History comes alive

Ben Franklin visited Winchester Elementary School on Monday in the guise of actor Dan LeMonnier and the production "Ben and Me". The Detroit Theatre of the Detroit Institute of Arts presented the Face to Face Productions presentation. The skit covered Franklin's accomplishments such as the Franklin stove, printing press, almanac and electricity through the eyes of Franklin and his pet mouse Amos.

Council OKs recycling bin for residents

By BOB NEEDHAM

The first phase of a voluntary recycling program for city residents got the approval of the Northville City Council Monday.

The city plans to buy a container for the Department of Public Works yard for garbage separated by type — glass, metal cans and plastic. The container will be for city residents only.

Residents will be able to drop off their separated trash in the appropriate part of the container. The city's current waste disposal company will take the separated materials to a recycling center, probably in Ann Arbor or Trenton, DPW Superintendent Ted Mapes told the city council Monday.

The container has not yet been bought. A memo from Mapes to the council estimates the container would cost around $5,000, and he said Tuesday it will probably be a few weeks before the city has it ready to go.

A more immediate recycling possibility is a paper trailer for the DPW yard. Although that wasn't in place yet Tuesday, Mapes was expecting it soon. When it's there, it will be available for city residents to drop off newspapers, if the papers are bundled properly with twine or in paper bags.

The recycling container and the paper trailer are just a couple of the more immediate options Mapes explored in his report to the council.

Although all the recommendations are for voluntary participation at this time, city officials have said residents may soon be required to separate their trash by types. A pending county mandate to reduce residential trash going to landfills by 75 percent — coupled with skyrocketing costs for landfill dumping — are spurring local governments to seek alternatives.

"I certainly don't have all the answers that are needed for this topic," he said at the meeting. "It really seems to be a trial-and-see-how-it-works-for-your-community type of thing."

He said the DPW has already received a lot of phone calls from people interested in recycling. Nancy Bohn, a member of the Concerned Residents of Northville, pledged that group's support in informing the community about any recycling program. "Our residents are ripe for this kind of thing," she said.

Other city recycling efforts, or possible recommendations, include:

- Recycling all the white bond paper used at Northville City Hall. City Clerk Cathy Konrad is working out a system for bins around city hall to dispose of the paper. The Department of Natural Resources office on Main Street will pick up the city hall

NAC plans series about drug abuse

Drugs and alcohol are not the usual Tuesday evening discussion topics for most Northville families.

The Northville Action Council and the Northville Public Schools are hoping that the five-part educational series on alcohol and drugs — its use and misuse, will help bring out local problems, solutions and concerns about drugs and alcohol in the community and will foster some family discussion on the topic.

The series is presented by Henry Ford Hospital Maplegrove and runs on successive Tuesday evenings beginning April 11 at 7:30 p.m. in the high school cafeteria. Sessions consist of introductory remarks by local representatives (Dr. George Bell, superintendent of schools; Georgina Goss, township supervisor; Chris Johnson, mayor; Tom Watkins, director of the State Department of Mental Health), presentations on selected subjects and a movie, with a question and answer session following.

The series is open to all adults and young people in the area and is free of charge. A donation will be accepted to help defray costs of publicity for the event.

"People are unaware of the problem and the impact it has on the school system," Al Qualman, a member of the NAC and series coordinator said.

Organizers are hoping that residents from all over Northville, both parents, singles, couples and senior citizens, take advantage of the program and come out to learn more about the problem and solutions to it. "Everyone is affected by the use and misuse of drugs and alcohol," Charlie Stilec, Northville High School Student Assistance director said.

Parents are encouraged to bring their children to the series, Stilec said. "If kids are old enough to understand and sit still they should come." He suggested that children age 10 and above be invited.

For more information on the series contact Qualman at 349-8437 or Stilec at 344-1825.

Election might see rerun of mayor race

Although the Northville city election is still seven months away, a possible replay of the 1987 election is shaping up.

Mayor Chris Johnson said a couple months ago that he would probably run for re-election in the fall, and G. Dewey Gardner — a former council member who Johnson defeated for the mayor's post — said recently he still plans to run for something, either mayor or city council.

"One or the other," Gardner said recently. "I have every intention to stay involved ... Let's put it this way, I'll pull petitions."

In addition to the mayor, two council members — John Buckland and Jerry Mittman — will have terms expiring. Both of them said Monday they have not yet decided whether they will run. "It's a little premature," Mittman said.

Johnson is in the midst of his first two-year term as mayor. Buckland is nearing the end of his first four-year term on the council.

Mittman is serving the last half of

City survey due Friday

City officials are asking that anyone wishing to respond to the city survey turn in their form by 5 p.m. Friday.

As of Monday evening, City Manager Steve Walters said the forms had not been counted but were still coming in. "A stack this high came in just today," he said, holding his hand about a foot off the table.

He suggested the response may be a lot greater than the 10 to 20 percent officials were expecting.

The results of the surveys, mailed to residents and (in a different version) to business owners, are going to be tabulated next week, Walters said. Because of that, they should be turned in by the end of business Friday, he said.

The tabulated results of the survey will be used by officials in charting the city's direction over the next few years. The city planning commission is overseeing the project as part of its update of the official city master plan.

Since the city used its water bill list for the mailing, and not all residents get water bills, copies of the survey are available at city hall. The surveys are color coded so that responses can be split up into four areas of the city.

The master plan update is expected to include a revised and expanded section on city philosophy and goals, and the survey results are expected to be important in developing those statements.

Ward's petition raises some ire

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

Sparks were already flying days before Township Planning Commission Chairman Charles DeLand brought down the gavel to open last night's special meeting on the Ward Presbyterian Church site plan.

Much of the controversy centered around a letter sent by Ward Church to township residents who are either members or attendees of the church.

In the one-page letter, signed by 35th District Court Judge and Ward member John MacDonald, a plea is made to support a petition which opposes any building restrictions placed on churches.

The Township Planning Commission is currently discussing placing ordinance restrictions on churches.

MacDonald wrote in the letter that "the adoption of this amendment could result in costly revisions of the site development plans for our new Ward facility at Six Mile and Haggerty."

MacDonald continues in the letter by asking for support on a petition prepared by Ward. Furthermore, those individuals who received the letter did not have to sign the petition to be placed on it.

"In order to make it convenient for you to participate, we have planned to include the name of each household in Northville unless we receive the enclosed card declining participation," MacDonald wrote.

The letter was dated March 27, 1989 and homeowners receiving the letter had until April 1, 1989 to return the card to Ward if they did not want to be a part of the petition.

One resident, who requested anonymity, said she was "incensed" by automatically being included on the Ward petition. She said she attended Ward once and is not a full member.

"My husband and I feel that no one has the right to use our name to assign recommendation or support without our permission, which is normally granted by obtaining our signature," the resident added.

Records show city, race track owns land along Cady Street

By BOB NEEDHAM

A look at City of Northville tax records shows that much of the land surrounding East Cady Street — the target of a special study to consider expanded business and parking downtown — is owned by the city and by race track interests.

The city has bought several lots on Cady over the past couple of years in anticipation of future parking and other development along the street. In addition, the city owns the land on which the current track deck sits — a deck which City Manager Steve Walters last week called "not repairable."

According to the 1988 tax rolls — which may be out of date — Northville Downs owns a considerable amount of the land on East Cady and in the immediate area, including most of the track parking lot and some vacant land just to the north.

The Northville Driving Club, a private organization which owns much of the land on which the track sits, also has some Cady Street holdings.

Other Cady owners include Foundry Flak Inc., which owns a large area south of the street at its east end; and Belanger Inc., which sits just across Cady from Foundry Flak.

Other private owners listed in the tax rolls include the First Presbyterian Church; Detroit Edison, which has a substation just south of the street; and the Northville Group, which owns one lot and lists a Southfield address.

The vacant lot on the northeast corner of Center and Cady is owned by the Singh Development Company, which is building the "MainCentre" project on the northwest corner. The records show that parcel belonging to Dennis Roux, but Singh officials announced the sale a few months ago.

According to the rolls, other owners of single lots include Glen Long, business owner and member of the city's downtown development authority (DDA); David Johnson of Belleville; John Ashby of Northville; Greg Ash of Plymouth; Donald Bingham of Walled Lake; L. M. Coe of Northville; and Charles Parrott of Farmington Hills, who owns two adjacent lots.

The DDA and other city officials are overseeing a study of the Cady Street Corridor by Ayres, Lewis, Norris & May, the city's Ann Arbor-based planning consultant firm. The primary study area is East Cady Street and adjoining parcels, although the study is also looking at the surrounding areas.

A recently-released, preliminary draft of the study recommends a series of policies to use in developing Cady for parking, retail, and office use. The study is expected to result in a recommended development scheme, including a plan for implementation.

The study is being funded with federal Community Development Block Grant money. It is budgeted at $13,398.

The planners expect to finish the study in about two months. Implementation is designed to be phased over a period of years, from five to 20.

NEWS BRIEFS

CORRECTIONS DEPARTMENT — The highly successful Easter Egg Hunt, held recently in Hines Park, was conducted by the Northville Jaycees, not the Northville Community Recreation Department, as was erroneously printed under the front page picture in last week's Record. The Record regrets the mistake.

Jaycee Todd Harrigan, who called in to make the error known, said the March 25 hunt was "one of the best turnouts ever." Harrigan said that over 300 youngsters participated in the event. Recreation Director John Anderson echoed the sentiment saying "full credit should go to the Jaycees."

COUNCIL GOES BLUE — The last item on the agenda of the Northville City Council for Monday night's meeting was "Tip-off / 9:12." They adjourned just in time for the NCAA championship game between the University of Michigan and Seton Hall.

POETRY READING — Dr. Marilyn Reagan, Principal of Our Lady of Victory School in Northville, has invited the Northville community to an evening presentation which is the culmination of the Poet-in-residence program undertaken by Kathleen Ripley Leo, a Northville poet, at the school. A program of poetry readings by students will be held on Tuesday, April 11 at 7 p.m. A reception will be held immediately following. For more information call 349-3610.

HEARING POSTPONED — A March 31 hearing date for Northville Township resident Zouefickar Nehmeh, in connection with his arrest last November on a cocaine charge, has been rescheduled for April 18, before Recorder's Court Judge Craig Strong.

A Recorder's Court clerk said the hearing was delayed after Nehmeh hired a new attorney to represent him during the proceedings.

The clerk said the hearing has been set for Nehmeh "so that Judge Strong can determine if there is enough evidence or not for a trial."

SCOUT DAY AT MILL RACE — All Scout troops are invited to Mill Race Village for a tour of the Village buildings on Thursday, April 13 from 1-2 p.m. Docents will be on duty to tell the history of the village and to answer any questions.

LIBRARY DISPLAY — Northville Public Library's April adult book display will be in honor of National Library Week (April 10-15). The Library will feature an all-new "Staff Recommendations" exhibit. This idea received popular acclaim during Library Week, 1988, when books which had been read and recommended by members of the library's staff were highlighted. Like last year, this year's display will be accompanied by a bibliographic flyer.

MEADS MILL TALENT SHOW — Meads Mill Middle School will be showcasing its home-grown talent during a show, April 11 at 7 p.m. at the school. Featured will be performances from a rock band, eight dancers, eight vocalists and a comedy/mime act. The cheerleaders will put on a pre- and post-show act.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY AUCTION — The Northville Historical Society will hold its annual auction in the New School Church in Mill Race Village. Anyone who would like to drop off donations may do so Saturday, April 15 from 10-11 a.m.

College grants offered to high school seniors

College grants are available to 1989 graduating high school seniors who have played for at least three years in the Northville Junior Baseball or Girls Softball program, and who intend to enroll for fall college classes. There are two awards available: one $500 Ken Dominique Memorial Scholarship and one $500 grant-in-aid. These awards are possible through proceeds from the World Series held in Northville in July and August. Applications are available from class counselors at Northville High School or from John Hodgkin, committee chairman, 16009 Winchester, Northville, 48167.

City targets trash as main concern in budget review

A preliminary budget overview from Northville City Manager Steve Walters showed the dramatically increasing cost for trash disposal is the city's major fiscal concern.

"In general, the general fund is an issue of solid waste disposal," Walters told the city council Monday in reviewing the 1989-90 city budget. He said two recent increases in costs to the city for dumping garbage in the landfill have the approximate impact of one full mill of taxation — and that is with the unlikely assumption that more increases are not forthcoming.

"If the same pattern repeats itself next fiscal year, a significant millage increase, or major reductions in other services, will be necessary, unless we can implement a significant reduction in the volume of refuse being collected by the city during 1989," Walters' printed budget message reads in part.

"It's critical we look at volume reduction and some other alternatives, such as access to an incinerator," Walters said at Monday's council meeting. He said there is nothing else like the garbage problem in the budget, and the city residents will have to change their habits in how trash is disposed of (see related story). "There really isn't an alternative, in the sense that we can't stop disposing of the materials," he said.

Monday's budget presentation was a very preliminary one, with the actual budget not prepared because of a lack of information. Because of a late finish to board of review hearings, the city has no exact figures on tax base or Headlee tax limitation requirements, Walters said.

Preliminary tax base figures show a sizable increase: from $113,433,950 last year to $137,344,420. If the actual figure is close to that, it would be about a 21 percent increase.

Other points of concern in the budget will be capital outlay, including street repair, water and sewer improvements, and equipment for the police and public works departments; an increase in water and sewer rates, which Walters calls "necessary" because of the super sewer expansion program; and shared services, including increasing costs for the library.

The Downtown Development Authority budget is looking healthier than ever, and can repay the city for cash advances made years ago, Walters said. The city is reaping the tax benefits of the Plagens mini-mall at Main and Hutton and of the new Standard Federal building — the first completely new buildings to go up in the downtown area in several years, he said.

The council approved a meeting schedule to review the budget. Study sessions are scheduled for Monday, April 10, Thursday, April 20, and Monday, April 24. A meeting to call a budget hearing is scheduled for Tuesday, May 9, and the hearing is tentatively set for Tuesday, May 30.

The city fiscal year runs from July 1 to June 30.

Proposal considered

A proposal to clarify the procedure for changing the city zoning or ordinance will go to a public hearing April 17.

If approved, the measure would make three basic changes:

- Require the planning commission to hold a public hearing on a change to the text of the zoning ordinance, just as it would for a change to the zoning map. This is required by state law, but the current ordinance is ambiguous on the point.
- Change the notification requirement when a rezoning has been proposed. On the recommendation of the planning commission, the proposal would change the notification area from all properties within 300 feet to all properties within 300 feet or five lots, whichever is greater.

- Combine two articles in the current zoning ordinance so that changes proposed through citizen petition and changes proposed by the city are both covered in the same article. There would be no different procedure.

City administrators recommended this amendment after the ambiguity was realized during recent discussion of a day care ordinance in the city.

Tires, wheels stolen from McDonald Ford dealership

About $4,500 worth of tires and wheels were stolen from McDonald Ford recently, according to a city police report.

The wheels and tires were taken from three different new Mustangs parked at the dealership early March 25, the report said. The theft occurred between 5:37 and 6:21 that morning, when police on patrol noticed the thefts.

One of the Mustangs suffered a damaged trunk lock, trunk lid pried open and a hole punched in the lid, all apparently to get at the equipment for removing the wheels. Emblems were also taken, and the two other cars suffered some damage as well, for a total of $700 damage.

Police are investigating the incident. This is the latest in a string of wheel and tire thefts from McDonald Ford over the past few months.

FENDER-BENDERS — At least five automobile accidents were reported by township police last week.

A two-car accident occurred Monday, March 27 at 5:35 p.m. on Seven Mile Road near Northville Road. Police said the driver of car two was stopped at the traffic light on Seven Mile at Northville Road, when the driver of car one struck car two from behind. The driver of car one was issued a ticket for failing to stop within an assured clear distance.

A two-car accident occurred Wednesday, March 29 at 7:35 a.m. on Seven Mile Road near Fry Road. The driver of car one said she was going westbound on Seven Mile and slowed down to turn left into the Northville Psychiatric Hospital entrance, when she noticed a car approaching from behind. The driver of car one said she did not think the car would stop so she turned and was struck by car two. The driver of car two said he was eastbound on Seven Mile in the left lane and car one made a left turn in front of him. A witness said he was westbound on Seven Mile in the right lane and said car two hit car one. The driver of car one was issued a ticket for failing to yield while making a left turn.

A two-car accident occurred Wednesday, March 29 at 3:10 p.m. on Baseline Road and Eight Mile. Police said the driver of car two was stationary at the stop sign on Baseline Road, waiting to merge onto eastbound Eight Mile. The driver of car two said she was looking backwards to check traffic when she was struck from behind by car one. The driver of car one was issued a ticket for failing to stop within an assured clear distance ahead.

A two-car accident occurred Friday, March 31 at 8:20 at the intersection of Eight Mile Road and Beck Road. Police said the driver of car one stopped for the stop sign, then continued southbound on Beck Road through the intersection. The driver of car one said he did not see car two. The driver of car two said she was going 50 mph. Police issued a ticket to the driver of car one for disobeying a sign and issued a second ticket for having no proof of insurance.

A two-car accident occurred Friday, March 31 at 1:24 p.m. on Eight Mile Road near Haggerty Road. Police said the driver of car one was waiting to make a left turn onto southbound Haggerty. Both drivers stated the light was yellow for both east and westbound Eight Mile. Police said car one began to turn and the cars collided. A witness said the light turned red before car two went into the intersection. The driver of car one was issued a ticket for failing to yield while making a left turn.

STOLEN ITEMS — Five incidents of larceny from motor vehicles were reported to township police last week.

A radar detector was reported stolen from an automobile parked on Woodcreek Blvd. sometime between 11 p.m. and 9:45 a.m. on April 1 and 2. The complainant said unknown persons smashed out the passenger window of his 1984 Pontiac Fiero and took the radar detector off the dash board.

Police said they found a rock inside the car. About $150 in damage was reported.

Approximately $500 in cassette tapes were stolen sometime between 5:30 p.m. and 6:15 a.m. on March 29 and March 30 from a car parked in the north lot of Innsbrook Apartments.

The complainant said unknown persons damaged a cassette deck and stole 50 cassette tapes worth about $10 each. He said he believes that the car was locked, but there were no signs of forced entry.

Over $130 in car parts were stolen from a 1978 Camaro parked on Dunswood sometime between March 25 and March 27.

The complainant said unknown persons stole three hubcaps, a headlight ring and the grille from his car while it was parked on the street.

The complainant said the hubcaps may have been stolen during the early morning hours.

A portable phone worth over $440 was stolen from a 1984 Dodge Caravan parked on Laraugh sometime between 5:30 p.m. and 7:30 a.m. on March 27 and March 28.

The complainant said unknown persons unlocked the car and took the phone, which was plugged into the car's lighter. He added the phone was in a shoulder bag between the seats.

A $100 radar detector was stolen from a car parked on Hayes Court sometime between 10 and 12 p.m. on April 1 and April 2. The complainant said unknown persons entered her unlocked car and stole the radar.

SAIL STOLEN — A white Dacron sail was stolen from a trailer some time during the winter, a city police report said.

The theft of the Smythe Prindle sail was discovered March 27, the report said. The trailer was parked on Wing Street, but the theft may have taken place while the trailer was away from home.

The sail was valued at $1,000.

BIKE FOUND — Another found bicycle has been turned in to Northville city police.

The Ross girl's bike was found on the north side of the Shopping Center Market building on N. Center street. It had been sitting there for two or three days before it was turned in, according to a police report.

The bike is at the city police station for the owner to claim.

RADAR DETECTOR STOLEN — A car parked at a Taft Road home had a radar detector stolen Sunday morning, according to a city police report.

The car was found with a window smashed and the door still locked. A Cobra Trapsnooter radar detector was missing. The theft occurred between 2:30 and 11 a.m. Sunday.

The radar detector was valued at $180; damage was set at $150.

SHOPLIFTER CAUGHT — A Novi resident pleaded guilty to shoplifting last week after being caught with two pepperoni sausages stolen from Shopping Center Market.

A manager at the store saw the man put two sausages inside his jacket and then leave the store around 2:20 p.m. Monday, March 27. The manager followed the man and stopped him just outside the door, a police report said.

The next day, the man pled guilty before a magistrate and was sentenced to probation by 35th District Court Judge John MacDonald. The food was valued at $3.98.

WALLET GONE — A wallet apparently dropped at Northville Downs was picked up by someone and carried away, according to a city police report.

Around 10:15 p.m. Monday, March 27, a woman saw a man pick a wallet off the floor and leave with it. The wallet belonged to a different man, who told police there was about $500 in it, the report said.

HIGH-WIRE HEIST — Over $200 worth of electrical wire was stolen from the Country Club Village construction site sometime between 5 p.m. and 7 a.m. on Feb. 25 and Feb. 26, according to a March 29 township police report.

The development site is located on Country Knoll, south of Six Mile Road.

The complainant, an employee of Detroit Edison, said unknown persons stole 2,500 feet of rolled primary cable from the construction site.

MAIN STREET ACCIDENT — A distracted driver left the road and drove up onto the traffic island holding the Main Street clock last week, according to a city police report.

The driver, a Madison Heights resident, was driving east on Main Street at around 10 p.m. Tuesday, March 28, when he turned to look in the back seat, the report said. One passenger warned the driver, but not in time to stop the car from hitting the traffic island.

The driver and passengers were taken to Providence Hospital Novi Center for treatment.

EIGHT MILE ACCIDENTS — City police reported two accidents on Eight Mile in the past few days, with no injuries reported in either one.

In the first incident, a Plymouth resident was trying to cross Eight Mile on Grace at about 3 p.m. Tuesday, March 28, a report said. The driver's view of Eight Mile traffic was blocked by a line of cars waiting to turn from Eight Mile left onto Center, the report said. The driver drove out into the path of another car and was hit.

The Grace driver was ticketed for failure to yield.

The second accident took place at 6:05 p.m. Sunday. A Northville resident driving at Eight Mile and Lanthorn did not yield the right of way at a stop sign and hit another driver, the report said. The first driver was ticketed.

DRUNK DRIVING ROUNDUP — At least four people were arrested for operating a motor vehicle under the influence of liquor (OUIL) by township and city police over the past week. Incidents included:

A Whitmore Lake resident was ticketed on Saturday, April 1 at 5 a.m. by township police. While on patrol on northbound Haggerty, police said they were preparing to turn left onto Eight Mile and saw a car parked in the through lane on westbound Eight Mile, just east of Haggerty. Police said they turned on a spotlight and the car started and drove westbound on Eight Mile. Police stopped the car on Eight Mile just west of Haggerty. Police said they detected a strong odor of alcohol coming from the subject. After failing two of three field sobriety tests, the subject refused to take a preliminary breath test or a chemical blood test. The driver was ticketed for OUIL, held in jail and released on $100 bond. She faces a May 4, 9 a.m. 35th district court date.

City police ticketed a Livonia resident just before midnight Saturday after seeing the driver make a left turn from the wrong lane on S. Main to Seven Mile Road. The driver had trouble with field sobriety tests and was taken to the police station, where two tests showed a blood alcohol level of .10 — exactly the level considered OUIL in Michigan. The driver faces a May 1 court date.

A Redford resident was ticketed for OUIL at 9:30 p.m. Thursday after police stopped the car for speeding on S. Main. Tests showed a blood alcohol level of .13 percent. An April 27 court date was set.

Church ordinance slated for discussion in hearing

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

An ordinance addressing the height and size of churches is slowly but surely inching its way into Northville Township's zoning ordinance.

Following a lengthy discussion on the subject of front-yard parking and height limitations for churches — which produced no firm resolutions — the township planning commission scheduled a public hearing for Tuesday, April 25 at 7 p.m. to discuss only one segment of the ordinance.

Commissioners voted to hold a hearing on the last paragraph of the church ordinance, which would shift control on the placement of walls and berms from the zoning board of appeals (ZBA) to the planning commission.

Specifically, in the ordinance amendment the planning commission would gain the power to waive or modify a required wall or berm for a new development.

Township Planning Director Carol Henry said the ZBA currently has the power to waive or modify berm requirements, but only if developers can prove a hardship.

She noted the ordinance amendment would give the planning commission the ability to waive or modify the restriction without the need for a developer to prove a hardship.

"This is really a matter of aesthetics," Henry said. "The planning commission would now be able to determine how a wall or berm would effect the aesthetics of a site, before deciding if it is necessary."

She added this ordinance amendment would apply to all walls or berms located on a site. The ordinance proposes that the waiver would be granted for a 12 month period.

Before deciding to hold a public hearing on berm waivers, commissioners debated at length on many other issues related to the church ordinance.

The most heated debate between planners came during a discussion on off-street and front-yard parking for churches.

In a rough draft of the ordinance presented to commissioners, Township Planning Consultant Claude Coates included a provision whereby the planning commission could allow for front and side yard parking.

A majority of planners said they favored leaving the ordinance regarding front-yard parking as it is now, with the zoning board of appeals deciding whether it can be used on a site.

"I am in favor of no front-yard parking," said Commissioner Pat Wright. "And if a developer has a problem he can go before the ZBA to make it aesthetically pleasing."

Commissioner Richard Allen said if planners allow front-yard parking in a certain area "then we'll have people trying to make it fit."

Planner John Leinonen said he "does not buy into" Allen's theory, and said he favored giving the planning commission power to allow front-yard parking.

Commissioner Larry Sheehan said he agreed with Leinonen and added he would like to have more control over where front-yard parking is allowed.

In spite of the objections voiced by Leinonen and Sheehan, Coates was instructed by Commissioner Vice-chairman Karen Woodside, who chaired the meeting, to delete the front-yard parking section from the ordinance.

Finally, commissioners discussed height limitations for churches and how roofs should be measured.

Previously Coates had been instructed by the commission to set the height limit at 48 feet based on a formula for figuring out the average height of the church.

However, the majority of commissioners said churches should be measured from the top of the building to the ground without using an average height formula.

"I said I think the height of church buildings should be 50 feet period," Allen said. "I think we should forget the building's height average."

Planners said they chose 48 feet as a limit because the township fire department is not equipped to fight fires in buildings over four stories in height.

"We have to satisfy the health, safety and welfare of our community and in this situation I think the limit should be 48 feet with no average," Woodside said.

Leinonen disagreed with Woodside and indicated he is in favor of using an average formula with respect to church height.

Planners consider increasing meetings

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

Large agendas and long hours have prompted the Township Planning Commission to investigate the possibility of having two regular meetings per month, instead of its usual one.

After wading through a long agenda at their meeting on Tuesday, March 28 — which included eight site plan reviews — Commissioner Larry Sheehan brought up the issue of instituting a second meeting.

Sheehan said his suggestion for two meetings was made in part because the commission had to postpone action on reviewing a site plan submitted by Ward Presbyterian Church, due the length of the agenda.

Sheehan said tabling plans because of time constraints is unfair to both developers and residents who are interested in speaking on a particular project.

Commissioner Pat Wright said she does not think it is fair for either planners or developers to have plans reviewed after 10:30 p.m.

Township Planning Director Carol Henry said the clerk's office has suggested that either the first Tuesday or Wednesday of the month be designated as the alternate planning commission meeting day.

Henry said the commission will have to decide which date will be most convenient, but she added she would like to see the meeting dates spread out a little more.

The planning commission currently meets on every fourth Tuesday of the month.

She said the clerk's office suggested the dates only on the basis of availability of the township meeting room.

Planners were scheduled to discuss the issue of bi-monthly meetings at a special meeting last night, after Record deadline, Henry said. She added the commission will still have to determine how to divide the agendas, if a bi-monthly meeting schedule is adopted.

According to Henry, adding a second meeting is almost a necessity with the heavy agendas that have come before planners within the last year.

"I don't think there is a choice about having a second meeting because we can't be here all night," Henry said. "Since I started here a year ago, there has probably been only one month when a second meeting has not been set. So, I think this only gives a formal date for a second meeting."

Providence Center receives approval

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

Plans to build a therapeutic center at Our Lady of Providence Center need only engineering and construction permits, following final site plan approval by the Township Planning Commission on March 28.

The center — which is located on Beck Road between Six Mile and Phoenix roads — operates as an educational and care facility for the mentally handicapped. It primarily serves young girls, although some boys are involved with the program.

The therapeutic building, scheduled to be built behind the school on the southern portion of the property, will include a one story pool and gymnasium.

Several issues on the preliminary plan which needed revision were addressed on the final plan, according to Township Planning Consultant Claude Coates.

One matter Coates identified as needing revision was the addition of 4½-foot wall behind the therapeutic building. No wall was shown on the preliminary plan.

"The intent of the wall is to shield the entire parking area and roadway of the building," Coates said, adding the wall would need to be about 300 feet long.

Instead of installing a wall, representatives from the center decided to move the building north about 30 feet and proposed a berm.

Coates said the berm may be used as a buffer between the parking area and the residential district to the south.

He added the minimum height required is 4 feet, 6 inches, and the berm is proposed to be five feet from the parking surface.

Before granting final approval though, planners discussed whether a road loop needed to be installed around the Center — primarily to insure hydrant access for fire trucks.

"It was the fire department's understanding that a fire department access drive would be around the complete building," Assistant Township Fire Chief Rick Rosselle brought out in a letter to the commission.

Township Engineering Consultant Don Weaver said there are two hydrants on the property — one on the north end and one on the south — with access already available to both.

Providence representative Sister Theresa Tamburo said a playground area made from asphalt, breaks across the existing driveway.

She added that emergency vehicles could use the playground for access to the hydrants if the need arose.

Weaver said the objective is to have fire trucks back up to hydrants and allow the hose to be hooked up to the hydrant and unwound from the truck.

"If the fire truck can back up to the hydrant, then I don't see a problem," Weaver said.

The commission approved the plan with the stipulation that fire trucks can drive over and through the blacktop to get to the hydrants.

St. Leo's church in Detroit

A man leaves the church after lunch

Right, OLV volunteer Erina VanDerwouw, with Marcia Greiner and Bob Dunn, serve lunch. Far right, Nancy Ziro chats while helping.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

STORY BY BOB NEEDHAM/PHOTOS BY ANN WILLIS

The parishioners of Our Lady of Victory know perfectly well that working one day a month in a Detroit soup kitchen is not going to solve the problems of hunger and homelessness.

It is, however, going to help.

That philosophy is summed up in the parishioners' aprons proclaiming "you do what you can," with a symbolic sparrow on its back.

The ideal has led to a continuing commitment to St. Leo's Soup Kitchen in Detroit. One Saturday each month, about 15 members of Our Lady of Victory in Northville go down to work at the kitchen, making lunch, serving and cleaning up.

And on one recent Saturday, the parishioners and the diners celebrated a full year of Our Lady of Victory's involvement with the kitchen.

The occasion meant a special cake donated by Edwards Caterer. It also, coincidentally, meant the delivery of clothing and a wealth of other items collected in Northville as a special lenten project.

A typical day for Our Lady of Victory sees around 250 people served. OLV works at the kitchen on the third Saturday of each month, which means they get some of the bigger crowds — food stamps run out toward the end of the month, St. Leo's Sister Mary Ellen explained.

On this day, the menu is chili dogs, an obvious favorite of some of the diners. For the most part, they receive the food graciously, maybe with a trace of embarrassment. Even when the hot dogs and side dishes start to run out, toward the end of the line, most are still thankful to get the chili and bun.

Farmington's Our Lady of Sorrows parish and Our Lady of Victory were the first two to start weekend help at the soup kitchen, the sister explained. In the past year participation has increased so that a meal can be served on every Saturday — something which was never possible before.

"It's just marvelous. The meal is served well," the sister said. "They (suburban volunteers) come with a whole dynamic outreach that is very uplifting for our people."

The OLV parishioners involved in the effort at St. Leo's care deeply about what they are doing, and find a real satisfaction in their involvement.

"We consider volunteerism the rent we pay for our space on earth," said OLV parishioner Bob Dunn, who has been working with his wife at St. Leo's for the past five months. "It's something that's very gratifying about being able to help . . . It's the least I can do for the blessings I've had in my life."

Don Sherman, a 20-year Northville resident, started participating in the project at St. Leo's after his recent retirement.

"That was one of my sort of extracurricular activities I wanted to get into, doing something like this. I think it's just tremendous, what these people are doing," he said. "There's no question it's a vitally needed thing for the community. I don't know what some of these people would do, if not for this."

Mary Dupuis, active in many church activities, has been working at St. Leo's since the start of the program. She is doing what she can, and she gets a lot out of it.

"I love it," she said. "I do a lot of the cooking — and seeing people who are hungry, and putting that food in their mouth —" she trails off with a smile.

The real reward, she said, comes when "somebody will stick his head in the window and say, 'Thank you so much for that meal.'"

It's not always easy, though. "Unless you do it in a prayerful manner and keep a prayerful perspective, you can lose heart," said Sharon Buell, who coordinates the trips with her husband Alan.

She said her ideas about charity crystallized overseas when she learned about the poor. "Poor people aren't necessarily that way because they choose to be or they're lazy," she said.

On returning, they became involved with Our Lady of Victory's adopt-a-family program.

"I felt we weren't doing enough as a parish," she said. "I see this as a very basic thing. I think there's a lot more we as an affluent community (can do)."

And Northville's involvement extends beyond the church. Edwards Caterer donates food regularly, and Guernsey Farms Dairy has given ice cream. On one recent day, the manager of TCBY Yogurt in Novi drove a whole load down on her own.

"I think our community here is a very caring community — not just Our Lady of Victory," Sharon Buell said. "Everybody wants to do what's right . . . I think a lot of times it's just finding the way."

Business seeks tax break

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

A tax exemption for a building addition to the Belanger Industrial Park will be the focus of a public hearing before the Northville Township Board on Thursday, April 13 at 6:15 p.m.

Township Supervisor Georgina Goss said a building already existing on the site, located on Doherty St., received a 12-year tax exemption in 1985.

Goss said James Belanger, who is the facility's proprietor, is requesting a 12-year, 50 percent tax exemption for the new building.

She noted tax exemptions for industrial facilities falls under Michigan Act 198 of 1974, which defines and sets guidelines for the rules regarding tax exemptions.

"We allow tax exemptions to encourage high volume capital expenditures," Goss said. "Industrial facilities retain employment and increases tax collections from over the highest level of economic activity."

The existing Belanger facility is worth about $1.8 million and manufactures car wash equipment. The new facility will also make car wash equipment and cost about $865,000.

Officials from Belanger Inc. could not be reached for comment.

The application for the new tax exemption showed that 158 persons are currently employed at Belanger and 20 more people would be hired to work in the new facility.

It could not be determined how many of Belanger's employees live in Northville Township.

According to figures released by township assessor John McClenaghan, the new building would be taxed — at 1988 millage rates — about $17,356 if the exemption is approved. The full rate would be about $34,712.

For personal property, taxes would amount to about $8,112 at 1988 millage rates, or one-half the full rate of $16,224.

McClenaghan's figures show further that over a 12-year period, Belanger will pay about $114,246 in overall taxes on his site, earning a savings of about $114,246.

The above savings over the 12-year period includes an average depreciation rate on personal property of about 50 percent.

Group home license not issued yet, but lease is approved

By BOB NEEDHAM

On the first day a license could legally be issued to a proposed group home on Lexington Boulevard, the state official in charge of licensing said a decision would probably not come for a couple of weeks.

But on the very same day, the state administrative board approved a lease for the facility.

Jim Quigley, director of adult foster care licensing for the state's department of social services (DSS), said Tuesday morning that no decision had been made on a license application for 20415 Lexington Boulevard. He said it would probably be at least "a couple of weeks" before a license might be issued.

Quigley had no other comment on the application. A 45-day waiting period is required between the time a municipality is notified of a license application, and the earliest time the license may be issued. The waiting period ended Monday.

However, the project moved ahead on a different front Tuesday with the approval of a lease for the facility.

Ron Abramovich, president of the Lexington Commons Association, appeared before the state administrative board in Lansing to oppose the approval of the lease. He argued that the lease price ($2,088 per month) was higher than fair market value; that the home would create extra costs through barrier-free design and the fact that it will house only four people; and that it would create a reduced quality of life for both the residents of the home and the taxpayers.

Carolyn Abramovich, Ron Abramovich's wife, said Wednesday that the association concerns received no apparent consideration from the members of the board.

Carolyn Abramovich said the association might now concentrate on opposing the issuance of the license.

If the license is approved, New Outlook, Inc. plans to operate an adult foster care group home for four adults with developmental disabilities. The plan sparked strong opposition from residents and the Northville City Council.

There are currently no group homes operating in the city, although there are two in Northville Township and six in Novi. Some of the opposition to the home has been based on the number of state care facilities in the Northville community, including the state hospital on Seven Mile, Hawthorn Center on Haggerty and the three prisons on Five Mile.

Developmental disabilities include mental retardation, cerebral palsy, epilepsy and autism.

Zoning of county land is discussed by planners

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

Only 24 hours after declaring the project back on track, a Wayne County official met with the Township Planning Commission Tuesday, March 28, to discuss the future zoning of the 1,040 acres of county-owned land in the township.

Following a brief introduction into the issue by county business developer Bill Wild, the commission voted to hold a special meeting on Tuesday, May 2 at 7:30 p.m. to discuss the zoning concept.

Planner Karen Woodside, who chaired the meeting in the absence of Commission Chairman Charles DeLand, said commissioners need the extra time to "reacquaint themselves with the project."

Woodside said planners should go through the past records and information concerning the project before discussing the issue with county officials.

Meanwhile, in a letter to the commission, Wild said the county is requesting the township to consider adding a Planned Unit Development (PUD) classification to its zoning ordinance for application to the county property.

"The PUD would allow a mixture of uses and flexibility of design to achieve the best overall development of the site," Wild said, adding it would also provide the Township with a means for "assuring total site use in conformance with an approved plan for development."

The majority of the county-owned property is currently zoned residential (R-2 and R-3) with the master plan calling for a portion of the site to be research/development and another portion to be institutional/governmental use.

Wild said the county is considering developing the property in stages over a period of years. He said development of the parcel will likely involve many land uses.

"It is envisioned that a master planned development for the site would incorporate residential, commercial, light industrial and office elements," Wild noted.

Forward movement on the project started again on Monday, March 27, when county officials decided to withdraw their request from the Wayne County commission for $300,000 in consultants fees.

Deputy County Executive Michael Duggan said the $300,000 request, which was slated to be used to complete testing on wetlands, soil borings, financial analysis and legal fees, will be handled by their "in-house" staff.

Duggan said earlier that the county has decided to move ahead with the project because "the real estate market is getting worse and if the project is not developed now, the property will not be on the tax rolls until the 1990s."

Sale said to be on schedule

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

After deciding to withdraw their request for a $300,000 budget proposal last week, Wayne County Deputy Executive Michael Duggan said the county-owned land deal is back on schedule.

"The requests for proposals (RFP) will be sent to developers this week," Duggan said, adding the project should meet the previously mentioned July deadline.

According to the county's schedule for selling the property to developers, the next step following the mailing of the RFPs is for the county to hold a bidders conference to explain and clarify the RFP.

Next, the county will give developers 60 days to submit detailed proposals. Duggan said each proposal will have to be accompanied by a $25,000 deposit "so developers can show their interest in the project."

Developers will be asked to provide proposals that maximize financial returns to the county through, among other things, a long term joint development with the county.

The county will then begin to evaluate proposals from developers.

Duggan said the county has made no decision at this time on whether it will pursue a joint venture with any of the 12 potential developers.

The next steps include interviews with developers, narrowing the list of developers from 12 to four or two. Further requests for additional information from the selected developers will be made and then the county will receive the amended proposals from developers.

The final two steps in the schedule call for the county to make a final selection of a developer and sign a letter of intent and for the proposed development contract to be approved by the Wayne County Commission.

Sports Creek race fixing has no apparent local ties

By BOB NEEDHAM

A continuing investigation of harness-race fixing at Sports Creek Raceway has no apparent connection to Northville Downs, but anything could conceivably turn up, state racing officials said recently.

Deputy Racing Commissioner Barbara MacKenzie said last week that there was no reason to think the Sports Creek investigation had anything to do with any activity in Northville. However, she added, "As we pursue some of the leads we've gotten further, it may well extend into the Northville area."

MacKenzie could not be reached for further comment this week. But state Director of Racing Operations Jim Wright said Tuesday there are still a lot of things to follow up in the investigation.

"We're continuing the investigation at Sports Creek. The people who participated at Sports Creek participated at other tracks," Wright said. "I can't say we have a specific investigation of Northville Downs by any means."

Wright said he did not know if the three owner / driver / trainers who admitted to race fixing at Sports Creek had ever raced at Northville. "I would assume that they have at some time or other," he said. "I can't say specifically ... They might have."

However, Northville Downs Executive Manager Lou Carlo said he did not know of any race activity at Northville by any of the three.

Sixteen people have been suspended from Michigan tracks as a result of the Sports Creek incident, which involved three owner / driver / trainers betting against their own horses in one race. That single race is the base of the investigation, but it may extend further, Wright explained.

"They told us they did it. This isn't speculation," he said. "They have also told us about other people's part and about other races ... We have not proven those. It's in the investigation stage."

He said the allegations they have heard about other races have so far only concerned Sports Creek.

"We're really right in the middle of it right now. We're not close to the end," Wright said.

Carlo said the race fixing problem exists, but may not be very extensive.

"I don't think it's a very big problem at all," he said. "I've been around this game 35 years. There's been ... these problems, in the 35 years, everywhere. But not day in, day out."

He compared it to steroid use by athletes, saying who can know for sure how many are users.

In any case, the scandal harms the industry, Carlo said. "You've got to do something about it, and you've got to put up with it. You've got to fight it if you can," he said.

The Northville Downs season ended Saturday night. The Jackson at Northville season is scheduled to start back up in October.

City hikes fees for permits

A set of higher fees for building permits was approved by the Northville City Council Monday.

The extensive overhaul of permit fees was recommended by City Manager Steve Walters after a comparison with fees in Northville Township, Plymouth, Plymouth Township and Livonia. Walters said Northville's last increase was about three years ago, and rising costs have made some increase necessary.

Under the new structure, the minimum permit fee is $25, up from $15, for the first $1,000 in value. The fee stays at $7 for every additional $1,000 of value. A temporary certificate of occupancy rises from $20 to $50.

In addition to these basic rates, the council approved increases for a host of other city permits including plan reviews, engineering, special inspections, refrigeration, plumbing, electrical work, and heating work.

The new fee structure passed the council 5-0 with almost no discussion.

Among the other increases are:

- The minimum for plan reviews on commercial and industrial projects goes from $100 to $150.
- Residential plan review goes from $50 to $100, but stays at $25 for additions and alterations.
- Engineering fees, instead of ranging from $60 to $100, now range from $75 to $200.
- Temporary permit for a trailer or building used in construction goes from $50 to $150.
- Performance demolition bond, from $500 to $1,000.
- Installation of a new plumbing fixture goes from $20 to $30.

Our Lady of Victory parishioners do what they can

St. Leo's is probably a good way. Sister Mary Ellen said volunteers and donations are vital to the survival of the soup kitchen. And the soup kitchen itself is vital.

Open since 1973, St. Leo's started out serving around 30 or 40 people. Now, the crowds approach 300 at the end of the month nears.

The donations of goods is particularly important, the sister said — things like clothing, toilet paper and Kleenex; "things that they cannot buy with their food stamps." There are organized charities which supply these types of donations to families, but most of the soup kitchen's customers are alone and may not have another resource.

The soup kitchen also appreciates monthly collections of money, since donations account for about half the kitchen's funding. Government money provides the rest.

"It's very helpful. I always say without that, we would not be able to buy meat on a regular basis. Rarely," she said.

The volunteers from Our Lady of Victory recently got new red aprons to wear at St. Leo's. They show a sparrow with its feet pointing to the sky, and the bird symbolizes the attitude of the volunteers.

It comes from a Sufi legend about a warrior who meets a sparrow in such a position. The sparrow explains that he heard the sky might fall down, and he's helping to hold it up. The warrior laughs mightily, pointing out the little bird could hardly make any difference with his tiny legs. The sparrow responds, "well, you do what you can."

Sharon Buell said that's the basic idea. Hunger and homelessness are not going to disappear because of one day each month spent volunteering. She concluded: "You're going to hear people say this isn't solving the problem, and it isn't. But we're doing what we can."

Anyone wishing to donate may contact St. Leo Soup Kitchen, 4860 15th Street, Detroit, MI, 48208.

8. REGULATION OF CHILD CARE ORGANIZATIONS:

Manager Walters advised Council the Ordinance — Regulation & Operation of Child Care Organizations was a redraft by the City Attorney and would be discussed by the Planning Commission at their hearing tomorrow night. He suggested if the Planning Commission recommended approval to regulate child care by zoning districts, then the Council could call the hearings simultaneously to amend the Zoning Ordinance and City Ordinance to Regulate the Registration and Operation of Child Care Organizations.

Mayor Johnson formally requested the City Manager oppose S.B. 177 by contacting the committee and Senators Geake and Faxon and Representatives Law and Bullard.

9. SIGN ORDINANCE — PLANNING COMMISSION RECOMMENDATION:

Manager Walters stated the Planning Commission has revised the sign ordinance over the past year and a half, but it has not been reviewed by the Historic District Commission.

Councilman Mittman requested because of the major impact the sign ordinance may have on the future aesthetic appearance of Northville that the Council hold a special meeting before taking action.

Planners OK new subdivision

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

There may soon be 174 more homes built in Northville Township following unanimous final plat approval by the planning commission at its March 28 meeting.

The subdivision, Crestwood Manor, will be located at Six Mile Road between Sheldon and Beck roads. Plans call for 174 single-family homes to be built on 114.5 acres.

In addition, Biltmore Properties, the development company is proposing approximately 17 acres of open space for the site.

Township Planning Consultant Claude Coates said the plan has been revised since it received preliminary plat approval last November, to remedy some minor lot size problems.

While making his report to commissioners, Coates said the developer still needs to submit a revised open space plat to comply with the lot changes.

Coates noted however, that he does not think the overall new open space plan will change drastically from the previous one submitted by developers.

Finally, Coates said one storm drain has been removed from the rear of two lots, because the drain would have potentially disrupted the site's existing woodland.

Township Engineering Consultant Don Weaver said he had no new comments with respect to the site, but noted the developer has applied for a sewer construction permit from the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

As a side note, a letter submitted to commissioners by Township Fire Chief Robert Toms suggested that the proposed names of four streets in the subdivision should be changed due to similarities with existing streets.

Andy Coden, who represented Biltmore Properties at the meeting, said developers will change the proposed names to comply with the fire chief's recommendation.

Planners then approved the plat with the conditions that a revised open space plan be submitted and that four new street names are chosen

Waterford condo project gains final site approval

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

With very little opposition from area residents, the Township Planning Commission approved a final site plan for a new cluster development to be located across the street from Meads Mill Middle School.

The preliminary site plan, submitted by Rymarz Development Co., was recently approved by the township board despite heavy opposition from residents in previous meetings.

Township Planning Consultant Claude Coates said the plan submitted by developer Roger Rymarz, is nearly identical to the preliminary plan which the commission approved on Feb. 28.

Six unit condominiums are proposed for the two-acre triangular piece of land located at Six Mile and Waterford roads. Floor area of the condos will be about 2,800 square.

Despite granting approval for the plan, commissioners decided to include the condition that they must receive and approve of a revised landscape plan for the site before building permits can be issued.

Planner Richard Allen, who made the motion for this condition, said the current landscape plan for the site is sparse "and I question if it is being done by a landscape architect."

"I am disappointed if you are intending to put in high priced homes that are poorly landscaped," Allen said. "You've got pretty pictures on your plans, but nothing on the site plan to back it up."

Before voting to approve the project, Allen made a motion to table the plan until Rymarz submitted a revised landscape plan.

Project architect David Schaff said that his client will comply with the commission's wishes and added a move to table could kill the condo development.

"He (Rymarz) has an option that will run out if the matter is tabled," Schaff said. "We feel we can handle the landscape concerns that Mr. Allen has brought up. We also feel we have all the commission's concerns and want a ruling on that."

Rymarz said he is willing to put in more evergreen trees if the commission deems it necessary. "I don't want to skip on landscaping and I will comply with whatever the commission wants."

After further consideration Allen decided to withdraw his motion to table the project and instead made a motion to approve the plan with conditions.

Rymarz noted the landscape stipulation on his site plan approval will not preclude him from closing the deal and buying the property.

He said he needed to receive final approval from the planning commission by March 31 to exercise his option to buy the land.

"I feel what's happening is that we are close enough to see daylight and I will be closing the deal on Friday (March 31)," Rymarz said.

Meanwhile, Allen said the issue of paving Waterford Road, which has been a controversial one, is completely dead for now.

"The condition of Waterford Road will remain the same until the schools agree to pay for some of it,"

Allen said.

At the township board meeting on March 20, Northville Schools Superintendent George Bell said he would recommend to the school board that they do not participate in the paving of Waterford.

Planners also discussed the width of the island driveway on the final plan.

Schaff said Wayne County has approved the geometry for a 25 foot entrance, but added the developer would provide a driveway that is either 15, 20 or 25 feet wide.

After a lengthy debate, commissioners and Rymarz agreed on a 25 foot entrance and a 20 foot interior drive. The driveway will be one-way only. The dimensions will allow a wide entrance and allow the island to be large enough to landscape, planners said.

The project will be called Benton's Corner, and Rymarz said the condos will be in the $250,000 range. He added he hopes to begin construction on the project by May, although the economy could dictate when the project begins.

He said if approval for the plans could have gone smoother at the planning commission and board level he could have begun construction by now.

"It may hurt my project a little to be building in the summertime because the real estate market is at its best in the spring and early summer," Rymarz said.

"I'll probably put up one model to start with and get the grading and utility lines laid for the others, then see what the market is like," he added.

Students offered local scholarship

One of the largest local scholarships being offered to Northville high school seniors preparing for college, is the annual Northville Branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association scholarship.

Two, $1,000 scholarships are given yearly to senior high school students seeking to study horticultural, conservation or ecology classes at the college level.

Applications for the scholarships are available at the Northville high school counselors' offices. Students who are Northville residents but attend other high schools may receive applications by calling Patricia Nolan at 349-0446.

The deadline for returning completed applications is April 20.

BRITISH BLUE says:

People keep asking me "what's funny in the decorating business today?"

Well, OK! Maybe one person asked me that. After thinking about the question for almost two seconds, I decided the most hilarious and tragic thing in the decorating business today is the pricing of mini blinds and vertical blinds. Now if you need a good laugh (and a good disappointment) think about what is going on. There are retail stores out there actually advertising up to 80% off these products. Now if the manufacturer supplies a blind to the retailer for say...$10.00 at cost, what is a fair and reasonable markup? Years ago the blind was marked up to $20.00. The retail store had overhead, salaries and other expenses to cover so if the blind could be sold for $20.00 he might be able make a living. However, some sharp business people found they could discount the blind, say 20%, increase volume and make the same money, maybe a little more depending on the volume increase. Now if today's retail store could discount up to 80% off the blind, the sale price to you would be $4.00 and the store would have to pay, out of it's own pocket $6.00 to cover the manufacturers cost of $10.00. Sound a little strange??? Now let us assume that the retail store wants to sell the blind for $20.00 but make you think that you're getting an 80% discount. What would they have to markup the blind to discount it to $20.00?

THAT'S RIGHT...YOUR $20.00 BLIND IS MARKED UP TO $100.00. Now if you race down to the store to take advantage of that 80% discount you are still paying the full $20.00 REAL price but you're saving $80.00 imaginary money. Whoopeee!! When shopping for anything ask for THE WALLET PRICE. How much of your money is going to leave your Wallet for the product or service in question. Of course if you still "just have to have" a big discount then call me, I got some swamp land in the Yukon at an incredible 95% discount.

(The Better Business Bureau is now investigating the advertising practices of certain window treatment retailers in the Detroit area.)

EMERSON

Greg Presley talks to members of the planning committee for the Victorian Festival.

Record/CHRIS BOYD

Volunteers are sought for Victorian Festival work

Planning for the first Northville Victorian Festival is continuing with the recent establishment of several committees to organize the event.

Northville Community Chamber of Commerce Executive Director Laurie Marrs said that the festival's steering committee is continuing to meet, along with several other committees concentrating on certain aspects of the festival. The committees include art, romance and history; decorating; food and fundraising; quality control; and research. The Northville Arts Commission is also playing a major role with its Artmarket and other contributions.

"We want it all to be very Victorian and very authentic," Marrs said, and that's going to be the job of the quality control committee. "It will not be glitzy in any way."

The organizers are seeking volunteers — both groups and individuals — to take charge of events and to serve on the committees. Anyone interested can call Marrs at 349-7640.

The festival is set for Sept. 15-17, and activities are already starting to take shape.

One new idea is a photo scavenger hunt, in which photos of Northville are donated and the challenge is to see who can identify them, Marrs said.

A consignment antique show, a costume contest, a Victorian ball, a crowning of a king and queen, a Sunday afternoon picnic and many other events are planned for the festival.

Response so far has been good, Marrs said, but "we're still looking for more." Individual volunteers are welcome, but the organizers especially would like groups and clubs to come forward and take charge of individual festival happenings.

The steering committee plans to continue meeting weekly to work out the details of the festival.

City recycling is planned

waste and combine it with the DNR's, and take it all to the Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital on Seven Mile. A state government service will pick up the paper at the hospital and take it to Lansing for processing.

• Planned collection of separated newspapers from the Allen Terrace senior housing complex. Mapes was hoping this could start this week.

• Possible purchase of a 1,000-gallon underground tank for used oil. The DPW currently accepts waste oil into a 250-gallon above-ground tank, but Mapes recommended the bigger tank because of expected increased use. "It's going to increase as we talk this up more and more," Mapes said. "It's growing, so we really need to get prepared to handle it."

• Eventually instituting separate collection of grass clippings, possibly for a composting program. "The grass collection certainly is something we need to do," Mapes said, although there are no set answers on how it might work. "Papers and grass are the two biggest items."

• Expanding the city's leaf collection program, possibly sending the leaves to a full composting program. Talks with the City of Plymouth on a joint composting venture are looking less positive, Mapes said, since "they're not fully prepared to do the type of job that's required" — just dumping the leaves rather than building a full composting facility.

• Delaying the purchase of a trash compactor for the DPW yard, a $35,000 item in the current fiscal year budget. City Manager Steve Walters recommends the delay because of an uncertain effect of the compactor. One reason the purchase was recommended was to reduce the volume of landfill trash by compacting it; but different rates for compacted and loose trash may remove any financial advantage, Walters said.

• A program to educate residents on the need for recycling. Mapes said one way to start this would be through hand-outs at the DPW yard, as well as through the schools.

• Start planning a way to implement recycling into the general refuse collection system, with separation of types of garbage at each household. Walters said this would be the next logical step in reducing landfilling. The council should look at this during the upcoming budget review sessions, he recommended, since waste disposal is the single biggest problem in the next budget (see related story).

• Taking brush to a composting facility at some point.

In his memo and remarks to the council, Mapes emphasized the need for a full city commitment to a recycling program — especially since the recycling will not pay for itself.

"I don't think it's cost effective. I don't think we're going to find many things in here that's cost effective, really," he said. Walters said the cost is the reason the city should limit participation to city residents.

"I feel the goal of recycling for the City of Northville is a difficult but achievable goal and one the city should support. It is not, however, a goal that the city should enter into lightly as it will require an extensive, permanent commitment of expanded staff and budgets: shortcoming the program will doom it to failure," Mapes' memo reads in part.

The council approved the first step — buying the recycling container — 5-0, with several favorable comments on the set of recommendations. "I think we ought to give our residents a chance to do what they can do," Mayor Pro Tem Carolann Ayers said.

Mapes' memo reads, "A successful recycling program requires extensive and continuing cooperation between residents and government. Without this ongoing partnership, the program cannot be expected to reach or stay at its maximum potential. In order to ensure maximum participation in recycling, the program must be designed to minimize the inconvenience to homeowners and businesses."

City survey is due Friday

The questionnaire is a five-page form. It asks for some basic personal information and then goes into several sections on attitudes of the residents. The survey responder is asked whether they strongly agree, somewhat agree, have no opinion, somewhat disagree, or strongly disagree, with a series of statements.

The statements cover types of housing in the city, types of commercial development, the appearance of the downtown area, traffic and parking, and parks.

Our Opinions

Ward church petition raises serious questions

Silly us. We always thought a petition was something you had to sign. You know — someone comes to your door or snags you on a streetcorner, you read the statement, decide if you agree, and maybe, if you're feeling daring, you sign your name.

Well, as it turns out, that ain't necessarily so. Ward Presbyterian Church recently sent out a letter to members or people who have been to a service. The letter informs people that their name will go on a petition, unless they take a special post card and mail it in. The people getting the letter had a very short time to respond.

The petition opposes a proposal to place any building restrictions on churches in the township. It's an issue for Ward because they want to build a big, new church in the township to replace their Livonia building.

The merit of the petition is not the issue here. The procedure is.

Apparently there is no law prohibiting this backwards signature method. Maybe there ought to be. But even though it isn't illegal, it's very bush league.

People should never have to make an effort to get their name off of a petition they never signed. And their own church — or maybe just a church they attended one time! — should certainly not put them in such a position.

What makes this situation all the more distressing is the name at the end of the letter: John MacDonald. As a prominent member of the church and former township official, his interest and concern is easy to understand. But as a judge in the 35th District Court, MacDonald should be a little more careful. It strikes us as inappropriate for a judge to be getting involved in this kind of questionable local politics.

This is not the way for an organization to make its concerns known. We hope we don't hear of it again.

Church ordinance plan should move along

The Township Planning Commission is indeed inching along in its review of the proposed church ordinance amendment. While all due care should be exercised in any change to a zoning ordinance, the slow work on this particular amendment is frustrating.

The idea of amending the zoning ordinance regarding churches became a topic of discussion for the commission at the end of January when Ward Presbyterian Church came in, again, with its site plan for preliminary approval. Ward had gained approval two years ago but due to a lack of sewer capacity in the area the approval had run out, as no building had begun.

So the saga began. Commissioners did not like the front yard parking on the plan. They did not like the amount of parking on the plan. They did not like the 10-story size of the proposed building. So the matter was tabled. Meanwhile work began in early February on a change in the church ordinance to regulate things like parking, building size and landscaping.

But it is now April and both the Ward Church site plan review and the church ordinance amendment are still pending. While we see good work being done by the commission on changing the ordinance, specifically limiting the height of churches to 50 actual feet — the height of firefighting equipment in the township — and not allowing front yard parking without ZBA approval, the pace at which things are moving needs to be increased.

The planning commission agendas for the last several months have been heavy. Discussions of the church ordinance amendment have often been moved to future meetings because of packed agendas and a lack of time. Separate study sessions for items such as the church ordinance amendment and the Ward site plan seem to be the way to go. We hope last night's meeting on both issues will begin to move the process toward completion in the very near future.

Good program planned

This is not the first time we have commented on what a good idea frank discussion of drug and alcohol abuse is. We have been strong supporters of the Northville Action Council and all its subsidiaries for some time. The latest community project by the NAC deserves a plug all its own, however.

The five-part series "Are You Concerned — Drug and Alcohol Use and Misuse" begins this Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at Northville High School. Speakers from Henry Ford Hospital, Maple Grove will head up the lectures and discussions, but members of the community will also speak during the programs.

This is an ideal chance for residents to get first-hand facts on how drugs and alcohol effect families, homes, community life, crime statistics and much more. Charles Stulec and Al Qualman, coordinators of the event, are quick to point out that it is not just the family of an abuser that suffers — but rather the whole community.

The series covers a broad range of topics and will do more than just inform participants about the dangers of drug and alcohol abuse — it will also offer ways of dealing with the problem and show where to go for help.

Of particular interest is the final session which will focus in on the community's response to the problem, specifically how the people of Northville plan to become involved.

We support this program with the hope that broad participation by the community will spark good discussions in homes, schools, local government offices and among friends. That kind of involvement and participation will take Northville one step closer to solving one of the biggest crises facing communities today.

Reaping benefits

By Bruce Weintraub

Knowing that my credibility may be at stake, I decided last month to join Northville Youth Assistance (NYA) as a volunteer.

I further decided to let public opinion, with respect to my future objectivity in covering the NYA, move in whatever direction readers believe is correct.

Now, after recently completing the NYA's five-week training course, I am already beginning to reap some benefits from my decision.

Before the training session, I admit that I had some reservations about the program. Besides the credibility issue, my next biggest apprehension was how to work the 15-hour training schedule into my plans each Wednesday.

However, NYA director Mary Ellen King assured me that my time at the session would be well spent. "I've had lots of people tell me how much they enjoyed the training session even though they haven't been assigned a youth," King told me.

With that type of build-up, how could I refuse? So, with my girlfriend Rachel at my side, we went through the training session.

From lectures to discussions to role-playing, the training session — as King assured it would be — gave Rachel and me an excellent discussion on how to talk and relate to kids.

But the session was not limited to dealing with kids. It provided us with ways to better deal with each other and the people around us.

I learned skills such as reflective listening, problem solving and dealing with drug and/or alcohol users.

While all of these skills were meant to help me deal with adolescents, I have found that each and every technique can be used in my daily routine.

For example, session leader Kathy Norris showed the group, which numbered about 15 people, how to divide problem-solving skills into five parts — goal-setting, brainstorming, evaluating, planning and implementation — and use it successfully.

Other skills were equally well presented by Norris, and various guest speakers provided more background into the function and operation of NYA.

Now that the training session is over, I'm not sure whether a youngster will be assigned to me. King said she cannot guarantee that all volunteers will be matched with a youth.

However, after going through the training session, I believe that even if I am never matched (although I really hope I am), attending the training was well worth it.

By participating in NYA, I have gained new insight into how to deal with kids and possibly, more importantly, how the NYA is run.

As a reporter too often I don't get involved in programs that I really think make a profound difference in the community. My association with a subject or issue ends with a story.

I decided to set the NYA apart. I thought — here is an organization I believe in — and if I believe in something, why not be a part of it?

And you know what? It's one of the best decisions I have ever made.

After the fact

By Phil Jerome

In the end, I was glad I owned up to it.

What happened was that I went to get my hair cut last Saturday, which just happened to be April 1. And while I was there, Terry — the young lady who cuts my hair — said, "Hey, Phil. Want me to put some coloring in your hair? For April Fool's Day."

To be honest, I never think of coloring my hair. But to be even more honest, maybe I do. A lot of us guys who are prematurely gray probably think about it on occasion. You know, the old Grecian Formula route.

At any rate, it was April Fool's Day. And Terry assured me she would wash it out immediately if I didn't like it. So I said, "What the heck. Go ahead."

Now I'm not claiming I looked good when she was done. In fact, I felt pretty silly. But I decided to give it a try anyway and left the Hair Affair to go about my business.

First stop — Del's Shoes. "Notice anything different?" I asked Mary Fisher after buying some new shoes. She guessed I had got my hair cut — which was correct, but was surprised when I told her Terry had colored my hair as an April Fool's joke.

"Geez, you look great, Phil," she said. "Keep it."

Next stop — the Starting Gate for a game of Ms. Pac-Man. "Hey, Laurie," I said. "Look at my hair. It's not grey anymore."

"It looks nice," she said. "I hadn't noticed."

Buoyed by my success, I ambled off to Freydl's. Where the same scene repeated itself — except for Mrs. Dresselhouse, the mother of Peggy Dresselhouse Chizmar who I went to school with maybe 10-15 years ago.

"I was too polite to say anything," she said after I had fessed up. "But as soon as you walked out that door I was going to call Peggy and tell her that Phil Jerome is coloring his hair."

Think of a better title, Ben

Prejudice shrouds group home issue

To the Editor:
Naturally, as the Home Developer (from WCLS) of the proposed group home at 2015 Lexington Boulevard, I have been following the articles pertaining to it with great interest.

What has stood out most clearly to me is how the arguments against this home are basically the same as all of the others I have heard since 1983, when I first began developing group homes.

Prejudice is shrouded in all of the arguments about excessive cost of this home, declining property values, excessive concentration of such facilities, increase in crime, staff turnovers, more traffic, etc. In this case, it is prejudice against a group of four developmentally disabled individuals, living in one home, in a neighborhood. This is the real issue.

In 1986, when the first group home was developed in Grosse Pointe Park, the arguments ranged from the Park residents feeling "picked on," to the cost of the home itself. Sometimes, residents of Downriver communities have also argued the cost issue, such as Riverview or Grosse Ile, "Why don't we just develop homes in less expensive areas, such as..."

When group homes are developed in neighborhoods with less expensive housing, these neighbors object that they are being unfairly burdened since they may have several group homes already. Why don't group homes go in more affluent communities, they ask. Why don't those communities share in this responsibility?

Handicapped individuals have a right to live in all types of neighborhoods. When we attempt to circumvent this right through neighborhood associations, scare tactics, politics, and legal maneuverings, we are practicing yet another form of discrimination.

M. Christine Herter

facilities and feel ALL communities should share this responsibility equally. Given the fact that Northville already has no fewer than three facilities that treat and house hundreds of these unfortunately handicapped (e.g. Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital for one), I (we) feel the residents of our area are bearing more than their fair share of this burden without any group homes.

Let's first bring up to speed group homes and group home residents in Grosse Pointe, Birmingham, Bloomfield, Wabek, Troy, Grosse Ile, Farmington Hills etc., all before coming to Northville to get more of these homes or facilities. When these other communities group home and hospital "residents" population versus total community population is equal to ours in Northville, then and only then should Northville be expected to accept another facility.

In a recent experience in our community, the people who proposed to open a group home did not live in our area but in fact lived some 25 miles from here. Why didn't they open their facility in their community? I'll tell you why, because they didn't want it there "next door" to their homes. They didn't want the problems and worry of such a facility. They didn't want the values of their property to decrease. No! They thought they'd open it elsewhere and let someone else deal with those issues but make a tidy profit from our state's subsidies — with our tax dollars. No question, legislation concerning group homes needs to be changed and all "residents" should be counted in the population mix, whether in a "home" or a hospital. Let's all share the burden, the problems equally.

Filing charges

To the Editor:
Re: "Manhole Deaths Need Thorough Investigation"

I totally agree with your editorial, save one thought. The suggestion this unfortunate incident should result in "...the possibility of filing charges..." is irresponsible, in my opinion, on your part.

I admit I am not an expert in law enforcement or even a criminal lawyer (perhaps you are?). However, it seems too often anymore there are those in the world who need to point the finger, to find blame to fix a situation that can't be undone. Unfortunately, accidents do happen. Does any reasonable safety standard exist for skilled tradesmen or laborers to use gas masks in such a situation? If so, who do you find fault with? The workers for failing to follow it? Absent such a standard, what do you blame? A lack of common sense, or practical work experience, or proper training or supervision?

A thorough investigation? Yes, most definitely! Let the facts of this tragic accident (as best they can be determined) be a teacher so it hopefully doesn't happen again.

Filing charges? I'm sorry; I can't buy into your thinking.

School thanks

To the Editor:

The Michigan Association of Middle School Educators (MAMSE) conference, held at Meads Mill Middle School on March 9 and 10, was a complete success. Over 1,800 middle school teachers and parents from all over our state came to our school and community to attend seminars relating to teaching. They were impressed with our community, our school, our students and our staff. Many commented on the appearance of our building and the friendliness of our students and staff. They noticed every fine detail of organization. Lunches were beautifully prepared and served quickly. Door prizes were generously provided by merchants and restaurants.

Northville really put its "best foot forward". Everyone connected with the MAMSE conference can feel proud of the total impact accomplished.

Truly a team effort made this possible. Every committee, volunteer, employee and student did a super job.

We would like to publicly thank everyone for their efforts in making this MAMSE conference something that the school district and community can look to with pride.

Perlberg appointed general manager

Rich Perlberg, 38, former reporter for The Northville Record, has been named vice president/general manager of Sliger/Livingston Publications.

A Brighton resident since 1979, Perlberg succeeds Roland J. Peterson, who died in December.

In addition to The Record, Sliger/Livingston Publications includes The Novi News, The South Lyon Herald, The Milford Times, The Livingston County Press and The Brighton Argus, plus several shopping guides.

Perlberg, who will be based in Howell, returns to Sliger/Livingston from the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, where he has served as assistant managing editor in charge of Oakland County editions since 1986.

In announcing the appointment, effective April 1, Richard Agnien, president of Suburban Communications Corp., the parent company of Sliger/Livingston, noted Perlberg has a strong background in community journalism.

"I am pleased and excited that Rich will be returning to Livingston County as vice president/general manager. He brings to the organization an excellent knowledge of the county, the organization and community journalism."

"I am confident that under Rich's leadership and the excellent staffers that are with Sliger/Livingston Publications, we will continue to grow and improve our newspapers and the organization."

Perlberg said he is excited about taking the general manager position at Sliger/Livingston. "I feel close to Livingston County and the Sliger/Livingston newspapers, and I'm looking forward to returning," he said. "I've always considered Livingston County my home."

To the Editor:

I must say, most Northville (city and township) residents agree with the concerns and opinions of Bill Elssesser, last week's Record's "Readers Speak" author of the letter about the group home facility in Lexington South. Most people, too, are understanding of the need for such

Standard Federal gains site approval

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

Customers of Standard Federal Bank may have to wait a while to do business at a branch in Northville, even though the bank received preliminary site plan approval from the Township Planning Commission on March 28.

That's because a letter recently issued by the Wayne County Health Department said the available sewer capacity for the future bank, to be located on Six Mile Road west of Haggerty Road, is in doubt.

"This Department does not view a pump and haul disposal as an acceptable sanitary waste disposal method for this proposal," said Matthew Kobylarz, of the County Health Department.

"It would be required that any structure connect to a sanitary sewer prior to occupancy," Kobylarz added.

Standard Federal architect Stan Joniak said the developer is working with the county "to discuss the possibility of septic fields if we have to go that route."

A sewer hook-up to the bank is set to be part of the Haggerty Road sewer project, although a completion date for the project is not available.

Commissioners said they are granting approval for the project as if it has sewer capacity and if it does not, the developer will have to appear before the zoning board of appeals for a variance on the location of a septic field.

As for the site plan, concerns regarding submittal of a landscape plan and curb cut on Six Mile Road were corrected, following tabling of the plan on Feb. 28.

Township Landscape Consultant Larry DeBrincat said the landscape plan submitted by Standard Federal needs some revising.

Police inquiry continues into deaths in manhole

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

Northville Township Police said they are continuing their investigation into an accident which killed two persons in a manhole on Friday, March 24.

"We are continuing with our investigation and looking into many factors and procedures used by the men," said Township Police Capt. Phil Presnell.

In the accident, Christopher Rosetto, 28, of Taylor and Gary D'Ascenzo, 32, of Dearborn Heights died as a result of asphyxia due to inhalation of toxic fumes, according to the Wayne County Morgue.

D'Ascenzo was co-owner of Guardian Plumbing and Heating of Redford Township, the firm hired to work on water pipes in the Northville Commons subdivision on Six Mile Road west of Haggerty.

Presnell said foul play is not suspected in the case, but added it is still too soon to say what errors were involved in the accident.

Guardian was hired by Commons resident Jeff Harrison, who is the maintenance chairman of the subdivision association. Harrison said he hired the company because they have done work on his home in the past.

"The water main is connected to the drinking fountain at our tennis court and the main had two valves that were not working," Harrison said. "We hired Guardian to replace the fountain and replace the valves."

While he thought the men were working in the manhole, Harrison said he looked out his window and found them unconscious in the hole.

"I went down there to check on them and found them unconscious, so I call EMS and the local fire and police departments," he added.

Township Fire Chief Robert Toms

said firefighters first pulled D'Ascenzo out of the manhole, after he apparently entered the hole to rescue Rosetto.

Toms said the men were using freon gas while working on the pipes and apparently the gas cut off their oxygen supply in the hole.

Township police officer Sgt. Clyde Anderson said the preliminary report filed by township police lists the deaths as accidental. He added the Michigan Department of Public Health is also investigating the incident.

D'Ascenzo's brother, Anthony, who also owns the company said Guardian has hired an independent investigator to look into the accident.

D'Ascenzo said he is waiting for the results of the investigation before commenting further. He did say however, that both his brother and Rosetto were properly trained plumbers.

Sparks fly over Ward petition

In an interview on Monday, MacDonald said the petition is being put together "because if Northville Township proposes an ordinance on church limitations, we want them to know we are opposed to it."

He noted the petition is only designed to be a reference to the planning commission on "how people feel," and has no legal standing whatsoever.

Brad Wittman, spokesperson for the Michigan Elections Bureau, said there are two types of petitions as defined by state law: 1. A petition that has legal force or effect; 2. A petition which is meant to only advise a public body.

"A legal petition is intended to compel some form of action on the part of some body of government," Wittman said. "To submit a petition, state laws must be complied with, in terms of where it must be filed, how signatures are gathered, how many signatures are needed, etc."

He said the advisory petition, like the Ward one, is meant to act as a "vehicle for advising a public body on the public's sentiment on a particular matter.

"Such advisory petitions do not have any force or effect and public officials are not bound by the petition in any way," Wittman added.

Wittman said no law prohibits Ward church from sponsoring a petition which uses a "reverse check-off procedure" to acquire signatures, but added such a petition could never be submitted as a formal document.

MacDonald said Ward church decided to pursue the petition by the reverse check-off method due to possible time constraints because of the commission consideration of its site plan.

"The mechanics of putting together this petition made this the only practical way to do it," MacDonald said. "The only other way to do it would have been to go door to door. We wanted to keep the petition away from the church atmosphere because we want to keep politics out of the church."

Since the commission's review of the Ward plan was delayed one week, MacDonald said in hindsight the church may have put together the petition through a telephone calling system.

Planning Commissioner Richard Allen said no matter how the petition was put together, it will have no effect on his decision regarding either the Ward site plan or the church ordinance.

"They (Ward) may be trying to apply pressure, but it (the petition) will have no effect on my decisions," Allen said.

MacDonald, who is a former township supervisor, said he became chairman of Ward's site committee in February, in part to make sure the best development comes to the northwest corner of Six Mile and Haggerty roads.

"The main reason I am involved with this is that I've always desired to have something good on that corner," said MacDonald, a member of Ward church for the last 10 years.

"To me, I'm in a unique position, since I've been involved with Northville Township government and now Ward," he added. "I'm just trying to do what's in the best interest of both groups."

New 'landmark' set in Northville by credit union

Community Federal Credit Union is breaking new ground.

The credit union, which has been a landmark at the corner of Main and Center streets in downtown Northville, is creating a new landmark for its members — at the corner of Griswold and Main streets just a few blocks away.

Community Federal is not a small-town credit union. The Northville location is one of seven branches with a total membership of 25,000, and that figure is growing.

Jim Cantrell, general manager of the credit union, said the move to a larger, more modern facility in Northville comes in direct response to the growth of the area.

"We need to expand. We really don't have the room in the present space to handle the increasing membership," he said.

The new building will have more than just elbow room, Cantrell noted. The facility will be a one-story, 2,900 square-foot building with a basement. Located at 358 East Main Street, the building will be larger and offer more services. Two drive-in lanes will be installed during construction and the possibility of adding a third drive-through lane remains for the future.

For the first time the new Northville office will offer customers an automated teller machine to access funds anytime, day or night. There will be more teller windows as well, moving from three to five, for more customer service. There will also be some on-site parking, Cantrell said.

Groundbreaking ceremonies for the new building took place on March 27, and Cantrell said construction crews could be ready to begin as early as this week. He estimated that the building will take about six months to complete.

While increased membership is one of the reasons for moving, Cantrell said there is also a feeling that the new building will attract more members to the credit union. "The office will have greater visibility," he said, noting that "a lot of people

Laurel Park awaiting second 'anchor'

Construction crews are hustling and developers are negotiating in preparation for summer openings at Laurel Park — the $100-million mall at Six Mile and Newburgh Road in Livonia.

But the big question remains: What will the so-called "second anchor" store be?

Rumors abound that the second anchor — the other "name" attraction to go with Jacobson's — will be an outlet from the Neiman-Marcus Co., Saks Fifth Avenue or another prestigious retailer. But so far the speculation remains just that.

"I can't confirm anything," said Robert I. Schostak of Schostak Brothers & Co., developers of the 54-acre mall. But he added his company is negotiating with "upscale, specialty stores" as mall tenants.

"We expect to attract customers from as far away as Ann Arbor," said Schostak, whose company has built the Wonderland Mall in Livonia, the Macomb Mall in Roseville, the Cherryland Mall in Traverse City

Rumors abound that the second anchor — the other "name" attraction to go with Jacobson's — will be an outlet from the Neiman-Marcus Co., Saks Fifth Avenue or another prestigious retailer. But so far the speculation remains just that.

While such predictions may seem optimistic, sales at the Jacobson's store have already boosted the outlet to third place among the chain's 21 stores in Michigan, Ohio and Florida, according to Mark K. Rosenfeld, president of Jacobson Stores.

"We're very pleased with the way things have been going at the store," said Rosenfeld, referring to the two-level, 150,000-square foot Jacobson's that opened in August 1987.

So far, Jacobson's is the only retail store open. "We will welcome the second anchor," Rosenfeld said. "But we don't yet know what it will be."

The mall is scheduled to have 200,000 square feet of retail space, 300,000 square feet of professional or office space and hotel facilities, Schostak said. Between 40 and 50 percent of the space is committed.

The Marriott Hotel is scheduled to open in July, "and there will be a health club adjacent to the hotel."

Schostak said he can not be specific about mall tenants because leasing arrangements give control over opening dates and other details to the individual parent companies. "They will have their own opening announcements," he said.

While Schostak and other officials declined to be specific about with whom they are negotiating, a lease plan names the following companies as having "executed lease(s)" or with "lease(s) out of the signature:" United Health Spa, Optical Fashions, Ahhh... Cashmere, Precision Watch, Fannie May, D. Dennison's, Max & Erma's, Jos A Bank Clothiers.

overlooked the building before, thinking it was just office space," Cantrell said.

"Now more people will realize we're here."

The move to the bigger building also shows a commitment to the community of Northville, Cantrell said. "Northville is an outstanding community and it will only improve and get better in the future. We would like to be a part of that," he said.

All of the people in the existing office in Northville will be moving to the new site, Cantrell said.

Mary Gyorke, Northville branch manager, said she is just "excited" about the whole thing.

"It will be a wonderful thing for the whole community," Gyorke said. "There has been a lot of support from our members... a lot of them asking 'when will it open, how soon will it be ready.' Some are concerned about the relocation, she noted. But since the move is only three blocks away, she said she feels sure they will adjust."

"I'm just super proud. There will just be more added features and more convenience to the community and the membership," Gyorke said.

"And we'll still have the same wonderful staff."

The look of the new building will "fit right in with the downtown," Gyorke said. The exterior will be brick and the design is traditional, she said.

Community Federal Credit Union has branches in Northville, Plymouth, Canton and four offices in northern Michigan.

Members of the Mill Race Weavers Guild examine woven items

Mill Race Weavers Guild meets to promote craft

Story by Brenda Dooley

Photos by Chris Boyd

Fingers work the strings like the legs of a spider weaving an intricate web.

Pale shades of pink, blue, ivory and lilac threads intertwine to become a varied pattern of cloth — all at the hands of a patient weaver.

Alone in a comfortable cottage with worn wooden floors sits Northville's Ruth Whitmyer. A woman content, for the moment, to be alone with a sturdy wooden loom.

Afternoon sunlight caresses her cheek as she works at the cozy cottage in Mill Race Village. Hundreds of strands of cotton thread wind lengthwise and crosswise on the loom to form its warp and weft.

"I've got so many projects to finish," Whitmyer says with a friendly smile.

Earlier in the week Whitmyer gathered at the cottage with some of her fellow weavers and friends for a monthly meeting of the Mill Race Weavers Guild. Genuinely glad to share secrets and revelations of their craft, the voices of group members mingle into a soothing cackle. The evening social hour has begun.

They meet for coffee and homemade cookies, pass around projects they have completed and discuss types of stitches or materials they have tried to work with. Like a giant family they affectionately exchange anecdotes and weaving tips.

Lisa Tribble of Walled Lake shows off a sweater she crafted from her loom and a soft baby blanket she wove for a relative. And Bob Owen of Livonia displays a detailed woven bookmark he created.

The Guild was formed in January 1974 to make people aware of weaving and to provide weavers with encouragement and inspiration.

"When I first moved to Northville I was the only one who weaved," recalls Gloria Teeters, owner of Traditional Handcrafters.

Q: Are you worried about eating fruit?

Three said: "Yes"
Seven said: "No"

"I don't know what to believe anymore."
"I'm hesitant to buy it, but still do."
"We've been eating apples, grapefruit, oranges, bananas—everything."
"I used to think fruit was good for you, but what now?"

Nield gives time to schools

By DOROTHY NASH

If you are a resident of Northville, you recently paid a school tax. Did it bring you closer to being interested in the quality of education being provided here? Are you or would you like to be involved? It's a volunteer matter.

Martha Nield, who is a parent of two children, 13 and 10 years old, has her eyes on the whole picture of local education because she is president of the Northville PTA Coordinating Council.

The purpose of the Council, she said is to "promote sharing of ideas, concerns, and programs between the various schools within the district, to enrich the education of children, and to further communication between district's staff, parents, and Board of Education."

As president for a one-year term,

Nield attends at least two PTA-related meetings a week — for example, the monthly meetings of the Council, school board meetings, meetings for special projects, and the PTA meetings of her children's school.

She attends her children's PTA meetings as a parent, she said, but because people know she's president of the Council, they frequently ask her "questions they would ordinarily call the principal about. So I come early and stay late — to talk and to listen."

She has been a member of the Coordinating Council for four years, she said, and until this year she was also an officer at her children's school PTA — serving once as secretary, then treasurer, vice president, and last year as president.

Education is important to her, she said, and if there hadn't been "a huge glut of teachers" when she was choosing a career, she would have become one.

As for you, the tax-payer who does or does not have children in Northville schools, she said, "Anyone is welcome to attend meetings of the council."

So why not find out what your tax money is doing? Maybe volunteer.

Martha Nield plays an active role in schools

Northville's Betty Lennox belongs to a national woman's group

Record/CHRIS BOYD

World traveler

Lennox enjoys membership in group

By BRENDA DOOLEY

Three-week trips to the Middle East, Africa, China and Nepal have carried Betty Lennox far from her comfortable Northville home.

She's eaten breakfast with the ambassador of Bangladesh, visited primitive farmhouses in Bhutan and met with Mother Theresa in Calcutta.

"I have a quote from Mother Theresa — she said 'the poorest person in the world is the old, poor woman,'" Lennox recalled.

Her trips were made possible because Lennox is member of the National Delegation for Friendship Among Women, an affiliation she has enjoyed since 1974.

A women's exchange group — of sorts, the delegation works through the State Department to arrange trips to various countries to promote rights and equality among women. Members provide their own funds for the trips.

"Embassies and ambassadors are usually very happy that we come — we open doors for them that they otherwise might not have access to," Lennox said.

The delegation's executive secretary, who is also Lennox's sister, travels to destinations a year in advance to make arrangements for the delegation's trips.

"They're well-prepared when we come," Lennox said, referring to the government and women's organization in the host country visited by the delegation. "When we get there, we host a banquet for them.

"We're given a reading list to study and we do lots of background work to become familiar with the country."

The group often brings gifts for the women they visit, such as makeup, books, eye charts, surgical gloves or anything that would help the objective of women, Lennox said.

Her most recent trip brought her to Nepal, Bangladesh and Bhutan.

"Nepal and Bangladesh are very overpopulated and man-oriented," Lennox remarked. "Bhutan is underpopulated and women-oriented — women are equal there, but it's very primitive."

In Bangladesh, only 18 to 20 percent of the women are literate, compared to 45 percent of the men. Lennox explained that the women get up very early, take care of the family's needs, stand in long lines for food and cook and clean. They are not allowed to regularly leave the house or to visit other women.

If there is not enough food to feed everyone in the family, the Bangladesh men eat and the women go without.

The country of Nepal has 36 dialects, a factor that leads to very little communication.

"Nepal just opened to tourism in the 1950s. It's very low income ... there are still people living in caves," Lennox recalled.

While visiting the countries, Lennox said the women show the delegation members what they're doing in the countryside.

"All of these countries have women who are very educated," Lennox noted. "They're doers and make a living with their skills. The educated women are trying to teach other women their rights, mostly by using picture books."

In Nepal, women earn a living by creating homemade paper and beautifully-colored, intricately-stitched rugs.

The trips have allowed Lennox to gain an insight into how other women live in the world.

"I'm amazed that they're trying to advance themselves," she said. "Women are really the backbone of every country because they raise the children ... the social system is based upon their efforts."

"I've learned to have respect for other cultures — it's important to realize that the American way isn't the only way ... It's also important for us not to just give money to these countries, but to show them how to do things."

"The trips are so informative and eye-opening. We send information to them and bring it back."

Her travels also have given Lennox a deep appreciation for the United States.

"The U.S. is the most wonderful country in the world," she said. "We don't know how much freedom and privileges we have here."

"I really think women are going to be equal to men throughout the world someday."

The delegation's next trip will be to Morocco in February 1990.

Northville resident Susie Rahimi will compete in the upcoming Pepsi/Mary Kay Cosmetics College Cheerleading National Championship.

Rahimi was one of 14 cheerleaders from the University of Kentucky cheerleading squad chosen to compete in the national contest.

The 14-member squad, including Rahimi, was chosen from a field of 200 entrants. The squad will compete at Sea World in San Antonio, Texas, on April 8. The final competition will be aired by the Entertainment and Sports Programming Network (ESPN) later in April.

The championship, now in its seventh year, showcases the most outstanding cheerleading squads in the U.S. based on enthusiasm, timing, rhythm, athletic ability and crowd response.

Celebrity line-up to appear in new Town Hall season

Preparations are under way for the 29th season of the Northville Town Hall celebrity lecture series.

Those attending the 1989-90 series can expect to learn more about a former president, pick up pointers on traveling, discover the mystery of astrology and listen to a noted music critic.

Featured celebrity lecturers include David Eisenhower on Thursday, Oct. 12, Arthur Frommer on Thursday, Nov. 9, Joyce Jillson on Thursday, March 8, and Michael Walsh on Thursday, April 15. All lectures begin at 11 a.m. at the Plymouth Hilton.

Season tickets are priced at $30 and mail orders will be accepted after April 10. Those interested in purchasing tickets for the series are asked to make a check payable to Northville Town Hall and to send it with an order form in a self-addressed, stamped envelope to: Ticket Chairman, Mrs. Bonnie Dewan, Northville Town Hall, P.O. Box 93, Northville, 48167.

Luncheon reservations, which are separate from the season ticket orders, will be accepted after June 1.

Luncheons will be held at noon at the Plymouth Hilton Inn, following each lecture. Tickets are $11 each including tax and gratuity, or $44 for the season. Luncheon tickets may be purchased only by season lecture ticket holders. Checks must be received no later than one week preceding each lecture.

Seats for the luncheon are assigned. Friends who want to sit at tables together are advised to send in their order forms at the same time. Checks for the luncheon series should be mailed to Virginia Kaiser, Northville Town Hall, P.O. Box 93, Northville, 48167. For more information about the luncheon tickets call Virginia Kaiser at 349-8938.

Kicking off the series is DAVID EISENHOWER, author of the best-selling "Eisenhower At War." The book has been reviewed as one of the most honest, unique portrayals of "Ike" that has ever been written.

The Eisenhower name is forever captured in American history. General Dwight D. Eisenhower — "Ike" — helped the country defeat the Nazis in World War II. As president, he helped set the political course for the balance of the 20th century. As his grandson, David Eisenhower dedicated himself to researching for the best-seller "Eisenhower At War."

He and his wife, Julie Nixon Eisenhower, have been married for nearly 20 years. They met while attending colleges in western Massachusetts. They were married by Dr. Norman Vincent Peale just one month before President Richard Nixon's first inauguration. The Eisenhowers now live in a suburb of Philadelphia with their three children.

In addition to his work as a lecturer in political science at the University of Pennsylvania, Eisenhower plans to spend the next several years on the completion of what will be the last two volumes in his Eisenhower trilogy.

DAVID EISENHOWER

Following Eisenhower's appearance is ARTHUR FROMMER, whose name is synonymous with travel. In 1957 he wrote a book which began; "This is a book for American tourists who own no oil wells in Texas, are unrelated to the Aga Khan and have never struck it rich in Las Vegas and who still want to enjoy a wonderful European vacation."

Entitled "Europe on $5 A Day," the book provided tips on how to find cheap lodging and food abroad. He helped travelers realize they could afford to experience adventures in Europe.

Frommer's guidebook featured a look at traveling in Europe in a non-traditional light. Because so much has obviously changed since the book was first published, it's now called "Europe on $25 A Day," and has been updated every year since.

Described as a fascinating speaker, Frommer provides his audiences with valuable travel information and stories about his experiences.

JOYCE JILLSON, an author and syndicated columnist will appear at Town Hall in March. She is the originator of Goal-Oriented Astrology which is based on the premise that success, achievement, love and financial security can come to those who set their goals based on astrological alignments.

Political figures, movie moguls, corporate executives, investors and others have reportedly contacted Jillson to pick lucky dates to advance their careers.

Jillson's books include "Real Women Don't Pump Gas" and "The Fine Art of Flirting." Her astrology column is carried in over 100 newspapers daily. In addition, she has her own cable TV show as well as a radio call-in program on KABC.

Rounding out the series is MICHAEL WALSH, winner of the prestigious ASCAP-Deems Taylor Award for music criticism. He is a composer, pianist, music teacher, critic and lecturer.

A graduate of the Eastman School of Music, he was music critic of the "Rochester Democrat and Chronicle" and the "San Francisco Examiner" before becoming music critic for "TIME" magazine. Walsh has also written for such publications as "Stereo Review Magazine," "Musical America" and "American Arts Magazine."

Proceeds from the 29 season of the Northville Town Hall series will be given to charities in the Northville, Novi, Plymouth, Farmington, Livonia and South Lyon areas.

For more information about the series contact Nancy Quirk, chairperson, at 349-5472, or Mary Louise Cutler, vice chairperson, at 349-8855.

Mill Race Weavers Guild attracts handcrafters from area communities

"People thought I was strange having some big loom set up in the house."

Eventually Teeters found other local people who practiced the fine art of weaving — namely Mary Ann Zappo-Beltz, Ellen Wahl, Jane Cat-skill and Heather Fee. Together they have formed the Mill Race Weavers Guild.

"We used to meet in people's houses," Teeters says. "From there it grew and grew."

Shortly after organizing, members contacted the Northville Historical Society asking for permission to meet at Mill Race Village. Their first gathering place was the old church building before moving to the cottage in 1977, when the Guild assisted the Historical Society with restoration plans.

A weaving instructor, Teeters is the only original member of the Guild who remains. The group has now attracted weavers from other communities — Northville, Novi, South Lyon, Romulus, Livonia, Plymouth, Canton, Berkley, Royal Oak, Walled Lake and Southfield.

Martin Maki of Royal Oak is the Guild's current president. Asked when and why he joined the group, Maki points to Teeters.

"It's all her fault," he says with a chuckle. "Gloria had a loom in the corner of her shop ... one day she decided to sell it and I bought it.

"It (weaving) turned out to be more fun than I thought it would be."

Maki and his wife, Margo, are involved in all aspects of weaving, including spinning. They own six looms and spend much of their time traveling to antique and craft shows. One of Maki's specializations is weaving tapestries for churches.

"Until about 100 years ago, men were the ones who did all the weaving," he explains. "It was an indigent lifestyle ... they set up a loom in barns and worked until the job was done. Then they moved on."

Maki said he finds weaving fascinating because it's challenging and because he has met some "wonderful, wonderful people."

"You never stop learning — that's one of the things I enjoy most about it ... you have your mistakes you hide in the basement and never show to anyone," Maki said.

Guild members host two annual sales — one during the Fourth of July and one during Northville's Christmas Walk at Mill Race Village. Currently they're preparing for weaving competitions planned at the Michigan State Fair.

The group meets on the third Tuesday of the month at 7:30 p.m. Social hour begins at 6:30 p.m. For more information about the Mill Race Weavers Guild contact Whitmyer at 349-4116 or Teeters at 349-7509.

Company offers gifts for revenge seekers

By BOB NEEDHAM

The bard tells us that revenge is sweet, and going along on that line of thinking, three women in Southfield think they can turn it into a sweet little business enterprise.

If you've ever wanted to get back at someone, ever wanted to let that certain individual know just how little you think of them, Mardi Chapman and company would like to talk to you. Just last week, the group opened a new business to help people creatively express all those darker emotions that the Hallmark people seem to ignore.

What Chapman and two friends are doing, under the company name Sweet Revenge Florist, is raising the idea of getting even to an art form. Inspired by similar businesses elsewhere in the country, the company will deliver a variety of dead flowers, rotten fruit and other unique gifts to the person you love to hate.

"It's not real original," Chapman confesses. She read about a similar business in a magazine, and figured rather than paying a franchise fee and playing by someone else's rules, "I can do that on my own, thank you."

Most of the "gifts" offered by Sweet Revenge involve flowers — a dozen dead roses in a black vase; a "screw you" jar, "stuff it" trash can and "bag it" trash bag, all full of dead flowers; and a box of mixed dead blooms with a black bow.

Chapman said the business wasn't all that hard to set up, since she had a little experience in the general field. "Back a million years or so ago, I worked in a flower shop when I was a kid," she said, becoming familiar with distributors and the like. "Other than that, these things are so dead it doesn't matter." The business just opened last week, and as of Friday hadn't had any actual customers. Chapman was confident, though, that advertising, some free deliveries and a lot of media attention would get things rolling before long.

"It should go real well," she said. "Hopefully we'll get going and get a couple of paying customers here before too long."

Sweet Revenge is open to customized orders, and the best requests might even be adopted as a regular offering with a possible gift certificate to the originator. "Any of these weird requests that come along, we'll do it if the materials are reasonable," she said.

The company also offers a variety of insulting slogans on insert cards. They're working on delivery costumes along the lines of a 1930s gangster "moll."

The trio has big dreams for the business — possibly an eventual presence in the malls, and maybe a real office from which to work. All that isn't necessary, though.

"We really don't need anything like that. We just need a table. We have a family room full of dead flowers," Chapman said. "We're kind of gypsies. We don't want to be nailed down."

Little danger of that. "We're having a ball," Chapman concludes. "We're having fun, and gosh, it's kind of interesting to make the rules up as you go."

Sweet Revenge Florist offers selections ranging from $15.95 to $29.95. The phone number is 647-1660.

Senior-oriented trackers look to improve

Seniors Mark Kiraly (right) and Todd Daniels are Northville's top sprinters

Coach stays cautiously optimistic

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

With a senior-oriented squad, coach Dennis Faletti has good reason to believe the Northville boys' track team will be much improved this spring. But whether that will be enough to challenge Livonia Churchill for the Western Lakes Western Division title is the big question.

A year ago — Faletti's first as head coach — the Mustangs notched a 4-5 overall record and tied for third in division action with a 2-3 mark. It wasn't a great season, but it was the best a Northville team has put together in years. Other than the versatile Rick Subotich and distance runners John Frisbie and Scott Sinkwitts, the graduation losses weren't severe.

"I think we have a much better team than we did last year," Faletti said. "We were a junior-oriented team so now we have a lot of seniors with a fine group of freshmen. It's hard to tell how much we can improve, but I'm cautiously optimistic."

In sprint events like the 100 and 200-meter dashes, senior speedster Mark Kiraly is the undisputed leader for the Mustangs. Senior Todd Daniels will provide solid help in the 100 but a group of untested underclassmen will have to fill in the rest of the spots.

"Kiraly should be able to give us quite a few wins in dual meets in both the 100 and 200 and I think he can place in the conference meet," Faletti said. "He's a cut above the rest of our sprinters."

Experienced returnees like Steve Ventura (Sr.), Allen Kuljurgis (Sr.) and Jay Griffith (Sr.) in the middle distance events (400 and 800-meter runs) has Faletti feeling optimistic. Ventura was the team's number two quarter-miler last year and will probably be backed up by Kuljurgis. In the 800, Griffith and junior Karl Siegert are the two leading candidates

"I think we have a much better team than we did last year. We were a junior-oriented team so now we have a lot of seniors with a fine group of freshmen."

— Dennis Faletti
Northville Track Coach

Without Frisbie and Sinkwitts, Northville's prospects in the mile and two-mile are less certain. Freshman cross country sensation Steve Coon may have to take charge in the mile, while another newcomer — transfer Jon Meek (Jr.) — is expected to contribute. In the two-mile, juniors Jason Hoose and Aaron Wiseley are prime candidates along with Coon.

"We may have some problems in the distance events," Faletti said. "We may be a little thin there. Coon should come in and help but you can't expect too much from a freshman. He does have star potential in the future."

Faletti has a good idea who he wants to use in the relay races, but the combinations aren't etched in stone. Kiraly, Daniels, Neil White (So.) and Jamie Miller (Fr.) will probably be the 400-meter relay group while the 800-meter crew may feature Kuljurgis, Ventura, Kiraly and Miller. Top candidates in the mile and two-mile relays include Kuljurgis, Siegert, Griffith, Ventura and Coon.

"The two-mile relay has potential to be good and the mile-relay should do well because everybody is back with experience," Faletti said. "In the sprint relays, I may do some jockeying but I'm comfortable with it."

In the 110 high and 300 intermediate hurdles, seniors Cory Robinson and Greg Price are the top two candidates but they are being pushed by Ryan Davis (So.) and transfer Rob Walsh (Sr.) — particularly in the 300. In addition, Walsh and Kuljurgis are both six-foot high jumpers and should be Northville's mainstays in that event.

"(Walsh and Kuljurgis) may not be able to do much at the league meet, but they could help us in dual meets," Faletti said.

The long jump could be one of the Mustangs' strongest areas. With Davis, Walsh, Miller and Kuljurgis, Faletti has four very strong jumpers, and all four can surpass the 20-foot mark.

Another area of strength is the discus, and the standouts are seniors Chris Kuffner and Bob Dudley. Kuffner placed sixth in the regionals last year and holds the school record in the event (139'-7"). Dudley is beginning his second year on the team and is already improving on his personal best throw of 132'-0" in practice. Daniels, Kuffner and Dudley are the top three shot-putters.

"We'll hold our own in the shot put but we're not as good there as we are in the discus," Faletti admitted.

With senior Sean Starkweather back for his final year of competition in the pole vault, Northville is also in fine shape there. Starkweather was second in the WLAA last year and solid back-ups like Wiseley and John Okasinski (Jr.) will provide depth.

"Sean is the top returning vaulter in the league, so he has got to be considered one of the favorites," Faletti said. "Our field events as a whole are real strong this year."

Yeager wraps up fine prep career

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

Redford Catholic Central has one of the most respected and successful prep football programs in the State of Michigan. The Shamrocks have been in the Class A championship game two years in a row and send numerous stars on to the college ranks every fall.

A small but very important factor in this success is the 'Northville-Catholic Central Connection' — local players who have been instrumental in the program's winning ways the last few years.

When the Shamrocks advanced to the state title game in 1987, mammoth lineman Toby Heaton was the anchor in the trenches. He is now a member of the Michigan State football squad. Last fall, defensive end/tight end Lou Yeager was a two-way standout as Catholic Central made it back to the championship game. And John Barbara made the varsity football and varsity basketball squads this year — an impressive feat for a sophomore.

What do these three have in common? They are all Northville residents.

Yeager, the son of Louis and Elizabeth Yeager, was born in Northville. His family moved to Ohio soon after that, but returned to the area just in time for Lou to attend Meads Mill Middle School. In high school at Catholic Central, he paid his dues on the freshmen and junior varsity squads as an underclassman but as an 11th grader, moved into the Shamrock starting line-up as a defensive end. With senior stars like Heaton and Eric Knuth (now at Michigan), Catholic Central went undefeated in the regular season but fell to Ann Arbor Pioneer 3-0 in the Class A state championship game at the Silverdome.

"My junior year, our defense was awesome," Yeager said. "It may have been the greatest defense ever at Catholic Central and a lot of the credit has to go to our defensive coordinator, Rick Coratti."

Last fall, expectations weren't very high in the Shamrock camp. Only four starters returned — including Yeager — and a brutal schedule awaited. But the squad jelled and made it back to the Silverdome only to fall again — this time to Traverse

City. "My senior year, we had a lot of untested players so we were just hoping to do the best we could," Yeager said. "I think it was a surprise we went as far as we did. It was a big let-down when we lost because we wanted it so bad and we were really prepared."

As a 12th grader, Yeager was a team captain and a star on both sides of the ball for Catholic Central. He caught 35 passes for over 500 yards and six touchdowns as a tightend and was one of the premier defensive ends in the state. He was a unanimous first team All-State selection, but his reputation made for some frustrating games.

"I really liked playing offense and defense," he said, "but toward the end of the season, teams did not run my way very much. In the finals against Traverse City, they ran my way twice the whole game. It was flattering but also frustrating."

At 6-foot-3, 205-pounds, Yeager was recruited by Mid American Conference (MAC) teams and several other Division I schools — but none from the Big Ten. The most interest came from Bowling Green and Central Michigan of the MAC, Iowa State of the Big Eight and Army.

"I would have been interested in the Big Ten but they weren't interested in me because of my size," Yeager pointed out. "They are looking for defense ends and linebackers who are 6-foot-6 and maybe 220-pounds."

Last winter, an Air Force recruiter visited Catholic Central and talked Yeager into taking one of his official recruiting visits out to Colorado Springs to see the Academy. Soon after the visit, he verbally committed to Air Force.

"I went out there and fell in love with it," Yeager admitted. "Air Force plays in the WAC (Western Athletic Conference) which is similar to the MAC and I am confident I can fit in as a player. Air Force seems to play smaller, quicker guys and that's why I'm excited about it."

"I will owe (the Air Force) five years after I graduate."

Yeager is the latest in a line of Northville standouts to star as a Shamrock, but on the heels of past successes, Catholic Central Head Coach Tom Mach is hoping he won't be the last.

Northville's Lou Yeager was an All-State football selection last fall for Catholic Central

Netters poised for comeback

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

Many coaches would be satisfied with a 7-7 season, but not Dick Norton.

That was the Northville tennis record last spring, and even though it wasn't a total disaster, it wasn't normal either. The Mustang boys' tennis coach is used to more wins and fewer losses than that, but is confident his 1989 squad can get it done.

"I think we should do pretty well this year," he said. "We should improve on what we did last year and as far as the (Western Lakes) league is concerned, we are probably one of the top three or four teams."

Although Norton is expecting his squad to move back to the top half of the WLAA standings (after placing seventh last year), the chances for a Western Division title run aren't too promising with Plymouth Canton around. The Chiefs are the defending conference champs, and with almost every key player returning, they will be very difficult to beat.

"It's our goal to win the division, but it will certainly be difficult," Norton said. "Canton should be one of the top 10 teams in the state."

Norton has a solid group of returning singles players, but will have to fill two spots left open by the graduation of Doug Kamienecki and Jeff Gursky. The number one spot is currently up for grabs, but seniors Rob Richcreek and Kurt Reickel are the only two real candidates. Both were regulars last year — Richcreek at No. 3 and Reickel at No. 4 — but they combined for a less than spectacular 17-19 overall record.

"They may alternate as our number one," Norton said. "I think we can get some victories from both of them because they are solid and they have experience. (Richcreek) tends to keep the ball in play a little more but he's not as strong a stroker as Reickel is. If Reickel is playing well, he can give anybody fits, but he is less consistent than Richcreek."

The remaining two singles slots will probably be filled by two other seniors, Todd Booth and Chad Bosscher. Bosscher was a standout doubles performer as a junior and Booth was also a regular in the line-up, but never found a steady doubles spot and was bounced around a bit.

are back, coming off a very successful season a year ago (16-5 overall). The two have been together as a varsity duo since they were 10th graders and will probably be Norton's most successful flight.

"They had a very good season last year, so we are expecting more of the same," Norton said. "They have the experience and they've played together for a couple years, so they know what to expect out of the competition and each other."

The remaining two doubles teams haven't been determined yet, but it's a safe bet that the other four spots will be filled by five candidates, including Jason Baker (Jr.), Chris Handyside (Jr.), Mike Mathes (Sr.), Brad Telepo (So.) and Tim Ponder (Jr.).

"Most of that group were on the team last year, but only Baker, Mathes and Ponder saw much action," Norton said. "More than likely, Baker will be teamed with somebody else in No. 2 doubles — maybe Telepo."

"Singles should be our strength, along with No. 1 doubles. The key is going to be if we can get consistency out of our second and third doubles. Most matches, we should be able to win two of the four singles and the first doubles, so the remaining doubles matches could be the difference between a win and a loss."

Osborne to be inducted into prep hall of fame

Prep football legend John Osborne — the only grid coach in the history of Novi High School — will be inducted into the Michigan High School Football Coaches Association's (MHSFCA) Hall of Fame on April 8.

Osborne, a Northville resident who led the Wildcats to the Class A semifinals last fall, will be one of 25 outstanding high school football coaches from Michigan to be inducted this year. The event is open to the public and will get under way at 6 p.m. at the University of Michigan's Crisler Arena.

Criteria for induction into the Hall of Fame is 20 years of coaching and/or 100 victories. Amazingly, Osborne has accomplished both at the varsity level, and at one school. He currently sports a 121-77 record in 22 seasons at Novi — including a remarkable 27-4 mark and three straight Kensington Valley Conference titles over the last three years.

Osborne has been an MHSFCA Regional "Coach of the Year" six times and was the head coach of the 1988 East squad in last year's Michigan High School All-Star Football Game.

Other area coaches being honored include

Southfield Lathrup's Darrell Harper and Royal Oak Shrine's Jim McDougall.

Tickets are $15 and can be ordered by sending a check payable to "Hall of Fame Banquet" to Ike Muhlenkamp, 2627 Willa Drive, St. Joseph, Mich. 49085. The special guest speaker will be U-M Football Coach and Athletic Director Bo Schembechler. For more information call Don Lessner at 671-6072 or 285-7361.

Osborne was nominated for induction by Neil Geughegan, sports writer for The Northville Record and the Novi News.

Jerod Swallow has new ice dance partner

COLORADO SPRINGS, COLO. — Northville's Jerod Swallow is beginning the next ice dance season differently than any other season in the last nine years. He has a new partner.

After their sixth-place finish at the 1989 Nationals, Swallow and his original partner Jodi Balogh of Livonia decided to part company. Now, he is continuing his career with Elizabeth Punsalon, a 1988 Junior Ice Dance Champion.

Although they have practiced together just a few weeks, Don Adair — one of the new pair's coaches — is already excited and optimistic about their future.

"They are very powerful," Adair said. "They have a lot of speed and flow across the ice. One of the most important things to look for in a pair is their physical match, and their match is right. Their height and leg lines, their coloring and hair is almost perfect."

Swallow and his partner are one of eight ice dancing pairs who moved to Colorado Springs last summer with their head coach Sandy Hess, previously based out of Detroit.

"We wanted to get into a better facility," Adair said. "We had offers to train at the new facilities in Indianapolis, but we wanted to be more secluded."

Swallow and three other skaters live at the Training Center, which is one of two U.S. Olympic Training Centers in the country. Athletes housed at the center were selected by the national governing body which is the national authority on ice dancing.

Webb looks to young talent to revive Mustang track team

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

With a 12th place finish in a 12-team league last year, the Northville girls' track program has nowhere to go but up.

But Mustang Coach Mike Webb has a very young and inexperienced squad this spring, so prospects for the '89 season are somewhat unknown. It's a group that's dominated by underclass performers — many with little track experience — but with great potential nonetheless. Webb is expecting his team to improve on last year's 1-8 record, but just how much improvement is the big question.

"We're very young and we have a lot of newcomers," Webb said. "I've only got two seniors and five juniors on the roster, so I'm not going to know how good we are until we run up against some good competition. The potential is really there with the younger kids."

Lone seniors Leigh Bills and Dawn Leland will have to provide some leadership for the squad. Bills was Northville's top high jumper last year and should repeat. She'll also see action in the shot put. Leland didn't compete last year due to a knee injury and is now trying to come back following surgery. She hasn't been able to participate in early workouts but is expected to see action in the 300-meter hurdles and possibly the 400-meter run.

"Leigh should take some places for us," Webb said. "She's quite versatile."

The team's top distance runner will probably be junior Lisa Brown, but she's being pushed hard by sophomore newcomer Kristen Woodsum. Both should be factors in the mile, two mile, and the distance relays.

Kendra Huard was Webb's top sprinter as a freshman last season and she is expected to continue this spring. Huard will see extensive action in the 100, 200, 400 and mile relay. Junior newcomer Rachel Davis has also been impressive in the 200, 400 and the long jump.

The biggest surprise so far has been the emergence of freshman standouts Ris Fleming and Tricia Lukomski, who already rate at or near the top of the depth charts in several events. Fleming has been recording team-best times so far in both the 110 and 300 hurdles, and will also lend a hand in the 800 relay and the high jump. Lukomski has been outstanding in the 200, and also has the team's top 400 time in workouts. She was entered in a 10-team pre-season meet at Livonia Franklin and placed second overall in the 200-meter dash with a time of 28.1.

"These two freshmen have been outstanding," Webb said. "Fleming is our top hurdler right now and Lukomski has been our number one sprinter. And the nice thing is that their times are very good."

Along with Leland and Fleming, the Mustangs also have hurdlers like Angie Tune (Fr.), Shannon Price (So.), Cheryl Mittman (So.) and Julie Buser (Fr.), so depth shouldn't be a problem.

"I think we'll be fairly decent in the hurdles," Webb said.

The middle distance crew includes Returnee Megan Holmberg (So.), Mari Kissinger (Fr.), Theresa Michel (Fr.) and Jackie Matthews (Fr.). Holmberg is the 800 specialist and is the team's top discus candidate while Kissinger — a versatile youngster — will see action in the 400, 800 and possibly the mile relay.

"My biggest concerns are the discus, the shot put and the long jump," Webb admitted. "We may be the weakest in the long jump."

"But we already have better times in the sprints than we did last year, so that should be an area of strength. I've got four girls who can run the 200 in under 30 seconds."

The Mustangs — who open the season today (April 6) against Novi — may need to get some surprise performances in the field events this season in order to have an opportunity to win a few meets. The team is young, but there is some depth in certain areas.

"I'm looking forward to winning a few more meets than we did last year," Webb said. "The girls are enthusiastic and their attitudes are great, so if that means anything, we should have a successful season."

"We can't go anywhere but up."

Boshoven organizes wrestling program for youngsters

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

If Bob Boshoven isn't named the new Northville varsity wrestling coach, he's making it a lot easier for whoever does to have some success.

With the impending resignation of longtime Mustang coach Jack Townsley, the head coaching position will need to be filled. Boshoven has been Townsley's top assistant for quite a while now and would have to be considered the number one candidate.

With that in mind, Boshoven has organized a wrestling program for youngsters in association with the Northville Recreation Department, and it's slated to get underway this month.

The class is called 'Beginning Techniques in Wrestling' and will be held Thursday evenings from 6-7:30 p.m. for 10 weeks, starting April 13. It is designed for youngsters five years of age and up and the fee is $15.

"The reason we are doing it is to familiarize the younger kids with wrestling," Boshoven said. "To get them to see what real wrestling is like, rather than what they see on T.V. with Hulk Hogan."

Many of the prep wrestling programs Northville routinely competes against already have junior high programs. This class is an attempt to pull the Mustangs up to that level, with a better feeder system, in order to remain more competitive.

"Hopefully, this will help diminish the advantage other schools have had over us," Boshoven said. "That's one of the main reasons we're doing it. Hopefully we'll see benefits of the class next season in the number of freshmen that come out for the team."

Boshoven will be working with the 5-10 year olds once the class gets underway and will receive help from Mustang standouts Brandon Mardosian and Kevin Khashan. Former Northville wrestler Rick Borthwick will work with the rest of the youngsters along with Northville varsity captains Garnett Potter and Bob Townsend. Boshoven and Borthwick were Mustang teammates in the 1970s.

"I think our wrestlers like Potter and Townsend will learn more from teaching," Boshoven said. "Their minds can't wander when they are teaching — they will have to keep their minds on the task."

Boshoven and Borthwick are hoping for a turnout of at least 30 this year, with increasing numbers in the following years. A flyer has been sent around Meads Mill Middle School to try and increase participation, and Boshoven has been hitting the pavement, telling anybody in the proper age group about the class.

"There are AAU and Michigan State Wrestling Association tournaments for kids five years and up,"

he said. "Hopefully, if this goes well, it can grow into a wrestling club. Several years down the road, we want to have freshman show up for the first wrestling practice and already have a knowledge of the basics of the sport."

Under Townsley and Boshoven, the Mustang wrestling squad is coming off one of its best seasons in recent memory. Highlights of the 1988-89 campaign included a WIAA Western Division title and a third place finish in the 12-team conference.

At the team's post-season banquet in late February, Townsley announced that he was stepping down as coach after more than 20 years of service, but he has yet to make the move official. Boshoven admits that he would love to take over the position.

"I'm still working on getting my teaching degree, so if somebody else in the school district was interested in the job, it would probably go to them," he said. "But no one that I know of has expressed any interest — except me. I would love to take over the team."

Townsley has strongly backed Boshoven as his successor.

"I think Bob would make an outstanding young head coach," he said. "The past few seasons, I've slowly let him take over more and more of the responsibilities and I think he's ready."

BUILT-INS & APPLIANCES

SATISFACTION GUARANTEED plus COMPETITIVE PRICES

Witbeck will help you design a new look for your kitchen with fresh ideas, creative built-ins and appliances to suit every need. Take advantage of this once-a-year sale to bring your kitchen into the future. Don't be fooled by fancy showrooms and high prices, compare Witbeck's prices and save!

LA 7 11
OPEN SUNDAY APRIL 9th 11 to 4 pm

GE offers a way to make building a custom kitchen appreciably easier.

Creating a kitchen might seem like a simple process. But ask anyone who's actually done it and they'll tell you there are plenty of hazards awaiting the unwary.

Take, for instance, the surprisingly complex business of buying built-in appliances.

Unfortunately, the ones most people seem to want come from four different companies.

Which means you could have to deal with four different firms to buy them, get delivery, and, worse still, arrange for service.

There is, however, a simple alternative.

Monogram.

Which offers you a complete line of built-in appliances.

It includes the first built-in refrigerator to give ice and water through the door. A unique electronic modular cooktop. A handsome new gas cooktop. And an improved electronic dishwasher.

But product advantages like these are not the only reason why you should consider Monogram.

Its outstanding virtue is that it is a line.

Which means you only have to deal with one company to buy it, get delivery, and have it serviced.

The company to buy Monogram appliances from is Witbeck's...a company that goes just a little further when it comes to service and sales.

Who else backs their products with a nationwide network of factory-trained service professionals?

No one else. Only GE... at Witbeck.

Monogram.

SATISFACTION GUARANTEED plus COMPETITIVE PRICES

Witbeck will not be undersold on any brand name appliance or electronic item that we sell. Order by Phone and get SAME DAY DELIVERY!
