Clinton Spaulding, 6, was an excited participant in the Chili Cook-Off at the Northville Community Recreation building Saturday — for a while, anyway. The cook-off was one of the events in Northville's first Winterfest which wasn't called off on account of weather. Nine restaurants participated in the event, with Northville Charley's coming in first, Robin's Cloverdale Cafe second and Genitti's third. For more about Winterfest events, see a story and more photos on page 4.

Planners table Ventura plans for new office

By ANITA CRONE

A suggestion by township planning consultant Claude Coates that both a wall and a greenbelt be established for the Ventura office site at Six Mile and Winchester met with startled glances and a chorus of 'nos' from Lakes of Northville homeowners in the audience last week, but the plan for the entire parcel, five buildings on 9½ acres, was tabled by the planning commissioners Jan. 26 for other reasons.

The commission members agreed that a detailed landscape plan for the parking lot was necessary, as well as details of a bike path which was not presented with the preliminary site plan.

Also needed, according to the commission, was a new traffic plan for the parking area and its exit onto Winchester.

The developers had proposed a five-building complex with two of the buildings being devoted to the medical profession and three classified as general office use.

Four of the proposed buildings are one story edifices and the fifth meets grade requirements by being one story in the front and two in the rear.

The homeowners, most of whom live in Lakes of Northville, the adjoining subdivision to the project, noted that they had met with the developers of the project and had been assured that no wall would be constructed. But an earlier project, already built on Six Mile and abutting the subdivision and containing a wall to divide the office parking area from the subdivision, had met with ongoing opposition from the subdivision.

"They (the developers of Northwood Corporate Park) are required to have a wall or a 20-foot greenbelt. We have suggested both a wall and a greenbelt because of the elevations at Winchester," Coates said.

Lakes of Northville Association vice president Jack Ellis spoke in opposition to the wall, noting that in a letter from the association to the planners, that "The Lakes of Northville Subdivision homeowners are vehemently opposed to a wall. Our letter, of which you all have a copy, said that and there is no reason to change now," he said.

A. M. Wolff, also spoke in opposition to a wall between the complex and the subdivision, and also expressed concern about an exit onto Winchester.

Richard Allen, a trustee who sits on the planning commission, suggested including sidewalks in the plan.

"I know that in the past we have not encouraged sidewalks in the township, but we might want to consider it here," Allen said.

Spring 'Spirit Week' begins at high school

A full week of activities will be taking place at Northville High School beginning Monday as the Mustang supporters hold their annual winter spirit week.

The celebration includes special days during the week, competition between classes for which has the most spirit, and the crowning of the spring homecoming King and Queen.

All of the activities are under the auspices of the student congress.

Monday is "unknown student day," and each student is asked to decorate and wear a paper bag. In the cafeteria during the lunch hours, a head-to-head licorice eating contest is scheduled. To help get students in the spirit, the marching band will be performing in the hallway during first hour, Redmond said.

On Tuesday, "orange and black" is the order of attire, with students being asked to dress in Northville High School colors. Also on Tuesday, the class murals, 12-foot-by-14-foot designs depicting Mustang victories, will be delivered to the gym.

On Wednesday, which is "hippy day," the first day of voting for the king and queen will be held, with students having the opportunity to help select the homecoming court.

In the lunchroom, there will be a loveberry juice relay.

Thursday's activity includes evening competition between classes beginning at 7 p.m. in the gym, after students participate in "wild and crazy" day during school hours and a cupid bean toss during lunch.

Friday, the "ripening of the raisin" takes place, with students in each grade depicting raisins turning from green grapes to red ones, from purple grapes to the raisin.

Also on Friday the voting for the king and queen concludes.

All aboard for super sewer effort

By ANITA CRONE

While the 10 communities remaining in the North Huron Valley Rouge Valley project, also known as "super sewer," have signed on to participate by the Feb. 1 deadline, the Michigan Department of Natural Resources has given Wayne County, the coordinating agency for the project, until Feb. 5 to provide additional information to the department.

"We requested information from the county by Jan. 15, and when they gave us their list, we noticed that not every item we wanted had been addressed," said Roy Schrameck, Detroit district surface water quality director. "So, we gave them until Feb. 5 to turn in the missing information. That will still allow us to meet the Environmental Protection Agency deadline and keep us eligible for grant funding on April 1."

Meanwhile, in a letter dated Jan. 26, Paul Zuger, chief of the DNR's water quality division, informed the Ypsilanti Community Utility Authority that the issue of YCUA expansion and discharge into the lower Rouge River will be on the Feb. 18 Water Resources Commission Agenda.

If everything on the two projects goes according to schedule, Schrameck said that initial approvals for the construction of the first phases of regional sewer systems could be in place by early summer.

The City of Northville is included in super sewer while Northville Township is a member of the Western Townships Utility Authority and dependent on YCUA expansion.

Schrameck said the DNR has now sent orders to each of the 10 communities in the North Huron Valley/Rouge Valley system, noting their consent to join the project and also detailing the local improvements necessary to the super sewer system.

"We've gotten feedback from the communities on the orders, but so far there has been nothing official," Schrameck said, noting that the local municipalities have not had time to discuss formally the improvements with their governing units.

Schrameck said the next step in the process is an environmental assessment, drafted from the DNR, to the EPA for its review.

"We would have our review ready so a grant can be awarded for the first phase of super sewer by April 1," Schrameck said. He added that the North Huron Valley/Rouge Valley project is tops on the state's funding priority list and that reconstruction of the Evergreen

City facing $1 million price for sewer

The City of Northville's decision last week to be part of a regional sewer expansion project is not the last decision the city will face on the issue. Within a few months, officials in Northville and nine other communities will decide how to pay for it.

Wayne County officials putting the project together expect the federal government to pay about half the $54 million projected construction cost. Northville's share is about four percent of the remaining cost, or about $1.03 million. In addition to that, the city is required to improve its existing lines — fixing leaks and the like — at a cost of almost $100,000.

For its money, Northville will get about double the amount of sanitary sewer capacity it now has. Both the sewer improvements and the construction of the expansion are expected to be finished in three years.

Northville City Manager Steve Walters said Tuesday that any decisions about how to pay for the sewer project are three to six months away.

"There are several months of designing and bidding ... until they're at the point of obligating funds with the contractor," Walters said.

He said a bond sale — or more than one — is a likely way to raise the money for construction. Some communities might issue bonds independently, and some might form an independent authority, he suggested.

Even Northville, which will only carry a small part of the project's cost, might find it advantageous to issue bonds alone, Walters added.

At least one other question needs to be answered in the course of discussions of financing, Walters said: how much each community must pay at a given time. That is, since some communities might not be directly involved in the early phases of the project, would such communities pay part of their share early, or would they wait and pay when work reached their area?

"The simple thing, probably, is to say we've got a group contract and when we have to pay the guy 10 percent, we each kick in 10 percent," Walters said.

Public hearing scheduled for block grant programs

Over $150,000 should be available for Northville to make improvements under the Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) program, but it may be tricky to find a way to spend it.

The CDBG program is an annual federal grant administered locally by Wayne and Oakland counties. The city council has already voted to use its Oakland money to improve barrier-free access to the recreation building.

But, between leftover 1986 and 1987 money plus an expected 1988 allocation, the city will still have $151,179 available to spend, City Manager Steve Walters said at Monday's council meeting.

The CDBG program is designed to

Record/ANITA CRONE

By ANITA CRONE

Michael Legg is a very unhappy camper.

The long-time Republican party activist said it is not so much for himself that he is disappointed, he can take it. "But it's the new precinct delegates, the people new to the party who got tossed away" when the Jack Kemp and George Bush forces cut a deal to give Kemp second billing for Michigan's 77 delegates to the national GOP convention.

A Northville Township resident, a strong supporter of Kemp and chairman of the Second District Republican Organization, Legg spearheaded an effort to seat the Kemp/Pat Robertson delegates, garnered by a county convention held at the Holiday Inn Jan. 14, and at the state convention last weekend.

The effort was successful — for a while.

"There was a deal cut and part of that deal was that the Legg delegation would be seated at the convention," Legg said. "Then, when the challenge got to the credentials committee, they threw us out. Ours was the only challenge that was overturned. There were two other delegations — the 8th and 16th — that won the right to be seated at the convention following challenges that were heard Wednesday and Thursday night. But by Friday, ours was the only reversal. The Bush forces flat out stole the election."

Challenges from party regulars is nothing new to Legg, the oftentimes controversial leader of the district party organization which includes membership from Wayne, Hillsdale, Lenawee, Branch and Washtenaw counties and is represented in the U.S. Congress by Carl Pursell.

But Legg said the challenges have, until now, been minor. "We've always been able to kiss and make up."

"There are many individuals within the party who I respect and I respect that stand they took. But others, I'll remember for a long time."

Legg said that when his delegation was unseated at the official convention on Saturday, he had "no choice" but to lead a rump convention. "I'm very pleased at the number of people who chose to follow us. I don't think the party will lose those people and we'll be back, stronger and bigger than ever."

The next order of business for the disenfranchised party leader is to LONG ANNOUNCEMENTS — There's a new honor going on at Silver Springs Elementary School in Northville. Since the program started, 52 students have memorized the document and have been able to recite it on the air.

KEYNOTE SPEAKER — Thomas Watkins, director of the Michigan Department of Mental Health, and a township resident, will be the keynote speaker Feb. 26, during a conference sponsored by the Detroit-Wayne County Community Mental Health Board. The conference will focus on new directions in the treatment of the mentally ill.

CALANDRO APPOINTED — The Oakland County Board of Commissioners recently set its committee appointments for the year, with Northville's (city) representative, John Calandro, getting a seat on the five-member transportation committee. The committee was formed a year ago to deal with road improvements and similar issues. At the Northville city council meeting Jan. 25, Calandro commented, "Perhaps the southwest will be represented a little better than it has been in the past."

CREDIT UNION EXTENSION — The city council, which last year sold a lot on the corner of Griswold and Main to the Community Federal Credit Union, Jan. 25 granted an extension of a deadline for submission of a site plan for the lot. Under the terms of the sale the credit union had to submit a site plan within a designated time. The council voted 5-0 to extend the deadline to March 31. The credit union plans to build a bigger facility than its present site at the corner of Main and Center.

MAYOR EXCHANGE — Northville and East Detroit will swap mayors for a day May 16. The annual Mayor Exchange Day is part of statewide Michigan Week festivities. East Detroit requested the switch, and the Northville city council agreed at its Jan. 25 meeting.

MCF SEEKS VOLUNTEERS — The Michigan Cancer Foundation is recruiting volunteers to serve as in-home companions. These volunteers will go into the home of a cancer patient for a few hours each week to offer companionship, help with activities of daily living, and respite care for family members. Training for new volunteers will be held Tuesday mornings, Feb. 9-March 8, from 9:30-12:30. Sessions will be held at MCF's Plymouth branch, 173 N. Main. For more information or to register for training, contact Barbara Bicking at 833-0710, ext. 348, or Catherine Cameron, ext. 245.

Council begins search for planner

By BOB NEEDHAM

If the City of Northville sticks to a set schedule, it will have a new planning consultant before the end of March.

At its meeting Jan. 25, the city council approved a process for hiring a new planning consultant. Ron Nino, the present consultant, recently resigned and will continue in the post only until the city hires a replacement. City Manager Steve Walters said at the meeting that the city has contacted some municipal planning firms individually, and has also placed an advertisement for the position in the Planning and Zoning News.

The council set 5 p.m. Friday, Feb. 26, as the due date for proposals for planning consultant services.

According to the guidelines the council approved, the consultant's duties include:

- "Reviewing site plans and subdivision plans, and making recommendations to the city planning commission concerning them."

- "Attending city planning commissions on a regular basis (normally first and third Tuesdays of each month)."

- "Assist in a review and update of the 1981 city Master Plan."

- "Provide technical planning advice and produce such studies and reports as may be authorized by the city council from time to time."

The guidelines ask that any proposal from a planning firm include descriptions of the firm's experience with downtown revitalization, historic district administration and historic preservation, and preserving established areas in the midst of rapidly growing areas.

City officials will review proposals with an eye to interviewing four to six applicants. Mayor Chris Johnson and council member John Buckland are the interviewing committee. Johnson said planning commission chairperson Richard Wilhelm will be involved in setting interview questions.

The council could hire a new planner at its March 16 meeting, City Manager Steve Walters said.

Development director job is open

A four-member panel will be working to hire a new community development director for the township.

Treasurer Richard Henningsen, trustees Richard Allen and Thomas Handyside and township manager Steve Brock have already met to consider the job description for the position and to approve placing advertisements in specialty publications and the local newspapers.

Matt Modrack, who has been development director since January 1986, has resigned to accept a similar position in Lapeer.

Supervisor Georgina Goss said that until a replacement is found, Brock will be attending planning commission meetings and working with the developers who daily approach the township for information on building, on codes and on ordinances.

Maureen Osiecki, an administrative assistant, is being trained to work with the block grant program, Goss said.

"We hope to have applications in by March 1 and to have a new person in place by April 1," Brock said.

"Even though the full board is not serving on the committee, I think the group would welcome input from any trustee," Goss said, adding that advertisements are being placed in the Michigan Township Association bulletin, the Michigan Municipal Review, The Northville Record, the Plymouth Observer and the Detroit News.

"Hopefully, we'll get some responses before the deadline and can begin the winnowing process," she said.

City OKs contract with police officers

Police officers and dispatchers in the City of Northville are working with a four percent raise and a longer shift rotation following the recent approval of a new two-year contract.

The contract runs from July 1, 1987, to June 30, 1989, with the pay raise retroactive to the start of the contract. The city council approved the agreement 5-0 at its Jan. 25 meeting.

City Manager Steve Walters said at the meeting that most of the issues were settled in October after negotiations last summer and fall. The shift rotation was the final outstanding issue, he said.

The agreement is between the Northville Police Officers Association and the city. Specific changes in the new contract include:

- Requiring two week written notice before any layoffs.
- Adding a provision which states part time employees would be laid off before full time.
- Shift rotation every three months.
- Revised rules for lunch breaks.
- Inclusion in the contract of the present policy for detail at Northville Downs: Officers may volunteer, with highest seniority getting first chance; then assignments are made from lowest seniority officers.

- Starting wages effective July 1, 1987, are $15,558 for a dispatch clerk or police cadet, and $22,547 for a patrolman.

- A pay increase of between 4.25 percent and 6 percent, depending on cost of living increases.

- Increases in the annual uniform allowances.

Command officers pact also wins approval

A new one-year contract between the Northville Command Officers Association and the city was approved by the city council Monday night.

The agreement covers city police officers holding the rank sergeant, staff sergeant, lieutenant or captain.

The new contract includes pay increases based on new pay increases recently approved for patrolmen. Wage rates for the 1987-88 year are $17.38 for a captain, $16.76 for a lieutenant, $16.20 for a staff sergeant and $15.60 for a sergeant.

Other changes in the new contract include:

- a modified hospitalization plan,
- a revised sick leave policy,
- a slightly increased uniform allowance, plus a provision that the city will pay for any modification of uniforms.

Thaw cools off Winterfest

A spring-like thaw and lack of entrants caused some of the events planned for Northville's first Winterfest weekend to be canceled.

However, participation in the chili cookoff drew more than 90 spectators and tasters and the "Chili Open" golf tournament had 44 competitors.

Thirteen winners of the Snow Dollars Contest also were enthusiastically anticipating shopping sprees.

Therefore, the sponsoring Northville Community Chamber of Commerce, Northville Community Recreation Department and Kiwanis Club of Northville report they hope "to make Winterfest an annual event and anticipate more community participation in the years to come."

Nine restaurants participated in the chili cookoff under the direction of the Kiwanis club. Northville Charleys captured first place honors with Robin's Cloverdale coming in second and Genitti's third.

Big winner of $200 in snow dollars to spend at participating merchants in the chamber-sponsored contest was Robert Plenderleith of Northville. Anthony Heckemeyer of Northville took the second place prize of $140 while Ann Jarvi of Northville received the third place prize of $80.

The 10 winners of $20 each (fourth prize) were Jackie Moore, Velma Gray, Judith Lemieux, the Gillikin family, Jan Steele, Barb Kowalski, Joan Rostas, Bruce Miller and Charlotte Lenk, all of Northville, and John Lewis of Plymouth.

As the snow melted Saturday, the snow sculpture contest planned by the Northville Arts Commission had to be canceled.

Friday night's teen dance was canceled due to lack of advance ticket sales to middle school students, and lack of team registration caused the cancellation of the coed softball tournament.

School board cancels sponsorship of trip

The Board of Education withdrew its sponsorship Jan. 25 for a trip by German students to Germany, since the school sponsor, Judith Kammeraad, has been hospitalized and is unable to pursue involvement in the effort.

After a lengthy discussion that extended into two board meetings, school officials Nov. 16 approved the trip and school district sanction providing that school personnel were involved not only in planning the visit but also participating in it.

In a memo to the board, George Bell, superintendent of schools, noted that since no Northville Public School personnel are participating in the visit, the district has had to withdraw its support.

Six students had signed up to participate in the trip.

However, 27 students from Germany still will be arriving in the area

March 19 and will be staying with host families in the Northville/Plymouth area.

In an exchange program, local students had planned to leave Detroit June 23 for a 21-day visit to Germany.

While the official sanction for the trip has been withdrawn, David Bolitho, Northville High School principal wrote to parents informing them that the withdrawal of district support does not mean that he thinks the trip is not a viable educational activity.

"The withdrawal of support is only because our sponsor and coordinator is no longer able to organize and to monitor the activity to ensure the district's expectations are met," Bolitho wrote.

A second summer trip to Spain and France, still is planned and still is under sponsorship of the school board.

City sells Randolph lot

A city-owned lot on the northeast corner of High and Randolph streets is now owned by the people who live next to it.

The city council accepted a bid of $33,550 Monday night from Thomas and Nelda Morrison. The Morrises live on High Street next to the city lot.

The bid was the highest of five received for the lot. Bids were opened Saturday, Jan. 27. The lowest bid was for $28,600, from a Birmingham resident.

The sale of the lot at the corner of High and Randolph is the latest action in the city's consideration of its land holdings.

Several months ago, a request to buy a piece of city-owned land on the western edge of the city spurred a decision by the city council to review all the city's holdings of vacant land.

The council denied that first request, but has sold a lot at the corner of Main and Griswold in addition to the High/Randolph sale.

Man let out of prison early; arrested in slaying of three

How prison policies slash years off criminals' terms

It started with reports on crime. And the high incidence of parolee crime in Michigan. And ended by placing the blame for much of that crime on prison officials.

Officials who, in an effort to ease prison overcrowding, were themselves breaking the law.

It aroused public outrage and forced the state to make changes in the system.

Changes that wouldn't have occurred if a few reporters at a Detroit newspaper hadn't been looking for a story.

Architect says trucks downtown may cause slow damage

By BOB NEEDHAM

A downtown architect says that heavy-axle trucks driving through town are slowly damaging the area's historic buildings, but the head of the city's public works department says there really isn't a problem.

Architect Walt Coponen, who serves as a member of city's historic district commission, mentioned the issue in passing at a study session in December. Coponen said at the meeting that heavy axle traffic on Center and Main streets through downtown is probably causing damage over a long period of time, "those buildings are being literally vibrated apart," he said.

In a recent interview he explained his concern further: "The axles bounce over (the brick walkways in the street). It is, in reality, acting as a speed bump for heavy axled vehicles."

"The problem is, that creates a large amount of shock that is pushed out horizontally. It acts as a very, very minor earthquake. Buildings tend to stand still; the ground shakes, and the building shakes to catch up to the ground," Coponen said.

New and old sanitary sewer lines, storm sewer lines and water mains will transmit some of the shock to other buildings not directly adjacent to the brick walkways, Coponen added. "The underground is probably a maze in this town, because it's been redone so many times," he said.

Different buildings react differently to the shock, he said. Brick and stone copings will crumble, and mortar can erode away. "The heaviest parts of the buildings, as vibrations go through them, start to wear on one another," he said.

The effect only happens over a very long time, Coponen said. "It takes many, many years to do damage to old buildings," he said. "The buildings, in a word, get a little loose ... It's an interesting phenomenon, but it's something that takes place over many, many years."

Coponen added, "I think the solution would be to somehow control the number of heavy-axle vehicles that travel through the town."

Ted Mapes, superintendent of the city's department of public works, said that heavy axle traffic is really nothing to worry about, though.

He said there is very little through truck traffic, and that most of the heavy axle vehicles in town are making deliveries. "As a rule, there is no through truck traffic," he said.

Mapes added that most of the brick walkways have been repaired recently to be back at street level, and those which are still causing a "speed bump" effect are due to be fixed in the near future.

"I would be surprised if that didn't take care of most of the problem," Mapes said.

Heavy-axle vehicles may cause long-term harm to buildings

None

6. ROUGE VALLEY WASTEWATER CONTROL SYSTEM:

Jim Murray and Dick Hinshon were present to answer questions City Manager asked for review of Mr. Murray's letter of December 15, 1987, and what Northville's share would be.

The service agreements must be approved by February 1, 1988. The federal grant program has three years of grant funding left and the project is expected to be funded and built in three segments. Failure of communities to pass the agreement would result in 100% construction by local funds with penalties, etc., for communities failing to comply to pollution abatement.

City Manager recommended the City Engineer report at the next Council meeting on building sewage storage vs. approximately $1,250,000 to join the North Huron Valley/Rouge Valley Wastewater Control System.

Mayor Johnson requested the City Engineer's report for the next meeting and tabled further discussion.

7. SDD LICENSE FOR NORTHVILLE WINE SHOPPE, INC.:

The City Manager up-dated Council on the status of the Resort SDD license for Northville Wine Shoppe, at 880 W. Eight Mile.

Mayor Johnson requested Police Department perform investigation prior to next meeting and held further discussion until then.

8. HOUSING COMMISSION BY-LAWS:

Moved, supported, carried to adopt the Housing Commission by-laws as revised per the City Attorney's recommendation.

City Council requested a letter to our State Senators and Representatives indicating their desire to change Public Act 7, so that the LCC would suspend or revoke, at the request of the local unit of government, if the licensee was found guilty of selling alcohol to underage customers on at least three occasions from a 12-month period to a 24-month period.

11. REPORT ON MAIN & CENTER PROJECT:

City Manager reviewed Mr. Callaghan's development project at Main & Center. He has several potential partners with which he is reviewing the financial impact of reducing the scale of the project thereby reducing the number of parking spaces required, he did not give a date for the completion of the review.

12. 211 EAST CADDY - PROPOSAL TO PURCHASE AND MOVE HOUSE:

Moved, supported, carried to accept the bid of $1.00 from Douglas Crossman, DDS, 48274 Pickford, to purchase and remove the house at 211 E. Cady Street, subject to the move taking place by August 31, 1988.

14. MARTIN LUTHER KING PROCLAMATION:

Moved, supported, carried to adopt the proclamation designating Sunday, January 17, 1988, as Martin Luther King, Jr., Day in the City of Northville.

15. DOWNTOWN DEVELOPMENT AUTHORITY MINUTES OF OCTOBER 12, 1987:

Councilman Buckland asked for clarification of the practical solution to the parking deck structure reference on the second page of the minutes.

City Manager stated the DDA when reviewing the deck expansion, naturally felt that all downtown parking should be evaluated and that surface parking is the most economical to develop. A possibility is removal of the deck and expanding surface parking for approximately 350 cars compared to the existing deck which has 140 parking spaces.

Mayor Johnson suggested a joint meeting between the City Council, Planning Commission and DDA when they are presenting the options for developing parking in the downtown.

Councilman Mittman asked about the Sidewalk Program referred to in the DDA minutes. The City Manager responded that the residents will be contacted in the Spring in certain areas where sidewalks need replacing or need to be constructed.

16. COUNCIL COMMENTS:

Councilman Mittman noted Recreation Commission terms are expired. Mayor Johnson will confirm dates with Councilman Buckland to review boards and commission member terms that have expired.

Mayor Johnson asked that Councilman Folino remain as the official liaison to the Recreation Commission and share with another Council member when he is unable to attend.

Councilman Buckland noted that he could not attend the Library Site Selection Committee meeting tomorrow night at 7:30 p.m. in the Library. Mayor Johnson asked Councilman Folino to attend if possible. City Manager stated he would be available if Councilman Folino was unavailable.

Councilman Folino asked to support the resolution received from the City of Birmingham regarding support of legislation to permit local legislative body to have jurisdiction over liquor licenses before an extension of renewal time.

Moved, supported, carried to adopt the resolution supporting legislation permitting the local legislative body to have jurisdiction over liquor licenses before an extension of renewal time.

City Manager noted Ron Nino's updated summary of the Zoning Ordinance, which will be available at the public hearing on January 25, 1988.

There being no further business to come before City Council, Mayor Johnson adjourned the regular Council meeting at 10:12 p.m.

Second district battle lines drawn

By ANITA CRONE

While members of other district caucuses were fighting and splintering at the Michigan Republican Convention in Grand Rapids last weekend, the Wayne Second Republicans initially met together Jan. 29, only to splinter into separate factions 10 minutes into the district caucus meeting.

Two groups of delegates, one primarily comprised of George Bush supporters, the other made up of Jack Kemp and Pat Robertson adherents, broke into their respective factions during the convention, just as they had split and held separate county conventions on Jan. 14.

In Grand Rapids, at the state gathering, the Robertson/Kemp delegation maintained control of the district caucus on Friday night, but by the official start of the annual state convention, the Bush supporters in response to a challenge before the convention credentials committee were awarded the delegation's official seats.

Only one Northville resident, Michael Legg, chairman of the Second District Republican Organization which includes portions of Branch, Washtenaw, Hillsdale and Lenawee counties in addition to Wayne County, earned a trip to the Republican National Convention in New Orleans. But Legg, one of three delegates selected in a separate convention, held Saturday morning, will face a challenge from supporters of George Bush, who also selected delegates to go to New Orleans Aug. 15-18.

At the upstairs gathering, the delegates chosen line up firmly in support of Bush, who captured 37 delegates. Kemp forces came out with 32 committed delegates and eight are backing Robertson.

Legg, who favors Kemp, is one of 21 delegates from the downstairs convention committed to Kemp on the first ballot. Robertson supporters captured 43 delegates, and 13 back the vice president.

Friday's delegate selection process in the 2nd District Caucus was overturned during a meeting of the convention's credentials committee and was the only fight Legg lost.

On Friday, it took three role-call votes, but he was elected convention chairman of the 2nd district caucus, and, on Saturday, was selected secretary of the downstairs meeting.

It will be up to the national credentials committee to determine whether Legg, Jon Throne and Missy Caulk, or Lola Peterson, Dan Piercecchi and Emily Kackstetter, also selected as delegates, will be seated at the national convention.

Legg, a Kemp supporter, and Throne and Caulk, who back Pat Robertson, were selected during the district caucus on Friday. However, a second caucus, held after the state credentials committee upheld a challenge by Piercecchi to unseat the delegates chosen Friday, chose the alternate delegates on Saturday. All three of the delegates chosen Saturday support Bush.

In fact, the only time the local delegates were unified was on Friday night, when the caucus opened with the pledge to the flag. Everyone joined in.

The battle lines were drawn early. At 7 p.m., the first moment delegates could pick up their credentials, Piercecchi, chairman of the Wayne Second, discovered that there were no credentials for the delegates selected at the Plymouth Township Hall caucus.

"I have no credentials for the group from Plymouth Township," said Thomas Jenkins of Livonia, standing in front of the Wayne Second table.

Piercecchi said he found out that there were no credentials for his caucus when he went to pick up the documents.

"It isn't over until it's over," he said, standing in front of the credential pick up site. "I've got to be philosophical about it, but that doesn't mean that this is the end of it."

So Piercecchi and his delegation, which included Northville Township Supervisor Georgina Goss, Velma Belasco, Sally Williams, Dorothy Gaul and Greg Dawson, opted to attend the district caucus as observers and watched as Legg, Ruth Ann Stormont, Kim Assenmacher, John Leinonen and Lynn Wallace were officially seated.

"I am just appalled, Goss said. We were duly elected and to find out now that we have no credentials. I don't know how this could happen."

Also left out of the Friday official delegation were the Republican elected officials, including County Commissioner Susan J. Heintz of Northville Township, state Sen. R. Robert Geake of Northville Township and state Rep. Gerald Law of Plymouth.

Under the terms of a court decision won by Bush partisans, local elected officials were delegates at large to the state convention, but the Robertson/Kemp forces did not recognize the process and refused to seat the elected officials.

"We'll see what happens," said Geake, standing at the back of the room with other Bush supporters during the district caucus. "I'm optimistic that we'll be able to oust the insurgents and take our rightful seats tomorrow."

Both Heintz and Geake declined to swear in the officers of the caucus, elected Friday night. Law, who also had attended the caucus as an observer, had left the meeting before being asked to swear in the officers.

U.S. Rep. Carl Pursell performed the official duties and, on Saturday, joined the main convention in Welsh Auditorium.

Tales from behind GOP meeting scene

Not everything at the Michigan Republican state convention was serious. Some of the more interesting moments occurred when least expected. For instance:

□ During the Second District caucus, when participants tried to recite the Pledge of Allegiance, they noted that there was no flag. "We'll have to do the next best thing. The Kemp posters have stars and stripes, so face them," said Mike Legg, an ardent Kemp supporter.

□ Hospitality suites, as they do at most conventions, abounded, but not all were well attended.

"I want to know who is sponsoring them," said Georgina Goss, township supervisor. "If it's Robertson, I want someone to taste the food." Goss supports George Bush.

□ Even though she was chosen national committeewoman from the rump convention, Elaine Donnelly almost didn't get nominated.

A motion and a second were on the floor to unanimously choose Jeanne Frink from Macomb County when Donnelly raced up to the podium, held a hurried conference with Michael Legg, and waited while Legg put her name in nomination. Donnelly went on to defeat Frink by a 3-1 margin.

□ You can't please all the people all the time. And sometimes you can't please any of the people.

After Pat Robertson had come and gone, there was an overheard conversation in the hall between local Robertson leaders and national Robertson leaders.

"He got a bigger welcome in Florida, and he hasn't even been elected there yet," said the national supporter.

"Yeah, but you're the ones who told us to remain in our seats when he came in," countered the local Robertson honcho.

□ It took three roll calls to finally determine the officers of the Second District Caucus, and when they were chosen, they almost didn't get sworn in.

Mike Legg, convention chair, asked County Commissioner Susan Heintz to do the honors, but she declined. Then he called on state Rep. Gerald Law, who had left the room. Next in line was state Sen. R. Robert Geake, who respectfully declined. Finally, U.S. Rep. Carl Pursell did the honors.

None of the local officials, who earned delegate at large status at the county convention held Jan. 14 at Plymouth Township Hall, was recognized by the caucus leadership as delegates, since the caucus leadership came from the county convention held Jan. 14 at the Hollidome.

organize a Michigan Republican conservative coalition, Legg said, adding that he intends to call a meeting of other conservatives at the end of the month.

"We're going to go precinct by precinct and to add to our support base. Then, we're going to take over the party."

Legg said that conservatives are currently in control of the party. "We could have unseated (party chairman) Spence (Abraham) at the last convention. But we didn't because he said he would remain impartial. This time, we're going to do it."

Precinct delegates will be chosen during the August primary, and Legg said he hopes to have a conservative running in every election.

If the effort is successful, Legg said it would not be out of the question for him to challenge Abraham for leadership of the party.

"Right now, I'm content to be the senior statesman," he said.

Although Legg has been active in Republican politics for 15 years, he says he has never taken any money nor done anything for personal gain.

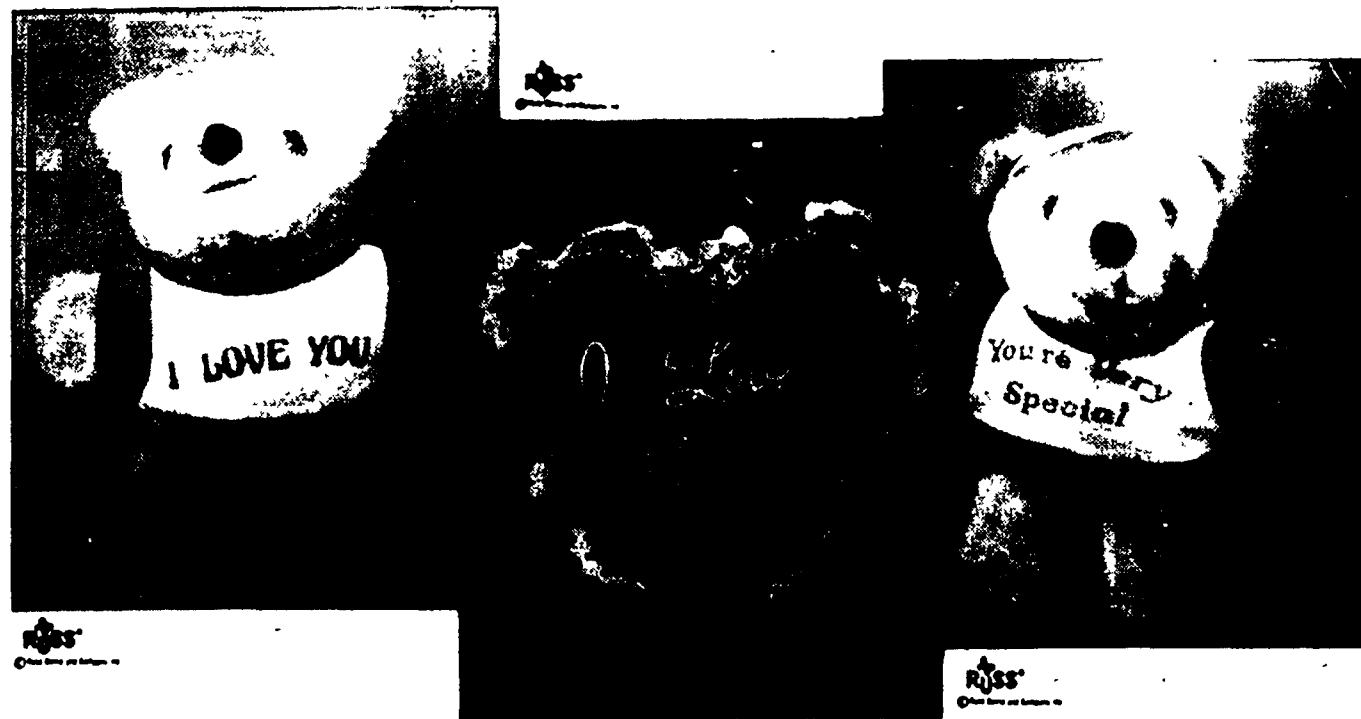

"There is nothing Mike Legg has gained for Mike Legg," he said, adding that when he served as a challenger for an election in the Clarenceville school district, he gave the money paid him back to the district as a donation.

Legg makes no bones about being angry with the way he and his delegation were treated in Grand Rapids.

Legg said he intends to pursue his challenge first to Iowa and a meeting with Kemp, then to New Orleans, where he intends to take his seat as a duly elected national delegate.

Council enacts updated zoning ordinance

By BOB NEEDHAM

The City of Northville is working under a new version of its zoning ordinance, but don't expect any major changes in city operation.

The city council Monday, Jan. 25, approved a revision to the ordinance which makes several changes to update language in the ordinance, and also makes a few small changes to the substance of the ordinance.

"I think the changes are not really major... in a policy sense," City Manager Steve Walters said at the meeting. "It's really an updating and rewording and streamlining some of the language and some of the provisions."

The new ordinance is the result of a long review process by the city's planning commission, under then-chairperson Jerry Mittman. The commission approved the revised ordinance last year, and came before the council after Mittman was elected to the council and he pressed for adoption.

City Planning Consultant Ron Nino summarized the changes to the ordinance in a report. Most of the listed changes cover new numbering of sections, rewording, and consolidation of amendments into the body of the ordinance.

Other changes include:

- A maximum building height of six stories in the central business district (CBD). Previously, there was no height limit.
- Reduction of the density allowed under R-3 zoning (third density residential) by about six percent.

- Reduction of the density allowed under R-4 zoning (fourth density residential) by about six percent.
- A slight increase in off-street parking required for PBO (professional business/office) zoning.

- An increase in the percent of landscaping required in several zoning districts.

The revised ordinance passed the council 5-0.

Downtown business owner protests the process for project approval

When the city council considered revision of the city's zoning ordinance last week, one resident and business owner said he doesn't think the change will be much of an improvement.

Wes Henrikson, who operates an insurance business from a building on East Main Street, has been appearing before the city planning commission recently with an application to build an addition to his office. At the city council meeting Monday, Jan. 25, he said a revised zoning ordinance should simplify the restrictions for getting a project approved.

But city officials at the meeting said that, although the approval process could be improved, the tough zoning restrictions have helped make the city what it is.

"No one knows what we had in the old (ordinance)," Henrikson said at the meeting. "There's not a handle on what we have right now."

He said he has run across several problems in the approval process, and that the new ordinance will not be any more streamlined than the old version. A revision should "get back to basic English," he said.

"Sometimes you make it so difficult for a person to take a piece of property and make it halfway decent," said Henrikson.

Council member Paul Folino responded that he put a building up a few years ago, and didn't run into any unreasonable problems in the approval process. When the people involved with the project familiarize themselves with city requirements, the process works, he added.

Planning commission chairperson Richard Wilhelm, who was in the audience at the council meeting, said, "There is probably some process change that can always be improved in any organization."

Mayor Chris Johnson said the council, commission and the city administration should consider Henrikson's specific complaints. "These shouldn't be torture tests for people who want to come into the community and build," he said.

Diet Pills Sweeping U.S.

Doctors Invent 'Lazy Way' to Lose Weight

New 'Fat Magnet' Diet Pill Guarantees Fast Weight Loss

BEVERLY HILLS, CA (Special)—An amazing new weight loss pill called "fat-magnet" has recently been developed and perfected by two prominent doctors at a world famous hospital in Los Angeles that reportedly "guarantees" that you will easily lose fat by simply taking their tested and proven new pill.

No Dieting—Eat Normally
Best of all, "you can continue to eat all of your favorite foods and you don't have to change your normal eating habits. You will start losing fat from the very first day, until you achieve the ideal weight and figure you desire."

There has never been anything like it before. It is a totally new major medical breakthrough for weight loss (worldwide patent pending).

Flushes Fat Out of Body
The new pill is appropriately called the "fat-magnet" pill because it breaks into thousands of particles, each acting like a tiny magnet, "attracting" and trapping many times its size in fat particles. Then, all that trapped fat is naturally "flushed" right out of your body because it cannot be digested.

Within 2 days you will notice a change in the color of your stool as the fat particles are being eliminated.

"Pills Do All the Work"
According to the doctors, the fat-magnet pills do all the work while you quickly lose fat with no starvation diet menus to follow, no calorie counting, no exercising, and no hunger pangs. It is 100% safe. You simply take the pills with a glass of water before meals.

The fat-magnet pills have just been offered to the American public and are already sweeping the country with record sales and reports of dramatic weight loss. It's the "lazy way" to lose weight for people who enjoy eating.

Now Available to Public
If you need to lose 20, 50, 100 pounds or more, you can order your supply of these new highly successful fat-magnet pills (now available from the doctor's exclusive manufacturer by mail or phone order only) by sending $20 for a 90 pill supply (+$2 handling), or $35 for a 180 pill supply (+$3 handling), cash, check or money order to: Fat-Magnet, 9016 Wilshire Blvd., Dept. W24, Beverly Hills, CA 90211. (Unconditional money-back guarantee if not 100% satisfied.) Visa, MasterCard and American Express OK. (Send card number, expire date, and signature.) For fastest service for credit card orders ONLY call anytime 24 hours, toll free (800) 527-9700, ext. W24.

Council goes on record for revolving tax funds

The City of Northville is joining with other municipalities, counties and public officials across the country in support of a new law to support delinquent tax revolving funds.

Both Oakland and Wayne counties have used the funds for the past several years. The system operates by a county paying all the delinquent tax owed to a local government. The county borrows money to pay the local units, using actual collection and penalties of the delinquent taxes to pay for the borrowing and interest.

Letters to the city from both Oakland and Wayne counties explain that last year, the Internal Revenue Service ruled that the funds were not tax exempt. That ruling, according to the letters, could mean the end of the revolving fund program.

At the city council meeting Monday, City Manager Steve Walters said the revolving funds allow much simplified bookkeeping for the city, and in effect gives the city 100 percent tax collection each year.

On a 5-0 vote, the city council agreed with requests from the treasurers of Oakland and Wayne counties and adopted a resolution in support of an amendment which would allow the revolving fund program to continue.

The resolution is to be sent to several federal legislators.

Grant brings furnishings to Northville area seniors

The Northville Area Senior Citizens Center is going to look a little more furnished soon, thanks to a grant from the State Commission on Services to the Aging.

The commission awarded a $4,200 grant last fall to the Northville center to buy 12 tables and 50 chairs. Karl Peters, senior services coordinator, said the tables should arrive any time, with delivery of the chairs expected in about four weeks.

"It's going to make the center look a lot more uniform," Peters said.

The center received half of its grant request, Peters said. But even that was an accomplishment, since this was the third time the center made the request, he added.

"This was the third time and we finally got them, so we were really surprised," he said.

The Northville grant was part of a program totalling almost $250,000 in grants this fall among 106 senior centers and organizations. Other grants in the area include $10,000 to the City of Dearborn Heights for a variety of equipment, $600 to Sumpter Township and Belleville for exercise bikes, and $493 to the Rockwood Community Center for a wet and dry vacuum.

Sewer officials put ducks in a row

Farmington Drain and Pump Station No. 2A in the Detroit sewer system, also related to super sewer, should also receive federal grant money for at least the first phase of construction.

The first phase of the North Huron Valley/Rouge Valley is expected to cost about $42 million. Additional local improvements will cost extra and each community is responsible for its own costs, Schrameck said. A federal grant is expected to pick up 55 percent of that cost. The pump station reconstruction is expected to cost $20 million.

In his letter to Eldon Ahles, YCUA director, Zuger noted that the Water Resources Commission will establish a phosphorus limitation of 6 milligram per liter as a 30-day average discharge into the Rouge, based on a 29 million gallon per day flow.

However, in order to accommodate the Western Township Utility Authority proposed flow, an additional 29 million gallon per day maximum, the commission would recommend .6 milligrams per liter during the growing season (roughly March-October) and a phosphorus discharge level of .8 during the non-growing season (November-February).

In addition, Zuger noted that YCUA would be asked to monitor the discharge and, if required, implement further treatment should the phosphorus have an adverse effect on the Rouge.

"With your concurrence, we will proceed to present this concept to the Water Resources Commission at its Feb. 19 meeting. If the commission concurs, we will continue to work with you, WTUA and other interested parties to gain Rouge River basin public support for project implementation," Zuger wrote.

Copies of the four-page letter were sent to Kirk Proffitt in House Speaker Gary Owen's office, who has been assisting YCUA in attempting to gain approval for a capacity increase, to Rob Van Ravenswaay, a YCUA attorney, and to Abe Munfa, a partner in Ayers, Lewis, Norris and May, WTUA's consulting engineers, among others.

benefit low and moderate income areas, or to provide direct benefits to senior citizens or the physically handicapped.

In the past, the city has used its Wayne CDBG money to pay off debt on the library. But that debt will be fully paid off in June, Walters said, leaving the balance of 1986 and 1987 CDBG grants.

He added that the library building would not qualify as an eligible project under the newest CDBG rules.

At Monday's meeting, the city council voted to hold a public hearing Tuesday, Feb. 16, to consider possible uses of the CDBG money.

Under a schedule prepared by Walters, the council will continue discussion of the funds at its March 7 meeting, and will plan to approve project priorities at its March 21 meeting.

The application is due to Wayne County March 31.

Northville Youth Assistance offers a new fourth alternative

This is another in a continuing series of columns written by Mary Ellen King, director of Northville Youth Assistance.

The parents of a 14-year-old girl notify the police department their daughter is missing. Forty-eight hours later, the police locate the girl at a friend's house. The officer takes the youngster to the police station and calls her parents.

Now what?

In the past, the police would have had three options: turn the girl over to her parents and hope the parents seek counseling; lecture the girl and have her write an essay about her reasons for running away and then send her home; or, petition the youth to the juvenile division of probate court.

Today, the police in the city and the township have another alternative. The police can refer the youth to Northville Youth Assistance.

For first time juvenile offenses, the police are reluctant to petition the youths to court because, in most instances, the court merely lectures the youth and the youngster does not get any real help. Without help or counseling, in many cases, the youth is back in the court in a short time and a more severe problem cycle could begin.

Detective Sgt. David Fendeleit of the Northville City Police Dept. and Detective Michael Panagiotides of the township police have said they are very pleased to have NYA as another alternative.

As in the case of the runaway girl, the youth who has had an encounter with law enforcement will be able to stay in her own community and find help. The only people who will be aware of the problem will be the youngster and her family, the local police and NYA staff.

During a recent interview with Fendeleit and Panagiotides, they said that examples of youth crimes they refer to NYA are malicious destruction of property, vandalism, shoplifting, runaway and domestic difficulties.

The officers also refer youth ordinance violations such as harassment, disturbing the peace, loitering and curfew violations to NYA.

For most youths, it is the first time they have had police contact. The police feel very comfortable that the youth's problems will be handled here in Northville, and the youth will avoid becoming part of the county judicial system.

Fendeleit said he is pleased that the youth will be monitored on a timely basis and that there is a therapy aspect to the program.

"With services such as NYA available, it is more likely that we will reach the desired outcome of help for the youth," Panagiotides said.

Parents and youth must agree to participate in the program when the police departments recommend it.

The two officers have had different experiences in dealing with parents whose youngsters have been involved with the police, but both officers said there are similarities.

There is an initial reluctance on the part of many parents to believe that their child has been involved in a crime or an ordinance violation, the officers said. In Panagiotides's experiences, he said that many parents do not believe the police should be involved with youthful offenders. But Fendeleit said he has never had a parent deny his child's involvement in a crime, once that parent knew the child was guilty.

Both men said they feel that youth will benefit from participation in NYA and that they hope the parents will fully utilize the service when it is recommended by the police.

Police Blotters

Pockets picked at the Downs

Three separate pickpocket thefts at Northville Downs were reported to city police over the weekend, according to reports.

In the first of the three, shortly before midnight Friday, an employee in the clubhouse was robbed of almost $600, a police report said. The man was leaving onto Center Street when a man fell in front of him and then abruptly walked away.

When the track employee got home, he noticed $581 in cash missing from his left front pocket, the report said.

Late Saturday, a man reported his wallet stolen from his left rear pocket, a report said.

As he was leaving the track, a man bent over in front of him, saying he lost a contact lens. The track patron bent over to help the man look, and when he stood up he felt his wallet missing, the report said.

The man said three credit cards and $15 cash were in the wallet. Northville police later learned that one of the missing credit cards was used to buy plane tickets to San Diego. As of Monday police were continuing to investigate.

In the third incident, a woman's wallet was stolen from her purse while in the upper grandstand at the Downs Saturday. The wallet held about $15, the report said.

TOOLS STOLEN — $521 worth of assorted tools were taken from a truck Jan. 8 or 9, according to a city police report.

The truck was parked and locked in a lot on South Center Street. It looked as if the thief got into the vehicle by prying open a vent window, the report said.

The missing tools included gauges, shears, pliers, wrenches and sockets, and two tool boxes.

ACCIDENT — An accident at the corner of Eight Mile and Center Street Saturday afternoon resulted in minor injuries and a traffic ticket.

According to a city police report, a Brighton resident was westbound on Eight Mile, turning left at Center, and turned right into the path of another car driving eastbound on Eight Mile.

The force of the crash caused the car to spin back onto Eight Mile and hit a third car, the report said.

The drivers of the first two cars each received minor injuries, the report said. Police issued the first driver a ticket for failing to yield while making a left turn.

LAWN JOB — A North Center Street resident reported a lawn torn up by a motor vehicle between 6:30 and 11:30 Saturday night, according to a city police report. Damage was estimated at $200.

COIN BOX STOLEN — A coin box was stolen from a Northville Record newspaper box outside Arbor Drugs between Jan. 21 and 28, according to a city police report.

The box, with a key padlock, was estimated to be worth $200, plus about $10 in coins inside.

LOCKER LARCENY — About $80 was stolen from a purse in a locker at Northville Downs Tuesday, Jan. 23, according to a police report.

An employee returned to the locker about midnight and found the money missing from the purse, the report said.

HOME BROKEN INTO — A residence on Six Mile Road was broken into in broad daylight Jan. 26, and the thieves escaped with more than $1,800 in merchandise.

Taken was an AM/FM stereo receiver, the power unit for the receiver, speakers, a radio and a 35 millimeter camera and lenses.

The complainant told township officers he had left the house at 7:45 a.m. and when he returned about 4:30 he noticed a set of tire tracks in the driveway and damaged items on the living room floor. A stereo turntable and a vase had been broken.

Entry to the house had been gained by an unlocked rear door. A window in the front door had been broken, but a deadbolt lock was still intact.

Officers are continuing to investigate the incident.

BREAK-IN FAILS — A Crestview resident informed township police Jan. 29 that someone had tried to break into her home; however, officers found no sign of forced entry.

The complainant said that a screen door covering a doorway no longer moved smoothly across the track.

Nothing was missing from the home in the event and officers found no signs of tracks.

New Look

Police cars in the City of Northville are looking a little different. The police department has started a switch to a new design: a solid-color car with a stripe identifying car as a police car. The stripe can be removed when a car goes out of service. The new style is cheaper than the old custom paint jobs, and is expected to increase old cars' resale value. The department also hopes the system will eliminate confusion between out-of-service police cars and real ones.

TV STOLEN — A woman on Westhill called township police Jan. 25 and reported a breaking and entering in progress at about 3 p.m.

When officers arrived at the home, he was told that the only item missing was a 19-inch color television.

The woman said she had noticed a red automobile pull into her driveway and a male exit the vehicle, walk up to her back door and begin knocking.

When the woman did not answer, she said she heard the sound of breaking glass and then she called police.

Officers noticed a kitchen window shattered and footprints leading from the back door.

There are no current suspects in the incident.

WALKAWAY RETURNED — Officer Jeffrey Larente, while on routine patrol Jan. 31, observed a black male suspect in the middle of Haggerty Road, wearing only a shirt, shoes and slacks.

The man identified himself as a patient at Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital, and was returned to the facility.

That was the only report from the hospital last week.

OUIL REPORT — Township officers arrested four people last week on OUIL charges.

WARRANTS — Five people were arrested on outstanding warrants by Northville Township police.

Our Opinions

Vacancies present important challenge

Seldom has the community had the opportunity to shape its growth and development as it does right now.

Using the word "community" is not an accident. The City of Northville is looking for a planning consultant to replace Ron Nino; Northville Township is seeking a community development director to replace Matt Modrack.

Although the job descriptions for the two positions are widely divergent, ultimately, the performance of the people who will hold the jobs is closely related.

The planning consultant, often a firm, or a company, provides professional expertise to the planning commission to allow the commission to make rational, legal and well thought out decisions on the zoning, building and development requests that come before it.

The community development director not only serves as a liaison between developers and the township planning commission, but works with the planning consultants to ensure that plans are workable, legal and buildable within the township.

In both cases, the people who hold the jobs have a great deal of leeway to determine exactly what the community will look like in the future.

The choices facing the city and the township as they seek to fill the vacancies go beyond just filling positions. And well they should.

Whoever the City Council chooses as a planning consultant will work with a relatively new planning commission in a relatively old community.

Almost as soon as the planning consultant comes on board, the newcomer will be looking at downtown, at parking, at traffic, at plans for condominiums on the St. Lawrence barns property and, we hope, at plans for the southwest corner of Main and Center. That person also will be looking at items that are routine to a settled, well-built community, including the minor disagreements that routinely occur when downtown creeps into abutting residential neighborhoods.

The community development director will be facing requests from developers for two Planned Residential Unit Developments (Country Club Estates of Northville, Blue Heron Pointe), a woodlands and wetlands study, maintaining control of whatever is done with the former Wayne County Child Development Center at Sheldon and Five Mile roads, and other concerns that are routine with a growing community.

Since both the city and the township hope to have their new planners on board at relatively the same time, it might behoove both governmental agencies — the City Council and township Board of Trustees — to communicate with each other during the interview process. Since township officials say they consider the city's downtown as their downtown, what happens in the city has a direct impact on what happens in the township and vice versa.

Neither the city nor the township exists in a vacuum. Many of the issues that affect one municipality affect the other. Certainly, the final choice of a planning consultant should rest with the city council and the selection of a community development director should remain with the trustees, but input between the two bodies during the selection process should give the new planners a realization of the unique relationship that exists between the two governments. If that happens, the citizens and businesses in both communities can only benefit.

Straightening up

Once upon a time, somebody had the idea to update the zoning ordinance in the City of Northville. Today, that idea from the past finally becomes reality, when a recently-passed revision actually goes into effect.

The new ordinance does not make a whole lot of substantive changes. In fact, the only really important content change is the addition of a six-story/sixty foot limit on building height in the central business district.

That's an important provision, even though it seems pretty doubtful that anyone is going to propose a project of that size in the foreseeable future. Actually, six stories or sixty feet may not be enough of a limit for a community like Northville, but at least it's a step in the right direction.

So if this is the only real change, why did the entire ordinance need to be revised? The old document was getting to be a mess with outdated language, amendments upon amendments and a confusing structure.

The new ordinance consolidates, rearranges and updates the entire set of zoning regulations for the city to make it much easier to use and understand. The people who worked on putting this together deserve much credit.

A new zoning ordinance certainly isn't the most exciting of topics. There isn't any controversy to it, and it doesn't resolve any emergencies.

But that makes it all the more admirable that people like Jerry Mittman, Ron Nino and others on the planning commission and in city administration took the time to do this job, and to do it right. The city is better for their efforts.

The other 400

By Jean Day

The split of Michigan Republicans at their convention in Grand Rapids last weekend focused national attention on that city. Some 312 media people — from television, radio and newspapers across the country — reported on convention meetings at the Grand Center.

There also were about 400 other newspeople and, in some cases, their spouses gathering at the Amway Grand Plaza last weekend for another convention, the 1988 Michigan Press Association Winter Convention.

This annual event has been held in Grand Rapids for several years. Highlights include an address by the governor of the state and the annual banquet presentation of Awards of Excellence to the state's top newspapers.

As Gov. James Blanchard gave the keynote address at the opening luncheon, he joked that he had startled some Republicans when he walked through the lobby. Commenting on the struggle between Republican factions, he said he had to be careful because there was no assurance the Democratic convention would not have disruptions.

Of interest locally, the governor said that among the changes he would like to be able to implement would be redoing the administration of the state prisons. He would like to appoint the top management, he said.

Phil Jerome and I were at the convention to pick up Awards of Excellence for the Novi News and The Northville Record respectively. Three newspapers — the other was the Birmingham/Bloomfield Eccentric — were named the top weeklies in the state. Also receiving plaques as "The Best of 1987" were three daily newspapers (top in their circulation classes) — the Detroit News, Port Huron Times Herald and the Menominee Herald-Leader.

Admittedly, it is a great satisfaction to hear that both our newspapers are recognized with the Michigan Press Association awards and to hear the judges' comments. Their comments give an indication of what constitutes a quality newspaper.

Summation of The Record stated: Dynamite pictures; organizational skills tremendous and evident throughout the newspaper; writing was professionally done. Innovative journalism, refreshing. Clean layout; good variety of material; interesting copy. Superb layout. Photos outstanding.

Judges' comments on the News were: Overall best in news coverage. Good color use and all the qualities for general excellence. Exciting sums it up! Clean, integrated, fun, easy to read! Great use of large photos. Great front pages set pace throughout the newspaper! Use of color is dramatic. Like story idea. Conversational style writing. Layout fits topic and adds to appeal.

For people in our business, such citations are the real reward of trying to do our best for the communities we serve. As regular readers know, the comments on photographs are the result of fine work by photographer Chris Boyd, who probably is the best known staffer in both our communities.

The comments are accolades to the reporters who cover everything from city council and board of trustee meetings to town hall and Friends of the Library. Anita Crone and Bob Needham are familiar bylines in The Record while Ann Willis has been joined by Brenda Bonzheim on the Novi beat. Neil Geoghegan is well-known in both Northville and Novi for his sports coverage.

In addition to the fun of being a winner, the convention has become a reunion with other working newspaper people. Years ago it was held at Kellogg Center in East Lansing. Growth took it to its present location in Grand Rapids.

In all, it was a weekend to remember.

Better Newspaper Contest were laid out for inquiring minds to see . . . and steal ideas from.

You may recall that The Northville Record and Novi News did rather well in that competition, winning two of the six general excellence awards presented to daily and weekly newspapers in the state.

Of course, my arrival at the Amway Grand caused quite a stir. You know, television reporters scrambling all over the place . . . the lights from the cameras glaring in my face.

Yep, Ol' Phil made a spectacular arrival all right. You should have seen all the GOP dignitaries — who were in G.R. for their state convention at the same time — rush toward the doors as I walked in.

In all humility, however, I must admit I'm not absolutely positive I was the sole reason for all the cameras and dignitaries. Some guy named Jim Blanchard, who's divorced and lives near Lansing, came in right behind me.

I thought it was strange that none of the reporters asked me directly for an interview.

After the fact

By Phil Jerome

Big weekend in the newspaper biz, folks.

Last Friday, Jean Day and I and a couple hundred other lesser known journalists trekked off to the Amway Grand in Grand Rapids for the annual Michigan Press Association (MPA) Convention.

And a grand time was had by all. There were after-lunch and after-dinner speeches, working breakfasts where we all sat down together and talked about mutual problems, and seminars about libel and managing the news room.

I managed to spend a lot of time in the "awards" room where all the winning entries from the MPA's 1987

Friends, Winterfest say thanks for help

To the Editor:

The Friends of the (Northville) Library are truly appreciative of the generous coverage The Northville Record has provided for their activities and programs. There is no doubt but that the coverage has enhanced the image of the Friends in the community, generated added support of their activities and conceivably been a factor in increasing the rapidly growing membership rolls.

To show their appreciation, the Friends would like to contribute a book to the library in your name through their Gift Book Program. The program has generated more than $500 for new books to the library in the first four months of its existence, something they and the staff are quite proud of.

It is a real pleasure for the Friends to show their appreciation of The Record's interest and coverage.

Cordially,
Betty Griffin

NAC starts effort to increase awareness

"Dig out those red ribbons you saved at Christmas and hold onto any that come at Valentine's Day" — that's the request the Northville Action Council is making to the community

As part of the council's focus on drug awareness during the P.T.A. Drug Awareness Week of March 6-12, it is asking merchants and residents to display red ribbons on trees, lamp posts and doors "as a statement against substance abuse."

During the week, N.A.C. will be distributing a parent handbook, "As Parents We Will..."

The book, intended as a guide for parents, gives advice on how to be aware of activities of young people that cause concern, how to set limits and communicate with children and where to seek help.

The N.A.C. already has sent letters to Northville City Council, Northville Township, both police and fire departments, the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce and local merchants seeking their support of "tie a red ribbon" week.

Roxanne Casterline, who is handling publicity for the council, said it is hoping to have the cooperation of merchants in displaying red ribbons in their store windows. The police and fire departments are being asked to tie the ribbons on their vehicles to indicate their support of the program.

The Red Ribbon Week activities are being coordinated by the Northville P.T.A. Coordinating Council. It is hoping that it can become an annual event.

The city council and Northville Board of Education both have issued supportive proclamations.

The school board resolution commends the council's action in publishing and distributing the guide for parents and notes that the production involved "hours of research and creativity as well as extensive fund raising efforts."

Funding to publish the handbook has come from individuals and merchants as well as the Northville Jaycees, Northville Mothers' Club, Northville-Novis Colts, Northville Recreation Department, Kiwanis, Rotary, Northville Command Officers Association, Northville Junior Baseball and Northville Montessori Center

Casterline said the Red Ribbon Week, as far as the council is aware, has not been celebrated elsewhere in the area. The idea was related by Lynn Gaul, Northville Montessori Center director, who had seen such an observance while visiting in Atlanta

Schovers assumes new role in building department

Ray Schovers has been appointed deputy building official, and will be performing the chief building inspection duties until Troy Milligan is able to return to the township.

Milligan, Northville Township's chief building official, suffered a mild heart attack in December.

Since then, Schovers has been filling in for Milligan.

Schovers' appointment, along with a raise in his hourly rate, became effective Jan. 8. He agreed to work approximately 40 hours each week.

Under the terms of the agreement between the township and Schovers, he will serve as deputy building official until Milligan is able to return to his duties or until the township opts to return Schovers to his previous position as building inspector.

Local Republicans take charge

Stormont, who lost her delegate status on Saturday, was one of nearly 700 conservative Republicans who met in the Michigan Room on Saturday.

"I am a delegate to the convention," she insisted. "I've been elected and I've been seated and I really didn't believe that they (the Bush faction) would deny us the right to sit at the convention as a representative of the Wayne Second."

"This is the legal convention," Assenmacher said. "I think that the people upstairs didn't act fairly when they wouldn't seat us."

She added that she chose to attend the Michigan Room gathering in an effort to show support for Robertson.

"Up there, we really didn't have much of a chance. It seems like it was stacked against us, so I really didn't have much of a choice but to come down here."

In a way, the Robertson/Kemp faction was rewarded for their efforts when Robertson paid a surprise visit to the gathering

Changing of the guard

Ann Roy turns over business to Northville resident

By BOB NEEDHAM

When Ann Roy decided — after 40 years in the real estate business — to sell her company, she hoped to find a buyer who had experience as well as local ties.

She found him: Gene Komarynski, a man with over 20 years in the business himself, including experience in many different facets of real estate.

Roy has been involved with Bruce Roy Realty for 40 years, including 15 years in the office on Center Street in downtown Northville. During her time in the business, she built a strong reputation in the community and in her field. Professional groups have honored her several times, and she has won the title "Woman of the Year" from three different real estate associations.

When it came time to retire from the business founded by her late husband in 1945 in Detroit, Roy received about 40 inquiries from potential buyers.

One of those was Komarynski, and Roy is pretty pleased about that. The new owner lives just a few minutes from the office, so he understands the area and the customers, Roy said.

"I'm so happy that a Northville person got it and I'm so thrilled they're keeping the name and the same staff," she commented.

'I think Northville is at a crossroads. I think you're going to see a lot of development within the city limits.'

— Gene Komarynski,
Bruce Roy Realty

Komarynski likes the situation, too. He and his family have lived in the area for four years, showing their commitment to Northville. "It's our choice like it would be our customers' choice," he said.

The whole family is becoming involved in the new venture. His son, Gene Komarynski II, is already active in the office. And his wife Mary Ann, a pediatric nurse practitioner at Mott Hospital, is currently studying for her real estate license, as is Janet Young, the firm's office manager.

Both Gene and Mary Ann Komarynski are natives of southeast Michigan. Gene Komarynski has been in the building and real estate business since 1967, and holds a builder's license and broker's license in addition to his real estate license. During his career, he has built up an impressive list of experience and contacts in the business, including Edward Rose and Sons, Advance Mortgage and Singh Associates.

His work with the Roses got him really involved in many aspects of the land development process, he said. "They would do the maximum in-house I was interested, so I just kept (learning)," he said.

For the past few weeks, Komarynski has been settling into his new role, with Roy working as a consultant to the new owners. "She's been very helpful with people here locally," Komarynski said.

One thing Komarynski hopes to do in his new venture is offer as many different real-estate-related services as possible. The office can offer the services of a builder, a broker, a notary public, a certified public accountant, a real estate appraiser, a land developer, property management and tax appeals. "Anything in regards to real estate, I'd be able to help you," he said.

He's offering more opportunity for that help, too, by keeping the office open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., and open seven days a week.

"He reminds me of myself 20 years ago," Roy commented, since Komarynski is ambitious and concerned about the business.

Both Roy and Komarynski said they are looking forward to the future. Both agreed that the present situation in real estate looks good.

"Interest rates are at an all-time low," Roy said. Komarynski agreed, saying that now is the ideal time to buy. "Waiting in real estate is always a bad idea. To wait is to lose," he said.

And as for the future of Northville, Komarynski said things should continue to improve. "I think Northville is at a crossroads. I think you're going to see a lot of development within the city limits," he said. Specifically, the city may see a trend toward Birmingham-like specialty shops, high quality goods and high quality services, he said.

And as for Roy, in between her consulting duties, she hopes to travel and play a lot of golf. "I'm going to have fun, fun, fun," she said.

DAN WILLIAMSON, owner and president of the Daniel R. Williamson at 46010 Nine Mile in Northville, was recently installed on the 25-member Board of Directors of the Michigan Association of Realtors.

With a membership of approximately 22,000 members, the Michigan Association of Realtors is one of the largest trade associations in the state, representing people from across the state who work in various phases of the real estate industry. Williamson was elected to represent the association by members of the Past President's Advisory Committee.

Williamson has been active in the association leadership since 1968, serving as the president of the association in 1982. In his more than 20 years of active involvement in the association, Williamson has served on nearly every state committee, chairing many of them.

On the local level, he has been a member of the Western Wayne Oakland County Board and served as the executive officer from 1983-1986. Prior to that, he served in all the board's offices, including President, and was a director for 10 years. Williamson also served in all the offices of the Detroit Board, serving as president in 1983.

Williamson is also a licensed builder and currently serves as a consultant to real estate companies from his office.

Tax Reform Act makes basic changes

Money Management

There certainly has been a lot of talk about the Tax Reform Act of 1986. Its proponents say it is simpler; others find it extremely complicated. Many taxpayers will pay less to the government; others will be faced with larger tax bills. Some have lauded the new bill's fairness; others can be found grumbling.

But no one is arguing the fact that the impact of tax reform is being felt by all.

The tax bill President Reagan signed into law Oct. 22, 1986, runs nearly a thousand pages. While the bill may sound overwhelming, it has been estimated that the average taxpayer is affected by about 200 pages.

Nonetheless, the Michigan Association of CPAs suggests that the best way to approach the new law is to familiarize yourself with the major provisions one step at a time. Four basic areas that will affect all taxpayers — rates, filing requirements, personal exemptions and the standard deduction — are examined here.

TAX RATES: The cornerstone of the Tax Reform Act of 1986 is the streamlined system of tax rates. In 1986, there were 15 tax brackets ranging from 11 to 50 percent. The new system, which becomes fully effective in 1988, has two brackets. Congress is calling 1987 a transitional year, with a blending of the new and old tax rates. For 1987, there are five tax brackets — 11 percent, 15 percent, 28 percent, 35 percent and 38.5 percent.

Beginning in 1988, the two brackets will be 15 percent and 28 percent, with the 28 percent rate kicking in when income reaches $29,750 for married couples and $17,850 for singles. However, upper-income taxpayers will be faced with something the government calls a "phase-out surtax." Congress feels that once an individual's income reaches a certain level, the individual doesn't need the benefits of the 15-percent tax bracket on the first few thousands he or she earns. To remedy this, a five-percent surtax was introduced, in effect phasing out the 15-percent bracket for upper-income taxpayers.

FILING REQUIREMENTS: Generally speaking, whether you must file a tax return depends primarily on four factors: your filing status, age, gross income and whether you are blind. Because the Tax Reform Act raised the amount of income you may have before being required to file a tax return, fewer individuals will have to file returns for 1987.

If you are single and under 65, you must file a return if your gross income was at least $4,440. If you're 65 or older, the figure is $5,650.

If you're married and you and your spouse are filing a joint return, you must file if your income exceeds $7,560 if both spouses are under 65, $9,400 for one spouse 65 or older, and $10,000 for both spouses 65 or older.

If you're married and filing a separate return, you must file if your gross income is at least $1,900.

The filing requirements for heads of households and qualifying widows and widowers have risen as well.

Some people may have to file a tax return even if their gross income is less than outlined above. For instance, if you are self-employed and your net earnings are $400 or more, you must file a return. You must also file a return regardless of your gross income if, during the year, you received advance payments of the earned income credit or if you owe any other taxes. A taxpayer who qualifies for the earned income credit can only claim the credit by filing a tax return. And if you are not required to file a return but had federal income taxes withheld, you must file a return to receive a refund of the tax withheld.

An individual who can be claimed as a dependent on another person's tax return must file a return if his or her gross income exceeds the standard deduction or if he or she has any unearned income and gross income over $500.

PERSONAL EXEMPTIONS: The Tax Reform Act almost doubles the worth of each personal exemption — that is the amount you subtract from your taxable income for yourself, your spouse and each of your dependents. For 1987, that amount is $1,900 — up from $1,080 in 1986 — a big plus, particularly for large families. This increase affects both itemizers and non-itemizers.

Just as the benefit of the 15-percent bracket is phased out for those with high income, so, too, is their personal exemption. Beginning in 1988, single taxpayers will start to lose the benefit of their personal exemption when their income exceeds $89,560. For married people filing jointly, the figure is $149,250.

Elderly and blind taxpayers who previously were allowed an extra personal exemption will no longer be entitled to one. Instead, Congress has agreed to increase the standard deduction for those taxpayers.

Another important change for 1987 concerns dependents. A person who is eligible to be claimed as a dependent on another taxpayer's return cannot take the exemption on his or her own return. So a child who is eligible to be claimed as a dependent on a parent's return, may not take a personal exemption on his or her own return.

STANDARD DEDUCTION: The Tax Reform Act brings back the standard deduction that you may remember from those days before the "zero tax bracket."

For 1987, the standard deduction is $2,540 for singles and $3,760 for married couples. For those 65 or older or blind, the standard deduction ranges from $3,000 for single filers to $5,000 for those married and filing jointly. And those who are 65 or older or blind get an additional deduction of $800 for married filing jointly or separately and $750 for a single or head-of-household taxpayer.

As a result of the higher standard deduction, millions of taxpayers are likely to claim the standard deduction rather than itemize.

For a complete explanation of the new tax bill, request a copy of IRS Publication 920, "Explanation of the TRA of 1986 for Individuals." But because each person's tax situation is different, the Michigan Association of CPAs recommends that you consult with a tax expert on specific questions concerning your taxes.

"YES, THERE IS LIFE AFTER BREAST CANCER. AND THAT'S THE WHOLE POINT."

—Ann Jillian

A lot of women are so afraid of breast cancer they won't practice breast self-examination or ask their doctor about a mammogram. And that's what frightens me.

Take it from someone who's been through it all: Life is just too wonderful to give up on.

But to enjoy it, you do have to give up being afraid to take care of yourself.

Getting Away

Three ways to break winter's blahs

HOT BATH

Traverse City Not just for the summer

By Dennis Keenon

Traverse City bustles in the summer and hustles in the winter. A natural magnetic summertime retreat, Traverse City goes all out to promote itself as the perfect winter getaway venue also.

And the community does have a lot to offer during the winter months.

The activities calendar for February, for example, is filled with events—from special Silver Streak Weeks of alpine and cross-country skiing for senior citizens and a cross-country ski race which attracts an international field of competitors; to fun-filled weekend evenings at a comedy nightclub and a visit to the historic City Opera House for a Sunday brunch.

If you like to ski—downhill or cross-country—and snowmobile, then Traverse City is the place for you.

"We've got a lot of snow—a lot more than last year—and it's really busy up here," said Caroline Coates, of the Grand Traverse Convention and Visitors Bureau

More than 200 miles of cross-country ski trails, groomed snowmobile paths through scenic state forests and major ski resorts, such as Sugar Loaf and Shanty Creek/Schuss Mountain, beckon the downstate visitor to the Traverse City area.

This month the special Silver Streak Weeks are being offered to seniors (age 55 and up), who like to cross-country and downhill. This week, for example, there's free cross-country and downhill skiing for seniors at all major resorts through Friday. And Feb. 8-12 the resorts will give free lessons to the seniors. The Silver Streak special activities continue through the month.

The gigantic Grand Traverse Resort, just outside Traverse City in Acme on U.S. 31, best known for the Jack Nicklaus-designed "Bear" golf course, will host the

New York City City of energy

By Marilyn Herald

New York, New York — the city that never sleeps comes alive on weekend tours that offer a variety of activities busy enough to please everyone, from the small town first-timer to the most sophisticated traveler.

Only one city can boast the hustle, bustle, excitement and glamour of the "Big Apple," and everyone should see it at least once. What better time than now when it's a good time to dispel the traditional winter blahs which creep in, along with the cold and snow?

Package tours through your travel agent can have as wide or narrow a range of interests as the persons doing the traveling. There's a simple and relatively inexpensive package for two nights that includes accommodations at a tourist-class hotel in the center of the Broadway Theatre district as well as admission to the Empire State Building observation deck.

At the other end of the scale, there are package tours that put the spotlight on entertainment with three different tours from 2-4 nights that offer a sample of Broadway shows and a flexibility of sightseeing and gourmet dining that will keep you on the high side of entertainment for your entire stay.

It's time to pack up your most attractive evening attire, as well as comfortable leisure clothes and walking shoes and take off for a great "get-away" weekend.

Probably everyone plans to see the United Nations on the first trip. A one-hour guided tour covers the entire "World Headquarters of Man," where people of diversified lands come together trying to solve international problems.

Other highlights which most New York visitors don't want to miss are: New York Experience, New York's fabulous multi-media theater of sight, sound and sensation with 45 projectors, 16 screens and scores of exciting special effects, Guinness World Record Exhibit Hall, a unique exhibition of over 200 recording-

Nassau Aaaaah, fun in the sun

By Jean Day

If the thought that spring is still six weeks away is depressing, consider going to Paradise now. Paradise Island, that is.

And, if your wallet isn't able to provide a full-blown vacation in the sunny Bahamas, think about a one-day getaway for just $159.

The quickie vacation — guaranteed to break up winter doldrums — is as close as Detroit Metropolitan Airport. Travel agents have been sending area folk to Nassau for a couple of years. The flying time from Metro is just two hours and 40 minutes.

What is this day in the sun like? On arrival in Nassau, the plane's approximately 200 passengers are checked through customs with only proof of citizenship required. Outside buses wait to take vacationers to the travel package operator's hotel choice on the Presbyterian programs for singles feature 'Learning to Love Again'

Several workshop and social activities are scheduled this month by Single Place, an organization at First Presbyterian Church of Northville with the purpose of providing friendship, caring and sharing for all single adults.

A six-part workshop on Learning to Love Again will be presented from 7:30-9:30 p.m. Thursdays at the church beginning Feb. 18. The workshop sessions will be led by Shirley Grossman and are based on the book by Mel Krantzler. Cost is $20 a person for book, materials, speaker and child care.

Sessions are titled "Learning to Love Again," "Intimacy Revisited: New Pathways Toward New Relationships," "Readiness Time: the Four Stages of Learning to Love Again," "Moving Toward a Creative Commitment," "Practicing the Art of Creative Commitment" and "But What About the Children?"

Grossman, leader of the series, is a counselor and teacher with a wide variety of experiences. She presently is working in the field of personal and career counseling. She also is the owner of the Homestead, a bed and breakfast inn in Saline.

A dinner will be held every Thursday at 6 p.m. during February at O'Sheehan's at 4333 Seven Mile Road. A Sunday brunch is held from 12:30-2 p.m. every Sunday at Elias Brothers, Eight Mile and Haggerty roads.

A Sadie Hawkins square dance will be held from 8:30-10 p.m. in the church fellowship hall Feb. 27. Reservations should be made by calling the Single Place hotline, 349-6474.

A Valentine's Day program, "FLirting — the Fun of It," will be given at 7 p.m. Feb. 14 at the church. Speaker Paul Seaser will discuss "the social skill of today's life style" and discuss various signs and signals. A $2 donation is requested; child care will be provided.

A roller skating party including children is scheduled from 3-5:30 p.m. Feb. 21 at Bonaventure Roller Skating Center in Farmington Hills.

"Income Tax and the Single Person" will be discussed at 7 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 7, at the church by Sandy Smith-Rae, who is with Smith-Rae and Associates of Northville. She will present a special program on the effects of the new tax law on single people and point out deductions to be aware of.

Smith-Rae is a licensed, enrolled agent and has been doing tax returns for 16 years. A $2 donation will be appreciated; child care will be provided.

Third in a series of eight Monday evening Starting Over Single Divorce Recovery workshops, "Helping Children Through Divorce," will be presented at 7:30 p.m. Monday by Dr. Robert Geake, a member of the church and a state senator. Other programs in the present series on the following Monday nights include: "Networking" with Dr. Lawrence Chamberlain, senior pastor; "Getting My Ex in Focus" with Lu Wagner; "The Passage of Divorce," a panel discussion; "Church and Divorce, Spiritual Help" by the Rev. Jim Russell; and "Friendship and Dating" with Nancy Ray.

The church may be contacted at 349-0911 regarding any of the programs.

Kelly Slack, Scott Underwood exchange vows

Kelly Kay Slack and Scott Thomas Underwood exchanged marriage vows at the First Missionary Church of Westland Nov. 6. The Rev. Vern Granger officiated at the ceremony. The rings exchanged, the diamond and both bands, had been worn by the bride's mother and father.

The bride is the daughter of Harold Slack of Westland and Shirley Cochensparger of Bronson. The bridegroom is the son of Shirley Underwood of Northville and the late William (Pete) Underwood.

For the candlelight ceremony, mothers of the couple were escorted to the altar by the brothers of the bridegroom, William and Joel Underwood, both of Northville. After each candelabra had been lit, the mothers then were escorted to their seats.

Kathy Howerton sang "The Wedding Song" accompanied by Kenneth

Jennifer Kernohan wed in Mercy chapel

When Jennifer Mare Kernohan and Matthew J. McLaughlin were married at Mercy College Chapel in Detroit, the father of the bridegroom arranged for bagpipers to play at the ceremony and reception.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Sandra Kernohan of 1096 Washington Circle and the late Edward Kernohan. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David McLaughlin of 816 N. Center.

Father Bob McGrath, who grew up with the bride's parents, officiated at the wedding at 4 p.m. Oct. 3.

The bride's gown of ivory slipper satin was a J.P. original. It was adorned with satin rosebuds. The skirt extended into a scalloped chapel train.

A country mix of peach, blue iris, daisies and stephanotis formed the bride's cascade bouquet. The bridegroom's sister, Carol Harp from Pennsylvania, made the bridal bouquets.

The bride's sister, Molly Jean Kernohan, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were her sisters, Sally Hamblin, Carol Kernohan and Kathryn Kernohan. They wore blue cotton sateen dresses with eyelet petticoats and carried arrangements of white daisies, pink carnations, blue iris and stephanotis.

Kelly Lynn McLaughlin was flower girl in an ivory dress with calico pinafore.

Jeff Roberts was best man. Ushers were Dennis and Thomas McLaughlin, brothers of the bridegroom, David Sherman and George Hamblin, brothers in law, and Philip Higgins, an uncle.

A reception for 160 guests followed at Bobby's Country House in Livonia. Out-of-town guests came from Florida, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Connecticut and California.

After a wedding trip to Myrtle Beach, S.C., the newlyweds are living in a Pineknoll Townhouse on Taft Road.

MR. AND MRS. MATTHEW MCLAUGHLIN

They had met through family friends.

Both the bride and bridegroom are Northville High School graduates. The bride is a dental assistant in Brighton. The bridegroom is a supervisor for Commercial Car Carriers in Detroit.

Puterbaugh on the guitar. Carol Brenner was the organist for the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of white crepe-backed satin, styled with an overlay of iridescent lace. She wore a white satin headpiece with opalescent flowers, violet-purple roses, white roses and pearlescent drops holding her floor-length veil of illusion.

She carried a cascade bouquet of white satin carnations and roses, lavender flowers and green silk leaves tied with purple and white streamers. The bouquet was caught by the bride's niece, Crystal Lipke, and was used as the honor maid's bouquet at her wedding to Troy Anthony Barbier Nov. 9 in Toledo.

As something old, the bride carried a handkerchief belonging to the bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. Lorene Trafelet of Hammonds Bay on Lake Huron.

Tina Hayton of Westland was matron of honor in a deep purple, floor length gown with an overlay of white lace. She carried a bouquet of silk carnations, violet and pink roses.

The gowns of the bride and matron of honor were made by the bride's sister, Katherine Slack of Wixom, who was in charge of the guest book.

The bride made her veil and headpiece as well as her attendant's and the bouquets and corsages for mothers and grandmothers — her grandmother, Mrs. Edith Slack of Westland (formerly of Elmira, Mich.) and step-grandmother, Mrs. Hazel Baird of Muskegon.

Willer Eller of Westland was best man.

Ushers were the bridegroom's brothers, William and Joel Underwood of Northville.

Following the ceremony, a dinner reception was held in the church fellowship hall. Tables were covered with lavender cloths and streamers and white bells were suspended from the ceiling to form an arch at the ends of the bridal table and over the cake table. The bride had designed her wedding cake which featured entwined hearts.

The porcelain doves decorating the cake had been used on her parents' wedding and 25th anniversary cake.

The bride is a graduate of Wayne Memorial High School in Wayne.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Northville High School and Chrysler Tech. He is employed by Jettco in Westland.

The newlyweds are making their home in Westland.

breaking feats and events shown on color video screens; and, of course, Lincoln Center, home of Avery Fisher Hall, New York State Theatre, the Vivian Beaumont Theatre, the New York Metropolitan Opera House and Julliard School of Music.

Sightseeing on a downtown tourist bus line takes the traveler from midtown to the Battery and back, through Times Square, Herald Square, the garment district, Greenwich Village, the Bowery, a view of the Statue of Liberty and New York's magnificent harbor.

A day sunning in Nassau: winter breakaway for $159 island — a big one is Paradise Island Hotel Resort and Casino.

During the flight, passengers will have received bonus vouchers worth $30 to exchange in the casino for food, coupons and chips. The bus will drop everyone off at the casino entrance.

Changing rooms for both men and women will be available at the designated hotel; on trips from Detroit, Paradise Towers and Britannia Towers. The tour operator notes that some veteran daytrippers even slip into swim suits on the plane to "get the jump on their arrival."

The travel package includes full beach and pool privileges.

If gambling and lying in the sun aren't your thing, you'll find fellow vacationers with other aims — many arrive with golf clubs or tennis racquets. Greens fees are $22.50 and cart rentals are $25 for 18 holes. Court time may be reserved at the hotel for $3 per person per hour.

There's one other lure — shopping in Nassau at the wharf, the straw market and in shops stocked with jewelry, perfume, leather goods and liquor. Because one-day visitors do not qualify for duty-free exemptions, only $25 in purchases may be brought back duty-free. However, those 21 and older can purchase alcohol at the island's low prices and pay a small duty, which promoters say still results in savings.

It's really a full day in Paradise because the return flight does not leave until 10:30 p.m.

One word of caution: be prepared for a cancellation if the weather is severe or if plane problems develop. A one-day trip sponsored by the Northville Recreation Department in conjunction with other groups throughout the Detroit area did not take off last week because of mechanical difficulties. Inasmuch as these are charter flights, there is not usually backup equipment available. There are, however, lots of flying days. The one-day trip to Paradise is offered every Tuesday in February and March as well as twice in April and three times in May.

If you want to see the Broadway shows, and who doesn't, add from $20 to $100 to the weekend tab, depending on which show you choose and whether you want orchestra or back balcony seats. Matinees are less expensive and offer the same show, but without some of the glitter and excitement of the evening performance.

Advance reservations for shows should be made at the time of booking your tour. Ask your travel agent.

For an evening of laughs and a steak dinner, visit Rodney Dangerfield's. You may catch a glimpse of some of the television and movie personalities who frequent the restaurant.

Those with "Disco Fever" can plan a visit to Adam's Apple Restaurant and Disco for an evening of dining and dancing in the "Garden of Eden" setting.

The Parisian floor show at Cafe Versailles provides an evening at New York's most elegant supper club with dinner, dancing and a cover charge.

Other popular areas for dining are Sardi's, Mamma Leone's, Gallagher's, Windows on the World, Maxwell's Plum, Top of the Park, Joe's Pier 52, Tavern-on-the-Green and a luncheon cruise in New York harbor.

There is a basic city package tour of three days and two nights beginning at approximately $80 per person, sharing a double room at the Century Paramount Hotel, located in the Broadway Theater district. All taxes are included and a sightseeing tour of your choice through Lower or Upper Manhattan.

Prices go up or down from there, depending on which hotel you choose and how many people share a room. The basic tour runs about $70 per person for three in a room.

A two-day, one-night package trip to the Big Apple with a ticket to the Broadway show of your choice, starts at $100 per person, double occupancy.

Other hotels offered include the Wellington, Milford Plaza, Roosevelt, Empire, Omni Park Central, St. Moritz, Sheraton Centre, New York Hilton, Marriott Marquis, Grand Hyatt and The Plaza. The latter has a price tag of $240 for one person, double occupancy, for the basic two-night, three-day tour.

A Broadway Theatre four-day, three-night tour includes three nights at your choice of the hotels listed above, as well as sightseeing tours of Lower or Upper Manhattan, conducted tour of the United Nations Building, admission to the observation deck of the Empire State Building, admission to New York Experience, one theatre ticket to the Broadway show of your choice and dinner or Sunday buffet lunch at the World Trade Center.

Prices for this tour start at around $250 per person for double occupancy and run as high as $465 per person for double occupancy at the more elite hotels.

For those who really want to see the Big Apple in style, there's an eight-day, seven-night tour that will give you time to do some touring on your own as well as taking the sightseeing trips, offered in the package. Weekly package deals range from $250 to $800 for one person, depending on the hotel you choose. Prices mentioned here do not include airfare or transportation within the City of New York, other than the sightseeing trips included in the package deal chosen.

Dallas Phillips, owner of Phillips Travel in South Lyon, said round-trip airfare to New York currently runs as low as $118 per person, if you can be flexible in your travel schedule. "If you want to go on Friday and come back Sunday, it will cost considerably more," Phillips noted.

Phillips said he has heard that ticket scalpers are asking as much as $250 a ticket for "Phantom of the Opera" which has just opened.

Tickets for most shows and package tours can be obtained from travel agents on relatively short notice, Phillips commented. He added that last minute tickets can be purchased on an individual basis at the "Hot Ticket" booths in Times Square. "You see people lined up there to get tickets for Broadway and television shows."

Nordic Wolf Light Northern American Vasa cross-country race, 50K and 25K. It's a race that will draw skiers from all over the world on Feb. 13.

Traverse City attracts many snowmobilers, according to the visitors and convention bureau, and the bureau has snowmobile maps available to tourists at its offices, 900 E. Front St., Suite 100.

For nightlife, after a day of skiing or snowmobiling, Traverse City doesn't fall asleep either.

Winter visitors enjoy The Other Place comedy shop, Garfield Avenue, on Fridays and Saturdays, where some of the best up-and-coming Detroit area comics appear.

Then, if you like games of chance, the Traverse City area offers that, too. The Leelanau Sands Casino in Peshawbestown, on M-22 north of Suttons Bay, has legalized gambling on the Grand Traverse Ottawa and Chippewa Indian reservation, the convention and visitors bureau said. The casino, about 20 miles north of Traverse City, offers Las Vegas-style games of chance.

The casino is open every day, with cover charges of $5-Sundays through Fridays and $10 on Saturdays.

Downtown Traverse City has a vast array of retail shopping opportunities and also a chance to tour the City Opera House, 112½ E. Front St., which is on the national registry for historic places.

Built in 1891, the opera house served until 1920 as a meeting hall and a 1,200-seat auditorium for plays, magic acts and traveling shows.

It didn't reopen until 1986 after the City Opera House Heritage Committee had formed and began restoring the Victorian-style building.

It is open Tuesdays through Saturdays from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. for tours, said opera house manager Reed Zitting. Now the opera house hosts a summer theater in July and August, as well as concerts, wedding receptions, business dinners and ballroom dancing the rest of the year.

Every Sunday in February, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., the opera house will host fund-raising brunches and on Saturday, Feb. 20, the Interlochen String Quartet will perform there. Proceeds from the fund-raisers will be used to continue the restoration project, Zitting said.

Another building on the national historic registry, Dills Old Town Saloon, on Union Street, has entertainment on Fridays and Saturdays during the winter and hosts the Golden Garter Revue in the summer.

After 3 more weeks, you'll have to wait a year for our smile now, pay later, save $1,000 plan.

You only have until Feb. 20th to take advantage of our Second Annual Smile Now, Pay Later and Save $1,000 plan. What a plan, and what a hit!

And why not? When you can save $1,000 (based on average orthodontic fees) for our complete orthodontic care program: consultation, braces, retainers, the whole works, it's a savings everyone needing braces should take advantage of, sooner or later.

But when you can have our plan with no money down, and no payments until April 1st, it's something you should take advantage of, sooner.

The sooner the better. Or wait a year for our 3rd Annual Plan. And that would make Dr. Letzer very sad, because he wants the whole world to have a beautiful smile. Without paying through the nose. Right now.

Cruise into summer with a group

If you scan travel ads with enticing offers to "cruise to sunny desert isles" or to take a spring trip to historic Washington, D.C., but don't have a traveling companion, take heart. There's a ready answer: go with a gang.

Group travel is becoming more and more popular as it offers companions a chance to share the view of St. Thomas bay or to meet for lunch on shore during a cruise ship stop.

Joining a group is easy. Organizations from senior citizens and Masons to alumni groups are in the travel business. A telephone call to almost any travel agency also can put you in contact with group tours.

Katy Goodwin of Northville, who works with Conlin Travel Inc. and the University of Michigan Alumni Association in Ann Arbor, agrees that there's little hassle in joining a group tour.

In January she escorted a 40-member group of U-M Alums on a Caribbean cruise for 10 days. She points out that it is not necessary to be a graduate of the University of Michigan to join the alumni association; anyone who has attended U-M or is the parent of a student may join the association and participate in its extensive group travel program.

Likewise, area senior citizens may join tours such as the Northville Community Recreation department's motorcoach tour to Washington, D.C., and Gettysburg in May.

"I love my job," confides Goodwin, who works in the Conlin Ann Arbor office and escorts groups on tours about five times a year. Prior to the Caribbean cruise, she escorted a group on a trip to China. As a rule, she says, group travelers have no major problems.

The advantages of traveling with a group include being seated together for meals and having fellow travelers wearing badges like your own to chat with. Baggage usually is taken care of, and rooms and meals are prearranged.

A cruise can turn winter into summer

And there are tour escorts like Goodwin to guide you to waiting tour buses, planes or ships. On the Caribbean cruise in January, she met participants departing from Detroit Metropolitan Airport at the airport and accompanied the group to Fort Lauderdale, making contact there with the cruise line representatives to get the group onto buses that made connection with the cruise ship at the pier.

Before departure, participants had been asked their preferences for dining — early or late seating, a table for two, four, six or eight. Veteran group travelers suggest that, unless you're on a first or second honeymoon and wish a table for two, it's a good idea to opt for the tables for eight. With six or seven others to converse with, there's a good possibility that you'll meet a kindred soul to join for a shore excursion.

Another plus to group travel is the information given participants — on the Caribbean cruise, U-M participants received flyers on places to shop in St. Thomas, points of interest and shore tours available in Aruba or Caracas, Venezuela, with its impressive Plaza Bolivar.

Travel agents also are quick to point out that, because of volume guaranteed with a group, package tours cost less than it would to make individual arrangements. And, with a fluctuating dollar, it's reassuring that almost all costs already have been paid.

GREAT IDEA

Going to Greenfield Village has always been a popular pastime on some warm day when you want to get out for some fresh air and family togetherness.

But the village seems to lose some of its appeal when the wind is cold and the ground is covered with snow (especially since the inside of the buildings are closed until mid-March). The winter months may be an ideal time to enjoy a family activity in the warmth of the other half of the village complex — the Henry Ford Museum.

February provides the perfect chance to see all the museum has to offer, all those things you decide will have to wait after you've spent a full day in the village. And the museum does have its share of attractions.

Founded by Henry Ford in 1929, the museum maintains the village's theme of depicting the changes in American life after 1800. In addition to 12 acres of exhibits, the museum offers two restaurants and stores. Some of the attractions include:

□ Bicycle Exhibit — The museum exhibits machines from every stage of the evolution of the bicycle from a 1818-era Draisine to a 1961 Schwinn Black Phantom.

□ Home Arts Collection — This is one of the most extensive collections of this kind in the United States. It traces the evolution of home technology from the handwork of colonial times through the mass-produced conveniences of this century. The exhibit is organized into four complete period kitchens.

□ Rail Collection — One of the more famous exhibits, the rail collection consists of seven locomotives from steam to diesel-electric, seven pieces of rolling stock, and miniature locomotives, hand cars and other related items.

□ Transportation Collection — More all-encompassing than the rail collection, this exhibit takes American transportation from the Conestoga wagon all the way through the airplane, showing the effect that each development had on opening up more of the country.

□ The Automobile in American Life — This ambitious collection, the latest permanent addition to the museum, is claimed to be the world's first permanent exhibit of its topic. Costing $6 million, the 60,000-square-foot show demonstrates the impact on different facets of American life.

□ A lot more — Other permanent exhibits at the museum include industry and agriculture, with a 1938 Massey-Harris combine, on eof the first to be self-propelled.

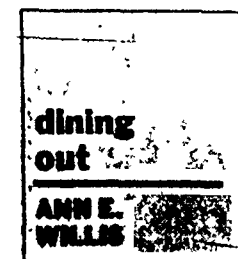

In addition, the museum is home to the Henry Ford Museum Theater, which presents historical revivals of important American plays. And finally, the museum holds many different demonstrations, educational programs, and special weekend events.

Visit to Ford museum a great way to learn

Admission to the museum is $9.50 for adults, $4.75 for children five through 12, and $8.50 for senior citizens, with group rates available. To get to the museum, go east on I-96, exiting right to the southbound Southfield Freeway (M-39). Exit west on Michigan Avenue, turn left on Oakwood Ave, and go a half mile. For more information call the museum at 271-1620.

Home Sweet Home: Down-home good

Nobody can say that the new Novi restaurant "Home Sweet Home" hasn't caught on. Stop by on a Saturday night without reservations and you'll wait for a table — with, chances are, 20 or 30 of your neighbors.

"Home Sweet Home" is located on Nine Mile just east of Novi Road, right where the old White House Manor restaurant stood for years.

But don't come to the new place looking for the old place. Things have changed at "Home Sweet Home."

As you approach the beautiful Georgian manor that houses the restaurant, the bold black pillars and lighted windows attract your attention. Inside, it's the full-scale stairway that winds to the second floor of dining rooms that takes over the lobby. The current owner, Steve Romanik, has done some serious remodeling and the new look can best be described by the catch-all word — eclectic.

The restaurant has two small dining rooms on the ground floor, each decorated with whatever touches happened to catch the owner's eye. No set style describes the restaurant's theme as wicker chairs nestle comfortably next to solid oak ones, and turtle lamps stand beside busts of frowning men.

A cozy bar is attached to the back of a dining room with two bar tables and not nearly enough room for the patrons waiting for tables in the restaurant.

Tables are placed all around the top of the staircase on the second floor where more small rooms await diners. Fresh flowers adorn the tables.

The dress code is as eclectic as the furniture. On a recent Saturday night it was truly a mixed bag as fur-coated women and men wearing tennis shoes both traveled up the winding staircase to eat from the rather easy-going menu.

The food at "Home Sweet Home" is good, and it is priced reasonably. The menu offers a fair sampling of appetizers including a restaurant concoction known as Wiley's Spicy Chicken, a chilled garden platter and half a slab of ribs.

There is nothing fancy about the menu at "Home Sweet Home" — the offerings are straightforward and so is the cooking. Entrees start at $6.95 for some "Down-home Specialties" like chicken and dumplings and meatloaf. These specialties include beef stew, baked chicken and a turkey dinner complete with stuffing and mashed potatoes.

The "Down-home" servings are ample and the food is prepared simply and well — the platters live up to expectations.

The highest priced items on the menu are a New York Strip steak at $13.50 and a slab of the "Home Sweet Home" ribs, also at $13.50. The ribs may be the restaurant's most popular item. They're tender and well-cooked with a heavy smoked barbeque sauce that has found a stable of enthusiastic supporters from around the area. On a recent Saturday night

Home Sweet Home offers top service in a cozy atmosphere the management was importing the ribs from Romanik's West Bloomfield eatery just to keep up with the Novi demand.

The menu also offers a catch-of-the-day. The pickerel choice was well-cooked and simply prepared on the restaurant grill. All entrees include potatoes and vegetables as well as the house salad.

The restaurant offers a limited selection of moderately priced wines that complement the straightforward menu and preparation of foods.

A meal ends at "Home Sweet Home" with cups of hearty coffee and good, sweet rich desserts. The restaurant offers a familiar staple — brownies with ice cream and hot fudge, which is exactly what you expect. Fresh homemade pies and a fruity selection of cobblers round out the dessert menu. All are well prepared.

One of the best parts about visiting the new restaurant has to be the level of service. From the hostesses in the lobby to the waitress at the table the service is grade A. Despite the crowded nature of the weekend night, all were more than courteous and smiled more than circumstances would expect. The table service is prompt and good.

"Home Sweet Home" is located at 43180 Nine Mile Road in Novi. Reservations are accepted for about half the available tables. The restaurant is open Tuesday-Thursday from 5 p.m.-10 p.m. and Friday and Saturday from 5 p.m.-11 p.m. It is open Sundays from 4 p.m.-9 p.m. MasterCard, Visa, American Express and Diners Club are accepted. Phone 347-0066 for reservations.

Unemotional cagers drop 2 more games

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

The Northville cagers played flat last week.

Coach Tim Lutes said he doesn't really know why, but he believes the Mustangs just didn't know how to react to their particular situation.

Northville entered the week coming off a win and it was the first time the team had faced such a situation all season. They reacted with a pair of unemotional efforts against Walled Lake Western and Farmington Harrison and lost both times.

The unemotional attitude, combined with several costly injuries and illnesses, seemed to lead the team down a familiar pathway toward defeat.

"We had some mental breakdowns that just shouldn't happen," Lutes said. "The kids just weren't ready to play physically, and I think it had a lot to do with their emotional level. They are a great group of kids to work with but they don't get emotionally involved. I thought they would be sky high after our win over Franklin — but for whatever reason, we came out flat."

The 58-50 loss to Western on Jan. 26 was marred by numerous offensive gaffes by the Mustangs. The Warriors scored 21 points in the second and fourth quarters, and the culprit was turnovers, not poor team defense.

"We're working hard on defense, so those bad quarters were really caused by giveaways," Lutes explained. "Offensively, the kids just make too many mistakes and consequently it makes our defense look bad. What really happens is all the turnovers give our opposition a lot of very easy scoring chances."

With regulars Jeff Terwin and Ron McDonald out of the line-up with injuries, and leading scorer Chris House saddled with the flu, Northville entered the Western game on shaky ground. The Mustangs used some solid defense to go ahead 10-7 after the first quarter, but then fell apart offensively in the second. The Warriors turned their three-point deficit into a 10-point halftime lead thanks to an extended shooting lapse and numerous turnovers by Northville.

"We got some pretty good shots but we just couldn't hit anything," Lutes said. "We also forced a lot of passes."

Derek Osborne and Heath Meyers combined for 10 points to help spark a comeback which sliced the lead in half in the third quarter, but the Mustangs never got closer than five points the rest of the way. In the fourth, Western spread the court out and Northville didn't adjust defensively. It led to even more easy baskets.

For the game, the Mustangs shot a paltry 34 percent from the field. House scored a team-high 11, while Kevin Hains and Myers chipped in nine each.

The 68-51 defeat to Harrison on Jan. 29 was very similar. The Hawks scored 44 of points in two quarters, and even though Northville held the team to 24 in the remaining two, it was plenty enough for the win.

Harrison scored the game's first 10 points but the Mustangs came back to play outstanding the rest of the half. Despite outscoring the Hawks 14-11 in the final five minutes of the first quarter, the Mustangs couldn't erase the early run which gave the Hawks a 21-14 lead.

In the second, the Mustangs continued to narrow the gap and actually pulled within four points on a couple of occasions. The comeback made it 32-26 at intermission.

"We came back and showed a lot of poise," Lutes said. "After the first three minutes of the game, we played real well the rest of the half. It was probably the best basketball we've played yet."

Harrison turned the momentum around again at the start of the second half by forcing four Northville turnovers and converting them into eight quick points. The six-point margin suddenly became 14 and the Mustangs were never able to cut into the lead again.

"We came out after halftime and tried to do some things we didn't do in the first half and they didn't work," Lutes said. "We gambled on passes and took foolish chances."

Hains led Northville with 13 points, Myers added 12 and Greg Price chipped in 11.

"We've been unable to put four good quarters together," Lutes admitted. "We need to get better consistency. We play real well at times but we can't seem to sustain it."

The Mustangs (1-10 overall, 1-6 in the WLAA) will travel to Plymouth Canton tomorrow (Feb. 5) to take on the Chiefs in a WLAA Western division clash.

Gymnasts score 117, beat Clarenceville

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

The Mustang gymnasts didn't score 122 points on Jan. 25, but the team did notch a win over Livonia Clarenceville and establish the team's second regional qualifying score in a row.

The Northville scores weren't as impressive as they were a week earlier against Plymouth Canton, but the 117.35-115.90 triumph didn't have Mustang Coach Michelle Charniga complaining.

"We had a few mistakes but the judging was very strict," she said. "Overall, I was very happy because we won and we set another qualifying score."

The meet itself was very close, from beginning to end. Ironically, Clarenceville took overall team scoring honors in three of the four events, but it was the Mustangs who outscored Clarenceville by nearly three points in the uneven bars and that was the difference in the meet. The remaining three were very close — all within 1.1 points.

In vault, Northville fell behind 31.15-31.05, but it was a good event for the Mustangs. Wendy Beach, Yvonne Beebe and Lee LaChance managed to take three of the first four places. Beach was first overall with an 8.1, Beebe was third (7.9) and LaChance fourth (7.7). The rest of the Northville performers included Robyn Chatman (7.35), Becky Carney (6.9) and Megan Graham (6.0).

The Mustangs surged ahead in bars, but both teams seemed to struggle in the event. Again, Beach took first (8.35), Beebe third (7.35) and LaChance fourth (6.4) — and this time Northville outscored Clarenceville 27.8-25.1 in the event. The rest of the Mustang participants were Kathy Abraham (5.7), Carney (4.35) and Graham (4.1).

"The judging was very tough, especially on bars, but I thought we did very well on vault," Charniga said.

In the balance beam, Northville scored a season-high 29.65, but Clarenceville countered with a 30.75. Despite losing some ground, Charniga was very happy to see her team start to excel in beam — it's been the chief area of concern since the season started. Unfortunately, there were still a few sub-par performances from some unlikely culprits.

Beach and LaChance had all sorts of problems with their routines, but unsung heroes like Graham and Karen Pyle salvaged the event with their best efforts ever. Beebe led the way with a 7.65 (good for third overall), and Graham surprised everybody with a fourth-place finish and a career-high 7.55. Beach scored 7.25 and LaChance followed with a 7.2, but both routines featured numerous falls. Pyle was next with a personal best 6.0 and Jenny McMillan wrapped up the scoring with a 5.8.

"We did much better as a team so I'm not complaining," Charniga said. "Wendy (Beach) had three falls and Lee (LaChance) had two, so it wasn't a good event for them, but we got some great scores from the others. Megan (Graham) had a beautiful routine, with no falls, so we are getting some good depth."

Again, Clarenceville gained ground in the floor exercise, but it wasn't enough to change the outcome. LaChance was second with a 7.4 and Alissa Estigoy was fourth (7.2), but were the only Mustangs to place in the top six. Beach (7.15) was next followed by Tracie Surdue (7.1) Chatman (7.0) and Graham (6.15).

WLW pins 42-27 loss on Mustang grapplers

Less than two weeks earlier, Walled Lake Western had pinned a loss on the Northville wrestlers at the Novi Team Invitational, so there was little reason to believe things would change when the two teams met again on Jan. 28.

They didn't. The Warriors made it two in a row over the visiting Mustangs with a 42-27 victory. The loss wrapped up a rather unimpressive month of January for the Northville grapplers (2-8-1 record) and dropped the team's overall mark to 4-9-1. Two regulars — Garnett Potter and Dave Gudmundsen — were out of the Northville line-up, and that certainly didn't help the situation.

"Most of our talented kids won at Walled Lake Western and most of our inexperienced kids lost," Mustang Coach Jack Townsley said, matter-of-factly. "I thought some of our kids did pretty well and there was one big surprise that made me happy."

The surprise came in the 145-pound bout. Reserve wrestler Kurt Cureton, substituting for Potter, stunned the Warrior's Brent McCallum by pinning him in 3:12.

"That was the only surprise real in the whole meet," Townsley said.

Northville took an early lead against Western and at the midway point of the match, had won five of the first eight bouts. But Cureton's triumph at 145 was to be the team's final victory as the Warriors cruised to an easy win with victories in the final five contests.

"We really lost it in the upper weights," Townsley pointed out.

Kevin Khashan (98) pinned Rob Grob in 3:07, Mike Mathes won at 112 by default, Andy Frey (128) continued his fine season with a 5-0 decision over Andy Holcolm. Frey's win lifted his season record to 22-3.

"(Andy) is a little small for 128, but he is so quick," Townsley said. "He's real student of wrestling and he's fun to watch."

John Frisbie (138) pinned Marty Bradley in 2:45 to set up Cureton's heroics.

For standouts Brad Maliszewski and Mike Hale, it was a tough outing. Maliszewski was pinned in 2:56 by Pat Conway, a state qualifier last season, and Hale lost to Jason Nichols 11-5 in a war at 198.

The Mustangs (2-4 in WLAA) will face Livonia Churchill tonight (Feb. 4) in the final tune-up before the Western Lakes meet this weekend.

"There is no real dominant team in the league this season and we've been very competitive against most teams," Townsley said. "The fact is, you only need four or five outstanding performances individually to win the thing, so it is really wide open this year."

Townsley said he expects Frey, Hale, Donovan Campbell and Maliszewski to pace the team individually.

Bobcats perform well at annual Novi meet

Novi Bobcat swimmers posted 12 "A" times, and Julie Sommers and Alana Marron qualified for state with "AA" times during what Coach Rick Anderson called "a great weekend" for the Bobcat tankers.

The action came at the Novi High School pool last weekend when the Novi Bobcat Swimming Association hosted its annual "B" swim meet. Approximately 275 swimmers from 25 teams across the state participated in the meet.

It was a particularly good meet for the Bobcats as nine relay teams finished among the top six and 11 swimmers placed in 37 individual events.

In relay events, Gwen Rowlands, Julie Sommers, Clare Cryderman and Shelly Wasko won the Girls Open 200 freestyle relay (1:55.67) and the Girls Open 400 freestyle relay (4:11.84). The team of Lynette Rowlands, Jennifer Wroe, Kathy Schoenith and Sheila Osborne placed third in the Girls Open freestyle relay and fifth in the Girls Open 200 freestyle relay.

In 11-12 year old relay action, Osborne, Wroe, John Farrar and Shawn Kelly finished second in the 200 medley relay, and the team of Mike Lafferty, Kelly, Osborne and Farrar placed third in the 400 freestyle relay.

In 10-and-under relays, Julie Riggs, Shara Krause, Marron and Erick Kelly placed second in the 200 freestyle relay (2:18.39).

And in 8-and-under relays, Dawn Borsos, Shana Bailey, Jamie VanderMass and Andrew Kelly finished third in the 100 freestyle relay, while the team of Jeanne Smith, Shana Bailey, VanderMass and Andrew Kelly took sixth in the 100 medley relay.

Gymnasts score 117 in victory

"It's really tough to get all the girls to perform well at the same time," Charniga said.

Northville (3-2 overall, 2-2 in the WLAA) got back into action yesterday (Jan. 3, after Record deadline) at Walled Lake Western. The team now has two regional qualifying scores (115 or better) and needs two more before the season ends to earn a team berth in regional competition. Charniga is quite confident her team can get the remaining two very soon.

"We have at least six more meets; to get the remaining two qualifying scores, so I'd be very disappointed if we didn't get them," Charniga pointed out.

"We should do it in the next two meets. The girls have the difficulty in their routines, so if we can cut out some of the mistakes, the scores should continue to be high."

Northville spikers end skid with win over Franklin

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

Statistically, the Northville volleyball squad is playing better. It didn't seem to help the team in a WLAA match last week against Livonia Stevenson, but the improvement paid off in a big way on Jan. 27 against Western Division rival Livonia Franklin.

The Mustangs (2-4 overall, 1-4 in the WLAA) fell to Stevenson 15-8, 8-15, 4-15 to drop their fourth match in a row on Jan. 25 but came back strong to end the streak, edging the Patriots, 13-15, 15-8, 15-13.

Against Franklin, Northville started slow, peaked in game two and then held on with a determined drive in the third and final game to notch the squad's first division victory. Mustang Coach Paul Osborn was understandably pleased with his team's performance.

"I think we were still getting warmed up in the first game, but overall it was a good effort by the girls," he said. "Our serving was near 90 percent and our passing percentage was 87 percent and that is super."

"We needed a little confidence builder and the win over Franklin may have been it."

The team's passing percentage was by far the best of the '88 campaign and it came in an area that's been of concern since the season got under way.

After the teams split the first two games, Northville relied on some solid defensive play to pull ahead 13-11. But after several unforced errors allowed Franklin to knot the score at 13-13, Osborn called a time out.

"We were starting to make the errors so I tried to get them to settle down," he said, "and it seemed to work."

With the match on the line, the Mustangs promptly ended things as juniors Debbie Stevens and Jill Connell served out the game.

"Back-row players like Becky Bajorek, Nanci Dutkiewicz, Chris Czapski did a nice job for us, and our number one hitter, Nancy Belding, did a super job at the net," Osborn pointed out. "Our defense kept us in it—it was nip-and-tuck all the way."

The Stevenson match was completely different. This time Northville jumped out to a first game win, but then fell badly in the next two. Again, the team statistics for serving (81 percent), hitting (70 percent) and passing (74 percent) were very good, but a lapse in the third game really made a difference.

"We served exceptionally well and our backcourt players did the best job all year of passing the ball in the first game," Osborn said. "We were also able to shut down (the Spartans') talented middle blocker."

Game two started off similarly as the Mustangs took a quick 7-1 lead, but Stevenson made some adjustments and turned the game around. The Spartans won the game by scoring 14 of the next 15 points.

"They tried a new middle blocker and our kids weren't able to make the adjustment," Osborn explained. "By the time we did, it was too late."

Northville had all sorts of problems getting its serves into play and ultimately let the win slip away in game three.

"We did not serve well at all," Osborn admitted. "In our first six rotations, we had only one good serve. By keeping the ball in play, we were able to stay with (Stevenson), but without getting the serves over, we were dead."

Despite the loss, Osborn praised the play of middle blockers Debbie Stevens and Denise Akroush, especially for their defensive efforts at the net.

Novi dunks swim team, 102-70

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

With standout swimmers like Jon Cohen, Steve Cohen and Steve Warthman, nobody's accused the Novi swim team of being weak individually. But the Wildcat team has shown a lack of depth at times.

When Northville traveled to Novi to take on the Wildcats on Jan. 26, Mustang Coach Mark Heiden figured the only way his team could win would be on the strength of its depth. Well, Heiden quickly found out that Novi wasn't nearly as shallow as he was led to believe. The 'Cats ended up winning nine of the 11 events and added numerous seconds and thirds en route to a very easy 102-70 triumph.

The Mustangs didn't brood over their worst loss of the season, however. The team came back with a strong performance on Jan. 28 to crush Walled Lake Central 101-71. For the year, Northville now sports a 4-3 overall record, 2-2 in the WLAA.

The Mustangs' only wins against Novi came in the 200-yard medley relay and in diving. Andy Wayne, John Warren, Andy Viskantis and Craig Smith teamed up in the relay for a first in a time of 1:49.11 and Bob Devyak took first place honors with a point total of 245.55 in diving. Devyak's performance set a Novi pool record.

Eric Newton paced the runner-up finishers for Northville by taking second in the 200 IM (2:07.48) and the 100 butterfly (58.73). The rest of the Mustang seconds came from Mike Fortenberry in the 50 freestyle (23.88), Smith in the 100 freestyle (51.72) and the 400 freestyle relay team of Jason Stringer, Smith, Chris Handyside and Newton (3:39.81).

Warren added a pair of thirds in the 100 breaststroke (1:09.43) and the 50 freestyle (24.59). He was joined by other third-place finishers Larry Oslecki in diving (192.45), Dave Morante in the 100 backstroke (1:05.9), Jeff Higgins in the 200 freestyle (2:04.81) and Jason Hill in the 500 freestyle (5:31.62).

"I hope we don't have any more defeats like this one," Heiden said. "I made a few poor judgements in our line-up and it backfired. Novi would have beaten us anyway, but it would have been a bit closer."

"I was hoping we could make up some points on depth but it just didn't work out. Novi is a very good team."

Northville turned it around two days later by going 1-2 in five events against the Vikings. The big difference was probably depth as the Mustangs outscored Central repeatedly on second and third place finishes.

"We swam minus Andy Viskantis, Eric Newton, John Warren and Mike Simmons and we still did very well,"

Heiden said. "Walled Lake Central had three or four real strong swimmers, but we had more depth than they did."

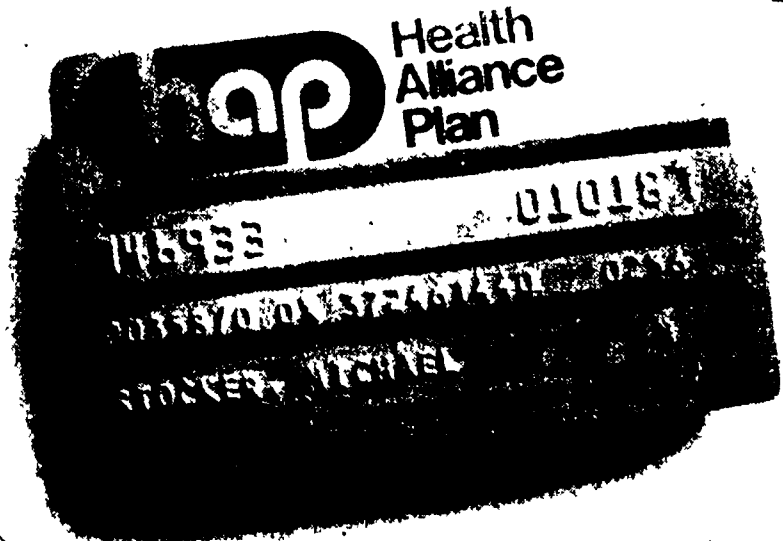

Fortenberry paced the Northville swimmers by registering a personal best time of 23.82 in the 50 freestyle. The rest of the Mustang firsts were taken by Steve Lang in diving (personal best 217.0 point total), Smith in the 100 freestyle (51.8), Hill in the 500 freestyle (5:30.8) and the team of Wayne, Dave Frayne, Stringer and Higgins in the 200 medley relay (1:53.9).

Frayne led all the runner-up finishers with a pair of seconds in the 200 IM (2:20.6) and the 100 breaststroke (1:11.7). Also notching seconds were Wayne in the 100 backstroke (1:02.7), Matt Van Horn in the 500 freestyle (5:42.73), Fortenberry in the 100 freestyle (54.1), Stringer in the 100 butterfly (1:01.6), Smith in the 50 freestyle (24.3), Devyak in diving (215.95) and the 400 freestyle relay combo of Fortenberry, Higgins, Stringer and Smith (3:37.8).

Third-place honors went to Handyside in the 200 freestyle (2:03.35), Morante in the 200 IM (2:21.33), Higgins in the 50 freestyle (24.1), Oslecki in diving (205.65) and Brad Cook in the 100 butterfly (1:06.4).

The tankers return to action tonight (Feb. 4) as they host Western Division foe Livonia Franklin.

Dietician offers healthy eating tips

By ANITA CRONE

The medical profession is finally becoming realistic, at least as advice pertaining to special diets is concerned.

Kathleen Underhill, a registered dietician with McAuley Health Center's Nutricare clinic for outpatient nutrition services, said it is unrealistic to tell someone to eliminate red meat or salt totally from a diet.

"When people talk about red meat, they are talking about beef, lamb, pork, veal — anything from a cow or a pig," she said.

But, she noted, Americans are becoming more conscious of the need to cut back on red meat and salt for better health.

"If someone needs to cut back on salt or red meat, and has to do it all at once, we have found that it just isn't realistic and everyone involved — the patient, the physician and the dietician — gets frustrated."

So what Underhill says she tells her patients is that cutting back gradually and learning some techniques to disguise the diet usually works very well.

"One of the easiest things to do is to use the red meat, but buy a better quality meat. When you buy prime meat, the fat tends to be marbled throughout, rather than in chunks, making the meat more tender."

"And if the fat is marbled, there tends to be less of it," she said.

Underhill also recommends stir frying as a good way to cut down on the amount of red meat. "But with stir frying, you can also cut down on the amount of oil used and that's important, too."

She suggests using PAM or another vegetable coating, rather than coating the pan or wok with oil, or even using olive oil, which has less cholesterol than even the vegetable oils.

"Stir frying, because you stretch the amount of meat you use by adding the vegetables, is a real good idea, but if you coat your meat and vegetables in oil, you aren't cutting down all that much," Underhill said.

She also noted that using Teflon coated pans can help since that also cuts down on the oil.

Another hint that Underhill gives her patients is using only egg whites and milk when brooding chicken or fish, and baking, rather than frying chicken or fish.

"Egg whites and bread coat just as well as using the whole egg and bread," she said, "but when adding up the cholesterol, there's a noticeable difference."

And she suggests that when selecting fish, to choose light fish such as light tuna, mackerel or salmon. "Of course, if you are buying canned fish, make sure that it is packed in water, and not in oil."

For fresh fish, Underhill recommends cold water ocean fish as the most healthy.

Cutting down on salt is another problem a lot of patients have, Underhill says, especially cutting down on table salt.

"Salt is a learned taste," Underhill said, noting that babies have no craving for salt.

"It's (desire for salt) is something Americans learn. In other cultures, there isn't the overwhelming need or even a desire for salt. And that's why, when Americans go on a salt free diet, they really suffer from culture shock," she said.

"The first place people should cut down is in the amount of salt they use in cooking," Underhill says, suggesting that people experiment with other spices in place of salt when they cook.

"Then, look at eliminating table salt. Experiment with Mrs. Dash substitutes and from there, gradually cut down further."

She also suggested cutting down on cheese, all cheeses, as a way to cut down on the amount of fat in a diet. "All cheeses are high in fat. In fact, 60 percent of the calories in cheese are directly from fat."

Underhill said that if one wants to keep cheese in one's diet, a good idea is to use a sharp cheese and a smaller amount, or, instead of cutting up chunks of cheese, to grate it.

"Grated cheese goes a lot farther than chunks," she said.

High cholesterol in children is related to diet

By PARAM KOCHHAR, M.D.

Everybody is talking about modification of diet and the importance of exercise among adults to prevent heart disease. But what about children? Children don't get heart attacks. So should we worry about their diets? The answer is yes.

Fatty deposits have been seen in the arteries of infants, clogging begins early and gradually worsens over the years. The symptoms of heart disease do not appear until adulthood. The majority of children with high cholesterol have high cholesterol related to their diet.

Heredity plays an important role in coronary heart disease. Children with parents who have high cholesterol are 2 1/2 times more likely to have high serum cholesterol values as compared to children in the general population.

All children with a family history of hypertension, obesity, diabetes, high cholesterol and gout should be screened for serum cholesterol values. Also children with a family history of sudden death, stroke, heart attack or peripheral vascular disease (including grandparents) should be screened. Screening is also recommended for diabetic, obese and hypertensive children. Screening for the first time should be done after two years of age and then every five years.

Prevention has to begin early in childhood, not only because the pathological process begins early, but because it is easier to form good health habits early in life. There should be an emphasis on a balanced diet (minimal fat and salt intake) and a regular exercise program which helps to maintain ideal body weight.

A prudent diet that is low in total fat but has adequate calories for growth is recommended for all healthy children over the age of two years.

The American Heart Association recommends everyone over two years of age obtain 30 percent or less of their total calories per day from fat and cholesterol (not more than 300 mg. per day.)

Parents should be good role models. The eating habits of the entire family must be adjusted so that the recommended diet is available to everyone in the family except for children under the age of two.

The following are some examples of how you can provide this prudent diet for your family:

- use skim milk instead of whole milk or milk shakes
- trim fat from fatty meats, remove skin from poultry
- reduce the amount of red meat and increase consumption of fish, chicken and turkey (try using ground turkey instead of ground beef in recipes)
- help your child to choose a hamburger instead of a cheeseburger
- eat yogurt or sherbet instead of ice cream
- increase fiber in the diet of your family (fiber is found in fruits, vegetables, chick peas, dried beans and peas. These also lower cholesterol)
- use vegetable oil instead of lard or other animal fats (corn, soy, safflower, sunflower, sesame are good oils to use.)

Some ideas for good snacks are fruits, fruit juices, bread sticks, rice cakes, muffins and pretzels. Keep a plastic bag full of sliced vegetables in the fridge. Peanut butter and low-fat cheeses are other good snacks.

For your baby, breast milk or formula is the perfect food. Consult your pediatrician about when to start solids and what foods to start with. Even babies know when to stop, if they are forced to eat more than they want to, they may develop a habit of overeating.

Teach your child the importance of regular exercise. Make exercise a family affair. A family walk, swim, aerobic dancing or cycling can be fun. Encourage children to play outside after school (weather permitting) and reserve homework and watching television for after supper.

Teenagers should be counselled about the dangers of smoking.

With encouragement to develop good health habits, our healthy children can grow into healthy adults.

The Northville Record is working with medical authorities at the University of Michigan Medical Center (M-Care) in Northville to provide up-to-date information on a variety of health-related topics. The series is coordinated by Peg Campbell of the M-Care staff.

TIPS FROM TUCKKLAPER

Novi Dental Center

A. Allen Tuckklaper D.D.S.

AFTER TOOTH EXTRACTION

Following the extraction of a tooth, the wound in the jaw usually heals within a few days without complications. If some swelling develops in the face, this is usually nothing to worry about and it can be minimized by the application of an ice bag to the affected region.

Actual bleeding should stop shortly after tooth removal. Nature's way of stopping the bleeding is the formation of the blood clot in the socket. Let nature do its job and do not disturb the formation of the clot. How?

Do not suck on the hole for starters. Do not take hot food or drinks for five or six hours, by which time the clot should be

If you get hungry, drink a cold drink or eat a soft, cold food. Avoid eating hard foods, and don't smoke.

If delayed bleeding occurs, fold a piece of gauze and bite on it for a half hour. A moistened tea bag will also do the job. If bleeding persists, by all means, call your dentist. Free bleeders, especially people with hemophilia, should tell their dentist BEFORE extraction so that he can take special precautions.
