Jackson's new head is Jabe

By ANITA CRONE

John Jabe, the warden at Michigan's first regional prison, will become warden at the State Prison of Southeastern Michigan at Jackson May 2.

Deputy Warden Jimmy Stegall will serve as acting warden at Scott Regional Correctional Facility in Northville Township until a new warden can be named.

Jabe announced his decision to leave Scott for Jackson Monday during a community advisory meeting at the prison.

Jabe did not seek the job as Jackson warden, and said Tuesday he only made up his mind to accept the job in mid-March.

"The director (Robert Brown, Jr.) contacted me about the beginning of March and asked if I would be interested in becoming warden at Jackson. I made up my mind to accept the job the middle of March and told Scott staff my decision on Friday," he said.

Both Jabe and Brown said the recent homicide at Jackson had nothing to do with the decision to transfer Jabe to Jackson, the world's largest walled prison.

"I made up my mind to accept the job before the recent homicide, but that did not change my mind about accepting," Jabe said.

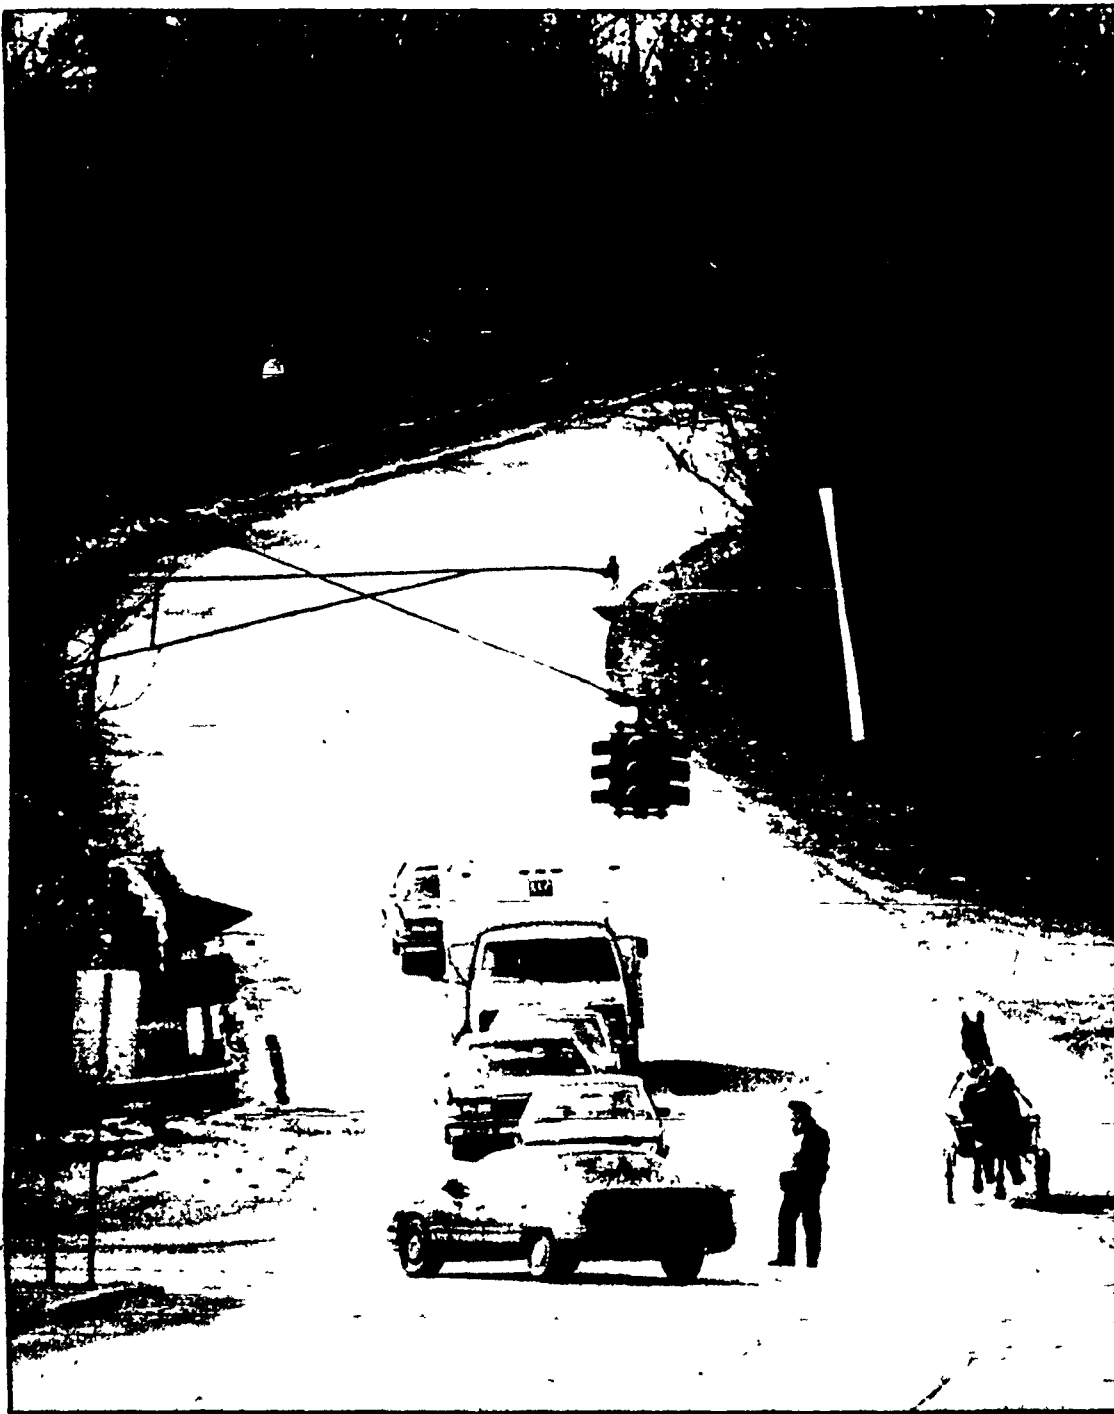

A probationary guard at Jackson was murdered while on duty at Jackson March 24. An inmate at the prison has been charged in the incident.

"The director expects me to go down there and do the best I can do," Jabe said. "That's what I expect to do."

Jabe is very familiar with Jackson. He began his career with the Michigan Department of Corrections as an engineer at Jackson where, he says, he walked every inch of every tunnel on the site. He served also as deputy warden there, and was warden at the Michigan Reformatory at Ionia before being named warden at Scott.

"In some ways, being named warden at Jackson will give me a chance to stroke my ego," Jabe says.

Season's end

The familiar sight on Seven Mile Road and Sheldon of horses crossing the road while cars wait for clearance will be just a memory for the summer and fall as Northville Downs' 1987 season officially ended Saturday. There was some good news and some bad news at the track. The bad news is that the evening handle was off 3 percent from a year ago; the total attendance was down 4 1/2 percent from 1986 and the total handle was down 6 percent from last year's record numbers. While Edward Draugelis, acting director of the meet, said the drop was anticipated with the opening of Sports Creek near Flint cutting into Northville's numbers, he said the good news is that track officials know how to compete and intend to do just that next year. In actual numbers, 1987's attendance was 266,758 and the handle was slightly more than $50 million.

Four petition for two seats in school race

By MICHELE M. FECHT

Three challengers and one incumbent will vie for two seats on the Northville Board of Education in the annual school election June 8.

Four residents returned petitions for the two posts by the 4 p.m. Monday deadline. Candidates have until 4 p.m. today to withdraw from the race.

Incumbent James Petrie is seeking re-election to his second full four-year term.

At least one of the three challengers will be elected to the board as longtime school board trustee Douglas Whitaker will not seek re-election in June.

The three candidates are Mark Cryderman, 206 W. Dunlap; John P. Kelly, 620 N. Center and Robert McMahon, 42029 Sunnydale. Carol Rahimi, 45742 Fernanough, also returned a petition but was disqualified because she did not return an affidavit of identity with her petition.

Rahimi said Tuesday the school board is her first attempt at running for public office and that she did not understand the affidavit was to be returned with the petition.

Though she will not be on the June 8 ballot, Rahimi could garner enough write-in votes to become a formidable challenger.

Petrie, who announced last month that he would seek a second term, is coordinator of computer management instruction for the Dearborn Public Schools. He currently is president of the Northville Colony Estates III Homeowners' Association and is the school board's representative to the Northville Recreation Commission.

He is former secretary of the board and is a member of the Wayne County Association of School Boards. He has three school-age children.

Mark Cryderman, a former Novi resident who moved to Northville in October 1986, said he is "very committed to strong education" and believes "Northville has one of the best school systems in the state." He said he would like to keep it that way.

A salesman for an automation equipment firm, Cryderman has four children in the school system — one at the high school and three at Meads Mill.

John P. Kelly also is a relative newcomer to Northville having moved here a little more than a year ago.

An attorney with Plunkett & Cooney, he said he is seeking a board seat because he wants to contribute.

"I want to get involved in my com-

Grandma helps with delivery

It's a rare grandmother who gets to see her grandson born today, much less act as midwife.

But that's exactly what Joan Downs of Northville did en route to Sinai Hospital with her son and expectant daughter-in-law on April 1.

"It probably was the highlight of my life," she says, recalling how Ryan, third child of Jim and Sheri Downs of Canton "couldn't wait" to be born.

The couple had asked Mrs. Downs to accompany them to the hospital about 10:30 p.m. and, as she says, "it was a good thing they did for he couldn't wait."

"I didn't panic," she adds, noting that she "kinda helped out" when she saw the little head.

Mom Sheri was very calm, and everything was "just great," Grandma Downs relates. The birth occurred on the Jeffreys just off Southfield. When they arrived at Sinai's emergency entrance, "doctors and nurses came out to the car," she says.

Ryan weighed five pounds, 12 ounces at birth. He joins a brother, Jamie, and sister, Kelly, at home.

Council pays half, loans half for move

Northville City Council Monday unanimously approved a $5,000 donation to the Northville Historical Society to help pay for moving the 1890s Cady Inn from its present location on Cady Street to the Mill Race Historical Village. In addition, it approved a $4,000 no-interest loan, with payment due in June 1988.

The house, a saltbox style building, was purchased by the city to make way for expansion of the Cady Street parking deck. When the historical nature of the building was discovered, the city opted to donate the structure to the society, with the understanding the society would move it to the village by July.

In March, the society approached the council, asking financial assistance for the move; however, with two council members, Carolann Ayers and John Buckland, absent, council postponed action until Monday night's meeting.

"After reading the minutes of the previous meeting, and with some discussion, I would not be opposed to investing the amount of money the city would pay to tear down the structure, and have the historical society come up with the rest," Ayers said.

"I'm for splitting the cost 50-50," Buckland added.

It was Mayor Paul Vernon who proposed the sharing of funds. "I would be in favor of underwriting the $5,000 cost and then loaning the historical society the additional funds, at very low or no interest," Vernon said. "I don't think, judging from the response the city had to the band

Presbyterian church presents 'Requiem'

The Chancel Choir of First Presbyterian Church will present John Rutter's "Requiem" on Maundy Thursday, April 16, as part of a Communion worship service in the sanctuary beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Music director Jeffrey Fowler will conduct the choir. Melanie Bennett will be soprano soloist.

Fowler notes that "many composers have written requiems over the centuries. This is one of the most recent being completed in 1986 by English composer Rutter.

"It is written in a contemporary melodic style, very reflective of its text."

"Requiem" will be performed by the choir as scored with organ, harp, cello, flute, oboe, glockenspiel and timpani. Texts for Rutter's "Requiem" are in both Latin and English and are taken from Psalm 130 and 23, Miss pro defunctis and the 1662 Book of Common Prayer.

"The music," Fowler notes, "expresses these well known Christian readings in a manner which is meaningful to us today."

The public is invited to the service that commemorates the Last Supper of Jesus Christ with his disciples.

shell, the tree guards and trees and the clock, that the community would have any trouble donating the remaining funds."

Historical society treasurer Steve Ball said his only concern about the loan was that the society might be more concerned with coming up with the money to repay the city, rather than working to renovate the inn.

President Martha Nield noted that the society already had received a $300 donation from a Quaker group, and Vernon promised he would turn over a $50 donation he received for performing a wedding in the Mill Race.

"But, here," he said, reaching for his pocket and handing Nield an additional $50. "Here's something to get you started."

NEWS BRIEFS

DEPARTMENT OF CORRECTIONS — Statements attributed to Trustee Richard Allen about the zoning for much of the county-owned property in Northville Township were incorrect. Allen noted that it would be a good idea to zone the wooded acreage R-1, one house per acre; however, the rest of the land should remain R-2 and R-3, a more dense zoning.

The motto of Ward Evangelical Presbyterian Church and the American Evangelical Presbyterian movement is 'In essentials, unity; in nonessentials, liberty; in all things, charity.'

THREE ARE CHOSEN — Mayor Paul Vernon named Bill Sliger, Laurie Marrs and David Jerome as the first three members of the city's development committee, charged with helping to attract business to Northville. All three committee members are township residents.

BUDGET WORKSHOP — The first of two scheduled work meetings to discuss the fiscal 1988 city budget will be held at 8 p.m. Tuesday, April 14, at the city council chambers. Second scheduled work session is Monday, April 27, also at 8 p.m.

DISTINGUISHED ALUMNI — Nominations for Northville High School's Distinguished Alumni Award will be accepted through tomorrow, April 10.

Any person may nominate a NHS graduate by submitting a letter that details the accomplishments of the nominee. All letters must be sent to Northville High School, Distinguished Alumni, 775 N. Center, Northville. Nominations should include a detailed list of contributions and accomplishments.

The nominations will be screened by a selection committee. It will be presented at commencement exercises on June 12.

ON THE MOVE — After retiring from Schoolcraft College, David Heinzman has assumed a new job as Dean of Continuing Education at Campbell University in Bales Creek, N.C., 40 miles south of Raleigh in year-round golfing country.

His wife, Kitty, has accepted a position of staff nurse at Good Hope Hospital in Erwin, N.C. They have purchased a home on two acres and plan to move from Northville in May.

ROAD GANG — County Executive Edward McNamara has found a use for county prisoners sentenced by district court judges to community service as an alternative to jail.

He wants to put them to work cleaning area freeways, and, in conjunction with that effort, is cracking down on people who litter.

Drivers or citizens who notice litterers are urged to call 224-3836 and report the license plate number of the vehicle from which litter is thrown.

Main-Center contract payoff late

A spokesperson for the Ten Grand Club and Kevin Callahan, developer of the Main Center project, agree on two things — the project is definitely viable and Callahan has not made the final payment on his land contract.

"The money was due and payable on March 28," said the Ten Grand spokesperson. "We have no choice but to begin foreclosure proceedings."

However, paperwork cannot be filed until April 20 and by then, Callahan said, he expects to have worked out an agreement with the sellers.

Callahan said he had requested a six month extension, however the Ten Grand Club offered only one month.

"If he had shown good faith efforts to get the project off the ground, I think we might have looked more favorably upon the request," the Ten Grand spokesperson said. He added that he would have considered it a good faith effort had the bowling alley, located on the site, been torn down.

Callahan countered that Equity Advance had committed to the project with a down payment of approximately $250,000. "I know the Ten Grand Club may be a bit skittish because the last purchasers of the property backed out after presenting grandiose plans for the corner, but I can tell you we are not going to throw away a quarter of a million dollars," he said.

Callahan added that in addition to money paid the sellers, Equity Advance has committed funds to Northville architect Walt Coponen to design the project, and has been meeting with officials from the City of Northville to discuss parking considerations.

As designed, the Main Center project would require more than 260 parking spots. Both Callahan and Steven Walters, city manager, said discussions about parking were ongoing.

"We are perfectly willing to pay our fair share for parking," Callahan said.

Commission questions delay land sale

By ANITA CRONE

It will be at least a week before the Wayne County Commission will see a recommendation from the county executive's office to hire the Lambrecht Company to market 1,040 acres of county-owned land in Northville Township.

At least that was the assessment of Arthur Carter, D-Detroit, the commission chairman.

"I have had the recommendation (to hire Lambrecht) on my desk since March 26, but I have some very serious questions which I need to have resolved before I bring the matter to the commission," Carter said.

He added that the recommendation also must go before the Economic Development Committee for review before it comes before the commission as a whole.

Former Northville Township

supervisor Susan J. Heintz, R-Northville, chairs the Economic Development Committee, and Carter said he has had some preliminary conversations with Heintz about the matter.

A four-person county committee comprised of Melvin "Butch" Hollowell, purchasing director; Gregory Pitoniak, Economic Development Corporation president; DeWitt Henry, director of development; and James Vollman, assistant county executive for the office of public services, chose the Lambrecht Company over Harold T. Stulberg/Capitol Equities of Southfield. Final awarding of the contract will be up to the full commission.

Heintz said Monday her committee will not meet until April 29, and she said she expects many of the questions to be resolved prior to that meeting.

"I have some very serious questions about the point system used to select the developer," Carter said, noting that figures provided by the committee indicated that Lambrecht was awarded slightly more than 43 points out of a possible 50 and Stulberg scored slightly more than 23 points.

"My questions included how the firms which received the request for proposals were selected, why very few returned proposals and how the points were allocated," Carter said.

He added that the commission is prohibited, by charter, from engaging in actual negotiations with firms, but, he said, the commission can and does interview firms which are slated to receive bids.

"We often call a firm which is going to receive a bid to come in for an interview in front of the entire commission," Carter said.

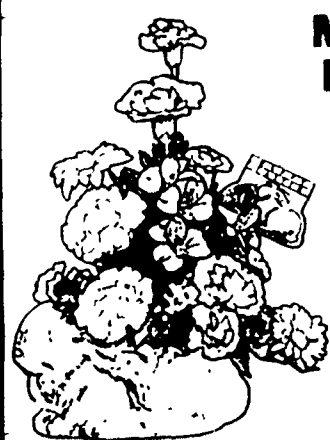

Heintz said she understood that an offer is being made to Charles Spera, project manager for Stulberg, to put in writing any concerns he might have about the project.

She noted that Wayne County always has indicated some interest in leasing county owned property, rather than offering it for sale.

"I'm very much opposed to a leasing arrangement," she said. "For one thing, if we lease the property, it is possible that the same situation would develop as has occurred with the proposed elderly village."

Developers of an elderly village encompassing about 50 acres had held a groundbreaking, but never brought any plans to fruition.

Carter said he was not necessarily opposed to a lease arrangement. "It's one way for the county to derive tax benefits, but not to lose control of the property," Carter said.

Township bows to pressure from Fairway III/Meadowbrook residents against water

By CHRISTOPHER J. KOZLOWSKI

Members of Northville Township Board of Trustees yielded to requests of Fairway III/Meadowbrook residents and agreed to reconsider plans to install a water system in the subdivision.

Several residents of the community — located between Seven Mile Road and Phillips Road, and between Fuller Woods and Fry Road — spoke out against a proposed $12 million assessment plan during a public hearing April 2.

Most residents disagreed with the township's assessment methodology, which assessed each resident $18.50 per front footage square and $1,463.10 per residential benefit. Combining assessments for both residents and area commercial property, assessments ranged from $2,622.07-$388,475.90. According to the proposal, the township would pay $50,000 to supply water to the subdivisions.

The current assessment is wrong because it is based on front footage — which has no relationship to the value of the property," said George Korody, who was assessed a $7,466 fee for his property located on Meadowbrook.

"Combining a residential area that already has water with an undeveloped parcel of land is wrong," he added.

"The people who want water should be allowed to have water," said Pat Coyne, a Pierson Street resident who was assessed an $11,504 fee. "But the people who don't want water — who now constitute a majority — shouldn't be forced into the district against their will. I wish you would reconsider your vote," he added.

Charles DeLand, a Meadowbrook resident and member of the township planning commission who was assessed an $8369 fee, said he was in favor of receiving township water services, but disagreed with the township's present fee assessment. He said two similar pieces of property on Meadowbrook were assigned fees of $9,600 and $2,600.

"A $7,000 differential for the same basic benefit is not really equitable," DeLand said.

Other residents disagreed with the project engineer's benefit calculations. Some said they were assigned, and charged for, multiple benefits when they say it would be impossible to construct another usable structure on their property.

Dimitrios Andrikides, who was assessed $9,701 in fees including $2,926 for two equivalent residential units, defied the township's estimation that a house could be built over a pond on his property.

"I have one of those ponds. I would like to see (the township) move my pond around so they could put a home on it," Andrikides said.

"If (the township) wants to put another home on my lot, (it) would have to put it on stilts in the middle of my pond," he added.

After hearing from several residents, trustee members questioned the fairness of the current assessment.

"When this first started I was under the impression that people wanted the water," said Trustee Donald Williams. "I have to question that now," he added.

"(But judging from the) difference of opinion of the people here, the whole thing will have to be reviewed," Williams said. "The people who want out, should be let out."

Trustee Richard Allen questioned the fairness of the assessment methodology, adding that all residents may be paying higher assessments to offset costs of the larger land owners.

"Someone is paying an awful lot for someone else," Allen said. "I agree with what you are saying," said Jack McNeely, township engineer. "But there is absolutely no way that you are going to come out with everybody equal," he added.

"It is naive of anybody to think that you can serve large lots, that are a great distance apart, for the same amount that you can serve a small one," McNeely said. "It just doesn't make sense. If someone can make a million bucks real quick. If you want water, you have to pay for it."

Engineering plans change, so does assessment for Gerald Ave. paving, sewers, water

Changes in plans for the proposed paving, drainage, sanitary sewer and water main along Gerald Avenue resulted in a postponement of part of the public hearing for the establishment of a special assessment district along the road. But the changes were detailed just prior to Monday's scheduled public hearing and more than 30 residents in the district got their chance to be heard anyway.

Jack McNeely, the township engineer, opened the public hearing by noting that assessments for three properties would be changed since those parcels did not need a reinforced concrete road required to serve the industrial needs of Doheny Drive.

He added that another hearing would be required, as would additional engineering study, before the proposed costs could be established.

"Costs for this project are lower than they might have been, since the City of Northville has allowed the use of approximately two acres of its Department of Public Works property for a retention basin, an act that otherwise would have left each individual property required to have its own retention basin," McNeely said.

He noted that the single basin compromise was good for everyone. "Developers can fully develop their sites, the township gets revenue from the total site development and the public does not have to view the individual retention basins," he said.

He added that the existing plans for the work on Gerald Avenue and Doheny Drive called for a nine-inch reinforced concrete road, under-drainage so the road will not break up with expansion and contraction.

"But as we got into the project, we realized that Doheny Drive to Silver Springs Road is not an industrial road and does not require the additional reinforcement," McNeely said.

He noted that he expected bids for the project to be received by May 4.

Although Supervisor Georgina Goss noted that no action would be taken following the public hearing, and that the additional information provided by the engineer would require another hearing to establish costs, a number of individuals noted their views on the district.

"We've been holding onto this piece of property (on Gerald Avenue) for 30 years. My father left it to me

PTA honors

The Northville PTA/PTSA Coordinating Council honored school volunteers, staff and parents at its Seventh Annual Founders' Day Banquet March 31 at Northville High School. Guests packed the high school cafeteria to honor recipients from each school building as well as two district honorees. Honored guests were Dr. Robert Mandell, Evelyn Zuener, Sharon Ferrara, Donna Viel, Vivian Henderhan, Sharon Rossow, Larry Rowland, Judy Shattuck, Margie Sievert, Bob Stover, Phillip

Fisher, Robert Sharrar, Marilyn Boland and Patricia Alexander. Guest speaker was Barbara Coloroso (above). Phillip Fisher (at right) was honored for his 33 years of "chain gang" work along the sidelines at NHS football games. The longtime volunteer and school supporter received a standing ovation from the crowd and a Booster jacket from the PTA. He also was given the first season pass to the 1987-88 NHS football season.

New writer joins staff at Record

You're seeing a new byline in this week's issue of The Record. It's Christopher J. Kozlowski, and he is the newest staff member on The Northville Record and Novi News.

An April 1986 graduate of Eastern Michigan University, Kozlowski was editor in chief of the campus newspaper, The Eastern Echo, at the time of his graduation.

He previously had served as news editor and copy editor of the newspaper. He also worked as a news writer at WEMU-FM and edited the station's monthly program guide.

A native of Detroit, Kozlowski is a graduate of Osborn High School. He is one of four brothers.

Kozlowski, who has been living in the Ann Arbor area while attending EMU, says his goal is to write "hard news" and he did just that in covering the township water assessment hearing for the Fairway Drive, Meadowbrook area last week. Eventually, he would like to become an editor.

Nurses' course offered

Schöolcraft College's Continuing Education Program is offering a seven week Registered Nurses' Refresher Course from May 4 to June 29 designed to help RN's maintain an up-to-date professionalism. It introduces students to current diagnostic studies, current management of patients with selected medical or surgical problems, new skills and equipment.

An information and orientation session will be held at 8 p.m. April 20. For registration and fee information call 591-6400 ext. 409.

An orientation session for Registered Nurses interested in a baccalaureate program in nursing will be held at Madonna College at 10 a.m. Saturday April 11, Room 267 on the campus at 196 and Levan Road in Livonia. For information call 591-5156.

Court finds against administrator

George Wiland, the 35th District court administrator for seven years, was fired last week by Chief Judge John E. MacDonald. Wiland was not available for comment, but MacDonald said the decision to let Wiland go was a joint one by the two 35th District Court judges.

"It was just a decision to make a change. There was no question of dishonesty or anything like that. Basically, there were some complaints from the citizens about rudeness and there were some questions about the way Mr. Wiland dealt with the employees of the court," MacDonald said.

As administrator, Wiland was charged with preparing the budget for the court, acted as magistrate when needed, and was in charge of personnel matters for the court.

Wiland was responsible for the day-to-day operation of the court, and was in large part responsible for returning hundreds of thousands of dollars annually to the five jurisdictions served by the court — Northville Township and the Wayne County portion of the City of Northville, Plymouth City and township and Canton Township.

Maurice Breen, supervisor of Plymouth Township and the chairman of the five member court advisory committee, noted that the committee was informed of the decision to fire Wiland last Thursday.

"Essentially the court administrator serves at the pleasure of the judges. He was hired by the judges and it was their decision to let him go," Breen said.

Ironically, Judge James Garber hired Wiland from Detroit Records Court seven years ago, and he has worked for Garber since Garber was elected to the 35th District Court.

MacDonald said he and Garber made the decision to let Wiland go. "Since I am the chief judge, it fell to me to tell Mr. Wiland," MacDonald said.

There was no word Monday about a replacement for Wiland, although MacDonald said the position of court administrator would be posted throughout the judicial system.

Township block grant funds disbursed

Even before Northville Township knew how much money it would be allocated through the community development block grant program, township officials allocated the funds it was provided from Wayne County.

Mary Beth Moss, research assistant, told the board of trustees there was some uncertainty over exactly how much money would be available through the program and provided two sets of figures — the first set based on how much money would be available if the federal program was left intact, the second based upon an anticipated 12½ percent reduction requested by President Reagan.

In late March, the township was notified it would receive the $75,979 allocation rather than $66,482.

Under the allocations approved during the March meeting of the trustees, $20,000 was provided to help qualifying low and moderate income persons meet their costs for special assessment districts, $2,500 was allocated to First Step, the domestic violence shelter, $7,500 for the senior citizen bus, $4,000 for senior citizen's telephone reinsurance program and up to $4,000 for postage, mailing and production costs of the senior citizen newsletter.

In addition, $15,000 was earmarked for administration costs, a move that raised a question from Richard Henningsen, township treasurer.

"We have never spent that much for administration," said Matthew Modrack, development director, "however, we are incurring higher costs directly related to the program. Any monies not used for administration can be diverted to planning projects."

An additional $7,979 has been earmarked for the planning projects, described as in-house studies, office equipment, including computers, or consultant activities.

The final $15,000 has been allocated for housing rehabilitation, providing low interest loans for seniors and handicapped persons to help them bring their homes up to code.

"Although the township's involvement in rehabilitation work has been somewhat limited, there still is demand for funds," Moss noted.

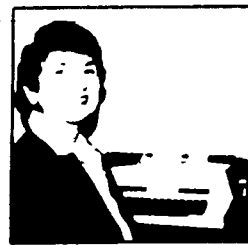

All projects funded through the block grant program must meet county eligibility standards and must be approved through CDBG committee.

During her tenure at Northville High School, Tina Stoecklin proved proficient at everything from Junior Achievement (she was the 1980-81 Junior Achievement Outstanding Businesswoman for Southeastern Michigan) to poetry (she was the first Northville High School student to earn first place honors in Wayne State's prestigious Manuscript Day competition winning a $7,700 scholarship).

In the four years since her graduation from NHS, the 21-year-old Kalamazoo College English major has been honing her writing skills (she's written part of a biography chronicling a Red Cross nurse's life during the Spanish Civil War), studying abroad (she's made two trips to Spain) and learning tower bell ringing.

With her course work completed and graduation only a few months away, Stoecklin should be contemplating her next move. However, any career plans she may have had will have to wait until she completes a year-long study of English tower bell ringing.

Stoecklin, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Stoecklin of North Center, is one of 80 students nationwide receiving a 1987 Watson Fellowship. A stipend of $11,000 will allow her to travel throughout England visiting bell towers and talking with change ringers.

"I'll sort of focus myself in specific areas where towers are concentrated," Stoecklin says, adding that London, Bath, Bristol and Dover are among the places she'll be visiting.

"I'd like to spend a month or a month and a half in each place so I'm not doing blind tower hopping," she adds.

The Watson Foundation program is best described as a Wanderjahr, allowing participants an opportunity to spend a year traveling and pursuing their interests. Watson Fellows are selected from the 45 of the nation's smaller, private colleges. Kalamazoo College is the only college in Michigan invited to nominate candidates for Watson Fellowships.

Other 1987 Watson Fellows will be pursuing interests in areas such as traditional paper making in Japan and the cross-cultural study of baseball in Japan, Cuba and the Dominican Republic. One student will even be composing an opera in Czechoslovakia.

Noting that the bell tower at Kalamazoo College was dedicated her freshman year, Stoecklin says

Ever wonder if there is acid rain your tap water? How about at the Ford plant on East Main or on the grounds at Maybury State Park?

Lisa Gordon, an eighth grader at Meads Mill, has the answers to these questions and much more. A first place winner in the 30th Annual Metropolitan Detroit Science and Engineering Fair, Lisa received recognition for her project "Detection and Prevention of Acid Rain."

There were nearly 3,000 exhibits—a record number—in this year's science fair co-sponsored by The Detroit News, the Engineering Society of Detroit, local industries, public utilities and others.

Lisa's project included a 39-page report and PH results on 18 different samples taken from various locations in Northville and other areas.

In addition to her first place ribbon, Lisa also received a certificate of recognition and a ribbon from the Michigan Chapter of the Air Pollution Control Association (East Central Section).

Lisa's first place honor will be presented at an awards convocation May 19.

By the way, after extensive research, Lisa concluded that acid rain has been detected in Northville. It isn't too bad, however. Just don't swim in Whitmore Lake.

Lisa Gordon explains her winning science project on acid rain.

Stoecklin embarks on year-long study

she just "walked into change ringing."

The Kalamazoo tower is one of only three in the Midwest and 30 nationwide, she explains. There are 5,000 bell towers in England.

Stoecklin is quick to point out that a bell tower is different from a carillon.

"The bells are rung by hand and swung in a full circle," she notes, adding that there are 6-12 bells in a tower with one ringer per bell.

"Each sequence is a change," she explains. "It's a constantly changing ribbon of sound."

Approximately 12-24 student change ringers work the tower each quarter, Stoecklin notes. The group rings for weddings, funerals, chapel services and such to support the upkeep of the tower.

Stoecklin is a member of the North American Guild of Change Ringers which plans to hold its annual convention in Kalamazoo this year.

"For me, it's a break from the studies," Stoecklin says of change ringing. "It keeps your mind really active."

Though she's rung handbells and played the piano, Stoecklin says neither is a prerequisite for change ringing.

"It's really very austere as music goes," she says. "You play the same eight notes over and over again."

As part of her study of English tower bell ringing, Stoecklin plans to write a layman's guide to the art. Noting that most of the guides on change ringing are very technical, she says she would like to "put something together that is more folkloric."

"I'd like to explain what it sounds like, what it feels like," she says. "In the nature of bells in general there is something very evocative. I would like to explore that a little bit, maybe searching bell references in literature."

Though she says she's made no plans beyond her 12-month tour of English bell towers, it stands to reason that by the end of her year-long stint Stoecklin will be well on her way to another adventure.

Middle school writers win essay competition

Three students from Meads Mill Middle School have been named local winners in the 18th annual America & Me Essay Contest, sponsored by Farm Bureau Insurance Group.

The three students, who earned the first, second and third place awards for their school, are Jeff Case, first; Rick Walters, second; and Jennifer Couzens, third. Jeff Case's name also will be engraved on a plaque for permanent display in the school.

Case's first place essay now advances to the state level competition, from which the top 10 essays in Michigan will be selected. The top 10 statewide winners, who will be announced in early May, will receive plaques and U.S. savings bonds ranging in value from $300 to $1,000. In addition, the top 10 essayists will be honored at a banquet in Lansing and at a meeting with Michigan's top governmental leaders in late May. A team of finalist judges that includes Gov. James Blanchard and Lt. Gov. Martha Griffiths will determine the top statewide winners.

Several thousand eighth grade students from more than 50 Michigan schools participated in the 1986-87 America & Me Essay Contest, which was conducted with the help of Farm Bureau Insurance agents across the state. The topic of the 1986-87 contest was "How I Can Contribute To America's Future."

Started in 1968 and open to all Michigan eighth grade students, the contest encourages Michigan youngsters to explore their roles in America's future. As sponsors of the contest, Farm Bureau Insurance Group has earned 11 national awards from the Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge.

Alternate resolution supports super sewer, WTUA

Both the Western Townships Utility Authority and the North Huron Valley/Rouge Valley sewer projects got a boost last week from the Wayne County Commission.

The North Huron Valley/Rouge Valley project, more commonly known as Super Sewer, got the commission support it needed to maintain its status as one of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources top-ranked projects for federal funding and the WTUA communities got the recognition they wanted from Wayne County under a compromise resolution offered by Commissioner Susan J. Heintz, R-Northville.

An original proposal, offered to the county commission committee on public services, asked the commissioners to approve the proposed facilities plan presented to the 10 communities remaining in the regional sewer one day prior to the scheduled public hearing.

In a letter to the assistant director of the county department of public works, Dave Vago, Heintz indicated she intended to offer a substitute resolution, suggesting the need for a resolution of cost allocations.

Vago responded that the county could not apply for any federal grant without signed service agreements from the involved communities, as well as a resolution of support from the county.

"The approval, funding and construction of this (North Huron Valley/Rouge Valley) project would have no bearing proposed by WTUA, either with respect to approvability by MDNR or with respect to their ability to obtain a federal grant," Vago responded.

"I am concerned over adding language to the resolution which might jeopardize the North Huron Valley project's position on the current priority list," he wrote.

Heintz, however, spearheaded the substitute resolution, which recognized the existing problem with the Rouge Valley interceptors and included a paragraph that noted the efforts by the Western Township

Utilities Authority to transport wastewater flows to Ypsilanti would reduce demands on the Wayne County system.

Her resolution indicated that the county believed the proposed project is necessary, providing that prior to construction, the cost allocations and capacity allocations were equitably negotiated with the participating communities.

Water project on hold

a resident of the affected area and assessed a $6,444 fee for his property, recommended the plan be sent back to the Water and Sewer Committee for re-evaluation. He suggested the committee consider engineering more than one special assessment district.

"So that if certain groups still want water," Handyside said, "they will be in a better position to evaluate their position and their costs."

"We are going to re-evaluate this district," said Georgina Goss, township supervisor. And because the meeting was a special open hearing, no action was taken by the board. Goss said residents will be advised of the date on which the trustees will take action on the plan, but declined to estimate when such a meeting would take place.

Solid waste disposal takes center stage

No sooner does the issue of liquid waste get an airing, than the question of solid waste takes center stage.

At a special meeting of the Conference of Western Wayne, representatives from 43 communities heard Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara warn that the county is facing a crisis over the depreciating availability of landfill space.

100 percent since 1982.

While the county executive acknowledged construction of the Detroit incinerator was proceeding on schedule, and would be completed by 1989, he noted that the incinerator would only be able to handle 45 percent of the county's anticipated solid waste.

"In November 1984, the county had 11 years capacity in its landfills," McNamara said. By January of 1986, we had six to seven years left. And today, there is five to six years. And the costs have increased between 50 and

"We can no longer rely on landfills to solve the problem of solid waste disposal, no matter how attractive the packaging is," McNamara conceded, noting that Riverview has created a ski resort with its landfill materials. "And finding a means to dispose of the solid waste is as essential to economic development as is water, sewers and roads."

Northville Township Supervisor Georgina Goss said McNamara's points were well taken, adding that it was probable once the issue of sewers was settled, the Western Townships Utility Authority would turn its attention to dealing with the landfill issue.

"Not to lessen the importance of solid waste disposal, until we have the contract ironed out with the Ypsilanti Community Utility Authority, we will focus our attention on sewers," Goss said.

WTUA, comprised of Northville, Plymouth and Canton townships, has reached agreement with YCUA to transport sewage to the Ypsilanti treatment plant.

Paul Vernon, Northville mayor, said he was pleased with the gathering and was looking forward to joining with other communities to resuscitate a dormant western Wayne county group to study the question of solid waste.

Vernon said he already had been in contact with other municipalities about meeting on the issue.

"We're well represented by the Conference of Western Wayne, and I see us working together to solve the problem," Vernon said.

Obituaries

Design executive Arthur Graham dies

Design firm executive Arthur H. Graham, a former Northville resident who recently moved to Novi, died March 31 in Harper Hospital after a seven-month fight with cancer. For 35 years he was the executive in charge of the Ford Motor Company account.

He displayed the first Mercury automobile for Ford, working with Exhibit Industry handling the Ford account and then with Exhibit Works.

During World War II, Mr. Graham, who was 70, was selected for 19 months of training to handle the first atomic bomb. This group loaded the bomb on the B-29 Enola Gay on the Island of Tinian.

Known as an "idea man," Mr. Graham's credits include displays for Ford at world fairs, Ford stockholder meetings, Ford Rotunda displays, Ford Board of Directors meetings and Lincoln-Mercury presentations. He had been Exhibit Works vice president of sales.

He was known at the Detroit Athletic Club for his stylish dress and his concern for others. He also was a member of the Round Table Club in Plymouth.

He was born Jan. 17, 1917.

He is survived by his wife, Diane, his daughter, Karen Sherrin; stepchildren Roland Redner and Diane Hyatt; and grandsons William and David Sherrin.

Funeral service was held at 2 p.m. Friday at O'Brien Chapel of the Ted C. Sullivan Funeral Home in Novi. Burial was in Rural Hill Cemetery in Northville.

FRED FOSTER VANATTA

Northville native Fred Foster VanAtta died March 29 in Wayne, Pa., at the age of 74.

A retired civil engineer, he had received his elementary through high school education in Northville and his engineering degree from Michigan State University in 1934. He was a member of Tau Beta Pi honorary engineering society.

During World War II, he served as a captain in the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and retired as a lieutenant colonel in the U.S. Army Reserves. He was a life member of the Northville Post 4012, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Mr. VanAtta also was a member of the Northville Historical Society. He was a Christian Scientist.

He was born in Northville July 26, 1912, to Fred E. and Gertrude VanAtta.

Mr. VanAtta was formerly married to the late Lois VanAtta.

In addition to his present wife, Margaret, he is survived by a son, Donald of Livonia, a daughter, Janet Gaynor of Dallas, three grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

A service was held April 1 in Ardmore, Pa., with a graveside service following April 6 at Rural Hill Cemetery with the Rev. Gerry Dykstra of Church of the Savior in Livonia officiating.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Alzheimer's Disease and Related Disorders Association, 821 Clifford Ave., Ardmore, Pa., 19003.

WILLIAM BLACK

A former South Lyon and Northville businessman, William Black, died March 28 at Mercy Hospital in San Diego, Calif. He was 79 years of age and had been hospitalized for six weeks. He was the father of Del Black, owner of Del's Shoes and Del's Department Store in Northville.

Mr. Black and his wife, Ruth, owned and operated Black's White House Restaurant in the South Lyon and Northville area from 1944 to 1958.

Born October 18, 1907, in Markethill, County Armagh, North Ireland, he was the son of Robert and Margaret (McClure) Black. Ruth Biery Stage became his wife Aug. 13, 1940. She survives.

Mr. Black retired as a golf course superintendent 12 years ago. He and his wife had traveled extensively and had published the "Gourmet Odyssey," a food-a-log travelogue. They celebrated their 40th anniversary in Ireland.

In addition to his wife, Mr. Black is survived by five sons, Albert of Long Beach, Calif.; Robert of Farmington Hills; Delbert of Northville; Hubert of Glen Ellyn, Ill.; and Gilbert of Rochester, Mich. Other survivors include one brother, Sam, in Ireland and 19 grandchildren and 15 great-grandchildren.

A memorial service will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday, April 12, at Phillips Funeral Home in South Lyon. Cremation has taken place.

JEAN M. HART

Jean M. Hart, 84, who moved to Northville in 1984 from Ferndale, died April 1 at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor after a long illness. She was 84.

Private funeral services were held April 4 at Ross B. Northrop and Son Funeral Home with the Rev. Mark Morningstar of the First Presbyterian Church of Plymouth officiating. Interment was in Woodlawn Cemetery in Detroit.

She leaves a niece, Judith Conlon of Northville, and a nephew, Robert Webber of Plymouth.

PETER MAGNAN

Northville resident Peter Magnan died Wednesday at his home on Northville Road.

Arrangements are being handled by Ross B. Northrop and Son Funeral Home.

NHS '67 and '77 grads celebrate reunions

Northville High School alumni of the classes of 1967 and 1977 are being sought for 20 and 10-year reunions. In addition, reunion committees of metropolitan area schools are seeking area graduates for get-togethers.

The NHS Class of 1967 reunion is set for 6:30 p.m. July 24 at the Holiday Inn at Six Mile and I-275. A buffet dinner, cash bar and dancing to the 1960s music of Rob Mason, DJ, are planned.

Alumni who have scrapbooks and pictures to loan for the evening and those who have addresses of classmates are asked to contact committee members Diane Crawford, 348-6245 or Mary Horsfall, 349-6653. Reservations at $30 a person should be sent to Pat Monson 7778 Ritz, Westland, 48185.

The NHS Class of 1977 reunion will be a dinner and open bar with a disc jockey July 18 at the Walled Lake Multi-Lakes Conservation Club. It will be the second get-together for the class.

Committee members are seeking addresses of alumni. Peggy (Sitar-ski) Barlow, 360-2818, or Corky (Powell) Griffin, 609-4937, may be contacted.

Cooley Class of 1947 graduates are being sought for a 40-year reunion. Kathleen Frede, 349-4854, may be contacted.

Chadsey Class of 1937 alumni, January and June graduates, will hold a 50-year reunion Sept. 27. Contact Stan Pady, 562-0992, or Ed Zajac, 565-1229.

Cass Tech Class of 1977 is planning a 10-year reunion weekend June 12-14. Festivities will include a Friday night reception, a dinner dance Saturday night at Cobo Hall and a picnic Sunday at Belle Isle. Tickets are $25 a person. Reservations may be made by calling 355-9472.

Dearborn High Class of 1967 will hold a 20-year class reunion Aug. 7 at the Holiday Inn, Ford Road and Southfield. Call 465-2277 or 263-6803 for information.

Lamaze classes offered

The Lamaze Childbirth Education Association of Livonia is offering a sibling preparation class for children of preschool age and older.

The first class will be held from 10:11:30 a.m. April 11 at Schoolcraft College in Livonia. The fee is $10.

The LCEA also is offering several series of lamaze classes beginning next month. Classes should be started two or three months before the baby's due date.

Weekday classes are 7-9:30 p.m.; Saturday classes are 9-11:30 a.m. Classes starting soon are:

Wednesday, April 29-June 3, Novi High School;

Thursday, May 14-June 18, Holy Cross Evangelical Lutheran Church, Livonia;

Saturday, May 30-July 11, Faith Community Presbyterian Church, Novi;

Wednesday, May 10-June 24, Harrison Elementary School, Garden City.

Classes offer information about pregnancy, labor, delivery, a childbirth film. Breathing techniques, relaxation exercises and comfort measures. Instructors are RNs and mothers themselves.

The fee is $45 per couple, $30 for refresher couples. LCEA is a non-profit organization, established in 1975.

For class information, call 592-8618.

Two brandish rifle in robbery

In the township . . .

ARMED ROBBERY. Township police are investigating an armed robbery that occurred Monday at the Gas N Go service station on Six Mile Road and Haggerty.

Investigating officers said two black males, approximately 17 years old, entered the station and demanded money. One of the youths was brandishing a shotgun.

Sgt. John Sherman and officers Michael Wildt and Raymond Garbarino were called to the scene immediately following the 9:58 p.m. incident. Their report stated both men were between 5-foot, 5-inches tall, 150 pounds, and of slight build.

One of the men was described as wearing a faded blue jean jacket and pants and a rifle. There was no description of the second subject's attire.

The two men escaped on foot around the south side of the building with approximately $165. The investigation has been turned over to the detective bureau.

SELLING TO MINORS: Two brothers from West Bloomfield, owners of the Northville Market on Five Mile Road, have been issued citations for selling alcohol to a minor and have been reported to the Michigan Liquor Control Commission.

In response to information received unofficially at the township police department, officer Len White said he was sitting in his patrol car across the street from the store when he said he noticed a young man, obviously under 21, enter the store and emerge 20 minutes later with one of the store owners, each of them carrying a brown paper bag.

White said he noticed a case of Budweiser beer sticking out of one of the bags and a wine cooler package sticking out of the other.

The store owner placed the bags in the trunk of a car, occupied by a minor female, then watched the minor male enter the car. At that time, according to the report, White arrested the store owners.

The owners of the store are scheduled to appear in 35th District Court May 7. The minors, later identified as two 16-year-olds, have not been charged.

BREAKING AND ENTERING Items worth more than $1,500 were reportedly stolen March 31 from a residence under construction on Fry Avenue, township police report.

Entry to the house apparently was gained by pulling away the plywood used to block off the front entrance. Taken from the site was an attic fan, door hardware, windows, a skylight and aluminum ladders.

A witness said she observed a truck leaving the site, but was unable to identify it. Police have no suspects, they report.

PURSE TAKEN: While dining at O'Sheehan's on Seven Mile Road, March 27, a woman noticed another woman pass her table three times. When the township woman reached for her purse, she discovered why.

The township woman's purse, containing cash, credit cards, keys, and personal items was missing. The next day, the woman received a telephone call from Livonia postal employees informing her that the credit cards had been found in a post office mail box.

Police have no suspects in custody.

ARSON AT WCCDC: A Northville Township post office employee on her way to work April 4, noticed a fire at the former Wayne County Child Development Center. She notified police at 4:37 a.m., and when they arrived, they noticed smoke coming from a building located across Beck Road from Township Fire Station No. 3.

Police have no estimate of damage, but the township report said the fire was confined to papers and rags at the one building.

AUTO PARTS STOLEN: The right front wheel and tire from a 1987 Mercury Sable were reported stolen April 4 from the car parked in front of a Ludlow Court residence.

The owner of the car said the vehicle was parked at 1 a.m. and by 8 a.m. the auto parts were missing.

Anyone can do it

Barbara O'Brien, chairperson of the township sesquicentennial commission shows how easy it is to enter the photography contest sponsored by the township and The Northville Record. Entries are being accepted at the Northville Area Chamber of Commerce office and the township civic center through noon, April 21. To enter, all you have to do is take a photo that exemplifies Northville, print it, follow the contest rules and take it to either dropoff point. The contest is limited to Northville residents or those who attend the Northville Public Schools. Each photographer may submit up to three entries and entries must be prints. Cash awards totalling $475 will be provided to the winners. O'Brien's photograph of Norman Shelley and his dog is not eligible.

Our Opinions

We lose, state gains

Johnny, we hardly knew ye

The words from the folk song are apropos regarding the promotion of Scott warden John Jabe to the southeastern Michigan prison at Jackson. Jabe has been in this area only since August, but he has left his mark not only upon the state's first regional prison, but upon the community as well.

It is difficult for anyone to walk in to a court suit where the municipality in which the institution you are scheduled to head is located and find oneself in the middle of litigation. But Jabe did that, charming not only the community, but the state as well.

He said, right from the start, there were no hard feelings. He had a job to do and intended to do it. Let others handle the litigation.

Jabe jumped right in, hiring a staff at the prison that reflected his professionalism and dedication to the regional prison concept. He chose well enough that there have been no complaints from either residents who live near the prison, or from law enforcement agencies who would be called upon to handle any disturbance on the site.

It is obvious that Northville Township is not the only entity to recognize that Jabe is something special. Obviously, the Michigan Department of Corrections thinks so too. Otherwise, they would not have chosen him to be warden at their first regional prison. Nor would they have offered him the job of warden at Jackson.

Jabe says he does not see himself as the state's troubleshooter. He insists that the offer to become warden at Jackson was made long before a guard was slain at the world's largest walled prison. While Jabe accepted the offer, it is important to note he did not solicit the position.

Just how well Jabe performed his mission at Scott has not yet been determined. The book will be written a year after the full complement of minimum, medium and close custody inmates have occupied the facility for at least a year.

And if, a year from now, the practices established by Jabe are still in place, and the problems are as scarce in that year as they have been in the past six months, then the community can thank John Jabe for that.

And if Jackson, historically the prison system's biggest headache is improved, the state can thank John Jabe for that, too. It would be selfish to stand in the way of Jabe's promotion. But this community, with three prisons within a block of each other, has earned the right to be selfish. It will miss John Jabe.

Right direction

Knowing our community's history of giving to civic projects, there is little doubt that Mayor Paul Vernon was right Monday night when he suggested that the $4,000 interest-free loan from the city to help move the Cady Street house to Mill Race Historical Village could be repaid with donations from residents and organizations.

The council's action in giving the $5,000 that demolishing the house would have cost was fair. Not to take action to preserve a part of the city's history would have been shortsighted. (Today only regret is heard that the city's opera house could not have been preserved. The brick opera house dating to about 1877 until 37 years ago stood at the southeast corner of Dunlap and Center streets.)

The Cady Inn, as it already is being called in view of its probable origins, will be a worthwhile addition to the village. In the future, it may serve as a setting for wedding receptions, as Northville Historical Society

President Martha Nield suggested at the council meeting last month. Such receptions no longer are permitted in the New School Church because of wear on the building and size limitations. To have a reception location in the village would expand its usefulness to the community.

The historical society, of course, had been hoping to have the move of the Cady Inn paid by the city, as nearly happened at the last council session, in order to use its available funds for the restoration. The society has invested trust funds to ensure in the future that the village can remain self-sustaining. This has not happened yet; those looking at what seem substantial funds of the society must also look to the future.

Given the council's decision, we hope and expect that preservation-minded groups will assist in repaying the loan so that the money will not have to come out of the society's funds, and also so that renovation work on the house will not have to wait.

Politics of absurdity

By Anita Crone

It isn't even election time, but already the politicians are beginning to look as if they are getting ready to stand for election and re-election — in other words, behaving in such a manner that, if they were in any other position, would make one question whether they should not be sent away for a very long rest cure.

In Northville, already jockeying is going on among current council members and citizens to determine who shall run for mayor and city council, even though the filing deadline is more than four months away.

In Northville Township, a vacancy on the board of trustees resulted in an outpouring of interest for the job, but less than one month after interviews to fill the vacancy, all but two of the candidates — Tom Handyside, who was selected trustee, and one other — have been conspicuous by their absence. David Rzyzi, who was interviewed but not selected trustee, apparently is making motions that indicate he might welcome a run for the office. And the township election is not until 1988.

In Novi, a bruhaha has developed over a subdivision newsletter containing an article written by a council member — an article that other members of the council maintain contained unsubstantiated and even incorrect information.

Since we live in a free country, it is within the right of each individual to develop a political base in whatever time frame he or she desires, we shouldn't get too excited about people jumping the gun. After all, in recent times, presidential candidates for each party are determined nearly one and a half years before the election.

However, I hope that the candidates or would-be candidates, will have compassion upon the poor voters. Since we now contribute annually to national campaigns through tax dollars, and since it is not yet rerun time for television series, I would like to propose a constitutional amendment that in effect would limit all campaigning to designated times prior to elections.

Any media which prints, publishes or airs a political statement earlier than six months prior to an election will be punished by having its staff forced to listen to recordings of the last three presidential campaigns, from start to finish.

Any candidate or would-be candidate who utters, publishes, airs, or causes to have uttered, published or aired a blatantly political statement shall be forced to officially begin campaigning one month after the first candidate has filed for election.

And overall, it should be ruled that no candidate shall officially begin a campaign prior to two months before the primary election for a local (city council, township board) vote, three months before the general election for a state vote (governor, state rep., state sen.) and one year before the national election (president, congress, etc.)

Candidates who violate such rules shall be punished accordingly. And a special election watch commission shall be established to ensure the rules are followed.

That way, the public will not become bored with the candidates, the issues and the election, in general, and the candidates will be left with some money in their campaign chests.

The only people who will lose are political junkies. They can read Theodore White books while the rest of us are watching reruns on television.

After the Fact

By Phil Jerome

I wasn't sure at first glance, so I looked again — harder.

Sure enough, it was true. My grass is growing. Maybe — just maybe — I might have to get out the old lawnmower and give it a good trim this weekend.

And while the thought of having to mow the lawn may not be welcomed by everybody, I confess that I look forward to it.

If you would have told me when I was a kid that the day would come when I would relish the thought of having to mow the lawn, I would have looked at you as if you were crazy.

But it's true. I really do enjoy jumping on the old tractor and tooling around the yard... making sure my lawn looks nicer than my neighbor's lawn — which it always does.

About the only thing I like better than my good-looking lawn is my trees. Over the past 30 years, we've planted better than 30 trees, and some of them are getting to be pretty tall.

I know this because I measure them regularly — sometimes once a week. Walk around the yard Sunday night and measure the growth of the trees by standing against them.

There was a time when I was taller than all the trees we planted. Now, some of them are two and three times as tall as I am.

Except for the Acer Maple, of course. That little tree has heart. I received it as a present five years ago because I admired Acer Maples. Unfortunately, we planted it too early and a late frost got it and almost destroyed it.

By the time we trimmed off all the dead wood at the top, the tree was so short we had to tie a ribbon on the top branch so I could see it over the grass when I mowed the lawn.

But even the Acer Maple is doing well. I measured it this morning and am proud to report the tree is almost up to my chin. Ah, spring. I love it.

Readers Speak

Rezoning opposed

To the Editor:

As lifelong residents of Northville, we have never felt the need to write to the editor, and up until now, we have not voiced our opinion on this subject.

We own the adjoining property next to lot 553-A at 124 Randolph Street.

Now, after very serious thought and consideration for the neighbors and ourselves, all of whom take pride in their homes and have spent a great amount of money to improve and beautify their homes (all of which helps to make Northville what it is today), we have decided that the rezoning of this property is not in the best interest of the community as a whole.

The lots with their beautiful old trees and stream are the homes of many forms of wildlife — not long ago a white-tailed deer came running through.

We are opposed to taking any of the Historic District and turning it into a business.

What a loss to re-zone this property.

Sincerely,
Bud and Marguerite Hartner

Wall raises concerns

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is a copy sent to The Record of a letter dated April 3 and sent to Township Supervisor Georgina Goss and township boards and commissions.

Dear Ms Goss:

The Lakes of Northville Homeowners' Association is requesting that a meeting be promptly arranged by the township with Peter Ventura, the developer of the property located at Six Mile and Winchester, in an attempt to avoid the unfortunate result that has occurred subsequent to construction of the Colonial Office Plaza. It is our hope to mitigate any such problems while the project is still in the inception and the design stage, rather than to attempt costly modifications after the fact.

If the developer and the homeowners are able to mutually express concerns and resolve any potential items of controversy, we should be able to build a harmonious, ongoing relationship between the residential and commercial neighbors, and ultimately benefit the township.

We appreciate your help and concern in this matter.

Sincerely,
Robert Bechtel

Action demanded

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is a copy sent to The Record of a letter dated March 24 sent to Township Supervisor Troy Milligan, township officials and LoPiccolo Homes.

Dear Troy Milligan:

I have contacted you by phone more than 30 times since you have refused LoPiccolo Homes as to the incorrect grade of my home at 42178 Waterfall. I have agreed to the building of a retaining wall by LoPiccolo Homes to correct the erosion problem caused by the incorrect grading, but as of today no action has been started by LoPiccolo Homes to build the retaining wall; nor has your department taken action to resolve this situation.

LoPiccolo Homes continues to build homes and receive permits from you for the subdivision next to my home, but does not correct the grade problem on my lot; which has prevented me from sodding and caused much dirt erosion to both the front and back of my property. Spring will bring more water and erosion in a few weeks causing more problems. Since it will be going on one year since you cited LoPiccolo Homes and no actions have been taken, I would like to meet with you and Ms. Georgina Goss, township supervisor, along with my lawyer and a reporter to find out why you have not made any progress in resolving this problem for both my family and the neighbors in my subdivision who are living with this mess.

Yours,
Charles Almone

In a letter of agreement Nov. 5, 1986, signed by LoPiccolo Homes president Salvatore Lo Piccolo and Charles Almone it was agreed that if the retaining wall was not completed before Nov. 21, 1986, LoPiccolo would be responsible for regrading in the spring of 1987.

District costs changed

and I kind of liked him and liked the idea," said Marvin Norton of Royal Oak. "but if this assessment goes through, it would hurt the family and I can't afford it and I may have to give the land to the church."

The property was assessed at $2,846.28.

Philip Ogilvie, an attorney representing Reef Manufacturing, said his client had no frontage on Gerald and, as such, should not be assessed for frontage.

"My client uses Seven Mile Road for its entrance and exit. The paving of Gerald Avenue is of no benefit to my client and the Supreme Court has ruled that if no benefit is derived from an assessment, there should be no charge," he said.

Jack Doheny and James Belanger both spoke in favor of the project, noting that the pavement is desperately needed.

"We recognize the need for paving," Doheny said. "We paved Doheny Drive because we wanted a clean road. Right now, you can't even drive on Gerald Avenue because it isn't paved."

Touch Tone marriage

By Michele M. Fecht

Marriage by telephone answering machine. After nearly three years of marital bliss, we've found this contraption is an absolute necessity to keeping open the lines of communication.

I realize most people use these machines to tape messages. We use it to relay messages to one another. Such things as estimated time of arrival from work, reminders to pick up a congratulations card for a friend's new baby (we usually get around to this about the time the kid enters preschool) and various terms of endearment shared among married couples who occasionally divide a frozen pizza on a rare night at home — together.

I used to hate phone answering machines. That was before I was on the receiving end. Now I can't stand it when I hit the "play" button and hear nothing but the click of the receiver. I'm sure the caller feels likewise. It's annoying to talk to a machine.

Nevertheless, when I'm stuck at the office on important business and can't get home to put the coq au vin in the oven, it's nice to be able to just call home to relay the temperature and timer setting. Oh, and remember to pull the foil off the tin container.

The arrangement has worked out particularly nice for Steve. The push button telephones at his office allow him to punch in a number to play back the messages at home. Aren't the wonders of technology astounding? My rotary dial phone, however, does not offer me the luxury of calling home for messages from creditors, magazine and insurance solicitors and other assorted annoyances. I just have to wait until I'm home to play back the messages.

Seeing that little red button flashing on the telephone can be as thrilling as getting the mail and finding more in it than just coupons and bills. It could be a call from an old college roommate, an invitation to brunch, perhaps a message from Publisher's Clearinghouse Okay, so more often than not it's my mother.

As gadgets go, answering machines now are routine. They rate right up there with microwaves. No longer novelty items, they've been pushed aside by VCRs, compact disk players, personal computers and cellular telephones.

Just look at wedding registries. The hand mixers, electric percolators and hi-fis of my mother's generation have been replaced by food processors, espresso makers and home entertainment systems.

While I see little use for gadgets such as an automatic coffee grinder (I have yet to use the seven electric woks we received as wedding gifts), I'm convinced that marriage by telephone answering machine can be a saving grace. Now if I could only remember to turn the thing on.

Scott warden takes top post at Jackson

"I know there are problems there — there always have been and there always will be. But if I can lessen those problems and solve some of them, I'll know I've done what I set out to do."

Being named warden at Jackson has also allowed Jabe to reach the second of the goals he set out for himself when he joined the corrections department upon graduation from the University of Michigan in 1962.

"I always wanted to open a prison and to be warden at Jackson," he said. "Now, I've achieved both goals."

Jabe, a soft spoken individual who is a firm believer in adhering to the rules he establishes, says he is not deluding himself into thinking he will have an easy time at Jackson. But he admits, he didn't have the easiest time at Scott, either.

When he was named warden at Scott, Northville township was suing the Michigan Department of Corrections over the department's announced plans to double-bunk prisoners at the regional prison prototype.

Jabe was named warden and immediately found himself a defendant in that suit.

The fallout from Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Charles Farmer's ruling in favor of the township is still being felt. Although Scott was designed to house minimum, medium and close security inmates at a single site, only minimum and medium security inmates are housed at the prison.

"I think I might have wanted to stay another six months or a year — long enough to implement the department's goals at Scott, and for the close security inmates to arrive. I would have wanted to see the regional prison concept in operation," Jabe said.

However, with the retirement of Jackson warden Dale Foltz, announced by Foltz Feb. 28, Jabe didn't have the opportunity.

"When the director offered the Jackson job, I had to make the decision then," Jabe said. Once he decided to leave Scott, there was no looking back.

Jabe said he hopes to retire from Jackson and is looking forward to the next "five or six years" there. "I want to minimize litigation there, cut down on assaults and see the impact I can make there," he says.

He has already made an impact at Scott, an impact the community of Northville is well aware of.

"Since Scott has opened, there have been zero complaints about that prison," said Northville Township Supervisor Georgina Goss. "When there are zero complaints about a prison, even from the facility's closest neighbors, you know something right is happening there."

Jabe says he has no doubts that Stegall will be able to carry out the mission of Scott and he said he hopes the rest of the staff will give Stegall the same support he has received.

reasons we've been able to implement the mission. Without their cooperation, Scott would have been just another prison, although a newer one," Jabe said.

While he would accept little of the credit for Scott's success, he did note, when pressured, that he has received letters from prisoners confined to other state institutions, requesting his intercession in getting them transferred to Scott.

"I couldn't do that," he said, but he was pleased with the efforts.

He admits it won't be that easy at Jackson. "It's a bigger job, a bigger challenge, and a bigger facility," he says.

Jackson has 5,500 inmates and a staff of 2,000, including guards, teachers, administration. That's nearly 10 times the people Jabe has overseen at Scott.

"Except for the fact Jackson is bigger, I expect to be able to follow the recommendations of the department there, just as I have done at Scott," Jabe said.

Four candidates vie for two seats on board munity," he said. "The education system should be the primary emphasis in the community."

He is the father of three small children not yet in the school system.

Robert McMahon is making his second bid for a school board post. He was one of three candidates vying for two posts in last year's race.

He said he is making a second bid for the board because he believes "in the importance of quality education."

"Education represents the largest expenditure of local tax money," he noted. "It is important that citizens have input into the education process."

A Northville resident since 1978, McMahon is community and economic development manager of SEMCOG.

He currently serves on the district's citizen/staff advisory committee for K-12 gifted programming and is vice-chair of the Northville Youth Assistance Advisory Council.

He also chairs the substance abuse task force for United Community Services — Wayne Division.

He has two children, one at Winchester, the other at Meads Mill.

Carol Rahimi, the mother of four children (one in college, the other three at the high school, middle school and elementary), has been an active volunteer in the schools and community since moving to Northville eight years ago.

"I guess I feel I've been involved enough in the schools and community to make an input," she said. "My concern also is that we need women on the board. Women bring a different dimension to the board." There currently are two women on the seven-member board.

This past year, Rahimi has sponsored both the middle school and high school cheerleaders and served as president of the PTA Council.

She was a member of the district's energy management task force and the middle school curriculum committee. She also is a member of the Athletic Boosters, Northville branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association and the Northville Mothers' Club.

TIPS FROM TUCKKLAPER

Novi Dental Center

A. Allen Tuckklaper D.D.S.

WHY A "TEMPORARY" FILLING?

Have you ever had your dentist tell you he was using a "temporary filling" and wondered why? No, my friend, it is not a ploy so he can get a second crack at you. This is a perfectly proper dental procedure.

It is referred to as "indirect capping" and is used in cases where the nerve (or pulp) would be exposed if all the decay were removed from the cavity. Regarded as a conservative treatment, the application of medicated cement in the temporary filling helps the pulp of the tooth to repair itself by containing the decay and allowing the buildup of a wall of tooth structure between the pulp and the decayed material.

This is a "holding action." When your dentist removes the temporary filling, he may take an X-ray to determine if the pulp has healed. If so, the balance of the decay is removed, and a permanent restoration or filling can be placed in the tooth.

In summary, your dentist is trying to keep your tooth alive, avoiding the need for a root canal filling, pulp capping or extraction of the tooth.

Dean and Julie Rottermond run separate businesses out of the same shop in Milford

Pizzaz combines jewelry, fashion

By LISA BUKES

Family businesses have been commonplace throughout history — one family, one business.

But in today's society, jeweler Dean Rottermond and his wife, Julie, a fashion retailer, find that one family can run two separate businesses and do it all under one roof.

When Dean's highly successful Pizzaz jewelry store outgrew its original 5,000 square-foot shop at the Village Center Mall in downtown Milford, Julie decided it was time to relocate her Farmington Hills-based Painted Egos boutique as well.

She thought Milford would be a good location, especially after the enormous response she received during her participation as a merchant in Milford's 1986 summer sidewalk sale.

As a result, the two businesses moved down the street to the new Allen's Center, but did not technically merge.

"We share the rent," quipped Julie of their new 20,000 square-foot quarters. She adds that everything in the store is kept separate — from the accounting books to the selling space on the floor.

"People sometimes get confused when they come in to buy a ring, then see a pair of shoes they like as well and find out they have to write two separate checks," said Dean.

The Livonia couple, who have been married 2½ years, did all the major interior construction themselves, aside from some electrical wiring. For four months they labored, sometimes working until 1 or 3 a.m.

"Basically, we built it from scratch," recalled Dean.

The store's contemporary look of rounded display cases and cool lavender color schemes reflects Julie's fondness for art deco. "Julie designed it all. She has great taste," Dean said.

Decorating was completed by Dec. 1, 1986, and the new combined location opened in grand style with a black-tie and champagne celebration for nearly 200 guests.

Both Pizzaz and Painted Egos are discount operations which offer 20-60 percent off retail prices daily on all merchandise, as well as special sales.

Pizzaz offers loose diamonds and gems at low rates and sells gold chain by weight.

Painted Egos stocks women's shoes and clothing by designers such as Evan Picone and Liz Claiborne, as

Business Briefs

DOUGLAS TEUBERT, FIC, of Northville has earned membership in Lutheran Brotherhood's 1986 Top Club. The Top Club is the fraternal benefit society's most prestigious sales honor with less than five percent of all Lutheran Brotherhood representatives qualifying for the award in 1986.

Representatives qualify for membership based on sales of insurance and investment products to Lutherans. Lutheran Brotherhood and its subsidiaries offer life and health insurance, annuities and mutual funds.

Teubert is associated with Lutheran Brotherhood's Karl Mueller Agency in Rochester.

Lutheran Brotherhood has over $18 billion in life insurance in force and more than $5 billion in assets under management. In 1986, the Society allocated nearly $28 million to its fraternal programs in support of its members, their communities and Lutheran activities.

WOODLAND MEDICAL CENTER is celebrating the first anniversary of its merger with the Detroit Medical Center (DMC).

Woodland with over 70 physicians in 35 specialty areas has expanded its services throughout 1986 as a result of its access to state-of-the-art medical and physician resources at Wayne State University School of Medicine and the Detroit Medical Center's teaching hospitals.

In April, Woodland will expand its physician referral service telephone line to include its DMC sister facility, Memorial Medical. The consolidation will allow new patients access to over 100 physicians serving communities as far west as Canton and Brighton and as far east as Mount Clemens and St. Clair Shores.

In the early fall, Woodland will open its fourth center in a campus-like center in Southfield that houses other DMC arms such as Children's Hospital and Harper Hospital.

TWO MILFORD RESIDENTS have been named to Real Estate One's 1986 President's Council of Excellence (PCE) and therefore qualified for a four-day all-expense paid trip to the Camelback Inn — a four star resort in Scottsdale, Ariz.

Eleanor Martin and Charlene Merritt, both sales associates at the company's Milford office, were among more than 160 people from Real Estate One who traveled to the premier resort two weeks ago.

The PCE is comprised of the top producing sales associates in the company, all of whom achieved at least $1.1 million in total listing volume or $2.2 million in total sales volume during 1986.

Merritt qualified for the trip by achieving over $1.1 million in total listing volume, as well as sales over $1.6 million. Martin posted sales of over $3.6 million.

These same people also were part of a group which picked up over $2 million in bonuses that Real Estate One paid out to its sales associates for their 1986 production.

Richard Elsea, president of Real Estate One, said the company was able to award these trips and bonuses because of its record sales year. Total gross sales volume for 1986 was over $1 billion.

'Make sure you claim all deductions'

You may be paying too much in taxes. Many taxpayers miss out on certain deductions because they aren't aware of them.

However, there are certain steps you should take before preparing your income tax return which, according to the Michigan Association of CPAs, can save you money.

There are five simple steps every taxpayer should go through to make sure they are taking the deductions they are entitled to. These steps include:

- Determining whether or not to itemize
- Accurately calculating your charitable deductions
- Adding up your miscellaneous business expenses
- Checking to see if you qualify for income averaging
- Considering the benefits of professional tax preparation

The first step taxpayers should take is to calculate whether they will save more money by itemizing their deductions — charitable contributions, medical expenses, interest expense, state and local sales taxes and real estate taxes — or by using the zero bracket amount.

Single individuals with deductions totaling more than $2,400, married couples filing jointly with deductions of more than $3,670 and married individuals filing separately with deductions of more than $1,835 should itemize their deductions to cut their tax bills.

Money Management

Taxpayers with fewer deductions will still benefit from an income reduction called the zero bracket amount. The zero bracket amount is equal to the minimum amounts used to calculate whether or not you should itemize. These minimum amounts are built into the tax tables so you automatically receive the reduction when you compute your taxes.

This leads us to the next step. Taxpayers should accurately calculate their charitable contributions. Most people know if they give money to charity, they can take a full deduction whether or not they itemize. But, did you give more than money?

If you have given clothes to a thrift store or furniture to a bazaar, you may qualify for an additional deduction. On the other end of the spectrum, don't forget the little, incidental expenses incurred for your charity. If you held a meeting in your house, you can deduct the cost of refreshments. If you mailed important letters to charitable organizations, don't forget the cost of the stationery and postage. And, if you travel to and from a charitable event or meeting, you can deduct the cost of mass transportation or 12 cents per mile for driving. Tolls and parking fees can also be deducted.

One word of caution. Before you start adding up your contributions, make sure all the organizations you gave to are tax-exempt.

A third step towards saving taxes is to add up all your miscellaneous business expenses. Did you take a class last year to improve your job skills? As long as it was necessary to maintain and improve your current job skills and does not qualify you for a new trade or business, you can generally deduct the full cost. In your calculations, you can also deduct the cost of traveling from work to class.

Many people need to keep abreast of all the new issues affecting their particular careers. Subscriptions to periodicals and trade publications are also tax deductible. And there's more.

Did you look for a new job in your field last year? If so, you can take a deduction for your job-hunting expenses even if you did not take a new job. This includes the cost of preparing resumes, phone calls, mailings, traveling to and from interviews and fees for employment agencies and career counselors. Keep in mind most deductions for miscellaneous business expenses may be more limited in 1987.

Now take a look at your income. Did it increase significantly over the previous year? If so, and if your salary also increased markedly over the past three years, you may want to consider income averaging. A fourth step in saving tax dollars is to calculate whether you are eligible to file Schedule G for income averaging.

First, figure your taxes for 1986 as if you were not going to average your income. Next, review your returns for 1983, 1984 and 1985 and total your taxable income for those three years. Figure your average taxable income for those three years, then multiply by 140 percent. If your 1986 taxable income exceeds this figure by more than $3,000, you may benefit from income averaging.

Certain taxpayers are automatically ineligible for income averaging. In most cases, non-resident aliens or previously supported taxpayers, such as recent graduates, are included in this group. Keep in mind income averaging will not be available after this year because of the new tax law.

Finally, if you have been overwhelmed by all the information on income tax preparation, consider having your tax returns prepared professionally. By having a CPA or other tax professional do it, you will learn a great deal about income tax preparation and be more assured of getting all the tax breaks you are entitled to.

Professional staff shortages hit medical field

Maintaining adequate numbers of health care professionals in order to continue providing the high quality services Michigan residents are accustomed to is becoming increasingly difficult for many Michigan hospitals, according to the Michigan Hospital Association.

Shortages in certain health care professions, the general condition of the economy, expanding career options for women in fields others than traditionally female-dominated careers such as nursing, and a number of other factors all contribute to the situation, according to the association.

Articles that address these issues in detail are featured in the March issue of "Michigan Hospitals," the association's monthly magazine.

Topics covered include the reasons for the shortages and possible solutions, a new emphasis on the value of human resources in health care, predictions on the physician supply in Michigan and arguments for and against the licensure of certain health care professions.

Copies of the magazine may be obtained by contacting Maryanne Butt, editor, of the Michigan Hospital Association at (517) 323-3443.

Milford couple shares store to operate separate businesses

well as fashion accessories

"All our merchandise is top quality, not closeout items that some stores carry," said Julie.

"A lot of customers can't believe our prices," she continued. "They keep asking, 'Are you sure?' when they see the price tags."

One customer asked her three times if a two-piece top and skirt set was really only $24.99 before purchasing it.

"It's sad, but it seems like residents of smaller communities like Milford get ripped off when they think the only place to find items like we have are at the malls. That's where the highest prices tend to be," Julie said.

"A lot of times you end up paying for the name of the store," she added, noting an incident where her friend paid $85 for a pair of Evan Picone red pumps at Hudson's and later found the identical shoes at Painted Egos for $25.99.

"People sometimes get confused when they come in to buy a ring, then see a pair of shoes they like as well and find out they have to write two separate checks."

— Dean Rottermond

Dean, 27, has been in the jewelry business 12 years, starting out with Shifrin Willens. He opened Pizzaz on Dec. 1, 1984.

"I saw Milford as a great location to start a new business," said Dean, whose store was the first retail operation in the Village Mall.

At the onset, Pizzaz offered about 70 percent gold and 30 percent "45 fashion pieces," said Dean. Since then, he has shifted his stock to gold and gem stones because he saw a change in what his customers wanted and followed it.

"When I decided to move, I also wanted to expand my services to meet customer needs, particularly in watch and jewelry repair, and custom work such as settings, soldering and original designs," Dean explained.

Custom-designed jewelry is Pizzaz's specialty. Customers can come up with their own ideas or leave it up to Dean. Average costs for such items include a $100 design fee plus the cost of the materials to construct it. Custom pieces are usually completed within three weeks.

A good part of Painted Egos merchandise is devoted to quality designer leather shoes. "I felt there was a dire need of a shoe store," explained Julie, who confessed to having her own footwear fetish.

"This is the first store in this area to stock designers at a discount," she claimed.

Most items stocked at Painted Egos are what Julie, 29, feels to be a combination of her personal tastes and what she thinks will sell.

"I try not to get anything too outrageous, but at the same time I like to educate the customers of what is available without offending them," she said.

"But I do have to keep unique items on hand to keep the store from getting boring," she added.

To find these unique items, Julie makes buying trips to New York about once every two months. There, she says, she is able to obtain the best buys on designer items from New York City to California, and from overseas locations such as Paris, London, Italy, Brazil and Spain.

"We're an international boutique. I buy from wherever I find things that are new and exciting," she explained. "I saw and loved a red, snake and python suit and coat but refrained from buying it because I didn't think it would sell here — yet! It's only a matter of time, though. Milford is booming," she said.

Painted Egos also carries a small line of men's shoes. Julie anticipates that by summer she will carry a full line of men's casual footwear and clothing.

Both businesses also offer specialty services separate from the daily services. Pizzaz hosts periodic gem shows to help customers acquaint themselves with what is available in the market.

A half-million dollar exhibit of every kind of gem imaginable is brought into the store, and customers are taken by appointment or as walk-ins to review them.

"It's like having 10 gem stores in one shop at one time," said Dean.

Color analysis by area resident Beverly Golden is conducted through Painted Egos each Saturday by appointment. Customers are critiqued on everything from what make-up shades suit their skin tone best to which colors of clothing are most flattering.

"I think educating customers on matters like what looks good and what feels good is an important part of this business," said Julie.

"I even help them in shoe sizes and styles. Many women think they are stuck in one size or style and are unaware of the options available, or how to overcompensate for certain things," she explained.

Repair work is also a service offered by the husband-and-wife retail team. While most jewelry repair is done on site at Pizzaz, Dean also has commissioned a professional watchmaker to assist in the work.

Julie's restoration services at Painted Egos include shoe and leather repair, fur and leather cleaning, and dyeing.

WE WANT YOUR TIRE AND SERVICE BUSINESS

Homeowners should take advantage of special tax benefits

Owning a home is an expensive proposition in today's economy. But remember, a house is more than a home in many instances — it is an investment. The Michigan Association of CPAs wants to share some tax tips with homeowners to help them make the most of their investment when filing 1986 tax returns.

Specific tax deductions which may be available to homeowners include mortgage points, home equity loan interest and Real Estate taxes. These can save tax dollars for many homeowners if they meet specific criteria.

Mortgage points may be deductible on your tax return. If, in 1986 you paid points on a loan to buy your principal residence, not an additional home, you may be able to take a full deduction on your tax return. To qualify for this deduction you must meet three criteria:

The loan must be secured on your principal residence. Points must be a common practice in your geographical area.

The points you paid cannot exceed the average fees for loans in your area.

If you refinanced your home or if you purchased a second home, you may be able to take a partial deduction. In this case, each point is equal to one percent of the amount borrowed and is usually amortized (gradually deducted) over the life of the mortgage.

For example, if you secured a 30-year mortgage each point is deductible to the extent of one-third of the fee paid in 1986. Depending on the amount borrowed and the number of points paid, this can add up.

All homeowners are eligible for the mortgage interest deduction. When you take out a mortgage, your monthly payments may include principal payments, interest, fire insurance and taxes. Of that payment, interest and taxes are deductible. At the end of the year, your bank will send you a statement of precisely how much interest and taxes were paid over the year. Don't forget to deduct this interest and taxes on your tax return.

Did you sell your house in 1986? If so, you may also have elected to pay off your mortgage. If you did and were charged a pre-payment penalty, the good news is that it is totally deductible on your tax return. However, if within two years you bought a new home which was less than the cost of selling your other home, you will have to pay taxes on any realized capital gains.

The cost of any home improvements you made in 1986 can be used to reduce the gain. If you're over 55 and meet certain requirements, you can elect to exclude up to $125,000 of the gain.

Another deduction available to homeowners is for the interest paid on a home equity loan in 1986. Based on the market value for your home after subtracting what you own through any outstanding mortgages, this money can be used to finance anything. After August 16, 1986, you cannot deduct interest on loan amounts exceeding the original cost of your house plus any improvements, except for medical and educational purposes.

Depending on your personal financial situation, these and other deductions could save you a substantial amount on your tax bill. If you need more information on deductions available to homeowners, contact a CPA.

Tornado!

Education's key when storm hits

By CHRISTOPHER J. KOZLOWSKI
staff writer

Education, knowing how to react, and communication, knowing when to react, are the keys to surviving one of nature's most devastating and deadly assaults, according to a National Weather Service (NWS) expert.

The month of April is the start of tornado season in the United States as most twisters each year occur between April and July. As Michigan sits on the border of "Tornado Alley," it is especially important for state residents to be prepared in case disaster strikes, according to Marty Kaufman, deputy meteorologist at Detroit Metropolitan Airport.

According to State Police statistics, 230 Michigan residents have been killed by tornadoes since 1950 — ranking Michigan third in the U.S. in tornado-caused fatalities. According to Kaufman, fewer lives would be lost if people better knew how to react to tornado emergencies.

"People must know what to do when they are alerted of danger," Kaufman said. "They have to take it seriously."

"The first thing to know, anytime, is what are you going to do if you are notified of danger (For instance), if you live in a mobile home, do you know where to go?"

"Knowing what is going on and what to do about it is what it is all about," he added.

Kaufman said this time of year is conducive for tornadoes because of extreme contrasts in weather conditions. He cited last week's snowy, sunny, warm and cold weather as an obvious example.

"This time of year the contrast is tremendous," he said.

Atmospheric conditions required for the formation of tornadoes are basically the same as those for severe thunderstorms — namely, great vertical instability of air near the ground, high humidity and the horizontal convergence of winds at low levels followed by uplift in the storm.

Both thunderstorms and tornadoes are associated with tropical air that moves north or northeast into central North America and clashes with cooler, drier air moving from the north.

By being aware of how a tornado is formed and what to look out for, Kaufman said people would better be able to prepare themselves for emergencies.

After realizing the potential for a tornado exists, Kaufman said more people need to be aware of the significance of two NWS alerts, tornado watches and tornado warnings.

Tornado watches, generally issued to a county-wide region, inform the public that conditions are ripe for the formation

Local groups set emergency plans

The best way to survive the devastating effects of a tornado is to be prepared. And two local organizations are doing their best to make sure they are ready in case of an emergency.

The Novi Community School District recently received a new comprehensive disaster program for each of its educational facilities, and members of the Northville Township Police Department are engaged in on-going consultation with State Police to prepare themselves during times of emergency.

According to John Swallow, director of special services for the Novi schools, the district last month received a comprehensive plan, which outlines emergency procedures for each building in the district.

Just in time for the start of tornado season, Swallow said the 40-page plan details emergency plans for the first time in one comprehensive form.

Swallow said the new emergency action plan outlines procedures for practice drills, identifies emergency shelter areas in each of the district's buildings, and lists the responsibility of all school personnel during times of emergency.

Although the plan offers no significant changes over existing disaster preparedness policies, Swallow said this is the first time a comprehensive guide has been created for the entire district.

"I do not think there has been tremendous (policy) change," Swallow said. "I think really it is just an identification and substantiation of what we have always been doing."

"Prior to this time we had individual plans at each building, whereas currently we are organized to the point where if somebody calls (with emergency questions) we can answer their questions more specifically."

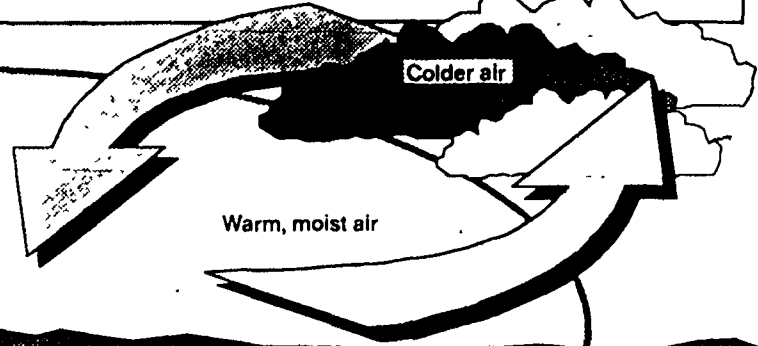

"We have got everybody included from secretaries to school custodians in terms of job responsibilities and assigned duties during emergency situations."

Northville Township police Lt. Gary Batzloff said he and Reserve Officer James Schrot are working with state officials to prepare police officers in handling disaster situations.

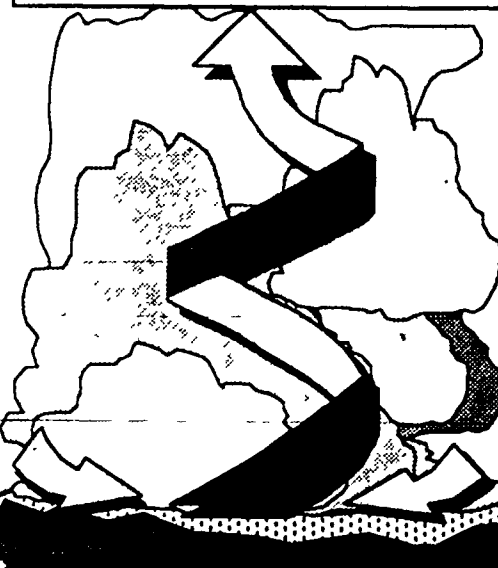

Batzloff said the primary responsibility of police during a tornado sighting is to track the movement of the funnel cloud and communicate warnings via the National Weather Service (NWS). In addition, in the event that the tornado causes great damage or personal injuries, he said the police help to coordinate medical assistance and secure damaged property.

In order to escape harm, Batzloff said community residents should be alert for hazardous weather conditions and take tornado watches and warnings seriously. He said it would be a good idea for residents to consider purchasing radio scanners to monitor NWS weather alerts and always to be conscious of an emergency plan of action.

1 Tornadoes begin when colder air is trapped over warm, moist air. As the warm air rises and the cold sinks, an 'overturn' is started and an updraft created, pulling more air into the storm.

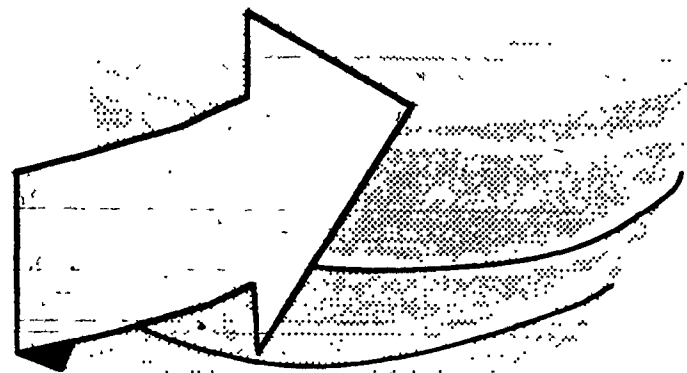

2 with the right wind movement, the air inside the storm starts to spiral in a counter-clockwise motion, pulling more air from the surface and pushing it upward.

3 ...and a tornado is born.

Most tornadoes travel at 30 miles per hour, but some have reached 70 miles per hour. Wind speeds range from under 100 to near 300 miles per hour.

Tornadoes can fill the air with dust and generate enough force to splinter houses and throw automobiles through the air.

Air moves counter-clockwise

Tornadoes generally travel in a northeasterly direction

Some tornadoes have cut paths 26 miles long but most, 60%, are usually on the ground for just 10 minutes and travel five miles.

Dispelling myths about tornadoes

State and local experts believe the best way to survive tornado disasters is to be well informed and prepared. The following are facts characteristic of most tornadoes:

- Tornadoes can occur anytime of the day or night and in almost any month of the year. Most tornadoes occur between April and July and commonly occur in the late afternoon and evening hours from 3-7 p.m.
- The greatest frequency of tornadoes occurs during temperatures between 70-75 degrees with relative high humidities.
- Tornadoes develop from dark thunderstorm-like clouds, and research has shown that many occur toward the end of the cloud.
- A tornado watch is issued whenever weather conditions exist for severe weather to develop.
- A tornado warning is issued by the National Weather Service whenever a tornado has been sighted or strongly indicated by radar.

□ Even under ideal notification conditions, a tornado may be on the ground for seven minutes before commercial radio or TV could begin to warn the population.

□ Because of limitations agencies have in alerting the public, State Police officials urge all residents to know the danger signs of tornado weather. County governments across the state offer training sessions for residents interested in becoming tornado spotters.

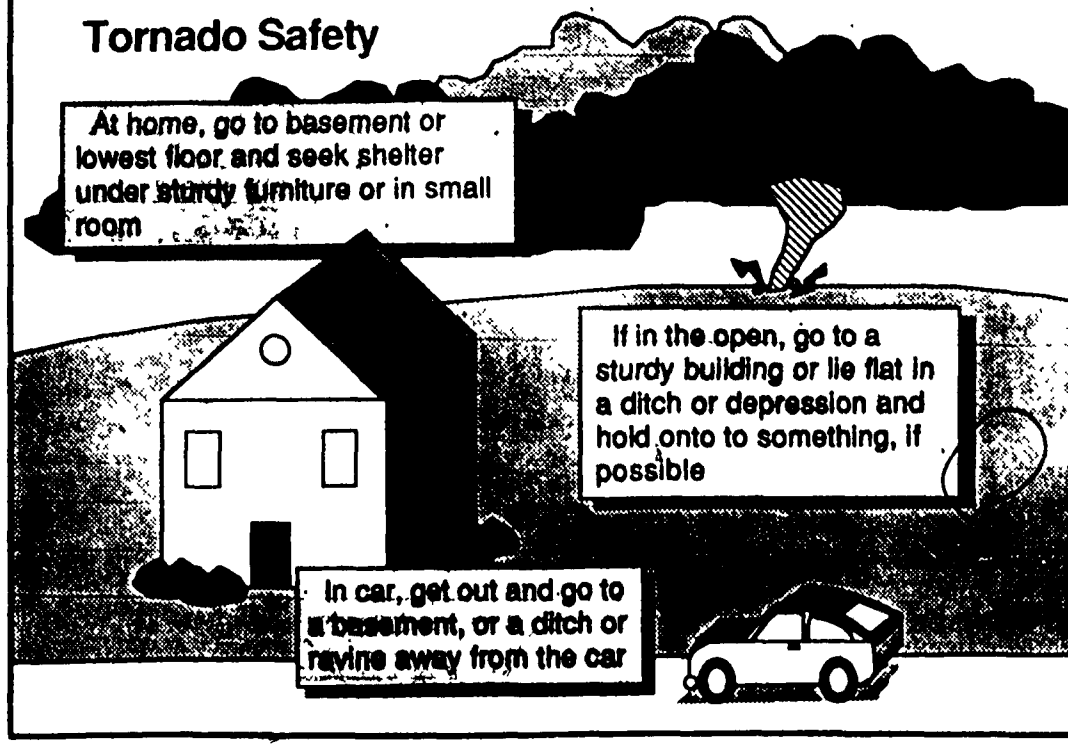

Oakland County's program, called Skywarn, consists of one free two-hour training session. The classes are offered every year during the month of March. For information concerning the program contact the county's Emergency Management Services office at 856-5300.

Tornado Safety

At home, go to basement or lowest floor and seek shelter under sturdy furniture or in small room.

If in the open, go to a sturdy building or lie flat in a ditch or depression and hold onto to something, if possible.

In car, get out and go to a basement, or a ditch or ravine away from the car.

In Our Town

'Art in Public Places' benefits all

By JEAN DAY

"Art in Public Places" is the newest project of the Northville Arts Commission. Through it, the commission is hoping to offer an opportunity for all local artists to have their work on display in the community's business places.

The first such exhibit already is in place and on view. Host facility is the M-Care Health Center of the University of Michigan at 650 Griswold.

Original works by Martha Barnes, Henry Caroselli, Caroline Dunphy, Jane Martin, Kathryn Peltier, Lynn Paquette and Susan Young are part of the center's continuing exhibit. Commissioner Jacquelyn Murray reports that plans also are under way to include works by local students in the center's pediatric section.

She adds that the invitation to local artists, through the arts commission, was initiated by Karen Moore, staff member at M-Care, who recognized an opportunity to beautify the center and promote community involvement. When M-Care offered a free screening last month, more than 600 visitors to the center viewed the art works. The center invites the public to drop by to see the artists' work.

Now, the Northville Arts Commission, under the direction of Steve Wilson, is planning to expand the project. Local businesses who would like to participate in Art in Public Places should call Wilson at 348-8468.

Come, meet and dine with the Easter Bunny

Area preschoolers and their parents will be able to have lunch with the Easter Bunny at four lunches being sponsored by the Northville Recreation Department next week. Lunch times are 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. on Tuesday and Thursday, April 14 and 16.

Cost is $3 for a preschooler (and $3 per adult) with the fee including a Big Bunny Lunch with bunny buns, rabbit sticks and dessert. Lunch for parents will be a salad luncheon catered by Crawfords'. In addition to having a visit with Easter Bunny, each little participant will take home a craft project.

Register for the bunny luncheon with the recreation department at 349-0203.

Preschoolers, and youngsters up to 10 years old, also are invited to visit with the Easter Bunny at the Easter Egg Hunts sponsored by the Novi Jaycees and the Novi Parks and Recreation Department at 9:30 and 10:30 a.m. Saturday at the Novi High School Commons and grounds. Call the parks and recreation department at 349-1976 for more information.

Northville Jaycees' annual Easter Egg Hunt will be held April 18 in Cass Benton Park.

Cottontail visits also are available for preschoolers in an annual visit of Mr. Cottontail at the YWCA of Western Wayne County, 26279 Michigan Avenue. Visits are from 9:30-11 a.m. and from 1-2:30 p.m. Friday. Make reservations by calling 561-4110.

Magical wonders of the Birmingham Clown 007 Ken Bond and his group, craft sessions, a snack and treat from Mr. Cottontail are included in the $1.85 charge for each preschooler. Moms are guests.

AAUW to hear DIA talk

Betty Doran will speak on "From Elba to Damascus" at the April meeting of the Northville Branch of the American Association of University Women at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Winchester Elementary School library.

The speaker has been a gallery aide at the Detroit Institute of Arts since 1974 and has been a researcher, writer and lecturer for its speakers bureau since 1976. Her talk will tie in with the current exhibit at the DIA.

She studied at Eastern Michigan University and the University of Michigan before receiving a bachelor of arts degree in English, speech and education from Wayne State University. She later received a master of arts degree in English education from Wayne State. She also studied art at the Kunsthistorische Museum in Vienna, the Louvre in Paris and the Galleria Uffizi in Florence.

She participated in forensic competition in college and since graduation has judged and coached many forensic activities. She has had brief careers in radio acting and writing and in public relations.

The public is invited to attend the April 14 meeting. Women who would like more information about joining the AAUW may call Joyce Liddle, membership chairperson, 348-2416.

Youth musical's Sunday

The Junior and Senior High Youth of First United Methodist Church of Northville will present their annual musical at both the 9:30 and 11 a.m. services this Sunday.

This year's program is "On the Rock," a contemporary Christian musical by Walt Harrah. It presents a story of "Kingdom Living based on the Sermon on the Mount" portraying the crucifixion and resurrection of Christ. The 52 young people in the program will participate in a variety of musical styles and songs, as well as narration, choreography and instrumentation.

A new musical has been presented each year for 13 years at the Northville Methodist church under the guidance and direction of Gary and Stacey Becker.

After the Palm Sunday presentation, the performers will take the musical to churches in Indianapolis, Chesaning and other churches in the area. The musical will be presented again in the Northville Methodist church on Mother's Day, May 10.

Gabor slated at town hall

Eva Gabor, whose successful career as actress and comedienne encompasses all phases of show business, will conclude Northville Town Hall's 26th season with her lecture at 11 a.m. next Thursday, April 16, at the Sheraton Oaks in Novi.

She has worked in the legitimate stage, motion pictures, television and has made many personal appearances.

She also is a businesswoman heading Eva Gabor International, the world's largest wig company, as chairman of the board.

The actress is remembered for her starring role in the record-breaking six-year run of the "Green Acres" television show.

Her motion pictures include "Gigi," "Artists and Models," "The Last Time I Saw Paris" and many others.

Tickets for the 1987-88 Northville Town Hall series will go on sale at the lecture.

Families welcome babies

Dennis and Sheri Janer of 40892 Knightsford Rd. announce the birth of their first child, Brittany Lauren, March 7 at the New Life Center at Providence Hospital in Southfield. The baby weighed six pounds, seven ounces at birth.

Grandparents are Edward and Dolores Janer of Riverview and Wayne and Janet Nelson of Northville.

Maternal great grandparents are Melena Jagusch, Felix and Kathleen Berti. Helen Sczycka is the paternal great grandmother.

Recent births of three grandchildren have brought the total of grandchildren to nine for Robert and Delores Assenmacher, 25-year residents of Northville.

Lisa Beth Kvalvaag was born April 1 in Molda, Norway, to Ola and Kathy Kvalvaag of Torvikbukt, Norway. The baby's mother is the former Kathy Assenmacher. Lisa Beth weighed six pounds, three ounces at birth.

She joins a brother, Lars Joseph, 5, and a sister, Lena Katrine, 3, at home.

Terry and Karen Lemieux of 8661 Napier became parents of a daughter, Grace Terri, March 4 at Oakwood Hospital in Dearborn. The baby weighed five pounds, 15 ounces at birth. Her mother is the former Karen Assenmacher.

Welcoming the new baby at home are Claire Lynn, 5, and Blake Armand, 4. Paternal grandmother is Margaret Lemieux.

Luke Edward Frutig was born to Edward and Kelly Frutig of Lake Orion Oct. 18 at Ford Hospital in Detroit. He weighed seven pounds, 13 ounces at birth. His mother is the former Kelly Assenmacher.

Luke joins a sister, Rachel Joy, 2, at home. Paternal grandparents are Edward and Dorothy Frutig.

MR. AND MRS. PETER H. PRICE

MR. AND MRS. STEVEN KOZERSKI

Newlyweds living in Belgium

Cynthia Colovas, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William Colovas of Cotswold Court, came home to be married to Peter H. Price at Sts. Constantine and Helen Greek Orthodox Church in Westland.

She was assistant director of medical records department at Scottish Rite Crippled Children's Hospital in Dallas.

The bridegroom is the son of the Rev. and Mrs. Wayne Price of Portsmouth, N.H.

Rev. Fr. James Stathakios performed the double ring, candlelight ceremony Dec. 27. Topiary trees with greens and white carnations adorned the church aisle. Candelabra were lighted by the couple's brothers, Stephen Colovas and Dr. Mark Price.

The bride wore an ivory Alencon lace sheath gown by Demetrios for Illissa with pearl and crystal beading. It was styled with a Sabrina neckline, Gibson Girl sleeves and a satin cathedral train. A beaded headpiece held the bride's full, cathedral veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses, stephanotis, white cymbidium orchids centered with garlands of pearls and a white orchid.

Constantine Carson sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "The Wedding

Song." Viola Peponis was organist. The Sts. Constantine and Helen Choir, directed by George Paptis, sang responses to the traditional Greek Orthodox ceremony. The Rev. Wayne Price pronounced the couple husband and wife and gave them his blessings.

Stephanis Colovas of Dallas was her sister's maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Ruth Price of Pennsylvania and Denise Colovas, sisters of the couple, Christina Colovas of Parma, Ohio, and Stacy McIntyre of Houston, cousins of the bride. They wore twilight blue moire taffeta tea length gowns by Bianchi and carried cascade bouquets.

Michael and Melissa Livanos were ring bearer and flower girl.

Dr. Mark Price was best man for his brother Dr. and Mrs. Anesti Veletos of Houston, godparents of the bride, served as koumpare and exchanged the rings and waxed, flowered crowns the couple wore throughout the ceremony.

Ushers were Stephen Colovas of Washington, D.C., brother of the bride, Rick Buckingham of San Francisco, Douglas Dixon and Louis Dow of Portsmouth.

A dinner reception was held at the Livonia Holiday ballroom for more than 250 guests. Dr. James Tsoucaris, master of ceremonies, read a letter from President and Mrs. Reagan to the newlyweds conveyed by the bride's brother, a member of the White House staff.

Special guests included the bride's grandmothers, Stella Demetre of Houston and Chris Colovas of Dearborn, Marie Galanos, Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Petheriot and family, all of Houston, and the bridegroom's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Thomas, both 96, of Baltimore.

Wedding guests received the traditional "koofta" favors of sugar-coated almonds.

The bride is a graduate of Medical University of South Carolina with a B.S. degree. The bridegroom is a graduate of Middlebury College in Vermont and has been teaching in Portsmouth. He is on leave of absence and is teaching at St. John's International School in Waterloo, Belgium, where the couple will be living for two years. They left for Europe following a reception in Portsmouth given by his parents Jan. 3.

A bridal shower at the Chamberlin Restaurant in Dearborn was hosted by Christine Carson, Catherine Sellas and Ann Tsoucaris.

St. Martin trip follows wedding

Lisa Ann Friel, daughter of Beverly and James Friel of North Hills Drive, became the bride of Steven Martin Kozerski of Plymouth at Our Lady of Good Counsel Church in Plymouth.

The bridegroom is the son of Ted and Jane Kozerski of Farmington Hills.

Father George Kowalski was the officiant at the ceremony which included special readings by the bride's brothers, James, John and Chris Friel.

The bride's gown of white satin was styled with a high neckline and long sleeves. The skirt extended into a train. Hand sewn beads adorned the lace bodice.

Cala lilies and greens formed the bridal bouquet.

Rita Adams was matron of honor for her sister. Bridesmaids were Danna and Kris Kozerski, sisters of the bridegroom, Beverly Kohl, Trisha Alberts and Susan Engstrom. They wore tea length white gowns with lace overlay and dropped waistlines that had been designed by the bride. Their bouquets were of purple iris and baby's-breath.

Ted Kozerski was best man for his brother. Ushers were Brian Friel, brother of the bride, Don and Tim Kozerski, brothers of the bridegroom, Tom MacKinnon and Bill Romero.

A reception followed at the Mayflower Meeting House in Plymouth for 250 guests.

The bride is a 1981 graduate of Northwood Institute and is employed as an account representative for Evan Picone Inc. The bridegroom is a 1979 graduate of Michigan State University and is a sales representative for Grinnell Corp.

After a wedding trip to St. Martin, the newlyweds are living in Plymouth.

Announcement of the engagement of Janine Leigh Groom to James William Kerry is made by her mother, Janet Groom of 9414 W. Seven Mile.

The bride-elect also is the daughter of the late Thomas Groom. Her fiancé is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Kerry of Palmdale, Calif., and Mr. and Mrs. James H. Booth of 46675 W. Seven Mile.

The bride-elect is a graduate of South Lyon High School and is a data entry operator with General Fasteners. Her fiancé is a graduate of Grand Blanc High School and is attending Schoolcraft College. He is in industrial machine repair.

A May 23 wedding date has been set.

Mrs. Thomas Willey of 523 W. Dunlap announces the engagement of her daughter, Dawn Michele Roberts, to Mark Frederick Bostwick of 216 Fairbrook.

The bride-elect also is the daughter of David M. Roberts of Arlington, Wash. Her fiancé is the son of Jack Bostwick of Westland and Donna Bostwick of Westland.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Churchill High School in Livonia and a 1986 graduate of Schoolcraft College. She is executive secretary to the president at Hot Melt.

Her fiancé is a 1981 graduate of Garden City West High School and is employed with Bostwick and Son Inc., in masonry work.

They have set a May wedding date.

Residents should be aware that it's season for tornadoes

of a tornado, according to Kaufman.

Tornado warnings, on the other hand, are issued when a funnel cloud has actually been cited.

Warnings are issued when danger is present, and people should seek emergency shelter immediately without hesitation, Kaufman said.

If you are inside a building when a warning is issued, Kaufman said you should seek shelter in the middle of the structure on the lowest possible floor. He said gymnasiums, auditoriums and indoor swimming pools are frequently built without a self-supporting roof and are not safe areas in which to seek emergency shelter.

When seeking shelter indoors, Kaufman said it is important to stay away from windows and watch out for objects blown about the room by high winds.

If you are outdoors when a tornado strikes, Kaufman said it is important to take cover at the lowest point on ground level—in a ditch or valley. He said a tornado's forceful energy is weakest at ground level and intensifies with altitude.

Although tornadoes vary in intensity, Kaufman said in most extreme cases funnel clouds raging between 216-318 mph can launch automobile-sized missiles more than 300 feet into the air.

Tornadoes of this magnitude, which he said are classified as ones causing "incredible damage," can debark trees and lift and disintegrate houses.

Early losses behind, kickers bounce back

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

Following a disastrous beginning to the season, the Northville girls' soccer squad needed a solid performance in the second week of play to get back on the winning track — and that's exactly what happened.

The Mustangs evened their season record to 2-2 with an exciting 2-0 triumph over Livonia Franklin on April 3 and a 13-0 clobbering of Walled Lake Central the following day. The two wins were important, but, according to Northville Coach Stan Smalec, he was just happy to see better passing on offense and good execution on defense. Those two aspects were sometimes lacking in early season defeats to Plymouth Salem and Livonia Churchill.

"Our intensity level has been moved up quite a bit," Smalec said. "This week was a great confidence builder."

After matches with Plymouth Canton and Central were either canceled or postponed due to bad weather, the Mustangs finally got a game in last Friday at Franklin despite cold, windy conditions. The first half of play was a study in defensive positioning, and the two teams entered the second half in a scoreless tie.

At the 16 minute mark of the second half, senior Kim Fladding finally put Northville on the scoreboard on an assist from teammates Julie Anger and Jodie Smalec. About three minutes later, junior Jenny Schuerman wrapped up the scoring with an unassisted goal following a scramble in front of the Patriots' net.

Even though the Mustangs only connected twice, Smalec was pleased with his team's improvement offensively. Smalec moved Fladding, a defensive specialist, to the center-forward spot for more productivity up front and it seemed to work as Northville had 22 shots on goal, compared to Franklin's 10.

"Fladding worked well up there," he said. "She makes things happen in her place on defense, we put in Heather Sixt and she did a nice job, too."

Defensively, Smalec gave the credit to Jill Gallagher, Amy Spaman, Robin Strunk and halfback's Nicki Grassely, Jenny Kuffner and Abbey Edwards and goaltender Tricia Ducker.

The Central contest, originally scheduled for April 1, was made up last Saturday. Northville quickly established control against the out-manned Vikings, and the game was over by halftime. Central in just its second season of varsity competition couldn't stay with any of the Mustang players, including the second and third stringers.

"Everybody got a chance to play and that was good," Smalec said. "Once the momentum started out way, we were off and it didn't really seem to matter who was in there. You have to give the Central kids credit because they stayed in the game and never gave up. They are building a program for the future."

By intermission, Northville held a commanding 6-0 lead and in the second half, despite being against a fierce wind, the Mustangs added seven more goals. Schuerman seemed always to be in position and poured in four goals alone. Fladding looked even stronger on offense with three goals while Karen Baird, Abbey Adwards and Shannon Loper each added a pair of goals.

"We played a good passing game and scored a lot of goals both into and away from the wind," Smalec said. "This game did wonders for our passing game. Heading into that 35 mile-per-hour wind, they did a nice job of keeping the passes low to the ground and we attacked with only two forwards."

In the game, junior varsity goaltender Kristy Turner played half of the game, in relief of Ducker, and the two combined for the shut out.

"Kristy may be our goalie for the future and she made a couple of real nice saves for us," Smalec said.

Northville's next match is tomorrow (April 10) when the Mustangs host perennial state power Livonia Stevenson.

Anne Griffith was Northville's top scorer in '86

Webb hopes depth will spur wins

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

Northville girls' track Coach Mike Webb knows firsthand what injuries and illness can do to a team, so when he predicts a successful season for his Mustangs, it is followed by that well-known phrase in athletics — "If we can remain healthy."

A year ago, Northville didn't win a single dual meet. Even though Webb had a small team numbers-wise, it was a string of uncanny injuries and illnesses that proved to be the main problem. In 1987, Webb has a nice group of returning letterwinners to go along with an impressive number of quality newcomers.

"I've got most of what we had a year ago," he said. "Only three girls that I expected didn't show up and one is because of injury. But I don't feel bad about that because I think we have the depth this year to overcome all that."

The injured defector is senior Linda Groves, who was one of the squad's top distance runners last year until a back problem ended her season prematurely. Now, the back problem is still a concern and Groves' doctor told her she should not compete.

Even without Groves, the distance events could still be the Mustangs' best. Senior Anne Griffith, the team's leading scorer a year ago, is back and ready to run in any event from the 800-meters on up. Webb definitely plans to use her in the mile run and the two mile relay.

"Anne is probably our top performer," Webb pointed out. "She can run most of the distance races for us and we can count on her to come through."

The rest of the distance crew includes junior Jennifer Goshorn (both mile and two mile relay, and possibly the 800), senior Carol Olsen (800, two mile relay), freshman Lisa Brown (mile, two mile), junior Katie Brugman (800, mile, two mile), junior Jean Riney (mile, two mile) and senior Erika Nelsen (anything from the 400-meters on up). Goshorn, Olsen and Brown are cross country veterans, Brugman is a good athlete with great potential, while Nelsen and Riney are newcomers with talent.

Senior Karen Stinson, the number two scorer in '86, is back to shore up the middle distance corps. Stinson is slated for action in the 400, the 800 relay and even the high jump.

"Karen is dependable," Webb said. "She is a dedicated runner and she can do the job in a lot of things. Right now, she looks like a top middle distance runner and our best high jumper."

Joining Stinson in the middle distance events will be sophomore Elissa Peters (400, mile relay), junior Robin McDuffie (400, mile relay) and sophomore Pam Wesley (400, 800).

As far as depth, Webb may be the strongest in the sprint events with Christy Lenaghan (Jr.), Kris Spigarelli (Sr.), Erin Holmberg (Jr.) and Wendy Davis (Jr.). Lenaghan is the team's number one but has been slowed by a leg injury, both Holmberg and Spigarelli are returning veterans and Davis is a recent addition to the squad.

"I've got some good sprinters," Webb said.

In the field events, Northville appears to be much stronger than a year ago. The two shot put and discus performers are back, as well as the standout from two years ago who didn't go out for the team last year. Seniors Julie Trausch and Roxanne Serkalan are already flirting with their personal bests in both events and the addition of Shari

Thompson will definitely pay dividends.

"I think we are strong in the shot and discus because we are adding Thompson," Webb pointed out. "With those three, we have more depth."

Senior Kris Marrone, last season's number two hurdler, will be this year's top performer. Webb expects her to excel in the 110 and 300-meter hurdles and possibly the 800 relay. Sophomore standout Krista Swartz is the team's top long jumper, but has a muscle pull and is questionable for the early part of the campaign. Her replacement will probably be junior Cathy Page.

"We've got a stronger team this year," Webb predicted. "I think that, if we are healthy, it will take a strong team to beat us. We have 12 more bodies on the team than a year ago and that should give us more depth."

"If we continue to improve, I can't see anything but good things from this season. I definitely expect to win some dual meets this year."

Trackers plan to battle losing heritage

The good news is that Northville boys' track mentor Paul Osborn believes his current squad is every bit as strong as last year's team. The bad news is that the Mustangs were winless in league action, and beat a weak Novi team for its only victory a year ago.

Osborn did not lose a great number to graduation, but did see quite a few potential returnees quit the program — especially long distance runners Kevin Haas, Jeff Hoose and Steve Brooks have all decided not to go out for the team in '87, which could cause more problems than the departure of performers like Jeff Harp and Tim Millett to graduation.

"Kevin Haas was out for a while and decided he didn't want to run anymore," Osborn explained. "So that is a blow to us. I was also looking for (Hoose and Brooks) in the distance races and they didn't come out."

"Overall, my guess is we are as strong as we were last year. If we can come through in some key areas, we feel confident we can have a good season."

It's been years since Northville has done anything in the field events but a crop of young and/or experienced talent has Osborn excited about the discus and long jump. The top returnee in the discus is big sophomore Derek Forbing but fellow 10th graders Eric Billimoria and Chris Kuffner are also in the picture. Senior standout Dana LeTarte is back for another solid season in the long jump and junior Steve Austin just may provide a nice 1-2 punch.

Unfortunately, Osborn calls the shot put and pole vault events a "grey area." Brothers Tim (Sr.) and Rob (Fr.) Spradlin are the top candidates in the shot and sophomore Shawn Starkweather may be the top vaulter, but the depth charts are shallow. High jump is also an iffy event but newcomer Rich Subotich (Jr.) and Allen Kuljurgis (Jr.) have shown promise. Two other juniors, Scott Sinkwitts and Rick Cross, are also candidates.

With Millett gone, the hurdles could be a problem, but Osborn has been impressed with the speed and technique offered by senior Mark Bennett, a first year performer. Bennett is one of the top choices in the 110-yard high hurdles along with Tom Alexandrias (Jr.), Greg Price (So.) and Cory Robinson (So.). In the 330 lows, Bennett and sophomore Steve Ventura are in the fold.

The sprint events feature a host of returnees, but Osborn is still concerned about the squad's strength. The 100-meter dash corps includes seniors LeTarte, Matt Hubert and Rich Gird while the 200 contingent features Subotich, Todd Daniels (So.) and Mark Dozier (Jr.).

The number one prospect in the 400 will probably be John Gird, and he'll be backed up by returnee Steve Austin (Jr.). In the 800-meter relay, Osborn is looking at Rich Gird, LeTarte, Hubert and Ventura and in the half-mile relay, the frontrunners are Dozier, Daniels and twins Scott and Steve Paredes (Jr.s).

Without Haas, Brooks or Hoose, the distance events are mighty thin. The top performer will undoubtedly be John Frisbie, the junior cross country sensation last fall. Osborn plans to use him in the two mile and two mile relay, but Frisbie's versatility may land him a spot in any number of races.

The only other returnee in the two mile relay is John Gird, so Osborn is looking hard at junior Jay Griffiths and Sinkwitts. In the mile, Griffiths may be the primary runner but Cross is also a possibility.

RECREATION BRIEFS

VOLLEYBALL TITLE: The Meads Mill Middle School eighth grade girls volleyball squad captured its first ever league title for Coach Steve McDonald.

In the Liv-Oaks League Tournament last weekend, McDonald's squad went 6-0 in pool play to capture first place. Meads downed Walled Lake Junior High 15-2, 16-14 in the first round, knocked off Smart Junior High (white team) 15-7, 15-7 in round two and handed Brighton's Scranton Junior High a 15-10, 16-14 defeat to advance to the semifinals.

The next victim was the Smart gold team (15-3, 16-14) in the semis and Maltby (15-7, 9-15, 15-7) in the finals.

SOCCER PLAYERS NEEDED: The Northville, under 16-boys soccer program is still looking for more participants. Any boy, born in 1971 or 1972, is encouraged to register by contacting the Northville Rec Center at 349-0203. No late fee will be required.

SOFTBALL REGISTRATION: The Rec Center is looking for softball teams to fill its leagues. After a two year absence, men's slow pitch softball will be returning to Northville. Games will be played at Maybury State Park Monday thru Thursday evenings beginning May 11.

Registration is limited to the first eight teams and 120 individuals. It will be accepted April 1-10 and 13 between 8:30 a.m. and 5 p.m. Entry fee is $215 per team, or $25 per individual.

A women's slowpitch softball league will be held on Tuesday and Thursday evenings at Waterford Bend (Northville Road and Six Mile), beginning May 19. Registration limited to first 120 individuals. Entry fee is $25 and will be accepted April 1-10 and 13 between 8:30 a.m. and 5 p.m.

A coed softball league is also being formed for the second straight year. Games will be played on Sunday afternoons at Fish Hatchery Park beginning May 31. Returning teams may register on May 4-8. Entry fee is $130 per team.

For more information or specific league rules, contact the Rec Center at 349-0203.

UMPIRES NEEDED: The Northville Junior Baseball/Softball Association needs umpires. Any person age 14 and up who is interested in umpiring baseball or softball games this season can apply at the Rec Center. Experience is not necessary, but participation in sports in the past or present is preferred. An organizational meeting will be announced in the next few weeks.

NOVI TRACKERS: The Novi Trackers Running Club has been in existence since 1981. Running enthusiasts travel from Northville, Brighton, South Lyon, Plymouth and Livonia to participate in weekly runs and special activities offered by the club.

For more information, please contact Lee Karvola (349-7224), Larry Malloy (474-8277) or the Novi Parks and Recreation (349-1976).

MANAGER NEEDED: The Babe Ruth Baseball League is looking for a manager to put together a travel team for boys 13-15 from Northville to compete in a 20-game summer schedule. For further information, contact Bob Ruete at 397-8149 after 9 p.m.

HALF MARATHON: The West Bloomfield Half Marathon will be run at 12:30 p.m. on April 12. This 11-year old event is organized by West Bloomfield Parks and Recreation and co-sponsored by the Henry Ford Medical Center.

The deadline for early registration ($10) is 5 p.m. April 13. Late registration ($13) will be accepted through the day of the race. For more information, call 334-5660.

The 13.1 mile race drew 744 finishers last year from 140 communities in Michigan and nearby Canada and Ohio. Named among the top 50 races in Michigan by the Michigan Runner Magazine, it is run over rolling terrain and a 99 percent paved course.

The grand prize includes a trip for two to the Bahamas for the top male and female finishers.

Netters clobber Novi in season opener

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

The Northville tennis squad had to wait a few extra days before opening the 1987 season, thanks to the recent wet and cold weather, but it didn't seem to affect the team's performance.

The Mustangs' season opener was slated for April 3 but was postponed and later rescheduled for April 14, because the Brighton tennis courts still had patches of snow. So the official opener happened last Monday (April 6) at Novi, and the Northville squad showed no mercy during the 6-1 clobbering.

"On the whole, my guys played pretty well," Mustang Coach Dick Norton reported. "Novi already had a meet under their belts, so I thought the kids did pretty well considering it was our first meet."

At number one singles, Mike Reitenga began his senior campaign on the right foot by downing Novi's Chris Cottam 6-0, 6-2. But it was the second single match that was the highlight of the day as the 'Cats Eric Polinsky and Northville's Doug Kamienecki staged a three set marathon. Polinsky ended up winning the match 6-4, 3-6, 7-6 (7-3), taking the final set in a tie-breaker after trailing 4-1 at one point.

"That's probably the best I've seen him play," Novi Coach Jim Newbold said. "He never backed off, he stayed in there and kept working hard."

But that was to be the Wildcats' one and only win as the Mustangs swept the remaining matches in straight sets. At No. 3, newcomer Rob Richcreek blanked Dave Cho 6-1, 6-2 while Kurt Reickel, substituting for Matt Oliver, got by Bill Benton at No. 4, 6-4, 6-3.

Northville's top singles team of Ken Spigarelli and Jeff Wesley disposed of Tom Wigley and Ken Chasse (6-3, 6-3), the No. 2 squad of Jeff Jakubowski and Jeff Gursky had no trouble with Mike Everett and Brian Anderson (6-1, 6-0), and the Bob Dudley/Dan Conway duo at No. 3 turned back Matt Boksha and

Matt Mitchell 7-5, 6-3.

"I was glad to finally get a meet in because the kids were getting tired of hitting against the wall in the gym," Norton said. "I'm still not totally satisfied with our strength at third doubles though, so we may move a few people around. I've got some other kids on the team and I'll try them and see if we can't strengthen it up a bit."

The next scheduled match for the Mustangs is tomorrow (April 10) as the team will host Farmington. Norton said that he expects the contest to be very close because the Falcons return quite a few regulars while Northville has just three of its top 10 performers back from last year.

"We may surprise ourselves, but Farmington is definitely much stronger than Novi," Norton said. "We should be able to find out mighty quick if we are a contender."

Local driver takes his racing seriously

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

Ken Winters, a 24-year-old Novi resident is entering his third year of serious automobile racing, and, if his first national-level race is any indication, the competition better keep an eye out for the youngster from Michigan.

Although he lives with his parents, Robert and Juanita Winters, in Novi, Ken is a graduate of Northville High School and the Winters have a Northville mailing address.

Winters is currently competing in the Formula Vee class, which is sanctioned by the Sports Car Club of America (SCCA), but his racing career started two years ago at the Waterford Hills Road Racing Track. In his first year of competition, Winters set a novice lap record by nearly two seconds. By the end of that first campaign, Winters ranked as the best novice racer in the track's 27-year history.

"I just got into organized racing a couple of years ago, but I had done a lot of off-road racing and related stuff prior to that," Winters said. "I've always loved driving."

"To tell you the truth, I had never been to a race until I drove in that first race at Waterford Hills. I saw a race car in Brighton that I liked, I bought it and went out to race a few months later."

Last season, Winters moved up to compete at the regional level. Stiffer competition, at many new tracks, plus early season mishaps did not discourage him and he finished strong and captured second place in the Central Division Regional Championship Road Racing Series.

For this season, Winters decided to race at the national level, and the adjustment hasn't been easy.

"Now that I've made the change to nationals, it's a lot different," he explained.

'I just got into organized racing a couple of years ago but I had done a lot of off-road racing and related stuff prior to that — I've always loved driving' plained "At Waterford Hills, it's a lot lower-key. The overall competition is a lot more intense in the nationals."

— Ken Winters

In the season's first SCCA event in Atlanta, Ga., on March 7-8, Winters was competing against last year's National Champion as well as the third, fifth and sixth place finishers in the country. In spite of a problem-plagued qualifying session and the strong competition, Winters was able to move from 15th place at the start to a fourth place finish. It was certainly a successful debut as he captured six championship points.

"I was happy with it," he said. "Four of the top five drivers from last season were there in Atlanta and only one of them finished the race. It was pouring rain and even though I did have a few places almost handed to me, that's racing."

Winters is also excited to have his first sponsor — Knight Enterprises, Inc. — who is an official supplier to the Detroit Grand Prix. Winters quickly recognized that skill alone is not enough to make it to the top at the national level — that sponsorship is essential to help with a yearly racing budget that tops $15,000.

"Without sponsorship, the best I can do is Formula Vee," Winters admitted. "It's almost a must for me if I want to move up. Right now I can just barely afford what my budget is, so sponsorship is the main thing."

Winters' immediate goal is to win the Formula Vee championship and then move on up to the Formula Ford class within a year or two. In Formula Ford, the budget is anywhere from three-to-four times more than in Formula Vee, but the recognition and prestige are also better.

Winters is already gaining the respect of fellow racers and knowledgeable race fans. One of his instructors, a former Formula Vee racer, told Winters "I am glad to be out of Formula Vee because I wouldn't want to have to race against you." Ken also has a wealth of support from his family.

"We normally go to watch him race," Ken's mother, Juanita, said. "Ken has really approached this from a very serious standpoint. He's a professional and he puts 100 percent into it."

The Formula Vee race schedule this season features 16 races from March to October in a half-dozen states from Georgia to Wisconsin. Winters' next outing will be the IRP Championships in Indianapolis on April 18-19. He will be racing in Michigan on four occasions, the first coming in early May at Grantlen Race Track near Grand Rapids.

In spite of the odds, Winters is confidently looking forward to qualifying for the National Championship Run-Off in October and warns all the Unser's and Andretti's to watch out for the "comer" from Novi, Michigan.

Tanderys signs with Michigan

Novi senior baseball star Jeff Tanderys signed a National Letter of Intent yesterday (April 8) with the University of Michigan to pitch in college for the Wolverines. Tanderys, flanked by his family and teammates, signed the letter at 7 a.m. in the Novi High School Media Center.

It's a binding letter of intent, and yet Tanderys — the fire-throwing righthander — still has a major choice to make in the next few months. If he does choose to go to college, Tanderys is now committed to U-M, but he is still eligible for the major-league amateur draft in June, and may decide to forego college baseball and continue his pitching in the pros.

"Jeff can still sign with the pros in June — he's still eligible — but right now he has a four-year scholarship with Michigan guaranteed," Novi baseball Coach Gar Frantz said. "The scholarship is worth close to $30,000 but he has that choice to sign after he's drafted by the pros."

The move by Tanderys to sign with a college only makes sense. It won't affect his chances if he decides to go professional — all it does is provide two attractive options. The only concern with this strategy is that occasionally, when a top recruit signs with a college, he'll see the pro scouts back off or even ignore him on draft day. Frantz doesn't think that will happen with Tanderys.

"You talk about a good situation — is that sweet or what?" Frantz questioned. "Either choice he makes is a good one. I don't think the pro scouts will back off on Jeff because if they want him bad enough, they will draft him high and offer him a bundle."
