Lillies in bloom

Record/CHRIS BOYD

Just as poinsettias are the symbol of Christmas, the Easter lily belongs to the spring holiday. Florists throughout the area have been coddling and babying their plants so the white flowers open just in time for Easter, and Trish Brennan, manager and floral designer at Sparrs in Northville is no exception. Brennan is obviously pleased with her efforts as she is surrounded by lilies in bloom.

Willis is named as editor of Record

ANNE E. WILLIS

Ann E. Willis has been named editor of The Northville Record and the Novi News and will be responsible for the day-to-day operation of The Record. The appointment was announced by Philip Jerome, managing editor of the two newspapers.

Willis succeeds Jean Day, whose retirement became effective today. Day, who had been with the papers for almost 25 years, had served as editor of The Record and News for the past eight years.

Willis said she was "delighted" to be named editor of the papers.

"I'm looking forward to continuing the strong tradition of quality community journalism and to working with the excellent staff at The Northville Record and Novi News," she said.

The new editor has been affiliated with Sliger/Livingston Publications, which owns both The Record and the News, since November 1986. She has been covering the City of Novi and

Egg hunt is Saturday

Annual Easter Egg Hunt sponsored by the Northville Jaycees is scheduled for 10 a.m. this Saturday at the hill at Cass-Benton Parkway.

At least, that's the plan if the weather is decent. If it's cold and wet outside, the hunt will be held at the Northville Community Recreation building on Main Street.

Easter egg hunters will break up into several different age groups.

Anyone from toddler age up through age 12 is welcome to participate.

The hunters will be looking for magic golden eggs which will earn them grand prizes. Other, numbered eggs will be good for smaller prizes.

The Easter Bunny is expected to be present for the fun. Pictures with the Easter Bunny are available for $2. There is no charge to participate in the hunt.

Local Democrats go for Dukakis

By ANITA CRONE

They came. They saw. They voted — nearly 5-1 in favor of Mike Dukakis — at the Democratic caucus that included the Northville contingent of the Second Congressional District.

While Jesse Jackson coasted to a victory in Michigan, Northville Democrats, or those persons who voted in the caucus, put Jackson in second place behind the Massachusetts governor. Dukakis collected 105 votes and Jackson had 27.

Other presidential candidates receiving votes were Richard Gephardt, 23; Paul Simon, 9; Albert Gore Jr., 7; Mario Cuomo, 1; and Lee Iacocca, 1.

"I was very surprised with the vote," said Alan Helmkamp, the chairperson of the caucus, held Saturday at Schoolcraft College. "Jackson came in second here, albeit a distant second. But after seeing the vote statewide, and watching the vote here, I am convinced that there were some Republicans who voted and that skewed the results."

Helmkamp said that 173 persons voted at the caucus.

"We had some people who voted whom I'm sure were just there to have some fun and games," Helmkamp said, noting that one couple "made quite a show of voting for Jackson right in front of us."

"There was another man who said he hadn't voted in 27 years, but had promised his girlfriend that he would vote for Jackson. She was in the hallway, and after he marked his ballot, he called her in to show her," Helmkamp related.

He said he attributed Dukakis's showing to a large contingent of voters with Greek surnames.

"I think that we may need to change the way the caucuses are

High school lauds top graduating seniors

By ANITA CRONE

Northville is sending the best of its 1988 graduating class directly to the University of Michigan.

Courtney Bond, Steven Guldborg, Jason Hill and Mitchell Moore, this year's valedictorians, all earned a perfect 4.0 grade point average during their four years at Northville High School and all plan to attend U-M in Ann Arbor.

Erin Dunkerley and Kara Goelinski are this year's salutatorians. They had a 3.6 grade point average at Northville.

At U-M, Bond and Guldborg plan to enter the school of engineering, Hill will be in the college of literature, science and the arts with aims of being accepted for the inflex program (students complete the first year of medical school after their junior year) and Moore intends to major in physics.

Getting all A's on semester report cards was nothing new to the four valedictorians, who ironically recall the last B they received was in the eighth grade, even if they can't all remember the class.

"I got a B in gym in the eighth grade," Bond recalled. "It was in baseball."

"My last B was in the eighth grade and I really wasn't happy," recalled Guldborg. "The first semester in advanced math I got a 93 and that was a B-plus by one point. Then, the next time, I got a 94, and that was a B-plus, too."

Guldborg has some pretty big shoes to fill. His older brother, Bob, was a valedictorian at Northville High School in 1986 and will graduate from U-M this April.

Hill said that even though he worked for his grades, he still had lots of time left over for fun, which included swimming for the Mustang varsity squad, a part-time job at the Marquis Theatre, working on the crew for "Peter Pan," and as a lifeguard and swim instructor.

And while he enjoyed most of his high school classes, he said he would have liked to have taken some vocational courses.

"I really would have liked to take an automotive class. I just bought my first car and got my first $800 repair bill. If I had had a chance to take an automotive class, I could have probably fixed it a lot cheaper."

Scholar, hopes to join the U-M Marching Band, even though he realizes it may be difficult with his academic work.

A trumpet player, who performed with the orchestra during "Fiddler on the Roof," Moore also taught himself to play the flute and now takes private lessons on both instruments.

In between times, he also worked as a volunteer graduate assistant with Dale Carnegie.

Not one of the four honor graduates is overwhelmed by being named valedictorian, nor did any of them work toward the recognition as a goal.

"What it means is that I got better grades than anyone else," said Bond. "But I always got good grades. No one pushed me and no one ignored me because of the grades."

My parents never pushed me. They told me it was my job to go to school and I really wanted to do well at my job," she said.

Although Bond's father, Richard Bond, is a mechanical engineer with

NEWS BRIEFS

REC BROCHURE CORRECTED — The Northville Community Recreation brochure mailed out recently contains an incorrect class time.

The class in continuing meditation (some knowledge or experience helpful) is offered at 8-9:15 p.m. on Tuesdays. The time in the brochure is incorrect. However, the time for beginning meditation — 10:30-11:30 a.m. on Mondays — is correct.

The continuing meditation class starts April 12 at the Northville Community Recreation building, and runs for eight weeks.

HORSES AT MAYBURY — After three years of being closed, the horse stable at Maybury State Park is reopening at 9 a.m. April 5.

The park has 12 miles of marked trails. Hours of operation will be 9 a.m. to dusk Tuesday through Sunday. The stable will be closed Mondays.

For more information call Ron Gordon at 347-1088.

BLOODMOBILE HERE — Blood donations will be accepted at a Red Cross Bloodmobile from noon to 6 p.m. this Friday at Fairlane West Assembly of God, 41355 W. Six Mile in Northville Township.

For an appointment call Otis Buchan, 561-3300.

PARTY UNITY? — Gov. James Blanchard didn't let a little thing like party membership stand in the way of urging participation in last Saturday's Democratic caucuses.

State Sen. R. Robert Geake, who definitely is a Republican, received an expedited message from the governor, urging Geake to vote in the caucuses and to "take a friend or two with you to your caucus."

Said Geake, "I'm afraid they know me over at the Democratic party in Livonia, so I won't be able to use the governor's kind invitation. Anyway, I doubt if they'll have George Bush on the ballots."

SCRIPTED FOR SUCCESS — Edith Dunbar, a writer living in Northville, will have her radio script, "The Number Lady," presented by the Detroit Radio Collective over the airwaves of WDET in August.

Dunbar's script was chosen from a number of radio scripts presented during a contest sponsored by the station.

Rehearsal for "The Number Lady" is scheduled for April 9 and the play will be taped on April 10.

CITY AUDITORS REAPPOINTED — The Northville City Council last week hired Plante & Moran as the city auditors for another year. The city is required to hire an auditing firm each year before the end of the fiscal year June 30.

handled to eliminate people who are Republican voting in the Democratic caucuses. Maybe if we held our caucuses at the same time, we'd get a truer indication of what Democrats think."

At the Novi Civic Center, where City of Northville voters in the 18th Congressional District cast their ballots, Dukakis took 53 percent of the votes to lead the field. Jackson and Gebhardt each received 80 votes and Simon was the choice on 25 ballots.

Gore got 8 votes; former Arizona Gov. Bruce Babbitt, who dropped out of the race for the nomination early, got one vote; and Iacocca was named on two ballots.

"We had fewer voters this year than we did the last time," noted Duane LaMoreaux, caucus chairperson in Novi. "The last time, there was more publicity in the local papers than there was this year."

Bill Brinker, who sat at the registration table, noted that there had been a steady stream of voters, all of them Democrats.

Winners named

March winner of the $300 monthly drawing in the Northville Rotary Club 1987-88 Community Calendar Lottery benefit, drawn at the club's March 29 meeting, is Cheryl L. Moehman of Northville.

Winners of $25 each for the week of March 15 in the benefit are Ercl Stern, Ruth Angell, Stan Petres and Suzi Henrikson, all of Northville. Others are J.E. Utley of Redford, Mary Lou Ives of Birmingham and Violet Hunger of Richmond.

Northville Township trustees will meet in special session tonight to select a building and zoning administrator for the township.

Two finalists, a male and a female, have been selected from a list of 18 candidates. A committee comprised of Treasurer Richard Henningsen, trustees Thomas Handyside and Richard Allen, and township manager Steve Brock winnowed the list to six and, from there, to the two finalists.

The meeting begins at 7:30 p.m.

Phase two of Mainstreet '78 takes shape with DDA

By BOB NEEDHAM

With a draft plan in front of them, members of the Downtown Development Authority in the City of Northville are preparing to implement the second phase of the downtown redevelopment project.

In recent meetings the DDA members have begun discussion of the plan for capping off the redevelopment of downtown Northville, instituted 10 years ago as "Mainstreet '78." Work toward some of the items in the plan is already going on.

The draft of Mainstreet '78, phase two, was prepared by the city administration. The plan includes three specific goals:

- To maximize the use of existing land in the downtown district.
- To improve traffic circulation downtown.
- To increase parking facilities downtown.

"It is necessary for the city to take an active role in meeting these needs in the downtown, because the key elements of traffic improvements and parking space development cannot be accomplished by private developers alone," the plan reads.

"In addition, the maximizing of land use within the downtown development district will most likely involve converting some private land into public uses, and releasing some publicly owned land for private development."

The goal of improving traffic is directly tied in the phase two draft to the city traffic study released in February. Among the study's recommendations for the downtown area are improvements to the Hutton/Dunlap intersection and various measures to encourage through traffic to avoid downtown.

City officials have not yet begun in-depth public discussion of the study.

For maximizing land use downtown, the plan breaks the area down into sections, and lists specific changes to work for in five of those sections:

- In the block bounded by Main, Center, Dunlap and Wing (the block with the Schrader's building and the Starting Gate Saloon) — development of all the Main Street frontage, redevelopment of the Open Door Christian Church property, and improvement of the building facades facing the parking lot in that block.

The Northville City Council recently took a step toward conducting a study on how the church land could be used; specifically, if it could be used as a library. The council applied to Wayne County to use some of its available Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) money to conduct such a study.

- In the block bounded by Main, Center, Dunlap and Hutton (the block of the Marquis Theatre) — improve the building facades in the parking lot and develop a direct pedestrian access from the parking lot in that block to Main Street.
- In the area bounded by Hutton, Cady and Griswold (including both sides of Main Street east of Hutton) — redevelop residential properties to commercial uses and extend the Mainstreet '78 work east to Griswold to strengthen that block of Main as part of the downtown district.
- In the area bounded by Main,

Center, Cady and Hutton (including the block of Genitti's and the parking deck) — improve rear building facades and develop more commercial buildings on the south side of Mary Alexander Court, in conjunction with any redevelopment of the parking deck.

- In the area south of Main between Wing and Center (including the Michigan Association of Gift Salesmen Northville Square building, the parking lot south of the building and the abandoned bowling alley on Center) — develop the bowling alley site and develop retail space on the Main Street front of Northville Square.
- In addition, develop a general plan coordinating public and private land uses and parking between Northville Downs and the south side of the downtown area. The city council applied for CDBG money to conduct a study which would address these questions along with considering the future of the Downs site should the track ever close.

Phase one built up downtown

While city officials begin work on the second phase of Mainstreet '78, a review of phase one shows all of the public work completed, but some of the private-sector plans remain unfinished.

The Mainstreet '78 program was funded through a $1.6 million bond issue, which in turn is being partly paid off through tax increment financing — a mechanism which allows taxes from rising property values to be captured.

The public improvements in phase one included much of the downtown beautification work and construction of the bandshell in Town Square

Park. According to a review of phase one included in the draft plan of phase two, the private-sector aspects of phase one included:

- A pedestrian and shopping arcade connecting the lot behind the Marquis Theatre with Main Street. A scaled-down version of this goal has become part of the phase two plan.
- Renovation of the Marquis, which has been done.
- Remodeling of various store fronts, which is being done.
- Renovation of rear building facades and rear entrances. This has been shifted into a goal in phase two.
- Redevelopment of key private sites. A few, — including Miller's Dodge and the Arbor Drugs parking lot — have been finished or started, but two — the bowling alley site on Center and the northeast corner of Center and Cady (near the parking deck) — are not yet started.

The report, prepared by the city administration, concludes that the first phase "has had a positive economic impact on the downtown development district," shown by several factors:

- A rising tax base replacing the declining tax base before 1978.
- More activity for existing businesses and more interest in the city from new businesses.
- Willingness of investors to build or remodel downtown.
- More shopper traffic, traffic congestion and parking demand.
- Increased recognition of the city and its downtown by the general public and the media.

Police find stolen car running at site of another theft

A 1987 Trans Am was stolen from the Northville Park complex last week and later recovered, and the thief may have left another stolen car behind.

The Trans Am was reported to be stolen the night of Monday, March 21, or the next morning. The car was recovered in Detroit that Tuesday, found with damage to the door lock, steering column lock and rear window hatch. The car's tires and wheels were missing.

When arriving at Northville Park to respond to the stolen car report, Northville police found another stolen car nearby. The ignition was punched and the rear vent window was broken, and the car was left running. A check of the records showed the car was stolen from Detroit.

STOLEN AUTO FOUND — A 1985 GMC minivan, reported stolen from Westland, was recovered by Northville Township police officers March 26.

Officers found the van parked on Gerald Avenue, south of a storage property. When officer William Helke ran a check on the vehicle's license plate and identification number, he discovered it stolen.

The van, worth $8,000, was taken to Phil's 76 and the Westland Police Department notified.

FURNACE STOLEN — A gas furnace worth $425 was stolen from a Maple Hill construction site.

Leo Gamcasz, employed by Stuart Homes, told Northville Township police that the furnace was stolen from the basement of the home.

A kitchen lamp, which had been hanging from the ceiling, was removed and Gamcasz told officers that in removing the lamp, the perpetrators cracked the kitchen ceiling, doing about $300 damage. The incident occurred March 24.

BREAK-IN TRIED — The screen and doorwall to a Hayes Court condominium was damaged March 23, apparently in a break-in attempt.

The owner of the condominium told township officers that she discovered the screen door cut and the plastic doorwall pried and damaged.

The complainant said the incident occurred between 3 p.m. and 5:45 p.m. Police have no suspects.

LARCENY FROM PATIO — Two cameras were reported stolen from behind a Northville home last week, a city police report said.

Some luggage and boxes were removed from the basement of a home on Rayson after a kerosene spill in the basement, the report said. The owners had not realized it, but two cameras — a $1,300 video camera and a $100 still camera — were left on the patio and were stolen, the report said.

SHOPLIFTING ARRESTS — Two Plymouth men have been charged with larceny after the theft of two 12 packs of beer from Arbor Drugs last week.

A witness saw a man leave the store with two 12 packs of Michelob in a cart without paying for them, according to a city police report, and drive off with another man in a car. The witness reported the theft to the store manager.

A city police officer saw a car matching the description drive south on Center and pursued the car down to Five Mile Road, where it pulled over.

Another witness told Northville Township police that the people in the car threw two 12 packs out of the car. The two men were issued an appearance ticket for 8:45 a.m. April 20 in 35th District Court on a larceny charge.

STEREO STOLEN — A car stereo was stolen from a car parked at the Tree Top apartments last week, according to a city police report.

During the early morning of March 25, an AM/FM cassette player was stolen from a Ford Escort. The lock and dashboard were damaged.

Northville schools approve contract to inspect for asbestos

The Northville Board of Education Monday unanimously approved awarding a contract that includes providing the district with asbestos inspection, preparing a management plan and testing for asbestos to P.T.M. Consulting Inc.

The basic contract is for $34,800 and there is an additional $24 cost for each sample tested, which the district will be paying.

"I don't know for sure how many samples will have to be tested," said Dennis Carpenter of the Michigan School Business Officials, who was present at the bid opening and reviewed the five bids received by the district. "It could be that in one school, there would be seven samples required and in another instance, there may be seven samples required from just one room. We just don't know."

Although P.T.M.'s bid was slightly higher than a bid submitted by Clayton Environmental, Burton Knighton, assistant superintendent for administrative services, noted that it did not include the required option and that the Clayton bid included a "vague reference to expenses and we couldn't seem to get a handle on what those were." Clayton's bid was for $32,590 for the inspection and management plan and extra for expenses. It also would charge the district $24 per sample.

In recommending P.T.M., Knighton told the board that Paul Milhizer, president of P.T.M. Consulting, had performed field work on most of the district's prior inspection and abatement projects.

"He is very familiar with our district and possesses in-depth knowledge of the asbestos situation in our schools," Knighton said.

School districts throughout the United States are required by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency to comply with the Asbestos Hazard Emergency Response Act by October 1988.

"I don't know how many school districts will be in compliance with the act," Carpenter said, noting that in Texas there are only two training facilities for the entire state.

"In Northville, you are well on your way. But there are other school districts which haven't even identified where the asbestos is, let alone made a move toward removing it."

PTA/PTSA news

Schools set plans for Founders' Day celebrations

PTA/PTSA news is compiled by Carol Rahimi for the PTA Coordinating Council and runs the last Thursday of each month during the school year.

AMERMAN

Spring is here, at least according to the calendar, and along with it, the Amerman PTA flower sale. Flats and half flats of summer annuals, along with hanging baskets, will be for sale. Order forms will be going home with the students after spring break. Extra order forms for anyone else interested in purchasing flowers will be available in the school office. The ordering deadline is April 26, and the flowers will be ready for pick-up from 3:30-6:30 p.m. May 13, in the gym.

Susie Rempel's Junior Enrichment Series committee presented "Birds of Prey" on March 29. The program featured living specimens from the wildlife rehabilitation center operated by Wildlife Images in Grants Pass, Ore. Also, JES has rescheduled Maria Melrelles, pianist, from "Young Audiences of Michigan," for April 22.

The Media Center added 103 new books to the collection this year. Many of the books are Newberry and Caldecott Award and Honor books. A tremendous thank you to all who participated in the successful Great American Book Fair. A special thank you to Demetra Derro and Sharon Bondy for organizing the volunteers' schedule.

The fifth-grade students enjoyed an exciting field trip to the Detroit Institute of Arts this month. They had a peek at many parts of the museum, and spent a portion of the time examining the medieval suit of armor.

The 8th Annual Founders' Day Banquet will be held on April 20 at Northville High School. Parents and members of the community are invited to join in an evening of recognition for those who have made special contributions to the school district. Amerman honorees are Linda Baca and Sue Smith.

Mark your calendars for an evening PTA meeting on April 13 at 7 p.m. in the Media Center. Election of 1988-89 officers will take place.

Easter vacation begins after school today, and classes will resume on Monday, April 11.

SILVER SPRINGS

Our fund-raiser for this year has come to a close and we would like to thank the chairperson, Val Troschinetz, and her assistant, Barb Woodrich, for a very successful effort. Students in Janet Rigney's fifth grade collected the most money in sales and Chris Modrack's kindergarten had the highest participation percentage. These two classes won pizza lunches for their efforts.

The PTA has purchased a scrapbook for the student council to keep a record of the 1987-88 school year at Silver Springs. Student council members will collect pictures, newspaper articles, etc. to include. We hope this will become a yearly tradition. The student council is now collecting coins to support their efforts to adopt a red kangaroo at the Belle Isle Zoo.

Our science fair this year was held in conjunction with March conferences. Everyone who viewed the projects was impressed with the talent and creativity the students showed in their work.

The results are in, and the gold team was the winner in the Campbell label contest. Students on this team

WINCHESTER

The Winchester Publishing Center has just completed publishing 310 books for our school. All grade levels submitted their own books to be printed and bound into book form. A big thanks to the co-chairpersons Sandy Williams, Cheryl Green and

Ann Smith. Also thanks to all the moms who were so willing to help with this program.

March was reading month at Winchester. Students from Meads Mill Middle School came each Monday to read to the lower level students.

"Drop Everything and Read" — a daily 15-minute period to stop and read for enjoyment, was an all school program during reading month. Our librarian, Celeste Matestic, worked with students who are presenting a Mask Fashion Show about book characters at three separate shows.

Talent Show 88 was held March 22. Sixty 3-minute acts, 30 from the upper grade level and 30 from the lower grade level, were presented. These acts included, violin, piano, clarinet, trumpet, and flute players, also singers, dancers, magic acts, card tricks, skits and short plays.

We are proud to announce the following Winchester boys successfully auditioned and were accepted to sing in the Ann Arbor Boys Choir. They will be singing with the University of Michigan Symphony and the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra this year. They are Dan Schwartz, Dan Lyczak, Nik Mendrygal, Jamie Tawee, Brad Borgia, Matthew Seluk, Mike Bush, Paul Gaddis, Brad Smith, Ryan Winn, Garrett Carter and Ty Fowler.

Two Winchester students, Amy Beth and Sara Frankel, performed in the N.H.S. musical, "Fiddler on the Roof. The girls sang and danced.

The JES program for April will be "Nanabush", presented by the Michigan Opera Theater, April 15 at 10:00 a.m. This program depicts the life and legends of the American Indians.

The Winchester PTA—Junior Enrichment Series received support from the Michigan Council for the Arts, Touring Arts Agency, for this program.

The March 11 assembly program featuring Michael Deren's lumberjack presentation of "The Past in Person" was supported by the Michigan Council for the Humanities. Thanks to Margo Smith, chairperson for JES for obtaining funding for such great programs for our children's education and entertainment. Remember, parents are always welcome to any of our programs.

The Rainbow Awards will be given until spring break. We have so many awards winners we can't publish everyone's name, but we are so proud of all of you for your good citizenship.

Our thanks go to the committee of Lorraine Andary, Lori Keeler and Linda Temple for an outstanding job on the Rainbow bulletin board.

PTA will sponsor another "Winchester Roller Skating Night," held at the Skatin' Station in Plymouth on April 21, 6:30—8:30 p.m. for Winchester students and their families. Admission for students is paid by PTA.

Next PTA meeting to be held at 9:30 a.m. April 13. All are welcome to attend.

MEADS MILL

Reading month, during March, found the Meads Mill "living room in the lobby" perpetually occupied with one staff member and two students. The participants spent the month reading in shifts. This reading marathon was part of a schoolwide observance which included activities from each grade's teams. Teams 7B, 8A, and 8B had sustained silent reading during part of each day. Team 7A took a bus to Winchester to read to elementary students each week, and the sixth grade teams made bookmarks and put up a bookworm on their classroom wall to reflect the number of books they read.

Two science fair winners were inadvertently omitted from the list published in The Northville Record. They are Mike Moore, in the electrical engineering area, and Tom Diehl for a general engineering project.

Congratulations to Meads Mill math teacher Jan Janigan. He has been chosen as a middle school teacher of the year by the Wayne County Intermediate School District in a contest sponsored by WDIV and Post/Newsweek. He will be honored with a prize and attend a banquet.

Gary Gandolfi, band director reports that he was very happy with the seventh and eighth grade bands at the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Festival on March 19. The band received an overall 3 rating. There were no one ratings given out this year.

NORTHVILLE HIGH SCHOOL

By JIM THOMPSON

Northville High School bubbled with activity last month and looks toward an equally busy April.

Perhaps most exciting, the Concert Choir received the highest possible ranking, a one, at the District Choir Festival March 10 in Dearborn and will move on to State Choir Festival in Jackson May 6.

"This group is the best I've had in a while. They are singing the best and toughest music well," praised choir director Mary K. Pryce.

Northville Singers also will compete on state level April 16 in Flint at State Solo and Ensemble.

Pryce teamed up with band director Mike Rumbell and director Nick Beasanski, director of "Dairy of Anne Frank," to put together "Fiddler on the Roof." The play ran from March 24-27.

Much credit for the musical's success must go to senior Mickey Moore and his set crew for a detailed and realistic set, to the props crew, led by seniors Emily Danes and Kirk Windisch, to make-up people, the costume and to the choreographer.

April also sees the Mustang staff hard at work on its next issue after a successful St. Patrick's Day issue, which sold over 400 school newspapers.

"The quality this year has gone way up," stated NHS principal David Bolitho.

The school will distribute report cards on April 26.

Runaways keep Youth Assistance staff busy

This is another in a continuing series of columns written for The Record by Mary Ellen King, director of the Northville Youth Assistance program.

Northville Youth Assistance began accepting referrals of youths April 1, 1987. Since that date 56 youngsters have come through our doors. Of those referred, a significant number were referred because they have run away from their homes in Northville.

Nationally, an estimated 1.4 million American youths run away from home each year. A recurring theme that is expressed by runaways is their inability to communicate with their parents and their feelings of anger over what they perceive to be gross injustices in their home.

The National Network of Runaway and Youth Services identifies 10 warning signs that indicate a youth may seriously be considering running away.

- Growing Isolation: The young person is spending more and more time alone and is communicating less with the family.
- Excessive Blow-ups: Even the smallest things seem to repeatedly trigger anger and an explosion of temper.
- Abrupt Mood Swings: Mood swings are occurring too frequently and too abruptly.
- Increased Violation: Rules are violated frequently in a rebellious way.
- Increased Sleeping: Sleeping in excess indicating depression or problems the teen cannot easily manage.
- Diminished Communications: The teen is unable to talk to the parents

• School Troubles: Falling grades, truancy, and disciplinary problems

• Parental Stack-blowing: Parents who blow their stack over the smallest issues and have little patience with their children may cause a young person to leave the family.

• Family Crisis: Death, divorce, illness, unemployment or a major move affecting the young person's security.

• Unexplained Money or Possessions: These indicate a change in lifestyle and may suggest that the teen is getting ready to leave.

By understanding that these signals are a warning of distress, parents can seek assistance before a runaway occurs. The most important things to be done to prevent a young person from running away from home include strengthening the marriage of parents and improving the relationship between the parents and their teenager. The most important ingredient in a good relationship is showing affection. Sometimes doing things for the children isn't enough. Hugging, kissing and saying, "I love you" are also needed. Another important part of forming a sound relationship is to spend large blocks of time with youngsters. But just spending time with a young person will not bring about more talking and open communication. The parent must learn how to listen to the child's feelings and attitude without criticism, condemnation or lecturing.

If your child has run away or you feel that the possibility exists, call Northville Youth Assistance for help at 344-1618.

High school preschool is accepting students

A morning preschool for 3- and 4-year-olds runs May 10-May 26 at Northville High School.

Teacher Carla Tibble said the preschool provides high school students with firsthand knowledge while they are taking their parenting class.

A variety of activities dealing with self and social awareness has been planned for the youngsters and a mid-morning snack is provided each day.

An orientation program for parents and children will be held at 10 a.m. May 6. Parents and children can view the preschool and visit with the high school students who will be working with the youngsters.

Enrollment forms for the youngsters may be picked up at the Northville High School office. Forms must be returned to the school by April 14.

For more information, contact Tibble at 344-8420, ext. 46 during school hours, or at 349-4896. There is no charge for the preschool.

Ford Motor Co., Bond said his chosen profession had little to do with her decision to enter the engineering school.

Guldberg spends some of his spare time singing in the Male Chorus at the high school, as well as tutoring twice a week.

He said he enjoyed his career at NHS, but one of the highlights was the Beginning Alcohol and Addictions Basic Education Studies program, also known as BAABES.

"We go over to the elementary schools and talk to them about substance abuse. It's a really fine program," he said.

Hill said the swim team provided him with extra family. "We all pulled together, especially when we had four different coaches in four years. It was like having a whole lot of brothers," he said.

But it was Hill's parents whom he said had the most influence on him.

"My parents didn't have a whole lot of rules for me. They didn't treat me like a baby — they trusted me with the responsibility to make my own decisions."

While the valedictorians say they aren't sure what the future holds, they do hope that they can have an impact on it.

"I hope that we can erase the prejudices between nations, religions and ethnic groups and work toward world peace," said Hill.

Guldberg said he perceives the Class of 1988 as more technically literate.

"We're smarter and have a lot more technical knowledge that we need to use. One of my dreams is to make an invention that would benefit mankind," he said.

Moore hopes that whatever goals he sets for himself are realized. "I learned at my Dale Carnegie course that everyone has to have a goal and to work toward that. That's what it means to be successful."

And for Bond, the aim is for world peace and to discover cures for diseases such as cancer and AIDS.

Bond, Guldberg, Hill and Moore will take the first steps in Ann Arbor

Oakland residents to vote on road fee

The $19 million proposal will be on the Aug 2 ballot, but it's an open question whether the 27 Oakland County commissioners will campaign for it.

The county board voted 20-4 last week to place before voters a proposal to levy a $25-per-vehicle registration fee for 10 years. About three-fifths of the revenue would go to the Oakland County Road Commission and the rest to municipalities.

"We all simply hide and say 'let the people decide.' We're supposed to be leaders," said commissioner Dennis Aaron, D-Oak Park, one of the dissenters

"A pig in a poke," added commissioner Larry Pernick, D-Southfield, another no vote, although he had supported the plan in committee.

Also voting no were Democrats Ruel McPherson of Hazel Park and Hubert Price of Pontiac.

Yes votes were cast by 17 Republicans and three Democrats.

The idea of Oakland using the only local-option road money law on the books had widespread support until last week.

Democrats voiced three objections:

• The Aug 2 date, an amendment passed 16-8 by Republicans Democrats asked for the Nov 8 presidential election to allow more planning time and assure a larger turnout.

But Republican Larry Crake of Waterford replied, "Most (support) committees will be companies and business people. Business people can move a heckuva lot faster than we in government."

Board chairman Roy Rewold, R-Rochester Hills, said, "If we wait until November, there will be too many other issues on the ballot."

• The board's own failure to endorse the plan Pernick offered an amendment saying commissioners endorsed a "yes" vote by the public, but it was ruled out of order by Rewold, who was upheld by a 17-7 party line vote.

Republicans said the three-man Road Commission should be allowed to finish its town-by-town process of outlining which projects should be undertaken Transportation committee chairman Jack McDonald, R-Farmington, said he might even vote

Annual audit of city shows sound finances

Carving the Money Pie

The financial position of the City of Northville is fairly strong, but a slight cash flow problem might crop up in the near future, according to the city auditors.

In a presentation to the city council Monday, March 21, Kenneth Kunkel of Plante and Moran reviewed the audit report of the city's finances for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1987. "Overall we were quite pleased with what we found in the city this year," Kunkel said.

"Your finances are pretty tight overall. I think you have a handle on it," he said.

Kunkel said the city is a little low on that, and might not see any relief from that situation for awhile. But in a way, that's a good situation, he added, since the cash is going into things like the downtown, special assessment districts, public works equipment and street paving.

"What all that is, is infrastructure. Most southeast Michigan communities are not investing in infrastructure," Kunkel said. "When you look at some of these tough decisions you have to make, at least you're getting something done."

'When you look at some of these tough decisions you have to make, at least you're getting something done.'

— Kenneth Kunkel
Plante and Moran

Kunkel recommended one change in the city's accounting procedures: Quicker reconciliation of cash and cash equivalent balances from the bank to the general ledgers for individual funds. This was not done, Kunkel said at the meeting, and the problem has been noted before.

The audit report shows that, including money collected for the school district and other entities, the city handled about $17 million during the year.

In the city's general fund — which pays things like administrative salaries, police and fire salaries, and maintenance of public property, the city took in $2.64 million and about $2.76 million (see graphic).

The difference made up of money left in the fund at the end of the previous fiscal year. The city had budgeted $2.67 million in revenues and $2.76 million in expenses.

Other funds the city uses in its accounting include special revenue funds; debt service funds, to oversee payment of bond issues; special assessment funds; and a street paving fund.

The audit report also includes the statements of the Northville Community Recreation Commission; the Northville Public Library, the City's Downtown Development Authority; and its Building Authority.

The recreation commission's revenues for the year ended Dec. 31, 1986 totaled $382,925, most of which came from contributions and registration fees. Total expenditures for the year were $345,412.

Deficit drops planned

The auditors' financial reports for the City of Northville show deficit balances in four city funds, requiring the city to submit to the state a formal plan to correct the problem.

But City Manager Steve Walters told the council last week there isn't a problem at all, and the deficits are just oddities created by the state's bookkeeping requirements.

A memo from the state Department of the Treasury dated March 14 points out deficit balances in four city funds, in financial statements prepared by Plante and Moran for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1987.

According to the letter, the city is short $238,314 in the Allen Terrace Operating Fund; $213,009 in the Downtown Development Authority Fund; $176,552 in the West Eight Mile Sewer Improvement Fund; and $156,723 in the Public Improvements Fund.

The memo states that a preliminary plan to eliminate the deficits must be submitted for state approval within 30 days.

At the city council meeting Monday, March 21, Walters told the council members that calling these "deficits" is somewhat misleading.

Our Opinions

Downtown traffic needs must be part of phase 2

It's exciting to hear a talk lately about the second phase of Mainstreet '78, the downtown redevelopment project that has so far been very successful in helping our community become what it is.

The city administration and the members of the Downtown Development Authority (DDA) are busy working out a plan of what will happen in the second phase. There are three basic objectives: continuing to develop land within the existing downtown district; finding more parking spaces; and improving the traffic flow downtown.

These are excellent goals. In a draft plan of phase two, the first two of the goals are spelled out in some detail, and the specifics are also excellent. Thought and planning have gone into them.

The third goal, however — improving traffic flow — is not as fully developed as the others. The draft plan simply states that the goal of improving traffic flow will be tied to consideration of the city traffic study released last month.

We realize it may be a little early to comment on this, but it seems as though the consideration of the traffic study will not really be enough to improve traffic flow downtown.

Most of the study's recommendations deal directly with problems outside the downtown district. Some of the ideas contained in the study are designed to improve indirectly downtown traffic by encouraging alternate routes around downtown.

But we aren't convinced that will be enough. The recommendations, even if adopted, are not going to do enough to encourage people to break old habits, and they may cause some extra confusion around the edges of downtown — for example, when people get to Randolph at Center, find it closed, and look for another way to go.

The traffic study certainly is a useful document and will be a good starting point for discussion. But if city officials really want to improve traffic flow downtown — and they should — they are going to have to look beyond that study for guidance.

School board merits full candidate slate

It is two weeks before the filing deadline for school board candidates and, as yet, no one has pulled a petition.

At first, this would not be disturbing news, not when candidates, like most of us, put off taking action until the last possible moment.

But, with the increasing number elections held in Michigan and across the nation where no candidate files, the trend is disturbing to say the least. Thus far, the closest Northville has come to joining the trend occurred during the municipal election in November when three candidates filed for three vacancies on the city council.

What makes the lack of candidates for the board of education so disturbing is that, with the exception of Carol Rahimi, no one has even mentioned the possibility of running for the board. And, unless the school board meets at a particular school, no one attends the meetings.

Pundits have said that there are two thankless political jobs: mayor of a small city and a member of the board of education. We tend to agree. Mayors and board members make decisions, but their decisions are scrutinized and often criticized not only by the community, but by higher authorities as well. In the case of the board, the critics are the state Legislature and the state Board of Education.

Since board members receive no remuneration for their services, and often spend 10-15 hours a week reviewing documents and information, not to mention the time spent actually attending meetings, people who run for the board do not do so for the money. The district has been fortunate to have people serve because they feel an obligation to give to their community.

Thus far, the Northville Public Schools have attracted solid candidates for the school board. It is hoped that this year, when there are no incumbents in the race, will be no exception.

It's time

By Jean Day

For everything there is a time. This year it will be 25 years, a quarter of a century, since I first wrote for The Record. It will be 15 years in the fall that I've been writing full time, and eight years in May that I've been editor. Looking at the figures — 25, 15 and eight — is awesome, and helped make up my mind that it is time to retire.

I have always appreciated the trust that those for whom I've worked have placed with me. Ours is a respected newspaper in a community that has always been close to my heart. Its residents and organizations, as well as the official bodies, have made our town a wonderful place to call home.

When Bill Sliger, publisher when I began with the paper in 1963, and Jack Hoffman, editor, hired me, a mother with preschooler Laurie and elementary school student Robin, they gave me Wixom as my beat — and, incidentally, allowed me to write a column about activities in Our Town. In those days, it was very much part time on a schedule that made accommodations to my needs. I remember the day Dutch Van Ingen called me at the paper to tell me "Laurie isn't feeling well." Bill Sliger immediately responded, "Take her home — and take your work with you." I'm sure many career women today envy my understanding superiors and my situation.

Our Town had, and now has even more, amazingly active organizations. As the paper grew, Our Town became a separate section. When I became editor, Hoffman suggested (and had to do so repeatedly) that I divorce myself from Our Town. I've tried, but it just hasn't worked. I'm too impressed with the activities of the 95-year old Northville Woman's Club, the ability of Northville Mothers' Club to raise thousands of dollars for the public schools every year and to produce our local telephone directory. (As a life member, I remember straining my eyes as I culled Northville names from Ma Bell's book.)

Because of hard workers like Jack Burkman, Fran Gazlay, the late E.A. Chapman and Don Sober who began Northville Historical Society and Mill Race Historical Village, both the society and the village thrive. Joining them through the years have been others like Mayor Chris Johnson and his wife, Patsy, the John Brugemans, Doug Ottens, Robert Wellands, present officers headed by Carol Kiraly.

It was good that Our Town never had been my only beat. I covered the Northville Schools when Raymond Spear was superintendent and Stan Johnston was a board member. I always appreciated Stan because he would tell a questioning reporter background of the issues that came to the table.

Likewise, I reported on Northville Township Board of Trustee meetings when they were held in a building on the Wayne County Training School property before the present township hall was built in 1977. In keeping with the paper tradition at the time, I did not cover city council until I became editor. At times, I covered planning commissions and Novi Board of Education.

This month Russell Baker wrote his final Sunday Observer column for the New York Times; he said that his editor had told him to tell the readers why. He noted that he was being asked to "abandon good taste by writing about myself . . . and talking about myself is one of my favorite pastimes." Talking about my years at The Record falls in that category.

Earlier this month, Record/Novi News photographer Chris Boyd was ill for a few days; so Phil Jerome and I were taking pictures. Later we recalled the days before Jim Galbraith joined the staff in 1972 as our first photographer. The reporter toting the office camera never could be sure the flash would go off. I remember patient garden club members waiting while I ran back to the office to see if someone could fix the shutter. Two weeks ago members of Northville Woman's Club and Northville Mothers' Club were equally patient as I substituted for Chris. Even though the camera is automatic, I had problems, and only had 50 percent success.

A recent announcement from the Northville Post No. 4012, Veterans of Foreign Wars, is a case in point that this is a town of strong organizations. The post has welcomed a new, younger leadership, including present Commander Butch Hubbard. In May the post and auxiliary will hold the fourth annual dinner program honoring law officers and fire fighters of the year. I have been pleased to work also with American Legion Post 147 as Girls State chair. Our community has supported this program so well that it has been lauded by the state headquarters.

I've also appreciated serving terms as a member of the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce board. I like the emphasis on "community" which director Laurie Marrs and the board work to foster.

From my office window (on the second floor) I can read the time on the Main Street clock. Every time I glance that way I appreciate anew the success of Main Street '78. Next week Ann Willis will be enjoying this view. I am pleased to be turning The Record editorship over to this young woman who has a deep appreciation for community journalism. I expect in the future I and other Record readers will be seeing changes, changes to keep our newspaper one of the best.

If she weren't the kind of person she is, Jean Day might tell you I yell at her a lot. Actually, I don't actually yell at her. What I do is yell to her.

As in: "Jean, where's this?" Or, "Jean, what did you do with that?"

But I really don't believe she'd tell you I yell a lot. The lady simply has too much class.

We're making a big deal about Jean's retirement around here, (this is her last paper). She's got it coming. She's been with the paper 25 years, the last eight of them as editor. I sometimes think there might not be jobs for all of us today if people like Bill Sliger, Jack Hoffman and Jean Day had not worked so hard — and so well — back in the early days when Sliger/Livingston Publications consisted of one paper — The Northville Record.

I've known Jean a good many years. We both moved to Northville at the same time in the mid-1950s. We went to the same church. I read her column in the paper. She was a celebrity. Always kind. Always sympathetic. Always interested in what you had to say.

My parents shipped me off to college in Tennessee when the time came. My very first weekend away from home, Jean showed up at my dorm, stopping off en route to a vacation in the Smokies to deliver a box of chocolate chip cookies my mother had sent me.

I never dreamed we would eventually work together. But we did. We have. We've had our victories and defeats. We've had our disagreements, but we've hugged and made up, too.

And now she's leaving. Won't be around for me to yell at anymore. And I feel a little melancholy about it all. I'll miss ya, kid. Have a nice retirement.

Senior basketball players weren't given real chance

To the Editor:
In Neil Geoghegan's article of March 17 "Lutes examines 4-17 campaign," he states that perhaps the basketball season will be best remembered because of the coaching change. Unfortunately, that is not true for most of the seniors and their parents. It will be remembered as the year most of the seniors were not given a chance.

With Harrison's philosophy during the 1986-87 basketball season "that seniors get first chance, next year will be your turn" and Lutes' philosophy that "if there is a junior and a senior and they play equally, I'll play the junior", some of the players spent a good share of both their junior and senior years sitting on the bench.

Lutes disputed parent's accusations that he was overlooking the seniors and playing the juniors in preparation for next year's team. However, at a meeting he had with the seniors on Feb. 18, when one of the senior players asked why some of the seniors were pulled after the first mistake made and junior players were not, he replied, "If I have a senior and a junior and they play equally, I'll play the junior because the senior won't be with us next year."

It is my opinion that any program in an educational system should build confidence, not destroy it. Participants in the program should feel good about the program when leaving it; the majority of the senior boys did not.

I am disturbed by the following:

1. A coach dwelling on the negative in regard to the players. If a coach cannot say something positive about the players, he is in the wrong profession.
2. A coach covering his face and remarking to the players how embarrassed he is when the team is losing. A coach should be lifting the players' spirits by encouraging them.
3. Promises made that were not kept. (For example: The first game of the 1986-87 season two juniors were put in the game. They played well and were told they would be put in the next game. It never happened for one of the players. He sat on the bench for a total of four games with no explanation why.)

4. Players coming in off the bench were sometimes not let into the game by the other players. Why was nothing said to those players by the coach?
5. The coach was always complaining that the chemistry was not right with the team. However, on senior night (Feb. 23), five seniors started who had not played together previously. It was a real team effort; other players were substituted in and they were included in the game. However, those five players were not put in as a group together again for any other game despite the fact that the team won that night by the biggest margin of the season.

6. The coach said that individuals and feelings were not important to him — only a player's ability. If individuals and feelings are not considered, the morale of the team is affected.

As a parent, I feel I let the senior players down. I should have gone to Mr. Bolitho, the school principal, with concerns about the basketball program during 1987 rather than waiting until close to the end of the 1988 season. What some of the players experienced this year should never happen again. I trust that Mr. Bolitho will make some changes in the basketball program. He indicated that he was very concerned.

The 1988 annual basketball banquet summed up the importance of the senior players by the coach. Cheerleaders, pom pom girls, ninth grade basketball players, and junior varsity players were each applauded individually. When the senior basketball players were to come forward the coach told the audience, "Please hold your applause until all the players come forward." When the juniors were to be recognized several people began to applaud the players individually. The coach did not tell the audience to hold their applause.

We should have applauded the senior players individually anyway. Those senior players deserved a standing ovation for just staying in the program!

Sincerely,
Peggy McDonald

'Fiddler on the Roof' performances, efforts deserve praise

To the Editor:
What a team. What team spirit. Team members of 150 strong — that would be more than 10 percent of the Northville High School population.

These students with the superb coaching staff formed one of the greatest teams we have ever had at Northville High School, and we would like to congratulate them for an outstanding performance in the short 10 to 12 week training period.

This team will not go on to the state championship but has shared its excellence right here within our own community — with the student body, staff and community at large. This letter to the editor is to congratulate, thank and convey our deepest appreciation for the performance of "Fiddler on the Roof" presented at the high school this past weekend.

reward than knowing you did your best for the team and it sure was what made Fiddler outstanding beyond any reasonable doubt.

What a truly wonderful experience my husband and I had on Friday night at the play, "Fiddler on the Roof." It was evident that many hours of preparation had gone into making the show one that everyone would enjoy.

Cooperative benefits help all

To the Editor
On Friday, March 18, I received a call from a member of the Northville Township Police Officers Association. I was not aware of the Basketball Bonanza benefit being sponsored by the association.

That same day I called the Northville Police Station to ask if they knew anything about this benefit and was told they did not. I then called The Northville Record and was told they had not heard of this benefit and there was nothing in the paper about it.

woman who answered the phone that the association is sponsoring a benefit and that The Northville Record doesn't know anything.

We want to publicly honor the over 150 members of the production that worked as a spectacular team to put on such a well done sensitive musical for our community to share. The entire Creative Arts Department can be proud of a job well done. The effort put forth by every member of the team stood-out throughout the performance.

Without all the efforts of everyone from the hidden talent back stage to the soloists up front, it was obvious everyone did a great job and cared about the team. There is no greater

So we want to thank the seniors for their contributions, that we will always remember, and how they led the team. We also wish the best of luck to all those who will be back next year to continue this great tradition and dedication to the arts for Northville High School.

The scenery was very well executed and the musicians were superb. The cast was having such a good time on stage that we in the audience couldn't help but have a good time too.

I was told by the young man who called that it was co-sponsored with the Northville Police and that it was on the front page of The Northville Record. I agreed to buy a ticket but asked that information be sent to me.

When I received the ticket on Tuesday, March 22, I called the Northville Township Police to see if this was legitimate because of what I was told by the Northville Police and The Northville Record. I was told by the

I am a concerned citizen and do not like to hear or see such lack of neighborliness or cooperation on the part of Northville Township. Why do you call on people from Northville to help your benefits if your attitude is as portrayed above.

School board denies visitor permission to sit in classes

Joe Robotka had the doors to Northville High School closed in his face Monday, leaving the former German exchange student outside the school. Robotka, who was barred from attending NHS classes, asked the Board of Education Monday night to allow him to attend the school while he is visiting Northville.

But superintendent George Bell noted that the school district had fulfilled its obligation to Robotka last year.

"I talked to Joseph yesterday and I discussed the matter with Mr. Bolitho and we agree that allowing anyone not enrolled in the school to attend classes would be opening the door to allow brothers and sisters, aunts and uncles and anyone else to attend classes. That would be disruptive to the educational process," Bell said.

Robotka told the board that he had attended Northville High School a year ago as an exchange student and this year, while the German schools were on a break, he decided to come back to Northville. He plans to remain in the community for three weeks but was not sure how many days he would have liked to spend at Northville High School.

Spring break begins after classes today, and the schools will reopen April 11.

"I wanted to visit my friends and the teachers at Northville High School. I was told by the principal that I was a disturbing individual and that I could not attend classes," Robotka said. "I don't think I am a disturbing individual. I was a member of the National Honor Society and did well in my classes."

The board took no formal action on Robotka's request and Robotka said he was not sure whether he would try to continue to attend classes.

"Last week, I was in the lunch room and I talked to Mr. (Ralph) Redmond. He said it was all right if I was in the lunch room, but Mr. Bolitho said I could not attend classes," Robotka said.

Oakland County residents to vote on new fee for roads against the proposal Aug. 2 "If it doesn't benefit my community."

Republican John Calandro of Novi chided Democrats: "You do a disservice by forcing this amendment today."

"The lack of a construction plan. We're being asked by non-elected officials (road commissioners) to trust them," said Pernick. "They're asking us to have faith. They're not accountable to anybody — not to the commissioners, not to the executive, not to the voters."

Replied chairman Rewold: "This is one of the few times we've had the Road Commission, the Board of Commissioners and the county executive, together on a proposal. I have faith in the Road Commission."

The debate revealed the complex nature of county government and the county road system.

The Road Commission is a three-member body appointed for staggered six-year terms by the elected Board of Commissioners. After appointment, the road commissioners are pretty much on their own.

Road commission revenue comes mainly from a share of the state gasoline and weight tax. (In Oakland, this has been supplemented in recent years by voluntary "tripartite" projects from the county general fund and local funds.)

As commissioner Thomas Law, R-West Bloomfield, pointed out, "The Road Commission did heavy lobbying" for bills to allow counties to raise local road revenue. "I'm willing to give them the benefit of the doubt," Law said.

Only one of those bills actually became law. In December the state Legislature passed the $25 vehicle-registration fee with the provisions that 1) the Board of Commissioners had to put it on the ballot and 2) voters had to approve it.

The Road Commission on Feb. 4 supported the fee increase but lacked power to put the question on the ballot.

"These are essentially problems of accounting policy," he said.

On a 4-0 vote, the city council approved a deficit reduction plan to submit to the state. The plan, and a memo from Walters to the council, explain the situation for each of the four funds:

• Allen Terrace Operating Fund — According to the memo, the original bond issue which built Allen Terrace was designed to be paid off, but no extra cash would accumulate to offset depreciation. State accounting policy requires that depreciation be included in the financial statements, causing the deficit figure.

"The city... has set rental rates each year to meet operating and debt requirements. It is the city's policy on this project to not fund depreciation for future replacement," the deficit plan reads.

• Downtown Development Authority Fund — The city loaned some money to the downtown development project, and the captured taxes which fund the DDA have not yet been able to repay the advance, the plan states. Future captured taxes cannot be considered receivables.

"Captured taxes in 1987-88 will exceed the debt payment by approximately $28,000 and begin to repay this advance. New commercial construction currently under way will accelerate this repayment, which will eliminate the deficit," the plan reads.

• West Eight Mile Sewer Improvement Fund — This special assessment fund is short because some residents did not elect to be part of the district and are not yet connected to the sewer and water lines. If and when those lots connect, they will then pay the special assessment, and that money will go to pay off the bond issue used for the construction.

• Public Improvements Fund — The memo states that this deficit is a result of the city buying four lots during the fiscal year but not being able to show the asset in the fund accounting.

New Northville shop specializes in 'sporty' gifts

By BOB NEEDHAM

It's a little hard to explain what you'll find if you shop at Perrins.

That's because you'll find just about anything in the new shop in downtown Northville.

And if you don't find it in the store, chances are you can special order it. As long as it can be printed with the name of a school, a professional sports team, or anything else, they can probably help.

That's a bit of an exaggeration. They can only get major schools, for example, and some of those are hard to get licenses for. But if you're looking for anything related to Michigan State University, the University of Michigan or Detroit pro teams, Perrins can offer you plenty.

In the store — at 113 W. Main in Northville — you can find a wide selection of T-shirts, mugs and glasses, key chains ... you get the idea.

The new store is an outgrowth of a business Carl Perrin Sr. has been running with a warehouse on Doherty Drive in Northville. Perrin distributes a wide variety of Detroit and Michigan souvenirs, and has shown his goods at the Michigan Association of Gift Salesmen (MAGS) shows since before the group moved its headquarters to Northville.

As Perrin's wife, Michele, tells it, the new store is a natural outgrowth of the already-existing business.

"We thought it was needed. We had the merchandise, so we thought, 'Why not open (a retail store),' she said.

Are you having too much withheld?

As the April 15 income tax filing date approaches, do you find yourself dreaming about how you'll spend your large refund or are you one of those people beginning to worry about how you're going to pay a huge tax bill?

According to the Michigan Association of CPAs, the wise taxpayer will avoid both extremes. You should strive to come as close as possible to your actual tax bill by having the correct amount of money withheld from your paycheck.

It doesn't make much sense to let Uncle Sam use your money interest-free, but, by the same token, you don't want to sell your soul to pay your tax bill.

Withholding is the government's way of collecting tax on your salary income on a planned schedule, a Christmas club of sorts. An employee with little or no other income has to have a certain amount of money withheld from each paycheck to meet his or her tax obligations. Ideally, the amount withheld by your employer during the year will match the amount of your annual tax liability.

Prior to tax reform, it often worked like this. Whenever you started a new job, you were asked by your employer to complete a withholding form. This W-4 form tells your employer how many allowances, or exemptions, to consider in determining how much to deduct from your paycheck for income tax.

Chances are, it was one of many pre-employment forms you were faced with and you may not have given it much thought. In fact, if you were like most taxpayers, you probably used the head-counting method. You counted the number of people in your family and claimed that number of allowances. The more allowances, the less money withheld. Come April 15, if that didn't work out to your liking, you asked your employer to withhold more or less during the following year. It was, for many a trial and error approach.

Then there were those taxpayers with significant deductions who found that they were being over-withheld and receiving large refunds. The IRS allowed these taxpayers to claim additional exemptions to offset their deductions and bring their withholding closer to their actual tax bill.

Tax Reform and the New W-4: The new tax law has created the need for everyone to re-examine their withholding. Starting in 1987, less tax is being withheld as a result of lower tax rates. But, at the same time, many employees are likely to be affected by changes in the tax law that reduce or eliminate many tax breaks. Fewer tax benefits mean more of your income is subject to withholding. Affected employees who don't increase their withholding may very well find themselves face-to-face with a large tax bill come filing time.

Taxpayers who have been offsetting large deductions with additional allowances should be aware that under tax reform, the value of each allowance, or exemption, has been increased to $1,900 — up from $1,080 in 1986. That means you need to almost double the amount of itemized deductions to warrant each additional exemption on your W-4. Note, too, that many deductions have been limited while others have been eliminated.

If your 1987 tax return shows you had too much or too little withheld, you can correct the problem by filing another withholding form.

The IRS recommends that in situations where both spouses work, both incomes should be combined on one form. For more accurate withholding, the spouse with the higher earnings should claim all the exemptions while the other spouse claims none. Be aware, however, employers are required to submit to the IRS any W-4 form on which more than 10 allowances are claimed.

CPAs recommend that you make every attempt to be as accurate as possible when calculating your withholding because, according to new IRS regulations, if the amount withheld is not equal to at least 90 percent of the year's tax liability or 100 percent of the prior year's taxes, the IRS may impose a penalty. However, the IRS has agreed that, for 1987 taxes, it will waive this penalty for employees who, in good faith, filed a new Form W-4 with their employer on or before June 1, 1987.

If you discover that you're not having enough tax withheld, you should file another W-4 as soon as possible. If you're not well-versed in the changes brought about by the Tax Reform Act and think you may need assistance, consider consulting with a tax advisor before filing a revised W-4.

Area housing prices show slight increase

This year's home buyers are finding a wider choice of properties and prices that show only a fractional increase from a year ago, according to Metro MLS.

Marjory R. Pickett, president of the state's largest multiple listing service, notes that January listings reached their highest peak since September and were down less than 2.5 percent from 1987.

"With fewer buyers in the market this year, competition has eased off and this is slowing the rising price trend," she said.

"The 1,004 single-family homes sold by our members in January was down about 11.8 percent from a year ago. At the same time, listings were within 2.5 percent, so the average buyer had more properties to consider."

She said the average price for a home in January was $76,676 — less than one percent more than the $76,100 average a year ago. The January median (with half selling for more and half for less) in the 1,600 square mile Metro MLS territory was $65,785. Included in the sales were 228 properties selling for $100,000 or more, nearly 23 percent of the total.

"While we continue to believe early sales this year will continue below those of 1987, more buyers ready to make a move should be attracted by current interest rates," she said. "Authorities seem to agree that rates will start moving back up as market demand increases in the spring months."

Pickett also said condominiums are becoming an increased factor in sales by Realtors with both listings and sales showing healthy gains from a year ago.

"These are pretty well scattered with many in relatively new developments," she said. "This makes it difficult to detect any price trends. Costs vary widely under the influence of both amenities and location, but it does appear that they too are climbing."

WSU slates workshop on starting a business

A program entitled "How to Start or Run a Small Business" will be offered by the Wayne State University School of Business at the Plymouth Hilton on Thursday, April 7, at 7 p.m.

The Plymouth Hilton is located at 14707 Northville Road. The two-hour workshop is open to the public. Call 577-4354 to make reservations.

The workshop will cover such items as the 10 hottest business for 1988, how to slash hundreds off your taxes, the 20 biggest pitfalls in starting and running a small business, and how to start a business with very little cash.

The workshop also will include, among the latest tax law changes.

Wayne State University is the eighth largest urban university in the United States. It has presented these "shirt-sleeve" workshops for over six years and has helped thousands of individuals transform their ideas into growing businesses.

New Northville store specializes in sport gifts

The store opened Tuesday, March 15, but not without a lot of help from several members of the family.

Carl Perrin's son Dan helped build the store out of a vacant storefront, and another son, Carl Perrin Jr., works there now. So does Michele Perrin's son, Sean Rose.

"It's a real family project," Michele Perrin said.

The Perrins moved to Northville

last July. And even one of the employees who isn't a family member — Dorothy Cook, the bookkeeper — may be known to area shoppers from her 10 years working at Schrader's Home Furnishings in Northville.

The shirts in the store offer many different designs, including sports, colleges and Michigan's sesquicentennial. But other things are available through a custom silk-screening operation run through the store.

Other items available — either at the store or by special order — include coffee cups, glasses, pencils, pens, buttons, trash cans, bumper stickers, towels, ashtrays, letter openers, flags, and on and on.

"Anything that needs to be imprinted, we can find it," Michele Perrin said.

They can also do different designs.

The company recently made custom buttons for Genetti's Hole in the Wall, for example.

Michelle Perrin summed up the available items with two words of advice to customers: If you're looking for something you think they might have, "Just ask."

Perrins Souvenirs is located at 113 W. Main in Northville. The store is open daily from 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Because with everything we know about cigarettes today there's only one thing you'll do if you start smoking now. And that's a sorry. Sorry you can't get up in the morning without coughing your lungs out. Sorry you can't climb a single flight of stairs without getting winded. Sorry that every time you light one up your risk of heart disease goes up. If you're already a smoker, take some time to stop and think it all the way through. Gone Fishing

Lures

You're only limited by your imagination here. There are spoons, rubber worms, spinners, flies and floats. Spoons are oblong pieces of metal painted with various patterns. Spinners have metallic pieces which spin when pulled through the water. Flies attempt to imitate the fish's natural diet. Any good angler owns his/her weight in lures and swears by a few.

Prices range from 50 cents to about $7 each.

We won't bait your hook but we will give you the when, where and how much of fishing

License

Available at most sporting goods stores, licenses start at $9.85 plus $1 for a passbook. For salmon and trout, add another $9.85. Salmon snagging stamps cost $7.35. Senior citizens can purchase a license for $1. One-day licenses cost $5.35. Spouses need their own licenses too.

Depth Finder

Depth finders are high-technology's contribution to angling. They tell the angler the depth of the water, bottom contours, water temperatures and fish locations. They vary in sophistication and features. They're also waterproof and easily attach to boats; some are portable. Depending on the features, prices range from $170 to $500.

What to Wear

Starting at the top, baseball hats are popular but it all depends on the angler's preference. Some hats can cost as much as $50.

In the middle is the ever-present fishing vest, with as many pockets as anglers have stories. Those pockets are handy for stowing gear or snacks. Vests range from $20 to $60.

Other wear is protective, like rain suits to keep you dry or wool gloves ($9) to warm the hands.

And then there's waders and boots, designed to keep you warm and dry while you stand up to your pockets in an ice-cold river. They're made from a variety of waterproof materials, chest or hip lengths, insulated or not. Some have boots, others do not (for those who prefer to fish with their own boots on). Costs range from $15 to $100.

15. Wolverine Lake, Wolverine Lake
Bass and pike fishing has declined but still worth catching.
16. Woodland Lake, Brighton
Lots of bass. Tiger muskies planted.
17. Zukey Lake, Pinckney
Crappie available and some walleye.

The Michigan Department of Natural Resources provided the information for this chart. All listed lakes have public access. The DNR advises that the taking of pike, muskellunge and walleye is not legal until after the last Saturday in April. Bass may not be taken until the Saturday before Memorial Day. All other fish are legal and biting well.

Rod, Reel and Line

The three essentials for any angler but that's where the similarities end. The rod, reel and line combinations depend on the type of fishing you do - from lightweight fly-fishing outfits to heavy-duty, deep-water downriggers. Of course, there's always the old dependable - the bamboo pole. Prices for rods range from $15 to several hundred dollars, depending on their materials. Reels range from $25 to $100, with some peaking at $250. For line, that crucial connection between angler and fish, expect to pay $5 to $15, depending on the weight and type.

Hooked on Fishing

For Wistert, fishing a way to 'recharge'

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

From the gridiron to trout fishing, Northville's Al Wistert has always been a big sports enthusiast. As a matter of fact, he will probably go down as one of this area's best-ever athletes.

Wistert, a former football star of the University of Michigan in the late 1940s, hung up his cleats quite a while ago, but he's never given up on fishing - his favorite pastime for the past half-century.

It probably wouldn't be incorrect to call Wistert "a fishing nut." After all, he's caught steelhead trout on the Pere Marquette River, perch and bass near his cottage in Ontario and even speckled trout in Quebec.

Fishing has taken Wistert to many secluded places like the Two Hearted River in Michigan's Upper Peninsula and the frozen tundra of northern Ontario near Hudson Bay - and he's enjoyed every minute of it.

"I've been fishing for over 50 years since I was a kid and I really enjoy it," he said. "It's very relaxing - it's a way to recharge your batteries, I think."

"When you're out fishing, you forget about everything - it's a chance to enjoy nature. It's my favorite pastime."

Wistert and his wife Nancy own a cottage on Canada's Bruce Peninsula, a point of land that extends between Lake Huron and Georgian Bay. Theirs is the last cottage on place named Sucker Creek Point - it even sounds like an ideal place to fish.

"I spend a good deal of the summer up there with my wife," Wistert pointed out. "I fish a lot for perch and bass and salmon."

"Actually, it's not as good as I would like it but from the time we go up to the time we return, we always have enough fish to eat," he said with a grin.

According to Wistert, fishing is something of an art. He says there aren't very many real good fishermen anymore.

"I'd say that 10 percent of the fishermen catch 90 percent of the fish," he estimated. "Most of them really don't know how to fish. They go out in a boat, throw an anchor overboard and hope a fish comes along."

Dinner dance to follow club fashion show success

By JEAN DAY

The looks of spring — presented in knits, chiffons and floral cottons from the Marquis Boutique and the Laura Ashley Shop at Twelve Oaks Mall — received round after round of applause last Saturday at the benefit fashion show of Northville Mothers' Club. Proceeds will be used to aid club projects in the Northville public schools.

The show went on in the best of traditions as a power outage caused the location to be moved from the Marquis Theatre to the fellowship hall of First Presbyterian Church.

"You really learn how your fellow members can come through when you have something like this happen," commented Roxanne Casterline, show chair. She praised members for pitching in to set the stage and give a festive punch party afterward. Joy Holloway and Margie Sievert helped with the move Friday night.

Carol Rahimi was commentator for the show which featured Marquis models and club members, their families and friends.

New looks included a turquoise two-piece sundress and a cotton knit with tulip skirt, a white washable rayon pantsuit with eyelet decoration, a bright pink pantsuit with a glittering elephant decoration, and special occasion dresses in black-and-white, pink and turquoise — all from the Marquis.

The "sailor look" was prominent in Laura Ashley fashions. Pink sailor dresses were worn with straw hats, and a red and white design was accessorized with a red hat. The mini-floral prints that have come to be associated with this designer were shown with lace collars and in a ruffle-skirt design.

Giving a nod to the mini-look, a black outfit stopped above the knee.

A capacity crowd filled the fellowship hall and applauded the fashions and models. Receiving enthusiastic approval as they modeled together were member Margie Sievert and her mother, Margaret Little of Evieau, Ont.

Carol Rahimi thanked the audience for being most accommodating about the changes and noted that those attending should "think about the special occasion fashions as the annual dinner dance of Mothers' Club is upcoming."

The dance is being given April 16 at Meadowbrook Country Club. Cocktails will be at 7 p.m. with dinner at 7:30 and dancing from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Tickets at $50 a couple are available from chair Barb Sixt, 348-1709, or from any club member.

Black patent shoes are shining

"Do Black Patent Leather Shoes Really Reflect Up?" is the upcoming live theater attraction at the Marquis Theater on Main Street. It's very good, promises theater owner Inge Zaytli.

The play is a benefit on April 21 and April 29 for local groups.

Proceeds on Thursday, April 21, at the 8 p.m. performance will benefit Northville Rotary Club whose members now are selling tickets to this Nell Simon show. Refreshments will be served before the show at 7 p.m. Net proceeds of the $12.50 donations will go to PolioPlus. Tickets are available from all Rotarians.

Performance of April 29 is a benefit for the Country Girls Garden Branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association and replaces the luncheon fashion show of previous years.

Tickets at $12 each are available from Kathryn Alexander, treasurer, 349-3885, or from Pat Eden, 349-3366.

The branch uses benefit proceeds to help provide a scholarship for a graduating Northville High School student interested in studying horticulture in college and to fund a scholarship for a teacher at the Department of Natural Resources summer camp at Higgins Lake. The branch also annually sends an area resident to the Michigan State University College Week and assists ECHO, Every Child's Camp Out of Doors.

Other branch projects include taking care of the gardens at the Hunter House in Mill Race Historical Village and donating seedlings to elementary students during Arbor Week.

DR. JAMES DOBSON'S... Introducing A POWERFUL SIX-PART FILM SERIES "TURN YOUR HEART TOWARD HOME"

— a personal challenging film series every parent should see.

SUNDAY, APRIL 3- 6:00 p.m. "A FATHER LOOKS BACK"

1) A Father Looks Back emphasizes how swiftly time passes and appeals to all parents to turn their hearts toward home during the all-important child-rearing years.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 6- 7:30 p.m. "POWER IN PARENTING" The Young Child

2) Power in Parenting: The Young Child offers many practical helps for facing the battlegrounds in child-rearing: bedtime, mealtime and other confrontations so familiar to parents.

SUNDAY, APRIL 10- 6:00 p.m. "POWER IN PARENTING" The Adolescent

3) Power in Parenting: The Adolescent discusses father/daughter and mother/son relationships, and the importance of allowing children to grow and develop as individuals.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 13- 7:30 p.m. "THE FAMILY UNDER FIRE"

4) The Family Under Fire views the family in the context of today's society, where a "civil war of values" is being waged. Dr. Dobson urges parents to look at the effects of governmental interference, abortion and pornography, and to get involved. To preserve what they care about what they care about most: their own families.

SUNDAY, APRIL 17- 6:00 p.m. "OVERCOMING A PAINFUL CHILDHOOD"

5) Overcoming a Painful Childhood includes Shirley Dobson's intimate memories of a difficult childhood with her alcoholic father, and the influences which brought her to a loving God. This moving film will be especially meaningful to those who are unsure of their faith and for those who are not part of the Christian community.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 20- 7:30 p.m. "THE HERITAGE"

6) The Heritage presents Dr. Dobson's powerful closing remarks. Here he speaks clearly of four traditional values which can help assure happy, healthy, strengthened homes and family relationships in the years to come.

*Note: This film contains explicit information regarding the pornography industry. Not recommended for young audiences.

China can be identified by year markings

French factory produced 20,000 Haviland patterns — all identifiable by markings

By JEAN DAY

Inheriting her mother's wedding china, a Haviland pattern dating to 1914, sparked Jean Cornillie's interest and research into the fine French china.

Her sister, Betsy Van Ee of Northville, notes, "Jean has been interested in homemaking since she was a little girl" — so her appreciation of the family china might be expected.

The sisters' mother had received a six-piece setting when she was married in 1917. When some was broken, more settings were ordered from the factory near Limoges, France. They arrived years later. Then Cornillie was in an antique shop and found her pattern, giving her 16 place settings.

Through the years, the factory in France has produced some 20,000 patterns, but owners of those patterns easily can learn when they were made because of some 23 distinctive changes in the maker's mark since 1856.

"In 1839 David Haviland, a young American, was in his china shop in New York City when a customer came in to ask if a broken china cup could be replaced," Cornillie told members of Base Line Quarters last Thursday. A Grosse Pointe resident, Cornillie is a member of Pettipoint Chapter of Quarters. The Northville antiques study and preservation club had asked her to speak on Haviland china.

"It was a beautiful translucent china that fascinated him so much that he decided to go to France to seek its origin," she said.

The search led him to Limoges, a region where the kaolin clay produced the translucent porcelain.

Haviland, Cornillie continued, then ordered several sets of china from the factory for the American market. When they arrived, he was disappointed in the results and decided to move to France with his family to build his own factory to manufacture china for the American market.

"He began to make whiteware —

"The Haviland we know is so translucent that when you pick up a piece you can read the name on the back."

— Jean Cornillie
Quarters speaker

from soup bowls to china washstand sets as few Americans has indoor plumbing at the time. He also made china for hotels, restaurants and clubs in a heavier grade.

"It was this heavier grade that differentiated 19th century china from the translucent china of the 20th century," Cornillie said.

"The Haviland we know," she said, "is so translucent that when you pick up a piece you can read the name on the back."

Some of the Haviland china is manufactured in white with artists handpainting the designs and, often, decorating the edges with gold.

On display at the Quarters program was a chocolate pot dating to 1893 with handpainted floral design in sepia with gold ornamentation.

Other china painters decorated each piece of a set with a different flower to create floral sets.

In France, Haviland also created his own decorating shops. Until then Limoges manufacturers had sent their plain ware to Paris for decoration. The new patterns were charming and a success. It was Haviland who took advantage of new mass manufacturing methods, made possible after the invention of the steam engine, Cornillie mentioned, to introduce chromo lithographic decorations.

"I love the little, fine patterns of the old china," Cornillie said.

Ruth Whitmyer, Base Line Quarters president, had brought a piece of Haviland inherited from her husband's aunt in a diminutive clover pattern with gold, fluted edge. By its mark, Haviland & Co. in red arched over the word Limoges, Cornillie dated the pattern to 1839.

David Haviland was succeeded in the business by his sons, Theodore, William and Theodore II, causing the changing of the china back stamps.

Because it is a hard-paste porcelain china, Cornillie pointed out, it is exceptionally strong and does not break or chip easily. She warned, however, that old sets with handpainted decoration or gold trim should not be washed in dishwashers.

She also pointed out that not all Limoges china from that region in France is Haviland.

But the china that bears some form of the mark Haviland France, especially those pieces of the Victorian era, should be cherished, she said.

Center schedules cooking classes

Anyone who likes to cook will be interested in cooking classes being offered at the Farmington Community Center in the coming weeks.

Upcoming classes are being offered at the Community Center by Moon Ja Yoon, Judy Antishen and Chinese cooking aficionado Ina Tchen.

More information on the classes is available by calling the Community Center at 477-8404. The center is located at 24705 Farmington Road, north of Ten Mile, in Farmington Hills.

Moon Ja Yoon, author of "Korean Cooking for You," will give simple instructions in making "man-doo," which resemble egg rolls, in classes scheduled May 11 and May 25.

Yoon will prepare the man-doo using a variety of cooking techniques that will result in several presentations. A registered dietitian, Yoon will also provide a nutritional breakdown of the foods for her students.

Judy Antishen will offer classes, "Chicken and Fish" on April 6 and April 13, "Salads and Salad Dressings" on May 5, and "The Barbeque" on May 19.

Northville women who attended the Friends of the Northville and Novi libraries luncheon program Feb. 20 enjoyed a luncheon catered by Antishen.

Ina Tchen, a perennial favorite at the Community Center, will prepare her famous Peking Duck dinner in two sessions beginning April 25. Her next class, "Spring Roll vs. Egg Roll," is scheduled for Monday, May 16.

Michael Farrell to give art talks

Dr. Michael Farrell, art curator and instructor who has previously lectured here on the Victorian age, will be featured in a series of Venture lectures in Plymouth in April.

Entitled, "Art for the Middle Class," the series will be held on three successive Fridays, beginning April 15, at 10:30 a.m. at St. John's Episcopal Church on Sheldon Road in Plymouth.

A pre-lecture coffee will be at 10 a.m.

Cost for the series will be $20 prepaid. Single lectures will be $10. Nancy Cooper, 455-0782, or Nancy Sharp, 459-1875, may be contacted for further information.

April 15 lecture is "The Rise of the Middle Class." It will cover how this class used to be in the 13, 14 and 15th centuries to manipulate the church.

April 22 lecture is "A Celebration of Prosperity," the rise of Protestant Holland in the 17th century and the extravagant use of painting by the Dutch middle class to elevate itself.

April 29 lecture is "The Middle Class Creates." Deprived of the stabilizing influence of the church and state, the artist attempts to create values for a valueless society.

Buyers beware when buying CDs

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

Compact discs may be the wave of the future, but there's a dark side to the recent digital revolution that most people are unaware of. Many uninformed consumers assume that just because it's a CD, it's going to sound great — but that just isn't true.

Despite booming sales and worldwide acclaim, much of what's being released in the CD format has turned out to be very disappointing from a sound and packaging standpoint. Many labels have shown a complete disregard for the music by shortening or dropping songs, using poor master tapes and ignoring important liner note information.

As expected, the worst instances have been with older material — particularly from the 50s and 60s. The compact disc has been a shot in the arm for the sagging music business and record companies seem willing to milk it for all it's worth.

When labels decide not to take the time to seek out first generation master tapes and then fail to properly remix and/or remaster these tapes for this new format, the consumer ends up with an inferior quality product.

"There are quite a few CDs that don't sound up to par but most people buy them anyway because they don't know it or they want it for the longevity factor," said Mike Haselbunn, manager of the Harmony House store in Farmington.

The primitive noise reduction techniques of 20 years ago are normally blamed for the relatively poor sounding CDs of yesteryear — record companies argue that the discs only reveal the limitations of the original recordings. But experts dismiss much of that argument because there are super sounding compact discs by artists like Buddy Holly, the Everly Brothers and Sam Cooke among others. That's because somebody took the time, effort and spent the money to find the best quality master tapes available.

"There are poor-sounding CDs but I can't really let the customers know which ones are good and which are poor unless I own them myself," said Dwayne Smith of Tape World at Twelve Oaks Mall in Novi. "A good rule of thumb is that the newer releases are the best because most are digitally recorded — the sound quality is superior."

The compact disc's sound quality is often directly related to the manner in which the material was recorded, edited, mixed and mastered. A three-letter code has been developed to convey this information to the consumer, and it can be found on most CDs. The letters 'DDD' indicate that a digital tape recorder was used during session recording, mixing, editing and mastering and that the sound is state of the art. An 'ADD'

Tim Hubbert and Katie Davis look at CDs in Tape World at 12 Oaks Mall

code means that an analog tape recorder was used during session recording, but a digital tape recorder was used during subsequent mixing, editing and during mastering. The 'AAD' letters mean that an analog tape recorder was used during session recording, mixing and editing and that a digital recorder was used during mastering. Although ADD disc are usually better sounding that AAD, it's not necessarily true all of the time.

Good news for CD buyers is that prices have dropped since Christmastime because supply has finally caught up with demand.

"They've reduced prices on a lot of CDs," Smith said. "Even the newer ones are coming out at $13.99 instead of $16. I think it's due to the technology — the more they can mass produce these things, the lower they can sell them for."

But despite the huge profits they're raking in, many labels are still cutting corners and offering inferior products. An informed consumer can combat this by asking questions and subscribing to trade newsletters like the International CD Exchange. Let the buyer beware!

Al Wistert gave up cleats, not rod

Fishing's his pastime

"Over the years, I've learned you have to find the fish and have the proper bait. Different types of fish seem to feed in different areas at different times of the day. It's something that you learn over the years."

Some of the best fishing — and most exciting — for Wistert happened on the Big Manistee River in western Michigan several years back. He started out after walleye, but soon turned his attention to steelhead trout, and it proved to be a good move.

"I was fishing for walleye at night on the Pere Marquette River near Baldwin years ago," Wistert recalled. "The sheriff saw me, came up and says, 'What the hell are you doing?' I said, 'I'm fishing.'"

"He couldn't believe I was after walleye at that time of the night. He told me that I hadn't fished until I caught a steelhead. So he directed me to the Big Manistee River near Wellston to see a guide named 'Pappy'."

"I was told he's been guiding for 35 years and is the best guide in the north country. I found out quickly that it was true. The first time out with Pappy, I caught my first steelhead trout and it's mounted here at home right now. It was 16-pounds, 4-ounces."

Some of Wistert's favorite fishing spots in Michigan include the Two Hearted River north of Newberry in the Upper Peninsula (for speckled trout), the AuSable in mid-Michigan (for rainbow trout) and Douglas Lake near Cheboygan.

"We started taking trips into Canada when the fishing fell off here in Michigan," Wistert said. "We would go up to Blind River east of Sault Ste. Marie for a while and then the trips got even more exotic each time."

"We'd drive 600 miles and then take a float plane another four or five hours to get up near the Hudson Bay and the Seal River in Quebec. In Michigan, if you caught a three-pound speckled trout, it would be a trophy fish, but in Quebec we would catch five-to-eight pound speckled trout and eat them for breakfast."

Tom MacKinnon to receive top chef coat design award

"When you can't stand the heat, get out of the kitchen and join me on the slopes!"

That has been the cri d'esprit of the Chefs Ski Race founder Jacky Ruelle. The Grand Marnier Chefs Ski Races national championships will be held at Snowmass, Colo., April 6-10 this year.

Tom MacKinnon, owner of MacKinnon's Restaurant on Main Street in Northville, will leave April 5 to attend the national competition as 1988 winner of the Chef Coat Design Contest, held in conjunction with the 1988 Grand Marnier Ski Race.

Part of his prize is a complete

Brigard Chef's uniform, an Egyptian cotton Grand Chef coat, a pair of cotton checked trousers, neckerchief and chef toque.

MacKinnon, who already has received the national grand prize, says he's going to display it in a plastic case.

"It's magnificent," he reports, noting that his business partner, Leonard Wades, did the painting on the coat.

In the regionals of the ski races, MacKinnon came in fifth in a field of 176.

The Grand Marnier Chefs Ski Races sponsors have been working with organizations like Michigan Chefs Against Hunger in Detroit and The Boston Food Bank and City Harvest in New York City to utilize resources of chefs and restaurants to help those in desperate need.

A portion of each Grand Marnier racers registration fees and all banquet guest fees will be donated to one of these regional organizations and will be matched by the race sponsor.

Regional championship winners will be lodged and entertained "with exceptional hospitality and style, courtesy of Grand Marnier Liqueur" at Snowmass.

Matthaei

A treasure find for wildlife and plant lovers

Even the most dedicated backyard gardener has some limits.

You can dig and seed and plant and fertilize and weed until you drop, and still you will only have a small sampling of the tremendous variety of plant life which grows on the earth.

If you want to see some of the rest — some unusual plants you probably won't find in any gardens in your neighborhood — a trip to Ann Arbor might be in order. On the outskirts of the city are the Matthaei Botanical Gardens, a treasure for anyone interested in plants and other wildlife.

The gardens, which are a research facility for the University of Michigan, began in 1907. A university botany professor, George P. Burns, founded the gardens. Over the decades the facility has grown and moved several times.

Nowadays, the gardens are at 1800 Dixboro Road, a location made possible by gifts from Mr. and Mrs. Frederick C. Matthaei Sr.

spreads of peonies, roses and other perennials. There is a wildflower garden. And if that isn't enough to bring you in, there are also nature trails, ponds, wooded wetlands, a reconstructed prairie and meadows.

And the facility isn't finished growing yet. One project planned for this year is the remodeling of an office and a new laboratory for a University of Michigan professor researching how some plants can grow under difficult conditions — research which might have important effects on agriculture. In addition, a renovation of the conservatory is now under way and a refurbishing of the herb garden is planned.

To help you enjoy the many features of the gardens, the facility offers tours and assorted adult education classes on many different topics.

Classes cover topics like identifying plants, growing tips and the like. Tours are scheduled at 2 p.m. on four consecutive Sundays beginning April 10, and each covers a different topic. The schedule is: April 10, "Hunt for the Skunk Cabbage"; April 17, "Identifying Bloodroot and Hepatica"; April 24, "Look for Trillium and Spring Beauty"; and May 1, "Search for Jack-in-the-Pulpit and Wild Geraniums." There is no charge for the tours.

One of the biggest events of the year at the gardens is the Spring Perennial Sale, set for 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. April 30 and May 1. Plants have been arriving by the truckload since early March in preparation for a sale which will be twice as large as last year's. Proceeds from the sale benefit the gardens.

The gardens will also host a sale of used camping equipment from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, May 7. For more information on the camping sale call 936-3694 or 763-7060.

For more information about the other programs or about the gardens in general, call 763-7060 from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

The Matthaei Botanical Gardens include several different types of gardens. There is an indoor conservatory with exhibits of tropical and desert plants which attract more than 40,000 visitors each year. Outdoors, the gardens include rock gardens, and plots of medicinal herbs.

Of course, there are plenty of flowers, too —

The Moveable Feast: Classic French food

Appreciators of classic French fare are fortunate that several are located nearby. Worth adding to the list of fine area French restaurants is The Moveable Feast, a French restaurant housed graciously in a Victorian home in downtown Ann Arbor.

Five years ago The Moveable Feast expanded from its shop in Kerrytown by the Ann Arbor farmers' market to the brick house dating to 1870 on Liberty.

Diners are seated in the high-ceiling rooms with shuttered windows on the first floor. The second floor is available for catered events.

As soon as first-time diners are handed the 10½ by 8-inch menu, they become aware that this will be no ordinary meal.

Among the six appetizers at $6 on the menu during a visit in March were stuffed cherrystone clams with four sauces, caviar-mousse with cucumber vinaigrette and smoked pheasant with currants.

The eight main courses included shrimp and mussels, roasted breast of duck, rack of lamb and a chef's selection of fresh seafood.

The menu also features a fixed price four course dinner with a choice of six main courses ranging in price from $36.75 to $34.75 and including dessert or dessert wine and beverage.

However, for diners on Tuesday through Friday the special bistro dinners are a bargain at $16.50.

On a recent visit we were offered the choice of mussel soup or puree of eggplant, both pronounced excellent, or a crisp, light chef's salad.

The main course choices that evening were the chef's selection of fresh ocean whitefish or New York strip steak with yellow and black mustard seed. While the steak was fine, we all agreed that the whitefish was exceptional. It was fluted and cooked to perfection. Both main course choices were served with just-done vegetables on the plate.

The wine list offered a varied selection, both in choices and prices. Because members of our party had ordered both bistro choices, we chose a reasonable Spanish champagne.

Because desserts are important — and fantastic — at the Moveable Feast they are listed on a separate menu.

They also are included in the bistro dinners

The seven selections when we dined included a dark chocolate cup containing orange-flavored Bavarian cream topped with fresh orange slices and a Grand Marnier glaze, which melted in my mouth.

Another in our party selected a dessert named Nancy, a rich chocolate cake with nutty rum butter cream, covered with chocolate glaze.

A traditional dessert, also was pronounced excellent, was a velvety custard with fresh strawberries in a raspberry puree garnished with a chocolate-dipped biscotti.

The wine by the glass menu included a 10-year old tawny port, Royal Oporto, woody and mellow, recommended as excellent with cheese. Cheese and fresh fruit was another dessert choice.

The restaurant invites comparison with Elizabeth's in Northville. The owners say many of their customers have mentioned they also dine at Elizabeth's.

The Moveable Feast is located at 326 W. Liberty in Ann Arbor. Lunch and dinner are served Tuesday through Friday. Dinner only is served Saturday. Dinner hours are 6-9:30 p.m. For reservations, catering information regarding dinners and receptions as well as for catered cuisine and baked goods, call 313-66-FFEST. Credit cards accepted.

RIGMOR CUOLAHAN

She's Volunteer of Year

Northville Township resident Rigmor Cuolahan has been honored as Volunteer of the Year by the International Institute of Metropolitan Detroit.

The Norwegian-born American has been active at the International Institute for 20 years, serving on the board of directors and members' council.

She has assisted the institute in the capacity of interpreter, tour guide, chairman of the annual Old World Market and as chair of the Hall of Nations' flag committee.

Currently she is chairing the institute's volunteer task force and is on the board of directors of the Friends of the International Institute Inc., a group which assists the social service agency financially. She also is on the members' council.

"In addition to serving as a one-woman reference library on Scandinavian culture for the institute, Mrs. Cuolahan also donates her Wednesdays each week to the International Institute, working in The Tiny Shop," Mary Ball, executive director of the institute, reports.

Proceeds from The Tiny Shop, the institute's gift shop which specializes in imported items, are used to support the institute programming. Located at 111 E. Kirby in Detroit's Cultural Center, the institute, a United Foundation agency, provides human services to foreign-born people and new immigrants, as well as promotes an understanding of ethnic culture in the community at large.

Members of the Friends of the Northville Library who are volunteering to catalog information in the early editions of The Northville Record, which have been put on microfilm, are receiving a "bonus" of meeting personalities from the past as they read papers from more than 100 years ago.

Earlier this month, Geraldine Mills, volunteer reader and president of the Northville Friends, encountered Sojourner Truth.

An item in a Dec. 1, 1877, paper recorded:

Sojourner Truth lectured at the Methodist Church last Thursday evening on the subject of intemperance, and her lecture was interesting and instructive to both young and old."

The reading-cataloging project began after early Records from 1860 to 1950 were microfilmed in an arrangement with the Northville and Novi libraries and the State of Michigan Library.

A faithful reader who volunteers for a weekly stint, Mills reports that the Dec. 1, 1877, edition also contained a comment on then Record editor Sam Little's interest and involvement with the construction of a Northville opera house.

Our readers must overlook any occasional delays in the publication of this paper as we are that absorbed in the opera house matter that we can scarcely devote a minute's time to sleep or nourishment, let alone newspaper work.

Mills adds that the paper contained a story, The Opera House, detailing progress on the building:

Subscribers to the opera house pay in their money. Something over a week ago the foundation of the opera house was completed. In accordance with condition of the contract Mr. James Dean, the contractor of Detroit, made a demand on the different subscribers to the fund, for the amount of the first payment. Nearly all of these have responded to the call leaving the money with A.S. Lapham and Co., and receiving a receipt.

Within the course of a week the first story will be up, and probably ere our next issue the second tier of joist, or rather, the second story will be standing.

By last week, volunteers were reading Records from 1878, Mills reports. The issue of Feb. 9 contained a history of an even earlier Northville, she says, as a David Clarkson wrote about "Northville in the Beginning," going back to the community's first log house "and who built it."

The first land in this town was located by Alanson Aldrich in 1824. Soon after John Miller bought land and came here in 1825 and commenced chopping on the east side of what is now Center Street and north of Dunlap. He built a log house 12 by 16 with a fireplace on the north end, just as wide as the house with a stick chimney on the outside.

Miller also chopped and cleared on the east side of Center Street up to Main Street and west 30 or 40 rods. He built another log house on the east side of the stream very near where the Northville Mills now stand.

In 1826 he began to make preparation to build a grist mill. It was located a little south of where the Northville Mill now stands. This was raised in the summer of 1827 and the first grist was ground in the fall of that same year. People came to this mill to get their grinding done for many miles around. A blacksmith shop was started near the mill, and this was the beginning of Northville and John Miller was the pioneer.

Father Hickox came in 1827 and built a little shop south of the mill, had a turning lathe and made wheels, grain cradles, rakes, etc. In 1830 the Mead brothers, Marshall and Samuel, started a store near the mill, and in the spring of 1831 put up a building on the corner of Main and Center streets where D.B. Northrop's hardware store now stands and moved in their goods, where they remained for several years.

Daniel L. Cady located on the southeast ¼ and Hiram Robinson on the southwest ¼ of section 3 and a Mr. Page the ¼ of the northeast ¼ which made up the whole section and which is now included in the corporate limits of the village.

Captain William Dunlap came in 1831 with his family and purchased Miller's farm and all his interest in Northville, took immediate possession and moved his family into the log house by the mill. Abram Lamunyon occupied the first house on the west side. He was hired to work for the season. Dunlap commenced immediately to repair the mill and put in a second run of stone.

In 1832 the first plot of the village of Northville was made by William Dunlap and recorded in the county register's office.

There were but few settlers in town at that time. Roads were merely underbrushed out, and went winding through woods "around catholes" wherever the best track could be made. Throughout the town was here and there a clearing thickly covered with blackened stumps.

The first schoolhouses, built of logs, stood near where C.A. Griswold's barn now stands. The floor was made of split logs the flat side up, and the seats were of the same material with legs. In 1833 the stone schoolhouse was built, the walls of which are now standing near Barley's wagon shop.

"History buffs can learn much about Northville and its activities a century ago through this project," says Mills.

Anyone interested in helping is invited to call Merle Hines, retired Northville Public Schools librarian, 349-0349, who is in charge of the Friends training program for the project.

Volunteers also may sign up at the library. Librarian staff member Al Smithley says that at the moment the number of volunteers is down to about a half dozen.

Mustang named to All-Area squad

Here's a look at the 1988 Silger-Livingston East Boys' Basketball Team...

FIRST TEAM

BILL ARMSTRONG, Milford, forward: Last summer, when Milford coach Don Palmer talked about the keys to success for his squad, he usually started with this 6-foot-5 senior.

"We were aware of what some of the other kids could do, but Bill was kind of an unproven player," the coach commented. "He looked good at times as a junior, but was somewhat hesitant late in games. It definitely was a concern."

"Bill put our worries to rest, though. He really came on during the middle of the season. He was every bit as good as anyone we had during the last 10 games or so."

Armstrong averaged 14.6 points and 5.4 rebounds per game this season. He also converted 47 of 77 free throw attempts for 61 percent and 147 of 316 field goal tries for 47 percent.

The highlight of his season came in the regional semifinals when he scored a career-high 29 points against Lansing Sexton. He also recorded a pair of slam dunks this year — the first by a Milford player in 10 years.

"Bill's got some MIAA schools interested in him," Palmer added. "I think he's got a good chance to be successful at that level. His best basketball is probably still ahead of him."

SHAUN HAYWARD, Milford, guard: 6-foot-3 senior, Hayward concludes his varsity career as Milford's all-time leading scorer with 1,163 points. "The record is a tribute to Shaun," Redskin coach Don Palmer said. "He's been through a lot. He had to play varsity ball as a freshman, he had to carry us as a sophomore even though he wasn't ready and he's had to play against box-and-ones and triangle-and-twos all of his life."

Hayward is the area's most explosive shooter. When on a roll, he's capable of turning a close game into a blowout in a matter of minutes. His fire was most evident when he converted eight straight field goals — four from three-point range — in the regional semifinals against Lansing Sexton.

Hayward finished his senior year with 63 three-pointers — an average of 2.6 per game.

In 24 games this season, the Redskin star averaged 18.3 points, 6.3 rebounds and 3.8 assists. He hit 79 of 104 free throw attempts for 76 percent and 148 of 367 field goal tries for 40 percent.

"Shaun's been a good one," Palmer said. "He sure has made my job easier. I just wish I could have him for another year or two."

BRIAN SCHRAM, Novi, center: High expectations preceded this 6-foot-6 senior, and although he didn't exactly live up to all of those lofty predictions, Schram still had a stellar campaign.

He averaged 14 points and 8.1 rebounds a game, but foul trouble often hampered his contributions and turned Schram into a streaky player.

Despite the up-and-down season, Schram was a constant threat because of his great physical ability and multi-dimensional capabilities at the offensive end. Schram's great leaping ability and height enabled him to play above the rim, but he could also consistently hit shots from the perimeter.

"Brian is a multi-dimensional player because he can score inside and outside," Novi coach John Cicchelli said. "He had some outstanding games where he looked awfully good. Some were phenomenal. But then again, he had some off nights that were pretty bad

"He seemed to be in a lot of foul trouble and that really hurt us. We are not the same team with him on the bench."

A versatile athlete, Schram quarterbacked the Novi football team to a perfect 9-0 regular season last fall and is among the state's premier high jumpers in track.

DAVE SKOWN, Novi, forward: A pleasant surprise for the Wildcats, this 6'3" senior surpassed all expectations and had a truly great season.

He transformed from an inside role player to a terror on the boards in just one year's time. Skown led Novi in scoring (18.6 points per game) and rebounding (13.0), and reached double figures in both categories 17 of 21 times during the season — which means he was a very consistent performer.

Skown hauled down 280 boards on the year to become one of the top rebounders in the state. The mark was the third highest in Oakland County, tops in the Kensington Valley Conference and added considerably to his career number — which is third on the all-time Novi list.

"Dave hustles all the time and seems to be in the thick of the action," Wildcat coach John Cicchelli said. "He's an over-achiever and I know he did much better than anybody expected. He played extremely well the second half of the season."

Skown was the fourth highest scorer in the KVC and was a first-team selection on the all-league squad.

RANDY WATTERS, Lakeland, forward: When the season started, this 6-foot-3 junior was lost in the shadow of Eagle star Matt Moyer. He was considered a regular, but no one expected a great deal of contributions from him.

Until Moyer went down with a knee injury, that is. Then it was Watters' turn to shine, and he made the most of his opportunity by averaging 15.0 points and 9.2 rebounds per game.

"We were hurting when Moyer went down," Lakeland coach Bob McFarland said. "He was our star... the guy we went to in key situations. It took us a while to adjust, but when we did, Randy really stepped in and did the job. He knew what we needed from him."

Watters has developed into one of the area's top offensive players in terms of "3-P" ability — perimeter, post-up and penetration. He keeps opposing defenses off balance with his versatility.

His other statistics include 65 percent shooting from the free throw line, 42-percent accuracy from the floor, 38 steals and 29 assists.

"Randy has a great deal of potential," McFarland commented. "The problem is he doesn't know it yet. I guess it's up to me to help him figure it out... when he does, he's going to be a heck of a player."

SECOND TEAM

SCOTT ARMSTRONG, Milford, guard: This 6-foot sophomore stepped in and solidified Milford's starting line-up this season.

"Scott put up some very impressive numbers for a 10th grader," Redskin coach Don Palmer said. "The big thing people forget, though, is he made the conversion from a forward on the junior varsity to a point guard on the varsity in one year. It was a tremendous accomplishment."

Armstrong averaged 10.5 points, 5.2 rebounds and 5.1 assists per game this season. He also hit 66 percent of his free throws (63-for-95) and 48 percent of his field goals (92-for-195).

"Scott will be a major part of our offense for the next two years," Palmer added. "He's the guy we'll build around. But he'll also be the next Milford player to see gimmick defenses everywhere he goes."

Northville struggles to rebuild softball

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

Traci Johnson, recreation supervisor for the Northville Rec Center, wants to turn back the clock to the early 1980s when there was a flourishing adult softball program in the city.

In 1984 — the final season for the old program — there were 16 men's teams and that doesn't including the women's and coed leagues. The entire program was canceled in '85 and '86, and although there was an attempt to start it back up last summer, the response wasn't very good. The truth of the matter is that rebuilding the program has been very difficult and slow going.

"We want to build this league back up to the way it was back in 1984," Johnson said. "We had a program last year but it was nothing like it was before. We only had four men's and four women's teams, so we'd like to double that this year. So far it's been slow coming."

The Northville adult softball leagues played all their games at Thomson Field on Six Mile in the early 80s. According to Johnson, Thomson was a great facility with lights and a concession stand — but the field hosted its last adult softball game in August of 1984.

"The Thomson family decided to close the field and that was the only diamond we had," Johnson said. "Without a place to play, the league folded the next season."

"Thomson Field is now overgrown with weeds and grass. We took down the lights so those are gone too. From what I understand, it was a wonderful field when it was in use."

Since then, there's been many unhappy softballers from the area. Most ended up joining leagues in Novi or Canton and now that the program is making a comeback, getting those old teams and players hasn't been easy.

"It always troubled me after we lost Thomson Field," said softball enthusiast David Zuma. "I couldn't understand why we couldn't find some other field for softball in the area. Northville seems to be an affluent community and to not have a softball program was disappointing."

Since Johnson started working for the Rec Center in 1985, rebuilding the adult softball leagues became a major goal. The Rec Center has since purchased and developed a new field at Maybury State Park, and has converted a hardball diamond into a softball field in Hines Park.

"One of my major priorities was to rebuild it because there was obviously a need for it before," Johnson pointed out. "A lot of people just don't know that this program is here and I think a lot of it has to do with having nothing for two years."

"With the influx of new residents, it's a prime opportunity for them to meet new people, get some exercise and have a good time. We want it to be like our volleyball leagues, which are very popular."

There is currently only one men's team signed up, and that troubles Johnson. Getting four teams a year ago was a major problem, and nothing has really changed.

"What we really need is a shot in the arm," said Zuma, who is a member of the only team currently signed up. "For adult recreation, softball was such a major thing here in Northville four or five years ago. When you have a lay-off, a lot of people get out of it or go to play elsewhere."

"But the interest has always been there. Now we want to let everyone know that we're trying to build it back up. I'm not so sure we can get it back to the level it was in the past, but we have to start somewhere."

Registration for men's, women's and coed teams began in mid-March and will continue well through April. Cost for each men's and women's teams is $200 plus a $10 fee per game for umpires. The coed fee is $175 plus umpire fees.

The men's and women's 12-week season will be held on Monday and Tuesday evenings respectively beginning in May, while the coed season will get under way in early June and play games on Sunday afternoons.

House named 2nd team All-Area

MARK HOORN, South Lyon, forward: "Mark's a great athlete," Lion coach John Kearney said. "He's a scrappy player who will sacrifice his body for the team. He never stops hustling when he's on the court. It's hard not to like his game."

Hoorn, a 6-foot-1 junior who played all three positions, averaged 12.5 points, 9.6 rebounds and 5.0 steals per game this season. He also is considered South Lyon's top defensive player.

Recognized for his football and baseball skills as well, Hoorn may be the area's best all-around athlete.

"Mark has a nice future in front of him," Kearney added. "His best sports are probably football and baseball... and he's the type of kid who could play both in college, even at the MAC level."

CHRIS HOUSE, Northville, center: This 6-foot-5 junior was the first underclassman to start for the Mustangs in quite some time, but the decision proved to be a wise one.

House led Northville with 13.5 scoring and 7.5 rebounding averages despite facing countless double-teams and sagging zone defenses most of the season.

"Chris was definitely our 'Mr. Inside,' but because we didn't have a consistent perimeter player, teams started to surround him at every turn," Mustang coach Tim Lutes said.

House scored in double figures in 15 of 19 games, which is quite consistent for a first-year varsity player on a 4-17 team. He hit 43 percent from the field, 73 percent from the free throw line and seemed to come up with big performances in the key games.

"Chris was our only consistent scoring threat," Lutes pointed out. "He's a good shooter, but he still needs work on his positioning around the basket. He's got a lot of work to do, but he'll definitely be a key player next year."

CHRIS HUTCHINS, Lakeland, guard: This 5-foot-10 junior averaged 13.6 points, 4.9 assists, 3.4 rebounds and 2.5 steals per outing.

"Chris was all over the place at times," Eagle coach Bob McFarland said. "He did a lot of different things for our team. He always found a way to contribute, even when his shots weren't going in."

"Chris is a perfectionist," the coach added. "I'm not sure if that's good or bad, though. He always works to be perfect, but he sometimes gets upset when things go bad. Once he learns to control that part of his game, he'll go from being a good player to an outstanding player."

Hutchins is most dangerous when driving to the basket. His quickness and body control make him a terror to defend. He also excels defensively, especially during an up-tempo pace.

JEFF IRISH, Milford, forward: Strength and incredible leaping ability helped this 5-foot-10 junior become one of the area's top inside players.

Irish, recognized more for his success as a catcher on the baseball team, averaged 7.7 points and 6.3 boards per game this season. He also went to the free throw line 112 times — a result of his relentless efforts in the paint area.

Irish's main strength, however, is defensive versatility. He always draws a difficult assignment, ranging from Lakeland point guard Matt Hutchins to Howell forward Todd Clickner. He possesses the quickness to defend a perimeter player and the strength to cut off an inside threat.

"A lot of the things we did offensively were started by Jeff on defense," Milford coach Don Palmer said. "He's extremely aggressive. He doesn't back down to anyone."

Moilanen selected All-State

Northville's Karl Moilanen began playing hockey at age six and all those years of practice have paid off in a big way. Moilanen, a senior at Detroit Country Day School (DCDS), is one of the premier high school hockey players in the state and is also a fine lacrosse player.

Karl, the son of Tom and Kay Moilanen, has been a Northville resident since October, 1985. He began playing hockey 11 years ago in the Livonia Hockey Association program and was involved in both house and travel teams as well as independent travel teams for years. Moilanen has played for DCDS on the varsity for four years and earned a letter each year. He was the captain of the 1987-88 squad and has played throughout the Midwest, Canada and Finland during his high school years.

Moilanen was recently honored as a Michigan All-Stater and played in the All Star Game on March 20 at the Redford Arena. He was also invited to be one of 17 members of the 1988 Team Michigan hockey squad representing the state at the U.S. High School All-Star Tournament held between March 29 and April 3 in suburban Chicago. Twenty teams are competing from as far away as Alaska, Massachusetts and Arizona.

Karl has also competed on the DCDS lacrosse squad since his freshman year and will be captain of the 1988 team this spring. In 1987, he was named to the All-State lacrosse — second team.

Moilanen is hoping to play collegiate lacrosse at either Ohio State University or Ohio Wesleyan and plans to play hockey as well. Karl has achieved cum laude recognition at DCDS and currently maintains a 3.0 grade point average.

Holdridge, Buell grab state titles

Area swimmers have been very competitive at virtually all levels this season. The Northville High School boys' varsity tankers just completed a fine season, which came on the heels of a fine campaign for the girls' team last fall.

Feeding the high school program is several very successful clubs in the area like the Spartan, Bulldog and Clarenceville swim clubs as well as the Meads Mill Middle School program. Recently, swimmers from this area wrapped up the 1988 season in impressive style with top-notch performances at various events like the Middle School Swimming and Diving Invitational Championships and the USS-M Boys' and Girls' Age Group State Championships.

No team scores were kept at the middle school meet held on Feb. 20 at Lansing's Hill High School, but Meads Mill swimmers still managed to assert themselves with 21 top 25 finishes against the best in the state. Bob Holdridge was the star for Meads Mill by registering a pair of state titles and setting two new school records in the process. Holdridge took first place honors in the 200-yard freestyle (1:58.01) and the 100 freestyle (53.77). His times broke previous records set by Eric Newton a year ago.

Jodie Wealey was second in the 200 freestyle (2:14.39) and third in the 100 backstroke (1:11.83) to pace the girls team, and Jim Fee was sixth in the 50 freestyle (27.25) and eighth in the 50 butterfly (29.84) to provide a fine 1-2 punch along with Holdridge on the boys side. The rest of the finishers included: Mike Schlegal in the 200 freestyle (eighth — 2:22.99) and 50 butterfly (fourth — 31.84), Matt Hanna in the 100 IM (fifth — 1:07.20) and the 100 breast stroke (fourth — 1:14.92), Teresa Michel in the 50 freestyle (seventh — 29.30) and the 100 freestyle (11th — 1:08.03), Beth Frayne in diving (15th — 145 points), Tara Gursky in the 50 butterfly (17th — 35.79) and the 100 freestyle (19th — 1:10.84), Amy Stringer in the 50 butterfly (18th — 36.25), Matt Handyside in the 100 breast stroke (17th — 1:25.55) and Jennifer Lower in the 100 freestyle (23rd — 1:13.59).

In addition, the boys' 200 medley relay team on Steve Coon, Hanna, Fee and Holdridge placed fourth (2:04.24) while the girls' 200 medley relay team, featuring Alice Anthony, Gursky, Stringer and Lower, placed 16th (2:30.82).

At the boys age group meet on March 18-20 at Oakland Community College, Fee, Holdridge and Jeff Sieving each placed (top 12) in six events. Fee was second in the 50 freestyle, seventh in the 200 IM, third in the 100 butterfly, eighth in the 500 freestyle, 11th in the 100 freestyle and 11th in the 50 freestyle in the 11-12 age group. Holdridge was eighth in the 50 freestyle, sixth in the 200 freestyle, fourth in the 500 freestyle, sixth in the 1,000 freestyle and 12th in the 40 IM as a competitor in the 13-14 age group. Sieving (10 and under) was third in the 50 breast stroke, fourth in the 100 breast stroke, third in the 50 butterfly, second in the 100 butterfly, fourth in the 100 IM, and third in the 200 IM.

The rest of the competitors included Eric Newton, who was sixth in the 1,650 freestyle, fourth in the 400 IM and fourth in the 200 butterfly, and Dave Morante, who was eighth in the 100 backstroke. Both were entered in the 15-16 age group.

In the girls' meet on March 4-6,

Debbie Buell was the standout. Buell — voted the Northville High varsity team's MVP last fall — placed in seven events and came away with a pair of state titles. Buell was a first-place finisher in the 400 IM and the 200 IM. She was also third in the 100 breast stroke and 200 breast stroke, sixth in the 200 backstroke, ninth in the 500 freestyle, and seventh in the 1,650 freestyle.

The rest of the Northville contingent that placed included Pam Holdridge (10th in the 100 butterfly) Julie Hilfinger (seventh in the 200 IM, 12th in the 400 IM and eighth in the 200 butterfly), Kristen Storm (12th in the 500 freestyle, seventh in the 100 breast stroke) and Megan Holmberg (eighth in the 100 backstroke and eighth in the 200 backstroke).

Pick shoes with activity in mind

By ANNE WILLIS

Tennis shoes used to be the dirty, white, holey things that mothers shuddered at and only gym teachers allowed.

There was a time when buying tennis shoes meant a quick trip to the local shoe store where the only choices were between low-topped pointy-toed white shoes for girls, and black or white high-topped models for boys.

Enter the age of fitness and high-tech workout equipment. Today a trip to buy a pair of gym shoes means a choice between not only a veritable rainbow of colors, but a choice between styles and materials which could have a great impact both on the type of workout you do — and the results.

Spring is the biggest time of the year for those in the shoe business, particularly for those in the gym shoe business. As the weather warms up people's thoughts turn to getting outside — and getting in shape.

Troy Ouellette, manager-in-training at the Twelve Oaks Foot Locker store said the vast choices open to athletes seeking shoes can often be confusing. The Foot Locker employees are taught to ask a lot of questions in attempting to match the right shoe to the right sport and the right foot.

The store carries shoes specially designed for running, tennis, basketball, racquet sports, aerobics, fitness, walking and the newest style — cross training.

Ouellette said the first question is to determine exactly for what purpose the shoe will be used. If the customer is seeking purely a "walk-around" shoe for casual wear, then style and general fit are the biggest concerns. But if the customer is looking for a shoe for a specific sport activity, then the process is more specific.

Running shoes are the shoes with the best construction overall, he said, as they must withstand the most pounding and the biggest wear due to concrete and rough outdoor surfaces. Runners face choices regarding the inside and outside construction of their shoes.

Ouellette said he always finds out whether the runner is a beginner, or is going to be running only a mile or so each day. This type of runner does not need the more rugged and expensive model of running shoe as the high mileage experienced runner. All runners are encouraged to talk about specific ailments caused by their running, as different shoes can help soothe and correct problems.

Most newer running shoes have heel stabilizers in them, Ouellette said, which keep the foot, the leg and most importantly, the knee, straight while running. Whereas a shoe for tennis may have a sole of polyurethane to give maximum traction on the court, running shoes are made of tougher stuff.

The Foot Locker has a running shoe known as the Indy 500. The sole on the shoe is made of the same component used in Indy 500 race car tires, Ouellette said.

Walking shoes are built a lot like running shoes, the manager said, with a different flex point built into the shoe. The flex point of a shoe determines whether the balance of the foot will be up on the toes or on the balls of the feet. In a walking shoe the flex point keeps the walker up on the toes, while on a running shoe that isn't necessary as most runners run on their toes and the balls of their feet.

While the tennis shoes of old might not have been stylish, they were considerably less costly than their modern day counterparts. Ouellette said the store has a pair of top-of-the-line basketball shoes for $110. The shoes have an air encapsulated midsole for cushion, great lateral support for ankles and are light — a high tech plus.

Cross training shoes are for the athlete who works out at more than one sport, Ouellette said. He recommends them for those who may jog one or two miles one day, do some walking, aerobics, cycling or other activity on subsequent days. These shoes run between $50-$75. "I recommend them as long as the users don't use them too much for one sport. If they're going to be just running — they should get running shoes," he said.

Women athletes have as many choices as their male counterparts. Mary Jo Hutson, manager of the Lady Foot Locker store in Twelve Oaks noted that women must look for athletic shoes that meet their own personal physical and workout needs.

Hutson said that women customers are asked the same questions, such as how much and what kinds of exercise they will be doing. Women's shoes take into account the difference in a woman's physical construction as well as the different weight distribution between men and women.

"The technology is different," she explained, pointing out that women's shoes are made on different sized lathes to insure the proper fit. Women must also take into account their own weight and build — heavier, bigger women need differently constructed shoes than their more petite counterparts.

Despite the rise in technology for the sports enthusiasts, Ouellette said almost 80 percent of his customers are just interested in style, while Hutson said about 50 percent of her customers just want something fashionable and functional.

Fitness Tips

Prepare your child for a trip to the hospital

By NEIGATHA GRANEY, M.D.

Taking your child to a medical facility for health care can be a traumatic experience for both of you. Children are vulnerable to fear and apprehension particularly when they have no idea of what to expect. Even a simple procedure such as examining the ear can become a battle royale resulting in an uncontrollably shrieking child and a bewildered parent and doctor. However, this need not be the case.

Preparing a child for what to expect in honest and plain terms can be reassuring and affect his attitude toward hospitals and medical care indefinitely. Fear of the unknown is usually far worse than worry about the known.

Discuss it at home beforehand to help your child understand what will take place during the visit. The age and level of maturity of the child determines what and how to tell him. Children over six years of age usually require more detailed explanations. It is extremely important to be honest especially with regard to pain. The fear of pain is far outweighed by the fear of the unknown and unexpected.

This preparation helps to reduce the child's anxiety and provide some security. The child can see his parents are not overwhelmed either and are still able to protect him. Parental anxiety can also be overcome by knowing what to expect.

In order to prepare the child, the parents need to be able to understand and describe to the child what will happen. The parents can find out more details about the office or hospital protocol by talking with nurses and other personnel at the medical facility.

It can also help if the child is able to visit the facility under non-threatening circumstances such as accompanying a sibling or friend during their examination. Overall, a visit to the doctor should be presented in the context that this can be a positive experience and the people encountered by the child are there to help make him better or to help keep him healthy.

To provide an opportunity for children to visit a medical facility in a non-threatening fashion, the Northville M-CARE Health Center at 650 Griswold is sponsoring a teddy bear clinic from noon to 4 p.m. on April 6. Children are invited to schedule an appointment for a free health exam for their teddy bear or doll. Tours of the center, X-rays of the teddy bear, refreshments and gifts will be provided to all who attend. Call 344-1777 for a reservation.

Some helpful books are: "Curious George Goes to the Hospital," by H.A. Rey; "What Happens when you go to the Hospital," by Arthur Shay; "A Hospital Story," by Sara Bonnet Stein; and "Let's Go to a Hospital," by Florence Whitman Rowland.

The Northville Record is working with medical authorities at the University of Michigan Medical Center (M-Care) in Northville to provide up-to-date information on a variety of health-related topics. The series is coordinated by Peg Campbell of the M-Care staff.
