Developers are mailed RFP rules

By ANITA CRONE

It is official. After months of promises and nearly three years of good intentions, Wayne County has requested proposals (RFP) for the sale and development of more than 900 acres of county-owned land in Northville Township.

Not included in the land up for sale is the 100-acre site formerly earmarked for the Jerome P. Cavanaugh Elderly Village.

Prospective developers have until 4:30 p.m. Monday, Sept. 22, to submit their proposals to the Wayne County Purchasing Department.

Once the proposals are received, a committee chaired by Northville Township Supervisor Susan Heintz will evaluate the bids and make a recommendation to the county commissioners, who will have the final say as to which bidders will be selected to develop the property.

The county has divided the 938 acres into six separate parcels, and bidders are required to submit separate bids for each parcel.

The bids will be evaluated on a six-point criteria which includes the per acre cash purchase price; the proposed development's compatibility with township zoning requirements; the estimated state equalized valuation of the property for the first five years; documentation of financial strength and financing ability of the developer; the development experience and expertise of the bidder; the the estimated job creation impact, by year, for the first five years of ownership.

County officials say they intend to monitor closely the building, and the RFP includes notice of a reversionary clause indicating the deed to the property will contain restrictions to assure development occurs as scheduled.

The parcels are divided as follows:

- A 10.58 acre, zoned multiple residential, that includes an easement for Old Phoenix Road;
- A 44.2 acre rectangular parcel bounded by Sheldon Road on the east and is part of the southwest quarter of Section 15 of the township. There is no current proposed zoning on the land.

- A 30.41-acre parcel, proposed for office zoning at the intersection of Five Mile Road and the west line of Sheldon Road;

- A 145.17-acre parcel with proposed light industrial zoning on Five Mile Road;

A little less light

Police Sgt. Gary Callender uses the lamp post knocked over by Bekins driver Raymond Root as a footrest while he writes Root a citation for hitting the post with the moving van Root was driving Monday. The accident took place on Main and Center streets.

Attard will inspect city full time

Come Sept. 8, the City of Northville will have its own building inspector.

Joe Attard, who has split his duties between Plymouth Township and Northville, will be devoting all his efforts to the mini building boom taking place in the city. He will be paid $35,000, "a small increase" over his salary in the township.

For Attard, the move is a first since becoming a building inspector 14 years ago, and the 56-year-old is looking forward to it being his last.

"I'm looking forward to working in Northville full time," he says. "It's a small community but (city manager) Mr. (Steven) Walters assured me there is a lot of building going on here, enough to keep me busy for at least the next three years."

When he assumes his new post, Attard will be inspecting not only the planned commercial development, including the Main-Center project, but residential building and renovations as well.

He sees his job as a challenge, especially with helping people who are trying to bring their existing older homes up to the modern requirements of the code.

"It's virtually impossible to bring some of those homes up to code and still maintain the original old-time tenor of the house," Attard says. But he's willing to help where he can.

"I'm not a politician, and I try to be fair when it comes to inspecting," Attard says, adding that he intends to enforce the code because, "If people didn't have a code to follow," the building would be of little worth.

He brings to his job a long career in electrical work, along with a master electrician license. He leaves behind his own company.

"A good building inspector is 60 percent knowledge and 40 percent common sense," he says, recalling the information he received from a former colleague, long since retired.

District enrollment soars, board hires more staff

By MICHELE M. FECHT

In an effort to maintain desirable class sizes in the face of increasing student enrollment, the Northville Board of Education Monday approved the hiring of five additional elementary teachers for the 1986-87 school year.

Preliminary enrollment figures show an increase of about 150 students for the new school year over what was projected last May.

The administration projected in May that enrollment for the 1986-87 school year would be approximately 3,262 students. As of August 19, projections indicated an additional 85 students in grades K-12 bringing the total to 3,347.

By Monday night, the enrollment figure had increased another 66 students to 3,413.

Administrators noted that the district is receiving new enrollments every day and anticipates numbers will continue to increase through Tuesday.

"Amerman went up five students since Friday," Assistant Superintendent Burton Knighton told board members at Monday's meeting.

While preliminary enrollment figures may not reflect all students that have moved out of the district over the summer months, Superintendent George Bell noted the projections are the administration's best estimate until school opens next Tuesday.

"The board has not had the experience in many years of having growth in the district," the superintendent noted. "We have to build into that."

Recognizing that enrollment could continue to climb throughout the school year, Bell recommended the board hire additional staff now to maintain the district's desired average class size of 28 students per classroom.

"There is no research that indicates class size is detrimental to the teaching of a child," Bell said. "However, we think this is the responsible way to address the problem. It gives us the option of planning for growth. We'll have room for two to three kids to come into each grade level during the course of the year."

Knighton told board members that without the additional staff, class sizes at the elementary level would be closer to 30 students per classroom at the start of the school year and could possibly exceed that number as the year progresses.

The board's approval to hire five additional elementary teachers — two at Winchester and Amerman and one at Silver Springs — will put class sizes around 25 students per classroom with even fewer students in the lower elementary grades.

While the board does not have a written policy determining class size, practice has been to staff for an average class size of 28 students at the elementary level and 29 at the secondary level.

Having interviewed a number of elementary teachers for other district openings, Knighton said the administration already has five can-

All first grade students will meet their teacher and classmates while parents attend the informal meeting.

Other additions to student lunches may be purchased for 35 cents. ## GOP runs, Patterson runs effort

By ANITA CRONE

For Mari Egbert Patterson, who grew up in Northville, the tough work is just beginning.

Just one day after William Lucas captured the GOP gubernatorial nomination, Patterson was already putting in place the campaign for the general election. And she admits that she is off and running hard for a victory in November.

For the second time in two gubernatorial campaigns, Patterson, 32, is taking charge of the effort for the Republican nominee for Michigan's top job.

And, while she knew what she was getting into when she managed Richard Headlee's unsuccessful campaign in 1982, this time around she wasn't quite so certain.

"I thought, when I hired on, that I would be a consultant," she laughs, trying hard to stifle a yawn. "It didn't turn out that way."

She worked nearly full time for Lucas since the Wayne County executive made the switch from the Democratic to the Republican party, then helped set up the organizational structure for the primary race for the gubernatorial nomination and now is building up a base for the general election.

Since Lucas won the nomination, she has been to Washington, D.C., lunching with Vice President George Bush and his wife, Barbara, and top GOP campaign staff in the nation's capital. While she says she was impressed with the lunch, it didn't give her quite the thrill that meeting the president in the Oval Office when Lucas went to Washington after coming over to the Republican Party did.

"I think I spent the entire time just looking around the office," she says.

She didn't have to do much organizing then. Much of the work already had been done. "Organizing is the key to any campaign," she states.

Her own organizational skills were developed while a student at Northville High School and honed managing campaigns in Illinois, Indiana and Georgia before returning to Michigan to run Headlee's campaign, Patterson says she is ready for the challenge.

Noting that the primary campaign was a challenge, especially with Lucas facing strong opposition from Dick Chrysler, who had 40 paid staffers, as opposed to Lucas' eight, Patterson says she expects to have a larger staff in place for the statewide effort.

"During the primary, we concentrated on the 26 counties which we considered key — counties where voters were likely to vote Republican and where we thought we could convince them that Mr. Lucas was the Republican they should vote for," she explained.

Crafts sale rescheduled

The downtown Northville Arts and Crafts Show scheduled for last weekend under sponsorship of the Northville Merchants' Association was brought to an early end Saturday because of rain.

Chairman Del Black reported Monday the show is being rescheduled for this Friday and Saturday. Most of the participants, he said, will be returning this weekend. In addition, spaces are being taken by other crafts persons who were not able to participate in last week's event.

Black may be contacted about spaces at 349-0411.

Show hours will be the same as last weekend 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Friday and 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday. Northville Alumni Jazz Band again will be playing in the Town Square Park by the clock during the show.

Booths will be set up again on the sidewalks on both sides of downtown Main Street and in the Town Square Park. The streets will not be blocked off as the show will be completely on the sidewalks.

Jaycees seek outstanding citizens

The Northville Jaycees are looking for candidates for the honor of becoming the Outstanding Young Person of Northville.

Chairperson Teresa Folino reports that nominations for the new local award are being taken now through the Sept. 20 deadline.

The winner of the local competition will be announced at the Northville Jaycees' general meeting in November and will then compete to become one of Ten Outstanding Young People of Michigan in the state contest.

These winners, Folino said, will be entered in national competition for Ten Outstanding Young Americans. Local contestants must be between 18 and 35 years old, the same ages as Jaycee members, and must be citizens of the United States. Persons may nominate themselves or they may be nominated by others, but the nominees must sign the application form themselves and submit a picture with the application.

Selection will be on the basis of achievement in any three of 13 areas, which are the same as in the state and national competitions. They include personal improvement, financial success and economic innovation, social improvement to major contemporary problems, philanthropic contributions or voluntary service, politics or governmental service.

Also, scientific or technological contributions, legal reform, cultural achievement, academic leadership or accomplishment, moral and religious leadership, success in influencing public opinion and any other important contributions to the community, state or nation.

In addition, the entry form asks that the career of the nominee, his or her exceptional achievements and honors received be detailed.

Nomination forms are available from Teresa Folino, 601 Orchard, Northville, 48167. She may be contacted at 349-3391. Entries must be returned to her postmarked no later than Sept. 20.

Chambers trade business cards

Instead of a fall chamber luncheon in September, the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce is participating in a Business Connection with the Plymouth and Livonia chambers.

From 5-7 p.m. Sept. 11 members of the chambers and business persons of the three communities are invited to participate in the exchange of business cards at the Mayflower Meeting House in Plymouth.

Laurie Marrs, executive director of the Northville chamber, notes that the event offers members an opportunity to expand their networking outside the community. She adds that members are being encouraged to bring non-member guests.

Charges of $5 for members and $7 for non-members include hors d'oeuvres. There will be a cash bar.

Marrs urges local members to "bring plenty of cards" and notes there will be a door prize. A display table is to be available for business literature of members.

To register or for additional information call the chamber office at 349-7640.

Final arrangements for the program with Plymouth and Livonia will be made at the chamber meeting at 8 a.m. Thursday in the chamber building.

Plans also will be discussed for the annual dinner meeting of the chamber on Oct. 4 at Meadowbrook Country Club.

The chamber board has approved a donation of $1,000 toward the planned band shell for the Town Square Park with the notation that a matching donation will be made to a township beautification project.

Carl Prielipp readies his produce for the Farmers Market

Record/JERRY ZOLYNSKY

Drought rains extra profits on state's produce growers

The southern drought that has northern and midwestern farmers sending hay to the parched farms in Tennessee, Kentucky, North Carolina, South Carolina and beyond is hitting closer to home as well.

Carl Prielipp, who with his sons runs a produce stand located in a prime spot at the Northville Farmers' Market every Thursday, said last week a truck pulled up to his Britton farm and took more than 150 heads of cabbage back down south.

Also included in the purchase were melons, peppers, tomatoes and string beans, enough to fill a small truck with the same kinds of produce the Prielipps sell at their stands in various farm markets. For the Prielipps, the purchase was good news. For the Michigan consumer, however, the news was not so good.

"It means that prices will pretty much remain the same this season," Carl Prielipp said. "The buyers paid retail so that helped us out. But it's a question of supply and demand and right now, the demand is increased because of the southerners buying

"It's not something you can plan for, but if it happens, you have to make arrangements. It usually evens out in the long run."

— Carl Prielipp
— Britton farmer

in the area.

"They've been around here before, but this is the first time they stopped at my farm. Other farmers in the area have been selling to them, too," Prielipp added.

Prielipp, who farms about 600 acres, relies primarily on soybeans and his greenhouses for his income, but adds that the farmers markets he attends ensure extra income. "Without the markets, I'm not sure we'd make it," he admits.

In addition to the Northville market, the Prielipps maintain a presence in Pontiac, Brighton, Plymouth, Ann Arbor and Jackson, as well as a stand on the farm itself.

And, while Prielipp says the purchase by the southern growers has helped this year, he admits it is not unusual for Michigan farmers to buy produce from other states when Michigan has a bad planting season.

"It's not something you can plan for, but if it happens, you have to make arrangements," he says. "It usually evens out in the long run."

Center keeps police, fire hopping

In the past year, since June 30, 1985, Northville Township law enforcement and fire officials have averaged three trips a month to the facility that once housed the Wayne County Child Development Center.

And, while the officials maintain they are simply "doing their job," their job has increased since April.

A preliminary computer check of police department records revealed 15 responses to possible trespassers on the site, four calls of suspicious persons and seven calls about suspicious vehicles.

Those calls are in addition to the routine patrols instituted by the police department.

The fire department has been equally as busy. Since April, the department has had 19 fire calls on the site, with three of those calls, including last Monday's visit, resulting in at least one injury to a firefighter.

In all, Fire Chief Robert Toms estimated that the department has expended $4,410 in fighting the fires. However, that dollar amount does not include wear and tear on fire vehicles or damage to the buildings still standing on the site.

Most damaging of the fires occurred July 30, 1985, when a fire in the former movie theater totally destroyed the building and left a man injured; May 22, 1986, when it took firefighters nearly four hours to extinguish a fire in the former administrator's house and the greenhouse behind it and also left one man injured; and, the most recent blaze, occurring Aug. 18, which left one firefighter injured and totally destroyed the interior of the school building.

The statistics provided by the police department are not as accurate, since the computer figures do not include all incidents where citations were issued, nor do they include citations issued during the routine patrols made by officers.

While the township is not reimbursed by Wayne County for its efforts at the site, the county has allowed the fire department to maintain a fire station on Sheldon Road, for which it does not charge, as well as use of the community garden and soccer fields on the site.

Wayne County has recently requested proposals from developers in an attempt to sell more than 900 acres of the county-owned land. For the past three years, since the child development center was closed, the county has not provided either police or fire protection to the site.

Correction

While council member Paul Folino voted in the minority recently regarding the proposed land swap between the city and Plagens, he voted in favor of the project. The Record regrets that this was not made clear in a story in last week's newspaper.

Gardens add new life to renovated dwelling

Bob Horner, a teacher in the Southfield Schools and new owner of a two-family income dwelling at 510 Randolph, has spent the last year transforming the house built in 1906 into a Michigan version of a fashionable Boston townhouse.

When the apartment he had occupied for 23 years in a building in Bloomfield Hills became zoned for commercial purposes, Horner found the brick home on Randolph and saw its possibilities.

Over the years the house had been changed from a single family home to a multi-family one with a spiral staircase added to provide access to the second floor.

Horner added a gray awning over the entrance, black shutters and installed a new brick walk. He fenced the tiny front yard with black wrought iron railing and planted ivy, cotoneaster and hosta for a maintenance-free front yard.

Horner told Judy Beyersdorf and Pat Eden, co-chairpersons of the Garden of the Month project of the Country Girls Branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association, that he has spent the past year working with his dog, Adam, at his side but points out he still has flower beds to plant and sodding that needs to be done.

However, they consider the transformation already accomplished worthy of naming this the Garden of the Month for August. They note that it was nominated by Marge Lenheiser but add that many people have commented about the "nice job he has done." Horner told them he has received a couple of notes of appreciation.

At the rear of the house, Horner has replaced all the rocks in the stream that flows behind it to create a waterfall with steps across it that lead to a wildflower garden complete with a shady spot to sit.

Many of the ferns, ground covers and moss were brought from the north woods by Horner on his frequent trips north.

A unique brick patio in the backyard has a sundial center. It was built originally by a previous owner. Horner has tucked many wildlife art objects into corners, including a carved wooden bear. Horner says he has picked many up at garage sales.

He told the Country Girls that he is "very pleased" with the response to his transformation and said he loves living in Northville. He's also enjoying having his first dog — and what else do you name your first dog but "Adam"?

To each of the six points raised by the governor, the crowd responded with a resounding "no."

Finally, the governor asked if the state wanted to be led by the "naysayers." Guess what the answer was.

She was among 121 delegates attending who represented 6,700 women in 49 chapters in Michigan and one in Faribault, Minn.

They endorsed the following projects for the next two years: 1986-87 Lutheran Child and Family Services of Michigan and, for 1987-88, Concordia College, Ann Arbor, Student Aid and Assistance Fund.

• A 538-acre parcel, including much of the county land bounded by Beck Road on the west and Phoenix Road on the south;

• A 50-acre parcel with a proposed multiple residential zoning bounded by Five Mile and Phoenix roads.

The county has announced it will not accept requests for tax abatement on any of the parcels, and it will require site plans, proposed dates improvement will begin and the expected completion date. Each bid must be accompanied by a $10,000 certified check which will be construed as part of the offer to purchase the land.

A deposit will be required once the sale price of each parcel is determined.

City hires inspector

And while Attard will put his knowledge up against anyone's, he says he really wants to have the chance to do his job and do it well.

That is one of the reasons he reluctantly is leaving his job in Plymouth Township. "A man who knows his job should be able to do it," he says, noting that in the larger community he often was overwhelmed by the paperwork.

"I know paper work is part of the job. You have to write letters to builders, developers and homeowners. But you don't have to do it all day long and not have any time left to inspect."

Because Northville's building boom is smaller, Attard says he is looking forward to being able to devote the time necessary to do a good job.

"I'm not going to be watching over someone's shoulder, but I am going to be on site," he says.

Prior to officially assuming his duties, he says he plans to refamiliarize himself with the city's building ordinances and says the ordinance book will be his reading material for the next couple of weeks.

"Most ordinances are similar," he says, "but each community has slightly different requirements, slightly different setbacks and slightly different wordings. It all adds up to much better buildings."

Library Friends invite all to film program

A second major event has been announced for September by the Friends of Northville Library.

With a nationally known film historian as the guide, the Friends plan to turn the group's Sept. 10 meeting into an entertainment night for film buffs.

Using film clips, James L. Limbacher, retired from Dearborn's Henry Ford Centennial Library where he was audio-visual librarian, will take his audience from the days of silent films to contemporary motion pictures in a program with a saucy title, "Sexuality in World Cinema."

The film talk has been well received by many other library and church groups in the metropolitan area, the Friends report. The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the council chambers of the Northville City Hall.

"Like all our programs this one, which promises to be funny as well as informative, is open to the public," says Betty Griffin, Friends president.

"We expect a good turnout, and we'll be christening the Friends' most recent gift to the library: a 16-millimeter Bell and Howard automatic feed film projector."

Among old favorites on the screen will be Lillian Gish, the "virginal heroine"; Theda Bara and Nita Naldi, "the vamps"; Rudolph Valentino, Clara Bow and Pola Negi of the Roaring Twenties; Greta Garbo, Marlene Dietrich, Jean Harlow, Mae West, Carole Lombard and Ginger Rogers.

Limbacher will elaborate on the effects of sound on movies, the rise of studio and church censorship in 1934, World War II morality, revision of the Motion Picture Code in 1958 and the rise of foreign films in the 1960s.

During his career Limbacher was national president of the American Federation of Film Societies, the Greater Detroit Audio-Visual Association and the Audio-Visual Section of the Michigan Library Association.

He appears in Who's Who in American Education, Who's Who in the Midwest, Who's Who in the World, Contemporary Authors and The Dictionary of International Biography.

The distinguished librarian also is the author of 18 plays, 270 television programs, 85 radio programs, seven musical comedies, 10 research studies, 10 motion pictures, three opera libretti and 18 books.

Beginning Sept. 11 tickets will be available at the circulation desk of the library for the third annual library fundraiser to be hosted by Genitti's Sept. 29 at the downtown Northville Italian Restaurant.

Tickets for the popular event featuring book critic Ruth Pollack Coughlin are $15 a person. Last year's event was a sellout.

Friends president Betty Griffin reports that the Friends' used book sale for the benefit of the Northville Public Library, held during the annual downtown sidewalk sale Aug. 2, made a profit of $716.20. She notes this is an increase of about $110 from last year's sale even though the sale ended abruptly in a downpour shortly after 3 p.m., losing two hours from the scheduled closing of 5 p.m.

Griffin adds that pictures used in the previous year in The Northville Record and donated to the Friends for the sale were sold for $29.95.

She says she assigns a number of reasons for the sale's success — beautiful weather, excellent location, a growing reputation for good books, generous publicity and support and hard work by the Friends membership.

She mentions that members sorted books, delivered posters, phoned volunteers and worked at the sale.

Events benefit muscular dystrophy

Several area events to help in the fight against Muscular Dystrophy are upcoming this Labor Day weekend.

Local residents are invited to "be a part of the excitement" Labor Day weekend at a pajama party to benefit "Jerry's kids" Sunday, Anthony's, in the Novi Sheraton Oaks, is hosting the party along with WJBK-Channel 2 and WHTT-Power 96.

The party, from 8 p.m. to 2 a.m., will be telecast live on the local Jerry Lewis Labor Day Telethon through a television remote that will be at the party all night.

For just a $2 donation to muscular dystrophy, anyone interested in helping the cause can be on television, dance and have fun — just don't forget to wear your pajamas! Questions? Call 476-2920.

The Telethon office reports that scores of area volunteers will be staffing telephone centers throughout the metropolitan region with one located at the Sheraton Oaks in Novi.

Among contributors who will be appearing on the show Sunday and Monday are Nancy Schmid, representing the Novi Jaycees, Michele Marino of Northville, representing the Michigan Justin Morgan Horse Association and Karen Liddicoat from Novi High School.

The charity event will include a variety of other activities to raise money for muscular dystrophy. Some of these are sidewalk hair cutting, car wash, dog grooming, wood carving, car clubs, kids' games, a dunk tank and square dancing.

The benefits will take place on Ann Arbor Road, between Main and Sheldon. For more information call Headliners Hair Studio, 455-4770.

Tricia Berg and Pat Ware of Headliners Hair Studio will be Funds generated from the program will go toward research, as well as to provide wheelchairs, braces, clinical services, therapy sessions, summer camps and more for people suffering from neuromuscular disease. All these services are provided free of charge.

Anyone interested in assisting with the benefit is invited to help by donating prizes, food or cash contributions. Contributions are tax deductible and a "thank you" letter will be sent to verify your donation.

Police Blotters

Township police recover stolen auto

In the township . . .

Township police officers Aug. 17 recovered a 1985 Pontiac Firebird reported stolen recently by a Farmington Hills resident.

The vehicle, valued at $11,000 was found in one of the stalls at National Pride Auto Wash, minus all four tires and rims and the stereo. Police have no suspects in the incident.

A moped, valued at $600, was reported stolen Aug. 18 by a township woman who told officers the perpetrator apparently broke into her locked home to get the key to the bike.

State police officers located the vehicle and arrested a township man driving the moped. The suspect was charged with reckless driving, fleeing and eluding an officer and driving with a suspended license by the state police. No charges have been filed by township officers.

Police are investigating reports that $1,887 was embezzled by an employee at the McDonald's on Five Mile Road.

A chain supervisor told officers that the money was in a bank deposit bag Aug. 2 and was scheduled to be deposited the following day. The deposit was never made and the money has not been recovered.

Two Detroit women were released on $100 cash bond each by township police officers after the two were charged with larceny from a building.

The two women were observed by Meijer's security officials placing more than $450 worth of perfume and other items into their purses Aug. 18.

One of the woman was turned over to Oakland County Sheriff's deputies after a Iain check showed an outstanding criminal bench warrant.

A township residence was robbed Aug. 20 while the owners were on vacation.

The housekeeper told police when she reported to work she noticed a window pried open and a video cassette missing. Also missing was some jewelry.

. . . in the city

An 18-year-old Northville man reported to police that he parked his unlocked van in the driveway outside his home at 10 p.m. on Aug. 22. An hour later he heard a vehicle leave the scene in a hurry and upon investigating, found that a radar detector and citizen band radio were missing from the van. The missing items were valued at $450, and damage to the vehicle was estimated at $50.

Unknown person(s) stole the passenger side front and rear tires and wheel covers from a 1986 Ford Mustang while it was parked in the east side display lot at the McDonald Ford dealership. According to the police report, the incident occurred between 9:30 p.m. Aug. 17 and 9:40 a.m. the following day. The value of the stolen items was $411.

A 71-year-old Northville man told police that, while he was sitting in the family room of his home, he heard a loud noise followed by the shattering of the glass on his doorwall. A small rock was found about two feet from the door wall. The incident happened at 9 p.m. Aug. 14 and caused $150 worth of damage.

Possible rape, assault reported at hospital

State Police are investigating a reported criminal sexual assault and possible rape that was reported to officers by Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital officials Aug. 22.

According to the police report, a 58-year-old female patient at the hospital told officers she was raped and assaulted on hospital property between 3-5 p.m.

The victim, who was treated and released from the University of Michigan Hospital, told investigating officers that while out on the NRPH grounds a black male approached her and offered her money, which she did not accept.

Returning to the hospital, the woman said she went to the bathroom and while in a stall the man pushed himself into the stall and told the pressured victim to engage in an oral sexual act.

When she refused, she said, the man pulled her out of the stall, threw her onto the ground and proceeded to rape her.

The following day, when state police officers again questioned the woman, she repeated her story, omitting any reference to the suspect assaulting her in the women's bathroom.

The woman was treated for a broken nose, lacerations to her buttocks, and bruises to her face and eyes.

An investigation into the incident is continuing.

In Service

Navy Fireman Daniel J. Latham, whose wife, Lisa, is the daughter of James Laprad of Northville, recently participated in the International Naval Review in New York Harbor July 4 as part of the Statue of Liberty Centennial celebration.

During the celebration, 21 ships from 14 countries joined 11 U.S. Navy ships in the review, with this being only the fifth such gathering of military vessels in U.S. history.

The ships sailed into New York harbor on the morning of July 3 and paraded up the Hudson River before anchoring throughout the harbor and river. Review began on the morning of July 4 when the battleship USS Iowa exchanged honors with the visiting ships.

Latham is currently stationed aboard the battleship USS Iowa, homeported in Norfolk, VA.

A 1979 graduate of Western Dubuque High School, Epworth, Iowa, he joined the Navy in December 1983.

Airman First Class Charles P. Cruz, son of Carol F. Yarnovich, 42486 Waterfall Road, and Charles J. Cruz of Canton, has graduated from the U.S. Air Force fuels specialist course at Chanute Air Force Base, Ill.

Students were taught procedures for receiving, storing and issuing petroleum products. They also earned credits toward an associate degree through the Community College of the Air Force.

Paula J. Whitmire, daughter of Judith Terrill of 46057 Sunset, has entered the United States Air Force's delayed enlistment program.

According to Tech. Sgt. Steffen Smith, the Air Force recruiter in Ann Arbor, Whitmire's entry in the DEP allows the Air Force to schedule an opening for her to attend basic training and be assigned to a job or skill area. She is a 1980 graduate of Hartland High School and will enter the Regular Air Force Feb. 11, 1987. Following graduation from the six-week basic training course at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, she will receive technical training in the general aptitude area and be assigned to an Air Force duty station.

Army Pvt. Brett A. Zoroya, son of Peter Zoroya of 42072 Queen Anne Court, has arrived for duty with the 3rd Infantry Division, West Germany.

State police conclude Doll investigation

The State Police have nearly concluded their investigation into the death of Ronald Doll, a patient at Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital. The Michigan Department of Mental Health, is continuing its investigation into the incident, but there is no date yet as to when that internal study will be completed.

State Police Sgt. Wayne Bullen said Thursday the State Police's request for a warrant in the incident was turned down by the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office; however, the police were continuing to study the incident. "We have one or two more points that we'd like to clear up before we consider the case closed," Bullen said.

Tom DeLoache, public affairs officer for the mental health department, said some people still remain at the hospital to interview and promised he would "stay in touch" until the study is completed.

Doll died July 30, three days after reportedly drinking a cleaning solution while in restraints and under one-to-one supervision.

Patterson keeps Lucas campaign on target

That strategy worked, but the campaign also had some help with the support of President Ronald Reagan, who will be making a campaign swing to Michigan Sept. 24 to help Lucas, and published stories five days before the primary election, detailing incidents where employees at Chrysler's Cars & Concepts collected unemployment benefits while volunteering their time at the company.

Now, Patterson and her rapidly growing staff can concentrate more on a statewide vote.

"We know we are going to be strong in Detroit, Flint and other center cities," she says, "and judging from the primary vote, we should do very well in Kent County."

Patterson's own efforts are helped by the gubernatorial candidate himself, a far different man to work with from Headlee.

"Mr. Lucas is a more low key individual. He's very softspoken and even conciliatory. He also delegates responsibility well and has faith in our efforts."

Patterson says Headlee was much more competitive, but with both men, she observes, there was an awareness that any final decisions come from them, not from the campaign staff.

For the Lucas campaign, the staff Patterson has put together is comprised of far different individuals from those she worked with during the Headlee campaign.

"I asked a lot of the people who worked with me on the earlier campaign to join up this time, but they were all committed to other individuals," she relates. "I expect, though, they'll be helping behind the scenes."

Working even farther out of the limelight is Patterson's husband, Jim, an Atlanta attorney.

Although they have been married for four years, Patterson says, "we probably have spent about two years together."

"They talk almost daily. But she says it's mostly 'small talk. We're both really wrapped up in our careers and, when we do talk, he doesn't really want to talk about his job and I'm tired about talking about the campaign, since I've been doing that for about 12 or 14 hours already."

Patterson says she may rest after the election, but in the back of her mind is another campaign — this one of her own choosing and not a political effort. Patterson says she would "love" to become a Kennedy fellow at Harvard, and already there is talk of her being nominated for the prestigious fellowship.

Maybe after that, she'll actually get to live with her husband in the "dream house" the couple purchased just before the start of the Lucas campaign. After all, it's only two years until the next national campaign.

Mari Patterson displays her winning professional style

New hiring offsets enrollment increase

didates to hire for the new posts. The hiring of additional staff will cost the district approximately $150,000 and will likely be paid for by paring back in other areas.

Frustrated by the misconception that additional students mean additional dollars for the school district, the superintendent said he has "to get people to understand the difference between an in-formula and out-of-formula district."

As an out-of-formula school district, Northville receives no state funding except for a small amount of categorical aid. Therefore, additional students mean an additional burden on the local taxpayers.

While commercial development provides additional tax dollars to the district without increasing its student population, Northville has seen very little commercial development.

Bell noted that last year, it cost the district approximately $3,686 to educate a child in Northville. According to township officials, the typical township homeowner pays anywhere from $2,600 to $4,900 in total annual taxes. In the city, the average tax bill is approximately $2,679 annually with an estimated $1,666 going to the school district.

While the enrollment increase will put a crimp in the district's budget for the new school year, the superintendent noted that the additional students will not mean overcrowding in the district's buildings.

"We have a lot of room in the schools," Bell noted. "Even at maximum development of the subdivisions, it would not be a problem."

Religious school moves into Novi

The United Hebrew Schools will be offering religion classes to students in grades K-3 at Village Oaks Elementary School in Novi beginning next month.

Carol Gale, director of the new Novi center, said the program was instituted to meet the needs of the growing number of Jewish families in the Novi and Northville areas.

"We've been getting a tremendous response from a flyer we sent out earlier this month," Gale noted, adding that families from as far as Brighton and Howell also indicated interest in the Novi branch.

The United Hebrew Schools currently has branches in Troy, Southfield, Oak Park, West Bloomfield and Farmington Hills. The new branch at Village Oaks will be the first Hebrew school in the Novi-Northville area.

Gale, also director of The United Hebrew Schools nursery program in Southfield, said the grade structure was determined by the responses received from interested parents.

"We picked grades K-3 as a starting point," she said. "This seems to be a younger community. If there is a need for more, we'll do more."

With Farmington Hills being one of the largest branches in the area, Gale said she anticipates the new center may draw some of its student enrollment from the north end of Farmington.

Classes will be offered at Village Oaks from 10 a.m. to noon Sundays and possibly from 4-6 p.m. Wednesdays.

Parents interested in registering children for classes at the Village Oaks branch should call 354-1050.

Our Opinions

County's first step is encouraging

The release by Wayne County of requests for proposals on the sale of 938 acres of county-owned land located in the township is a move in the right direction.

Since the closing down of the Wayne County Center for Child Development, the land has sat vacant with its gently rolling hills supplying a place for teenagers to hang out but not providing any income, via taxes, to either the county or the township; its decaying buildings offering an enticing target to vandals or arsonists; and its vast potential sitting unrealized.

We are not deluding ourselves or the community by assuming just because the RFPs have been issued that a developer, or six developers, will move right in and suddenly an ugly duckling will be transformed into a swan. Were that to happen, however, the mechanism will be in place and the construction projects could be under way.

We cannot help but be pleased to see Wayne County following through on a promise.

The upcoming sale of the land, if it is consummated, would serve a dual benefit. It would help ease the county's proposed budget deficit, albeit there are no guarantees that the sale would be a panacea for the problem. And, more importantly, it would place 938 acres of residential and commercial property on the township's tax rolls.

For too long the township has had to contend with more than one-third of its land being non-taxable and the residents of the township being forced to ask the taxpayers to make up the difference.

We are pleased, too, to see that Susan Heintz, the township supervisor, will chair the committee which will make the final recommendation to the county commissioners as to which of the anticipated dozens of bidders will be given the development nod. Heintz has shown through her work on various regional boards and commissions an ability to provide a voice of reason in sometimes unreasonable situations.

We approve thoroughly of the promise by the county and echoed by township officials that no tax abatement will be granted to site developers, reinforcing the commitment of both governmental units to turn the land into a money-making proposition.

We realize, however, that the RFP is only the first step in a long, drawn-out process. Included in the packet to potential developers is a warning that the county will closely monitor any project and, if mutually agreed upon plans and schedules are not adhered to, the county could enforce a reversionary clause. We hope that is not an idle promise.

We expect that Heintz, and other township officials, will keep a watchful eye not only on the projects for this land, but on the county as well to ensure that the township's interests are well protected.

Yellow sign of fall

It had to happen. Just when parents got used to having their children underfoot and the kids got used to having few restraints put upon their time, the call of the school bell is intruding on this idyllic existence.

Adding insult to injury, Mother Nature is throwing a whammy on the summer, with an uncharacteristic high temperature Thursday of 65 degrees.

We checked our calendar and noted that the month is still August. We checked with contractors and saw that sales of furnaces have not yet begun to increase — in fact people are still putting air conditioning units in their homes. Then we remembered that this is Michigan and maybe in five minutes the weather will change.

What will certainly change are the driving habits of commuters who, in addition to putting up with road closings and traffic jams since June, now will have to be on the lookout for those yellow school buses as well.

The start of the school year is a bittersweet time for some parents — those who will send their children out on their own for the first time or those who watch the last of their children board the bus — and for nearly everyone who equates the start of the school year with the end of summer.

We ask, however, that they be issue oriented, confined to 500 words and that they contain the signature, address and telephone number of the writer. Names will be withheld on request, but a brief explanation of why the request is being made should accompany the letter. Deadline for submission is 3:30 Monday p.m.. We reserve the right to edit letters for brevity, clarity and libel.

Partying with the parties

Area politicians were in full regalia this weekend as the Republicans held their annual state convention in Detroit and the Democrats hit the road to Flint for their gathering.

The weekend's activity might even be packaged by Mike Ilitch as "party-party" or by Tom Monaghan as fast, free, friendly delivery, but the toppings offered by the GOP and the Dems were separate items, even though at times it was difficult to tell who belonged to which party without seeing who was in Flint and who was in Detroit.

The Republicans, despite their reputation for affluence, were a subdued lot with banners for presidential candidates outnumbering by a wide margin the stickers and publicity for local and state candidates. However, the local people did their best to unite the diverse elements of the group long enough to get caucuses and meetings rolling. That translated into long hours and plenty of politicking.

In Detroit, the Novi-Northville area was well represented with newly elected precinct delegates vying with candidates for state and county offices for center stage. In the Wayne 2nd District caucus, the group resembled nothing so much as a listing of "who's who among Northville Republicans."

Michael Legg, Republican Second Congressional District chair, and a Northville resident, called his group to order early, but that was the only time the assembled group settled down. The candidates were campaigning, and the delegates, including Kathi McNally, Sally Williams and Greg Dawson (most of whom have announced their support for George Bush in the upcoming presidential race), were trying hard to keep the large and vocal Pat Robertson delegation involved but at bay.

Northville City delegates joined their counterparts in the 18th District caucus but most of the local action was in the 2nd.

County Commission candidate Susan Heintz did not have her own hospitality suite, but she did have a lot of buttons and was the center of attention during the caucus.

Among those courting the Northville Township supervisor were Legg, state Sen. R. Robert Geake, state Rep. Gerry Law, and assistant county executive Ron Chapman.

Heintz, meanwhile, was doing her own courting, waiting nearly a half hour for the overworked and over-utilized Westin Hotel elevators to take her to the Michigan Chamber of Commerce suite, one of the few rooms she had time to visit. The rest of her efforts were directed at cheering the GOP candidates, including William Lucas and Colleen Engler, as the statewide candidates made the rounds to the various caucuses.

On Saturday, Heintz became one of those candidates making the rounds of caucuses, including a futile attempt to break into the locked room where the 15th District, which included part of Livonia, was holding its meeting. Heintz said she tried on two separate occasions to gain entrance to the closed doors and finally turned away.

In Flint, the Democrats, always a rowdy bunch, turned their attention to state races, and their activity was tempered somewhat when Gov. Jim Blanchard elected to take the high road and not mention his GOP opponent by name. That didn't stop others, most notably Attorney General Frank Kelley, from going on the offensive. Nor did it stop the delegates from the 18th District from greeting the AG with cries of "Cropsy, Cropsy," referring no doubt to Alan Cropsy, the GOP's short-lived honorable mention candidate for attorney general.

Over at the 2nd District block on the convention floor, some candidates did some campaigning through the group, including Kathy Reilly, who is opposing Law; Thomas Healy, running against Geake; and Dean Baker, who will square off against U.S. Rep. Carl Pursell. Notably absent from the group was the Northville Democrat, although Bruno Scacchitti, Northville Township manager, did attend the convention. Scacchitti, a native Pennsylvanian, said it was different being in the majority for a change. Most Northville officials are card-carrying Republicans.

Although there was plenty of campaigning, there were no surprises at either of the conventions. The politicians politicked, the delegates partied and everyone had one last chance to prepare before the real work begins for the November election.

After the Fact

By Phil Jerome

I won't tell you her name. I don't want to embarrass her. Suffice it to say we were at our class reunion two weeks ago when I challenged her to a bout of Polish arm-wrestling.

Now before all you people of Polish descent get upset let me say that some of my best friends are Polish. Even my wife is Polish.

Polish arm-wrestling is something I saw on "Cheers." Carla did it to Woody. Basically what you do is tell your opponent it's a different form of arm-wrestling. You put your arms in the same position as regular arm-wrestling, but your opponent makes a fist and you place your hand on top of it.

"I'm going to try to pull your arm toward me and you have to resist me," you tell the poor sap who's gone along with the little game this far.

What happens is you wait until your opponent is pulling mightily. Then you release his hand, causing him to hit himself in the head with his own fist.

Very amusing, right? I thought it was until I did it to this girl at the class reunion. Being a thoughtful kinda guy, I even told her to tuck her head into her shoulder . . . to prevent her from clunking herself in the nose when I let go of her hand.

Well, it worked great. She fell for it like a ton of bricks. Clunked herself right in the forehead with her own little fist.

The only problem was that about 15 seconds later I noticed a little trickle of blood coming from the spot where she had hit herself.

"Oh, no," I cried, grabbing a napkin and dabbing at the blood as it trickled down her face.

"I think you're going to need a lawyer, Jerome," said a friend, who also happened to be a lawyer. "But, frankly, I'd rather be representing her."

And just as my self-esteem reached an all-time low, another former friend added the final blow: "Well, Jerome, you heel. It just goes to show — once a nerd, always a nerd."

Growing in office

By Bruce J. Martin

The first time I talked to Jim Blanchard I was 18. I don't know how old he was.

I was heading up to the Big C Clawson shopping center on an emergency grocery run for my mother, and there he was, standing next to the Kroger's, distributing leaflets and campaigning to keep his Congressional seat. I thought to myself: "Boy, is this guy short."

He said, "Hi, I'm Jim Blanchard. I'm running for U.S. Representative this November, and if you're old enough, I'd like you to vote for me." I told him if he were old enough I would do just that. We shook hands, and I continued up to the store to buy a half-gallon of milk and a pound of hamburger.

This month's press conference in Novi was the first time I'd seen Mr. Blanchard in the flesh since that day. He looked about the same, of course — they don't call him the "Boy Guv" for nothing. He had a better tan this time around, and a little bit heftier build. But there was something else I noticed.

He was taller.

Now usually people look smaller when they grow older. But either Jim Blanchard has grown in the last decade or else I've grown shorter. When I met him the first time, I had to bend over to shake hands with him. Last week, he could just about look me in the eye.

Now, I'm not one to rake muck or anything, but frankly I think there's been something of a cover-up about the governor. Either he's been contaminated by some nuclear fallout causing his molecules to expand, or else it's something much more insidious:

Elevator shoes.

Elevator shoes that go all the way to the top floor. Elevator shoes that could give you a nosebleed. Elevator shoes you need a stepladder just to put your feet in 'em.

Whether it's the radioactivity or the shoes, I think the added height has affected Blanchard psychologically. When I met him the first time, he was self-effacing, nervous, even shy. I remember how surprised I was during his first gubernatorial campaign when his campaign radio spots had him bellowing "Jobs, jobs, jobs," like he was running a Nazi youth rally.

The exclamations were a little strained, I thought. I wrote them off as his way of telling people where he was — he was so short, they might not notice him otherwise.

But the guy won't be shouting "Jobs, Jobs, Jobs" this year, and it's not because he's found a bunch of 'em. He won't be shouting because he has Mellowed Out. He's cool. He's confident. He sounds authoritative. He's at ease with his celebrity status.

In fact, these days the governor is deflecting criticism with the Teflon resiliency of The Great Communicator himself.

But I do think the Republicans will have an edge on Blanchard on their ability to cut costs.

You know how the governor is always taking helicopter tours, like the one of Haggerty Road recently? The way I figure it, anybody else in his shoes could do the same thing.

Without a helicopter.

Labor Day holiday should help economy

Tourism indicators for the Labor Day weekend confirm expectations that spending this summer will be up 9 percent from a year ago with recreational activity up 6 percent, according to AAA Michigan.

"A strong Labor Day holiday could help Michigan top $8.2 billion in tourism spending this summer compared to last summer's record $7.6 billion," stated AAA Michigan Travel Services Manager James Drury.

AAA Michigan estimates that Labor Day tourism should be up at least 6 percent over the 1985 holiday.

The Michigan Department of Transportation expects motorists to drive a record 810 million miles over the 78-hour Labor Day weekend, 2.5 percent more than the 790 million miles traveled in 1985. The number of miles traveled in Michigan so far this year is up 3.5 percent over 1985 and should reach a record 70 billion miles by year's end.

The Labor Day Weekend officially runs from 6 p.m. Friday, Aug. 29, through midnight Monday, Sept. 1.

"Poor weather on June weekends slowed slightly the early summer travel season but upswings in July and August have more than offset the slow start," Drury said.

The Michigan Travel Bureau said the 9 percent jump in summer spending represents 6 percent in real growth and 3 percent inflation and is occurring despite smaller increases in travel activities across the state.

The Travel Bureau predicts 49.7 million person trips will be taken in the state this year, a jump of 6 percent over the record 46.9 million in 1985. A person trip is defined as a trip taken by someone from his permanent residence for the purpose of recreation.

State tourism revenues are expected to reach a record $13.7 billion in 1986 compared to $12.6 billion last year.

Major reasons for the increased tourism revenues are lower gasoline prices that have encouraged more travel, a 9 percent increase in vacation spending to an average $165 per person trip for a family of four and continued strength in the state's economy.

Motorists will find self-serve gasoline prices along major state highways as much as 39 cents lower than last Labor Day holiday.

Officials at the three Lower Peninsula regional tourist associations anticipate that tourism will be 5 percent above the record 1985 summer. Upper Peninsula officials expect this summer season to equal 1985.

A AAA Michigan survey of 10 chambers of commerce shows nine with tourism increases from 5 to 10 percent so far this summer. Tourism in Cadillac, Alpena and Port Huron registered 10 percent gains and all places contacted reported sluggish business in June and increased activity in July and August.

A mid-season Travel Bureau survey of 16 attractions in Michigan showed attendance up as much as 6.5 percent.

Through the first 7½ months of 1986, Mackinac Bridge crossings were more than 5.5 percent ahead of 1985 due primarily to a record-setting July in which more than 460,000 vehicles crossed the bridge. Bridge officials expect August crossings to top that total because most of the Labor Day weekend falls in August.

After a slow start, camping pressure has been building in July and August and the Michigan Association of Private Campground Operators reports Labor Day reservations are running slightly ahead of 1985. Day use at Michigan's state park campgrounds is 2 percent ahead of last year.

"From June to July, AAA Michigan requests for travel routings increased 31 percent and through July, AAA service to out-of-state customers rose 9 percent," Drury said.

Seventeen persons were killed on Michigan roads over the last Labor Day holiday period. Of the 12 victims who had safety belts available, only two were buckled up. Drinking was a known or suspected factor in nearly 80 percent of the deaths.

AAA Michigan's "Bring 'Em Back Alive!" Holiday News Service will broadcast hourly traffic and tourism bulletins to more than 145 radio stations from 3 to 11 p.m. Friday, Aug. 29, 8 a.m. to 11 p.m. Saturday and Monday and 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. Sunday.

Wine cooler deposit proposal in '88?

Now that the Michigan Legislature had rejected citizen requests for a special legislature session to place the wine cooler deposit proposal on the Nov. 4 election ballot, the state's largest conservation organization is stepping up its campaign to gather enough voter signatures to place the question on the ballot in 1988.

The Michigan United Conservation Clubs (MUCC), which gathered more than 200,000 voter signatures between mid-May and early July, has begun distributing new petitions to supporters in every county in the state. In addition, MUCC-affiliated clubs in the Detroit area are staffing a booth at the Michigan State Fair, being held now through Sept. 1, where voters can sign wine cooler deposit petitions.

Under state law, the group has until Nov. 3 of this year to submit 243,201 valid voter signatures to the Elections Division of the Michigan Secretary of State's office in order to place the issue on the 1988 ballot, according to Thomas L. Washington, MUCC executive director.

"It is our opinion that the signatures we have already collected will remain valid for the 1988 election," Washington noted, "and we are confident we will file more than the necessary number of signatures before this year's election."

issue."

Members of MUCC-affiliated conservation and outdoor recreation clubs in metro Detroit will be staffing a special MUCC booth at the Michigan State Fair to encourage fair goers to add their names to the growing list of Michigan voters who want to add wine coolers and mixed spirit beverage containers to Michigan's successful "Bottle Bill." The booth will be open from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. each day of the fair.

"We're very close to a victory on this issue," Washington said. "With just a little more effort we'll give Michigan citizens an opportunity to stop the new trashing of our state."

coolers and pre-mixed spirit beverages are being urged to gather more voter signatures on petitions to ensure that the question will be decided by voters in two years. More than 6,000 individuals who were involved in the initial circulation effort will be receiving new petitions in the next few weeks.

"Our club members and supporters have done a tremendous job keeping this important conservation issue alive in Michigan," Washington added. "We're asking them once again to talk with their family members, friends, neighbors and co-workers and encourage them to sign the petitions that will give Michigan voters an opportunity to decide the

Former resident lands post at radio station

Joe Martin, a native of Northville and a 1984 graduate of Morehead State University in Morehead, Ky., now is an account manager at WKQQ FM 98 Radio in Lexington, Ky.

As such, he's part of a team of Morehead State University alumni currently employed at the station, one of Lexington's leading rock stations.

From general manager to the on-the-air personalities, six of the station's 31 employees are alumni of Morehead State.

Martin is local account manager for the station. He credits Morehead's "personalized education" for helping him find a job in the competitive market of public broadcasting.

"My professors were concerned about me," he recalled. "When I saw an instructor, he remembered my name; that's an advantage."

Another local account manager, Larry Hall, also has the responsibility for creating new ideas.

While the goals of the Morehead alumni at the station are to advance to bigger markets, they agree on the importance of the training they received and the opportunity to put it into use.

The symposium, co-sponsored by the Michigan Nursing Diagnosis Association and Nursing Honor Society of Madonna College, will serve as a forum for nurses to network, share strategies and discuss issues surrounding the development and use of nursing diagnosis.

Kalisch will address "Nursing and Nursing Diagnosis in 2010." She recently assumed the position of principal and director, nursing management consultants, with Arthur Young in Detroit.

"Nursing diagnosis is a basic tool. It's applicable to every situation," said Kalisch. "We're in a revolutionary stage in the development of the science of nursing."

An author of over 70 articles for such journals as The International Journal of Women's Studies and Medical Care, Kalisch has conducted a number of studies in the history, politics and economics of nursing over the past 12 years.

"Nursing diagnosis is fundamental to being a nurse — it's inherent," she said.

The Michigan Diagnosis Symposium, to be held in Kresge Hall on the Madonna College campus, will also feature presentations concerning nursing diagnoses in relation to clinical practice, nursing education and research. Opening remarks will be made by Dr. Dorothy Fox, RN, Madonna College. Other speakers include: Dr. Virginia Rice, RN, Wayne State University; Barbara Scheffer, RN, Eastern Michigan University; Marlene Mullin, RN, William Beaumont Hospital, Troy; Kathleen Walsh, RN, St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, and Janet Kasno, RN, Mercy College.

Fee for the symposium is $30 for members of Michigan Nursing Diagnosis Association and Nursing Honor Society of Madonna College, as well as for students. Others may register for $40. For more information, call Dorothy Fox, 591-5155.

Sally Hogan-Horchler is owner of the new 'Next of Skin' shop in Milford

Next of Skin seeks the personal touch

By KATHY PETERSEN

Lingerie fitting requires individualized attention, which is what one of Milford's newest businesses, Next of Skin, hopes to provide.

Sally Hogan-Horchler, Next of Skin owner, said she started the store to fulfill a need. There are no lingerie shops in Milford and women had to travel at least as far as Twelve Oaks Mall in Novi to find an assortment of fashionable undergarments.

Next of Skin is located upstairs in the Milford Village Mall.

As a consumer, Hogan-Horchler said she did not like the impersonal service found in some malls or large department stores. She hopes to provide individual attention to Next of Skin customers.

On the counter she has a guest registry book which customers sign. Eventually, Hogan-Horchler hopes to know each person's size and style preferences. This will be helpful both when she is waiting on the customer and when someone else is looking for a gift.

department store," Hogan-Horchler insisted.

Next of Skin also provides gift certificates so the recipient can choose exactly what she wants.

Next of Skin carries four brands, of which Warners and Olga's are the top-of-the-line lingerie. Smoothie carries many of the foundation and strapless garments, while Trendsetter is recognized for its moderately priced lingerie.

Currently, Next of Skin carries no nightwear, but if the business grows Hogan-Horchler hopes to expand into this area.

Most of the Milford store's customers are 30 or older. Younger customers usually come in with their mothers. Hogan-Horchler hopes to see more teenagers in the future.

"Teenagers, more or less, tend to go to the mall," she explained.

When Hogan-Horchler was a teenager she bought her lingerie at a small boutique. She said the individualized attention she received there is her guide for the service she

Business Briefs

CHARLES A. BAKKILA, president of Car Care Centers of America in Northville, has been elected to the board of directors of the Small Business Association of Michigan (SBAM) for the 1986-87 program year.

Bakkila was chosen by association members during their annual membership meeting at Sugarloaf Resort on July 24.

"As a successful, experienced small business owner, Charlie Bakkila is a valuable advocate for small business in Michigan," said John Galles, executive director of SABM. "He will be able to contribute significantly to the association's efforts to reduce business costs and make the state more competitive for small firms."

Bakkila is beginning his third year on the association's board of directors. He previously served as SBAM's vice president for Membership Development and has been active in the organization's Legislative Action Council.

Bakkila is an elected delegate to the 1986 White House Conference on Small Business and is active in the Northville Area Masons and Salem Jaycees.

A member-directed non-profit organization, SBAM is the primary advocate for small business in Michigan and includes more than 2,300 member firms statewide. The association places major emphasis on supporting state and federal legislation aimed at improving the economic climate for small business.

MICHELE S. VOZAR of Novi now is a certified dental assistant (CDA). The Dental Assisting National Board, Inc. awarded her the professional designation of CDA Aug. 1 after she passed the board examination. She works for Kathryn A. Hoppe, D.D.S., in the Northville Professional Park at 18600 Northville Road. The office specializes in dentistry for children and adults.

In the CDA program established in 1948, candidates must pass a test of some 300 questions and meet eligibility requirements of education and experience. Training includes prevention of disease transmission, management of emergencies and radiation health and safety. A variety of chairside procedures has been mastered by Vozar.

DEAN GILBERT, DDS, has been added as an associate to the general dentistry practice of Thomas M. Cook, DDS, at 31559 Ten Mile in Farmington.

Cook is a Northville resident.

Gilbert is a 1979 graduate of the University of Michigan School of Dentistry and has been practicing in Dearborn for the past five years. He has taken graduate studies in cosmetic bonding, crown and bridgework, and TMJ treatment.

JAMES L. VICK has joined the firm of R.J. Dickshott & Co., P.C., Certified Public Accountants, as a manager.

He is a member of the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants and American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. He was a member of the Novi Chamber of Commerce prior to his relocation in South Lyon.

Vick obtained his degree from Wayne State University and was certified in 1961. He has worked in private and public accounting with public accounting experience in national and local firms.

ORIN AND TINA MAZZONI of Orin Jewelers in Northville and Garden City are pictured holding a giant 1,400 carat golden color citrine, one of the largest existing cut gemstones in the world. It is valued at $100,000 and took approximately three weeks to be cut and polished.

The magnificent stone, mined in Brazil, was on display at the fall seminar and buying show of the Independent Jewelers Organization in Cincinnati. Orin Jewelers is a member of IJO, largest buying group of independent retail jewelers in the world with more than 900 members in the U.S., Canada, Bahamas and Australia.

THE BOX SHOPPE, a new concept in service-oriented franchises, is now open in Pheasant Run Plaza at Grand River and Haggerty Road in Novi. Both a retail and wholesale operation, the Box Shoppe offers a complete gift-wrapping, packing and shipping service utilizing United Parcel Service, Federal Express and other major shippers.

The Box Shoppe carries an inventory of over 300 different types of boxes for moving, storage, shipping, mailing and gifts as well as poly and paper bags for both specialty and industrial use. Also carried are such special purpose boxes as pet carriers, voting ballot boxes, floppy disk mailers and cake and candy boxes. The store stocks a complete line of gift wrap, ribbon, bows and trim along with bubble pak, newsprint, foam peanuts and tapes for all wrapping and shipping needs.

Joan Dyer and Felicia Kramer, co-owners and operators, chose the Novi/Farmington area for the Box Shoppe because of the area's growth projections, highly mobile population, high concentration of businesses and retail stores, and per capita income.

The franchise was started by a retired U.S. Army sergeant, Ernest Smith, in Indianapolis. While working for U-Haul Corp., Smith noticed how many customers came in needing boxes of various types. He opened the first Box Shoppe in Indianapolis with an inventory of only 33 different kinds of boxes.

Twenty months later there are over 40 Box Shoppe franchises in Indiana, Ohio, Kentucky and Michigan with several more scheduled to open in the near future. Michigan stores are open or in the planning stages for Troy, Rochester, Livonia, Monroe, Lansing and Ann Arbor.

Realtors note decline in existing home sales

Existing home sales eased off their torrid first half pace in July with a 1.7 percent decline from June, according to a report from the Metro MLS.

Sales by members of the multiple listing service, the state's largest, last month included 1,622 detached homes and 86 condominiums. This compared to June sales of 1,685 homes and 94 condos. It also was a marked decline from the 1,930 sales recorded by Metro MLS members in July of 1985.

"There is still a great number of potential buyers in the market, but many are finding it harder to find the home they've been waiting for," said Joanne R. Bryngelson, Metro MLS president.

"New listings are continuing to dip and are off about 18 percent from where they were at this point a year ago. We also have a lot of deals waiting to go through once delays in the mortgage approval process are overcome."

Bryngelson said 1986 residential sales through July by members of the service stand at 12,406 or 14.5 percent ahead of 1985, which was second best in the group's 66-year history.

"The good news for buyers is that we saw a decline in average sales prices last month from the $75,634 recorded in June to $72,681, nearly a four percent drop," she stated. "Average prices for the year, however, at $71,854 are still up 14.5 percent from $62,106 a year ago."

Bryngelson said the July dip in average prices may reflect a drop in available higher-priced homes in the most preferred neighborhoods.

"The market was unusually strong for these homes early in the year," she stated. "Some buyers in this price range now are checking with their Realtor almost daily to see what new listings may have been added."

Store features service

The customers seem to like the attention and proximity of the store.

"A lot of them say, 'Gee, I'm glad you're here because now I don't have to go to the mall,'" she reported.

Another reason for the success is more women are working outside the home now and don't have the time to go shopping. She said they want something close so they can stop after work without having to drive out of their way.

Hogan-Horchler attributes much of her business know-how to the advice of area merchants, friends and the manufacturer's sales people.

She said she talked to other business people to find out how to start and run the business. She consulted census figures to find demographic data about women in the area. Finally, she used her own personal shopping experiences as a teenager in the boutique.

"I thought about it basically the last couple of years," she said.

Back to School— in Style

When it comes to outfitting little Buster and Babs, getting ready for the new school year can be more traumatic for parents than for their offspring. Nowhere is the generation gap (excuse the timeworn terminology) more evident than in the fashion industry. Parents of today's elementary students and pre-teens more than likely spent their high school years in 36-inch bell bottoms, guaze shirts and suede fringed jackets. Yet, they lose all sense of perspective (and control) when their 13-year-old comes home with a purple spike protruding from the center of his scalp, a safety pin through his nose and Madonna tattooed on his left cheek. To give parents some idea of what to expect when they see their child's school picture, we've previewed the best of the '86 school fashions and accessories. Before heading into racks of Miami Vice jackets and rows of purple Reeboks, remember — it's only a phase.

STUFFED SHIRT:

Back in the dark ages, college co-eds raided dad's closet, stole his shirts and then wore them with jeans, bobby socks and loafers. The fashion world thought it was only a passing fancy. Not true.

This year's look in sweaters, shirts and blouses is BIG. Bigger is definitely better — for both boys and girls.

Oversized shirts are stuffed, tucked and belted. Jackets are padded, layered and lined with flannel.

Sweaters hang somewhere around the kneecaps and can swallow a small preschooler if you're not careful.

BELOW THE BELT:

Jeans. While most styles come and go, this American original still commands top billing.

Most people never outgrow jeans. In fact, the denim blues probably have withstood the test of time better than any other item of clothing.

Levis (make sure their faded) still rank at the top for kids of all ages. Some savvy marketing has given a boost to Levis 501 sales. Guess jeans also are making a statement — though they might put a hole in your pocket.

For those looking to shed their denim, stirrup pants are popular for girls. Sweats or baggies (styled like army fatigues) top the list for guys.

GLASSES:

Once considered as unflattering as acne, today's glasses are making a definite fashion statement. In fact, many who threw away the biofocals in favor of contact lenses now are returning to the fold.

Among the biggest sellers are Wayfarers by Ray Ban (about $50 for the frames). These basic black frames accented with thin slivers of silver, ebony or pearl currently are the rage.

Miami Vice pales also are hot. Light blue, pink and yellow frames with double gradient lenses do not a nerd make.

Cords — or leashes — whichever you prefer, still are a must.

COLLEGE SURVIVAL:

For those about to take the big step beyond the ivy-covered walls, we've enclosed a few survival tips to help you through those first couple of weeks (after that you'll never want to leave). We've also included a few pointers for parents. See Page 3 for details.

HAIR STYLES:

In haircuts, the emphasis is on the cut, which means short. While kindergartners of both sexes are wearing their hair short, with bangs, not many seem to opt for the marine-style brush cut. That's left to young teenagers, if their parents allow it.

Teenagers of both sexes are into mousses, some into the colored jobs. And girls particularly are looking at punky spikes, although boys are keeping their hair short on the front and sides with long tails hanging down the back.

For older male students, some without much hair, the most popular style seems to be putting the hair that grows over the spots where it doesn't. Just don't go out on a windy day.

HEADGEAR:

One of the biggest looks in headgear this year is the tam. The Scottish original is being shown in a host of colors — from bold reds and greens to bright yellows and pinks.

Sweater caps — yes, those dreaded things your mother made you wear through the winter months — also are a popular accent to this year's knit look.

BOOK BAGS:

Remember when knap sacks were "in" all the way from grade school to college campuses? Sure, you do. It was only a couple of years ago.

But not any more. "Back packs are totally bogus," reported Kathy Cosentino of Novi, whose daughter Kim is 13 years old. "Kim would die if I got a knap sack for her."

What is "in," according to Cosentino and Suzanne Cowles of Northville, is nylon gym bags ... athletic duffel bags made by Nike or Adidas.

"Even my eight-year-old wants a duffel bag," reported Northville's Suzanne Vannier, who with four children between the ages of five and 12 has to keep on her toes about what's "in" and "out."

For the younger set, book bags still maintain a degree of popularity. Children's Place at Twelve Oaks Mall has book bags that look like furry animals (monkeys, koala bears) and are worn on the back. "It looks like you've got an animal riding piggyback," said Tracey Flanagan, assistant manager at Circus World.

FOOTWEAR:

Do Female Teen-to-College Students have to have Reeboks? Well, yes. The company deserves its fad for having the right product at the right time. Hottest now are Miami Vice pastels: pink, yellow, grey, light blue, etc., Reeboks and similar models from Nike and Avia start at roughly $50 a pair, maybe $36 on sale, and go up from there.

For teens and college guys, Nikes and Adidas give Reeboks a much closer run for their money. High-tops are more comfortable than ever and will set you back $45-90 depending on how important basketball is to you.

For elementary-age boys and girls alike, you can't go wrong with canvas-sided Converse Chuck Taylors, same as Dad had, only now available in all primary and secondary colors and more expensive ($22-24).

ACCESSORIES:

The right accessories for the high schooler is key. Just like clothes, it tells a little something about you.

If you're into music, a portable AM-FM stereo radio cassette recorder (jam box for short) is still in. But you want the smaller portable kind (usually less than two inches high and five inches long). They run from $35 on up. Walkmans are also popular.

From the college scene comes the hacky-sack. This small leather-covered sack is impressive even if you just carry it around. Sunglasses for the guys are more prevalent and so are frisbees during the warm weather months.

The bandana is on its way out and so are a lot of books. Only carry the books you need for the next class.

LEGWEAR:

Remember fishnets? Well, the current choices in leg warmers, socks and tights are about to bring legwear out of the closet (it went underground after the demise of fishnets).

Though mostly restricted to the female gender, the choices in legwear are endless — as well as ageless. From kindergartners to college co-eds, the look is legwear and lots of it. Layers still are the rage with socks worn over tights. Socks have taken on a whole new definition. There are slouch socks, pants stuffer socks, anklets, you name it. Wear them over tights, legwarmers or spandex stretch leggings.

SACK LUNCHES:

A dirge, please, for the lunch box. "Lunch boxes aren't 'in' with any of my kids and I have four of them between 12 and five years old," said Northville's Prudy Vannier. "This is the first time in years I haven't had to buy any lunch boxes."

"Cabbage Patch isn't even 'in' any more," she added.

"Lunch boxes are definitely not 'cool,'" confirmed Suzanne Cowles of Northville, who teaches fourth grade in the Walled Lake School District. "Even the fourth and fifth graders wouldn't be caught with lunch boxes anymore."

Vannier and Cowles note that there's some support for fabric lunch sacks among the girls, but boys are "brown bagging it" from fourth grade and up.

How low have lunch boxes fallen? "We don't carry them any more," said an employee at JCPenney's Twelve Oaks store.

Dawn Leland and Ayumi Fujiya clasp hands in friendship

Japanese teen's on 4-H visit

By VICKI GRICE

A Japanese youngster is experiencing American family life in Northville this summer through the Michigan/Japan 4-H/LABO exchange program.

Northville 4-H'er Dawn Leland, of 22422 Napier Rd., is hosting Ayumi Fujiya from Japan. Fujiya is among 60 Japanese young people who arrived July 26 for a month-long stay with Michigan families.

Visiting Japanese youths have been paired with 4-H members of the same sex and age. Host families in the Oakland County 4-H have been encouraged to maintain their daily routines so the young people can experience everyday life in an American family.

During her guest's stay, Leland, 15, has attempted to acquaint Fujiya with some of the Detroit area attractions. They have visited Trappers Alley, the Detroit Science Center, Greenfield Village and Frankenthum.

"We had a lot of fun on our canoe trip with the 4-H club," Leland said. "We went for a weekend and just goofed around the whole time, Ayumi really had a good time."

Although Fujiya knows very little English, Leland said she is adjusting well to the American lifestyle.

"Sometimes it's hard to communicate, but we know key words that help us to understand each other better," Leland explained.

Fujiya, 14, said her favorite attraction in America is looking at all the green trees, grass and plants. Because Japan is so densely populated, there is very little vegetation.

Apparently, her first visit to America has been a success. She said she doesn't miss home and likes everything about Northville and the American way of life.

"Yes, I would like to live here some day," Fujiya said.

She noted that the most unique American attributes are the big houses, cool weather and open spaces with very few people surrounding each other.

"Ayumi keeps talking about how nice the weather is here. She said that in Japan you walk down the street and you have sweat pouring off you, it's like that year round! If they do get any snow, it only stays on the ground for about a week," Leland said.

With only a short time to go before the two girls part for a year, Leland said she is looking forward to next summer when she will visit Fujiya in Japan.

"We had some good times together. Next year I will be in Japan during the Kimono festival when they celebrate with dances, parades and parties," Leland said.

Medicines for Lungs

Lung problems are common and include bronchitis, asthma, and emphysema as well as the common cold. Because the lungs are exposed to the external environment as well as the blood stream, medicines used to care for lung problems can be given by several routes.

Inhalation: One of the fastest and most effective ways to get medicines to the lungs is through inhalation. Metered-dose aerosols, hand-held nebulizers, and nebulizers attached to compressors for home and hospital use have been developed for this purpose.

By Mouth: Medicines taken by mouth as tablets, capsules, liquids, and granules are absorbed through the intestines into the blood stream and travel to the lungs in the blood where they are released into lung tissues.

Injection: Medicines injected into muscle, directly into the veins, or beneath the layers of skin travel to the lungs in the blood stream—usually much faster than when taken by mouth.

Rectal route: Medicine in solutions or suppositories given via the rectum enters the blood stream and travels to the lungs. Upset stomach may sometimes be avoided with this route of administration.

MR. AND MRS. JOSEPH ZUBOR

MR. AND MRS. KENNETH BOHN

Amy Crawford wed in June rites

When Amy Belinda Crawford and Joseph Zubor were married in a double ring service June 28 at First Presbyterian Church of Northville, the vows they exchanged were original ones they had written themselves.

The Rev. Lawrence Chamberlain officiated at the 5 p.m. ceremony which included the songs, "Endless Love" and "Evergreen."

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Crawford of 48520 Nine Mile. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Aubor of Standish.

The bride's gown of ivory matte taffeta featured an off shoulder neckline on the fitted bodice which was trimmed with silk Venice and Chantilly lace. The ruffled, flounce hemline of the skirt extended into a chapel length train. Her hat was trimmed with silk flowers and seed pearls and held her floor length veil.

The bride and her attendants carried nosegay bouquets with pink rosebuds, miniature carnations, forget me nots, rose statice and baby's breath tied with pink and ivory ribbons and trailing English ivy.

Susan Lyn Poster was matron of honor for her sister in a pink taffeta gown in an off-shoulder design with a full, ruffled skirt.

Amy Sue Poster was junior bridesmaid. Sarah McIntosh was flower girl. They wore off-shoulder gowns of pink dotted swiss with full, ruffled skirts.

Philip Zubor was best man for his brother. Terry Lee Poster Jr. was a junior usher. Andrew McIntosh was ringbearer.

A dinner reception followed for 88 guests at Genitti's.

After a wedding trip to Northern Michigan, the newlyweds are making their home at 618 Oakland.

Peggy Hodson married in chapel

Peggy Hodson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert N. Hodson of 47000 S. Chigwidden, became the bride of Kenneth Bohn of Walled Lake in a June 14 ceremony at Mercy Chapel in Farmington Hills.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Margaret Bohn of Walled Lake.

Fr. John Buddie officiated at the service which was followed by a reception for 125 guests at Mercy Center.

The bride's gown of summer satin was adorned with lace embroidered with seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink roses, ivy and baby's breath intertwined with silk flowers.

Patricia Hodson was her sister's maid of honor. Another sister, Kathy McLean of Farmington Hills, was bridesmaid. They wore tea length, pink taffeta dresses and carried bouquets of pink carnations with baby's breath tied with ribbon streamers.

Bob Rheame was best man. Larry

Vigiletti ushered.

After a cruise to the Bahamas the newlyweds are making their home in Farmington Hills.

The bride is a 1982 graduate of Northville High School. She is employed with KB Underwriters.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Walled Lake Western High School continuing his studies at Oakland Community College.

Two churches schedule New Life series

New Life Bible study series programs are being presented in two area churches beginning in September. Both First United Methodist Church in Northville and Holy Family Church in Novi are participating in the studies by Marilyn Ganskow.

"This series is non denominational involving approximately 200 people a week from all area churches," Stacey Becker, who is assisting with the presentation, reports.

An introductory coffee for both the Northville and Novi series will be held from 9:30-11:30 a.m. Sept. 11 at First United Methodist Church at 777 W. Eight Mile at Taft. Those interested may register at that time. Baby sitting will be provided.

Studies will begin Sept. 11 in Northville with sessions to be held from 9:30-11 a.m. "Discovering New Life," a 10-week course, will cover the basics of Christianity and is listed as ideal for beginners as well as for those familiar with Bible study; "New Testament Study of Acts" also will be held for 10 weeks; "How to Conquer Stress," a 14-week course, is a biblically based study on coping with the pressures of today's world.

Novi studies will be held Tuesday evenings and Thursday mornings at Holy Family Church activity center, 24505 Meadowbrook, north of Ten Mile.

Tuesday evening studies from 7-9 p.m. begin Sept. 16 with "Discovering New Life" for 10 weeks and "New Testament Study (Galatians) for seven weeks. "God Help Me," a 12-week, 12-step biblically based program of recovery help for a wide variety of compulsive and addictive behaviors, will begin Oct. 7.

Thursday morning study beginning Sept. 18 from 9:30-11:30 a.m. will be "Discovering New Life."

For more information about the programs in Novi call 476-1291 or 477-4031; for the Northville programs call 349-0006.

Off to college? Here's tips

For students . . .

Moving out of the house and away from family for the first, second or third time and jumping into the consuming, toilsome college lifestyle can be devastating to many people. To help ease the torment, remember to take along some college essentials that will make life more comfortable. One good investment for the "poor" college student is a designer Coca-Cola sweatshirt. Although money may be tight, this item is well worth a pay check. It will keep you warm during those long treks across campus without depriving you of the fashion you're striving to maintain.

Another essential item to remember is a book of stamps for those bi-monthly letters to mom and dad that start out, "just writing to say hi," and end with "I'm running a little low on cash, please send some!"

One item worth mentioning is a bike. Waking up for 8 o'clock classes is the easy part, struggling to get there on time is almost impossible. If you're riding a bike, obstacles are no challenge during that early morning rush hour. Cyclers have the edge, flying over curbs and knocking over innocent by-standers in their scurry to get to class.

Another necessity for college-bound students is season football tickets. Missing registration for classes is one thing, but sleeping through ticket ordering days is inexcusable.

For parents . . .

John or Susie no longer is a worldly high school senior but is about to start at the bottom of the higher education level as a freshman. Each is on his or her own, probably for the first time.

There are some special gifts that parents can bestow, however, to keep in touch and to remind the frosh of caring parents.

One of the most useful for keeping in touch is the "Call Me" card available without charge from AT & T. By using the special number on the card the student may call home directly—but only to home.

"It's cheaper than the student making an operator-assisted call and its direct," an AT & T representative explained. To apply for a "Call Me" card call 1-800-225-5288.

A big plus of attaining collegiate status is the offers of bargain-basement priced magazines. Available to students and educators only, the offers include such specials as US News and World Report at 50 weeks for $19.75 from American Educational Services, Esquire 12 issues for $9.95 from College Store Service Bureau or The New York Times for $20 for one year from American Collegiate Marketing.

Here are addresses to write to directly for brochures: American Collegiate Marketing and American Educational Services, 419 Lentz Court, P.O. BOX 40500, Lansing, Mich., 48901-9979; College Store Service Bureau, NACSCORP, 528 East Lorain, P.O. Box 58, Oberlin, Ohio, 44074.

Brochures with application forms (students must indicate school and class year) flood college campuses at this time of year and also are available at campus bookstores. The special offers include hundreds of periodicals—from Readers Digest and Fortune to Playboy.

Kritch likes Mustangs' chances in WLAA

When senior forward Tricia Ducker (left) has the ball in her hands, good things seem to happen for the Mustang team

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

Northville girls' basketball Coach Ed Kritch really likes his 1986 Mustang squad.

As a matter of fact, he likes the schedule, he likes the team's chances in the Western Lakes — he likes everything about the upcoming season.

"I really like our chances — I really do," Kritch said. "We have a good shot in our division."

For the first time in his three years as coach, Kritch has a veteran team dotted with quality, experienced seniors and a depth of talent never before seen on the Northville team. The entire front line is back intact, and the backcourt sports three part-time starters and a fourth who was a star on the junior varsity in '85.

"We now have eight seniors, and the most I ever had before was three," Kritch said. "I've never even started three seniors before, and now it won't be unusual for us to have five seniors on the court at once."

"With the experience factor, I think we will now be able to win the tight games that in the past we would lose."

How can you talk about the Mustang team without first mentioning star forward Tricia Ducker? The 5-foot-11 senior forward is poised for another excellent season — but it will be difficult to top her junior campaign.

"Trish Ducker is Northville basketball," Kritch said. "Our program has developed as Tricia Ducker has developed. Obviously, we look for her to do a lot of things for us this year."

In '85, Ducker led the Mustangs to an 11-9 record, only the second Northville girls' basketball team in history to sport a winning record. She averaged 13 points and 10 rebounds a game, was the key player in the Mustangs' tremendously successful full court pressure.

"Any player that scores one-third of your points is very valuable, and that's what Tricia did last season," Kritch said. "She has an excellent chance to be the best player Northville has ever had — if she isn't already."

"She's very hard working and extremely steady. She logs more minutes than anyone, is very coachable and very dedicated. She's just a fantastic player."

But Ducker isn't the only arsenal at Kritch's disposal. Starting center Sue Schrader is also back for her senior campaign, as well as starting forward Anne Griffith. Needless to say, the three form a very experienced, talented and formidable front line.

The 5-foot-11 Schrader was a second team All-Division and All-Area player in '85 and will bring the Mustangs a solid inside-type player.

"Sue can move people out under the basket, is a good rebounder and plays good defense," Kritch pointed out. "Now all we need is for her to score a little more."

Griffith was enjoying a fine junior season last year until a broken bone in the foot, suffered in the eighth game of the year, intervened. The 5-foot-9 forward ended up missing virtually the rest of the season but is back in '86 and looking better than ever in practice.

"She's ready to step right in," Kritch said. "She's been outstanding in practice, her shooting has improved dramatically. She is also a very sneaky player offensively."

Battling Schrader neck-in-neck in practice is another three year letter winner, Jo Anne Hinds. The 5-foot-11 senior has a nice shooting touch, and Kritch believes she will see plenty of playing time as the top substitute along the front line.

"Joanie is an extremely good shooter up to 15 feet for a big person," he said. "That allows us to bring her in when we want to spread out an opponents' defense."

Other front court players on the roster include the dedicated and hard working Katie Brugman (5-foot-8 junior) and Debbie Stevens (5-foot-8 sophomore), a scoring machine up from last year's J.V.

In the backcourt, Northville has a group of four guards who are fighting it out for the two starting spots, but all will see plenty of playing time. In Kritch's system last year, the guards were rotated quite a bit, and three of those sometime starters are back.

"If I were to categorize these four players, each one would excel at a different part of the game," Kritch explained. "If I could put those parts all together, we'd have a superstar on our hands."

Seniors Julie Anger and Roxanne Serkaian along with junior Jenni Stevens are all back after playing key roles in the Mustang backcourt in '85. The fourth player is Karen Baird, the junior varsity's top talent a year ago.

Anger, the 5-foot-5 fireplug, is described by Kritch as a money player. Her leadership and fierce competitive disposition is why Kritch feels so comfortable with her on the court.

"Julie is the kind of player you want in there when the pressure is on," he pointed out. "She's the kind of player who always seems to come up with the big plays for you unexpectedly."

The 5-foot-8 Serkaian is the best long-range shooter of the guards, and her experience from last season has shown in all aspects of play.

"If you give her that open 15-footer, she's going to hit it," Kritch said. "She's a confident shooter, and you need that to help against zone defenses."

Stevens, a 5-foot-7 junior, logged plenty of playing time as a sophomore, and that experience has molded her into a very smart, intelligent player.

"Jenni is probably the most intelligent," Kritch said. "She is like the coaches' extension on the court. She has a feeling for what's going on and what I want to happen."

Baird is such a fine athlete, Kritch has a difficult time picturing his lineup without her in it. The 5-foot-5 youngster was a star on the soccer team last spring and was the dominating player on the J.V. basketball team as a freshman.

Cagers open season in South Lyon Tourney

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

With seven of the top nine players from last year's club returning to the fold, Northville girls' basketball Coach Ed Kritch is understandably optimistic about the coming season.

But often overlooked in the pre-season evaluation is scheduling, and looking at the Mustangs' 1986 slate pleases Kritch almost as much as looking at his roster.

Northville was lucky enough to receive an invitation to the 1986 Suzanne Smith Memorial Girls' Basketball Tournament in South Lyon, and no matter how Kritch looks at it, he is pleased. The tourney gives his squad an early start against top-notch competition, and more preparation time for the rough and tumble WLAA.

"The nice thing about our schedule is we start early with the tournament, and it gives us three games in a week span as a sort of pre-season before we head into our conference play," Kritch said.

The tournament features host South Lyon, a team that set a new school record for victories in '85 (21-2), and a pair of smaller schools with big reputations in basketball. The Lions have almost everybody returning from that exceptional team of a year ago, including outside threat Andrea Nelson (5-foot-11 senior) and inside threat Julie Howell (6-foot junior).

— Ed Kritch

The remaining two teams are Ann Arbor Gabriel Richard, that made it to the class C semifinals and saddled South Lyon with one of its two losses, and traditional powerhouse Saline, 18-5 last year.

"We'll be delighted if we play well and, if we don't play well, we will still have a lot of time to correct things before our first conference game," Kritch said.

Following the tournament on Aug. 28-29, the Mustangs will host Pinckney Sept. 2 and then head into 17 straight contests against WLAA teams.

"Our number one goal is to win our division, but we also want to perform well and win in the non-conference games as well," Kritch said. "We are hoping the good competition will help us to play better."

In the WLAA race, Kritch sees the Lakes Division race going to one of three teams — Plymouth Salem, Westland John Glenn or Walled Lake Central.

"Salem should have one of the best teams they've ever had, Glenn returns four starters and Central returns all five starters."

In the Western Division, Kritch also sees a three-way race for the title between Plymouth Canton, Livonia Churchill and Northville.

"Canton lost three starters, but they have a solid program over there and they are again the team to beat," he said. "Churchill has four starters back and a new coach in Northville resident Tom Lang, so they're loaded. But we feel that we are a legitimate contender and I'm sure if you asked the other coaches, they would say the same thing."

Northville will open the 1986 season tomorrow (Aug. 28) at 6 p.m. when it takes on South Lyon. The game will pit Nelson and the Mustangs' Tricia Ducker, two of the top players in the area last season.

Boys' cross country team has experience and will contend

Despite a future that may be on somewhat shaky ground, Northville boys' cross country Coach Ed Gabrys has a team that is very solid at the present.

The Mustangs are a veteran team with quite a few experienced runners. But what is an advantage for the current season could end up being a disadvantage in the long run. Northville's team, made up of seniors and juniors exclusively, will likely remain strong for the next two seasons, but a shortage of underclassmen runners could be a bad omen for the future.

"The team has a lot of experience, and that's good for this year and next," Gabrys said. "But we really have to go out and recruit some people because in a couple of years we're not going to have the experience. You got to think ahead — at least three years down the road."

Nevertheless, Gabrys is excited about the prospects for 1986. Back from last year's 7-1 team are senior standouts Kevin Haas and Scott Wiley. The two were consistently the Mustangs' top finishers in '85, and Gabrys expects more of the same this time around.

"Haas and Wiley are the captains, and they'll be good," Gabrys said. "They were 1-2 last year, and they should repeat."

At Cass Benton, Northville's home course, Gabrys is looking for runners who can top the 18 minute mark. Over the years, 18 has been the mean time, with roughly half the runners above and half below the mark.

"We figure, strategy-wise, if we can get our fifth kid under 18, with five scoring positions, we should do O.K.," Gabrys said. "Not too many teams are going to beat us if we can do that."

A key newcomer to the team is junior John Frisbee, who was a star on the Mustang track team last spring as a sophomore. In 1985 Frisbee

Shortage of runners may dampen season

Quality and quantity. That's the story for the 1986 Northville girls' cross country season. The Mustangs, and new coach Anne Cooke, have plenty of the first, but a severe shortage in runners could put a damper on an otherwise bright season.

Cooke, who replaces Ann Turnbull as the Northville coach, is concerned, and rightly so, about the poor turnout for this year's team. Through a combination of graduations, injuries and a lack of response from the underclassmen, Cooke faces a possible crisis with only four girls on the current roster.

"We're doing some recruiting — something that hasn't been done in the past," Cooke admitted. "We haven't had the freshman and sophomore pull to maintain a good nucleus and together with graduations and injuries, we're in a bind as far as numbers."

Indeed. With just four runners, Northville really doesn't have enough to field a competitive team because the top five finishers score points. And that doesn't even include any possible injuries.

"We're looking thin right now, but I'm hopeful we're going to be able to get some girls that have a running basis, but through working schedules or vacations this summer haven't been able to get with us yet," Cooke explained.

Historically, the Mustang squad has been small in number but big on talent. Two seasons ago, Northville had just six runners on the roster and was regional champs.

"We've always seemed to have good quality, but we don't have a lot in numbers," Assistant Coach Ed Gabrys said.

With the graduation of Wendy Nuechterlein, the Mustangs will be without the services of a runner who qualified for the state championships in each of her four years on the team. But Jennifer Goshorn is back, and the junior was right behind Nuechterlein most of last season.

"Jennifer was running on Wendy's heels a bit last year so we're confident she'll be able to pick up the pace," Cooke said.

Senior Carol Olsen is back but is currently trying to run through a knee injury; another returnee is sophomore Nancy Belding, who will share the captainship of the team with Goshorn.

"Nancy is showing a real good bit of endurance at this point," Cooke pointed out. "She's had problems in the past with cramping, but appears to be able to run through it now."

The biggest surprise so far has been the outstanding potential shown by freshman Lisa Brown. She has been challenging Goshorn for the lead in early practices, and it appears the two will form a formidable 1-2 punch.

"It's the old 1-2, but of course we like a 1-2-3-4-5," Cooke laughed. "Lisa has shown a heck of a lot of potential. She's established a real good base and is pretty well matched with Jennifer."

A major disappointment has been Linda Groves, who at doctor's orders is forced to miss the season with various injuries including back and knee problems.

"It would have been nice to be able to hang onto her, but it was probably wise that she's out," Cooke said. "I know she'd like to be out, but she has some potentially serious injuries."

"Overall, we just need some quantity right now. We are coming up to some meets here very quickly, and we just want to keep the positive attitude and not look too far down the road."

Jennifer Goshorn is Northville's top returning runner juniors and seniors."

played football, but he made the change and now Gabrys believes his team has an excellent 1-2-3 punch. In early workouts, Frisbee has been able to keep the pace with both Haas and Wiley.

"With those three, we have three kids who can go under 17:00 this year," Gabrys said.

To fill out the fourth and fifth positions, Gabrys is giving strong consideration to a group of seven runners. Many are currently somewhere near that 18 mark, and he believes any one of them can help the team to score. They include seniors Kirk Kabel and Greg Newton, and juniors Jeff Hoose, Doug Meadows, Scott Sinkwitz, Mike Nuechterlein and Dave Okasinski.

"Every one, except Okasinski, who is a first year runner, has varsity experience," Gabrys said. "We have the depth, but notice they are all

There are some youngsters on the team, like freshmen Paul Grant, Jeff Cross and Wayne Harrison, but Gabrys doesn't think they will provide much this season — he wants them for the future. The only top five runner from last year's squad who was lost to graduation is Ken Booth — but the emergence of Frisbee should offset that loss.

"I think we're a legitimate contender for our division," Gabrys said. "It's nice to have Frisbee step right in. He'll be a very capable replacement for Booth, so I think we'll be just as strong as last year."

Northville was edged out for the Western Division title a year ago by losing to Plymouth Canton in the last dual meet of the season. Gabrys believes Canton and Walled Lake Western will fight it out with his Mustangs for the title this season.

Novi Bowl beat Clarkston on August 13 to secure a Division Championship in the Class B Northwest Parks and Recreation 55-and-over Softball League. Novi Bowl had a fine 10-1 record for the season. At the trophy ceremony, pictured are (from left to right front row): Al Dries, Barb Heinig of the Novi Bowl, Manager

Kritch likes Northville's chances in WLAA

"Karen is the best athlete of the bunch," Kritch stated. "By the time she graduates, she'll be one of the finest athletes ever to play athletics at Northville High. She can make the play that will make you ooh and ahh."

The remaining three backcourt players on the roster include senior

Jill Gallagher (5-foot-4), senior Cathy Getty (5-foot-4) and junior Jeanine LaPrad (5-foot-5). All three will provide depth, and Kritch wouldn't hesitate to use them in game situations.

The Mustangs' team defense will again be a major strength. Last season, the team ranked among the state's best in points allowed, but Kritch believes the offense will provide the team more breathing space this time around.

"Our last two games in '85 we scored over 50 points for the first time all season," Kritch said. "I think that will carry over and we'll be much better in overall offense."

"The problem I'm concerned about is complacency. Even though we are a veteran team, we need to avoid mental complacency and frustration if we lose some."

Northville already has some clear-cut goals set for the coming season, and the first is a WLAA Western Division title.

"Our number one goal is to win the division," Kritch declared. "It used to be to get to the .500 mark, so I guess our goals have continued to grow as the program has grown."

SECURITY BANCORP'S BANK ON THE TIGERS SWEEPSTAKES

Count the Tigers' victories and win $1,000 or instant cash!

1. Use our Bank•A•Matic/24 automatic teller service and you're automatically entered!
2. Win instant cash prizes of $1, $10, $25 or $100!
3. Match the number on your receipt with the Tigers' total victories and you're a finalist!
4. Win the $1,000 Grand Prize, a pair of season tickets or $500!

This summer, cheer for the Tigers all the way to the bank in Security Bancorp's "Bank On The Tigers" Sweepstakes, the sweepstakes where Detroit Tiger victories can help you win season tickets or a Grand Prize of $1,000! Or you can win cash instantly!

To enter, just use Bank•A•Matic/24 automatic teller service for any transaction, and save your receipt. Each receipt you collect gives you two chances to win!

If your receipt shows an Instant Win Cash Prize amount of $1, $10, $25 or $100, you're a winner! And you can claim your winnings immediately at any participating Security Bancorp Bank.

But whether or not you're an Instant Winner, you should hang on to that receipt — it could be your ticket to season tickets! Or the $1,000 Grand Prize!

Each receipt you collect will also display a Tigers Victory Number between 60 (games) and 110 (games). This number is your chance to win in the "Bank On The Tigers" Sweepstakes Drawing!

So save your receipts — and follow the Tigers throughout the 1986 baseball season to see if their final victory total matches any of your Tigers Victory Numbers. If it does, you could be a winner!

After the Tigers' last regular-season game, all customers holding a receipt with a number that matches the Tigers' final victory total must notify Security Bancorp. (Special postage-paid postcards will be available at all participating banks for you to mail in.)

Then, on October 27, the Sweepstakes Drawing will be held, and one lucky customer will win the Grand Prize of $1,000! Second and Third Prizes of Tigers season tickets and two $500 cash prizes will also be awarded.

So enjoy 24-hour banking — and enter the "Bank On The Tigers" Sweepstakes today!

GOLD

ORIN J. MAZZONI, JR.
Certified Gemologist

Why does Orin Jewelers have a successful jewelry store?
Why does Orin Jewelers do over half their business selling diamonds and precious gems?

It's simple. Orin's sells only quality merchandise. We also have the most reasonable prices on diamonds, precious gems and gold jewelry set in the latest and most fashionable styles.

MICHAEL A. MAZZONI
Registered Jeweler

Don't be fooled by ½ off sale prices and special deals. You can buy a ½ carat diamond anywhere from $600.00 to $3500.00, depending on the quality. The bottom line is, that Orin's cares how you spend your hard earned money, and we make it a point to see that you get what you pay for.

Does this sound like the kind of store you have always been looking for? If so, we hope you will give us the opportunity to prove the difference a professional jeweler can make.

Novi Oaks Golf and Sports Center

"Growing with the Community"

As other family recreation areas dwindle, the Novi Oaks Golf and Sports Center in Novi is in the midst of an expansion.

The Golf and Sports Center, located at 46844 W. Twelve Mile Road, has been in existence for three years. The owners are Lou Mancinelli, his nephew Nick Mancinelli and their partner Arnold Shapero.

Lou Mancinelli said he likes his Novi location for several reasons. His location on busy Twelve Mile Road gives him good exposure, and the fact that Novi is one of the fastest growing communities around doesn't hurt, either.

"We think of Novi as the next up-and-coming place. I think it'll be as good as, let's say, any other nice city rather than being rural," Mancinelli said.

Mancinelli plans for the Golf and Sports Center to grow along with the community.

The business all began with a driving range three years ago. One year after opening, batting cages were added to provide another sporting option for area residents. In the future, said Mancinelli, the business hopes to add go-karts and a miniature golf course "for the youths to just have a ball."

Mancinelli said the batting cages have become a popular attraction for sluggers big and small. "They're popular. The small tots, medium tots, the old people, the seniors, everybody loves them," he said.

Mancinelli said the batting cages are often used by children while their parents practice on the driving range. He said it is also common for people to practice on the driving range for a while and then go on to the batting cages.

"They want to catch it all," he said.

The goal of the center is to provide entertainment for people in the Novi area. The business has reached that goal, said Mancinelli, and is now also providing entertainment for people in surrounding communities like Farmington Hills.

Farmington Hills has the center listed in their recreation guide for group golf lessons from Ernie Burgess, a member of the Professional Golfers' Association.

Mancinelli said Burgess is also available for Novi group and individual golf lessons. He said the group lessons are offered because they are more affordable for people.

"He takes up groups so the lessons aren't as costly as they are individually," Mancinelli said.

Advanced Dentistry Means "Total Comfort" at Novi Dental

When a patient enters a dentist's office for the first time, he may be anxious. He may be uncertain. Often, he is in pain.

At the Novi Family Dental Center, 24101 Novi Road (in the Michigan National Bank Building), a patient's anxieties are soon dispelled by the friendly welcome he or she receives there. The professional skill and competence of the staff eases any uncertainties the patient might have. And the innovative techniques and advanced skills of Dr. Allen Tuchklaper, D.D.S. soon eliminate the pain.

For six years the Novi Family Dental Center has been serving patient's dental needs in Novi. Dr. Tuchklaper credits his friendly, professional staff for their con-says Dr. Tuchklaper.

"We are missionaries for preventive dentistry," Dr. Tuchklaper continues. Patient education may be the most important factor in prevention and successful treatment of dental problems.

At the Novi Family Dental Center, after a comprehensive interview, the patient receives a complete periodontal exam. A mold of the patient's teeth can be made.

This study model graphically illustrates for doctor and patient the reasons for a patient's dental problems.

"We spend a lot of time explaining causes and discussing preventive measures and treatment options," says Dr. Tuchklaper. "So much in dentistry is

By participating in advanced study programs, Dr. Tuchklaper brings back to his patients the results of the latest research conducted by the world's leading dental authorities.

In addition to the latest technology, Dr. Tuchklaper researches new products and techniques. His office is filled with professional journals and product reports.

One of the most publicized techniques of modern dentistry is known as "bonding." Dr. Tuchklaper uses the bonding process in a number of ways to meet his patient's needs.

Cosmetic bonding can provide a non-surgical correction of misaligned, malformed or discolored teeth. Bonding materials also can be used to rebuild teeth that would otherwise require more expensive silver or gold crown work.

Porcelain veneers are the latest development in cosmetic bonding. Porcelain offers an even longer-lasting, stronger surface than conventional bonding materials.

Sealants, another recent development in bonding materials, offer special benefits to children. A clear or opaque-sealant is painted on the chewing surfaces of the molars. The natural surface of these back teeth is covered with deep pits and fissures that can trap food and lead to unseen decay. Sealants protect these crevices from decay.

"The use of sealants, regular check-ups, and a professional cleaning every six months would prevent most of the decay problems we see in children," says Dr. Tuchklaper.

In another innovative direction, Dr. Tuchklaper combines the technique of bonding and the technology of miniaturization to provide a new service to the patients of the Novi Family Dental Center. Vital medical or identity information can be imprinted on a tiny MICRO I.D. disk. The plastic disk is then bonded to a stress-free surface of the patient's tooth or dentures. The patient is reassured that important data is always immediately available in a medical or other emergency.

Take an active role in your own dental health care and call Dr. Tuchklaper at 348-3100. The friendly staff of the Novi Family Dental Center is waiting to welcome you to the team.

tributions to the steady growth of his dental practice.

"We have added staff as we have grown," Dr. Tuchklaper says, "but, there's a stability here that patients find reassuring. Patients like to return and find familiar faces."

In Dr. Tuchklaper's practice he and his staff are a team, but the patient, he insists, is the key member of that team.

"We practice holistic dentistry. That is, we look at each patient as an individual. We look at the whole person and his overall well-being. We involve the patient in developing his own dental health care program," Dr. Tuchklaper says.

The more the dentist knows about the patient as a person, the more accurate his diagnosis is likely to be. "When we are familiar with a person's lifestyle and health priorities, we are able to develop a more effective program of preventive dental hygiene and appropriate dental care," preventable."

Dr. Tuchklaper knows that patient education works. "We are a family-oriented practice," he explains. "Many of the children we are seeing today have fewer problems than their parents did. They are more aware, more knowledgeable about proper dental care." Patient education—parent education—is paying off.

Although patient education is important, Dr. Tuchklaper recognizes the need for dentists to keep pace with the advances in their field. He is determined to keep his place in the forefront of modern dentistry.

Recently, Dr. Tuchklaper spent a week of intensive study at the prestigious L.D. Pankey Institute for Advanced Dental Education in Florida. According to Dr. Tuchklaper, "It is one of the foremost institutions of its kind in the world. I was privileged to be able to attend."

Dinser's — Poinsettias in July

"Because we are basically a holiday-oriented business, most of our production takes place between the holidays. We start our poinsettias right after Easter," Dinser explained.

Each spring, Dinser orders about 5,000 "stock plants" from a California breeder. Those stock poinsettias are allowed to grow until mid-May when they are "pinched" to promote their lateral growth in order to produce multiple cuttings. Our stock plants yield about 100,000 cuttings per crop.

The cuttings continue to grow until mid-July when they are put into pots. This process usually results in about 20,000 pots, or 250,000 flowers. By the end of September, each plant is potted and grows until Christmas.

"It's important to have the plants potted by September because that's when we start having shorter days," Dinser explained. "At that point poinsettias need about 11 hours of darkness a day to initiate a bud."

Although much of their business is wholesale — they supply over 200 area flower shops, the Dinsers also sell to the public directly from the greenhouse.

"The public is more than welcome to come in and buy plants; a lot of people still don't realize we're here," said Dinser.

"Buying directly from us gets rid of the middle man so it's really a great value, especially for people who buy plants as gifts," he continued. "In addition to saving money, they also get a better selection."

Dinser suggested customers come in to look at the plants around

Thanksgiving when the endless sea of flowers is truly beautiful and the selection is at its largest.

Poinsettias purchased at Thanksgiving will stay in bloom for the entire holiday season and well beyond.

The poinsettias are available in red, white, pink and a red-white combination, and come in approximately six sizes. The largest potted plants have between 35 and 45 blooms; the smallest have just a few. One of Dinser's favorites is a large, 10-inch hanging plant that has 60-70 blooms.

"It's indescribable," he said. "If you set it on the ground, it takes up a good portion of the floor."

One of last year's best sellers was a 7½-inch pot with 18-25 blooms, which sold for only $14 — about half what it would cost in a store.

MILFORD

After an explosion disabled it in 1985, this Michigan Consolidated Gas pumping station in Milford Township (right) went back on line this spring.

By MATTHEW J. VALLEY

An established downtown commercial district, coupled with potential growth in industry, could make the Milford area a booming place in the next decade, community officials emphasize.

In the words of Milford Village Council President Roy Danley: "Milford is like a tree on the edge of the growth ring. What we see happening in communities like Farmington and Novi could be happening here."

That optimism comes at a time when the economic climate is favorable and building permits for residential homes are on the increase in the area.

Merchants throughout the downtown area indicate that business is better than ever. Car sales have been booming in 1986, according to Don Spiker, owner of Spiker Ford and Mercury in Milford.

"This is the best year volume wise since I've been in business," said Spiker, whose dealership has been in Milford for 21 years.

With an abundance of industrial lands available in the township, particularly near I-96, the future for Milford seems brighter than ever.

"I think more and more people are realizing that Milford is the place to be," said Village Manager Bruce Potthoff.

"This is a community that is interested in itself. The efforts of the Downtown Development Authority indicate that," he noted.

While the township may be the drawing card for industry, Potthoff views the village as a stable commercial area that will act as a magnet.

"We've really got momentum," Potthoff said, referring to the DDA. "I think that the ball has just started rolling."

What Potthoff is referring to is a community effort to make the downtown business area more of a selling feature. With the help of Oakland County planners, the DDA has outlined a plan to improve building storefronts and has encouraged businesses to make building improvements.

Many buildings, which were once an eyesore, have received a facelift. Exterior painting and major renovation projects have been undertaken at several businesses in the downtown district.

Tom Motley, owner of Arms Brothers on Main Street and member of the DDA, said he can see the changes taking place.

"I see a lot of new faces everyday. The statistics say we are the new bright spot, and from what I've seen, I would have to agree with that," said Motley.

The DDA's conceptual plan includes the following:

- a Central Park development program that would be highlighted by a lodging facility and boardwalk strung between Prospect Hill and the park. It is expected the lodging facility would also serve as a meeting center that would hopefully draw in business from the nearby General Motors Proving Grounds.

GALLOWAY

Milford ready to boom Downtown, potential growth are keys

- development of the upper Mill Pond area which would include the restoration of the Pet-tibone Mill on the south side of the pond.

- an enclosed mall at Prospect Hill which could be extended to Main Street.

- a riverfront complex on the south side of town which would serve as an attractive focal point in the community.

- government incentives also are being offered to merchants in the downtown area. Through an Oakland County Commercial Assistance Program (known as CAP funding), business owners are eligible for low interest loans that will be used for storefront improvements.

The potential for growth in business and industry in the Milford area is also recognized by Thomas Grasson, plant manager of Kelsey Hayes corporation.

"All projections are out that if Milford wants to grow in business and industry, it has the potential to do so. A lot depends on what the city fathers want to do," explained Grasson.

With an expected growth in population, Danley said he thinks construction of a senior center or senior housing complex also might be something Milford officials should someday consider.

"If you look around at communities our size, I think you'll see that we're prospering quite well by comparison," said Danley.

Foot Specialists Reduce Trauma and Pain

Feet are a part of the body that most people seem to neglect.

We go to the dentist, to medical doctors, and to eye doctors for periodic check-ups, but when was the last time you've had a foot check-up?

The professionals at Northville Family Foot Specialists, located in the Highland Lakes Shopping Center, say that taking the right steps towards better foot care can pay off.

Dr. Robert Yagoobian, one of the center's three physicians, states that, "Foot screening is very important, because if problems are detected early enough, it can save future treatments, even surgery."

Foot surgery can be very painful, but recently much of the fear and pain has been reduced, thanks to Foot Specialists' relatively new laser treatment program.

Being only the second podiatric practice in the State of Michigan to use laser technology, Dr. Yagoobian, along with Dr. Aram Mechigian, have used the laser with much success.

"By using the laser there is less trauma and less pain for the patient," says Mechigian. "The problem is that not many people know of the procedure."

The laser is used primarily for treatment of skin or soft tissue disorders, such as warts, nerve damage, and ingrown nails. However, laser technology has not been perfected yet in treating bone disorders.

"Bunions are the most common bone disorder," states Yagoobian, but one that can be effectively cured by "pinning, wiring, and implanting" devices in the affected area of the foot.

Drs. Mechigian and Yagoobian and another associate, Dr. Jack Janigian, all agree that these new forms of treatment eliminate the hassle of long, bed-ridden hospital stays.

"It (the laser) is a great improvement for both patient and doctor," comments Dr. Yagoobian. "Patients are forced to be more active today, and our surgery is elective surgery. It often can be performed right in the doctors' office."

Dr. Janigian, who deals primarily with children between infancy and five years of age, says that "approximately 90 percent of all foot disorders begin in early childhood."

"Many foot problems are hereditary, and it helps if the problems are detected early," says Janigian.

"The most common problems in children are in-toeing and out-toeing," adds Janigian. Both conditions can be corrected early with casting and shoe devices, he says.

Much of today's foot problems can be blamed on fashion shoes. "You cannot fit four cars in a one car garage," explains Yagoobian.

The three specialists have known each other for almost a lifetime, says Mechigian. "I grew up with Robert Yagoobian; we used to live next door to each other, and Jack Janigian happens to be my cousin."

For 11 years the Northville Family Foot Specialists have been serving the community. They now have approximately 5,000 patients, and they are growing by the day.

So take that one small step to the Northville Family Foot Specialists, and take a giant leap to better foot care!

HIGHLAND TOWNSHIP

Highland Corners, located in eastern Highland, is a growing retail center

FECHT

Highland high on unity

Merchants take team-spirit approach

By MATTHEW J. VALLEY

Not so long ago, business people in Highland used to refer to it as the "east versus west" syndrome.

That is the era when interests of merchants in the two sections of the township were divided. What took place in one business circle didn't really affect what happened in the other, it was commonly believed.

But that attitude has changed considerably over time. Today the emphasis in the ranks of the Highland Business Association is on unity. There no longer exists an "us versus them" attitude, and it's a grass roots spirit that is beginning to catch fire.

"We've really worked at trying to make ourselves a tight-knit community," said HBA President Ron Colasanti.

"I think that we have to do that if we intend to make progress. We help each other out where we can."

The team spirit approach voiced by Colasanti comes at a time when Highland Township officials are attempting to meet the needs of a changing community.

The emphasis on unity might also be a survival instinct in a community which has no central business district, unlike neighboring Milford.

Merchants find it much more tough going in communities where there is no downtown development district. Major building improvements and the funding for the renovations are problems difficult to tackle for communities like Highland, according to Colasanti.

"We've seen the improvements though. Just look up and down Milford Road during the past month and see how much better it looks."

Once a sparsely populated rural area, the number of township residents has nearly doubled in the last decade. Those figures are expected to continue to increase during the next 10 years.

What has spawned this residential growth is an improved economic climate where interest rates are low, according to township officials.

The Highland Township Building Department records show the number of residential and commercial permits issued this year is nearly double the rate of permits issued the previous year.

The township also is experiencing commercial growth, particularly evident along M-59. Last month, Fisher Big Wheel Corp. announced plans to build a 57,000-square-foot department store near the Old Kent Bank of Brighton, located off M-59 near Milford Road.

Consumers are helping matters, too. Merchants throughout the Highland and Milford areas indicate that business is on the upswing. One car dealer said 1986 has been the best year for sales he's ever had.

The Highland Township Planning Commission, which plays a key role in determining future growth, has also attempted to spur business development. The commission has clustered businesses much like shopping centers near the major intersections: M-59 and Duck Lake Road and Milford Road and M-59.

"We know there's a need for a focal point," said Township Planning Commissioner Roscoe Smith. "We've got the ball rolling. The transformation has just starting to take shape visually."

Dave Prosak, owner of Dave's Hardware and member of the HBA, believes Highland will continue to grow during the next several years.

"I think that what you're going to have in the next few years is a department store atmosphere like a K mart. M-59 is an essential area," said Prosak.

Despite all the optimism, Highland officials add they are aware there needs to be more industry in the township. Highland Township Supervisor Thomas Dunleavy said he would like to see the development of an industrial park.

"We have land that is zoned for industrial that is not being used. That would do wonders for the tax base in the township," said Dunleavy.

While there may be a long-range need for more of an industrial base in Highland, Colasanti is content knowing that there exists an enthusiastic feeling among members of the HBA.

"I see a lot of small family businesses coming in here during the next few years. Things are happening here, and I feel good about it."

Gwendolyn's Solves the Uncommon Sewing Needs

Gwendolyn's Limited opened its doors as a full service clothing alteration shop for both men and women in October of 81. These five years have fairly flown by for this little shop at its busy location on the corner of Haggerty & Ten Mile. Its business has grown and so has its lists of services, according to Ms. Niemisto, who founded the idea, the business itself is a direct result of the five talented and loyal women that work there: Luann, Jean, Sue, Sherrie, and Winnie. The shop is expertly managed by Luann Williams and each of the five has an area of expertise. They collaborate as a team to help clients with specific problems and needs. As the list of services has grown, Gwendolyn's has served many needs of the businesses/industries of the area. In addition to altering and repairing uniforms for one of the large hotels in Novi (a very normal task), they have worked on some unusual items such as "horse boots" for trotters to wear during training, radiation barrier pads for x-ray labs, a leather harness sling for a cat with a broken leg, costumes for an exotic male dancer, corporate flags, HUGE banners for Miss Grand Pree & more. This team of experts loves a challenge and welcomes the unusual.

While you are enjoying the friendly, courteous service, they will enjoy wondering what in the world will come up next.

Both the common and unusual business and personal sewing needs can be met at Gwendolyn's Limited in Novi, 24193 Haggerty Road.

Gwendolyn Niemisto, owner, said her store specializes in helping businesses meet their sewing needs. Gwendolyn's creates uniforms and repairs car dealership flags. Niemisto hopes to expand this part of the business, but for now the majority of their work is for private customers.

An uncommon sewing problem Gwendolyn's recently solved was designing a costume for a male dancer, Niemisto said.

Sue Balk, seamstress, said the store also made seat cushions for an old airplane and helped a man make a line of feather stuffed vests.

Winnie Arnaut, seamstress, said another uncommon job Gwendolyn's successfully completed was making a leather cast for a cat with an injured foot.

"Gwen (Niemisto) likes to say if it's a challenge, bring it in," Balk said.

Niemisto agreed, saying her seamstresses could handle most sewing situations and enjoy a challenge.

Balk said the store draws all types of customers. Some people don't have the time or skill to do some complicated clothing repair. Others are just attached to a certain piece of clothing.

"There's people with favorite clothes they just don't want to part with, and you just keep patching it together."

Balk said she usually does tailoring.

One common tailoring job is antique wedding gowns. Balk said Gwendolyn's repairs the lace and makes adjustments for the bride.

Balk's specialty, however, is men's suits. She gained plenty of practical experience in this while raising her family and repairing her husband's and son's suits.

Balk re-designs old jackets and modifies Novi High School band uniforms.

Another common re-design job is for people who have lost weight. She said people will lose 100 pounds and want their whole wardrobe re-fitted.

Gwendolyn's Limited is open from 9 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday and 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday. For more information call 478-0444.

City, township both stoking 'hot irons'

Communities lie in prime area for growth

ZOLYNSKY

Under construction in Northville Township is Scott Regional Prison, a 550-bed facility due to open late this year.

Despite working hard to maintain a reputation as a "bedroom community," both the city and township of Northville daily are confronted with requests for planned development. That action is to be expected, however, when western Wayne County is one of the prime areas left to develop in the Ann Arbor-Detroit corridor.

While the township is looking toward the future, especially along the Haggerty Road corridor and the Sheldon Road county-owned property, the city is developing and redeveloping at a rapid rate.

Both the township and the city have irons in the fire, which officials hope will translate into tax money for the community. The prime city property still left is the corner of Main and Center streets, where Equity Advance is planning to erect a retail/residential/commercial building, scheduled to have retail tenants occupying the premises by late next summer.

Plans for businesses in the Main-Center project include upscale clothing stores, a restaurant (Elizabeth's has already committed to the project), an upscale book store, offices and condominiums within the complex.

The township is taking a more deliberate approach to business, and industry, however, mainly because much of its undeveloped land is zoned for single and multiple residential, rather than commercial. Only the Haggerty Road corridor and land on Sheldon Road provide large areas of zoned commercial development.

Hampton Inn representatives were the first to ask approval for building along the Haggerty Road corridor, but township officials expect additional requests to be forthcoming.

While preliminary approval has been given to Hampton Inns, the "rooms only" division of Holiday Inns Inc., no construction on the site has been started.

The township also will benefit from the sale of some 900 acres of county-owned land on Sheldon and Five Mile roads. Wayne County has announced plans to request development proposals, but so far the formal RFPs have not been mailed by the county.

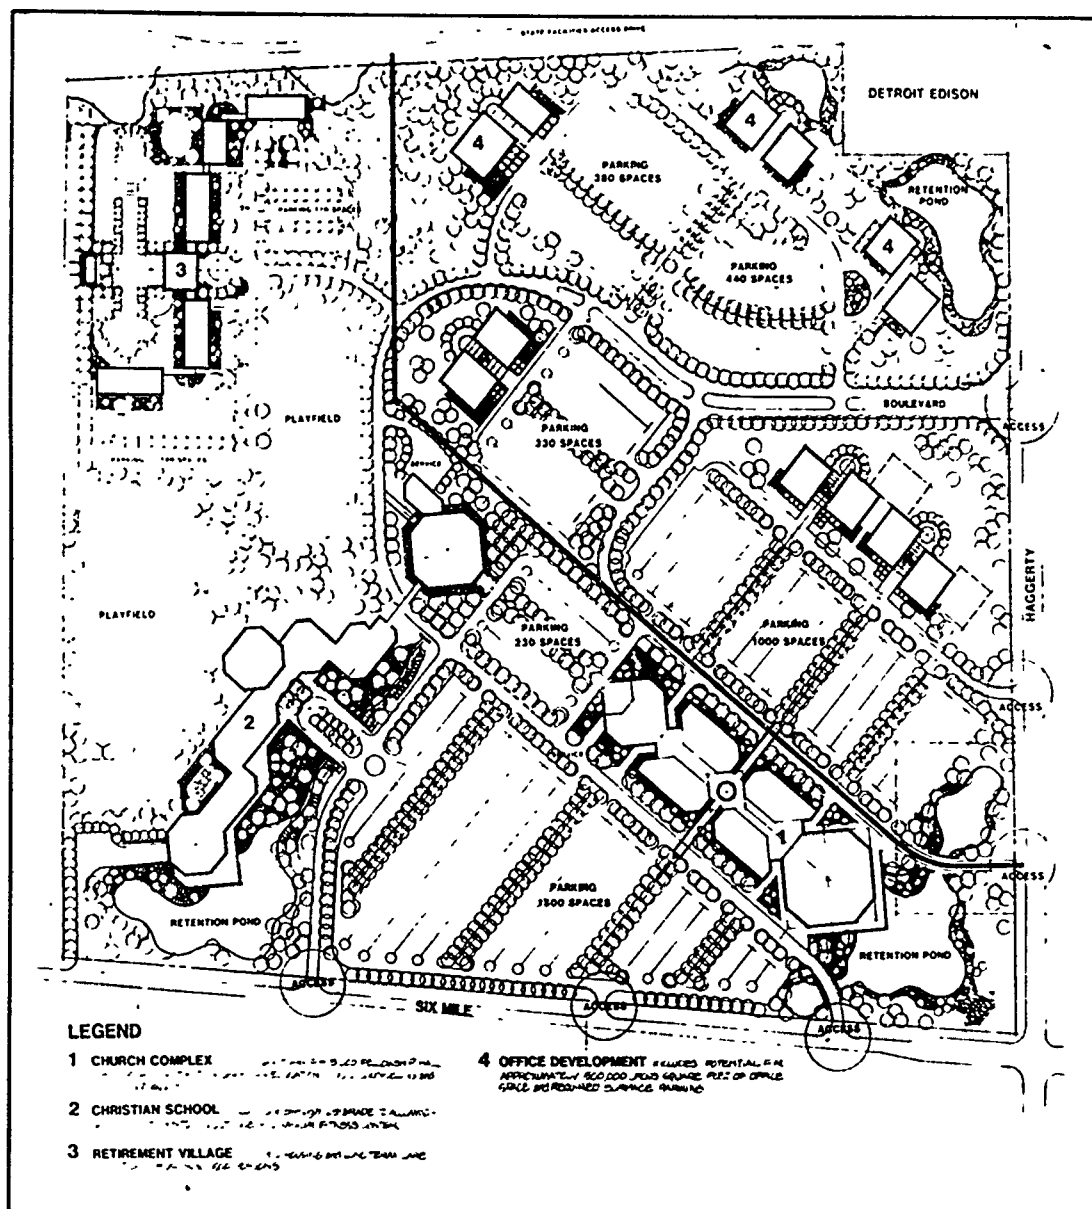

County spokespeople have confirmed the possibility of the entire acreage being sold to a single developer but have also discussed selling five separate parcels for five different types of development, including residential.

In addition to its Main-Center development, the city of Northville is making plans to assist a young developer in the completion of a bed-and-breakfast type facility in its downtown area, and there have been requests made to the city boards for additional retail development, all still in the planning stages.

"We really wanted to have the Main-Center project under way before we looked seriously at other developments," Steven Walters, city manager explained.

The township's main concern is aesthetics, even along Haggerty Road. While some neighboring communities have no height restrictions, the township's height and greenbelt rules are very stringent. Thus far, those rules have not stopped developers or potential developers from meeting with the township's development director, but it have caused more than one developer to rethink his project.

It has not stopped requests; nor do township officials expect the building boom to slow down anytime soon.

The development plan for the Ward Presbyterian Church property (left) shows a 500-person retirement village, a 1,100-student Christian school, a church complex and office development.

Improving education has been a major issue for many years. How will the children of today succeed in the future of tomorrow? If your child attends the Novi Christian School, located at 45301 Eleven Mile at Taft Road in Novi, the answer to that question may be "very well."

According to Pastor Richard S. Burgess, Administrator at the school, Novi Christian offers an education that is unique. He states, "Through the A.C.E. (Accelerated Christian Education) program students are provided an opportunity to progress at their own level of ability and accomplish a great deal."

Pastor Burgess says that the majority of the work the students do is by self-motivation, and on a one-to-one teacher/student relationship. "Approximately ninety percent of the work is done by the student individually and not as a class," he explained.

The A.C.E. program, which was founded in Lewiston, Texas, in 1972 started out as a small operation. However, during its sixteen-year existence, A.C.E. has been woven into 5,500 school systems nationwide, with over 500,000 students being involved in the program.

Commented Pastor Burgess, "Our philosophy is different from the public schools educational system. Our main emphasis is not on how to earn a living, but how to live a life. Everything else then falls into place."

In the program students in all grades (K-12) are given a diagnostic test to show at what level of performance the child should be placed. Next, the students are given booklets which are combination textbooks, workbooks, review tests, and final tests. These vary in grade levels to meet the child's ability.

"There are three areas which I like most about this program," explained Pastor Burgess. "First, I like the individually prescribed courses, all with a spiritual emphasis; second, the goal orientation (setting one's own goals in terms of work capacity); and third, the speed reading and specialized reading programs for all students in grades K-12."

Students from Novi Christian have placed highly both on state and national levels with students reading up to 1,800 words per minute. They have also received high scores on the American College Test (A.C.T.).

Yes, there are high standards, but there is also a high success rate. "Here students don't learn to fail," says Pastor Burgess. "They repeat their work until there is understanding of the material and they are able to pass the final test."

There is much more to Novi Christian than math, science, social studies, and English. For example, students are placed in privilege categories for completed work which is part of the motivational system. The school has an exceptional learning atmosphere with individual cubicals for each student. The entire curriculum of Novi Christian School is thoroughly Christian. Biblical in its precepts, it offers young people the challenge of using God given leadership qualities and abilities. A dress code which emphasizes good grooming and modesty is coupled with a standard of high morality.

The Accelerated Christian Education program uses a goal oriented approach to life which encourages individual responsibility. The objective of these unique procedures is to encourage the student to set and attain achievable academic and deportment goals in his daily life. The concept of positive reinforcement is realized in field trips, special activities, and privileges which are earned.

The sports program includes boys and girls basketball, girls volleyball, boys soccer, cross country, and track and field. A State Convention, followed by a National Convention each spring, encourages competition in academics, athletics, play writing, acting, music, art, needle work, crafts, photography, poetry, and many other fields. Novi Christian School has received national recognition in several of these areas.

Pastor Burgess is happy to announce the appointment of Rev. Ivan Speight as the new Assistant Administrator. For more information or an appointment call 349-3477 during regular school hours 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

While the administration of Governor James Blanchard (above) says it put Michigan on the road to recovery, state officials added that there is still much to be done.

BLANCHARD: Governor takes credit for business turnaround

By CAROLINE CASE

Michigan's business climate has done a dramatic turnabout since Gov. James Blanchard took office in 1982, according to one state business expert.

"Absolutely," says Lou Glazer, deputy director of the Michigan Department of Commerce. "There's no question about that."

Several key actions of the administration are responsible for the upturn, according to Glazer. One which is especially important to the business community is workers' compensation.

"All of the trends in workers' compensation have been in the right direction," he said.

Michigan's workers' compensation rates in 1978 were 33 percent about the national average, he said. In 1984, they were 6 percent below. And in 1985, the average increase in workers' compensation rates nationally was 15½ percent, while Michigan's was only 5 percent, Glazer said.

A reform package has also been passed which speeds up the appeals process for employers to protest workers' compensation awards, he said.

Unemployment insurance has also dropped significantly since Blanchard took office, Glazer said, and a cut in the Single Business Tax, the main Michigan business tax, saved small businesses $18 million.

The Michigan Business Ombudsman office, created by the Blanchard administration, has made it easier for small businesses to have questions answered or resolve their problems with state government, Glazer said. Since its inception, the office has helped 30,000 people within 72 hours of their calls.

Glazer said the administration has proposed 40 initiatives to help small businesses, 31 of which have been implemented. One of the most important ones was aimed at the deregulation of franchises.

"We've had more new franchisors register in Michigan in two years since that law passed than in the 10 years previous," he said.

While Glazer agrees that part of Michigan's success is due to the nationwide economic upturn, he still attributes a good bit of the state's improvement to work done at home.

"Michigan is still part of the country, so as the economic condition of the country goes so goes Michigan," he said. "The whole country's gotten better, but Michigan's moved ahead even faster."

For example, Michigan is closing the gap in unemployment rates. While the state's rate is 2 percent higher than the national average, in 1982 it was 7 percent higher than the national average, he said.

Two national studies have also rated Michigan highly, he said: the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill ranked Michigan sixth out of the 50 states for the 250,000 new jobs created in the state from January 1984 to January 1986.

And Engineering News Report ranks Michigan No. 1 in new investment by manufacturers, Glazer said.

Business starts in Michigan are also way up, he said. A record was set in 1984, broken in 1985, and in the first six months of 1986, the figure is 11 percent ahead of last year.

"Small business has given a vote of confidence to the Michigan business climate by starting a record number of small businesses," Glazer said.

Although the Blanchard administration says it has brought Michigan business a long way down the road to recovery, there is still work to be done. Glazer said the governor has three major goals for business if he is re-elected in November.

Workers' compensation and unemployment insurance needs to continue to be watched carefully, he said. Those costs need to be made more competitive with other states.

And while the emphasis during the governor's first term was on the economic condition of the whole state, in the second term more attention would be paid to specific regions, such as rural areas and large industrial cities which are still suffering.

In a second term the governor would also step up his efforts to work with existing Michigan businesses to make them more competitive, Glazer said.

POLITICS OF BUSINESS

FECHT

GOP gubernatorial candidate William Lucas (above, with his wife) says the Blanchard administration has not tapped Michigan's business potential.

Michigan has the skeleton to become one of the greatest industrial states in the nation, but has not tapped its potential under the Blanchard administration, according to GOP gubernatorial hopeful William Lucas.

Lucas, who will face off against incumbent Democrat James Blanchard in the November general election, says Michigan has the resources, including a skilled work force and high standard of living, to be a business giant but has some hurdles to leap.

"Bill Lucas feels the future holds great potential for Michigan," Bill Johnson, Lucas' press secretary, said. "What we must do, however, is stabilize our economy by first recognizing the fact that it is cyclical in nature. High taxes can only force a more up and down turn in the state's economy."

Johnson said Lucas feels the state must make itself a more attractive place to do business if it is going to compete with other states for new ones and hold onto the industry it currently has. Michigan will do that when it reduces the costs to employers for workers' compensation, unemployment compensation, insurance and taxes, Johnson said.

One way of reducing the cost for workers' compensation would be to have individuals wait a week before filing for the benefits, Johnson said of the Lucas policy. He also said a clearer definition of seasonal employment is necessary to tighten abuses by those in receipt of unemployment compensation.

LUCAS: GOP hopeful says state can be a business 'giant'

"In Michigan, we have a great deal of seasonal employment," Johnson said. "That is a number of laborers come here to work for a few months, then return to Florida or some other state and file for benefits in Michigan. Seasonal employment should be just that, Bill Lucas feels. There should be no eligibility for unemployment. With a clearer definition, seasonal employees would have no expectation of being able to collect after the work is completed."

Lucas was critical of the Michigan Legislature and the governor for passage of a liability insurance package that did nothing to reduce costs for coverage.

"What is needed is a comprehensive reform of the liability laws of the state, but the bill recently signed by the governor did nothing to bring the actual costs down," Johnson said. "In 1987, Bill Lucas will bring all the interested parties together to hammer out a bill that is acceptable to all and actually does something to lower the cost for liability insurance.

"This has never happened. All the players—doctors, lawyers, business representatives, insurance companies—were not brought to the same table to hash this out."

Blanchard signed a package of bills in early summer designed to bring reform to what has been labeled Michigan's "liability crisis."

Under the law, courts and juries will be forced to limit pain and suffering awards to $225,000. The controversial cap on awards was a stumbling block between the Michigan House and Senate as the chambers waged a year-long battle over how to reduce costs for liability insurance.

The cap provides for a number of exceptions, including death, foreign objects left in the body, injuries to the reproductive system, fraudulent concealment of medical malpractice, wrongful removal of a limb or organ and loss of vital bodily function.

Johnson said Lucas also feels there is a great need to reduce business taxes, especially those of small businesses.

"Small businesses represent $1.3 billion of the tax base from which state government operates, so surely we can not eliminate taxes on small businesses, but we can make them more equitable."

The Michigan House Taxation Committee is currently considering a package of bills aimed at reducing the small business tax (SBT). The package includes provisions to increase the statutory exemptions from the current level of $40,000 to $100,000 of the tax base and to eliminate workers' compensation and unemployment compensation from the calculation of SBT.

In addition to reforms in unemployment and workers' compensation, liability and the SBT, Lucas feels the state must take steps to reduce property taxes, Johnson said. Lucas would propose a plan to calculate property taxes at 2.5 percent of the fair market value. Johnson said this plan is similar to one used in Massachusetts that resulted in an overall stimulation of the state's economy.

Lucas also credits himself with being the first to propose a reduction of individual income tax from the current 4.6 percent to four percent. On the heels of the federal tax reform bill, the state is estimating a windfall of about $300 million that would be used to offset the income tax reduction.

The sound of progress

Noise to some is music to business investors

By BRUCE J. MARTIN

There's a sound you're likely to encounter when you get inside Novi city limits.

It's the sound of bulldozers and construction machinery. Noise to some. But music to the ears of business investors.

Novi is fast shaping up as a major Michigan economic center, with capacities far beyond what its population of just under 30,000 would suggest. Its geographic situation, abundant natural and human resources and market-smart approach to new commerce and industry combine to make it one of Michigan's most economically attractive and fastest-growing communities.

The action in Novi is occurring on several fronts:

□ Expansive pockets of industrially-zoned land provide easy freeway-railway access and room to grow for large and small manufacturers.

□ A newly-created Town Center, based at Grand River Avenue and Novi Road, is developing into an attractive location for specialty retailers, restaurants, offices, hotels and residential projects. Already, ground has broken on a creatively-landscaped retail center and offices, with plans on the boards for hotels, housing and the Novi Motor Sports Museum.

□ Groundwork is in place to create a special office-research-industrial high-tech corridor along a largely-undeveloped stretch of Grand River Avenue west of Novi Road.

□ Orchard Hill Place, a major office-hotel-commercial district in the southeast section of the city, already offers a state-of-the-art center for regional and national businesses, with superior capacities for business conferences, communications and conveniently-located amenities.

□ On the drawing table is Westbrooke Place, an office-hotel-commercial district in northwest Novi, with plans for a similar Fortune 500-quality office/retail/hotel complex, with a major indoor/outdoor family recreation center unique in the Midwest.

□ Twelve Oaks Mall, with West Oaks I and II shopping plazas, together offer visitors to the city and residents a boundless variety of outlets for their disposable income. Improved freeway access plans and new road construction in the central-city area will make the city even more attractive to the shopper, the business investor and residents.

Other development projects include a lakefront resort-restaurant-marina complex and the Grand River-Haggerty-Ten Mile area (commercial-office).

□ Civic pride is one of Novi's highest trump cards. Novi public schools every year rank among the best in the state, with frequent national recognition of individual schools in the district. Active volunteerism in civic projects designed to preserve and improve the quality of life for city residents is a constant that enhances high-caliber development.

□ An active and expanding Chamber of Commerce and Economic Development Corporation offer guidance and community support to businesses large and small.

□ A growing public library geared to information-gathering, numerous bookstores and communication centers, and an award-winning weekly, The Novi News, provide business decision-makers the information they need for sound marketing and investing moves.

All that describes what lies inside Novi's boundaries. What may be equally if not more important to the business investor is what lies just outside Novi. Detroit Metro Airport is less than a half-hour drive by freeway along I-275. I-96, I-696, M-23 and M-14 all offer quick freeway travel to and from Detroit, Ann Arbor, Southfield, Flint, Lansing and Ypsilanti. Primary roads link Novi to nearby Pontiac, West Bloomfield, Livonia, Farmington Hills and Plymouth.

BACK ON TRACK IN MICHIGAN

This is a simple story. It's about America's most prestigious builder of model trains, Lionel Trains, and how they left Michigan in 1983 after decades of doing business here. And why, after being away for two years, the company moved back to southeastern Michigan, where they knew they could get the best job done.

It's also about how Detroit Edison's Economic Development Team helped Lionel Trains get back into Michigan, and back on track.

You see, production costs for the model trains were rising.

Lionel Trains' predicament and quickly offered to assist in any way they could. Once Detroit Edison joined in, events really clipped along. A new facility was found. And new business incentives were explored. Detroit Edison contacted the Michigan Department of Commerce about the return of Lionel Trains, and soon even Governor Blanchard was involved in the project.

On October 21, 1985, the governor himself cut the red ribbon...opening Lionel Trains' new plant in southeastern Michigan, which now employs over 200 men and women.

So Lionel moved to Tijuana, Mexico, to manufacture their trains. When the Mexican operation didn't work out, Lionel Trains needed help more than ever before. And Detroit Edison was there to provide it.

SOUTH LYON

Business climate warming up

Money, confidence inject new spirit into area

By PAT BRAY

Over the last year, the sluggish business growth of the South Lyon area has received a very welcomed shot in the arm.

Local government and Chamber of Commerce officials say the turn around from last year is due in large part to people and companies having the money and confidence to invest in new projects because of lower interest rates.

The City of South Lyon as well as Lyon, Green Oak and Northfield townships all reported new businesses locating within them and a growing interest displayed by other firms as well.

A good example is the city of South Lyon finally attracting a new owner for its former Jimmy Two restaurant in the city's Central Business District. The Sea, a full menued, sit-down restaurant, recently opened much to the delight of both business people and city officials.

Such a restaurant had long been part of the plan to attract shoppers to the CBD, thereby holding onto a larger portion of the city's market.

A new restaurant, located in the former Jimmy Two facility, should provide a big boost to South Lyon's downtown area (above).

Health Nut's Good for Your Health

"It's good for your health," Brenda Szenay says about all the elements that make up her business, Health Nut, located at 401 W. Main St. in downtown Brighton.

Health Nut has an unusual theme for a store in this day and age — homemade, natural products.

Seated in a chair in the restaurant area of her establishment, Szenay spoke of all the unique products and the growth that has made Health Nut what it is today after over six years in business.

"When I first started out, we only carried vitamins, nuts, cosmetics, and dietary foods," recalls Szenay. "But when you walk into the store now, that is not the case."

Besides maintaining stock in herbs, vitamins, and nuts, Health Nut has developed a delicatessen that is beyond compare.

"Our deli has a variety of meats and cheeses," noted Szenay. "Our salads are made fresh daily with fresh vegetables and fruits."

Szenay said Health Nut also offers "sandwiches that are bigger than the size of your lunch bucket, and coffee that we grind fresh from beans."

If that is not enough to tantalize your taste buds, Health Nut also has a full stock of breads (from sour dough to whole wheat) and cakes. "We make a carrot cake that our customers just rave about," Szenay added.

Want to have a party or gathering? Health Nut has ways to tempt your palate with mouth-watering party trays. The business's catering service can also serve its finest, tasty foods with a little touch of home.

Just a few steps from the deli, you can lick your way through the creamiest ice cream in town, homemade of course.

"We make our own ice cream from Guernsey Dairy products, and we mix it with a gourmet mixing machine," Szenay explained. "Our ice cream is only 30 percent air. Most ice cream is 100 percent air."

When asked how to describe the store's 16 ice cream flavors (which include Peanut Butter, Raspberry-Cheesecake, and Triple-Berry) Szenay had a quick, one word response: "Delicious." Health Nut ice cream can be purchased by the scoop on a tasty waffle cone, or by the pint or quart.

Health Nut also offers a line of cosmetic products that contain vitamin E and absolutely no mineral oil. Lipstick, eyebrow pencils, and skin care creams are just a few of the healthy make-up items found at the store. At Health Nut, you can stay that beautiful, healthier you.

"Our cosmetics contain no mineral oil because it tends to dry out the skin," explained Szenay.

Health Nut has built a business around natural, homemade products. The shop's wares are really an extension of Szenay's own philosophy toward such wholesome foods and sundries.

"When I was a homemaker," recalled Szenay, "I grew an organic garden and canned my own foods. I found it to be a better way. I've always believed in that."

Szenay, along with 12 other employees (including a sister-in-law and a daughter-in-law to be), do much more than sell products to customers. Since many of them are either nutritionists or have nursing degrees, they also provide an information service to shoppers.

"With the knowledge of our employees and the literature we have available, we specialize in service," said Szenay.

Szenay added that customers in the Brighton area have been very good to her in return.

Szenay said she tries to treat her business in the same healthy way her customers manage their eating and grooming habits. "We have an excellent product at a good price," she said.

Health Nut is a member of the Brighton Area Chamber of Commerce and the Old Brighton Association. The store is open Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. and Saturday from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sunday hours are noon to 5 p.m.

So, if you think highly and healthy of yourself, stop in Health Nut and taste what they have to offer!

SOUTH LYON

"It can't do anything but have a positive impact on the downtown area," said Charles Cairn, the city's planning consultant with Vilican-Leman.

Cairn said the South Lyon Planning Commission in the past had looked at expanding the CBD east and west on Ten Mile Road. The plan was put aside until all the available spaces between the two Grand Trunk Railroad crossings on Pontiac Trail are filled.

Dennis Swaney, a member of the South Lyon Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors and a member of its Business Development Committee, said the chamber is looking at expanding that area to the north.

"We would like to see no empty spaces out past Brookdale Mall," Swaney said.

He said such growth is needed to compete with the drawing power of nearby communities.

Swaney said the interest a number of companies have shown in the South Lyon area has led to the chamber's development committee working with South Lyon's Economic Development Committee to gather statistics which inquiring firms will need to base a decision.

The information covers the areas of population, projected growth, traffic flow and schools. Swaney said this type of data is needed by a large firm when comparing alternative sites.

Two large firms, Care Centers of Michigan and Fisher Big Wheel, both are in the process of building in the city. Although the Care Centers project has been held up in an annexation dispute, Swaney is confident it will be constructed. The plan calls for a 157-bed health care facility employing about 140 people.

Fisher Big Wheel plans to construct a 45,000-square-foot discount store on Pontiac Trail. The companies first site encountered some poor soil conditions and an alternative site is being sought.

"Within the next five to 10 years, you are going to see a big boom out here," Sweany said.

The surrounding townships are already experiencing something of an economic boom.

Beverly Bater, Northfield Township treasurer, said a number of new businesses and construction jobs have come to the township during the last year. She said they are finally getting the township "off the ground" after some slow years.

She listed lawn care service companies, a mini-storage company and a six-bay car service center as some of the recent additions to the township.

Bater said the construction of a 460-site mobile home park and two, 200-unit apartment buildings are providing work for a number of residents. She said the families that move into the new buildings will provide township businesses with a larger local market.

The recent construction of a Big Boy Restaurant and Best Western Motel on the boarder with Green Oak township has "snowballed well" for Northville traders, according to the Chamber of Commerce President Mark Cotter.

Cotter stressed the "good attitude" of the township people as one of the main contributors to its recent success.

"I'm really fired up (about the economic picture). We still have room for growth and the government leaders are primed for this type of growth," said Cotter, an insurance representative.

Lyon Township also has had a great deal of advancement over past years. Supervisor Jim Atchison pointed out the growth in two industrial parks on Grand River, the soon-to-be-open G. Wiliker's Restaurant, as well as a number of inquiries from firms thinking about moving into the township.

"It's been a good year for Lyon Township," Atchison said.

Green Oak Township Supervisor Ronald

Niece said the expansion in his township of both industrial and residential development has happened because of good advanced planning.

He said sites agreeable with industry were set up well in advance of the current upswing to keep the two from becoming crowded together.

He cited the Gordon Food Companies $18 million distribution warehouse project and the expansion of a number of local firms as the main growth in the township over the last year.

Niece noted the townships willingness to grant tax incentives to industry as the main force behind the recent expansions.

From college students seeking summer employment to retirees looking for something extra to do, Kelly Services can provide a range of temporary job opportunities.

In fact, the company boasts a household name whose quality reputation worldwide is unsurpassed in the field of temporary help. It's been that way for nearly 40 years.

"There's no such thing as a typical person who comes to Kelly Services looking for temporary work," explained Mary Spry, supervisor of Kelly Services' Brighton office.

"We try to match the skills of our employees with the job the customer wants done. Kelly employees know they are needed and respond to the situation."

The Brighton office of Kelly Services, located at 500 West Main, accommodates job seekers residing in Livingston and Oakland counties. Men and women 18 years or older can find temporary work in clerical, light industrial or technical areas.

The job duties may range from packaging boxes to processing invoices on a computer. There is no fee charged to the applicant looking for work. Applicants' skills are evaluated by Kelly workers so that the jobs they are sent out on fit their qualifications.

"I want to emphasize that Kelly Services is a temporary help service. It is not a placement agency," Spry said.

"Our workers are not out there to replace permanent employees or take over their jobs. That's not our function."

Employees of Kelly Services are paid by Kelly Services. Paychecks are mailed out to the workers every week and are subject to the usual state, federal and social security deductions.

An international temporary help service founded and headquartered in Detroit, Kelly Services has over 600 offices serving customers in almost every industry throughout the United States, Europe and Puerto Rico. Approximately 430,000 temporary workers are employed by Kelly Services.

While out on assignment, it is imperative that employees of Kelly Services understand their function, according to Spry. Kelly employees go into a job knowing that a customer may need them for only a day, week or month at a time. When an assignment is completed, employees are urged to contact Kelly Services for a follow-up assignment.

Another division of Kelly Services is Kelly Marketing, which employs men and women to work on temporary marketing assignments at various customer locations. The job sites include shopping centers, retail stores, and other locations where public functions or retail sales occur.

Because the company is so widely recognized for the quality personnel, customers know they can expect Kelly employees to be efficient and productive, Spry said. Much of that quality reputation has been built by word of mouth.

"We have a 100 percent guarantee. If the customer is not satisfied, then we correct the situation immediately," Spry emphasized. "Our job is to assist the customer."

Getting A Handle On Pain And Dysfunction

Brighton Physical Therapy & Allied Health Services located at 8619 West Grand River (in the Davis Health Center) in Brighton deals not only with rehabilitation patients, but also patients suffering from sports injuries, work related injuries, trauma from car accidents, post muscle and joint surgeries and over-use syndromes, says owner Clarice Brown, P.T.

Brown who began her physical therapy clinic in Brighton five years ago says that there is much more involved to physical therapy than only dealing with rehabilitation patients or providing passive therapy like hot packs, ultrasound, massages, or cold packs. Most patients require intensive instruction in positioning posture, correct stretching, and specific exercises (for patient diagnosis).

By devoting her full time to her practice, Brown has been able to provide a most comprehensive physical therapy treatment program to address the needs of her patients. Her programs include muscle reeducation, joint mobility, strengthening, regaining agility, building endurance and most of all teaching each patient to rehabilitate themselves for long standing results. This provides the patient with acute awareness of recurrent pain and can prevent minor pain from becoming a major problem on the job, in sports or with daily activities. Other programs that are provided are speech therapy, occupational therapy, and psychological services by respective specialists.

Patient instruction is on a one to one basis with revising exercise programs appropriate for the patients condition that are paramount for successful physical therapy. Brown works closely with physicians, dentists, and podiatrists so that true muscle, joint, and soft tissue symptoms are not in fact a result of some internal or other body system condition.

Brighton Physical Therapy and Allied Health Services is open Monday through Friday 8:30 to 5 p.m. For an appointment call 227-3588.

VIEAU'S CORNER

10890 E. Grand River
BRIGHTON

Owner Miles Vieau

"IDEA BECOMES REALITY"

How did one man's dream of making an old corner grocery store into a successful business transform into a reality? It took time, hard work, dedication and the help and support of friends and family to make Vieau's Greyhound and Package Express Depot and Party Store the successful business that it is today, said Miles Vieau, owner of the subsidized Grand River corner business.

In 1966 Manning Vieau, Miles' father, purchased Joe's Grocery and service station as a retirement investment and leased it out for a few years. Then in 1977 Miles took over the property with only 300 dollars, a pot belly stove and a pepsi cooler. For two straight years Miles worked diligently 7 days a week opening each day at 5 a.m. and closing at 11 p.m. His efforts finally paid off when the business eventually grew into a party store.

In order to subsidize the corner on Grand River in 1976, Miles got Greyhound Buslines to commit itself to an expanded passenger service through Brighton. Today, there are 12 Greyhound buses stopping daily, Miles said. A few years later, Trailways committed their services also. Most recently, Shortway Northstar has been added to the Brighton stop. Presently, 16 buses stop daily at Vieau's Corner that travel to all parts of the country.

In 1978 Miles started Greyhound pickup and delivery service which now covers Livingston and Western Oakland counties. "From that we transformed into one of the largest bus agencies in the state," Vieau said.

"During our peak season in 1984 we moved between 200 and 400 passengers per week through here," Vieau said. Freight wise, one of the largest movements of freight was over 47 ton. "This led us into the bus charter business," He added.

Chartered buses travel to any part of the country and state. They are available for any event or group of people.

With the increasing demand for Freight and travel Miles, along with a good friend Bob Musch, started the package depot.

The package depot was a spinoff of the bus freight business. Now they consult and ship freight by UPS, Federal Express, Purolator, Airborn, Ad Comm, Greyhound, Trailways and many more. "The growth of the package depot has made it possible to expand into about 34 stores in Michigan," Vieau said.

"One business just lead into the other and without the help of my father I could not have made Vieau's Corner into the success it is today," Miles said.

Manning Vieau was owner of Napoleon Egg Company for 41 years. It was one of the largest wholesale egg companies in the state. Five years ago he sold the business to retire, Miles said. But due to the fact that the party store and other businesses grew, Manning has been working full time for the past five years.

"He's helped to make this idea into a reality," Miles said.

Dressed for success

From color to cleanliness, clothes play important role

By VICKI GRICE

Cricketeer representative Kathy Johnson models the latest in fashionable business wear for women.

Appearance definitely counts in the working world. From color choice to neatness and cleanliness to the fit of the suit, employers notice the details.

First impressions at an interview must be strong since they are often brief and so many people are competing for the same position. How to dress for success, the appropriate attire for the occasion, plays an important role in landing a job as well as helping move upward in a position.

One piece of advice many businesses agree on is to wear a dark-colored suit to an interview, regardless of the company or season. However, once the position is established, somewhat less rigid guidelines may be appropriate.

"A navy blue suit is best, for both men and women. It is an authoritative color," said Denise Anton of Anton's Gentlemen's Apparel in Novi's Twelve Oaks Mall. "Once you get the job, you may be able to wear more of a variety of colors, but basically, stick to dark greys and navys."

Colleen Thurston, of Alvin's Inc., a women's wear store in Twelve Oaks Mall, said women can be a little more fashion forward in more creative careers, such as advertising, marketing and sales. Fields such as accounting, engineering and banking are strictly conservative and, therefore, require more rigid dress standards, either stated or implied.

"It's very important to research the company and watch what others, especially your superiors, wear," Anton said. "You should dress conservatively for interviews, but once you land the job, watch how those at the top of the corporate ladder dress and try to resemble their style."

The most popular colors for men are navy and grey pinstripe, according to Scott Lapham of Lapham's Clothing in downtown Northville, a shop that carries both men's and women's wear.

"Pinstripes are very appropriate for business, and often make a better statement than solids, depending on the person," Lapham said. "Definitely avoid all greens, large plaids, browns and light colors."

For women, light-colored suits and sweaters are out of the question for a business interview, according to Sue Parish of Talbots in Twelve Oaks Mall.

Women's suits are available in a variety of styles. While the longer blazer is more traditional, the new, shorter style jacket is also a possibility.

"Although I don't usually recommend the shorter blazer, many times I think it is much more flattering to a shorter person," said Sook Shin of Redwood & Ross, a women's store in Twelve Oaks Mall.

Single-breasted jackets for both men and women are the most appropriate for business.

When selecting a suit, people also have a choice as to what fabric they prefer. According to John Malloy, who wrote the best seller, "Dress for Success," all natural fabrics including wools and cottons are a must, but some business people disagree.

"Cotton or wool blends are your best bet when it comes to the suit," Lapham said. "A 100 percent wool suit and a 100 percent cotton shirt are just not practical, you will look like a wrink-ed mess by the time you get to work wearing that! Wool holds wrinkles very well, unless it is a very high quality fabric."

"A lot of people do follow Malloy. When I get a customer who wants an all-wool suit, I know who he's listening to," Lapham continued.

Although suit color and style are two important considerations, many people overlook the most crucial aspect to appearance — neatness.

"The absolute most important things employers look for when it comes to initial presentation is the fit of the suit; how it's pressed and accessorized," Anton said.

She stressed the importance of well manicured nails, neat hair, well starched cuffs and collars and recommended avoiding strong colognes and perfumes. And for women, nylons are a necessity.

"Every little thing counts. Employers especially notice the fit and neatness of the suit," Anton said. "Five different men can all be wearing navy blue suits, but some look fantastic and others look like a mess. You have to make sure the suit is well pressed and fits good, not too big or too small."

Accessories can spice up an outfit, but can also be a hindrance. Simple and relatively understated is the key, avoiding large, bold trimmings.

"You don't want people staring at and admiring your jewelry when they're supposed to be listening to what you have to say," said Sook Shin of Redwood & Ross.

Accessories work best when they are used to accent an outfit. Small earrings, a single necklace or tie, one or two rings, and a small, neat belt buckle give a business-like, sophisticated effect.

For men, Lapham suggests a silk tie that hangs just past the belt buckle. The most appropriate tie pattern is a clean, subtle stripe, 1/2 to 3/4-inches wide. The tie should be of medium width, 3 to 3 1/2 inches.

"Try to avoid both string and wide ties and make sure the knot is perfect," Lapham said. "A small print or paisley in a dark color is appropriate as long as it is subtle."

Another fashion trend for women is the bow tie, most effective with blouses that have a high neck. The silk tie adds a little zest to an otherwise plain blouse.

Although shoes add a finishing touch to a suit, they should always be conservative, according to Jean Pike, who teaches interviewing techniques at Schoolcraft college. Men should avoid the loafer type shoe, but rather stick to the wing-tip or lace-up style in a dark color.

With a variety of colors and styles to choose from in the women's shoe department, Pike limits the selection to the conservative pump style in a dark color.

Although appearance alone does not qualify a person for a job, its subtle impression makes a statement about the neatness and organization of a person.

"If you don't dress well, you don't perform well," said Terri Weed, in charge of employment at Manufacturer's Bank. "I don't mean dress expensive, just be appropriate and most importantly, be neat."

Qualifications being equal, an employer will hire the better or more appropriately dressed person over others interviewing for the same job.

"Sure, I have interviewed people who turned out to be very well-qualified for the job, but their appearance turned me off. I knew I might run into problems if I hired them," Weed said.

Weed also noted that when employers give benefits such as raises, they take appearance into account as well as performance, especially in fields that involve interaction with the public.

Keep Afloat With A Quality Boat From Wilson Marine

The Complete Boating Center in Livingston County

Ken Wilson is the driving force and his sons the expert navigators of Wilson Marine Corporation!

Have you ever thought about the fact that there are very few popular sports available, that bring the family together for enjoyable wholesome fun and total relaxation, as well as boating can! Luckily for the community Ken Wilson an expert in all facets of this venture still believes in the old adage "The family that spends time together stays together," and for this reason promotes boating as an excellent means for family outings.

Wilson Marine Corporation, a family owned business, founded by Ken Wilson forty years ago, is, by far, top of the line in the merchandise he offers, and in the manner he, his sons Rick, Ron and Randy, and the support staff of 20 expert technicians treat their customers in personalized sales and service.

Wilson Marine offers a broad spectrum of cruisers, run-a-bouts, fishing boats and pontoons with a range comparable to none. From Bayliner (the largest selling) to the prestigious Chris Craft and Century, to the aluminum Blue Fin fishing boats to the popular pontoons, Wilson Marine offers not only a complete selection for every boating need possible, but also exceptional personalized service.

Wilson Marine Corporation located at 6095 Grand River in Brighton is centrally located for a majority of surrounding communities and worth the approximate thirty minute scenic drive to see the outstanding showroom that houses exquisite boats and all types of boating paraphernalia. From life jackets, to fire extinguishers, line, cable, skis, and ski ropes as well as fishing chairs etc... If it has to do with boating it will be available at Wilson Marine.

Pictures and story supplied by Suzie Newberg

If you're contemplating boating as a novice you can experiment with the popular Bayliner, moderately priced from $4,500 for a beginner ski package to $8,000. Or purchase a beautiful cruiser or run-a-bout to try out this new experience and see how you like the sport.

As you advance in boating you see how you'll like the sport. There are the 17 to 19 foot run-a-bouts and cruisers that are extremely popular boats for families or otherwise (priced from $10,000 to $20,000).

Top of the line can go from $20,000 to $80,000 for an exceptional cruiser as well as off shore boats.

Whatever your preference you'll feel confident to know that boating is an investment with high return because the depreciation of a boat is exceptionally low and the life of a well groomed boat could exceed twenty years.

Financing is also very reasonable, you're looking at an approximate $10,000 loan that can be financed over a ten year period (with boating payments that can run as low as $100 per month).

When you purchase your boat at Wilson Marine you have many advantages. One is that the boat can be delivered to you. But the fact that they are located on Lake Chemung, gives you the option of taking it out for 45 minutes worth of instruction because as Mr. Wilson notes, "there is more to testing a boat than just seeing if the engine runs. You must also test the steering, the radio sound and the overall performance of the boat."

Do your fishing in a vessel of distinction...
Like this Bayliner Bass Boat

Century, Chris Craft, Bayliner too...
Whatever your pleasure we'll have it for you.

Also when picking up your new boat from Wilson Marine you can be sure of one that is spanking clean. (There are no surprises of sawdust or water underneath the seats).

When you pick up your boat from Wilson Marine, it's ready to be launched. Used boats are a very marketable item at this company and the average amount you'll spend is anywhere from $3,000 to $30,000 accompanied with a warranty. (Extended warranties are available on all new boats as well as many used boats for up to 5 years at a very reasonable cost).

Boating is an experience that in every aspect contributes to your increased enjoyment of life, so if you haven't tried it already or if you are ready for something new in boating, settle for only the experts at Wilson Marine Corporation.

DURA CLEAN by DRURY

Carpeting is the theme of practically every home. It brings out the very fine points in your furnishings, art and style.

It can also show off dirt and spots from traffic over it. The best way to have your home looking its best with carpet that is spotless and free of that tracked-in dirt, pop stain, or the family pet deposit is to call Duraclean by Drury.

Duraclean by Drury, located at 3552 Avon Road in the Hartland Professional Plaza, uses the Duraclean system to clean not only carpet but other home fabrics as well.

Lavon Drury, secretary and treasurer of Duraclean by Drury, swears by the carpet cleaning method saying, "It's the best way to clean a carpet."

Drury, with her husband James, president and vice-president of the company, came across the carpet cleaning business by accident.

Explained Mrs. Drury, "We cleaned two homes a few years ago and it didn't turn out so well. So we went out to find the best way to clean rugs and Duraclean was it."

The chance accident paid off with excellent customer response and a thriving business going into its fifth year.

Duraclean by Drury has a remarkable system. This is how it works: "First, Duraclean by Drury will come into your home with specialized equipment to detect dirt," states Drury. "Our specialized light and magnification equipment can detect dirt, spots, high traffic areas, and material snags. By doing this, we know the problem areas before we clean."

Next, Duraclean by Drury will combine its knowledge with its highly sophisticated equipment and formulas to give your carpet that just right look. "We use a highly aerated foam and an extractator that keeps the process self-contained in the machine," stated Drury.

Another good thing about this process is that if you needed a particular room that night, it would be dry, because the Duraclean method will not saturate your carpet.

The Duraclean method is so good that during an International Duraclean convention, the Drurys took fifth place out of 1,500 other Duraclean franchises. "We are really proud of ourselves," mentioned Drury.

As of now, Duraclean by Drury has two fully-equipped vans and one mobile unit. No rental equipment is available at this time.

Besides carpets, the Duraclean system will clean oriental rugs, draperies, fabric wallpaper and fabric furniture.

How safe is the Duraclean method? It was put to the test sometime ago when the Drurys cleaned a sheep. A sheep? That's right, a sheep, and he didn't even shed a tear.

Lavon Drury bases their success on organization saying, "Organization played a key role in the success of the company."

A few years back, the Drurys had to make a choice between having a sideline job, or going full force into a successful business. They chose the latter, and they say it proved to be a wise decision.

When Lavon was asked if being a husband and wife team played a role in the company's success, her smiling response was, "Yes, we thought about bringing in a third person at one time, but this has worked out fine."

Duraclean by Drury is open from 8 a.m. until 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday and is equipped with a 24-hour answering service.

So call 632-5685 to take that one step toward having a cleaner carpet. If you do, your next step will be on clean carpet.
