W may extend one-year terms

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

An apparent gaffe by Township Supervisor Georgina Goss will probably lead to term extensions for recently appointed Planning Commissioner Barbara O'Brien and Zoning Board of Appeals (ZBA) members Thomas Cook and Don Williams.

In an interview on Tuesday Goss said she was unaware that the one-year appointments she made for O'Brien, Cook and Williams last November violated state statute.

"I was not aware that state statute took away the township's authority and mandated a three-year appointment," Goss said, adding she felt the supervisor had the authority to make one-year appointments.

However, according to Evelyn David, public affairs officer of the Michigan Townships Association, board appointments to both the planning commission and ZBA are mandated for three years.

Quoting state statute MCLA 125.324, David said planning commissioners must be appointed for a three-year term, unless the commission is newly formed, in which case staggered appointments may be made.

As for the ZBA appointments, David cited MCLA 125.288, which defines the appointee's term as three years in duration.

Quayle plans visit to the area

By PHILIP JEROME

U.S. Vice President Dan Quayle has tentatively committed to be the keynote speaker at the ninth annual Novi Police Memorial Day, according to Crime Prevention Officer Robert Gatt of the Novi Police Department.

The event is tentatively scheduled to be held outside Novi Police Headquarters on Ten Mile next Tuesday, May 16, at 3:30 p.m.

Gatt noted that Quayle's appearance as well as the time and place of the event remain tentative pending confirmation from the White House and the U.S. Secret Service.

"It's a great honor for Novi to have the vice president here for this important event," said City Manager Edward Kriewall. "It's a major event; we're looking forward to it."

Final details of Quayle's appearance will be ironed out later this week when advance teams from the White House and the Secret Service sit down with local officials to determine scheduling and security needs.

Gatt said the current schedule calls for the vice president to leave Washington D.C. at 2:30 p.m. on Tuesday and fly into Detroit Metropolitan Airport. He will then travel by motorcade to Novi where he is scheduled to arrive at approximately 4:30 p.m., Gatt said.

Gatt said advance information is that Quayle will be in Novi for only a short time. "He may arrive here at 4:30 p.m. to be the keynote speaker at Police Memorial Day and leave immediately afterward," said the Novi crime prevention officer.

Gatt added, however, that Quayle has indicated he would like an opportunity to visit with the relatives of the officers who will be honored at Police Memorial Day.

"We don't know what the vice president will speak about, but we suggested that the memorial day service might be an ideal opportunity for him to make a statement about the war on drugs and the importance of law enforcement officials in American society," said Gatt.

Olympic spirit

Wayne County Special Olympics came to Northville on Friday and Northville's own David Carpenter opened the game in true Olympic style. Carpenter lit the Olympic flame during the emotional opening ceremonies at Northville High School. Many Northville students participated both as athletes and as volunteers. For more pictures and story, see page 8A.

Schools plan hearing on proposed tax dollar hike

In what district officials are calling "an annual event" the Northville school board unanimously voted to hold a Truth in Taxation hearing on Monday, May 22.

District Business Manager John Street said the hearing will give board members an opportunity to receive testimony from taxpayers on the proposed tax increase.

Street said the district's move to hold the hearing "is something we do every year to reap an increase by the consumer price index factor."

Truth in Taxation is a state law that requires local governments to maintain a consistent amount of tax revenue year-to-year, or to follow specific procedures to inform voters of any increase.

Truth in Taxation was developed to allow government bodies to receive all revenue from new development, but to keep other property tax revenue even with the previous year. It was developed to highlight the possibility of assessments on existing properties rising, while millage rates remain the same (or increase) resulting in a tax increase in actual dollars for property owners. If government bodies choose to go beyond the Truth in Taxation limitation, a public hearing must be held to inform the voters, and a vote to raise taxes passed by the board.

This doesn't apply to millage rates imposed to pay off long-term debts.

According to Street, the district's millage rate was 32.7911 mills in fiscal 1988-89. Under Truth in Taxation the district would be limited to a millage rate of 29.26 mills for the 1989-90 year.

Decreases in millage rates do not mean automatic decreases in actual tax dollars. Assessment rate increases could result in tax increases despite lower millage rates.

New county land talks start

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

With their time table moving full speed ahead, Wayne County officials met with the Township Planning Commission on Tuesday, May 2 to begin talks on zoning the 930 acres of land as a Planned Unit Development, PUD.

Although no agreement was reached between the county and township planners, they did discuss goals, intentions and a more specific timetable for the project.

"Ultimately, we want to have the best development possible with mixed use development available," said county business developer Bill Wild.

County Planning Division Director Gloria Robinson said the development, with the proper financing, "should generate revenue for both the township and the county while stimulating new development areas around the site."

Robinson said that for a large land area, "the traditional zoning districts make it difficult to plan and achieve an effective, coordinated development."

Township planners said their primary concern with respect to the county land centers on preserving the character of the township.

After listening to the county's presentation for a PUD, commissioners said they are in favor of reviving a master plan study which began two years ago on the site.

Planners have scheduled a discussion on the plan at a study session on June 6 at 7:30 p.m. "Once we come to an agreement on the plan than we can better address the issue of a PUD," said commissioner Charles DeLand.

In addition to the possibility of a new master plan for the site, the planning commission instructed Township Planning Consultant Claude Coates to look at PUD ordinances in Plymouth and Canton Townships.

Wild said that the project is continuing to move along, as the county recently held a pre-bid conference for each of the 12 final developers. They said they expect to receive detailed plans from developers by June 8.

Developers currently being considered for the project by the county include: Biltmore Properties Corp.; J.D. Blain, Inc.; Charter Development Co.; R.A. DeMattia Co.; Farbman/Stein & Co.; and Holtzman and Silverman.

The list of developers also includes: LoPatin & Co.; Pulte Home Corp.; Schostak Brothers & Co.; J. &

City may see lower rate, higher taxes

A total city property tax rate of 15.85 mills has been proposed by the city administration — and even though that's a lower rate, taxpayers will pay more money than last year.

Budget information prepared Tuesday includes this recommended total, which will mean a tax dollar increase for the average homeowner.

"This is a tax increase that's occurring," City Manager Steve Walters said Tuesday. The increase comes about because most property assessments rose more than the tax rate is being reduced.

The proposed levies for general operations — 11.63 mills — and for capital outlay — .72 mill — are at a level where the city tax revenue would increase at the rate of inflation, plus additional tax money from new growth. The new tax revenue on existing property — even though it only would rise at the same rate as inflation — will require a truth-in-taxation hearing to inform residents of the dollar increase.

If the council approves the recommended millage levy, some budget cuts could be required, and will be considered later this month (see related story).

Walters said Wednesday that if the council decides to levy anything above 11.17 mills for general operations, it will have to hold a truth-in-taxation hearing to inform taxpayers that the city would take in more tax money than last year. The hearing will probably be held in conjunction with the regular budget hearing Tuesday, May 30.

According to the administration's figures, the city could conceivably levy up to 17.93 mills, the cap installed by the Headlee tax limitation amendment to the state constitution.

The capital outlay proposal of .72 mills is for a two-year buying program begun last year. Coupled with the general operating recommendation of 11.63 mills, the administration recommends 12.35 mills subject to the state limits on taxation. This is about a 7.6 percent decrease in tax rate — but not actual tax dollars — from the current fiscal year, when the city levied 13.36 mills. In 1987-88 the levy was 13.58 mills; in 1986-87 it was 14.28; and in 1985-86 it was 15.40.

The rest of the total levy consists of 2.5 mills to continue paying off the bonds for the city street repair program; .6 mill to continue paying on Randolph Drain improvements; and .4 mill to continue paying off the South Main Street paving program.

If the council approves the recommendations, this would also be the lowest total city levy in the recent past. The 15.85 mill total would compare to 16.96 mills this year, 17.28 mills in 1987-88, 16.68 mills in 1986-87, and 16.90 mills in 1985-86.

A mill is $1 in tax per $1,000 of assessed property value.

If approved as recommended, the street repair millage levy would be the same as this fiscal year. It will continue to be paid for seven years beyond 1989-90. In future years the levy may have to be increased up to 3 mills, a supporting budget document says. However, the other city levies

Tax base in city jumps 18 percent

The tax base in the City of Northville grew by almost 18 percent over the last year, according to figures in the new city budget.

The latest tax base figures in city budget documents show the assessed value of all the land in the city totaling $139,666,215. That's an increase of more than $21 million over last year's $118,374,520.

Not quite all of that money is available for general taxation; a share is captured by the Downtown Development Authority to fund the revitalization of the Central Business District. The net tax base for the city

City eyes budget cuts

With budget adoption time of May 30 getting closer and closer, Northville city officials are still staring at a significant gap between expected revenue and expenses.

The latest figures show a difference of $62,500 between the city's expected income and its expected costs in the general fund for the next fiscal year. That situation will most likely force some cuts in the budget, officials agreed at a council meeting Tuesday.

The city council members agreed to hold a special meeting at 8 p.m. Tuesday, May 23 to consider budget cuts. City Manager Steve Walters said the administration would give the council some options for what could be cut from the budget. More accurate figures could also reduce the deficit situation, he said.

At Tuesday's meeting the council also called its formal budget adoption hearing for Tuesday, May 30.

Walters said the budget problem comes from increased expenses, and on top of that, revenues other than property tax not keeping up with inflation.

Next year's general fund expenses are projected at $3,365,490. The fiscal year runs from July 1 to June 30.

NEWS BRIEFS

CORRECTION — There was an error in the "Police Blotters" in last week's Record.

An item about a used mortar shell found by a local boy incorrectly said that it was found inside St. Paul's Lutheran Church. In fact, the shell was found in the trash outside the church.

In addition, the item did not specify the school where the shell was confiscated after the boy brought it there. It was Meads Mill Middle School.

CORRECTION NO. 2 — It's a wise mother who knows her own child, and Glenna Davis pointed out that the Wendy Davis that was listed as a member of the winning 800 relay on page 2D of last week's sports section was really Rachel Davis, her daughter. Rachel also took a second in the long jump in the meet against Plymouth Canton. The Record regrets the error.

ANTIQUES AND COLLECTIBLES — The annual Northville Chamber of Commerce sponsored Antiques and Collectibles Sale will take place this Saturday, May 13 from 9 a.m.-5 p.m. in the M.A.G.S. parking lot off of Center and Cady streets. Over 60 exhibitors will show antiques, some antique craft items, vintage jewelry and much more. In addition the Chamber will sponsor a tent with food service vendors. A new vendor of Hawaiian shish-kebabs will be featured along with the old favorites including the German almonds.

NO BANNERS — WE MEAN IT — The people working on the idea of a Victorian Festival in Northville this fall may have had some of the wind taken out of their sails Monday night — before they even left the harbor.

In a discussion of proposed changes to the city sign ordinance, Planning Commission Member Greg Presley wondered why the draft would prohibit banners. He mentioned that the festival organizers were coming before the city council the next night, in part to request approval for banners across the street.

"That one will not be approved," Mayor Chris Johnson said with a laugh. Council Member Paul Folino explained that banners are already prohibited and have been for years, due to a variety of problems with tangled ropes, banners falling down and the like.

Mayor Pro Tem Carolann Ayers, however, told Presley he was welcome to attend the council meeting anyway.

FARMERS MARKET RETURNS — If it's spring it must be time for the return of the Northville Farmers Market. Next Thursday, May 18 the market will return to the M.A.G.S. parking lot. It opens at 8 a.m. each and every Thursday throughout the growing season. The early market days will feature early crops, hanging plants and geraniums.

POPPY DAYS — The Northville VFW Post 4012 and American Legion Post 147 will be sponsoring Poppy Days on May 18, 19 and 20. Volunteers will be at corners throughout town soliciting funds for disabled veterans, veterans and their families. According to VFW Auxiliary spokesperson Sandy Myers the money raised in Northville will go to area veterans. The poppies given out are made by disabled veterans.

LIBRARY NOTES — Northville Public Library's May adult book display will feature the Dewey Decimal numbers 300-399. This section will include such titles as "Writing a Living Will", "Crimes of Passion", "Best Companies for Women", and "How to Use the Freedom of Information Act". An accompanying flyer will list many more books in the field of social sciences.

Schoolcraft College board looks at increased taxes but lower tax rate

Everyone who pays taxes to Schoolcraft College could see an increase in those payments this year.

For the next fiscal year, the college trustees are considering a property tax rate which would mean a tax dollar increase for most residential taxpayers. The actual tax rate will probably drop — but since tax payments are tied to property value, taxpayers with large assessment hikes this year will likely pay more money.

The college board of trustees was scheduled to hold a "truth-in-taxation" public hearing on the tax increase proposal last night (Wednesday), after the Record deadline. The board is expected to vote on the tax rate Wednesday, May 24.

Schoolcraft College levied 2.11 mills of tax for its current fiscal year, which ends June 30. A mill is $1 of tax per $1,000 of assessed property value. Since assessments are supposed to be half of actual market value, a $100,000 home assessed at $50,000 paid $105.50 in Schoolcraft property tax last year.

The tax rate for the next fiscal year — the rate which will be levied this calendar year — is expected to be around 2.00 mills, Schoolcraft Vice President for Business Services Butch Raby said.

The college published formal notices last week "on increasing property taxes," a move required by the state truth-in-taxation law for the school's proposed millage rate. Truth in taxation requires the notice-and-hearing procedure whenever a government wants to take in more tax money from existing development than it did the previous year.

In other words, governments get extra tax money from new construction free and clear. However, if assessments on existing property rise, and the government wants to use some of that added revenue without raising its tax rate, the truth-in-taxation procedure must be followed to notify taxpayers of the increase.

By publishing the notice and holding the hearing, the Schoolcraft board may levy up to an estimated .366 mill beyond the status-quo rate — the rate which would give the school the same revenue as last year from existing development. The extra .366 mill would mean about 22 percent more tax money.

Exact figures were not known by Tuesday because of delays in getting tax base data, Raby said. But he did say the board will probably not end up levying anywhere near the additional .366 mill because of the Headlee amendment to the state constitution.

Headlee is the second major tax limiter in Michigan. It requires a millage rollback so that a government's maximum possible tax revenue stays the same year to year, plus an allowance for new construction and for inflation.

"Because of the timeline, we're always working on estimates. We build, if you will, a worst-case scenario," Raby said.

The college board of trustees will probably end up levying the maximum allowed under the Headlee amendment, which will be around 2 mills, Raby said. "It will, quite frankly, be controlled by Headlee," he said.

To go above the millage rate limits imposed by the Headlee amendment requires approval in a full vote of the people. Raby said there has been no discussion of seeking a Headlee override for Schoolcraft this year.

"Within the time frame, it's just not going to happen," he said.

The current fiscal year budget at Schoolcraft is about $23.2 million, Raby said. Next year's budget, figured at 2.00 mills of tax revenue, is about $25 million.

"I would characterize that as a status quo budget," Raby said. He said the additional money is needed for increasing costs, salary hikes required under contracts, and "all the things that we all face."

Property taxes account for the largest share — roughly 40 percent — of the revenue in the college budget, Raby said. State appropriations are about 29.5 percent, and tuition and fees are about 28 percent.

The board of trustees will accept written comments on its tax proposal until May 24, Raby said.

Voters in the Schoolcraft district authorized 1.77 mills when the college was created, and added another .5 mill in 1986. Headlee limits have pushed the rate back down to its current 2.11 mills.

Schools plan truth-in-taxation hearing

Street said if the board chooses to go beyond Truth-in-Taxation limits, the district's millage rate will increase to 30.5 mills for the next school year. That is a 4.2 percent increase over the Truth in Taxation limitation. The annual rate of inflation for 1988-89 is 4.1 percent.

One mill equals $1 of tax per $1,000 of assessed property value. For a $100,000 house assessed at 50 percent value, or $50,000, the Truth in Taxation limitation of 29.26 mills would be $1,463 in tax dollars. If the Truth in Taxation increase is approved by the school board the 30.5 mills would result in an additional tax of $62 per year over that limit.

Street said the district will receive approximately $725,000 by overriding Truth in Taxation. He said the district feels it needs these monies to keep up with rising costs.

"The costs we have increase, so we need the increase in the consumer price index factor to maintain the programs we now provide," Street said.

Street said the estimated budget for the 1989-90 school year is expected district residents must be taken to override Headlee.

Bell said the school board is not considering an override of Headlee this year and added they would not be able to include the item on the June 12 election ballot "even if we wanted to."

Street said the district must decide annually whether or not to override Headlee.

The school district has a Headlee limitation of 35.4 mills. The proposed Truth in Taxation tax raise will keep the millage rate 4.9 mills below the Headlee limit.

As for the increase in property value of the Northville district, Street said the state equalized valuation is roughly $574,800,000, almost $100 million greater than last year.

Street said 50 percent of the increase has been due to new construction, while the other 50 percent is due to an increase in the value of existing property within the Northville school district.

The Northville district includes: the City of Northville, Northville Township, and parts of Novi, Novi Township, Salem Township and Lyon Township.

to be close to $19 million. Revenues will be higher than expenditures, he said, but the difference is to begin building the fund balance of the district, Street said.

The district has been operating with a fund balance of less than one-half of one percent in 1988-89. The board has charged the administration with increasing that fund balance by one percent each year. General accounting practices dictate a fund balance of no less than five percent.

Both Street and Superintendent of Schools George Bell said that the district has no intention of going for an override of the Headlee Tax Limitation Amendment to the state constitution, the other law limiting the way in which taxes may be raised.

The Headlee limitation keeps the maximum amount a government may obtain through tax revenue at the same level as the previous year, allowing for new construction revenue and inflation. A vote by the

Cash taken from local car wash in daylight robbery

Mr. Glow auto wash on Main Street was robbed of more than $250 in cash last Thursday afternoon, according to a city police report.

According to the report, the cashier area was left unattended at about 5:20 p.m. for just about four minutes. Upon returning the attendant found all the paper money — believed to be $264 — missing. Door keys were also gone.

GRAVESITE ROBBED — Several ornaments were stolen from a grave at Rural Hill Cemetery last week, a city police report said.

The grave is in the new section of the cemetery south of the mausoleum drive. The theft took place between 5 p.m. Saturday and 2:30 p.m. Sunday.

One of the missing items was a group of pink and white silk flowers in a large, high-handled wicker basket inside a clay pot. A ceramic unicorn and dog, a glass candle holder and a small carousel were also stolen.

DRUM FOUND — A S. Ely resident found something a little unusual on the lawn Friday morning: a snare drum, apparently in good condition.

The drum was found standing up, apparently placed there on purpose, police said. The finder did not know where it came from.

The drum was turned over to police, where the rightful owner can describe and claim it.

CAR STEREO STOLEN — A gray and black Sony car stereo was stolen from a parked car Friday night, according to a city police report.

The car was parked in a driveway on Holmbury when someone broke in by smashing a window. The stereo was valued at $275 and the window at $150.

The theft took place between 10 p.m. Friday and 5:30 a.m. Saturday.

WINDOW BROKEN — A motor home window was broken in the Northville Downs parking lot Sunday morning, a city police report said.

The window, worth $100, was broken between 3 a.m. and 1 p.m.

MAILBOX STOLEN — A mailbox was stolen from in front of a Lexington Blvd. home last week, according to a city police report.

The red, rural-type mailbox was taken between 9:30 p.m. May 2 and 6:30 the next morning. It was valued at $25.

CENTER ACCIDENT — A car on Center Street above Randolph was rear-ended Friday morning, according to a city police report.

A couple of cars were stopped, waiting for another car in front to turn left. The last car in line was hit from behind by another driver who did not stop, the report said.

That driver was ticketed for failure to stop with an assured clear distance ahead.

SEVEN MILE ACCIDENT — A motorcycle driver was injured making a turn onto Seven Mile last week, according to a city police report.

At about 2 p.m. May 2, the driver was turning from Hines Drive right onto Seven Mile when the motorcycle lost traction and skidded onto the shoulder, the report said. The driver suffered moderate injuries and was ticketed for driving too fast.

FENDER-BENDERS — At least three automobile accidents were reported by township police over the past week.

A two-car accident occurred Friday, April 28 at 5:40 p.m. on Haggerty Road near Seven Mile. The driver of car one said she was southbound on Haggerty in the left lane and she didn't see car two stopped for the red light at Seven Mile. The driver of car one added she tried to avoid the collision. The driver of car two said she was southbound on Haggerty in the left lane and was hit by car one from behind. The driver of car one was issued a ticket for failing to stop within an assured clear distance ahead.

A two-car accident occurred Monday, May 1 at 2:25 p.m. on Silver Springs Drive near Seven Mile. Police said that the driver of car one failed to yield while making a left hand turn from eastbound Seven Mile onto northbound Silver Springs Drive. Police said car one was hit by car two, which was traveling westbound on Seven Mile. The driver of car one was issued a ticket for failing to yield.

A two-car accident occurred Tuesday, May 2 at 12:10 p.m. on Summit Drive and Six Mile Road. Police said the driver of car one was backing up southbound on Summit. They added car two was turning left from eastbound Six Mile to northbound Summit. Police said the driver of car one apparently did not see car two and backed into him. The driver of car one was issued a ticket for improper backing.

PROPERTY DAMAGE — Approximately $250 in damage was caused to a 1988 Buick parked at the Meijer store on Tuesday, March 2 between 12 and 12:40 p.m.

The complainant, a Brighton resident, said she returned to her car after shopping and found her rear car window broken. A Meijer employee said he saw the window break and added nobody was around it.

TRASH FIRE — Up to $100 in damage was caused to a dumpster which caught fire outside Speedy Printing on west Seven Mile Road, according to a township police report.

Police said they spoke with the complainant, who reported he saw no one in the area at the time of the fire, which occurred at about 1 p.m. on Monday, May 1.

Police added that firefighters quickly extinguished the fire, which was contained to the dumpster.

TABLE TAKEN — Township police report a glass-top patio table worth $350 was stolen from a residence on Sutter's Lane between April 28 and April 29 between 3 a.m. and 5:30 a.m.

The complainant said unknown persons removed her table from her patio during the listed times.

PHONE RIP-OFF — A car phone worth $550 was stolen from an automobile parked on Cedar Lake Drive between April 29 and April 30, between 8 p.m. and 5:45 p.m., according to a township police report.

The complainant said his car was locked and he had his car alarm on. He added that no damage had been done to his car.

Police said it appeared that the subject unplugged the alarm. They said the point of entry was the driver's side door and added they have no suspects at this time.

GARAGE BURGLARIZED — Township police report that about $3,250 worth of goods was stolen from a garage on North Valley Street on April 26 and April 27 between 11 p.m. and 2 a.m.

The complainant said unknown persons entered the garage via an open door and stole, among other things, a $550 lawn mower, $2,000 in golf clubs, a $350 golf bag and a $350 snow blower.

BIKES SNATCHED — Two bikes worth a total of $250 were stolen from a residence on Silver Springs Drive on April 30, according to a township police report.

The victim said he noticed the bikes were gone on May 1. He said the bikes were a black Ross worth $130 and a gray Huffu worth $120.

DRUNK DRIVING ROUNDUP — At least four drivers were ticketed for operating a motor vehicle under the influence of liquor (OUIL) by township police over the past week.

A Plymouth resident was stopped by township police on Friday, April 28 at 2:16 a.m. on Six Mile Road near Ridge Road. Police were traveling west on Six Mile from Sheldon Road when they observed a parked car facing west. Police said that as they approached the car it began to speed west on Six Mile at a speed of 35 mph, increasing rapidly. Police said they stopped the car as it sped to 63 mph.

After failing all field sobriety tests, a preliminary breath test showed a blood alcohol level of .10 percent. In Michigan, .10 is OUIL. The driver was held in jail and released on $50 bond. He faces a June 1, 9 a.m. 35th district court date.

A Plymouth resident was ticketed for OUIL by township police on Wednesday, May 3 at 1 a.m. after being involved in a rollover accident.

Police said the driver was southbound on Silver Springs Drive when he lost control of the car, struck a street light and a curb, and flipped upside down.

Police said the driver was uninjured in the accident and added a strong odor of intoxicants came from the driver. After failing all field sobriety tests, the driver registered a blood alcohol level of .16 percent.

The driver was held in jail and released on $100 bond. He faces a June 1, 9 a.m. 35th district court date.

A Northville resident was ticketed for OUIL by township police on Saturday, April 29 at 2 a.m. after hitting a tree on Silver Springs Drive.

Police said the driver was going southbound on Silver Springs Drive near Trinity Court when she left the roadway, went onto a lawn and hit a tree.

The driver, who was uninjured in the mishap, said she fell asleep in the wheel, causing her to leave the roadway. Police said they could detect a strong odor of intoxicants coming from the subject.

After failing all field sobriety tests, a preliminary breath test showed a blood alcohol level of .17 percent. Police said a problem with the breathalyzer machine caused them to disqualify the test.

The driver was ticketed for OUIL, held in jail and released on personal bond. She faces a June 1, 9 a.m. 35th district court date.

A Westland resident was ticketed for OUIL by township police on Monday, May 1 at 8:03 p.m. after being involved in an accident on Seven Mile Road.

Police said the driver of car one was eastbound on Seven Mile in the right lane and the driver of car two was eastbound on Seven Mile in the left lane.

Police said the driver of car one attempted to talk to the driver of car two and lost control of his vehicle, striking car two and sending both cars off the road.

The occupants of both cars were uninjured, but police said they noticed a strong odor of intoxicants coming from the driver of car one.

After failing all field sobriety tests, a preliminary breath test showed the driver of car one to have a blood alcohol level of .18 percent.

The driver of car one was cited for OUIL, held in jail and released on $100 bond. He faces a June 1, 9 a.m. 35th district court date.

MELJER THEFT — At least two individuals were charged with larceny at the Meijer store by township police over the past week.

In the first incident, a Northville resident was arrested for larceny after trying to steal over $100 in merchandise on Monday, May 1.

Police said store detectives observed the subject inside the store carrying a plastic bag. They said the bag contained several cigarette cartons.

Police added the store detectives later noticed the subject placing a toaster in the bag and shoes in her coat, before exiting the store without paying for the items.

Store detectives stopped the subject and turned the matter over to township police. The subject was charged with larceny in a building and faces a June 1, 9 a.m. 35th district court date.

In the second incident, a Farmington Hills resident was arrested for larceny after attempting to steal over $150 in merchandise on Wednesday, May 3.

Police said store detectives observed the subject inside the store with a shopping cart. A man placed a telephone at the bottom of the cart, then the subject placed her purse in the cart and put some clothes and the phone inside her purse. Police said the subject paid for some items, but not the phone or clothes.

The subject was charged with larceny in a building and faces a June 8, 9 a.m. 35th district court date.

Track tax move looks unlikely

Any worries about the city losing state racetrack tax money to the Pontiac Silverdome appear to be needless, State Senator R. Robert Geake (R-Northville Township) said.

One member of the Northville City Council commented at a recent budget study session about an effort in the state legislature to financially support the Silverdome with money from the state tax on horse race tracks.

That could have been a problem for Northville and other cities with race tracks, since they each get several hundred thousand dollars of this money each year as a return from the state. Northville has lately been getting close to $700,000.

But Geake said Friday that the effort — which is repeated most years — has apparently been headed off for another year. And the money for the cities was not in real danger anyway, he added.

The Department of Agriculture oversees the racetrack tax money, some of which is used for state and county fairs in addition to the return to the cities. It was the fair money which was proposed for diversion to support the Silverdome, and the main support was from State Rep. Charlie Harrison (D-Pontiac), Geake said.

"I believe we've headed off diverting money to the Silverdome," Geake said. "Our caucus seemed to have that problem in hand."

He added, "it was county fair money that was being diverted, not ours."

Geake said the situation is basically an annual occurrence with basically the same result each year.

Race probe continues

A state investigation into "fixing" races at local harness race tracks has led to a look at one race at Northville Downs, but no action is expected as a result.

Director of Racing Operations Jim Wright said last week that the state racing commission is looking at one race at the Downs as a possible incident of race fixing. Four different people were interviewed in connection with the race, he said.

However, Wright added, the investigation does not appear to be turning up any solid evidence. No formal action is likely to result.

"I don't think it's going to go very far," Wright said. "It doesn't look as if we're going to come up with anything of any substance."

Wright did not give any details of the Northville investigation. He said more information would be available if the inquiry led to anything substantive.

The recent race fixing investigations grew from an incident at Sports Creek Raceway in November.

Ordinance could tighten regulations for city signs

A four-page review of changes proposed to the Northville city sign ordinance shows a much tighter and less-permissive set of rules if the changes are adopted.

The sign ordinance recommendations — passed by the planning commission and now under consideration by the city council — would limit the number, size, and height of signs allowed in the city much more than the current ordinance.

If the new ordinance passes, signs which do not conform to the new rules will not be required to automatically change. However, they will have to be moved into conformity if they are replaced or substantially changed. There is an appeal procedure if someone wants to put up a nonconforming sign.

The proposed ordinance includes an expanded statement of intent, explaining that limits in the sign ordinance are designed to prevent concealment, limit signs to a reasonable number, regulate the scale of signs, reduce visual clutter, enhance the character of the city and limit temporary signs.

One structural change in the proposal is a limit on "message units." If passed as currently written, the new ordinance would limit the amount of information that could go on a sign.

Other recommended changes, as summarized in a report from Ayres, Lewis, Norris and May, the city's planning consultants, include:

- Review of all commercial signs outside the Historic District by the planning commission. The Historic District commission reviews signs within the district.

- No internally-lit signs would be allowed in the Historic District.

- A maximum height of 20 feet for pole signs, down from 35 feet in the current ordinance. All temporary signs would be limited to 12 feet in height, down from 35 feet.

- The maximum area of a pole sign would vary according to zoning and placement, but would be limited to 50 square feet per side, or 100 square feet total. The current maximum is 300 square feet.

- The maximum area of a wall sign or projecting sign would vary with zoning and placement, but be limited to 90 square feet. Presently wall signs can be up to 200 square feet and marquees up to 100 square feet.

- Maximum size of a temporary sign would go from 100 square feet to 20 square feet.

- Window signs would be limited to 25 percent of the window area. The current ordinance has no such limits.

- Pole signs would have to be at least 10 feet from the property line except in the Central Business District. There are currently varying limits.

- Wall signs could not be more than six feet tall. There is no such regulation currently.

- Political signs would be added to the list of signs permitted in all districts. Others on the list — including real estate signs and private traffic control signs — will need a permit.

- Signs attached to rocks, trees or other features would be prohibited.

The city council met Monday in a special study session to consider the recommended changes (see related story).

Officials gather in meeting to discuss proposed changes

City officials gathered in a special meeting Monday night to review a set of sweeping changes proposed for the city sign ordinance, including such things as a limit on the amount of information on a sign.

City council members, planning and Historic District commissioners and city administrators gathered in a study session called to review the proposal, described as "some rather drastic new changes" by Mayor Chris Johnson. Recommended by the planning commission, the changes would greatly reduce the permitted size and height of signs.

The recommendation includes other major changes as well, such as limiting the amount of information permitted on a sign and completely prohibiting internally-lit signs within the city's Historic District. (see story summarizing the recommended changes).

The current recommended draft grew out of a joint meeting between the City Council, Planning Commission and Historic District Commission. After that, some informal committee meetings began more than a year ago to review the current ordinance. Additional planning commission discussion followed, and the planners moved the draft on to the city council in February.

Greg Presley, a planning commissioner who participated in the initial discussions, said the group reached "a quick consensus on a lot of issues," but left some unresolved. For example, there was a lot of sentiment to ban internally-lit signs throughout the city, but the city planning consultants concluded that such a ban would probably be illegal.

The officials met for two hours Monday to review the recommendation, and got about halfway through the 20-page draft. They scheduled another review session for Monday, June 12.

In introducing the recommendations, Planning Consultant Don Wortman said they make the ordinance generally less liberal and more restrictive. "I don't think we're overly regulated, but I think the overall intent of the sign committee was to tighten some things up," he said.

If passed, the new restrictions would not require compliance by a set date. However, signs would have to comply with the new requirements when changed or replaced. "In essence, what we're trying to accomplish is nonconforming signs would eventually be factored out in the community," he said.

The single concept which got the most attention at the meeting was the new idea of limiting the amount of information on a sign. The ordinance draft sets up a new concept of "message units" to limit the copy on a given sign.

A message unit is defined as "a word, an abbreviation, a number containing up to seven digits, a symbol, a geometric shape, (or) a person's or firm's initials containing up to seven letters." The three main types of signs — freestanding (pole), wall, and marquee, would be limited to 10 message units under the new ordinance.

"We sometimes feel that less is more," Wortman said in explaining the concept. A limit on sign information can result in "a better-looking sign and a more attractive community," he said.

Glenn Bowles, another planner with the city's consulting firm, added, "Most folks can't read or don't read all the message units that are thrown past you at once."

City Council Member Paul Folino questioned the whole idea of limiting message units if the other sign requirements are met.

"Clutter to Don (Wortman) and clutter to the sign owner could mean two different things," Folino said. "What difference does it make to us what message they put on there? I don't think they want on that sign... is really any of our concern, provided he's within the square footage allotted."

Wortman responded that a busy sign "is a distraction, a potential traffic safety hazard... Also, I think it's a more cluttered visual image of the community."

Other officials present suggested that a limit of 10 message units might be the wrong number, or that the definition of message units should be clearer. An informal look at a sample sign resulted in several different message unit counts.

One snag mentioned was how to treat signs designed for changing messages, such as coming events. City Manager Steve Walters suggested those areas of a sign could be considered a single message unit.

Several other issues were addressed in the review.

Some officials present wondered if the city could limit the size of political election signs; Johnson said he did not think it is allowed, but City Clerk Cathy Konrad said some communities do so.

Another question was limiting the total number of signs and total square footage allowed for a building with multiple tenants. The present draft might be overly restrictive for a large project, Walters said: "When you get into a building that's essentially a whole city block, 30 square feet just isn't enough," he said.

Wortman suggested the city could handle special cases through the Zoning Board of Appeals, but Walters said the ordinance should be written to handle many different situations. Folino added, "It seems like every time we turn around, somebody's not agreeing with our ordinance and wants exceptions to it."

Still other issues included a suggestion for language on a "common signage theme" in a building, suggested by Historic District Commission Member Walt Coppen; whether banners should be permitted; and limiting times for when signs may be illuminated, suggested by Mayor Pro Tem Carolann Ayers.

The officials agreed to send copies of the draft to the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce and the Merchants Association for consideration. Both groups have basically been silent on the proposal thus far.

The next sign ordinance review session is scheduled for 8 p.m. Monday, June 12.

DNR refutes Rouge results

By PHIL GINOTTI

NOVI — Rouge River water in Novi is safe for skin contact, according to a report from the Michigan Dept. of Public Health.

Department of Natural Resources (DNR) official Maggie Fields said Friday that the DNR could not confirm high levels of Polynuclear Aromatic Hydrocarbons (PNAs) found in February by JCK and Associates, the city consulting firm.

Fields said there was a substantial difference between the DNR's results and the city's results — possibly due to a mathematical error. However, concentrations of the PNA are present in the river's base, she said.

The JCK tests, which were part of a routine test for pollutants in the river, detected "extremely high" levels of PNA, which is a product of the weatherproofing material creosote. The DNR was called in to verify those results and spell out the risk.

JCK samples were sent to an unnamed testing laboratory and were not done in-house, according to JCK officials.

Health department official John Hesse, in a memo to Fields dated May 1, said there would be no risk to workers in the June 3 Rouge River Cleanup.

"... (T)hese are not significantly elevated over what is commonly found in the soils of an urban environment," Hesse wrote.

"If the discrepancy between the DNR and the consultant's monitoring cannot be resolved, we may need to reevaluate. In the meantime, we see no need for restrictions to be put in place against body contact with the stream in the Novi area because of the presence of toxic substances," he continued.

The JCK tests are part of study which has been done for the past two years on Rouge River water quality in Novi. The river's middle branch flows through Novi, into Northville and western Wayne County, with an ultimate destination of the Detroit River.

In April, public health officials issued an expanded warning against eating fish species caught from the Rouge in Wayne County, due to high levels of polychlorinated biphenyls (PCB). They recommended that no one eat largemouth bass, smallmouth bass, and several other species due to above-normal concentrations of the chemical.

Previously, the ban had applied to carp and suckers, which are scavenger fish.

Fields said more information on the specific results they found in the Rouge River should become available this week.

Sitting pretty

If you look closely at the picture above, you'll see a sight as pretty as the spring tulips blooming in the foreground. A mother duck is sitting on seven eggs in the Bostwick family garden outside their

Committee member rebuts Faxon's Eight Mile stance

One member of a local committee for Eight Mile Road traffic control is unhappy with state Sen. Jack Faxon's view of the road.

Judy McIntyre, a citizen member of a local committee studying traffic control at the Eight Mile / Center intersection, sent a letter to Faxon (D-Farmington Hills) recently about concerns with the area. McIntyre, along with local officials, supports a lower speed limit in the area because of pedestrian traffic and the nearby schools.

Faxon, asked for his position by Wayne County Commissioner Susan Heintz (R-Northville Township), had responded in a letter that he thought a lower speed limit was inappropriate and would increase congestion and traffic problems. He suggested leaving the speed limit at 40 miles per hour and possibly widening the road to allow for increased traffic. That might also head off future developers asking for a higher speed limit, he wrote.

The corner sits within Faxon's Senate district.

McIntyre responded to Faxon in a letter dated April 23, outlining the situation for pedestrian students.

In the widening suggestion, she wrote, "you were not addressing the safety needs of the children crossing the street . . . When your focus centers solely on addressing traffic congestion and development, you are not centering on the responsibility for advocating and protecting the basic safety rights these children should have."

The letter also opposes an 85th percentile standard used to set speed limits — that is, they are set at a point which 85 percent of drivers will obey, the basic idea being that people travelling at similar speeds will be less likely to get into accidents.

McIntyre calls the standard "a policy which can be interpreted to the best interests of the Wayne County Road Commission, developers and drivers" — but not pedestrians.

"The current situation that exists does not protect or advocate for (children) in any way with the exception of the crossing guards — whose voices and opinions have been totally disregarded in favor of the potential needs of developers and drivers," McIntyre wrote.

She concludes the letter with an invitation for Faxon to meet with the committee. She said she also plans to invite state Rep. Willis Bullard (R-Highland), state Rep. Gerald Law (R-Plymouth Township), state Sen. R. Robert Geake (R-Northville Township) and Carmine Palombo from the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments to meet with the group.

Still no decision on speeds

The immediate future of speeds on Eight Mile Road is still up in the air, but something may be settled very soon.

Sgt. Weldon Grieger of the Michigan State Police post in Northville has completed his recommendation for speed limits on Eight Mile from Napier to Grand River, and now must confer with Wayne County of-officials to reach a joint conclusion. Grieger said Monday that he has had difficulty setting up a meeting with the appropriate county officials, but added he expects to have something settled by the end of this week.

Eight Mile speed limits have been under review for several months, on several different official levels. A lower speed limit at the Eight Mile / Center Street corner was rejected, but a local committee is still considering the area. That area and the rest of the Eight Mile stretch has been studied by several different agencies.

The study is part of a regular review of speed limits on major roads by the state police.

A SPECIAL DAY

Olympic athletes participate

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

"This really means a lot to me," David Carpenter said.

In a stirring moment opening the second day of Special Olympics competition at Northville High School, David carried the flame and lit the Special Olympics torch.

It was an emotional moment for Northville residents Arlen and Sharon Carpenter as they watched their son.

"This is the greatest event in the lives of most of these kids because it gives them a sense that they belong, while also giving them a small moment of recognition," Sharon Carpenter said.

"Special Olympics allows David to be a participant instead of a bystander," she added.

David, a student in the special education program at Northville High, beamed from from ear to ear after lighting the ceremonial torch to a roar of cheers.

For a brief moment in time, each of the 1,000 athletes who competed last Friday in the Wayne County Special Olympics at Northville High School had their chance to shine in the spotlight.

The events spotlighted not only the athletes, but also the volunteers and event organizers who worked to give these special athletes their day.

And from athlete to volunteer, everyone seemed overjoyed to be connected with the games.

"The games went very well from the standpoint of everyone involved," said Vicki Grenier, a teacher at Old Village School. "I was particularly impressed with the high school volunteers who showed a lot of enthusiasm."

Alice Tamkevic, volunteer coordinator for the Wayne County Special Olympics, said she had been connected with the event for the past five years and "this is the best organized one I've seen yet."

"Usually we get 300 volunteers if we're lucky, but this year we got about 600 volunteers which was positively incredible," Tamkevic said, adding the turnout of Northville High students for the event was fantastic.

"All I know is that I've never seen a high school like this," she said. "I want to have kids so that I can send them to Northville High."

From the smiles of both athletes and parents, the work of the volunteers was greatly appreciated. Livonia resident Linda Houghtby, whose son Dan participated in two swimming events, said this is a real special time for her son.

"Dan loves sports and his brother, who is not impaired, enjoys sports, so this is a nice way for them to relate," Houghtby said.

"Dan is really an amazing person, and Special Olympics gives him an opportunity to let those qualities shine through," she added.

In another touching moment, Plymouth-Canton special education student Nathan Johnson spent approximately 10 minutes in the pool as he completed one lap in the free-style race.

Long after his four competitors had finished the race, Johnson continued to twist his body toward the finish line, drawing a huge ovation from the crowd as he valiently continued.

Chris Lang, a volunteer from Plymouth Canton High who cheered Johnson on during the race, said she felt happy for him that he finished the race.

"I think Nathan felt special," Lang said.

So did everyone at Northville High.

SEMCOG reports continued construction

Residential construction in southeast Michigan stayed relatively strong in 1988, but dropped a bit from a peak in 1987 — although Wayne County showed a big increase.

Just-released data from the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG) show a total of 23,443 residential building permits were issued during 1988 in the seven-county region covered by SEMCOG. The area is Wayne, Oakland, Washtenaw, Livingston, Macomb, Monroe and St. Clair counties.

The 1988 total was a 4.2 percent drop from 1987's 24,473. However, Wayne County showed a 41.9 percent increase, going from 3,184 to 4,519 permits. That was offset by 5,411 demolitions, almost all of which were in the City of Detroit. Oakland County was far and away the leader in permits issued, with 8,503. That was a 13.7 percent drop from the 9,852 in 1987.

"The Residential Construction guide for 1988 shows a continuation of Southeast Michigan's strong building pace and affirms the significant and prolonged growth of the region," SEMCOG chairperson Fred Korzon said in a prepared statement.

"Again revealed, however, is the fact that the geographic core of the region, Detroit, that is, has not been a full participant in this residential growth," Korzon said. "We must conclude, therefore, that regionally we have made little progress in resolving the problems that keep our older central cities from sharing in the residential development and economic growth — even though the available infrastructure there represents the area with the largest potential for low-cost growth in our region."

Overall in the region, single-family permits issued remained about the same as in 1987, while two-family and multiple permits fell by about 8 percent.

In Wayne County during 1988, the 4,519 permits included 1,672 detached single-family homes, 76 two-family units and 2,771 multiple-family units. The 5,411 demolitions made for a net loss of 892 housing units.

Outside the City of Detroit there were 1,669 single-family permits, 76 two-family and 2,409 multiple-family. With 279 demolitions, out-Wayne County had a net gain of 3,875 units.

Northville Township contributed 108 detached single-family units, eight two-family and 128 multiple-family to the total. The township had one demolition. The Wayne County part of the City of Northville added 11 single-family permits and 12 multiple-family, minus one demolition.

Wayne County totals for 1987 were 1,570 single-family permits, 36 two-family and 1,578 multiple-family. There were 5,695 demolitions for a net loss of 2,511.

In Wayne County outside Detroit for 1987, there were 1,568 single-family permits issued, 36 two-family and 1,280 multiple-family, minus 899 demolitions for a net total of 1,985.

In Oakland County during 1988, the total of 8,503 included 5,029 single-family, 72 two-family and 3,402 multiple-family. Demolitions numbering 457 dropped the net total to 8,046.

The City of Northville contributed 69 detached single-family units to the total. For the first time in the last few years, the City of Novi fell out of the top 10 communities in the region for total new residential permits and new multiple-family permits. Novi had 330 single-family and 44 multiple-family, minus 20 demolitions.

The top 10 communities in the region for total authorized new dwelling units in 1988 were: Farmington Hills, 1,447; Westland, 1,373; Clinton Township, 1,046; Ann Arbor, 862; Sterling Heights, 860; West Bloomfield Township, 779; Rochester Hills, 761; Shelby Township, 734; Chesterfield Township, 579; and Canton Township, 533. Those 10 accounted for 38 percent of the regional total.

The top 10 in 1987 were Clinton Township, 1,548; West Bloomfield Township, 1,461; Sterling Heights, 1,351; Rochester Hills, 1,102; Farmington Hills, 973; Ann Arbor, 943; Novi, 824; Shelby Township, 802; Southfield, 788; and Auburn Hills, 495.

A 20-year comparison across the region shows that 1987 was the highest activity year since 1978, when 20,758 permits were issued. The 20-year high was in 1971, when the region saw 39,343 permits issued.

SEMCOG, which issues the residential construction report, is a coalition of local governments dedicated to regional planning and related issues.

Township tables day care ordinance over wording

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

The momentum of an ordinance regulating in-home daycare in the township ground to a halt recently when the Township Planning Commission voted to table the issue over concerns with the language of the ordinance.

Planners voted to postpone action on the ordinance, following a public hearing on the issue on Tuesday, April 25. The township's daycare ordinance follows the new state daycare ordinance for townships which basically allows facilities serving between one and 12 children in residentially zoned areas.

The commission is pursuing a day-care ordinance following the passage of State Senate Bill 689 — passed in December 1988.

The state day-care law allows for facilities serving six or less children in a residential area, without obtaining a special use permit or needing any other procedure different from those required for other dwellings of similar density.

A group day-care home — consisting of seven to 12 children — must receive a special use permit to be located in a residentially zoned area. To obtain the permit the facility must meet a number of criteria, including limitations on the proximity of other day-care facilities; fencing, off-street parking, etc.

The Michigan Legislature failed to pass the same bill on day-care rules for cities and villages.

The delay in passage of the township ordinance came following comments made by Township Attorney Ernest Essad in a letter to the commission. He said the proposed ordinance's definition of "Child Care Center" needs to be reworked.

Essad also said that a special category entitled "Uses Subject to Special Approval" need not be a part of the ordinance.

At the hearing a contingent of residents from Highland Lake Condominiums inquired on how the new ordinance would affect day-care facilities in condos.

Township Planning Director Carol Henry said the ordinance would apply to both subdivisions and condos, unless the homeowners association has registered prior deed restrictions.

John McGuire, owner of Guernsey Farms Dairy

50 years

All in the dairy game

By BOB NEEDHAM

After 50 years in the dairy business, John McGuire has sold an awful lot of milk and ice cream.

The Northville resident and owner of Guernsey Farms Dairy on Novi Road celebrated his 50th year of dairy work Friday, with all of it in the Northville / Novi community. A lot of things have changed in that time, including the growth of the area and the price of milk.

"The first day I sold 40 quarts of milk. And I sold it for five cents a quart. Two dollars," McGuire recalls.

Back then, McGuire didn't own the business. It wasn't called Guernsey, either, and it wasn't in the current location.

At the time, the operation was called Red Rose Dairy, located at 125 S. Center in downtown Northville. It was a partnership of John A. Applehoff and John E. Livingstone, two men who came from Detroit to the Northville area to run competing dairy farms.

"They each had a Guernsey cow and they became rivals. They wanted to see who could get the best cows and the most cows. Mr. Applehoff was the winner," McGuire said.

Eventually, the two came together to buy the Red Rose dairy. When they needed someone to run it, McGuire was ready and available and got hired on the spot.

He had a good dairy background already, with agricultural training at Michigan State University and a boyhood on a dairy farm. "I milked 25 cows every night and morning," McGuire said. "I lived with the dairy cows."

In 1951 there were about 600 independent dairies in Michigan. Today there are just 19 — and Guernsey is one of them, having changed along with the times.

McGuire and a partner eventually bought the business, with McGuire taking full ownership in 1952. "We did quite a bit of business there," he said. "We just kind of outgrew it."

site, Guernsey moved to its Novi Road location. "I was in the country. I was the first one out here," McGuire said.

But even though the move allowed for some expansion, the operation never really became big business.

"We never got very big. We stayed a family dairy," McGuire said.

Along the way they added a lot more aspects to the dairy, including a packaged food store, milk delivery and a restaurant. The restaurant evolved as the area around Guernsey started to get developed.

"They kind of forced us into the food business," McGuire said, remembering how construction workers would come over to the dairy, looking for something to eat at lunchtime. They put in a small grill, started selling sandwiches, and eventually dinners. "In a little while, more people came and they wanted more food."

Guernsey tried different ventures over the years, running five other stores for a while and also running retail delivery routes. Those are in the past now, but the main dairy continues to prosper.

It employs 100 people, and has the full dairy service, including filling the milk cartons and flavoring the ice cream. "We've got everything here," McGuire said.

He and his wife Elise, who celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary last fall, have lived in the same Northville home for the last 48 years. He concluded: "God has been good to us. He's given us a living for all these years."

Woodlands ordinance may be amended

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

An oversight during the adoption of the township's woodlands ordinance regarding land division means a public hearing before the Township Planning Commission on Tuesday, June 27 at 6:45 p.m.

"This amendment will include the woodlands ordinance provision within a land division," said Township Planning Director Carol Henry.

The new paragraph simply provides for inclusion of the woodlands ordinance for any petitioner proposing a land division.

Henry said the low magnitude of land divisions probably led to the oversight of not including divisions of land with the woodlands ordinance, which was approved last January.

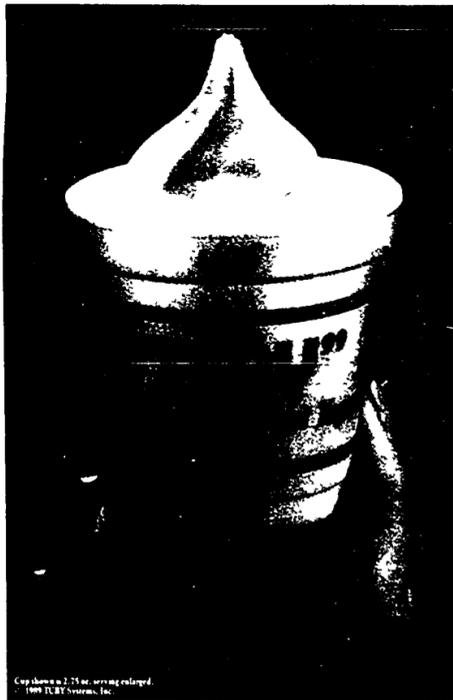

In addition to the new land division provision, planners have decided to study the entire land division ordinance at a study session on June 6 at 7:30 p.m.

Commissioners voted to study the ordinance after Henry suggested that procedural formalities within the ordinance need attention.

"This is more of a housekeeping thing than anything else," Henry said. "The ordinance currently functions efficiently, but there is a need to update it."

She said the updating primarily needs to be done to modify the order and sequence of pursuing a land division, with respect to the planning commission and township board.

Board approves extension on lease for DNR office

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

The Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) office in Northville will be staying put — for now. By gaining approval from the Northville Board of Education on Monday, the DNR received a one-year lease extension for their offices in the Main Street Elementary School.

The agreement, which runs through June 30, 1990, provides the DNR with 14,122 square feet of space in the school, along with 50 available parking spaces.

District Assistant Superintendent Burton Knighton said the DNR will pay Northville Schools a total of $45,027.48 for rental of the space, payable in monthly installments.

Knighton added that the DNR will also pay 49 percent of the utility costs of the Main Street building, which will total roughly $59,220.

He noted the original lease, which began in October 1986 and runs through June 30, 1989, was designed to function as a stop gap while the DNR built a new regional office.

He said during the lease the plans for the DNR's new office have "only reached the drawing board and are still projected for some uncertain time in the future."

By only extending the DNR a one-year lease, Knighton said the district cannot guarantee that the Main Street facility will be available for rental next year.

"Right now, the odds are 99 percent that Northville Schools will need that space next year," Knighton said, adding factors such as the upcoming strategic planning report will contribute to that decision.

Another facet of the new lease is that the DNR will not be able to remain in the facility for up to three months after the expiration of the lease.

Blanchard praises businesses in appearance at Novi Hilton

By PHIL GINOTTI

NOVI — Governor James Blanchard was among the featured speakers in a daylong "Small Business Day" conference, held Thursday at the Novi Hilton.

Blanchard chose the event to unveil new programs targeted at aiding minority and handicapped ventures and helping small businesses manage growth. Both programs, with a pricetag of $1 million, are designed to provide consulting help and technical assistance to business operators.

About 700 business persons attended the event, which featured displays and workshops ranging from employee motivational techniques to child care programs for smaller companies.

The governor applauded the role of small business in supplying a vital role in Michigan's economy, while boasting substantial progress on his administration's "Small Business Agenda II."

"Although we have accomplished quite a bit, there is much left to be done," Blanchard said. "One of the reasons for Small Business Day is to hear from business owners what they need to be successful and to provide jobs for our workers."

He said the state has completed approximately 33 of 59 commitments to improving Michigan's business climate. Those target areas were laid out last May in the Small Business Agenda II and the year before in his first such pledge to state business operators.

Those improvements include modification of the Single Business Tax for struggling businesses and various other changes designed to encourage entrepreneurship and reduce government paperwork and red tape.

Other significant advancements touted by the governor Thursday included changing the definition of disability in the workplace — a savings of about $35 million, encouraging creation of Business and Industrial Development Corporations (BIDCOs) for financing and borrowing needs, and establishing regular commercial air access to help open up northern Michigan's markets.

Blanchard also awarded Michigan Small Business Person of the Year honors to Marshall Noecker, president of the Noecker Group of Detroit. Five other "small business advocates" were honored Thursday. Blanchard said the biggest challenge will be to help small businesses as they grow and develop, since many don't have the time or the resources to engage in long-term planning.

"We're setting records for new small businesses, but the one challenge we have is managing the growth," he said. "There is a pattern of a number of businesses that start and grow that at some point when they are growing, the managers of those businesses — who are entrepreneurs — don't have the help or the experience in managing growth, lose control of their operation. Then they have serious trouble."

"It will help provide private sector... experienced consulting services to businesses that are going through a period of rapid growth, so they don't get stretched too thin and crumble," Blanchard said.

New school contract reached

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

An agreement between the Northville Education Association and the administration concerning the extra-curricular payment schedule received approval Monday by the school board.

Assistant Superintendent Burton Knighton said the agreement was reached after the issue was reopened for discussion last spring.

Knighton said the issue was reviewed according to the language of the contract signed in 1988, which provided for a reopening of extracurricular salary structure.

Under the new agreement, all extra-curricular activities have been placed into one of 10 groupings, with workload and pressure of the activity being the major factors.

Seven new activities have also been added to the list. They include: girls assistnt tennis, boys assistant tennis, ninth grade cheerleaders, seventh and eighth grade assistant track, seventh and eighth grade assistant swimming, middle school newspaper and Science Olympiad.

NEA president Dwight Sieggreen said the agreement is very fair and equitable and added that negotiations continued for about one year.

Knighton said the contract, which is retroactive to last September, provides for an approximate increase of five percent on the total extra-curricular schedule.

"This contract provides stipends that are more competitive with neighboring districts," Knighton said, adding the contract was ratified by NEA members on April 26.

Planning terms may be extended following blunder

When making her recommendations for one-year appointments to the board of trustees last November, Goss said she did not consult Township Attorney Ernest Essad on its legality.

Essad was unavailable for comment as of press time. When asked how she planned to rectify the appointment blunder, Goss initially said she did not plan to take any action on the matter at tonight's board meeting.

"I don't know of any action that will be taken at tonight's meeting," Goss said. "I'll have to think about this one and besides, the agenda for Thursday has already been set."

She said she has known about the mistake for the last month, and has been looking at the situation for the last two weeks.

"I want think about this situation thoroughly before making a decision. But it will be made shortly," Goss said.

She outlined her options as initiating a search committee and going through a new appointment process, or extending the terms of O'Brien, Cook and Williams to three years.

However, a short time after making her comments, Goss announced that action on this matter will be taken at tonight's meeting.

"I have made a mistake and will rectify the mistake by asking Barbara O'Brien, Tom Cook and Don Williams if they would like to serve their terms for three years," Goss said.

"It would be our pleasure to have them serve for three years," she said, adding the matter would be handled by amending the meeting agenda or by introducing the issue at the end of the meeting.

Goss said she decided to make the appointments for one-year because she wanted to give the new members an opportunity to see if they enjoyed serving on the boards.

"People are not aware of the commitment needed," she said. "Because the boards are so technical and time consuming, I felt the one-year term would give them a chance to look at the board and see if they like it."

O'Brien said that at the time of her appointment, she wondered if a one-year term was the correct way to handle it. "But I had no resources at the time to check."

O'Brien said she contacted officials at the MTA about a month ago and found the legal term limit for planning commissioners.

After confronting Goss with her findings, O'Brien said the supervisor told her she already knew of the mistake and "to not go to the press and she would take care of it."

O'Brien said she was not told by Goss at that time how or when the matter would be handled. She added that she would accept a term extension if it is offered.

Parents share art smarts with kids

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

From Cubism to Impressionism and Picasso to Dali, students in each of Northville's three elementary schools are learning about art from parents motivated to provide greater enrichment for kids.

"We're learning a lot about paintings and when we go to an art museum we can recognize the art," said Avo Magar, a fourth grader at Winchester Elementary.

Concluding its sixth year, the parent art appreciation program is providing students at Winchester, Amerman and Silver Springs Elementary Schools with a background in art they may not otherwise gain, according to teachers and parents.

"We like this program because exposure to art can bring out creativity in a lot of students," said Winchester fourth grade teacher Karen Hardin.

"We're hoping this program continues because the parents have been very supportive and if it wasn't for the parent helpers we would not have this program," Hardin said.

Ann Del Totto, coordinator of the parent-art program at Winchester, said the program involves a parent coming into a classroom six times in the spring to teach children about various aspects concerning art.

Del Totto said the program for

— Karen Hardin, fourth grade teacher

each grade is tailored to the needs of the children. "This program enriches and broadens the experiences of children.

"We're trying to expose children to art and this program exposes children to the broad spectrum of learning as well," she added. "It shows them that there are a lot of different things going on in the world."

Using only parent volunteers for the program, Del Totto said the volunteers attend a training session and study about art from a manual before making their way into classrooms.

During a presentation before Hardin's class last Thursday, parent Linda Jo Hare discussed three paintings involving multiple realism.

With an extremely inquisitive group of youngsters looking on, Hare described the mood and intent of the period, which produced such artists as Dali.

Students in the class fired a bunch of questions at Hare, in between giving their interpretations of classic paintings and how it made them feel.

"I really enjoy looking at the paintings and learning about them," said Winchester fourth grader Andrea DeKoker.

Del Totto said the program hopefully will introduce the students to a little more critical thinking.

"The parents that I have talked with said that when they take their children somewhere and the kids recognize art it makes them feel good and shows them that their children are doing more critical thinking," she added.

Lower commercial assessment hikes could mean business tax reduction

Relatively low assessment increases on downtown properties this year could result in some businesses seeing an actual tax decrease compared to last year, according to city budget information.

And some officials believe assessments on those commercial properties are too low, putting an unfair tax burden on homeowners.

A report in the city budget on the performance of Downtown Development Authority captured taxes points up an odd situation: assessments on commercial property in Wayne County went up about 8 percent this year, compared to about a 14 percent increase for residential property in Wayne County.

A rollback of the city millage rate — so that the city would only get new tax revenue from new construction, plus an allowance for inflation — would be drop of several mills, the report says.

Coupled with the different size increases for residential and commercial, the drop would have two different impacts. "Thus, residential taxpayers will experience an increase (in tax dollars) of approximately 5 percent while commercial reduce property tax assessments for hardship reasons or because an assessment is too high based on actual market value.

The board of review received 209 petitions for An average reduction figure was not available.

By law, a property assessment is supposed to be no more than half the actual market value of a piece of property.

City tax base increases by 18 percent is $135,272,715, as compared to $114,694,320 in 1988.

The new tax base will generate $135,270 in tax money per mill levied in the city. Last year one mill brought in $114,690.

The Oakland County part of the city saw the biggest growth. Total tax base in Oakland was $76,839,175 — up from $60,895,350. That's an increase of about 26 percent.

The Wayne County part of the city showed about a 9 percent rise in tax base, going from $57,479,170 to $62,827,040.

Tax base figures are the total assessed valuation of all real and personal property. Tax base figures multiplied by a government's millage rate determine how much property tax money the government gets.

The tax base increase is due to both higher assessments on existing land and to new development. The city saw roughly $2.3 million in assessment adjustments downward, $13.8 million in adjustments upward and $9.9 million in new construction.

A higher tax base translates into more revenue for a government if the tax rate stays the same. The city is expected to lower its millage rate this year (see related story).

To taxpayers, one mill is $1 in tax per $1,000 of assessed property value.

The total city tax base was about $2 million lower than preliminary data showed. City officials knew the actual figure would probably be lower, but did not know by how much.

Northville Township also saw a healthy tax base increase this year, of a little less than 16 percent.

Total city tax rate projected at 15.85 mills are expected to decline.

The Randolph Drain levy would fall from .9 mill to .6 mill. It will have 10 years of payments left after 1989-90.

The S. Main paving levy would double from .2 mill this year to .4 mill next year. The increase in S. Main paving comes because Wayne County's payments on the project end this year, according to a supporting budget document. After 1989-90, this bond issue will have two years of payments left.

These are the only property taxes levied by the city. Other local property taxing entities include the Northville School District, Wayne County, Oakland County, Schoolcraft College and the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority.

City general fund expenses next year are estimated at $3,365,490.

Other major city funds include the public improvements fund, $863,700; local street fund, $602,950; and Allen Terrace operating fund, $563,580.

The city fiscal year runs from July 1 to June 30. The city council is expected to hold a budget hearing — including the truth-in-taxation requirement — Tuesday, May 30.

Northville sailor honored by state

The Michigan Legislature recently honored Richard Lewis, the Northville sailor who died in the explosion on board the USS Iowa.

In a Senate concurrent resolution (also passed by the state House of Representatives), state Sen. Jack Faxon (D-Farmington Hills) honored the memory of Mr. Lewis. The resolution was adopted in a unanimous standing vote Wednesday, May 3.

Here is the text of the resolution: A concurrent resolution of tribute offered as a memorial for Seaman Apprentice Richard John Lewis of the USS Iowa.

Whereas, It is with a sense of sadness shared by citizens across the country that the members of the Michigan Legislature express our condolences to the family of Seaman Apprentice Richard John Lewis of Northville upon the occasion of his passing as a result of the tragic accident aboard the USS Iowa. The loss of this fine and exuberant young man is a painful reminder of the risks that are a part of maintaining the liberties of our nation; and

Whereas, In many ways, Richard Lewis, a 1983 graduate of Northville High School, epitomized the enthusiasm of youth. Remembered by teachers, friends and family as a creative young man, he expressed the joy, frustrations, and challenges of growing up through his art. Among his works of sculpture and pen and ink was a ceramic piece entitled "A Hundred Faces," which graced the Northville Board of Education offices for several years; and

Whereas, Although the loss of a young person is always difficult to understand, it is important to realize that Richard Lewis gave his life for his country as a true patriot. In his commitment to his country and service to his country, Richard Lewis has made the ultimate sacrifice in helping to preserve the values and liberties that he believed in and we cherish as a people; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate (the House of Representatives concurring), That tribute be hereby offered as a memorial for Seaman Apprentice Richard John Lewis of Northville, a victim of the tragedy of the USS Iowa; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to his family as evidence of the esteem that will always be held for his memory by the people of his state and country.

Northville Township Board purchases new equipment

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

A number of items pegged to update and improve the offices and grounds of Northville Township Hall were bought by the board during their regular meeting on Thursday, April 13.

Beginning with a facsimile machine, the board voted to purchase a Pitney Bowes Option 1 machine for $2,195.

Township Building Official Mick Kruzewski said he would greatly benefit by having a fax machine and added he could find uses for it about twice per day.

The Pitney Bowes model was suggested by Township Treasurer Richard Henningsen, who said he had one at his office and "for the money it just plain works well."

While approving a fax machine, the board also voted to purchase phone system additions totaling $2,267.

Township Office Manager James Graham said the phones are especially needed in the employee lounge to notify people who are on break when they have a call.

The expense of additional phone lines was high, Graham said, "due to an additional system card we must purchase because all our current cards are full."

Graham said each phone card has a capacity of eight lines and he added that since the township plans to use only two lines on the new card, they will have a capacity for six additional phones.

In order to provide a computer for the building and planning departments and one for a secretary, the board bought three Epson Equity II computers.

Along with the computers, the board also purchased two printers. All of the equipment came from Computer Land at a cost of $9,320.

Finally, the board voted to hire Maple Ridge Landscape Inc. at a cost of $180 for lawn maintenance of Township Hall and $85 for Waterford Cemetery.

Last month, the board voted to assume control of the cemetery from a Questers group which could no longer care for it.

The costs of the lawn maintenance contract are based on a per cut basis.

Graham said the township must get three separate price quotes for items ranging from $1,000 to $50,000. He said the township does not need to acquire three quotes for items that are not interchangeable with its present systems, such as telephones.

For items $50,000 and over, Graham said the township must advertise and receive at least three sealed bids. He said the board will almost always approve the lowest bid unless they specify the reason why the low bid was not accepted.

Items priced less than $500 can be purchased with approval by any department head and items between $500 and $1,000 require at least two executive signatures.

Tooth News
by Dr. Rob Hyland

Q. Why does a tooth need a crown?
A. A crown (or cap) is simply a very strong shell that is made to cover a tooth. Its purpose is to hold the tooth together and prevent chipping and fracturing of the tooth.

Crowns can be made with many different materials. They are usually made of porcelain or gold. By using porcelain crowns we can correct esthetic problems and make badly damaged teeth appear very natural. Problems like bad staining, crooked teeth, large fillings and even spaces between teeth can be corrected to much more natural appearances. Crowns are also recommended for teeth with very large fillings and for teeth that have had root canal treatment. These teeth are very prone to chipping and fracturing and crowns can cover them and help prevent this.

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that on May 22, 1989, at 7:30 o'clock p.m. at Amerman Elementary School, 847 N. Center, the Board of Education of Northville Public Schools will hold a public hearing on the levying in 1989 of an additional proposed millage rate of 6.14 mills for operating purposes pursuant to Act 5, Public Acts of Michigan 1982.

The Board of Education has the complete authorization to establish that 35.40 operating and 4.75 debt mills be levied in 1989 from within its present authorized millage rate.

The maximum additional proposed millage rate would increase revenues for operating purposes from ad valorem property tax levies in 1989, otherwise permitted by Act 5, Public Acts of Michigan, 1982, by twenty one percent (21%).

The 35.40 operating millage to be considered has been previously approved by the voters as follows: 26.5 mills, June 24, 1986; 8.90 mills, County allocated. For 1988/89 the Board of Education levies 32.7911 of the 35.40 operational mills authorized by the voters.

The purpose of this hearing is to receive testimony and discuss the levy of an additional millage rate. Not less than seven (7) days following the public hearing, the Board of Education may approve all or any portion of the proposed additional millage rate.

This notice is given by order of the Board of Education.

Schools receive $1,000 donation

Northville School Superintendent George Bell met with members of the Japanese Society of Detroit (JSD) recently to accept a donation of $1,000 for the Northville public school system.

JSD President Takeshi Tanuma; treasurer Katsuhiko Satoh and school committee person Kelsaku Hosoi, joined in thanking Bell for the great degree of kindness and acceptance the Japanese children have experienced upon entering the Northville school system.

The JSD surveys the distribution of Japanese students in the Greater Detroit area and selects school districts that have Japanese students. JSD donations, which amount to $20,000 annually, are to be used by the school districts for any purpose.

Included in the nine school districts that received equivalent donations are Livonia, Ann Arbor and Plymouth. Last year the JSD made donations to school districts in the Oakland County area and it plans to continue making these donations in the years ahead.

The JSD, which was founded in 1972, has 1,100 members from more than 180 companies related to the automotive industry and trading.

that the Novi Police Department has sponsored a Police Memorial Day program. The purpose of the ceremony is to honor law enforcement officers who have given their lives in the line of duty.

Police Memorial Day was created 27 years ago when President John Fitzgerald Kennedy signed into law a joint resolution of Congress establishing the first National Police Officer Memorial Day on May 14, 1962, and the first National Police Week as May 13-19, 1962.

The Police Memorial Day sponsored by the Novi Police Department has become one of the largest in Michigan over the past nine years. Police departments from Northville, South Lyon, Wixom, Walled Lake, Farmington, Farmington Hills, Detroit and Windsor (Ont.) typically participate in Novi ceremonies along with the Oakland County Sheriff's Department and Michigan State Police.

The public is invited to attend.

Amerman Elementary gym students had an exercise in group dynamics recently. Physical education teacher Tom Pallas and student teacher Dean Ahern organized the children into groups with the task of constructing their own putt-putt golf holes in the gym. The group's learned how to work together toward a common goal and leadership skills were developed for students who don't always excel in gym class, Pallas said. Above, Mike Asher, 7, sets up his portion of the mini-golf course with help from some of his teammates.

Schools approve tenure, layoffs

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

The Northville Board of Education was presented with a good news / bad news scenario recently, as it approved 11 teachers in the district for tenure while placing two teachers on indefinite layoff.

The board placed K-12 teachers Diane Plath and Lynn Waltersheid on layoff at the conclusion of the 1988-89 school year.

Assistant Superintendent Burton Knighton said both Plath and Waltersheid were specialty elementary teachers in the fine arts fields.

Knighton said layoffs typically occur during April, and the Northville district was able to curb layoffs due to increased enrollment and teachers who took advantage of the district's early retirement plan.

He added both teachers were part-time employees and added they will probably be called back for at least part-time positions in September.

In the good news department, the board approved tenure for 11 teachers, nine in the K-12 program, one in the K-12 special education program and one in the special education program.

Knighton said the Michigan Tenure Law calls for teachers without tenure in other districts to serve a two-year probationary period and teachers with tenure in other districts to serve only a one-year period.

Eight of the 11 teachers granted tenure by the board served the full probationary period and three served a one-year probationary period.

The teachers who received tenure include: David Babich, Mary Grosman, Denise Hinrichsen, Judy Kammeraad, Chris-Anne Kelly, Janice Loeffler, Kathleen Mroz, Janice Nagle, Cheryl Waro, Pam White and Jack Wickens, Jr.

Each of these teachers will receive tenure on the 1989 anniversary dates of their hiring.

County PUD eyed

J. Slavik Inc.; Trammell Crow Co.; and Victor International Corp.

Wild said he believes it will take the county about 60 days to work through plans and added an agreement should be reached between the county and a developer sometime in late August or early September.

He said he is unsure whether an agreement will be signed between the county and a developer with respect to the township's final position on a PUD.

"We are trying to maximize the creativity of the site by having the 12 developing groups look at the property and attempt to determine how to best use it," Wild said.

Local leaders seek building authority

Now that all five concerned communities have approved the plan in concept, officials are drawing up the legal documents that will formally create a building authority for the 35th District Court.

Since local governments are not allowed to actually own buildings, separate units called building authorities are set up to lease government land to the government. This is basically a technical maneuver, with the rent often being a token $1 per year.

The 35th District Court building in Plymouth is technically owned by the City of Plymouth Building Authority. Actual operation of the court is overseen by a special advisory board.

Under a proposal developed by court officials, a new building authority just for the court would be created. It would more or less replace the court advisory board.

The court serves the cities of Northville and Plymouth and the townships of Northville, Plymouth and Canton. The City of Northville and Northville Township, as well as the other communities, have all approved the plan in concept.

Judge James Garber of the 35th District Court said last week that the next step in the development of a court authority is for the five local governments to formally adopt a legal resolution.

That is being drafted now, Garber said. It should be done late this month or next month, he said. Bylaws and rules need to be drafted and approved as well.

After that, a new lease will have to be executed. Then, the court building authority will step into the place of the Plymouth Building Authority, Garber said.

Officers honored

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

Two local police officers were honored recently by the Wayne County Chapter of Mothers Against Drunk Driving (MADD) at a ceremony in Dearborn.

MADD spokesperson Sandi Wolf said one officer from each police department in Wayne County was selected by his/her captain as someone "that has made a commitment to alleviating the drunk driving menace."

"Those selected honorees will receive a plaque from Wayne County MADD with their name inscribed on it as part of the recognition," Wolf said.

The two local honorees are township police officer Charles Cole and city officer John Shier.

"We are very grateful for those law enforcement officers and their chiefs who have shown this exceptional effort to stop drunk drivers," said Barbro Lynton, Wayne County MADD president.

"This problem can only be stopped with all of the community working together," Lynton said.

A two-year member of the township police department, Cole said he is happy to receive recognition for the job he is doing and added the reinforcement that police are receiving from MADD will help them to get drunk drivers off the road.

"Nothing is distasteful about drinking," Cole said. "But when a drunk person gets behind the wheel of a car he or she can cause an injury to someone else and themselves."

"I support MADD and I'm a firm believer that we've got to put as much emphasis as we can on this to stop drunk driving," he added.

A Flying Ace

Summer programs offered

A full array of summer school programs was recently announced by the Northville Public School District, which school officials said "will encompass many areas of learning."

"Innovative teaching techniques will be implemented by the staff to create a successful learning experience for each student," said Assistant Superintendent Dolly McMaster in a letter accompanying the school release.

The summer school program was put together by Barbara Sixt, summer school facilitator for the Northville district.

Registration for all classes begins on May 15, and ends on June 28. The summer school office is located on the top floor of the Board of Education office on Main Street.

Any persons interested in applying for the teaching positions for summer school classes should contact the Northville Public Schools Personnel Office (501 W. Main Street) in writing, stating their desire to apply for the vacancies.

In addition to Northville's summer school program, the district is hosting three one-week day camps at

Amerman Elementary entitled "The Living Science Foundation."

The cost of the camps is $185 per week and may be paid in monthly installments. The three camps to be held this summer include: Science and Nature; Air and Space; and Sea.

Classes begin on June 26 and run through Aug. 4. For more information on the summer school program, contact Sixt at 349-3400.

Following is a listing of the summer school classes currently scheduled:

ELEMENTARY CLASSES — The following classes cost $70 each: Kindergarten Development, First-Grade Development, Reading (Grades 1-2 and Grades 3-5), Counting-On (Grades 1-3 and Grades 3-5), Art, Drama, Spelling, Computer Awareness, Literature Appreciation.

ADDITIONAL ELEMENTARY PROGRAMS — Safety Town ($27) and Living Science Foundation Camps ($185).

SPECIAL EDUCATION CLASS FOR EMI STUDENTS — The cost of this program is $110 per student.

MIDDLE SCHOOL CLASSES — Study Skills, English, Art, Math,

Enrichment and Computers. The cost of these programs is $85 per class.

HIGH SCHOOL CLASS — Fundamentals of math, English nine, composition, algebra I and II, U.S. in the 20th century and government. The cost of these classes is $85 each.

SCIENCE and NATURE CAMP — From July 10 through July 14, children ages 5 — 11 will be introduced to the wonders of the natural world with a full compliment of hands-on science activities.

AIR and SPACE CAMP — From July 17 through July 21, children ages 7-12 will journey into the skies with the Starlab planetarium, build and launch their own rockets, build a working model hovercraft and study the mechanics of flight with the help of kites, airplanes and live birds.

SEA CAMP — From July 24 through July 28, children ages 5-11 will be treated to a full experience of ocean life. Campers handle sea anemone and many other sea creatures and learn where they come from and how they all live together.

Subdivision plans move ahead

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

Barring any last minute hitches, a new 12 lot subdivision along Pickford Street in the township will soon become reality.

That's because the plans for the subdivision, to be called Pickford Meadows, cleared a major hurdle Tuesday, May 2 by receiving unanimous approval from the township's planning commission on preliminary plat-stage two.

The proposed subdivision consists of about 25 acres of land south of Seven Mile and east of Beck Road.

Township Planning Consultant Claude Coates has described the plot as a conventional subdivision containing "a lot of open space."

As planned, the single-family residential development would gain access via Pickford, which is currently a stub street. The street is proposed to be extended into a long cul-de-sac.

In his report to commissioners, Coates noted some engineering and technical aspects have been added to the plan, which received stage one approval by commissioners last November.

According to Coates, lot dimension and a proposed sanitary sewer line between two lots has been added to the updated plan.

Township Planning Director Carol Henry said the plan will now move to the township board for their consideration at tonight's meeting.

She said if the plan is approved, it would come back to the board one more time for final plat approval. Henry added that only engineering details would need to be worked out at the final meeting.

Resident's balloon found by Pennsylvania couple

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

Up, up and away went Megan Freeland's balloon last month, with only a tag bearing her name attached to it.

Two weeks after the 8-year-old township resident sent the balloon off into the heavens, she got a letter from the people who recovered the balloon, informing her of where it landed.

"I let the balloon go and it went to Reynoldsville, Pa.," Megan said, as she read the letter sent to her by Chris and Mike Johnson, the couple who found the balloon.

"Basically, the letter from the Johnsons said 'My husband found your balloon in a surface coal mine. Congratulations, it certainly came a long way,'" Megan said.

Megan, who said she got the balloon while eating dinner at Northville Charley's Restaurant, said she didn't think about where the balloon would end up when she let it go.

"I think it's amazing that it went so far away," she said.

Megan's mother, Barbara Freeland, said the letter her family received from the Johnsons has been a "welcome treat" for their entire family.

"When we sent the balloon off we never expected to get a response," Freeland said. "And when we got the letter we expected it to come from Livonia, not Pennsylvania.

"It's nice to have adults take the time to send something to a child. This has been a really satisfying experience for Megan," she added.

Freeland noted the distance between Northville and Reynoldsville is "approximately 275 miles as the crow flies."

A third grader at Silver Springs Elementary, Megan said she has taken a ride in a hot-air balloon before and added she would like to fly off some day to a far away place in one.

Megan said she would also like to meet the Johnsons someday, but only if she travels in a balloon.

Meijer officials eye Novi store

NOVI — Meijer officials are interested in opening a Thrifty Acres store in Novi, according to Rick Morgan, a real estate representative with the firm. They also vehemently deny that they have plans to close the store at Eight Mile and Haggerty Road, in Northville Township.

Meijer's is eyeing the Wixom Road-Grand River area of Novi, according to several sources.

"We're looking at property in various areas, including Novi," Morgan said Tuesday. "(But) We don't have any options (on property) right now."

Novi officials said they had one meeting with Meijer's representatives, characterizing it as a "fishing expedition."

Assistant Planner John Schlagheck said Meijer officials discussed zoning requirements with him in the general area of Grand River, but that no specifics were offered.

The company has not submitted anything — site plans, conceptual drawings, paperwork — to the city about a Meijer's store, Schlagheck said.

The average Thrifty Acres store would include a variety of products, ranging from clothing to grocery items. They would need 30-35 acres of space to construct one, Morgan said.

Morgan used the opportunity to deny rumors about a possible sale of the Meijer's store located on Eight Mile and Haggerty Road. The latest rumor involves closing the store and selling it to a local hotel chain for use as a convention center, according to several sources.

Morgan said the store is expanding and has not planned to close.

"If you can find out where that rumor started I'll buy you lunch," Morgan said in a Tuesday interview. "It's absolutely not true."

Our Opinion

Sign ordinance needs input from businesses

When sign ordinance changes are on an agenda, the public tends to stay home. Dry discussions about signs are not the stuff to compete with NBA playoff games, World War II mini-series, or even situation comedies. But the fact is these discussions are important.

GOVERNMENT

Northville City Council members, planning and Historic District commissioners met Monday in the first of two study sessions to consider an overhaul of the city sign ordinance. Mayor Chris Johnson referred to the draft presented as "rather drastic new changes" and we would have to agree.

Some of the discussion centered on the exact dimensions of the new sign rules. While many of the downtown merchants fall within the strict guidelines of the city's Historic District sign rules, there will be severe changes affecting many of the city's business owners. And while some members of the three bodies that met Monday night are business owners in the city, many are not. Considering the dramatic changes suggested for business owners, input at the discussion level from independent business owners would seem to be in the best interest of all.

While current signs do not have to be changed to meet the proposed revised ordinance, any changes to them or replacements would have to meet the new criteria.

While it has been publicized that the city was reviewing the sign ordinance and the study session was, of course, open to the public, no members of the local business community other than those on the three bodies were in attendance. While the city made a good move in deciding to send copies of the proposed draft to the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce and the Merchants Association, it might be wise to go even a step further and ask for representatives from the community who will be most affected by the changes to be a part of the discussion team.

It has been found that involving people in the discussions from the ground up solves a few problems. First, they may have some concrete ideas and suggestions that may make the changed ordinance a better one. Or they may be able to explain why a change would have an adverse economic effect on a small business owner — to a degree that genuine hardship cases would be frequently heard at the Zoning Board of Appeals.

Also, bringing people in to help draft legislation makes them a part of the change and helps avoid the confrontations at the public hearing stage — when many hours of time have already been committed to hammering out the proposed ordinance changes. Sending things back to committee at that stage drags out the process. Wide-ranging discussions early on may actually speed things up.

Sign ordinances walk a fine line in communities. They must protect the aesthetics of the community. They must also protect the rights of the business owner. There may be more similarities than differences between those two, and the discussion stage is the place to narrow any differences.

The draft proposal discussed on Monday covered "message units" — a new sign term used to label the amount of information covered on the sign. Planning Consultant Don Wortman said that limitations of the amount of message units on a sign would lead to a "better looking sign and a more attractive community." Consultant Glenn Bowles added that "most folks can't read or don't read all the message units that are thrown past you at once."

While both gentlemen may have points, the overall idea that a business owner will not only be limited by the size of his sign, but also to how many words or units will appear on it, seems to go beyond the bounds of even a strict sign ordinance.

At some point the free enterprise system must balance with the need to regulate aesthetics. The message unit system needs to be looked at much closer.

Members of the Northville business community should get involved at the next study session, June 12 at 8 p.m., to insure that the ordinance that is drafted handles the entire community's concerns.

Everyone does well at Special Olympics

There were smiles all over the place last Friday as the final day of the Wayne County Special Olympics regional competition came to a close.

The athletes competed in the true spirit of the games, enjoying themselves and reveling in the spirit of the individual that drives the organizers of the event.

Some 1,000 athletes competed in the games. Over 600 volunteers showed up to hug, encourage and generally help the day go well. Each of these, both volunteer and athlete, deserves a gold medal for the effort they put out.

The Northville School District

employees, led by Athletic Director Dennis Colligan, deserve praise for the excellent organization they showed in presenting the games. Many comments were heard from participants about the record number of volunteers (nearly double from last year) and the ease with which the entire thing went off.

Northville High School was well represented in the volunteer ranks and the students who participated will long remember the lessons learned from this unique athletic event.

A job well done all around — we hope the smiles will shine again whenever Special Olympics is thought of in Northville.

Not so different

By Amy Rosa

About this modular home business . . .

I have to admit that I was rather intrigued when I first heard the news that a "prefabricated" home was going up in a Novi subdivision and some residents had some not-so-very-nice feelings about it.

You see, I am about to become a homeowner myself. I'm going to sign my life away and pledge my first born next week for a nice starter home in West Bloomfield. Naturally, issues involving houses, property rights, etc. are of greater interest to me now.

But I do have to admit that when I first drove by the newly erected modular home (I since learned that "modular home" is more polite than prefabricated), I could feel the sentiments of the irritated residents creeping into my being. "Would I want THAT thing sitting next to me?" I immediately asked myself, when I compared the smallish still bare-naked ranch sitting next to seemingly larger homes in the Cedar Springs Estates subdivision. And on their last vacant lot too, I thought.

Could I understand the residents' fears about plummeting property values? You bet, especially in an area where the values are rumored to be between $110,000 and $150,000.

But then a funny thing happened.

I got some information. And then I got some more information. I got enough facts about modular homes themselves to be able to make an objective decision about them for my own personal sake. And I'll tell you, I think they're great. And I'll explain why.

Modular homes have grown beyond the ugly step-sister syndrome from years ago. It is this memory of shabbily-put-together, easily-distinguishable-prefabricatedness that still remains in people's minds.

And a mistaken comparison to mobile homes also hasn't done much for the modular home reputation.

But things have changed. "How do you know?" you say? I have proof! It turns out that the same company making the Cedar Springs Estates modular — Northwest Building Corporation of Southfield, just completed one in Northville Township. So of course I had to take a look.

The home is located on Clement just off of Main Street. And I'll tell you, I had a hard time finding it — not because I got lost, but because I was looking for something DIFFERENT. Something that didn't look like all the other houses — but I couldn't find it. And when I matched the address, I was stunned. I mean the house was gorgeous. I can't imagine anyone not wanting to live in that beautiful two story house. No, to save my life, I could not tell a difference between that home and a regular "stick-built" one as they're called.

I tried contacting Cedar Springs homeowners association president Gordon Connelly several times this week and last, to give him this home's address so he could drive by and see for himself. Education is everything.

Now of course it isn't a given that the Cedar Springs home will come out looking like the one I saw. Different plans and designs are involved, and everyone does different work on various projects, I suppose. But it deserves a chance.

The whole concept of modular homes is one that should be taken seriously and viewed in a positive manner around these parts. We all know housing is getting more expensive by the minute in Northville and Novi. And so the chance of saving some bucks by buying a home that is somewhat put together before it goes on site is going to become more attractive. Especially if residents see that they won't bring down their property values, and will command as much — if not more than their surrounding houses.

After the fact

By Phil Jerome

Guess who was in town Saturday night?

Okay, okay, okay. Admit it. You don't know, right? Haven't the foggiest, as they say in London.

So I'll tell you. Patty Bowling, that's who. Patricia N. Bowling, as she used to write her byline when she worked here at the paper several years ago.

Patricia N. was one of those reporters who was a total joy to have around. Intelligent, dedicated and an absolutely tireless worker.

Pat left the paper when her husband was transferred to Chicago. And the Bowlings have since moved again — down to North Carolina where Pat is now the editor of the country's leading trade magazine for the furniture industry. In fact, that's why she was up here — floated herself an expense account so she could interview Art Van who will be featured in an upcoming edition of her magazine as one of the nation's top furniture retailers.

At any rate, Pat and I got together for dinner while she was in town. Went out to the Crystal Swan at the Novi Hilton where the first person we met was Jennifer Henderson, Dick and Sheila's daughter who was all decked out for the Novi High School prom and looking beautiful.

Pat and I talked about old times over dinner. What we're doing now. You know, the types of things old friends talk about when they haven't seen each other in a long time.

But the thing I like best about Patricia N. is that she's still a journalist at heart — a community weekly newspaper kind of journalist. The best kind.

"I picked up a copy of the paper and read it in my hotel room last night," she told me. "Boy, it's a good paper. I just can't imagine there being any better weekly in the country."

"The only thing was," she added ruefully, "that it made me homesick. It made me want to come back."

Honor teachers

To the Editor:
 Our public school system has come under much scrutiny in the past few years. American education has been poked and prodded and all kinds of treatments have been prescribed for what the critics say ails it. There is always room to improve the health of schools and one way to do it is: to show respect and support for our nation's teachers.

Our public school teachers are in fact doing an outstanding job. Considering that many are underpaid and overworked, they are often able to work miracles in their classrooms. Whether we know it or not, we are probably the best-educated citizens in the world. We have our teachers to thank for that.

Some experts have suggested that until teachers are respected and valued for their contributions, there can be no significant improvement in this country's education system. This week has been set aside as National PTA Teachers Appreciation Week to focus attention on the many outstanding educators whose work deserves applause. Let's all become contributors to the goal of uplifting our schools and strengthening the quality of education in our community. It's time we recognize teachers for the contributions they make to our lives and the well-being of our nation. Let's all take time to say "thanks" to a teacher.

Every journey begins with one step

This is another in the continuing series of columns written for the Record by Charles Stilec, Northville High School Student Assistance Program Coordinator.

You never realize from day to day the impact ongoing education about substance abuse is having until someone walks up to you with tears in their eyes, a rash on their neck from nervousness, shaking, almost unable to support themselves, not able to verbally ask for help but realizing now — right now — is a make it or break it time and someone is there, someone is there! They are not alone.

You hear a father and mother who are finally coming forward and attending the recent Alcohol and Drug Series through the Northville Action Council and Northville Public Schools. They are talking about their daughter, who is using crack, lives in a beautiful home in Northville and is dying. But what about the other kids... and someone is there, a referral to a professional is made.

A mother whose daughter has been diagnosed for years as having some sort of disorder or another coming away from the Alcohol and Drug Series "Impact on the Family," knowing that the reason her problems have existed is because of alcoholism... and someone is there to help. She and family members a week later are attending Alanon and family counseling is being set up.

I could keep on listing case after case of individuals and families getting help as a result of the fine cooperative effort put on through the Northville Public Schools in the just completed "Alcohol and Drugs: Use and Misuses Series." We know for a fact that once a person is educated, attitudes change and action results in those who are open, honest and willing.

We know:

- The average age of beginning marijuana use in America is 13 years, 12.2 for alcohol.
- At current levels of use, some experience with marijuana in adolescence is becoming the norm rather than the exception.
- Teens drink more alcoholic beverages per capita than adults.
- Although teens comprise only 8 percent of the driver population and account for only 6 percent of vehicle miles in this country, they represent 15 percent of all drunk drivers involved in auto crashes.
- The National Institute of Drug Abuse reports that cocaine has been tried by at least 17 percent of seniors in the class of 1986.

- Approximately 30 percent of high school seniors have smoked cigarettes during the last month — a substantial proportion of whom are daily smokers.

- The most consistent finding in drug research is the strong relationship between an individual's drug behavior and the concurrent use of drugs by his friends.

Prevention starts with you. Let your kids see you getting educated about drugs. Discuss drug use with your children. Don't lecture. Be a good role model. What you do, they do. Provide home rules to live by and enforce them consistently. Be able to say no and stick to it. Give your kids time, your undivided attention on a consistent basis. Listen to their concerns, to their conversations with peers, to their music. Touch, hug — demonstrate your love.

In the recovery from drug abuse effects, it's a one day at a time process. Those of us — and there are growing numbers daily — know the rewards of getting involved and believing that drugs in any form are not OK.

Help is an endeavor. Join the Northville Action Council and attend the next meeting on May 18 at 7 p.m. at Northville City Hall. We need your help.

Second thoughts

By Neil Goeghegan

Even though we're barely halfway through May and the baseball season is a little over a month old, the editorial staff of the Northville Record should be hanging its collective head in shame.

The peerless prognosticators in this office usually do pretty well when it comes to predicting outcomes in various athletic events and races, but this spring we went too far. Knowing what we all know right now, who in their right mind would predict an American League East title for the Tigers this year? Not even Tom Monaghan would be that stupid, and he's been known to say some pretty outrageous things.

That's why I'm embarrassed to say that not more than five weeks ago, four misguided staffers actually put their reputations on the line and picked Detroit to finish first when the whole thing ends in the fall. That's not all, two others picked the Tigers second and another opted for third. With a 9-21 record right now, Sparky's team has the worst record in baseball — by far. Those picks are looking pretty sad indeed.

That's not to say some uncanny predictions haven't come out of this office the last few years. Photographer Chris Boyd actually had the University of Michigan basketball team making it all the way to the NCAA Final last March, which is something not many people can claim. But then again, Boyd always goes with the local teams — think he got lucky on that one. I did predict that Calgary would beat Philadelphia in the soon to be completed Stanley Cup Playoffs way back in August and it just may happen.

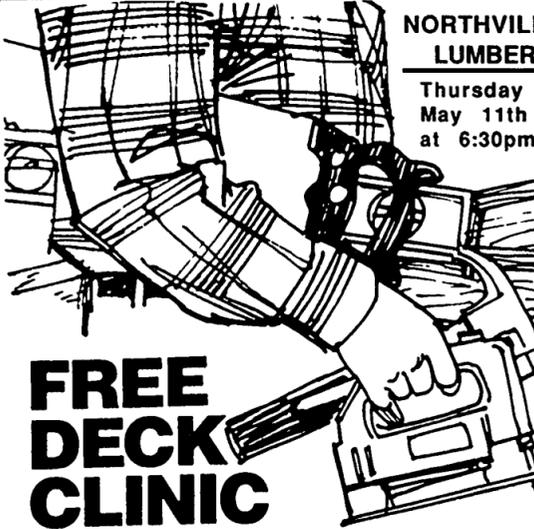

As the reigning, two-time American League East prediction champ in this office, it's hard for me to understand why I had the urge to pick the Tigers to finish second. Even though it's very early, I can see now that that won't happen and the rest of the picks aren't much better (I guess this isn't the year for the Toronto Underachievers either). My only consolation is that unlike Boyd, Ann Willis, Phil Ginotti and Bob Needham, I didn't pick Detroit to win it all.

people out there who overestimated the Tigers this year. Who would have thought that Jack Morris would start the season 0-6 and still have nothing to say to the media? Who would have thought that skinny Torey Lovullo would hit below his weight (.132) and still make the All-Star ballot? And who could have predicted that poor, dedicated Chris Brown would be the unfortunate victim of some terrible injuries (hangnail, sore tooth, dandruff)?

The scariest part of the whole situation is that Managing Editor Phil Jerome was the only realist of the bunch — he picked Detroit to finish fourth. For the first few weeks of the season, I couldn't figure out why such a good Tiger fan was relishing every error, every defeat — but now I know why. With the rest of us taken in by Sparky's ridiculous spring training claim that this is his best Tiger team, Jerome just may walk away with the bragging rights.

In all honesty, I suspect there are a lot of of it. If that happens, we'll never hear the end

Low-cal pizza?

Union Lake man goes national with frozen pizza

By CHRIS MURRAY

A Union Lake business owner and his associates are busy warming up sales nationally for a low-calorie frozen pizza.

Mark O'Brien, 31, created Calorie Counter Pizza in 1986 at his Union Lake pizzeria. The product is currently carried in 500 Farmer Jack, Great Scott and Foodland stores across the state.

O'Brien, who attended Milford High School and graduated from Lakeland High School in 1976, signed a licensing agreement with Gilardi's Pizza, Inc., a Sidney, Ohio-based firm, in 1988.

Gilardi's is also testing the product in Ohio, Illinois and Florida.

O'Brien conducted much research before deciding on which ingredients to use on the Calorie Counter Pizza.

"The oil used is a soybean-based oil. It's not a palm, animal or coconut oil. Those all contain high cholesterol," he said.

Calorie Counter Pizza with pepperoni contains 300 calories per one-quarter slice of a 12-inch pizza. "Regular" pizzas of comparable size contain 2,500 calories, he said.

The low-calorie pizza also contains a low-fat, part skim-milk mozzarella cheese. The product bakes in about seven minutes in a conventional oven.

Calorie Counter Pizza markets Pepperoni, Sausage and Supreme products — the latter with pepperoni, mushrooms, onions and red and green peppers. The Supreme costs $3.49; the other two sell for $2.99 each.

O'Brien opened a pizza parlor on Elizabeth Lake Road in Union Lake in the early 1980s. As his business grew, so did his weight.

"I was 280 pounds with a 6-foot frame and very stressed. I went on the diet and began an exercise program at about the same time I started with the Calorie Counter Pizza," he said.

"I wouldn't say that the low-calorie pizza made me lose nearly 100 pounds, but it did help."

More recently, O'Brien has published "The Calorie Counter" book. The publication contains nutritional values of 908 foods, height and weight tables provided by Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., and daily calorie needs for men and women.

The book also contains recommended daily dietary allowances and food sources of additional nutrients. In addition, the publication lists how many grams of fat are allowed daily for a diet comprised of 30 and 35 percent fat. "I worked very closely with the chief of the U.S. Human Nutrition Information Service and received information from the U.S. Department of Agriculture's 1985 publication on 'Nutritive Value of Foods,' the International Diabetes Center, Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. and several specialists in the field," he said.

Of the 15,000 copies printed of "The Calorie Counter," about 87 percent of the books have been sold, the business owner said.

"It's really taken off. Most books are lucky to sell between 20 and 30 percent of what's printed. It has done quite well."

O'Brien donated a copy of the book to every public library in the metropolitan Detroit area. It is available for $3.95, plus $1 for postage and handling, to Calorie Counter, 9366 Elizabeth Lake Road, Union Lake, Mich., 48085.

The entrepreneur said he has started to gather information for a second book. The publication will center around various business aspects O'Brien has acquired through the years.

"Business people don't make the bucks the day they open the doors on their first business. It takes years of hard work and perseverance," he said.

O'Brien said he has strived to become a successful business person since he was a youngster.

"I recall my first entrepreneur venture in grade school. I would fill my red wagon with candy and whatever else I would pick up around the house and start my own little store on the street," he said.

After selling the candy, O'Brien decided to re-invest in ice cream. This venture did not turn out so well.

"I found an old cooler, but didn't realize it needed ice to keep the ice cream frozen. Needless to say, the ice cream melted and so did my profits," he said.

"I learned a good lesson, had a laugh and didn't for even a second think about giving up."

He took on other jobs as he got older. Like many his age, he worked for a fast-food chain. Unlike many people, he saved his money.

"I saved the money for a goal that I personally wanted to achieve, instead of spending my earnings on 10-speed bikes and stereos. I also used every opportunity to learn about the business world by asking questions," he said.

"That is what you have to do to learn. Otherwise, you might never find the answers."

Community colleges meet needs in rapidly-changing job market

The job market is changing rapidly. Many workers are finding that to retain their positions or to advance in their careers they must update basic math and literacy skills or receive training in more advanced technologies.

And a great number of single parents and women whose children are grown need training in order to re-enter the job market.

Many of these people are finding help from a source close to home — their local community college.

"In 1984 the Commission on Higher Education said that the number one role of community colleges in the future would be job training and retraining," said Richard W. Calkins, president of the Michigan Community College Association.

Calkins, who is also the president of Grand Rapids Junior College, added, "We hope an increasing partnership will evolve between local industry and local community colleges."

"I like to think of a community college as a people's college, where even people with baccalaureate degrees can come back for specific types of training," said Dr. Phillip E. Runkel, president of Northwestern Michigan College in Traverse City.

"Education will occur most effectively at the community college level because these schools have the flexibility and the delivery system to adjust to the needs of business, labor and industry," he added.

Runkel said that in the future

'In 1984 the Commission on Higher Education said that the number one role of community colleges in the future would be job training and retraining.'

— Richard W. Calkins, president Michigan Community College Association

"there will be less emphasis on going through the degree grind. Instead, community colleges are going to have to meet the needs, on the job, of specific kinds of people."

Dr. Gunder Myran, president of Washtenaw Community College in Ann Arbor, said nearly all community colleges do customized training for specific employee groups, during which college instructors often work with the company's training staff.

Community colleges "are not hung-up on whether courses are credit or non-credit," said Runkel. "We're hung-up on getting the job done for the employer and employee."

But going back to school can be nerve-racking for older students, some of whom may not have enjoyed or felt successful in previous school experiences. Most community colleges have a variety of procedures to ease the older student into college life.

For instance, colleges often work with community agencies to help single parents and displaced homemakers with financial aid, childcare assistance and transportation arrangements, according to Geraldine VerHove-Barber, director of the Student Learning Center at St. Clair County Community College in Port Huron.

Community colleges are also still meeting the needs of the "traditional" college students, recent high school graduates and older adults who will transfer to four-year institutions. In fact, when those transfer students go to four-year institutions they do as well or better than students who attend those schools for all four years, according to Calkins.

A better-trained work force is vital to the success of America's economy, said Runkel. "Students have to know about the world they live in. We're not just looking at Mississippi or California to sell our products. We have to look at the developing countries around the world as well as the industrial powers.

CPAs offer suggestions for maintaining effective records

You've just been accepted for a new job. Your employer asks you to report to work with your Social Security card. Oops. You can't remember if it's in that manila envelope in your desk or in the shoe box at the bottom of your closet. What you have is a record-keeping problem.

Every day, in every city, people are thrown into a state of panic when asked to produce anything from an original birth certificate to documentation supporting tax deductions. The answer to such problems is simple — get out of the shoe box and into the file cabinet.

According to the Michigan Association of CPAs, organized records can make life a lot simpler and, in the long run, less costly.

Efficient record keeping can help you track investments, support insurance claims, protect your family's financial security, shave hours off your tax preparation time, cut your tax bill and make it more difficult for the Internal Revenue Service to disallow your tax deductions.

Safeguard your permanent records: Considering the results of good record keeping, the means can be quite simple. First, invest in a safe deposit box or a fireproof filing cabinet to safeguard your permanent records and those papers that would be difficult to replace.

Don't let the cost of a safe deposit box dissuade you from renting one. As long as you use the box to store papers related to your investments, the fee is deductible as a miscellaneous expense, subject to limitations.

Examples of items that should be kept in a secure location include documents recording how much you pay to purchase and improve your home, forms indicating the amount of your non-deductible Individual Retirement Account contributions and photographs or a video inventory of valuables in your home (for insurance purposes).

An unsigned copy of your will and a letter of instructions listing the location of your original will and any vital records or phone numbers a beneficiary may need if you become severely disabled or die, should be stored in a fireproof container at home rather than in a safe deposit box — which may be sealed after an owner's death.

Toss out unnecessary papers: Your next priority is weeding through your other, more temporary papers.

Start by tossing any papers that are unnecessary, such as cash register receipts for small, daily purchases. The simplest guideline is — if you can't use the document now, during an audit, after a casualty, when making investment decisions, or after selling your house, you probably don't need it. If you need additional guidance on which items fall into these categories, consult your CPA.

Other temporary papers, such as credit card bills or receipts for withdrawals from a bank, should be kept long enough to back up your monthly statements.

Establish a filing system: As you sort through your papers, devise a meaningful filing system. Some people merely separate their papers into those related to income and those related to expenses. A more efficient system is to establish distinct categories, such as tax materials, insurance information, investment records and homeowner documents.

If you need help in organizing your tax records, review your most recent tax return for clues on what information you should have on hand. Remember, you should be able to document every item listed on the return, including all sources of income and any tax-deductible expenses.

Most tax records — including cancelled checks and other papers related to medical bills, charitable contributions, rental expenses, alimony payments or business expense — should be maintained for at least three to six years. In addition, keep careful records on where you deposit and how you spend loan proceeds since this information determines the tax treatment of the interest you pay.

For insurance purposes you should maintain accident reports, policy statements, an inventory of assets, and receipts for any major purchases. To document your investments, you will need proof of your initial cost, receipts for brokerage or mutual fund transactions, dividend or interest statements and any other papers that can substantiate a capital gain or loss. Necessary homeowner records include your deed, insurance policies, receipts or cancelled checks for home improvements and possibly rental records if you rent your property for more than 14 days a year.

Storing your files: Where and how you store your files is almost as important as what files you save. First of all, store your files in one specific location. Your best bet is a file cabinet or, at least, an alpha-numeric file folder kept in a drawer.

Make sure the file is conveniently located. If the file cabinet is located in the basement behind the boxes of Christmas decorations and vacation souvenirs, you will probably be less inclined to keep your records up to date.

Separate your records in a way that is meaningful to you. Whatever method you choose, make sure that you clearly label all folders. If you are married, take the time to explain your filing system to your spouse. If you are single, you should probably let a family member or close friend know how and where you have organized your records.

Finally, the Michigan Association of CPAs strongly recommends that you file your records on a consistent basis — say, twice a month. Make record keeping as routine as housecleaning and you may be surprised at just how painless the job can be.

Real Estate Facts by Evette Priestap -Real Estate Counselor-

HOUSE VALUE VS LOT VALUE

QUESTION: What is the proper relationship between the cost of a lot and the value of the house on it?

ANSWER: Old rules of thumb have lost much of their meaning. It used to be that land represented about one-sixth of the home's purchase price. Then it moved up to one-fourth. And it will change again as the cost of land continues to rise.

Nevertheless, the land value versus house value ratio cannot be totally dismissed because it does, to some extent, affect the resale value of the property. It may not make much difference if you put an inexpensive house on an expensive lot, but it could be a mistake to have too much house for the land.

Pampering mother on MOTHER'S DAY

Local moms share Mother's Day wishes

*M is for memories she gives us,
O is for open-handed generosity she shares.
T is for tender loving care we feel when we're with her.
H is for hugs she offers in good times and bad.
E is for encouragement she freely furnishes,
R is for respect she has worked so hard to deserve.*

Mother. She shares a special place in our hearts and our lives. A place no one else could ever fill.

She's always at our sides when we need a friend. She dries our tears and cheers us on when we succeed.

She knows what to say to make us feel better. She's our tower of support, our confidential friend, our helping hand.

And the day to honor her is almost here. Mother's Day is this Sunday (May 14). In recognition of this special day, we asked several local moms what they would like to receive for Mother's Day.

Their responses varied. But all of the moms we queried put a lot of thought into their answers. A few moms first admitted they couldn't think of a single thing they wanted for Mother's Day.

Take Novi's Sue Korte for instance. When first asked she replied "I have so much... it's not that we're overly wealthy or anything, but I have nice kids and a nice family. I don't really know what I want — I'm very happy and very content with what I have."

Later in the afternoon she called back to say that a new set of metal golf clubs would be nice...

Northville's Barbara Flis said she would like a window box to put outside the kitchen window for Mother's Day.

"An old-fashioned white wooden box like the kind you see on 'Leave It To Beaver,'" she explained.

In that box she said she would probably plant impatiens. Flis said her request would pose a challenge for her husband and kids because, well, the man of the house really isn't very handy with tools. It seems that he is a financial banker and is more familiar with numbers and ideas than he is with a hammer and nails.

However, miracles never cease. So maybe Flis' request isn't impossible?

"Gee, you really put me on the spot," Novi's Ruth Sill replied when asked what she would like for Mother's Day. After mulling over the idea she said: "I would like some flowers and to go out to brunch."

Susie Rompel of Northville first responded to the question by saying "No one's ever asked me before." Then the idea hit her.

"I would just like to have my family with me and I would like my husband to fix dinner — from start to finish."

Novi's Debbie Fatt said her Mother's Day wish already came true. The family dog, a pug, recently delivered a litter of six puppies, five of which are alive and well and yipping.

The event in itself was rather unusual, she explained, because pugs usually only have litters of three or four puppies.

"That's all I wanted," Fatt said about the newly-born pups. "Now I just want to find good homes for them."

Mary Mattis of Northville was also taken by surprise by the question.

"I'd like a big hug and kiss from my children and for them to be happy forever," Mattis said. "I really like hugs so that's what I would like."

Sue Krause of Novi shared a simple Mother's Day request with us. She said she'd like a tennis bracelet. A delicate tennis bracelet sparkling with diamonds. Did you catch that, Mr. Krause?

The Mother's Day wish for Novi's Diane Davies is to share the day with her husband, Mark, and daughters Alison and Jennifer.

"The happiness and closeness of my family is the most important thing to me," she said.

Volunteers

Langham volunteers for schools

By DOROTHY NASH

How does Kathy Langham, who is a wife and the mother of two grade-schoolers, juggle housekeeping and week-long volunteering in two schools and in Girl and Boy Scouts, too?

"I don't get frustrated," she answered.

As a member of the PTO, the Novi resident is in charge — for the third and last year! — of the major spring fund-raiser for Village Oaks Elementary School. It's a games and hot dog event, and "We made $6,000 last year," she said.

As the mother of a son in Village Oaks and a daughter in Novi Meadows, she volunteers in classrooms in both schools for a total of four days a week.

"I help the second-graders with computers," she said. "Three of us moms work with eight children at a time, 25 minutes each time. It's a program on how to word process — a beginning so they're comfortable with computers."

At Novi Meadows School, Langham said, "I help in the computer lab with a paid staff member, working with 12 fifth- and sixth-graders at a time."

She helps teachers in classrooms, too — one day a week in fifth grade and one day in a split first and second grade.

Why? "I'm keeping my skills up," she answered. "I taught special education before my daughter was born, and maybe I'll go back to teaching."

Girl Scouts? She and two assistants have a troop of 16 girls.

Boy Scouts, too? Yes, she has a Cub Scout Den of seven boys.

Why is she in Scouts? The answer — "It's hard to find leaders, but I get a lot of help." Other moms take over if she can't, she said.

And of course Kathy Langham does church work, too.

Again — why does she tie herself up with so much volunteering? "I enjoy it," she said, "and besides there are more important things than doing laundry and vacuuming."

Town Hall board seeks needy groups

No, Mrs. Paul Vernon, we didn't forget you. Mrs. Vernon's name was inadvertently omitted from the recently published list of members on the Northville Town Hall Board of Awards.

Following is a complete list of board members: Mrs. Roy Mattison, chairperson; Mr. Herman Moehlmann, Mrs. Robert Brueck and Mrs. Paul Vernon, all of Northville; Mrs. Francis Korte, Novi; Mrs. Charles Childs, Plymouth; Mary Dumas, Livonia; and Mrs. E. Quentin Proctor, Farmington.

Sue Korte, Town Hall publicity chairperson, explained that for some unknown reason Mrs. Vernon's name was also left off the list included in this year's annual Town Hall program. But that doesn't mean her contributions to the board were ever overlooked. We apologize for the oversight.

A reminder to all area groups and charities — there's still time to submit letters of request to the Northville Town Hall Board of Awards.

The board is in the process of receiving and considering letters from area organizations and charities for distribution of funds. Annually, the Town Hall Board of Awards donates proceeds from its celebrity lecture series to groups in need of funds.

Half of the proceeds are donated to Our Lady's League of Our Lady of Victory Church, sponsors of the series. The remaining funds go to a selected charity.

Submitted letters should state the intent of an organization and what the funds will be used for. Letters should be mailed to: Northville Town Hall Board of Awards, P.O. Box 93, Northville, Mich., 48167. Deadline for submitting requests is May 31.

Fashion show conducted at Northville church

If you were a bit foggy about what's "in" for this year's spring and summer fashion season, the Women's Association at the First Presbyterian Church of Northville had your best interest at heart.

The group hosted a spring/summer fashion show on Wednesday, May 10. Fashions modeled during the show were provided courtesy of Twelve Oaks Mall.

Gourmet desserts were served to kick off the show. Other activities included door prizes and a demonstration on how to use accessories.

Proceeds from the event will benefit mission work.

Our Lady of Victory Church offers three informational programs on topics such as aging parents, exploring the Catholic church and an introduction to Christianity.

The programs are open to the public and free of charge.

"Aging Parents: How to Help and Understand Them" will be offered Tuesdays, May 16, 23 and 30 at 7:30 p.m. in the parish social hall. The three-week program is intended to assist adult children in understanding the emotional and physical needs of their aging parents as well as examining their own emotional and physical limits as caregivers.

Another program "Welcome Home: An Outreach Program for Former or Inactive Catholics" is designed to help those who were former members of the church. The three-week program will be offered Thursdays, May 18, 25 and June 1 at 7:30 p.m. in the parish social hall. The program will explore concerns, questions and issues raised in the church today.

"An Introduction to Catholic Christianity Today" will be offered on Tuesday, June 6, at 7:30 p.m. in the church's parish social hall. The workshop is open to anyone.

Speaking out

Local Toastmasters Club teaches speaking skills

By BRENDA DOOLEY

It's a common anxiety — the overwhelming fear of speaking in front of a crowd of people.

Jean Patuano of Farmington Hills said she was intimidated by talking to men, even on a one-on-one basis. Her job as a media buyer forced her to confront her fear every day.

"My voice shook, I couldn't think clearly," she recalled.

Instead of running from her anxiety, Patuano joined the Motor City Speak Easy Toastmasters Club.

"Toastmasters has opened a whole new world for me. I've won awards at work..." she added.

An international group, the Toastmasters was established to help people become better communicators by listening and speaking to others. Locally, the Motor City Speak Easy Toastmasters meets on the second and fourth Mondays at O'Sheehan's on Seven Mile Road in Northville.

The first club formed in 1924 when founder Ralph Smedley gathered a group men at a California YMCA to practice public speaking and communication skills. Currently there are 6,000 Toastmasters clubs around the world.

Northville's Mary Louise Cutler first joined the Toastmasters in 1978, at its Dearborn club. She now belongs to the Motor City chapter.

"I joined to enhance my speaking skills," she said. "It has helped me a lot — I've become more aware of speaking techniques and have been able to help other people."

Since first joining the organization, Cutler has served as an area and division governor, a role that has given her a chance to lead other Toastmasters clubs. Eventually Cutler said she would like to advance to higher ranks within the organization.

"Some people join just to be able to get in front of a crowd to speak. I stay in it to keep my skills up," Cutler remarked. "We all start at the level when our knees shake and our palms are sweaty..."

"It's such a good, sharing group. Everyone wants you to achieve and to improve."

Michael Callanan of Canton has been involved in the local Toastmasters club for nearly two years. Last year he was president of the group.

"We speak, listen and learn," he explained.

As manager of an AM radio station, Callanan said he joined the group because he, too, wanted to improve his speaking skills. His involvement, he said, has also helped him improve his interpersonal relations.

"It's more than speaking skills," Callanan said of the Toastmasters. "It involves attitudes and self-confidence."

Other members echo the sentiments of Patuano, Cutler and Callanan, describing the group as inspirational.

"This is the best way people can become acquainted with public speaking," said Jim Knapp, president of the group. "It's amazing to me the skills you can learn for about $36 a year."

Knapp, a former resident of Northville now living in Farmington, was introduced to the club when he lived in Texas. After settling in Michigan, he sought out the local group to polish his speaking techniques.

"The skills you learn in Toastmasters can be applied in hundreds of ways," Knapp remarked.

A typical meeting consists of a brief business discussion, giving members the chance to practice parliamentary procedures. The business meeting is followed by a table topics program, when each member is given 1½-2 minutes to prepare for a short speech.

Locally, the Toastmasters meets at 6 p.m. at O'Sheehan's for social hour and dinner. The regular meeting begins at 7 and runs until about 9 p.m.

At Monday's meeting, Novi's Harvey Larson recommended the "word of the day" — rationalize. He defined it and used it in a sentence. Throughout the evening whenever other members used the word, they were rewarded with applause.

Following the table topics program, several members give prepared talks about five to seven minutes in length, on assigned subjects. The speakers are evaluated on aspects of their speaking abilities.

Club members are encouraged to advance through the Toastmasters program at their own pace. Presently the Motor City Speak Easy Toastmasters Club is seeking new members. If interested in joining, call Mike Callanan at 451-0620, Mary Louise Cutler at 349-8855 or Jim Knapp at 471-3187.

"I could not get up in front of a small group of people," Patuano said.

"Now we can't get her to shut up," joked Callanan and member Bernie VanAntwerp.

Toastmasters Club member Michael Callanan presents the group with his table topic speech

Northville men complete military programs

Navy Ensign CRAIG A. BEAUDOIN, son of Rosaly M. Reichenback of Northville, was commissioned to his present rank upon graduation from the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor.

Beaudoin received his commission upon completion of the school's Naval Reserve Officer Training Corps (NROTC) Program.

During each undergraduate semester, Beaudoin completed naval science courses as well as his full academic schedule that led to his degree. These courses, combined with annual summer training aboard ships and shore installations, served to prepare him for the duties and responsibilities of a commissioned officer.

He is a 1984 graduate of Redford Catholic Central High School.

Navy Petty Officer Third Class CARL J. KINZEL, son of Carole L. Ruttrum of Northville, was graduated from Field Medical Service School.

During the five-week course at Marine Corps Base, Camp Pendleton, Calif., Kinzel was prepared for duty with Marine Corps combat units as a Naval hospital corpsman and dental technician. Kinzel studied the fundamentals of battlefield survival, personal protective measures and received instructions on basic tactics and the use of weapons for self-defense.

To graduate, he was required to demonstrate basic proficiency in emergency medical techniques, casualty evacuation, field sanitation and preventive medicine procedures.

A 1987 graduate of Northville High School, he joined the Navy in September 1987.

Airman JERRY ATKINS, son of Sandra K. Atkins of Westland and Terry F. Atkins of Northville, has graduated from Air Force Basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas.

During the six weeks of training the airman studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special training in human relations.

In addition, airmen who complete basic training earn credits toward an associate degree through the community college of the Air Force.

He is a 1988 graduate of Redford High School.

Marine Military Academy Cadet

CORPORAL THOMAS MATTHEW BRAIN, 15, son of Mr. Robert Brain of Saltillo, Mexico, and Mrs. Ester Brain of Northville, was named to the Dean's List for the first grading period of the 1988-89 academic school year. He is currently a sophomore at the Academy.

A cadet must have a 3.0 to a 3.49 grade point average, and maintain a minimum conduct grade of at least a "B" before he can be eligible for this honor. He must also have an equivalent military proficiency grade which covers all other aspects of his life at MMA.

The Marine Military Academy is a private, military college preparatory boarding school for young men in grades 9 through 12, plus post graduate study. The Academy is located in Harlingen, Texas.

PTA News

Schools to conduct spring activities

PTA News is published weekly in the Record. This week's news is from St. Paul's Lutheran School and Our Lady of Victory School. Any school interested in publishing its PTA or school news in the Record should contact the newspaper at 349-1700.

ST. PAUL'S LUTHERAN SCHOOL

Spring is here and we are eagerly awaiting all the exciting events the Parent Teacher Association, as well as the teachers, have planned.

Our annual "Spring Fling," a social evening filled with fun and games, took place on the evening of May 5.

Upcoming events include a visit from the Living Science Foundation on May 24. The Foundation was invited to bring its educational materials and animals for an exciting school presentation.

The children in grades K-6 are enthusiastic about their upcoming production of "Kids Praise II," on May 12 at 7:30 p.m. The program will begin with a short play performed by the seventh- and eighth-graders. Everyone is vigorously practicing and singing up a storm. It should be a delightful evening.

Another terrific evening filled with song is planned for May 19 at 7:30 p.m. We will welcome Don Wharton in concert. Wharton is a well-known Christian singer and has recorded quite a few tapes. Everyone is welcome to attend.

We recently hosted an evening speaker and presentation concerning the topic of getting involved in saying "No to drugs." As usual, such an event is an eye-opener and encourages parent involvement with their children in a positive way.

Our annual rummage sale this month was also a success.

Teachers are finalizing plans for their last field trips of the year. The trips include visiting museums, farms, science centers, planetariums and the like. An all-school activity day is also planned.

Enrollment for next year is being accounted for and we still have a few openings in most grades. Do feel free to stop in and visit if you haven't seen us in action. While inside the school, pick up an enrollment form. If you have a form, please return it as soon as possible so we can hold a space for you. The school office can be reached by calling 349-3146.

OUR LADY OF VICTORY SCHOOL

The faculty and administration of Our Lady of Victory School join with Father Frank in appreciation to parents and parishioners for making this school year such a successful one.

The appreciation dinner held last week is symbolic of our gratitude to you for the many hours you have put in to see that our school continues to move toward excellence. Many, many thanks!

Grandparents Day was an overwhelming success, with children enjoying the opportunity of showing their relatives around their rooms and sharing some special activities with them. The May Crowning and presentation of Partners in Excellence awards were two highlights of the afternoon. Our guests were treated to homemade cakes and coffee at a reception in the library following the service.

We are proud of each child who has made his/her First Communion in recent weeks. Following a special Mass for the children in second grade last Friday, a delicious breakfast was served in their honor. Sincere thanks go to Mrs. Urbanczyk and all of the parents who turned this day into a joyous celebration.

Several OLV students brought honor to our school through their excellent showing in the Michigan Mathematics League contest. Brandon Dalziel won 17th place in the state among eighth-graders, while Pam Clancy placed 16th in the state among seventh-graders. Both ranked third among top students in the region. We are extremely proud of these two students.

Further recognition came to our school through the presentation of a Certificate of Recognition of Outstanding Achievement from the Commission on the Bicentennial of the U.S. Constitution. This award was for a second place finish in the district competition of the National Historical Pictorial Map Contest. Congratulations to all the students who made these awards possible.

Watch for the announcement of date and time for televising OLV students reading their original works of poetry on Omnicom cable of Plymouth, Canton and Northville. Nearly 60 students will be featured on this show, which is the culminating project of our recent Artist-in-Residence program. A huge "thank-you" is due to Mrs. Goode, who coordinated not only this taping but the entire program with poet Kathleen Leo. Student poets joined Leo in April to read samples of their original poetic works. OLV students were most fortunate to have been a part of this enrichment experience.

Our Lady of Victory School was represented at the annual Michigan Teachers of Mathematics exam at the University of Detroit. Representing sixth grade were Brian Buser and Greg Obrecht. Representing seventh grade were Pam Clancy and Stefan Scherckenbach. Our eighth grade representatives were Kelly Berger and Brandon Dalziel.

Students have been participating in "Lyceum for Logophylles" for the last 12 weeks. Each week students throughout the school learn a new word and use it as often as possible.

Several students recently auditioned for the school talent show, which will follow the appreciation luncheon on May 12.

The "Kids on the Block," a troupe of disabled and non-disabled puppets, recently visited students in first and second grades. The puppets teach children about disabilities and how to accept likenesses and differences.

Volunteer computer moms completed their second training sessions. OLV School would not be able to offer many programs without the generosity of the wonderful volunteers who share their time and talents with us.

On April 19 the students in seventh grade made their own banana splits with ice cream and toppings provided by the PTO. The seventh-graders were school Campbell Soup label champs.

The fifth grade class spent Friday, April 14 at the McGuffey Schoolhouse at Greenfield Village. In preparation of their visit, students made blueberry ink and copy books. They learned about America in the 1840s and about the rural schools of the 19th century.

Mrs. Sally Swift attended the NCEA Convention in Chicago on March 27-30. She gathered valuable information about Catholic education in the U.S. Eucharistic Liturgy.

Congratulations to all the students who were named to the OLV honor roll for the third quarter.

Fourth-graders named to the honor roll were Joey Addison, Michael Andersen, Tim Burke, Christine Buser, Meghan Cauzillo, Tony Fessler, Lauren Gugala, John Curtis Hammerle, Kristy Hoffman, Lyndsay Huot, Jackie Korreck, Denise Larabell, Eric Lemieur, Sarah Matthews, Jenny McMullen, Kelly O'Reilly, Jessica Voogd, Kristin Witt, John Woodsum, Sarah Wright and Michael Zelenock.

Fifth-graders named to the honor roll included Michael Clancy, Lisa Cousineau, Carrie Dalziel, Joshua Grutza, Rebecca Haas, Casey Holtschneider, Jennifer King, Richard Howal, Kathryn Mittman, Paul Moore, Emily Reardon, Sharyn Sanderson, Erica Slayton and Lisa Wisniewski.

Church youth group to conduct benefit car wash

In need of a car wash? If it's spring, there's probably mud splatters on the windshield or hood. But don't despair. At least one local group is willing to help residents clean up their autos.

Members of a youth group at the First Presbyterian Church of Northville are planning to host a car wash on Saturday, May 20, at the church from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Car washes will be free. At the same time, youth group members will accept membership pledges to fund a trip they're planning to take to Clemson, S.C.

The trip to South Carolina won't serve merely a pleasure vacation, according to Martin Ankrum, associate pastor at the church. While in South Carolina, youth group members plan to repair houses of low-income residents who can't afford to do it themselves. Proceeds from the car wash will benefit the project.

Young members from the church recently traveled to Cancun, where they took part in a work camp. In Cancun they constructed a concrete wall to separate a Presbyterian church from a neighboring residential community.

Tiger Stadium offers best ticket prices

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

What's the best deal going if you want to be there — in person — to watch professional athletes from local teams showcase their talents?

Everyone knows if you want to see a winner, you go to the Palace of Auburn Hills to see the Pistons, who finished the regular season with the eighth-best record in NBA history. You certainly wouldn't go to see the Lions at the Silverdome.

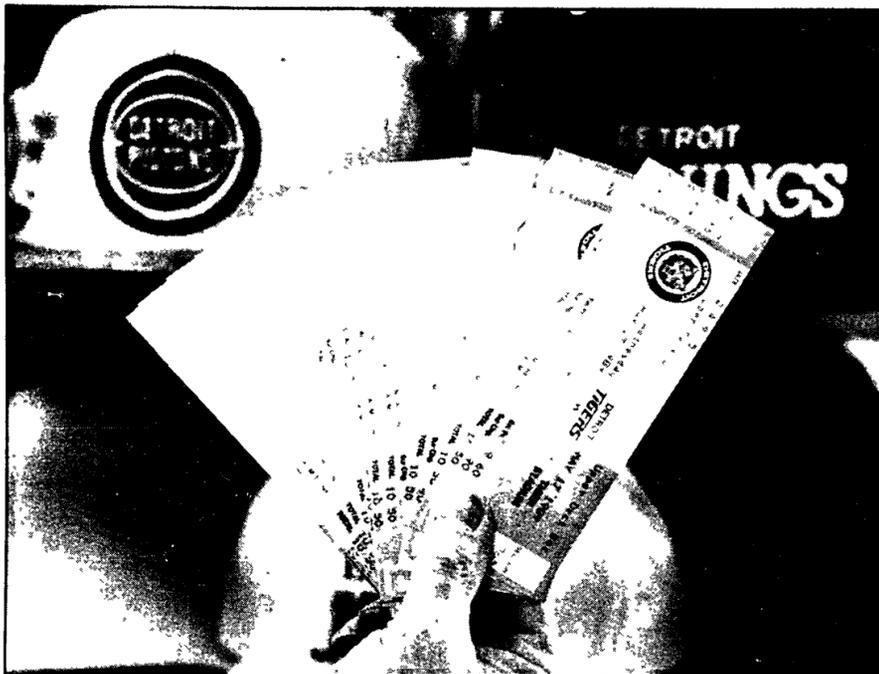

But what about costs? The Tigers have been around a lot longer than any other pro team in Detroit and are still the best deal in town — for a number of reasons. Tiger Stadium is the second oldest major league ballpark currently in use in the country, and single-game ticket prices have that old-time value that you just don't see any more.

The best seats in the house — upper and lower level boxes — go for only $10.50, and reserve ($8.50), grandstand ($6) and bleacher ($4) seats are also very affordable. For more information, call 962-4000 or 963-9944.

Another advantage Tiger Stadium has over rival venues like the Palace, the Silverdome and Joe Louis Arena is parking prices. Private parking lots within a few blocks of Tiger Stadium offer spaces in the $2-3 range. A spot at the Joe Louis Arena Parking Garage, for example, costs $5.

Both the Pistons and Red Wings have had their share of successes the past few years, but as a spectator, you'll have to pay a hefty price to support them in person. Piston ticket prices rank second among all NBA teams (behind — who else — the Lakers), and Red Wing prices are also near the top of the NHL list and may be rising.

The face value of a lower level seat at the Palace is $23, but those are not available on a single-game basis. All of the lower level and most of the prime upper level seats are reserved for season-ticket holders only. Second level seats located in the corners and ends at the Palace run for $19 and $16.50 respectively while seats in the last few rows at the top of the arena are priced at $10.50. There are also several dozen $5 seats at the very outermost reaches. For more information, call 377-0100.

The Wings' prices aren't much better. The prices for 1988-89 are roughly equivalent to the Pistons, but next season's prices haven't been set yet. Executive level (lower bowl) seats cost $23 and Arena Level (upper bowl) go for $18. Unfortunately for the single-game spectator, all the Executive and half of the Arena level seats are reserved for season ticket holders.

Joe Louis Arena does have several hundred $9 seats located at the very top of the arena and also standing room only ($12) passes to individual games. Call 567-6000 or 567-7425 for additional info.

Despite having the second worst record in the NFL last fall (4-12) the Detroit Lions raised their ticket prices for this coming season. To minimize publicity, the shrewd Lion management announced the raise on New Year's Eve. Most seats in the lower and upper level now cost $18 (up from $16). Club Level seats go for $23.50, and several thousand bleacher tickets can be had for a reasonable cost of $7.50. Call the Lion ticket office at 335-4151.

If you prefer major college athletics, you'll probably be disappointed to hear ticket prices are rising there also. In football, all University of Michigan tickets have been raised from $18 to $20, and Michigan State University football passes are now $18 (up from $16).

The best basketball deal is at the University of Detroit ($6 reserved, $4 general admission). U-M and MSU basketball tickets were $10 and $7 last season but it looks like both are on the rise. The Wolverines are fresh off an NCAA National Championship and the Spartans are moving out of venerable Jenison Field House and into the soon-to-be-completed Jack Breslin Student Events Center.

As for hockey, if you can get a ticket at MSU's Munn Ice Arena, the cost is reasonable ($8 for chair seats, $7 for benches and $6 for standing room only). At U-M's Yost Arena, hockey tickets are easy to get, and are only $6 reserved, $4 general admission. For all U-M ticket inquiries, call 764-0247; At MSU, call (517) 355-1610; At U-D, call 927-1700.

Late rally lifts Canton past kickers, 3-2

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

The more the Northville kickers lose, the higher they seem to climb in the state Class A rankings.

From that standpoint, it sounds like a work in progress — but it really isn't. That's because the voters in the coaches association take into consideration who you play, not just the won-loss records. By splitting two matches last week, Northville dropped to 5-2-1 overall for the season, but moved up two slots in the rankings anyway, to seventh. The reason is simple: the only two setbacks have been against number-one rated Plymouth Salem and number-four Plymouth Canton.

The latest was a heartbreaking 3-2 loss to Canton at home on May 1. The normally solid Mustang defense gave up a pair of goals in the final eight minutes of play, which turned a potential 2-1 victory into a frustrating defeat.

"It shouldn't have happened," Northville Coach Bob Paul said. "We deserved to lose to Salem (back on April 26) but not to Canton. We controlled the play for the majority of the game and we played well."

Sweeper Heather Sixt put the Mustangs on top just five minutes into the game when she one-touched a corner kick from Amy Goode into the Canton goal from about eight yards out. But about 20-minutes later, the Chiefs knotted it at 1-1 on a breakaway goal by Shannon Meath.

It remained deadlocked until Northville regained the lead about 10-minutes into the second half. Goode scored an incredible goal from about 30-yards out on a free kick that somehow found its way into the back of the net.

"It was a picture perfect shot," Paul said. "It was still rising when it hit the underside of the crossbar and went in. We knew (Amy) had a strong shot and she just buried it."

With about eight minutes left, however, Canton tied it again on an unlikely goal that was actually a crossing pass from Candy Jones from just inside the corner flag. It sliced a bit to the left in the air and caught the side of the net, over goaltender Kristi Turner's head. Four minutes later, star forward Jenny Russell somehow split a pair of defenders and rifled the game-winner from about 20-yards out that sailed high into the right corner on the far side.

"It was an incredible effort by Russell," Paul said. "Michelle McQuaid did a great job on her all day and really shut her down, but she rose to the occasion and made an unbelievable play at the end to win it."

"When it went in, the girls were in shock. We outshot (Canton) and controlled the play and yet they pulled it off with some great individual plays. We played hard, but two-or-three mistakes on our part ended up costing us the game. But a couple mistakes in an 80-minute game is not very much."

NORTHVILLE 5, FARMINGTON HARRISON 0: The Mustangs came back four days later with a shut out victory over the Hawks, but Paul wasn't happy with his squad's effort and intensity.

"I don't think we played very hard — we played some sloppy soccer," he said. "We knew what we had to do to win. But we took them lightly. I was more pleased with the calibre of play in the Canton game than I was in this one."

A goal by Goode at the 10-minute mark ended up being the only tally of the first half. Sixt made it 2-0 with a goal early in the second half and then Neysa Colizzi, Karen Cavanaugh and Ashley MacLean rounded out the scoring with goals in the final 10 minutes of play.

"We were only ahead 1-0 at halftime and we had a pretty big heart-to-heart talk," Paul admitted. "We were confident we'd win, but at 1-0 anything can happen. Things picked up a bit in the second half and we played better."

The loss to Canton almost certainly drops the Mustangs out of contention for the division title. But at 5-2 in the WLA, Northville is still a major force.

Trackers fall to 0-6 with loss

The hard-luck Northville girls track team dropped another dual meet — this time a 71-57 decision to Livonia Franklin on May 4. With six defeats in six tries so far, and only three more dual meets left on the schedule, the Mustangs are in danger of completing a winless season.

"I thought we could beat Franklin," coach Mike Webb said. "It was pretty close but we had a few more problems in the relays and it really cost us. In the 800-meter relay, we lost by less than a second and we had a couple bad handoffs. That was a 10-point swing right there."

Northville did manage six firsts. Rachel Davis won the long jump (14'-8"), Ris Fleming took the honors in the high jump (4'-9"), Mari Kissinger was the first to cross the finish line in the 800 (2:42.0), Kendra Huard was first in the 200 (20.9), Jacque Matthews notched a win in the two-mile run (13:48.5) and the mile relay team of Dawn Leland, Angie Tune, Huard and Davis were winners (4:42.3).

The seconds included Fleming in the 110 hurdles (19.2) and the 300 hurdles (56.2), Lisa Aimore in the high jump (4'-9"), Tricia Lukomski in the 100 (14.5) and the 200 (30.0), Megan Holmberg in the 800 (2:44.0) and Susan Weix in the two mile (13:51.6). The thirds came from Tune in the 110 hurdles (20.4) and the 300 hurdles (58.8), Matthews in the mile (6:25.0), Kissinger in the shotput (24'-2"), Leland in the 400 (70.0) and Angie Nelson in the 800 (2:49.1).

Injuries continue to play a big part in Northville's woes this season. The distance corps — Lisa Brown and Kristen Woodsum in particular — has been devastated with stress fracture injuries. Brown, the team's top miler, is probably finished for the season and Woodsum isn't expected back soon.

"We're trying to keep the girls positive but it's difficult with all the losses and all the injuries," Webb admitted. "The girls are doing the best they can, so I'm not disappointed with their effort."

Patience pays off for Mustang nine

If good things come to those who wait, Bob Frellick and his Northville baseballers will probably finish out the '89 season with a big, impressive winning streak.

Frellick had to wait eight games before his team notched its first victory, but now that the season is at the midway point, the rejuvenated Mustangs are starting to play solid baseball and the wins are becoming more and more frequent.

For the first time all season, Northville finished in the black — with more wins than losses. The overall record is still an anemic 4-11, but three wins in the last five tries is a positive sign that good things are on the way.

"We played well all week," Frellick said. "We had good intensity, spirit and just seemed to be better prepared mentally."

The Mustangs wrapped up the week on a positive note by finally toping Plymouth Canton, 8-5, on May 6 in the second game of a doubleheader. It was the first taste of victory against the Chiefs in four meetings.

The game marked the varsity debut of sophomore pitcher Aaron Hodgins, who was brought up from the junior varsity squad and eventually earned the victory. Canton scored a pair of runs off Hodgins in the first two innings on just two hits but Northville bounced back to tie it thanks to a two-run single from John McNeil in the bottom of the third.

The Chiefs pulled back in front with single runs in the fourth and fifth but again the Mustangs responded with a big four-run rally that put them ahead for good. Three walks and hits by Steve Vigh and Jim Willerer provided the production.

Northville added two more in the sixth on a two-run single by Darren Kehoe to make it 8-4 and then Hodgins withstood a final inning push by Canton to get the win. In seven innings, he allowed just three hits, two earned runs, struck out five and walked three.

"It felt very good to beat Canton because they are a good team," Frellick said. "In the fifth, they brought in their ace pitcher (Mike Sulak) to shut us down and we still hit him hard."

The hitting leaders included McNeil (2-for-3, 2 RBIs), Vigh (2-for-4), Kehoe (2 RBIs) and Willerer (2 RBIs). Game one was a totally different story as Canton's Jeff Kugelmann stymied the Mustang hitters en route to a 9-0 shut out. Northville managed only three hits but did have runners on third base on three different occasions and failed to score each time.

"It was simply an outstanding pitching performance by Kugelmann," Frellick said. "We haven't done anything against him this season."

In the meantime, the Chiefs were ripping Mustang ace Scott Probert for six runs on four hits and two errors in the first. He settled down and didn't allow another run to score until the sixth, but the outcome was never in doubt. Probert (eight hits, six earned runs, five strike outs, two walks) suffered the loss.

NORTHVILLE 12, LIVONIA CHURCHILL 8: This intra-division road victory on May 3 was a good indication of just how much the Mustangs have improved. Back on April 19, the Chargers edged Northville 4-3 at home.

"It was a high-scoring game, but it was well played," Frellick said. "Almost every batter got at least one hit, so it was definitely a team win. Everybody contributed."

A triple and a single by Vigh in the first three innings keyed a three-run outburst by the Mustangs, but Churchill had a 4-3 advantage heading into the fourth. The lead changed hands two more times but Northville took control with a five-run rally in the sixth. The big hits were a pair of doubles from Joe Kaley and Randy Jones. Brian Frellick knocked in another run in the seventh to com-

Mustangs of the Week

KEN SPIGARELLI

JEFF WESLEY

By going 3-0 last week, the Northville tennis squad is now 8-2 overall this season and the top doubles team of Ken Spigarelli and Jeff Wesley was a big part of the success. This 'dynamic duo' crushed all three opponents last week, taking 36-of-40 games in the process. In a 5-2 win over Livonia Churchill, Spigarelli and Jeff Wesley ran their season mark to 8-1 with a convincing 6-0, 6-0 win over Ron Rogowicz and Jesse Nagy. Two days later, Farmington's Ed MacDonald and Pete Elmegraby fell 6-0, 6-3 en route to another 5-2 Mustang victory. Then last Friday, in a 7-0 wipeout over Westland, the Spigarelli/Wesley duo cruised past Jason Pavicic and Ron Garrett, 6-1, 6-0. With that kind of domination, it's easy to see why the two seniors are our 'Mustangs of the Week.'

Despite losses, Gerlach vows to capture division title

Mustang catcher Laura Apligian talks strategy with pitcher Amy Freimund on May 8 against North Farmington

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

How many pitchers have a sparkling 0.41 earned run average, have a strikeout to walk ratio of more than 10-to-1 and are still saddled with three losses in 13 decisions?

Northville's Amy Freimund may be the only one in the state this season. The Mustang pitching ace continued to roll along in the midst of an incredible senior campaign last week, but somehow managed to lose twice despite allowing only three earned runs, five hits and no walks in 14 innings of work.

The biggest disappointment was a 2-1 defeat in Plymouth against Canton on May 5. It was the rematch of a pitcher's duel between Freimund and Stacy Thompson, but this time Thompson came out on top.

"We put a runner at second base in each of the first four innings, but we only scored once in that span," Northville Coach Bob Gerlach said.

Canton took an early one-run lead but in the fourth, Jenny Juhasz ripped a run-scoring double off the fence to tie it up. The game winner came in the sixth when Thompson reached base on a bunt, advanced to second on an error and scored on another hit.

For the day, Freimund allowed only two hits, fanned three and didn't walk anybody. The loss temporarily dropped Northville into a first-place tie with Canton in the WLAA Western Division (at 6-1), but the Chiefs since suffered a defeat to Walled Lake Western.

"We are going to win this division," Gerlach predicted. "I know I'm putting extra pressure on myself and the team, but we're that confident."

plete the scoring.

Mike Jambor relieved John Schriber in the third and finished out the game to pick up the win. Vigh (3-for-5, 2 RBIs), McKee (2-for-5), Willerer (2-for-5), Kaley (2-for-2, 4 RBIs) and Jones (three runs scored) paced the hitting attack.

NORTHVILLE 5-2, NORTH FARMINGTON 3-5: The Mustangs started the week with a doubleheader split at home against the Raiders on May 1.

MINGTON 2-0: Freimund's other loss was the first game of a twinbill against the Raiders on May 1. Contrary to reports out of Farmington, the game was not a no-hitter — the official scorer credited the Mustangs with four hits — but the offensive production still wasn't enough.

"It really doesn't matter to me how many hits we got," Gerlach said. "The bottom line is we lost the game."

"We should have beat them easily and I'm not going to make any excuses. We came out flat and lost a game we shouldn't have lost."

Northville got on the board first with a run in the second inning. Karen Baird reached first on an error, advanced to second on a hit by Laura Apligian, to third on a sacrifice and then scored on a fly ball.

But in the bottom of the inning, North knotted it at 1-1 with a run on two hits. It remained tied until the Raiders scored the game winner in the bottom of the seventh on two bunts and a pair of throwing errors on Laura Apligian — the freshman catcher.

"They hit Amy pretty hard and we had to play good defense to keep the score close," Gerlach said. "But we didn't get the job done on defense late in the game."

Freimund allowed only three hits, one earned run and struck out seven, but was saddled with the loss.

Upset with the loss in the opener, the Mustangs came storming back to take the nightcap 10-0. Rozann Staknis notched her first victory of the season and was impressive in doing so. She allowed just one hit and one walk in five innings before the mercy rule was invoked.

"We came back and really knocked (North Farmington) around, but that loss still leaves a bad taste in my mouth," Gerlach said. "There was really no reason in the world for us to lose that first game — but we bounced back. I used a lot of back-up people and they always seem to get the job done when I put them in there."

Northville scored one in the first, two in the third, another single run in the fourth and four in the fifth. The big hit was Baird's two-run homer in the third.

"Staknis could pitch for just about anybody, but she just happens to be behind Freimund right now," Gerlach said. "She will be our ace next season."

NORTHVILLE 10, LIVONIA CHURCHILL 1: On May 3, the Mustangs really broke out offensively en route to an easy intra-division victory over the Chargers.

Northville staged three-run rallies in the first, third and fifth innings. In the meantime, Freimund cruised to her 10th win of the season but lost her shutout bid when Churchill scratched a run across the plate in the final inning. She fanned 11, walked three and allowed only three hits in seven innings of work.

The big hit in the first inning was Melanie Apligian's two-run triple and Kerry Bulin added a key run-scoring double in the fifth.

"We played a lot of players in this game," Gerlach said, "because I have confidence in my back-ups. We seem to be hitting the ball much harder but now we're making too many baserunning errors. If it's not one thing, it's another."

Northville (11-3 overall) will host Walled Lake Western tomorrow (May 12). A win there would be a big stepping block forward in their mission to successfully defend last season's Western Division title.

pair of runs and Jones had three hits in three official plate appearances — including a home run — to help Northville bounce back from an early 2-1 deficit.

Probert registered his second victory of the season in relief of Tim Hubbert, who lasted less than three innings. Probert was very tough as he faced 14 batters and didn't give up a single hit.

"Hubbert had a minor muscle pull in his back, so we eventually brought in Probert and he was very strong," Frelick said. "He's around the strike zone and he walks very few."

In the nightcap, J.V. pitcher Mike Lang made his pitching debut and was rock-solid through the first six innings, but was tagged for four in the bottom of the seventh, which cost him the win.

Willerer drove in the game's first run in the third and Vigh made it 2-0 with a run-scoring hit in the fifth — but that was the extent of the Mustang offense. For the game, the locals had only six hits.

"Lang pitched very well until the seventh," Frelick said. "They touched him for a two-run homer in the inning to take the lead."

Kiraly leads track squad past Churchill

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

The Northville tracksters have hit stride after a slow start, and are now in a position to battle Livonia Churchill for the WLAA Western Division crown.

The Mustangs 93-44 wipeout victory over Livonia Franklin on May 4 surprised almost everybody — not because of the outcome, but because it was so easy and so lopsided. Of 17 possible firsts, Northville grabbed 11 and added a host of seconds and thirds to complete the victory.

"We ran very well against Franklin," Mustang Coach Dennis Faletti said. "I planned on winning the meet but I have to admit that it was surprising that we won by nearly 50 points."

Leading the way was senior sprinter Mark Kiraly, who added two more individual victories to his credit and lent a hand in two relay wins as well. Kiraly's victory in the 200-meter dash (23.4) keeps his unbeaten streak alive in the event with only three more dual meets left on the schedule. He also won the 100 (11.4) and was a member of the 400 relay team (with Todd Daniels, Neil White and Jamie Miller — 46.8) and the 800 relay team (with Miller, White and Steve Ventura — 1:39.1) that also notched firsts.

The rest of the wins came from Rob Walsh in the long jump (19'-1 1/4"), Chris Kuffner in the discus (139'-2"), Jay Griffith in the 800 (2:09.4), Steve Coon in the two-mile (11:02.7), Daniels in the shot put (40'-6"), the two mile relay of Karl Siegert, Coon, Griffith and Jon Meek (9:18.8) and the mile relay squad, featuring Walsh, Griffith, Allen Kuljurgis and Ventura (3:45.8).

The seconds included Miller in the long jump (18'-2"), Kuljurgis in the high jump (5'-6"), Erik Billimoria in the discus (132'-0"), Cory Robinson in the 110 hurdles (16.2) and the 300 hurdles (43.2), Meek in the mile (5:00.34), Ventura in the 400 (55.4), Siegert in the 800 (2:15.2), White in the 200 (24.5), and Sean Starkweather in the pole vault (11'-0").

The thirds came from Bob Dudley in the discus (130'-10"), White in the 100 (11.9), Derek Forbing in the shot put (36'-4") and Miller in the 200 (24.6).

"Our relays are slowly but surely coming around," Faletti said. "Every relay race is a 10-point swing, so it's very important."

OBSERVERLAND RELAYS: Yes,

the 17-team Observerland Relays were held on May 6 at Churchill, but with the weather conditions, it could have just as easily been in February.

Midway through the meet, a snow storm hit and lasted for nearly a half hour. It halted the competition at first and then forced a cancellation. At that time, the Northville tracksters were in ninth place with 14 points.

"It was unreal," Faletti said. "It was snowing so hard, everybody had to take cover. I've never seen anything like it this late in the season."

In the early going, the Mustangs managed to take a first in the discus relay. Senior Bob Dudley led the squad with a personal-best throw of 141'-11", and together with Kuffner (129'-4") and Billimoria (121'-3"), the Mustangs were able to win the event.

The only other top-four finish for Northville came in the long jump relay. The team of Walsh (19'-6 1/4"), Miller (18'-6 1/4") and Kuljurgis (17'-9 1/2") ended up finishing fourth.

A showdown against Churchill — with a possible division title in the balance — is slated for today (May 11). The Mustangs are currently 3-3 overall (2-2 in the WLAA).

Northville Arsenal crushed Plymouth No. 2, 5-2. Adam Davis (2), Tom Orman, Kolia Plump and Sean Furman all scored for the winners and Ian Switalski was the MVP on defense. United shut out Lakes No. 2, 4-0, thanks to a two-goal effort by Steve Moore. Gordie Collins and Chris Barbara also scored for United while Rob Nelson and Danny Lyscak were the MVPs. Farmington edged the Northville Express 2-1 despite fine individual performances by Matt Wilgus, Eric Nelson and George Lemmon. Chris Clark scored the lone Express goal.

No. 2 singles player Chad Bosscher prepares to hit a forehand in early season action for Northville

Record/CHRIS BOYD

Netters crush three WLAA opponents

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

The Northville netters cruised through three opponents last week to raise their season mark to 8-2 overall (6-2 in the WLAA, 3-1 in the Western Division).

The Mustangs had a few close matches with Livonia Churchill on May 5, but came away with a routine 5-2 triumph to wrap up the successful week. Northville used its strength in doubles to turn back the Chargers, but struggled a bit in the singles flights — particularly at No. 1 and 2.

The top doubles team of Ken Spigarelli and Jeff Wesley ran their season mark to 8-1 with a convincing 6-0, 6-0 win over Ron Rogowicz and Jesse Nagy. The No. 2 team of Todd Boothe and Mike Mathes also cruised (6-2, 6-2) against Davis Winebrener and Randy Calcaterra, while the third squad of Jeff Baker and Brit Davis edged Jeff Cassar and Bill Sayed 7-6 (7-4), 6-3.

In singles, Chad Bosscher topped Kevin Whelan 6-2, 6-4 at No. 3 and Brad Telepo nipped Eric Tood 6-2, 7-6 (7-4) at No. 4. The top two singles players — Rob Richcreek and Kurt Reickel — were the only losers on the day.

"I was pleased the way our doubles came through for us," Mustang Coach Dick Norton said. "That's where the match was decided, for the most part."

NORTHVILLE 5, FARMINGTON 2: In what Norton called a "very uneventful match," the Mustangs dusted off the Falcons on May 3.

Richcreek rebounded to knock Scott Hawkins in the No. 1 single match (6-0, 6-1). Reickel knocked off Craig Davis (7-5, 6-4) at No. 2 and Telepo outlasted Manoj Trivedi at No. 4 (3-6, 6-2, 6-1). In doubles, Spigarelli and Wesley handled Ed MacDonald and Pete Elmagrably rather easily (6-0, 6-3) while Davis and Kevin Telepo sailed past Tim Shorter and Wes Brockman (6-1, 6-3).

"I was a little disappointed we lost at No. 3 singles and No. 2 doubles because I thought we were better," Norton said. "But that day, we obviously weren't."

NORTHVILLE 7, WESTLAND JOHN GLENN 0: Norton called the Rockets one of the weakest Western Lakes teams he's seen in a long time, so the lopsided results on May 1 weren't unexpected.

In the single matches, the Mustangs took all four in straight sets, winning 48-of-54 games. Richcreek blasted Eric Burgess (6-0, 6-0) and Reickel did the same to Ken Keeno (6-0, 6-0). Bosscher dumped Matt Hanchon (6-1, 6-0) and Baker topped Al Deogracias (6-4, 6-1) to round out the singles victories.

It was more of the same in the doubles. The Spigarelli/Wesley duo cruised past Jason Pavicic and Ron Garrett (6-1, 6-0), Jeff Lower and Kyle Legel turned back Mike Erwin and Todd Katic (6-4, 7-5) and Char-duh Shah and Andy Haas discarded Brian Bender and John Hubbard (6-4,

Kurt Reickel keeps his eye on the ball for the Mustangs

6-2). "We got a chance to play a lot of different guys — especially in the doubles," Norton said. "I figured we'd beat Glenn, but I didn't think it would be that easy."

Lycra hits fitness fashion market

By AMY ROSA

It may seem like you've been seeing more spandex pants jogging the streets lately, but that's only because you've been seeing more joggers out for the first time this year.

And rarely do you see a jogger any more who isn't equipped with those satiny-looking, tight-fitting, knee-length or longer spandex pants.

But look out spandex — there's a new material that's threatening to take over the fitness fashion market, and it isn't just for runners either.

It's called lycra. This synthetic material is similar to spandex, except it's lighter to wear and easier to launder. Lycra made a brief appearance on the market last summer and is in full bloom this season.

"It's a real light stretch material that's great to run in," said sports clothing manager Debbie Lahar at Herman's Manager of Sporting Goods in Novi's Twelve Oaks Mall. "It doesn't shrink in the wash, and it's definitely not just for running," she added.

Lahar explained that the material is used a great deal in the manufacture of aerobic wear, including knee-length pants and half-length tank tops.

"It's easier to run in and move around in than a T-shirt, which doesn't move with your body," Lahar said. Conceding that bodies look almost "trapped" in the tight-fitting material, she said the appearance is misleading.

"It seems like it would be hard to run in, but it isn't at all. It's incredibly light and doesn't cut off circulation," she said, comparing the effects to a woman's girdle, which was traditionally made out of spandex.

In her store, and indeed in most sporting shops with active wear, lycra will be the big thing this year. Most of the major sports clothes manufacturers already have their lycra-wear lines in the stores, said Lahar.

And although the lycra clothes come in mix and match colors, or wildly colored sets, they are definitely not for women only. Plenty of men own lycra bottoms for running or aerobics, and wear the tops too, Lahar added.

Another sporting activity benefiting from lycra — and perhaps more associated with the fabric, is bicycling.

According to Marck Beaudoin, an assistant manager in Northville's D and D Bicycle Shop, lycra pants actually started with the biking industry.

Lycra biking pants are different from other lycra active wear, however, said Beaudoin. The biking pants have a special padding sewn into the crotch that is made from a synthetic material called polypropylene.

"The padding helps absorb the shock and subtle soreness that comes from extended bike riding," Beaudoin explained, saying the padding is very discreet and is only three-eighths of an inch thick.

The fabric brings the same benefits to the biker as it does the runner and aerobic athlete — freer movement without the feeling of heavy or restricted material.

Another benefit of the close-fitting lycra pants, added Beaudoin, is the aspect of aerodynamics. Competitive racing bikers have known that fact for years, he said, which gave rise to the first tight-fitting biking pants.

Record by CHRIS BOYD

Jason Riddell models what accessories very fashion conscious biker should have. The Lycra-wear pants sell for $39.99 and the Oakley Blades sunglasses go for $110.

Fitness Tips

Contact physician when children have fever

By TONI WILSON, R.N.

In many cases parents can trust their own judgment about their child's illness because they know their child's health, moods and habits. However, parents should call a physician if the child looks or acts much different from normal, especially if fever is present.

The average body temperature is 98.6 degrees. Generally speaking, a fever is present if the temperature taken under the tongue is above 99.5, the temperature taken by rectum is above 100 or the temperature measured under the arm is above 99 degrees.

Fever itself is not an illness, but a sign that something is wrong. Fever is the body's way of fighting an infection. Most fevers are due to viral illnesses that last for two or three days. The fever may range from 101 to 104 degrees. Teething does not cause a fever. A common cause of fever in small children is ear infections. Children can be comfortable and even playful with temperatures of 104 degrees. On the other hand, they can be seriously ill and have only mildly elevated temperatures. The key to determining the seriousness of an infection is not body temperature but the way a child looks and acts.

Fevers are often accompanied by shivering or sweating. Many children with mildly elevated temperatures have no other symptoms. As the temperature rises, however, the fever becomes more apparent: breathing becomes faster and the skin appears flushed. When fever approaches 104 degrees a child is likely to become listless and uncomfortable. Uncomplicated convulsions from fever are believed to be harmless and happen in approximately 4 percent of children, but a doctor should be called if this happens.

An electronic thermometer is recommended for children because it is safer, faster and easier than a glass mercury thermometer. Forehead strips are not very accurate and sometimes fail to detect fevers. If you are unsure about how to take your baby's temperature, the nurse at your doctor's office will be happy to show you.

Children with a fever should be given extra clear liquids to drink to prevent dehydration. Popsicles, gelatin, gelatin water and cold drinks are good choices. Dress your child in light clothing. Children over two months old can be given Tylenol or Tempra to help bring the fever down. Follow dosage directions according to age and weight. If the fever is still elevated over half an hour after antifever medication is given, sponge the child with lukewarm water. Do not add alcohol to the water.

You should call the doctor if your child:

1. Has a temperature higher than 104 degrees.
2. Is less than two months old and acts ill.
3. Is difficult to awaken.
4. Is confused or delirious.
5. Is crying inconsolably.
6. Is acting very sick.
7. Has a seizure.
8. Has difficulty breathing.
9. Has ear pain.

10. Has burning or pain with urination.

11. Complains of abdominal pain.

12. Has a fever for more than 72 hours.

13. Has a fever for more than 24 hours without obvious cause or location of infection.

14. Has a fever that ceases for more than 24 hours, then recurs.

During a baby's first few months of life it is important to seek your physician's advice if your baby seems sick even if there is no fever.
