City buys another lot on Cady

By BOB NEEDHAM

The City of Northville has bought another lot on Cady Street in anticipation of future parking and commercial development along the street.

"There isn't a plan for the property; there's an assumption that there will be," City Manager Steve Walters said last week. The city plans to undertake a formal study of the "Cady Street corridor" — the land along Cady and the south side of Mary Alexander Court east of Center — to consider the future of the area, including Northville Downs. The study is part of the city's current application for federal Community Development Block Grant money.

The City Council approved purchase of the latest lot Monday, May 9. The lot is on the northeast corner of Cady and Church streets and currently holds a house.

The city owns the two lots directly to the east of the latest purchase, as well as other land on both sides of Cady Street. Walters said the city's holdings should help orderly development of the corridor, including new retail development and parking which might be shared by the city and the race track.

There are now about five private owners of land along Cady east of Center — a manageable number for implementing any plans for the entire corridor, Walters added.

"The goal is to not have little piecemeal things occur ... right in the middle of the planning area," Walters said.

The city bought the lot for $66,800 at 11 percent interest. The city will pay $15,000 down and monthly payments of $500.

However, Walters said at the City Council meeting last week that the city could reasonably hope to sell the land again before making very many payments.

Council members wondered if the city — facing a tight budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1 — could afford the lot.

"We can accommodate it from a cash flow standpoint," Walters said. The down payment will come from the city's public improvements fund, which may cause the fund to show a deficit in next year's audit, he said.

But that would only require that the city submit a report to the state explaining the deficit resulted from buying land which is expected to be sold, Walters said. The same situation arose after the audit this summer — due to other land purchases — and the state recently accepted the city's explanation.

In the bag

It was "Mini-Olympics" time at the Northville Co-Op Preschool and Sean Frick, 3, jumped right into the spirit of the games by participating in the sack race. But what good is a race without the sound of a cheering crowd? Sean was helped along in his effort by mother Sheila and sister Kelly, 1, who had the best view of all — the over-the-shoulder view.

Condo owners ask for sediment action at Lexington Condominium pond site

The answer to the problem of sedimentation in a small pond at Lexington Condos — or at least part of the answer — may be available by next week.

A report from the consulting engineering firm McNeely and Lincoln Associates on the issue is expected to be ready for the City Council meeting Tuesday, May 24. City Manager Steve Walters said at the council meeting last Monday.

The pond sedimentation is one of four issues the Lexington Condo Homes Association has asked the council to address. The council agreed last week to defer all the issues to the meeting Tuesday.

Lexington Condo residents brought the sedimentation — in a pond just northwest of the Eight Mile / Taft intersection — to the city's attention last summer. Some residents said the pond had almost completely filled in with dirt, and that the problem was due to construction at the adjacent Pheasant Hills subdivision.

The city directed McNeely and Lincoln Associates to study the pond and try to determine what caused the sedimentation and what, if anything, can be done. Michael Kahm, a vice president of Pheasant Hills developer Singh Development Company, said at the time that if indeed the company contributed to the problem it would try to help resolve it.

"As we have stated to various residents of Lexington Condo Homes in the past, if the development of Pheasant Hills has caused additional sedimentation problems in the condo homes pond, beyond that which was experienced prior to our development activity, we certainly will take the necessary steps to correct that condition."

— Michael Kahm
Singh Development

In separate letters last month to the city and Singh, James Hockstad of the condo association to asked them to take up the issue.

The letter to Singh reads in part, experienced prior to our development activity, we certainly will take the necessary steps to correct that condition," Kahm's letter continues.

In addition to the sedimentation in the stream and pond, the letter from the association to the city requests the addressing of three other issues.

First, the status of a vacant parcel of land on Eight Mile Road. The association asked that the parcel be leased as a park.

Second, a question about roads in the development: whether the developer or builder paid the city a per-unit fee for roads. The letter states that the roads in the development are not dedicated public roads.

Third, a question of whether the builder paid the city a per-unit cost for tree planting.

The council agreed last week to address all the issues in the letter at its Tuesday, May 24 meeting.

"Because of your construction activity, we have been the recipient of vast quantities of earth run off into our stream and pond. In fact, our pond is now almost fully filled with sediment."

"We request that the Singh Development Company fully accept the responsibility for this damage and, further, take the necessary steps to clean / dredge both the stream and the pond prior to the full completion of your building activity on the Pheasant Hills site along with any further damages which may be caused by the restoration process."

A letter from Kahm to Hockstad in response states that the company will repair any damage caused by Pheasant Hills construction — if there is any.

"Singh Development has always prided itself on doing quality developments and maintaining good relationships with our neighbors. We have never shirked from our obligations in our developments nor with commitments made to our neighbors," Kahm's letter reads in part.

"As we have stated to various residents of Lexington Condo Homes in the past, if the development of Pheasant Hills has caused additional sedimentation problems in the condo homes pond, beyond that which was

More inmates set for local prisons

By ANITA CRONE

The Michigan Department of Corrections has announced its intention to move 281 additional prisoners on a temporary basis into Scott Regional Facility, the Western Wayne Correctional Facility and Phoenix Correctional Facility.

State Rep. Gerald Law, R-Plymouth, said a letter arrived in his office late Thursday (May 12) informing him the Corrections Department intended to move the additional prisoners into the three western Wayne County prisons. Scott is slated to receive 149 additional prisoners, Western Wayne, 82, and Phoenix, 50.

The letter also was sent to state Sen. R. Robert Geake, R-Northville.

"This movement of prisoners is necessitated by the record-setting pace of new commitments," wrote Leo Lalonde, deputy corrections director for media and governmental affairs. "During March of this year, we took in 1,007 new commitments, setting an all-time record for intake for one month. April was not that high, but it was almost that high from preliminary estimates."

Lalonde said the Corrections

Department had serious overcrowding throughout the system with three exceptions — Western Wayne, Phoenix and Scott.

He indicated that the department would not violate the caps at the decree institutions, the Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson, the Michigan Reformatory at Ionia or Marquette, since the department would face a $10,000-per-day fine were those caps violated.

Lalonde indicated that two state prisons — Crane in Lakeland and a temporary facility in Muskegon, had nearly double the inmates as their capacity.

Although Lalonde indicated the cap violation would be temporary, Law said that he was not so sure.

"Temporary from the Corrections Department is like tax reform from the Legislature. Tax reform means an increase, temporary means forever."

Northville Township attorney Ernest Essad Monday said he was on his way to the Wayne County Circuit Court to try and stop the increase in prisoners.

Court orders reduction in prisoners by June 5

By ANITA CRONE

Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Charles S. Farmer Wednesday gave the Michigan Department of Corrections until June 5 to return the three state prisons in western Wayne County to their state-mandated capacities and prohibited the department from increasing the number of prisoners in the facilities beyond their current census.

The township had returned to court less than two weeks after Farmer had ruled that the department had 30 days to remove any prisoners over the design capacity, 528 prisoners, at Scott Regional Facility.

Noting there had been a violation of prior orders, Farmer said he would hold in abeyance any penalty or restraining order until June 5.

"Also, I order the department not to take in any additional prisoners beyond what has been testified to here this morning," he said.

Scott warden Lloyd May, testifying for the Corrections Department, said his facility had 645 prisoners on hand as of 8 a.m. Wednesday.

No mention was made as to what would be done with 40 additional prisoners, scheduled to arrive at Scott later Wednesday.

"I'll have to see the order," said Assistant Attorney General Susan Harris. "I just don't know about them."

Farmer left no doubt that his ruling also applied to Phoenix Correctional Facility, which, according to testimony given by warden Emmett Baylor, Jr., had 405 prisoners on site as of Wednesday morning.

Luella Burke, the warden at Western Wayne Correctional Facility in Plymouth Township was not in court, however, a spokesperson at the facility said Monday there were 543 prisoners on site.

Harris said the Corrections Department had filed a motion Wednesday asking Farmer to modify his December 1986 ruling, which mandated by the court the number of prisoners each of the three prisons could house once Scott reached its 550-inmate full complement.

That motion originally was scheduled to be heard May 27, but Farmer asked both attorneys to reach accord on another date.

"It took you three hours to present this motion. I have 40 other motions scheduled to be heard that day," he said.

NEW COMMISSIONER — Karen Woodside, a Lakes of Northville resident, has been appointed to the Northville Township Planning Commission.

Woodside, whose term expires in December 1989, replaces F. Richard Duwel, who resigned.

SAVE MINDS AND CANS — The Northville Odyssey of the Mind organization is collecting returnable beverage cans to help send the Meads Mill Gift of Flight team to OM world competition.

Cans may be dropped off between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. June 4 at a specially-marked van parked at the A&P parking lot on Seven Mile Road. Or, to arrange for home pick-up, call Dave Hursey at 420-3027 or the Gifted Resource Room at 344-8448.

Seven students and their coaches will compete in the world championship June 2-4 at the University of Maryland in College Park, Md.

CEMETERY RESOLUTION DELAYED — The City of Northville was scheduled for a court appearance Friday in the title case over the Rural Hill Cemetery, but the motion was adjourned.

The city has filed suit to get clear title to all of the cemetery. The southern part of the cemetery still technically belongs to the Rural Hill Cemetery Association, which no longer exists.

Attorney John Kelly said the city is now scheduled in court Friday, May 27.

HOW'S THAT AGAIN — After hearing that Gerald Avenue was not a legal road, Walter Holonity, township water and sewer director, suggested that it be called "Six Tenths."

"Since it's not a road, we can't call it Gerald Avenue any more. And, since it is .6 miles, I think Six Tenths is very appropriate," he said.

En route to hospital

Northville Township police are continuing to investigate a Monday accident involving a CEMS unit and a car that occurred on Eight Mile Road near Silver Springs. Officer Larry Demeter said Tuesday that the ambulance was on a priority run when it hit the automobile that was making a lefthand turn onto Silver Springs. It took the Jaws of Life to release the victim in the car and he was transported to St. Mary Hospital. Demeter said his investigation into the incident is continuing and he expects a full report to be available by Monday.

Consultant recommends impact studies

The engineer in charge of the city's traffic study recommended last week that the city begin requiring traffic impact statements from developers proposing projects.

"A lot of communities require traffic impact statements," Karl Kleitsch of Reid, Cool and Michalski said at a study session of several city boards last Tuesday. "That is a very good and clear way to (see) the impact a particular development will have on the area."

When asked if he sees any particular new traffic problems cropping up in the years ahead, Kleitsch said none came to mind. The city can probably absorb more development without significant negative impacts on traffic, he said.

However, problems can always arise. For that reason, he said, it is a good idea for a community to require developers to submit studies from a professional traffic engineer on the effect of their plans on traffic patterns.

Township police officers stop two attempted suicides

DWELLING BROKEN INTO — A dwelling under construction on Cameron in Northville Township was broken into May 10 and a microwave oven/range, a dishwasher and a garbage disposal were taken from the site.

Entry to the residence apparently was gained by prying open a door from the attached garage. The door and frame were damaged in the incident.

SIDING SLIDES AWAY — Aluminum siding and coil belonging to the Highland Lakes Condo Association was stolen from a Gerald Avenue maintenance garage May 11.

The incident was reported by the maintenance supervisor to township police. The complainant said the siding and coil were stacked on a platform along side a shed.

PHONE BOOTH MISSING — A phone booth and pay phone belonging to Michigan Bell are missing from the site of the old St. Lawrence Barns, according to a city police report.

The phone booth was on the side of a hill at the barns land, off Seven Mile and Center. The barns have been torn down and the land is now being developed with condominiums. The area was recently bulldozed, but Bell in an investigation found no evidence that the phone booth had been plowed under. The equipment is estimated to be worth about $1,000. It disappeared some time between April 1 and May 6, the report said. There are no plans to replace the equipment.

CAR PHONE GONE — A car brought in for repairs was minus one car telephone when the owner picked it up, according to a city police report.

The car came into McDonald Eord on Seven Mile and was driven to a bump shop in Detroit for repairs. The phone, worth about $300, was missing when the owner picked up the car May 11.

Police are continuing to investigate.

AIR CONDITIONER DAMAGED

An air conditioning unit on a Center Street business was damaged recently, according to a report filed with city police.

May 7 or 8 some tubing was cut and an electrical box was damaged at Judy's Decorating, the report said.

FOUND PROPERTY — Two lawn chairs were found at the side of Eight Mile Road west of Center recently, according to city police.

The chairs were found by a Northville Township police officer and taken to the city police station on Main Street. The chairs are waiting to be claimed if the owners can describe them.

NHS ARSON CHARGE — A former Northville High School student has been charged with misdemeanor arson to a public building as a result of a paper sign set on fire at the school last month.

A paper sign in a hallway was set on fire April 27, causing slight damage to the wall. The suspect was arrested Monday and released on $50 cash bond. A court date of June 15 has been set.

Northville Township police last week thwarted two suicide attempts, one of which occurred in the township jail.

Both of the men involved in the incidents are currently receiving psychiatric assistance, according to police reports.

Police Chief Kenneth Hardesty said that a Midland man, incarcerated in the township jail after being arrested on a drunk driving charge, attempted to hang himself with articles of clothing Sunday morning.

However, the dispatcher on duty, who was monitoring the cells, heard noises and notified officers John Werth and Charles Cole, who were able to revive the man.

He was transported to Westland Medical Center by CEMS and from there to Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital.

On May 13, while on routine patrol, officer John Werth noticed a 1980 Pontiac parked at the side of Six Mile Road west of Ridge.

Werth noted in his report that he observed a subject lying down on the rear seat of the car, and when Werth pulled over and investigated further, he found the man to be conscious but disoriented.

On further investigation, Werth said, he noticed a plastic pipe taped to the exhaust pipe of the car with duct tape, leading into the vehicle's back seat.

Werth said he questioned the man, who told the officer he was depressed after breaking up with a girlfriend.

Werth called CEMS, which transported the subject to Botstorf Hospital in Farmington.

CONSTRUCTION SITE ROBBERED — A construction trailer located on Northville Place Road was broken into sometime between 5:30 p.m. May 8 and 7:15 the next morning.

Two days later, on May 10, an apartment under construction on the site was broken into and a dishwasher, valued at $225, was stolen.

A worker at the site told officer Matthew Mayes that the dishwasher had already been installed in the unit and, when Mayes investigated the break-in, he noticed cut wires.

Entry to the trailer apparently was gained by prying open the side door and the perpetrators of the act stole a compressor, a battery charger and an extension cord.

Damage to the trailer was estimated at $25 and the stolen items were valued at $290, according to police reports.

TRESPASSING TO JAIL — A Garden City woman, who was stopped for trespassing inside a building on the former Wayne County Child Development Center property, was turned over to Livonia police on two outstanding warrants.

Township officer Larry Demeter said in his report he found three women trespassing on the site and issued them trespassing citations.

In checking for outstanding warrants through the Law Enforcement Information Network, Demeter said that he was informed of the two outstanding warrants against the one woman from the 16th District Court.

The woman who was named in the warrants was transported to the Northville Township jail. The other two women were released.

School officials face tight $16.8 million budget next year

By ANNE E. WILLIS

"If wishes were horses, beggars would ride," is an old adage that springs easily to mind during budget-setting times. If the Northville Board of Education had billions of dollars — it could spend it, but that would indeed be wishful thinking.

In actuality, the school board met May 12 to set priorities for its 1988-89 fiscal budget, and looked at a total expected revenue of $16,842,000. The expected expense total was $16,190,000 — leaving $652,000 for discretionary appropriation.

In the first step of the budget-making process, each principal and administrator was asked to submit budget priorities for the coming year. Based on that information, administration officials presented school board members with a preliminary listing of budget priorities. The first draft contained $485,000 in allocations, leaving $165,000 to be applied to contingencies and fund balance.

The contingency fund is approximately 1 percent of the budget. Most auditing firms prefer a fund balance of at least 5 percent of the total budget, Superintendent George Bell said, but he noted this fund balance was the best the district has been able to do since his hiring.

Bell noted that most of the appropriations represented a continuation of previous programs such as scheduled repair and maintenance, equipment replacement, gifted program and other past priorities.

The board previously had decided not to override the Headlee Tax Limitation Amendment and will be levying 32.79 mills during the 1988-89 budget year — if the board votes to do so following a Truth in Taxation public hearing on May 23 at Winchester School. A budget hearing will be held on June 13 and the 1988-89 budget is expected to be adopted at the June 27 school board meeting.

Bell said that the school system is in a slightly better position this year, after voters passed the override of Headlee last year and with the approximate 20 percent rise in State Equalized Valuations throughout the district. The largest increase in SEV came with new growth, he noted. "We will get additional kids, of course," Bell said, adding that the budget included the expense of four additional teachers for the district, "and we may need more."

Bell said he was able to present a realistic priority list to them this year, based on two years of hard experience. "This is not a wish list," he said. "I had accounts underbudgeted (in the past) and this brings them up to a realistic level in light of the experience of the last two years," he said.

In particular, Bell said the cost of gasoline for the district's bus fleet, the cost of electricity for the buildings, and the printing budget needed "beefing up" to bring the budget figures in line with the actual costs.

"The base budget is realistic," Bell said. He said the district would most likely have a $25-150,000 fund balance at the end of the fiscal year, June 31. The exact amount will not be known until well into July, when final bills are in, but Bell emphatically said "we will not go into a deficit."

The administration presented the priority list to the board so that the board could make known any changes or additions and deletions to the list, prior to drawing up the official budget. The board offered no changes to the administration's proposals. The following appropriations were listed:

• Office of Instruction: $24,000 — line items. These include the cost of staff development programs, new science program, consumables and the Michigan Comprehensive Summer Staff Development Workshops.

The Office of Instruction budget includes $35,000 for the middle school gifted program, which will add another gifted resource person to its staff. The total budget for this office is $59,000.

• Administrative Services: $11,500 for custodial maintenance; $38,500 for transportation; and $10,500 for substitute personnel. Total is $60,500. Included in the proposed budget is an increase in the transportation costs as the administration said there is a need to begin replacing buses and gas costs are rising. $22,000 was added for the addition of two drivers and fringe benefits.

One of the increases in this area comes in the administration's wish to raise the pay of substitute teachers to become more competitive with surrounding districts. Currently Northville substitute teachers receive $43 per day. The increase will be to $50 per day, which is on the average of what surrounding districts are paying.

• Operations: $5,000 to construct a flammable storage building for lawn mower and other storage items; $5,000 for furniture at Silver Springs; $10,000 for furniture at Meads Mill. Total is $20,000.

• Construction: Bell said this is a continuation of the board's five year plan. Total allocation is for $175,000. No specific amounts were allocated "because we can't do everything," Bell said, but the list of improvements includes roof repairs, carpet, room enclosures (a fall-out of the open school concept), new furniture and lighting at Amerman.

• Amerman: $18,684. Includes setting up an additional fifth-grade classroom, replacement of materials and books and an increase in capital outlay for each building for things like slide projectors and other necessary replacement items.

• Silver Springs: $1,500.

• Winchester: $1,500.

• High School: Total — $16,400. Includes $2,400 for extracurricular items primarily for non-athletic events such as forensic meets and $10,000 for a fulltime athletic director. Bell said with 22 sports operating over a full year the administration felt the need had come for the position to be more than just parttime. $4,000 was earmarked for copier supplies.

• Other: $135,000. Includes $15,000 for K-12 extra curricular, which would add coaching positions at the high school, elementary and middle schools; $23,000 for two high school monitors, used only if the board decides to more stringently police the non-smoking policy at the high school. The money would allocated elsewhere in the budget if the board decides the two monitor positions are not needed; and $55,000 for an administrative assistant.

City wants figures on traffic ideas

By BOB NEEDHAM

Discussion of the city-commissioned traffic study began last week among members of four city bodies, with the participants getting questions answered but not trying to reach any firm conclusions.

In opening the meeting Tuesday, May 10, Mayor Chris Johnson said the purpose of the session was to give those present an informal chance to review the suggestions made in the study. The meeting attendees included members of the City Council, Planning Commission, Historic District Commission, Downtown Development Authority and several members of the general public.

The traffic study, prepared by the engineering firm Reid, Cool and Michalski, covers many different areas within the city. Its recommendations include widening Center Street to three lanes from Dunlap to Eight Mile; closing Randolph at Center; and many smaller items.

"We studied the City of Northville to determine areas of transportation concern and possible improvements," Karl Kleitsch of Reid, Cool said at the meeting. "We basically feel that traffic operations in the city are good, but we understand the city wants to keep it that way and that's certainly the right approach."

One of the basic goals of the recommendations was to encourage traffic to "stay out of the more neighborhood-type locations," Kleitsch said. He showed maps showing preferred routes through the city, for example, South Main and Griswold rather than Center Street.

Johnson asked if it was possible to prioritize the recommendations in the study, but Kleitsch responded that putting the recommendations in such an order is difficult. Some should be done before others for reasons of traffic flow and geometry, but they are all important in that overall operations will improve, he said.

"Traffic engineering is an interesting field because we're constantly trying to balance safety and efficiency, and sometimes when you get one you don't get the other," Kleitsch said. "Some of these solutions are not perfect, but you try to achieve the best thing you can."

After questions from the board members about individual recommendations, Johnson asked if the engineers could provide cost estimates for any of the recommended projects, but Kleitsch said estimates were outside the scope of the study. Johnson said that getting some estimates was probably the next step in considering the recommended improvements.

Kleitsch concluded that the city does have some problem areas on which to work, but no pervasive troubles. "Basically, operations are good here. We don't find low levels of service," he said.

Antiques and clowns

The city's Antiques and Collectibles Fair was held last weekend in a new location and scores of browsers found the lot behind the MAGS building turned into a shoppers delight. Equally delightful to the children in the crowd were the magic machinations of this traveling clown. Pony rides, sunshine and plenty of booths of merchandise made the entire Chamber of Commerce sponsored event a success.

Community Recreation plans Rouge Rescue '88

By BOB NEEDHAM

It's time to get ready for Rouge Rescue '88.

The Northville Community Recreation Department is asking people to call and preregister for this year's community-wide cleanup effort. The rescue is scheduled for Saturday morning, June 4, at the Fish Hatchery Park on Fairbrook.

The Fish Hatchery site will be for residents of both the city and the township. Northville Community Recreation Director John Anderson said "Fish Hatchery is kind of a likely spot to do a joint effort because the city / township border runs through it," Anderson said.

Fish Hatchery Park is on the Johnson Drain, a tributary of the Middle Rouge River. Volunteers will be able to do a lot of work at the park site, Anderson said.

"Our intent is to clean up not only the logjams in the Johnson Drain, but (also) to take care of the overhanging trees which may not be there yet, but inevitably will fall into the stream," he said. "There are some pretty substantial tree limbs we'll be dealing with on that day."

Mountain Top Green Ridge Tree Service is lending equipment and donating labor for the cleanup. The company will provide a crane, a cherry picker, a wood chipper and chainsaws to help the effort.

Workers will be issued gloves, hats, and insect repellent, pruning shears and saws. A portable lavatory will be on hand.

The Northville Community Recreation Department is trying to get as many people as possible preregistered before the event, Anderson said. To preregister, just call 349-0203. The recreation department will send out information as it becomes available.

Anderson said he would appreciate hearing from volunteers as soon as possible in order to arrange lunch for the workers. However, "We won't turn anybody away" if they don't preregister, he said.

Anyone over 18 is welcome to participate. Groups of younger students or scouts are also welcome, but must be supervised by an adult. Members of the Northville High School football team are planning to work this year, Anderson said.

Volunteers are scheduled to meet at the Northville Community Center on Main Street at 8:30 a.m. June 4.

After registration and a briefing, the workers will be bussed out to the park to start work by 9.

"Our plan of attack will depend on how many people we have working," Anderson said. "For the most part, we'll try to stay out of the stream as much as possible."

Workers will be needed to work the registration table, cut down trees and drag logs to the chipper, Anderson said. Any workers with waders or high boots might be asked to work in the stream.

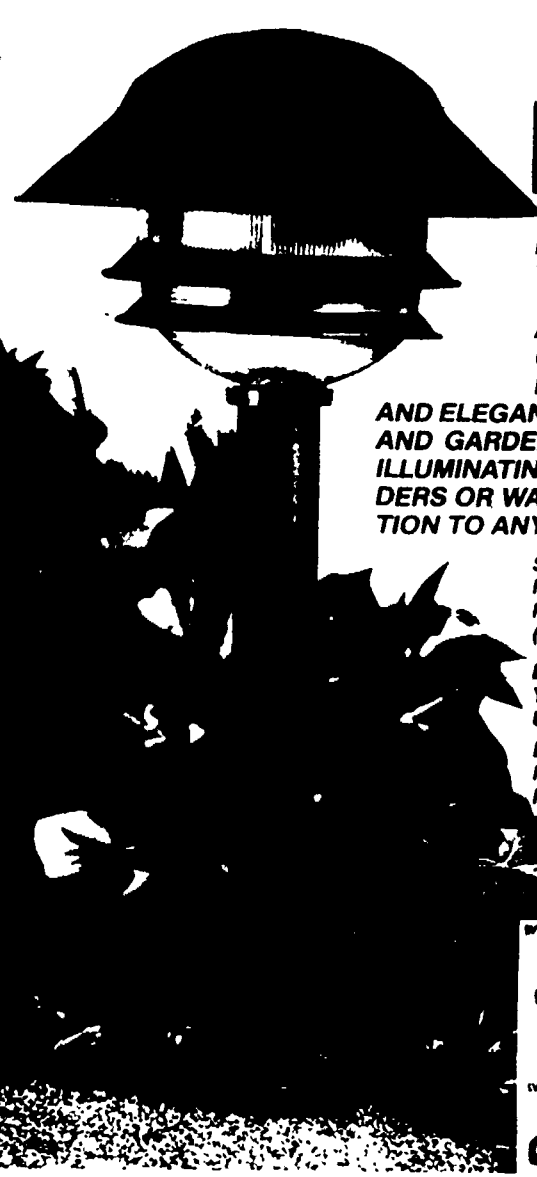

Participants will get a free bumper sticker, and pop donated by Farmer

Jack will be available. "Friends of the Rouge" T-shirts will be sold for $5.

After the cleanup, workers will be bussed back to the community center for a free lunch.

Last year, about 35 volunteers from the city worked at Ford Field while about 20 from the township worked at Waterford Bend. The Dandy Gander restaurant provided sandwiches.

Although three hours might not sound like a long time to work on the cleanup, "We were all bushed when we got done," Anderson said.

The bigger the boulder...

Record/Chris Boyd

There's more than one way to stop soil erosion and the developers of Northville's Blue Heron Pointe have come up with a novel method. The developers purchased hundreds of boulders from a gravel pit and moved them to the development on Beck Road, where the rocks are being installed to help prevent erosion. In the background are a few of the dozens of 5-foot pines which also have been moved onto the property.

McNeely is still seeking payment

By ANITA CRONE

Edward J. McNeely once again asked the Northville Township Board of Trustees to pay his firm, McNeely & Lincoln Associates, Inc. outstanding fees which McNeely contends are owed.

In a certified letter mailed to the township May 11, McNeely noted that since the April Trustees' meeting, his company had been paid $8,770.99, but additional funds, including $20,000 authorized by the board for work on the Haggerty Road sewer, are still owing.

During public comments during the May 12 Board of Trustees meeting, McNeely said he had responded to a letter by Ayres, Lewis, Norris & May, the township's consulting engineers, on work performed by McNeely's firm on the Haggerty Road sewer project.

"I have responded to this letter that was delivered last month. There is no doubt in my mind that there is someone on this board who is attempting to defame me and my company, causing severe financial damage to me and my company. I would ask that the board direct the clerk and treasurer to pay the amount indicated," he said.

Included in the money McNeely contended was owed, was $1,800 for responding to the Ayres, Lewis, Norris & May letter dated April 7, 1988.

Treasurer Richard Henningsen said that he had confirmed with township officials some of the outstanding bills and, on Friday, "personally put a check for $20,000 in the mail."

"I would expect that Mr. McNeely would have that check by Monday

But I am not going to pay the $1,800. That was work not authorized by the township. Mr. McNeely took it upon himself to do that work," Henningsen said.

Items also included in the payment request were invoices dated Feb. 21, 1987, for $218.80 for the JFK office building inspection; Dec. 24, 1986 for Maple Hill Subdivision inspection in the amount of $43.76 and for a review of land description for a lot split in the amount of $245; and for the Haggerty Road project an invoice dated Feb. 4, 1988, for engineering design fee for $43,466.

The township's Water and Sewer Commission authorized payment of $20,000 for the work performed for the Haggerty Road sewer.

Henningsen said that after checking township records, he noted that checks had cleared the banks for the JFK project, for Maple Hill Subdivision and for the lot split.

"We have requested Mr. McNeely to show us his invoices for work performed on Northville Shores Condominiums, for another lot split and for miscellaneous consulting engineering services," said Henningsen. "I indicated that to him in my letter that accompanied the check for Haggerty Road."

Numerous attempts to reach McNeely were unsuccessful. On May 13, a woman answering the phone at McNeely & Lincoln Associates said that McNeely was in a meeting. On May 16, two messages were left at the firm and McNeely did not return the calls and, on May 17, McNeely was not in the office.

McNeely & Lincoln Associates had been the township engineers until September 1987

Gerald Ave. issue gets more involved

By ANITA CRONE
Q When is a road not a road?
A When the road in question is Gerald Avenue

It may sound like a riddle, but the controversy surrounding Gerald Avenue took a new turn May 12, during the Northville Township Board of Trustees meeting.

The property owners along Gerald Avenue have been trying for more than two years to have the road improved so that their trucks and vehicles could use the road, so that water and sewer could be provided to the businesses and so that they knew just how much those improvements would cost.

But, according to Ernest Essad, the township's attorney, it is very possible that the township cannot do anything with the issue, since, when the township accepted the deed for the road, it did so illegally.

Essad suggested scheduling a study session on the issue, pointing out that the deed is in question since only the county may accept a deed for a road, and since the road is only 50-feet wide and the county requirement is 60 feet, the county will not accept the road, that while some property owners may be willing to provide easement to the township for the additional 10 feet, others are not, and, that a large portion of the property is owned by the City of Northville.

"Essentially, what you have is something that looks like a road, acts like a road, but is not a road," said Essad.

He pointed out that the township acquired the property that is listed as Gerald Avenue from a group called "437 Associates" which is located in New York.

"The township accepted the deed and released the bond, but it was never declared a road. And, if it is a road, then we violated the county laws, since, unless we have prior permission from Wayne County, the township cannot own a road."

Essad noted that there are number of options still available to the township, but warned: "The one thing the township can't do is do nothing."

He suggested the possibility of going to circuit court and asking 437 to declare the deed void, which, he said, would not take very long; asking the property owners to deed the additional 10 feet from all of the property; condemning the needed additional property, which, he said, would be costly.

Candidates file for seats

The number of candidates for Northville Township positions is growing as the May 31 deadline for filing draws nearer.

Although all of the current trustees, the supervisor, the clerk and the treasurer have announced plans to seek another four-year term, not all of them have filed nominating petitions.

Currently, trustees Richard Allen and Donald B. Williams have filed petitions, as have Clerk Thomas L.P. Cook and Treasurer Richard Henningsen.

Myron Casey also has filed petitions. He is running for trustee.

Edward Mroz last week filed petitions for constable. The township has two constables.

Township officials serve four-year terms. Still to file are current trustees James Nowka, the longest serving trustee, and Thomas Hanydske, who was appointed to serve Cook's unexpired term when Cook became clerk.

Supervisor Georgina Goss is on vacation, but said she intends to run for supervisor. Goss was appointed to the supervisor's spot. Previously, she had been clerk.

Draft details improvements

The latest draft of the downtown redevelopment plan, phase two, divides the area up into blocks and identifies plans for each block. Some of the blocks are actually outside the formally-defined downtown development district.

The individual block plans are based on three general goals: maximizing the use of existing downtown land, adding parking spaces and improving traffic flow. The parking goal depends mainly on rearranging spaces within existing parking facilities, and the traffic goal depends on consideration of the city's traffic study by officials.

The draft of the second phase of redevelopment — dubbed "Mainstreet '88," just as the first phase was "Mainstreet '78" — details specific ideas for maximizing land use downtown. Following the labeling in the accompanying map, these items include:

• Planning Block A: American Legion block — Possible redevelopment of the American Legion building as commercial space if the Legion moves. In addition, the draft suggests consideration of making Dunlap Street one-way between Center and Wing, and adding angle parking on Dunlap.

• Planning Block B: Arbor Drug block — "There is a potential for more intensive commercial development along the Dunlap frontage of this block," the draft reads, but no details are suggested.

• Planning Block C: The old Schrader's building — Develop the Main Street frontage of this entire block; redevelop the Schrader's building (already underway) and the Open Door Christian Church building; and improve the building facades on the parking lot side.

• Planning Block D: Theater block — Develop a pedestrian access from the parking lot to Main Street; and improve the building facades facing the parking lot.

• Planning Block E: Main east of Hutton — Redevelop residential properties to commercial; and extend the Mainstreet '78 beautification theme east to Griswold.

• Planning Block F: Mary Alexander Court — Develop more commercial space on the south side of Mary Alexander; improve the building facades along the parking lot. In addition, this block includes the parking deck and lists two options: replace the deck with a larger deck or create a surface parking lot.

• Planning Block G: M.A.G.S. block — Develop the old Northville Lanes site, on the west side of Center between Main and Cady; and develop retail space on the Main Street side of the Michigan Association of Gift Salesmen building.

• External block 1: West of Wing, north of Main — Decide if the houses on the west side of Wing — currently zoned general commercial district — are really intended for commercial use and if so, rezone them to central business district.

• External block 2: Northville Downs — Study the entire area, specifically with an eye to developing shared parking between downtown and the track, and considering the future of the track and of Cady Street as a retail strip.

• External block 3: East of Griswold, south of Main — Consider potential for future commercial development of the Main Street frontage.

• External block 4: Ford plant — Consider uses for the land if Ford closes the plant.

Officials gather to discuss downtown redevelopment

Officials from several city bodies last week began discussion of plans for the second phase of downtown redevelopment, and heard that the success of the first phase is greatly affecting the second.

City Manager Steve Walters has been working with the Downtown Development Authority on development of the second phase, called "Mainstreet '88." DDA members joined members of the City Council, Planning Commission and Historic District Commission in a study session Tuesday, May 10, to talk over the latest draft of the plan.

Walters told the group that phase two has a different orientation from phase one. The original downtown redevelopment effort — "Mainstreet '78" — was born out of a desire to compete with Twelve Oaks Mall and downtown Plymouth, improving appearances and encouraging commercial development, he said.

"Both fortunately and unfortunately, it's worked to some extent,"

Walters said. In other words, the city has found some new commercial success, but more can be done. In addition, along with the retail success has come problems with parking shortages and traffic congestion.

The challenge of the second phase is to increase parking without losing the pedestrian amenities, Walters said.

Parking development will concentrate on using existing parking areas more efficiently by rearranging spaces; and on some type of new parking development on the site of the city's deck on Cady Street, he said.

The lot which will probably be redone first is the one between Main and Dunlap east of Center, Walters said. If a special assessment bond issue was used to fund the work, that first lot might be redone by the end of the year, he said.

Beyond parking, the second phase addresses issues for continuing retail redevelopment (see the box and map). Some of these individual plans might be tough to do, Walters suggested. For example, one goal in the plan is to create a pedestrian access between Main Street and the lot north of Main and east of Center. "There are several (possibilities) in terms of a route and they all go through somebody's building," Walters said.

Similarly, the draft plan favors retail development on the north side of Main west to Wing Street — including an area now occupied by a gas station. Historic District Commission member Fran Gazlay suggested gas stations in a downtown are "ugly until I need them... I'm too old for boutiques. I'm great on flat tires," he said.

After other discussion of some specifics, Mayor Chris Johnson suggested the next step is to consider possibilities for funding some of the hoped-for improvements, and suggested the DDA begin thinking in that direction.

Township starts tree inventory

By ANITA CRONE

Northville Township has taken the first step toward protecting its diminishing woodlands.

Beginning today, Heather Hopkins, a Michigan State University graduate will be taking inventory of the trees in the township with an eye toward creating a woodlands protection ordinance.

Hopkins is on retainer to Brandon Rogers & Associates, which developed Novi's ordinance.

In conjunction with the mapping, the writing of the proposed ordinance will be taking place with an eye toward having a document and a map in place within three or four months.

Four official members of a sub-committee comprised of planning commissioners, beautification commission members and the township manager have put together a contract for the planning firm and Hopkins, who will be paid an hourly rate for her efforts.

"It is more than just counting trees," said Steve Brock, township manager. "What we're looking for is a map that identifies significant woodlands by size, by age, by health. We need to know what's out there."

Brock said the township officials, who will have the final say in adopting any ordinance, were not looking for anything in particular.

"We are more interested in keeping an open mind. We know already that there is a significant stand of beech trees on the county-owned land and we want to see what else is there," Brock said.

He indicated that the survey would not necessarily be limited to public land.

"Ideally, we will have a complete inventory and then we can look at what we want to save and how best to do that with the ordinance," Brock said, adding that it was very possible mitigation in some form would be part of the ordinance.

He said the committee chose to work with Brandon Rogers & Associates because of the firm's work in creating a woodlands ordinance in Novi.

That ordinance has been in effect for slightly more than a year and Brock noted that it appears to have been a success.

Brock said the township will spend $3,950 for the mapping and the writing of the ordinance.

William and Elsie Bailey

Bailey enjoyed life

William C Bailey, 90, longtime Northville resident and founder of the Bailey Dance Studio, died on May 10 at Saint Mary Hospital in Livonia.

Mr Bailey was born in 1898 in Lithuania to Vincent and Catherine (Lenart) Baluconis. He came to America in 1900 and spent his childhood in Westfield, MA. He took up the machinist trade and learned mechanical drawing. He worked for the Glenn Martin Airplane Corp in Cleveland, OH and also for the New York Central Railroad.

Mr Bailey became interested in dancing and danced at one time with partners Gilda Grey, the Shimmy Shaker and Irene Castle. He entertained in some of the leading ballrooms of the country with exhibition and stage performances. In 1924 he performed in Altoona, PA at Danceland. He became the manager of Danceland and booked groups such as Tom and Fred Warings' Pennsylvanians, Philip Spitalny, Tommy and Jimmy Dorsey, Ted Weems, Paul Whiteman, Guy Lombardo, Ted Lewis, Ace Begode and the Californians. He married Elsie Mae Hampton in 1925. The couple moved to Plymouth in 1928 to be closer to Mr Bailey's work at the Ford Plant in Northville. They moved to Northville in 1930. He worked for Vinco's in Detroit, Dunn Steel in Plymouth and in 1963 retired from Burroughs.

Throughout his stay in Northville, Mr Bailey taught dance lessons at the Bailey Dance Studio.

Mr Bailey is survived by his wife and sons William Jr. of North Carolina, Jack of Livonia; daughters June Slusarski of Luzerne, Barbara Lewis of Arizona and Racena Fischer of Colorado, 14 grandchildren and seven great grandchildren.

He was a member of the First Baptist Church of Plymouth and the Northville Senior Citizens. He enjoyed fishing, hunting and playing pool.

Funeral services were held May 14 at Casterline Funeral Home. Pastor William M. Stahl of the First Baptist Church of Plymouth officiated. Interment was at Rural Hill Cemetery in Northville.

The family suggests memorial contributions be made to the First Baptist Church of Plymouth.

Obituaries

MEDAB. MATZ

Mrs. Meda B. Matz, 48, of Novi, died on May 13.

Mrs. Matz was born in 1940 in Pontiac to Hugh and Viola (Porter) Moore.

She is survived by her mother, Mrs. Viola Dunham of Southfield, daughter Laura A. Matz of Northville and sister, Mrs. Howard (Susan) Ulin of Milford.

Mrs. Matz came to Novi from Livonia in 1978. She was a teacher in the Livonia Public Schools for 15 years.

A memorial service was held on May 16 at The First Church of the Nazarene in Farmington. The Rev. Dr. Richard Parrott officiated. Interment was at the Milford Cemetery.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Humane Society or to personal charities.

Angell saw town grow

Just a few months short of her 100th birthday, longtime Northville resident Harriet Angell died May 10 at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor.

Harriet Smith was born on a farm at the corner of Beech and Grand River Avenue in 1888. Her parents were Nathaniel and Lucy (Gittins) Smith. She attended grade school in Redford and graduated from Farmington High School in the Class of 1907. She taught in a country school on the corner of Six Mile and Inker Roads for three years.

She married Russell Angell in 1910 and moved to an 80-acre farm on the corner of Eight Mile and Napier Road in 1916. Russell passed away in 1926, and Mrs. Angell moved to Cady Street shortly thereafter.

Mrs. Angell is survived by her daughters, Mrs. Donald (Grace) McGaffin of Royal Oak, Ruth Angell of Northville, son, Mr. and Mrs. John (Jean) Angell of Northville, several nieces and nephews, three grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

Mrs. Angell may be best known for her work preparing scrapbooks for use by the children at Mott Children's Hospital in Ann Arbor during recent years. She used magazine pictures of interest to children and made picture books from photo albums for the children. Friends, neighbors and relatives provided the magazines from which Mrs. Angell clipped.

Mrs. Angell was a member of First United Methodist Church of Northville and Northville Senior Citizens.

Funeral services were held on May 13 at Casterline Funeral Home. Rev. Eric S. Hammar officiated. Interment was at Grand Lawn Cemetery in Detroit.

The family suggests memorials be made to First United Methodist Church of Northville or Whitehall Convalescent Home in Novi.

Road covering rebid necessary

Northville Township will be rebidding its calcium chloride application contract.

Although Astro Oil Co., Inc. offered the lowest price among three firms which bid, the request for proposals put out by the township specified that the application must be Dow Chemical Co. material and conform to Michigan Department of State Highways specification.

Astro Oil bid 31.5 cents per gallon, applied, and while the company's product did meet Michigan Department of Transportation specifications, it was not a Dow product.

"I am concerned, since we asked for a Dow product, that if we award the bid to Astro Oil, the other bidders may have quoted a higher price because they did follow the specifications," said Trustee James Nowka.

There were two other bidders. Liquid Calcium Chloride Sales, Inc. bid 37.3 cents per gallon and Michigan Chloride Sales, Inc. bid 39 cents per gallon.

The township furnishes two applications of calcium chloride, one in June and one in August.

In suggesting that all of the bids be rejected and the project be rebid, Trustee Donald B. Williams noted that if he were the second low bidder, he'd know just what to do.

"I think that I would lower my price and see if I could meet the low bid," said Williams.

"That is not the issue. The issue is following the proposal. I don't think we have much choice but to either accept the second low bid or rebid the entire project and not specify a company," countered Nowka.

Walt Hollnoty, water and sewer superintendent, had suggested that the low bid be accepted and also that the township consider putting Pentaseal on the roads, rather than the calcium chloride.

"Pentaseal is currently being tested by a number of cities, but the counties will not issue permits unless the supplier can produce an acceptance letter from the Michigan Department of Natural Resources," he said.

Pentaseal also reduces dust on roads, and the process could save the township money in the long run, Hollnoty said.

"The DNR has said that there is no toxicological or aquatic toxicity data available and applying it would be at the user's risk," he added, noting that Pentaseal is used by a number of communities in the south.

"The advantage is that as Pentaseal continues to be used, you need less and less of it. I think it might be a good idea to test it on Gerald Avenue, since it is located nowhere near a stream or other waterway," Hollnoty said.

The board rejected that suggestion, opting to wait until the product received approval from Wayne County.

WINNERS CIRCLE
BY LAURIE KIPP
M&L

The Michigan Lottery receives a lot of inquiries about its various games. The following addresses questions on instant games:

Q: Why do they offer mostly small prizes now?

A: Research found instant game players prefer lower odds and many smaller prizes. Players seeking large prizes tend to play other Lottery games.

Q: Are all instant games the same?

A: No. Players like variety, so the six games offered each year have different names, ticket designs, prize structures and other distinct features.

Q: Will there be more wheel spin games?

A: Yes, this is a feature of our newest instant game, "Spin to Win," which begins May 17.

Q: What prizes will the next game have?

A: Equalling the highest payout of any game yet offered by the Michigan Lottery, it will provide more than $15 million in prizes. In addition to millions of $2, $5, $10 and $50 awards, there will also be 50 chances to spin a money wheel for prizes ranging from $5,000 to $25,000.

Q: How do you get the chance to spin?

A: A player becomes eligible to try the money wheel with three "SPIN" symbols on a single ticket. Wheel spins will be conducted at various locations around the state and the public will be invited.

Q: What will the odds be in the next game?

A: The best in any Michigan Lottery game yet, odds in "Spin to Win" are almost one in three that any ticket will be a cash prize or free ticket winner. This does not necessarily mean that, if you buy three tickets at the same time, one will be a winner. It means that nearly one third of tickets printed are winners. Winning tickets are randomly scattered during the printing process. So even the Lottery has no idea where they are located until the winners claim their prizes.

Q: How can I collect instant game prizes?

A: Any instant game prize up to $600 can be collected immediately at nearly 8,000 Lottery retailers throughout the state. Wheel spin winners can file a claim through any Lottery retailer or at any of seven Lottery regional offices.

For asking the question leading to this column, Ross Fulton of Brookman, MI, will receive 50 free tickets in the "Spin to Win" instant game.

If you have a question not yet covered in these columns, send it to "Winner's Circle," Michigan Lottery, PO Box 30077, Lansing, MI 48909.

Campbells look ahead to new restaurant

By BOB NEEDHAM

The Campbell family, owners and operators of Elizabeth's restaurant, closed up shop Saturday in preparation for a move to Cape Cod and a new restaurant venture.

According to Doug Campbell, it just got to be time for a change.

"I guess it was just an opportunity to do something different," he said Friday in a break from final preparations. "We've gone out there for 20 years for vacations... We like it there a lot and always planned on retiring out there some day."

"We just decided it was time to make a change."

The change is going to be a pretty big one, Campbell said. Their new Cape Cod restaurant — the Nauset Beach Club — will have the same quality in food as Elizabeth's. And it will be about the same size: only seven more seats, in another old house, he said.

But aside from that, things are going to be different for the Campbells.

The Nauset Beach Club will not have silver flatware or expensive linens, Campbell said, but will be much more casual. Rather than fine French cuisine the new menu will lean toward seafood, soups, salads, and pasta.

"We're going to kind of the exact opposite of the way we did it here," Campbell said. Rather than a four-course meal served to everyone, at their new restaurant people can simply order whatever they want to eat, he said.

The Campbells are basing the change in style on observations of a lot of restaurants across the country.

"I really think fancy dining... is falling by the wayside a little bit. Our business has always been good, but it's not hard when you have only 40 seats," Campbell laughed.

The very fancy restaurants in New York are now going half-full, Campbell commented, while the more casual places with good food and quick service seem very popular. "Those are the places that are packed. Absolutely packed," he said.

French cuisine in general seemed to be dying out until the advent of nouvelle cuisine — and then people got tired of small portions and high prices, Campbell said. Next was cuisine bourgeois — "That's the way your mother cooked," and it was not really exciting or new, he said.

"I just think people have changed eating habits a lot," Campbell continued. When a husband and wife both work, "they're not going to go out and dump $100" just to avoid cooking, he said.

Elizabeth's was a special occasion restaurant, for things like birthdays and anniversaries, Campbell said. "That's always the niche we fell into."

The four-course dinners were not something to eat all the time, he added. "I couldn't do that every night. I couldn't do it once a week, I'd look like a balloon."

But the special-occasion nature of

VFW and auxiliary install new officers

The Northville Post 4012 VFW and Ladies Auxiliary held a joint installation of officers on Sunday, May 15.

Current Commander Butch Hubbard was installed for his second consecutive year by Past Commander Merle Hoag.

Ladies Auxiliary President Peg Hoag, was installed for her third term by Past President Betty Morgan.

Northville Mayor Chris Johnson and several state representatives of the VFW and Auxiliary were in attendance at the ceremony. Past State Commander Bud Jack and Ferne Jack, current state officer of the Auxiliary also attended.

District representatives of the VFW and Auxiliary, including Wayne Buck, District commander and Jackie Conroy, District President were also at the ceremony.

Several certificates for outstanding members were awarded by Commander Butch Hubbard and Immediate Past President Linda Burton.

Hubbard presented plaques for outstanding service to the post for the year to Bob Schmidt and Linda Burton.

Ordinance appealed

A Northville homeowner is asking the city to let him continue keeping a commercial vehicle on his property.

A city ordinance prohibits anyone from keeping a commercial vehicle on property zoned residential unless it is in a garage or barn. Donald Lewis, who lives on Eight Mile, has been cited for violating the ordinance, but he has appealed to the city council.

The council received the appeal at a meeting last week and scheduled a hearing for June 6. In the meantime the council referred the appeal to the city attorney and city manager for comment.

The ordinance states that appeals to the city council will be considered on three bases: whether the requirement works an exceptional or undue hardship; whether use and enjoyment of adjacent properties would suffer if the ordinance is waived; and that granting the requested relief would comply with the basic intent of the ordinance.

In the appeal letter to the city, attorney Douglas Oliver wrote that Lewis bought the property in 1974 and has parked a commercial vehicle on it ever since he has lived there. The ordinance was adopted in 1978, with the appeal procedure added a few months later.

"His use of the property, i.e., the parking of commercial vehicles, predated the adoption of the subject ordinance. Therefore, Mr. Lewis has a pre-existing non-conforming use of the property which allows him to park commercial vehicles on this property. The pre-existing non-conforming use has never been abandoned," the letter reads.

The ordinance requires property owners within 300 feet to be notified by mail of the scheduled hearing.

VFW awards five outstanding officers

The Northville Post 4012 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and its Ladies Auxiliary recently held its fifth annual Law Officers and Firefighters Award banquet.

"A grateful community assembles to honor its police and fire personnel," Commander Butch Hubbard said in beginning the program. John Hemeyer was Master of Ceremonies for the event.

Present during the awards were Mayor Chris Johnson, Northville Township Supervisor Georgina Goss and State Representative Gerald Law.

The VFW and Ladies Auxiliary present the annual awards as part of the ongoing community service program of the VFW. Each honoree is chosen by the respective department chief to receive the award. A plaque with the VFW Cross of Malta and engraved with the award winner's name and "1988 Law Officer/Fire Fighter of the Year" is presented.

Winner of the City of Northville 1988 Police Officer of the Year award was Officer James Marks. Chief Rodney Cannon presented the award to Marks and noted that on Jan. 29 the officer had saved the life of a man who had quit breathing. Cannon said Marks became a patrolman in 1978 and has an associate degree from Schoolcraft College and is pursuing his bachelor's degree from Madonna College. He is an Emergency Medical Technician and a First Aid and CPR instructor. Marks works in the detective bureau and has received two departmental awards.

Winner of the City of Northville 1988 Fire Fighter of the Year Award was Al Zielinski. Chief James Allen made the presentation. Allen said Zielinski has worked on the department as a volunteer for 13 years. He is employed as a street sweeper in the city. Zielinski is an ex-marine.

Winner of the Northville Township Law Officer of the Year award was Michael Wildt. Chief Ken Hardesty made the presentation. "He is a rising star in the community," Hardesty said in making the award, noting that the officer has been on the force for about one year. Wildt was on the scene during an armed robbery in the Township. Hardesty said, and the officer chased the assailant on foot. He previously worked for the Wayne County Sheriff's department and has a bachelor's degree from Madonna College.

Winner of the Northville Township 1988 Fire Fighter of the Year Award was Assistant Fire Chief Nick Rosselle. Chief Robert Toms made the award presentation. Rosselle is a certified Emergency Medical Technician and has a bachelor's degree in fire science, Toms said. "Without him the department wouldn't be half as good," Toms said in praise of Rosselle.

Trooper John Terry was awarded the 1988 Law Officer of the Year Award for the Northville State Police. Terry was responsible for saving the life of a woman trapped in a burning car.

Sewer plans still face DNR scrutiny

By ANITA CRONE

On the surface, the plans to request a grant from the federal government for the North Huron Valley/Rouge Valley sewer project are moving full speed ahead, but at least one snag has developed along the way.

While reviewing local improvement plans, the cities of Dearborn Heights and Garden City have discovered a sewer shared by the two communities and now are trying to ascertain how much money each community will pay for the expansion of the sewer.

That is not enough to put a stop to the review process for the 10-community regional sewer, but the bickering is enough to at least raise some questions about the date construction of the project will actually begin.

"There's a little internal problem between Dearborn Heights and Garden City," said Tom Kneuve of the Department of Natural Resources. "But the problem is between those two communities and I don't think it is enough of a problem to stop the planning for North Huron Valley/Rouge Valley."

Kneuve said that the plan, which is the second highest ranked project on the DNR's priority list for federal projects, is receiving almost daily scrutiny.

"Right now, we're in the process of reviewing the basis of the design. When we complete our review, it goes to Lansing for approval and then onto the federal government."

When the money is given, we then will issue an Act 98 construction permit," Kneuve said.

He noted that the cost of the project is now $49 million, about $11 million less than earlier estimates. The federal government is expected to pick up $27 million of the cost, leaving $22 million for the cities of Dearborn Heights, Garden City, Livonia, Westland, Romulus, Redford Township, and the City of Plymouth among others to pick up the remaining $25 million.

Brian Hlitsky, a spokesman for Dearborn Heights Mayor Lyle Van Houten, said that he can understand the situation that Garden City finds itself in regarding the sewer.

"Like we all did, they tried to explain to their citizens where these millions and millions of dollars for the sewer project are going. And now, after that was done, they find themselves having to explain additional costs."

"I can't speak for Garden City, but I certainly can understand their concern," Hlitsky said.

He added that he expects the issue to be resolved prior to taking the matter to the DNR for a ruling.

Kneuve said the DNR is proceeding with reviews on the assumption that the project will be funded.

"The absolute drop dead date — the date when everything has to be in place in Sept. 30, and I don't anticipate any problems with meeting that date. But this project has a history of minor problems escalating into major ones."

NORTHVILLE CITY COUNCIL MINUTES SYNOPSIS APRIL 18, 1988

The regular meeting of the Northville City Council was called to order in the Council Room by Mayor Johnson at 8:00 p.m.

1. PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE:

Present: Ayers, Buckland, Folino, Johnson

Absent: Mittman, excused out-of-town

Also present: Cannon, Hopp, Konrad, Walters, John Calandro, Kathleen Otten.

3. APPROVAL OF COUNCIL MEETING MINUTES:

The minutes of the regular meeting of April 4, 1988 were approved as corrected.

4. ADOPTION OF THE AGENDA & APPROVAL OF THE CONSENT AGENDA:

Moved, supported, carried, to adopt the 4/18/88 Northville City Council Agenda as presented and the Consent Agenda A through E.

5. CITIZEN COMMENTS:

William Hopping, 921 Jeffrey, was concerned about the Dow Chemical train that comes through Northville carrying dangerous chemicals over unsafe tracks and the possibility of a serious accident. Chief Cannon was aware of the article in the Detroit News, although the City does not have jurisdiction over the railroad tracks.

Mayor Johnson asked that the City Attorney advise what control we may have over this potentially dangerous situation.

6. ABBEY KNOLL SUBDIVISION LAND-SCAPING PROPOSAL:

The City Manager reviewed his memo of 4/15/88, stating the Planning Commission and City Council established the street tree plantings in approving the plans for Abbey Knoll and Pleasant Hills. In accordance with the subdivision ordinance the builder has been required to deposit $250 per lot and $500 for each corner lot when a building permit is taken out. To date 76 permits have been issued and $22,250 has been received from the builder.

The City Manager recommended the street tree program continue in the last remaining subdivisions, as established in the 1980's, giving a uniform appearance to the City.

Mayor Johnson opened discussion to the audience.

Mayor Johnson summarized that the Council has not been persuaded to abandon the street tree program and that they would consider a loan to Abbey Knoll Subdivision to beautify their entrance and cul-de-sacs.

10. OAKLAND COUNTY VEHICLE REGISTRATION FEE:

Oakland County Commissioner John Calandro advised Council that the $25 Motor Vehicle Registration Fee will be on the August primary ballot. Oakland County Board of Commissioners has requested a proposal from the Road Commission to expend the funds before they would give their support.

Commissioner Calandro wants funds committed for construction and maintenance only. He will be back with more information.

8. FOURTH OF JULY: FIREWORKS PROGRAM

Moved, supported, carried, to allocate $2,000 for the 1988 Fourth of July fireworks.

Moved, supported, carried, to ask the Jaycees to conduct and supervise the 1988 Fourth of July activities for the City of Northville.

Mayor Johnson requested the Jaycees provide a list of Fourth of July activities and the parade route.

9. SPECIAL ASSESSMENT BOND SALE:

Tabled.

12. CALL PUBLIC HEARINGS: WATER & SEWER ASSESSMENT ROLL CONFIRMATIONS

Tabled.

11. CITY PLANNER: APPROVE SERVICES CONTRACT

Moved, supported, carried, to contract with Ayres, Lewis, Norris and May for engineering review of site plans and zoning cases, and authorize the Mayor and Clerk to sign the Agreement for Planning Services with Ayres, Lewis, Norris and May dated April 5, 1988.

7. ALLEN TERRACE BUDGET FOR 1988-89:

Frances Hopp, Housing Director, was present to review the Housing Commission Budget for 1988-89.

Rents are proposed to be increased 3.8%, which is within the MSHDA allowance.

Councilman Folino asked about the priority list for Phase I Renovations. Mrs. Hopp stated some items will be taken care of before the end of this fiscal year.

Councilman Buckland asked if the MSHDA program will continue. Mrs. Hopp felt that it would. The rent allowance has been increased for inflation every year that Allen Terrace residents have used the program.

Mayor Johnson thanked Mrs. Hopp for her input and stated the Allen Terrace rent will be set at the regular Council meeting on May 9.

13. COUNCIL COMMENTS:

Councilman Buckland questioned the speed on 8 Mile Road, between Taft and Novi Road from 7-9 a.m. and from 4-6 p.m.

The City Manager stated the Police Department checks the speed regularly and will continue to do so.

Councilman Folino discussed Mayor Exchange Day with East Detroit.

Councilman Folino asked that the T.C.O. designating signs at O.L.V. be checked as they have not been installed yet.

Councilman Folino asked that the sidewalk along Potomac be constructed as soon as possible.

NORTHVILLE AREA SENIOR CITIZENS ADVISORY COUNCIL APPOINTMENT:

Moved, supported, carried, to reappoint Bruce Turnbull, 385 Easton, to the Northville Area Senior Citizens Advisory Council with his term expiring 3/31/91.

Mayor Johnson recessed the regular meeting at 10:10 p.m. for the Closed Session Property Purchase. Mayor Johnson reconvened the regular meeting at 10:20 p.m.

There being no further business to come before City Council, Mayor Johnson adjourned the regular Council meeting at 10:22 p.m.

RESPECTFULLY SUBMITTED,

Elizabeth's serves its final dinner and Campbells move on

Elizabeth's helped create a neat combination of what are probably the city's three best-known restaurants, Genitti's, MacKinnon's and Elizabeth's, Campbell said.

"We had three really good quality restaurants in different price ranges, and I think we enhanced each other rather than competing with each other," he explained. The variety of offerings made it worthwhile for people to drive to Northville for a meal out, he added.

Tom MacKinnon commented that Elizabeth's played a vital part in the community establishing a reputation for good restaurants.

"They were here first. They were here before us and I think all three of us pulled something different.

Everybody helped everybody else," MacKinnon said.

Campbell said that Northville is part of a very strong restaurant community throughout the state.

"There's a lot of great restaurants. Michigan has really a lot to be proud of," he said. "I'll tell you. The Detroit area and all of Michigan has a tremendous amount of what I would say are national class restaurants. What I would consider excellent."

Twenty or 30 Michigan restaurants are above average nationally, he added. Next to New York and Los Angeles, Michigan boasts one of the strongest restaurant communities in the country, he said.

Campbell said the family will miss the area. "I wake up in the middle of the night in cold sweats," he said. But since both Doug's and Elizabeth's mothers will be in town, the family is sure to return for visits regularly.

The Campbell's will miss their staff, too, he said — people who helped make Elizabeth's the success it was.

As for the future of the building which housed Elizabeth's,

Campbell said the new owners — who run Maria's in West Bloomfield — plan to reopen some time around June 1.

The Campbell family's new restaurant, the Nauset Beach Club, will be located at 222 Main Street in East Orleans, Massachusetts. The Campbells plan to be open year 'round for lunch and dinner.

Student assistance director position not in proposed budget

One of the programs that the proposed school budget plan will not continue this year is the position of Director of the Northville High School Student Assistance Program, the post currently held by Charles Stilec.

Stilec's position was not funded previously by the district, rather it was funded by a grant to a consortium of schools, one of which was Northville. That grant funding was cut severely this year and, in the preliminary budget prioritizing, the district has not included funding for the program.

Superintendent George Bell said the move to leave out the position from the district's budget was a question of philosophy. "The funding of a drug counselor rises outside of the responsibility of the school district," Bell said. "It is the community's responsibility to help fund (the position)."

Bell said he thought the position itself was a worthwhile one but felt it was outside the parameters of the school district to fund. "I would be happy to lead a fundraising drive," to maintain the position, Bell said, but the funds must come from community sources.

"Our focus is teaching and learning," Bell said. "Substance abuse is a community problem, not just a school problem. More and more people expect schools to solve all of society's problems," he said adding the emphasis should be on teaching.

Bell noted that the Northville Youth Assistance Program has a successful program because of community involvement — and that it did not receive direct funding from the district. NYA receives office space only.

Dolly McMaster, assistant superintendent, said that efforts are proceeding to raise funds to continue Stilec's position. She said community groups were being approached and other sources of financing were being explored. She said she was hopeful that the position would be continued for the next school year.

School board members consider $16.8 million budget received the most positive support of any item from the board. Bell called the position "long overdue" and said there was a real need for a person with building principal experience to be on board the administration.

Half-time secretary — $10,000. Fringe benefits — $6,500. The part-time secretary would be for the administrative assistant and to assist in board paperwork as well as with the science program. The fringe benefits would be for the administrative assistant and the secretary.

Office set up — $2,500. High school band repair — $2,000. Awards — $1,000. Bell said "lots of kids are working very hard on various projects and the presenting of awards in recognizing their achievements" is very important for student morale.

Computers — $20,000. This is budgeted to provide 12 computers and one three-pack printer for the district. It carries through the program started last year, Bell told the board.

Our Opinion

Community needs to support position

The Northville School District's proposed 1988-89 budget appears to leave very little room for amenities. The district has proposed a list of priorities which leaves a mere one percent contingency fund for the district. While that one percent may indeed be a step in the right direction for the district, it is not the kind of cushion that makes auditors and accountants sleep well at night.

EDUCATION

The district is faced with its share of necessary projects. In particular, several of the schools are faced with space and sound problems, the fallout of the years when open schools were in vogue and walls were seen as restricting to the educational process. Times have changed, and the district is looking to change with them — by adding dividers in schools and by replacing well worn furniture, books and materials in all of the schools.

These projects do indeed seem to be priorities. But while the district has found some money for them, it has not attempted to find the money necessary to continue the grant funding for the position of Charles Stilec, Director of Northville High School Student Assistance Program. Superintendent George Bell, while emphasizing that he felt the position is a good one, said that he did not feel that it was the school district's responsibility to fund such a program — that substance abuse is a community-wide concern and should be funded by the community at large.

Bell said the judgement on who is responsible for the position appeared to be one of "philosophy". We would agree. And while we may not be convinced that the school district does not share some of the community's responsibility for this growing problem, we do agree that the district does not have the necessary funds to pay for Stilec's position this year. The question of philosophy does not need to be answered this year, as the question of finance has taken precedence.

In the face of that budget crunch the community must act. We support Assistant Superintendent Dolly McMaster in her attempt to find further funding from alternate sources to maintain the substance abuse counselor position in the Northville schools. If grant funding cannot be found to continue the position, it is hoped that community service groups in Northville will take up the cause.

Bell is right in one respect. The entire community has a stake in fighting substance abuse — and one of the best places to fight is in the schools. We sincerely hope that the community realizes the importance of the position and supports it.

Traffic impact studies would aid community

Last week some members of city boards — the City Council, Planning Commission, Downtown Development Authority and Historic District Commission — got together to start the long process of reviewing the city traffic study and the plan for phase two of downtown redevelopment, "Mainstreet '88."

In this first session, the talk necessarily concentrated on basic explanations and questions. Possibly similar meetings in the future will produce a more substantive consensus about specific issues.

However, one specific idea which did surface at the study session deserves some additional attention: requiring traffic impact statements from developers.

The concept was suggested by Karl Kleitsch, who was in charge of the city traffic study. The idea is simply that, as part of the requirements for getting a project approved, a developer must hire a traffic engineering firm to detail the impact of the proposal on the area.

Northville Township already does this for some projects. It's a great idea for all proposals, really, in a developed and congested area like the city.

The extra requirement wouldn't be a hardship on developers who are willing to invest in a quality project. We hope the city takes Kleitsch's suggestion to heart.

Driving me crazy

By Ann Willis

I was standing on the golf course last Sunday afternoon when the thunderclouds started building up overhead and faint flashes of lightning could be seen in the distance. We had only played three holes so we hadn't even gotten our money's worth of frustration yet — but that didn't matter to me. I am no hero when it comes to thunderstorms.

I've been scared of them since I was a child, and although I don't hide under the bed during them anymore, I certainly don't stand outside on golf courses during them. "I don't want to die on a golf course," I said cheerfully to my partners and started off to the clubhouse.

That phrase — "I don't want to die..." stuck with me that day, because I had thought the same thing earlier. On that same morning I had heard about my neighbors, Barbara and Karen Carter's experience on the train headed for Holland which struck a car crossing the railroad tracks. The three young men in the car were killed and some eight people in the train were injured. Even those not injured, were shook up over the experience. The Carter's had left Novi looking forward to a day filled with sunshine, color and tulips and had come home with nightmare images of tragedy.

I cross railroad tracks every day on my way to and from work. At least once a week, usually very late at night, I am stopped by a slow moving train. At least three times in the last year I have waited for the train beside flashing lights and bells and watched as a car has gone around me. Usually the car guns across the tracks and I get the shadow image of a lone passenger in a very big hurry. The cars have always made it, and I am usually left at the gate reassuring myself that I am not just a chicken, that I just don't have anywhere to be that is worth that kind of risk. "I do not want to die trying to cross a railroad track getting to work five minutes earlier," is the phrase that pops up most often.

On Monday morning as I was heading to work a school bus stopped on Ten Mile Road with its lights flashing. Every car on my side of the road stopped. A brown Toyota on the other side passed the school bus without a glance — ignoring the flashing lights. I had a good look at a youngish man in a suit and tie with a very harried expression on his face. I can't imagine that the moments he saved were in any way worth the risk he took.

On Monday afternoon Denise Sancrainte of Center Street in Northville called me. Her car had been parked in front of her home and had been hit by what she termed a "speeder" on Center Street that had lost control of a vehicle. She wanted me to alert everyone in the community that school is close to getting out, that Center Street is a residential street and that it has a posted speed limit that should be adhered to. Children play there, she said, and the danger to residents from thoughtless drivers can be seen in the bashed in side of her car. I drove by her car on my way home and had to admit the point was evident.

I once wrote a lead sentence for a traffic accident on Wixom Road and Ten Mile that began "A badly timed left turn..." — the end result of that bad piece of timing was two young people dead. They had been turning into a McDonald's and thought they could beat a heavily loaded gravel truck.

When I lived in Chicago I learned to drive with one hand on the wheel and the other poised over the horn. It was a defensive driving tool as much as the brakes. People in Chicago thought nothing of racing to make a left turn in front of oncoming traffic — immediately after a light turned green. Lately people around here have taken up that dangerous practice. I suppose it saves a couple of seconds of valuable time. I would love to know what all these people do that is so incredibly important.

I walk from the office to the store to buy pop almost every day. There is a light on the corner of Main and Center streets. When the light reads green for walkers it also reads red for right turners. The walkers have to run for their lives. Right turns on red were just giving blind and thoughtless drivers a license to kill. Thanks.

There are a lot of ways I am unwilling to die. Most of them, lately seem to be from absurd traffic abuses by people in a hurry.

After the fact

Drastic times call for drastic measures. The words throbbed through my head as I awaited my fate. I considered making a break for it. But I knew it wouldn't do any good. They'd just track me down and drag me back.

And then I saw it. A child's slate. With a little stylus you could use to write messages on it. I looked at the people in the white-coats who were guarding me. They weren't looking. Now was my chance.

I slipped around the corner out of view. "Help," I wrote in big letters on the slate. "I'm being held captive against my will. Notify the embassy at once."

I returned the slate to where I had found it. Hoping it would be out of the sight of the people in the white coats but still visible to someone who might come to my aid.

I had just returned to my chair when "white coat" motioned in my direction. "Dr. Demray will see you now," she said.

Smiling sadistically, he ordered me into the chair. "Get the industrial strength dental floss," he ordered his assistant. "If we can't yank it out with that, we'll have to get out the heavy machinery."

The sadism was too much for even his assistant to bear. She blanched. "Don't you think you're being a little tough on the patient, doctor?" she asked.

Just then the white coat appeared around the corner with the slate in hand. "Doctor, I think you should see this," she said.

Demray looked at my little plea for help. "Just a little joke, Bill," I smiled weakly, apologetically.

"Very humorous," he replied. "Heat up the oven," he ordered the assistant. "How does about 2,200 degrees of searing heat sound to you, Mr. Funny Man?"

Astrology explains a lot of things

To the Editor:

Aha! Now we know why the Soviets returned to the negotiating table a year or so ago, they learned that Ronald Reagan was guided by the advice of astrologers and were scared to death that, having mentioned armageddon in one of his speeches, Ronald Reagan was totally unpredictable and needed watching. They probably came to feel that they could better keep in touch with what R. Reagan was up to if they had some contact with his emissaries.

Was it on the bad advice of an astrologer that R. Reagan mined a Nicaraguan harbor not too long ago? Or led R. Reagan to attack Libya instead of Syria, the real culprit, following the disco bombing in Germany last year? Perhaps he should turn to clairvoyants who make use of chicken entrails, for guidance in the future.

I'm keeping my fingers crossed for the next eight months. Who knows what advice the Reagans' astrologer may come up with next!

Meyer donates

To the Editor:

Thank you Larry & Carol Meyer — Meyer Berry Farm, for your generous donation of White Spruce Trees to the Northville High School Baseball Facility.

The plantings certainly enhance the beauty of the property surrounding the baseball diamond, and is a major contribution towards the total upgrading program for this facility.

I would also like to thank the players and parents of both the Junior Varsity and Varsity Baseball Teams for their contributions in the digging and planting of the trees on Saturday, May 14.

Kids can combat Northville boredom

This is another in a continuing series of columns written for The Record by Charlie Stilec, director of the Northville High School Student Assistance Program.

One of the major complaints I hear from kids is that there is nothing to do in Northville. At the April meeting of the Northville Youth Service Forum, members of the group shared information about spring and summer activities for youths.

The Northville Recreation Department and Northville Community Education have a variety of classes and activities that our youngsters can join.

Churches in the area have summer programs and camps. It is of the utmost importance that our kids stay busy throughout the summer with supervised and productive activities. "Hanging out" is not a satisfactory solution to the "nothing to do syndrome."

A supervised and well organized activity that soon will take place in our community is the senior party after graduation. This party has been an annual tradition for the past 22 years with parents taking full responsibility for the planning, decorations, food, entertainment and chaperoning.

Approximately 80 percent of the senior class attends this event each year. The kids attend because they hear from years past that it is fun.

As in years past, this year there will be swimming, dancing, live entertainment, a casino with prizes donated by local merchants, and lots of food.

Parents should consider getting involved in the planning, and encouraging their youngsters to attend. Since the party is alcohol and drug free, it is a way for kids to learn that they can have a good time and be themselves without being high.

Further information on the June 17 party is available by calling Arline Paredes at 349-5465.

Another positive movement under way at Northville High School is the annual Teen Leadership Conference.

The Student Assistance Program coordinated the plans and sent a team to the April 29-May 1 conference.

The Teen Leadership Conference is a weekend education and training program for high school students, designed to provide the youths with the leadership skills and resources necessary to develop local education and substance abuse prevention programs with their peers within the school and community setting.

Through the use of skill groups, motivational speakers, large group presentations, recreational activities and social events, the students interact and share their concerns.

In addition to the students, each school participating sends an advisor to help implement new programs.

Both the Teen Leadership Conference and the senior party are good ways to combat boredom in a positive manner. But both depend on not only youngsters but adults as well becoming involved.

Budget night in Northville

By Bob Needham

I'm confused.

To those of you who have met me, that's not exactly anything new. But this is different. This is something beyond my usual baffled perspective on life.

It's all because of a strange quirk in the way America arranges its year. Every spring, at just about this time, professional basketball and hockey teams are deep into the playoffs. And local cities and school districts are deep into their budget deliberations.

The combination is too much for me to handle. I sit through meetings, trying to concentrate on things like tax bases, headlee requirements and capital improvements — when what I'm really interested in is field-goal percentages, player injuries and power-play goals.

My mind starts to wander ... to wherever the Pistons and hockey playoffs are playing. It's a dangerous thing. Just imagine a meeting of a fictitious government with my mind in this state.

We're back at the Pontiac Silverdome for game two between the Chicago Bulls and the City Council. The Headlee Amendment limited Michael Jordan to just 15.86 mills in last year's budget, and he figures to be even tougher this year. The tax office's control of the boards will be another key to this one.

There's a lot of bad blood between these two teams, so let's get right under way.

Now here's the tipoff, controlled by the mayor. A quick pass upcourt to the city manager, the long gun — and the proposal is BLOCKED by Truth-in-Taxation! The long bomb across the timeline to the assessor, and it'll be an easy layup. Oh, the taxpayers think he walked, but they won't get the call.

The mayor pro tem inbounds the budget to the finance director. The administration's fast break is going to be a major key in this game, and — THE PLANNING CONSULTANT STEALS THE BALL! A long bomb back to the assistant city manager, it's one-on-one — he spins and FILLS IT UP!

The department of public works wants a time-out. We'll be back after this spending request from the police department, your complete sports outfilter.

See what I mean? It's a real strain to keep up with what's going on at the same time in each of these two worlds. I've been tempted to bring a radio to the meetings, but I think my editor would disapprove. Besides, I have this terrible feeling my distraction is already obvious in the copy I turn in.

You're right, Mick, the administration's penalty killers have definitely been the difference so far in this hockey game. That and the surprising play of veteran fan favorite council member John Doe, who in the second period broke Gordie Howe's record for line item vetoes in a single game.

The city clerk will take the face-off deep inside the building department's zone. The home ice hasn't done much good for the council so far in tonight's game. The fire chief controls the debt retirement fund, and slams it up the boards past the administration's blue line. That'll be icing.

Whoops, we'll wait a minute here while the linesman gets the general fund back on its moorings. The deputy city clerk controls, and — oh, what a hit! A vicious tax increase and nobody saw it! The fans are screaming!

The pass up the council chambers, the quick shot and a BIG SAVE by the city manager but he can't clear. The rebound comes back to the police chief, he shoots HE SCORES! Oh, and there it is! The first assessment appeal of this series thrown out onto the ice!

I need help. This has to stop. Pretty soon Dick Stockton will be interviewing the city manager on Sunday afternoon. The mayor will be the special guest on "Don Cherry's Grapevine." The city council will win the Stanley Cup. And I'll be sitting back in the newspaper office, puzzling over my notes, trying to figure out how in the world Isaiah Thomas managed to balance the city budget.

NRPH must pay following clean air suit settlement

Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital will likely have to find $9,500 from its budget to pay a consent agreement reached between the Michigan Department of Mental Health and the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency and the Wayne County Department of Public Health

Air Pollution Control Division

The settlement was entered March 10 — almost two years to the day after the EPA brought suit against the state Mental Health Department for violation of the Clean Air Act. The settlement was signed by EPA administrators, attorneys and Alan Greenberg, division director.

It requires the state department to pay the civil penalty and to convert its existing coal-fired boilers to a combination of natural gas and fuel-oil fired boilers.

The conversion already has taken place, said Walter Brown, NRPH director.

"Usually, when an agreement such as this is reached involving an individual facility, the Department (of Mental Health) assesses the individual unit in its budget," said Brown, noting that he expected the fine to come from NRPH's contractual services budget.

"That's the fund from which we pay independent contractors, so I expect we'll be doing some belt tightening," he added.

The hospital had awarded the bid for the boiler renovation to Long Mechanical, a Northville firm, which already has completed the conversion process.

As part of the consent judgement, the hospital or department, must maintain the boilers and remove all coal from the facility by June 1.

Additional prisoners housed in three local prisons

Essad, on behalf of the township, on May 6 won a decision by Circuit Court Judge Charles S. Farmer that gave the Corrections Department 30 days to remove all prisoners over a court and legislatively-mandated cap of 528 at Scott.

The hearing was in response to an earlier letter from the Corrections Department indicating it intended to house additional prisoners beyond the caps at Scott, Western Wayne and Phoenix.

"I think the acts of the department are irresponsible and in blatant disregard of Judge Farmer's order," said Northville Township Supervisor Georgina Goss after hearing of the second move.

Law was even more incensed

"Evidently, Corrections intends to keep adding prisoners out here until they are locked up themselves. Nothing else seems to work."

Realistically, Law said, there is little the Legislature can do to stop the movement of the additional prisoners. "The law is on the books and the Corrections Department continues to violate it. As lawmakers, we make laws. It is up to the police to enforce them."

Essad said that he was submitting Farmer's May 13 order for the judge's signature on May 16 and that once entered, the department would have 30 days from the date of the May 6 hearing to remove 96 additional prisoners from Scott.

Although the judge only addressed the violation at Scott during the original hearing, he indicated, during his decision that he expected Corrections not to move the prisoners from Scott to the other two facilities.

Phoenix was slated to receive 49 prisoners over its legislative cap of 311 and an additional 50 under the May 12 influx. Western Wayne received 50 prisoners in over its 500-inmate cap and is slated to receive an additional 82 prisoners.

In his letter to Geake and Law, Lalonde indicated that the movement of the additional prisoners was temporary.

"Unfortunately, I cannot give you a specific schedule for moving the prisoners out. I can assure you though that we have every intention at this time of complying with Judge Farmer's order to reduce Scott's population to the statutory limit," he wrote.

The three wardens at the prisons have indicated that they are making plans to house the additional prisoners.

At Western Wayne, Luella Burke said she would house the additional prisoners in the existing cell block in an open ward situation.

"I have met with my staff and they have indicated that it would not be an undue hardship for them. Before the caps went into effect, they routinely handled more than 650 prisoners here," she said.

Warden Emmett Baylor at Phoenix said he intended to house the extra prisoners in the larger cells within the facility.

"We have some cells that are large enough for four inmates. Before the crisis, we had one or maybe two prisoners in each of those cells. Now, we will put three or four in those cells."

Scott Warden Lloyd May said that the additional prisoners would be housed in the internal recreation areas with a strong possibility that by the end of the week, the prisoners would be moved into the gymnasium.

"It is a good thing that this has happened in the summer, when the prisoners can go outside for recreation. But we just have no other choice," said May.

Lalonde said Friday that in April, a preliminary count by the department indicated there had been 850 new commitments into the state prison system.

"We just have no other place to put them," he said, indicating that department officials "have their fingers crossed" that the Chippewa temporary facility would be open by the June 1 target date.

In addition to Chippewa, which is designed to house 500 prisoners, a new facility at Adrian is scheduled to open later this year.

Thomas Scott, Gov. James Blanchard's press secretary, said he was not aware of the violation of state law, but did understand there was a serious problem with overcrowding throughout the system.

"The alternative to violating the caps is much more serious than the violation," Scott said, noting that the governor was looking at alternatives to incarceration.

Farmer, on Monday, said he had not been informed of the possible violation of his May 6 order.

"But, if the violation has occurred, I expect they will be back in court," he said.

Wise consumers should learn store refund policies

While laws protect consumers from misrepresented or defective goods, there are no laws that require merchants to offer refunds, exchanges or credits on merchandise they sell, warns the Better Business Bureau (BBB).

These voluntary practices have become wide-spread among retailers wishing to make shopping in their stores as attractive as possible to customers. But consumers should never assume that merchandise can be returned unless this policy is specifically stated by the store. Return and exchange practices vary from store to store, so customers should understand the store's policy when making a purchase.

Virtually all stores with exchange or refund policies require that the product be returned within a specified time period, in new condition, with all packaging in place, and with the original sales slip.

Because of health laws, these return policies seldom apply to underwear, bathing suits or hats.

The BBB emphasizes that customers should not confuse return and exchange policies with product warranties. Products often come with stated or implied warranties from their manufacturers. Read the warranty before returning a defective product to the retailer.

Business Briefs

RICHMAN BROTHERS, a leading manufacturer and retailer of tailored and casual clothing, will open a store in the Novi Town Center (26040 Ingersol Drive) on Thursday, May 19.

Richman Brothers National Sales Manager Leonard Martinez will conduct a ribbon-cutting ceremony to kick off the store's grand opening, which will include offers for substantial storewide savings and distribution of free Richman Brothers' shopping bags.

Richman Brothers will continue to offer its "guaranteed fit" policy at the Novi store, the sixth Richman Brothers in the Detroit market. The store also will provide free alterations for its tailored clothing, including men's Strathmore all-wool worsted suits.

According to Martinez, Richman Brothers' success and growth can be attributed to clothing which goes directly from manufacturer to consumer, providing customers with fine quality, value and affordable prices. "Because we are both a manufacturer and a retailer, we can respond quickly to changing consumer preferences and keep prices low by cutting out the middlemen," said Martinez.

Richman Brothers has 175 specialty stores throughout the midwestern, southern and western United States. The company has been providing consumers with tailored clothing and sportswear for over 100 years.

MARY ANN KELLY of Novi, an associate broker at RE/MAX West, Inc., in Livonia, has been named a member of the RE/MAX 100 Percent Club, an honor RE/MAX awards to its affiliates earning $100,000 or more in gross commissions each year.

Kelly, a 12-year real estate veteran, joined RE/MAX seven years ago. She has received the RE/MAX 100 Percent Club award three years in a row.

Kelly lives in Novi with her husband John.

RE/MAX is an international company with more than 1,300 independently owned and operated offices. In 1987, RE/MAX was involved in 287,000 real estate transactions totaling more than $30 billion in sales.

HOLTON COMPANIES, a design/build, general contracting and construction management firm in Wixom, has received two awards of distinction from Stran Buildings.

In addition to providing conventional construction, Holton Companies is an authorized Stran Builder. The firm placed third in sales among Stran Builders throughout the United States and Canada, a record acknowledged with an "Outstanding Sales Volume" Award and a "Top Twenty" Award.

Holton has been cited by Inc. Magazine as 91st among the nation's 500 fastest-growing companies and by Michigan Business as 4th in a ranking of the top 100 private companies in the state.

Stran Buildings is a major manufacturer of building systems, producing pre-engineered structures for commercial, industrial and institutional purposes. Stran is a unit of AMCA Buildings Division of AMCA International.

JEANETTE EDELSTEIN, director of U.S. Sales for Pancaldi Shos, will be visiting the Sandilar Shoe Salon at Twelve Oaks Mall to present the Pancaldi collection of footwear for fall 1988.

Edelstein will be at the Twelve Oaks Sandilar salon on Thursday, May 26, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. She will assist customers in their selections from Pancaldi's fall '88 line and advise them regarding special orders and custom-designed color combinations.

Pancaldi, an Italian shoemaker, is known for its exceptionally fine quality and high styling. According to Stan Zerman, proprietor of Sandilar and long-time shoe entrepreneur, Zerman is an "elegant French woman who has been with Pancaldi for years and has extensive knowledge in haute couture as well as a terrific knack for coordinating shoes with a woman's wardrobe."

Uniqueness is criteria at Milford shop

By KAY FAHEY

Handmade baskets from Farmington Hills hang from beams crafted in Milford

A doily crocheted by hand in Commerce ornaments a drop leaf table made in Union Lake. Ceramic figurines from Canton, country mouse doorstops from Birmingham and folk art dolls from Clawson compete for space in the comfortably crowded shop.

"I want uniqueness, quality and variety. I try to buy locally-made items," said Susan Coon, owner of All Things Considered Woodworks at 343 N. Main Street in Milford.

"I have about 80 percent American-made products. Realistically, I can't find all items handmade in the U.S. inexpensively enough, so I have to carry some from overseas," she stated. Her shop carries small straw figures from Taiwan side by side with duck decoys crafted in Alabama and incense sticks made in Ohio.

Coon is careful to emphasize the quality of her local and American-made products. Many of the items in her shop are on consignment. A fixed percentage of the sales price goes to the craftsman when the item is sold.

"The people doing things on consignment have been in craft shows I've been in. I liked the quality of their work and approached them," Coon said.

Coon said some of the artists and "crafters" she approached were hesitant to sell their products on consignment. "Many people have been hurt by consignment when stores go out of business and don't pay them. Or some of them would go into a shop and find an article they made $5 on, selling for $18. The people I buy from know what I'm going to make, and they are happy with the price," she said.

CPAs offer tips for dealing with credit

"Only a small amount each month on our easy payment plan."

If you have succumbed to that seductive phrase only to learn that the payments are easy for them to receive, not for you to make, you may be one of an ever-growing group of Americans who take on more debt than they can afford.

But it doesn't have to be that way. According to the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants, you can head off credit problems by identifying in advance just how much debt you can afford to take on.

The first step you need to take is determining your "safe" level of debt. Debt includes not only credit cards, but all credit obligations except your mortgage. This would include any student loans, car payments, etc.

For most people, the safe level is no more than 20 percent of their monthly take-home pay. But even that may be too much. If your annual gross income is $20,000 or less or you make $40,000 a year but have two or more children, you may not be able to handle above 15 percent.

It's important to emphasize that the 20 percent figure is based on your take-home pay — not your gross pay before deductions. Remember that if you are single, a $20,000 annual gross income is probably about $14,500 or less in take-home pay, after deducting taxes, social security and other payroll deductions.

Let's say you've determined that 20 percent of your take-home pay is $300 a month and you have only $170 in payments other than a mortgage. Does that mean you can run out and incur $130 a month more in debt? Of course not. Owing more than you can pay is the last of many signs that you're in over your head. And answering "yes" to any of the following questions could indicate that you are headed for credit trouble.

□ Do you spend money with the expectation you'll be earning more in the future?

□ Do you borrow money or take cash advances on credit cards to meet current bills?

□ Do you leave a bigger tip when paying by credit card or collect cash from friends in restaurants, then use your credit card to pay for a dinner out?

□ Do you go on credit card spending sprees even though you know you might not be able to make the monthly payments?

□ Do you pay your credit bills but let other bills go for a month or more? Or, do you pay only the minimum amount due on your credit card balances?

□ Does owning or using a credit card make you feel powerful or important?

□ Do you have trouble imagining life without credit cards?

The more "yes" answers you have, the more you need to stop and review your spending habits and debt load. If you are already having trouble paying bills each month, you probably need to take some additional steps.

First, draw up a budget — an austerity budget — to see if you can squeeze more cash free to pay your obligations. If that's not enough, contact your creditors to see if you can work out an agreement, such as paying just the interest for a few months. While this may seem intimidating, remember that your creditors want their money and may be willing to wait if you convince them you want to pay your debt.

However, there is always the chance they won't listen to reason. If that is the case, you will probably need help from a credit counselor. There are almost 300 non-profit credit counseling services that belong to the National Foundation for Consumer Credit and can help you work out a payment plan with your creditors. These non-profit counselors charge only a nominal fee or, in some cases, no fee. For a directory, write to the NFCC at 8701 Georgia Avenue, Suite 507, Silver Spring, MD 20910.

A credit counselor will help you come up with a budget and negotiate repayment terms with your creditors. Because they often work closely with creditors, they can usually work out a better repayment plan than you could. When the plan is accepted, you write one check to the counselor each month who then parcels it out to your creditors.

Before things get that bad, CPAs advise you to take a close look at your credit levels. If your debt load is approaching 20 percent of your take-home pay, it may be time to cut back on those credit purchases.

Realtors report spurt in spring home sales

The first days of spring brought an early bloom to the local real estate market with Metro MLS reporting March gains over 1987 for both sales and listings.

"We look for continued reversal of last year's experience when strong sales in the early months tapered off as the year progressed," said Metro MLS President Marjory R. Pickett.

"This year, the first two months were flat, but now sales should start to build. With more properties to consider, buyers will become more active and higher sales should encourage more sellers to take advantage of the market."

Pickett said listings jumped 35 percent in March over February and are now ahead of last year.

Metro MLS, the state's largest multiple listing service, reported 1,833 sales in March including 1,715 single-family homes and 118 condominiums. It was a 36 percent jump from February and topped the 1,693 homes and 86 condos sold in March of 1987.

"Following state and national practices, we also have begun reporting monthly sales in terms of median rather than average prices," said Pickett. "The mean, with half selling for more and half for less, gives a much more accurate picture of pricing."

"The 1988 median price for homes sold by our members is just over $68,000, up about $2,000 from a year ago. The average price, inflated by increased sales of $100,000 and higher properties, would be above $81,000," she continued. "The $13,000 difference could needlessly scare a lot of eligible buyers out of the market."

"While our members have sold 1,057 homes with $100,000-and-up price tags so far this year, they also have sold an even larger number (1,195) for under $50,000."

Pickett said the Metro MLS territory, which covers some 1,600 square miles and dozens of diverse communities in Wayne, Oakland and Livingston counties, provides both a larger variety of homes and a full range of prices.

Milford store emphasizes unique items

Coon started exhibiting in craft shows just one year ago, shortly after resigning from her supervisory position with US Sprint. "I was given the choice of transferring to Chicago or Kansas City when my department was eliminated, but I wanted to stay here," she stated.

Although formerly a Milford resident, currently Coon is living in Novi. She plans to return to Milford as soon as her youngest daughter graduates from high school. "My heart is out here," Coon said.

With the assistance of her husband Raymond, who is retired, Coon continues to exhibit every one or two months at local craft shows.

She said she had not planned to open a retail shop for about three years, but was eager to obtain the downtown Milford location.

"I looked at that location and decided if I couldn't make it there, I couldn't make it anywhere," she laughed.

Aside from the desirable location, the building is uniquely suited to house traditional American hand-crafts. Built in 1875, the building was originally known as the Ferguson Opera House, according to Milford Historical Society researcher Barbara Young.

Entertainment for Milford was provided in the upper floor. Young's research revealed the lower floor has been home to such diverse enterprises as a toy shop, grocery store, shoe store and an ice cream parlor.

Coon and her husband redecorated the shop in order to better showcase their wares. "Ray is very creative. I would draw an idea for something we needed, and he would go out and create it," she said. The couple made all the display shelves and tables in the store, as well as the massive wooden beams which serve to display smaller items.

All Things Considered Woodworks represents Coon's first retail venture. "This is my first time, although I took business management courses as a sales supervisor. I never knew how stressful that job was until I got out of it. I'm doing what I want now. This business is a big thrill," she said.

Coon clearly is enthusiastic about her new business. "I am so excited about this place. It was something I wanted to do, but I didn't think it would materialize. But we did it," she said.

All Things Considered Woodworks opened its doors on St. Patrick's Day this year. The store's "test hours" are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., Monday through Wednesday; 10 a.m. to 9 p.m., Thursday through Saturday; and noon to 6 p.m. on Sunday.

In spite of a lack of advertising, Coon said business already has been much better than anticipated. Coon attributes much of her success to the availability of quality, custom-order woodwork.

"Handcrafting is a lost art, and these items usually are unavailable to the public. Even when you go to craft shows, they usually don't take orders. People are having to settle for what they don't want," she said.

Some of the handcrafted items Coon offers are tables, benches, coat stands and many types of shelving. The pieces are beautifully finished and locally made. Their dimensions can be altered to meet individual customer needs. All custom orders require a 50 percent deposit, Coon said.

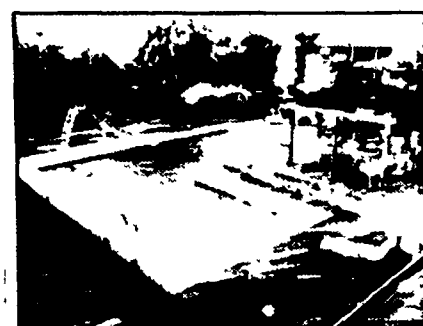

"We simply can't afford to buy all the supplies without a deposit. We put everything we had into remodeling and inventory. Our customers understand," she stated.

By emphasizing custom ordering and carrying hand-crafted goods on consignment, Coon has avoided committing large portions of her inventory to one kind of item. "I don't want this to be like Kroger, where you know where the eggs are all the time. I want it to be different every visit," she said.

This policy also has enabled Coon to avoid the minimum purchase orders required by many wholesalers. "Buying minimum orders is a problem for a new business. If you spend $200 here and $400 there, it adds up quickly. I try to buy smaller quantities and see what sells."

Coon also is offering her patrons an opportunity to learn how to make handcrafted items. Dianne Hogrefe of Milford, who does folk painting and wooden animals for Coon's shop, began teaching folk art classes on May 9. Coon is donating the use of a room at the back of her shop for the classes.

What has two wheels, one leg and curvy handlebars? Why, a scooter of course.

In shades of pink, pistachio, red and black, they can be found lined in perfect rows at local bicycle shops and department stores. They beckon to adventurous youngsters, their white gumwall air tires itching to feel the pavement roll beneath their brightly painted floorboards.

A far cry from their crudely constructed descendants, today's scooter is equipped with front and rear handbrakes, ball-bearing construction, spoked wheels and kickstands. They range in price from $39.97 to $119, depending on the model and the shop they're purchased from.

chased from.

Most local shopowners and store managers carrying colorful children's scooters report that sales aren't as brisk as they were around Christmas time, but nevertheless the interest in them lingers.

Paul Riebling, owner of Town & Country Cyclery in Northville, explained that skateboards and bicycles are on the top of the list for most area children. However, he still sells a few scooters now and then.

"They were the big rage last fall and Christmas," Riebling said. "We still have them in stock, but we're selling more bikes than anything."

Most children who received scooters for Christmas are outside enjoying them now that summer temperatures have arrived. Scooter-happy children can be found on selected subdivision sidewalks in the area wearing down the treads on their tennies while propelling their scooters through the neighborhood.

Tracy Bryan, co-owner of Novi Cyclery, said he continues to sell a few scooters, although bicycles are the most popular item at his store.

"There's still a lot of interest in them among kids because they're out riding them now, but scooter sales have slowed down a bit," Bryan said.

Novi Cyclery offers a Raleigh model of the scooter, equipped with a rear drum brake and a few other features not provided by other models. The Raleigh Scooter, priced at $110, also comes with a guarantee that provides for repairs and parts, Bryan noted.

At Sears and Roebuck in Novi's Twelve Oaks Mall, Linda Ellison estimated that about five scooters a week are purchased from the store's toy department. Ellison, a retail salesperson at Sears, reported that the store couldn't keep enough of them in stock during the Christmas shopping season.

Likewise at the Northville Meijer store, sporting goods employee Cheryl Zywicki said sales of scooters are sporadic. Meijer carries Huffy models, ranging in price from $39.97 to $79.97.

Scooters and bicycles have enjoyed a harmonious kinship dating back to the 1700s, when clever inventors started tinkering with the idea of foot and pedal power. The first so-called bicycle, invented in 1790 by Comte Mede de Sivrac of France, was a wooden scooter-like vehicle called a celerifere. It required its rider to power a wooden frame with two wheels by foot.

In 1816, Baron Karl von Drais of Germany created the draisine, a two-wheel wooden framed vehicle with a steering bar attached to the front. The draisine also required foot power and resembled a scooter with a seat.

Since the early days, scooters and bicycles have developed more individual identities. The popularity of bicycles tends to remain consistent, while scooters enjoy a sporadic share of the spotlight.

Modifications and alterations have made scooters easier to maneuver and more comfortable to ride than the ones Mom and Dad may remember, evident in the newest models available in the stores. For those who prefer not to use foot power at all, motor scooters fit the bill.

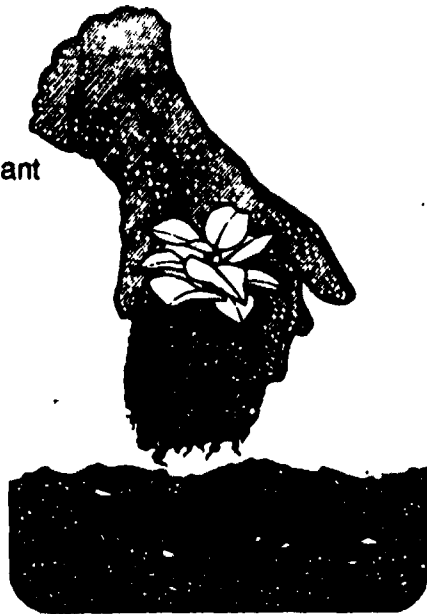

Even though they've changed drastically in appearance over the years, scooters continue to capture an appeal that hasn't greatly diminished since the 1700s. And that's a rare accomplishment.

Good service

Betty Burgy, center, of Northville, receives a watch for 25 years of service at St. Mary Hospital in Livonia. Burgy, a registered nurse and supervisor, was presented the award at the hospital's annual service award banquet on May 11 by Sister Mary Renetta, executive vice president, left and Sister Mary Modesta, CEO and president, right.

Schoolcraft honors school volunteers

Schoolcraft College honored 90 volunteer workers at its 13th annual Volunteer Appreciation Luncheon on April 26.

Some impressive statistics emerged at the luncheon. Maud Piggot of Canton and Verna Wright of Plymouth have volunteered their services at the college for the past 15 years. Dorothy Bloom of Plymouth logged 329 hours at the College's Learning Assistance Center. Overall, volunteers at the Women's Resource Center worked 4,008 1/2 hours and members of the Retired Senior Volunteer Program contributed 2,771 and 1/4 hours.

Volunteers from the Northville/Novi area honored were: Severo Arcamanda, Ruby Barrow, Carolyn Brown, Stephen Cherne, Gerry Costella, Paul Dawson, Dorothy Gay, Betty Griffin, Glenna Grosh, Dale Hall, Barbara Jackson, Myrtle Locke, Connie Lott, Mary Perna, Wynn Shoebridge, Madeleine Short, Jackie Simpson, Tony Simpson, Helen Single, Grace Stanley, Darle Tobel, Robert Welland, and Joyce Zeigler.

In Our Town

Northville fan celebrates birthday

One of Northville's more recent residents is Anne Gerrins, who will be celebrating her 90th birthday on May 29 with a party at her daughter's house on Marilyn Road.

Her three daughters, five grandchildren and seven of her great-grandchildren are expected to make this an extra special day for her.

Anne was a Michigan resident for 65 years and then spent 23 retirement years in Jupiter, Florida. Last year she had to give up her home in Florida and come back to the cold Michigan winters to be nearer family.

According to daughter Evelyn Zeuner of Northville, Anne is very proud of her apartment above Roy Realty on Center Street and the fact that she is able to eat lunch at Crawford's or Cloverdale and walk over to the bank or D & C store or buy her own medication at Arbor Drugs. "She thinks Northville is the most beautiful little town anywhere and is one of its biggest boosters," Zeuner said.

Her family and friends wish her many more independent and happy years.

Historical Society plans annual meeting

The Northville Historical Society will hold its annual meeting tonight, Thursday, May 19 at 6:30 p.m. in the New School Church of Mill Race Village.

Members are asked to bring a dish to pass — vegetable, salad, or dessert. The Society is buying the main meat, rolls, and beverages. Also, members should provide their own place settings — silver, dishes and cups.

The Society's annual election of officers will be held and members will hear poems from Kathleen Ripley Leo's new book, "Town One South — Northville Poems."

The Society has recently undertaken sponsorship of the new Northville Player's group. The Players, organized by Russel Dore became a practicing community theater group in January. Their first production, "The Farmers Daughter" will be presented on June 16 in New School Church of the Mill Race. The play will begin at 8 p.m.

Tickets are $5 per seat and are limited to the first 75 people. The price includes the play and a wine and cheese reception afterwards.

Tickets can be purchased from Sally Henricson at 348-1845 or at the Bookstall on the Main by June 1. Checks should be made payable to the Northville Historical Society.

Downtown Flower Days coming soon

The Downtown Merchant's Association is sponsoring the city's first ever flower sale on Friday, May 27 and Saturday, May 28. The same vendors that have gained such a reputation for the two flower day sales at Eastern Market, will be coming to Northville for a two day sale in the streets of downtown. The idea was to give gardeners in the area an opportunity to invest in wonderful blossoms a whole lot closer to home.

Church music program begins Sunday

FARMINGTON — Two programs of contemporary religious music have been scheduled at the Detroit First Church of the Nazarene on Sunday, May 22, and Sunday, May 29.

The church is located at 21260 Haggerty Road, across from the Novi Hilton.

On Sunday, May 22, the 60-voice children's choir will present a program entitled "Don't Give Up" by David Clydesdale at 6 p.m. The program demonstrates how Old Testament characters encourage children to be steadfast and to know that God never gives up.

Song evangelist Darlene Welch will appear at the church on Sunday, May 29, at 6 p.m. Welch won the Miss Kentucky title in 1974 and was third runner-up to Miss America in 1975. She offers a program of words and music that present the Gospel and encourages Christians to have a renewed strong relationship with and commitment to Christ in their daily lives.

Garden club transplants

By ANITA CRONE

A single phone call has brought joy to the heart of Jo Krause and a new home to a number of trillium plants.

Krause, who is in charge of the flowers in the Mill Race Historical Village and an active member of the Women's National Farm and Garden Club, Northville Branch, said she found her heaven on May 12, when she and seven other Northville Branch members went to a construction site off Seven Mile Road and found hundreds of trillium as well as a number of other varieties of wildflowers.

It took the branch members about four hours to dig and transplant more than 100 trilliums. They also picked up some Jack-in-the-pulpits, May apples, blood root, wild geraniums and wild ginger. Now, the plants are thriving at the Mill Race.

"I don't have any problems or questions about the other plants, but the trillium is another story," said

Krause. "It doesn't like to be moved and it doesn't like to be transplanted except in its natural, woodland environment. The Mill Race isn't exactly a woodland, but I'm hoping the plants will take."

The trillium was discovered in early May when Sharon Rossow, a township employee and a neighbor of hers went walking in the woods at the Dalby Company construction site.

The company intends to construct condominiums and plans to break ground soon.

Rosow told Maureen Osiecki of her find and Osiecki said she made "a couple of phone calls" and lined up the effort to save the wildflowers, including the trillium, which is an endangered species.

"Because of its status, you just can't go out and pick it. You need permission and people aren't very willing to give it," said Osiecki. "But, in this case, since the trillium was going to be destroyed to make way for the development, we got permission to dig it up and move it."

Richard Raynen, a spokesperson for the Dalby Company, said the company was planning to build on the site, but that much of the wildflower area would be saved.

"I'm sure their intentions are honorable, but when we went back to the site the next day, the bulldozer followed us right to the site," said Krause.

Raynen said that if other groups or individuals would be interested in transplanting the trillium, they may call him at 567-3370.

Krause, too, is looking for additional wildflowers.

"This is the first time we were able to save an endangered species, not because we aren't interested, but because this is the first time someone called us before it was too late. We'd love to do it again."

The Irish Hills are worth the trip

By JEAN DAY

If the greening grass and budding trees have given you spring fever, there's a two-hour trip through the rolling Irish Hills to Allen, Mich., that offers a pleasant cure.

Allen, with a one mile-long stretch of antique shops, bills itself as the Antique Capital of Michigan. Even if you're not an antiquer, browsing among items from the past can be satisfying.

The trip to Allen, which is located 12 miles east of Coldwater on U.S. 12, the old route to Chicago, is part of the pleasure. You can pick highway 12 up near Ypsilanti, or you can take the I-94 past Jackson and then drop south. Highway 60 at Jackson will take you through the town of Concord which still boasts handsome Victorian homes as well as the Mann Museum, a preserved Victorian home.

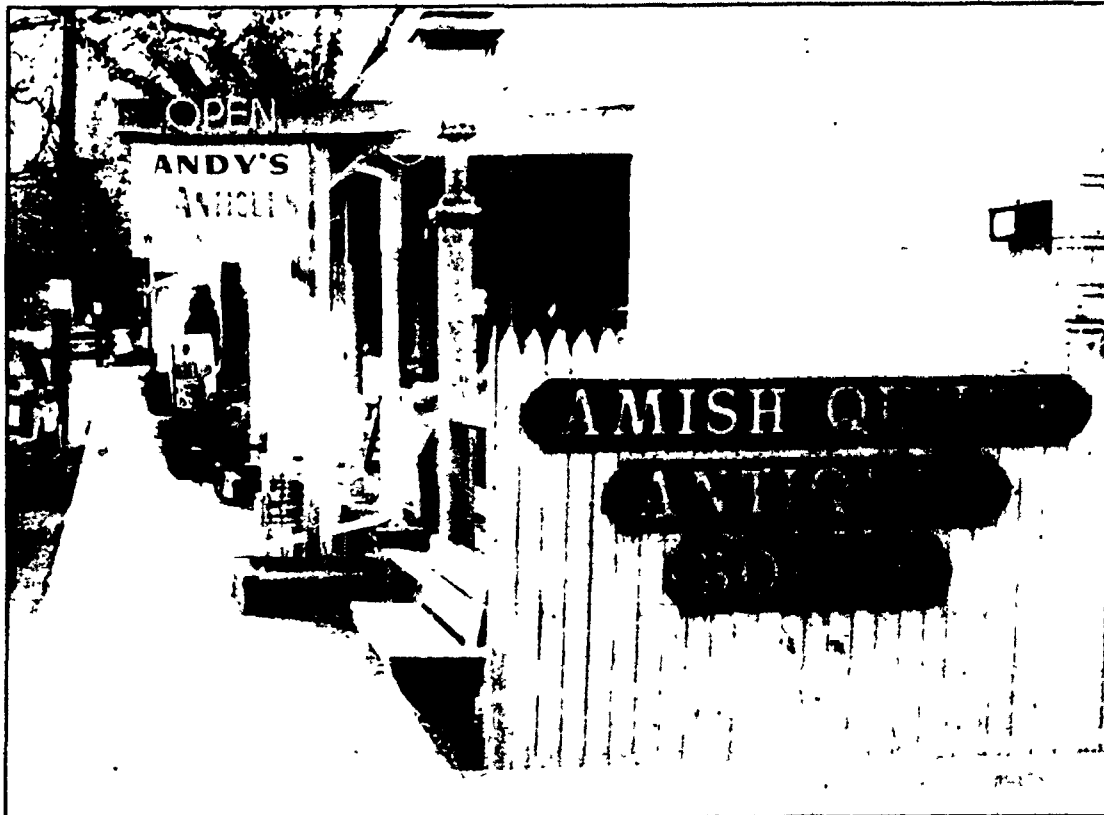

In Allen, the old township hall as well as homes have become antique shops. Old Books boasts it has 40,000 books on most topics. The Quilt Lady stocks Amish quilts.

If you haven't been to Allen in several years, you'll want to continue a half-mile west of town to Green Top Country Village on U.S. 12. More than 55 different shops are located in 21 buildings surrounding an 1860s farm house on five acres. The buildings include a former roadside rootbeer stand, the former Green Top cabins (original overnights with one room), a model T garage, a Victorian country schoolhouse, a doctor's office moved from Camden, Mich., and a former church.

Most of the shops, such as Olde Chicago Pike Antiques, are open all year. On a recent visit, this shop's wares included mother of pearl opera glasses priced at $75 and an 1840 Greek Revival mantel for a fireplace priced at $375. A Victorian dresser with elaborate swinging mirror was priced at $625.

Many dealers have space in the former town hall, now a mall where merchandise is in good condition and attractively presented. An antique pillow cover, among old linens, was $3.

Handmade quilts are made on the premises. Jewelry, books, dolls — both old and new — are among the treasures. Especially popular are Amish reproduction dolls with bonnets and their traditional blank faces that bow to the Amish doctrine of making "no graven images."

If you're making the trip an entire day's outing, leave by 9 a.m. and, when you arrive in Allen, stop in Jack's Cracker Barrel Grocery at the far end of town for a cup of coffee and a donut. By 11 a.m. the shops will be open.

It's not too surprising that yesteryear items from kitchen utensils to furniture and china abound because the town of Allen dates back to 1827. Captain Moses Allen, a member of a road surveying crew mapping new territory, settled his family in the valley of the St. Joseph River and founded the first permanent white settlement west of Tecumseh. He named it Allen's Prairie.

By 1879 Allen ranked among the most important villages in the county having many shops, brick buildings and prosperous farming.

If inspecting antiques and collectibles at shop after shop has taken you to the noon hour, as it did members of Northville's Baseline Questers a couple of weeks ago, drive back five miles east to Jonesville to Rosalie's Roadhouse.

Rosalie's is located in a former 100 year old, brick home pleasantly restored and landscaped. Inside the atmosphere is informal with many regulars dropping in for pizzas of homemade dough and varied submarine sandwiches.

The menu also includes seafood salad, $4; Greek, Taco and house salads, $3.50. All breads are baked every day at Rosalie's, and Rosalie is on hand to make sure visitors haven't missed any area attractions — or the restaurant's famous desserts. Rosalie's is licensed. For a large group reservations are a good idea; there is a second floor room available. (517) 849-2120.

Most shops in the area are open from 10 or 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily, or by chance. A special three day Memorial Day celebration is planned in Allen May 23-25 with an open air antique and collectibles market. Allen volunteer firemen will provide hot dogs, sausages, popcorn, cold drinks and coffee.

No. 4 singles player Jeff Gursky in action against Stevenson on May 11

Mark Hammond

Netters drop three, fall to 7-7 overall

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

My, how quickly things change. The Northville netters entered last week's action coming off four straight wins — but it didn't seem to help. The Mustangs dropped dual meets to Livonia Stevenson, Walled Lake Western and North Farmington in that span and now face action this week with three straight defeats.

The Western clash was originally scheduled for May 9 but rain postponed it until May 12 and the Warriors ended up beating undermanned Northville 5-2. Coach Dick Norton was without the services of two singles starters — Doug Kamienecki and Kurt Reickel — and that may have decided the outcome more than anything else. Kamienecki was out of town at a college orientation and Reickel was resting a sore shoulder.

"It was a downer," Norton said. "The key was that we were missing two guys and it cost us. Instead of winning three of four singles matches, we lost all four."

Denny Sikkila topped Rob Richcreek 3-6, 4-6 at No. 1; Mike Wissink edged Matt Oliver 2-6, 5-7 at No. 2; Jeff Gursky took the third match into three sets but fell to Brian Carpenter (1-6, 6-3, 3-6) and Todd Boothe lost to Brad Barter 3-6, 5-7.

The Mustangs did win two of the three doubles matches, but it wasn't nearly enough. Ken Spigarelli and Jeff Wesley outlasted Jay Scott and Joe Ward (6-3, 4-6, 7-6) at No. 1 and the second team of Chad Bosscher and Mike Mathes were 7-5, 6-3 winners against Rex Noren and Pat Check.

"It was probably the most disappointing and discouraging meet of the year," Norton said.

Norton said.

LIVONIA STEVENSON 5, NORTHVILLE 2: The Mustangs opened the week with a loss to the Spartans, but the meet was much more competitive than the score indicates. Richcreek clobbered David Kebalitis 6-2, 6-2 at No. 2 and Reickel returned to beat Matt Downer 6-0, 6-3 at No. 3 — but that was the only points Northville could muster. Kamienecki and Gursky both lost in straight sets.

In doubles, the Mustangs were very competitive, but still ended up losing all three in three sets.

"It was a close meet," Norton said.

"It wasn't a give away by any means."

NORTH FARMINGTON 5, NORTHVILLE 2: The Raiders are currently ranked number nine in the state but the Mustangs played hard and were very competitive, especially in the doubles flights.

The Spigarelli/Wesley team came from behind the entire match to beat Alex Stienbock and Brian Selman 2-6, 6-3, 7-5. In the third set, the Northville team trailed 5-1 but came back to win the final six games in a row. Oliver and Bosscher teamed for a win at No. 2 over Jason Greenberg and Matt Berman (7-5, 6-2) but Boothe and Mathes fell at No. 3 in straight sets.

In singles, Kamienecki pulled an arm muscle and was forced to default at No. 1 and then things went down hill from there. Richcreek, Reickel and Gursky all lost lopsided straight sets.

"I was actually kind of pleased because we held our own in doubles,"

DEARBORN INVITATIONAL: Northville wrapped up the week by placing third at this eight-team tournament with 21 points. Dearborn took first place honors with 36 points.

"I was very pleased with what happened in Dearborn," Norton said. "It was probably the highlight of the week because I thought the kids had an excellent outing."

Norton held Kamienecki out to rest his injury, so Richcreek moved up to No. 1 and promptly hurt his wrist and was forced to default in the middle of the first match. At No. 2, Reickel went 2-1 on the day and placed third; Gursky was seventh with a 1-2 record at No. 3 and Boothe surprised everybody with a second place finish at No. 4. Boothe won his first two matches but then fell to Jeff Heyed of Dearborn 1-6, 1-6 in the finals.

In doubles, Spigarelli and Wesley made it to the No. 1 finals before dropping a 6-3, 3-6, 6-2 decision to Dave Bibbs and Clay Whit of Dearborn. At No. 2, Bosscher and Oliver placed fifth (2-1 on the day), the third team of Mathes and Jason Baker came in third (2-1) while the No. 4 duo featuring freshmen Justin Marr and Brad Telepo won their first two but then lost to Dearborn's Gred Seligman and Mike Terrazas (4-6, 4-6) in the finals and settled for second place.

"I was very pleased and surprised to see how well Boothe did at No. 4 singles and how well the youngsters did at No. 4 doubles," Norton said.

Northville is now 7-7 overall, 5-6 in the WLAA.

Northville nine playing well but struggling for wins

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

Northville Coach Bob Frellick is seeing some good baseball from his team, but he isn't seeing very many victories.

In action last week, the Mustangs performed pretty well but came away with one win in five tries. Northville opened the week on May 10 with a doubleheader split with Walled Lake Central but then proceeded to drop three extremely close games that could have gone either way, and all three were against WLAA Western Division opponents. In a flash, Northville went from 4-2 in division play to 4-5. The Mustangs (7-10 overall) have now lost six of their last seven games.

"We had one win but we played well in all five games," Frellick said. "It's unfortunate, but that's the way baseball is."

In the opener at home against Central, Northville was outlited 14-3. The Vikings scored six quick runs in the first two innings off starter Brad Wheeler and the Mustangs were forced to play catch-up the entire game. Randy Jones and Mike Yard each slammed solo homers in the first two innings to keep it relatively close but Central added two runs in the fifth and four more in the sixth off reliever Andy Parker to wrap up the triumph. Northville did score an unearned run in the sixth, but it hardly mattered.

"They shut us down offensively," Frellick said. "We didn't generate much offense except for the two home runs. We had a couple errors in the second and that really hurt because they scored four times and it broke the game open."

In the nightcap, the Mustangs let loose with nine runs in the first four innings, but had only six hits. The Vikings helped out with five errors.

Northville starter Brad Ebersole was impressive. He scattered six hits and was tagged for just two runs in seven innings of work. In the sixth, the Mustangs added five runs to complete the rout. Darren Kehoe, Dave Strange, Roger Kimary and Yard all drove in runs in the rally.

"It was just the opposite of the first game," Frellick said. "They dominated us in game one, we dominated them in game two."

"We had one win but we played well in all five games. I cannot fault the kids in any of these losses because we are playing good solid baseball."

— Bob Frellick
Mustang Baseball Coach

Hitting stars were numerous for Northville. Tom Skynar went 2-for-3, Eddie Walsh went 3-for-4 with five RBIs and Strange was 2-for-4.

LIVONIA FRANKLIN 5, NORTHVILLE 4: The Mustangs blew a 4-1 lead in the last inning to lose a heartbreaker on May 11.

A first inning triple by Jim Willerer enabled Northville to take a 1-0 lead but the Patriots tied it in the bottom of the first. Derek Osborne broke the tie in the fourth when he scored on a

Mike Yard double and Brian Frellick made it 3-1 with a RBI hit in the fifth. The Mustangs then added a single run in the top of the seventh when Willerer and Strange put together singles to drive in Dave McKee.

But in the last of the seventh, after getting the first two batters out with ease, Northville pitchers gave up four hits and a walk and Franklin came back to win it.

"We just couldn't get that last out in the seventh and they beat us," Frellick said. "I'm sure the guys were down after that. We were leading the whole game."

"We outlited them 10-8 and there wasn't an error in the game — it was a very well played game."

Steve Nigro started for the Mustangs and really didn't run into any trouble until the seventh. He was relieved by Scott Stephens who faced two batters and promptly gave up two hits. Stephens suffered the loss.

WALLED LAKE WESTERN 3-0, NORTHVILLE 1-7: Perhaps still reeling from the close loss to Franklin, the Mustangs dropped two more extremely close games with the Warriors on May 13.

In the opener, Northville scored its only run in the first inning on a run-scoring double by Randy Jones. Western tied it in the fourth thanks to two walks and a couple hits and then won it in the sixth on a Mike Berlin home run.

Warrior pitcher Brian Burger limited the Mustangs to just three hits. He settled down after giving up the run in the first and allowed just one base runner the rest of the way.

"(Burger) was in control the whole game," Frellick said. "We didn't even have a baserunner for the second through the sixth inning."

Stephens started the game for Northville and was saddled with the loss, but he pitched a pretty good game. The Warriors scored two earned runs and had seven hits in the outing.

In the second game of the twinbill, the Mustangs jumped in front 3-0 after one inning and survived a five-run rally in the second by Western to take a 7-5 lead into the third. But the Warriors regained the lead with two runs in the third and two more in the fourth off Wheeler, and that's how it ended.

"A couple breaks here and there and we could have won either of the Western games and the Franklin game," Frellick said. "In the second game, we outlited them again and did some damage early but they shut us down after that."

Walsh (2-for-4 with a three-run homer) and Osborne (3-for-4) paced the attack.

"We are playing well," Frellick said. "I cannot fault the kids in any of these losses because we are playing good solid baseball."

Softballers pass test; remain in 1st place

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

The Northville softballers passed their biggest test of the season and are now just one win away from grabbing the program's first ever division title.

The Mustangs need only to beat lowly Farmington Harrison on May 20 — a team the Mustangs have trounced 22-0 already — to capture the crown. The WLAA conference title is still in the offing as well and the showdown for the 12-team championship with Westland John Glenn will likely take place on May 23. Northville is currently atop the Western Division standings with an 8-1 mark and are tied with Glenn (at 11-2) in the conference standings.

The Mustangs reached this point by salvaging a doubleheader sweep with division-foe Walled Lake Western on May 13. After winning the opener 6-0, the Warriors moved into a first-place tie momentarily but Northville came back to win the nightcap 9-1 with their backs against the wall and first place in the balance.

"We knew all we had to do was get a split in order to remain in first place," Mustang Coach Bob Gerlach said. "We had to win the second game and it was really the first time this season we've been in that position. It was nice to see us come through with flying colors. Our backs were against the wall and we responded."

Western hurler Heather Renshaw kept the Northville batters off balance the entire first game. While she was blanking the Mustangs, her teammates tagged Amy Freimund for two runs in the second and four more in the fourth. Rozann Staknis relieved Freimund in the fourth but the damage was done.

"Their pitcher totally dominated us," Gerlach admitted. "We couldn't do anything with the bat. She was firing pellets."

Freimund suffered the loss and had one of her worst outings of the season. In four innings she gave up seven hits and two earned runs. Offensively, Northville managed just four hits and struck out seven times against Renshaw. The only bright spot was Cory Kincer (2-for-3).

Game two featured the same two pitchers and basically the same lineups, but this time it was all Northville. Renshaw started to tire and the Mustangs started scoring runs — two in the first and another in the third. Karen Baird had an RBI hit in the first and Kerry Bulin chipped in a

Meadowbrook to host key tournaments

Meadowbrook County Club in Northville Township has a great reputation for putting on quality golf tournaments — maybe that's why the club will be hosting several prestigious tournaments in the near future.

Some of the PGA's top money winners will be coming to Northville on May 23, when Meadowbrook hosts the Metro Buick Dealers Charity Golf Classic. Then, several weeks later, some of the best junior golfers in North America will gather at Meadowbrook for the fifth annual Great Lakes Junior Masters Golf Tournament. In addition, the Golf Association of Michigan announced recently that the Michigan Amateur has been awarded to Meadowbrook in 1990. It is one of the most prestigious tournaments held in the state each year.

Roy Gaddey, the Tournament Director for the Charity Golf Classic has lined up 14 pros, many of whom have already topped the $1 million mark in career earnings, including Payne Stewart, Hal Sutton, Dan Pohl, Fred Couples, Steve Pate (winner of tournaments already this year), Chip Beck, Roger Maltbie and Wayne Levi.

"It will be a quality event," said Gaddey. "It will be good for the spectators. They'll be able to bring their cameras and obtain autographs."

Gaddey said Meadowbrook had a lot to offer.

"In trying to find the best location, the criteria we used was road access, parking and quality of the course," he said.

"We narrowed it down to three or four clubs, but Meadowbrook was the best for us because it was close to I-275 and we could use Northville Downs for parking."

The Junior Masters Tournament, slated for June 20-22, is a non-handicap tourney open to the first 288 to register.

Golfers must be between the ages of 11 and 17. The field will be cut to 144 after 36 holes and prizes for the 54-hole stroke play tournament will be awarded in the following categories: boys 11-13 years old, 14-15 and 16-17; girls 11-14 and 15-17.

Among the 1987 winners was a 13-year-old from Scarborough, Ontario, Canada, who shot an opening round 76 to make the whole field come to attention.

The $55 entry fee includes golf, trophies, food and beverages. Applications and information about housing can be obtained by calling Meadowbrook at 349-3600, ext. 51. Application deadline is 5 p.m., June 1.

Cathy Page is congratulated after finishing her leg of the 3,200-meter relay against Harrison.

Mustang girls fall to Harrison, 78-50

The Northville girls track squad dropped its seventh dual meet of the season in eight tries, but coach Mike Webb did see some things he liked.

He was pleased to see his 3,200-meter relay team make up 200 yards in the final two legs and he marvelled at how much distance runners like Lisa Brown and Jean Riney are improving. But he didn't particularly like the 78-50 final score against Farmington Harrison on May 12.

"Nobody likes to lose but I don't get disappointed if I see our kids hang in there and performing well," he said. "We are getting better and you can't ask for much more than that."

The highlight of the meet was the great comeback in the 3,200 relay. When Cathy Page took the baton for the third leg, she trailed her opponent by 100 yards. Page made up a lot of the ground before handing off to Jennifer Goshorn and she blew past the opposing team's anchor and ended up winning the race by 100 yards. The time was a season-best 11:09. "I've never seen anything like it before," Webb said. "That made my day to see that comeback."

The rest of the Northville firsts came from Page in the long jump (14'-1"), Brown in the 1,600 (career best 6:03) and 3,200-meter runs (career best 13:17), Katie Brugman in the discus (92'-3") and Robin McDuffie in the 400 (65.5).

Riney was second to Brown in the 1,600 (6:06) and the 3,200 (13:46) to pace the runner-up efforts. The other seconds included Leigh Bills in the high jump (4'-7"), Kelly Frederick in the 800 (2:44.5) and Christi Lenaghan in the 200 (28.7). The only Mustang third came from Lenaghan in the 100 (13.9).

Brugman was kept out of the running races to rest a bad foot, but did compete — and excel — in the field events. Her effort in the discus is just a little over four feet shy of the school record.

"Katie is going after the record and I think she'll get it before the season is over," Webb said. "She's creeping up on it."

Spartans hand Northville 2nd soccer defeat

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

The Northville kickers had two bad minutes in a WLA playoff clash with Livonia Stevenson on May 9 and it cost them dearly. The Spartans scored once in that span and then added a late goal to hand the Mustangs their second defeat of the season.

Despite the loss, Northville still grabbed a share of the WLA Western Division title with Livonia Churchill.

"We played a great game but we had a little confusion at the start of the game and that was the difference," Northville Coach Stan Smalec said. "It was a well-played game, back and forth."

Stevenson edged the Mustangs 13-12 in shots on goal but the most important statistic came at the two-minute mark of the first half when left-winger Lori Green notched the first goal, beating goaltender Kristi Turner. The score remained 1-0 until the Spartans caught Northville short-handed on defense with less than a minute left and Denise Raphael scored an insurance goal.

"We were trying desperately to get the tying goal and we moved almost everybody up," Smalec said.

"(Stevenson) got a break away and even though Turner made the initial save, the rebound came out and they scored. In that situation you have to take some chances but it didn't work for us."

Stevenson paid extra attention to Mustang scoring stars Jodi Smalec and Jennifer Schuerman defensively and that opened things up a bit for halfbacks like Marcie Dart and Abby Edwards. Dart ended up with four shots on goal and Edwards added three, but none found the back of the net.

"Other teams are really starting to mark our top goal scorers so we need some of the others to start coming through," Smalec said.

NORTHVILLE 4, NORTH FARMINGTON 0: According to Smalec, his team was really up for this May 11 game and the result was one of the best efforts of the season.

Jodi Smalec had her best game of the year with one goal and two assists and youngsters like Jennifer Howland and Karen Cavanaugh were also praised for their fine play. The Mustangs struck early as Smalec scored on a throw-in from Edwards just two minutes into the game. The score remained 1-0 until Cavanaugh scored at the 38-minute mark on a pass from Smalec and it was 2-0 at halftime.

Twelve minutes into the second half, Cavanaugh scored again, from Jenny Stevens and Smalec to make it 3-0 and Shannon Loper wrapped up the scoring with a header at the 17-minute mark on a direct kick from Heather Sixt.

"It was one of our best game this season as a team," Smalec said. "We moved the ball and passed well. We outshot them 18-3."

NORTHVILLE 1, FARMINGTON 0: Kristi Turner notched her 10th shut out in 15 games this season and it came in the WLA playoff match at Farmington. It was the Mustangs second win over the highly-regarded Falcons this year, but the second time around was much more difficult.

"It was very different from our 5-2 win earlier in the season," Smalec pointed out. "They were out for revenge and we had a hard time getting in gear for this one."

Northville outshot Farmington 16-10 in the game, but the only tally came at on a very rare goal. Abby Edwards sent a corner kick, untouched, into the net at the 21-minute mark of the first half and that was it for the scoring.

"Abby had six shots on goal for the day and the most unlikely one scored," Smalec said. "Farmington marked our forwards very tight and our halfbacks ended up out shooting them."

Farmington applied some heavy pressure in the second half but Turner and her defenders were up to the task.

"Turner made some outstanding diving saves and she even took the ball off a few player's feet to save goals," Smalec said. "She did a great job."

Cavanaugh was also a key defensive figure as she shut down Falcon scoring leader Carrie Maier.

"The big stars of the game were Turner and Cavanaugh but it was a whole team effort," Smalec said.

The Mustangs (11-2-2 overall, ranked eighth in the state) will open the post season as host of the MHSAA 14th District Tournament. Northville will play Walled Lake Central on May 23, the winner will play South Lyon on May 25 and the finals will be on May 28 at 2 p.m.

key hit in the third. The Warriors scored an unearned run in the fourth but Northville responded with three more in the bottom of the inning to make it 6-1. The big hit was a two-run single by Kincer.

The Mustangs then wrapped up the victory with three more in the fifth on hits by Leslie Wendel, Nanci Dutkiewicz and Jeanine LaPrad (two-run triple).

"We didn't have a lot of hits but we took what we could get and generated a lot of runs that way," Gerlach said. "It's the same thing we've been doing all season."

Freimund won the rematch with Renshaw and was brilliant in the process. She gave up just two hits and no walks while fanning six.

"Amy rose to the occasion and got stronger as the game went on," Gerlach said. "Renshaw kind of faded in the second game."

NORTHVILLE 3-4, WALLED LAKE CENTRAL 1-6: The Mustangs split another doubleheader on May 9.

In game one, Northville had only four hits but three came in the fourth inning when the Mustangs scored three times. Wendel delivered a two-run hit in the rally and Lauren Canistraro also drove in a run.

Freimund went the distance, fanned eight, walked one and gave up just two hits and one unearned run.

"I'm still concerned about our hitting," Gerlach said. "We scored all our runs in one inning but in the other six, we did nothing."

In game two, Gerlach did a lot of experimenting. Staknis started the game but was the victim of four Northville errors. An early 1-0 lead after the first quickly became a 5-1 deficit for the Mustangs after four innings. A three-run rally in the sixth helped narrow the gap to 5-4 but the Vikings added an insurance run in the sixth to round out the scoring.

Baird led the attack with two hits and a walk in four plate appearances. Staknis suffered the loss but pitched rather well. She walked zero and surrendered eight hits and four earned runs.

"We used this game as a chance to experiment and give some of our younger players some experience," Gerlach said. "Rozann didn't walk anybody and I thought she showed good composure because we had a lot of fielding breakdowns."

NORTHVILLE 8, LIVONIA FRANKLIN 0: It took the Mustangs a while to get on track offensively, but once it happened, the game was over quickly.

Freimund delivered a two-run hit in the third to break the scoreless tie and two innings later Northville exploded for six more runs. Run-scoring doubles by LaPrad and Kincer caused most of the damage.

Freimund scattered six hits and registered the shutout. she had four strike outs and no walks.

Mustangs of the Week

EDDIE WALSH

JEANINE LAPRAD

The Northville nine haven't been winning many baseball games recently, but the team is playing pretty good ball, according to coach Bob Frellick. Senior leftfielder Eddie Walsh is one of Frellick's most consistent players and he had several fine outings last week. For the effort, "Mustang of the Week" honors go out to him. In five games, Walsh went 5-for-15 at the plate, knocked in seven runs and scored twice including a home run. In a 14-2 win over Walled Lake Central on May 10, Walsh had three hits in four plate appearances and added five RBIs. In a 9-7 defeat to Walled Lake Western, Walsh was 2-for-4 with two runs batted in.

The Mustang softballers haven't reached the top of the WLAA standings without getting a bunch of clutch plays, and infielder Jeanine LaPrad has had more than her fair share this season. In action last week, the senior came up with three very big extra-base hits to help Northville beat Livonia Franklin and split a crucial doubleheader with Walled Lake Western. For all the clutch hits and the solid defense last week, LaPrad has been named a "Mustang of the Week." Against Franklin, LaPrad delivered an RBI double to spur a late-game rally which lead to an 8-0 victory. Two days later, she clobbered a pair of triples against Western.

Hawks too much for boys track team

For the second straight dual meet, the Northville boys track squad performed well but just didn't have enough talent to prevail.

This time it was Farmington Harrison, 87-50, and last week it was Livonia Churchill. These two teams are the co-favorites in the WLAA and are definitely a step above the Mustangs when it comes to pure talent and depth. Ironically, the highlight for Northville in the meet on May 19 was a spectacular performance by the 3,200-meter relay team. The team of Steve Austin, Jay Griffith, John Frisbie and Scott Sinkwits registered the third fastest time logged in the WLAA this season (8:23.7) and yet they still failed to win the event.

"It was a great time," Mustang Coach Dennis Faletti said. "It was 15 seconds better than our previous best this year and even though it's not a school record, it's among the best ever."

Of the 17 events, Northville managed to win five events. The winners included Mark Kiraly in the 200-meter dash (24.7), Shawn Starkweather in the pole vault (9'-6"), John Frisbie in the 3,200 run (10:01) and two relay efforts. The 400-meter relay team of Kiraly, Todd Daniels, Todd Feliks and Rick Subotich placed first (47.6) and so did the 1,600 crew — featuring Steve Ventura, Al Kuljurgis, Austin and Subotich (3:38.5).

"I knew we didn't have much of a chance to win so I wanted the team to approach the meet with intentions of having some good performances and I think we did that," Faletti said. "Much of the events were run into a stiff wind and that's why the times are not super-outstanding. But under the circumstances, we did pretty well."

Todd Feliks paced the runner-up places with two seconds in the 110 hurdles (16.3) and the 300 hurdles (best ever time of 41.8). The rest of the seconds came from Austin in the long jump (18'-8"), Kiraly in the 100 (11.9) and Daniels in the 200 (26.3). Third place honors included Bob Dudley in the discus (personal best 128'-7"), Kuljurgis in the high jump

(5'-8"), Joe Ferry in the pole vault (9'-7"), Sinkwits in the 1,600 (5:05) and Jeff Hoose in the 3,200 (11:47.8).

"We only have two more league dual meets left and I think we're doing pretty well at this stage of the season based on what we had coming back," Faletti said.

The Mustangs (2-5 overall, 0-3 in WLAA) took on Walled Lake Western yesterday (May 18, after record deadline) and will wrap up the regular season at home against Plymouth Canton on May 26.

"The Western and Canton meets should be good ones and I'm hoping for a couple wins heading into the league meet on June 1," Faletti pointed out.

Tanning increases risk of cancer

By PHIL GINOTTI

Dermatologists — doctors of the skin — aren't impressed by patients with deep golden brown skin, bronzed from years of faithful tanning.

On the short term, the deep tan may bring a few raised eyebrows. A few cooling glances of approval. Tanning does, after all, change the appearance of pale, bleached midwestern skin, replacing it with a vibrant, healthy and sometimes downright sexy-looking glow.

But that short-term beauty exacts a toll. It ages the skin, bakes key cells and increases the risk of skin cancer later, doctors say.

"It looks healthy, sexy and sensuous," Northville dermatologist Louis Chiara said. "White skin has been associated with sickness."

So dermatologists work in a delicate balance: They must recommend against excessive sun exposure, while knowing realistically that the young and young at heart are going to go on sunny vacations, or through that narcissistic calling, simply get lured into "baggging rays."

Even those who could care less about having golden brown skin face the risks of a painful once- or twice-per-year deep sunburn.

Predictably, doctors urge common sense and moderation to prevent all burns.

But how to tan right, without excessive burning, is a question most dermatologists are in no big hurry to answer. It's like giving advice on the proper way to smoke cigarettes. Either way, it's not recommended, Chiara said.

"It's damage," he said. "You can see it on a microscope... no matter what it looks like from a distance. It's all cumulative. Every time you get a burn or a tan, the damaging effect is added on."

He said the idea that burning is dangerous but tanning is safe is wrong. Both have cumulative effects, aging the skin, causing damage and increasing the risk of skin cancer over the long haul.

Suntanning — the darkening of the skin — actually occurs out of the body's perceived need to defend itself. Small cells imbedded in the skin secrete materials which actually come out in granular form. They form a darker pigment, which is designed to shield the body from deeper radiation damage.

Chiara urges moderation, working up slowly and surely, if you simply must that "savage tan." He recommends starting out with a medium range sunscreen for 10 minutes a day then working up slowly from there, always avoiding the dangerous 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. time period when the sun is at its absolute hottest.

Lotions should have listed on them their sun-blocking power. This number ranges from one to 30, with 30 blocking most of the sun and one blocking out the least.

Chiara said excessive exposure and continual deep, dark tanning actually damages DNA, the body's highly technical chemical thumbprint. Skin must go through a healing process, repairing damaged cells after every shock.

"But you can only do that so many times," he said.

He recommends that people use great care on the beach, where a lot of burns occur, especially in the early summer. Sunbathers should use a sun-blocking agent which isn't water soluble. Perspiration, not just swimming, can be responsible for washing away some lotions.

When working outside, Chiara recommends wearing clothing on as much of the body as comfortably possible, using sun-blocking agents and paying special attention to certain parts of the body like the face, neck, back of the arms and the "V" shaped area of the chest and neck.

Dermatologists don't recommend tanning parlors nor does the New York-based Skin Cancer Foundation. If properly maintained and emitting rays in the proper dosages, the tanning parlors can help to establish the key "base tan" in a controlled environment. But the damage from the tanning parlor machinery is no better than the rays from the sun, Chiara said.

Record/Chris Boyd

Other major bits of advice, besides common sense, include:

- Minimizing sun exposure between the hours of 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. (11 a.m. to 3 p.m. daylight savings time). The sun is at its hottest, giving off the most dangerous rays during this time period;
- Avoiding sun exposure if you have fairer skin types, characterized by white skin, freckles and inability to tan.
- Wearing wide-brimmed hats for most outdoor activities, including golfing, working outdoors or sitting at the beach.

- Being careful of reflective surfaces. Going underneath cover, such as a beach umbrella, doesn't shield you from sand and water, which can pass on sunburning rays.

- Keeping infants and young children out of the sun.
- Checking medications for photosensitivity. Some prescription drugs (skin or acne treatments) will increase the body's susceptibility to burns.

Cardiac support group plans meeting

A free cardiac rehabilitation spouse support group will meet 7-8:30 p.m., May 24, at Arbor Health Building, 990 W. Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth.

Families and friends of those who have heart problems are welcome. For more information, call 455-1908.

WELLNESS SEMINAR: "Am I A Woman Who Loves Too Much?" will be the second in a series of personal wellness seminars at Madonna College, Livonia.

The session will be held on May 24 from 7-9:30 p.m. in room 106. It addresses the issues of determining if relationships are healthy or addictive and will discuss ways to enhance self-esteem and become less dependent on the approval of others.

The cost for each session is $10. For more information, call 591-5188.

BREAST CANCER: A class for women who have had breast cancer will be held at the University of Michigan M-Care Health Center in Northville on Tuesday, May 24, at 7 p.m.

Gerry Dohler from the "Reach to Recovery" Program with the American Cancer Society will discuss and demonstrate the latest breast prosthesis available for women who have had a mastectomy.

The class will be held at the M-Care Health Center located at 850 Griswold in Northville. A $2 registration fee is payable at the door. Call 344-1777 to pre-register.

HEALTH CLASSES: The American Red Cross, Southeastern Michigan Chapter, will offer a variety of health and safety education classes during the month of May.

Health and safety education courses offered include "Home Nursing," "Babysitting," "Parenting," and "How to Measure Blood Pressure." A "Multi-Media Standard First Aid" course, "CPR" and "The Lowdown on High Blood Pressure" are also scheduled.

The 18-hour course, "Home Nursing," provides a wealth of practical skills and information including how to take pulse and blood pressure readings, deal with personal emergencies, recognize the symptoms of illness and keep a safe and healthy home. The cost of books and training supplies is $10.14.

"Babysitting" teaches young people ages 11 to 14 basic child care skills which include diapering, feeding and bathing infants and handling emergencies. Certificates will be awarded upon successful completion of the course. The cost is 50 cents for materials.

A nine-hour course, "Parenting," explores alternate approaches to raising children and focuses on nurturing and teaching. Topics covered include discipline and guidance, television viewing, language and intellectual development and nutrition and health. The cost of the course is $4.16 for books and training supplies.

Designed to enable individuals to correctly measure blood pressure in adults, "How to Measure Blood Pressure," costs $5, which covers books and training supplies.

The "Multi-Media Standard First Aid" course, which uses demonstration films, a programmed workbook and practice sessions is designed to be completed in one day. The cost of $15.65 for books and materials.

CPR training includes emergency techniques for both cardiac and choking victims. The cost of books and materials is $15.60.

The Oakland Regional Office, 2386 Franklin Road, Bloomfield Hills, will offer the "Multi-Media First Aid" on two consecutive Tuesdays, May 24 and 31, from 6 to 10 p.m.

CPR instruction will be offered on May 21, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.; and on May 25, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. or from 6 to 10 p.m.

For more information or to register, call the American Red Cross Oakland Regional Office at 334-3575.

Facts presented about 'the silent killer'

By STEVE RIDDLE, M.S. and CAROLE BURKHARDT, M.S.

May is National High Blood Pressure Awareness month. The need for this awareness stems from the fact that of the 25 percent of adults who have high blood pressure, 46 percent don't know it. High blood pressure, also called hypertension, has been called the "silent killer" because there are no symptoms and it is one of the most powerful predictors of coronary heart disease. Because there are no symptoms, many people disregard hypertension because they "feel OK" and/or they are not aware of the possible consequences if it is left untreated. Some facts to be considered are:

The risk of premature cardiovascular disease and death rises sharply with increased resting blood pressure and is even greater when combined with other risk factors such as smoking or high cholesterol.

Even within "statistically normal" levels of blood pressure, there are a greater number of heart attacks and strokes among those with a "high normal" reading than those with a "low normal" reading.

There is solid evidence that the incidence of heart attacks and stroke can be reduced in groups of patients whose blood pressure is controlled by medication.

Blood pressure is the force of blood exerted against the walls of the arteries. The first number (systolic pressure) measures this force during the heartbeat while blood is being pushed into the arteries. The second number (diastolic pressure) measures the force while the heart is at rest between beats. It is important to have both pressures under control to reduce the extra stress placed on the heart and arteries. This constant added stress is what contributes to the arterial damage and subsequent disease process that can lead to heart attacks, strokes and kidney disease.

Normal blood pressure is considered to be a systolic pressure below 140 and a diastolic pressure below 90. Hypertension must be diagnosed through multiple readings as blood pressure varies throughout the day depending on activity, food intake and emotional state. Recent studies have documented that many people have abnormally high blood pressure at the doctor's office while it is within normal limits throughout most of the day. A good way to verify this is through home blood pressure screening as these devices have become readily available and affordable.

A new technology known as Ambulatory Blood Pressure Monitoring allows doctors the use of multiple readings over a 24-hour period to conclusively diagnose consistent hypertension. At U-M MedSport we have used this technology to diagnose hypertension and also to eliminate medications for some patients previously diagnosed with hypertension.

In the vast majority of cases, the cause of hypertension is unknown. This is called "essential hypertension." Treatment usually involves lifestyle modifications, medications or both. Lifestyle changes include weight loss, decrease in salt intake, aerobic exercise and smoking cessation. Persons with very high blood pressure or who do not respond to these other treatments are usually treated with medications. Many new medications have been developed that are more effective, cause fewer side effects and do not adversely affect other risk factors such as blood cholesterol.

If your blood pressure has not been checked within the last year or if you have been measured high at any time, then this month is an ideal time to have it re-checked. If your systolic or diastolic levels are above the normal limits (140/90) you should see your doctor for further screening and possible treatment. Many people, when told they have "mild hypertension," fail to see the importance and do nothing about it. This is a significant problem since even a 10-point rise in blood pressure has been correlated with a 30 percent increase in the risk of developing cardiovascular disease.

The Northville Record is working with medical authorities at the University of Michigan Medical Center (M-Care) in Northville to provide up-to-date information on a variety of health-related topics. The series is coordinated by Peg Campbell of the M-Care staff.
