County leans toward joint venturing acreage

By ANITA CRONE

Wayne County's firm hand will remain in more than 1,000 acres of land it owns in Northville Township, at least for the foreseeable future.

Township Supervisor Georgina Goss said that during a meeting with DeWitt Henry, director of Wayne County's Jobs and Economic Development Department, she was informed that the county no longer was interested in selling the land outright, but instead would be looking at a joint venture project.

"Mr. Henry said that the county was amending its contract with the Lambrecht Co. and that Lambrecht would only be performing the marketing and valuation study," Goss said.

The property, located between Five Mile and Six Mile roads on Sheldon Road, is the site of the former Wayne County Child Development Center and the Plymouth State Training School.

It has been offered for sale at least once before, however, bids from prospective developers requested in August 1986, were deemed "too low" by the Wayne County Commission and all were rejected in November 1986.

Instead of being the end of the effort, that denial turned out to be only the beginning.

In March 1987, Wayne County received proposals from three companies — Lambrecht, Harold Stulberg and Associates/Capitol Equity, and Thompson Brown — to market and sell the property after first preparing a market and valuation study of the land that included buildings used by the Michigan Department of Mental Health as well as property under contract to Northville Elderly Development for construction of senior citizen housing known as the Cavanagh Village.

Last September, Lambrecht finally was awarded the contract and the proposal was approved by the county's Economic Development Committee. That same committee last week also approved a consent agreement with the State of Michigan that would allow the state Mental Health Department to keep a large, four-story building that currently houses the department's Fairweather program, the 18 acres on which the building sits, and also pay the state $1.8 million for additional buildings the state erected on the site.

Under terms of the agreement reached between the county and Lambrecht, Lambrecht would receive 4 percent profit on the proceeds of the property, and also would be entitled to a $35,000 fee for the marketing and valuation study. That money would be paid from the proceeds of the sale of the first parcel of the property to be sold.

But until last week, although Lambrecht had begun its valuation study, the company and the county still did not have a written contract.

Close Randolph, widen Center top traffic proposals

Engineers last week released a draft copy of the City of Northville Traffic Study, a document suggesting major changes including widening Center Street and closing off Randolph Street at Center.

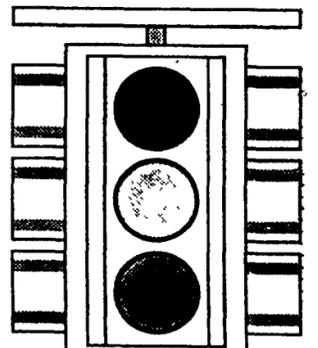

The study also suggests other improvements such as rebuilding intersections, improving traffic light timing and different pavement marking. The study does not address costs or how to pay for any recommended improvements.

The engineering firm, Reid, Cool and Michalski, Inc., conducted the study. The city council hired the firm last year, after listing "traffic" last February as the city's top priority.

The study concentrates on certain areas in the city identified as problems or places for possible improvements. The introduction to the study explains, "Locations studied were developed through discussions with city staff and consultants, input from residents, and from general observation of traffic operations."

The study identifies the widening of Center Street to three full lanes between Dunlap and Eight Mile as "the single most important issue to be resolved concerning traffic in the City of Northville."

Another key concern is Randolph Street, about which the study makes several recommendations. Randolph residents appeared before the council early last year to protest traffic speeds and volume on their street.

The study recommends that Center be widened on its west side, from Eight Mile south to Dunlap, in the area existing between the street and the sidewalk. The center lane would be a left-turn length for that entire Annual review for manager?

By BOB NEEDHAM

Northville Mayor Chris Johnson has suggested an annual written evaluation of the city manager — which the city has not done in the past — as part of an overhaul of the process for reviewing performance and salaries of city administrators.

Johnson's suggestions met with general approval from city council members Tuesday night, although the council took no formal vote on the plan.

"I view this as a real positive kind of thing, and don't want it to be viewed negatively at all by the manager," Johnson said.

Over the past few months the council members have discussed reviewing the city's contracted services such as the city attorney, engineers and planning consultant. Johnson said if that process continues, "one of the places you'd certainly want to start is the city manager."

Johnson added that an evaluation of the city manager might work in conjunction with a goal-setting session of the council.

In a memo to the council members, he said, "The evaluation of the manager would provide the manager with specific feedback from council regarding his performance as well as focusing the council on achievement of city goals. A yearly cycle of jointly setting goals with the city manager and evaluating the achievement of those goals at the conclusion of the

Pheasant Hills plans gain OK

The second part of the Pheasant Hills subdivision got the go-ahead from the Northville city council Tuesday night.

The council gave final preliminary plat approval to the development, north of Eight Mile and west of Taft. The council had approved one plan but the Singh Development Company submitted a revised version after the company resolved a disagreement with the Department of Natural Resources over wetlands on the site.

The city planning commission and City Manager Steve Walters recommended the approval. The plan passed the council 3-1, with council member Jerry Mittman dissenting.

Mittman said he voted against the plan because two of the planned lots are within a flood plain. Although it was basically a good plan, that aspect is not a good idea, he said.

Singh Vice President Michael Kahn said at the meeting that lots in a floodplain are required to have extra protection for the basements, that those requirements will be in the property's covenants and restrictions, and that potential buyers are fully informed. "It's relatively common" for lots to be within floodplains, Kahn said.

Community digs out after snowstorm does its worst

While last Thursday's snowstorm was a holiday for some folks, for others it was a day to bundle up and brave the elements. Within hours, residents were tackling the job of removing snow with blowers and shovels. In some cases, it became a family project on Friday as the Northville Public Schools declared a "snow day," along with most other districts in the state.

In the city DPW crews worked "almost around the clock Thursday." DPW Superintendent Ted Mapes said Friday they continued to clean up, and by Wednesday workers were making the final hauls of snow still in parking lots and on the street to the DPW yard.

"It gets to be quite a pile," Mapes observed, "when you add the snow from the Downs." The Downs does its own snow removal but dumps it in the DPW yard. Racing was canceled Thursday night at the track but resumed Friday.

Northville Township Police Lt. Gary Batzloff said, "Except for the fact there was eight inches of snow, the county did a fine job of keeping the roads clear (in the township), probably because they had plenty of advance warning."

At left, Ted, Mike and Elizabeth Bytnar get down to the serious business of shoveling snow after the season's heaviest snowfall. Above, NHS student Cheryl Garr bundles up while awaiting a ride home. High school students were sent home early Thursday and all classes were canceled on Friday.

Evaluation changes suggested year would help place the council and the city administration in a proactive position rather than a reactive position.

At the council meeting Tuesday, Johnson said, "I just wanted to throw that out for some thought and consideration before we went in with a whole new salary schedule proposal."

Council member Paul Folino said the strong performance of Steve Walters, who has been Northville's city manager for more than 10 years, is the main reason Walters has never been evaluated in writing.

"I've said it before and I'll say it again: He's just done one hell of a good job for the City of Northville, and I'm very pleased with him," Folino said.

Mayor Pro Tem Carolann Ayers

added that council members have informally evaluated Walters individually.

"We never felt that a written evaluation as such was necessary for Steve, but I certainly don't oppose it. I think, a lot of times, a written evaluation might be a more concrete way (to evaluate progress), and if we do it in a set pattern we might do it in a more timely way," Ayers said.

Council member Jerry Mittman added that an annual evaluation and related discussions would be a positive way to measure the city's progress, and added that the written part should not go into extreme detail.

The city manager is the chief administrative officer of the city. His position is full-time and hired and supervised by the city council. The mayor and members of the council serve part time and are elected by city residents

Along with the idea for an annual city manager evaluation, Johnson suggested that the council remove the review of other city administrators from council meeting agendas. Instead, his memo suggests, the city manager would evaluate each city department head in writing and review the evaluations individually. The evaluations would be available for council to look at.

"I think this kind of system would be beneficial since it would allow the manager to have a thorough, candid and effective evaluation process in place with each of his department heads. Constructive criticism or critical portions of the evaluation are not as likely to appear in an evaluation which is the subject of a council agenda topic," Johnson's memo reads.

ARE PRIMARY TEETH IMPORTANT?

Want to make your dentist cringe? Tell him not to waste his time on your child's severely decayed tooth because, "It's only a baby tooth and he's going to lose it anyway!"

Don't kid yourself! Primary teeth (a much better phrase than "baby teeth") play a very important role in the development of a child's future dental health. Obviously they are necessary for chewing. Even more important primary teeth create the proper spaces for permanent teeth. A primary tooth that is prematurely lost can no longer do this job. The teeth nearby will crowd into the empty space and when they follow on permanent tooth tries to enter there may be no room. As a result it may become impacted (lean sideways inside the gum) It may come out in the wrong place (for example, through the front of the gum) Or it may crowd its way in and destroy the delicate balance of the mouth.

Losing primary teeth prematurely is one of the commonest reasons for orthodontic treatment later on. Prompt treatment with a space-maintaining appliance is generally called for to reserve the room for next tenant.

NEWS BRIEFS

DELAYED ROYALTY — Inclement weather postponed class competition during Northville High School's spring spirit week. So, today, class competition continues, the voting for spirit week king and queen concludes, and Saturday the postponed dance will finally be held. Of course, all of this depends on not having another eight inches of snow.

BRING YOUR CARD — Northville Community Chamber of Commerce is joining with the Plymouth chamber for a Business Connection get-together from 5-7 p.m. next Wednesday, Feb. 24, at the Mayflower Meeting House in Plymouth. Reservations are recommended (349-7640), but it's possible to pay at the door — $5 for chamber members, $7 for non-members.

HONOR RECITAL — Jennifer Johnson of Northville is one of 23 young pianists, ages 10-17, from the area who have been selected to perform in the 16th annual Schoolcraft College Honors Recital at 7 p.m. Sunday in the Livonia City Hall. The public is invited to attend.

ACADEMY NOMINEES — U.S. Rep. Carl Pursell has nominated the following local students to the nation's military academies. Final selection rests with the individual schools.

Michael Method II of Steepleview has been nominated to West Point and John Frisbie of Franklin and Todd Van Hoosear of Steepleview have been nominated to the Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs.

FAMILY ACT — Corinne and Eric Fehauler performed in Ferris State University's production of "South Pacific."

Corinne, a freshman, played Bloody Mary's assistant; Eric was cast as Seabee Luther Billis. He is a junior majoring in small business management.

MORE MEETINGS? — Northville Township's planning commission may be meeting officially more often than once a month.

A resolution approved by the commission allows the chairperson of the body, in conjunction with the community development director, to call a special regular meeting if the agenda for the monthly meeting looks as if will last too long.

SPACE AVAILABLE? — Because of the calls she's receiving requesting information about available office space in the community, Laurie Marrs, executive director of the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce, is starting a new service. Anyone with office space available is invited to list it with the chamber, 349-7640.

TAX ASSISTANCE — Northville Area Senior Citizens Center and the American Association of Retired Persons are cooperating to offer free tax help Mondays and Wednesdays through April 13 to people 60 years and older. Reservations are needed (349-4140) for appointments at 9:30, 10:45 a.m. and noon.

NEW TOUR — Got a group and no place to go? Well, Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara has announced group tours for students, civic organizations or church clubs of the renovated county building.

To make arrangements for the tour, contact Colleen Minter at 224-0846.

Luella Burke, the new warden at Western Wayne Correctional Facility, surveys the physical plant

Record/Chris Boyd

It's Madam Warden at Western Wayne

By ANITA CRONE

As she strides through the corridors of the Western Wayne Correctional Facility in Plymouth Township, Luella Burke doesn't miss much.

She greets officers and prisoners alike by name, stopping to discuss the facility here, the rules of the institution there.

Then, she quickly strides down a corridor to the warden's office, opens the door and makes herself comfortable behind a desk with a sign that proclaims, "Luella Burke, warden."

Burke, formerly the consent degree coordinator for the Michigan

Department of Corrections, on Dec. 27 became the second warden at Western Wayne. She succeeds Emmett Baylor, Jr., now warden at Phoenix Correctional Facility.

"I decided that I have wanted to be a warden," Burke said, matter-of-factly. "When this job became available, I took it."

Burke is one of five female wardens in the Michigan corrections system and one of two currently in charge of male facilities.

Burke says that this is her "second life." Her first was in the Pittsburgh area, where she was a college teacher. Her third will be running an inn in northern Michigan.

But right now she says she is concentrating on her new job, the person in charge of a 500-prisoner medium custody facility.

"I look upon being a warden as being an administrator except, instead of administrating a school district, you are administrating a prison. There are rules and regulations to be instituted and followed, there are staff and prisoners for whom I'm responsible and there is a physical plant to run," she said, carefully choosing her words.

Burke does not do things quickly, but she says she does do them professionally. She says that she expects to stay at Western Wayne for at least five years and hopes, when she leaves, that the prison will bear her stamp. "I hope, that after I leave, Western Wayne is known as a safe prison for staff and for prisoners; that it is known as a clean and orderly facility and that it is known as a facility that is run by the books," she said.

She noted that she was aware, before accepting the appointment as warden, of the age and condition of the facility.

"Physical plant does not a prison make," she said, noting that since her arrival there have been no prisoners living in barracks-style housing and three new housing units have opened with more on the way.

Super sewer plans span decades, millions of dollars

By ANITA CRONE

It has been said that those who do not learn from the past are doomed to repeat it.

But to apply that adage to the North Huron Valley/Rouge Valley facilities plan, also known as super sewer, may be oversimplifying the question of what to do with too much sewerage and too few places to put it.

Many of the same problems that have hindered approval of the super sewer project in 1966 are still delaying the construction of the regional sewer project today.

But there are some new twists, too, including rapidly rising costs.

Problems between Wayne and Washtenaw counties, between consulting engineers of the two counties, and between local communities delayed the project in 1966.

Twenty one years later, there still is no pipe in the ground. The latest delay has occurred because, as of Thursday, Wayne County had not provided the Michigan Department of Natural Resources with plans on how it plans to construct pipes through wetlands.

"That isn't enough to delay the EPA having time to review the project or to make a determination whether federal funds are available," said DNR spokesperson Tom Kneuve. "But we have a meeting scheduled with Wayne County (today) to discuss our timetable."

Kneuve said there is nothing that can be done to change the estimated cost of the project back to what it was in 1958 or even 1966.

An article that appeared in the July 6, 1966, edition of The Record, indicated that the projected allocated design cost for Super Sewer was $20,935 for the City of Northville, $129,982 for Northville Township and $215,747 for the City of Novi.

"According to Wayne County, the Rouge interceptor (which services Northville and Novi) is, as a whole, at 77.2 percent of its designed capacity. Several individual communities on this system, the county has calculated, are at or above their capacity. Among these are Northville and Plymouth Novi, according to Wayne County, is below capacity," the article stated.

Today, the Department of Natural Resources contends, every community which uses the system is at or above its capacity and a number of local improvements in the latest plan, presented in 1986, would help alleviate the overflow in the system.

And, costs under $500,000 for the sewer project are merely a dream. The DNR has estimated that even with federal funds taking up about half the cost of the sewer construction, Novi would be charged about $8 million of its $14.7 million total cost. Northville would be paying $1.03 million and the township, which is expecting to send its excess sewerage to the Ypsilanti, has not indicated what it expects to pay. Estimates have ranged between $30-$60 million.

Another change between 1966 and today are the numbers and names of the communities serviced by the project. Gone are many of the downriver communities, including Flat Rock, Brownstown Township, Van Buren Township and Belleville, and a sewage treatment plant to serve the project at the mouth of the Huron River. Gone, too, is Commerce Township, the City of Wixom and Northville, Plymouth and Canton townships.

Today, only 10 communities — nine of them in Wayne County — and Novi, in Oakland County, will share in the construction and benefits of super sewer. Wixom, part of the planning area for the initial revival of the super sewer project, could not wait for final approval since the Environmental Protection Agency was threatening to impose fines and sanctions on the city if it did not bring its treatment facilities up to federal standards by July 1, 1988.

Commerce Township was not included in the current plans since its participation could have led to a challenge by federal agencies for federal grant monies under the Clean Water Act.

Under terms of the law, communities which would experience secondary growth as the main outcome of a sewer construction project, are not eligible for money. Only communities which could show that the projects would clean up the waters are eligible for EPA grants.

Today, the WTUA communities will learn from the Michigan Water Resources Commission whether the Ypsilanti Community Utility Authority plant will be allowed to expand its capacity from its current 20 million gallon per day permit limit, a limit imposed since the plant was constructed after the initial plant reached its capacity in 1970.

YCUA had to fight Wayne County for its permit, since the county had noted plan expansion would "virtually doom any regional approach to the total problems of the entire Huron River," the article in The Record stated. No mention was made of the Rouge.

And by April 1, the North Huron Valley/Rouge Valley communities still part of super sewer will know whether the project will become a reality, or, will once again fall into the morass of red tape and bickering.

Burke is new Western Wayne warden

One of the benefits, she says, of working at Western Wayne is the prisoner cap. "We know that we do not really have to be concerned with overcrowding here," she said.

She says that she is concerned about the relationship between the prison and the community, especially in terms of volunteers and programs.

Because her own background is in education, Burke said she is very concerned with the school program at Western Wayne and also is concerned with finances.

"I want to maximize our financial potential and if that means using a lot of Yankee ingenuity, then we'll do it," she said.

When she makes the 22-mile commute to her home in Brighton, Burke says she does not always carry her work home with her.

She has been married for 22 years to Arnold Burke, a vice president at Ross Roy and they are the parents of two sons, Dennis, an aerospace engineering student at Georgia Tech, and Michael, a Brighton High School senior.

It is not unusual to find the warden in the stands at Brighton High School swim meets, cheering for Michael. Nor is it unusual to find her socializing with her family.

Burke says she considers herself a feminist, but certainly not a strident one.

"I see myself as a role model for women in the Department of Corrections and very much an individualist," she said. Right now, though, she sees herself as the warden at Western Wayne and that's good enough for the time being.

Burke said she has not effected many changes at the prison, but that does not mean she won't do so in the future.

Although her appointment was effective in December, it wasn't until early February that she actually came to the prison.

"I made some cameo appearances, but I couldn't take over full time until the department had found someone to replace me in the central office," she said.

The cameos are over and now Burke is on stage full time.

Phoenix celebrates black history month

Mack McCoy and his wife Julia have a mission in life. The pair, who spent five years in Africa as health planners, garnered more than good health. They collected hundreds of museum quality works.

Last week, they brought their collection to Northville Township and to the Phoenix Correctional Facility as part of the prison's celebration of Black History Month.

"For prisoners, many of us who don't think we have a history except in our lives up to now, it gives us a real identity," said John McClendon, a prisoner taking collegiate-level classes. "It's really been exciting to know about your ethnic history."

"The man who carved this said it was his mother. She had a deformed foot, so the statue has a deformed foot; she had sores on her face, so he gave the statue sores on its face. It all is as he remembered her."

— Julia McCoy
art collector

The McCoy's, who are involved in education through the Michigan Department of Corrections, brought wall hangings and musical instruments, carved teak and metalworks, clothing, utensils and toys, all gained during their five-year stay in Africa.

And along with each work, they brought a story that they shared with visitors to the exhibit.

One piece in particular, Julia McCoy explained, caught the couple's fancy. It was a carving of an African woman, complete with warts and handicaps.

"The man who carved this said it was his mother," Julia McCoy said. "She had a deformed foot, so the statue has a deformed foot, she had sores on her face, so he gave the statue sores on its face. It all is as he remembered her."

But the artifacts were not the only educational tools the McCoy's brought. Included in the exhibit were books by Langston Hughes and other black authors and maps depicting colonial and post-colonial Africa.

For many of the prisoners, some of whom have dropped out of high school, the introduction to the authors was the first realization they had that blacks have written books, McClendon explained.

"And for people to be able to trace where the artifacts came from is another bonus. It gives a sense of continuity," Mack McCoy said.

Record/Chris Boyd

Arthur Rex, an inmate at Phoenix, is fascinated with the African artifacts on display at the prison.

Services held for two nonagenarians from community

ANN CHRISTENSON YOUNG

Funeral service for Ann Christenson Young, 90, of 43875 W Nine Mile Road was held at 5 p.m. Feb. 11 at Casterline Funeral Home in Northville. Officiant was Father Leslie Harding of Holy Cross Episcopal Church of Novi, where Mrs. Young was a member. Burial was in Redford Cemetery. Mrs. Young died Feb. 9 at Dorvin Convalescent Home in Livonia after an illness of nine months. She was known for her interest in feeding and identifying birds. She also enjoyed sewing. A chemist, she attended the University of Michigan where she was a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority and Iota Sigma Pi honorary sorority in chemistry. She at one time had been a member of St. Matthias Episcopal Church of Detroit, Northville Woman's Club and the Review Club.

Mrs. Young was born June 24, 1897, in Detroit to Hans Peter and Ann Eliza (Milroy) Christenson. She married Donald Cook Young Sr. Aug. 24, 1920.

She moved to the community in 1952. In addition to her husband, Dr. Young, she leaves a son, Donald C. Young Jr., a daughter, Mary Louise Lowther, four grandchildren and a grandchild.

NELLIE A KELNER

Nellie A. Kelner died Feb. 10 at her Northville home. She was 93 and had been a resident of the community since 1938.

Funeral service was held at 10 a.m. Friday at Our Lady of Victory Church where she had been a member. She also was a member of the Altar Society and Our Lady's League.

Rosary and visitation were at Casterline Funeral Home Inc. Burial was in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery in Southfield.

Mrs. Kelner was born June 15, 1894, in Austria to Jacob and Catherine (Hampel) Stremich. She married Jacob Kelner who died in June, 1948. She leaves two daughters, Lillian and Marjorie of Northville, a son, Donald of Trenton, one grandson and two granddaughters.

W. GAYNOR HARRISON

Former Northville resident W. Gaynor Harrison died Feb. 9 at Kissimmee, Fla., unexpectedly of a heart attack. He was 73.

He had retired from Bathey Manufacturing in Plymouth as a superintendent with 25 years' service and had moved to Florida six years ago.

Funeral service was held at 11 a.m. Saturday at Casterline Funeral Home Inc. with the Rev. Eric S. Hammar, minister of First United Methodist Church of Northville, officiating. Burial was in Rural Hill Cemetery.

Mr. Harrison was born June 5, 1914, in War, W. Va., to William and Carrie (Lambert) Harrison. He married his wife, Esther, in 1979.

In addition to his wife, he leaves sons and daughters, Sandra Simo, Gaynor Lynn Doyle, Edward, Mitchell, Sharon Hammond and Michael Myers, and nine grandchildren. He was preceded in death by three brothers and a sister.

MARY V. ABEN

A memorial service for Mary V. Aben of Northville was held at 10 a.m. Monday at Our Lady of Victory Church where she was a member. Father Frank Pollie officiated.

Burial was in United Memorial Gardens in Salem Township.

Mrs. Aben died Feb. 10 at Botsford General Hospital in Farmington Hills at the age of 88.

She had been a resident of Northville for 10 years, after living in Detroit for 50 years.

She was born May 9, 1899, in Canada to Bernard and Francis (Bigelow) McNally. She married Elmer Aben who died in 1943.

She leaves a daughter, Patricia Hock of Northville; a son, Wayne Aben of Jackson; a brother, Douglas McNally of Toronto; and six grandchildren. Arrangements were by Casterline Funeral Home Inc.

RUSSELL H. ROGERS JR.

Russell H. Rogers Jr. of Northville died Feb. 9 at Sinai Hospital in Detroit. He was 57.

Funeral service was held at 1 p.m. Friday at Casterline Funeral Home Inc. with the Rev. J. Cyrus Smith of St. Timothy United Presbyterian Church of Livonia officiating.

Burial was in Rural Hill Cemetery. Mr. Rogers moved to the community two years ago from Ortonville. He was retired from Pontiac Motor Company with 32 years of service.

He was born Nov. 3, 1930, in Michigan to Russell H. and Elsie (Hitchman) Rogers.

He leaves his wife, Stella (Marcum), a son, Robert Rogers of Grand Blanc daughters, Susan McSorley of Livonia and Cynthia Retolar in New Jersey, a brother, Bruce Rogers of Livonia, sisters, Carol Wenzel of Southfield and Harriet Rogers in California, and two granddaughters.

The family suggests that memorial tributes may be made to the Heart or Cancer foundations.

Study recommends changes in traffic

stretch of road "The difference in elevations between the road surface and the adjoining land may make construction more difficult and add to the cost," the report says.

In addition to the widening, the study suggests improvements to Center at several intersections: Eight Mile, Randolph, Dunlap and Main.

The study offers two alternatives at Center and Randolph: widening Randolph at the intersection to provide separate lanes to turn right and left onto Center, or closing Randolph off just before Center.

Closing Randolph is recommended because it would eliminate "cut-thrus" on Randolph and congestion at the intersection. The study says such a closing could only be done together with other improvements, and should be first done on a trial basis.

At Center and Eight Mile, the study identifies the problems as northbound backups during peak travel times, and westbound left turns onto Center. The study suggests a northbound left turn lane on Center, adding a phase to the traffic light for westbound left turns and through traffic, and increasing the radius for northbound right turns.

At Center and Dunlap, in addition to the extra lane, the study suggests adding pedestrian signals and possible signal retiming. At Center and Main, the report recommends attempting to reduce traffic by encouraging alternate southbound and northbound routes to avoid the intersection, as well as adding pedestrian signals and reflectors on the curbs.

Other specific locations in the report include:

- Around Northville High School: The study suggests several changes, including closing the rear entrance and replacing it with an entrance off Eight Mile with a traffic light and a deceleration lane. Also, the study suggests closing the Center Street entrance, or else restricting it to out-bound right turns only.

- Another recommendation is to make the tennis courts into additional parking space and build new tennis courts north of Eight Mile.

- Randolph and High: "The improvements at Randolph and High should be made immediately (regardless) of any other improvements to be made," the study states. Clocking the speeds of 744 vehicles showed an average speed of 29.7 miles per hour, the study says.

A four-way stop is recommended at Randolph and High to improve sight distance and possibly decrease speeds.

- Eight Mile, Taft and Randolph: After the Eight Mile/Center intersection has been improved — but before any closing of Randolph at Center — the study suggests several changes: First, eliminating the separate lane from eastbound Eight Mile onto Randolph, making that turn more difficult, and moving the traffic light across from the existing eastern drive of the Gas 'n' Go station.

- It also recommends closing the drives into service station which are closest to the intersection.

- Hutton and Dunlap: The report recommends repainting the lanes and adding a crosswalk, extending the median to the west, and reducing the lane width to northbound Hutton.

- Hutton and Horton: If cut-throughs continue to be a problem after other improvements in the area, the study recommends building a dual cul-de-sac (with emergency access) at Horton and Rayson.

- Main and Griswold: The report suggests adding a traffic light and pavement markings, and making the right westbound lane on Main right turn only onto Griswold.

- Wing and Cady: To address the problem of people driving through stop signs at the post office, the study recommends adding painted stop bars and a four-way overhead flasher.

- It also suggests making the parking spaces in front of the post office five minutes instead of 15, and adding two handicapped spaces south of the post office.

- Wing and Fairbrook: The report recommends making the intersection a four-way stop to help traffic flow and because of sight distance.

- Seven Mile, Fairbrook and First: The study suggests marking the pavement and making Fairbrook one-way between First and Wing.

- Eight Mile and Griswold: Although the City of Northville commissioned this study, this intersection — which is just outside the city

LET US UNCONFUSE YOU ABOUT YOUR IRA.

If you're confused about the new IRA tax laws, you're not alone.

That's why Security Bancorp Banks have all the IRA information you need in every branch office to help you figure out whether an IRA makes sense for you. We've even installed a special IRA Hotline, a toll-free number you can call between 9 A.M. and 6 P.M. during business days.

WE SPEAK ENGLISH.

Whether you're one of our customers or not, you can still call us for help. You'll be happy to know that our people won't talk to you in IRS language because they've been specially trained to speak in terms you can understand. We even have a simple form that you can fill out to determine how much you can contribute to your IRA and what the tax benefits are for your income bracket.

WE GIVE YOU A BETTER CHOICE.

Only Security Bancorp Banks offer a 3-year Flexible IRA. The only retirement account that doesn't lock you in to current interest rates. With a Flexible IRA, the interest rate can climb as high as 12 percent. But it can never go below six percent for the term of the certificate. Your Flexible IRA will earn the rate of interest we offer on our 3-year Fixed Rate IRA Certificate of Deposit. As interest rates change, we will automatically adjust your rate plus compound it quarterly.

You can also choose from a variety of investment options including fixed or variable rate IRAs. Our people can explain the advantages of all the different options so you can decide what's best for you.

YOU HAVE UNTIL APRIL 15TH TO GET UNCONFUSED.

If you want to open an IRA for 1987, you only have until April 15th to make your contribution. So, please, come in to one of our branch offices or call our IRA Hotline. And when you call, we'll tell you how easy it is to open an IRA by mail.

Because after a lifetime of hard work, you don't deserve hard times.

You need all the Security you can get.

City's inspection fund appears self-sufficient

A review of the first full year of existence for the City of Northville's inspection services fund shows that the fund is proving to be better than self-sufficient, City Manager Steve Walters reported.

At the city council meeting Feb. 1, Walters told the city council that "We're accumulating something on the order of $50,000 a year right now" in the fund.

Northville used to pay for building inspections from the City of Plymouth, Walters' report says. The city established its inspection services fund July 1, 1986, the start of the 1986-87 fiscal year, with a beginning balance of $48,049.

The fund is used for expenses related to inspections, and fees from inspections go into the fund.

"The first full year as a fund, an additional $53,915 was added to the surplus balance," Walters said. In addition, another $24,444 was added to the surplus by the end of 1987, he said, but this cannot be counted as the surplus until the end of this fiscal year.

And, Walters added, if ever the number of permits applied for drops sharply, the city could run into a situation where it is obligated to conduct several months of inspections with little new revenue coming into the fund.

Still, Walters said, "It would appear that the fund will be more than able to operate on a self-sufficient basis."

Walters noted an irony in the fund

The thing that really motivated us to break away from Plymouth and create the fund was expectation of large permit fees for Main Center—a development which has not yet materialized, he said. Most of the work since the creation of the fund has been for subdivisions, he said.

NHS to send 13 students to Girls State

Thirteen delegates will be sent to the American Legion Auxiliary Girls State Program at Central Michigan University from Northville High School this June. The number, one of the highest in the state, is a record and an increase over last year's 12.

Applications now are being taken by the high school counseling department from girls who are in their junior year at the high school.

The program will be held June 11-19 on the CMU campus in Mt. Pleasant.

Delegates will be chosen from the applicants for the program. They must be United States citizens who are interested in the program on government sponsored locally by American Legion Post No. 147 Auxiliary.

Selection will be by the counseling department and on recommendation of the students' teachers. The 13 chosen will be notified and their names sent to the Girls State by April 1.

Organizations and businesses providing the local sponsorships are Belanger Inc., Casterline Funeral Home Inc., Northville American Legion Auxiliary, Northville Business and Professional Women's Club and Northville Woman's Club (a shared sponsorship), Northville Branch, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association, Northville Downs, Northville Jaycees, Northville Kiwanis Club, Northville Mothers' Club (two sponsorships), Northville Rotary Club, Sliger/Livingston Publications (Northville Record), and the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary to Post 4012.

Police Blotter

$10,000 stolen from Oasis Golf Course on Five Mile

Oasis Golf Course on Five Mile Road was broken into Feb 15 and nearly $10,000 in cash and merchandise reportedly was taken in the incident.

The break-in occurred about 3:55 a.m., according to the township police report. Entry to the facility was gained by breaking a window.

Observers at a nearby restaurant told police that they watched while a male took a hammer to the window. However, they were unable to identify the subject.

Missing from the facility is a video recorder and camera and about $9,000 in cash.

COINS FOUND — Freydl's on Main Street recently reported finding a paper bag with some foreign coins in it.

The bag was left in the store around Christmas time, a police report said. The store waited for someone to claim it, but no one has so far.

The bag is now at the police station waiting for the owner. Anyone claiming the bag should be prepared to describe its contents, police said.

PICKPOCKET — A man's wallet was stolen from his back pants pocket at Northville Downs Saturday afternoon, according to a city police report.

Between 3:30 and 3:55, the man's pocket was picked in the upper grandstand. The wallet contained $17 cash, the report said.

Someone found the wallet, without the money, in a restroom and turned it over to the police.

ACCIDENT — Police issued a ticket for careless driving to a Northville resident after an accident at Eight Mile Road and Center Street Feb 2.

According to a city police report, a car driving east on Eight Mile hit a westbound car in the intersection.

The first car's windows were completely iced over except for a small space for the driver to see through, the police report said. The driver of the first car was issued a citation for careless driving.

UNPAID CAB FARE — Northville city police have asked for an arrest warrant for a local man who is suspected of ducking out on a $20 taxi fare.

A taxi driver from Detroit filed a report with Northville police which says that he drove two men from Detroit to a Northville bar Feb 8, running up a $20 fare. The men said they would cash a check in the bar to pay the fare, but when the driver checked on them, they had left the bar.

A worker in the bar said she knew who one of them was, and gave the driver his name and address. According to the report, the driver went to the man's residence, and the man said he would pay the fare the next day, but did not.

As of Monday, city police were seeking a warrant for the suspect.

WINDOW BROKEN — A window on a Novi Street home was broken the morning of Wednesday, Feb 10, probably with a snowball, according to a city police report.

The window was broken between 8 and 12:30, the report said. Tracks in the snow showed that several people had been in the area.

EXTINGUISHER STOLEN — A school bus from Livonia was robbed of its fire extinguisher while at Northville High School Feb 5, according to a city police report.

The bus was at NHS for a wrestling meet. The fire extinguisher was on the bus when it left Livonia, the report said. The theft was estimated to have occurred between 3:30 and 5:30.

DOWNS VANDALISM — The soap dispensers on the wall of the men's room in the lower clubhouse at Northville Downs were torn off the wall Monday, Feb 7, according to a city police report.

The incident occurred between 11:40 and 11:55 p.m.

ACCIDENT INJURES WOMAN — A township woman was taken to St. Mary Hospital Feb 15, when her car collided with a vehicle driven by a Novi woman on Seven Mile Road near Pierson Road.

According to a police report, the township driver turned onto Seven Mile from Pierson in front of the oncoming vehicle. Both cars changed lanes to avoid hitting each other, however, snowy conditions on the roads caused the first car to slide into the second.

A spokeswoman at the hospital said that the injured woman was seen at the emergency room, however, no further information was available.

DIMES INTO PENNIES — An employee at a township bakery told officers Feb 11 that a black man, driving a late-model car, came into the Seven Mile Road bakery and offered the employee rolls of dimes for bills.

The employee said he accepted the rolled coins, giving the man $30 in cash. However, when the employee opened the coin rolls, he discovered that instead of dimes, there were only pennies in the middle of the coin rolls.

The incident is being treated as fraud, the police report said.

Year's permit figures show active year for building

The annual report of the City of Northville's department of building and code enforcement shows an active construction year for 1987.

During the year, the department issued a total of 1,362 permits for new constructions, additions, alterations, mechanical work and miscellaneous, according to the report. Those permits were for construction projects worth $16.242 million, and the city charged a total of $192,806 in permit fees.

In comparison, in 1986 the city issued 545 permits for work worth $9.453 million. Total fees for 1986 were $95,371.

Most of the 200 permits for new construction was for single family homes; permits were issued for 105 of them at a total value of $12.965 million. The city also gave out permits for six condominiums worth a total of $500,000.

Permits were issued for five new commercial buildings at a total value of $831,000, and one medical facility.

The department also gave out 35 permits for decks, 19 for garages, 13 for fences, 11 for signs, four for utility buildings and one for a pool.

In addition, 104 permits were issued for additions, alterations and miscellaneous. They included 17 single family additions, three commercial additions, one school addition and six demolitions. The rest were miscellaneous work.

The city issued 893 permits for mechanical work, including 327 for electrical, 234 for plumbing, 217 for heating and 115 for refrigeration.

Joint venture eyed for land

study has been signed by Lambrecht officials and is awaiting the signature of County Executive Edward H. McNamara.

But the 14-page document covers only the marketing and valuation study. It makes no mention of sale or of the higher potential profit.

"We have negotiated a modified agreement with (Lambrecht)," said Michael Duggan, deputy county executive. Duggan added that the new agreement would "probably not" make mention of the potential sale.

"I think we are looking at the possibility of a joint venture for the project," Duggan said.

"That (a joint venture) seems to be the way the county is heading," said Lambrecht President James Mawson Tuesday. On Feb. 9, however, Mawson said there was no contract with the county and to the best of his knowledge, there had been no changes in the plans for the property.

On Feb. 16 Mawson said that he had signed a contract to handle the valuation study and the document had been "delivered to the city county building the day after the big snowstorm."

Bob Wisler, director of communications and marketing for Wayne County's Jobs and Economic Development department, said that the new contract would be submitted to the county executive for his signature and confirmed that the county was looking at a joint venture, rather than a sale of the property.

"It (the idea of a joint venture) evolved over a period of time as we discussed the highest and best use for the land," Wisler said.

"When the concept changed to the joint venture, we amended the contract to cover only the valuation study and the current contract makes no mention of a sale," he said.

Wisler said there had been discussions between the county and a number of developers about the possibility of a joint venture on the property.

He declined to identify the developers. "I'm not saying they're potential developers for the joint venture. They are just some well-known developers who could handle this type of project," Wisler said.

Mawson said that he had been involved in the discussions and meetings but would not identify any of the other firms. He said his company had prepared a list of "about 30" firms that might be able to handle a joint venture on the entire property.

"What we and the county are going to be doing next is pruning that list so that we can ask for proposals for joint venture developments," Mawson said.

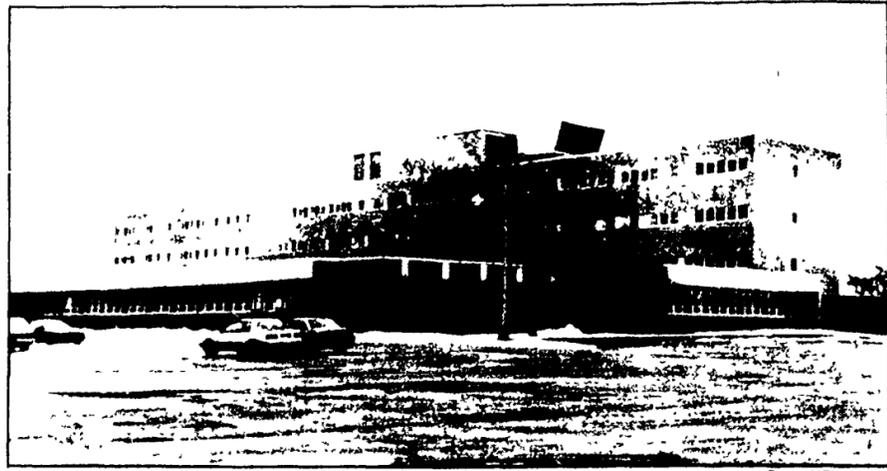

Duggan, however, said any bid process for a joint development partner with the county would be "wide open."

None of the three principals would give any time frame for completion of the valuation study, although Wisler said, "I believe there is a time element included in the contract."

As for the potential lost revenue to Lambrecht, Mawson said it was his understanding that the company would be hired by Wayne County as a consultant and paid on an hourly basis for work it performs in evaluating the joint venture proposals and preparing the request for proposals and bids.

He said the consulting fees could range from "$20 to $150 per hour, depending on who does the consulting."

He noted that the earliest any request for proposals would be made would be mid-March.

Record/Chris Boyd

Meanwhile, Northville Township officials are still waiting for some action on the property.

"I understand the work is being held up at the marketing study level," said Goss. "We are just awaiting developments, but I do know that before any work is done, someone will have to come to Northville Township for approval from our planning commission."

The commission has a master plan for the property and has reviewed it on at least three occasions since initial discussions on a possible land sale occurred in late 1986.

Goss said she had not been informed of the identity of any of the potential development partners for the property.

"The only thing I know is that there is a letter that alludes to the possibility that the county and the township might engage in a joint venture to develop a golf course on some of the property," she said.

Our Opinions

Sewer delays caused some real problems

Today is decision day for the township. Today the Michigan Water Resources Commission will determine whether the Ypsilanti Community Utility Authority may expand its sewage treatment plant.

Today, officials from Wayne County and the Michigan Department of Natural Resources will determine what is required to stop talking and to start building the North Huron Valley/Rouge Valley facilities plan.

Today is three decades after super sewer, as the North Huron Valley/Rouge Valley project has been called, was conceived.

Politically, not much has changed between 1958 and 1988. Individual municipalities are still looking over their shoulders to make sure everyone is getting the same treatment. City councils and township boards are still questioning how they will pay for the project and everyone involved is wondering exactly how much federal or state money will be available for the project.

In reality, much has changed. The cost of the project has skyrocketed, but so, too, has the population that the regional sewer system will serve. The service area has been greatly altered. No longer are the downriver communities part of the project. Wetlands and other environmental concerns that were ignored in 1958, today are the subject of studies and efforts to preserve them.

And, today, instead of costing Northville and Novi $235,000 for the project, planners are throwing out totals of $9 million or more.

No one is disputing the validity of a region banding together to solve common problems. But the region that makes up super sewer's service area keeps changing.

It has been nearly a year since approval has been sought for participation in the latest incantation of super sewer. It has been two weeks since the DNR has begun its review process. And it has been 18 months since Canton and Plymouth townships have pulled out of the project in favor of another location for effluent discharge.

All the I's are dotted and T's are finally crossed.

Haste may make waste, but a 30-year delay without a shovel in the ground is inexcusable. Hindsight always provides 20-20 vision, but in 2018, it would be a shame if someone at The Northville Record writes this same editorial and only changes the dollar amounts.

Traffic study release is a good starting point

The long-awaited traffic study for the City of Northville has been released, and it's sure to provide a topic of discussion all through the community for the next few months.

We were glad to see the study finally come out, after a year of waiting. The document is obviously well researched and carefully prepared. The recommendations are, at the very least, interesting.

We can't say we agree with all the specific recommendations. For one example, we're afraid that closing Randolph at Center might cause more problems than it solves, even if the Randolph/Eight Mile intersection is improved to discourage Randolph cut-through traffic.

We have other reservations about specific suggestions in the study, too. But that isn't really the point. These are, after all, recommendations — items to be discussed and accepted, modified or rejected.

There's another tremendous related issue to tackle: How to pay for any desired improvements. That, too, is certain to be a hot discussion topic in the coming months.

The important thing is that the city now has a tangible point from which it can start considering all these issues. Eventually, this discussion should result in valuable improvements for Northville — its residents, and its visitors.

There is nothing that makes a journalist see red as quickly or as consistently as a closed meeting. Just the potential that someone (usually a political body since that's the only thing covered by the Open Meetings Act) would dare to even consider keeping something secret gets those print juices flowing.

In Novi, it has become expected that every time the City Council discusses City Manager Ed Kriewall's evaluation, The News will respond with a scathing editorial that screams for an open evaluation.

And, in response to each editorial there has been a letter from the city manager explaining exactly why the evaluation should be closed. In fact, it should be so closed that no one should know when it occurs.

In Northville Township, The Record can almost reprint its editorials which openly ask that interviews for township positions be held in public. The paper did it when Steve Brock and four others were interviewed for the township manager's job and we expect to do it again when the selection is winnowed to finalists for community development director.

In the City of Northville, the council now is talking about establishing an annual evaluation procedure for its city manager. We hope this will be an open session.

Michigan's Open Meetings Act is very specific. It spells out in no uncertain terms, when and why a meeting may be closed. And, it also spells out the penalty if the public is illegally kept out of interviews, evaluations and the like.

When the media challenges the right of a governmental body to close a meeting, it does not do so with an ax to grind or in an attempt to embarrass the people involved. It challenges it because our government has said the public has a right to know.

A company as large as Ford Motor Co. or General Motors or as small as Joseph's Bakery does not have any obligation to be accountable to the taxpayers. But a city or a township does. After all, it is the taxpayers who pay the salaries of the officials and it is the taxpayers who have a right to know exactly who will be filling what positions.

The Northville Public Schools have routinely opened their interviews to the public when they have searched for a superintendent. And, the last time such a meeting was open, five residents attended and one of them was a newspaper reporter.

But the audience or lack of it is not the issue when it comes to open or closed meetings. The issue is whether a public body can close a meeting for reasons not approved by state statute.

In the case of employee evaluations, the statute leaves the choice whether to go public or private in the hands of the individual. The person being evaluated may, at his or her request, close the evaluation.

In the case of job interviews, the person being interviewed retains the right to open or close the session. It is not up to the township or the city to close the session.

Routinely, however, the municipal body usurps the individual's right and our papers routinely rail against the municipalities. I don't expect that to change this year. But then, I still believe in fairy tales and Santa Claus.

TORPEDO!

After the fact

By Phil Jerome

"Mas aqua, por favor." It was me talking. We were sitting at a restaurant named Casa Blanca in downtown Puerto Vallarta last week, basking in the ambience of one of Mexico's best-known resorts.

"I don't think he's listening," she whispered across the table as I finished the last remaining drops of water in my own glass and grabbed for hers. "Why don't you try it again."

"Hey, senior. Mas aqua, por favor," I stammered, poised to execute an open-field tackle on the first waiter who passed by.

"Mas aqua, pretty por favor. Rapidamente. Con haste-o."

By this time I had finished her glass of water and was waving my hand rapidly in front of my mouth. Trying to fan up a breeze to cool my tongue.

The problem was that I had ordered something called camarones ranchero — shrimp in a ranchero sauce. Actually, that wasn't the problem. The problem was that I had eaten Mexican food with no problems whatsoever the first two nights in Puerto Vallarta and as a consequence was guilty of having overestimated my ability to handle all Mexican food — particularly camarones ranchero as served at the Casa Blanca.

After what seemed like an eternity, a waiter finally ambled over. "Mas aqua," I repeated, pointing first to the two empty glasses, then to my seething tongue and finally to the dreaded camarones ranchero. "Muy caliente," I blurted out, indicating the comida on mi plato.

"No, senior," my Mexican buddy corrected. "The sun is muy caliente. Your food is muy picoso."

"Si, muy caliente. Mas aqua. Rapidamente. Por favor."

"No, senior," he smiled amiably, obviously happy to be helping me improve my Spanish vocabulary. "Picoso. Picoso. Sue comida es muy picoso."

"Okay, okay. Mi comida is muy picoso. Can I have that glass of water now. And make it snappy, will ya."

Why the cable TV rate hike?

EDITOR'S NOTE The following is a copy sent to The Record of a letter to Rick Coleman, general manager, Omnicom Cablevision

I have two concerns to bring to your attention. The first is very important and I would ask for your careful consideration and the courtesy of a reply. The other is a simple matter which I trust you can easily remedy.

First of all I am very concerned about your recent fee increase. Omnicom is public utility of sorts, sanctioned by various municipalities as the sole provider of cable TV service. As such, it would seem that Omnicom has a responsibility to the public, its subscribers, to provide their services at minimal cost, notwithstanding a reasonable expectation of a profit under certain conditions.

The fee you are asking for your services this last bill is up over 20 percent above the previous rate. I am angered that Omnicom would use its privileged position in the community to exact such an exorbitant increase and with no explanation. This is entirely unjustified and improper.

I do not know if your contract with Northville Township allows for an "annual increase." If it does, shame on "us." But more importantly, and regardless if it does, shame on you. You are expected to control your costs to avoid any increases, in the public interest, since you are a government sanctioned monopoly.

With only a four percent inflation last year, that shouldn't be too difficult. You are asking for a 20 percent increase. Really now!

Furthermore, if I remember correctly, your notice stated only that it's about that time of year when the rates go up or something like that. If this is all the explanation you believe your customers deserve or can understand, you have badly misjudged your clientele. It is an affront to my sensibilities. And this was not so subtly buried inside a holiday greeting and thanks for your patronage letter. How very offensive.

I will continue to pay Omnicom at last year's rate until I see a satisfactory accounting of your cost increases and a plan to offset or reduce your costs to last year's levels printed in The Northville Record.

and a personal letter of apology for your inappropriate handling of the announcement.

My second concern is with the timing of your monthly bill. The most recent billing was dated Dec. 16, 1987, and shows a due date of Jan. 6, 1988, a three week time frame. Sounds like enough time on the surface, to sort the bills, deliver via U.S. mail, write out a check and return through the U.S. mail, and to sort and post a payment.

Not the 25-30 day span most other enterprises such as (other) public utilities allow, but seemingly reasonable. Except when the outgoing postmark (12-28-87) is 12 days after the billing date, leaving only nine days (in this case including two weekends and a public holiday) for the subscriber response and your posting (2-4 days by itself). Could this be improved?

In any event could you please schedule our billing to arrive before the 15th of the month and be due not before the 30th?

I am looking forward to a positive response on both concerns.

Sincerely,
Neal W. Greenfield

Unusual behavior from child may mean some help is needed

This is another in a series of continuing columns written for The Record by Mary Ellen King, executive director of Northville Youth Assistance

A mother notices that her 15-year-old daughter will not talk, her behavior seems strange, she is more withdrawn.

Has the girl broken up with a boyfriend or has she had a disagreement with a girlfriend of long standing?

Problems don't always have to be severe before some action is taken to ease them. Even with problems that seem small, peer relationships are important helps to teenagers.

If a parent notes unusual behavior from a child, it may be time to get help.

A father notices that his 10-year-old son is fighting in school, something that has never happened before.

That acting out may be because of family problems. Young children often blame themselves or act out when they feel that have no control or input into a family situation.

A husband notes that he and his wife are separated and their 16-year-old daughter won't talk to him. "If I ask her to do anything, she just yells at me," he says.

Accepting divorce is very difficult for an older teen. They want stability. The girl's anger may be directed toward her father, but what she really wants is assurances that he will not abandon her.

Another mother notes that her 17-year-old son is never home. He goes out with his friends and tries to put as much distance as possible between himself and his family.

Independence for a young male is very important. He wants to do things on his own and without supervision. He drives now and feels free. Finding an event that he would like to share with you might bring you together.

A father relates that his 13-year-old daughter wants to go to the mall with her friends. "She says she is the only one who can't go," he tells us.

Giving in because of what everyone else does is not always the answer, however, making arrangements with other parents and allowing the girl to spend short periods of time at the mall may be a good compromise.

There are never any definitive solutions to problems, but there are always clues to knowing what is going on in your child's life.

The first rule of thumb is to be patient, supportive and loving. When you find yourself in a situation wondering if you are making good decisions, perhaps you should talk to someone.

Northville Youth Assistance has an ongoing support group for parents who find themselves in difficult situations with their children.

The group is run by two professional social workers who have been trained in group work. The meetings are strictly confidential and are intended to give support.

Call us. We'll listen, and perhaps prevent a small situation from escalating. The phone number is 344-1618.

Dear Advertising Staff,

With my recent recognition as the Farmers Insurance No. 1 Auto Insurance Writer at our President's Council, I feel it necessary to send off a sincere note of thanks for providing me with the positive media exposure to build and maintain my clientele.

It was June of last year at our annual convention where they select the top forty out of 14,000 agents throughout the United States to confer with the Presidents of the Farmers Insurance Group that I received the honor as No. 1 Auto Insurance Writer.

Also last year I was recognized as the top homeowners writer in our three state region (Ohio, Indiana and Michigan). Truly, I believe this was accomplished with the efforts of the Northville Record/Novi News advertising program.

Jim Storm Insurance has been a consistent advertiser with the Northville Record/Novi News for 13 years. We feel that we could not find a value in our advertising dollar anywhere to compare with the tremendous results that we have enjoyed with your papers.

Thanks again for your help

Sincerely,

Columnist shines in speech to Friends of local libraries

By ANNE WILLIS

What kind of a man would travel from downtown Detroit to the Novi Library in a blizzard? A man who likes libraries. Neal Shine, author and columnist was the guest speaker at a joint luncheon of the Friends of the Northville Library and Friends of the Novi Library, last Thursday.

"I like libraries. That's why I'm willing to drive through God's worst weather. I like books and I like people who like books," Shine told the audience. Despite the weather Shine spoke to a capacity crowd. Tickets were sold out within days of going on sale in both Northville and Novi.

Shine is a native Detroitier who has worked at the Detroit Free Press for over 30 years, rising through the ranks from copy boy to senior managing editor. He currently writes a column for the paper and recently completed a book, "Shine on Sunday." He is also the moderator of the public television show "Detroit Week in Review" on Channel 56.

Speaking easily and looking perfectly comfortable at the podium, Shine told the audience that his love for books and writing began at an early age. "I decided I liked to write in the sixth grade and that I wanted to be a journalist in the seventh grade," he said. The book that led him to his decision? "Bob Gordon, Cub Reporter."

"I am singularly blessed. I am exactly what I always wanted to be," Shine said.

He recently was asked to recount the major influences in his life which led him to his career. "You're supposed to say your parents," he noted, but said while his parents taught him a great deal, they had one book in the house while he grew up — the Bible. "My father was a farmer, he taught me to dig a ditch straight. He was very proud of his ability to turn dirt over."

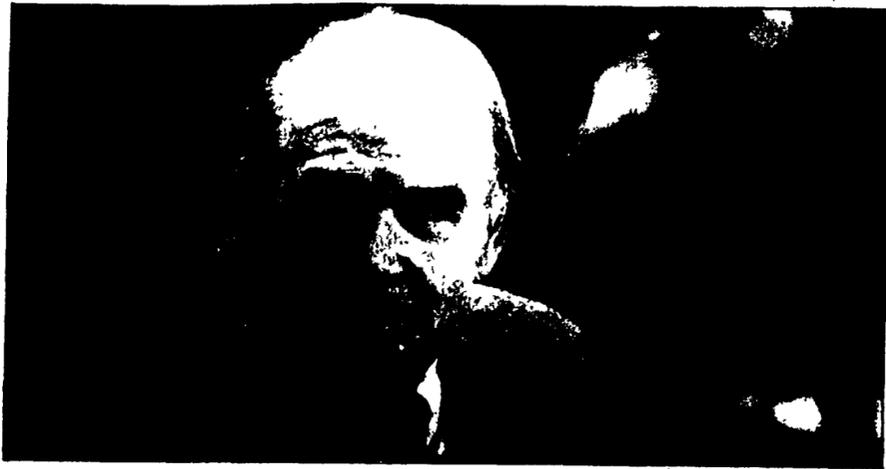

Shine recounted that his father, a farmer in Ireland before becoming a street car conductor in Detroit after immigrating, and his mother, who had been a serving girl before marrying at 14, had a great appreciation for books and music but that "books were not plentiful in my house."

He credited the nuns at St. Rose, the school he attended before graduating from the University of Detroit, with getting him started on the path to enjoying books. But it was his trips to the library in Detroit when he was growing up that really influenced his life's work, Shine said. "The people who worked in the library indulged my fantasies about becoming a writer," he said.

Shine recounted a story about attempting to track down a man who used to write letters to the Free Press 35 years ago from a small town in Pennsylvania. Every month or so the paper received a letter from him saying he was a middleweight boxer and asking the Free Press to look for a fight for him. The paper never responded and 35 years later Shine wanted to know what had happened to the man.

After trying the usual route of calling information to try to locate the man's number, Shine called the little town's library, sure that if the librarians didn't already know of the man, they would certainly help locate him. "Librarians will help you," he said.

Shine talked to two librarians while they did not have a patron by that name, when Shine asked if there was a bar in town where an old boxer might hang out, "they both said the same bar," and Shine was able to locate the man's brother and get a column. "At least I knew where to call, I called the librarians."

Shine told of his vivid imagination during his childhood days, which made him a less than perfect student. "Today they would call it an attention deficit then it was daydreaming."

"The quickest way to indulge a rich fantasy life is at the library," he told the audience.

Shine's first library was the old Waterworks Park Library in Detroit, he said. "It was an old building in the middle of a park... shelves branched out from the middle of the room. It smelled like books."

The library "was a passage out of my east side neighborhood to places only limited by your fantasy life," Shine said. "All you had to do was pick a destination and I was good at that. Camelot with Tennyson, the Orient with Kipling... it was very easy to let words take you where they were. Books indulged our dreams and opened the gates to the world."

While the library itself was special to Shine, the librarians who helped him select books also holds a big place in his memories. "She had graying hair and wore print dresses that I thought of as silk. She trailed a hint of scent behind her."

Shine said he occasionally returns to a former library, now a church, that he visited as a youngster. "I roll down the windows of the car and think about all the hours I spent reading there and a lady who smelled like Yankee Clipper."

The Apple Basket offers antiques, gifts

By KAY FAHEY

As customers step through the entrance of The Apple Basket gift shop in South Lyon they are greeted by a wonderful, spicy scent packaged with a warm welcome from owner Barbara Winn or her mother and business partner Marian LaLonde.

In fact, the cozy atmosphere could be described as the perfect home-spun setting for the shop which sells antiques, art and craft items.

The Apple Basket, 129 W. Lake, carries everything from sassafras tea to antique furniture. LaLonde provides the expertise in antiques.

"I've been around antiques all my life," she said. "When I was growing up, there was an antique store in my uncle's grocery."

Although LaLonde does most of the buying, she and her daughter both travel extensively in order to keep their inventory complete. They make frequent visits to the East Coast, Pennsylvania and Ohio, as well as Northern Michigan.

"We're always looking for that unusual item," said Winn. In addition, they deem it important to understand the popular items and trends in the antique market.

"It used to be antique teddy bears were hot. Now stoneware and quilts are becoming increasingly popular."

The pair purchases handmade craft items as well as antiques on their trips. "Most of our Amish things we get in Pennsylvania," Winn stated. The shop also features a quilt from the Amish community in Clare, Mich., a hand-carved rendition of Noah's Ark from Pennsylvania and a barbecue sauce mix from Kentucky.

In addition to embarking on buying trips, mother and daughter display exhibits at two to three antique shows and up to eight craft shows each year. Other family members help out at the shop while they are away, and they employ some part-time help. "It's a real family business," the two agreed.

— Marian LaLonde

Their store features local artists in addition to items imported from other states. A few products made by local residents include enamel and porcelain jewelry, quilts, baskets, doll chairs, German folk art, and paintings on canvas and wood.

"We really like to encourage local artists. We try to help them get established," Winn said enthusiastically.

Winn and LaLonde themselves make the antique reproductions which are sold in the shop. "Some people can't afford antiques, so we also offer reproductions," Winn explained. "Barbara cuts the wood, and then we both paint."

The partners make wooden shelving, cabinets, herb racks and tavern signs.

In addition, the shop will do special orders and will help customers find special items. Winn will even go to a customer's house to help with decorating tips. Though she claims she's not an interior decorator, she does have experience decorating with antiques and a life-long familiarity with ways to use them.

"When I got on my own, I wanted everything modern. I wanted no more of this old stuff. But gradually I was just drawn back to it. I love it. It's like an addiction," Winn said.

LaLonde agreed. "We live and breathe it (antiques)."

Winn indicated the mother-and-daughter partnership chose to open the shop in South Lyon on her brother's recommendation. "He told us South Lyon was a growing community," she said, adding they have been well pleased with their decision. "We really like it here."

They feel their location lends itself to the antique business. "It (the building) has a lot of charm," Winn said.

The shop's name, "The Apple Basket," reflects its commitment to the community, the business partners stated.

"We chose it because of all the apple orchards around here, and we have lots of apple oriented products," said Winn.

Like their products, customers visit the shop from several different communities. Winn and LaLonde report their shop has had visitors from Grand Rapids, Birmingham, Flint and Dearborn.

Both partners say business has been good since they opened in July of 1987, and that they plan to expand. They have just added a line of decorator paints, and soon hope to carry gift items for men and for babies.

In addition, they plan to carry more decorator items and eventually they may add a tea room to the existing business.

For the month of February, they are offering specials on all red items. In addition, many of their products are decorated with a heart motif, including their Rowe pottery.

Winter hours are from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Saturday.

Later in the year, the business will return to its regular hours, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., Monday through Friday; 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday. During the Christmas season, the store offers extended hours.

Business Briefs

PHILIP J. KIRALY of Northville has been promoted to Director of K mart's International Headquarters Operations

During his 27-year K mart career, Kiraly has served as Director of Inventory Management, Director of Corporation Training and Store Information Distribution, Director of Corporate Training, Director of Store Operations and Assistant Regional Manager in K mart's Central Region, Regional Merchandise Manager, District Manager in K mart's Central Region as well as managing several Kresge and K mart stores

The Kiraly family has lived in Northville for the past 9 1/2 years. Carol Kiraly is president of the Northville Historical Society. The Kiralys have two children living at home: Mark, a junior at Northville High School, and Laura, who is attending Schoolcraft College. An older son, Alan, and his wife, Judy, live in Dayton, Ohio.

K mart Corp is the second-largest retailer in the world and posted record 1986 sales of $23.8 billion. K mart stock is traded on the New York, Pacific and Tokyo Stock Exchanges. Its trading symbol is KM.

NANCY GATES PEARSON, a Milford native, is now a vice president in the Multinational Line of Business of First Republic Bank Dallas.

Pearson earned a BBA degree from the University of Texas at Arlington in 1982.

First Republic Bank Dallas is the lead bank of First Republic Bank Corp., the largest bank holding company in Texas and the southwest with $33.6 billion in assets.

CAREER IMAGE of Twelve Oaks Mall in Novi is sponsoring a Career Club for all professional women, whether working or not. The club meets in the Twelve Oaks store on the second Tuesday of each month at 7 p.m.

For more information about the Career Club call Career Image at 348-3620.

ARPEE COMPANY, INC. has opened new offices at 40800 Five Mile in Plymouth.

Arpee Company is a land surveying company that has been located in Plymouth for over 13 years and is owned by Robert M. Pitts, a Registered Land Surveyor and a Civil Engineer graduate of Lawrence Tech.

Pitts is a Plymouth Rotarian, a member of the Chamber of Commerce and president of the Southeast Chapter of the Michigan Society of Registered Land Surveyors (MSRLS). Until recently, he served as secretary of the Proprietors Council of the MSRLS in Lansing.

Pitts said he takes pride in having served the metropolitan area as a land surveyor since 1958 and looks forward to continuing this service from his new office.

ROBERT W. BUCK

ROBERT W. BUCK of Northville has been named president of Palmer-Smith Company, a general contractor and construction management firm based in Melvindale. The announcement was made by Theodore H. Smith, chairman and son of a founding partner.

Buck's projects include manufacturing plants, conventional and nuclear power plants, lock and dam facilities, refineries, a space launch center, hotel and office buildings and retail structures.

Most recently Buck was construction director for the McCarthy Company, Pacific Division. At the time of his relocation, the division had $500 million in current construction projects.

He also has senior management experience with Taylor Construction, Blount and other large-scale contractors with multinational projects.

Among the current projects for which Palmer-Smith is the contractor are the Mazda Parts Storage Facility in Flat Rock, Amtech Industrial Facility in Livonia and GMAC Office Complex in Southfield.

A $20-million research lab at the University of Michigan; $6-million Vanguard Office Building in Southfield and the $35-million Ritz Carlton Hotel in Dearborn are current joint ventures with Stolte, Inc.

A Bachelor of Science in Engineering graduate of the University of South Florida, Buck resides in Northville with his wife, Carol, and their two children — Adrienne, 15, and Bobby, 9.

SCOTT GIBSON has been named Architectural Draftsman for DeMattia & Associates, the architectural/engineering affiliate of the R.A. DeMattia Company, a leading land development and design/build construction firm headquartered in Plymouth.

Gibson, who holds an Associates Degree in Mechanical Engineering, is responsible for assisting in preliminary and schematic design as well as performing graphic skills for construction documentation.

REID HARPSTER of South Lyon recently was named "Account Executive of the Month" at Adistra Corporation. His accomplishments include outstanding sales achievement and devotion to job excellence.

Adistra, headquartered in Plymouth, specializes in computer services, program administration, graphics and distribution services.

DOUGLAS TEUBERT, FIC, who has offices at 19260 Clement in Northville, ranked first nationally among all Lutheran Brotherhood district representatives during December.

This achievement was based on the amount of life and health insurance protection, annuities and mutual funds he provided. Lutherans in his area. Approximately 1,400 district representatives are associated with the national fraternal insurance society.

Teubert is associated with Lutheran Brotherhood's Karl Mueller Agency headquartered in Rochester Hills. He joined the Society in 1981.

ANNA M. WARNER of Milford has joined Thomas R. Haggerty, CPA, which is located 3196 Swarthout in Pinckney.

Warner studied accounting at the University of Michigan-Dearborn. She also worked for five years in the tax department of The Bendix Corporation. She passed the CPA exam in 1981 and has been preparing tax returns for the past seven years.

MICHIGAN INFORMATION SYSTEMS, a software design company specializing in manufacturing and distribution systems, has relocated its corporate headquarters to 21800 Haggerty Road (Suite 200) in Northville.

The company, which was founded in 1984 by president and owner Robert E. Consani, was previously located at 15077 Northville Road in Plymouth.

"When I started this company three years ago, I knew the design and implementation of custom manufacturing systems was a marketable service. I'm pleased that we've grown so quickly that a move has become necessary," said Consani.

"We are no longer a small start-up company, and it became time to acquire offices that are more aligned with the image we have acquired. Our new facilities will allow us some room to sustain growth, as well as provide us with a pleasing environment in which to conduct demonstrations and presentations to our prospective customers."

Since 1984, MIS has grown dramatically. Sales doubled in each of its first three years. Despite the general downward trend in the computer market during this time, MIS has maintained its healthy growth. "By offering a superior product and maintaining a high level of customer satisfaction, we have been able to sustain our growth during a difficult time in the computer industry," Consani said.

MIS focuses its efforts primarily on two segments of the Computer Integrated Manufacturing (CIM) market. The first is discrete manufacturing, in which bills of material, capacity planning and financial systems provide company-wide planning and control.

The second segment is chemical processing, which revolves around formula based process control and material safety data tracking. Additionally, MIS is extensively involved in bar coding, plant floor data acquisition, personal computer integration, robot interfaces and office automation.

"YES, THERE IS LIFE AFTER BREAST CANCER.
AND THAT'S THE WHOLE POINT."

—Ann Jillian

A lot of women are so afraid of breast cancer they don't want to hear about it.

And that's what frightens me. Because those women won't practice breast self-examination regularly.

Those women, particularly those over 35, won't ask their doctor about a mammogram.

Yet that's what's required for breast cancer to be detected early. When the cure rate is 90%. And when there's a good chance it won't involve the loss of a breast.

But no matter what it involves, take it from someone who's been through it all.

Life is just too wonderful to give up on. And, as I found out, you don't have to give up on any of it. Not work, not play, not even romance.

Oh, there is one thing, though. You do have to give up being afraid to take care of yourself.

FAST FRIENDLY

A Positive Point About Breast Cancer.

Now we can see it before you can feel it. When it's no bigger than the dot on this page.

And when it's 90% curable. With the best chance of saving the breast.

The trick is catching it early. And that's exactly what a mammogram can do.

Starting with a before-school breakfast, Novi High School students have a wide variety of choices to make when they visit the school cafeteria

♦ SCHOOL LUNCH ♦

◆ Stories by Anita Crone and Ann E. Willis ◆

It has been a long time since most adults have had to eat lunch in 30 minutes, but that time frame is routine for elementary school children in the Northville Public Schools.

What isn't routine is the selection the kids are now getting — whether they bring their lunch from home or, for $1.30, purchase food at school.

Whichever option the students choose, they still have only half-an-hour to eat lunch.

The students who bring food from home still have variety — peanut butter and jelly, bologna and cheese, and, of course, the obligatory Hostess Cupcakes or Twinkies.

Those who forget dessert may purchase it for 25 cents from a selection which includes fruit cups and cookies.

For those who buy lunch, two selections are offered daily. The selections for second graders at Amerman Elementary School recently were pizza and salad bar.

"Salad bar is the best thing they have," said Justin L., whom Katie Bondy introduced. "Justin L. always buys lunch," she said.

Katie said she sometimes buys and sometimes brings her lunch. "I never buy when they have macaroni. That is terrible. It's all white," she said.

Since all purchased lunches are prepared at the high school kitchen and shipped to the individual schools, the elementary-school students said they don't really have a chance to smell the food before they eat it.

"But hamburgers smell the best," Katie said.

Each day at Amerman, the classroom teachers make a count of how many students plan to purchase their lunches and give the numbers to kitchen assistant Judy Krantz.

Krantz orders enough food to serve all the students and a few more portions besides, even if the menu is macaroni.

"The idea is that no student should go without lunch, so, in case a lunch is lost or forgotten, the students can still eat," she said.

The most popular meals are salad bar, which includes lettuce, cheese, egg, cucumbers, sprouts and nuts and a choice of three dressings, pizza, and McNuggets, cooked at the high school but served ala McDonalds.

As for the students' complaints about the macaroni, Krantz agrees — and disagrees — with the youngsters: "It isn't very popular," she admitted. "But it is good"

School lunches aren't what they used to be. And that means dining in colleges, too.

For years, dorm food ranked somewhere right around airline food, sometimes a little better, sometimes a little worse. Well, at Schoolcraft College, they don't have dormitories but they have something even better — the American Harvest restaurant.

Designed and planned to help train students in the culinary arts program, the restaurant offers student waitpeople, student maitre d's and student prices. But the food — ah, the food, is professional.

Formerly known as La Gastronomique, American Harvest is hidden away in Waterman Center on the campus. But it is a hidden treasure, open Mondays through Wednesdays from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. On Thursdays, there is a special buffet.

The menu is complete, including soups and desserts, salads and drinks.

The price range is small. Sandwiches are served in pita bread and cost $3.75. For 10 cents more, a special croissant is served with a filling that changes daily.

Entrees include steaks, veal, chicken, lamb, seafood and omelettes, all served with rolls and butter, soup and salad. Prices range from $3.85 for the omelette to $6.95 for the choice sirloin or tenderloin.

Schoolcraft chefs are in charge of the kitchen, assisted by culinary arts students, who serve the meals, bus the tables, greet diners and clean up afterward.

The students' five-week requirement in the restaurant may be the only time they are ever in the front part of the restaurant, but culinary arts department officials say they think it's important for the students to understand what goes on in the front of the house.

Remember the days when school lunches meant mystery meat specials, carrot sticks and corn? Of course that was in the days when kids had to walk 20 miles uphill to school in a blinding snow storm — but, still, school lunches have certainly changed.

A trip to the Novi High School commons during lunch time affords a quick look at just how much the food and atmosphere have changed.

Gone are the long lunch tables where 20 students would sit on bench-like seats sharing bologna sandwiches. In Novi the tables are both round and square and offer a chance for quieter more intimate gatherings. Well, maybe more intimate. In actuality the noise level seems to be the one thing that hasn't changed with the years.

Novi offers its students a wide range of eating choices. Perhaps the most noticeable is the snack bar window. Below a giant green awning festooned with the word "Wildcats" is a classic "fast-food" window where students can buy anything from hot dogs to ice cream. The snack bar menu includes pop, munchies and standard lunch items such as Twinkies.

Novi recently started a high school breakfast program which attracts approximately 75 students each morning from 6:50 to 7:25 a.m. Offerings include the ever-popular doughnuts, hot chocolate, coffee, danish, bagels and cream cheese. Jackie Wilenius, manager of the food service program at Novi High School, said many students stop in for a bite to eat and some early morning studying before classes.

In the olden days students had two choices. They either bought their lunch, which came in one form and only one form, or they brought a sack lunch from home. At Novi High School the '80s student has many options.

A regular lunch is served each day in the "Hungry Wildcat" cafeteria — the entree on a recent Monday was a make-your-own taco. There was a salad bar, soup and fruit cups, too.

"But students can decide to buy just a hamburger, chili dog or chicken burger, and french fries which are available each day. Hot pretzels are served. An express cart is also available where the student in a hurry can grab the popular pocket pizzas and specialty items.

Wilenius noted that the students go through 130-140 pounds of french fries every day.

Student reaction to the food? Stacy Onofrey, caught coming back from the snack bar with a chocolate sundae, said the food in the cafeteria was "all right." Her real thoughts, however, might have been better expressed by how quickly the sundae disappeared.

Keep pets warm during winter

It's been 20 years since veterinarian John Richardson has treated a frozen tail or frost-nipped ears on a family pet.

And he's never seen frostbite on animals toes, as happens in humans. "They're not long enough," he said. "Frostbite mostly occurs on the tails and ears."

Most local families take good care of their dogs and cats. About 95 percent of pets are kept indoors, Richardson-estimated.

"Most of them go out and come right back in," he said.

Frostbite and damage associated with the cold weather are more prevalent in rural areas, where more animals are kept outdoors.

Even when they're kept inside, caring for pets in cold weather has some special concerns, according to those who work with animals.

If Fifi is freezing or Spot is shivering, a variety of animal clothing can be purchased to keep them toasty. "Dogs can catch cold, too," said pet store owner Chris Buben. "(For) some of the dogs that get groomed down quite short, it is kind of smart to buy them a sweater."

Richardson said pet sweaters and other items can be useful if taking a pet for a long walk, but in general aren't necessary for the short time pets spend outdoors.

Business has boomed at many Michigan pet supply stores as single-digit temperatures linger. One store recently sold 15 dog sweaters within one week, compared with three to five in a normal winter week, and more are being ordered.

Some owners even put boots on their pets. "They look real funny in them" said Doreen Beardsley, another pet store owner.

"It makes them walk funny. In fact, I just put them on my dogs as kind of a joke. It's just something to look cute."

Richardson said most of these pet booties shown up on the ground during the spring thaw.

Cat owners frequently seek advice about keeping their felines warm, store owners said, but veterinarians say keeping their fur from tangling is the best insulation.

Cats generally tolerate cold better than dogs and find places to escape the cold on their own, Saginaw veterinarian Virginia Leis said.

"Cats are especially good about it (keeping warm)," Richardson added. "They'll get up next to a house under the shrubs and curl up into a ball."

If a dog stays outdoors for any period of time, an insulated dog house just their size is a must, Richardson said. Pieces of plywood nailed together just won't do. Dog houses should be just large enough to allow the dog to turn around, small enough that a dog's body heat keeps it warmed.

Make it too large, and the dog won't stay warm.

Owners should elevate dog houses, insulate them and provide cedar, straw or other bunting. Leis said Richardson suggested the house opening be to the east to avoid prevailing south and west winds and the strong winds from the north.

Both also mentioned increasing pets' caloric intake to maintain body temperature and to increase fat in the diet for extra energy and to help fight the dryness of the house.

Other tips include:
 Keep cats and dogs away from antifreeze, which tastes sweet to the animals but can be fatal to cats within 30 minutes and to dogs within a few hours.

Be sure your pet has fresh water in cold weather and that it doesn't freeze if kept outside. "There is a greater requirement for fluids in cold weather," Richardson said.

Get any road salt out of pets' foot pads when they come inside to keep the salt from being tracked in, and to keep them from ingesting it during grooming.

During winter months, shovel a spot in the backyard for a "doggy potty." "They'll use it," Richardson said, and it will make clean-up for the owner easier.

The best protection of all for house pets during winter is to keep them indoors as much as possible, and out of the wind, the experts said.

PRACTICING — Northville Historical Society Candlelight Ball planners don evening wear and take to the floor in the New School Church in Mill Race Historical Village to practice for the ball Feb. 27. From front, clockwise, chairmen Patsy and Chris Johnson, Susan and Paul Anker, Sally and Ed Flayer, Cheryl and Chris Gazlay. They point out that both long and short gowns will be worn at the benefit to be held at the Mayflower Meeting House in Plymouth.

Still time to buy dinner dance tickets

By JEAN DAY

"The response has been good," reports Patsy Johnson, who with her husband, Chris, is chairing arrangements for the Northville Historical Society's annual Candlelight Ball to be held Feb. 27 at the Mayflower Meeting House in Plymouth.

Hoping for a sellout, the society has extended the deadline to make ticket reservations through this weekend. Everyone in the community is invited to attend. Tickets are a donation of $25 a person. They are available from society members or at the office in Mill Race Historical Village, 348-1845.

Proceeds will be used to help with moving the Cady Inn onto a new foundation and for the building's restoration. For the time being, the building is sitting at the entrance to the village on Griswold since its move from Cady Street.

In keeping with the annual candlelight theme, tables will be decorated with stenciled candleholders wreathed in greens.

Newcomers slate popular fashion show

Northville Newcomers committees are finalizing plans for Newcomers' biggest event of the year, the Ladies Day Fashion Show to be given at 6 p.m. March 10 at the Novi Hilton, reports president Christine Knapp.

Ginny Engelland and Jana Hampton are co-chairing the dinner-show limited to 250. Tickets are $21. Fashions will be by Casual Corner, August Max, Onyx Furs of Plymouth, The Club House Men's Apparel and 4 Seasons Formal Wear. Hair and makeup are by Charisma Salon.

Methodist church dedication held to celebrate addition completion

A new, 2,200 square foot addition at First United Methodist Church of Northville, Eight Mile at Taft roads, was dedicated at services last Sunday.

Participating in the dedication with the Rev. Eric S. Hammar, pastor, were Doris Close, representing the adult population of the church, Mike Berkaw, representing the youth of the church, and Christine Goering, representing the children of the church.

Also participating in the service was Edward Meyer, who chaired the 15-member building committee. He outlined the many phases of the building program which is 90 percent complete.

Included were air conditioning of the sanctuary, expansion and resurfacing of the parking lot providing space for 224 vehicles, replacement of the sanctuary roof, rearrangement and expansion of church offices and refurbishing of the Sunday school rooms.

As part of the renovation the choir room was carpeted and painted, and a platform was added. The choir loft was carpeted and an additional pew was installed.

Meyer said the work which began in July 1987 will be complete by the end of February with the exception of outside areas.

A canopy roof at the west entrance will be replaced in the spring.

Immediately following the dedication the congregation gathered in the new fellowship hall for refreshments and a tour.

Cost of the addition and renovations was $450,000. The previous church mortgage was paid off in May 1987, and the church obtained the new, 10-year loan.

Building committee members have been Gary Becker, George Berquist, Jim Bonnell, Kelly Calhoun, Harry Cikanek, Doris Close, Fred Finzer, Bob Guard, Barbara Kimery, Sherry Kruggel, Bill Maguire, Faith McClory, Bill Rankin and George Widrig.

The church reported that the congregation has been expanding by more than 125 new members each year.

A new membership class is scheduled to start at 11 a.m. Sunday, Feb. 21. The public is invited.

Christian Community merger told

By an overwhelming vote of their memberships, Christian Community Church in Northville Township and Fairlane Assembly in Dearborn Heights have voted to merge their congregations and become known as Fairlane West and Fairlane Central.

Pastor John A. Booher, senior pastor at Fairlane Assembly of God, in announcing the merger, said the concept of "one church in two locations" will not only be innovative, but challenging.

Christian Community Church had been without a pastor since late last year.

Fairlane Assembly of God, the seventh largest Assembly in America, is known for its word ministry, schools, dinner theaters, and Christmas and Easter special presentations.

The merger was pursued, Booher explained, because Fairlane was denied further land or building permits by the Dearborn Heights City Council for the past four years.

In 1986, Fairlane was named the fastest growing church in Michigan and its school, Fairlane Christian School, K-12, is the largest Christian school in the Assemblies of God.

The merger will affect approximately 4,500 members of both congregations.

The two locations, Fairlane Assembly Central at 22575 Ann Arbor Trail in Dearborn Heights, and Fairlane Assembly West at 41355 Six Mile in Northville, will become identical in philosophy of ministry, worship and outreach to communities, Booher said.

The public is invited to hear the pastor and his staff on Sundays at 8, 9:45 and 11:30 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. at Fairlane Central and at 11 a.m. and 6 p.m. at Fairlane West.

There will be Tuesday Bible School classes in both locations at 7 p.m. and a full schedule of activities during the week, including choir, children's ministries and singles ministries.

Dad's Valentines

Jim Vanier circles with daughters Kate and Jaime during a square dance at the fifth annual Daddy-Daughter Valentine Dance held last Friday at the Northville Recreation Center. "It was wonderful, a resounding success and the biggest yet," reported recreation supervisor Traci Johnson. Some 114 couples, daughters and their dates, danced to tunes spun by Jim Tait. Plans already are set for next year's event.

Reservations will be taken by Engelland at 349-3552 today through March 4.

A Newcomer couples' event, a Millionaires' Party, will be held from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m. Saturday, March 19, at the Plymouth Cultural Center at 525 Farmer in Plymouth. Roseanne Kiesling, 348-1183, co-chair with Vicki Croxton, will be taking reservations from Feb. 22-March 7. Limited to 30 couples, the event is $15 a couple.

During the evening of Las Vegas-type fun, participants will earn Casino cash and have a chance to acquire valuable auction prizes with their winnings at the end of the evening. Those attending are to bring an hors d'oeuvre.

Spaghetti dinner and wine glow to aid WRC

The Women's Advisory Committee at Schoolcraft College is sponsoring a spaghetti dinner and wine glow fundraiser in support of the displaced homemakers, single parents, women in crisis and the unemployed programs of the Women's Resource Center at the college.

It will be held Thursday, March 24, in the Waterman Center on campus with the wine glow at 6 p.m. preceding dinner at 7 p.m. Entertainment will be Broadway Revue by TAP Ltd.

The committee is offering sponsor tickets at $35 (two tickets and your name/company in the program) and individual tickets at $15 each.

The Wednesday evenings will begin with dinner at 6 p.m. and conclude with a special seminar for all adults and activities for the children. Vespers will be at 6:45 p.m. with the speakers at 7 p.m.

Dinners are $4 for adults, $2.50 for children age 3 through middle school, and $13 maximum for a family. There is no charge for children 2 and younger. Dinner reservations are necessary and must be made with the church, 349-0911, by the Monday for each Wednesday program.

Scientist practitioner to be speaker

Mari M. Bruck, C.S., of Studio City, Calif., will be speaking at the invitation of the congregation of First Church of Christ, Scientist, Plymouth at 10:30 a.m. Saturday, Feb. 27, in the Plymouth Central Middle School Auditorium.

A Christian Science practitioner, she is one of several thousand individuals in the Church of Christ, Scientist who devote their full time to the public ministry of spiritual healing through prayer.

Her topic is "God's One Family of Man."

According to the lecturer, her discussion will be based on the Bible, and especially the teachings of Christ Jesus, as viewed in the light of Christian Science. She also will be speaking from her own firsthand experience.

The work of a practitioner is both a ministry and a profession, a church spokesperson explained.

The local church, established in Plymouth in 1903, has had meetings on Wednesday nights for more than 80 years. Members gather at "testimony meetings" to share how what they call "an understanding of God and His laws."

The public is invited to attend the Wednesday night meetings at 8 p.m. as well as Bruck's talk. Care for small children will be available.

The church also noted that J. Thomas Black of Birmingham has been named Christian Science Committee on Publication for Michigan. The post is an information assignment on behalf of the Christian Science congregations in Michigan. He is available to assist public officials, journalists, scholars, church and community groups and others with inquiries about the denomination.

Ice fishers aren't slowed by the snow

By ANITA CRONE

When the weather turns cold but not too cold, a new subdivision springs up on Walled Lake.

These homes don't have hot or cold running water. Most are only one room but the people who live in them don't seem to mind. They have only one goal — catching the perch, bluegill and pike that inhabit the lake.

William Coe, a Walled Lake resident, is a second-generation ice fisherman and unlike many of his compatriots shuns the shanties in favor of uninhibited movement.

With a shanty, you don't get to move around a lot. If the fish aren't biting over the hole, you either have to move your shanty or get out on the open ice anyway," he said. "Mostly, shanties are to protect people from the wind."

While Coe says there are better lakes than Walled Lake for ice fishing, the lake's proximity to his home and work makes up for the difference.

"If you only have a limited time to fish, you don't want to spend it traveling. You want to spend it fishing," he said.

Coe says he usually has been very successful on Walled Lake, catching his daily limit of 25 bluegill or perch, often within a couple of hours.

"No matter what, you don't want to spend more than three or four hours at a time out on a lake. After that, it gets real cold," he said.

Coe notes that his best results have come in the late evening, about an hour before dark, and again in the early morning, about half an hour after the sun rises.

Air temperatures between 15 and 25 degrees Fahrenheit often produce the best results, he says.

Any colder than that and the fish don't seem to want to bite. Warmer than that, you run into the danger of ice beginning to melt.

It doesn't take Coe long to prepare his spot. Using a gasoline-powered auger, it takes him about two

Some prefer shanties, but some brave the cold minutes to drill his hole which is usually 8- to 10-inches in diameter. From there, he uses a light leader off a short pole, preferring a wax worm or a mousy for bait.

"You want to try and fish off the bottom and you know pretty soon whether the fish are biting from your area," he explained.

"Ice fishing is interesting, since the fish could be biting like crazy where you are, but three feet away, there could be no action."

Most of the time, Coe says he cherishes the time he spends on the ice. "It's peaceful, it's quiet, it's refreshing," he says.

Not always. Snowmobiles and other kinds of noise not only scare the fish, but irk the people fishing.

"They (the snowmobilers) have to realize that just because they use the snowmobiles doesn't give them a license to do whatever they want wherever they want to do it," he said.

Mostly, however, the ice fishermen and the other outdoor winter sports enthusiasts coexist and watch out for each other.

"I was out fishing last week and a couple of young girls, about 7 or 8, came out on the ice and almost went through a hole," he related.

Coe, too, has had an experience where he fell through the ice.

"Someone had moved his shanty and didn't put any brush around the hole. It had snowed and I never saw the hole, but I sure felt it," he said.

Coe notes that wearing proper clothing helps to keep the fisherman warm. Long underwear is a must, he insists, as are hats, scarves and even gloves.

"A lot of people don't think a fisherman should ever wear gloves, but if your hands are exposed, they can get awfully cold awfully quickly."

Another requirement is a fishing license. And, Coe notes, it doesn't hurt to like eating fish.

"Take my in-laws. They don't like to fish, but they do like to eat what I catch. So do I, for that matter. It's (eating the catch) a bonus for the work."

Work by Michigan composer scheduled

Michigan composer Anthony Iannaccone will be present at 3 p.m. Sunday when the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra performs his composition, "Divertimento for Orchestra."

The concert will take place in the Plymouth Salem Auditorium. Tickets are $6 for adults, $5 for senior citizens and college students and free for students K-12. Tickets are available at the door, or at Beitner's Jewelry on Ann Arbor Trail and Arnold Williams Music in Canton.

The program also includes Weber's "Der Freischutz Overture," Handel's "Water Music" and Strauss's "Death and Transfiguration."

Diet Pills Sweeping U.S.

Doctors Invent 'Lazy Way' to Lose Weight

New 'Fat Magnet' Diet Pill Guarantees Fast Weight Loss

BEVERLY HILLS, CA (Special)—An amazing new weight loss pill called "fat-magnet" has recently been developed and perfected by two prominent doctors at a world famous hospital in Los Angeles that reportedly "guarantees" that you will easily lose fat by simply taking their tested and proven new pill.

No Dieting—Eat Normally
Best of all, "you can continue to eat all of your favorite foods and you don't have to change your normal eating habits. You will start losing fat from the very first day, until you achieve the ideal weight and figure you desire."

There has never been anything like it before. It is a totally new major medical breakthrough for weight loss (worldwide patent pending).

Flushes Fat Out of Body

The new pill is appropriately called the "fat-magnet" pill because it breaks into thousands of particles, each acting like a tiny magnet, "attracting" and trapping many times its size in fat particles. Then, all that trapped fat is naturally "flushed" right out of your body because it cannot be digested.

Within 2 days you will notice a change in the color of your stool as the fat particles are being eliminated.

"Pills Do All the Work"

According to the doctors, the fat-magnet pills do all the work while you quickly lose fat with no starvation diet menus to follow, no calorie counting, no exercising, and no hunger pangs. It is 100% safe. You simply take the pills with a glass of water before meals.

The fat-magnet pills have just been offered to the American public and are already sweeping the country with record sales and reports of dramatic weight loss. It's the "lazy way" to lose weight for people who enjoy eating.

Now Available to Public

If you need to lose 20, 50, 100 pounds or more, you can order your supply of these new highly successful fat-magnet pills (now available from the doctor's exclusive manufacturer by mail or phone order only) by sending $20 for a 90 pill supply (+$2 handling), or $35 for a 180 pill supply (+$3 handling), cash, check or money order to Fat-Magnet, 9016 Wilshire Blvd., Dept. W24, Beverly Hills, CA 90211 (Unconditional money-back guarantee if not 100% satisfied.) Visa, MasterCard and American Express OK. (Send card number, expire date, and signature.) For fastest service for credit card orders ONLY call anytime 24 hours, toll free (800) 527-9700, ext. W24.

WINNERS CIRCLE
BY LAURIE KIPP

Last month, a Super Lotto Jackpot reached nearly $29 million and the drawing produced a record number of winners sharing Second and Third place awards. With many new players participating, questions came up on how to collect Lottery prizes. The following addresses such happy occasions:

Q: How does a Lottery winner collect prizes from the various Lottery games?
A: The process is easy, but varies by game and prize amount. Prizes of $600 or under from the instant games (the rub off ones) can be claimed from ANY LOTTERY AGENT by presenting a signed, winning ticket. Prizes of $600 or under from the Daily 3, Daily 4 or Super Lotto can be collected from ANY AGENT SELLING THOSE GAMES.

Q: What if the prize is more than $600?
A: If a prize is over $600 but not a Super Lotto Jackpot winner, it can be claimed two ways. A winner can go to any Lottery agent who sells the game and fill out a claim form. The retailer forwards it to the Lansing Lottery office and a check is mailed to the winner in about 3-4 weeks.

Q: What's the second way?
A: To get the prize check faster a winner of more than $600 can go to any of seven Lottery offices located in Bridgeport, Detroit, Grand Rapids, Lansing, Marquette, Southfield and Wyoming. The claim is usually processed immediately and a check is given on the spot.

Q: What if I'm a Jackpot winner?
A: Should you win a Jackpot prize, contact Lottery headquarters in Lansing to make arrangements to claim your prize. The phone number is (517) 887-6840. Jackpot winners generally receive their first payments within a day or so with many check presentations made at the retailer's store where the winning ticket was purchased.

Q: How long do I have to claim my prize?
A: All winners have up to one year to claim their prizes. After that the money reverts back to the Lottery, a state school Aid Fund contribution, which aids K-12 education.

Q: Are taxes taken out of winnings?
A: There are no state or local taxes on Michigan Lottery prizes. For prizes over $5,000 the Internal Revenue Service requires a 20 percent Federal income tax withholding.

For asking the question leading to this column, Dorothy Erickson of Manistee will receive 50 free tickets for the Lottery's current instant game "3 Cards Up".

If you have a question not yet covered in these columns, send it to "Winners Circle," Michigan Lottery, P.O. Box 30077, Lansing, MI 48909.

'Cats paired with Mustangs in tourneys

The high schools in Northville and Novi are only a few miles apart, and the Michigan High School Athletic Association (MHSAA) obviously has decided to keep these two neighboring schools together as partners for the upcoming state tournaments in basketball, wrestling, volleyball and swimming.

The following is a summary of where the Mustang and Wildcat teams will be going during the 1988 tournaments, as assigned by the MHSAA.

BASKETBALL: Northville will be host for the Class A District Tournament (No. 22) and Novi will be one of the five teams in attendance. The others are South Lyon, Plymouth Canton and Plymouth Salem Canton, currently in first place in the WLAA Western Division standings, will probably be the district favorite heading in.

The tourney will be held on March 7 with the winner advancing to the regional tournament (No. 2) at Eastern Michigan University's Bowen Field House. The Northville District winner will be paired with the Wayne-Memorial District (No. 14) in the first round. The other two participants will be the district winners from Temperance-Bedford (No. 4) and Flat Rock Woodhaven (No. 13).

Wrestling: Due to a new format authorized by the MHSAA, there will be separate wrestling tournaments for individuals and teams this season in Michigan. Novi hosted the individual pre-district on Feb. 10 and Northville was one of 17 teams with wrestlers in attendance. The individual district tournament was held Feb. 13 at Plymouth Canton and included individuals from Novi, Northville and Redford Catholic Central (the number-one ranked team in the state) among others. Plymouth Salem will also host the individual regional this Saturday (Feb. 20).

Novi was the host team for the team district (No. 8) to be held on Feb. 17 (after Record deadline). Northville, South Lyon and Brighton were the other teams in attendance.

Spikers drop pair against division foes

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

A strong team performance at an invitational in Howell on Feb. 6 helped give the Northville spikers some badly needed confidence, but it didn't seem to help much last week as the Mustangs dropped a pair of key WLAA Western Division matches.

On Feb. 8, Northville came out on the short end of a very close three-game match with Livonia Churchill, 15-11, 5-15, 10-15. Two days later, the Mustangs dropped two more close games and fell to Plymouth Canton 12-15, 14-16. The spikers are now 4-6 overall, 3-6 in the WLAA.

Against Churchill, Northville racked up some impressive statistics, but the bottom line was a loss, and coach Paul Osborn wasn't pleased. Especially since his team beat Churchill just two days earlier at the Howell Invite.

"We served 98 percent, our hitting was at 78 percent and our setting was at 94 percent, but statistics don't win games," Osborn said. "When we face teams, like Churchill, who don't hit a lot, the girls get overanxious. They aren't patient enough — we seem to want to get the point over with too quick rather than letting (our opponents) make the mistakes."

The Mustangs opened the match up with an impressive first game, but it turned around quickly in game two. Churchill was content to let Northville make the mistakes, and the team obliged. Game three was close the entire way, but with the Chargers in front 12-10, they served out the game and the match.

The loss to Canton was very similar. After falling in game one, the Mustangs built what appeared to be a commanding 13-5 lead but then became overanxious again. The Chiefs then scored 11 of the next 12 points to end the match abruptly.

"Canton didn't hit much against us either but we rushed things again," Osborn said. "In the second game, we couldn't put them away."

"It was a frustrating night because I thought we should have won both games. We didn't have a very good day hitting."

According to Osborn, seniors Katie Brugman and Denise Akroush were standouts in both losses.

"Brugman and Akroush were really good in both matches," he said. "They play heads up ball and at times they can get the others to play the same way. Katie, especially, set the ball well."

Northville went 3-2-2 at the Howell tournament, but it was good enough to place the Mustangs third in the 15-team event. The effort becomes even more impressive, however, when you consider that the team placed behind only Livonia Ladywood and Brighton, and these two are currently ranked number two and five in the state, respectively.

"We did extremely well," Osborn said. "The whole thing at Howell was a big plus for the girls because they were getting down on themselves a little. To be able to compete and stay with teams like Ladywood, Birmingham Groves and Brighton is impressive."

In pool play, the Mustangs dumped Fowlerville 15-10, 15-11, split with Ypsilanti 15-2, 15-17, fell to Ladywood 5-15, 7-15 and then tied Groves 11-15, 15-8. By going 1-2-1 against pool members, Northville advanced to the quarterfinals where they crushed Churchill 17-15, 15-2.

In the semifinals, the squad gave Brighton a tough match, but the Bulldogs eventually pulled out a close 15-11, 15-12 win. The Mustangs then downed WLAA-rival Westland John Glenn 15-11 in a one-game match to decide third place.

"We beat Churchill and Glenn and gave Brighton a scare, so I'd say it was a good outing," Osborn said.

Northville cagers nip Raiders 46-45, fall to Franklin

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

The up and down Northville basketballers had an extra day to celebrate their second victory of the season, but, according to coach Tim Lutes, the team forgot it had another game to play last week.

The Mustangs put together a fine second half performance and staged a dramatic come-from-behind 46-45 victory over a good North Farmington team on Feb. 9. When a snowstorm rolled through the area late last week, Northville's clash with Livonia Franklin on Friday was postponed and rescheduled for Saturday, but the extra day only seemed to make matters worse for the Mustangs. Revenge was on the Patriots' minds, and they carried it through by clobbering Northville 66-46.

The win over visiting North Farmington was just as exciting as the Mustangs' only other win of the season in January over Franklin. Notorious for slow starts, Northville came out firing on all cylinders against the Raiders and actually scored 10 of the game's first dozen points. North did fight back, however, to close the gap to 13-11 at the end of the first quarter.

The Mustangs apparently saved their poor start for later. In the second quarter, the Raiders pulled ahead with a 13-5 run and the deficit was 24-18 at intermission. North buried a trio of three-point bombs to help the cause.

"We missed some easy shots and had some turnovers in that quarter," Lutes explained. "We relaxed a little mentally — it was almost like we said, 'Hey, this is neat, we have a lead.' Before we knew it, we were behind."

But Northville put together a solid effort in the second half to keep it within striking distance and did it with defense and rebounding. The Mustangs outscored North in the third quarter 15-11 to pull within a basket.

"Defensively we were so consistent the whole game and rebounding-wise, we really dominated the boards," Lutes said. "We were very intense defensively and on the boards, and those two things were the difference."

Northville took a brief lead early in the final stanza, but the Raiders hit a couple three-point baskets and maintained a slim lead right down to the final seconds. A free throw by center Chris House pulled the Mustangs to within one point with 20 seconds remaining and then guard Jeff Terwin made a nifty steal several seconds later, but his baseline jump shot with 10 seconds didn't fall and a Northville player tipped the rebound out of bounds.

With just five ticks left and North holding a precarious 45-44 lead, Heath Myers tipped the inbound pass and as he fell out of bounds, threw the ball off an opponent's leg to give the ball back to the Mustangs with only two ticks left. After a timeout, Lutes set up a play to give Terwin the final shot and Myers got him the ball after he rolled off a screen near the free throw line. As Terwin went up for the shot, he was fouled hard by the Raider defender and went to the free throw line with no time left on the clock.

— Tim Lutes
Mustang Basketball Coach

"The first took a couple weird bounces but it went through and then he nailed the second and that was the game," Lutes reported.

House paced the attack with 17 points and 11 rebounds. Terwin chipped in nine and Myers added 10 key rebounds. For the game, Northville outrebounded the taller Raiders 41-27.

"Their front line averages over 6-foot-4, so we did a great job rebounding," Lutes pointed out. "We held them to just 23 percent shooting from the field and we picked away at the lead primarily through free throws."

In the fourth, the Mustangs connected on only two field goals, but nailed 10-of-12 from the charity stripe.

The momentum shifted very quickly against Franklin, however. Lutes saw the first signs in a shoot-around Saturday morning before the game.

"We had a very poor practice Saturday morning and it carried over to the game," he said. "I don't think our kids realized how much of a factor revenge was going to play in the game. Franklin's won only three times this season and we beat them earlier in the season by one point in overtime."

"They were really fired up and our kids came in a little flat."

Northville opened the game in a zone defense, so Franklin quickly went into a slow-down game and tried to spread out the defense. The plan worked as the quicker Pats forced a couple silly fouls and were patient enough to work for what ended up easy baskets. Lutes finally relented and called off the zone and that was all Franklin needed.

"They have good ballhandlers and they are very quick," Lutes explained. "So once we went to the man-to-man defense, it was more their style of play — it was to their advantage."

Franklin pulled ahead 30-18 at halftime and put the game away with a 24-12 edge in the third quarter. The Mustangs had a modest 16-12 advantage in the fourth, but it was much too late.

"We did not rebound well and we did not play aggressive either offensively or defensively," Lutes said. "We didn't seem to have any focus on Saturday. We went back to making the same mental errors — 25 turnovers is too much."

Myers scored eight points in the second half and ended with a team-high 12. Terwin added 10 points but House was held to nine. For the game, Franklin shot a blistering 60 percent from the field.

The loss really puts a damper on Northville's bid to make the WLAA playoffs, and Lutes was the first to admit it. The Mustangs are in last place with a 2-13 overall record, 2-9 in the WLAA.

"We need to finish at least fourth in our division if we want to make the playoffs, but this loss pretty much eliminates us. We'd have to win the next two games — including a game on the road at (Farmington) Harrison and then we'd have to hope some other teams get beaten. So it's pretty much out of our hands at this point."

Swimmers notch 3rd straight win

The Mustang tankers won their third dual meet in a row on Feb 9 by edging Brighton 46-37 at home. As the score indicates, it was relatively close throughout, but Northville had the strength down the stretch to hold off any comeback bid by the Bulldogs.

The Mustangs (6-3 overall, 3-2 in the W.L.A.A.) took only five firsts to Brighton's six, but the home team overwhelmed its Kensington Valley Conference opponent with a bevy of seconds and thirds. With only two weeks left in the regular season, Northville Coach Mark Heiden believes his team is right on target for a season-ending push.

"We're swimming well now and we'll be going into our taper in about a week," Heiden said. "The guys are holding their times now and I expect to see them start dropping after the taper. You can't expect big drops at this stage of the season — you just want them to stay where they are."

With just one race left — the 400-yard freestyle relay — the Mustang's lead had been trimmed to 37-36. But Northville came on strong in the relay and took both first and second place to win the meet by nine points. The winning relay team featured Mike Fortenberry, Craig Smith, Eric Newton and John Warren (3:35.02). The Mustangs' number two relay team included Jeff Higgins, Chris Handyside, Andy Viskantis and Jason Stringer (3:40.54).

"It came down to the last relay but Brighton didn't have a whole lot saved for the end," Heiden said. "Our number two relay team beat their number one by a full four seconds."

"It was a real good meet. We just ended the toughest part of the season, so we were swimming a little tired but for us to pull it out at the end was nice."

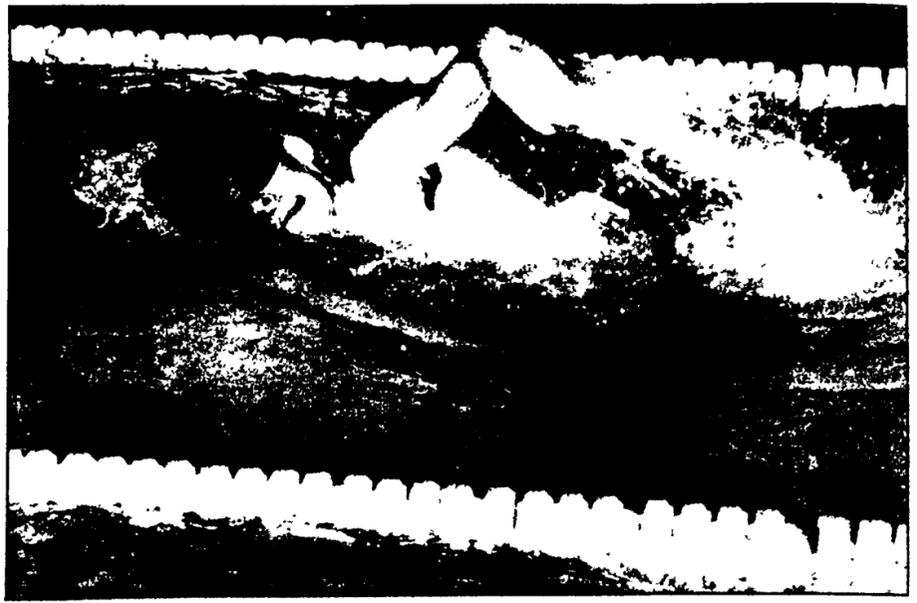

The remaining four victories for Northville included Eric Newton in the 200 freestyle (1:52.03), Fortenberry in the 50 freestyle (24.03), Viskantis in the 100 butterfly (57.68) and Smith in the 100 freestyle (52.19).

In addition to the second in the final relay, the Mustangs also notched runner-up finishes in six other events. Dave Frayne led the way with a second in the 200 IM (2:02.02) and the others included Smith in the 50 freestyle (24.01), Rob Devyak in diving (216.35 point total), Higgins in the 100 freestyle (55.27), Newton in the 500 freestyle (5:06.31) and Warren in the 100 breast stroke (1:10.30). In addition, the 200 medley relay team of Andy Wayne, Warren, Viskantis and Fortenberry finished second (1:49.55).

Wayne paced all the third place finishers with a time of 1:03.39 in the 100 backstroke. The rest of the Northville thirds came from Brad Cook in the 200 IM (2:22.81), Larry Oslecki in diving (215.95), Stringer in the 100 butterfly (1:02.55) and Frayne in the 100 breast stroke (1:14.33).

Northville was also scheduled to take on Walled Lake Western in a Western Division clash on Feb. 11, but the meet was postponed due to bad weather. According to Heiden, the meet will be rescheduled at a later date.

but fifth-ranked Novi was the overwhelming favorite. Teams advancing from this district will go to the regional (No. 8) at Catholic Central on Feb. 24 along with qualifiers from the Southfield (No. 25), Plymouth Canton (No. 27) and Catholic Central (No. 27) districts.

One team will qualify for the quarterfinals at Salem March 2 and then it's on to the state meet. Catholic Central is a strong favorite to win the state title.

VOLLEYBALL: Novi and Northville are both slated to compete at the Walled Lake Central District (No. 12) on March 5. There will be 10 other teams in attendance including several Kensington Valley Conference and W.L.A.A. schools. Qualifiers from Walled Lake will then advance to the regional tournament at Waverly High School in Lansing. The Lansing Sexton (No. 14), Grand Rapids Creston (No. 15) and Portage Northern (No. 1) district winners will also participate at Waverly.

SWIMMING: The Class A Diving Regional (No. 2) will be held on March 8 at Brighton High School and qualifiers from Novi and Northville will be competing there.

The Class A State Swim Meet will be held on March 11-12 at Michigan State University's Charles McCaffree Pool.

GYMNASTICS: Northville will compete at the Class A Regional (No. 12) to be held on March 12 at Hillsdale. A total of 23 other schools will be represented including most of the W.L.A.A. Novi does not field a gymnastics team.

RECREATION BRIEFS

TRAVEL BASEBALL: Baseball players interested in playing in the Sandy Koufax Travel League (born between Aug. 1, 1973-July 31, 1975) are asked to call Joe Staknis at 348-9091 or Doug Totty at 349-7132. Players interested in the Pee Wee Reese Travel League (born between Aug. 1, 1975-July 31, 1977) should call Jay Johnson at 348-2547 or Scott Baldwin at 348-1828.

SOCCER CLINIC: The Northville training clinic for new and returning soccer referees will be held Saturdays, March 5 and 12 at 9 a.m. at the Northville Township Hall.

Adults and teen-agers with prior coaching or playing experience are needed for new referee positions.

GIRLS SOFTBALL: The Northville Junior Baseball Association is exploring the feasibility of conducting a girls softball program for girls 8-10 years old to provide a better feeder system into the girls primary softball program from T-ball to 8-Ball programs.

Interested parents should complete survey forms available at baseball/softball registration on March 5 and/or March 12 at the Rec Center from 9 a.m.-3 p.m.

FREE BADMINTON: Free badminton is being offered on three courts every Tuesday evening from 7:30-10 p.m. at Plymouth West School, located on the southwest corner of Sheldon Road and Ann Arbor Trail.

Only one Mustang survives district wrestling tournament

Northville started with 13 competitors when the MHSAA pre-district individual wrestling tournament got under way on Feb. 10 in Novi, but three days later after the district tourney at Plymouth Canton, only one was left.

Following pre-district and district action, only 196-pounder Mike Hale was still alive for the Mustangs. He now moves to the individual regionals this weekend (Feb. 20) at Plymouth Salem while the rest of the squad attempts to fare better in the team portion of the new dual state tournament.

At the pre-district, six of 13 Northville grapplers made a quick exit from the individual ranks. Mustang Coach Jack Townsley was rather downbeat about the results.

"Obviously, we would have wanted all 13 of our guys to advance to the districts, but I guess we did as well as we could do," he deadpanned.

Northville didn't place first in a single weight classification, but did grab five seconds and two thirds. Novi was the stumbling block for the Mustangs most of the day as the fifth-ranked 'Cats beat Northville hopefuls in three finals.

Junior Andy Frey, the team's top performer during the regular season, placed second behind Novi's Scott Brown at 126. Donovan Campbell's only loss of the tourney was to Ron Fritz in the 167-pound division and Hale's lone defeat came at the hands of Bret Keir at 196. Both Fritz and Keir wrestle for Novi.

The only other second-place finishes came from Keith Graham at 119 and Garnett Potter at 145. After early losses, Kevin Khashan (96) and John Frisbie (138) fought their way back to finish third overall to also advance.

With seven top three pre-district finishes, the Mustangs advanced to the districts at Canton last weekend only to see six more drop out. Hale moved through the field without any major mishaps, but in the 196-pound finals he was pinned by Redford Catholic Central's Lee Krueger in 1:22.

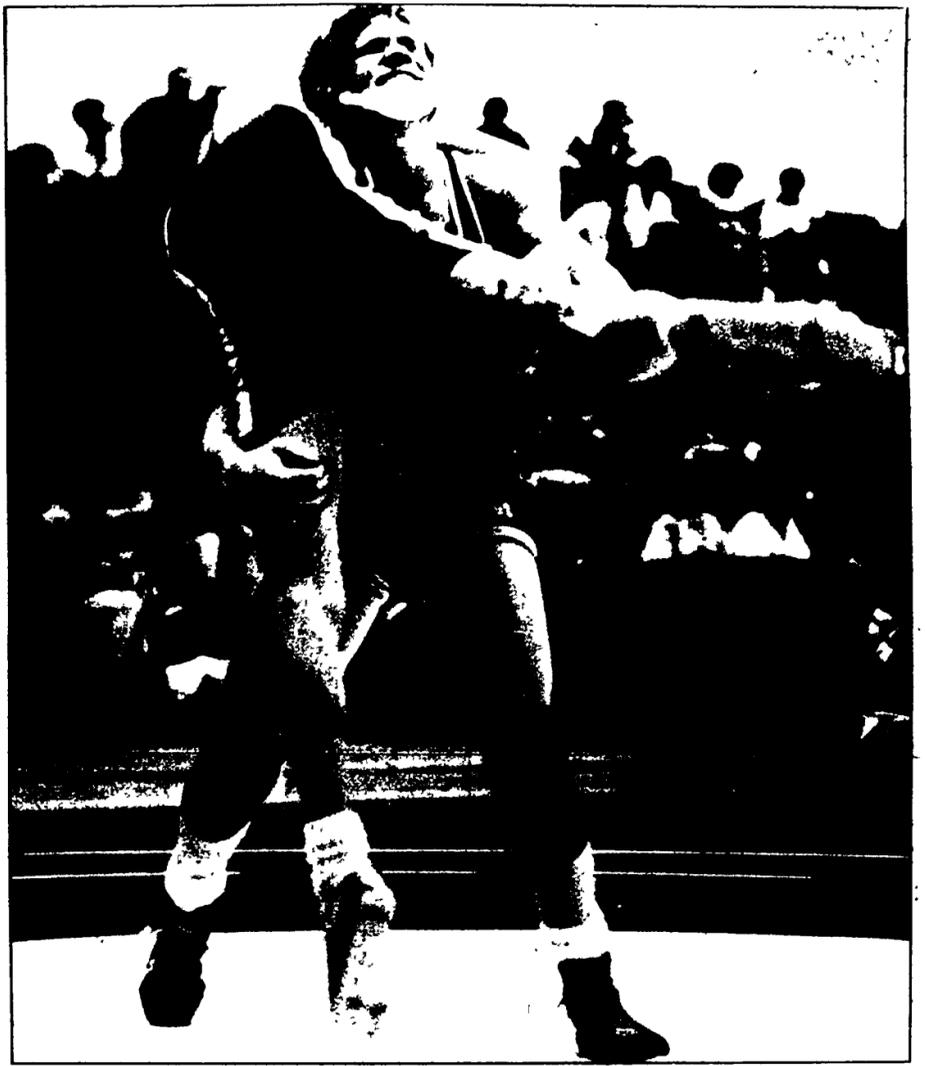

"It would have been nice if all seven made it through, but we didn't expect that to happen," Townsley said. "Mike's small for a 196-pounder but he did a good job even though he was going against guys that were bigger than he is."

Frey was the other top Mustang hopeful, but he lost a few matches early and was out of the competition rather quickly. According to Townsley, the 126-pound division was one of the toughest in the tournament.

"Andy always wrestles well but the competition was very tough," he said. "One of our problems is that we only have a couple guys cutting weight so when we get to this type of competition, all our guys seem to be smaller and not as strong as their opponents. Andy Frey can wrestle with anybody as far as skills go, but he is not as strong physically as many of his opponents."

The Mustangs competed in the team district on Feb. 17 (after Record deadline) at Novi and if the squad was able to grab a top three finish, it will be on to the team regional at Catholic Central on Feb. 24.

Northville gymnasts rip Harrison

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

It's easy to go half speed if you know heading in your team is going to win anyway.

When the Northville gymnasts played host Farmington Harrison on Feb. 10, the outcome was never in doubt, but the Mustangs didn't let it prevent them from establishing the second-highest team score of the season. Northville won the meet going away, 121.90-63.90, and won its third straight in the process.

"Harrison wasn't much of a challenge," Mustang Coach Michelle Charniga said. "I felt bad for them because they really didn't have a full team, but I was very happy with my girls — we did great."

Without being pushed at all by the competition, Northville still topped the 120 mark for the second time this year to establish the team's fourth victory in the last five outings. The Mustangs overall record is now 5-2, 4-2 in the WLAA.

"The girls knew the competition wasn't there, but they still did the best they could and that was good to see," Charniga said. "We are in the middle of the best season we've ever had since I've been in Northville."

The Mustangs wasted little time in taking control of the meet by outscoring the Hawks 31.20-18.15 in the vault. Wendy Beach scored 8.05 to take first place honors for Northville, who swept the top five places overall. Beach was followed in order by Lee LaChance (8.0), Yvonne Beebe (7.95), Robyn Chatman (7.2) and Becky Carney (7.05).

The Mustangs also topped the 30-point mark in the uneven parallel bars, and again Beach led the way with an 8.35. LaChance was second (7.85), Beebe third (7.75), Kathy Abraham fourth (6.55), and Carney fifth (5.95).

If there was anything to complain about, it was the balance beam. The event has been a thorn in Charniga's side most of the season, and it was the same old story against Harrison. Northville scored only 28.3 points in the event and the highest individual score was just a 7.7.

"The beam was still quite iffy for us," Charniga said. "We had a tough night with falls, but I think we scored O.K."

Beach was first (7.7), LaChance third (7.1), Beebe fourth (7.0) and Karen Pyle fifth (6.5). The rest of the Mustang performers included Megan Graham and Jenny McMillan (5.85 each).

An excellent team score of 31.90 in the floor exercise helped wrap up the meet in impressive fashion for the Mustangs. According to Charniga, it was the highest point total the team's managed in the event this season — and maybe ever.

"It may be our best of all time," she pointed out. "We've never had the kind of depth we have now and that is really helping our scores."

Beach continued her scoring assault in the floor exercise by completing a marvelous routine and receiving a score of 8.6. LaChance was second (8.3), Chatman third (7.65), and Tracie Surdud fourth (7.35).

"Wendy is getting her strength and stamina built up, so she is now able to do a good strong routine," Charniga said. "Both judges gave her an 8.6 and that is a very outstanding score for this level."

"Wendy had a very good meet and so did Lee (LaChance)."

Northville took on Sallie yesterday (Feb. 17, after Record deadline) and won't get back into action until Feb. 24 against WLAA rival Plymouth Salem.

Improve your health with hypnosis

By BOB NEEDHAM

When you think of hypnosis, you might think of a guy on a stage telling people to act like a chicken. Or you might think of the bad guy in a movie, swinging a pocket watch and telling a helpless victim, "You are getting very sleepy."

On the other hand, you might not think of hypnosis as a way to improve your physical health — by eating better, stopping smoking, or reducing stress. But thinking of hypnosis like that is probably a lot more appropriate than the stereotypes.

"The possibilities for hypnosis are really exciting," Novi psychologist Carolyn Daitch said. "It's nothing to be scared of. It's also real different from what people see in stage hypnosis. Stage hypnotists do real dramatic things, and that doesn't usually happen in the office."

What does happen in the office is the use of classic techniques of hypnosis to change the way people think of themselves or their problems. And three local experts said the treatment can help people with physical problems as diverse as habit control, pain management and stress reduction.

"We do a lot of hypnosis for various habit disorders like weight loss or cigarette smoking. It's been very effective with stopping smoking," said Stephen Stocker, a psychiatric social worker and psychotherapist who is the executive director of Psychotherapy and Counseling Services in Northville.

"A lot of people have misconceptions about hypnosis," Stocker said. "They become afraid, because they're afraid they're going to lose control of themselves."

"One of the first things we do is try to explain what hypnosis really is: that the individual is in total control, we won't ask them to do anything that goes against their values, and if we did, they wouldn't do it anyway," he continued.

Gail Blyshak, a certified hypnotherapist and teacher of hypnosis at Advanced Creative Therapy in Northville, said that using hypnosis to change behavior is a lot like reprogramming a computer — the computer being the subconscious mind. "We reprogram that computer part of the mind to whatever the behavior change is that the client desires," Blyshak said. You might know you shouldn't smoke, but "you're not changing it on the computer level, the computer being the subconscious mind," she said.

Daitch and Stocker explained that hypnosis is a natural state which everyone experiences. If you've ever been driving on a highway and suddenly come upon your exit — without really remembering the last few miles — you've been in a hypnotic state, Daitch said. "It's not really an overwhelming mystical experience," she added.

"People go into spontaneous hypnosis a lot in the course of their normal day," Stocker said. "It's a narrowing down of your attention... to the exclusion of other things. When we tell them that, it becomes less frightening."

Inducing a hypnotic state in a therapist's office can be pretty simple, by asking the client to fix on a spot on the wall or the therapist's voice, and then using imagination to relax.

"Anybody can go into a hypnotic state," Daitch said, although some are deeper than others, just like heavy or light sleepers.

One key to using hypnosis may be determination. Blyshak said a person can only use hypnosis for habit control if he or she truly wants to make the change, for example, to quit smoking.

"If they don't want to quit, there's not a damn word I can say to make them," Blyshak said. "If they have that desire, they can make any change they want to."

Daitch said, "One of the difficulties with changing any habit is circumventing one's resistance. If it was easy to lose weight, anyone could decide to do it and then do it."

How you view yourself subconsciously directs your behavior, she added; if you think you're overweight, you will be more likely to act overweight. "Hypnosis can lead to an alteration in self-image," she said.

Hypnosis can tackle a lot of different physical problems, including poor diet, high blood pressure or even pain, as an alternative to drugs or in cases where drugs aren't working.

"They have been able to drastically cut down their medication," Stocker said. One problem is that some medical people don't understand hypnosis, and don't refer appropriate patients, he added. "A lot of people who could benefit never get referred," he said.

Daitch said she has even used hypnosis as an anesthetic. In one recent case, a patient was hypnotized the morning of surgery on a breast lump. "I was amazed myself, actually. With pain management, (hypnosis) can be dramatically successful," Daitch said.

Although hypnosis might not help everyone with their specific complaints, the therapists said almost everyone finds it relaxing and enjoyable.

"I'm sure I don't have a perfect track record in regard to solving specific problems), but I can't imagine it wouldn't be beneficial for anyone," Daitch said.

Stocker commented, "That's the beauty of it. You can help somebody to learn to relax in hypnosis, and then to trigger it in a situation."

Therapists sometimes give the client a tape recording of a session to help with relaxation and continuing improvement of the problem. Or, repeated visits may be the answer.

"We don't do a lot of one-shot hypnosis for weight loss or smoking. We don't think it works on a long-term basis," Stocker said. "We want them not only to stop smoking for a week, but forever."

Fitness Tips

Benefits of exercising can be offset by risks

By EILEEN MURPHY, M.D.

Last week I discussed the benefits of exercise. This week I'll explore the risks. It's important to understand these to minimize their occurrence and seek medical attention when appropriate.

The greatest risk of regular exercise is injury. There are four main causes: improper training, muscle imbalance, a structure abnormality and lack of flexibility.

Improper training can lead to injury. This happens because people either overtrain or fail to allow sufficient time to recover after the normal muscle injury that follows vigorous exercise. Strenuous training should not be performed more frequently than every 48 hours. Light exercise in the same or a different sport is safe between heavy sessions.

Stress fractures can occur in long bones that are subject to repeated pounding.

A muscle imbalance leads to injury if weakened muscles are unable to oppose stronger muscles. This produces tears in the muscle.

Structural abnormalities lead to injury if the relationship between bones or joints stresses some muscles more than others. This occurs if one leg is shorter than the other.

Lack of flexibility can cause injuries because short, tight muscles and tendons are more susceptible to tearing or pulling during use. Injuries can be prevented by stretching muscles. This is best done after the warm-up.

There are a few gynecologic conditions associated with regular exercise. Oligomenorrhea, menses that occur at intervals greater than 45 days and amenorrhea, the absence of menses, can occur in women who exercise strenuously. This is most common with runners and ballet dancers. Exercise amenorrhea is more common in these women and in those who lose weight. There are many variables as well, including physical and emotional stress, dietary changes and acute and chronic hormone alternatives.

Any exercising woman who has oligomenorrhea or amenorrhea deserves the same thorough evaluation and treatment as a non-exercising woman. Such athletes may continue to exercise during evaluation and therapy.

Menarche, the start of menses, is generally delayed among girls who exercise strenuously. It remains unclear whether strenuous exercise delays menarche by promoting thinness and delaying attainment of a critical body weight or fat level. If a woman has not had menses by the age of 16, she should be evaluated by a physician.

In general, the benefits of exercise outweigh the risks. Injuries or gynecological conditions that arise with exercise, however, need to be evaluated and treated in the same manner as for non-exercising women.

The Northville Record is working with medical authorities at the University of Michigan Medical Center (M-Care) in Northville to provide up-to-date information on a variety of health-related topics.

The series is coordinated by Peg Campbell of the M-Care staff. Information used for this article was obtained from the American College of Gynecology Technical Bulletin.
