Two natives of Mexico accused of being illegal aliens were arrested in Northville over the weekend and turned over to the border patrol for deportation

The CSX Railroad police contacted the Northville Police Department Saturday to say there were two trespassers riding the train, a city police report said. Police found the two men in a coal car on a northbound train, which was on the tracks just below the overpass at Griswold Road

A check with the border patrol revealed the two men were from Mexico and in the country illegally, the report said. One gave a home address in Chicago and one in San Fran-

Northville police issued the men tickets for trespassing and held them overnight. Two representatives from the border patrol picked the men up for deportation proceedings.

Police said Monday they did not know where the men were going when they were picked up:

Crash kills auto driver

A Westland woman died after her car ran off the roadway and struck a tree in a one-car accident on Thursday, April 14, at approximately 10:43 p.m.

Ann Marie Fedorko, 28, was pronounced dead at the scene. Her body was transported to the Oakland County Medical Examiner's Office following the acci-

The accident occurred on Eight Mile, approximately one-quarter mile west of Garfield Road near Maybury State Park

According to police reports, Fedorko was travelling eastbound on Eight Mile in a 1979 Dodge Colt when her vehicle crossed the center line, veered across the westbound lane and ran off the north side of the road. The car struck a "no parking" sign before hitting a large tree

After hitting the tree, the vehicle rolled over on the passenger side.

Two candidates left in school board race

By ANITA CRONE

And now there are two

Voters in the Northville Public School district will have very little choice in the June 13 school board election following Kay Kepner's withdrawal as a school board candidate last Thursday.

Donald Klokkenga and Carol Rahimi are the only candidates re-maining on the ballot and there are two vacancies on the board, caused by the decisions of David Llewellyn and Douglas Whitaker not to seek another term.

It has been three years since voters have had the same number of candidates as vacant seats. And that occurred when Jean Hansen ran.

Hansen, who (aced her first election virtually unopposed in 1981 when there were the same number of can-in 1985 with no opposition, is not running this year, but still expressed concern about the lack of competition for school board seats.

"It (the same number of candidates as seats) makes it very easy for a write-in candidate to corral-a couple of PTAs and a few friends and win," she said. "It's scary that that could happen and the voters would not know anything about the candidate.

But she also said the lack of candidates could be a good sign. "It could be that people are content with the way the schools are being run. They don't feel a need to change

Whatever the reason for the lack of candidates, the schools will still be required to spend the $3,000 to run the election, $1,700 to pay the workers, $800 for ballots and supplies and $500

didates as vacant seats and ran again for legal costs, explained John Street, the district's director of business and finance. - Superintendent George Bell is not ecstatic about the lack of competition, although he said the two candidates have a history of involvement with the schools.

"The candidates are good, but I don't really expect a very large turnout In fact, if we get 1/3 the turnout we usually do, it will be high," said

Ironically, Rahimi ran for the school board in 1987 as a write-in candidate when she failed to sign her affadavit of identity prior to the withdrawal date.

This year, she said, everything is set and proper. The election is scheduled for June

rdinance trees residents

The homeowners in the Abbey Knoll Estates subdivision are going to have a tree in the right-of-way strip of their front lawns whether they like it or not

While offering the city's help in improving the subdivision's entrance and cul-de-sacs, the City Council Monday denied a request to work on those projects with money reserved for tree planting.

The city has operated with a tree program for new subdivisions since the 1960s. Under the program, home builders pay the city $250 per lot (or $500 for a corner lot) for the city to plant a maple tree in the grassy right-of-way strip next to the street. At the last council meeting, the Abbey Knoll homeowners' association petitioned the council to let the association instead use that money which will eventually total about $28,500 - toward the cost of an improved entrance and cul-de-sacs in the subdivision. About 95 percent of the current homeowners support the effort, association members said.

"We want the same thing the council _? wants. We want the same thing the City of Northville wants. We want a subdivision with aesthetic uniqueness and its own character.'

> Bob Menton Abbey Knoll resident

'We are trying to work with the ciassociation President Harry Joboulian said Monday. "You're not going to be funding the whole project ... Our subdivision is going to come up with almost $25,000 for this. We're not asking for any freebies.' City Manager Steve Walters recommended against waiving the tree program "The planting of street trees in a coordinated fashion is a valuable aesthetic and environmental asset. and creates the appearance of a tree canopy along a public street, softening the visual effect of the street in the residential neighborhood. A ready comparison can be seen in recent subdivisions in neighboring communities, where such tree programs are not in place," Walters wrote in a memo to the council.

"In the short run, of course, the trees are small and the impact isn't really seen But in the long run the street trees do have a significant effect," Walters added at Monday's council meeting

SAD controversy moves to water, sewer board

township to provide water to the proposed Phillips/Smock/Pierson homeowners, but, government officials are optimistic that if and when the water district is approved, a lot of questions will be answered.

A petition for creation of a water district was received by the township on Sept 15, 1987, signed by 10 persons A second petition, asking that the district be dissolved, was received March 31 The second petition contained seven signatures, including those of four people who signed the original petition asking that the district be created

A mistake in the official notice of the district published in The Northville Record forced another public hearing on the special assessment district to be scheduled, but before that hearing, the homeowners will be going to the Water and Sewer Commission for an informational session. The move was spurred by Trustee Thomas Handyside, chairperson of the commission, and unanimously approved by the trustees April 14.

'I've heard through the hearing It will take a little longer for the . process how much it costs the taxpayers for this SAD It costs more to hear them here than it would ever cost to clear out a dead end for a water main.

"At the appropriate time, I will suggest procedural changes for an SAD, including an informational meeting at the water and sewer level. It (the meeting) will take up less administrative time, less board time, and we can answer procedural questions without spending a lot of money," said Handyside.

Already it has cost the township $12,300 for preliminary plans for the water district and the district has not been approved Abe Munfah, vice president of Ayres, Lewis, Norris & May, Inc., the township's consulting engineers, said preliminary costs have included $2,300 for system design and $10,000 for engineering fees, about 10 percent of the total cost for the system.

He noted that part of the problem

New Hours Monday

Copies of "Town One South" become available next week, and the Northville Arts Commission is inviting the public to a publication party to celebrate the event.

"Town One South" is a collection of poems written by Northville resident Kathleen Ripley Leo, who has published several other books of poetry and often lectures to area schools.

The book is illustrated by local artist Allen Berlinski, who created drawings of several scenes around

Leo took her inspiration for the book from the community's history, using printed works as well as interviews with longtime residents as sources for her poems. The book's title, "Town One South," comes from the original survey designation of the Northville and Plymouth township

The publication party is scheduled for 4 to 7 p m Thursday, April 28 at the council chambers in the Northville City Hall, 215 W Main Street

The author will be present to give readings and autograph her book. Musical accompaniment will be provided by Tom Rice, guitarist of the Gitfiddler music shop on Main Street

At the party, presentation copies of "Town One South" in leatherette and gold type will be given to local and state dignitaries and others who assisted in the project This is scheduled for 4 to 5 p m

From 5 to 7 p m, the public is invited to pick up previously ordered copies of the book, or to buy copies. Everyone is invited.

The publication of the book was made possible by grants and donations from the community. The book is the first item in what is projected to be a series of special fine arts projects sponsored by the Northville Arts Commission

Copies of "Town One South" are $8 To order copies by phone, call the Northville City Hall at 349-1306 and ask for Bev Dennis

NEWS BRIEFS

AND S FOR SUSAN — Just try to find a telephone number for Wayne County Commissioner Susan J. Heintz.

Heintz said she looked through the business section of the latest Ameritech phone book, seeking her business listing in vain. Finally, she called the phone company and was told, she said, that since her listing was for a business and her first name began with an S, she would find the listing under S for Susan.

For those who don't want to go through the phone book, Heintz's number at her Plymouth office is 453-5010.

INTO THE FIRE - Carol Henry, Northville Township's new building and zoning official begins her employment with the township officially on April 25. On April 26, the planning commission holds its regularly scheduled meeting. That's jumping right into the thick of things.

BEAUTIFICATION APPOINTEES - Catharine "Tina" Sellas and Wil Gertz were reappointed to the Northville Township Beautification Commission on April 14.

Sellas is currently chairperson of the group

The reappointments were recommended by Supervisor Georgina Goss and unanimously approved by the board of trustees.

POETRY READING - Northville's Carole Wobermin, a creative writing student at Schoolcraft College, read her original works April 9 as part of the Poetry Resource Center's celebration of the Michigan Poetry Festival.

The reading took place at the St. Clair Inn in St. Clair.

MORE STOP SIGNS - The Northville Police Department and City Council have agreed to a petition request from residents in the Abbey Knoll Estates subdivision for two new stop signs.

The signs will both go up on Whitegate Drive, northbound at Andover and southbound at Glenhill. In a memo to the council from Police Chief Rod Cannon, he noted that the council had approved a traffic control plan for the subdivision last year with the idea that refinements would be added later.

The council approved the recommendation for the signs Monday night.

SENIOR COUNCIL APPOINTMENT — Bruce Turnbull was reappointed to the Northville Area Senior Citizens Advisory Council by the City Council Monday night.

The senior council recommended the reappointment April 15. Terms on the council run for three years.

CONFERENCE PRESENTER - Larry Ordowski, associate dean of liberal arts at Schoolcraft College, was a presenter at the 23rd annual Midwest Regional Conference on English in the Two-Year College.

ONE OF 25 - Lincoln Lao, a professor of art and design at Schoolcraft College, received a 1988 NCGA academic scholarship from the National Computer Graphics Association, one of 25 awarded nationally each year. He was to attend a four-day NCGA conference in Anaheim, Calif., and was honored at a private luncheon with members of the NCGA Education Committee.

Lao, an artist and architect, studied in Taiwan and received his bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Oregon. He received the scholarship in recognition of his role in developing a computer-aided art and design program at Schoolcraft. It is the only community college in Michigan with this program.

April 15 surprise

If it has to snow in Michigan in April, there isn't a better day to do it than on April 15, the same date that last-minute taxpayers gave their annual donation to Uncle Sam and the state. Evidently someone up above figured that a few flakes wouldn't create any more havoc than the new tax laws.

Reickel says no to Oakland exec race

Oakland Democratic leaders have approached Wayne County parks director R. Eric Reickel about running for county executive.

But Reickel isn't so sure he's going to run. For one thing, he'd have to relocate. For another, he'd have to give up his job, or at the very least take a leave of absence

"I'm almost 99.04 percent sure that I'm not going to run for Oakland County executive," said Reickel, a township resident who said he currently lives within "spitting distance" of Oakland County. Reickel since 1984 has been Wayne County parks director after holding the same post in Oakland County for more than a decade.

Reickel was lured away from his Oakland post by William Lucas, then Wayne County executive, with a promise of an expanded budget and a chance to rescue its 4,000-acre system. He moved from West Bloom-field Township to Northville Township.

Budget cuts, however, have hampered his opportunities.

Reickel admitted his interest but said he would have to live off his savings for several months to run for Oakland executive. "Dan Murphy deserves a challenge, and were I to run, I'd be going for the win," he

County commissioner James Doyon, D-Madison Heights, called Reickel "one of the few people who we can say is truly qualified" to challenge Murphy, who has been executive since the post was created in Reickel said that while he had been contacted by Oakland County Democrats about the race, including Louis L. Miller, party chairman. "But at this time, I really would not be willing to give up recreation and that's my main consideration," Reickel said.

"I think the reason the Democrats, and, by the way, a number of Republicans contacted us is because of our proven leadership and an im-pressive track record," said Reickel. Doyon said one of the reasons

Reickel's name was put forward was because it was taking party leaders so long to recruit a ticket. All county offices — executive, sheriff, pro-secutor, clerk-register and drain commissioner - are up this year. "If Democrats don't offer an executive candidate in the next month, we might as well give Murphy no op-position at all. Oakland is a winnable; county," Doyon said.

Auto theft suspects released pending warrant request ordinance.

CARS STOLEN - Northville Township police have released two suspects pending a warrant request through the Wayne County prosecutor's office after officers recovered two stolen vehicles and Impounded a third April 14

Officer Charles Coles was sent to the Valiant Court area where he found a yellow 1985 GMC van that had been reported stolen traveling southbound on Silver Springs at Doheny Drive

Coles followed the vehicle down Seven Mile until it came to a fast stop just east of Gerald He watched as five subjects whom he described as three black males and two white males exited the van and ran from the area

Although Coles was able to get a description of the subjects, he stayed fid. secured the stolen van rather than chase the individuals, who fled on foot along northbound Seven Mile Road and into a field

Meanwhile, officer John Werth, in the area of Valient Court, found a Pontiac Firebird, which also was stolen, and he secured that car until a wrecker arrived on the scene.

While waiting for the wrecker, Werth reported that he observed two white males leaving Harbour Village apartments and heading toward the A & P store at the Northville Plaza shopping center

Near the grocery store, John Shier of the Northville City Police Department and Michigan State Police troopers Norm Harrington, Edward Lucas and Michael Taylor held the pair until township officers arrived.

Cole took the two men into custody, and, from their driver's licenses, identified them as a Milford man and a Redford man.

The township officers were able to confirm that two of the vehicles involved in the incident were stolen, as well as a radio. Officers also

Between 10 and 10:30 p.m. Thursday, April 14, several items were stolen from the car, which was parked on the lower level of the deck, the report said One of the car's windows was broken

The stolen items included a filmstrip projector worth $750, a car stereo worth $550, a camera worth $110, a $150 check and five cassette tapes One of the tapes was found on the sidewalk nearby.

The dashboard was damaged when the stereo was stolen.

ACCIDENT - A Northville girl was issued a ticket after the car she was driving hit a tree last week, a city police report said.

The car was driving north on Carrington just above S. Ely about 9:05 p m. Wednesday, April 13 when the driver was distracted by a can of pop falling off the dashboard, the report said. In trying to control the pop can, she accidentally cut to the right, jumping the curb and hitting a tree, the report said.

The driver was issued a ticket for failing to maintain the proper lane. She suffered minor injuries and was taken to Providence Hospital's Novi Center for treatment.

CAR SCRATCHED - About $150 in scratch damage was done to a car in the Cady Street parking deck last Thursday or Friday, according to a city police report

The owner found the car at noon Thursday with key scratches on the fender and hood, and the antenna bent, the report said.

WINDOW BROKEN - A car window was broken on Carrington Saturday night, according to a city police

The vehicle was parked in the driveway of a home. Damage was estimated at $75.

JEWELRY, PURSE STOLEN - A South Lyon woman shopping at Meijer's April 11 had her purse taken from her shopping cart. And if that wasn't bad enough, she told township officers that the purse contained more than $3,000 worth of jewelry.

The woman was shopping at 4:10 p.m. April 11, and had placed her jewelry in her purse because she had previously been at a tanning booth.

In addition to the purse, missing is $500 in cash, two gold rings with diamonds, a quartz watch, an 18-inch gold necklace, a gold bracelet and a pair of earrings.

FAMILY DISPUTE - A Detroit man has filed assault and battery charges against two of his brothers and his nephew stemming from an April 13 incident at a Maple Hills construction site.

According to a township police report the complainant said his brother injured him during a fight and then the three men threw a brick at the complainant's windshield, causing an estimated $2,000 damage at about 3:15 on the date in question. The complainant also informed police that on April 14, he had received a telephone threat against his home if he continued to press charges.

The threat was turned over to Detroit police and township police are continuing to investigate the charge of assault and battery.

CAR FOUND - Township police officer William Helke found a 1983 Buick Century at about 10:30 p.m. April 15, a car that had earlier been reported stolen from Hamburg,

City included in road fee figures

The City of Northville is now included in the planned distribution of money if a $25 vehicle registration fee passes in Oakland County this fall, but the Northville City Council is not yet ready to vote on whether to support the idea.

Oakland County residents will vote Aug. 2 on a proposal to levy a new $25 annual fee for vehicle registration. The money will go to improving Oakland County roads, but the Oakland County Road Commission has not announced a plan for exactly where the money will be spent.

However, the commission has announced a share for each city and village in the county. In a distribution announced last month, the City of Northville - which straddles the Oakland / Wayne county line — was not included.

But a revised distribution shows the city will get $27,071 of the money, estimated to total $18.7 million each year. A letter to Northville Mayor Chris Johnson said that the road commission had assumed the city would be included in any fee adopted by Wayne County.

The letter again requests the city's support of the fee proposal. However, at Monday's meeting, the City Council agreed with an assessment by Oakland County Commissioner John Calandro (R-Novi) that the proposal needs more details.

"They added the bait," Northville City Manager Steve Walters said of the city's inclusion in the fund distribution.

Calandro said the Road Commission is expected to present a specific program of improvements by June. The commission has a list of work which needs to be done, and is now trying to prioritize that list, he said.

"Wherever you go in the county, there are priorities," Calandro said. "Until I have some feel for how this money should be spent, I'm not going to stand up and say, 'Let's raise taxes. It's a good idea.' Because I'm not sure it's a good idea " Calandro said he especially wants to be sure that the money would ac tually go toward construction projects and not for general operating expenses. "It won't go anywhere unless it's meaningful and has broadbased support," he said.

The fee proposal is the result of a package of bills introduced in the state legislature last year to raise road money. Proposals included several chances for counties to make their own money-raising decisions -'local option' revenues — but the proposed vehicle fee was the only one

"This is the local-option bone which the legislature threw us." Calandro said, partly to see how serious the county was about raising money for roads.

Members of the city council agreed that they would like to see a specific plan before voting on any support of involves a potential loop. "It is always preferable to loop a system and we intend to do just that the next time there is a request for a water district. But right now, it is possible to provide water at a pressure of 45 psi and that would be adequate for this district," Munfah said. He also said that even at the areas where a dead end were put in the system, there would be very little maintenance work or costs involved.

But Richard Bogater, a Smock Road landowner challenged Munfah's assessment.

"At the previous meeting, it was indicated you have to clean out the dead ends five or six times a

"No, I never said that," Munfah countered. "This is treated water from the City of Detroit. There is virtually no iron content in it." However, James Roth who owns a parcel on Pierson Road noted that the City of Northville's engineers would not design a water system without a loop every 300 feet.

They were very adamant about requiring a loop every 300 feet or so. This system goes thousands of feet without a loop," Roth said, adding that It was the lack of a loop that led to his opposition to the project.

"As far as I am concerned, this (project) is just dragging its feet," said Trustee Donald B. Williams. "The township has spent $20,000; $22,000 already. Going through this over and over is redundant."

But, Supervisor Georgina Goss said that since an additional public hearing was required, it might be a good idea for the petitioners to go to the water and sewer commission and iron out their questions.

No date has been set for the next public hearing on the project.

Area's future discussed

By BOB NEEDHAM

The City of Northville, Northville ownship and the City of Novi should improve communication between the three - possibly to the point of seting up more shared services bet-een the city and township of Norwille, officials said recently

Speaking at a forum sponsored by the Northville branch of the merican Association of University Momen, Northville City Manager teve Walters, Northville Township Manager Steve Brock and Novi Planming Commission Chairperson Judith Johnson agreed the their communities should improve communication to insure strong planning 2nd future development.

There is a lot of potential for communication between the three municipalities, Walters commented at the meeting. When planning issues Bre discussed, inter-community communication is important, he said

Walters also suggested the future may hold an expansion of the idea of shared services — like the library and the recreation commission between the city and township of Nor-

One possibility might be a shared undeveloped. building department, once the Brock agreed that communication is important, particularly between Northville and Northville Township. We plan on communicating quite freely," he said

"I can concur with (Walters), there probably will be" more shared services in the future, Brock said.

In addition, Brock later joked to Walters, "I guess I can make it known — we do use your downtown as our own "

Johnson said an arrangement between Novi and Farmington Hills under which each community notifies the other of proposals along Haggerty Road, the common border - has done a lot to improve communication "It does give you some advance warning," she said.

Johnson also said, "One thing that we need to cooperate on is sewer issues. That can have a great impact on the residential you're hoping to see developed ''

Cooperation between the three municipalities was the last of five topics the officials were asked to address. Other issues included an overview of each community, a review of growth over the past decade or two, plans for the next decade or two, and the effect of surrounding growth on

The three communities have all To a greater degree rather than seen a lot of development over the lesser," Walters said. "There propagat 10 to 20 years, the officials said, bably are some other opportunities in although Novi and Northville Township remain mostly

"A lot of Novi is still very rural atbuilding activity in the city slows mosphere," Johnson said "Nobody down, he said. one common thread running through any city you deal with."

But the freeway system has produced changes, she added. "Suddenly it's very easy to live here and work there," she said In addition, "Companies now want to locate their office or headquarters close to where their employees want to live '

While the City of Northville is almost, all developed — and the one large vacant parcel, off Sheldon and Seven Mile, is being built up - both Northville Township and Novi are interested in tempering at least the intensity of development, the officials

Johnson said Novi is in the process of reducing the allowed densities of development for much of the west half of the city

"We too are trying to curtail densities It's a sensitive issue," Brock

"We are in a position of having a lot of developers come to us . . . There are very few ways you can say no to anyone."

Another issue to face in the future is traffic, the officials said.

"Traffic is a big problem that you're trying to deal with and it's a very frustrating problem because you don't have the money," Johnson

Walters said the City of Northville's problems in the future will likely be more reacting to things that take place, for example, the future of sites like the Ford plant and Nor-thville Downs. "Those are all speculative problems for us. We're trying to hedge our bets," he said.

McNeely seeks paymen

By ANITA CRONE

Jack McNeely wants to be paid On April 14, McNeely, whose firm, McNeely & Lincoln Associates

formerly was the consulting engineering firm for the township. came to the Northville Township Board of Trustees and asked that the township pay its outstanding balance to his company.

After a sometimes heated discussion, Supervisor Georgina Goss told McNeely that he would receive an answer on his payment demand within 10 days.

McNeely noted that some items on an invoice he submitted to the township were for work completed more than two years ago.

When I sent a letter on March 28 asking to be put on the agenda, Mr. Cook said the attorney was reviewing the matter," said McNeely, noting that at that time there was only one item on the invoice that was being questioned by township officials.

McNeely had requested $6,813.78 for work done on Harbour Village and an additional $43,466 for design on the Haggerty Road sewer.

McNeely said that Township Manager Steve Brock had called him and asked whether he would accept $5,000 for the work done on Harbour Village. "I told him no," McNeely said.

The Water and Sewer Commission approved a payment of approximately $20,000 and forwarded that recommendation to the full board.

But McNeely noted that he had been in contact with former Community Development Director Matt Modrack regarding the overdue payment, but no resolution had occurred.

Treasurer Richard Henningsen questioned McNeely as to whether he had initiated any contact with the treasurer's office and McNeely stated that he had not.

"I didn't think that I should bother the board with that matter," McNee-

But the board and their engineers,

Ayres, Lewis, Norris & May, Inc had reviewed the plans for the Haggerty Road sewer and Abe Munfah, a vice president with the new engineers, noted that the work for which the township was being billed had not been completed

In a three-page letter to the board, Munfah noted that the plans, as submitted, "are incomplete and not approvable at this time.'

Specifically Munfah noted five areas in which the work was lacking, including drawings and specifications at a cost of $6,000 to complete correctly, easements at a cost of $14,500, bidding documents at a cost of $2,000, special assessment district at a cost of $6,320 and permits and ap-

Munfah said that it would require a minimum of $28,820 to finalize the drawings for bidding.

McNeely said he had received a copy of the letter from the engineers, but did not comment on it.

City changes firms for reviews

The firm hired recently as the City of Northville's planning consultants are now going to provide engineering review services for the city as well.

Ayres, Lewis, Norris and May who the city hired last month to replace Ron Nino, the former planning consultant — were also hired by the city Monday night to review engineering aspects of plans submitted to the city.

The hiring only covers engineering review of site plans and rezoning applications under consideration by city officials. Northville-based McNeely & Lincoln Associates had been providing this engineering review for the city, and will continue to do major engineering work.

Abbey Knoll sub request denied

Abbey Knoll homeowner Bob Menton said at the meeting that the association and the city have the same basic goal.

'We want the same thing the council wants. We want the same thing the City of Northville wants," Menton said. "We want a subdivision with aesthetic uniqueness and its own character."

Menton said that because of the large lots and rolling land, one tree per lot will not create the tree canopy. "If it was good in the 1960s for you to do that, that doesn't (necessarily) make it good in the 1980s," he said.

In addition, some homeowners have landscaping plans which could be spoiled by a single tree in the right-of-way, he said. Several Abbey Knoll homeowners said they have no objection to trees, and having one in the right-of-way might fit into some plans. But mandating a tree for every lot will destroy some landscape concepts, they said.

Council member Paul Folino told the group of about 30 that his homeowners' association - in Lexington Commons - paid to red subdivision's entrance and to plant extra trees. "I, for one, am-yety thankful our association did that back then," he said.

"These kinds of ordinances are not on the whim of City Council," Mayor Pro Tem Carolann Ayers said. "City Council does not as a general rule overturn ordinances without looking at things very closely . . I don't' think a tree in front of anybody's house is going to ruin the aesthetics of the subdivision

Garber courts a challenge

Judge Garber is coming home. Garber for the past six weeks has been serving as a Recorders Court judge, replacing Judge Joseph Gillis, who died in office. Recently, Gov. James Blanchard named Isadore Torres to the vacancy and Torres is expected to assume his duties full time on Monday.

That means Garber will be back at 35th District Court in Plymouth, facing a full docket and a re-election ef-

It also means Garber's "vacation" is at an end

"For a judge, Recorders Court is like a vacation. Hearing jury trials is like a day in the park. The jury makes the decision, the judge makes sure the attorneys follow the law," Garber said "You're like a presiding officer "

Serving different courts is not new for Garber, who also has filled in at Wayne County Circuit Court and has worked with Chief Judge Richard Kaufman to try and clear the docket.

"That was work," he said, noting that while he worked to try and clear the Circuit Court docket he handled 1.200 files in 15 months.

Garber said that he had been re-

"If the governor called today and offered a judgeship in Circuit Court, I don't know what I'd do. But it isn't going to happen," he said, noting that it has been 10 years since an outcounty district judge has been promoted to Circuit Court.

As quickly as the thought entered his mind, Garber set it aside. He had more important things to consider Monday. He was off to see King Carl

Schools take first steptoward annual budget

By ANN E. WILLIS

Although school officials will not be informed until April 28 of the exact figure for Northville's State Equalized Valuation, the first step in the budget process has begun.

Northville's total SEV for the year will determine exactly how much income the district will have to work with when it comes to voting on expenditures for the new fiscal year.

School board officials were able, however, to put together a budget for the 1988-89 school year for the use of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners. This budget was based solely on expected expenditures.

John Street, the district's director of business and finance, explained that Wayne County is one of the last of the counties requiring submittal of projected budgets by school districts. "This is really a pro forma exercise," Street told the board. He also noted that the form in which this budget is done differs in many ways from the budget that will eventually be approved by the board.

The budget the district will send to the county and which was approved by the board included a total approximate expenditure for the 1988-89 school year of $16,155,279. That is an increase of $891,040 over the amount budgeted for 1987-88, $15,264,239, or an almost 6 percent increase

The biggest increases fell into the categories of instruction and school administration instruction, for the purposes of the county report, includes all teaching related items—salaries, supplies, books and associated supplies. The total budgeted for 1988-89 was $8,897,588, an increase of $773,673 an increase of $733,673.

Street noted that the figure showed a guess of the addition of a few new teaching positions based on the fact that enrollment in the school district.

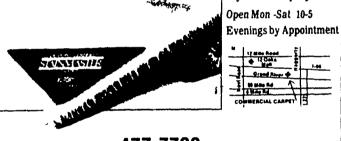

is expected to rise.

The school administrate category showed expenditures $811,327, up $55,497 from the curries year. School administration includes the cost of administration salaries and the operating of the main office complex.

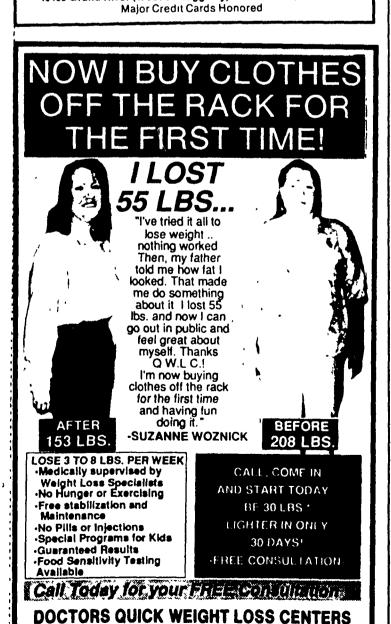

The second largest budget item, after instruction, was business besides with an estimated 1988-80 fer penditure of $3,948,054. Business provides includes a host of school operations from custodial services and salaries, utilities, operation, maintenance and repair costs in transportation items such as buses, drivers and other services.

School Superintendent George Rannoted that this budget was a perhaptory one, drawn up strictly to near the specifications of the county is said that the district will be able to set individual priorities on spending for each category once the Say: figures are in.

The Northuille Record

Our Opinions

New prodedure curbs costs and frustrations

The decision of the Northville Township Board of Trustees to send the Phillips/Pierson/Smock proposed special assessment district to the township's water and sewer commission is a good one that should have been implemented years ago.

Evidently there is a lack of understanding on the part of residents petitioning for water or sewers as to exactly what that petition entails.

Usually a petition means that residents are willing to pay for the project, not that they are investigating costs before making a decision.

And the commission appears to be the perfect unit of government to answer those concerns in a relatively cost-effective manner.

If, as Trustee Donald B. Williams has pointed out, the township has expended more than $20,000 for a water system that may not be implemented, that is money poorly spent and money that might have been used for the benefit of all, not just for a few. And if, as some of the petitioners have pointed out, the costs of water and sewer projects are more than they are willing to bear, they should have the opportunity to discover that fact before they are asked to make a commitment to a project.

By referring questions on special assessment districts to the water and sewer commission before engineering work is undertaken, a sizeable cost savings can be effected without leaving residual hard feelings.

It is possible, as Trustee Thomas Handyside has pointed out, to provide information to petitioners before a commitment has been made for a project and save not only money, but time as well.

Handyside said the water and sewer commission is willing to answer the questions before the issue reaches the board level, and if that action is taken, there will be little need for the issues to be rehashed at the board level. At the same time the petitioners will have a rough cost estimate before any official action need be taken.

The solution to what is becoming an increasing problem seems so simple, it is a wonder it has not been implemented before now. It isn't too late to do it now, though.

Good neighbor policy

An interesting idea came up at a discussion sponsored by the Northville branch of the American Association of University Women last week.

The AAUW held a forum where a representative from the City of Northville, Northville Township and the City of Novi talked over the future of the immediate area. In answering a question about communication, Judy Johnson — the chairperson of the Novi Planning Commission — mentioned an agreement between Novi and Farmington Hills.

Under the agreement, the two cities notify each other of any project proposed for the border between them. Without such a procedure, community planning along a border becomes very difficult — because Novi might be planning a large-lot subdivision while Farmington Hills is busy approving an $industrial\ park\ across\ the\ street.$

As Novi and Northville Township continue to develop, we'd like to see a similar agreement spring up, and include the City of Northville, too, so everyone stays informed. Northville Township has had pretty good communication with Plymouth Township, but they might want to pursue an agreement with Livonia as well.

It can be pretty futile to spend a lot of time and energy on planning a community when the plans are unintentionally ruined by the actions of a neighbor. It's easy to avoid such an occurrence. A simple notification between city / township managers — which could then be transmitted to city councils, planning commissions and whoever else — will be well worth the trouble.

Trees enter scene late

It is a somewhat unusual occurrence to find homeowners fighting not for trees but against them. In these times of environmental concern most city councils find themselves faced with residents trying to save trees, not avoid them.

But the Abbey Knoll Estates residents who faced the Northville city council this week petitioning to have the money earmarked for street trees used instead for other improvements in their subdivision, themselves were faced with a rather unusual occurrence.

Apparently the city had the best laid plans to use the home builder funds previously invested, to plant trees in the subdivision per the city's tree program. Unfortunately the homeowners were unaware of the plan. Once again the evil scourge of local governments raised its ugly head—lack of communication.

The city's plan calls for home builders to pay $250 for each lot into the tree fund. The fund is then activated when all the homes are built. In a perfect world each builder would have informed each lot owner that this tree plan existed, thus alerting the homeowner that any landscaping plans should include room for a tree by the street, courtesy of the city. Apparently this message was lost somewhere in the system.

Many homeowners in the subdivision had already done extensive and expensive landscaping and did not find out about the street tree planting plan until that landscaping was in the ground.

While normally someone offering to give and plant a tree in the yard would make the receiver rather happy, this gift was seen as much too late and more as a detriment to the already planned landscaping. The whole incident is a shame.

While we applaud the city's tree planting ordinance for its aesthetic planning and understand the council's reluctance to do away with an ordinance that has served the city well, we also understand the frustration on the part of the homeowners who are not pleased with the thought of someone coming in and digging up their front lawns.

The homeowners became a victim of something that was meant to help them. While it would be comforting to say "let's find out how this mix-up occurred and make sure it doesn't happen again" the fact is there won't be any new subdisions in the city for it to happen again. Small comfort, indeed.

More good news

By Bob Needham

Great. We needed something else to worry about.

You may have seen Sunday's Detroit News—and if you didn't, I'll bet you heard about it—where there was an article about a train which rambles through Northville once a week with a load of very potent and toxic chemicals. Reassuringly nicknamed the "Death Train" by those who ought to know, it comes through Plymouth and heads on to Novi, Wixom and on up to Midland and Dow Chemical.

So far, of course, there haven't been any serious accidents involving the train. If there had been, well, I guess I wouldn't be around to write this column and you wouldn't be around to read it. It's estimated that if there was a bad accident with the wrong chemicals, we'd have ten minutes to evacuate — which is hardly enough time to even find out about the problem.

Cheery thought, huh? I've heard a lot of people around town talking about this, and one man brought it up at the Northville City Council meeting Monday. City officials are going to look into the situation, but the early indications are that the local municipalities don't have any real jurisdiction on the railroads.

Somehow I doubt a letter writing campaign would be very effective against this problem. Short of blowing up the railroad tracks — and I don't think that would be a very good idea — there doesn't seem to be very much the worried resident can do.

But think about this for a minute. A trainload of toxins is not the only danger we face.

The severe danger zone for an accident at a nuclear power plant extends for quite a ways. In fact, I remember checking a map and finding the distance to be almost exactly that from Northville to Monroe, home of Fermi II, hardly even the most trouble-free of nuclear plants.

The tragedy in Novi last year reminded us—if we needed it— of how dangerous the weather can be. A fatal accident on Eight Mile a few days ago is only the latest death on the streets of the area.

And if all this isn't enough, the latest fad in the Detroit area seems to be guns on the freeways. (Police keep stressing that there is no reason to believe the recent incidents are connected. Is that supposed to make us feel better, knowing there are several maniacs around instead of just one?)

Well. Are we all good and depressed now? I hope not, because that's really not my point. I'm just saying something you've undoubtedly heard before—life is short and impermanent, and we could leave the earth at any given moment for any number of reasons.

I, personally, have better things to do than wring my hands over something that might happen, and over which I have no control. (Well, all right, maybe I don't have anything better. But most people do.)

The courage to change what we can, the serenity to accept the things we can't, and the wisdom to know the difference — until we know for sure which category the "Death Train" fits into, I'm keeping that in mind.

Plotters & schemers

After the fact

By Phil Jerome

Like a dark cloud on a sunny day he roared into the driveway atop his big black Harley-Davidson. An aberration on the evolutionary scale, falling somewhere between Attila the Hun and Darth Vader.

"Quick, make sure the cats are inside," I yelled. "Get the children and hide under the bed. I'll try to fight him off."

"Relax," she said, a little too matter-of-factly. "It's only Toby; returning some things he borrowed.

"Besides," she added. "We don't have any children."

"That's Toby?" I said, amazed. "The social outcast clad in a black leather jacket who just roared into our driveway is Toby? You've got to be kidding."

I had to admit I was greatly relieved. Having to physically protect home and family from a motorcycle gang does not rate in the top 10 of my favorite things to do — even if the gang consists of only one person.

So I put the baseball bat back in the closet and walked out the front door to meet the menace face-toface, knowing full well by now that the menace wasn't really a menace at all. Just Toby.

"What do you think you're doing, Toby?" I asked indignantly. "Roaring up to our house like that? What if the neighbors see you dressed like that? This is a nice subdivision. I've got nice neighbors. What are they going to think if they see somebody like you stopping by my house? I'll bet half of them have already called the police."

Toby turned over the things hewas returning. Put his helmet back on and revved up the Harley good and loud so all the neighbors would be sure to hear. "There," he shouted over the roar of the engine. "That should knock a few thousand off your property value. Next time you see the assessor, tell him Toby was here."

Sports important part of learning

To the Editor

I am writing to comment on the "sports as a complement to your child's education" article by J Traudt in the April 7, 1988 Northville

Sports have been a very positive part of my son's education He tries much harder in school because he knows he has to maintain a certain grade point average to stay in sports. Sports teach kids to work together as a team. This is very important in the future as well as now; in the working world as well as in the family. Playing sports builds many new friendships for students as well as for parents. Sports also let students and parents do things together. My son's self image is very important and has been greatly enhanced through Northville High School sports

I am familiar with the football and wrestling coached at Northville I think they do a great job. They work with a lot of boys with varied skills and temperaments I think they are very aware of the responsibility of coaching these teams. They work long hours and have many people to try to please They would never put anyone down on purpose

In Mr. Traudt's letter he says Mr Colligan made him feel that he had no self worth I think Mr Colligan told him they put 17 instead of 14 boys on that team so that those boys and their parents would not go marching up to school to see why their son was not starting every game and staying in for the whole game In High School it is not equal time for all that come to practice ... that happens in grade

No one has to play sports If it is not a positive experience, why not leave and go into something that is a plus for your student Sports are not for everyone just as band or debate is not

Church firing

To the Editor:

The recent article which appeared in the April 7th issue of the Northville Record entitled "New principal approved", said little or nothing about the approval of a new principal. What it did say was related to firing of the principal and school secretary

Yes, an informational meeting was held to discuss many issues which pertained to internal matters at Our Lady of Victory Church but this is not news. I don't recall seeing articles in the Record about meetings on internal matters at any of the other churches in town

This piece served no purpose other than to fuel the fires of controversy and cast aspersions on the characters of Mrs. Thomson, Mrs Husen and Reverend Frank Pollie I personally object to quotes from people who refuse to be identified or those who say there was no warning of these firings All of the topics you mentioned have been sources of controversy for years in our parish. Maybe more parishioners should take the time to attend the Parish Council and commission meetings held each month

The termination of someone's employment is a very personal matter between the employee and the employer and certainly not a subject for discussion based on heresay.

I know all three of these people personally and they deserve better.

NYA forges lifelong relationships

This is another in a continuing series of columns written for The Record by Mary Ellen King, director of Northville Youth Assistance.

During the last few months I have written about the services of Northville Youth Assistance through the eyes of a volunteer, a youth and a police officer. Recently I received a note from a mother whose son just completed the program. This is what she said:

"Please accept this donation to NYA. My husband and I appreciate the fact that you and your organization were there for us at a time of crisis in our lives. We are grateful for the program you have developed for the youth of our community and specifically for the help you have provided for our family.

'Our son has learned many lessons in the past few months, but perhaps most importantly he has learned that there is a network of people who genuinely care about him and his future.'

Other parents and youths have also experienced this caring and concern.

A 15-year-old boy who recently completed the program, asked his volunteer if he could still see him periodically even though he was not officially in the program. The teenager said, "I like Bob and I like being with

A mother stated that her 12year-old son is learning the commitment of a friendship by her son's weekly meetings with his volunteer. The youth said. "The volunteer is my friend because we talk and he listens to me."

Another mother stated that her 11-year-old daughter now is seeing herself as a worthwhile and interesting person because of the concentrated effort the volunteer has put into knowing her daughter. She went on to say that her daughter has begun to emulate her volunteer as a positive role model.

"Sue has grown in her capacity to care for herself and others Thanks for finding such an admirable volunteer for Sue, we like her a lot," the mother wrote.

It is sometimes difficult for parents to seek help for their youngster when the child is confused, troubled or acting out. But we have little difficulty seeking the assistance of a plumber, electrician or car mechanic. We know that we cannot be an expert in all of these fields. But to admit that we are not equipped to handle our children's particular problems is much harder. We are sometimes too proud or embarrassed to say that we are not expert in child rearing.

We have learned our skills and techniques from our parents. We do the very best that we can with the knowledge and common sense that we have acquired through the years. But there are times when this is just not enough for our children. There are times when our children need someone other than their parents to talk to. There are times when our children need a person who is special only to them. Many families have asked for the help of NYA in the past year. Hopefully, the comments from parents and youths can give you the courage to ask for help - call 344-1618 and I will be there for

Appe'teaser shop dishes out upscale edibles

By KAY FAHEY

"Appe'teaser To Go" introduces a new concept in the food industry to Novi

Located in the Country Epicure Village at 42010 Grand River, "Appe'teaser To Go" offers a wide variety of upscale edibles for customers to take

The store, which opened just two months ago, is representative of a growing trend toward quality

"Carry-out is the fastest growing part of the food business, and I don't mean carry-out pizza We offer simple foods with a good taste. The emphasis is on quality," said owner Christopher Angelosante, who also owns Appe'teaser restaurants in Milford, Birmingham and Novi

-According to Angelosante, the concept has been well received. The store is designed to appeal to those who don't have time to cook, but prefer to eat at home rather than out

With a two-income family, who will cook? But at the same time, people are tired of going out. The new thing is to eat at home," Angelosante

"Appe'teaser To Go" offers many of the same foods found in the Appe'teaser restaurants, but at lower prices. "Restaurant costs are higher than costs for carry-out. This way I can offer a good product at a decent price," Angelosante explain-

The store offers an abundant variety of food and beverages "The focus is on the food items, entrees and salads The wines would be the second focus We carry many signature items like the Pecan Diamonds, Appe'teaser combread, scones and chocolate cheesecake Our Pecan Diamonds were featured in Bon Appetit magazine, Angelosante said

Many of the food items change frequently, and salads and entrees are prepared daily Entrees range from veal cannelloni to roast beef tenderloin and from quiche Lorraine to barbecue ribs. Salads include Waldorf, fresh duck, Greek and cucumber In addition, Appe'teaser makes its own breads, desserts and pastas

'We are always looking for new items. To find out what people want, we listen to our customers, employees, friends and families. The Chamberlain Bakery products are an example of something we carry because it is very popular with our customers," Angelosante said

The focus on customer satisfaction doesn't end when a customer leaves the store "A big concern is that people don't ruin the food when they heat it. When a customer buys an item, we ask if they plan to use a microwave or regular oven. We put the food in either a micro-wavable or a metal container, depending on which one they need. Then we write heating instructions on the container. Many of the items are cooked light, so when they are heated, they won't be overdone," Angelosante

The store's shelves are lined with unusual food products in cans and jars. Hearts of Palm, saffron, Greek olives, Zatarain's crab boil and Coco Lopez are just a few items in the eclectic collection Several coffees and teas also are featured.

The store offers frozen foods as well. The Appe'teaser's pasta, chicken and beef stock, and tomato sauce are available.

The wine selection is equally varied, although the emphasis is on California wines. The selection includes Washington vineyards such as Chateau St. Michelle, in addition to the better known California names like Beringer, Robert Mondavi and Simi. Less expensive wines such as Gallo and Riunite are sold as well.

The store carries a good selection of imports, including offerings by Moet and Chandon and Baron de Rothschild. Wines are available from such diverse countries as France, Germany, Italy, Australia, Chile and Romania. The most popular is a German wine made exclusively for Appe'teaser, Winninger Weinhex. It is available by the glass in all the Appe'teaser restaurants.

Beginning the last week of April, Appe'teaser will sponsor informal wine tastings. Organized by wine consultant John Bates, the tastings will feature different speakers representing the various wine regions

'It gives people a chance to compare several different wines. They can taste wines that otherwise they might never have tried," said Bates.

Those attending the tastings will be able to purchase mixed cases at reduced prices, according to Bates. In addition, the wines used in the tastings will be on sale at "Appe'teaser To Go.'

Modest incréase seen for executive salaries Professional-level salaries will in- include product development crease a modest 4 to 7 percent above 1987 levels during 1988 as four of the Michigan area's most labor-intensive industires - food, retail hospitality and health care — strive to control costs and maintain profits in their intensely competitive marketplaces, a new forecast survey shows.

The survey was conducted by Roth Young Personnel Service, Inc., a coast-to-coast recruitment specialist in the four industry groups, with offices in 33 major U.S. markets, including the Roth Young Detroit of-

The study is based on analysis of more than 3,100 job order requests for 1988 hiring.

In spite of the modest overall salary increases for the four major. industry groups, various specialized professionals will merit 1988 increases ranging well above the 4 to 7 percent average, according to Sam Skeegan, president of Roth Young Personnel Service of Detroit.

Here's an industry-by-industry

FOOD INDUSTRY: In the massive U.S. food industry, for example, 1988's supermarket superstars will include specialty department managers, superwarehouse store managers, and creative in-store merchandising managers.

Meanwhile, in the food processing sector, specialists experienced in developing, producing and marketing new prepared, convenience and microwaveable food products will be highly prized and wellrewarded in 1988.

In addition, the proliferation of more and more specialty food departments within supermarkets including delis, bakeries, sausage and cheese shops, camera bars, floral boutiques, video products centers, etc. - is creating an unusually strong demand for talent in these areas.

Also, the tremendous growth of such "concepts" as superwarehouse stores, stores devoted entirely to ethnic foods, and "narrow-and-deep" mass-volume stores with fewer items but much greater stock depth are all generating their own needs for hardto-find managers and merchandisers, thus driving 1988 salary offers substantially higher.

RETAIL INDUSTRY: The projected 1988 front-runners in the retail field phone number is (313) 559-3300.

managers responsible for giving. their wares a unique "identity," newstore concept specialists, and experienced multi-unit chain store

In addition, such financial staff as controllers and internal auditors, as . well as specialists in security and" loss preventon, and merchandising planning and control managers will 5 be much sought-after. As still' another tactic in the industry's effort " to boost profits and productivity, ' many retailers also plan to trim; middle-management staffs with early retirement programs.

HOSPITALITY INDUSTRY: On the restaurant/food service side of the year hospitality industry, employers will pay "whatever the traffic bears" to attract and retain highly-skilled unit managers capable of hiring, training ... and motivating employees.

In addition to base salary raises, mature unit managers who can run. their operations "as though theywere their own businesses" will also, be rewarded with bonuses.

In the lodging group, top '88 salary increases will go to managers in such areas as real estate development and ... marketing, as property owners strive. to find new ways to attract a larger ... market share.

Throughout the industry, a renewed emphasis on attracting more customers with more service and quality will increase demand - and salaries — for such other specialists as European-trained chefs, qualityoriented food and beverage directors, hospitality directors, upscaleoperation managers and service-conscious general managers.

HEALTH CARE INDUSTRY: In the U.S nursing field, specialists with strong management experience, and. i intensive-care supervisors and at nurses with oncology, open-heart ' surgery and neo-natal backgrounds," are expected to receive larger-thanaverage '88 salary boosts. Pharning macists and physical and occupation of therapists will also be in demand.

CPAs off tips for appealing tax rulings

You let out a long sigh of relief Your tax audit is finally over

Or is it? Suppose you're not at all satisfied with the outcome? What if you're sure the Internal Revenue Service is being unreasonable in disallowing a deduction?

Should you just swallow hard and dig out your checkbook? Not necessarily, says the Michigan Association of CPAs If you are not satisfied with the final outcome of your audit, you have the right to appeal within the IRS, through the court system, or both.

First and foremost, if you plan to appeal his or her decision, do not sign the agreement form your IRS agent provides at the end of the audit If your audit takes place at an IRS office the first step of the appeals process provides you with an opportunity to speak with your examiner's supervisor The supervisor will review the audit with you, discuss your concerns and try to resolve the

In the event you cannot reach an acceptable agreement with the examiner's supervisor, you should request an appeals conference within the IRS In order to exercise your administrative appeals rights, you must request a conference. Your request will be forwarded to the appeals office, which will contact you to arrange a convenient date and time

The proceedings at an appellate hearing are not formal and you can usually represent yourself. Generally, only one meeting is held so you should be prepared to discuss and present documentation for all matters in dispute

The appeals officer who presides here is more experienced and has the additional authority to try to settle your case, taking into account the government's chance of winning in court As a result, you may very well find that the appeals officer is more willing to negotiate than the auditor was It's not at all unusual to have a great deal of bargaining going on during these sessions

A settlement is often reached as a result of concessions made by both sides When the tax deficiency is less than $2,500, the appeals officer is allowed to consider and agree to a taxpayer's settlement offer Remember it's the appeals officer's job to settle the case out of court wherever possible In fact, the IRS tells us that about 85 percent of all tax disputes are resolved on this

If you can't reach an agreement in the appeals office all is not lost You still have the right to appeal to the courts But before deciding to take your case to court, you might want to put any hard feelings aside and reexamine your tax bill. Get fee estimates from an accountant or attorney and compare his or her cost to the amount you owe You have every right to argue on principle, but it may not make sense to pay several thousand dollars in professional expenses to fight a

$1,100 tax bill However, keep in mind that future years' tax bills may be affected by the principle you are fighting to support. The litigation process follows a precise course. Basically, you have two paths you can follow. You may go directly to the United States Tax Court or you may appeal to the United States District Court or the Court of Claims There are important differences you should consider in making you decision

You can contest the outcome of your audit in the US Tax Court which is totally independent of the Internal Revenue Service The tax court has a small tax claims division that deals with cases involving $10,000 or less in disputed tax.

The "small tax case" proceedings themselves are informal and you may attend with or without your tax advisor. Tax court cases involving disputes of more than $10,000 are tried under rules of procedure similar to other courts.

If you choose to go to tax court, you do not have to first pay the disputed amount, as is the case if you choose to appeal in federal court. But one important caveat - the decisions on small tax claims ($10,000 or less) are final - neither you nor the IRS can

To give you an idea of what your chances in tax court might be, keep in mind that in 1985 taxpayers scored complete victories in only 11 percent of the cases tried and partial victories in 37 percent. The government came out on top in 52 percent of the cases heard.

If you take your appeal to the federal court, you must first pay the amount in dispute plus any interest and penalties and then file a claim for a refund If your claim is rejected, you may bring your suit to the United States District Court where you reside or to the Court of Claims which hears cases in Washington, DC The proceedings here are formal and you'll probably need an at-

Why would you select the district court over tax court? For one, you might choose this route if you think your case would fare better before a jury (Tax Court hearings have no jury.) Or, perhaps, based on previous rulings, your professional advisors may have reason to believe the federal court would be likely to look more favorably upon your case. In certain cases, (i.e., employment or excise taxes) you must use the district courts.

The district courts also enjoy an impressive record. The government prevailed in a full 66 percent of cases tried in 1985. Taxpavers won complete victories in only 25 percent and partial victories in 9 percent.

CPAs recommend that you make every effort to settle your case within the Internal Revenue Service. Carefully weigh your decision to take a tax dispute to court — but if you're confident your cause is just, don't let court statistics dissuade you.

Detroit Edison report shows improved service

Serving customers well - and saving them money - was all in a year's work for Detroit Edison, according to the utility's 1987 annual report to shareholders.

The report said Detroit Edison provided more electricity to more customers last year than ever before in the utility's 85-year history. At the same time, customers paid less for their electricity.

'We are committed to improving the way we serve customers," said Walter J. McCarthy Jr., chairman of the board and chief executive officer, "and we believe our overall efforts in 1987 provide evidence we are making progress in serving them better.'

Among the year's milestones: Reduced electricity costs. Detroit Edison customers were paying about 3.9 percent less for electricity at the end of 1987 (an average of 7.07 cents per kilowatthour) than they were a year earlier (7.36 cents). The reduction was due to timely and economical fuel purchases, costsaving power purchases from other utilities, and passing along to customers of savings resulting from changes in federal income tax laws.

Number of customers. At the end of 1987, Detroit Edison was providing electrical service to a record 1.86million customers, including 33,000 more new residential customers than at the end of 1986. While part of the increase was due to Detroit Edison's purchase of Consumers Power Company's Pontiac service area, most of the gain resulted from continuing improvement in the Southeastern Michigan economy.

Economic development activity. During 1987, Detroit Edison helped 193 companies locate, relocate, expand, modernize or diversify in Southeastern Michigan. The utility is committed to attracting new companies to and keeping existing companies in its service area to provide more business and jobs and increase Detroit Edison revenues.

Electricity sales. With the growing economy and additional customers, Detroit Edison's 1987 sales climbed to 39.5 billion kilowatthours - the highest annual total in company? history On July 20, the company's highest one-hour peak electrical demand of 8.4-million kilowatts exceed- . ed loads not expected until the early $\cdot z$ 1990s. (Detroit Edison also met a record winter peak of 66-million kilowatts on Jan 6, 1988.)

Placement of Fermi 2 in commercial. operation. Detroit Edison's Fermi 2 power plant, with fuel costs less than those for the company's most efficient coal-fired plants, was placed in '-' commercial operation on Jan. 23, 1988. The plant now will provide more. than 10 percent of the electricity needed for homes, businesses and institutions in Southeastern Michigan ill Fermi 2 generated 1.2-billion kilowatthours during test operations in 1987, the helping meet peak customer ? demands. With Fermi 2 in commercial operation, Detroit Edison now has one of the most modern. generating and transmission, systems in the country.

Reduced operation and maintenance expenses. The company's major cost-cutting program saved more than $60 million in 1987 operating expenses. Cost-reduction measures included restricting ... budgets, delaying salary increases, instituting a selective hiring freeze, intended to reduce employes rolls by .. 300 in 1988 and restructuring salary... levels and pay increases for some employee groups.

Record common stock earnings. 15 Common stock earnings set a recordin 1987, increasing 26 percent to: 1986 Earnings per share of common. stock also were at a record at $3.25, .5 compared with $2.58 for 1986. However, as announced previously, Detroit Edison expects to report a, loss in the first quarter of 1988 and anticipates that financial performance for the remainder of the year will be under severe pressure.

Contributing to the depressed financial outlook are several factors, including the end of capitalization of Fermi 2 construction and financing

Realtors to celebrate 'American Home Week'

The Western Wayne Oakland County Board of Realtors (WWOCBR) will sponsor American Home Week (April 24-30), according to Board President Marjory R. Pickett.

The nationwide celebration will be marked locally by a free homebuyer's seminar open to the public and a special dinner for WWOCBR

"American Home Week is a means of reminding citizens of their constitutional freedom to own property and the need to protect the rights that come with this ownership," said Pickett

"Last year marked the 200th anniversary of the signing of the U.S Constitution," she said. Because of the Constitutional guarantees of the right of private property ownership, it's particularly appropriate that we remind area citizens of this heritage during American Home Week."

The free homebuyer's seminar on Tuesday, April 26, will feature speakers from several dif-

PRAYER to the Holy Spirit. Holy Spirit, you who make me see everything and who show me the way to reach my ideal, you who give me the divine gift to forgive and forget the wrong that is done to me, you who are in all the instances of my life with me, I in this short dialogue want to thank you for everything and confirm once more that I never want to be separated from you no matter how great the material desires might be. I want to be with you and my loved ones in your perpetual glory. Amen. Person must pray this 3 consecutive days without asking a tavor, then promise to publish MGA PREGNANCY HELPLINE

MY family and I would like to were deeply appreciated. Your concern was a comfort to myself and my family. Through your prayers a miracle was performed. Thank you, Michael G. Ascencio and Family

THANK you so much to the American Legion Post and Auxiliary 141 Howell and to the VFW Post and Auxiliary 3871 of Howell for the beautiful memorial service you performed in honor of my late husband Lester N. Harder. Thank you also for notifying the sixth districts of the two organizations. Your words of condolences were deeply appreciated by myself and my family Shirley A Harder and Family.

THE Family of Juanita Telce wish to take this time to thank all of our friends for the sympathty and support during our recent loss. Also the women who prepared and served their very lovely luncheon after the service Our thanks to McDonald Funeral Home, the Pall Bearers and the Reverend Charles Bugbee for his kind words. May the Lords cholcest Blessings be extended to each and everyone of you who helped us in our time of need. From the Albert Teice Family and the Suddeth Family

PIs don't always find the girl

By ANITA CRONE

Maybe in books that's the image of a private detective, but in real life, Lauren Bacall has yet to walk into Dave Sneider's Redford Township office nor has the voice at the other end of Bob Henry's Canton Township telephone held a promise of anything more than a job.

Sneider and Henry are private detectives, men who in real life and times earn their living by investigating civil matters, mostly for insurance companies, attorneys or industrial companies that want a background check on prospective employees.

Criminal matters are handled routinely by detectives affiliated with law enforcement agencies.

Henry is a relative newcomer to the ranks. Although he has been a police officer in Plymouth for a number of years, he said he now is contemplating retirement and entered the private sector so that he would have something to do after retiring something to do after retiring.

"I've been lucky in that I've worked with and met-attorneys while I've been a police officer and they have contacted me since then, so I have some clients," said Henry, who said he specializes in accident investigations.

He also has access to many police officers and police departments based on his years as a Plymouth officer.

Sneider has been a private investigator since 1983, almost a year after he graduated from Madonna College.

"I tried to get a job in law enforcement, but there just weren't any in this area. I got a couple of job offers from Florida, but they didn't pay, so when my professor Al Eichman offered me a job at Madonna, I jumped at it.

"Then Eichman suggested I try this racket, I did, and now, I can make a living at it," Sneider said.

Although it sounds glamorous to be a private detective, Henry and Sneider

I had not been away so long that the smell of death had been purged from my office, but long enough that the odor had been pushed into the background by the day-to-day odors of being located on a busy city street.

The exhausts from trucks and buses mingled with the odors of the small Oriental restaurant across the street.

A small circle of blood by the light switch, the rapidly fading aroma and an inch-thick report to my client was all that was left of Mugsy Hamilton as far as I was concerned. His corporeal remains were in the morgue, where they would probably stay until the county got ready to bury him. That wasn't my problem or anybody else's, now. Only the county's.

Quickly I closed the file, placed the report in a brown envelope, attached postage to it and sent it off to the woman who had paid me enough money to find Hamilton that I would only have to work if I wanted to, not because my landlord, the telephone company and American Express wanted me to.

say it really isn't that way at

all. "It's work and sometimes although novels seldom let that hard work," Henry said.

A lot of it also is boring, little secret onto their pages.

"There's a lot of fun in surveillance, watching and sitting in a car for 6-to-12

waiting, but I don't think that I was feeling sa already y forward to a week in the sun with Mary outside, I could picture her not side, I could picture her not so in as little as possible.

The image of More was so real I could almost smell Chanel No. 5, the only scent sie wore . . . Maybe that's why it took me some time before I realized I was no longer alone.

The first hint was the scent — not too strong but demanding enough that it said class in no uncertain terms.

My eyes picked up where my nose left off, working their way from the open-toed sandals containing tiny pink toes, slowly upward to the dimples in a pair of the best looking patellas I had seen in many years, lingering there, then continuing upwards again.

Almost without being conscious of it, I took in the tiny waist, the sweater . . . and finally, I saw the face.

If God had sent an angel to Earth, he couldn't have found one so perfect as the one standing in front of me, a soft smile on her mouth but worry in her eyes.

"A lot of my work comes from investigating accidents. Since the accident has already been handled in a police report, usually a number of years after the event, I have to go back and try and reconstruct the scene," he said.

"Because I'm familiar with the area, I have a sense of what changes have occurred — whether new businesses have opened and changed the look of the scene. That happens often in a growing area."

One of the cases Henry successfully concluded was an instance where a man was being sued for hitting a woman's car and injuring her.

"The guy said that he had just taken his eyes off the road for a second, he was looking at a truck pulling out of a driveway. But after I checked the scene, I realized that if he were looking at the driveway, in order to have hit the woman, he would have to have been traveling 60 miles an hour"

But much of the work of a private investigator is routine and seldom are investigators asked to look into murders, missing persons or even kidnappings.

"That's the police's responsibility. They handle all the criminal work, and since we have a rapport with them, we'd like to keep it that way," said Sneider.

Private investigators do have one luxury the police departments don't — they can and do turn down assignments.

"I had one call where a 16year-old girl wanted her boyfriend investigated. She was willing to pay for it. I explained that I really don't do that kind of work," said Sneider.

Each investigator sets his own rates but all have to be licensed by the state.

The State Police conduct a background investigation, and, as Henry says, it's tough.

"They talk to everyone you put down as a reference. There are no corners cut."

Once the investigation is completed, the candidate is informed of the decision.

Whether or not to carry a firearm is left up to the individual, and he or she then must apply for a license the same as any other person through the local police departments.

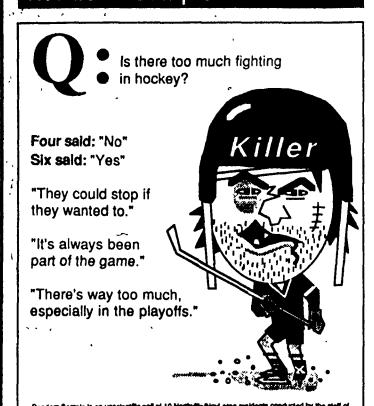

Both Henry and Sneider do carry firearms, but don't like to advertise the fact. Sneider said he has had two occasions to show the firearm, but has never used it. So far, Henry has not shown his firearm.

In novels, the private detectives routinely shoot their weapons. And in the world of make-believe, detectives go anywhere at any time.

The reality is that neither Sneider nor Henry routinely leave the area for their work, although Sneider said he has gone to Boston on one job.

Usually, he stays close to home in case, he says with a laugh, Lauren Bacall should happen to need him.

Police detectives leave paperwork trail

Dean Sanderson compares being a detective with the Michigan State Police to being a journalist. "Our job is to find the Truth, and that's with a capital T." he said.

with a capital T," he said
Finding that truth can take anywhere from an hour to months and even years, he said, noting that the effort depends on the type of information required.

Unlike private detectives, police detectives handle criminal investigations and have no right to turn down requests, no matter where they come from.

Sanderson said the State Police requests come from local police agencies, from the Michigan Attorney General's office, from other troopers and from the general public

Among the more recent cases handled by Sanderson and his partner, Robert Silva, was the investigation into the suspected murder of a Livonia Wayne County Sheriff's deputy. A Wixom man is charged in that incident.

Not all of the detectives' work is glamorous and involves murders.

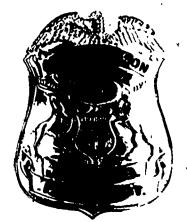

Sanderson pointed to a 2-inch file on his desk "That's for the Attorney General's office, and the work isn't complete yet," he said

Many of the local police departments also have detective bureaus with officers assigned to detective duty full-fime. Their work, explained Northville Township Capt. Philip Presnell primarily involves investigating break-ins; investigating deaths to determine whether they occur naturally or there is foul play involved; and sometimes traffic accidents.

Unlike their private counterparts, police detectives have a great deal of paperwork involved in their efforts.

"A lot of our work is paperwork," Sanderson concedes "A case isn't completed until the paperwork is done and that can take twice as long to complete as the investigation, especially if warrants are involved."

He explained that he must complete State Police forms, and, if a warrant is requested from the prosecutor's office, there is a totally separate form involved.

Presnell said that he also has a lot of paperwork to complete, but noted sometimes the paperwork is all that is necessary to complete an investigation.

"Take for instance our recent efforts to clear up outstanding warrants We wrote letters to the people we were able to locate and people responded to those letters, fulfilling their obligation," Presnell said.

Sanderson said that letters often save a lot of manhours. "If we find out we can't reach someone by telephone, a letter often does the trick, especially if someone has left the state."

Police detectives also are constrained by laws, although they say private detectives also must follow legal procedure if they want to keep their licenses.

"People don't realize that it is a detective's job to clear a person as well as to convict someone," said Sanderson "But whether we're trying to determine an individual's guilt or innocence, we have to follow the laws

"If, and sometimes it happens, I'm totally convinced that someone is guilty but I can't prove it to the satisfaction of the department or the court, I let it wait Sometime, somewhere, that individual is going to make a mistake and that mistake will let us arrest the individual."

Like most public servants, detectives say it is not usual to take work home.

Tonquish Tales told Thursday

Local residents will have an opportunity to learn about the Indian tribes which once populated the area when the Novi Historical Society meets at the Novi Civic Center (Conference rooms B and C) tonight, Thursday, April 21, at 7:30 p.m

Guest speaker will be Helen Frances Gilbert, author of "The Ton-quish Tales," a book which contains many colorful stories and facts about the Indians who once lived in southern Michigan.

The daughter of a Novi school teacher, Gilbert was born approximately 75 years ago on Tonquish Creek in Northville. As a child she became curious about how the creek got its name and who and what "Tonquish" were.

When her family lived in Florida for three years, Gilbert worked on the Daytona Beach News-Journal. When her family moved to Plymouth, where she has lived ever since, she went to work for the Washtenaw Post Tribune before becoming ownerpublisher of The Index, a shopper's guide, until World War II. She later was employed by Michigan Bell Telephone.

In 1982, she wrote a series of articles for the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers about the lore, legends and recorded facts of the Tonquish Tribes These articles later formed the basis for her book, "Tonquish

She has done extensive research for her articles and book at the Clements Library, University of Michigan Graduate Library and the Ann Arbor Public Library, She is in popular demand as a speaker, and enjoys bridge and golf in her spare

Ruth Crawford, owner of Crawford's Restaurant in Northville and program chairperson for the Novi Historical Society, noted that Gilbert's program promises to be one of the highlights of the year. Area residents are encouraged to attend and bring a friend. Refreshments will be provided by Crawford at the conclusion of Gilbert's presentation.

William and Anne Chizmar celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary

Family celebrates 50 years

The trees outside their home on Maxwell Road stand tall, far above the roof. Fifty years ago Anne Chizmar's father planted the trees from seedlings as the newlyweds. Anne and William Chizmar took up housekeeping in what was then rural Northville.

The Chizmars were married on April 9, 1938 and on Saturday, April 9, 1988 they celebrated 50 years of marriage with their children and grandchildren.

Anne Richards married the boy next door when she married Bill Chizmar of Belleville. Anne, a Northville High School graduate had renext door to the Chizmar home. Bill

The couple celebrated their anniversary with a luncheon given at the First United Methodist Church in the Fellowship Hall by their children. The Wednesday Afternoon Cirle of the United Women's Society put on a buffet dinner of swiss steak, baked chicken, baked potatoes, green beans, tossed salad and relishes. Dessert was ice cream and cake.

Attending were Rev. Eric and Florence Hammer; Mrs. Dorothy Dresselhouse; Mr. Chizmar's sister, Mrs. Emma Sala and son David Sala; Mrs. Chizmar's sister, Mrs. Alice Patterson; Mrs. Miriam Mitchell and her husband Melvin; son Bill Chizmar and wife Peggy and daughter Becky; son Rev. Sam Chizmar, wife Rev. Nan and daughter Jenny; Daughter Carol McLean with husband Jim and sons Jim and Joe: daughter Elaine Updyke with husband Duane and daughters Holaina

The key to a long and happy marriage? "Just learn to tolerate each other," Anne said laughing. But when asked if they'd do it all again both replied quickly with a smile, "You bet '

Steppingstone has self-esteem lecture

The Parent Support Group of the Steppingstone Center for the Potentially Gifted Children will meet at 7:30 p.m., tonight, April 21, for a round table discussion on self-esteem in the gifted child. Facilitating the event will be Jeanne Knopf DeRoche of the Plymouth based Knopf Company, Inc.

Steppingstone was founded in 1981 in response to needs in the Plymouth-Canton area and is located at 15525 Sheldon Road in Northville. The public is invited to attend the discussion. Admission is $3 per person or $5 per couple.

Ira Glovinsky, Ph.D., a practicing licensed psychologist, will help answer parents questions and give insight into the self-esteem of the gifted child. Dr. Glovinsky specializes in emotional disturbances in children. He is presently consulting in the Department of Psychiatry at Sinai Hospital and doing research in the area of emotional development in high risk preterm infants. At Beaumont Hospital he is a member of the Neuroeducation Clinic involved in assessing children referred for learning disabilities. He is most interested in the areas of parent-child relationships and interactions, and the emotional development of preterm infants.

Musical comedy at Marquis

The Marquis Theatre in Northville will present the musical comedy "Do Black Patent Leather Shoes Really Reflect Up?" April 23 through May

The play, by John R Powers, James Quinn and Alaric Jans, played to capacity audiences when it was presented at the Birmingham Theatre in 1981. The show takes a light and slightly irreverent view of education in Roman Catholic schools, and the title refers to a ban on the wearing of patent leather shoes because of the belief they reflected up a girl's dress.

The Marquis Theatre's current production is directed by Arthur P Rizzo, with musical direction by Caitlin McNeil and choreography by Val Mould. Included in the cast are Brian Shulz of Warren, Chris Jones Wehrli of Southfield, Marcia Urban and Paul Bruce of Dearborn, Joseph Haynes of Belleville and Jane Shaffmaster of Royal Oak

Tickets for "Do Black Patent Leather Shoes Really Reflect Up?" are $8, $9 and $10, with performances at 8 p m Friday and Saturday evenings and matinees at 2 30 p.m. Sunday and Wednesday Tickets are available at the Marquis Theatre, 135 E Main Street, or by telephone at

BPW celebrates key anniversary

Members of the Northville State BPW President Karen Giesler. Business and Professional Women's chapter celebrated their 40th anniversary of the group's founding with a luncheon last Saturday at Meadowbrook Country Club.

Reaching the 40-year milestone makes the Northville Chapter of the nation-wide organization a member of a very elite group. The national organization recently celebrated its 70th anniversary and the Detroit chapter of the BPW just turned 75, becoming one of the oldest chapters in the country.

The Plymouth chapter of the BPW was originally the launch group for the Northville Chapter and that group celebrated its 50th anniversary

Helping with the observance were guests Carolann Ayers, mayor pro tem .for the city of Northville; Charles Ely, Chamber of Commerce president; Marge Bolton, president of the Northville Womens' Club and A number of the state board officers attended as did a number of members of BPW groups in. neighboring cities.

The afternoon program featured a look back at the organization's early days, a look at today and a look. ahead Members Marlene Danol, Pamela Welland, Debbie Schultz, Susan Danol and Linda Lambert, vice president of the group, all participated in the program. Music was provided by Karen Giesler.

The Northville chapter currently has 48 members. The group was founded as a source for women tohelp other professional and business women. The Northville chapter is involved with legislative matters of interest and import to professional women. It is a support group and it offers scholarships to women, supports Girls State and Schoolcraft College's Women's Center.

ze that Michigan Lottery revenues help the state's public schools. The following addresses that ussue

Q: What happens to Lottery revenues?

A: Since 1981, revenues from all Michigan Lottery games have been earmarked for the state School Aid Fund to help support kindergarten-12th grade

Q: How much does the Lottery contribute?

A: To date, the Lottery has provided approximately $2.9 billion to the state! In the last fiscal year, the Lottery's contribution exceeded $407 million

Q: Why haven't my taxes gone down as a result of the Lottery contribution?

A: The annual state budget for support of elementary and secondary education is continually increasing So, while your taxes may not have decreased, maintaining the same level of education funding without Lottery revenues during the past two years alone would have cost the average Michigan household another $250 more in the form of direct taxes.

Q: Does the Lottery provide this money to the individual schools?

A: No Lottery revenues are turned over to the Michigan Department of Education for distribution to individual school districts according to terms of the School Aid Formula developed by the legislature Thus, the Lottery has no control over, or exact knowledge of, how its contribution might figure in allocations to individual school districts.

O: On what does the Department of Education base its allocation of these dollars?

A: According to the department, allocation of the School Aid Fund is based on local support for education School districts which have a high local tax base are considered to be "out of formula" and receive a lesser share of funding than districts with lower tax bases. So aid per pupil and per achool varies throughout

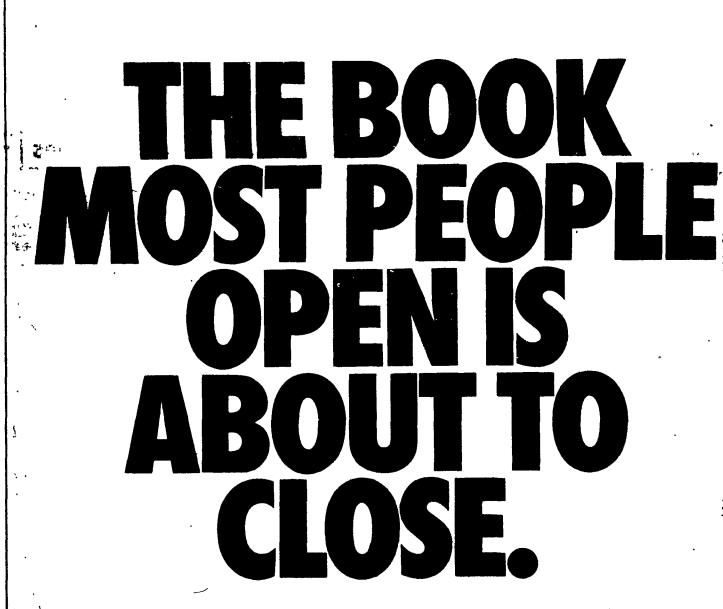

O: Who should I contact if I want more information on my school's share of the fund?

A: For more information on your area, you can contact your local school board office or write to the Michigan State Board of Education, 608 W Allegan, P.O. Box 30008, Lansing, MI 48909

'Bed and Broadway' plays in Novi

By ANNA SCHLOSSBERG

"Bed and Breakfast" is a popular choice for weekend getaways But have you ever heard about "Bed and Broadway," the alternative offered by the Novi Hilton?

The "Bed and Broadway" series includés a musical revue in the Hilton's amphitheater, dinner and an overnight option.

"We have such a nice property, the food is great, the service is great and we'want to get as many people as possible in to the hotel, because when they've been once, we're positive they'll be back," said Bill Fenech, weekend sales manager at the

The series was first offered last year when a total of three shows were offered. This year the Hilton is offering six shows, of which five remain.

The musical revues are put together by Theatre Arts Productions, Ltd. (TAP), a local company with over 100 members who perform statewide. The shows are presented cabaret style, and consist of a pianist and three singers who perform mostly Broadway and movie tunes.

Shows are presented in the Hilton's intimate ampitheater, which seats 97

We have done musical revues for the past 10 years," Mike Klier, who owns TAP, said "We find the musical revue is something that people tube into, and we constantly try to update and do different shows.

The revue currently playing at the Hilton - "An Evening With Oscar" runs through May 7. It features Oscar award-winning songs from the '30s through the '80s.

"They get the audience involved," Fenech said. "They (the performers) statt belting out songs, and go out singing in the audience. They even sit on people's laps and sing to them."

They also have song-guessing contests, and give away free tickets, movie passes, and, at the "Evening with Oscar" show, a miniature Oscar

"This is hands-on performance, and Tlove it," said Nancy Kolton, one of the performers.

Dolores Stein was at the "Evening with Coscar' show on April 2 to

"We're going to try to bring some groups here for the overnight package," Monday said

Currently there is one show each Saturday at 9:30 p.m. with dinner served in the Hilton's Orchard Cafe at 7:30. If necessary, a 7:30 show and 5:30 dinner will be added. Diners can chose prime rib or grilled swordfish, and a dessert. Tax, gratuity and nonalcoholic beverages are included in

Monday had the prime rib; his wife had the swordfish. They agreed that both were "excellent."

'The key is the management," Klier said. "If you have a lousy dinner and a good show, or vice versa, it dosn't work. I like working here because they're committed. We are the only cabaret company and hotel that has a whole season with a series of different shows.

The third show of the season, 'America's Red, White and Broadway," a revue of patriotic songs, runs May 14 through June 18. "Cole, George, Ira and More," opens Sept. 10 and "Broadway Stagefright," in which the audience will audition the performers and act as a jury, will open Oct. 22. It will be followed by a special Chistmas show, which was sold out last year.

Tickets for the show only are $9 per person. Dinner and show is $24 per person (tax and gratuity included). The "Bed and Broadway" package is $119 per couple, including two dinners, two shows, double occupancy room and a continental breakfast in bed ($87 for a single).

A modified season pass, which includes the four remaining shows and dinners, is available for $96 per person. A couple who purchase two passes will get a complementary overnight stay.

Reservations for all shows should be made ahead by calling 349-4000. There is a 10 percent senior citizens discount.

"There's nothing like this in the immediate area, and we want to be the pioneers," Fenech said. "You don't have to go to Detroit or Ann Arbor to

Gerlach's goal: a division title

Franklin stands in way

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

The pressure is on the Northville softball squad and all of it is directed at the team by coach Bob Gerlach.

Gerlach is challenging his team to reach new heights and continue an upward spiral of success that has been in place since he took over two years ago. Last season, the Mustangs set a school record for wins with a 15-11 overall mark - and it was 12 more wins than the season before. In '88, Gerlach has set some high goals, but that's only because he believes the team has the ability to reach them.

"Our goals are set high - we want to win the (WLAA) Western Division and I feel we can do it," he said. "Our goal is first place and I can't see any reason why we shouldn't do it. Obviously, we'll need to beat (Livonia) Franklin to do it, but I'm confident if we work hard and play up to our abilities, we can get it done.

Geriach has a few areas to fill due to graduation losses, but only one -Sue Schrader's spot at first base will be difficult to replace. Junior pitcher Amy Freimund is back for her second season on the varsity, and she'll handle the bulk of the pitching chores all season. Freimund was the team's ace as a sophomore and Gerlach has already seen some im-

"She's matured a bit and she's off to a good start," he said. "She's definitely improved because she's worked a lot on her pitching in the off-season and she's in shape.

our team because not only is she a good pitcher, she is a fine defensive player and one of our better hitters."

Juniors Jenny Juhasz and Sara Demeter are up from the junior varsity ranks and will share duties at first base. The second base job will gd to senior Jeanine LaPrad, who season. Gerlach made the move to make room at shortstop for soccer player-turned-softball player Karen Baird. Baird (Jr) is probably the team's best athlete and has all the talent in the world — all she needs is some more experience.

"Karen is a great athlete," Gerlach said "She's outstanding in everything she does but she still has some things to learn. I think Jeanine deserves credit for making the move for the good of the team."

Leslie Wendel was a regular at third base in '87 and returns for her senior season. The outfield is also very similar to a year ago with Nanci Datkiewicz (Sr.) in left, Kerri Bulin (Jr.) in center and Lisa Siemasz (Sr.) in right. Dutkiewicz was an All-Area selection as a junior, is a solid defensive and offensive player and is off to a good start according to Gerlach. Bulin is the team's best defensive outfielder and Siemasz has been a part-time performer for two

"As an outfielder, Bulin has everything you could want," Gerlach pointed out "She has speed and gets to the ball. She's got the strongest arm on the team and she's improved hitting-wise."

The starting catching duties will go once again to senior Cory Kincer who was a regular a year, ago and has shown much improvement and leadership in the first few games. The rest of the roster includes pitcher Kim Wilds (Sr.), back-up catcher Julie Olson (Jr.), outfield reserves Yvonne Beebe (Jr.), Kristi "Amy is a very important part of Fortenberry (Jr.) and Megan Abraham (Sr.) and infielder Lauren Cannistraro (Jr.) - who is currently out of action with a broken finger.

> "We'll be right up there in the conference but I can't say we are going to win it all," Gerlach said, "but we should win the division. We are expecting to do it and if we don't, it will be a big disappointment."

Softballers fall to Salem in classic opener the '88 season with yet another classic against Plymouth Salem on April 15. Just like last year, the Mustangs and the Rocks battled to a close, exciting finish, but just like last year, Northville came out on the short end of the score. Salem scored a run in the top of the seventh and then held on in the bottom of the inning to edge the Mustangs 5-4.

4'Even the umpires commented on what a great game it was," Northville Coach Bob Gerlach said. "I don't know how we're going to top ference champs, scored a run in the second inning and added two more in the third to jump in front 3-0. Heading into the bottom of the fifth, the Rocks seemed to be in charge 4-1 but then Mustang catcher Cory Kincer uncorked a mammoth two-run homer to narrow it to 4-3.

"It was a shot," Gerlach said.

Northville then completed the comeback with a run in the sixth to knot the score at 4-4 but Salem then pulled back in front with a run in the seventh. With the game on the line, the Mustangs loaded the bases with

. Kincer was infown out at the plate following a passed ball.

"We were one throw away from tying it and maybe winning it," Gerlach pointed out.'

Pitcher Amy Freimund suffered the loss but had a solid seven-inning effort. She gave up only four earned runs and six hits, struck out five and walked seven. Kincer was the hitting hero as she went 2-for-2 with two runs batted in and two walks Outfielder Kerri Bulin chipped in by going 2-for-

Frisbie was the only two-time individual winner for the Mustangs. The All-State cross country performer was first in the 3,200 (10:49) and 1,600-meter runs (4:55). Junior sprinter Mark Kiraly was impressive in winning the 100-meter dash (11,38) and was favored to win the 200, but was scratched after a muscle pull. His back-up Rich Subotich filled in well and won the 200 (23.9) but it still cost Northville some valuable points.

The other winning performances came from Steve Austin in the 400 (54.0) and two relay teams. Subotich, Todd Daniels, Neil White and Kiraly teammed up to win the 400 relay; (47.09) while the 3,200 relay squad featuring Jay Griffith, Jeff Hoose, . Scott Sinkwitts and Frisbie - also Junior Chris Kuffner paced the runner-up finishers with a second in the discus (115'-10"). The 800 relay team - with Steve Ventura, Al Kuljurgis, Subotich and Kiraly - placed second (1:36.4) while the 1,600 relay team also finished second (3:41.8) and sported Austin, Kuljurgis, Sinkwitts and Subotich. Hurdler Todd Feliks added a second in the 110-meter highs (16.3).

The rest of the Mustang placefinishers included Scott Sinkwitts in the 800 (third place, 2:08.0), Eric Bilimoria in the discus (third, 108'-7"), Karl Siegert in the 400 (third. 56.0), Austin in the long jump (fourth, 17'-111/2"), Feliks in the 300 intermediate hurdles (fourth, 43.8) and , Griffiths in the 800 (fourth, 2:09.0).

"There's a lot of different places we can improve," Faletti said, "Last year both these teams beat us badly, so at least we are moving forward. I think beating South Lyon and staying close to Central will build a lot of confidence in the kids."

Northville's home spener is scheduled for today (April 21) against neighboring Novi.

Sixth-ranked kickers clobber Harrison, Franklin

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

The Michigan Soccer Coaches' Association currently has the Northville girl's team ranked sixth in the state among Class A teams, It's a pretty high honor for a Mustang program that normally doesn't get this kind of recognition so early in the season. But teams like Farmington Harrison and Livonia Franklin can well understand that honor.

In action last week, Northville clobbered the two Western Lakes Activities Association (WLAA) foes by a combined total of 16-0 and went on to complete the first week of the season undefeated. The only mar in the Mustang's record was a 1-1 tie against Birmingham Marian in a non-conference match.

On April 13, Northville opened the season with a flurry on the way to a 12-0 whitewash again Harrison. Right from the start, the game was a mismatch but it did give Mustang Coach Stan Smalec a chance to give all his players a chance to play and get over the early season jitters.

I anticipated (Harrison) being a little better than they were, but the outcome wasn't a surprise," Smalec said. "We have some question marks héading into the season but we were better and we showed that our front line can score."

The star of the game was senior forward Jodie Smalec, who was nearly unstoppable en route to a four-goal outing. The goals actually came so fast and furious that Northville statisticians were unable to note when they happened. The lead was 7-0 at halftime and even though Smalec emptied his bench before the end of the haif, the play remained in the Hawks' end for the entire game. The Mustangs registered 18 assists on the 12 goals and held Harrison to zero shots on goal.

"(Harrison) moved the ball out of their own end maybe twice," Smalec said. "Our defense did a nice job -Heather Sixt in particular.

"The outstanding thing was that we had so many assists and that means the passing was good."

In addition to Smalec's four tallies, Heidi Wagner and Jenny Stevens each added two goals while Shannon Loper, Jacquie Trausch, Marcie Dart and Karen Cavanaugh each chipped in one goal. Cavanaugh, Stevens and Loper paced the team with three assists apiece.

"It was a good confidence builder it was a good start," Smalec said. The Franklin match on April 15 was much closer, but for a 10-minute span just before and after intermission, Northville dominated the play and scored all four of the game's goals. Loper broke the scoreless tie with about three minuters left in the first half on a perfect pass from Jennifer Schuerman. Just before time ran out, Stevens made it 2-0 on a goal that followed some nice passing by Dart and Smalec.

Three minutes into the second half. Smalec scored on a set play, chippass from Sixt At the six-minute mark, Smalec fed Schuerman for the final goal of the day - in a flash, a scoreless game became 4-0.

"We had the right combinations on the field at that time I guess," Smalec said. "When we were clicking offensively, it was pretty to see. Other than that short span of time, the game was a close struggle.

My freshman - Dart and Cavanaugh - were outstanding in the middle, especially on detense. We're in good shape in the middle on defense - we looked real solid - but I'm still experimenting on the out-notched her second straight shut out. Smalec knew the clash with

Marian would be a tough one. Marian already had a tie with Plymouth

For the game, Northville had a 30-12 advantage in shots on goal and sophomore goaltender Kristi Turner Salem, the defending state champs, and the Mustangs were playing their third game in four days.

Northville had the wind advantage in the first half, but only managed one goal in the first 40 minutes. At the 29-minute mark, Dart connected on a direct free kick and the score remained at 1-0 through halftime.

"I wanted more than just the one goal in that first half because we had the wind at our backs," Smalec said. "We had quite a few good scoring chances but it just didn't happen for Marian tied the score at the 24minute mark on a set play corner kick from Kate Ferguson to Chris Lamb and that's how it ended. It was the first and only goal the Mustang defense had surrendered in aix halves so far this season.

"I thought our girls did a good job," Smalec said "We controlled the better part of the game. We outshot them 15-11 which was good, but we gave up five corner kicks and that bothered me. It's an indication of our problems on the outside defense, but we're working to straighten it out."

Smalec also praised Turner, who thwarted two breakway attempts in the game

"Överall, it was a nice way to start the season and to get us mentally and

Mustangs of the Week

CORY KINCER

Sénior catcher Cory Kincer is off to a nice start for the Northville softball team, and it was her heroics in the Mustangs 5-4 seson opening loss to Plymouth Salem that kept the home team in the game For the effort, Kincer has been chosen as a "Mustang of the Week" With Northvilte-trailing 4-1 in the fifth, Kincer clouded a two-run home run and that sparked a comeback that eventually led to a tie score and an exciting finish in the seventh. For the day, Kincer went 2-for-2 with two RBIs and two walks

JODIE SMALEC

Senior forward Jodie Smalec is being counted on this soccer season to score a lot of goals and dish out a lot of assists and she came through with flying colors in Northville's first two games last week. In a 12-0 win over Farmington Harrison on April 13, Smalec tallied four goals and was next to unstoppable around the goal. Two days later she assisted on two goals and added one of her own in a 4-0 win over Livonia Franklin. With five goals and two assists in two games, it's easy to see why Smalec has been chosen a "Mustang of the

Editor's Note: "Mustangs of the Week" is a new feature that will appear every week in the Northville Record Sports section when high school action is in high gear Each week we will be honoring several Mustang varsity athletes who have registered outstanding performances or efforts.

Mustang nine get off to slow start By NEIL GEOGHEGAN lf anybody can find something positive after the Northville baseball team's first three outings, coach Bob Frellick can From a glance it would seem to be a difficult task, but Freilick is an eternal optimist. The Mustangs lost all three by a combined score of 30-5, suffered two straight 10-0 no-hitters and had a total of just eight hits in the first three games combined.

"You don't like to lose three straight but if you can get something positive out of it and build on that which is what we are trying to do that's the most important thing," Frellick pointed out. "Even though we lost all three, a lot of positives came out of it. We solidified our defense over the weekend because we played very well in the field and the kids hung in there and never quit. We learned a lot.

It was a grueling first week against top-notch competition. In the opener on April 15 against Plymouth Salem, Northville had to face Todd Marion who is ranked as one of the best prep pitchers in the state. Marion didn't disappoint the professional scouts, however, as he struck out 13, didn't give up a single hit and came within two walks of a perfect game.

The Mustangs then lost a doubleheader on April 16 to a very good Redford Union squad, and in game one, it was another no-hitter. Union won that game 10-0 and then went on to register the sweep in game two — but this time Northville put up a stiffer fight before falling 10-5.

"You don't like to lose three straight but if you can get something positive out of it and build on that - which is what we are trying to do — that's the most important thing. Even though we lost all three, a lot of positives came out of it."

> - Bob Frellick Mustang Baseball Coach

'Ten runs in each game is a lot to give up but I limited all my pitchers to about 40 pitches an outing because it's so early in the season and I think the cold weather affected everyone," Frellick said. "From a development standpoint, we got a lot out of the weekend.

On Friday, Marion faced only 21 batters in seven innings and was never in danger of giving up a run. He struck out the side in the second and the sixth as the Mustangs couldn't get anything going. In the meantime, the Rocks put four runners across the plate against Northville starter Steve Nigro in the third and five more against reliever Scott Stephens in the fourth. Designated hitter Steve Woodard provided the final margin of victory with a solo homer in the sixth off Stephens.

Dave McKee and Brian Frellick each walked and were the only Mustangs to reach base.

"I think Marion is the best pitcher in the state," Frellick said. "He pitched an outstanding ballgame."

Frellick did a lot of experimenting against Union last Saturday, but nothing seemed to work in game one. Redford pitcher Mike Walker blanked the Mustangs but it was more luck than skill as Northville hit the ball , hard but couldn't seem to find the holes. Walker gave up three walks and was victimized by a pair of errors, but never let any runs cross the plate in five innings of work.

"We were hitting the ball but they went right at somebody," Frellick

Union scored three runs in the second, three more in the third and four. in the fourth off pitchers Brad Wheeker and Derek Osborne.

In game two, the Mustangs ended the scoring drought but fell behind 4-1 after the first inning. Northville' came back with four runs in the next two innings to go ahead 5-4 but it didn't last. Union rallied for five in a marathon third inning to blow the game wide open.

Shortstop Jim Willerer was the only Mustang with two hits but... Osborne, Mike Yard, Dave Strange. and McKee each drove in a run.

"We picked up where we left off at the plate from the first game - but this time we found the holes," Frellick said.

Junior Andy Parker went the first two and a third innings and gave up nine earned runs, struck out zero and walked three. He was relieved by junior Scott Probert who was impressive in the final four innings.

Northville netters split two against KVC opponents

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

The Northville netters opened the season last week against the best and the worst of the Kensington Valley Conference and the Mustangs ended up with a win and a loss. Obviously, Coach Dick Norton's squad fits in somewhere between the very good and the weak if last week's action is any indication, but Norton was pleased with his team's overall effort anyway.

On April 13, Northville started the season in impressive fashion by blasting Novi 8-0. The Mustangs lost only one set in eight matches to the lowly Wildcats but came back down to earth two days later in a 4-2 loss to Brighton on a cold, windy day. Both matches were against nonconference teams so Norton wasn't about to get too excited about the win over Novi or too concerned about the loss to the Bulldogs.

"It wasn't a bad start to the season," he said. "I was pleased with the way most of the kids played. There was a lot of mistakes but you have to expect that this early in the season.'

At No. 1 singles, senior Doug Kamienecki struggled early but worked his way out of a jam and went on to beat Novi's Chris Cottam 1-6, 6-1, 6-2. It was to be the only set the Wildcats would take on the day. Rob

6-3 at No 2, Kurt Reickel slipped past Matt Mitchell 7-5, 6-2 at No. 3 and Matt Oliver upended Brad Taube 6-2, 6-1 at No 4 singles.

It was more of the same in doubles. Ken Spigarelli and Jeff Wesley had no trouble beating Brian Anderson and Rick Mathias (6-3, 6-2) at No. 1, Ken Neal and Chad Bosscher were 6-3, 6-4 winners at No. 2 over Phil Hutchins and Mike Everette, Jeff Gursky and Mike Mathes crunched Josh Matta and Zubin Antia 6-0, 6-1 at No. 3. while Todd Booth and Jason Baker took care of Mark Girard and Bill Benton (6-4, 6-2) at No 4 doubles.

"It was a good way to start the season," Norton said, "but it was kind of downhill after that."

Against Brighton, the Mustangs took two of the three doubles matches, but failed to get a single win in the singles flights. It was a surprise and a disappointment for Norton because he thought heading into the season that his team was stronger in singles than doubles.

Richcreek fell to David Burke at No. 2 singles, but not before he blew an ideal chance to take the first set. He was ahead 6-1 in the tie-breaker and only needed one more point to win the set, but he couldn't pull it out. Burke eventually came back and won the tie-breaker 14-12. A deflated Richcreek then lost the second set without much of a fight.

"I think losing that tie-breaker took a lot out of (Richcreek)," Norton said. "If he'd have won that first set, I think he would have gone on and won the match '

In the other singles matches, Reickel fell to Won Ho Kim 2-6, 5-7 and Oliver lost to Scott McBride 4-6, 2-6. The No. 1 singles match between Kamienecki and Randy Harmon was suspended due to the cold, snowy conditions last Friday with Kamienecki trailing 3-6, 4-2.

The highlight of the day was probably the outstanding performance by Spigarelli and Wesley at No. 1 doubles. They teammed up to beat Paul Browne and Jeff Cowgill 6-4, 6-1. Neal and Bosscher registered the other win by outlasting Shannon Browne and Chris Holmes 6-3, 4-6, 6-2 at No. 2 but Mathes and Tim Ponder fell at No. 3 to John Lutz and Greg Peterson (6-7, 1-6). . . .

"I thought we had a chance to beat Brighton but I was kind of disappointed with our singles," Norton admitted. "I thought we'd win at least two of the singles.

"But even though we lost, I did see some positive things. We were playing against a very good team that has a lot of seniors, so I was pretty pleased with the way we played. I think Brighton will win the KVC again this

Girl's track squad stumbles against Vikings, South Lyon

Every coach likes to see his team start out strong in a season opener. The Northville girl's track squad started the 1988 campaign on April 12 in a triangular against Walled Lake Central and South Lyon — but coach Mike Webb would be the first to adrait that the Mustangs didn't come out strong.

For reasons that he just can't explain, Webb saw his team begin the season with a very uninspired effort, and the result was a distant thirdplace finish. Walled Lake took first place honors with 74 points, South Livon was second with 64 and the Mustangs were last with just 26.

"I'd rather not talk about it to be honest," Webb said. "We did terrible. I wasn't expecting a great outing but I sure wasn't expecting what hap-

Northville registered just two wins and one runner-up finish in 16-events, and one of the wins only happened because the winners from Central

"I still think we have good potential," Webb pointed out. "We can use the excuse that we were off and didn't practice over spring break, but everybody else was too. We could also use the excuse that two of our better performers — Dawn Leland and Krista Schwartz - were unable to compete, but I'm not going to make any excuses. We could have done a lot better."

Christy Lenaghan took first in the 100-meter dash (13.6) and was the team's only individual winner. The 3,200-meter relay team of Katie Brugman, Jean Riney, Kelly Frederick and Jennifer Goshorn added the other win (12:38.7). The lone second came in the 1,600 relay featuring Robin McDuffie, Erin Holmberg, Kendra Huard and Goshorn.

Pacing the third-place finishers was Lee Bills in the high jump (4'-6"), Cathy Page in the long jump (15'-1/2"), Brugman in the discus (68'-9"); McDuffie in the 400 (68.3) and

Wendy Davis in the 100 (14.0). "I saw a couple good things,"

Webb pointed out. "Lee Bills was a pleasant surprise and another who did well was Cathy Page. She fouled on her best jump by less than an inch and she went 15'-10". That would have easily won the event for us."

The rest of the Mustang place finishers (top four) included Lisa Brown's fourth in the 1,600 (6:18) and the 3,200 (14:04), and Huard's fourth in the 200 (31.14).

'We had a talk after the meet and the last couple of practices and they've reacted and started to work harder," Webb said. "The girls know they didn't perform up to par. I think they are a lot stronger than they showed and they'll be back. I guarantee we'll win some meets this season.'

Schwartz - the team's top long jumper and sprinter - was unable to compete in the triangular because of a cierical problem. The real bad news was that Leland will be forced to miss the rest of the season with a kneed problem. She was the team's number one hurdler and was a member of the mile relay team.

CPR: simple proceedure saves lives

With summer fast approaching, it won't be too long before many of us begin heading for the shorelines and marinas. There's something besides tanning lotion, towels and life preservers you should take along your ability to save a life, CPR (cardiopulmonary resuscitation) train-

In as little as four hours you can learn a simple procedure that can save heart attack or drowning victims, or the victim of electrocution or other accidents.

According to Nancy Radeliff, R.N., C.E.N., chairman of the American Heart Association of Michigan CPR Committee, "Anyone regardless of age who is physically capable can, and should, searn this lifesaving technique

The Journal of the American Medical Association (JAMA), June 1986, reports that without promptly administered CPR, it's unlikely that a cardiac arrest victim will be successfully revived. Considering the time it often takes for a paramedic team to reach the scene of an emergency, the presence of a bystander qualified to administer CPR becomes vital.

Although CPR has been around for a relatively short time, only twentyfive years, it is one of the most important emergency care procedures to-

People with no medical background who have been trained to administer CPR have saved thousands of people who, without this help, would certainly have died. JAMA reports that CPR administered by professionals, paraprofessionals and laypersons, has been successful in reviving as many as 40 percent of cardiac arrest

CPR isn't hard to learn, yet you can't do it if you haven't had the training. When you attend a fourhour class, you'll learn it's a matter of ABC's You'll be taught how to open a person's airway (A), how to breathe for the victim (B) and how to get vital circulation (C) going to bring blood and oxygen once again to the brain, heart and other vital organs. You'll watch a movie, and instructor will review the procedure and answer questions, and you'll get to actually practice on a mannequin called Resusci-Anne. When you've completed the course you're given a wallet card showing your certification in CPR by the American Heart Association.

"If a complete emergency care system were in place and thirty percent of Michigan residents knew CPR, we estimate that a minimum of 11,500 lives could be saved each year," says Oliver Wendt, CPR program consultant for the American Hart Association of Michigan.

How much do you know about CPR? According to Gallup poll results published in JAMA, the number of American adults who knew about CPR increased from sixty-six percent in 1977 to eightyseven percent in 1983, (considered an extremely high awareness). And in fact, more that twenty-five million Americans have been trained in CPR

Qualified individuals are teaching CPR programs in many area schools, bospitals and community centers. For more information on CPR and where it's being taught, or warning signs of heart attack, contact the American Heart Association of Michigan, a United Way agency.

The American Heart Association and the Livonia, Plymouth and Canton Fire Departments will be presenting a Community CPR day at the Senior Citizens Center at 33000 Civic Center Drive in Livonia On May 7. Free CPR classes will be offered from 9 a.m.- 12:30 p.m.

April 28 at 7 p.m., James Gilsdorf, M.D. will discuss "Recent Advances in Burn Care." Dr. Gilsdorf is associated with the University of Michigan Burn Center.

Presentations are free to the public. For more information, call 591-6400, ext. 217.

Fitness Tips

Aerobics should enhance muscular strength

By EILEEN MURPHY, M.D.

The final article on exercise for women is on muscle strengthening and flexibility A good exercise program, in addition to providing aerobic fitness, should enhance muscular strength, joint flexibility and neuromuscular attributes. Muscular strength improves your ability to maintain an erect posture, move the body efficiently, carry out occupational and recreational tasks and cope with physically demanding emergencies. Joint flexibility facilitates erect posture, prevents undesirable anatomic realignments and promotes coordination and balance.

Neuromuscular attributes include coordination and balance. These attributes are usually specific for a particular activity. The most effi-cient way to develop them is by practicing them within a specific skill in which they are required.

Activities to promote muscular strength include resistance povided by body weight, free weights, weight training machines and elastic resistance. Your body weight or partial body weight can be used for many progressive resistance exercises. This includes exercises such as push-ups, chin-ups or sit-ups. The advantage of this exercise is there is little or no equipment and it can be done almost anywhere. The disadvantage is your body weight may be excessive if you are not in shape or inadequate for those of you who are relatively strong vides the resistance to muscle contractions, thereby increasing muscle strength. Weights have the advantage of requiring little or no maintenance and are extremely versatile There is, however, the potential danger of injury from an uncontrolled failing weight.

Weight training machines are also very popular. They provide resistance with pulling levers or hydraulics depending on the type of machine. In most cases users are protected from injury if they cannot overcome the resistance. The disadvantage is they lack the versatility of free weights. A variety of machines is needed to effectively exercise all major muscle groups, and access to those machines can be expensive.

Elastic tubing or bands can provide the resistance to increase strength. This is accomplised by stretching the device, and slowly allowing it to return to its resting length. It is an inexpensive and convenient form of strength training. You should be careful to pad areas of your body subjected to pressure. Breakage of the elastic tube or band is a hazard and can cause injury, especially to eyes

Joint flexibility is promoted by stretching exercises This is best accomplished through sustained static tension to the point where there is mild discomfort. Stretching beyond this point will produce pain and local damage to the muscle or joint. In those who do not have an adequate range of motion around joints. assistance may be necessary to move joints through the full range of motion It is important not to bob or bounce during stretching as this can cause trauma in the muscle and place excessive stress on adjacent

A common cause of injury related to exercise is muscle imbalance. This occurs when there is a marked difference in strength between a muscle and its antagonist. This imbalance can lead to a decrease in the resting length of the stronger muscle and an increse in the resting length of the weaker muscle. This can result in postural misalignments, creating damaging stress. To prevent this problem, all muscle groups should be strengthened and regularly stretched to prevent abnormal contraction of its resting length.

Below are guidelines to help prevent injuries with strengthening or stretching exercise for the average woman. Remember, a balanced program provides the best results with the least risk of injury.

• Strengthening exercises should not be performed on the same muscles on consecutive days.

• A general warm-up routine should be performed before muscles are made to work against resistance.

 Muscle strengthening exercises should be preceeded or followed by stretching exercises specific for that

• All strengthening exercises should be performed in a slow and controlled manner · The most efficient way to improve strength is to allow brief rest periods between bouts of vigorous exercise Repetition should be limited

· When the strength of one muscle or muscle group is disproportionate to that of the antagonist, the weaker muscle should be strengthened to restore balance around the joint.

· Breath should not be held during strength training exercises. Exhalation should take place during the exertion phrase of each repetition.

GUIDELINES FOR STRETCHING Stretching exercises may be performed as often as desired, preferably at least once a day. A general warm-up routine should be performed before muscles are stretched. Stretching routines should be performed statically, without holding your breath. Avoid rapid, jerky movements.

· Stretches should be held long enough so that relaxation will occur sufficiently to achieve the maximum benefit of the stretch. This can vary from six seconds in some individuals to 20 seconds in others.

 Muscles should be stretched only to the point of tension. Pain should be regarded as a signal that the stretch has gone too far.

WEEDS

Win the war against weeds

If the thought of pulling weeds from your flower beds all summer doesn't really excite you, don't despair. You have some options to minimize the weedpulling drudgery — but experts don't always agree on the best methods.

Recommendations range from weed killer/fertilizer combinations to tree bark to a sheet of black plastic.

The horticulture specialists at Michigan State University recommend using a simple sheet of plastic to control weeds, but others say that method is not a very good idea.

Lee Taylor, an extension horticulture specialist at MSU, suggests laying a sheet of black plastic when soft moisture is just right for planting, and auchoring the sheet on each side by burying it. Plants grow through holes in the plastic.

"Black plastic mulch stops weed growth by cutting off the light," Taylor said. "For most gardeners, that's reason enough to bother with it, but plastic mulch also has other advantages."

In dry soils, the sheet of plastic can reduce the need for irrigation, he said. By keeping tomatoes off the ground, black plastic can keep the fruit cleaner and reduce ground rot.

Because it warms the soil, a sheet of black plastic speeds seed germination and plant growth, he said.

"Black plastic mulch is especially helpful if you're trying to convert a section of lawn into garden," Taylor said. "You can use it the year before planting to kill off the grass, and then the year of planting to control the weed seedlings that germinate when you till the soil."

However, not everyone recommends using the plastic, and there are many other ideas to control weeds in a garden.

Vince Marino, president of Exquisite Landscape in Northville, dislikes using a plastic sheet. "I think it's the worst abuse you can do," he said, for a couple of reasons.

First, the moisture can build up too much so that the roots and the ground can't breathe, he said. Likewise, the plastic keeps the rain from getting into the ground. And in addition, the size required for holes around plants might force the gardener to put plants quite far away from each other.

Finally, "I've seen weeds grow three feet under plastic," Marino said.

A better idea, along the same lines, is to use a plastic fiber netting, Marino said. This can still reduce weeds, but condensation won't build up and rain can get to the ground

Other options include using a mulch of tree bark, and using chemical weed killer that uses the photosynthesis process to spread through and kill the weeds, Marino said

The ideal situation starts with a spraying to kill whatever weeds exist in a bed, he said

"Then treat the area with a ground sterilant. That acts like a blanket, a chemical barrier," Marino said.

"And then you put bark in, a minimum of four inches of bark Because it's an organic material, it starts decomposing The more it decomposes, the better It starts packing in, forming a tighter and tighter weed barrier," he continued.

And once plants are in, there are commercial fertilizers available which also include weed killers.

"There are a lot of people who don't like the chemical solutions, but it's hard without it," Marino said. If you take the right precautions "you can eliminate about 99 percent" of the weeds, he concluded

Bed sheets can help in decorating

Country, contemporary or traditional? Whatever your favorite style, decorating with sheets can provide great looks with ease — and for a reasonable cost.

Window coverings, slip covers, table covers, decorative pillows, bed canopies: the possibilities stretch with your imagination.

Sheet projects require varying amounts of time and expertise. Easy sewing whips up a table cover. Greater skill is needed for a bed canopy, balloon shades or an upholstered chair.

Add eyelet pillows, a touch of brass, any personal accessories you wish. The result: a room that's truly your own.

For any project, here are a few tips to remember:

- Carefully measure the wall or the item you'll be working with. Also, remember that some packages give sizes before the sheet is hemmed, while others list finished sizes.
- Buy all the sheets you need at the same time to make sure the dye lots match and that the store doesn't run out.
- Remember that it's easier to match solid colors, a small repeating print or simple stripe than large patterns.
- Don't wash sheets ahead of time for projects that won't allow them to be washed latery such as a bed canopy or wall coverings. Washing the sheets may shrink them enough to cause problems with fit. Besides, new sheets are treated with sizing, which offers some protection against soiling; laundering the sheets eventually washes out the sizing.

Sheets can be used for many decorating ideas.

- Do wash sheets first for projects where they'll be washed later (such as curtains and table skirts). Use spray starch to restore crispness.
- Pay attention to the surface you're covering. Bright or dark colors could show or bleed through the sheet.

Prolong life of your deck

Own a deck? There's an easy way to restore aged, weathered, pressure-treated lumber, and protect it from the elements.

This photo shows an eight-year-old deck built of pressure-treated lumber. The left side shows its age, from the thick, dingy layer of mildew, algae and dirt on the wood surface.

The right side has been restored to its original look with a commercially available product to restore decks. Water repellant has also been applied, to protect the deck from the harmful effects of moisture such as warping and cracking.

Restoration products are available which contain no chlorine bleach or acid and, when mixed with water, become completely biodegradable. A small packet can restore an average 10-by-15-foot deck in less than one hour.

A brochure, "Treat your deck to a longer life," is available from Koppers Company, Inc., a wood treater since 1930 which is one company that makes a deck restoration product. The brochure shows how deck owners can use products to help restore and protect the appearance of treated lumber.

Copies of the brochure or other information are available by writing: Wolman Protection Products, Inquiry Section-HIT, 1050 Koppers Building, Pittsburgh, PA, 15219; or by calling toll-free: 1-800-556-7737.

SACE ARCH 29/21, MENHOME & BAROENITE

said. "It's a real good idea to get some type of home security."

Before deciding if you're a good candidate for a security system, it's first important to know a few facts about break-

The stereotype of the cat burglar who sneaks in the window while the unsuspecting homeowners, sleep is just that — a stereotype. In fact, officials say 70 percent of break-ins occur during the middle of the day, while the occupants are at work or school.

The crooks will ring the buzzer, and if no one answers, they'll kick down the door and go to work.

"We're seeing more and more of these daytime burglaries," Smith said. "Very rarely do you hear of a break-in at night while the owner is home. With most burglars, the last thing they want is a confrontation with the homeowner."

It's also important to realize that the homes most vulnerable to a break-in are the ones located in an isolated area.

"Those are the people that can really benefit from a security system," Smith said. "If the nearest neighbor is three or four blocks away, they won't be able to hear someone breaking in."

So, what type of security system is right for you? The types and prices vary.

First and foremost, good, sturdy locks on all the doors and windows are essen-

If you're looking for something more, a burglary-detection system can be anything from a lights-and-buzzers system to a device which will actually call the police if someone breaks in.

What we do is design and customize a system based on what the person needs and what they want to protect," said Dick Mundy, owner of Mundy Security Inc. of Brighton.

"If it's an elderly person who's home all the time, we'll install a perimeter system something that will alert the person if someone breaks in the house. We might even bring that perimeter system all the way out, to work if someone just enters the yard."

Among the systems Mundy installs is one involving motion sensors. If the sensor is tripped, lights flash and bells ring. "We want to make as much noise as possible to scare the intruder away and alert neighbors to the break-in," Mundy said.

If you're going with such a system, though, Mundy and Smith both say it's important to let the neighbors know you've installed it.

"We've had people call up when a burglar alarm was going off next door," Smith said, "but they weren't calling to report a burglar. They were calling because the noise was bothering them. They didn't even know it was a burglar

"If you get one of these, it's very important to let all your neighbors know what it is and what it sounds like. You should also call the police whenever you get a system installed."

While the lights-and-noise system can be effective, Smith said he prefers the dialer alarm — a system which automatically calls the police during a break-in.

"I think those are more effective, because the burglar doesn't know it's going off, and we can be there while they're still robbing the place," Smith said. "With a dialer alarm, we have a lot better chance of catching the burglars."

As for how much you can expect to pay for a first-class system, Mundy said, "An average residential system will cost about $1,500. Some will be considerably more, or some less, depending on what you want."

On the bright side, it seems as though more and more homeowners are installing home-security systems. "I'd say that just in the last year or so, we've seen about 25 or 30 percent more homes with burglary systems," Smith said.

Grow your herbs at home

In the gardens of American pioneers, herbs had a prominent place. Various herbs provided seasoning for food, home remedies for treating illness and injury, fragrances for potpourri and soap making, and dyes for homespun fabrics.

In spite of today's supermarket, which makes it easy to have dried herbs on hand year round, herb gardening is making a comeback, says Lee Taylor, extension horticulture specialist at Michigan State University.

"Interest in various kinds of ethnic cooking and the desire to reduce or eliminate salt from the diet are contributing to a renewed interest in home herb gardening," he observes. "People's Polit medicine is also a factor?

Most herbs are generally easy to grow, Taylor says. They do best in full sun, though many will tolerate light shade. Herbs will grow in any good garden soil that is neither very acid nor alkaline - a pH of 6.5 to 7.0 produces the best herbs.

do," Pinckney Police Chief Bill Smith

"The soil for an herb garden does not need to be highly fertile," Taylor points out. "On highly fertile soils, herbs tend to produce a lot of foliage that's poor in flavor. A less fertile site with some organic matter in the soil and good drainage will produce quality herbs.'

Herbs grown outdoors rarely have trouble with insects. You can start an herb garden with seeds or purchased transplants.

danger of frost is past, or seed directly into the garden after frost. Direct seeding works well with dill, anise, coriander and fennel, which don't transplant well.

Some herbs - including sage, rosemary, lavender, marjoram, oregano, lemon balm, mints and thyme — are often avaiolable as plants. Place them in a prepared spot in the garden after the danger of frost is past.

Good herbs for a beginner's herb garden include rosemary, chives, thyme, dill, sage, lavender, basil, borage and mints.

Greenhouse at your home can provide many rewards

By Kay Fahey

Warm and humid, crowded with lush foliage and laden with heavy, exotic scents, walking through the door of a greenhouse can be like stepping into the tropics.

Owning a greenhouse makes it possible for a hobbyist to create a tropical environment right in the back yard, even in Michigan's cold climate. And to top it off, the personal rewards can be extremely gratifying.

Judy and Bill Dietrich of Highland Township have turned their greenhouse hobby into a small commercial venture. With the help of their children, the couple raises and sells everything from annuals and perennials to potted tomato plants and dry flowers.

"You might say it's a hobby that got out of hand," chuckled Bill, millwright for General Motors Hydra-matic Inc. in Ypsilanti. "We started with a 4-by-8 piece of plywood in the living room about 12 years ago. Then we moved (the greenhouse area) to the porch," Bill recalled.

Today, the Dietrichs' hobby has grown to the size of a 20-by-48 greenhouse. A former greenhouse on site of the couple's five acres of rolling land, 2170 Clyde Road, is used to store produce such as lettuce and cabbage as well as snap dragons.

His wife, Judy, who spends a great deal of time in the greenhouse during the winter months making holiday wreaths for Broadview Christmas Tree Farms in Highland Township, is known locally as the newest member of the Huron Valley Board of Education.

"It's kind of neat to watch a plant grow from a seed and know that everything produced you did all by yourself," said Judy with a smile

"I spend a lot of time in here, but not as much as he (Bill) would like," she added with a laugh.

And what do their children think of working in the greenhouse? "It's all right. It's better than working in the garden. There's not as much work," said Bill Jr., a student at Highland Junior High.

Much of the work in the Dietrichs' greenhouse begins in February and runs through May. The couple sells its goods at the Brighton Farmer's Market during the spring and summer months. Daughter Lisa, 15, has her own stand at the market where she sells dry flowers.

"There's no way we could compete with the commercial places We try to break even on the costs," said Judy, emphasizing their primary customers are neighbors

Cost of building a greenhouse doesn't necessarily have to be a large financial burden, according to Bill For about $1,000 Bill was able to construct the frame of his greenhouse. It cost another $700 for the equipment to heat it. In addition, he spends another $1,200 annually on dirt and flats and still another $1,000 annual expenditure on seeds.

"Most everything I've done has been by trial and error. I've read a lot of books on

hree and five week old seedlings

Greenhouse rewards hard work of owners

the subject," said Bill.

"One thing I can say is that if you think this line of work is easy you'd better not go into it. Start slow and don't invest a lot of money," Bill said, adding that his first greenhouse was heated with the aid of a

One ideal aspect of a greenhouse is that you can provide all day lighting, high humidity and temperature control, said Anne Brown, retail manager of Raney's Rainbow Gardens, 5770 Ten Mile Road in Lyon Township.

"All tropicals are looking for bright light, warm temperatures and high humidity," Brown said.

A few of the plants which are unsuitable for Michigan's winter weather, but which do well in a greenhouse environment, are orchids, bromeliads, birds of paradise, gardenias, and camellias, Brown said. In addition, cacti and succulents grow well in greenhouses.

More common house and garden plants benefit from greenhouse conditions as well, and the greenhouse hobbyist need not be limited to exotic plants.

"A greenhouse is good for someone who is hooked on houseplants, and they can be used to over-winter your outdoor plants," said Nancy Butler, urban horticulturist at the Michigan State University Agricultural Extension Service.

"You can take sick plants from the house and refurbish them in the greenhouse. Plants don't get ultraviolet light in the house, so it's good to switch them off from house to greenhouse," advised Harmon Beaty, owner of Beaty's Florist and Greenhouses Inc., located at 13790 W. Highland Road in Hartland Township.

Tony Raney, grower for Raney's Rainbow Gardens, agreed, "You get a better quality plant in the greenhouse because of the sunlight."

The greenhouse is also a good place for propagating plants, especially in the fall and winter when little of this work can be done outside. These colder months are when greenhouse plants can be started from seeds, cuttings or division.

In addition, vegetables and herbs can be grown year round as long as night-time temperatures do not go below 45 degrees and daytime temperatures reach around 60 degrees. Lettuce, cabbage, peas, and cauliflower are good suggestions for a winter greenhouse garden. Heat loving plants, such as tomatoes and cucumbers can be grown as well, but require daytime temperatures of at least 65 degrees.

Heating costs are one of the major drawbacks of having a greenhouse. They are cold in the winter and drafty. Heating is a definite disadvantage," said Beaty.

"A greenhouse of 15,000 square feet costs between $700 and $800 a year to heat, about the same as it costs to heat a home," said Billy Lintner, owner of Hollow Oak Farm Nursery and Greenhouse, 1190 Rushton Road in Green Oak Township.

However, healing costs vary with the type of heating used he stated

A greenhouse can be heated with any of the sources used to heat a home, according to Beaty. Solar heat, forced air, hot water, space heaters, and kerosene, coal, or wood burners all may be used. Each type of heat has advantages and disadvantages hinging on cost, efficiency, and ventilation factors.

Solar heat costs the least, but is also the least effective. "Solar heat is okay, but you can't grow houseplant types of plants. They will be deader than doornails," said

Beaty stated, "A lot of people don't use their greenhouse in the winter, because we don't get enough sunshine." If a solar heated greenhouse is built on the side of a home, it may actually draw heat out of the Hot water heat is a good option if the greenhosue is adjacent to a building which already has a hot water heating system, said Raney. In other cases, the cost of installing such a system is high.

Forced air systems are also expensive, as are any heat sources powered by electricity. Coal, kerosene, and wood burners are less expensive, but pose more of a fire hazard and must be properly vented.

Ventilation is a major concern in the maintenance of a greenhouse. Without proper air circulation, plants will have too little carbon dioxide and the greenhouse will gét too warm. Circulation can be provided with fans, louvres in the greenhouse walls, open windows, and with door flaps in the greenhouse roof.

In the summer, heat also should be reduced by whitewashing glass houses or by using shade cloth for glass and plastic houses. These measures will prevent plants from being burned and will cut down on the amount of watering needed.

The care and maintenance, as well as the construction cost of a greenhouse will vary depending on whether the house is built using glass or plastic.

Plastic houses with wood or metal supports are less expensive to build, but require more maintenance. The plastic must be replaced every two to three years. If wooden supports are used, the wood must either be treated to resist rot, or must be painted.

The initial cost of a glass house can be quite high, and glass breakage may be a problem. However, less effort is required to maintain them, and the glass need be washed only once every five years.

If the greenhouse is used only to winterover plants and is not needed for the summer, the greenhouse may be closed in July and August. Temperatures inside a closed greenhouse can reach higher than 150 degrees, hot enough to sterilize the soil. This may eliminte the need to buy soil which has already been sterilized.

Experts recommend testing soil in a greenhouse, unless bagged soil is used. Beginners also are urged to have their water tested. Testing is important to determine PH balances and alkalinity, and so the grower will know the correct balance of soil and fertilizer to use. The Michigan State Agricultural Extension

"Test your soil and water first. Then start reading about fertilizers, fungus, temperature regimen and light," said Raney. Beaty also recommended novices read plant books and horticultural and garden magazines.

The extension service will answer questions and provide information, as well as conduct tests. "We have a thick booklet available called "Solar Greenhouses for the Home," which costs $3, and we have a master gardener and a horticulturist on staff to answer questions," said Butler.

A hobbyist with questions or problems often can find the answer or solution from another hobbyist, said Lintner. "You can always get help in this field," he stated.

Anyone considering building a greenhouse is urged to think carefully about the decision and to learn as much as possible before making it. "Define what you want to use the greenhouse for, think seriously about how much you want to grow plants, and read up on it ahead of time," said Butler

The amount of time and care a greenhouse requires can be both its major attraction and its worst disadvantage. "Anytime you have anything living, you lifestyle is sporadic, unless you have someone you can leave it with," said Lint-

However, he continued, "A hobbyist can find something to get carried away with. You get hooked on it, and you go forever."

Raney voiced a similar opinion, "There is no real advantage to a greenhouse, except as a hobby. You have to be there seven days a week, but if you like to work with plants, it is a very relaxing atmosphere."

In addition to the more solitary pleasures of growing and creating, many greenhouse owners join groups. Growers of gladioli, mums, and orchids meet in various societies to exchange information and comradeship.

"You get into another whole world. These people come from all walks of life. They all get together in the same room, and they just have a ball," said Lintner.

And finally, greenhouses can be simply beautiful. "You can use a greenhouse to force plants to bloom, since in the winter it will provide the longer nights and shorter days they need. Poinsettias in a greenhouse will bloom every year. You have the outside environment coming inhave to have dedication seven days a side in the winter " said Brown The week Don't start this thing if your tropics are in your own back yard.

There are many factors to consider when shopping for new lawnmower

Consumer research shows that today's lawnmower shoppers are looking for durability and quality, and that their major interests are starting ease, bagging and safety. Manufacturers have responded to these consumer demands. A new generation of mowers offers a wide variety of starting and safety features, and can be counted on to reliably last for many

Here are some buying tips: The Basics

Among today's walk power mowers, you have a choice of several different engine types. You can also weigh the importance of a variety of features, including self-propelled or push power; side-discharging, rear-bagging or mulching; and pull start or electric key start.

The Engine

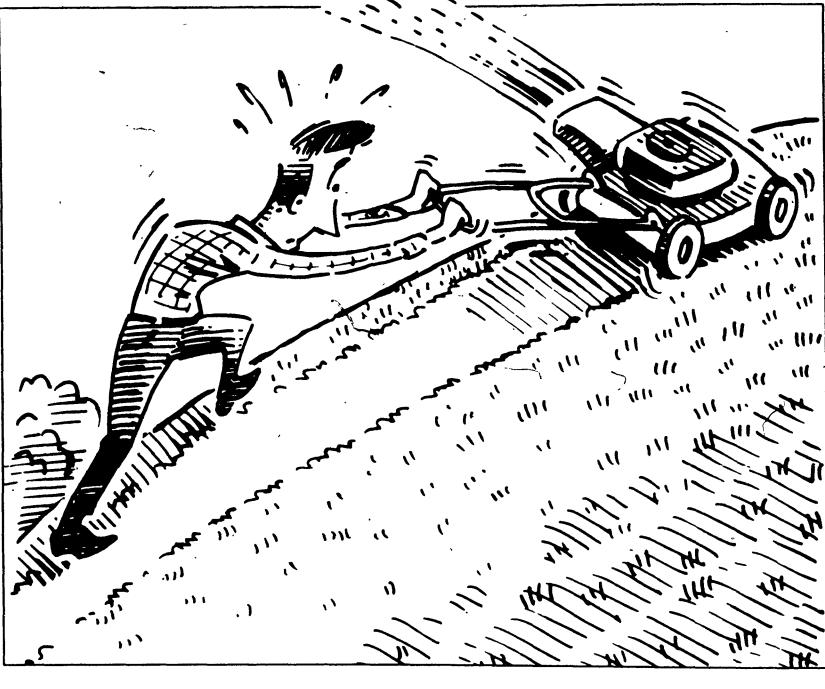

The logical place to start when considering a lawnmower is the engine. There are two basic types to consider, two-cycle (or two-stroke) and four-cycle (or four-stroke). Two-cycle engines require that you add oil to the gasoline, while four-cycle engines have separate oil and gas reservoirs. Here are the basic facts on the three most common engines and electric mowers:

Standard four-cycle engines are the conventional, well-known engines that have been powering lawnmowers since they were invented. Manufacturers say you will find many reliable and durable models powered by this type of engine, which requires occasional oil changes. Some standard four-cycle engines are not the best for extremely hilly property most have no oil pump and cannot easily impel oil into moving engine parts if the mower is on a steep angle.

Two-cycle engines have become a popular option to the standard four-cycle engine in recent years. This engine is reliable and durable because it has fewer moving parts to break down, and the oilgas mixture keeps it well lubricated. The oil and gas mixture eliminates the need for oil changes, and you don't have to worry about ruining the engine if the oil gets too low or too dirty. Two-cycle engines also are easy to start. Two-cycle engines are often more compact and lighter for easy maneuverability of the mower as well.

The overhead valve or OHV engine is the newest advance in lawnmower engines The OHV is an improvement of the standard four-cycle engine. Most OHVs are engineered to deliver extra cutting power to handle thick grass and start with just one or two easy pulls on the starter rope for the life of the engine. Manufacturers say an OHV engine should last significantly longer than a standard four-cycle engine becasue it has different internal construction and is technologically superior to standard four-cycle engines

Electric mowers never need gas or oil, always start on the first try and are quiet. but one major drawback is the leectric cord you'll have to drag around wherever you go Still, electric mowers are well suited to smaller lots, are compact and lightweight and can be easily stored by hanging on a garage wall. Some 110-volt mowers are very inexpensive but, as in all things, you get what you pay for.

The Starting Test

Whichever type of engine you choose, you should always test how well it starts before you buy. Experts recommend shopping at a dealer that encourages test starting.

If you don't wish to pull-start your mower, key electric start operations are available. These can add 15 percent or more to the cost of the mower.

One final check of the engine is the direction of the exhaust. Those mowers that expel exhaust downward through the deck rather than up may be quieter, but they may cause brown spots on the grass if you pause too long while mowing.

The Quality of the Cut

Take a close look at neighbors' lawns. A brown fringe atop the grass results from mowers that "chew" off the top of blades of grass rather than cleanly slicing them, while a sawtooth pattern stems from a mower with more vaccum lifting the grass on one side of the mower than the

Ask neighbors about their mowers to learn which to avoid, or for recommendaCutting Width

Closely consider the layout and size of your lot or property. If your backyard is a maze of flower beds and obstacles, you might want a narrow-width mower to make maneuvering easier. Mowers generally range from 17 to 22 inches in width, with the 21-inch width being standard for many homeowners.

Safety

Today's mowers have an important safety feature: a special brake designed to quickly stop the blade when you release the handle. This is a mandatory safety feature of all new mowers. Some models are equipped with a "dead-man switch" that stops the blade by stopping the

If you buy one of these, make sure it has an engine that's easy to start because the engine have to be restarted every time you remove a bag or stop to pick up something off the grass.

Other models have a feature called a "blade brake clutch" that stops the blade but leaves the engine running. This feature can cost $40 to $45 more than the engine kill type, but it can save your having to restart the mower many times during one job

Many mower manufacturers certify their products with a voluntary industry safety standard To determine whether a mower complies, look for a triangular decal inscribed with the initials OPEI in the center and ANS B71.1 on the decal's bottom border.

Push or Guide

If you're not thrilled with the idea of pushing a mower back and forth across your lawn, consider a self-propelling model with wheels that drive the mower while you guide it. This feature can add about 25 percent to the cost of the mower, but self-propelling can definitely simplify

Check whether a self-propelling model has a single speed or variable speed because you will probably want to run your mower at a slower speed when running than when trimming open areas.

How the drive clutch engages and disengages on a self-propelled mower is important. Some mowers lurch forward each time the clutch is engaged. This can make for difficult trimming and even some mowed-over corners of flower beds.

Construction Details

Look at mowers with an eye for fine details to determine if they're well built. Does the paint consistently cover all metal surfaces? Do the welds and metal fittings seem secure and evenly finished? Are there unfinished edges that could cut an unwary hand? Are the handles chromed? Better mowers are constructed to last many years, and these types of details can reveal a lot THE THEORY OF THE TAILED AND ADMINISTRAL STATES OF STREET AND THE STREET AND THE

The "it" referred to is a combination conference/dining area that's the heart but still just a part — of an "executive suite" which can be right in your home.

To create the executive suite, interior designers took a separate kitchen and formal dining room, removed the wall between them, and turned the opened-up space into a setting equally suitable for business deals or home-cooked meals. An adjoining den became a full-fledged home-

A partition several feet wide extends from the top of the island to the ceiling, screening the conference/dining area from the kitchen and vice versa. The partition has a sliding panel. Slide it open and you make the partition wider still, gaining additional privacy. You also expose the interior of the partition, which is a bulletin board for pinning up memos, reports, blueprints or other business papers and documents.

The executive suite is full of warm wood The secret of the suite's versatility is (the kitchen cabinets and the island are natural oak) and earthtone colors appropriate for both a business and home environment.

> The flooring looks like ceramic tile but it's easier to install and maintain. The designers used it throughout the entire space to unify the decor. Another unifier is the fabric insets on the partition, on the end of the island, on the doors of a walk-in pantry in the kitchen, and on the pocket doors that close off the office from the kitchen and dining/conference area. The fabric has a subtle North African motif. Fabric insets are not difficult to make. You simply tack up a fabric and cover the edges with stock molding.

> > TRANSPORT OF LAND SORE THE STATE OF

The office has rows of bookshelves, built-in filing cabinets and a personal computer. The walls are covered w same pinup material that lines the interior of the partition.

But the executive suite is not all business. The island features a wet bar and stool seating for two. And come dinner time, you simply clear off the table and reset it with china and silverware.

Improve your home to end energy waste

Out of all the energy used by the typical American home, 60 percent goes for heating and air conditioning.

For the typical American, who likes to save money, that's one great big op-

Significant amounts of energy and the money it costs can be saved by adding insulation, weatherstripping, caulking, and storm windows and doors to houses that need them, according to the Edison Electric Institute (EEI), the association of investor-owned electric utilities.

All of these improvements aim for one simple goal: to prevent heat from moving in the wrong direction. During cold weather, heat must be kept from leaving home; and in the air-conditioning season, heat must be prevented from coming in-

It pays to control heat flow. EEI reports that upgrading a poorly insulated older home to adequate standards can reduce its energy bill for heating and cooling by as much as one-half. Even upgrading a moderately insulated new home can save 20 to 30 percent on its heating and cooling bills. The initial cost may be paid back by energy savings in as little as two to seven years, and after that it's all profit.

It's a good idea to get some expert advice before purchasing tools and materials, but all of these projects are within the skills of most handy do-ityourselfers.

Caulking is probably the easiest job. All it takes is a caulking "gun," cartridges of thick-flowing caulking compound, and a little practice. Its purpose is to fill up cracks around door and window frames or anywhere else that let air flow between inside and outside.

Cracks may be found by feeling for air flow inside, especially on a windy day, or by using a flashlight at night to see if light shines through to the other side. Old caulking should be checked periodically. If it has cracked or loosened, it should be replaced.

Cracks or gaps may also be closed by weatherstripping, pressed against surfaces or into openings.

A small crack may not seem like a problem, but a little arithmetic is enlightening. If a 40 by 83 inch door is surrounded by a gap only one-sixteenth of an inchwide, that gap totals more than 15 square inches in area. That's like having a hole the size of a brick through the wall. It pays, obviously, to close it. In fact, air leakage may claim up to 30 or 40 percent of a home's annual heating and cooling

Good insulation is equally important, and the easiest areas to insulate are usually an unheated attic and a floor over an unheated basement or crawl space.

The insulation is installed on the unheated side, with a vapor barrier facing the heated side to prevent moisture from coming through and condensing insdide the insulation. Where appropriate, loose insulation may be poured over a separately installed vapor barrier. Insulating batts or blankets with attached vapor barriers need only be unrolled, cut to length and, if necessary, stapled to joists or supported by rods or wire mesh.

Where insultation has already been installed, more insulation can be overlaid. In this case, no additional vapor barrier should be added, because it would only trap moisture inside the existing insulation.

Insulation is selected on the basis of its "R-value" (resistance to heat flow), and the thickness should be enough to provide adequate total insulation for local climate conditions. (R-value per inch, times thickness in inches, equals total insulation value.)

A word of warning: insulation must be trimmed at least three inches away from recessed lighting fixtures so they won't overheat, and it should not cover vents.

Finally, single glazed windows are the best heat transmitters, per square foot, in any house. Heat flows through a pane of glass 14 times faster than through a well insulated wall. One way to reduce that problem is to replace single glazed windows with double or even triple glazed units which seal insulating layers of air between panes of glass.

Storm windows and storm doors work the same way. They must fit tightly so outside air won't leak past them. If ice or condensation forms between inner and outer windows during cold weather, it indicates air leakage. A build-up on the inner "house" window means cold air is leaking past the outer "storm" window. Build-up on the outer window indicates warm air leaking outward past the inner window.

Advice for flood time

If there is enough water in your basement to take a swim — and you don't have an indoor pool — you have a flooding problem.

Detroit Edison offers safety tips to help protect your family, your home and your electrical appliances before, during and after flooding.

BEFORE flood conditions threaten your area:

- Have your electrical outlets in the basement or other areas rewired so that all outlets are placed above what you think the highest water level might be. Make sure your wiring complies with the National Electric Code.
- Disconnect electric power to all basement outlets, appliances, extension cords and equipment, including furnaces. It alsomight be advisable to shut off the natural gas at your meter.

If possible, raise all appliances above the anticipated water level.

BURING the time your basement is flooded:

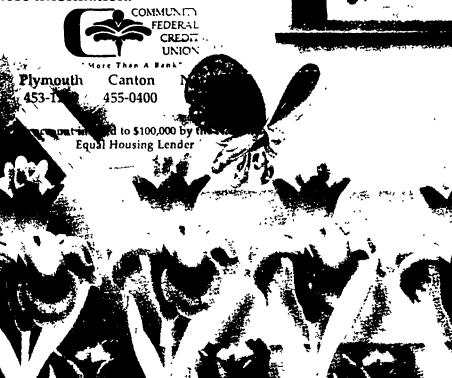

- Never step into a flooded basement or other area if water is in contact with power outlets or any electrically energized appliance, such as a washer, dryer, freezer, furnace blower motor, dehumidifier or lamp. You could receive a severe and possibly life-threatening shock. Not even rubber boots can guarantee your protection in this situation.
- Do not attempt to remove a fuse or turn off a circuit breaker while standing in water or on a damp floor. This should have been done before the basement was flooded. If you must have the electricity to your basement disconnected, call an electrician or Detroit Edison.

AFTER the flood:

- When the water in your basement has receded, don't try to operate or determine the condition of appliances or other equipment that have been submerged. You could be in danger of electrical shock.
- Your best safeguard is to call a qualified electrician to determine the condition of your basement's electrical wiring, an appliance repair agency to service your appliances and a furnace service person to check and restart your furnace. These agencies are listed in the yellow pages of your telephone directory.

Seek heat efficiency

One important fact to know when buying a new home — or just a new furnace is that heating equipment comes in a variety of efficiency ranges, and knowing what you're getting can help save money in the long run.

Today's heating equipment can range in efficiency from 65 percent to 80 percent to 97 percent, said George Tanner, president of Alpine Heating and Cooling in Brighton.

All gas furnaces require venting of combustion gases. Therefore, none can be 100 percent efficient, Tanner explained. Older furnaces were 55 percent efficient. That means that if you select a 97 percent efficient furnace you are saving 42 cents of every heat dollar you spend. Some of the high efficiency products also have a lifetime heat exchanger warranty.

High efficiency air conditioners are those that have an SEER rating of nine or above, Tanner said. The higher the number, the less costly to operate.

Longer warranty periods will illustrate to potential buyers that their HVAC investment is backed by proven field experience from thousands of installed units, along with confidence from the manufacturer and installing dealer.

Remember, also, that installation and service are as important as the product itself, Tanner said.
