

Nicklaus or Trevino golf course possible

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

Golf courses designed by legends Jack Nicklaus and Lee Trevino are slated to be included in two of the 12 proposals submitted today by developers interested in acquiring 1,040 acres of Wayne County-owned land in Northville Township.

Gilbert "Buzz" Silverman, of Holtzman-Silverman Development in Farmington Hills, said his firm is teaming with Nicklaus-Sierra Development Corp to have the golf star not only design an 18-hole course, but own part of the community as well.

Meanwhile, Gary Roberts of Robert DeMattia Co. in Plymouth, said his firm has included in its proposal an 18-hole course designed by Lee Trevino.

County business developer Bill Wild said the request for proposals (RFPs) from the 12 developers currently being considered for the project, are due today.

Wild said he cannot comment on any part of the proposals until the county has officially received all of them.

Silverman, co-chairman of Holtzman and Silverman, said his firm is making a proposal to Wayne County for the purchase of the county-owned land, located between Five and Six Mile Road on both the east and west side of Sheldon.

"Our development concept would be a master planned golf community which we have shown to the township supervisor, planning director, attorney and clerk," Silverman said, adding he believes township officials gave him a favorable response to the plan.

Township Supervisor Georgina Goss said she met with Holtzman and Silverman officials on May 25 and added she is excited by their proposal.

Silverman said that in addition to the 7,000 yard championship golf course, his plan includes five types of residential housing and some commercial development.

He noted that beside designing the golf course, Nicklaus would be a partner in the entire community.

"Jack Nicklaus has designed hundreds of courses, but only owns six."

Silverman said Nicklaus chose his firm as a partner in the community "because of the quality of our work. They (Nicklaus-Sierra) feel their community will fit in nicely with the township."

Admitting he is cautiously optimistic that his proposal will be accepted by the county, Silverman said another member of his team includes commercial developer Duke & Associates of Indianapolis.

"We feel the township has given us the indication we're headed in a favorable direction," he added.

However, officials from R.A. DeMattia Co., said they have also met with and received a favorable response from township officials on their proposal.

Roberts, a vice-president in charge of development, said their proposal includes residential housing, research and development buildings and an 18-hole championship golf course.

"The course will be designed by Lee Trevino, who at this point is the Search is on for manager

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

The search for a new township manager is on in Northville, following board approval last Thursday of a report submitted by an ad-hoc committee studying the position.

The township board commissioned the five-member committee, chaired by former supervisor Betty Lennox, last January to study and evaluate the manager position since its inception in 1981.

Lennox introduced the committee's report to the board by outlining its findings and recommendations. Some of their recommendations include: administrative and operational issues should be handled by the manager under the authority of the supervisor, the manager position should be considered a "long term growth" position, and the starting salary should be increased to between $35,000 and $45,000.

Board members unanimously approved the committee's findings and instructed temporary office manager James Graham to advertise the position in trade publications.

In one instance however, the board decided not to take the committee's recommendation. Rather than define the manager position by ordinance per the committee's suggestion, the board voted to establish the position by resolution.

Township Attorney Ernest Essad said if the position was established by ordinance, the only way to change or modify it would be through amending the ordinance.

Essad said establishing the position through ordinance gives the Fairer taxes on business sought

Seriously under-valued property in downtown Northville has led city officials to consider a new method for assessing.

In Northville, all property assessments are done by the appropriate county. A memo from the city's board of review reports that Wayne County has assessed commercial property lower than what it should be.

That situation has spurred officials to consider a full-blown reassessment by a private firm next year for all commercial property. After that, the city may consider the same thing for residential land.

By law, an assessed value should be 50 percent of the true market value. The board of review compiled sales data which showed many commercial properties selling for "well

Ford manufacturing set to end this Friday

After years of closing rumors, one temporary shutdown, a reopening, union conflicts, new closing announcements, delays, and countless worries about what will happen to the ducks, the Northville Ford Plant is supposed to close for good tomorrow.

Friday, June 9 is still scheduled as the last day for manufacturing operations at the Main Street Northville plant, which has been assembling gas tanks for the last several years. For most of its life, the plant manufactured valves.

Ford spokesperson John Spelch said Friday is still scheduled as the last day of operations. The hourly workers are transferring to other plants or retiring.

After the end of manufacturing,

PCBs found on soccer field

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

A high amount of polychlorinated biphenyl (PCB) contamination has been found on a soccer field on Wayne County owned land in Northville Township, according to Wayne County health officials.

The site of the contamination is located on the east side of Sheldon Road between Five and Six Mile roads.

In an interview on Tuesday, Glenn Brown, director of the Wayne County Department of Environmental Health, said soil tests done last week on the soccer field show a PCB level of 12 parts per million.

Brown said the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) standard is 10 parts per million of PCBs. He added the county is currently trying to confirm the test results on the soccer field.

Brown said the testing of the site was done by Transformer Inspection Retrofill. He added he does not know the amount of area effected by the contamination at this time.

Anyone who participated in activities on the field is "very unlikely" to see any effects of the contamination, Brown said.

"My suggestion is that the risk is negligible," Brown said. "And if anyone was contaminated or seeing symptoms they would already know about it."

Wayne County Health Department Medical Director Donald Lawrenchuk said earlier that PCBs are an occupational health problem which can cause skin rash, swelling, nausea and gastrointestinal distress.

Building contamination tested

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

Tests recently taken on at least two buildings on Wayne County-owned land in Northville show a very high level of polychlorinated biphenyl (PCB), county health officials said Tuesday.

Glenn Brown, director of the Wayne County Environmental Health Department, said samples taken from five electrical transformers have shown high PCB levels.

Brown said soil samples taken from an electrical transformer on the west side of Sheldon near the township fire station have shown PCBs to be present.

He added high PCB levels were found near one building on the east side of Sheldon between Five and Six Mile roads, as well. A reading of 104 parts per million of PCBs was discovered near one building.

Township Police Chief Ken Hardesty said earlier that the PCBs were exposed by trespassers tipping over transformers and spilling oil onto the ground. PCBs apparently are mixed with the oil.

The oil spilled from the transformer was found by township police Wednesday, May 10 during a routine investigation of a trespassing complaint on the county land, Hardesty said.

Brown said testing and some clean up on the site has been conducted by Transformer Inspection Retrofill, an independent contractor. He said at least five transformers and three circuit breakers have been found to contain varying amounts of PCBs.

In addition, Brown said the floor of one of the buildings has been identified as having some spillage containing PCBs. He noted some clean up of the building has begun.

Brown said the contractor will be conducting follow up testing on the site to confirm previous results. He said no cleaning plan has been put into place "until the situation is evaluated."

After already spending "thousands of dollars" to clean up the site, Brown said the results of the follow up tests will determine the extent and cost of the clean up plan.

As for the possible PCB soil contamination, Brown said he is very confident that since PCBs don't move in the soil, the problem will be isolated.

"I don't know the size of the contaminated area, but I do know that it is nominal and not widespread," he said.

Saloon appeals 25-day closing

By BOB NEEDHAM

The Starting Gate Saloon last week appealed a 25-day shutdown ordered as the result of a cocaine sale at the bar.

In an appeal hearing before the state Liquor Control Commission Thursday, representatives of the Starting Gate fought a 25-day liquor license suspension which Commissioner Alex Laggis handed down in November.

The case grew out of the 1987 arrest of a waitress at the bar for selling a quarter gram of cocaine to three off-duty state police troopers from the Northville post. The waitress, Barbara Jackman, pled guilty to possession with intent to deliver a controlled substance.

At the appeal hearing last week, attorneys for Mary and James Ray — owners of the Starting Gate — emphasized the couple's good track record and the fact that they knew nothing of the cocaine sale until reading about it in the Record.

Jackman was arrested in October after selling a quarter gram of cocaine in a cocktail napkin to the troopers. They had become suspicious when witnessing another alleged drug transaction involving Jackman while they were in the bar.

John Carlin, an attorney for the Rays, said at the hearing that the Rays were not present at the bar the night of the cocaine sale because it was Mary Ray's birthday.

Another attorney for the owners, Norman Farhat, said the state police never notified the couple of the arrest. They did not find out about it until the Record published a report of Jackman's plea in December, almost

Menu selections to change for Jaycees Fourth of July barbecue

The Fourth of July barbecue will not have the traditional barbecued chicken this year.

However, the rest of the day's traditional events in Northville — the parade, the fireworks, and the barbecue itself — are still planned. Health department restrictions are forcing the Northville Jaycees to give up the traditional chicken offering at the barbecue, celebration organizer Teresa Folino told the city council last week. The Jaycees are tentatively planning on hot dogs, sausages and bratwurst, and possibly steak, Folino said

The Jaycees are hoping that weather permits the fireworks display to be held this year. Last year's was cancelled because of the drought.

As in the past, the day will start with the parade. Participants should line up in the Northville Downs parking lot at 8:30 a.m. The route is unchanged: Griswold to Main, Main to Rogers, Rogers to Cady, Cady to Wing, Wing to Fairbrook, across Center and back to the track. The parade is expected to end about 11:15 a.m. The judging booth will be in front of Northville City Hall.

The barbecue is set for 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Mill Race Historical Village. The Jaycees will run the concessions.

Weather permitting, fireworks are scheduled at dusk. Parking will be available at Northville High School, Amerman Elementary and Cooke School. Parking will open at 6 p.m. and cost $1.

The Jaycees are again asking the township and city to share the $5,200 cost of the fireworks display.

NEWS BRIEFS

DEPARTMENT OF ADDITIONS — In the PTA News published on May 25 in the Record, a name was deleted from the winners of the Silver Springs checker tournament sponsored by the student council. Aaron Surma was the overall winner for the first grade in checkers.

SIGN ORDINANCE SESSION — Northville city officials are scheduled to continue discussions of a proposed sign ordinance overhaul in a special meeting Monday.

City council members, planning commissioners, and historic district commissioners are invited to the session at 8 p.m. Monday at Northville City Hall. The meeting will continue earlier discussions of a new sign ordinance which the planning commission has approved.

As proposed, the ordinance would greatly reduce the permitted size and height of signs throughout the city. It would also limit the amount of information permitted on any sign.

The meeting is open to the public.

SMOKE BUT NO FIRE — A report of smoke in a downtown business Saturday turned out to be the fault of an old fluorescent light fixture.

The city fire department responded to a report of smoke at the Little People Shoppe Saturday morning. The problem turned out to be with the ballast used in an aging light fixture, Fire Chief Jim Allen said. The fire fighters corrected the problem.

Such fixtures can often cause smoking problems, Allen said.

STREET PLAN APPROVED — The formal plan to upgrade Oakland County roads was endorsed by the Northville City Council last week.

The Oakland County Road Commission has released a new master plan for county rights-of-way, and has asked local governments to formally support the proposal. The plan does include some significant changes, but none are near Northville.

VOLUNTEERS WANTED — The Northville Public Library is looking for volunteers for its effort to index back issues of the Northville Record.

Anyone who thinks it might be interesting to read old hometown newspapers is welcome on the indexing team. Call the library at 349-3020.

LANGUAGE AT THE LIBRARY — Northville Public Library's Adult Book Display will feature Dewey decimal numbers 400-499 during June.

In this section, readers will find books on foreign languages, word and phrase origin, speed reading and spelling hints. This month's display will include such titles as Indian Talk; Hand Signals of the American Indian, The Joy of Signing, Dictionary of American Slang, and Japanese in Plain English.

Tooth News

by Dr. Rob Hyland

Q. Why do I need root canal treatment?
A. It's the only way to save a tooth when the pulp, which contains the nerve ends and blood vessels, is diseased or damaged. A common reason for most root canal treatment is an infected or abscessed tooth. This may result from a deep cavity, disease or even a fractured tooth. In addition, a sharp blow to the tooth can interfere with the blood supply or damage the pulp. Symptoms may include pain, or sensitivity to hot or cold foods. But don't be unconcerned if pain disappears - that could mean the nerve has died. Treatment involves making a small opening in the crown of the tooth to remove the pulp from the root. The root canal will be cleaned thoroughly and then medicated to prevent another infection. When all trace of infection is gone, the space will be filled with a rubber-like material. Finally, your tooth will probably need a crown.

Township officials pursue county land

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

Township officials said last Thursday, June 1, they are pursuing a 60-acre parcel of land on the northeast corner of Sheldon Road and Six Mile.

Trustee James Nowka said the land, which is currently owned by former township resident Frieda Haller, is being considered for community use.

Nowka said possible uses for the land include: a new township administration building, a recreational complex and a library site.

"Mrs. Haller lived in Northville Township for several years before moving to Lichtenstein," Nowka said. "There aren't many pieces of property not tied up one way or another, so I contacted her about eight months ago on its availability."

Nowka said Haller was willing to listen to ideas from the township and added a meeting was held last month between himself, Haller and Township Treasurer Richard Henningsen.

"Richard (Henningsen) and I met with her and found that she is willing to listen to a proposal from the township," he said. "She also said she has many real estate people interested in the land."

To organize their proposal, the township board voted 5-1 to commission Donald DiComo to prepare a developed site plan, inset elevations and an estimated value of the site. The board set a $3,000 limit for completion of the study.

"This area is a beautiful, rolling gateway to the city," Nowka said, adding the site is of ideal size to develop a community center "in an attractive way."

Township Supervisor Georgina Goss said acquiring the land would be a great asset to the recreation department, the township government and the community as a whole.

Goss added she feels the land would be an ideal place for a civic center and recreational complex.

Nowka said the land has previously been appraised at between $6,200 and $6,500 per acre. He said any township purchase and development of the land would have to be approved by a vote of the people.

Goss said she is not yet concerned about funding the project, since it is still in the tentative stages. She added funding will be discussed when the price of the property is determined.

Nowka said the site plan and proposal will be made to Haller, who currently lives in Arizona, as soon as possible.

"We have a desperate need for property for community use."

Ford wagon reported stolen from Meijer parking lot

A 1985 Ford Club Wagon worth $8,000 was reported stolen from the Meijer parking lot on Saturday, May 29 between 9:30 and 10:05 a.m.

The complainant said his car was stolen after he parked it at the shopping center and went inside.

Police said they found no broken glass in the area and the complainant said he is unsure whether the car was locked.

GAS STATION BREAK-IN — The Mobil gas station on Eight Mile and Taft was broken into Sunday night, but nothing was stolen, according to a city police report.

The entry took place between 10:30 p.m. Sunday and 6 a.m. Monday. Someone came in through an unlocked bathroom, then knocked a hole in a cement block wall to get into the station, the report said. Nothing appeared stolen.

Police are continuing to investigate the incident.

EIGHT / CENTER ACCIDENTS — There were two accidents at the corner of Eight Mile and Center streets Saturday, according to city police reports.

The signal was malfunctioning Saturday. At about 9:55 a.m., a Northville resident northbound on Center drove through the light when it was flashing red, according to one report. The driver hit a Romulus resident driving on Eight Mile.

No injuries were reported.

At 12:17 that afternoon, another accident occurred as a county work crew was repairing the signal. A Warren resident was northbound on Center and started through on the green light, but the bad signal quickly changed to red, the report said. A South Lyon resident on Eight Mile immediately started into the intersection and hit the other driver.

The South Lyon resident was ticketed for not wearing a seat belt. No injuries were reported.

MORGAN THEFTS — City police recorded two reports of thefts from Morgan Circle the night of May 28, according to police reports.

At 5 a.m. May 29, a resident heard a noise and woke up to find a $200 telescope missing from an unlocked sunporch.

Some time during the same night, another Morgan resident had a briefcase stolen from the back seat of an unlocked car. The briefcase contained some papers which were later found partly burned in a dumpster at Cooke School.

WINDOWS SHOT — Two windows on an Allen Drive home were shot with what looked like a BB gun last week, according to a city police report.

Two three-by-five-foot storm windows were shot May 30. The residents heard a noise about 10:30 that night, the report said.

BREAK-INS ATTEMPTED — Donna's Flowers on Novi Road was the victim of two apparent break-in attempts on consecutive nights, according to a city police report.

Between 6:30 p.m. May 30 and 9 a.m. the next morning, a door handle and lock were pried from the back door of the store. The same thing had happened the previous night, the report said.

The store did not appear to be entered.

TAPE DECK STOLEN — A $300 cassette stereo was stolen from a car parked on Randolph last week, according to a city police report.

Between 8 a.m. last Wednesday and 9:30 the next morning, a car was broken into by someone breaking a vent window. A JVC stereo cassette player / radio was reported missing.

WALKMAN TAKEN — Another radio was reported stolen from a car last week as well.

The night of May 28 or morning of the 29th, someone smashed a window on a car on S. Wing, a police report said. A black Sony Walkman radio was taken.

Damage was estimated at $90; the radio was tagged at $35.

EIGHT MILE / NOVI ACCIDENT — A Plymouth resident was ticketed for failure to stop with an assured clear distance ahead after rear-ending a Novi resident on Eight Mile last week.

The Novi resident was stopped for the light at Eight Mile Road when the car behind ran into it, a police report said. No injuries were reported.

FUZZBUSTER STOLEN — A radar detector was taken from a car parked at McDonald Ford last week, according to a city police report.

Between May 26 and May 30, a five-pound rock was thrown through a window of the vehicle. The radar detector was taken from under the seat.

FENDER-BENDERS — At least two automobile accidents were reported by township police over the past week.

A two-car accident occurred Friday, May 26 at 11:20 p.m. on Northville Road near Seven Mile. The driver of car one said he was northbound on Northville Road and the traffic light was green at Seven Mile. He said he hit the rear of car two. The driver of car two said she was northbound on Northville Road and stopped for the red light at Seven Mile and was hit by car one. The driver of car one was issued a ticket for failing to stop within an assured clear distance ahead.

A two-car accident occurred Sunday, May 28 at 8:20 p.m. on Franklin Road near Mill Street. The driver of car one said he was southbound on Franklin going 45 mph, when he observed car two backing out of the drive. The driver of car one said his rear brakes weren't working and he hit car two. The driver of car two said she backed out of the drive and saw car one going fast and was hit by car one. Police said they found skid marks from car one that were 99 feet long. The driver of car one was issued a ticket for speeding in a residential area.

DRUNK DRIVING ROUNDUP — At least four drivers were ticketed for operating a motor vehicle under the influence of liquor (OUIL) by city and township police over the past week.

A Northville resident was stopped for OUIL on Saturday, May 27 on Northville Road after crossing over the center line and weaving near Five Mile Road. After failing all field sobriety tests, the driver registered a blood alcohol level of .11 percent. The driver was charged with OUIL, held in jail and released on $100 bond. He faces a June 29, 9 a.m. 35th district court date.

Township police stopped a Novi resident on Saturday, May 27 on Haggerty Road after the driver failed to stop for a red light on northbound Haggerty. Police said the driver went through the light at about 30-35 mph. After failing all field sobriety tests, the driver registered a blood alcohol level of .16 percent. The driver was charged with OUIL, held in jail and released on $100 bond. He faces a June 29, 9 a.m. 35th district court date.

A California resident was stopped by township police on Monday, May 29 at 2:51 a.m. on Seven Mile Road near Northville Road. Police said they were parked at Mobil Gas Station on the corner of Seven Mile and Northville when they heard a car accelerate quickly. Police said they followed the subject east on Seven Mile and paced it going 65-70 mph in a 45 mph zone and pulled the driver over. After failing all field sobriety tests, the driver registered a blood alcohol level of .14 percent. In Michigan, .10 is OUIL. The driver was charged with OUIL, held in jail and released on $100 bond.

A Lansing resident was ticketed for OUIL by township police on Monday, May 29 at 1:28 a.m. on Northville Road near Seven Mile. Police said they were following the subject northbound on Northville Road when they observed him weaving in his lane. Police said they also saw him cross the center lane and pulled him over as he passed Seven Mile Road. After failing all field sobriety tests, the driver registered a blood alcohol level of .16 percent. The driver was charged with OUIL, held in jail and released on $60 bond. He faces a June 29, 9 a.m. 35th district court date.

Starting Gate Saloon owners appeal order to shut down three months after the arrest, he said.

"Mrs. Ray was reading the newspaper," he said. "That was the first time Mrs. Ray knew any employee at her establishment had engaged in any trafficking of narcotics."

Farhat said Mary Ray had fired Jackman in the meantime for completely unrelated reasons. If the Rays had known of anyone in their employ dealing drugs, "they would have been discharged immediately," he said.

"An employee did sell a quarter gram of cocaine. There's no way you can get around that," Farhat said. But he asked if a 25-day liquor license suspension is an appropriate punishment "when, ironically, Ms. Jackman received three months probation. I submit no ... A 25-day suspension under these circumstances, to me, is unwarranted and severe."

Richard Rubin, the lawyer from the state attorney general's office who is prosecuting the case, said the 25-day suspension sentence is justified.

"I'm not so sure there's anything severe about this punishment," he said, adding that it sends a message to liquor license holders that they "better watch what's going on in this place."

Farhat said a state police investigation tried, and failed, to show that the Starting Gate was a source of illegal drugs. "I submit that this place was not a source. Barbara Jackman may have been a source, but not the establishment," he said.

Carlin added, "I find it absolutely incredible that they could come in and say, 'Oh, yeah, this is a source of narcotics. It's simply not true.'"

The Rays' record as liquor license holders in several locations was also a major part of the appeal. Carlin said they only had one other violation on the record, a citation at a different location, in 1984, for being occupied after hours.

"They've obviously proven to you they don't run a crummy operation. They run a clean operation," Carlin said.

Rubin countered that an employee selling drugs is a clear violation, and that the rules are in place to protect the public.

"She (Jackman) didn't care who she was doing business with," he said. "My only surprise is Commissioner Laggis didn't revoke (the license)." The 25-day sentence obviously took into account the Rays' good record, he added.

Commissioner Wallace Warner said the appeal panel would take the arguments under advisement and issue a decision in a week or two.

Farhat said the Rays only lost the original hearing in November because of a schedule mix-up. They did not know of the hearing and had no one present to represent them, he said.

Both defense attorneys mentioned the turnaround in the establishment since the Rays bought the old Winner's Circle bar, which Farhat called "probably one of the roughest bars in the suburbs."

One girl dies and another is injured in car accident

By MIKE MCGILLEN

LYON TOWNSHIP — Ten-year-old Adrian Dedes died shortly after 8 a.m. Friday after she and her sister Lauren, 7, were struck by an automobile as they were waiting for a school bus on Ten Mile.

The accident occurred just east of Chubb Road in Lyon Township, according to deputies of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

Adrian was a fifth grader at Salem Elementary School in the South Lyon School District. Funeral services were held at the Casterline Funeral Home in Northville on Tuesday.

The Dedes family has many close ties with the Northville community. The paternal grandparents of the children live in Northville. Toni Genitti, a family friend, noted that Adrian was indeed "a special little person." Genitti said that Adrian's mother said it best at the funeral service when she noted that her daughter was like a flower bud that had not been given a chance to bloom.

"She was just a wonderful little girl. A special, determined little girl," Genitti said. She remembered when Mike Dedes, Adrian's father, did the original work on the first Hole-in-the-Wall restaurant in Northville. "Adrian sat on the edge of the wheelbarrow and watched her daddy work."

An Oakland County sheriff deputy documents the accident scene, east of Chubb Road in Lyon Township.

Donations for the Dedes family are being accepted through St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Northville. For more information contact Joy Mack at St. Paul's at 349-3140.

"The preliminary investigation indicates that the girls stepped into the westbound lane of Ten Mile where they were struck by the car," said Sgt. Edward Pirozek of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department investigating the accident.

Adrian apparently died immediately after the car struck her. She was pronounced dead on arrival at the University of Michigan

Hospital in Ann Arbor after being transported by Survival Flight, according to police reports.

Relatives transported Lauren to the University of Michigan Hospital where she was treated for a broken collarbone and released.

The girls were walking on the north shoulder of Ten Mile as the school bus approached the stop, Pirozek said.

Deputies questioned the 19-year-old male of Wixom driving the automobile that struck the girls and his 18-year-old male passenger of Milford.

"There were no eyewitnesses to the accident other than the two people in the car. Several people saw bits and pieces of it, but only those in the car saw the whole thing. They said the girls stepped into their path. I have no reason to dispute what they said," said Deputy John Kress, who is investigating the accident on behalf of the sheriff's department.

"We still have to talk to some witnesses, but right now there are no charges against the driver," said Pirozek.

The vehicle that struck the girls traveled near the posted speed limit of 50 mph. Alcohol was not a factor in the accident, Pirozek said.

The six children who board the bus at the stop have been given specific instructions on approaching the bus, according to Jeanne Asch, transportation supervisor of South Lyon Community Schools.

"Four come from the south, and Adrian and Lauren come from the north. They have to cross the street to get on the bus. They have been instructed not to cross the street until the bus completely stops and the driver gives them a signal," said Asch.

Asch expressed doubt that the children failed to follow the instructions they had been told repeatedly.

"In my heart, no, I don't believe that the kids went into the road. The elementary kids are expected to stay on their own side until the flashers come on and then wait for the signal," Asch said.

"The kids have been instructed and re-instructed to stay on their own side of the road," added Asch.

Teachers, counselors and school administrators assisted with support efforts for the Salem Elementary classmates of the Dedes children.

"We had a center in the library for the children to come talk and work out their feelings. We have been through training for a crisis plan," said Thomas Judit, principal of Salem Elementary School.

Many children took advantage of the crisis plan initiated at the school, according to Marshall Forstot, assistant superintendent for pupil services.

"The kids could go to class, come to the library or meet outside if they wanted to," Forstot said.

The program instituted at Salem allowed students and teachers to "do away with rumors and express their feelings and emotions," said Forstot.

Forstot praised the efforts of the crisis team.

"I'm very pleased with the staff... they're working together with the children very well. It is an unfortunate experience to have lived, but it has been handled with respect, integrity and gentleness," added Forstot.

"The kids here all know each other. Many of the children spent time drawing get-well cards for Lauren," Forstot said.

Green thumbs

Students show off gardening talent

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

Students from Silver Springs Elementary showed off their green thumbs last Thursday, as Cub Scouts, Girls Scouts/Brownies and student council members planted over 900 flowers around the school.

According to PTA member Val Troschinetz, the idea for the "flower planting" came from her husband, Silver Springs groundskeeper David Troschinetz.

"David came up with idea to keep the gardens here maintained and build school spirit," Mrs. Troschinetz said.

The idea seems to be working. "This is pretty fun and it makes the school look nice," said Andrew Riebling, a second grader at Silver Springs.

"I really like digging out the dirt too," he added.

Camarie King, a fifth grader at Silver Springs, said her Girl Scout troop is taking part in the planting to fulfill a service project requirement for her group.

Nonetheless, King said she enjoys beautifying her school in the project.

"This project makes the school look good for the students and people who visit it as well," she said.

In addition to planting flowers around Silver Springs, Troschinetz said students will be responsible for watering and weeding their garden over the summer.

"These kids have adopted their own gardens and plan on maintaining them over the summer," she said, adding the money needed to buy the flowers and dirt came through fundraisers.

"When this project is done, a plaque will be put in each garden for a full year," Troschinetz said.

King said she lives near the school and plans on taking care of her garden over what could be a long, hot summer.

"I'm hoping that other people who live near the school will also look after their gardens," she added.

Besides the gardens, Troschinetz said the student groups also created a 20 foot berm in front of the school's sign.

"This type of project develops school pride even at a young age," Troschinetz said. "It also is teaching the students a lot about handiwork, plants and how to work together."

Mary Dozier, a Cub Scout den mother, said she hopes the project, which is in its first year, will become a yearly event at Silver Springs.

"This type of project is important for kids," Dozier said. "It teaches them to appreciate nature and develop pride in themselves."

Ford plant set to close its doors tomorrow scheduled to be given to the Northville Planning Commission Tuesday night. Ford Land Development is under no obligation to follow the results of the study, although they have told city officials they will consider its results.

"The report is basically done, except for the protocol of sharing it with them (Ford) first," Northville City Manager Steve Walters said Mon-

The plant is one of Henry Ford's "village industry" plants, an industrial experiment designed to provide an anchor employer for small towns.

Members of the Northville Rouge River clean-up crew work at removing debris by the ball diamond near Fish Hatchery

Record/ANN WILLIS

Rouge Rescue sees about 70 workers

About 70 people turned out in Northville to clean up the Rouge River Saturday, and once again, the day was counted a success.

Among other, more pedestrian debris, the Rouge Rescue clean-up effort this year netted three picnic tables and one old bicycle. Workers from both the township and city split up into two work crews, one near the ball diamond near Seven Mile and Hines Drive, and the other farther downstream along Northville Road.

This was a slight change in plans; the original idea was to tackle a series of logjams along Northville Road between Five Mile and Six Mile.

"Last week's and the week before's rains raised the (river) level," Northville Community Recreation Director John Anderson said. "Some of the things that I think were logjams in Northville are now logjams in Plymouth, unless they got them out with their Rouge Rescue."

In spite of some equipment breakdowns, the day was a success, Anderson said. "Our success in cleaning up what we had intended to do was probably about 90 percent."

"The river right now is doing what the Rouge Rescue is designed to do: get rid of the logjams so the water can more or less cleanse itself," he said.

"I was very pleased with the turnout," Anderson said. "It was really a nice mix of people. A lot of people worked side by side that had never met each other, and coming back on the bus they sounded like old friends."

The effort was aided by donations of time and equipment from Mountain Top Green Ridge Tree Service, and by food from the Dandy Gander, the Pizza Cutter and Northville Crossing.

"It's a good effort," Anderson concluded.

course architect and operator of the golf facility," Roberts said.

He noted Trevino's company, which is based in Dallas, has an "outstanding portfolio" of designs. "Lee's firm is very innovative in golf course design."

Goss said township officials have only met with the two development groups.

She added that either proposal would "be an asset to the Northville community. Both proposals were exciting and innovative."

Other developers currently being considered for the project include:

Biltmore Properties Corp.; J.D. Blain, Inc.; Charter Development Co.; Farman/Stein & Co.; LoPatin & Co.; Pulte Home Corp.; Schostak Brothers & Co.; J. & J. Slavik Inc.; Trammell Crow Co.; and Victor International Corp.

Wild has said he believes it will take the county about 60 days to work through the plans and added an agreement should be reached between the county and a developer sometime in late August or early September.

On Tuesday, June 6, the Township Planning Commission met to discuss a mini-master plan of the county land site.

City applies for grants to fix three bridges

Three bridges in the city may receive grant money for repairs.

The bridge on Beal Avenue at the race track, the bridge on Rural Hill Drive and the bridge on Old Novi Road just above Baseline are the only three bridges in the city large enough to qualify for federal and state repair money, according to a memo from the city engineers. All three could use repair, the memo says.

The city has applied to the Michigan Department of Transportation for grant money to fix all three of the bridges, although the money the city applied for is not likely to be available. However, there may be other grant money for which the city could apply, the memo says.

The city applied for:

- Deck replacement for the Beal bridge, including demolition and reconstruction. Total estimated cost is $101,000.

- Deck replacement, rail replacement, approach repair and substructure repair for the Old Novi Road bridge. Total cost is estimated at $85,295.

- Rail system replacement for the Rural Hill bridge. Cost is estimated at $4,950.

City Manager Steve Walters told the council last week that federal highway money earmarked for bridge grants will probably not be available until the 1991 fiscal year at the earliest. However, some state grant money could be available on the basis of federal funds being unavailable, he explained.

The Burden Of Being Overweight
Isn't Something
You Have To Face Alone.

If you have a health problem, where do you turn for help? We are specially TRAINED DOCTORS who are offering the MEDIFAST® Weight Control Program.

Our professional supervision means you will lose weight quickly and SAFELY. The benefits are immediate improvements in your health and appearance.

Through the right combination of physician supervision, supplemented fasting, and behavior modification, your ideal weight will be easily achieved and maintained.

You know how frustrating it is to lose weight on your own, don't do it alone - call us today. We're ready to help you.

A.J. (In Memory of Adrian DeYoung)

You were so young and with us for such a short while. We will miss your laughter and beautiful smile. Your memory will always be with us over the years. The love will shine on and dry up our tears. Life to us is not always fair. But in our hearts you will remain forever there. We will miss you sweetheart each passing day, but the love of knowing that you are with God will brighten us up and show us the way. We will miss you!

Ad-hoc committee extends power of manager position

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

Although the impact of the ad-hoc committee's study of the township manager position may not become apparent until someone is hired to fill the job, committee members said they feel they have strengthened the position.

The committee's list of recommendations were approved by the township board at a special meeting last Thursday.

"The committee felt the (manager) position didn't have any authority, which weakened it severely," said committee chairperson Betty Lennox.

"People didn't know who to report to previously and the committee felt there needs to be better coordination between all activities," Lennox added.

Some of the committee's recommendations for the position include: administrative and operational issues should be handled by the township manager, the manager should report directly to the supervisor and the delegation of responsibility must be clearly communicated to all office personnel.

"If the person in the position is to succeed and do the job the township needs, we feel he or she must have the authority to do it," Lennox said.

Lennox said the committee-proposed township manager position will include more authority than any of the three previous township managers.

Township Supervisor Georgina Goss said she thinks the position will "be very much the same as it has been in the past."

"The only difference that I see is that the committee recommended a higher salary and a little more experience from the individual," Goss said.

She added the manager will be the individual to whom all department heads report and will be responsible for the daily function of the township government.

Goss said the position will be immediately posted in local publications as well as trade magazines. She added the last day for receiving resumes for the manager slot will be July 15.

"We will begin interviewing candidates immediately after that and hopefully we'll have the position filled by mid-August," she noted.

Since the township manager position is not provided for in the township's charter, Lennox said a number of different possibilities for filling the job were discussed by the committee.

In addition to a manager position evaluation, Lennox said the committee looked into changing the supervisor position from its current part-time standing to full-time.

Lennox said the committee also researched the possibility of creating a township superintendent position, which is provided for in the township charter.

According to Township Attorney Ernest Essad, the superintendent position contains almost as much power as granted to the supervisor.

He said very few communities elect to have a superintendent for two reasons: it is a bureaucratic position that is hard to dislodge and the position carries a lot of power considering it is not an elected position.

board much less flexibility when going to fill the position.

"Legally, an ordinance is the law of the township," Essad said. "Resolutions are good only until acted upon by the next board. Unless a board has an individual picked out to do the job, then it is better to set it up by resolution."

"A board can much more easily change a resolution for the job function to fit the individual or the individual to fit the job function," Essad added.

Township Supervisor Georgina Goss said the board's decision to establish the manager position by resolution rather than ordinance is based on the recommendations of the township attorney.

Lennox said the committee put a lot of time into the study and added each of the five committee members felt the ordinance route was the right way to go.

In addition to Lennox, other committee members include: Jean Day-Couse, Karen Woodside, Dan Nelson and Wallace Bailey.

Candidates vie for seats on Schoolcraft College board

There is not one contested Schoolcraft College race this year, but two, in the election Monday, June 12.

Voters will choose one candidate from the six running for a four-year seat on the college board of trustees.

They will also choose three of the five candidates running for a six-year term on the board.

Candidates for the four-year seat include: Ronalee Bowman, Richard Hayward, Thaddeus McCotter, Patricia Sacha and M. Andrea Taylor, all of Livonia, and Thomas Davis of Northville. Jeffrey Theodore of Canton Township will also appear on the ballot, though he has withdrawn from the race.

Candidates for the six-year seat include: Harry Greenleaf, Jack Kirksey and Lawrence Whitmarsh, all of Livonia; Mary Breen of Plymouth Township and David Tattman of Plymouth. Breen, Greenleaf and Kirksey are incumbents.

The total number of candidates is among the largest in the college's 28-year history.

Voters in the Northville School District are eligible to vote in the Schoolcraft election.

The college board meets monthly to determine college policy.

Schoolcraft, a two-year community college, maintains a main campus at 18600 Haggerty, Livonia. It also maintains a Schoolcraft College-Radcliff, 1751 Radcliff, Garden City. Additional college classes are held within the Plymouth-Canton Schools.

Candidates in each race were asked to respond to a questionnaire. Their responses appear here. The questions were:

1. Schoolcraft College tuition has risen in each of the past three years. Is it fair to continue "soaking the students" as critics have charged? If tuition isn't raised, what other options would you prefer should the college need additional money?

2. Schoolcraft has embarked upon a program of letting a private developer build office buildings on a portion of college-owned land, though a group of nearby Livonia residents said the offices represent "over-development." Is this project necessary?

3. What, in your opinion, should be the role of Schoolcraft College in the 1990s? Given a choice of only one, which should be given the top financing priority: classes preparing students for advancement to four-year colleges and universities or adult education classes? Why would you give top priority to that area?

Ronalee Bowman, 46, is a Livonia resident. She trains youth assistance volunteers for the Michigan Training and Resource Center, Northville. Her community activities include Livonia Youth Assistance, Friends of the Homeless and Homes for Black Children, where she serves on the board of directors. She holds a bachelor's in liberal arts and a major in sociology, from Marquette University, Milwaukee.

1. With the last tuition increase, it now costs a Schoolcraft $104 per class (based on a three-credit class). Since one of the goals of a community college is to provide affordable education, other options must be explored rather than raising tuition. Leasing of land to private developers and using revenue from that land for general fund expenses, maintenance and property improvements is an option. Another option is contracting with industry on a major scale; employers are paying tremendous fees to have their employees trained and retrained to meet their current needs. The college could also offer more advanced workshops and seminars to industry and to the community.

2. Land use for commercial or office development is a very delicate and unpopular issue particularly if you live in the area and are inconvenienced by traffic problems which often result. However, the development represents an opportunity for the college to realize millions of dollars in revenue to develop programs to raise the standards of the college and it provides funds to maintain the physical plant of the college. If the college is to accomplish its goals of excellence in the community without burdening the students or taxpayers, then it is a necessary project.

3. To choose a top financing priority, where all three are necessary to a progressive community college, is difficult. With my strong liberal arts background, I have to advocate preparing students for advancement to four-year colleges and offering more advanced liberal arts coursed in the future. On the other hand, I heard Philip Power speak at a recent workshop and he emphasized the need for preparing students for the work place. Many automotive industries are cutting back on unskilled labor and looking for technically skilled employees. At the present time, 42 percent of Schoolcraft graduates are between 22-34, indicating they have been in the job market for a while and are looking for improvement of skills. A community college serves the needs of many, and one area cannot receive priority without weakening the other.

Thomas Davis, 50, lives in Northville Township. He is a Ford Motor Co. finance supervisor and was a member of the Livonia Board of Education from 1974-78. He holds a bachelor's degree in finance from the University of Detroit. Davis has coordinated several area campaigns, including Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara's last two Livonia mayoral campaigns.

1. The primary option to avoid a tuition increase would be to obtain an increase in state aid. State aid has declined from 41 percent of the budget in 1979 to less than 30 percent for the 1989-90 fiscal year. Every effort should be made to reduce cost before raising tuition.

2. The concept of the project has merit because it will result in increased tax revenue to the city of Livonia and rental income to Schoolcraft College. The income to Schoolcraft will offset some increased costs and help to keep tuition and property taxes lower. A traffic study must be conducted to determine if the proposal is acceptable to the community before the decision is made.

3. Top priority should be preparing students for the work place. There is significant need in the community for educational opportunities that will prepare students to gain employment where the level of skill required is greater than what is provided by the high schools but does not require a four-year degree.

Richard Hayward, 60, is a Livonia resident. A self-employed steel industry consultant, he served on the Schoolcraft board from 1978-81. He is a member of the Livonia Economic Development Corp., Madonna College Business Advisory Council and Livonia Hockey Association Board. He was also active in St. Aidan Parish, Livonia. He holds a bachelor's in business administration from Madonna and has received the college's distinguished alumni award.

1. I don't feel "soaking the students" is a proper description of the policies of Schoolcraft College. There is no question that tuition has risen at all institutions of higher learning and it is becoming a problem for many students. The only other options are millages and state funds. Additional state funds seem to be the only other answer other than local taxes. Fiscal restraint will have to be exercised if tuition is to be kept down.

2. Necessary is not the word to describe the project. If the project fits in with the overall planning of the community, allows for maintaining the land for the college's future use and, at the same time, generates income for the college and tax dollars for the city, it seems that it would be a good idea.

3. The role of Schoolcraft College in the 1990s would be to continue the forward thinking which has allowed it to meet the changing needs of the community. I don't believe that you can give top financing priority to any one area without knowing the needs that exist in that area due to the constantly changing aspects of our society.

Thaddeus McCotter, 23, is a Livonia resident. He is a law student at the University of Detroit and recipient of the U-D Law School's Jerome P. Cavanaugh Scholarship. McCotter is also a law clerk at the Livonia firm of Brashear, Tangora and Spence. He has been active in recent Livonia-area GOP campaigns. He is a member of the Schoolcraft College Foundation, the Livonia Symphony League, the Livonia Cultural League and Livonia Jaycees. Lead guitarist and singer for a rock band, McCotter has had six of his compositions copyrighted.

1. In the past 12 years, state aid to Schoolcraft has fallen 12 percent. Tuition has risen 4 percent and millage revenue 17 percent to cover the decrease. While this doesn't constitute "soaking the students," I know from personal experience that every tuition increase is another obstacle to a student's education. Schoolcraft must find new revenue sources before the cost of education becomes prohibitive. Schoolcraft must work with local leaders to acquire more state aid and expand joint educational undertakings with business to raise new revenue and spread fixed costs. Also, Schoolcraft must work closely with its alumni association and foundation to increase endowments.

2. The south end project seems a bit premature. I would prefer to see the impact that the north end development has upon Schoolcraft and upon tuition in particular. I would also like to see what impact alternative attempts at revenue procurement might have. Schoolcraft's leasing of public land is not a violation of the public trust if the revenue generated is used to ensure students quality, affordable and accessible education. The key questions are: will office buildings meet this standard and will the market and political process support the development as proposed?

3. While vocational and continuing education are integral parts of its mission, Schoolcraft's primary function is to offer students an education that enables them to achieve higher degrees. With spiraling university tuition and an increasingly competitive work force, an associate's degree from Schoolcraft must continue to provide the initial opportunity for future achievement. The ability to question and comprehend a complex and changing world is an eternal asset.

Patricia Sacha, 61, lives in Livonia. Continued on 10

A retiree, she taught in the Detroit Public Schools and spent 20 years in supervisory positions with the Birmingham public schools, reassessing the district curriculum and creating programs for students with learning disabilities. She also served as a district media specialist. Sacha holds bachelor's and master's degrees in education from Wayne State University.

1. All costs have risen in the past three years and, as in everything else, schools do not run on love. I would favor getting the needed money from the state. We need to be actively involved in the state financial situation. We now receive only 29 percent support, down from 40 percent. The latest figures show "schools get money from two pots: $2.8 billion from the protected school aid fund (including the lottery) and only $540 million from the general fund." The total is down from 66 percent to less than 6 percent now. Taxpayers pour to the state and receive very little in return for education.

2. Presently, I am in favor of allowing Schoolcraft to receive money from Duke for leasing the south property. The council is checking the "need" for this project. With that appropriate check and assessment for the traffic situation, I feel that the new building would be a tremendous asset to Schoolcraft.

3. I have tried to prioritize the Schoolcraft roles, but find I cannot. My philosophy is to continue the fine programs which are now in existence, and with careful study of all factors involved and a great deal of preplanning, make decisions which would be in keeping philosophically and budgetarily.

M. Andrea Taylor, 43, is a Livonia resident. A food service manager for the Plymouth-Canton Schools, she also operates Andy's Cakes and Catering, a Livonia-based catering company. This month, she received an associate's degree in culinary management at Schoolcraft. Taylor plans to continue her education, working toward a degree in hotel and restaurant management.

1. I feel the funds needed to keep up the high educational quality of the college is most important. I look at tuition as an investment in one's future. If raising tuition is what is prescribed by the financial advisers of the college, then it should be considered a necessity. A possible alternative might be to evaluate the many programs and eliminate those that are not cost effective. To articulate with other colleges and high schools in the area so that Schoolcraft does not offer courses such as typewriting, drafting and computer skills that may be redundant.

2. In 1961, the founders of Schoolcraft College had the good sense to acquire 183 acres for the college. I believe in progress as a rule, and I feel that leasing the property is a wise decision. The financial rewards, along with assisting in the growth of our community, are beneficial to the college. The funds generated by the leasing provide financing that allows for such cultural additions to the college as the Performing Arts Theater.

3. When Schoolcraft College was first founded, its main objective was to serve its community as an educational, cultural and recreational center and to provide an environment conducive to the pursuit of quality education, which condensed simply means to prepare a student for life. In my recent experience, as a student in a two-year vocational program at Schoolcraft, my top priority was to prepare for the work force, and I found that the two years spent in the food management curriculum has given me the opportunity to develop my potential, which includes continuing my education at a four-year college. It has also encouraged me to become a candidate in the race for a seat on the board of trustees of this college. Therefore, I see for the 1990s the continuation of the original objective to insure its future success.

Mary Breen, 55, lives in Plymouth Township. A retiree, she taught in the Wayne-Westland and Dearborn schools and was assistant principal of Livonia Stevenson High School. She was first elected to the board in 1983 and was the leading vote getter in that year's race. Breen holds a bachelor's degree in business education from Wayne State University and a master's degree in administration from Eastern Michigan.

1. Schoolcraft College makes a great effort to provide quality education for the tuition that is paid. Because state aid has decreased over the past 10 years, tuition increases were the sole option. As my voting record shows, I favor first exploring all other options before considering the necessity of a tuition increase.

2. The college is proposing a reorganization of facilities to better serve our students, including a planned Student Services Building. All funding alternatives, including state support and leasing of land, are being reviewed. We should work closely with the city and college officials to ensure that any projects undertaken are beneficial to both the surrounding community and the college.

3. I believe that students and their future employers deserve the guarantee that the education received at Schoolcraft College will provide the tools and skills needed to ensure success in the work environment. A balanced education is the goal of the college, i.e. a combination of technical and liberal arts skills. The program chosen by the student will ideally present the right "mix." I believe that strong technical programs combined with appropriate liberal arts curricula represent the balance that students and employers seek.

Harry Greenleaf, 52, is a Livonia resident. He was first elected to the board in 1977 and is currently board vice chairperson. He is a management supervisor with Ford Motor Company in Dearborn. A member of Michigan Republican state committee, he is also active in local party activities. He is also active in Newburg United Methodist Church and has taught at Henry Ford Community College, Dearborn. Greenleaf holds a bachelor's degree in engineering and management from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute in Troy, N.Y.

1. The historic funding strategy of approximately one-third from local millage, one-third from state appropriations and one-third from tuition remains sound strategy. The

CITY OF NORTHVILLE NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

Notice is hereby given that the City Council of the City of Northville will hold a public hearing on Monday, June 19, 1989, in the Municipal Building at 8:00 p.m. to amend Title 3, Chapter 7, Water, as follows:

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND CHAPTER 3, TITLE 7, ENTITLED "WATER", OF THE CODE OF ORDINANCES OF THE CITY OF NORTHVILLE, TO ADD PROVISIONS RELATED TO EMERGENCY RESTRICTIONS ON WATER CONSUMPTION WHEN SUPPLY SHORTAGES ARE ANTICIPATED OR EXIST

The City of Northville ordains:

Section 1. Chapter 3, Title 7, entitled "Water", of the Code of Ordinances of the City of Northville, is hereby amended by adding a section 7-326 as follows:
Sec. 7-326 RESTRICTIONS ON WATER CONSUMPTION DURING EMERGENCIES — The City Manager is hereby authorized to declare a "water supply emergency" whenever he determines, on the basis of existing or anticipated drought conditions, depletion of water supply, reduction in water pressure, failure of one or more parts of the supply system, or for other reasons, that there is a threat of loss of water supply to the City or a portion of the City.

(a) Method of declaration: A water supply emergency shall exist when the City Manager has caused a declaration of such emergency to be publicly announced by broadcast from one or more radio or television stations with a normal operating range covering the City. When practical, such declaration shall also be made over the appropriate cable television channel, on the City Hall telephone message machine, and in the local newspaper if the anticipated duration of the emergency warrants it. The City Manager shall make a record of each time and date and methods of such declaration. Irrespective of such methods of declaration, a water supply emergency shall be deemed to exist for any person who has received a direct written notice of such declaration.

(b) Content of declaration: A declaration of water supply emergency shall include the effective date and time of such emergency, which may be immediate; the period of time during which such emergency shall be in effect, which may be for twenty-four hours per day, and until further notice, and the types of outside water usage which are prohibited, which may include all outside uses except fire protection, and may permit certain uses on alternating days or during restricted hours.

(c) Water use restricted: Whenever a water supply emergency exists, it shall be unlawful for any person to utilize water from the City water supply system for any type of outdoor use which is in violation of the terms of the declaration.

(d) Penalty: Any person who violates subsection (c) of this ordinance shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not to exceed five hundred dollars ($500.00) or imprisonment for a period not to exceed ninety (90) days, or engagement in community service, or any combination of such fine, imprisonment and community service, in the discretion of the court, together with the costs of prosecution.

Section 2. This ordinance shall become effective ten (10) days after enactment thereof and after publication thereof.

Schoolcraft Election

contribution of tuition to the college's income has continued to average below 30 percent of the total budget. Tuition should only be raised when, and by the amount necessitated, by controlled costs and program needs. However, tuition rates that rise gradually as needs dictate provide more stability and sustained quality levels than large tuition increases engendered periodically by built-up institutional pressures. State appropriations continue to lag behind rising operational needs, and show little promise for substantial improvement in the future. Local millage already provides approximately 40 percent of our operating budget.

2. Development of this asset is important to long-range vitality of the college. Capital investment funds from the state level have been exceedingly limited as other priorities such as prison construction have risen. The Seven Mile Crossing project is already generating funds to the college which have been designated for endowment and capital improvement. The Six Mile development would be attractive and economically beneficial to our communities. Ultimately, endowment fund income can contribute substantially to the college's operating budget.

3. As a trustee, I have worked to opportunity where all can advance their knowledge and skills in their areas of ability and interest. In the 1990s, Schoolcraft should continue to offer a diverse range of programming. The recent small increase in the number of transfer students should be encouraged through the maintenance of quality instruction, specific articulation agreements, structures that facilitate transfers. Given a choice of only one, top financing should go toward preparing students for the work place, especially skills updating, re-education and retraining that is vital to our business and industry.

Jack Kirksey, 60, lives in Livonia. He was appointed to the board in January 1988. He is director of community education for Livonia Public Schools. A state House member from 1977-84, he was also a 1987 Livonia mayoral candidate. He serves on the board of directors of the Livonia Chamber of Commerce, Livonia Family Y, Michigan Human Services and Schoolcraft College Foundation and is a lieutenant colonel in the U.S. Air Force reserves. Kirksey holds bachelor's, master's and education specialist degrees from Wayne State University.

1. I voted against the recent increase in student tuition. In this instance, I felt it was an excessive escalation of the student fees. The three primary college revenue sources are: taxes, student fees and state aid. Even after adjusting millage rates downward (required by Truth-in-Taxation and Headlee provisions) the college will realize approximately an 8 percent increase in revenue over the previous school year. This additional revenue can be used to meet much of the increasing financial needs of the college.

2. In responding to the question, if we focus on the word "necessary," very few of the developments in Livonia would meet that criteria. The developments in general, however, do meet a need for our ever-expanding economy. I have a great deal of respect for the feelings of the residents who lie in this section of Livonia and are concerned with increasing traffic and other related problems. This proposed project, however, will provide revenue to the college in the future to help meet an essential public need. This is the important difference in this project versus the others that have been approved.

3. This is a very difficult question since you are asking to establish a single priority for three very important aspects of education. To respond to the question, I would give priority to classes preparing students for advancement to four-year colleges and universities. Although Schoolcraft

College has a well-deserved, excellent reputation in all facets of educational offerings, preparing an individual for the work place and adult education offerings are available not only at Schoolcraft but at a number of other public and private educational sources in this area.

David Tatman, 31, is a Plymouth resident. He is a superintendent with GM Hydra-Matic in Ypsilanti. He is active with Washtenaw United Way, the Boy Scouts of America, Washtenaw Council, and First United Methodist Church of Plymouth. Tatman holds a master's in business administration from the University of Michigan and a bachelor's in industrial and systems engineering from Ohio State University.

1. I am not unilaterally or unequivocally opposed to tuition increases. However, they must be considered only after all revenue sources have been exhausted and all unnecessary expenditures eliminated. Creative revenue sourcing is a distinct possibility here, especially considering the options of developing college real estate privately and the possibility of some type of "joint venture" in an academic sense with local industries.

2. Under the current vision for Schoolcraft's future, and based on demographic data with respect to anticipated student population, this is a fiscally responsible decision. I really don't think the "necessity" of additional office space in the Livonia area is at issue here. Presumably, the private developer perceived the need, was willing to provide funding and capital improvements to meet that need and is wholly responsible for the assumption of the risk entailed in such a venture. Schoolcraft College stands only to benefit from this relationship.

3. Very clearly, the role of a good community college is threefold: preparation of students for the work place, preparation of students who will advance to a four-year institution, and adult education. It is my opinion that Schoolcraft does a great job in the latter two areas. Therefore, undoubtedly, my focus as a top financing priority in the 1990s would be a curriculum preparing students to assume responsible roles in today's work environment, particularly in the manufacturing sector. I have a very firm belief that higher education is the cornerstone to restoring America's world-wide competitiveness.

Lawrence Whitmarsh, 42, lives in Livonia. He is a product engineering manager with GM Hydra-Matic in Ypsilanti. He is a member of Schoolcraft's quality management advisory committee and is active with PTA, Boy Scout activities and is a past deacon at Ward Presbyterian Church in Livonia. Whitmarsh holds a bachelor's degree in business from Madonna College and earned 62 credit hours at Schoolcraft. He is enrolled in the master of business administration program at Central Michigan University.

1. In 1975, when I was attending Schoolcraft, tuition was $11 per credit hour. I felt it was high then, but the bottom line is that quality education, as well as other things in our lives, rises in cost. The decision to raise tuition or ask for a millage increase has to be made when it comes up. If, in fact, an increase is necessary, a team made up of community members, students, trustees, and representatives from the college should be established to find out the facts and review alternative resources.

2. As a trustee, I would stress that we listen to the voice of the customer. Schoolcraft College is supported by many customers, such as the community, through taxes, students through tuition and businesses who have training needs. We need to survey these groups and get their input into the development of this land so when completed all will feel confident the right decision was made. This land is a tremendous and valuable resource which could be utilized to hold down tuition costs for years to come.

3. The role of Schoolcraft College in the 1990s must be to keep abreast of the changes in business and industry and constantly assess what the college offers. To meet the ever-changing needs, we must enhance the liaison between industry, business and the college so that the school can build programs useful to students entering these sectors. Provided Schoolcraft meets these needs, business and industry will identify with the school by taking advantage of the services provided by the college. The need in today's society is not what program receives financing but rather how quickly the college can react to change.

One lane of Center to close; northbound traffic re-routed

Northbound Center Street is slated to be closed for several months starting in August to permit construction of the "Main Centre" building.

The west lane of Center will close between Cady and Main to make room for a crane. The closing is expected to be in effect until next spring or summer.

Southbound traffic will be routed into the east lane of Center. Northbound traffic will probably take an alternate route east on Cady to Griswold, then back on Main to Center.

A planned full-phase traffic light on the corner of Main and Griswold is expected to be installed by the time the detour route is needed.

McNeely & Lincoln Associates conducted a traffic study on the area to determine a detour route and recommended the Cady alternative, although that will require some extra cost. A Wing Street alternative was rejected because of the volume of traffic that will be diverted.

"When we saw the volumes I pretty much gave up looking at Wing Street," City Manager Steve Walters said. "You'd have a bottleneck that, I think we'd find, would be out of control."

Two counts showed about 11,000 cars travel on that stretch of Center every day. The trips were about evenly split between northbound and southbound.

A detailed drawing is set to be presented to the city council in the future.

Council members accepted the Cady route at their meeting Monday night, but hesitated over the expense required to improve Cady enough to handle the added traffic. They eventually asked Walters to pursue the cheapest alternative, a form of large patches across the bad spots of the street.

This option is expected to cost $11,400. A better form of patching is estimated at $15,200. Complete rehabilitation would cost $23,560.

"We have to do the patching at a minimum, I would say," Walters told the council.

Council members leaned toward the cheapest option because of a tight budget in the next fiscal year and because of uncertainty over the future — including the location — of Cady Street. The city is in the midst of a study of the area. The study may recommend a lower use or different location for the street.

"To spend $23,000 right now . . . is out of the question," Council Member Paul Polino said.

"I feel strongly $11,400 is enough at this time," Council Member John Buckland added.

Main Centre construction is expected to start within a few weeks. The street is supposed to be closed around August.

The Northville Record

Our Opinions

Commercial property in city needs a second look

The City of Northville has a problem.

The city's board of review, comparing sale prices and assessments, has concluded that some assessments on downtown business are far off what they should be. Specifically — the business owners will be delighted to hear this — the assessments are way too low.

An assessment is supposed to be half the actual market value of a piece of land. That's state law. It doesn't matter if someone simply thinks they pay too much in taxes; these things are based on specific sales data.

With commercial property, getting a true market value is harder than with residential property. But the board of review are the people who should know what's fair, much more than the county assessors who can only give a cursory review.

The board has found that there are some properties downtown which are seriously under-assessed; some more so than others. The board has presented the county with the problem, and the county did not respond. The city must take other action.

Officials are already headed in that direction. The city manager is looking into the cost of hiring a private company to conduct its commercial assessments. Naturally, this is going to cost money, which the city does not have to spare. Something along these lines, however, deserves to be done.

Higher assessments will obviously be a burden to businesses. They will not be an unfair one, though. With the current inequities, residential taxpayers are bearing more than their fair share of the city taxes. Household budgets should not be forced to carry the load for businesses.

There are certainly concerns about maintaining a viable business climate; high taxes can hurt that. A viable residential climate is just as important, however. High taxes do just as much damage there.

This is not a question of commercial interests pitted against residential. It is a question of simple fairness and compliance with state law. This is an extremely serious situation which needs complete correction.

Residents have reasons to be interested in vote

Unlike our neighbors in Plymouth, where one open school board seat has attracted a host of candidates and a firestorm of controversy over a conservative citizens' group, or Novi, where voters have four candidates and plenty of issues to keep them busy, this year's school election in Northville is a pretty quiet affair.

Make that very quiet. Almost silent, in fact.

The school board has just one seat open and one candidate, the incumbent, running to fill it. That candidate is Jean Hansen, an eight-year board member whose contributions are solid and dependable. A strong candidate with no opposition is clearly going to win. So why bother going to the polls?

Well, there is a reason. It's called Schoolcraft College.

The election to the Schoolcraft Board of Trustees is set for Monday along with the regular school election. Two seats are open, and there are several candidates running for each.

This is the board that runs our local community college. They guide the direction of the school to make it most responsive to community needs.

They are also the caretakers of about two mills of property tax money.

Theoretically, everyone ought to be concerned with the college's direction. If you think a community college has nothing to offer you, that's a very good reason to take an interest. The college should have something to offer you and everyone else in the district.

The financial facet is another good reason to take an interest. If your home is assessed at $50,000, you pay about $100 a year in property taxes to Schoolcraft. Several residents recently turned out to oppose a tax dollar increase in the new city budget. The college raised your taxes this year as well. As a rule, you probably wouldn't think about spending $100 without knowing where it goes. Why should the community college be any different?

The Schoolcraft board race is important, which is why three pages of the Record this week are turned over to it. There was other important, local news to fill that space. The election, however, deserves the attention.

Please read through the questions and the candidates' answers to them. Make your decisions, and vote Monday. Our college is worth the effort.

Looking back

By Bruce Weintraub

Well, it's been one full year now since I left a Union Lake based tabloid paper and continued my career as a scribe at the Northville Record/Novi News.

Much has been written and learned about both Northville and Novi. Now, since I still don't live in or have ties to either community, I can begin to make objective comparisons between the two.

DOWNTOWN AMBIANCE — Northville prides itself on its downtown district located in the heart of the city. With its Victorian atmosphere, complimented by a clock in the middle of the street, Northville projects just a touch of European flavor. Novi's downtown district supposedly consists a big shopping mall called Town Center. I still can't figure why benches at the Town Center face traffic. EDGE: Northville.

GOOD EATING — Northville offers classy restaurants such as MacKinnon's, Crawford's and Charley's. Novi counters with Victor's, Chez Raphael and Home Sweet Home. On my budget however, fast-food creations such as the Whopper and Big Mac fill my dinner menu. And for that, there's only one winner. EDGE: NOVI.

NIGHTLIFE ENTERTAINMENT — Northville's quiet, serene atmosphere lends itself well to spending an evening at the Marquis Theater. After going to the theater though, the evening would not be complete without a trip to Cloverdale's. For people who crave a little more excitement, Northville has harness track racing six months of the year. Fortunately, my pocketbook has discouraged my excitement craze.

"Yes, what a year it's been. The nice thing about being a reporter is you never stop learning."

Novi meanwhile, offers entertainment geared for a slightly younger crowd. Shopping malls conveniently stay open until 9 p.m. so I can pick up items after work and still make it to an evening show at Twelve Oaks or Town Center. After the show, nothing compares to a relaxing hour or two at the (goat) Farm. (Slight) EDGE: Novi, but depends on the night and my mood.

Neither community gets an edge in friendliness. While doing stories in both communities for the past year, I've noticed an amazing amount of warmth from residents of both Northville and Novi.

Yes, what a year it's been. The nice thing about being a reporter is you never stop learning. Stories I've done over the past year have ranged from assessment increases to profiles of school bus drivers to weight measuring machines. As for the future, who knows where I'll be one year from now. But if it's in Northville or Novi, I can say from experience, that I certainly will be quite content.

And so will the cashiers at MacDonald's, Twelve Oaks, Player's Choice Arcade, etc....

Are we having fun yet?

After the fact

By Phil Jerome

I'm trying to make up with my neighbors... before they get the township board to write an ordinance against me.

What happened is that I mowed my lawn Sunday afternoon. Late Sunday afternoon. Starting about maybe six o'clock. Just as they were having a few friends and relatives over for a graduation party.

I really meant to mow my lawn Saturday. But I had photo assignments in the morning. And, just about the time I was getting ready to jump on my tractor in the afternoon, the rains came and washed out my mowing plans. Cleaned the garage instead.

Sunday tends to be a work day for me. So I put in my time at the office before coming home with every intention of getting the lawn mowed while it was still light.

Everything was moving right on schedule, too. Got home at five-thirty, boarded my tractor, started it up and mowed around the corner of the house... right into Andy and Cheryl's graduation party.

I don't know why but for some reason my tractor has never been louder. It roared with power as I passed within 50 feet of their patio. Was the muffler broken? I checked. No. And the machine roared away.

Everytime I passed their patio, they all stared in my direction. I smiled at them. They glowered back. I waved at them. They didn't wave back. And the machine roared away.

How mad are they, I wondered. Weighing in my mind the desire to get the lawn mowed versus arousing the undying enmity of the neighbors. Would they ask the council to adopt one of those "no mowing on Sunday" ordinances?

And finally I gave in to the impulse to retain harmony in the neighborhood. Drove the tractor into the garage and shut off that roaring engine. Peace and quiet reigned supreme over Westview Drive. It was a beautiful moment. Hopefully it wasn't too late.

Readers Speak

Parents defend netters' decision

To the Editor:
This is in response to the articles in your May 25 and June 1 publications covering the Northville High School tennis team.

After many conversations concerning these articles, it is time to write this letter.

It is very unfortunate that the senior members of the team were put in a position of competing in the regional tournament or going to their Senior Prom. It was known long before the meet that it was a scheduling problem in conflict with the prom.

All of the seniors were up and ready to play as the bus left for Ann Arbor at 7:30 a.m. It was senior skip day for 326 seniors who could sleep-in and have all day to prepare for their prom. Eight of those seniors were up and on the bus by 7:30 a.m.

Parents had made arrangements, prior to the tournament, for the kids to leave as soon as possible by car to eliminate having to wait for the bus to return to Northville with the rest of the team. Several of these parents took vacation days from work to help these kids.

From 7:30 a.m. until approximately 1 p.m., those seniors waited for it to stop raining. Undoubtedly, the delay was filled with thoughts and anxiety as to whether they could get the matches in before they would have to leave for the prom. Surely, each minute became an eternity.

As the courts were being dried at 1 p.m., the decision was made to leave. All of the other seniors had their limousines scheduled to pick-up their dates mid-afternoon to go to the many pre-prom parties. Not the tennis team seniors. They had accepted that the parties would have to be forgotten and their limousines scheduled to just get them to the prom on time.

It was a tough decision - really tough.

As a result, they were told, none of these seniors would be asked to the end-of-the-season party. None would be receiving any awards that they had earned.

These seniors have played three and four years for this Northville High School team. How sad that their high school tennis career had to end this way. It is even sadder that the situation was ever created on which they had to make this kind of a decision.

In closing - this is the only sports team at the high school that has been denied a year-end-banquet for as many years as these seniors have been playing. Most of these seniors are honor students and are headed for the universities this fall. How sad for them to leave with this black mark against their achievements!

We all hope that scheduling, in the future, will not put any other team member in this unfortunate position.

Congratulations Northville High tennis team for a winning season.

Best wishes seniors! May you play the game of life as successfully as you've played your competition on the courts.

We love you,
Lowell and Rosene Richcreek

Fire protection

To the Editor:
It is interesting to note the basic reasons behind the new Church Ordinance concerning the height of their buildings.

Fire Chief Robert Toms says that he has to be able to get on the roof to service it. As high as he can go is 70 feet.

Now one has to wonder how the Detroit Fire Department gets on the top of the Ren Cen, or the Westin Hotel, or Citizens Bank Building and the other tall buildings in downtown Detroit.

If they cannot get on top of these buildings, then there must be another way of meeting these fire safety requirements.

Legion thanks

To the Editor:
On behalf of the American Legion No. 147, Veterans of Foreign Wars No. 4012 and their auxiliaries, we wish to thank the community of Northville for joining us in honoring the memory of our departed comrades on this most recent Memorial Day. We wish to thank all of you for your support.

To all participants - it was an honor to have your enthusiasm and help. We were happy to have Mrs. Lee McArthur, our Grand Marshall; Rev. Lloyd Brasure, Parade Chaplain; Alicia Holbrook, Betty Flanders, Northville High School Band, Knight Templar, Mustang Civil Air Patrol, Brownies, Girl Scouts, Cub and Boy Scouts, wreath carriers, community leaders, law officers and Veteran organizations from other communities - including State and District officers and Color Guard, Jerry Olson and Bob Hock for putting up the flags all around town, Bob Hock and Laura Fulkner for planting flowers in the cemeteries and Omnicom for filming the ceremonies.

A special thank you to Mr. Ray Casterline for once again providing ice cream for all and to Guernsey Dairy for distributing it.

We would also like to thank Ann Willis and the entire staff of The Northville Record for the wonderful coverage of our parade and memorial remembrances.

Tips to avoid drugs during summertime

This is another in a continuing series of columns written for The Record by Charles Stilec, Northville High School Student Assistant Program Coordinator.

As the days move toward the end of school, the prospects of the kids being turned out from the daily school regimen, the classes, the runs and regulations have become more and more of a reality.

The energy of these young people is intense and ongoing. Although many parents try their hardest, many youngsters will be wandering the streets and some will turn toward the experimentation or continued abuse of drugs, alcohol and cigarettes. At present the greatest threat to their safety is our ignorance. Of great concern is the fast-approaching two-and-a-half months worth of weekends.

Recently there was an excellent article in the Detroit Free Press entitled "Summertime and Dope is Easy for Teenagers," written by Marty Hair, Free Press staff writer. In the article he shares a quote from Dana Gire, prevention coordinator for Macomb County. She states:

"Summertime is the time of greatest use by kids. It's also the time that is hardest for it to get the anti-drug and anti-alcohol message to them because they are out of school."

In my opinion, as someone who has worked in the field of chemical dependency for many years, the unsupervised time can lead to sex, drug use, illegal activities and hanging around for many of our youth.

We, as adults, must take the responsibility for our young people, which means we must continue to educate ourselves - not be enablers and take action when called for.

An actual case in point presented to my office recently regarding enabling... Enabling is renting your son or daughter a limo for prom and supplying the liquor while rationalizing this behavior by saying "we did the same thing when we grew up," and "boys will be boys," and the best one "at least they are not drinking and driving."

Here are several symptoms of enabling by adults:

- Minimizing, oversimplifying or ignoring problems.
- Viewing solutions as someone else's responsibility.
- Avoiding confrontation with a known suspected chemical use problem or incident.
- Protecting or covering up for an adolescent's chemical problem.
- Protecting an adolescent from receiving consequences for behavior.
- Abuse of chemicals by parents/adults and then not challenging a youth's chemical use.

A need by adults to be liked by the adolescent, thus preventing needed interventions at times.

- Avoiding a parent call due to friendships or politics.
- Putting your needs aside.

Here, then, are what adults and others should watch for when concerned about drug/alcohol use: a drop in grades, switching friends, emotional highs and lows, defiance of rules and regulations, becoming more secretive, loss of initiative, withdrawing from family functions, changes in physical hygiene, staying out late, isolation, missing money or alcohol, selling possessions, feeling manipulated and bargained with, abusive behavior, weight changes, short temper, legal problems, defensiveness, calls from school, not informing you of school activities, coming home drunk or high and finding drug paraphernalia or bottles.

Any of these behavior patterns may indicate a serious problem. However, before drawing firm conclusions, consult your child's school counselor, drug/alcohol advisor or call Livonia Counseling at 261-3760, Adolescent Recovery Center at 425-0636 or Psychotherapy and Counseling at 348-1100.

Remember there is no social use for young people, use equals abuse. Please take action now.

Township eyes its options on recycling opportunities

By BOB NEEDHAM

Opportunities to recycle household trash may be within the foreseeable future for Northville Township residents.

The township is looking into recycling options on two different fronts: Browning-Ferris Industries' Arbor Hills Landfill in Salem Township and the Western Townships Utility Authority. Township Supervisor Georgina Goss said Tuesday.

"We plan on having a heavy emphasis with BFI on our recycling," Goss said. "Northville Township is also looking at the possibility of doing recycling with the WTUA communities."

"We're looking in a number of different directions, but we don't have anything right on line."

Wayne County is in the midst of writing a trash management plan which will require communities to reduce the amount of garbage they send to landfills, which are running out of space. Recycling is the preferred alternative. Communities which do not meet the goal could be banned from using landfills in Wayne County.

Northville Township could have a problem proving that it meets the reduction requirements, since garbage disposal in the township is contracted on an individual basis. There may not be an easy way to measure how much trash is generated in the township, let alone the amount it is reduced.

Goss said this will probably not be a problem, however, since most of the garbage haulers operating in the township take their loads to Arbor Hills. Sitting on the west side of Napier Road, the landfill is in Washtenaw County — not Wayne.

"Technically, we would not have to reduce our waste stream," Goss said.

However, she stressed that the township is definitely going to make an effort to reduce its trash volume through recycling, even though it may not technically have to worry about the county's reduction requirement. "We will be doing that (recycling)," she said.

The WTUA communities — Northville, Plymouth and Canton townships, who have cooperated on getting added sewer capacity — are looking into recycling as a group, Goss said. The authority is applying for grants to help fund the start of recycling programs.

In addition, Goss said, the township is considering using a planned recycling center at the Arbor Hills Landfill, at the corner of Napier and Six Mile.

Arbor Hills Manager Dan Nelson said he, Goss, and officials from the City of Northville have been trying to schedule a meeting to discuss the plans at the landfill. Nelson hopes to get several local communities to use the landfill recycling facilities once they are built.

The city plans to have a drop-off center of its own to hold recyclables. City Manager Steve Walters said the bin is expected to arrive any day.

City seeks fairer assessments

in excess" of double their assessment, the memo says.

Board of Review Chairperson James Cutler and City Manager Steven Walters presented the data to Wayne County tax officials last fall.

"In spite of this data, Wayne County proceeded to equalize commercial property values for 1989 by a factor of only 1.08 (an 8 percent increase), while residential values were raised an average of 13.5 percent. As a result, the millage rate roll-back to increase taxes by 4 percent resulted in residential taxes increasing an average of 6 percent, while commercial taxes did not increase at all," the memo reads.

The 8 percent increase did not make any real difference in the under-assessments, the memo continues: "The least under-assessed case ... remained at a market-to-SEV ratio of 2.15, even ignoring a market value increase. It was not surprising the Board of Review received no commercial appeals for 1989."

Beyond the general under-assessments, the board found that there are wide ranges of assessment problems; some are much more inaccurate than others. "Simply increasing commercial assessments by a large factor would not correct this internal inequity," the memo reads.

The board recommended the city conduct a full reassessment of commercial property, possibly with a private assessment company.

"I think, after the experience we've had the last couple of years with Wayne County ... it would be worth our while to look into commercial assessing," Walters told the city council Monday.

The council authorized Walters to look into the idea of hiring a private assessor.

Walters said this will be considerably more expensive than having the county do the assessments: "It will be an increase in our expense over what's been true the past two or three years," he said.

That led Mayor Pro Tem Carolann Ayers to comment that "you get what you pay for."

Walters said he will probably offer a report to the council within the next few weeks. He said he will likely recommend a look at all commercial-class property — including stores, restaurants and offices — throughout the city, in both Wayne and Oakland counties. Most of the city's commercial property is in Wayne county.

"The issue of reappraising doesn't mean that all of them get raised," Walters said. But a private assessor could make things more equitable, he said.

Council Member Paul Folino suggested doing a similar study of residential property, saying there are some inequities in that class too.

Walters said that residential land is not as big a problem because there is a better data base available for sale prices and the like.

However, he added that such a study might be a good idea after the larger problem with commercial property is resolved.

"These materials are also suspected human carcinogens," Lawrenchuk said. "Adverse health effects have not been observed in the U.S. with nonoccupational exposure."

Northville Community Recreation Director John Anderson said Tuesday that he has not been notified by Wayne County and is as yet unaware of any PCB contamination of the field.

"If the field is contaminated then the county will have to determine the level of PCBs on the field and the danger," Anderson said. "Then I'll contact the soccer teams and explain the situation."

Anderson said the county advised him of the possible contamination on May 15 and he added the soccer games were discontinued on that field.

He said the soccer season ends on June 18 and noted the games have been diverted to Lapham field, while practices have been held in Plymouth.

Milford gallery puts emphasis on wildlife art

By LISA FELICELLI

For wildlife art lovers weary of traveling through traffic to the big malls, Tim Smith is offering an alternative at the Village Center Mall in downtown Milford.

The Wind River Gallery, located at 400 North Main Street (Suite 203), caters to all customers regardless of their knowledge of wildlife art.

"What's important is that they enjoy it," said Smith, who opened his gallery March 1.

After surveying a number of areas in Michigan, Smith said he decided to open the Wind River Gallery in Milford because he has noticed a resurgence of downtown Milford shoppers and quality shops.

"People seem to be getting tired of big mall congestion and crowded stores," Smith said. "We offer the same products, but on a smaller and more personal basis."

Smith became interested in wildlife art through his friend Dean Pfeffer roughly 10 years ago. Although Smith was at the time primarily collecting Edna Hibbel's Southwestern art from Pfeffer's frame shop in Novi, Pfeffer encouraged him to purchase a wildlife print.

"I began buying wildlife prints here and there after that on a whim, until Dean introduced me to Larry Hayden's work," Smith said.

Hayden is a Farmington Hills artist noted for his realistic detail. Smith explained that like many wildlife artists, Hayden studies his subject for many days — often weeks — before even picking up a brush.

"Hayden has a duck pond in his backyard," Smith said. "He'll just sit out there observing for hours, taking photographs and sketching preliminary drawings."

Smith said that many factors play a part in capturing realism on canvas. The time of day, time of year, and the animal's feeding habits and surroundings all have an effect on its coloring and behavior.

"Hayden's keen observation and dedication pays off," Smith noted.

The artist has won six state duck stamp contests, and his paintings have appeared as stamps on the duck hunting licenses in Arkansas, Texas, Nevada and three times in Michigan.

The most recent original duck stamp paintings sell for $130, while the early creations can cost up to $5,000, Smith said.

"Over 800 paintings are available right now in the gallery, and 100 of those represent Larry Hayden's work," he added.

Smith, always on the lookout for new artists and interesting original work, frequently attends art exhibits and auctions.

"I plan to bring artists into the gallery to display their work to the public," Smith said. "I'd like for customers to come in and be able to meet and talk with the artist, to get a feel for his or her personality. This way, they'll be able to better appreciate that artist's individual work."

Smith emphasized that his business also caters to talented new artists who haven't yet been "discovered." He is currently working with Karen S. Pamment, a wildlife artist from Paw Paw. She sent him photographs of her original work and called a few weeks later to see if he was interested in meeting with her.

"She just came in from out of the blue, but after seeing her work I immediately knew it was publishable,"

Tim Smith and Sue White exhibit a painting in the Wind River Gallery in Milford

Smith said.

Smith and Pamment are currently working together to publish between 300 and 500 editions of her detailed wildlife acrylic paintings.

"One of my goals from the start was to become involved with the publishing aspect of the business as well as the selling," Smith explained.

Although wildlife art is the gallery's primary focus, Smith said he likes to offer customers a variety. He keeps in stock South Western and country art.

"We're selling a good mix. It's really hard to put a finger on our most popular items," Smith said. "Avid collectors will come in and purchase a quality piece, but we also carry peripheral work suitable for gifts."

He added that he sells a wide array of artists, including Don Briddell, mixed media; Hibbel, Southwestern lithographs; James Faukner, oil paintings; Zvonimir Milhanovic, realist lithographs; and Robert Hilly, Midwest watercolor paintings. Smith is also introducing new carvers.

MICHAEL E. EVERETT

DR. RICHARD J. PAPPAS

MICHAEL E. EVERETT of Novi has been named eastern region supervisor of the Michigan Department of Labor's Safety Education and Training (SET) Division.

Everett, who has been an occupational safety consultant with SET since 1975, now assumes administrative responsibility for providing a variety of work place safety services to employers and employees in the Eastern Michigan area, including Livingston County.

More information on available services can be obtained by calling Everett at his Novi office (313 478-0982) or the Safety Education and Training Division in Lansing (517 322-1809).

The Safety Education and Training Division is a Michigan Department of Labor agency providing safety training, education and consultation aimed at lowering work place accidents and injuries to Michigan businesses and employees.

DR. RICHARD J. PAPPAS of Novi has been appointed president of Harford Community College in Bel Air, Md., effective July 1.

Dr. Pappas becomes the eighth president of Harford, a 32-year-old college in suburban Baltimore with enrollment of 14,000 including continuing education students. He was chosen from an initial group of 111 applicants.

Dr. Pappas has been executive dean at Wayne County Community College's (WCCC) Downriver campus in Taylor since 1986. Under his leadership, the campus has experienced steady enrollment increases, especially among recent high school graduates. His linkages with the community have resulted in the establishment of the campus as a future site for a cultural center, long-term contracts with the Great Lakes Steel Company in developing curriculum for innovative training and the creation of a UAW-Ford Motor Company center.

Dr. Pappas serves on several major boards including the Southern Wayne County Chamber of Commerce, the Downriver Metroplex Alliance, the Downriver Private Industry Council and the Old Kent Bank. Prior to the WCCC position, Dr. Pappas was dean of community and business services and institutional marketing from 1982-86 at Jackson Community College in Jackson.

His background in higher education includes 14 years of teaching experience, both as a full-time and adjunct faculty member, at the community college, baccalaureate and graduate levels. He also is a former trustee of Oakland Community College in Bloomfield Hills.

GLORIA KOLLER of Novi has received the Pearl Van Award, the first year membership pin in the company's exclusive Century Society for achieving retail sales of $100,000 or more in 1988 from Decorating Den Systems, Inc., North America's first and largest franchisor of interior decorating services.

Koller and other Century Society members were feted at the company's 19th annual market conference at the Opryland Hotel in Nashville. Century Society membership is Decorating Den's top honor for sales performance.

There are more than 1,000 Decorating Den franchise owners and decorators throughout the U.S. and Canada, 98 percent of whom are women. They drive "Colorvans" equipped with over 5,000 samples of window products, wall coverings, carpets, furniture and accessories to their customers' homes or offices where they offer convenient and affordable custom service.

Founded in 1970, Decorating Den's corporate headquarters and training facilities are located in Bethesda, Maryland.

CAROLYNN BEYER, manager of Northville's Real Estate One office, has announced the sales associates who have the distinction of producing sales volume exceeding the million dollar level.

Cited by Beyer were Billie Mercier, Cindy Binder, Kathy O'Neill and Barbara Williamson. Special recognition goes to John O'Brien and Annie Nichols who have reached the prestigious level of PCE, which includes a five-day cruise to the Bahamas.

SHEILA GIBBONS of Northville recently completed an intensive course in professional floral design. As a result of exceptional talents demonstrated throughout the course, she received a Wesley Berry Flowers 40th anniversary scholarship. The course was conducted by the Professional Florists' Institute.

The scholarship is sponsored by Wesley Berry Flowers, a franchise chain with 18 locations in Michigan and Illinois. The floral industry is a $5.3 billion industry.

RONALD R. MURDOCK has been promoted to general manager of Perry ComfortCare to oversee the sales and distribution of all wholesale medical and surgical supplies of Perry's Health Care Division. Murdock's parents are Novi residents.

Before joining Perry, Murdock, 34, was national marketing director of Magliaro & McHaney, a physician consulting firm based in LaJolla, California, and distribution center manager of White & White Medical Supply, Inc., of Plymouth.

He has his degree in business administration from Grand Valley State College. He lives with his wife Janina and their two children in Lakeland, Michigan.

JOHN MUCASEY, MD, FACPE, President, of Woodland Physicians in Novi was recognized as a Diplomate of the American Board of Medical Management during the American Board of Physician Executives' 1989 National Conference on Health Care Leadership and Management in Washington, D.C.

The American Board of Medical Management is an independent examining board, sponsored by the American College of Physician Executives, that recognizes and certifies physician executives in the field of medical management. Physicians must meet standards determined by the American Board of Medical Management to qualify for the certification examination.

As a Diplomate of the American Board of Medical Management, Dr. Mucasey is now among a select group of physicians throughout the country, who have been recognized and honored for achieving excellence in the clinical practice of medicine as well as demonstrating advanced management and leadership ability.

Woodland Health Care Centers have been providing health care for over 25 years. Woodland Health Care Centers are located in Detroit, Livonia, Novi and Southfield.

J. RAE WEDDING SPECIALTIES of Milford recently celebrated its grand opening at 1423 South Milford Road. The establishment is owned by Judy Rae Coyle.

"I am very pleased to have this opportunity to be of service to ours and the surrounding communities," Coyle noted. "I'm also delighted with the favorable response I have received locally... and look forward to a successful year."

J. Rae Wedding Specialties offers complete women's attire for weddings, proms and other special occasions. Numerous accessories, gifts, invitations, reception supplies and boys' formal wear are available as well.

Other special services include alterations, custom gowns and consultations. J. Rae Wedding Specialties also makes referrals for cakes, catering, videos, photography, tuxedos and limousines.

Annual reports filled with information

Lurking at the back of all annual reports is a section in which few dare to venture — the financial statements.

Why bother with page after page of confusing numbers and baffling terms when you can simply skim the front text and enjoy the photographs?

According to the Michigan Association of CPAs, annual reports can be a valuable source of information when you are considering an investment or looking for a job. If you know how to read between the lines, an annual report can provide clues on a company's financial stability, community involvement, corporate personality and even impending organizational changes.

In most cases, the first section of an annual report contains the chief executive's letter to shareholders and management's discussion of the company's condition. The letter generally highlights the company's financial data, summarizes the year's events and describes the company's goals for the future.

Occasionally, management may use the letter to shareholders to express a position on relevant social or public policy issues.

While the letter to shareholders makes every attempt to put the company's best foot forward, a letter that concentrates only on the positive may be cause for suspicion.

Be suspicious, too, of reviews that overemphasize the future — this may indicate that the company is reluctant to talk about the present. Reports that focus on special themes, such as the accomplishments of individual employees, may also be clever attempts to divert attention from financial problems.

If you want to get a clearer sense of a chief executive's credibility, review the annual reports of the past few years. By comparing projections made in previous years with subsequent results, you can gauge the accuracy of the CEO's predictions. For example, how did the CEO's promise to increase company earnings fare? Were research and development projects completed on a schedule and within the budget outlined by the chief executive?

If read carefully, the section called "Management's Discussion and Analysis" can also provide valuable insight into a company's financial condition and operations. Generally, this section includes information about the company's liquidity, capital resources and operational results.

For many readers, the biggest mystery of annual reports is the financial section. Consisting of a series of elaborate tables, the "number" section can be quite intimidating to the uninitiated. But by understanding a few basic rules, you should be able to find the essential facts easily.

The core of the financial section is the balance sheet and income statement. The balance sheet shows where the company stood at a particular date and should be viewed as a snapshot rather than a moving picture. The balance sheet describes what the company owns (its assets) as well as what it owes (its liabilities). The difference between these two figures is the company's net worth or shareholder's equity.

While the balance sheet reveals the company's book value, the income statement measures the firm's earnings, costs and profitability. If you can't find the income statement in your annual report, don't panic — income statements are also called profit and loss statements, operation statements or income and expense statements. Whatever its name, the purpose is always the same — to detail how much money the company made or lost during the period reported.

The income statement matches the amount the company received from selling its goods and other items of income against all the costs of operating the company. The difference between the two figures is the net income or net profit — the proverbial bottom line.

This number represents the amount available to pay shareholder dividends or to be re-invested in the company. Search the income statement for extraordinary items that don't recur each year, such as a large tax credit or the sale of a subsidiary. Keep in mind that such an isolated event may distort the current year's profit statement.

Some experts suggest that the fastest way to evaluate a company's financial statements is by reviewing the auditor's opinion which appears near the end of most annual reports. In this section, an independent auditor issues an opinion on the financial statements provided by the company's management.

The auditor's primary responsibility is to provide the public with reasonable assurance that the company's financial statements and the related disclosures conform with generally accepted accounting practices. Although reading an auditor's report cannot substitute for a careful reading of the firm's full financial statements, it may alert you to any potential problems the company faces.

Another useful tool in ferreting out important information is the footnote section, usually found at the end of the annual report. If the footnote section is long, read all the items with special care. Footnotes generally serve one of two purposes — either they explain the business' accounting policies or they provide critical disclosures.

The condition of the company's pension plan, heavy use of tax benefits, plans to sell a subsidiary or pending lawsuits are all examples of the type of information tucked into footnotes.

If you need to analyze financial statements for investment purposes, CPAs advise you to consult an expert for help in understanding the facts behind the figures.

New Milford gallery features wildlife art

He said his goal is to service people with the different types of artwork that they would like to see on the wall.

"We're in the throes of putting together a catalog that will thoroughly detail each artist and his or her work for the customers," he added.

Smith explained that many artists are cautious not to put out an ample amount of work in order to keep the demand for their creations high.

"We strive for that at the gallery — pieces that not everybody will have," Smith said. "People like to buy a piece of artwork that is relatively unique."

While prints sell well at the Wind River Gallery because they are affordable, Smith said he is encouraging customers to get involved with original work.

Original artwork is one of a kind, Smith explained. He said that he has been pulling in a number of original paintings in the $430 price range.

He added that after he has bought a piece of original work at an auction, he doesn't mark it up considerably for retail because he's aiming to keep originals affordable for the customer.

"A lot of people will come in because they want to make a good investment," Smith said. "They'll initially be interested in art they can simply make money off of. I don't really like to sell that way. I think it's important that you really appreciate the image you're buying."

Framing is available.

The Wind River Gallery is an offshoot of Michigan Wildlife Art, a company that buys and sells collector prints on a national basis. Smith hopes to expand the gallery in addition to opening new galleries in the surrounding areas.

"I wish we could just push out the walls," he said.

Smith and the gallery's store manager, Sue White, both enjoy talking with customers and offering them advice on individual pieces.

"We're happy when we sell a piece of artwork, but when it leaves the store it often leaves us heartbroken," White said. "We hate to see it go."

A defense against cancer can be cooked up in your kitchen.

There is evidence that diet and cancer are related. Some foods may promote cancer, while others may protect you from it.

Foods related to lowering the risk of cancer of the larynx and esophagus all have high amounts of carotene, a form of Vitamin A which is in cantaloupes, peaches, broccoli, spinach, all dark green leafy vegetables, sweet potatoes, carrots, pumpkin, winter squash and tomatoes, citrus fruits and brussels sprouts.

Foods that may help reduce the risk of gastrointestinal and respiratory tract cancer are cabbage, broccoli, brussels sprouts, kohlrabi, cauliflower.

Fruits, vegetables, and whole-grain cereals such as oatmeal, bran and wheat may help lower the risk of colorectal cancer.

Foods high in fats, salt- or nitrite-cured foods like ham, and fish and types of sausages smoked by traditional methods should be eaten in moderation.

Be moderate in consumption of alcohol also.

A good rule of thumb is cut down on fat and don't be fat. Weight reduction may lower cancer risk. Our 12-year study of nearly a million Americans uncovered high cancer risks particularly among people 40% or more overweight.

Now, more than ever, we know you can cook up your own defense against cancer. So eat healthy and be healthy.

No one faces cancer alone.

REAL ESTATE SECTION

Thursday, June 8, 1989

The Milford Times, The South Lyon Herald, The Northville Record and The Novi News

Looking for your new home?

By Jeff Hawkins

Houses are bought and sold every day. But the process involved can be lengthy and complicated unless one follows some simple rules.

According to Faye Jones, owner and broker for Faye Jones Real Estate Inc. in Highland Township, the first step in finding a house is to select a realtor with a quality reputation for matching the family with a suitable home.

"Everyone needs professional guidance," Jones said. "A credible realtor will direct you to what you want."

During the initial consultation, the broker will sit down and ask a series of questions to find out exactly what the likes and dislikes are of the potential homeowners.

"People don't always know what's best for them," Jones said. "That's why it's important to find a realty that will give professional guidance."

"It is important to deal with a realtor because they are bound by the ethical code to be honorable and honest in all dealings," said Sharon Payne, a Real Estate One broker in Brighton.

"He or she can guide the prospective buyer through the maze of buying a home, starting with the right selection of property through the financing and closing."

There are a variety of reasons for wanting a new house. According to Tom Kuster, Century 21 broker in South Lyon, people choose to move predominantly because they're searching for something a little larger and a little more modern.

"As people get older and their incomes have gone up, they would like something nicer," Kuster said.

Finding your dream home begins with selecting a reputable realtor, according to housing experts

An important aspect that should not be forgotten when looking to purchase a house is the careful examination of the present condition of the home.

Kuster recommends the interested buyer make visual inspections of the roof, plumbing, wiring, and furnace so if the potential buyer decides to buy the house, he or she won't be surprised by deteriorating conditions that could hamper the pleasure of enjoying the first few years in the new home.

After deciding on a house, the next step is to make an offer-to-purchase to the seller through the realtor.

If the seller agrees with the proposal, then the house is sold. If the seller declines the offer, the buyer may then make a counter-offer to reconcile the differences that separate the two sides.

Once an agreement is made, the offer-to-purchase is signed by both parties. The next hurdle is obtaining a mortgage.

A mortgage is a legal pledge of property to a creditor as security for the payment of a loan. Different examples include fixed-rate and adjustable mortgages.

An advantage of a fixed-rate mortgage is that it presents predictable housing costs for the life of the loan. Some of the fixed-rate mortgages that the buyer could consider are:

- 30-year, fixed-rate mortgages;
- 15-year, fixed-rate mortgages;
- biweekly mortgage.

In spite of the many options in a fixed-rate mortgage, the 30-year, fixed-rate offers the lowest monthly payments and provides a never-changing monthly payment schedule.

In contrast, a biweekly mortgage calculates the principal and interest payments of a 30-year loan and divides the monthly payments by two. The sum of the payment will then be collected every two weeks. The setback in choosing this type of mortgage is that the interest rates could be approximately one-quarter to one-eighth higher.

The adjustable rate mortgage originated during a time of high interest rates that kept many people out of the housing market.

This type of mortgage is recommended for short-term ownership. But because payments and interest rates can increase, either steadily or irregularly, potential homeowners with rising incomes are also recommended to combat the possibility of appreciation of the home.

According to First National Bank in Howell, the interest rates are presently at 11.125 percent on a 30-year, fixed-rate, 1 percent for the mortgage commitment and 7.5 on the closing costs.

The next step involves the bank asking for an appraisal to verify the value of the house. A mortgage report is then requested from a credit reporting agency to verify one's credit and other important information. The bank will continue the processing of the application to confirm the buyer's employment, income, debts, assets and credit.

Finally, after the paperwork is completed, a closing is scheduled with a closing agent. Either a listing broker or the seller's lawyer will then supply a closing schedule and title commitment to the closing agent.

And there it is, a brand new "Home Sweet Home."

EDITOR'S NOTE: Most of the mortgage information was derived from the Mortgage Planning Guide supplied by First National Bank in Howell.

Entry courtyard reflects Spanish influence of home

Sun and shade are crucial to the Spanish-style Lincoln.

A recessed entry court with double gates and a central fountain provides a graceful entry, shaded by the overhanging tile roof. At the back of the house, a similar recessed patio is a haven for relaxation and entertainment.

The Lincoln offers a simple, symmetrical design with light and open spaces to soften its basic formality.

The two courts are separated by the living room and dining room, which also link the two parallel wings of the house.

The right side encloses the family room and kitchen in one large space. A garden room with skylights next to the kitchen puts fresh herbs only a step away from the cook pot. The living, dining and family rooms all open directly onto the patio, giving the entire house the feeling of an open plaza.

The left side of the house is devoted to private space. Two bedrooms at the front of the house share a full bath with tub and shower. A utility room across the hall means that clothes and linen do not have to be carried through the rest of the way to and from the washing machine.

The large master suite includes a walk-in closet, vanity, shower and raised circular tub. The master suite also has its own door onto the back patio.

Drawn here among spacious lawns, the compact Lincoln will fit neatly onto city lots, and its enclosed court and private patio provide privacy without requiring extensive land or plantings.

For a study plan of the Lincoln (228-51), send $5 to Landmark Designs, P.O. Box 2307 CN, Eugene, OR 97402. Be sure to specify plan name and number when ordering.

Coffee urn is worth $165

Q: What can you tell me about my silver-plated coffee urn?

I would like to know when it was made and for how much it should be insured.

A: Silver-plated coffee urns like this were popular during the late 19th century. They were shown as early as 1857 in Rogers Brothers' catalog (Hartford, Conn.).

The replacement cost would be about $165 to $185

What can you tell me about them?

A: Your sugar and creamer were made by the Schlegelmilch Co. in Tilowitz, Germany, between 1898 and 1908. They were imported by George Wheelock Co., South Bend, Ind.

Most dealers would price these in the $275 to $325 range.

This mark was an alternative to the more popular "RS Prussia" mark.

Send your questions about antiques with picture(s), a detailed description, a stamped, self-addressed envelope and $1 per item to James G. McCollam, P.O. Box 1087, Notre Dame, IN 46556. All questions will be answered but published pictures cannot be returned.

Q: A friend of mine collects what she calls "Hall" teapots. Can you tell me anything about them?

A: The Hall China Co. was founded in East Liverpool, Ohio, in 1903. During the 1920s it introduced a line of teapots and introduced at least one new pattern each year until 1948. The company became the largest teapot manufacturer in the world. Hall teapots became the most popular collectible teapot.

Today, Hall teapots sell for as little as $10 or as much as $250. It depends on how scarce the pattern is.

Q: The attached mark is on the bottom of a porcelain sugar and creamer decorated with turkeys.

They are also marked "Wheelock."

Around the House: Decorating

Unique home uses redwood lavishly

The joke in the early 1900s was that when folks wanted first-class architecture without a first-class price tag, they turned to Emmor Brooke Weaver, a tall, eccentric man who could mimic about any style requested—and mimic it well.

Weaver designed numerous residences as well as churches and other buildings. Some of them were as eccentric as he was, but his most popular building form was the Craftsman-style bungalow.

Nearly everything inside the homes—from cabinetry to walls and doors—is made of deeply toned, clear-heart redwood.

One of Brooke Weaver's finest pieces of this genre is an inviting house in San Diego. The home, which has a rambling, primitive canyon falling off its back, is owned by architect Don Reeves.

When Reeves purchased the property five years ago, the house was in a state of benign neglect. He hired 34 homeless workers off the street who worked for months cleaning, rebuilding and remodeling. Layers of paint and finish were stripped from the natural redwood of the old bungalow—"We used tons of trisodium phosphate, and the stuff ran off the walls like Karo syrup," Reeves recalled.

Gradually they transformed the residence into a handsome blend of Craftsman and contemporary design.

The house now is a celebration of oldness and newness.

Entering the house at street level, you are immediately welcomed by the warmth of the original Brooke Weaver design in several rustic redwood rooms. Then the structure steps down to two lower floors, outside of which is a long lap pool supported by a 25-foot concrete retaining wall. Built into the canyon and viewed from upper balconies that plunge your eye down 20 feet, the pool seems almost a painting: The bottom is a spectacular dragon tile mosaic.

"I want to live in a piece of art," said Reeves. "But what I hope I have created is a timeless house."

While great effort went into restoration, Reeves also made some major structural changes on the 73-year-old residence to make it work for life in the '80s.

"I also had a plan to put 4,000 marbles in a concrete ceiling. . ."

- Don Reeves

A large, light-filled kitchen was added to the original 1,500-square-foot home. The new kitchen juts off the west side of the original structure with striking views of the canyon.

The kitchen has 24 skylights with solar screens above an open-beamed ceiling of redwood. The redwood is repeated in the cabinets, which rim nearly the entire perimeter of the room; the cabinets have hardwood countertops.

At the center is a large cooking island topped with white marble that has a reddish-brown mottling that complements the surrounding wood. Included in the island design is a sturdy industrial stove—large enough to bake four dozen cookies at once.

"I like to cook, and I like to have room to cook," Reeves said.

The original house had a dinky kitchen that now functions as a laundry room. The new 500-square-foot kitchen was designed with meticulous attention to detail. Cabinet drawers are partitioned and designed to fit specific items, down to the one and only space for paper towels. There is no stooping or crawling through a cabinet door to reach a can of tomato sauce in this kitchen.

"It's tough enough living," Reeves said. "I don't want a place at home that presents nothing but little aggravations like trying to find something in the kitchen."

He also designed redwood closets in the bedrooms of the older part of the house with the same attention to detail and function. The doors are made of redwood lath, hand-milled on-site and repeating a trademark of Brooke Weaver's architecture. At the bottom of the closets are pullout drawers, again with partitions defining exact spaces for shirts, socks and skivvies.

"I like to be organized," Reeves said. "There's no reason to root through a drawer of socks to find the right pair when you don't need to."

While Reeves' home gives serious attention to functioning well, it also has playful elements. A toy train runs around the kitchen ceiling, cued electronically along a track of redwood boards. At the back of the house, the pool's brightly colored dragon mosaic adds another fantastical touch, and an exotic tile mosaic at the bottom of a nearby Jacuzzi incorporates small tiles set with pieces of gold and precious stones.

"I also had a plan to put 4,000 marbles in a concrete ceiling and sandblast them to create another stunning effect, but it didn't work," Reeves said.

The 4,000 marbles, indeed, were purchased and placed in a ceiling of a downstairs room, but all of them sank too far into the concrete for sandblasting. The room is now used for storage. Reeves said he may try again later in another room.

Another feature added to the house is a shower room with black-and-white tile intricately designed around old fixtures. It has a dramatic skylight and a door opening directly to the canyon.

While restoration and renovation of Reeves' house are virtually complete, the architect continues to find additional projects to enhance it.

There are plans to build a private amphitheater in the canyon, remodel one of the downstairs areas as guest quarters and create more lush landscaping that, Reeves hopes, "will make the back of the house seem to be lost in a redwood forest." He already has planted a number of redwoods that have taken hold.

"I bought this house with the idea that it would be my home forever," he said.

Serve up savory brochettes to Dad

The rest of the year, Dad mans the barbecue. On his day, give him a vacation from the grill. Put on his big apron with the outlandish logo and charcoal-broil some savory brochettes as a special treat for Dear Old Dad.

Brochette is a French word meaning any food that is cooked on a skewer. The versatile term includes everything from the classic shish kebab of lamb or beef to nouvelle combinations of seafood, baby vegetables and fruit. The only ingredients are generally marinated and then grilled or broiled.

For Dad's skewer soiree, provide marinated meats, fresh vegetables, shrimp, halibut or swordfish and a variety of dipping sauces.

You can also ask the other kids and/or guests to bring their favorite barbecue sauces. Fire up the backyard grill or pack a couple of hibachis and head for the park. Use paper plates and disposable bamboo skewers for a no-mess, easygoing gathering.

Meats can be marinated in a blend of oil, spices and wine or vinegar to tenderize and add flavor. Beef, lamb and pork marry especially well with red-wine marinades; fish and poultry with lighter white-wine versions.

Shrimp and subtly flavored sea scallops are complemented by a simple dressing of olive oil, lemon and garlic. Adventurous cooks may wish to add their own touches with sesame or chili oil, liquors, hot sauces or gourmet mustards.

Flavored vinegars are another excellent addition to marinades. Use a heady balsamic vinegar, or one made from Cabernet Sauvignon or Zinfandel, to add zest to lamb or sirloin.

A delicate raspberry or tarragon vinegar is a fine match for chicken or swordfish.

In addition to the marinade, which serves to flavor the ingredients before cooking, most chefs use sauces for basting during grilling or for spooning over finished food. A compound butter (made with minced herbs) or bottled teriyaki sauce are simple possibilities.

Smoky barbecue sauces, fragrant Italian preste or red-hot Mexican salsa add punch to most brochettes. A garlicky aioli dip complements vegetables and seafood. Chutneys and relishes, either purchased or homemade, are another option for spicing up a skewered meal.

SAFARI BROCHETTE

3 (1 1/2-ounce) pieces chicken
3 (1 1/2-ounce) pieces shrimp (medium)
3 (1 1/2-ounce) pieces sirloin

Yields 3 servings
Place 1 piece of each meat on each skewer. Then place on hot barbecue for 3 minutes. Use brush to apply the Safari butter (recipe follows) for a baste and turn once, then check skewer to see if done. If so, apply Safari butter liberally and serve. May be served with a California Merlot.

SAFARI HERB BUTTER

2 pounds butter, room temperature
1/2 ounce Knorr Demi-Glace Concentrate (available in supermarkets)

2 tablespoons water
1 tablespoon minced garlic clove
1/3 cup plus 2 teaspoons fresh lemon juice
1/4 cup A-1 Sauce
1 1/2 teaspoons tabasco
1 ounce chopped parsley
Yields 2 pounds, 12 ounces
Whip butter until light in color, using flat beater.

Blend demi-glace concentrate with water to form paste.

Add this paste and garlic to whipper butter. Blend in thoroughly.

Slowly add lemon juice, A-1 and Tabasco sauce. Combine well. Mix in chopped parsley. Use as directed with Safari Brochette.

MARINATED SEAFOOD BROCHETTES

12 sea scallops
12 jumbo shrimp, shelled and deveined

1 1/2 pounds boneless monkfish fillets, cut into 24 (1 1/2-inch cubes)
3 tablespoons olive oil
1 tablespoon dried rosemary
2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice
1 teaspoon dried coriander
4 tablespoons chopped fresh parsley leaves
Salt and black pepper to taste

Blend all ingredients together in large bowl. Cover with plastic wrap and marinate for 15 minutes at room temperature.

Heat grill or oven broiler to high.

On each of 6 skewers, arrange alternately 2 shrimp, 2 scallops, and 4 pieces of monkfish. Brush with marinade.

Place skewers on grill or under broiler and cook for about 4 minutes; turn skewers and cook for 4 minutes on other side. (An oven broiler should take less time.)

BROCHETTE DE PORC AU ROMARIN

2 1/4 pounds lean, boneless pork
1 cup dry white wine
1 tablespoon finely minced garlic
1 tablespoon dried rosemary leaves
2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
Salt and freshly ground pepper
2 tablespoons olive oil
2 tablespoons white wine vinegar
Melted butter

Yields 6 to 8 servings.
Cut pork into 1 1/2-inch cubes and put meat in mixing bowl.

Add wine, garlic, rosemary, parsley, lemon rind, salt and pepper to taste, olive oil and vinegar. Blend well and set aside to marinate for 2 to 4 hours.

Drain meat. Arrange equal portions of meat on each of 6 to 8 skewers.

Preheat charcoal grill.

Place brochettes on grill and cook, turning pieces often, 15 to 20 minutes or until pork is thoroughly cooked but not dry.

Serve with melted butter poured over.

RED WINE MARINADE

1 1/2 cups dry red wine
1/4 cup red wine vinegar
1/2 cup olive oil
1 small onion, sliced
1 carrot, sliced into coins
1 bay leaf, torn in half
1 teaspoon black peppercorns, crushed
Yields 2 1/2 cups.

Combine ingredients in bowl. Whisk to emulsify. Marinade is excellent for any cut of meat that requires tenderizing.

BUILD BACKYARD PLAY

Story by Alicia Garrison

Safety Tips:

- When choosing a site for play structures, select a level space clear of shrubs and other obstacles. Stay away from underground power lines, sprinkler systems, water and telephone lines. The site should also be within easy view of the house.
- The ground around the equipment should be topped with a semi-soft material such as bark, straw or sand.
- If a swinging rope is to be part of the jungle gym, use a heavy, natural fiber rope no less than 1 inch and no more than 1 1/2 inches in diameter (ropes made from nylon or other artificial fibers are slippery).
- Outside ladders and stairs should be permanently attached and slightly slanted.
- Make sure there are no protruding nails, screws or other sharp objects.
- Use brass or aluminum for screws to prevent rust; all nails should be hot-dipped galvanized.
- Prevent splinters by sanding all rough edges.

Playgrounds fire the imagination

Backyard playgrounds are happy places where children of all ages can laugh, play and learn together.

It's a basis of entertainment that takes your child out into the fresh air and sunshine to enjoy just being a child, away from the sedentary atmosphere of life in front of the TV.

What could be more fun than to spend a lazy afternoon in the sun, soaring through the air on an plunging swing, gliding down slippery twisted slides, or scaling to the top of a jungle gym?

With a little imagination, you can convert your backyard into a creative playground of discovery.

The first step in building a backyard playground is to carefully plan a location for the outdoor play site.

The play site should have open places, private places, high places and low places—features which will spark the imagination.

After you've decided upon a location, you must consider what kinds of play equipment you want to include in your backyard fun center.

A swings is one of the all-time favorites. Hung from a solid tree branch or suspended from a sturdy frame, swings are challenging and fun.

An assortment of swings (vertical, horizontal, trapeze bars and rings) can be hung from a simple wooden post-and-beam frame.

Ideally, the swing frame should be isolated from the rest of the play equipment to prevent collisions. However, if swings are to be combined with a play frame, try to suspend them away from the physical action (there should be at least 30 inches of open space between the swing and its frame).

The swing hangers which connect the rope or chain to the frame are the most important part of a swing design because if they fail, not only will the child crash to the ground, but heavy hardware could land on his head.

For traditional swings, the simplest connections are eyebolts and hitching rings. An S-hook is used to connect each hitching ring to a swing chain.

Ropes or chains are commonly used to suspend swing seats. While rope is more comfortable to grasp, metal chains work out just as well when covered with a protective sheathing.

One of the most common playground injuries is caused by a hit on the head from a swing seat. Therefore, it's wise to use a lightweight seat, something weighing under three pounds.

Belt or strap seats are a safe alternative to wood, metal and plastic. Tires also make good swing seats.

Nothing can replace the thrill of standing high above the world, then swooping your way back down to the ground.

Slides come in many shapes—spirals, waves, tubes, tunnels—and sizes—tall, skinny, short and wide.

There are four basic types of slides: free-standing slides with a ramp and steps installed on an isolated, level patch of lawn; combination slides that are built as a part of a play frame; embankment or mound slides which are embedded into a hillside and follow the contour of the land; and spiral slides, which are generally beyond the space and budget limitations of a family and its backyard.

Whether a slide is free-standing or attached to a play frame, rungs, steps or stairs should be scaled to the size of the sliders, spaced evenly and slanted at an angle (55 to 90 degrees).

Every playground should offer a variety of different objects for kids to climb on. Climbing strengthens muscles and develops coordination.

Though not very high off the ground, balance beams provide a popular form of climbing for kids.

Balance beams are easy to make. You simply secure a six-to-10-foot peeled log or rounded timber to two posts so that it rests 18 to 30 inches off the ground.

A tire crawler, a series of big tires spaced 18 inches apart and sunk vertically halfway into the ground, makes an interesting obstacle course for pre-schoolers to climb through and leap over.

Horizontal climbers, or monkey bars, are physically challenging and promote upper-torso muscle development.

The bars should be small enough in diameter (3/4 to 1 1/2 inches) for kids to grip easily, and spaced 12 to 20 inches apart for comfortable reaching.

A sliding pole is extremely popular with school-age kids and can be constructed easily. It should be placed 18 to 20 inches from the platform of a play frame, so that it is close enough for the child to reach without the risk of leaning too far over.

A bouncing teeter board is also easy to build. All you do is affix a 2 x 10 plank of wood to four coil springs from a car attached to an old wheel hub.

A variety of different playground equipment can be incorporated into a single unit commonly known as the jungle gym (also referred to as a play frame). It can be designed to include different level ladders, poles, trapeze bars, seesaws and slides, allowing kids to use their whole bodies as they weave in and out of spaces, climb, swing and balance.

Like all constructions exposed to hard wear and weather, play equipment requires regular maintenance. Every few months, check for loose parts, missing hardware, warps, splits, broken and corroded parts.

Northville Newcomers welcomes aboard new president

By BRENDA DOOLEY

It was a short but happy term for Carol Mazza.

Mazza was recently named president of the Northville Newcomers. She said she was looking forward to her new responsibilities, but just weeks after becoming new president of the group she has stepped aside. Why?

"I had to resign," Mazza explained. Don't be alarmed — there's a good reason. You see, she won't be a resident of Northville much longer.

The Mazzas are transferring to Miami, Fla., where they have just recently purchased a house. An 18-month resident of Northville, Mazza said she will be sad to leave.

"We have fallen in love with the town," she said, referring to Northville. "Florida is beautiful, though, so come January and February I'll probably be glad I'm there."

As Mazza packs her bags for the sunny South, welcome aboard, Ginny Britton. Britton will take Mazza's place as new president of the Northville Newcomers.

Best of luck to the Mazzas. Think of us in the dead of winter, won't you?

Mother's Club elects new officers

The Northville Mother's Club Life Member Group met at the end of May to elect new officers.

New officers include Dottie Bach, president; Margie Davis, vice-president and secretary; and Marge Longridge, treasurer.

The group is entering its 12th year of existence. Its members were active in the Northville Mother's Club for at least 10 years before becoming eligible for the Life Member Group.

In other Mother's Club news, Barbara Willoughby, the scholarship committee chairperson, announced that two recipients were selected for grants-in-aid, totaling $1,000 each.

The Club received 42 applications for the grants this year. Recipients are Julie Hilfinger and Jennifer Cipicchio. Mother's Club members reported that successful holly sales at Christmas allowed them to offer higher scholarship amounts this year. The Club has distributed 17 scholarships to local students since its formation.

Publicity chairperson Sue Anger said the Life Members Group would like to thank the community for its past support. The group hopes to conduct a similar holly sale in December. Another activity planned in December is the Holiday Open House, hosted in conjunction with the Mother's Club.

Northville volunteers recognized

Nobody can say Northville residents are not involved.

Schoolcraft College officials recently honored more than 90 volunteers for their valuable contributions at their 14th Annual Volunteer Appreciation Luncheon.

During the event, college representatives acknowledged volunteer contributions and appreciation of volunteer support.

Those receiving special recognition from the Northville and Novi areas were Mary Baughman, Stephen Cherne, Paul Dawson, Rita Ketterer, Robert Ketterer, Myrtle Locke, Margot Parsall, Madeline Short, Carolyne Brown, Dorothy Gay, Betty Griffin, Glenna Grosh, Barb Jackson, Suzanne Kaley, Connie Lott, Mary Perna, Wynn Shoebridge, Grace Stanley and Darle Tobel.

Marquis conducts auditions

Got a knack for the stage?

Northville's historic Marquis Theater will host auditions for its upcoming presentation of "The Foreigner," a comedy by Larry Shue.

Audition times are Monday, June 12, from 7:30 to 10 p.m. at the Marquis Theater, 135 E. Main St. in downtown Northville.

During the auditions, interested actors and actresses will be asked to do a cold reading from the script. Those auditioning for parts must bring a current photo and resume to the audition.

Five male roles are open, as well as one older female role. Participants will be paid for their acting work.

Summer Concert Series continues

Northville Arts Commission's Summer Concert Series continues this weekend with a performance by Novi Concert Band.

The band will appear at the Northville Town Square Gazebo Band Shell on Friday, June 9 at 7:30 p.m.

Residents are invited to attend the musical performance. There is no charge for admission.

Happy anniversary, Northville Historical Society.

The group recently celebrated its 25th year. The Society has come a long way since its first charter meeting on Feb. 28, 1964, following more than a year of planning.

Retiring president Carol R. Kiraly reported that at the Society's first meeting, Mrs. Ruth M. Chase was elected president; Mr. Francis P. Gazlay, vice-president; Mrs. E. A. Chapman, recording secretary; and Miss Ruth Knapp, treasurer. Three directors also were elected — Mrs. Blake (Carol) Couse, Mr. Richard Lyon and Mr. Jack Hoffman.

A list of other charter members is not available. Historical Society members would appreciate hearing from any of the past members listed on the initial charter.

Past presidents attending the recent anniversary celebration included Mr. Francis P. Gazlay (1966-66 and 1981-83); Mr. Jim Harris (1974-76); Mr. Ray Riddell (1976-77); Mr. John Brugeman (1983-85); and Mrs. Martha Nield (1985-87).

Those not in attendance included Mrs. Ruth Chase, Mrs. Ruth Starkweather, Mrs. Louese Cansfield, Mr. John Burkman, Mr. William Stockhausen and Mr. Robert Daniel.

After adjourning its annual meeting, the new Board of Directors for the Northville Historical Society met. At that time, the board elected the following officers:

Mr. Stephan Ball, president; Mrs. Mary Jane Cryderman, vice-president; Mr. Arthur Rockall, vice-president; Mrs. Janice Juhasz, secretary; and Mrs. Carol R. Kiraly, treasurer.

Northville resident Marge Jennings has devoted 50 years to the Girl Scout Program. Record/CHRIS BOYD

Golden Girl Scout Jennings awarded for 50 years of service

By BRENDA DOOLEY

Marge Jennings can describe the most rewarding experience in her life in two words — Girl Scouts.

"I've enjoyed every part of my time with the Girl Scouts," Jennings said. "Just working with the girls was rewarding. My life was so enriched through working with the girls."

She's got the photos to prove it. In a photo story published in a Detroit newspaper in the early 1940s, Jennings was captured by a photographer at a Girl Scout camp balancing a pie tin containing an orange on the top of her head. She's down on all fours, ready to snatch a handkerchief laying on the floor in her mouth.

"I can still do that," she said with contagious laughter.

The Northville resident first became acquainted with the Girl Scout program in 1939, when she officially became a member of the organization. She started a 50-year commitment to the group by serving as a troop leader in the University District in Detroit.

Later Jennings enrolled in classes to become a camp crafter and soon she was training other Girl Scout leaders.

In 1945 the good-natured, modest woman moved to Northville. But the move didn't deter her from Girl Scout activities.

Jennings and other influential women in the community undertook a drive to bring Girl Scouting to the Northville and Novi areas. She introduced the program to Novi Girls in 1945.

At the same time, Jennings helped form a Girl Scout Council in Northville.

Nearly 30 years ago the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council was formed to bring together scouting in Livingston, Washtenaw and the western half of Wayne counties. And again, Jennings was involved. She was appointed "launching coordinator" for the entire Huron Valley Council.

"It took a lot of effort to get it off the ground," Jennings recalled.

The move brought about a big change to the Girl Scout organization.

"We bought our own camping equipment for the Northville troop," Jennings said, crediting local organizations and merchants for their contributions to the program.

"When the Council was formed, we had to turn it over."

Throughout the years she devoted a lot of time offering song and games workshops to area Girl Scout leaders. Jennings also taught leadership training courses. And her devotion didn't go unnoticed.

At a Huron Valley Council meeting in May, Jennings was honored for 50 years of service to the Girl Scout program. She received a gold 50-year pin, which she sometimes wears beside her 25-year Girl Scout pin.

"I was so proud to receive the honor," she said. "There were loads and loads of wonderful people who helped along the way. There are many women who I worked with all through the years that deserve just as much credit."

Although she is extremely proud of being honored, Jennings is humble about her achievements.

"I've always been one of those hide your light under a bushel type of people," Jennings explained.

Her involvement with the Girl Scout program began because she had no girls of her own. Instead, she spread her generosity, kindness and humor to girls throughout the area.

Church offers vacation Bible school

School's almost out for the summer. But learning never stops.

Local parents are encouraged to enroll their children in Vacation Bible School.

The First United Methodist Church of Northville will host its annual Vacation Bible School June 20, 21 and 22.

The church is located at Taft and Eight Mile roads in Northville. This year's theme is "Camp Discovery — Discovering God's Creation."

Community registration will be accepted at the church on Saturday, June 10, from 10 a.m. until noon.

Children from surrounding areas are welcome to attend. Advanced registration is required.

Church officials noted that children from Novi, South Lyon, Plymouth, Canton and Farmington took part in last year's Vacation Bible School and they are invited to return.

Preschool "camping" registration for 4- to 5-year-olds requires a $3 donation. Registration for students in kindergarten through sixth grades is $6 each, with a maximum of $12 total from any one family.

"Camp" classes will run from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. for preschoolers and 9:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. for elementary school children. The elementary school-aged children will be asked to bring a sack lunch.

Classes will stress a camping theme. Focus of the classes will follow a more religious nature, including God's creation of the universe.

The classes will be supervised by Jane Berquist, director of Christian education at the church.

For more information about this year's Vacation Bible School, call the church office at 349-1144.

Northville Methodist plans cookout

Hungry for some grilled, home-cooked food?

Save up those appetites. You'll be eating for a good cause.

The First United Methodist Church of Northville will conduct its second annual Church and Society Barbecue Cookout on its grounds on Sunday, June 11.

Those attending the event are asked to contribute a goodwill donation. All proceeds will go toward housing and helping the homeless in the immediate area by donating funds to the Baldwin Avenue Methodist Church of Pontiac.

The cookout and barbecue will feature a tasty menu of steak, chicken, hot dogs, hamburgers and ribs. Accompaniments will include cole slaw, baked beans and fruit. The public is invited to attend the family affair.

Food will be served at about noon until food supplies are gone.

Last year's "party" raised about $1,100, with 323 residents attending. The proceeds were used to house a single parent with eight children in an apartment.

In hopes of helping more homeless people and families, church officials have set a goal of raising twice as much money during this year's "food fest."

The cookout will be held inside the church's lower Fellowship Hall. Cooks will bring in hot cooked food from outside pits, which will be set up in the church parking lot. The lot is located in the southwest corner of Taft and Eight Mile roads in Northville.

The Church and Society Committee, directed by Dale Wolke, is responsible for all work and organization of the barbecue.

You'd pay $26.00 at the newsstand for one year.

Toronto's SkyDome opens this weekend

Hordes of midwesterners "going north" for that special vacation in Toronto will have a treat in store for them this weekend. Their visit will coincide with the opening of the Toronto "SkyDome," and the Detroit Tigers will be among the first visiting teams to break in the new digs.

The Tigers open a four game series with the Blue Jays Friday. They'll wrap it up with a Monday game.

Toronto, long one of the best travel values around, is especially attractive as the weather turns, according to Ed Jamieson, of Northville Travel.

"People go to Toronto regardless, but if they're playing up there, it's a nice additional feature," Jamieson said.

"And the dome is something special. When I first saw the SkyDome last year, it was nothing but a big hole in the ground," he said. "But it's an impressive facility. People are going to be impressed."

About 500,000 Michigan residents venture north every year to take in the sights, sounds, and flavor of Toronto, making it one of the Midwest's hottest travel spots.

In addition to Tiger games, most travel agents offer bookings for any American League teams that play the Blue Jays.

The SkyDome was completed this year after several years of work. The $355-million stadium features a 674-foot retractable roof that can open and close within 20 minutes. It is mounted on a series of tracks — like railroad tracks — that roll the three parts of the roof in and out of place at the push of a button.

The stadium seats 53,000 and has a synthetic turf field. The tops of the stadium is about 30 stories high. It made its debut Monday night in a game with the Milwaukee Brewers.

The Detroit Tigers' visit to Toronto coincides with opening of the SkyDome

It is the first retractable dome of its size in the world. The roof will remain closed from October to May.

Travelers who won't have a chance to travel north with the Tigers this time will get another chance August 22-24.

Travel agents recommend that residents plan their trips early and book reservations well in advance. The trips are quite reasonable — in the $120-$180 price range — including train fare and two nights of accommodations. For an additional cost, sporting event tickets can be purchased directly through the travel agent.

Even if travelers were to drive or organize their own accommodations, they aren't likely to realize any savings because the tour companies are able to purchase space in high quantities and get a substantial discount.

"If you price everything out individually, you wouldn't be able to match it," said Kim Kemp, a travel consultant with Glynn Travel of Novi.

Diane Colliton, an agent with Bennett's Travel in Novi, advised travelers to be prepared to do some hoofing in Toronto.

"It's clean, it's nice," she said. "It's a walking town. There's places to visit everywhere."

Novi Concert Band to play at bandshell

Summer sounds play on.

The Northville Arts Commission's Summer Concert Series continues on Friday, June 9, with a performance by Novi Concert Band.

The band will appear at the Northville Town Square Band Shell (across from the clock) at 7:30 p.m.

The public is invited to attend the performance. Admission to the concert is free.

AUDITIONS SET — Interested in showcasing your acting talents?

Now's your chance. Northville's historic Marquis Theater will conduct auditions for its upcoming presentation of the comedy "The Foreigner" by Larry Shue.

Auditions will be held Monday, June 12 from 7:30 to 10 p.m. at the theater, 135 E. Main St. in downtown Northville. The audition will require aspiring actors and actresses to do a cold reading from the script.

Five male roles are open, as well as one female role. Auditioners are asked to bring along a current photo and resume to the audition.

Performance dates for "The Foreigner" are Sept. 8, 9, 10, 15, 16, 17 and 22, 23 and 24. For more information call Art Rizzo at 865-5988.

CHILDREN'S AUDITIONS — Children with a love for acting also will have a chance to take the stage.

Novi Players will host auditions for its Summer Children's Theater on Monday, June 12 and

In Town

Wednesday, June 14 at 7 p.m. at the Novi Civic Center.

Children and adults, regardless of age and experience, are welcome to audition.

The Novi Players' second annual children's show will be performed at 7:30 p.m. on Friday, July 28 and at 1 p.m. on July 29, 30 and Aug. 5 and 6. For more information call 476-2099.

KIDS CRAFTS — Father's Day is just around the corner.

IT'S HORSE SHOW TIME

How can you tell it's summertime in Michigan?

The answer is: When the horse shows are in full swing. Whether it's a local event put on by the 4-H club or one of the full-blown extravaganzas staged for various breeds at the Michigan State Fairgrounds in Detroit, there's always plenty of action.

This is the time when the riders put on their best show attire and saddle up.

If you are merely an enthusiastic spectator, here's where to go. Since it is impossible to publish data on every show due to space limitations, this is a partial list of those within driving distance.

Kyoto Japanese Steakhouse: Chefs receive applause

DIANE KOVACS

Dining at the Kyoto Japanese Steakhouse may have as much to do with showmanship as it does with cuisine.

The latest in the chain of Kyoto Japanese Steakhouses opened its doors recently in Farmington Hills — on Haggerty Road near Eight Mile, across from the Novi Hilton.

It's the fourth Kyoto Steakhouse in Michigan. The others are located in Troy, Dearborn and the Renaissance Center in Detroit.

What makes the Kyoto Steakhouses genuinely different from most other Japanese and Chinese restaurants is the manner in which the food is prepared and served.

Each dinner is prepared and served by specially-trained Kyoto chefs at what is called a Teppanyaki table.

Diners are called to tables in groups ranging from six to 12 people. They are seated at the same time around the Teppanyaki table which features a large grill right in the center.

Shortly after you're seated, the waitperson arrives to take your order and bring you a bowl of Onion Soup a la Kyoto and a Kyoto salad bowl.

The showmanship begins when the chef arrives shortly later.

After examining the orders of the people seated at the table, he goes to work. Large portions of vegetables, shrimp, steak, chicken, scallops, monkfish — whatever has been ordered — are tossed on the grill and the chef begins preparing the meal before your very eyes.

Chef Steve Kim prepares a dinner at the Kyoto Japanese Steakhouse in Farmington Hills

It's truly quite a show. The chefs move at a rapid speed, slicing, flipping and chopping the food. And then delivering it to the plates according to their specific orders.

It's not unusual for the chef to receive a round of applause from the diners after he's finished preparing the meal.

The newest Kyoto Steakhouse offers the typical selection of wines and mixed drinks. As you might surmise, the cocktails have those cute little Oriental names — Fjui Snow, Okinawa Sunrise and the Ninja, for example — and are served in funny little glasses designed to look like a samurai or some other Japanese attraction.

But you also can order imported Japanese beers, sake (cold or hot) and a Japanese plum wine.

Dinners are served a shrimp appetizer and the aforementioned onion soup and salad bowl, as well as oriental vegetables, rice and tea.

As for the entrees themselves, the selection is rather straightforward, but more than adequate.

Beef and poultry selections include Teppanyaki filet mignon, Kyoto sirloin, Teriyaki chicken and Hibachi chicken as well as "The Shogun," which is described as a "sumo portion of sirloin for the hungry Samurai."

Seafood selections include Hibachi shrimp,

Bonsai scallops, Teppanyaki monkfish and Hibachi Lobster Tail a la Kyoto.

In addition, there are five combination plates which feature combinations of the other choices. The Samurai Special, for example, features filet mignon and Hibachi shrimp, while the "Sea of Japan" includes monkfish, shrimp and scallops.

Chopsticks are provided at every place, but regulation silverware is available when requested.

There's no question about the popularity of the Kyoto Steakhouse. Reservations are recommended, and you had better call several days in advance if you want to visit on a Friday or Saturday.

But be aware before you go not to expect intimate seating arrangements... and that you will probably be seated at the same table with a group of people you don't know unless there are 10-12 people in your party.

Kyoto Japanese Steakhouse, 21150 Haggerty Road, Farmington Hills. 348-7900. Open for lunch Monday through Thursday from 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Open for dinner Monday through Thursday from 5:30 to 10:30 p.m. and Friday, Saturday and Sunday from 5:30 to 11:30 p.m. Liquor license. Nick Brazen, 5, of Northville, spends most of his time these days majoring in Kindergarten at Silver Springs Elementary School. The son of Cindy and Ed Ashley, Nick can also be seen walking through town with his mother and sister Ashley, 4. When not in school, Nick said his favorite things include:

1. PLAYING GAMES — Nick said he enjoys playing many different games, but noted his favorite is still Bingo.
2. RIDING BIKES — "I just learned how to ride," Nick said, adding he can now ride without the aid of training wheels.
3. SWIMMING — With the warm summer months approaching, Nick said he really enjoys swimming — especially at his grandmother's house.
4. T-BALL — Nick is gearing up for the big leagues, as he is participating in a summer league in Northville.
5. PLAYING WITH BLOCKS — With most of his day already booked solid, Nick said he still finds time to play with his favorite blocks.

Players look to solid future

By JEFF HAWKINS

While most coaches contend that winning is everything, Northville head coach Bob Frellick believes the most important thing in baseball is not the final score, but what the kids learn from the game.

"Too much emphasis is put on winning and losing," Frellick said. "The important thing is teaching the kids to do their best."

Coming off a season that included a 10-17 record and a pitching staff that had virtually no early-season success, the Mustangs took a 0-8 start and developed into a team with a solid future.

"We have a lot of experience coming back both offensively and defensively," Frellick said.

While most would consider this past season as a rebuilding year for the Mustangs, Frellick believed that it was just part of a cycle that every high school team must go through at one time or another.

"A couple of years ago, when we won the championship, we had solid pitching," Frellick said.

Now, after the sophomore class received some valuable experience at the varsity level, the expectations for Northville remain in the eyes of the beholder.

"This group worked and learned better than any other team I have had," Frellick said. "They learned to play together, be aggressive and assume responsibilities for their actions."

Seniors Jim Willerer, Dave McKay, Randy Jones and Brian Frellick bid a fond farewell to their old orange and black uniforms, but not without creating a lasting impression on anyone who had the pleasure of watching these athletes play.

"We'll miss those players," Frellick said.

After starting their varsity careers half-way through their sophomore seasons, each provided positive dividends in their attempt to pull Northville from a club bordering on mediocrity to a future contender for the Western Lakes Athletic Association.

Tough shot

For most people last Saturday was a tough day to be outside, but for the Northville girls soccer squad — it was a great day to be outside. The girls won the regional finals against Saginaw-Heritage under conditions more fit for a duck, than a girl. Above, Michelle McQuaid heads the ball during the first half action. McQuaid went on to score the game winning goal. Northville advances to the final four of the state championship.

Sweet victory

Girls soccer team wins regional final

By JEFF HAWKINS

Any cynics who don't think that a victory is sweet — must not have seen the Northville girls soccer team defeat Saginaw-Heritage in the regional final of the girls soccer tournament in Grand Blanc last Saturday.

After defeating the Hawks 2-1, the Mustangs danced, shouted, picked Head Coach Bob Paul up over their heads and celebrated a conquest that now leads them into the state soccer final four for the second year in a row.

During the pre-game warmup a Heritage player shouted: "They ain't winning — no way!" words that echoed for only a short time.

The Mustangs started the first-half fighting not only the Hawks, but the weather as well. Through much of the first stanza rain fell harder than Hawk defenders trying to force Northville out of their own end.

"We controlled the game," assistant Coach Doug Lyon said. "We had a lot more opportunities and shots."

The game's first big scoring chance came on a breakaway by forward Shannon Loper. After receiving a pass from teammate Marcie Dart, she weaved through the defense and came in all alone on Hawk goalie Colleen Gilleylen. Loper's shot beat Gilleylen to her right but it deflected harmlessly off the goalpost and the score remained deadlocked at zero.

Like Northville, the rain gained momentum in the middle stages of the first half. Time and time again the Mustangs galloped past the Hawk defense, pressuring Gilleylen to stop the onslaught of shots raining from the feet of Mustang forwards.

"She's the reason why they're there," Lyon said. "She was an exceptional goalie."

Loper, again, broke away from the pack of defenders and centered in on the net hanging between the posts that robbed her the time before. Winding up from about 10 feet, she shot wide, missing another chance of giving Northville the lead.

"It wasn't so frustrating because we knew it was just a matter of time until we scored," Lyon said. "I thought she would get a goal but they started marking her tighter."

With the rain finally starting to die, Heritage scored the first goal of the game on a bizarre play mid-way through the first half.

When the Hawks' Tammy Anderson dribbled up past mid-field, Dart, who was defending her at the time, slipped on the wet field. With no one around to distract her, the Hawk forward flew to the goal and shot off the right goalpost. After taking a strange bounce, Heritage scored on a wide-open net.

The Mustangs countered with their first goal when they caught Heritage standing around in the front of their goal toward the end of the first half.

After Gilleylen stopped the initial shot fired in her direction, forward Ashley Maclean tipped in a deflection to send the teams into the lockerroom for intermission tied at one apiece.

The rain had stopped by the start of the second half, but the intensity continued throughout the remainder of the game.

"We were satisfied with the way their intensity held up through the game," Lyon said. "We were kind of worried going into the game but we had a good practice the night before and the girls held it the whole game."

The second half proved less one-sided as the Mustangs and Hawks exchanged trips down field. Each gave room to work but was selfish in their attempts to grant an opportunity to score. The up and down play seemed to take a toll on the players toward the end of the game.

"They were a little tired towards the end of the game," Lyon said. "The ball gets heavier in the rain."

With Heritage subjecting themselves to a zone defense, fullback Michelle McQuaid snuck in from her defensive position and shot the Hawks down with the winning

Sun shines on spectators at local charity golf open

By ANNE E. WILLIS

The sun finally shone on the Buick Dealers Charity Open at Meadowbrook Country Club in Northville.

By afternoon on Monday, June 5, the sun shone down on pros and amateurs alike as the second annual Charity Golf Classic teed off.

While the morning fivesomes found clouds and colder temperatures to be the rule of thumb, Andy Soley, head pro at Meadowbrook said the weather was actually very good for the day. "It's nice, a lot better than having the hot sun beating down on us," Soley said.

Last year's open was a wet one, with rain spoiling an otherwise good turnout for the initial outing.

Low pro for this year was Fred Couples, shooting a three under par 69 for the day. Couples headed out one over par for the first nine holes, with a 36, but as the weather warmed up, so did his game and he shot out with a final of 33, four under for the final nine.

Ian Baker Finch and D.A. Weibring were second with 70; Mark Wiebe, Jay Haas, Doug Tewell and Tim Matthews turned in 71s to round out the top three in the pro ranks.

Over 1000 spectators were out throughout the day to catch the visiting PGA pros as well as sports and media celebrities such as John Chabot and Greg Stefan from the Detroit Red Wings and Frank Beckman of WJR fame.

The winning pro-am fivesome headed up by Bob Gilder took first place with a 129 score, 15 points under par. The scoring for the pro-am portion was done on a two best-ball format. Amateurs playing with Gilder included Tony Georgio, Jack McCullagh, Tom Celani and Virgil Cummings.

Coming in second was the fivesome of Mark Wiebe-pro, Tim Kelling, Tim Blett, Chuck Mayne and Robert Wood. They shot a 132 for a 12-under final score.

Next on the leader board was the Ian Baker Finch group. Amateurs included Jim McElya, Bruce Gerish, George Magy and Chuck Hirschert. They ended the day at 11 under with a 133.

D.A. Weibring's group ended the day with a 134, a credible 10-under. Dave Schroeder, Kim Dobson, John Crankshaw and Jim Dunlevy were the amateurs in the group.

John Chabot, center for the Red Wings, thought the outing was "a lot of fun." Chabot, with Wing's teammate

Mustangs place in league meet

By ANNE E. WILLIS

In their final action of the season, the Northville girls track team found themselves the victim of some bad weather at last Wednesday's (May 31) league meet.

The meet was called with just two events remaining because officials determined it was storming too badly to continue competition.

Despite the rainout, Northville Coach Mike Webb was pleased overall with his squad's performance.

"They did a heckuva lot better than I expected," Webb said. The only "expected" player to place in the meet was Kendra Huard, Webb said, who had been ranked fifth in the 400 prior to the meet. Huard pulled out a sixth place finish with a time of 62.9 for the afternoon.

But in addition to Huard, several other Mustangs managed to place. Ris Fleming, previously ranked 13th in the 300 hurdles, moved "way up" according to Webb to place eighth overall.

Likewise, Dawn Leland, one of the two seniors on the team, was ranked somewhere around 23rd prior to the meet for the 400. Leland pulled out a seventh place finish with a time of 63.2. Mari Kissinger was ranked "in the 20s", Webb said for the 800 and she went way up to place third at the league meet.

Other results included Lisa Ailmone who placed sixth in the high jump with a jump of 4'-10". Ris Fleming placed eighth in the high jump at 4'-8".

Trish Lukomski took a seventh place finish in the 200 with a time of 28.7.

Webb said the end of the season leaves him looking forward to next year.

"We have a lot of young people on the team and it's great they're going to be around. We're losing only two seniors, (Leland and Leigh Bills) and while we're certainly going to miss them, it's great to have all the freshmen and sophomores," he said. Junior Rachel Davis will be back for the team next year, as well, he said.

The 35 kids on the team this year were "the most that have come out since girls track has been around," Webb said. The numbers are increasing the pool of talent available and the depth he is able to field at the events, he said.

"It helps us compete with schools like Churchill with 70-80 kids on the team. Also, that way you don't have to run your kids ragged in every event."

All pro swing

PGA pro golfer Fred Couples showed the crowd of spectators a nice swing as he teed off Monday morning at Meadowbrook Golf Club. The second annual Metro Buick Dealers Golf Classic brought out the pros and the amateurs. Couples had a very good day on the course, he was the medalist of the professionals, shooting a 69, three under par, for the day. For more coverage of the tournament, see page 10D.

goal on a perimeter shot outside the penalty area.

The fans at Dan Batchler Field went crazy after the referee blew the final whistle, signaling the end of the contest and Heritages' season.

The two-sides shook hands and a Heritage player quietly said: "Good game, you deserved to win."

Northville advanced to the state semifinal round against Kalamazoo-Central (15-2), June 7, after Record deadline. If they notch a win there they will go on to the state finals on Saturday, June 10 against the winner of the Farmington (16-0-4) Troy-Athens (20-2-1) semi. The finals will be played at 1 p.m. at North Farmington High School in Farmington Hills.

NORTHVILLE 4, WALLED LAKE WESTERN 1:

Forward Shannon Loper scored the winning overtime-goal in Northville's regional semi-final clash with the Walled Lake Western Warriors to catapult the Mustangs into the regional finals against the high-flying Hawks of Saginaw-Heritage.

After Walled Lake Western scored the tying goal in the closing moments of regulation play on May 31, the Mustangs humbled the Warriors by scoring three overtime goals to dispose of their conference rival 4-1.

"We dominated the game," Lyon said.

Coming into the contest the Mustangs were confident they could beat the less talented Walled Lake Western squad. This was a certainty that proved to be a problem in the latter stages of the match.

"The only goal they scored was with little time remaining in the game," Lyon said.

While the Warriors mounted a defensive-minded game plan, the Mustangs took advantage of that philosophy and continually forced the play into the Western end.

"It was a typical Northville game," Lyon said.

The Northville goals were scored by Loper, halfback Marcy Dart and two by fullback Michelle McQuaid.

After the Mustangs galloped out to an early 1-0 lead, the perennial powerhouse failed to produce any more goals against the weaker Warrior team before the gun sounded to end the first half.

At the start of the second, the score remained the same until a defensive letdown caused the Mustangs to lose their lead.

As time ran out in the second half, the disappointed Northville kickers turned up their momentum and succeeded in scoring three overtime goals to kill the Warriors chances of pulling off one of the biggest upsets of the season thus far.

"The intensity just wasn't there," Lyon said. "They didn't play bad, but the team looked a little sluggish."

Residents encouraged to fish for free

Michigan's fourth annual Free Fishing Weekend is June 10-11. All fishing and trout/salmon stamp fees will be waived these two days for residents and outstate visitors on the state's inland and Great Lakes waters, according to the Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

This special weekend is held each year in Michigan in conjunction with the National Fishing Week, June 5-11, which is chaired this year by General Chuck Yeager. Michigan joins 24 other states in offering free fishing days.

new anglers," DNR Director David F. Hales said.

A fishing event planner packet and other fishing promotion and support materials are available from the DNR to groups planning fishing clinics, derbies and tournaments during the special weekend. The packets can be obtained by calling the DNR's Fisheries Division at 517-373-1280.

Many fishing derbies and clinics will be held statewide to coincide with the state's Free Fishing Weekend

The DNR will waive the $2 car and $4 car/trailer entry fees at its 44 user-fee public access boat launching sites (not State Parks) during June 10 and 11.

DNR statistics show more than two million anglers fish in Michigan each year, including an estimated half million salmon anglers.

To keep abreast of fishing conditions statewide, anglers may call the DNR's 24-hour, weekly updated fishing conditions hotline at 517-373-0908.

Golf tournament planned

Schoolcraft College Foundation's sixth annual Golf Tournament is slated for Tuesday, June 20, at Western Golf and Country Club. Area residents are invited to participate in this daylong fun and fund raising event. Both morning and afternoon starting times are available. Proceeds from the tournament will go towards student scholarships and special College projects.

The $135 ticket includes 18 holes of golf, green fees, golf cart, locker room facilities, lunch and dinner. Evening activities include a gourmet dinner at the country club, trophies and door prizes. A new Pontiac Grand Am will be available for the first hole-in-one on the ninth hole.

Donations to the Schoolcraft College Foundation are tax deductible to the extent of the law. For further information, call 462-4417.

RECREATION BRIEFS

OPEN SWIMMING: There will be no open swimming at the Northville High School during the week of June 12-16. Open swimming resumes the week of June 19 with the following hours: Monday through Friday, 12:45 to 2 p.m.; and Tuesday and Thursday from 7 to 8 p.m.

Open swim fees are $1 per person, payable at the door. Children under 10 must be accompanied by an adult.

WHIRLYBIRD NIGHT: Whirlyball is a fast-paced skill sport that uses a vehicle to maneuver the players around the court. Anyone can operate the "Whirly Bug" machine, catch the lightweight whiffle ball in the Jai-Alai glove and pass it into the goal for a score.

Ready to give it a try? Northville Community Recreation will sponsor a night of Whirlybird playing on Tuesday, June 27. A $20 fee includes round trip transportation from the Northville Community Center, pizza and beverages and two hours of non-stop whirlyball action. Participants must be over 21 years old to take part in the sport.

Departure time is 6:15 p.m. Transportation will return to Northville at 10 p.m.

SOCCER TRYOUTS: Open tryouts will be conducted for boys born in 1976 who are interested in playing in the Premier Soccer League for Northville Sting.

Tryouts will be Friday, June 9 and Saturday June 10 from 6 p.m. until 8:30 p.m. at Training Center 1 on Sheldon Road between Five and Six Mile roads.

Call Harve Rossing at 348-6826 or Ed Sieracki, 981-4787 for information. Bring a ball and water.

SOCCER REGISTRATION: Registration for the Fall of '89 soccer program will be held at the Northville Community Center. League officials and coaches will be available to answer questions and accept registrations on June 10 from 9 a.m.-3 p.m.

Participants are encouraged to register at one of these two dates.

Mustangs of the Week

Members of the Northville girls soccer team on the roster for the regional final last Saturday: Jenny Howland, Ashley MacLean, Kim Kaphengst, Karen Cavanaugh, Heather Sixt, Abby Edwards, Colleen Regan, Cindi Tolstedt, Marcie Dart, Merlynn Millgard, Neysa Colizzi, Beth Swayne, Debbie Stevens, Michelle McQuaid, Shannon Loper, Pam Yezback, Jenny Beyersdorf, Amy Goode, Lynne Mazza, Kristi Turner, Wendy Carroll, Karen Kepner, Beth Ursel, Kelly Kronberg and Laura Whitely.

The Northville girls soccer team made it two years in a row that they have advanced to the final four of state championship action. The team played a tough game on Saturday in rainy conditions and managed to do go beyond their standard of excellent defensive play — to put the necessary offensive points on the board.

For their determination and excellent teamwork, the entire team has been named "Mustangs of the Week".

While the defensive squad kept the ball away from the Mustang goal, the offense moved the ball well, despite murky conditions. Scoring opportunities were in the Mustang's favor as the team worked together to keep the ball in the opponents territory.

CITY OF NOVI RESIDENTS YOU CAN HELP KEEP WATER RATES DOWN

There are various factors which enter into Detroit's rate making methodology to establish "cost of service". Among the factors which have a strong influence on the water rates are each community's peak flows, peak hour flow, and maximum day flow.

Each year these factors are updated by Detroit, based on records from the previous year.

WHAT YOU CAN DO

You can directly influence these factors. This can be accomplished through the lowering of maximum day and peak hour flow rates. The key factor contributing to this high demand is summer lawn sprinkling.

RESIDENTS CAN DEMONSTRATE THEIR CONCERN BY COOPERATING IN A VOLUNTARY CITY WIDE SPRINKLING PROGRAM.

WATER CUSTOMERS WITH AN EVEN NUMBER ADDRESS: SPRINKLE ON EVEN NUMBERED DAYS

WATER CUSTOMERS WITH AN ODD NUMBER ADDRESS: SPRINKLE ON ODD NUMBERED DAYS

IF POSSIBLE DO NOT SPRINKLE DURING THE PEAK DEMAND HOURS OF

6 A.M. - 9 A.M.

5 P.M. - 8 P.M.

ALL WATER CUSTOMERS WITH AUTOMATIC SPRINKLING SYSTEMS SHOULD SET THEIR TIME CLOCKS FOR SPRINKLING BETWEEN THE HOURS OF 12:00 MIDNIGHT AND 6:00 A.M., WHICH IS NORMALLY A LOW DEMAND PERIOD.

Greg Stefan and pro Fred Couples, were big draws for spectators of all ages. "This is fun. I've never played in front of people before," Chabot said.

Any nervousness the hockey player felt was certainly not noticeable as he hit a powerful drive straight up the fairway on the third hole, to scattered applause from the gallery.

Chabot said he began playing golf only three years earlier, but that he's "getting better" the more he plays. "It's something different," he said. "It's just you against the course, you're really on your own."

Local businessman Bill Cook said that the real reason for his being on the course, other than for the fun of the game, was for the charities involved. Money raised through gate sales went to the Evans Scholarship Foundation, a scholarship fund for caddies, and the American Lung Association.

Commenting on the overcast morning skies, Cook said "I just hope it doesn't deter the crowds," so that the charities suffer.

By mid-morning the skies had cleared and Cook's fears were groundless.

Northville resident Geraldine Armbruster, a Meadowbrook member volunteer on the No. 2 green said as a golfer she was anxious to see the pros in action. "You learn a lot," Armbruster said. "You wish you could do the things they do, they make it look so easy."

Barb Vandermass, a Novi resident and Meadowbrook member, was out enjoying the day — once the weather broke. "We even let our kids play hockey," Vandermass confessed. Both her son and daughter are avid golfers, although the lure of the Red Wings was also a big draw.

Son Richie, 11, just broke 100, he said, and plays weekly in a league at the club. "I like to see all the pros," he said, "especially Freddie Couples." Richie admitted to "sort of" picking up some pointers from the experts.

Food to go

Residents cater to Pistons

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

The Detroit Pistons are the only professional team in America to have its very own private jet. It's called — appropriately — 'Roundball One' and it's first class all the way.

Roundball One has been in service for two seasons now and it's the main reason why the Bad Boys of basketball are now used to traveling first class. While in the air, the Pistons can expect all the extras on board like T.V.'s, VCRs, stereos and lots of food... especially food.

As you might imagine, satisfying the hungry appetites of large men like Rick Mahorn, Bill Laimbeer and James Edwards isn't an easy job. That's where Mike and Joann Donovan of Rose Foote Catering come into the picture.

The Donovans live in Northville and own the catering company that provides food for Roundball One. Rose Foote — located in Farmington Hills but moving to Westland soon — has been in business for nearly 30 years and the Pistons are without a doubt their most famous clients.

"We cater big companies like Ford Aerospace and IBM, but it doesn't have the impact or the recognition of the Detroit Pistons," Mike Donovan said. "Everybody knows who the Pistons are."

When the National Basketball Association (NBA) squad purchased a used passenger plane and turned it into their own personal flying lounge at the start of the 1987-88 season, one of the first things they did was call Rose Foote.

"The girl that's in charge of 'Roundball ne' — Dusty Graves — used to work for a supplier of ours," Donovan said. "She contacted me about catering for them and we were all for it."

"Basically, she'll call us whenever she needs food for a flight and she tells us what they want. It usually varies, depending on the length of the flight, and what time of day they are taking off."

Most of the time, Rose Foote provides snack-type items like salads and sandwiches for the Pistons. Especially when the team is traveling short distances — like to Chicago or Cleveland.

"I'd say we cater to them on about a third of their flights," Donovan estimated. "If they are flying out right after a home game, they usually give us a call."

For instance, on the team's short flight from Metro Airport to Chicago on May 26 for game three of the Eastern Conference Championship Series, Rose Foote provided a tray with chicken wings and fruit.

"We pull up to the terminal, I tell Dusty we're there, she signs the invoice, calls down to the gate and lets us in," Donovan said. "We generally take the food and put it right on the plane, but we are there about an hour before the players arrive. I have seen (Piston Head Coach) Chuck Daly and his coaching staff on occasion."

"From what I understand, the Pistons are still the only professional team that has their own private jet. I've been hearing talk that the Red Wings are planning on getting a plane for next season because it's worked so well for the Pistons."

Because he's one of only a few who've seen the inside of 'Roundball One' in person, Donovan can vouch for its luxury and opulence. But he also points out that the plane isn't used for wild parties at 30,000 feet in the air.

"It's real nice inside," he said. "They took a passenger plane, removed all the seats, gutted the inside and put couches, chairs and things in there."

"They have a few T.V. monitors and VCR's on board, but they use that for reviewing game films. I've been told the flights are more like working trips than anything else."

That may be true, but a lot of people would love the opportunity to commute to and from work in such an environment.

Coach downplays importance of winning tion crown. "We're going to miss not only their baseball abilities but also their personalities," Frellick said. "They are super kids."

But the biggest question heading into next season is the dilemma surrounding the pitching staff.

After starting the season by giving up 29 runs in the first three games, the rotation steadily improved through the course of the campaign.

"I thought the pitching would improve and it did," Frellick announced. "They worked hard all year and ended the season with an earned run average of 4.3."

With the addition of the sophomore class, their rotation should blend in

Juniors Steve Bastian, Pat Cozdron, Joe Kaley, Mike MacDonell and John Schrieber now hold the responsibility of leading the Mustangs.

As the soon-to-be seniors on the squad, the burden of winning or losing now rests on their shoulders, or does it?

"Winning is secondary," Frellick said. "Developing a winning attitude and believing that they did their best is what's important. It's a matter of on any given day, anyone can win. Too often people think if you didn't win then you didn't accomplish anything."

"It's just not true."

County insurance agents sponsor golf tournament

The Independent Insurance Agents of Wayne County will sponsor a qualifying tournament for local golfers 17 and under to open the annual Big "I" Insurance Youth Golf Classic (IYGC), the nation's largest youth golf event.

The Wayne County round will be played at Brae-Burn Golf Club in Plymouth on June 26.

Mary Yurko, IYGC Chairperson for the Wayne County Independent Insurance Agents, says more than 900 young golfers entered 18 qualifying tournaments in Michigan last year.

"Winners of the local tournaments will compete in the Michigan finals on July 16-17 in Cadillac," Yurko said. "And the top six Michigan winners will have the chance of a lifetime to play with a PGA pro at the national IYGC finals at the Texarkana Country Club this August in Arkansas."

Teen golfers are paired with touring pros for the final IYGC round. Last year's participating pros included: Billy Mayfair; U.S. Amateur Champion, Bill Rogers; former British Open Champion Tommy Armour, III. The IYGC teen winner is also eligible to play as an exempt amateur in the Independent Insurance Open (formerly the Houston Open).

Entry blanks, rules and regulations on entering the local qualifying round are available at the Keh Agency, Inc., 13113 Trenton Road, Southgate 313-284-0942.

Last year's IYGC attracted more than 10,000 youngsters to 800 local and state tournaments organized by independent insurance agents as a community service effort by local businessmen and women.

The Big "I" IYGC is sponsored by the Independent Insurance Agents of America and a number of leading insurance companies.

Caution advised when sunbathing

Sun worshipers, beware.

Dermatologists are issuing daily warnings that the sun is bad for the skin. Warnings aside, skin specialists at the University of Michigan Medical Center in Ann Arbor say it's still possible to achieve a healthy look while maintaining healthy skin.

The key to striking a balance between tanning and damaging your skin is moderation.

"I think most people who want tans can back off by 50 percent and still have a nice tan," said Charles N. Ellis, associate professor of dermatology at the University of Michigan Medical Center. "Anyone who goes for a rich, deep tan is really punishing their skin."

While Ellis and his colleagues at the University of Michigan Sun-Damaged Skin Program don't promote tanning, they do offer the following advice for those who can't resist the rays of the sun:

- If you must tan, don't burn. "We're learning that a sunburn is the worst thing you can do to your skin," Ellis said.

- Choose the right sunscreen based on your skin's sensitivity to sunlight and the planned amount of exposure. Tanning products that screen out damaging ultraviolet rays are labeled with sun protection factor (SPF) ratings.

SPFs range from two to 50. An SPF of two means that you can spend twice as much time in the sun without burning as you could with no sunscreen; the higher the SPF, the higher the protection level.

However, an extremely high SPF doesn't necessarily guarantee long-term protection, Ellis said. The higher-numbered products will "wash off, wear off, or it will be dark outside," before you exceed their theoretical protection limit, he said.

Sunscreens are available in three basic formulas — para-aminobenzoic acid (PABA) or PABA derivatives, non-PABA chemical sunscreens and thick ointments that physically block the sun, such as zinc oxide. Zinc oxide is most commonly used on small trouble spots, such as the nose. Allergic reactions are more common with PABA-type sunscreens.

- Don't count on sunscreens for full protection. Even with a high SPF, a sunscreen can't block all the damaging rays. If your skin burns easily, rely on hats and protective clothing if you plan long days in the sun. This is especially important if you are using tretinoin cream to reverse the effects of sun damage and aging, since tretinoin appears to reduce slightly the skin's natural SPF, Ellis said.

Record/CHRIS BOYD

Doctors recommend protective screens before going out in the sun

- People with darker skin have some degree of natural protection against the sun due to the higher level of pigment, or melanin, in their bodies. Blond, Nordic types have the greatest risk of burning.

- Children should be protected from excessive sun exposure, as they may suffer the consequences decades later.

- Remember that sunlight is a form of radiation and can be reflected off sand and water at the beach, increasing total exposure. "People who worry about radiation exposure should realize that in a day on the beach they will absorb a total amount of energy that's probably many times that of chest X-ray," Ellis said.

- Cloudy days aren't necessarily safe days. A good deal of radiation can filter through the clouds. Likewise, rain blocks only a small amount of the sun's radiation.

- Some medications prescribed by your doctor may cause increased sensitivity to sunlight. If you are taking photosensitizing drugs, wear protective clothing and sunscreens.

- If you get sunburned, immerse the area in cold water. Do not use ointments or greases. Take pain relievers containing aspirin if necessary and see a doctor if substantial blistering occurs or if the burn does not heal quickly.

Schoolcraft offers one-day fitness class

"Think trim, be trim" is the philosophy of this one-day fitness seminar offered by Schoolcraft College on June 24 from 9 a.m.-4:30 p.m. The fee is $40.

An unhealthy relationship to food leads to unwanted pounds. Workshop participants will learn new ways to think and behave that encourage a healthful association between self and food. Participants develop a personalized plan of action to maximize dieting success.

Schoolcraft College is located at 18600 Haggerty Road, between Six and Seven Mile Roads, in Livonia. For further information, please call 462-4448.

CANCER SCREENING: To aid in early detection of colon cancer, the University of Michigan Medical Center's M-Care Health Center is offering free screening kits.

These take-home kits are easy-to-use, painless and can be done in privacy, at home. For your convenience, the sample is mailed back to the M-Care Health Center for analysis. Results will be available three to four days after the sample is received.

To pick up your free kit, stop in the M-Care Health Center in Northville. Hours vary so please call 344-1777 for more information.

YMCA RUN: The Plymouth Community Family YMCA will be sponsoring the 10th Annual Run on June 18 through the streets of downtown

Fitness Notes

Plymouth. There will be three races: a one mile run/walk, a 5 kilometer run and a 10 kilometer run.

The pre-registration fee is $8 for the one mile and $10 for the 5K and 10K runs. There are 14 age divisions for both male and female runners. Plaques are awarded to the top three finishers overall in all three races.

Long sleeve T-shirts are included in the race fee and refreshments will be available to all runners at the finish line. Registration the morning of the race ($10 for one mile, $12 for 5K and 10K) begins at 7 a.m. The one mile run/walk and the 5K will start at 8 a.m. and the 10K will follow at 8:45 a.m.

MATERNITY FITNESS: The Motherwell Maternity Fitness Program at the University of Michigan Medical Center offers classes every Tuesday and Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the M-Care Health Center in Northville.

The medically-approved exercise classes, designed specifically for pregnant women, are taught by certified instructors and provide many benefits

FITNESS PROGRAM: A fitness program for community and corporate employees is now available at Schoolcraft College in Livonia Monday through Friday from 6:30 to 8 a.m. and 4:30 to 6 p.m.

Participants can take advantage of a full-competition swimming pool with a separate diving area, six racquetball courts, a weight training room, a dance training room and muscle soothing saunas. A 12-week membership is $40 and a six-week membership is $22. The facilities also can be used for $3 per visit.

Schoolcraft College is located at 18600 Haggerty Road between Six and Seven Mile in Livonia. For more information call 462-4413.

CPR CLASSES: Botsford General Hospital in Farmington Hills is offering adult CPR classes and infant/child CPR classes.

The adult program is offered the first Thursday of every month in the Administration and Education Center from 7-10 p.m. Pre-registration is required.

The infant/child program is offered the first Monday of every month in the Administration and Education Center from 7-10 p.m. Pre-registration is also required.

Fee is $5 for each class. Call 471-8090 for more information.

Fitness Tips

Swimming helps tone all body muscles

By SYLVA DVORAK

Swimming is probably the best all-around exercise.

- It is an aerobic exercise if performed at the proper intensity (at your target heart rate) for at least 20-30 minutes.

- It works more than two-thirds of the body's total muscle mass, going easy only on the upper legs.

- It develops muscle strength and endurance, and improves posture and flexibility.

- It allows the water to support your body so stress is taken off the bones and joints.

- It is especially good for the elderly, overweight, pregnant women, and those with low back problems or joint problems such as arthritis, because of the buoyancy factor.

If you do not know how to swim, contact local colleges, the local parks and recreation department or health clubs. The organizations usually offer classes for all ages at varied times. If you are hesitant to take up swimming because you don't know how, you may be surprised at how easy it is to learn.

An inefficient stroke makes swimming awkward and harder. When choosing a facility, you may want to visit during lap swim to see how crowded the pool is.

- Don't forget to warm-up and stretch before you swim and cool-down and stretch after you are done swimming. This will help protect you from injury and muscle soreness.

The only equipment or attire you need is a good swimming suit. A good suit should be light weight and made of nylon which will last longer than other materials. The suit should fit snugly to streamline your body, but should not be so tight that it is uncomfortable.

Goggles will reduce the risk of eye problems due to chlorine, salt, sand and micro-organisms, and also make it easier to see. It may take some effort to find goggles that fit properly, but it's worth the trouble.

If you have the opportunity to swim in open water — such as an ocean, river or lake — always make sure lifeguards are present and check with the marine patrol for information on weather, tides, depth, currents, undergrowth and other factors that could affect your swim.

Swimmers do need to be careful of some possible inconveniences:

- Chlorine will make your hair dry and brittle, so it is wise to wear a bathing cap in a pool.

- A shower after swimming in a pool or the ocean is a must. Both chlorine and salt dry out the skin. If your skin does get dry, rub baby oil or body lotion into the skin while it is still wet.

- Infection of the ear canal is another common problem for swimmers. This can sometimes be prevented by the use of alcohol or glycerin drops after a swim. If you do get an infected ear, have it treated by a physician.

Now that you have learned about the many physical advantages of swimming, here are just a few more benefits which many swimmers profess to — swimming gives you more energy, improves self-image and confidence, helps you relax and sleep and increases stamina — you will feel better after a swim.

The Northville Record is working with medical authorities at the University of Michigan Medical Center (M-Care) in Northville to provide up-to-date information on a variety of health-related topics. The series is coordinated by Peg Campbell of the M-Care staff.

A tradition of caring

C.S. MOTT

CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL

Patient Brett Armstrong, 6, is seen with his mother, Lee Armstrong, and nurse Raechelle Sedik.

U-M Medical School to celebrate 100th year of pediatric medicine

This year marks the 100th anniversary of pediatric medicine at the University of Michigan's Medical School. In 1888, Dr. Victor Vaughan, who later became dean of the Medical School, helped establish the American Pediatric Society, thus recognizing pediatrics as a medical specialty. The next year, Dr. Walter Christopher, the University's first pediatrician, came to Ann Arbor from Cincinnati.

Today, C.S. Mott Children's Hospital is a national leader in the field of pediatric medicine, largely as a result of its outstanding clinical research programs. The physician faculty of the Medical School's Department of Pediatrics also staff the Children's Hospital. They believe good medicine combines teaching and research with patient care.

The Department of Pediatrics is one of the major pediatric research departments in the nation. In 1988, it ranked second among medical school departments of pediatrics in the number of grants received from the National Institutes of Health. During the 1987-88 academic year, the Department's research budget exceeded $5.12 million.

Current clinical research at Mott pursues pediatric medicine in all of its aspects. For example, researchers are exploring better ways to manage pain, to make wounds heal faster, to prevent and control cardiac arrhythmia, and to cure leukemia.

Here is a sampling of pediatric faculty projects currently underway at C.S. Mott Children's Hospital:

Dr. Janet Gilsdorf, assistant professor of Pediatrics in the Division of Infectious Diseases, is investigating the causes of bacterial meningitis produced by the bacterium Haemophilus influenzae type b (Hib) in very young children. Her work examines ways in which proteins of the bacteria enable them to invade a child's respiratory tract and the manner in which a child's immune system will respond to this infection. Bacterial meningitis is a leading cause of death in young children. According to Gilsdorf, bacterial meningitis will afflict about 12,000 children in the United States each year. Five to 10 percent of these children will die from this disease. A remaining 30 to 40 percent will suffer neurologic damage such as deafness, blindness, seizures, cerebral palsy, mental retardation and learning disabilities.

Gilsdorf has received funding for this important work from many sources, including the National Institutes of Health, the Upjohn Company, and a private Michigan foundation, the Milton M. Ratner Foundation.

When asked about the purpose of the study, Gilsdorf said, "Our overall goal is to develop a vaccine to prevent this infection in very young children. Vaccines currently exist for this bacteria, but they are ineffective for the very young, a group that is the most vulnerable.

"In medical science," she has written, "the boundaries of knowledge are often extended in small increments. Although the challenges of providing protection against infection for young children may seem insurmountable, the real promise of overcoming Haemophilus influenzae infections encourages our work."

The Division of Pediatric Endocrinology specializes in the evaluation and treatment of children with complex hormonal and metabolic disorders. Major accomplishments in this area include the treatment of children with idiopathic precocious puberty, growth hormone deficiencies, and juvenile diabetes.

Dr. Inese Z. Beitens, Director of the Division of Pediatric Endocrinology, is investigating the biochemistry and physiology of pituitary hormones as they apply to puberty and reproduction.

"We see many children with problems of pubertal development — either late or too early," she explains.

Beitens' studies hope to increase our understanding of how the brain regulates pituitary secretions and the biochemistry of those secretions.

Some of the patients who benefit from the treatments developed through research in endocrinology are suffering from growth-related problems brought about by treatments they may have received for another medical condition. Children with cancer, for example, who have had extensive chemotherapy may develop hormonal imbalances as a side effect. Those who have had radiation treatments in the area of the pituitary gland may also experience delayed sexual development.

"Our discipline is complex," Beitens explains. "Many hormones have an impact upon the body. Hormonal and metabolic imbalances are threatening to the lives of children. Our aim is to keep all of these children growing, normal and healthy."

The Department operates outreach clinics in Flint, Pontiac and Kalamazoo, and established the Neonatal Hypothyroidism Screening and Treatment Program for the State of Michigan.

Pediatric research at C.S. Mott Children's Hospital is flourishing. The Division of Cardiology is investigating unique methods to deliver drugs immediately to the myocardium to produce more effective ways to treat cardiac arrhythmias in children.

Researchers in the Division of Genetics investigate the molecular genetics of early human development, specifically the biochemical and cytogenetic basis for "the fragile X syndrome," a common chromosomal abnormality which causes mental retardation in males.

The Division of Immunology is currently exploring potential applications of intravenous gamma globulin for a variety of diseases from diabetes mellitus to idiopathic seizures. Other research in this division may be helpful in the fight to develop an effective AIDS vaccine.

According to Dr. Robert P. Kelch, Chairman of the Department Pediatrics, "A remarkable increase in research funding and research productivity over the last seven years has been the result of the efforts of many faculty at all levels. I continue to believe that the remarkable rate of funding obtained by junior faculty should portend a bright future for the department's research programs."

Mott Children's Hospital garners national acclaim, rating

Have you heard the good news? The University of Michigan Hospital is listed in the top 25 in the country and Mott is the only children's hospital in Michigan listed in the top 20 nationwide. But have you heard the bad news? Mott rates near the bottom of all American hospitals in dollars received from community support groups. In fact, Mott receives no funding from the State of Michigan or the University general fund. Total support for Mott's multi-million-dollar budget comes from patient charges and contributions from organizations and individuals.

And that budget finances not only patient care and hospital maintenance but also life-saving equipment and procedures. For instance, the establishment of the U-M Bone Marrow Transplant Unit was financed by internal funds. At this Unit, physicians are treating leukemic patients with chemotherapy and bone marrow transplant, excluding radiation therapy, which is still in use in most leukemia programs. Researchers have found the new technique to be more effective, with less damage to healthy tissues and organs.

Another exciting innovation is the removal of marrow from a patient in remission for cultivation and growth in the laboratory, to be re-infused if the disease recurs. Using a patient's own marrow eliminates the risk of rejection of donor marrow. The U-M is the only medical center in the country attempting this approach and as research continues to refine and improve related procedures, it is hoped that long-term survival rates will continue to climb.

So, we're doing great things at the U-M Medical Center, great things which will benefit ailing children. And Mott is doing great things for injured and stricken child patients who come to the hospital in search of help. Incidentally, not many people know that Mott welcomes all children in need of medical aid — a sick or injured child is never turned away from Mott for lack of insurance or finances.

To continue its tradition of excellence in patient care, Mott Children's Hospital needs volunteers and financial support from the community. Toward that end, a handful of volunteers met last August, under the aegis of the U-M Medical Center Development Office, to plan ways to raise community consciousness and cash for Mott Children's Hospital. We decided to call ourselves TWIGS, after the hundreds of groups across the country organized with similar objectives.

TWIGS groups have been around since 1887 when a few City Hospital board members in Rochester, New York met for lunch and an afternoon of sewing hospital linens and subsequently decided to work together on projects to benefit the hospital. Today, thousands of caring citizens across the country pool their time, efforts and expertise to raise money from events as diverse as its members' interests: bowling, bridge-playing, gourmet suppers, house tours, neighborhood picnics, craft and toy sales, and fashion shows. The fledgling TWIGS at Mott's aspires to emulate TWIGS organizations like the 200 TWIGS groups

Mott Children's Hospital continues 120-year tradition of caring

Although C.S. Mott Children's Hospital is only 20 years old, the University of Michigan's tradition of caring for children began more than 120 years ago with the opening of University Hospital in 1869. At that time, children were treated as "little adults."

Then, in 1888, Dr. Victor Vaughan, who later became dean of the Medical School, helped establish the American Pediatric Society which officially recognized pediatrics as a medical specialty. The next year, Dr. Walter Christopher, the University's first pediatrician, came to Michigan from Cincinnati.

The first pediatric ward was established at Michigan when the new University Hospital opened in 1925. It remained there for 44 years.

In 1964, Charles Stewart Mott gave the University $6 million to build a separate children's hospital on the medical campus. Mott's gift resulted in the construction of the C.S. Mott Children's Hospital which opened in 1969. Since that time, more than 91,000 children from Michigan, the United States, and the world have been treated at Mott Children's Hospital.

Many of these children have been referred to Mott Children's Hospital because it was — and still is — the only hospital in the state to offer a particular treatment. Because of the expertise and caring of the Mott medical staff, the list of pediatric medical "firsts" in Michigan is long.

Consider the medical milestones achieved at C.S. Mott during this decade:

■ In 1980, the first thoracic surgery was performed to correct hypoplastic left heart syndrome, a fatal disorder for newborns in which the left side of a heart is undeveloped and blood cannot be pumped through the body.

■ A year later, in 1981, the Division of Surgery developed a process known as extracorporeal membrane oxygenation (ECMO) to deliver oxygen to infants suffering from hyaline membrane disease. This process represents a major breakthrough in saving lives of severely asphyxiated premature infants.

■ In 1984, surgeons at Mott performed their first successful heart transplant, and, in 1986, their first successful liver transplant.

■ The first cochlear implant was performed in 1988, bringing significantly improved speech perception, verbal artication and lip-reading skills to a child who had been totally deaf.

These remarkable achievements are the result of many factors, including a well trained and experienced medical staff, dedicated nurses, outstanding facilities and equipment, and a high level of research funding (See related article). They have earned well-deserved recognition from outside organizations and publications.

More than 300 physicians, researchers and hospital administrators were asked recently by Herbert J. Dietrich, M.D., and Virginia Biddle to select the best hospital and clinics in the country. The results were published in their book "The Best in Medicine." When asked, "Where would you go for treatment or send a member of your family?", these professionals selected the U-M Medical Center as one of the top 25 medical centers in the country, the only Michigan hospital so recognized.

Mott Children's Hospital was listed as a leading children's hospital; the Department of Pediatric Surgery was recognized as one of the 17 best in the country. No other children's hospital or pediatrics unit in Michigan was listed.

Medical miracles performed by the staff at Mott feature a family centered approach to a child's hospitalization. The Child Life Department provides educational and recreational programs on a daily basis while a child is hospitalized. The Department of Social Work and Pastoral Services offers needed support to children and their families during and after hospitalization.

U-M athletes help patients

For the past 10 years, in his position as an Activity Therapist in the Mott Child Life Department, Nicholas Kolokithas, MA, has had many personal experiences with University of Michigan athletes. He indicates that in addition to athletic prowess, these football, basketball, ice hockey and baseball players have shown themselves to be outstanding persons in a humanitarian way. Whenever Nick has asked them to come and see the patients at Mott Children's Hospital, their response is always "When do you want us, and where do we meet?" He'd like to share some of his experiences with U-M athletes.

A few years ago, one of Nick's paraplegic patients asked him if he knew any one from the U-M football team that could visit (John Wangler — the starting quarterback — in particular), the patient would follow Nick's advice and "work harder." After the conversation, arrangements were made to have some of the football team visit Mott patients. John Wangler and Andy Canavino, team captain, visited with this patient and signed autographs for others. Five months later, with only a slight limp, the patient walked out of the hospital.

More recently, a patient who refused to get out of bed wanted to see his "most favorite athlete ever," John Kolesar. Kolesar was the starting end for the 1989 Rose Bowl champions. Upon hearing that Kolesar was in the Mott Activity Center on level 8, the patient got up and out of bed to meet him.

"U-M athletes are a great bunch of Wolverines," in the words of U-M coach Bo Schembechler.

Tom and Marge Monaghan are flanked by George Zuidema, M.D., vice provost of Medical Affairs, left, and Saunders Midyette, Associate Director and Administrator of Mott Children's Hospital, as they present a check to the hospital which represents the proceeds of the 4th Annual Festival of Trees and the Christmas tree sale at Domino's Farms. In early December, the event will be held again and will include artificial trees decorated by local businesses. This extravaganza will be on display inside Domino's World Headquarters and will also include the sale of freshly-cut trees near the animal petting farm. These two activities represent the largest fundraising effort for Mott Children's Hospital each year.

Artificial lung treatment helps save life of child

Last December, 4-year-old Sara Shelton was trapped in a car in the icy waters of the St. Joseph River for 30 minutes. She had no heartbeat for nearly two hours, and failing lungs.

Today Sara Shelton has recovered completely from the accident, which killed her mother. She now lives with her grandmother. According to Dr. Joseph Custer, Sara's recovery is miraculous for two reasons: she survived, and she suffered no permanent brain damage.

Custer is the director of the pediatric intensive care unit at Mott Children's Hospital, where Sara was placed on an experimental artificial lung that saved the life of the Three Rivers girl.

According to Custer, it was the 38-degree water that kept Sara alive and prevented massive brain damage. On the riverbank, her body temperature was 80 degrees, and her system had virtually shut down. Doctors at Bronson Methodist Memorial Hospital in Kalamazoo worked to raise her temperature, and heard a faint pulse. Then Sara's heart had begun to beat again.

Within a few days, she was moving her head in response to doctors' commands, the first signs that her brain was OK. Her problem now was lung damage. She was on a ventilator for nine days, but pressure from the machine, which forces oxygen into the lungs, threatened them with irreparable damage.

The only equipment in Michigan that could save Sara was at the U-M Medical Center, a $12,000 extracorporeal membrane oxygenation (ECMO) machine. The ECMO removes blood from the body, oxygenates it and returns it, without pumping high-pressure gas into the lungs.

Sara was transferred to Mott on December 11. She lay in a drug-induced paralysis for two weeks while ECMO breathed for her and her lungs recovered.

On January 7, Sara celebrated her fourth birthday with a party thrown by Mott staffers. Thanks to an experimental machine, the concerted efforts of the medical teams, and more than one miracle, this extraordinary child will see many more birthdays.

Nursing given awards for excellence in field

On May 3 during Michigan Nurses Week, Carol Spengler, Ph.D., R.N., Associate Administrator and Director of Nursing for Mott/Women's/Holden Hospitals, made "Excellence in Nursing" awards to the following individuals in Pediatric, Perinatal, and Psychiatric Nursing:

■ Excellence in Pediatric Nursing Award: Nur Akcasu, Clinical Nurse II

■ Excellence in Perinatal Nursing Award: Deborah Summers, Clinical Nurse II

■ Excellence in Psychiatric

Nursing Award: Beverly Szymek, Clinical Nurse II

These individuals were selected from a group of nominees who have demonstrated excellence in clinical practice, leadership, professional development and outstanding personal attributes. Each of the award recipients received a plaque and a $500 professional development scholarship. To be selected for recognition by one's peers is one of the highest honors an individual can achieve.

HOLIDAY TAGS

Holiday package tags, a project that was a very successful promotion last year, will be sold against this year. The project, sponsored by TWIGS, was very successful with $30,000 being raised from the sale. A new set of holiday package tags will be available soon for the 1989 holiday season. A family portrait: Chuck, Sheree and daughter Amber crowd around Baby Laura. Baby Laura is the movie star of the family, starring in TV commercials. Most recently she climbed aboard a Continental Airlines plane to demonstrate its roominess (she's a three-seat passenger with a big seatbelt).

A TON OF FUN

African elephant stays at Domino's Farms while adopted family seeks medical care

What does Baby Laura, weighing in at 2,750 pounds, eat for breakfast, lunch and dinner? Anything she wants, obviously, you may reply.

She is a 6 1/2-year-old African elephant, born in Zimbabwe and more recently a house guest at Domino's Farms Petting Farm for the month of May.

An elephant, you say? Yes. And she was also a house guest. But she didn't sleep in a house. She slept in her own personal heated truck. And she was a very polite, clean, well-mannered house guest. Laura bathed once a day, as guests should do. She didn't talk with her mouth full which was a hard task since she snacked on a bale of hay a day, 60 gallons of water, five gallons of grain and for treats her favorites — apples, bananas and carrots.

And, as well-mannered house guests do, she met the Domino's Pizza family and our neighbors, took them for rides on her back, did her tricks and trumpeted, as elephants like to do when they're content.

"Laura's just a little girl," explained Chuck Walters, her trainer and human father figure. "Right now she's about 6 feet tall at the shoulder. When full grown, she'll be a lot taller and weigh about 8,000 — 10,000 pounds. She's just a baby!" Walters patted Laura on the side, who returned the affection with a gentle trunk hug around his neck.

Chuck Walters, Sheree Walters and Sheree's 3-year-old daughter Amber are Laura's family. They temporarily stayed at Domino's Farms while Amber received care at Mott Children's Hospital. Under ordinary circumstances, the family would have stayed at Ronald McDonald House, a facility that provides housing for families of pediatric patients at Mott. Baby Laura is not your usual size family member, however. The staff at Mott contacted Domino's Farms, explaining the predicament, and Amber, Sheree, Chuck and Daisy the goat and Dawg the dog (Laura's best friends) were invited by Tom and Marge Monaghan to stay at the petting farm and continue their business of giving elephant rides to people who were visiting the petting farm.

Laura and her family travel around the country, working circuses and shows, doing promotions and benefits, being in parades, giving kids rides and doing other elephantine activities.

Laura has even been in TV commercials. Most recently she climbed aboard a Continental Airlines plane to demonstrate its roominess (she's a three-seat passenger with a big seatbelt).

"Contrary to what people believe, elephants are not afraid of mice," explained Walters. "They're a herd animal and will be frightened by anything that would startle horses, cows or any other animal. We raised Laura alone instead of with other elephants. They are easier to train and they become closer to you. We have trained her to be accustomed to loud noises because she's around people so much. Baby Laura responds to both verbal and touch controls. Elephants are a very intelligent animal."

Walters has been working with elephants for 18 years. "I hired on with a drive-through zoo in Jackson, Michigan. It was that or factory work. Now I can't imagine doing anything else," says Walters.

This work is not without its hazards. Walters has had his feet broken about 20 different times. "I've worked with several circuses. Accidents happen with elephants!" he explained.

Sheree and Amber are part of the act also. They both ride Baby Laura in costumes and Amber recently finished the entire parade route of the Sarasota International Circus Parade.

After the visit to Domino's Farms, Baby Laura and her family left for a Spokane, Washington engagement. If you saw a house trailer and a panel truck caravan heading west on I-94, that was them. And if it seemed that the truck was swaying a little bit from side to side, that was Baby Laura practicing for her next routine. And thanks to Mott Children's Hospital and Domino's Pizza, the show will go on.

Laminated medical chips help identify loved ones in cases of emergency

If your child got lost, would anyone know how to contact you? If you or your child were in an accident and couldn't communicate, who should be notified? Where can they be reached? What would you want emergency personnel to know immediately?

Through the University of Michigan Medical Center's new Emergency Medical-ID program, you and your family can carry tiny, laminated microfilm chips containing emergency medical information that can be read with any microscope or microfiche reader — standard equipment in medical facilities across the nation. Important information such as allergies and special medical conditions, insurance coverage and how to reach a parent or relative in an emergency situation, can be quickly accessed by emergency personnel anywhere. Having this information saves precious time — and knowledge of medical history can often affect treatment.

The microfilm chip is permanently encased in a plastic wallet-size carrying card or on a tag that attaches to the lace or velcro strap of a shoe. Cardiac wallet cards containing an EKG report in addition to emergency information are also available.

These safety items are ideal whenever a child is away from parents or when exercise enthusiasts are out alone for a walk or jog. A complete kit containing shoe tags plus wallet card costs $9.95, or separately, cost $4.95 each. Cardiac cards with an EKG report are $6.45. Postage and handling charges of 80 cents per enrollment application will be added if prepayment does not accompany the order.

Many individuals, companies and organizations took the time to organize a fundraiser for Mott Children's Hospital during the past year. Some groups have supported hospitalized children at the Medical Center long before Mott Children's Hospital was opened. Kiwanis of Michigan and Kings Daughters have made yearly donations since 1922. The Galen's Medical Society began their support in 1925. To those who have given money on a yearly basis and those who gave for the first time, the patients, their families, the faculty and staff at Mott Children's Hospital are very grateful.

Drug helps children build up white blood cells and fight infection

Amanda spent most of the second year of her life bedridden in an Indiana hospital after a recurring liver abscess threatened to take her life. Instead of Gerber jars and Fisher-Price toys, Amanda's days were filled with IV bottles and antibiotics.

In November, 1988, J.W. Riley Children's Hospital at Indiana University referred Amanda to C.S. Mott Children's Hospital at the University of Michigan, for treatment with an experimental drug, known as G-CSF.

A month later, Amanda, whose name has been changed to protect her identity, was on her way to recovery and back home again in Indiana.

Amanda's infection was caused by a condition known as neutropenia, a decrease or absence of white blood cells called neutrophils, the body's first line of defense against infection.

"The severity of the neutropenia, or low neutrophil count, is directly related to the severity of the infection," said Dr. Laurence A. Boxer, Director of Pediatric Hematology/Oncology at Mott.

Patients who have under 200 neutrophils per cubic millimeter in their blood are prone to severe bacterial infections, particularly liver abscesses, pneumonias and blood sepsis, bacterial infections of the blood stream. Patients who have counts ranging from 200-500 are often afflicted with mucous membrane and skin infections. Both groups can face terrible gingivitis and periodontal disease. Children have been known to lose all of their teeth by the time they reach adolescence.

The direct cause of neutropenia is unknown. But research into bone marrow growth and development, much of it done at Mott, has changed the lives of some neutropenia sufferers and their families.

Neutrophils, and their precursor or parent cells, are produced in the bone marrow. Researchers have identified a unique growth hormone known as Granulocyte Colony-Stimulating Factor (G-CSF). G-CSF stimulates the precursor cells to divide and mature into neutrophils, eventually raising the body's neutrophil count to a normal level, approximately 1,500 - 8,500 cells per cubic millimeter.

After a month's treatment at Mott, Amanda's neutrophil count was back to normal, and she is now off of all antibiotics. Like diabetics who take insulin, she receives injections of G-CSF twice daily. But she is now able to have a healthy and happy childhood.

Kevin, another patient treated at Mott, is a 14-year-old from San Antonio who was stricken with severe periodontal infection and was in danger of losing his teeth. After eight days of G-CSF treatment, his neutrophil count was restored to normal and the infections cleared up.

Boxer estimates a type of severe congenital neutropenia, known as Kostmann's Disease, strikes about one child in every 2 or 3 million. In rare instances, children with Kostmann's Disease can develop leukemia. Boxer is optimistic that G-CSF can help prevent leukemia in these patients.

The G-CSF trials at Mott began in November, 1988, when the biotechnical company that manufactures G-CSF contacted Boxer about instituting experimental treatments at U-M. The program has had a 100 percent success rate. It is currently treating its 20th patient, and is receiving referrals from all over North America. Mott will "easily" admit 30 patients into the program this year, according to Boxer, who is assisted in the clinical side of the program by Dr. Brent Weston.

Mott is one of only eight medical centers in the nation involved in the G-CSF trial.

The ultimate goal of the program is to receive approval to market the growth hormone from the Food and Drug Administration.

"We expect to accumulate a sufficient number of successful treatments soon enough to get FDA approval of G-CSF for use by hematologists all over the country within two to six years," said Boxer.

The growth hormone has produced no toxicity or harmful side effects in any of Mott's patients thus far. It has been administered to monkeys for as long as five years with no problems, and in humans for as long as a year.

G-CSF is also being used to help cancer patients return to normal levels of neutrophil following chemotherapy, which sometimes causes neutropenia resulting in bacterial infections.

At Mott, investigation into the causes and mechanism of neutropenia continues. Researchers like Dr. Raymond Hutchison and Dr. Stephen Emerson are studying the processes that affect bone marrow functions, and the ability of the precursor cells to react with other growth factors.

"Our pie-in-the-sky-type research down the line is that eventually we hope to remove bone marrow and structural proteins from these patients and insert the G-CSF genetic material directly to the target cells," said Boxer.

"Then we would reinsert it such that the body would begin to produce the G-CSF on its own and no longer would the children need the shot to maintain the normal neutrophil count."

One concern doctors have about this type of gene therapy is that the neutrophil level may be raised too high. Unregulated growth of neutrophils could induce a "leukemia-like state" in the body, Boxer said.

The G-CSF trial is not only saving the lives of children and relieving agonizing parents, it is also benefitting Mott Hospital. It enhances Mott's already prestigious reputation and aids the hospital with both drug company funding and research grants.

But the reward for Boxer comes with the satisfaction of accomplishing his profession's purpose: healing the sick. He relishes keeping a family together and happy.

"It's exciting to have something that works," said Boxer, "and it's fantastic to be able to tell a family that we have something that has so far been successful in correcting a major affliction in their child's life."

For more than five years Gene and Becky Belknap, owners of an Ann Arbor Domino's Pizza franchise, have given time and money to support Mott Children's Hospital. From organizing pizza promotions at dormitories to playing a major role in the Spring into Summer event, the Belknaps have always been there when Mott Children's Hospital asked for their help. Everyone at Mott Children's Hospital feels very fortunate to have them as our friends.

Bone lengthening technique adds inches to patient's limbs

A bone lengthening technique developed in the Soviet Union thirty years ago is revolutionizing orthopedic surgery at the University of Michigan Medical Center.

The device, called the Ilizarov External Fixator, was introduced to North America in 1987. It has been used at U-M since August, 1988, to lengthen limbs, reconstruct shattered bones and correct congenital bone deformities, particularly in children.

Dr. John Herzenberg, an orthopedic surgeon, has performed thirteen Ilizarov operations at U-M.

"This technique has a distinct advantage over the technique of limb-lengthening which required multiple surgeries, bone grafts and application of plates and screws to the bone being lengthened," said Herzenberg. "But for various reasons it has taken a long time for the concept to come over from Russia."

One of the reasons is that the device's creator, Dr. Gabriel Abramovich Ilizarov, met with skepticism not only from the western medical establishment, but also from the Soviet medical authorities, at least initially.

In the 1950s, Ilizarov was the only doctor stationed in a tiny hospital in Siberia, merely a general physician with no formal training in orthopedics. In an attempt to reconstruct the ravaged limbs of World War II veterans, he developed his external fixator. He made his first ones out of bicycle parts.

His work did not gain Soviet approval until the late 1960s when he reconstructed the leg of Olympic champion high jumper Valery Burmel.

Today Ilizarov, 68, is the founder and director of a facility comparable in size to the University Hospital that deals with nothing but Ilizarov cases. The technique has been used to treat over 1 million Soviets at 10 such specialty hospitals. Since the method filtered into Western Europe in the 1980s, 6,000 Europeans and 400 Americans have been treated. These numbers will grow rapidly as more Americans learn the technique.

"It's catching on like wildfire," said Herzenberg, who will travel to Siberia this fall to study firsthand the methods of Ilizarov. "The key is in the way you cut the bone. There is minimal dissection. You don't saw all the way through."

The incision in the operation, known as a corticotomy, is only 2cm long, and very thin. It is much like cutting into a tree, but only going as deep as the bark. The bone marrow and soft tissues are left intact.

The External Fixator is attached to the limb during the surgery, which lasts from four to eight hours. Thin wires, resembling the bicycle spokes that Ilizarov originally used, are drilled through the bone and pulled through the muscle and skin to the other side of the limb. The wires are set at about 200 lbs. of tension, like a taut clothesline, and are then attached to metal rings that encircle the outside of the limb. The rings are connected to each other by threaded tie rods that run parallel to the bone. The entire frame acts as a sort of scaffolding to provide stability and helps accomplish the lengthening process.

The process itself depends upon the bone's natural ability to regenerate and repair itself. Unlike other lengthening techniques where bones are cut in two and the gap filled in with bone chips from elsewhere in the body, no bone grafting is used.

The process itself depends upon the bone's natural ability to regenerate and repair itself. Unlike other lengthening techniques where bones are cut in two and the gap filled in with bone chips from elsewhere in the body, no bone grafting is used.

About a week after the operation, the patient, or parent if the patient is a small child, is taught to turn the nuts attached to the fixator four times daily: breakfast, lunch, dinner and bedtime. The nuts act on the frame, which stretches the outer layers of bone attached to the wires.

"It's kind of like pulling taffy," said Herzenberg. The four turns of the screw add up to a millimeter per day of stretching, slightly less than the width of a pencil lead. New bone cells grow and fill in the gap, gradually lengthening the bone. In children, new bones grow at the rate of one inch every 10 weeks. The rate is slightly less for adults.

For the Ilizarov patients, recovery means much more than simply turning a few screws. That only lengthens the bone. To stretch the surrounding muscle and skin tissue, rigorous exercise is required.

"I tell the patients that the operation begins when I put the apparatus on and doesn't end until we take it off," said Herzenberg, noting that the time frame can mean from three months to a year. "They're the surgeon. They take care of the nuts and bolts themselves. There's a lot of commitment involved, a lot of physiotherapy. It's not a quick fix operation."

The patient's physical therapy includes sleeping in a splint to keep the muscles extended, as they tend to contract to their original position, hampering the lengthening process.

"What do you want to do tonight?"

It's one of the great wonders of the world. Wondering what to do with your evening. Well, listen, wonder no more. Because now Briarwood is coming through with plenty of interesting things to do.

1. Go to a movie.

Briarwood has seven different theaters to choose from. Call 769-8780 for theater information, and times.

2. Have dinner at one of Briarwood's ten tasty restaurants.

3. For dessert, how about a mouth-watering cinnamon roll fresh from Cinnacraz?

4. Or perhaps a warm chocolate chip cookie from Mrs. Field's or the Original Cookie Co.

5. Want something cooler? Try a delicious frozen yogurt from Freshens Yogurt.

6. Take a relaxing stroll by the Briarwood fountain, with a fresh-brewed cup of coffee from the Coffee Beanery.

7. Take him shopping for jewelry at Fox Jewelers or Shifrin Willens Jewelers.

8. Take her shopping for some sensuous sleepwear from Victoria's Secret. (We'll never tell.)

9. Have an after dinner drink at Jonathon B Pub or Ruby Tuesday.

10. Stage your own dance party with new music albums from JR's Music and Record Town.

11. Discover the latest in men's fashion at Bachrachs, Anton's and Redwood & Ross.

12. Discover the latest in women's fashion at Gantos, Alvin's and Caren Charles.

13. Get a little wild with a pair of shoes from the Wild Pair.

14. Curl up with a good book. (B. Dalton and Waldenbooks, have all the latest bestsellers.)

15. Watch the people passing by.

16. Watch for the opening of our new stores. There's always something new at Briarwood.

You see, when it comes to finding something interesting to do, there's really no question.

Briarwood's the answer.

In addition to muscle contraction, other potential problems can include infection around the pins.

That can be treated with antibiotics, but can mean another operation to replace a pin if the infection persists. Also, if the bone is pulled apart too slowly, it may consolidate and require recutting. If it is pulled apart too quickly, new bone will not form.

These complications can be corrected through readjustment or another operation, and will not necessarily interfere with the end result, according to Herzenberg. Removing the fixator is easier than attaching it and can be done without anesthesia, although children are generally put to sleep before removal.

Herzenberg's youngest Ilizarov patient is a two-year-old girl with a congenital knee defect. Originally, it was bent 90 degrees. Since casting it, and cutting the tendons have failed, Herzenberg attached the Ilizarov External Fixator at Mott Children's Hospital to stretch her knee out. It should be on for about three months.

One of the Ilizarov apparatus' most appealing characteristics is its versatility. It can be applied to nearly any bone in the body in over 600 configurations.

"It's the ultimate orthopedic erector set," said Herzenberg.

He has even used the Fixator to straighten a 16-year-old girl's neck. She suffers from juvenile rheumatoid arthritis and is wheelchair-bound. Her neck was so weak and crooked that her head hung down onto her chest.

"We affixed a halo on her and used the device to slowly crank her neck up," he said. "Once we got the neck up, we fused it. We wanted to get her looking straight up at the world, not looking down."

He has also treated children with limb-length deformities and bone diseases, as well as adult accident victims and even a shotgun victim. He has not entered the area of controversy which is surrounding the Ilizarov technique, and that is using it to treat dwarfism.

Herzenberg stressed that he would like to see the Ilizarov technique acknowledged for its seemingly infinite other uses, which he considers more immediately important. For example, it can be used to lengthen amputee appendages to better accommodate artificial limbs. Ilizarov used his method to lengthen a Russian boy's limb down to the area of controversy which is surrounding the Ilizarov technique, and that is using it to treat dwarfism.

Another vision Herzenberg has for the very near future is continued success using the technique for the U-M Medical Center, "Making this a regional referral center for these types of patients."

Detroit Grand Prix History

The origin of the Detroit Grand Prix dates back to November of 1980, when the directors of Detroit Renaissance, a non-profit urban development organization, voted to study the feasibility of a world-class motorsport event in downtown Detroit.

With the support of Detroit's Mayor Coleman A. Young, no fewer than 11 City departments and offices played important roles in planning the race and construction of the street circuit. The result was a 20-turn, 2.5 mile downtown race course,

The study assessed the logistical and financial impact such an event would have on the City of Detroit and its people. The study sought the interest of international Grand Prix sanctioning bodies and meetings were held with state and local officials to determine what legal hurdles had to be cleared.

A welcome was found in London and Paris, capitals of Formula One World Championship racing. The hurdles in the Michigan State Capitol, however, were more formidable.

Fortunately, the Detroit Grand Prix idea quickly found an advocate in Lansing, David Callanan, special assistant to William Faust, majority leader of the Michigan State Senate.

The legislation was drafted to permit the street race to be held, but not before hard questions of spectator safety and sufficient economic benefit to the city and state were answered.

The safety question was foremost in legislators' minds. Extensive engineering studies, however, demonstrated the Formula One Grand Prix race for Detroit could be accomplished without incident. The Detroit Grand Prix was "on the road."

which provided spectators with a superb view of the high-tech racing machines at full speed.

At the end of the 1988 race, the City of Detroit, Detroit Renaissance and Formula One organizers agreed in principle to relocate the Detroit event to Belle Isle, due to development projects slated to take place on the downtown course. Detroit Renaissance was also authorized to proceed with contract negotiations, as the current contract had expired with the conclusion of the 1988 event. In the ensuing months, downtown development plans shifted, which allowed the 1989 race to continue on the streets of downtown Detroit. However, facility changes demanded by the Formula One governing bodies for 1989 were not physically possible.

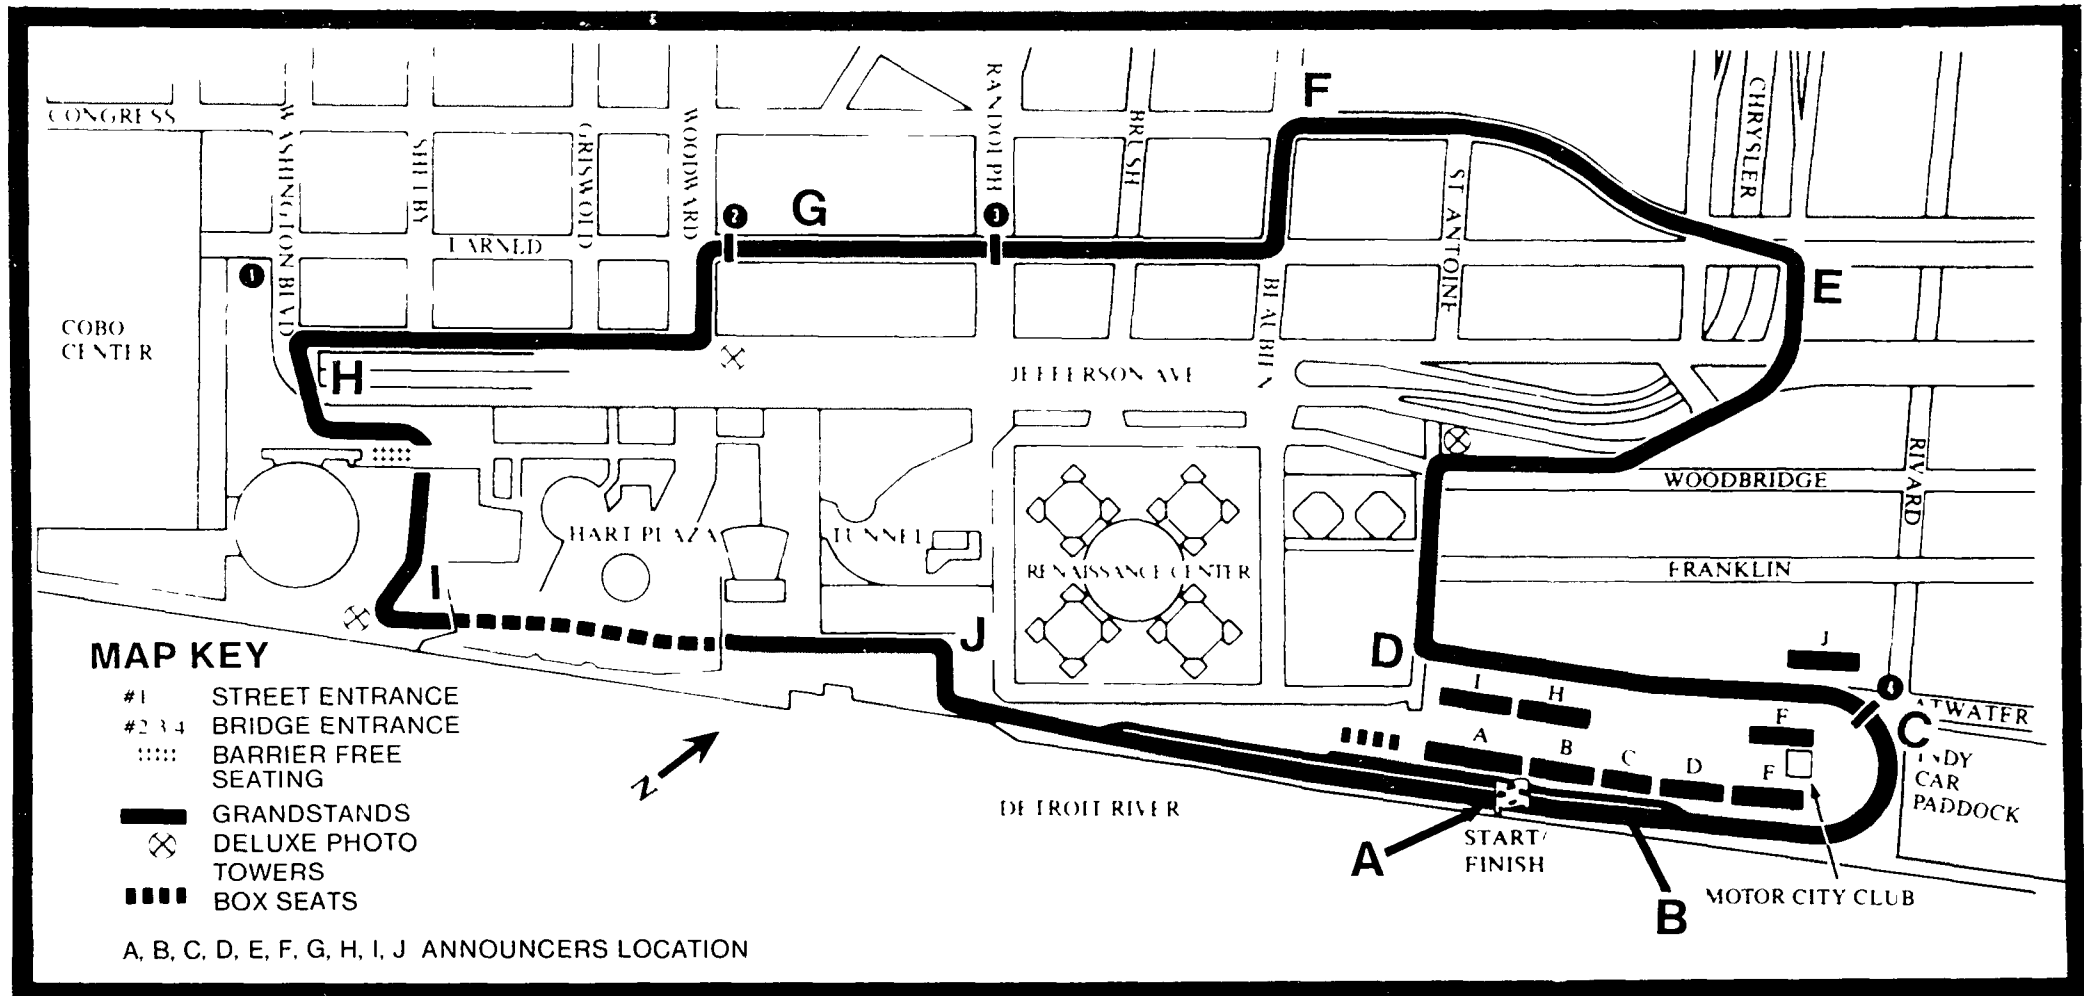

At that point, Detroit Renaissance broke off negotiations with Formula One officials and contacted CART (Championship Auto Racing Teams, Inc.) to discuss the possibility of an Indy Car race in Detroit. In less than a week, the announcement was made: Detroit would host a CART Indy Car race on the downtown course in 1989.

The 1989 Valvoline Detroit Grand Prix will hit the streets of Detroit on June 16, 17 and 18. Friday, June 16 is Free Prix Day.

THE DETROIT METROPOLITAN Y.M.C.A. REQUIRES THAT ALL PARTICIPANTS BE SCREENED ONCE EVERY TWO YEARS

A screening consists of three parts

Blood Pressure Reading
Weight Blood Cholesterol Reading
(10 hour fast required)
Completion of Health History Form

TO GET YOUR BLOOD PRESSURE AND WEIGHT READINGS:

The Y will be conducting readings during the 2nd week of class. The day and times will be posted at the front desk. The readings will be done prior to the fitness classes.

TO GET YOUR CHOLESTEROL READING:

Go to the Professional Village Lab for the test. The lab is located on Farmington Rd, south of Plymouth on the west side of Farmington. (Address 10953 Farmington Rd.)

Hours 7 a.m.-5 p.m. Weekdays
7 a.m.-3 p.m. Saturday

NO APPOINTMENT NECESSARY

Cost $7

REMEMBER TO FAST FOR 10 HOURS BEFORE YOU GO TO THE LAB!

Tell them you are in a fitness class at the Y, they will forward the results to us for processing.

YOU WILL NOT GET YOUR FINAL RESULTS UNTIL ALL FOUR PARTS OF SCREENING HAVE BEEN COMPLETED

FITNESS CENTER MEMBERS

Equipment orientation for the men's fitness center is scheduled for the third Monday of each month at 7:00 p.m. There is no charge but you must register with the front desk so we may plan accordingly with the instructor.

Women's Fitness Orientation will be the first and third Wednesday of the month at 5:15-6:15 p.m.

Register at Front Desk.

in association with the Livonia Family YMCA

June 26-August 18
Monday, Wednesday, Friday
Session I 7:00-9:00 a.m.
Session II 8:30-10:30 a.m.

This eight-week camp is designed to provide intense performance preparation for the high school and college female athlete. The goal of the camp is to assist those athletes who are determined to reach for the highest levels of sports achievement. The camp will offer training in five areas affecting athletic performance: muscular conditioning, cardiovascular conditioning, flexibility, agility and mental practice. In addition to these performance areas, the camp will also provide individualized nutrition counseling by a registered dietician, preventive sports medicine seminars to help the athlete reduce the risk of injury, and special appearances by some of the state's best sports professionals.

The Varsity Honors Conditioning Camp — we'll provide the facilities, the program, the expertise and the fun, all you have to bring is the effort.

The YMCA strives to enhance the lives of individuals in the community that we serve. If you need financial assistance to be a YMCA participant, please contact the Executive Director."

ATTENTION NON-MEMBERS:

GOOD NEWS! If in the past you have participated in a YMCA program as a NON-MEMBER, you now have the opportunity to become a member of the Livonia Area YMCA. The YMCA requires all non-members to join our PROGRAM MEMBER classification. For a small fee of $3.00 per person, you will be entitled to register for all YMCA programs and you will also receive regular mailings to be kept up to date on YMCA activities. ALL PROGRAM MEMBERS will receive a membership card that will expire August 31, 1989. PROGRAM MEMBERSHIP cards can be purchased during our normal registration period. Our receptionist will be happy to explain the benefits of becoming a member of the YMCA.

BORICS WILL GIVE YOU A NEW REASON TO SMILE.

BECAUSE YOU'LL LIKE THE WAY YOU LOOK

In fact, we guarantee you'll like it. For just $6, our trained professionals will give you a quality haircut. They'll wet down your hair with a special cutting solution, cut it the way you want and blow it dry.

Clean hair is necessary for accurate hair cutting. You can shampoo your hair on the day of your visit, or, for a small charge, we'll shampoo it for you. Because, at BoRics, you pay only for the services you need.

You can't beat BoRics for convenience, either. No appointments are necessary. Just walk into one of our convenient locations Monday through Friday 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., or Saturday 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.*

Don't settle for the uninteresting styles of a barbershop or the high prices of a beauty salon. Stop into BoRics and let us give you a new reason to smile, too.

Father's Day-Sunday, June 18

Surprise Dad with a guild membership to the collection of David Winter Cottages. Dad will receive a magnificent bas relief plaque featuring a street scene of English cottages, four issues of the beautiful magazine "Cottage Country Quarterly" and the opportunity of purchasing two distinctive English cottages designed for and available only to guild members.

A complete selection of David Winter Cottages is always on hand and just arrived is the new Scottish Collection of cottages and castles. A unique, new idea for your Dad on Father's Day.

Just in time Great Gifts For Dads For Grads From Diamond Boutique

ANALOG ALARM CHRONOGRAPH

Good news comes in threes. Lassale introduces the analog alarm chronograph with black, gilt or white dials. Two are polished off with a brick link bracelet, finished in 22K gold. One is richly strapped in brown padded lizard. Water tested to 30 meters. Backed by a 3-year warranty, of course.

BEER — A Connoisseur's Guide to the World's Best

By Christopher Finch

If the sixties and seventies saw an explosion in the market for quality wines, the eighties are emerging as the decade of the discerning beer drinker. A great gift for any serious beer drinker

RUSSIA, 1917

The Unpublished Revolution

By Jonathan Sanders

General Secretary Gorbachev's policies have produced creative ferment in both the Soviet Union and the West. The documents and photographs contained in Russia, 1917 reveal the true story of that tumultuous year and, in doing so, forever change our perceptions of the Soviet Union's revolutionary birth

© 1989 by COTTER & COMPANY, CHICAGO IL 60614 100% Retailer-Owned Warehouse Distributors & Merchandisers

Because this is a syndicated publication prepared in advance by Cotter & Company for distribution by over 6,000 independently owned and operated retail store members, some merchandise illustrated may not be immediately available on demand. However, any item that's unavailable can be ordered in full carton by the member store from a regional warehouse. Many items in this circular come unassembled. This store is not responsible for assembling merchandise unless stated. This circular must be prepared months in advance of the actual distribution period. At times, an advertised item may not be available because of sales above anticipated demand or because of circumstances beyond our control: while we try to avoid such situations, we have no control over our manufacturers' delivery problems. This store reserves the right to limit quantities, correct pricing errors and require central credit office approval of time payment sales. Prevailing taxes will be added to prices. This catalog is distributed by True Value members who own their own stores and set their own retail prices.
