Officials examine DNR tiff

Calls to a Department of Natural Resources pollution hotline were listed in a log book in the DNR's Northville office as referred to a non-existent "Fred Johnson."

A news report said last week that DNR staff in the Northville office referred calls on the toll-free Pollution Emergency Alerting System to a non-existent "Fred Johnson." However, a DNR investigation found that although the name was used in a log book, DNR staff did follow up all the calls, said Gary Guenther, head of the DNR's environmental response division.

Roy Schrameck, Northville head of the water quality division — which is not the division involved in the situation — also said the calls got attention. "I understand that the complaints that were received under that name were followed up on," he said.

Guenther said one employee used the name in the log book as the referral person for 12 or 14 hotline calls last September and October. Guenther and Schrameck said they did not know why the employee used the fake name.

Sue Henry, the DNR's public relations person in Lansing, explained that the hotline is a toll-free, statewide phone number to report pollution emergencies. An operator in Lansing refers the original call to the appropriate DNR district office, Henry said. The Northville office — which is on West Main Street — houses four divisions and serves the Detroit district.

"It appears that the calls that came in (to Northville) got referred and were followed up," Guenther said.

Thomas Work, regional supervisor of the environmental response division, first discovered "Fred Johnson" on a routine check of the phone log in November, Guenther said. Work notified Guenther and warned the DNR staff in Northville to stop the practice, Guenther said.

"After that it stopped. It hasn't happened since November," Guenther said.

'Standing broad grin'

Chad Schaffer, a Silver Springs' third grader, is measured for the "standing broad grin" in the school's fun Winter Olympics. Three third grade classes competed last Wednesday and Thursday in nine events, including also a scooter luge, speed skating on paper towels, and then making "snowballs" of the towels for an accuracy throw. Just the thing to banish late winter doldrums.

Township redoes assessment rolls for smaller hikes

By BOB NEEDHAM

Assessments on residential property in Northville Township are not going to rise as much as officials first thought.

After the township assessors finished work this year, residential property assessments were expected to rise between 12 and 20 percent, for an average increase of about 15 percent. But Township Supervisor Georgina Goss said Monday the assessors refigured the value of some vacant land — and the result is going to be an average assessment increase of "only" 10 or 12 percent.

It's not great news, but it's good news, Goss said. Assessments will still rise, but not by as much as the original estimates.

The difference is being made up by higher assessments on some land which is not yet developed, but soon will be, Goss explained.

"The board and I felt the assessors had not done an adequate job in assessing vacant property that we know is going to be developed," Goss said.

"All the assessments are changing," she continued. "Although everything's going up, now we are in line. It's a fairer assessment of the property values."

Among the problems in the original figures was the fact that Dun Rovin, site of a proposed 600-unit planned residential unit development (PRUD) off Haggerty and Six Mile, was still on the tax roll in its previous incarnation as a golf course. Similarly, Goss said, the 144-unit condo project called Blue Heron Pointe was still on the roll as unimproved industrial land.

Final figures were expected midweek. However, Goss and Township Treasurer Richard Henningsen said the delay means that the opening of the township's board of review will be set back about a week. The actual

Committee considers sites for library expansion

By BOB NEEDHAM

The committee looking for a new Northville Public Library site has narrowed its best possibilities to two: on Cady Street west of Griswold Street; and near Fish Hatchery Park at Seven Mile Road and Orchard Drive.

"There has been progress" in looking for a new site, Library Director Pat Orr said Monday.

However, she said, the committee has not yet made a choice. Once it does choose, the committee can only recommend an idea to the Northville city council and township board.

The possibilities have pretty much been narrowed down to the two best choices, Orr said. Each of those sites offers features that the other does not, she added.

"The Fish Hatchery site is prettier. Of course it's out more in the general direction of (development during) the next few years."

"The Cady site has the advantage of being in the downtown business district," Orr said.

The committee is working with architects and specialists in library design to help committee members make a choice, she said. The committee is eyeing a building of about 25,000 square feet. The present library is about 6,500 square feet.

That large a building could serve as Northville's main library for the foreseeable future, Orr said. However, she added, "If growth goes the way we think it will — at some point, it will be necessary to put a branch out in the township."

Orr said most of the money for any library expansion must come from a designated tax. "The main base of the funding would have to come through a millage, probably," she said.

Grants from sources such as the Library Services and Construction Act may help with the cost. However, "We can't rely on grants as the main source of funding," Orr said. "You just can't count on getting a grant."

Orr feels confident the public would support a proposal for a bigger library, which could include study space, a meeting room, and room for the reading and other programs.

"I think that the community realizes how much the library needs a permanent home with space to grow, so that we can offer the services that the community wants."

Orr said the committee might have recommendation for the township and city to consider by the end of the month.

As part of the site selection process, both the site committee and the Friends of the Northville Library are planning community surveys this month, Orr said. The Friends are planning a telephone survey of community members, while the library staff will conduct a survey of library patrons, she said. Both are expected to get under way in 10 days or so.

In addition to Orr, the site committee includes township treasurer Richard Henningsen, city council member John Buckland, June Freydl, Betty Griffin, Paul Dawson, Darlene Ursel and Iris Nelson.

Peggy Pursell forgoes D.C. for family life in Michigan

By ANITA CRONE

The potentially glamorous lifestyle of a politician's wife is not for Peggy Pursell.

She is more comfortable in slacks and sweaters than evening gowns and jewels. And she is much happier addressing a crowd of elementary school students than talking to politicians.

When her husband, Carl, was elected to the state Legislature and went to Lansing, she stayed home.

And when Pursell was elected as a member of the U.S. House of Representatives, Peggy even more vehemently elected to stay in Plymouth, to raise her family and to teach.

"The people, when they elected Carl, did not elect me," she said, adding that when the issue came up about a possible move, the Pursells "made a conscious decision that we would raise the children in Plymouth. We did not want them to be congressman's children, but rather, our children," said Peggy Pursell.

She said that she never regretted the decision, although there have been times, she said, when it has been difficult, times when Pursell has been in Washington and a crisis has developed at home.

There have also been times when both Pursells have had to give up things they would have enjoyed — things like, for Peggy, singing in the Plymouth Community Chorus.

"I enjoy it. I look forward to it, but this year there were practices that were called I knew I couldn't make. So I just dropped out."

It is unlike the Pursells to ask for special favors and it also is unlike them to let anything take precedence over the family on weekends, or their careers during the week. While Carl gave up teaching for politics, Peggy has been a teacher for more than 20 years.

Sometimes, though, there have been crises that demanded Pursell make an unscheduled trip to the district. Most of the time, though, Peggy has been content to stay home during the week, and to spend the weekend with her husband. The times when one or the other has had to deviate from that have been few and far between.

"I think it happened once, when Carl came back from the airport rather than flying to Washington," Peggy said. "But when we made the decision that I would stay here with the children, we knew there would be times like this."

There also have been times, although infrequent, when the congressman has missed important events in the family, like the recent birth of a grandchild.

"When I had my children, the doctors didn't allow anyone in the delivery room. But when Samantha (the infant daughter of Philip and his

City to hire new planner this month

City officials are still hoping to have a new planning consultant hired before the end of March, and they have 11 from which to choose.

Ron Nino, who currently holds the post, resigned in December, effective as soon as someone else is hired. In a study session between members of the city council and the planning commission last week, the officials discussed the qualities they are seeking in a new planner.

"We basically talked over general kinds of criteria," Mayor Chris Johnson said afterward. "We're looking for the kind of experience that would indicate they've had some work in historic preservation (and) downtown revitalization.

The city received proposals from 11 firms interested in providing planning services.

"Those are fairly general, broad things," Johnson said. The officials are not setting specific minimums — for example, requiring that a planner have experience with a historic district — because such requirements might eliminate most candidates.

Applications for the position were due last Friday. Eleven companies submitted proposals to the city. Among them are Ayres, Lewis, Norris and May, the engineering firm for Northville Township; Brandon M. Rogers and Associates, the City of Novi's planners; and Vilcan-Leman and Associates, a Southfield company which developed Novi's master plan who also serve as Northville Township planning consultants.

Although there is no deadline for hiring a new planner, the idea is to vote on a hire at the city council's March 21 meeting, Johnson said last week.

The city planning consultant works with developers on projects, guides the planning commission in deliberations, and recommends action when asked, among other, similar duties.

Friend remembers murder suspect

By ANNE WILLIS

Wixom resident Henry L. Johnson Jr. is better known in the Wixom and Novi areas as Hank Johnson.

Johnson has been charged with open murder in the shooting death of Wayne County Deputy Russell Francis Dickson, 36, of Livonia. He had a pre-trial hearing Feb. 19 in Walled Lake's 52nd District Court.

Details that led to the arrest of Johnson at his home on Grand River in Wixom on Sunday, Feb. 7, just hours after Dickson's body was found in a nearby field, were revealed at the hearing.

An autopsy report found that Dickson had died of multiple gunshot wounds to the head.

Johnson is well known in both the Novi and Wixom areas, and has been recently involved in a wood-selling business from his home.

An old friend of Johnson's, Dennis Johnston, said in a recent interview with The Record, that he felt it was important that the public know both sides of the accused man's story. Originally from Northville, Johnston worked in Wixom in the late 1970s and saw Johnson on a frequent basis.

"I've always had a good relationship with him," Johnston said. He described Hank Johnson as a man who was trying hard just to make a living and who felt that people were always out to stop him. "He was selling rabbits and chicks," Johnston said, referring to the years before Johnson went into the firewood business.

Johnson said that neighbors of Hank Johnson were always calling to complain about the state of the man's house and yard, and Johnson claimed that Johnson felt the City of Novi and neighbors were trying to drive him out of business. "He was just trying to do anything to make a living. But the place was a mess," he said, referring to Johnson's house.

Johnson said the accused man did have a temper. "I wouldn't push him. He'd allow you to push him only so far. He had a temper, but then don't most people who drink?"

Johnson said that Hank Johnson used to "drink pretty heavily" during the years that he knew him. "He always felt threatened, he always felt that people were pushing at him," Johnston said.

According to Johnston, Hank Johnson lost his oldest son in 1978 or 1979. "After his son died he jumped deeper into the bottle."

"I always got along good with him," Johnston said. He said none of Johnson's neighbors liked him, but that "a lot of people did like him."

"He could be kind," Johnston said. "He'd help people out, but he didn't have a lot himself. He was just trying to exist, and they tried to run him out of there." Johnston said that before he went into the wood business he had chicken brooders in the living room of his house and "bunny rabbits running around," which the neighbors didn't like.

"I thought of him as a friend at that time," Johnston said.

No decision yet on liquor license bid

The state liquor control commission (LCC) has not yet decided on a request for a package liquor license from a Northville party store, and a decision could be a couple of months away.

The Northville Wine Shoppe, on Eight Mile east of Taft, has applied to the state for a resort Specially Designated Distributor (SDD) license — one which would let the store sell hard liquor in bottles. The store now has a Specially Designated Merchant (SDM) license, which allows the sale of package beer and wine.

An LCC spokesperson said Monday that the commission met Feb. 17 to consider resort SDD licenses, but that the Northville Wine Shoppe application did not make it up for consideration. There are about 100 similar license applications currently outstanding, she said. The commission will probably not meet again to consider resort SDD license requests for another couple of months, she added.

The Northville city council has recommended against issuing the license. The LCC is not bound by the council's recommendation.

Assessments increase 10-12 percent in township opening date will depend on when the county finishes running the assessment notices, Henningsen said.

The first hearing date will probably be within a week, Goss said. The township is taking names and numbers of people wishing to protest their assessments.

As in the first set of figures, the Highland Lakes area is expected to see the highest average increases in the township. But the average is going to be less than the 20 percent originally expected. "It's a high jump, but it is in line with their market values," Goss said.

Township officials are satisfied with the new figures, Goss said. "The county was very cooperative in allowing us to throw out the assessment roll and start over again. We feel we have a fair roll now for them," she said.

Henningsen said the assessment process may run somewhat smoother next year, since the township is hoping to run its own assessment notices, rather than going through Wayne County. "It's a lot easier, and we can do them whenever we want on our own equipment," he said.

U.S. Congressman's wife prefers to remain at home

Peggy Pursell talks about her life over a cup of tea

Record/CHRIS BOYD

wife, Paula) was born, I was there. It was so moving, when Philip held her and turned to me with this tear in his eye and a big smile on his face. I know Carl would have liked to be," Peggy said.

But like most families with two working adults who are separated by distance on job, the Pursells have made it through relatively unscathed.

Carl has his job, Peggy hers and everyone works toward the betterment of the family. Family time is important to Peggy Pursell, the daughter of a downriver self-taught engineer and a housewife.

"The family has always been my first priority. The only time the family takes second billing is during an election campaign. Thank goodness it's only every other summer."

Carl Pursell was not campaigning when their three children, Philip, 27, Mark, 24, and Kathy, 22, were growing up.

Pursell, a school teacher in Livonia and Taylor, was not elected to the Michigan Senate until 1970 and did not win his congressional seat until 1976.

Even after Carl won his first election, and hit the campaign trail, Peggy has minded the home, the children and her job.

"I see a lot of wives of congressmen or other Washington officials who behave like they were the ones who were elected, and not their husbands, but I've also seen wives who have stayed in the background of Washington or, like I do home in the district."

While she won't state it directly, you sense that Peggy Pursell is very happy that she has stayed in the background.

"I'm not an extravagant person and I'm not the type who likes to socialize a great deal, so it doesn't matter that I'm here. Here is home," she said.

She said she realizes there are some things she has missed — like dinner at the White House, but she says she really didn't miss it at all.

"It's nice, but when you compare it to family, it isn't that important. I really believe that if you fall at family, no other success matters."

The congressman makes it a point to return to the district every weekend, and when he doesn't have meetings with constituents or staff, he and Peggy like to spend their time at home, together.

"Weekends are our time to spend with each other. We genuinely like being at home alone," Peggy says, adding that they both like going to movies or watching television.

"I like horror movies, Carl likes sports," she says.

Peggy also likes to cook, and considers fried chicken one of her specialties.

Another is juggling home, family and work, not to mention making time for her husband and grandchildren.

"I really like a simple life, where I can see the whole picture. If I can keep that, then it makes it easier for Carl, too."

On weekends, the congressman often has arranged meetings with constituents. And off he goes, while Peggy remains at home. She does not like to campaign. In fact, more often than not, when her husband is campaigning, Peggy is either at school, attending school meetings or preparing for the school day.

There are times, though, when politics intrudes, despite Peggy's best efforts to the contrary. She recently played hostess to George Bush when the vice president and presidential candidate visited Michigan.

"That wasn't so hard, because we both genuinely like George," Peggy said. "It was like we were entertaining a friend, except for the secret service agents all over the place."

Monday, Peggy was back at school, just like nothing unusual had taken place.

"You know," she says, "I often wondered whether people would treat me any differently because of who I was married to. At my former school, Cass Elementary in Livonia, they didn't. But this year I went to Tyler."

"There is this young woman, another teacher, with whom I've become friendly. She asked me last week if I was any relation to Carl. It was kind of funny, because at my former school, everybody knew but they didn't treat me any differently. I wasn't so sure how it would be at Tyler. But this woman genuinely liked me for being me, not for being Mrs. Carl Pursell."

In Peggy Pursell's estimation, that's what it's all about.

County moving forward with jail expansion plans

Wayne County commissioners took a key step toward expanding the county jail last Thursday, despite concerns the project would prove too small and too costly.

Setting aside their concerns, commissioners unanimously approved an architect to draft jail expansion plans. Commissioners named Sims-Verner & Associates of Detroit as project architect, as sought by county Executive Edward McNamara.

Several commissioners, however, said McNamara's $8 million expansion estimate was far too low. And because the architect's $450,000 fee was based upon a percent of the total project cost, commission members sent that part of the contract to the ways and means committee for further study.

Though $6 million to expand the jail is to come from Westland Medical Center's sale to a private hospital group, one area commissioner said she doubted the former county hospital's sale would produce that much money.

"That money's awfully soft," commissioner Kay Beard, D-Inkster, said. "Nobody's been able to convince me we'll get that money from that source." Beard, who represents Westland and Garden City, opposed the hospital sale.

Commissioner Richard Manning, D-Redford Township, said the expansion cost estimate seemed low even with the hospital money.

"We could commit to $6 million, then it's $16 million, then it's $36 million," Manning said.

Commissioner Milton Mack, D-Wayne, said building jail space alone wasn't enough to solve jail problems.

"I don't know of any source of money that would be used to staff that facility," said Mack, who represents Canton Township. "I would hope we'd find some better solution than to build new 'warehouses'."

Commissioner Susan Heintz, R-Northville Township, however, urged her colleagues not to delay the project.

"We're at a crisis point. There are nightmares at the county jail," said Heintz, who represents Livonia, Plymouth and Plymouth Township as well as Northville Township and the Oakland County portion of the City of Northville. "The public wants us to do this and we're elected to serve the public."

Space would be added for 470 prisoners. A seven-story addition would be built on Gratiot, next to the old county jail. Space for 170 more prisoners would be added at the new project.

The project is scheduled for completion in fall 1989.

The county currently has space for 1,678 prisoners. An estimated 3,000 prisoners have been released over the past 18 months to relieve jail overcrowding.

McNamara asked for emergency consideration of the architect's contract, eliminating competitive bidding.

The county is under court order to expand its jail. In addition, attorneys representing jail inmates seek to have McNamara and sheriff Robert Ficane held in contempt for allegedly failing to provide court-ordered improvements.

A hearing on the motions against both men is scheduled for this week.

A report on jail conditions is expected to be released Tuesday, March 15. The study is being compiled by court-appointed jail monitor Vincent Nathan of Toledo.

Industry fights video bill

A state Senate proposal sponsored by a local lawmaker that would require video tapes to display the motion picture ratings and provide penalties for any violation of the act is not going without a fight from the video business.

Senator Robert Geake, R-Northville, initiated Senate bill 490 in response to news reports and parents' complaints that their children can obtain and view films that many consider objectionable, said his legislative aide, Jon Smalley.

If approved, the video tape version of a film would be required to display the Motion Picture Association of America's rating of the movie.

However, a trade organization, while in support of the bill's intent, wants the lawmakers to leave any regulation of the video business to the video industry.

Jim Bevak, president of Video Software Dealers Association of Michigan, said he and other store owners should be able to have control.

"We agree that there should be guidelines (for renting tapes to minors) but the video store owners, through the organization, would like to try to police themselves," he said.

Bevak, who owns Video Vista in Livonia, said dealers who are organization members will ask adults when applying for membership if they have any children who will be renting tapes.

"If they do, we'll ask the parents if the kids have their permission to rent any film with the MPAA's R rating," he said.

The bill received the Senate Committee on State Affairs endorsement Wednesday which, Smalley said, would allow the Senate to vote on the bill as early as this week.

Geake, the principal sponsor of the bill, proposed the legislation in response to new reports and parental complaints of harmful effects from children's viewing violent and sexually explicit films, Smalley said.

One such video that repeatedly gets complaints is "Faces of Death," which consists of graphic scenes of violent death and dying.

A 16-year-old boy was one of the group convicted in Oakland County Probate Court of assaulting a family with baseball bats. The teen's mother placed partial blame on the boy and his friends viewing the film before the attack.

Produced 10 years ago, the film now has two sequels. All, Bevak said, are very popular with young adults and all are unrated — a common feature of many films that would receive an "X" rating from the MPAA.

Such is the case with the new video release of the film "Angel Heart," a film that when released in the theaters forced the filmmaker to delete a scene in order to obtain an "R" rating instead of "X."

The scene was restored in the video and is now unrated.

Yvonne Howell, assistant manager of Universal Video in Redford, said her store put the "Hard R" rating on it — an unofficial rating used by video dealers.

"We'll call parents if kids come in and want to rent this sort of film," she said. "But there's no law against it right now for 'Hard R' and non-rated videos, the way there is for those with the 'X' rating."

"And yet, when you see 'non-rated,' what does that mean?" Bevak asked. "Educational, documentary, 'how-to' programs — they're not rated now, and who's to judge?"

Violent and sexually explicit films, though, are being addressed directly by Geake's other bill, 491, currently awaiting discussion in the judiciary committee.

The bill, Smalley said, would have video stores restrict access for minors to films that fall into that category.

Also sponsoring the legislation are senators Norman Shenkle of Lambertville, Jack Welborn of Kalamazoo, Vernon Ehlers of Grand Rapids and Harman Cropley of Decatur.

All are Republicans but, Smalley

SEN. R. ROBERT GEAKE

said, "We've had strong bipartisan support."

While video dealers opposed to a law feel they should have self-regulation, Smalley said just 30 percent of the video outlets belong to the organization "and those tend to be the better-run businesses. There's a portion of people who don't follow rules."

Michigan has 600 video stores, Bevak said. About 185 are members of VSDA "but that doesn't mean that the others aren't complying," he said.

Just Maryland, Georgia, Tennessee and Illinois have laws, Smalley said. A few other states, including New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts and California, have legislation pending.

"The proposed law would have the ratings serve only as a guideline for parents," Smalley said. "Some laws could be too stringent."

Bevak agrees with this assessment.

Jobless rates fall

Annual unemployment figures for the City of Northville and Northville Township show jobless rates about half that for the greater Detroit area, according to the Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESC).

During 1987, the average unemployment in Northville Township was 3.0 percent, and in the city was 3.6 percent, according to MESC figures. In contrast, the 1987 average for the southeast Michigan region — including Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, Monroe, Livingston, Lapeer and St. Clair Counties — was 8.1 percent.

In Northville Township, 1987 average figures were: a work force of 6,028 people; 5,845 employed; and 183 unemployed.

The township's unemployment rate held steady from a year ago; the 1986 average rate was also 3.0 percent.

During 1986 the average work force was 5,900, with 5,725 employed and 175 unemployed.

The 1986 average rate was a drop from 1985. That year, the township's work force was 5,775, with 5,575 employed and 200 unemployed, for a rate of 3.5 percent.

In the city during 1987, the work force was 3,314, with 3,195 employed and 119 unemployed. The part of the city in Wayne County had a lower unemployment rate, 3.1 percent, than the Oakland part, at 4.1 percent.

The city's 1987 rate dropped slightly from 1986, when the rate was 3.3 percent. The work force was 3,225, including 3,100 employed and 125 unemployed.

In 1985, the rate in the city was 4.9 percent. The work force was 3,150, of which 3,025 were employed and 125 unemployed.

Sign law to change

The rules for signs in Northville soon may be recommended for change, but the rules for fences might not be.

Members of the city's planning and historic district commissions have been meeting recently to consider any changes to the city fence ordinance and sign ordinance. Building Official Joseph Attard said Monday that the group is getting close to recommending some changes to the sign ordinance.

However, "It appears that the fencing ordinance they will probably leave intact," Attard said. The group met last Thursday to continue the discussions.

The commissioners generally felt that any variations from the current restrictions in the sign ordinance should come on an individual basis from the board of zoning appeals. Attard explained, "I don't think there was that much difference between everybody's feelings," he said.

Last Thursday the commissioners discussed revising some earlier suggestions about specific changes in the sign ordinance. A specific proposal to revise the ordinance might be developed after one more meeting of the commissioners, Attard said.

Romance in the library

Readers seeking romantic reading need look no further than the Northville Public Library.

Beginning Monday, the library will feature the works of Danielle Steele and books by other authors that would appeal to her readers.

Bookmarks also will be available that list additional books and authors which are similar in style.

The library notes that the present display of cookbooks, diet and nutrition books has been as popular as expected.

The library has received a new display cabinet through donations from the Friends of the Library and Northville Town Hall.

Derrick man Mike Lapham steadies drill pipe 50 feet above the drilling floor

OIL: Black gold gushes as prices go down

They have struck oil at Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital on Seven Mile Road in Northville Township, but how much oil is still a question.

Drillers under contract to the Southern Michigan Oil Co. broke through to an oil-bearing coral reef early Sunday morning, Feb. 21, almost exactly at the place seismic projections indicated there would be oil or gas.

But while SOMOCO officials were pleased with the discovery of the oil, they got some bad news on Monday. The price of oil dropped to $15.75 a barrel, 50 cents less than the natural resource was selling for when the drilling team struck pay dirt.

Additional testing at the site, located near the hospital power plant building, will determine exactly how much oil is under the hospital. Michael Harris, a partner in SOMOCO, said he expects the additional testing to be completed in about 10-12 days, depending on the weather.

Two days after the drilling team made its discovery, the heavy drilling equipment was removed from the hospital site and the staff at the facility was reduced.

"The heavy equipment was only necessary to drill the test well. Now, we set the casing (cement the drill site so no water gets into the hole drilled to the oil) and bring much smaller, permanent equipment onto the site," Harris said.

Bill Burdick, who often works with Tim Baker, the man in charge of the Northville Township site, in drilling the test wells, had been on the NRPH site for 10 days to set the directional equipment

The cache of oil, located in a coral reef nearly a mile under and east of the site where the rigging was set up, will partially be used to heat the hospital, Baker said.

"I can get some sleep now," Baker said, after the crew broke through geological layers in the earth's surface to the reef. Baker, Burdick and a crew of drillers have been working round the clock to complete the preliminary work.

Not all of it was pleasant, Burdick said. One day, the solder on a drill bit broke and the bit tumbled into the hole. All work came to a grinding halt while a magnet was located, lowered into the hole and the bit was retrieved.

While not uncommon, problems with tools and machinery are not rare to those in the oil business. What is rare, however, is anyone getting filthy rich and behaving like the people on the popular television shows "Dallas" and "Dynasty."

"They have given the business a bad name," Baker said of the television show. "Most people in the business don't drive Mercedes or run around in Gucci boots. It's a tough, serious business, and since the price of oil has dropped, there aren't a whole lot of people getting rich."

At the NRPH drill site, the workers all drove pickups or four-wheel drive vehicles and workboots, not Gucci shoes, were the preferred attire.

Baker also emphasized that a modern drilling operation is clean, professional and scientific.

"We have to erase a mind set that people have from television. We have to show them that we are not out here to rape and pillage the women or the land," he said.

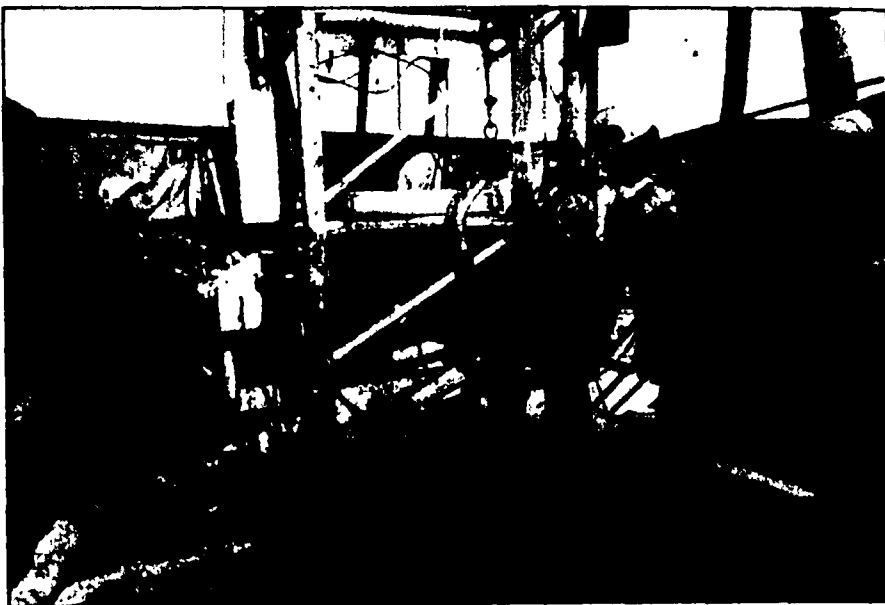

SOMOCO intends to restore the hospital drill site to its condition before the drilling operation started, Baker explained.

"But, like at any construction site, you can't do much toward restoring the land when it's frozen or it's muddy. You have to wait until the weather breaks."

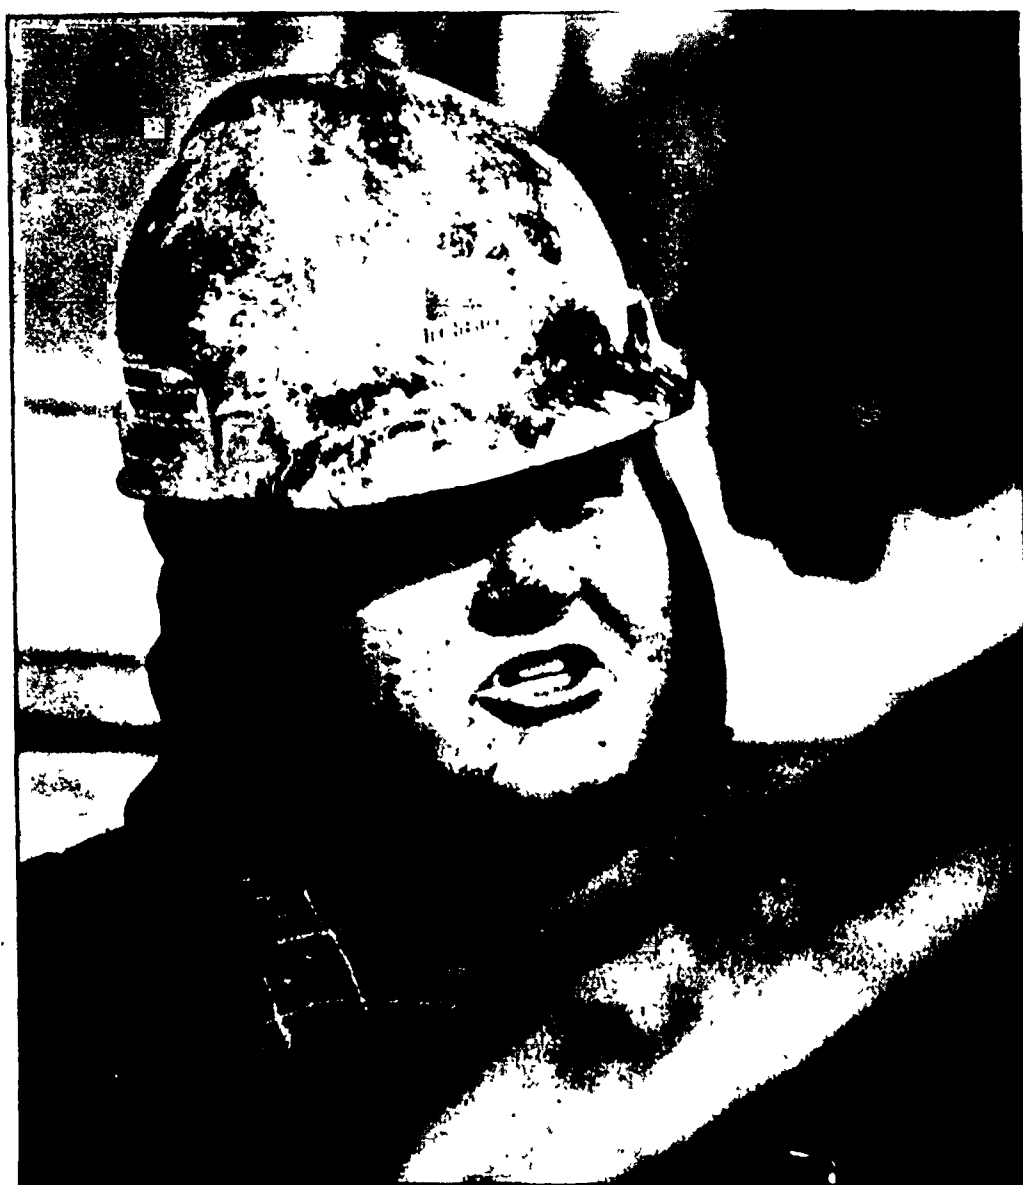

Another site at which SOMOCO discovered oil last year is clean and the only way people know there is an oil well on the property is by seeing the storage tanks.

SOMOCO, drilling on property owned by Consumers Power Co.,

OIL: 'Gold' up

found oil under Maybury State Park and is waiting for the weather to break before cleaning up that site.

Burdick and Baker, a geologist by degree, said like many of the people who work in the oil industry today, they had to work their way up through the ranks. But they consider themselves lucky to still be working.

"When the oil prices started to fall, a whole lot of people got laid off. Now, people who were in charge of entire sites are driving trucks. A lot of the older people have retired," Baker said.

He was a victim of the falling oil prices and rising costs three years ago.

"I was working for a company that cut back a whole lot. They had me in their training program and when they decided to let me go, they told me that they were doing it because they thought I had the education and training to make it on my own. I'm a bit bitter about it for a long time," he said.

Baker said that he never expected to be scrambling to make money. "But I had a family and we needed money to live," he said.

He said he thinks the worst is over. "But everything is subject to change. If oil prices continue to fall, other companies may have to make cutbacks and then it will be scrambling time again."

Although when oil is mentioned, most people think of Texas, Oklahoma or Saudi Arabia, Baker said that Michigan ranks among the top 10 states in oil and gas production.

"I don't think that there will be quite the problem they had in Texas because of the price of oil, but there is no doubt we're feeling a bit of the pinch," Baker said.

Harris noted that Michigan is in a unique position, since, because of its climate, it can use the gas and oil discovered in the state.

"In Texas, you might have to pay transportation costs, since they don't use gas or oil to heat their homes to any great extent and there's a lot of leftover oil. In Michigan, we can use almost as much as we produce," Harris said.

Although the newest oil discovery was found on NRPH property, the hospital will not necessarily get all the oil the well will produce.

The Department of Mental Health controls the mineral rights, and the Department of Natural Resources had to give its approval to the drilling.

"When a company finds oil or gas, they don't just take the profits and run," Baker said, noting that in one day — the day the drill bit broke off the drill — SOMOCO spent close to $150,000.

"It takes some time to recover that and some more time before anyone sees a profit," he said.

City objects to sewer provisions

The City of Northville is one of several communities negotiating with the state department of natural resources (DNR) to change provisions in DNR orders for sewer system improvements.

Last month, the DNR issued the latest version of sewer improvements required of the 10 communities involved in a regional sanitary sewer expansion project. The DNR orders include a timetable for completing various parts of the improvement process.

The communities are asked to voluntarily sign the orders. If they don't, the DNR's next step is court action.

At a recent city council meeting, City Manager Steve Walters reported that the communities had four main objections to the orders as submitted: no relation between the improvements and awarding of grant funding; fixed dates for the communities to comply, but no requirement for timely DNR action on approval; a requirement that the communities pay for any additional needed improvements; and a difficult timetable.

Northville's required improvements are less serious than some other communities, Walters said, Northville's main problem is outside water getting into sewers, while other communities have added troubles such as combined sanitary and storm sewers.

Roy Schramm, Detroit district head of the DNR's water quality division, said Wednesday that the objections mostly boiled down to problems with language. "Those, I think, have pretty much been resolved," he said.

Once the DNR submits a new order with acceptable changes, Northville will sign, he said.

PROBING THE POCKETS

Stephen K., a 46-year old accountant, noticed that his gums bled when he brushed his teeth or bit into an apple. He visited his dentist who commenced examining him by inserting a little "perio" probe between his teeth and gums to find the extent of the "pockets". After an X-ray examination showing the amount of tooth-supporting bone loss, he was given the bad news. He had advanced periodontal disease and would lose at least three teeth which were beyond help and have to undergo extensive care to hopefully save the other 29.

Of the 125 million adults who still have their teeth (20 million have already lost theirs), about 100 million have periodontal disease. And in 32 million, it is an advanced stage, meaning that they too will become toothless unless they undergo extensive treatment. There is no need for periodontal tooth loss. Learn to clean your teeth properly and they should last a lifetime like they are supposed to.

Former mayor Vernon retires from VP post

Former Northville Mayor Paul Vernon retired March 1 from his vice presidency with Allen Testproducts, a leading manufacturer and marketer of sophisticated computerized diagnostic engine analyzers and emission testers for the automotive service industry.

The announcement of Vernon's retirement was made by Ed Cohen, president of Allen Testproducts, on Feb. 6 in the prestigious Banker's Club on the 52nd floor of the Bank of America building in San Francisco during a banquet honoring Allen region managers, district managers and territory managers for outstanding sales performance in 1987.

In making the announcement, Cohen presented Vernon with a special award and gift from the Allen staff in recognition of his many years of devoted service. Cohen said Vernon has been an integral part of every major accomplishment of Allen during the past 19 years and has made a significant contribution to Allen's dramatic growth.

Cohen cited Vernon's active involvement in negotiating multi-million dollar exclusive contracts with Yamaha to supply analyzers to every Yamaha dealer for the firm's "Racer's Edge" program, with Firestone to build "Mastermind" diagnostic units as the cornerstone of the Firestone Mastercare Automotive Service Program and with General Motors to supply numerous diagnostic computers and testers with the General Motors label for the GM Dealer Equipment Program as several examples of those contributions.

Cohen noted Vernon has also done an outstanding job in capturing other major national accounts and in superintending the highly respected Ford Rotunda Equipment Program, the Chrysler Professional Service Equipment Program and similar programs with the major import car companies.

At Cohen's request, Vernon agreed to continue as a special consultant with the title Assistant to the President and will divide his time between a recently completed year-round lake home near Charlevoix, a residence in Northville and the local Allen office in Farmington Hills.

Vernon had served as the mayor of the City of Northville for 10 years, deciding not to run for another term in last fall's election. He was named Citizen of the Year for 1987 at the annual Northville Community Chamber of Commerce dinner meeting.

The headquarters of the Allen Testproducts, a Division of the Allen Group Inc., are in Kalamazoo. Allen products are distributed throughout the United States and in nearly every major foreign country. The corporate offices are in Melville, L.I., New York, with Walter Kissinger as chairman and CEO.

Maple Syrup Fest scheduled

The second annual Maple Syrup Festival sponsored by the Novi Adventurers 4-H Club will take place on Sunday, March 13, from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The festival will be held on the Schmidt farm located at 25377 Wixom Road between Ten and Eleven Mile. The festival is free and open to the public.

Last year the 4-H club held a "very successful" maple syrup festival, club organizer Margaret Schmidt said. This year's festival will concentrate on demonstrating to the public how maple syrup is made. The workshops will be led by members of the 4-H Club's Natural Resources Group.

In addition to the demonstrations on maple syrup, the group will offer samples of sap tea and food cooked over an open fire. The 4-H group also will have pioneer and Indian demonstration areas and exhibit past projects.

Schmidt noted another crowd pleaser — the family's flock of sheep that will be participating in the day-long event as well.

Goat Farm to become Mr. B's

By ANNE E. WILLIS

Say goodbye to the Goat Farm and hello to the new Mr. B's Farm.

That's right, the Novi Road landmark known first as the Goat Farm and later as just The Farm will become Mr. B's Farm sometime within the next three weeks.

The new owners are partners in several successful bar/restaurants in Rochester, Utica and Royal Oak. Michael Nash, new owner of The Farm, said he is one of the partners in Mr. B's in Royal Oak as well as Mr. B's Food and Spirits in Rochester. Nash said he plans to make The Farm into a similar type of restaurant as the other two Mr. B's.

Nash said the new owners plan to be in the building within three weeks. He and two of his partners in the new bar showed Novi City Council members plans for an expansion and remodeling project for the bar at the council's Feb. 29 meeting.

Plans call for the immediate addition of an outdoor patio area/deck area between where the current volleyball court and baseball diamond lies. The patio would seat an extra 75-80 people, Nash said.

The bar will remain open during the remodeling, Nash said.

The group plans to overhaul the restaurant's kitchen in the fall, putting in all new appliances and upgrading the menu.

Eventually, plans call for the outdoor patio to be enclosed for year-round dining.

"Our goal is to bring in the best of what the Goat Farm represents, sort of a controlled rowdiness, and the best of the Mr. B's ambience, which is more of a laid back family-type tavern," Nash said. "It will be a sports bar motif with real good food."

Nash and partners petitioned the city council for a transfer of the current Farm liquor license to the new Mr. B's Farm. The city council approved the recommendation for the transfer unanimously. The state makes final decisions concerning liquor licenses.

"We have big plans for Novi," Nash told the council. "We feel we can bring a lot to the community and we are in it for the long haul."

Nash said the partners will put in $100,000 in improvements in the first phase of renovation and another $100,000 in the second phase next fall.

The total capacity of The Farm currently is 225 persons. With the planned addition the new Mr. B's Farm would have a capacity of 316 persons, Nash said.

The site plan for the addition to the restaurant is currently in the review process. Council Member Martha Hoyer expressed concern over the number of parking spaces available for the bar/restaurant facility. "It's not only a restaurant, it's a recreation facility," she said referring to the baseball diamond and volleyball court.

Rotary lottery winners announced

Winners of $25 each in the Northville Rotary Club 1987-88 Community Calendar Lottery for the week of March 1 are Robert Stone, Richard

Lyon, Isabel Owen and Mary Ann Lilburn, all of Northville, Bruce Perkins of Whitmore Lake, Agnes Bradley of Farmington and Diane Apczynski of Livonia.

Proceeds from the sale of the lottery calendars are used by the club to fund community and youth projects.

Police Blotters

Driver loses control on hill, speeds over guard rail

A Northville resident lost control of a car and drove it over a guard rail on West Main Street last week, according to a Northville Township police report.

The driver was going west on Main Street Feb. 24 and did not stop at the stop sign at Clement, the report said. The vehicle entered a rough incline and scraped its chassis on the road.

The driver lost control, jumped a steel guard rail on the south side of the street and ran into a tree. According to the report, the driver admitted to driving 40 miles per hour in a 25 zone.

The driver, the only person in the vehicle, was not injured. Police issued the driver a ticket for careless driving.

DRUNK DRIVING ACCIDENT — A rear-end accident resulted in a drunk driving ticket for one of the drivers involved.

At about 11:15 Friday night, a vehicle going north on Northville Road was stopped for a red light at Seven Mile when a pickup hit the first vehicle from behind, according to a township police report. The driver who was hit waved down a police car.

The police administered field sobriety tests to the driver of the truck and he had difficulty with them, the report said. A preliminary breath test showed a blood alcohol level of .14 percent, so the driver was taken to the police station.

At the station, two breathalyzer tests both showed results of .19 percent, the report said. Legally drunk means a blood alcohol level of .10 percent or more.

Police held the driver overnight until he sobered up. The man got a ticket for operating a motor vehicle under the influence of liquor (OUIL) and a court date later this month.

JEWEL THEFT — About $500 worth of jewelry was taken in an apartment break-in Friday, a township police report said.

Between 7:25 a.m. and 8:15 p.m., someone entered through the front door — which was locked with a deadbolt — and stole 20 gold chains worth a total of $300 and a $200 Oleg Cassini wrist watch.

CAR STOLEN — A silver, 1988 Pontiac Grand Am was stolen last week from outside the owner's home, according to a township police report.

Late Feb. 21 or early Feb. 22 the car was taken from a parking lot. Some broken glass was found where the car had been, the report said.

OUIL ARREST — Township police arrested a Novi resident for operating a motor vehicle under the influence of liquor (OUIL) early Tuesday, Feb. 23.

Police officers stopped the vehicle after noticing it was driving straddling two lanes on Six Mile at Haggerty. The driver had trouble performing field sobriety tests, the police report said.

A preliminary breath test showed a blood alcohol level of .12 percent, so police took the driver to the township police station where two breathalyzer tests each read .14 percent.

The driver was kept overnight in a township cell and released the next morning. The driver was cited for OUIL and for a blood alcohol level above .10 percent, and was given a court date later this month.

FAIL TO YIELD ACCIDENT — An accident at the intersection of Six Mile and Bradner resulted in a ticket for failing to yield while making a left turn for one of the two drivers involved.

At 4:35 p.m. a car turning left from Bradner onto Six Mile hit a car going east on Six Mile, according to a police report. Both drivers received minor injuries. Police issued a ticket to the driver of the turning car.

SPEEDING OUIL — Northville Township police issued a Plymouth resident a ticket for speeding after stopping the driver for speeding late Tuesday night, Feb. 23.

A township patrol car on Haggerty above Five Mile saw a car driving north on Haggerty, going 63 miles per hour in a 45 zone, the police report said.

Police stopped the car and administered field sobriety tests after noticing the odor of intoxicants. The driver had trouble with the tests, the report said, and showed a blood alcohol level of .12 percent on a preliminary breath test.

The police took the driver to the police station, where breath tests showed results of .17 and .16 percent. The driver was cited for OUIL and for a blood alcohol level above .10 percent.

The driver was released the next morning and given a court date later this month.

CAR STOLEN — A Farmington Hills resident reported a car stolen from the parking lot at Meijer on Haggerty and Eight Mile.

The owner was in the store from 6:15 to 7:28 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 24, according to a township police report. The owner told police the car had been parked in the southwest end of the lot. The car was a white 1983 Renault.

FAIL TO YIELD — A driver exiting onto Haggerty Road ran into another driver and got a ticket for failing to yield Saturday afternoon, according to a township police report.

According to an accident report, the driver of the first vehicle told police he did not see the second vehicle, which was driving south on Haggerty as the first vehicle left a business just south of Six Mile.

The second driver told police she could not stop in time and the two cars collided. Police issued a ticket to the driver of the first car.

ATTEMPTED AUTO THEFT — $800 damage was done to a car in an attempt to steal it last week, according to a township police report.

The car, a 1986 Pontiac Fiero, was parked in a carport on Silver Springs Drive when the attempted theft occurred, the report said. The incident is estimated to have happened between 4 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 21, and 7:40 a.m. Monday, Feb. 22.

The driver found the car with a shattered driver's window and a damaged steering column, the report said.

HIT AND RUN — A car ran into another vehicle and drove off Feb. 11, a township police report said.

A South Lyon resident was driving south on Northville Road just below Five Mile at 6 a.m. when a car came around the bend, hit the vehicle and drove away, the report said.

The driver was not injured in the accident.

CAR VANDALIZED — A car seat had a hole burned in it one night last week, according to a township police report.

The night of Feb. 24 or morning of Feb. 25 a hole was burned in the driver's seat of a 1984 Ford LTD. Papers were also taken from the glove box and thrown on the floor.

The car was locked at the time, the report said. Damage was estimated at $200.

ICE ACCIDENT — Two cars sliding on an icy patch of road ran into each other Feb. 1, according to a township police accident report.

The two cars were both going south on Northridge Drive toward Seven Mile when both slid on the ice, the report said. The car in back could not stop and hit the other. The accident did not cause any injuries.

EXTRADITION ARREST — Township police went to a Detroit police station Feb. 23 to pick up a Detroit resident who was wanted by the township police for failing to appear in court on a charge of larceny — and then discovered the man was also wanted in Orange County, Fla., on a charge of violating probation.

The Florida warrant was discovered on a routine computer check. The man, Joseph Dennison, was arraigned in 35th District Court on the Northville charge and given an exam date of March 4.

Dennison was moved from the township to the Wayne County jail. Orange County officials want to extradite the man, the police report said.

UNLAWFUL DRIVING CHARGED — A car stolen twice from a downtown Northville parking lot was stolen a third time last week. A local man has been charged with unlawfully driving away a motor vehicle.

A city police officer assigned to watch the car after it was recovered the second time saw a man driving the car away Feb. 22 and stopped him. He was arraigned on the charge Feb. 23 and pled not guilty. An exam is scheduled for March 4.

Police assaulted

Three City of Northville police officers were hit in two separate incidents last week, according to city police reports.

In the first, city police stopped a Redford resident for speeding at S. Main and Seven Mile Thursday evening. A computer check showed an outstanding misdemeanor warrant from the Livonia police department.

The driver refused to get out of the car, the report said. A Northville officer reached in the car to try to control the driver and eventually police got the driver out of the car.

The driver continued to resist and kicked two Northville officers, the police report said. The Livonia police eventually arrived and picked up the driver.

In the second incident, officers responded to a report of a fight at Hardee's on Center Street. Several assault complaints are pending in that fight.

Police approached two subjects in a nearby parking lot. One in particular swore continually at the officers, the report said, and then tried to walk away. When an officer tried to stop him he hit the officer in the mouth, the report said.

A court date is scheduled for March 25.

Schoolcraft offers scholarships

Applications are available for two different types of scholarships at Schoolcraft College.

The Round Table International's Excalibur Foundation Therapy Scholarship is a $1,000 grant that covers one year at the college.

To be eligible, students must be enrolled in special education, occupational therapy, speech therapy or psychology programs.

The application deadline is April 1. Applications and additional information are available by calling 591-4400.

Graduating high school seniors from area high schools are invited to apply for a trustee scholarship. Five annual grants of $500 (they are renewable) will be awarded to each high school in Schoolcraft's district, including Northville High School.

In order to be eligible for a first-year grant, a student must be enrolled full time at Schoolcraft.

Northville Schools accepting gifted program applications

The Northville Public Schools are now accepting parent nominations for the gifted program for the 1988-89 school year. If parents believe their child exhibits exceptional ability and has a need for differentiated programming, they may want to request assessment.

Nomination forms are available in the offices of the elementary and middle schools.

Nomination forms are being mailed to the parents of all students currently enrolled in second grade. A district-wide magnet classroom is being planned for third grade and will be based at Silver Springs for next year.

Students presently in grades three and four are eligible for consideration for placement in cluster classrooms. Students presently in grades five through seven will be screened for placement in special programming being planned for middle school.

All forms must be completed and returned to the Gifted Resource Room, 501 W. Main St., Northville, Mich., 48167, by Tuesday, March 15.

Further details about the program or the process may be obtained from Gayle Fountain or Mary Najarian in the Gifted Resource Room, 344-8448.

OLV congratulates alumni

Alumni of Our Lady of Victory School who recently participated in the 1988 Scholastic Art Competition are being congratulated. A premier art competition for all high schools in southwestern Michigan, the competition winners' portfolios were selected to go to New York for national recognition.

Alumni winners were Pat O'Rourke, now at Catholic Central, Beth Brugeman and Colleen McNeeley, both Mercy High School, and Kristi Kunka.

The OLV student body and staff celebrated Catholic Schools Week Feb. 2-5 with the theme, "Share the Spirit." It started with an all-school Mass Feb. 2 celebrated by Fr. Al Blonigan. Sharalene Thompson presented certificates to all school staff members and special certificates to Fr. Blonigan, Sr. Kathleen Scanlon and Tim Stempniewski for their services to the school and its students.

Thompson received a plant from the school staff in appreciation for her continuous hard work and dedication.

A balloon lift Feb. 2 and an ethnic food day Feb. 4 added to the week's festivities. Many delicious foods and recipes were shared. Feb. 5 was ethnic costume day.

During Catholic Schools Week each second grader made a special key with his/her picture on it telling about the good things being shared. The keys decorated the classroom door and symbolized a bright future by sharing what the students learn.

The fifth grade social studies class has just completed some projects culminating in a unit on "An Age of Adventure." Students designed projects on native Americans, early explorers of the new world and Colonial America.

Ann Thomas, reporter/anchorwoman for WJR news paid a visit to O.L.V. Jan. 22. She spoke with a group of 20 fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth graders interested in broadcast journalism. She brought her tape recorder, telephone, headphones, microphone, stopwatch and newspapers and explained how they are utilized in her work as a news reporter.

Amerman second graders say 'Si' to foreign language

By ANITA CRONE

Hablo Espanol?
The students in Vayle Mango's second-grade class at Amerman School all can answer the question, "Si."

Mango, in addition to teaching the youngsters reading, writing and arithmetic, has added a bit of Spanish to the curriculum. And the youngsters seem to lap it up.

"My husband had a one-year assignment in Mexico and I joined him there during the summers," Mango said, noting that she found herself a bit lost at first.

"I decided that I would give the kids at least an introduction to a foreign language."

But it is not only language the students are learning. They are learning geography and customs about Mexico as well.

"I liked coloring the Mexican flag the best," said Jenny.

"And if we take Spanish, we'll be able to talk to people if we go to Mexico," said Eric, another of Mango's students.

The youngsters had a pinata at Christmas and decorated their room with other Mexican items.

Mango said she sets aside about 15-30 minutes each day for conversational Spanish and will integrate the language throughout the day.

The students really seem to get into the spirit, sometimes changing from their school attire to the colorful full skirts worn in Mexico.

They also enjoy it when they do their math in Spanish, or when their teacher gives them commands in Spanish, rather than English.

But sometimes, Mango says, she gets caught.

"Sometimes a student will ask me for a word in Spanish and I draw a blank. They seldom draw a blank. They just catch on so quickly," she said.

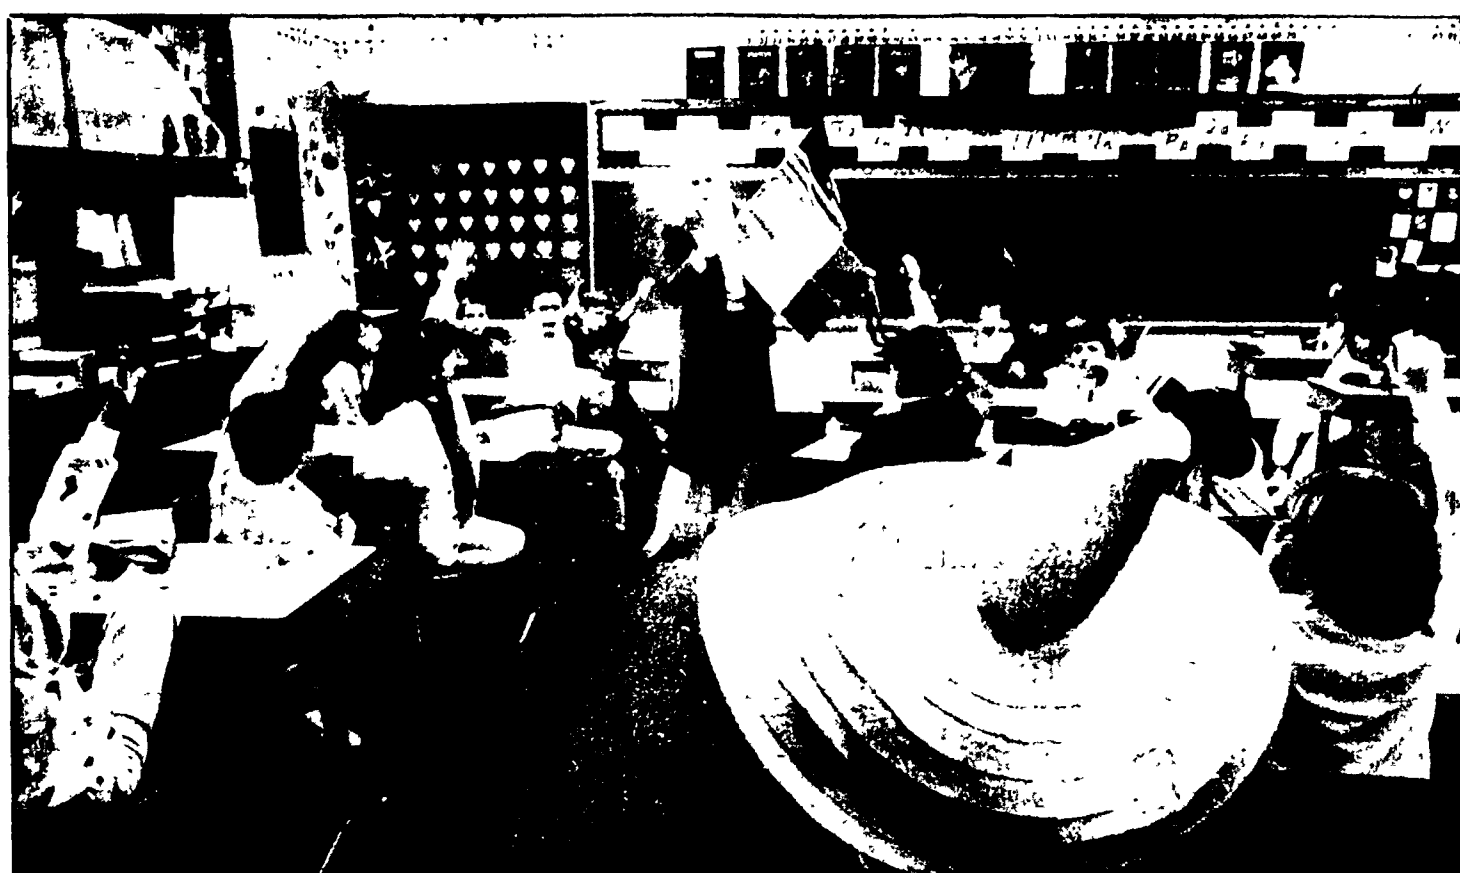

The students also have learned how to pronounce the rolling Spanish R-sound.

"I think that's one of the hardest sounds for someone not brought up in the language to reproduce. But the kids get it and they seem to have no trouble."

Mango says she is not trying to replace the high school language classes. "I'm just doing this for the students," she said.

And while the youngsters currently enrolled in her classes remember their Spanish, Mango explains that she is pleased when students from previous year's classes meet her in the hall and call out to her in Spanish.

"It's a way for them to practice, and they do remember," she said.

Vayle Mango's second graders at Amerman Elementary enthusiastically respond in Spanish

All-state bard

Bard Terry Wooten recites poetry — his own and works of famous poets — about Michigan folklore and the Old West, translations of Indian and Chinese, and children's works to sixth and seventh graders at Meads Mill Middle School as part of the Junior Entertainment Series. Wooten, who was an all-state football player in high school, has a degree in education. A protégé of the late poet Max Ellison, he works with the Michigan Council for Humanities and Touring Art Agency.

Kindergarten orientation set

Plans have been finalized for kindergarten orientation with the Northville Public Schools.

The program is open to Northville youngsters who will be 5 years old on or before Dec 1.

Each of the three elementary schools — Amerman, Silver Springs and Winchester — will handle its own orientation. Amerman orientation is scheduled for April 27-28; Silver Springs orientation for May 3 and 5; and Winchester orientation May 10 and May 12.

Orientation procedures include a wide range of activities for students and their parents. Staff gains insights into the child's development and readiness.

Youngsters during orientation may observe a typical kindergarten class and complete speech and language surveys.

Parents will be asked to complete a questionnaire covering health information, previous nursery or day care activities, special experiences or interests of the kindergartners.

The schools will be mailing letters to kindergartners who have pre-registered, so newcomers to the area are urged to register their youngster at the proper school.

Questions may be directed to the individual elementary schools or to the office of instruction at 344-8442.

How to recognize suicidal behavior

This is another in a continuing series of columns written by Mary Ellen King, Director of Northville Youth Assistance.

Pam is a 16 year old, average student. The past few weeks she has been sent to the school nurse for headaches. At times, her teacher has noticed her daydreaming. When Pam is asked if something is wrong, she says, "Oh, nothing. I'm O.K."

As a parent or a teacher or a school counselor, should we be concerned about Pam? The answer is "yes." Pam is showing some of the danger signs that are characteristic of someone considering suicide. Pam's behavior is changing. She is becoming withdrawn. She won't talk. And, she has a physical complaint.

Between the ages of 8 and 14, suicide is the eighth leading cause of death. Among the 15-24 year olds the rate dramatically jumps to the third leading cause of death. There has been a 300 percent increase in suicide in 30 years of the 15-24 year old age group. Michigan has the 10th highest suicide rate in the nation. We should be alarmed with these statistics and we should know how to recognize a potential suicide victim and know how to help.

No one can say for sure why a particular young person chooses to die. The helplessness and hopelessness that often lead to suicide may result from a combination of factors such as depression, family problems, a significant loss, pressure to succeed, problems growing up or poor self-esteem. In order to effectively help such young adults, we must be aware of suicidal clues. These clues include the following: Verbal threats, like "You'd be better off without me," or "I wish I were dead." Changes in behavior such as becoming withdrawn as Pam did, beginning to take unusual risks, using or abusing alcohol or drugs, giving away personal possessions such as favorite articles of clothing or records, changing eating or sleeping habits, experiencing prolonged feelings of anxiety, restlessness, fatigue, hopelessness or guilt, losing interest in usual activities, receiving a dramatic drop in grades, falling asleep in class, having emotional outbursts in class, engaging in sexual promiscuity, behaving in an attention getting manner, and experiencing sudden happiness following a prolonged period of depression.

It's possible that someone who exhibits suicidal behavior may have no intention of ending his or her life. But don't wait to find out. Take action right away. A person who's considering suicide desperately needs to know that others care.

BE DIRECT — Talk openly to find out how serious the person is about ending his or her life. Ask questions such as the following: "Are you considering suicide?" "Do you have a plan?"

BE A GOOD LISTENER — Listen with your eyes as well as your ears. Look for nonverbal clues that show how the person is feeling. Avoid making moral judgments or acting shocked or disgusted. Don't argue or lecture.

SHOW THAT YOU CARE — Tell the person that you're always willing to talk about things that may be troubling him or her. Reassure the person that you care and that others feel the same way.

GET HELP — Seeking professional help is a must!

Local poet published

Poetry printed in The Argonaut, literary magazine of The McCallie School in Chattanooga, Tenn., has brought national honors to the publication and to Jim Cowie, son of James B. Cowie and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. James Cowie of Northville.

Now studying at Yale University on a $9,500 scholarship, Cowie contributed a piece of fiction, an essay and two poems to the spring, 1987, edition of The Argonaut when a high school senior.

The magazine has received three All-Columbian Medalist Awards from the Columbia Scholastic Press Association. In presenting the highest honors to the magazine the judges commented on the maturity and grasp of language of the writers, calling the works "remarkable for high school students."

Cowie's contributions were poems, "The Potter" and "The Ballad of Sidewalk Sam," a fiction piece, "The Mailman," and an essay, "America: Land of the Vitamin Enriched."

The school's headmaster, Spencer McCallie III, called Cowie one of the school's "very finest" students.

Cowie, who lives in Greenwood, Miss., also received awards in math, German, English and Bible studies at the school. At Yale, he has a double major, physics and philosophy.

Our Opinions

Township officials deserve credit

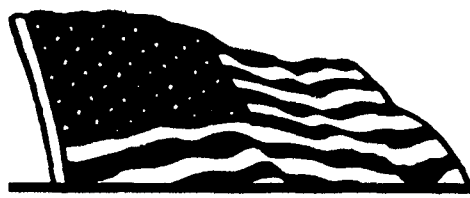

We all know that the two sure things are death and taxes. Most of the time, death seems like a much more serious problem. But around the time of year that assessment notices are mailed out, it becomes a close race. At least death doesn't go up every year.

This year, as usual, Northville homeowners can expect their assessments to increase. But for residents of Northville Township, there is at least one piece of good news.

Early estimates of assessment increases were as high as 20 percent for some areas of the township. But now, things are a little more reasonable; the increases are going to be considerably less than first thought.

It's hard to be thankful for an assessment increase. But township homeowners should be aware that their assessments would have been even higher if not for the efforts of township officials.

The tax rolls prepared by the

assessors had some serious problems — specifically, undervaluing property which is in the process of being developed. Luckily for the township homeowners, township officials recognized the problem and did something about it.

The first rolls were thrown out and everything was refigured. It was a hassle, but it was worth it.

People like Supervisor Georgina Goss and Treasurer Richard Henningsen deserve the appreciation of township residents. Even if your assessment is increased this year — remember, it could have been worse.

Ball wasn't for everyone

A dinner dance normally wouldn't seem a fitting topic for an editorial. However, because the Northville Historical Society's Candlelight Ball has been a fund raiser for the society for 16 years, it is an important community event, an event that has been supported in the past by the entire community.

Neighborhoods that used to reserve tables, historical society members themselves as well as local merchants just weren't on hand in large measure last Saturday. And, if they had been, there would have been little room for them.

We suspect that part of the reason was the location. The Mayflower Meeting House in Plymouth has a limited capacity — the early dinner dances were held in the ballroom of the Plymouth Hilton. Last year the dance also was held at the meeting house and those attending were aware of the drawbacks, most notably, the noise that reverberated from the uncarpeted wood floor and high ceilings and the need to expand into an annex room.

This year it was even worse, given the loudness of the music which made it impossible, even during dinner, to hear others at a table. There also were complaints that the music was not for a varied age group. Most of us in the 40 and well beyond years could not recognize nor dance to the music.

The reason for bothering to write about these problems is that this has been a well-supported local function open to everyone. This year, however, no neighborhood ticket chairmen were appointed to invite, or urge, neighbors to attend. Asked about the attendance, a society spokesperson said that the event was not intended especially to be a money raiser.

Why not? The need is even more pressing than at some other times, as the society is seeking funds to place the Cady Inn on its foundation in the village and begin expensive restoration.

Perhaps planning to make the 1989 Candlelight Ball a big community event in the tradition in which it was started could begin soon and take complaints into consideration. As a departing guest was heard to say, "Well, it was nice, but it could have been great."

Fred, we hardly knew ye

We sometimes wish we had a "Fred." It certainly would be convenient to say Fred was taking care of complaints, that Fred was investigating the story, or that Fred would check on a rumor. However, as local DNR staffers learned last week, we know the truth of such irresponsible action does come back to haunt, and hurt an important agency's credibility.

A news story reported last week that DNR staff in the Northville office referred calls on the toll-free Pollution Emergency Alerting System to a non-existent "Fred Johnson." However, a DNR investigation found that although the name was used in a log book, DNR staff did follow up all the calls, Gary Guenther, head of the DNR's environmental response division, said this week.

Guenther added that the non-existent Fred Johnson's name was used in the log only for a brief time. "After that it stopped. It hasn't happened since November," Guenther said.

Our guess is that an employee had more work than he/she could handle and added an "assistant." In any case, if Fred is looking for work now, we could probably find him a spot.

Letters welcome

The Northville Record welcomes Letters to the Editor. We ask, however, that they be issue oriented, confined to 500 words and that they contain the signature, address and telephone number of the writer. Names will be withheld on request, but a brief explanation of why the request is being made should accompany the letter. Deadline for submission is 3:30 Monday p.m. We reserve the right to edit letters for brevity, clarity and libel.

Booking

By Ann Willis

We went book shopping last weekend and it was like a trip down memory lane.

I was doing a story on used book stores and that was the perfect excuse for a Saturday excursion downtown to John King Books. Around my house the mere mention of a trip to a bookstore ensures a full car.

Books have been a part of my life for as long as I can remember. I vividly remember nights around the house when all was quiet except for the sound of pages turning. I remember trying to vacuum the living room and read a book at the same time. In our house, interrupting someone who was reading was a life threatening experience and starting a book that someone else was in the middle of could get you in serious trouble.

The biggest problem with books is the hold they can get on you. Particularly the books you read with such pleasure as a child. When I visited the Book Exchange in Northville I was surprised at the small number of children's books available at the used book store. Diane McCulloch, owner of the Book Exchange, said that people have a hard time turning in children's books. It seems that the kids themselves don't want to give the books up. Even if they're done with "Nancy Drew" or "Encyclopedia Brown," they don't want the titles wiped from their shelves. I can relate.

For years after we grew up my mother would plead with my sister and me to give away our tattered collection of children's books. We held fast. We could not let go of "Little Women," "An Old Fashioned Girl," "The Five Little Peppers and How They Grew" let alone our vast number of "Trixie Beldon" girl detective stories and "Hardy Boys" novels.

As long as they were there to be given an occasional glance, to be riffled on our way to more adult books and even, on some cold and long afternoon, to be reread with as much pleasure as the first time — then they could not be given away. These were our books and they filled more than the shelves on which they stood.

So the books have stayed and stayed and stayed. Over time and with moves they have been thinned somewhat, but we have always managed to add to their ranks. Every move I have made has been accompanied by boxes and boxes of books. Wherever I have landed it just wouldn't seem like home without their familiar titles and aged bindings winking out at me from the shelves.

As I have grown, I have noticed that some of the titles from my childhood days are disappearing from the shelves of the new book stores. Authors change and children's tastes change so the titles change accordingly. But once in a while I have wondered about the books that I dug out of my grandparents' basement and read with such pleasure — even though they had little to do with the times in which I lived. Were they still around? If I ever have children would they be able to read them?

Last Saturday as my sister and I roamed the aisles looking at titles, we would occasionally call out to each other in surprise and pleasure. Old friends — old books. There they were on those shelves waiting for new children.

Hands on teaching first and second after the short program.

I had watched them skate all night long. I had seen the Japanese girl skate her heart out. I had seen Katarina glide through a flawless program. I had seen the girl from Canada skate her heart out in another flawless program. And I didn't think I could bear to watch Debi Thomas try to do the same.

Years and years of practice and dedication. And it all narrowed down to one four-minute performance. One bad night. One little slip. Four crummy minutes. And if things didn't go well . . . If things didn't go perfect . . . It would be like the rest of your life had been for naught. It's just not right.

So I headed for the kitchen and ran some water in the sink. But my curiosity got the best of me. I returned just as she was skating onto the ice to begin her long program.

It started well enough. The first jump went well, but then she landed on both feet on the second jump. And things went downhill from there. Debi knew it, her coach knew it, her mother knew it. We all knew it. It was sad and tragic.

Like everyone else, I didn't need to see the judges' marks. "Think I'll finish those dishes," I said, heading back for the kitchen.

After the fact

By Phil Jerome

"Where you going?" she asked as I left the TV room and headed for the kitchen.

It was right about 10:15 Saturday night. The Russian girl was about half-way through her long program and I knew what was coming next — Debi Thomas. That's why I was headed for the kitchen.

"Think I'll do the dishes," I said. "Kind of straighten the place up a bit."

"You can't leave now," she wailed. "Debi Thomas is next. You don't want to miss Debi Thomas, do you?"

Actually, I did want to miss Debi Thomas. The suspense had been building for a couple of weeks and had gotten a lot worse since she and Katarina Witt were

Why the large assessment increases?

To the Editor:

Like most residents of both the city and township of Northville, I was not too happy to read that our 1987 property assessments would be, once again, going up. When do they go down? Did they go down when property values plummeted in the early '80s?

In the city an increase of between 7 to 10 percent is predicted and in the township an average of 15 percent is projected. Now those are sizable increases. We all can understand nominal increases of 2 to 3 or even 5 percent, since most things have gone up that much in the last year or so. But why 7, 10 or 15 percent?

I feel the method by which the assessments are calculated should be changed or a maximum percentage increase lid be placed on year-to-year assessments. Five percent or less would be fair.

Why should we homeowners and other property owners be put through this every year to keep our taxes at a reasonable rate or more acceptable increase at least. Certainly with all the new home buyers moving to our area, some of our tax burden should be alleviated, but, nonetheless, once again a tax increase is in the offing. More property evaluations, more trips to the assessors and appeal board. A more just and reasonable system would possibly save us all — residents, city and township time, effort and money — and aggravation.

Maybe this again points the need for more commercial development in the area. Stop the foot-dragging on the county property along Sheldon Road. A luxury hotel, luxurious condominiums and a classy shopping mall and commercial park would be out of the way yet a potential boon to our tax base.

Sincerely,
Greg Arceri

Support AAUW Week, March 6 - 12

To the Editor:

This year March 6-12 has been set aside to observe AAUW Week. The American Association of University Women is the largest, oldest national organization working for the advancement of women and education.

Founded in 1881 by 17 alumnae of eight colleges, AAUW was envisioned as a network dedicated to opening the doors of higher education to women. It is a network of educated individuals who are using their education in the service of society, giving all who join a chance to strengthen personal and professional skills, utilize and enhance individual talents, discuss and act on issues of concern to women, and foster positive change in their own communities.

AAUW Week highlights the work of its members to open doors of higher education to all individuals, to provide scholarships and fellowships for advanced study and to improve the quality of all education.

AAUW supports programs to prevent juvenile delinquency, to develop day care centers and to improve mental health facilities.

Whether one is a recent graduate with a brand new job, an established professional, or a busy homemaker, the American Association of University Women is a source of "nourishment for the mind and spirit," and the Northville Branch of the AAUW extends a personal invitation to all college graduates to join this dynamic organization.

Membership information may be obtained by calling 349-3197.

Engler commends Northville's Heintz

EDITOR'S NOTE: Following is a copy of a letter received by Wayne County Commissioner Susan J. Heintz.

I want to thank you for the invaluable assistance you and your staff provided in developing a program for the fiscal stabilization of Wayne County. Without that help, I doubt a program would have been enacted.

Wayne County's financial situation was (and is) so tangled that information from individuals having knowledge of the county and the state was absolutely vital in order to formulate a viable fiscal stabilization program.

As the only Republican on the county commission, and having just taken office in January of 1987, it would have been easy for you to not become involved in solving the county's fiscal problems. Instead, you immediately became involved, using your multiple roles as vice-chair of the Metropolitan Caucus and vice-chair of Ways and Means to the best effect. In addition, your appointment as the special fact-finder for the Ways and Means Committee on the fiscal implications of the Resident County Hospitalization program put you in a perfect position to meet with health care providers, DSS and other parties involved in the program.

In addition, your meetings with my staff in early 1987 gave us valuable perspectives on the Wayne County situation long before the executive branch acknowledged there was a problem.

Your May 1, 1987 report on the indigent health care program was excellent. It highlighted the lack of local control over program expenditures and put forth several outstanding reform proposals, including the merger of GA medical with RCH program and the privatization of the administration of the merged program under local control.

When DSS finally presented their proposal in September, your staff was invaluable in helping us resolve the critical questions unanswered by the plan. It became apparent, upon review, that the DSS plan would not have been in the best interest of Wayne County or the state.

By the time the legislative push started in November, we in the Senate knew more about the program and what we wanted to accomplish than anyone else in the Legislature. This was accomplished in no small part through your efforts and that of your staff. This knowledge allowed us to shape the final product into a program that I believe will stabilize Wayne County finances for the next decade.

In particular, the assistance of your legislative aide, Robert C. Law, was critical to the success of Wayne County's proposal. As you well know, Mr. Law is not only a governmental and budget expert, but is also highly respected by the Michigan Legislature and the executive branch. His tireless work behind the scenes throughout 1987 played a key major role in Wayne County's success. We appreciated the substantial amount of time that he devoted to this effort.

I also appreciated the meetings I had with you and Commissioners Arthur Carter and Arthur Blackwell. Their input was very important in putting a final package together.

Sincerely,
John M. Engler

Florida reunion full of memories

To the Editor:

The annual Northville Reunion in Florida was held Friday noon, Feb. 19, at the Crown House restaurant in Sarasota. Ninety six people attended including Northville residents, Florida winter residents and visitors.

Following a buffet lunch, one-time Northville resident Ed Bender managed to keep the audience in stitches as he narrated a long string of misfortunes and failures in his life. With well-boned humor, Bender created an image of a bumbling clown, while friends know the opposite to be true. Laughter prevailed.

Ada Ely Bloom spoke eloquently of Janet Larkin who, going back more than 50 years, was one of Northville's finest teachers. Using a list of positive adjectives, Mrs. Bloom described a person of determination and compassion. "She believed there was never a bad student . . . that there was always something in them that, if she got after them, would come forth."

Ending the program, Maurice Giles sang some Oldie Goldies, "Let the Rest of the World Go By," "Sweet Adeline" and "Down by the Old Mill Stream." As the audience joined in the singing, the meeting ended with all in a happy mood, glad they came.

Those wishing to be included on the mailing list for the 1989 reunion should write to coordinator Jim Harper, 2165 Preston Ave., Sebring, Fla., 33872.

Thank you for your attention.
Sincerely,
Jim Harper

Wrong forms used

To the Editor:

The Michigan Department of Treasury has for many years issued MI-1099-G forms which have been inaccurate and misleading. The Department of Treasury uses box 2, "Income Tax Refund Amount," to report some amount that bears no relationship to a refund payment.

Webster tells us that the term refund means "to return (money) in restitution, repayment, etc. — a refunding; amount refunded." Reading various Internal Revenue Service publications would lead one to believe that the IRS views the word refund to mean an actual repayment of money.

This year the IRS is using the incorrect MI-1099-G forms for the 1985 tax year, and sending out tax assessment bills to many of us using amounts reported by the Michigan Department of Treasury as Income Tax Refunds; however, often these amounts were never refunded because they were applied to the next year's estimate.

The whole thing has caused a great deal of anguish to those assessed additional taxes for refunds never received and it has cost the taxpayers a great deal of money for the IRS effort to issue the assessments, for tax preparers to respond to the error and then for the IRS to review the whole explanation and issue whatever correction is required.

May we request that the governor and legislature take some action to teach the Michigan Department of Treasury the meaning of the word refund and then make some agreement with the IRS. It would appear that either the Michigan Department of Treasury must issue corrected MI-1099-G forms for the last few years, or ask the IRS to ignore the incorrect statements until the state reporting system can be corrected.

It seems that something must be done. The people of Michigan will not long tolerate the state telling falsehoods to the IRS when those falsehoods come back to the citizens with the shock of increased federal assessments. The taxpayers deserve more than that.

Travel scams

Area travel agents recommend caution

By JEAN DAY

"If an offer sounds too good to be true, it almost certainly is."

As travel scams are becoming more and more prevalent, using the telephone, mails and newspaper ads to sell offers that will never materialize, local travel firms are issuing this warning to clients.

"People come in after the fact when they've been burned by a come-on — like coupons for a trip to Hawaii for as low as $29 offered in Chicago — instead of checking before with us," reports Ed Jamieson, owner of Northville Travel Plans, Inc.

Maria Glover, manager of The Travel Agency of Walled Lake, concurs, emphasizing that reputable travel agents are happy to take a few minutes to check out questionable offers.

She says good agents are happy to be asked for advice and there is no charge for the service.

She mentioned having three or four people call after they received a telephone offer for a trip to Florida.

"They were asked to confirm with their credit card number over the phone," she says, urging anyone so contacted to be sure to get the name of the caller and then return the call to verify its authenticity. "Don't give out that (credit card) information," she warns.

Dallas Phillips, owner of Phillips Travel Service in South Lyon, agrees that "there's no such thing as a free lunch" in the business and says he has had people come in "after the fact" with travel scams.

Phillips, the owner of a long-established business begun 43 years ago by his father which has been in South Lyon more than 22 years, says an agency that has met the standards of the industry can be counted on to be willing to check out questionable offers.

"We encourage people to do that — to come in first," he said.

Phillips, Jamieson and Glover all suggest that would-be travelers look for the symbol of the industry association, the American Society of Travel Agents. All three are members of the Washington, D.C., based agency.

Milford Travel on Union Street also is a member of the society. Agent Jan Hubbard agrees that the time to investigate any offer is "pure and simple before purchasing."

"Bring it in and let us see what you have received," she urges.

She cites an Oakland County area offer with an entertainment book that offered a voucher for a free ticket to Hawaii with the purchase of a coach ticket.

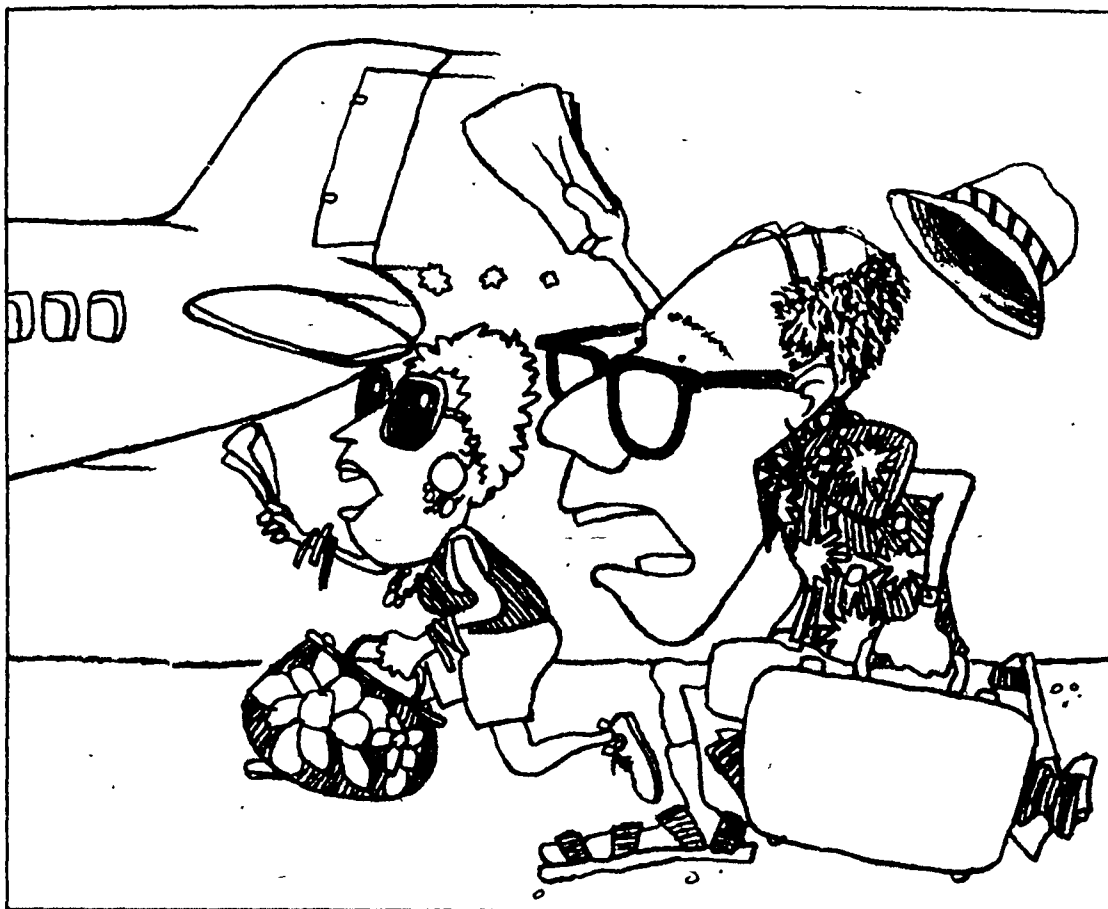

"It was based on availability, was almost impossible to get, and you can buy two super savers for one coach fare to begin with," she says.

Jamieson says that those who purchased the Chicago scam of vouchers for Hawaii (120,000 were sold) have only the attorney general in Illinois to complain to.

"It's a warning for people not to get involved (without checking)," he says.

"If they come beforehand, there

DAVID and LISA NELSON

DAVID and LINDA NELSON of Northville are the new owners of the MAACO Auto Painting & Bodyworks Center at 1625 East West Maple Road in Walled Lake.

The Nelsons are taking over a location that previously housed a MAACO Center. Dave Nelson attended Phoenix College in Arizona, while Linda Nelson attended and earned a bachelor of arts degree in social work from Michigan State University. She was a case worker for the State of Michigan and more recently did clerical work for Kelly Services.

The Nelsons noted that the average age of cars on the road today has climbed to an all-time high of 7.5 years, according to many manufacturers. The Walled Lake Center is equipped to handle any kind of painting or repair work from minor retouching to major collision work. It uses the latest equipment and highest quality, low pollutant materials in bringing cars back to peak appearance.

The MAACO chain was founded in 1972 and had gross yearly sales of more than $220 million in 1986. Founder and President Anthony A. Martino attributes the company's rapid growth to "quality work at a price the public can afford, sound management and marketing, and controlled expansion."

CPAs issue warning about 'kiddie tax'

"Beware of the kiddie tax." If you hear the preceding warning from your tax advisor, neighbor or business associate, don't laugh. He or she is not joking.

Tax reform has not been very kind to children — or to parents who are trying to save for their children's education. Children have lost a number of tax benefits and are likely to pay more tax under the new tax law. According to the Michigan Association of CPAs, tax reform has affected two of the most popular methods used by parents to reduce taxes on money being saved for children.

New regulations now govern the taxing of money parents put in their children's names, and the tax benefits of Clifford Trusts have been virtually eliminated. And that's not all. While taxpayers are enjoying a boost in the personal exemption, children are not so lucky. They can no longer take an exemption if they can be claimed as a dependent on their parents' return.

There are new rules for children's unearned income. Under the old law, all the interest earned on money put in a child's name was taxed at the child's rate. The new law actually has two sets of rules — one set for children under 14 and another for children 14 and older.

For children under 14, the first $1,000 a year in unearned income will be taxed at their own rate. (Unearned income, sometimes referred to as investment income, comes from dividends, interest, capital gains, rents and the like.)

It works like this. A child is allowed to apply $500 of his or her standard deduction to offset the first $500 of unearned income, making this amount tax-free. The next $500 in unearned income is taxed at the child's rate and all unearned income above that amount is taxed at the parents' highest marginal tax bracket.

Suppose, for example, your 10-year-old daughter's only income is $1,400 in investment income. She applies her $500 standard deduction to reduce her taxable investment income to $900 of which $500 would be taxed at your daughter's rate and $400 at your highest rate.

This rule applies regardless of where the money comes from. So if your son or daughter has a generous grandparent, uncle or friend, the income he or she earns is taxed at your highest rate — not that of the donor. These rules do not affect children 14 and older. Their investment income continues to be taxed at their own rates. Presumably, Congress felt that funds transferred to children 14 and older were transferred primarily for tax reasons.

Earned income is not affected. Income from a job is always taxed at the child's rate, regardless of the child's age. For 1987, the standard deduction will offset the first $2,540 a working child earns. If you have a family-run business, employing your children can provide two tax advantages. Wages paid to your children are taxed at their lowest bracket and you or the family company can deduct the children's wages as a business expense.

There is no more doubling up on personal exemptions. Prior to tax reform, parents could claim a child on their tax return and the child could claim an exemption as well. The new law eliminates this tax advantage. If a child can be taken as a dependent on a parent's return, the child cannot take an exemption on his or her own return.

Incidentally, under the new law, in order to claim dependency exemptions, parents are required to list the Social Security numbers of all children who are at least five years old. To apply for a Social Security number you must complete form SSA-5 available from your local Social Security office.

Short-term trusts have long been a common method for shifting income from a parent's higher tax bracket to a child's lower tax bracket. The most popular of these trusts, the Clifford Trust, got its name from a Supreme Court case involving a trust set up by George Clifford Jr. ...

Clifford Trusts allowed parents to transfer assets to a trust where the earnings from the assets were taxed to the child. By law, the trust had to last for more than 10 years, but when it expired, the trust's assets reverted back to the individual who created the trust.

Clifford Trusts set up prior to March 2, 1986, retain their tax-preferred treatment for transfers made prior to that date. Note that the Tax Reform Act does not say that you cannot create a short-term trust — just that income generated by a trust set up after March 1, 1986, must be included in the grantor's taxable income.

There are still ways of getting around the rules. It may very well still make sense to shift some income to your children, for tax purposes as well as to begin a college savings fund. Remember — the first $1,000 of unearned income is still treated favorably. That means, at today's rates, a child under 14 can have more than $10,000 invested in his or her name before the investment income would reach the $1,000 point where earnings would begin being taxed at the parents' rate.

For children under 14, instead of investing in assets that generate taxable income each year, the general strategy being recommended is to consider investments that are either tax-free or to defer taxable income until the child reaches age 14, when it will be taxed at the child's lower rate.

One of the simplest ways to do this is to buy United States Series EE Savings Bonds in your child's name. The interest on savings bonds is not generally federally taxed until the bonds mature or are redeemed. New savings bonds mature in 12 years so you can time your purchases so that the bonds mature after your child's 14th birthday.

Growth stocks that are not paying dividends are another possibility. The potential appreciation accumulates tax-free and the child would be taxed on capital gains only when the stocks are sold.

High quality zero-coupon municipal bonds might also be considered, particularly for a college savings plan. Like all zeros, you buy zero-coupon municipal bonds at a price significantly below the value and receive the full face amount when the bond matures. This gives you the advantage of knowing exactly how much your child will receive, while having the gain exempt from federal taxes.

CPAs recommend that you review your child's assets and re-examine your plans for putting money away for your child's education. As you can see, there are still ways to avoid paying your higher tax rate on funds put away for your children. If you have substantial funds invested in your child's name, a meeting with a financial consultant might be helpful.

Lost and stolen goods may be tax deductible

Almost any time something you own is stolen or damaged and you are not compensated by insurance, you are eligible for a tax deduction.

The loss need not be connected to business and could include personal items such as jewelry, furs and antiques. This could benefit many itemizers, although the new tax law has made casualty and theft losses more difficult to deduct (or abuse).

The Tax Reform Act of 1986 requires you to file insurance claims on all insured losses. Otherwise, the IRS could argue that the loss arose not from the casualty but from failure to file a claim.

However, in a recent case a taxpayer who had several theft claims for burglaries and feared another claim would cancel his insurance, reported the loss only on his return. In light of these circumstances, the Tax Court found in favor of the taxpayer and did allow the deduction.

To prevent frivolous claims, the IRS requires proof of the following: the nature of the casualty, ownership of the property, and when you discovered the property missing or damaged. The burden of proof is up to the taxpayer, so any evidence you can produce to show the original cost of the items will help your case.

Also, you should file a police report and include a copy of this report along with a receipt or appraisal for the property's value when you send in your return.

Accidental loss or disappearance of property may qualify as a casualty loss if it results from an identifiable event that was "sudden, unexpected and unusual in nature." For example, a car door is accidentally slammed on your hand, breaking the setting of your diamond ring. The diamond falls from the ring and is never found. The loss of the diamond is a casualty loss.

Damage from termites or moths is not a casualty because it was not sudden but occurred over time.

The lower of fair market value (Blue Book amount for an auto) or the price you paid for the property is the loss realized. This amount is decreased by any reimbursement you receive from insurance. However, the portion of the loss that is not covered by insurance is deductible. For example, if you have a $500 deductible on your car insurance, the first $500 of an auto collision is a qualified loss.

The new tax law requires a $100 floor be subtracted from each event, with the excess of this amount over 10 percent of adjusted gross income being your deductible loss. A person with gross income of $30,000 who has an uninsured stereo worth $3,600 stolen will receive an itemized deduction of $500 ($3,600 — $100 floor less 10 percent of $30,000).

Each casualty and theft claim must be separately filed on a Form 4684 and added to other deductions on Schedule A of your 1040. These forms and instructions can be picked up at any local IRS office listed in the phone book.

Caution needed for mail-order shopping

When Sears-Roebuck and Montgomery Ward introduced their catalogs around the turn of the century, they had no idea they were starting a trend that would still be going strong today.

Those early mail-order catalogs featured a wide array of merchandise, but pale in comparison to today's offerings — books and boats, cameras and computers, software and cookware — all just a phone call away.

But before you pick up the phone, the Michigan Association of CPAs recommends you follow a few simple steps to avoid some of the most common pitfalls of mail-order shopping. While the vast majority of catalog companies are reputable, there are some that should be avoided. Most can be easily spotted.

The first thing to remember is that if it looks too good to be true, it probably is. Be suspicious of mail-order advertisements or catalogs offering name-brand merchandise at remarkably low prices. Quality merchandise is often available at discounted prices, but the manufacturer and distributor are in business to make a profit. So be wary of ads that tout designer fashions at 70 percent off or cameras at a fraction of the cost offered by a local store.

In some cases, the merchandise may be counterfeit or a "gray-market product" — one that was imported outside the normal channels of distribution. Counterfeit products very often feature shoddy construction and no warranty. Gray-market goods are name-brand merchandise, but usually do not offer a manufacturer's warranty. In addition, a gray market product may be imported with foreign language instructions.

There are a number of other steps you can take as well. The first is to contact your local Better Business Bureau before ordering from a mail-order house for the first time. Your local Better Business Bureau will contact its counterpart in the city in which the mail-order company is located to determine if any complaints have been received about the company.

Remember most companies will have at least a few complaints filed against them. But if complaints were frequent or not adequately addressed, you may want to spend your money elsewhere.

You should also read the ad or catalog closely for disclaimers. Disclaimers indicating all sales are final or no warranty is expressed or implied should make you suspicious of the product's quality. Look closely for fine print concerning product size and description. Some firms will use an "artist's rendering" or large photograph to misrepresent the size or design of a product.

You should be suspicious of a company listing its address only as a post office box. While many reputable mail-order companies have a post office box address for orders, fly-by-night operations all too often set up a post office box, take orders and then disappear without shipping merchandise. Call the company and ask for a street address. If they are reluctant or refuse to provide it, you should be wary of ordering a product from them.

When you call, ask questions about the product. If the clerk is surly or can't answer the questions, you may want to look elsewhere. Reputable companies will spend the money to train their employees — both on products and customer relations. If the clerk displays little knowledge of either, ask to speak with a supervisor. If that doesn't produce satisfactory results, spend your money elsewhere.

If everything checks out and you decide to place an order, don't send cash. With a check or credit card, you may still be able to stop payment if your merchandise is faulty or isn't delivered — and both give you a tangible receipt. With cash, you have none of these benefits.

If you don't get your merchandise or you have another problem with the company and your complaints go unanswered, contact both the Postal Inspectors Office at your local post office and the Better Business Bureau. The postal inspectors will look into the possibility of mail fraud, while the Better Business Bureau will record the complaint for use in future consumer inquiries about the company.

If you'd like more information on mail-order shopping, send for "Make Knowledge Your Partner in Mail-Order Shopping" or "A World in Your Mailbox" which are available free of charge from Consumer Services, Direct Marketing association, 6 East 43rd Street, New York, NY 10017.

are some ways to check," he notes, mentioning that in one case complimentary lodging was offered at a Sheraton hotel. The chain said it knew nothing about the offer at all.

"Time sharing also can be hazardous. Be careful before making any arrangements unless you know the association handling the program," Jamieson warns.

He and others mentioned the Pontiac agency that went bankrupt after advertising a free trip to the Canadian Rockies offered with a trip to Alaska. Senior citizens' groups and a General Motors employee group all were out, Jamieson notes.

"There are plenty of legitimate bargains," says Jamieson.

Glover points out that travel agents themselves are consumers and would rather take a few minutes to check out a questionable offer.

"Agents would not like to be ripped off in travel or some other way," she says, mentioning that she personally had received cards with a Florida vacation offer.

"You're taking your chances," she says, "unless it's a legitimate contest from someone like Ford Motor Company or a food company."

"We're glad to take a few minutes to check for anyone, whether they're a client or not — we're here to service the community," she adds.

Jamieson mentions that the unbelievable bargain vacations and the agencies selling them are getting attention in Congress.

U.S. Rep. James Florio (D-New Jersey), chairman of the House Subcommittee on Commerce, Consumer Protection and Competitiveness, says that the public is being bilked out of an estimated $900 million a year with travel scams.

He, too, urges anyone who is offered a travel bargain that seems too good to be true to investigate.

"Check it out with a legitimate travel firm that's a member of the American Society of Travel Agents," he urged in a recent interview.

"Second," he said, "never join a travel club that offers you 'free trips' for becoming a member without first determining how long the travel club has been in business."

"If it's a newly-formed firm, the chances are good it's a scam."

He also suggests checking with the Better Business Bureau "before paying a cent to a travel firm offering something free."

Area residents can contact the Better Business Bureau/ Detroit and Eastern Michigan at (313) 962-9330.

We don't care if you paint your hair blue, rip the sleeves off your shirt or pierce your ear.

But don't smoke just to be like your friends. Or to be different from your friends. Or to be anything at all. Be caring with everything we know about cigarettes today there's only one thing you'll be if you start smoking now. And that's sorry. Sorry you can't get up in the morning without coughing your lungs out. Sorry you can't climb a single flight of stairs without getting winded. Sorry that every time you light one up your risk of heart disease goes up. If you're already a smoker take some time to stop and think it all the way through. Right now it's your decision in the long run, it's your life.

PARKS

for all seasons

Many reasons to spend a day at metroparks

By Daniel Grantham

Maybe you're seeking refuge from the oppressive humidity of summer, or the cabin fever of winter. On the other hand, a walk through the fall colors could be what you had in mind, or a stroll to look at spring flowers.

Regardless of what outdoor activity you're interested in, you're sure to find the proper setting at the nearest Huron-Clinton Metropark.

You're also sure to find more activities than you thought, says William Sherman, deputy director of the metropark system. Today's metroparks are more than just a picnic table and a barbecue grill. "There's just all kinds of activities that are going on," he said.

Golf courses, boat launches, wave pools, a demonstration farm, dance programs, toboggan runs and cross-country skiing trails are just a few of the other attractions that can be found in the metroparks.

Perhaps it's for that reason that the parks are so popular. Sherman says about 8 million people visit the 13 metroparks each year and that number continues to grow. "We see a steady 4- to 5-percent growth in attendance each year," he said.

The parks system is actually a group of 13 metroparks stretching in a loop from Lake St. Clair to Lake Erie and encompassing the valleys of the Clinton and Huron rivers. The parks serve residents of five counties, and are controlled by the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, which includes representatives from each county.

The Huron-Clinton system traces its roots back to 1936, when Dr. Henry Curtis, one-time director of playgrounds for New York City, directed a survey of Washtenaw County to determine the recreational opportunities there.

At the same time, Professor Harlow Whittemore, chairperson of the University of Michigan's landscape design department, was promoting the Huron River valley as a source of public

Kensington

Just keeps improving with age

By Marilyn Herald

Kensington Metropark, probably the most popular of the 13 Huron-Clinton Metroparks, celebrates its 40th birthday this spring and, like wine, it improves with age.

It is located just off I-96, between Brighton and New Hudson.

The big birthday celebration, planned for the Memorial Day weekend, commemorates the official opening of the 4,350-acre park. When it opened in the spring of 1948, bathhouses at Martindale Beach were only large canvas-enclosed shelters with no roofs and no dividers for privacy. But it didn't really matter to the local residents and city kids who flocked to the park to enjoy the sparkling waters of the newly flooded area.

Today, both Martindale and Maple beaches have landscaped grounds, walks, sandy beaches and modern bathhouses which continue to attract lots of visitors during the summer months. Softball, swimming, tennis, first aid stations and food service are available.

Visitors come from the Washtenaw and Monroe counties, as well as from outstate Michigan to see what the magnificent park has to offer.

The big birthday celebration is expected to draw thousands of visitors, according to park officials. "We'll have fireworks over the park at 9:30 p.m. Saturday," said Sherman. "If we have rain, we'll have Sunday and Monday as alternate days."

Part of the celebration will be in the main amphitheater at the Nature Center, located within the park. The Nature Center is owned by Roscoe the Clown and Elias Brothers, the famous

Parks ring metropolitan area

Although Kensington may be the best known, many of the other parks in the Metroparks system are within a reasonable driving distance. And your drive time can be rewarded with many different locales and available activities. The other metroparks are:

□ Metro Beach — East of Mount Clemens along the Lake St. Clair shoreline. Opened in 1950; 770 acres. The park features one and a half miles of sandy beach, an Olympic size swimming pool, a trackless train, a 1600-foot boardwalk, tennis courts, shuffleboard courts, horseshoes areas, an outdoor dance pavilion, boat ramps and marinas, food bars, and special events.

□ Wolcott — In Ray Township in northern Macomb County. The 2,124 acre park is currently being developed, and is not yet open to the general public. However, the park's historic grist mill can be opened for group tours arranged in advance.

□ Stony Creek — Northeast of Rochester. Opened in 1964; its 4,461 acres make it the largest park in the system. Attractions include a 600-acre lake, two beach sites, food service, scenic roadways, biking and hiking trails, bike rentals, a fitness trail, a golf course, a boat launch, nature trails and a nature center, boat and canoe rentals, and picnic areas.

□ Indian Springs — Southwest of Clarkston, in Springfield and White Lake townships. Opened in 1962; 2,206 acres. Features include a nature center, nature trails, biking and hiking trails, and picnic areas. A golf course is under development.

□ Huron Meadows — South of Brighton in Green Oak Township. Opened in 1964; 1,495 acres. The park has an 18-hole golf course, a driving range, and food service.

□ Hudson Mills — 12 miles northwest of Ann Arbor. Opened in 1957; 1,624 acres. Attractions include picnic and playground areas, biking and hiking trails, an activity center, tennis courts, a basketball court, volleyball courts, shuffleboard courts, softball fields, food service and canoe rentals.

□ Dexter-Huron — 7 miles northwest of Ann Arbor, adjacent to Hudson Mills Metropark. Opened in 1952; 122 acres

By the first of this week, 250 reservations had been made for the always popular spring fashion show-dinner of Northville Newcomers Club to be held at 6 p.m. Thursday, March 10, at the Novi Hilton, president Christipe Knapp relates.

Members of the Northville Business and Professional Women's chapter are planning a gala 40th year celebration. It will be a luncheon Saturday, April 16, at Meadowbrook Country Club.

Longtime members who would be interested in participating in the milestone celebration are being sought, president Dorothy Cook reports. Former members who are interested should call 348-0404. Charter members will be honored at the program. Among the founding members was the late Beatrice Carlson, a Northville city council member.

Northville churches are part of this suburban group.

The service will be at Lola Valley United Methodist Church, 16175 Delaware in Redford. The church is four blocks north of Five Mile Road and four-tenths of a mile east of Inkster.

Baby sitting will be available. Coffee, tea and cookies will be served following the program.

For more information call Annabell Gotts, 349-1023.

The next meeting of Church Women United will be a May Fellowship Breakfast May 6 at First United Methodist Church in Farmington. Details will be announced.

Kensington to hold 40th year celebration in May tionaires at the park have some special ideas for the celebration, Shafer added.

Although it is the Huron River that winds through Kent Lake which provides the enormous expanse of water around which the park was developed, it is the old town of "Kensington" from which the park took its name.

The Town of Kensington, established in 1832, dwindled fast and by 1890, with no railroad to provide transportation, it had become a ghost town.

The Board of Commissioners of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority decided in 1947 to rename its Kent Lake Park Project "Kensington Metropolitan Park." Before construction of the dam that backed up the waters of Kent Lake, that body of water was looked on by many as a 60-acre swamp.

The dam, completed in 1947, stretches 290 feet across the Huron. It transformed the swampy marsh into a 1,200-acre area that has attracted fishermen, boaters and swimmers for four decades.

More than two million visitors were recorded at Kensington during 1987. "We counted 700,000 vehicles entering the park in 1987 and we figure approximately 3.1 persons per vehicle," reported Shafer.

Picnicking is still the number one pastime of park visitors, according to

Shafer. "We have 14 picnic areas and we have already begun receiving calls from people registering their picnics for the 1988 season."

"We don't reserve areas, but when registration for an area fills up, we try to suggest another spot for their picnics."

Probably two of the other most frequented areas are the Nature Center with its changing displays and well-marked trails and the Farm Center where a complete working farm and a variety of animals are located.

The toll-free telephone number for all park activities and information is 1-800-24-PARKS.

Coming up in March at the Farm Center is the annual program, "Maple's Sweet Story," on weekend afternoons. It features various aspects of maple sugaring from tapping the trees for sap to the boiling down for maple syrup.

Horsedrawn hayrides and sleighrides are available at the Farm Center on weekends and reservations are available for groups during week-day evenings.

Recent snows made the golf course area a busy one for cross country skiers and it won't be long before the course opens for those who chase the little white balls around the links. The course is a popular speed course which sees plenty of action on its rolling terrain.

The 6,400-yard, 18-hole course has watered fairways, landscaping and greens which make it not only challenging, but scenic as well.

Oakland County Health Department officials make weekly tests of water samples from the lake to insure its safety for swimming, according to park officials. Swimming is permitted at the beaches only when park lifeguards are on duty.

One of the leading summer attractions is the Island Queen, a replica of an old Mississippi Riverboat, which makes 45-minute tours around Kent Lake. It operates from the boat rental building on the north side of the lake with rides from noon until 6 p.m. during the summer.

With a capacity of 66 passengers, the boat ride offers an excellent view of the 22 miles of shore line. The riverboat is also available for private charter at times other than scheduled hours.

In winter, two outdoor ice rinks attract visitors to the boat rental site. In summer, its the place to go for renting rowboats, sailboats and paddleboats. The boat rental is open daily from the first Saturday in May (weather permitting) until Sept. 7. It is also open weekends until mid-October (weather permitting).

One of the most beautiful sites in the park during the snowy season is the winter sports area on the northern side of the park near Buno Road. Toboggan runs and sledding areas are open from 10 a.m. to dusk on weekends and noon to dusk weekdays.

As spring comes on, be sure to hike one or more of the easy trails that start and end at the Nature Center, located near the west entrance to the park. Wildflowers, turtles, Canadian geese, waterfowl, swans, and plenty of carp can be observed at close range. Naturalists are on hand to offer current information on exhibits and trailside features.

Special indoor and outdoor programs on wildlife and plants are offered year-round at the Nature Center. Coming up at 1:30 p.m. March 5 is "Nature's Myths and Misconceptions," a program to help visitors learn the difference between fact and fallacy through the use of slides, discussions and a short hike.

March 6 at 2 p.m., "How to Avoid Being Bitten," is a program explaining how many plants and animals have designs or behavior patterns to help keep them off the dinner plate. The programs are free, but pre-registration is suggested by calling the above toll-free number.

"This is the flag-ship of the fleet," said an obviously proud Shafer as he described just a few of the many activities offered in the park.

"We offer special programs like the Kensington Challenge Twilight Run in June, the canoe flotilla, and the country fair in July. We say get them (the people) in the park to look around and they'll come back. They'll be hooked on the outdoors."

"You can come to the park on 16 different Sundays and find 16 different things to do."

Shafer said the staff is looking forward to the completion of the boardwalk which will round out the six miles of paved hike-bike trails which begin near the east boat launching site and wind past Martindale Beach, through the woods bordering Kent Lake and the Huron River, over Buno Road Bridge, up the hills of the central park area, past Maple Beach and the boat rental area, ending at the west boat launching area south of the Nature Center.

School and other civic groups may take special tours of the Farm Center with advance reservations, made by calling the park's toll-free number. Tours are one or two hours in length and are designed to provide information about farm animals and their care. The tours are free.

Organized youth groups desiring to use the tent camping site or persons wishing to use the canoe campsite within the park should contact the park office to make arrangements in advance of the desired date. Brochures are available to show the location of these special facilities. There is a $5 group camping permit fee (per troupe) per visit.

The Kensington Metropark office direct line is 685-1561.

Although nearly all activities at Kensington Metropark are free, entrance requires a vehicle use permit which is attached to the windshield of the vehicle. These permits can be purchased at the booths at the park entrances or at the park office, located at 2240 Buno Road, Milford.

Permit costs are: $2 for daily use; $10 for annual use; and $5 annually for senior citizens, age 65 and over.

The two men came together and agreed that the Huron River had great recreational potential. They later extended that idea to the Clinton River valley. Their vision of a series of parks stretching from Lake St. Clair to Lake Erie and connected by a parkway later developed as the metropark system.

In 1937, a conference at U-M led to the formation of the Huron Valley Committee, later the Huron-Clinton Parkway Committee, to promote the development of parks in the Huron and Clinton river areas.

The Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority was established in 1939, when the state legislature adopted Public Act 147. That act also allowed voters in Wayne, Macomb, Oakland, Livingston and Washtenaw counties to vote on starting the park system in 1940. The proposal passed, 494,573 to 229,624.

Unfortunately, the vote preceded the beginning of World War II and tax funds were not available for development until 1942. The authority spent most of its time planning the parks and acquiring land from 1942 to 1945.

The first two park sites to be developed were Kensington Metropark near Milford and Metro Beach Metropark near Mt. Clemens. Kensington opened in 1948 and Metro Beach followed two years later.

Over the years, the park system expanded to its present-day total of 13 sites and it continues to grow and change today. Over $4 million in improvements are scheduled for 1988, including completion of the hiking-biking trail at Kensington and an 18-hole golf course and facilities at Indian Springs Metropark near White Lake.

Big plans are also on tap for the Huron Meadows Metropark, just south of Brighton, where roads and parking lots will be constructed and landscaping and fencing added.

The improvements are part of the park system's more than $24 million budget for 1988. Most of that money, $13.3 million, is raised by taxes, while $5.8 million is generated by park charges and fees.

Most of the budget goes toward the operation and maintenance of the metroparks, and the parks system takes pride in having a clean, well-maintained environment, Sherman said.

The metroparks have seen a number of fads come and go, but over the years, most of the recreational activities that bring people into the parks haven't changed. Picnicking is still the most popular activity, followed closely by related activities, like swimming, canoeing and fishing.

Sherman said the metropark system has seen an increase in the demand for winter activities. Eight of the 13 parks now have cross-country skiing trails and other winter activities, he said.

The metropark system is also developing "fit trails," special trails for exercisers, to keep up with the physical fitness boom, Sherman said. But the biggest reason for visiting metroparks will probably always remain the same—to get back to nature, feel the grass underfoot and enjoy the view. And that part of the metroparks will never change.

Huron Valley Hospital's Physicians Referral Program.

Because some things just can't wait.

One of the most important parts of good health is a regular checkup, for everyone, not just the kids. If it's been "too long" since someone in your family has seen a doctor, no matter the reason, you can do something now. Maybe just a little reminder and a gentle nudge are all it will take. But perhaps some help finding the right doctor will be necessary. If that's the case, let Huron Valley Hospital's no charge Physicians Referral Program go to work for your family.

As close as the phone, our health care professionals are ready to listen and help. They understand all the reasons for needing a referral — new in town; doctor has retired; never had a doctor; just not comfortable with this doctor. Whatever the reason, whatever the need, the Huron Valley Hospital's Physicians Referral Program can help your family find the right doctors.

Ask us about office hours and locations. Give us your preference for male or female doctors. Do you want a Family Practice physician? Do you need a specialist? Huron Valley Hospital has more than 300 physicians on staff. Our doctors are located here in the community and throughout Oakland, Livingston and Wayne Counties. We'll find just the right doctor for you. And when we do, you'll have the comfort of knowing that if hospitalization is ever necessary, you'll stay in the neighborhood, because you, your family and your doctor are all part of the same Huron Valley Hospital family.

Please phone 360-3300, extension 3450, weekdays between 9:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m.

Base Line Questers research weathervanes of early days, to use motif in quilt project

By JEAN DAY

Weathervanes which decorated almost all barns across the countryside not too many years ago have been chosen this year's study topic by the national Questers antiques study and preservation organization.

Last Thursday members of Base Line Chapter of Questers in Northville delved into the history and types of weathervanes and began a club project of making a piece quilt with weathervanes as the motif.

The idea of member Ginny Wisner, who hosted the meeting, the quilt's weathervane designs were adapted for use on blocks by president Ruth Whitmyer.

Members noted that the weathervane atop the Masonic Temple building at Main and Center streets long has been a local landmark. Unlike most weathervanes, it is not on a farm in the country but in the heart of town.

While early records do not mention the weathervane, it is presumed that

It was installed on the peak when a second story was contracted by the Masonic Lodge to be leased to the lodge in 1881. The second story was built over one-story stores being erected in 1880 on Main Street east of Center.

Research presented at the Quester meeting related that the early vanes were as much a farm implement as a decoration, telling the farmer the way the wind was blowing, when a storm was coming and when to plant, when to fertilize and when to cut the hay.

In England, so many roosters were used as the weathervane symbol that the weathervanes often were called weathercocks and were mentioned that way in poetry.

Farm animals — pigs, sheep, cows, bulls — often were used as the design, Whitmyer said, mentioning also fish and other designs. Arrows frequently were the design for weathervanes in the earliest form and were made of wood.

Few of the pine ones exist today, the Questers learned, because they weathered. In the 1800s sheet copper was hammered over pine, but these were heavy and swung poorly in the wind, Eric Sloane noted in his book, "American Yesterday."

He explained that later the method was devised of removing the wood core after pounding the copper into a shape. The result was a lighter weathervane which swung easily in the wind.

The hollow weathervane still is being made in this fashion today.

In addition to being extremely desirable collectables, weathervanes today are considered an art form.

Frank Miele, director of the Hirsch & Adler Folk Gallery in New York City, recently was quoted as saying that, after debate over the matter, weathervanes "are now an accepted art form, despite the fact that they were mass produced and utilitarian... the purpose has nothing to do with its esthetic worth. That's why the Museum of Modern Art has a Breuer chair and the Metropolitan Greek urns that were used to carry water."

MASONIC VANE — This nicely detailed weathervane long has been a landmark atop the Masonic Temple in downtown Northville.

Dig for treasure at used bookstores

By ANN E. WILLIS

Watching a book lover in a book store is like watching a small child in the toy department. Their eyes glaze over and a faraway dreamy trance seems to envelop them as they wander along the shelves. Hands reach out to touch the volumes and smiles overtake their faces as they come upon a treasured volume from the past.

But a love of books today can be an expensive affliction. For those who enjoy owning books rather than merely borrowing from the library, the steep prices of both paperbacks and hard cover books can be a real pinch when it comes time to tally the total at the cash register on the way out.

Enter the used book store. Used book stores have been a staple in college towns for as long as students have needed books. Wonderful used book stores have dotted cities such as Boston, New York and Chicago for decades. But for many suburban readers, these city or college bookstores were a long way from the new chain bookstores that populate shopping centers.

In the Novi and Northville area there are used book stores within reasonable driving distance. Many of these stores cater to the growing numbers of paperback book readers and allow trade-ins and credits toward used paperbacks. This helps a lot with the book lover's greatest problem — what to do with the boxes and boxes of paperbacks stored in the basement.

Used book stores offer far more than just a discount on books. They offer a return to some of the atmosphere of old. For many book lovers, a great deal of the joy in shopping for books is in the atmosphere created by the store itself.

In these days of larger and larger chain stores, the individual book seller is a rare commodity indeed, and these stores offer the consumer the chance to slow down and enjoy the total book buying experience. Like a fine restaurant, it isn't just what is served, but also the ambience and the service.

According to area book sellers and buyers, perhaps the granddaddy of all used book stores in the metro-Detroit area is John King Used and Rare Books in downtown Detroit.

King books is a booklover's dream come true. Housed for 22 years in an oversized old building located at 901 W. Lafayette Blvd., the store is literally packed with books. Over 500,000 books are on site (with a closer estimate by a clerk on a recent Saturday hitting one million). And the ambience is just what a used book lover would expect.

Book Exchange owner Diane McCulloch

Record/Chris Boyd

King's has shelves and shelves of used books, enough to dominate four floors of the building. The books rest on long wooden shelves and the wooden floor beneath the shelves creaks just as it should.

The store has paperbacks and hardcover books for sale. It sells books on literature, science, psychology, mysteries and anything else you can possibly imagine. And it does more than that. King's also specializes in rare and antique books. The store does appraisals, historical reprinting, advises on estate and probating of books and on books as investments.

King's buys books, but not just every book you have lying around. It tries to stay away from the Book Club editions and the Readers Digest books. The store suffers from a sort of reverse publicity tide. It is well-known in Windsor, Toronto and other spots outside Michigan, but is not terribly well-known within the Detroit area.

The staff is familiar with the crew of regular customers that browse the store, and calls the atmosphere "family-like." The store conducts a nation-wide search service for those looking for particular volumes.

In Novi, The Books Connection at 43721 West Oaks Drive, sells both new and used books, with the emphasis on used books. According to Elaine Kaiser over 70-percent of the books in stock are used. Kaiser said that the used book business in the Novi area is "real good" and that the store finds its best sellers to be historical and romance novels. The store does conduct searches for people looking for particular books.

Northville is home to the Northville Book Exchange at 332 E. Main Street. Owner Diane McCulloch specializes in paperbacks. The Exchange offers a trade-in on used paperbacks with a credit toward a 60-cent purchase of another used book.

McCulloch said the store does not carry hardcover used books due to a lack of room. She will conduct searches for people interested in new books who can't locate them through new bookstores.

McCulloch also sees quite a few regulars in the store. She finds that true paperback aficionados know their used books stores, particularly which ones stock the most romance novels, mysteries and westerns.

In Farmington there is Books Abound at 33336 Grand River. "We get a lot of requests for books out of print," Kathleen Berg said. The store stocks 65-70 percent used books and the rest are new. They have a computerized search service available.

Also in Farmington is Jerry's Book Store at 23623 Farmington Road. Bertha Cunningham said that the used book business is "fair" with a good market for movie books, art and music and westerns. Cunningham said prices on used books vary according to the condition of the book and the subject.

In Plymouth there is Village Paper-Book Exchange at 819 N. Mill Road in the old village area.

The Great Wall: Taste of Orient for entire family

For the restaurant connoisseur searching for a taste of the Orient in a family atmosphere, The Great Wall of China fits the bill.

BRENDAN BOWEN

Once seated at one of the restaurant's booths or tables, it's advisable to spend a few minutes studying the menu before ordering because it takes that long to become familiar with the selections. A basket of won ton chips is served upon arrival, giving hungry patrons something to munch on while doing just that.

Taste-tempting entrees such as Warr Shui Gai, breast of chicken with crushed almonds and vegetable sauce, Warr Shui Opp, pressed duck with crushed almonds and vegetable sauce, How U Steak, cubes of tenderloin steak blended with chinese vegetables, wine, garlic and oyster sauce, Woo Dip Har, split shrimp enfolded in bacon with crushed almonds; and Hoi Sin Kow, cubes of lobster meat, fresh shrimps and sea scallops with chinese vegetables, are just a sampling of the dishes to choose from. All dinners include rice, soup, an eggroll, chinese tea and dessert.

The Great Wall of China's dinner for two, priced at $17.90, is a good value for the amount of food it includes, while allowing customers to taste a variety of chinese selections in one sitting.

The dinner consists of Warr Shui Gai, breast of chicken with chinese vegetables; Harr Kow, jumbo shrimp blended with chinese vegetables, your choice of eggdrop or won ton soup, tasty pork fried rice, an eggroll, tea and a fortune cookie. Dinners for four and six also are available

Prices range from $7.45 for Chinese vegetable chow mein, to $22.50 for Lobster Cantonese, chunks of lobster mixed with minced pork in a black bean and egg sauce.

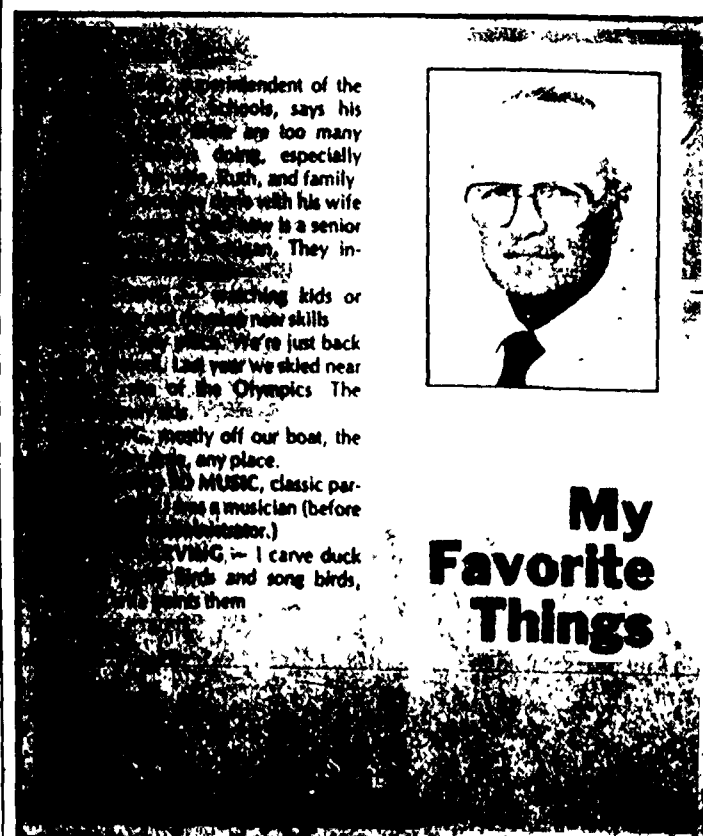

American food selections include breaded jumbo shrimp, broiled white fish and broiled pork chops, fried chicken and hamburgers. These dishes are served with french fries and a roll.

Domestic and imported beers, wines and mixed drinks are served to accompany meals, as well as soft drinks, Chinese tea and coffee.

On a recent Saturday night, patrons at the restaurant included young, middle-aged and older couples, as well as quite a few families. Attire is casual and major credit cards are accepted.

For those who prefer restaurant fare while dining at home, the restaurant provides a full-menu carry-out service. Henry Lum, host of the restaurant, also caters banquets, weddings and business meetings.

Five-meet winning streak ends for tankers

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

Coach Mark Heiden was hoping for a pair of wins last week to send the Northville swim team into the WLAA Conference Meet with a six-game winning streak.

The Mustangs made it halfway to the goal by trouncing Walled Lake Western 125-43 on Feb. 23, but a solid team from Farmington Harrison threw a monkey wrench into the plans and beat the tankers 44-39 two days later. Heiden's squad now heads into the league meet at Plymouth Salem — which ends March 4 — with wins in five of the last six dual meets and a regular season record of 8-4 overall, 5-3 in the WLAA.

"Actually, I think it may be better that we lost one right before the league meet," Heiden said. "I don't want anybody overconfident and I think losing to Harrison helped the kids realize that nothing comes easy."

With that in mind, the victory over Western was quite easy. Northville registered wins in all 11 events, and added numerous seconds and thirds to complete the rout.

Eric Newton and John Warren were the only two-time winners in the meet. Newton took first place honors in the 200-yard freestyle — and just missed setting a new school record (1:51.77) — and the 100 backstroke (1:04.93) while Warren was a winner in the 100 breast stroke (1:10.15) and the 200 IM (2:14.71).

The rest of the individual winners included Mike Fortenberry in the 50 freestyle (24.07), Larry Osiecki in diving (201.40 points), Jason Stringer in the 100 butterfly (1:01.93), Craig Smith in the 100 freestyle (53.58) and Jason Hill in the 500 freestyle (5:38.32).

Both Northville relays also placed first. The 200 medley relay team featured Andy Wayne, Warren, Smith and Andy Viskantis (1:53.9) while the 400 freestyle relay group included Fortenberry, Smith, Viskantis and Newton (3:34.26).

Matt Van Horn and Dave Morante each placed second twice to pace the runner-up finishers. Van Horn was second in the 500 freestyle (5:46.73) and the 200 freestyle (2:08.0) while Morante was second in the 200 IM (2:25.0) and the 100 backstroke (1:07.31). The rest of the runner-up swims notched by the Mustangs were Rob Devyak in diving (196.75), Brad Cook in the 100 butterfly (1:04.06) and the 'B' relay teams in both the 200 medley and 400 freestyle events.

Andy Wayne grabbed third place in both the 50 freestyle (25.45) and the 100 breast stroke (1:17.12). The rest of the thirds were from Dave Frayne in the 500 freestyle (5:54.39), Steve Lang in diving (196.45), Chris Handyside in the 200 IM, Jason Hill in the 200 freestyle (2:29.69) and Angelo Perakis in the 100 freestyle (59.73).

"(Western) has a very small team so it was a good opportunity for me to use some of our younger kids and our second stringers," Heiden said. "I was pleased because we are tapering now and the boys are gradually going faster and faster."

The Mustangs put forth numerous personal best times against Harrison, but the Hawks had several outstanding individuals and won the meet on the strength of eight first-place finishes.

"We swam a good meet — it could have gone either way," Heiden said. "If the meet had taken place in a six-lane pool, I think we'd have won. But in our five-lane pool, our depth wasn't as much of a factor and it cost us."

The most outstanding effort of the day was Newton's 2:06.55 clocking in the 200 IM. It set a new school record time, but was only good for second place in the meet. The only firsts for Northville came from Devyak in diving (234.25), Wayne in the 100 backstroke (1:02.76) and the 200 medley relay team of Wayne, Warren, Viskantis and Fortenberry (1:48.08).

Newton added another second place finish in the 500 freestyle (5:03.61) to pace the runner-up efforts. Others with second place honors included Smith in the 50 freestyle (23.72), Viskantis in the 100 butterfly (51.69), Morante in the 100 backstroke (1:04.94), Warren in the 100 breast stroke (1:09.09), Chris Handyside in the 200 freestyle (2:03.28) and the 400 freestyle relay team of Fortenberry, Viskantis, Newton and Smith (3:31.90).

Northville's third place finishes came from Van Horn in the 200 freestyle (2:03.86), Warren in the 200 IM (2:16.36), Fortenberry in the 50 freestyle (23.83), Lang in diving (211.75), Smith in the 100 freestyle (51.69) and Hill in the 50 freestyle (5:36.67).

"Both of our relay teams had their fastest times of the season and we had another half-dozen personal best times, so it was a good effort," Heiden said. "I knew it would be close. We swam well, but it just wasn't enough."

For the WLAA meet, Heiden believes his team will fit in somewhere between third and fifth in the 12-team event.

"I'd like to see some fast swims from the kids and hope for a third," he said.

Cagers get 'easy' win over Falcons

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

For the first time this season, the Northville basketballers won a game that a) didn't go into overtime and b) wasn't decided by a single point.

The Mustangs 52-47 decision over Farmington on Feb. 23 in the WLAA playoffs was the squad's first easy win of the season — even though it wasn't very easy at all. A poor second quarter by Northville enabled the Falcons pull in front and they held the lead until the final five minutes of play. The five-point spread at the end of the game was the Mustangs biggest lead of the evening.

"It wasn't easy but it was an easy win compared to the other ones," Northville Coach Tim Lutes said.

Senior Ron McDonald, who missed several games earlier this season with an injury, came out of the locker room firing in jump shots for the Mustangs, and it was his shooting accuracy that helped Northville race out to a 15-8 lead. McDonald — who had scored a grand total of one point in the previous five games — connected on four field goals in the first quarter alone.

"We were sparked by Ron McDonald," Lutes said. "He had the hot hand and most of his shots were from long range — 15-to-18 feet out."

The lead was short lived, however, as three Mustang starters got into foul trouble and the replacements didn't respond. Farmington went on a 16-8 run in the second and took a 24-23 advantage into the locker room.

The teams traded baskets in the third quarter and with about five minutes left in the game, Lutes decided to go with a zone press — and the move worked. The Falcons proceeded to turn the ball over on four straight possessions and Northville converted every one into points. With a four point lead and 90 seconds remaining, the Mustangs stalled away the win in impressive fashion.

"We stalled out the last minute and a half real well," Lutes said. "We held the ball and didn't commit any turnovers."

McDonald hit on 8-of-11 from the field and scored a game-high 18 points. Chris House added 10 points and eight rebounds. For the game, Northville almost doubled Farmington's field goal output by rebounding very well and limiting the team to one shot each possession.

"Farmington had won three games in a row heading in and had been playing their best of the season," Lutes said. "So we beat a team when they were at their peak."

WALLED LAKE WESTERN 65, NORTHVILLE 36: The Mustangs followed up one of the season's best efforts with one of the worst on Feb. 27. In an all too familiar scenario, Northville played very poor immediately following a big victory, giving credence to Lutes' belief that his team doesn't really know how to respond after a win.

"It may have been our worse game — it was certainly the worst second half since I took over," Lutes admitted. "We beat (Western) earlier in the season but we weren't ready to play mentally and that's my fault."

The game, a second round WLAA Playoff clash, was played at Plymouth Salem on Saturday at 10 a.m., and according to Lutes, the strange game day and time threw his team off.

"It's been my experience with these kids that any little change in their role, the game time or the day, affects our performance," Lutes explained. "This game was at 10 in the morning and it seemed to bother the kids. But Walled Lake Western had to play at the same time too."

The Mustangs fell behind by four points after one quarter, nine at halftime and things only got worse in the second half. The Warriors outscored Northville 20-8 in a nightmarish third and completed the rout with a 15-7 scoring advantage in the final stanza.

"It really got out of hand in the second half," Lutes said. "I guess they

Mustang center Chris House (52) applies some defensive pressure in action earlier this season didn't think the game was very important because we can't win the league crown and the difference between four and five wins wasn't very significant to them.

"There wasn't enough intensity and the further we got behind, the less intensity we showed."

House scored 14 points but was the only player to score over six. A total of 13 Mustang players saw action in the game, but only six got into the scoring column. As a team, Northville shot under 20 percent from the field.

"We don't seem to bounce back well after a win," Lutes explained.

"You want to walk off the court with your head held high, knowing you gave a good effort, but I was not satisfied that that was the case Saturday. I don't know why we played so poorly — there is really no excuses."

The Mustangs (4-15 overall, 4-11 in WLAA) will host the local district basketball tournament Northville will take on Plymouth Canton on Monday (March 7) at 7 p.m. with the winner taking on South Lyon on March 9 at 8:30 p.m. Novi and Plymouth Salem will also be competing for the district title.

Spikers fail to qualify at league meet

With only four teams out of 12 advancing into the semifinals of the WLAA Conference Meet on Feb. 27 at Walled Lake Central, there were bound to be eight teams rather disappointed with their showing.

Northville played quite well in the tournament — going 5-3 for the day in pool play — but it wasn't enough to qualify the team into the semifinals. In the Mustangs' pool, Livonia Stevenson (8-0) made it in easily and Northville (6-3) slipped in as well, leaving Northville one game out of the running and feeling disappointed along with the other seven who were done for the day.

"I guess it went about as I thought it would," Mustang Coach Paul Osborn said. "I thought we had a chance to get into the semifinals, and we did. We ended up one game shy, but I thought overall it was a good effort by the girls."

In the first round of pool play, the Mustangs avenged a dual meet loss to Walled Lake Western three days earlier by beating the Warriors in two games, 15-11, 15-5. Unfortunately for Northville, the team was then forced to wait nearly three hours before taking on the favorites from Stevenson in the second round and the lay-over didn't help. Before the Mustangs could get back into the flow of the game, the Spartans cruised to an easy 15-3 win. Stevenson then jumped ahead 14-9 in game two only to see Northville tie the game at 14-14 before succumbing 16-14.

"I think the lay-off really hurt us," Osborn admitted.

With a completely new line-up on the floor, the Mustangs beat Plymouth Salem 15-2 in game one of the next round and then fell apart and lost the second game 15-0.

"Neither team made any changes in personnel between the two games, but they were certainly different outcomes," Osborn said. "(Salem) couldn't do a thing in the first game and we couldn't in the second. It was strange."

Northville wrapped up pool play with a 15-5, 15-7 win over Livonia Franklin to increase its record to 5-3, but it wasn't enough to catch Stevenson and North Farmington.

The squad is now in the middle of a seven day preparation period for the upcoming MHSAA District Tournament at Novi. The Mustangs are slated to take on the winner of the Novi-South Lyon pre-district clash this Saturday (March 5).

Mustangs bounce back after loss to Warriors

The Northville spikers proved one thing last week: they can come back after a disappointing defeat.

The squad headed into the action with a great opportunity to beat the final two regular season opponents before the WLAA Conference Meet and grab a little momentum along the way. The Mustangs (6-8 overall, 5-8 in WLAA) faced Walled Lake Western at home on Feb. 23 and Farmington Harrison on the road Feb. 24 — and had already beaten the two earlier in the season. But things didn't go as planned against Western, and according to Northville Coach Paul Osborn, a lot of it had to do with his team's overconfidence.

The Mustangs looked good early but then quit hustling and the Warriors came back to beat Northville 11-15, 15-8, 15-10. Needless to say, Osborn was very unhappy with the effort.

"I told the kids not to be fooled just because we've already beaten them," he said. "Western is a good team and we can't take anything for granted. They said 'OK, coach, we know, we know,' but they really didn't believe what I was telling them."

"The last two games we were flat-footed. I think the girls just didn't think they had to play very hard. Some great teams can go at it half-speed and still win, but we're not that good."

But to the team's credit, the loss to Western was all but forgotten two days later as Northville crushed Harrison 15-4, 15-10. According to Osborn, it was one of the best efforts of the season.

"They played super," he said. "We served at 97 percent and our serve reception was 83 percent, and that's the highest we've had so far. The girls played exceptionally well — they made very few mistakes."

"I was very happy because we bounced back well after Western. They didn't let the defeat get them down and they seemed to play consistent with the lead. We kept the pressure on (Harrison). The whole time."

Osborn singled out Katie Brugman, Denise Akroush and Debbie Stevens for their fine play.

Local gridder/wrestler signs with Spartans

While George Perles was being courted by the Green Bay Packers, Redford Catholic Central's 6-foot-6, 260-pound offensive tackle Toby Heaton was entertaining offers from four different schools, including Michigan State.

Heaton, a Northville Township resident, was rated one of the state's top blue chip football prospects and ultimately signed with the Spartans in February. Heaton said the talk about Perles leaving MSU was unsettling, but he was convinced East Lansing was the place to go when the Spartan coach announced he was staying, turning down the lucrative NFL job offer.

"He (Perles) came right out and told me that he wouldn't leave and that he was done with pro football," said Heaton. "He said it emphatically."

"Once I heard he was talking to them again, for an instant, I felt it had been all a show. But I couldn't blame him for talking to them (the Packers). After I learned he was staying it made me believe in him all the more."

Heaton was tempted by the University of Colorado's offer. His two brothers live in nearby Denver.

"I liked Colorado a lot," Heaton said. "I liked the coaching staff and its beautiful campus. My brothers thought it would be nice to have me play there, but they said they could accept my decision wherever I'd go."

Heaton also visited Southern California and Indiana.

He returned recently from a trip to Los Angeles, impressed with USC's program, but not the style of living in Tinseltown.

Which brought him back to MSU and Perles.

"Probably a lot of it (going to MSU) was the coaching staff... and I like coach Perles," said Heaton, who is also the state Class A heavyweight wrestling champion. "And being closer to home was a factor, not that it was that important, but it was a bonus."

In addition to being an excellent football player, Heaton is one of the state's top wrestlers. Last weekend in Battle Creek, Heaton was one of only three Michigan wrestlers to win back-to-back state titles. Heaton came back from an early deficit to pin Clio's Scott Brotherton in 5:43 of the MHSAA Class A heavyweight finals for his second heavyweight crown. His first came last season.

Schoolcraft hosts tourneys

Schoolcraft College is the main attraction of the Michigan Community College Athletic Association men's basketball teams this weekend as well as the last, and it won't be the SC's men making the impact, however. The Ocelots finished with just one Eastern Conference win. But Schoolcraft had the distinction of serving as the site for the MCCA Final Four last weekend. Schoolcraft is now hosting the NJCAA's Division I Region XII tournament. The championship game is slated for 7:30 p.m. tonight (March 3).

The winner advances to the NJCAA Division I national tournament March 15-19 in Hutchinson, Kan.

Townsley is pleased with competitiveness

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

During the 1987-88 wrestling season, Northville had its ups and downs but the team remained very competitive against conference opponents.

The Mustangs had to play second fiddle to local powerhouse teams like Novi and Redford Catholic Central, but those teams aren't in the Western Lakes Activities Association (WLAA). When Northville went against conference rivals, it was almost always close, and that is the one aspect that pleases coach Jack Townsley the most.

"We lost to John Glenn by one match and then we did the same against Wallied Lake Western," Townsley said. "Sure, we would have liked to win, but it was nice to be competitive with teams who are thought of as the elite of the league. We were competitive with everybody in our league."

The Mustangs had a modest 6-10-1 overall dual meet record, but were 3-4 against WLAA teams and 3-2 against Western Division schools. By beating three of five division opponents, the team placed third.

"I was pleased with the season," Townsley said. "We have some kids who wanted to improve and they worked hard on their techniques. This team had an excellent attitude."

Individually, two Mustangs stood out above all others on a team that didn't really have any superstars. Junior Andy Frey and junior Mike Hale combined for nearly 50 wins during the season, and Townsley had nothing but praise for both.

"Frey and Hale were our two top wrestlers," he said.

At 126, Frey had a sparkling 24-6 record, but his great season was a little tarnished in the minds of some due to his showing in the MHSAA state tournament. Frey failed to make it out of the districts as an individual, but Townsley came to his defense.

"Andy's weight class was probably the toughest weight division at the districts and he did his best so I don't think it took away from his great season at all," he pointed out. "He's an intense young fellow who's technically very good. He's very smart and he really wants to excel."

"Andy studies film of himself wrestling to try and find out what he's doing wrong or what he's doing right, so he's learned a lot that way. Anytime you win over 20 matches in a season, it's quite an accomplishment."

Hale compiled a 22-11 mark, was the only Mustang individual to qualify for the regionals and came within one win of making it to the state championship meet last weekend in Battle Creek. Unfortunately, Hale happened to be in the same area as other 196-pound stars like Novi's Bret Keir and Catholic Central's Lee Krueger and that didn't help his record or his chances of making it to the state meet.

"Mike had a good season," Townsley said. "He surprised a lot of people. There were a couple wrestlers in our general area at 196 who were very, very good and Mike just couldn't seem to beat them. Most of his losses came against those guys."

In addition to Frey and Hale, Northville had three others who sported winning records on the year: senior Donovan Campbell at 167, senior

Garnet Potter (right) was one of five Mustang wrestlers to register a winning record this season

Mark Hammond

John Frisbie at 138 and sophomore Brad Maliszewski was very successful early in the campaign at 112, but couldn't cut the weight and wasn't nearly as successful or effective when he moved up to 119.

"Most of our kids were small for their weight divisions and so when they went up against some big, physical guys, they didn't have the strength to stay with them," Townsley explained. "A guy like (freshman) Kevin Khashan was competing at 98, but he only weighs about 90 pounds."

A fine nucleus of wrestlers is expected to return next season and that prospect has Townsley very excited about the future. Hale, Frey, Maliszewski, Potter and Derek Forb-ing (Hwt.) are all slated to return, plus some promising youngsters and an outstanding transfer.

"We have some young fellows moving up who we expect to be regulars and contribute next season," Townsley explained. "Freshman like Khashan and (Jason) Vertres will be a year older and a year better."

Perhaps the biggest addition to the team will be Brandon Mardosian, who will be transferring from Livonia Stevenson to Northville next season. Mardosian, who was a regional qualifier this season as a freshman, is one of the top young performers in the WLAA and is projected as a future star.

Northville gymnastics squad scores 123.30 in loss to Salem

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

The Plymouth schools seem to bring out the best in the Northville gymnasts.

In early January, the Mustangs scored what was then a season-high 121 against Plymouth Canton, and then last week Northville set a new school record score of 123.30 in a WLAA dual meet with Plymouth Salem. Unfortunately for coach Michelle Charniga and her squad, neither of the two efforts was enough to beat either school. Maya Northville brings out the best in the Plymouth schools?

The Mustangs stayed within a point of the Rocks in three of the four events — led by junior standout Wendy Beach — but then lost it in a familiar spot: the balance beam. With a 2.2 point advantage in the event, Salem went on to top visiting Northville 128.50-123.30 on Feb. 17, and put to rest the team's four match winning streak.

Nobody likes to lose, but the Mustangs found it a lot easier to handle because they did score more points than any other Charniga-coached team, ever.

"Afterwards, we came away feeling great," Charniga said. "The girls felt that they had done the best they could and the scores showed it. It was our highest score ever, but Salem had their highest of the year at the same time, so we just couldn't catch them."

"We've never had the depth that we have this season and that's the big difference. That's why our scorers are creeping up into the 120's."

The highlight of the meet came at the very end in the floor exercise. Beach, the last competitor in the last event, went out and executed an almost flawless routine and was awarded a score of 9.0 by the judges. It was the first time in Beach's three-year varsity career she's ever scored that high, in any event, and it helped the team leave the meet with a good feeling inside.

"The meet ended with Wendy's great floor exercise routine, so it was a big lift to everybody," Charniga said. "It was just fantastic. Everybody from Salem assumes she's a senior, but I was happy to tell them she's just a junior and will be back next year."

For the effort, Beach took first place honors in the floor exercise, but Northville only managed one other top six finish, and Salem ended up outscoring the Mustangs 33.45-32.35 in the event. Robyn Chatman's 8.0 was good for sixth place while the rest of the Mustang competitors included Lee LaChance (7.9), Tracie Surdue (7.45), Karen Pyle (personal best 7.35), and Katie Kemp (5.1).

Beach also had great scores in vault and the uneven parallel bars, but it still wasn't enough to propel Northville past the Rocks in the first two events of the evening. Beach took first place honors in vault with an 8.6 but Yvonne Beebe (8.15) and LaChance (8.0) could only manage fifth and sixth places respectively. The remaining Northville performers were Chatman (7.5), Becky Carney (7.35) and Mandy Berlinaki (5.8). In bars, Beach was first with an 8.35, Beebe was fourth (7.55) and LaChance fifth (7.35). Kathy Abraham (6.4), Megan Graham (6.3) and Carney (4.9) also competed.

In the balance beam, the Mustangs registered three top six scorers, but they were 4-5-6. LaChance took fourth place overall and top team honors with a 7.8, Beebe followed in fifth with a 7.15 and Beach was sixth (7.1). Karen Pyle finished just out of the running with a 7.0, but it was her highest score ever in the event.

"Beam kind of got us again," Charniga said. "That's where we lost a lot of ground."

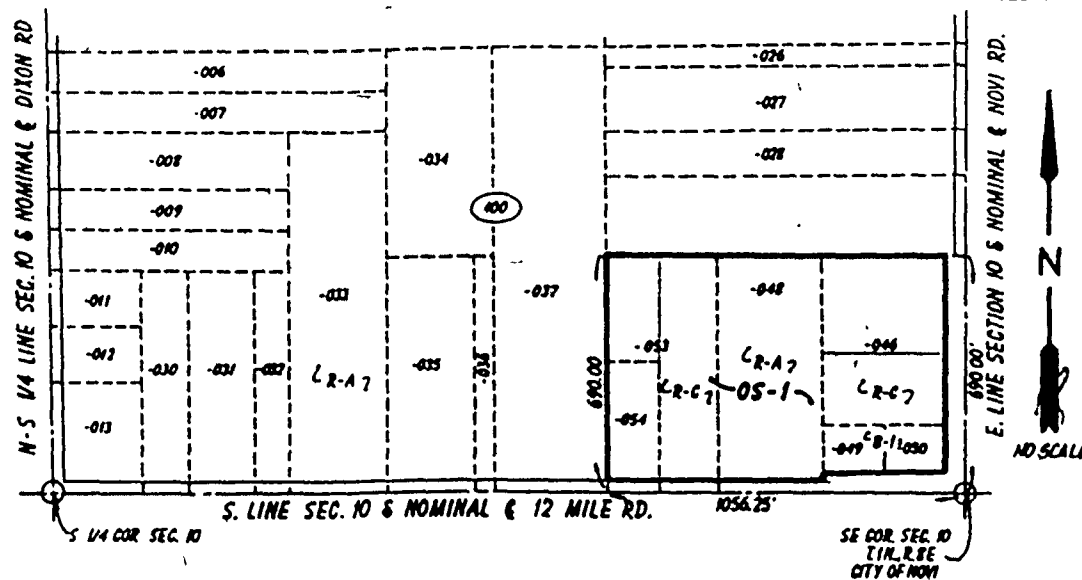

The Salem meet was the final tune-up for the WLAA Conference Meet to be held tonight (March 3) at North Farmington. Charniga would like to think her team has a chance to place first in the Western Division, but that would mean beating Canton.

Charniga is hoping Canton will bring out the best in her squad one more time.

Dentist/runner Dr. Kathryn Hoppe pounds the Northville pavement four or five times a week

Record/Chris Boyd

Dentist runs for the health of it

By JEAN DAY

Patients of Dr. Kathryn A. Hoppe usually suspect their dentist is a runner as they recline in her dental chair and view a poster on the ceiling that asks, "Why do I run?" On the wall in front of the chair is a large pastel painting of the Philadelphia Distance Run, Sept. 19, 1962.

The trim dentist does run — an average of six miles, four or five times a week.

Hoppe says in addition to keeping her in good physical condition running helps her handle stress.

"It keeps me in shape and I feel I do a better job. Northville's wonderful for running with its great hills," she says.

The dentist says her favorite route is from her home in Coves of Northville at Eight Mile and Taft roads through town to Hines Park near her office at 18600 Northville Road and back. She adds that the park is a wonderful place for running.

She admits that at the end of the long run she sometimes feels as if she "just makes it" up the last hill on Taft. After her shower, however, she's ready to see her patients.

As she encourages running to keep fit, Hoppe relates that she only began running regularly three or four years ago.

She remembers running a mile a day when she was 16 growing up on her family's farm in Alpena. Then she ran a little when she was in college.

"When I began running in Northville," she relates, "I ran a mile to a stop sign — then the next time to the tree beyond the sign." She continued to stretch her distance each time, going from one to six mile runs.

In addition to her full-time practice (which includes working two nights a week and Saturday), Hoppe teaches one day a week at the University of Detroit Dental School and serves as a consultant for the Delta Dental Plan.

She runs regularly with the Redford Road Runners on Tuesdays. She mentions that the club has Northville members. Their meeting place is a church on West Chicago at Inkster where they use the locker room facilities and, after running, go to the Pizza Hut around the corner.

She also participates in as many as 17 races a year. She says her goal is to run the 10 K on the Great Wall of China.

She runs in the St. Patrick Day run, an Ann Arbor run and others in Dexter and Alpena.

Hoppe also has participated in the Turkey Trot in conjunction with Detroit's Thanksgiving Day parade. That's fun, she says, "with 4,000 people all around cheering you on."

There's also the Volkshaut in Frankenmuth.

She's presently focusing on the DalMac four-day bicycle ride from Lansing to Mackinaw City at Labor Day.

"Cross training does help your running," she says, mentioning that she bicycles and finds Maybury State Park a "nice place to bike."

She also exercises at Vic Tanny to keep in shape.

"Sometimes I wonder, 'is this crazy' as I run all through the winter in rain and snow," she says, but emphasizes that she feels great afterward and finds, as a plus, it helps her to enjoy the different seasons.

Women over 50 high risks for osteoporosis

EILEEN MURPHY, M.D.

Osteoporosis is a topic of discussion by physicians, the media and many people. It is a condition in which there is an insufficient quantity of bone tissue as well as a possible structural deficit in the bone.

There are two types of osteoporosis — primary and secondary. Primary osteoporosis is the most common form and is associated with aging. Secondary osteoporosis occurs as the result of a disease such as rheumatoid arthritis, lung or kidney disease or prolonged bedrest.

Who should be concerned about osteoporosis? Primarily women over 50. Osteoporosis effects at least one in three post-menopausal women and possibly one in two post-menopausal women. More importantly, with a hip fracture, there is approximately a 15 to 20 percent mortality rate in the first three months after the fracture. This does not include the severe disability that can follow.

So who is at risk for osteoporosis? As we have alluded to, if you are post-menopausal, you are at risk. This occurs at its greatest rate in the first five to 10 years after menopause whether it is natural or surgical. Family history is also important. If your mother or other family members are troubled by this disease, chances are you will be, too. It is more common in white and Asian females, as well as thin and petite females.

Lifestyle can also increase or decrease your risk of osteoporosis. If you are a smoker, alcohol abuser or live a sedentary existence, your risk is greater. Being young does not make you immune to the disease. Women who exercise excessively, such as marathon runners or ballet dancers, are also at risk. Anorexia, bulimia and inadequate dietary intake of calcium can also put you at risk.

Do you need to be screened for osteoporosis? Generally speaking the answer is no. Screening is usually done by single photon densitometry, dual-photon densitometry, and computer tomography. These methods of testing can be expensive. Usually the need for treatment can be made by taking a medical history but testing may be needed in special circumstances.

What can be done to prevent osteoporosis? Several things can be done to decrease your risk of osteoporosis if you are not involved in an exercise program, start. This can be as simple as walking 20 minutes daily, three times a week. The local shopping mall or gymnasium is an ideal location in the winter. Exercise also has a positive effect on the cardiovascular system.

Review your dietary intake of calcium. Your intake should be 1000-1500 milligrams per day if you are post-menopausal. Dairy products are important sources. Low-fat dairy products are preferable since they are lower in cholesterol as well. A cup of low-fat milk has approximately 300 milligrams of calcium. Green vegetables are also a good source.

Finally, if you are post-menopausal, estrogen replacement therapy is the most effective means of slowing bone loss. This should be prescribed by your physician after a careful history and physical. If you are not a candidate for estrogen therapy, your physician may recommend other medications.

Free pamphlets on preventing osteoporosis are available from the Northville M-CARE Health Center.

The Northville Record is working with medical authorities at the University of Michigan Medical Center (M-Care) in Northville to provide up-to-date information on a variety of health-related topics. The series is coordinated by Peg Campbell of the M-Care staff.
