sports writers like to call "spunky." Whether on the basketball court, volleyball court or softball field, the 5-foot-3 senior was always a team leader — the player all the others looked to for direction and encouragement.

League Line

BASEBALL: Pirates nip Padres

O-LEAGUE: The Pirates won their seventh game in eight tries this season by trouncing the Braves 15-2 on May 9. It was a home run derby for the Pirates as Matt Osiecki and Brad Demoracki each pounded solo shots while Derek Demoracki smacked a pair of four-baggers. The Pirates were also aggressive on the base paths, stealing 13 total — with Osiecki leading the way with four. Starter Steve Demoracki went three innings and struck out six and recorded the win. The Angels and the Astros scored five apiece in the first inning of their game on June 10. But the Astros went on to outscore the Angels 8-2 the rest of the way to pull out a 13-7 victory. With the Astros clinging to a 8-6 lead heading into the fifth, they scored five more with the big blow a bases-loaded triple by Chris Nix. Aaron Hodges, Tim Petrosky and Kevin Rosinski each had two hits for the winners. Clay Cutchins and Doug Morczewski had two hits and Michael Schlegel ripped a home run for the Angels. The Angels rebounded on June 12 with a 3-2 win over the Mets. The big Angel innings were the third and fourth and pitcher Jon Cousineau grabbed the win. Clay Cutchins, Tim Reardon and Danny Walsh paced the Angels hitting attack. In a wild, yet well played contest, the Pirates nipped the Padres 5-4 on June 12. Several controversial calls highlighted the battle as the Padres played the game under protest. Trailing 4-2 heading into the final inning, the Pirates came back and scored three runs to pull out the triumph. A two-out double by Mike Mathews tied the game and he later scored the winner. Jim O'Doherty recorded the win, Steve Demoracki belted out three hits and Mathews drove in three runs for the Pirates. Chris Shepard, Andy Smojver, Joey Staknis and George Smojver each had two hits for the Padres. The following day, the Padres jumped all over the Giants by a score of 15-4. George Smojver (three runs and two RBIs) and Chris Shepard (4-for-4) were the hitting stars. The win upped the Padres record to 8-2. The Pirates thumped the Mets 14-4 on June 13 thanks to three clutch homers. Steve Demoracki's three-run shot in the third, Matt Osiecki's three-run blast in the fifth and Mike Mathews' two-run homer in the sixth provided more than enough offense for the Pirates. Brett Barninger added two hits and Pat Valentini stole three bases. The Giants outslug the Braves 12-10 on June 14. It was a slugfest and Brian Rosstier and Jim Luebbe were the catalysts. Rosstier drove in four runs and went 3-for-3 at the plate while Luebbe smacked a homer in the fourth that ultimately put the Giants in front for good. John Garr was the star for the Braves going 3-for-3. The Astros scored six unanswered runs in the final two innings to pull out a wild 17-15 win over the Reds June 16. Heading into the sixth, the Reds were up 15-11, but failed to score a run and had just one hit down the stretch. Winning pitcher was Aaron Hicks, who went three innings and fanned six, and Aaron Hodgkin collected two homers.

H-LEAGUE: The Reds topped the Braves 10-3 behind a three-run homer by Steven Moore and a three-run triple by Eric Mine. Ryan Smallwood, Moore and Ross Fleming pitched an excellent game for the winners, Matt Telepo went three scoreless innings for the Braves.

SOFTBALL: Sunbirds stage comeback

GIRLS INTERMEDIATE: A big four-run third inning helped propel the Sunbirds to a 7-6 win over the Aztecs on June 9. The Aztecs were down 5-2 heading into the fourth but came back to tie it with a run in the fifth and two more in the sixth to send it into extra innings. But the Sunbirds' Andrea Clark had the game-winning hit in the sixth. Jenny Clark went all the way on the second for the Sunbirds, struck out three and got the win. Jenny Smith paced the Aztecs with three hits. The Gems lost their first game of the season June 16. The Liberties posted a 9-6 win including two big offensive innings. The Liberties scored five in the first and another four in the sixth to provide the margin. Laura MacDuff slammed a homer while Jeannine LaPrad and Cathy Best drove in three runs apiece.

GIRLS PRIMARY: The Sunbirds scored five runs in the fifth inning to complete a come-from-behind 8-4 triumph over the previously undefeated Falcons on June 10. Back to back doubles by Laurie Smith and Karen Pump sparked the big inning. Pump was the starter and winner, going up four hits and striking out three. Sarah Carney, Lori George and Jody Buttigieg each went 2-for-2 to lead the Falcons. Pump (3-for-3) and Smith (3-for-3) combined to drive in six Sunbird runs.

SOCCKER: Stompers in Tourney

GIRLS 10 & UNDER: The Northville Stompers participated in the Tournament of Champions at Schoolcraft College last weekend. In the first round, the Stompers beat Grosse Pointe 2-1 and the Birmingham-Bloomfield Breakers 4-3 in overtime to advance to the final round. In the final on June 15, the Stompers fell to the Dearborn Heights Raiders 2-1. It was good enough for a runner-up position in the 12 and under age group in the tournament. Congratulations go out to Coach Paul Holmberg and the Stompers.

Good decision and bad

But not only did McGowan pick up her teams mentally, she had the great athletic ability to spark the team on the court or field as well.

"I suppose they picked me because I have nine (varsity) letters since I was a sophomore," McGowan said. "As I was sitting there at the banquet, I was wondering and trying to think who would be in the running. I was surprised to get it."

Time after time, McGowan's coaches raved about what a valuable player she was. In basketball, despite coming off the bench most of the season, McGowan was one of the main stoppers for the Mustangs' incredible defense. In volleyball and softball, she was the top player on the team. McGowan was the only female athlete from Northville to make the first team All Area squad in two sports.

"I was excited, but my parents were probably more excited," she admitted. "It's something I'm proud of — they give you a nice plaque so I'll be able to look back on it."

"I had a lot of fun with high school sports. I think it was good for me."

The decision to leave Novi off the baseball schedule was a blunder and a bad choice, but there's no doubt in my mind that the right choice was given in the voting for the athletes of the year.

Junior Masters held in area

Junior golfers from all over the country will gather at Meadowbrook Country Club in Northville for the third annual Great Lakes Junior Masters Golf Tournament, July 7-9. It is a non-handicap tournament open to the first 288 to register.

Golfers must be between the ages of 11 and 17. The field will be cut to 144 after 36 holes. Prizes for the 54-hole tournament will be awarded in the following categories: Boys 11-13 years old; Boys 14-15 years old; Boys 16-17 years old; Girls 11-14 years old; and Girls 15-17 years old.

During the first two years of the tournament, the participants were limited to golfers from the states of Indiana, Ohio, Illinois and Michigan. But because of the increasing number of requests from other youngsters from other states, the Great Lakes Junior Masters has now been opened to all junior golfers.

The $35 entry fee includes golf, trophies, food and beverages. Applications and information about housing can be obtained by calling Meadowbrook Country Club at 349-3606.

Curtis entered in Rotary Run

Novi's Doug Curtis, a world class marathon runner, will again be participating in the Northville Rotary Run on June 28.

Curtis will be running in the 10 K race and has an impressive list of accomplishments in his career. Last year, Curtis was voted the "Michigan Runner of the Year" by subscribers to the Michigan Runner Magazine. He won four marathons in '85 including the Jacksonville Marathon, the Seattle Marathon and the Mardi Gras Marathon.

Already this year, Curtis placed first in the Seattle Marathon, was second in Jacksonville and third in the Hong Kong race (in a time of 2:15:27, breaking his previous race record).

Curtis is an active member in the Redford and Ford running clubs and a top pledge getter for the Michigan Special Olympics. He is also the race coordinator for the annual Livonia RoadRunner 5 Mile Classic and organized the Free Press Marathon "Mental Aid Station" to support runners en route to the finish.

RECREATION BRIEFS

OPEN VOLLEYBALL: The Rec Center gymnasium is open for recreational volleyball on Thursday evenings from 8-10 p.m. all this summer. The fee is $1 per person; this is for adults only.

ROTARY RACE: The Northville Rotary Club's seventh annual "Discover Northville Run" will be held June 28. There will be a one-mile fun run for children beginning at 9 a.m., followed by 5 and 10 kilometer races, which get under way at 9:30 a.m.

All races begin and end at Northville Downs at the corner of Center and Seven Mile roads. Entry fee is $8 in advance and $10 the day of the race. Proceeds go to Northville community service projects backed by the Rotary Club.

For more information, call 478-7330 or write: Dick Milder, 20002 Farmington Rd., Livonia, MI 48152.

BED RACE: The second annual "Satin Sheets" bed race is slated to get under way July 4 at 9 a.m., just prior to the start of the parade. Registration fee is $25 for new entries and $15 for returnees and includes bed frame. Complete rules and regulations are available at the Rec Center.

TENNIS TOURNEYS: The Rec Center is sponsoring the Northville Open Tennis Classic, the Junior Tennis Classic and the Adult Doubles Tournament this summer, and entry forms currently are available. The Open will be July 11-13 for men and women singles and doubles. Fee is $8. The Junior Classic will be held July 25-27 in four age groups (12-under, 14-under, 16-under and 18-under). Fee is $8. The Doubles Tournament is slated for August 15-17 for men's, women's and mixed doubles. Fee is $10.

SOCCKER TOURNEY: Schoolcraft College will host the Seventh Annual Wolverine Soccer Tournament on July 4-6. This event is the premier soccer tournament in Michigan and will feature an estimated 200 teams with 4,000 athletes from Michigan, Ohio, Illinois, Missouri and Canada.

The tournament will be held at three locations: Schoolcraft College, Livonia Bicentennial Park and Livonia Dickinson School on Friday and Saturday with the finals at Schoolcraft on Sunday.

Admission is free; parking is $1 per car. Call 591-6400 for more information.

WIND SURFING: The Mistral One-Design Midwest Championships will be held on June 28-29 on Whitmore Lake. This event is a chance for amateur board sailors from all over the Midwest to compete in a nationally recognized event.

Trophies will be awarded to the top three finishers in each of the six divisions. Those interested should register in advance. There is an entry fee; entries will be accepted until 10:30 a.m. the day of the first races. Entry forms can be obtained through Washtenaw Wind Surfing at 449-2990. Spectators are welcome.

EARLY CLASSIFIED DEADLINE

Deadline for July 7, 1986, Monday Green Sheet, Wednesday, July 9, 1986 Pinckney, Hartland, Fowlerville Shopping Guides and Household Service and Buyers Directory ads will be THURSDAY, JULY 3, 1986 at 3:30 p.m.

WHAT IS THE BARGAIN BARREL?

If you have an item you wish to sell for $25. or less or a group of items selling for no more than $25, you can now place an ad in the classified section for 1/2 price! Ask our ad-taker to place a Bargain Barrel ad for you, (10 words or less) and she will bill you only $2.25. (This special is offered to homeowners only - sorry, no commercial accounts).

the fairy godmother's secret is out!

Don't let that "magic wand" fool you! She's tried to make us believe that with a wave of that wand, she can turn pumpkins into carriages, mice into white horses and rags into white gowns. But we know she's just like the rest of us! When we want to turn a baby crib into cash... an older car into a new one... or change from sales clerk to doctor's receptionist... the only magic wand we hold in our hand is a telephone receiver and the only thing we wave is our index finger as we dial the Classified Department of our newspaper! It's like magic the way good things come true for us with the help of Want Ads. And besides, we have a strong feeling that's the way the fairy godmother makes all her magic, too!
