State court upholds township prison caps

By TIM RICHARD
and BRUCE WEINTRAUB

A state Court of Appeals panel ruled the Michigan Department of Corrections was doubly wrong in overcrowding three prisons in western Wayne County.

In a 3-0 ruling favoring Northville Township, the state's second-highest court found that the Corrections Department disobeyed state law and a Wayne Circuit Court deal by overcrowding the prisons in March and April of 1988.

Northville Township Supervisor Georgina Goss said local residents can feel more secure with the court's ruling.

"Hooray," Goss exclaimed. "The attorneys did an excellent job with the case, and basically the court said that prison overcrowding is the state's problem and not our problem."

"(The decision) is terrific," said Wayne County Commissioner Susan Heintz (R-Northville Township). "Now the state will have to live up to its capacity promise, and if it violates that promise we'll take them to court again."

Heintz said the decision assures Northville Township residents that prison population caps are in place and prior overcrowding problems will not resurface.

"This decision proves that no one — not even the Department of Corrections — is above the law," Heintz said.

The Court of Appeals decision involves the Phoenix and Scott correctional facilities in Northville Township and Western Wayne Correctional Facility in Plymouth Township. All three prisons are on Five Mile Road just west of Beck.

"In this case, the department has not only violated the law and a stipulated (circuit court) order requiring certain population caps, it has announced its intention to continue doing so," the appeals court said.

"It is axiomatic that the courts must uphold valid state laws, and stipulations, once approved, are considered sacrosanct."

In 1985 the Michigan Legislature set prison population caps of 550 for Scott and 311 for Phoenix, both on the north side of Five Mile, and 500 for Western Wayne, on the south side of Five Mile.

In 1986, Goss sought a Wayne County Circuit Court injunction to prohibit overcrowding in portions of the still-incomplete Scott facility.

The Corrections Department agreed to a stipulation limiting Scott to the rated capacity of 528 but three months later exceeded the population caps at all three prisons.

So, in April of 1988 the township asked for a permanent injunction to prevent the department from exceeding the caps. Judge Charles Farmer gave the department 30 days to reduce the population at Scott, but the appeals court found "the department subsequently placed additional prisoners in all three correctional facilities."

Township Attorney Ernest Essad, who argued the case on behalf of Northville, said he feels good about the decision, in that the state will now be forced to not exceed the three local prison-population caps.

"The state has to keep its promise and can't exceed its caps, whether it's facing a prison overcrowding problem or not," Essad said.

In accordance with the prior court decisions, Scott Deputy Warden James Stegall said the prison held 526 inmates on Monday — two below its capacity level.

"We currently do not have an overcrowding problem and we have not been over capacity since last April," Stegall said.

Phoenix Warden Emmet Baylor said his facility had 304 inmates on Wednesday, well below its capacity of 311. He also added that Phoenix has not been over its quota of people

Ford study focuses on use by public

By DARRELL CLEM

The Northville Public Library appears virtually assured of having a new home if community leaders succeed in negotiations to buy the closed Ford plant.

Two major redevelopment proposals unveiled last week support using the east section of the plant for a library. Estimated cost: $4.6 million.

Officials who presented the 73-page report during a special session at the Northville school-board meeting room indicated that a completely new library would have a similar price tag.

The long-awaited study cites two primary options for the Ford plant's west wing. One plan calls for a school services center at a projected cost of $2.8 million, while the second option focuses on retail use.

Although the report notes that the plant could be used for such purposes as manufacturing, light industry, or warehousing, those options received less attention from local officials.

In fact, Northville Mayor Christopher Johnson made public his preference for having the school district share the building with the library — if the district wants the space.

However, such a plan could hinge on whether the school district can share funding with the township and city. The school district is expected to decide the matter in the next few weeks.

Some of the approximately 25 people attending last week's special session questioned whether industrial use was considered as a viable option for the plant.

But Dave Evans, executive vice president of the architectural firm Quinn Evans, said the building "really doesn't lend itself to contemporary industrial use."

Folk Festival swings into Northville

By DARRELL CLEM

Good music for a good cause

That's the bottom line of the 13th annual Folk and Bluegrass Festival scheduled for Sunday, July 30, at Northville's Ford Field.

Organizer Tom Rice hopes the event will draw 2,000 people and reap $20,000 to fight Huntington's disease, which killed his half-sister, Donna Jarski, in 1974.

The festival last year attracted about 1,200 people and generated about $12,000.

Proceeds are donated to the Southeast Michigan Chapter of the Huntington Disease Foundation of America

Chapter President Jerry Wiske said proceeds from the festival accounted for one-third of the chapter's budget last year.

"This is the only event of its kind in Michigan," Wiske said. "I think it's fantastic."

Rice, owner of the Gitfiddler music store in downtown Northville, said the festival stemmed from a promise he made to his half-sister before she died. He said he made a commitment to "do something for her children," who are at risk of developing the genetic Huntington's disease, a neurological disorder affecting the body's motor system.

Although neither of the three adult children has developed Huntington's, Rice said he views the festival as a way to help combat the disease.

Topping the bill this year will be Michael Smith, who Rice said is one of the top folk musicians in the United States.

Other performers will include the Baldock Mountain Ramblers, a string band; Jim Perkins, an Irish folk singer; the Detroit Bluegrass band; Neil Woodward, a string virtuoso; the Fritts Family Bluegrass Band; and Mustards Retreat, a folk duo.

The festival also will include a raffle for a "one-of-a-kind," handmade acoustic guitar, Rice said. Raffle tickets will cost $1.

Admission to the festival, which will be from 1 p.m. to 8 p.m., is $8 for adults. Children under 12 will be admitted free.

Rice said the first festival was held 13 years ago outside his shop, which was then located on Center Street. About 200 people turned out on a cold, rainy, October day for the event.

"That was when I started to fulfill that promise," said Rice, who added that he has been pleased that the festival has continued.

Rice said more than 1,500 turned out the second year of the festival,

A long-awaited recycling bin for city residents who want to drop off plastics, glass, and tin cans has arrived at the Northville Department of Public Works yard.

The bin arrived last Thursday, July 20, and DPW workers finished labeling the bin on Monday, Public Works Superintendent Ted Mapes said.

In other recycling developments, Mapes said that a new recycling trailer for newspapers arrived Monday at the DPW yard.

And Mapes said that the DPW garage also is accepting used motor oil in plastic, one-gallon containers.

Mapes stressed that residents must stop at the DPW office — located on Doheny Drive near Main Street — and show a driver's license before using the recycling bins.

State considers finishing hospital fencing

By TIM RICHARD

LANSING — There's $50,000 for a fence along Seven Mile Road in front of Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital in the final mental-health budget bill before the Michigan Legislature this week.

"The purpose is so patients don't walk away," Sen. R. Robert Geake, R-Northville Township, told a conference committee. "Three sides are already fenced. About two patients a day, or 600 a year, walk away."

"It's less than that," said Thomas D. Watkins Jr., director of the Mental Health Department and himself a Northville Township resident, "but it's an ongoing concern. But we don't want it (the hospital grounds) to look like a minimum-security prison. It (the fence) should not be obtrusive."

"I don't have any problem with it," said state Rep. Joe Young Sr., D-Detroit, chairperson of the conference committee.

Geake's amendment was adopted last week during a day-long session at which three senators and three representatives sought to iron out differences in the $878-million mental-health budget bill.

With federal grants, Michigan will spend $1.2 billion on mental health in the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1.

Gov. James J. Blanchard could still use a line-item veto on the Seven Mile fence. But Watkins made it clear he realized the fence is important politically to Geake, who chairs the mental-health appropriations subcommittee in the Senate.

The lack of a Seven Mile fence has long been a thorn in the side of area residents, who sometimes find walkways from the hospital in their neighborhoods.

Watkins said the Northville hospital had 1,200 patients when he came to Lansing in 1983 and has about 750 currently. "At the same time, we have more staff — psychiatrists, social workers — and got the hospital accredited again."

The 1990 budget will see the attrition of 148 mental-health employees statewide, including some at Northville, Watkins said.

The new budget will continue the Blanchard administration's policy of shifting money to community mental-health care, including more help for parents who take care of mentally retarded and developmentally disabled children at home.

- House members agreed to go along with the Senate and the administration in closing two underutilized outstate institutions.

- A mental health program for Chaldeans in the Southfield-Farmington area and Arabs in the Dearborn area will be funded at $750,000, or 50 percent more than the administration asked.

Watkins said special counseling and out-patient help is provided to cross language and cultural barriers. "We already have programs for Hispanics and native Americans. Without them, they tend not to come into our system."

- Wayne State University will get $100,000 for research on crack cocaine, developing programs for treating crack users. "Many patients are dually diagnosed — mental illness and substance abuse," Watkins said. "People don't come to us in neat packages."

"I'd rather see 'em treated," said Sen. Joe Conroy, D-Flint. "They don't know how to treat 'em," replied chairperson Young.

- Conferees agreed to a compromise figure of $12 million in state funds and $25 million gross to treat mental patients who had been getting minimal care in nursing homes. The change was ordered by the federal Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act (OBRA), which Watkins defended as "good public policy."

Novi firm loses $38-million case

By BOB NEEDHAM

A local firm must pay $38 million plus interest after losing a patent-infringement lawsuit to a Denver company.

Guardian Industries, with world headquarters on Nine Mile Road, recently lost an eight-year legal battle with the Manville Corporation of Denver. The suit involved charges of patent infringement and unfair competition over a certain method of making fiberglass insulation.

The $38-million award to Manville is believed to be the largest for any "intellectual property" case in Michigan history. Intellectual-property lawsuits involve "property of the mind" such as patents, trademarks, and copyrights, Manville attorney Ernie Brooks explained. The judgment came from Chief Judge James Churchill of the U.S. District Court in Detroit.

As of Tuesday afternoon, Brooks said, the award had not been paid. He said such payments usually come in a lump sum.

Brooks said he was pleased with the award, although Manville had sought a much larger damage figure.

"Professionally, it sets a new standard," he said. "It's certainly a significant award, and it certainly is a success, or 'winning.' I don't feel we lost. I would have preferred more. . . . You always have mixed feelings about shortfalls."

Guardian lead attorney Edward Kronk could not be reached for comment by press time Tuesday.

According to a chronology provided by Brooks' office, in 1977 Johns-Manville Corporation of Denver patented a new fiberglass-manufacturing process called horizontal electric rotary modular (HERM). The HERM process eliminated one step of the production process — hot gas blast attenuation,

Record/JANET L. COX

Guardian Industries must pay $38 million in damages, plus interest which is expensive and time consuming.

Court documents state that Guardian "misappropriated" the HERM technology by hiring "many key J-M employees." Brooks' firm said Guardian hired away 15 Manville employees, at least nine of whom were directly involved in developing HERM, between 1977 and 1980. Guardian then entered the fiberglass business, opening a plant in Albion in 1980.

"Without question, the J-M HERM technology misappropriated by Guardian constituted the state of the art in fiberization as of 1980," the court's "Findings of Fact" state. "Guardian knew that J-M's HERM fiberization process could furnish a substantial competitive advantage in the 1980s."

Manville filed suit against Guardian in 1981, charging that the Novi firm stole the HERM process.

According to court findings, Guardian used the J-M patent and four J-M trade secrets to process almost 96 million pounds of fiberglass before a court injunction stopped production in Albion in December, 1983. Guardian had enjoyed net sales of more than $57 million from HERM, the court said.

U.S. District Court Chief Judge Philip Pratt, after hearing a non-jury trial in 1981, ruled in favor of Manville in 1983. The court's findings of fact state Guardian was found guilty of "various patent infringement, trade secret misappropriation, and unfair competition claims." Guardian unsuccessfully appealed the case.

A trial to determine damages took place last year, but Pratt died before rendering a decision. Churchill replaced Pratt in a new trial this year.

On Friday, July 14, Churchill issued the $38-million judgment.

Police Blotters

VCR stolen from church

A videocassette recorder was reported stolen sometime between 8 a.m. Saturday, June 23, and 8 a.m. Sunday, July 2, from the First Presbyterian Church on East Main Street in Northville, police reported.

The VCR was taken from a resource room in the church. Police reported that there were no signs of forced entry into the room, which apparently was left unlocked.

Police did not have a cost estimate on the VCR.

Meanwhile, an electric floor scrubber worth $100 was taken from the furnace room at the church sometime between 8 a.m. Monday, July 3, and 8 a.m. Wednesday, July 5. Once again, police reported no signs of forced entry.

AUTO THEFT — Township police report a 1987 Chevrolet Celebrity worth about $10,000 was stolen from the Innsbrook Apartments parking lot Sunday, July 16.

The victim said unknown persons stole the vehicle while it was parked in the lot between 12:05 and 9 a.m. The victim added the car was locked at the time of the incident.

Police said they have no suspects.

CAR DAMAGE — Almost $150 in damage was caused to a 1989 Ford pickup parked on Farmcrest on Monday, July 17, according to a township police report.

The victim said someone broke his windshield and one section of the rear window. Nothing was stolen from inside the vehicle.

Police said they have no suspects.

WALKAWAY — Township police said a patient from Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital was recovered at 9:41 p.m. Thursday, July 20 in the Maple Hill subdivision off Six Mile Road.

Police said the patient was stopped in the Six Mile / White Haven area by a Northville state hospital officer and returned to the hospital.

HOME BREAK-IN — Over $250 in merchandise was stolen from a residence on Laird Haven Way on July 18 or 19, according to a township police report.

The victim said someone entered the home by smashing a window. Police said they found the window lying on the floor.

Two tape recorders worth a total of $200 were stolen from a desk near the garage. Other stolen items include a telephone worth $60 and $6 worth of oil.

The victim said $150 in damage was also caused during the burglary.

MEIJER THEFT — A Livonia resident was charged with larceny in a building after attempting to steal $41.76 in merchandise from Meijer, according to a township police report.

Store detectives said the suspect selected four packages of film from a shelf and placed them in her purse, then tried to exit the store.

Store detectives detained the suspect, who was charged with larceny. She was released on $100 bond and faces an Aug. 24 court date.

WINDSHIELD BROKEN — The windshield of a vehicle parked in a driveway on Springfield Court was broken sometime between 10:15 p.m. Friday, July 21, and 1:30 a.m. Saturday, July 22, city police reported.

Damage to the 1983 Mercury was estimated at $150.

WINDSOCK THEFT — A windsock valued at $50 was stolen sometime between 9 p.m. Friday, July 14, and 10 a.m. Saturday, July 15, from the porch of a Rogers Street residence, city police reported.

CAR DAMAGE — A vehicle parked in the Hardee's parking lot on North Center Street received $25 in damage when it was dented, possibly by a moped, the driver told police.

The incident reportedly occurred about 11 p.m. on Tuesday, July 18.

DRUNKEN DRIVER — A 40-year-old Detroit man was recently arrested on North Center Street after Northville city police observed his car swerving across the center line.

The vehicle was headed southbound on Center from Eight Mile Road at the time.

When police pulled the vehicle over, the driver inadvertently put the gear in reverse before coming to a stop. The driver's blood alcohol level tested at .13.

FENDER-BENDERS — At least four automobile accidents were reported by township police over the past week. They included:

• A two-car accident at 3:03 a.m. Thursday, July 13 on Seven Mile Road near Beck. Police said one car was westbound on Seven Mile and failed to yield while making a left onto southbound Beck. That car was hit by another which was eastbound on Seven Mile. The first driver was issued a ticket for failing to yield.

• A two-car accident at 9:40 p.m. Saturday, July 15 on Seven Mile Road and Silver Springs. Police said one car was eastbound on Seven Mile at Silver Springs, while a second was headed westbound on Seven Mile. Police said the first car started to make a left onto northbound Silver Springs when the traffic light turned yellow. They said the second car entered the intersection and was hit by the first. The first driver was issued a ticket for failing to yield.

• A two-car accident at 1:06 p.m. Wednesday, July 19 on Northville Road near Seven Mile. Police said one car was stopped at a red light at Northville Road when a second car braked too late and the first car from behind. The rear driver was issued a ticket for failure to stop within an assured clear distance ahead.

• A two-car accident at 1:55 p.m. Wednesday, July 19 on Northville Road near Jamestown Circle. Police said one car was completely stopped on northbound Northville Road, waiting to make a left turn onto Jamestown Circle. A second driver said he didn't see the car due to the rain and added that his car slid into the other. The driver was issued a ticket for failure to stop within an assured clear distance ahead.

Haggerty crash

A Livonia resident was seriously injured in a two-car accident on Haggerty Road near Five Mile shortly after 5 p.m. Wednesday, July 18. Northville Township police said the injured driver was transported to St. Mary Hospital following the accident. The other driver, a Lincoln Park resident, was not injured. Police said details of the cause of the accident are currently under investigation. They added the names of the drivers will not be released pending completion of the investigation.

Resident's health improves

The condition of a 59-year-old Northville resident has improved recently from critical to stable condition for injuries sustained in an automobile accident over two weeks ago.

Eschol Earl Smith, who suffered head injuries in the crash, was listed in stable condition Tuesday, according to a spokesperson at Botsford General Hospital in Farmington Hills.

Smith's wife, Mary, 56, remained in guarded condition after treatment for injuries she received in the two-car accident.

A 29-year-old Novi man eastbound on Grand River in a pickup at 8:40 a.m. Saturday, July 1 went through a red light at Middlebelt, Farmington Hills police said. He hit the Smiths' car on the driver's side, police said.

Farmington Hills firefighters used rescue tools to free the Smiths. The Novi man was not injured in the accident.

Superintendent fields queries on impending bond issue

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

Whether it's for $16 million or $30 million, the Northville School District will seek passage of a bond issue on a special ballot Oct. 5.

Money obtained from the $16-million bond issue would go to refurbishing the district's infrastructure, purchasing new instructional equipment, building a new elementary school, and reopening Cooke School as a middle school.

Passage of the $30-million question includes all of the above items except the reopening of Cooke. In place of that, the district would build a new middle school.

On Monday, school board members are scheduled to decide which question to place on the October ballot. Before the decision, Superintendent George Bell will make a recommendation on which bond amount he favors.

To advise the board and Bell on community support for either question, a citizens' advisory committee conducted an informal survey on the issue. The results were mixed.

Without divulging which amount he will recommend to the board, Bell answered many questions about the upcoming bond issue in this slightly edited interview.

Q: On July 31, you're going to come back to the school board with a recommendation for either the $16-million or $30-million bond issue. How does the work of the citizens' advisory committee play into your formulation of an opinion?

Bell: Oh, very critically. It's important that you get the reactions from these people. Many of these people are not what we'd classify as school people. They were new faces, and consequently we're getting a whole new perspective on the issue. And they also represented a wide distribution of neighborhoods. So, we got the feelings of people from many different sections and I wanted the board to hear that. The opinions and concerns voiced by that committee were very important.

Q: Apparently the committee members talked to roughly 250 people in their survey. Did you find that to be a good cross-section and enough people to formulate an opinion?

Bell: Yes, I think it was, because, again, it was a wide distribution of orientation of people they talked with.

Q: Did you have an opinion formulated before the study or did you come into it with an open mind?

Bell: I had my own opinion, but I felt like my opinion is just one opinion in this case. I may come at it from the perspective of a whole lot of information, but it was important we listen to people who didn't have the benefit of all that information.

We wanted to know what that gut-level, top-of-the-head reaction will be.

Q: In terms of the bond-issue questions, can you briefly summarize the pros and cons of each?

Bell: In terms of the $16-million question, it is essential to the school district's survival. We have been working from operating funds trying catch up with the needs of the infrastructure since before I got here . . . All of the maintenance programs are now on-line, but with increased enrollment the money is just not there to pay for them. We've got to catch up with technology, roof leaks, and carpet wear-outs.

The growth is there. Even if a recession happens, the elementary school will be a necessity within the next five years. Somebody will live in the new houses that are built; they're not going to be empty.

The $30-million project is a project that recognizes longer-term needs. The middle-school population will feel the crunch first because there are only two buildings. Projected enrollments show Cooke and Meads Mill will handle together up to 1,300 kids by 1993-94. If growth continues, that isn't going to be sufficient and there will be additional needs. How far down the road is the question.

We can balance the population by putting a larger portion of the district into Meads and smaller into Cooke. Also, Cooke is not designed for the team concept at Meads, but there are things we could do to make it work.

The $16-million bond issue is a tax increase, but it is a tax increase in the light of a continued decline of the debt-retirement millage. The debt millage has reduced by three mills over the past four years with an increase in SEV (state equalized valuation) . . . It is less of a tax increase than the other proposal, and it's going to have the most bang for the buck.

Q: Does the $16-million bond issue give the district the ability to address its most pressing needs?

Bell: We'll have the money for the infrastructure and the things that need to be done. The $16-million bond issue will address all the material needs of the school district.

Q: And the $30-million bond issue is for long-term growth?

Bell: The $30-million question encounters long-term growth and it protects the special programs (currently housed at Cooke) that have become dear to the heart of a number of our people . . . However, the reality of education of the future means that we'll have to build preschool component into the new elementary school. I've told my people that the design will have to include four classrooms for a preschool.

Q: Many committee members seemed concerned about a downturn in the economy. Which bond issue relates more favorably if a recession happens during either the reopening of Cooke or the building of a new middle school?

Bell: The $16-million bond issue is the most favorable in the light of a dip in the economy. One, we haven't built a new, massive building, and we haven't encumbered any more bonding money for it. And if the continued growth fails to materialize, then we wouldn't have built a building that needs to be utilized in some other way.

Q: What about the need for infrastructure repair and the purchase of instructional equipment?

If we don't repair the roofs (of all schools) now, then the cost will continue to escalate. Meads Mill has some massive roof needs, every single building in the district. We've nickled and dimed furniture every year. We've taken a few bucks out of a very crunchy budget and tried to replace the furniture that needs to be replaced. District-wide the furniture, carpeting, and overhead projectors are wearing out.

District-wide there is not an adequate supply of technological equipment. Computers are not in sufficient quantity and Meads Mill has long since had obsolete computer equipment. We're teaching typing at Meads Mill on manual typewriters. We should be teaching typing on word processors. That's what the technical side of this bond issue will do.

Interactive television, cable throughout the buildings, networking between buildings — these are things that will be addressed by the technical part.

Schools ponder Ford study

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

Northville school officials said they are intrigued by the possibility of using space in the Northville Ford Plant (see related story), but added the option will have no effect on their bond proposal.

The Board of Education may decide Monday whether to place a $16-million or $30-million bond issue on the Oct. 5 ballot.

The school-related option would provide for about 22,500 square feet of library space and 27,300 square feet of school service space. It would also call for a 3,800-foot public lobby and 22,325 feet of community-use property.

The Quinn Evans study estimates the cost of rehabilitating the school service center portion of the plant at about $2.8 million.

"This option certainly gives us something to think about," said Board President Glenna Davis. "I'm sure the board will want to explore the option (of using the Ford space)."

Another option was presented which would not include the schools. The second option provides for about 44,825 square feet of library space and 31,100 square feet of retail area.

City Mayor Chris Johnson, who presented the plan along with Quinn Evans, said he would prefer to have the schools included in the plan "if it fits their needs. We want to look at it (the plant) as a public building."

The school service center would be located in the west half of the Ford Plant, while the library would be in the east part of the plant. Cost of rehabilitating the east half of the building is about $4.6 million.

Potential uses for the school service center portion of the plant include administration facilities and storage space, according to Superintendent George Bell.

Bell said even though the district has inquired about available space inside the plant, it still needs to pass the bond issue.

"Passage of the bond issue will allow us to retain important district services," Bell said.

If the $16-million bond issue is placed on the ballot, the district would reopen Cooke School as a junior high — and make repairs on all of the schools at a cost of $4 million, update instructional equipment for $3.22 million, and build a new elementary school by 1993-94 at a cost of $8.5 million.

Placing a $30-million question on the ballot would include all of the above items except reopening Cooke as a middle school. In place of that, the district would build a new middle school within the next 2½ years at a price of $12 million to $15 million.

"If Cooke were reopened as a middle school, some community programs currently housed there would be displaced," Bell said. "The district would then have to move them around and we'd look for the best economical solution to the problem."

Davis said the district is intrigued by the Ford Plant study, but added the board will need to examine its implications before deciding how to address its space problems.

"This raises many questions about possibilities," Davis added. "Any plan that would allow the city, township, and school district to work together is interesting. But this plan would have to benefit the K-12 program."

'Profound' folk writer to headline Bluegrass festival

By BOB NEEDHAM

Michael Smith's musical career has taken him to, among other places, Miami, Chicago, and London. This weekend, it takes him to Northville.

Smith, a songwriter, singer, and guitarist, is headlining the annual Folk and Bluegrass Festival at Ford Field on Sunday. He's also conducting a songwriting workshop at the Giltfiddler Saturday evening.

Festival organizer Tom Rice is very excited about the prospect of having Smith at the event. Rice said of Smith, "He is by far the most profound folk writer of our time."

Smith sounded a little surprised by the compliment. He doesn't exactly seek divine inspiration in his writing.

"I really don't have any control over what comes out," Smith confessed. "I sit down and try to write a song, and at some point it will seem acceptable to me."

He compared the songwriting process to an inexperienced ice skater travelling across a lake: It might be awkward, but you eventually get to the other side.

"For me it's hard work. And it takes me a long time to finish things," he said. "I'll work on a song until the song doesn't sound bad to me."

Smith thinks some of his songs are poor, some are average, and some are quite strong.

"When the great ones came along, I didn't say, 'I'm going to write a great one.' It just works out," he said. "It's not as if it's brain surgery by any means."

Smith's work has been recorded by several major names. Spanky and Our Gang included three Michael Smith compositions on their first album and performed one, "It Ain't Necessarily Bird Avenue," on a couple of network television shows. Jimmy Buffett recorded Smith's "Elvis Imitator," and the Four Freshmen also put "Bird Avenue" on vinyl.

Josh White Jr., a past participant in the Folk and Bluegrass Festival, has recorded three Michael Smith songs. Chicago folk great Steve Goodman also used some of Smith's work, and the two co-wrote several other pieces.

A host of other acts have also recorded Michael Smith songs, and so has Michael Smith, on two albums of his own.

Most recently, Smith wrote the music for — and performed in — what he said was the first authorized stage production based on "The Grapes of Wrath" by John Steinbeck. The show played in Chicago, where Smith now lives; La Jolla, California; and London.

Born in New Jersey in 1941, Smith describes himself as "pretty self-taught" musically. "I taught myself to start playing the guitar when I was 15," he said.

Almost from the very beginning he wrote songs. Although Elvis Presley was the big early inspiration, Smith started out on an acoustic guitar because, he recalled, "it was all I could afford, and I actually liked it better."

He did play an electric guitar for a while, but "the Kingston Trio kind of distracted me," he said. The Weavers, Theodore Bikel, and eventually Pete Seeger were other early favorites. "Now I like most every kind of music the same," he said.

While a young adult, Smith moved with his family to Florida, working coffeehouses along both coasts during the 1960s. "That was the point at which coffeehouses were starting to get popular," he said.

The coffeehouse circuit got him involved in performing and writing both folk and rock music. "I still do that. I write songs I think of as being pop, and I write songs I think of as being folk," he said.

The circuit also got him acquainted with Spanky and Our Gang, a friendship which led to his big commercial break. When they put out an album, the group included Smith's "Bird Avenue," "The Dutchman," and "Join the Klan." The same album included "Sunday Will Never Be the Same," a hit for the group.

"I probably did better, financially, with them than I've done since," Smith laughed. "It was a shock. I thought it was always going to be like that, but it turns out that's not going to be the case."

Smith eventually moved to Chicago, where he now lives and works. He does some work with the Old Town School of Folk Music, which was formed by a former Weaver.

His latest project was "The Grapes of Wrath" for the Chicago Steppenwolf Company. He "absolutely" enjoyed the theater work — "it's a wonderful experience," particularly working with director Frank Galati.

In fact, Smith is now considering the fact that he may be ideally suited to writing for the theater. "I think I have a talent for working in plays and making it work. People tell me that's really where I belong," he said. "It's easy for me to please people on stage."

In the future, Smith would like to do more theater work. He is working on a songbook of his own, and plans another record.

"I'm just going to be travelling around," he said.

There is still space available in Michael Smith's songwriting workshop, scheduled from 7 to 9 p.m. Saturday at the Giltfiddler. For more information call 349-9420.

which was held at the Northville High School football field. The top act that year was blues musician Josh White Jr., who had been friends with American musician Woody Guthrie.

Guthrie, who spent several years in a psychiatric institution at a time when the medical world failed to understand Huntington's, died from the disease. His wife, Marjorie, created the foundation.

Rice said the festival is now dedicated each year to the Guthries

He said the event — since its inception — has raised about $90,000 for Huntington's disease research.

Wiske said he is grateful that Rice has continued his commitment to fighting Huntington's.

Wiske noted that Rice is not at risk of developing the disease. Rice and his half-sister had different fathers.

"But the fact that he's continuing to fight this disease is just great," Wiske said.

Said Rice: "I'm just doing my small part."

Developer may agree to fund local park improvement

By DARRELL CLEM

Despite the possibility of alternate funding for park improvements, the Northville Recreation Commission has again asked the city council to put a millage proposal on the November ballot.

Recreation Director John Anderson made the request at the council's Monday-night meeting. However, Anderson said the millage proposal could be dropped if another park-improvement plan materializes.

Anderson told the city council that preliminary talks have begun with a developer that needs to create a wetland as mitigation for a project on Haggerty Road.

Anderson said the developer is interested in using about 12 acres of undeveloped land on the west end of Northville Community Park for the wetlands. Anderson said the total park area includes slightly more than 38 acres.

In turn, Anderson said, the developer might agree to pay for park improvements such as a new soccer field, a new baseball diamond, and additional parking spaces.

Anderson declined to identify the developer, saying only that the company plans a development on Haggerty Road just south of Hampton Inn. A Northville Township spokesperson said the developer is Detroit Realty and that the company plans to build a movie theater.

"We have some land that the developer would like to use" to create wetlands, Anderson said.

The state Department of Natural Resources often requires mitigation wetlands to be built when a developer fills in existing wetlands.

Anderson showed the city council a preliminary drawing of the proposed wetlands and park improvements as submitted by the developer, which is expected to present a more-detailed analysis in about three weeks.

"We think we will be able to get a pretty good proposal back from them," Anderson told the council.

On Tuesday, Anderson said during a telephone interview that "it's premature" for the recreation commission to vote on any such plan.

He said the next step will be to wait for the developer to submit additional project details to the Northville Township Board and the recreation commission.

Anderson said it is possible the project could result in the park receiving major improvements "without another millage."

Anderson said a 9-mill tax over two years would be needed to fund about $700,000 in park improvements. However, he said the cost of improvements would be lower for the developer, which already has much of the construction equipment and skills needed for the park project.

Meanwhile, Anderson said city officials would need to reach a decision on the park millage by mid-September in order to get the issue on the November ballot.

Although he requested Monday that the millage proposal be placed on the ballot, he added that the matter could be re-evaluated if the developer's wetlands proposal proves workable.

Anderson said the millage would need to be passed only in the city, which defeated a millage proposal last year. The township, which approved the millage, would not have to put the question on the ballot again, according to an opinion of the township attorney.

Such a millage requires approval from both the city and the township. But Anderson said the township's earlier approval would still stand if the city approves the millage in November.

Anderson said a "routine" bill clarifying the dual passage of millages is before the state legislature. He said the bill is in committee and will probably be voted on in September.

Anderson said he will keep the city council posted on developments between recreation officials and the wetlands developer.

In other matters, Anderson told the council that the chances of buying Lapham Field appear to be slim.

Owners of the field were approached by recreation officials, who had sought to purchase the present soccer fields. However, Anderson noted in a memo to council members that the asking price "was approximately three times the appraised value" — resulting in stalled negotiations.

Anderson said that a state DNR grant of up to $123,000 for the purchase of Lapham will not expire until September of next year.

Temporary shutdown

The Starting Gate Saloon is in the midst of a 10-day closing ordered by the state Liquor Control Commission. The bar got the penalty after a waitress was found to be selling cocaine on the premises. The tavern's owners are using the down time for cleanup and repair work. The shutdown ends Sunday.

MainCentre brick draws some criticism

By DARRELL CLEM

Even before construction of the nearly $6-million MainCentre complex begins, the quality of some building materials chosen for the project is being questioned.

Northville Planning Commission members last week voiced reservations about brick panels that Singh Development Co. plans to use on the second, third, and fourth floors of the building.

Singh Vice President Mike Kahm said that full-size bricks will be used on the first floor of the structure. But he said brick panels allowing more intricate architectural details were chosen for the upper floors.

Bricks on the panels are not full size, and a number of bricks are mounted on a single panel. Developers said the panels also consist of such materials as plywood and plastic foam.

Building materials have been approved by the Historic District Commission. And although the planning commission has no authority to require Singh to alter its design plans, some commissioners questioned the company's decision to use the brick panels.

"I guess I question whether it's a wise decision on your part, but that's a decision you'll have to live with," Planning Commission Vice Chairperson John Hardin said at the meeting Tuesday, July 18.

Kahm said developers initially had concerns about the brick panels, too.

But he said the materials are commonly used and appear to pose no problems.

Kahm stressed that the brick panels were selected for design reasons and that the decision was not based on any cost-cutting measures.

"We're going to own and operate this building. We don't want to get down the road and have a problem with it, either," Kahm said.

He later added: "We don't syndicate our buildings and run away from them."

Among those concerned about the use of brick panels was Northville resident Daniel Hackett, who lives on Dunlap Street. Hackett said he has heard negative comments about the "glue-on bricks" from many Northville residents.

Hackett questioned whether the brick panels should be used in a town that takes pride in its Victorian architecture. He said the project could set a bad precedent for future development — even in the residential sector where residents might "create facades" during new construction.

"Please," Hackett said, "I think we should look at these things seriously."

Hackett added that, since the brick panels have been used by developers only for about 10 years, there is no proof of the panels' longevity.

Kahm, however, said that MainCentre "is going to be a very stable structure."

Construction of the 112,000-square-foot, four-story complex of retail stores and luxury apartments is expected to begin in several weeks and be completed next year.

Planning Commission Member Chris Gazlay said that "this whole project has been a series of compromises." Gazlay said that although he personally does not like the design of MainCentre, the developers have been "very cooperative" with local officials.

"I think the developer has done a very commendable job . . . and has doggedly pursued this project when many of us thought it would fail," Gazlay said.

Although Hardin voiced some concerns about the brick panels, he conceded that MainCentre will have "a nice facade. I think it will be a great addition to the community."

Hardin later added: "I love it design-wise."

At one point, Gazlay said he has seen the brick panels used for other projects and that there appeared to be no problems. He also said the various colors of brick are well distributed on the panels.

In other matters relating to MainCentre, planning commission member and architect Gregory Presley informed the commission that he and several other architects plan to work with Singh to suggest some minor design changes.

Presley said he told the commission of his plans because "I don't want to be overstepping the planning commission."

Presley said the "constructive criticism" of some of the designs for MainCentre is mostly cosmetic — not structural.

Kahm said that developers will take the suggestions under advisement.

"We are certainly open minded," he said.

Although other commissioners appeared to have no strong opposition to the idea of Presley and others suggesting possible changes in the MainCentre project, some said they did not want the matter to take up time at the commission meeting.

Commissioner David Totten said that Presley and Singh officials should discuss the matter privately so that the commission could "go on to other matters" at its meeting.

In other discussion about MainCentre's design, Totten said he hopes that when the building is completed, it will closely resemble the drawings that have been shown to the planning commission.

"I do hope the building looks something like the pictures," he said. "We have had some buildings that looked nothing like the pictures."

Kahm assured planning commission members that MainCentre is being accurately portrayed in the drawings.

Meanwhile, Kahm said initial occupancy for the building should occur early next summer. He said the project should be completed late next year.

Court ruling on prison favors township

since last April.

"Yes, we have been below our quota since last April," Baylor said. "There is no question that the agreement we made (on prisoner capacity) we've lived up to in good faith, except for that one month."

In the new decision the appeals court said:

"The department argues on appeal that the circuit court order . . . should be vacated because there was no evidence of irreparable harm to the township if the overcrowding was permitted to continue."

But the appeals court said it wouldn't reverse Farmer's ruling unless the Corrections Department could show the judge was clearly in error.

The opinion was signed by Judges Joseph B. Sullivan, Roman S. Gribbs, and Martin M. Doctoroff. Gribbs is a former Wayne County sheriff.

The Corrections Department argued the law setting caps on the three suburban prisons was inconsistent with its duty to accept and house all convicts.

The appeals court disagreed.

4. CITIZEN COMMENTS:
None.

5. ADOPTION OF THE AGENDA & APPROVAL OF THE CONSENT AGENDA:
Moved, supported, CARRIED UNANIMOUSLY, to approve the agenda as presented and the consent agenda A through F.

6. NORTHVILLE ACTION COUNCIL RE: DRUG AWARENESS:
Moved, supported, CARRIED UNANIMOUSLY, to adopt a resolution encouraging participation in the stop drugs at the source treaty campaign.

7. The south M.A.G.S. parking lot will be available to assemble the caravan on July 13; Mayor Johnson will be present prior to departure, and the Police Department will provide an escort out of town.

7. ELSMERE DRAIN DITCHES:
Moved, supported, CARRIED UNANIMOUSLY, to authorize the City Manager to proceed with the storm sewer along Elmsmere for a total estimated cost of $127,297.00; review certain areas of concern by residents; and enlarge pipe where possible.

8. SIDEWALK CONSTRUCTION REPORT:
Manager Walters asked Council to review the map showing the City areas without sidewalks. The sidewalks in the County right-of-way and fronting on school property must have their consent prior to assessment; the City has the right to assess all other property owners.

The administration needs guidance for preparing the mailing list, perhaps divide the City into sections; and decide on the policy/rational before notices are prepared as to where sidewalks will be required. Notices are planned for this fall with construction in the Spring.

The first section to be reviewed was Center Street east and from the Mill Pond north.

The map will be redrafted for the next Council meeting.

9. NORTHVILLE SCHOOL RE: AMERICAN SCHOOL SPEED ZONE SIGNS:
The Northville School District formally requested a school speed zone be established on Eight Mile Road east and west of Center through the enactment of a Wayne County traffic control order for a 30 m.p.h. school speed zone in this area.

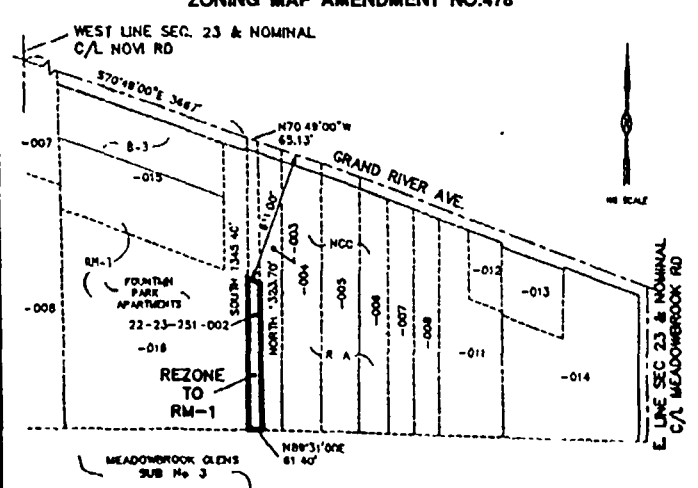

There being no further business to be discussed by City Council, Mayor Johnson adjourned the regular meeting of July 10, 1989, at 10:25 p.m.

Our Opinions

New Ward proposal has same old problem

The latest plan from Ward Presbyterian Church, like the versions that came before, is disappointing.

The church wants to move from its Livonia location into a brand-new building on the northwest corner of Haggerty and Six Mile roads in Northville Township. The church owns land there and seems to be gradually coming closer to a reasonable plan. But it is not there yet.

By far, the biggest problem with Ward's proposals has been the height of the church. The original plan came in with a peak stretching up 125 feet — 10 stories. The new version lowers that to 108 feet.

When the fire chief says his equipment can only handle a fire in a building up to 70 feet tall, the drop from 125 to 108 does not sound like much of an improvement.

The township, in an unfortunate gap in its zoning ordinance, does not have a height limit on churches. Such a limit is under consideration. Most likely, it will end up being a limit of 48 feet for the average building height.

Whether Ward would have to comply with the ordinance is apparently a question of timing concerning the point at which the ordinance is applied, at which the Ward site plan is approved, and maybe even at which the building foundation is laid.

At a recent meeting, Ward's attorney opposed what he characterized as an "arbitrary" height limit. This is nonsense. The proposed limit is not arbitrary at all; it is a reasoned recommendation based on fire safety concerns.

Whether Ward legally falls under the ordinance or not is, in a way, a moot question. The church could be expected to heed the fire chief's concerns and alter its plan to fall within the township's fire fighting abilities. That is an absolutely reasonable

City should explore idea of pond cleaning

The petition recently circulated by city residents who live near the Mill Pond brings up some very valid concerns. City officials should not take this situation lightly.

Apparently the condition of the pond has become steadily worse in the last few years. Sediment, mosquitoes, and other problems have turned the pond into much less an asset than it has been in the past.

The Mill Pond lies on the Middle Rouge River. Relatively speaking, that section of the Rouge is pretty clean. The branch starts just a few miles upstream from the Mill Pond, and so has not had too much chance to become really polluted by the time it hits Northville.

The Rouge River is a resource worth saving in all its parts. Communities like Northville, at the top end of the river basin, in a way have a special responsibility; if the river is not kept clean here, it will never be clean downstream from here.

We understand the city's budgetary pressures, and we understand why any action on cleaning the pond is delayed. But the tepid reaction to the officials thus far seems to be a fiscal concern. Little interest has been shown in even considering cleaning the pond.

This project ought to be investigated, at least be added to the list of things the city hopes to do when money becomes available. There may be sources of funding other than taxes — county or state funds, for example, maybe in connection with local money. Officials could also seek private donations from companies looking for projects.

The city has possibly rejected the idea of cleaning the pond. Officials ought to pursue it. It is a straightforward

The Northville Record

Victorian mania

By Ann Willis

I'm thinking Victorian these days.

I'm caught up in the Victorian Festival madness and I can't get out. I see mauve (semi-official color of the festival) everywhere I turn. Here I am living on the edge of the 21st century, and I can't get out of an 1800s mindset.

In case you haven't heard, there's going to be a Victorian Festival in Northville Sept. 15-17. I've been in on the plans for a few months now, but the enormity of the project and the magnitude of the involvement finally hit home recently.

There are many things I like about being a part of the planning for this festival. The first is the vision itself.

I'm impressed by people who dream, but I'm even more impressed by people who make the dream a reality. You only have to look as far as the Northville Art Market for a case in point. A few Northville people had a vision of an artists' market in downtown Northville. They thought the combination of place and subject would be ideal. So they started it up. The first year they had a few good artists. The next a few more. Each time they came closer to realizing their dream. This year the Art Market will take place as an integral part of the Victorian Festival.

The same thing happened with the Victorian Festival. There was a dream — a vision about what this town could do if it put its collective heads together and gave it a try. And the dream caught on.

The idea of a celebration of the art, romance, and history of Northville's own Victorian era is a good one. This town was settled in the 1800s, and so much of the architecture and feel of the place revolves around that era.

Perhaps the most important part of the festival itself will not come from the 1800s. That will be the effort of today's Northville residents, who will help plan and will participate actively in the festival. I've been a part of the community for a while, yet working on the festival has helped me meet all kinds of new people and to feel a part of the community.

The involvement on all levels is amazing. From the downtown merchants to area businesses. From individual residents to large and small groups, the participation level is high.

We're not talking about a small-scale opportunity here. We're talking about a festival that includes community groups like the Jaycees, the Kiwanis, garden clubs, church groups, PTA organizations, and many, many more. We're talking about involvement from the schools — including children on historical walking tours of our town. There will be performances by children and storytellers; there will be bands and mimes and all kinds of entertainment. A special guest — Jon Oliver, an escape artist — will be crowned the official successor to Harry Houdini in three days of performances right here in Northville.

On Saturday night the Victorian Ball will feature costumed guests and Victorian dances in a beautifully decorated tent at Mill Race. Sunday, in addition to the downtown activities, will be a time for community members to come together for an old-fashioned country picnic at Mill Race.

All of this has taken planning, and will require even more participation to stage effectively. This is the time for anyone who would like to help out — in any way at all — to get involved. We'll be putting up bunting, finding costumes, setting up booths, and getting the word out on the festival. Whether you're part of a group or just a Northville resident who would like to get involved, we'd love to hear from you.

Contact the Chamber of Commerce office at 349-7640 for more information. Or call me here at the paper at 349-1700.

Regardless of how involved you are before the festival, set aside Sept. 15-17 as a time to enjoy the community — and to help us all make a dream come true.

The coquette

After the fact

By Phil Jerome

It was Wednesday afternoon, and Jim Shaw and I were discussing local politics and the meaning of life down at the Starting Gate.

But bigger things were taking place. It was the last day before The Gate would be shut down for a 10-day suspension by the Michigan Liquor Control Commission.

Darlene, Mary, Laurie, and Nancy were hustling beers and burgers, just like they always do. Big Joe Bush was presiding over conversation at the bar. And Jimmy Rea, who owns the bar with his wife Mary Margaret, had some country-western tunes on the juke. It looked like business as usual — unless, of course, you were aware of the impending 10-day sentence.

The bar was closed because a waitress was caught selling a quarter-gram of cocaine to some off-duty state troopers a couple of years ago.

Mary Margaret is taking the whole thing pretty hard. She told me a couple of weeks ago that she's having a hard time sleeping. That she has worked long and hard to give The Gate a good reputation. That she feels her own reputation has been wronged. And that she's worried people will get the wrong impression about The Gate and the people who work there.

Jimmy Rea is doing better ... taking the whole thing in stride. He said he'll take advantage of the 10-day shutdown to do a major cleaning. "It looks clean and it is clean," he told me recently. "But you can always do better. We'll tear this place apart and put it back together again while we're shut down."

Jimmy Rea also expressed concern for my well-being. Knowing I'm an admitted Ms. Pac-Man addict, he asked if I would be okay while The Gate was closed.

I told him I'd get by. I'd tough it out just like he and Mary Margaret had to do. The 10 days will end Saturday, according to my calculations, and I'm planning to return on Sunday. Just to show my support.

Concerns about church dimensions

To the Editor:

Wow! Whoopee! Hurrah! Hallelujah!

Ward Presbyterian Church is making a commitment to Northville. It is renting some vacant space in the Northville Plaza as housing for some church functions. Some commitment!

Ward is seeking variances for church heights, parking lots, landscaping. Ward is contributing nothing to the tax base of Northville. We as tax payers will have to suffer the cost of special fire equipment. We'll have to suffer undue traffic congestion on both Haggerty and Six Mile.

The Lord is not praised any more in a church with a 117-foot steeple and a huge pipe organ than in the humble one-story wooden shack. Northville will not be blessed with the presence of Ward and its constant whining.

We need a no vote on all these excessive variances.

Mary Braddock

Editor's Note: Ward is not seeking a variance on height; the township currently has no height limit in effect for churches. Landscaping is part of site plan approval. The church was already granted a variance for its parking lot.

Parking dispute

To the Editor:

We would like to thank all of our guests at our auction sale for making a very difficult day a success.

By way of explanation, we would like to offer an apology for any inconvenience caused by the parking situation. We began making arrangements for the auction as soon as we decided to sell our home (to) relax at the lake as long as health permits.

Five weeks ago we began contacting both the Wayne County Sheriff's office and the Northville Township Police office to arrange parking accommodations. Wayne County Sheriff's office responded to our inquiries immediately and was most helpful.

However, at Northville Township Police station only the "chief" could provide any information regarding parking on Homer. Unfortunately, the "chief" was unable to answer the phone and unable to return any of the six phone calls made to his office. Ten days before the auction we finally cornered the officer who answered the phone and learned that you can park anywhere in the township unless it is specifically posted as a "No Parking Zone."

We were all surprised when the police arrived at the auction announcing that the cars parked on Homer would be towed if not moved immediately. Since it was not posted, the officer left, saying that the "sergeant" could handle this one. In an attempt to placate everyone it was decided to limit parking to the east side of the street and ask many guests to relocate their vehicles.

We certainly understand the need to keep roads accessible for neighbors and emergency vehicles, but that is why preliminary arrangement contacts were made by us. We were very disappointed that the police department offered no assistance to solve the parking problem, especially since everyone on our end had tried to avoid the problem in the first place.

We apologize for the unprofessional behavior of the officer who interrupted the sale announcing he was going to tow away any car he considered to be parked illegally. We were particularly frustrated when we telephoned the police station to ask for assistance or advice in the middle of the auction and were told "someone would get back" with us!

Anyway, the weather was perfect, and we hope you accept our apology and enjoy your newly acquired treasure as much as we did.

Bill and Merle Duey

Editor's Note: Northville Township Police Capt. Phil Presnell explained that in general, parking is permitted on any street where it is not prohibited by signs. However, parking in any manner an officer sees as hazardous or as impeding the flow of traffic may also be prohibited. "We try to leave as much discretionary power to the officers as possible," Presnell said.

Council thanks Thanks for sale

To the Editor:

The Northville Action Council (NAC) says thank you to Scott Wilson, a citizen of Northville, for his vigorous effort in encouraging other citizens to participate in the United States Constitution — Stop Drugs at the Source Treaty Rally held in Lansing, Michigan on July 13th.

Mr. Wilson presented his own painting of the United States of America's flag in Northville's Fourth of July Parade. This was done to announce the rally to be held in Lansing. The U.S. flag, a map of the United States, and the name of the rally were painted by 75 Georgia high-school students on the side of a 30-foot truck trailer. The truck had visited 12 states before coming to Lansing at the request of the Michigan Legislature.

The City of Northville, Mayor Chris Johnson, and Council Member Paul Folino met Scott Wilson and a group of Northville citizens in a parking lot on Cady and First streets to show support for the rally. The police then escorted the citizen group out of the city as they left in a caravan for Lansing.

Scott Wilson desired that we in the City of Northville and in Northville Township take a stand for our families and community by attending the rally. We appreciate his efforts and look forward to another opportunity to take a stand.

Northville Action Council

Drive goes well Pat on the back

To the Editor:

We want to thank the City of Northville, the City Clerk, Cathy Konrad, the Police Department, and Chief Cannon for permitting us to solicit funds in our canister drive Saturday, June 17th.

The generosity of the Northville residents was, as in the past, very gratifying. By your support of Alhambra we are able to serve those we represent, the mentally impaired children and adults in our area.

Robert N. Hodson
Grand Commander
Manresa Caravan

We three seniors want to thank Real Estate One for organizing and having the garage sale to benefit the Senior Citizens Club of Northville.

We know many hours were spent collecting, marking, displaying, selling, and finally cleaning up.

We know we speak for all the seniors when we say that such community involvement by the private sector is highly appreciated and commended.

Barbara Curtis
Florence Orr
Helen Maki

Sale support

To the Editor:

May we take this opportunity to thank the community for their donations to our Real Estate One garage sale, Saturday, July 15th.

Thanks to this generosity we were able to donate over $300 to the Northville Senior Citizens Club.

We appreciate this support and wish our Seniors well!

Mickey Segrest, Chairman
Carolynn Beyer, Manager

To the Editor:

The Presbyterian Church on the corner of Main and Mary Alexander Court deserves a real big "pat on the back" for helping to beautify Northville with white and red flowers blooming all around the church building; even its parking lot in the rear is well done and well kept.

Churches are not always good neighbors, what with large and ugly parking lots and little or no attention to landscaping. But the Main Street Presbyterian Church is a beautiful neighbor in our fair city.

NYA moves into a new location

This is the latest in a series of columns by Northville Youth Assistance Director Mary Ellen King.

The office of Northville Youth Assistance (NYA) has moved. We are now located in room 17 at Cooke Center, 21200 Taft Road. The move from our former location at the Moraine Childhood Development Center went very smoothly, thanks to the efficiency of the moving crew from the school system.

On behalf of the youths who are currently serviced and those who have been serviced by NYA, I would like to thank the Northville Public School system for providing office space for the program. I would also like to thank the city and township of Northville for continuing shared budget support of this program dedicated to the youths of the community.

When NYA learned that it would be moving to Cooke Center, the NYA Advisory Council recognized that there would be moving and set-up expenses. The council decided to write letters to local businesses and civic organizations asking them to help with these expenses. The Advisory Council would like to thank the following Northville businesses and groups who generously donated to NYA for moving expenses:

1. C. Harold Bloom Agency
2. Peter J. Ehlerdt, D.D.S.
3. Carol Emsley (Blue Ribbon Groomers)
4. Holland, Newton & Associates
5. R & D Enterprises
6. Insurance Exchange Agency Inc.
7. Belanger Inc.

8. Perrins Sport Gifts
9. Bright Bar Steel
10. Pizza Cutter Co.
11. Long Plumbing Co.
12. Ross B. Northrop and Son
13. Jerome & Samhat, P.C.
14. Margo's of Northville
15. Doris B. Pervis
16. Northville Rotary
17. Northville Town Hall Series

It is because of the generosity and support of the entire community that NYA can continue to service Northville youths and their families. It is also because of you that we are continuing to make a difference in the lives of our local youths.

The public is encouraged and welcome to visit NYA at Cooke Center or call 344-1618 for guidance and assistance.

Lucas reflections

By Tim Richard

It was a vintage Bill Lucas performance. He didn't show up.

Lucas is President Bush's choice for assistant attorney general for civil rights. The nominee found himself in big trouble last week in U.S. Senate confirmation hearings.

One day U.S. Rep. John Conyers, D-Detroit, was supporting Lucas, and the next day took it all back. Conyers didn't care for Lucas' views on certain court decisions. The Capitol news corps treated it as a blockbuster.

The crucial point is that Lucas wasn't there to reply to Conyers.

Members of the Lucas family were in the background on the TV screen, looking very solemn and wounded. But Lucas himself was absent.

Before I began covering Wayne County government some years ago, I had heard nothing but bad about Sheriff Lucas' performance, particularly the time he went on an overseas vacation during budget hearings.

The first time I saw Lucas myself was at a county board committee meeting on parks patrols. Someone asked Lucas a question. The sheriff sat stony faced and didn't reply.

Spokespeople for the Sheriff's Department unions replied. It showed who ran the department.

There was a second question, and still Lucas sat stony faced. A third question. A fourth question. For these Lucas pasted on a little smile but didn't answer.

Running for county executive in 1982, Lucas avoided debates. His appearances were just that — appearances, without substance.

Once he was county executive, the pattern continued. One day he called a press conference, and we had to go through tighter security than even Gov. Jim Blanchard has. We were ushered into a magnificently appointed conference room with an impressive blue background — again, fancier digs than the governor has.

Lucas came in, read a statement, then promptly skedaddled, leaving underlings to answer the questions.

It was quite a contrast in 1982-6 to cover Oakland County board meetings on Thursday mornings and Wayne County board meetings Thursday afternoons.

Oakland Executive Dan Murphy would meet with the Republican caucus. He had a designated seat for the full board meeting and answered commissioners' questions. It was an excellent technique because the loyal opposition vituperates less when an executive is present than when he is absent. When Murphy went on vacation, his top deputies were available.

Lucas never attended a committee meeting. He never attended a board meeting. He rarely sent a top assistant, just a functionary who sat there with a tape recorder. While still a Democrat, Lucas enjoyed a 14-1 board majority, but you would never know it from the way his allies reamed him out without challenge.

In my mind, Lucas' problem is not his shaky resumes of 20 years ago, his reaction to Supreme Court rulings, or his alleged contacts with gamblers about which nothing was ever proven.

His views on court rulings are irrelevant because he isn't being nominated for a court. The point is that he didn't know the operations of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department, he didn't know the operations of the executive's office, and he probably never will learn the operations of the U.S. Civil Rights office.

He doesn't know budgeting.

He can't tell you what his hopes and dreams are except for a bland assurance that he will enforce the law.

When the going gets tough, Bill Lucas is gone.

DPW yard gets bin for recycling

Mapes said the recycling program is being limited to city residents — for now, at least — because the city could end up having to pay for disposal of the recyclables.

And the program is being implemented only on a voluntary basis.

In a memo to City Manager Steven Walters, Mapes wrote that "while we are continuously looking for solutions to recycle our waste, there are many unanswered questions. Because of this, it is recommended to encourage the use of our containers at the Public Works yard on a voluntary basis for now."

Mapes said the new recycling bin may be used as a drop-off point for plastics, tin cans, and three types of glass — green, brown, and clear.

The bin arrived about three weeks behind schedule due to manufacturing delays.

The newspaper bin, meanwhile, replaced one that was pulled from the DPW yard last month by the Romulus company that had provided it. The company cited difficulties in selling used newsprint.

Mapes said the latest newspaper bin, received from Royal Oak Waste Paper Co., will be tried on a monthly basis.

The recycling bins are located near the salt shed at the DPW yard. However, used motor oil must be dropped off at the DPW garage.

In other developments, Mapes said that local efforts to compost grass, leaves, and brush in this area should be postponed until spring.

In the memo to Walters, Mapes noted that "no one is prepared to compost grass, leaves, and brush in our area. However, a site may become available by spring. It is recommended to consider mandatory separation of grass in the spring of 1990."

Mapes suggested that, once the composting program is launched, the city should sell biodegradable bags for grass and leaf disposal. Mapes also recommended that the city designate Mondays as the pick-up day for the bags.

"A lot of people cut their grass on the weekend," Mapes said, "so Monday would be a good day."

Local officials unveil study on Northville Ford plant

Quinn Evans, an Ann Arbor-based firm, assisted the city, township, and school district in preparing the Ford plant study, which was funded with a Community Development Block Grant. The report was presented to Ford officials earlier this month.

In the latest development, Johnson received a letter from Ford corporate real-estate official Sean B. McCourt, who wrote that Ford is "very interested in beginning discussions concerning the city and township's desire to acquire the site for community development."

McCourt informed Johnson that Ford officials would contact Northville City Manager Steven Walters after Aug. 15 to set up a meeting to launch preliminary talks on negotiating a price for the plant.

McCourt's statement came in response to a letter he received from Johnson.

Johnson's letter, contained in the first two pages of the Ford plant study, states that the Ford plant property "offers a significant opportunity for our community to provide important public services while maintaining the historical value and natural features of the site."

Early on, the report provides an overview of the former valve plant's history, noting that the east end was built in 1936 and the west section was added in two stages — in 1957 and 1966.

The 1.2-acre plant, located at the intersection of Main and Griswold streets, sits on an 8.5-acre east parcel of land owned by Ford. A 5.8-acre west parcel includes Ford Field, a ball field and open recreation area that has long been leased to the city.

The study notes that "the most severe restrictions to development" stem from the site being located within the 100-year floodplain of the Middle Rouge River, where development is strictly regulated by the state Department of Natural Resources.

Only 26 percent of the total site area is unrestricted by steep banks or the floodplain.

Moreover, officials cite environmental problems — such as oil-stained soils, three 10,000-gallon underground tanks, and asbestos in the plant — that would have to be addressed.

City officials indicated that Ford would assume responsibility for environmental clean-up, except perhaps for the removal of asbestos from inside the building. Johnson said that project alone could cost up to $200,000.

In a section focusing on potential uses for the site, the report states that the west parcel should continue to be used for outdoor recreation, while potential uses for the plant site range from community center to library and residential to commercial.

Market data used to develop the report indicated that there is "a strong market" for any such use. It adds that, from the community's viewpoint, private uses would be less expensive to develop and would contribute to the tax base.

"However," the study states, "with private use comes less community control over and benefit from the property."

The report focuses both on the exclusively public redevelopment of the plant and on a mixed-use concept of public and private uses.

Under a mixed-use proposal, the public library would occupy a 44,825-square-foot area virtually split between the main level and the basement. Retail development would occupy 31,100 square feet on the main level.

Under the strictly public-use concept, the library would use 22,500 square feet of space, compared to 27,300 square feet for the school services center. A public lobby would occupy 3,800 square feet, and 22,325 square feet would be designated for "community use."

During last week's meeting, Northville Planning Commission member Chris Gazlay voiced concerns that a school services center would make half of the building inaccessible to the public. He indicated that he supported some type of retail use.

"I think it would be regrettable to keep part of the building closed to the public," Gazlay said.

Toward the end of the study, information about Northville — such as data on household income, population projections, education level, and business facts — is included in a market analysis.

Earlier market information in the report says that growth in the Northville area will be strong and that incomes will remain "very high," suggesting that the area will be a strong market "for any use that is well-developed, whether it is residential, retail, commercial, office, etc."

Gary Cooper, vice president of the Ann Arbor office of Quinn Evans, said during last week's meeting that the Ford plant would be a prime location for redevelopment because "the business district could grow toward the Ford plant."

Cooper noted that the Cady Street Corridor also is in a state of transition.

In closing, the report contains three copies of letters addressed to Mayor Johnson from Library Director Pat Orr, Recreation Director John Anderson, and the school district's Assistant Superintendent of Administrative Services, Burton Knighton.

Each official appears to support public use of the Ford plant, which closed last month after the automaker consolidated some of its operations.

As local officials prepare to enter talks with Ford, they must consider not only the possible uses of the plant, but also the funding mechanisms that the various options would require.

Johnson pointed out that "we have no firm numbers yet from Ford" on what it would cost to buy the plant.

Whatever the ultimate decision is, city officials have indicated that the public will have an opportunity to speak out during a public hearing that would be held if the city decides to buy the plant.

Local officials said they have no timetable for wrapping up negotiations with Ford.

Northville vet caters to pets and pet owners

By ANN E. WILLIS

There's no escaping the fact that more and more people are moving to the communities along the I-275/I-96 corridor. And along with the carloads of furniture and station wagons filled with small soccer players is a burgeoning population of pets.

With those increasing numbers of pets is a steadily growing business market for the area's veterinarians.

For the veterinarians who staff the Geake Veterinary Clinic in Northville Township, working with the pet owners is as much a part of the practice as their love of the animals themselves.

Three veterinarians staff the clinic: Carol Geake, Lorie DeGrazia and Therese McCarthy. Sally Potter and Pattie Tuck are veterinary assistants.

"I like the attitude of the people toward their animals," DeGrazia said about the clinic's clientele. "This is a nice, relaxed atmosphere with good quality medicine," she said.

Geake began the practice in 1970 on a part-time basis while her children were young. The office is located at 48525 West Eight Mile on the grounds of the Geake home, a farm that was built in the 1800s. The veterinary offices are in a separate building behind the main house. Horses run in fields next to the office where a full range of small animal medicine is practiced.

"In order to be successful you have to like people," Geake said referring to her practice. "You go into veterinary work because you like animals — that's a given, but to really be successful at this work you have to like people and work well with them. And we really do care."

Geake's practice relies on word-of-

CPAs offer tips for selling your home

Not too long ago, houses almost seemed to sell themselves. But times have changed.

During the first quarter of 1988, house prices fell in 30 of 61 markets nationwide. If you plan to sell your home in a buyer's market, the Michigan Association of CPAs suggests that you put a little extra muscle into the process.

The first step is to make sure that you price your home reasonably and objectively. When you look around your home, you may remember your first Thanksgiving there or that wonderful surprise party your friends threw for you. But a potential buyer will not view the home through your memories.

To ensure your house is priced competitively, check the local registry of deeds for the actual sales figures of homes in your area. Alternately, you can consult a knowledgeable real estate agent.

Remember that your home is a product. In many ways, you have to market it as you would other commodities. Who is your target buyer? If you have a small, starter home, your home will appeal most to young professionals or older individuals looking to trade down to a smaller home. If you have a larger home with three or more bedrooms, you are more likely to attract baby boomers who are ready to build a family. Anticipating the type or persons who may buy your home can help you tailor the space to their needs and wants more effectively.

No matter who your target buyer may be, you can improve your chances of successfully selling your home by improving its overall condition. If your home is clean and well maintained, the selling price is more likely to be near the top of the range. By contrast, if the outside paint is peeling, the floors are scratched and marred, your kitchen range shows evidence of every meal cooked during the last week and your pet's fur is evident in every corner, you will be lucky to find a buyer at all.

Remember, people want to move

into a house that is clean, comfortable and in good shape. After all, most home owners are not eager to dive into a major fix-up and clean-up campaign. And others, who have sunk their last dollar into the down payments, simply won't be able to fund numerous repairs.

It need not take your life savings to get your house into selling shape. In fact, inexpensive fix-ups and clean-ups can literally add thousands of dollars to the value of your home.

First impressions are critical, so begin on the outside. You want people driving up to be eager—not afraid—to see the inside of your home. Trim your lawn, trees and shrubs. Paint your home's exterior, add a new door mat and wipe the scuff marks off the front door.

Once inside, a prospective buyer will usually make an instant sensory impression of the home. A dim room with distinct odors, such as tobacco smoke, fried foods or litter boxes, can turn a buyer off quicker than an inflated price. To make a positive impact, apply fresh paint to the walls. Try to stay with white or off-white. Neutral colors are acceptable to most people and make rooms seem more spacious.

Be sure your windows are sparkling, floors waxed and carpeting clean. Change your light bulbs so they supply the highest wattage possible.

Pay particular attention to the kitchen and bathrooms—rooms that can make or break a sale. Your appliances should be clean and your countertops clear of unnecessary clutter. The same goes for your cabinets. If they are filled to the brim, a prospective buyer may assume that the cabinet space is inadequate.

In your living or family room, arrange furniture and accessories so that the impression is warm and comfortable. Similarly, the bedrooms should be inviting. And, yes, that does include your teenager's room. If the bedrooms are small, consider temporarily removing unnecessary pieces of furniture to create a more spacious feeling.

Do you have one of those closets that is so filled with junk you have to struggle to close the door? Before you put your home on the market, clear out all the closets in your home and get rid of anything that is not needed. Adequate closet space is quite often a priority for home buyers.

Don't forget the attic and basement. These areas have a tendency to appear dark, musty or just plain creepy. Do everything you can to alleviate this feeling. Add lights, clean the windows and deodorize the area. And this might be just the time to get rid of the 10 years' worth of "National Geographic" you've accumulated.

Finally, try to create an appealing mood. For example, most people want a fireplace, so if your home has one, play it up. If the weather is at all conducive to a fire, by all means have one burning. Fresh flowers in the bedroom add a nice touch. In the kitchen, a basket filled with fresh lemons or some freshly baked muffins on a counter can invoke that homey feeling that helps turn a looker into a buyer.

There's even a tax benefit to fixing up your house before a sale. Remember, any profit that you realize upon selling your home can be taxed if you do not reinvest the gain in a home of equal or greater value. However, you can reduce the amount of the gain by subtracting from your home's selling price the cost of repairs done during the 90 days prior to signing a contract. Just make sure the repairs are paid for within 30 days of the sale of the residence. Fix-up costs can include wallpapering, painting or repairing leaking faucets.

You should also be aware of a number of other tax advantages available to you when you sell your home, adds the Michigan Association of CPAs. If you sell your home for more than you paid for it, the profit is taxable. But, if within two years before or after the sale of your home you buy another home that costs at least as much, you may defer paying taxes on the profit.

And home sellers who are 55 years old or older and have lived in their home for at least three of the last five years, are allowed a one-time exclusion of $125,000 on the taxable gains from the sale of their principal residence.

Vet loves people, pets

mouth publicity, as the clinic has no sign advertising its whereabouts. "People who come here tell people they like," Geake said.

The veterinarians see mostly dogs and cats but will work on just about any pet their clients bring in. They do see rabbits, turtles, guinea pigs, mice, rats, lizards and snakes on occasion.

Geake used to have a large animal practice in the 1970s, particularly a sizeable horse practice. But the work load grew to such an extent that she gave it up to concentrate strictly on small animals.

Continuing education programs are important to the three vets, and DeGrazia said they read newly published literature and attend Michigan Veterinary Medical Association lectures which are given in conjunction with Michigan State University. Geake served four years on the alumni council for the Michigan State University Veterinary Advisory Council.

The staff at the hospital is extremely close, Geake said, enjoying not only their clients and patients, but each other.

"You may have a very difficult day and work late, and yet we'll sit and talk for an hour after we close up," Geake said. "That means the staff is happy. We do things together and we work as a team."

As the practice has grown, so has the range of veterinary medicine available. The clinic does a lot of dental work on the animals and recently purchased new dental equipment to allow them to do even more.

DeGrazia is very interested in surgery and orthopedic medicine. Both Geake and DeGrazia stress the need for preventative work on the animals they see.

New home and new hopes rise from blackened ruins

By Lisa Felicelli

On April 10, 1988 a Hartland Township couple decided to take an early Sunday morning stroll down to Dunham Lake. They never expected the near tragedy that struck their home and nearly claimed the life of their sleeping 13-year-old son.

"We were walking along the shoreline when a neighbor came running after us. He told us that our son Brian was safe, but that our house was on fire," remembered Dan Tingley, a Hewlett-Packard engineer who lives with his family on Tipsico Lake Road.

He and his wife Melanie, who teaches at Highland Middle School, rushed back to their home to find it engulfed in flames and smoldering black smoke. Firefighters from Hartland, Highland, Brighton Township and Holly were battling the blaze.

"I saw our house on fire and just couldn't believe that Brian was safe until I ran down to the neighbor's and saw him for myself," Melanie said. "He was all I could think of."

Dan agreed. "Our neighbors gathered on the street with us and as we watched the fire we said, 'Oh God, this is so horrible.' But all I can remember thinking is, 'Well, it's just a house.'"

The fire caused an estimated $100,000 damage to the Tingley's home. It was ignited by a plastic newspaper delivery tube that had been set on fire the night before by a vandal and had sparked up again in a garbage can near a gas line that morning.

It completely destroyed the garage and gutted most of the newly-remodeled second story. What the flames hadn't struck suffered severe smoke and water damage.

Only 48 household items survived the blaze.

"You acquire a great number of material possessions throughout your life but they're not the bottom line at all," Melanie said. "We were fortunate in that none of us were injured, but Brian's pet cat didn't survive. Because he is an only child and had raised it from a kitten, it was a tragic loss for him. That's something that just can't be replaced."

With only the clothes on their back, the family moved into a trailer that Dan had arranged to keep near the remains of their house. Dan debated what the family should do.

"Over 60 percent was just one melted mass," Dan said. "Only the living and dining rooms somewhat survived. And everything smelled of smoke."

"We didn't feel like we had a lot of time to decide what we were going to do with the house because we wanted as little disruption as possible for Brian," Melanie added.

An insurance adjuster from Trans-America and representatives from Montgomery and Sons, a business out of Pontiac that rebuilds burned houses, spent three days estimating how much it would cost to rebuild the Tingley's home exactly as it was.

"They went from room to room with charts and calculators, visually reconstructing the house with the carpet, wallpaper and so on that we once had," Dan explained.

The estimate turned out to be so high that the couple decided it would be more practical to simply rebuild the entire house.

Once Harvey Lake residents, the Tingleys moved into their original house on Tipsico Lake Road in 1977. Although they remodeled the inside — Dan replaced the plumbing and electrical systems and had just finished painting the last closet only several days before the fire — they didn't touch the exterior of the home. Now, suddenly, they had the opportunity to create their "dream" house.

"We really enjoy the outdoors and wanted to give the house a more natural look," Melanie said. Together they roughly began drawing up a new floor plan, using their former floor plan as a guide and for contrast.

"We talked over what we did and didn't like about our old home before

Around the Yard: Gardening

Transplanting

With today's technology, transplanting can be done most any time of the year in most any area of the country. Bare root, balled and burlapped, and container-grown plants can be purchased at reputable nurseries.

Bare root

Balled and burlapped

Container grown

- Try to transplant on a cloudy day.
- Prepare the soil and dig the hole before unpotting the plant. Moist soil works best — not soggy, not bone dry.
- Trim dangling roots or those encircling the pot.
- Set plant, fill hole partly with soil. Water thoroughly and let drain, finish filling with dirt and firm.

Small starter home blends design, economy

By James McAlexander

The Monett is an excellent starter home for a young family. It's small, so the price is right, while at the same time it has an interesting exterior and offers features that prospective home buyers are asking for, such as built-in utilities and a large master suite.

The unique half-octagon-shape kitchen lets parents keep an eye on kids while fixing dinner. Multipaned windows wrap around three sides, filling the area with light while providing a panoramic view of the neighborhood.

On the exterior, the kitchen's octagonal protrusion creates one of several interesting roof-line variations that combine to give the Monett a Tudor look. Truncated gables and rough-sawn board trim on the stucco exterior carry out the theme.

The kitchen has plenty of counter and cupboard space and is just inside the front door—handy for grabbing a quick snack. Less formal families might prefer removing the short wall between the kitchen and living room and switching the dishwasher and refrigerator, thus converting the area to a large family room with an eating bar.

The master suite is large and has a walk-in closet. Placing the double vanity outside the bath and toilet area gives added privacy, elbow room and counter space. Occupants of the other two bedrooms share a bathroom brightened with soft natural light from a skylight over the tub.

For study plan of the Monett (209-06), send $5 to Landmark Designs, P.O. Box 2307 CN, Eugene, OR 97402. (Be sure to specify plan name and number when ordering.)

deciding what we were going to do with our new one," Melanie said.

Michael O'Boyle, an architect from Flint, advised them as to what would be feasible. Working from the foundation up and taking into consideration O'Boyle's suggestions, the Tingleys began incorporating their new preferences.

"What you want in a house when you're 25 changes when you near 40," Melanie said. "You become more practical."

Installing a full bath on the first floor so that when her elderly mother visited she wouldn't have to climb the stairs was one such practical change.

The Tingleys also added more windows and skylights in the kitchen, which overlooks a shady, wooded backyard.

"There's much more light, and the room has an open look to it," Dan said.

Altogether the Tingleys added 300 square feet to the size of their original home, including footings on the back and front and a large cedar deck. In fact, they replaced the entire exterior of the house — once aluminum and brick — to cedar bevelled siding.

Roy Sandborn, a building contractor from Sandborn Homes in Milford, built the new home's "skeleton."

"He provided excellent service and offered awfully good ideas. He shared his expertise although he didn't profit from it, which helped us in designing our home," Melanie said.

"We tried to stick with local Milford people," Dan added. "We purchased all of our cedar wood from Highland Lumber."

Melanie decided to become the Tingley's building contractor and selected plumbing, electrical, heating and other necessary services herself.

"By acting as our own contractor, we could spend the percentage the builder would have taken from the utility services profit on our house," she explained.

"What it came down to was a nicer house for the same amount of money," Dan agreed.

Despite the fact that they were still living in a trailer on what was left of their front lawn, the Tingleys emphasized that although they wanted everything to be back to normal as soon as possible, they didn't want to rush their home back together.

"Consider that you're going to be living in this house possibly for the rest of your life," Melanie said. "We wanted to do it right."

She carefully planned the interior decor of the new cedar-sided home and noted that it's much easier to start from scratch than to have to coordinate the hodgepodge of knickknacks one collects throughout the years.

"We didn't have many knickknacks left," Dan said with a good-natured grin.

However, he added that shopping for everything they had lost in the fire was a time-consuming job.

The Tingleys offered from their experience three main tragedy-prevention tips to homeowners. First, they recommend that people ask their insurance company if a guaranteed endorsement is available.

"There's a limit as to how much insurance agencies will provide," Dan said. "In our case, we went over that limit. But if we had known about the endorsement — of which we discovered afterward — our agency would have covered everything."

Second, they suggest that homeowners take a thorough inventory of their belongings and record the total on paper. They should then record it as well on tape with a video camera if possible.

"After our banking inspector came through, he went home and asked his wife how many shirts she thought he had," Melanie said. "She and he both guessed about 25. As it turned out, he had 56. People usually don't know just how much they have."

Finally, the Tingleys encourage people to keep valuable papers in fireproof metal boxes. They did not have to replace birth certificates, tax forms and so on because of this precaution.

Skylights, such as the ones shown in the kitchen, are a recurring theme in the Tingley's home.

Trumpeting water pipes disturb apartment dweller

By Gene Gary

Q. I live in a 40-year-old multistory apartment house. This winter, a strange problem developed in my bathroom sink cold-water faucet.

A minute or so after I turn off the cold water, whether turning the faucet quickly or slowly, the pipe or faucet starts making a noise like a trumpet. This lasts a minute or so.

The building maintenance people claim they have not heard it when checking the system. They did change the washer in the faucet, but to no avail.

I am not imagining this noise. Please help diagnose this problem.—L.E.

A. Very likely your problem is a faulty faucet. The threads on the faucet stem have worn and become loose. This looseness is causing the noise.

Your best bet is to replace the old faucet with a new one. This will be more satisfactory than trying to fix a faucet where the threads are badly worn.

It would take considerable time to effect even a temporary cure of the trouble, using the old faucet, as the threads would have to be upset with rows of punch or chisel marks in order to tighten them sufficiently to prevent vibration of the faucet stem when open.

Sometimes this fault can be corrected temporarily by replacing the seat washer and repacking the gland, but in sections where the water is very hard, such a repair cannot be relied upon.

If a new faucet does not correct the problem, you may have a home plumbing problem sometimes referred to as "water hammer." The remedy for this condition is usually an air chamber installed on the water pipes. However, since your condition came on suddenly without any significant change in the overall plumbing system, I doubt this is the problem.

Q: I have a problem with a concrete slab 12 feet by 24 feet.

When it was poured, the cement truck was so full that when the mixer turned, sand and gravel fell out of it. The concrete was so stiff that the surface could not be worked for a smooth surface.

Is there a way to put a smooth surface on it?—C.R.S.

A: A thin surface of new concrete can be applied to the old finish or, in some cases, if binder is added to the new mixture.

Be sure that the surface is thoroughly cleaned of all debris and any cracks are cleaned of all loose chips or debris and patched prior to application of the new layer.

Check with your masonry supply dealer on recommended brands and follow the manufacturer's instructions carefully.

Q: In a remodeling project we added a room and used a gypsum board in finishing the walls.

Unfortunately, we failed to do a good job in taping the seams and these areas look bad. We have been unable to smooth them out.

Do you have any suggestions on how we can remedy this problem?—M.M.

A: You could paint the wall with a textured paint. It's a very thick paint, almost a putty, that you spread on with a trowel or stiff brush.

Once it is on, you can texture it in a variety of patterns using a stiff brush or whisk broom, or by patting it with a sponge. A swirl pattern is fairly easy to make.

The texture will hide the unevenness of the taping job, but there are some drawbacks to consider: Once you texture the wall it will be very difficult to "untexture" it at a future date. Also, a textured wall is difficult to keep clean.

Other solutions would be to put up paneling over the drywall, or hire a professional tapper to come in and smooth out the wall.

Q. We recently stripped green anti-aging paint off our mahogany kitchen cabinets. We now would like to stain them, but there is still some green in the grain that we can't seem to remove.

We've heard we can use a bleach solution, but don't know what strength to use and we don't want to lighten the wood too much. Also, what type of stain is good for kitchen cabinets?—L.M.Q.

A. A bleaching process is only one method of removing embedded stain in the wood grain. I suggest you first try the following method to remove the remaining traces of green paint.

Combine equal parts of shellac and denatured alcohol. Shellac the wood well by brushing this mixture into the surface with a paint brush. Let cure for several days.

This should pull out just about all the paint from the grain. Repeat process if necessary until all paint is gone from the grain.

If this does not do the trick you can bleach the wood with a commercial bleach made for wood products and available in hardware stores or from paint dealers. Follow directions on the container, especially the portion that tells how and with what the wood should be rinsed.

The bleach should be applied to the entire surface rather than just where the spots are. It is likely the wood will turn out lighter than you want it to be. If it does, a stain of the desired color will have to be used.

Under these circumstances, it is wise to apply a sealer under and over the stain. The undercoat will assure even distribution of the stain. The overcoat will prevent the stain from bleeding through the final finish coat.

There are many types of quality stains available in an array of colors. Some stains provide a finished surface, while others will require an additional finish coat.

For kitchen cabinets, you may want to stain the wood first and then add a protective coating of polyurethane which offers a hard, resilient finish. Polyurethane is more durable than varnish and if the product contains UV inhibitors it will also protect from the debilitating effects of sunlight.

For the most durable finish, apply two to three coats of polyurethane, sanding lightly between coats or recoating within the time specified on the label. For greatest strength, use gloss base coats even if your final coat will be a satin finish.

Check with your paint dealer when selecting products. Make sure the staining product is compatible with the polyurethane finish. You can never urethane over surfaces that have been waxed or shellacked. In some cases, urethane can be applied over varnish.

Whether your ancestors first set foot on American soil at Ellis Island, or entered through another gateway, here is a unique opportunity to present your family with a gift that will be meaningful for generations to come. When you make a $100 contribution to restore Ellis Island, the name you designate will be permanently placed on the American Immigrant Wall of Honor. You can choose the name of an ancestor or just your own family name. And you'll receive an Official Certificate of Registration. To register additional names, list each name and country of origin on a separate sheet.

Please send your contribution today. By acting now you assure that the Ellis Island Immigration Museum will be a place to honor your own heritage, as well as a monument to the great American traditions of freedom, hope and opportunity.

Learning to take pounds off sensibly

Man sheds 75 pounds in TOPS

It's not easy to shed excess pounds.

Just ask Donald Davies, a Novi resident who was recently crowned Michigan Take Off Pounds Sensibly (TOPS) King after losing 75 pounds in six months.

"I had tried a number of diets but I still weighed 249," Davies said. "I decided it wouldn't hurt to try the TOPS program."

While TOPS Club, Inc. emphasizes the importance of dieting under medical supervision, the program operates under the premise that the mutual camaraderie, understanding, encouragement and recognition for successful weight loss from a group bound together by the same goal is more beneficial than an individual effort.

"There are a number of people who only come for their weekly weigh-in and then leave, but I found that staying for the support meeting afterward and sharing concerns and words of encouragement with others in the same boat proved to be a big incentive for me," Davies said.

He began accompanying his wife Betty to a Michigan TOPS chapter in Farmington Hills in October of 1987, but he noted that there is a chapter in Novi. In fact, there are over 9,890 chapters in the United States alone and approximately 1,940 groups operating in other countries.

"TOPS just doesn't get the publicity that programs like Weight Watchers receive, but TOPS chapters are becoming more and more popular as more and more people are discovering that it's a healthy and fun way to lose weight," Davies explained.

"It's also less expensive. The initial TOPS membership fee is only $20."

Before joining TOPS, Davies visited a physician who knew and understood his patient's previous dieting dilemmas and with whom Davies was comfortable. After performing a careful history and physical examination of Davies, the physician set for him a goal weight — 175 pounds — and prescribed a safe diet.

"Then I began attending my TOPS meeting once a week," Davies said. "At 6:30 p.m. we weighed in and had the opportunity to visit a bit with everyone."

Although a social hour, "weighing in" is also an incentive to stick to a diet, he added.

"Knowing that every week I would have to step up on the scale in front of everyone and let them announce whether or not I had lost pounds or gained them really kept me motivated," he said. "Nobody likes to admit they've 'turtled' — have barely made any progress — on his or her diet."

Davies, who began in the 200-250 pound men's division, added that there are about 40 members in his chapter.

Next, TOPS chapter leaders encouraged discussion among members and provided sympathetic but strong support for those people who had become discouraged during the past week. Davies explained that these leaders are former TOPS members who have successfully achieved and maintained their goal weight and enthusiastically spur others to do the same.

"The most important attribute of the program is that we're all in it together," Davies emphasized. "We're all concerned about our weight and health, and really want to do something about both."

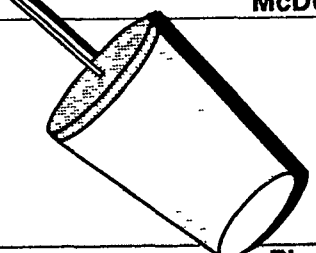

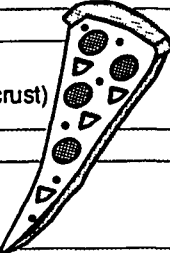

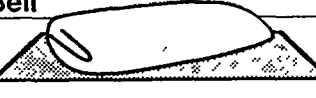

That is precisely what Davies set out to do and did.

With his wife Betty, Davies began

Low calorie programs may cause side effects

Tempting low-calorie diet program for quick weight loss are not without medical risk and side effect if prolonged.

The TOPS (Take Off Pounds Sensibly) research program encourages dieters to keep an eye out for these potential complications:

- 1. Fatigue, including a difficulty in carrying out simple daily tasks and in concentrating.
- 2. Nausea and constipation.
- 3. Dizziness and occasional fainting.
- 4. Dehydration.
- 5. Pancreatitis and acute gallbladder attacks, usually after normal eating habits have replaced a low-calorie regimen.
- 6. Scalp hair loss and dry skin.

7. Weariness in dieters with pre-existing chronic lung or kidney diseases.

8. Muscle cramps (especially in near total starvation programs of 300-400 calories or less per day).

9. Menstrual disturbance or lack of menstruation.

10. Heart disorders (these apply primarily to protein-supplemented fasts in which disturbed heart rhythm, cardiac arrest and death have been reported).

NOTE: Low-calorie diets should never be used by children, pregnant women or by patients with other complications such as diabetes, hypertension, heart, liver, lung or kidney disease or by people with cerebrovascular disorders.

Turnbull guides city tours

By DOROTHY NASH

Retirement can present a problem of how to spend time in a meaningful and satisfying manner. At least it did for Bruce Turnbull — but not for long.

When he retired five years ago, Turnbull went to the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce and offered to help in any way he could. Almost immediately he was told that a restaurant owner had called in, saying he would like somebody to take tours around Northville. And since Turnbull had grown up in Northville, this sounded good.

"So I drove around town," Turnbull said, "to see what I could include in a tour" — which turned out to be his first of many walking tours and talks about Northville to seated groups of adults and students.

In describing the scope of his audiences, Turnbull said, "I've talked to senior citizens at Allen Terrace, and I've walked on a one-hour tour with eighteen Brownies and their three leaders."

Three different walking tours — one or two hours in length — might be like this, he said:

- Main Street from the post office to the old spring.

- The southwest section of town — the old fairgrounds (race track), the old fish hatchery area, and the Cady Street cemetery.

- West Main and Dunlap streets, showing locations of the old Methodist Church and the opera house, and on up North Center.

In talks to sit-down groups Turnbull may go back in time to the Ice Age and then quickly up to native Americans, early settlers and their farm property, and to the 1930s.

He said he tailors his talks to the age and type of audience, and he tries to be more entertaining than instructive.

Why do it? Besides giving himself retirement occupation, Turnbull said, "I do it because Northville is a nice little town, and like a minister, I want to pass on the good word."

Sponsors sought for Victorian Festival

By BRENDA DOOLEY

If the Victorian Era happens to be just your cup of tea, your assistance is kindly requested. Northville will host its first Victorian Festival Sept. 15-17 and non-profit groups are needed to staff booths as fund-raising events. Highlights of the special festival include Art Market booths, a Sunday picnic at historic Mill Race Village, and a fancy Victorian Festival Ball on Saturday night

Non-profit community groups may sign up for any of the available booths and use the festival as a fund-raising event for their organization

Members of the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce will provide tables and skirting for a registration fee of $35. In exchange, all clerks working at the booths are required to dress in costume to fit the Victorian theme.

Unsure about the type of clothing proudly worn by Victorians? Don't fret Victorian Festival committee members have done their homework and are available to help plan easy costumes. Resource materials also can be found on the shelves at the Northville Public Library

For more information and details, call the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce office at 349-7640.

Several items are still available to be sponsored by a non-profit Northville community group for sale at the Victorian Festival, including the following: lemonade, strawberry shortcake, corn on the cob, tea with muffins and breads, mums, patterns (for Victorian clothes), root beer floats, soda pop, cider and doughnuts.

A civic group also is needed to volunteer to help with parking and transportation duties.

Any local non-profit group interested in sponsoring a booth should contact Greg Spinazze at 349-5855 or Don Mroz at 349-3340.

Numerous groups have already volunteered to sponsor and work at festival booths. Members of the Northville Kiwanis will sponsor a popcorn booth; Northville Jaycees is selling luminaries; the PTA Coordinating Council will sell candy apples and balloons; Moraine PTA will offer face painting; Allen Terrace and the Northville Branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association will sponsor sachet sales; the Northville VFW and American Legion will sell flags and bunting and the Northville Band Boosters will offer pumpkin bread.

Congregation members at St. Paul's Lutheran Church will sell apple pie and the congregation at Open Door Church.

Festival organizers are seeking community support for the event.

For group rates and information call 348-8110 or 349-0868.

Officials at the Marquis Theater also will offer a Day Camp for Children Aug. 7-18. Sessions are held Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Cost is $250. The camp provides professional theatrical instruction for singing, dancing and acting.

Participants also will learn improvisation, mime, make-up, stage movement, and basics of acting techniques with emphasis on auditioning and camera. Teachers will be professionals, assisted by guest artists. There is limited enrollment and a $50 non-refundable deposit is required to reserve a class space.

For more information contact the Marquis Theater.

Garden of the Month: July

Northville couple's garden evokes nostalgic memories

By JUDY BEYERSDORF
and PAT EDEN

She paints watercolor flowers in her Painter's Place studio on North Center Street and receives her inspiration from her old-fashioned garden.

Caroline and Bill Dunphy's historic home on Dubuque Street has a charming garden with displays of perennial swirls that keep color in their yard throughout the summer.

Small pathways wind through the hollyhocks, daylilies, daisies, fragrant geraniums, and herbs. A lovely white picket fence adds focus to the back yard, inviting one to wander through and relive those summer days in grandmother's garden.

Caroline revealed that on a recent trip to France she fulfilled a life-long dream of actually sitting in Monet's garden and painting his flowers, Japanese bridge, and water lilies.

Her camera captured the beautiful gardens throughout the French countryside and will no doubt influence her paintings for a long time.

Judy Beyersdorf and Pat Eden are members of the Country Girls Branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association. They visit local gardeners during the growing season and select unique gardens to feature as "Garden of the Month" in the Record.

Novi man loses weight by following rules set in TOPS diet program satisfying his appetite with a new menu consisting mainly of fish, chicken and fresh fruits and vegetables. They avoided salt and fried food, which is high in both calories and cholesterol.

"My cholesterol level was 220, but since my diet began I've reduced it to 190," Davies said. "If you can convince yourself to eat this way and exercise, your weight will come down. It's all related."

Sharing their diet proved to be a strong incentive as well for the Davies.

"We didn't have to watch the other enjoying something that we knew we couldn't have," he grinned.

Of course, there were times when Davies found himself weakening to the beckoning cries of frosted cupcakes and french fries, and times when he felt like kicking the exercise bike rather than riding it. What did he do then?

"Recite the TOPS pledge," he said: "I am an intelligent person. I will control my emotions and not let my emotions control me. Every time I am tempted to use food to satisfy my frustrated desires, build up my injured ego or dull my senses I will remember that I am an intelligent person and that every time I feast in private, my excess pounds will be there for all the world to see what a fool I've been."

Davies explained that encouraging himself mentally gave him the strength to say no. He added that being able to say the pledge anywhere and at anytime helped him through some sticky moments.

But despite the stickiness, Davies pulled through the TOPS program with flying colors. After achieving his goal weight of 175 pounds six months into his TOPS membership, the TOPS committee recognized him as having lost the most weight of any Michigan male TOPS member in the 200-250 pound division this year.

Davies, now a member of Keep Off Pounds Sensibly (KOPS), received a crown as Michigan TOPS King and an all-expenses paid trip to the TOPS International Convention in Spokane, Washington.

"All of the best 'losers' from each chapter — from foreign countries and across the United States — will be competing to become regional king and queen," he said. Giving his flat stomach a fond pat, he added, "But I don't think we're going to win that one!"

No matter. Davies and his wife, who has lost 50 pounds so far through TOPS, are happy enough with their healthy new lifestyles. Davies also added that he has gained even more self-confidence in himself because of how much better he feels inside and out.

"Now I don't have to order out of catalogs anymore because the stores don't carry my size," he said.

He smiled. "It's nice to have stylish clothes — and look good in them."

TOPS Club, Inc. is located on Village Wood Road in Novi. For more information or to request other TOPS locations, call 349-0010.

Stratford Festival

Canadian city hosts annual theater bonanza

By KENNETH JONES

It's not easy to put your finger on Stratford, Ontario — even when you've been there.

This Canadian city of 26,000 manages to be both industrial and rural, small town and hip town, and home to one of North America's most prestigious annual theater festivals, the Stratford Festival.

If you haven't been to the Stratford Festival, chances are you know someone who has.

Last summer, Wayne County theatergoers made the three-hour journey to the Stratford Festival and generated $636,177 (Canadian) at the box offices of the Avon, Festival, and Third stages, the three playhouses of the April-through-October festival. Oakland County theatergoers spent $694,153 at the festival in 1988, according to festival statistics.

For its 37th season this summer, the festival is customarily offering the works of Shakespeare and his contemporaries, as well as classics from modern world drama. The gala opening week of the festival takes place the first week of June following previews, but new productions also open in mid-season and play in repertory through October.

This week (June 27 and 28), the festival opened the Elizabethan comedy "The Shoemaker's Holiday" and the Restoration comedy "The Relapse," the latter featuring renowned British actor and Stratford veteran Brian Bedford.

Tennessee Williams' "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof" opens Aug. 25 at the Festival Theatre.

As you return to Stratford and get to know it better, you discover a city of many masks. Stratford is home to both Fag Bearings Limited, a major industry in town, and the Ontario Pork Congress. At the same time, Stratford is a place to find antiques, tea rooms, elegant and expensive prix fixe dinners, beds and breakfasts, sandwich shops, and paddle boats on the Avon River, which is dotted with swans.

The festival began the night of July 13, 1953, with "Richard III" staged in a tent and starring Alec Guinness. Since that night, the Stratford Festival has grown into a major industry itself.

That first summer offered two productions in repertory. This summer, no less than 12 productions are being mounted, drawing visitors from Pennsylvania, Illinois, Saskatchewan, and the Yukon Territory, among other addresses.

According to festival publicity information, it is estimated that as a result of the festival, the revenue for all goods and services within the city is $55 million a year.

"The atmosphere is what I like," says Therese King, a Northville resident who first discovered Stratford 10 years ago. "The playhouses are quite interesting because they're small enough so that no matter where you sit, you pretty much have a good seat."

The first time she visited, King stayed at the Queen's Inn, a 130-year-old hotel that was recently renovated. But King says she prefers the intimacy of beds and breakfasts, which generally cost $30 a night as compared with the approximately $80 per night at the larger and tonier hotels and inns. Accommodations can be arranged through the festival box office.

"The other thing you can do when you go to Stratford is go to the factory outlet woolen mills in Blyth, about 45 minutes away," says King. "I bought blankets there on one visit."

King says she goes to Stratford not for just one thing, but for the mix of shopping, theater, and restaurants. She hopes to return later this summer.

Brenda McGuire, a travel agent with Northville Travel, says she only gets a few questions a year about Stratford because travelers generally make their own arrangements, and there aren't many bus tours out of the Northville-Nowi area.

Other productions this season are "Kiss Me, Kate" (through Oct. 29), "The Changeling" (through Sept. 2), "Love's Labour's Lost" (through Sept. 3), "A Midsummer Night's Dream" (through Oct. 28), "Three Sisters" (through Aug. 20), "Henry V" (through Oct. 27), "The Merchant of Venice" (through Oct. 28), and a double bill of "Titus Andronicus" and "The Comedy of Errors" (through Oct. 27).

STRATFORD TIPS:

• American currency is accepted at all shops, inns, and other businesses. The exchange rate varies each day, lingering around 15 percent.

• For accommodations and ticket information, call the Stratford Festival's toll-free Detroit number, 964-4668.

• Travelers can take one of two routes into Canada. For one, cross at Windsor and follow Highway 401 east to exit 189B at London. Follow Highway 126 (which becomes Highway 126) north through London and continue to Highway 7 east to Stratford.

• For an alternate route, take I-94 north and cross into Canada at Port Huron, into Sarnia. Take Highway 402 east to exit 65 at Strathroy. Take Highway 81 north 6 miles to Route 19 north to Ailsa Craig, follow Highway 7 to Stratford.

The Northville Record

Northville hosts three NABF tournaments

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

It's a lot of work, but Northville Junior Baseball is always willing to put in the extra effort when it comes to the National Amateur Baseball Federation (NABF) tournaments.

If it's late July, it must be NABF World Series time. Northville has played host to at least one such tournament for the past seven years, and Tournament Director Bob Frellick is optimistic 1989 will be the best ever.

"When we started these tournaments, we thought they would be a way to demonstrate the positives of Northville," Frellick said. "Every year, we see those positives. These teams that come in from all across the country want to come back to Northville, and that shows us that we are doing something right. Many of the teams that qualify for the World Series have also qualified for other tournaments, but they continue to come here."

The first of three NABF events slated for this summer was the Senior Regional for Connie Mack (17-18 year olds) level teams. It got underway on July 25 (after Record deadline) and will continue through the weekend. The other tournament being held this week in Northville is the NABF Sophomore World Series, for Sandy Koufax-age players (age 13-14). It will start this morning (July 27) with opening ceremonies at 8 a.m.

With qualifying rounds finishing last weekend, Frellick received a list of the competitors for both tournaments on July 24 and organized the brackets. The qualifiers for the Senior Regional include Allen Park from the 16th District, Berkely from the 18th District, Renaissance from the Detroit District, St. Clair Shores from the Macomb District, South Farmington from the Little Caesars organization and, of course, Northville Connie Mack — the host team.

The Northville High School baseball field will play host to a pair of semifinal games in this double-elimination tournament today and tomorrow (July 28) with the championship game on July 29 at either 3 p.m. or 6 p.m.

"I would say the regional is going to be very competitive, based on prior years — it always is," Frellick said. "The Macomb representative is always tough and South Farmington comes in at 15-9."

The Northville squad, coached by Bob Kehoe, has struggled through a 3-14-1 season but has shown signs of life the last few weeks.

"If the boys continue to play as hard and as well as they have the last two weeks, we should do well," Kehoe said. "We have built up some momentum and we're playing as well as we have all season. Without a doubt, we had a much stronger second half of the season."

The first game of the Sophomore World Series starts today at 9 a.m. and will pit a team from the Nucleus Amateur Baseball League in suburban Cincinnati against the Michigan representative from Dearborn Crestwood. The other first-round clash will be held at noon, with the 68th District from the New York District taking on Northville Sandy Koufax. The host team is coached by Joe Staknis and is coming off a successful 11-9 season and eighth place finish in an 18-team league.

"It was a good year for them," Frellick said. "I'd say the Northville team has as good a chance as any we've ever had in the World Series. They've played well."

There will be a second-round game at 3 p.m. on July 28, and the championship game of this double-elimination tournament will be on July 29 at either 9 a.m. or noon. It is Northville's third year as host of this event.

"I know the Cincinnati team is strong," Frellick said. "Miamisburg was undefeated during the regular season and Nucleus beat them twice in the regionals. New York teams always do well here and Crestwood is riding a 17-game winning streak. It should be very interesting."

The final tournament — the NABF Junior World Series — is scheduled to start on Aug. 3 with opening ceremonies at 8 a.m. This seven-team, double-elimination event for players age 15-16 will include teams from Tennessee, Washington, New York, Michigan, and two from Ohio. It will be the eighth straight year Northville's played host to this tournament.

"One of the main advantages to hosting these tournaments is that the local teams from this area are involved as the hosts," Frellick said. "In addition, a portion of the money we make goes to a fund for the Northville Junior Baseball Scholarship Fund."

Northville drops five of last six

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

When the highlight of a six-game week is an extra-inning tie, it's only natural to assume that span was somewhat less than successful.

But according to Northville Connie Mack Coach Bob Kehoe, his team is playing the best baseball of the season despite the losses. One thing is for sure: the local team is currently much more competitive against the better teams than it was several weeks ago.

"Without a doubt, we are playing as well as we have all season," Kehoe said.

The only non-loss last week came in a 4-4 deadlock against Trenton on July 17. The contest went nine full innings before it was called due to darkness. The game was officially recorded as a tie and will not be finished.

"We played well enough to win," Kehoe said.

Trenton scratched a run on one hit off Northville starter Mike Padden in the second, but in the bottom of the inning, the locals came back to tie the score. Phil Seidler walked and scored on a double by Brian Frellick.

Trenton regained the lead with another single run in the third, but again Northville responded with a couple in the bottom half. Dave McKee, Joe Kaley, and R.C. Heaton paced the rally with clutch hits.

Northville made it 4-2 in the fourth on another RBI hit by Kaley, but Trenton knotted it with two more runs in the fifth on two hits. It remained 4-4 for the next four innings.

"We played sound defensively and we got the bats going," Kehoe said.

Padden went the distance and allowed only six hits and four walks. Kaley (3-for-5, 2 RBIs) and Frellick (2-for-4) paced the hitters.

LIVONIA STEVENSON 5, NORTHVILLE 1: Offensive woes spoiled a fine seven-inning outing for Dave Best on July 21. While his teammates managed only four hits, Best surrendered only seven and walked just two, but suffered the loss.

Stevenson scored single runs in the first and second, and added two more in the third. Northville avoided the shutout with a run in the seventh on a single by Phil Lickman and a double by Kaley.

Baird helps lead AAU hoop squad to title

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

Baird (24) led Northville to a school-record 16-7 record last fall

Record/CHRIS BOYD

When Karen Baird left Northville High School last spring, she was recognized as one of the school's best-ever female athletes.

During the last four years, Baird starred on the Mustang basketball, softball, and soccer teams, and grabbed post-season awards ranging from All-Area to All-Conference. But it was on the basketball court that Baird truly excelled throughout her prep career. That's why it shouldn't come as a surprise to anybody that she was a member of the state champion AAU (Amateur Athletic Union) under-18 squad that advanced to the final four of the national tournament.

Last fall, Baird led Northville to a 16-7 record — the best in school history — from her point-guard position. She was an All-Area selection, averaging 16 points, four assists, and nearly five steals per outing in her third year as a starter. She also had impressive shooting numbers from the field (48 percent) and the free throw line (68 percent). On the other hand, Baird split up soccer and softball, playing soccer as a freshman and sophomore, and then switching to softball her final two years.

"(Karen) is unquestionably the best outside shooter and ball handler we've ever had," said Northville Coach Ed Kritch last fall.

Back in January, Baird was in attendance for the AAU team tryouts. The squad, coached by Plymouth Salem legend Fred Thomann, practice every Sunday for three months in preparation for the state tourney in April. When the nine members of the team were announced, Baird found herself on a team with some very impressive teammates — like Michigan's 1988 Miss Basketball, Jennifer Shasky, and one of the top guards in the Midwest, Jill Estey.

"There were some really good players on the team," Baird said. "We knew, before the tournaments got underway, that we had a good team."

Thomann moved Baird from the point to the off-guard position and made it clear that her role was as a defensive-minded substitute.

"I knew I wasn't going to be a starter or anything, but when they needed me, I was ready," she said. "With all the talent on the team, my role didn't bother me at all. I felt a part of the team and we jelled together very well. I contributed whenever I could."

The state AAU tournament got underway in early April in Sandusky — a small community in the thumb area — and Thomann's team cruised through the double-elimination competition rather easily. In six tries, the squad lost once and only two were even competitive.

Winning the state title automatically qualified the team to represent Michigan in the National AAU Tournament from July 1-8 in Charleston, West Virginia. A total of 38 teams from 38 states were on hand, including some of the best prep players in the land. The double-elimination event was held at the Charleston Civic Center as well as four local high school gyms.

"The talent level was incredible," Baird marveled. "I'd say half the girls were going on to Division I schools to play basketball. Every little mistake really costed you."

The Michigan team lost just once in six tries to advance to the semifinals, but then fell to Oklahoma 70-67 after almost wiping out a 15-point deficit. Oklahoma ended up taking third place honors with Tennessee and Georgia in first and second, respectively.

"We felt very good about being fourth out of 38 teams," Baird said. "It was great to be in the final four — it felt like we were in the NCAA Tournament. We set a goal to make it through the week to the finals because we thought we had the talent to do it."

For Baird — who is planning on attending Adrian College in the fall to play both basketball and softball — it was a great experience.

"I learned a lot," she said. "You have to work real hard on defense just to stay with some of these players. The whole experience really helped my confidence level because I saw that I could play with these players."

Baird also had nothing but kind words for Thomann, who is recognized as one of Michigan's best prep basketball coaches.

"He's a great coach," she said. "He's a good motivator and he accentuates the positives. Before every game, we were really ready to play and win."

"He's easily one of the best coaches in the state."

Meadowbrook keeps tourney history alive

This is the third in a series of feature articles on the local area golf scene, courses, and participants. Meadowbrook Country Club is located on Eight Mile Road west of Haggerty in Northville Township.

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

It's been decades since Meadowbrook Country Club has played host to a major professional golf tournament. The famous "Motor City Open" made several stops at the private Northville course in the late '40s and early '50s, and Meadowbrook played host to legends like Ben Hogan and Jimmy Demeret.

Those days may be gone forever, but Meadowbrook is still one of the busiest — and certainly one of the most desirable — courses in the area when it comes to charity, amateur, and youth tournaments.

Although Meadowbrook hasn't hosted any major professional events lately, that doesn't mean it hasn't been considered. As a matter of fact, Club Manager John DeHart confirmed that Meadowbrook was approached several years ago and asked to host the 1990 Women's U.S. Open — the same tourney held earlier this month at Indianwood in Lake Orion — but the club turned it down.

"After we were approached, a committee was formed, but we didn't feel the timing was right," DeHart said.

Meadowbrook golf professional Andy Soley estimates the course plays host to "15 or 16 smaller private outings for businesses and companies" every year. Most are charity fundraisers, like last week's Belanger / March of Dimes Tournament, co-chaired by Red Wing defender Lee Norwood.

Larger, more prominent outings also dot the Meadowbrook calendar,

Troubling season finally ends for Tom Holzer Ford

Holzer infielder Steve Ross fires to first base

Record/CHRIS BOYD

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

How can a season end when four games still remain on the schedule? Tom Holzer Ford Coach John Osborne doesn't really have an answer, but it happened to his team. A last-inning, 2-1 defeat to Hines Park Lincoln Mercury on July 14 was the straw that broke the team's back, and since that game, the local entry in the Livonia Collegiate Baseball League (LCBL) has been almost non-existent. After suffering a pair of 10-0, mercy-rule defeats in a doubleheader two days later, Holzer then forfeited one game and cancelled another last week to wrap up a lackluster 2-22 campaign.

"It appears that that loss to Hines Park really took a lot out of us," Osborne explained. "It cut out our heart, threw it on the ground, and stepped on it."

As much as Osborne wanted to see his team finish out the season, he knew that it all ended in the seventh inning when Hines Park scored two times on a couple of hits and two costly fielding mistakes.

"I'm afraid it was the death of our team," he said after the game was over.

Heading into the July 19 clash with Wendy's, Osborne received commitments from 10 players, but only seven showed up and the game was forfeited.

"We wanted to finish the season," Osborne said. "I was very disappointed because we went all the way out to Washtenaw Community College and both sides wanted to play, but we were short-handed."

A second game with Wendy's was

"It appears that that loss to Hines Park really took a lot out of us. It cut out our heart, threw it on the ground and stepped on it."

— John Osborne

scheduled for July 21 at the same site, but the two coaches were worried about having enough players, so it was mutually agreed to cancel the final game of the season.

"The four top teams in the LCBL qualified for the playoffs," Osborne said. "The winner earns the right to go to the (All-American Amateur Baseball) Tournament in Johnstown, Pa. We didn't qualify and neither did Wendy's, and I'm sure that was part of the reason we didn't play the last game."

Throughout most of the season, the Holzer squad didn't win very much, but Osborne was always satisfied with the effort. The team was, more or less, thrown together a few days before the season was to begin. To compound matters, not one single player from last season's championship squad returned in '89.

"You just can't come in and be able to contend, but we thought we could be more competitive than we were," Osborne admitted. "I was very impressed with the level of play in our league. The competition was very good and we're glad that the area was represented — even though we didn't have much success."

The late start left Osborne in a particular bind when it came to pitching. Almost all the top hurlers were signed to other teams before Holzer officially rejoined the league. There were other problems lurking about once the games started.

"We had about four guys who were on the roster, and a few weeks into the season, they dropped out and we never heard from them again," Osborne recalled. "Four times during the season, my starting pitcher failed to show up the day he was scheduled to pitch. By the end of the season, we were operating with 10 players, but at the start we had 18. I was envious of the winning teams because their benches always seemed stacked with solid players and we only had two or three on our bench. We just couldn't compete."

Despite all the disappointments the main goal behind the season was realized.

"We got these kids a chance to play and that was the main goal," Osborne said.

Mack squad heads into regional with 3-14-1 record

"We had a four-day layoff and we just couldn't get the bats going," Kehoe said

PLYMOUTH CANTON 5-7, NORTHVILLE 0-1: With a makeshift pitching staff, the locals were fairly competitive in this double-header on July 22, but more problems at the plate led to a sweep

In game one, Seidler was the starter, and after a rocky first inning, he settled down to have a fine outing. Canton scored four times on one hit and three walks but managed only one more run the rest of the way. "I'd say the walks came back to haunt us in that first inning," Kehoe said. "Seidler didn't get flustered, though, and he kept them very well in check through the final six innings."

Heaton had Northville's only hit of the game.

In the nightcap, Canton pulled in front with a pair of runs in the first and then increased the margin to 6-0 with a rally in the fourth. McKee got the starting nod and performed well, but was the victim of two costly fielding errors in the inning. Trailing 7-0 in the seventh, Frellick powered a double to left field that hit the fence. Best followed with a single and Steve Ventura drove in the run with another hit.

"We're still trying to find pitchers," Kehoe said. "I went with McKee — our second baseman — and he pitched a fine game. He gave up six hits and only one walk in seven innings. He kept (Canton) off balance most of the game."

YPSILANTI 5, NORTHVILLE 1: Against the league's second-place team on July 23, the locals fell behind early and didn't have the offensive firepower to catch up.

Ypsilanti scored once in the second, once in the third, and three times in the fifth on a three-run homer off Frellick, who made his first start of the year. A single by McKee, a walk to Kaley, and a run-scoring fielder's choice made it 5-1 in the bottom of the fifth, and that was the final score.

"I think Frellick deserves a lot of credit because like a lot of these guys, he isn't a pitcher by nature," Kehoe pointed out.

WESTLAND 4, NORTHVILLE 2: The final regular season contest on July 23 was a defeat, but Kehoe was pleased to see his team so competitive against Westland, the league's first place team.

"We played them strong," he said. Westland scored two times in first and added two more in the third to take a 4-0 lead. Northville came back with a run in the fourth on an RBI hit by Darren Kehoe and then pulled to within two in the fifth on consecutive singles by Kaley and Seidler.

Heathers to host scramble golf tourney

On Aug. 9, the Heathers Golf Course in Bloomfield Hills will host a unique benefit golf tournament.

The First Heathers Golf Classic is a new five-person scramble tournament which will benefit Detroit's Hollywood Golf Institute.

The name Hollywood Golf Institute may sound like some trendy golf school of the stars, but it's nothing like that. In fact, it's an organization founded in 1983 to give young people from the city, ages 4-18, the opportunity to learn the game of golf.

It draws its name from Selina "Hollywood" Johnson, the group's founder.

Among those who are on the honorary committee presenting the tournament are Detroit Lions greats Dexter Bussey and Dick "Night Train" Lane, University of Michigan football commentator Jim Brandstatter, and Jim Dewling, club professional at Oak Pointe Country Club in Brighton.

The five-person scramble will begin with a shotgun start at 9 a.m. and 2 p.m. There will be a dedication luncheon at noon and a golf awards reception following the tournament. The $125-per-person entry fee covers 18 holes of golf, power cart, luncheon, and reception.

Highlighting the event will be visits from Evan

"Big Cat" Williams and Calvin Peete. Williams, billed as the "World's Longest Driver" will be putting on an exhibition at 1 p.m.

Peete, a PGA tour professional, will tee it up with each fivesome from a designated hole during the tournament.

For further information on this benefit tournament, call 334-9770, or 644-3460.

FCA GOLF CLASSIC: The ninth annual Fellowship of Christian Athletes Golf Classic will be held Aug. 21 at Radrick Farms Golf Course in Ann Arbor.

For more information, call 763-7040.

SENIOR GOLF TOURNEY: The Kensington Metropark Senior Golf Championship will be held at Kensington Metropark at 7:30 a.m. July 31. The tourney is open to men and women age 62 and older.

JUNIOR GOLF TOURNEY: Kensington will host the Junior Championship Tournament starting at 7:30 a.m. Aug. 4. Call 665-9332 for details.

ALS GOLF INVITE: Tickets are now on sale for the Annual ALS (Amyotrophic Lateral Sclerosis) Golf Invitational, to be held July 28 at Bay Pointe Golf Club in West Bloomfield.

"We're selling tickets earlier this year because of the tremendous success of last year's outing," said tournament organizer Dean La Douceur.

Tickets are available by calling the ALS of Michigan at 352-3070. Tickets for the outing are $150 per player and $600 per foursome. Proceeds from the event provide support services for patients with ALS, also known as Lou Gehrig's Disease.

The event ticket includes 18 holes of golf, course refreshments, a steak dinner, and a celebrity auction. Former Detroit Lion great Lem Barney has been named the honorary chairperson of this year's event.

GOLF SCHOOL: The Novi Parks and Recreation Department is sponsoring Golf School '89 at Hock Acres Golf Range. Adult golf lessons — day or evening — will be held in August on Tuesdays and Thursdays for beginners 1 and 11 and intermediate-level players.

The small group lessons (5-8 students) are taught by Ric Tavalocci. He has 25 years of competitive golf experience and 12 years experience in professional small group instruction. The fee is $30 per six-hour session.

Hock Acres is located at 54300 Ten Mile in South Lyon. Call 347-0400 to register.

like the Buick Dealers Charity Open and the Great Lakes Junior Masters. Professional outings may be a thing of the past, but the other types of tournaments certainly aren't.

"We'd probably rank ourselves as one of the better private 18-hole courses in the Detroit metropolitan area, so we do get quite a few requests for tournaments," DeHart said. "There are obviously advantages and drawbacks to hosting these types of events. Tournaments can give a golf club additional exposure, and we have a lot to gain by exposing and showing off our facilities. Wear and tear on the course, for instance, is a natural drawback."

The Buick Dealers Open has made an appearance at Meadowbrook the past two years, and the list of professional participants included Fred Couples, Ian-Baker Finch, Hal Sutton, Jay Haas, Payne Stewart, Mark McCumber, and many more. Local celebrities like Greg Stefan, John Chabot, and Frank Beckman have also been on hand.

"The course is good — it's got a nice layout and it's in excellent shape," Sutton said after playing in the 1988 event. "But it has some blind shots so you have to know where you're going."

The Great Lakes Junior Masters drew 288 youngsters earlier this month for a three-day, 54-hole tourney. Boys and girls from as far away as St. Thomas in the Virgin Islands traveled to Northville for the event.

Sleeping disorders can be treated

By DARRELL CLEM

Tired of counting sheep at night? You're not alone. An estimated one in six U.S. adults each year has a serious problem trying to sleep.

For some, the problem may be temporary — the result of short-term job stress, family problems, money worries, a dramatic change in lifestyle.

For others, however, the sleeping disorder may be deeply rooted and chronic, requiring a doctor's care.

Dr. Michael Aldrich, director of the University of Michigan's Sleep Disorders Clinic and an assistant professor of neurology, said people who have difficulty falling asleep at night usually have nothing to worry about if the problem occurs for only two or three consecutive nights.

However, if the problem persists for two or three weeks, he said, it may be time to seek help.

And it's a problem that can greatly affect the way you feel during the day when you're at work or at school. In some cases, Aldrich said, the condition may be life-threatening.

Aldrich cited four major types of sleeping disorders:

- Insomnia, a condition in which the sufferer cannot sleep.

- Hypersomnia, which results when a person has extreme difficulty staying awake during the day.

- Sleep-wake schedule disturbance, a condition in which a person's sleeping schedule is not in sync with the hours during which he or she wants to sleep.

- Parasomnia, which results in sometimes-violent movement when a person is asleep. This condition also can result in sleepwalking or "night terror," a condition in which the sleeper feels terrified.

The first type, insomnia, may at times be easily resolved by avoiding too much coffee or alcohol during evening hours. Other steps — such as sleeping in a quiet, dark room — may also help.

Moreover, Aldrich noted that in-

Record/SCOTT PIPER

An estimated one in six U.S. adults has a serious problem trying to sleep

somniacs should carefully choose their activities before bedtime. "Reading," he said, "would be better than jogging."

Other steps may include waking up at the same time every day, avoiding daytime naps, exercising vigorously (but not in the evening), and relaxation measures, such as a warm bath, before bed.

However, Aldrich said that insomnia may be due to a medical or psychiatric problem, in which case the sufferer may have to seek a doctor's help to find a solution.

Aldrich said the second condition, hypersomnia, has two causes — sleep apnea and narcolepsy.

Sleep apnea occurs when a person stops breathing during sleep "due to an obstruction of the windpipe." The sufferer may be partially awake and start breathing again before returning to sleep. Snoring also is common.

"The result," Aldrich said, "is that the person doesn't feel very rested the next day."

Sleep apnea is more common among middle-age, obese men,

Aldrich said, although the condition is not limited to that group.

Long-term effects may include high blood pressure or heart problems, but Aldrich said that doctors may prescribe medication for the condition. Moreover, sufferers may use a breathing mask connected to an air pump that blows air through the nose, making it easier to breathe while asleep.

Although the mask may be uncomfortable for some people, "others really swear by it," Aldrich said.

Another cause of sleep apnea is narcolepsy, in which an interrupted sleep at night may result in the person falling asleep without warning during the day. Aldrich said many experts believe that this condition may be due to a chemical abnormality in the brain.

Narcolepsy also may result in sudden weakness brought on by emotion, and sufferers may actually fall to the ground.

"It's not a progressive condition, but it's chronic," Aldrich said. "But it can usually be treated with medication."

The third sleep disorder, sleep-wake schedule disturbance, may result when a person's work schedule and sleeping schedule are not in sync.

It may occur when the sufferer works from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. during the week and then stays awake during those hours on the weekend.

"It may involve trying to change the work schedule or the home schedule," Aldrich said. Other, more simple, techniques such as adjusting the lighting of a room to make it darker may help. Medication is not really the answer in this case, Aldrich said.

The fourth sleep disorder, parasomnia, often is associated with childhood, in which case the condition should be discussed with a pediatrician, Aldrich said. However, some adults do suffer from parasomnia and may need to see a doctor and get medication.

The "night terror" associated with parasomnia may be dangerous — even fatal — if the person sleepwalks. Aldrich said some cases have been reported in which people jump from a window several floors up.

Some people who feel threatened while they are asleep also may move about suddenly — and violently — in their sleep, possibly injuring themselves or others sleeping next to them.

If the condition occurs in childhood, it usually goes away, Aldrich said. However, adults may require ongoing help from a physician.

Although sleeping disorders are serious, Aldrich said sufferers should be able to resolve the problems by taking corrective action.

If the problem is relatively minor, the sufferer may be able to take steps at home to alleviate it. However, if the problem is persistent and begins to affect the way the sufferer feels around the clock, Aldrich said a physician should be consulted.

Fitness Tips

Here's answers to last week's nutrition quiz:

Here are the answers to the nutrition quiz published in last week's paper:

1. Eating oily fish tends to . . . a) reduce your cholesterol level. Fish oils contain Omega-3 fatty acids, which appear to be even more effective than polyunsaturated vegetable oils in lowering blood cholesterol levels.

2. What effect does microwaving have on vitamins? . . . c) It is less destructive than regular cooking methods. Provided you don't overcook, microwaving is easier on vitamins and minerals than other methods.

3. There is good scientific evidence that caffeine. . . d) is safe when consumed in moderate amounts. Moderate caffeine intake has never been shown to cause disease.

4. Moderate caffeine consumption is defined as about 200 milligrams a day. You get this much from . . . a) two cups of brewed coffee. The cola would have thirty to seventy milligrams, the tea about fifteen to thirty milligrams per cup, and the cocoa five to twenty milligrams per cup.

5. Which of the following vitamins, taken in large doses, provides energy? . . . d) None of the above. No vitamin is an energy source. Energy comes from carbohydrates, protein, and fats.

6. Nuts are a rich source of . . . a), b), and d) — fat, protein, and calories. Only animal products contain cholesterol. The fat in nuts is largely unsaturated.

7. Most nutritionists recommend that we consume at least fifteen to thirty grams of fiber daily. Among the benefits of a high-fiber diet are . . . a), b), c), and d) — a reduced risk of colon cancer, more efficient elimination, reduced peak blood sugar levels, and a reduced risk of gallstones. The average American consumes only five to ten grams of fiber a day.

8. Which frozen dessert contains the least fat per half cup? . . . b) Sherbet. Four ounces of sherbet has two grams of fat. The frozen tofu and ice cream have about the same amount of fat (twelve grams) and calories, but the fat in tofu is highly unsaturated and cholesterol-free.

9. Athletes can improve their performance by eating a steak or otherwise upping their protein intake . . . False. Increased protein consumption or protein supplements won't improve athletic performance. Complex carbohydrates may be helpful, though.

10. Other than starches, the nutrients in a potato . . . a) and b) are found primarily in or near the skin and consist mainly of vitamin C, niacin, potassium, and fiber. A five-ounce baked potato with the skin has only 130 calories and a good amount of vitamins and minerals. Just skip the butter and sour cream.

11. High-fiber diets are known to be associated primarily with the prevention of what disease? . . . d) Cancer of the colon. See question number seven for further information.

12. Which of the following is true of alcohol? . . . (d) All of the above are true. Alcohol increases your triglyceride (fatty substance) level, interferes with the body's ability to use oxygen, and contains no nutrients.

The Northville Record is working with medical authorities at the University of Michigan Medical Center (M-Care) in Northville to provide up-to-date information on a variety of health-related topics. The series is coordinated by Peg Campbell of the M-Care staff.

MICHAEL SMITH

Songwriter Michael Smith is touring for the first time ever. For years Smith was associated with Steve Goodman who recorded Smith's favorites and introduced his songs to audiences throughout the country. "He is one of the best songwriters in the English language," according to the Chicago magazine. Michael's songs have been recorded by Steve Goodman, Tom Rush, Ann Hills, Claudia Schmidt, Jimmy Buffet, Josh White, Jr., and numerous others. Anne Hills produced Michael's Flying Fish albums, Michael Smith (1987) and Love Stories (1988). Michael has appeared on nationally syndicated radio shows including NPR's "Good Evening" and "The Studs Terkel Show." His songs and performances have been called "enchanting and riveting."

JIM PERKINS

A touch of Celtic charm, a bit of the poet's madness, a fresh, imaginative approach to material both old and new. Jim Perkins' music can best be described as an American Celtic blend.

"Communication is what I'm after," says Perkins. "I want to share with others the beauty I find in the songs I choose to sing. Each piece has its own special magic. It's my job to cast the spell, so to speak, to release the spark. Whether it's an old Scottish ballad, an Appalachian clawhammer banjo tune, one of my own, or a friend's personal visions. If I can breathe life into the material, it will stay with the listener long after my performance is over."

BALDUCK MOUNTAIN RAMBLERS

The Balduck Mountain Ramblers is a Detroit-based acoustic ensemble dedicated to playing the finest American string-band music. This allows them to wander freely from Bluegrass to Cowboy music, from the sea shanties to drinkin' songs. No folk or classic pop tune can be considered safe when they're rolling.

The band's philosophy dictates that it's not what you play, it's how you play it. The group is proud to be the only known string band named after a popular landfill.

SUNDAY, JULY 30 1 PM - 8 PM

NEIL WOODWARD

Neil Woodward is known to local music-lovers and musicians as a master player and instructor of stringed instruments. But in addition to his dexterity on guitar, mandolin, fiddle, banjo, dulcimer, and yes, balalaika, Woodward is an accomplished singer and songwriter. His heart belongs to the blues, but Woodward in performance showcases a wide range of original and traditional music.

FRITTS FAMILY

The Fritts Family Band had its beginnings when Larry Fritts was twelve years old. Larry heard bluegrass and early country music being played and convinced his mother to get him a guitar.

Inspired by an uncle, James Dugger, and other local musicians, Larry began to study under the direction of the late Buddy Rose, a celebrated bluegrass musician.

During the next twenty-five years, Larry continued to perform with other groups and on radio stations. As Larry's own family grew, he passed the music on to his children.

MUSTARD'S RETREAT

Ann Arbor-based David Tamulevich and Michael Hough, together known inexplicably as Mustard's Retreat, are one of Michigan's most popular acoustic music duos. Featuring material as spare as acapella two-part harmony to virtuosic duets on guitar, harmonica, bass, penny whistle, dulcimer, concertina and autoharp, their music touches many bases.

Welcome

It seems hard to believe that it's already been 13 years since we set up a stage off the back porch of our old store and spent a long cold afternoon listening to folk & Bluegrass. That's how it all began, our first annual festival to benefit Huntington's disease.

I lost my half-sister to Huntington's disease in 1974. Just before her passing she made a very special request. She asked me to do anything I could for her three children; Lori, Dean and Sean "who are at risk of contracting this hereditary disease." I took that promise to heart, and between my wife Rita and I, we came up with the idea of a festival. It's purpose is not only to raise funds for research, but also to bring a better public awareness of Huntington's disease and its tragic results.

Marjorie Guthrie spent over 10 years watching her husband Woody deteriorate in lowly mental institutions, suffering with H.D., she fulfilled a promise to him that she would educate legislators in Congress to appropriate funds for H.D. research. Marjorie was extremely successful and saw millions of dollars go to research. In 1984 Marjorie passed away knowing we were heading in the right direction. There has been progress in the research of genetic, neurological diseases. There also has been a growing public awareness of H.D. It's a real comfort to the families afflicted or at risk, to know that we support them.

So now on behalf of my family and my late sister I personally invite you to join us in a great day of music and fun, to further fight this dreaded disease, Huntington's Disease.

Tom and Rita Rice and Family

HUNTINGTON'S DISEASE affects as many as 10 of every 100,000 persons, but the lack of reliable figures may mask an even greater incidence than is now known. Every son or daughter of a parent with HD has a 50 percent chance of inheriting it.

To find out more about HD and how you can help the fight against it, write to: Huntington's Disease Foundation of America, Michigan Chapter, c/o Jerry Wieske, 107 Mark Drive, Mt. Clemens, MI 48043.
