Oil company wants to drill at NRPH

Officials of Somoco, Southern Michigan Oil Company Inc., hope to find the latest gusher in Nor-

The firm is in the process of applying to the required state agencies for permission to drill from Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital property.

The Michigan Department of Mental Health and the supervisor of mineral lease management division of the Department of Natural Resources have given approval to alter the non-development permit Somoco has to a developmental permit.

If, as the firm believes, oil or gas is actually discovered on the property, a drilling rig would be erected on hospital property, about 700 feet from the Lakes of Northville property line.

Supervisor Georgina Goss, who has met with representatives of the Michigan Department of Maple Hill subdivisions. Mental Health, Somoco and township residents, said it was her understanding that the rig top "may not be visible" to neighboring subdivision residents.

However, Goss said, since the drilling would be occurring from state-owned land, and, if minerals are discovered and storage built, the township would have little say in the matter: 'We can request that screening be put in place and that the parties involved cooperate with the township, but the actual contract is between Somoco and the state," she said. Goss said the firm has indicated it plans to use about 80 acres of hospital property, located behind the main hospital and near Lakes of Northville and

'If storage is needed, it is our understanding that It would be placed behind Maple Hills," Goss said. Thomas DeLoache, a spokesperson for the Mental Health Department, said the department had indicated it would be willing to change the permit from non-developmental to developmental, but would not speculate as to what, if anything, the oil company would discover from its drilling rig. "It's simply too early to say what's there," DeLoache said, before referring additional questions to David Freed, the supervisor of the DNR's mineral lease management division Freed said that all negotiations have occurred between Somoco and the Department of Mental

Wetland plan sparks protest from residents

By BOB NEEDHAM

A developer's plan to fill part of the wetlands northwest of Taft and Eight Mile roads met with opposition from residents of the area at a meeting Thursday.

The Singh Development Company applied to the state Department of Natural Resources for a permit to fill in about 1.5 acres of wetlands on its Pheasant Hills site and replace the lost area with 2.37 acres of new. created wetlands; and to cross the Randolph Drain, the small stream in the area, at three points.

The DNR denied a similar request - without the replacement wetlands - earlier this summer.

The DNR called Thursday's public hearing to hear opinions on the Singh plan, and several residents opposed any more disturbance of the area. Some of the wetlands are already disturbed from a sewer line put through the area (see related story). That disturbed wetlands is part of the area Singh applied to fill.

Bonnie Zarzar said that the proposed filling would harm wildlife, and the new wetlands would also harm some species on the higher ground. "There are many species that are not common and they're going to be lost," she said.

She suggested Singh not fill any watlands, and instead reduce the planned number of lots in the development. "I think the developer could just pass those costs along and it really wouldn't hurt anybody," she

After listening to the opinions, DNR water quality specialist Brooks Williamson explained the rest of the review process for the Singh plan.

'We have not made a decision," he said. "There are a number of questions the department will have to answer.

The DNR will announce a decision in about six weeks, he said.

Resident Care Aides at Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital have returned to court in an effort to stem what the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees Local 960 sees as an attempt to violate a court and atbitrator's ruling prohibiting layoffs of more than 35 of the RCAs. Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Charles Farmer has agreed to allow an amended complaint to become part of the original complaint filed in February with the court.

Visitors from South Africa learn about Northville life

"Our differences are our strength."

So explained six women delegates from South Africa as they described their varied activities and accomplishments as black, colored and white women — all South Africans — to members and guests at First United Methodist Church of Northville Monday.

·The delegation is part of the newly formed South African Delegation for Friendship Among Women in Cape Town. The women have been guests of U.S. members of the Delegation for Friendship Among Angeles, Houston and, on Monday and Tuesday, in Northville. Women in Chicago, St. Paul, Oklahoma City, Los Betty Lennox, City of Northville finance director and member of the U.S. group, explained as she introduced the visitors that the purpose of their visit was twofold: the women were meeting and getting to know women in the United States and learning of their problems while interpreting what women in South Africa have been doing.

Shirley Kaplan, an interior designer who pioneered in the field as a free lance designer and who now also has an office in London, is a founding member of the delegation. "We have had a wonderful experience in America," she related. "I couldn't believe that within two hours of meeting (American members) we would be sitting ground is our 'jamies, as you say, talking informally.

"We are all from Cape Town where the two oceans (Atlantic and Indian) meet at the tip. It is one of the most ticautiful cities.' Hazel Motale, who echoed Kaplan's love of Cape Town.

said she wouldn't trade it for any other place She told of the opportunity she and her husband had 12 years ago to begin a transportation business with a fleet of two vehicles. Today there are 42 buses and 120

In 1994, she explained, she saw "a need for beauty ser vice for women and epened the first shop with a stall of Today she owns three shops and has a staff of 20

"Diven'a chance, it proves people of South Africa can see even more successful companies," she said.

One of her reasons for joining the delegation was that she wanted "to visit good schools or academies for hairdressing specializing in black hair to see how they are rum."
"We have the same (watching and listening) habits, the same music as here, the same television programs, like 'Who's the Boss,' 'Nadia Lotti, a public relations of ficer for South African radio, related. "It's a very exciting medium to work for - I'm going home with lots of lovely ideas."

Lotti said she is Italian ther parents had emigrated from Italy) with South African citizenship. She added that she was the only member of the delegation who was

The others all noted they were married with children, and some had grandchildren. Ramola Parbhoo, who wore an Indian sari, explained that her parents had come from India to South Africa, just as Indians had been coming there for 100 years. Married to a medical practitioner, she explained that after her three daughters were born, she wanted to "become involved." She began by giving cooking lessons and now has her own cooking school and is the author of a cookbook on Indian cooking. "I feit there was a need for a good Indian cooking book, and it sold out after a year. It has been a prop in my life and fills a need," she explained of her career Jenny Ibbotson related that she now works in industrial relations, moving into that career area from involvement in child safety. She has presented many papers on child safety and accident prevention. "We have a growing labor movement that's abrasive and very exciting," she said noting that she heads a working women's organization Many, she said, have low education and low skill levels

 $\textbf{CABLE BOND DROPPED} - Omnicom, \ the \ cable \ television$ mpany serving Northville and surrounding communities, no Inger has to post a \$10,000 performance bond as part of its con-

The Northville City Council Monday approved a change to the city's cable ordinance which dropped the requirement A company representative had said the company had difficulty with the requirement, and a letter to the council from the city attorney found no objection to the requested change.

RATES RISE — The Northville City Council recently learned that the city's insurance rates are going up 15 percent.

The city belongs to the Michigan Municipal Risk Management Authority, which recently announced several increases, for increased costs, capital needs, coverage for "internally remsured risk" and higher administrative cost. Of the 15 percent total, 12.625 percent becomes effective for the 1988 fiscal year

Council members said at a meeting Monday that the city had "no choice" but to accept the new rates, but that some time soon officials might consider a different way to insure the city

ALLEY CONSIDERED - A request to vacate part of the Bealtown alley - off the west side of South Main Street - will come before the Northville City Council in a public hearing Mon-

Council called the hearing Monday after receiving a request to close the alley just above Gardner Street At the hearing the council is scheduled to hear residents' opinions on vacating any part or all of the alley.

The original letter listed inconvenience and danger as two reasons for the request

Charter questions revised by state

Several proposed changes to the Northville City Charter approved by the City Council and the city at torney, and ready to go on the Nov 3 won't be on the ballot after

The state attorney general's office rejected the proposed language on four of seven amendments approved by the council, so only three proposals will appear on the ballot

All the proposed changes have been described by city officials as minor changes to bring the charter into full compliance with state law In the present case where state law and the charter differ, the state law takes precedence

At the City Council meeting Mon day, City Manager Steve Walters said the attorney general's office re jected the four proposals "for esoteric and somewhat technical reasons

Two of the three approved ballot questions required changes to their wording Proposals which will appear on the ballot are

Changing the charter to make the Board of City Election Commissioners consist of the city clerk, city attorney and city assessor Current ly the charter reads that a City Council member be the third for attorney general's approval member of the board

· Requiring that a special meeting of a public body be posted at least 18 hours ahead of time which state law

 Expanding the city's ability to buy through installment contracts beyond that presently allowed in the charter but within state regulations

Two of the previously approved amendments concerning election date and election filing should be combined into a single proposal, the attorney general's response said That would have to be resubmitted

The other two proposed changes would have eliminated references in the charter to no-longer-existing Justice of the Peace courts, and would have changes references to county boards of supervisors to boards of commissioners. The at torney general's office ruled that those changes were already effectively made by state law, and actual change of the charter could not be done through amendment but must be done through a charter revision, a different type of change, according to the attorney general's office

Traffic engineers release interim report

The traffic engineers Northville hired to study problems in the city presented a preliminary report to the City Council Monday night including suggestions for solving problems

Many of the suggestions were ideas that had already been mentioned at city meetings, council members said But the engineers - Karl Kleitsch and Paul Slavin of Reid Cool and Michalski - stressed that the suggestions were only an interim report. and the final report will include specific recommendations

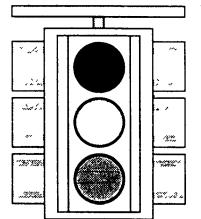

Some of the suggestions in the interim report are relatively minor. but others - such as closing Randolph at Center Street - would have greater effect

Kleitch said that one of the most important aspects to Northville traffic is getting Center Street to operate more efficiently. If that happens, he said, many other changes to traffic patterns will logically follow

The engineers used several different ways to analyze traffic at points throughout the city Methods included traffic counts, capacity analysis based on industry standards speed studies and personal observa-

The traffic engineers said input from the public is welcome in their work Specific opinions or suggestions should go through City Manger Steve Walters' office, they said The City Council members agreed to consider the suggestions at a future

Kleitsch said the company does not recommend speed bumps or stop signs for speed control

'We would not endorse the use of speed bumps on public roadways They do represent a hazard, about the opposite of a pothole," he said

State law prohibits using stop signs for speed control, he said, their only use should be to control right of way Looking at the city, there are probably a few too many stop signs now," Kleitsch said

Office complex gets OK for new sewer tap

It has been two months, but a Nor thville Township developer has final ly received an Act 98 permit

The permits, issued by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, are required for sewer tap-ins and had been withheld pending certification that the township has capacity in the Wayne County system

Joseph F Kosik, the developer of Colonial Office Plaza on Six Mile Road received the permit which would allow him to run a line onto the Six Mile Road portion of the sewer

However, permits requested for other projects are still being held in abeyance pending further study

Meanwhile, Paul Zugger, chief of the DNR's surface water quality divi sion, has requested a meeting with the township concerning approval of the Haggerty Road sewer, which af fects such projects as Hampton Inn. Kirco's Northville Corporate Campus, Ward Presbyterian Church and the Dun Rovin Planned Residential Unit Development

"Placing full reliance on the (Ypsilanti Community Utility Authority) to handle new waste loads for the Haggerty Road project may result in significant delays." Zugger wrote prior to the September meeting of the Water Resources Commission where YCUA expansion was discussed

"On the other hand, if an interim project, including adequate controls on loading increases, could be implemented it is entirely possible that the Haggerty Road project could proceed "he continued Township Supervisor Georgina Goss said she received Zugger's let ter well after the Sept 17 Water Resources Commission meeting, and as yet, has been unable to schedule a meeting with the DNR staff

"We are compiling the data the DNR has requested to show there is capacity in the current system. without relying on additional flows,"

She would not speculate as to when those figures would be presented to the DNR, but did say it would be

The 1987 Michigan Press Association Newspaper contest is history. Entries from 86 weekly and 42 daily newspapers were submitted.

Members of the Nebraska Press Association judged the contest and awarded 97 certificates of excellence to Michigan weekly newspapers in the same

Oh, we like to win awards, but we like to sell newspapers even more. That's why we believe you like us, too.

You're buying S/L newspapers at the highest rate in our history. Since March of this year newspaper sales have increased 10%. Our CAC audited paid circulation is the highest and growing.

We even think we know why...S/L newspapers are written and edited for the people we want to reach. The people livng, working and interested in their community, the community served by a S/L newspaper, we want to reach...you.

We serve many communities and no two are exactly alike. Likewise S/L newspapers are not alike. A S/L newspaper reflects and chronicles the community it serves...for you.

Residents ask City Council not to sell lot off Main St.

By BOB NEEDHAM

several Northville residents ob jecting to the installation of a sewer stub and catch basin near a vacant its owned lot asked the Cits Council Monday not to sell the plot for development

Council members said the lot which two residents recently requested the city sell to them for residential development will be discussed at the next council meeting Monday Oct 19 at 8 p.m. In the meantime the Concerned Residents for Northville scheduled a meeting to discuss the issue at 2 30 p.m. Saturday in the City Council chambers

Resident Nick Serkaian led the opposition at the meeting

Serkaian and City Manager Steve Walters have recently disagreed over a sewer stub and catch basin in stalled in the area. Serkaian has said. the work was done inappropriately at a higher cost than Walters says and was specifically to drain ponding from the lot to allow its development Walters has responded that the work was done to drain the city and township land west and north of caldwell that the work was part of approved plans and was done for

The council eventually agreed Yonday to provide - at the next meeting - a formal response ex plaining how the work was approved When Serkaian began speaking Mayor Paul Vernon said his objections were somewhat premature that the council was not yet ready to consider what to do with the lot. Vernot a disruptive militant meeting

Serkaian said rumors have been around the neighborhood for two rears that the lot was going to hold condominiums or cluster homes

We the neighbors are opposed 'o any consideration you may have in-Aanting to sell this land he said We don't need any additional homes in there leave our park that's waterlogged alone please

Vernon responded. There has been no discussion by City Council There has on selling that land and that council only received a request to do so recently

Several other city and township residents said they objected to the sewer work and to the idea of the city allowing residential development on

Wes Henrikson said I would like to know who authorized that catch basin the pipes and the cost

Vernon responded. We'll see you get an answer to that

He added that the city bought the lot in 1969 because of a drainage problem. It is not a new problem

It's a problem we have been aware of since at least 1969 - Vernon said Of the idea that the basin was in stalled to allow development of the Opposing the wetlands

Several residents asked how well the creation of new, mitigation wetlands works Williamson said the

"Some work, some don't, in many situations it depends on what con sultants are involved" He said Singh's wetlands consultant. Johnson, Johnson and Roy of Ann Arbor, is a very respected firm

"In most situations, we do get some type of a wetland back, and we have to leave 'some' as a broad interpretation," Williamson said

He added that the DNR cannot legally force repeated attempts at

But Woody Held, of the environmental planning studio at Johnson. Johnson and Roy, said the site would be monitored for three to five years to try to ensure a wetland would return

"By that point in time, you'll know if it's a wetland or a baseball field," Williamson said

Singh Vice President Michael Kahm said after the meeting, "I know (the residents) are concerned about the quality of the wetland and we have maintained a large portion of the ecosystem there . Our principal position to the DNR is that the area we want to fill in is already

The house, which has been under construction since 1978, has been the subject of numerous complaints from nearby residents

In a letter to John Wheeler, the builder of the house, Milligan noted that the township continues to receive complaints about the house and, that on June 30, he canceled the building permit.

Milligan wrote that the township would like Wheeler to replace the broken window, to remove a number of 2-by-6 boards on the property, to remove re rods from the curb and to keep the grass cut

Since Wheeler received his building permit in May 1978, Milligan noted that there had been numerous complaints and that the last inspec tion from the township occurred on

Next move up to city on wetlands

By BOB NEEDHAM

An area of the Pheasant Hills wetlands disturbed when Northville ran a sewer line through the area is staying disturbed at least for awhile

The Pheasant Hills wetlands are protected under state law, and the ci ty got a permit from the Department of Natural Resources to install the sewer line. A condition of the permit was that the city restore whatever wetlands were damaged by the work but the city is waiting to see if the DNR approves the Singh Development Company's application to fill in that same wetland area

At a Department of Natural Resources meeting Thursday about Singh's plan - to fill some of the wetlands off Taft and Eight Mile and replace with new wetlands - consul tant Woody Held said, "Existing right now on the property are two areas of wetland disturbance from a sanitary sewer line installed by the city of Northville "

Held, of the environmental planning studio at Johnson, Johnson and Roy in Ann Arbor, is Singh's wetlands consultant for Pheasant

DNR water quality specialist

Brooks Williamson said at the meeting that the state issued the city a permit which requires repair to the wetlands disturbed when the sewer went in But Northville City Manager Steve Walters later said the city would be foolish to restore the wetlands only to see them filled by Singh, and Singh Vice President Michael Kahm said the sewer work is one reason to approve the company's permit application

The area disturbed by the sewer line work is part of the wetlands Singh has applied to fill in order to build Pond Island Drive, a road which would run through the subdivi-

Held said the disturbed area is just over an acre Singh has applied to fill

1 5 acres and create 2 37 acres of new wetlands

Williamson said at the meeting "They were asked to correct it at one point and that's something that's still being looked at "

Walters later said the city got a violation notice from the DNR, but that it does not make sense to repair the wetlands until Singh's is decided

Frustrations and dirt pile growing

. By BOB NEEDHAM

Residents accused a developer last week of causing a drainage basin in the city to fill with dirt but a com pany officer said that the problem is unavoidable and the company probably did not contribute to the filling

The water storage basin off Taft and Eight Mile Roads - as well as part of the Randolph Drain near the pond - has steadily filled with dirt and clay in the past few months, area homeowners said at a meeting last Thursday The state Department of Natural Resources (DNR) called the meeting to hear public opinion on Singh's proposal to alter wetlands in the Pheasant Hills site to complete the development

Area resident Helen Geisler said the small stream flowing through the area and the storage basin had both been deep and clear for years, but recently they have filled up with dirt until they are "smaller by 75 percent '

Residents at the meeting said the problem began about the time Singh began storing dirt in a pile near the phase two site of the Pheasant Hills construction, and quickly got worse Singh Vice President Michael Kahm told the residents the company stockpiled the dirt to use in building the second phase of the development He said at the meeting that the construction of the subdivision's first phase should not have hurt the water system, but that "you have a point about the hill "

"If we've caused a problem we're unaware of, we'll fix it," Kahm sald "We're not trying to shirk our responsibility to the community If in fact there are some erosion problems being caused by our stockpile. we'll address that '

However, Kahm said Tuesday that he had looked at the site and the company could not correct the filling

you feel a weakness, numbness, or pain in your hand and wrist, the problem may be carpal tunnel syndrome

This is caused by pressure on a nerve as it goes through a tunnel in the wrist. The tunnel is made up of several small bones and ligaments that form a groove. The nerve that passes though the groove is vulnerable to injury, especially when the wrist is bent back forcefully. This can happen when you fall with your hands outstretched to brace yourself or when you hit a swinging door with the wrist bent backwards

Sometimes it results from the kind of physical exertion that's normal in your daily activities A carpenter, for example, can develop the syndrome from heavy hammering. So can a mechanic who pulls forcefully on a wrench So can a housewife who scrubs the floor by leaning on one hand with the wrist bent backward

Whatever the cause, treatment is available to relieve the pressure and return your wrist and hands to their normal condition - free of weakness and pain

Northville Township will double in population and in businesses and the City of Northville will increase in population by 20 percent by the year 2000, Oakland County Executive Daniel Murphy said

Over fresh brewed coffee and pastries Murphy met with members of the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce Thursday Oct 1, for a breakfast program at MacKinnon's restaurant in downtown Northville

Murphy gave members a quick rundown on the state of the county and on the county's projections for Northville and its surrounding suburbs into the year 2000

The subject of growth is one near and dear to Murphy's heart He said he feels very strongly that the City of Northville must encourage business growth within the downtown area to stav alive

'You can't look at Northville as just a quaint little town. It will grow it must grow or be left behind "

The city's tax base must increase from year to year. Murphy said, if the city is to avoid becoming another "Hazel Park or Ferndale They

the bottom of the heap," he said

Commenting on a recent proposal to rezone residential land in the City of Northville to commercial Murphy said "You can't compete if you don't have what the businessman wants in the way of location If you can't take a house down because somebody doesn't want it down - if business can't expand and grow - you've made a mistake '

"The Northville area has to look at what it wants to be," he said If Northville wants to keep its downtown area a pedestrian shopping area - it must plan for it, according to Murphy "If zoning needs to be changed to permit someone in the downtown area a chance to expand, to grow, it must be changed. If you don't, they'll go somewhere else" He said if a shopper comes to a stop at one por tion of town because of a zoning change - that end will soon die

Murphy said the county feeds a host of statistics into a state-of-theart computer system to issue fiscal and planning projections to aid cities and businesses The computer network is used for law enforcement information as well, Murphy noted, providing all law en forcement agencies in Oakland Coun-

The county uses the computer to pinpoint available land for possible development purposes as well "It can tell you where the vacant lots and vacant buildings are in the county." Murphy explained The information is then used by the economic development department for information to potential businesses

If a potential industry or business owner were to ask the department where they might relocate in Oakland County, Murphy said the county would ask general questions of the developer concerning the type of community preferred - older established versus newer and less traditional The computer would then be used to locate such a community

ind to print out available land or buildings

Of course if someone from that city said they didn't want to talk to anyone about new businesses - we wouldn't use their name," Murphy said, laughing "but that hasn't hap-

Murphy said Northville city and township should not be looking at manufacturing operations, but ser vice companies, research and design companies and headquarter com panies 'Plan for what they want or do you want business to go somewhere else?" he said

Development of this kind "doesn't just happen," Murphy was quick to point out "You have to make it happen " he said The County's Office of Economic Development tries to help communities plan for such realistic goals. Murphy said, by "going out to the communities and saying things have to be done

Generally Oakland County is in good shape for the future, according to Murphy Out of the top 40 counties in the nation which will have onethird of all new jobs in the year 2000 - we're one of those " Murphy

They say there will be 189,000 jobs created by the year 2000" Murphy here in the last four year period and the county is still in a heavy growin pattern," he said "It will be the 14th largest growing county in the next 13 years if we coordinate ' "I say to local cities, if you want to keep your arms open to grow business," Murphy said. He caution ed that diversification of businesses

is the only route to prevent another recession Small businesses in particular are the backbone of cities according to Murphy Of the new jobs that will be created 70 percent of them will come from businesses employing fewer than 200 people, he noted "Keep the small businessman alive He will create 70-80 percent of the new jobs in the area" In addition 60 percent of those jobs will come from businesses already in the area - not from new small businesses, Murphy said

For chamber members who work or live in Northville's other county -Wayne, Murphy said he is still con cerned about their future "What happens on our border we're con cerned with," he said

Roads are the biggest problem fac ing the county today. Murphy said 'The road situation is atrocious but we won't do much about it

Flu shots, health talk | Union challenges 'layoffs' by attrition

In the amended complaint the union charged that the Michigan Department of Mental Health has reduced the number of resident care aides at the hospital by an additional 40 through attrition, while at the same time has increased the population at the hospital by approximately

Farmer and Arbitrator Joseph P Girolamo had ruled that the depart ment was prohibited from laying off more than 35 RCAs The department had intended to lay off 110 in an effort to reduce a deficit in the fiscal 1987 mental health budget

Farmer, on Feb 10, issued an in junction prohibiting the layoffs and Girolamo, on May 18, affirmed the

The Department of Mental Health has challenged the arbitrator's deci sion in Ingham County Circuit Court. however, a spokesperson for the department said the case would be reassigned to Wayne County Circuit

In addition, the department has fil ed a request to the Michigan Supreme Court to hear an appeal on Farmer's ruling

Since the announced layoffs, the union has contended that the in cidents of injuries to RCAs by pa tients have increased and the union has stated it expects the number of injuries to continue to increase

"We are contending that by not replacing RCAs who retire, die or leave the staff, the department is violating the intent of the judge's and the arbitrator's rulings," said David White, Local 960 president

White said the hospital employees staged an informational picket Sept 23 in an attempt to inform the public of the concern by the RCAs

Our Opinions

Legislators should lead veto override

Thirty-seven communities, including Northville Township and the City of Novi, have received a slap in the pocketbook from Gov James Blanchard The governor vetoed funds counted upon and, in fact, earned by the 37 municipalities by virtue of a mid-decade census

The township stands to lose some $300,000 over three years if the governor's veto stands, money it has counted on to balance a straining budget. In good faith the community instituted a mid-decade count. It paid out $15,000 to the Conference of Western Wayne to count and tabulate the population. It counted on a return for its money and time.

Now, along with the other communities, the township is scrambling for its money. It has joined in a coalition of the Michigan Townships Association and the Michigan Municipal League to lobby the governor to restore the money to the state budget.

An ad-hoc committee has been selected to meet with the governor and to pressure the Legislature to put the money back in the budget and back to the communities through state revenue sharing.

To be sure, the municipalities are not the only institutions who are facing belt-tightening should the funds not be restored Educational bodies are facing cuts in categorical aid A number of state departments also had their budgets trimmed by the governor's knife.

It is important that state Sen. R.

Robert Geake and Rep. Gerald Law, who represent this area, take an active role in seeking the restoration of the revenue-sharing monies Geake, a ranking Republican on the Appropriations Committee, is in an ideal position to help Northville Township. Geake's committee works daily on the budget, and, as a member of the Senate majority, Geake should be at the forefront in the effort to restore the funding.

Law, although a member of the House minority party, also must take a front-line position toward restoring the funds.

Northville Township currently is reviewing its fiscal 1988 budget. The money in question was important enough to the township that, in good faith, it undertook the census. And, when the population was counted, there had been a 15 percent increase over figures reported in the 1980 national count.

With the cutbacks in money from the federal government, the money from the state has become even more important to the local communities.

The move by the governor in vetoing revenue sharing to the communities who have documented their right to-the money is ill-timed and illadvised. Since there has been no movement from the governor's office to restore the money, the Legislature must take up the fight. We expect Law and Geake to be leading the effort and expect not to be disappointed or else
the pair can expect a rude awakening when they next face the voters.

Remember purpose of wetlands rules

There are a couple of disturbing aspects to the proposal to build a road along the edge of wetlands in the Pheasant Hills subdivision.

The Singh Development Company is building the subdivision and has applied for a Department of Natural Resources permit to fill in part of the wetlands. The company would replace that fill with artificially created "mitigation" wetlands at a rate of one and a half times the amount filled.

The DNR denied Singh's application once, before the mitigation was added to the plan. But that addition really makes no difference.

"Mitigation" wetland is not really a replacement for what's lost. Even though Singh has hired a top firm in the third as its wetlands consultants, anything the company manages to do won't create the same quality wetlands that presently exist. And in the attempt the nake new wetlands, other valuable name al areas will be ruined.

But much more disturbing is the attitude of both the developers and the car officials toward this approval process. The city got a permit from the IPR to run a sewer line through the at a, and some of the wetlands were ruled in order to do so. The DNR required restoration to that area—which is the bulk of the area Singh has applied to fill — but the city has refused to do so until Singh's application is decided.

It boils down to this: The city tells the DNR, "Why restore those wetlands now? They might be wrecked for good very soon." And the developer tells the DNR, "Why not approve the permit? Those wetlands are destroyed anyway."

In other words, it's become a classic shell-and-pea game run by the city and Singh; confusing the spectator is the main tactic. Each entity is using the other to support its own position — and they're both wrong. Singh's position is based on a situation which should not exist and can be remedied, and the city's is based on an expectation that Singh's faulty reasoning will win over the DNR. The losers of the game, if it runs its course, are the wetlands, the wildlife and the residents.

Singh and the city appear to have lost sight of a simple fact: that wetland is protected by law, it's protected for a reason, and playing fast and loose with the terms of that protection will benefit no one in the long run. The city and the company ought to wake up and recognize their duty to the residents and the planet. If they don't, the DNR should force them. We need wetlands — we need that wetland — and it deserves all the protection it can get.

Prevent disaster

By Christopher J. Kozlowski

Issues concerning safety are always of primary concern — especially to most folks when it concerns their children Which is why I was surprised two weeks ago to witness inadequate planning which could endanger the safety of school-age children

Driving eastbound on Eight Mile Road between Novi and Haggerty roads at about 3 p m , I was driving the lucky car which happened to get stuck behind a Northville public school bus. Being the experienced driver that I am, I knew the bus driver would drive at a pace slower than most other traffic, and that I would be running a little later on the busiest day of my week

Although I knew the bus would not be traveling at the rate of speed at which most cars travel on Eight Mile Road, I did not expect the bus to stop on a road which has a posted speed limit of 50 mph.

Much to my surprise, the bus stopped to let children off, bringing to a halt all traffic east and westbound on Fight mile

Instinctively, my first reaction — as yet another driver needing to get to a destination promptly — was how inconvenient it is to make traffic come to a complete halt on one of the most well-traveled speedy roads in the community My thoughts quickly sobered, however, when I realized how potentially dangerous it is for children to disembark from their buses on roads which are built for speed and high volumes of traffic

I am well aware that there are many regulations which govern school bus safety. I know there are many rules to protect school bus passengers, like prohibiting the bus to drive in reverse (because of 'driver sight limitations), a mandatory stop at all railroad crossings, and designated routes for all buses to follow. There are many valid concerns bettween homeowners associations and public and private entities concerning who is responsable for the safety of children at bus stops.

But it seems that with a little more forethought and cooperation, young children would not have to be subjected to what might be a disaster waiting to happen

Although I was surprised to discover the potential danger of school bus travel on Eight Mile Road, the danger on that street was minimal compared to what. I spotted last week in Livonia. While readying to make my westbound entry onto I-96, I was shocked when I saw a school bus stop to relieve itself of passengers not 25 feet in front of the Newburgh entrance ramp.

The city of Novi is currently battling with its own school district concerning who has governing authority over all school construction projects. The principle reason for the falling out, according to many officials, is that lines of communication need enhancement between the two entities. Maybe the two organizations also need to broaden the focus of their negotiations to examine ways they can work better outside the school's grounds, too. With many subdivisions and many internal roads left to be constructed in a city which is only 30 percent developed, maybe leaders of both groups could learn to cooperate on creating new, safer routes on which buses could travel off of main roadways.

There is more to progressive planning than meeting the needs of today. It takes foresight, and the desire to improve upon yesterday. There are many factors governing bodies must pay attention to while keeping a community moving forward. Add this one to the list.

It's amazing how the facts can get distorted.

Take Sunday afternoon, for example. There was Frank Tanana, gobbling up the ball and tossing it to first for the putout that clinched the American League East pennant for the Tigers.

With the victory in hand I stopped my nervous pacing and joined in the celebration, jumping up and down, high-fiving anyone I could find.

"I told you they would do it," I told her as she ran in to see what all the commotion was about. "I never waivered Even after the 11-19 start. Even when they dropped three-out-of-four to the Jays last weekend. I knew they'd take it all the way."

"That's not how I remember it," she sighed "As I recall it, you gave up on them when they didn't re-sign

See what I mean, dear readers? Honest, I never waivered. When things looked blue, I was still in their corner. My faith never faltered.

What's even sadder is the staff here at the paper shared her skepticism about my unimpeachable loyal ty.

"They did it," I roared as the crew arrived at work Monday morning. "Swept the Jays. World Series-bound and picking up steam. I told you they'd do it. I told you they'd come back and pull it out."

"Wait a minute," said Geoghegan, the sports reporter, as I stormed around the newsroom, administering high-fives that would make Kirk Gibson proud "You picked 'em fifth in the pre-season poll."

"Yeah," agreed Willis, the Novi reporter "You were the guy who said it was all over when they lost that first game in Toronto last weekend"

They were all wrong, of course It's disheartening that they would accuse me of having been less than confident of the Tigers' ultimate success during the course of the season And that's why I want to set the record straight once and for all Me and Sparky knew all along they would pull it out.

Statesmanship missing

To the Editor

Re Bork Nomination Hearings After viewing the opening day's hearing and subsequent daily reviews of the Senate Judiciary committee hearings on Judge Bork's nomination to become a US Supreme Court Justice, I began to wonder whatever has happened to the statesmanship that used to be ex hibited by our elected federal government officials Certainly little has been exhibited by the Democratic senators on the committee, and even worse, the opening day promise made over national television by Chairman Biden to Judge Bork of an open and fair hearing" has quickly turned into another of his many re cent public misleading statements

Fortunately, it appears that the American citizens have gotten a bel ly full of electing people with ques tionable integrity, as witnessed by the recent groundswell against the candidacy of Gary Hart and Joe Biden If this apparent demanding of higher standards for elected officials continues it is quite likely that few if any of the Democrats sitting on the judiciary committee could be reelected. In fact, we may again see in dividuals with high moral standards and integrity elected who might display old-fashioned statesmanship instead of the hypocrisy now so apparent, who look at the backgroud of many of the senators opposing Judge Bork's nomination

In the meantime, the country must endure the sordid, hypocritical and demagogic activities of the Judiciary Democratic Senators in their attempt to mislead the public of Judge Bork's true beliefs and positions taken on cases Yet these same cases, as well as hundreds of other cases on which he has ruled, have all stood up without a single one of his decisions being overruled by the Supreme Court.

L'm enclosing a copy of an editorial in the Sept 24, 1987, Wall Street Journal It does a far better job than this letter of going into the details of the background of those senators who are so adamant in distorting the Judge's record, and attempting to disqualify the individual who by most any standard of competence is probably the best qualified candidate to have been nominated and appear before the committee in many, many

Record is negligent

As a resident of Northville Township, I find it appalling that the one local newspaper has been negligent in reporting events that are important to Northville homeowners

The tax increase of 28 per thousand S E V was skimmed over with such expertise that we really didn't know what happened Your report told us we would be getting it, but not a word as to what increased services we would receive or why Just a statement that we are to pay it

The walk-away problems at Nor thville Psychiatric Hospital are no longer reported in your newspaper. yet I have personally witnessed many of these people being picked up by the police department in my area As a community service, this newspaper should include this in each publication, for the safety of all involved

A potential oil drilling project by Somoco Oil on state land, bordering Lakes of Northville subdivision has not been addressed by your publication Why not?

How does this affect the property owners? Your newspaper should supply this information Yet you don't All news pertaining to Northville residents should be published, not just the information pertaining to special interest groups The reporters attached to this newspaper seem to have their heads in the sand Safety, property values and taxes are a major concern to all the residents of Northville and should be addressed in your publication This is a rapidly changing community, and this newspaper should be on top of these changes. Our information comes from you and we look to you to present the facts of what is happening in our community

Football fervor

We are most grateful to Toni and By Ann Willis

Football'

I slid into the stands next to a middleaged woman and man They had their eyes peeled on the field I nodded appreciatively This was my very first local high school football game and I was aware of the tension, the excitement - the need for complete concentration.

After what I considered to be a respectful interval of watching the game, I turned to the woman and said smiling understandingly, "Your son is a player?" I thought I was witnessing a very American moment A mother watching her young son race up and down the field of sport, watching him collide and fall - with alternating feelings of pride

"No, my daughter plays the flute in the band," she said.

Lesson One. There are a lot of fine reasons to come out to a high school game, some of which have virtually nothing to do with the sport of football.

There is something about football and high school There is something about wearing a sweatshirt and sitting in the stands and screaming and waving and singing that makes me grin

So there I was, with most of the rest of the staff of the paper, sitting in the stands. grinning To truly appreciate the fervor with which the students, faculty and parents watch a game, you really do have to be there It's a little piece of life direct from Norman Rockwell

There was the team Row after row of uniformed football players lined the sidelines. There were very few smiles There was very little talking This was serious This was football

On a Friday night in September, if you are a football player on a high school team anywhere in America you are very serious If you are a starter you are very nervous If you are not a starter, you are very nervous because at any moment the coach could turn to you, point a finger, and you could be on the field. The whole thing made me very

Then there were spectators We sat near the aisle and never, during any portion of the four quarters, did kids stop going up and down. Up and down. Up and down. When they were up on top, they saw two people they knew down below When they met the two down below - there was the crowd to wave to up above It was fascinating

Lesson Two Being seen and looking good are very crucial parts to high school football games

Lots of activity takes place underthe stands as well I heard parents all around me telling children who were going off to meet people to "stay out from under the stands" This admonition may not have been needed in the second half after a skunk apparently not expecting such a crowd effectively cleared the area beneath the

In the ladies restroom sometime in the third quarter I learned another important lesson High school girls still go to the bathroom in groups They still brush their hair and stand ten deep in front of the mir rors talking about boys Football is definitely for girls too

When the halftime show began, I again leaned over toward the mother of the band member. "Which one is your daughter," I asked solicitously "We can't tell," she whispered back

Some Northvilla Lip of the may change to Novi

By ANN E. WILLIS

For many years now members of the Novi City Council and City Administration have wanted one thing from the United States Postal Service — the same zip code for all Novi residents

The battle, for once, did not involve increased revenue for the city. It did not involve changes in voting lines. school lines - or any of the other highly emotional demarcations between neighboring cities.

According to City Clerk Geraldine Stipp, it involved really only one "a sense of community uni-

Well, the attle has been fought on many fronts with many letters between Novi, Northville and the United States Postal Service, and a treaty of sorts has been sent to Novi from the postal service, giving the city a larger portion of land under the 48050 Novi zip code - but not all of its official boundary.

The change, if approved, would affect over 250 postal customers currently in the Northville zip code.

In an official notification Thomas Johnson, manager-postmaster, said postal officials from the Detroit Division of the postal service met to discuss the zip code boundaries of Northville (48167) and Novi (48050) This had become necessary due to the current and future growth of these bordering areas "

The postal service's main concern was deciding the overall zip code boundaries that would affect new development in either city.

As many residents know, the bulk of Novi's property lies within the 48050 zip code area. But many people who respond "Novi" when asked where they live - give "Northville" as their mailing address Likewise a portion of the residents who are eligible to vote in "Novi" elections res pond "Walled Lake" when asked for a mailing address

Johnson reported to the city that after reviewing the situation the postal service determined that 'initial planning will be started in gaining approval from Postal Service Headquarters, office of Address Information System," for a new boundary aggreement for the City of

The proposal made by Johnson does not give the 48050 zip code to all of the area within Novi's legal boundaries, Instead it gives Novi - or the 48050 zip code, a slightly expanded

Specifically, Novi is gaining territory north of Nine Mile, including those deliveries on the north side of Nine Mile, between Napier and Novi

Novi would gain all other deliveries on Nine Mile between Novi and Haggerty roads. Presently, both Northville and Novi are delivering to thèse residents.

Novi would maintain all present deliveries; no territory would be transferred to Northville.

A border would be set one-half mile north of Eight Mile between Meadowbrook and Novi Road All territory north of this border would be Novi Territory south of this border including the Woodland Glen Apartments and the proposed Chase Farms subdivision would be Northville

If the proposal passes through Postal Service Headquarters. residents would be alerted of the change by the post office directly All new households within the new boundaries would automatically be given the Novi (48050) zip code

Johnson warned the city that the process would be lengthy and even once approved there would be a long delay period before the new boun daries would go into effect

Novi council members appeared heartened by an answer to the continuing plea, but not completely satisfied with the outcome The ma jority still would like to see all of Novi covered by the 48050 zip code.

South Lyon group opens new eatery at Ann Arbor site

By LORA HELOU

State Fare Cafe owners Marilyn. Jim and Sean Autrey and Jaci Farrell are starting out on the ground floor of the competitive Ann Arbor restaurant market

Although the foursome has extensive food service experience, they have combined efforts to operate their new eatery on the ground floor of the Wolverine Tower at 3001 South State Street

Culinary, serving and dining manage nent skills, along with good business sense have brought the talented quartet much success since their rescaurant opened in June South Lyon resident Marilyn

Autrey, along with sons Jim, 25, and Sean, 22, ai d South Lyon High School Teacher Jaci Farrell cover all aspects of running what Sean calls their "up lated American grill" cafe

On somewhat of a whim and a mutual desire for a secure job future. the two women toyed with the idea of opening a restaurant After preliminary investigations with local Realtors, the pair invited Autrey's sons to join the venture

With nearly 30 years experience in the food service industry in southeastern Michigan, Marilyn has worked in various jobs - from waitress to dining room manager. In addition to working as a server. Marilyn acts as the State Fare bookkeeper

Chef Sean Autrey, a graduate of the Culinary Institute in Hyde Park. New York, worked as a chef one-anda-half years in the Meadowood Resort in California's Napa Valley before returning to Michigan for the restaurant venture Sean works as the primary chef and food purchaser

After a six-year stint in the United States Air Force, older brother Jim joined Sean in California and worked as a waiter at Meadowood and in nearby Calistoga He now serves as

New business prompts Edison's growth

Reflecting continuing economic progress in southeastern Michigan Detroit Edison's new business activity increased more than 18 percent during the first half of 1987 compared with the same period last year

Burkhard H Schneider group vice president in charge of divisional operations, said the com pany's six operating divisions handled nearly 11,000 orders for new business during the six month period, including service connections for new customers and projects to expand service to existing customers

"This performance," he said, "is an indicator of the revitalization occurring in our southeastern Michigan service area and we expect this pattern to continue

Schneider said Detroit Edison's new-business growth in the January-June period, compared with the same period a year ago, continued at a rapid pace in the Oakland and Macomb divisions Depsite a slight drop in new-business orders in Oakland, actual levels of overall activity remain high The company's Macomb Division, which has experienced similar development, reported a 28 percent increase Other increases were 57 percent in the Ann Arbor Division, 28 percent in the Wayne-Monroe Division, 27 percent in the Detroit

Division and 17 percent in the Thumb Division Schneider said an important element in sustained economic growth is the continuing cooperative effort of Detroit Edison and other companied and agencies to attract new business to the area, as well as to encourage existing businesses to remain in southeastern Michigan and to expand, moder

He said that as Michigan's largest private promoter of economic development. Detroit Edison has helped many businesses locate or expand in its service area

These efforts help create new jobs for people in southeastern Michigan They also create new opportunities for existing businesses - ranging from direct suppliers to corner grocery stores to homebuilders who benefit from the new enter prises," Schneider said

As an example he said seven new plants and a new laboratory have been built or are planned just to serve the new Mazda automobile assemble plant in Flat Rock and a number of other com-

Detroit Edison helped many of the companies by offering special incentive electric rates. Schneider said. He said that at the utility's request, the Michigan Public Service Commission has approv ed four such rates enabling Detroit Edison to help spur the growth of industrial and commercial customers plus other rates which can help these customers trim their operating costs

This also benefits our other customers Schneider said. "When we help a business locate or expand, that firm buys more electricity. This growing sales volume - satisfied by existing power generating capacity - enables Detroit Edison to spread its fixed costs of providing ser vice over a broader base. This helps us hold down our prices to all customers '

Schneider said that Detroit Edison actively pur sues economic development opportunities because, as a business permanently located in southeastern Michigan, the company's success depends on the economic success of the communities it serves

"As we at Detroit Edison and others continue to look for ways to improve the attractiveness of the business climate in southeastern Michigan, we recognize that much still needs to be done he add "We are encouraged by the economic strides made so far, principally through cooperative

Massages are fun for health's sake

By CHRISTOPHER J. KOZLOWSKI

Massages are not always illegal, and they are not always given just for fun.

And to prove is, you can even take a class to lean how to give an effective, therapeutic, relaxing massage at Schoolcraft College next week.

Dan Butts, a Pleasant Ridge clinical psychologist who teaches courses at community colleges throughout the metro Detroit area, will conduct a three-hour seminar Oct. 15 at Schoolcraft concerning what he calls the "fine art" of massaging for better health.

"Massage is just one form of therapeutic body work that treats the circulatory system by stimulating . . specific body parts," said Butts.

Although many people already know how relaxing a well-done back or neck massage can be. Butts said massages can even have more productive results for a person's circulatory system.

Butts said certain massage techniques are very helpful at relieving certain types of congestion, circulatory disorders, constipation, menstrual cramps, conditions afflicting joints (arthritic stiffness) and certain nervous conditions. "I would not want to claim that massaging cures anything in particular — partly because the medical profession seems to feel it has a monopoly on cure therapies — but regardless of whether it cures or facilitates the cure ... the body's natural healing mechanisms are more effective ... by stimulating the circulatory system," Butta said.

Most everyone likes to receive a good massage, but not quite as many people are eager to give them - most often because they do not feel they know how or have mastered the techniques.

But good massages are waiting to be given by everyone, according to Butts, who says that massaging

Butts: 'It is an art. It is a science, too, but it is an art. Anybody can do it, and you get better and better as you go along. As I tell my students, too, you really can't go wrong.'

is an instinctive skill.

'You just have to look at your natural instincts," Butts said. "When you have a stiff neck, for instance, there is a natural, universal tendency to start rubbing the tense area."

There are techniques for certain body areas and certain body parts. But what Butts said is really important has absolutely nothing to do with how firm your grip is. or how long the massage lasts.

'Just having good intentions, caring about someone, and wanting to help someone feel better is really, really important," Butts said. "Having the right attitude is im-

Relieving physical fatigue is an important reason to ge, but what is just as important is the emotional benefits people can receive by a therapeutic

"There have been experiments that demonstrated that there is an energy coming from the fingers, and that it is very soothing," Butts said. "There is warmth when you feel another person's hand."

Butts said there are a variety of techniques to use. depending on the body part you are massaging and the effect you wish to achieve. Although a massage table is best to use, for the sake of the masseuse, it is not

What is necessary, according to Butts, is that both persons are relaxed and really want to perform what he calls "body work." It is also important that the person being massaged be relaxed and free from distractions.

'It is an art. It is a science, too, but it is an art.' "Anybody can do it, and you get better and better as you go along. As I tell my students, too, you really can't go wrong. Unless you are angry at someone or really distracted . . . it is probably best not to do it," Butts said. "As I tell people, 'all you really have to have is two hands and a heart "

Dating patterns unphased by time

lthough there has been a dramatic increase in premarital sex and cohabitation over the past 60 years, a University of Michigan study of dating patterns in Detroit shows that other aspects of dating have not changed much.

Martin Whyte, a U-M sociologist, and his students interviewed 459 Detroit women about their personal dating history to discover changes in courtship patterns.

Sixty-six of the women in the study were married between 1924 and 1944, and many are grandmothers today. Another 180 were post-World War II brides who wed between 1945 and 1964, and 206 were more recent brides who went down the aisle between 1965 an relationships have not changed much-About half (46 percent) of the women in each generation said their parats had tried to influence who they dated and 36 percent said their parents had forbidden them to see someone

The median age of marriage has also been fairly stable for 50 years. "Pre-war brides in Detroit married at 21," Whyte said, "and postwar brides married when they were about 20. More recent brides said their vows when they were several months past 21.

A big generational change, however, occurs in the number of men dated by women in each era. The youngest generation said they dated 12-15 men before they settled down. The post-war brides went out with 10-14 men, but today's grandmothers dated only four to seven men before they got mar-

The study also showed that women in succeeding generations have begun going steady earlier and earlier. Generally, pre-war brides dated two years before they went steady and post-war brides dated a full year. The youngest generation, hoever, began to go steady the same year they began to date - at age 16. Also, only 25 percent of the recent brides said their husbands had been their only "steadies" compared with 34 percent of their mothers' and 55 percent of their grandmothers' generation.,

Not unexpectedly, the data showed that premarital sex rose dramatically over three generations. Only 29 percent of the brides married after 1965 were virgins when they wed compared with 50 percent of the post-war brides and 82 percent of pre-war brides.

Mothers' Club distributes community directory

Northville Mothers' Club reports this week that the 1987-88 community telephone directory it publishes every other year has been mailed to all residents in the Northville school district. compiled its first local telephone directory in 1968 and has made the directory a project on alternate years. Anyone who did not receive a directory may pick one up at the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce office; anyone who would like additional copies may purchase them for $2 each.

Margie Sievert, who was in charge of the new directory, points out that the duck design decorating the blue cover was the work of Kaleen Valentine, a 1987 graduate of Northville High School and the Livonia Career Center. A highlight of her senior year was designing the winning poster for a Northwest Airlines ad campaign and receiving an all-expense paid trip to Japan for herself and her family.

The Mothers' Club welcomed six new members at its first fall meeting: Sue Shepard, Susan Couzens, Deborah Lopez, Marilyn Robison, Bonnie St. Thomas and Sue Eppers. Officers for the 1987-88 year are Judy Somershoe, president; Judy Bartling, vice president; Linda Handyside, treasurer; Kathi Jerome, recording secretary; Sue Todd, corresponding secretary. Committee chairpersons are Kathy Arenz, telephone; Lani Bond, publicity; Joy Holloway, goals; Karen Hill, finance; Karin Hardin, program; and Connie Qualman,

Model houses open in festive benefit tonight for village

By ANITA CRONE

Two imposing houses in Northville's newest subdivision are receiving special decorating treatment just in time for a visit from the public. Both will be open tonight in an unusual benefit for Northville Historical Society.

"The Wexford," Cambridge Homes' 3,450-square-foot entry in Pheasant Hills subdivision, has been decorated by Cheryl Sauer, IDS, and Judy Weiser, IDS, ASID associate, and the women say it has been a pleasure to match the interior to the exterior.

'We were approached to decorate the model home and given a budget, but the rest was left to us." explained Sauer, who works for Ray Interiors. We knew the house was a Tudor and it was in Northville, but the final choices are as much a reflection of Judy and myself as they are anything

The women have chosen to take the more traditional design elements of the house and to accessorize the interior in a more contemporary man-

When the house is entered through the two-car attached garage, the bleach wood flooring in the kitchen immediately catches the eye of a visitor. Harmonizing with the flooring are the wood cupboards and the aqua and mauve wallpaper that leads into the windowed breakfast

The house boasts a great room with a focal point in the fireplace, and there. Weiser said, it was important to call attention to it.

We selected marble, since it's a formal room and also elected to go with very soft, sheer window treatments, beginning just below the arch of the room's two windows.

On the far side of the great room, away from the kitchen, a grand piano, from Evola Music, heightens the formality of the room, as well as provides a piece of fine furniture.

The living room has 16 foot ceilings, and a wood balcony on the second floor level allows an unimpeded wiew of the entire great room. For less formal entertaining, Sauer and Weiser have turned what was described as the library into a media room, including recording equipment, television sets and a less formal, love seat arrangement.

In the dining room, a stripped pine breakfront and a massive oak dining table with matching chairs with upholstered cushions emphasize the continuity of color.

"We thought about who would live in the house and designed it to meet that lifestyle," said Sauer. She said that the fictional family would include two adults, probably in their 50s, and two children.

The upstairs allows both of the children, a boy and a girl, a room of their own, as well as a massive, comfortable master suite and guest

"We wanted a (girl's) room that definitely was feminine but still was contemporary," Sauer said, noting that the bed is brass and that there are white draperies over the window. which looks out over the front of the

The boy's room includes maple furniture and is the only room where the aqua, green or rose color scheme is not carried through.

The master suite bathroom is very contemporary, with golden bath fixtures, a stall shower totally enclosed in glass, and a sunken tub which sits beneath the three windows.

Two connected mirrors overhang the vanity and there is plenty of space beneath for storing toiletries

The second home on the tour is located across the street from the the Wexford model. The developers, Singh of Northville Associates and Cambridge Homes Inc., with James D. Campo and Ray Interiors are cooperating to present the benefit.

Residents are invited to take the tour of the homes between 7-9 p.m tonight. Georgiana Schimpf, who is chairing the event for the Northville Historical Society, notes that it will be "the first viewing of models ranging in price from a quarter of a million to a half million dollars." Tickets will be available at the door for the grand opening at $25 a person. The evening will include champagne and hors d'oeuvres from MacKinnon's as well as musical entertainment.

Proceeds will be donated to the Northville Historical Society to help pay for the move of the Cady Inn to the Mill Race Historical Village.

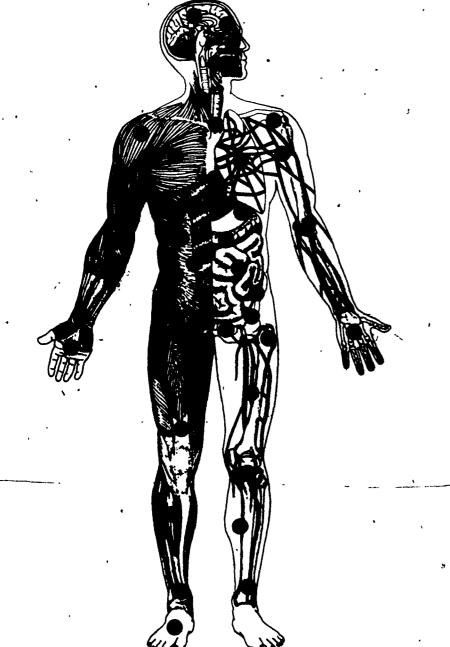

Beginning Saturday and continuing through Oct. 25, volunteer guides will lead visitors through the homes for a $2 donation at the door or $1.50 fee in advance. Tour hours are noon to 6 p.m. Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday. Friday and Sunday and from noon to 8 p.m. Thursday and 10 a.m. to 6 p.m Saturday.

Tickets may be purchased through chairman Schimp by calling 349-4890. Pheasant Hills subdivision is located on the north side of Eight Mile Road between Taft and Beck

Area band hopes to play closer to home

By BOB NEEDHAM

The members of League of Nations enjoy playing their music in bars and clubs on the metro area's east side But they'd like it even more if they could do it around here.

Several members of the band have ties to the area, including one who lives in Northville, another who used to live in Northville, and a third who lives in Livonia. It would be nice, they said, to get some chances to play in their own home area.

, As it is, the band — which has been playing in its present form for about six months — is trying to establish a following in places like the Token

Lounge and the Hamtramck Pub. The members of the band say their music doesn't easily fit into a category. They all have different musical backgrounds and interests, and it shows.

"It's our own. It's rock and roll and yet it's not heavy metal; it's not the deep new wave techno stuff," guitarist Joe Humeniuk said

The band's material is all original. "All of us write," said band member Alan Canning, a Northville resident. 'We've got songs we haven't touched

Plenty of area bar bands play a lot sometimes only - covers of familiar, accessible songs. But that's not the way League of Nations likes to work.

"Being a writer, I want to express myself, and the band (members) want to express themselves,' Humeniuk said. Playing covers "falls into a 'going nowhere' situation for us. It does nothing for us

musically," he said.

Bass player Tim Doss added, "For me, creating is a wonderful thing to do. Music is the universal language, and to be able to speak the language is a God-given talent '

Audiences appreciate their approach. "We've been working steady. People are noticing us and we're starting to get some jobs,' Canning said.

They are also finishing studio recordings of five of their songs. Once that's done, they hope to find some sponsorship and release a two-song 45. And they'd also like to play in some different places - especially the west side.

"The west area is very dry" live music, Doss said. The band has played twice at the Marquis Theater in downtown Northville, and would enjoy playing in the city's bandshell. But the western suburbs could really use a couple regular outlets for area bands, they said

'We're not into destroying things," Humeniuk said. "We want to become entertainers, and we want to express ourselves."

"We know we could be as big as any band," he added. And when that happens, they said, it would be nice to be able to thank the home town for

Upcoming dates for League of Nations include: Oct. 10. Hamtramck Pub: Oct. 12, Rick's in East Lansing; Oct. 23, Red Carpet Lounge; Oct. 24, Hamtramek Pub; Oct. 31, Michigan Gallery; and Nov. 7, Hamtramck Pub. For more information about the band, call Canning at 349-1928.

For the average Western Lakes Activities Association (WLAA) team, like Livonia Stevenson and Franklin, that pressure is too much to handle. Last week, the Mustang cagers successfully employed this kind of defense against the Spartans and Patriots, and came through with a pair of key victories. Stevenson feil 58-51 on Sept. 29 and Franklin followed suit two days later, 51-41. It marked the first two-game sweep for Coach Ed Kritch's up-and-coming team, and put Northville above the .500 mark for the first time as well (5-4 overall, 3-2 in the WLAA).

"I thought we played well in both games," Kritch related. "This week was by far the highlight of the season

The host Mustangs took early control of the game with a 21-12 blitz in the first quarter as the Spartans 'couldn't contain Northville's running game or figure out how to attack the sure defense. By the end of the. first half, Stevenson trailed 37-26.

"We pushed the ball up-court and our press was successful," Kritch said. "The combination of (guard Karen) Baird from the outside and (forward Katie) Brugman on the inside enabled us to take it to them especially in the first quarter Karen had 15 points and Katle had nine points in the first half alone. I thought Katle played her best game of the

In the second half, the Mustangs had several chances to blow Stevenson out, but the Spartans hung in there to keep things close. With a lead hovering in the seven-to-nine point range for much of the second half, Kritch decided to go with the stall with three minutes left in the game His players responded without a single turnover

Baird paced Northville with 17 points, Debbie Stevens added 15 and Brugman 11 Point guard Jeanine LaPrad also had "her best game of the year," according to Kritch, and chipped in four assists

The Mustangs started out slow against Franklin and trailed 9-4 with two minutes remaining in the first quarter But Debbie exploded oftensively and proceeded to score the team's next nine points in a row. The Northville built a modest 23-17 lead before the Patriots came storming back to take a brief 24-23 advantage midway through the second. A late spurt gave the Mustangs a 29-25 halftime cushion.

Franklin never fell behind by more than 11 but never did get any closer than four in the second half. A threepoint play by Stevens made it 40-33 after three quarters and only several turnovers late in the game enabled the Patriots to stay close. In the final two minutes, Baird turned the ball

"We went into a stall and turned it over a couple times but we made a few adjustments during a time out and held on," Kritch explained

Stevens ended the game with a career-high 25 points, and 12 key rebounds. Surprisingly, it set a new Northville school record for points scored in a game.

"Debbie was simply phenomenal," Kritch said "No player has ever scored that much in a single game she nearly scored half our points '

Karen Baird added eight points and four steals while Heather Sixt chipped in with six, but both had suppar shooting outings

"Heather had her worst shooting game of the season and Karen wasn't hitting either," Kritch said "So we really needed Debbie to come through and she certainly did

Northville doubles player Julie Millgard prepares to serve

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

For the fifth straight week the Northville gridders were involved in a very close football game But, unlike the previous four, last Friday's clash with Livonia Franklin was different

It was the first weekend of football in October, and it was the Mustangs' homecoming game — but the big difference was that this time, finally, Northville pulled out the win

The 14-13 triumph was very much like all the other close games this season. Little mistakes doomed the Mustangs in the first four, but what goes around, comes around It came around for the locals on a missed extra point by the Patriots in the third quarter providing a one-point cushion that eventually stood up.

"It was fun to have the breaks go our way for a change," Mustang Coach Darrel Schumacher said "I am very thankful for the win The kids have worked hard all year and they really needed a win. I feel good for the kids."

Northville's offense continues to sputter, but a pair of big plays and, perhaps, Franklin mistakes, led to the victory. A fake punt turned into a 71-yard Mustang touchdown in the first quarter and a fumble recovery in the third and a short drive supplied the second score. Franklin put together just one extended scoring drive - the Pat's only other score came on a pass interception and 38yard return for a touchdown in the second quarter.

"It was a special win," Schumacher said. "It was homecoming and everybody was hungry for a victory. The kids were very happy — we really needed a lift like this."

Franklin opened the game with a bang, taking the kickoff and coming within one tackle of going all the way A touchdown saving tackle by Mike Valentine saved the day for Nor-

The Patriots started the game on the Mustang 42 but failed to move the Northville's (irst possession went nowhere, and a fourth down and the at-their own 29 brought up a punting situation. When Franklin lined up for the return, they left end Mike Karfis uncovered and up-back Ed Walsh noticed it. He audiblized at the line for the fake punt, took the snap and hit a wide-open Karfis with a 15-yard strike. Karfis then scampered down the sidelines for the score. Todd Daniels' extra point made it 7-0.

"Ed Walsh is given the choice and he made the right decision," Schumacher said. "It was an audible situation and he noticed that Franklin left (Karfis) uncovered. It was a gamble, but at this stage of the season, we needed a win very badly." On the Mustangs' next possession,

Northville 39 After driving down to the II, the defense stiffened, and Mike Hale forced a Franklin fumble that was recovered by Scott

But in the second quarter, the Mustangs made another mistake and this time Franklin capitalized on it Greg Price tried to connect with a receiver on a short slant pass, but it was picked off by Steve Olsen and returned 38-yards for the T.D. The score and point after attempt made it 7-7 at halftime.

On the kickoff to start the second half. Northville got its second big break Mike Hale came up with the big play again, pouncing on a Franklin fumble at the Patriot 19. Five plays later, Karfis bulled in from the two and the Daniels kick which appeared routine at the time made it 14-7

Later in the third quarter, a poor Mustang punt set up the game's final score. Runner Tom Napier capped a 33-yard drive with a three-yard touchdown plunge but a bad snap on the point after attempt foiled the kick. It turned out to be the difference in the game.

Northville made it interesting in the fourth quarter as the defense surrendered a 55-yard drive, but a bad exchange between the quarterback and a runner with less than two minutes left jarred the ball loose and an opportunistic Sam Khashan jumped on the fumble The Mustangs then ran out the clock for their initial win of the 1987 season

Good defensive pursuit and several big plays by the specialty teams enabled Northyille to pull out the win. In addition to his kicking chores, linebacker Todd Daniels led the way defensively with five solo tackles and four assists. He was joined by Mark Stevens, Rob Spraudlin and Khashan - each chipped in with five solos

Offensively, Mike Yard gutted out 73 tough yards on 19 carries, but he was one of the few bright spots, Quarterback Greg Price was only 1of-5 for 8 yards and the one intercep-

Up and down week for Northville netters

Last week was a lousy week for tennis weather-wise, but that doesn't mean all the Northville netters played lousy.

Actually, it was kind of an all or nothing week for the squad as some Mustangs played tremdously while others slumped. On Sept. 28, Northville ripped Walled Lake Western 7-0, but came up shy in the rain and cold against North Farmington on Oct. 2. The Raiders pulled off a mild 4-3 upset, handing the Mustangs their first WLAA league defeat.

An 84-13 advantage in games won gives a good indication as to how dominating Northville was against Western None of the seven matches extended to three sets.

Adrienne Edwards downed Kelly Leahy at No. 1 singles, Abby Edwards continued her winning ways by clobbering Kristen Anthony (6-0, 6-0) at No. 2, Kathleen Kotaraki slipped past Bernie Hoffman 6-3, 6-2 and Karen Vogt outgunned Heather McHugh 6-1, 6-1.

In doubles Jennifer Trabin and Nanci Dutkiewicz blanked Becky Clancy and Amy Taylor (6-0, 6-0), unbeaten Laura Nance and Julie Millgard cruised along with a 6-0, 6-0 win over Jeannee Craft and Heather Hodson, while the third doubles team of Aimee Edwards and Jacquie Trausch bombed Sarah Jaffe and Pat Fernandez 6-2, 6-3.

The North Farmington/Northville match was interrupted twice by rain, and Mustang Coach Uta Filkin believes the stoppage of play made a big difference.

We lost a couple of flights we probably shouldn't have," she said. 'Under normal conditions, we probably would have won a couple more There were a lot of three-setters "

Adrienne Edwards played an outstanding match at No 1 and turned back the Raider's Wendy Wolf, 6-6-1 — but it was the only singles win for Northville. Abby Edwards lost for the first time this year (not counting an injury default) 3-6, 4-6 to Becky Gressler, Kotarski was crushed by Ann Heimbuch (2-6, 4-6) and Vogt fell to Meredith Wall 1-6, 6-1, 3-6).

"Karen is just a freshman and ? think she got a little rattled," Filkin said. "She was playing real well heading into the third set and then we had a rain delay. It cooled her down very quickly and she never recovered - she lost the momen-

In doubles, Trabin and Dutiewicz lost a tough match to Pam Gressier and Carrie Lee 5-7, 6-4, 3-6. Dutkiewicz was forced to play with a borrowed racket when she broke a string on her own early in the match. Nance and Millgard took care of Miki Leischner and Carey Maxwell (6-1, 7-6) at No. 2 while Aimee Edwards and Shannon Couzens pulled out a win in a marathon match at No. 3 (4-6, 6-2, 6-

"I was worried heading into this one because we hadn't had any tough competition in two weeks," Filkin explained. "Nothing can keep you sharp as well as a tough match

"We played very well at No 1 singles, No. 2 doubles and No 3 doubles, but I thought we should have won at No 2 and 4 singles and No 1 doubles."

The Mustangs (9-2 overall, 9-1 in WLAA) will be hosting a Michigan High School Athletic Association (MHSAA) Regional playoff starting tomorrow (Oct. 9). A total of 12 Class A teams will be competing at sites in Northville and Schoolcraft College,

The Northville soccer team fell victim to a perfect attack on Sept 30 and dropped a one-sided 5-1 decision to Farmington on the road

A non-conference 4-1 victory over Novi two days later helped the team get back on the winning track, but the Mustangs were still reeling from the spanking at the hands of the Faicons a WLAA opponent

"We got beat, what can I say?" Northville Coach Dave Yezback asked "It really wasn't as one-sided as the score seems to indicate. I thought we contained them fairly well but they were extremely accurate on their shots. Everything they did went right - we didn't play all that poorly. We were just never able to counteract their deadly shooting."

Farmington scored the game's first goal 16 minutes into the first half as Steve Lee headed the ball past Mustang goalie Roger Kimary off a corner kick. About 10 minutes later, Joey Crow made it 2-0 on a beautiful falling away shot off a crossing pass. Lee scored again just before halftime by volleying in a crossing pass in front of the net to give the Falcons a Farmington added two more goals in the second half to establish control, but the Mustangs did score a goal with less than a minute remaining to avoid the shutout. Jim Burkowski was credited with the goal. For the game, the Falcons held an 18-11 shots-on-goal advantage, but the key was five of 18 ended up in the Mustang net.

The Northville/Novi match-up was the first time these two neighbors had ever met on the soccer field. The Mustangs appeared a little lax in the early portion of the first half, and the Wildcats took advantage with a goal at the 23-minute mark, beating

goalkeeper Brad Metz

Whether it was the after effects of the loss to Farmington or not, the. Mustangs came out very uninspired. against Novi. But the first goal seemed to wake up the team and, a minute later, Steve Austin had tied the score at 1-1 Austin headed a pass from Eric Halverson past Wilcat goalie Nat Scappaticci.

The only other tally of the first half came with just two minutes remaining. Northville's Steve Yezback sent a clearing pass on the wing to Halver. son and the senior midfielder broke free and nailed a long shot into the net, high on the far post

In the second half, Brad Maliszewski made it 3-1 with a goal off a corner kick from Yezback. Junior Andy Frey then wrapped up the scoring with an insurance goal attime was running out. Frey volleyed in a pass from Chris Goode.

We controlled the ball most of the game and outshot them 15-8," Yezback pointed out. "I thought Noviwas well represented, though. They gave us a good game at midfield and I hope we can continue to play each: other and develop a little rivalry."

Novi Coach Nick Valenti felt the same way. Although disappointed. with the loss, he was impressed with the calibre of play by both teams.

"It was a very good soccer game," he said, "Northville is well coached." We had our opportunities but they. played a good defensive game. They; seemed to be step ahead of us all the

"I don't mind losing to a team that is better than we are. They beat us fair and square."

The Mustangs (8-4-1 overall, 4-2-1 in WLAA) are still in the hunt for a Western Division title but must defeat Livonia Churchill on Oct. 5 (after Record deadline). Currently, the Chargers are undefeated and ranked third in the state.

Tankers drop first meet of campaign

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

When Livonia Churchill and Northville squared off in a girls' swim meet on Oct. 10, there was a lot of talent in the water.

The Mustangs set a pair of state qualifying times and broke another school record — all in all, the per-formances were very good. Unfortunately, Northville seemed to bring the best out in the Chargers and they cruised to a 95-77 Western Lakes league victory.

In earlier action, the Mustangs dunked Redford Thurston 52-31 on Sept. 29 and performed well as a team at the Fenton Relays last weekend. The loss to Churchill was Northville's first of the '87 campaign, and dropped the team's record to 2-1 overall (1-1 in the WLAA),

"Churchili is very tough,"

Mustang Coach Bill Dicks said. They are fast individually but they also have good depth and that is a tough combination. They outpointed us in a lot of events."

Junior Wendy Beach is making an early claim as the best diver Northville's ever had. Against Churchill, Beach grabbed first place and set a new school record in the event with a point total of 223.95. The new mark shattered the long-standing previous record by more than 16 points.

Sophomore Debbie Buell also had a memorable outing. She notched firstplace honors in the 200- and 500-yard freestyle races, and also qualified for the state meet in both events. The only other Mustang win came in the 100 backstroke by Pam Holdridge.

Michelle Beacham paced all the second place finishers with a personalhigh point total in diving. Other runner-up swims were registered by Julie Hilfinger in the 200 IM and the 100 breastroke, Michelle Stephens in the 50 and 100 freestyle events, and Holdridge in the 100 butterfly.

Most of the Northville seconds pushed the undefeated Chargers on to four state qualifying cuts.

"There isn't a tougher league than the WLAA, from top to bottom and in every event," Dicks pointed out. "There isn't any better competition anywhere." The win over Thurston also featured some fine swims, as the locals captured firsts in seven of the 11 events. The 200 medley relay team of Holdridge, Suzanne Kowalski, Kristi Fortenberry and Rachel Davis won in the first event and it set the tone for the rost of the meet. The Mustangs of r firsts included Megan Holmberg in the 200 IM and 100 breastroke, Kristin Woodsum in the 50 freestyle, Beach in diving, Hilfinger in the 100 freestyle and the 400 freestyle relay combo of Buell, Stacy Lang, Kowalski and Clair Cryder-

Northville seconds came from

Lang in the 50 freestyle, Becky Frayne in the 100 fresstyle and Erika Lutz in the 100 breastroke.

The highlight for the Mustangs at the Fenton Relays came in the 400 IM relay, as Buell, Hilfinger, Holdridge and Holmberg teamed up to set a new meet record and grab a first-place finish. It helped the team place fifth overall in the 11 team competition, 52 points behind the winner.

Northville also added a pair of seconds in Fenton. Buell, Hillinger, Holdridge and Stephens were runnerups in the 400 medley relay while Holmberg, Frayne, Fortenberry and Woodsum combined for a second in the 400 freestyle relay. The diving team of Beach and Beacham also performed well - taking third place

The Mustangs host Plymouth Canton tonight (Oct 8) in another key WLAA match-up It is the team's only action slated for the week.

Canton turns back harriers

Plymouth Canton boys' and girls' cross country teams gave their Northville counterparts all they could handle in action on Oct 1 at Cass Benton Park in the boys' race, Canton placed five runners in the top seven en route to a relatively easy 23-33 victory The loss was Northville's second in league action and all but knocked the team out of the WLAA Western Division title race

"The Mustang girls' team fell to a vastly superior team, 15-52, which put a quick end to Northville's brief winning streak. Coach Nick Dunwoodje's team showed more improvement, but the talented Chiefs took the top five places overall

With senior John Frisbie back in the fold, the Mustang boys had the strength at the top, but not nearly enough depth. Frisbie won the race in 16 56, which marks his first sub-17 minute run this season, but he had very little help. Senior Scott Sinkwitts did place fourth overall in a time of 17 50, but the next Northville runner placed all the way down in

The rest of the Mustang field in cluded Doug Meadows (8th, 18 21), Jay Griffith (9th, 18 22), Jeff Hoose (11th, 18:34) and Andy Haas (15th, 19.07) Only Griffith's time was good for a new personal best

"I thought our performances were good but I was hoping we could run it a little closer — it just didn't happen." Northville Coach Ed Gabrys said "Our pack time was closer and Frisbie ran just 22 seconds behind his personal best so that puts him on a

"Actually, our times are very compatible to last year's, but I think the competition keeps getting tougher. Everyone seems to be harvesting their seniors this year. Relatively speaking, we're not doing as well record-wise, but time-wise I'm not disappointed.'

The young and inexperienced girls' squad never had much of a chance against Canton, so the outcome wasn't unexpected Coach Dunwoodie continues to see time improvements, and despite the lopsided defeat, he remains confident.

'Canton was very strong," he said "In fact, their number one girl was running right up there with a lot of the guys I expected it to go just about as it did We ran the race, more or less, as a workout to prepare ourselves for Livonia Franklin.'

Franklin and Northville hook up tonight (Oct 8) in a key WLAA Western Division match-up. The Mustangs are 1-3 overall, but are still in the thick of things with a 1-1 division mark

"I think running against Canton showed our girls how a real good team runs, and we can learn from that," Dunwoodie said. "Their first five runners were packed close together and they steadily pulled away from us right from the start."

To make matters worse, several Northville runners got caught out of position at the starting line and had to run around a tree before getting back into the course. It cost the team valuable seconds, but most still clocked in with improved times.

"The improvements this week weren't as great as they were last week, but they were improvements," Dunwoodie said. "It's still a step in the right direction '

Freshman Marcie Dart nears the one-mile mark versus Canton

Local triathlete out-survives opponents

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

What kind of a person would swim a half-mile, bike another 20 miles and run an additional 5-to-6.2 miles if not being pursued by the law?

Actually, about the only sane person to do all that in one day is a triathlete. Northville's Jeff Higgins, 17, has only participated in triathlons since 1985, but he is quickly establishing himself as one of the best young triathletes in the state.

"I saw the Ironman Competition on T.V. and heard about some local triathlons, and I thought I'd give it a try," said the Northville High School senior. "That was two years ago."

Because Higgins is still a year away from being an adult, he found it difficult to find triathlons for anyone under the age of 18. Higgins participated in just one triathlon in 1985 and another in 1986, but expanded the number to three this summer. Perhaps the most frequent question he's asked is 'why?" What is so appealing about a grueling endurance event that combines the basic skills of swimming, biking and running?

"It's a great chance to challenge yourself," he replied. "It's surviving. Trying to go out there and putting everything - not just one sport - but three different things you have to be very good at. There is a sort of pride in knowing that you can out-survive everybody else.'

Since he started with the triathlons, Higgin's goal has always been to complete the course, improve his times and try to place - which is usually among the top five. None of the goals is particularly easy, but Higgins has met them head on - especially during the 1987 season.

In early August, Higgins failed to finish a triathlon in Gaylord due to an illness. It marked the first, and only time, he has been unable to complete a course once he's set out. But he came back strong on Sept. 5 in the Greater Niles (Mich.) Triathlon to place third overall in the boys 16-19 age group. The Niles race drew over 380 total par ticipants - needless to say, he was very pleased with the results.

"I was so excited that I felt very energetic after the triathlon was completed," he admitted. " should have been dead tired but the adrenaling from finishing third kept me going.

"As soon as I turn 18, I'll be able to compete in more triathlons all across the nation, and I am really looking forward to that," he said.

Millions of Americans take part in triathlons

Surprisingly, not all triathlons are grueling "iron man" competitions. The fact is, triathlons are held across the nation in varying lengths and fitness levels so the general public can take part in the fun and excitement of friendly sports competition.

Ten years ago hardly anyone had heard of triathlons. Today, over a million men and women enter such competitions around the United States each year. The growth of the sport may be because the combination of swimming, cycling and running emphasizes total body fitness. Many people enjoy the variety of training in three sports instead of just one. Many also find that by diversifying training between the three events, they lessen their chance of injury.

One corporation, the Stroh Brewery based in Detroit, recently joined the excitement and enthusiasm of triathlons with the Stroh's American Race Challange. The Tri-American series is run differently in each city. The series encompasses races at all distances from a half-mile swim, 14-mile bike ride and four-mile run to more challanging distances.

The good news for competitors is that corporation involvement enhances the quality of these eventy by providing funding and medi coverage. It's also fun for armchai athletes to watch events like these they see athletes test their strength at grueling distances at the "iron man'' competitions as well thousands of men and women got short distances. The exciteme comes from seeing both classes athletes strive for their own person best records.

Linksters peak in win over WL Central

As the high school golf season winds down, the Northville linksters couldn't have picked a better time to

With the Western Lakes Activities Association (WLAA) Championships just four days away and the regional to follow, the Mustangs put together their best performance in many years, crushing Walled Lake Central on the road, 197-231. It marked the first time this season Northville's been able to break the 200-stroke barrier - a score that just may be a school record

"Some of the kids thought it may be a school record but I really don't know," Mustang Coach Don Morgan said "I do know it was our best effort this year To break 200 is great Earlier in the week we had a practice and I could see it coming The scores were lowering then and I could see

we were starting to come around '' What was slated to be a busy week for the linksters ended up very slow A scheduled match with Plymouth Christian on Sept 28 never happened as the Plymouth school opted out. giving Northville a forfeit win Then came two consecutive rain-outs against North Farmington (on Sept 29) and Westland John Glenn (on Sept 30) Only the North match will be rescheduled.

So with just one match to prepare for the WLAA championships, the Mustangs needed a good performance to set the tone for the stretch run - and they came through

"I think we would have been in trouble if we hadn't got the Walled Lake Central match in," Morgan said "We seem to peaking at the right time. The kids are playing smarter and they are a little more comfortable now that we're well into the season. The timing has been just

The big surprise at Edgewood Country Club in Union Lake was the solid play of junior Dave McKee, who has been unimpressive for much of the season McKee took medalist honors against the Vikings with a nine-hole score of 38 He was followed by James Nordbeck and Chris Lemmon, who each fired a 39, Keyin Telepo (40) and Kirk Windsich (41) Telepo's score could have been much lower, but he ran into serious problems on the par-four eighth bole. and carded an eight

'Kevin could have really improved his score if it wasn't for that one hole," Morgan said "He put two shots out-of-bounds, so we could have easily scored 193 or 194 as a team - ...

"As for Dave McKee, he told me at practice that he thought he figured out what he's been doing wrong He corrected it and it sure showed."

The Mustangs now sport a sparkling 9-2 overall record, 5-2 in WLAA

Doctor pioneers sports psychology

.Dr. Hugh Bray, a Northville resident on and off for the past 18 years, is a real pioneer in sports psychology.

Sports psychologists, who are employed full-time by professional-sports franchises and who travel with their teams during the regular season just aren't very common. As a matter of fact, there are only three such positions in North America and Bray — employed by the Detroit Red Wings of the National Hockey League (NHL) — is one of them. The other two are with the Baltimore Orioles of Major League Basebali and the Dallas Cowboys of the NFL

"My job is to try to sort out and identify all the pressures that can effect a player's performance," Bray said, "and then to help these players work them out. Whether it is marraige pressures, sleeping disorders, the inability to relax or whatever."

Bray was formerly employed in the same capacity by the St. Louis Blues of the NHL for two years when current Wing Coach Jacques Demers was in St. Louis. Demers came to Detroit for the 1966-87 season and brought Bray with him. Since starting full-time on March 1, 1987, Bray has been helping the Red Wing players better deal with problem areas associated with the mind and with mental and emotional processes.

"It may surprise some people, but the mental aspect of hockey, according to the players, is more important than the physical part," Bray pointed out. "The pressures at the professional level is very intense and that's why the mental aspect is so important. At this level, there is very little difference in the physical abilities, so the mental part of it can be the difference between making it or not."

Bray prefers to talk to the players individually off the ice in an effort to help them better deal with these tremendous pressures. He'll talk to them in his office at Joe Louis Arena, or during plane rides or hotel lobbles.

"I try and talk to them anytime I can," he said. "Ideally, I'd like to meet with every player at least once every two weeks. What I try to do is teach them mental techniques that they can try for different situations. My primary role is an educator."

"Before there were sports psychologists, a veteran player could usually acquire some of these techniques on his own, but by that time he was close to retirement. That's why we try to get to the rookies and the youngsters early so they can short cut some of the hard times. Even the veterans can sharpen their mental skills. Nowadays, professional athletes careers agg so short and there isn't much time to lose."

Some of the more common techniques used by Bray include relaxation training and imagery. Bray tries to get players to relax themselves, even while they are on the ice and involves techniques like breathing exercises. As for imagery, it is nothing more than getting a player to imagine they are performing well or completing a task they find especially difficult.

"They can practice imagery when they are laying down to go to sleep," Bray explained. "A goalie can envision himself stopping the big shot. It's very much like a businessman imagining himself making an effective speech before he gets on the stage.

"When you rehearse these things in your mind, it makes you feel like your in control and that reduces stress. It can carry over to the actual event — if you imagine you're going to be successful, the chances are greatly improved that you will."

Bray grew up in Royal Oak and lived in Northville for 11 years before leaving in 1980 to get his masters degree. For his dissertation, he completed a study on NHL goalies and found that on average they rated the mental aspect as 60 percent of the game. While in the area, Bray was active in the Northville Hockey Association and when the he got the chance to return with Demmers, Northville was the logical choice.

"I really planned all along to come back and this is such a marvelous opportunity for me because I've always been a big Wings fan," he said. "The Wings are a tremendous group to work with. One of the first things I need to do with a team is pull the players together as a unit, but when I got here, Jacques already had that accomplished. He is a remarkable coach and can read people very well.

"Do you know why Wayne Gretzky is such a great player?" Bray asked. "He's not the fastest, or the biggest, but he plays the game on a totally different mental level. He is also tremendously gifted physically but I think his biggest strength is mentally. I believe all players can attain that level and that's why I am here."

Red meat important

Don't be worried about eating red meat. In fact, a certain amount of red meat is important for a healthy diet. Lean red meat is nature's greatest

Lean red meat is nature's greatest source of iron and complete protein. In addition, red meat supplies the body with B-complex vitamins, phosphorous, sulfur, potassium and conner.

The key to eating red meat is to eat it as rare as possible. According to an article by Mandy Tanny in Muscle & Fitness magazine, rare meat yields over 50 percent more assimilable protein than meat that is too well done because overcooking destroys the essential amino acids and enzymes.

Studies show a daily need of 2.5 grams of protein per kilogram of bodyweight just to maintain existing muscle mass.

And there's nothing wrong with hamburgers either, provided they're fixed properly. Serve them on whole wheat buns with lettuce, tomato and natural-style ketchup which has less sugar in it.

Make the patties about one-inch thick and cook them several minutes on each side or until medium rare
