-.. Jge Rescue' cleanup is slated

It's time to sign up for Rouge Rescue '89.

Volunteers from Northville Township and the City of Northville will work on the stretch of the Middle Rouge River along Northville Road between Five Mile and Six Mile, Recreation Director John Anderson said Monday. Instead of working on one specific problem area, as in past years, the local workers will tackle a whole stretch of the river.

Anderson said the site was chosen in conjunction with the Wayne County parks department.

"There's not one specific site," Anderson said. "We'll probably be working on about three or four more minor clogs."

Manager report is ready

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

A report on the Northville Township manager's position is apparently ready for formal presentation to the township board of trustees.

Even though the presentation date of the report has not been set, four township board members and Supervisor Georgina Goss have already reviewed the document.

The trustees who have seen the report include: James Nowka, Don Williams, and Richard Allen, as well as Township Treasurer Richard Henningsen. Trustee Tom Handvside and Township Clerk Tom Cook have not seen the report, apparently because they have been on vacation.

The report, which was formulated by an ad-hoc committee chaired by Betty Lennox, was commissioned by the board last January following the resignation of then-township manager Steve Brock. Township Finance Director James Graham has served as temporary office manager in the interim.

In an interview on Monday, Lennox

Black's wins city approval for storage of bags outside

By BOB NEEDHAM

Black's Hardware will be able to keep some bagged goods outside the rear of the store after a city council decision last week.

On two split votes, the council agreed to let the store keep bagged goods outside its back door for a four-month trial, but denied a request to display wheeled items. A few weeks ago the council had allowed some temporary outside display of plants, but denied an arrangement for bagged goods.

The Black's petition got strong support from several other downtown merchants, who argued at the meeting that some outdoor storage was the best way to serve local residents and keep the store in town, while also maintaining the downtown character.

Black's came to the council with two separate requests. One was to continue storing bagged goods like icemelting salt, water softeners, potting soil, peat, sand and cow manure in back of the Main Street store. The store wanted to keep up to 200 bags outside in specified areas. Storage of salt bags resulted in a ticket from the city and the threat of a court battle between the city and the store.

The second request was to keep 25 wheeled goods outside during the day from April 1 to Oct. 15. These would include things like fertilizer spreaders and wheelbar-

City ordinances generally prohibit outside storage downtown, but allow for the city council to permit excep-

Most of the discussion at the council meeting Tuesday, May 9 was on the request for storage of bagged goods.

The formal request to the city council stated that the store, owned by Bob and Donna Black, sold 32,850 bags of goods from outside the store in the past 12 months, and a normal winter would have meant another 6,000 to 8,000 bags of ice melters sold.

New Record section announced

The Northville Record will begin Record and The Novi News. publishing June 1 a new Creative Living section which will showcase the area's booming real estate activity.

Creative Living, a separate section to be published every Thursday as part of The Record, will include all of the newspaper's real estate advertising as well as stories and pictures of interest to homeowners and potential homeowners.

The new section will also appear in The Novi News, Milford Times and South Lyon Herald which like the Record are community newspapers published by Sliger/Livingston Home

The new section was announced jointly by Rich Periberg, general manager of Sliger/Livingston Home Newspapers, and Phil Jerome, managing editor of The Northville

"Our new Creative Living section offers an exciting housing community to our advertisers," said Perlberg. 'Advertisers will have the flexibility to zero in on as large or as specific of a market as they desire.'

The section will be patterned after the highly successful Creative Living section now published in the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, a twice-weekly suburban Detroit newspaper chain owned by Suburban Communications Corporation which also owns the Sliger/Livingston Home Newspapers.

Advertisers in the new Creative Living section will reach audiences in the fast growing Northville, Novi, Milford and South Lyon com-

Advertisers will also have the opportunity to place their ad in the Creative Living section of the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, or in Country Living, a similar real estate section published weekly in The Livingston County Press and The Brighton Argus.

"Our various zones allow an advertiser to reach a suburban audience ranging from Rochester to Plymouth to Howell or to concentrate on a specific target area," said Perlberg.

"The Creative Living section is extremely popular in the Observer & Eccentric papers and the County Living section has proved equally popular in our Livingston County papers."

PCBs may be present on county land

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

Wayne County health officials issued a warning Tuesday on the possible contamination of several buildings at the county's former Child Development Center on the east side of Sheldon Road between Five and Six Mile Roads.

The county is currently conducting tests to confirm the presence of possible polychlorinated byphenyl (PCB) contamination from vandalized electrical transformers," said Wayne County Health Officer Vernice Davis-Anthony in a press

"There is no health threat to the people who live near the site," she Township Police Chief Ken Hardesty said the PCBs were exposed through trespassers tipping over transformers and spilling oil onto the ground. PCBs apparently are mixed with the oil.

The oil spilled from the transformers was found by township police Wednesday, May 10 during a routine investigation of a trespassing complaint on the county land, Hardesty said.

"People walk through and get into the oil and track it along the ground and from what I understand PCBs don't dissipate readily," he added. According to Glenn Brown, director of the Wayne County Department of Environmental Health, the county is concerned that trespassers and vandals coming onto the property may be exposed to potential health

Brown said however, that health

Millage renewal may be sought

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

Citing the expiration of its .5 mill fire department tax at the end of 1989, the Northville Township Board recently discussed the possilibity of holding a renewal election in September or October.

If the fire department receives a millage renewal, its current levy of .43 mills would be shifted to its original .5 mill level, according to Township Treasurer Richard Henningsen.

But, while board members talked of renewing the original .5 mill levy (which would be an increase of .07 mills over what is currently levied), Township Fire Chief Robert Toms said he may ask the board for a small millage increase above that.

The .5-mill fire rate was approved in 1985. The township currently receives the same amount of money for the millage (plus additional money from new construction and cost-of-living increases) although the current rate levied is .43-mills.

The Headlee Tax Limitation Amendment to the state constitution has rolled back the millage rate to the .43 mills. This allows for increases in new construction monies as well as cost-of-living increases. while keeping the amount of tax dollars collected the same as in the previous year.

Decreases in millage rates do not mean automatic decreases in actual tax dollars. Assessment rate increases could result in tax increases despite lower millage rates.

said Goss met with the committee on Monday, May 8 to "look at the wording of the report."

Lennox added that three board members met with the committee on Wednesday, May 10 to look at the report's wording as well. She said another trustee also met separately with the committee.

In addition to Lennox, members of the ad-hoc committee include: Jean Day Couse, Karen Woodside, Dan Nelson and Wallace Bailey.

"We wanted to meet with board members because this study was on a sensitive issue and we felt the board has the right to hear it in private first," Lennox said, adding none of the conclusions arrived at by the committee were changed by board members.

Trustee Richard Allen said no action was taken by the board during the private meeting sessions and he added board members were only given a review of how the report was put together.

"I expect that the committee will formally present the report to the board no later than the end of this monin," Ailen said, adding board members needed an opportunity to look for errors in the report so "some sharpshooter could not come in and pull it apart."

"It was not the board's intent to edit the content of the report; rather, we wanted to look at it for accuracy in what was said," Allen noted.

Township Deputy Clerk Eunice Switzler said no date has yet been set for the township board to meet on the committee's manager report.

Board members said they are considering meeting on Thursday, May 25 to receive and discuss the report.

Lennox said earlier that she would not release any information found in the study before the report is submitted to the board.

Lennox has said that her committee was charged by the township board to look at the past and future goals of the manager position.

Contacted earlier this month on the status of the report. Lennox said her committee, which had hoped to finish the report by early April, went deeper into the study than first thought and was in the process of editing it.

As for establishing a timetable to earlier.

She added however, that if the report was not available "we will hold a special meeting to get the project going."

In studying the manager position, Lennox said her committee has interviewed around 20 people, including board members, township staff and managers from other townships.

She added that the position study is being done because many trustees felt the manager "hasn't provided what they have needed in recent

NEWS BRIEFS

FARMERS MARKET RETURNS — If it's spring it must be time for the return of the Northville Farmers Market. Today, Thursday, May 18, the market will return to the M.A.G.S. parking lot. It opens at 8 a.m. each and every Thursday throughout the growing season. Today's market features early crops, hanging plants and geraniums.

FREE VISION SCREENING — Seniors can receive free vision screenings and blood pressure testing at the Northville Senior Activity Center at 21200 Taft Road in Northville on Wednesday, May 31 from 9:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. Phone 349-4140 for details. The screening is sponsored by the Michigan Eye Center.

CHANGE OF PLACE — The annual meeting and potluck of the Northville Historical Society will take place today, Thursday, May 18 at 6 p.m. at the New School Church in Mill Race Village. Originally the meeting was to be at Township Hall, however due to larger crowds the place has been changed. The meeting will celebrate the 25th anniversary of the society and will honor its past presidents.

FREE SKIN CANCER DETECTION - The Michigan Dermotological Society and the American Cancer Society will be sponsoring a free skin cancer detection clinic at Cooke School on Wednesday, May 24 from 9 a.m. to noon. Local dermotologist Dr. Chiara will be in attendance.

CONDOS APPROVED — The Township Planning Commission put their final OK on the Rymarz Condo development, by approving their landscaping plan on Tuesday, May 2.

The commission approved the final site plan for the development, located on Six Mile and Waterford roads, on the condition that a landscape plan would be submitted.

Developer Roger Rymarz submitted a plan to commissioners that will cost an estimated $27,550 and will include a wide variety of trees.

EXTENSION GRANTED — The Township Planning Commission granted a one-year site plan extension to developer Mike Manoogian, for his retail plaza project.

In a letter to planners, Manoogian said he is currently seeking prospective tenants for the space, and when secured, will go ahead with phase two of the project.

The development is located on Five Mile and Haggerty roads.

EXTENSION TABLED - After granting the Manoogian extension, planners voted to postpone action on a site plan extension for the Northville Corporate Campus.

The office project, located along Haggerty Road near Six Mile is unable to proceed because of a delay in the Haggerty Road sewer project, according to Kirco representative David Township planners tabled the matter however, because they were unsure whether the planning commission can issue two extensions to the same project. Commissioners issued a one-year site plan extension to Kirco last year.

The matter has been sent to Township Attorney Ernest Essad for a legal opinion.

Man charged in pipe bomb incidents

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

A Northville Township resident is being held at the Wayne County Jail in connection with at least five pipe bomb explosions over the past week.

Reece Aaron Baldwin, 18, was arraigned Sunday on one count of manufacturing explosive devices with an unlawful intent. Baldwin, who stood mute at the arraignment, is being held in jail in lieu of $5,000 bond.

Township Police Capt. Phil Presnell said several incidents occurred last week involving home-made explosives, particularly in the Woodhill area.

'In a 36-hour time span we had four or five incidents in Northville and one in Novi Township involving actual pipe bombs," Presnell said.

Athough no injuries were reported in any of the incidents, Presnell said the police department investigated around the clock to find the person responsible.

He added that the department is not sure at this time whether the suspect worked alone in the in-

If convicted on the charge Baldwin could be sentenced to a maximum of five years in prison. He faces a preliminary examination in 35th district court on Monday, May 22 at 9 a.m.

Presnell said that after processing all of the information associated with the investigation, township police served a search warrant to Baldwin on Friday, May 12.

"At Baldwin's home, we recovered a large quantity of explosive materials, including gun powder and lead pipes," he noted.

With mail boxes being the primary targets, Presnell said the police department worked hard to solve the case "because this was a dangerous situation to residents and the individual doing it.

"We wanted to put a stop to it before it got out of hand," Presnell said, adding police have not found a motive for the crime at this time.

He said he commends Township Det. William Helke and Fred Yankee for putting in a lot of hard work in the case and looking into many different areas to solve it.

As for connecting Baldwin to the Novi Township incident, Presnell said that matter will need to be handled by the Michigan State Police.

"We're just going to continue our investigation to check into other possible subjects," he said

Residents get five years to pay for sidewalks

City residents who have to get parts of their sidewalk repaired will have up to five years to pay for it.

Sidewalks throughout the city have been marked with orange paint showing areas that the owners of the property must pay to repair. It can be done with a private contractor or left for the city's contractor, but either way, the individual property owners must pay for the repairs.

At the recommendation of City Manager Steve Walters, the city council last week approved a plan under which residents, if they wish, can take five years to pay for the

The council also last week approved the bid prices for the repair program. The lower of two bids, from Northville-based Frank Sinelli Cement Company, is $2.45 per square foot of four-inch concrete sidewalk and $2.65 per square foot of six-inch concrete sidewalk.

The total cost of the sidewalk repair project is estimated at $218,987. The bulk of that is actual construction cost, plus $19,500 for inspection and $7,000 for layout. Of the construction cost, $143,111.75 will be paid by the private sector and $49,375.25 by the city, according to a report.

Walters recommended the fiveyear payment program as a special assessment. This allows the city to sell a special assessment bond issue to cover the cost, rather than the city using its cash on hand. There will be

> The council supported the five-year assessment program and adopted the low bid, each on 5-0 votes with little discussion.

The council plans to consider requiring sidewalks along some city streets where there are currently none. Walters said that issue will probably come to the council at either its May 30 or June 5 meeting.

A painted "Dentist" sign was scraped off an inside glass door. A paper bag was found on the site containing flowers in a black vase.

BIKE RECOVERED — A bicycle stolen from outside Crawford's restaurant last Wednesday was found Thursday at the Cady Street parking deck, a city police report said.

The owner was only away from the bike about 15 minutes that evening, the report said. The next day a city police officer found the bike and it was returned to the owner.

FLAG STOLEN — An American flag was taken from a Baseline home last week, according to a city police report.

The four foot by six foot flag was on a front porch at the time. It was stolen between 7:30 p.m. May 9 and 7 saw someone steal his bike from in front of Arbor Drugs last Wednesday, a city police report said.

BIKE STOLEN - A local youth

At about 5:15 p.m. the owner briefly entered the store. When he came back out, he saw two people leaving with his bike. One was a white male about 15 years old, five feet and nine inches tall, weighing about 130 pounds, with a slim build, fair skin and dark, collar-length hair. He was wearing a stone-washed denim jacket and pants. The second person was also a white male.

The bike is a new, 20-inch blue Horizon BMX bike.

EIGHT MILE/CENTER ACCIDENT — Minor injuries resulted when two cars collided at the Eight Mile / Center corner Friday afternoon, according to a city police report.

A Novi resident was eastbound on Eight Mile turning left onto northbound Center at about 4:55 and did not yield for a car coming through the intersection the other way, a police report said.

The cars collided, causing minor injuries to both drivers. The first driver was ticketed for failure to yield on a left turn.

DRUNK DRIVING REPORT - A Wixom resident was ticketed for operating a vehicle under the influence of liquor by township police on Saturday, May 6 at 11 p.m. after being involved in a two-car accident on Six Mile Road near Winchester.

Police said the driver of car one was driving eastbound on Six Mile and hit car two. They added the driver was unable to describe the event of how it occurred.

The driver of car two said he was eastbound on Six Mile and was preparing to turn south on Winchester. He said he was in the flair lane when his car was hit by car one.

Witnesses said car one did not have its lights on at the time of the accident. The occupants of both cars were not injured, but police said they noticed a strong odor of intoxicants coming from the driver of car one.

After failing all field sobriety tests, a preliminary breath test showed the driver of car one to have a blood alcohol level of .20 percent.

The driver of car one was cited for OUIL, held in jail and released on $100 bond. He faces a June 8, 9 a.m. 35th district court date.

Toms still finds fault with church plans

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

A meeting last month between Township Fire Chief Robert Toms and Ward Presbyterian Church officials produced agreements on some minor issues.

But apparently no progress was made on the major sticking point between the township and Ward — the proposed 125-foot height of the church.

'My only problem with the church is its accessibilty and they haven't budged on it," Toms said, adding he cannot approve the proposed size of

Ward's main sanctuary. "I haven't changed my mind one bit on the height of the building,' Toms said. "It is important that the fire department can reach the roof and all points of the building."

The church property is located on the corner of Six Mile and Haggerty

Last month, the Township Planning Commission tabled Ward's site plan primarily because of concerns with respect to the height of the church's main sanctuary and its impact on emergency protection from the township fire department.

In a letter addressed to the commission, Toms said township fire equipment can only protect buildings at a maximum of 70 feet high.

Toms said that while ne can live with a building 70 feet high, a level of 55-60 feet would be more reasonable.

"If we can't get at a problem, then there is no protection for it," Toms said. "They're (Ward) building themselves out of protection."

The meeting which occurred on April 13, included Toms, Township Attorney Ernest Essad, Ward attorney Harold Larson and Ward fire consultant Steve Leighty.

Toms said Ward officials did meet his demand for proper ventilation of the main sanctuary, but have yet to address his concerns for the height of the building and an access path around the complex.

Ward Communication Coordinator Kelly Sharkey said a number of fire safety issues were discussed at the meeting and "it's our understanding that many of the issues were resolv-

She said the church has not had a response from Toms since the meeting on what issues were resolv-

As for the height of the main sanctuary, Sharkey confirmed that no agreement was reached between the two sides during the meeting and added Ward officials are studying their options.

"Like any other project, we are in a studying and evaluation process, but we have no plans to change our position on the height of the building at this time," Sharkey said.

She said the church is in a position where it would like to work with the township to hammer out the differences.

No clear timetable for resolving the matter has been discussed Sharkey said, adding a revised proposal from Ward will not be on the planning commission's May 23 agen-

During the meeting last month in which they decided to table Ward's plan planners said they would not approved a plan that Toms did not support.

"If we go against the recommendation of our fire chief then we would be negligent as a board," planner Karen Woodside said at that time.

Commissioner Charles DeLand has said that he believes the matter will remain at an impasse since Toms does not agree with the philosophy of the plan time I look forward to beginning a new way of life."

According to both sides, no new talks between the township and Ward have scheduled.

A teacher and athletic coach at Northville High for the past 24 years, Townsley said he began his teaching career in Whitmore Lake in 1959.

He said he has seen many changes in education over the past 30 years. 'Basically, I think people's attitude toward education has improved immensely both by the community and the school board."

But, as he prepares to deal with the Sandbothe said, epitomizing the feelings of the rest of the retiring school day, Townsley said one thing he won't miss is "getting up at 5:30 The six teachers retiring from Nor-

An English teacher at Northville High for the past 15 years, Woodard said she began her career 20 years ago at West Bloomfield High.

"I've enjoyed teaching for the past 20 years, but I think it's time to move into the next phase of life," Woodard said, adding she and her husband plan to move to Florida for part of the year and a cottage up north for the other part.

In addition to decorating her new home. Woodard said she would like to do some traveling.

Even though she said she'll miss being around students come next September, Woodard noted it will be good for the school to get some new teachers into the system.

"I think it will be healthy for the school to get some young teachers with fresh ideas into the district.' Woodard said, adding however, that it's still always nice "to think I'm going to be missed."

Parade planned on Memorial Day

Everyone loves a parade.
And as the first official holiday weekend of the summer nears, so does parade season.

Fittingly, the first parade of the spring/summer season is marked by true patriotic symbolism. On the day all Americans pause to recognize servicemen of all wars - Memorial

According to Sandy Myers, parade organizer, the annual Northville Memorial Day parade will march through town on Monday, May 29, beginning at 10 a.m.

Grand Marshal of this year's parade is Lee McArthur, a longtime Northville resident.

Parade marchers are expected to march through downtown Northville to the Cady Street Cemetery. At the cemetery a prayer will be recited and taps will be played.

From there, parade participants will march to Rural Hill Cemetery. They plan to pause for a moment of prayer at the bridge marking the entrance of the cemetery. At that time, a wreath will be thrown into the Marchers will then gather around the veteran's plot inside the Rural Hill Cemetery, when a short program will presented. City and township officials expected to attend the ceremony include Northville Mayor Chris Johnson, Wayne County Commissioner Susan Heintz, Northville Township Supervisor Georgina Goss and other township representatives.

Honored guests include the Rev.

Lloyd Brasure, a retired minister of the First Presbyterian Church of Northville. Also, State Representative Gerald Law (R-Plymouth) will attend this year's parade in place of Senator Robert Geake (R-Northville). Geake normally attends the Northville Memorial Day Parade, while Law attends the Memorial Day Parade in Plymouth. This year, however, the men plan to soldiers' graves. Northville High School band members are expected to march in the parade, as well as the Mustang Cadet Squadron of the Civil Air Patrol and the Crusade Battalion of the Knights Templar.

Other parade participants include various Northville scout troops and representatives from local VFW

Following the parade, Ray Casterline, Jr. will supply ice cream to local children. A Guernsey Farms Dairy truck will be parked outside the Casterline Funeral Home on Dunalp Street.

Myers noted that the Casterline family has provided the ice cream following the parade for several Groups lend support to city's Victorian Festival

By BOB NEEDHAM

The first Northville Victorian Festival is moving ahead at full speed, with important endorsements recently from the Northville City Council and the Merchants' Associa-

Both groups have approved the concept of closing off some downtown streets for the planned three-day festival in September. And both are very enthusiastic about the whole

"I think it's a very, very ambitious project," City Council Member Paul Folino said last week after the festival's first formal presentation to the council. "I think it's a great idea and you folks that are very active in it should be commended for taking on a project of this size.'

Council Member John Buckland added, "I think it's fantastic."

The festival, to run Sept. 15-17, will feature a multitude of activities and events related to the Victorian era (see schedule). The Victorian theme was chosen because that is the time Northville was first settled, a fact evident in the community's Victorian homes and historic storefronts still in

The Northville Community Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring the event, which is led by local architect Greg Presley and chamber executive director Laurie Marrs. The chamber is trying to involve many other community groups in the festival events.

City council permission was needed to close the streets during the festival, and Presley told the council last week that the chamber did not want to proceed unless the downtown Merchants' Association agreed as

The council unanimously approved the street closing, and the merchants also support the idea.

"The Merchants' Association in general has voted in favor of the Victorian Festival," association president John Bueter said Tuesday. "As presented, it looks like it's going to work beautifully.

"We love it. We think it's a great idea. We're looking forward to it," he continued.

The street closings — requested for better pedestrian access and to allow art booths and other activities in the street - should not be a problem, Bueter said. He added that construction on the "MainCentre" project at the corner of Main and Center streets could be a potential glitch, but City Manager Steve Walters said at the council meeting that he did not expect any street closing problems.

The Victorian Festival will run in conjunction with the Northville Artmarket, and essentially replaces the Autumnfest of past years. Streets were not closed for recent Autumn-fest activities. Center Street will be closed from Dunlap to Mary Alexander Court, with traffic still allowed across Dunlap and on Mary Alexander. Main Street will be closed from the clock to just west of Center.

Presley explained that this will allow autos to come into downtown to pick up and drop off people, but will reserve the heart of the festival area for walkers. A horse and carriage route is proposed to take people from parking areas at Northville Downs to the clock and back.

A shuttle bus is proposed to run from a parking area to Mill Race Historic Village. A trolley run is also Signs will be put up for traffic bypasses around the closed streets.

The street closing pattern was developed in conjunction with some of the downtown merchants, Presley said. "We think we have come to a good compromise which would solve some of the problems," he said.

Bueter commended Presley and the rest of the organizers for doing an excellent job in the festival planning.

Festival events announced

In presenting a schedule for the Northville Victorian Festival, cochairperson Greg Presley called it as "a community-wide festival to explore and enjoy our Victorian

The area was largely settled during the 1800s, Presley added. "It's unlike other small towns in that it's been able to preserve its historic heritage. That's worth celebrating," he said.

A recently-prepared schedule for the festival includes many ongoing events as well as special items for each of the three days, Sept. 15-17. Highlights include a parade Friday, a Victorian masquerade ball Saturday and a picnic Sunday afternoon.

Events were chosen to celebrate Victorian history, art and romance. Most items are planned in the center of downtown. Here is the

Yes, it's time for the annual poppy sales.

Volunteers plan to sell the poppies on street corners and at intersections throughout Northville. All proceeds from the sales benefit needy veterans and their families. Sandy Myers of the American Legion Auxiliary explained that all of the funds raised within Northville stay in the area.

Donations for the popples are accepted for any amount a resident would like to contribute.

The popples are created by disabled veterans in hospitals throughout the state, including those in Grand Rapids, Marquette and the Upper Peninsula.

At the same time, poppies will be available for sale in neighboring Novi.

Trial date set in cocaine case

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

A trial date of June 19 in Wayne County Circuit Court has been set for township resident Zouelfickar Nehmeh in connection with his arrest on cocaine charges last November.

Nehmeh's criminal trial date is set for Sept. 11. The June 19 date will be to hear arguments for the possible forfeiture of Nehmeh's home.

Nehmeh, who lives in the Maple Hill subdivision off of Six Mile Road, was arraigned last November on a charge of delivery and possession of a controlled substance.

Nehmeh went before Circuit Court Judge Michael Talbot on Friday, May 5 for a pretrial hearing on the possible forfeiture of his home.

County Prosecuting Attorney Mary Sue Czarnecki said the hearing gave both parties an opportunity to discuss a settlement and gave the defendant an opportunity to file motions. Czarnecki said to her knowledge no motions were filed in the case and added Nehmeh and his attorney have decided to go through trial pro-Czarnecki said she thinks Nehmeh and his family may still be living in their township home, but is not positive. She added that generally the court will not evict people from their homes until after the trial.

Nehmeh could not be reached for comment.

According to a court clerk, Nehmeh's attorney is Lawrence Green. Contacted at his office on Monday, Green said he had no comment at this "or any" time.

'I won't have any comment until hell freezes over that would put a client of mine in jeopardy," Green said, adding he would not confirm whether he is representing Nehmeh.

As for the criminal proceeding, Nehmeh faces trial Sept. 11 before Recorder's Court Judge Craig Strong on a charge of delivery and possession of a controlled substance.

River Rouge resident Alonzo Maxie, an employee of Nehmeh's, was charged with three counts of delivery and possessioin of a controlled substance. Both men pled not guilty to the charges.

If convicted of the charges the defendants could be sentenced to life in prison.

Nehmeh owns the Nehmeh Car Center on 1246 Jefferson and has faced several hearings dating back to last February

Mall owners face deadline to repair fire violations

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

Owners of the Northville Plaza Mall have until June 2 to respond to numerous violations cited by the township fire department or face a possible closure.

The Northville Plaza Mall, on Seven Mile Road east of Northville Road, is owned by Franklin Properties. Two of the largest stores in the mall are Big Lots and A&P.

"We have another court date set for June 2 and if the violations are not corrected to deem the mall safe, then we will ask the judge to close the mall and not allow the public in the mall," said Township Attorney Ernest Essad.

Essad said all of the violations. which number approximately 115, do not have to be taken care of in order to keep the mall open.

Rather, the mall must be deemed safe and the most serious of problems need to be addressed, including a sprinkler system that is apparently off in one-half of the mall, Essad said.

Franklin Properties Partner

his group handles the Northville Plaza Mall property, could not be reached for comment.

In an interview on Feb. 14, Redding said his group intends on complying with the fire department's regula-

"Of course we will comply (with the violations)," Redding said then. 'A large number of items have already been taken care of and the rest will be addressed."

However, Township Fire Chief Robert Toms said he inspected the mall last Wednesday and noted a number of serious concerns have still not been addressed. "I was supposed to meet with Redding last Wednesday, but he did not show," Toms said. "I walked on the roof and saw some things that were not right.

"Also, Redding was supposed to give me a letter from a sprinkler contractor, but that did not happen," he

Following his inspection last week, Toms said Redding met with him in an impromptu meeting and added

Christopher Redding who has said Redding indicated to him that he intends to rehabilitate the mall.

In addition to the possible closure of the mall, officials of Ward Presbyterian Church confirmed that they are in the process of evaluating and negotiating to rent space in Northville Plaza mall. "This would be an interim move," said Ward Communications Coordinator Kelly Sharkey. "We are currently renting space at Schoolcraft College, but we will not be able to continue to rent soon, so we look at this as another option."

Sharkey said Ward does not have any timetable on reaching a rental agreement with the Northville Plaza Mall, but added their contract with Schoolcraft will end in June. "We do not have a finalized plan on whether we will rent space in the mall, but we are studying, evaluating and negotiating the option," she said.

If the church decides to rent space in the mall, Sharkey said some worship service, ministries and the entire youth program - which are now all located at Schoolcraft College would be moved to there.

"I need a little more money, Toms said in an interview last Friday. "We've got so much going on here that the fire department is just 6, swamped."

If he decides to seek an increase, Toms said he would consider asking to raise the millage rate to a total of between .7 and .8 mills. He said the money would primarily be used to hire two more fire inspectors and one mechanic. Toms said he and assistant fire chief Rick Rosselle are the only fire inspectors in the township. He said that both he and Rosselle spend about 50 percent of their time doing inspec-

"The board hasn't talked with me vet on the renewal of the fire millage, 25 but I can't keep up with what's going ne on unless construction in the township stops," he said. At its meeting last Thursday, the board added the title of fire inspector to the duties of building official Mick Kruszewski.

Toms said Kruszewski will not be making any fire inspections; rather, he will be able to issue citations if he notices fire violations while making a building inspection.

A check of surrounding communities shows that the City of Novi has two full-time fire inspectors, while the City of Northville has one part-time inspector.

Novi Fire Marshall Bill Conn said the city has two inspectors and nine firelighters who are capable of making inspections.

Northville Fire Chief James Allen said his department contracts with the Plymouth City Fire Department for their fire inspection work

Toms noted the number of fire runs handled by his department has steadily increased over the past four years. He said the fire department 236 calls in 1988 and 101 calls through May 16, 1989.

The township fire department currently has a staff of 27 volunteer firefighters, according to Toms.

While the talk of a millage increase is in the early stages, Toms said it would be possible for him to afford to hire one new inspector if the .5-mill rate is renewed

One mill equals $1 of tax per $1,000 of assessed property value.

Township Finance Director James Graham said the township may be able to divert money from its general fund to the fire department in lieu of a millage increase.

Graham, who noted the fire department's budget for 1989 will be about $119,000 while it's expenditures will be around $200,000, said money is available in the general fund because the police department now functions on its own millage

Township voters approved a twomill increase for the police department in November 1988.

"The township can cover the fire department's costs because the general fund will not be drained by police costs any more," Graham

Henningsen said he'll listen to the case made by Toms for a millage increase before deciding on the matter.

He added however, that he wants to be careful not to give residents a 'choking'' feeling about another tax

With no elections scheduled for 1989, Township Deputy Clerk Eunice Switzler said the September or October dates for a fire millage election are only under consideration.

Switzler said the fire millage, which is dedicated solely to the operation of the fire department, will expire in December 1989.

She said the board is discussing the issue now "so it can render a decision in a timely manner so the millage does not expire on us.'

Hunger walk

Event benefits needy

A walk in springtime has been known to lift wearled spirits.

So what could be better than walking in the spring for a good cause?

Residents will have a chance to join a community effort by taking part in the third annual CROP Walk of Novi. The event will be held Sunday, May 21, from 2 p.m. until about 5

Walkers are still needed and it's not too late to become involved. Call Rev. Neil Hunt at the Meadowbrook Congregational Church at 349-5447 if interested.

Opening ceremonies for the "walk for hunger" will begin at 1:30 p.m. at Meadowbrook Congregational Church. The event consists of a 10kilometer route - equivalent to 6.2 miles — that begins at Meadowbrook Congregational Church, winds through Novi subdivisions and ends at the Church of the Holy Cross Episcopal.

The CROP Walk is sponsored by the Novi Ministers' Association and all churches represented by it, including Novi United Methodist Church, Faith Community Presbyterian Church, Meadowbrook Congregational Church, Holy Family Catholic Church, Church of the Holy Cross Episcopal and Spirit of Christ Lutheran Church. For the first time, Northville Methodist Church will also be participating in the event.

Nancy Cotter, recruitment cochairperson of the CROP Walk, described the walk as a "community rather than a "church "We sent letters to all the local businesses in hopes of gaining their support," Cotter said. "We really want this to be a community event."

Participating walkers are asked to find sponsors to pledge a certain amount of money for each kilometer walked. Funds benefit hunger programs through Church World Service. Church World Service is an inter-denominational organization providing programs of long-term development, emergency response and assistance to refugees in more than 70 countries. Locally, 25 percent of the funds raised by the CROP Walk will stay in Novi. The money will be directed to two programs — 15 percent will go to the Novi Emergency Food Fund, which serves over 26,000 meals each year, and 10 percent will go to the Holy Family Church Clothes Closet, which supplies clothing and furniture to those in need. Last year in Michigan, Church World Service sponsored 107 walks, raising $1,200,000. A total of $260,000 stayed in Michigan for local pro-

Rouge Rescue project planned

Work is planned from 9 a.m. to noon Saturday, June 3. Workers should report beforehand to the Northville Community Center, 303 W. Main.

Anderson asks that anyone who plans to work should call ahead and register; the number is 349-0203. This gives organizers some idea of how much equipment and lunch to have available, and helps in planning work assignments.

As in the past, the effort will benefit from a lot of donations, Anderson said.

He recommends that workers plan to wear long-sleeved shirts and long pants. "Regardless of the weather, it would be better if they did not have exposed skin," he said. Poison ivy is always a concern, as are

Man arrested for reckless shooting

A Yerkes resident was arrested on two counts of reckless use of firearms last week after firing guns into the air.

The man told police he was hunting bear. He is under the care of a psychiatrist and told police he had not taken four prescribed medica-tions for a few days before the inci-

Just past 12:30 a.m. Thursday, police responded to reports of gunshots in the area of Yerkes and Johnson streets. A police officer heard three shots but could not find the shooter, according to a report.

Later that morning, at about 7:35, police returned to the area on another report of shots being fired at specific Yerkes address. They found a .38-caliber handgun and a 12gauge, double-barrel shotgun on the front seat of a car at the house.

According to police reports, the resident of the house admitted to firing guns into the air throughout the night. He told police he was hunting

The suspect is under the care of a psychiatrist who has prescribed three different medications for him, the reports said. The man told police he had not taken his medicine — and had not slept — for three days before the incident. According to the reports, the man appeared disoriented and not fully understanding of the situation.

The guns were confiscated. The man was charged with two counts of reckless use of firearms, a misdemeanor.

It is against the law to fire a gun within the City of Northville.

The suspect turned himself in to police Friday morning, and then was arraigned in the 35th District Court. A pretrial examination is set for June

In addition to the guns, police found a box of 13 live shells and 15 empty casings on the car seat. Five empty .38 casings were found next to the driver's side door of the car, and four 12-gauge shells were found in the

A new hands-on approach to kindergarten teaching, which receive board approval last month, also has the support of Northville kindergarten teachers.

"The kindergarten teaching staff as a whole is very excited by the new program," said Silver Springs kindergarten teacher Cheryl Rosin-

"We feel that we'll being offering a variety of experiences for our students," Rosinski said.

The new curriculum, which will be started in the 1989-90 school year, will attempt to develop the needs of kindergarten children primarily in cognitive, social/emotional and physical areas.

Silver Springs kindergarten teacher Chris Modrack said the new program is developmentally based, designed to recognize that "same age children develop at different rates.'

She said the new program is playbased, but is at the same time intellectually rigorous. "Children at this level of development learn through concrete experiences, and after many experiences in the concrete they can then move on to the Rosinski added the program will provide students with basic hands-on activities designed to allow them to progress at their own rate.

For example, Rosinski said the teachers will now use the math program "Math Their Way". "In this program there will be one activity, but three chidren will get three dif-ferent things out of it."

Modrack said kindergarten teachers in Northville have never strayed far from using a direct or materials learning approach in the kindergarten program.

"With the board's approval of the program, we will continue and institute more of a materials program," Modrack said. "And we can feel secure that we're backed up by

Modrack is refering to the 10-member Kindergarten Study Com-mittee, which included Assistant Superintendent Dolly McMaster, which studied the subject for oneyear before submitting its recommendations.

Members of the meeting included all five of the kindergarten teachers in the Northville district.

Noting she's thrilled with the new program, Modrack said the hands-on approach is "the best way to teach. Through research, we now have the support to teach this way."

According to Rosinski, the handson approach to teaching apparently will not end at the kindergarten level.

She said the materials concept will also be instituted at the first and second grade levels over the next few vears.

'We want to extend this program more so we can meet the individual needs of our students," Rosinski

Northville Township Board approves term extensions

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

Amidst little fanfare or discussion, the Northville Township Board approved term extensions for Planning Commissioner Barbara O'Brien and Zoning Board of Appeals (ZBA) members Tom Cook and Don Williams.

The move to extend the terms came in response to an terror made by Township Supervisor Georgina Goss, who wrongfully appointed the three individuals to one-year

According to Evelyn David, public affairs officer of the Michigan Townships Association, board appointments to both the planning commission and ZBA are mandated for three years

'I was not aware that state statute took away the township's authority and mandated a three-year appointment," Goss said earlier, adding she felt the supervisor had the authority to make one-year appointments.

In an interview last Friday, Township Attorney Ernest Essad said Goss did not consult him before she made the one-year appointment.

Essad said that following the board's action Thursday to extend the terms, the matter is over. He noted the term extensions for O'Brien, Cook and Williams will be made retroactive to their date of appointment, which was last November.

"The board corrected its prior action by extending the terms (of the board members) to three-years," Essad

Goss was absent from the board meeting last Thursday and has been unavailable for comment. According to Deputy Township Clerk Eunice Switzler, the supervisor is out of town on personal family business.

O'Brien also could not be reached for comment, but she indicated last week that she would accept a term extension on the planning commission.

Quoting state statute MCLA 125.324, David said planning commissioners must be appointed for a three-year term, unless the commission is newly formed, in which case staggered appointments may be made.

As for the ZBA appointments, David cited MCLA 125.288, which defines the appointee's term as three years

Planners deny proposed expansion at Choo Choo Car Wash

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

'Choo Choo Car Wash's bid to expand its six bay wash center into nine bays was temporarily derailed by the Township Planning Commission on Tuesday, April 25, as planners denied the expansion for reasons of nonconformity

Township Planning Director Carol

Henry said the proposed expansion does not meet the township's frontyard setback limit of 25 feet or the required landscaping of 25 feet.

Choo Choo Car Wash is located on Northville Road just south of Seven

"The whole lot does not meet the front-yard setback requirement," Henry noted. "And if you don't meet one zoning requirement then a developer must go before the zoning board of appeals (ZBA) for a variance, then come back to the planning commission.'

Site developer Don Thompson said he intends to move back the existing vacuums on the property and add three more wash bays. He also said he would like to put an oil service center in one of the existing bays.

In reviewing the plans for commissioners, Township Planning Consultant Claude Coates said there were a number of technical errors on the plan, including an incomplete property description.

Township Engineering Consultant

Don Weaver added that water service was not indicated on the plan, as well as sanitary sewer drainage.

Thompson said he had no problem with the Weaver engineering report and added "this is the point of preliminary site plan review - for me to see what I have to do." He added the current location of the vacuums would be moved to the southern end of the lot and the oil change facility, which will be constructed in an existing bay, will have an early American look.

Henry said she believes Thompson will appear before the ZBA sometime

CITY OF NORTHVILLE NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON INCREASING TAXES

Notice is hereby given that a public hearing will be held by the Northville City Council on Tuesday, May 30, 1989, at 8:00 P.M. in the Council Room of the Municipal Building, 215 W. Main Street, for the purpose of hearing testimony on the following:

Proposal to levy Forty-six Hundredths of One Mill (0.46 Mill) in additional millage for 1989 to fund general City operations. A City operating millage rate of Eleven and Eighty-nine Hundredths Mills (11.89 Mills) would result in no additional taxes being raised in 1989 from property which existed in 1988. The proposed additional 0.46 mill would result in an increase of Four and One-tenth Percent (4.1%) in 1989 property taxes from property which existed in 1988. This is based on the inflation rate of 4.1% published by the State for use in calculating the Headlee limitation on the maximum allowable millage rate.

It should be noted that since residential properties were equalized at a somewhat higher rate than were commercial properties, the percentage increase for the average residential taxpayer will be approximately 6.3% while there will be no increase for the average commercial

The City Council has the authority under State Statute and the City Charter to levy a maximum millage rate of Seventeen and Ninety-three Hundredths Mills (17.93 Mills) for general operating pruposes. The total operating levy proposed for 1989 would be Twelve and Thirty-five Hundredths Mills (12.35 Mills).

Council likes concept of tree protection ordinance

The idea of a tree protection ordinance for the City of Northville received a preliminary nod of approval from the city council last

The city's planning commission has lately kicked around the idea of an ordinance to prevent the cutting of sizable trees without city permission or knowledge. The idea surfaced when planning commissioners noticed that in some recent construction, trees were cut down which were originally going to be saved.

A tree protection ordinance has not really taken shape yet, but commissioners have discussed ways of regulating the cutting of larger trees. Ideas have included an inventory of all trees in the city of a specific size, establishing a special environmental board to review building plans, requiring the indication of trees to be saved, and others. The ordinance could come as part of the zoning ordinance or a completely separate

A recent memo from city Planning Consultant Don Wortman, who has done some initial work on a tree ordinance, asks for city council authorization to proceed.

At last week's council meeting, Mayor Chris Johnson said he met with planning commission chairperson Dick Wilhelm to improve com-way, the council will be better informed as the commission develops proposed ordinances, he said. Council Member John Buckland said he "wholeheartedly supports" the idea. "I think this is the only hope left, in light of what we've lost the last three or four years," he said. Johnson supported the idea but said he had some concerns about enforcement. "I don't want to see the city become tree police; however, we do want to protect significant trees,'

The planning commission often recommends ordinances to the city council. The council has full authority to adopt or reject any ordinance.

Mayor Exchange Day slated

The City of Northville is getting a new mayor Monday.

No, nothing is happening to Chris Johnson. It's just that he'll be leading Romeo, in northern Macomb County, for the day. And in return, Romeo officials are coming to Northville.

It's all part of Mayor Exchange Day, an annual event to kick off Michigan Week. Each year, par-ticipating municipalities trade leaders to get a look at life somewhere else.

Council Member Paul Folino is organizing the events in Northville, and the people from Romeo can expect a full day. Their schedule in-

He added that the group from East Detroit, last year's exchange city for Northville, really enjoyed their visit.

"They were just thrilled about being here. They had a good time," he said, adding that it takes effort of a lot of people. "It takes everybody's help to do everything that you want to do. You can be the greatest man in the world, but if you don't have the team in back of you it isn't worth a

Bags stored outside in back of Black's Hardware

Black's wins OK for bag storage

Herman Moehlman, the Blacks' attorney, said the outdoor storage is an important service to residents. It would be more economical and more attractive than building an addition to the building, he said.

Council Member Paul Folino quickly moved to approve the request, saying he had observed the present set-up and found it worked well and looked good. "I feel that this request should be allowed," he said.

But the approval — on a 3-2 vote came only after a lengthy discussion, with several members of the downtown Merchants' Association strongly pleading the case for Mayor Pro Tem Carolann Ayers objected to the request. "I still cannot understand why they must be warehoused outside the building," she said. A business requiring a large amount of space is not consistent with the whole idea of the Central Business District, she added.

"I also have a great concern about our setting precedents, about our indicating to the community in general that we support outside warehousing," she said. "It is not a small volume that is being stored outside.' She suggested that if the community supports outside storage generally, the ordinance should be changed.

Ayers also said she disagreed with the idea of some storage on a sidewalk area.

Moehlman responded that the Blacks are not asking to warehouse outside. They have warehouse space on Gerald Ave., he said, and only want to display goods for sale in the back of the store. "I think it adds immeasurably to the downtown area," he said.

He added that the high volume sold makes it very difficult to sell the bagged goods from inside. In addition, some of the items would be obnoxious indoors, he said.

Council Member Jerry Mittman said that the proposal would take up a lot of area in "a very noticeable Moehlman responded that the Farmers Market was in the middle of the downtown area for years. "Nobody seemed to be concerned about it, and that was a holy mess," he said. "People came to the community because of it.'

Business owner Charles Lapham said the new Black's site is a big improvement over the store's old location a little farther west on Main Street. At that site, extensive outdoor storage was the subject of regular complaints.

"What I have seen in the last couple weeks, to me, is quite acceptable," he said. The new set-up is not properly called storage, he added, but is really merchandising. "I think they have a right to merchandise out of (the back) in an orderly fashion," he said.

Laurie Marrs, executive director of the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce, said the city should support businesses downtown to bring people there instead of encouraging them to go to Meijer. "And as a consumer, I certainly wouldn't want to shop with manure in the room.'

Charles Ayers, the chairperson of the city's zoning board of appeals, was at the meeting, saying he was speaking as an individual. He

"To say that I take objection to this is an understatement," he said. "They chose to totally disregard the law by storing material (outside). If it is so valuable, it can be brought inside," he said. "If this is a viable Merchant John Genitti said the outdoor goods are a part of Black's being unique, like the other businesses in town have their own characteristics. "I think it's sad that in a town this size, it had to come to this," he said. "This is a working town. If we want a Birmingham, we should start now.'

exception, then what's the rule?"

Toni Genitti said the crates in front of Genitti's are a great way to mer-chandise and help give the downtown some character.

"If I couldn't put it out there, I'd get rid of the product," she said. People trip over them and say, 'Gee, I need a crate.''

Mayor Chris Johnson supported the plan, with some cautionary statements. The repeated warnings from the city with little response "has encouraged, I think, maybe kind of a cavalier attitude," Johnson said. "I think it can be controlled . . . However, I think this should be a very short leash for a while."

He then proposed the four-month trial period. That idea passed the council 3-2, with Ayers and Mittmandissenting.

The request for storing wheeled goods was disposed of much more quickly, with a 4-1 rejection but an: opening for the Blacks to return with a modified request.

Johnson said he drew the line at; this part of the proposal, again referring to the past disagreements between the store and the city. "I don't know where that kind of behavior ends," he said. "The track record is. horrible."

Carolann Ayers added, "I thinkthis is totally unacceptable. I do not. understand the amount of things that need to be outside."

Johnson said the store should be: able to display one item inside and, store the rest in a not-built state. Donna Black responded that people want to buy these items assembled to use immediately.

Folino said he felt the same about this request as about the other, and he cast the lone dissent in the vote to deny the request.

Johnson said the council would consider any modified request Black's brought to it.

Council considers easing ban on home delivery restaurants

A pizza business wants the Northville City Council to let it offer home delivery from a downtown

And the council agreed last week to at least listen to the idea.

A letter to Mayor Chris Johnson from Detroit Federal Savings explains that the Primo's Pizza chain plans to open a takeout and delivery operation at 117 E. Dunlap, in a new building owned by Detroit Federal. However, the city zoning ordinance prohibits home delivery restaurants in the Central Business District (CBD), which includes the Dunlap site

The letter says that Primo's bought and installed most of the necessary kitchen equipment and improvements for a restaurant before learning about the ban on home

That provision was put into the ordinance in 1986, prompted by traffic and parking concerns over Domino's Pizza, which was — and still is — the only strictly-home-delivery restaurant in the CBD. Since Domino's was already existing when the ordinance went into effect, it did not have to move out of the CBD.

'It is true, we are giving them a definite advantage. The people who were the problem in the first place are still there, with a monopoly on home delivery of pizzas in the Nor-thville area," Mayor Pro Tem Carolann Ayers said at last week's council meeting.

The Detroit Federal letter suggests that the city could allow homedelivery restaurants in the CBD as a special use. In the case of Primo's Pizza, it argues that the site offers plenty of parking, only one delivery vehicle in use at any one time, and incentives for customers to pick up piz-

The letter includes a copy of a reference from City of Novi Crime Prevention Officer Robert Gatt saying that Novi has not had any problems with a Primo's facility owned by Leo Soave, owner of the Northville operation, in the period of almost 10 years it has been open. "By not following the practices of his competitors, many of whom guarantee delivery within a specific time limit, Mr. Soave assures his customers as well as the citizens and visitors to Novi, of safe, courteous driving by his employees," the memo reads in

A written recommendation to the city council from City Manager Steve Walters suggests that the city explore the issue. He offered three main reasons:

First, "the present restriction does not prevent the congestion problem caused by Domino's Pizza, and in effect it gives them an operating advantage by restricting competition while they operate as a pre-existing business would have as much traffic as delivery, especially since a delivery business can combine orders and make fewer trips.

Third, when there is ample parking, the city does not have "the problems which were the concern related to a pizza delivery business in a street-front location relying on public parking lots," Walters wrote.

In presenting the issue to the council Tuesday, May 9, Walters said "I think it warrants some considera-

After some initial discussion the council asked Walters and the city planning consultant to prepare a preliminary report for consideration. If there is enough support on the council to consider the proposal, it will be sent to the planning commission to be developed further.

Walters suggested at the meeting that the city could license delivery vehicles which might have impact on parking or traffic.

Ayers said an important part of the idea behind downtown Northville is "to bring people into the downtown," something a home delivery business does not do.

Mayor Chris Johnson agreed, That's one item that can't be resolved." But he added, "It appeared to me there were a couple of good: angles for regulating the other pro-

Other members of the council said they were willing to consider whatever the city administration comes up with as a suggested or-. dinance change.

The city council last week approved an increase in rent from $427 to $442 per month. The increase was recommended by the city's housing commission, which oversees Allen Terrace operations.

The increase will not affect tenants whose rents are subsidized by the Michigan State Housing Development Authority, according to a memo to the council. There are 42 tenants at Allen Terrace who receive these subsidies, which are based on a person's ability to pay.

Housing Director Fran Hopp told the city council the rent increase is based on the amount allowed by the. federal government. There have been similar increases the past few years.

The increase is necessary because of inflation and higher utility costs, particularly for electricity, Hopp' said. Electricity is a major cost at Allen Terrace because of 24-hour lighting, motors in heaters and air conditioners in apartments, and a refrigerator in each apartment.

At the city council meeting Tuesday, May 9, Council Member Paul Folino mentioned that traffic northbound on Center often backs up when someone is trying to turn left onto Randolph Street. He suggested the city prohibit left turns from northbound Center to Randolph to avoid the situation.

Mayor Chris Johnson agreed to ask the police department to consider the suggestion and return to the council with a recommendation. The council has the authority to make such traffic control decisions.

The corner of Center and Randolph. was identified as a troublesome spot-in a 1988 traffic study commissioned by the city. The consultants suggested closing Randolph at Center completely as one option to consider.

Dan Quayle visits Novi for Police Memorial Day

Vice President Dan Quayle visited Novi Tuesday to participate in the ninth annual Police Memorial Day ceremonies and promote President George Bush's new war on crime.

Quayle's visit followed by one day Bush's avowal to "take back the streets" from criminals as he proposed a $1.2 billion crime package to a crowd at police memorial ceremonies in Washington, D.C.

Highlights of Bush's plan include funding for 1,600 additional government prosecutors and 825 federal law enforcement officials as well as $1 billion for construction of federal

"This was a very solemn day," said Quayle to a room full of reporters in a brief press conference inside police headquarters after the ceremonies.

"It's a day I will always remember. These police officers are heroes to me, and President Bush and I are committed to doing everything we possibly can for the police officers of America."

The Novi Police Department has been hosting Police Memorial Day ceremonies for nine consecutive years, although this was the first time a national dignitary of Quayle's position has chosen to attend.

The widows, children and other relatives of the three Detroit officers were special guests at the ceremonies in Novi. Quayle's motorcade arrive in Novi at 4:35 p.m., and the vice president met individually with the families of the honored of-ficers inside police headquarters before stepping outside to participate in ceremonies at 4:47 p.m.

Novi Mayor Matthew Quinn and City Manager Edward Kriewall presented a special resolution to Quayle in honor of his appearance. And Michigan Gov. James Blanchard, who arrived by helicopter at 4:15 p.m., made a special presentation in which he extended sympathy to the relatives of the fallen officers and commended the Novi Police Department for sponsoring Police Memorial Day ceremonies.

He said they were front-line fighters for freedom, they were America's "bravest and best," and they had succeeded in living up to the ideal of doing something for others.

"We must do whatever it takes for as long as it takes," said Quayle regarding the war on crime. "Not all of us are cut out to be heroes like these officers were, but all of us can take time to honor these heroes."

Referring to Bush's $1.2 billion crime package, Quayle reiterated the president's commitment to take back the streets by taking the criminals off the streets.

Officials act to prevent trespassers near suspected contamination

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

Following its discovery of a possible contamination on the former Child Development Center, Wayne County and Northville Township officials announced steps have been taken to prohibit trespassers on the

The area currently being investigated and tested for polychlorinated byphenyl (PCB) is located on the east side of Sheldon Road between Five and Six Mile roads.

Glenn Brown, director of the Wayne County Department of Envvironmental Health, said the county has posted warning signs in the area and will limit access to the site.

Brown said area access, which includes two or three buildings in an area less than an acre, will be limited through patrolling efforts of both the Wayne County Sheriff's Department and Northville Township Police.

Township Police Chief Ken Hardesty said approximately 20 people per week trespass in the area of the contaminated buildings.

Hardesty said the county is entire-ly responsible for posting and roping of the area. "We will continue a general patrol of the area as we have done in the past.

'The county has been given primary responsibility of patrolling and roping off the area because it is county property we're dealing with,' he added.

The possible contamination was discovered Wednesday, May 10 during the investigation by township police of two trespassers on the site.

Hardesty said the two individuals were caught and found to have the possibly contaminated oil "on their person. Brown said the county was notified of the two trespassers and added they have unsuccessfully tried to make contact with the individuals.

'We are trying to get in touch with them to give them the best advice we can," he noted. Chris Hicks, Township Emergency Management Coordinator, said township officials met with representatives of the county and the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) to discuss the problem.

She said it was decided to let the county take care of the problem, since the land is owned by Wayne County.

"We will only patrol the perimeter of the area in question," Hicks said, adding she understands that the Wayne County Sheriff's Department will beef up security in the area.

Mouradian said the sheriff's department has only 33 officers to patrol the entire Western Wayne County area. "We do not have the manpower to assign an officer to that area for a continuing length of time.'

She added the sheriff's department is hoping to receive assistance from the township police department. Hicks said township officials were polychlorinated biphenyls (PCB) contamination near Five Mile and Sheldon have caused some adjustments in the local soccer pro-

The Northville Community Recreation Department learned of the possible problem Monday afternoon, Recreation Director John Anderson said. As a precaution, township police recommended that the department not use the soccer fields on the east side of Sheldon until more is known, he said.

Monday practices and games Tuesday and Wednesday were shifted to a field in Plymouth, Anderson said This weekend's games scheduled for the area will be played at Lapham Field, on Six Mile near Beck, Anderson said.

"It's purely a precautionary measure. They didn't want anything possibly occurring," Anderson said. "We're doing everything we can to keep our soccer-related activities out of there '

The worry was that a stray spectator or someone like that would wander off and into the area of possible contamination, Anderson said. "It sounds to me like a real precautionary measure to cancel the soccer," he said.

Anderson said he does not know when the field may be ready for play again.

ningsen said he believes the township lived up to its responsibility of identifying a possible contamination and informing the county of it. He added the county should now take care of their problem since they own the property.

"We've attempted to cooperate by moving across political lines and inform people where necessary," Henningsen said. "But it is their property and they should take care of it.'

Medical Director Donald Lawrenchuk said PCBs are an occupational health problem which can cause skin rash, swelling, nausea and gastrointestinal distress.

"These materials are also suspected human carcinogens," Lawrenchuk said. "Adverse health effects have not been observed in the U.S. with nonoccupational ex-posure." Brown said initial field tests taken by the U.S Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) last Thursday showed the possibility of PCB contamination of two or three buildings, comprising an area of less than one acre.

He said the county has hired an independent contractor, Transformer Inspection Retrofill, to complete sampling and testing for PCBs on the site. A completetion date for the testing has not been finalized, according to Brown.

He added the contractor is also doing a thorough inventory of the site to determine if there is any PCB contamination in other buildings.

Accidental * Discovery May End Obesity

Blocks calorie absorption SWEDEN-Medical researchers at the University of Kuopio, in Finland, have discovered (accidentally) a new weight-loss formula. The new discovery enables an overweight individual to lose pounds and fatty tissue without dieting or exercise.

Scientists made the discovery while searching for a formula to lower choles-terol. In a controlled study of a test group of people, cholesterol levels remained unchanged but the doctors were astounded to find that every patient who used the formula lost weight. The published report of this study stated, "A highly significant decrease in body weigh was seen" in patients who received the formula.

The formula was then tested in Sweden at Sahlgren Hospital, University of Goteborg. Again, all patients lost a substantial amount of weight even though they did not change their eating habits. The report detailing this study, published in the British Journal of Nutrition, stated: "Body weight was significantly reduced even though the patients were specifically asked not to alter their dietary habits". One patient in this study lost more than 30 pounds.

· According to one informed source, the active ingredient comes from a 100% natural botanical source and contains no drugs or stimulants. When taken before mealtime it bonds with the food you cat and "ties up" calories, preventing their absorption.

A substantial portion of the calories ingested therefore pass through the di-gestive system unabsorbed. The body has to get energy to replace the lost calories, so it starts to burn stored fat. The result is rapid body weight loss. Extensive clinical tests have verified the safety of this formula for long-term use.

The formula is marketed in tablet form in the United States under the trade name Cal-Ban 3000. A firm located in Tampa, Florida, has exclusive North American distribution rights. A review of the customer files of this company revealed the names of hundreds of people who have lost as much as 20, 40 or 60 or more pounds overall with Cal-Ban 3000. This is a golden opportunity for people who are plagued by fat and cellulite that they can't seem to lose by conventional methods.

Cal-Ban 3000 is reasonably priced at $19.95 for a 3-week supply and $38.95 for a 6-week supply. Postage and handling is $3. To assure fastest service, orders are accepted by toll-free phone only. VISA, MasterCard, AMEX and C.O.D. orders are accepted. C.O.D.'s are $2.20 extra. Orders may be placed by calling Anderson Pharmacals TOLL-FREE 1-800-422-0842. Canadian Orders call 1-800-231-4700. During this special phone order promotion purchasers of a six-week supply of Cal-Ban 3000 will receive, absolutely free, a beautiful 24" double strand necklace of sparkling Chinese Faux pearls.

Call today to begin the pleasant transformation from fat and flab to the slender firm body you want! If you fail to acheive a major weight loss you may return the empty bottle within 30 days for a 100% refund.

At this time, Brown said only four or five electrical transformers are involved. "We will be conducting a transformer inventory to identify the total extent of the situation.

If a PCB contamination of the site is found, Brown said the county will be responsible for organizing and funding a clean up effort.

"Since the county owns the land it would be responsible for paying for getting and paying for any cleanup operation," he noted.

Brown said it is too early to tell how much money a possible cleanup of the site would cost.

As for its impact on groundwater or wells, Brown said there would be essentially no effect caused if a PCB contamination of the site is found.

"PCB materials do not move very far to begin with and any wells in use are quite a distance away," he noted. "There should be no impact on groundwater or wells in use in the

the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR), said she has been out to the site and added she found oil stains on the ground and concrete of the buildings in question.

She noted however, that the trail did not lead to a nearby river. Dipo Oyinsan, supervisor of the DNR's Northville office, said the EPA will apparently oversee the testing of the site and the cleanup operation if it is necessary.

Oyinsan said the matter could be handled by either the DNR or the EPA and added the agency who is contacted first will generally take the

Our Opinion

PCB scare again shows need for sale of land

The latest news about PCB contamination on Wayne County owned land in Northville Township is obviously not welcome. But the discovery does bring out again just what a safety hazard that 1,040 acres of land is.

There it sits, full of vacant buildings, fields of grass and piles of boards, cement and other materials. Last summer the township fire department fielded a score of brush fire calls on the old Child Development land. The drought and the natural tendency of a giant untended area to attract roving trespassers seemed to create a fire danger that grew worse as the summer progressed.

Now a new danger has been added to the list. The township police department figures that about 20 trespassers a week make their way on to the land. Some of them apparently knocked over some electrical transformers spilling PCB laden oil on to the ground in one area. The abandoned buildings themselves offer a host of dangers to children or adults who refuse to keep away.

The township police patrols the Northville Township safer as well.

ENVIRONMENT

perimeter of the land, but obviously does not have the manpower to make constant sweeps. Also, the land is owned by the county and as such should fall under the jurisdiction of the Wayne County Sheriff's office. Well, the story of too little manpower for too large a district continues with that department.

The point is that the land as it now sits, is an eyesore, a tax drain, and a danger. The county has made a good faith effort to begin serious negotiations with developers over this land. These talks must continue and the timetable for development adhered to. It is up to the county to find a developer and move ahead to create a project that will end the headaches of everyone. A process that will make Northville Township safer as well.

Food delivery rule ought to be changed

Everybody knows that Domino's Pizza delivers, and most communities don't consider that a problem. The City of Northville, however, does.

The city's experience with Domino's led the city council to prohibit home-delivery restaurants in the Central Business District a few years back. There are some good arguments for doing that — all of which the council raised last week — including: downtown is supposed to have businesses for people to come to, not businesses which come to them; parking; and traffic.

However, an appeal from Primo's Pizza to open a combination takebut / delivery operation downtown quickly nullifies the last two of these points. Parking is adequate in this case, and as for traffic, delivering x number of pizzas probably creates Everybody knows that Domino's fewer car trips than picking up x a delivers, and most communities number of pizzas.

It's ironic that the ordinance written because of Domino's is controlling everyone except Domino's. The city's intent clearly wasn't to give Domino's an edge, but that's just as clearly the result.

The point about the proper sort of business for a downtown cannot just be disregarded. But with the CBD as thriving as it is, a couple of home delivery restaurants hardly seem to be a detriment — particularly when pickup is also an option.

Some sort of special approval, on a case-by-case basis, definitely seems like the way to go. There should be some flexibility available, so the council can treat each situation as it should be treated.

Parent art program benefits all involved

Two wonderful things are currently at work in the Northville Schools.

First, parents are becoming more directly involved with the education of their children by participating in a parent-taught art enrichment series at all three Northville elementary schools. This is the sixth year for the program and its success is touted by teachers, parents and students alike.

The second great thing happening in the schools as a result of the art program is that students are being exposed to a broad range of experience through the program — an exposure that will help them think more creatively and critically.

In recent nationwide looks at curriculum in the schools, educators have found an increasin; need to help students learn to think critically about a variety of subjects. Rote memorization is not enough; students need to be taught how to arrive at conclusions based on a variety of facts. The art program in the schools is helping with that process.

Congratulations go out to the parents who volunteer to train for the program. We suspect that the experience is a learning one for them as well, and one that will be treasured by both pupil and parent.

Gut check

By Phil Ginotti

In case you didn't hear, Dan Quayle came to Novi this week. He's the Vice President . . . of the United States.

Maybe I was in a slump, but, ahh, I just didn't care.

After all, it was a Tuesday and we have to come up with the things that happened last week and make it read nice. That's what we do on Tuesdays.

"A-hah, I know where your political feelings lie," said Bruce Jerome, Novi's able Department of Public Works (DPW) Superintendent, after I told him during a phone conversation that, no, I won't be seeing the V-P.

"Well, not true. I'm a conservative lug," I mumbled back, feebly, raising a third cup of coffee to my lips.

But, as I hung up the phone, I thought 'Is this business finally wearing me down? Am I losing that special ultra-conservative edge that sets me apart from some of the utter collectivists I've seen filing news copy in the news reporting business? By osmosis, am I hopelessly drifting left of the extreme right? Well, no. Hope not.

Gut-check time:

Did I think coverage of Ken Cockrel's passing was overblown? Nice man, I'm sure, but of course it was. Ken Cockrel helped gut STRESS units in Detroit. and believe it or not, I remember what those were.

When STRESS units patrolled my neighborhood, criminals, not citizens, walked the streets in fear.

Do the stories about black students occupying Wayne State University and Michigan State turn my stomach? Of course they do.

These lawbreakers should be tear-gassed and removed forcibly from whatever buildings they occupy, just like any other extremist group that threatens our institutions and doesn't have the gumption to sit down across the table and negotiate like adults.

Does it bug me when I see Oakland County tax dollars going everywhere but Oakland County? When we can't fill potholes in a booming, progressive community like Novi, because the money's going elsewhere? When Michigan sails in along the bottom of the list in federal aid each and every year? Yes, of course. It bugs me.

Does it bug me — really bug me — when Denny McClain, of all people, spouts off about "Reagan the fraud" from his charity perch on WXYT radio. You bet. It bugs me.

And the kicker . . . do I still really kind of dig Judge Bork? Even with that beard? Yep, I do.

Whew. The flame's still flickering, I'm thinking.

Still can't get excited about Quayle though.

After the fact

By Phil Jerome

I'm thinking good things about hometown newspapers again this week. Sorry, that's the way I am.

One of the things that those of us with weekly newspapers have to contend with is getting "scooped" by the dailies. It doesn't happen often, but it does happen occasionally on big stories for the simple reason that they come out every day . . . we come out once a week.

There's nothing we can do about it. We just have to sit around and wait until Thursday . . . consoling ourselves with the conviction that we'll do the story bigger, better and with the hometown perspective the dailies can never hope to achieve.

Take Vice President Dan Quayle's visit to Novi on Tuesday. We didn't get scooped on the fact the vice president was paying a visit. In fact, we were the first paper to print the story, thanks to our contacts in the Novi Police Department.

But we are getting scooped — sort of — on the coverage of Quayle's visit. The vice president was in town Tuesday, the dailies had pictures and stories on Wednesday. We had pictures and stories on Thursday.

But. The Detroit Free Press ran two pictures and one story. The Detroit News ran one picture and one story. We ran one picture and one story in The Record (because it was a Novi event) and six pictures and four stories in The Novi News (because it was a Novi event).

Chris Boyd, our excellent photographer, gets miffed from time to time about being scooped by the dailies. I have to keep reminding them that there may be lots of other photographers at the event, but there's only one Chris Boyd — he's Novi's photographer.

And I think our readers appreciate the distinction, too. I chatted with Gretchen Pugsley at Police Memorial Day on Tuesday. There were lots of photographers running around, but the first thing Gretchen said to me was this — "I'm glad to see Chris taking all those pictures."

Thanks for Special Olympics effort

To the Editor:

We would like to join the Record and the Northville community in thanking the hundreds of volunteers who made the Special Olympic Events on May 5, 1989 such a wonderful success.

I recognized the names of so many former students and parents who volunteered to help, as well as former teaching colleagues. I am so proud to know them.

It has been said that a society can be judged by how it treats its old, poor and less fortunate. As parents of David, a retarded child, who before his death in 1983 lived in a group home in Redford, we call on these hundreds of caring volunteers to also welcome these "special people" into our community and neighborhoods.

You can truly make a difference.

Series reviewed

To the Editor: THE "ARE YOU CONCERNED?" SERIES IS A SUCCESS.

The "Are You Concerned?" series is now over, but the memories of this program on the use and misuse of alcohol and drugs will live on in the hearts of those who attended or worked on each program. How can you measure success of a program like this? By the amount of money people donated? By the number of people who attended each program? No!

The success of this program is measured by those persons who felt the emotion of the presenters, who found help for their own situations, friends or loved ones. Who found answers to their seemingly unanswerable questions, who now know that Northville has many programs and organizations working together toward a common goal.

Attendance included families. senior citizens, single parents, students, young adults, all the different types of persons who make up our community

The series is over and school is coming to a close, but the progress of the Northville Action Council will continue, even through the summer. We need your knowledge and assistance in developing future pro-grams that will be effective for our community. The Northville Action Council would like to request your presence at their monthly meetings. The meetings are at 7 p.m. on the third Thursday of each month at the Northville City Hall on Main Street.

The next meeting is on May 18, tonight. Please join us.

On behalf of the Northville Action Council, I would like to thank the Northville Public Schools for their co-sponsorship of the program. Henry Ford Hospital Maplegrove Community Education is commended for providing the series to our community. I would like to thank all of the wonderful people, businesses and organizations that contributed in some way to make the "Are You Concerned?" series a success. We all should feel proud right now. Have a question, call me at 349-8437.

Divorce is often difficult for children

This is another in the continuing series of columns written for the Record by Mary Ellen King, Director of Northville Youth

In recent months, there has been a great deal of media attention paid to the children of divorced parents. We are just beginning to understand the repercussions of divorce on adults whose parents divorced when they were children. Recent studies are indicating that these adults frequently do not do well emotionally.

My experience is not with the adults whose parents are divorced but with children whose parents are divorced. Many of these youngsters exhibit a wide range of behavioral problems such as an inability to concentrate in school, depression and feelings of rejection.

The death of a parent is also a traumatic experience for a child. However, in contrast to divorce situations it is typical for friends and relatives to come forward to help the surviving spouse deal with their children. When a parent goes through a divorce the support is usually not as strong.

For example, a mother recently told me that her husband died several years before and she was left alone with a young son. At the time of her husband's death relatives paid a great deal of attention to her son. Uncles took him places and became his substitute dad.

This woman recently married a man who was divorced and had custody of his young daughter. The young daughter seldom saw her mother after the divorce. This couple compared notes on how each of their children were treated after the loss of a

It was evident to this mother that her current husband's daughter needed just as much support after the divorce as her own son needed after the death of his dad. Yet friends and relatives did not offer to take the daughter places or share their lives with her.

Perhaps these friends and relatives believed that a divorce is self-inflicted and of a death, they are more willing to be supportive since death is beyond our control. However, both of these children needed someone to be there for them during the extremely trying times of their lives.

When a person experiences the loss of a spouse, whether it be through a death or divorce, they are faced with significant adjustments. They usually do not have the energy to be effective parents.

It is common for the parents to give the child less of their time, provide less discipline and in general be less sensitive to their child's needs. However, it is a time when children particularly need to be able to express their own grief over their loss of the parent. Children also need extra support and understanding during this period.

Death and divorce are extremely difficult times for adults and children. Adults need emotional support as do children. Northville Youth Assistance provides trained volunteer counselors for youths who can benefit from extra support and caring during a difficult time in their life. Call 344-1618

Council approves ordinance for veterinary clinics downtown

Veterinary clinics are now allowed in all commercial zoning districts in the City of Northville — including the downtown area.

The city council last Tuesday approved an ordinance change which will allow vets to operate small-animal clinics in areas zoned Central Business District (CBD), Professional Business Office (PBO) and Local Commercial District (LCD). Before the switch, vets were only specifically allowed in General Commercial District (GCD) zoning.

No members of the public commented during a public hearing on the amendment, which has been under discussion by city officials for several months.

The vote on the ordinance was 4-1, with Council Member Paul Folino dissenting.

In addition to allowing veterinary clinics in the new district, the ordinance also adds new restrictions to vets, pet shops and pet grooming establishments. The new rules basically prohibit any animal-related business from having an adverse impact on neighbors.

Folino opposed the ordinance because the city's planning consultant, Don Wortman, recommended against allowing vets downtown, and because the planning commission deleated an earlier draft of the proposal. The planning commission approved the new draft by one vote.

"I don't feel it's a proper use in the CBD. We've gone against our planning consultant, who we spend several thousand dollars a year for his opinion," Folino said.

Weight Loss Pill Approved for U.S. Gov't. Patent 'Lazy Way' to Lose Weight Already Sweeping U.S.

BEVERLY HILLS, CA (Special)-An amazing new weight loss pill called "fat-magnet" has recently been developed and perfected by two prominent doctors at a world famous hospital in Los Angeles that reportedly "guarantees" you steady fat loss and calorie reduction by simply taking their tested and proven new

The U.S. government has just approved the doctors claims for a hard-to-get patent that confirms "there has never been anything like their fat-bonding pill process before." It is a totally new major scientific breakthrough and is revolutionizing the weight loss industry You Can "Eat Normally" Best of all, "you can continue to eat your favorite foods and you don't have to change your normal eating habits. You can start losing fat and reduce calories from the very first day, until you achieve the ideal weight you desire without exercis-

Flushes Fat Out of Body
The new pill is appropriately called the "fat-magnet" pill because threaks into thousands of particles, each acting like a tiny magnet, "attracting" and trapping many times its size in undigested fat particles. Then, all the trapped fat and calonies are naturally "flowbod". and calories are naturally "flushed" right out of your body because they cannot be absorbed.

Within 2 days you should notice a change in the color of your stool, caused by the fat particles being eliminated. 'Automatically'' Lose Fat

According to one of the inventors, Dr. William Shell, heart specialist and associate professor of medicine at UCLA medical school, "the new fat-bonding process is a "lazy way" to lose weight because the pills alone "automatically" reduce calories by eliminating dietary fat It is 100% safe and not a drug."

The fat-magnet pills are already sweeping the country with glowing reports of weight loss from formerly overweight people in all walks of life who are now slimmer, trimmer and more attractive again.

Now Available to the Public If you are trying to lose 20, 50, 100 pounds or more, you can order your supply of these "no-risk" highly successful fat-magnet pills directly successful fat-magnet pills directly from the doctors' exclusive manufacturer only (includes optional calorie-reduction plan for even better results). He also mentioned that the city Zoning Board of Appeals had rejected a hardship appeal for a clinic to be allowed in a Dunlap Street building zoned CBD.

"I think we're going against a lot of professional opinions and so I will make a motion that this ordinance not be adopted," Folino said. But his motion died when no one supported

Mayor Chris Johnson said that maybe city officials had not explained enough to the planning commission when they first asked the com-mission to address the issue. Some planners objected to the idea of vets downtown because of worries that the city would not be able to control things like noise, odor, size of animal served and a prohibition on overnight boarding.

City Manager Steve Walters eventually proposed a draft which he and a slim majority of the commisbelieved addressed the pro-

At last week's council meeting, Council Member Jerry Mittman said the ordinance has "a lot of safeguards put into it now." Council Member John Buckland agreed that the draft took care of the worries about odor and other possible im-

The new ordinance only allows vets in the new districts as a "special land use," which means the planning commission must issue a special permit before a vet can move in. The same applies to pet shops, animal grooming services "and similar uses which deal with live animals."

The new special conditions include:

• Prohibiting location of the animal-related business in a building which has a common wall with a building owned by another person.

Prohibiting the animal use in any building which includes residential Prohibiting adverse effects on other uses in the building.

· Serving only small animals intended for household pets, namely, dogs, cats, other small mammals, rodents, reptiles and birds which are kept indoors as pets. It does not include farm animals or larger animals.

HV credit union helps preserve old school house

By DAWN O'LEARY and MIKE McGLINNEN

A touch of the past has been preserved in the 19th-century, oneroom schoolhouse which now houses the Huron Valley Schools Credit Union (HVSCU) at 145 West Ruggles Street in Highland.

The school district used the building throughout the 1930s until officials moved the building to its present location. For years after that the school district utilized the facility as the Kindergarten Cottage, in conjunction with Highland Elementary

The former schoolhouse became the Help Drug Center during the late 1960s and 1970s. This program provided drug rehabilitation and education for teen-agers. The building stood vacant from the closing of the center until 1987.

The credit union purchased the schoolhouse that year from the Huron Valley School District and opened for business at the new location in June 1988.

Members of the credit union say they appreciate the friendly employees and comfortable atmosphere in the former schoolhouse that has been completely renovated for the cooperative's operations.

The credit union has a transient history since it came into existence in

Some of its former locations have been a living room, a custodian's closet, a principal's office and most recently, a classroom at the thenclosed Baker Elementary School.

When increasing student enrollment necessitated the reopening of Baker as a school building, credit union members decided to search for a permanent location, according to Loan Officer Dan Parrish. While renovating the building workers made every possible attempt to restore the charm of the old Credit Union Manager Nancy Weeks hopes to collect a gallery of photographs, documents and memorabilia in the near future to reflect the schoolhouse's rich history.

The credit union will remain located in the schoolhouse for the immediate future at least.

"We will remain here until we outgrow it. This is our permanent location ... temporarily. We've grown a great deal in the last year or so," Parrish said.

"We offer more personal money management. People come here because of the personal touch," said Sue Harrison, assistant manager of the credit union.

Although many of the services offered at a credit union are comparable to those of a traditional bank, the two institutions are quite different, according to Parrish.

"You are a member of a credit union - you are a customer at a bank. We offer similar services but a member of a credit union has much more say. A person is a voting member here and can attend the annual meeting to have a voice in the union." Parrish said.

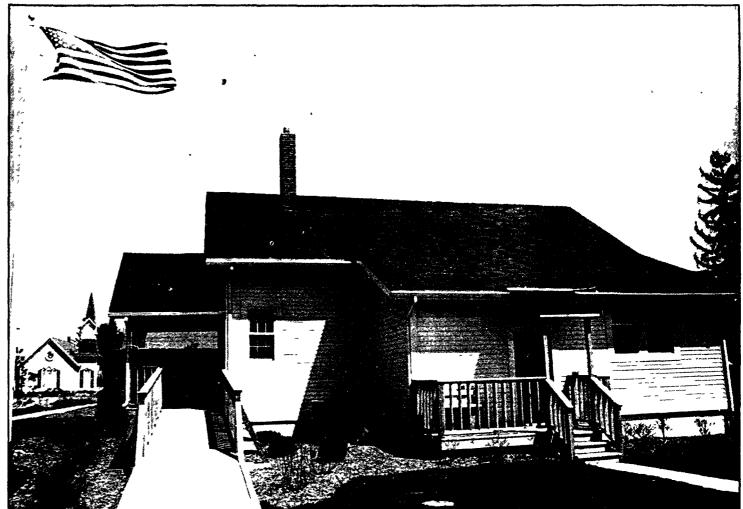

"We are a little more personable than a bank. We try to give a little more attention to our customers,' added Parrish.

Weeks believes it has been critical for the credit union to establish its own identity.

"So many people assumed we were connected with the school district. partially because the names are so similar. We thought it important to be established completely on our

CPAs provide advice on IRAs

If all the talk about Individual Retirement Accounts (IRAs) confuses you, you are not alone.

According to the Michigan Association of CPAs, one of the most common questions that individual taxpayers ask is: "Can I still make and deduct IRA contributions?

The answer depends on several factors. The first is whether you and your spouse actively participated in a company retirement plan for any part of the taxable year. If your answer is "no," an IRA will still work its old deduction magic. You can contribute and deduct up to $2,000 or 100 percent of your earnings, whichever

If you have a working spouse earning at least $2,000, you can deduct an additional $2,000; a non-working spouse ups the allowable deduction

On the other hand, if either one of you does participate in a retirement plan, the deductibility of your IRA contribution is based on your adjusted gross income (AGI).

Unfortunately, determining whether you are an active partici-pant in a qualified retirement plan may not be as simple as it sounds. For example, Sam was a participant in the Simon Corporation's retirement plan. But Sam left that company on Jan. 4, 1988, and started working the next week at a new firm that does not have a retirement plan. Under tax law, Sam is considered an active participant in a retirement plan even though his participation was limited to only the first few days the information box on your W-2 form or by asking your employer. Never make assumptions. If your employer's pension plan says you are eligible for coverage, then you are considered an active participant.

The simplest way to find out your

Now, here's the good news. Participants in retirement plans do not necessarily lose the IRA deduction. Married couples with an AGI of $40,000 or less and singles with an AGI of $25,000 or less are still entitled to the full deduction.

Once your earnings exceed those limits, however, your deduction whit-tles away. For every $1,000 in income over the ceilings of $40,000 and $25,000, you lose $200 in deductions. The bottom line is that the deduction is completely eliminated for married couples with an AGI of $50,000 or more for singles with an AGI of $35,000 or more.

The rules for withdrawing IRA funds also have changed. In the past, withdrawls from IRA accounts were taxed as ordinary income. Clean and simple. If you don't make a nondeductible contribution, the rules remain the same. But the game plan changes as soon as you make a nondeductible IRA contribution because these funds have already been taxed. From now on, distributions from IRA accounts will be taxable based on the proportion of deductible contributions to nondeductible contributions.

To insure that you will not be taxed on withdrawals of funds that have already been taxed, you have to inform the IRS of any non-deductible contributions by attaching Form 8606 to your federal tax return. As an additional safeguard, you should maintain a personal record of all nondeductible contributions made between now and the time you receive the entire sum of your IRA funds - in other words for life.

Most of the other rules governing IRA withdrawals remain intact. Unless you are permanently disabled or die, any withdrawal of IRA money before age 591/2 results in a 10 percent penalty tax in addition to any regular tax due.

On the other hand, you must begin withdrawing a specified amount of all IRA funds from at least one of your IRA accounts no later than April 1 of the year following the year in which you turn 70%. (This rule is different from the one in effect last year: the previous rule stated that you had to begin withdrawing funds from all of your accounts no later than April 1 of the year in which you reach 70%).

Should you make an IRA contribution despite the new rules? The answer should be based on your individual circumstances, but remember that the tax deduction is not the only reason why IRAs have long put a gleam in taxpayers' eyes.

Individual Retirement Accounts

still enable you to accumulate dividends; interest and capital gains that are tax-deferred and, thus, compound faster. Consider, too, that you have a wide variety of investment options, from bank certificates of deposit to mutual funds.

If you do decide to invest in an IRA, keep an eye on how your account performs. Don't just sit by and watch potential income waste away. For example, if you have thousands of dollars in a mutual fund that's floundering, switch to an investment with a more consistent record of suc-

The Michigan Association of CPAs points out that you can make as many direct transfers between IRA trustees or accounts as you deem necessary. If, however, you actually withdraw your IRA funds and close your account, the transfer is considered a rollover (you are allowed one a year) and must be redeposited in a qualified IRA account within 60

If you miss the 60-day deadline, the amount withdrawn will be taxed and. if you are under 591/2, will also be subject to a 10 percent early-withdrawal

In spite of the withdrawal penalties and the tax-deductible restriction. IRAs remain one of the most widely recommended tools for building a retirement nest egg. Before making a final investment decision, however, compare the tax advantages of IRAs with those of other tax-deferred or tax-free instruments.

Weeks dispelled the common misconception that only school employees can use the credit union. Also eligible for membership are retirees of the district and their families, and parents of children currently enrolled in the school district.

The majority of the 1,700 members of the union reside in the Huron Valley School District or are former residents of the Milford area, said Parrish.

Treasured Gardens specializes in gifts

Have you ever looked for a unique gift that was affordable but you couldn't find anywhere else?

Treasured Gardens, a new store which opened in the Novi Town Center recently, specializes in unique silk floral arrangements handcrafted with individual charm. Treasured Gardens is a family business that has been in existence four years. Don Moran is the owner. His parents, Charlotte and Tom Moran, are partners. All kinds of silk flowers can be found in abundance in handcrafted country baskets as well as sculptured hanging and standing brass planters that come in over 35 different shapes.

Assortments come in a rainbow of colors in varieties such as azaleas, mums, geraniums, roses, lilies and carnations as well as more unique varieties like dahlias, fushia, cosmos, alstromieria and poinsettias for the holiday.

Life-like artificial topiary trees are handcrafted out of wood and look so realistic customers can hardly tell they are artificial.

Terrariums feature silk flowers and plants as well as dried flowers. Large and small plants such as geraniums, pothos, grape and English ivy hang throughout the store.

Dried country wreaths and bouquets are made with spiral eucalyptus, status, baby's breath, protea, lotus pods, palm spears and other novelty items.

Other unusual gifts featured in the store include handcrafted candles, soft sculptured cactus dish gardens, unique designer arrangements and Victorian accessories.

In addition, specialty items for the holiday season are expected to start arriving shortly, such as Mountain King cone-tipped Douglas Fir artificial Christmas trees in 6, 71/2 and 9 foot sizes; 15 different holiday wreaths; and a wide variety of quality roping.

"We wanted to have really different and unique items made from the highest quality products we could find but still offered at affordable prices," said Moran. "We are able to do that because we are a familyowned business, we design many of the items ourselves, and we are very competitive.'

Customers are greeted by a potpourri of fragrance as they enter the store. Scents come in cinnamon spice, apple spice, peach delight, strawberry preserves, sunny citrus, rose bouquet and vanilla pudding.

The store was designed by WBDC Group, one of the top design firms in Michigan. The glass and formica interior is finished in light pastels and off-white pearl with green marbelized cornice trim and doweled walls that create a three-dimensional ef-

"Our customers compliment us on the design of our store," said Charlotte Moran. "They tell us our prices are excellent, particularly on our baskets, and appreciate the quality of our plants. That's what we were striving for, so we are very happy with the results we are seeing so

The Morans say they chose Novi for their store because it is a rapidly-growing area. They also appreciate the outdoor open-air concept of Novi. Town Center as they believe many of ! their customers will like the convenience of being able to park right in front of the store. "We feel that open-air centers are the up and coming thing," said Donald Moran. "Novi Town Center was the finest one we could find with its quality brick work, upscale atmosphere and extensive landscaping. It's right for us."

Treasured Gardens is located on the west side of Novi Town Center near F&M at 43311 Crescent Drive.

You who make me see everything and who showed me the way to reach my ideal You who gave me the divine gift to forgive and forget the wrong that is done to me and you who are in all instances of my life with me. I, in this short dialogue want to thank you for everything and confirm once more that I never want to be separated from you no matter how great that material desire may be. I want to be with you and my loved ones in your perpetual glory. Amen Thank you for your love towards me and my loved ones. Persons must pray this prayer 3 consecu-tive days without asking your wish. A defense against cancer can be cooked up in your kitchen.

There is evidence that diet and cancer are related. Some foods may promote cancer, while others may protect you from it.

Foods related to lowering the risk of cancer of the larynx and esophagus all have high amounts of carotene. a form of Vitamin A which is in cantaloupes, peaches, broccoli, spinach, ali dark green leafy vegetables, sweet potatoes, carrots, pumpkin, winter squash and tomatoes, citrus fruits and brussels sprouts.

A good rule of thumb is cut down on fat and don't be fat. Weight reduction may lower cancer risk. Our 12- year study of nearly a million Americans uncovered high cancer risks particularly among people 40% or more overweight.

Now, more than ever, we know you can cook up your own defense against cancer. So eat healthy and be healthy.

No one faces cancer alone.

Foods that may help reduce the risk of gastrointestinal and respiratory tract cancer are cabbage, broccoli, brussels sprouts, kohlrabi, cauliflower.

Fruits, vegetables, and wholegrain cereals such as oatmeal, bran and wheat may help lower the risk of colorectal cancer.

AMERICAN

Foods high in fats, salt- or nitrite-cured foods like ham, and > fish and types of sausages smoked by traditional methods should be caten in moderation. Be moderate in consumption of alcohol also.

A new weekly section in The Northville Record, The Novi News, The Milford Times and The South Lyon Herald

Creative Living is written for the folks who enjoy a certain lifestyle. This new section, included every week with The Record, The News, The Times and The Herald, will feature articles of interest to area residents. No matter what you live in - condo, mobile home, apartment or Cape Cod - Creative Living is for you, with articles on antiques, home and lawn care, hobbies and leisure time activities.

In addition, the section will be loaded with information on real estate activity in the area. Reader ads for homes, apartments, mobile homes, property and rentals will apear in Creative Living - making it the real estate section for western Oakland and Wayne coun-

Creative Living - another reason to join the growing number of Northville Record, Novi News, Milford Times and South Lyon Herald readers.

Tollgate Farms, at the corner of Twelve Mile and Meadowbrook roads, is now Tollgate 4-H Center

Tucked in a lush, somewhat secluded valley near Twelve Mile and Meadowbrook roads is the Tollgate 4-H Education Center.

At the site, historic green barns stand in distinction. A three-acre pond polkadotted with algae rests nearby. Stately trees bow to gentle spring breezes, gathered in scattered clusters over the 160-acre parcel of farmland.

Just a few months ago pounding hammers and whirling electric drills interrupted the silence inside a gracefullyaged white farmhouse on the site, built in 1841. Construction crews recently completed a renovation project that transformed the house into an office complex and conference room.

More commonly known as Tollgate Farms, a major portion of the rural land has changed hands and will become the headquarters for 4-H programs and Michigan State Cooperative Extension Service activities statewide.

A 60-acre tract of the 160-acre farmland site was donated to Michigan State University by the Americana Foundation, an organization created by Tollgate's property owners — the late Adolph Meyer and his wife, Ida.

Meyer was a Detroit industrialist who possessed a fondness for agriculture and rural land. He created the Americana Foundation to ensure that the Novi farmland would be preserved after his death.

Thomas Schneider, director of the Tollgate 4-H Education Center, explained that Meyer bought the farmland in the 1950s. He apparently gutted the old farmhouse and installed plumbing as the first phase of a major renovation. Eventually the renovation was abandoned when the Meyers decided to remain at their Birmingham residence.

at their Birmingham residence.
However, the farm was maintained and Meyer often invited school children to visit the land to teach them about farming. The lower level of the house was converted into living quarters where the farm's caretaker, Ernie, lived.

Quirk organizes Town Hall

By DOROTHY NASH

If you are a woman who wants to meet people, get a new perspective on things, and also volunteer in a community oriented program, why not follow Nancy Quirk's lead?

The starting place for her six years ago, was Our Lady's League of Our Lady of Victory Church in Northville — the sponsor of the Northville Town Hall Series, which presents four celebrity lectures and luncheons each year.

The recipients of the net proceeds, Quirk said, are the church and about 20 organizations, commissions, and committees in Farmington, Plymouth, Livonia, Northville, and Novi.

Quirk, who is married and the mother of three children, is now Executive Board Chairman of the Town Hall Series. She started in it, she said, because she wanted to meet people.

Once in — she was sold on it.
"It's a good cause," she said.
Half of the net income from ticket

Half of the net income from ticket holders, sustaining members, patrons, and advertisers in the annual program book goes to the church, and half to the charities.

Since she came aboard the project, Quirk has been corresponding secretary, vice chairman, and now chairman.

As chairman, she oversees all of the Town Hall Series activities, meeting monthly with the general committee and also the program committee. When it comes time to solicit advertising for the program booklet, she takes her share of names to contact. And she also helps select the speakers.

The night before a speaker flies into town, she meets him at the airport, takes him to the hotel, and then escorts him the next day to the lecture hall.

The hardest part, Nancy Quirk said, is "getting up in front of 500 people to introduce the speaker."

The rest is work, but also "fun", she admitted. And anyone who wants to be in on it is welcome.

Resident finds wildflower varieties in secluded forest

By BRENDA DOOLEY

What better way to enjoy the beauty of spring than to take a wildflower walk?

Northville's Jane Francoeur has a secret wildflower haven she would like to share with other residents. The forest where she enjoys watching wildflowers bloom is on county-owned land behind the soccer fields off Sheldon Road, between Six and Seven Mile roads.

If you're still not quite sure about the location, here are a few more reference points - it's across the street from the tall, brick, boarded-up buildings on Sheldon Road, and near the community garden patches offered annually by the Northville Community Recreation Department. A dirt road lined by beech trees leads into the forest.

'There's a beautiful woods there," she commented. "There's not much undergrowth so the flowers are easy to see. The earth is loamy

Wildflower varieties Francoeur has seen in the forest include Spring Beauties, Bloodroot, Trilliums, Wild Ginger, Violets, Adders Tongue - also known as Trout Lily or Dog-Toothed Violet -Soloman's Seal, Wild Geranium, Dutchmans Breeches, Liverwort, Mandrake — also called Mayapple or Umbrella Plant — Hepatica and Jack-In-The-Pulpit.

Currently she said the Wild Geraniums and a few other flower varieties are blooming.

Francoeur said she would like to see the forest set aside as a park. She added that Northville Township's newly-adopted Woodlands Ordinance would help to protect the forest.

"You can't just buy a forest," she said. "It you chop it down, it'll take 80 years to grow back.'

Her preservation efforts have included a presentation to the Northville Township Beautification Commission and establishing a committee within the American Association of University Women (AAUW) to study land use in the Northville area. Other local residents involved in the study include Jean Hansen and Mary Hines.

'It was apparently used as a nature preserve at one time because there are still signs there," she said. The fact that it was formerly used as a nature trail may have some bearing on the future of the forest, she added.

Francoeur said she has also spied deer tracks in the soil, as well as several squirrels. She said she visits the forest about once a week. "I think this would be a marvelous present to ourselves," she said about converting the land into a community park.

Francoeur mentioned other local places to view wildflowers, including Maybury State Park and Bicentennial Park in Livonia, which hosts wildflower walks through Schoolcraft College.

Northville resident organizes annual parade

Those who associate parades solely with frolicking fun should talk to Sandy Myers, longtime organizer of the Memorial Day Parade in

The special event requires months and months of writing letters and contacting prospective parade participants. Sometimes she begins writing letters to organizations in February . . . now that's advanced planning for an event that occurs at the end of May.

"Some people delay in sending in their acknowledgements and that drives me crazy," she said good-humoredly.

She sometimes has to wait till the last minute to hear from people who are planning to take part in the parade.

"Gov. (James) Blanchard turned me down," she said with a laugh when listing names of people planning to attend the parade this year. "He always turns me down, though. We send him an invitation every great pride in the event.

Joking aside, Myers clearly enjoys the parade planning and takes

"I did it for quite a few years and gave it up for a couple years — now I'm doing it again. I'll probably be planning it until I either die or move out of Northville.

'It gets a little easier after the first year," she said.

Northville Library hosts membership drive

Northville Friends of the Library recently conducted its third annual membership drive in celebration of National Library Week (April 10-15). Colorful balloons and smiles were highlights of the event, which attracted 49 new members. Another 37 residents renewed their memberships.

In other library news, the Friends held its annual meeting on April 10 when new officers were elected for the coming year. Officers are Rosemary Mentag, president; Wendy Gutowski, vice president; Rose Wagner, secretary; Margaret Spigarelli, treasurer; and Dorothea Bach, Betty Griffin and Bob Russell, directors.

Local society welcomes new members

Initiation ceremonies were recently held for new members of the Beta Xi Chapter of Alpha Delta Kappa at the Livonia residence of Marcia Farquharson.

New members include Edna Fleming and Jane Hasse of Northville. Other women welcomed into the international honorary society for women educators included Carole Brooks, Cathy Campbell, Jan Dersey and Lenore Howe, Plymouth; Andrea Roderick, Canton; Diane Sproull, Livonia; Kim Grass, Farmington; and Joyce Finkbeiner, Ann Arbor. They are all educators in the Plymouth-Canton schools.

Inside Tollgate

The historic white farmhouse at Tollgate 4-H Education Center was recently renovated and now houses a comfortable conference room with a stone fireplace, at left, and an office for the center's director, Tom Schneider. Among other things, the conference room will be used a classroom during seminars that will be open to the community. Above, Schneider sits at a desk in his office overlooking the grounds. Additional plans for the house include future renovation of the upper floor, which will eventually be used for lodging local 4-H groups that visit the Tollgate 4-H Education Center.

One of Meyer's dreams was to preserve the farmland from commercial development and somehow to involve MSU in its future operation, Schneider commented. Finally Meyer's dream has become reality.

The 60-acre parcel of land was acquired by MSU in December 1987. University officials spent last winter developing plans for the Tollgate Center, which will be managed by Schneider and MSU's 4-H Department

"There will be nothing else like it in the country because of the wide variety of programs available," Schneider remarked, referring to the Tollgate Center.

Schneider said adult and youth programs conducted at the center will basically have two focuses — helping kids understand the importance of the environment and land through agriculture and land use planning, and helping kids explore aspects of high-technology.

How can both goals be met? Easily, Schneider explained.

A video production studio and teleconferencing complex is eventually planned for the center to teach children about technology. Their education will be further enhanced by interactions with high technology experts in the area, Scheider

"We'll also be getting kids acquainted with researchers from the university this will be sort of a window to the university in the community," Schneider remarked. "Tollgate will be a strong outreach for MSU in southeastern Michigan."

Future plans proposed for the site include construction of a conference center which will contain overnight accommodations for visiting guests, a telecommunications unit, an indoor swimming pool, a "Biodome" for growing and studying ecosystems, a riding arena for the 4-H Horseback Riding for Handicappers programs, nature and riding trails and an excercise area.

Weekend educational sessions and week-long camps hosted through the 4-H program will encourage personal growth and development, building self-esteem and boosting self-confidence.

"We hope to get kids thinking about quality of life issues . . . our objective is to help kids have an understanding that there are options — there are always alternatives to the way we've traditionally done things.

"We promote that type of attitude through creative thinking," Schneider said.

Proposed plans also include converting the large barn on the site into a theater/communications center where participants will have the chance to perform in drama productions. The smallest barn on the site is expected to be converted into a field lab, and the middle barn will be used mainly for storage, Schneider explained.

Schneider anticipates that the Tollgate Center will be operating in full-swing in about two years. He said MSU officials hope t break ground for the conference center next summer, although no plans have been submitted to the city yet.

Restoration and renovation of the farmhouse — where offices for Schneider and the Americana Foundation will be located — is expected to be completed in November.

Limited programs and activities will be hosted at Tollgate as soon as they are developed by Schneider and MSU officials.

MSU officials.

"We're in the process of designing programming," Schneider expalined. "For us, it takes a program development process and we're working on it."

In addition to donating the land to MSU, the Americana Foundation is providing a $2.4 million grant for development of the property.

Eventually, programs and classes are expected to be offered to the public through Tollgate.

Schneider said he is looking forward to becoming involved in the community and schools through his work at Tollgate. His role at the center has already been instrumental — he devised the basic concept of the facility.

"It's an exciting project," Schneider said. "I have to keep pinching myself to see if it's true."

Group plans car wash

In need of a car wash?

If it's spring, there's probably mud splatters on the windshield or hood. But don't despair. At least one local group is willing to help residents clean up their autos.

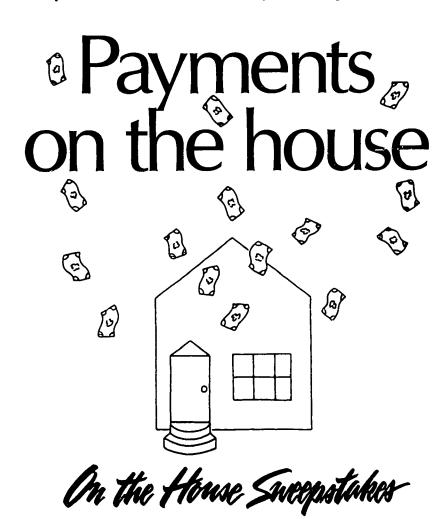

Members of a youth group at the First Presbyterian Church of Northville are planning to host a car wash on Saturday, May 20, at the church from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Car washes will be free. At the same time, youth group members will accept membership pledges to fund a trip they're planning to take to Clemson, S.C.

The trip to South Carolina won't serve merely a pleasure vacation, according to Martin Ankrum, associate pastor at the church. While in South Carolina, youth group members plan to repair houses of low-income residents who can't afford to do it themselves.

Proceeds from the car wash will benefit the project.

Young members from the church recently traveled to Cancun, where they took part in a work camp. In Cancun they constructed a concrete wall to separate a Presbyterian church from a neighboring residential community.

New eatery promotes Japanese culture

By PHIL JEROME

Local residents will have an opportunity to learn more about Japan and the Japanese culture through a special series of events sponsored by the area's newest restaurant.

The latest in the chain of Kyoto Japanese Steakhouses opened its doors in Farmington Hills earlier this month. And the restaurant is celebrating its opening by sponsoring a "Celebration of Japanese Tradi-

"We wanted to do something different for the opening of this restaurant, so we developed the idea of the 'Celebration of Japanese Tradition,''' explained Darcy DeWolfe, who is handling public rela-tions for the newest Kyoto Japanese Steakhouse.

"It's a way to introduce the area to different aspects of the Japanese culture," she added.

The new Kyoto Steakhouse is located at 21159 Haggerty Road — across from the Novi Hilton. It is the fourth Kyoto Steakhouse in Michigan. Others are located in Troy, Dearborn and the Renaissance Center in downtown Detroit.

Kyoto Japanese Steakhouses are a chain of restaurants headquartered in Boston, Mass. DeWolfe said the chain is owned by a man named Barclay Henderson, who married a Japanese woman and lived in Japan for many years. Upon returning to the United States, he decided to start the Kyoto Steakhouse chain in order to acquaint Americans with quality and authentic Japanese cuisine

To celebrate the opening of the newest restaurant, Kyoto is offering a series of special events through May and June.

Everyone is welcome to attend and the events are offered free of charge. People who want to have a predemonstration luncheon will receive

People are asked to make reservations for each event by calling the restaurant at 348-7900.

Included in the "Celebration of Japanese Tradition" are the following events:

Brush Painting on Tuesday, May a 20 percent discount, and Kyoto will 23, at 1 p m. Yu Ping Yung, a teacher and a Bloomfield Hills resident, will lecture and demonstrate the intriguing and ancient Japanese art form. She will display the bamboo-handled brushes and the rice paper on which the intricate form of painting is done.

the event. Members of the 5-20 Kite Club will demonstrate the Oriental sport of kite-flying and help children fly their own kites. The event will be held in the open field between Chili's restaurant and the Novi Hilton.

6-C

Japanese kites will be available for purchase, and the 5-20 Kite Club will sponsor several kite-flying contests.

☐ Japanese Koto Performance on Wednesday, June 7, at 1 p.m. Katy Holleran and Alice Sano will wear authentic kimonos and give a per-formance of traditional Japanese music on the koto — a stringed lap in-strument with a sound similar to a dulcimer. Holleran is a member of the Japanese Music Study Group in Ann Arbor. She purchased her koto for $1,200 during a 1984 trip to Japan.

Cutting on Thursday, June 15, at 1 p.m. Dean Atkinson will demonstrate the intricate skills used to sculpt the miniature Bonsai tree. Cutting the trees properly is a very intricate process that is considered an art form in

The "Celebration of Japanese Culture" will include two other events — a traditional Japanese tea ceremony and a demonstration of Ikebana flower arranging. The events will be held in late June, but specific dates have not yet been set.

The Japanese tea ceremony is performed only by women and can last several hours. The art of serving tea is passed down from generation to generation. The women move very slowly and there are strong ceremonial aspects to the event.

Ikebana is a school of Japanese flower arranging which began centuries ago in Kyoto - the city for which the Kyoto Steakhouses are named. It involves very strict rules for placing the various elements of the design.

The Ikebana demonstration will be presented by members of the Detroit chapter of Ikebana International, a weight loss breakthrough of unprecedented magnitude has just been made. A new bioactive diet pill program containing amazing 'E.A.B. Plus" has been perfected and is being marketed under the tradename Anorex 20001M.

Researchers are calling it the "diet miracle of the '90s." Anorex 2000 with "E.A.B. Plus" actually turns the body into a "fat burning machine" which consumes its own stored fat, flab and cellulite thus shedding pounds and inches like magic. A panel of leading U.S. doctors and health experts found Anorex 2000 "safe for effective weight loss." However it is an extremely powerful anorectic instructions should be followed carefully.

Expense Delays Marketing Anorex 2000 was developed after years of expensive research. Consequently it is not cheap - but it works! As one doctor commented, "My patients would pay many times the cost of Anorex 2000 to finally lose all the weight they want and need to lose - to finally realize their dreams of a thin, beautiful, healthy body. Some of my overweight patients actually lost too much weight with Anorex 2000."

Anorex 2000 is so effective and the results are so astonishing that the manufacturer is offering a 30 day free trial. If you postdate your check a full 30 days, it will be held to let you prove to yourself that you can safely lose all the weight you want. If you are not 100% satisfied with the remarkable change you see in the mirror, just return your Anorex 2000 and your check will be destroyed uncashed. You have no risk you can't lose money, only years of appearance. Send check or money order for $36.45 (+$3.50 for shipping and handling) for a 30 day supply or $64.00 (+$3.50) for a 60 day supply to Anorex 2000, 4642 E. Chapman Ave., Dept. Mustang nine drop twinbill at Novi

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

The Northville baseball squad wrapped up a successful week of action against WLAA foes with a very unsuccessful weekend tilt against Novi in a non-conference doubleheader.

The 15-4 Wildcats cruised to a convincing twinbill sweep of the Mustangs on May 13 in what has traditionally been a late-season slugfest between the two neighboring schools.

This time around, however, the Northville hitters were stymied by the 'Cats 1-2 pitching punch of Steve Ross and Ken Hendrian — and Novi ran away with a 9-1 win in the opener and a 7-4 triumph in game two

"Their pitching dominated us," Mustang Coach Bob Frellick said. "Novi has a real nice ballclub." Wildcat star Scott Wladischkin led off the first game with a single and later scored on a hit by Hendrian to make it 1-0 and it stayed that way until Novi added three more in the third off Northville starter John Schrieber. Ross and Hendrian had hits in the rally, but the big hit was a homer by Wladischkin - his fifth of the season. The Mustangs avoided the shutout with a single run in the fifth without the aid of a hit. Joe Kaley reached base on an error and eventually scored three more errors later. But the 'Cats exploded for five more runs in the sixth to provide the final margin of victory. Run-scoring hits came from

Ross, Hendrian, Todd Wise and Marc Tolsdorf. Ross went the full seven innings and allowed no earned runs to register his second two-hitter of the campaign. He fanned seven and walked just one.

"Ross really stopped us," Frellick said. In the nightcap, Novi put together a big rally in the second inning - pushing five runners across on three hits, three walks and three wild pitches to chase Northville starter Randy Jones. In the meantime, Novi's Hendrian was dodging bullets on the mound through four scoreless innings as the Mustangs stranded seven baserunners in that "We had Hendrian on the ropes and couldn't put him away," Frellick said.

The 'Cats added two more runs in the fourth on a walk to Wise, a single by Wladischkin and a tworun single by Rick Timerick to make it 7-0. The Mustangs finally got to Hendrian in the fifth for four runs, and that made things interesting, but it wasn't enough. Singles by Randy Jones and Brian Frellick started things off and a run-scoring hit by Kaley ended it - with a walk and two errors sandwiched in between.

For the doubleheader, Wladischkin paced Novi with four hits in eight tries and added five stolen bases. Mike Jambor had two hits in game one and Jones had a pair in game two, but they were the only Northville batters to do so.

NORTHVILLE 5-6, WALLED LAKE CENTRAL 3-4: The Mustangs got their first doubleheader sweep of the season on May 8, and it came on the

In the opener, Brian Frellick ripped a runscoring double in the fifth inning to break a 3-3 tie, and Northville went on to a 5-3 win. Frellick later drove in an insurance run in the seventh to wrap up a nice outing. He went 2-for-2 with 3 RBIs.

"We made only one error in the game and had 11 hits, so it was a good game," Coach Frellick said. The other hitting stars were Dave McKee (2-for-4) and Steve Vigh (2-for-4). Jambor relieved Schrieber in the fourth and pitched shutout ball the rest of the way to earn his second victory of the year - both in relief.

In game two, the Mustangs fell behind early but staged a six-hit, three-run fourth inning to take a 5-3 lead and never looked back. John McNeil, Jambor and Joe Kaley drove in the runs while Jones, Frellick and Darren Kehoe added base hits in the

Each team scored single runs in the late innings and it ended 6-4, with Jones going the distance and getting the victory. Vigh knocking in a pair of runs to pace the hitting attack.

"It was Jones first start and he came through for us," Frellick said. "He is a competitive person and we needed him to pitch. He came in and did NORTHVILLE 1, LIVONIA FRANKLIN 0: Sophomore pitcher Mike Lang - who started the season with the Mustang junior varsity - was brilliant on May 10 and he blanked the Patriots en route to a four-hit shutout.

"It was an awesome game — especially for Mike Lang," Frellick said. "He didn't give up a run and didn't walk anybody." The only run of the game came in Northville's half of the second inning. Jim Willerer singled, advanced to second on an error, moved to third on a sacrifice by Kehoe and scored on a fly out.

"A game like this helps the kids believe in themselves," Frellick said. "We lost to (Franklin) the first time we played, so it was a good indication that we are improving." The Mustangs (7-13 overall) were supposed to take on Western Division foe Walled Lake Western on May 12 but the game was rained out.

The unpredictability - the ups and downs - is what oftentimes makes sports so interesting.

The Northville tennis squad rode that all-to-familiar emotional roller coaster last week, suffering the program's worst defeat in years only to bounce back with the season's best performance three days later.

Mustang Coach Dick Norton was preparing for a tough, close battle with Livonia Stevenson on May 10 in a key WLAA contest, but the Spartans turned it into an ambush, clobbering Northville 7-0. 'It had to have been the lowlight of the year," Norton said. "I was very disappointed in the team as a whole. I can't remember the last time we've lost a match 7-0." But amazingly, the Mustangs regrouped on May 13 to place second at the eight-team Tom Muldowney Memorial Tennis Tournament in Dearborn — one point ahead of third place Stevenson. Go figure. "I couldn't have been any prouder of a team than I was last weekend," Norton admitted. "We really turned it around. The kids responded and it was nice to see.'

Northville put five flights in the finals and ended up with 26 points. Dearborn — one of the top ranked Class B teams in the state - ended up running away with the title (44 points), but that couldn't dampen Norton's spirits.

'This was a great tournament for us." he said.

At No. 1 singles, Rob Richcreek won his first two matches - including an impressive 7-5, 7-5 victory over Dearborn's Andris Abolins - to reach the finals. But once there he fell to Stevenson's Roland Wolff (0-6, 1-6) and ended up placing second.

Kurt Reickel (No. 2) also placed second, and received praise from Norton for playing the best tennis of the season. Reickel cruised in the first two rounds and had Dearborn's John Russell on the ropes in the final, but couldn't hold on. Russell won the marathon match 6-7 (2-7), 6-4, 7-6 (3-7) but Reickel was winning 6-5 in the third set and saw five match points pass him by.

"Despite that, Kurt played very, very well," Norton said. "He is finally starting to play the kind of tennis he is capable of playing.'

Brad Telepo also made it to the No. 3 singles finals, but he fell to Dearborn's Paul Scheele, 6-3, 3-6, 1-6. Despite the loss, Norton was pleased because Telepo moved up a notch from fourth to third singles so that Chad Bosscher could be paired with Ken Spigarelli at No. 1 doubles. Spigarelli's regular partner - Jeff Wesley — was out of town and unable

Northville to host MHSAA soccer semis

Northville High School will serve as host for one of the 1909 Michigan High School Athletic Association (MHSAA) Class A girls soccer semifinal games on June 7, but the Mustanes word words to be allers will be traveling to Howell for their district playoff tourna-Mustangs won't even get the chance to play at home on that date, even if they do advance to the final four for the second straight season. That's because the Mustangs are paired in another bracket, which has its semifinal game in Fraser that same field advantage in district action, however. Teams like Novi, Livonia Churchill, Livonia Franklin, Livonia Ladywood and Livonia Stevenson will be congregating in Northville on May 26-27, with the winner advancing on to the regionals on June 3 at Southfield High. The state final is slated for June 10 at North Farmington High

BASEBALL: The second season for the Mustang baseballers also begins at home. If Northville can get past Livonia Churchill on May 26 in pre-district action, the team will then take on the Novi-Walled Lake Western winner at home in the first round of the districts. Other teams in the tournament are Plymouth Canton, Plymouth Salem, Livonia Stevenson, Farmington, North Farmington and for their district playoff tournament starting May 26. The rest of the field includes Adrian, Ann Arbor Huron, Ann Arbor Pioneer, Brighton, Plymouth Canton, Plymouth Salem, South Lyon and Ypsilanti.

In addition to Northville and Huron, the remaining teams will include Adrian, Ann Arbor Pioneer, Belleville, Brighton, Plymouth Canton, Plymouth Salem, Livonia Churchill, Romulus, Wayne Memorial, Westland John

> BOYS AND GIRLS TRACK: The Northville thinclads are scheduled to travel all the way to Lake Fenton High School in Fenton on May 20 for the boys and girls track and field regional competition. The other teams in attendance will be Novi, Ann Arbor Huron, Ann Arbor Pioneer, Belleville, Brighton, Plymouth Salem, Plymouth Canton, Holly, Howell, Milford, Lakeland, Romulus, South Lyon, Walled Lake Central, Walled Lake Western and Ypsilanti.

Softballers remain in race with 5-3 win over Central

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

The Northville softballers had to have a victory against Walled Lake Central in the first game of a doubleheader showdown on May 8 and the squad came through with a hard-fought 5-3 win.

In Western Lakes action, the first game of a twinbill counts in the conference standings but the second game doesn't. The Vikings headed into the clash without a conference defeat and atop the Lakes Division standings, while the Western Division-leading Mustangs headed in two games back in the loss column. That's why a win in the opener was a must, if Northville held any lingering hopes for its first-ever WLAA Conference crown.

"It was a must-win situation for us and we responded to stay alive in the race," Mustang Coach Bob Gerlach said. "It was a big win for us." Later in the week, Central fell to Westland John Glenn, thus creating a three-way tie for the conference lead between the Vikings, the Rockets and the Mustangs. Northville took a 3-0 lead in the second inning of the opener on singles by Karen Baird and Jenny Juhasz, and three Viking errors. The Vikings scored an unearned run off starter Amy Freimund in the third but the Mustangs came back to make it 4-1 on a run-scoring hit by freshman Laura Apligian in the fourth.

A Melanie Apligian home run in the sixth provided Northville's final run. Central scored two more times in the final two innings — including the first home run off Freimund this season but it wasn't enough.

Baird led the hitters by going 2-for-3 with two runs scored. Freimund allowed two hits, one earned run and no walks and registered the victory.

"It was a solid win for us," Gerlach said. "If we lost, we would have fallen three full games behind (Central) and it would have been over."

In the nightcap, Gerlach went with his second unit while the Vikings kept eight of nine starters in the game. The resulting 11-6 defeat wasn't a big surprise, but then again, it didn't

Baird helped fuel a two-run rally in the first to give the Mustangs an early lead, but it was short-lived. With Northville ahead 3-2, Central took the lead for good with three in the fourth and than put it away with two in the fifth and two more in the sixth off starter and loser Rozann Staknis. For the game, she surrendered nine hits, three walks and nine earned runs.

"Our substitutes gave it their all, but Central had too much hitting for Rozann," Gerlach said.

NORTHVILLE 7, LIVONIA FRANKLIN 0: The Mustangs took another step toward defending their WLAA Western Division title with a routine shutout win over the Patriots on May 10.

"Franklin is a decent club but for some reason, we always seem to get up and play well against them,'

Gerlach said. Northville scored a run in the first without getting a hit and then made it 4-0 with some more opportunistic play in the third. The only hit in the three-run rally came from Baird.

Another hitless inning produced a run in the fourth and then Baird

Fullback Heather Sixt (6) dribbles the ball up field for Northville

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

Northville's superiority over Novi in girls soccer continued last weekend with a 7-1 victory — but not before the undermanned Wildcats gave the Mustangs a slight scare in the first 10-minutes of play.

With mostly reserve players on the field for Northville Coach Bob Paul at the start of the game, the Novi regulars came out in a frenzy and controlled the play in the early going. About six minutes into the first half. forward Lisa Gatt took a perfect pass from Stephanie Groom and scored to put the 'Cats on top 1-0. The goal seemed to stun the seventh-ranked Mustangs. It was Gatt's team-leading seventh goal of the season, and the majority have come off a Groom assist.

Those two have been the most productive 1-2 punch we have and they seem to work well together," Novi mentor Nick Valenti said.

Midway through the half, with the Wildcats still clinging to the lead, Paul brought in his starters and the scoring barrage began. At the 23-minute mark, Shannon Loper scored off a pass from Amy Goode to make it 1-1, and five minutes later Marcie Dart notched what was to be the game winner with a tally on a clean breakaway. Loper scored again at the 30-minute mark from Karen Cavanaugh and then Ashley MacLean made it 4-1 just minutes before the end of the half on an unassisted goal

"We tried a few experiments and got everybody in the game," Paul said. "We came out a little slow and (Novi) came out very strong and

With the Northville reserves back in the game for the first half of the second period, neither team scored. But once Paul reinserted his starters, three quick goals followed. Michelle McQuaid heat four defenders with a great individual effort and scored from seven yards out on a tough

angle at the 23-minute mark for the controversial play. first, Goode scored from MacLean at the 19-minute mark for the second and Heather Sixt fed Cindy Tolstedt for the final goal with five minutes

For the game, Northville outshot Novi 12-2.

'When (Northville) started clicking late in the first half and late in the second, it really wore us down," Valenti said. "We were beaten with depth more than anything else."

NORTHVILLE 1, FARMINGTON 1: The Mustangs still haven't managed to beat any top-10 teams so far this season, but the Mustangs are certainly competitive.

On May 8, Northville managed to hold on and tie the Falcons, who entered the game ranked fourth in the state. Despite failing to win another close match with a premier squad, Paul was pleased with his team's effort

"I thought it was pretty obvious that Farmington has a little more talent and skill than we do, so I was happy to come out of it with a tie," he "I wouldn't be surprised to see (Farmington) in the state finals."

Sophomore Karen Cavanaugh was given the unenviable task of shadowing Falcon All-Stater Carrie Meier, but she rose to the occasion and shut Meier down.

'Our defense was very good," Paul said. "Our game plan was to cover them tightly and not give them room to manuever, and I thought we did an impressive job. But because of that tactic, we didn't get many chances at the offensive end.

Northville did, however, take the lead only 10-minutes into the game Dart sent a shot toward the Farmington goal from about 18-yards out but Ashley MacLean got a foot on it and redirected it into the back of the

But the lead didn't last long. The Falcons tied it on a goal by Amy Trunk just three minutes later on a

"It was a questionable goal," Paul pointed out. "One of our defensive players was knocked down and there wasn't a call. The play continued and it eventually ended up being a one-onone situation with Trunk and our goalie — Kelly Kronberg."

The score remained tied at 1-1 at halftime and neither team managed to score in the second half. "It was Kelly's first big start of the season and she did very well for us,' Paul said. "She survived a penalty shot later in the first half and that could have been the game winner for Farmington.'

NORTHVILLE 0, LIVONIA CHUR-CHILL 0: The frustration against ranked teams continued on May 10 as the Mustangs and the fifth-ranked Chargers battled to a scoreless tie.

"We played a pretty sloppy game," Paul admitted. "(Churchill) marked us very close and they were effective. I thought they wanted it a little more than we did because they were constantly beating us to the loose balls.

'It was an evenly-matched game but it shouldn't have been. I know they are ranked higher than we are but I thought we had the edge in overall talent and should have won

With each team only getting six shots on goal, it was the ultimate defensive struggle. Mustang goaltender Kristi Turner notched the shut out.

"Defensively, we were solid," Paul said. "We just didn't have the intensity on offense We could have worked a little harder.'

Northville is now 6-2-3 overall, 5-2-2 in the WLAA.

"I'm really disappointed we haven't been able to pull out any real big wins yet," Paul complained. "We lack experience to put teams away when we need to. I think we are one of the top two or three teams in the conference but we haven't been able to get the job done.'

ference in the battle with Stevenson. The newly formed Spigarelli/Bosscher duo ended up second overall at No. 1 doubles. They fell to Dearborn's David Bibbs and Whit Clay 2-6, 7-6 (7-2), 3-6 in the finals in three tough sets.

Todd Booth and Mike Mathes had a difficult draw at No. 2 and lost in the first round to the number-one seeded team. But they fought back in the consolation bracket with wins over Redford Catholic Central and Ypsilanti to take third place. Kevin Telepo and Brit Davis also placed third at No. 3 by beating Dearborn Parcina (3-6, 6-3, 6-3) in the consolation finals.

The fourth doubles team of Eric Black and Kyle Legel were Northville's fifth finalist. Wins over Monroe Catholic Central and Dearborn Fordson put them in the finals where they dropped a 1-6, 0-6 decision to Dearborn.

"It was certainly a turnaround from the Stevenson match," Norton

LIVONIA STEVENSON 7, NOR-THVILLE 0: The Spartans cruised to the easy win with seven, straight-set

"(Stevenson) is a good team, but not that good," Norton said. "I thought heading in it would be very close, probably 4-3 with the winner going either way. That certainly didn't happen. For some reason, we came out flat as a team. Everybody played poorly."

Richcreek fell to Wolff 0-6, 0-6; Reickel fell to Mike Berens 4-6, 4-6; Bosscher suffered a 4-6, 4-6 defeat to Joel Soper and Brad Telepo dropped a 3-6, 5-7 match to Joel Hemrich.

In doubles, Sigarelli and Wesley were dumped 5-7, 4-6 by Jeff Wiegel and Allan Paterson; Booth and Mathes fell to Bob Dimitriov and Matt Downed (4-6, 4-6) and the Davis/Kevin Telepo team at No. 3 was crushed by Bob Holycross and Bob Cerv (0-6, 2-6).

NORTHVILLE 7, WALLED LAKE WESTERN 0: The Mustangs started the week off with an easy win over a weak Warrior squad on May 8.

"I moved some of our guys around and we still had no trouble winning at all," Norton said. "I put Spigarelli and Wesley into the singles for the first time in their careers and they both won with ease."

Bosscher topped Jeff Hudson (6-1, 6-1) at No. 1, Spigarelli blanked Nate Stovals (6-0, 6-0) at No. 2, Wesley trounced Thanh Tran (6-0, 6-1) at No. 3 and Legel was a 6-4, 7-6 (7-1) winner at No. 4 against Jason Toboczka.

Booth and Mathes moved up to No. 1 doubles and crunched Vince Brust and J. R. Motson (6-0, 6-1), Eric Black and Jeff Flower discarded Scott Ward and Brad Stoller (6-2, 6-4) at No. 2, while Andy Hass and Jeff Todd turned back Todd Hudson and John Bull (6-0, 6-3).

Northville now heads into the MHSAA Regional Tournament this weekend in Ann Arbor with a 9-3 overall record (7-3 in the WLAA) good for a fourth-place tie).

Girls' track squad notches first victory

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

The Northville girls trackers haven't experienced this kind of dual meet success in a long, long time.

On May 9, the Mustangs won a dual meet - and actually clobbered Dearborn Heights Crestwood 90-38 in the process. It was the program's initial win of the season and the first since the middle part of the 1988 season.

"It was kind of exciting to see the girls have some success," Coach Mike Webb said. "They've been working hard and it felt good to see them happy to get that first win."

Northville registered victories in 11 of 16 events, including all four relay races. Freshmen standouts Ris Fleming and Tricia Lukomski paced the winners with two individual wins apiece. Fleming won the high jump (4'-4") and the 100 high hurdles (19.6) while Lukomski was victorious in the 100 (14.0) and the 200 (29.4).

The rest of the firsts came from Kendra Huard in the 400 (65.9), Mari Kissinger in the 800 (2:42.1), Kavitha Srirman in the mile (6:13.9), Jacque Matthews in the two-mile (13:54.4) and, of course, the relays. The 400 relay team included Lukomski, Leigh Bills, Lynda Christoph and Stacey Segoski (56.3); the winning 800 squad featured Lukomski, Huard. Heather Collins and Rachel Davis (1:57.3); the mile relay team of Angie Tune, Trish Bohm, Kissinger and Davis were winners (4:44.75) and so was the two-mile relay team of Kissinger, Angie Nelson, Matthews and Megan Holmberg (11:23).

The seconds came from Lisa Aimone in the high jump (4'-4"). Davis in the long jump (14'-7%") and the 200 (29.6), Fleming in the 300 hurdles (54.1), Cheryl Mittman in the 100 hurdles (20.1), Dawn Leland in The 400 (68.9), Nelson in the 800 (2:46.1). Matthews in the mile (6:15) and Susan Weix in the two-mile (13-

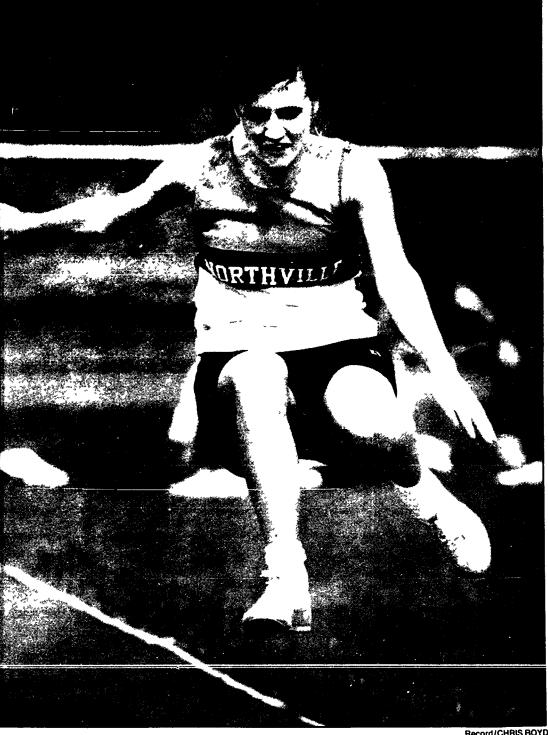

The thirds included Kissinger in The shot put (24'-111/2"), Holmberg in the discus (73'-4"), Bills in the high jump (4'-4") and the 300 hurdles (56.0), Kamal Bagga in the 100 (15.0), Christoph in the 200 (31.4), and Weix in the mile (6:18.9).

LIVONIA CHURCHILL 83, NOR-THVILLE 45: It was back to the reality of the tough WLAA on May 11.

"We scored seven more points against Churchill than we did last year, so that shows that we are improving," Webb pointed out. "The kids looked pretty good and had some good performances — we are just so young.'

The wins came from Davis in the

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

As the meet continued, things just seemed to get progressively worse for the Northville boys tracksters when they played host to Livonia Churchill on May 11 in a key WLAA Western Division showdown.

Following a solid performance in the field events, the Mustangs fell apart in the running events and eventually lost the meet 94-43. Northville was swept in the mile, the 300 intermediate hurdles and all four relay races, and that was the big difference.

"Every relay race is really a 10point swing because you get five points for a win and no points for second," Mustang Coach Dennis Faletti said. "We lost all four, and three of them were decided by less than a half-second.'

Northville managed only three firsts. Mark Kiraly kept his unbeaten string alive in the 200 with a victory, despite a stiff head-wind (23.6), Rob Walsh took the honors in the long jump (19'-64'') and Sean Starkweather won the pole vault event (11'-6")

The seconds included Chris Kuffner in the discus (128'-5"). Allen Kuljurgis in the long jump (19'-4"), Kiraly in the 100 (11.4), Steve Ventura in the 400 (55.0) and Steve Coon in the two-mile (10:40.4). The thirds came from Todd Daniels in the shot put (40'-4"), Bob Dudley in the discus for the victory. They got it.

NORTHVILLE 69, DEARBORN HEIGHTS CRESTWOOD 68: The Mustangs took a page from last season's script to beat the Chargers by a point on May 9 in a non-conference clash. Just as it was a year ago, the deciding race between these two teams was the mile relay. Heading into the event, Northville trailed by four and needed a win and five points

"It was the identical scenario last year as well," Faletti said. "Both years we won the meet in the mile relay.

The team of Walsh, Griffith, Kuljurgis and Ventura responded to the challenge by winning the race by a full six seconds, in a time of 3:37.3. The other Northville victories came from Kiraly in the 100 (11.6) and the 200 (23.7), Dudley in the discus (127'-9"), Cory Robinson in the 300 hurdles (43.5), Ventura in the 400 (54.6) and - unlike the Churchill meet - all four relay squads also won. The 400 relay team included Kiraly, Daniels, White and Miller (46.5), the 800 relay squad featured Kiraly, Miller, White and Ventura (1:35.9), the two-mile relay group included Karl Siegert, Coon, Griffith and Jon Meek (8:41.9).

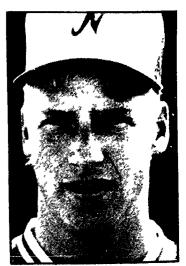

The seconds came from Walsh in the long jump (season-best 20'-1/2"), Starkweather in the pole vault (season-best 12'-1/2"), Robinson in

Mustangs of the Week

Forward Ashley MacLean - like the rest of her young teammates in the front line for the Northville soccer team - has had a lot of pressure thrust upon her to score goals and provide offensive chances. It's been a struggle at times but MacLean really came through last week and seems to be a key figure in most Mustang goals. In a 1-1 tie with third-ranked Farmington on May 8, MacLean scored Northville's lone goal by misdirecting an 18-yard drive by another sophomore — Marcie Dart. MacLean also scored an unassisted goal and fed Amy Goode for a second goal in a 7-1 triumph over Novi on May 13. For her efforts, we think 'Mustang of the Week' honors are in

RANDY JONES

For the first time in his career, senior Randy Jones contributed to to the Northville baseball squad both at the plate and on the mound. In action last week, Jones started his first-ever game as a pitcher and beat Walled Lake Central 6-4. He went seven innings, struck out three, walked seven; allowed four earned runs and scattered four hits. At the plate, Jones went 5-for-17 in five games with a double, a run scored and two stolen bases to lead the Mustangs to wins in three of those games. For the great all-around effort, Jones has been named a 'Mustang of the Week.' He is currently batting .304 this season with a .580 on base percentage.

New system measures fat content

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

Health conscious residents looking to firm and tone their bodies can measure the amount of fat and muscle content in their bodies through a new system offered at the American Family Care Center in Livonia.

The system, called electrolipography, determines how much of your weight is fat and how much is lean body mass and water, according to Care Center Muscle Therapist Francis George George said the machine gives pa-tients more information on their bodies and "with better education comes better treatment.

Care Center Director Dr. Joseph George said the machine tells people what their percentage of fat is and what it should be.

"By knowing what their fat content is and should be, people can lose ex-cess weight and maintain a healthy amount of fat," George said.

George noted there are three parts to the system: a diagnostic analyzer, a computerized printer and the electrolipograph. He said a complete study takes about ten minutes, while the patient lies on an examining table.

Two electrical leads are placed on the wrist and the top of the foot while the patient rests on the table, George

He added that an evaluation of the person's overall health risk factors are automatically printed out in a three-to-five page clinical prescription for the physician's review.

"Optimal body composition is critical since it correlates to a person's overall state of health and is an early indicator of potentially serious health complications,"George said.

Prior to the electrolipograph machine, George said hydrostatic tanks were used to determine a person's muscle-to-fat ratio.

He said the individual had to be submerged under water and then was asked to expel all of the air from his lungs, which was difficult for some people.

George added that results from the tests tended to vary from tank to tank and technician to technician.

"The (electrolipograph) system is portable and simple to operate with statistically accurate and reliable results...," George said.

and 25 percent, with a fat content over 25 percent being too high.

For men, George said the average fat content is between 10 and 20 percent. She said that having a lat content below 10 percent is unhealthy for most people.

For person's with too high a fat content, George said the Care Center offers insight into the Medifast diet

She said the diet is primarily a liquid plan with four daily servings of a mineral and nutrient liquid and also one meal per day.

She said the total caloric intake for the Medifast diet is approximately 850 calories per day, with no fat at all allowed in the plan.

Dr. George said an electrolipograph test costs about $25. An appointment is needed. Center hours are 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Saturday and 12 p.m. to 6 p.m. on Sundays and Holidays.

Cancer patients need support from friends

By CLAUDIA KRAUS PIPER, ACSW

According to the American Cancer Society, 5 million Americans alive today have or once had cancer, and an estimated 985,000 Americans will be diagnosed with cancer in 1988.

Given these satistics, it is likely that most people will know someone with cancer, if they do not already. Although most of us first think of ourselves or a family member when we hear these numbers, if a friend, neighbor, colleague, boss, employee or teacher were diagnosed with cancer, it would affect us greatly. There are many resources to help patients and family members cope with this situation, but friends and acquaintances are often unsure of what is expected of them.

Many cancer patients have said that friends just don't know what to do or how to act around them once they have been diagnosed with cancer. Friends want to help but are afraid to do or say something that is not helpful. Yet, support and caring from friends can make a major difference in a cancer patient's sense of well-being. THe following are a few things cancer patients said they would like their friends to know.

One woman confided, "Although most of my friends were just great, some were so worried about me that I ended up consoling them rather than the other way around!" Cancer patients often find themselves educating consoling and supporting their friends and families. This is exhausting and feels like an unnecessary burden.

A woman with a diagnosis of breast cancer whose mammogram appeared normal explained this phenomenon. She said it was clear that her friend was "freaked out" by this diagnosis when the friend said, "If they didn't see your cancer on the mammogram, how can I be sure I don't have it too?"

When a friend is diagnosed with cancer, it is natural to worry about that person, and also to feel personally threatened and vulnerable. If you find yourself "freaked out" by a friend's cancer rather than simply concerned, the likelihood is that you are feeling vulnerable about your own health. Once you are aware of your fears, it is best to attend to them elsewhere. See your doctor if you need to. Then let your friend lean on you, rather than the other way

Another woman bitterly said, 'Some of our friends have completely avoided my husband and me since he got cancer. He is devastated, and I am angry!" This is a very common occurrence. Friends who are afraid to say the "wrong" thing often simply stay away. They don't realize that just when a cancer patient is trying to resume living, this can make him feel as if he were being counted among the dead! Even a card, or a brief note letting the person know you are thinking about him will make a big difference.

Some people are afraid to tell anyone that they have cancer because they will be treated differently. "It's as if I've lost my old identity, and now they see me mainly as a cancer patient. I wish people wouldn't be afraid to talk to me about normal things. I'm still the same person, except that I have cancer.' Some people think that talking about other things besides the cancer would be insensitive. One the contrary, as long as the person with cancer knows that she can talk about it freely if she chooses, it is usually a relief to talk about and do other things.

What was most helpful to people with cancer? Several people felt that being given room and support to meet their own needs was most important. If they wanted to talk withdraw or cry, they were allowed to do that without feeling judged. Others felt the most important thing was for their friends to remain op-timistic and "up," helping them regain hope when it was eluding their

One woman was very specific. "The most wonderful thing was when a group of women from my club organized a driving pool to take me to my radiation treatments. Every day for six weeks someone was at my house at 9 a.m. to pick me up. That was one thing I didn't have to worry

"Most iraportant of all," said one women, "was my friends willingness to keep a sense of humor. Humor is part of living. After all, as somebody once said, "the last thing we have to worry about is dying.'

Buying a Home

Home prices are soaring in many U.S. cities today. The American Dream jumped as much as 20 percent in some parts of Massachusetts and California in a recent one-year period.

Is it too late to buy?

Not if you're already a home owner. More likely than not, even if you've done nothing but keep your home immaculate, its value has increased greatly — providing you with enough equity to purchase a house hundreds of thousands of dollars more valuable than your current home.

But what should a first-time home buyer do in today's hot market?

We put that question to one of the smartest, toughest real estate investors in the United States today — real estate expert John T. Reed.

For starters, find a real estate agent you feel comfortable with, who doesn't hustle you or reel off platitudes like "a home is one of the last great tax shelters," stresses Reed. "Homes have tax benefits," snaps Reed, but mainly you want it to appreciate and turn hard dollar profits someday, not just protect you from the tax collector.

Next, buy a single-family house, not a condominium, even if you have to stretch to make the payments, advises Reed. "Condos stink," he says bluntly. "My research has found that condos are often falling in value . . . at a time when (single tamily home properties) are going up."

Why? Reed says a lot of the problems are behind the scenes, unknown to first-time buyers and hardly ever discussed by real estate agents. "Typically, condos have far more than their share of litigation, usually over construction details, and with the condo association screaming at the top of its lungs, that (legal) cloud hurts prices (and turns off buyers once they wise up)."

Plus, it's a myth, says Reed, that condos are easier to finance than single-family houses. "Lenders have to study an enormous batch of documents — 50 to 100 pages of rules and regulations that effect the (entire) condo project. The FHA will not loan on condos where more than 25 percent of the units are owned by investors who are not occupants." Stick with single-family homes if you can at all afford to, he adds.

Beware of the emotional factors in home buying and don't let it frighten you from taking advantage of a great deal, he cautions. "For the typical first-time home buyer, purchasing a home is an enormous increase in risk," explains Reed. As renters, they may have a fat bank account and a $600 to $1,000 monthly "housing expense."

"Buying empties their bank account and doubles or triples their housing cost. and that scares the hell out of people because it's such a dramatic change in their life."

Normal reaction? Couples argue, get buyer's remorse and want to back out of the deal, says Reed. But the smart ones hang in and six months later "they've forgotten all their fears." The bottom line: It's OK to get emotional.

Reed's other tips: You — the home buyers who have been shopping a lot of houses - "are the best property appraisers on earth" because you know market prices while some sellers don't and underprice their own home. If you spot a great value in this hot market, offer the full price and the seller may be "thrilled to death" and say yes. "I've been in this business 19 years and have paid full asking price three times because it was worth it," he notes.

If you feel there will be three other fullprice offers, bid over the asking price if the house meets all your criteria, says

While many home owners opt for adjustable-rate mortgages, Reed feels signing one is playing "financial Russian

"I think a lot of home buyers will be foreclosed upon when interest rates go up." Stick with a fixed-rate mortgage and stay put."

On the other hand, Jim Palda, president of The Mortgage Group Inc., believes that adjustable-rate mortgages make more sense than fixed 30-year mortgages for many buyers.

"Over the next three to five years, you'll be better off," he predicts.

But Dennis Casey, vice president and group manager for retail lending at $14billion-asset Home Savings, isn't so sure. "It varies on a case-by-case basis, and it also varies on the rate environment," he says.

Casey advises prospective home buyers to be cautious about appraisals. Just as the public more and more seeks a second opinion in making important medical decisions, he urges getting a second appraisal on a megabucks house.

"If I had any doubts about the value of the appraised home, especially if I thought the appraisal was a little on the high side, I wouldn't hesitate to order another appraisal," he says.

The added cost? Maybe $250 to $350.

"It's cheap, when you consider what you're going to be putting up for a potential down payment," he says.

Help from Pros

It's handy to be handy.

But what if you have nither the time nor the inclination to take on home improvement and repair projects?

Call in the experts. No matter what ails your abode, there is someone who can improve or fix it.

And here's a bonus — big projects, such as room additions or remodeled kitchens, add significantly to the value of your residence.

Even small projects, such as painting, carpeting and wallpapering, pay daily dividends in terms of the pride and pleasure you have in your home.

Don't be hasty. Take time to choose the home improvement professionals you'll be working with. Look for those who enjoy detail work and consider themselves craftsmen.

To make sure a contractor is reliable and responsible, check credentials and licenses and find out how long he or she has been in business.

Ask for references. Call or visit a few past clients. Check for complaints with your local consumers affairs office and local branch of the Better Business Bureau.

Obtain bids from several professionals but don't assume that the lowest bidder is best. Put your agreement in writing, and once the job begins, try to avoid making changes.

Know what you want and how much you're prepared to spend. (If you don't know, how will the contractor?)

Read magazine articles and visit your chitects, builders, contractors and possibly subcontractors, cost estimators, construction foremen and coordinators.

If you're planning a certain kind of addition, tour your community to see who has done something similar. Knock on doors. Most people are eager to share their experiences, and you'll soon find out the names of the best contactors in your area.

Be sure the builder you select will give your job priority and not rush through it on his way to the next one. Make an appointment to see his crews in action. Establish trust, the quickest path to mutual respect.

CARPET INSTALLERS

"Choose a carpeting dealer who will have an installer exactly measure and diagram your house," advises Lou DeGroot, a 40-year veteran of the carpeting industry.

DeGroot says to watch out for carpeting businesses that ask for room measurements and take a guess at the carpeting needed.

"Measuring in advance allows the installer to be absolutely accurate, and you don't end up paying for more carpeting than is actually needed."

KITCHEN DESIGNERS

A Certified Kitcher Designer (CKD) or a member of the National Ktichen and Bath Association (NKBA) can help you evaluate your needs and create the kitchen or bathroom that complements your lifestyle.

These professionals keep abreast of what's new and available in materials and equipment and have a wealth of experience to draw on. Many of them can coordinate the entire remodeling process.

You'll view their work and have an opportunity to meet them as you visit kitchen and bath showrooms in your area.

INTERIOR DESIGNERS

Experienced decorators have an eye for scale, color and room arranging. They are experts at accessorizing, and they know where to buy the best sofas and refrigerators wholesale.

They usually have access to furnishings you can't find in retail stores. And they're skilled in dealing with contractors, as well as following up on all the details in the remodeling process.

Hunt for the designer who is right for you by visiting model homes and designer show houses. Ask your favorite antique shop or home furnishings retailer for recommendations — some of the larger ones have decorators on staff.

You also can get recommendations from reputable design schools and local chapters of the American Society of Interior Designers.

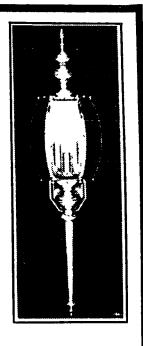

PAINTERS

The best lead toward finding a good painter is a first-hand recommendation. Talk to a friend or neighbor who has had a similar job done. Ask about job quality, cost, reliability, cleanliness and attention to details.

Solicit names from construction and real estate professionals. Ask for references from local architects, builders, carpenters, lumber and building supply dealers and mortgage bankers. Build a list of professionals whom you will later interview and ask for bids.

Doing it Yourself

On your mark, get set, do it yourself!

New tools, books and videos make your job easier than ever. Here's a sampling, you'll find them in bookstores, video retailers, hardware and department stores.

TOOLS

☐ Foam paint applicators eliminate brush marks — they're also cheaper (and therefore more disposable) than regular paint brushes.

 \Box Home air compressors and air tools, once the exclusive domain of professional carpenters, contractors and mechanics, are becoming the hot new tool for do-ityourselfers.

☐ New dial-a-bit screwdrivers have six bits housed in a barrel on the shaft. No more hunting for the right-size. Phillips or the small flathead — they're all in one tool. BOOKS

☐ "Building Your Own Home: A Step-By-Step Guide," by Wasfi Youssef (John Wiley & Sons). The author is a consultant structural engineer with a Ph.D. in civil engineering; the book is written for laypeople as well as professional builders.

☐ "Trade Secrets," by Gene Schnaser (Rodale Press). A collection of tricks, hints and shortcuts from professionals and amateurs about using tools, painting, plumbing and other home how-to topics.

☐ "The Complete Illustrated Guide to Everything Sold In Hardware Stores," by Tom Philbin and Steve Ettlinger (Macmillan). This 432-page partially illustrated manual identifies almost everything in, under or on a home that might come from a hardware store or home center — plus tips on what the item is used for. VIDEOS

☐ "The Do-It-Yourself Home Improvement Series." A collection of home improvement tapes taken from "Time-Life" broadcasts on PBS. Each is accompanied by an 8- to 16-page booklet. Titles include "Attic Conversion," "Basic Carpentry," "Exterior Projects," "Floors and Ceilings," "Furniture Refinishing," "Kitchen Cabinets" and more.

The difference is the Peachtree tradition. Peachtree brings to these new windows the same high standards you've always found in Peachtree doors.

• Energy-efficient. Peachtree's innovative use of nonconductive material and insulating glass assures maximum insulation. Single plane weatherstripping and a wind/water seal minimize air infiltration.

• Easy care. A unique hardware design allows easy access for washing inside and out. Optional wood grills are removable. Exteriors are maintenance-free prefinished aluminum.

• Versatility. Modular sizing allows all of our models to be combined in an infinite variety of coordinated arrangements.

High Tech

Space-saving appliances are especially popular this year as an ever-increasing number of us become more concerned with compact and uncluttered living.

To note a few:

☐ Hand mixers and all their attachments that mount on the wall for recharging.

☐ Full-sized blenders whose containers fit neatly over the lengthened motor base.

□ Compact, portable ovenettes, perfect for cramped kitchens.

Smart remote appliances allow themselves to be programmed by individual remotes, thus combining the systems into one handy control center.

You can choose from familiar names such as Song, Technics, Memorex and Hitachi, but be careful to select one that can learn from the equipment you already have.

You'll find variations of ease as well. Technics offers a user-friendly LCD readout while others require a degree in computer science to operate.

If you're wondering where the consumer electronics industry will lead us next, wonder no more. Home automation is the ultimate goal. Through a master panel, your heating/air-conditioning system, lights, appliances and entertainment system will be operable, all linked through your home's electrical system.

Bring the Touchtone phone into the picture, and from your car phone you can direct the microwave oven to prepare dinner, set the spa temperatrue and begin the sprinkler system.

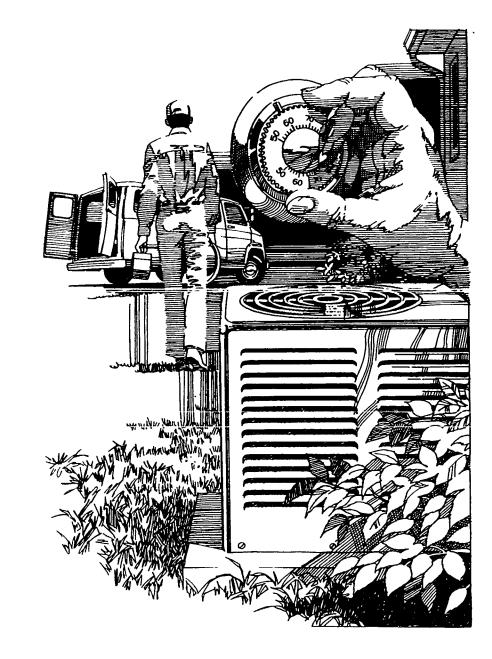

In the meantime, the electric utility industry has launched a cooperative initiative, the Electric Smart House Project, to develop technology for highly intelligent and energy-efficient home use of electricity.

The technology will make use of a pioneering new way of home wiring that combines microelectronic controllers with a single set of wires to carry electric power, data and audio/video signals.

The same sensor that detects an intruder will also turn off the lights.

Further advances in the field of homesafety technology are appearing in burglar alarm systems. Magnetic-switch sensors are used to detect the opening of doors and windows. Sounding an alarm within the home, it also sends an alarm signal to the central monitoring station.

Two basic types of interior devices are used for area protection in the home.

Passive infrared detectors send out "fingers" of infrared energy and sense any change in room temperature caused by the movement of a body through the protected area. These PIR detectors can be aimed high enough to prevent being set off by wandering house pets.

Ultransonic detectors consist of a transmitter and receiver and send out ultrasonic, inaudible sound waves. If the sound wave is interrupted by an object, it will set off the alarm.

Recent advances in security systems allow greater flexibility. Home owners can bypass a window they'd like to keep open for fresh air.

Additional features of state-of-the-art home security systems now include:

☐ Exterior alarm light to discourage home owners from entering a house if the alarm has been tripped.

☐ Synthesized voice instruction for ease of operation.

Noted financial authority Sylvia Porter recommends home owners spend 2 percent of the total value of their home and the possessions they want to protect for a system.

With today's technology, fire detection devices can be intergrated into your security system.

The elderly, handicapped or people with medical problesm benefit from a home security system by carrying a wireless, hand-held, push-button transmitter. When activated, it will send an alarm to the central monitoring station to summon help.

Other safety measures for home owners include new testing technology to detect radon. For a nominal fee, people can test their home for this colorless, odorless gas that occurs naturally in soil and seeps into our homes.

Insurance

Insuring your home and all its insides is one of the smarter moves you'll make.

Standard policies today require that coverage equal 80 percent of the replacement value of your home (sometimes 90 percent is required).

Three basic components in the traditional policy include perils, building contents and liabilities. The actual structure is protected against loss due to vandalism, fire, wind and theft, as are the contents of the house.

Liability coverage protects you against legal suits resulting from injuries that occur on your property.

In any event, when a claim is made, the insurance company will subtract your deductible, then reimburse you the difference.

If you live in an earthquake- or floodprone area, many of today's policies offer appropriate coverage at additional cost.

You might also consider replacement coverage that, for anywhere between 10 percent and 50 percent above the cost of standard coverage, guarantees the home owner enough money to replace the lost items rather than a depreciated version of

Here are some suggestions to keep in mind when considering insurance policies.

☐ Many don't realize that home owner's insurance needs to be upgraded periodically to take into account renovation and high-cost additions to your belongings. Make a detailed inventory of all your possessions and update it frequently. Include photographs and video footage, if possible, and keep all this in a safety deposit box.

☐ Keep in mind that your house is most likely appreciating in value. Some policies have a built-in inflaction guard so the yearly premium is calculated on a higher replacement value. Develop a rapport with your agent so you're comfortable discussing your ongoing needs.

□Don't overinsure your house since the insurer, in any case, will only pay the actual or replacement cost.

Make your home as theft- and fire-safe as possible to avoid the inevitable hassles related to filing and realizing a claim.

Window Magic

In the movie "Housekeeping," the young heroine is described as spending too much time lost in a dream world gazing out windows. There could be worse maladies.

Windows have a fascination all their own. They can frame fantastic vistas or small mise en scenes that are secretive and known only to the viewer.

A really good window connects with something special outside — an expanse of rolling green hillsides, some pounding surf with boats in the distance, mountain peaks poking their tops skyward, bursts of brilliantly colored flowers in a garden or some interesting street life nearby.

Lately, a lot of small windows carved out high on walls near ceilings take a minimalist point of view. The eye catches only a swatch of pure blue sky.

These windows take on a purely pictorial sense. You don't need paintings in a room with them. They are the paintings—seascapes, landscapes and still lifes framed of their own accord within an architectural definition.

Even a cynic such as Max Beerbohn found particular fascination in windows as objets d'art. He wrote euphorically:

"There is much virtue in a window. It is to a human being as a frame to a painting, as proscenium to a play, as form to literature. It strongly defines its content."

Because windows connect interiors with the outside, they also are seasonal. A winter wonderland melts into a fragrant cherry orchard. A good window is never static.

Good windows, particularly those planned as special architectural design features, don't need window treatments.

Nor do many period windows. Decking them with yards of fabric almost always detracts severely from their own historic beauty.

Instead of traditional heavy drapery fabric, consider some other directions.

Plain white cotton muslin, for instance, can be pleated or gathered at the top, attached to a rod and pulled to the side for a soft, draped effect that still allows a room to be bathed in light. A large arched window can lend itself most readily to this kind of treatment.

Another minimal window treatment that partically adds privacy and provides a decorative element is the placement of lines of small flower bouquets in interestingly shaped glass bottles or vases along sills and ledges.

One of my own favorite window treatments is in an old Tudor-style house where the owner regularly positions little terra-cotta pots of brightly colored geraniums in arrangements along the thick beveled glass.

Also, how about a revival of bead curtains? These once-popular decorators' tools allowed translucent veils of beads to transform windows into glistening gems rivaling Scheherazade. Bead curtains, available by the yard in a variety of colors, also can be artistically combined with lace, ribbon or flower garland to novel effect.

The most important factor in any dressing is to be sure the treatment truly enhances the window instead of covering it up.

Beware of trying to "modernize" a house by updating the windows.

There are many awful examples of older Craftsman-style houses that have had original double-hung sash windows replaced with louvers or covered with incongruous aluminum screens.

If the existing windows are beyond repair, the replacements should be as close to the original as possible to maintain the aesthetic harmony of the house.

When houses have historic architectural worth, it is unforgivable to destroy the facade with windows that are of the wrong size, shape or material.

If you don't like a particular window from the way it appears on the exterior, consider altering it with some simple tricks.

Very small windows can be made to seem larger just by painting the frames white so they stand out against the darker brick, wood or stucco exterior of the house.

Kitchens & Baths

How are we spending our remodeling dollars on the kitchen and bathroom? Here's a round-up of the newest designs and products.

Yellow ktichens and pink bathrooms are out, and white is in. If you can't live with white, accent with a primary color. Otherwise, it's pale gray (teamed with black, peach or jade) or almond.

Kitchen designs are big and look more like work centers and family rooms than past designs.

European high-tech ideas are the strongest new look and Wilsonart has perfected its faux marble and granite laminate counters to include factory-built decorative counter edges, which previously were constructed by the installer, says Wilsonart representative Ron Wood. The benefit, he continues, is speed and price.

The country look is still available, but for the '90s it's more sophisticated with elegant dark cherry woods or bleached oak and pine topped with contemporary countertops and Eurostyle faucets and hardward.

The L-shaped kitchen is still a popular floor plan, but look for islands to contain extra sinks and work space, as well as eating areas. Televisions, phones, microwaves, computers and popcorn poppers are now built-in under the top cabinets, allowing a maximum of counter space.

A third generation to those old white Corningware stovetops, modern ranges are called cooktops and come with a newer, more heat-effective black glass top that can be installed over almost any counter.

The buzzwords for the cooktops of the '90s are induction, downdraft, solid disk and quartz halogen.

Induction cooktops use magnetic waves instead of conventional heat, and the pot gets hot but not the counter. The catch is that you must use iron or steel pots.

Down-draft refers to the exhaust system that eliminates the need for an overhead hood.

The solid disk cooking system is a European idea with American emphasis on easy-cleaning appliances. The disks are sealed to the glass surface, and automatic sensors control cooking temperature. The system uses any kind of cookware and has the advantages, and the disadvantages, of cast-iron cooking.

And quartz halogen, the wonder stove of the year, uses neon-like tubes that generate a very intense, red-hot light (the burner actually glows red) that cooks the food as fast and easily as gas without the mess of a traditional gas stove.

Among the higher profile cooktop manufacturers are Amana, which calls its entry for the '90s InstaGlow. The cooktop features a cooking system with a black glass top over three star-shaped heating elements that have instant-response coils and one quartz halogen heating element designed to give rapid heat. Benefits are easy cleanup, quick heating and use of any cookware.

General Electric, which calls its line Monogram, offers several styles of cooktops, including gas, electric heat, solid disks, induction cooking and the down-draft cooking systems.

European models include the British Solarspeed Ceramic Cooktop. It has two halogen elements and a solid plate electric cooktop with a fine porcelain finish over two sealed elements, one temperature-sensing element and three fast-cooking elements.

The West German company Miele offers stainless-steel cooktops with solid disk heating systems, ceramic cooktops covering automatic cooking zones and high-speed zones for a variety of coookware sizes.

Miele's gourmet Combiset System integrates electric, gas and ceramic top units plus a grill built over a water bath to remove all cooking odors and provide a rising steam to keep meat tender.

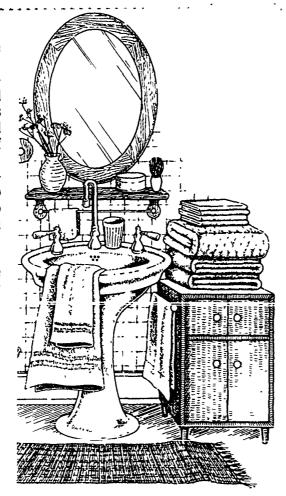

For the rest of the kitchen appliances, the key word is "invisible." Most are built-in and covered with wood (either bleached oak or Euorpean lacquer) or a sheet of black glass, but they usually blend in with the decor.

Details to look for in refrigerators include night-lights, water and ice dispensers and doors with pullout shelves that make it easy to pull out meat and vegetable drawers for cleaning.

Dishwashers have been updated and have shelves that can be moved to accommoodate large pots and pans, but the star is by Miele, which features three tiers instead of the usual two, with a tray for flatware on the top.

Ovens tend to be conventional, convectional and microwave, and General Electric combines all three for the serious chef.

You'll still see white porcelain and stainless-steel sinks in the kitchen, but companies such as Corian by DuPont are designing drop-in sinks that look like they and the counters are one unit (without the standard metal rim or tile grouting around the sink).

It's very tactile. People want to touch it, explains Jim Bechtold, a Corian spokesman who adds that the marblelooking material, invisible seams and inlay designs created by injecting liquid Corian into solid Corian are part of the new international look Americans are bathroom.

Also showing European flair are sinks with a beveled drain board on one side (for drying one's imported crystal) and Corian counters with built-in lights along its edges. This company now offers customers matching faucets in goldtrimmed Corian by Pacific Faucet with matching switch plates for kitchens, as well as bathrooms.

In the past five years, gold (actually brass-plated) faucets were the rage, but now it's a futuristic white or red faucet that's running hot and cold at the sink.

One of the trend setters in this category is a $400 model by KWC of Switzerland that features a single-level faucet with anti-scald temperature restrictors, builtin noise reducers, and a pop-up pullout two-flow function hand sprayer and a drip-free design that's guaranteed for 20

Another European company, Hansgrohe, makes its sleek faucets in red, white, yellow, black and chrome with similar features. Pop-up hand sprayers and single-level styles are standard equipment, and they feature color-matched hoses that don't twist because of a ballbearing design. Shower heads are selfcleaning with a variety of jet sprays available.

For those who still like separate hotand-cold water faucets in gold or chrome, you'll find them, but instead of decorative fish and swans, the looks is short, square and squatty faucet handles with a nononsense attitude.

The bathroom is either streamlined in the European manner or lavish and decafavoring in the kitchen; as well as the dent in the European manner: Take your pick.

Go for a spare-and-square shape toilet that flushes with the touch of a button on the top, a sensuous black with gold-fleck design that matches the tub, sink and bidet. Or turn your powder room into a French court with gilt and baroque designs, assure that early American bathrooms (and kitchens) are passe.

At the Italian Giorgio display, pedestral sinks were trimmed in gold and designed with dainty floral or art deco designs costing up to $3,700 each.

And at the Laufen display was a white procelain bidet for $798 that was shaped like a crouching lion. Called the Nautilus, the 100-year-old Austrian design also is available in matching pedestal sinks and oak-lidded toilets, says Jim Cassidy of Laufen. Also new, he adds, is a matte finish on the traditionally shiny ceramic toilet or sink.

Tubs continue to work as spas, often sunken or raised on a platform with steps. Old-fashioned footed tubs continue to be among the unusual, especially in red with gold feet.

Newer styles look like granite or marble and are gray to match contemporary cabinetry and flooring.

Huge mirrors in the bathroom continue to be popular over the sink area, and lights and fixtures such as toothbrush and soap holders often are fastened directly onto the mirror in red or white to match the faucets.

Flower Finesse

Their roses win prizes, and their flower beds are always filled with color and heady fragrance, giving the neighborhood spring fever all year round.

They easily rattle off the names of 20 new varieties they just ordered from the seed catalogs, and have already mapped out their floral yard show for next season with color-coded precision.

You, on the other hand, are struggling to keep your one-and-only petunia plant perky.

What's their secret?

Any great gardener will tell you it's all in the timing. A lot of planning goes into creating a harmony of flowers that blossom at just the right time. That symphony, they'll say, can begin only after the novice understands the gardener's basic three — perennials, annuals and bulbs.

Perennials are to a garden as a classic blazer is to a wardrobe — they are mainstays that appear year after year. Sprouting from permanent roots in early spring and flowering the late spring, summer or autumn, perennials lie dormant for most of the winter, only to bloom again

In most cases, bulbs fall into the perennial category, but what sets them apart is the "packaging." Rather than sprouting from seed, a bulb's bud lies in the heart of its swollen, underground stem and is sur rounded by a food supply and a protective coating. It lies dormant through the spring, summer and, in a few cases, fall.

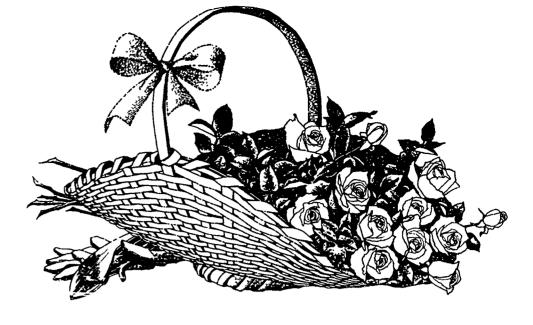

Annuals, on the other hand, are much more fleeting, spending most of their short lives in bloom. Sprouting from seed, they bloom rapidly for several months, then die.

Known for their knock-'em-out colors, bulbs such as tulips and daffodils, for instance, often stand in the spotlight in rock gardens and containers.

Most gardeners choose early spring to late summer annuals and perennials, with their "second" season for winter annuals

Spring-flowering bulbs, meanwhile, go in the ground during early fall, and summer-flowering varieties from mid-to late spring.

But there's more than seasonal succession involved in good gardening. It also takes an eye for placing the right flower in the right spot.

Some, for instance, thrive in sunlight, while others require shade. Many tolerate dry locations, but their counterparts demand heavy watering.

There also are those varieties that must be planted in hanging baskets, containers or alongside the tomatoes in the vegetable patch. And, in every situation, sizes and shapes must be combined with artistic, imaginative flair.

But details notwithstanding, flower green leaves.

gardening is more popular than ever, according to a recent Gallup survey, especially with those varieties that boast beauty, yet are easy to care for.

□ Daylily: A new flower opens every morning through this blossom's blooming period. These perennials are undemanding, reliable and almost indestructible.

☐ Salvia: The red spikes of this annual create a striking contrast with its dark green leaves.

Flower Lore

There's more to a flower than just its fragrance. Each has its own legend, superstition and story, with many as magical as the blossoms themselves.

Following are a few examples, taken from "Garden Flower Folklore" by Laura C. Martin (Globe Pequot Press):

1) Pansy. Long associated with love, the Celts made tea from dried pansy leaves and used its as a love potion. The name pansy comes from the French word, pensee, which means thought. This name was given many centuries ago because the French believed the pansy could make one's lover think of him or her.

1) Sweet Pea. Superstition holds that if you sow the seeds of a sweet pea before sunrise on St. Patrick's Day, you will end up with larger, more fragrant blossoms. Its genus name, Lathyrus, derives from the Greek work for pulse.

13 Lily. A symbol of majesty, the lily has been beloved by both princes and paupers throughout the world. This flower is often mentioned in Greek and Roman mythologies and in legends from China and Japan.

Poppy. In Europe, country girls played a fortune-telling game with poppies. A girl would place a poppy petal in her lover's hand, then hit it with the edge of her own hand. If she heard a loud popping noise, that meant he was true to her. Silence, on the other hand, would reveal unfaithfulness.

☐ Cosmos. The name of this flower is derived from the Greek word that means "ordered universe." It was given to the plant because of its simple balance of blossoms. Spanish priets were believed to have grown cosmos in their gardens as symbols of harmony.

Forget-Me-Not. According to legend, this flower was named after an angel fell in love with a mortal woman. He was exiled and told he could return only if he placed the flower in every corner of the world. His beloved helped him, and so moved was St. Peter by their devotion that he allowed both to enter heaven.

[] Impatiens. Edward Bach, an early 20th century physician, often prescribed a concoction made of the oil of pink impatiens mixed with brandy. He believe it would help those who were overanxious or irritable.

Garden Gadgets

Watch serious gardeners and you'll notice an almost ritualistic approach to their tools.

Whether they use a few selected tools for everthing or have an impressive collection, carefully arranged according to size and function, they believe that the right tools certainly contribute to growing prize-winning roses or the fattest tomatoes in the county.

"Most gardeners have a close relationship with their tools, even though that relationship can take different forms," says Barbara Damrosch in "Garden Primer" (Workman Publishing).

The first thing to keep in mind when shopping for tools is that you get what you

"If you buy a cheap tool, chances are the handle will break or the working end will bend or fall off," says Damrosch. "Paying a lot of money for something does not always guarantee that you'll get quality, but with tools, more often than not it does."

Happily, you won't break the bank on quality basic tools. Trowels run $5 to $15; rakes and hoes cost $15 to $30, and a good electric trimmer shouldn't put you out selection of basic tools makes the work more than $75. And the investment should last for years, if you keep it in good condi-

For gardeners who habitually lose tools (they get swept away with the trimmings or find their way into the neighbor's yard), Damrosch recommends painting the handles a bright color.

Bright blue or purple is preferable to green, which hides in the grass, or red or yellow, which gets lost among autumn leaves.

THE BASICS

Obviously you don't need to buy every tool on the market. But having a good easier.

The most basic collection includes a hoe or two, a trowel, a rake, an electric hedge trimmer and a two-wheel cart or wheelbarrow.

Damrosch suggests thinking about your tool collection in terms of function. Start with a very basic collection, and you'll find that your tools can serve more than one function. Buy more specialized tools, such as a bulb planter, as the need arises.

For digging, planting and soil work, stock up on trowels, spades, pitchforks, spading forks and shovels.

For weeding, use a hand-held dandelion weeder and a hand fork for small tasks. Hoes, which come in a number of different shapes, take care of big jobs.

Maintenance tools include rakes. These range in shape from the familiar fanshaped lawn rake with flexible talons to the simple bow rake.

Pruning tools also are key players in garden maintenance. And they come in a number of specialty shapes and sizes. Long-handled lopping and hedge shears handle big jobs — pruning trees and hedges.

For smaller chores, such as cleaning up odd twigs and small branches, use handheld shears or branch cutters. Flower and fruit shears are perfect when you need something more delicate.

GARDEN POWER

Lawn mowers are the most common type of power equipment in the home owner's gardening arsenal. What type of mower you use — walk-behind or ride-on — depends on how much lawn there is to mow.

Gas-powered walk-behind mowers are best for lawns of a half-acre or less.

Look for one that is lightweight and maneuverable. A rear-bagger system to collect clippings keeps the lawn free of debris. One convenient option to look for is a blade rake clutch, which allows you to stop the blades without cutting off the motor.

Prices for self-propelled walk-behind mowers range from $250 to more than $600 according to a recent issue of

For lawns of more than half an acre, a ride-on mower or lawn tractor is in order. You can mow three-quarters of an acre in an hour on a riding mower.

Make sure the one you buy is stable on hills and corners, maneuverable and quiet. The controls should be easy to reach. Always take a lawn tractor for a test drive, just as you would a car.

However, the convenient luxury of a lawn tractor doesn't come cheaply. Most models start at about $2,000.

Another increasingly popular power tool is the power blower, which acts as a motorized rake or broom.

"A power blower's roar may not endear you to your neighbors, but a blower can spare you a lot of time and sore muscles." says Consumers Reports.

Prices for blowers range from $50 for the battery-operated variety to $200 for gas-powered units.

SIDEBAR TO GARDEN GADGETS

You gaze at your yard, now a neglected wasteland of weeds and overgrown shrubs, and envision an idyllic oasis of colorful flowers, manicured lawns and maybe even a reflecting pool.

But you lack the green thumb and design know-how to plan and maintain such a pretty patch.

Instead of abandoning your dream, turn to garden experts to make it come true.

If you want to plan an entire outdoor environment, complete with walkways, decks, artfully arranged rocks and a pond, you'll need to consult with a land-scape architect. Landscape architects are qualified to design decks and are trained like regular architects.

Your best bet for finding a landscape architect is through recommendations or through the local chapter of the American Society of Landscape Architects.

If you need help with really big jobs — planting trees or seeding a lawn or installing a patio — contact a landscape contractor. They are the ones who carry out the plans created by the landscape architect.

Yard Perfection

A lovely yard adds a little bit of heaven to a home.

It is filled with sun, sweet scents and a rainbow of muted colors. There are areas for rest and play in light and shade, and paths worth walking daily.

On the other hand, a diseased or weedchoked yard is your worst nightmare.

Fortunately, thanks to modern science combined with the wisdom of lawn and garden care experts, anyone can avoid disaster and create paradise.

The most effective way to ensure the success of your yard is proper planning. Before you start digging holes, consult a landscape architect.

A professional can save you money and headaches from the very beginning. Not to mention the problems you'll avoid in the long run.

And, according to a survey conducted by the National Gardening Association, new buyers estimate that landscaping adds 15 percent to the value of their homes.

A hot new concept in landscape design

"YOU ALWAYS GET WHAT YOU PAY FOR..."

That old bromide has become one of the great lies of the century. Too frequently what appears to be a great bargain can be a great rip off. It's true with many things including clothes that fall apart after one washing.

Like clothes, not all kitchen and bath cabinets are created equal. That's why you should visit our KSI Showrooms. We will start by demonstrating the solid oak double-dowelled frame in Merillat Cabinets. Simply put, that feature produces precision alignment for perfect that feature produces precision alignment for perfect squareness and long-lasting durability to resist twisting and sagging.

You will see that you get everything you pay for as well as the custom look without the custom price tag in all Merillat Cabinets.

"Architects can show their clients how any building — like a house — will look after it has new landscaping," says Gary Galpin of Los Angeles-based New Image Design System.

The technique is similar to computer imaging used by hairstylists to show clients how they'll look with a new cut or color.

Few landscape items enhance a home more than a lush, emerald green lawn. But lawn care is an art in itself. To prepare the soil, select the right grass and keep it weed-free and thriving, you need a lawn care expert, or you need to become one yourself. Fortunately, bookstores stock many lawn reference books — a new one ideal for the novice is "Building A Healthy Lawn" by Stuart Franklin (Garden Way Publishing).

The trend in areas subject to drought is less lawn, more hard scape. Stone paths, walls, patios, decks, overheads and steps may cost more to install initially, but they need no water and are easy to maintain.

Boulders add beauty to landscape, and some contractors can provide man-made ones that look so real you can't tell the difference. These can be custom-made to fit your yard and blend in with their surroundings.

Gravel and crushed rock are other popular options, particularly for areas that require drainage. Beds planted with flowers and shrubs also need less water than lawns.

Landscape designers note that more and more clients are asking for yards

designed for privacy. They provide it with drought-resistant perimeter plantings such as oleander, pittosporum, bottlebrush, podocarpus and privet.

If too much water is a problem, consider raised beds or wood planes. The advantage of planters is that they can be built in almost any shape and size and can go nearly anywhere.

Drought or not, keep a layer of mulch over the soil that your plants grow in. Sunset magazine recommends shredded bark; it looks natural, decomposes slowly and has irregular pieces that interlock.

Buy plants from a well-established nursery that guarantees its plants and grows much of its own stock. It can be a tiny nursery or a large one; the most important thing is the quality of its plants.

Garden clubs and plant societies are also good places to swap plants and knowledge with other gardeners.

If you haven't visited a large nursery lately, you're in for a treat. Many stock newly developed plants that are ornamental as well as hardy. Among theses are Japanese Blood Grass (also known as Red Baron'') with striking red foliage. Gardening experts suggest you place it where it will receive backlighting during the day.

Other newcomers include a coldtolerant ice plant with purple daisy-like flowers and a new hedge plant, Hines Gold Euronymous, that has eye-catching yellow-gold leaves and dark green

Another thought is to plant trees that bear fruit and flowers. Cherry trees are a gorgeous summer delight. So are orange are Got an unsightly wall or other ugly oband lemon trees.

If your soil is poor, don't despair. Your nursery or garden center stocks porous, rich soil conditioners (some of them are so good they're patented) in which grasses, flowering plants and shrubs will all grow and prosper.

The best prevention for weeds is to keep lawns and ground covers healthy. But if weeds are a problem, you can control them easily with a herbicide (Betasan, Dacthal or Pendimethalin) you apply before the weeds germinate.

To be effective, however, it has to be applied between mid-August and the first of September.

'ject in your yard? Plant a flowering vine

-. such as, wisteria or polygonum -- to cover it. Spring is the best time to get a vine started; by fall, the eyesore will be completely disguised.

You don't need a magic wand to create an enchanted garden full of living sculptures. In fact, you don't even need a garden.

"Modern topiary provides so many areas of expression," says Deborah Reich, co-author of "The Complete Book of Topiary" (Workman).

"It can add symmetry to your home with standards on each side of the fireplace, whimsy to your back yard with a portable teddy bear, beauty to your tabletop with a moss-covered mock topiary."

It used to take years to train a plant to grow into a recognizable animal or geometric shape. Today, the process is much quicker with the use of wire frames.

Tabletop topiary can be as easy as putting a frame in a pot, stuffing the frame with sphagnum moss and then using fine florist wire to cover it with sheet moss. You add ivy or a flowering plant to accent the piece — and you have your own portable topiary.

Outdoor topiary also enjoys a newfound appeal, according to Reich and co-author Barbara Gallup, since most of us have to make our gardens compact and interesting in a limited space.

Reich and Gallup's book suggests dozens of topiary designs both large and small — from peacocks to dinosaurs. You can attempt just about any design, say the authors, but keep in mind that a sharp angle and small details are difficult to work with.
