Johnson charges to victory in mayor's race

By BOB NEEDHAM

Christopher Johnson won the election for Northville city mayor Tuesday, defeating G. Dewey Gardner — 842 votes to 568 — in the highest city election turnout since 1977.

Johnson took 59.7 percent of the votes cast for mayor, according to figures from the Northville city clerk's office. Johnson won in each of the city's two voting precincts, while Gardner had a slight edge in absentee balloting.

Of the city's 4,577 voters, 1,417 cast ballots this year — a turnout of about 31 percent. That is the highest turnout of the last five city elections.

A swearing-in ceremony for Johnson — who will become the fourth mayor in the city's history — is scheduled for a special city council meeting Monday night. The ceremony will begin a two-year term until the next mayoral election.

At a gathering of his supporters election night,

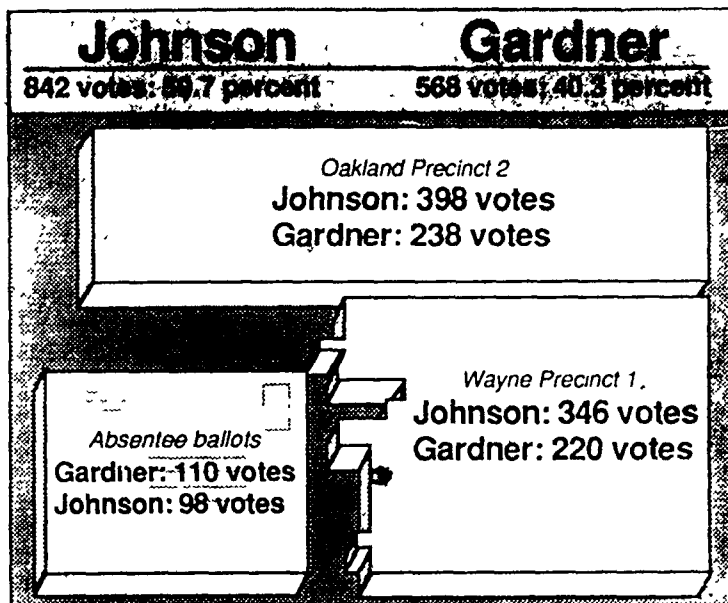

Johnson said, "I don't know how to thank you. You've all done so much for me. I hope I can live up to even half your expectations."

"I'm so happy, and so glad to have that kind of support in the city," he continued. "I think we can look forward to some good times and some real progress."

Mittman leads the field for uncontested council

Jerome Mittman, Paul Folino and Carolann Ayers — all running unopposed for seats on the Northville city council — were all endorsed by voters in the city election Tuesday.

Mittman, the only candidate for a two-year council term created when G. Dewey Gardner resigned from the council to run for mayor, took the most votes of the three with 1,053. The only one of the three who is not a council incumbent, Mittman served briefly on the council several years ago. He was appointed to fill a vacancy but lost the election when his seat came up for a vote.

Incumbent Folino received 1,032 votes, returning to the council for a full four-year term.

Incumbent Ayers got 955 votes, and also returns for a four-year council term.

A precinct-by-precinct breakdown is:

- In precinct one, the Wayne County part of the city, Folino won 417 votes, Mittman, 413, and Ayers, 376.

- In precinct two, the Oakland County part of the city, Mittman took 442 votes, Folino 413, and Ayers, 376.

- Among absent voters, Mittman received 161 votes, Mittman 158, and Ayers, 145. Five people, including one resident of Northville Township, each received one vote for city council.

$2.4 million budget approved

Northville Township Board of Trustees Nov. 30 unanimously approved $2.4 million in expenditures for fiscal 1988, but the money is still $12,735 less than the amount expended this year.

In presenting the proposed budget, Richard Henningsen, township treasurer and chairperson of the budget review committee, said that the township "still has not seen the drastic change in our pocketbook but we have all felt the pinch."

Henningsen noted that about 60 percent of the township's share of joint operating agreements for recreation, library and youth assistance comes from the general fund budget.

He said the committee had presented a "bare bones" package for board approval, but included in the document is money set aside for a potential election to increase the police department's millage.

Also approved as part of the overall budget were funds for shared services with the city, including the library, the recreation department and youth assistance, and the water and sewer department budget.

In the general fund budget, Henningsen noted that the committee, comprised of Trustee Donald Williams, Lakes of Northville resident Frank St. Clair and Henningsen, had recommended a re-evaluation of the contract with Karoub and Associates, the township's lobbyist.

"The committee felt that a time/services contract would be more beneficial, rather than a set monthly or annual amount," Henningsen said.

He noted also that the committee had taken into account the fact that building revenue was down, however, expenditures have risen and the possibility of looking at removing the senior citizens' budget from the recreation department.

"The only place the senior citizens and the recreation department seem to come together is at budgeting time," said Trustee James Nowka.

Williams was even more emphatic about separating the two entities.

"I feel the time has come when the recreation department and the seniors should be separated," said Williams, who is the township's liaison with the seniors.

The trustees also approved a new schedule for finance director James Graham, putting him on a 40-hour work week with a commensurate increase in salary. Graham had been officially limited to a 35-hour work week.

Library assistant loses pay fight with trustees

The Northville Township Board of Trustees held the line Oct. 29, and budgeted a 15 percent increase for the assistant library director, rather than the 31 percent raise the library commission and library director had requested.

Other budget allocations for shared services (recreation and youth assistance appropriations) were approved as presented to the board by the budget development committee.

The township pays 59.3 percent of the costs of the library under the provisions of the shared services agreement with the city.

Township Treasurer Richard Henningsen, who spoke on behalf of the budget recommendations of a three-member budget panel, noted that the panel had gone through the proposed library budget and "the only question we came up with is the assistant librarian's salary. We took a unilateral approach to the question and thought we should grant a 15 percent increase this year and a 15 percent increase next year."

The assistant library director currently earns $19,000. The increase approved by the trustees would raise the pay to $21,850. Under the library commission's proposal, the salary would have been $24,900.

"I have documented the increased cost of running the library, and also have documented the salary range of library employees compared with employees at nearby libraries," explained library director Patricia Orr, in defending the commission's request.

"What we have to understand is that the current assistant actually does two jobs, and if this person were to retire, die, or go to another position, it would take two $19,000 appropriations to replace her," Orr said.

"There are many valuable employees in a number of departments," said Trustee James Nowka. "In this case, the percentage of increase is rather dramatic and I'd have to support the action that the budget development committee has taken."

Trustee Richard Allen offered an alternative for the future. "I would like to suggest a method like what we

NEWS BRIEFS

ONE DAY GETAWAY — Northville Recreation Department is sponsoring a one day getaway to Nassau in the Bahamas in the midst of winter on Jan. 26. The first 25 people who pay their deposit on the $159 cost will fly away to the sun at 7 a.m. and return at 11:10 a.m. Call 349-0203 for information.

TYPECAST? — Students in Suzanne Omiatek's typing classes at Northville High School will be put to the test for the leukemia society Nov. 17.

Omiatek said the 130 students will be collecting pledges for the society based on the number of words per minute they expect to type during a timed test Nov. 17.

Persons who wish to pledge may contact Omiatek at the high school, 344-8420, ext. 13.

BIG GOVERNMENT — The joint city/township committee to study larger facilities for the Northville Public Library is itself getting a little larger.

Original discussions included an idea of two residents-at-large from the township and two more from the city.

The City Council had appointed one member, and found itself Monday night with two more applicants, both qualified and expressing interest. On a 4-0 vote the council members voted to expand the committee and appoint both June Freydl and Darlene Ursel to the committee.

ALLEY HEARING — The Northville City Council has scheduled a public hearing on a resident's request to close an alley off the east side of Center Street, just below Eight Mile Road. The hearing is set for the council's meeting at 8 p.m. Monday, Dec. 7.

LOT LEASED — A lot in the Lexington Condominiums subdivision will be leased from the city to the Lexington Condo Homes Association for $1, the City Council agreed Monday.

The lot, which the city bought from the state for $1, was a condominium building site. The lot is in the commons area of the condo development, and has a deed restriction that it must be used for public purposes. The council voted 4-0 in favor of a request from the development's property managers to lease the lot as part of the commons.

BEST COSTUME — Gumby at the supermarket? Halloween day, dressing Gumby earned Mickey Goss a $50 prize. Officials at Shopping Center Market deemed Goss' costume the best one at the Northville store. On his next day, Goss was back in his usual attire as a dairy clerk.

QUICK SALE — The first three units at Blue Heron Pointe have been sold. Sunday, project developers held a sneak preview at the site on Beck Road just south of Seven Mile Road and accepted deposits from three individuals. Sunday was the first day the developers accepted deposits for the 140-unit condominium project. Phase I will include 24 units.

NEW BILLS — The first bills on the City of Northville's computerized billing system are scheduled to go out next week, to one section of city residents. The last bills sent out were on the old system, but backed up by a trial run of the computer bills. Residents of the other section of the city will receive their first computer bills in the next billing period.

City ready to sell pair of land parcels

Two small pieces of land owned by the City of Northville were approved for sale by the city council Monday with a decision on a third piece being postponed.

All on unanimous votes, the council decided.

• To offer up for public sale a piece of land about 40 feet by 60 feet, on the northwest corner of Lake Street and Grace Avenue.

A memo from City Manager Steven Walters says that the piece cannot be used to build a separate structure without violating zoning requirements. A covenant in the sale would prevent a buyer applying for a zoning variance based on the assumption that the parcel is freestanding. An adjacent property owner might buy the land to expand an existing building, Walters said.

It's not a buildable piece. It has no value to the city whatsoever and we have a neighborhood park just a block away. Mayor Paul Vernon said before the vote.

• To offer some excess land once planned as right of way for Griswold Street for private sale to Tri County Title and/or the Community Federal Credit Union.

This would allow the two companies to straighten out their common boundary in the area, Walters said.

The city can sell land without public sale on a unanimous vote of the council if it is clearly to the city's advantage, Walters explained. He said this piece qualifies because it has no value to the city and because if it was sold to an independent buyer, it could be used as an independent parcel or if the city restricted this, there would be no independent buyers.

• To try to resolve a problem of a driveway encroaching on a city-owned lot at the northeast corner of Randolph and High.

Walters said the lot is large enough to develop a single family home with no zoning variances. However, a nearby driveway runs into part of the lot. Council members said they would favor selling the land but voted to ask the driveway owners to move the driveway before voting on putting the land up for sale.

The council recently decided to review all the city's holdings of vacant land. Recent action on other parcels includes the sale of a lot on the southwest corner of Main and Griswold to the Community Federal Credit Union and a decision not to sell a vacant lot off of West Main and Caldwell near the city limit.

Man courts danger in escape attempt

A Farmington Hills man crashed through a window at the 35th District Court last Friday and now finds himself possibly facing charges of attempted escape along with original felony larceny charges.

John A. Germain, 34, was facing arraignment on charges of larceny from a building relating to an Oct. 29 incident at Meijer's.

He was held overnight in the Northville Township jail until his arraignment on Nov. 30 before Judge John E. MacDonald.

After MacDonald entered a plea of not guilty for Germain and set his bond at $15,000, Northville Township officers were leading Germain back to the courtroom cell, however, the man bolted forward and headed toward the window behind the judge's bench, explained Capt. Philip Presnell.

Germain crashed through the first pane of glass, but his escape was thwarted by a thicker pane, said Carol Richardson, MacDonald's court reporter and secretary.

"There was blood all over the place," said Richardson, whose desk is in the center of the courtroom. "I was very nervous."

Germain was treated for minor injuries at Westland Medical Center and released. Three Northville Township officers, including Presnell, who subdued Germain, also suffered abrasions and contusions.

Court officials Monday were unsure how much it would cost to replace the window and ruined blinds. The incident proved costly to Germain immediately since MacDonald raised his bond to $200,000 cash.

Plymouth police plan to charge Germain with attempted escape, said Plymouth police Lt. Robert Commier.

Germain faces a preliminary examination Friday on the larceny from a building charge and will be arraigned on the attempted escape charge the same day, Commier said. Germain currently is being held in the Wayne County Jail.

The incident has caused court officials to "rethink the security setup" at the court, MacDonald said.

Traditionally, we don't handcuff them (defendants) when they come in the court, MacDonald said. We may have to look at that. It wouldn't be necessary for everyone, but certainly for someone who has the propensity for something like that.

VFW slates dedication of 40 flags Wednesday

Veterans' Day next Wednesday will be observed locally with a traditional breakfast at the American Legion Post Home and with a special flag dedication ceremony at 11 a.m. in front of the Northville Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 4012 at 438 South Main.

Forty new 3 by 5-foot American flags will be on display as they are dedicated for the median of South Main Street between Seven Mile Road and Beal Street.

The flags have been purchased by the post to fly on patriotic occasions. The post previously purchased the 50 American flags that are used throughout the downtown and has been responsible for their maintenance and display. This year the program was extended to South Main.

As 90 flags are unfurled next Wednesday, the post will be thanking the businesses and merchants who contributed to the project. The VFW post held many fund raisers itself to help finance the purchase.

Everyone in the community is welcome to attend the annual Veterans' Day pancake breakfast to be served from 6 a.m. until noon by members of American Legion Post 147 at 100 W. Dunlap. The all you can eat breakfast is $3.

Beginning Nov. 14, the Legion post will be serving dinner from 2-7 p.m. every Saturday at the post home. Commander James Bonham announces.

Two face drug charges

Two men were arraigned Friday on a marijuana possession charge after an arrest around noon last Thursday in a downtown Northville parking lot.

Timothy Lovett, 21, of Plymouth Township and Daniel Greene, 20, of Canton Township have been charged with possession of marijuana with intent to deliver. Northville Police Chief Rod Cannon said. Both men entered not guilty pleas and stood mute at their arraignment Friday before 35th District Court Judge John MacDonald.

A preliminary examination in both cases is scheduled for tomorrow, Friday, Nov. 6.

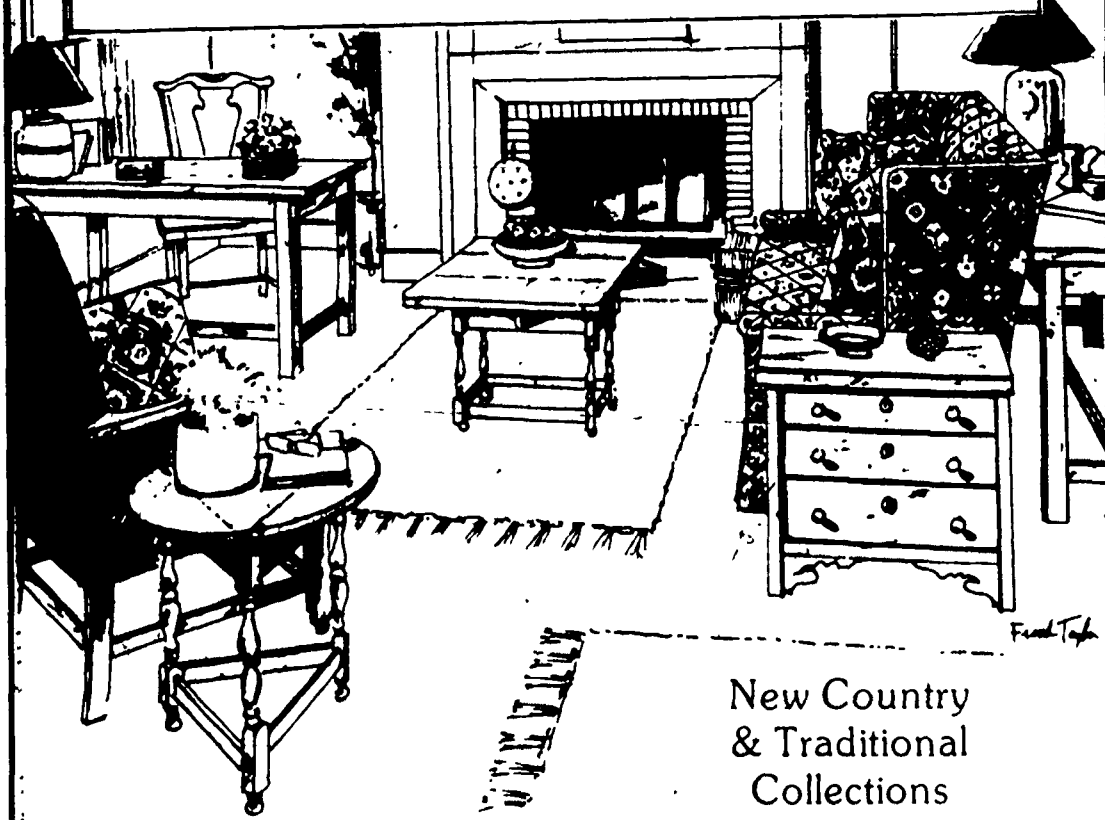

The arrest was the result of an undercover investigation run by the Western Wayne County Narcotics Enforcement Team, Cannon said. The City of Northville is a member of the team, and a Northville uniformed officer made the arrests, he said.

The two men were arrested around noon Thursday in the city parking lot off Dunlap Street, Cannon said.

Mobil, Novi officials try to affix blame for oil spill

By ANNE WILLIS

A gasoline spill at the Mobil Oil station at the Grand River/Haggerty Road intersection has Novi and corporate officials pointing fingers at each other.

The spill occurred early on Oct. 20 when a Mobil tanker truck was filling underground storage tanks at the station.

At the root of the controversy between the city and Mobil Oil officials is whether the gas station responded correctly and quickly to the spill, and whether the city overlooked essential environmental inspections at the station.

According to Chief Arthur Lenaghan of the Novi Fire Department, there was a problem with the tank's vapor recovery system causing pressure to build in the tank and the fuel to back up in the entry pipe. The gas accumulated in the parking area behind the station. Lenaghan estimated that less than 100 gallons were spilled.

According to the fire report, the department received a call regarding the spill at 3:49 a.m. Lenaghan said it was likely the truck was unattended during the fill-up, and the spill was not discovered immediately, resulting in the accumulation of fuel.

Lenaghan said it was clear the Mobil representatives were not following state regulations regarding the transfer of gasoline at the time of the spill.

The station parking area slopes downward into the Ingersoll Creek, a tributary of the middle Rouge waterway. A storm sewer collects water and parking lot run-off at the low end of the sloping lot and feeds directly into the creek.

According to Lenaghan, the tanker truck driver instructed the attendant on duty not to call the fire department and left the scene. The attendant attempted to wash the fuel down the storm sewer with a garden hose before calling the fire department.

Lenaghan said

The Mobil station received a wetlands permit for the site from the city based on several requirements. The station was required to install a gas and oil separator, a device which would allow water to flow through the storm sewer to the creek, while collecting oil and gas run-off for later removal. The city required the separator as an added protection for the sensitive wetland environment of the creek.

The separator, while appearing on the final site plan, was never installed.

In addition, the city required Mobil to develop a Pollution Incident Prevention Plan (PIPP) outlining exact procedures in case of a spill or other hazardous accident. The city required that the PIPP be reviewed by the state Department of Natural Resources. Mobil complied, and the PIPP was approved by the DNR.

Lenaghan said the fire department responded to the call and immediately shut down the gas station. The department used a special absorbent material developed to contain and absorb hazardous chemicals. Lenaghan said firefighters did see small amounts of gasoline in the creek and responded by stretching the absorbent material across the creek to pick up as much surface gas as possible.

It was raining at the time of the spill, Lenaghan noted, and the rain continued to sweep the gasoline from the parking lot into the storm sewer and into the creek.

Lenaghan said the department immediately contacted Mobil management and directed them to send out a clean-up crew. The fire department refused to re-open the station until the clean-up was complete, Lenaghan said. He noted there were gasoline odors in the creek, and the firefighters went further downstream in an attempt to pick up more of the spill.

"We weren't real happy with the company's response," Lenaghan said, noting that the environmental clean-up crew contracted by Mobil did not show up at the site of the spill until 8:30 a.m.

The fire department contacted DNR representatives and the State Fire Marshal.

"Hosing down the gas was wrong," Lenaghan said referring to the attendant's actions.

The Environmental Management Company, hired by Mobil to clean up the spill, vacuumed the creek and surrounding area, Lenaghan said, and recovered some of the gasoline. It is a state licensed company, the fire chief noted.

Officials from the Northville office of the DNR's emergency response division did visit the site, but were unavailable for comment.

Separator was never installed at station

The gas spill at the Mobil Oil station at the Grand River/Haggerty Road intersection has brought to light at least one error on the part of the City of Novi.

The station was required to install an oil and gas separator — a device designed to separate hazardous materials from water before the material flowed into the Ingersoll Creek, a middle Rouge tributary running immediately adjacent to the gas station.

But officials learned after firefighters were called to the scene of the spill that the separator was never installed.

When Mobil applied to the city for site plan approval for the gas station, residents and planners raised concerns over the potential hazard a gas station could cause to the creek and potentially to ground water in Novi and cities further downstream.

Novi Planning Commission minutes show that several members of the city's Storm Water Committee expressed concern over possible contamination of an important waterway. The commission, citing a need for increased study, originally tabled the request. Mobil filed suit, citing compliance with all city ordinances.

According to Dennis Watson, assistant city attorney, the matter was settled out of court when Mobil passed all requirements of the city's newly-enacted Wetlands Ordinance. In addition, the company agreed to install the gas and oil separator and to prepare a Pollution Incident Prevention Plan (PIPP) which outlined specific measures to be taken on-site in case of a spill.

The oil and gas separator addition is shown on the final site plans approved by the city. The separator also appears on plans required for issuance of the Wetlands Permit. But no separator was ever installed — an oversight that had gone undetected by the city.

The separator is designed to separate oil and gas from parking lot water run-off, Susan Nayh, environmental specialist with the city's consulting engineers, said. The oil and gas would float on top for easy removal and the water would pass on to the creek, she said.

"I'm not sure if it had even been installed if it would have helped in this case," Nayh said.

Nayh said the station did have a PIPP plan in place, and the plan had been approved by the DNR as required.

"They (Mobil Oil) really should have their people trained better," Nayh said.

The city has never done a final wetlands inspection on the gas station, Nayh said. Mobil has never requested its bond money back, she said. The company is required to post a bond for the wetlands requirements. The bond is refundable upon final inspection and approval.

"I don't want to point a finger," Nayh said, "But there never should have been a gas station there anyway. There shouldn't be any B-3 zoning (zoning required for service stations) next to streams."

"I put it right back on the planning commission. It is ridiculous to have tanks right next to a stream," Nayh said.

City officials agree to study sediment developing in drain

City officials will look into the sedimentation developing in the Randolph Drain and water storage basin off Taft Road and Eight Mile Road, following a request from the Lexington Condo Homes Association for city action on the problem.

City Council informally agreed Monday night to ask the city engineer and building inspector to report on erosion controls and the sediment in the drain and the basin. Specifically, the association request asks the city to obtain a written commitment from an area developer to remove the sediment next spring.

Residents described the problem at a Department of Natural Resources meeting last month called to consider a request from the Singh Development Company to fill and replace wetlands as part of the Pheasant Hills subdivision north of Eight Mile.

At that meeting, residents suggested that a large pile of dirt left by the developer was causing or contributing to the sedimentation in the drain and the pond. The problem began at about the time the dirt pile appeared, they said.

Singh Vice President Michael Kahm said at that meeting that he would examine the basin to see if the company's dirt had caused the problem.

A few days after the meeting, however, Kahm said that "I went out and looked at it the next day." It looked like the filling was very fine clay particles that cannot be effectively filtered, and will just take time to settle out of the water, he said.

Kahm added that the problem began before Singh began building there.

There are enough plants between the mound and the water which would act to filter the dirt in the pile, Kahm said.

If the DNR approves a permit for Singh to proceed with its plans for the wetlands, Kahm said Singh would put a fabric screen around the stream to prevent dirt from entering the water during the rest of the construction.

Police Blotters

Devil's Night incident reports keep city police on the prowl

Northville city police received about 20 Devil's Night type calls — hoise, egg throwing, and the like — but very few on Halloween, police said.

The devils were busier Friday than last year, but most of the calls were not serious incidents, city police said.

WINDOW BROKEN — One piece of reported weekend vandalism was a broken window on Langfield.

Something thrown at a second-story thermopane window broke one pane of glass, according to a city police report. The damage was discovered at about 4 p.m. Sunday.

Eggs were found in the area, and the report said an egg could have caused the damage to the window. Damage was estimated at $150.

B & E ARREST — Two Northville men have been arrested on a charge of breaking and entering, city police said.

The arrest stems from an incident reported in September when a garage door was dented and pryed open and four beer cans and other items were stolen from a refrigerator in the garage.

Arraignments in the case are scheduled for Nov. 13. The suspects are expected to apply for deferred prosecution, a form of probation under which prosecution is delayed for a year, police said. If a suspect is arrested again during the year, the original charge is brought back. If not, the charge is dropped.

MOWER STOLEN — A $300 21-inch red Toro lawnmower was stolen from a home on Allen over the weekend, according to a city police report.

The lawnmower was in a back yard and was taken between 7:30 p.m. Friday and 8 a.m. Saturday, the report said.

MICHIGAN FAN? — A Michigan State University flag was reported stolen from a home on Baseline Friday night, a city police report said.

The flag is three feet by four feet and worth about $25, the report said. The homeowner heard a noise about 11:30 p.m. Friday and noticed the flag missing the next morning.

MISSING SOMETHING? — A pair of men's pants, complete with belt and several keys in the pockets, was turned in to the Northville police after being found in some bushes.

The pants are gray, size 36-38, with a black belt. A Northville High School student found the pants in some bushes near a home and turned them in to the police.

POCKET PICKED — A pickpocket got away with a wallet containing $400 in cash from a man at Northville Downs Friday night, according to a city police report.

Between 9:10 and 9:20 p.m. Friday evening a tan wallet was stolen from a man's pocket, the report said. Police searched the area but found no suspects.

BIKE STOLEN — A Sunnydale resident told township officers an 18-speed bicycle was missing from his garage.

The man said the incident occurred between 9 p.m. Oct. 29 and 2 p.m. Oct. 30, when he reported it to police.

The resident said the garage to the residence was left open to allow a dog access to the garage.

TRUCK STOLEN — A Livonia man has told township officers that his 1987 Chevrolet pickup truck, valued at $10,000, was stolen Oct. 30 while the man was shopping at Meijer's.

The man said he parked his truck in the parking lot about 10:40 a.m., but when he returned an hour later, the vehicle was missing.

Officer Jeff Larente noticed broken window glass where the truck was parked and theorized that the driver's side door window has been broken out. Larente said there were no witnesses to the theft.

CONSTRUCTING A CRIME — An open basement window was used to gain entry to a home under construction on Applewood Oct. 29, and the son of the homeowner told township officers that $3,000 worth of items were stolen.

Missing is a Jacuzzi, a furnace, and a water softener. The furnace and softener were attached and operational when the items were taken.

The suspected theft was discovered by a construction worker at the site when he reported for work at 8 a.m. Oct. 29 and found the garage door open.

A neighbor said she had come home at 4:30 Oct. 28 and noticed the garage door ajar, but thought nothing of it.

Trick backfires when teens try to treat kids to candy

Two 17-year-olds face a court arraignment on a charge of disorderly conduct resulting from a reported incident of two people in a car offering candy to young children.

Statements filed with police from the accused say that the two were only joking when they offered candy to two different pairs of elementary school students Sept. 14. Both of the suspects are students at Northville High School, the police report said.

According to the police report, two people drove up to two Amerman school students — aged six and seven — near Eight Mile and Carpenter and asked the boys if they wanted candy, displaying some pieces of candy in a plastic bag. The boys ran away and told the mother of one about the incident, which was then reported to the police.

Shortly after, two people offered candy to two other boys in the area, the police report said.

The suspects were arrested last week after a police investigation. They were released on $500 personal bond. An arraignment is scheduled for Nov. 25.

Parking at post office due for change

The handicapped-only parking spaces in front of the Northville post office on Wing Street — after two months under their present designation — may soon revert to unrestricted short-term use.

The Northville City Council informally agreed Monday night to ask Police Chief Rod Cannon to restore the parking in front of the post office to its former condition. Cannon had requested the designation as handicapped spaces because of a danger to pedestrians at the corner.

Council member Carolann Ayers suggested the change back, and also said the city should seek the return of some kind of drive-by drop box for mail at the post office.

She said she has heard many comments from residents about the difficulty and danger of the new situation. Although the change was meant to improve safety, she said, "I think it's done just the opposite."

Since parking for most people is no longer allowed directly in front of the post office, many people park at the stairway, leaving their motors running, and rush into the building, Ayers said. And since a police officer cannot be stationed there all the time, an impression is created of only intermittent enforcement of the rule.

Mayor Paul Vernon said, "I agree, and I think some of us had reservations about the (change) from the very beginning. I don't think it's worked out well at all."

The council members agreed that if Cannon has an objection to returning the parking to the past arrangement, they would consider something else.

Peek into any window, find out it's holiday time

As residents and visitors converge on Northville's holiday-decorated downtown for the annual Christmas Walk Nov. 15, the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce invites everyone to join with the judges in selecting the most attractively decorated store windows.

Held for more than two decades, the walk marks the opening of the Christmas season in Northville with downtown merchants displaying holiday gift merchandise in their stores and decorating their windows festively. In addition, greens supplied by the chamber will decorate downtown lamp posts.

During the walk from noon to 5 p.m., judges will select winners in five categories in the annual competition.

They are: 1. Clothing and shoes, 2. gifts and antiques; 3. service and restaurants; 4. professional; and 5. general.

Judges are to award points totaling 100, as follows: 30 for overall theme and appropriateness, 30 for color, scale and artistic quality, and 40 for merchandise display depicting the nature of the business.

Judges this year will be chamber executive director Laurie Marrs and board members Jackie Harris and Betty Allen.

During the Christmas Walk, which brings hundreds downtown, most merchants will be serving refreshments, Marrs said.

The walk is being held two weekends before Thanksgiving with Santa's arrival in a festive parade scheduled for 1 p.m. the following weekend on Nov. 22.

Any organizations and individuals interested in entering a float in Santa's parade still have time to do so, Marrs said. Northville Jaycees and the Schoolcraft College culinary arts department are among the early signers, she said, adding that she would like to have Brownie, Cub, Girl and Boy Scouts participate as marchers along with band and veterans' groups.

The parade will start at the Northville Recreation Department on Main Street and escort Santa east to the Town Square Park by the clock

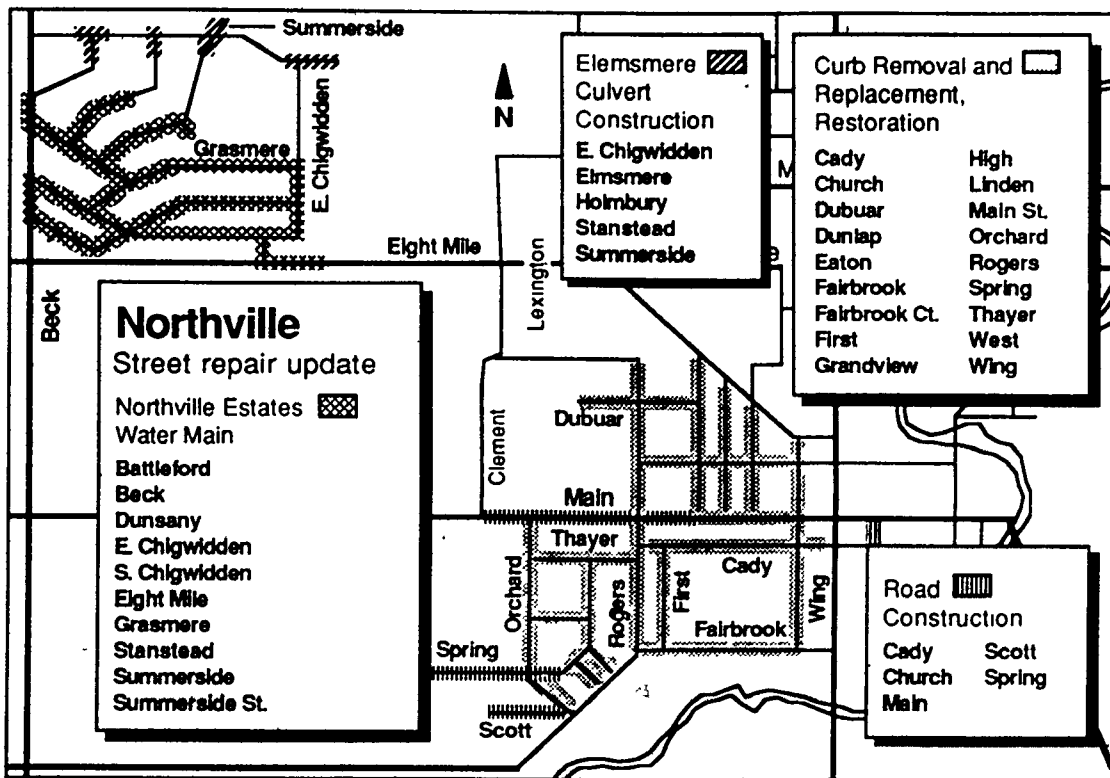

NHS singers in honor choir

Eight Northville High School choir members have been selected to be in a regional honors choir, one of three regionals sponsored by the Michigan School Vocal Association.

They competed with high school singers from all over the state as they auditioned for membership. Chosen from Northville are Carrie Bickner, Jason Merecki, Michelle Petro, Lori Helmer, Gwen Gabys, Jennifer Johnson, Melissa Petro and Rob Foulkrod.

These students now are memorizing five new pieces for a rehearsal and concert Dec. 5 at Kimball High School in Royal Oak. At that time they also will audition for the state honors choir.

Jim Kohl was sweepstakes winner in the Music Boosters benefit drawing. Tickets continue to be sold at $5 for a chance to win $25 and may be purchased from any student in vocal or instrumental programs at Northville High School. Drawings take place at each Music Booster meeting during the school year.

He's best principal in state

The staff and students of Randolph Elementary School in Livonia didn't want principal Jim Lauer at school Nov. 29.

It wasn't because they dislike him. They just wanted to put the finishing touches on a surprise celebration for Lauer, a Northville resident, who last Tuesday was named Outstanding Practicing Principal by the Michigan Elementary and Middle School Principals Association.

And it worked.

"They did a fabulous job," Lauer said. "It was one of those rare kind of experiences. It was a very heartwarming kind of thing. This morning there was a very close feeling that instilled a sense of pride, of belonging, a sense of family you might say."

Lauer was nominated for the award by fellow elementary principal Jerry Nehs in recognition of Lauer's accomplishments in curriculum development, professional association and affiliations in the community during his 28 years with the Livonia Public Schools.

Such recognition isn't new to Lauer. He has been the MEMSPA Regional 1 outstanding practicing principal, Livonia's Teacher of the Year and recipient of the Michigan PTA life member award and distinguished service award.

During his tenure with the district he has taught fourth-, fifth- and sixth-grade classes, and has been an assistant principal and principal at three different schools.

Lauer's "creative genius with curriculum," according to Nehs, has resulted in such districtwide programs as human growth and development, a hazardous substance unit, outdoor education, publishing centers, young authors conferences and computer-assisted mathematics.

Lauer also helped organize the Livonia Educational Administrators and Supervisors, a professional organization, and has served four terms as president. He has been elected to MEMSPA positions on the regional and state levels.

It was a band director who influenced the kind of educator Lauer has become, but Lauer, 49, says he entered the educational field because he likes children.

"The band director instilled in you

Jim Lauer, a Northville resident, is the state's top principal special kinds of values like excellence, do the best you can do," Lauer said. "You could see the warmth toward students in him, but you also had the feeling that you had to stretch to do the best job you could do."

Lauer received a bachelor of science degree from Western Michigan University, and a master's and education specialist degree from Eastern Michigan University.

He said he views the MEMSPA award as "a tremendous honor" and is looking forward to representing the state at national recognition ceremonies in Washington, D.C., next year.

"One person told me that this association can't pay any higher tribute than this," he said. "And that's true. It's a way to pick out one person, but the award represents all the many, many fine principals in this state."

Even if the award is a thrill, it isn't interfering with his work.

Lauer says he enjoys working with parents and children and having the time to dream while keeping in contact with the children.

His dreams have produced many fine educational programs and are what makes education fun, he said.

"With the staff I have, when we can work together and dream together, it's fun," he said. "But this district has allowed its staff to be creative. We have a central office that supports us and a school board that allows us to be creative."

Right now Lauer and seven Randolph teachers are working on an art literacy program. They've invested 1½ years in coming up with a program that exposes the children to the fine arts — visual, music, literature and drama, to name a few.

"I've been involved in science, sex education and outdoor learning, but I also think students need a balanced education," Lauer said. "I feel we need to provide reading, writing and arithmetic, but children also need some of the skills that will help them enjoy life."

Lauer looks to the future and sees only one thing — the Livonia Public Schools. He is where he wants to be and he wants to remain a principal.

"I've had opportunities for other positions in this district, but I have the best of all worlds," he said. "I have some of the best kids in the world right here at Randolph."

Decision near on leader for Northville schools' substance abuse plan

The Northville Board of Education, in cooperation with the Livonia and Wayne-Westland public schools, has received a grant of $196,000 to help combat substance abuse.

The three school districts have formed a consortium to help get the grant funding from the Governor's Initiative Against Drug and Alcohol Abuse and, it is expected that within the next week, a Student Assistance Program Coordinator will be hired to serve the Northville Public Schools.

In informing the Board of Education of the funding and the search for a program coordinator, Dolly McMaster noted that William Hamilton, high school assistant principal, wrote the grant narrative and said, in the document, that nearly half of the student body have exhibited at least one criteria established for identifying at-risk youth.

He added that approximately 25 students have been suspended and that 10 students currently are placed in in-patient treatment as a result of substance abuse.

"We have addressed the problem of substance abuse and we're winning the war," he said.

Hamilton and McMaster attended a March workshop dealing with substance abuse and out of that workshop, McMaster explained, grew the three-district consortium.

"We are grateful to Livonia and Wayne-Westland for allowing us to join them at the 11th hour," McMaster said.

The grant will allow the district to run a more comprehensive school-based support group, targeting high school students who exhibit mental, social and emotional problems. Also targeted will be children of substance-using parents.

The student assistance program coordinator will meet monthly with parents of the identified at-risk youth and will run four planned monthly group meetings as well as two individual counseling sessions with the students.

In addition, the coordinator will speak to local parent teacher organizations and to community groups about the problems of substance abuse.

The program also involves working with a private organization, the Livonia Community Commission on Drug Abuse, which will provide training and mentoring for the coordinator, as well as the clearing house for networking activities.

"We know, going into this program, that we aren't going to save all the kids. But we do know we will be able to help some of those kids and some of those families," Hamilton said.

Taste of Novi includes area restaurant treats

Local residents will have an opportunity to become acquainted with the culinary delights of area restaurants at the second annual "Taste of Novi."

Sponsored by the Novi Chamber of Commerce, the event will be held at the Sheraton Oaks Hotel tonight (Thursday, Nov. 5) from 6-8 p.m.

"We're expecting a turnout of more than 400 people," reported Dianne Fenrich, special events coordinator for the Novi Chamber.

"The event has grown dramatically from last year," she added. "We had 12 participating restaurants last year and this year we will have 26. Some of the displays will be just outstanding."

Tickets for "A Taste of Novi" are priced at $10 per person and will be available at the door. A cash bar will be available, and entertainment for the evening will be provided by the Jerry McKenzie Jazz Ensemble.

Fenrich reported that participating restaurants will provide a wide array of selections.

For example, Anthony's at the Sheraton Oaks will serve shrimp-and-scallop brochette with a garlic cheveler cream sauce, Red Timbers is offering sauteed perch, and Blakeney's is preparing chicken saute with sweet and-sour sauce.

Chez Raphael's will serve a wild mushroom fettucine, Key Largo will serve Key Lime pie, and Edinors at Twelve Oaks Mall will offer its old-fashioned shakes and malts.

Joseph Yezbeck, executive chef at Anthony's in the Sheraton Oaks, will be carving an ice sculpture throughout the event.

Fenrich said the event will have an "open-house" type atmosphere with participants being able to move from display to display, sampling the various offerings.

Participating restaurants include Maisano's Deli, Maria's Italian Bakery, the Brighton Canopy, Nifty Norman's, Home Sweet Home, Ediner, Little Caesar's Pizza, Vie de France, Kosch's Deli and Pub, Anthony's (Sheraton Oaks), Red Timbers Inn, Blakeney's, MacKinon's, Cucina di Pasta, Coffee Beanery, Kentucky Fried Chicken, Maxwell's (Farmington Hills Holiday Inn), G. Willikers, Chez Raphael, Messina's Pizza, Appetizer's Country Epicure, the Red Lobster, Edwards' Gatsby's, Key Largo, Northville Charley's and Gatsby's.

South Main alley will stay open

An alley off of South Main Street will remain open, the Northville City Council decided Monday.

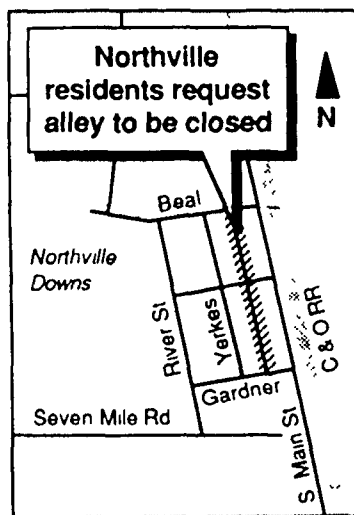

On a 4-0 vote, the council denied a request from a resident to close the alley — behind the buildings on the west side of South Main — just above Gardner Street. When the council first received the request, it decided to consider closing the alley for the entire block from Gardner up to Johnson Avenue.

One resident, who requested the closure, said that the alley has never been maintained, that when it is plowed the snow is pushed against her garage, and that high speeds sometimes cause a hazard.

Several members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars with a post home on S. Main opposed the idea of closing the alley, saying that if it was closed they would have to open a driveway through to Yerkes Avenue.

Other area residents also opposed a closing, especially because some homes have garages which can only be reached by the alley.

After hearing public opinion on the request, the council members voted to leave the alley open, saying that it should be better maintained.

"We decided to find out what the response would be to vacating the entire alley, and I think we have the answer," council member Carolann Ayers said before the vote. "I also think that creating a dead end alley would not necessarily be a good idea. I think alleys were meant to be used from both ends."

Council member John Buckland added, "I see no tax dollars at work here. We should do our best to maintain the openness of the alley for all kinds of vehicles."

Market crash sends real estate soaring

The wild fluctuations on Wall Street precipitated by "Black Monday" will have little adverse effect on the local housing market, according to local real estate officials.

In fact, some Realtors expect the uncertain stock market conditions may have a positive effect on the residential real estate industry.

"There was a very rapid slowdown in activity for about 10 days right after Black Monday," reported Conrad Jakubowski, president of ERA Rymal Symes in Novi.

"There was a great deal of media attention on the dramatic fall in the Dow Jones and some media were referring to it as the 'Crash of 1929.' That's enough to make anyone pause," he added.

Sherry Klisz, manager of Bruce Roy Realty in Northville, concurred. "The number of inquiries slowed down a bit," she said. "People were jittery they had a wait-see attitude."

"But actually Black Monday didn't have much effect on us. The housing market in Northville had already slowed down in September."

Now, both Jakubowski and Klisz see signs that the "crash" of Black Monday may have positive effects for the real estate industry.

"Before Black Monday interest rates were headed up," noted

Jakubowski, a past president of the Michigan Realtors Association. "On the Wednesday after Black Monday — just two days after the so-called 'crash' — we knew that interest rates were headed back down. The long-term interest rates dropped almost a point — which bodes well for our business."

Klisz added that there's some feeling real estate will gain favor with conservative investors who are wary of the fluctuations of the stock market. "That and the falling interest rates seem to be good signs for our business," she said.

Jakubowski believes the after-effects of Black Monday should prove beneficial to the entire U.S. economy.

"After the dust had settled, a lot of economic prognosticators were saying that what happened on Wall Street was not the 'Crash of '29' and may be good for our economy in the long run," he said.

"What happened with the stock market has forced the U.S. government to realize that we can't go on like we have been without doing something about our deficits. If something happens in Washington to deal with both the trade and budget deficits, it will be good news for the economy as a whole."

Although the crash of Black Monday caused people to think twice about the future of the economy. Jakubowski said people are beginning to feel a lot more comfortable and are returning to the market place.

Klisz shares similar sentiments, but adds that the housing market in Northville has not been particularly strong this year.

"The market was a lot healthier in 1986," she said. "In comparison, 1987 just hasn't been as good."

Klisz sees two major problems with the Northville housing market — scarcity of listings and high prices.

"Northville is a unique market in that once people get here they don't seem to want to leave," she observed.

"Everyone in Northville is sitting tight on what they have, so new listings are hard to come by. The reason 1986 was a lot healthier for business was that there was a lot of pent-up buyer and seller demand. But that has now just about exhausted itself. Everyone wants, but nobody wants out."

Klisz added that the saddest part of the Northville housing market is the prices. "In terms of housing for less than $100,000, you might find four," she said.

"There's a good variety of homes in the $100,000 to $150,000 range, but under $70,000 — you're just out of luck. I think that's sad for couples starting out who might want to live in Northville," she said.

Trustees put gas/oil rule into law

Northville Township Board of Trustees Oct. 29 unanimously approved an emergency ordinance detailing procedures and needed approvals for gas and oil drilling within the confines of the township.

The ordinance takes effect immediately upon publication and the wording is included in the legal notices in this week's edition of The Record.

The ordinance notes that the "business of drilling and exploring for oil, gas, petroleum and hydrocarbons within the corporate limits of the Township is a hazardous and dangerous business and occupation

The ordinance gives the fire chief, the building inspector or other township employees, as designated by the board, the right to enter the premises of any operation covered by the drilling permits and sets down the buildings and structures which must be covered by the permit requirements.

Under the ordinance provisions, the exteriors of the structures must be maintained in good repair and be structurally sound.

If it is determined that the provisions of the ordinance are violated, the township shall notify the company or individuals responsible for the project that they are in violation of the ordinance, and establish a date by which repairs must be completed.

In the event the repairs are not completed by that date, the township will hold a hearing and could, following the hearing, order the physical demolition of all or parts of the structure.

Currently there are two gas and/or oil operations planned within the township, one on Five Mile Road near Ridge Road and a second planned by SUMOCO for Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital property.

Road, south of Seven Mile Road.

Any proceeds from the sale will be placed in the state's general fund.

The bill, introduced Sept. 23, has been referred to the House Committee on State Affairs, chaired by Rep. Joseph Young Jr. of Detroit.

New membership selection plan

Northville City Council member Paul Folino Monday proposed for discussion some changes to the way the council handles its dealings with some boards and commissions.

"It is something I believe council should take a look at," Folino said in presenting his ideas. He said the suggestions were subject to change, and would be a good topic for the council to discuss in depth after the election.

The recommendations would concern bodies like the planning commission, board of zoning appeals, and historic district commission, Folino said.

In an introduction to the proposals, he wrote: "In view of the recent non-reappointment of some board and commission members, I am submitting this seven-step proposal which I feel would give council a far greater view of what is going on with our boards and commissions."

"Having served as council liaison to the planning commission for the last two years, I have attended most all meetings to be able to observe first hand the performance of members and to pass along comments both ways. However, at recent council meetings I was what I call 'shot down' and accused of being very defensive of the planning commission, and was not asked or given a chance to give my views as liaison of members' performance," the letter says.

Specifically, Folino recommended:

- That all council members get copies of applicants for review (a policy change the council recently adopted).

- That a liaison be selected for all boards and commissions. If a council member is dissatisfied with a member's performance, it would be reported to the liaison to talk to the member.

- That any member of a board or commission up for reappointment be reviewed by the council's personnel committee well before the term expires and, if the committee does not intend to recommend reappointment, that the member be promptly notified.

- That each member be evaluated by the liaison and the chairperson on a short form covering length of service, attendance and performance.

- That the council and the planning commission hold joint meetings every three months, and that this be done with other bodies semi-annually.

- That council members rotate as delegates to the Michigan Municipal League, the Municipal Employees Retirement System and similar groups.

Bill offered to sell hospital surplus land

The first step has been taken to allow the Michigan Department of Mental Health to sell approximately 25 acres of surplus Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital property.

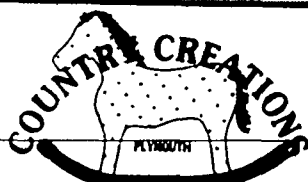

On Sept. 23, Rep. Gerald Law introduced legislation that would have the land declared surplus by the legislature, to have the property appraised and sold to the highest bidder.

The property fronts on Haggerty

Road, south of Seven Mile Road.

Any proceeds from the sale will be placed in the state's general fund.

The bill, introduced Sept. 23, has been referred to the House Committee on State Affairs, chaired by Rep. Joseph Young Jr. of Detroit.

California Raisins winners in contest

An estimated 700-800 youngsters participated in the party given by Northville City firefighters on Halloween at the fire station on Main Street. Chief Jim Allen said the event has become a party for parents, too, as many accompanied little elves, dragons and scarecrows.

Fifty pounds of popcorn were popped, 16 gallons of cider and an uncounted number of cotton candy cones as well as other treats were distributed to the trick or treaters. Chief Jim Allen reported, noting that Casterline Funeral Home, Northwest Lioness Club and Spillane Dental Clinic assisted with the contributions.

A project of the city firefighters for 24 years, the party is growing each year, Allen said, with the costume contest especially popular this year with youngsters — who came imaginatively garbed as everything from winning California raisins to a train. Evan Meinicke, 10 months old, arrived as a "Chick in an Easter Basket" to win a first prize.

Winners in the up to five years old category, from left, are Jimmy and Steven Beson, Dopey and Doc, second; Evan Meinicke, Chick in Basket, first; Jared Pereira, a train, third.

Capturing prizes in the 6-10 year old group are Brent Johnson, a mummy, second; Alexis Troshinetz, a butterfly, first; Lauren Smith, a scarecrow, third.

Lots of pumpkins at decorated homes

More city residents than ever before participated in the Halloween decorating contest sponsored by the Northville Parks and Recreation Department, according to Tracy Johnson, recreation supervisor.

Johnson said the winner of this year's contest is the Coppoch family, 200 Rayson.

Second place was awarded to the Sievert family, 677 W. Dunlap. Johnson said two families tied for third place: the Beson family, 504 W.

Dunlap, and the Stockhausen family, 218 Dunlap.

"Everyone did a lot of detail work," Johnson said. "But the people we selected as the winners really went all-out."

Johnson added that the winning home featured about 40 lighted pumpkins as part of its display.

Johnson said winners of this year's contest had their choice of tickets to "Harvey" at the Marquis Theatre, a family-sized pizza from Pizza Cutter or free bowling at the Novi Bowl.

Winning for the 11-15 year olds are Becky Albanese, a dragon, second; Courtney and Cristen Gazlay, California raisins, first; Aaron Troshinetz, a zebra, third.

Johnson wins strong in city mayor election

Johnson, 32, lives on Main Street and works as an attorney with Cummings, McClorey, Davis, & Aho, P.C. in Livonia. He serves as assistant township attorney for Redford Township and Van Buren Township.

A member of the Northville Board of Education for the past 11 1/2 years, Johnson will be required by law to resign from the school board since winning the mayor's seat.

Gardner was on the city council for 12 years until resigning his seat in September to run for mayor.

Johnson will replace outgoing mayor Paul Vernon in the leader's chair. Vernon — who has been mayor of the city for the last 10 years — did not run for re-election this year.

A precinct-by-precinct voting breakdown is:

In precinct one, the part of the city in Wayne County, Johnson took 346 votes to Gardner's 220. Of the 2,252 voters in the precinct, 571 cast a ballot on Election Day, not counting the precinct's absent voters.

In precinct two, the part of the city in Oakland County, Johnson received 398 votes to Gardner's 238. Of the 2,325 voters in the precinct, 637 voted Tuesday, excluding absent voters.

Among absent voters, Gardner took 110 votes to Johnson's 98. Voters submitted 209 absentee ballots.

Recent voter turnouts have ranged from 22 percent to 27.5 percent: 1985, 27.5 percent; 1983, 22 percent; 1981, 27 percent; and 1979, 26 percent. Turnout in 1977 was close to 50 percent.

In the last mayoral election, in 1985, Vernon defeated Eugene Kunz with 54.7 percent of the vote. In 1983, Vernon defeated Kunz with about 62 percent. In 1981 and 1979, Vernon ran unopposed, and in 1977 — when he was first elected — he defeated Paul Folino with about 66 percent of the vote.

Boys State, Girls State honorees

The 30 Northville High School juniors who attended Boys State and Girls State programs under sponsorship of the Northville American Legion Post 147 and Auxiliary were honored at a dinner program at Meads Mill School Oct. 22. Boys State delegates attending the dinner pictured, from left at top, with principal David Bolitho and Boys State chairman Paul Vernon are, John Hooten, Mike Harmon, David Frayne, Scott Sinkwits, John

Township planners OK cluster housing option

Northville township planners on Oct. 27 unanimously approved wording on a proposed cluster ordinance and sent the measure on to the board of trustees for approval.

The ordinance is an option, similar to the method used for a planned residential unit development. In short, explained planning consultant Claude Coates with Vilcan Leman, even if you (the commission) determine that a parcel would qualify for cluster housing, it does not assure a favorable recommendation.

Included in the ordinance is wording which requires the commission to explain its recommendation to the board.

"I am sure that the planning commission minutes would provide that explanation," Coates said.

The cluster option limits the property on which cluster homes can be constructed to land which contains a floodplain or poor soil conditions to prohibit single family home construction; natural land formations arranged so that elevation includes slopes in excess of 10 percent between elevations; or the parcel contains natural assets such as stands of large trees, that in the opinion of the commission would be preserved by a cluster development rather than single family.

Other conditions include frontage on a major thoroughfare which would make platting difficult, the parcel is shaped so that the angles of the land would make a subdivision difficult to plat; or the parcel contains existing recreation facilities (such as a golf course) that could be preserved only through a cluster development.

Final criteria for preliminary consideration of a parcel for cluster includes abutting major roadways or the parcel is designated as cluster on the township's master plan.

Wording on the proposed ordinance was presented in draft form in July, and the earliest initial approval could be given would be at the Nov. 12 meeting of the board of trustees.

The Northville Record

Our Opinions

Trustees failed

Throughout the budget review process, Northville Township officials stressed the idea of fiscal responsibility as a governing factor in their recommendations for spending levels during fiscal 1988.

Faced with a slowdown in building because of a perceived lack of sewer capacity, with a slight reduction in revenues from taxes because of the Headlee Amendment, but with increasing demands for salary increases and contractually mandated raises, the budget review committee attempted to hold the line on spending.

On the surface, officials were successful in their attempts. However, when it came time to approve the document, fiscal inconsistency was the order of the day. The cuts and increases in the actual budget were all over the board and that should not be tolerated.

For instance, a $10,000 appropriation was approved for creating a fire marshal's position in the township, but at the same time a request by the police department for a reorganization was turned down.

The supervisor was given a $3,000 raise, but the clerk, who ostensibly works the same amount of hours, was not only denied a $4,000 raise, but was not even given the $1,000 increase recommended by the budget review committee.

Finally, there is the overriding question of the library commission's recommendation for a 30 percent increase in pay for the assistant library director. The budget review committee and the trustees agreed that the salaries of library personnel were low, but were willing only to go halfway in meeting the commission's request.

The trustees' actions leave questions and concerns. While it was a fiscally responsible act to grant a portion of the library commission's request and to promise to look into the question of salaries in the future, we question the justification of the other actions.

While there is no dispute that the supervisor, who works part time, merits an increase, there also should be no dispute that the clerk, who has made it a point to be reachable by telephone during the day and who daily visits township hall, also merits an increase.

A fire marshal to perform inspections within the township is a welcome addition to the fire department personnel. But reorganization of the police department also should be a priority. It is difficult to understand the reasoning behind approval of the fire marshal, and the turning down of the police department reorganization.

The fire chief, in making his request to the board, noted that the marshal, or assistant fire chief, would not be brought on board until September. The police chief had requested the reorganization — adding a second captain and a third sergeant — to alleviate a junior officer giving a command to a senior officer in a paramilitary organization. It may have been a wise gesture had the trustees taken the additional money earmarked for the fire marshal and given it to the police department.

It is commendable that the budget review committee was able, given the economic uncertainty, to actually reduce spending in fiscal 1988 from fiscal 1987 figures, and the members of the review body, Richard Henningsen, Donald Williams and Frank St. Clair, should be lauded for their efforts. But the bottom line is that the trustees very nearly undid the committee's work.

While there is room to amend the budget as the fiscal year progresses, it would have been better if the trustees had been consistent in their changes to the presented budget document. That truly would have shown responsibility.

Precautions needed

The City of Novi came face to face with one of the dangers of life in the '80s two weeks ago when a potentially dangerous gasoline spill was washed into a storm sewer and ended up in the Ingersoll Creek. Given today's awareness of the importance of keeping water supplies pollution free and wetlands protected, the incident is worth examining by Novi's neighbors. It could happen here.

Northville Township fire chief Robert Toms said, in the event of a spill, the first danger is the threat of an explosion and the tendency is to flush the spill away. However, the EPA and the DNR regulate such actions.

The fact that the Novi spill was of a relatively minor degree was a blessing, for virtually none of that city's safety devices were in place at the time of the spill. Had more gasoline been spilled, more would have been washed into the tributary of the middle Rouge River, an important body of water for all of southeast Michigan.

When Novi issued the station a wetlands permit, the station was required to put in an oil and gas separator to filter normal oil and gas run-off out of water destined for the storm sewer and the creek. The separator was never installed. The city learned of the omission when fire fighters arrived at the station and began to try to remove the spilled gasoline from the area.

The addition of the separator to the wetlands permit and to the station's final site plans was a good one. Parking lots normally have some amount of gas and oil run-off just from cars, but a gas station, with its potential for drips and spills, is even more likely to introduce toxic substances into a crucial waterway.

Likewise, Novi required Mobil to design a Pollution Incident Prevention Plan (PIPP) duly approved by the DNR — so that if an accident occurred the station management and employees would know the correct procedures for handling the safety and environmental concerns. Mobil complied and did receive a PIPP approval from the DNR. But when the spill occurred, Mobil employees reacted in a less than satisfactory manner.

Novi has yet to conduct a final wetlands inspection of the Mobil Gas station, despite the fact that the station has been open since early summer. Observers are emphatic that Mobil should not have been allowed to begin operating and certainly should not have been allowed to begin the storage of hazardous materials, until the city had completed all of the inspections and determined that all necessary safety and environmental safeguards were in place.

Likewise, Mobil Oil authorities had an obligation to make sure that their employees knew the proper procedures for emergencies. If a thorough training in PIPP procedures seemed too much trouble, surely the company could post a large sticker next to the phone and inform each employee in no uncertain terms to call the Novi Fire Department immediately in the event of a spill.

In the light of the incident, this is the proper time for Northville's governmental units to be sure emergency procedures are in place in our community so that a similar situation won't happen here.

Guard changes

It's over

The Northville city election is over. The term of Mayor Paul Vernon is over. Dewey Gardner's service on city council is over, at least for now. It seems like a lot of things ended Tuesday night.

You have no idea how tempting it is for reporters to make pronouncements about elections. You hear those words and phrases we love so much: mandate, hotly-contested race, stunning upset, decisive win, narrow victory, and so on. They're used so much that they really lose their meaning.

I'm trying hard not to make any pronouncements about this election. Was Chris Johnson's victory over Gardner an "upset"? Maybe. The voters saw things differently than The Northville Record, which endorsed Gardner. More often than not in recent years, The Record's endorsement and the citizens' voting have agreed.

However, I have a hunch Johnson and his supporters were confident of victory. So I'm not about to call this result an upset. I'm not going to call it a hotly-contested race, either, because for all I know the outcome may have been decided on the day petition filing ended.

With that said, there is one conclusion — with plenty of qualifiers — which I would like to draw from this election. Even though I'm new to this job and this city, this election represents to me a major shift from Northville's history to its future.

That statement is not a positive or negative appraisal of Johnson or Gardner, and it's not a crack about their respective ages, either. It only means that Gardner is an integral member of the group that literally made Northville what it is today, and Johnson has a chance to play a vital role in what it will become.

Of course, Johnson is hardly "new" to Northville. His roots are here and he already has close to 12 years of public service behind him on the school board. But at the same time, he certainly is new to city council, and he is not part of the group that has "run the city" for many years.

In other words, the actual change in the membership of the council — in effect, the replacement of Vernon and Gardner with Johnson and Jerry Mittman — could signal a much broader change in the city. Johnson's position in the mayor's chair will give him a unique opportunity to pursue whatever changes he sees as needed. It will be interesting to see what they are.

Maybe I don't know what I'm talking about; maybe I'm making too much out of this one election result. Either way, I hope you'll let me know. But I can't get over the feeling that a lot of things ended Tuesday night, and some were more tangible than others.

After the Fact

By Phil Jerome

"Look out," she said. "Here they come." I glanced down the road. And, sure enough, she was right. They were on their way. Two of them ... in their black-and-white squad car.

As editor of the local newspaper, I've always lived in fear of having my name appear in the police blotter. Every so often I'm approached by someone asking me to keep their name out of the blotter for some infraction — usually drunk driving. And my response has always been that we don't make exceptions for anyone. And that means anyone — including myself. If we routinely reported drunk driving arrests, for example, everyone arrested for drunk driving is going to get their names in the paper.

As the officers approached, I was grateful we no longer report people apprehended for that most heinous of suburban crime — burning leaves.

"We have a little problem here, folks," said the cop as he got out of the car. "I'm going to have to ask you to put out that fire."

He was smiling and so was his partner. I realized it would be a little silly to plead innocence ... after all, how could I explain the billowing cloud of smoke?

"Actually, I rather like burning leaves," said the officer, almost apologetically. "Used to do it as a kid. I always thought it had kind of a pleasant, fall-like smell. But laws are laws, and the law says you can't burn leaves anymore."

We extinguished the fire — politely but reluctantly. After all, there probably aren't more than 20 homes within a one-mile radius of our place. It's not like we were dumping chemical waste or anything like that.

The police filed their report. And our police reporter Anita Crone picked it up when she checked the blotter Monday morning. "Want to know who turned you in?" she asked upon returning to the office.

"I already know," I informed her. "And I'm giving serious consideration to putting a 24-hour stakeout on his house. If that turkey burns any leaves, it's going front page with four-color pictures and banner headlines."

Three's company

Budget: Marshal in, police captain out

Northville Township may get a fire marshal this fiscal year but the police department will not have a reorganization of its command structure.

That was the verdict following an Oct. 30 special meeting on the fiscal 1988 budget.

Fire Chief Robert Toms had requested an appropriation of $10,000 to add an assistant fire chief somewhere around September.

Police Chief Kenneth Hardesty had requested an additional $10,000 to add a captain and an additional sergeant to the department. Both positions would have been internal promotions.

"I want you to know that come September, I'm going to be coming down hard for another man to do fire inspections in the township," Toms told the board.

"When I first started here with our own fire department there were 4,000 people in the township. Now there are 12,000 and we are still growing. There is a definite need for an additional man since, right now, I'm doing it all," he said.

Treasurer Richard Henningsen, who along with Trustee Donald Williams Township Manager Steve Brock, Finance Director James Graham and Frank St. Clair, a Lakes of Northville resident, served on the budget committee, said the committee noted the request, but did not include the amount in the proposed budget document.

Instead the committee recommended an additional $290 for an assistant chief, but Henningsen, after listening to Tom's plea for the additional staffing, recommended the additional money for the fire marshal. Hardesty's request for changing his command structure was met with less than enthusiastic response.

"We (the police department) are a semi-military setup and currently we have a junior officer who is in actuality giving a command to a senior officer," Hardesty said, noting that Capt. Philip Presnell is in charge of the detective bureau and Lt. Gary Batzloff, the officer in charge of the road patrol, often gives the captain cases to investigate.

"In addition," Hardesty said, "under our current staffing, we have two sergeants to cover three road patrol shifts. An addition of another sergeant would provide coverage of all three shifts."

Hardesty told the board that there had been no promotions within the police department in five years although there had been additional road patrol staff hired in that time.

"I recognize there may be a morale problem with no promotions in five years, but in my business, there have been no promotions in eight years," said Trustee Richard Allen. However, Allen said he saw a need to have a sergeant in charge of each of the three shifts and, during the board's discussion of the police department budget, offered the motion to add the sergeant, a motion that was approved by a majority of the board.

Hardesty said he expects it would be after the first of the year before the competitive sergeant's test would be given, and that he did not expect to have the position filled before March.

Supervisor gets raise, clerk's salary remains same in '88 budget

Northville Township Supervisor Georgina Goss got a raise last week, but clerk Thomas L. P. Cook did not.

The Board of Trustees allocated a $3,000 increase in the supervisor's pay for Fiscal Year 1988 but stood its ground in opposition to a $4,000 increase for Cook. The budget committee had recommended Cook's salary be increased to $13,000 but that Goss' salary remain at $19,000.

The funds for the supervisor's salary increase are expected to come from the water and sewer department budget.

The supervisor has been spending a great deal of time in working on the WTUA/YCUA projects and she should be paid for that time," said Treasurer Richard Henningsen.

Northville Township and Plymouth and Canton townships are in investigating the possibility of sending non-contracted sewer flows to the Ypsilanti Community Utility Authority and have created the Western Townships Utility Authority for that purpose.

The township supervisor and township clerk are considered part time positions, and Goss, before being appointed supervisor, was the township clerk. Her salary as clerk was $15,000 per year plus benefits, however, when Cook was appointed clerk the board of trustees reduced the amount of pay to $12,000.

Although Cook, who is recovering from bypass surgery, was not at the budget hearing, a source within the township said that Cook had requested a salary increase since he was not covered by the township benefit package.

Treasurer Richard Henningsen, speaking on behalf of the finance committee's recommendations, noted the salary increase request for the clerk came from the clerk.

However, Trustee James Nowka said he thought the salary should "remain status quo."

Trustee Donald Williams said he thought the clerk's salary should be raised. "Going back to the original clerk's job, we lowered it (the salary) under the condition that we would reconsider it six months later," he said.

"If you raise the salary I want you to know that we are setting precedent for next year's election," Henningsen pointed out.

And Goss, who spoke in favor of raising the salary, said that Cook had taken a cut when he became clerk.

However, when the votes were counted, only Williams and Goss had voted against the motion to leave the salary at $12,000.

Home sweet home

By Anita Crone

Last Thursday was moving day.

Nine months, four gray hairs and two bank accounts ago, I gave an offer to purchase my Walled Lake condominium. And last Thursday night I finally slept in my own place.

The sleeping was easy. The rest of the machinations that go into home ownership are not.

For instance, there is a "small" repaving project (all of Pontiac Trail) ongoing until Thanksgiving. I'm told, that is taking place directly in front of my unit. Drivers who usually travel Pontiac Trail in front of the complex have had to make adjustments. Unfortunately, the altered route runs directly in front of my bedroom window.

There is nothing less relaxing than hearing, usually between 2-3 a.m., the sound of a struggling semi truck as it makes its nightly visit to the nearby supermarket.

Then there is the matter of my ceiling fans. I have three of them, one in the dining room, one in the media room and one in the master bedroom. The first time the developer saw the fans, he said that if my unit ever was a foot off the ground, he'd know I was running all three at the same time.

Don't get me wrong. I really love the place, and, while I'm in the process of moving in, I'm becoming intimately acquainted with every nook and cranny. I have to. I need to find places to put my stuff.

Some people acquire belongings that they use every day. I acquire stuff that I may use once a year. But if I were to throw out my stuff, or any part of it, the next day I would need whatever it was I threw out. Then I'd have to buy more stuff.

To make a long story very short, while my condo has room for me, it has very little storage space. And what storage there is is already taken up by necessities like clothing, linens and furniture.

Seriously, there are rooms in the place. There's a kitchen/dining room combination, a living room, a master bedroom and a media room.

It's very in to have media rooms these days. In the 50s, they used to call those places dens, since the television was in the living room and not every adult in the family had his or her own stereo.

Most media rooms are large enough to hold a computer, a television or some sort of video system, and certainly the stereo. My media room is big enough for all of those items. But if they are in that room, there's no room for the people.

The way I figure, by the time I find a place for all my current stuff, I'll be ready to buy new stuff, and the process can start all over. I expect that will be right about the time that I start attending city council meetings.

I'm looking forward to finding out about my new community and attending council meetings, not as a reporter, but as a resident. I can't wait until the time comes for public comments. Please don't tell the mayor I want it to be a surprise.

I've already had one surprise. The difference between living in an apartment and living in a condo or a single family home is most readily apparent in my mail box. In the two days since I moved in, I have received more junk mail than I have seen in a year of apartment living. I guess the people who send the circulars and brochures think I have lots of room. I certainly have had to buy a bigger garbage pail.

Library aide gets raise

did with the township employees when we realized their salaries were woefully out of line.

"We should lay down a series of logical steps to determine how to get those employees' salaries raised to an acceptable level," Allen said.

"That would not solve the problem now," noted Supervisor Georgina Goss. "But I know there are residents out there who would think we were fiscally irresponsible if we were to give anyone a 30 percent increase."

The body finally agreed to have a blue-ribbon committee comprised of city and township residents study the salaries of those people not covered by contract (including the assistant library director) and report back to the elected bodies of both units of government.

City Mayor Paul Vernon appointed council members Carolann Ayers and John Buckland as the city's representatives and has requested that the township also appoint two members to the study committee.

"Under the joint services contract, when one unit wants to increase or decrease a presented budget, it requires a joint budget study committee," Ayers pointed out.

However, the actual contract reads, "the City Council and Township Board may meet together to review the proposed service budgets, or they may each appoint two representatives to a budget study committee, which shall review the proposed budgets and make recommendations as to their adoption no later than Nov. 1."

The contract further states that the library board and recreation commission have authority to vary their budgets consistent with responsible program operation, but no approved budget for a jointly operated service shall be "exceeded or modified in a manner which increases the direct governmental contributions of the Township and City without the formal approval of both the Township Board and the City Council."

The township board's action does not modify an already approved budget, nor does it alter the contributions of either body.

Sunshine Farms offers glimpse of herb gardens

By LISA BURKS

Autumn colors are fading, but the bright golds, warm rusts, earthy greens, brilliant pinks and purples, and subtle beige and whites have all been carefully and beautifully preserved in dried flowers and herbs at Sunshine Farm and Garden in Commerce Township.

"There's no getting around the fact that it's farming, so it's hard physical work," explained herb expert and proprietor Jean Riggs.

But it's a labor of love, and the results are a treat to the eyes, nose and taste buds of everyone who visits Riggs' family-operated farm at 2460 North Wixom Road.

Jean, daughter Roxanne Riggs and daughter-in-law Rita Riggs, all work full time planting, nurturing and harvesting hundreds of varieties of herbs and flowering plants, as well as creating decorative items and conducting craft and cooking classes, using their plants.

Husband Bob and son Scott also are involved in the business on a part-time basis.

Jean and Roxanne began the business when the family moved to the 10.5-acre farm to garden and raise horses in 1976. Sunshine Farm and Garden was a direct result of their passion for gardening.

"I can't remember when I didn't garden," reflected Jean, who never dreamed the farm would be so successful.

The farm's uniqueness stems from the fact it is the only place in this portion of Michigan open to the public that grows and sells both herbs and dried flowers.

"There's no other place around here where you can come to the farm and walk around and see everything as it grows," noted Jean.

While wandering the grounds, which are open during regular business hours free of charge, a number of theme gardens, such as the Shakespeare garden, can be enjoyed.

"Shakespeare was a very good gardener, very advanced for his time," explained Jean.

More taxpayers to be affected by 'AMT'

Once upon a time only the very wealthy had to be concerned about the alternative minimum tax (AMT), but the Tax Reform Act of 1986 has changed that.

More taxpayers than ever are expected to be affected by the alternative minimum tax for a number of reasons. First, the general cut in individual tax rates increases the likelihood the AMT will exceed a taxpayer's regular taxes. Second, Congress has added several new tax "preference" items that must be included when computing the AMT. Lastly, losses from passive investments must be added to your taxable income for AMT purposes even though, during the phase-in period, certain taxpayers can still partly claim these losses when computing their regular taxes. Some experts predict that four times as many people will be subject to the AMT as a result of these changes.

For those unfamiliar with the alternative minimum tax, the Michigan Association of CPAs offers this explanation: "The alternative minimum tax is an alternative way of calculating one's tax liability and determining the minimum amount of tax that must be paid by those taxpayers who have successfully reduced their regular tax liability."

The alternative minimum tax is the government's way of ensuring that at least some taxes are paid by those taxpayers who minimize their tax liability by taking advantage of tax preferences. The AMT must be calculated without the benefit of many of the tax breaks available under the regular system.

At first glance, the process might appear simple. You compute your taxes twice — once the standard way and again using the AMT. But, in actuality, understanding the rules and doing the necessary calculations are quite complex and a matter you might want to refer to a tax expert. But a basic understanding of the AMT and careful planning may help you save tax dollars by ascertaining that investment strategies to save tax dollars are not diluted by the alternative minimum tax.

The AMT applies to a broader base of income than used under regular tax rules. Using Form 6251 to compute the alternative minimum tax, you start with your adjusted gross income, increase it by tax preference items and reduce it by only certain deductions and exemptions. Among those items deductible when computing the AMT are casualty, theft and gambling losses, charitable contributions, medical expenses to the extent they exceed 10 percent of your adjusted gross income, and certain qualified interest expenses.

By contrast, state and local income taxes, real estate taxes, miscellaneous itemized deductions and consumer interest are some of the items not deductible in computing the AMT. The AMT allows an exemption of $40,000 for married couples filing jointly and $30,000 for singles. After you've adjusted your alternative minimum taxable income by the proper exemption, multiply it by 21 percent (up from 20 percent last year) to arrive at the AMT amount. If the alternative minimum tax is greater than your regular income tax, the IRS requires you to pay the AMT.

Higher income taxpayers should note. Starting with 1987 years, the exemptions referred to are reduced by 25 cents for each dollar the alternative minimum taxable income exceeds $112,500 for individual filers and $150,000 for joint returns. There is no exemption once income reaches $232,500 on an individual return and $310,000 on a joint return.

The Tax Reform Act retained previous tax preferences, modified some and added several new ones. The following is a list of some of the more common tax preferences, beginning with the three newest:

Net losses from certain passive investment activities:

The untaxed gain of post-December 31, 1986 charitable contributions of appreciated property (carryovers arising from contributions made before August 16, 1986 are not subject to the AMT);

Tax-exempt interest from certain private-purpose municipal bonds issued after August 7, 1986;

The excess of the fair market value of the stock received upon exercising the option over the exercise price (for purpose of the AMT, gain or loss on a subsequent sale of the security will be determined by increasing the basis by such excess amount).

The excess of accelerated depreciation over what would have been allowed under the straight-line method for real property placed in service before 1987.

The excess of the current write-off of intangible drilling costs (IDC) over the amount that would be deducted using 10-year amortization (or allowable cost depletion) to the extent that it exceeds 65 percent of the taxpayer's net oil and gas income.

Mining exploration and development expenses require an adjustment for the difference between the amount expensed and the amount that would be deducted had the expense (incurred or paid after December 31, 1986) been amortized over 10 years.

None of the general business credits can reduce an individual's AMT liability. Foreign tax credits, however, will be allowed against the AMT subject to certain limitations.

The new law does, however, provide for a new minimum tax carry-forward credit, which will be allowed only against regular tax liability. The credit is for the amount of post-1986 minimum tax liability relating to exclusion preferences (those having to do with the timing of income and deductions rather than permanent differences).

The credit will be available to offset future year's regular tax. Unused credits may be carried forward indefinitely.

If you think you might be subject to the alternative minimum tax, a tax expert can help determining what steps you might be able to take to avoid the tax or soften the blow.

Sunshine Farm offers help for herb gardens

"He understood the Victorian language of flowers, like a red rose means 'I love you.' Pansies are for thought and Rosemary is the herb of remembrance."

"He uses plants to identify seasons and natural conditions, and the only time he confuses them are in his dream sequences. He does this to let you know it is a dream," she continued.

Other gardens to be enjoyed are the circle garden, which is divided into culinary, dye, fragrant and medicinal sections, a Bible garden, a kitchen cutting garden, a perennial flower garden, a rock garden, and an area of old-fashioned roses. The stock gardens may also be inspected.

Coupled with the extensive varieties of plants and flowers available at the Sunshine Farm are the classes Jean teaches on how to grow, use and enjoy them.

Roxanne and Rita assist in the instruction, which takes place right in the herb barn where plants are dried and displays are set up.

Spring classes center on growing the herbs and the types of gardens that can be planted, such as culinary or fragrant. Fall classes focus on how to use what you've been growing for cooking, or crafts such as decorative baskets, potpourri and herb wreaths.

"Some people become upset when I teach as lightly as I do because we don't tell them what flowers to use or where to put them," said Jean, referring to her decorative craft classes.

"We offer suggestions and make bows, but no two people make the same wreath, and they all look nice," she added.

According to Jean's knowledge of herbal legends and folklore, wreaths have been around a long time and at one time were used for more religious connotations. As a symbol of the unbroken circles, it gives rise to the notion of the wedding band and life everlasting.

"It is just now enjoying a popularity that it's never known — that of being strictly decorative," Jean added, noting that most herbs have interesting and involved histories.

Culinary related classes are also popular. Today's health-conscious society, which advocates salt-free cooking, has given new popularity to herbs as a way of seasoning foods.

With Thanksgiving just around the corner, sage and savory should be kept in mind for turkey dressing and mugwort, if goose is served, to take away the wild flavor.

One doesn't have to be an expert on herbs to stop by the Sunshine Farm. "Our clientele range from those with extensive knowledge of herbs to those who read about it and think they may be something they'd like to get into or whose doctor suggested they get into it," explained Jean.

"The same goes for our classes. We have folks who've made wreaths before to people who have never touched a dried flower in their life," she added.

Jean Riggs feels that incorporating herbs into life can only improve its quality.

"If you have herbs growing outside your kitchen door, you feel guilty if you don't use them. When you do use them, you discover you really are a better cook and your meals are more healthful and more naturally flavorful," she noted.

In the way of decorations, she emphasizes how pleasant having natural things in your home can be.

"Just like fresh flowers, dried flowers add another dimension to your decorations. They set a country or Victorian tone that you don't get with art work or furniture," Jean added.

"Very few people can look at a well-done herb or botanical wreath and say that it is ugly," she laughed. "It has a universal appeal."

The Sunshine Farm and Garden is open Wednesday through Sunday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. May to December. For more information call 685-2204.

Municipal bonds becoming more attractive

Current yield levels and federal tax law changes have made municipal bonds more attractive for some investors than ever before. These bonds are issued by municipalities to finance special projects or expenditures and many of them now hold tax-exempt status under the Federal Tax Reform Act of 1986.

To decide if an investment in municipal bonds is right for you, you should calculate whether the tax law changes will increase or lower your taxes. Lower maximum income tax brackets may cut the tax bills of some households and individuals but fewer deductions are now allowed.

It may be wiser, therefore, to substitute tax-exempt income, such as interest earned on municipal bonds, for taxable income.

Under new Tax Reform Act regulations, municipal bonds classified as "Essential Purpose" bonds are exempt from federal income taxation. Essential Purpose bonds are issued for school districts, public utility projects, general obligation debt, public works or projects of public benefit. At current yields this makes them more attractive than Non-Essential Purpose bonds which include single-family housing bonds, some industrial development bonds, student loan bonds and others and are subject to the alternative minimum tax.

For municipal bonds issued before Aug. 8, 1986, interest income will continue to be tax-exempt for the life of the bond. These bonds retain their tax-exempt status regardless of when they were purchased or if they change hands.

When choosing between taxable and tax-exempt bonds, it is important to determine which will earn more spendable money. Because of an increasing supply of municipal bonds and the new, less progressive tax system, some experts predict that in the next few years municipal bonds will become less attractive relative to corporate bonds than they are at this point.

At current yield levels, tax-exempt municipal bonds represent a sound investment for most income levels. For investors in the 15 percent income tax bracket (under $28,000 on a joint return in 1987) they are comparable to most taxable bonds with higher yields because of their exempt status. In higher brackets, the tax-free advantage becomes even more important.

Realtors give advice on preparing homes

Homeowners looking forward to putting their properties on the market in the next six months are advised by the Metro MLS to get exteriors and grounds in top shape now.

"Most interior repairs and clean up can be done while the snow is falling, but the first impression formed as the prospective buyer drives up remains vital no matter the season," said Metro MLS President Jerome A. Delaney.

"As we move into fall, there is still time to take care of needed roofing painting and exterior repair work and to get landscaping in condition to give an inviting welcome."

Metro MLS is the state's largest multiple listing service.

Delaney also suggests photographs be made for showing cold weather shoppers what they can enjoy when warm weather returns.

Healthy looking lawns, shady trees, flowering shrubs, neatly trimmed evergreens and rich growths of annual or perennial flowers all are assets that can't be seen in winter," he stated. They usually represent a substantial investment that a new owner will not have to face unless changes are desired. Photos in lighting that grounds are well-cared for also give a message that the rest of the property has been given the same type of care," Delaney said.

With recent mortgage rate increases tightening the residential market, Delaney expects increased competition for buyers in the coming months.

The rising price trend experienced through most of 1987, however, is causing more buyers to consider the investment benefits of home ownership," he stated. "Many appear to be increasingly concerned about inflationary trends now appearing in the economy and recognize that home investment can be an effective hedge."

Delaney provided a profile of 1987 homebuyers as revealed in a National Association of Realtors survey earlier this year.

Median income was $42,271 with 44 percent over the $50,000 figure. This compares with a $30,005 median family income across the nation in the same month as the survey. More than 70 percent of homes sold were going to married couples including 44 percent who were married with children. Accounting for nearly 20 percent of sales, single buyers continued to represent a strong market segment.

Median age for buyers was just over 33 with the ages of 25 to 34 representing 48 percent of new owners followed by 33 percent for the 45 to 64 age group. First-time buyers represented 38 percent with repeat buyers totaling 62 percent.

"National figures for July, the latest available, show a median home price of $85,800," Delaney said, with only about 26 percent selling for under $60,000.

"In the areas of Wayne, Oakland and Livingston Counties covered by our members, the median sales price in August was still under $66,000. Nearly 44 percent were selling for under $60,000 and about one-third of all homes sold at under $50,000."

Businesses encouraged to 'light up'

Southern Michigan is a little brighter this fall as Detroit Edison marks the first anniversary of a program which encourages businesses to illuminate their building exteriors.

The "Light Touch" program, introduced in Sept. 1986, offers a $100 cash incentive for each new 1,000 watts of floodlighting controlled by a photocell.

Building owners also receive $50 for every new 1,000 watts of lighting operated by a timer for more than six hours each night. Many light-fixture manufacturers are cooperating with Detroit Edison by offering incentives on their floodlighting products.

"The program is designed to lower the initial costs of improving a building's security and appearance with lighting," said Mark A. Switala, Detroit Edison lighting engineer. "With the incentives, the lighting many building owners would like to install is more affordable."

With winter on the way, Switala explained, it's a good time to consider adding outdoor lighting.

"It's getting darker earlier each day," he said, "so having a well-lit building is even more important."

Switala said floodlighting helps increase the visibility of companies and organizations by drawing attention to their buildings at night. At the same time, he explained, floodlighting enhances the security and safety of the structures, lighting the way for employees and visitors.

A wide variety of businesses and institutions throughout Detroit Edison's Southeastern Michigan service area have taken advantage of the program. They include the American Natural Resources Building in Detroit, Manufacturers National Bank headquarters in Detroit, Leonard's A&W restaurant in Bad Axe, Harmony House Records & Tapes in Troy, The Detroit Club and Faith Lutheran Church in Livonia.

Information on the "Light Touch" program, manufacturers' incentives and financing options is available by calling a Detroit Edison lighting specialist at (313) 237-9599.

Wise consumers must learn refund policies

While laws protect consumers from misrepresented or defective goods, there are no laws that require merchants to offer refunds, exchanges or credits on merchandise they sell, the BBB warns.

These voluntary practices have become widespread among retailers wishing to make shopping in their stores as attractive as possible to customers. But consumers should never assume that merchandise can be returned unless this policy is specifically stated by the store. Return and exchange practices vary from store to store, so customers should understand the store's policy when making a purchase.

Virtually all stores with exchange or refund policies require that the product be returned within a specified time period, in new condition, with all packaging in place, and with the original sales slip.

Because of health laws, these return policies seldom apply to underwear, bathing suits or hats.

The BBB emphasizes that customers should not confuse return and exchange policies with product warranties. Products often come with stated or implied warranties from their manufacturers. Read the warranty before returning a defective product to the retailer.

HOMEGROWN WINES

Good times for state's winemakers

By Lora Helou

As word has made it through the grapevine that wine connoisseurs' palates have changed over the years, Michigan wine makers are trying to adapt to the new market and carve out their own share.

While Michigan vintners (wine makers) were basking in the glory of producing the inexpensive but popular sweet wines, ports and sherries, the fruits of their labor would soon become passe.

Until the 1970s, Michigan's wine industry relied on the Concord grape, excellent for producing sweet juices and jellies. But then, national trends shifted toward dry, white wines.

"The Michigan wine market has enjoyed a resurgence lately, mostly due to the fact that wine makers are producing some quality wines — precisely what the consumer wants," explains David Brown, of the Michigan Beverage News.

"Consumers turned away from the ports and sherries, which were Michigan standards with Concord grapes, to discover that they liked drier table wines they could enjoy with dinner," he said.

Michigan boasts some 18 wineries with nearly 35 tasting rooms around the state, registered with the newly-instituted Michigan Grape and Wine Industry Council, an extension of the Department of Agriculture.

Our sandy soil and cool, coastal climate is known to many to be excellent for growing apples and cherries. Now grapes are getting some respect. Traditional appellations, or growing belts, are located in the Southwestern corner of the state and the Traverse City-Leelanau Peninsula region.

Other successful wineries in our area include the Seven Lakes Vineyard in Fenton, Fink Winery in Dundee and the Northville Winery (or better known as the Parmenter Cider Mill).

Taking over the limelight from the concord grape in Michigan wine production is the vinifera, a French-American hybrid, a hearty variety which has proven to be adaptable to the cooler climate and shorter growing season. Years of study and experimenting with the vinifera have yielded the many Michigan wines.

Steven Scheffel, a Lansing Community College wine instructor and Goodrich's Wine Shop wine manager, calls Stanley Howell the "connecting thread" in the state, weaving together long-term views on grape growing and short-term gains in pleasing consumers.

Howell is a Michigan State University horticulturalist who has planted over 25 varieties of grapes, discovering the French-American hybrids such as vidal, seyval, vignoles, chancellor and chambourcin did very well in Michigan.

"Howell has been growing grapes for over 20 years in Michigan and he has been doing what the wineries can't do. While they are concerned with profits and making it year-to-year, Howell has done a great deal of long term research," said Scheffel.

Grape guru Howell believes Michigan can capture a strong share of the wine-producing market. The vinifera can grow in the Northern United States and

Making your own wine is a delicious art

By Melody Arndt

"A procrastinator's dream" is how home winemaker Mark Lucke of Brighton describes his hobby. Lucke took up winemaking at the suggestion of his wife, Sue, learning the process from a relative of a friend.

"It's fairly easy," Lucke insists. "Winemaking is something that you don't have to get to right away — you can let it wait until you're ready."

As with many hobbyists, Lucke's first exposure to winemaking occurred at an early age. "When I was growing up in New Jersey, our neighbor made wine, growing his own grapes. I remember his huge grape press ... That was my first taste of the wine business."

If you have toyed with the idea of producing your own wine but don't know where to start, one word of advice: do not begin at your local bookstore or library. You will likely end up with either too little or too much information, either too brief or too technical in content.

Brochures that cover the necessary details, but that are not so intense that they would frighten you away from winemaking, are available from most vineyards and also from winemaking supply stores. With this information, you should be able to concentrate on the steps necessary in the processing of grapes, or other materials, into wine.

Just what are you getting into? The actual process of making wine begins with obtaining the grapes. Several options are open to you. Purists may purchase grapes by the crate at Eastern Market or by placing an order with a local produce supplier who will purchase the grapes at the market for you.

Mark Lucke opted for an easier starting point. He purchased grape juice from a winery in northeastern Pennsylvania. The juice is available from many wineries nationwide. One benefit of purchasing grape juice or concentrate is that the pressing and juice extraction process has been accomplished for you. Additionally, the winery will label the juice with sug-gestant information, otherwise known as the Brix, which will be important later.

If you have decided to purchase fresh grapes instead of juice, you must invest in a few supplies to prepare the fruit. You will need something to smash the fruit and pulp. By the way, clean feet are still preferred by many as the best way to smash grapes.

After smashing the grapes (a non-wood pestle works fine) the next stage involves using a press to extract the juice. Winemaking literature will advise you as to how long to allow the "must" — the solution of grapes, stems and juice — to rest before pressing. In the making of full-bodied red wines, it may be recommended that the must be allowed to sit for several days before pressing. It is partially this initial fermentation of pulp that results in a richer red wine.

So, you have your juice, by one method or another, and you are ready to make wine. You will need a large crock or container that will hold about five gallons of fermenting juice, allowing space for the foaming of fermentation. Lucke used a plastic garbage can, although many experts feel that the plastic may impart a taste to the final product.

The juice goes into the container and, if you do not already know the Brix (sugar) content of the juice, you will need a hydrometer to measure it. Sugar content is extremely important, as it is the sugar which will convert to alcohol. Too little or too much sugar can be disastrous. In most cases, sugar will need to be added to bring the juice up to the proper level.

Another important ingredient is acid. Without the proper acid content, your wine may be subject to disease. Acid testing devices are available and acid content may be altered as easily as either diluting the juice or adding lemon juice.

An important part of the initial winemaking process is the addition of a chemical — potassium metabisulfite — which will aid in preserving the wine

AAUW meets Tuesday

"Conservative Investment Strategies for Women" is the topic for the Nov. 10 meeting at 7:30 p.m. of the Northville Branch of the American Association of University Women being held in the Amerman Elementary School library, located at Eight Mile and Center streets.

David Winkler of the Farmington Hills office of Merrill Lynch will tell those attending about his philosophy of "emphasizing conservative investment strategy for income and tax purposes."

His presentation will emphasize special financial needs of women, whether they are single, married, divorced or widowed.

Guests are invited to attend the meeting. Any graduate holding a baccalaureate or higher degree from an accredited college or university is invited to contact Joann Dayton at 349-3197 about membership.

Christian Women list show

Christian Women's Club is holding a Fashion Flair luncheon from noon to 2 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 12, at Sveden House on Grand River near Orchard Lake.

Everyone in the area is encouraged to attend. Reservations should be made by Nov. 9 by calling 422-5533.

Tickets are $6. Chic accessories will be featured. The program also will include special music.

A free nursery will be provided; those attending should provide a snack lunch for their children. Call Nancy Odom, chairman, at 349-8333, to make nursery reservations.

Archbishop to preside at rededication

Rededication of Our Lady of Victory Catholic Church in Northville will take place in a ceremony at 12:30 p.m. Sunday Mass at the church at 770 Thayer.

Archbishop Edmund P. Szoka will be presiding.

The Concelebrated Mass will include the Rev. Frank Pollie, pastor, the Rev. John Budde of St. John's Seminary and vicariate priests.

The renovation proceeded along the liturgical reforms promulgated by Vatican Council II as well as arch-diocesan guidelines for art and architecture, the church notes.

Rex Reitenbach of Saginaw was the architect of the expanded church-school facilities. State and city officials reviews and approved his safety and barrier-free designs, a chief feature being the raising of the parking lot, with a land fill, to meet the main-floor church level, church officers point out.

The renovation includes commissioned art works by Suzanne Young, sculptor, faceted-glass windows by Sean White Studios, Florida, a rebuilt organ by the Burton K. Tidwell Associates of Pennsylvania, and a totally new sound system engineered by Mack Simoni of Saginaw.

A reception in the social hall on the lower level of the church will follow the rededication ceremonies.

Church sets 'Messiah' rehearsal, singles events

"Messiah" rehearsals, two special Single Place events and a divorce recovery workshop are scheduled at First Presbyterian Church of Northville.

church is presenting George Frederick Handel's "Messiah" at 6 p.m. Dec. 6 at the church at 200 E. Main. The choir and soloists will be accompanied by a full orchestra. Singers from the church and community will comprise the choir.

Since rehearsals are few, singers interested in singing the "Messiah" are asked to be familiar with the score and should plan to attend all three rehearsals, which are scheduled for Mondays, Nov. 16 and 30, from 7:30-9 p.m. and Saturday, Dec. 5, from 10 a.m. to noon with the orchestra.

Singers interested in joining the church choir for this event should simply attend the Nov. 16 rehearsal. It is not necessary to be a member of the church to participate.

Admission to the concert will be by tickets, which are $5 for adults, $3 for senior citizens and students through college age with children under 12 free.

Place, an organization to provide friendship, caring and sharing for all single adults, will hold two Sunday evening programs at the church.

The first, at 7 p.m. Nov. 8, in the church library/lounge is presented by Shirley Grossman, a clinical psychologist, on the topic, "Visualization." The speaker will demonstrate ways of making the technique help change lives of those who would like a new job or partner.

Paul Seaser will speak at 7 p.m. Nov. 22 on the use of personal classified ads in finding someone special. He has spoken to several singles groups on the use of personal ads, a social trend of the eighties.

Both programs are free. For more information, call Jim Russell at the church, 349-0911.

A seven week divorce recovery workshop will begin at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Nov. 9, in the Presbyterian Church library. On consecutive Mondays discussions will cover such topics as stages of grief, networking, helping children through divorce, passages of divorce, legal aspects, role of the church and friendship and dating.

The Rev. Jim Russell notes that the series is timed to benefit and support especially those going through the divorce process during the holiday season.

A $20 donation covers the cost of textbook, workshop materials and refreshments. Assistance is available for those with financial need. To register call the church office at 349-0911 or come to the Nov. 9 session.

Make your pinecone wreath Saturday

"Come make a wreath with us" is the invitation being extended to the community for the 11th year as the Northville Cooperative Preschool states its annual pinecone wreath workshop.

The workshop will be held from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. this Saturday, Nov. 7, at the First United Methodist Church of Northville at Eight Mile near Taft Road.

All materials and instruction are provided in the workshop. Sponsors report that it takes about one hour to make one wreath.

Members of the cooperative gather a wide variety of pinecones and nuts to use in making the wreaths.

Three sizes are available to make: 12 inch at a cost of $14; a 14 inch wreath at a cost of $16; and an 18 inch wreath at a cost of $20. A senior citizen discount deducts $2 from the price of each wreath.

A pinecone centerpiece for a coffee table or dinner table also may be created with the addition of votive lights.

The workshop is a major fundraiser for the cooperative, one of the oldest preschools in the Detroit area.

Reservations are not needed for the workshop, but participants are asked to wear casual clothing. For more information about the workshop call Mary Lou Haas, 349-1039, or Mary Reece, 348-4193.

Dana Moore, 4, who attends the Northville Cooperative Preschool, 'models' newest pinecone wreath, the kind Saturday's workshop will produce.

Art reception Sunday

By JEAN DAY

From a winetasting celebration to a reception for 83 area artists, there's much going on this weekend.

Northville area artists will be gathering for a special reception sponsored by the Northville Arts Commission at 5:30 p.m. Sunday at the M-Care Facility on Griswold. Commission member Jackie Murray reports that the staff and management have donated use of the facility for the reception.

Among the 83 artists invited are those who participated in the commission-sponsored art market during Autumnfest '87. The reception is planned as an opportunity for the artists to network, display some of their works and to meet residents of the community who are interested in their work. For information call 348-7026.

The Northville Arts Commission has been actively building support for its Fine Art Series I and reports it now is approaching its goal — publication of the book of poetry written by Kathleen Ripley Leo and illustrated by Allen Berlinski.

"Town One South" is the title of the book, taken from the original designation of the Northville-Plymouth area of historic Range 8 East.

One of the poems in this selection, "At Last Everything Is Safe" (about the Ford Plant in Northville), has been nominated for the prestigious Pushcart Prize, the commission announces. This literary award is an anthology of best written poems and prose on the U.S. literary scene.

"We are proud of our part and congratulate Kathleen Ripley Leo on this notable nomination," the commission adds, thanking individuals and corporations who have given financial support to the project. The commission notes that more financial assistance still is needed with contributions in any amount welcome. For more information call Northville City Hall — Arts Commission, 349-1300.

Valerie Toth, John D. Church married at OLV

Valerie Ann Toth, daughter of Stephen and Arliss Toth of 41936 Waterfall Drive, and John David Church of Plymouth exchanged vows and rings in a 6 p.m. ceremony Oct. 16 at Our Lady of Victory Church.

The bridegroom is the son of John M. Church of El Segundo, Calif., and Caroline Church of Saratoga Springs, N.Y.

Father Frank Pollie officiated at the service which included the bride's father's singing "Sunrise Sunset," "One Hand, One Heart," "The Wedding Song" by Flor Peters and Schubert's "Ave Maria."

The bride wore a traditional ivory gown styled with lace sleeves and bodice, and skirt extending into a cathedral train. Her bridal veil of illusion was fingertip length.

The bride's bouquet was of fresh tea roses, baby's breath, pearls, carnations, silk flowers, miniature orchids and English Ivy.

Cynthia Hogue of Denver was maid of honor. Deborah Fox of Brighton and Jennifer Church of Saratoga Springs, sister of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids. They wore teal colored, tea length dresses of lace over satin and carried bouquets of fresh tea roses and baby's breath with silk flowers and miniature orchids.

Mark Church of Fort Wayne, Ind., was best man for his brother. Ushers were Stephen R. Toth of Northville, brother of the bride, Sean Connolly of Saratoga Springs and Jan Willemse of Dearborn.

A sit-down dinner reception, with dancing following for 150 guests, was held at the Holiday Inn West in Livonia.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN CHURCH

The newlyweds honeymooned at a family condo at Myrtle Beach, S.C. They will be living in the home they are purchasing in Livonia.

The couple had met when the bridegroom came to Miesel/Sysco to take a position, and the bride was employed there in personnel. She has an associate degree in food service management from Ferris State College and is attending Madonna College for her bachelor's degree. The bridegroom is a graduate of the Culinary Institute of America in Hyde Park, N.Y.

Communi-Call unit able to alert hospital if resident has problems

Marjorie Morrow, 77, likes the independence of having her own place. She also likes the assurance of having someone around. Because of a Communi-Call unit, installed by St. Mary Hospital (located in Livonia) in her Northville home, she has both.

On the evening of May 31, having this Communi-Call device, she believes, saved her life.

The unit, a voice-to-voice communication system, enabled her to seek immediate help when she began to experience difficulty in breathing.

Pressing the button of the pendant worn on a cord around her neck, she was in touch instantly with a specially trained computer operator at the 24-hour Communi-Call Support Center. The Northville rescue squad, notified that an emergency situation existed, arrived momentarily to help her.

Since the King's Mill resident's first attack of heart failure in August last year, she has kept the Communi-Call unit close by. "If I hadn't had the unit and immediate attention, I probably wouldn't have made it," she said.

Emergency department personnel at St. Mary in Livonia had been alerted by the Communi-Call operator and were expecting her. After the problem was diagnosed, she was placed in a monitored bed.

Communi-Call also can be used in non-emergency situations, to help prevent an emergency, or to bring comfort to a lonely person, hospital administrators explained.

Information about Communi-Call can be obtained by contacting the St. Mary Hospital public relations department at 313-464-4800, Ext. 2354.

Saving energy is nice. Saving money is great!

If you heat all you can probably save big bucks with a small investment in energy efficiency. In fact, a study conducted by the Michigan Commerce Department Energy Administration found that one out of every three homes studied could save $200 per year, every year. If they put a new, high-efficiency burner in their oil furnace! Think about yourself for a change. Put a little money into your current oil furnace — and make some plans for that extra cash you'll have on hand!

Write the Michigan Petroleum Association or the Michigan Department of Commerce for more information, or contact a heating oil specialist in your area.

It's 40th Goodwill antique show

Junior Group of Goodwill Industries announces that it will have several outstanding attractions to mark the 40th anniversary antique show and sale this weekend at the Michigan State Fairgrounds.

Show days are Friday, from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m., Saturday, 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. and Sunday, 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. A champagne decorator tour is a first and is planned from 4:30 p.m. Saturday featuring decorators Robert Edgar Lee of Grosse Pointe, Bonnie L. Meyer of West Bloomfield, Kasey Werner Pierson and Barb Seichter of Bloomfield Hills. Visitors will be able to tour the show with the decorators who will show how antiques can blend with any type of decor.

Designer jewelry is an outstanding attraction of this show. The 80-year-old father of a member of the Goodwill group, in a family that has been in the jewelry business for decades, has created new pieces of jewelry from pieces that have been donated. He used many of his own antique chains to do so.

Sponsors report these will be in the Goodwill booth at an "astonishingly low cost."

Six "Little Minky" handsewn teddy bears will be found in the Goodwill boutique. Among them will be "Goody Willie," an irresistible all white mink teddy bear. The bears, sewn from donated mink coats, were a hit at last year's show.

Forty five dealers from Michigan and throughout the country will be exhibiting 18th and 19th century American and English furniture, silver, glass, crystal and Chinese imports at the show, the longest running antique show in Detroit.

Barbara Smith, wife of former General Motors board chairman Roger Smith, hosted a preview party for committee members. She also had been working with members at her "summer shop" to create dolls, lace pillows and other items.

Fur coats again will be sold in the Goodwill booth. The pantry show will feature pickles, jams, jellies and chili-sauce.

Reservations are required for the opening night preview party at $30 a person tonight and for the champagne decorator tour at $15, which includes the general admission charge. Call 540-3859 to make reservations.

Admission at the door is $5, or $4 for senior citizens and groups of 15 or more.

quested at the door. More than 68 exhibitors will offer quilts, smocked children's dresses, jewelry, wooden toys and Christmas items as well as tole work and stained glass. Snacks and refreshments will be available.

A holiday arts and crafts sale will be held from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Nov. 14 at West Bloomfield High School, 4925 Orchard Lake Road, under sponsorship of the West Bloomfield Community Education Department.

More than 100 selected crafters will exhibit handcrafted items. Admission is free. Two featured crafters from Northville are Lynda Hohnacki with personalized wooden ornaments and Diane Scheerhorn with decorated slat baskets and banners.

ing a Holiday Bazaar from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Dec. 5 and currently is selling booth spaces at $25 to area craftspeople. Those interested may call the church at 453-0190.

A "Community Gathering" bazaar will be held at the Hayes Jones Community Center, 235 Wessen Street, Pontiac, from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Nov. 6-7. Ethnic foods, art, handicrafts, baked goods and jewelry will be featured.

The event will include a street dance and entertainment by local dance troupes.

It is sponsored by the African Heritage Cultural Center and the Community and Human Services Department in conjunction with the City of Pontiac.

An art auction is being sponsored by Most Holy Trinity Church, 1050 Porter Street in Detroit, beginning at 3 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 15 with a preview at 2 p.m. It will be held in the school cafeteria across the street from the church. Donation is $2.

The church is holding the art auction to help purchase supplies for its medical clinic St. Francis Cabrini Clinic was established in 1950 as a free clinic to serve Detroit. All medical services and some of the supplies are donated by area physicians and nurses and medical supply houses.

The auction, by Oxford Art Galleries, is being held, the church reports, to help keep the clinic doors open another year. "Maybe you could do some of your Christmas shopping with us," sponsors suggest, noting that art works range in price from $5 to $2,000 with many in the $20-$80 range.

Town Hall to focus on screen stars

Multi-talented Sheila MacRae will tell her Northville Town Hall audience all about "The Ladies Who Last" when she appears as the second speaker in the current series at 11 a.m. next Thursday, Nov. 12, at the Sheraton Oaks in Novi.

MacRae will sing — Gershwin, Porter, Coward, Sondheim — and will reminisce about life, love and career. She will play roles of the actresses from yesteryear who lived "life on the wicked stage" as well as the current crop of "ladies of the theatre."

Famous for her satire, MacRae portrays Elizabeth Taylor, Dinah Shore, Olivia Newton John, Jackie Onassis, Barbra Streisand and others with flair and humor.

SHEILA MACRAE

The showstopper is her tribute to "all of the ladies in the entertainment business who are over 40 — from Helen Hayes, Mary Martin, Ethel Merman, Julie Harris to Kim Stanley."

MacRae follows Terese Bloomingtondale who opened town hall's 27th season in October. Others appearing in the 1987-88 series sponsored by Our Lady's League of Our Lady of Victory Church will be James Humes and Helen Thomas.

Michigan wine industry exhibiting new strengths

Canada, but several Michigan wineries already had a jump on the wine-making industry.

"We know that the grapes can ripen in one growing season and they ripen one month earlier than the concord varieties. With the extended geography and the changing nature of the wine industry itself, Michigan has a strong standing," he remarked.

At a recent Michigan State Fair wine competition, Good Harbor Trillium, a dry white wine produced by Good Harbor Vineyards in Lake Leelanau, was chosen the best of show in the annual competition.

Howell named other up-and-coming Michigan white wine grapes as Vidal, a semi-sweet German style with crisp fruit flavor, and Seyval, a dry, crisp wine without barrel-aging and vignoles, often regarded as Michigan's best white wine with citrusy characteristics.

New red grapes include: Chancellor, rich wine aged in oak, grown only in the southwest; Chambourcin, described as a rich, mouth-filling wine grape; and Marechal Foch de Chaunac, a hearty wine grape.

To confirm what many vintners, wine experts and conophiles (wine lovers) already know, State Liquor Control Commission statistics indicate Michigan wine sales are steadily on the rise.

In 1985, a total of 1,174,418.6 liters of wine made with over 75 percent of Michigan grapes and under 16 percent alcohol content were sold through Michigan wineries. That number compares to 1,206,304.2 liters last year.

Responding to the increased consumer pressure for available tasting rooms and Michigan wine samples, the Liquor Control Commission has relaxed its rules pertaining to wine tasting facilities.

Although open bottles for sampling in retail stores is still strictly prohibited, the state does now allow wineries to have a tasting room and offer sales at its winery and at an off-premise location, said Richard Peters, of the LCC's wholesale analysis division. St. Julian's Winery, based in Paw Paw, has tasting rooms located in Frankenthum, Holly and Parma.

"With the greater availability of Michigan wines at tasting rooms throughout the state and progressive restaurants that are serving the wines by the glass and bottle, people are trying it, liking it and coming back for more," Scheffel concluded.

Making wine can be a delicious treat

from spoilage. At the same time, this additive virtually kills any undesirable yeasts present in the juice, preparing for the introduction of a more controlled yeast.

The yeast that winemakers add to the juice is the cause of fermentation. The yeast produces bubbling and frothing throughout the fermentation process, making alcohol in the process and frequently making a mess if less than adequate open space has been left for the must to expand.

After the introduction of yeast, Lucke transfers the juice to a carboy by way of a siphon. The carboy is simply a narrow-necked jug, the sort that we might associate with cider. One caution: don't fill your vessel too full, as all of that fermentation leads to expansion. The carboy is then topped off with an airtight device or "bubbler" which allows air out of the bottle but not back into the wine where it might well spoil the solution.

Now is the easy part that Lucke promised procrastination. "You can wait a few months or a year," he explains, "or until all activity has ceased in the carboy." The wine is then siphoned into another carboy, leaving behind a layer of sediment at the bottom of the first container. This process is called "racking" and may be repeated several times before finally ending in bottling your wine.

"(Procrastination's possible) you can wait a few months or a year, or until all activity has ceased in the carboy."

— Winemaker Mark Lucke

Bottling also offers several options ranging from the thrifty saving of old bottles to buying new. If corks are to be used, and they are recommended by many winemakers, a corker is necessary.

From start to finish in the winemaking process, cleanliness is of the utmost importance. Antiseptic cleanliness is not as important to your health as it is an impact upon the taste of your final product. No harmful germs will survive the fermentation process. As one pamphlet on the subject emphasizes, "You may find it easy to make a wine which will give you a hangover, but it will be just about impossible for you to make one which will kill you."

A little touch of mildew on the grape skins or the faintest trace of mold or vinegar in your container may turn your delicately flavored wine into a disaster. For this reason, many winemakers recommend, in addition to a good soap and hot water cleaning of utensils and containers, the use of a readily obtainable and inexpensive cleaning agent known as sal-soda or sodium carbonate.

If all of this seems a bit much for "just a few bottles of wine," consider that a good deal of what you need to know has been condensed into these few paragraphs. Also, there is help available out there. The Canton

Country Market — whose owner is an avid winemaker — has available a full line of everything that you need to make your own wine, including the all important literature, and a selection of juice concentrates.

For those who would like to keep it as simple as possible, winemaking kits are available — just right for holiday gift giving.

By the way, don't let your fear of breaking the law interfere with your foray into the world of home winemaking. Winemaking at home is legal — up to 200 gallons per household — as long as you do not attempt to sell it.

People of all nationalities have been making wine for centuries. Chances are that the Romans did not have a hydrometer on hand to measure the Brix or antiseptics to sterilize equipment. What they did have was desire and experience. If you have the desire, the experience is a commodity that you may obtain through a little patience and trial and error. Winemaking is more than a scientific process; it is an art. The personal side of winemaking is likely what keeps modern man so interested in the process; that and a desire to create a useful, delicious drink from nature's bounty.

The Northville Record

Mustangs fall to 'Cats, 27-6

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

For the first time in 15 years, the Novi football team was able to complete the regular season without a defeat — and for the first time this season, the Northville gridders were soundly beaten.

En route to wrapping up a storybook regular season, the Wildcats downed the Mustangs 27-6 last Friday (Oct. 30) to go 9-0 on the year and head into round one of the MHSAA playoffs with a season full of momentum. Northville, on the other hand, finished its second straight 2-7 campaign under second-year Coach Darrel Schumacher.

"Not many teams have the opportunity to go 9-0 but we were fortunate to have a talented group that can do it," Novi mentor John Osborne said. "You have to have a lot of things go your way in the course of nine games to pull it off — like staying away from key injuries and having some luck."

Last Friday's clash was actually a very close, well-played affair, but three big plays by Novi turned a potential barnburner into yet another routine Wildcat victory. A blocked punt late in the first quarter set up Novi's first score, and after the Mustangs responded with a 58-yard scoring drive to start the second quarter, speedy back Randy Parker took the ensuing kickoff and raced 86-yards for the touchdown. The 'Cats added another T.D. in the third, thanks to a big catch and run by Parker, and wrapped up the scoring on a 34-yard touchdown run by quarterback Brian Schram early in the final quarter.

"(Novi) had three big plays on us, and they all hurt," Schumacher said. "I don't believe the score indicated how well we played. You take away the blocked punt, the kickoff return and Schram's nice run, and it was 7-6."

The fireworks started early as Novi's Stacy Maresh blocked the Mustang punt on the game's second possession. Jason Korte set up the T.D. with a nice 12-yard run up the middle, and sophomore sensation Craig Berry finished it off from a yard out. Mike McGuffin's point after attempt with 54 seconds left in the quarter gave the 'Cats a 7-0 advantage.

But Northville wasn't about to give up. The Mustangs took over on their own 42 following the kickoff and marched straight down the field with surprising ease. No team this season has moved the football against the stingy Novi defense with such effectiveness.

"Northville's offensive success early was a surprise to us and it was also disturbing," Osborne admitted.

Mike Karfis capped the 58-yard march with a five-yard scoring run, but Todd Daniels missed the extra point.

"Our kids woke up after Novi scored and we were pleased with the way they responded offensively," Schumacher said. "We executed like we've been hoping. Paul Basile, Mike Karfis and Mike Yards all did some nice hard running."

Despite the score, the missed chance to tie the game may have had a mental effect on Northville as Parker took the kickoff at his own 14, cut to the outside, broke one tackler at midfield and outraced the rest of the pursuit for the score.

"The blocked punt and Parker's return were turns in momentum for us," Osborne pointed out. "When he gets the ball in his hands, he is dangerous."

But Northville got the ball back and continued to move it. The Mustangs went from their own 24 to the Novi 32 before linebacker Bret Keir sacked the ballcarrier for a loss on a fourth down situation. Schumacher called the play "the turning point." Just before halftime, Northville moved inside the Novi 40, but sophomore defensive tackle Bob Ahrens sacked quarterback Greg Price to end yet another Mustang scoring bid.

"In the first half, the blocked punt and the kick return were the key plays," Schumacher said. "Other than that, it was a stalemate."

The Wildcats took command on their first possession of the second half, taking the ball 62-yards for a touchdown to pad the lead, 21-6. Parker's 22-yard pass/run combination set up a 13-yard touchdown burst by Korte on a third and long situation.

"It was really up to our offense to move the ball and create some momentum the other way and we got a great drive out of it," Osborne said. "At this point, we still hadn't shown we could stop their offense so we needed all the points we could get."

Midway through the third quarter, the Mustangs started moving down the field again, but a 40-plus yard drive came to an abrupt halt when Parker made a brilliant diving interception of a Price pass in the flats. It was to be Northville's last real scoring threat.

"The play was conceived right and the pass was there but Parker has the speed to catch up to the ball," Schumacher said.

"I don't know how Randy got there," Osborne admitted. "The kid was open and the pass was there and the next thing I knew, Parker was diving for it."

On the first play of the fourth quarter, Schram took the ball on a quarterback bootleg, made a nice cut-back at the line of scrimmage and raced 34-yards for the game's final score with 11:48 remaining.

"We thought we had (Schram), but he is a very good athlete," Schumacher said. "He made an excellent cut, got into the clear and outran us."

Northville outgained Novi 216-181 in total offense and had a 14-9 first down advantage, but the big difference was on the scoreboard. Defensively, Todd Daniels (eight solo tackles, two assists), Mark Stevens (four solos, three assists) and Scott Belliston (two interceptions) led the way. On offense, Paul Basile carried the ball 14 times for 59 yards.

"I think Northville certainly showed they can play with us," Osborne said. "I thought both sides made nice accounts of themselves."

As for Schumacher, he found some positives in an otherwise disappointing defeat.

"From our standpoint, there were positives," he said. "We moved the ball, we had more yards and first downs than they did — we just didn't win the battle on the scoreboard."

four-minute mark of the fourth quarter.

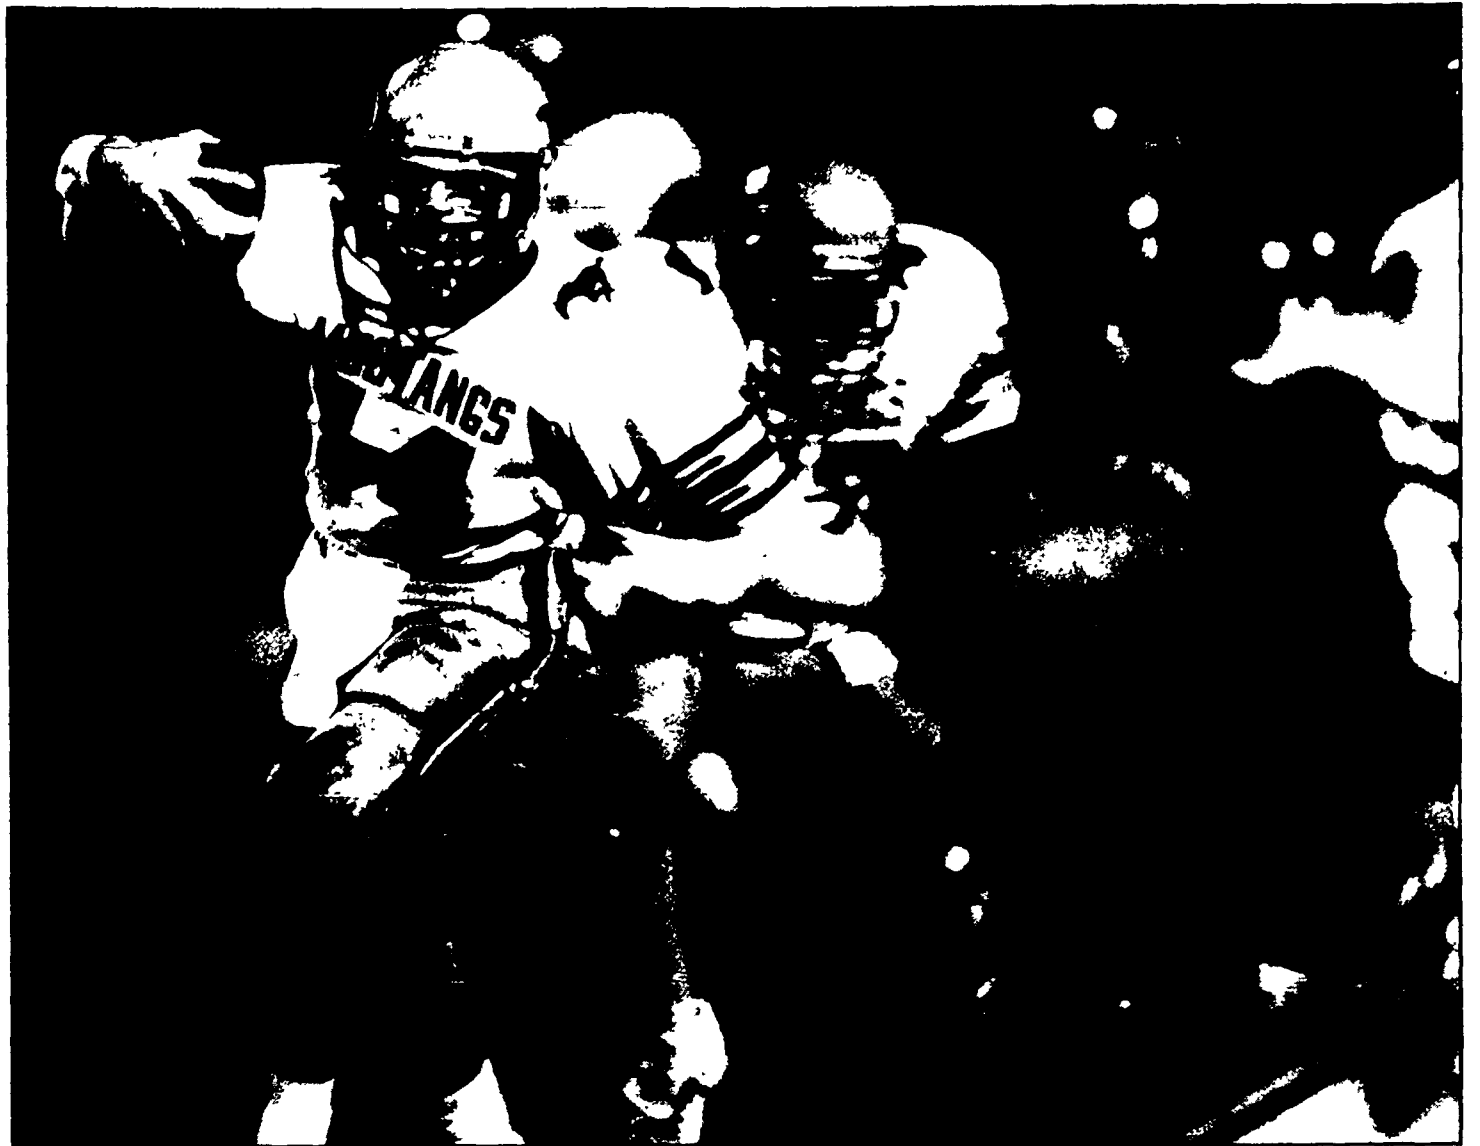

"We keyed ourselves up for this game, so it was very difficult on all of us to lose it," Coach Ed Kritch said. "We played the first quarter on an emotional high, but it's impossible to keep that level throughout the game."

Right out of the blocks, the Mustangs were sensational. Behind the inside scoring of Debbie Stevens (nine points in first quarter) and the outside scoring of Karen Baird (seven points in first quarter), Northville established early control and opened up a 20-0 lead heading into the second quarter.

"We played our best quarter of the year," Kritch said. "We jumped on them and to have an 11-point lead after only eight minutes of play against a quality team is really saying something."

The Mustangs shot over 50 percent from the field in the first quarter and held Western star center Dianne Hall

Northville quarterback Greg Price (14) turns up-field on a keeper against the Novi defense

Mutual respect abounds in local rivalry

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

Last Friday's football clash between Novi and Northville featured two teams headed in the opposite direction. Novi — at 9-0 — is now preparing for its first Class A playoff game ever while the Mustangs are packing up the gear for another long off-season following a 2-7 campaign.

But Friday's 27-6 Novi win was actually much closer than a lot of people would think. With the exception of a few big plays by the Wildcats, the game could have easily been a low-scoring stalemate. As usual, Northville's undermanned team played with a lot of heart and stayed competitive in the game until the final quarter.

But on the other side of the coin, Novi did what no other team could do this season — beat the Mustangs handily. The 'Cats three-touchdown margin of victory was by far Northville's most lopsided defeat of the year. Farmington Harrison, the state's number one ranked Class B team, slipped by the Mustangs 14-6 and another traditional powerhouse — North Farmington — nipped Northville 7-0.

"I don't think there is any doubt that Northville has been playing up to the level of their opponents this season and they certainly gave us a battle,"

Novi Coach John Osborne acknowledged. "We knew they had a stingy defense, but I was impressed with their overall team quickness."

The bottom line was that in the end, Novi's talented players won out over Northville's less-talented, but hard-working players. Both teams wanted the win but the Wildcats needed it to nail down the home field advantage in round one of the MHSAA playoffs. One thing is for sure, these two teams have a lot of respect for each other.

"I have a lot of respect for Novi and John Osborne," Schumacher said. "They have a super defense and, really, a good all-around team."

"In the playoffs, Novi's got every chance in the world to be successful. They have the speed, the offensive weapons and a unique defense that is very physical and that poses problems for the opponents because you don't see it very often. John's done an excellent job for many years over there and I wish them all the luck in the world."

The Northville offense racked up over 200-yards in total offense and were constantly moving the ball down the field against the Wildcat defense. The Mustangs have been labeled as a "weak offensive team," but the team somehow managed to move the ball with ease at times against what many consider the area's best defense. Did Novi take Northville lightly? Osborne prefers to give the credit to the Mustangs.

"Our defense never really stopped them from moving the ball," he said. "We only let them score once but their offensive success was a surprise to us and it was also disturbing. They came in well prepared and our players knew they were in for a tough game. Give Northville credit."

The star of the game was Novi wide-out Randy Parker, who did everything from returning a kickoff 86-yards, to making a diving interception with Northville moving in for a score. He also added a flashy catch and run combination that netted 22-yards and set up another Wildcat touchdown.

"Randy Parker put on quite a display, as he is capable of doing," Osborne said. "He had a great night — when he's got the ball in his hands, he is dangerous. And when he's got a little room to maneuver, he has a way of finding the seams and then accelerating very quickly."

And even though he was a very big part of the 21-point victory, Parker himself has a few nice things to say about the Mustangs.

"They come out and play hard and hit you," he said. "They are a team you can't look past because they are fundamentally sound."

86-86 tie with Brighton surprises tank coach

Ties always come unexpected in athletics, except maybe in hockey or soccer. In swimming, the feat is very rare indeed — so when the Northville tankers went out and battled Brighton to an 86-86 on Oct. 27, it came as a big surprise.

"Ties are always a surprise because you usually have it figured one way or the other," Mustang Coach Bill Dicks said. "We should have had a six-point cushion against Brighton but things don't always work out the way you plan them."

"We didn't see the last times that we've been getting in the last couple of meets and the real reason may have been that the girls are tired. We have been going through a heavy load in practice to prepare the kids for the stretch run. This was a non-conference meet, and although we wanted to win — we're not going to sacrifice our training methods."

Despite the tie, Northville (6-2-1 overall, 4-2 in WLAA) dominated the first-place finishes, grabbing nine in 11 events. Unfortunately, the Mustangs were out-pointed by the Bulldogs in other areas. Northville notched just two seconds and two thirds in the meet.

"We swam hard, but we didn't come up with the performances we are capable of," Dicks pointed out.

Pam Holdridge was a bright spot for the locals with a pair of wins, including a state meet qualifying time. Holdridge took first in the 100-yard backstroke and reached the state cut in the 100 butterfly.

WLW hands cagers heartbreaking loss

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

Hopes of winning the regular season's final four games were dashed very quickly for the Northville cagers last week, but the team still had enough heart to end the losing skid at one. By splitting two games, the Mustangs now head into the WLAA playoffs at 9-7 overall.

After pointing toward a home win over Walled Lake Western for weeks, Northville fell short down the stretch and succumbed to the Warriors for the second time this season, 52-49, on Oct. 27. The loss was quite devastating, but the Mustangs rebounded nicely on Oct. 29 to crush the hapless Hawks from Farmington Harrison 69-25. It was the Hawks' 102nd straight defeat.

The win over Harrison may have salvaged the week, but it didn't go very far in healing the wounds left after Northville blew an early nine-point lead against a talented team from Western. The Mustangs actually led almost the entire game — the Warriors never had the lead until the

Yezback pleased with campaign

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

When Northville soccer Coach Dave Yezback first examined his team's 1987 season and saw seven losses, he was disappointed. But after further examination, he concluded that the campaign was actually quite successful.

Why the turn around? Because Yezback looked at who his team fell to and he saw state powerhouses like Livonia Stevenson and Churchill, Catholic Central and Farmington Harrison.

"When I looked at who we lost to this year, I saw that we really had a tremendous season," Yezback said. "We lost to (number one ranked) Stevenson twice and we never got to play them healthy. We lost to Churchill, Brighton and Catholic Central by one goal each, we lost to Harrison, who is one of the top Class B teams in the state, and we lost a fluke match to Farmington Six of those seven were to teams ranked in the top 10 in the state and four of them were by one goal."

The Mustangs overall mark of 11-7-2 is rather impressive, and a 5-4-2 mark in a brutal league like the Western Lakes is nothing to be ashamed of. Northville had the fourth best league record in the 12-team WLAA and tied for second place with Farmington Harrison in the Western Division at 2-2-1.

"I've been here three years and this was our most successful season," Yezback said. "That's the most wins we've had and the least amount of ties. When I look back, I'm pretty pleased. This is a tough schedule we put ourselves into and we're in, I believe, the toughest soccer league in the state."

Leading the way for the Mustangs in '87 was senior Steve Yezback, the coach's son. Yezback was one of the area's most prolific scorers, notching 12 goals and six assists in 20 games. He was named to the WLAA All-Division team.

"Overall, Steve had a very good season and three very good years on the varsity," his father acknowledged. "His numbers put him on par with some of the best goal scorers in the league."

Northville's only other All-Division selection was sophomore striker Noel Korowin, who put in a great rookie season. Korowin seemed to always be involved in the Mustang attack and scored eight times and added six first assists.

"We didn't keep track of second assists, but Noel has been one to make things happen for us," Yezback said. "I look forward to having him two more years."

Three Northville players — senior Chris Anderson, junior Andy Frey and junior Roger Kimary — were honorable mention choices in the WLAA. Anderson scored four goals and added two assists this season while Frey had four goals and one assist. Kimary, the Mustangs goalkeeper, had a goals per game average of 1.7.

"Roger did a nice job for us," Yezback said. "We gave up 34 goals and 15 of them came in our two losses to Stevenson and the one to Farmington."

Eric Halverson, who really came on at the end of the season, was named to team's co-Most Valuable Player along with Kimary. Halverson played a number of different positions and scored four goals and chipped in with five assists.

"Our goal production went from 30 last year to 44 this year," Yezback pointed out. "We had 11 different players score during the season, so even though Steve (Yezback) and Noel (Korowin) accounted for almost half of our scoring, we really were a balanced group. We didn't have a superstar — we had a good team attack."

Yezback said the highlights of the season were a win in the prestigious Detroit Country Day Tournament and a berth in the MHSAA Class A District finals.

"With eight returning players and 20 some kids up from the J.V., it will give us a very good core of players for next season," Yezback said.

to just one bucket.

But in the second, Hall exploded for 12 points and helped the Warriors cut the gap to 30-27 at intermission. Midway through the second, Northville center Katie Brugman picked up her third foul and had to sit down.

"I thought Katie's third foul was the turning point," Kritch said. "Hall was able to take over and it allowed them to get back into the game."

Brugman came back in the third quarter and went back to work on Hall, limiting her to just four points. Heading into the fourth quarter, the Mustangs held a precarious 41-37 lead. At this point, the game started to turn into a war with each possession.

Northville started to cool off from the field in the fourth and Hall picked up the tempo once again. In the final quarter alone, Hall pumped in 14 of Western's 15 points. The Warriors tied the score for the first time with four minutes remaining and it stayed that way until Western pulled ahead 51-49 with 20 seconds left.

Kritch called a time out and set up a shot for Debbie Stevens and, as it turned out, Stevens worked her way free along the baseline about 10 feet out. But Hall came out of nowhere to reject the shot and on the ensuing scramble, Stevens and Baird collided with each other and turned the ball over. The Mustangs quickly fouled and a Warrior player hit one free throw, but Heather Sixt's desperation three-point try at the buzzer missed the mark.

"I give (Walled Lake Western) credit," Kritch said. "We didn't panic or choke — they showed a lot of character by coming back to beat us. We needed to control Dianne Hall a little bit and we didn't."

Debbie Stevens paced Northville with 19 points, Baird added 14 points and five steals and Jenny Stevens chipped in with 10 points. Hall led all scorers with 32.

The Harrison contest was completely different as the Mustangs dominated things from the opening tip and cruised to a 44-point triumph. Northville put the Hawks away early with another fine first quarter and a 21-4 lead. The advantage increased to 29-points at halftime and 34 after three quarters.

"I was extremely pleased," Kritch said. "We came out and put them away in the first quarter and that's what we wanted to do. From there, we coasted in with the win."

Kritch unloaded his bench and was pleased to see that every player on his roster managed to score. The balanced scoring was led by Baird's 12, Sixt added 11 and Debbie Stevens 10, with 14 rebounds.

Frisbie qualifies for second state meet

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

A pair of satisfying team runs by the Northville boys' cross country team was overshadowed last week by star runner John Frisbie and his individual accomplishments.

The senior took All-Conference honors with a second place finish in the WLAA league meet on Oct. 27 and then came back to place third overall in the MHSAA Class A Regional four days later in Gibraltar. In addition, Frisbie has qualified for the state meet to be held this weekend, and is looking for a top 10 finish and possible All-State recognition.

As a team, Northville placed seventh in the 12-team WLAA meet at Schoolcraft College. The Mustangs' 156 points were over 70 behind the winners from Farmington but did manage to top Livonia Churchill, a team that beat Northville in dual meet action.

"We got real good performances from (John) Frisbie and (Scott) Sinkwits," Mustang Coach Ed

Gabrys said.

Frisbie fought yet another losing battle with Walled Lake Western's Brian Grasso for the individual league title, but he did out-run several other contenders down the stretch to grab the runner-up spot in 16:25. Grasso won the race by 10 seconds, but Frisbie's time was his personal best on the Schoolcraft course by several seconds.

"John was in fifth through most of the race, but he put on a nice kick in the last 100-meters to get second," Gabrys said. "We would have been disappointed if he hadn't been at least second."

Sinkwits, Northville's number two runner, also registered his best time ever at Schoolcraft (17:22) and placed 14th overall. His performance helped garner All-Division honors.

"We thought Scott had a good chance for a top 20 finish and through the first part of the meet he was running about 20th," Gabrys said. "He just improved from there — It was indicative of how he ran and improved all season."

The rest of the Mustang finishers included Jeff Hoose in 44th overall (18:21), Jay Griffith in 46th (18:18), Doug Meadows in 50th (18:24) and Andy Haas in 58th (18:43). Every Northville runner set new personal best times.

As a unit, the Mustangs finished nearly 200 points off the pace at Willow Metropark in regional action, but again, Frisbie was the big story. While his team was placing ninth in the 19-team field, Frisbie was putting in the third fastest run the strongest region in the state. His time of 16:19 topped his all-time personal best by one second.

The performance qualified Frisbie for his second consecutive berth in the state meet, to be held Nov. 7 at Grosbeck Golf Course in Lansing. Because there are two separate runs in the state meet (for teams and for individuals), Gabrys believes John has a shot at a top-10 individual finish.

Scott Sinkwits placed 44th overall (17:28) and was followed by Meadows in 54th place (17:40), Jeff Hoose in 50th (17:45), Griffith in 62nd (17:53) and Andy Haas in 81st (18:27).

Staknis, Dart pace cross country squad

There were no surprises in the last week of action for the Northville girls' cross country team, but that didn't mean it was a disappointing ending.

The Mustang harriers performed well at the Western Lakes Activities Association (WLAA) league meet on Oct. 27 and came back with another solid effort at the MHSAA Class A Regional meet on Oct. 31. Northville Coach Nick Dunwoodie couldn't complain, although no Mustang qualified for the state meet.

"I thought it was a good finish for the girls," he said, "especially looking back to how we thought we'd do at the beginning of the year."

The Mustangs placed sixth in the 12-team WLAA meet with 142 points — 90 behind the winners from Plymouth Canton. The middle-of-the-pack finish wasn't a surprise at all to Dunwoodie.

"I felt that's where we'd end up," he pointed out. "All of our top five runners finished with times below 23 minutes and that is very encouraging."

Sophomore standout Rozann Staknis was the first Mustang to cross the finish line at Schoolcraft College, and was eighth overall in 20:43. Freshman teammate Marcie Dart was next (21:39) in 21st place overall.

"Both Rozann and Marcie did very well," Dunwoodie said. "Being so young, I look at it as a good sign for next year."

Senior Jennifer Goshorn was next for Northville in 27th place (in a season-best time of 22:12). Lisa Brown followed in 35th place (22:20), Jean Riney was 39th (22:29), Lynn Higgins placed 69th (26:56) and Ann Coseo 71st (28:32). Brown, Riney and Higgins all set personal best times.

The Mustangs managed another middle finish at the regional in Gibraltar by placing ninth in a field of 18 teams. Northville's score of 288 was well over 200 points behind first place Ann Arbor Pioneer.

Staknis again paced the Mustangs and placed 24th overall in 20:29. Dart followed in 39th place in a time of 21:05.

"Marcie and Rozann ran their fastest times of the year, so they came through at the right time," Dunwoodie said.

Brown came in 72nd place (22:16) and she was followed by Goshorn in 74th place (22:18), Riney in 79th place (22:30), Higgins in 117th place (26:59) and Coseo in 118th (27:39).

J.V. soccer program wraps up initial season

For years, those interested in Northville soccer knew that to keep up with the teams from Livonia, Farmington and Plymouth a junior varsity program at the high school was a must.

The many years of campaigning finally came to fruition as a reserve program was established for both the boys and girls this year. The girls' program got under way last spring, and an undefeated season followed to the delight and surprise of just about everyone.

The boys' squad took to the field for the first time this fall, under the direction of co-coaches Bob Cummings and Paul Vertrees, and although the won-loss record wasn't as impressive as the girls, the rookie season was just as successful. The Mustangs junior varsity team ended its first season several weeks ago with a 4-7-1 overall record.

"I thought the kids did a heck of a job this season," Cummings said. "A lot of the players just came out of recreation soccer and this level is much more intense and competitive. We saw a lot of learning as the season progressed, and we played well against the good teams."

Much of the time, the young Mustangs were going against teams like Livonia Stevenson, who've had a J.V. program for years. According to Cummings, one of the highlights of the season was scoring a goal against the powerful Spartans.

"I can see where a program like this is going to help the varsity program in the future," Cummings said. "For Northville to stay competitive with the Livonia schools and such, getting a J.V. program had to happen. It's really the only way for long term improvement on the varsity."

ed Northville with a pair of victories in the 200 and 100 freestyle races, Julie Hilfinger won the 200 IM and the 500 freestyle and Michelle Stephens took first-place honors in the 50 freestyle and the 100 breast stroke. The only other victory came in the 200 medley relay (featuring Megan Holmberg, Hilfinger, Holdridge and Sandy Loftus).

Rounding out the top three finishes, Holmberg took second in the 100 freestyle, Becky Frayen was the runner-up in the 100 breast stroke, Barb Woodruff captured third in diving and Pam Wesley was third in the 100 backstroke.

Two days later (Oct. 29), the tankers traveled to Walled Lake to take on the Western Warriors — but this meet was a totally different story. The Mustangs cruised to an embarrassingly easy 135-32 win. Northville took the first and second places in all 11 events.

"Our girls swam in off events and they swam tired so there were no personal best times, but we still won easily," Dicks said. "It was a hard meet to get the girls up for."

A tough league dual meet is slated for tonight (Nov. 5) against a talented North Farmington squad in the Mustangs' home pool. The Raiders sport a lot of depth, but since the meet will be at Northville's five-lane pool, it will probably negate a lot of North's depth.

"(North Farmington) is well coached and they have a lot of talent and depth," Dicks pointed out. "You put that all together and that's hard to beat. But we have swimmers who are just as talented as they are, we just don't have as many. In our pool, it should help us depth-wise."

The Rivalry

Novi-Northville clash: backyard battle-royale

Several big plays by Novi turned a potentially close game into a 27-6 victory for the Wildcats in the annual Novi-Northville football clash on Oct. 31. Top right: weary Mustang players show a sign of sportsmanship with a handshake to the winners for the last time of the season. Top left: Northville captains Mike Yard (44) and Ed Walsh (45) await the coin toss at midfield just prior to kickoff. Middle left: Seven Mustang defenders pin Novi runner Craig Berry in. Above: Wildcat quarterback Brian Schram splits two Northville players and dives for extra yardage.
