$102,000 gap seen in current budget

There are going to have to be some big changes in the current City of Northville budget for the city to end

City mulls expense increase

By BOB NEEDHAM

Expenses in the City of Northville are rising faster than revenues, leading to a potential deficit which next year's budget must address, the city council heard Monday.

That could come in the form of a tax dollar increase, even though next year's tax rate is expected to drop.

In the first of several study sessions on next year's city budget, City Manager Steve Walters said the expected general fund expenses and revenues have a gap of about $82,600 between them, if the city stays within the limits for new revenue established by truth-in-taxation standards.

Walters delivered a budget with projected general fund expenditures of $3,430,850 for the year - an increase of about 11.6 percent over last

Some of the budget figures, such as the $82,600 revenue shortfall if the city remains within truth-in-taxation guidelines, are not exact. The council members caught a couple of apparent mistakes in the budget document which would increase the gap by a few thousand dollars, but Walters also said a couple of estimates for next year's expenses might be lowerable.

Millage calculations in the preliminary budget are not exact either, because the city does not yet have final figures on its tax base, Walters said.

However, he calculated millage rates from an estimated tax base to give an idea of the limits placed on city property taxes under state law.

Last year's total city tax base was $113,822,180 - that's the total assessed value of all property in the city. Next year's estimated total is $137,740,360. If the estimate holds true, it will be an increase of 21 per-

Jean Hansen is only person in board race

By PRUCE WEINTRAUB

Barring a barrage of write-in votes, school board president Jean Hansen will win her third term on the board in the school election to be held on June 12.

Hansen, who is an eight-year veteran on the board, is the only candidate running for the one open seat on the board, according to district business manager John Street.

Street said that Monday, April 10 was the last day residents had to fill out petitions for the board position. He added no other issues or questions will be on the June election ballot. Hansen, who also served as board president in 1984, announced her intention to seek a third term as board member last February.

Despite her uncontested race for the board seat, Hansen said she has "In many ways it is a relief knowing that I don't have to campaign," as president of the board.

Township tax base jumps to $329 million

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

Final township assessment figures for 1989 have been completed by the Board of Review and the results show a healthy tax base increase.

"The board of review cases have been finalized and they were mailed out on Friday (April 7)," said Supervisor Georgina Goss.

According to Goss, Northville Township's state equalized valuation (SEV) rose from $284,209,760 in 1988 to $329,155,270 in 1989.

Goss said the board of review rolled back approximately $629,000 worth of assessments this year. She added there were 236 cases which came before the board.

Township Administrative Assistant Nancy Molloy said earlier that 4,480 assessment notices were mailed only to residents who got an increase and this year...we've sent out more notices than in any previous year," Molloy said.

Goss said the township addressed the problem early by adding more Board of Review meeting dates and "everything was done in a timely manner." She added she believes the assess-

Township tables Ward plan again

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

With a crowd of well over 100 people looking on, the Township Planning Commission unanimously voted to table a site plan submitted by Ward Presbyterian Church, during a special meeting on Wednesday, April 5.

Commissioners moved to postpone action on the Ward plan after a 4½ hour meeting, which seemed to spur as many questions on the revised plan as were answered about the previous one.

Planners voted to table the previous Ward plan on Jan. 31, for a numbers of reasons — the most pressing of which were the large number of parking spaces and the effect of increased traffic in the

The church property is located on the corner of Six Mile and Haggerty roads.

In comparison to their site plan presentation in late January, Ward officials introduced planners to much more information in last week's meeting.

Ward brought in traffic consultants, landscape consultants and fire safety consultants, all in an attempt to quell concerns and questions from planners. (See related story).

Commissioners tabled the plan, however, primarily because of concerns with respect to the height of the church's main sanctuary and its impact on emergency protection from the township fire department.

In a letter addressed to the commission, Township Fire Chief Robert Toms said township fire equipment can only protect buildings at a maximum of 70 feet high.

"If we can't get at a problem, then there is no protection for it," Toms said. "They're (Ward) building themselves out of protection."

At present, the church is slated to have an average building height of 86.33 feet, but the roof will reach approximately 125 feet high.

Deland said in addition to the height problem that Ward needs to address several other issues before submitting a revised site plan. He said those issues include: traffic, woodlands, parking, soils and the relocation of a loading dock.

Ward attorney Harold Larson said his clients are disappointed by not receiving planning commission approval, but added they are very resolved to working on the issue that planners have ad-

Schools plan $18.9 million spending

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

An $18.9 million preliminary budget for the 1989-90 school year was unveiled at the school board meeting Monday by Northville Superintendent George Bell.

Bell said the budget was released in preparation for the 1989-90 Wayne anty Tax Allocation budget, where the district receives an allocation of 8.9 county mills. "Each district is allocated 8.9 mills in property taxes from the county in and above the voted millage," Bell said, adding the theory is that each district will operate at a minimum of 8.90 mills.

"This is a formality that many counties no longer require, but it has become a ceremonial thing more or less," Bell said, adding no district could function on only 8.9 mills.

Northville Schools is scheduled to meet with the county to present its tax allocation budget on Friday, April 28.

As for Northville's 1969-90 budget, expenditures are currently scheduled to rise from approximately $17.2 million in 1988-89 to $18,956,440 for the coming school year.

To meet those expenditures, the district's revenue will tentatively increase in 1989-90 to $19,146,440. Bell said he will get the final revenue fugure at the tax allocation hearing.

Bell said the revenue estimate is based on a 12 percent increase in property tax revenues. He said the millage rate will be rolled back according to the Headlee Tax Amendment to about 31.30 mills Bell added the district will pursue a Truth in Taxation hearing in June "because new growth will exceed existing revenues.

He added the district will not pursue a Headlee override to increase the miliage rate. The school miliage rate for 1988-89 is 32.79 mills and the district's approved miliage rate is 35.4 mills.

This is not a lavish budget and we will address the needs of new growth with no additional funds," Bell said, adding the district will only be able to address an aging infrastructure with a "band-aid" approach.

Ten new teachers are scheduled to be hired in the new budget, but Bell said the district intends on hiring 4.8 more teachers beyond that.

He said the budget addresses concerns regarding the need for more specialized teachers and a beefed up middle school teaching staff. A decline in high school enrollment will allow the district to eliminate one teaching position at Northville High, according to Bell. Per pupil costs for the district are set to rise to $4,600 per student in 1989-90, compared with the $4,460 per pupil cost this year. Capital expenditures including the reopening of Moraine Elementary and the purchase of computers and texts will be partially paid through the district's contingency fund of $324,188. Finally, the district has set aside one percent of its budget or $190,000, for the fund balance. Bell said the school board has charged him with setting aside one percent of the

Beal bridge to close for now

A small bridge in the city which has been reduced to one lane is now going to be closed, at least for a while.

The Beal Street bridge, on Beal leading into the northeast side of the Northville Downs parking lot, was scheduled to be completely closed to traffic some time this week, Department of Public Works Superintendent Ted Mapes said Tuesday.
"We just don't feel it's safe to leave it open," Mapes

Last fall, the city reduced the two-lane bridge to only one lane because of worries about the structure on one side of the bridge. City engineers said the damage was too severe to be confident about safety on the bridge.

Throughout the racing season which ended April 1, the bridge was used as one-way only - inbound in the early evening, and outbound as people started leaving the track.

The city council has voted to look into the possibility of state grant money to fix the bridge.

Exposure case reported

An incident of indecent exposure was reported to township police on Thursday, April 6 in the area of Hines Drive and Six Mile Road.

The complainant said that at about 6 p.m she was walking on Hines Drive just north of Six Mile when she observed a white male in his 20s walking down the toboggan run hill area exposing himself.

The subject is described as a white male, about six feet tall, brown hair. wearing blue jeans and a brown flower type shirt.

The victim said she left the area following the incident and returned home Police said they checked the area, but the subject was gone on ar-

STOLEN BICYCLE - Township police report a silver BMX bike, worth about $40, was stolen on Tuesday, April 4, from outside the Player's Choice Arcade at 43003 Seven Mile Road.

The complainant said he entered Player's Choice at about 5:35 p.m. and left his bike outside the arcade. When he returned about 10 minutes later, he said he found his bike miss-

The complainant said he had just recently bought the bike used.

SMASHED WINDOW - A car parked on Winchester was damaged on March 31 and April 1 sometime between 8 p.m. and 10 a.m., according to a township police report.

The complainant said someone struck the windshield of the 1984 Chrysler Laser (brown) with an unknown object, breaking the window and causing $250 worth of

BUMPER DAMAGE - Almost $250 in damage was caused to the bumper and hood of a 1987 Sunbird parked in the Highland Lakes Mall on parked in the mall parking lot near Auto Wise between 12 p.m. and 1 p.m. on March 31 when the damage oc-

Police said it is possible that a car was struck by a truck, but have no witnesses at this time.

 ${\bf FLEEING\ CAR-Township\ police}$ reported a chase with a South Lyon driver on Wednesday, April 5 at 10:45 p.m. on northbound Sheldon Road north of Six Mile.

Police said they were sitting in the parking lot at the Brooklane Golf Course facing southbound Sheldon Road, when a car passed them going northbound at a high rate of speed.

Police said they turned on their headlights and saw the car run through a red light. They report said the chase began on northbound Sheldon, with the subject going about 70 mph in a 35 mph zone.

When making a left turn onto Seven Mile Road from Sheldon, police said the subject struck the curb, went over it and back onto Seven Mile when its two front tires blew out.

Police said the driver was given a ticket for fleeing and one for reckless driving, held in jail and released on $100 bond. He faces a May 11, 9 a.m. 35th district court date.

MARIJUANA POSSESSION -Two Northville men have been charged with possession of marijuana as the result of an arrest in a local parking lot, according to a city police report.

Two police officers approached the men sitting in a vehicle in the parking lot of the Wagon Wheel Lounge at about 11:20 Tuesday, April 4. According to the report, the officers saw what appeared to be a bag of marijuana with the car's dome light and their flashlights.

The police had the men get out of the car, where they saw two bags of suspected marijuana and one suspected marijuana cigarette, the report said. The men were ticketed, and one was taken to the police station for processing because of an outstanding warrant from Plymouth Township.

The suspected marijuana was sent to the Michigan State Police for analysis. The two men face a May 3 court date in the 35th District Court in Plymouth.

COMPUTER STOLEN - About $3,000 worth of computer equipment was stolen from Our Lady of Victory Church last week, according to a city police report.

The church listed its missing items as including a keyboard worth $829, a twelve-inch Samsung color monitor worth $400, an Image Writer 2 worth $595, and two Unidisk disk drives worth $860.

KEY SCRATCHES - Two vehicles were reported damaged by scratches, apparently from a key, last according to city police reports.

Over $500 damage was estimated to be done during the day Friday to a car parked at Northville High School, a report said. There were several long scratches on the left side of the car, a 1989 Dodge Daytona.

In addition, about $50 damage was reported last Wednesday due to a key scratch on a 1987 Buick.

AUTOS DAMAGED - Two vehicles parked on Allen Drive were vandalized March 30, a city police report said.

A 1987 Ford parked in a driveway had its gearshift lever ripped out, and a 1980 Chrysler parked on the street had its windshield broken. The damage, totalling about $500, was done between 9:30 and 10:30 March

Firefighters earn EMT status

By BOB NEEDHAM

Five months of hard work for a group of Northville city firefighters came to a conclusion Thursday when they heard they had received certification as emergency medical technicians (EMTs).

The certification came after a fivemonth commitment to a tough EMT training course, with the firefighters spending an eight-hour session in class each week in addition to in-dependent study time. The climax came with a state examination for the certification in February, and last Thursday, Northville found out that all nine people who took the test had passed it.

"These guys did this on their own.
These guys donated their time to dhis on Sundays," Fire Chief Jim Allen said. "It's just something they wanted to do."

Allen said the main idea behind the project was for the safety of the firefighters themselves, so that if an accident ever occurs, there will be people immediately around to treat any injuries. In addition, the firefighters will be able to assist in-

"You can get hurt," newlycertified EMT Mike Asher said. With the training, "you can keep somebody alive for that little time it takes to get the medical people

"It was a worthwhile, but a long, experience," new EMT Steve Ott said. "I think you'd find everyone found it was very worthwhile . . . We all feel we learned quite a bit.' Before the recent batch, the Northville department already had four people who had picked up EMT certification on their own: Jim Mc-Culloch, Jonn Kahler, Duane Reeves and Bob Turner.

Put the department kept kicking around the idea that it might be good to have some more medical expertise available. "There were several people on the department who were interested," Ott said, so Allen asked for and got — funding for the training from the city.

Besides Asher and Ott, firefighters Dan Anderson, John Bourne, Ed Brazen, Paul Kinville, John Wallace, Lou Westfall and Tom Westfall all were certified as EMTs. In addition to that, Scott Allen, Fred Fisher, Paul Gearns and Brad Westfall earned advanced first aid certification.

That means of the 25 people in the department, 17 now have some sort of advanced emergency training. "We're sitting real good," the chief commented.

The department had its EMT classes in the city, usually at city hall, so that half the department wasn't out of town at once. "We were still there and able to respond if there was a need," Ott said.

The classes, from Emergency Education Inc. in Westland, included lectures; hands-on practice, with the firefighters taking turns as mock "patients;" and visual presentations. Toward the end came some practical training, with most people working two shifts in an ambulance and one shift at a hospital emergency

"(The training) was a lot tougher than I think any of us anticipated," Asher said. The state exam was especially hard, he said: "I'm glad we all got through it.

"It gives you a little peace of mind when you're in a fire to know you have 15 or 16 medically trained people around you," he said.

Ott said the department appreciates the city's commitment to fund the training. "If someone gets hurt, we're a little better able to take care of it," he concluded. "It was just a very rewarding experience. That's the word I keep coming back to. It

Administration proposes city enforcement officer

The city administration is recommending that the city hire a parttime officer to enforce certain ordinances around town.

If hired, the new person would handle things like the sign ordinance, property maintenance ordinance. and nuisance ordinance - city laws which neither the police department nor the building official has time to

The recommendation is for a flexible schedule of 20 hours per week. although City Manager Steve Walters said Monday that number could be reduced or shifted to general building enforcement after awhile.

The idea for the new post grew out of discussions between Walters, Police Chief Rod Cannon and Building Official Joe Attard. The three agreed there was a need for active enforcement of these types of ordinances, which are now basically just enforced when someone complains of a violation.

Walters said the bulk of the new person's time would probably be spent on violations of the property maintenance ordinance and sign ordinance.

Such an officer would have the authority to write tickets only under certain city ordinances. Tickets would come only after a notice of violation and a chance to comply.

"We need some reasonable amount of time per week put in for awhile.' Walters told the council Monday. But once the person's presence is established, their hours might cut back, or they might be able to help as a back-up for building inspections.

The ideal sort of person for the job would be a retired building inspector, Walters said.

The program could start within a few weeks, using money available in the city inspection fund, he said.

Several council members gave favorable reaction to the idea. larger we get, the more practical it becomes to have someone who is specifically doing this," Council Member Paul Folino said.

Walters said he would return with more detailed information on the pro-

The new person's duties would include enforcement of the inoperable vehicle ordinance, building identification ordinance, parking permit applications, property maintenance ordinance, sale of flammable liquids, nuisance ordinance, trailer ordinance, sign ordinance, ice and snow removal ordinance, and some zoning ordinance requirements.

The recommendation says the person should have a flexible schedule with the chance for some evening

City starts program to recover fees on unpaid parking tickets

If you've got a couple of unpaid City of Northville parking tickets stuffed into the back of your dresser drawer, the city is looking for you.

The city administration is initiating a program to catch up on delinquent parking tickets from 1987, 1988 and 1989. A memo to the city council from City Manager Steve Walters explains that the computer system which manages parking tickets has been under re-design, but is now finished. That will allow the city to get underway with the catch-up batch of delinquent

The memo, dated April 7, shows 2,262 unpaid tickets from the last few years. Of these, 906 are from the 48167 ZIP code; 1,329 are from other Michigan addresses; and 27 are from out of state.

All the delinquent tickets will be charged $8, which includes the regular delinquent charge but no extra

Parking tickets which remain unpaid will be referred to a collection agency on a monthly basis, the memo says.

Now that the new system is on line, notice of a delinquent ticket will go out after 14 days if a ticket remains

The delinquent notices include a summary of the date, time and location the ticket was issued; the make and model of the car; and the license plate.

Planner suggests environmental board

The planning consultant for the City of Northville last week tossed out an idea for several new environmental ordinances he said the city might want to consider

In discussing a proposal for a city tree protection ordinance Tuesday, April 4, Planning Consultant Don Wortman suggested the city might want to set up an environmental quality board (EQB) to oversee woodlands permit applications. But, he added, such a board could have several other func-

For example, an EQB could deal with issues of potentially hazardous waste, of hazardous chemicals stored for business use, of groundwater protection, and of plans in the case of an incident of pollution. The state Department of Natural Resources is encouraging local planning of that

Some of the planning commissioners present at last week's meeting expressed interest in Wortman's idea, and asked that he return with more in-

Wortman said the board could consider any issues relating to groundwater, woodlands and wetlands, and then make recommendations to the planning commission.

"It's really wide open. Many communities are going this route now," Wortman said. "I think we'll be hearing more and more of this."

Commission Vice Chairperson John Hardin said some kind of controls for hazardous waste disposal, containment after an accident, and the like might be good to protect the community from catastrophe.

Wortman said he would return to the commission in the future with an outline of environmental issues to address.

Tree rules talks continue at city

Some sort of ordinance to regulate tree cutting in the City of Northville was discussed by the planning commission last week, with the members agreeing to look deeper into the

The discussion arose from a suggestion by commission member Chris Gazlay, who said he was disappointed to see the loss of trees on the St. Lawrence Estates condominiums site at Center and Seven Mile. After that, Planning Consultant Don Wortman developed an outline for a possible woodlands protection ordinance which was presented to the commission Tuesday, April 4.

Wortman actually suggested two possible courses of action: a new. separate woodlands ordinance; and tighter restrictions in the site plan approval process to require protection and replacement of significant

Following along the lines of similar ordinances in local communities, a Northville ordinance could include an inventory of all significant trees. The city would determine if any development plan might impact woodlands; if so, the project would have to go before a city board for consideration, possibly with a recommendation to the planning commis-

Wortman suggested an environmental quality board could be set up for this, and said such a board could also have some other responsibilities (see related story).

If the city did not want to write a full, new ordinance for tree protection, an alternative could be to amend the site plan review regulations in the zoning ordinance to insure that trees the commission expects to be saved are not removed.

Wortman also said individual trees in developed areas could be designated for protection, with penalties and fines possible for illegal cutting.

In cases where important trees are cut. an ordinance could require mitigation, or replacement trees, he

Wortman said he was leaning toward the zoning ordinance revision as the best way to address the issue. "I think this (a full-fledged woodlands protection ordinance) might be a little overkill," he said.

Commissioner Greg Presley said the Northville Township woodlands ordinance requires any tree over eight inches in diameter be noted. A requirement like that could have prevented the St. Lawrence Estates situation, he said: "All of them went. Every stinking one of them is gone."

Commissioner David Totten said community support would be essential to the success of such an ordinance, and Presley said a public hearing might be a good way to see if the support exists.

Gazlay said Wortman's outline of a possible ordinance was more extensive than he expected, and suggested that the zoning ordinance revision would be the best way to regulate the trees. He added that he would not like the tree regulation to add to the work of the city manager or building department, and suggested the oversight responsibility should be with the planning commission. He also said he would like to see stricter limits on grading a site.

Commission Vice Chairperson John Hardin also suggested the site plan requirements might be the best way to address the issue.

Totten said one problem with fewer restrictions is that it may put too much faith in the developer who promises trees will be saved. "It's a way to get us off his back, and then he goes off and does what he feels like doing anyway," Totten said.

City Manager Steve Walters said that situation arises now because the city has no requirement to save the trees. Before engaging in enforcement, there must be something to enforce, he said. The authority for the city to stop a developer's work if an unauthorized tree is removed could prove effective, he added.

Day care bill for cities is stalled in state legislature

trol over small day-care operations is stalled in a state Senate committee.

Early in the current legislative session the measure, Senate Bill 177, was referred to the Senate's Human Resources and Senior Citizen Committee, chaired by state Sen. Fred Dillingham (R-Fowlerville). But it has sat there for several weeks with no committee hearing because of objections to the bill raised by individual cities and the Michigan Municipal League (MML).

A meeting recently between Dillingham, the MML, and day care providers "reached a conclusion that there can't be compromise" among the interested parties, said Jim

A bill which would limit cities' con- Crawford, a staff assistant to Dillingham.

Essentially, what the bill would do is require cities to consider in-home day-care operations - serving up to 12 children — as a residential use of land. It would require that home day care operations must be at least 1,500 feet from one another, although a city could reduce that figure at its discretion. The bill would allow cities some regulation on hours of operation and parking requirements.

Opponents of the bill — including the Northville City Council — have argued that it would remove local control over zoning from cities. Other objections have said that in-home day care is in fact a business and

who represents the north side of the city — say that day care in a home is a needed service, and should not be subject to prohibition by local governments. Late last year, in the final hours of the legislative session, the state passed the rules for townships and rural countie: The bill for cities lost by one vote when a couple of senators known to be in favor did not vote. But now passage does not look like a sure thing, Crawford said, although the interested parties plan to continue discussions. There are no immediate plans to take the issue up in

"We're going to have some more meetings and try to iron this thing out "Crawford said

But that may not happen. He also said that "the (Michigan Municipal) League is going to fight the bill tooth and nail."

At a recent city council meeting, Mayor Pro Tem Carolann Ayers reported that the MML was encouraging its members to fight the bill while it is under consideration in committee, believing there is a better chance to squelch it at the com-

The city council agreed to send letters opposing the bill to all the committee members. The city had earlier sent similar letters to its local representatives, including Faxon and State Sen. R. Robert Geake (R-Northville Township), who is a cosponsor of the bill.

"Right now there's no immediate plan to take (the bill) up in committee," Crawford said. That also means there are no plans to send it on to the Senate floor, he added.

However, Crawford said, that could all change quickly with continued discussion.

In addition to Northville, a host of other Michigan cities have gone on record in formal opposition to the bill. Crawford said some, including Farmington Hills and Huntington Woods, have lately been cracking down on in-home day-care providers. "You have (the requirement to allow in-home day care) in townships and counties, but you don't have it in cities, where the biggest problem is," Crawford said. "The biggest problem remains, of this date, unaddressed.' Although Northville city officials oppose the state proposal, saying it would pre-empt local control of zoning, they are also exploring the possibility of allowing day care in homes. The current zoning ordinance does not address in-home day care, but the city council is considering a plan that would allow such use in a limited way (see related story).

The issue arose locally when one day-care provider was ticketed.

Public hearing on city day care ordinance set for April 17

The last big chance for the public to speak out on in-home day care in the City of Northville is scheduled for Monday, April 17.

At its meeting starting at 8 p.m. that night, the city council will hold a public hearing on proposed changes to the city ordinances covering child day care in private

In-home day care is currently prohibited in the city, although the city is aware of some such operations. If approved, the new ordinance would permit day care serving up to six children in single-family-zoned areas. It would also require registration of day care operations serving more than four children, and would lay down a few requirements for all day care homes.

A pending state law which would require cities to consider all day care homes serving up to 12 children as a residential land use is currently stalled in the state legislature (see related story).

The current proposal at the city level is actually made up of two separate, proposed ordinances. However, Mayor Chris Johnson said Monday that the council would hold a single hearing to gather all public comments related to day care.

One half of the proposal is an amendment to the zoning ordinance. This would adopt state definitions for different sizes and types of day care facilities, including "family day care home," six or fewer children served in a private residence; "group day care home," a private home serving seven to 12 children; and "child day care center," which is any other day care facility.

The zoning change would allow family day care homes in areas zoned R-1A, R-1B, R-2 and R-3. The other two classes would be allowed in general commercial district, local commercial district and professional business of-general law code to regulate day care operations. Proposed requirements include:

The second part of the proposal would amend the city's

- No operation between 10 p.m. and 6 a.m.
- Must have a current state license. • Must have a minimum outdoor play area within walking distance, protected from hazards. There is a 400square-foot minimum for family day care homes and a
- 1,200-square-foot minimum for the other two classes. · No outdoor sign on family day care homes.
- · Must register with the city if serving more than four children. The council would set a fee.

City hosts Proposal D hearing

Recreation officials and members of the public gathered in Northville Friday for a special public hearing on how to spend $70 million in recreation improvement money throughout

The Northville hearing was the latest step in the state Department of Natural Resources (DNR) procedure to consider rules for distributing the money, half of what voters approved in November as Proposal D. The other half goes to state facilities, but the topic under discussion last week was the $70 million to local com-

Meeting in the Northville Community Center, DNR officials explained the history of the program, the rules as they are currently proposed, and changes they are considering. The DNR then took comments from interested people in a formal public hearing, and then answered questions informally.

Northville Recreation Director John Anderson was one of about 30 people attending the hearing, although he did not offer any formal comment. Anderson has said he hopes to apply for some of the Proposal D money to use on local Northville facilities. Maybury State Park at Eight Mile and Beck is already earmarked for some improvements from the state's half of the Proposal

O. J. Scherschligt, head of the that Proposal D grew out of concerns for decaying infrastructure at recreational facilities. Under the terms of the act, the money must be spent for rehabilitation-type programs at existing recreation facilities.

Since the proposal passed in November, the state has been drafting rules, hearing reaction and drafting new rules. The Northville gathering was the last scheduled hearing, after which any more changes will be made before sending the proposed rules to the legislature's joint committee on administrative rules. After approval from the secretary of state, the rules become law, Scherschligt said.

Almost $50 million is set by law to be spent in the lower half of the lower peninsula. In addition, there is $5.9 million earmarked for regional parks and $5 million for conversion of old industrial sites to recreation

Scherschligt said the bond program is "the first time I've known, in Michigan or anywhere, that has dealt with infrastructure."

Under the proposed rules, all governments are eligible to apply for the money, but a minimum local match of 25 percent is required, up to half of which may be donated materials, labor, or federal money. Grant applications can be in any amount from $15,000 to $750,000.

Township warns of closing over mall's fire violations

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

In response to numerous fire violations which apparently have gone unattended, Township officials said they plan to seek a court order to have a local mall owner comply with the violations or face closing.

The Northville Plaza Mall, which is located on Seven Mile Road east of Northville Road, is owned by Franklin Properties. Two of the big anchor stores in the mall are Big Lots

'We're going to file a motion with the Wayne County Circuit Court to fix the building within a certain number of days or we'll close the center," said Township Attorney Ernest Essad.

Essad noted he will file the motion next week and approximately 30 to 45 days will be given to the mall's owners for compliance.

Essad said the township filed a suit in circuit court in February against Franklin Properties because fire and building officials were denied access to the premise to conduct inspecHe said a restraining order was issued the same day give the township access, and both Fire Chief Robert Toms and Building Official Mick Kruszewski went through the entire mall.

As a result of that inspection, Toms said he cited Franklin Properties with about 115 violations, many of which were very serious.

"Many of the violations were minor, however some were very serious such as sprinklers in half of the mall are shut off," Toms said.

Franklin Properties Partner Christopher Redding who has said his group handles the Northville Plaza Mall property was unavailable for comment.

In an interview on Feb. 14, Redding said his group intends on complying with the fire department's regula-

However, in a recently completed follow-up inspection, Toms said

Herb Finchim, manager of Big Lots store, said his store was in-spected by the fire chief about a month ago and was not cited for any violations.

"The fire chief noted some minor problems in the store, but they have been corrected," Finchim said, adding he has not been notified of any problems in the mall.

a projected percentage increase in a community's property over the previous year. Following the Board of Review period, communities must substantiate their figures to the county.

"The county scheduled the township for an average increase of 19.28 percent for residential assessments," Goss said. "But our appraiser went through and checked all the recent sales and reappraised the majority of vacant land in the township and managed to keep the average assessment raise to 16.93

"By law, assessments are supposed to be within 49 to 50 percent of the true market value of a piece of property," Goss added. "These figures keep us within those parameters." Assessment rolls for the township were prepared by Wayne County Appraisal Co. Goss said the county will be picking up the township's completed assessment rolls and reviewing the changes made by the board of review. "They will make sure we stayed within our parameters, she noted. Tom Monchak, acting assistant for the County Office of Assessments and Equalization, said the final audit of the revised tax rolls will be completed by the end of next week.

During the county's audit, assessment and equalization director George McEachran will review the rolls to make sure that communities are within parameters set forth by the county.

Monchak said the tax rolls for each of Wayne County's 43 communities will then be presented to the County Board of Commissioners for ap-

On May 1, the tax rolls will then be filed with the State Tax Commission.

Ward addresses other issues

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

While the issue of building height came to the forefront of the meeting, issues involving parking, traffic and location of a loading dock also drew some discussion from planners and Ward officials

In total, the church will be built on 42 acres of property, with four access points and three main entrances. The building is slated to be over 200,000

In their initial site plan review on Jan. 31, planners tabled the matter proposed 1,700 space parking lot. Ward officials are proposing that the lot run in the front and side-yard areas on the church property.

'after expressing concern about the

Many commissioners indicated that they felt a parking lot of such magnitude would detract from the beauty of the church and would potentially make the busiest township entryway look like a park-

I have a hard time wondering why they (Ward) would want that many parking spaces unless they need them," said Planner Larry Sheehan.

Ward member James Abernethy said the church will accomodate between 2,300 and 3,000 adult members and a similar number of school children on Sundays. He noted the 1,700 parking spaces are designed to deal with a crowd of that size.

In order to quell concerns of commissioners, Ward architects added berms to the site plan that will run along both Six Mile and Haggerty roads. The berms are modeled to hide the parking lot and parked cars from drivers going along Six Mile or Haggerty.

Ward architect Randall Lindstrom said the parking lot would be developed in phases, to meet the existing needs of the church. He said 847 parking slots would be constructed in phase one of the project.

"The church would build more spaces if the attendance of Ward increases," he said.

Commission Chairman Charles DeLand said he believes that Ward officials have done a lot of work in putting together and making their proposal, but added the matter of front-yard parking must be decided by the zoning board of appeals

The township zoning ordinance does not allow for front or side-yard parking and to receive it developers must prove a hardship to the ZBA for a variance on the ordinance.

With respect to traffic, Ward presented a study conducted by Reid, Cool, & Michalski on how much traffic would be generated by the church and what improvements should be made at the Six Mile and Haggerty

Stan Cool, president of Reid, Cool & Michalski, said his study concluded that the following improvements should be made to the site: a deceleration lane should be added to the north side of Six Mile, a bi-pass lane should be added on Six Mile and vehicles should be prohibited from making a left turn on the farthest easterly entrance to the church on

Cool added a traffic signal should be considered for the site sometime in the next two to 10 years, but in the meantime the church will continue its current procedure of using offduty policemen to direct traffic.

Following Cool's presentation, Planner Richard Allen said he found the study inconsistent because it bases the traffic on a minimum of one parking space per every three people in the building, even though Ward's plan calls for one space for every 1.65 people.

Cool said the higher density of cars should not alter his recommendation

Commissioner Barbara O'Brien then asked Cool if he considered several projects scheduled for development in the area when making the study. Cool said he had not considered the projects, which include: County Hearth Inn on Haggerty Road, Kirco Office on Haggerty, Stratford Office on Six Mile and Standard Federal Bank on Six Mile.

While tabling the site plan, Cool was instructed by the commission to look into the higher vehicle density and what effect the new project would have on the study.

able to get to."

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

"In my opinion, I see many significant issues affecting the site plan at this point, with building height being the first and foremost," declared planning commissioner Charles DeLand.

After a long meeting the Township Planning Commission tabled a site plan submitted by Ward Presbyterian Church, primarily because of the proposed height of the church's main sanctuary.

While buildings surrounding the sanctuary will range between one and two stories in height, the focal point of the complex will have an average height of 86.33 feet and will soar an estimated 125 feet into the

These height estimates have caused quite a stir between Ward officials and Township Fire Chief Robert Toms as to the type of fire protection that Northville Township can offer.

'My whole hang-up (with the Ward plan) is that I can't get to the top of that building," Toms said. "This building would be the only area in Northville Township that I would not be able to get to.

"And I can't protect anything that I can't reach," he added.

Toms said his objection to the proposed building stems from not only its height, but from the type of structure that Ward is proposing. He noted that if the proposed 10story building had 10 floors, "I wouldn't bat an eye because we could walk up a stairway and get where we

Since the church will be what Toms called a "hollow building," he said he could not get to the top in the case of an emergency.

"I consulted with my two captains and between the three of us we have 120 years of experience fighting fires," Toms said. "After talking with them, we think that Ward has come up with a building that is too high and we can't protect it."

Meanwhile, architects for Ward church said they have scheduled a meeting with Toms today, April 13, to discuss the height of the church and to try to work out an agreement.

"We are going to talk with the fire chief about fire and life safety issues," said Ward architect Curtis Baer. "We need to bridge the gap to communicate and understand Chief Toms' concerns. This meeting will help us to understand his concerns."

During their site plan presentation, Ward officials presented a fire safety consultant they said helped them to upgrade the fire protection of the the Ward site plan and said Ward officials have created a fire safe building by delving into five areas: prevention, planning, detection, containment, and suppression.

This building is fully monitored with heat and smoke detectors in every area of the building, so early warning of an emergency is imminent," Leighty said.

He added the building will also be fully sprinklered "and if it wasn't I wouldn't be here." Leighty said 96 percent of the time a sprinkler ystem will contain a fire.

He said the other four percent in which sprinklers do not contain a fire is mainly due to a problem with the water main or pipe.

In addition to the smoke and heat detectors and sprinklers, Leighty said he has recommended that Ward officials have their building reviewed by BOCA (Building Officials and Code Administrators), install ground if a blow-up occurs, find a method of ventilation for the building and widen the fire lane for two trucks to pass.

Leighty said he has two churches within his jurisdiction and has had no fire protection problems with either of them. He added however, that neither church is as high as the one being proposed by Ward.

He said he thinks the commission did the only fair thing it could with respect the recommendation it received from Toms.

Ward architect Randall Lindstrom said his group is planning to institute most or all of Leighty's recommen-

Despite the safeguard measures taken by Ward Church, planners said they were unable to approve the site plan until Toms can give his approval to the plan.

"I appreciate the presentation of all the information you've given us, but the point is moot because we are limited in this special situation," said Commissioner Karen Woodside. "I can personally find no way to act other than in the way our fire chief

"If we go against the recommendation of our fire chief then we would be negligent as a board," she added.

DeLand said that while he can agree with the philosophy of the Ward plan, he believes the issue is at an impasse since Chief Toms does

"If the fire chief does not buy off the protection of your building, then I will not vote for your project," DeLand said, adding that Ward officials will have to satisfy other fire chiefs in the immediate area.

This remark came in response to an inquiry made by Toms to other local fire chiefs to find out if they have equipment which Northville Township could use on the church in the case of an emergency.

Letters were presented to the commission from three area fire chiefs (Livonia, Plymouth, and Novi) and all three chiefs said they could not help Northville protect the church.

The Livonia Pire Department has no equipment adequate to reach this height (125 feet)," wrote Livonia Fire Chief Barney Knorp.

"Due to the configuration of the building, the proximity of the buildings adjacent and around it, and the proposed landscaping, I do not believe any fire department in the surrounding communities could adequately protect this proposed building," Knorp wrote.

Plymouth Fire Chief Alan Matthews added that their maximum service could provide a truck reaching only 90 feet high.

"The minimum service that this Department could provide to you at this facility would be limited rescue, protection of exposures and containment of fire to the building of origin,' Matthews wrote to commissioners.

Toms said the response from local chiefs on this plan has certainly helped to solidify his position.

"I don't want to ever have to fight a fire on the Ward property," Toms said. "But if something does happen, then based on their current plan, we can't protect it."

Commission tables church site plan

"This is a challenging project for the community and the church," Larson said. "But we feel there is a common goal between the church and the commission, and we are trying to find a workable arrangement."

Larson said Ward officials hope to address the concerns of planners and submit a revised site plan for consideration at the commission's May 30 meeting.

Height of Ward sanctuary questioned by commission

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

125 feet.

This number, which is the height of the sanctuary proposed by Ward Presbyterian church, has become the focal point of discussion among the Township Planning

Commission Chairman Charles DeLand said the two sides have come to an impasse on the issue of building

Ward officials brought in many consultants to try and address the concerns of the commission.

Ward architect Randall Lindstrom said the sanctuary was designed to be "no taller than necessary" while meeting the following requirements:

· Providing necessary headroom for balcony oc-

Providing minimum height requirements for a 97

Providing the proper volume of space within the worship center for desirable acoustics.

• Providing a sanctuary roof form, free of any and all • Providing natural daylight to the sanctuary.

Lindstrom said the design of the church, with respect to having no flat roofs is intended to "maintain the character of Northville Township." "We have scaled down the buildings surrounding the sanctuary and placed them in a village concept," Lindstrom said, adding all of the buildings will have a brick

He added the church also has decided against flat roofs because its existing church in Livonia is experiencing leaking problems.

"There is a significant difference in church architecture," said Ward attorney Harold Larson. "With church architecture, we're trying to capture the church and the beauty of the community.

Besides the main sanctuary, the church complex will also include a day-care facility, a Sunday school and possibly a K-6 Christian school program. Lindstrom said the day-care facility would not be limited to Ward members. He added that only 15 percent of the building complex will be used for worship and 85 percent for other functions.

All of the buildings will have to wait for installation of the Haggerty Road sewer system before construction can

As for the height of the main sanctuary, Larson said the 125 foot high sanctuary was not decided by accident, but that a long and thorough evaluation went into designing the structure. "We feel we are providing a beautiful entrance into Northville Township that will serve the community well," Larson said.

Conversely, DeLand said while the issue is squarely focused on fire protection for the building, he believes the height of the structure is "inconsistent with the rest of the y trees affected by Ward

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

Approximately 50 trees identified on the township's woodlands map will be affected by the site plan submitted by Ward Presbyterian

A straw vote of planners showed that the commission symports the landscape plan submitted by Ward provided they save as many trees as possible.

According to the township's woodlands ordinance, Ward will have to show that the trees it proposes to remove are causing an undue hardship to its structure and that there is no feasible alternative location for the building.
Ward architect Randall Lindstrom said the building was initially placed on poor soils and was moved to its current location to take advantage of the area's best soil.

Township landscaping consultant Larry DeBrincat said three woodland areas will be affected on the site. All three run along Six Mile Road, just south of the Kirco Office Development.

DeBrincat said he rates the tree cover of the areas as marginal because of the species of trees and the way in which the trees are growing.

He said that Ward has proposed to remove 42 trees, but only 40 replacement trees nave been designated. He added the trees would not stand well alone and should be saved in groups.

Tree species currently on the site include: sugar maples, hackberry and American elm. Replacement tree species include: pin oaks, Marshals seedless ash and London plant.

Township Planning Consultant Claude Coates said he thinks that some trees could be saved without breaking up the traffic flow pattern too much, and added commissioners must decided if it is beneficial to do

Before coming to a decision, planners were presented information from Ward landscaping consultant Howard Dierdorf and woodland consultant Bill Lawrence.

Lawrence said he conducted a woodlands inventory of the site and that the trees involved are not worth saving because of their value. He added the exchange of trees will be an improvement in comparison to the existing trees on the site.

Dierdorf said the goal of the churimpact of the parking lot and to create buffers to make it an attractive looking church.

He said the church has allotted approximately $300,000 for the landscaping design.

Following this discussion planners were polled by Chairman Charles DeLand as to their preference on the Ward woodland plan.

As a reflection of planners opinions Pat Wright said she was satisfied with Ward's plan as long as they save as many trees as possible depending on their value.

Like Wright, Commissioner Richard Allen said he is satisfied with Ward's plan, but reiterated that they must show a hardship for saving trees before getting rid of them.

Anonymous letter opposes total millage rate in city

By BOB NEEDHAM

A recent public letter questions the fact that the city has one of the highest total tax rates around, but ciofficials respond that straight millage comparisons between communities can be misleading.

A two-page, anonymous letter from a group called Citizens for Lower Taxes came to the Northville Record office recently. A cover page said that the letter is "circulating throughout the community, although a random check of a few city residents showed none had seen it.

The letter and an attached enclosure show that the City of Nor-thville has one of the higher total tax rates - including city, schools, county, and everything else - in the tricounty area. Although several communities in the survey have higher total millage rates than Northville, they are mostly less affluent cities like Highland Park, Ferndale and

The data included with the letter is several years old, but a recent check the area shows a similar picture (see

The letter reads in part, "We all enjoy reading the local papers, however, none of us can recall ever seeing the total "bottom line" millage rate (including city, school, county, community college, and special "temporary" millages) for residents of the City of Northville, especially as they compare to other reasonably affluent, and presumably intelligent, communities. Instead. the articles in the local paper often appear to be written by the Chamber of Commerce or City Hall.

"Sure, the local paper will mention that there is a request for an additional .87 mills for jail remodeling, another couple mills for a park a few miles south of us, etc., but what does all this "funny money" mean? All we know is that in real money, a loan is practically required to pay the property taxes around here!

The letter then compares Northville to Birmingham, Bloomfield Hills and the Grosse Pointe communities, asking: "None of these communities appear to have any industry to speak of, and all have exof the most current total millages in cellent schools, so why is Northville unhappy about the tax rate consider voting against tax-increasing projects like the Northville Community Park millage defeated last year, a new library building, and any other tax increases or Headlee amendment overrides.

It goes on to suggest that people

"Look around you. The Sheldon Road corridor and West Main streets are monuments to government waste of taxpayer money with their abandoned and underused county and city buildings," the letter continues. "Finally, let your local government and school officials know you think the tax rates are too high. Let's get the millage rate down about 10 mills to the 55-60 range by cutting fat rather than meat."

City Manager Steve Walters reacted to the letter with caution, saying that it raised some interesting points, but may be off base to some

He said he was not completely familiar with some of the communities, but that he suspected some of the communities that look a lot like Northville on the surface actually have considerably more commercial tax base. He said the ratio of commercial to residential land in Nor-

Generally, commercial land provides more revenue for the services it demands than does residential land. Many people would rather see residential than commercial development, Walters said. "Every time we get one (new subdivision), our taxes get a little more hard to bear," he said.

Splitting up the total millage into the different units is important, Walters added, to find out the actual source of the difference. "It doesn't tell you a lot to know that Birmingham is 55 mills," he said, without knowing how much of that is city, how much is schools, and so on.

In addition, to make the comparisons valid, one would have to find out exactly what the miliage rate is used for, Walters said. Northville includes things as part of its millage which other communities may not in-

For example, a significant — and still rising — cost to the city is refuse collection. In Novi, the city does not provide refuse collection, and homeowners have an added expense thville is probably lower than it could be to ease the burden on residential taxpayers.

for private disposal — an expense which does not show up in the millage rate. "You can't compare the two (Nevi and Northville) any more,'

Mayor Chris Johnson said. As another example, Northville has levied almost three mills for a city-wide street repair program. In many communities, roads would be handled individually through special assessments instead of a communitywide millage, and those costs would also not appear in a millage total.

Walters added that the letter's reference to Headlee overrides "as far as I know, isn't something that's going on."

Johnson, who said he received a copy of the Citizens for Lower Taxes letter at his home, echoed Walters' reaction. "You do compare apples and oranges when you compare the tax rates of the cities that are shown," he said.

For example, the Northville School District does not have the same kind of tax base other districts have because of the large amount of undeveloped and untaxable land in Northville Township, Johnson said. Even though it's in the township, it affects the city because it affects the school district," he said.

'Yes, it's obviously a concern when somebody hands out a document like that and says, 'There are the millage rates and the services are approximately equal," Johnson said. "You've got to go beyond the bald assertion that's made and say, 'Is this a true comparison?"

Some of the arguments in the letter are legitimate points, Johnson said. The issue of public versus private recreation, in terms of the community park opposition, is a real question, he said: "That's a legitimate policy decision that should come out and be talked about."

Johnson encouraged anyone who is unhappy with the city tax rate to come to the city council meetings to study the budget for the next fiscal year, starting July 1. "That (at the meetings) is where you either feel comfortable with the expenditures that are made, or not feel comfortable with them," he said.

The City of Northville has scheduled budget study sessions for 8 p.m. Thursday, April 20 and Monday, April 24. A formal budget hearing is tentatively scheduled for Tuesday,

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND TITLE 4, CHAPTER 12, THE ZONING ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF NORTHVILLE, BY COMBINING AND REVISING ARTICLES 25, CHANGES AND AMENDMENTS, AND 26, PETITION FOR ANNING MENTS. MENTS, TO REQUIRE PUBLIC HEARINGS BE CALLED BY THE PLANNING COMMISSION FOR ALL ZONING ORDINANCE AMENDMENTS.

The City of Northville Ordains;
Section 1 Articles 25, Changes and Amendments, and 26, Petition for Amendments, are hereby combined and revised as follows
Article 25 - AMENDING THE ORDINANCE:

All Amendments to the Zoning Ordinance must be reviewed by the City Planning Commission. Amendments may take the form of City Council proposal, staf-initiated recommendations or citizen petitions, for either zoning text or zoning district boundary changes. In any event, the Planning Commission shall hold a public hear-ing as provided in Public Act 207 of 1921 as amended. After the public hearing has been closed, the Planning Commission shall submit a report and recommendations to the City Council on the proposed change.

Whenever the Planning Commission holds a public hearing to consider a proposed change in the Zoning District Boundaries, a written notice of such time and bed drainge in the 20thing District coundaries, a written house of such time and place for a public hearing shall be mailed to the owners, at the address given in the last assessment rolls, of all lots or parcels of land lying within three hundred (300) feet of the boundaries or within 5 lots in every direction of the area proposed to be rezoned, whichever is the greater area. Notices of public hearing shall also be sent to each public utility company and each railroad owning or operating within the dis-tricts or zones affected. Such notices shall be delivered personally or by first class mail, at least fifteen (15) days prior to the date of the hearing.

Citizen petitions for zoning ordinance amendments shall be submitted to the City Clerk on standard forms provided at least lifteen (15) days prior to the next regularly scheduled Planning Commission meeting. At the next regularly scheduled meeting, the Planning Commission shall set a date for a public hearing to receive public comment. The standard forms shall be completed in the manner prescribed and such documents, as required by the ordinance, shall be filed with the Clerk. A fee schedule, as provided by resolution of the City Council, shall be levied against each petitioner to cover the costs of administering the application process and for adversising public hearings and other incidental costs relative to said petition. The City Clerk shall transmit the application to the Planning Commission.

"It is an unwritten policy that a board member does not become president two years in a row," Hansen said, adding any future occupancy of the presidency spot is too premature to comment on.

She said she is seeking a third time on the board because there is unfinished business which needs to be addressed.

"I want to run again because we are in the middle of a strategic plan and I feel a part of it," Hansen said, adding she is also excited to be a part of the reopening of Moraine Elementary School.

As for goals during her third term on the board, Hansen said she is excited to put the strategic plan into action, once it is submitted to the board on June 12.

'I hope to see the long-term action plan put on line and functional during my next term," Hansen said.

Planners set date for second meeting

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

Faced with large agendas and meetings running until midnight, the Township Planning Commission has set the first Tuesday of each month as a second meeting date.

as a second meeting date.

Planning Chairman Charles

DeLand said he will decide if a second meeting is needed based on the approximate length of the regularly scheduled meeting, which is on the last Tuesday of each month.

DeLand said developers seeking to be on a commission meeting agenda must file their request 19 days before the date of the meeting. He added that he will determine shortly after the 19 day deadline whether a second meeting will be needed.

Planner Richard Allen said the second meeting should be viewed only as a backup and added the commission should work hard to fit all issues into one meeting.

"We owe it to petitioners and residents to work quickly and not dawdle at meetings," Allen said. Township Planning Director Caroi

Henry said the clerk's office suggested that either the first Tuesday or Wednesday of the month be designated as the alternate commission meeting day, based on the availability of the township meeting displeasure about having their se-cond meeting only one week following the first, planners said it was convienient since all of the material would already be reviewed by planning and engineering consultants. Regardless of appearing on the first or second meeting agenda, developers will be required to submit information 19 days prior to the first

The matter of designating a second meeting date arose after a long commission meeting on Tuesday, March

Commissioner Larry Sheehan brought up the issue of having a second meeting after planners had to postpone action on reviewing a site plan submitted by Ward Presbyterian Church due to the length of the agenda.

Sheehan said tabling plans because of time constraints is unfair to both developers and residents who are interested in speaking on a particular project.

According to Henry, adding a second meeting is almost a necessity with the heavy agendas that have come before planners within the last

"I don't think there is a choice about having a second meeting because we can't be here all night. Henry said. "Since I started here about a year ago, there has probably been only one month when a second After initially expressing meeting has not been set. So, I think millages local governments may levy: the Headlee tax limitation amendment to the state constitution, and the truth-in-taxation statute.

For the next fiscal year, Walters' estimate shows that the Headlee amendment will limit the city to 17.6 mills for operations without a citywide vote of the people. Walters said the city should come in well under

But the city may very well have to consider truth in taxation requirements, Walters said. Under this statute, a local government must publicly notify taxpayers if increased property assessments will result in the government getting any more tax money than it got the previous year. If the government wants to use such new tax revenue beyond the rate of inflation — set at 4.1 percent this year — it must hold a special public hearing on the matter.

In looking at the levy for city operations, using just new tax revenue from new construction would bring in $1,509,630 at 10.96 mills. Using the new construction revenue plus an allowance for the inflation rate would bring in about $1,571,530 at 11.41 mills, Walters said.

Any millage beyond that figure would be a tax increase in real dollars. The city will either have to go beyond that millage level — by .6 mill. Walters estimate cut the budget to balance. Walters said he and Finance Director Beverly Morrison will probably be able to make some changes to eliminate most of the shortfall.

In addition to the millage for operations, the city also expects to levy about .7 mill for the rest of a two-year capital outlay program begun a year ago. The Randolph Drain and South Main paving millages will also be levied again.

To the taxpayer, a mill is $1 in tax for every $1,000 of assessed property

At Monday's session, the council basically got an overview of the general fund. The council expects to address police, public works, and other budget sectors in upcoming; study sessions. The next session is scheduled for 8 p.m. Thursday, April

The bulk of the general fund budget is unchanged from the current year. Some changes include:

- · An increase of about $15,000 in state-shared revenues, the city's local share of state taxes. This is expected to rise from $460,100 to
- · A new $16,000 expense for a complete reorganization of the city's ordinance books. This has been planned for some time but delayed because of, inadequate funds.
- An increase of more than $30,000 in refuse collection costs over this year's estimate, and of more than $100,000 over this year's original budget. The increase is due largely to higher costs for landfill dumping

The next budget study session is scheduled for Thursday, April 20. The council expects to adopt the budget at a hearing Tuesday, May 30.

Our Opinion

Good planning decision to back up fire chief

How big is too big? This appears to be the question facing township planning commissioners in the latest tabling of Ward Presbyterian's plans for a massive church project on Six Mile

The crux of the problem at this stage appears to be Fire Chief Robert Toms contention that a church that rises 125 feet in the air is just too tall to be properly protected by a fire department with a maximum reach of 70 feet. That makes sense.

Surrounding communities were polled and their fire chiefs noted that they too lack the necessary reach for that size building.

Planning commissioners were correct in telling Ward representatives that unless the fire chief can approve of a site plan for the church, they are not going to pass it.

While Ward brought in its own fire expert from Illinois to explain that the church can make the building fire safe by other means, making it accessible for the local fire department seems to be an absolutely necessary part of the site plan. Just as a building would not be approved if adequate hydrants and space for fire trucks were not included in the plan, keeping the height within local fire fighting limits should be a part of all site plans.

Representatives from the church are due to meet with Chief Toms today to talk about the fire protection problem. Ward representatives said they hoped the meeting would help them better understand the concerns of the fire chief. We hope that is the case.

DEVELOPMENT

primarily because of the fire protection problem, there were several other outstanding concerns raised by the commission that Ward, despite the enormous amount of information presented during the meeting, was unable to satisfy. Woodlands, traffic, parking and other items were flagged. But the biggest overall concern seems to be the size of the building.

The original site plan submission in January was tabled for lack of information. It was at that stage that plans to control the size of churches. which are allowed in residential neighborhoods, began. That church ordinance will most likely not affect Ward Presbyterian.

Because of that, planners cannot turn down the Ward site plan just because of its size. What they can do with the help of Ward — is make sure that the plans are safe and the best possible for the important entryway for the township.

Ward representatives seem committed to making their plans work. Although disappointed with the tabling of the site plan, all involved said they would work closely with the township to make the project a good one. This can still be a tremendous asset to the While the project was tabled community with everyone working toward that common goal.

Ordinance enforcement officer good for city proposal for a part-time ordinance enforcement officer is a sound one, and the council ought to pursue it.

A few of the administrators have put their heads together and come up with a loose proposal for the city to hire a part-time person to enforce city ordinances which the police department and building official do not have time to bother with. The new person's purview, as proposed, would include things like the sign ordinance and the property maintenance ordinance.

This move would mark a slight shift in policy. The whole idea of the property maintenance ordinance, for

The city administration's recent example, was that it would be enforced on a complaints-only basis. Active enforcement of its regulations would be a change, and a good one.

> All the city's ordinances are on the books for a reason, and all deserve attention. The one possible point against the new position is cost, but that may not be a problem: the city manager believes the post could be funded for the rest of this fiscal year with available money from building inspec-

The city ought to go ahead with this position. It should serve to improve the community one more notch.

Anyone's craft

It seemed like a logical question, so I just asked him.

"Do people ever comment on the fact that weaving isn't really a man's handicraft?'

A smile creeped up on his lips ever so slowly and I knew he was laughing inside.

"Only young people under the age of 30," he said. Amusement danced in his eyes.

Martin Maki, president of the Mill Race Weavers Guild, then explained that weaving was traditionally a "man's profession." About 100 years ago, weaving was a grueling task. Men traveled from place to place to set up their looms and worked until they completed a job. Women were normally the spinners, he explained.

"So, no, I don't think it's strange," he continued. "I find it challenging."

I nodded in agreement.

"Hey, I only made that remark because a young female reporter from the Detroit Free Press once asked me the very same question."

It was obvious that he was trying to make me feel

"You'll have to admit that there aren't many male weavers," I said on a lighter note. He agreed. We looked around the room to find only two other men in a group of a dozen at the Mill Race Weavers Guild meeting. There

Through the course of the conversation I learned that Maki weaves intricate tapestries for churches throughout the U.S. — a highly specialized craft. Now retired, the Royal Oak resident belongs to several weaving guilds and practices his technique devotedly. He teaches weaving workshops and owns six looms.

Guild member Ruth Whitmyer then told me that Ken Lunn, another weaver in the group, wove the delicate white curtains hanging at the windows of the cottage at Mill Race Village.

One glance at the curtains and again I was slightly embarrassed by my earlier question. After sitting in on part of the group's meeting, it became even more evident that it didn't matter what gender a weaver was.

Under the oaks

After the fact

There isn't a story. But for awhile early this morning I thought there was going to be a good one.

It was shortly before two in the morning and I was getting ready to go home. Turned off the coffee pot. Filled the humidifier. Shut down the computers. Turned off the lights.

And just as I was about to head out the door, I heard the news of the high-speed police chase come in over the scanner. At least I think it was the scanner. But I'm not sure whether I first heard the sirens on the scanner or outside the window.

The chase was coming right at me. Northbound on Sheldon Road (Center Street) from Plymouth toward Novi. Looking out the window. I didn't see the object of the chase. But I saw somewhere between three and five squad cars - I'm really not sure how many, it all happened so fast — in hot pursuit with overheads swirling and sirens blar-

The scanner was busy with messages, alerting Novi officers the chase was coming their way . . . trying to get them to set up road blocks. But the guy got away. Got to Novi Road, then west on Nine Mile — away from the roadblocks. Officers terminated the chase at Nine Mile and Novi Road. Last I heard the suspect was northbound on Beck.

So there isn't a story. No pictures of police apprehending the person who had led them on a high-speed chase which started when they tried to pull him over for speeding in Washtenaw County.

As I got in my car to head home, I was thinking how lucky the guy was to have gotten away. And how for-tunate it was that nobody had been driving along Main Street when all those cars came flying through that intersection.

Local student wins speech contest

This is another in the continuing series of columns written for the Record by Charles Stilec, Northville High School Student Assistance Program Coordinator.

A Northville High School Junior, Barb Woodruff, recently was the winner of the "No Drug Use" Silverdome Rally speech contest. On April 8, as a result, she will be speaking out against drugs to all Michigan students at the Silverdome in Pontiac.

Barb was very willing to share her speech with this writer. It should be mentioned that Barb is an active member of Students Against Drunk Driving (SADD) and a Junior Class Representative. No Drugs for Me

About a year ago I tried Cookies and Cream ice-cream for the first time, and by the second time, it had quickly become my favorite. I love it. But it does present a problem. See I'm one of those people who is always trying new diets, and it's never the Big Macs, chocolate cake or Greektown food that I can't turn down, it's the Cookies and Cream ice-cream. Even though I know that I shouldn't be eating it, I still will.

You don't even need to wave a spoonful in front of my face. In fact, if you put a carton of Cookies and Cream at one end of a football field and the best NFL defensive line in between, I guarentee you I would do everything possible to get through and get to that ice-cream!

There are a few times that it does come in handy for me though.

I get these late-night babsitting jobs and I feel guilty if I'm asleep when the parents come home, but it gets a little hard to stay awake at two in the morning. So it's about that time that I make a run for the freezer and fix myself a bowl of Cookies and Cream. I've never been caught sleeping this; you're still in your driveway, in the car, the engine is running, and he pops the question. "What do ya wanna do?" Ever since I discovered Cookies and Cream, I suggest that we go for ice-cream. For some reason, by the time I finish my cone, the tension is broken and the conversations are

But it's definitely the last dates that it really comes through for me. I come home so upset that I've just gotta have a bowl, in fact this is grounds for the whole carton. When I'm finished, my stomach might hurt a little but all my problems seem to be solv-

We all know though that I'm not here to talk about ice-cream, I'm here to talk about drugs, and I see people using drugs the same way I use Cookies and Cream icecream and it's not funny, but it is scary!

Because I know that it's not the ice cream that's keeping me awake, I stayed awake because I was doing something. Cookies and Cream didn't break the tension or make it easier to talk, it only gave me something to do. And it definitely didn't solve all my problems, I did!

But people who use drugs don't give themselves that credit. They use drugs as a crutch, and you know what, they might try every drug possible before they realize it, but they're never your own crutch and you need to make sure you'r strong enough to support yourself.

One way I've made myself stronger is I've made saying no to drugs a value to me. Just like I work hard to get a healthy body, I have to work hard to get a healthy value so I know that I can stand up to a drug related situation and "Say No!"

I realized that I wouldn't be kidding anyone if I said, "I'll only try it once, I really just want the feeling." I haven't been able to turn down a bowl of ice-cream. Or how about those first dates. Picture What would ever make me think that I could turn down a high that I could never get from Cookies and Cream, and has half as many calories. I have no right to believe that, and I have no right to use drugs!

That's why I decided that I'd rather gain weight than an addiction!

When people get away with using drugs for the first time it's usually because their parents have the famous talk with them. It goes something like this, "We're real disappointed that you've been trying drugs, but we never want you to feel alone. Your aunt, who is a lawyer, and your big brother, and even your father and I have tried drugs before. Just don't ever do it again!". Yeh right! You've just been told that the people that you look up to in life have tried drugs. So you figure, "Once in a while won't hurt me, after all they did it and look where they are now."

So I've found role-models who don't hold me back because they've used drugs. I also stay busy with things that make me happy without using drugs. People smiling at me makes me happy, but if I'm in the hallway or at a party, and someone smiles at me, I need to know it's real and not a perma-grin because they're high. See, I don't enjoy being around people who are fake, so I stay away from people who have been using Drugs is a topic that you're better off not talking about from experience, unless your experience is with saying no. Because I 'Say No'', I can feel good every day, instead of just when I'm high.

You can justify anything you want to do, including using drugs. But it's a lot easier to justify something you know is right, like not ever using drugs.

I really hope that you'll remember the things I've said today and decide for yourself like I have that drugs aren't for

Commission denies proposal to expand apartment project

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

Northville Place Apartments will not be expanding from one to two bedrooms, following denial of a revised site plan by the Township Planning Commission on March 28.

Developer Mark Jacobson submitted the new site plan which proposed to increase the density of the complex by revising three buildings and expanding two others.

The apartment complex is located between Eight Mile Road and Silver Spring Drive.

Architect Alex Bogaertz said his expansion project will not change the existing site plan, but will add to the room count of the complex.

'The developer has found that the percentage of one bedroom apartments in the project is too high and he wants to bring more two bedroom apartments to the property," Bogaertz said.

Township Planning Consultant Claude Coates said the developer is proposing increasing the density of the buildings by 56 rooms to 53 units.

Coates added such a move would bring the room count for the buildings to 1,896 rooms, while the township's zoning ordinance permits a density of only 1,843 rooms.

Planner Richard Allen said that because of the ordinance density restriction, the commission's only possible move is to deny the project.

Commissioner Barbara O'Brien said the addition of more rooms at the complex would probably not be welcomed by residents of that area.

believe that people in that area find it too dense as it is," O'Brien said.

Commissioner Larry Sheehan said if the developer complies with the density portion of the ordinance, "I think I would look on this plan favorably.'

The project is currently at the density limit for that area of 1,843 rooms. Through the commission's denial of the project Allen said the developer is free to appeal the matter before the zoning board of appeals

After the commission voted to deny the project's site plan, Planner Karen Woodside, who chaired the meeting in the absence of Chairman Charles DeLand, explained "The site plan has been denied and you now have your appeal rights.'

Police finish speed survey

The Michigan State Police have completed a survey of Eight Mile running along Northville, Northville speeds along Eight Mile Road, and may soon have Township, Novi, Farmington Hills, Livonia and Farmrecommendations for any speed changes between Napier and Grand River.

Sergeant Weldon Greiger, of the state police Northville post, said Monday that the basic research has been done. The state police have talked to police officials, city officials, and citizens in communities along the stretch of Eight Mile currently under consideration.

State police were scheduled to meet Wednesday with road commission officials to discuss the results of the research. A decision on any speed changes could have come at that meeting or shortly after, Greiger said. The state police have been reviewing the stretch of ington for several months as part of a regular review of speeds on major roadways. In response to requests for special attention to a speed reduction at the Eight Mile / Center Street corner, the state police already studied that area in detail and recommended no change.

One of the most important factors in the state and county process for setting speeds is a limit which 85 percent of the drivers will obey. Other factors include the type of neighborhood, type of buildings facing the street, sight distance and the like.

Greiger has said the examination may result in raised speed limits, lowered speed limits or no changes.

City faces budget difficulties

major case, the Northville Downs racetrack had its property assessments reduced by about onefourth for four years. This meant the city had to return $52,342 to the track interests, Walters said. Of far less significant impact was a one-year assessment reduction for the Skyline Condominiums on Baseline.

• A 36.4 percent increase in the 1989 library budget approved in December. The budget projected a 7.8 percent increase. Since half of the current city fiscal year falls during 1989, the city share for this year will be $11,500 over budget.

"Those things together produce that problem," Walters said. His general fund overview states he will submit a formal proposal to resolve the budget difficulties, but one thing to look at is the city's other funds besides the general fund.

"There is cash flow in the public improvements fund," for example, Walters said. That is due partly to the light winter, since the DPW workers spent less time on road work and more time on other projects which used general fund money.

The street funds and equipment funds should also be reviewed in the search for a balanced general fund, Walters said.

"The money is there if you want to fund it, but it's not a very good long-term solution to the situation," he

The written general fund overview states that the library budget increase could have been absorbed into the general fund if the other problems had also not occurred.

The Downs tax reduction will have a long-term effect, since the assessment reduction is a drop in tax status which will continue. The Skyline reduction will really have an effect for only one year, since the reduction was based on the fact that the units were not completely built, Walters

It's appropriate that an Eagle should land on Liberty Street on the Fourth of July.

And that's what happened when LaFontaine Jeep/Eagle opened for business at 115 East Liberty Street in Milford on July 4, 1988.

After nearly nine months at the Liberty Street location, the staff at the dealership admits that they still consider themselves new kids on the

THE INSURANCE EXCHANGE AGENCY in Northville has been named to the Key Agents Club in 1969 by Citizens Insurance Company. It is the third year in which the insurance agency has achieved membership on one of the honor groups with Citizens

'The Key Agents Club is a special honorary group established by Citizens to recognize above-average premium combined with outstanding underwriting results by the independent agencies representing us," said James K. Coville, vice president of marketing at Citizens Insurance Company of America.

The Insurance Exchange placed over $1.5 million in premium with Citizens in 1988 and fulfilled all the other requirements to qualify for the Key Agents Club. The agency was only one of 55 selected from among over 600 independent agencies representing Citizens to receive the honor based on 1988 results.

Citizens Insurance Company of America, located in Howell, markets property and liability insurance through independent agents in Michigan and Indiana. It operates full-service branches in Grand Rapids and Indianapolis.

Filing extension may benefit taxpayers

The good news is that the deadline for filing your tax return this year is April 17, two days later than usual.

If you are still rushing to put your tax records in order, the Michigan Association of CPAs suggests that you consider applying for a filing extension. After all, deadline anxiety can make you sloppy and careless and even small mistakes, like failing to sign your tax return, can be costly.

In most cases, the average taxpayer will benefit more by applying for a filing extension than by filing a hastily prepared return.

Don't worry that an extension will increase your chances of an audit. CPAs say that such fears are not based on facts. On the other hand, they warn that the IRS may pay closer attention to a return that lacks proper documentation, such as a W-2 form, or is fraught with mathematical er-

How do you request an automatic extension? The process is fairly simple. All you do is submit Form 4868 by April 17, 1989. The one-page form, which asks you to estimate your tax liability for 1988 and pay any tax due, takes about an hour to prepare. By submitting the form, you automatically push the filing deadline to Aug. 15, thus gaining an additional four months to prepare and file your tax return.

Starting this year, the IRS will acknowledge receipt of the form by mailing you a computerized letter. The letter will include a tear-off notice that you must attach to your tax return when it is actually filed. However, CPAs still recommend that you send Form 4868 via registered mail in case the IRS ever questions whether you requested an extension before the April 17 deadline.

Money Management

Filing extensions used to be even easier to obtain. Previously, anyone traveling outside the United States on the filing due date automatically received a two-month extension without having to file a separate

This year, the only people who can receive an automatic two-month extension without filing Form 4868 are U.S. citizens who actually live and work abroad. So, if you plan to be outside the country on April 17, remember to submit Form 4868 if you can't file your tax return before you

The key term here is file, not pay. While the IRS allows an extension for filing completed tax forms at a later date, any tax due must be paid at the time you request an extension or you will face interest and possible penalty fees, including a 0.5 percent per month penalty on the net amount of tax not paid by the due date.

However, the overall penalty cannot exceed 25 percent of the tax due. In addition, the IRS will charge 11 percent interest (the rate changes on a quarterly basis) on back taxes. To avoid the penalty, carefully calculate whether you have paid at least 90 percent of your tax. This can be tricky, especially if you have many deductions and several income sources. However, if you have only a few deductions and one principal source of income, the calculations are relatively simple.

To estimate whether you meet the 90 percent requirement, you'll need a 1040 or 1040A form at your side. Check the W-2 mailed to you by your employer to see how much tax was withheld from your paycheck and how much income you received. Total any additional sources of income and then calculate your adjusted gross income by subtracting such items as deductible IRA contributions. Refer to your tax form and follow the next three steps.

First, compare your total itemized deductions with the amount of your standard deduction (formerly called zero-bracket amount) and determine which is greater.

Second, add to the higher figure the monetary value of any personal exemptions to which you are entitled.

Finally, subtract the total arrived at in step two from your adjusted gross income. The amount calculated in this step will be your taxable income. Check the 1988 tax table to estimate what your tax bill will be and compare this number to the amount you have already paid through withholding or estimated tax payments.

If that amount is at least 90 percent of the figure in the tax table, you are safe from the penalty.

What if you simply cannot afford to pay your tax liability at the time you file for an extension? In such cases, you can submit a second form -Form 1127. Unlike the form requesting a filing extension, this one requires you to document the details of any extraordinary hardship preventing you from paying your taxes on time. In other words, if you don't pay on time, you have to prove that you do not have the cash, capital or assets needed to pay the amount of tax owed.

Arguing that you cannot pay your taxes because you need the money to purchase a new car or a trip to Hawaii will not win you a delay.

Now, let's assume that you apply for a filing extension and when August 15 rolls around, you are still unable to prepare your tax return. You can request a second extension by filing Form 2688. If granted, the second extension buys an additional two months, making the filing deadline October 15.

But don't assume the second extension is automatic — this grace period is granted only to individuals proving hardship or reasonable cause. Incomplete reasons such as "illness" or "practitioner too busy" are not acceptable. You will have to supply detailed explanations, so don't count on a second extension unless you have a legitimate claim.

Remember, filing extensions are intended to help people who cannot conveniently file a return by April 17. If you are a chronic procrastinator, however, postponing the tax deadline is simply impractical. CPAs say that if you can calculate where you stand in relation to the 90 percent requirement, filing a 1040 may require just a bit more time and effort than the extension form.

BBB offers tips for selecting a financial planner

In the past two decades, financial planning has evolved into a multibillion dollar industry with thousands of advisors who plan and manage investors' finances.

GARY SHELTON

To help consumers select a reputable financial planner who meets their needs, the Better Business Bureau/Detroit and Eastern Michigan has released a booklet titled "Tips on Financial Planners.

The booklet is the latest in the BBB's Consumer Information Series which offers helpful tips on more than 80 topics of consumer interest. Copies of the new booklet can be obtained by sending a stamped, selfaddressed, business-sized envelope to the BBB at 150 Michigan Avenue, Detroit, MI 48226.

'Consumers should not take the process of looking for a financial planner lightly," said Detroit BBB President Thomas F. Ashcraft.

Jeep/Eagle dealership likes Milford location

The price ranges from $8,995 for a basic Jeep Wrangler to $25,000 for a Cherokee Limited.

Jeeps provide the best of both worlds in an ever-changing Michigan climate. "There's four-wheel drive in the winter and a convertible in the summer. It's a fantastic and fun vehicle to drive. I own one and love it," he said.

The versatility of the Jeep/Eagle line and the Chrysler Company's marketing promotion techniques have combined to make it a fastselling line.

"It's the fastest-growing car line in the country," the sales manager said. "It's growing by leaps and bounds."

Besides offering the entire line of Chrysler Eagles and Jeeps, LaFontaine also carries a number of used models.

"We usually have about 70 new and 20 used cars on the lot at any one time, but we have access to almost any make through other dealerships," LaFontaine explained.

The dealership's three-car showroom contains approximately 1,000 square feet. Directly behind the showroom is a garage with six ser-

It may be true that Jeep/Eagle is new in town, but the LaFontaine family is certainly not new to car sales or Milford. In fact, the dealership was once home to LaFontaine Pontiac-Cadillac-GMC, owned by Dan's brother, Mike.

Dan acquired the building after his brother relocated the business to Highland Township. The LaFontaine family owns six dealerships throughout Michigan.

Though their surname is LaFontaine, Dan and his nephew, Gordie, are quick to point out that they are in business for themselves.

The fact that the LaFontaine family owns so many dealerships in the state, each selling a number of different products, makes for healthy competition between the brothers.

Dan's father, who sold used cars in Dearborn for 40 years, was the main inspiration for Dan and his brothers. It was through their father's business that the LaFontaines got their start as dealers.

Dan now has 25 years of experience under his belt and Gordie represents the third generation to enter the business Gordie got his start in car sales while he was a student at Ferris State College in Big Rapids. He would drive the 75 miles between school and his home in Muskegon in order to work in his father's Ford dealership on weekends.

After a few years of experience. Gordie was prepared to move back to Howell and join forces with his uncle

The two believe in a soft sales approach and think that their product should speak for itself. Customers who show an interest in one of their vehicles can expect a follow-up phone call the day after their visit.

The Jeep/Eagle dealership is the first Dan LaFontaine has owned. Services he offers include a once-amonth seminar for every new car buyer. The dealership will also service any make or model, and occasionally offers $14.95 oil-change

LaFontaine Jeep/Eagle is relatively new to the Milford area, but its owner and sales manager have enough experience to know their

As Gordie said, "We hope to sell each car buyer's family five cars in 10 years."

The auto dealership's hours are 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Mondays and Thursdays; 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Fridays; and 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturdays. For more information call 684-1485.

SELL HOME YOURSELF?

QUESTION: Doesn't it make sense for me to sell my house on my own? This way I can pocket the Realtor's commission. Right?

ANSWER: Wrong! It's not that simple. For one thing, the typical buyer is no fool. He'll expect you to deduct the commission for HIS benefit before you even start serious negotiations. Then you're on your own to handle some tough bargaining, curiosity seekers, credit checks and intricate financial arrangements. In the long run, you'll find that a Realtor will sell it for the best price and in the shortest amount of time. You've got a lot invested in your home. It makes sense to sell it the professional way.

Quality pearls, like this strand courtesy of Orin Jewelers in Northville, should display high luster

Traditional elegance

Pearls make a comeback for women seeking style

Story by Brenda Dooley

reasures from the sea. Tiny, shimmering white jewels created by the mystery of nature — pearls.

When a woman winds them around her neck, strands of delicate rainbow-hued pearls add instant elegance. And when a man gives pearls to a woman the gesture signifies love, respect and

First Lady Barbara Bush has made them her trademark by wearing pearls to practically every noteworthy occasion.

Pearls are created when an irritant enters an oyster's shell. Cells within the marine creature's cells act defensively to surround the irritant - such as a grain of sand secreting a smooth, hard substance called nacre

Layers of nacre build up around the irritant to create a pearl. Cultured pearls are formed when oysters are implanted with an irritant at the hand of a man or woman, instead of the elements of

Dave Beyer, manager of Orin Jewelers in downtown Northville, says that most pearls come from Japan, where a majority of the pearl farms exist. The sea gems are cultivated in calm bays or coves where low salinity helps produce more lustrous pearls within living oysters.

Historically, pearls have been treasured and cherished. In ancient Greece, the word for pearl implied "perfect purity" and in ancient Rome a word for pearls suggested sweetness and pleasure.

They were recognized as jewels of love in India and in Persia where Alexander the Great received gifts of pearls from his bride, Roxanne. The most famous legend surrounding pearls is the one in which Cleopatra was said to have dissolved two pearls in wine to seduce Mark Antony.

Ancient history aside, pearls are currently enjoying renewed popularity.

fice there has been an increase in the pearl business," Beyer says.

Maryann Ellsworth, a manager at LeRoy's Jewelers in Novi's Twelve Oaks Mall, agrees that pearls are becoming more popular. However, she doesn't attribute the upswing in popularity to Barbara Bush. Ellsworth described the Bush-pearl boom explanation as merely a theory. Her

"People are going back to traditional style," Ellsworth says. "We sold a lot more pearls this Christmas than we have in previous years.

Theory or no theory, there's no disputing that pearls are here to stay. They invoke images of old wealth, traditional values and impeccable style.

When shopping for pearls, it's important to realize that there are no two alike. Beyer advises shoppers to look for pearls with a rose overtone and a high luster, characteristics of a high quality

He describes "luster" as a mirror effect or a deep-seated glow that can be recognized when looking closely at a pearl. The best quality and most expensive pearls are those with a pinkish tone.

"You should almost be able to see yourself in the pearl," he says.
When assessing size, a six millimeter pearl is most common. Beyer says strands of pearls over 7½ millimeters in size are extremely rare.

"People should have a comparison grade of pearls shown to them when shopping for them so they can see the difference bet-ween a good quality and a not-so-good quality pearl," Beyers says. "Also, they should get a complete written description of the pearls including the color, size, shape and price so they know exactly what they're getting."
Price tags for a 24-inch strand of pearls — the most popular length according to Beyer — range from $800 to $1,200. A 16-inch strand runs from $450 to $700, depending on the quality.

When caring for pearls, wiping them with a soft cloth after soak ing them in a gentle commercial pearl cleaner is recommended. They should be re-strung anywhere between once a year or once every five years, depending on how often they're worn.

How to tell if they're real or fake? Here's a simple test. Rub them against your teeth. If the pearls are real, they'll feel gritty If they're simulated, they'll feel smooth and simply glide across your teeth.

"Fake pearls are spray-painted beads," Beyer says. "You can tell when something is spray-painted by seeing the bubbles on it."

Without the tooth test the average person wouldn't be able to tell the difference between some brands of simulated pearls and the real thing.

The real difference only shows in the price tag.

Black gives time to library

By DOROTHY NASH

How do you show your appreciation to your community for the things it has given to you? Paul Black said he's been doing it for "the last number of years" — actually, it's more than ten - by serving on the Novi Library Board, currently as chairman.
"I love to read," he said, and when it was advertised that the City Council was considering applicants for membership on the library board, "I applied."

There are five members on the board. At the present they are four men and one woman, whose professions, Black said, are Detroit librarian, secretary, judge, court accountant, and himself, a property manager.

'We meet the second Monday evening of each month," Black said. "It's in the city calendar, and citizens are welcome to attend."

The purpose of the board, he said, is "to set the policies and approve the budget. We have nothing to do with buying books. The library staff does that."

The board and the staff work together "to make the library a service to the citizens" — in things like designating number of days in the week and hours in the day that the library is open, and providing reading matter for both pre-schools and nursing homes.

The big current project the board is working on is the three-year rebuilding plan — working on the library exterior and remodeling the

Where does the money come from? Black answered, "We have a dedicated millage. It's in the city charter. Our purpose is to use the money as best as we can," and he added, the board meets once a year with the City Council to report what's going on and how they're

Any interested citizens who would like to be on the library board, Black said, should go to the city hall to apply. One seat on the board is up each year.

Historical Society prepares for auction

By BRENDA DOOLEY

It's that time of year again . . .time for the dreaded task of spring

Before piling discarded items at the curbside, consider donating those unwanted articles to the Northville Historical Society.

The Society is collecting donations for its upcoming annual auction, which will be held Wednesday, April 19 at 8 p.m. at the New School Church in Mill Race Village.

Those interested in dropping off donations are encouraged to do so on Saturday, April 15, from 10 to 11 a.m. at the New School Church. For more information call the Society office at 348-1845.

Northville Historical Society to meet

Northville Historical Society officiers take note — there's been a meeting change.

The Society's Board of Directors will gather on Thursday, April 20, at 7:30 p.m. at Mill Race Village for its regular meeting.

In other Society news, Toni DuSablon of the Waterford Bend Questers 1013 announced that group recently donated $300 to the Northville Historical Society toward the restoration of the Cady Inn.

The school library continues to grow as more donations are received. Any parishoners who would like to give a donation should contact the school office. Our wish list is a lengthy one.

The students in grades five through eight took a break from their weeklong American Testronics Testing to view the trials for some of the events in the Science Olympiad. The winners of these events represented OLV in the competition held in March. The winners are as follows: Grade 8 -Denny Mullally and Andy Rad-zialowski for their successful packaging of an egg in the egg drop; Luke Stockhausen for his mouse trap car; Paul Breyer for his lofty airplane in the aerodynamics contest; and Grade 7 Chris Method who built the winning structure that kept the water the hottest in the Hot House competition.

In the actual competition, Chris Method came in fifth place; Amy Bott, Pam Clancy and Kelly Korreck came in fourth place for their Sounds of Music project; Kelly Berger came in fourth place for topographic maps; Berger also placed second with Becky Albanese in the write-itdo-it competition. Betsy Monczka and Amy Bott came in fourth in the mystery substance project; Luke Stockhausen and Paul Breyer came in fifth place in the mousetrap project; Katie Wright placed fifth in the weather or not project and Betsy Congratulations to all our winners! We are very pleased to have had in our building for the last several weeks Northville's own poet Kathleen Ripley Leo. Thanks to a grant from Creative Writers in Schools, Mrs. Leo worked with our students to help foster and develop writings in poetry. At the conclusion of her residency, Mrs. Leo held a reading of her poems as well as some selected readings of our kids on Tuesday, April 11 in the church. A reception immediately followed in the parish social hall.

A special note of congratulations to seventh grader, Pam Clancy, for being placed on the National Honor Roll in mathematics for her outstanding performance on the American Junior High School Mathematics Exam. Pam was one of 242,900 students taking the exam and placed among the winners.

This week brought to a close our Partners in Excellence reading pro-gram. Thanks to the support of our students and their sponsors we will be purchasing a set of encyclopedias for each of our classrooms

MR. & MRS. DOUGLAS BURNS

Kucher weds Burns

Leslie Ann Kucher met Douglas Scott Burns on a 1982 bike trip to the Knoxville World's Fair.

On Nov. 11, 1988, Kucher of Northville and Burns of Plymouth exchanged wedding vows during a double-ring, candlelight ceremony at Ward Presbyterian Church in Livonia. The ceremony was officiated by Rev. James Killgore. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Kucher of Northville. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell A. Burns of Plymouth.

Kucher wore a full-length Victorian-styled gown of white chantilly lace. The bodice was adorned with appliqued Venice lace, irridescent sequins and seed pearls. She carried a full, cascade bouquet of dendrobian orchids, cattleya orchids, white lilies, white roses and white freesia.

Maid of honor was Dawn Kucher, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Kathy Cassady, Nancy LaPlante and Mary Ross, all childhood friends of the bride since kindergarten.

The bride's attendants wore tealength emerald green gowns of taffeta with velvet bodices. The carried cascading bouquets of pale yellow roses, lilies and ivory freesia.

Best man was Russell R. Burns, brother of the groom.

Groomsmen were Scott Burns, brother of the groom, Geoff Oswalt and Jeff Schmidt. Ushers were Gary Kucher, brother of the bride; Dan MacRae, uncle of the bride; Glen Modson, brother-in-law of the groom; and Bob Avis, brother-in-law of the groom.

A dinner reception followed the wedding at the Holiday Inn Livonia West. About 200 guests attended, including the bride's brother and aunt from Arizona, the groom's paternal grandparents from Florida and other family and friends from Florida, Wisconsin and Canada.

The couple honeymooned in Aruba for one week.

The bride is a 1983 graduate of Northville High School and a 1987 graduate of Eastern Michigan University. She works as an auditor for Core Industries, Inc. of Bloom-

Library plans book sale

Here's a tidbit of good news for avid readers and book lovers.
Friends of the Northville Public Library will host its first used book sale of the year on Saturday, April 22. The book sale will be held in the council chambers of the Northville Municipal Building from 10 a.m. to 3

A special preview for members of the Friends of the Northville Library will begin at 9 a.m. Anyone wishing to join the Friends is invited to do so at that time at the library. The sale features books of all kinds and videos donated by the library.

Videos will be priced at $5 each. Hardbound books will sell for 50 cents, paperbacks for 25 cents or five for $1. Children's books will range from 5 cents to 25 cents each.

Used book sales offer bargains in all categories of literature, according to Rosemary Mentag, chairperson of

The sales also raise funds which the Friends use to make major contributions to the library, including goods and services not provided for in the regular library budget.

In the past the Friends has provided gifts to the library such as a photocopier, computer with printer, map case and glass showcase. The Friends also underwrites costs of the Northville Genealogical Society.

The group has made major contributions to buy gifts for the observance of the Michigan Sesquicentennial and the Bicentennial of the United States Constitution.

Funds raised by current book sales will be used toward a gift to the library in celebration of its centen-

Northville youths spend time in Cancun

By BRENDA DOOLEY

Spring break often conjures up images of rowdy teens listening to loud music and basking on a Florida

But a group of youths from the First Presbyterian Church of Northville worked to make their spring break a more memorable ex-

Under the direction of two adult chaperones and Associate Pastor Martin Ankrum, nine Northville students traveled to Cancun to participate in a work camp coordinated by the church.

While abroad, the youths constructed wire supports and lifted cement blocks to build a five-foot concrete wall. The wall was constructed to separate a Presbyterian church in Cancun from a neighboring residential area.

Ankrum said the trip was made possible through connections the Northville church has with the Presbyterian church in Cancun, Mexico.

"We wanted to provide a construc-tive alternative to spring break," Ankrum said.

The idea originated from a sermon the pastor once offered to the congregation. The sermon involved a story about a parishoner who several years ago went to Florida to spend spring break with his wife. While there, the young man was reportedly beaten to death by a group of teens.

Since then, Ankrum said officials at the Northville church have tried to develop ways to offer youths alternatives to the traditional ways of spending spring break.

After contacting officials at the Presbyterian church in Cancun, it was decided to travel to Mexico.

The group making the trip consisted of Ankrum, Michelle Farmer, Ari Levinson, John Warren, Jeff Lower, Chris Heaton, Scott Bassin, Alice Anthony, Kristin Ross, Annie Ross and chaperones Larry and Barb

They stayed in a Cancun church situated in a low-income area, where they slept in hammocks. Their interpretor, tour guide and general all-around helping hand was Samuel May, pastor of the Cancun church.

Ankrum said on most days the youths worked from 6:30 a.m. until 12:30 p.m., when the heat prohibited them from working on the wall for the rest of the day.

"I understand now why they take siestas there," Ankrum said. The travelers also visited Tulum, where they viewed the Mayan ruins, toured a Presbyterian hosptial and went snorkeling.

Those who took the trip were required to pay for their air fare plus an additional $50 for food, amounting to a total of $450 each.

Ironically, when asked what their favorite part of the trip was, most of the teens said "the work."

"Michelle and I worked on wall supports and moved cement blocks ... that was the hardest part," Levinson recalled with laughter. "I'm glad I went — I was glad to come home, but I'm glad I went."

Levinson said the highlight of the trip for her was seeing the ruins.

'I expected people to be unhappy," Farmer said, referring to the fact that most of the villages were populated with poor people. "But they were content — they were all very friendly and helpful. It was in-teresting to see the culture there."

Warren earned the name "top bargain hunter" because of his shopping experiences with bargainers in ed was bought at the listed price. "I brought suckers with me and gave them to the poor kids . . . that made me feel good," Warren said, referring to his favorite part of the

"It was just all so fun," Kristin Ross said. "The weather was nice, being able to go to the beach was nice. I also liked seeing how other people live. I take Spanish and it was fun to be able to use it."

Although most of those who made the trip didn't know each other before they left, the group returned to Northville as good friends.

"This was the least stressful work camp I've ever been involved in," Ankrum said. "Everyone got to know each other by the end of the trip."
Ankrum wasn't alone in his assessment of the trip.

"I was impressed because there were no problems between the kids,' chaperone Barb Ross said. "It was really terrific. There was as much desire to work as there was to play."

Ankrum videotaped the trip and scheduled an evening dinner on Tuesday (April 11), when parents were invited to view the group's ex-periences. He said next year the church is looking at the possibility of hosting a youth group trip to Puerto

"I'll never forget it," Farmer said about the Cancun trip.

Choosing wine is a learning experience

By PHIL GINOTTI

Worried about committing that damnable faux pas — choosing the wrong wine? Well, worry no more. Or at least not as much as you used to.

That's according to local wine merchant James Spagnuolo, of "The Liquor Shoppe" of downtown Northville, who's noticed some subtle changes in his many years in the

"There are no rules anymore, really," he said. "I tell people to come in, ask questions, and drink what you like. Try them, pick one that is pleasing to your palate, and in your price

"It shouldn't be an intimidating experience," he said.

"Most people do not know wine," said Vintage Wine Shop of Novi owner Morey Gergis. "I would suggest that every customer who walks into a store ask questions. There is nothing wrong with that."

Realizing that intimidation in buying wine doesn't really do much for the business, wine dealers have shown increasing amounts of flexibility in dealing with the public.

The basic "rules" are still same same — "red with red." That means red wines go with the red meats or the heavier dinners. Nice white wines are designed to go with other types of meals, like fish, lobster, chicken or

But the emergence of a variety of different wines — like zinfandels and other "blush" varieties - have helped to relax the rigid guidelines.

The wine industry has seen some local trends of late, which have made consumption of the products more popular than ever before.

Specialization has become the key. For instance, wine coolers have replaced some of the lower price-

Paul set to take over girls soccer program

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

Northville rookie soccer coach Bob Paul has a tough act to follow.

He is taking over the Mustang girls program from longtime mentor Stan Smalec, who led his teams to victory more than 70 percent of the time, including a state title in 1984. Paul is taking over a team that had, what Smalec called, "our best season since we won the state championship" a year ago. But two key offensive figures from that squad have been lost to graduation — Jodi Smalec and Jennifer Schuerman — and replacing their 56 goals and 39 assists presents a difficult challenge.

With all that offensive firepower missing, Paul will employ a more defensive-minded system. And with returnees like fullback Heather Sixt (Sr.) and goaltender Kristi Turner (Jr.), he has two of the best in the state to work with.

"I don't think there is any doubt our strength is the discipline of our fullbacks and our goaltenders," Paul said. "We lost a lot up front — that's why we are keying on a more defensive game. Sixt is really outstanding and we're looking for leadership from her back there

Sixt was Northville's anchor on defense last spring where she earned All-WLAA honors. She will be teammed with two other defensive returnees - sophomore Michelle Mc-Quaid and senior Debbie Stevens. Jenny Beyersdorf (Jr.) - a standout from the junior varsity team last year — is a possible starter as well.

With the addition of transfer Kelly Kronberg (Jr.) - who was Livonia Franklin's starting netminder last season — the Mustangs should sport the best 1-2 goaltender duo in the state. Turner was outstanding as a sophomore, setting a school record for shutouts (13), and is still Paul's number one. But Kronberg is talented and will see plenty of action.

"I feel Kristi Turner is the best goalie in the state," Paul said. "I see her and Kelly sharing time in goal. Kristi may see more time but I think if you mix it up, it keeps both of them on their toes.'

Another strength should be at the midfield positions. The key returning starters are seniors Abby Edwards and Shannon Loper and sophomore

Marcie Dart (right) returns for her sophomore season

Marcie Dart, but others like Jenny Holland (Jr.), Amy Goode (So.) and Beth Swayne (Sr.) also have experience and talent. The potential is there for a truly outstanding group.

"I'm looking for a lot of strength in our midfield," Paul said. "If you can control that area, you can control the game. That's what we will be trying

Edwards and Loper were WLAA honorable mention halfbacks in '88 and Dart was an All-Division selection after a phenomenal freshman season and will rotate in with Goode. Holland has great speed and will probably start, with Swayne a key link

Without Smalec or Schuerman, young forwards like Karen Cavanaugh (So.), Pam Yezback (Jr.) and Ashley MacLean (So) will be counted on to provide some offensive spark. Freshman Cindy Tolstedt has also been impressive in early workouts and could be a factor up front.

'We'll need a lot of prolific scoring from someone like Karen Cavanaugh," Paul explained. "As far as a dangerous scorer, she has the ability to get herself and teammates a lot of scoring chances.

"It's really a key. We need our forwards to pick up the scoring pace. But until we can get them some confidence, we will need to do it at the defensive end. We should get stronger as the season goes on.'

A year ago, the Mustangs were 17-3-2, outscored opponents 108-12 and made it to the state Class A semifinals. Paul believes his '89 squad will be just as competitive, and should contend for the WLAA title with Farmington, Livonia

Frellick looking for pitchers

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

If pitching had little or no impact on prep baseball, the sky would be the limit for the Northville squad this spring.

Head Coach Bob Frellick has potentially — one of the strongest line-ups he's had in years ... especially up the middle. The Mustangs should be solid defensive ly, as they were a year ago, and much improved offensively - but pitching looms as a problem area.

Three of Northville's top four huriers were expected to return this season. But for whatever reason, only one came out for the team — senior Scott Probert. That means Frellick will have to put together a pitching staff comprised mostly of young, inexperienced arms, and that's not an ideal situation in the tough Western Lakes League.

"We should be strong on offense and defense, but we're having question marks with our pitchers," Frellick said. "We have plenty of depth in our staff, but it's just a mat-ter of how fast these kids develop."

Probert has looked good in workouts, and Frellick is expecting him to have a strong year. He was in the starting rotation at the start of last season but an ankle injury kept him out of action for much of the year. So even though he is expected to be the ace, Probert doesn't have much varsity experience and will have to deal with a lot of pressure.

"Scott has good control and he's consistent," Frellick said. "His fastball is good and we've been working hard on his off-speed stuff."

Shortstop Jim Willerer (Sr.) has never pitched at the high school level but he is being pressed into action and will likely be in the starting rotation. The rest of the pitchers are underclassmen up from the J.V., in-

Mustang trackers crushed in opener

Season openers always provide a few surprises. Northville's boys' track opener against Novi on April 6 was no exception.

As it turned out, Novi was much better than Mustang Coach Dennis Faletti had expected. At the same time, his team performed well below the level he had hoped, and the result was a lopsided 102-35 Wildcat victory.

"(Novi) was much better than I thought they'd be and our upperclass kids didn't perform as well as I anticipated they would," Faletti said.
"I think all the time they took off for spring break had something to do with it. We had a long talk after the meet and I think they learned from Northville managed just three wins in 17 events. Chris Kuffner outdueled Novi's Daren Johnson to win the discus with a throw of 137'-10" in probably the most interesting matchup of the meet. In addition, Jay Griffith was the winner in the 800-meter run (2:14.7) and Mark Kiraly took first place honors in the 200 (23.9).

The Mustang seconds came from Kuffner in the shot put (39'-7"), Sean Starkweather in the pole vault (10'-6"), Steve Ventura in the 400 (56.6) and Greg Price in the 300 intermediate hurdles (45.3). The thirds all-time high in Michigan during the fall of 1988, as 169,323 spectators attended Michigan High School Athletic Association sponsored tournament contests.

Girls basketball attendence records set

The new mark, which tops the 1986 attendance figure of 162,395, includes new records of 38,285 fans at regional contests, and 23,176 attendees at the final round games. The paid attendance at the finals of 6,683 is also a

Also setting records for attendance during the fall were cross country and lower peninsula girls swimming and diving. The combined attendance for cross country activity was 7,200 at all sites, topping the old mark of 3,681 last year; while the swimming figure of 2,991 topped last year's record of 2,819.

The football and boys soccer tournaments saw drops in attendance due to inclement weather. The total of 142,943 fans at the football playoffs was the lowest since the 64-team tournament began in 1985, but finals attendance over 1987 was up slightly, with 42,037, compared to 40,082 the previous year. The boys soccer competition was attended by 12,304 fans. the lowest total since district competition began in 1986.

"The increase in girls basketball attendance indicates the increasing popularity of that sport, and girls athletics in general," said MHSAA Executive Directors John E. 'Jack' Roberts. "The weather of football and boys soccer Saturday had an impact on attendance, but we still feel that the support for those tournaments is strong.'

Overall, 334-761 spectators attended MHSAA tournament action at sports the Association charged admission. Sports which do not charge admission are lower peninsula boys golf and girls tennis. Last year, 347,599 fans clicked the turnstiles at MHSAA fall events.

Annually, over 1.1 million attend MHSAA tournaments.

FORSYTHE AWARD WINNER: A combined 80 years of service to in-terscholastic athletics is shared by the two gentlemen named the winners of the 1989 Charles E. Forsythe Award by the Michigan High School Athletic Association.

This year's recipients are Walter Bazylewicz of Berkley and Dennis Kilev of Jackson.

The award, named for Forsythe, who directed the MHSAA from 1931 to 1968, is annually presented to individuals who have achieved excellence in service to the interscholastic community. The winners are selected by the MHSAA's Representative Council

Bazylewicz and Kiley will be presented with plaques honoring them as the 1989 Forsythe Award winners at halftime of the Class A boys basketball championship game on March 18 at Crisler Arena in Ann

From 1945 to 1972, Bazylewicz served as a teacher, athletic director, assistant principal and head coach of several sports at a variety of schools in the greater Detroit area. In 1973, he was named director of health. athletics, physical education and safety for the Archdiocese of Detroit and director of the Detroit Catholic School League, a position he held until his retirement last year.

As director of the Catholic School League, the nation's largest (40 schools/28 sports) totally selfsupported conference, Bazylewicz is credited with the development of events such as the Prep Bowl at the Pontiac Silverdome each fall, the Catholic League's girls basketball championships at the University of Detroit's Calihan Hall, league baseball championships at Detroit's Tiger Stadium, and Operation Friendship, pitting the winners of the Catholic League and the Detroit Public School League.

Kiley served as athletic director of Jackson High and Jackson-Parkside High School for 25 of the 38 years he spent in that school system. He coached several sports at Jackson and Parkside, including tennis for 28 seasons. He also taught social studies.

He is also noted for the establishment of a summer tennis program in Jackson, and was instrumental in a renovation project which saw the city's Withington Stadium receive a face-lift with an artificial turf football field and a nine-lane all-weather track. He also established minimum academic requirements for studentathletes in the Jackson Public Schools, and was active there in the development of girl's athletic teams.

In addition to involvement with numerous coaching and athletic administration associations, both Bazylewicz and Kiley were active in MHSAA affairs. Bazylewicz was a 15-year member of the Representavive Council, the governing body of the Association, while Kiley served on several MHSAA committees.

West Bloomfield marathon slated for Sunday

The West Bloomfield halfmarathon will mark its 13th year of competition this Sunday, April 16.

The event is ranked as one of Michigan's best organized races by the Michigan Runner magazine. Between 700 and 900 runners are expected to participate in the halfmarathon again this year.

Last year's overall winner was Paul Aufdemberge, 23, of Detroit with a time of 1:11:39. The best female finisher was Diane East, 31, of Detroit with a time of 1:25:30.

All finishers receive a commemorative key chain, and category winners receive place awards. Tshirts are guaranteed to preregistered runners only.

The 13.1 mile race travels through this scenic and rolling southeastern lower Michigan community located northwes of Detroit. The starting gun is fired at 12:30 p.m.

For an entry form, send a selfaddressed stamped envelope (SASE) to West Bloomfield Parks and Recreation, 3325 Middlebelt Road.

Novi's Osborne inducted into MHSFCA Hall of Fame

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

ANN ARBOR - Nearly 900 spectators were on hand at the University of Michigan's Crisler Arena last Saturday (April 8) to see longtime Novi Coach and Northville resident John Osborne inducted into the Michigan High School Football Coaches Association (MHSFCA) Hall of Fame.

Osborne was one of 25 inductees from across the state to be honored in see with all the peo-Ann Arbor, and was only one of two coaches who has been at the same high school throughout his career.

'It looks like there's a great turnout," Osborne said prior to the banquet. "I'm very honored to be here." It was the largest and most successful coaches' banquet since the program was initiated in 1982.

Novi Athletic Director John Fundukian estimated that 70 to 80 Osborne supporters were on hand including family, friends, fellow coaches and teachers. 'John (Osborne) is a heckuva coach," said Bob Smith, who coaches Novi's track and cross-country teams. "It's amazing what he's accomplished — I don't know how he does it. As you can see with all the people who are here to honor him, John has made a lot of friends over the years." Everyone from Novi Middle School Principal Churk Names to former Wildcat basketball Coach John Cicchelli made up the Novi contingent.

"Anybody who has the record and the longevity that John has, you have to be impressed," said South Lyon football Coach Bob Scheloske. "He's a good quality guy and a good friend. I've only been at South Lyon for four years, but we've already had a few classic battles on the field and I look forward to more. I'm glad to see him being honored tonight because he

The MHSFCA has 1,500 members statewide and has inducted just under 200 coaches into its Hall of Fame over the last eight years. There are hundreds more on the waiting list.

For a coach to qualify he needs to have 20 years of coaching, and/or 100 victories. Osborne has both, and it's all been at the varsity level at Novi. The man they call "O" is the only head football coach in the history of Novi High School.

"He takes care of us," said Dave

Hartman, one of Osborne's assistant coaches. "He's the master. He can deal with people - kids in particular - better than anybody I know."

"John is very well respected," commented Bill Ayotte, the former Novi girls' basketball coach. "He's a Novi institution."

Osborne was seated at the head table with the other 24 inductees, Michigan football coach Bo Schembechler, MHSFCA President Dan Lauer and Hall of Fame Chairman Tom Fagan.

"We're proud of our inductees," Lauer said. "It's our way of saying thank-you for a job well done. Because of these men in front of you, football in this state is in very good hands.'

"These guys are winners on and off the field," Fagan said. "They are respected statewide because they've done so much for their schools, their districts and their communities. They've served the youth of this state very well."

As guest speaker, Schembechler admitted he had a soft spot in his heart for high school coaches. He called them "the most important guys in high schools today.

Any one of these men here in the Hall of Fame could just as easily be standing here in front of you as the coach at Michigan," he said. "They know as much about football as I do I'm just lucky enough to have "No other profession has the opportunity to have such a big effect on our youngsters as a high school coach. These men are as proud to be football coaches as I am. There is no college football . . . there is no professional football . . . without coacnes like these men.''

When Osborne was called up to the podium to receive his Hall of Fame plaque, he received one of the loudest receptions of any coach. He thanked a lot of people - but mostly his fami-

"My name is on this plaque, but I have a great team behind me . . ." he said. "My wife Linda, my mother Evelyn, my daughter Laurie, and my son Derek. I work for a great school district - Novi - and without the players, it wouldn't be worth it.'

Osborne said he likes to coach because being around young players keeps him young. He also said his biggest thrill in coaching was the perfect season put together by his 1972 team. It was the first unbeaten team Osborne had coached.

"This is a very exciting night for John," Linda Osborne said.

Flushes Fat Out of Body

The new pill is appropriately called the "fat-magnet" pill because it breaks into thousands of particles, each acting like a tiny magnet, "attracting" and trapping many times its size in undigested fat particles. Then, all the trapped fat and calories are naturally "flushed" right out of your body because they cannot be absorbed

Within 2 days you should notice a change in the color of your stool, caused by the fat particles being

Local tankers excel at state swim meets

Northville's Jeff Sieving member of the Clarenceville Swim Club — is currently ranked the second best overall swimmer for his age group in the state. He has also earned national rankings in three events and is recognized as one of the top young prospects around.

In March at the 12-and-Under State Meet held at Novi High School, Sieving lived up to those lofty rankings by placing first in three individual events and among the top four in three others. Sieving was first in the 200-yard IM (2:31.29), the 50 breast stroke (34.67) and the 100 breast stroke (1:20.97), second in the 100 butterfly (1:08.54), third in the 50 butterfly (31.47) and fourth in the 100 IM

He was also a member of the Clarencevuille 200 medley relay team that was second and the 200 freestyle relay team that was fourth.

During the short course season, Sieving earned national rankings in the 50 breast stroke, the 100 breast stroke and the 100 butterfly.

13-AND-UP STATE MEET: Local swimmers from the Clarenceville Swim Club also performed well in the 13-and-Up State Meet on March 17-19 at Michigan State University and Lansing Community College.

Bob Holdridge — a standout freshman for coach Mark Heiden's Northville High School team this winter — placed in the top eight six times in the 13-14 boys category, including a first in the 200 freestyle (1:50.95). He was third in the 100 freestyle (51.07), fourth in the 500 freestyle (5:06.15), sixth in the 200 IM (2:11.16), sixth in the 50 freestyle (23.67) and eighth in the 100 backstroke (1:01.5). Holdridge was also in the 800 freestyle relay (fifth), the 400 freestyle relay (third) and the 400 medley relay (sixth).

In the girls 13-14 division, Teri Juhasz was fifth in the 200 butterfly (2:23.71), 10.n m the 200 breast struke (2:30.91), 12th in the 400 IM (4:59.87) and 12th in the 100 breast stroke (1:11.98). She was also a member of the 800 freestyle relay (fourth), the 400 freestyle relay (seventh) and the 400 medley relay (fourth).

Megan Holmberg placed (top 12) four times in the girls 15-16 classification. She was fourth in the 200 backstroke (2:16.76), seventh in the 100 backstroke (1:04.35), 10th in the 200 IM (2:20.4) and 12th in the 200 freestyle (2:03.79).

Rob Richcreek — Northville's top singles player — won his first match Friday against Brighton

Shorthanded netters dump Brighton, 5-2

The season opener for the Northville tennis squad was a smashing success, and it happened under some adverse condi-

Mustang Coach Dick Norton has a long standing rule that any player who misses the bus on the day of a match, must sit out the contest. On April 7, Norton's number two singles player -Kurt Reickel — did exactly that. Norton was forced to move everyone up a notch to fill in for Reickel's spot, but the team went out and topped Brighton anyway,

"I was very happy," Norton said. "We had to do some shifting of the line-up, and usually it makes a big difference. But we got good performances from almost everyone, and it gave me an opportunity to get a look at some young kids and see what they can do at this level."

Chad Bosscher and Todd Booth moved up a notch to the No. 2 and 3 singles spots respectively, but the jump must have been a little too much — they both fell. Bosscher lost to Christian Peterson 1-6, 6-7 (8-6) but was leading 6-4 in the tie-breaker in the second set. Booth fell 3-6, 0-6 to

In the No. 1 singles clash, Rob Richcreek dumped Paul Brown 6-1, 6-1. The highlight of the singles action, however, came at No. 4, where sophomore Brad Telepo - normally a doubles players — moved up and defeated senior Shane Robinson 6-2, 6-2. 'Brad played very well," Norton said. "I'm seriously considering leaving him there and moving

Booth down to doubles.'

The top doubles team of Ken Spigarelli and Jeff Wesley mowed over Brad Hauber and Bob Lane 6-2, 6-0, but the other two flights were much more com-petitive. At No. 2, Jason Baker and freshman Brit Davis nipped Greg Gabel and Chris Reickardt in three sets (3-6, 6-1, 6-2) while at No. 3, Andy Haas and Kyle Legel edged Chad Nelton and Jason Meredith 7-6 (7-4), 2-6, 7-5.

"It very easily could have gone either way in those last two threesetters," Norton said. "For Haas and Meredith, we brought them up form the J.V. and they played pretty well considering it was their first varsity match ever.

"I think this meet showed me we have a little more depth than I originally thought — especially with the sophomores."

Northville girls' track team falls to Novi, 64-63

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

The only thing negative about Northville's season-opening girls' track clash with Novi last Thursday (April 6) was the final score.

The young and inexperienced Mustangs put together some impressive times and victories, and exhibited some nice depth with a slew of seconds and thirds — but came out on the short end of a razor-close 64-63

Northville Coach Mike Webb had to go into the meet without the services of standout freshman Tricia Lukomski, who was injured the day before in practice. Lukomski was the Mustangs' top sprinter heading in, so her absence really hurt.

'We would have had a much better chance to win the meet with her in the line-up," Webb said. "We got whipped in the 100-meter dash and had a lot of problems in the sprint

Northville took firsts in eight of 16 events, but was shut out in the 100 and managed to win just one of four relay races. It proved to be the dif-

"We were obviously disappointed we came so close and still lost, but it was really the only negative of the meet," Webb explained. "As far as performances, we're pretty excited about the times we had."

Webb was optimistic about his hurdlers heading into the season, and it appears to be well founded. A pair of freshman — Angie Tune and Ris Fleming — helped the Mustangs go 1-2 in both the 110 high and 300 low hurdles. Tune won the highs with a 19.0 effort and Fleming was close behind (19.7). In the lows, Fleming was the winner (53.9) and Tune was second (55.5).

The rest of the Northville firsts came from Leigh Bills in the shot put (24'-1½"), Megan Holmberg in the discus (71'-10"), Rachel Davis in the long jump (15'-2"), Mari Kissinger in the 800 (2:45.6), Lisa Brown in the two-mile (6:09) and the mile relay team of Kendra Huard, Tune, Jackie Matthews and Davis (4:46.3).

"We were first in the shot and discus, but we didn't take any other places and ended up getting outpointed by Novi," Webb pointed out.
"We just don't have the kind of depth we'd like in those events."

Brown added a second in the mile run, with a personal best time of 12:51.2. The other seconds included Huard in the 200 (29.7), Fleming in the high jump (4'-3"), Matthews in the 400 (71.8) and Holmberg in the 800 (2:55.6). The Mustangs received thirds from Theresa Michel in the 400 (72.0) and Kristen Woodsum in the mile (6:11) and two-mile (13:18).

"We'll win some meets this season — we have too much talent not to," Webb said. "These girls have a great attitude and that's a big plus.'

cluding juniors John Chiavazza and Tim Hubbert. Chiavazza is a rafty righthander with a good breaking ball and control, while Hubbert has the hard fastball. Mike Jambor (Jr.) and John Schrieber (Jr.) are also on

The cornerstone of the team will be four seniors who have been on the varsity since they were sophomores and who are coming off solid seasons last year. Centerfielder Randy Jones has the kind of speed and anticipation that translates into great defensive ability. He also has a nice bat and is a threat on the basepaths.

Willerer and Dave McKee give the Mustangs an impressive short-stop/second base duo. Willerer has developed into a solid defender who has a natural flair for the game. McKee is nicknamed 'the human vacuum' by his teammates for his outstanding defensive ability. "I'm expecting a good year out of Willerer and McKee is hitting better than ever," Frellick said.

The fourth member of the senior returnees is rightfielder Brian Frellick — the coach's son. Frellick is a former leadoff hitter, but he's shown more power this spring and will probably move down in the batting line-up. He is characterized as a solid player with an excellent glove.

Underdog Novi Christian cagers grab state championship

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

With no varsity players returning and only six of last year's junior varsity squad moving up, everyone expected the Novi Christian Basketball program to suffer through a long, rebuilding season this year.

Longtime head coach Dick Burgess stepped down last year and Harold McMahan took over, so the program had to work it's way through a coaching change as well. In addition, several newcomers — who rounded out the roster — had virtually no basketball experience. All this prompted Burgess to predict "with this year's talent, four or five victories would be a realistic goal. Our 11-man roster averages less than 5-foot-6 per man and we have no one over six-feet

With expectations very low, the undaunted Eagles went out and put together a very successful season.

"The (state title) victory gives Novi Christian the distinction of qualifying for the ACE National Tournament for the last nine years. No other team in the nation has equaled this feat. Mark Row and Dennis Leech both played outstanding ball in the tournament. I believe Leech — in spite of his size — is one of the top point guards in the area."

Novi Christian ended up the surprise of the Metro Christian Conference (MCC) with a 6-4 record (12-8 overall). But the biggest highlight tian Education (ACE) Schools State Championship. The team has now qualified to represent Michigan at the International ACE Convention at North Texas State University in Denton on May 22-26.

A total of 17 teams from throughout the state competed in the tournament, played on March 18 in Holt. All ACE tournament basketball games consist of only two, eight-minute halves due to the large number of participants.

In game one on March 18, the Eagles canned 9-of-13 field goals in the first half to take a commanding 22-12 lead over rival P.C.L. Christian Academy of Detroit. Novi Christian then cruised in the seound half to a 40poured in 22 points for the Eagles in only 16 minutes of play. As a team, Novi hit on 73 percent from the floor.

In round two, Novi Christian dumped Pilgrim Christian Academy of Cedar Springs 39-30, and again Leech led the way with 20 points. Mark Row added 13.

The Eagles took on the Factoryville Falcons — the pre-tourney favorites - in the semifinal round and came up with a stunning 28-25 upset. Leech scored 15 of Novi's 18 first half points to give the Eagles a seven-point lead at the intermission. When Row fouled out with three minutes left in the game, Factoryville closed to within one on two 32 victory to advance. Dennis Leech occasions, including once in the final 10 seconds of the game. But Leech nailed both ends of a one-and-one situation to provide the final margin of victory. Leech had a game-high 21 while the Eagles held 6-foot-6 center Dick Brubaker of Factoryville to

> In the finals, Novi Christian faced Greater Life Academy of Pontiac — a team that defeated the Eagles twice during the regular season. The Cougars took an early five-point lead but Leech and Row combined to score the final six points in the half to give Novi an 18-17 lead. In the second half, the Eagles outscored Greater Life 16-6 to take the state title match,

Is Your Child Too Small?

Most kids grow at their own rate. And there's nothing to be alarmed at if they're a little above or below the growth chart

For some children, though, it's different. For any number of reasons, they just don't grow like other kids do. But if treated in time, many of them can be helped

And that's the purpose of the Growth Assessment Clinic sponsored by Pediatric Associates of Farmington, in affiliation with Children's Hospital of Michigan and the Human Growth Foundation. If you're worried about your child's growth pattern, give us a call at (313) 228-2769.

We'll set up a private screening on Saturday, April 15 And it won't cost you a penny.

Pro gives tips for golfers to follow

By BRENDA DOOLEY

The greens are turning green. Carts are being tuned-up. Golf is in the air.

When the temperatures turn balmy it won't take long for most golfers to get the itch to swing their clubs.

Before heading out to the golf course with a box of bright white balls and pocketful of tees, there are a few elementary procedures golfers can follow to make their first game a bit easier.

John Koch, pro golfer at Brooklane Golf Club in Northville Township, recommends practicing a variety of stretching exercises to loosen up the lower back, to tone winter-weary muscles and to lubricate the joints.

Koch suggests riding a bike or exercise bike to tone and strengthen leg

"Something as easy as walking also does wonders," Koch added.

Simple stretching exercises can mean the difference between a painful injury and a recreational game of golf. And the exercises aren't extremely strenuous or time-

"It's important to stretch the back," Koch noted. "The older you get, the harder it is to maneuver your lower back and spine.'

An easy exercise to loosen back muscles involves tucking your knees to your chest and rolling back and forth. Koch also recommends rotating the shoulders 10 times to the left and 10 times to the right to loosen

Reaching your hands up to the sky is another simple stretching exer-

Golfers also may want to use a swing trainer to accustom their wrists to the feel of a golf club. Koch said there are several commercial brands to choose from such as the Power Swinger. However, a heavy workout for the wrists is not necessary.

"A golfer's wrists have to be pliable . . . They have to work lightly with the swing and to do that, the wrist should be flexible," Koch said.

Using any type of weighted golf club for practice swings also may be beneficial. But it's important to remember that overexercising the wrist may tighten it up, ultimately affecting a golfer's swing.

"You'll only be swinging 13½ ounces of material," Koch remarked, referring to the weight of a golf

Generally, heavy weight lifting is not advised or necessary for golfers.

Golf muscles are meant for flexibility," Koch said. "You can be the strongest person in the world but if your muscles are tight it won't help you much when you golf."

Brooklane Golf Club is at 44115 Six Mile Road in Northville Township.

Progress reported in battle against smoking

By SHARON SHELDON

Finally good news is being conveyed in a recent report by the Surgeon General on cigarette smoking in the United States. The report entitled "25 Years of Progress in Reducing the Health Consequences of Smoking", states that many positive changes have occurred in the last 25 years as a result of the major anti-smoking campaign. Further, more than 40 million Americans have quit smoking since 1964 and 789,000 smoking-related deaths were avoided or postponed as a result of decisions to quit or not to start smoking. According to the Surgeon General the success of the antismoking campaign is expected to carry on into the next century. To ensure this success many states have enacted legislation restricting smoking in public places, and many companies are also participating by either limiting smoking in the workplace or enforcing smokefree environments. Implementation of a smoke-free environment often includes a company-sponsored smoking cessation program to help employees who do smoke and would like to quit and may include other health-related activities and information. With this type of support for the antismoking campaign, the Surgeon General's goal of a smokefree society by the year 2000 seems achievable!

However, this good news story does have a more solemn side. The Surgeon General's report states that the decline in cigarette smoking has been substantially slower among women than men. If current trends continue, the number of women and men smokers will be about equal in the mid-1990s.

Unfortunately, in addition to the major health risks associated with smoking, there are special health risks for women. Smoking during pregnancy can be a factor in low birth weight and infant mortality, and women smokers who use oral contraceptives have a higher incidence of cardiovascular disease. The key to addressing the issue of women smoking, according to the report, is to prevent young women from starting to smoke. Public health officials are now planning to target future antismoking campaign material at the teenage population, where smoking habits often begin.

Cigarette smoking still remains the most preventable cause of death in the United States. One out of every six deaths in 1985 was attributable to smoking-related diseases such as cancer, heart disease, respiratory diseases and stroke. Future antismoking efforts will continue to focus on educating the public on the dangers of smoking and offering individuals who do smoke information and help in quitting.

The progress that has been made over the last 25 years is commendable. Lets all work together toward the goal of a smokefree society in the year 2000!

The Northville Record is working with medical authorities at the University of Michigan Medical Center (M-Care) in Northville to provide up-to-date information on a variety of health-related topics. The series is coordinated by Peg Campbell of the M-Care staff.

A summer camp experience away from home casts a spell. . . the FUN and ADVENTURE of learning new skills and sharpening old ones create GOLDEN OPPORTUNITIES for developing NEW FRIENDSHIPS and building GOOD FEELINGS about one's "self"!

...The YMCA of Metropolitan Detroit has been providing camping expriences for over 80 years to people of all ages. Most campers come from the Tri-County area, but many also come from neighboring communities and even other countries. The Detroit YMCA Camps are open to everyone interested in having memorable adventures in the natural outdoor settings provided at Camp Ohiyesa and Camp Nissokone. Our camps continue a long tradition of providing outdoor fun, coupled with learning, respect for the environment and a concern for each person's physical, mental and spiritual well-being. In comfortable, yet rustic surroundings, campers experience the adventures of living and playing together, all within the framework of a safe and exciting program dedicated to Christian ideals.

Leadership . . .

...is the most important single ingredient in a successful camping adventure. Experienced YMCA Professional Directors provide onsite supervision throughout the summer and also provide year-round evaluation, planning and program development. Teachers, college students and high school graduates are carefully screened and selected for their staff assignments on the basis of good character and their interest, sensitivity and experience in working with young people. Personal interviews, reference checks, precamp training and certifications lead to a final week of orientation and team building at each campsite. Special attention is given to proper behavior management of campers and those counseling skills needed to help insure that each and every camper will have a safe, fun and valuable growth experience

Health and Safety . . .

...are major concerns of all camp staff. "Safety First" is emphasized at all times. Both campsites have well-equipped health centers, staffed by a full-time, on-site certified Health Director, Nurse or First Aider. Nearby hospitals and physicians are on call at all times. Physical Examination and Personal History are required for each camper. Parents will receive an information packet with forms after their camper's registration and deposit are received by the YMCA.

Camp Ohiyesa's variety of programs offer a chance to learn new skills and try new experiences. Each camper is able to select from many activities: riding, waterfront, sport skills, outdoor skills, campcraft, and handicrafts. Indian lore will be a major theme of summer camp, learning and living the ways of Indians to help improve mind, body, and spirit. From cooking, trapping, sign language, Indian legends, bow & arrow, and games; campers will get a feel for the ways of Indians past. The week will culminate with a closing ceremony that will make each camper an honorary Ohiyesa Indian.

The program format gives staff an opportunity to use progressive skill advancement based on the camper's age, skill and experience. As campers return each year, different skills and programs are introduced. Emphasis is placed on cabin group programs. Cost: $189 per week. Select from 7 one week sessions or 3 two week sessions.

BOOTS AND SADDLES ages 9 and 10 July 2 - August 18

A unique summertime experience for children, ages 9-10, who enjoy learning or improving western riding skills, as well as sharing the responsibilities of caring for a horse. Ranch activities are directed by a CHA Certified Instructor and campers are able to work toward certification at various riding levels. Other activities include boating, campfires, swimming, and much, much more. Cost: $210 per week. Select from 7 one week sessions.

CAMP OHIYESA

LOCATION. YMCA Camp Ohiyesa is located on Fish Lake in the northwest corner of Oakland County. Over 275 acres of woods, activity fields, lakes and streams provide a unique natural environment and makes this a beautiful place to spend the summer. Camp provides the ideal setting for young children to play and grow in a fun, safe environment, where independence can be fostered in a positive way.

TRANSPORTATION. Located a short one-hour drive from the Metro Detroit area, Camp Ohiyesa requires that campers provide their own transportation to Camp.

LIVANIA VMCA WELLNESS CENTER

What is WELLNESS

Wellness is a quality of life. It's having the personal energy you need to look and feel well, fulfill your responsibilities, effectively handle emergencies, and actively pursue your social, cultural, spiritual and recreational interests. No matter who you are or what you do, being well has a positive influence on virtually every aspect of your life, on how you look, how you feel, how you see yourself, and how you perform from day to day. Over the longhaul, a lack of wellness leads to degeneration of critical body functions, greatly increasing the risk of major disease and eventually loss of ability.

The Livonia YMCA

The mission of the YMCA is to help individuals enjoy a healthy Spirit, Mind and Body. To encourage this, the Livonia YMCA has developed a facility that includes two gyms, two pools, racquetball and tennis courts, free weights, whirlpools, saunas, outdoor recreation areas and our newest constructed facility that includes weight and aerobic equipment as well as computer based fitness evaluation and prescriptions.

The WELLNESS CENTER — Open to all Physical and Fitness Center Members — Age 15 and Up

The goal of this facility is to enhance the quality of life through participation. This involves a three step process; 1. use of weight and aerobic equipment to achieve fitness goals; 2. an increase in knowledge about healthy living through written and verbal communication from the staff; and 3. interaction with other members who share common goals and interests.

ADULT WATER EXERCISE

Exercise class conducted in the pool. You do not need to be able to swim. Screening required.

TWINGES-IN-THE-HINGES ''Arthritis Aquatic Program'

The National YMCA and the National Arthritis Foundation have joined together to establish a recreational water program for persons with arthritis. Swimming ability is not necessary for participation. This class does not replace prescribed regimen of therapeutic exercises, but studies have shown potential resistance property of water can help decrease pain or stiffness and improve or maintain joint flexibility, increase muscle strength and improve coordination. Class will meet for one half hour per week with an additional half hour water time at the participant's convenience.

A special registration form is required and participants doctor will be contacted by the YMCA for a medical consent form. Registration form may be obtained from the Physical Education Secretary or Lyn Ruttenberg, Aquatic Coordinator.

Class is open to anyone with arthritis who is able to climb stairs to locker rooms and pool.

Livonia Family Y 14255 Stark Livonia, MI 48154 261-2161

"EARN YOUR WAY"

Many local Y.M.C.A. branches will be providing an opportunity for those parents who would like to have their campers earn a part of or all of their way to "Y" camp this summer. This cannot only be a way of, perhaps, helping the family budget; but, it can also provide kids with an opportunity for accepting responsibilities and getting involved in learning how to EARN THEIR OWN WAY.

Three quality candy items will be available: Mint Patties; Peanut Crunch; and Caramel Peanut Clusters. Each box of candy is clearly indentified with the Y.M.C.A. logo. All sales will be by advanced order ONLY. Cash will be collected at the time the order is delivered. A $1.50 of each $3.00 box of candy sold, will be credited directly to the camper's camp fee.

In order to participate, each camper must be registered for camp at their local Y.M.C.A. Branch; get an "Official Order Form/Flyer" from the "Y" staff person in charge of the sales; and start selling. These are the Dates:

SALES START — THURS., APRIL 13TH
SALES END — TUES., APRIL 25TH
ITEMS AVAILABLE TO DELIVER — FRI., MAY 19TH
ALL MONEY DUE AT YMCA — THURS., MAY 25TH

This is a short sales program using a low cost item for fast and easy sales. We suggest that parents might want to help their child contact friends, relatives, and neighbors. DO NOT allow your child to go door to door or engage in sales situations that are not supervised by a parent. The produc, will be available at the "Y" about three weeks after the sale ends, at which time your items should be picked up and delivered. The money should be collected and turned in to the "Y" staff person with whom you registered. All monies from "EARN YOUR WAY" must be used for YMCA programs or activities.

WOMEN'S FITNESS VACATION

CONSENT: If you are not presently involved in a YMCA fitness program you will need a statement from your doctor stating you can participate in fitness activities (form sent upon request of deposit). We accept Visa and MasterCard. No refunds given except for medical disability. Minimum age is 18 years.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION will be sent upon receipt

QUESTIONS? Call Shirley Eyler — Fitness Vacation Director, 642-8031, or YMCA Camping Services, 962-1590.

Our nationally certified staff are on site at all times for instruction and supervision.

MEALS: We serve delicious low calorie, high energy meals, yummy homemade breads, healthy salad bar lunches and nutritious dinners.

WHEN: Sunday, June 18 through Friday, June 23. TIME: Check in at 4:00 p.m. Sunday. Depart after 11:00 a.m. Friday.

FEES: $220 for YMCA members; $243 for non "Y" members. A $50 non-refundable deposit is required, and is included in the fee. You may make partial payments, with balance paid by June 1, 1989. DAILY SCHEDULE

Eases The Burden For Loved Ones

Funeral
prearrangement eases
the burden for your loved ones. There is comfort in the knowledge that they are carrying out your expressed instructions and wishes.

Funeral Prearrangement Makes Sense

Recent studies show that more than 60% of the U.S. population believes funeral prearrangement makes sense. Chances are good that many of your friends and loved ones have already made funeral prearrangements.

Planning Is Simple

We have developed a simple planning procedure to explain options available to your family. You can even make arrangements in the comfort of your own home, if you so desire.

No-Payment Options
We will sit down with you and record

your data and wishes for future reference. This information will be maintained on permanent file.

Pre-Payment Options

Many times families desire to pay for funeral expenses in advance. This insures that your survivors are spared this expense. Our professional staff can fully explain this cost-saving option.

Romance is in the air...
Catch a little at our Victorian Country shows.

Come celebrate spring with us at our 4th annual . . .

Country Folk Art Show

EDDIE EDGAR SPORTS ARENA Lyndon at Farmington Road Livonia

APRIL 21, 22, & 23

Friday — 3 to 9 pm Saturday & Sunday — 10 am to 6 pm

Come capture the essence of today's country style — wall hangings . . . hand woven rugs . . . heirloom quilts — and a thousand more country and Victorian treasures for you to cherish through the years.

Country Crafts Show

2300 East Lincoln · Birmingham, MI

Come to the show and see for yourself why country is capturing everyone's imagination!
Also discover romantic Victorian items elegantly handmade with the most exquisite of lace trims, detailed with ribbons and roses, silk flowers and pearl accents.

APRIL 28 & 29

Friday — 4 to 9 pm Saturday — 10 am to 5 pm

Craftsmen who see with their hearts, whose bright minds and sure hands produce works of quality — will return you to the most romantic era of all — the Victorian. As we enter the Golden Nineties, let the bygone decorations of the Gay Nineties warm and grace your home today.

If you are building, remodeling, or redecorating your home, the shows are a splendid place for you to find artists whose unique turn-of the-century style has created quarter bensation in the gift and collectible fields.

Each show has over 100 different craftsmen and a collection of thousands of nostalgic Country and Victorian treasures, gifts and cherished keepsakes for those not content with the ordinary. And all items are for sale.
