Business district could be possible along Five Mile

Northville Township Planning Commission, the same body that has looked less than favorably on proposals for commercial development, has apparently altered its stance for commercial building — at least on Five Mile Road west of Sheldon Road.

"The general feeling seems to be if we had it (commercial development) anywhere, that would not be an inappropriate place for it," said Marvin Gans, a commission member.

At least some commissioners, most notably Larry Sheehan, suggested strongly that commercial development, including fast food restaurants, a quick print concern and possibly a dry cleaners would be appropriate on part of the property which is among the 1,040 acres currently under control of Wayne County.

"I'm not ready to say it was any kind of consensus," said Community Development Director Matt Modrack. "What I will say is there was some fairly strong interest in that type of development in that location."

The issue developed Oct. 13, during a commission study session at which Vilcan-Leman & Associates, Inc., the township's planning consultants, presented a summary of the company's market study of the county-owned land.

"The purpose of the study was to review the parcel in terms of high tech development on the western portion of the land," explained Claude Coates.

"It was not a full-blown analysis. What happened is Debbie (Meyer Bobowski) contacted a number of developers who have projects in neighboring communities and asked them what was most important to them in terms of attracting them to an area," Coates added.

In listing that assets and detriments of the county land, which runs from Sheldon west to Beck and between Five and Six Mile roads, Meyer Bobowski noted that the distance to Plymouth's and Northville's downtown shopping and dining areas is a "decided disadvantage for the site for office as well as other nonresidential uses given the lack of any other, closer, ancillary support facilities."

"Given the sheer volume of land, one help to marketing it might be a small commercial area, similar to what you have in Farmington Hills," she said.

"You would need a hotel, you need a speedy print, you need a McDonalds or a Wendy's," pointed out Sheehan.

Sheehan suggested a commercial development going west from Sheldon for about a half mile and continuing north along Five Mile for about half a mile.

"I think not only the office workers but the residents who will move onto that property would want someplace to eat," Sheehan said. "I know that there are a lot of people who just won't travel, either because they don't have time or because they perceive it as too far, to either the Northville city or Plymouth central business districts."

While much of the discussion centered on the possibility of the commercial development, planners also noted that what develops in neighboring areas would have an impact on the development of the county property.

"The rumors I've heard is that

Mayoral, council candidates offer views in forum

By BOB NEEDHAM

Candidates for office in the upcoming Northville city election met in a public discussion of election issues Thursday night.

The forum, co-sponsored by local chapters of the League of Women Voters and the American Association of University Women brought together candidates for mayor and the city council.

G. Dewey Gardner and Christopher Johnson are running for mayor while Carolann Ayers, Paul Folino and Jerome Mittman are each running unopposed for a council seat. All the candidates attended the forum except Ayers, who was out of town.

After their opening statements (see related story), the candidates answered questions which were from the audience but screened by the sponsors. About 50 people attended the forum.

Questions covered a wide assortment of topics including zoning and expansion of the downtown district, the future of the city, and relations with neighboring governments.

Many times the candidates expressed similar views, all stressed the importance of planning, and all said they hope and believe Northville can maintain its atmosphere in the future.

They also all said that continuing development of the present downtown would be the best way to help the tax base. And when asked if they agreed with a recent assessment by Oakland County Executive Daniel Murphy that the city's downtown must expand to survive,

Charter amendments off the ballot

The number of city charter amendments proposed on the November ballot keeps dropping, and the latest word is that there won't be any such questions on the ballot at all.

The city council has twice approved a set of proposals for "housekeeping" amendments to the city charter — minor changes which would delete references to governmental positions and bodies which no longer exist, and would otherwise bring the charter into full agreement with state law.

But problems with wording and procedure — and not enough time to resolve them — are going to keep the proposals off the election ballot this year.

An Oct. 6 memo between attorneys at the city's legal firm — Plunkett &

Cooney — explains the status of the city's proposals:

"(Assistant Attorney General Roderick) MacGillis also alluded to the difficulty involved in accomplishing everything that needs to be done prior to the Nov. 3, 1987, election. He mentioned that the absentee ballots had to be printed by Oct. 14, 1987.

"Thus, in advance of that time, we would have to submit the proposed revisions to the city council for passage of the approved language, submit the language to the attorney general's office for approval and receive that approval; submit the proposals to the governor's office for approval and receive that approval and have this all accomplished within a very short period of time," the memo reads.

At the city council meeting Monday, Mayor Paul Vernon said, "It looks like any charter revisions will have to wait till our next regular election."

The changes are not very pressing, a recent letter from MacGillis to the city explained that anytime state law conflicts with a city charter, the law automatically takes precedence.

For example, one of the proposed changes dealt with election dates, which in the charter are supposed to be in April. But the city has been holding elections on the state-mandated day: the Tuesday after the first Monday in November.

Vernon is honored

"This is the proudest moment of my life," said Mayor Paul Vernon as he was named Citizen of the Year at the annual Northville Community Chamber of Commerce dinner meeting Saturday at the Novi Hilton.

Fran Gazlay, last year's recipient and chairman of this year's selection committee, made the announcement, listing Vernon's years of service to the City of Northville.

Vernon, who is not running for re-election in November, is completing 10 years as mayor. He previously served for three years on the city board of appeals, and six as a city councilman.

"There's much more that this year's citizen has accomplished," Gazlay continued, noting Vernon's service on the Downtown Development Authority and his long dedication to beautification.

Vernon's wife, Norma, is the only woman to receive the Citizen of the Year award. She was the recipient in 1984 for her work in beautification. Gazlay was honored last year for his volunteer service to the Northville Historical Society in Mill Race Historical Village.

Vernon is the 12th recipient of the award.

In accepting the award, he noted that "every previous recipient had an influence on my life."

"Jan Reef believed in the system which worked for him so I believed in it," The late Jan Reef, owner of Reef Manufacturing Company and a generous contributor to community causes, was the first recipient.

"For six years," Vernon continued, "Mike Allen was my mentor. I hoped to be able to get people to work and get together for the betterment of the community." Vernon followed Allen as Mayor of Northville.

"When John Steimel was named, he said he hoped to be able to get over to the chamber from the Boys State program to accept the award," Vernon recalled. The late postmaster received the award in 1978 for his work as chairman of the local Boys State program for the American Legion. After his death, Vernon took on the chairmanship in his memory.

"Every other recipient had something to do with my career and my life. Being able to work with the finest city manager and council is all that anyone could have," he told more than 100 chamber members and guests.

Vernon said he was fortunate that in his 18 years with Walter Kissing (brother of Henry Kissing) that his firm encouraged its people to have civic participation. He introduced his daughter, Carmie, and her husband Roy Kuckenbecker, and said he appreciated their support.

He also thanked "my severest critic, strongest supporter and best friend, Norma, my partner for 46 years."

Vernon recalled the aggressive campaign for Mainstreet '78 which the chamber helped lead and said he was accepting the award "on behalf of all those who contributed to the city."

State Senator R. Robert Geake and Rep. Gerald Law, who were in the audience, presented a tribute from the State of Michigan for "distinguished service." Congressman Carl Purcell also sent congratulations to "The First Citizen of Northville."

Township Supervisor Georgina Goss congratulated Vernon on behalf of the Charter Township of Northville, noting that he was "Mayor, father, grandfather and friend, most especially a friend."

Market finale

Record/CHRIS BOYD

The pumpkin harvest is in at the Farmers' Market, which will end the season next Thursday, Laurie Marrs, Northville Community Chamber of Commerce executive director, announced this week. The market, on the corner of Hutton and Dunlap streets, features fall plants and lots of pumpkins.

City-owned lot will remain vacant

The city-owned vacant lot off West Main and Caldwell will stay as it is, at least for awhile.

City council voted unanimously Monday night not to put the land up for sale — but informally agreed to wait on any decision about designating the site as a park.

Two area residents had asked the city to sell them the land — north of Main in between Rogers and Caldwell — for a residential development. But at the last two council meetings, many residents of the city and township protested the idea of selling the lot.

"I think it's important that we retain some open space in our community, and I think that's a logical piece of property to do it," Mayor Paul Vernon said in recommending the council not put the lot on the market. "I believe that it should be retained as open space, at least for the time being."

Vernon also suggested that the city "aggressively" pursue cooperation with Wayne County and Northville Township to solve a drainage problem on the site.

Council member Paul Folino suggested that the land might be a good site to designate as a park "so it can never be sold without a vote of the people." However, the council eventually voted only not to sell the land, leaving open the question of making the site a park.

Vernon said that any consideration of designating the lot as a park — as well as improving access to the land — should wait until the drainage is improved.

"The water gets deep enough during rainy seasons that a child could easily drown," Vernon said.

Council member Carolann Ayers said, "We are going to have to work on the drainage on the property... It is a hazard."

When asked if the city might sell the land in the future, Vernon said, "The property would always be exposed to that possibility... It's not our intent to drain the property to make it more salable, however."

A memo to the city council from Recreation Director John Anderson states that the lot is not included in the Northville recreation master plan.

"I have looked at the site and because of its hilly terrain, small size, and difficult access, I do not believe it would be considered recreationally significant in our next five year plan," Anderson wrote. "If access problems could be overcome, the only probable recreational use

One race on ballot Nov. 3

On Tuesday, Nov. 3, voters in the City of Northville will vote on four elected offices. The offices and candidates are:

- Mayor — Current Mayor Paul Vernon is not seeking re-election. G. Dewey Gardner and Christopher Johnson are running for the seat.

- City Council, four-year terms — The terms of council members Carolann Ayers and Paul Folino are both up for election. Ayers and Folino are both running for re-election, and both are unopposed.

- City Council, two-year term — This half-term was created when Gardner resigned his council seat to run for mayor. Jerome Mittman is running unopposed for the seat.

On Election Day — Nov. 3 — the polls will be open 7 a.m. to 8 p.m., City Clerk Cathy Konrad said. The voting places are:

Precinct One — for city residents living in Wayne County (south of Baseline Road) — voting is in the City Council chambers in City Hall, 215 W. Main Street.

Precinct Two — for city residents living in Oakland County (north of Baseline Road) — voting is in the library of American School, 847 N. Center.

NEWS BRIEFS

PUMPKIN SALE — The Northville Recreation Department in cooperation with the Northville Downtown Merchants Association is holding a pumpkin and cider sale by the downtown bandshell from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday. Proceeds will go toward a sign for Fish Hatchery Park.

TRICK OR TREAT — Official trick-or-treat hours in the City of Northville have been set by the City Council as 6-8 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 31. The city's fire department will hold its traditional open house during that time.

JOIN THE EXPEDITION — Everyone in the community is invited to attend a special program at the Meads Mill PTA from 7-8:30 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 29, to be given by Dwight Sieggreen in the Rondele of the school. He will show slides and videos of his 1987 expedition to Africa, including Africa's famous game parks.

PARKING LIMITED — The Northville City Council voted Monday night to limit parking on two city streets. The council made permanent a provision against parking on the north side of Lake Street around the alley exist east of Center. Area residents had said that cars leaving the alley could not see cars on Lake Street. In addition, the north side of Butler Street for about 90 feet east of Pennell will be a no parking zone.

UNITED IN MARRIAGE — The city and the township were united in marriage Saturday, when Sgt. Norm Kubitsky of the city police department married township administrative assistant Thelma Wallace.

HOSPITAL REPORT — Three township residents are doing fine after recent surgeries. Clerk Thomas L.P. Cook is in Harper Hospital after undergoing quadruple heart bypass surgery; Building Official Troy Milligan is resting comfortably in St. Joseph's Hospital in Ann Arbor after an aneurysm was removed from around his heart and Leon Bonner, injured in an incident involving a breaking and entering, is resting at the same hospital following a partial amputation of his foot.

NOW PLAYING — Christopher Spiro of Northville is performing with the Michigan State University Performing Arts Company production of "Ah, Wilderness" by Eugene O'Neill. Spiro plays a salesman in the performances, which are given at 8 p.m. Oct. 23 and 24 at MSU's Wharton Center. Spiro, a senior, is the son of Alexander and Rose Spiro of Longridge Court.

LIBRARY APPOINTEES — The new committee to study Northville's library and suggest ideas for expanding its facilities is slowly taking shape. The City Council appointed city resident Mark Cryderman and City Council member John Buckland to the committee Monday night. The Township Board also recently announced two appointments. Both the city and the township will appoint one more member. The committee is expected to hold an organizational meeting in December.

FOCAL HONOR — Northville Senior Citizen Center at Cooke School received the honor of being designated a Focal Point Center in ceremonies at 1 p.m. last Thursday at the center. It is one of only six senior centers in Wayne County to meet the criteria to receive the designation from the Senior Alliance Inc.

Departments chart community growth pattern

If anyone had any doubts that Northville is a growing community, all he or she would have to do is look at the reports presented by the Northville library director, the Northville Township Fire Department or the Northville Township Police Department to the board of trustees Oct. 8.

Library Director Patricia Orr presented figures showing general library circulation had increased by almost 900 during July, August and September over the same period in 1986. Also on the increase is the checking out of rental books and videos.

"In short, overall circulation is up 5 percent from 1986," Orr said.

Fire Chief Robert Toms said he expects the number of fire runs to be over 200 by the time the final list is complete for 1987.

He said he only included emergency runs in his totals, including rescue runs, grill fires and accidents.

There were 19 fire department runs during September, Toms said, and they involved a total of 133 man hours. Only one of the September calls turned out to be a false alarm and only one was to the former Wayne County Child Development Center.

Figures released by the police department indicate a drop in the number of reports of serious crimes — homicide, burglaries, larcenies and motor theft — but a sizeable increase in assistance to other law enforcement agencies including Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital and neighboring communities.

Through August of 1986, the township police department had 228 reports that were turned over to other law enforcement agencies. This year, that number has skyrocketed to 493.

"Those figures indicate that Northville is a very safe community," said Police Chief Kenneth Hardesty. "We have had a decrease in serious incidents, and we also are able to assist other departments."

Planners eye commercial development on county land

there are plans for the sale of St. John's Seminary (at Five Mile and Sheldon) and for a more intense use of the site, perhaps as a conference center," said commission chairperson Pat Wright.

"I've heard those rumors as well as for an eight- or nine-story building. But in my business, I've learned to ignore rumors," Modrack said.

"You also have to consider the impact that the prisons and the land fill (on Five Mile west of Beck) do not give a very good view and could be a detriment to offices locating within sight of either," Meyer Bobowski pointed out.

"That's why if we develop a commercial district about half mile away, we are, in effect, making it so that people do not have to use Beck Road to enter that land, and maybe they won't be as aware of the prisons or the landfill," Sheehan said.

Meyer Bobowski noted that she thought, given the history of industrial and high-tech development in Plymouth, Novi and Farmington Hills, it was possible that some type of light industrial and high-tech development could take place in Northville Township.

"We need to look at how long, given the economy, what type of absorption rate we can expect in the township," Meyer Bobowski said. "I think, the same rate as Farmington Hills, about 45 to 50 percent, is appropriate."

She noted that she expected the rate to slow in Novi. "If the woodland's ordinance doesn't stop development, then the DNR's wetlands ordinance will get 'em," she said.

In Plymouth Township, the industrial parks are pretty much full, she added.

Rethinking Investments

The recent activity on Wall Street is causing a lot of investors to rethink their strategy. Following a strong and protracted Bull Market, stocks are now seeming more high risk than ever. Wondering where to turn, a lot of investors are looking to invest a little closer to home.

Interest rate movements and climbs in the prime rate have supported this new emphasis. COMMUNITY Federal, for its part, has also revised its certificate structure and raised earnings rates. The new structure makes it a more competitive savings vehicle and, as always, a smart investment in your community.

Our InMoney accounts offer a fully liquid, money-market account option for individuals who want to wait out the market or, re-evaluate their investment possibilities.

If you have any questions or would like a rate quote, please call any of our branch offices.

Block grant money allocated

The City of Northville has begun the paperwork to receive money from the federal Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) program.

The CDBG program provides money to local communities for improvements specifically to address an urgent community need, to benefit low/moderate income populations, or to eliminate blighted conditions. Northville participates in the program under the administration of both Oakland and Wayne counties.

A letter from Oakland County informed the city that its grant for 1988 and 1989 will probably be around $6,000. City Manager Steven Walters said the city also has some leftover money from past grants which may be used.

The city council scheduled a public hearing on the use of the city's Oakland County money for Nov. 16, and authorized the signing of an agreement to apply for money through Wayne County.

City council member Carolann Ayers said at the meeting that the recreation commission (of which she is a member) has proposed building barrier-free improvements (handicapped access) to the front of the recreation building as a use of the city's CDBG money.

Special education staff discusses use of federal funds

School district taxpayers got some good news during the Oct. 12 Board of Education.

They heard from the teachers and staff involved in the special education program what the program's goals were for the current academic year and they also learned that much of the program's costs are borne by federal funding.

The school district is slated to receive $176,367, and that money will pay nearly half the salaries and fringe benefits of four resource room teachers, will totally fund one classroom aide position at the high school, for travel, conference attendance, teaching supplies and contracted professional services.

The money also will be used to provide a districtwide preschool speech and language clinic, purchasing additional Apple computers for the elementary and middle schools, and for inservice programs and workshops sponsored by the Wayne County Intermediate School District.

Additional money will be used for programs targeted toward the severely mentally and multiply impaired students, including staff positions, improving and updating the sensory motor room and the curriculum.

Viola Dougherty, building administrator at Bryant School, and her staff told the board that the staff is currently developing a curriculum, including pretesting in three areas so teachers can discover at what level the special education students are functioning.

"We have divided the curriculum into three main areas, the cognitive, psychomotor and affective skills development," Dougherty explained. "Within each of those areas we have further divided the goals and expect to have a 500 page document when we are done," she said.

"That effort is a far cry from when I came to the district," said Jan Roselle, as she unfolded a four foot by four foot sheet of paper. "When I came to Northville, this is the curriculum I inherited."

Other members of the special education staff noted that there had been some radical changes occurring in the district.

We're getting students into our program who are capable of functioning at a higher level," said Leon Doolin. Our original curriculum may have been fine for students who were living in institutions, but not for those youngsters who are living in group homes or in the community. Those students needed other skills than those in institutions."

"We have divided the curriculum into three main areas, the cognitive, psychomotor and affective skills development."

Chamber picks new directors

Four new directors were elected to three-year terms at the annual dinner meeting of the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce Saturday at the Novi Hilton.

Richard Gilliken, a certified public accountant, Richard Sassaman, owner of Ross B. Northrop and Son Funeral Home, Richard Simmons, a Northville dentist, and Cathy McLeod, employed by Genitti's, were chosen unanimously.

Following the Citizen of the Year presentation to Mayor Paul Vernon, chamber executive director Laurie Marrs introduced the evening's speaker, Warren Pierce.

Pierce, whose Mid-Day Magazine show is aired Monday through Friday on station WJR, related that he grew up in Farmington and used to come to Northville "to drink the water."

He attended University of Michigan and Wayne State University to earn a bachelor's degree in political science. Pierce noted that he and chamber director Marrs have been college classmates.

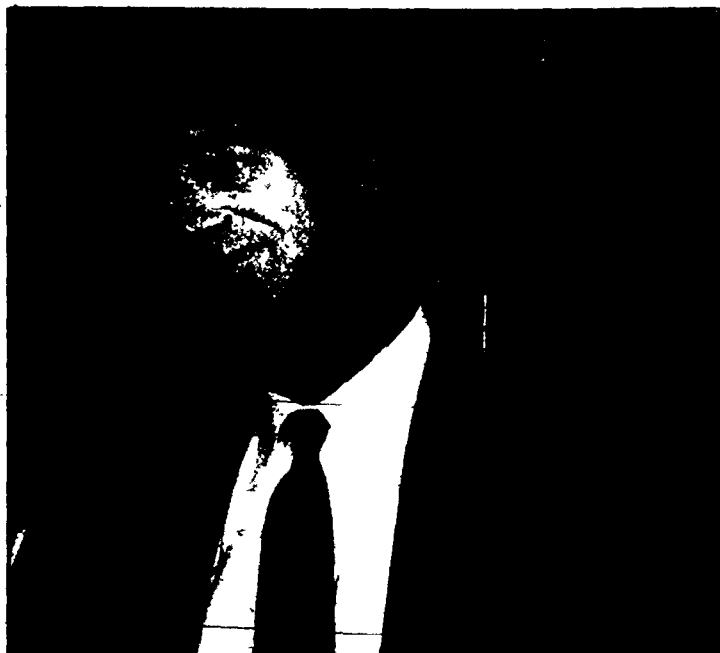

He told how he happened to spot a couple in wedding gown and tuxedo "spending their honeymoon" at the University of Michigan game earlier in the day.

"They were on the 35 yard line and had 105,000 at their 'reception' on national television."

Pierce recalled affiliating at WJR in 1976 and his non-stop flight around the world in 59 hours, 55 minutes that year.

It came about, he explained, because "everybody had been at the station 25-30 years, it seemed," and he was anxious to have an achievement that would make him stand out.

Mentioning the many celebrities he interviews, he noted, "If I don't learn something from everyone I talk to, then something's been lost."

Fair weather or foul, Ford flock feeds on company

Record/CHRIS BOYD

Norm Fultz (top) and George Yousoufian care for the ducks

By ANITA CRONE

Norm Fultz credits the Northville ducks and The Northville Record with saving the city's Ford plant in 1982. Fultz and the rest of the 41 employees at the plant have been repaying the ducks ever since.

Written into the local agreement between the Ford Motor Co. and Local 896 of the United Auto Workers for every contract since 1964 is a provision that the company will provide funds to purchase corn and bird seed and that the employees will be allowed to feed the ducks and other fowl that congregate on the plant property on company time.

It's gotten to the point now that we don't even discuss it," said Fultz, who has passed on prime duck-feeding responsibilities to George Yousoufian and Erik Eskildsen. Yousoufian is in charge of feeding the ducks, Canada geese, pigeons and gulls which gather in the front of the plant. Eskildsen is in charge of feeding the fowl at the rear of the plant.

During the summer, Fultz says, it doesn't take much feed for the ducks. "It seems everyone in town comes out to feed the ducks. They must think this (points to the plant) is a park. In the winter, though, we go through about 100 pounds of feed each week and about 10,000 pounds a year."

Even though the feed is bought in bulk now, the price isn't just bird feed. Seed can cost more than $1,000 for the year.

It isn't just wild ducks that start congregating on the steps of the plant about 7:30 each morning. Tame ducks, some pigeons, swallows and sparrows, swans and geese are all waiting for breakfast when Yousoufian, a short stocky man, pulls out his coffee can.

And every animal around the plant comes running when Fultz, nicknamed Moose because of his size and girth, lets loose with his famous call.

"Yawoo, yawoo," he calls. And the ducks swimming in the Rouge which passes beside the plant make a beeline for the door. The Canada geese, which have been wandering the grounds wag their tail feathers and head for the door. They know it's feeding time.

Some of the plant's employees know some of the ducks and geese by name. And they have their favorites and their not-so-favorites whom the feeders look for.

Take for instance Oscar. "He was a goose that came around here about two years ago. He was the meanest goose I ever saw. You'd feed him and he'd eat, but then he'd bite the hand that was feeding him," Yousoufian said. "I haven't seen him around much recently."

"Evidently his mate was nesting in the trees right where the secretary parked," Fultz recalled. There were mornings when we had to come get the secretary from her car and in to the plant. Oscar just wasn't about to let anyone get near his mate and the eggs.

Then there are Rocky and Snow White. Rocky got his name because he's kind of a brawler and Snow White got hers because of her color, Fultz said.

Most of the wild ducks and geese find their way to the plant and its meals by themselves. Some of the tamer ducks, however, are brought by individuals who have received baby ducks for Easter.

"We had a girl from U-M and she used to bring her pet duck here. She wanted to leave it, but we told her that these others would probably attack it. She ended up not leaving it, but there are a lot of others who do leave their unwanted birds here," Fultz said.

He noted that in the winter, the Ford flock can number more than 2,000.

And the employees feel responsible for all of them, explained Andy Tork, a Northville resident and the man with the highest seniority at the plant.

But sometimes the relationship between the plant employees and the ducks can be tested.

Yousoufian and Eskildsen have a collection of barbs that they have pulled out of injured animals. Included in the implements is a fish barb.

"I saw the guy who did that," Fultz said. "I was looking out the window and saw this kid, a teen-ager, with a fishing pole and the bobbin hanging from it. About 10 minutes later, I saw the same kid, but without the bob."

Yousoufian takes up the story. We found this goose with the bob stuck in his beak. Either he just ate it because he thought it was food, or the kid deliberately tossed it at the goose. When the plant manager heard about it, he started moaning about the cost of taking the goose to the vet."

"But Dr. (Thomas) Heship over on Seven Mile Road, he agreed to treat the goose for free," Fultz concluded.

All four men say they keep a pretty good eye out for the ducks. Somewhere in the back of their minds they hope that if it becomes necessary the ducks will once again save the plant.

"We know that Ford is going to plastic fuel tanks and since we make the metal tanks, that's going to have an effect on the future of this plant," Fultz said. He is the chairman of the local and it is his workers who will be facing layoffs if the plant should close as it has been rumored to be doing since it reopened in 1982.

"But there's something special about this plant," he said. "We've got two men, one of whom was out on a worker's comp claim for nine years and another who had been out for two."

"Both of those people, since coming to work here, have qualified for their attendance bonus. I keep telling the company it's the ducks."

Gardner cites involvement, Johnson leadership during panel

G DEWEY GARDNER

To begin the City of Northville Candidates Forum last Thursday the candidates for mayor and city council gave opening statements. Excerpts from the opening statements of mayoral candidates G Dewey Gardner and Christopher Johnson appear below.

G DEWEY GARDNER

"I was born and raised in Northville, went to Northville schools and graduated in 1957. Gardner said "From there I received a scholarship and went on to Wayne State University. He also attended the University of Alaska and Eastern Michigan University and spent two years in the service.

"During these formative years — particularly after graduation from high school — having lived here, I saw many changes that were occurring and had occurred," Gardner said. Much of the changes were in the downtown area.

I can remember trying to seek direction from downtown merchants," Gardner said. "I remember one statement in particular. I asked (one man), 'You know Northville's a small town, what future do I have staying here?' He said, 'Young man, there is one thing you learn in life. Northville isn't going to do anything for you but you might be able to do something for Northville.'

I have remembered that over the years," he said. He bought property downtown and now owns IV Seasons Flowers.

I became involved in city government 12 years ago," he said, including 10 years on city council, six years as mayor pro tem and membership on almost every commission and board in the city. As mayor pro tem he has led council meetings in the mayor's absence he added.

CHRISTOPHER JOHNSON

"I'm here because I think the city needs a strong leader to lead the city into the future," Johnson said. "That's important because the role of the mayor in this city is a little bit different than in a lot of other places. The city is run on a day-to-day basis by a city manager.

"It requires that the council and the mayor provide strong leadership and direction for a policy that will be followed by the city administration. It takes a strong leader to provide that direction and to provide a leadership model of how we want the city to grow and develop," he said.

I think if you take a close look at my qualifications you'll find that I have the ability to lead the city into the future. I have served several years as a municipal attorney both for the Township of Redford and Van Buren Township and I also represent numerous local governments — cities, counties and villages — in their day-to-day problems," he said.

Johnson added that he has been on the Northville school board for over 11 years, including two terms as president. He has been on the Northville Recreation Commission.

"I have had the opportunity to work closely with Northville Township, as well as all the other parts that make up the school district," he added.

I have demonstrated that I have the ability to listen, to do my homework and then to make a decision after all of the facts are presented. That's something I think we need in a mayor, and something that I would do as your mayor," he said.

CHRISTOPHER JOHNSON

Mayoral and council candidates offer views during pre-election forum

The four responded with a chorus of "no's."

Some differences of opinion surfaced over issues like the mayor's influence and the appointment of planning commission members.

A summary of some of the questions and responses follows. Not all the candidates chose to answer every question, and some questions were directed to specific candidates.

Northville Township and the City of Novi are experiencing large population growth. Will the City of Northville become part of a wide corridor of development?

Folino "They can build, they can do what they want. Northville will remain the same."

Gardner "Greenfield Village is in the center of Dearborn, basically. It has preserved its quaint atmosphere. All you have to do is protect the integrity of the boundaries."

Mittman "The city should cooperate more in planning with Novi and Northville Township."

Johnson "What goes on around the city will have an impact on the city." Cooperation between governments is important.

How would you deal with the vacant lots the city owns?

Folino "The empty lots that the city owns at the present time are now under consideration to see what we should do with them. We do have quite a number of city owned lots designated as parks and those will remain."

Mittman "The city should be careful and not do something it might later regret."

Johnson "I think it's important to examine each particular lot. Parcels in the downtown area can expand the tax base, while lots in neighborhoods should be kept. I think it's important to keep that kind of property vacant and in a park-like condition."

Gardner "This is something we've always kept our eyes on. Most of the city's holdings are earmarked for business development or parking expansion. There are very few city owned lots that are available for building."

Is Planning Consultant Ronald Nino, who does not live in Northville, in tune with the prevailing sentiment about development in the city?

Gardner "The city council has a review committee for all such contracts which is currently meeting. When that report is finished I imagine there will be a decision rendered."

Folino "A lot of times outside people can bring in new ideas."

Johnson "Does not object to the idea of a non-resident as planning consultant. The Planning Commission should provide enough direction to the planner to make the system work."

With Northville's form of government — a part-time, policy-setting council and a full-time city manager to implement policy — does the mayor have more influence than the other council members?

Folino "The council has five members and each one of us has an equal authority." The mayor has no veto power, although he is the official representative of the city."

Johnson "The mayor presides at council, the mayor sets the tone for the city." In addition, the mayor is responsible for making sure the council is completely informed on issues.

Jay Wendt was not reappointed to the Planning Commission when several openings occurred recently. Would you vote to appoint him if he applied for the next vacancy?

Folino "When Wendt was not on the list of recommendations, I was opposed to it." He added that he hoped Wendt would reapply and "Yes, I would vote for him. If I did not say yes I would be going against my previous opinion."

Mittman "Mr. Wendt served the Planning Commission well in past years and was particularly knowledgeable about the city zoning ordinance. I would give it serious thought and hopefully he would want to reapply."

Johnson "Would be happy to consider such a nomination but would not be appropriate to promise anything at this stage."

Gardner "The city charter states that Planning Commission members should preferably come from different areas of the city and that this should be taken into account. It would be presumptuous at this time to make a decision."

CITY OF NORTHVILLE NOTICE OF ENACTMENT

The City Council of the City of Northville, following a Public Hearing on Monday, October 5, 1987, at 8:00 p.m. in the Council Room of the Municipal Building, 215 West Main Street, has adopted the following ordinance:
AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND SECTION 7-1225 "PERFORMANCE BONDS" OF THE CABLE TELEVISION ORDINANCE, TITLE 7, CHAPTER 12, OF THE CODE OF ORDINANCES OF THE CITY OF NORTHVILLE.
The City of Northville Ordinance:
Section 7-1225 "Performance Bond," in the Cable Television Ordinance, Title 7, Chapter 12, of the Code of Ordinances of the City of Northville is hereby amended to read as follows:
Sec. 7-1225 PERFORMANCE BOND - During the life of the franchise Grantee shall give a bond to Northville satisfactory in form and substance to the City in the amount of ten thousand dollars ($10,000.00) to insure the faithful performance of all undertakings of the Grantee as represented under this Ordinance, provided, however, that the Council may waive the bond requirement after the system has been constructed, subject to the following conditions:
(a) Any such waiver would be subject to and without prejudice of the right of the City of Northville to reinstate the bond requirement upon ninety (90) days prior written notice to Grantee.
(b) While such waiver is in effect, Grantee shall pay the franchise fee set forth in Section 13 of the Ordinance on a monthly basis. Such payments shall be made within thirty (30) days from the end of the period to which the franchise fee payment relates.
(c) In the event that any questions are raised by the City regarding whether Grantee is in full compliance with the terms of the Ordinance, Grantee and the City will discuss those matters and attempt to resolve them in mutual good faith. In the event that following such discussions there remains a disagreement regarding whether Grantee is in compliance with the Ordinance, the City may, by written notice to Grantee, require Grantee to deposit in escrow the amount, up to the amount of the bond, as required to the Ordinance, which is claimed by the City as damages or which is required to remedy the alleged non-compliance, or as damages or which is required to remedy the alleged non-compliance, or as damages or which is required to remedy the alleged non-compliance, or as damages or which is required to remedy the alleged non-compliance.
Section 2. This ordinance shall become effective ten (10) days after enactment and publication thereof.
A printed copy of the full text of the ordinance is available for inspection by and distribution to the public at the Office of the City Clerk.

SECTION 00010 NOTICE TO BIDDERS

The Novi Community School District will receive sealed Proposals from qualified bidders for its Maintenance/Warehouse Facility. This work is to involve the construction of a new masonry warehouse structure.
There will be a pre-bid meeting held on Wednesday, October 28 at 2:00 P.M. (local time) at the Administrative Services Building, 25575 Tait Road, Novi, MI 48050.
Proposals may be mailed or delivered in person to Administrative Services Building, Novi Community School District, 25575 Tait Road, Novi, MI 48050, ATTN: Kevin Smith.
Proposals must be received "prior" to 12:30 p.m. (local time), on Wednesday, October 28, 1987. Proposals will be opened publicly and read aloud. All bids will be evaluated at a later date.
The Project will utilize separate prime contracts. All contracts for construction will be made with the Owner. Overall coordination of the Project will be the responsibility of the construction management firm, E&V, Incorporated.
The Owner will award contracts on or about November 5, to separate Contractors for separate Bid Divisions or combinations of bid divisions. Any Bidder, at his option, may submit a combined Proposal for any combination of Bid Divisions by offering a Combined Bid Deduct. A separate Bid must be submitted for each Bid Division included in any such combined Proposal.
All Project procedures and documents are designed to facilitate delivery of the Project through multiple prime construction contracts. The Owner's forms, rather than industry master forms, are used for all documents. Bidders shall read and review the Bidding Documents carefully and shall familiarize themselves thoroughly with all requirements.
Requests for Contractors for inclusion as bidders shall be addressed to the Construction Manager. One set of Bidding Documents will be provided free of charge to Bidders. The Bidding Documents are on file for inspection at the Architects' office. A $50.00 document replacement charge will be assessed only if the documents are not returned to the Project Team in good and usable condition.
Requests for additional sets of Bidding Documents shall be addressed to the Field Office; a charge may be assessed for such additional sets.
Proposals shall be submitted on the Proposal Forms furnished separately by the Construction Manager, and shall be completely filled in and executed in accord with the Bidding Documents.
Bid Security in the amount of five percent (5%) of Base Bid(s) should accompany each proposal.
Bids may not be withdrawn for a period of thirty (30) days. Successful Bidders may be required to furnish Surety Bonds as stated in the Specifications.
The Owner reserves the right to reject any or all Proposals, to accept other than a low Bid, and to waive informalities, irregularities and/or errors in Proposals, which they feel is in their best interest.

Police Blotters

Three reported car thefts keep township police busy

The township police have received three stolen auto complaints last week all occurring in different areas of the township.

On the night of Oct. 13, a Silver Springs resident told officers that his 1987 Cadillac had been stolen, just days before he planned to leave for Florida.

The man told police he had parked the car in front of his residence about 7:30 p.m., locking all the doors. He said he awoke about 1:15 a.m. and noticed the car missing.

That same day, a man staying at Northville Place Drive said his 1986 GMC Jimmy had been stolen.

The Howell resident and he had parked the car in one of the complex's parking lots about 9 p.m., but when he looked for the car about 6:45 the following morning, it was missing.

The man told officers that his rear window had been shattered.

A Walled Lake resident had her 1977 Ford van stolen from the parking lot at Meljers Oct. 15.

The woman said the car had been locked while she shopped for about an hour. When she returned, the car was missing.

Although the vehicle identification numbers of all three cars were entered into the LEIN network, officers have no suspects and there has been no trace of any of the cars.

ASSAULT - A Ferndale man was picked up by Hazel Park police officers after he was arrested by township police officers Oct. 10.

Officers Matthew Mayes and Martin Patyna went to a Silver Springs apartment complex after a report by a female. When the officers arrived, the victim stated that her former husband had struck her.

The officers, during a routine LEIN check, discovered that the man had an outstanding warrant from Hazel Park and a Circuit Court warrant out of Oakland County's Sixth Circuit.

He was transported to the Northville Township jail until a Hazel Park officer arrived to pick up the man on that warrant.

AUTO FOUND - State police divers Oct. 2 recovered a 1982 Mercury Cougar reported stolen from Livonia. While the ignition system in the car was intact, the body of the vehicle had suffered extensive damage, police report.

A caller to the Northville Township Police Department said he had found a spare tire and some miscellaneous papers on his property and officer Jeffrey Larente observed a set of tire impressions leading to a gravel pit.

State police divers recovered the vehicle and, when the car was pulled from the water, a key was discovered in the ignition.

BEER STOLEN - A Parklane resident told township officers Oct. 10 that she observed three juveniles in her garage with unopened bottles of beer.

The woman said she thought the beer had been taken from a refrigerator in her garage, since the door to the refrigerator was open at the time and seven bottles of beer were missing.

WALKAWAY COUNT - Township officers were involved in returning six patients to Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital last week.

All of the reported walkaways were reported to officers by hospital officials.

BICYCLE STOLEN - A Woodbend Court resident told township police that a bicycle worth $375 was stolen from the garage of his home. The resident said the incident occurred in the two weeks prior to Oct. 4.

Investigating officers said there was no sign of forced entry to the garage and the homeowner said the garage is often left open when there is someone at home.

OIL Four persons were arrested by Northville Township Police officers last week and are facing charges of operating a vehicle under the influence of alcohol.

HOUSE VANDALIZED - A house in the northwest corner of the city was vandalized with spray paint early last week, according to a Northville police report.

Between 7 p.m. Monday, Oct. 12 and 1 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 13, the front and rear of the house was painted with black spray paint the report said. Damage was estimated at $2,700.

PURSE STOLEN - Just after 4 p.m. Saturday a woman's purse was stolen from MacKinnon's restaurant on Main Street, city police said.

The purse was black eelskin and contained several credit cards and $20 in cash, the report said. Police are seeking a suspect in the incident.

KEY SCRATCH - A car parked at McDonald Ford on Seven Mile Road was scratched Thursday afternoon, causing about $300 damage, according to a police report.

The car, a 1986 gray Nissan station wagon, was parked for about 15 minutes, the report said.

WINDSHIELD BROKEN - The windshield of a car parked at the Allen Terrace senior housing complex was shattered about 9 p.m. Friday according to a police report. The damage was caused by a rock thrown from the hill on the north side of the complex, the report said. The windshield cost about $300.

RADAR DETECTOR STOLEN - A radar detector, valued at more than $300, was reported stolen from a car parked in the Hidden Lake Way parking lot Oct. 12.

Officers think the perpetrator broke a passenger window of the 1983 Ford Mustang and ripped the radar detector from out of the dash.

WHEELS STOLEN - A Maple Hills subdivision resident told township police that someone took a $400 moped and four tires mounted on Chevrolet wheels from his side yard Oct. 17.

The missing items were stored against an exterior garage wall, the man said.

VEHICLE FIRE - Township officers helped the Northville Township Fire Department extinguish a blaze in a 1969 Oldsmobile during the early morning hours Oct. 17.

The owner of the car, who was alone at the time, told officers he smelled smoke and had pulled over to the side of Eight Mile Road.

Most of the car was on fire when officers arrived about 1 a.m. The car's owner estimates damage to the car at $3,700.

CASH MISSING - A McDonald's employee has told township officers that approximately $420 in cash was taken from a safe at the Five Mile Road restaurant.

The complainant told investigators that the possible theft was discovered when a store employee made a bank deposit and the bank found the money missing.

Halloween safety tips

As Halloween approaches, the Northville Police Department recommends that parents and children remember some basic rules for safety on Halloween night, Oct. 31.

Specific things to remember - provided by the National Confectioners Association, the Chocolate Manufacturers Association and the International Association of Chiefs of Police - include:

- Wear light-colored clothing short enough to prevent tripping, and add reflective.
- Make sure children can see well through face masks.
- Accompany young children.
- Go out in daylight and carry a flashlight in case of delay.
- Stay within the neighborhood and only visit homes you know.
- Watch for traffic.
- Only give or accept wrapped or packaged candy.

• Examine candy before allowing children to eat it.

• If you suspect the candy has been tampered with, make every effort to save the candy so that it can be analyzed. A "Halloween Candy Hotline" - for police use only - was established in 1983 by the confectionary industry and has handled hundreds of calls from departments nationwide.

For further reminders of Halloween safety, the area Henry Ford Medical Centers are distributing free Halloween bags printed with safety tips. Nearby locations are 281 S. Main St. in Plymouth and 42680 Ford Rd. in Canton.

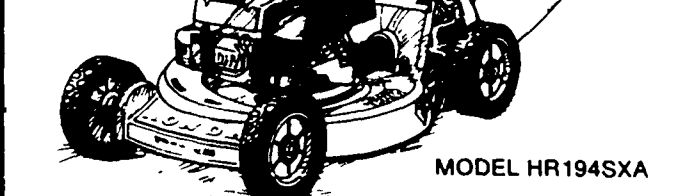

Henry Ford Hospital has also set up a 24-hour "Halloween Hotline" with a recorded message of safety tips from "Count Scary." The number is 876-2800.

The Northville Record

Our Opinions

Downtown growth can aid residential

What appears to be contradictory stances on downtown development between Oakland County Executive Daniel Murphy and many of the residents of Northville can actually be incorporated into a stronger downtown.

Murphy, speaking to the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce, said Northville's downtown should be expanded. The residents say it should not be expanded into residential areas.

Both positions have merit. A viable downtown shopping district helps to make a viable city. Downtown Northville with its unique stores and restaurants attracts and welcomes visitors to the community. So, too, do the Victorian style residences that grace the streets surrounding downtown. Neither should suffer by the other's growth.

With the election of a new mayor on Nov. 3, and the addition of Jerome Mittman to the council, one of the city administration's first priorities should be to look at the downtown.

It should look at the vacant lot at Main and Center, and realize that a parking lot, as it has become, is not an asset to the community. It should look at the renovation ongoing at Dunlap and Center to see whether there really is a need to expand that development to the west side of Dunlap or even to allow commercial or office development on Randolph.

With the Northville Township Planning Commission at least studying the possibility of allowing commercial development on Five Mile Road west of Sheldon, this would be an opportune time for the city administration to make its own downtown attractive to newcomers. Development of the southwest corner of Main and Center should be a top priority. As that development comes, parking can be expanded, probably with renovation of the existing deck. We know the overall city parking situation now is being studied and we expect realignment of existing parking will be forthcoming soon.

The current administration has taken a firm stance on confining downtown development to the areas already zoned Central Business. But, as Murphy has pointed out, expansion is necessary for Northville and should be considered carefully.

There is room for Northville's downtown to grow without infringing into a residential area. An administration that takes the lead in development while protecting the residential nature of the community would be very welcome on Nov. 3.

Township can use business growth

Commercial development in the township? Fast food restaurants lining up along Five Mile Road west of Sheldon? It is not as far-fetched as it seems, not after the Oct. 13 planning commission study session.

Initially, a commercial district, including restaurants, cleaners, quick print companies and perhaps a hotel or two, seems like a good idea. Too often potential shoppers and residents are forced out of the township to do their shopping and eating and that means that other communities benefit at the expense of the township.

The township planning commission's intention to study further the possibility of allowing a quarter mile, or a half mile of commercial business along Five Mile Road west of Sheldon Road is not a license for developers to bring in proposals.

It is expected that it will be months before the results of a valuation and market study, awarded to Lambrecht Co. by Wayne County for the 1,040 acres of land, is complete. It is expected to take many more months before the company and the county will consider any proposals for development of the property.

But the reversal of the planning commission's previous stance against any such development is welcome indeed.

Just as the commission has dealt very carefully with new development in other areas of the township, most notably the writing and implementation of the Freeway Service District and a Planned Residential Unit Development, it can be expected that any commercial district plans will be given careful scrutiny, and stringent rules can be expected to be recommended to the Board of Trustees.

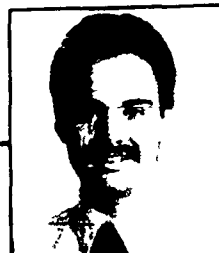

It would be a mistake were the area in question to be nothing more than a "fast food row" similar to Grand River between Haggerty and Halstead in Farmington Hills, where McDonald's, Wendy's, Taco Bell and a steak house vie for consumer dollars.

But a well-planned district, including restaurants and ancillary services to a high-tech park or an office center would be an asset to the community and a boon to both the county's and the township's budgets.

As discussion progresses, it will be interesting to see what develops.

A clear shot

By Neil Geoghegan

Local residents are well aware of the tremendous growth and development the Novi/Northville area is currently experiencing.

Some think it's a great thing — that it shows just how healthy the local economy really is. But on the other hand, many are concerned and worry that this growth is coming too fast, without much attention paid to planning.

It seems everyone has an opinion on the issue and the concern is real, especially in certain areas of Novi and in Northville Township. A lot of people believe that this building boom will level off soon, but I really don't see that happening in the near future.

I could give you economic forecasts and other data to support this belief, but one of the most important factors for this continued growth is right out in the open — and very few people realize the overwhelming effect it will have. I'm talking about the I-696 extension that is currently under construction. When completed, I-696 will connect the western suburbs with the rest of southern Oakland and Macomb counties as well as northern Wayne. Right now, the expressway is being built through highly residential areas like Royal Oak, Southfield and Oak Park.

This stretch of road is one of Michigan's first urban expressways tunneling through totally developed land. When it opens, it will give a large segment of the population to the east an easy access to this area. That means more business, traffic and opportunity here. Going from Novi to Royal Oak now takes a half hour, but with the new freeway, it will take a matter of minutes.

Residents in Berkley, Lathrup Village and Huntington Woods, for example, will find Twelve Oaks Mall a much more attractive place to shop if access to it is quick and simple. Same goes for the downtown shops and restaurants in Northville. Rather than brave the overcrowded and slow-moving mile roads, these people rarely venture very far west but that will probably change. The freeway will open this area up to more opportunity, and is likely to entice even more commercial and industrial moves into the area.

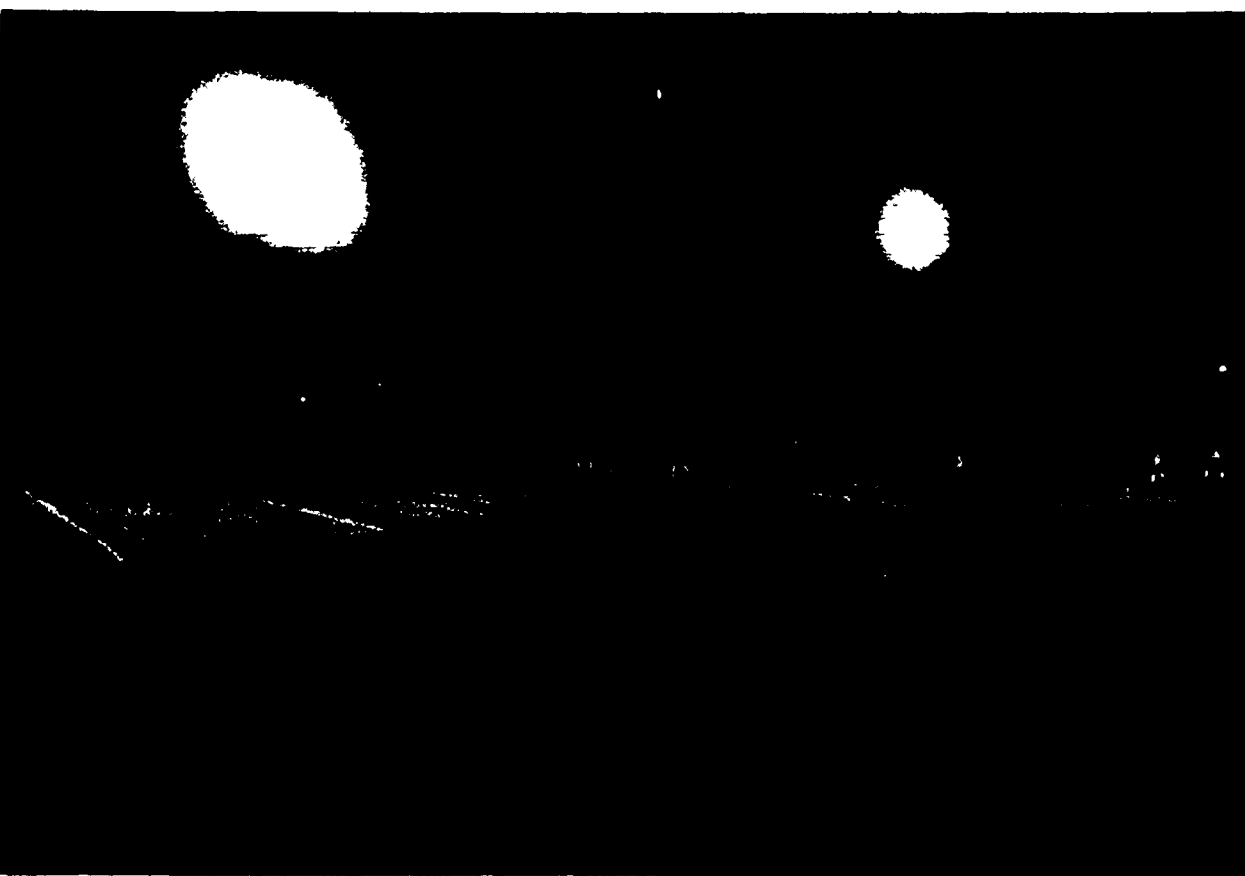

The I-696 corridor is commonly defined as the area from Novi to Madison Heights, between 14 Mile and Eight Mile. According to most experts, Novi and Farmington Hills share most of the corridor's vacant property and stand to gain the most when I-696 connects them to high impact areas like Troy, Warren and Sterling Heights.

Oakland County has even printed a brochure to spark attention and interest for development in this region; it projects that the corridor area has enough vacant land for 75,000 new homes. It also estimates that the population will rise to near a half million by the year 2005.

We're talking about some heavy duty growth. That's why it's so very important for this area to pay extra attention to planning in light of this projected growth. Our surface streets already are taking a beating and it's going to get worse unless something is done soon. The new freeway will probably lighten the load on some of our east-west arteries like Maple and Eight Mile, but will only bring additional traffic to Novi, Haggerty and Beck roads.

After the fact

By PHILIP JEROME

The U.S. Constitution provides a system of checks and balances.

Hold it. Don't stop reading. I know it's a boring lead... certainly a lot different from the semi-humorous stuff I usually write. But I might have something worthwhile to say before I'm done, so keep going unless your heart was absolutely set on reading something light and frivolous.

As I was saying... checks and balances. High school government class. The executive, legislative and judicial branches. A couple of years ago I wrote a column about another "check and balance" — a free press. In a moment of occupational pride, I suggested that the free press just might be the best "check and balance" of all.

But what checks are there on a free press? The executive and legislative branches have a bit of control over the information newspapers print. The judicial branch places certain limits on a free press. And there are trade magazines which purport to do for newspapers what newspapers purport to do for government.

What this introduction has to do with is the fact there's an election going on in town. Voters will be going to the polls in a couple of weeks to elect a mayor and city council members.

Feelings tend to run high during these campaigns. And when they run really high, some people will start to examine the paper for signs of slanted reporting. Typically, we get it from both sides during heated campaigns. I've always wanted to set up a meeting of those people who think the reporting has been slanted one way or the other to let them battle it out.

Next week we will publish our endorsements. Some will decide we're a whole lot smarter than they initially thought, others will decide we never did know what we were talking about.

Those things happen every year at election time. It goes with the territory, it's part of the job. But when the campaigns are over and feelings have returned to normal, we would hope people look back and say our coverage was fair and equal — that all candidates had ample opportunity to make their opinions known. For us, that's the best check and balance of all.

Junior varsity sports deserve attention

To the Editor
We have been informed that there is not sufficient space nor time to cover JV (Junior Varsity) sports in The Northville Record. As parents of students on the newly created JV boys' soccer team we feel we would like the community to know about the boys and their coaches who have represented Northville High School extremely well this past soccer season.

We congratulate them and know they will be fine representatives of Northville High School and their community in the future.

Larry Osiecki, Dave Smith, Lou Stoecklin, Jason Vertrees and Chris Walker.

Perhaps there could be a section in the paper for JV sports as there is for the recreation teams. We are confident a parent or coach of a JV team could write a sentence or two about a game played. The students who play JV may never play varsity sports in Northville and could benefit from reading about themselves or their team in the local paper.

Sincerely,

Society benefit a success

To the Editor
Last Thursday evening, Oct. 8, the Northville Historical Society held a cocktail party at two model homes in Pleasant Hills Subdivision off Eight Mile Road. The party marked the beginning of a two-week benefit model home tour. The society is sponsoring the tour in order to raise funds for the restoration of Cady Inn — the saltbox style home just recently moved to Mill Race Village.
My thanks to the following who helped make the evening a success and will also be helping with the model home tour: Mark Guldabono of Cambridge Construction Corporation, Janet Compo of James D. Compo, Inc., Bill Ray of Ray Interiors, Inc., Mark Grandin and Ed Funke of Cambridge Construction Corporation, and Singh Development Company, Ltd. The Northville Historical Society members who helped to plan the tour include Georgiana Schimpf, chairman, Margot Pearsall, Martha Nield, Sally Henriksen and the many who will be hosting at the homes during the tour.

The benefit will continue through Oct. 25, with an admission of $2 per person.

Sincerely,
Carol R. Kiraly
President

Musical efforts add to atmosphere at final game

To the Editor

Much enthusiasm filled the air at the last football game of the season Friday night as 317 band members played at halftime. Northville High School marching band and Meads Mill Middle School band, under the direction of Michael Rumbell, played "Wipe Out," "La Bomba," "Louie, Louie" and the N.H.S. fight song.

The senior members of the band were honored. They are Pat Beemer, Andy VisKantas, Brad Gwerro, Mickey Moore, Lani Chisnell, Matt Ho, Mike Method, Kolyan Dasgupta, Chris Shaw, Kim Harris, Kelly Calhoun and Todd Clason.

A very special touch was added by the Flag Girls directed by Mrs. Rumbell, Cheryl Gazlay and Steve Chisnell. An impressive performance was given by the following girls — Shari Abramovich, Susan Kowalski, Cristen Gazlay, Kendra Cicero, Julie Norback, Colleen Hesse, Julie Coppock, Maureen Monroe, Kathy Psillas, Kari Yarmuth.

All members of the community are welcome to attend the next Music Boosters meeting Tuesday, Oct. 27, at 7:30 p.m. in the choir room at the high school.

Northville High School Choir, under the direction of Mary Kay Price, will present the first concert of the season Thursday, Oct. 29, at 7:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

Wetlands: More burden than blessing?

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following editorial is reprinted from the October issue of The Michigan Township News with the permission of its editor, John M. LaRose.

Wetlands or debtlands? Judging from comments expressed before the recently appointed Wetland Permit Process Review Committee, a lot of people are asking if Michigan's natural wetlands are just that: more of a burden to their owners than benefit. Stories of over-regulation, under-regulation and just plain not knowing what a wetland is are trickling in from all parts of the state.

A landowner near Saginaw Bay is under review by the Department of Natural Resources for adding fill dirt to what was once his mowed front yard; the City of Wayne has lost one proposed new plant and is in jeopardy of losing another because the proposed site has been classified as a wetland; and an airport in "the Thumb" may be prohibited from future expansion because muskrats are moving into the area. Developers in the eastern U.P. are claiming that tracts of land have little value because an over-exuberant DNR employee has stated that anything with a cedar tree growing on it is a wetland. And so the stories go.

Where is the truth in the situation? What is causing the turn-up in tension over wetlands? Public Act 203 of 1979, known as Goemaere-Anderson Wetlands Act, was passed by the legislature to allow the state to exercise control over its wetlands rather than let control reside with the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

But it's a big job and sometimes there aren't enough people to do it. The Act is very comprehensive and hundreds of thousands of acres are subjected to its limitations. Both large and small tracts of land are affected and the general population is gradually feeling its impact — many times by surprise. Because of the vastness of the areas regulated, the Department does not have enough available staff to get permits issued quickly or to keep tabs on infringements.

According to the August issue of Watermarks, published by the Great Lakes and Water Resources Planning Commission, the state once contained over 11.2 million acres of wetland which covered 30 percent of the state's area. By 1965, only 3.2 million acres remained. In 1982, approximately 2,500 construction permit applications were received by the Land and Water Management Division. In 1986-87, 7,300 permit applications are expected. It is estimated that 15 percent of all permit applications are approved as proposed, 75 percent are approved with modifications and 10 percent are denied. The 10 percent denied, of course, are lands that raise questions as to whether a "taking" of property rights has occurred and whether compensation should be made. The denials also raise questions concerning the assessed valuation of the land for taxation purposes.

Saving what remains of our wetlands needs to be done and in a fair manner. The best way to accomplish that goal is through informing the citizenry about the definition of a wetland and their locations. The department has failed to reach this goal. The act took effect on Oct. 1, 1980, and seven years later the administrative rules which will define the wetlands have not yet been promulgated as required by the Act. We need a detailed inventory of the locations of all wetlands and a useable definition of what constitutes a wetland.

To prevent further unnecessary economic hardships, real estate personnel should be required to advise potential buyers that wetlands may be a part of the property description and that limitations apply to the use of that land. That information should be provided in booklet form by the department.

In 1979 there were many who understood that the legislature was mandating a huge task for the department by adopting such a labor intensive land control process. Local government officials understand very well this process of being given a new job to do but no the money with which to do it. It seems to me that the legislature now has no option but to properly fund the administrative requirements it has created. If we are to reduce the debt that wetlands are causing some property owners, a better system should be developed and funded. To fail to do so will only compound the uncertainties that the general public is experiencing on the need to protect this natural resource.

Warren Products
stresses versatility

By JEAN DAY

"Versatility and ingenuity are our strong suit." That's the word from officers of Warren Products, a 47 year old firm located on a three-acre site in Northville that incorporates one of the area's historic landmarks.

Allyn Stearn, who became executive vice president and general manager of Warren Products in a realignment of company officers July 6, notes that the firm is proud of the fact that it holds a SPEAR 2 rating with General Motors, a rating system GM instituted to upgrade the quality of its suppliers. It also is Quality Approved for Chrysler Corp.

Stearn notes that the firm does metal stamping and small welded assemblies for automotive companies but also supplies a variety of other industries.

Other products manufactured by Warren Products range from air filtering cabinets and end caps for refrigeration units to oil filter cans for oil furnace filters and furniture brackets. The firm builds dies for its own work and for that of outside customers.

Merle Huntington, who continues as president and owner of Warren Products, and two other businessmen purchased the business in July 1971 from Richard T. Martin, Frank J. Martin and George B. Martin.

Huntington later bought out the other two partners. He and his wife, Barbara, are longtime residents of Brighton where they live on Crooked Lake.

The Martins founded the company in Warren in 1940. It initially was a toy manufacturer, but by World War II had changed to a metal stamping, fabricating and welding company.

In 1941 the business was moved to Northville, locating in a building of the former Richardson Family Farm.

Today the major plant is a steel and concrete structure of approximately 22,000 square feet. The firm still owns three acres of land at 637 Baseline east of Center Street in the City of Northville.

Many people know its location, longtime employee Jean Utley mentions, from going to Parmenter's Cider Mill across the road.

In an interview when the Martins owned Warren Products, Richard Martin explained that the building to which the firm initially moved apparently had been completed on July 4, 1903. He noted that what appeared to be the last boards on the cupola had been signed and dated by the carpenters.

The Richardson Farm had been a milk condensing plant servicing Grennan Bakeries (which later became Farm Crest.)

In the realignment of officers in July Jim Allen became vice president; Jean Utley became a vice president and assistant corporate secretary; Marilyn Little became a vice president and assistant treasurer.

Huntington is corporate treasurer as well as president and owner; his wife, Barbara, is corporate secretary in the new alignment, which was done to give Huntington more freedom to travel.

Business Briefs

TOM ESCH of Novi has received an award for individual performance in selling Dodge vehicles. Esch is a new vehicle salesperson for Town and Country Dodge, Inc., in Farmington.

Esch has reached the Silver level of recognition in Dodge's unique Sales Professionals Club. Specially-designed incentives and awards are provided for outstanding product knowledge and sales achievement at three performance levels—Bronze, Silver and Gold. Membership in each level is determined by points earned for sales of new cars and trucks.

The program continues throughout the 1987 model sales year. The top 50 Dodge retail sales personnel will win a trip to a three-day national sales conference.

MOTHERS-TO-BE in the Novi area will discover fine maternity fashions at the newest Maternity Ltd. store in the West Oaks II shopping plaza at 27793 Novi Road.

Dedicated to the philosophy that a woman's personal style need not be sacrificed during pregnancy, Maternity Ltd. boasts a distinguished collection of fashions from such designers as St. Gillian, Mondays Child by Myrna, J.G. Hook and Jane Schaffhausen for belle of France.

The store offers both casual and evening wear for today's expectant mother.

Maternity Ltd. also offers more than just high fashion maternity clothing. The entire stock of fashion is discounted 15 to 50 percent below the suggested retail price every day of the week.

KEVIN M. HAMMER has been appointed head of a new GTE district, which is headquartered in Davison. The announcement came from Central Division Manager Bill Buschle.

As district manager, Hammer is responsible for GTE telephone operations, customer service and public relations activities in the area. The new district includes all of Milford and White Lake.

Hammer joined GTE as a systems administrator at Fort Wayne, Ind., in 1981. He was promoted to service office manager at Portage, Ind., two years later and to the Midwest Telephone Operations' administrative staff in 1985.

He is a graduate of Indiana State University and earned a Master of Business Administration degree from St. Francis College.

JOYCE KIVIMAKI is the newest employee at Real Estate One in Milford. Licensed as a Realtor earlier this year, she left another broker to join the REO staff.

"It didn't take long for Joyce to get adjusted," Manager Grace Maxfield said. "She had her first sale within a few days of joining us. We're very happy to have her."

HAROLD N. HYLAND, CLU, of Novi has completed all requirements to be certified as a qualifying and life member of the 1987 Million Dollar Round Table. Hyland is a district representative for Lutheran Brotherhood, a fraternal benefit society.

Hyland joined Lutheran Brotherhood in 1975. He is associated with the Karl Mueller Agency headquartered in Rochester. The Million Dollar Round Table is an independent association of more than 15,000 life insurance agents, each of whom must meet strict ethical and production requirements in order to qualify. Hyland is one of 82 Lutheran Brotherhood field force members to qualify; the 82 represent three percent of the world's life insurance agents certified each year.

THE HOLIDAY INN/FARMINGTON HILLS has been awarded a plaque by the Michigan Cancer Foundation for sponsoring a fund-raiser which raised more than $7,000 for cancer research and patient care programs.

The fund-raising event was held in conjunction with completion of a multi-million dollar renovation of the Holiday Inn/Farmington Hills.

Planning's critical for success in starting a small business

Jan is a homemaker who loves to bake. In fact, her fancy desserts have long been the envy of friends and neighbors. When a local restaurant approached her about supplying them with her cakes and pies, Jan readily agreed.

Brad, a college student, has always been fascinated by magic. He began doing tricks for his young friends and has since become quite a magician. After a neighbor agreed to pay him to put on a magic show at her six-year-old's party, Brad realized he had stumbled on a way to earn the extra spending money he needed.

Sam took an early retirement from his job. No one had to approach him; he knew exactly how he wanted to spend his free time. An avid gardener, Sam knew he could supplement his income by doing landscaping and gardening work for neighbors in the adult community where he lived.

Jan, Brad and Sam each are embarking on a new adventure. While their interests are diverse, each agrees what's important is they earn some extra money doing something they enjoy. They don't aspire to parlay their business idea into a million-dollar operation. What they want is a "small" small business.

While these individuals may feel ready to jump right in and get started, the Michigan Association of CPAs cautions that planning is essential to the success of even the smallest of small business.

Money Management

Once you've decided on a concept, you'll want to refine your idea. While you may not need a formal written business plan, putting your idea on paper often helps you organize your thoughts.

Begin talking to others. Family, friends, and business and professional acquaintances all can help. Review the details of your product or service idea with all these people. Talk to those now working in a similar or related business. Someone in a different locale, who would not consider you to be in direct competition, would probably be willing to talk to you. Ask about their customers. Find out if their customers have expressed an interest in goods or services that they do not offer.

Talk to your potential customers next. Learn what their needs are, how they perceive your product or service idea, and how much they would be willing to pay for it. The "how-to" manuals call this market research. What you are actually doing is surveying the market to see if your business idea will fly.

Along the way, you just may find that your idea needs to be altered or modified. Brad the magician, who originally perceived his concept as something he would do in the evening, after his classes, may find that most children's parties are held late afternoon and weekends. Sam might find that although his neighbors need his service during the warm, growing season, he can get year-round work caring for plants in corporate buildings.

There are some legal and business details that will need your attention. To begin with, you'll want to set up a separate checking account for your business venture. This will allow you to have a written record of your business income and expenses.

You'll also want to familiarize yourself with local and federal laws and requirements. You should contact your town or county clerk to advise them on the existence of your business. Often a local city or county business license is required.

Most states require that a "fictitious business name statement" be filed if the business name does not include the surname of the owner. If Jan decides to use a special business name, like "Just Desserts," this name should be filed with the county clerk's office.

If you need assistance in the financial areas of your business, a certified public accountant can help organize your business, set up an accounting system for your income and expenses, and advise you on tax matters.

By their nature, very small businesses are generally low cost operations. But even a small, small business has some start-up costs and on-going expenses. You may need some furnishings — perhaps a desk or filing cabinet or maybe a typewriter or other office equipment. If possible, purchase second-hand merchandise to keep your costs down. You'll also need stationery, envelopes and other office supplies. A telephone is essential, and you probably should purchase an answering machine so you don't miss important business calls.

To be successful, you must let people know what you have to offer. There are many ways to do this — many are free or low in cost. First of all, be sure to order business cards. And once you do so, distribute them widely — don't wait for people to ask for them. Give them to everyone you meet and tack them up on bulletin boards. Flyers can be used as well, particularly for a service business such as the one Sam is considering.

You can distribute your flyers door-to-door or engage the help of a reliable youngster to help.

Depending on the type of business, you may want a listing or a small ad in the Yellow Pages. Although newspaper display ads can be quite expensive, classified ads are normally more affordable and can be quite effective.

Publicity can be an effective way of attracting business, and it's free. Publicity refers to the coverage your business receives from newspapers, radio and television stations, who think your business is somehow newsworthy. Brad doing magic shows for six-year-olds isn't front-page news, but if he decides to do a benefit show once a week in the pediatrics ward of the local hospital, he's more likely to get media coverage.

You can start the ball rolling by sending news releases to the media, but make sure to focus on a unique angle of your business.

Even a small, small business can call for a big investment in time and energy. So if you're considering a venture of your own, CPAs suggest you don't underestimate the importance of planning.

THE NEW BUICK REGAL.

One of the most exciting new cars of the season has just arrived in your town. It's the brand-new Buick - the all-new Regal. And it's a knockout! But you've got to see it for yourself. So come on in and let our professional staff introduce you to Regal. As you test-drive the new Regal, notice the many standard features, such as:

- 2.8-litre V-6 with MFI
- Four-wheel power disc brakes
- Automatic transmission with overdrive
- Automatic safety belt system
- Stainless steel exhaust system
- Independent front and rear suspension

The Great American Road belongs to Buick.

Bowling is Back

More Americans than ever hang out in 'gutters' for top participation sport

By CHRISTOPHER J. KOZLOWSKI

Dust off that 10-pound ball and wash that polyester shirt with your name embroidered above the pocket, the sport of bowling is gaining more momentum than a skillfully thrown Brooklyn curve and holding firm on its claim as America's number one participation sport.

According to national estimates, more than 70 million people took to the lanes at least once last year, and 9 million more participated in regular league match ups.

The $4 billion industry is enjoying one of the biggest resurgences in popularity in its 7,000-plus year history, and Novi Bowl Manager Frank Pepp knows why.

"We have noticed bowling getting back to basics, as far as its strong family appeal goes," Pepp said. "Bowling is a fun family activity in which everyone can participate."

"Time is the biggest competition within the family," Pepp said. "Bowling is an activity whereby a family can get out for an hour, spend time together as a family and have fun."

Pepp, who also manages Drakeshire Lanes in Farmington Hills, estimates that between 8,000-10,000 people bowl at the two centers each week, and that the sport has become more than just a sport.

"Bowling has become more of a social activity, in that people are able to get out of the house with their neighbors and friends," Pepp said. "Fifteen years ago (bowling) was considered a highly competitive sport, you bowled in competition three-four times each week."

Today, Pepp said, the emphasis is on good old-fashioned family entertainment.

Last spring, the National Bowling Council (NBC) spent $8 million on an advertising campaign to show America's new youth what bowling had to offer. This year the industry stands to gain even more positive publicity when the 1988 Olympic games in Seoul feature bowling as an exhibition sport.

Across the U.S., more and more bowling centers are catering special events to re-attract the clientele which may have left the sport after their youth. Centers across the U.S. are modernizing their facilities to feature computerized score keeping, plush furniture, fine dining and some even have video display screens which display instant replays.

Bowling has become big money to centers which capitalize on people who make up today's bowling's more affluent family-type customers.

Taking Pepp's theory into account, the typical Novi and Northville family easily fits into the current wave of bowlers who have discovered an affection for the number 300. According to statistics provided by the National Bowling Council, the average bowler is 33 years old and works largely in managerial, professional and clerical occupations. Bowling participation is almost exactly split between males and females. Most bowlers attended at least one year of college and earn about $25,556 annually, about $5,000 more than the national average.

Family business is the mainstream of those who aim at the pins at Novi Bowl, according to Pepp, who said his centers are programming more special events for families than ever before. Pre-school children can participate in bumper bowling, older children can enroll in a four-week instructional program, a new weekly parent-child Sunday league, and bowling-alley birthday parties.

The birthday parties have become so popular that Pepp said between 5-10 parties take place each week at Novi Bowl and Drakeshire Lanes.

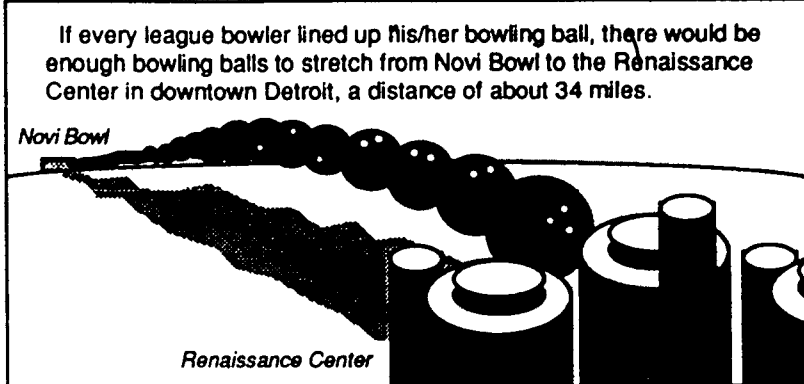

"Kids who used to go to McDonald's or Chucky Cheese, are now coming to bowling centers for an hour of bowling, pizza, pop, balloons and cake," Pepp said.

The traditional image of Ed Norton and Ralph Kramden (or of Fred Flinstone and Barney Rubble) heading to the bowling alley for some macho competition with the guys has been replaced by a social activity for every family.

"If it is not strictly a blue collar sport," Pepp said. "We have owners of golf courses here, we have owners of businesses here for the competition and for the fun."

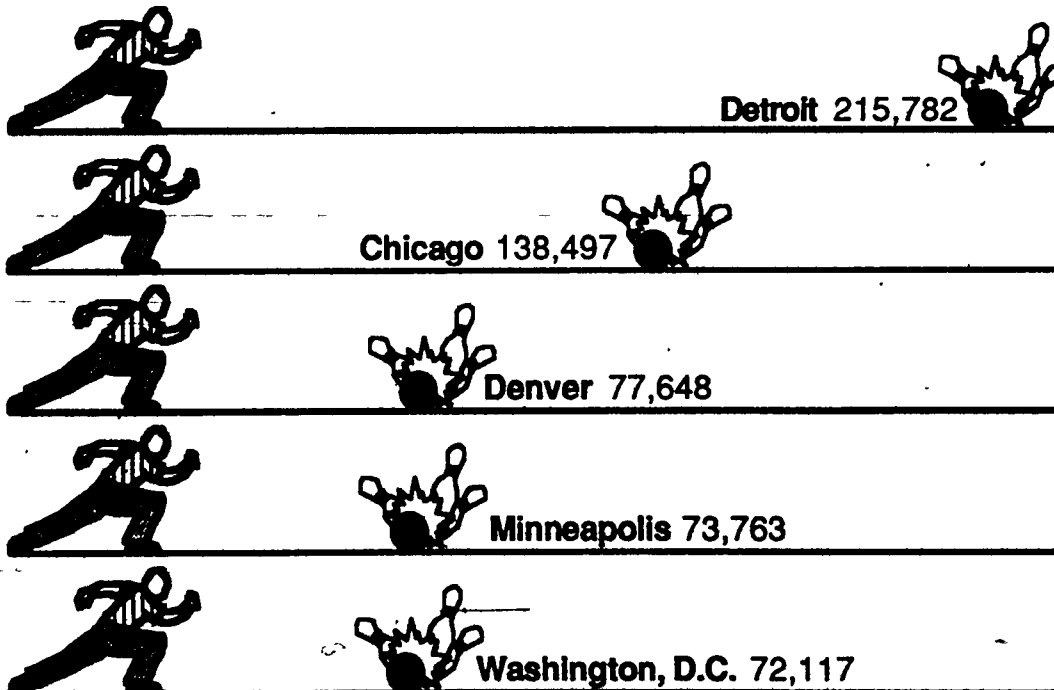

In the Bedrock of the 1980s, you probably won't catch Fred and Barney heading out for a night out alone. They may just be packing along Wilma, Betty and the kids and make a day of it, leaving the Stone Age behind.

If every league bowler lined up his/her bowling ball, there would be enough bowling balls to stretch from Novi Bowl to the Renaissance Center in downtown Detroit, a distance of about 34 miles.

Author recalls humorous family life

By ANITA CRONE

Teresa Bloomingdale has the ability to laugh at herself, with herself, and, last Thursday, with almost a sellout crowd at the opening of the 1987-88 Northville Town Hall series.

Bloomingdale, author of three books with more on the way, had the nearly 600 women in stitches as she recounted the tales of raising her 10 children — all of whom were planned and all of whom are loved.

With her growing family, Bloomingdale said, it was almost inevitable that she become a writer. "I got my writing experience writing notes to my children's teachers," she explained. "I wrote a note to the junior high school gym teacher explaining why she couldn't play tennis when she was on crutches and was in a cast; to the fifth grade teacher explaining that I could not send five jar lids of varying sizes to school since, with all the children, while I had the jars, the lids had long since vanished; and, to the first grade teacher explaining why I could not send any note paper. I had used it all up writing notes to teachers."

Bloomingdale, who doesn't look tall enough or hardy enough to have raised 10 children, now

Bloomingdale: 'I spent the first 20 years of my married life in the maternity ward or in church and none of it sleeping through the night.'

ranging in age from 18 to 31, said she always intended to have a large family.

"I went to a convent college in the 1950s and the nuns said we all must prepare for a career. To that end, we spent the first week of school taking career aptitude tests. "Back then, if you did well in science, they expected you would be a nurse; if you did well in arts, you would become a teacher; if you didn't do well in either, you would follow your father into business."

"I figured how I did when the dean called me into her office and asked what my father did," she said.

But for Bloomingdale, who is not related to the Bloomingdales of department store fame, but is related to the Bloomingdales of Omaha, Neb., a writing career, especially one as a humorous writer, was not what she anticipated when she graduated from college.

"I wanted at first to be a political columnist, a female Robert Nowak or a Republican Mary McGrory. Instead, my subject became my family and my first writings were columns for a shopper."

In Our Town

Local artists are featured in area shows

By JEAN DAY

Northville not only is a community that supports crafts shows, as crowds at the Tivoli Fair and last weekend's Handicrafts Unlimited show attest, but it also is the home of many artists and craftspeople.

Local artist Linda Banks Ord will have her work on display at the Our Town Exhibition and Sale at the Birmingham Community House which opens next Thursday, Oct. 29, and continues through Nov. 1. It is a juried exhibition featuring Michigan artists and their creative interpretations of "Our Town."

Linda Banks Ord was the recipient of the University of Michigan's School of Art B.F.A. Award for Excellence, an award for outstanding performance presented to the top four graduate from the school of art as determined by a vote of the faculty at a reception following May graduation ceremonies at U-M.

She had graduated earlier in the day Summa Cum Laude, receiving her B.A. degree in painting. During her senior year she also won the Bill Lewis Award in watercolor and was a finalist in the Fine Arts Division of the statewide Steelcase Fine Art and Design Competition (The work was displayed at the Art Institute of Detroit).

The bachelor's degree received last spring is the artist's second — she earlier completed a B.S. in sociology and French in 1970. She is continuing work toward a master's degree in painting at Wayne State University. She and her husband, Ken, treasurer of Kelly Services, and three children, Jason, Justin and Kristin, have been residents of Northville for nine years.

The Birmingham show is open to the public Friday and Saturday, 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Sunday 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. A continental breakfast, for which reservations are necessary, is scheduled for Nov. 1 and is an opportunity to meet the artists. For reservations, call 644-6832.

Margaret Lambert and Fifi McCutchan in Livonia show

Two Northville artists who are students of Marie Tuthill are participating in the Third Annual Art Show featuring oil paintings and water colors by the teacher and her students this weekend.

Show hours are 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. Saturday and noon to 5 p.m. Sunday at Pritchard Heating and Air Conditioning at 33632 Five Mile in Livonia. Artworks may be purchased.

Angela Carson opens photography studio

Northville resident Angela Carson last weekend opened her own photographic studio at 18600 Northville Road, Suite 700. A grand opening celebration was held by the young photographer last Sunday afternoon.

Newcomers slate craft and gift auction, race night

As the Ladies Day activity for November, Northville Newcomers will hold a craft and gift auction from 7:30-9:30 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 10, in New School Church in Mill Race Historical Village. Limited to 50, cost is $2 with reservations being taken today through Nov. 3 by Gail McPhee, 348-5007, chairperson with Brenda Sayers. Everyone participating is asked to bring an hors d'oeuvre or dessert and a craft or new gift item to be auctioned.

President Christine Knapp reports that profits from the evening will go toward purchasing new printing equipment for Newcomers.

For the November couples' event, Newcomers will hold a Night at the Races at Northville Downs on Friday, Nov. 20. Limited to 50 couples, reservations are being taken today through Oct. 30 by Michele Samouelian, 349-5853, co-chairperson with Gretchen Lapham. Cost of $25 a couple includes admission to the track, buffet dinner and racing program. As Newcomers watch Jackson's Action at Northville Downs, a race will be named in honor of the club, one of the community's largest.

Couple wed 60 years ago

MR. AND MRS. JAMES STRAUS

Mr. and Mrs. James E. Straus will celebrate their wedding anniversary today by having dinner at the Mayflower Hotel in Plymouth.

They were married 60 years ago today on Oct. 22, 1927, in Detroit. Mrs. Straus is the former Josephine Donlan, of Cedar Springs, Mich. Her husband is a native of Dollar Bay.

The couple, who lived in Detroit, Northville and Plymouth throughout their marriage, just moved to Haggerty Road. They met during their college years at University of Michigan. He had had his own building firm, Staus Modernizing, and she was a school teacher in Detroit.

For many years they were active square dancers throughout the area. They are members of A.A.R.P. and Our Lady of Good Counsel Church in Plymouth.

The couple celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at a gathering of friends in Plymouth.

They have two adopted grandchildren (of their friend, Edna Leonard) and one adopted great grandchild.

Trip marks anniversary

Mark and Shelly Meinhardt, who are living in Walled Lake, celebrated their first wedding anniversary by taking a trip to Toronto.

She is the former Shelly Thacker of Northville.

The couple exchanged their marriage vows at First United Methodist Church of Northville Oct. 4, 1986.

Their attendants included best man Gregg Thacker, matron of honor Kai Thacker, groomsmen

Michael Meinhardt, Ken Howard, Bill Morrison and Rob Werner, bridesmaids Donna Meinhardt, Sarah Hawes, Heidi Hobbe and Amy Norton.

Kenny Howard was ring bearer at the ceremony.

Mark Meinhardt is a technical writer with Computer Methods Corp. in Livonia. Shelly Meinhardt is a freelance writer working for national and regional magazines.

Seven Presbyterian churches to present concert

The seven choirs of First Presbyterian Church of Northville will combine forces at 6 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 25, to present "A Festival of Hymns and Anthems."

This concert will include music for voices, English handbells, brass quartet, harp and organ. The seven choirs, Jeff Fowler, director of music, announces, will perform individually as well as collectively, to include more than 120 participants.

At times, the audience will be asked to rise and unite with the choirs and instrumentalists to become part of the performing throng.

In addition to Fowler, conductors include youth choir directors Barbara Ross, Denise Reese, Judy Somershoe and Karen Fox. Accompanists are Alice Chamberlain, organist, and Barbara Glover, pianist.

Highlights of the concert include Dale Wood's "American Folk Hymn Suite" for handbells, harp and organ composed for the Bicentennial in 1976.

The chancel choir (adult choir) will sing John Rutter's "For the Beauty of Earth" as well as William Dawson's well known arrangement of the spiritual, "Ezekiel Saw de Wheel."

The youth will join with the adults to sing John Ness Beck's "A Holy Festival," accompanied by brass and organ and concluding with the singing of the hymn, "Holy, Holy, Holy."

The choirs again will combine later in the concert to sing Hal Hespeler's "Sing Out All Voices Clear and Bright" based on Tallis' Canon, concluding with the singing of the hymn by the audience. In addition, many other hymns and anthems will be performed.

The community is invited to attend this event. No tickets are needed; however, a free will offering will be taken to defray costs of the production. The church is located at 200 E. Main in downtown Northville.

Prisoner services director to be club speaker

Lois Glonek, director of prisoner services at Scott Regional Correctional Facility, will speak on "Everything You Ever Wanted to Know about your Neighborhood Prison" at the Northville Woman's Club's second meeting of the new season at 1:30 p.m. Friday.

The meeting will be in Fellowship

Hall of First Presbyterian Church of Northville.

Glonek will acquaint members and their guests with the mission and programs of the institution, Marion Pickl, program chairman of the day, reports.

Glonek taught English and social science in Detroit secondary schools and served as advisor for the school newspaper, utilizing her training in journalism, after receiving her bachelor's degree from Madonna College.

She earned a master's degree in correctional science at the University of Detroit and a master's in public administration from the University of Michigan.

Prior to her present position, Glonek was center manager of the Pontiac Corrections Center in 1985-86 and was supervisor of Washtenaw County Parole/Corrections Center from 1984-85.

She is a resident of Canton.

Club members model Highland Lakes show before sellout crowd

While a capacity crowd looked on, members of Highland Lakes Women's Club modeled at the club's annual fall fashion benefit last Thursday afternoon at Highland House.

The dessert show was chaired by Betty Elstro and Jane Johnson who reported the show was the club's most successful ever, receiving a standing ovation from the audience at the conclusion.

Models were Martha Forstrom, Lucy Funk, Dorothy Gaul, Audrey Hinchey, Jane Johnson, Jo Peterson and Betty Simon. Daytime through evening wear was featured at the show which followed desserts of chocolate eclairs from Holloway Bakery.

Funk also is treasurer of the club; Johnson is vice president and Forstrom is secretary. President is Geneva Bodenmiller.

Commentator was Penny Quain, a Highland Lakes resident and manager of August-Max at Twelve Oaks whose fashions were shown.

The show is the club's annual fund raising project with funds raised used to assist local charities. Door prizes were donated by local merchants. Member Dorothy Quaine created heart and baby's breath bouquets.

Lioness benefit aids hospice

There's little doubt that winter and Christmas soon will be here as local organizations announce upcoming benefits.

□ The North-West Lioness Club is presenting its second annual Christmas auction and 50/50 bingo benefit this Sunday, Oct. 25, at the Northville Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 4012 at 438 S. Main.

The auction will begin at 1 p.m. with bingo following. All bingo proceeds will go to Hospice of South Eastern Michigan, and all auction earnings will be used for other charity projects of the club. Joanne Gears explains. Food and beverages will be available.

Each year, as one of its projects, the club hosts a Christmas party at Hospice of South Eastern Michigan. The main purpose of the party is to provide patients at the hospice with a selection of gifts to give to their relatives and loved ones.

The Lionesses wrap and label each gift the patient chooses. The club's goal is to provide each patient with a sufficient number of gifts, making sure no family member goes without a remembrance. The gifts are purchased with the proceeds from the bingo.

Other monies earned from the auction will help support projects of Lioness and Lions clubs, such as Leader Dogs for the Blind, Ears for the Deaf, Beaumont Hospital Silent Children's Fund, Welcome Home for the Blind in Grand Rapids, Penickton Home for the Blind and Multiple Handicapped Children in Taylor, White Cane purchases, Michigan Eye Bank, Eyeglasses for children and treats for the City of Northville Fire Department Halloween Party.

There will be a small charge of $1 for lunch with beverages and snacks available at a nominal charge. Auctioneering services are being donated by Robert Van Sickle. The Lionesses note that the V.F.W. is donating its facilities for the event.

Among items to be auctioned are a Night for Two at the Novi Hilton, two tickets for a Detroit Pistons' game, dinner for two from Genetti's, gift certificates from local merchants and an assortment of craft items.

Everyone in the community is invited to attend.

□ Northville Mothers' Club will hold its annual ski and skate sale from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 14, at Meads Mill Middle School.

Skates, cross country and downhill ski equipment and clothing will be accepted for the sale only on Friday, Nov. 13, between 4 and 8 p.m. at the school. The club charges a 15 percent commission for items sold. There is no charge for items that do not sell. These may be picked up after 3 p.m. Nov. 14.

Proceeds from the sale will go for special projects of the club in the Northville Public Schools.

□ Members of the Northville Business and Professional Women's Club will sponsor a 4:30 p.m. performance Dec. 13 of "Peter Pan" at the Marquis Theatre. Tickets at $9, including treats for the children attending, are available from any member. Proceeds will be used for the club's charitable projects.

□ Holiday Dazzle is the theme for the annual scholarship benefit of the Society of Engineers' Wives of Detroit. A fashion show-luncheon, the event raises funds to finance scholarships for deserving junior or senior engineering students, Maureen Cooper of Northville, who is handling publicity, reports.

It will be held at Plum Hollow Golf Club, Lahser at Nine Mile Road, with cocktails at 11 a.m. and luncheon at noon Wednesday, Nov. 11. Fashions will be by Classique of Tel-Twelve Mall and Dittich Furs. Donation is $20.

Other local members of the club include Mrs. William B. Chase, Mrs. Myron Kasey, Mrs. Thomas McLaughlin, Mrs. Robert Hoffmann, all of Northville, and Mrs. Peter Jacob of Novi. For ticket information call 474-2471.

□ First Presbyterian Church of Farmington is presenting a Self-Help Handicrafts Sales Exchange for Refugee Rehabilitation Vocations, which will feature beautiful handcrafted items from around the world made by needy persons with no other way to market their crafts.

It will be held from noon to 8 p.m. Oct. 29, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Oct. 30 and 31 at the church at 26165 Farmington Road. Sponsors report that all proceeds are returned to Church of the Brethren General Board.

Northville show heads list of coming antique events

Annual Fall Antique Show by Helen Meisel is being held this weekend at the Northville Community Building. Hours are Friday and Saturday, noon to 9 p.m., and Sunday, noon to 5 p.m.

The 40th Annual Antiques Show and Sale of the Junior Group of Goodwill Industries will be held from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. Friday and Saturday, Nov. 6 and 7, and from noon to 5 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 8, at the State Fair Grounds, Woodward and Eight Mile in Detroit.

Admission is $5 at the door. Among those on the committee for the show is Barbara Williamson of Northville.

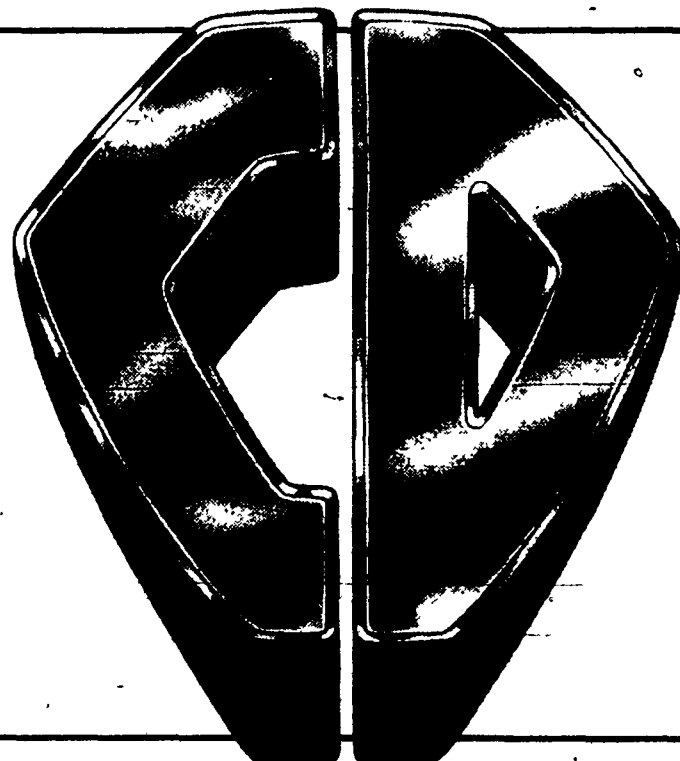

The show is the group's main fund raiser for helping the handicapped of greater Detroit.

Twenty quality dealers will be featured at the 16th annual antique show and sale of St. Paul's United Methodist Women at the church located at 620 Romeo Street in Rochester Nov. 4, 5 and 6. During the show domestic arts demonstrations will be given.

Donation is $2. For information call 651-9361.

Proceeds go to the United Methodist Women's Mission Projects, local and abroad.

Humor saves mother of 10

She rapidly progressed to writing book reviews, and says she gained some long-time friends from her efforts.

"One of my favorite letters from authors is a two-page, longhand letter from David Niven. I have that letter framed," she said.

Once she began speaking nationwide, she said she had the opportunity to meet Niven. "We were sitting next to each other and he realized I was nervous. He turned to me and said to give him a big smile."

"That way, he said, he would tell me if I had lettuce in my teeth. And, he would give me a big smile. That way I could tell if he had his teeth in."

Bloomington said her writing began running nationally in 1973, when she began writing a column in a national Catholic publication, "Our Sunday Visitor" and, in 1982 she became a contributing editor to "McCalls," a relationship that lasted just three years, until the magazine wanted to limit Bloomington's writing to just "McCalls."

By then, Bloomington had received a call from Doubleday, which wanted her to write her first book, "I Should Have Seen It Coming When the Rabbit Died." That book was published in 1979.

That was three books and a contract for three more ago and Bloomington said she has not looked back.

"Knowing what I know, I would be crazy to do this," she explained when asked, as she usually is, whether she would do it all again. "But knowing who I know, you bet I'd do it again," she said.

Raising 10 children has not always been a bed of roses, she said, and, while she loves her husband very much, she said that he was educated in Jesuit schools and learned that it was the man's job to earn a living for his family. It was the woman's job to keep the home and the children.

"I remember after our fifth child

Teresa Bloomington opens town hall season was born. It was 2½ years before our sixth was born. My husband was so grateful he gave me a milk coat. I was so grateful, I gave him a baby."

But life has not always been perfect for the Bloomington brood. In fact, Bloomington recalls, there were times when she was not able to laugh away the troubles.

"I promised myself before the children were born, that I would allow myself to cry in front of my children. My mother never cried in front of us and I promised myself that if I cried, I would do so in front of the children. It helped them to realize that it was OK to cry and to show emotion," she said.

She did not cry when she recounted the tale of the tornado that swept through Omaha, although it certainly had an effect on her home life.

"We had just painted the outside of our house and a neighbor child, 6-year-old Matthew, took some blue spray paint and wrote 'love' all over the new white paint. I figured the insurance company would take care of it, and told his parents not to worry too much about it," she recalled.

"But his father, wanting to impress on Matthew that you don't do things like that, evidently told him that he would have to save his allowance to help pay for the damage."

"He told us later that that night, when Matthew said his prayers, he asked God to help him take care of the Bloomingtons' house. At 4:30 the next day, a tornado ripped through town and totally destroyed our house."

The family survived and is still surviving, at least long enough to provide fodder for Teresa's next book. As for Teresa, she's looking forward to the day when she can finally sleep through the night.

"I spent the first 20 years of my married life in the maternity ward or in church and none of it sleeping through the night. I figured out that I would be 60 before I got a good night's sleep."

"With toddlers, you stay awake listening for the children. Then they become teenagers and you stay awake waiting for them to come home. Now, I read, women over 60 have difficulty sleeping through the night."

It's hard to sleep through the night when you're laughing.

New babies join families

Tim and Debbi Bostwick of 23095 Beck Road announce the birth of their daughter, Megan Emily, Oct. 10 at Huron Valley Hospital in Milford. She weighed seven pounds, 11 ounces.

The baby's mother is the former Debbi Meyer of Northville.

Welcoming Megan at home are sisters, Valerie and Kathryn.

Grandparents are Peggy Meyer of Ann Arbor, Larry Meyer of Northville and Jerry and Joyce Bostwick of South Lyon. Maternal great grandparents are Cris and Ellie Hammond of Cheboygan and Sherry Meyer of Northville. Paternal great grandparents are Jenny Bostwick of South Lyon and John Phelps of Livonia.

Maureen and Tom Ray of 690 Thayer Blvd. announce the birth of their first child, Emma Alyson, Oct. 7 at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor. Their daughter's birth weight was eight pounds, four ounces.

Grandparents are Mrs. Jacqueline Ray of Toledo and Bernard and Ann Ryan of Defiance, Ohio.

Emma will be baptized in November at Our Lady of Victory Church in Northville. A family gathering in her honor will follow.

Saving energy is nice. Saving money is great! If you heat with oil you can probably save big bucks with a small investment in energy efficiency. In fact, a study conducted by the Michigan Commerce Department Energy Administration found that one out of every three homes studied could save $200 per year, every year, if they put a new, high-efficiency burner in their oil furnace! Think about yourself for a change. Put a little money into your current oil furnace — and make some plans for that extra cash you'll have on hand!

Affordable video library is possible

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

Are you a movie buff? Do you own a videocassette recorder and end up spending hundreds of dollars a year in movie rentals?

If you answered yes to any or all of the above questions, maybe it's time to contemplate buying your own VCR movies instead of renting them.

Instead of dishing out a lot of cash to rent movies you can't keep, there are ways of owning many of the same titles or other quality movies at a price that would surprise you.

A lot of VCR owners would like to start their own movie library, but are put off by the exorbitant prices. One of the best ways around this dilemma is to try to find films for sale that are in the public domain. A "public domain movie" is one that, for one reason or another, is not covered by the copyright laws. Through some oversight, many public domain movies were never copyrighted or have copyrights that have expired and not been renewed.

That's why you can go to your local supermarket or budget store and pick up classics like Frank Capra's It's a Wonderful Life and Alfred Hitchcock's The 39 Steps, usually for less than $10.

Many small-time companies originally got into the video businesses as a result of these public domain movies. The reason is that companies can make copies of these films and sell them without paying royalties since nobody legally owns the rights to a public domain movie.

Current companies dealing with public domain films number in the dozens, and a large list of classics can be had for very little money. Not surprisingly, the quality of each film depends on the company. Unfortunately, there is no fool-proof way to know for sure if the quality is acceptable — except to buy it.

A film like It's a Wonderful Life is being offered on nearly two dozen different videotapes — some versions are very good quality and others are poor. Sir Carol Reed's The Third Man and Orson Welles' The Stranger are two examples of other public domain gems, but again the quality question poses a problem.

For the Hitchcock fan, a number of the master's earlier films are available in this form. In addition to The 39 Steps (1935), other Hitchcock films that can be purchased for less than $10 include The Man Who Knew Too Much (original version, 1934), The Secret Agent (1936), The Lady Vanishes and Sabotage.

Except for a few uncommon cases, public domain films are very watchable, although they may appear grainy and washed out at times. Unless you are a perfectionist, public domain films may be the way to go. Some of the better quality domain films are produced by Budget Video, Crown, NTA, Blackhawk, Prism, Spillite and Hal Roach Studios. It's not an all encompassing list — one company may have a clean print of one film and an inferior print of another.

If you are willing to spend a little more cash (up to $30) for a home movie, the good news is that major studios are planning to sell a large group of newer films at reduced rates just in time for the holiday season. The list includes more recent classics (and non-classics) like High Noon, Annie Hall, In the Heat of the Night, Ghostbusters, Beverly Hills Cop and Raiders of the Lost Ark. Others like

"It's a Wonderful Life" is in the public domain

Top Gun have also been reduced considerably because they include commercials.

Perhaps the cheapest way to start a collection of favorites is to buy blank cassettes and tape the films yourself. This practice has its advantages and drawbacks.

As for as cost, a blank cassette can be bought for as low as $2 each on sale, so that is a definite advantage. Unfortunately, some taped television programs don't reproduce very well and the commercials pose a problem.

Another problem is that you can only tape movies that television channels elect to broadcast. In addition, some television stations are famous for cutting out scenes, which may be the most frustrating aspect of all.

If all of this sounds like too much effort and risk, you can always pay top dollar and get beautiful releases that are almost always crystal clear with excellent sound. Cost is the only problem. HBO Home Video is currently charging $99.95 for the videocassette of Platoon!

Marquis presents comedy 'Harvey'

Sam Jungermann as Elwood P. Dowd in "Harvey"

Mary Chase's play "Harvey" opens Saturday, Oct. 24, at the Marquis Theater in downtown Northville.

The play, directed by Art Rizzo, is about an imaginary rabbit over six feet tall and his companionship with amiable drinker Elwood P. Dowd (Sam Jungermann).

"Harvey" won a Pulitzer Prize as best American play, and stayed on Broadway for 1,775 performances.

Performances are scheduled Oct. 24, 25, 30, and 31; and November 1, 6, 7, and 8. Friday and Saturday shows are at 8 p.m.; Sundays are at 3:30 p.m. Tickets are $9 for Friday, $10 for Saturday and $8 for Sunday. The theater is at 135 E. Main in Northville. For reservations or more information, call 340-8110.

Mustang netters grab WLAA tourney, title

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

The Northville girls' tennis squad accomplished something last weekend that no other Mustang team has been able to do in quite some time. Coach Uta Filkins' netters won the Western Lakes Activities Association tennis tournament on Oct. 12 at Livonia Stevenson and grabbed the conference title in the process.

In a 12-school league like the WLAA, conference championships aren't very common — especially for a small Class A school like Northville. That fact makes the accomplishment even more impressive.

"It turned out very well for us," Filkins said. "We went into it tied with North Farmington, but we beat them in the tournament and that means we don't have to share our title with anyone. It feels great."

The Mustangs put players into the semifinals in six of the seven flights, and came away with three individual conference titles. Northville's 20 points were four better than second place Stevenson and seven in front of third place North Farmington.

"I thought we were strong enough heading in, but we had a lot of obstacles this season and at times it made me wonder whether fate was on our side or not," Filkins said. "We played very solid in the tournament though — that's where we fell last season."

Abby Edwards at No. 2 singles, freshman Karen Vogt at No. 4 singles and the No. 3 doubles team of Aimee Edwards and Shannon Couzens all notched WLAA titles. Abby Edwards was seeded third, but cruised through her first two opponents with ease and then downed Plymouth Salem's Janet Turner 7-5, 7-6 in the finals for the championship.

Vogt gained a measure of revenge en route to her title. After preliminary wins over players from Plymouth Canton and Salem, Vogt finally beat North Farmington's Meredith Wall 6-4, 1-6, 6-3 in the finals. It was the first time in three tries the freshman was able to beat Wall this season.

"Karen lost to her in a dual meet and at the regionals, but she showed a lot of stamina by coming back like that to win," Filkins said. "For a freshman to beat a senior in that situation is very good."

Aimee Edwards and Couzens downed Stevenson's Kathy McConnell and Amy Wittrick in the finals at No. 3 doubles. The Mustang duo won a very tough three-setter 4-6, 7-6, 7-6 by taking two tie-breakers while down a set each time.

"They had lost to the girls from Stevenson earlier in the week, but they really came through when they had to," Filkins said. "I had been switching (Shannon) Couzens and Jacquie Trausch at No. 3 but Jacquie has been ill. It was a tough decision, but I decided to play it safe and go with Shannon and even though it was a bad break for her, Jacquie was graceful about it."

Kathleen Kotarski advanced to the semifinals at No. 3 singles but then lost to Stevenson's Renea Bonser 6-7, 7-6, 7-5 in a grueling match. Earlier in the week, Kotarski had beaten Bonser.

Bonsor is a very big, physical player and she is either on or off," Filkins explained. "She was on against Kathleen the second time."

The No. 1 and 2 doubles teams also advanced to the finals before losing in three sets. Jennifer Trabin and Nanci Dutkiewicz fell to Canton's Michelle Khurana and Sandy Bajur 2-6, 7-6, 2-6 at the No. 1 finals while Julie Millgard and Laura Nance were on the short end of a 3-6, 6-1, 6-2 decision to Stevenson's Tina Gelmici and Lisa Manning. At No. 1 singles, Adrienne Edwards did a nice job in a first round win but fell in round two to the third seed from Walled Lake Central.

The Mustangs wrapped up a very successful season last weekend (Oct. 17-18) at the MHSAA State Championship Meet in Midland. As expected, the competition was very stiff, but it was a rare chance for the netters to relax and enjoy themselves in a big tournament.

"Just being there was great — it was like being on the cake," Filkins said. "There was really no pressure on us because we really didn't have any state-champion calibre players. We had a good time and the girls played very well."

As a team, the Mustangs scored four championship points, which put the team in a tie for 16th place in the state out of 27 schools.

"Sixteenth in the state is very nice indeed," Filkins acknowledged. "There were no real blow outs, so I was very happy for the girls."

Adrienne Edwards fought hard in the first round against Rochester Adams' Jackie Aurelia at No. 1, but eventually dropped a 6-4, 4-6, 6-2 decision. Abby Edwards at No. 2 won her first round match over a player from Fraser but then lost to Ann Arbor Huron's Naree Lee (1-6, 3-6).

At No. 3, Kotarski came down with a bronchial infection and was unable to play, so Filkins replaced her with Jacquie Trausch, who had never played singles for the Mustangs. Trausch played hard but fell to a player from Muskegon, 1-6, 0-6. Unluckily, Vogt drew the tourney's number seven seed, Karen Micus from Birmingham Marian, and lost 2-6, 1-6 at No. 4 singles.

In doubles, the Edwards/Couzens duo at No. 3 advanced all the way to the quarterfinals (top eight in state) before losing to Heather Witbeck and Christine Roth of Bloomfield Hills Lahser (4-6, 6-4, 6-3). With the Mustang team ahead 2-1 in the second set and already up a set, the match was called due to darkness and the teams had to wait two-hours before a court opened up inside. The layover seemed to take a lot out of Edwards and Couzens.

The highlight of the meet for Northville came in the first round of No. 1 doubles play. Trabin and Dutkiewicz stunned a favored team from Grosse Pointe North, 6-3, 6-3 before falling in the second round to the number three seed from Marian.

"The teams from Grosse Pointe have all the tradition in tennis and we sort of put Northville on the map with that win," Filkins said. "That made us feel good to let everyone know that we can play top-notch tennis."

At No. 2, Millgard and Nance received a bye in the first round, but fell to West Bloomfield's Stephanie Patterson and Jackie Loman 3-6, 3-6 in the second.

Linkster places 7th in state

Northville golfer Kevin Telepo surprised everyone, including himself, by putting in an astounding round of golf at the MHSAA State Championship Tournament last weekend.

The Mustang junior was a surprise qualifier for the state meet held Oct. 17 at Michigan State's Forest Akers Golf Course, but that didn't intimidate him. Telepo went out and carded an excellent round of 40-38 — 78 in the 18-hole tournament, which was good enough to place him seventh overall in the state. For a golfer who wasn't even his high school team's top performer heading into the season, it was quite an accomplishment.

"It was fantastic," Northville Coach Don Morgan said. "For him to be seventh against 140 of the best golfers in the state is very impressive."

Morgan was stationed at the 15th hole at Forest Akers, and even though he didn't get to see Telepo's entire round, he got a pretty good idea of what was going on. Appropriately enough, Telepo birdied the 15th hole.

"Kevin was consistent but he could have probably scored a little better if he hadn't had problems on a few of

Northville Downs opens for season

The excitement of harness racing action returned to Northville with the opening of the winter racing season last Monday (Oct. 19) at Northville Downs.

Three-year-old standardbreds take center stage during October in two divisions of the rich Michigan Sire Stakes. Three-year-old colt pacers go postward on Oct. 27 and the three-year-old colt trotters on Oct. 29.

W.A. Thiamine, owned by Wolverine Acres of Crowell, Mich., heads the eligibles in the three-year-old colt pace. W.A. Thiamine posted a victory in the 1986 Michigan Sire Stakes and boasts an 18-10-5-1 record for 1987, which includes victories at the Michigan Breeders Futurity Final and the Spring Final at Hazel Park. W.A. Thiamine has accumulated over $54,000 in earnings to date.

QByrd, the son of Warren Hanover sports a 13-3-5-1 record, while earning $20,758. QByrd is owned by Frederick C. Goethe of Dundee, Mich. QByrd set a lifetime best and track record of 1:59.4 at the Wolverine Futurity in Holland, Okla. Woodford Chris, owned by Jack and Sue Myers of Hemet, Calif., has been in the money nine times out of 13 starts this year, while earning $39,774.

The leading contenders among the three-year-old colt trotters include Jeff's Playboy, who has been in the money 17 times out of 20 starts in 1987, while earning $53,191. Jeff's Playboy is the winner of the 1987 Sprinting Finals, the Michigan Futurity and the Michigan Breeders Futurity. The three-year-old colt is owned by Harvey Alan Eisman of Flint and is the son of Tarpman (Devlin). Rosemary pawed Fred set a new track record in capturing the Spartan Futurity, with a time of 2:03. The young colt has been in the money 14 times out of 16 seasonal tries, while earning $44,714. The eliminations for the Michigan Sire Stakes were held on Oct. 20 for the colts and will be tonight (Oct. 22) for the trotters.

Top-ranked Hawks nip stubborn gridders

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

Last Friday, the Northville football players gave their counterparts from Farmington Harrison a lot of respect, but they weren't intimidated by the number one-ranked Hawks. That's certainly more than the team of officials working the game can say.

The Oct. 16 contest was marred by poor officiating, especially in the first half, as the striped crew seemed more impressed with Harrison's previous press clippings than what was happening on the field. A highly questionable call led to the Hawk's only score in the first half, and that touchdown eventually made the difference as Harrison survived over the never-say-die Mustangs, 14-6.

The Hawks, ranked number one in the state among Class B schools, dominated Northville statistically but not on the scoreboard, and that surprised everyone in attendance — including Mustang Coach Darrel Schumacher.

"This one hurt, but it wasn't as bad as the Walled Lake Western loss a week ago because nobody even gave us a chance to win," he said. "Let's face it, Harrison has a great program and it's quite a feather in your cap if you can upset them."

"We played hard and we were never out of the game, but it's getting so these moral victories aren't worth much. It makes you feel good that you can play with one of the top teams in the state, but you don't feel good very long when you have to accept another close loss."

The defeat was Northville's sixth in seven tries this season, and just like all the others, it was very close. The eight point difference against Harrison was the largest margin of victory against the Mustangs. They have been outscored by an average of just four points in seven games.

On Northville's first play from scrimmage, the game officials gave everyone an indication of what was to come. Center Mike Hale positioned the ball in his hand to prepare for the snap count — something that is routinely performed before every offensive play in the game of football — and the line judge called the Mustangs for illegal procedure.

A few minutes later, Northville forced the Hawks into a punting situation on their first possession, but a questionable call on the kick gave the ball back to Harrison. The game promptly drove down to a T.D.

"One of our blockers knocked down their linebacker on the kick and then landed on top of him," Schumacher explains. "The ref interpreted it as a holding call. It was a very big call and it ended up hurting us. Normally speaking, you wouldn't expect that kind of a call."

With the help of the penalty, the Hawks marched a total of 83 yards, and capped off the drive with a six-yard touchdown scamper by Aaron Yavorski. The point after kick made it 7-0.

Just before the end of the first quarter, Mustang quarterback Greg Price threw an interception and Harrison took over on the Northville 40. But the defense rose to the occasion and sacked highly-touted quarterback Millard Coleman two straight times to set the Hawks way back. On a third and 31 situation, the officials then bailed Harrison out again, calling defensive back Ed Walsh for pass interference and awarding a first down.

"I thought it was an extremely questionable call," Schumacher said. "I thought Ed made a great play on it."

Fortunately for Northville, it didn't end up in another score as Coleman was sacked again to end the drive.

"It didn't result in a score for them, but it could have taken the heart out of us and that would have been unfortunate," Schumacher said.

With about four minutes left in the half, Harrison started at its own 39 and drove down inside the Mustang five before the defense stiffened. The

Kurtis finally wins at local marathon

Northville's resident marathon-junkie, Doug Kurtis, has won distance runs all over the world, but last Sunday's victory at the Free Press International Marathon was extra special.

It was Kurtis' 15th marathon victory in his stellar running career, but more importantly it was his first win in the Free Press event after runner-up finishes in 1980, 1981 and 1986.

"I had so many people pulling for me and that gave me even more incentive to win," Kurtis said. "This one was pretty special. Mentally, I was real confident I could win it this year and the race went pretty much the way I thought it would go."

"I think in past years the competition has always been tougher and this year it was a little easier for me competition-wise and that helped me out."

"This one was pretty special. Mentally, I was real confident I could win it this year and the race went pretty much the way I thought it would go."

— Doug Kurtis
Marathon runner

which raises his career total to more than 70. At the age of 35, Kurtis became the oldest winner ever in the race's 10 year history.

"I've been running about every five weeks and I still think I have a lot of time left," he pointed out. "One of my toughest competitors is 61-year-old (Kjell-Erick Stahl of Sweden). We ran and roomed together at a marathon in Manila this year and he beat me. I still think I have a lot of marathons in me."

Kurtis is not only one of the most active marathoners in the world, he is also one of the best. He has raced more sub-2:20 marathons than any American (37), and is second overall to Kjell-Erick Stahl.

Also in the race, Northville resident Bob B. Bowers placed ninth overall in a time of 2:30.32.

Northville runner Doug Kurtis won the Free Press Marathon

Kurtis completed the 26.2 mile course from Jackson Park in Windsor to Belle Isle in Detroit in 2:18.03. He finished just over three minutes ahead of second-place Loren Bandt of Livonia, the 1984 winner and Kurtis' training partner. In all, the race featured over 3,000 participants.

"He's my training partner and, in fact, we roomed together the night before the race," Kurtis revealed. "I was really pulling for Loren to break the 2:20 mark."

It was Kurtis' 9th marathon in 1987

Western tops Northville team, 22-35

Walled Lake Western won a pair of battles against the Northville harriers on Oct. 15 at Willis Park.

The second showdown between Warrior running star Brian Grasso and Mustang standout John Frisbie never really materialized and Western's overall depth proved to be the big difference in team scoring. Grasso topped Frisbie by nearly 40 seconds and Western ran away with a 22-35 victory.

"(Walled Lake Western) looked pretty good and I thought a couple of our runners at the top were a little flat," Mustang Coach Ed Gabrys said.

Grasso's time of 16:22 set a new Willis Park record and was good for first overall while Frisbie was second in 17:03. The rest of the Northville finishers included Scott Sinkwits in fourth place (18:16), Doug Meadows eighth (18:46), Jeff Hoose (19:00), Jay Griffith (19:07), Andy Haas (19:34) and Dave Okasinski (19:48).

"Grasso has beat John everytime they've faced each other, but John will get at least one more shot at him at the league meet," Gabrys said. "I'd like to see that reversed at least once but it will be difficult."

Northville did register 11 personal best times out of 17 runners, but Frisbie, Sinkwits and Meadows all missed their marks by at least a few seconds.

On Oct. 13, Northville placed fourth out of seven teams at the John Glenn Freshman/Sophomore Invitational in Westland.

"Three of our youngsters cracked our top 10 list of runs of this course, so it was pretty good for us," Gabrys said. "Fourth out of seven isn't bad when you consider that some pretty good teams from Catholic Central, Dearborn and Edsel Ford were the only ones to finish in front of us."

Freshman Andy Haas continues to show promise as he placed 13th overall and first among his teammates in a time of 18:40. He was followed by Jason Hoose (18th, 19:05) and Kyle Legel (23rd, 19:43). All three times were among the 10 best ever recorded by Mustang youngsters on the Westland course. Andy Haas topped his brother Kevin's time from 1984 by two seconds and was good for fourth place on the all-time list.

"It was nice to see Andy beat his brother's time," Gabrys said. "It was a good sign because when Kevin did his best time as a sophomore and Andy is still a freshman."

Schoolcraft cage coach resigns

Bob Wetzel is out. In a surprise development, Wetzel resigned as men's basketball coach at Schoolcraft College on Oct. 15.

The move shocked everyone — players and administration included. It was completely unexpected, particularly considering:

•Wetzel has just completed his most successful recruiting class ever, signing Westland John Frisbie standouts Andy Grasso and Steve Hawley and Farmington Harrison's Brad Ridgeway — so even with 11 freshmen, success seemed certain.

•The start of the season is about a month away.

•Wetzel's basketball coaching ability had nothing to do with his decision.

•There was no other job offer to consider.

So why is Wetzel leaving, just weeks before what would have been the start of his third season?

"I felt it was a decision I had to make," he said from his home in Monroe. "I didn't want to leave. I was hoping the problems would be resolved."

Was he forced to resign? "You would have to define the term 'forced,'" was his reply. "Under the circumstances I was under, I felt it was a decision I had to make."

"I didn't have any alternative."

Wetzel's "circumstances" are financial. His position Schoolcraft's coach is part time. He needed some other form of income.

What Wetzel wanted was another position on campus at SC. "I expressed my desire to have a position within the college," he explained.

He applied for two non-teaching positions (he does have a teaching certificate) he was qualified for, one-part-time job. He didn't get either.

There was another possibility, however Northville resident Marv Gans, the longtime athletic director at SC, left that position on July 1 and was reassigned to other duties. The athletic director's job has yet to be filled.

Lou Reibling, the dean of instruction, is filling the position on an interim basis.

It seemed a perfect marriage, with Wetzel — who has a masters degree in athletic administration — combining his coaching duties with the AD's post. He met with administration officials to discuss just such a proposal.

"I had three meetings with the administration on that position," Wetzel said. "The last one was about four weeks ago. At that meeting they told they'd get back to me."

"They haven't. I haven't heard anything from them."

In his mind, Wetzel could wait no longer. "I felt I had tried to hang on as long as possible hoping things could get worked out," he said. "I didn't want to leave. I was hoping it would be resolved. It's not like I had another job or something."

But Wetzel did leave, even though he had nothing else to turn to. "Right now, I'm unemployed," he said.

According to Reibling, Wetzel was offered a position combining the student-athlete support system, which oversees athletes and their academics, the athletic directorship, the summer camps' program and his coaching position. But no agreement could be reached on job duties and finances.

"I really feel bad about his leaving," Reibling said. "He has really turned the program around."

Reibling added that the coaching position has been posted and that the AD's position would be posted soon. He hopes to fill both quickly. His deadline for getting another coach is Oct. 23.

Wetzel decided to tender his resignation Oct. 7. He told his players he was leaving at an emotional meeting the next day. Since that time, the team has continued to practice under the supervision of Wetzel's assistant Chris Theodore.

"It was a very difficult thing to do — the hardest thing I've ever done in my life," Wetzel said.

Harriers even mark at 3-3 with victory

The Mustang girls' cross country squad won its third Western Lakes league dual meet of the season on Oct. 15 by trouncing Walled Lake Western 21-36 at Willis Park.

Coach Nick Dunwoodie's team evened its overall record to 3-3 with the win as Northville placed six runners in the top 10. In addition, five of the seven Mustang runners notched new personal best times for runs at Willis Park, and Dunwoodie remains pleased with the progress his team is showing every week.

"Western picked up a lot of runners since the season started so they had 10 runners, but some were out of shape," he said. "They had three or four who were walking after the first mile so it was a routine win for us."

"Actually, the times were a little slower than I thought they'd be but it was hotter and it was the first time we didn't run simultaneously with the boys. I'm not really sure how much of an effect it had on the girls."

Rozann Staknis placed first overall in 22:54. She was followed by Marcie Dart in second (23:39), Jean Riney in fifth (23:48), Lisa Brown in fourth (23:56), Jennifer Goshorn in seventh (24:22), Lynn Higgins in ninth (28:10) and Ann Coseo in 12th (29:17).

"Our sights are now set on the league meet," Dunwoodie said. "The girls have worked hard and I think they've had a successful season and it's not over yet. We could surprise some people at the league meet and that's what we are shooting for."

Mustang gridders drop 14-6 decision

Hawks tried and failed on three running plays to punch it in the end zone and on fourth and goal at the four, cornerback Mike Karlis picked off a Coleman pass at the one to end the scoring bid. Both teams exited the field at halftime with Northville trailing 7-0.

"It was a great goal-line stand against a great team," Schumacher said. "We felt on top of the world after that."

Both teams had problems moving the football in the third quarter. With 1:57 left and the score still 7-0, linebacker Todd Daniels broke up the shutout by stealing the ball away from a Harrison runner and rambling 63 yards for the touchdown.

"We had a stunt on and Todd broke into their backfield just about the time their quarterback was handing the ball off," Schumacher explained. "He literally stripped it out of the runner's hands and took off."

The Hawks got a hand on the extra point try by Daniels to foil the kick, but Daniels' score narrowed the gap to 7-6. Despite the momentum shift, the overworked Mustang defense had to go back on the field again after the kick off, and fatigue was setting in.

"Our defense was out on the field the whole third quarter and for the first time, we were getting physically tired," Schumacher said. "It wasn't easy, but Harrison moved 57-yards down the field in 11 plays and scored on a two-yard run by Rob Bruhn. The extra point made it 14-6 with 10 minutes left.

Northville did make one final push, getting inside the Hawks' 20 with about five minutes remaining, but a 34-yard field goal attempt by Daniels was wide to the left and Harrison ran out the clock to preserve the win.

"(Harrison) runs a top-notch defense year in and year out and we just couldn't sustain a drive," Schumacher explained. "I think we are gaining respect around the league for our defense. We're not putting the fear of God into them, but they know they can't take us lightly. I think we are the best 1-6 football team you'll ever find."

The Hawks outgained Northville 224-48 in total offense and had 18 first downs to the Mustangs' 2. Mike Yard gained just 29 yards in 11 carries and Price hit on only 5-of-11 passes for 27 yards. Yaverski paced Harrison with 177-yards rushing on 30 carries.

Tomorrow (Oct. 23), Northville will travel to Walled Lake Central to take on the winless Vikings in the WLAA cross-over playoff game. With undefeated Novi the following week, this may be the team's last legitimate chance for victory number two.

"Central is much bigger physically than we are and they like to pass the ball all over the field," Schumacher said. "They pose some problems and we definitely can't afford to look past them."

Northville tankers crush Vikings to snap skid

"We're improving, the times are coming down and the attitudes are great. We could be a little healthier but I think we'll come back just fine."

— Bill Dicks
Mustang Swim Coach

The Northville tankers snapped out of a two-meet losing skid in a big way by crushing Walled Lake Central 135-37 in Western Lakes Activities Association swim action on Oct. 15.

The Mustangs (3-2 overall, 2-2 in WLAA) totally dominated the meet, taking all 11 first place finishes and grabbing 1-2-3 sweeps in six of nine individual events. For a team that's been fighting a losing battle against illnesses lately, it was a welcome victory.

"We still have a few girls out with illness but we had some good times from some unexpected places," Northville Coach Bill Dicks said. "The girls have been working hard in practice, they swam in some events they don't normally swim in and they did fairly well."

Becky Frayne, Megan Holmberg and Julie Hilfinger paced the Mustang swimmers with two victories each. Frayne won the 100-yard freestyle and the 100 breaststroke, Holmberg took top honors in the 50 freestyle and the 500 freestyle while Hilfinger finished first in the 100 backstroke and 100 butterfly. Other winners included Kristen Woodsum in the 200 freestyle, Debbie Buell in the 200 IM, Wendy Beach in diving, Buell's time in the 200 IM made the state qualifying cut and Woodsum's performance in the 200 freestyle was her personal best by 15 seconds.

Northville also won the 200 Medley relay (with Stacy Lang, Pam Holdridge, Frayne and Sandy Loftus) and the 400 freestyle relay (with Buell, Holdridge, Holmberg and Hilfinger).

Mustang seconds were notched by Stacy Lang in the 200 freestyle, Holdridge in the 200 IM, Michelle Beacham in diving, Buell in the 100 butterfly, Fortenberry in the 100 freestyle and 100 backstroke, Clair Cryderman in the 500 freestyle (personal best time by a wide margin) and Erika Lutz in the 100 breaststroke. Thirds came from Kathy Schoenith in the 200 freestyle and 100 backstroke, Besty Petricca in the 200 IM, Barb Woodruff in diving, Kendra Cicero in the 500 freestyle, and Pam Mirosoia in the 100 breaststroke.

"(Walled Lake Central) is still building their program but because of our meet schedule, I had to put everybody in," Dicks said. "I think a meet like this helps keep us sharp. We put the girls in specific events so they could race each other. It allowed them to try different events and swim races differently than they are used to swimming."

With the '87 campaign roughly half over, Dicks is happy with the progress of his team, and although he wants to see good times, he would prefer the best times come at the end of the season.

"We are swimming now in preparation for the league meet," he said. "We try to get our best times at the end of the season. We're improving the times are coming down and the attitudes are great. We could be a little healthier but I think we'll come back just fine."

Cage team splits two with Chargers, Chiefs

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

In nearly two months of action, the Northville basketballers have managed to get through a week without a loss only one time. In the other six weeks of action, the Mustangs could do no better than a split.

By winning one and losing one almost every week, Coach Ed Kritch's squad has been winning regularly, but has not been able to maintain much momentum. Last week it was the same old story as Northville clobbered Livonia Churchill 55-21 to open the week, but fell to Plymouth Canton 33-31 to end the week. The Mustangs' season mark is 7-6 overall and 4-3 in the WLA Western Division (third place).

The Churchill game on Oct. 13 wasn't much of a contest as Northville jumped out to an early 16-4 lead and steadily pulled away from there. As expected, Kritch was pleased with his team's 34-point victory.

"Things went the way we hoped," Kritch said. "We jumped on them pretty good. We got the ball inside and pretty much did what we wanted to do."

In the first quarter alone, front-court players Katie Brugman and Debbie Stevens combined for 13 of the team's 16 points. The Mustang press also took its toll in the early going and it paid big dividends in the second quarter. Heather Sixt registered three steals in the second quarter and Jenny Stevens added four in the first half.

"We pressed them and it wore them down," Kritch said.

The lead ballooned to 30-14 at halftime, and the game was history. Kritch began to substitute freely in the second half and the lead still grew.

"I knew if we won the first four minutes of the second half, that they'd never be able to catch up to us," Kritch said. "We only gave up one bucket in the third quarter and that put it out of reach."

Debbie Stevens paced Northville with 17 points while Brugman added a season-high 15. Guard Karen Baird chipped in with nine points and 11 rebounds.

The game at Canton two days later was an entirely different story, however. The Chiefs put together a big first half and then coasted to the win as the Mustangs were just too far behind to mount any sort of comeback.

We were horrible and (Canton) was very good," Kritch said. "My hat's off to Canton because they played very well. They are a puzzle we are going to have to solve because we will probably play them again in the districts."

How bad was it? Northville had all sorts of problems combating the Chiefs' attack and was hard pressed to score against them. Things got so bad it prompted Kritch to say that for the first time in 13 games, his team really wasn't competitive.

Canton pulled ahead 11-3 after one quarter and 25-7 at halftime. In the final 16 minutes, the Mustangs outscored the Chiefs 24-18, but it hardly mattered.

"The game was over at halftime," Kritch said. "The only consolation was that we stayed with them in the second half. At least we were better in the second half but we never did cut the lead down to more than 14 though."

Debbie Stevens was the only Northville player in double figures with 10 points.

With WLA division foes Livonia Franklin and Walled Lake Western coming up this week, Kritch knows a strong stretch run is a must if his team still entertains any hope of winning the division crown.

"We are hoping for four wins in a row but none of them will be easy," he said. "They are games I think we can win if we play well. If we get all four, we'll be 11-6 heading into the post-season and that would be great."

ADVERTISMENT WINNERS CIRCLE

The Michigan Lottery's twice-weekly Super Lotto game offers players prizes for matching four, five or all six of the numbers drawn from a field of 44. The following summary provides answers to the most frequently asked questions about those prizes.

Q: How is the Jackpot amount determined for each Super Lotto game drawing?

A: The Super Lotto game's minimum Jackpot has been at least $1.5 million for each drawing. But Super Lotto is a pari-mutuel game, so Jackpots and other prizes vary.

Q: What is a pari-mutuel game?

A: This means that the prize pool is based on ticket sales—how much money is wagered for a particular drawing. So sales can push the Jackpot higher than the $1.5 million guarantee. And the number of winners of second and third prize shares varies from drawing to drawing, as does the size of their prizes.

Q: What percentage of sales goes to the Jackpot amount?

A: Twenty-five percent of sales is allotted for the Jackpot prize to be shared by the person or persons matching all six of the winning numbers drawn.

Q: How about for matching five numbers?

A: Players who match five of the winning numbers share eight percent of the amount wagered. Prizes have ranged from $467 to $4,465 but generally average about $2,500.

Q: And for matching four numbers?

A: Thirteen percent of the prize pool is shared by the third prize share winners. Prizes have ranged from $47 to $144, again depending on the amount wagered and number of players who share the third prize pool. Prizes average about $90.

Q: What happens to the remainder of the money?

A: The Lottery is charged with raising funds to help Michigan's school children. In the 1985-86 fiscal year, for example, the Lottery provided more than $415 million for education, the equivalent of $130 per Michigan household. The remainder is needed for costs of operating the Michigan Lottery and for commissions to retailers selling Super Lotto tickets.

Q: Can you tell me about some Super Lotto prize records?

A: The largest Jackpot to date, $15.2 million, was shared by three winners in the July 13, 1985 drawing. The largest individual prize, $11 million, was won by St. Joseph's Clifford Nutton in the August 15, 1987 drawing.

For submitting a question which led to this column, Vivian Honkala of Crystal Falls will receive 50 free tickets for the Lottery's current instant game, "Greenbacks."

If you have a Lottery question not yet covered in these monthly columns, send it to "Winners Circle," Michigan Lottery, P.O. Box 38077, Lansing, MI 48909.

the easier holes," Morgan said. "He breezed through a lot of the tougher holes though, so it was hard to figure."

The highlight of the meet came when Telepo was able to finish a stroke ahead of Walled Lake Western's Denny Sikkila, who is the defending Western Lakes league medalist.

"He really wanted to keep up with the medalist from our league, so when he beat him, it was very gratifying," Morgan said. "Sikkila's been the top dog in this whole area for quite a while."

"I think Kevin gained a lot of experience — he was able to get the feel for this caliber of play. I would have been happy if he finished in the top 80 because the weather conditions were cold, rainy and windy."

Telepo's 78 was just four off the pace set by another surprise qualifier from Port Huron. In the team competition, Birmingham Brother Rice took the state title with a score of 313 — three strokes ahead of second place Grand Blanc.

"(Kevin) is sad to see the season gone — he's ready to keep going," Morgan said. "He now recognizes that he is capable of succeeding at this level. It makes him a more mature golfer — he's thinking more rather than standing up there and blasting away at the ball."

League Line

SOCCER: Kerrie Kehoe gets hat-trick

BOYS UNDER 12 Ed Hugener, Bo Fowler and Ty Fowler each scored for Northville United but the team fell to Livonia No. 5 5-3. Hugener was the defensive MVP for United. The Northville Express edged the Northville Sting 2-1. Richard Bell and Aaron Boyll each scored for the winners. George Lemmon notched the lone goal for the Sting. In Northville Cup semifinals action the Express downed United 4-1. Aaron Boyll paced the Express attack with two goals. The defensive star was Mattias Kukainis. Arsenal crushed Livonia No. 4, 6-0 thanks to a two-goal performance by Joel Elissor. Goalsies Jason Fisher and Bret Swalberg combined for the shutout.

UNDER 12 GIRLS Huron No. 1 blasted Northville Arsenal 4-0. The Northville Express blanked Livonia No. 3 7-0. Three goals by Kerrie Kehoe, Laura Brown, Amy Patricia, Julie Cipicchio and Krista Howe all scored for the winners. United fell to Plymouth No. 3 3-0. In Northville Cup action, United nipped Arsenal 2-1 in double overtime. The hero for the winners was Brenda Newton who scored both United goals including the game winner. Arsenal's goal was registered by Lindsay Schuenberger.

UNDER 14 BOYS United lost to Farmington No. 1 3-1. Mike Mascot scored the only United goal while Rob Nelson and Chad Tolsted were the game's MVPs. The Northville Express trounced Farmington No. 2 6-3 thanks to a five-goal explosion by Brad Maliszewski. Ben Nelson was the defensive star. The Rowdies shipped past Plymouth No. 3 3-2. Jason Kirk, Greg Hodgins and Jason Peirne all scored for the Rowdies.

UNDER 14 GIRLS United nipped Farmington 5-1 as Jenny Sinkwits and Wendy Carroll combined for four goals. Sue Gill added the fifth tally. Huron Valley nipped Northville Arsenal 3-2 despite Arsenal goals by Kristen Brown and Jenny Heese. Team MVPs for the Northville team included Erin Belloni and Cathy Namy. The Northville Rowdies topped Lakes No. 2 3-1. Betsy Monzka scored twice for the Rowdies and Jody Buttigieg was the defensive MVP. United handed Arsenal a 12-0 defeat in Northville Cup action. Jenny Sinkwits scored four times while Wendy Carroll and Stephanie Neff each added three apiece for the winners. The Northville Rowdies polished off the Express 8-2.

UNDER 16 GIRLS Northville United pulled out a 9-2 victory. Sue Widenbach led the way with a pair of goals. Goalkeeper Becky Piner was outstanding in goal for United.

UNDER 18 GIRLS Northville blanked Huron Valley 6-0. Krista Novak and Meredith Piner each scored twice for Northville — Jenny Croteau was the defensive MVP.

NRC extends non-toxic steel shot rules

The Natural Resources Commission (NRC) has extended non-toxic steel shot rules for the 1987 Michigan waterfowl season and has said it will require steel shot statewide by 1989.

Federal requirements call for a nationwide ban on toxic shot by the year 1991, but the NRC is calling for an earlier phase-in and expects to begin reviewing a plan this fall.

There are six steel shot zones this year. The changes include expansion in the Saginaw Bay area and the inclusion of all of St. Clair and Macomb counties. Last year, only portions of those counties were designated.

The following is a description of the six zones:

Saginaw Bay Area — Steel shot is required in Saginaw, Tuscola, Huron, Bay and Arenac counties, including all waters of Saginaw Bay and the waters of Lake Huron offshore of Arenac and Huron counties out to the international boundary with Canada.

Central Michigan Area — Steel shot is required as posted in the wetland wildlife management units of the Maple River State Game Area.

Southeast Michigan Area — Steel shot is required county-wide in St. Clair and Macomb counties and in Wayne and Monroe counties east of I-94. This includes all boundary waters between Michigan, Ontario and Ohio. Steel shot is also required in some inland portions of Ingham, Livingston, Oakland, Wayne, Washtenaw and Jackson counties. These inland areas are the same as were required in the 1986 waterfowl season and will be described in detail in the State Waterfowl Hunting Guide.

Federal requirements call for a nationwide ban on toxic shot by the year 1991, but the NRC is calling for an earlier phase-in.

Southwest Michigan Area — Steel shot is required county-wide in Muskegon, Ottawa and Kalamazoo counties and Allegan County west of US-131. This includes all offshore waters of Lake Michigan out to the Wisconsin border.

Houghton Lake Area — Steel shot is required in a zone around Roscommon County's Houghton Lake described as south of Mead's landing Road, County 300 and County 100, west of the M-18, north of M-55 and east of US-27. This is the same requirement as in the 1986 season.

Eastern Upper Peninsula Area — Steel Shot is required on the waters of Potagannissing Flooding on Drummond Island and in a zone around Munuscong Bay. These zones, both in Chippewa County, will be described in the State Waterfowl Hunting Guide. (Both areas are unchanged from the 1986 waterfowl season.)

The NRC adopted a resolution at its June meeting recommending that Michigan be phased into state steel shot use by 1989 waterfowl season. Wildlife and Law Enforcement divisions will present the NRC with a phase-in this fall.

Hunters need to take precautions

When Michigan's thousands of deer hunters head north next month, many of them will be carrying with them some hidden problems — problems that may only become apparent when it is too late.

Although spokespeople for many sportsmen's clubs admit that hunting season is the time when hunting accidents and heart attacks are likely to occur, few, if any, provide any kind of fitness programs specifically aimed at deer hunters.

Ray Baldwin, the man who went on a hunting trip to Alaska, noted that the Alaskan guides refused to take out-of-condition hunters into the tundra.

"No such consideration is given to deer hunters, even though people are aware that the most likely injury to hunters involves heart attacks."

"A guy goes north where it's colder, he's carrying the extra weight of his clothing, the extra weight of his rifle, and then, if he's lucky enough to find a deer, he's lugging it back to the camp," said John Walter, a member of the Western Wayne County Conservation Association. "Even athletes, when they go hunting, take special precautions."

Walter said it is a good idea to stay in shape year round, but even those who are out of shape can prepare for hunting season by walking, jogging, or even by setting aside some time where they just take deep breaths while sitting in a chair watching television.

Brad Arnold, a wildlife biologist with the Michigan United Conservation Clubs, said hunters can build up abdominal muscles — seldom used in the course of normal work or recreation — by doing situps to avoid back aches and can prepare for carrying the extra weight by running or walking with weighted back packs.

"It's equally important to prepare mentally for hunting," Arnold said. "A lot of hunting injuries occur because people overdo when they go hunting. They get tired. They get careless. And that's when a number of accidents occur."

"Most of the injuries that occur to hunters between 40 and 70 can be traced to cardiac problems," said Dr. Edward Wojtyls, an orthopedic surgeon who also is an avid hunter.

Wojtyls suggested that all people, not just hunters, be aware of the risk factors that could lead to heart attacks and be aware that some of those are heightened by hunting.

"People with high blood pressure or a family history of high blood pressure, smokers, people with high cholesterol levels or a history of high cholesterol and overweight people should prepare accordingly," he said.

He noted that because each individual is different, it is a good idea for people at risk to try and work out a specific exercise and fitness program.

"Dr. Richard Lampman, an exercise physiologist on the MedSport staff is an ideal person to help devise programs for individuals," Wojtyls said.

Lampman works with individuals and takes into account individual lifestyles and medical histories, Wojtyls explained. "Suggestions for a 15 year old are going to be much different than those for older hunters," he said.

Lampman can be reached by calling 1-936-7794 or 936-5599.

Wojtyls said exercising common sense can also help hunters stay safe. "If you are out hunting and experience shortness of breath, just relax. If you get tired, stop. It is more important that the hunter get back than that he bring the deer out."

Center offers swim and fitness program

Mercy Center, on 11 Mile and Middlebelt roads in Farmington Hills, will be holding an open swim program and a fitness program daily from Oct. 29 through Dec. 19.

The early morning swim is held 6:30-8:30 a.m. Monday through Friday and 7:30-9 a.m. on Saturday. It includes lap swims, private lessons, swim classes, adult synchronized swim club and adapted aquatics.

The Fitness Program, called Trim-Gym-Swim, is a program designed to strengthen and tone the body. Call 476-8010 for more information.

YWCA HEALTH PROGRAMS: The YWCA of Western Wayne County has teamed up with Oakwood Hospital to conduct a series of important workshops.

A First Aid session will be held Nov. 2-9 from 6-10 p.m. at the YWCA on Michigan Avenue in Inster. Participants will learn 15 different first aid techniques which can be used to rescue or treat someone if medical assistance is not immediately available. Fee for the six hours' training is $15.

CPR training will be conducted Nov. 15 from 6-9 p.m. Fee is $5. Reservations are required and payment due prior to the workshops. For more information, call 561-4110.

OPEN SWIMMING: The Novi High School swimming pool is open for general use every Tuesday and Thursday night through Nov. 24.

Open swimming runs from 7-8:30 p.m. and lap swimming is available from 8:30-9:30 p.m.

There's a fee of 50 cents per person. Call Novi Community Education at 348-1200 for more information.

OPEN SWIMMING IN NORTHVILLE: Open swimming at the Northville High School pool has resumed. Open swimming hours will be: Monday-

Wednesday (6:30-7:45 p.m.) and Saturday (noon-1 p.m.).

SPINAL HEALTH CARE: A class on spinal health care will be offered this fall by Schoolcraft College's Continuing Education Services Division.

Scheduled for Tuesday, Oct. 27, from 7-9 p.m., the class will include diagnosing scoliosis and non-surgical treatment and disc problems and corrections.

Special attention will be given to senior citizen concerns. For registration and fee information call 591-6400, extension 409.

DIET AND EXERCISE OVER 40: Getting older doesn't mean you can't be physically fit. A panel session headed by George Dean, M.D., from the Wayne State University School of Medicine, will present "Diet and Exercise When You're Over 40." The free program will be held tonight (Oct. 22) from 7-9 p.m. at the Southfield Civic Center, 26000 Evergreen. For further information and registration, contact the department of community health programming at Harper-Grace Hospitals, 745-6963.

Fitness Tips

AAP corrects myths about youth fitness

The American Academy of Pediatrics (AAP) is calling for more physical education programs in schools — those that stress lifetime fitness activities — and greater family involvement in fitness at home.

Below, the AAP corrects some common myths about youth fitness:

MYTH: Children are fit.

FACT: In many ways, children are less fit and more flabby today than in the 1960s. Studies show that up to 50 percent of children are not getting enough exercise to develop healthy hearts and lungs.

MYTH: If children exercise occasionally, that's enough.

FACT: According to the AAP, the best all-around fitness activities should be done at least three times a week and continue without breaks for 20-25 minutes to increase the heart rate a significant amount, depending on the child's age.

MYTH: Physical education is unnecessary. Academics is what counts.

FACT: Healthy children learn better. Research continues to support the role of physical fitness in promoting physical health, improved work capacity and energy.

Gym class at Meads Mill School goes through calisthenics

MYTH: Most students pass standard school fitness tests.

FACT: Each year, 18 million school children take the Presidential Fitness Test — a series of exercises to measure strength, flexibility and endurance. Only two percent of students who took the "President's Challenge" in 1984 received the award.

MYTH: Muscles mean fitness.

FACT: Fitness involves more than the skills and strength needed to be a good athlete. A body builder may look fit says the AAP, but he has built only muscle strength and could lack in the other components of fitness. The AAP defines fitness to include muscle strength and endurance, flexibility, body fat composition and cardiorespiratory endurance.

MYTH: Sports make kids fit.

FACT: Sports that stress speed, power and agility — like football and basketball — are games of skill. They do not necessarily promote fitness. Parents and schools should introduce children to a variety of lifetime activities such as bicycling, swimming, running, fast walking, aerobics and tennis.

MYTH: All schools require students to take physical education class.

FACT: There is no federal law mandating physical education in schools. Public schools in eight states (Arizona, Colorado, Maine, Michigan, Mississippi, Oklahoma, South Dakota and Wyoming) have no state law establishing time requirements for physical education. The AAP recommends that school P.E. classes be held at least three times a week.
