Library site alternatives narrow down

By BOB NEEDHAM

With a few questions answered about sites under consideration, Northville city and township officials are ready to move ahead with consideration of where a bigger public library might go.

A list of possible sites has been whittled from six to four, and a special site committee will probably be reconvened to further look at the options, City of Northville Mayor Chris Johnson said Tuesday.

"We're plodding along. If we had lots more staff we'd be done, but we don't," Johnson said.

The four sites on the list for consideration are:

- Fish Hatchery Park. The park on Seven Mile was one of three sites identified by the site committee as questionable because of uncertainty over land acquisition.

The proposed library site is actually one acre of land the city owns which is undeveloped and sticks into the park proper just off Seven Mile Road. However, putting a library here would mean using a small part of the actual park land for joint parking for the park and the library.

Since the park site was deemed to the community from the federal government specifically for recreational use, permission was needed before the site could be considered further. The Department of the Interior gave its permission for parking development on the site in August. A letter cautions that a problem could arise if the land ever reverted to federal ownership, a situation the letter calls "unlikely but not impossible."

- Directly behind the Northville Community Center on West Main. The land is owned by the Northville

Hope fades away for Main Centre

The chances that the Singh Development Company will see its Main Centre plan built are just about zero, a company and a city official said earlier this week.

Singh had received conditional city approval to build a four-story retail/apartment building on the southwest corner of Main and Center streets. But one of the conditions was finding and financing adequate parking under city regulations.

Negotiations between company and city officials ended with a $160,000 gap between what Singh said it could afford for parking and what the city said it could finance. Although last week some hope was held out for a resolution, Singh Vice President Mike Kahm said Tuesday that the company has no real hope any longer.

"We're pretty well considering the project dead," Kahm said. "There's nothing that we know of on the horizon" that would change the situation, he said.

Northville City Mayor Chris Johnson agreed Monday that the plan looks like it is "not a 'go' at this point."

Kahm added, "At this point, I guess you chalk it up to one of those things you wish had gone a bit different, but didn't, unfortunately."

The Singh plan was the third attempt in the past few years to develop the west side of Center between Main and Cady. Two others also ended in financial problems

Schools mull new five-year plan

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

In an attempt to get an objective opinion for the future direction of the district, the Northville Board of Education Monday unanimously approved an agreement with the Cambridge Management Group for an extensive strategic planning program.

The agreement calls for the board to pay $21,500 to Cambridge Management, a firm which specializes in providing planning services to educational organizations.

Superintendent George Bell said Howard Feddema, of Cambridge Management, will act as facilitator for strategic planning process, a project which will last between six and eight months.

"In order to focus our energies I think we need something more than the superintendent's opinion," Bell said. "Most individual companies have gone through this process to see which way the entity will work with the most efficiency."

He noted the district entered into a five-year strategic plan in 1982 in order to deal with issues which needed attention, but were not being addressed.

Specifically, issues dealt with in the last planning exercise included the renovation of Northville High School and how to deal with the demographic problems of Northville Schools.

"We just finished implementing the goals of the last plan and now we need to focus beyond reacting to the crises of today," Bell added.

Feddema, who in addition to being a representative of Cambridge Management is the Director of Planning for Township High School District 214 in Illinois, said the five-year plan will allow the district to achieve all of its goals while not losing the interest of the people involved.

"Five years is a typical time for a plan because if you look too far out it is hard to convince people it will help, and if it's too short nothing can be really accomplished," he said.

Feddema said there are three reasons for doing a strategic plan: one, to try and get a common purpose and direction for the district; two, to help the district develop a priority list of changes; and three, to identify goals and how to achieve them.

"This type of activity is relatively new to school districts, but it has been around the public sector for a while," he said. "The theory is that an outside source may have more expertise and objectivity which so-

Dulcimer player keeps the faith

By BOB NEEDHAM

Mary Lou Battley says one reason she really likes playing the hammer dulcimer is that it's a great way to relax and work out tension.

It's also a great way to create beautiful music.

Battley, who lives and works in Northville, is one recruit in a recent revival of interest in the hammer dulcimer, a historic stringed instrument played by striking the strings with small hammers. And she might never have been recruited at all if not for a visit to a local music store.

"I had heard the instrument played and loved the sound. I didn't think much more about it," she said, until one day she entered the Giftfiddler and saw a hammer dulcimer for sale.

"I'd never been into that store, and thought, 'Oh, you can buy these things.' You don't find them at many music stores," she said.

That Christmas — about two and a half years ago — she got a hammer dulcimer as a present.

As a child, Battley said she took about two years of piano lessons and a year of accordion. And that was about the extent of her musical experience until taking up the hammer dulcimer.

"When I started, I could just barely read notes. I play primarily by ear," she said. "If I can learn it by ear, I can remember it much better."

Battley eventually began performing in public, both on her own and as part of the Garden City-based Silver Strings Dulcimer Society. She also plays a little on the lap dulcimer, a smaller, more-familiar instrument. Recently the members of the group elected her as their new president.

"Mary Lou is one of our success stories," Giftfiddler owner Tom Rice commented.

The hammer dulcimer has a long history, although no one is positive about when that history begins, Battley explained.

"We really don't know when it originated, but we believe it was developed in Persia, which would be Iran (today)," she said. The first real documented hammer dulcimer uses were around 900 to 1100 A.D., although similar instruments were around before that, she added.

The 1500s and 1600s saw the height of the dulcimer's popularity in Europe, and the harpsichord and piano developed from it. Colonists brought it to America, where it remained popular as a dance instrument in frontier states. The dulcimer has been passed from generation to generation in some less-developed areas of the country, Battley said.

And lately, it has experienced a revival.

"We're real excited about the instrument. It's become extremely popular in the last couple of years," Rice said. "It's very traditional music."

"The hammer dulcimer is a lot more alive in Michigan than a lot of

Plymouth sells its land in Northville

A sharply-divided Plymouth City Commission accepted an offer last week from two developers to buy the city's abandoned 48-acre water well field in Northville Township.

The city has been trying to unload the property for years.

"The property has been sold several times," City Finance Director William Graham said. "The problem is each time the property has been sold, the developer or purchaser hasn't been able to put a syndicate together... to make grandiose plans work."

Other offers were rejected by the commission on the basis of price or conditions.

Graher said he's unsure where the $475,000 will go if a closing takes place.

"More than likely it will go into the water fund," he said. "Part of it (the well field) was donated. Part was bought from the general fund. It (the land) was always used by the water department."

The well field, off Beck Road between Five and Six Mile roads, became available for sale in the early 1970s when Plymouth connected to Detroit's water system.

NEWS BRIEFS

CORRECTION — The caption on a photo in the Sept. 29 issue of the Record contained an error. A caption about benches donated by the Northville High School Class of 1967 misidentified Betty Anne Sadowski. She was treasurer for the parents of the senior class party.

The Class of 1967 donated 10 benches to the school, with help from the Class of 1968 on purchase of two of the benches.

TAFT ROAD CLOSING — The stretch of Taft Road between Eight Mile and the Northville city limits (just below Galway) will be closed for about 10 days beginning Monday.

Bob Warner of the engineering firm McNeely & Lincoln Associates said the road will still be open to local traffic and school buses, but will be closed to through traffic. Detour signs will be posted.

The closing is needed for a rebuilding project the city is conducting on the southern end of the street. Once finished, the street is expected to be smoother, quieter and better able to withstand heavy vehicles.

JAYCEES REIMBURSED — The Northville City Council last week voted to pay half the money the Northville Jaycees lost on this year's Fourth of July celebration.

A letter from the group explained that expenses from the parade is usually recovered from concessions and contributions at the fireworks parking. This year's fireworks were cancelled because of the drought.

The city had allocated about $2,500 toward the fireworks display which was never spent. After private contributions, the Jaycees ended up with a $1,128 deficit on the project.

The council voted 5-0 to pay half the loss, or $564. The group is asking the Northville Township Board to pay the other half.

ODYSSEY TEAMS BEING FORMED — An organizational meeting will be held Monday Oct. 17 to form teams for the Odyssey of the Mind (OM) competition.

Gayle Fountain, facilitator of the gifted and talented program for Northville Schools, said all K-12 students are eligible to join the program.

She said teams of seven members will be formed to work on creative problem solving.

For more information call Fountain at 344-8448.

TRAINING FOR VOLUNTEERS — Training for volunteer counselors to participate in the Northville Youth Assistance Program has been scheduled to begin at 6:30 p.m. November 2 at Moraine Center.

Training sessions will continue for five weeks. Anyone interested in becoming a volunteer counselor should contact Mary Ellen King, YAP director, at 344-1618.

FOUND — One of our intrepid reporters stumbled over a ladies watch in the city parking lot, behind the Starting Gate. Call 349-1700, make a positive identification, and it's yours.

SCHOOLCRAFT BENEFIT — The Schoolcraft College Foundation is hosting "A Night at the Races" at Northville Downs Monday, Nov. 21.

A buffet dinner begins at 7 p.m. and post time is 7:30 p.m. Proceeds will be used to support student scholarships and college projects.

The $25 contribution includes an excellent buffet dinner, admission to the track and the clubhouse, the racing program, reserved seating, tax and gratuity.

Tickets are available at the college's Institutional Advancement Office. For further information or to purchase tickets, call 591-6400, ext. 218.

Residents sue over water district

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

Before a drop of water flows into 19 homes in the Phillips/Pierston/Smock area, either the Michigan Tax Tribunal or the Wayne County Circuit Court may have something to say about it.

That's because a group of homeowners in the project area have filed a lawsuit against the township in hopes of getting a permanent injunction slapped on the project.

"We want a permanent injunction to stop the water system until 51 percent of the residents want it," said homeowner Norman Warner.

Warner said the eight homeowners who have filed the lawsuit against the township believe that one neighbor circulated a petition not to establish a special assessment district, but to see how much it would cost to get water in the area.

He added the plaintiffs have not hired a lawyer to handle the case because most of the homeowners involved could not afford one.

"I feel the Northville Township government is not reflecting what the people in our neighborhood want from a special assessment district," he said.

The approval of the district last July came after months of haggling between homeowners, with concerns specifically being voiced about the proposed water pressure and cost of the project.

A petition for the creation of a water district was received by the township on Sept. 15, 1987, signed by 10 people. A second petition, asking that the district be dissolved, was received March 31. The second petition contained seven signatures, including those of four people who signed the original petition asking that the district be created.

Warner said the four people who signed the second petition claim they were misled on the first petition. He said the four people said they did not see the entire first petition and consequently were not aware the petition was for the actual creation of a district.

Township Attorney Ernest Essad said he thinks the case will be thrown out of circuit court "because I don't believe that circuit court has jurisdiction in this matter. This is the wrong case to be in circuit court."

Warner said the plaintiffs decided to file in circuit court to cover themselves in case the matter was thrown out of the Michigan Tax Tribunal.

Essad added he is hopeful the issue will be dismissed from the tax tribunal "because nothing in Michigan State Law provides for the rescission of petition signatures."

He said the issue should not be the lawsuit but the number of people who need water because many of wells in the area are going dry.

Township engineering consultant Abe Munfah has said the township hopes to bring other communities into the project in hopes of having a larger special assessment district and lower costs for each resident.

As for the cost of the water district, the assessment for each of the 19 homeowners in the district will be about $7,000 over 15 years. Munfah said four to six homeowners in the water district will also be participating in a sewer district for an additional expense. The construction on the sewer and water lines will be done simultaneously.

Construction bids for both the water and sewer projects are to be awarded by the township board at tonight's meeting. Essad said the board will have to decide if they want to vote on the bids with a lawsuit pending.

Man sentenced in Wixom murder case

By PHIL GINOTTI

Wixom woodman Henry Lee "Hank" Johnson was sentenced Monday to 27 to 50 years in prison for the February killing of an off-duty Wayne County Sheriff's Deputy.

Johnson received a mandatory two-year sentence for using a firearm to commit a felony, plus a 25 to 50 year sentence for second-degree murder. The sentence means Johnson, 60, will be eligible for parole in 18 to 20 years, according to Oakland County Assistant Prosecutor Frederick Miller.

Johnson has entered a request for an appeal, court officials said Tuesday.

The Wixom man was convicted last month of killing deputy Russell Francis Dickson, 36, of Livonia, after an apparent dispute over a firewood sale.

Johnson allegedly shot and killed Dickson Feb. 7, then attempted to hide his body in a rural Wixom field, near Twelve Mile and Napier Road. An autopsy revealed that Dickson died of multiple gunshot wounds to the head.

Johnson was well-known in the area for operating a firewood sales business out of his home in southern Wixom.

"There apparently had been some dispute," Miller said. "Dickson apparently told his wife, 'No one is going to talk to me like that' after talking to Johnson on the phone."

"It's a tragedy in a sense that Dickson was entering the reclusive world of Henry Johnson," Miller said. "He probably had no idea what he was getting into."

Johnson had a lengthy history of run-ins with the police and at least one other felony conviction. He had just finished serving all but eight days of a gun-related sentence in late 1987. Court records indicate Johnson was sentenced to six months in jail for pointing a gun at a firewood customer in 1985.

Johnson made a last-minute plea to Oakland County Circuit Court Judge Frederick Ziem to reconsider the sentence after it was delivered Monday afternoon, saying he stuck by his "self-defense" plea.

After a 30-minute speech, Ziem asked that any additional comments be presented to the court in writing. Wixom Police said they were relieved at the lengthy sentence.

"He's caused problems for people — not just in Novi and Wixom," Wixom Police Sergeant Richard Howe said. "I'm comfortable with the sentence. I think it will better serve the citizens of this area to have him behind bars."

Miller said he also had "no problems" with the sentence.

"The victim's family is certainly happy that Mr. Johnson is not going to be able to harm anyone else's life," he said.

Dickson was a 13-year veteran of the force. In 1981, he received a medal of honor after being shot in the line of duty.

Johnson's attorney, Lawrence Kaluzny, could not be reached for comment.

other states," Battley said. "One of the things that's really helped me in playing is going to the dulcimer festivals around Michigan and Ohio."

Battley and the Silver Strings group are fighting the good fight to keep dulcimer music alive. Battley played at Northville's Autumnfest, and with the group at the Plymouth Fall Festival. Silver Strings is scheduled at Crossroads Village in Flint this weekend. Battley also has a Northville performance scheduled Nov. 4, before an American Association of University Women benefit performance of "Shenandoah" at the Marquis Theater.

"I like to play for small, informal gatherings rather than on stage. I just feel more comfortable," Battley said. And after all, the more informal settings are an important part of the way the instrument has survived the centuries. "Our hope is to keep this music alive, to not let it die out," she concluded.

The Silver Strings Dulcimer Society meets the first and third Thursday of every month from 7 to 9 p.m. at Good Hope Lutheran Church, Cherry Hill Road west of Inkster. Guests are welcome.

Man charged with retail fraud, drug possession in city

A Westland man has been arrested and charged with retail fraud and two counts of drug possession, following the report of a theft from Shopping Center Market last week.

The man is one of five people suspected of involvement in the theft of 30 cartons of cigarettes from the grocery store Tuesday, Oct. 4.

According to city police reports, at about 5:30 p.m. a store employee saw a white female — between five feet three inches and five feet six inches, with long black hair — carry a box of all cigarette cartons out of the store. The witness notified the store manager, who watched the woman get in a car with a man and drive off.

As the manager noted the license plate number of the car, two other men followed him and repeated mixed-up plate numbers, the report said. Those two men and another man who had been talking to the manager then got in a van and drove off.

Police followed the car to the city parking lot on the west side of Center Street and Cady, where it stopped and the suspect got out. A box full of cigarette cartons was in the car, and the manager identified them as having come from Shopping Center Market.

Police found two plastic bags containing suspected drugs on the man.

The Michigan State Police laboratory later tentatively identified one bag as cocaine and the other as marijuana.

The next day the man was arraigned in the 35th District Court on charges of first degree retail fraud, possession of cocaine and possession of marijuana. A $5,000 cash bond was set and the man was taken to the Wayne County Jail until a preliminary examination set for Oct. 17.

TOOLS STOLEN — Over $3,000 worth of equipment was reported stolen from the Detroit Staple Company on Baseline last week, according to a city police report.

About a dozen staple guns and similar equipment was reported taken, along with an air compressor, the report said. Total value was set at $3,074.

A padlock on the building appeared to have been cut, the report said. The theft occurred between 4:30 p.m. Thursday and 8 a.m. Friday.

TAPES STOLEN — Forty cassette tapes were stolen out of a parked car over the weekend, according to a city police report.

The car was parked unlocked on N. Rogers when the theft occurred some time Sunday night, the report said. The tapes contained assorted music.

CAMERA TAKEN — A car parked in the parking lot of the Pizza Cutter restaurant had a camera stolen from it Tuesday, Oct. 4, a city police report said.

The driver told police the car was left unattended for only about five minutes, and that the doors were probably locked.

A Minolta 7000 camera and Minolta 28-85 Maxxum lens were missing. Total value was set at $760.

WINDOW BROKEN — The outer pane of a window on Fairbrook was reported broken Saturday night.

The damage was done by a small metal ball, possibly from a slingshot-like device, according to a police report. Damage was estimated at $200.

TWIN AUTO THEFTS — Two cars were stolen from residences on Iron Gate Road last Friday, but one of the vehicles was recovered, according to a township police report.

The first complainant said that his brown 1978 Pontiac Phoenix was parked in front of his home when it was taken.

Besides the vehicle — which was worth $8,000 — $100 in golf shoes and $210 in cassette tapes were stolen.

In the other incident, the complainant stated that his 1984 Silverrod containing a drill and radar detector were stolen.

The car was later that same day in Detroit, partially stripped and missing wheels, tires, and the radio.

DRUNK DRIVING ROUNDUP — City and township police made five arrests for operating a motor vehicle under the influence of liquor recently. They included:

- City police arrested a Windsor, Ontario, man after seeing him drive slow and weaving on Center Street and Eight Mile Road. He had trouble performing field sobriety tests and a preliminary breath test showed a blood alcohol content of .17 percent, according to a police report. A blood alcohol level above .10 percent is illegal.

- The man was taken to the police station, and Breathalyzer tests showed results of .15 and .14 percent. After sobering up and paying $100 cash bond the man was released. He faces a Nov. 4 court date.

- A Northville resident was ticketed for operating a motor vehicle under the influence of liquor last Tuesday, according to a township police report.

Police said they observed a vehicle travelling eastbound on Six Mile Road at a high rate of speed. Police also said they saw the vehicle leave the roadway on the north side of Six Mile and then go into the wrong lane twice.

Police reported when they tried to stop the vehicle the driver turned on to southbound White Haven and struck the island that separates north and southbound traffic. The subject was stopped on White Haven and Dunswood.

After failing all field sobriety tests, a preliminary breath test showed a blood alcohol level of .23 percent at the scene and .22 percent at the station.

The driver was given a citation for OUIL, held in jail and released on $100 bond.

- A Redford resident was ticketed for operating a motor vehicle under the influence of liquor Friday, according to a township police report.

Police said they observed a vehicle travelling westbound on Eight Mile Road in the eastbound lane. Police said the vehicle attempted to pass a car in a no passing zone and had to brake to avoid a collision. The driver was stopped at the Woodland Glen Apartments parking lot.

After failing all field sobriety tests, a preliminary breath test showed a blood alcohol level .116 percent at the scene and .11 percent at the station. The driver was given a citation for OUIL, held in jail and released on $100 bond.

- A Walled Lake resident was ticketed for operating a motor vehicle under the influence of liquor Saturday, according to a township police report.

Police said they were originally dispatched to the Meijer's parking lot to check on a suspicious vehicle. Police said they observed two men sleeping in the car and after waking them up, advised them not to drive.

Police said even though they warned the driver not to drive, they observed the vehicle soon going westbound on Eight Mile Road. A stop was made there.

After failing all field sobriety tests, a preliminary breath test showed a blood alcohol level of .24 percent. The driver was given a citation for OUIL, held in jail and released on $100 bond.

- A Royal Oak resident was ticketed for operating a motor vehicle under the influence of liquor last Sunday, according to a township police report.

Site list narrowed to four for possible new public library location

School District and the City of Northville

Advantages of the site identified by the committee included its proximity to the present site and room for possible parking development.

Cady Street at Griswold. Land in this area is owned in part by the city, part by Northville Downs and part by the private Driving Club.

Behind the "Scout Building" which houses the city engineering firm McNeely & Lincoln Associates. The city owns the site, although the committee found more land would probably be needed for adequate parking.

The first two of these — the Fish Hatchery site and the school site — have the added advantage of not impacting or being impacted by a study of the Cady Street Corridor area being undertaken by the city, Johnson said.

These four remaining sites are left from a list of six sites the committee settled on.

A site at Hines Park the Northville Ford Plant have more or less become unrealistic options, Johnson said. The future of the Ford plant — which the company said it will close at the end of the year — is the subject of a special, six-month study. And in the meantime, Ford still owns it, Johnson said. Officials inquired about a site at the north end of Hines Park, but "Wayne County had no intention of parting with it," Johnson said.

Those six sites were selected by the site committee from a list of 12 possibilities.

Johnson and Township Supervisor Georgina Goss met Monday afternoon to speed on the remaining possibilities. They concluded the committee should be reconvened some time soon for additional consideration of the four remaining sites, Johnson said.

Autos collide at local intersection

An 18-year-old Livonia man was seriously injured in a traffic accident Thursday when his car entered an intersection on a green light and was broadsided by a car in a funeral procession.

Michael Carlock is in fair condition in St. Mary Hospital.

Carlock was northbound on Haggerty Road at 10 a.m. Thursday when the accident occurred at the Seven Mile-Haggerty intersection, at the border of Livonia and Northville Township.

Livonia police Sgt. Kenneth Marlow said Carlock was going through the intersection on a green light when struck by a car westbound on Seven Mile that was traveling in a funeral procession.

Marlow said a gap had occurred in the funeral procession. The procession was going through the intersection on a red light.

After being hit by a westbound car, Marlow said, Carlock's car spun around into the southbound lane of Haggerty Road. The car was then hit again by a southbound truck.

Police said the driver of the car which struck Carlock was not hospitalized.

Northville Township Fire Chief Robert Toms said it took his department about 20 minutes to remove Carlock from his vehicle. He said the fire department finally had to cut off the roof of Carlock's car to get him out.

The city sometimes borrows from its water fund to meet financial obligations when cash flow problems arise.

Masciulli said he and Spagnoli hope to build houses on the property.

"We're going to do some tests," Masciulli said. "It's going to go residential, single family, if it's feasible. Hopefully by springtime, we'll have something laid out."

Houses would carry sales prices in excess of $200,000, he projected.

As much as a third of the 48 acres may be unbuildable due to wetlands, he said.

The partners expect some opposition from nearby homeowners and limitations to be placed on development by the State Department of Natural Resources.

"If we do a nice project, they won't object," Masciulli said.

Graham also is confident that Northville will approve a Masciulli-Spagnoli joint venture and that the sale will stick.

"People involved with the property now have the wherewithal to develop it," Graham said.

"These people have done a number of different developments. I firmly don't believe they'd build something out there that's contrary to the neighborhood. That's just not their way."

"These are not high-density, hodge-podge people."

Voting to accept the offer were Mayor Karl Gansler II and commissioners Jack Kenyon, Mary Childs and Dennis Bila.

Police warn of house cleaning rip-offs in area

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

Local police officials are trying to cope with the newest craze for fraud-minded criminals: maid service rip-offs.

Northville Township Police Captain Phil Presnell said that within the last few months there have been four incidents in which families have employed maid service companies, only to have checks and jewelry stolen from their homes.

"Checks have been taken and written out to maid service companies and then have been fraudulently endorsed," he said, adding that stolen jewelry has also turned up in nearby pawn shops.

Presnell said he believes several different companies are involved in the problem.

"I'm sure there are many responsible maid service companies, but it is best to check with the Better Business Bureau (BBB) before employing one," he said, adding other checkpoints include a company's reference and bonding status.

Presnell said if a maid service company is working inside a home it must have insurance to cover any losses, in addition to liability insurance.

Detroit Consumer Affairs Director Esther Shapiro said individuals who use maid service companies should also check to find out how carefully employees are screened before being hired.

She added companies which have been around a while are supposed to be bonded to cover losses.

But while there are probably many respectable maid service companies, a check of companies listed in the yellow pages shows that over half of them have disconnected phone numbers.

— Captain Phil Presnell

The manager of the AAA Tidy Maid Service in Livonia, who would not give her name, said her company services many homes in the Northville area and has not had any problems.

"We are fully bonded and licensed and we have never had any problems," she said, adding she would not answer any other questions.

Jana Skaglin, Advertising Review Manager for the BBB, said to her knowledge there is not a problem with the maid service industry.

"This is the first that I've heard about any problems, but if anybody has questions about a particular company they can give us a call," Skaglin said.

City of Northville Police Chief Rod Cannon said his department has not been informed of any thefts related to the maid service industry.

Presnell said people hiring maid service companies should make sure to put all of their valuables in a safe place or safety deposit box.

He noted the township police department has suspects involved in the cases, but no warrants have been issued as of yet.

Record/CHRIS BOYD

Local artist wins some local recognition

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

Local artist David Barr, whose works have become famous around the globe, has finally received some recognition from his native state.

The Concerned Citizens for the Arts of Michigan (CCAM) will honor Barr with their 1988 Governor's Artist Award, in a ceremony scheduled for Nov. 21 at the Hyatt Regency in Dearborn.

CCAM Executive Director Marilyn Wheaton said the award is given annually to a state artist, based on a nominating and review process by a committee of Michigan art experts.

Wheaton said she believes Barr, who is the first visual artist to win the award, has demonstrated the high quality of art achievement that the award represents.

"Dave Barr has gained respect locally, nationally, and internationally and I believe he has earned the recognition which the governor's award represents," she added.

A self-proclaimed structuralist, Barr said he is excited to receive the honor and added he feels that he is just hitting his stride as an artist.

"It feels good to be recognized at home because for a long time I was better known around the world than here, so it is gratifying to receive the award," Barr said.

He added that since the award is given to an artist based on their lifetime achievement, it is not meant for a young artist who has not established a career in Michigan, making it a special honor.

"Art is a struggle all the time and if someone does it for any other reason than passion, it is a mistake, because there usually is not much justice in it," Barr noted.

Included in his many art achievements is the "The Four Corners Project" which, Barr said, is the world's largest sculpture using a minimum of its resources.

Its physical components are the four marble corners of a tetrahedron which have been buried so that the imaginary lines which join them form a large tetrahedron spanning the inside of the earth.

One corner is buried on Easter Island, one on a Greenland ice cap, one in South Africa and the fourth in New Guinea.

Barr, who is probably best known in the art world for his reliefs, said he believes in making art which can be shared by the community.

"I believe that as humans we are not self-made but we are all interconnected," he added. "We have lived off of the art of other cultures, so I enjoy going to other cultures and giving art rather than taking it."

A professor at Macomb Community College for 23 years, Barr said he teaches to meet the financial obligations to his family and added he feels fortunate to be able to have the money necessary to work on his art.

"I hope that if my career stands for anything it's that I believe in the characteristics of the arts," Barr said. "Artists are the most sane and least greedy people, who develop art that connects people while many other things divide them."

His current projects include a tribute to Detroit Pistons guard Isiah Thomas. Entitled "Isiah," the approximately three-foot long artwork gives Barr's impression of Thomas leading a fast break. At one end of the sculpture is Thomas' handprint.

"Maybe someday Isiah will come and visit the house," Barr said.

Store required to remove tanks

The required removal of fuel storage tanks from the Giffiddler property downtown is making a planned renovation / expansion a little more complicated than first thought, but all is under control for now.

The Giffiddler music store is part of an expansion to the back and a landscaping to the front of its Main Street site. And the fact that the building housed a gas station until the mid-1970s is making the work a little more challenging.

When the building changed uses, the underground tanks used to store fuel were simply left empty underground, as was the custom at the time. A recent revision to the standard fire codes, however, require that such tanks be removed because of possible hazard.

"I knew they were there, but it just really wasn't an issue until this year," Giffiddler owner Tom Rice said. The tanks were uncovered when workers broke through the concrete parking lot, and now must be removed before the improvements are finished.

Rice said the first quote he got for the removal was extremely high, but he is trying to bring the cost to a manageable level.

"I'm trying to work with local people, (and) we're getting the price down to a reasonable number," he said. "At first it seemed like an insurmountable problem."

Rice expects the tanks to be removed within a few weeks, and said he does not think the extra work and cost will slow up the renovation and expansion work. However, there is still potential for another problem: If the tanks have contaminated the surrounding ground.

"If it's contaminated, it's back to insurmountable," Rice said. The soil will be tested when the tanks are removed, and if a problem is found, the cost will skyrocket again. "There's the potential for a massive excavation" if contamination is found, Rice said.

Roxanne Couey of Northville is serving as Ford Motor Company's United Foundation Ambassador during this year's Torch Drive campaign.

Local woman is U.F. ambassador

By BOB NEEDHAM

Roxanne Couey has known about and supported the work of the United Foundation for most of her life, so it was a very special honor when the Ford Motor Company selected her as the company's UF Ambassador for the 1988 campaign.

Ford, which has been deeply involved in the United Foundation for years, chooses one of its employees to serve as an ambassador each year, to encourage donations and participate in UF ceremonies. This year, Couey, a Northville resident, will fill that role.

She has been active in raising money for the United Fund for several years, and has known about the effort since she was a child.

"I grew up with a friend (who) was unable to see anything but shadows. United Foundation helped her," Couey said. "All my life I've been interested in them."

United Foundation — also known as the Torch Drive campaign — is an umbrella organization which raises money for many different charitable causes. Last year's Torch Drive raised close to $60 million.

The United Foundation serves 154 agencies in the tri-county area, covering a wide range of groups. Torch Drive agencies include organizations providing food and shelter, medical assistance, and programs for children and seniors.

This year's campaign winds up tomorrow, Couey said. The fundraising traditionally exceeds the goals.

The selection of the Ford Ambassador involves nomination from a division of the company. A secretary for Ford International Export Sales, Couey was eventually chosen from 10 other nominees by a panel.

The idea of the Ambassador program is to spread the word of United Foundation throughout the company, and to represent the company's involvement in UF, Couey said.

She toured UF agencies this week in preparation for the official campaign. During her tenure as Ambassador, she has attended UF meetings, participated in the torch lighting in Detroit Oct. 17 — and she expected to give between 50 and 70 speeches in support of the cause.

Public speaking "used to scare me," she said, but after a Dale Carnegie course, she's looking forward to the challenge and the new experiences.

"I've always found United Foundation a very good cause," she said. "I thought it was an honor even to be nominated and an even better honor to be selected."

For more information on the United Foundation, call 226-9888 in Detroit or toll-free, 1-800-552-1183. The number to call for hearing impaired people is 226-9452.

Schools consider more planning

meone inside the district might lack."

Bell acknowledged that the $21,500 price tag for the planning services is a lot of money, but he thinks the program is a good investment for the future.

As for the mechanics of the program, Feddema said the process is broken down into three levels: a first planning team, a second planning team, and a final implementation.

He said the first planning team will be the first planning team, providing information about the district and assembling the information that must be completed.

The first planning team participates in a three-day retreat at which issues ranging from students to facilities to personnel are reviewed and discussed.

"I recommend the first planning team be chosen by the superintendent and several of his advisors," Feddema said. "The group should be a microcosm of the district, with parents, administrators and teachers all being represented. I recommend getting every important viewpoint on the district represented."

While board members appeared to agree about the positive aspects which will be generated from the planning process, they were unsure when the program should begin.

Trustee Jay Dunkerley said although he thinks the program is one which will benefit the district, the timing is a major concern.

"I'm concerned about putting together a committee during the holiday season," Dunkerley said in response to Bell's suggestion that the three-day retreat be scheduled for the Dec. 1 weekend.

Trustee Carl Rahimi said she does not want to get everyone on the planning team all riled up in December and come back in January with everyone forgetting what was talked about.

"I don't want to hurry the process, rather I want to concentrate on it and do it well," Rahimi said.

After much discussion by the board about having the first planning team retreat in December or January it was decided to have Bell research the most convenient time for both Feddema and the board.

"In order to focus our energies I think we need something more than the superintendent's opinion."

— George Bell
Superintendent

Meanwhile, sentiment from board members about the usefulness of the strategic planning process was extremely positive and enthusiastic.

"I believe we should look ahead and get as many views as we can about our district," said Board Vice President James Petrie. "I applaud George Bell and Jean Hansen for getting behind this project and moving it along."

Board Secretary Glenna Davis said she thinks it is very important for the board to have their goals identified and documented before deciding on how to appropriate money.

Following the implementation stage of the planning program, Assistant Superintendent Dolly McMaster will take over for Feddema as coordinator of the project.

Bell said McMaster will go through a training session at the Cambridge facility at the end of October to learn how to guide the district through the project.

Dolly McMaster will be trained in this field and will be the local coordinator of the project," he added.

Aspects of the school district which will be discussed in the program will include the demographic problems, with special emphasis on the overcrowding of Amerman Elementary.

This five-year plan will be tailored to continuing the quality education the community expects from Northville schools," Bell added.

Constables still fill role in township legal structure

Record/CHRIS BOYD

Edward Mroz, above, decided to become involved in township government by running for a post as constable

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

In addition to having a modern, fully-equipped police department, the Northville Township residents benefit from the services of two constables.

In Webster's dictionary, a constable is defined as a "policeman."

Township Police Chief Ken Hardesty said in communities without full-time police service, constables fill in the gaps in terms of patrolling.

But in communities with full police service, constables have assumed duties which are assigned to them by their township board.

According to Michigan Election Law, each township must have at least one constable elected every four years. The constables' duties are then specified by the township board.

In Northville Township, Edward Mroz and James Schrot are running unopposed in November for the constable positions.

Although Mroz and Schrot realize the limitations of their positions, both said they are dedicated to doing whatever is necessary to help the township.

Schrot, who has been a township constable for the past 18 years, said he enjoys helping the community by keeping peace and order in the township.

An electrician by day for the past 40 years, Schrot said he patrols Northville Township three nights a week,

"I feel very good when things are done by the book and using total police tactics is something that makes me feel good."

— Edward Mroz Township constable-to-be looking for abandoned cars, junk and broken down homes where kids can get hurt.

For all of his efforts as constable, Schrot said he receives about $1,200 per year. He added he does not mind the minimal pay, however, "because I enjoy getting out and being active in the township."

Edward Mroz said he is running for the first time as constable because "I have an interest in township politics."

A manager of a tool industry by day, Mroz said being a reserve police officer for the past 23 years has shown him different facets of suburban life.

He added that he enjoys taking in both the good and bad points which a city or township has to offer.

"I feel very good when things are done by the book and using total police tactics is something that makes me feel good," Mroz said.

Among the jobs of a constable, Mroz said many times he will be asked by the DNR to help their officers with preventing poaching in the township and herding geese.

But no matter the task, Mroz said he loves to be involved in the community and "I feel I can help the township in whatever they ask me to do."

Township Supervisor Georgina Goss said the board has its constable to complete dog surveys, herd geese and handle the problem of abandoned cars.

"If we get into an unusual position where we think the situation can best be handled by a constable, we'll call them," Goss said.

Hardesty noted the constable must be trained as police officers, a task that requires 365 hours of police training.

"The police department does not have the constables handle any of its jobs, but Jim (Schrot) has done an excellent job of responding to the needs of the board," he added.

Township grant helps resident make needed repairs

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

Sometimes real-life stories have a happy ending.

Longtime Northville Township resident Ormond Tenant faced having to go into the winter season with holes in his roof, which he could not afford to repair.

The money from his social security check could not support any repair to his plumbing, which also was in very poor condition.

But, thanks to a community development block grant sponsored by the federal government, Tenant has been able to secure the money needed to make the repairs.

Now he can spend the winter in his home in comfort.

"I needed new plumbing, a new drain, a new water heater, and my roof was leaking," Tenant said, adding banks would not give him a loan which he could afford.

"I'm very pleased about the block grant money because it helped a lot," Tenant said. "I could not have had the work done otherwise and probably would not have been able to get through the winter without it."

Township Administrative Assistant Maureen Osiecki said the federal government gives money to townships and cities throughout the country with control over allocation of the funds going to the local governments.

Osiecki said Northville Township received about $70,000 for 1988 and added the township allocated about $10,000 for home repair projects.

"The purpose of these funds is to help people of low to moderate income bring their homes up to township codes," Osiecki said.

She added the requirements for

"I'm very pleased about the block grant money because it helped a lot."

— Ormond Tenant
Northville resident securing block grant money include: being an owner-occupant of a home with a minimum of one year occupancy, all taxes and assessments are paid, proof of home ownership, and an acknowledgment of a deferred, interest-free loan lien.

Osiecki noted the community development block grant money is an interest-free loan and not a gift.

She said it is extremely uplifting to help people fix their homes, especially a senior citizen living on a fixed income who is just able to pay taxes and "keep their body and soul together."

"It's very gratifying to see this money in action because Mr. Tenant can keep his home and live in a safe, secure community with dignity," Osiecki added.

Township Supervisor Georgina Goss said she is glad to see someone in Northville Township take advantage of the block grant program.

"Northville Township does not receive much in the way of block grant funds," Goss said. "We don't have many people that qualify for the funds under the federal guidelines, but when we do utilize the money I'm glad to see it help someone."

Romney talks on role of women in political arena

Romney received applause when she said today's students should be required to wear uniforms. "Students in Taiwan wear uniforms. That way they can think about what they're studying instead of how they look."

She also urged educators to "get back to the basics — reading, writing, penmanship and math."

"We're graduating kids who don't know how to read and that's a crime," she said. "Let's forget about basket-weaving and music. I don't care if my kid learns how to draw pictures, but he ought to be able to read"

Romney concluded her speech by returning to her original topic — the increasingly important role of women in politics.

"There are about 250 million people in the United States and 180 million of them are eligible to vote," she said. "But only 122 (million) of them are registered to vote and only 90 million will actually vote."

"The thing that all of you should note," she said, "is that of those 90 million voters — 50 million will be women and 40 million will be men."

"And the deficit is growing larger, so you men had better get your act together."

Former resident wins post as judge

Former Northville resident Nancy Nirider Einstein has been appointed District Court Judge by North Carolina Governor James Martin.

Einstein, now of Lenoir, N.C., recently was appointed to fill a vacancy in North Carolina's 25th District Court, which serves a population of about 250,000.

Prior to being appointed, Einstein filed for election to another district court judgeship in North Carolina.

She is continuing to seek that election, and plans to resign the appointed seat if she wins.

Einstein grew up in Northville with her family, including her father, Essie; late mother, Marie; sister, Gail; and brother, Stan. She graduated from Northville High School in 1973 and from Michigan State University in 1977.

A 1983 graduate of the University of Baltimore Law School, she most recently was a member of the law firm of Delk, Swanson and Einstein.

She earlier served as a legislative assistant to U.S. Rep. Carl Pursell, working in his Washington office from 1977 to 1981.

"I am extremely pleased to see Nancy advancing in her legal career, and I'm certain she will make a great judge. Those of us who know Nancy, and watched her grow up here in our area, know what a terrific person she is and we wish her the very best," Pursell said in a prepared statement.

Einstein is married to Norman Einstein, who is chairman of the Department of Emergency Medicine at Catawba Memorial Hospital. They have one daughter, Lindsay, age five.

Township Deputy Clerk Eunice Switzler poses at her desk

Deputy clerk holds township together

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

Considering the amount of paperwork that she deals with every day, you might expect Eunice Switzler's office to be one gigantic mess.

However, the office of Northville Township's Deputy Clerk is anything but disorganized. In fact, Switzler said meticulous organization and hard work are her two important virtues.

It is not surprising then, that Switzler has worked her way from part-time assistant to deputy clerk to almost a certified clerk (she'll

In addition to filing all township agreements, contracts, correspondence and minutes, Switzler said the deputy is responsible for running all elections.

"I have to make sure that records are kept in good order and filed for rapid recovery," she added. "I think there is a lot of responsibility in this job, so I don't take it lightly."

NORTHVILLE CITY COUNCIL MINUTES SYNOPSIS SEPTEMBER 19, 1988

The regular meeting of the Northville City Council was called to order in the Council Room by Mayor Johnson at 8:00 p.m.

1 PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE:
2 ROLL CALL
Present: Ayers, Buckland, Folino, Johnson, Mittman
Absent: None
Also Present: Anderson, Konrad, Calandro, McCulloch, McNeely, Otton, Walters, and Bob Needham

3 APPROVAL OF COUNCIL MEETING MINUTES
The minutes of the regular meeting of September 6, 1988, were approved as presented.
The minutes of the special meeting of September 12, 1988, were approved as corrected.

4 CITIZEN COMMENTS
Robert Borthwick, 21041 Stanstead, asked when the Council will be discussing the berm on Beck Road.
Manager Walters stated the engineering office is finalizing full cost. Mayor Johnson asked that Mr. Borthwick be notified when the Beck Road berm will be on the agenda.
Mr. Merrill Huntington, Warren Products, requested Baseline Road resurfacing be considered for the Oakland County road surplus funds. Mayor Johnson moved 14 Oakland County Road Surplus Funds to be discussed with Baseline Road improvements.
Peter Booth, 21818 Welch, requested a solicitors permit for the Committee to End Tax Funded Abortions for September 23 at the High School football game. Mayor Johnson advised that their request should be directed to Dr. Knight at the Northville School Board office because the football game is on private property and not the public right of way.

5 ADOPTION OF THE AGENDA & APPROVAL OF THE CONSENT AGENDA
Moved, supported, carried, to adopt the agenda as amended, and consent agenda A through J.

6 CHILD DAY-CARE PROVISIONS IN ZONING ORDINANCE
Manager Walters reviewed the lack of distinction in the Zoning Ordinance for child care centers in R-1 single family districts. Section 3.03(d).
Mayor Johnson felt the community needs this service and suggested that the Zoning Ordinance be amended to conform to State Law.
City Council agreed to hold off on violations until the Zoning Ordinance is amended.

8a BASELINE ROAD IMPROVEMENTS AND 14 OAKLAND COUNTY ROAD SURPLUS FUNDS
Mayor Johnson stated Baseline Road will be improved.
John Calandro, Oakland County Road Commissioner, advised Council that the road surplus funds must be spent before December 1988.
Manager Walters pointed out that the City intends to use the funds in the Wayne County portion of the City for a traffic light at Main and Griswold Street.
John Calandro noted the money was earmarked for the broadest common good of the community.

7 STUDY PROPOSALS
Moved, supported, carried, to retain Ayres, Lewis, Norris & May, Inc. for the Master Plan Revision Study and the Cady Corridor Development Plan.
Moved, supported, carried, to retain Quinn-Evans/Architects for the Ford Plant Redevelopment Study.

8 1988 COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT BLOCK GRANT.

Manager Walters recommended calling a public hearing to consider reallocating funds from the Library Addition (86-19-GL-33D) of $1,583, the Cady Corridor Study (87-19-GL-15A) of $4,148, and the Street Improvements (88-19-GL-03) of $2,598 to the Master Plan Revision (87-19-GL-16B) for an additional amount of $8,317.
Moved, supported, carried, to call a public hearing for October 3, 1988, to reallocate CDBG funds for development studies as proposed by the City Manager.

9 PROPERTY MAINTENANCE ORDINANCE - CALL HEARING:
Moved, supported, carried, to call a public hearing for October 3, 1988, to adopt a Property Maintenance Ordinance, as amended.
Change in motion - see item 13.

10 BUILDING CODE UP-DATES - CALL HEARING.
Moved, supported, carried, to call a public hearing for October 3, 1988, to amend the City codes as follows: The BOCA Basic/National Building Code/1987, The CABO One & Two Family Dwelling Code/1988, The BOCA Basic/National Existing Structures Code/1987, The BOCA Basic/National Plumbing Code/1987, The BOCA Basic/National Mechanical Code/1987, The NFPA National Electrical Code/1987, along with the 21 technical amendments recommended by the Reciprocal Electrical Code, Inc. 1987 edition, and the BOCA Basic/National Fire Prevention Code/1987.

11 NORTH HURON VALLEY/ROUGE VALLEY SEWAGE DISPOSAL SYSTEM - FINANCING PLAN
Jack McNeely attended a meeting early in September at Dearborn Heights and reviewed the progress of the project.
Wayne County will handle all bids, awards, contracts, etc. Financing must be decided by October 14, communities can utilize financing through Wayne County bonding or individually. The County has an "A" rating.
Mayor Johnson directed the administration to report on bond financing on October 3, 1988.

12 SENIOR CITIZEN ADVISORY BY-LAWS
John Anderson, Recreation Director, presented the previous by-laws, an annotated copy, and the final by-laws approved by the Northville Area Senior Citizen Advisory Council on July 15, 1988.
Moved, supported, carried, to approve the Northville Area Senior Citizen Advisory Council By-Laws, dated 7/15/88, as presented.

13 PARKING CREDITS FOR MAIN-CENTRE PROJECT:
Manager Walters reviewed his memo of 9/18/88.
Moved, supported, carried, to amend the date for the public hearing on the Property Maintenance Ordinance to October 17.
Moved, supported, carried, to adopt the City Manager's recommendation to direct the Mayor and City Manager to negotiate the parking space assessment price, and meet with representatives of the School Board to discuss tax capturing for the Main-Centre project.

15 SEWER ORDINANCE AMENDMENT
Moved, supported, carried, to call a public hearing for October 17, to amend Chapter 4, Title 7, Sanitary Sewer Ordinance, Section 7.405 Use of Sewers, as recommend by the City Engineer.

15a SIGNS FOR WORLD SERIES AMATEUR BASEBALL:
Mayor Johnson tabled this item until October 17, when we could have a response from Mr. Peterson.

16 COUNCIL COMMENTS:
Mayor Johnson referred Mrs. Silva's letter to the Police Chief for a report.
There being no further business to come before the City Council, Mayor Johnson adjourned the regular meeting at 10:15 p.m.
RESPECTFULLY SUBMITTED,

DNR continues testing Rouge River for contaminants

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

Don't have to worry if you see people testing the water of the Rouge River along Edward Hines Drive or Seven Mile Road — yet.

Officials from the Wayne County Health Department and the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) said that water samples have been taken from the Rouge River for the last two years.

DNR field representative Maggie Fields said the testing is being conducted to determine the various types of individual pollutants in the Rouge and the general water quality of the river.

Fields said the fecal coliform problem in the Rouge has been bad enough to force the DNR to restrict recreational use of the river.

"We're looking for a pattern to the problem and right now we're compiling information and reviewing it to identify any anomalies or problems with the Rouge River," she added. Fields said the background information is being gathered so the DNR can determine if any illegal discharge into the sewer system is increasing the fecal coliform problem.

Dean Tuomari, Supervisor of the Environmental Health Division of the Wayne County Health Department, said his department has been conducting weekly water samples of the Rouge for the DNR since the summer of 1986.

Tuomari said the DNR has asked him to sample the water in search of bacteria, fecal coliform, fecal dissolved oxygen, total organic carbon, total dissolved solids, total suspended solids, total phosphorous, ammonia, a variety of metals, and solvents, such as pesticides and PCBs.

Fields said a lack of funding for the Rouge testing program may limit the water testing to the tri-county area (Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties).

She added that any waterway in Northville Township eventually empties into the Rouge River.

Police offer Halloween safety suggestions

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

Goblins, ghosts and witches will soon be making their annual appearance in search of candy and other goodies, and Northville Township and City police said they will be ready to make it a safe holiday season.

Township Police Chief Ken Hardesty said extra manpower will be used for both Devil's Night and Halloween, as police reserves will join an already beefed-up police squad to patrol local streets.

"Traditionally we don't have a problem on Devil's Night or Halloween," Hardesty said. "And we don't expect a problem this year because our kids are usually more responsible than the ones in Detroit."

He added that in the last two years there have been two complaints during the Halloween season. "We'll have a walking patrol to make sure we don't have a problem with mischievous kids and for the protection of kids."

City Police Chief Rod Cannon said his department will not staff any extra personnel to cope with the Halloween season "because we have extra officers working on the race track."

Although racing at Northville Downs begins Oct. 17, Cannon said holiday beggars should be unaffected by the race crowd because the track

Plan may spur ordinance change

By BOB NEEDHAM

A proposal to build a furniture/decorating display building downtown last week led the city Planning Commission to consider some new rules for where business parking may be placed.

The Designer's Choice building on East Main submitted a plan for a small cottage-like building to display furniture arrangements. Discussion over where to place the three parking spaces required for the plan eventually led the commission to refer the plan back to the owner, and to consider tightening up the city rules covering the situation.

An original plan showed parking just off Main Street, to which Planning Consultant Don Wortman objected in a review letter. Architect Greg Presley, representing Designer's Choice, agreed, and proposed the parking go east of the building with a stone wall to screen the view.

Commission members said they would like the parking to the south of the building, on the farthest side from Main Street. But Presley said Designer's Choice plans to use that area in the future for new retail space.

The city zoning ordinance discourages parking in the central business district, and some commissioners said they dislike parking at whatever looks like the front of a commercial building. They said that means the east side of the new plan, but Presley disagreed.

"I have a problem with front-yard parking altogether. I think the character of the community doesn't warrant front-yard parking," commission Vice Chairperson John Hardin said. But Presley responded, "I would consider it side-yard parking, not front-yard parking. It's beside the building; it's not in front of it."

The commission voted 5-3 to return the plan for alterations, and then discussed the parking question further.

Hardin said the city could consider prohibiting front parking when there is space available at the rear of a site. "I'd very much like to see it severely limited, if not completely eliminated," he said.

Several commissioners said the zoning ordinance language "discouraging" front-yard parking needed to be tightened.

Commission Chairperson Dick Wilhelm recalled two recent cases in which some front parking was proposed. "We did more than discourage it. We flat-out said no," Wilhelm said.

Our Opinions

Public opinion needed in library site choice

It was encouraging to hear, earlier this week, that library site discussions are once again underway.

After a few months of relative inaction — at least publicly — officials are reviving talks of where an expanded Northville library would best be built. Two of the six sites on which a committee settled have been found to be unrealistic, leaving four sites for in-depth consideration.

We're glad the situation is once again getting some of the attention it deserves. But before too much more gets done, the process should be opened up.

So far, the site consideration work has gone on largely behind the scenes, in committee and between individual officials. At the start of the process two public surveys were conducted; this was a good step. In addition, the public was appropriately asked to submit suggestions for sites.

But we're past that point now. With the list of possible sites now numbering a manageable four, it's time the general public of the township and city had a say in where their library should go.

Clearly, the residents deserve this. A library can be the heart of a community, and the community needs a lot of input into how it develops.

There is a practical angle, too. No decision has been made on whether a new library will actually be built; that will probably come in the form of a bond issue proposal once the top site is selected. And residents in both municipalities will be much more likely to look favorably on a bond issue if they've been able to participate in its development.

A larger library is certainly necessary for our community, but it ought to be done right. We hope the very next step in this process is a formally called, joint public hearing of the Township Board and City Council. Such a meeting could be called simply to gather public opinion on the location of, and need for, a new library. The community cares deeply about this issue, and it deserves the chance to express that care.

Board deserves praise for planning efforts

Too often, long-range planning is an activity indulged in by private companies, but not governmental entities.

Yet, with the huge amounts of money and responsibility available to the public sector, the need for planning is particularly acute in the government. Certainly, cities and townships adopt — and generally follow — formal master plans. But more planning elsewhere is needed.

For example, the Detroit Public School system is tens of millions of dollars in debt, with a proposed bail-out plan as their only salvation. And if this plan is defeated by voters in November, then the Detroit district may be faced with cutting teachers and closing buildings.

With the hope of continuing the quality education offered by the Northville School District, we applaud the board's decision to go ahead with a strategic planning program.

An interesting feature of the business world is that companies must adapt to changing times. This aspect also applies to school districts. And receiving an objective opinion as to the district's present and future can only help.

In 1982 the Northville School District entered into a five-year plan to deal with problems such as the renovation of Northville High. At the recent conclusion of the plan, the positive changes over the last five years can easily be seen.

Northville High has become a model school both on the inside and outside, and with the recent release of ACT scores (which shows Northville students to compare favorably with state and national scores) the district appears to be riding a wave of very positive momentum.

So, with the last five-year plan reaching its conclusion, it appears to be the perfect time to put in place another plan, which will identify and outline the problems and goals facing the Northville School District.

These are very difficult times financially. And armed with a concrete set of goals, Northville Schools will hopefully be ready to deal with any situation which comes its way.

Ready for winter

By Neil Geoghegan

Now that it's snowed, I guess summer is over for sure. As the cold weather rolls in, a lot of people are settling back for a winter of watching T.V., munching on Cheetos and watching the thermometer drop.

Many just went through a summer filled with outdoor activities and are now in pretty good shape. Volleyball, swimming, softball, tennis — you name it, people have been getting outside more and more the past few years and taking part in physical activities. Area golf courses and tennis courts seemed packed to the gills for much of the summer, and the numbers of teams and participants in local softball leagues has been growing at record rates.

But this winter, a lot of these same people will turn their backs on a summer's worth of healthy workouts in favor of a spot in front of the fireplace with an endless supply of Christmas cookies, Mountain Dew and "I Love Lucy" reruns. But I've made plans so that doesn't happen to me — not this winter.

Snow makes it difficult to do a lot of things and that's one of the big problems. Some golf fanatics try to play the game on the snow with an orange ball but I think it's more of a novelty than anything else. Every year they have an event called the 'Frostbite Open' at a local course and it sounds fun, but it would have to be a one-time deal. I just can't see trading in my golf cleats for snowmobile boots. The same problems crop up with a lot of other activities, like softball.

That's why I'm heading indoors this winter for rigorous sports like basketball and wallyball — and also a few non-rigorous activities, including bowling. Every Friday evening it's off to the Crescent Lake Racquet Club for wallyball with a group of about seven or eight. Volleyball inside a racquetball court is very fast, exciting and can be exhausting. I've only played the game for about a year, but I've found that you can learn something new everytime — like a wallyball into the face hurts almost as much as a regular volleyball does.

Basketball is slated for every Thursday evening at an elementary school in the Walled Lake School District. Of all the possible winter activities, I can't think of any that could be more tiring. For unexplained reasons, our group always busts out of the gate at the start and it's full-throttle for about five or 10 minutes — until fatigue sets in. From that point on, everybody is gasping for air, looking for ways to conserve a little energy and that means dogging it on defense.

As for bowling, I'm not expecting much from a fitness aspect, but it's still an activity. In past years, I bowled once or twice a year, but a group of about a dozen buddies talked me into joining this league at Wonderland Lanes. We split up into three teams and get together every Monday evening.

In bowling, you probably get as much exercise as you do getting up and going to the refrigerator at home during commercials. All that beer certainly doesn't help either, but at least we feel like we're doing something instead of vegetating at home.

After the fact

By Phil Jerome

Ronna Romney came darn close to winning a fan last week. Note that I qualified that. I said "darn close." But for a cynical old reprobate like myself, that's pretty good.

I confess that I had always regarded Ronna as something of a "bubblehead." You know, perky and bubbly. A real Barbie Doll-type. The daughter-in-law of a former governor who cashed in on a famous name, good looks and all that perkiness.

Shows how much I know. Ronna was perky and bubbly all right when she showed up to speak at the Novi Civic Center last week. And I'll risk the barbs of "libbers" by admitting I did not fail to notice that she'll never win an ugly contest.

But what a speech.

She ripped the Department of Education, saying it should be leveled and restructured from scratch. She wants students in uniforms so they can concentrate on education instead of fashion trends. She wants teachers to get "back to basics." No basket-weaving. No music. No picture-drawing. Just reading, writing, math and penmanship.

She ripped politicians, saying the current system is unmanageable and out of control. Accusing senators and congressmen of having re-election as their top priority. And calling for legislation that would limit all terms of office to a maximum of 12 years.

And she ripped us guys. She said that 90 million Americans will vote in the upcoming election, that 50 million of them will be women, and that the margin between men and women voters is growing larger — not smaller.

Did I agree with everything she had to say? Heck, no. Do you? But she impressed me. She challenged me. She made me angry at times. And I'll tell you what, Ronna Romney is indeed perky and bubbly. But she ain't no "bubblehead."

Home day care is needed service

To the Editor:
Day Care. A Sign of the Times.
 There's a baby boom going on! If the city council passes an ordinance limiting in-home child care to three children, (including children who already live in the home), they will be creating problems for a lot of people. There is already a shortage of child care. Watch the news. Child care is a business and political issue.
 There are many who babysit in their homes for working couples. Some care for less than three, some for more. Most who care for other children, in their homes, quite frequently receive phone calls from working parents needing child care. They'll tell you there's not enough to go around.
 There are a lot of working couples in the Northville area. We working couples don't work because we need something to do. We do it out of necessity. Most of us would rather stay home with our children. Because it is not economically possible we picked the next best thing... qualified, in-home day care from our neighbors... our friends... people we know and trust.

 One woman in Northville, whose name I will not mention, takes care of four or five children under three years on any given day. She's been doing it for several years with not one complaint. If the city council passes the ordinance she said she will quit day care.
 That, I'm afraid, would force us into a more institutionalized day care facility. This means the prices will go up. (I hope council members are somewhat aware of the law of supply and demand.) Day care already costs between $350 and $450 dollars a month. We don't get much of a tax break either.

 I can understand the concerns of running a business in the home. But this is not a K-Mart or the corner liquor store. It's day care. It's a service that is badly needed. If the city council decides to pass the ordinance then I hope they please take it one step further and join businesses and institutions across the country and help search for solutions or alternatives to the growing day care dilemma. The City Council needs to understand that Day Care is a sign of the times.

Addicted home is difficult problem

This is another in the continuing series of columns written for the Record by Charles Stillec, Northville High School Student Assistance Program Coordinator.

"My Dear Friend:
 I bet you think no one knows how you feel when your mom or dad drinks too much, right? Wrong! I do know how you feel because one of my parents is an alcoholic.
 It is not easy, is it? When I was your age, I felt so alone with the problem at home. I was scared to tell anyone, and sometimes when it was really bad, my stomach would hurt because I thought it might be my fault. None of my friends ever spent the night at my house because I did not want them to know. I felt ashamed, like I was not quite as good as the rest of the kids.
 I thought drinking meant that my alcoholic parent did not really love me. I hated those booze bottles and sometimes I even thought I hated my alcoholic parent. Then I would feel guilty and my stomach would hurt more.
 When I grew up and moved away, I met other people who were like me. We talked a lot, and I learned a lot about drinking problems like the one that messed up my family. I felt free at last. You will probably feel that way some day too, even though it does not seem possible to you now."

 (Reprinted with the cooperation of the National Clearinghouse for Alcohol Information)
 Growing up in an alcoholic/drug addicted home is a problem for some of our students and their parents. Please remember that there is relief. These facts we know:
Fact 1: Alcoholism is a disease, just like diabetes or heart trouble. Your parent is not a bad person; he or she has a disease that makes him or her lose control when drinking. People who have the disease do not like to be sick. Maybe the disease makes them do mean or stupid things that they would not do if they were well.
Fact 2: You cannot control your parent's, family member or friend's drinking. And it is not your fault. So do not worry about hiding his or her bottles or trying to be perfect so you will not trigger a drinking spree. No one in the world is perfect. You are not the reason your parent, family member or friend drinks. You did not cause the disease. In fact, your parent would drink even if you had never been born. So do not feel guilty.
Fact 3: You are not alone. There are lots of kids who grow up in an alcoholic home. There are some in your classes at school — people you would never think have a problem drinking parent, because they don't talk about it. Or maybe you know some of them. There are seven million children with alcoholic parents in America. The children do not only become problem children but also our leaders.

Fact 4: You can talk about the problem and it will make you feel better. There are groups of kids who get together at Alotteen meetings and Young Peoples Children of Alcoholics (COA) meetings. There are also Adult Children of Alcoholics meetings. These meetings share tips on how to make life easier.
 The unhappiness, chaos, anger or stress you feel in your life can, through education, sharing and action be resolved if those of us who grew up in an alcoholic home face the facts and ask for help.
 If you want to attend a meeting or just need to talk, call the Student Assistance Program at Northville High School for further information at 344-1825. You can also call Northville Youth Assistance at 344-1618. Relief is a phone call away.

Police offer Halloween safety suggestions

 is mostly removed from the residential area and "racing begins after the time we recommend kids to be back home."
 As for Halloween safety tips, Cannon suggested the following:
 • Wear light-colored clothing short enough to prevent tripping, and add reflectors.
 • Make sure your children can see through face masks.
 • Accompany young children
 • Go out in daylight and carry a flashlight in case of delay.
 • Stay within the neighborhood and only visit homes you know.
 • Only give or accept wrapped or packaged candy.

 • Examine candy before allowing children to eat it.
 Cannon said each year the city police are notified of one or two incidents in which candy has been tampered with, but "I think that is common all over."
 "Parents should make sure to look over all candies and anything not in a self-contained package should be immediately thrown away," he said, adding one piece of candy is not worth a possible injury.
 In addition to the efforts of both local police departments, the National Safety Council and a host of private corporations are sponsoring a Halloween safety program for the students of Winchester Elementary School.

 Each child will be given a special super safety trick-or-treat bag which includes safety tips, along with special fluorescent ink printed on both sides.
 Steve Ludkowski, Director of Program Management for the Sampling Corporation of America, said a child carrying this bag will be highly visible to motorists because of the bright reflection of the color.
 "This is especially important at dusk, which is a time of day when visibility is generally poor," he added.
 Besides the colored bags, the safety program will also include a special parent booklet containing additional safety tips and suggestions on creating a successful at-home Halloween party, costume and makeup ideas and a special parent safety checklist.

 "The program is being distributed, not to encourage trick-or-treating, but to acknowledge that this practice, for the most part, already exists and children would benefit from an effort to make their celebration experiences safer," Ludkowski said.
 "In many communities, the program provides a basis for alternative activities, such as parades, parties, etc., all designed to make Halloween a safer, more fun experience," he added.

Northville resident wins outstanding teaching honor

Northville resident and Livonia teacher Linda Price

Record/CHRIS BOYD

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

First the good news Northville resident Linda Price recently was honored as Elementary Teacher of the Year by her district.

Now, the bad news she teaches in the Livonia Public School system. "I always knew I wanted to be a teacher," said Price, who teaches second graders at Kennedy Elementary and has taught in the Livonia schools since 1966.

"My dad was a high school history teacher and I know that many students told him that he had been an influential person in their lives," Price said. "He was an inspiration and he showed me that teachers can make a difference in a person's life."

Price, who has also taught kindergartners and first graders, said she prefers teaching younger children.

"I like teaching younger children mostly because they have a positive and curious attitude toward learning," she said. "I think this is the most rewarding level."

Price said she is a strong supporter of the current educational trend of emphasizing a child's self-esteem.

"I've developed an approach to teaching which introduces the concepts to children when they are ready to learn them," she added.

Price noted she has not had a lot of failure with this approach to teaching "because we are not putting the students in position to fail."

Of changes she's noticed in teaching since the late 1960s, Price said, "There are more materials in the classroom."

Her classroom includes a small library, record player and other activity areas.

"Children learn more by doing," Price said. "I think the philosophy (behind a hands-on approach) is that students will learn more doing than by being told."

Kennedy Principal Joanne Hughes said Price is a "very outstanding, warm and capable teacher."

Hughes said Price has been an excellent addition to Kennedy, "because the students and faculty both enjoy working with her."

"Linda has the ability to get students to accept themselves and set high standards at the same time," she added.

Price said she moved to Northville from Livonia in 1985 to avoid a possible conflict between her family and the Livonia School District.

"My husband works in the physical education department in the high school my children were to attend in Livonia," she said. "We felt it not be the best situation for our children to be in a school where we taught."

As for the prospect of teaching in Northville, Price said she does not want to sacrifice the 20 years of seniority she has accumulated in Livonia.

But, Price added that she has been pleased with the education her children have received in the Northville school system.

"My husband and I feel the education is excellent and we have had very good experiences in Northville," she added.

Tax preparers give varied views on electronic filing

The Internal Revenue Service is allowing tax preparers to file 1988 federal income tax returns electronically if the taxpayer is expecting a refund.

While the system is drawing raves from some tax preparers, others are guarded in their optimism.

Forms 1040 EZ, 1040A and 1040 can be filed electronically, ensuring faster receipt of the refund. In addition the taxpayer has the option of receiving a check in the mail or having the money deposited directly in a bank account.

"What if the preparer's figures are wrong? Once the check is issued, who is liable?" asked Bryan Geoffrey of Bryan's Accounting and Income Tax Service.

"How is the government going to collect it? Interest is charged to whom? The preparer or the taxpayer? I have too many questions," he added. "I have my doubts on how good it is going to be. I wonder if it's worth the complications."

Smaller firms, like Albert Ferrari in Troy, aren't going to try it yet.

"It's brand new. I don't know that much about it," said a spokesman. "Try some of the bigger CPA firms."

But H&R Block, an industry giant, found the program worked well in test markets it participated in with the IRS.

"It's been very popular," said Tom Wilde, a district manager for H&R Block in Livonia Mall.

"Instead of mailing in the return, it's transmitted directly into the IRS system. It pushes the return much further along. It speeds up the process by three to five weeks."

The usual time for a federal return to be processed depends on the time of year, he said. In January, it can be as quick as two weeks. On April 15, as long as eight to 12 weeks is not unusual.

The preparer will still keep a copy of the return, and the customer will keep a record.

"Charges will vary depending on the provider of the service," Wilde said. Clients will have to ask for the service, it won't be automatic.

Only those taxpayers expecting a refund can take advantage of the new electronic filing system. Individuals can't direct transmit returns to the IRS via computer. Only commercial preparers of tax returns have that option.

Kathy Marshall, assistant bookkeeper for Davis & Davis Accounting and Tax Service in Detroit, said her firm will offer the service this year.

"The nice part is you can request a paper refund check or have the funds transmitted directly to your bank," she said. "I think it will go off without many problems."

Wash College in Troy and the University of Detroit recently offered a series of seminars hosted by IRS for tax preparers on the electronic filing system.

In addition to speedier refunds, other advantages of the system are direct deposit of refunds and less paperwork.

"Electronic filing is no different than filing on paper," said Mary Tomala, electronic filing coordinator for the IRS in Michigan.

"The taxpayer is responsible, ultimately, for any tax liability. If the tax form has a math error, it would be handled the same way it is on paper. The taxpayer would receive a bill."

Tomala said the IRS last year offered electronic filing of returns in 16 districts. This year the program has been expanded to include 36 states, including the Detroit district, which encompasses the entire state of Michigan.

"By the year 1990, all states will be included," said Tomala. "It's a way to alleviate the math and paper processing."

Congress would have to legislate a change that would allow those who owe the federal government money at tax time to file electronically.

Business Briefs

SECURITY BANK and TRUST celebrated the grand opening of its 39th branch office with a VIP Party at the Novi Hilton on Thursday, Sept. 22. The new office is located at Fourteen Mile and Haggerty Road in Novi.

Among those attending were (above, left to right) Andrew Brodum, president and chief operating officer of Security Bancorp; Tony DiCarlo, new branch manager; Matthew Quinn, mayor of Novi; John Engler, president and chief executive officer of Security Bank and Trust; and Donald Grevengood, vice president of business development and public relations.

"Because of the continued residential and commercial growth in the Oakland area, we recognized the need to open our seventh full service office to better serve the needs of the surrounding communities," said Engler. "We are also proud to have Gaetano DiCarlo as the manager of the new branch."

During the grand opening celebration which will continue until Oct. 21, customers are invited to stop in any of the seven Oakland County locations and sign up for a free Secure Fund Checking Account, a free Safety Deposit Box when a Certificate of Deposit is opened, or a No Annual Fee VISA or Mastercard.

Security Bank and Trust Company is the largest subsidiary bank of Security Bancorp, Inc. and is the eighth largest bank in the state. Security Bancorp, Inc. is the seventh largest multi-bank holding company in Michigan with seven subsidiaries and 78 offices in Metropolitan Detroit. Other subsidiary banks are Security Bank of Monroe, Security Bank St. Clair Shores, Security Bank Northeast, Bank of Commerce, State Bank of Fraser and Trenton Bank and Trust Company.

The holding company has over $2.5 billion in assets.

THE COMPANY STORE, a highly successful direct marketer of all-natural down and 100 percent cotton products, is branching further into the retail industry with the opening of its 12th store. The new store is located in Novi's Twelve Oaks Mall.

"This is a significant move for us," said President Terry Gillette. "Twelve Oaks will be our first store in Michigan, and we're hoping the response will be as great as it has been to our stores in Wisconsin, Illinois and Minnesota."

The 3,000 square foot unit will feature a full product line of down pillows, down comforters, cotton bedroom accessories and beautiful down outerwear and accessories for the entire family.

The Company Store produces the finest quality natural down products at its plant in La Crosse, Wisconsin, and is noted in the industry for its no-questions-asked unconditional return policy.

Twelve Oaks Mall features over 180 stores and restaurants, including Lord & Taylor, Hudson's and Ann Taylor.

JILL ZEITY, a Registered Dental Hygienist, has joined the dental office of William S. Demray on Main Street in Northville. Zeity has 16 years of experience in a periodontal specialty practice which will be applied to a program of non-surgical periodontics. Dr. Demray said. She is a graduate of Northville High School.

MILFORD MUSIC, located at 100 W. Commerce in Milford, is under new ownership. Timothy Twiss recently announced store hours of 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday and 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Friday and Saturday.

The establishment offers retail sales of new and used musical instruments, supplies, lessons and repairs.

A SPECIAL 'HILTON WEEK-ENDER' rate of $59 per room, per night, is now available at the Novi Hilton on Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights through Dec. 11. Advance reservations are required and are available for one, two or three weekend nights.

The special rate is applicable for single or double occupancy, and children always stay free in their parents' room at the Novi Hilton. Continental breakfast for every "Hilton Week-Enders" guest, every day is also included.

The "Hilton Week-Enders" program was specifically designed to accommodate today's leisure travel patterns. Research has proven that mini-vacations, or getaways, are becoming increasingly popular in the United States. In fact, a recent survey indicates that 73 percent of leisure trips taken by Americans are for three days or less, and 60 percent of them are over a weekend.

Harold Nichols, general manager of the Novi Hilton, said the "Hilton Week-Enders" provides an ideal opportunity for a private, relaxing getaway for two, a family weekend outing or the extension of a business trip into a weekend vacation.

Travelers may book "Hilton Week-Enders" reservations by calling the Hilton's toll-free reservations number (1-800-HILTONS) or the Novi Hilton at 313 349-4000. Rooms available at the special rate are limited so early booking is advised.

CREATIVE IMAGE BEAUTY SALON has opened for business in the Pine Ridge shopping center on Novi Road at Ten Mile in Novi.

Creative Image is owned by Paulette Donaldson (above), a Novi resident for 18 years. A manicurist, Donaldson will provide manicures at Creative Image.

Stylists at the new salon are Karin Atwater, Nancy Wood, Tracey Stewart and Kerry Davis. All have advanced training in every phase of complete hair care, cutting, coloring and styling.

Donaldson said that the salon will use Paul Mitchell, Redken, Matrix and Nexxus products, and monthly specials will be featured. In addition, senior citizen discounts will be available.

The salon is open Monday through Saturday.

Car phones

Are they status symbols or useful business tools?

A dying fad or a useful business tool?

When they were introduced four years ago, car phones were the rage of society's upper crust.

And with the possible exception of Space Invaders, car phones were considered by many to be a technological marvel.

But four years later, the public's intrigue with car phones has seemed to peak and only the business world has been able to utilize its services, according to local car phone dealers.

"It's still selling pretty well, but as an individual dealer my sales have tapered off since they (car phones) were introduced in November 1984," said Brian Murray, manager of Murray's Car Audio in Novi.

Murray noted that his store caters to the business crowd, "because the car phone is seen as a tool which will aid in productivity."

He added that people who buy car phones for their novelty aspect usually shop at appliance stores, where prices are often cheaper.

"The most reliable car phones will usually cost the most," Murray said.

Jeff Muglia, manager of Midwest Communications in Southfield, said people who bought car phones during their early days in the marketplace did so because they represented a status symbol.

"Now, the single business owner and people in sales positions are buying car phones because of the time it saves," Muglia said.

As for the mechanics of using a car phone, Muglia said the system is run on a series of antennas that are placed about 10 square miles apart.

He noted the signals from a car phone are transferred from one antenna to the next as the vehicle moves through a given area.

"This type of system allows for a signal to always be picked up," Muglia explained.

Murray said the phone system, which in Michigan is available through Ameritech or Cellular One, is accessible only in southern Michigan.

Although the car phone system is available in each of the 50 states, Murray said antennas have only been installed in and around large metropolitan areas, meaning rural locations are not hooked up to the system.

Muglia explained the types of car phones are divided into three areas: mobile or permanent, transportable, and portable.

A mobile or permanent car phone consists of three parts — a handset, receiver and antenna. Muglia said the antenna is the most important aspect of the mobile phone.

He said there are three types of antennas which can access the mobile phone, including glass mount, trunk lip mount, or roof mount.

"With the proper antenna and installation it is hard to tell if you are talking at your desk or car," Muglia said, adding mobile phones range from $500 to $1,300.

Transportable phones — like mobile phones — operate on three watts of power, which is the maximum amount allowed by the Federal Communications Commission (FCC).

Transportable phones consist of the same parts as the mobile phone but they are smaller in size and are manufactured to be used outside, meaning they are more durable.

Besides being able to take these phones out of the car, users can plug transportable phones into their car cigarette lighter, creating less of a strain on the battery, according to Muglia. Transportable phones range in price from $750 to $1,500.

Muglia said the third type of car phone is a portable or handheld model. These phones only operate on .6 watts of power, resulting in poorer reception.

Muglia said the attraction of portable phones is that they can fit into briefcases or shirt pockets, making them easy to carry. Portable phones range in cost from $1,200 to $2,000.

When purchasing a car phone, Muglia said the first step is to conduct a credit check on the individual. If the credit check is successful, he said most stores can install and program the phone to begin service.

In addition to a $35 hook-up fee from the phone company, charges include a $7.50 per month user fee and a peak (7 a.m. to 9 p.m.) usage fee of $3.35 per minute or off-peak (9 p.m. to 7 a.m. and all weekends and holidays) fee of $.16 per minute.

Muglia added all long distance rates charged from American Telephone and Telegraph (AT & T) are extra.

Frederick assists at care center

By DOROTHY NASH

Adverse criticism can sometimes lead to constructive action. At least that's what got Berniece Frederick into her volunteer role of organizing a committee to improve recreational life at Novi Care Center.

Frederick's sister became a resident of the convalescent home in January, and so when shortly afterwards a family night was introduced, Frederick was one of the relatives and friends who came to tell what they liked and disliked about the place.

"It was terribly negative," she said, "with everybody finding fault." Really, she added, "It is a well run place," and at the next month's meeting "we were told the list of criticisms and what had been done to improve them."

But it was the unpleasantness at the first meeting that prompted

Frederick to ask, "Is there someone in this group who can tell us what we can do? I'll volunteer to help."

That did it. She became the convener of community council, consisting of the Center's administrator, activity director, head of nursing, three persons from her Methodist church, the daughter of a resident, and a neighbor of hers. The council meets monthly, and, although no decision has yet been made on how to improve recreational life, money has been raised to purchase whatever is decided will be beneficial.

An ice cream social was held during the summer — proceeds are in the bank — and a Dec. 3 bazaar is being worked on. "Anyone who wants to help will be more than welcome," Frederick said.

"I'd like to see the money go toward benefiting individuals not groups."

And beyond things that money can buy, she said, "I would like to see people volunteer to work with residents on a 1:1 or 1:4 basis. Some residents have no one who comes in to visit on a regular basis."

"Maybe this is why I've lived so long — to spur people on to do something here," Frederick added.

Volunteer Berniece Frederick

Pine cone workshop is part of wreath-making effort

The Northville Branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association held its first "Pine Cone Workshop" last Monday at the Mill Race.

Members began the always time consuming project of wiring pine cones in preparation for the annual holiday wreath sale. Orders for these traditional and beautiful wreaths may be made to each garden club member. Wreaths will be on sale during the Sunday of Northville's annual Christmas Walk, as well.

Club members also heard from Zo Chisnell, a township resident who is involved with a group of residents concerned with efforts to drill for oil or gas on residential land in the township. Chisnell presented pertinent data on the residents' concerns and brought the group up to date on efforts to get further legislation protecting the rights of homeowners and sensitive land.

The club's next workshop will be held on Nov. 7 at the Mill Race.

Northville Woman's Club to meet Oct. 21

Following a very successful beginning to their season, the Northville Woman's Club will meet on Oct. 21 at the First Presbyterian Church of Northville for "Five Items in Five Minutes" a special presentation by Chef James of the Observer and Eccentric Newspapers. Chairman of this event is Evelyn Harper and it is a guest day.

The season's first luncheon was held last Friday at Meadowbrook Country Club where a full complement of members dined on chicken and rice and heard a delightful speech by Neal Shine, senior managing editor and columnist of the Detroit Free Press.

Shine delivered a humorous, yet moving speech concerning the role of women, particularly mothers, in the world. Shine recalled the influence of his own mother on his life and reminisced about growing up in Detroit during the Depression.

The club's past presidents were honored during the luncheon ceremony.

Church rummage sale held Oct. 14

The Women's Service club of Meadowbrook Congregational Church will hold a Rummage Sale on Friday, Oct. 14 from 9:30 a.m. - 5 p.m. and Saturday, Oct. 15, from 9:30 a.m. - 1 p.m.

The church is located at 21355 Meadowbrook Road, Novi, between Eight and Nine Mile Roads.

Susan Granger at Town Hall Nov. 10

Susan Granger, a movie critic for over a dozen years, will be the featured speaker at the next Town Hall luncheon, on Nov. 10 at 11 a.m.

Granger is best known for her own distinctive style of criticism—warm, fair and occasionally tongue-in-cheek. She has a uniquely well-qualified background for her work, having been raised in Hollywood's movie colony.

As a child Granger appeared in Son of Lassie, Abbott and Costello in Hollywood, the Fuller Brush Man, and other films. She attended Mills College and graduated from the University of Pennsylvania. She has worked in radio, television, and public relations. Her articles have been published in Redbook, Family Circle, Cosmopolitan and The New York Times.

Currently Granger is the on-air entertainment critic for WICC, Conn. and WMCA, New York.

All luncheons are held at the Plymouth Hilton. All luncheon reservations, accompanied by a check, must be received no later than the Friday preceding each lecture; no refunds can be made after this date. Luncheon tickets may be purchased by series lecture ticket holders only.

Luncheon prices are $11 per person. Send reservations with a check to: Mrs. Walter Kaiser, Town Hall, Box 93, Northville, 48167. For more information contact Mrs. Kaiser at 349-8938.

PTA News

OLV thanks involved students

PTA News is published weekly in the Record. This week's news is from Our Lady of Victory school. Any school interested in publishing its PTA or school news in the Record should contact the newspaper at 349-1700

We would like to congratulate our students in grades 5-8 who ran for Student Council elections held on Sept. 23.

Students running for office submitted a paragraph explaining their goals, their position, gave speeches to the students and made posters for our hallway. We thank the following students for their interest in leadership at Our Lady of Victory School: Stephanie Stapleton, Betsy Monczka, Janna Dyer, Paul Breyer, Kristi McKenna, Kelly Korreck, Leah Criner, Pamela Clancy, Kelly Berger, Katie Wright, Julie McMullen, Amy Bott, Sara Tambornini, Mike Dorrington.

1988-89 Student Council Class Representative, Grade 5 — Rich Kowal, Lisa Wisniewski, Grade 6 —

Ryan McKenna, Trudy Warborg; Grade 7 — Paul Fessler, Mary Pat Bah; Grade 8 — Margaret Crotteau, Kevin Jakubowski; President — Mike Dorrington; Vice-President — Katie Wright; Secretary — Kristi McKenna; Treasurer — Betsy Monczka.

The Faculty and Students of Our Lady of Victory School prayed for continued peace and happiness for all members of Our Lady of Victory Parish on Our Lady's Feast Day on Friday, Oct. 7. May the love of our Blessed Mother be with all of our Families at Our Lady of Victory Parish. Our Lady of the Rosary, Pray for us.

The faculty and students of Our Lady of Victory School would like to thank our parent volunteers who have prepared our new library for opening during the first week of October. Our Librarian, Mrs. Kassin, trained our library volunteers on Sept. 28. God bless all of our parents for their time and effort.

We would like to welcome our Kindergarten students to Our Lady of

Our Kindergarten students, under the guidance of Ms. Judy Hood, have begun their religious, academic and social development. The children have begun their language arts unit through alphabet recognition using the "letter people". They are learning about God the Father and attend liturgies for Our Lady of Victory students.

We look forward to meeting all of our parents at Our Lady of Victory School on Oct. 13 at our Open House.

The faculty of Our Lady of Victory School participated in a Teacher In Service on the afternoon of Sept. 29. Dr. Reagan and the faculty began work on the Plan for Improvement. This program was instituted by the Archdiocese and guides administrators and teachers through an educational needs assessment to determine the scope and sequence in school curriculum.

Dr. Reagan and the faculty also graciously welcomed Dr. Rezmierski, director of special education in the Northville Public School System, who gave a comprehensive view of services available through the Northville Public Schools. It was both an informative and productive afternoon for the staff.

Our Lady of Victory will be celebrating All Saints Day at the church and school on Nov. 1.

Alisha Rose is born

Carolyn and Jeffrey Jensen of Waterford announce the arrival of their daughter, Alisha Rose, on Sept. 29.

This is the first child for the Jensens.

Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jensen of Northville. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. James F. Schlot of Northville. Maternal great-grandmother is Mrs. Rose Renaud of Windsor, Ontario, Canada.

She was born at St. Joseph Hospital in Pontiac and weighed seven pounds, 1½ ounces at the time of birth.

Stossel talks and listens to Town Hall audience

By BRENDA DOOLEY

John Stossel was glad they talked back.

And the roomful of people who turned out to hear the personable, mustached consumer reporter's presentation did just that.

"I speak to millions of people (via ABC's 20/20 and Good Morning America news programs) and they never talk back," Stossel said. "I would like to hear about what you think about the job we do."

Stossel's appearance was part of Northville's 28th annual Town Hall luncheon series. He spoke to a crowd at the Plymouth Hilton last Thursday.

In a format that resembled a Phil Donahue show, Stossel talked about some of his experiences as a consumer reporter, a job he admitted isn't always easy. Microphone in hand, he roamed through the audience, asking people questions about products they use and about their views of consumer reporting. Those views were often mixed. Stossel hailed consumer reporting as a vital part of the news because it provides valuable information about products and services commonly used by the public.

After uncovering fraudulent advertising claims by several aspirin companies, Stossel explained that he was sued by Bristol-Meyers for $25 million because of the critical way he reported the story.

"Lawsuits aren't the biggest threat because they often go away," Stossel explained. "The biggest cost (of consumer reporting) is the loss of advertising."

Because television companies are money conscious, critical reporting of advertisers often endangers his job, he added.

Working in Stossel's favor, however, are favorable television ratings, an indication that the public is receptive to what he's doing.

"20/20 is the only news program that has been successful in prime time," Stossel said. "We have to keep the ratings up or we're gone. To do that, we're constantly fiddling with the mix of the programs... there's always a search for a mix between the light and heavy."

Stossel indicated that "not everyone is created equal in ratingsland" because advertisers and television network officials often attempt to capture the attention of women between the ages of 18 and 35 — the biggest group of consumers. As a result, programming is geared to attract that age group. The next target groups are men aged 18 to 45, older people and children.

He encouraged his audience to "vote with their dials" for their favorite programs.

Although he received negative feedback when asking how the audience felt about "ambush reporting," Stossel defended the confrontational reporting technique.

Stossel cited results of an investigation he conducted about doctors performing abortions on women who weren't actually pregnant to lend credibility to "ambush reporting." By confronting one doctor, he uncovered that the practice was actually occurring.

"We're (reporters) accused of doing this type of reporting because of the ratings — I hope we don't do it because of that. It's a reporter's job because lawyers and the government won't do it."

"I hope you will speak up for the right of reporters to criticize advertisers," Stossel said.

Before joining ABC, Stossel was consumer editor for WCBS-TV in

New York City where he won 15 Emmy Awards for his investigative reporting. He is a 1969 graduate of Princeton University, where he earned a bachelor of arts degree in psychology.

Madrigal ticket lottery set

A lottery drawing for the annual Christmas Madrigal Dinner celebration has been scheduled by the Schoolcraft College's Office of Special Events to insure fair distribution of tickets, which usually sell out quickly.

Special Events Coordinator Midge Ellis said the lottery will be held Monday, Oct. 17.

The 1988 Madrigal Dinner will be held four nights — Dec. 9-10 and 16-17. The event combines the talents of the college's food service staff, gourmet club and music department to recreate the feasts, merriment and song of 16th century England.

Each course of the feast is presented to the court with trumpet fanfare and ceremony, including the presentation of a boar's head. A court jester will entertain, strolling musicians will serenade diners and, following dessert, the Madrigal Singers and members of the Schoolcraft College Community Choir will perform for guests.

The Madrigal Singers, under the direction of David Joriette, will enter the hall in full costume as lords and ladies. Their processional march will begin promptly at 7:30 p.m. during each performance. The processional is followed by the presentation of the wassail and a toast to the Christmas season.

The Madrigal dinner will be served family style. The menu will feature roast pork stuffed with cranberry dressing, gravy, vegetables, potatoes, Christmas bread, hot wassail, farmhouse cheddar brick, blue stilton cheese with walnuts, crackers; hot apple dumpling with hard sauce, and beverages.

Tickets for the dinner are $25 each, and are limited to eight per person. Tickets may be ordered by mail. Make checks or money orders payable to Schoolcraft College. When ordering tickets, indicate a preference for first and second choice of evenings to attend the dinner.

Mail checks or money orders and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Madrigal Dinner, Schoolcraft College, 18600 Haggerty Road, Livonia MI 48152-2686. The college will mail tickets to those who win the lottery and, if necessary, will return check or money orders to those who were not selected.

For more information call the Office of Special Events at 591-6400, extension 481 or 484.

Mann and Bourne are wed

Anna Maria Mann and Steven Andrew Bourne were married on Aug. 27 at Wesley Methodist Church in Urbana, Ill.

The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. C. John Mann of Urbana. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Lyn Bourne of Livonia, formerly residents of Northville.

The double ring ceremony was officiated by Rev. Miley Palmer.

The bride wore her grandmother's gown made of satin and lace, which was made 51 years ago. She carried a bouquet of red sweetheart roses.

Maid of honor was Kate Mann, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Julia Van Susteren and Cher Bourne, a Northville High School graduate, Class of 1978. The attendants wore red gowns and carried white sweetheart roses.

Best man was Dan Whitaker, Northville High School graduate, Class of 1980. Groomsmen were Rob Ade, Northville High School, Class of 1980 and Chris Mann. Ushers were Tim Tuttle and Jimmy Parobek.

A reception was held at Jumers Castle Lodge in Urbana. Over 150 guests attended. Special guests were the bride's great uncle Bud, who also attended her grandmother and mother's weddings.

A wedding trip to Cozumel, Mexico

ANNA MANN, STEVEN BOURNE

was taken.

The couple met through work.

The bride is a 1981 graduate of Urbana High School and a 1985 graduate of the University of Wisconsin at Madison. She is employed as a CPA at Ernst and Whinney in Chicago.

The groom is a 1980 graduate of Northville High School and a 1984 graduate of Miami of Ohio University. He is employed as a CPA by Price Waterhouse in Chicago.

The couple is living in Oak Park, Ill.

Jackson and Seel say vows

Pledging marriage vows in a Sept. 3 double-ring ceremony at the Northville Presbyterian Church were Heidi J. Jackson and Thomas N. Seel of West Bloomfield.

Rev. Martin Ankrum officiated at the rites, uniting the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kaye D. Jackson of Old Bedford Road, Northville, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Seel of West Bloomfield.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was her sister, Mrs. James Soucek of Lancaster, New York. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Michael Webb of Auburn Hills, a college classmate; and Heather McNight of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, a high school friend.

Michael Webb of Auburn Hills, a college classmate, was best man. Groomsmen included Peter Mach of Dearborn, William Wren of Dexter, Steven Neuman of St. Clair Shores and Mychael VeCasey of Holland. All were college classmates of the groom.

A reception for guests at the Embassy Suites Hotel in Southfield followed the ceremony. The bride and groom honeymooned in Florida.

The bride is a 1982 graduate of Northville High School. She attended Michigan Technological University and is a 1988 graduate of the Wayne

HEIDI JACKSON, THOMAS SEEL

State University School of Pharmacy. She is currently a registered pharmacist at Providence Hospital in Southfield.

The groom is a 1981 graduate of Bloomfield Hills Andover High School and a 1985 graduate of Michigan Technological University with a B.S. degree in mechanical engineering. He is employed as an applications engineer for U.S. Steel of Troy.

The couple is now residing in Novi.

Association branch taking orders for annual Christmas wreath sale

Always keeping an eye on the motto—“Each wreath must be beautiful enough to hang on our own front door”—the members of the Northville Branch of the Woman's National Farm & Garden Association are already deep into preparations for their annual pine cone wreath sale.

Although the traditional sale on the day of the Christmas Walk is planned once again this year, pre-sales now account for two-thirds or more of gross sales, club member Barbara O'Brien said. And the pre-sales are now underway, available with a coupon printed elsewhere in this newspaper.

This year an 18-inch wreath is selling for $9 and a 26-inch wreath for $11. Mail orders should be sent to Mrs. Kathy Fehlauer, mail order chairperson, 18338 Laraugh Rd., Northville, MI, 48167, with a check payable to Northville Branch, W. N. F. & G. A. Orders may be picked up at the Mill Race Historical Village between 3 and 5 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 15.

The sale, an annual event Greens Mart event sponsored by the association, involves a lot of work ahead of time. One of the biggest challenges is assembling the 1,500 red velvet bows and 9,000 pine cones needed to make the wreaths.

The proceeds raised from the wreath sale go to a variety of civic causes supported by the garden association. These have included about 29 recipients of scholarships; benches, trees, and other landscaping downtown, at the Community Center, at Fish Hatchery Park, and elsewhere; a contribution to the Main Street clock; and extensive work at the Mill Race Historical Village.

Carol Rahimi and Barbara VanBuren are the co-chairpersons for this year's Green Mart. The Northville Branch of the association was founded in 1936 and now includes about 100 members.

Woman's Club is active in many civic activities

By LISA VAN CAMP

The function of most clubs is given away by their name. The members of the Northville Horse Club ride horses, the activities of the Northville Swim Club revolve around the club's pool, people on the baseball team, play baseball, people on the football team play football... but the members of the Northville Woman's Club do much more than sit around and enjoy the virtues of their gender.

"We're involved in civic and literary affairs and current events," Club President Marge Bolton said.

The club donates $100 every year to the Northville city and township beautification committees. A local high school senior also receives a $500 college scholarship, courtesy of the club.

"We never have any fund-raising activities; most of our money comes from membership dues," Bolton said.

The club was started 96 years ago by Lucy Stout Dowd, a Northville resident, who decided to organize a literary study group involving only women. For lack of a better name she called it the Northville Woman's Club.

The club's second president, elected in 1894, provided the new organization with a place to meet. She donated a new library building to the City of Northville on the condition that the Woman's Club could hold meetings there as long as members desired. The library has since been transferred to the Mill Race for restoration.

"We met in the library until 1965 and then we sort of outgrew the building," Bolton said. Meetings are now held in The First Presbyterian Church of Northville.

Today the Northville Woman's Club includes 169 members. Of that number, 44 are life-time members. These women have been a part of the club for 25 years or more. A total of 15 of these local ladies have been affiliated with the club for at least 50 years.

"This year we are designating those people in our membership book because we think they deserve some recognition," Bolton said.

The club also includes 64 associate members. These are previously active members who are presently unable to attend the number of meetings required for other members.

"This may be for health or work reasons, or whatever," Bolton said. Membership dues are $15 for active members and $18 for associate members.

Active members are required to attend at least four meetings a year. Meetings are held the first and third Fridays of every month from October to May. The first meeting, an opening luncheon, is always held at Meadowbrook Country Club, while the last meeting is always a "tureen" or potluck lunch.

"Since our meetings are usually during the day we also have a special guests night when our members can bring their husbands or friends, or whatever, just for fun," Bolton said.

The club has designated guest days which prospective members are invited to attend. Anyone interested in becoming involved in the club must attend two guest days before being considered for club membership.

"We also meet once a year at the Mill Race library," Bolton said.

Club gatherings are usually held at 1 p.m. and they begin with a short business meeting after which the "program" or meeting officially begins. The programs always include guest speakers — experts on everything from interior design to space aeronautics.

"We always hope the members take something away from the programs — that's what the club is all about," Bolton said.

Record/CHRIS BOYD

Neal Shine of the Detroit Free Press chats with Northville Woman's Club President Marge Bolton (center) and Program Director Mary Louise Cutler. Shine spoke to the group at Meadowbrook Country Club Friday to open their 96th season.

Shine spoke about the tremendous strength and power of mothers in family life. Shine's words were greeted enthusiastically by the nearly 200 women in attendance. The meeting honored the past presidents and honorary members of the club.

Car phones popular in the local area

Muglia said individuals buying a car phone should be careful of stores which are going out of business but continue to sell their remaining car phones.

He recommended that people buy brand name car phones, such as Uniden, Mitsubishi, or NEC to insure themselves of quality products which can be serviced if necessary.

Murray agreed with Muglia and added that people could save money in the long run by purchasing a good car phone with a reputation for high reliability.

"Car phones will always be necessary for people who spend a lot of time in their cars and want to maintain a high degree of productivity and convenience," Murray said.

Plan winter getaways in the fall

By PHILIP JEROME

You've still got leaves to rake and storm windows to put up, but you'd better add another item to your list of fall chores or run the risk of being too late.

What is it?
Planning your winter vacation, of course.

Area travel agents agree that it's definitely not too early — and in some cases may be almost too late — to make plans for a week of lolling on sandy beaches under sunny skies during January, February and March while your friends and neighbors are shoveling snow back in Michigan.

And if you were looking forward to a vacation in sunny climes over the Christmas holidays (Dec. 23 to Jan. 2), you can almost forget it, according to Ian Bennett of Bennett's Travel Agency in Novi.

"The Christmas vacations are just about booked out," said Bennett. "There are plenty of regular airline seats at regular prices, but the package deals and charters are pretty much booked."

That does not mean it's impossible to still get away for a Christmas vacation, but the message is clear — it's never too early to schedule a getaway vacation and it's downright smart to make plans right now if you want to head south during January, February or March.

"This is definitely the time to book vacations for the 1989 winter travel season," affirmed Ed Jamieson of Travel Plans in Northville. "People who book now can get discounts up to 25 percent on certain packages, and they also have a much wider selection on cabins and hotels."

"The selection will decrease steadily as the hotels and cruise ships start getting booked during the peak season," he added.

The peak season runs basically from Jan. 14 through March 25.

Connie O'Brien, a travel agent with Travel Agents International in Novi's West Oaks II shopping center, also advises booking winter vacations as soon as possible.

"Some cruises are already sold out, but there are still plenty of options available for people who book early," she said, adding that she recommends booking vacations three months in advance to get the best discounts and have the widest selection of options.

So where are people heading for vacations this year?

Jamieson and O'Brien both recommend Mexico as the best deal.

"Most of the calls we get mention Mexico first," said Jamieson. "For one thing, you're guaranteed warm weather which isn't necessarily true about Florida in February. And, dollar for dollar, Mexico is the best deal for travelers. The American dollar goes a long way in Mexico."

Jamieson said he is currently steering people toward Puerto Vallarta on the west coast of Mexico. He noted that vacation spots on the east coast — Cancun and Cozumel as well as some of the Caribbean islands like Jamaica — are still cleaning up from the effects of Hurricane Gilbert, although all the resort areas plan to be back to normal by mid-

November.

O'Brien said she believes Acapulco is the top spot right now. "It's a somewhat older resort area, but it's a good deal right now from the perspectives of available fares and packages," she said.

"People are starting to go there again," she added.

Another option mentioned by O'Brien is the Bahama Islands. "They're not bad, but they're a little more expensive once you get there," she noted.

Jamieson and O'Brien also recommend cruises highly.

"A lot of people consider cruises the best deal because you get to see four different places for the price of one," said O'Brien, referring to port visits aboard cruise ships.

"You know all your costs up front because airfare, transfers and meals are all included," added Jamieson.

While Jamieson and O'Brien are steering people toward vacations in Mexico this winter, Bennett is recommending a somewhat different itinerary.

"Depending on the amount of money they want to spend, of course, we're getting people going to places like Venezuela, Australia, New Zealand, Hong Kong and Bali," said Bennett.

"They're all destinations where I think you can get good value for your money," he added.

Bennett said Venezuela is a particularly attractive destination. "The best deal from door to door is Venezuela," he said. "First, because it's cheap to get there and, second, because the prices are really cheap after you arrive."

"When beers cost 20 cents apiece and you can get chateaubriand for two for $25, you're talking about getting your money's worth out of your vacation."

Dinner theater for children is planned

Tickets are now on sale for a Northville Recreation Department sponsored dinner theater event.

The Goodtime Players, a children's theater company, are set to present the musical comedy "Sweet Betsy from Pike" Friday, Nov. 4. Genitt's restaurant will cater a family spaghetti dinner before the performance.

Tickets, at $9 per adult and $6 per child, must be purchased by Nov. 1 from the Northville Community Center, 303 W. Main in Northville. Dinner is scheduled at 6:45 and the show at 7:30 p.m.

AUTHOR APPEARANCE — Authors Rita Mae Brown, Judith Guest and Rebecca Hill are set to appear at Borders Book Shop in the Novi Town Center this weekend.

Rita Mae Brown will sign her new book "Bingo" from 7 to 8:30 p.m. Friday, Oct. 14. Judith Guest and Rebecca Hill, co-authors of the new mystery "Killing Time in St. Cloud," will discuss their book from 3:30 to 4 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 16, and sign copies from 4 to 5 p.m.

In Town

in Northville from Oct. 21 through Nov. 13.

The show follows the same script as the film version.

Performances are scheduled at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday and at 2:30 p.m. Sunday. For more information or reservations call the theater box office at 349-8110.

MR B'S FARM — The Visor Brothers are scheduled at Mr. B's Farm in Novi this weekend. They play country sing-a-long style. The band is scheduled from about 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Mr. B's Farm is on the west side of Novi Road just above Ten Mile Road in Novi.

STARTING GATE — The Starting Gate Saloon in Northville presents Sittin' In on weekends during October.

The band plays a blend of rock, country and pop. They are scheduled Friday and Saturday from 9 p.m. to about 1:30 a.m. The Starting Gate is on Center Street between Main and Dunlap in downtown Northville.

SHERATON OAKS — The Wednesday evening "Cool Notes" concert series at the Sheraton Oaks on Novi Road features the Sun Messengers on Wednesday, Oct. 19.

The concert is scheduled to start at 6 p.m. The Sheraton Oaks is on the west side of Novi Road just above the I-96 interchange.

Mustangs fall to 2-4

Franklin runs over gridgers 22-8

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

Two seems to be an unlucky number for the Northville football program.

For two straight seasons, the Mustangs have managed just two wins per season. In 1988, the squad got off to a nice start with a road win in the opener, but have since lost four of the next five. With two wins and four losses so far (1-4 in the Western Lakes League), and just three games remaining, Northville would have to win all three to register a winning campaign.

On Oct. 8, host Livonia Franklin won the battle in the trenches and that was the key in a 22-8 WLAA Western Division triumph over the Mustangs. The Patriots converted several Northville turnovers into points in the first half, built a 16-0 lead at halftime and then played on even terms the rest of the way for the win.

"(Franklin) is an excellent team," Mustang Coach Darrel Schumacher said. "They played a lot of juniors last year and now they are an experienced bunch. They were very well prepared.

"I didn't think I'd ever see a team run all over our defense like that but they manhandled us up front — they dominated the line. Our defensive front seven as a whole is a good group of players, but they used our quickness against us and caused lots of problems."

An interception ended Northville's first possession of the game and a sack on a reverse stalled the second drive. Franklin took possession on their own 41 and needed just eight plays to march down the field for the score. Tailback Brian Drabicki ran it in from 20-yards out and the extra point kick was good.

At the end of the first quarter, Mustang quarterback Greg Price was again the victim of a tipped interception, giving the Pats the ball at the Northville 29. Several plays later, Franklin quarterback Jeff Roth hit Joe Ransley with a 14-yard touchdown pass to make it 13-0.

The bad luck continued when a missed assignment in the backfield on the next possession caused a fumble and gave Franklin the ball at the Northville 26. Eight plays later, Mike Patzsch connected on a 17-yard field goal after the Mustang defense stiffened.

"You cannot give a good football team points like that and still expect to win," Schumacher said. "In the span of a couple minutes, we handed them 10 points."

"But there were some positives in the game and that defensive stand was one of them."

Northville's Randy Jones stopped another potential scoring drive in the third quarter with an interception but Franklin came back with a nine-play, 60-yard scoring march early in the fourth quarter. Roth ran it into the endzone from two yards out, but it remained 22-0 when Sam Khashan blocked the extra point.

"We couldn't stop them," Schumacher said. "That was their best drive of the game and it was particularly discouraging because we don't usually give up those kinds of drives. At that time we needed the ball back in a hurry because we were only down by two touchdowns and two conversions and there was still a lot of time left. But we didn't do the job."

Record/CHRIS BOYD

Despite the deficit, the Mustangs never quit. A controlled passing game moved the team down the field as Price was good on 4-of-7 passes. A 33-yard draw play by Mike Karfis set up Northville's only touchdown, a six-yard keeper by Price. Khashan then caught a pass from Price to complete the two-point conversion. The drive covered 73 yards in 12 plays.

"Greg threw very well in that drive," Schumacher said. "Credit goes to our kids because they didn't give up."

Defensively, Schumacher had kind words for linebacker Mike Hale, who was "all over the field" and had six solo tackles and three assists. Todd Daniels (eight solos, four assists) and Karfis (five solos, one assist) also had a lot of tackles.

Karfis lugged the ball nine times for 69 yards and also caught six passes for 57 yards to pace the attack. Price had his best outing of the season, connecting on 13-of-22 for 118 yards.

The Mustangs — who played five of the first six games of the season on the road — will now be at home for the final three. Tomorrow (Oct. 14)

Northville will host Walled Lake Western (2-4 overall) in the 1988 Homecoming Game.

"Western has been playing very well," Schumacher said. "They have good quickness on defense. Right now our backs are against the wall and we're fighting to stay out of the basement of the standings."

"If there is any form of motivation, the homecoming game should be it. We're hoping the friendly confines of home will help us. We know these next three games are going to be tough but we also know that we have a chance in all three."

Northville basketballers regroup; Walled Lake Western falls 53-47

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

They're back.

The Northville girls basketball squad — the group which routinely crushed opponents by 30 points and won six of six games at the start of this season — appears to be up to its old tricks on the hardwood again.

In defeats to Plymouth Canton and Livonia Franklin in late September, something was missing. But after an impressive victory over Walled Lake Western last week, the tide has turned back to the glory days of late August and early September. The 53-47 come-from-behind victory over the Warriors on Oct. 4 was a must-win situation for coach Ed Kritch's team.

"We couldn't afford to lose another game in our division if we still had hopes of contending for the title," Kritch said. "We looked at it as a must-win game and the kids responded."

"I thought we played as hard as we have all season. We also rebounded well and (Western) has a 6-foot-3 kid and our tallest player is just 5-9. So we were respectable on the boards against a much bigger team."

Trailing by four points, Northville employed a full-court press in the fourth quarter and it proved to be the turning point. With star center Michelle Hall on the bench in foul trouble for the Warriors, Northville turned the deficit into a six point lead and held on for the win.

"This game was reminiscent of the games we had earlier in the year," Kritch said. "We also played well in the fourth quarter and then closed them out, and that was great to see."

With Karen Baird and Debbie Stevens combining for 14 points in the first quarter, the Mustangs were able to open an 18-13 lead. But Northville got into some foul trouble in the second quarter and Hall started to take over. With Heather Strt on the bench with a couple of fouls and Baird about to get her third foul, Hall scored seven points in an eight minute span to help the Warriors slip in front 33-31 at halftime.

"Hall was unstoppable," Kritch said. "She was controlling the boards and catsting us a lot of problems. It was her quarter."

Western scored the first four points in the second half to increase the lead to 37-31. The Mustangs limped back to keep within range but got a big lift when Hall was whistled for her fourth foul with a few minutes remaining in the third quarter.

"We were very impatient and ended up playing a pretty poor third quarter," Kritch said. "Karen (Baird) got her fourth foul at the end of the third but I didn't take her out like (Western) took out Hall. I took a chance but it paid off because she played the final eight minutes without committing another foul."

An aggressive pressing defense forced some turnovers and resulted in some easy baskets for Northville in the fourth. With three minutes remaining in the game, the Mustangs had a 47-41 lead and Kritch called for the stall to run out the clock. Northville hit 4-of-6 free throws in the final minutes to secure the win.

Baird had a game-high 20 points to lead the scoring attack. Stevens added 19 and 11 rebounds and Strt chipped in 10. Hall was held to 13 for

Western

NORTHVILLE 46, HARRISON 27. The Mustangs made it two in a row with a routine victory over undermanned Harrison on Oct. 6.

It was a game Kritch expected to win. He wanted to end it as early as possible and then empty the bench and that's exactly what happened. Northville took a commanding 30-7 lead into the locker room at halftime and then coasted from there.

"The game was over at the half," Kritch said. "We were hoping to knock them out early and then get everybody into the game. I see no need to beat them 70-10. In a game like this, everybody ends up wanting to get it over with as soon as possible."

In limited action, Baird and Stevens shared scoring honors with 12 points apiece. Darcy Piezel had a game-high 13 for Harrison.

The Mustangs (9-2 overall, 3-2 in WLAA Western Division play) will host Plymouth Canton tonight (Oct. 13) in a very important rematch. Northville will be out for revenge after falling to the Chiefs 71-25 earlier in the season.

Mustangs of the Week

DEBBIE BUELL

Northville football coach Darrel Schumacher was disappointed how easy Livonia Franklin moved the ball on his defense, but he had nothing but kind words for outside linebacker Mike Hale. The Mustangs lost the game 22-8 on Oct. 8 but the 6-foot-1, 205-pound Hale had an outstanding outing and that's why he is one of our "Mustangs of the Week." The senior made six solo tackles and added three assists against the Patriots. "Mike Hale was all over the field," Schumacher said. "He is a solid player who rarely makes mistakes and seems to be in the right spot all the time." Hale is another in a long line of great linebackers Northville's produced the past few seasons.

Junior swimmer Debbie Buell has been standout for the Northville swim team for three seasons but this one is shaping up as the best ever. In WLA swimming action last week, Buell helped lead the Mustangs to an 89-83 victory over Canton with several outstanding efforts. For that reason, Buell has been named a "Mustang of the Week." Buell took first place in the 200-yard IM and also set her second state meet qualifying cut of the season. She also has state cut in the 500 freestyle. In addition, Buell was a member of the winning 200 medley relay team along with Kristin Storm, Pam Holdridge and Michelle Stephens, and placed second in the 500 freestyle against Canton.

Storm, Buell key 89-83 swim victory

A slight advantage in depth helped the Northville tankers hold on for an exciting 89-83 WLA Western Division dual meet victory over Plymouth Canton on Oct. 8.

It was a big win for the Mustangs, who successfully bounced back from a dual meet loss to Livonia Churchill a week earlier. Northville is now 3-1 overall, 2-1 in the WLA.

"It was pretty close all the way through," Mustang Coach Bill Dicks said. "The depth factor helped us, but honestly I thought it would help us more than it did. All-in-all I was very satisfied with the win and I was glad to see us make two more state cuts."

Northville grabbed first place honors in seven of the 11 events, and freshman Kristin Storm led the way with wins in the 100-yard freestyle and the 100 breast stroke. Storm's win in the 100 freestyle was quick enough to make yet another state meet qualifying time — her second so far.

The rest of the Mustangs firsts came from Debbie Buell in the 200 IM (state cut time), Michelle Stephens in the 50 freestyle, Pam Holdridge in the 100 butterfly, the 200 medley relay squad with Buell, Storm, Holdridge and Stephens, and the 400 freestyle relay team of Stephens, Julie Hilfinger, Becky Frayne and Erin Holmberg.

Holmberg chipped in with a pair of second place finishes in the 200 and the 100 freestyle races. The other seconds included Wendy Beach in diving, Hilfinger in the 100 butterfly, Holdridge in the 100 backstroke and Buell in the 500 freestyle.

"We had some good, close races," Dicks said. "A lot were down to the wire, so it was a good thing they had electronic timing devices because many were too close to call with the naked eye.

"Our primary goal was to see how many personal best times we could set. We were concerned primarily with evaluating our training so far this season, and I think we are right where we hoped to be at this stage of the season."

The Mustangs — who are still ranked in the top 10 among Class A teams in the state — will host Walled Lake Central tonight (Oct. 13).

Detroit Curling Club now forming leagues

The Detroit Curling Club is now forming leagues for men, ladies, couples, teens and senior citizens. Located at 5000 Drake Road in West Bloomfield, the club is beginning its 104th season.

A Novice Clinic to teach the skills of the game to newcomers has been scheduled for Sunday, Oct. 30, at 1 p.m.

Other upcoming dates include open curling, curling lessons and a Coney Island dinner on Saturday, Nov. 19, at 6 p.m. and open curling, lessons and a Mexican dinner on Saturday, Nov. 26, at 6 p.m.

All interested people are invited to attend the events, either to participate or to watch. There's a $6 fee to curl, and dinners range in price from $6 to $7.50. Reservations are deemed very important and can be made by calling 661-2890.

The game of curling is played inside on an ice surface between two teams of four players. Curling is played during the winter months from October to April.

Hundreds of recreational leagues are organized across the country, allowing young and old to enjoy the spirited competition within social surroundings.

Ailing kickers fall to Falcons, Chargers

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

With a roster looking more like a patient list at a hospital, the Northville kickers couldn't have picked a worse time to play solid teams like Farmington and Livonia Churchill (ranked third in the state Class A).

Not surprisingly, the Mustangs dropped both matches, but coach Dave Yezback was pleased to see his squad remain competitive despite all the problems.

When the Mustangs fell to Farmington 3-1 on Oct. 3, the injury list was long and imposing: Andy Frey (hip), Ed Petit (thigh bruise), Roger Kimary (knee), Gordie Gray (hamstring), Steve Nagy (knee) and Noel Korowin (broken arm). The walking wounded included the team's top goaltender, top defenseman, top midfielder and top goalscorer.

"I had to sit out a lot of players against Farmington because we really needed to try and recover from some of these injuries," Yezback said. "It turned out to be a pretty good game and we played well."

Northville ended the scoreless deadlock at the 39-minute mark Chris Hinz beat the Falcon goaltender to a loose ball, chipped it to Matt Mills and he drilled it into the open net for what proved to be a 1-0 halftime lead.

It was all down hill from there, however, as Farmington scored three unanswered goals in the second half to pull out the win. To make matters worse, three more starters went down in the half: Tom Ursel (broken nose), Tim Goode (pulled muscle) and Pat McGrail (pulled muscle). Goode and McGrail are expected back soon, but Ursel will be out for at least one week.

"By the end of the game, we were down to bare bones," Yezback noted. "I'm hoping we have another opportunity to play (Farmington) again when we're healthy."

LIVONIA CHURCHILL 4, NORTHVILLE 0: Yezback was hoping to sneak up on the Chargers on Oct. 5 — and he had a few more players back in the line-up — but it didn't happen. "(Churchill) is a good, quality team and even though we went into the game much healthier, we still had some trouble," Yezback said. "They overpowered us with their movement, especially in the first half."

The Chargers scored at the nine-minute mark, at the 20-minute mark and then just before intermission to take a 3-0 lead. Midway through the second half, Churchill added a fourth goal and that's how it ended. Interestingly, three of the four goals came on deep throw-ins.

"I was happy to see that we managed to contain them in the open field," Yezback admitted. "They only got one goal that way but they really executed well on the restarts. Their throw-ins were deep and went into very congested areas, and to their credit, they convert them."

The Chargers outshot the Mustangs 15-1 in the first half and ended with a lopsided 23-8 advantage. Kimary returned to goal for his play.

Netters top Ypsilanti team, 6-1

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

With important tournaments just around the corner, the Northville tennis squad warmed up with an easy 6-1 conference victory over Ypsilanti on Oct. 4.

"It probably would have been 7-0 but Mustang Coach Uta Filkin pulled Abby Edwards out of the singles line-up and moved her down to the doubles ranks in an attempt to rest her aching elbow.

"I moved Abby down because of the tendonitis in her elbow, so we weren't quite as strong in the singles, but we were probably stronger in doubles," Filkin said. "I was hoping it would mean less stress on the elbow, but she played the same in doubles as she does in singles, so it didn't really help."

In singles, Adrienne Edwards topped Laura Henlein (6-0, 6-2), Karen Vogt defeated Lisa Robb (6-3, 6-0) and Dianne Vogt outlasted Mary Gordon (3-6, 6-3, 6-3). Neysa Colizzi moved up from doubles to No. 4 singles, but fell to Sharon Doyle in three sets (3-6, 6-2, 4-6).

Abby Edwards and Jacquie Trausch teamed up for a 6-1, 6-2 win over Sarah Clancy and Kristi Bristol at No. 1, Merlynn Millgard and Jennifer Juhasz nipped Denise Bowley and Heather McCafferty at No. 2 (7-6, 6-1) and the third team of Alica Hanson and Kavitha Sriraman turned back Kelly Zylstra and Stephanie Hildebrandt (6-2, 1-6, 6-2).

NORTHVILLE 4, MERCY 4: This dual meet on Oct. 6 was actually just a scrimmage between two of the better tennis programs around. This time Filkin took Edwards completely out of the line-up and used Karen Vogt in two matches instead of one. "It went quite well," Filkin said. "It was just a scrimmage, but it was good for the team to get in a little more practice. It was actually one of our stronger showings against Mercy."

Nicole Transou topped Adrienne Edwards at No. 1 (2-6, 0-6) but Vogt won a pro-set match at No. 2 (6-6) over Shannon Fitzpatrick and then came back to win a conventional match at No. 3 - 6-4, 6-1. Dianne Vogt then lost a close 2-6, 6-7 clash to Sue Strong at No. 4.

The top doubles match was a great one. Trausch and Colizzi played very well but still ended up on the short end of a 6-3, 3-6, 6-7 score against Kristi Spade and Lynette Illajan. Juhasz and Millgard turned back Heather Bailen and Sue Broughton (6-3, 6-3) at No. 2 while the Hanson/Sriraman duo at No. 3 split two tie breakers with Robin Baker and Allison West (7-6, 6-7) before both sides decided to play a third tie breaker to decide the issue.

"We played a tie breaker for the third set, but we lost it," Filkin said. "They had already been playing for two and a half hours."

The two teams also squared off in a fourth doubles match and it was Northville's Julie Howard and Shannon Price registering the victory.

The Mustangs (11-3 overall, 9-3 in WLLA) will be the host team for the MHSAA Regional Tournament slated for Oct. 14-15. The action will be split between three sites: Northville, Schoolcraft College and Livonia Stevenson, and will feature 14 teams and about 140 players.

The top two teams in the region will qualify for a trip to the state meet and Filkin thinks her team has a chance.

Dart paces runners at invitational

The Northville girls cross country team is playing the dreaded numbers game, and it looks like they're losing the battle.

With only four runners able to finish a pair of races last week, the Mustangs are really unable to compete as a team right now. At the Redford Union Invite on Oct. 4, Northville was saddled with the unpopular DNF (did not finish) symbol after it was all over.

Sophomore Marcie Dart continues to perform well, but she hasn't been getting much help. In a group of nearly 100 runners, Dart finished 16th in a time of 21:15. She was followed by Lisa Brown (47th, 22:44), Kari VanNoord (no time available) and Kathy Namy (no time available).

"We had five girls start the race and four finish," Northville Coach Nick Dunwoodie said.

PLYMOUTH CANTON 15, NORTHVILLE 47: Again, the Mustangs had only four finish this Oct. 6 race, but it really didn't matter. The Chiefs are ranked seventh in the state, Class A, so the lopsided loss wasn't a surprise.

"We got shut out," Dunwoodie said. "They took the top five places. Canton is an excellent team, so there were really no surprises."

Dart placed sixth overall (21:40) and first for the Mustangs, but she was pushed by Brown, who had a personal best time of 21:55 for eighth place overall. VanNoord (17th, 28:05) and Namy (18th, 31:25) followed MVPs in the game included Gina Cochran, Owen Osborne, Lisa Tolstedt and Alica Krueger.

BOYS UNDER 12: Thanks to a two-goal performance by Jeff Ziesler, Northville Arsenal topped Livonia No. 1, 3-1. Dominic Frazaee also scored a goal and was the defensive most valuable performer... The Northville Express slipped past Livonia No. 3 on Jason Molter's two goals and Ben Szostek's one. John Matthews was the MVP on defense for the winners... The Rowdies ripped Farmington No. 8, 5-0. Tim Piner (2), Joey Lee, Scott Anderson and Brett Whelan all scored for the Rowdies and Jeff Kochman was the defensive star... Livonia No. 8 stopped United 2-0. Sean Hollister and Rob Wilkard were the MVPs for United.

GIRLS UNDER 12: Brie Nelson scored a goal, but Plymouth still bombed the Hot Spurs 5-1. Livonia No. 4 blanked Northville United 1-0. Adrienne Dunkerly and Kately Mills were the standouts for United. Lindsay Petrie scored a goal and Rebecca Anderson and Courtney Hamilton continued for another as United shut out the Livonia Cougars. Katie Rompel was the MVP on defense for United... In the finals of the Livonia-Northville Challenge Cup, the Livonia Mustangs edged United 2-0.

BOYS UNDER 14: Farmington beat Northville Arsenal 4-2. Bret Swalberg and Joe Long scored for Arsenal and Chris Clark was the MVP. United trounced Livonia No. 1, 6-0. Goals were scored by Rich Bell, Jon Warborg, Craig Yarmuth, Mike Kapusky, Steve Moore and Danny Lyczak. Goalender Gordie Collins got credit for the shut out... Sean Gordon and Curtis Wahl scored for the Express, but Plymouth No. 2 still won the match, 4-2. Robby Clark and Troy Heimick were the MVPs. Anthony DeBenedictis' goal helped the Rowdies nip Farmington 1-0. Jason Brown had a fine defensive game for the winners.

GIRLS UNDER 14: The Rowdies blanked the Farmington Wildcats 2-0 on goals by Jennifer Ellis and Suzan Asabhi. Christine Potter and Kristi Rhoads were the MVPs for the Rowdies... In a cross-town battle, United dumped the Express 5-0. Katie Pinesman (2), Karen Schwartz, Sarah Piner and Liz Monczka scored for United. Anita Wilhelm was the defensive standout for the Express.

BOYS UNDER 16: Jeff Kinnelly scored four goals and Rod Kotylo tallied twice to lead United to a wild 8-0 tie with Huron Valley. Dave Murray was the defensive MVP and Matt Oseicki (six assists) was the offensive star... Plymouth topped the Rowdies 2-1. Mike Matthews scored a goal and Don Green was the defensive most valuable player.

COLTS: J.V. team remains unbeaten

JUNIOR VARSITY: The Northville-Novit Colts Junior Varsity recorded another shut out to remain undefeated after four games. The Colts blanked the Ann Arbor Eagles 14-0 and forced seven turnovers in the game. The Colts held the Eagles to seven yards in total offense. Ryan Yampourin blocked two punts and one accounted for a safety. The other eventually led to a touchdown by Brian Kelley. Craig Borshako had a good day, recovering two fumbles and returning one for a ten yard touchdown. The defensive star of the game was Marc Golden, who accounted for two interceptions, two big quarterback sacks and one fumble recovery. Ron Kane also had an interception for the Colts.

FRESHMAN: The freshman team raised their record to a 3-0 record in a 12-0 victory over the Ann Arbor Eagles. Jim Zayti, Eric Gustav and Nick Blagini led a defense that never allowed an Ann Arbor past midfield. The offense was led by Eric Moore and Jim Insland.

Northville linksters notch regional title

The Northville linksters would like to think they are among the state's best, and after the MHSAA Regional Tournament in Brighton on Oct. 7, who could argue?

The once-beaten Mustangs attained a season-long goal by winning the regional crown and qualifying for the state meet as a team. Northville tied with WLA rival Livonia Churchill after 18 holes of play at Oak Palate Golf Course, but grabbed first place honors in the 18-hole event with a lower score from its fifth golfer.

"I really thought we had a chance to win it, but in golf you never know," Mustang Coach Don Morgan said. "It was a cold and windy day and the scores were high. I still think we can play better golf but I'm certainly not complaining. We could have shot 180 a man and I'd be happy just as long as we came out on top."

James Nordbeck continued his hot streak with a fine round of 38-38 — 76 to lead the Mustangs. His score tied two other golfers from Howell and Milford for third place honors overall, so a sudden death playoff was organized to break the tie. On the first hole of the playoff, Nordbeck canned a 12-footer for a birdie to stay alive and then won the playoff on the next hole with a routine par.

"James went up there and sank the putt as cool as a cucumber," Morgan said. "It was exciting."

The rest of the Northville competitors included Chris Lemmon (82), Mike Crichton (82), and Kevin Telepo (85). But Dave McKee's 87 was the fifth and deciding score in the tie with Churchill.

"Telepo and Lemmon should have both been in the 70s and they will need to be when we play in the state meet if we are to have a chance," Morgan said. "But our kids seem to respond to pressure. We're now at a position where we can surprise a lot of people (at the state meet). I'm not saying we can win it, but I'm not saying we can't either. If we play well, we're one of the top teams in the state. We really believe that."

The state meet will be played on Oct. 15 at Forest Akers Golf Course at Michigan State University. A year ago, Telepo finished seventh as an individual in the tournament, and it was held at Forest Akers. In addition, Lemmon won a prestigious tournament at Forest Akers last summer, so Morgan is confident his players will perform well there.

"Lemmon and Telepo have both shot well there and James Nordbeck can shoot well at just about any course," he said. "That leaves Crichton and McKee, who will have to rise to the occasion. We're going to need four guys scoring in the 70s to have a shot at the state crown. We're going to go up to East Lansing this week and get familiar with the course."

NHS harriers show vast improvement

With their top four runners finishing in a pack just under a half minute, the Mustang harriers are doing exactly what coach Ed Gabrys said they'd have to do to be competitive in this — a rebuilding season.

At the Redford Union Invitational on Oct. 4 at Cass Benton Park, Northville placed ninth out of 16 teams with 250 points. Plymouth Canton took first place honors with 94.

"The kids ran really well," Gabrys said. "We had 10 of 14 personal best times and we are showing steady improvement each meet. Our top five finished in a pack of 61 seconds and our top four were under 30 seconds, so we are packing pretty well. We now need to move the pack up together and get some of those guys under the 18-minute mark."

Andy Haas paced the Mustang finishers with an 18:03 effort — good for 36th place overall. He was followed by Steve Coon (42nd, 18:13), Jay Griffith (49th, 18:30), Jon Meek (55th, 18:30) and Mike Huff (71st, 19:04).

PLYMOUTH CANTON 18, NORTHVILLE 46: The Mustangs took Gabrys' advice on Oct. 6 and placed two runners under the 18-minute barrier but still kept the 1-5 pack time at about one minute. Unfortunately, Northville was taking on powerful Canton, so the great effort wasn't evident in the score. The Chiefs took the top five places to register the shut out.

"Canton is a real good team," Gabrys said. "We used this as a chance to improve our overall times, and we did it."

Haas notched his first-ever sub-18 minute run (17:45) but could only manage a sixth place finish overall. His time was the 15th fastest effort by a Northville runner at Cass Benton and was just nine seconds off the sophomore school record. Coon was seventh overall with a best-ever time of 17:53, and his effort was just two seconds off the freshman record.

The rest of the Northville finishers included Meek (10th, 18:10), Griffith (18th, 18:31) and Huff (16th, 18:47).

"We dropped about 30 seconds as a unit but we still have a way to go," Gabrys said. "We'd like to have five runners under 18 minutes by the end of the season."

The Mustangs (3-2 overall, 3-1 in the WLA Western Division) are to travel to Livonia today (Oct. 13) to take on Franklin in a key divisional battle.

"We will both go into the meet with 3-1 records and it will be real close," Gabrys pointed out. "If the race was run on paper, they should win by three points, but when it's that close, anything can happen. Beating Franklin would make our season — it would guarantee at least a .500 record for us."

Cholesterol awareness high as ever

Ten years ago, it might not have happened — two ladies, lunching, chatting about their latest cholesterol counts over a crispy, green salad. Now, it's become rather commonplace.

The awareness level about cholesterol is as high as ever, health experts report. Pin prick tests are now readily available to the general public, while information about the risks is widely distributed by health organizations and government agencies.

"In the last year, the Michigan public has become acutely more aware that preventative medicine is very important," said Michigan Heart Association Project Director Thomas Malz.

Cholesterol content in the bloodstream basically increases with a diet heavily laden with animal fats or dairy products. It serves to increase the amount of solids in the bloodstream, clogging arteries or shrinking veins which carry blood to vital parts of the body.

Combined with other risk factors, high cholesterol can play a major role in causing heart attack or stroke.

Even with a new awareness, public health officials say plenty of education still lies ahead. There are plenty of avenues to unhealthy eating — avenues which may play a role in serious health problems later.

"What we are trying to do is educate the public so they can make informed choices," said Michigan

Dept. of Health Wellness Manager George Lafkas. "We hope those choices will lead the demand for different products."

One culprit, Lafkas said, is still "fast food," although the industry has made some changes brought about by shifts in consumer demands. Some fast-food restaurants are now using lowfat oils for deep frying, in addition to cutting the amount of fat content in their meats. Most are now offering a full range of chicken products, which are an alternative to red meats, and in turn, cholesterol content, for a lot of eaters.

The Health Department last week held a seminar on what foods contain the least cholesterol in the fast-food environment.

So-called "junk food" products, like potato chips, have diversified their offerings of low cholesterol and low salt products.

"They really aren't going to change until the public demands it," Lafkas said.

Cholesterol tests monitor the amount of cholesterol in a very small amount of blood — per deciliter, or one-tenth of a liter. Readings of 200 or less are considered normal. Readings between 200-239 are considered borderline and call for some changes in diet. Results over 240 call for changes in diet, increased exercise and, if high enough (over 300), perhaps medication to control the levels.

'Think Trim' seminar coming to area

A recent survey given to doctors on the subject of dieting indicates a majority believe dieting in itself does not work. The doctors surveyed recommended a change in lifestyle instead.

Lorraine Stefano, A.C.S.W., founder and director of the popular "THINK TRIM" program, has successfully taught the principles of losing weight and maintaining weight loss by helping participants to change their eating pattern and lifestyles for over eight years. Stefano brings her all-day seminar to the Farmington Community Center on Saturday, Oct. 22, from 9:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The cost of the seminar is $40 and registrations can be made by calling the Center at 477-8404.

"Almost every diet out there will help you lose weight," said Stefano. "But once you reach your ideal weight, the chances of gaining all of your weight back, and more, are even greater."

"The yo-yo syndrome of gaining and losing weight is very unhealthy. If you can lose weight and learn the tools to maintain it, you will be healthier and feel better," Stefano said.

Stefano has helped people develop a more positive attitude about themselves and their relationship to food through her THINK TRIM principles. She stresses the importance of self image, self motivation, healthy attitudes, losing weight and keeping it off.

A vibrant and energetic speaker, Stefano's seminars are spiced with humor and poignant stories.

For more information on the Oct. 22 seminar at the Farmington Community Center or any of the THINK TRIM programs, call Lorraine Stefano at 589-3283.

CPR CLASS: A Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation class is being offered by Schoolcraft College for one week, on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 6-10 p.m. beginning Oct. 25.

An American Red Cross CPR certification card is issued upon successful completion of the course. Cost is $18. For more information, call 591-6400, ext. 410.

SWIMMING SESSION: The Mercy Center on 11 Mile Road in Farmington Hills will be offering a swimming session this fall.

The open swimming will be Monday through Friday from 6:30-8 a.m. and Saturday from 7:30-9 a.m. The Saturday session includes a lap swim, swim classes, private lessons and adapted aquatics for adults. Call 473-1815 for more information.

STOP SMOKING CLASS: St. Mary Hospital of Livonia will offer free classes to help smokers "kick the habit" and get a fresh start on life. Classes will be held on Mondays and Thursdays, 1:30 to 2:30 p.m. The dates are October 13, 17 and 20.

Preregistration is necessary, although the classes are free. Please call 464-4880, ext. 2400 for additional information or to register.

SCHOOLCRAFT FACILITIES OPEN: Schoolcraft College's modern physical education facilities are available for community use on Thursdays and Sundays.

On Sundays, the entire physical education facility will be available from 1-5 p.m. for the Sunday Health Club. Members of the club can take advantage of a full-competition swimming pool with a separate diving area, six racquetball courts, volleyball and basketball courts, a weight training room and muscle-soothing saunas. Schoolcraft College is located on Haggerty Road between Six and Seven Mile in Livonia. For more information call 591-6400, extension 540.

HEALTH/FITNESS CLASSES: Botstord General Hospital on Grand River in Farmington Hills is offering numerous health and fitness related classes this fall.

• An adult CPR class is being offered the first Thursday of every month from 7-10 p.m., in the Administration and Education Center. Fee is $5, for more information call 471-9090.

• Free blood pressure screenings and vision screenings will be offered on Oct. 10 from 1-4 p.m.

• Infant and child CPR will be the first Monday of each month from 7-10 p.m. Fee is $5.

• Blood pressure education classes will be held on Oct. 19 and run for four consecutive Tuesdays from 7-9 p.m. Fee is $25.

• An Alzheimer support group will meet at 7:30 p.m. the first Tuesday of every month. For more information, call Carolyn Darling at 477-7400.

MATERNITY FITNESS: The Motherwell Maternity Fitness Program at the University of Michigan Medical Center offers classes every Tuesday and Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the M-Care Health Center in Northville.

The medically-approved exercise classes, designed specifically for pregnant women, are taught by certified instructors and provide many benefits.

A package of information is available by calling 936-5186.

WALK AT THE MALL: People who enjoy walking are invited to use the climate-controlled corridors at Twelve Oaks Mall. Walkers are welcomed Monday through Saturday at 9 a.m. and Sunday at 11 a.m.

Family escape plan can prevent fire tragedy

By LINDA PASSINI, R.N.

October is Fire Prevention Month and now is the time to consider what you can do to prevent fire in your home and how to react in case you or a family member becomes a victim of fire. Needless waste of lives and property can be easily prevented through education on fire safety and by developing a family escape plan from your home.

Causes/Prevention: Three elements — air, fuel and heat — are necessary for a fire to start. Paper, cloth, grease, wood and combustibles such as oily rags and paint are common household fuels involved in fires. Take an inventory of your home and get rid of any unnecessary items, especially if stored in the attic, basement or closets. Also be aware of the following to help prevent fires.

Smoke Detectors: Place smoke detectors at the top of stairs and near sleeping areas. Batteries should be tested and changed periodically.

Fireplaces: Special attention is required for fireplaces. Use a screen to prevent flying sparks and logs from rolling out. Keep dampers open and never use flammable liquids to start a fire.

Matches and Lighters: Children are frequently fascinated with matches and lighters and often get burned while experimenting. Satisfy children's curiosities while educating them to the dangers of fire. Keep matches and lighters out of children's reach and never allow them to play with them.

Heaters: Take time to have your heating devices inspected and cleaned before use. Portable electric heaters should be used and installed according to manufacturer's instructions. All space heaters and wiring should have UL (Underwriter's Laboratory) approval. Propane heaters should have protective screening around the heat source; keep all heating devices away from combustibles. People, especially children, should not wear loose clothing near heaters.

Fireplaces: Special attention is required for fireplaces. Check brickwork on older fireplaces. Use a screen to prevent flying sparks and logs from rolling out. Keep dampers open and never use flammable liquids to start a fire.

Baby sitters should be instructed in safe fire practices before being left alone with children. Emphasize that children are not to be left unattended. In case of fire, children should be lead from the house in a calm and reassuring manner and prevented from returning to the home. Discuss pre-planned escape routes and have phone numbers for the fire and rescue department easily accessible.

When handling a fire emergency, don't panic and remember to save lives first. Get your family safely outside and then call the fire department. Develop an escape plan that includes alternate routes. It is one of the single most important factors in your family's survival from a house fire. Decide on a meeting place outside the house where everyone will assemble as soon as they are outside. Never return to a burning house.

Pay particular attention to the bedrooms since nighttime fires are usually the most serious and children tend to panic and hide in closets or under beds. Everyone should sleep with their bedroom door closed at night. A closed door can delay the spread of fire and keep out deadly gases and smoke for the few minutes needed to escape.

Check all windows and make sure that bedroom windows, screens or storm can be opened easily by children. It may be impossible to get out through a high window or to open a window that is painted shut or blocked by an air conditioner. Explain to children how to break window glass and how to clear away pieces of glass remaining in the frame.

Getting down from a second-story window may require a rope or folding ladder. Agree on a way that any member of the family can sound an alarm since the fire may block hallways and prevent you from reaching other bedrooms. Time should not be wasted collecting possessions.

If the panels or knob of a door is warm, the door should be kept closed and an alternate escape route used. If the door is not hot, brace your foot and hip against the door and open cautiously to prevent extremely heated air from blowing it open. If no hot air or smoke is present, it is probably safe to pass through.

If you are forced to remain in a room, stay near a slightly open window with towels or clothes placed in door cracks. To cross a smoke-filled room, crawl with your head about 18 inches above the floor. Hang a sheet outside the window to signal for help.

Taking the time to prepare your home and family for a fire emergency is a responsibility that any parent can easily accomplish. Please obtain more detailed information and advice on fire prevention from your local fire department.

DAVIS AUTO CARE

TIRE CENTER

YOUR COMPLETE AUTO SERVICE CENTER
807 DOHENY DR. — NORTHVILLE

Prepare now:

Cold weather is approaching fast

It's true the cost of preventive car care in the fall couldn't buy a new pair of skis, but ignoring your vehicle before the first snowfall could cost enough to cancel your winter vacation on the slopes.

The theory is a popular one—pay little now or a lot later.

Start your fall car inspection by checking the condition of your battery, says the Automotive Information Council. Battery efficiency decreases at lower temperatures, so if you are having trouble starting the car now in warm weather, it's likely the problem will be worse later. If the battery's charge is low but the battery is fairly new, have it recharged; otherwise, have it replaced. Check the battery terminals for any corrosion and clean them, too, since poor connections can cause starting problems.

Next, take a look at your auto's cooling system. It should be drained and flushed clean about every two years. Inspect the cooling systems hoses and replace any hoses that are rotted, cracked or brittle. Check the hose clamps for rust and tighten any that are loose.

Give the exhaust system some attention. Look underneath the car for loose clamps or rusted areas. If you tighten a loose clamp now, it could save you an expensive replacement bill later. Replace any part of the exhaust system that leaks or shows signs of excessive rust. Since most people drive with the car's windows up during the winter months, carbon monoxide poisoning from an exhaust leak is a hazard.

Reliable brakes are vital for safe winter driving. Check the brake fluid level. If fluid is low, have the system checked for leaks. If brakes grab, drag, make noise or pull the car to the side when applied, have them checked.

Here are some additional tips from Dave Bowman, technical communications manager for Fram/Autolite:

Engine: Get a tune-up if it has not been done within the past 10,000 miles. This should include fresh spark plugs.

Oil: Change oil and filter. Check owner's manual for proper weight of winter oil in your area.

Spark plug wires: Check them. If the wires are more than four years old, replace them. Heat and oil damage spark plug wires over time.

Tires: If snow tires are a necessity in your area, be sure yours are the same size and type as the other tires on your car. Never mix bias or bias-belted tires with radials. On front-wheel-drive cars, put snow tires on the front. In warmer areas, make sure your tires are safe and properly inflated before winter sets in. That goes for the spare, too.

Fluids: Be sure all fluids are at proper levels. Also, be sure anti-freeze is not just strong enough to prevent freezing, but fresh enough to prevent rust.

The best time to do these checks is now—before an auto breakdown leaves you stranded some cold, snowy night.

Proper care keeps your heater running

There is perhaps no greater inconvenience of winter driving than a heater that won't work.

Most passenger compartment heaters use the coolant to warm the incoming fresh air. In addition to providing driver and passenger comfort, the warm air directed to the inside of the windshield generally prevents fogging or icing which obscures vision.

The personal distress of cold fingers and toes can be avoided, says the Gates Rubber Company, by inspecting the heat-producing cooling system components in your car.

Troubleshooting should begin with the coolant level in the radiator (just below the filler neck) and mixture (50 percent each water and antifreeze). A low level will reduce or cancel the flow of coolant to the heater, thereby reducing or preventing any heat output.

The radiator pressure cap helps to raise and control the temperature of the coolant in the system. It should be replaced if the seat or gasket is damaged, or if the spring is broken.

The thermostat acts as a heat sensitive valve which regulates the flow of coolant to the radiator. When the thermostat fails or malfunctions, the engine either will overheat or take longer to get any heat, because the engine will take longer to reach proper operating temperature. It is a good practice to replace a thermostat if you're in doubt, advises Gates.

Flexible hoses convey the liquid coolant between the radiator and the engine. They should be inspected for softness, cracks and cuts. In normal service, they are afected by air, heat, chemicals, oil and constant vibration.

These conditions either could harden or crack hoses, which destroys flexibility and causes leakage, or soften and swell the hoses, producing lining failure and hose rupture.

Two other important hoses run parallel from the engine to the heater, normally found under the dashboard. These, too, should be checked for swelling and cracks, and for abrasion to the hose cover where the hoses come in contact with the engine block.

The water pump and fan drive might be called the heart of the cooling system. Coolant circulates throughout the engine by means of the water pump, which is driven by a rubber belt.

Loose or worn belts could mean failure of the drive. Check the condition of the drive belts by turning them over, Gates suggests. Replace any that are cracked, frayed, brittle, wet with oil or highly polished on the sides that contact the pulleys.

Regardless of the visual condition, belts that are more than four years old should be replaced, according to Gates.

These troubleshooting procedures could solve the problem of a malfunctioning heating system. Other trouble areas, such as a clogged or leaking heating core, faulty electrical connections and fuses, a broken blower motor or a non-operating heater control valve, should be checked by an experienced mechanic.

At the very least, this exercise will prepare your cooling system for the hard winter months ahead.

Warmups vital to long engine life

A familiar scene on a cold morning is a car idling in a driveway with exhaust billowing from its tailpipe. In the house, the owner comfortably finishes a second cup of coffee. The car will be toasty warm when the time comes to take off for work.

The owner may justify this wasteful practice with the excuse that the car operates better when it is allowed to warm up before driving.

Wrong, says Car Care Council. When the choke is set, as is the case when a cold engine is started and left at fast idle, the car is burning gas at a furious rate.

Engine wear is accelerated because raw fuel from the enriched mixture washes lubricating oil down the cylinder walls. This also contaminates the oil in the engine crankcase, further inviting engine damage.

Another consideration is the possibility of overheating the catalytic converter in the exhaust system. Unburned fuel in the exhaust is burned off in the converter. If it gets hot enough, it could set something on fire, especially if the car is parked over a flammable substance which could ignite. The car itself could catch fire.

It's A Class Evening. Wed. Oct. 19, 7 PM

Registration is limited, so please sign up today.

Attend a free Car Care Clinic. It's taught by Goodyear certified auto technicians and it's of special interest to women.

The technicians will instruct you on the importance of preventive maintenance, and demonstrate the state-of-the-art computerized equipment they have at hand to analyze and repair your car.

But more important than the, you'll learn the basics of how your car works. So the next time you have to take your car in for service, you can do it with confidence when you explain your car's problems to the service manager or technician.

Workbook materials are provided free—and so are the refreshments.

There is no cost or obligation of any kind, so sign up today by visiting or calling Novi-Motive today! The more you know about preventive maintenance, the longer we both can make our car last.

Give your car a new winter coat

Just like you, your car's body needs a good "coat" for wintertime, protecting it from ice, snow, salt and grime.

A basic step in preparing a car for winter weather is to wash and wax it thoroughly. However, many people risk ruining the car's shine because all they are determined to use for winter prep is a "durable" car wax.

Many car waxes that are dubbed "durable" also may be those that contain harsh abrasives that will damage the "clear coat" finishes of today's cars. They end up doing more harm than good.

Since the early 1960's most cars have been painted with a clear coat finish that is actually a non-pigment layer of paint that adds depth and durability to the shine.

One problem with clear coats is that waxing them with a highly abrasive wax will cause white "swirl" marks or hazing—resulting in a lackluster shine and a damaged finish.

"Ideally a wax should be durable, deliver a great shine, be easy to apply and not scratch your car," says Dr. Jim Latty, Armour All Product Corp.'s vice president of research and development. "That's what we set out to do in developing Armour All's first car wax product."

To locate ingredients that would be safe for clear coat paints, yet deliver a durable, high shine, Armour All went to the jewelry industry to acquire the same grade of polishing agents used by jewelers to shine crystal and gold. These polishing agents are five times finer than traditional automotive wax polishing agents.

"Super-fine polishing agents provide less surface resistance, allowing consumers to wax their cars in less time, while the superior silicones and waxes provide an incredible shine and outstanding durability," said Dr. Latty.

So, this year, when looking for that great winter "coat" for your car, search for one that not only provides durability for the long winter months, but durability for your car's delicate clear coat finish.

Proper tire care pro-extends tread life

Proper tire care can prolong tire life by 50 percent or more—saving you money and making your automobile safer. Modern radial tires are designed to last about 40,000 miles, but many motorists must replace tires early because they failed to take proper care of their tires.

According to experts at the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., the average motorist spends more on tire care each year than he does on any other replacement part of his car. This cost can be considerably reduced simply by performing weekly wear tire and inflation checks.

The single worst thing you can do to your tires is to run them underinflated. Tires that are underinflated run hotter and have a higher failure rate than most with correct inflation. But you can't always tell when a tire is underinflated simply by looking at it. Modern low-profile tires often look low when they are at correct pressure. Have the tires checked with an accurate tire pressure gauge. Don't rely on the service station air pump. These units are frequently off by as much as four pounds.

The National Tire Dealers & Retailers Association recommends that you carry a tire gauge in the glove box or have your tires checked by your local tire dealer. Underinflated tires also increase rolling resistance and can decrease fuel economy by as much as a mile per gallon!

Another common mistake that many people make is to overinflate their tires. Putting too much air in a tire is almost as bad as not enough. An overinflated tire rolls more easily and actually may help fuel economy a little, but fuel savings are more than offset by excessive tread wear.

Proper inflation is not, however, the only cause of tire wear. Uneven tire wear can also be caused by a misaligned suspension or an out-of-balance tire. Uneven wear and scalloping also can be an indication that the shock absorbers are bad. Keeping your wheels in alignment, tires balanced, and making sure your shocks are in good condition will go a long way toward extending tire life.

Another factor in increasing tire life is rotation. Experts at the Rubber Manufacturers Association recommended that tires be rotated every 6,000 to 8,000 miles. The rotation pattern is noted in your auto owner's manual. If, however, you notice uneven wear, rotating the tires won't solve the problem. You'll need to have your vehicle checked and any problems corrected.

No matter how carefully you take care of your tires, sooner or later they will wear out. To alert you to the fact that the tread depth is reaching a critical level, tire manufacturers have built wear indicators into your tires. These treadless strips appear across the tread pattern to warn the motorist that only one-16th of an inch of tread remains and that the tires should be replaced. Driving on tires with wear indicators showing is illegal as well as dangerous. Don't try to squeeze a few extra miles out of your tires. Replace them as soon as the wear bars show through.

nothing. In fact, the extra mileage you get from taking care of your tires is like putting money in the bank.

The following tips and suggestions are intended to help you get the most from your tires:

□ Purchase an inexpensive tire gauge and keep it in the glove box. These gauges only cost a few dollars and can be purchased at any auto parts store.

□ Don't forget to check the spare. Over time, spare tires can lose air.

First-timers need checklist when buying new vehicles

Look closely at the automobile ads in your favorite magazines. The female model is more likely to be in a business suit behind the wheel rather than perched on the bumper in a bikini.

The reason for the change in ad focus? Pure economics. As more women are bringing home paychecks than they did 15 years ago, more are buying cars on their own or being the main decision-maker on the purchase.

Women were the primary purchasers of nearly 40 percent of all new cars in 1985, compared with only 23 percent in 1970, according to J.D. Power & Associates, an automotive research firm. Women had some part in the buying decision in eight out of 10 new car models.

Even with the rise in figures, car buying is still new territory for women, and some salesmen have yet to get the picture, wanting a husband or male friend there to "help" with the big decision.

Sales pitches and a confusing selection of models and options can overwhelm any car buyer. Here's a guide to help the first timer get from the showroom to the street:

□ Take time to research the market, says automotive expert Jack R. Nerad of Motor Trend magazine. There are just too many choices. Also, take time to assess your needs since too often car buyers dive into the market without even bothering to determine what kind of car fits their particular circumstance.

Family Circle magazine suggests reading automotive and consumer magazines, quizzing friends about what problems they've had with their cars and even checking with a loan officer at the bank or credit union about car loan rates. Take a few weeks to determine what you want.

□ Next, head for the showrooms with a list of your top four or five cars. Don't fall in love warn Consumer Reports editors. Make sure the dealership you finally decide to buy from offers you the fairest deal and will be equally cooperative about servicing after your purchase.

Take time to inspect the car's physical features, like steering wheel angles and legroom, passenger and trunk space and the car's interior and exterior finish, suggests Family Circle. Don't be tempted to buy because of pressure from the salesman; it's best to go home, think it over and then narrow your list.

□ Once that list is trimmed to just one or two models, it's time for a test drive. Family Circle suggests doing all the test drives in one day, using one route for all. If possible, include highway and city streets, hills and bumpy roads, and make the entire drive last from 20 to 30 minutes. After each test drive, note your reactions—if you aren't happy with the performance now, chances are you won't be later, either.

□ After your testing and research, you should be able to come to a final decision. Now comes the bargaining. Remember that the car market is the last of the great American sales frontiers—the sticker price is negotiable, not absolute. How much you can negotiate depends on the kind of car you're buying and demand. From the research you did, you should have an idea of how much the car will cost with the options you want, keeping in mind the dealership will make a profit.

□ Finally, get the whole deal down in writing. Be sure all conditions of the sale—such as used car trade-in allowances and financing rates—are noted in writing.

As you're rolling along the highway this winter, and your car's windows fog up, don't just turn on the defroster—clear your windows with a blast from your car's air conditioner as well, says Swedish automaker Saab.

In winter, your car's windows sometimes fog because of moisture emitted from your damp clothing and other sources. It is moisture that condenses on your windows in the same way that moisture condenses on a can of cold soda pop.

In a car's air conditioning system, the evaporator takes this moist warm air from the interior compartment and simultaneously dries it as it cools.

Inside the evaporator, low pressure refrigerant gas, called freon, evaporates and turns to vapor, absorbing heat in the same way that your hand will get cold from holding a piece of ice—your hand is giving up that heat which is absorbed by the ice. Your hand then feels colder.

As the car's warm interior air passes over the cooler air conditioner's evaporator, moisture also condenses on it, just like on that can of cold soda pop. This moisture collects on the evaporator, and is discharged outside the car after it accumulates as a liquid.

This is the manner in which the air conditioner dries the interior air as it cools, and therefore reduces the tendency for the windows to fog.

If the idea of using your air conditioner to assist in defrosting your windows sounds to off beat, then at least take the other piece of advice being offered by Saab.

During the winter, Saab says, your car's air conditioning system should be switched on once or twice a month, and run five or ten minutes each time. This practice helps prevent deterioration of compressor gaskets and seals.

When you run your air conditioner, the compressor is lubricated by a special oil which circulates with the refrigerant. When you do run the air conditioner in winter, be sure the outside air temperature is above approximately 35 degrees.

Avoiding those dead battery blues

It's possible the best never-say-die battery won't get your car started this winter.

The reason, according to the Gates Rubber Company, is that not all engine parts and systems are as maintenance-free. But, you can prepare for the effects of cold weather with the following helpful tips:

□ Buy the best battery you can afford when it's time to replace it—about every three years. Cheap batteries have a lower power reserve. Remember, a battery will lose 35 percent of its cranking power at 35 degrees, and 50 percent at 0 degrees.

□ Check the condition, tightness and cleanliness of the battery posts. The electrical resistance that develops when a battery cable terminal is loose or badly corroded can cause a no-start problem.

□ Keep the gas tank full. This prevents condensation of moisture in the tank, which leads to fuel line freeze up.

□ Use the correct grade of winter motor oil for your area of the country. Most vehicle manufacturers recommend a thinner 10W-30 multi-viscosity oil to reduce engine part wear during the winter.

□ Consider a minor engine tuneup, including checks of the charging and starting systems, spark plugs, ignition wires and the choke.

Wet or cold winter weather increases deficiencies in ignition components, and worn spark plugs easily require twice the electricity of new ones. If the choke is not operating properly, the engine will crank slowly and will be hard to start.

□ Rust, seeping antifreeze and just plain old crud in the cooling system can cause your engine to crank sluggishly or not at all.

The system should be flushed out and new coolant added every other year. This also is the most convenient time to check the radiator hoses, and replace those that are soft or that show exterior cracks.

□ Check all V-belts, especially the alter-nator drive, says the Gates Rubber Company. The alternator should carry most of the electrical load, thereby reserving battery power for starting the engine and operating emergency accessories. If the belts have not been replaced in four years, they could fail at any time.

Keep exhaust system in shape this season

From the installation of snow tires to the flushing and filling of your car's radiator, the coming of winter means plenty of preparation for your car.

One area often overlooked in getting a car ready for "Old Man Winter" is the exhaust system. Like any external car part, the muffler and accompanying pipes take abuse year around, and need to be checked periodically to be sure the system is in good working order.

An emissions test will tell you if your car's engine and exhaust system are operating properly, and a careful look under the car should tell you if the muffler and pipes are solidly intact.

If the system sounds louder than usual, or if you hear a hissing sound, it could mean your muffler needs replacing or the pipes are leaking deadly carbon monoxide. With the windows rolled up during the cold months, this could be very dangerous.

Being under the car, the exhaust system is subject to damage from road debris. Corrosion from salt and moisture also is a problem and can shorten the life of a muffler.

Walker Manufacturing, for instance, is using a metal treating process with its new DynoMax line of high-performance mufflers which helps to extend the life of a muffler. The process is called aluminizing, and involves coating the metal used to construct the mufflers in order to reduce corrosion.

The aluminizing process uses a spray coating which is applied to the steel sheets before final coiling. As the sheets are being formed and rolled into flat stock, a coating is sprayed on. It adheres to the steel and becomes part of the metal.

Walker also pioneered the patented Advantage Muffler with Absorbite. This muffler uses a combination of chemical compounds to absorb corrosive elements which collect inside a muffler. The Advantage is considered a major breakthrough in prolonging muffler life.

"The use of Absorbite and the aluminizing process are methods Walker has adopted to help reduce corrosion and protect mufflers for extended life," said Kristine Johnson, market planning manager for Walker.

Consider having your exhaust system checked this fall as part of your annual preventive maintenance. Check for signs of corrosion or damage to determine whether you need a new muffler. Putting a new muffler on now may prevent losing one this fall, and will eliminate having to install one during the sub-zero months to come.
