Sale of county land tract comes to 'screeching halt'

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

The sale of the 1,040 acres of Wayne County-owned land in Northville Township has hit another snag — resulting in yet another delay in the project, according to county officials.

"Movement on the project has come to a screeching halt," said Dewitt Henry, director of Economic Development and Jobs. "The County Commission has held up our budget request and the project will sit idle until something happens."

Henry referred to a request for $300,000 by his department to complete testing on wetlands, soil borings and for legal fees.

"This has come down to a power struggle between the (county) executive and the commission over the budget," Henry said, adding the funding delay has nothing to do with the county land sale.

County Commissioner Susan Heintz (R-Northville Township) said the full commission passed Henry's money request, conditional upon approval by the Ways and Means committee.

Heintz, who is a member of the committee, said the five-member Ways and Means board voted 3-2 to deny funding for Henry's proposal.

Heintz said she was one of the two committee members who voted to approve Henry's budget request.

"The committee voted to get a funding source secured before approving the proposal," Heintz said, noting that County Executive Ed McNamara has indicated the money could come from unfilled county positions during 1989.

"This proposal is only .5 percent of the total budget and I have full faith that we'll be able to cover the money," she added. "But the other committee members did not consider the executive's suggestion a good enough funding source."

Heintz said the dissenting committee voters also would not consider funding Henry's proposal through the sale of the land to developers.

Heintz added the $300,000 proposal is on the agenda for the next Ways and Means committee meeting, tentatively scheduled for March 7.

"I want to get this project moving and if the executive can find a suitable funding source, then maybe we can move it along," she said. "Every time we think we're close to resolving this project something happens."

"I hope this is not a power struggle, because it would be unfortunate for everyone."

Only two weeks ago Henry said the county had made great strides in preparing to sell the land it owns in Northville.

"I'd say July will be the time to get to that point (completing and signing an agreement with developers)," Henry said earlier.

He noted prior delays in developing the property, since county buildings were closed in 1978, were over ownership of the entire parcel of land.

In an interview Feb. 13, Henry said the county now believes they have cleared all ownership disputes and have all the titles necessary to sell the property to developers.

"The county can now concentrate on attracting quality development that will return the highest tax yield to both the county and township," Henry said earlier.

During an interview Monday, Henry said the project has come to a standstill until the budget issues can be resolved.

"I have no idea when this project will get moving again, but we may sit here for a year," Henry said.

"I've been working on this since I joined the project two years ago and for two years I have been trying to get the process going," Henry added. "It's (another delay) very frustrating. No doubt about it."

"But in government, I've learned to take everything day by day."

Officials plan group home in Northville

By BOB NEEDHAM

A Lexington Boulevard house may become a group home for four adults with developmental disabilities.

City officials and neighbors of the house — at 20415 Lexington — learned recently that Wayne Community Living Services (WCLS) has applied to the state to open an adult foster care home at the site. It would be the first such home in the City of Northville, although there are at least two in Northville Township and six in Novi.

Denise Mogos, public affairs director for WCLS, said that the site is not yet definite. The state Department of Social Services (DSS), which licenses foster care homes, must wait at least 45 days after notifying a community before a license may be issued. Northville was notified Feb. 16, so the 45-day period will end April 2.

In addition, the state Department of Management and Budget has not finalized the lease. Some renovations are also needed. The home may open in April or May, Mogos said.

Joseph Schwinger, assistant director of the DSS's adult foster care licensing division, said a license decision is based on a demonstration that requirements have been met for resident care, programming, administrative management, fire safety, and environmental concerns.

"The licensing issuance is going to depend on when the license requirements are met," Schwinger said. He said only a very small number of applications are denied outright.

A letter from WCLS notifying neighbors of the planned group home explains that it will be run with 24-hour care from New Outlook, Inc., which is a non-profit organization. WCLS promises to monitor the home,

Meads Mill will host gathering of middle schools

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

Staff and students of Meads Mill Middle School will be putting their best foot forward next Thursday and Friday, as the school plays host to the Michigan Association of Middle School Educators (MAMSE) conference.

Between 1,600 and 1,800 middle school parents, educators and teachers from all over the state will be attending the two-day conference, according to conference coordinator and Meads Mill counselor Sharon Pernia.

"This is the 19th year of the conference and it is held to promote and discuss middle school education," Pernia said, adding over 80 exhibitors from across the U.S. will be on hand to sell education products for middle schools.

She said over 200 speakers will make presentations on a variety of subjects including substance abuse, curriculum changes, textbook selections and school climate.

The MAMSE conference runs on Thursday, March 9 from 9 a.m. to 3:45 p.m. and on Friday, March 10 from 9 a.m. to 2:45 p.m. A banquet dinner will be held Thursday, March 9 at 6 p.m. at the Novi Hilton.

There will be no school for Meads Mill students on either Thursday or Friday of next week.

Meads Principal Dave Longridge said the school volunteered to host the conference two years ago, after

Najarian named Moraine principal

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

Almost two weeks ahead of schedule, the Northville Board of Education unanimously appointed Mary Najarian as principal of Moraine Elementary School for the 1989-90 school year.

Board members indicated they were pleased to appoint someone within the district, as Najarian has been an employee of Northville schools for the past 18 years.

Currently, Najarian is a building resource teacher at Amerman Elementary.

"I'm very excited," Najarian said. "This is something that I've wanted to do for the last few years and I look at this as a new challenge."

"Mary has expertise in education and is enthusiastic and an inspirational leader," said Superintendent George Bell. "It is with great pleasure and pride that I recommend one of our own staff members as principal of Moraine."

Because she currently works at Amerman, Bell said Najarian will have an opportunity to internally assist students who will be moving from Amerman to Moraine.

"The transitional period will be easier for students going from Amerman to Moraine because now they will know their principal before the school opens," he said.

Amerman Principal Milton Jacobi said he has worked with Najarian for many years and added she "is a very professional lady and I have high regard for her."

City sets hearing on home proposal

The City of Northville has scheduled a public hearing on the proposed group home for 8 p.m. Monday, March 13.

The city council decided to hold the hearing in an attempt to record and address concerns of neighbors of the proposed adult foster care home at 20415 Lexington Boulevard. The site for the hearing is not definite; it is expected to be either city hall, 215 W. Main, or the community center, 303 W. Main.

The hearing is one part of a three-point effort to notify residents of the proposed group home. The city also plans written notification to people within 1,500 feet of the proposed site, and a public notice in the Northville Record.

City Manager Steve Walters specifically suggested the public hearing format so that comments will be recorded. Other, less formal gatherings may also be held.

The city plans to invite representatives from the state Department of Social Services, the contracting agency who would run the home, and Wayne County Community Living Services to the hearing, as well as local representatives in state government.

McNamara emphasizes parks in his annual county address

From new picnic tables to construction of a wave pool, Wayne County's long-neglected parks system would get a major boost under plans announced Thursday by County Executive Edward McNamara.

In his annual State of the County address, McNamara pledged to immediately "revitalize county parks by bringing in hundreds of picnic tables, fixing up rest stations and improving the ball fields."

Long-range plans call for paddle boats on Wilcox Lake in Plymouth Township, a water theme park with wave pool and water slide at an as-yet unannounced site and completion of a new county golf course in In-kster.

The executive also announced a county sponsored effort to boost volunteer Rouge River cleanup efforts.

By spring 1990, McNamara said, parts of the Rouge could be made clean enough to restore canoeing.

"As a young boy, I spent many summer afternoons in Hines Park with my family canoeing down the Rouge River or picnicking on its banks," McNamara said. "We are going to bring those days back."

Full details on the park proposal, including financing, will be announced next month, deputy county executive Michael Duggan said.

In other new programs:
• Child care vans will bring programs to urban neighborhoods through an $800,000 Kellogg Foundation grant

• Non-violent county prisoners will be assigned to a cleanup program for urban neighborhoods. The program, called Project: GAIN, would also involve the Detroit Department of Public Works and UAW retirees.

Most of McNamara's speech centered on financial improvements the executive said were made over the past two years.

"Two years ago, in my first state of the county address I summed up our condition in a phrase that was widely quoted: the state of the county is a mess," McNamara said. "I am pleased to be able to stand before you today and tell you that after two years of hard work, the mess is being cleaned up."

While McNamara offered few new proposals, one area county commissioner said the lack of new programs was understandable.

"He didn't propose too much, but then Wayne County doesn't have too much extra money to spend," said commissioner Milton Mack, D-Wayne. "The best news is that the county is now on sound financial footing," Mack's district includes Canton Township.

Wayne County Commission Chairman Arthur Carter called the proposals McNamara unveiled "ambitious" but added cooperation from the commission was essential to make the project a reality.

"We all have to link arms," Carter said. "No one man can do this alone."

NEWS BRIEFS

MIDDLE SCHOOL CLOSED — No classes will be held at Meads Mill Middle School on Thursday, March 9 or Friday, March 10, as the school hosts the Michigan Association of Middle School Educators (MAMSE) conference. Classes will resume on Monday, March 10.

LIMERICK CONTEST — Now's your chance to showcase your talents as a limerick writer. The Northville Record and The Novi News will sponsor a Limerick Contest in recognition of St. Patrick's Day.

Stumped? Don't know what a limerick is? A brief explanation may be in order.

A limerick is a rhymed nonsense poem of five lines. Here are a few general guidelines to follow — the first and second lines rhyme with the fifth line and the shorter third line rhymes with the shorter fourth line. The subject matter is up to you.

A contest entry form is included in this week's edition of the newspaper — simply fill it out and mail it to the address printed on the bottom of the form. If you prefer, you can also stop in at the newspaper office and drop it into a box at the front desk. Deadline for entering is Friday, March 10.

The overall contest winner will receive a specially printed and framed copy of the winning limerick. And of course, we'll share it with other readers by publishing it in the March 16 edition of the Record, just in time for St. Patrick's Day. We'll also publish as many runners-up as possible.

HIGH SCHOOL ACCREDITED — Northville High School was recently awarded accreditation for 1988-89 by the University of Michigan.

In a letter to high school Principal David Bolitho, William Bushaw, associate director for accreditation, said the high school met or exceeded all U of M accreditation requirements.

"We congratulate you and your school community for striving to achieve educational excellence," Bushaw said.

BUDGET APPROVED — A formal copy of the 1989 Northville Township budget was approved unanimously by the board Thursday, Feb. 9. The budget, prepared by financial director James Graham, contains all revisions made at the final budget hearing last October.

SENIOR TAX HELP — Free income tax assistance is available to Northville seniors every Monday and Wednesday at 9:30 or 11 a.m. Income tax forms are prepared by trained volunteers. These volunteers receive their training through the IRS and AARP on current tax laws and changes. Tax assistance takes place at the Senior Citizens Activity Center, Cooke School. Reservations must be made by calling 349-4140. This help is available through April 12.

ZBA tables Ward church variance

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

The development of Ward Presbyterian Church ran into another roadblock last week, as a front and side yard parking variance was tabled by the Zoning Board of Appeals (ZBA).

The move to table was taken by the five member board due to insufficient information presented by Ward on the parking issue, according to Township Planning Director Carol Henry.

"Because the planning commission found so many deficiencies in (Ward's) preliminary site plan, the ZBA didn't feel they had enough information to make a good decision," Henry said.

The church property is located on the northwest corner of Six Mile and Haggerty roads.

Ward representatives had a preliminary site plan tabled by the planning commission in January, primarily due to a lack of information. Parking was one issue planner's identified needing more information.

As for the matter before the ZBA, Ward requested that a parking requirement (no parking in the front or side yard) be waived. Ward Church currently is proposing a parking lot consisting of 1,700 spaces.

Ward member James Abernethy said he believes the ZBA wants to be assured that the parking lot will be attractively landscaped and not an eyesore.

Abernethy added that detailed information regarding the parking issue was not presented to the ZBA and board members had every right to ask for it.

Record/CHRIS BOYO

A look at a portion of the Meijer parking lot on Eight Mile Road

"We did not present detailed parking information to the ZBA two years ago when we asked for and received a parking variance, but the ZBA's request for more information was totally appropriate," Abernethy said.

Ward had both a preliminary site plan and parking variance approved two years ago for the development of a church. The approval was renewed for another year in 1988, but this year a new plan was submitted — starting the approval process from the beginning.

Ward has proposed building the parking lot on the front and side portions of the church to allow the structure to be built on suitable soils, according to the ZBA application.

The application, submitted by Ward member John MacDonald, said soils near the roads were very weak with a high ground water table. MacDonald is a judge in 35th District Court.

The application states that having the parking in front minimizes the visual impact of the buildings and reduces water runoff by allowing dual office parking between Ward and the Kirco office complex (located directly north of Ward).

ZBA member Bernard Bach said he simply needs more information submitted by Ward to substantiate their claims.

"I felt that if we had voted on their (Ward) request it would have been turned down because they simply did not submit enough information," Bach said, adding he would like to see a layout of the parking lot and a rendering of the building.

Henry said a building plan is not required for ZBA approval, but board members feel it is important to see the plan due to the enormity of the project.

The church is currently slated to service between 2,300 and 3,000 members. The proposed building has a roof reaching 128 feet at its highest peak.

With 1,700 proposed parking spaces, the Ward lot would have approximately 350 more spaces than the parking lot which services Meijer's on the corner of Eight Mile and Haggerty roads.

Bach, who is also a member of the planning commission, said Ward representatives had better give commissioners a better idea of what's going on.

"Ward has to be better prepared the next time it comes before the planning commission or their plans will be turned down," Bach said. "I can't vote yes or no on this project without knowing what's going on."

Abernethy said the designers of Ward are currently working to provide both the planning commission and ZBA with the additional information they have requested. He would not speculate when church representatives would appear again before the ZBA.

"It is important that we do an accurate job of presenting the history and rationale of our decision (of where to place the parking lot)," Abernethy said.

"We have a list of concerns that are being addressed and we expect the planning commission and ZBA to receive the information they're looking for," he said.

Hansen to run again for school board

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

School board president Jean Hansen said she will seek a third term this June, following the expiration of her current four-year term.

"I plan to run again," said Hansen, who is an eight-year veteran on the school board. Besides being board president this year, Hansen said she also served as president in 1984.

District business manager John Street said Hansen's seat on the board will be the only opening in the election scheduled for June 12.

Street said residents interested in running for the school board seat can fill out petitions through April 10. Petitions must be signed by 20 registered voters.

He added it is too early to tell at this point whether any other issues or questions will appear on the June election ballot.

School board members must vote to make June 12 the official date of the election, although state law requires that date. The board will vote on the date at the March 13 meeting.

City police recover car, arrest suspect in auto theft

A Northville man has been charged with unlawfully driving away an automobile from Northville Downs last week.

Roy Bolix was arraigned Thursday on the auto theft charge and on a charge of malicious destruction of property over $100. He pled not guilty. A preliminary examination is scheduled for March 3.

The arrest came after witness accounts of the theft, which took place after 10 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 22. The owner told police the car had been started and then left locked but unattended while it warmed up, according to the police report.

Police arrested Bolix at the track and later recovered the car parked on Sheldon Road below Seven Mile. It had a broken window.

THIEF PLEADS GUILTY — A Westland man has pled guilty to one count of possessing stolen property over $100 in conjunction with a theft from Shopping Center Market.

Northville police stopped Jimmy Esse shortly after $341 worth of cigarettes were stolen from Shopping Center Market on Center Street last Oct. 4. Thirty cartons of cigarettes were found with him.

He pled guilty last Wednesday at the Frank Murphy Hall of Justice. Sentencing is set for later in March; he faces a maximum sentence of five years in jail, a $2,500 fine, or both.

A charge of cocaine possession was dismissed.

FENDER-BENDERS — Three automobile accidents were reported by township police last week.

A car-deer accident occurred Friday, Feb. 17 at 6:15 a.m. on Eight Mile Road near Beck. The driver of the car said he was moving eastbound on Eight Mile — west of Beck — when a deer crossed in front of his car. The driver said he had no time to stop without hitting the deer. Police said the deer was dead upon their arrival. The driver of the car kept the deer and police said they filled out a highway killed deer permit.

A two-car accident occurred Tuesday, Feb. 21 at 5:40 p.m. on southbound Haggerty Road south of Eight Mile. Police said the driver of car one failed to look prior to exiting the Meijer's lot, striking car two. The driver of car one was issued a ticket for failing to yield for exiting a private driveway.

A one-car accident occurred on Tuesday, Feb. 21 on southbound Maple Hill Drive near Six Mile Road. Police said the driver lost control of his car and left the roadway, hitting a mailbox post and then skidding into a tree. Police issued the driver a ticket for careless driving.

DRUNK DRIVING — At least three drivers were arrested for OUIL by township and city police over the past week.

In the first incident, a Westland resident was stopped on Five Mile Road east of Haggerty, by township police on Sunday, Feb. 19 at 2:40 a.m. Police said they clocked the driver going 70 mph in a 45 mph zone. Although the driver passed two of three field sobriety tests, a preliminary breath test showed a blood alcohol level of .138 percent. In Michigan, .10 is considered OUIL. The driver was held in jail and released on $100 bond. He faces a March 23, 9 a.m. 35th district court date.

In a second OUIL incident, a Northville resident was ticketed on Monday, Feb. 20 at 9:19 p.m. by township police. Police said they observed the driver — going eastbound on Six Mile Road west of Sheldon — weaving on the roadway and missing a license plate. Police said the car drove left of the center line and remained there for about one-tenth of a mile, forcing one car off the road. The car was stopped on Six Mile as it crossed Northville Road. Police said the driver passed all field sobriety tests with some difficulty and registered a blood alcohol level of .132 percent. In Michigan, .10 is considered OUIL. The driver was held in jail and released on $100 bond. He faces a March 23, 9 a.m. 35th district court date.

A Richland resident was arrested by city police after being stopped at 1:18 a.m. Tuesday, Feb. 21 on Beck Road near Seven Mile.

According to a police report, the driver was driving erratically and a breathalyzer test showed a blood alcohol level of .17 percent. The driver was released after paying $80 bail and faces a March 21 court date.

LIGHTS OUT — Seven ground lights worth a total of $200 were broken sometime between Tuesday, Feb. 21 and Wednesday, Feb. 22 at the Park Place Apartments clubhouse on Northville Place Drive.

The complainant said unknown persons damaged the ground lights by breaking them off of their bases. No other damage was found.

The complainant said he has no suspects or witnesses.

PICKPOCKET AT MEIJER'S — Two women reported to township police on Saturday, Feb. 18 that they had money stolen from their purse.

In the first incident, a Northville resident said while she was shopping a large black woman approached her and distracted her away from her shopping cart. The victim's purse was on the shopping cart's seat.

Police said the suspect then started a conversation with the victim and the victim said she turned around and observed another black woman walking away from her purse.

The victim said she inspected her purse and found a wallet, worth $80 missing.

While police were investigating the incident, another Northville woman advised police that a large black woman had distracted her and stolen her wallet.

The victim said she did not realize that her wallet was gone until she had to pay for her merchandise. A $40 watch, $80 in money and the $20 wallet were reported stolen to police in the second incident.

MEIJER'S THEFT — A Northville woman was arrested by township police for attempting to steal $56.70 worth of merchandise from Meijer's on Saturday, Feb. 18.

A Meijer's store detective told police he observed the suspect select items from the store and conceal them inside of her purse.

The suspect was observed to make no attempt to pay for the goods and was apprehended by store detectives at the outside door of the north vestibule.

The suspect attempted to steal five compact discs worth $54.83 and a thermometer valued at $1.87, according to police.

Police said the suspect has prior shoplifting charges in Novi and at the Meijer's in Ypsilanti. Northville police charged the woman with larceny in a building, held her in jail and released her on $100 bond. She faces a March 23, 9 a.m. 35th district court date.

BROKEN GLASS — A rock thrown into a house on Rayburn on Tuesday, Feb. 21, caused $400 worth of damage, according to a township police report.

The complainant said after she had gone to bed she heard glass breaking and called township police.

Police said an investigation showed that a rock was thrown through a screen and double pane window and continued through the living room, finally stopping after hitting a kitchen door.

Police said they found tracks in the snow of the front yard where it is possible the rock was thrown.

MORE BROKEN GLASS — About $100 in damage was caused to a residence in the Park Place Apartments on Tuesday, Feb. 21, according to a township police report.

The complainant said he was upstairs and his son was in the living room when they heard what sounded like an egg hitting the house.

Police said an investigation revealed that the east side picture window appeared to be shot with a pellet. No pellet was found at the scene.

OFFICER ASSAULT CHARGED — A Northville resident has been charged with assault and battery on a police officer as the result of a shoving incident last week, according to a city police report.

Just after 11 p.m. Monday, Feb. 20, a city officer was responding to an assault and battery call on Lexington when one man pushed another, the report said. When the officer told him to stop, the man pushed the officer backward, the report said.

The man was ticketed and pled not guilty at an arraignment the next day. He was released after paying $15 bond, and faces a pretrial examination March 7.

DOOR DAMAGED — A glass patio door on a Williamsburg Court home was broken last weekend, according to a city police report.

A circular hole was found in the door, with a metal ball bearing lodged between the glass door and a screen door. The damage was done between 9 a.m. Feb. 18 and 5 p.m. Feb. 20.

Damage was put at $160.

WARREN PRODUCTS HIT — Two windows at Warren Products on Baseline were reported to be broken last week.

Between 5 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 21 and 7:10 a.m. the next morning, two large windows were broken, apparently by stones taken from the nearby railroad track.

Damage was estimated at $480.

EIGHT / TAFT ACCIDENT — A Northville resident was ticketed for failing to yield after a slight accident at Eight Mile and Taft Friday evening.

At about 7:30 p.m., the driver was turning left from Eight Mile onto northbound Taft — and turned into the path of another car, according to a police report.

No injuries were reported.

CENTER ACCIDENT — A Farmington Hills resident was ticketed for driving left of center after an extremely wide right turn Sunday morning, according to a city police report.

The driver was turning from Center onto Walnut, but went too far and was hit by another vehicle, the report said. No injuries were reported.

Meads Mill readies for start of middle school conference

he polled staff members to determine their support.

"A majority of the staff said 'let's do it,'" Longridge said. "So we set up a committee and that's how we started on our way."

Pernia said it's quite an honor for Meads to host the conference and added the school was selected as host, in part, because "we have been identified as an exemplary middle school."

"With our team concept teaching approach, Meads is doing innovative work as a middle school," Pernia said.

The team teaching concept has four or five teachers working together with a group of students, Pernia said. Through this method, the teaching group can look at the social, physiological, academic and emotional side of each child.

Each teaching team is arranged by grade, so that teachers can develop curriculum and problem solving techniques to deal with their students.

"Through this method, students feel like part of a group rather than one of 800," Pernia said.

Longridge said it has been quite a challenge for the school to "see if we could pull this (hosting the conference) off. We feel that with the community support we received that we're in good shape."

About 50 to 60 parents and 130 students have volunteered to help Meads Mill host the conference. Pernia said the Northville business community has also offered tremendous support.

"The community is helping out because they are proud of the school and they want to show it in some way," Pernia said.

Parents who volunteer for the conference can attend for free. There is a charge of $30 for attending both days of the conference and $20 to attend either Thursday or Friday.

Pernia said people attending the conference may park along Brader Road or at Schoolcraft College, where a shuttle bus will be running continuously to and from Meads Mill.

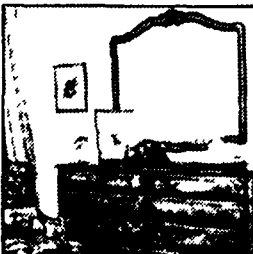

A shuttle bus will also be running from the Novi Hilton to Meads Mill, as all out-of-town guests will be staying at the Hilton.

Court arraigns robbery suspect

By BRUCE M. WEINTRAUB

A Westland man who surrendered to federal and local authorities last week in connection with bank robberies in both Northville and Novi, was arraigned on armed robbery charges in 35th district court on Wednesday, Feb. 22.

James Carson Newman, 30, was charged with one count of armed robbery in connection with the robbery Thursday, Feb. 16 at the Comerica Bank at 39901 W. Eight Mile in Northville Township.

Township police Capt. Phil Presnell said Newman stood mute before 35th district Judge James Garber while the charge was read to him.

If convicted on the local charge of armed robbery, Newman could be sentenced up to life imprisonment.

Presnell said Garber set bail at $50,000 cash. However Newman, who is also charged with two counts of armed robbery by the federal government, was remanded to federal custody pending further disposition.

Following his appearance in district court, Newman was sent to Springfield, Mo. to undergo a competency test on the federal charges. Presnell said the 35th court will wait until the competency test is completed before a preliminary examination date is set.

In addition to the Northville Comerica, Newman is also facing a federal charge of robbing the Comerica Bank at 39475 W. Ten Mile Road on Feb. 6.

"Being in federal custody though, we can be sure that Newman is safe and secure," Presnell said.

According to Steven Bullock, Newman's attorney, the competency exam must be completed with 30 days.

A picture published in the Detroit Free Press on Saturday, Feb. 18, showing a man in the process of robbing the Northville Comerica, was the key to getting Newman to surrender to police, federal officials said.

"An excellent bank surveillance picture was taken on Feb. 16 during the robbery," said FBI spokesman John Anthony. "The photo was distributed by the FBI and Northville Township police and at 11:30 p.m. Saturday (Feb. 18), we received a call from his attorney, arranging for Newman to surrender to the FBI and Northville police on Sunday (Feb. 19)."

In addition to the bank robbery charges, Anthony said Newman — who is described as an unemployed painter without a previous record — was being sought by Westland police for failing to appear in court for several traffic violations.

Anthony said the two federal bank robbery charges each carry a sentence of 25 years in prison and/or a fine of $250,000.

He added that federal authorities will discuss the matter with both Wayne and Oakland County authorities and see "where the most likely jurisdiction of a successful conviction lies."

Hearing set on zoning change process

A proposed clarification to the city's zoning ordinance has been scheduled for a public hearing March 21.

The proposed change deals with the procedure for amending the city zoning ordinance. As currently written, the ordinance is somewhat unspecific on ordinance changes — specifically, on where the public hearing is held.

The proposed change requires a public hearing before the city planning commission for any changes to the zoning ordinance, whether they are changes to the text of the ordinance or actual changes of zoning. In the past, public hearings for text amendments have been held before the city council.

The public hearing on this proposed change is scheduled for the planning commission at 8 p.m. Tuesday, March 21. The commission meets in the city council chambers at the city hall.

City delays any Rogers changes

By BOB NEEDHAM

A citizens' request to limit traffic on N. Rogers Street — even to the point of closing the road — was passed over Monday in favor of increased police patrols and possible action in the future.

The Northville City Council took no formal action on the situation Monday, but requested that the police department give extra attention to speeding down Rogers. They also left the door open for other moves in the future, but agreed with an engineering report suggesting the planned paving of Beck Road between Six and Eight Mile should generally reduce north-south traffic in the city. Council members said any traffic control measures on Rogers should be in conjunction with recommendations in the city's traffic study for Randolph and other nearby streets.

In November, a group of residents had requested the council take action to reduce traffic and speeds on Rogers. The citizens' suggestions included closing off the street at its north end, narrowing the street, and putting in a gate.

That request touched off a study by the police department and the city engineers, resulting in an 18-page report presented at Monday night's meeting.

The report recommends against the moves suggested by the area residents. It says that any of those suggestions would probably transfer traffic to Randolph and Center streets.

As a possible alternative, the report suggests restricting turns at the Lexington Boulevard / Eight Mile Road intersection so that right turns from eastbound Eight Mile to Lexington would be prohibited during morning rush hour and drivers could only turn right from Lexington to eastbound Eight Mile in the late afternoon. This would discourage cut-through traffic, the report says.

The report is full of statistics, some of which support the residents' contention that much or most of the traffic on Rogers is not from the immediate area. Other statistics suggest that speeds averaged 25.4 miles per hour during a period of study in January; residents at Monday's meeting countered that the study did not take place when most of the speeding does, and that the police presence for the study was a deterrent to speeding.

In discussing the report Monday, City Manager Steve Walters said that the citizens' traffic control suggestions would probably impact Randolph Street, which — like Rogers — residents see as a residential street with too much traffic and too high speeds. "Randolph Street will be affected by restrictions on Rogers Street more than any other street," Walters said.

Rogers-area residents at the meeting continued to stress the importance of taking some action, preferably a return to the time when Rogers ended at its north end.

"We just have entirely too much traffic," Rogers resident Richard Mazur said. "Two cars every minute is just too much for a residential neighborhood."

Others who spoke said the traffic is very dangerous for children who try to cross the street.

Although several residents spoke in favor of traffic restrictions, one Potomac Street neighbor was against them, saying a house was bought with the understanding that Rogers provided access to downtown. "That's part of what we bought when we bought into the neighborhood," she said.

Mayor Pro Tem Carolann Ayers said if only immediate neighbors were allowed to use city streets, "no one would ever get anywhere... You have to look at the community as a whole."

Council Member John Buckland said closing off one street will not really solve anything. "We have a problem on every street in this city. We have many, many more cars than we did four or five years ago," he said.

Mayor Chris Johnson said he favored more spot enforcement of speeds in the area. He also liked one resident's suggestion to park an unattended patrol car on the street as a deterrent.

Four spots open on Schoolcraft board

Nominating petitions for the Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees are available in the president's office. The office is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays.

One four-year and three six-year terms on the seven member board will be filled at the regular biennial college election of trustees June 12, 1989. Candidates must be residents of the college district and registered voters. The signatures of not less than 50, nor more than 200 qualified voters are required for nominations.

Please circulate petitions so that all those signing any one petition are residents of a single school district. There is no charge for filing nor is there remuneration for those elected.

Petitions must be returned to the Secretary of the Schoolcraft Community College District, 18600 Haggerty Road, Room A-190, Livonia, by 4 p.m. Tuesday April 25.

Schools seek a distinguished alumnus

Northville High School has begun its search for candidates for the 1988-89 Distinguished Alumna Award, an honor already in its sixth year.

Northville High School Principal David Bolitho said the award is a way for the district to honor an "outstanding graduate."

"Northville High School has graduated many outstanding people who have made significant contributions to the improvement of our society on the local, state, national and international levels," Bolitho said.

Bolitho said nominations for the 1989 award, which will be presented at the Northville High commencement exercises on June 16, will be accepted through April 7.

All letters must be sent to Northville High School, Distinguished Alumna, 775 North Center St., Northville, Michigan 48167.

Nominations must include a detailed list of contributions and accomplishments.

Township tax notices out soon

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

Township assessment notices should be sent to local homeowners by the end of this week or the beginning of next week, according to county officials.

"Hopefully, we'll have the notices sent to the township this week," said George McEachran, Director of the County Assessment Department.

Township Administrative Assistant Nancy Molloy said the township completed its assessment process last week and sent its information to the county. The township's appraisal was conducted by Wayne County Appraisal Co.

Molloy said earlier the county must review the information before the 1989 assessments can be sent to homeowners. "We've sent them the information in a timely fashion. Now we're at the mercy of Wayne County."

However, McEachran said that because township is using Wayne County Appraisal Co. for the first time this year, many changes were made from the 1988 figures "and it's taking us longer to review the figures to see what they did."

He added if the township wanted to send the assessment notices to homeowners sooner they should have sent the information to the county earlier.

"This is a long and complex process and it has taken us an extra day or two to finalize this thing," McEachran said.

Due to the delay in sending notices to homeowners, Molloy said additional board of review dates will be scheduled if necessary. The board of review may schedule extra dates until April 3.

Molloy said township board of review dates are:

- Tuesday, March 7: 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.
- Wednesday, March 8: 3 p.m. to 9 p.m.
- Tuesday, March 13: 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.
- Wednesday, March 14: 3 p.m. to 9 p.m.

The board meets at the Northville Township Hall, 41600 W. Six Mile Road. Molloy said appointments will not be scheduled until assessment notices are sent to homeowners.

Basically, the board hears two kinds of appeals: inaccuracies and hardships.

Under the first type, homeowners argue that their assessment is higher than it legitimately should be. By law, assessments are supposed to be no higher than 50 percent of the fair market value of a home.

"If the home is new, we ask that homeowners bring in a copy of their purchase agreement," Molloy said. She also suggests that residents first look at the field sheets to make sure their home was properly assessed.

Molloy said if the field sheet is wrong, then homeowners need not appear before the board but can handle the problem with the assessor.

"We also ask residents to find out if similar homes have been sold in their area," she said. "We will have some sales figures for what homes in their area sold for."

The other kind of appeal is hardship, or inability to pay, which the board also hears.

The three members of the board of review are: Russell Fogg, Zowan Chisnell and Frank St. Louis.

"Based on her work in the district, Mary is very qualified for the position," Jacobi said, adding Najarian's experience in the district will definitely help her make the transition to school principal.

Besides working at Amerman, Najarian has also worked in the district's gifted and talented program and has taught at every elementary grade level.

Najarian said she plans to immediately begin assembling a staff and working with the PTA to provide a smooth transition for students.

She added parents will be encouraged to come in and work at the building and use the facilities, all in an effort to promote Moraine as a neighborhood school.

"We want to get the community involved in making it their school," she said.

Five people applied for the principal position at Moraine, with the field narrowed to a single candidate who was interviewed by Bell and assistant superintendents Dolly McMaster and Burton Knighton.

Knighton said Najarian has been very active on numerous school district committees "where she has made significant contributions to the educational program of the Northville Public Schools."

He added that Najarian was the unanimous choice of the school administration. Board member James Petrie said

Najarian is an outstanding teacher and "I'm glad she's moving on to this position."

This house on Eight Mile Road east of Meadowbrook Road suffered heavy fire damage in a blaze last week.

Fire guts vacant house

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

A spectacular fire roared through a vacant house on Eight Mile Road in Northville Township last Thursday morning, causing minor injuries to four volunteer firefighters.

Township Assistant Fire Chief Rick Rosselle said the four firefighters received minor injuries due to falling debris and ceiling cavens inside the house.

Rosselle said none of the firefighters required medical attention and all continued to fight the blaze following their injuries.

The fire department responded to the fire call at 3:42 a.m., finding flames coming from the top floor out of the front and back sides of the house, according to Rosselle.

The house is located at 41215 Eight Mile Road. The house and the property is owned by Meadowbrook Country Club.

"The whole third floor had flames coming out and both ends of the roof had collapsed by the time we got there," Rosselle said, adding he estimated the blaze had been burning about two hours before the fire department was notified.

Rosselle said firefighters did not completely extinguish the blaze until 8:30 a.m. He said the cold temperatures hampered efforts to fight the fire.

"The cold temperatures slowed us by freezing the water once it was sprayed," he said. "Our air packs froze and our coats froze, which makes it twice as hard to move around and fight a fire."

Township Police Capt. Phil Presnell said he is investigating the cause of the fire, along with the Michigan State Police and the state fire marshal.

"I have no idea if the fire is arson," Presnell said, adding he also had no idea of the dollar amount of the damage caused by the fire.

Meadowbrook manager John Dehart said the former residents of the house moved out about one week before the fire.

Dehart added he also cannot speculate on the damage caused by the fire, but did say that the house is insured.

He noted the vacant house is scheduled to be demolished, and the property will be used for an extension of the driving range.

Like Presnell, Dehart said he has no idea what caused the fire. Dehart said the house next door to the vacant house is being rented and he added he imagines the neighbors must have contacted the fire department.

Proposal D hearing set

Northville is scheduled to host a hearing on the proposed rules for spending the state Proposal D money approved in November.

The Northville Community Center on Main Street is one of three sites for public hearings. The hearings, to be conducted by the state Department of Natural Resources (DNR), will gather public opinion on proposed rules for spending $65 million in money for local recreation upkeep.

The Northville hearing is set for 1 p.m. Friday, April 7.

The money is part of a $140 million bond issue approved by state voters in November as Proposal D. Half the money is earmarked for improvements to state parks, while another $5 million is to be used to convert industrial sites to recreational use across the state.

The remaining $65 million is to be used for maintenance and improvement projects at local recreation facilities across the state over three years. That is divided up between three regions of the state.

The southern region — basically, everything below Mount Pleasant — is expected to get between $10 million and $11 million for each of the three years, Northville Recreation Director John Anderson said.

The exact eligibility requirements for this money is what will be discussed at the hearing, Anderson said. DNR officials will explain the proposal and ask for public reaction. The rules as currently proposed are available for viewing at the Northville Community Center during regular hours.

Anderson has said that once the rules are established, he intends to seek some of the money for local projects in Northville. Maybury State Park is already earmarked for some of the state park improvement money.

The Northville hearing will be the last of the three. Hearings are also scheduled in Marquette April 4 and Grayling April 6.

New group addresses Griswold

A brand-new residents' association came to the city council meeting Monday to ask that something be done about traffic on Griswold Street.

Several representatives of the Millview Association — made of residents in the Griswold, Butler and Pennell street area — attended the council meeting to announce their formation and to protest the traffic on Griswold Street.

New association president Steve Ball told the council that the association members think that Griswold should not be considered a major route into and out of town.

"The planners seem to think that our residential neighborhood is the perfect place to bring a lot of traffic through," Ball said. He added that last year's city traffic study is flawed because the traffic counts were taken when Northville Downs was not in season.

Ball requested a meeting between representatives of the new association, the city, and Wayne County to discuss issues of Griswold Street. In addition to the traffic volume, he said there is apparent erosion of the road bed and possible problems with the bridge over the railroad tracks.

Day care zoning plan hearing set

A proposed city ordinance change to allow in-home child day care is nearing the stage for public input.

A public hearing on one-half of the proposal — allowing small day-care operations in city residentially-zoned areas — is scheduled for 8 p.m. Tuesday, March 21. That hearing will be before the city planning commission, after which the ordinance will move to the council for possible adoption.

The other half of the proposal — a set of registration requirements for in-home day care operations — is under review by the city attorney and not yet scheduled for a hearing.

Under the zoning proposal, day care homes serving six or fewer children would become a "use permitted by right" in all the city's residential zoning except R-4, a class currently only used for the Allen Terrace senior housing site. In addition, larger day care operations would be permitted in Professional Business Office (PBO), Local Commercial District (LCD), and General Commercial District (GCD) zoning.

Currently, day care facilities are allowed in single-family residential zoning as a special land use and must meet certain location requirements.

Under the proposal, this clause would be repealed. Day care in a home is not specifically addressed at all in the current ordinance.

The planning commission unanimously voted last week to hold a public hearing on the day care ordinance, as the city council had requested. The council has the final authority to pass any ordinance.

Under the latest proposal from City Manager Steve Walters, the zoning ordinance change would be accompanied by a set of guidelines for day care homes to register with the city. That ordinance draft is under review by the city attorney.

Faxon's in-home day care bill returns; passage could affect local zoning plan

By BOB NEEDHAM

A home day care bill has been reintroduced in the state Legislature, a move which might head off local efforts to regulate the same subject.

A bill which would require Michigan cities to treat in-home day care operations serving up to 12 children as a residential land use was reintroduced in the state Senate Thursday. If passed as introduced, the bill would supersede at least part of two home child care ordinances currently under consideration by the Northville city government (see related story).

The state bill is sponsored by state Sen. Jack Faxon (D-Farmington Hills), whose district includes part of the City of Northville, and is co-sponsored by Sen. R. Robert Geake (R-Northville Township), who represents the rest of the city and all of Northville Township.

Similar bills were passed for townships and rural counties at the end of last year, but the bill for cities and villages failed by one Senate vote after passing the state House of Representatives.

Faxon has said that his bills prevent local units of government from prohibiting child day care in homes, which he sees as a needed service. Opponents of the bills have said that the bills remove local control over zoning, and that day care operations do not belong in residential areas in the first place.

The current city zoning ordinance

"The objective is to get some degree of uniformity in regulation."

— Jack Faxon

does not address in-home day care, thereby prohibiting it in effect.

Under the latest proposal to change city regulation, day care operations could serve up to six children in all residential zoning. A separate ordinance would require a minimum play area, restrict hours of operation, and prohibit any type of outdoor sign.

As they are written, the proposed city ordinances and the proposed state law — neither of which have been passed — have differed on several points, including:

- The city would only allow up to six children to be served on one site in residential zoning. The state would require that up to 12 children be allowed in residential districts if certain requirements are met.

- The city would require that homes serving more than four children register with the city. The state would require that operations serving six or fewer children be subject to no special procedures beyond those for a regular house.

- The city would prohibit operation between 10 p.m. and 6 a.m. The state would allow a local government to "limit but not prohibit" operation during those hours, and it could only do that for homes serving more than six children.

- In counting the number of children served, the state would not include children living in the home. A recent draft of the city registration rules specifically would count related children, although the version of the city zoning ordinance sent to public hearing uses the state language.

State law, if passed, always takes precedence over local ordinances.

The state bill would also add other restrictions for homes serving more than six kids, including a distance of at least 1,500 feet from another day care home, adult group home, substance abuse treatment center, or correction center; and meeting any local parking, fence, and sign regulations.

Faxon said Monday that those provisions, combined with the already-existing state requirements, would probably mean tougher restriction than what the city is proposing. He added that if the state bill passes, the local governments will probably be the most effective enforcers of the requirements.

"The objective is to get some degree of uniformity in regulation," he said. "I think it will be helpful (in) giving the local units of government some additional protection ... Nobody's been injured by this."

Several cities, including Northville's city council, have gone on record in opposition to Faxon's bill. Northville's primary objection was a perceived erosion of local authority for zoning.

Faxon said he expects the day care bill for cities to pass the Legislature with little trouble, and fairly quickly. The version he introduced is the same as the one the state House passed last year. That version failed in the state Senate by one vote, but Faxon said two of the bill's cosponsors — Geake and Frederick Dillingham (R-Fowlerville) missed that vote.

"Everyone realized it was a fluke it missed on," Faxon said.

He said he has been assured that the bill will be heard in committee as soon as the copies are printed and distributed.

Vet zoning plan sent to planners

BY BOB NEEDHAM

A proposed zoning change to allow veterinary clinics in downtown Northville took a small step forward Monday night.

The city council saw proposed language for an ordinance change which would allow veterinary clinics, pet shops and similar businesses to locate in city areas zoned Professional Business Office (PBO), Local Commercial District (LCD), and Central Business District (CBD). CBD zoning covers the downtown area. Vets are already allowed in General Commercial District.

The council unanimously voted to send the wording to the Planning Commission for a public hearing. After the hearing, the ordinance will return to the city council for possible adoption.

City Manager Steve Walters proposed the current draft, which includes provisions designed to guard the rights of neighbors. For example, the businesses would be limited to small animals, with no boarding, and cannot be located in a building which has a wall common with a building owned by someone else.

Although the council vote to send the ordinance to the planning commission was unanimous, Council Member Paul Folino expressed some objection to the idea. The planning commission and the city's planning consultant had both recommended against allowing veterinary clinics in CBD, PBO, and LCD zoning, he said; and the Zoning Board of Appeals recently turned down an appeal to allow a clinic on Dunlap Street in the CBD.

"We're going against our planning consultant, who we pay big bucks to have," Folino said. "Why don't we fire the planning consultant, save the taxpayers a lot of tax dollars, get rid of the planning commission and the ZBA?"

Walters said he thinks the current draft overcomes the problems of rights of neighbors which stymied the planners. "I'm suggesting there is a practical approach to solving the problem in this draft," Walters said.

The draft now goes to the planning commission, which is asked to hold a public hearing. The commission then sends the draft back to the council, along with comments from the public and a new recommendation from the commission.

Activities galore set for red ribbon week

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

The focus of the red ribbon campaign has stayed the same since the Northville Action Council (NAC) began the program: promote the consciousness of substance abuse in the community.

What has changed over the year, according to Northville High assistant principal Bill Hamilton, is the number of people participating in the campaign.

Hamilton said the local chapter of Students Against Drunk Driving (SADD) has grown from only five students in 1984 to between 50 and 60 this year.

"Through the red ribbon campaign, students and parents are trying to spread the message that you can have a good time without drinking or using drugs," he said.

In conjunction with the State of Michigan red ribbon week March 6-10, the NAC has planned many activities and events to raise the community's consciousness about substance abuse.

Activities planned for the high school include: red ribbons displayed, worn and distributed by PTA members and SADD members; drug awareness fact sheets distributed to teachers to be presented to students each day; and a list of videos that can be reserved through Hamilton's office.

Olympic gold medalist Steve Frazier will speak to eighth graders at Meads Mill Middle School on Monday, March 6 and Wayne County prosecutors will speak to seventh graders on Tuesday, March 7.

Drug Awareness fact sheets and red ribbons will be distributed by the PTA, and an NAC representative will discuss red ribbon awareness facts with guests at the MAMSE (Michigan Association of Middle School Educators) conference — at Meads Mill next Thursday and Friday.

Finally, red ribbons and fact sheets will be distributed by the PTA at elementary schools next week, and SADD will present short skits to each school, sharing experiences on how to resist peer pressure.

"Peer Resistance," a play, will be presented at Amerman Elementary on Thursday, March 9 from 10:45 to 11:30 a.m. Performance times at Winchester and Silver Springs elementary schools have not yet been scheduled.

Planners deny rezoning request

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

A large commercial strip mall will not be coming to the corner of Five Mile and Haggerty roads.

But, a smaller one might. That's because the Township Planning Commission recently denied a request by OAQ Investments to rezone, from small office to business, property north of the Five Mile and Haggerty corner.

However, a representative of OAQ Investments said the group would build a smaller strip shopping center on property surrounding a soon-to-be-built Sunoco Gas Station — located on the Five and Haggerty corner.

OAQ Investments owns property on the Five and Haggerty corner, but only a portion is zoned commercial business (B-3). The other part of the land is zoned small office (OS-1).

While addressing commissioners on the rezoning issue, OAQ architect Claude Forest said a rezoning of the property would bring a straight strip mall — featuring three buildings — facing Haggerty Road.

"If the land is not rezoned, the developer will put in an L-shaped shopping center around the Sunoco Gas Station," Forest said, adding that 650 feet of land is currently zoned commercial north of Five Mile along Haggerty.

Forest said OAQ Investments will build a 20,000 square foot strip shopping center. He added that passage of the rezoning request would have paved the way for a 55-60,000 square foot strip mall.

Commissioner Richard Allen, who made the motion to deny the OAQ rezoning request, said he felt rezoning the property would not be in keeping with the master plan and a denial would control commercial growth along Haggerty Road.

"I looked at the developer's suggestion to put in a smaller strip mall (if the rezoning request failed) as a threat and I see no reason to proliferate growth along Haggerty," he said, adding a bigger mall would not guarantee a better mall.

Planner Barbara O'Brien said she looked at the entire area and said it would be "spot zoning" to rezone the land from office to commercial business.

"In my view, Haggerty Road could be a showplace for office buildings and I don't think it's as desirable rent-wise if a strip mall is put next door," O'Brien said.

Land directly north of the OAQ property is owned by developer J.D. Blain, who is proposing a one-story office building running along Haggerty between Five and Six Mile roads.

During a public hearing on the rezoning before the regularly scheduled commission meeting, residents both east and west of the OAQ property spoke out in favor of the denial of the rezoning request.

Ray Whitney, president of the Quakertown subdivision association said his membership is opposed to the shopping center, but is flowing with the Blain office building "because that's how the land is master planned."

Members of the Metropolitan Church, located on the northeast corner of Five Mile and Haggerty roads, said they also were opposed to the OAQ rezoning request.

Metropolitan Seventh Day Adventist Church member E.A. Bakewell said the group is against the rezoning because such a move could change the environment of the area. The church is located at 15585 Haggerty Road.

Meanwhile, church member Bill Nine said a rezoning to business could have an effect on the area's traffic "and if we expand our school that could have an effect as well."

Lexington association serves several areas

By BOB NEEDHAM

If you heard someone describe an organization made up of more than 350 residences, five distinct neighborhoods, two homeowners associations, and two parks, you might think it was a small city or village.

In this case, though, it's just a subdivision — Lexington Commons — and its own governing body, the Lexington Commons Association.

One of the largest subdivisions in the City of Northville, Lexington Commons was born in the late 1960s. About seven years after the formation of the subdivision association, Ron and Carolyn Abramovich became members — a link which continues to be strong, with Ron the current president of the group and Carolyn its communications chairperson.

In a recent interview, they explained that the association governs subdivision concerns for five separate areas: the single-family homes southwest of Taft and Eight Mile; the single-family homes northwest of Taft and Eight Mile; two different condominium complexes northwest of Taft and Eight Mile; and the single-family homes east of Taft and slightly north of Eight Mile. The subdivision even crosses the Wayne/Oakland county line, a situation most subdivisions do not face.

"It's unusual, because we're made up of condos and commons," Ron Abramovich said. "We're trying to represent all the different areas."

Homeowners in all these areas are required in their deeds to pay annual dues to the association. Single-family homes pay $65; condos pay $32.50, and only get half a vote in association matters. However, the condominium owners also belong to one of two separate condominium associations for maintenance of the condo grounds.

The Lexington Commons Association

tion dues mainly go toward maintenance of the two subdivision parks: a seven-acre tract below Eight Mile and a 13-acre site above Eight Mile with tennis courts, a ball diamond, a basketball hoop and three play areas. Other association projects are an annual subdivision directory, an Easter egg hunt, a Halloween party and a newsletter. Carolyn Abramovich started the twice-a-year newsletter herself in 1978; it went on hiatus for a while but is now back in business.

"Our biggest expense is grass cutting for the parks," Ron Abramovich said.

Of course, the association is also there to deal with problems when they arise. A few years ago, the association worked with the city to pave Fairfax Court when the street's base was washed away. Most recently, the association is looking to address residents' concerns about an adult foster care group home proposed for the subdivision.

"Our main purpose is to look out for the interests of both the homeowners and the condominium owners," Ron said.

Another big part of that purpose is enforcing the restrictions on the homes in the subdivision. The deeds are structured so that the association has authority to approve any planned additions, and the Abramoviches said the city cooperates by not issuing building permits until the association has signed off.

Ron Abramovich, president of Lexington Commons Association

The deeds include other requirements, such as restrictions on sheds and fences.

"We're trying to keep it open," Carolyn Abramovich said. "You get into subdivisions where you can put any kind of fence... and it gets to look, I think, sloppy, for lack of a better word."

The association is quite structured, with a seven-member board, on which they try to represent all areas of the subdivision; eight committee chairpersons; and a block chairperson for each group of 10 or 12 houses.

That kind of a structure requires a lot of participation, and more is always welcome. The board meets at 8 p.m. on the third Thursday of every month.

"I would encourage participation from the people who live here, and hopefully they'll take the opportunity to serve on the board in future years," Ron said.

Association members include several notable names: three of the five members of the Northville City Council live in the subdivision, as does a county judge.

"This is where I live, and I take pride in the area. I just want to keep it as nice as possible, and keep the communication going," Carolyn said.

And Ron concluded: "You try to support your community and take pride in it, and this is a way of doing that."

This is the second in an occasional series about residents' associations in Northville.

City eyes rules to save trees

By BOB NEEDHAM

An ordinance to protect trees is getting some consideration in the City of Northville.

The city planning commission has asked its consultant to look into the idea of a woodlands ordinance for the city. Both of the city's immediate neighbors, Northville Township and the City of Novi, have ordinances regulating tree cutting.

Planning Commission Member Chris Gazlay suggested a city woodlands ordinance at the commission meeting Tuesday, Feb. 21. He said the impetus was building the trees come down during the building of the St. Lawrence Estates condominium complex off Center and Seven Mile.

"Each time I drive by, there are fewer and fewer trees," Gazlay said. He said he thought the site plan approved by the commission would provide adequate tree screening between the new development and the road.

On looking back, though, he said he found the plan did not include limits on how far the developer could grade the site. "He presumably could gouge the entire site, as long as he reaches certain elevations at certain points," Gazlay said.

He suggested the city might benefit from some type of "rudimentary" woodlands ordinance, an idea which drew a "hear, hear" from one other commissioner.

Planning Commission Chairperson Dick Wilhelm said he also agreed, and wished more trees on the St. Lawrence site had been protected.

Don Wortman, the city's planning consultant, agreed to put an outline of such an ordinance together for future consideration by the commission.

Linda Lemke, a registered landscape architect and an associate with the Brandon Rogers and Associates planning firm, said a tree ordinance might not be a bad idea in the City of Northville.

Lemke was the point person in developing the woodland protection ordinances in Northville Township and Novi, and also worked on a "tree conservation" ordinance in Rochester Hills. The Rochester Hills model might be the kind of thing Northville could use, she said, since it is geared more toward individual trees than actual stands of woods. Northville's mostly-developed state suggests a tree conservation ordinance would be the better avenue, she said.

"That could work. Rochester Hills doesn't have that many areas that are naturally wooded," she said. Under that ordinance, any trees of six-inch diameter or greater must be inventoried and replaced with a similar species, all of which is spelled out in detail in the ordinance. The tree must live for two years after replacement or it must be replaced again, Lemke explained.

Wixom and Farmington Hills also have woodland protection ordinances.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING CITY OF NORTHVILLE

Notice is hereby given that the City Planning Commission of the City of Northville will hold a public hearing on Tuesday, March 21, 1989, in the Municipal Building at 8:00 p.m. to amend Title 4, Chapter 12, Zoning Ordinance, as follows:

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND TITLE 4, CHAPTER 12, THE ZONING ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF NORTHVILLE, BY COMBINING AND REVISING ARTICLES 25, CHANGES AND AMENDMENTS, AND 26, PETITION FOR AMENDMENTS, TO REQUIRE PUBLIC HEARINGS BE CALLED BY THE PLANNING COMMISSION FOR ALL ZONING ORDINANCE AMENDMENTS.

The City of Northville Ordains:

Section 1. Articles 25, Changes and Amendments, and 26, Petition for Amendments, are hereby combined and revised as follows:

Article 25 — AMENDING THE ORDINANCE:

All Amendments to the Zoning Ordinance must be reviewed by the City Planning Commission. Amendments may take the form of City Council proposal, staff-initiated recommendations or citizen petitions, for either zoning text or zoning district boundary changes. In any event, the Planning Commission shall hold a public hearing as provided in Public Act 207 of 1921 as amended. After the public hearing has been closed, the Planning Commission shall submit a report and recommendations to the City Council on the proposed change.

Whenever the Planning Commission holds a public hearing to consider a proposed change in the Zoning District Boundaries, a written notice of such time and place for a public hearing shall be mailed to the owners, at the address given in the last assessment rolls, of all lots or parcels of land lying within three hundred (300) feet of the boundaries of the area proposed to be rezoned. Notices of public hearing shall also be sent to each public utility company and each railroad owning or operating within the districts or zones affected. Such notices shall be delivered personally or by first class mail, at least fifteen (15) days prior to the date of the hearing.

Citizen petitions for zoning ordinance amendments shall be submitted to the City Clerk on standard forms provided at least fifteen (15) days prior to the next regularly scheduled Planning Commission meeting. At the next regularly scheduled meeting, the Planning Commission shall set a date for a public hearing to receive public comment. The standard forms shall be completed in the manner prescribed and such documents, as required by resolution of the City Council, shall be levied against each petitioner to cover the costs of administering the application process and for advertising public hearings and other incidental costs relative to said petition. The City Clerk shall transmit the application to the Planning Commission.

Section 2. This ordinance shall become effective ten (10) days after introduction thereof and after publication thereof.

NORTHVILLE CITY COUNCIL MINUTES SYNOPSIS FEBRUARY 13, 1989

Mayor Pro-Tem Ayers called the regular meeting of the Northville City Council to order in the council room at 8:00 p.m.

1. PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE:

2. ROLL CALL:

Present: Ayers, Buckland, Folino, Mitt-

Absent: Johnson, excused.

Also Present: Judge James Garber, Fran Hupp, Cathy Konrad, Bev Morrison, Steve Walters and Bob Needham.

3. APPROVAL OF COUNCIL MEETING MINUTES:

The minutes of the regular meeting of January 23, 1989, were approved with corrections and placed on file.

The minutes of the special meeting of January 30, 1989, were approved as presented and placed on file.

The minutes of the special meeting of February 6, 1989, were approved as corrected and placed on file.

4. CITIZEN COMMENTS:

None.

5. ADOPTION OF THE AGENDA & APPROVAL OF THE CONSENT AGENDA:

Moved, supported, CARRIED UNANIMOUSLY, to adopt the Agenda as amended, and the Consent Agenda A, through G.

6. DISTRICT COURT - REPORT FROM JUDGE GARBER:

35th District Court Judge James Garber spoke to City Council on the activities of the Court. They are currently faced with increasing the size of the computer to handle the larger volume of cases; in the last 2 years cases have increased by 1/2. Although Northville's caseload remained almost exactly the same - 1987, 2,939 and 1988, 2,940 - the ticket revenue decreased by $2,500. The overall caseload of the court has increased, a total of 35,797 cases were processed in 1988.

Council requested the Court to spot check as to the reason why our revenue is down from last year.

7. FAMILY DAY CARE HOME - PROPOSED ZONING ORDINANCE AMENDMENT:

Manager Walters reviewed the proposed zoning ordinance provisions on child day care. Family Day Care Homes permitted in R1-A & R1-B Districts with 6 or less children. Child Day Care Centers permitted in PBO, LCD & GCD Districts for over seven children. He recommended the proposed zoning ordinance be sent to the Planning Commission for a public hearing with a report and recommendation back to City Council. He recommended the Council review the proposed ordinance to license and regulate child day care facilities and enact simultaneously with the proposed zoning ordinance amendments if adopted. The City Attorney would review this in the interim.

Council agreed to include language covering applicants that are tenants who must have the landlords permission to operate a Child Day Care Center or a Family Day Care Home, and to require fences for Child Day Care Centers.

8. 1988-89 BUDGET SIX-MONTH REPORT:

Manager Walters reviewed the six-month financial report from his memo of February 11, 1989.

Budget amendments will be prepared to be adopted at the February 27, meeting. The amendments will be reflected in the 8-month actual shown in the 1989-90 City Budget when it is presented in April.

9. REALLOCATE 1989-91 CTRC TRI-PARTY FUNDS:

Moved, supported, CARRIED UNANIMOUSLY, to adopt a resolution approving the closing of the Eight Mile Road exit onto Randolph Street as the City's project for the 1989-91 Tri-party funds as well as the previous cycle's funds.

10. REALLOCATE 1988 WAYNE COUNTY CDBG FUND BALANCE:

Moved, supported, CARRIED UNANIMOUSLY, to reallocate the 1988 Wayne County Community Development Block Grant Funds of $7,000 for Engineer/Architect Plans - City Hall Barrier Free, and $24,300 for City Hall Barrier Free Construction.

11. CALL HEARING FOR 1989 WAYNE COUNTY CDBG FUND:

Moved, supported, CARRIED UNANIMOUSLY, to call a public hearing for February 27, 1989, to receive public comments and proposals for the use of the 1989 Wayne County Community Development Block Grant Funds estimated at $60,000.

12. ADMINISTRATIVE SALARIES:

Moved, supported, CARRIED UNANIMOUSLY, to approve the 1988-89 administrative salaries effective 7/1/88 as follows: City Manager $55,544, DPW Superintendent $45,514; Police Chief $45,514; Police Captain $41,512; Building Official $40,178; City Clerk $33,408; Housing Director $33,014; DPW Foreman $28,866; Deputy Clerk $23,206. Executive Secretary $23,206, and fire pay rate increased by 4.25%.

13. 1989 CITY GOALS:

Council reviewed the redraft prepared by the City Manager of the 1989 City Goals discussed last meeting and confirmed them as shown in the Manager's memo of 2/10/89 for Capital Outlay Projects, Operation Projects, Planning and Development Projects and Inter-governmental Relations.

13.A. DRUG AWARENESS WEEK:

Moved, supported, CARRIED UNANIMOUSLY, to adopt the proclamation for Drug Awareness Week from March 6 to 12, 1989; grant permission to tie red ribbons to the lamp posts in the downtown and use the backside of City Signs in coordination with the Recreation Department.

14. COUNCIL COMMENTS:

Moved, supported, CARRIED UNANIMOUSLY, to receive the request from SANE/FREEZE to canvass in the City from February 20 through March 24, 1989, and request they complete their canvassing by 8:00 p.m.

There being no further business to discuss, Mayor Pro-Tem Ayers adjourned the regular City Council meeting at 9:35 p.m.

Controversial novel poses dilemma for local stores

By AMY ROSA

As the saga continues over Salman Rushdie's novel "The Satanic Verses," local book stores are pondering the same questions faced by others across the country — how to balance free speech and safety, and what is the fastest way to get an order for more books.

You can't buy a copy of the controversial title here to save your life, but you can read it if you don't mind borrowing it. However, at the Novi Library you'd have to add your name to the long list of those who already have dibs on it.

"No one raised an eyebrow when it first came in," said Novi Library Director Brenda Burrell. She said the title didn't become popular until Iran's Ayatollah Khomeini offered a reward for Rushdie's murder, claiming the book insulted the Moslem religion.

That death wish three weeks ago sparked Britain's Rushdie to move into hiding, as well as a world-wide rush to purchase the book.

In the Twelve Oaks Mall both Doubleday and B. Dalton book stores have been sold out of the book for two weeks, and have more books on order. However, in the case of B. Dalton, plans to re-order the title came only after an about-face by the company's New York executives last week.

According to the mall's B. Dalton Manager Pat Winter, plans not to restock "The Satanic Verses" were changed Wednesday, Feb. 22.

As for prominently displaying the book when it comes in — a move that has caused bookstore owners elsewhere grief due to protests by angry Moslems, Winter said he didn't know what the company policy would be.

Winter would not elaborate further, claiming he was instructed in a national company memorandum not to comment to the media.

Similar instructions were also given to the assistant manager of Twelve Oaks's Doubleday store, Greg Tracey.

He said "to avoid any problems," he was told by his home office not to comment. Tracey did say, however, that the store had only ordered six copies to begin with, and never had them prominently displayed.

"It was not expected to be a best seller," he said, adding that when his next shipment comes in sometime in March, "Verses" again won't be displayed up front.

Novi's Borders Books in the Town Center also won't be drawing attention to "Verses" when its reorder comes in, said local General Manager Sue Kennedy. "We plan to treat it like any other book," she said, adding that her store has received no official word not to talk to the media about the controversy.

"Each company is trying to balance a decision between personal safety and the free speech issue," Kennedy explained, recounting the number of book stores in the news lately which have received threats or vandalism for carrying or displaying the book.

Not wanting to criticize the policies of any other bookstores, Kennedy said she understood why some owners are refusing to carry "Verses" or are shoving it toward the back of the store.

Downtown Northville's Book Stall on the Main, while not of the same size of its bigger mall counterparts, is facing the same issues.

"I believe in freedom of the press," explained the store's General Manager Berclay Ruschak. But while she has plans to stock "Verses," Ruschak said she will not display it in her window, citing "public opinion" as the reason.

"Especially in a small business, you don't want to offend anybody," she said, adding that to her knowledge no local bookstores have received threats from offended Moslems or others because of the book.

Ruschak said she didn't order any copies of "Verses" when it was first published, because it isn't the kind of reading to which her store caters.

"Most people aren't interested in that kind of a book. They wouldn't even pick it up off the shelf," she said. She described the work of fiction as a dry, highly intellectual piece.

"The purpose of a bookstore isn't educational and cultural, but to make money," Burrell said. She ordered the book when it was first published because of rave reviews. "The whole philosophy of a library is different. We are archives of ideas."

Despite the deep emotional issues that spawned the controversy, making it tough on some book stores, Burrell said there was never any consideration given to pulling "Verses" off the library's shelf.

provide case management, and offer support services including a speech therapist, a nurse consultant, a psychologist, a dietitian and an occupational therapist.

The house would be home to up to four adults with developmental disabilities. Mogos said "developmental disability" can be one of four different things: mental retardation, cerebral palsy, epilepsy or autism. According to the state mental health code, such a disability "constitutes a substantial burden to the impaired person's ability to perform normally in society."

Mogos said the disabilities may be entirely physical. "Quite possibly, it will be people who need assistance in ambulating," she said.

"We make good neighbors. We serve over 1,200 people in Wayne County, and our track record pretty much says it all," Mogos said.

neighbors, Mogos said, and intends to meet with neighbors in some type of forum. Some area residents had a private meeting scheduled this week; a public information session may yet be scheduled. A full-fledged public hearing is planned for Monday, March 13 (see related story).

Mogos said several factors enter into selection of a house to be used for a group home. There are regulations for adequate floor area and bedroom space, and no other adult foster care home may be located within 1,500 feet. "Basically, I think the developers look at it: is this a home where I'd like to live? Because we're serving people," Mogos said.

Funding to fix bridge uncertain

City officials don't yet know whether the decaying bridge on Beal Avenue will be eligible for repair with state money.

City Manager Steve Walters said Friday that the city will apply for state grant money to repair the bridge this spring. The state application cycle is arranged so that there hasn't been a chance to apply since the decay was noticed late last summer, Walters said.

The bridge repair program is expected to cost around $70,000. Officials believe the state might fund up to 95 percent of that cost.

After examining the bridge last summer, engineers reported that part of the bridge had failed and other parts were in very poor shape.

Half the bridge was determined to be usable, so one-lane traffic has been allowed on the bridge for several months. The bridge, which crosses the Middle Rouge River on Beal Avenue, leads to an entrance to the Northville Downs race track.

The city has been using the bridge as one way into the track during the early evening hours; and one way out of the track when people start to leave.

"That's worked fairly tolerably this winter," Walters said. "We didn't have any really substantial traffic problems to react to."

The city engineering firm has recommended removing the entire bridge deck and part of the supporting walls; and replacing that with new concrete using plastic-coated, reinforcing steel.

CITY OF NOVI OAKLAND COUNTY, MICHIGAN

NOTICE OF ADOPTION OF RESOLUTION BY CITY COUNCIL AUTHORIZING EXECUTION OF A CONTRACT PLEDGING THE FULL FAITH AND CREDIT AND TAXING POWER OF THE CITY AND NOTICE OF RIGHT TO PETITION FOR REFERENDUM UPON THE CONTRACT

TO ALL ELECTORS AND TAXPAYERS OF
THE CITY OF NOVI AND OTHER INTERESTED PERSONS:

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that on February 27, 1989, the City Council of the City of Novi adopted a resolution approving and authorizing the execution and delivery of a contract among the City of Walled Lake, the City of Novi and the County of Oakland, pursuant to the provisions of Act 342, Public Acts of Michigan, 1939, as amended, relative to the acquisition, construction and financing of improvements and enlargements of the Walled Lake - Novi Wastewater Treatment Plant.

PURPOSE OF CONTRACT

The contract has for its purpose and provides for the acquisition and construction of improvements and enlargements of the Walled Lake - Novi Wastewater Treatment Plant to serve the City of Walled Lake and the City of Novi at a total estimated cost of $5,550,000 and for the issuance of bonds by the County of Oakland in the principal amount of $5,550,000 to defray the cost of acquiring and constructing the project. The bonds to be issued will be secured primarily by the obligations of the City of Walled Lake and the City of Novi to pay their respective shares of the principal of and interest on the bonds when due. Each city will be obligated to pay 50% of such principal and interest.

CITY'S CONTRACTUAL OBLIGATION AND SOURCE OF PAYMENT

The bonds to be issued by the County of Oakland will bear interest at a rate or rates not to exceed 15% per annum and will mature serially over a period not exceeding 40 years. The full faith and credit of the City of Novi have been pledged in the contract for the making of payments to the County in amounts sufficient to pay 50% of the principal of and interest on the bonds as the same shall become due and for the payment of 50% of bond service charges incurred by the County. Taxes levied by the City for the payment of its obligations to the County are subject to constitutional, statutory and charter limitations.

RIGHT TO PETITION FOR REFERENDUM ON CONTRACT

This notice is given by order of the City Council to and for the benefit of the electors and taxpayers of the City of Novi and any other interested persons in order to inform them of their right to petition for a referendum upon the contract. The contract will not become effective until the expiration of 45 days after the publication of this notice. If, within said 45-day period, a petition signed by 10% or 15,000, whichever is the lesser, of the registered electors residing within the City is filed with the City Clerk requesting a referendum upon the contract, the contract will not become effective until approved by a majority of the electors of the City qualified to vote and voting thereon at a general or special election.

FURTHER INFORMATION

Further information relative to the subject matter of the contract and this notice, including the description and location of the improvements, may be secured at the office of the City Clerk where a copy of the contract is available for examination during normal business hours.

This notice is given pursuant to the provisions of Section 5b of Act 342, Public Acts of Michigan, 1939, as amended.

The Northville Record

Our Opinion

Day care zoning talks have gone on too long

Now that the proposed Northville city zoning ordinance on in-home day care has been scheduled for a public hearing, it's time to say a word about how the issue has been handled so far. The word is "poorly."

By the time the planning commission holds a hearing March 21 on changing the zoning ordinance — to permit day care in a home for up to six children — more than six months will have elapsed since the issue arose. All the home day care operators in the city have been in limbo all that time, probably recovering from the surprise of hearing that their business violated city zoning.

It really shouldn't have taken this long to reach the public hearing stage. Recall the chronology: city council discussion in September and October led to the administration drafting an ordinance and to an uneasy consensus on the most important day care issues except one, regulating density. That question was sent to the planning commission for consideration.

The commission quickly learned that the city could not regulate density at all, so it then proceeded to reach its own consensus on all the other issues, sending a recommendation to the city council in January. The council called a special meeting on the issue, finally asking the city manager to draft another plan. That happened in February, and is now being readied for hearings at the planning commission and city council.

By the time we're all done, the Committee should keep fighting for lower speed

It is disappointing to hear that the Michigan State Police has decided that there is no need to change the current 40 miles per hour speed limit on Eight Mile Road near Northville High School and Amerman Elementary School.

Although the state police gave several reasons for not lowering the speed around the schools, none seem quite good enough to those of us who watch the intersection on a daily basis.

The police report noted that with two crossing guards stationed at the school and with a low accident rate over a three-year period, there just wasn't any evidence to justify the change in speed.

The state and county have adopted an 85th-percentile standard, which means setting a limit which 85 percent of all drivers will obey, as they have determined setting speeds that are unrealistically low and are not obeyed cause more problems in the long run.

That may make sense on highways and expressways, but it leaves a lot to be desired on residential streets that also contain schools.

question of day-care zoning will have gone from the council to the administration to the council to the planners to the council to the administration to the council to the planners to the council. If this sounds like a bit much — it is.

The direction all this has taken has been generally positive. If the city continues on its present course, it should end up with a fine ordinance. (Much of which may unfortunately be preempted by the state, but that's another matter.)

Sure, these are difficult issues, but they aren't that difficult. It's easy to Monday-morning quarterback on parts of the day-care playoffs: the planners should have stuck to considering density; later changes in the proposal to match current state law should have come earlier; and so on.

It's always nice to make sure all the "i"'s are dotted and the "t"'s crossed, but this day-care zoning business has gone beyond that. The ordinance consideration has taken way too long, and the operators and customers deserve a resolution.

Stupid people

By Amy Rosa

Stupid things and stupid people seems to me a timely subject for this week's column.

And no where is there a better place to start than with the Ayatollah Khomeini. Hey, how about that fearless leader of Iran? What a wonderful example he's setting by pronouncing a death sentence on British author Salman Rushdie, for offenses taken in Rushdie's novel "Satanic Verses".

I hope Rushdie manages to stay in hiding long enough for the whole thing to blow over. As Novi Library Director Brenda Burrell put it, "No one wants a best seller four months later."

Speaking of other stupid things, has anyone ever managed to successfully sprout a Chia Pet? This gimmick has to go down in history as one of the most stupid things ever.

The Chia recently adopted by the newspaper staff here, looked similar to a balding porcupine, even after months of care. It looked so bad, in fact, that we considered gluing on alfalfa sprouts. Perhaps it will be happier joining other unsproutables in that Chia Pet place in the sky.

How about this. They've come out with a Nancy Reagan doll. That's right, for a mere $239.52 you can have your very own superbly sculpted 19-inch Nancy, made out of crafted bisque porcelain. (I don't think they mean bisque as in lobster bisque.)

Nancy will stare at you adoringly (much like she did to hubby Ron) while dressed in the inaugural ball gown she wore in 1981 — genuine rhinestones and 5,000 crystal beads and all.

Yea. That's what I want looking down at me from my fireplace mantel.

The distinguished mail order company, who's name I shan't divulge, advertises the Nancy doll as "America's First Ladies — Presenting the first in an exciting new series." I guess Pat Nixon and Ros Carter don't make the grade.

Lastly, how about Senator John Tower? Surely he's a candidate for the dunce cap for not withdrawing his name as a nominee for Secretary of Defense, in light of all the controversy. (Doesn't he know he'd just get the Dan Quayle treatment for the duration of his term.)

Or perhaps better qualifying Tower for the dunce cap was his lack of humor in his response to the Senate Armed Services Committee, when asked if he would now give up women, as he pledged to give up alcohol, if nominated. Tower replied, "I will continue seeing women, since I am single."

I think a better response would have been, "Would you prefer that I see men?"

Ah, but none of us can think that fast on our feet.

movies you're looking for are in the back in the Triple-X section."

Then, noticing his handful of tapes. "You either like to watch movies or the real estate business isn't doing that good and you've taken a part-time job restocking the shelves."

More small talk. Turns out Conrad's wife hasn't been feeling well and all the tapes were for her to watch. Ben doesn't particularly miss coaching the high school swim team.

Ben and Conrad hadn't known each other before I introduced them. They discovered Conrad's kids had had Ben as a teacher at Northville High School. So they caught up on how Conrad's kids are doing in college. They're doing well, incidentally.

In the middle of all the conversation it occurred to me what a nice play video stores can be. Sort of a high-tech version of the old Greek market place where you hump into old friends and catch up on the latest news.

And just about that time, the clerk put "Bull Durham" and "A Fish Called Wanda" (the movie Ben was waiting for) up on the shelves, so we grabbed them and headed for the check-out line. All things considered, it had been a real nice afternoon at the tape shop.

After the fact

By Phil Jerome

I was checking to see if "Bull Durham" was available when I spotted Ben Lauber looking through the tapes in the comedy section.

"Hey, Cowboy," I said after failing to catch his eye. "The movies you're looking for are in the back in the Triple-X section."

"It was only then that Lauber looked up and broke into a grin. It's been awhile since I had seen Ben, so we spent some time chewing the fat while keeping an eye on the shelves for our movies to be returned.

Moments later, Conrad Jakubowski walked by carrying about six tapes. "Hey, Cowboy," I said. "The Sidewalks not needed on local street

To the Editor:
I am writing in response to your editorial regarding sidewalks on Galway Drive, which appeared in the Feb. 23 edition of The Northville Record.
Although we in Lexington Green are all concerned about safety, contrary to your opinions, we do not believe that this is an issue of safety or practicality.
Sidewalks are not the only answers to questions of safety, particularly when only one street in both subdivisions would have sidewalks.
Sidewalks are not substitutes for the supervision of children, especially young children. Nor are they substitutes for proper traffic safety lessons and precautions for children and adults.

Sidewalks are not deterrents to keep kids from playing in the streets — kids are naturally curious and are attracted to the space and freedom — that is reality and I speak from experience. So sidewalks can provide a false sense of security.
This is not an issue of traffic, since Galway Drive is not and will not truly be a collector street. The present design and alignment curves north to Nine Mile Road — not through to Beck Road, significantly reducing the amount of traffic that will be generated.
Furthermore, these are large lot, low density subdivisions and fewer homes equals less traffic. Galway Drive will not function as a typical collector street and will only serve the residents in Lexington Green and Bradford of Novi.

We do believe that this is an issue of aesthetics and lifestyles. Lexington Green and Bradford of Novi are two of the most attractive and countrified subdivisions in Novi and sidewalks would detract from the unique country atmosphere that residents enjoy and have invested in.
We are not asking the Novi City Council to amend the ordinance requiring sidewalks, we are only asking for a waiver in Lexington Green and Bradford of Novi II and III.
There has been turnover in our subdivision and a number of homes have sold on Galway Drive. But it seems that people who move to our neighborhood do so in part, because of the spacious lawns and natural features, and all but one of the present homeowners living on Galway Drive support and signed the petitions requesting the waiver of sidewalks. We believe that in our democratic society there must be flexibility to accommodate different lifestyles.

This is strictly a neighborhood matter, not a city-wide matter, not an inter-city matter and certainly not a matter for this newspaper to in any way decide.
We are adults capable of making responsible decisions. These are our homes and our investments and we prefer and choose to live without sidewalks.

Education is the key to ending drug abuse

This is another in the continuing series of columns written for the Record by Charles Silec, Northville High School Student Assistance Program Coordinator.

Exciting news for Northville residents in the coming months: The Board of Education at the regular meeting held at Old Village School on Monday, Feb. 13, approved the Community Commission on Drug Abuse's request to establish a Community Commission on Drug Abuse Center at Cooke School during summer of 1989, becoming operational by the opening of school in September. This center will service both the youth and adult population as well as offer expanded services from those presently existing.
The Board of Education approved the Northville Action Council's request for support and endorsement of a five part educational series over five consecutive weeks covering substance abuse and chemical dependency. The series will be presented on five Tuesdays, April 11, 18, 25, as well as May 2 and 9, and is a community service offered by Henry Ford Hospital's Maplegrove Community Education Program. The topics are as follows: (1) The Disease of Chemical Dependency, (2) Impact on The Family, (3) Alcohol, Drugs and Teens, (4) Intervention, (5) The Community's Response.
The week of March 6-12 is National P.T.A. Drug Awareness Week. The Northville Public Schools and the surrounding community will adorn buildings, trees, posts and people with red ribbons signifying being drug and alcohol free and bringing continued needed attention to the plight of those who use, abuse and become dependent on drugs — as well as their families.

The goal will be to increase the awareness of citizens through newspaper articles; speakers from the Wayne County Prosecutors' Speakers Bureau will visit the schools and speak to classes sharing a library of books and videos on the subject of substance abuse and fact sheets to be used by teachers with students. Different schools, organizations and persons are planning other related activities — so keep watch.
Without question the most urgent problem affecting education today is the destructive influence of alcohol and other drugs within our schools. Substance abuse has become a fact of student life and programs to prevent alcohol and drug use have become a part of the curriculum.
Drugs continue to threaten the main work of our schools — education. Drugs remain dangerously accessible to our students and the pressure to use them — especially the pressure to use alcohol — remains very hard to resist.
In the classroom, students who use alcohol and other drugs tend to lack the motivation and self discipline necessary for learning. These substances, according to the National Institute on Drug Abuse (NIDA), interfere with the brain's ability to process information and can induce a false sense of mental acuity. They can also contribute to erratic or violent behavior, which disrupts the learning environment for all.

Research shows that alcohol and drug use increases the likelihood that a student will skip school or drop out and that it almost invariably leads to a decline in academic performance.
Even students who resist the pressure to experiment with alcohol and other drugs suffer from its consequences. For them school is not only a daily encounter with new ideas and new ways of thinking but also a daily struggle to sort out competing social norms and priorities. Their education will include lessons in evasion, deception and coercion as they learn to cope with the fact that our schools have become the place where most Americans confront our national drug problem directly for the first time.
We started this article with information about programs and agencies involved in the fight against substance abuse. I believe that education and involvement is and will make the difference. Education brings changes in attitudes which brings action.
The more you know about substance abuse the more you can do to stop it!
For further information about these and other concerns contact the Student Assistant Program Coordinator at 344-1825 or the Community Commission on Drug Abuse 261-3760.

Lashing out

By Bruce Weintraub

Making sense of the world
Ugh. This certainly is not an easy subject. Since the beginning of the year, two baseball players and one mayor have either been slapped with a lawsuit or are bracing for one from former girlfriends, a former Klu Klux Klan member was elected to the Louisiana Legislature and the Senate may reject a presidential cabinet appointment.
Whew. And you thought you had problems. Now for the crowning jewel. The so-called leader of Iran has sent out a death squad to kill a British author.
Oh, where to begin. I guess, since I'm a sports fan, I'll admit that I am sick to death of hearing or reading about the sex problems of Boston baseball player Wade Boggs. I know that reporters have a tough time coming up with stories during the slow part of spring training. But enough is enough. It's starting to get more sickening than last week's episode of "Thirtysomething".

What's worse than the Boggs issue, is learning that All American boy Steve Garvey is being slapped with not one, but two, paternity suits. What's the old phrase, "First mistake shame on you, second mistake shame on me." Considering the circumstances, the line should be changed to "shame on me, shame on me." And to think Steve was such a smart runner and such a patient hitter.
As for the Tower hearings, I'm a little tired of listening to these morally perfect people shoot down Tower for irrelevant reasons. In politics, as in every other line of work, nobody is a saint. To suggest that Tower should live up to a code higher than that of anybody else is ridiculous. If the guy can do the job, give him a chance. If he can't, then reject him. But judge him on his ability and his track record, not on his personal life.
By the way, I wonder if Ted Kennedy places a rose or flower at Chappaquiddick every year?

Finally, the deal about the book "Satanic Verses" by Salman Rushdie has been blown way out of proportion. Informed sources have told me the book contains dry humor and would be a dud without the world-wide attention it has received.
It seems inconceivable that a political and religious leader can actually issue a death threat to the author of a book. But death threats aside, I'm wondering if the people that are joining the free speech bandwagon would be acting differently if the book poked fun at the Catholic or Protestant religion.
Religion, I've learned over the years, is one thing people don't like to joke about. Personally, if someone wrote a humorous book about Judaism I would not be too happy. So, before we get too wrapped up in the sacred virtue of freedom of speech, let's try and put ourselves in a similar situation.

Helping Pep club aids others

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

People helping people. The next time you buy a soft drink or box of popcorn during a Northville High School sporting event, you can rest assured that the money was well spent.

That does not mean the popcorn will be perfectly buttered or the right amount of carbonation was used in the drink.

The contented feeling stems from knowing a portion of the concession proceeds went to help the Northville Civic Concern — a group which collects goods for local needy people.

The concession stand is operated by the high school Pep Club, an organization that is currently low on members, but high on spirit.

Pep Club President Rosally Sapla, a senior at Northville High, said the 10-member group strives to "earn money through the school and give it back to the school and the community."

"It's not only fun to be in a club, but it's also a great feeling to be helping people," Sapla added.

In addition to their $150 donation to the Civic Concern, the Pep Club also sponsors the homecoming festivities, and has purchased a new sound system for the gymnasium and a sign that resides in front of the high school.

"Through the Pep Club, students are helping the community as well as themselves," said Pep Club sponsor Deanna Siemasz.

Siemasz, who is in her third year as sponsor, said the Pep Club makes the majority of their money from the homecoming dance and running the concession stands at all home football and basketball games.

"Other schools have their booster clubs run the stand — but Northville wanted to keep it controlled by the kids themselves — thus the Pep Club," Siemasz said.

She added that although being a club member entails about eight to 10 hours of volunteer work per week, the students have a good time being associated with the group.

"This is not a group of popular kids or goody kids; rather, it is mostly a group of students who don't have something else to do," Siemasz said, noting the members enjoy being involved with a school sponsored activity.

Pep Club member Sean Payne said he joined the group because he had a lot of extra time and wanted to be involved with a school activity.

"I enjoy being involved in the Pep Club because I've made a lot of friends and it gives me something to do that involves the school," Payne said.

"Because of the people, it's a lot of fun being in the Pep Club."

Sapla said she would like to bring some stability to the Pep Club to increase its membership, which is currently around 10 people.

She said the Pep Club attracts many people during the time it prepares the homecoming festivities, but noted club attendance dwindles in the winter months.

"Traditionally, the Pep Club has not been very prestigious," Sapla said. "Before I leave I would like to make the group more structured to try and recruit more members."

"I also want to spell out the duties of the Pep Club's officers, to try and get students in the leadership positions to learn leadership. We're trying to establish a new image because we really need people to participate."

Sapla said possible future activities sponsored by the club include a senior picnic during the spring.

As for the recent donation to the Civic Concern, Sapla said the group wanted to donate some extra money it had during the Christmas season.

"It felt really good to donate the money," Sapla said. "We wanted to donate money to the Civic Concern on a local level and to Armenia (to help earthquake victims) on an international level. We decided to stick with the local ties and give the money to the Civic Concern."

Payne said he suggested donating to Civic Concern because "I felt we should help Northville and Michigan. I think we should shape up our town first before looking elsewhere."

"It makes me feel good to not only help Northville High, but the community as well," he added.

Siemasz said she recommended donating the money to Civic Concern because it is a local group and it also covers a lot of territory.

She said that after paying for supplies and expenses, the Pep Club usually makes about $100 per basketball game and $200 per football game.

Doctors Invent 'Lazy Way' to Lose Weight

U.S. Gov't Approves Patent Claims for New Diet Pill

BEVERLY HILLS, CA (Special)—An amazing new weight loss pill called "fat-magnet" has recently been developed and perfected by two prominent doctors at a world famous hospital in Los Angeles that reportedly "guarantees" you steady fat loss and calorie reduction by simply taking their tested and proven new pill.

The U.S. government has just approved the doctors claims for a hard-to-get patent that confirms "there has never been anything like their fat-bonding pill process before." It is a totally new major scientific breakthrough and is revolutionizing the weight loss industry.

You Can "Eat Normally" Best of all, "you can continue to eat your favorite foods and you don't have to change your normal eating habits. You can start losing fat and reduce calories from the very first day, until you achieve the ideal weight you desire without exercising."

Flushes Fat Out of Body The new pill is appropriately called the "f.-magnet" pill because it breaks into thousands of particles, each acting like a tiny magnet, "attracting" and trapping many times its size in undigested fat particles. Then, all the trapped fat and calories are naturally "flushed" right out of your body because they cannot be absorbed.

Within 2 days you should notice a change in the color of your stool, caused by the fat particles being eliminated.

"Automatically" Lose Fat

According to one of the inventors, Dr. William Shell, heart specialist and associate professor of medicine at UCLA medical school, "the new fat-bonding process is a 'lazy way' to lose weight because the pills alone 'automatically' reduce calories by eliminating dietary fat. It is 100% safe and not a drug."

The fat-magnet pills are already sweeping the country with glowing reports of weight loss from formerly overweight people in all walks of life who are now slimmer, trimmer and more attractive again.

Now Available to the Public

If you are trying to lose 20, 50, 100 pounds or more, you can order your supply of these "no-risk" highly successful fat-magnet pills directly from the doctors' exclusive manufacturer only (includes optional calories-reduction plan for even better results). Send $20 for a 90 pill supply (+ $3 handling), or $35 for a 180 pill supply (+ $3 handling), to: Fat-Magnet, 9016 Wilshire Blvd., Dept. WX44, Beverly Hills, CA 90211. (Unconditional money-back guarantee if not 100% satisfied.) Visa, MasterCard and American Express OK. (Send card number, expire date, and signature.) For fastest service for credit card holders ONLY call anytime 24 hours, toll free (800) 527-9700, ext. WX44.

City amends budget to cover shortage

A slight city budget crunch — brought on largely by higher-than-expected costs to dump trash in landfills — will be resolved by a host of minor cuts, City Manager Steve Walters said Monday.

The city council was scheduled Monday to vote on budget amendments to resolve a $55,400 deficit which has cropped up since last spring's budget adoption. On Walters' recommendation, they balanced the books by reducing the budget for police patrol wages by the same amount — but Walters stressed that the move was only an accounting gimmick and not an actual reduction in the police budget.

"We will need a $55,000 reduction in other expenses," Walters said. "We're just going to have to cut here and there to find that $55,000," unless new revenues are found. There will probably be 20 or 30 minor transfers which will be worked out later, he added.

The council's approved budget amendments included planning for more revenue than expected from the state, but less from the 35th District Court and less money left over from the previous year. In total, revenues are now budgeted at $3,800 more than when the budget was adopted.

At the same time, refuse services increased by $40,000 and the reserve for prior deficit went up $19,200.

Walters said the budget details will be back before the council this spring as part of preparation for the new budget year. The city's fiscal year runs from July 1 to June 30.

City sign ordinance changes proposed

By BOB NEEDHAM

Tighter rules for signs in the City of Northville may not be too far off.

The city planning commission, which has been considering revisions to the city sign ordinance, voted last week to send a draft on to the city council for consideration. A public hearing and a council vote would be required before the ordinance is adopted.

The new proposal would double the length of the city's sign rules from 10 to 20 pages. The section on intent is expanded, definitions are revised, and technical changes are made in the new draft.

Substantive changes include strict limits on illumination, including an outright ban on internally-illuminated signs within the Historic District and a maximum brightness of all signs.

The new draft proposes much stricter limits on many signs. For example, freestanding pole signs in the Central Business District would go from a maximum height of 35 feet-plus to 20 feet; and from a maximum size of 300 square feet to 50 square feet per side. Marquee signs would only be allowed in the Central Business District, whereas they are now allowed in most commercial classes.

The new ordinance proposal is also much more detailed in its regulations. For example, separate requirements are set down for the CBD, whereas the current ordinance lays down the same restrictions for all commercial zoning classes.

Music awards available

Each year the Northville High School Music Boosters present several scholarships to band and choir students to help enrich their musical abilities through participation in a summer music camp program. The scholarships are presented at the end of the school year during the music awards banquet.

Any student in the music program, except seniors, may apply for a summer camp scholarship. The number and amount of the scholarships given will be determined by the amount of money collected from contributors.

Interested students should contact Michael Rumbell, band director, or Mary Kay Pryce, choir director. The deadline for applications is April 1.

Contributions may be made to the scholarship fund. Checks may be sent to NHS Music Boosters, Northville High School, 775 N. Center Street, Northville, Mich., 48167.

The Music Boosters' Board of Directors noted that many corporations and companies set money aside for the "matching gift program", matching scholarship contributions made by employees.

The intents of the new ordinance proposal include reducing visual distraction and preventing other buildings from being obscured.

Unlike a revised sign ordinance recently passed by the City of Plymouth, Northville's proposal does not include any deadline for compliance. Under the draft, any non-conforming signs which existed before the ordinance goes into effect could stay up, within certain guidelines. It could not be changed to another non-conforming sign; the shape, size, or design could not be changed; and it could not be repaired or replaced if damaged by more than half the cost of an identical new sign.

After making some additional comments on the proposed draft at the planning commission meeting Tuesday, Feb. 21, the commission voted to send the ordinance on to the city council. "I want to get this off the table. I really do," commissioner David Totten said in suggesting the move.

The commission voted unanimously to accept the latest changes in the draft and forward the ordinance to the city council for consideration. A public hearing would be required before adoption.

These Rabbit Ears Will Get A Great Reception.

It's the Easter Bunny's big arrival at Twelve Oaks on Saturday, March 4.

Talk about a terrific reception.

This one includes an honest to goodness parade right through Twelve Oaks on Saturday, March 4 at 1pm. Led by the Kids Fashion Panel with some pretty crazy characters joining them. There's Winnie the Pooh, Tigger and Eeyore, too.

It all ends in Center Court, with a puppet show and magic show. And, of course, a big appearance by the Easter Bunny. (He'll be available for pictures with your kids from March 4-25.)

So bring the family to Twelve Oaks on Saturday, March 4. For a great reception you just can't get on television.

Phones Gadgets & Things

Novi store concentrates on electronic gadgetry

By PHILIP JEROME

There's a telephone shaped like a University of Michigan football helmet.

Another phone is a dead-ringer for a tennis shoe.

There's even a talking crystal ball.

"You ask it a question, rub your hand across the top and it gives you a response," explained Mike Sylvestre, a Northville High School graduate and a Novi resident.

Sylvestre, 23, is employed by Phones Gadgets & Things, a store which has branches on Northwestern Highway in Southfield and in Novi's West Oaks II shopping center.

He's manager of the Southfield store, but also keeps tabs on the West Oaks outlet because it's... well, because it's in his home town.

Phones Gadgets & Things is owned by Neil Sporn, owner of Sporn Systems Inc., a firm which installs various electronic systems from alarms to intercoms to stereo wiring.

The Southfield store has been open eight years, but the Novi store opened only last summer.

"In a way, it (Phone Gadgets & Things) is sort of a hobby; Neil Sporn is a certified gadgets freak," explained Sylvestre.

"He (Sporn) goes to trade shows across the country looking for interesting and unique items."

At the same time, Sylvestre add, it's a serious business venture. Sporn is looking at opening another Phones Gadgets & Things -- possibly in Rochester. And, ultimately, he would like to franchise the operation nationally.

It's difficult to describe the store any better than its name already does. Basically, said Sylvestre, we carry "phones, gadgets and things."

The mainstay of the retail business, however, is telephones... designer telephones which are bound to be conversation pieces wherever they're installed.

In addition to the Michigan football helmet phone and the tennis shoe phone, there are telephones of Disney characters and stuffed animals -- ideal for a little girls' room.

Another popular phone has a clear plastic coating and neon tubing on the inside.

Beyond that, Sylvestre said, Phones Gadgets & Things carries a wide array of telephone accessories.

"We carry just about everything that has anything to do with telephones or telephone accessories," he reported.

"Cords, installation jacks, wires. You name it, we carry it."

Aside from the telephones, Phones Gadgets & Things concentrates on electrical items.

"We carry big radios, little radios, clock radios, mini-computers, personal televisions, big-screen televisions, compact disc players, videocassette machines and some hi-fi and stereo equipment," reported Sylvestre.

Sylvestre also says the store carries only high quality merchandise -- brand names like Sony, NEC and Panasonic.

"We try to stay away from the lower-end merchandise," he said. "All the brands we carry are high quality; you might pay a little more for them, but the quality is there."

"We guarantee to match or beat anybody else's prices on similar equipment," he continued, explaining that the guarantee is possible because not all stores carry the quality of merchandise carried at Phones Gadgets & Things.

Although the store carries many of the so-called big ticket items, it also features a wide array of... well, as the name says, "gadgets and things."

"It's a good store for picking up inexpensive, but useful, gifts," said Sylvestre.

There are battery-operated manicure sets, a variety of travel items including shoe brushes and shoe shine kits, and a lot of little gift items for golfers.

Some of the gadgets aren't even particularly useful Sylvestre said gag gifts like "applause boxes" and "laugh boxes" are surprisingly good sellers.

Also available are electrical items for the kitchen such as toasters, knife sharpeners, coffee-makers, vacuums and juicers.

"We like to call ourself a store of unique offerings," said Sylvestre. "We try to specialize in the little things you can't find anywhere else. People who come into our stores are surprised at the unique things we have available."

"It's the type of store," he continued, "where you can get serious and buy top-line electronic equipment. Or you can buy two or three little gifts for less than $10."

Business Briefs

JOHN McPARLAND

A.J. MARSH of Northville is principal owner and president of 4-M Industries, a newly-formed Novi firm which will serve the rapidly-growing anti-theft security market with a complete line of state-of-the-art passive deterrent devices for automobiles, trucks, boats and other vehicles.

Marsh, 45, who was founder and formerly president for 15 years of ANJ Precision Manufacturing, Inc., of Farmington Hills, will be assisted in the management of the new company by his sons Allen, 26, and Steven, 25. Allen Marsh is vice president of sales and Steven Marsh is production manager.

4-M Industries initially will manufacture and market a patented proprietary line comprised of three different anti-theft devices designed and engineered to dead short to ground the electrical system of a vehicle upon any unauthorized attempt to start or hot wire the vehicle.

JOHN McPARLAND of Northville has been promoted to vice president of Ross Mortgage Corporation. McParland manages the Ross office located on Five Mile in Livonia.

In his new position, McParland will supervise all office personnel, including loan production officers and clerical staff. In addition, he will be responsible for servicing his existing client base and developing new business.

McParland had been an Assistant Vice President at the Ross Mortgage Livonia branch office. Prior to joining Ross, he was branch manager of the Dearborn Real Estate One office.

McParland resides in Northville with his wife Barbara, daughter Jessica and son Jeffrey.

Ross Mortgage is headquartered in Oak Park and has branch offices in Berkley, Sterling Heights, St. Clair Shores, Rochester and Livonia with plans for further expansion.

THE GENERAL SET DIVISION of Cummins Michigan Inc. has been dissolved. Cummins generator set and sales and service will now be handled by Standby Power, Inc., the Michigan distributor for Gnan Corporation of Minneapolis, Minn.

Cummins Michigan Inc. is the Michigan distributor for Cummins Engine Company of Columbus, Indiana, the largest independent diesel engine manufacturer in the world. All Cummins Michigan Inc. generator set sales and service personnel have relocated to Standby Power, Inc.

Standby Power, Inc. is now the largest and most complete generator set sales and service company in Michigan. Standby Power, Inc. is owned by Von and Jean Boll with their son Greg and daughter Karen. The Boll family has owned Cummins Michigan Inc since 1971.

Standby Power now offers the following products and services through its two locations in Redford and Grand Rapids.

FREDERICK A. WELCH recently was named vice president and chief financial officer of Eldridge, Inc., a real estate development firm located at 405 East Commerce in Milford.

In this position, Welch is responsible for directing all financial activities of the company and those of each Eldridge, Inc. project. "Mr. Welch brings extensive corporate management skills and leadership to our rapidly growing organization," said Jay Eldridge, president of the company.

Eldridge Inc. was formed in January of 1987. Among its many activities are site selection, acquisition, financing and development of real estate projects. The firm currently is developing Silver Lake Village, a 174-acre regional business community in Fenton, and Huron Hills, a 67-acre residential business community of single family condominiums in the Milford/Commerce Township area.

Prior to joining Eldridge, Inc., Welch was director of administration at Cross and Trecker Corporation, reporting directly to the president. In that position, he oversaw marketing/management reporting and overall administration of the corporate headquarters.

Welch also held a number of positions at Williams International in various financial, administrative and engineering management capacities. He received his BSE degree cum laude, Tau Beta Pi, in 1971 and his MBA degree, where he was in the top third of his class, in 1973. Both are from the University of Michigan.

He is a resident of Orchard Lake, where he resides with his wife, Sandra, and their son.

SUZANNE DOYLE was a winner of the recent Getaway Invitational at Grand Traverse Resort contest sponsored by Midwest Living magazine and the Leon Levin women's apparel company. She is the daughter of Dennis and Sherry Doyle of Novi.

The four winners, all media buyers in the Detroit area, and their guests were pampered with three-night stays at the resort. In addition, each of the winners received a complete golf outfit by Leon Levin, a gourmet meal at the resort's Trillium Restaurant, rounds of golf on the resort's two courses, and court time for tennis and racquetball.

The contest was a cooperative promotional effort by Midwest Living, Leon Levin and Grand Traverse Resort.

JEROME VEDRO of West Bloomfield was the lucky grand prize winner of a "Grand Traverse Weekend for Two" given away by Security Bank and Trust in conjunction with the opening of its 39th branch office at Fourteen Mile and Haggerty Road in Novi. Branch manager Gaetano T. DiCarlo (left) is shown congratulating Vedro in the picture above.

Customers and non-customers were invited to visit the new office and enter a contest to win the "Grand Traverse Weekend for Two" in conjunction with the grand opening celebration. The trip included round-trip air transportation and deluxe accommodations at the Grand Traverse Resort Village in Traverse City.

Security Bank and Trust is the largest subsidiary bank of Security Bancorp Inc., and is the eighth largest bank in the state. Security Bancorp Inc. is the seventh largest multi-bank holding company in Michigan with seven subsidiaries and 78 offices in the Metro Detroit area.

WILLIAM J. CHARBONEAU has been elected vice president of Anger Manufacturing Company in Northville. Charboneau has been with Anger Manufacturing more than 15 years and currently serves as production control manager.

Anger Manufacturing is in the metal stamping business and manufactures metal components for the automotive industry. Located at 777 Baseline Road in Northville, the company is 49 years old.

LAURA A. SMIGIELSKI, marketing director at Winrock Center in Albuquerque, New Mexico, was recently certified by the International Council of Shopping Centers (ICSC) as a Certified Marketing Director. She is a 1977 graduate of Northville High School.

The certification process requires a minimum of four years experience in the industry and a passing score on an exam given annually by the ICSC. A recent survey conducted with shopping center marketing directors by JonesReport of Indianapolis, Indiana, showed that only 11 percent of those surveyed had received the designation.

Smigielski has been marketing director for Winrock Center for two years and is employed by CenterWest Properties, Inc. A super-regional mall with 120 stores, Winrock is owned by the Prudential Insurance Company of America and managed by CenterWest Properties, Inc.

Annual builders show scheduled to fill upper level of Cobo Hall

The newly-expanded Cobo Hall will be the site of the 1989 International Builders Home, Flower and Furniture Show, March 18-26, the largest show of its kind in the United States.

There will be more than 800 exhibition booths in the show, spanning 500,000 square feet — the entire top level of Cobo Hall. The show's nine-day run is expected to attract over a half million people.

This is the first year that the 71-year-old annual show takes on an international flavor with exhibitors from around the world participating in the event.

Experts in every conceivable area of residential construction, heating and cooling, design, finance and remodeling will be on hand to demonstrate their wares and answer questions from the public.

The latest trends in home furnishings and construction will be exhibited. There will be actual demonstrations on many aspects of home remodeling, sure to be of interest to the do-it-yourself handyman.

The 1989 show will feature more actual model homes than ever. Manufactured homes, custom-built modular homes, timber frame homes and homes made from logs will all be on display at the show.

Of course, it wouldn't be the popular "Builders Show" without the thousands of flowers, shrubs and greenery that will transform Cobo into a "breath of spring." An area more than the size of six football fields will be adorned with various landscaped gardens complete with gazebos, fountains, flowers, trees and lots of areas where visitors can sit and enjoy the sights and smells of spring.

The flowering plants have been "tricked" into blooming early just in time for the show, using horticultural magic that rivals Mother Nature.

New to the show this year is a traveling pictorial exhibit from the Smithsonian Institute of Washington, D.C.

Back this year by popular demand are an elaborate arts and crafts display, the "House of Nails" contest where the winner gets $20,000, and daily Treasure Chest drawings with prizes for the winners, as well as remote broadcasts from several of Detroit's best-known radio stations.

Floral arrangements by Allied and FTD florists will adorn the show, and will be auctioned off on the closing day with proceeds benefitting the March of Dimes.

For more information on the event contact the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan at 737-4477.

Taxpayers can appeal IRS tax rulings

For most people, taking on the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) is as far-fetched as stepping into the ring with Mike Tyson.

But the Michigan Association of CPAs points out that the IRS is not unbeatable. If you truly believe an examiner's findings are unfair or inaccurate, you have the right to appeal within the IRS or through the court system.

How you initiate an appeal depends, in part, on the type of audit you have undergone and on the amount of tax liability in dispute. For a field audit involving a tax dispute of $2,500 or more, you are generally required to file a written statement or protest. However, in a correspondence or office audit, where the IRS asks you to submit documentation related to certain items on your tax return, you can usually begin an appeal simply by asking to meet with the examiner's supervisor.

The supervisor will review the audit, discuss your concerns and try to resolve the dispute. If you cannot reach an agreement on this level, your next step is requesting an appeals conference within the IRS. In either case, if you plan to appeal an examiner's decision, make sure that you do not sign the agreement form that the IRS agent provides at the end of an audit.

The majority of tax disputes are resolved during appellate hearings. These proceedings are relatively informal and you may even choose to represent yourself. However, you may have greater success — and less anxiety — if you ask a certified public accountant or attorney to appear before the IRS on your behalf.

Since the hearing is generally limited to one meeting, be prepared to present and discuss documentation for each and every item in dispute. The appeals officer will review the government's chances of winning in court and, in most cases, argue for a speedy resolution. In fact, it's the appeals officer's job to settle the case out of court whenever possible. After all, the longer the litigation process, the more time and money the IRS must invest in the dispute.

As a result, you may find that the appeals officer is more willing to negotiate than was the original auditor. During the hearing, expect a great deal of bargaining to occur and be prepared to make your own concessions.

If you cannot reach an agreement in the appeals office, you still have the right to appeal to the courts. But do not make this decision lightly. Court disputes can be time consuming and extremely expensive. In some cases, litigation can last years and cost a small fortune.

Before taking your case to court, put aside your hard feelings and re-examine your tax bill. Ask your CPA to estimate the fees entailed in a lengthy tax dispute — and then compare that figure to the amount you owe the IRS.

You can still argue the case on principle, but make sure you consider whether it makes sense to spend thousands of dollars to dispute a $1,000 tax bill. On the other hand, your future tax bills may in fact be affected by the principle you fight to support.

If you decide to go down the litigation route, there are two paths you can follow. You can go directly to the United States Tax Court or you may appeal to the United States District Court or the Court of Claims. Don't make the mistake of assuming that all roads lead to the same place. In 1987, taxpayers won complete or partial victories in 68.4 percent of the regular tax cases fought in Tax Court. On the other hand, they won only 19.5 percent of those argued in the District Court and a scant 14.8 percent of those argued in the Court of Claims.

The U.S. Tax Court is totally independent of the IRS. In the small tax claims division for cases involving $10,000 or less in disputed tax, you can attend with or without a tax advisor. However, in cases involving disputes of more than $10,000, you will have to follow the same rules of procedure as those in effect in regular courts.

If you choose to go to Tax Court, you do not have to first pay the disputed amount, as is the case if you choose to appeal in federal court. But be warned — decisions made in the small tax claims division are final. Neither you, nor the IRS, can appeal.

If you decide to take your appeal to a federal court instead, you must first pay the amount in dispute plus any interest and penalties owed. Next, you file a claim for a refund. If the claim is rejected, you may bring your suit to the U.S. District Court where you reside or to the Court of Claims which hears cases in Washington, D.C. The proceedings in either case are formal, and you will most likely need an attorney.

Why then would you select the District Court over Tax Court? For one, you may choose this route if you believe your case would fare better before a jury (Tax Court hearings have no jury). Or, perhaps, your professional advisors are aware of previous rulings that make it likely that a federal court would judge your case favorably.

In other cases, such as those involving employment taxes, you have no choice — the case must be argued in the District Courts.

CPAs recommend that you make every attempt to settle your case early in the appeals process. But if you are convinced that your case is just, don't accept an unfair decision simply because you are afraid of getting into the ring with the IRS.

Area Realtors report 12.7 percent increase

Buoyed by increased listings and lowered interest rates, local home sales by members of Metro MLS, the state's largest multiple listing service, ended the year showing a 12.7 percent gain over 1987.

"Gains were posted each month from April on and included a 22.5 percent increase in December," said Eric J. Hunt, 1989 Metro MLS president. For the year, sales of 17,933 units included 16,715 single-family homes and 1,218 condominiums.

He noted that gains were made in the face of a rising price trend which saw the average price in the 1,600 square mile territory covered by Metro MLS climb 10 percent to reach $87,229 for the year. This compared to the $79,225 in 1987.

"This is considerably higher than the rate of inflation and indicates that home purchases are increasingly being regarded as offering very competitive returns on investment," Hunt said.

"But, this area still presents a very broad range of affordable homes for low-income buyers. Some 27 percent of homes purchased in this area last year sold for under $50,000. The median price for all homes sold, with half going for more and half for less, was about $73,000."

Hunt said last year's strong market also attracted an increased number of sellers. Listings were up 7.8 percent for the year and included gains of 1,616 single family homes and 779 condos.

"With a 16 percent jump in December from a year earlier, we expect this listing trend to continue," he stated. "Many of the homes coming on the market meet the needs of first-time buyers. When these are sold, it generally starts a chain reaction that permits several owners to move up the housing ladder, so we look for continued market improvement in the early months of 1989."

Metro MLS member offices are located throughout Northwest Detroit and in major portions of Wayne, Oakland and Livingston counties. Sales by its members generally account for about 10 percent of all home resales in Michigan.

'Michigan's achieving diversified economy'

By TIM RICHARD

Michigan is succeeding in diversifying its economic base, a panel of economists told a regional business audience recently.

"Gains in non-manufacturing employment have far surpassed the losses in manufacturing," said David Cray of Eastern Michigan University.

The evidence:
In 1982, at the bottom of the recession, auto employment in Michigan was 286,000 and the jobless rate nearly 16 percent.

By 1985 some 341,000 were at work in motor vehicle manufacturing.

Today only about 290,000 work in the industry, but the jobless rate is just 7.6 percent.

The economists see two growth years ahead — Nos. 7 and 8 in the current recovery — but tempered their forecasts by saying the growth rate will be slower, and there will be greater inflationary pressures with interest rates drifting up.

"The Detroit area will be one of slow growth due to the General Motors plant closings," said Dennis Polak, a member of the staff for the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments.

He predicted "strong growth" in Oakland County's service-oriented economy, with its string of new offices straddling freeway corridors from Auburn Hills to Novi, and in Washtenaw County, with its high-tech manufacturing adjacent to the University of Michigan.

The jobless rate will continue to hover 2 percent or so above the national average, and businesspeople wanted to know why.

"This is still a high manufacturing wage state," said EMU's Cray. "But this is the closest we've been to the U.S. (unemployment) average since 1973 or '74."

Take out the job loss at General Motors plants in Detroit, Saginaw and Flint, and Michigan would be at the national average," added Howard K. Face, former chief economist of Michigan Bell Telephone Co.

Panelists were optimistic about southeastern Michigan's chances of growth due to the new U.S.-Canada free trade agreement that will bring down tariffs and trade restrictions gradually over five to 20 years.

Face said the weakening value of the U.S. dollar will make prices of American exports cheaper — a boon to Michigan, the fourth largest exporting state in the United States.

Another good regional spot will be the Mazda auto plant at Flat Rock, which continues to progress toward full capacity, Polak said.

"Transplants" — the term used for Japanese auto makers' plants in the United States — will continue, in general, to erode the position of the Big Three domestic automakers, whose base is Michigan, they said. Except for Mazda, most transplants have avoided this state.

Because of the restructuring of Michigan's economy to non-manufacturing, Cray predicted "not much increase in real earnings per worker."

Cray predicted only three areas of the economy will grow faster in Michigan compared to the rest of the nation:

- Non-durable manufacturing — 102 percent of the U.S. growth rate.
- Federal government — also 102 percent of the national rate.
- Mining — 101 percent.

"These three areas are only 5-7 percent of Michigan's total employment," Cray said.

Areas where Michigan will grow at less than the national rate include:

- Motor vehicles — 83 percent.
- Construction — 79 percent, now that the building boom is tapering off.
- Retail trade — 90 percent.
- Finance — 89 percent.

"While we've become more diversified, it's not because of growth of these sectors but the decline of the motor vehicle sector," Cray said.

Well-drafted handbook helps protect employers

A well-drafted employee handbook is an employer's best defense against employee lawsuits, according to Steven J. Fishman, senior principal of the Fishman Group, a law firm representing management in labor law, employment discrimination and employee relations matters.

"Employers are vulnerable to lawsuits by employees because there is a disproportionate number of places employees can turn to get assistance with their claims," Fishman told business leaders at the State Chamber of Commerce's First Labor Law Conference.

Fishman said a good handbook, if properly prepared and implemented, will do the following for employers:

- avoid employment discrimination claims
- defend against sexual harassment claims
- avoid jury second guessing on verbal contract claims
- establish employee rules
- state drug testing policies
- provide for company inspections
- promote positive employee relations

Fishman added that handbook disclaimers should protect employers by providing that only the president of the company, in writing, may change the "at-will" employment status of an employee (employment at the will of the employer).

Additionally, the disclaimer should provide that the company's policies are merely a guideline, not a contract, and are subject to change at any time, for any reason, with or without prior notice to employees.

An at-will employment status can be implemented if one doesn't already exist by publishing a disclaimer stating the new at-will policy, and requiring that employees acknowledge receipt of the document with their signature.

This tree died of a heart attack.

Carving hearts on trees seems harmless enough.

But the fact is, it cut short the life of this majestic oak.

By gouging into the bark, vandals crippled the tree's vascular system. So, like thousands of other innocent victims each year, the tree slowly died.

But the fight against vandalism is gathering strength from the example of Lynn Brauer and Carol Eichling.

When vandals girdled a 300 year old Chinquapin Oak near their Marthasville, Missouri home, they wrapped the wound in sphagnum moss and tended the tree daily, despite blizzard conditions.

If not for the severe winter, arborists feel the Chinquapin might have survived.

We believe miracles can take root. When people care enough.

Give a hoot.
Don't pollute.
Forest Service, U.S.D.A.

Photographer Carl Sams isn't easily distracted, but when the model lands on his cap, it's hard to keep the chickadee in focus.

Photographs by SCOTT PIPER

They put the focus on wildlife

By DOROTHY WEBSTER

Carl R. Sams II isn't concerned about appearing dignified despite the formality of his name.

The former all-state basketball star has launched his 6-foot-5 frame into deep snowbanks with arms flailing wildly to attract the attention of a nearby deer herd. He has arrayed himself and partner Jean Stoick in homemade sandhill crane costumes to infiltrate a flock of the half-grown birds. He wears an outlandish hat with earflaps, which has become his trademark, simply because the soft, deep crown easily becomes a birdfeeding station when a handful of sunflower seeds is placed in the pushed-in top.

Despite the antics, Sams isn't a clown. He's a widely recognized and highly regarded wildlife photographer who sometimes resorts to strange behavior just to develop a fragile and tenuous bond with the feathered and furred creatures he captures on film.

Color transparencies by Sams and Stoick grace covers of glossy magazines worldwide—from Italy's Airone and France's Terre Sauvage to America's Audubon and Birder's World. Michigan's own Natural Resources magazine has repeatedly featured work by the pair.

Their photographs appear on Sierra Club greeting cards, on posters and calendars, in catalogs and textbooks, and on home and office walls. And wildlife artists all over the United States purchase slides from the two to use as reference material for paintings of waterfowl, raptors, songbirds and a wide variety of mammals.

Meeting the public and making contact with other artists and photographers means the pair often give up weekends of perfect shooting weather to appear at art shows, where they sell their color prints. Recently, at Midland, they exhibited large scale pieces, framed or matted. Among the images were wolves peering balefully from a dark forest, a bobcat hotly pursuing a terrified snowshoe hare, a fawn delighting in freshly-blown milkweed and a pair of loons breasting Northern Michigan waters.

"We photograph a wide variety of subjects," says Sams, "but of the more than 100,000 slides we've saved, approximately 40,000 are of whitetail deer. And most of those were taken at Kensington Metropark, near Milford."

Working with the Kensington herd has occupied much of Sams' time since he made the leap into full-time wildlife photography four years ago. Previously working as a real estate salesperson, he was able to arrange his days to keep the early mornings free for photography.

"I like being out when the frost is still on the leaves, or before the ground fog has lifted," he comments. "The wind is usually still then. It picks up during the day."

Artist brings nature to life on her canvas

By DOROTHY WEBSTER

Conversations rarely proceed as planned in the Dexter living room of Catherine McClung. Trains of thought are forgotten, interruptions are frequent, and exclamations of surprise punctuate one's words.

Birds are the distraction. The contemporary cliffside home of the well known wildlife artist is designed to take advantage of the outdoors, which is dotted with bird feeders close to windows on every side. Visitors find themselves forgetting why they came due to the continual, changing display of activity.

"Our deck off the second story living room is probably the best vantage point," says the smiling woman who uses feathered visitors as live models in her work.

Painting with layers of transparent and semi-opaque acrylic pigments, McClung has built her reputation on finely-detailed pictures of songbirds, but has recently completed a commission for a painting of three bear cubs.

The finished print depicts a trio of orphaned cubs which are now cared for at Domino's Pizza owner Tom Monaghan's retreat on Drummond Island. A second commission from Monaghan was for a painting of rare pileated woodpeckers, which lived in a dead tree near a golf course on the island.

McClung visited the remote island in northern Lake Huron last year in preparation for the work, and scouted the interior of the thickly wooded area, hoping to catch a glimpse of the elusive birds. Meanwhile, her husband, Mike, comfortably drinking coffee on the lawn outside the lodge, spotted six of the rare birds in a nearby tree.

"That's the way it sometimes happens," says McClung, who uses a variety of reference material for her finished pieces. "I like to observe the actual habitat whenever possible, however."

Birdseed bills run high at the secluded Dexter home of Catherine and Mike McClung. Catherine's paintings feature the feathered creatures which frequent the couple's bird-feeders.

Wildly successful at wildlife art

By DOROTHY WEBSTER

Selling art is far removed from building air and water pollution devices, but Plymouth's Kal Jabara isn't sorry he made the transition from manufacturer to art gallery owner several years ago.

It wasn't an overnight change. For several years he developed real estate before opening Wild Wings Gallery on Ann Arbor Trail in downtown Plymouth.

"It's a dream come true for us. We had hoped to open an art gallery up north sometime after retirement, but a series of events helped us realize our hopes far earlier," says Jabara.

"As a child I saved calendars with wildlife illustrations and even framed them for my bedroom walls," he chuckles. Growing up in Mancelona, in northwestern Michigan, Jabara spent hours in the field and woods, observing animals and birds.

Jabara, 62, and his wife, Julia, were at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minnesota, for physicals when he leafed through a magazine in the waiting room. Inside, he found an ad urging readers to send for a Wild Wings catalog featuring wildlife art. Jabara did and that first catalog, with many black and white illustrations, is still a cherished souvenir.

The Midwest's most prominent wildlife artists will display their works of art at the Sixth Annual Michigan Wildlife Art Festival, March 17-19.

Co-sponsored by the Michigan Wildlife Habitat Foundation and the City of Southfield, the festival will be held at the Southfield Civic Center and the Southfield Hotel and Conference Center.

Original paintings, limited edition prints, carvings, photographs, sculptures and taxidermy will be featured.

Show highlights will include special demonstrations, silent auctions, a decoy painting contest and the People's Choice Award.

Show hours are from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. Friday, March 17; 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Saturday, March 18; and 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sunday, March 19.

Festival admission is $5 for adults, $3 for seniors (over 60) and free for children under 5. For more information, call the Michigan Wildlife Habitat Foundation at (517) 882-3630.

The Dahlem Environmental Center presents its Bluebird Festival on March 11-12 at the Jackson Community College Field House.

Wildlife artists from across the state will feature their work, and a special series of environmental lectures will be given throughout the event.

Professional storyteller Susan Strauss and musician Doug Wood will be present.

Show hours are from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturday and noon to 6 p.m. Sunday. For more information, call the Dahlem Environmental Center at (517) 782-3453.

If you can't attend the festivals, visit one of Southeast Michigan's wildlife art galleries. Most of the galleries feature the work of nationally recognized wildlife artists.

SAMS, STOICK, con't.

He began working with whitetails in 1982. Shooting photographs at first light meant setting his alarm for 4:30 a.m. and driving the 20-odd miles to Kensington. After a few weeks of scouting the herd, he found a doe which let him approach within a few yards.

"Many of the deer in the park area are used to seeing people, and when I shook down apples from an old tree for the doe, she began to accept me," he recalls.

Building the trust took time, but when the doe brought her fawn to the downed fruit, Sams said he knew a sense of joy. By the next season, both the doe and her new fawn accepted the tall, quiet man. The following year, the doe had twins, and her former fawn, now a yearling doe, had a fawn, too. Sams was able to work with a family unit of five whitetails.

In 1985, two yearling bucks, which normally leave their mothers, stayed with the herd. "I was able to photograph 11 deer for a few months," Sams says. In the autumn, one of the bucks sported a 9-point rack and the other displayed a tremendous 12-point set of antlers.

Two sets of triplets have been born to does in the herd since then, Sams says, giving the photography team a chance for even more exciting images.

There are problems which develop when wild animals become too familiar with humans in their midst. "Sometimes I have trouble getting the deer to pose alertly—which makes a better picture," Sams relates. "One time, I jumped into snow drifts and made 'snow angels' to get their attention."

A far more serious problem, one which is especially troubling to the photographers, is that human contact makes it easier for poachers to approach the animals.

Earlier this winter, Sams spent a morning photographing an adult whitetail with a magnificent set of symmetrical 8-point antlers. When he returned later in the day he found the buck's body with the head missing.

"Someone wanted a trophy rack pretty badly," he says sadly.

Sams, from Oscoda, was reared on an island in the famed AuSable River. He spent years hunting with both rifle and bow before turning to the camera as a means of stalking animals. A well known sports figure in northeastern Michigan, he was working as a counselor for problem youth through a Wurtsmith Air Force Base program when he met Jean Stoick.

Stoick, a weaver and an art instructor, was vacationing in nearby Harrisville. She soon began teaching Sams art and craft techniques.

Jean Stoick and Carl Sams of Ann Arbor have been photographing a deer herd at Kensington Metropark near Milford for several years. They've saved more than 40,000 color transparencies of the whitetails, some of which will be used to illustrate a coffee table size volume later this year. Photographs by the pair appear in national magazines world wide.

Scott Piper photograph

"Jeannie taught me the principles of composition, form and color—and I taught her the mechanics of photography," Sams acknowledges with a smile.

Together since 1972, the pair lives in Ann Arbor. For 19 years, Stoick has commuted to teach art classes at Hartland Consolidated Schools.

Teamwork is a vital factor in the professional and private lives of the two photographers, who submit images jointly in both names, Stoick says.

"Many times we can't remember who shot a particular slide," she confides, noting that all 100,000 of their "keepers" are neatly cataloged and computer indexed.

"We keep the slides in plastic sheets which are stored in three-ring binders by subject matter," she adds.

"An artist's time is better spent at the easel than in the field"

— Carl Sams

Teamwork is vital in the field, too, Sams says. "When we're shooting wildlife, we occasionally change roles—one of us alerts the animals while the other is ready to record the action. Or I'll shoot in a vertical format while Jeannie covers the subject with the camera held horizontally, or with a different focal-length lens. Having both of us out there is a tremendous advantage."

Stoick adds that they approach subjects from differing viewpoints. "I tend to look for details—the spider's web on a branch—while Carl is taking in the whole valley. Between us, we don't miss much."

That's important when they travel to distant locales, such as Alaska's Denali National Park, to the Florida Everglades, or when a wildlife artist sends them to photograph a specific subject.

"One prominent painter needed reference slides of a mountain lion and sent us on a four-day shoot to Kalispell, Montana," Sams recalls. "An artist's time is better spent at an easel than in the field."

Stoick remembers that photographic journey as the one which also provided them with the pursuing bobcat. "We caught all the action," she adds.

Sams explains that he charges $50 for a slide which will be used for reference only. If an artist purchases all rights to a slide, it costs $1,500. But when limited edition prints of the original painting are issued in the hundreds or even thousands of copies, which can vary in price from under $100 to the $300-$400 range, the cost of that vital reference material becomes a small factor.

Expenses are high, says Sams, who advises amateur photographers to establish their reputations and contacts before quitting full-time job to become freelance photographers. "Half our income from print sales goes directly into printing images and matting them."

Magazine use of their photographs is more lucrative, he adds, recalling an image of a ground squirrel eating a dandelion that brought in over $2,500 in total revenues. "It was even used in Ranger Rick magazine as a double-page spread," he says.

Equipment is costly. Sams and Stoick use 35mm Nikon F-3 camera bodies with an impressive array of lenses which may cost thousands of dollars each.

"We need telephoto lenses with apertures of 2.8 so we can catch action on relatively slow film which reproduces better," Sams explains. They both shoot Fuji 100 ISO slide film for its superior color balance, he adds.

Experience has been a valuable teacher, Sams says. "Learning to observe animal behavior is essential to photographing mammals or birds. You've got to be able to anticipate what they're going to do."

If you're going into strange territory to photograph species new to you, Sams and Stoick urge the use of local guides. They learned the hard way.

"The only time we've been scared was in Denali when a cow moose was threatening," Stoick says. They were on their own and were able to successfully avoid the animal, despite loose shale underfoot.

The pair anticipates a busy year, as whitetail deer photographs will illustrate a new edition of the classic The Whitetail Deer—A Year's Cycle by Curtis Stadtfield. It will be published by the Outdoor Life Book Club as an updated, coffee table sized volume.

Despite the success their collaboration has produced, Jean Stoick says she will continue to teach school until she's eligible for retirement in nine years.

"The income from freelance photography is spotty and I need the security of a steady income," she comments.

Meanwhile, summer months are filled with exciting projects. In 1988, the team spent 31 days photographing a loon family on a northwestern Michigan lake. "We were able to gain the trust of a mated pair who hatched a pair of chicks," says Sams. "When wild creatures accept us that way, it's a very humbling and profound feeling."

Those who view their work often feel the same way, judging from comments at the Midland show. "I don't know how they do it," says one couple buying two prints.

Carl Sams and Jean Stoick will exhibit and sell their color photographs at the Michigan Wildlife Art Festival, March 17-19, at the Southfield Civic Center.

McCLUNG, con't.

A major portion of the commissioned prints will be donated to conservation and wildlife groups in the United States and Canada, says McClung. "I understand that most initial donations will go to chapters of Ducks Unlimited, and some of the funds that are generated from sales of the print will be earmarked for wildlife habitat on Drummond Island."

As featured artist of the 1987 Michigan Wildlife Art Festival in Southfield, McClung felt she reached a personal goal. Her painting of Canada geese in soft light was acclaimed by festival-goers. Last year, her poster featuring birds feeding on an antique rocking horse was greeted with numerous advance sales, always an indicator of success.

"One of my earlier prints of a rufous-sided towhee actually sold out before it was off the press," she says. That painting was selected for Birds in Art, an exhibition held at the Leigh Yockey Woodson Art Museum in Wausau, Wisconsin, which is regarded by artists as the top show in the country for wildlife artists. Exhibitions from the institution travel world wide and have been displayed in Russia and China in recent years.

"I was delighted to have my work in the Leigh Yockey Woodson show twice, in 1982 and 1983," says McClung, who submitted her slides at the last minute, even photographing her finished painting on the easel to make the entry deadline.

Viewing the finished works by the artist, one has visions of years spent in art schools, learning various illustration techniques. "Not at all," laughs McClung. "I studied secondary education at Eastern Michigan University, but did take an art history class." The switch to wildlife art came after several other types of employment. "I taught nursery school and sometimes craft classes through a local art supply store."

During her childhood in Toronto, Canada, McClung recalls chasing birds around their backyard. "I've always been fascinated by them," she explains. "The Baltimore oriole was my favorite for years, but now I think the warblers are very special birds. They're here for such a short time on their annual migrations and they seem so fragile."

McClung recently completed a painting of the endangered Kirtland's warbler for Dow-Corning, which will donate all the prints to Ducks Unlimited chapters in a seven-state area. The rare bird nests only in burned-over jack pine habitat in Michigan's northeast lower peninsula.

Marketing her own prints and supervising their printing takes up much of the artist's time. "I think it's important to be involved in all aspects of one's business," says McClung. "It's especially enjoyable to attend exhibition/sales and meet the people who buy your work. There are so many birdwatchers out there and they all like to talk about the birds who visit their own feeders."

"Second Chance Bears" by Catherine McClung of Dexter, features three black bear cubs which were orphaned. The trio are being raised on Drummond Island at the corporate retreat of Domino's Pizza owner Tom Monaghan, who commissioned the edition to benefit wildlife.

McClung, who sometimes attended as many as 25 shows a year, has cut down to what she considers the top six in the country.

She tries to publish two new prints each year, one in the spring and another in autumn, and attempts to master at least one new medium each year. "I like to experiment with a variety of techniques, because I've learned that some of the most exciting areas of a painting result from 'happy accidents' which weren't really planned at all. When I'm working with a new medium, more of those accidents happen," she laughs.

Nearly 400 galleries nationwide carry prints by Catherine McClung, and more than 20 Michigan galleries display her work. Her next public appearance will be at the Michigan Wildlife Art Festival at Southfield's Civic Center March 17-19. The soft-spoken, articulate artist will again be explaining to viewers how she captures the lifelike poses of the birds who frequent her feeders.

since I could never find them in retail stores, I bought several through his catalog," Jabara recalls.

In his first wildlife print purchase, Jabara displayed unerring good judgment. He bought works by Owen Gromme and David Maass—two artists who are today regarded as premier wildlife painters.

"By telephone, Webster and I became fast friends. A few years later, in 1979, Julia and I were back at Rochester for our annual physicals again, and I had a wild idea. I talked to him about granting me a franchise for a Wild Wings gallery here in Michigan," Jabara says.

"At first, he was reluctant, but eventually we came to an agreement and shook hands on it. There wasn't even any paperwork involved. That's the kind of relationship we have," Jabara continues.

That franchise, the first granted by Wild Wings, was for the entire state of Michigan. "We opened our Plymouth gallery in March 1980, one in Grosse Pointe Farms in 1982 and another in Birmingham in 1986," he says.

Making a commitment to William Webster of Wild Wings, Jabara also made a long term commitment to Michigan artists. He has been a staunch supporter of state painters, creating three outlets for their work.

Michigan artists represented in his gallery regard Jabara with affection as well as with respect. Catherine McClung of Dexter, who was featured artist at the Michigan Wildlife Art Festival in Southfield in 1972, says, "Kal is tremendously helpful to artists—especially to those who are trying to break into the field. They need honest opinions about their skill levels and chances for success, and Kal gives that, as well as encouragement."

Opening his first gallery on a handshake is typical of the man, and that attitude is reflected in relations with print buyers in his galleries. "I never use the word 'investment' when talking about possible appreciation value of prints," he says. "Anyone who purchases a piece of art should buy it because they love that piece and they should hang it where they'll see it everyday and enjoy it. Some people actually buy prints and store them under the bed, hoping they'll be worth more money in a few years," he says with distaste.

Jabara says waterfowl prints are the most popular items sold in all three galleries. Works by Robert Abbott, Robert Bateman, Russ Cobane, Nita Engle, Jim Foote, Larry Hayden, Catherine McClung, Thomas Quinn, and Manfred Schatz are among the best sellers.

Plymouth gallery director Doug Zimmen adds that Bev Doolittle prints, which feature "camouflage art" are hot items. "The hidden images intrigue viewers," he explains. "We get so many telephone calls asking when her next print will be published."

Zemmen says his favorite sale was to a handicapped couple who purchased a print of a golden retriever on the gallery's layaway plan. "They paid $10 down on it and a little more each month until it was theirs. When they came to pick it up, we all felt wonderful, because it was evident they really wanted and appreciated that print."

Presentation is important to Jabara, who only recently added two display bins of matted-only prints. "We really haven't enough wall space to show every thing," he laments.

Kal and Julia Jabara's son, Dean, runs the Birmingham gallery at 155 S. Bates St., while their daughter, Louise, is in charge of the Grosse Pointe gallery at 1 Kercheval Ave.

What can lie ahead for a man who has already achieved his life's goal? Perhaps another waiting room session in Rochester, Minnesota, will hatch yet another idea when the Jabaras have their next regularly scheduled physical examinations.

Northville AAUW to host luncheon

By BRENDA DOOLEY

The Northville Branch of the American Association of University Women (AAUW) will celebrate AAUW Week March 5-11, with a luncheon at the Holiday Inn on Saturday, March 4.

Scheduled speaker is Coco Siewert, who holds state and national offices in the Association. She currently serves as the mayor of Birmingham. Siewert will speak on "News and Notes from AAUW."

Founded in 1881, AAUW is the oldest and largest national organization working for the education and advancement of women. The Northville branch has a membership of 62 and is one of 1900 local units formed across the United States.

Since 1888 over 5,000 women have received fellowships and grants through the AAUW's Educational Foundation, which encourages women to acquire advanced education and training by awarding over $1 million annually.

The AAUW in 1983 formed the Legal Advocacy Fund to provide financial aid to women in academia who bring suits against employers on grounds of sexual discrimination.

Locally, the Northville Branch awards two scholarships to Northville High School graduating seniors. Funds for these scholarships are raised through the annual wine and cheese benefit performance held at the Marquis Theater. Also, funds raised by the Used Book Sale, held each year in conjunction with Northville's Sidewalk Sale in May, are donated to the Educational Foundation.

Membership to the AAUW is open to graduates of accredited colleges and universities. For more information about the Northville Branch call Dawn Eule at 349-1626.

Northville's annual Florida reunion held

Northville residents vacationing in sunny Florida were given the chance to meet with friends, reminisce and listen to interesting tidbits of history at the annual Northville Reunion in Florida.

Coordinator of the event was Northville resident Jim Harper. He wrote to the Record to share some of the highlights of the reunion. Harper's narration follows:

The annual Northville Reunion in Florida was held Friday, Feb. 17 at the Crown House Restaurant in Sarasota. About 80 people attended, including Northville residents, former residents and visitors.

Following a buffet lunch, Betty (Snow) Allen spoke about a woman of importance to Northville — Mrs. Liza Wagenshutz. A member of the Northville Woman's Club since 1930, Wagenshutz served as the group's president from 1940 to 1942.

She also chaired the Northville City Election Board for several years. Most importantly, Allen said, were the many years Wagenshutz served on the Wayne County Library Commission. In 1985 she was recognized with the coveted Claude Ely Award.

Dick Simmons, who co-chaired the reunion with Jim Harper, spoke briefly about his roots in the Northville area. His great-great grandfather, Joshua Simmons, acquired 160 acres of land in Livonia Township in 1825 under a land patent signed by John Quincy Adams.

In 1841 Simmons built the house that stands today on east Eight Mile Road at Newburg, about 2½ miles from Northville. In 1976, the Livonia Historical Commission acquired the house and surrounding property and restored the building. The complex known as Greenmeade Museum is now open to the public.

Simmons said that it is "a beautiful place and I think you will enjoy seeing it."

Bruce Turnbull then spoke about Northville Village, saying that the older part of town, lying in an area south of the old Baseline Road, hasn't changed much in recent years. He added that another thing that hasn't changed much is the feeling that "unless you have lived there for 30 or more years, you are considered a newcomer."

Turnbull also spoke affectionately of a lady named Mrs. Watts, who for many years worked as night operator of the Northville telephone switchboard.

"When the fire whistle blew in those days, you'd pick up the phone and ask 'Where's the fire?' Usually she would tell you, but once in awhile she'd say 'Can't talk to you right now, gotta call the firemen,'" Turnbull recalled.

In addition, he told those attending about a brief visit to Northville by the famous aviator Amelia Earhart. Apparently Earhart conducted business with Stinson Aircraft Company, then located in Northville.

Earhart's plane once touched down on a grass landing strip on Six Mile Road, just west of Beck Road. After attending to business, she spoke briefly to the people gathered near the landing site, signed autographs and took off in her plane. In 1937 Earhart and a navigator were lost somewhere in the Pacific during an attempt to fly around the world.

Maurice Giles also attended the reunion and ended on a positive note by singing some 'Oldie Goldies,' including "My Bonnie Lies Over the Ocean." The audience joined in on the last song.

Libraries host lecture by Tony Spina

Photojournalist Tony Spina is guest speaker for the upcoming book/author luncheon sponsored by the Friends of the Northville, Novi and Plymouth libraries.

Spina will speak Tuesday, March 7 at the Novi Civic Center at noon. The luncheon will be catered by Home Sweet Home.

For ticket information call Northville Public Library at 349-3020.

Northville Woman's Club to meet

Interior Designer Kay Isola will be guest speaker at the Northville Woman's Club meeting this Friday (March 3).

Isola's presentation is entitled "The Look of the '80s."

The Woman's Club meets at the First Presbyterian Church of Northville at 1:30 p.m.

Chairperson of the event is Lonna Lemmon.

Essay winners

Three students from Northville's Meads Mill School were winners in the 20th annual "America & Me Essay Contest," sponsored by Farm Bureau Insurance. The winners, who earned the first, second and third place awards for their school, are Allison Bullock, first; Destiny Lopez, second; and Jessica Holderman, third. All three received award certificates for their achievement. Bullock's first place essay will now advance to state level competition.

Tickets still available for book/author lunch

A limited number of tickets are still available for the third annual book and author luncheon at which Tony Spina, chief photographer of the Detroit Free Press, will speak and show slides of his award-winning work.

The luncheon will take place Tuesday, March 7, at the new Novi Civic Center at 45175 Ten Mile Rd. It will be catered by Home Sweet Home.

The event is sponsored by the Friends of the Northville, Novi and Plymouth Libraries. Proceeds will benefit the libraries.

Spina has won more than 450 state, national and international awards and is the author of "Tony Spina, Chief Photographer" which will be available for purchase and signing by the author.

His awards include the Pulitzer

Prize as a member of the team that covered the Detroit riot in 1968. He is also the winner of the Sprague Award, the highest honor of the National Press Photographers Association. The week after the luncheon, he will be in New York for the opening of an exhibit of his photographs at Nikon House.

Spina writes a weekly column on photography which appears in the Free Press and more than 200 other newspapers.

The native Detroitier is a graduate of Cass Technical High School and the Detroit Institute of Technology. He was named winner of the Distinguished Alumni Award by DIT in 1980.

Tickets are available at any of the three sponsoring libraries until Friday, March 3.

Our Lady of Victory to offer Lenten program

Our Lady of Victory Church presents a community Lenten program "God Is Not a Grouch" on Monday, March 6 at 8:15 p.m.

Sponsored by Our Lady of Victory's "Our Lady's League," the Lenten event will be conducted in the church's parish hall.

The special program will feature music and a presentation by Gloria Riopelle.

Riopelle is a counselor, teacher and retreat director. During her presentation, she plans to unfold the personality of God through humor and banjo music.

The community is invited to attend the program. Our Lady of Victory Church is at 770 Thayer in Northville. Visitors are asked to use the north entrance of the church when attending the event. For more information call 348-1761 or 349-5681.

PTA News

Students rate high in musical festival

PTA News is published weekly in the Record. This week's news is from Northville High School. Any school interested in publishing its PTA or school news in the Record should contact the newspaper at 349-1700.

The following band students received a number one rating at the Feb. 4 Solo and Ensemble Festival: Vicki Madaus, Dave Garry, Amy Smits, Rick Abramovich, Shari Abramovich and Angie Cristof. Amy Lee and Angie Cristof received a number two rating. Congratulations to our band for a fine showing.

The Northville Singers received the highest rating, a number one, at the District Solo and Ensemble Festival. The group will go on to the State Festival in April. Three choir soloists, Rob Foulkrod, Gwen Gabrys, and Susan Bickner were also awarded a number one rating. Thank you for representing Northville High School so well.

Mike Hayden, a sophomore, won a gold key at the Scholastic Art Competition for his pen and ink drawing entitled "Draconian Contemplation."

Julie Hilfinger, a senior, received first place in the American Psychological Association's National contest for her research on the effect of size on perception of authority, strength and intelligence.

Krista Leindecker, a senior, received second place in The American Psychological Association's National contest for her research on the relationship between gender role and grip strength.

Congratulations to our wrestlers, Brandon Mardosian, Garnett Potter and Mike Hale. They qualified to compete in the state finals.

Bob Dudley, a senior, signed a National Letter of Intent to play football at Bowling Green State University. Bob has accepted a full scholarship to attend Bowling Green.

On March 4 the Western Lakes Activities Association will sponsor the Cheerleading Competition. It will be held at Livonia Bentley (5 Mile and Hubbard) from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Northville Cheerleaders won the over-all first place title in March of 1988. These girls need your support at this competition, as they have supported athletics during the entire school year.

March 2, tonight, at 7:30 p.m. there will be a band concert in the auditorium. The sophomore flower sale will be taking place March 6 - March 10. The SADD Chapter and the freshman class will sponsor a St. Patrick's Dance from 8-10 p.m. in the cafeteria on March 10.

Cheerleading try-outs for the 1989-90 school year for freshman, j.v. and varsity squads will begin Thursday, March 16. The time and place to be announced soon.

Parent/Teacher conferences will be held on March 14, 4-7 p.m. for students with their last names beginning with A-K and on March 16 for students L-Z. The conferences will be held in the cafeteria and in the library.

DIA offers 'Brunch with Bach' series

By ANN E. WILLIS

Outside snow is falling and a cold February wind blows. Inside, guests are seated at small tables in an authentic open-air garden much like those found in Italian palazzos. While brunch is served a pianist enters and soon diners are treated to the sounds of Chopin. Settling back with a hot cup of coffee, the cold is forgotten in a half-hour of delightful music.

Every Sunday morning the Detroit Institute of Arts plays host to the unique musical series, Brunch with Bach. Begun in the summer of 1974, with a minor lay-off, the music and dining combination in the Kresge Court of the DIA has run continuously for 45 Sundays each year.

Music lovers are treated to the wonderful acoustics and intimate setting of the Kresge Court, while art lovers enjoy the beautifully renovated court itself, a composite of four periods of design.

The museum itself offers a wonderful setting for the series, as participants can wander through the galleries on their way to and from the musical program.

Musicians from southeast Michigan are usually featured at Brunch with Bach, although occasionally guest artists from throughout the U.S. and Europe will perform.

During the Feb. 26 performance, Fontaine Laing, a teacher at the Center for Creative Studies/Institute of Music and Dance, played four selections from the music of Frederic

Record/ANN WILLIS

Chopin. Upcoming musical selections include the music of Telemann, Couperin and Handel on March 5 played by Davis Brooks on violin and Ray Ferguson on harpsicord. March 12 will be the music of Pergolesi, Couperin and J.S. Bach played by the Scarborough Ensemble of Martha Aarons on flute, Elizabeth Camus on oboe, Lynette Diers Cohen on bassoon and Lucille Gruber on harpsicord.

The Performing Arts department of the DIA presents Brunch with Bach and offers three separate ticket options for the audience. A full brunch is served both at the 10 a.m. and 11:30 a.m. concerts for $11. This includes reserved seating and advanced reservations are required. The price includes a main course, fruit, bread and beverage.

A continental brunch is offered for $9.50. This includes reserved seating and advanced reservations are also required. The menu includes fruit, cottage cheese, bread and beverage.

Stairway seats are also available at $4 each. This is the no-frills choice offering a seat on the carpeted stairway stretching up from the Kresge Court. These seats are available on the day of the performance on a first-come, first-served basis.

Information and reservations on the series are available by phone at 832-2730 from 9:30 a.m. - 5:15 p.m. daily. The ticket office is located on the ground floor of the DIA and is open for business Tuesday through Sunday. The museum is closed on Mondays.

Seating begins 20 minutes before each performance and management suggests that children under the age of 5 are too young to attend performances.

Cleopatra remembered at DIA

One of the most significant and fascinating transitional periods in history is in focus at The Detroit Institute of Arts (DIA), 5200 Woodward Ave. this spring.

From now through April 30, "Cleopatra's Egypt: Age of the Ptolemies" is featured in the first international art exhibition to examine the drama of this kingdom in transition.

The extensive exhibit gives substance to this little-known period — between 305 B.C. and 30 B.C. — which began with the conquest of Egypt by Alexander the Great and ended with the death of Cleopatra VII, the last of the Greek ruling dynasty begun by Alexander's general, Ptolemy.

The exhibition includes 140 masterpieces of stone statuary and relief, gold jewelry, silver vessels, figurines in terracotta and faience, painted papyrus, a selection of coins, and a wealth of objects in glass, bronze and wood.

"Cleopatra's Egypt" will be open to the public during regular museum hours: 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Tuesday through Sunday; closed Mondays and holidays.

Advance reservations are recommended. Admission to this special exhibit is by date/time ticket only and tickets are $4 for adults; $3 for seniors and students; $1 for children 6-12 years.

Members of the Founders Society are entitled to complimentary admission obtainable from the ticket office.

Groups of 15 or more may combine admission and use of a recorded tour at $6 per persons by making arrangements in advance.

All orders must be placed with the DIA ticket office, 5200 Woodward, Detroit, Mich. 48202. The telephone number exclusively for "Cleopatra's Egypt" information and tickets is 313-833-0485. VISA and MasterCard are accepted.

To receive the full educational value of the exhibition, you may obtain an audio guide audio tour with William Peck, DIA curator of ancient art, as commentator at $3 each.

Free docent tours are offered at 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. Tuesday through Sunday. Docent tours for groups (no additional charge) must be scheduled in advance through the ticket office at the above telephone number.

"Through this exhibit we see Macedonian Greeks ruling Egypt," Peck explains "and respecting her ancient traditions, even as they created a Mediterranean empire fascinating the classical culture of Greece and the centuries-older culture of the Near East."

Despite the presence of Ptolemies, building the fortunes of Egypt from their capital city of Alexandria on the Mediterranean, and the advent of Roman legions in the first century B.C., Egyptian art retained its vitality and inventiveness.

Among dozens of noteworthy objects in the exhibition are:

- the stela of the Lady Tadmuthis, who died during Cleopatra's reign. This remarkable funerary monument contains a posthumous message advising her husband to "eat, drink and be merry" while he is still alive.

- a series of portrait heads of native Egyptian dignitaries. Among the most arresting images ever created in antiquity they include masterpieces known as the Brooklyn Black Head, the Boston Green Head and the Berlin Green Head. All three have realistic lines of age etched into their polished stone surface.

- luxurious precious objects, which include a cameo glass perfume vase with a scene of pharaoh and an obelisk; inlays of colored glass used to decorate shrines, and an array of gold jewelry, often bearing serpent designs alluding to both the Egyptian goddess Isis and rebirth.

- two of the best-preserved ancient portrait heads of Cleopatra, one from the Vatican Museum, one from West Berlin, as well as busts of Julius Caesar, Marc Antony and Augustus — the Romans with whom she lived, loved and fought.

In addition, the DIA has organized a variety of public programs in conjunction with the major exhibit.

Included are:

- a series of Hollywood films on Cleopatra and other pertinent historical figures beginning March 16. Series tickets may be purchased in advance at DIA Ticket Office; individual admissions at the door. All films begin at 7 p.m.
- a workshop analyzing "The Cleopatras of Hollywood," 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. April 29.

- family workshops for ages 7-12, accompanied by a parent or guardian — "Reconstructing Tablets: A Workshop in Clay," from 1:30 p.m. March 11; "Precious Objects: Mixed Media Workshop" 1:30 p.m. April 8.

- stories and folk tales from Egypt told by Susan Danoff of World Awareness, for ages 7 through adult

Funerary Cartonnage of a Lady of Means (First Century A.D.) The Brooklyn Museum, 69.35; Charles Edwin Wilbour Fund

(with sign language interpretation) These are free at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. April 1 and at 11 a.m. and 3 p.m. April 2.

For information on registration and fees, except where otherwise noted, write or telephone the DIA Education Department at 313-833-9804.

Talks and lectures planned during March and April are:

- "Selected Works from Cleopatra Exhibition," with William Peck, DIA curator of ancient art, 3 p.m. March 19. The lecture is free with exhibition admission.

- "Glass Working in Ptolemaic Egypt" with Dr. E. Marianna Stern, guest curator of Roman Glass, The Toledo Museum of Art, 8 p.m. April 18; general admission at the door $3 (students and seniors $2; Founders members $1).

- "Selected Photographs from Splendors of the Nile" with Christine Swenson, DIA Department of Graphics Arts, describing the photography exhibition complementing "Cleopatra," 3 p.m. April 23. Free admission.

Sweet Afton Tea Room:

A return to romance

often found themselves feeling frail by afternoon. As legend goes, Anna, wife of the Seventh Duke of Bedford, was the first to serve tea and cakes as a four o'clock pick-me-up. The custom quickly spread through the aristocracy.

That short explanation appears on the menu of the Sweet Afton Tea Room located on Mill Street in Plymouth.

And it goes a long way toward explaining what the restaurant is all about. Owned and operated by Sylvia Thacker, a resident of Northville, the Sweet Afton Tea Room represents her efforts to recreate a "return to romance... a revival of the tranquil art of afternoon tea."

The Tea Room also represents the attainment of one of Thacker's personal dreams. She readily admits that the inspiration for the Tea Room emanates from her Canadian-British heritage. And many of the items in the restaurant — dainty tea cups and saucers, for example — come from her personal collection.

It is clearly a labor of love. Sweet Afton is located in the middle of an unassuming little strip of shops. But the mundane setting is quickly forgotten after only a short period of time inside the restaurant.

Walls are papered with a small floral print. Crocheted table cloths grace the tops of the tables. And a lovely wooden buffet displaying Though tea had been popular in Europe since the 16th century, the British tea time tradition began in the 1840s. As people of the era ate large breakfasts and did not dine again until 8 or 9 o'clock, ladies

Thacker's collection of tea cups stands against a wall.

The decor creates a mood of gentility so effectively that one is surprised to walk outside and discover that he has not been in a fine old Victorian house.

Thacker emphasizes that the afternoon teas served at Sweet Afton should not be confused with "high tea."

"High tea," she says, is a hearty supper complete with meat or fish, usually served around five o'clock, especially in rural areas of Scotland and Ireland. Afternoon tea, on the other hand, features British nibbles and treats to provide a break in the middle of the day.

Sweet Afton generally offers a lighter fare. The casual diner can stop by for a bowl of soup or tiny tea sandwiches. Typical are dainty cucumber, roast beef and Neufchatel cheese sandwiches.

That does not mean, however, that you cannot have a heartier luncheon at the restaurant. The menu offers four standard selections for those who want more than a bowl of soup and/or tea sandwiches. Included are the Wellington, a pie filled with vegetables and chunks of beef; the Henry VII, slices of ham served with a thick slab of bread and a cup of soup; and the Prince of Wales, slices of roast beef served with a slab of bread and a cup of soup.

Also available is the Ploughman's Lunch, a hefty chunk of Scotch cheddar cheese served with a slab of bread and a cup of soup. "It's what British farmers have long enjoyed as their mid-day feast in the fields," Thacker explains.

Available for dessert are British butter tarts, scones, shortbread and several choices which vary from day to day. Recent selections have included an excellent British sponge cake and an even-better bread pudding.

Of course, Thacker also offers a wide selection of teas and coffees, many of them imported from England and all of them ground fresh daily in the restaurant.

Mention should also be made of the wait staff which is friendly and efficient. Thacker maintains that she is attempting to revive the tranquil art of afternoon tea — and the objective is furthered by the attentive waitresses.

There are a few things that anyone planning to visit Sweet Afton should keep in mind. First, reservations are highly recommended. The restaurant is small... and popular. Secondly, liquor is not available and smoking is prohibited by "decree of her majesty." Third, the bill must be paid with cash — credit cards and checks are not accepted. And, fourth, Sweet Afton is open only Monday through Sunday from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

My Favorite Things

1. ARCHAEOLOGY: Colling has been involved in archaeology as an avocation for 20 years, but it started out accidentally when a friend took him to an archaeological site. "I found out it's something I like, and I've been doing it ever since," he said. "It's a hobby of discovery."
2. STAMP COLLECTING: He's been interested in stamps almost his whole life, saying he learned the hobby "at my parents' knees." He collects stamps from the entire world, and considers himself "a true collector" — not in it for the money. "A very inexpensive stamp to me is just as exciting if it fills a spot in my book."
3. PLAYING SPORTS: "I've played (baseball) now for 40 years and am still going at it, even though I'm not as good as I used to be." Racquetball is another favorite.
4. SPECTATOR SPORTS: He enjoys all the major professional Detroit sports teams, and goes most often to see the Pistons and Tigers. "Right now, like most people, football is my least favorite," he laughs.

Cagers reach goal; end season at 10-10

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

Back on January 31, the Northville cagers decided to challenge themselves.

They wanted to end the regular season with a .500 record, but with just six games remaining and a 5-9 mark, it would mean winning five of the last six. For a team that was struggling with a five-game losing skid, it was a bold goal, but not a very realistic one.

But now, a month later, the Mustangs have managed to reach the goal that once seemed impossible. By edging Walled Lake Western 57-52 last Saturday (Feb. 25) in the battle for ninth place in the Western Lakes Activities Association, Northville ended the regular season at 10-10 overall (8-9 in the WLAA). The squad now heads into the MHSAA District playoffs with a three-game winning streak, and five victories in the last six outings.

"The kids set that goal of reaching .500 to keep themselves motivated, and it worked," Mustang Coach Omar Harrison said. "The seniors on this team — guys like Heath Myers, Chris House and Mike Kartis — weren't pleased with our win total back in January, and they kind of refused to lose in our last half-dozen games. We had a real bad streak in the middle of the season, but we jelled as a team down the stretch and now we feel real good about ourselves."

Northville lost out on qualifying for the WLAA championship playoff field (top four teams in each division), but the squad was a perfect 3-0 in the consolation tournament.

"Once we didn't make the top eight, we wanted to finish as high as we could," Harrison said. "Ninth was the best we could do in the consolation bracket and we went out and got it."

The first half against Western was close, but the Mustangs pulled ahead by five or six and then held the lead until intermission. But the Warriors erased the deficit and actually took a four point lead midway through the third quarter.

Northville fought back to regain the lead in the final quarter, inched ahead by three with 1:20 remaining and then went into a stall. Western fouled Myers and House in the final minute but they nailed 4-of-4 from the free throw line to pull out the win.

"We came back, but it was a little testy at the end," Harrison said. "Our seniors were pretty determined to pull it out and they made their free throws when they needed to."

House scored a game-high 24 and Myers added 23 for Northville. Kevin White paced the Warriors with 21.

NORTHVILLE 70, FARMINGTON 69: Three days earlier (Feb. 21) in the second round of playoff action, the Mustangs staved off a late run by the Falcons to win another close one.

"It wasn't easy, but (Farmington's) record doesn't show how good they are," Harrison said. "They match up well with us because they have some pretty big kids."

If it wasn't for Farmington's Mike Myers, Northville probably would have blown the visiting Falcons away in the first quarter. The Mustangs exploded for 20 points in the first eight minutes — including 10 by Heath Myers — but Mike Myers poured in 15 of Farmington's 19, including a trio of three-point bombs.

In the second quarter, Northville held Myers scoreless and that enabled the locals to build a 39-34 advantage. But in the third, he got hot again and the Falcons came back.

With Myers leading the way with 11 points, Farmington outscored the Mustangs by six in the quarter to take a slim one-point lead, and it stayed close the rest of the way. In the final minute of play, with the score tied 69-69, Dave McKee was fouled but missed the front end of a one-and-one free throw opportunity. But Heath Myers grabbed the rebound and was fouled. He made one of two free throws and that ended up being the difference. Farmington got the ball back with about 10 seconds left and a chance to win it at the buzzer but lost it out of bounds as time expired.

"It could have easily been a loss but I was happy with the way we played," Harrison admitted. "We've been winning the close ones lately, and that's something we didn't do earlier in the season. I think it shows that the kids have matured."

Myers led Northville with 26 points and eight rebounds, House added 21 and Joe Kaley chipped in 11.

DISTRICT PAIRINGS: The Mustangs were scheduled to play the Plymouth Canton-Plymouth Salem winner in MHSAA District action yesterday (March 1, after Record deadline), with the winner moving on to the finals on March 3 at 7:30 p.m. at Canton.

"We'd really like to see Canton again," Harrison said. "We'd feel good about going against them but we're not afraid of Salem either."

Spikers finish with a flurry, tie for third in WLAA

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

The Northville spikers put it all together prior to the WLAA Meet with a season-high three wins in a row. The squad then parlayed that momentum to finish in a tie for third at the 12-team conference on Feb. 25 at Walled Lake Western. It was Northville's highest finish ever as a member of the Western Lakes Activities Association.

"The girls probably played better at this tournament than they have all year long," Mustang Coach Paul Osborn said. "It certainly came at a good time."

In pool play, Northville won six games in eight tries to tie WLAA regular-season champion North Farmington. The Mustangs — as one of the top two teams in each pool — advanced to the semifinals with North, Walled Lake Central and Livonia Churchill — but promptly fell to Central and gladly settled for third.

"It was very rewarding," Osborn said. "It was fitting that our seniors led us to our highest finish we've ever had in the WLAA Meet. I was very happy for them."

Because Northville finished the regular season in second place in Western Division action, the Mustangs were placed in Pool A with five other teams and seeded second behind North Farmington. In first round action, the locals topped a pretty good Livonia Stevenson squad, 15-11, 15-3. Osborn admitted that it was a nice way to start things off.

"(Stevenson) gave us a battle, especially in the first game, but we were confident because we beat them during the regular season," he said. "For some reason, we really play well against Stevenson. All of our statistical percentages were high, including setting, hitting, serving and serve reception."

In round two, third-seeded Plymouth Salem stopped the Mustangs in their tracks with a convincing 15-6, 15-6 triumph — but it was only a momentary setback.

"(Salem) demolished us," Osborn admitted. "Nothing went right. It was the first time we played them this season and — in essence — we beat ourselves."

But Northville got back on the winning track in the third round by crushing Plymouth Canton 15-3, 15-8. It was the third meeting of the season between the teams, and the two headed in with the series tied at one match apiece.

"I told the girls that we're one of the better teams in the pool and that we'd win if we played well," Osborn said. "I guess the girls decided they didn't want to be left out of the playoffs."

In the fourth and final round, the Mustangs needed a win over Livonia Franklin to make the four-team semifinals, but in game one the Patriots made an early statement. Franklin scored the first seven points and everything seemed to be against Northville.

"The entire Salem team watched our match with Franklin," Osborn said. "If we lost, they would get into the playoffs, so they tried to irritate us and get us off our game. But it seemed to motivate us more than anything else."

In fine comeback style, the Mustangs gradually narrowed the deficit, tied it at 11-11, and then won it with four points in a row. Franklin folded in game two and Northville cruised, 15-2.

"The first game took the wind out of Franklin's sails," Osborn explained. "Jill Connell, Nancy Belding, Debbie Stevens and Jenny Urbahns all did very well at the net, and our setters did a nice job getting the ball to them."

The Mustangs were paired with Walled Lake Central — the Pool B winners — in the semifinals, but fell 15-5, 15-13. Churchill downed North in the other semifinal clash, so Northville and the Raiders shared third place honors.

"(Central) is a good solid team," Osborn said. "Our girls didn't play any worse than they had all day long, but the calibre of the opposition was tougher."

NORTHVILLE 15-17, WALLED LAKE WESTERN 6-15: On Feb. 20, the Mustangs broke a season-long tradition of Monday night failures by dumping the Warriors in straight games.

In the first game, Northville held leads of 6-3 and 9-6 before Becky Bajorek wrapped it up by scoring six straight points off her serve. Game two was close all the way, but again Bajorek ended it by serving out with the Mustangs clinging to a 16-15 lead.

"Our serving wasn't very good in the first game but we played super defense," Osborn said. "The girls were elated that we finally broke this Monday night jinx."

As a team, Northville served (78 percent), received (86), set (79) and hit (83) at respectable levels. Osborn singled out Belding, Stevens and Urbahns for their play at the net.

"Jenny (Urbahns) has really improved at the net," he said. "She's made some remarkable strides since last November."

NORTHVILLE 15-4-15, FARMINGTON HARRISON 5-15-0: The Mustangs won their third in a row, and wrapped up a 13-10-3 campaign, on Feb. 22 by smoking Harrison in three games.

Games one and three weren't even close, but they were sandwiched around a 15-4 loss. Northville jumped ahead 13-4 after the first rotation in game one, and shut out the Hawks in game three.

"Harrison doesn't play power volleyball," Osborn said.

Grapplers turn program around

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

A diverse combination of seasoned veterans and talented newcomers somehow managed to fit together like a puzzle for the Mustang wrestlers this year and the result was a season to remember.

Northville's program has been without a winning tradition the past few seasons, but all that turned around mighty fast. During the 1988-89 season, Coach Jack Townsley led the Mustangs to their first-ever WLAA Western Division title and a fine 14-4 dual meet record. For the season, the Mustangs ended up third in the 12-team WLAA, which is also a school record, and sent six qualifiers to regional action and three of those to the state meet.

"It was an excellent season," Townsley said. "There might be some schools — like Catholic Central — that wouldn't be happy with the kind of season we had, but there wouldn't be too many. We had some terrific wrestlers and outstanding

Townsley reflects on 'excellent season'

Team leaders — both on and off the mat — were senior co-captains Andy Frey and Mike Hale. The two combined for a record of 56-17 at the 130 and 189-pound weight classes respectively, but also provided the kind of leadership that is rare at the high school level. Hale was the WLAA runner-up at 189 and was also a state meet qualifier.

"They were excellent leaders but it was easy for them because we had such a great group of seniors — which we haven't had in a while," Townsley said. "The attitude they established made it easy for the coaches."

Other veteran performers like Mike Mathes at 119, John Kochanek at 135, Darrin Kehoe at 171 and Derek Forbing at heavyweight are — like Hale and Frey — four-year wrestlers who suffered through the bad times only to go out in a blaze of glory.

"All these kids hung in there when things weren't going too well, so it was nice to see them have success," Townsley said. "Mike Hale said to me that he's been involved in high school sports for four years and this was the first team championship he's been a part of."

"It was an excellent season. There might be some schools that wouldn't be happy with the kind of season we had, but there wouldn't be too many. We had some terrific wrestlers and outstanding young men."

— Jack Townsley

A solid group of juniors and sophomores like Garnett Potter (145), Kevin Khashan (103) and Bob Townsend (160) also excelled during the season. The three combined for a 91-34-2 record — led by Khashan's 23-8-1 mark, which included a district title. Potter, who was 28-12, advanced all the way to the MHSAA State Meet before bowing out. He was the only Mustang to win a match at the Battle Creek event.

Added into the equation were newcomers Brandon Mardosian

(112) and Mike Huff (125), who filled problem spots in the line-up and made them strong points.

"The key pieces to the puzzle that we needed were Mardosian and Huff," Assistant Coach Bob Boshoven said.

Mardosian transferred from Livonia Stevenson — after qualifying for regional competition as a freshman — and made it to the state meet with the Mustangs. His record (27-10) and winning mentality impressed everybody. Huff had a 19-13 record, which is outstanding for a freshman.

"Because Mardosian and Huff filled in at 112 and 125, we really had only one hole in our line-up — at 140," Townsley said. "That's because Kevin Delaney was a true 130-pounder that was forced to move up a notch. But he gave us an honest effort every time out."

"Our first five weight divisions were very strong and it helped us grab early leads. Four of the first five had at least 20 wins and Huff had 19."

Highlights of the season included a first-place team finish at the Ypsilanti Invitational in mid-December, the division title, and the great dual meet record. But Townsley pinpointed the win at Ypsilanti as the turning-point of the season.

"We've been going to the Ypsi Invite for years and never finished higher than the middle of the pack," he said. "This season, we didn't expect to win it but we ended up placing 11 of 13 wrestlers to win it, and that's when — for the first time — we discovered that we really were a solid team."

The key graduation losses will include Hale, Frey and Mathes for next season — but the returning list is very impressive.

Gymnasts wrap up record-setting season

Northville senior Yvonne Beebe

Record/CHRIS BOYD

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

Even with junior standout Lee LaChance at less than 100 percent, the Northville gymnasts topped the 130-barrier, turned back Farmington by over three points and wrapped up the 1989 campaign with a 7-3 record — which is a new school record.

The Mustangs' 130.75-127.05 victory over the Falcons on Feb. 23 wasn't easy, but after opening a four-point lead in the first event, the locals were never really threatened. LaChance did compete in the first two events despite being slowed by the flu, but Northville Coach Michelle Charniga pulled her out when it appeared the squad was well on the way toward its seventh win in the last eight meets.

"(Farmington) scored only 120 three days before, so they really picked their performance against us and that made it closer," Charniga said. "The big difference was on vault. We beat them by four points and then we really held on the rest of the way. It kind of set the tone for us."

The Mustangs' team score of 34.1 in the vault was an all-time high. Wendy Beach was first overall in the event with an 8.7, Mia DeHart was second (8.65), LaChance was third (8.45) and Yvonne Beebe fourth (8.3). "We had some fantastic vaults," Charniga said.

Northville increased the lead slightly in the uneven bars, and again swept the top two individual places. DeHart won it with an 8.95 and Beach was second with an 8.75, but a bobble on bar cost her a possible 9.1 score. The other Mustang scores included LaChance (7.9), Beebe (7.7), Becky Carney (7.2) and Robyn Chatman (7.05).

Farmington outscored Northville 31.15-30.5 in the balance beam, but it didn't cut into the lead very much. Beach was second (8.1, with three falls) and DeHart fourth (7.6) but nobody else placed in the top six. The other Mustang competitors were Karen Pyle (7.45), Megan Graham (6.0), Jenny McMillian (6.1) and newcomer Beth Frayne (5.8).

The Falcons cut into the deficit again by two-tenths of a point in the fourth and final event — the floor exercise — but it wasn't nearly enough. Beach took first place honors (8.7), De Hart was third (8.35) and Beebe sixth (8.0).

WLAA MEET: The Northville contingent is very confident heading into today's conference meet (March 2), and it has a lot to do with the fact that the Mustangs are the host team. The competition will get underway at 5 p.m. at the Northville gymnasium.

"I feel confident we can be up there, maybe in second place overall," Charniga said. "North Farmington should win it but second is up for grabs and we feel that we have the home site advantage. We know the equipment and the surroundings and that's to our advantage. We'll be more comfortable and that makes for better scores."

"This is our chance to get revenge against (Plymouth) Canton and (Westland) John Glenn — two teams that beat us by less than a point this season. My girls are out for revenge."

Mustangs of the Week

HEATH MYERS

Senior Heath Myers has been the key figure in Northville's late-season basketball surge, and his performance last week was 'Mustang of the Week' calibre. In a 70-69 win over Farmington on Feb. 21, Myers helped Northville establish an early lead with 10 points in the first eight minutes. He sank the game-winning free throw in the final minute and ended with a game-high 26 points and eight rebounds. Three days later, Myers made two crucial free throws down the stretch of a 57-52 win over Walled Lake Western. He ended up with 23 points and has been averaging 18.9 per outing in the last 10 games.

BOB HOLDRIDGE

Bob Holdridge may be a youngster, but he's an old-hand when it comes to swimming. The Northville freshman has been solid all season for coach Mark Heiden — especially in last week's 109-62 win over Farmington Harrison. That's why he's one of our 'Mustangs of the Week.' Northville won 10 of the 11 events against the Hawks and Holdridge was the only two-time winner: in the 200-yard freestyle (1:55.7) and the 500 freestyle (5:10.7). He was also a member of the winning 400 freestyle relay team (3:29.6) along with Chris Handyside, Brad Cook and Eric Newton. The Mustangs finished the regular season with a 9-3 record.

Northville swimmers dunk Harrison 109-62

On Feb. 23, Northville swim coach Mark Heiden faced a dilemma.

He wanted his tankers to swim well enough to beat Farmington Harrison, but he didn't want them to peak — especially with the WLAA Meet just around the corner.

Heiden apparently got his point across because the Mustangs cruised to a 109-62 victory, but certainly didn't register the kind of times you'd expect at a crucial conference meet. The win — Northville's fifth in the last six meets — wrapped up a 9-3 season.

"To have three times as many wins as losses is pretty good," Heiden said. "One of our goals was to improve on our dual meet record of last year, and we accomplished that. We were 8-4 a year ago."

The Mustangs placed first in 10 of 11 events. Freshman Bob Holdridge led the way with two individual wins, in the 200-yard freestyle (1:55.7) and the 500 freestyle (5:10.7). The rest of the Northville firsts included Eric Newton in the 200 IM (2:04.7), Chris Handyside in the 50 freestyle (24.2), Rob Devyak in diving (246.1 point total), Brad Cook in the 100 butterfly (58.7), Angelo Perakis in the 100 freestyle (56.6), Matt Harna in the 100 breast stroke (1:09.3), the 200 medley relay team of Andy Wayne, Hanna, Cook and Handyside (1:50.7) and the 400 freestyle relay team of Handyside, Cook, Holdridge and Newton (3:29.6).

The seconds came from Wayne in the 50 freestyle (24.7) and the 100 butterfly (1:02.7), Dan Brugeman in the 500 freestyle (5:34.1) and Perakis in the 100 breast stroke (1:13.3). The thirds included Brugeman in the 100 breast stroke (1:18.4) and Kevin Smoot in the 100 backstroke (1:12.3). "I prefer an easy win at the end of the season than a close struggle," Heiden admitted. "This way, we can save some energy for the conference meet. I expected a win over Harrison — I really couldn't see how we could lose, but you never know. They beat us last season."

The win puts the Mustangs in sole possession of second place in the WLAA Western Division with a 4-1 mark, behind 5-0 Livonia Churchill. Up next for the tankers is the WLAA Meet (March 1-3) at Plymouth Salem.

Wheelchair fitness course to open

By BOB NEEDHAM

A new physical fitness course for people confined to a wheelchair has been installed in Wixom and may soon be available for use by the public.

A 10-station "gamefield" for wheelchair users has been fully set up at the West Maple Park site in Wixom, although the park itself is not yet open to the public. But once the facility becomes available, anyone in a wheelchair will have a challenging workout plan available to improve strength, skill and cardiovascular endurance.

"It has different activities for strengthening different muscle groups in a wheelchair," Denise Gomez of Wixom Parks and Recreation said. Plans for the park also include installation of picnic tables built to accommodate wheelchairs, she said.

The park is scheduled to open in late April. It is located on the south side of Maple Road just west of Beck Road.

The wheelchair gamefield is built on a cement slab at the park. A series of signs explain the idea behind the course, how to do each exercise, and the purpose of each. There are 10 different stations, with two exercises to be done at each one.

The course is set up so that it can, if you want, be a competition. Successful completion of each exercise is worth a set number of points, and a scale shows a perfect score for each of three different levels of skill.

The exercises at the gamefield include reaches and stretches; overhead bars to twist, stretch, and do pull-ups and chin-ups; a series of gates for a short wheelchair slalom, going backwards as well as forwards; and similar activities. For the more experienced athletes, the course recommends a break in the middle of the course for a 15- to 30-minute wheelchair jog.

Wixom's wheelchair fitness course includes 10 stations

The exercises are divided into three sections: the first four are for warm-up, the next 12 for conditioning and agility, and the last four for cool-down.

It is advised that anyone interested in the facility check with their doctor before trying the exercises.

The wheelchair fitness course was built with a grant from Botsford General Hospital and the National Fitness Campaign, together with some of Wixom's own money. It was designed at the Stanford University Heart Disease Prevention Center and the Arizona Heart Institute.

Wixom Parks and Recreation can be reached at 624-4606. For information on building a wheelchair fitness course, contact the National Fitness Campaign's Grant Committee at 50 Francisco Street, San Francisco, California, 94133.

Blood pressure education class offered

Botsford General Hospital in Farmington Hills is sponsoring a series of blood pressure education classes. The classes will run for four consecutive Tuesdays and will start on March 28 from 7-9 p.m. Cost is $25. For more information, call 471-8090.

CPR CLASSES: Botsford General Hospital in Farmington Hills is offering adult CPR classes and infant/child CPR classes.

The adult program is offered the first Thursday of every month from 7-10 p.m. in the Administration and Education Center. Pre-registration is required.

The infant/child program is offered the first Monday of every month from 7-10 p.m. in the Administration and Education Center. Pre-registration is also required.

Fee is $5 for each class. Call 471-8090 for more information.

ANONYMOUS PROGRAMS: Botsford General Hospital in Farmington Hills is offering 'Narcotics Anonymous', 'Alcoholics Anonymous' and 'Smokers Anonymous' meetings every week.

The 'Narcotics Anonymous' meeting is offered every Wednesday at 6:30, the 'Alcoholics Anonymous' meeting is held every Tuesday evening (from 8-10 p.m.), every Sunday evening (from 7-9 p.m.) and every Thursday evening (from 8-10 p.m.) and the 'Smokers Anonymous' meeting is held every Saturday evening at 7 p.m.

For more information, call 471-8090.

BLOOD PRESSURE CONTROL CLASSES: The Oakland County Health Division will offer a series of six blood pressure control classes to residents of Oakland County. The classes will be held weekly, from 2-4 p.m., at the Oakland County Health Division's south office, 27725 Greenfield Rd., Southfield, March 1, 8, 15, 22, 29. All classes are free but pre-registration is required as class size is limited.

Topics that will be covered during these classes include:

- Defining the disease (an overview of high blood pressure and its control).
- Medications used in treatment.

Fitness Notes

- Dietary recommendations (meal planning and food choices).
- Living with high blood pressure.
- Cholesterol teaching.

Classes will be taught by Oakland County Health Division public health nurses and nutritionists. Activities and information shared will help class participants better understand high blood pressure and self-care skills. Spouses and/or other family members are encouraged to attend.

For further information or to pre-register, call 424-7042.

PRE-NATAL/POST-PARTUM FITNESS: Debra Koppe will lead a pre-natal/post-partum exercise class Saturday mornings at 10 a.m. at Providence Hospital in Novi.

Classes are on-going and participants can enroll at any time by calling 227-7284. A physician consent form is necessary to participate.

WALKING AT THE MALL: People who enjoy walking are invited to use the climate-controlled corridors at Twelve Oaks Mall. Walkers are welcomed Monday through Saturday at 9 a.m. and Sunday at 11 a.m.

All walkers must register at the Twelve Oaks security office.

The lower-level track is .5 miles, and the upper-level track is .8 miles. A complete trip around the mall is 1-1/3 miles.

CHOLESTEROL SCREENINGS: The staff of the Henry Ford Medical Center in Plymouth is offering $5 cholesterol screenings from 3-7 p.m. the fourth Wednesday of each month.

Appointments are necessary and can be made by calling 453-5600.

The Plymouth Center, 261 S. Main St., is open from 7 a.m.-9 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 8 a.m.-7 p.m. on Friday; 9 a.m.-1 p.m. and 2-6 p.m. Saturdays and noon-4 p.m. Sundays.

MATERNITY FITNESS: The Motherwell Maternity Fitness Program at the University of Michigan Medical Center offers classes every Monday and Wednesday evenings from 8:30-9:30 p.m. at the M-Care Medical Center in Ann Arbor, or on Tuesdays and Thursdays at the Health Center in Northville from 7:30-8:30 p.m.

The medically-approved exercise classes, designed specifically for pregnant women, are taught by certified instructors and provide many benefits.

A package of information is available by calling 936-5186.

OVER-50 FITNESS: Twelve Oaks Mall is providing a safe, proven and highly-effective workout for older people and others who are interested in a low impact, aerobic exercise program. The program is offered every Tuesday and Thursday from 9-10 a.m. in the Lord & Taylor Court (lower level).

The "Fitness over 50" program has been designed and field-tested for more than 10 years at the University of Michigan. It provides a non-strenuous but invigorating program that will improve your strength and muscle tone, and increase your energy and endurance.

The event is free and open to the public.

COLLEGE FACILITIES: Schoolcraft College's modern physical education facilities are available for community use on Thursdays and Sundays.

On Sundays, the entire physical education facility will be available from 1-5 p.m. for the Sunday Health Club. Members of the club can take advantage of a full-competition swimming pool with a separate diving area, six racquetball courts, volleyball and basketball courts, a weight training room and muscle-soothing saunas.

Schoolcraft College is located on Haggerty Road between Six and Seven Mile in Livonia. For more information call 591-6400, extension 540.

Fitness Tips

How much do you know about weight control?

Everywhere we turn we hear something about how to lose or maintain the proper body weight. So many people are preaching that they have the perfect answer to weight loss that it is almost impossible to know what is fact and what is fiction. Take the following quiz to find out how much you know about weight control. Part 1 of this quiz is below. Part 2 will appear next week.

TRUE or FALSE:

1. It is possible to spot-reduce specific areas on the body.
2. Wearing a sauna suit during exercise helps you lose fat and keep it off.
3. It is better to eat three or more small meals per day than to eat the same amount of calories in one or two meals.
4. Walking or jogging two miles burns off the same number of calories.
5. Exercising twice a week is sufficiently frequent to aid in losing weight.
6. It is important NOT to exercise while dieting.
7. The recommended weekly caloric expenditure from exercise to aid in weight loss is 600 calories.

8. Eating one plain cake-type doughnut (125 calories) every day in excess of your caloric expenditure can result in a five-pound weight gain in one year.

ANSWERS:

1. False — Studies show that spot exercises do not reduce body fat locally. Total body movement, like walking, jogging or swimming is required to lose body fat. Unfortunately, fat is lost in the reverse order that it is put on; the first area which gains weight is the last area in which weight is lost.
2. False — Use of a sauna suit during exercise not only does not increase fat loss, but it can be dangerous. Wearing a sauna suit causes the body to sweat at an increased rate, so any apparent weight reduction is due to loss of water and salt which is replenished almost immediately.
3. True — Research shows that eating three or more smaller meals a day is more effective for weight control then eating only one or two meals. Increasing the time between meals forces the body to adapt to "famine" conditions. Therefore, when a meal is eventually eaten, the body stores more of the food as fat than it would under normal eating conditions.

4. True — Both intensity and duration affect the number of calories that are burned during exercise. While walking is done at a lower intensity than jogging, it compensates by increased duration. Consequently, walking can be an excellent means to aid in weight control.

5. False — According to the American College of Sports Medicine, exercising three times a week is the minimum recommended frequency for achieving weight loss.

6. False — There are several reasons why it is important to exercise when dieting. (1) It helps prevent loss of muscle mass normally associated with strict dieting. (2) It helps prevent decreased metabolic activity that normally occurs with dieting alone. The slower the metabolism, the harder it is to lose weight. (3) It is more fun than strict dieting. (4) By combining exercise with diet, you can eat a little more by burning off the additional calories through exercise.

7. False — The American College of Sports Medicine recommends a caloric expenditure of 300 calories a day through exercise, three or four times a week, or a weekly expenditure of 1,000 calories to aid in weight loss.

8. False — In one year, a 13-pound weight gain could result; 3,500 extra calories equals about one pound of stored fat. On a yearly basis, the surplus number of calories would be 45,625 calories (365 days x 125 calories). Theoretically, if all eating habits stay the same and the energy output is unchanged, this weight gain could occur.

The Northville Record is working with medical authorities at the University of Michigan Medical Center (M-Care) in Northville to provide up-to-date information on a variety of health-related topics. The series is coordinated by Peg Campbell of the M-Care staff.

How can a multiple car family minimize insurance costs?

No problem.

Auto-Owners gives families with two or more cars a reduced insurance rate. That makes their exceptional auto coverage and claims service even more attractive.

So if you're a multiple car family trying to minimize insurance costs—call your "no problem" Auto-Owners agent and find out how this discount can be "no problem" for you.

TO FOXWORTH HALL

HUNT COUNTRY ENGLISH

Now you can bring hunt country English styling to your home with American Drew's dramatic seventy-piece collection. For here are the details that are reminiscent of furnishings found in the grand cottage estates that dot the countryside around Northampton, England: the warm golden brown of oak and pecan; authentic craftsmanship; the influence of many designs rather than purity of expression.

Throughout the house...in the bedroom, dining room, living room, and entry...Foxworth Hall is hunt country English at its best.

The framed motifs around top drawers are representative of 18th and 19th century English furniture design.

The full return English ogee base is found on most case pieces in the collection.

The graceful Queen Anne leg adds romance, elegance, and grace to the Foxworth Hall collection.

AMERICAN DREW

The crown glass bowed, bubbled shape was adopted from display cases used by English royalty.

The Queen Anne Chair, with its pierced splat back, is gracefully carved and shaped, bringing hunt country elegance to today's dining rooms.

Foxworth Hall hardware is an exclusive George III design.

Genuine leaded brass on beveled glass is a prominent design element in the occasional tables.
