Revenue-sharing OK nets township $97,000

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB and PHIL GINOTTI

After a two-year struggle involving a lot of anticipation and disappointment, cities and townships throughout the state who qualify for special mid-decade census revenues will finally be receiving the additional money.

The bill for the $3.7 million special census money, which will be sent to Si Michigan communities including Northville Township, was signed by Governor James Blanchard Wednesday, Aug. 3.

"Strong economic growth in many Solomon said the funds would be Michigan communities has played, made available year-to-year, depenadditional pressures on local services and infrastructure," Blanchard said. "Special census funds help these communities handle growth and maintain and improve their quality of life.' State Department of Management and Budget Director Shelby Solomon, in an interview this week, said Blanchard's veto last year was brought about because of a tight budget.

"We were just in a situation last year where the governor had to enact a number of vetoes to help balance the budget," Solomon said. "We were in a very tight budget situation."

ding on the status of the overall state budget.

Communities who take mid-decade census counts and show a population increase of more than 15 percent can qualify for additional funds.

The state shared-revenue payment will amount to about $97,000 in additional funds for Northville Township. When Blanchard vetoed the payment of the revenues last year, he claimed the Michigan budget could not provide for them. He added that the annual appropriations are subject to the "financial condition of the overall state budget" and are not an entitlement.

However, State Representative Gerald Law (R-Plymouth) said by state law the special census funds should be paid every year from the time it is taken until the new census.

"The process of paying the additional monies should be smooth and I don't see why it isn't, unless you look at the 38 communities eligible for the payments and find that 90 percent to them are Republican," Law said. "They must not be high on his prioritv list."

Law said considering the amount of trouble it took to get the $3.7 million, he does not know what will happen with respect to any future mid-decade payments.

"I've heard that (Northville Township's payment of) $90,000 is a every year, but I think it will all predicate on how the budget revenues are each year," he added.

Law said he believes the payment of the additional monies are very important to Northville Township because the township has operated a very frugal budget in the past and the extra money will help them to do something in the community.

Northville Township manager Steve Brock agreed with Law that the township operates within a "tightly knit" budget, and said the extra funds will help pay off some expenses which weren't anticipated this year

'Two years ago we counted on plus and not to expect a payment receiving the (mid-decade census) payments, so we certainly can use the money," Brock said, adding he expects the money to be used to make some capital improvements, although no designations have been made for the money.

FIFTY CENTS

"This year the air conditioning system in the township hall went bad and we are making the final payout on a parking lot, so the money will be absorbed quickly," Brock said. Brock added that he would like to see the obligation of the mid-decade census fulfilled through 1990, and indicated he is not prepared to rule out something which the township is legally entitled to receive.

Grant for park signed

By BOB NEEDHAM

Governor James Blanchard last week signed a bill which clears the way for the Northville Community Recreation Department to start negotiating to buy Lapham Field with state money.

"I'm very pleased," Recreation Director John Anderson said Monday, though he said negotiations will not start until after some preliminary work is done.

With the signing of the bill for Lapham Field money - along with a proposed November millage question to develop another park on Beck Road - the recreation department is getting closer to making some large steps toward expanding Northville park facilities.

"We're trying to make up for some lost time. This grant process is a long, drawn-out thing," Anderson said.

The Recreation Commission does not have any concrete plans yet to acquire or improve other parks, Anderson said. But one future target is likely to be the Wayne County-owned land off Sheidon Road "The Recreation Commission does want to get something (done) with the Training Center properties," Anderson said. "We've been writing letters and doing city / township resolutions, Recreation Commission resolutions, letters to Wayne County. We still want that site, that's still in our Master Plan and we'll continue to keep trying."

Different tunes

Graduation time at Northville's Safety Town program meant varying degrees of ex-citement for the children involved. Above, children sing a song using hand gestures and some enjoy it - left, Kathryn Lemieur - and some don't, right, Joey LaManna. Safety Town is a program sponsored by the Northville Recreation Department and the Northville schools which teaches children safety facts. The children received a Safety Town t-shirt and went through graduation ceremonies following the completion of the session.

Developer, planners agree on condo plan details

By BOB NEEDHAM

The St. Lawrence Estates condominium project got its final OK from the city Planning Commission tast week after the developer agreed to a commission suggestion for a different kind of outdoor light.

The plan was stalemated for a while during the commission meeting Tuesday, while some commission members repeatedly suggested high-pressure-sodium lights be substituted on outdoor poles for the more traditional incandescent lights proposed by the developer for the interior of the site.

Matt Thurber and Steve Friedman. vice presidents of the Selective Group development company, objected to the idea. They said the city had no requirements for type of lights, only for illumination, that the incandescent lights created a better residential atmosphere, and that they are cheaper.

But Friedman eventually agreed to the other lights - and commission suggestions on other issues including light pole height, a few engineering concerns and a slight change in site layout - in exchange for a final approval from the commission on a 6-3 vote.

In January, the commission awarded final approval on all of the site plan except signs and light plans. At last week's meeting the two entry signs were not discussed much, but the lights were.

Although the company was re-questing incandescent lights, the submitted plans specified high-pressuresodium lights throughout the development — so the commission ended up approving that facet of the plan as it was submitted.

City Building Inspector Joe Attard said Tuesday that high-pressure-sodium lights are something of a standard for building, and are in all the city parking lots, for example. All the plans submitted to the building department specified the sodiumlights, he said.

Friedman said the company

'To us, the appearance of the project is very important."

> Matt Thurber Selective Group

wanted six-foot poles for incandes cent lights within the development, and fixtures which could be converted to the high-pressure-sodium if the condominium association should decide to do so.

"It's not the look we want to generate in a residential subdivision," Thurber said of the sodium lights. "To us, the appearance of the project is very important."

Friedman later added, "I think you guys are heading in the wrong direction ... They don't necessarily want to read the paper while they're walking."

Several commissioners said that six-foot poles would be too short and that high-pressure-sodium would better serve the development.

"I think some of the finest residential areas in the country use highpressure-sodium lighting," Commis-sioner Rolland Stapleton said. "(The look of the light) will be determined by the fixture you select more than the bulb you use, I think.'

Commissioners also said the highpressure-sodium lights will last about three times as long as incandescent bulbs.

One commissioner, David Totten, objected to the commission's insistence on the sodium lights without a basis in city ordinances. "I think it's straitjacketing, and I don't like doing things that way," he said. "I just don't think ... it's good public policy to straitjacket people."

Friedman then said the company would agree to the commissioners' concerns if it meant he could leave the meeting with a final approval, and, on a 6-3 vote, he did. The com-, mission approved of the project with the high-pressure-sodium lights specified on the plans - conditioned on 10-foot light poles within the site, conformity to some points raised in the city engineers' review, and the addition of three light fixtures left off the plan.

Commissioners Chris Gazlay. David Mielock and Don McCullogh cast the dissenting votes.

Attard said Tuesday his personal opinion is that the city should add a requirement for high-pressuresodium lights to its ordinances.

The grant for Lapham Field is one of 40 projects across the state to be funded from the Michigan Natural

NEWS BRIEFS

ELECTION CORRECTIONS - There were two errors in the stories about the primary election in last week's issue of the Record.

The winner of the contest for Republican precinct delegate in the City of Northville's Precinct Two was incorrectly reported. Janice Syverson was the winner with 106 votes.

In addition, the voter turnout reported for the city was also incorrect. The city had 605 voters from its 4,757 registered voters for a turnout of about 13 percent.

The Record apologizes for the errors.

PRUD AMENDMENTS APPROVED - The Northville Township planning commission recommended approval of amendments to the planned residential unit development ordinance at its meeting Tuesday, July 26.

Township planning director Carol Henry said a big problem in the ordinance came up in the contract stage of the proceedings. "The ordinance procedure was broken into bits and pieces and there was no progression as to what steps to follow.

Henry said a flow chart will now be available with the ordinance to demonstrate what steps developers must follow.

The ordinance and its proposed changes will now go before the township board of trustees for formal approval.

PLANNING OFFICERS - The City of Northville Planning Commission elected its officers for the year last week. At a meeting Tuesday, Richard Wilhelm was returned as

All the votes were unanimous. Planning Commission officers serve for one-year terms.

Hearing on deck law is Monday

Members of the Northville public will get their formal chance to tell the City Council their opinions on backyard decks at the council meeting Monday.

As part of the regular meeting, which starts at 8 p.m. in the Northville Municipal Building, the council will hold a public hearing on a proposed new city ordinance to regulate residential decks.

The ordinance draft as proposed would define a deck as "a structure associated with a residential structure which provides a surface for tables and chairs, and is intended to be used as a means of access between the residence and the vard, and as an area for passive outdoor recreation."

The first part of the proposed ordinance would require that decks be at least 25 feet from the rear lot line. This is actually an easing of current requirements, since the present city ordinances by default consider decks part of a house. Therefore, decks are presently not allowed to extend into the required rear yards at all, meaning that some houses in the new subdivisions off Eight Mile cannot have decks.

The rest of the proposed ordinance would spell out some restrictions on deck building, including: · Decks would not be allowed within required front and rear yards. + If a deck extends into the required rear yard, the extending portion could only be one story tall.

• Extra structures like gazebos or screened porches could not be built on any area extending into required rear yard. No more than 25 percent of a whole deck could be covered by such structures, and they must be non-habitable.

 Current limits on lot coverage would apply to decks.

The deck ordinance originated when a few homeowners off Eight Mile wanted to build decks but were not allowed to do so and their appeals were denied by the Board of Zoning Appeals. The Planning Commission then hammered out a recommended ordinance draft which the City Councli revised before scheduling the hearing.

Elexco responds to landowner claims

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

"Until I find convincing evidence of misrepresentation I will not release anyone from their leases," Randall Hansen, general manager of Elexco Land Services Inc. declared in an interview Tuesday.

Hansen's statement came in response to a group of letters sent by Grandview Acres subdivision residents to Elexco in an attempt to break their oll leases with the company.

As of Tuesday, Aug. 9, nine letters had been sent to Elexco, and of the nine, four residents asked to be let out of their leases for reasons of misrepresentation. Three other letters included unsigned leases and uncashed incentive checks for $100. The other two letters were sent by residents who said they were not misrepresented, but did want out of the lease.

"We are looking at this letter by letter and ac-cusation by accusation, if you will," Hansen said. 'We are also giving the letters to the land agent involved and requesting that he respond to them in writing.'

Hansen said if misrepresentation took place he will go to the client, explain the circumstances, and allow them to make a decision.

"But so far there has been no substantiation of misrepresentation charges based on the investigation," he added.

Hansen said an investigation is currently in progress, and he would prefer to address any of the misrepresentation accusations directly to the individuals in writing.

Pangborn Exploration Company, a Traverse City based oil company, recently told Elexco, its leasing agent, to stop seeking leases in the Meadowbrook and Grandview subdivisions on a day-to-day basis.

Governor signs Lapham Field grant money

Resources Trust Fund. A special board reviews applications for projects and recommends appropriations to the state Legislature. The Legislature approved the bill last month and Blanchard signed it into law Wednesday, Aug. 3.

The terms of the grant will allow Northville recreation to negotiate with the Lapham Family for pur-chase of the field, which is currently leased from the Laphams. The area, off Six Mile west of Beck, holds soccer fields.

First, however, the recreation department has to receive a formal notification and checklist from the state Department of Natural Resources, Anderson said. A formal appraisal also needs to be conducted. The Northville grant is for 75 percent of the actual purchase price assuming agreement is reached - or $123,000, whichever is less.

Anderson was especially happy to get the grant considering that Northville was turned down for a grant to improve the Northville Community Park site on Beck above Five Mile. That led to the .9 mill tax proposal the Recreation Commission is asking the City Council and Township Board to put on the ballot in November.

grants for the development of the Community Park. It was the denial of the previous grants, and the way they score them, (which led the commission) to seek out millage as the answer to development," Anderson said.

really no way we'd be able to move to the top of the list," he continued.

tions on criteria like project need, site and project quality, significant natural resources, hunting and fishing opportunities, and others.

ject," Anderson said. The millage as proposed would be

.9 mill for two years to generate an estimated $732,600. That would go to build ball diamonds, soccer fields and other park facilities.

The Northville Township Board has the proposal on its agenda for the meeting at 7:30, tonight (Thursday) at the Township Hall.

Board eyes future

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

As the final votes in the Northville Township board of trustees election were being counted Tuesday, Aug. 2. it became readily apparent to many people at the township hall that each incumbent board member was going to win reelection.

Local politicians seemed extremely pleased that the community voted to reelect the board of trustees intact, and many board members immediately began to ponder future issues confronting the township.

Trustee Richard Allen said it will be an advantage to keep the board intact for the next four years because the members will not have to be reacquainted with the issues and it can proceed with "business as usual"

"If a board works well together, and this one does, then staying together is an advantage," Allen said. "This board has a variety of different opinions, but works their differences out without animosity to anyone."

Allen added a key issue the board will have to address in the near future wil be finding extra space for the police department.

County Commissioner Susan Heintz (R-Northville) said she is looking forward to working with the current board members for the next four years.

She added each board member has a specific area of expertise that he or she brings to the board and that is why Northville Township government runs so well.

"I think its (reelection) is good for the appointed people because it shows that the board made an excellent choice after I left," Heintz said, refering to newly appointed Trustee Thomas Handyside Heintz noted she believes the most important issues currently facing the township include: the sale of county land along Five Mile Road, solid waste disposal, and the impending sewer project with the Ypsilanti Community Utility Authority (YCUA).

Northville Township Supervisor Georgina Goss said she thinks it is good for the township that the board will be returning intact because each member works together with the good of the township being the common goal.

Goss said that the failed candidacy of Myron Kasey, who lost in the trustee race, brought out important issues for each of the board members to consider.

"Myron focused in on the issues and crystalized good ideas for the board to consider," she added. Goss noted key issues facing the township include: sewer issues, Rouge River clean up, and solid waste disposal. She added the board will also keep a watchful eye over development, making sure it is of the highest quality and that it maintains the integrity of the neighborhood.

"Because Myron Kasey brought out the issue of park land, the board will probably ask the planning commission to make sure that each developer makes a provision for some type of preservation of recreational land," Goss said.

Trustee Donald Williams, who received the most votes in the trustee election, said he intends to continue to get more for the senior citizens of Northville Township besides hanging on to the Cook School center.

Williams added he also will try to get more financial help for Northville Township from Wayne County.

The Wayne County jail millage, which passed by a comfortable margin last week, will apparently Baye no effect on the overcrowding of prisons in Northville Township, acopeding to County officials.

-Local politicians meanwhile said they did not support the one-mill tax which will be used to expand current County jail facilities and develop another facility at a yet undetermined location.

County Commissioner Susan Heintz (R-Northville) said she did not support the jail millage because she could not be guaranteed that the location of the proposed prison would be in a community other than Northville Township.

"I asked for, but could not receive assurances that the proposed jail would not be in my district," Heintz said.

She said another reason for her not supporting the millage is because the county has been given quite a lot of money recently and "we must prove that we can manage money well."

Northville Township Supervisor Georgina Goss said she withdrew her support for the jail millage because she could not be promised that the jail site would not be in the township.

"I feel the Michigan Department of Corrections has a major space proplem and because the state houses felons and the county handles misdefeel ti millage si would have a greater effect on the township.

Goss said the Wayne County jail millage should have basically no impact on Northville Township. "I feel the money will be used at the Wayne County jail downtown and because the Wayne County sheriff does not do much patroling in this area, I feel the money will mostly be spent in other parts of Wayne County."

Goss said the millage, which was approved by township voters 771-718, probably passed in Northville because voters did not realize the millage would have no impact on either Phoenix or Scott.

As for the location of the proposed county jail, Goss said there is no chance it would be put in Northville Township "because we'd fight it to the bitter end."

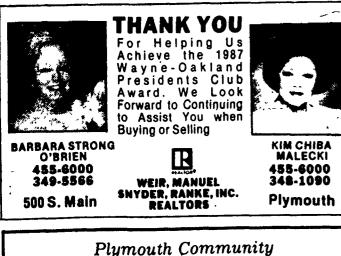

Wayne County Executive Assistant Barbara Rickert said the township probably won't have to worry about the jail being put here "because there have been a couple of sites suggested and although I don't know the exact locations, I don't think that Northville Township is one of those locations."

According to Rickert, because the millage deals only with county jails and not state prisons, the millage will have no effect on preventing the overcrowding problems which occurred last spring at the Phoenix and Scott Correctional facilities.

Officials at both of those prison acilities said Tuesday that either

Playground will benefit disabled

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

For some children, playing outside at a playground is as commonplace an activity as breathing, eating, or going to sleep at night.

But, for handicapped children in Northville, playing outside at a safely equipped facility is an impossibili-ty, according to Leonard Rezmierski, director of special education for the Northville School District.

"We need to give access to meet the needs of handicapped children because currently there is no safe playground equipment for them to use," Rezmierski said. He added that it would be two years at the earliest before the district could arrange government financing for the playground.

To fund the construction of a playground for handicapped children, the Old Village Parent Teacher Organization (PTO) is sponsoring a raffle with the drawing to be held Tuesday, September 27 at the Old Village School.

Rezmierski said the PTO decided to fund the playground project based on a priority list it developed from its own assessment of the needs of handicapped children in Northville.

PTO President Sandy Richerts said the playground, which is to be located between the Old Village

(8-11-88 NR, NN)

School and the Northville Communi ty Recreation Department, will cost about $20,000.

Richerts added the PTO has about $10,000 already and hopes to raise another $5,000 through the raffle. She said the playground will be constructed in stages to allow the group to raise the additional funds.

"Since the proposed location of the playground is next to Old Village School, one of the important things is that the design of the playground be in keeping with the historical nature of the buildings in the area," she add-

Rezmierski said he believes the prayground will enhance the property in between the buildings since it is currently a vacant lot. He added that the plans for the playground still need approval from the Northville city council and the Northville school board, but he does not anticipate any problem receiving the approval.

PTO Fundraising Chairperson and Corresponding Secretary Sandy Malaniak said at present there are no places in or around Northville where handicapped children can play.

"This park will attempt to integrate handicapped children with non-handicapped children, and let the handicapped children know they can do things together with normal children, " Malaniak said.

Teacher Exchange British teacher heads to Northville

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

Each year many students in the United States have the opportunity to study abroad, in either Europe, the Far East, or South America.

In addition to learning about a different culture, students are able to experience the individual differences in each country's educational system.

Northville High School students, however, will have the luxury of experiencing another culture without having to leave their classrooms. They'll be experiencing life in England through the eyes of a teacher.

Deborah Thompson, 30, of Banbury, England, will be spending one year teaching at Northville High School as parts of the Fulbright Teacher Exchange program.

Thompson, who lived in the United States until she moved with her family to England at the age of 14, ex-changed places with Northville High School teacher Kurt Kinde as part of the Fulbright program. Thompson said she is looking forward to the challenge of teaching in Northville students.

in America for her own personal enrichment. "I am a very experienced - quality teacher with lots to offer, but even more to learn.'

begins at 8:45 a.m. in England com-Fulbright teacher exchange pro pared to 7:15 a.m. in Northville. gram.

Although she has only been in the United States since last Monday, Thompson said she has already seen some of Michigan's advantages.

"I'm loving the sunshine because this amount of sun is not a regular sight in England," she said. "I also like the nice, spacious atmosphere here in Northville."

Thompson said she has been assigned to teach drama, composition and a relatively new course entitled "the Old West.

"I'll be spending the next four weeks making lesson plans and acquainting myself with the subjects that I'll be teaching," she said, adding the students in her Old' West class may have a difficult time deciphering her British - John Wayne accent.

The Fulbright program, which arranged for the Thompson-Kinde exchange, has been in existence for 42 years. The program has sent American teachers to more than 20 countries around the world, according to Pat-Schaefer, chief of the gram.

"The goal of the program is to increase the mutual understanding bet; ween people from the United States and other countries," Schaefer said, She noted that the Fulbright program, also tries to promote mutual education and cultural exchange activities.

"We were honored two years ago for our 40th anniversary of the program and we were noted as one of the most successful government programs," she said.

American teachers apply to Fulbright for an assignment abroad and the agency tries to match an ex-change with a person having similar characteristics.

Schaefer said the qualifications for acceptance into the Fulbright program include: three years of teaching experience, a bachelors, degree, and successful completion of a screening and orientation process. Schaefer said that after the arrangements have been made, the teachers usually stay in each others homes, and receive full pay from their own school.

Clinic explains differences in landscaping

Prisons may start testing high-risk prisoners for AIDS

The director of a new medical clinic came to the Northville Planning Commission meeting last week to defend landscaping that is somewhat different from the plans approved by the commission earlier this year.

But the discussion raised a couple of new questions, and the commission decided to postpone further consideration of the issue until its next meeting, Tuesday, Aug. 16.

Last month, city Building Inspector Joe Attard notified Alberto Vincenti of the Northville Medical Clinic that the latest landscape plans for the site did not match what the commission first approved.

Vincenti came before the commission Tuesday, Aug-2, to explain the changes. He said the major differences are fewer trees and bushes than the commission approved Part of the reason is that there is not enough room to make all the approved plantings, and another part is that too much landscaping would hide the building, he said.

A memo from Attard to the commission referred to a compromise recommendation from Planning Consultant Don Wortman. However, at the meeting no one could find a copy of the recommendation, and Wortman was on vacation.

In addition, commission members said they would like to see a written summary of what was approved and the requested deviations from that plan. A motion to put the issue on the commission's agenda for its next meeting passed 8-1. Commissioner Chris Gazlay dissented, saying the city should hold the clinic to the approved plans.

The Michigan Department of Corrections has been allocated funds for the testing of high risk prisoners for AIDS, as part of its $614.6 millionbudget signed by Governor James Blanchard Wednesday, Aug. 3.

Corrections deputy director Leo Lalonde said although the money has been allocated for the testing, the program has yet to be approved by the Michigan Legislature.

He added a decision on the testing program should be made in October, and if it is defeated, the money allocated for it would lapse into the peral fund.

Specifically, the corrections judget has allocated money for esting incoming prisoners who are known intravenous drug users or guilty of criminal sexual conduct ofenses and an expanded Aids educational program for prisoners and

No movement yet on Ford plans

Ford Motor Company and the City M Northville are waiting until the cily hires a special consultant before proceeding any further with their talks about the future of the Northville Ford Plant.

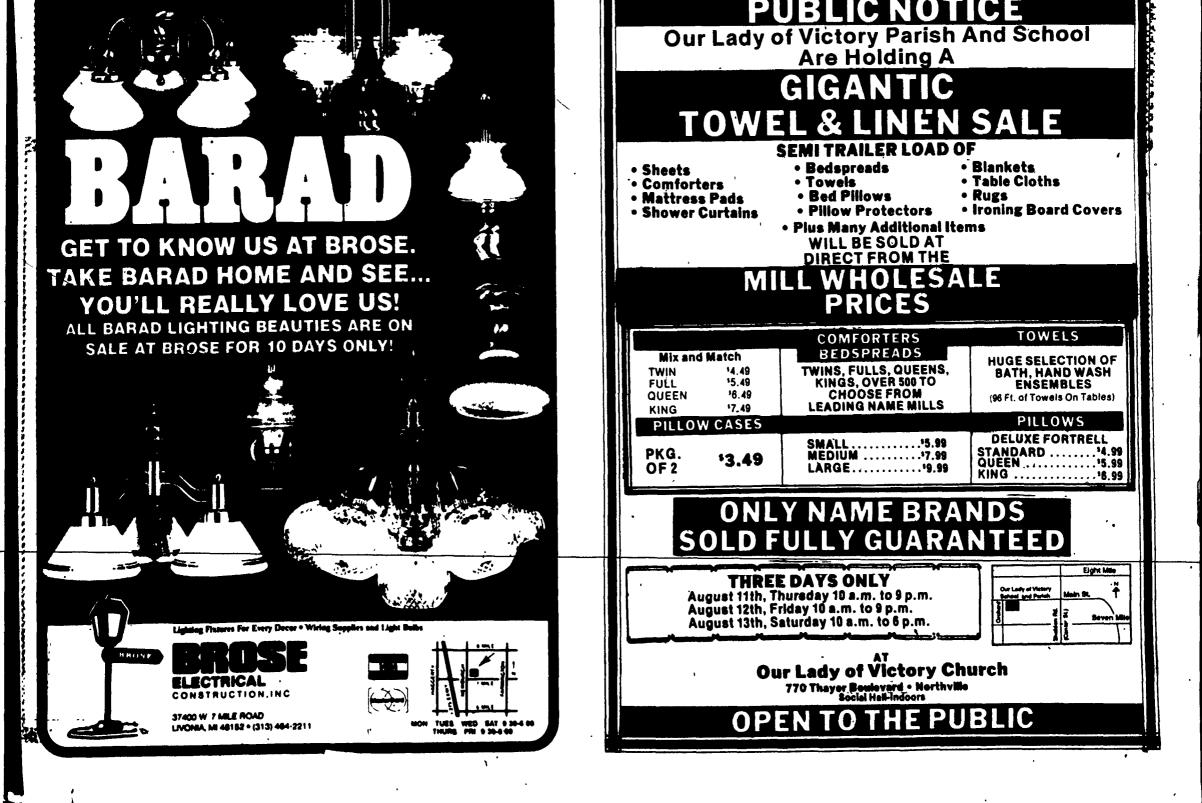

City and company officials have held one meeting to discuss the luture of the water wheel plant site yin Main Street since the company angounced the plant would close by the and of this year.

Mayor Chris Johnson said Monday that no more meetings are planned until after the city hires a consultant to study possible future uses of the plant. The city has advertised for bidders interested in conducting the study, and bids are due Monday, Aug. 22.

After the City Council hires someone to conduct the study, that person will be able to sit in on any meetings with Ford officials, Johnson said.

Ford has agreed to cooperate with the city in conducting the study. The city is asking that the study be structured to consider several different ways of using the site in the future, and not to come up with a single recommendation.

The study is being funded with money from the federal Community Development Block Grant program.

GENERAL EXCELLENCE

Our Opinions Hospital pilot program moves in right direction

? Changes are occurring at the fargest regional hospital in the state, Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital.

Last week the Michigan Department of Mental Health announced that public hearings to determine the competency of allegedly mentally ill people would move from the Wayne County Probate Court in downtown Detroit to the Northville hospital. The move is a pilot program that will run for a threemonth period, at the end of which the results will be evaluated and a final site determined.

The new program has been criticized by the Michigan Protection and Advocacy Service, a statemandated group that works for the developmentally disabled and the mentally ill.

While concerns for the rights of patients are justifiably brought out by the advocacy group, the changes proposed by the Department of Mental Health are good ones and should lead to better care for the patients while not risking in any way their rights under the law.

The reasons given by the Department of Mental Health for the change in venue are both costs and care considerations. All other hospitals in the state are conducting the hearings on their premises and the Northville hospital was the only facility where patients where transported to a courtroom for the hearings.

The change will reduce the costs of transportation for the patients to the Wayne County Probate Court, and the tosts of sending Northville staff members to the court to testify at the liearings. The mental health department also said that patients will no panger be forced to sit in jail holding gells while awaiting the start of their yourt proceedings. The change will mean that staff members will be at the hospital at all times, rather than in Detroit for days of testifying — a change that can only help the care of patients. The staff will be available at the hospital up until the scheduled times of the hearing, and will be immediately back at work following the proceedings.

The advocacy group should go beyond the economics of any move by the Department of Mental Health and spotlight the effect changes will have on the care and treatment of patients. That's the purpose of the group and a necessary check to the system. But in this case, the concerns raised by the advocacy group do not balance the overafi good the change will produce.

A spokesperson for the group has said that the patient's right to a full public proceeding will be compromised. That the less formal setting of a hospital instead of a courtroom will influence judges to believe that the patients are already where they belong. We disagree.

The competency proceedings will remain open forums. Members of the public, family members and watchdog groups will continue to have open access to all proceedings in exactly the same manner they now have in the courtroom. In some respects members of the public may feel more comfortable watching the proceedings from a hospital auditorium than from a downtown courtroom, making the process more open, rather than less.

Judges who are influenced by their surroundings, rather than the facts set before them, would be just as likely to misrule in a courtroom as a hospital.

We are encouraged by this move to bring the hearings to Northville. At the end of three months the program should be properly evaluated and the concerns of the advocacy group should be weighed before a final decision is made.

A parable

By Ann Willis

1 admit it. I had lost faith.

Where once there had been hope, there was now darkness. Where once I had believed that if I wanted something badly enough, I could make it happen — now I felt that the world was a hard place over which I had no control.

What was it that brought me to this abyss of selfdoubt? What traumatic event had smashed my sunny life to bits and turned a proclaimed optimist into a bitter and cynical witch?

The garden, of course.

And I was not alone. Bob, Brenda and I had started our garden with high hopes. Throughout June we watered and tended. The vicious June sun beat the ground to dust. The water ran out. The heat passed 90 degrees day in and day out. We grew tired in the garden. We grew dusty in the garden. We grew frustrated and angry in the garden. What we didn't grow were vegetables.

Finally, like people tired of beating their heads against a wall, we stopped. We were licked. Nature had pummeled the puny humans into the ground and we ran toward the air conditioning without a backward glance at the remains of our toll. We left the garden in July.

We thought about it often. Brends and I would pause over our 190th cup of coffee on a Tuesday and wonder aloud how the small plants were doing. Bob would gaze out the window by his desk and comment that it looked like rain and, gee, wouldn't that be nice for the garden. But common sense told us that there was no garden.

Forum

By Chris Boyd

When the going had gotten tough, we had left it. All that was left for us were the memories of small but sturdy tomato plants wilting in the evil heat. That and the freckles on Brenda's nose, the dirt under Bob's fingernails and the mosquito bites on my legs. Reminders.

Then, just when life was at it's lowest, the rains. came. The first shower was brief and we didn't pay muchattention. Then a soaking rain fell and we paused in our work, thinking the unthinkable.

Last Saturday the three of us went to find the garden. It was early and the August dew hung heavily on the grass. We told ourselves not to hope. But we brought a hoe, just in case.

A shadow fell over the car as we approached the garden. An omen? No, the weeds were blocking the sun. Giant, redwood size weeds had sprung from the soil that only one month ago had nourished only ugly tomato beetles. We sprung from the car. Slowly we beat a path through the weeds into the garden and there — miracles of miracles — stood plants. Bushy, growing, vibrant plants. Tomato plants with real live, albeit green, tomatoes hanging on them. Bean plants with real live, albeit small, beans on them. Radishes and green peppers. Pumpkins and more pumpkins.

A shout went up. There was dancing and metriment in the garden patch. With wild enthusiasm we cleared the weeds away. Tra-la-la-la-la-la, we sang as we felled. weed after weed. So what if we were covered in mud. So what if half of what we planted never poked its head from the ground. So what, indeed.

It was a miracle pure and simple.

Some reporters catch on quicker than others.

In case you haven't noticed, several new reporters have joined our staff during the past six months or so. And at least two of them — Phil Ginotti and Bruce Weintraub — consider themselves to be pretty bad dudes on the basketball court when they're not chasing down stories.

Enforce only the rules

It's nice when a developer and a, planning commission can come to a compromise over a disagreement between the two. But we feel a little uncomfortable about the way it happened last week.

Really, the main disagreement was over a small issue: the type of light bulbs to go in the pole lamps within the St. Lawrence Estates condominium development. The developer, the Selective Group, had mbmitted plans with high-pressuredium lights indicated, but representives told the city Planning Commisbon the company would rather use Caditional incandescent lamps.

The people from Selective agreed to the commission's position eventualby, and their plan was approved. But one thing they pointed out deserves more attention. The commission can't really require a certain type of lights in a development. They can suggest such things, but there are no requirements to cover type of lights in the city zoning ordinance, and that's what the commission works from.

We don't pretend to know anything about the merits of the different kinds of lights. The commissioners were probably right in their preference for the high-pressure-sodium lights — but they couldn't legally insist on their use.

If the type of lamp used in a development is so important, then the commission ought to look into adding such requirements to the city ordinances. Building Inspector Joe Attard suggested this move, and we think it's a good idea. It might avoid some unpleasant tangles in the future.

Best I can figure from talk in the; newbroom, Ginotti is pretty rugged; under the glass, while Weintraub ismore of a finesse player.

But I now have reason to think Ginotti may possess even meru finesse than Weintraub.

Before our staff meeting last week, Weintraub was doing a little "woofing," as they say on the playgrounds. Making all kinds of funny noises about him and Ginotti challenging Ann Willis — no slouch under the boards, either — and me to a little game of hoops.

Youthful naivete filled his, shallow banter, incorrectly assuming that a couple of young buck reporters would have no trouble putting away a female editor and a grey-haired managing editor.

"Bruce," I said after bearing about as much of his chatter as I could tolerate, "Willis and, I are ready anytime you want. Anytime; Anywhere. Say the word, pup, and we'll be there.

"And one more thing," I added. "You and Ginotti had better start praying right now that you don't manage to beat us."

I don't know if Weintraub got thé message. But Ginotti caught on right away.

"I can see it now," he grinned. "Great shot, Ann. In my face again!"

Readers Speak

Thanks, Northville, for helping us

To the Editor:

I would like to take this means to thank (and recognize the examples of) an unidentified young couple and an efficient State Police Officer for their assistance at Seven Mile and Haggerty Roads during the afternoon rush hour on Monday, Aug. 1.

Whether the problem was heatinduced vapor lock or just an empty gas tank, the summoning of help and the capable alternative help (when the first help requested was unable to come promptly) got us out of an awkward and unsafe prédicament. We also learned some things, and are encouraged to try to be as helpful to others when opportunities arise. Name Withheld on request

A brave woman

To the Editor:

The following is my tribute to a very lovely, young woman, Kathy Collins, age 42, who passed away August 6. For most of her life, Kathy battled a neuro-muscular disease with courage and determination. Many Northville residents will remember Kathy and her fighting spirit.

Her sad eyes look up with a pleading expression; is there no one who feels the anguish inside me? My voice is so weak that I cannot express it. And only my eyes speak the fear and the sorrow of unknown horizons and past times unfinished.

She now wants to share all ber thoughts and emotions; But time has been cruel to her voice and her sounds. Her arms cannot write all the feelings so vivid: Her heart bears a burden of love words unspoken. The tears wash away all the smiles that she gives us.

Those eyes show an anger at the fate she now bears.

We only can love her and help bear the burden.

She knows we are thinking of past times remembered,

And diamonds of memories that go on forever.

May Kathy rest in God's Peace.

Saluting voters

To the Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to thank all of the voters who braved the oppressive heat to participate in Tuesday's primary election.

You are the people who view voting not as an option, but as an obligation. You are the people who form the foundation of our Republic, and act as the guardian of the public trust. You are the people who have borne the burden and affirmed thisgiory of a government by and for the people. Thaddeus G. McCotter

Political terms

To the Editor:

It was not too long ago when the ap-pellation "LIBERAL" was considered to be a positive attribute for a politician seeking public office. It has come to pass that it is now a label to be shunned as one would the plague, in spite of the fact that one of the definitions of a "LIBERAL" in my Webster dictionary defines a liberal as "one who favors greater freedom

It appears that being classified as a political conservative a politician vaunts that status even though one of the definitions, again in my Webster dictionary, defines a conservative as one "tending or disposed to maintain existing institutions or views," and is 'opposed to change or innovation.' Do we favor change or innovation?

in political or religious matters."

Do we abhor greater freedom in political or religious matters? Alfred P. Galli

Classy support

To the Editor:

On July 30 we held a fund raising car wash to earn money for our class treasury. We would like to thank Detroit Federal Savings for the use of their parking lot, The Pizza Cutter and Hardees for food discounts and donations, along with the people of Northville for supporting us. The car wash was very succesful and we earned over $600 to use toward our Senior Prom. Thank you again everyone for your support.

Learning the symptoms of alcoholism

Phyllis Ely

This is another in the continuing series of columns written for the Record by Charles Stilec, Northville High School Student Assistance Program Coordinator.

. The more work I do and get involved in regarding the field of substance use, abuse and dependency, the more I become aware that children of alcoholics are a growing concern to all sectors of society for the following reasons:

 An estimated 28 million Americans have at least one alcoholic parent.

More than half of all alcoholics have an alcoholic parent.

 One of three families currently reports alcohol abuse by a family member.

 Children of alcoholics are at the highest risk of developing alcoholism themselves or marrying someone who becomes alcoholic.

 Medical research has shown that children born to alcoholics are at the highest risk of developing attention deficit disorders, stress related medical problems, fetal alcohol syndrome and other alcohol related birth defects Lt

· In up to 90 percent of child abuse cases, alcohol is a significant factor.

· Children of alcoholics are also frequently victims of incest, child neglect, and other forms of violence and exploitation.

· Children of alcoholics often adapt to the chaos and inconsistency of an alcoholic home by developing an inability to trust, an extreme need to control, excessive sense of responsibility and denial of feelings, all of which result in low self-esteem, depression, isolation, guilt and difficulty maintaining satisfying relationships. These problems persist through adulthood.

· Children of alcoholics are prone to experience a range of psychological difficulties including learning disabilities, anxiety, attempted and completed suicide, eating disorders and compulsive achieving.

• The majority of people served by employee assistance programs are adult children of alcoholics, (COA's).

 The problems of most COA's remain invisible because their coping behavior tends to be approval seeking and socially acceptable. However a disproportionate number of those entering the juvenile justice system, courts, prisons, mental health facilities and referred to school authorities are children of alcoholics.

The following behaviors may indicate a child is from an alcoholic home.

1. Morning tardiness (especially Mondavs). 2. Consistent concern with getting home promptly at the end of the day or activity period. 3. Regression: thumbsucking, enuresis (wetting the bed), infantile behavior with Deers. 4. Avoidance of arguments and conflict.

I recently completed a summer workshop on Awareness and Prevention, in

8. Fatigue and listlessness.

5. Friendlessness and isolation.

6. Poor attendance.

which 45 adolescents from six local cities including Northville, participated. One fact that stood out bold as life was that nearly all the participants were from homes where alcoholism or drug abuse was a major factor.

7. Frequent illness and need to visit the nurse, especially for stomach complaints.

These kids, ages 12-16, many of whom were not using drugs themselves, were enrolled in the program because they were identified as "at risk". They also were experiencing difficulties with grades, academics, family, and/or peer related issues and conflicts.

Children of alcoholics try to adapt to their situation in unhealthy ways and many of them "don't talk, don't trust and don't feel," because of their situations.

The next article will deal further with the life of the child of an alcoholic. In the meantime a group of young people is starting the week of Aug. 8, which will concern itself with the issues of children of alcoholics.

pursued for Ten Mile/Beck corner Signal

By PHIL GINOTTI

NOVI -- City officials have scheduled a meeting with Oakland County Road Commission (OCRC) representatives to discuss speeding up signalization of Ten Mile and Beck roads.

The intersection has been the scene of at least three major traffic accidents in the last several weeks and dozens this year. A four way signal has been slated for the corner within the OCRC budget, but not until October of this year when their fiscal year begins.

Novi City Manager Edward

Kriewall said that the city has been exploring several alternatives about what to do with the corner in the meantime, including paying for the signal with city funds and getting reimbursed by the OCRC later. City officials are also exploring placing stop signs or warning signs in the area in cooperation with the road commission, until the signal can be put in.

Kriewall said the major problem is getting utility hookups to the area quickly enough to get the light put in.

"Whatever we do funding-wise, we're still at the mercy of Edison's timetable," Kriewall said.

He said a meeting was scheduled for Wednesday with OCRC officials. Results of that meeting weren't available by press time.

The situation flared up at the Mon-day Novi City Council meeting. Councilman Hugh Crawford called upon city officials to come up with a plan of action immediately. "There's a dangerous situation there," Crawford said. "We need a four way stop . . . we need something to take care of the problem."

Crawford said he would be calling city administration for an answer "by Thursday" - three days from the Monday night council meeting.

Kriewall said the city has been working towards speeding up signalization for several weeks. He said it was difficult to say whether or not people would recognize or heed a new stop sign placed at the corner.

Police and city officials said accidents occur at the corner because stop signs halt Beck Road traffic while no such signs are in place for Ten Mile Road traffic. Drivers heading south or northbound on Beck Road apparently proceed under the assumption that Ten Mile Road traffic will stop at the light.

The latest accident at the corner occured Saturday, when a car reportedly driven by a Northville man stopped, then proceeded into the intersection into oncoming traffic. According to police, he was ticketed for failing to yield right-of-way.

Novi Police Captain Richard Faulkner said copies of all accident reports in the area are being forwarded to Kriewall for review.

Two weeks ago a collision between an automobile and a garbage truck at the corner hospitalized two persons. Last week, a similar accident occured, sending one man to the hospital. Ironically, he was rushing to the scene of another accident several miles away that involved his grandson.

Milford outlet puts empahsison 'fifth wall'

Ŀ

By LISA BURKS

Here's a pop-quiz on interior decorating. How many walls does a room have?

.The answer usually given would be four walls - unless you're Richard and Robin Cowlin, owners of Fashion Flooring in downtown Milford. Their answer?

Five walls . . . "with the floor being the number one wall, not the fifth," emphasized Richard.

The Cowlins opened Fashion Flooring 19 years ago when there were approximately five other independent carpet stores in the area. Richard was selling equipment to carpet manufacturers at the time and decided to go into retail sales instead.

.Today the business is thriving at its original location at 340 North Main. but the local competition has all but vänished.

Robin, who serves as controller for the store, attributes the success of Fashion Flooring to a good reputation established by dealing honestly with customers.

Fashion Flooring primarily carries Tradition House carpets, but also has Cabin Craft, Mohawk, Queen, Salem and DuPont brands available. Prices range from $10 to $22 per yard, and any sales in the store are a direct reflection of what the mills put on sale.

Fashion Flooring is what is known as a mill outlet store, which means the carpet ordered at the store comes directly from the mill to the customer's home, saving money. After an order is placed, it is usually installed within seven to 10 days.

Also available are wall coverings. yinyl and wood floors, and wood floor refinishing.

"The public is generally after better quality and better performance in a flooring, opposed to less expensive and lower quality. They are really after high style today," said Richard, who noted that he tends to stay with stocking samples of high quality, but not always the most expensive brands.

Because of the wide variety of yarns, Richard said it is often difficult for customers to know and compare the quality of different yarns. He said he believes that is why it's important when purchasing carpet to know a store and trust the staff's judgment which is based on the customer's flooring needs.

A lot of Fashion Flooring's clientele consists of numerous construction contractors, but most are individuals redoing the carpets in their homes themselves.

People have come from as far east as Grosse Pointe and as far west as Lansing to purchase flooring from the Cowlins. The most remote place they've shipped carpet to was Germany for a former area resident. The most unusual place they've carpeted was a boat in Grosse Ile. Richard noted that the Detroit customers have shopped around the larger chain stores, but come back to Fashion Flooring.

"I think it's our hometown atmosphere that brings us repeat customers," noted Robin, who also added that many of their clients' homes have been recarpeted two and three times during the past 19 years. We are a family in the store and a family with businesses on Main Street, too. I think customers really like that," Robin added. The Fashion Flooring family in-

Advice for establishing a credit rating

Try obtaining a mortgage if you have never owned a credit card or repaid a loan. You may be in for some unpleasant surprises. Without a credit rating, you may not be able to convince a bank that you are a responsible borrower.

To insure that you can obtain credit when the need arises, the Michigan Association of CPAs suggests that you start working on establishing a credit rating right away.

When, you apply for a loan or a credit card, lenders turn to credit bureaus to check your status as a borrower. Contrary to what you may think, the credit bureau is not respnsible for deciding if you are creditworthy. The bureau simply collects information about you and sells it to lenders. Based on their own standards or credit-scoring system, the lenders will then decide whether or not you are a good credit risk.

Your credit file generally contains basic identifying information like your name, address, Social Security number, date of birth and employment history. The credit bureau also knows if you have loans and whether your repayments are timely, if any judgments have been filed against you and whether any of your bills have been turned over to a collection agency.

Obviously, if you have never had a credit card or a loan, a credit bureau cannot report on what kind of borrower you are - and therein lies the problem. With no credit history to rely on, a lender may be reluctant to provide you with a loan.

To establish a credit rating, you should start small. Begin by opening a savings and checking account at one financial institution. While this step does not actually establish credit, it enables you to develop a banking relationship that may be useful later on.

Your next step is getting a credit card. Normally, the easiest cards to obtain are those with a single purpose, such as a department store or a gasoline company card. Contact the stores or companies where you make the most purchases and apply to those with the lowest interest rates. If your application is approved, your credit limit will, as a rule, start off low - perhaps as low as $500. But, as you demonstrate your ability to handie credit wisely, the lender will likely increase your credit line.

Once you receive your first card, be sure to use it. Don't make the common mistake of assuming that obtaining a credit card automatically establishes a credit rating. In order to build a credit history, you must use your credit card and demonstrate a pattern of timely payments.

If you are using a credit card strictly to establish a credit rating and do not want to incur interest charges, pay the bill in full each month, within the grace period allowed.

After a period of charging and repaying your debts, you will be ready to apply for a national bank credit card such as MasterCard or Visa. Your chances for approval may be best at the financial institution where you opened your savings and checking account.

Again, you will probably receive a low credit line at first. In most cases, however, the credit companies will reward prompt payments with increases in the credit line.

Be selective in choosing the right form of credit to meet your borrowing needs. The right choice can help you save a significant amount of money. If you use your credit mainly for convenience and pay your bills in full each month, look for a card with no annual fee and a long grace period. Don't worry if the interest rate is on the high side - as long as you pay off the bill within the grace period, you will not incur any ipterest. If, on the other hand, you tend to stretch out your payments and maintain a balance on your card, make sure that the credit card's annual percentage rate is reasonable.

After you have established credit. make sure you use your cards sen-sibly. Don't apply for more cards than you need and don't run up more debt than you can handle. Some experts suggest that your credit debts (excluding mortgage and car payments) should not exceed 10 to 15 percent of your annual take-home

Remember, too, that tax reform is phasing out the deduction for consumer interest. This year, such interest will only be 40 percent deductible

Finally, prepare a list of all your credit cards, with account numbers and the address and phone numbers of the banks or stores that issued them. Keep the list at home in a safe place, or better yet, in a safe deposit box. If your cards are lost or stolen. immediately notify everyone on the list. When you call, note the date and time and get the name of the person who handled the call. Follow the call with a letter.

plete commercial and residential designing.

Tom Schnitzhofer has also been with the Cowlins 15 years. He does the installation of all wood and vinvl flooring.

In 19 years of business, the Cowlins have seen a lot of different flooring styles come and go.

"Trends are hard to predict, and it really depends on the area and the individual person," said Robin. She said today's biggest sellers are the stain resistant varieties, particularly Stainmaster by DuPont.

According to Richard, the biggest changes in carpet that he has noticed over the years are the wider variety of colors now available, as well as the number of different styles and higher qualities

"Carpet is also less expensive to-day than in 1939," added Richard. "Very few people could afford carpet back then," he said.

So what do the floor specialists have in their own home?

"We like variety so we have carpet, linoleum and hardwood," laughed Robin, noting they recently installed some new DuPont Stainmaster which they are very pleased with.

The Cowlins, who have been Milford residents since they opened the store, have two children - Lori Hinchman, 15, and Dan Cowlin, 14.

Fashion Flooring's business hours are Monday through Thursday from 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., Friday from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. and Saturday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

If you don't keep their names alive, who will?

An invitation to place the name of a member of your family who immigrated to America in the only national museum created to honor them.

Whether your ancestors first set foot on American soil at Ellis Island, or entered through another gateway, here is a unique opportunity to show your gratitude. And to present your family with a gift that will be meaningful now and for generations to come. When you make a $100 contribution to restore Ellis Island, the name you designate will be permanently placed on the newly created American Immigrant Wall of Honor. You can choose the name of an ancestor or just your own family name. And you'll receive an Official Certificate of Registration. To register additional names, list each name and country of origin on a separate sheet. And remember, there is a minimum gift of $100 for each.

Please send your contribution today. By acting now you assure that the Ellis Island Immigration Museum will be a place to honor your own heritage, as well as a monument to the great American traditions of freedom, hope and opportunity.

store in Birmingham - started out as a wine shop more than anything else. No more, according to Mc-Cauley.

"The food has been doing better than the wines lately. The food has been picking up and the wine has been pretty steady," McCauley said.

Larry Krispin, manager at Shopping Center Market on Center in Northville, also reported brisk sales of the finer snacks.

"They are doing very well here. Very well," he said.

"I think there's more of a market. It's not just the upper class that's buying it," Krispin said. "People don't mind paying the higher price for better quality.

An employee at an A & P store in the area said they, too, are seeing a lot of people buying gourmet junk food items.

"I guess people are just just seems that people are becom-ing a little fussier in what they eat."

Although the managers said the rise of gourmet junk food has not hurt the sales of midline potato chips and other snacks, the A & P worker pointed out one nearcasualty: no-brand junk food.

"People are getting away from the generic items," he said, noting junk food seems to be here to stay. at least for awhile. And if, for some reason, we have to hold another First Thanksgiving some time down the road, we can take a cue from the 1623 celebration and just haul out our chocolate-covered potato chips. Or whatever else is hot at the time.

As McCauley summed up the whole industry, "There's always going to be something new "

Meals on Wheels looks for volunteer drivers

By DOROTHY NASH

"I had to have something wor-thwhile to do," Eleanor Kunzi said about her decision two years ago to volunteer as a driver for Meals on Wheels.

That's the program that delivers a hot noon-day meal five days a week to people who are housebound - mostly senior citizens, who pay a nominal fee for the service.

One morning each week Kunzi goes to Allen Terrace at 11:30, helps assemble individual dinners - a hot dish and a bag containing milk, salad, and bread — and then puts her allotment of eight dinners into ber car and starts off on her route. Her route is in Northville Township, and all of her subscribers live in two apartment complexes - one couple and the others single, more women than men.

It takes her about 45 minutes to deliver them all, she said. There'snot much time to stop and visit, but there is time to help someone occasionally who may have difficulty in opening packages or cutting meat.

The route changes temporarily from one week to another, Kunzi said, when people have called in to say they won't need the service that day because, for example, they have a doctor's appointment.

And the route changes permanently when people drop out because "they've moved in with their children or they've gone to a nursing home or they have died.' And new people come into the program.

As for how to deal with those on the route. Kunzi said that at a meeting of volunteers one time they were told they should remember that "sometimes you are the only person they talk to or see all day.'

Is there a need for more volunteers? Yes And the number to inquire about Meals on Wheels is 453-2525. That's the office of Out-Wayne County Human Service, Inc.

Church passes 100 years the Rev. Wayne Giauque, assistant A church building that has survived 100 years of service and changed pastor 1969-79. According to a history of the names three times, was the focus of a four-day celebration that began Saturday, Aug. 6 with a family-style get-together.

Members, friends and former pastors of the Salem Bible Church were among those who met at the church on Six Mile in the hamlet of Salem from 4-6:30 p.m. for food, fun and fellowship. The meal was provided on a free-will offering basis.

Former pastor, the Rev. Elwood Chipchase (1961-65) was the guest speaker at 7 p.m. The public was invited to join the festivities.

The Rev. Doug Couch, pastor in 1952-55, spoke at the 11 a.m. worship service on Sunday, Aug. 7. At 7 p.m. that day, former pastor, the Rev. Richard Burgess (1955-60) delivered the message.

At 7 p.m. Monday, Aug. 8, speakers were the Rev. Richard Denig, pastor from 1979-84, and the Rev. Bill Cutler, current pastor.

Wednesday's guest speakers were the Rev. Ivan Speight (1965-79) and church which will be published in book form for the centennial, Feb. 8, 1988, actually marked the dedication of the red brick church building with its towering spire.

The traditional date celebrated for the first meeting of the Baptist Church of Salem is Jan. 17, 1831, at the home of Wheaton Bullock, located at the southeast corner of North Territorial and Curtis Road. However, a township history in-dicates that the founding date of the church was Jan. 17, 1833.

The congregation met for the some years in a school house and in several homes. The Baptists erected their first church building in 1852 on the Eliphalet Lewis farm on Six Mile. about a mile west of Salem village. The frame building cost $900.

The present brick veneered building was erected in the village of Salem in 1887, with the Rev. W.H. Bettys as pastor. The church building cost $8,000 and was dedicated, debt free, on Feb. 8, 1888.

The church "federated" with the Lapham Methodist Episcopal Church 1921 and became the Salem in Federated Church.

It was during the pastorate of the Rev. Cora Pennell that the church became A "Bible Church" in actuality, if not in name. The name of the church was changed to The Salem Bible Church by a vote of the congregation on Feb. 1, 1967.

The first major addition to the building was constructed in 1956 at a cost of $20,000. The new wing, added to the northeast corner, houses restrooms and two classrooms on the ground level and a pastor's study, nursery and church office on the upper story.

A ground-breaking ceremony for a new education wing, west of the sanctuary, took place May 17, 1964, under the leadership of Pastor Chipchase. Cancer patients can reach help

A diagnosis of cancer challenges the patient and family to cope with more than physical disease. With the diagnosis may come shcok, fear, anger, anxiety, withdrawal - emotions which we may be reluctant to express. Family members also may find it difficult to discuss their feelings after many weeks or months of patient care. A friendly, empathetic listener can often help the patient and family talk about their situation, discuss other interests or topics of the day, and help lessen the loneliness which can accompany a long period of illness and treatment.

Michigan Cancer Foundation's Telephone Reassurance Program offers such contact to patient and family. Staffed by trained volunteers, the program puts the patient in contact with a caring listener who will make regular calls to encourage and suppor the patient or family member. Such a program is particularly helpful for patients living alone without family members in the area. Calls are made from MCF's regional offices and headquarters once of twice a week, or more frequently if requested. Patients living alone are called every day. The program is not a crisis or emergency line, and volunteers do not discuss the patient's treatment or attempt to answer medical questions. The program is free.

Trained volunteers are now available at MCF's West_Unit in Dearborn and Downriver Unit in Wyandotte. To register for the program, call the program coordinator. Barbara Bicking, at 832-4080.

inosaur time at the science center

By SHARON ROSE

What should you give a dinosaur for dinner?

Anything he wants, of course. Just kidding! But seriously, the dinosaurs are here, direct from the Mesozoic Era. A tent-full of giant, hulking reptiles will camp menacingly in the Detroit Science Center (DSC) parking lot until September 25. And if you really want to know what to offer one for dinner, this is the place to find out.

Visitors can hear their roars as soon as they pull into the lot. And a trip through their modern Detroit habitat provides dozens of dino-facts. The dinosaurs are animated, very big and kind of cute, despite their beady eyes and terrible teeth.

Their cuddly babies look like they've just stepped out of a Disney cartoon. On a walk through the tent, visitors can touch simulated dinosaur skin and collect dinosaur stamps on a special passport. Dinophoto opportunities abound.

The DSC is a hands-on museum, so youngsters who are fascinated by the ancient reptiles can do more than just look. A trip through the museum's Exhibit Hall offers a chance to dig for fossils, put together dinosaur puzzles, read dinosaur books, view dinosaur TV and make dinosaur crayon rubbings to take home. The DSC motto is, "Don't just stand there, touch something!"

If prehistoric predators make you yawn, there are plenty of other things to do and see at the DSC this summer. Let the kids loose in the Exhibit Hall to peek into a giant kaleidoscope, play with Ozzie the robot-computer, blow giant bubbles through a hula-hoop or wiggle a super-long fluorescent slinky suspended from the ceiling. There are nearly 100 such experiments, activities and exhibits just begging to be handled by kids.

Like it or not, they'll learn lots of scientific facts along the way about biology, chemistry, physics and space.

Take a break from all the action in the Exhibit Hall and visit the DSC's Space Theater where the sights and sounds of "Water and Man" will wash over you. Hold onto your tiltback, cushioned seat. The 70mm Omnimax film projected onto the 67foot, domed screen totally involves - American History. an audience in the action.

You'll take a dizzying drop over Niagara Falls, dodge drops as you creep between the stalagtites and stalagmites of a cave, trek across a desert, get caught up in a fisherman's net, tag along underwater behind a giant ray and glide along a Venetian canal, all without getting wet. You'll get that roller-coaster feeling without moving an inch.

Groups are welcome to the DSC. Call ahead (577-8406) and arrange for participation in their Demonstration Theater. Topic titles range from Laser and Light and Static Fanatic to Chem Combo and Seeing is Believing. Different 15-minute demonstrations are scheduled each day.

The Detroit Science Center is located at 5020 John R in the Cultural Center near Wayne State University. Approximately 35 minutes from Northville, the DSC is within blocks of the Detroit Historical Museum, Detroit Institute of Arts, Detroit Public Library Main Branch, the Children's Museum, International Institute and the Museum of African Admission to the Detroit Science Center and Dinosaur exhibit varies from $1 to $3 by age; to include Space Theater in the visit, tickets are $1 to $5. Group and family rates are available. There is convenient, attended parking available for $1.25 per car (buses free), with a Burger King "Burger Bus" located in the renced lot. Soda and snacks are available in veneral machines and visitors are internet to picnic on the grounds. Internet out for hungry dinosaure

For reach the DSC from the Novi/Northville area, take the Jeffries Freeway east to I-94 (Fond Freeway) east and get off at the Woodward/John R exit. Turn right onto John'R and after a few blocks you'll see the colorful, striped Dinosaur tent in the DSC lot. Summer hours are Monday and Tuesday (9 a.m. to 6 p.m.), Wednesday through Saturday (9 a.m. to 9 p.m.) and Sunday (10 a.m. to 7 p.m.)

Holzer wins regional; advances to nationals

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

It was a great way to reward a great season

After having to settle for second place in the Livonia Collegiate Baseball League (LCBL) race, Northville's Tom Holzer Ford rebounded to win the National Amateur Baseball Federation (NABF) College Division Regional last week at Livonia's Ford Field. With the title goes a berth in the NABF National Championships in Youngstown, Ohio on Aug. 11-14 as the Michigan representative.

"We had such a good year," Holzer Coach Bob Peterson said. "It felt good to get a reward like this for a good season Holzer won the double-elimination tourney with a 3-1 record. The championship game was played on Aug. 7 and pitted once-beaten Holzer against once-beaten Macomb. The locals fell behind 3-0 after four inn-ings but came back with a vengence to score 11 runs in the final three innings - including a big seven-run explosion in the sixth. Holzer won the game going away, 11-3.

"Once we got to them in the middle innings, we really started cashing in on the runs," Peterson said. "We played pretty well — it seemed like it was just a matter of time."

Starter Dan Hilliard fanned six and walked three in seven innings of work to register the win. He ran into a jam in the third and gave up three runs, but settled down and blanked Macomb the rest of the way.

Holzer scored two in the fifth on RBIs hits by Kevin Ritter and Andy Fairman and then took command in the sixth. Bob Tatro started the inning with a single — seven runs and nine batters later, Tatro ended the scoring with a two-run double. In between Tatro's heroics, Rick Tavormine, Chris Hansen and Keith Dutkiewicz all drove in runs. The final two runs came in the seventh on Ritter's two-run double.

TOM HOLZER FORD 15, DETROIT RENAISSANCE 4: In the first game of the NABF Regional on Aug. 5, Holzer trounced Detroit Renaissance, scoring multiple runs in all but two innings.

Holzer scored early and often in the game and had a commanding 8-0 lead after four innings. Detroit added four runs in the final three innings but the Northville squad increased the margin with seven more runs in that span.

Tournament strives for prestige lt isn't Johnstown, Pa. but Livonia Collegiate Baseball League (LCBL) Commissioner Gary Gray was out to show his hometown can throw a baseball party of its own.

Ford Field in Livonia was the host of last week's National Amateur Baseball Federation (NABF) College Division Regional. Six teams, including Tom Holzer Ford and Walter's Appliance of the LCBL, competed in the tournament.

"It's not as prestigious a tourney as Johnstown," said Gray. "Those folks in Johnstown really put on a show. They house the kids, feed them. It's a week-long festival. Ours is just another tourney for teams not going to Johnstown."

"It wasn't very difficult," Peterson pointed out. "We pounced on them right away and they weren't having any success against our pitcher." Brett Logmis started the game and worked the first four innings. He allowed just one hit, no walks and struck out five. Bill Bragg pitched the last three innings and gave up two earned runs.

Holzer had many hitting stars including Paul Newitt (3-for-5, 2 RBIs), Tavormina (3-for-4, 2 RBIs) and Ritter (2-for-4, 2 RBIs).

TOM HOLZER FORD 15, WALTER'S APPLIANCE 4: These two LCBL rivals were pitted against one another in round two of the tournament on Aug. 5.

Walter's jumped ahead 2-0 after two innings and then the game was suspended due to rain. The game resumed the next day and the break seemed to help Holzer. The locals outscored Walter's 15-2 in the final five innings to win the game 15-4.

"The rain was a blessing in disguise because we didn't seem to be with it on Friday," Peterson recalled. "The next day, we really picked it up and played very well." Chris Kloc relieved starter Mike Salach in the second inning and "We were up 6-2 but (Caesars) is a good team and got the clutch hits when they needed them. We didn't hit in the sixth and seventh innings when we needed to."

allowed zero earned runs the rest of the way. Kloc scattered seven hits and walked none.

Offensively, Ritter (3-for-5, 3 RBIS), Dutkiewicz (2-for-4, 3 RBIs), Newitt (2-for-3, 2 RBIs), Scott Peterson (2-for-4) and Tatro (2-for-2) led the 15-hit attack.

WALTER'S APPLIANCE 4, TOM HOLZER FORD 4: Holzer's only loss of the tourney came on Aug. 8 in a rematch of an earlier contest. The locals outhit Walter's 8-7 but left 14 runners on base.

"Through a quirk in the bracket, we played Walter's again the same day and we couldn't get our runners home," Peterson said. "This is really the first game where we've had trouble with runners getting left on base.

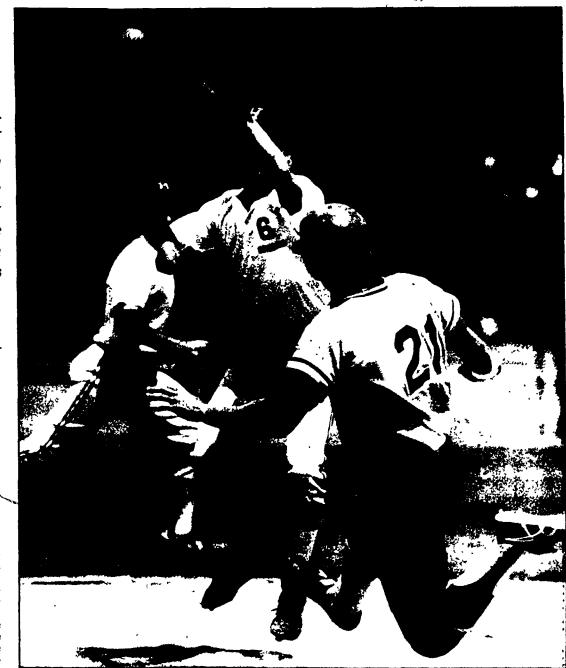

Pitcher Chris Willerer suffered the loss but only three of the runs were earned. Stu Hirshman was one of the few bright sport for Holzer, going 3for-4. Dutkiewicz was 2-for-4 while Steve Rudelic and Tavormina, also drove in runs.

Northville entry falls to Caesars in title game

The Northuille Record

For the second straight year Redford Little Caesars is the Livonia Collegiate Baseball League (LCBL) champion while Northville's Tom Holzer Ford must once again settle for the runner-up spot. Caesars staged a come-from-behind 7-6 victory on Aug. 2 at Livonia's Ford Field in the LCBL title game to earn an automatic bid to the AAABA Tournament this week in Johnstown, Pa. Holzer, on the other hand, qualified for the National Amateur Baseball Federation (NABF) College Division Regional that began back on Aug. 4 at Ford Field despite the loss.

"We were up 6-2 but (Caesars) is a good team and got the clutch hits when they needed them," Holzer Coach Bob Peterson said. "We didn't hit in the sixth and seventh innings when we needed to." Holzer needed to defeat the regular season champion Caesars twice to earn their first LCBL crown and a trip to Johnstown, and for four innings it looked as though they might do it. Holzer led 6-2 after scoring three unearned runs in the top of the fourth off Caesar's starter Anthony Yandura. But Jeff Gorman started the comeback with a single in the bottom of the fourth that scored Steve Looney with the third run. Chuck Hammontree led off the fifth with a walk and scored on a single by Steve Malgay to cut the margin to 6-4, and Caesars tied the score with one out when Andy Fairman's throwing error allowed both Malgay and Derik Dowling to cross the plate. Hammontree's one-out single in the bottom of the sixth scored Bob Kochie — who was on second after Gorman's sacrifice — with the winning run.

Record/CHRIS BOYD

"We felt we could hold on to a 6-2 lead but we made two critical throwing errors," Peterson recalled. "That's the way it goes sometimes."

Yandura surrendered seven hits in his five innings of work, but showed signs of tiring in the 90 degree heat.

Sieving grabs three state titles

Local swimmers performed very well for the Clarenceville Swim Club at the Long Course State Championships held in Southfield last weekend. Northville's Jeff Sieving - com-peting in the age 10 and under division — helped Clarenceville win the 10 and under state title with 10 top seven finishes including three firsts. Sieying won the 200-yard IM (2:54.36), the 100 butterfly (1:29.96) and was a member of the winning 200 mediey relay team (2:40.95). He was second in the 50 butterfly (36.31), the 100 breast stroke (1:31.23), the 50 breast stroke (40.76) and was a member of the 200 freestyle relay (2:27.24). Sieving was also third in the 200 freestyle (2:37.46), sixth in the 100 freestyle (1:13.86) and seventh in the 50 freestyle (34.49).

Sieving was third overall in points and qualified for the Zone Meet to be held Aug. 12-14.

Northville's Bob Holdridge (boys 13-14) was fourth in the 50 freestyle (27.60), sixth in the 400 freestyle (4:30.39), seventh in the 200 IM (2:30.83), eighth in the 200 freestyle (2:11.39), ninth in the 100 backstroke (1:12.73) and 15th in the 200 backstroke (2:39.23).

Megan Holmberg (girls 13-14) was eighth as a member of the 800 freestyle relay, 10th in the 100 freestyle (1:04.28), 12th in the 100 backstroke (1:16.01), 13th in the 200 IM (2:42,43), 12th in the 200 freestyle (2:19,83), 12th in the 200 backstroke (2:44.89), 14th in the 50 freestyle (30.38) and 17th in the 400 IM (1:04.02).

Northville Mickey Mantle burier Geoff Allen in action at the Junior World Series

Putty Hill nabs series crown; Northville Mantle struggles

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

The National Amateur Baseball Federation (NABF) Junior World Series for boys age 16 and under made it's sixth straight appearance in Northville last week, and tourney coordinator Bob Frellick said the 1968 version was the best ever.

But for Northville's Mickey Mantle squad - the host team of the series things didn't go nearly as well. The locals were paired against Putty Hill of Parksville, Md. in the first round and were unmercifully trounced 8-0. As it turned out, Putty Hill grabbed the series title in exciting fashion with a doubleheader sweep over the Bayside Yankees on Aug. 7. Nor-thville on the other hand, suffered another lopsided defeat and was quickly knocked out of competition.

"Each year it seems to get better," Frellick said. "I thought it was as equally matched a tourney as we've ever had. There was some outstanding baseball."

Putty Hill began its championship drive with a routine win over Nor-thville on Aug. 4. The locals surrendered a run on a balk and then Putty Hill took control in the third inning with a towering three-run homer. The team from the Baltimore area then added several more incidental runs later in the game to round out the scoring. "(Putty Hill) had good pitching and solid defense," Northville coach Paul Baetz said. "We just didn't hit the ball all year long. That three-run homer was the end of it because we only managed six hits."

Pick-up pitcher Geoff Allen from Plymouth started the game and went the first five innings. Allen didn't walk any, but Putty Hill got key hits in key situations.

The loss moved Northville into the consolation bracket where they pro-mptly lost to the Midland Warriors of the Cincinnati, Ohio area 14-1.

"Each year it seems to get better. I thought it was as equally matched a tourney as we've ever had. There was some outstanding baseball."

> - Bob Frellick Tournament Director

'Midland destroyed us,'' Baetz said. "Our kids just didn't come out to play. I have some kids who can compete at this level, but not enough of them. After four batters it was 4-0 and we hadn't got an out yet."

Starter Kevin McCullogh was knocked around pretty good, but poor defense behind him didn't help the situation-The only Northville player who had an outstanding tournament was Joe Kaley, according to Baetz.

"Joe had three hits in two games and had his usual solid performance in the field," Baetz said. Putty Hill, on the other hand, topped the Nashville (Tenn.) Shoetiques 8-5 in the second round on Aug. 5, but lost to the Bayside (N.Y.) Yankees 8-6 later in the day. A clutch homer in the bottom of the seventh by the Yankees pulled out the win - but it was to be Putty Hill's only loss of the tourney.

A 5-4 win over Midland on Aug. 6 put Putty Hill'into the championship bracket on Sunday against the undefeated Yankees. The Maryland team needed to sweep a doubleheader to win the crown and that's exactly what they did. Putty Hill ace Chris Holcombe won his second game of the tourney by shutting down the Yankees 11-2 in the opener. In game two, pitcher Tony Pazzica won his second of the series to lead Putty Hill to an easy 12-3 victory and the title

"Putty Hill had good balance and their pitching really did the job for ' Frellick said. "That's what them, pulled them through, especially against Bayside. This Holcombe kid was 2-0 with a 1.00 earned run average, and that included 14 innings of work.

Frellick refused to speculate whether the NABF World Series will be coming back to Northville next season. He did, however, say an official decision should be coming in the fall.

"The committee will meet later this month and make a decision," he said. "We'll have to submit our bid at the end of October if we decide to host it again.

'Everybody seemed pleased with the way things went. We used our own umpires for the first time and they were congratulated by the coaches after almost every game for the fine job they did."

Baetz was one of the few who won't take many fond memories away from the tournament. But that's understandable considering how his team fared.

"It was not as enjoyable as last year," Baetz admitted. "We have a young team and a lot of the good baseball prospects in the city are now playing soccer. They have to make a choice and the commitment just isn't there any more."

Mack nine have few bright spots in '88

The 1988 season for the Northville Connie Mack baseball squad was one of disappointment and unfulfilled promise.

First-year ⁴ head coach John Osborne wasn't expecting an undefeated record or a championship campaign, but he thought his team would be stronger in the pitching ranks and play better defensively. The overall season record of 7-14 didn't satisfy anybody.

"I think we could have done better," Osborne said. "Our biggest problem was that the team was restricted to just Northville kids and that made for a narrow scope of kids. Our competition was usually teams that could draw from more than one school district."

One of the highlights of the year was infielder Jim Willerer, who had a great summer. The Mustang seniorto-be batted a lofty .447 - which was nearly 100 points higher than any other teammate. Brian Frellick went 20-for-57 during the season (.351 average) and Randy Jones .302 - to round out the only Northville players to bat above 300. Catcher Mike Yard had a mediocre .265 batting average but did lead the team with 17 runs batted in and outfielder Ed Walsh paced the squad with two homers. Potential hitting stars like Derek Osborne, Tom Skynar and Adam Behen all slumped. "I don't think our hitting was the problem," Osborne said. "We did a pretty good job in that area."

Osborne didn't even compile end of season pitching statistics because, obviously, the numbers would have been embarrassingly high.

"Everybody tied for last in earned run average," Osborne joked. "The pitching needed developing and our defense wasn't as good as I hoped it would be. We had a couple good games but most of the time we struggled

"I'm sure the pitching and defensive problems were related. If the batters are hitting the ball awfully hard all the time, it's hard to make the defensive plays. Plus, our pitchers didn't get many strike outs and those are the kind of easy outs that don't tax the defense."

Osborne was disappointed with the defense when "we made errors on routine plays." The biggest positive to come out of the season was the additional experience. Whenever you have the opportunity to give players 20 some games to work on their weaknesses, and several dozen atbats, it's bound to help them in the future.

"Hopefully it was a good experience for the kids," Osborne said. "I think we learned some things. Even though we didn't have much success in terms of wins, it was a chance to play and, hopefully, improve.

MHSAA limits off-season contact for coaches

After a year-long study by the Michigan High School Athletic Association (MHSAA) staff, the Council passed a regulation stipulating that the three-player limit (the number of players a coach mayhave contact with) for out-of-season sports will begin the Monday of the week of August 15.

Also passed was a regulation stipulating that school-sponsored conditioning programs prohibit equipment specific to that sport. Weights, jump ropes and other conditioning equipment are permissible, while items such as balls, gloves, starting apparatus are not. Individuals are permitted to participate in out-of-season programs. However, there may be no use of school transportation or school issued and owned warm-ups or

Novi graduate sets powerlift records

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

By his own admission, Novi's Marc Passino was "always a chubby little kid."

But Passino is no longer a kid and he's certainly not chubby. He is only 5-foot-9 but he's a solid 219 pounds. His chest, arms, back and legs look like they are carved out of granite.

Lifting weights transformed Passino into what he is today - the best-ever powerlifter in the 220 weight classification from the state of Michigan. About three years ago, Passino was hit by a car, sustained serious damage to an arm and started lifting for therapy. During his sophomore year in high school, Passino concluded that his ticket to football stardom was the weight room, so he increased his daily routine and soon he was lifting more than just about anybody and increasing his strength and power at the same time.

Now, three years later, Passino has recently graduated from Novi High School, where he was a star defensive tackle for the undefeated Wildcat football team last fall. As a senior, he was a first team All-Kensington Valley Conference selection and a second-team All-Area pick as well.

In powerlifting competition this year - specifically at the Michigan High School State Powerlifting Meet in South Lyon last March - Passino emerged as one of the best around.

"I got into (lifting) heavily in my sophomore year because of football," kid and it helped tremendously."

In South Lyon on March 26, Passino was entered in the 220 classification and proceeded to break every record in sight. In the squat event, Passino started at 495 pounds, increased to 520 and finally 545 with his third and final attempt. Although he didn't realize it at the time, Passino had topped the old state record by 15 pounds.

"Actually, 545 was a little low for me," he pointed out. "I would have attempted 600 if I would have had another lift."

In the bench press, Passino's best effort of 410 shattered the previous state record of 350 and his 650-pound dead lift on the third try toppled yet another state mark by five pounds. Passino's personal best in the dead lift prior to the competition was 630.

His total of 1,605 for the three events demolished the old record by 80 pounds and, of course, he placed first in his weight classification. In addition, Passino was given the 'Most Outstanding Lifter Award.'

"It really didn't hit me at first," Passino said. "I was ready for (the meet) and I trained real hard for it but I didn't gven know what the state records were.'

Passino entered his first powerlifting competition during his junior year. He heard about the competition from a friend in the South Lyon Powerlifting Club and entered as the only representative from Novi.

In the competition, Passino faired very well. He placed fifth overall in the state in the 220-pound class and he said. "I was always a chubby little the success fueled his interest in the sport. "There was no coach but (Novi Kelletourey helped me out a lot," Passino recalled. "As a junior, I weighed only 202, but this year I was 219¼. It made a big difference being closer to the weight limit. I felt much bigger and stronger.'

high assistant football coach) Tad

As the South Lyon Meet approached this year, Passino recruited several high school friends and formed a four-man Novi team - including sophomore Bob Ahrens (242-pound class), sophomore Mike Yankowski (165-pound class) and senior Greg Kopp (132-pound class).

These are guys I either played football with or lifted with at the Powerhouse Gym in Farmington Hills," he said.

As a warm-up for the South Lyon meet, Passino competed in a bench press meet at Ferris State University in January and placed first. He is now planning to take part in a dead lift meet in Alma in late July and then will try to walk-on as a nonscholarship football player at Central Michigan University in Mount Pleasant "They have a weight club at CMU so I'm going to continue lifting and hope to make the football team." he said we decided to keep it." The sign says a lot about the small, unpretentious store in the Franklin Plaza at 29207 Northwestern

Highway. True, it is a store . . . a retail outlet selling goods and merchandise like any other store, but The Total Runner is also something more

We try to be a reference point for the running community," explained Howell, a tall, thin, bearded man who has the appearance of a runner, which, in fact, he is.

"Runners don't really have a centrai focal point ... their own clubhouse. So we attempt to fill that void by being a source of information as well a specialty store which caters to the special needs of runners."

On this particular Friday afternoon, Howell had to leave the store early to assist with a run in Allen Park. Typically, he has already fielded several calls about the event.

"We've had several calls from people asking for directions to the run in Allen Park," he reported.

"And that's not unusual," he continued. "We have racks of entry forms about upcoming races; we encourage groups which are sponsoring runs to leave their fliers here so other runners can pick them up

"People call here for information about running injuries. Some of them want us to refer them to a good running doctor.

'Somebody else might call asking for information on how to enter the New York Marathon. And, of course, the newspapers use us all the time. If they want a comment or a perspective on a race or a new development in the running area, they give us a call - and we're usually able to accommodate them.'

The objective of being a clearing house for information about running is best exemplified by the policy of always having an "experienced runner on duty.

David Howell, owner of Total Runner, helps outfit a customer with running shoes

Virtually, all the sales people at the Total Runner are themselves runners

"It's just good business," explain-ed Howell. "When people come in with questions about running, our clerks will know what they're talking about and be able to help them better because they've been there themselves.'

Howell said he ran cross-country in high school, but didn't really get into the sport until approximately 11 years ago. He was working as a librarian in Farmington Hills when he decided to take up jogging to get in shape. After starting, he got more and more enthused about the sport until he decided that the ideal occupation would be one which incorporated his interest in running.

He left the security of the Farmington Hills Public Library to go to work for Charlie Blanchard, Michigan's best-known triathelete and the founder of the Total Runner store When Blanchard decided to sell the business, Howell was ready to take it over, purchasing the Southfield store roughly 21/2 years ago. In addition to running the store, Howell estimates that he runs an average of 55 to 60 miles per week and participates in two or three marathons per year.

One of the frustrations of running a store like The Total Runner, says Howell, is that customers occasionally come to the store to ask specific questions about running shoes and then go elsewhere to purchase the merchandise.

"It's a problem for all specialty stores," said Howell, admitting the frustration but shrugging it off as an occupational hazard. "People come in to get their questions answered, then drive down the road to buy their shoes because they can save a dollar or two. "But it's not as big a problem as it

Cardiovascular program can counteract fatigue

By STEVE RIDDLE, M.S. and CAROLE BURKHARDT, M.S.

Do you often feel tired, burned out and drained of energy? All of us at times experience that feeling of overall fatigue that may cause us to feel like we "just don't have the energy to do anything." This most likely occurs after an eight-to-10 hour work day in which we endure plenty of mental and/or physical stress. More and more people have discovered that these "down times" of low energy occur less frequently once they have adopted a regular cardiovascular exercise program. Exercise can be the key to maintaining a high level of energy; thus we can call excercise "The Great Recharger.

There has been a wealth of information written in the past few years about the physical benefits of regular exercise. Many of these benefits are obvius such as: increased strength and endurance, weight loss and improved appearance. Other benefits are not so obvious such as increased bone density, increased circulation to heart and organs, decreased resting pulse rate and overrall more efficient cardiovascular systems. All of these positive changes and many others contribute to a more efficient and healthy body.

Often too much emphasis is placed on the physical benefits of exercise when for many people the greatest benefit of regular physical activity may be psychological or a combination of mental and physical. Physical activity is a proven method to counteract and relieve tension and stress. One may think of exercise as an active form of relaxation in that it is possible to temporarily forget the problems and frustrations encountered throughout the day. Exercise is also used to "work out" pentup stress. Additionally, many people report that they sleep more restfully when they are exercising regularly which contributes toward greater energy levels during the day. In general, an energetic person is more productive, sharper and better able to deal with decisions and stress throughout the day. The net result is that we feel good about ourselves, which leads to increased confidence and self-esteem.

A complaint often heard from many people is, "... exercise has always made me tired and sore the next day." The most common reason for this complaint is that the person has failed to establish and maintain a regular exercise program. When you first get started with an exercise program, you should expect to be slightmore fatigued initially and possibly experience muscular preness after the first few sessions. A body that is new to regular activity usually undergoes a period of transition where the muscles are adapting to the new stress and are rapidly increasing their strength and stamina. It is critical to maintain regularity through this period, which may last three to four weeks, until your muscles adapt sufficiently to where you begin to feel extra energy. Eventually, you will begin to feel less energetic if you miss your exercise session. This feeling, plus the inch or so you will have probably lost from your waistline, will be enough motivation for you to maintain your new active lifestyle. Individuals who reach this point regularly report a new positive attitude and enthusiasm toward work, family and life in general.

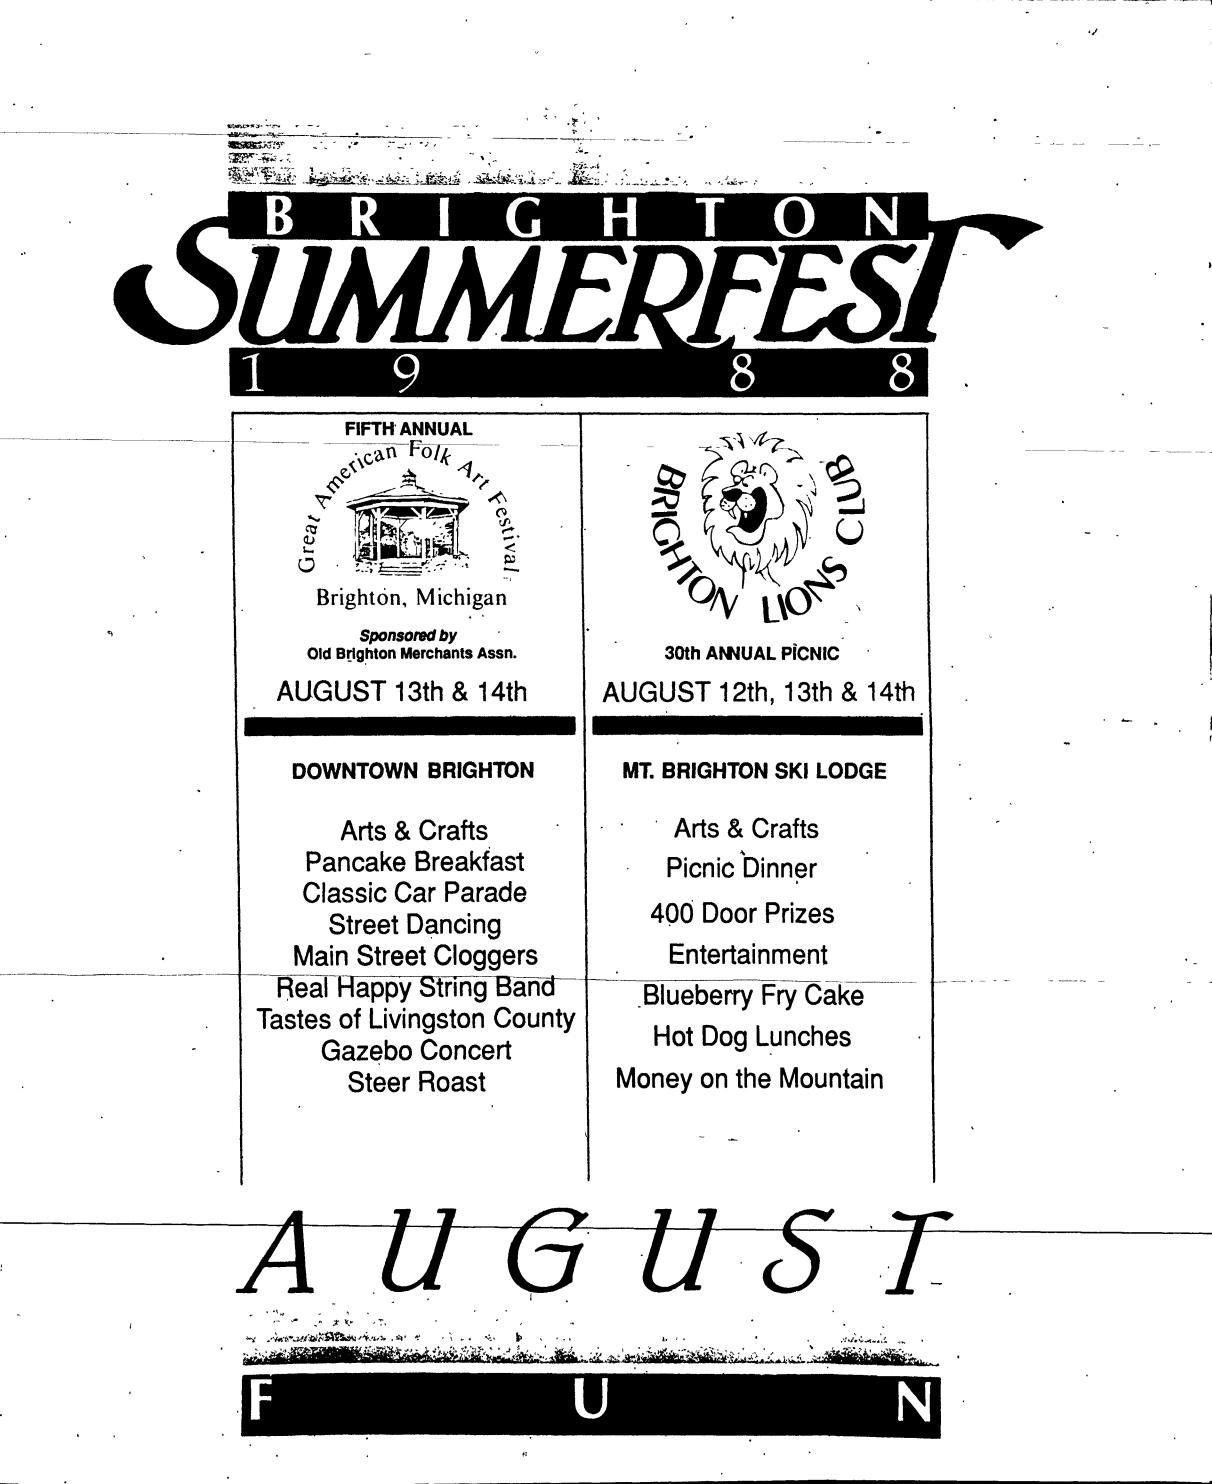

Beginning an exercise program is not difficult; many of us have begun one numerous times. It is maintaining it through those first few weeks that is the tough part. To get started you need to choose an activity or activities that you enjoy and that you can do continuously (non-stop) for an extended period of time at an elevated pulse rate. You should begin with 10 to 20 minutes and attempt to work up to 30 minutes of exercise, maintaining an intensity level that you perceive to be "somewhat hard" or that will keep your pulse rate above approximately 120 beats per minute. You should plan to exercise this way at least three times per week. The most popular activities are: brisk walking, jogging, biking (stationary or outdoors), rowing, aerobic dance and swimming (laps). Other activities such as tennis, racquetbail, golf (carrying clubs), and volleyball can be effective also if played at a consistent pace.

Exercise offers a multitude of physical and psychological benefits that can "recharge" us. Keeping in mind that the first few weeks will be the most challenging, try to build in some incentives to keep you going. Exercise with a friend who will support you, set a goal and reward yourself when you achieve it, schedule exercise into your daily routine and make it an important part of your lifestyle. Give yourself a chance to get to the point where you reap the benefits, including the extra energy lift that exercise can bring. It's a great recharger!

LARGEST SELECTION OF ARTS & CRAFTS EVER

Downtown Brighton's 5th Annual Great American Folk Art Festival will be the largest festival ever. According to Lois Brandt, Chairman of the Folk Art Festival, over 125 artist booths will line the streets of downtown Brighton on Aug. 13 and 14. "This is over double the artists we had last year," Ms. Brandt said.

"This is downtown Brighton's original arts and crafts show. Over the years it has grown from just a few craft booths along the sidewalk to the current number of 125. This show is a juried show, meaning we require the artists and crafters to submit pictures of their work so we may select the best work and best balance for our show. This year's selection was quite a pleasant challenge because of the large response. We have artists from as far away as Texas," reported Ms. Brandt.

Again this year there will be a local Blacksmith, Bob White, demonstrating his craft both Saturday and Sunday. One new participant is a silver jeweiry artist from Leander, Texas. Another newcomer, Sally Wilson from Flushing, MI, will be showing watercolors of Michigan birch trees and wildlife. Sally Rogers, from Kent, Ohio, will be showing her glassblown vases and paperweights. Ms. Brandt said, "Our show will offer something for everyone. We have handwoven rugs, tole painted items, unique pottery, porcelain smokefired clay jewelry, baskets, hand carved duck decoys, stained glass, watercolorist, puppets, and much more."

The Folk Art Festival runs from 10 am to 6 pm Sat., Aug. 13, and 12 noon to 5 pm Sunday, Aug. 14. Along with the arts and crafts will be food, children's games, and various other entertainment.
