Getting ready

School starts Tuesday in Northville, and preparations are in high gear for that event. Above, city Department of Public Works employees Alan Zielinski and Ken Thelen prepare Taft Road near Cooke with a sign of the times. School hours are: Northville High, 7:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.; Meads Mill Middle, 8:15 a.m. to 2:45 p.m.; and the elementaries, 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. All first graders will be on a half-day schedule for the first two weeks of school.

City council set to discuss park millage

By DARRELL CLEM

The Northville City Council is expected to decide by Sept. 18 whether to place a park millage proposal on the November ballot.

City Clerk Cathy Konrad said last week the decision should be made either at the council's Sept. 5 or Sept. 18 meeting.

Recreation Director John Anderson asked the council in July to place a proposal for a 9-mill tax increase, which would take effect over a two-year period, on the Nov. 7 ballot.

The millage was first proposed last year, when it was approved by township voters but defeated in the city. Approval from both was needed for passage.

Anderson has again requested the millage proposal although he has said funding for development of the Northville Community Park could come from a private developer.

A developer who needs space for a wetland as mitigation for building a movie theater on Haggerty Road has suggested that the wetland could be created on land in the west part of the community park site. In return, the developer might agree to fund park improvements such as a new soccer field, a new baseball diamond, and parking spaces.

Anderson has estimated that the improvements would cost about $700,000. He said last week that even if negotiations with the developer succeed, the developer might not agree to spend the full amount needed for the park improvements.

If that occurred, money from the proposed millage could be used to make up the difference, Anderson said, adding that the city and township at that point might not need to collect the full .9 mill — even if it's approved.

Anderson has said the township's earlier approval of the millage still stands, meaning the proposal would clear the final hurdle if approved by city voters in November.

Whether city voters will pass the millage, however, remains in doubt.

According to a survey of city residents — conducted as part of the city's master-plan process — 81.5 percent of respondents said city taxes should not be raised to provide more parks and recreation programs. Only 18.5 percent said the taxes should be raised.

A total of 71.8 percent, meanwhile, said city parks are satisfactory, while 28.2 percent said they are not.

However, the survey's results have been called questionable by some city officials.

Still, another indication that the parks millage could face an uphill battle stems from last year's election, when the millage was defeated in the city by a nearly 2-to-1 margin — 1,853 to 1,076.

Under the millage, property owners with a $100,000 home assessed at $50,000 would pay $45 more in taxes during each of the two years.

Anderson, meanwhile, said that some park millage opponents last year disseminated misleading information that apparently dealt a serious blow to the proposal.

First, he said, opponents charged that the Northville area has more than its share of parks, including Hines Park and Maybury State Park. He said the community needs more parks.

"We need baseball diamonds and soccer fields right now," Anderson said. "That's the purpose of the community park."

Anderson said park millage opponents "gave the impression that there's a lot of parkland sitting around that's not being used, and that's just not the case."

Anderson said recreation officials will attempt to refute those earlier charges this time around.

The Northville Community Park site is on Beck Road between Five Mile and Six Mile.

Larceny reports jump 58 percent in city

By DARRELL CLEM

Lock your car doors, house, and garage, Northville Police Chief Rodney Cannon warns.

Reported cases of larceny in the city increased dramatically — about 58 percent — in the first half of this year.

Stolen items ranged from bicycles to beer to lawnmowers to tools.

During the first six months of this year, 114 cases of larceny were reported in the city, compared to 72 cases for the same time period last year.

Cannon offered a simple explanation.

"People are making it easy for the bad guy," he said. "People are leaving their garage doors and car doors unlocked, and when the bad guy sees something of value or something he wants, the opportunity is there."

Cannon added: "We've had a lot of larcenies from open garages."

Cannon said cases of larceny would drop if property owners would take some simple precautions: close and lock doors, conceal items left in cars, park in well-lighted areas.

"Take some common-sense precautions as a homeowner," Cannon said.

Det. Sgt. David Fendeleit also warned motorists against leaving their belongings in their car. During some recent incidents, car windows have been broken.

Although larceny increased the most among crimes cited in a city police report recently submitted to the Northville City Council, several other areas in the report showed increases.

One report of robbery surfaced this year, for example, compared to no cases for the same period last year. Burglary rose from 12 cases to 14 cases, while auto thefts dropped from 10 cases to six.

Arson decreased, dropping from four cases in the first half of last year to three cases through June this year.

Property damage accidents, meanwhile, increased from 128 reports to 148, but personal injury accidents decreased from 30 reports to 22.

Statistics indicate crime remains virtually steady in township

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

Crime reports for the first six months of 1989 in Northville Township show a picture very similar to last year, but a drop in burglaries.

Only 32 burglaries were reported by township police through June 1989, 10 less than the same period in 1988.

"The drop in burglaries is directly related to the work of Det. (Fred) Yankee in our detective bureau," Township Police Chief Ken Hardesty said.

"Det. Yankee solved 15 breaking-and-entering cases which resulted in arrest, and many other major cases," Hardesty said. "With burglaries, we generally find that one group is responsible for a high number of them."

Hardesty said his department has concentrated on reducing the number of burglaries in the township: "I've made special assignments and had more surveillance missions."

Hardesty noted his department has been short some five officers through the first six months of 1989 due to injuries.

He partly blamed this shortage for the rise in overtime hours in comparison with 1988 and for the drop in traffic citations and drunk-driving arrests.

Through June of 1989, township police arrested 55 people for drunk driving, while they nabbed 106 during the same period in 1988.

"We've seen a decrease in drunk-driving arrests because there were less police on the road, and, I believe, fewer drunk drivers in Northville Township," Hardesty said.

He added the staff shortage has improved, as all injured police officers have returned to either active or light duty.

Hardesty said he currently has 17 officers and noted he expects to add at least two more officers by the end of 1990.

"Because of the millage increase we are looking forward to increasing and updating the equipment and staff of the township police department," he said.

Township voters approved a two-mill increase for the police department in Nov. 1988. Because the vote took place last fall, the money generated from it will not be collected until this winter's tax bill.

Purple building gets new colors

By DARRELL CLEM

After drawing criticism for its purple facade, the former Schrader's building is being toned down.

Architect Gregory Presley said a new color scheme for the shops at 111 N. Center should be completed today, Aug. 31.

Presley said the latest color scheme "will still take Northville in a step toward bolder colors. But it's one step — not two or three."

The building's purple colors sparked much talk in the community, with many criticizing the building as gaudy while others applauded the color scheme.

Presley said the decision to convert the color scheme to beige, deep plum, lapis green, and some red trim appeared to win acceptance from most.

In a reference to those who liked the previous color scheme, though, Presley added: "All of the purple people have been coming out of the woodwork."

Presley said the building's owners preferred to change the colors, which he said "will be more in keeping with other storefronts" on the street.

Presley said the new color scheme has the approval of the Historic District Commission, which also had approved the initial colors.

Presley said last week that those involved in the project never expected the initially chosen colors to be quite so bright.

The site is being billed as the Trapper's Alley of Northville — a

School board approves contracts for three teachers

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

Contracts for three teachers were approved by the Northville Board of Education Monday, bringing to 27 the total number of new teachers hired for the 1989-90 school year.

Two-year probationary contracts were granted to Joyce Dunkerley and Mark Heiden, while a one-year probationary contract was approved for Gayle Cartwright.

Assistant Superintendent Burton Knighton said the state tenure law requires a two-year probationary period for teachers, but only a one-year period for teachers who already have tenure in another Michigan public school district.

Dunkerley, who has been hired as a part-time elementary-school physical-education teacher, is the wife of school board treasurer Joseph Dunkerley.

Before the board voted on the new hirings, Superintendent George Bell said this is the first time he has recommended hiring the spouse of a school board member.

"We always try to hire the best candidate for the available position," Bell said. "We went through the entire interview process, and this was the most outstanding candidate."

"We try to find the very best teachers to put before Northville children," he added.

School Board President Glenna Davis said the board must not discriminate in hiring teachers, and "we are pleased to welcome Mrs. Dunkerley to the district."

Davis added, however, that hiring the spouse of a board member could potentially cause difficulties for the board.

She noted Shirley Klokenga, the wife of School Board Trustee Donald Klokenga, is also a teacher in the district. Shirley Klokenga was a teacher before her husband won election to the board.

Davis said that in matters involving teacher / district negotiations and related issues, the board will excuse both Dunkerley and Klokenga.

"In those instances, five board members will be involved and not seven," Davis said. "In order to maintain our high ethical commitment and to maintain standards, we will operate with scrupulous care."

Following Davis' statement, Dunkerley abstained from the board's vote on the new contracts. Board members voted unanimously to approve the contracts of the three teachers.

Knighton said new enrollment projections indicate the district will have approximately 213 more students at the beginning of the 1989-90 school year than in June 1989.

Classes begin at St. Paul's Lutheran School

St. Paul's Lutheran School will begin its 13th year of Christian education in Northville this year.

The school offers an education alternative for students and their parents. Presently there are students from Novi, Livonia, Plymouth, Canton, South Lyon and neighboring communities.

St. Paul's Lutheran School's program of Christian education includes preschool for children ages 3 and 4

On Aug. 27 at the 8:30 a.m. worship service, Nancy Thueme was installed as the kindergarten teacher at St. Paul's Lutheran School. The kindergarten sessions are held on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

In addition, a new Latch Key program will begin Sept. 6, at the school for students in kindergarten through eighth grades. The service will be offered from 7-8:45 a.m. every morning at St. Paul's School and afternoons from 3:30-6 p.m. The Latch Key program will be led by Lori Lewis, a recent graduate of Concordia College in Ann Arbor.

This year the school also will offer a new hot lunch program, under the direction of Florence Beardsley.

On Sept. 5, St. Paul's will open its doors with a worship service at 9 a.m. in the church. Parents, families and friends of the children are welcome to participate in the service.

Following the service a coffee hour will be held in the church social room, sponsored by the PTL.

For more information about the school call 349-3146.

Burglaries reduced

Hardesty said the rise in larcenies from 186 in June 1988 to 209 in June 1989 is mainly due to a new provision in the Michigan statutes.

He said a 1989 law now states that before taking civil action against shoplifters, business owners must file a police report.

Hardesty said while the number of police reports concerning larcenies rose, the actual number of cases stayed relatively stable.

Randolph/Eight Mile Road corner slated for traffic-safety alterations

By DARRELL CLEM

Motorists accustomed to making a right turn on an exit ramp from Eight Mile Road onto Randolph, pausing only for a yield sign, will soon need to adjust their driving patterns.

Complaints about traffic problems on Randolph have prompted a decision to convert the exit ramp into a grassy area. As a result, motorists wishing to turn right from Eight Mile to Randolph will need to do so at a nearby traffic light.

"I think it's a good idea," Northville Police Chief Rodney Cannon said, adding that Randolph residents have voiced ongoing complaints about fast-moving traffic in the area.

City officials hope the project will cause more motorists to pass by Randolph and use other streets to gain access to the downtown area.

The project, which will cost an estimated $22,965, is part of a $1.4-million appropriation from the Board of Oakland County Road Commissioners, which approved road-safety projects for 22 communities.

Northville City Manager Steven Walters said the project is expected to begin in mid-September and be completed later that month or in early October.

Walters said there has been a tendency for motorists using the exit ramp to speed — and to continue to do so once they enter Randolph. He said the project will make the Eight Mile and Randolph intersection "a normal 'T' intersection."

The cutoff from Eight Mile to Randolph (at right) is set to be closed

The general contractor, Thompson-McCully, is expected to begin the project once a road-repair project is completed on Baseline Road.

Walters said he does not believe the project will result in more traffic accidents in the area. He said most motorists who use the area often will become aware of the upcoming changes as the project gets underway. Moreover, Walters said the area will be heavily posted with warning signs — especially early on, until motorists become more familiar with the changes.

Judge dismisses charges filed against school district

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

A lawsuit filed against the Northville School District and the Northville Board of Education by a former student was dismissed in Wayne County Circuit Court recently.

On Aug. 11, Wayne Circuit Judge William Giovan granted a motion of summary judgment on behalf of the school district. Former student David Groves had sued the school board, the school district, and auto-shop teacher James Conzelman on two separate counts of negligence, with each count seeking more than $10,000 in damages.

District Business Manager John Street said it "is my understanding that the case against the schools and the board of education have been dismissed."

Court records indicate, however, that the charges filed against Conzelman were not dismissed. The case is slated to go to mediation in February 1990.

In the original May 8, 1989 court filing, Groves' attorney, Sandra Ganos, said that Conzelman taught Groves how to repair the brakes on his 1965 Falcon on May 8, 1986. The suit charged that Conzelman "supervised and inspected" the work and then told Groves to take the car out for a test drive.

At that time, the suit states, the brakes failed, and Groves ran into a telephone pole.

The suit alleged that Groves suffered soft-tissue injuries, damage to his teeth, pain and discomfort, severe embarrassment, and loss of earning capacity, all because of the accident.

The suit accused the schools and Conzelman of negligence for not insuring that the car was in good working order, for not providing adequate supervision and safety instruction, and for not providing proper repair equipment.

The district denied all liability, saying that the injuries were caused by the student himself or by others. It also said in court papers that all relevant were proper for a school district and its employees.

Neither Ganos nor school district attorney Terence Flynn could be reached for comment on the case.

Neighboring areas report success with first-response program

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

The first-response medical coverage program is alive and well in communities neighboring Northville Township, according to local emergency officials.

"We've had our first-response program for the past two years, and it's gone very well," said Novi Fire Chief Art Lenaghan. "In fact, last January we added an auto defibrillator to our trucks."

City of Plymouth Fire Chief Alan Matthews added his city's first-response program has also worked well since its inception nearly six years ago.

"There have been no disadvantages to our first-response program," Matthews said. "And there is no doubt in my mind that it has saved lives."

Northville Township board members will consider adopting a community first-response program during a special meeting tonight (Thursday) at 7:30 p.m.

If the program is instituted, two volunteer emergency medical technicians (EMTs) from the township would respond to a medical call and provide basic life support until an advanced-support ambulance arrives.

Township medical personnel said they are currently responding only to car accidents, while Community Emergency Service (CEMS) provides advanced-support response to all medical emergencies.

Novi Police Chief Lee BeGole said the first-response program in Novi is designed to shift responsibility for medical emergency calls from the police to the fire department.

"The police still respond on medical emergencies, but when the fire department and CEMS arrive the officers can get back on the road," BeGole said.

He noted the first-response program is running smoothly "except for an occasional bug or two."

"One or two times in the last four months a police officer has had to ride in an ambulance, but the program is definitely being smoothed out," BeGole said.

"This program has greatly improved since it began," he said. "And it's going to get better in time."

Township Police Chief Ken Hardesty said he also would be able to keep officers in the community if a first-response program is implemented.

Guy Balok, a volunteer township firefighter and part-time police dispatcher, said the local first-response team will take vital signs and stabilize patients and will provide oxygen if needed.

CEMS President Greg Beauchemin said since the first-response team provides only basic life support, he welcomes the opportunity to work with local police and fire departments.

"When police, fire and ambulance work together, they usually can put together the best service available," Beauchemin said. "The optimal system for the money is a first response on the scene at the basic level to guarantee response time followed by advanced life support," he added.

Matthews agreed with Beauchemin and added there is no duplication of services by either the basic or advanced life support teams.

"About four months ago, we had a bad accident in the city," Plymouth's Matthews recalled. "One person was stuck in the car for 35 minutes. We arrived first on the scene and administered basic life support until advanced support arrived.

"CEMS administered intravenous fluids to reduce the chance of (the patient going into) shock, and the whole situation worked out pretty well."

Beauchemin said the average response time in the township for CEMS emergency runs is between six and eight minutes.

Balok said the township's first-response team can realistically be at the scene within five or six minutes of a call.

Boys enter center

In a break from tradition, Our Lady of Providence Center (OLPC) will admit boys in its education and work-training programs this fall.

The center, located on Beck Road between Five and Six Mile roads, serves developmentally impaired students. It previously admitted only girls and young women.

OLPC administrator Sister Theresa Tamburo said three young men will participate in the programs offered at the center.

One Dearborn resident will participate in OLPC's education program, while two young men from Chelsea will partake in the center's work training program.

Northville youth struck by vehicle

Jennifer Webber will enter first grade at Winchester Elementary School in Northville as scheduled next Tuesday.

But her parents — Amy and Gary Wuerfel of Northville — had a few anxious moments over the weekend after the five-year-old girl was struck by an automobile outside Silverman's restaurant in Novi on Friday, Aug. 25.

"She's still got some bumps and bruises, but they're healing quickly," said her mother, Amy Wuerfel. "She's a fast healer."

The accident occurred immediately in front of Silverman's restaurant in the Novi-Ten Plaza at Ten Mile and Meadowbrook Road shortly after 7 p.m. Friday.

The girl was struck by a car driven by William Foren, 40, of Novi.

Lt. Thomas Hesse of the Novi Police Department reported that Foren was not at fault, and no citations will be issued.

A witness told police that Foren had turned into the shopping center off northbound Meadowbrook Road and was proceeding at a speed of 10-15 miles per hour when the little girl stepped in front of his vehicle, Hesse said.

Hesse said the witness reported further that the little girl had been bounding around on the sidewalk and suddenly bounded out into the path of the oncoming car.

The girl was transported by ambulance to the Providence Hospital Novi Center approximately one mile from the place the accident occurred.

Doctors at the Providence Center apparently were concerned about neurological damage after the girl complained that she was not able to see. They attempted to have her admitted to University Hospital in Ann Arbor.

"University Hospital said they didn't have any beds, but they sent a helicopter and took Jennifer to Beaumont in Royal Oak," her mother reported.

Jennifer was treated and held overnight at Beaumont before being released Saturday afternoon.

"She's still scraped up, but she's doing just fine," said her mother Tuesday. "No stitches; no broken bones. It was a miracle she wasn't hurt more seriously."

Morning fire guts Novi historic site

By PHILIP JEROME

The historic Yerkes House on Eight Mile near Griswold was destroyed by flames early last Thursday morning, Aug. 24.

Novi Fire Chief Arthur Lenaghan reported that the alarm was received at 1 a.m. and the house was totally engaged in flames when fire fighters arrived shortly later.

Located on the north side of Eight Mile between Meadowbrook and Novi roads, the Yerkes House had been abandoned for several years and had fallen into a state of disrepair. City officials have long been concerned that the once-magnificent but now-dilapidated structure was an open invitation for vandalism, up to and including arson.

Lenaghan said the cause of the fire is currently listed as "suspicious" because there is currently no firm evidence of arson.

"Due to the condition of the structure we did not go inside (to conduct an investigation)," Lenaghan said. "To investigate, we would have to dig down through the rubble to the main floor."

Lenaghan said the investigation will continue when the owners begin demolition of the house. "We should be able to tell if any flammables were used," he said.

The fire chief added, however, that the time of night at which the fire occurred and the extent of the damage would seem to indicate that the fire did not start by itself.

Although the house was boarded up, Lenaghan said it appeared as if one of the doors was not boarded up "so there was a means of getting into the building."

Lenaghan reported that the house was gutted by flames even though the walls are still standing. "It (the fire) was through the roof by the time we arrived," he said. "We didn't even try to enter the building because the floors had already started to collapse."

"It was pretty much a defensive operation on our part," he added.

The house was the only recognized historic site in Novi. It was built around 1870 by Joseph Yerkes, whose father was one of Novi's original settlers. The house had been designated an official historical site on state and federal registers.

The last member of the Yerkes family to occupy the residence was Edmund P. Yerkes, an attorney who served as justice of the peace for the Township of Novi in the 1940s and '50s.

Efforts to preserve the landmark building had been undertaken in recent years by Patricia Hann of Plymouth. Hann acquired the building two years ago.

School secretary Hall returns to classroom as teacher

Record/JANET L. COX

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

Making the move from special-education secretary to high-school English teacher is not surprising for Barbara "Bo" Hall.

That's because Hall has been a teacher at heart ever since she left her teaching career behind over 25 years ago in order to raise a family.

"I've been a substitute teacher for the past year, and being in the classroom made me realize this is where I should be," said Hall, who has spent the last 15 years in the special-education office.

A 1960 University of Michigan graduate, Hall said she gave up teaching in 1962 — after spending two years at Mason Junior High in Erie, Mich. — and moved to Livonia, "where I raised my children."

Hall said while she raised her three children — Cathy, David, and Linda — she remained involved with the schools. "It started with PTAs and continued on from there," she said.

In 1975, five years after moving to Northville, Hall said she became a secretary for the year-round school director.

"I decided that with the kids in school, it was time to get involved and get paid for it," she noted.

Hall added she did not want to become a teacher during this period: "I felt it was important to be on the other side of the fence. I wanted to be a parent, not a teacher."

When the year-round-school program disbanded in 1977, Hall said, she became a secretary in the special-education office — a move which allowed her to see the growth of the program.

"I've got a sense of dedication to the special-education program, but teaching in the creative-writing program in 1980-82 piqued my interest to get back into the classroom," Hall said.

In order to get in front of the blackboard, Hall renewed her teaching certificate by attending classes at Madonna College.

Since receiving her certificate in 1987, Hall has — in addition to her secretarial duties — occasionally substituted at Northville High.

Northville Assistant Superintendent Dolly McMaster said Hall's experience as a substitute made her a top candidate for a regular teaching position this fall.

"Bo subbed on numerous occasions at the high school, and everyone reported very positive feedback," McMaster said, adding school officials observed Hall to be an excellent teacher.

"She (Hall) has an insatiable curiosity and a desire to learn," McMaster said. "She also loves to read and write, skills she will definitely impress on students."

Mary Lou Denawitz, a special-education secretary for the past 14 years, said Hall has been working toward being a teacher for quite a while.

"Several years ago, Bo set a goal of being a teacher," Denawitz said. "I admire her for the tenacity she showed in achieving that goal."

Although she is pleased to see her office partner move into the classroom, Denawitz said she will miss seeing Hall every day.

"I'll definitely miss her," she said. "Bo and I had a great working relationship. We didn't always agree on everything, but we have always been honest with each other."

For the fall term, Hall said, she will be teaching humanities, creative writing, and one freshman English class. "I'm enthusiastic to get back into the classroom," she said.

While most beginning teachers are in their early 20s, Hall said, her experiences as a mother and secretary will definitely be a help in the classroom.

"I have life-long experiences that give me a different perspective than most teachers," Hall said with a grin. "I raised three teenagers, so I have a handle on what they're about."

In anticipation of the first day of school, Hall has been hanging around museums and listening to a lot of classical music, in addition to preparing lesson plans.

"This is a great joy to think that at 51 I'm doing a complete change," she said. "For me, this is like starting a brand-new career."

County land deal moves forward

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

The long-awaited sale of 1,040 acres of Wayne County-owned land in Northville Township appears to be steadily progressing, county officials said.

"We're a little behind schedule, but we're not experiencing any serious delays," said county business developer Bill Wild. "We're set on moving ahead, and right now it looks pretty good."

Wild said the county's delay last month occurred because it had to name a new financial advisor for the project.

He noted the financial-advisor firm Coopers and Lybrand withdrew from the project in July. Plante and Moran, a southfield-based accounting firm, was hired as financial advisor.

"Plante and Moran gave us an analysis of each of the four proposals, and right now we're trying to finish establishing the scoring system," Wild said.

In early June, four development teams submitted proposals to the county for development of the land, which runs along Five and Six Mile roads between Beck and Sheldon.

Included in three of the four proposals were golf courses — designed by legends Jack Nicklaus, Lee Trevino, and Arnold Palmer.

Wild said the scoring system will list a collection of items used in the request for proposal (RFP) document. RFPs included a list of criteria sent to developers prior to their proposal submittals.

"We'll take the items in the RFPs and attach a certain amount of weight to them," he noted.

Wild said the review committee who will be creating the scoring system will include one county commissioner and officials from the county executive's office.

He added none of the members on the scoring committee are locally elected or appointed officials.

He said one or two of the four developing teams could be eliminated from the process as early as the end of next week.

The four development teams to submit proposals include: Holtzman and Silverman, Nicklaus-Sierra Development Corp., LoPatin and Co., and Duke Associates; and J. J. Slavik Inc., Byron Trerice Co., Vidosh Inc., and Trammell Crow Co.

The other two groups are: R.A. DeMattia Co., Selective Group, Heinz C. Prechter, ASA Inc., and Alexander Hamilton Life Insurance Co.; and Charter Development Co. (Arnold Cohen/Walter Cohen), John Boll, Joseph P. Ministrelli, and Huber Wright.

Wild said negotiations between the remaining development teams and the county should begin after the first elimination process is finished.

He added the county hopes to submit a recommendation to the county commission on a development team by the end of September.

"Nothing has changed recently, and the process is running smoothly," Wild said, adding none of the development teams have merged or dropped out of the competition.

If the county executive's recommendation is approved by the county commission, Wild said he believes development on the site could begin as early as next year.

"Any four of these proposals would be a worthy project for both the county and the township," he added.

Foster-care home prepares to open

By DARRELL CLEM

An adult foster-care home that sparked controversy when it was proposed here appears ready to begin operating in September.

Although a state license has still not been issued, "the home is being readied for opening," said Denise Mogos, public affairs director for Wayne Community Living Services, which will supervise the home.

State officials have refrained from issuing the license until program coordinators address such issues as fire codes and house furnishings.

Mogos said last week that most of those issues have been resolved and that officials from the state Department of Social Services should be prepared to inspect the home in early September. She said she expects that a license will be issued and that the home will open in the latter part of the month.

Early on, the project sparked opposition from city officials and residents who live near the site at 20415 Lexington Blvd. The opposition centered on such issues as whether the Northville area has more than its share of state-operated facilities, including Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital, the Phoenix Correctional Facility, and the Scott Regional Correctional Facility.

Mogos said initial public opposition to such projects is common, but she said Lexington Boulevard residents probably will find that the adult foster-care home "will blend in with the neighborhood" once it opens.

The site will be home to four developmentally disabled adults who will be supervised by staff members of the Livonia-based New Outlook Inc. That arrangement surfaced through a contract with the state mental-health department.

Mogos said that each of the residents will be more than 26 years old and will attend some type of workshops during daytime hours. She declined to say what types of workshops or to identify a location, saying only that the sessions "will be somewhere in Wayne County."

Mogos said the residents will be transported in a van — and strictly supervised. Some local residents had earlier voiced concerns about walkaways from the home.

"We expect this to run smoothly," Mogos said. "We really look forward to opening this home."

Report recaps school activities

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

The accomplishments and activities of the Northville School District during 1988-89 were recently compiled for the school board in an end-of-the-year report.

The report is divided into five different sections and chronicles the district's activities in areas like special education and instructional services.

In addition, the report offers a brief synopsis of school board meetings from the previous year.

The report also provides a thorough recap of the district's strategic plan, which began as a discussion last October and is now being implemented.

Fire destroys Novi's Yerkes House

In 1987 Hann submitted site plans to the City of Novi calling for the residence to be converted into an office building. Hann also received approval to develop a set of eight condominiums on the rear of the 1.46-acre parcel to make the restoration "financially feasible."

Plans to preserve the home never materialized, however, as Hann told city officials she was having difficulty securing financial backing for the project.

As recently as May, Hann appeared before the Novi Planning Commission to request an extension of the site-plan approval.

At the commission's May 17 meeting, Commissioner Kathleen McAllen said the house had become a dangerous liability and an "eyesore" to the community. Other commissioners wondered if the home should be razed.

Hann admitted at the May 17 meeting that she shared concerns that the house had become a hazard. "Kids have broken in. They've torn up the walls and written graffiti on them. We've had it boarded up a dozen times," she said.

Earlier this month, Hann told The Northville Record that the city would see a lot of action on the Yerkes House within the next 30 days and suggested that revised plans would be submitted.

DNR okays local landfill addition

A landfill cited by the Department of Natural Resources for being contaminated will be allowed to continue operating and will be brought up to the DNR's standards.

The landfill, Arbor Hills Sanitary Landfill, has received a license from the state Department of Natural Resources to expand the dump, but won't do it until January 1990. The landfill is operated by Browning-Ferris Industries.

The landfill at Six Mile and Napier is nearly out of space. It accepts refuse from 400 customers a day, including Northville.

The site is split into two parts, the currently operating east section and the planned west section. The west site has been ready to operate since January, but differences of opinion between the landfill operator and the DNR held up licensing until recently.

The DNR had denied granting the landfill an operator's license because the site is on a DNR list of contaminated landfills. Liquid containing low levels of benzene and vinylidene chloride have seeped into ground water at the site, according to the DNR. Benzene is a known carcinogen. Vinylidene chloride has been found to cause cancer in some animals.

The DNR granted BFI a license to open the west site after the landfill agreed to clean up the contamination. Cleaning the site will involve removing contaminated dirt and water and regrading the area, said Lonnie Lee of the DNR. The work could take two years.

The nearly filled east side of the landfill will continue to operate, said Mike Stallard, Arbor Hills district manager. That portion of the landfill is expected to be filled in October.

The DNR will allow the dump to overflow the east site until the western portion is open. Once the west site opens next year, the landfill will be required to transfer excess waste from the east landfill to the new site, said Lee.

The delay in opening the west site is not expected to cause significant problems because Arbor Hills East can be over filled.

Stallard said Arbor Hills decided to add extra layers of clay and a synthetic liner to the landfill to prevent environmental quality and ensure contamination in the future. The DNR was not involved in the decision, he said.

"It was absolutely on BFI's behalf. We're looking at long-term environmental quality. It's our corporation's intent to ensure the integrity of the existing landfill," he said. "This was not required by the state; it is well above DNR standards. This isn't a demand by the DNR, but it would be required in the future."

The landfill has taken out a $2.5-million insurance policy with the state that will allow the DNR to remove excess waste from the east site if the firm fails to do so, Lee said.

Landfill operators built an underground wall that extends for nearly a mile around three sides of the landfill, and will add a clay dike to the wall that will prevent more water from getting into the contaminated area.

Arbor Hills East Sanitary Landfill is licensed to operate until January 1990. The West site is licensed to operate until August 1991.

Board reviews district

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

An 18-percent cost increase on the Haggerty Road special-assessment sewer district is just one of the reasons Northville Township board members will review the issue tonight, Thursday.

Township Deputy Clerk Eunice Switzler said another reason why the board will hold a public hearing on the district is that more parties want inclusion since it was first created in 1985.

Switzler said about 85 parcels are slated to be involved in the revised district, which includes properties between Six and Eight Mile roads near Haggerty.

The previous cost of the project, which was approved in 1985, was roughly $3,130,000. The 18-percent increase takes the new price of the district to $3,697,972.

Switzler said if the cost of a district rises by more than 10 percent prior to building, the project must come back before the board of trustees.

She added other parcels not included in the 1985 project, such as Dun Rovin Country Club, now want to be in the district.

Dun Rovin Country Club is now owned by Haggerty Hills Ltd., the developer of Country Club Village along Six Mile and Haggerty roads.

Switzler said the final reason for the hearing is that many of the property owners involved in the 1985 district have sold their property.

She said the new owners will now be able to decide on whether they want to be in the district.

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

With the price of land soaring to new heights in Northville Township, Realtors apparently are being aggressive in pursuing lot splits by current residents.

Township resident Alice Griebel said she was sent a letter recently by a local Realtor, asking her to consider the possibility of splitting her lot.

Griebel said she is opposed to lot splitting "because it changes the character of an already developed area. The losses are many: wildlife, privacy, and space."

She added that after checking with her neighbors, she was the only resident in her neighborhood to receive the solicitation.

"We are definitely not interested in a lot split," she said. Griebel said she questioned existing township ordinances about requiring 150 feet of frontage on one-acre lot sizes. She added she has seen the zoning board of appeals (ZBA) grant variances for the requirement.

Township Planning Director Carol Maise said the minimum frontage for a residential (R-1) district is 150 feet with or without utilities.

As the residential zoning becomes more dense, however, the minimum frontage does decrease.

Century 21 Realtor Janice Wilkemyer said she attempts to procure lot splits because "there is a big market to live in Northville but a small amount of available land."

Wilkemyer said the trend of splitting a lot "has always been there."

She added the process of deciding which lot to on which she will solicit a split depends on the interest of her customers. "I have the customer decide the area they want to live, and then I find lots which have enough land to split."

Lot splits require a division resulting in at least one acre of land on each parcel.

The Township Planning Commission members were slated to discuss their philosophies pertaining to lot splits at their meeting Tuesday night.

Trash management plan may require recycling steps

By DARRELL CLEM

New plans to "radically alter" Wayne County's garbage-management plan — in part by requiring recycling — have been proposed, a source close to the negotiations said recently.

Milton Mack, chairperson of the committee drafting the long-delayed plan, said recently that, "for all practical purposes," the latest proposals would "cause mandatory recycling efforts" in each of the county's communities.

The beleaguered trash-management plan has been undergoing revisions for months now, with environmentalists and some officials battling to give the plan a greater emphasis on recycling.

Mack said the latest proposal would force each community to have a recycling or incineration plan in place by 1992 or 1993. He said the plan is dramatically different from earlier proposals because it would not only affect households — but the commercial and industrial sectors, too.

Mack called that the "most significant" of the latest changes. Some environmentalists had called for more efforts to force the commercial and industrial sectors to implement recycling programs.

Under the plan, which has not been approved, landfills could accept only trash that had already been processed — whether recycled or incinerated. He said trash could be separated at landfills.

"Since there's not enough incineration capacity for all the garbage, this would force communities to use recycling," Mack said. Although incineration would continue to be an option, he said there would not be enough time by the early 1990s to build enough incinerators to handle the amount of trash that would need to be processed.

In essence, Mack said, communities "would have to recycle what could be recycled."

Mack said the latest step would "go beyond" an earlier plan that sought increased emphasis on recycling in the county's trash-management plan.

Mack said the latest changes grew out of discussions with environmental groups and officials in various communities. He said the aim is to achieve a "fully integrated" trash-management plan in the 1990s — one that's workable and will help protect the environment.

"This would put recycling at the top of the hierarchy," Mack said.

Mack said the proposal still must win strong support from such groups as the Conference of Western Wayne and various environmental groups if it is to be seriously considered by officials drafting the plan.

So far, he said, it has been "well received." He said the revised solid-waste plan should be ready for review in about 60 days, after which a public hearing could be set.

Mack indicated that one necessary step will be "to get the suburbs to buy into this."

In the end, the plan must be adopted by the Wayne County Commission and be approved by the county executive and a two-thirds majority of the county's communities.

Wayne County communities support recycling program

By DARRELL CLEM

Communities in the Conference of Western Wayne (CWW) have formed a unified front to show support for recycling programs as county officials continue to chart a trash-management plan.

The conference recently voted unanimously to adopt a resolution supporting increased emphasis on recycling as the preferred method of trash disposal, said Maurice Breen, chairperson of the conference's solid-waste committee.

Breen said that, although the resolution lacks authority, it is designed as a show of solidarity among the communities that make up CWW. Both the City of Northville and Northville Township are members of the conference.

Breen said the resolution was submitted to the Wayne County committee developing a solid-waste plan that is designed to achieve dramatic waste reductions by the turn of the century.

County officials have issued preliminary drafts of the plan, which still is subject to change.

A proposed amendment by Milton Mack, chairperson of the county's solid-waste committee, says individual communities that implement recycling and composting programs and achieve a 40-percent reduction in residential waste by 1992 should not be required to achieve further reductions through incineration.

That amendment, which has not yet been approved, has won support from environmental groups due to its emphasis on recycling.

But Breen said recently that environmentalists and critics of the county plan remain concerned about some issues.

Among those, he said, is a plan that targets a 75-percent reduction in county waste by the year 2000 — a goal that Breen called unrealistic.

"We're concerned that this could force everyone to go to incineration," Breen said.

Many communities oppose further efforts aimed at incineration. Breen said that five CWW communities already have incineration programs — Wayne, Garden City, Westland, Dearborn Heights, and Inkster.

Breen suggested that, instead of a 75-percent waste reduction, a more realistic goal would be a 50-percent reduction by the turn of the century. He said that goal, with a strong reliance on recycling, has been endorsed by the CWW.

Breen said communities also are concerned that the industrial and commercial sectors may not be forced to do their share to reduce wastes.

"We'd like to see industries have a greater role in recycling," Breen said.

In other matters, Breen said he is concerned that communities with landfills apparently will be allowed to receive exemptions from mandated recycling programs once the solid-waste plan is finalized.

"They wouldn't have to reduce, recycle, or reuse anything," he said.

New Northville High School Assistant Principal Laura Wiener

New assistant principal to join high school staff

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

If enthusiasm and zeal count for anything, Northville High's new assistant principal should make a smooth transition from her former job.

That's because when Laura Wiener talks about education, you can't help but notice the excitement in her voice.

"I hope students see the administration as a caring group who want to help them reach their potential," said Wiener, who has been a music teacher in Plymouth for the past 15 years.

Armed with educational degrees from Michigan State University (bachelor's) and Eastern Michigan (master's), Wiener said she has had leadership positions in the Plymouth district — something she thinks will help acclimate her to her new position.

"My success in leadership positions has continued to assure me that I'm headed in the right direction," she added.

Currently living in Plymouth with her two daughters — Rebecca, 10, and Sara, 8 — Wiener said she has become familiar with the Northville area.

And Wiener said she likes what she sees.

"This community seems very similar to Plymouth," she said. "I'm excited to be coming here for the progressive attitude and community involvement in the district."

Northville High School Principal David Bolitho said Wiener's personality and presence will be an asset, not only to the school and administration, but to the community.

"People have helped me reach my potential and continue my schooling. And now I want to help students reach theirs."

Laura Wiener
NHS Assistant Principal

"Laura is very enthusiastic and takes each task very seriously," Bolitho said. "That kind of perception is very refreshing."

He added Wiener's music background should help her become accustomed to her new responsibilities, which will include discipline, attendance and scheduling.

Wiener said being the school's disciplinarian shouldn't be too difficult a task. "As far as being the school heavy, I'm a parent, so I know how to set limits and expectations."

"And students cannot reach their potential without limits and boundaries," she said. "It is our job to have them realize their importance."

In addition to her school duties, Wiener said she will also assume the role of district liaison to the Northville Action Council (NAC) from her predecessor, Bill Hamilton — who is in a new role as district administrative assistant.

"Schools depend on the community for support," she said. "And the community cannot lend its support unless they are aware of a school's programs. One of my goals is to let the community know about the programs at Northville High."

Wiener added her experience as a music teacher should help her deal with the community.

She said another of her goals centers on strengthening the district's vocational-education program. Northville schools saw a drop in students participating in vocational education since it changed programs from Livonia to Wayne-Westland last year.

"People think that if you don't go to college you're not worthy of doing a viable job," she said. "But I want to let students become aware of many careers in the vocational field."

Wiener noted her main objective is to have students reach their potential — in whatever field they choose.

"The mission of the district (identified in its strategic plan) is inspirational because it speaks to persons who care a great deal about a student's ability to reach his/her potential."

"People have helped me reach my potential and continue my schooling," she said. "And now I want to help students reach theirs."

Our Opinions

Election should resolve park millage question

It's getting to be crunch time for the idea of a special tax to develop the Northville Community Park.

The park site, on Beck between Five Mile and Six Mile, has been sitting overgrown and untended for years now. As vacant land goes, this is not a particularly scenic parcel. Ownership here — unlike so much of the community's recreation land — is not a worry. The added facilities are needed for things like softball and soccer, especially with the impending loss of Lapham Field to development. This site would make a good park.

Attempts to make it into a park, however, have historically run into problems. The recreation department ran into brick walls twice in efforts to secure state grant money to develop the site. A millage proposal was the next option, and that too ended in defeat with last November's election.

The defeat was a little tainted, however. The millage did pass half-way; township voters approved it, although city voters did not. In addition, the city defeat — in spite of its wide margin — was called into question. A private group called Citizens for a Better Northville stationed representatives outside both city polling places, handing out flyers opposing the millage.

The flyers were undeniably misleading in some respects. Some of the criticism was legitimate, however.

The effect of those flyers has been a nagging question ever since the final vote was tallied. Did CBN make the difference? Did those flyers turn the tide? Would the millage have passed if three or four people had decided to stay home on Election Day instead of passing out flyers?

In short: was the defeat in the city

Funding of sidewalks should be primary issue

Some of the opposition to the City of Northville's sidewalk-expansion program last week sounded a little strange.

Some city property owners may be required to pay for sidewalks along their property where there currently are none. The natural, obvious objection for the homeowner is the cost. But there were other objections at the hearing as well.

There are currently many irregularities in the city sidewalk structure. On many blocks where a walker would naturally expect sidewalks, there are none.

This situation is unsafe and inconvenient. Northville is a town full of walkers — young, middle-aged and elderly — and the lack of sidewalks in some cases basically forces people out into the street. The sidewalks are need-due to misleading information?

Our hunch is that it was not. The margin was too large for a last-minute blitz to be blamed for — or credited with — the defeat. A recent survey of city residents showed overwhelming opposition to the idea of more taxes for parks, backing up the idea that the turnaround was a legitimate expression of feeling. But all anyone can have right now is a hunch. The questions remain.

The questions need answers. There is one easy, efficient way to get them: put the millage question back on the ballot in November.

Once more ought to take care of it. If it passes, the community will get the park facilities it needs — at least some of them. If not, the people will have spoken loud and clear.

With a school bond-issue proposal in October and a possible library vote looming next year, the city council probably should have made this decision earlier. But if — as the city clerk has said — it will come in the next few weeks, that should be enough time to get the answers the community needs. Park supporters will have two months to present a coordinated, cohesive argument for their position.

The results of the vote can then be taken as a final answer. The way things stand now, there has not yet been one.

ed for the safety of children in the adjoining houses if for no other reason.

Some oppose the walks, however, saying that they will decrease privacy and property values. This is hard to figure. A lot of this is based on the fact that bushes would be torn out. Well, sidewalks will not go on anyone's property without the homeowner's permission; generally, they will be constructed in city-owned right-of-way property. If this is going to lower property values or infringe on privacy, it's only because homeowners were using that land as their own — which it is not, even though they maintain it.

That brings up the other objection, the cost. It is hard to defend a requirement for this kind of investment by property owners when it is not on their own land. This — and not the value or privacy arguments — should be the center of debate on the program.

Puppet performer

By Brenda Dooley

Her friends include a fuzzy monkey and a bright yellow ostrich. Unlike most animals, these furred and feathered creatures actually talk back. That's because they're puppets.

Maureen Schiffman makes her living by performing puppet shows for local children. She has visited libraries, schools, hospitals and children's camps to enlighten and entertain youths of all ages. And her recognition is growing as she prepares to release a cassette tape featuring special nursery rhymes and songs.

She says her main goal is to teach children self-esteem. Through her puppets, Schiffman often makes herself appear silly — just to show children that adults aren't always people to be revered or worshipped. They're not always right, and they don't always use good judgement. She wants kids to know that it's perfectly acceptable to stand up for something they believe in, even if they're wrong.

I wish I would have known Schiffman as a fifth grader at Caledonia Elementary School. Perhaps if I had been exposed to Schiffman's philosophy earlier in my childhood, I could have handled Mr. Stewart better.

Mr. Stewart was my science teacher. He was a big, burly guy with a dark brown beard and mustache. By fifth grade standards, he was considered a rather hip teacher, mainly because he wore blue jeans and tennis shoes to work. Because I was rather quiet and shy, Mr. Stewart liked to ask questions and call on me to answer. If I uttered an incorrect answer, he'd bellow out in deep, resounding laughter, promoting my classmates to snicker along with him.

Then it would happen. Slowly a tinge of pink would color my cheeks as I wallowed in the embarrassment of my ignorance. And as the laughter continued, my face gradually turned flaming red.

"Look, she's blushing," Mr. Stewart would say. "You can't even see her treckles anymore."

I'd try to laugh along with them, but I don't think I was very convincing. For some reason Mr. Stewart took great pleasure in watching my face flame with embarrassment. Every day in science class he'd say something to make me blush. Before the school year was out, a mere glance in my direction from his beady brown eyes would cause my cheeks to turn varying shades of pink.

Now, if I would have practiced Schiffman's mode of thought, science class might have been different. I can see myself rising from my seat as soon as the first peep of laughter left Mr. Stewart's ugly lips.

"Listen, Mr. Smarty Pants Stewart . . . what do you think you're trying to do?" I'd say. Depending on the kind of mood I was in, maybe I'd run up to him and pluck a hair from his mangy beard.

I know, I know . . . that's not what Schiffman's message is all about. She just wants kids to feel good about themselves — to take pride in their judgments and their decisions. And that's a healthy message to promote. It's a skill kids will carry with them throughout their lives.

Still, just what if I had lipped off to Mr. Stewart? I could have preserved a little dignity. And depending on my mood, I could have saved him a bundle on razor blades.

After the fact

By Phil Jerome

The statute of limitations has passed, so I can tell you about Eddie Beard, almost the smartest man who ever graduated from Northville High School.

I was thinking about Eddie the other day because Yvonne Rollings sent me a note attached to a copy of something called "Awards for Distinguished Professional Public Service: Commemorating 125 Years of Service to the Commonwealth of Massachusetts."

Inside I found a picture of a balding man with a big bushy mustache who looked vaguely like the Eddie Beard who graduated from Northville in 1962, except that it said "P. Edmund Beard, Director, McCormack Institute" under the picture.

The article called him a specialist "in American government and the political process" and noted that he is "founding director of the John McCormack Institute of Public Affairs, a New England-region oriented applied policy research center."

I knew Eddie would do well. I knew it for sure after I spent a lazy summer's day hanging around Meadowbrook Country Club with him.

Unlike modern times when A's come a lot easier than they did in those days, Eddie had the distinction of being the first Northville student in many years to carry a perfect 4.0 grade point average into his senior year.

Duly impressed, I guessed aloud that he was planning to study really hard during his senior year in order to maintain the perfect record. And that's when I learned how smart he was. He said he had studied hard for three years and was going to relax during his senior year.

But what about your 4-point?" I asked

"All the teachers know about the 4-point and, frankly, I don't think any of them has the courage to mess it up by not giving me an A," he replied.

As things turned out, he was wrong. Dr. P. Edmund Beard's perfect academic record was marred when the typing teacher slipped him a big fat B.

Ward Church vote was consistent

To the Editor:

In the Aug. 10 issue of the Northville Record, page 10-A, the editorial page, your Bruce Weintraub used his power of the press, "Ahhh, politics," to intimidate the members of the Northville Township Board of Trustees. On that very night, Aug. 10, the trustees were to vote on a new proposed church ordinance limiting average church height to 48 feet. Since we (planning commission members) are appointed officials his statement "remember these names: Charles DeLand, Bernard Bach, and Larry Sheehan" is hollow, but he sure puts undue pressure of the press on the elected officials who had to vote that night.

Omission is as much misleading as commission. First of all, he states that beginning with the planning commission's first meeting with Ward Church on Jan. 31, (Fire) Chief (Robert) Toms said he could not fight a fire in a building over 70 feet high. This is not true. Yes, Chief Toms did say this, but this was not at the first meeting. Bruce totally failed to mention that over one year earlier a site plan was approved by the Northville Township Planning Commission that allowed a height to the top of a peak of 125 feet, which is an average of 86 feet and 4 inches. At that meeting, Charles DeLand, Bernard Bach, and Larry Sheehan voted yes, as did other commissioners. So you see, when the whole story is told, we are consistent.

When we voted, the new ordinance regarding church heights had not been approved yet (the planning commission only recommends, but the board of trustees must approve.) On Aug. 8, the planning commission was voting under the rules of the original ordinance, with the same no height requirement as when we originally voted almost two years ago. The new ordinance had not been approved yet. Yes, again consistent.

Ward Church had to reapply for another site plan approval because the original had expired, but not through Ward's own fault. They cannot build until the township sewers are installed. Their first site plan approval was only good for one year. Years ago when Ward bought this land, there was no height limit on churches. When they submitted their first site plan, there was no height limit, nor when they submitted their latest plan was there a height limit. (Consistency.) Yet in a spirit of compromise they did reduce the height to an average of 68 feet and 6 inches, added a landscaped six-foot-high berm along both Haggerty and Six Mile Road, and made many other changes as requested. Considering all of the above, I felt that both morally and legally I should be consistent and again vote yes, so that's what I did, as did three other commissioners. Again the purpose of commissions was fulfilled, and the majority prevailed.

Mr. Weintraub's criticism of Chief Toms in this case is inexcusable. Again he fails to mention, as did Chief Toms in his letter, that with the church's changes in the building the chief was now satisfied that a fire in this church building could be controlled. That's not politics, that's enforcement. Surely Chief Toms has more expertise in fire fighting than Mr. Weintraub.

He failed to mention that the average height difference at the time we voted was only 20 feet and 6 inches between the 48-foot proposed new ordinance and the 68-foot, 6-inch actual average height. He continually mentioned 48 feet as the new ordinance height limit and then mentioned 107 feet as the height of Ward Church. This is very misleading. Any person reading this (column) would believe that the church is 59 feet too high. Not so.

Bruce also fails to mention that there are people in favor of this church and that the top 107 feet is, in my view, not a skyscraper. Yes, Mr. Weintraub, why haven't you published the rendering of this church? Why haven't you published the site line drawings showing how little of this church will be seen from the road considering the 6-foot landscaped berms and the over-500-foot setbacks? I believe that the blue water tower south of Seven Mile near the state police post is higher than the proposed church building peak. It is surely much broader and far less attractive.

I agree with your editorial of Aug. 17 when you say that all involved parties should get together and compromise. That is what I suggested at a meeting several months ago. I was glad to see you made proper comparisons of 48-foot and 68-foot heights. I'm also glad that you elected to do the Aug. 17 editorial yourself and not let Mr. Weintraub continue with his inflammatory style. Northville is a small community. We should all work for compromise, not confrontation. Mr. Weintraub should either tell the whole, complete, true story or don't tell it at all. Your readers deserve better.

Church height

To the Editor:

I live in Maple Hill Subdivision, which is just west of the proposed site of Ward Presbyterian Church. I had my choice of all but two lots in the subdivision. I selected one that backed up to the vacant property between Maple Hill and Haggerty roads based on what the township building department told me. I knew that the property east of the lot I selected was owned by two churches. I was concerned that high-rise apartments, condos, or other tall structures could be built on this land. The township building department told me that the property was zoned single-family residential, and that it would be limited to two-story structures.

Now Ward Church wants to build a structure 107 feet high. The limit of a two-story, single-family dwelling in our subdivision is 35 feet. One hundred and seven feet is more than three times the height limit of the homes in Maple Hill subdivision, and a structure of this size will be out of place in the surrounding community.

I sit on my deck and look at the fields and woods which is comprised of the land which is owned by the two churches. I have seen many animals, including deer, fox, pheasants, rabbits, raccoons, and groundhogs, along with a large variety of bird life. It is like having a little piece of "God's country" in Northville Township. Now, this little piece of "God's country" is going to be obliterated by Ward Church.

On Sunday when the congregation of Ward is meeting to worship God, it is going to be pure "hell" for anyone else traveling Six Mile or Haggerty Roads.

I hope that the township planners will come to their senses and realize that a church of this size, which will serve only a small percentage of Northville Township, is not needed or wanted in our community.

Public trust

To the Editor:

Shame on you, Bob Thoms, Fire Chief, for capitulating to Ward Presbyterian. If ever 70 feet was unacceptable safety six months ago, how can 107 feet be fine now? When did you get inspired and see the light?

Shame on you, residents of the lovely township, for your indifference and complacency. Why weren't you at the planning meeting protesting this 10-story structural monster? Ward descended like a pack of pit bulls with their leather brief cases and "experts."

Shame on you, (Commissioner Bernard) Bach, for embarrassing me at the meeting.

Shame on you, (Commissioner John) Leinonen, for all your empathy toward Ward because it incurred thousands of dollars in architectural fees. Is this why you voted in favor of the plan?

Shame on you, "Ward safety expert," for fooling the planning commission with your New Zealand/Australia statutes on sprinkler safety. Why didn't you use Las Vegas, New York, or Los Angeles, where density would give a true picture?

Shame on you, (Commission Chairperson Charles) DeLand, for "slapping me down" with your comment. I, as a taxpayer and resident, have the right to speak. Were you so set in your vote that your mind was closed to any opposing statements?

Shame on all of you, misters Bach, (Larry) Sheehan, Leinonen, and DeLand for allowing this plan to go into the woodlands and destroy beautiful trees.

Shame on you for ignoring 300-plus residents who signed petitions protesting this building. True, we cannot recall you since you are not elected officials, but we can vote against those who appointed you. You have

City should look at medical program

To the Editor:

I am writing in support of the medical "first response" program proposed by the Northville Township Fire Department. But more importantly, as a resident of the city, I am writing to urge that the City of Northville also study the implementation of such a program.

I was quite distressed to read about the incident reported in the Aug. 24, 1989 edition of The Record. The CEMS ambulance company took 13 minutes to respond to a heart-attack call. At first, I thought this might have been an unusual situation, but I read that the company representative believed the ambulance "normally" would have arrived in 10 minutes! In this day and age, every second counts in an emergency, and 10 minutes is simply too long to wait, especially if there is an alternative.

All the reasons that favor the township's plan to use trained firefighters are just as applicable to the city. The only argument against the plan seems to be cost. I agree that this is important, but several points come to mind that I believe justify this expenditure.

First, based on the figures stated by the township fire chief, the cost seems minimal. Such a small amount, in the context of the entire township or city budget, seems a very small price to pay when we are talking about getting medically trained personnel to the scene of a potentially life-threatening emergency.

Second, there definitely seems to be a need for this service. According to the CEMS president, as quoted in the article, there are at times only two advanced ambulances available to cover all of Northville, Novi and Plymouth, and these may be tied up on other calls when they are needed here.

Third, CEMS itself seems to favor a system where the fire department serves as the first response. In your story, the CEMS president was quoted as saying, "The optimal system for the money is a first response on the scene at the basic level to guarantee response time followed by advanced life support."

Finally, I understand that all of the surrounding communities in the CEMS area of operation use their fire departments to provide at least a first response in medical emergencies. This includes Novi, Farmington Hills, Plymouth Township, the City of Plymouth and Livonia. All of these communities have presumably weighed the same factors now under consideration here. Why should residents of the township or city of Northville settle for a lower level of emergency medical care than is available in these areas?

In the past year, the city has spent much money to study several land development proposals. For a fraction of that cost, the city could implement a medical first-response program. I suggest that this is just as important to the future of our community and urge the city to join the township in taking action in this area.

To the Editor:

Those of us who live on South Ely Drive want to thank the Northville City Council, who made our block party possible. By allowing us to barricade one block of our street for the evening, Saturday, Aug. 26th, we got to know our neighbors.

We had a wonderful time! Three families in the center of the block planned the block party — the Pryces, the Jayes and the Pietrusas. They came to our doors with the idea and plans for the party. We responded, "At last, we'll see and chat with the people on our street."

The street was decorated with kid chalk drawings, picnic tables and glowing grills. So we carried our folding chairs, table settings, and passing dishes as we balanced our prize-seeking hats.

A serious group of judges, aged 3 to 7 years old, chose Trevor Moxon's potted plant as the "ugliest" hat. He won a beautiful prize pin with ribbons. Peanut find, egg-toss, shoe kick — we enjoyed them all, as we ate and chatted. The food was delicious and we exchanged recipes.

Newcomers learned the history of our street; Clancy and Phyllis Ely were the very first settlers. Old-timers met the energetic new folks and their cute kids.

We lingered until dark and then left, having cleaned up the street, which was so obligingly lent to us. We put the barricades away again...

Northville's a great town. We're glad we live here.

Volunteers needed for youth program

This is another in a continuing series of columns by Northville Youth Assistance Director Mary Ellen King.

When September rolls around, most people think of starting school, enjoying cider and donuts, and raking leaves. When I turn the calendar from August to September, I think of training volunteers to work with youths in the Northville Youth Assistance (NYA) program.

In the last two-and-a-half years, over 50 persons from the Northville community have generously given of themselves to spend time with our local youths. Before these persons work with the youths they attend classes to help prepare themselves for their experience.

Volunteers attend 15 hours of training, which covers a wide variety of topics. During the training, volunteers hear from the referral sources why youths are in the program and what the volunteers' role is with an assigned youth. Decision-making, problem-solving and listening skills are refined. Information on substance abuse and values clarification is discussed in the training.

Volunteers have told me that the training has benefit beyond just helping their assigned youth. One volunteer said, "What I learned about listening, communication skills and empathy not only applies to working with youths but to every aspect of my life... It was very enlightening."

The volunteer went on to say, "Twenty other people took the course with me, and there was a strong sense of camaraderie and team spirit among us. We shared similar values. All of us were there because we strongly believe in the value of the program and are committed to working for the welfare of the community."

NYA is in need of volunteers. We need adults who are willing to participate in the training and then spend approximately 1-and-a-half hours a week with a local youth.

If you are interested in becoming involved, call Mary Ellen King at 344-1618.

Parents must start plans to fund college educations

If your child is still in diapers, you probably think you have all the time in the world to start building college funds.

Think again. The Department of Education expects the average cost for attending a four-year college to soar to almost $200,000 in the next 18 years. The cost of public college may be nearly $60,000.

To afford such exorbitant expenses, the Michigan Association of CPAs suggests parents begin saving for their child's college education as soon as possible. By starting early, following sound tax strategies and choosing smart investments, you should be able to build an adequate college fund.

Time's on your side: The more years you have to save, the less you need to save each year. For example, you can build a $100,000 nest egg in 15 years by investing $289 a month in an account earning 8-percent interest. But if you reduce your saving period by just five years, you will have to invest $547 a month at the same rate to yield the same $100,000.

Another advantage of early planning is that you can afford to take greater investment risks — which traditionally pay off in substantially higher interest rates.

Choose less taxing ways to save: To make the most of what you save, try to minimize the amount of tax you must pay on unearned income, such as interest or dividends. In the past, the easiest way to accomplish this goal was for parents to shift income to a child. While this strategy still has merit, tax reform has reduced the benefits of income shifting.

Today, if a child under 14 has any unearned income in excess of $1,000, the excess amount is taxed at the parents' top marginal rate. However, children age 14 or older pay tax on unearned income at their own lower rate. Keep these rules in mind when making any investment decisions.

Buy Series SS bonds: You can purchase Series EE bonds for as little as $25 or as much as $10,000. Buy them in your own name and you can defer taxes on the interest earned for up to 12 years.

As an alternative, you can buy the bonds in your child's name with a maturity date that defers taxes until your child reaches age 14. Then, when he or she redeems the bonds, the interest will be taxed at his or her lower rate. In either case, you receive an acceptable rate of interest and a guaranteed minimum return.

For EE bonds purchased after December 31, 1989, the tax benefits will be even greater. Under a law passed last fall, the accumulated interest on Series EE bonds will be totally tax-free if you redeem the bonds to pay for your own or your dependents' education expenses. To qualify for the interest exclusion, the bonds must be issued after December 31, 1989 and you must be at least 24 years old at the time of the purchase.

Be aware the exemption pays qualified higher education expenses in the same year the bonds are redeemed. If the amount redeemed exceeds the year's qualified educational costs, the amount of tax-free interest will be reduced proportionately.

One last point: the break is phased out for joint filers with an adjusted gross income (AGI) of $60,000 to $90,000 and for single filers with AGI of $40,000 to $55,000.

Zeros can add up: Another type of bond to consider is the "zero coupon" bond, which is offered at a price substantially lower than its face value. What makes these bonds a good investment is their high rate of return when they mature.

Note that while these bonds pay no interest to the holder, the investor is nevertheless taxed as if interest were paid out annually. For this reason, you may prefer zero coupon municipal bonds. The interest is exempt from federal taxes, as well as state and local taxes if you buy bonds issued by the state in which you live. Certain municipal bond funds can also offer triple tax-free returns.

Take a stake in growth stocks: If you are an adventuresome investor with a child under age 14, consider purchasing non-dividend-paying growth stocks in your child's name. Remember, as long as the stocks are sold after your child turns 14, the gain will be taxed at your child's lower rate than yours.

Growth mutual funds typically provide larger gains over a long period of time. But, beware that any stock market investment involves risk. You could lose all or a portion of your money with stocks. And the sooner you need to use the funds, the greater the risk is that you may have to sell them at a loss.

Business Briefs

MICHAEL L. POLICH of Northville has been named Senior Account Manager of Kelsey-Hayes Company's Aluminum Wheel Group, where he will be responsible for the Ford Motor Company account.

Polich will manage the account for both passenger cars and light trucks, according to Birum G. Campbell, the Group's Director of Sales and Marketing.

Polich, a 20-year veteran of the automotive industry, holds a BA degree in Business (1968) from Hillsdale College.

Kelsey-Hayes Company is the world's largest aluminum wheel producer and is a major supplier of steel wheels, brakes, brake anti-lock systems and electrical control devices for the automotive industry worldwide.

PATRICK W. DANNA, president of Danna & Co. Financial Services, Inc. has been appointed managing director for Securities America Inc. in Southeastern Michigan by President J. Patrick Pierce CPA, CLU, FLMI. Danna will offer all the services and products of Securities America to the people of Southeastern Michigan.

In making this announcement, Pierce stated that "Pat and Securities America will make an excellent team. With Pat's experience coupled with our full range of investment and insurance services Pat can offer better products and services to a broader range of people."

Pierce added that this was possible due to the extensive sales and administrative support available through Securities America combined with the quality people they choose to represent them.

Danna received a BA degree in economics from the University of Michigan.

DR. MARK BOWERS of Milford was presented with the Michigan Chiropractic Society Meritorious Service Award at the recent MCS state convention in Southfield.

"We are pleased to honor Dr. Bowers for the hundreds of hours he has unselfishly given to improve his profession while serving as a director, MCS secretary and chairman of our membership committee. Anyone of those posts would be a handful, but Dr. Bowers has effectively filled all three," stated MCS President Dr. Robert Ducharme of Rochester.

"He has performed above and beyond the call of duty to serve the best interests of the people of Michigan."

Dr. Bowers is a recognized leader in his profession. He is an officer of the Michigan Chiropractic Society as well as having served on the board of the Michigan Fellowship of Straight Chiropractors, which named him its "Chiropractor of the Year" several years ago.

LEE E. HOLLAND, CPA, CFP and senior partner of Lee E. Holland & Associates in Northville, participated in the ninth annual retreat sponsored by the Institute of Certified Financial Planners.

The educational event, featuring over 20 leading authorities from the financial services industries as class instructors, was held at Colorado State University with more than 400 people in attendance.

The Institute of Certified Financial Planners, a national professional association based in Denver, serves 7,500 members — Certified Financial Planner (CFP) professionals and candidates seeking to earn the CFP designation.

Its goals are to establish and maintain professionalism in financial planning and to build public acceptance of the Certified Financial Planner member as an objective professional in the field of financial planning.

Around the Yard: Gardening

Rose chafer eats more than just your roses

By Patrick Denton

It not only seems as if hordes of rose chafers appear overnight—they really do.

These voracious, tan beetles with brown heads and long, orangish legs emerge from sandy soil in late May and early June and spend about three weeks on the wing, feeding, mating and laying eggs for the next generation.

"Rose chafer adults emerge about the time roses are blooming, and they do feed on roses," says Gary Dunn, Michigan State University entomologist. "But they also feed on a wide variety of other plants, including iris, peony, geranium, hollyhock, hydrangea, dahlia, poppy, wisteria, Virginia creeper, brambles, tree fruits, strawberries, cabbage, corn and elm trees."

Damage from rose chafers tends to be heaviest near areas of light, sandy soil—heavy soils hamper the growth and development of the rose chafer larvae.

These small (½ to ¾ inch long) white grubs feed on the roots of grasses, trees and other plants, though they generally do not seriously injure them. Larvae leave the root zone and descend below the frost line to overwinter as nearly full-grown larvae.

"Thorough cultivation in early spring would destroy the pupae if you happened to cultivate the larval areas," Dunn notes. "But the adults frequently lay their eggs some distance from the place where they cause injury to plants, so it's virtually impossible to prevent an infestation by controlling larvae."

Because the adult beetle is active for only two or three weeks, you can protect a few small plants by covering them with screen or cheesecloth. In a small garden with only a few beetles, hand picking is effective. The beetles are conspicuous and slow moving and can be picked or shaken easily from the plants and dropped into a container of kerosene. Because they are strong fliers, frequent inspection and removal will probably be necessary for effective control.

Spraying with carbaryl (Sevin) or methoxychlor when beetles are present will also give control, Dunn adds. These chemicals will also kill honeybees and other beneficial insects, however, so avoid treating flowers. Read the pesticide label before using the product and carefully follow all precautions and instructions, he urges.

Up to four sprays at weekly intervals may be necessary to control large numbers of beetles or protect valuable plants.

"Be sure the beetles are still present before you spray," Dunn advises. "If you don't notice the damage until the beetles have left the plants, it's too late and spraying won't have any benefit."

As long as you're snipping the faded flowers off of annual plants, you might as well remove the old flowers and seedheads from perennial plants, too. This will allow the plants to concentrate on storing food in their roots for next year's vegetative growth and flower production rather than spending it on seed production.

Books to round out summer

Here are some thumbnail sketches of some of the more recently published books reflecting current trends and topics of interest in home gardening.

"Let's Grow! 72 gardening Adventures with Children" By Linda Tilgner; Garden Way Publishing; 208 pages; softcover; $10.95.

Set up in the same lively, clear and practical style as the author's popular "Tips for the Lazy Gardener," this book of garden projects with children outlines each project in a neatly pleasing manner, with photographs of children participating in the activity.

A highlighted box lists the materials needed and when to plant. Directions include how to prepare the soil and plant, what to watch for, and suggestions for activities with the planting such as making a graph of the growing progress of a sunflower.

Projects include personalized pumpkins, homegrown popcorn, a patchwork salad quilt, pole bean tepees, growing sprout salads on a sponge or clay animal.

A helpful table of contents list projects both by season and by age group.

"The Potted Herb" written and illustrated by Abbie Zabar; Stewart, Tabori & Chang; 104 pages; cloth-bound hardcover; $14.95.

Simple elegance describes this book, which offers an artistically designed, pleasant-reading and very practical guide to enjoying herbs as potted indoor/outdoor plants.

An encyclopedia of herbs to grow as container plants is foreworded with guidelines to the culture of potted herbs and followed by lively adventures into creating herbal topiaries in many forms.

A recipe section holds unusual delights such as Herb Toasts and Sage Potato Crepes.

"Use and Delight" completes the book with herbal crafts and gift making—wreaths and garlands, herbal incense, herbal compresses for "worried friends with furrowed brows."

"Sleeping with a Sunflower" by Louise Rlotte; Garden Way Publishing; 220 pages; softcover; $6.95.

Twelve months of old-time gardening folk wisdom from the author of the best-selling "Carrots Love Tomatoes," including moon gardening (and fishing), forcing branches to bloom in winter, old non-toxic measures for controlling orchard and other garden pests, herbal teas and more folk remedies for colds and assorted ills.

Here are charming vignettes such as the early-morning mating of stinging nettles, and many recipes for such traditional pioneer fare as corn relish and Indian pudding, watermelon pickles, apple butter, spiced apple coffee cake and blackberry cordial.

Condominium Lifestyle: IS IT RIGHT FOR YOU?

By Lisa Felicelli

Condominiums offer a carefree lifestyle that's can be hard to resist, but real-estate brokers encourage prospective buyers to get a clear understanding of what a condominium is before raffling off their lawn mowers.

"I tell people right off the bat that condominiums aren't for everyone," said Joan Murphy Goebel, a real estate broker at Bruce Roy Realty Inc. in Northville. "But for the right buyers, condos present a wealth of benefits."

These include certain tax deductions, as condominiums appreciate in equity value like single-family homes and offer assurance of long-term occupancy; recreational facilities, such as tennis courts and a swimming pool, that individual homeowners may not reasonably be able to afford; and, of course, freedom from outdoor maintenance.

"Once a developer has completed a condominium complex and sold over 50 percent of the units, he turns all exterior maintenance of the property over to the people living there," Goebel explained.

These neighbors automatically form a unit owners' association, which is comprised of elected co-owners who serve on a board and either physically hire different services to care for their condo community's common elements — such as the lawn, electric system and any recreational facilities on the property — or who hire a professional management firm to handle these chores for them.

"By handing these responsibilities entirely over to a management entity, condominium owners are free from worrying about overgrown grass and exterior walls that need painting," said Gene Komarynski, owner of Bruce Roy Realty.

Maintenance either way is paid through monthly assessment fees which vary for residents according to the size of their units. But because association directors are unit members themselves, they will do their best to keep these fees down, he added.

Because of this freedom from maintenance concerns, Goebel said that condominiums especially appeal to transient younger professionals who travel often, as well as "empty-nester" couples who wish to downsize their homes and spend more time relaxing on their lawn rather than mowing it.

"Families still like to raise kids in individual homes," Komarynski noted.

While condominiums do offer this relatively carefree lifestyle, both brokers pointed out that there are other aspects to consider before signing a purchase agreement.

"Life in a condominium community is often a jolt for people used to privacy," Komarynski said.

When developers sell units, he explained that they don't discriminate against buyers and there are situations when an older couple seeking peace and quiet might share a wall with a younger neighbor who enjoys loud music and woodworking in spare time.

"If that stereo next door is cranked up high enough, you're going to hear it no matter how much insulation is between your two units," Komarynski said.

"Neighbors need to communicate with one another," Goebel agreed.

She also noted that while recreational facilities are often available, there are occasions when one may be more crowded than a resident prefers, and this might discourage him from using the facility when he wishes.

"As with anything else, you can't have your cake and eat it too," Goebel said.

With a variety of condominiums springing up everywhere, prospective buyers need to determine beforehand which complex best suits their particular needs.

Both brokers recommended that interested condo shoppers carefully read through an appealing complex's bylaws, which contain the rules and regulations of that community, before making the decision to purchase a unit.

"Some condominiums are geared toward older people; others don't allow pets; and still others discourage children," Goebel said. "It's important that you understand what type of situation you're headed into. This way you won't be disappointed when you discover that Great Danes aren't permitted as roommates."

Although you as a prospective buyer should ask questions, Komarynski said that there is certain information that condominium developers are required by law to tell you.

"In a model of a unit, the developer must tell you which items are not standard equipment, such as special flooring, carpeting, ceiling beams, moldings, light fixtures, patios or other features," he said.

Once you've decided on a condominium, you will be asked to sign a purchase agreement, which Komarynski explained is not binding until nine days after the developer has delivered all of the following condominium documents to you:

- The recorded master deed, which includes the condominium bylaws and subdivision plans.

- A copy of the purchase and escrow agreements.

- A Condominium Buyers Handbook.

- A Disclosure Statement.

- If you decide not to buy during the nine business day 'cooling-off' period, you may still request and receive your deposit in full, within three business days of cancellation notification," Komarynski said.

He added that a written waiver will close the transaction immediately.

"The agreements and other documents used for the offer and sale of a condominium are different from those used for the offer and sale of other real estate," Goebel noted. "So it's important that prospective buyers seek professional advice or assistance when reviewing these documents."

Since a condominium is a large investment — ranging in price from $20,000 to over $200,000 — asking about your developer's integrity and competence before entering into a binding agreement is the single most important first step.

According to the Condominium Buyers Handbook, the disclosure statement will offer the names and addresses of previous projects with which your developer has been associated; visiting those condominiums and talking with people who live in them will give you a good idea of what the condominium you are considering will be like.

"The best protection in buying a condominium is your own common sense," the handbook advises.

For more information about condominiums, ask for a copy of the Condominium Buyers Handbook at a local real estate agency.

Condominium Buying PITFALLS TO AVOID

The Condominium Buyers Handbook cites the following "pitfalls" that you could conceivably encounter in the purchase of a condominium and offers the safeguards below as steps you can take to avoid them.

Pitfall: Yielding to a high-pressure sales pitch by signing contracts or agreements which you don't fully understand.

Safeguard: Seek professional assistance and carefully review all documents.

Pitfall: Falling for a sales pitch emphasizing the advantages of equity buildup and maintenance-free living, but not pointing out responsibilities of owning a condominium.

Safeguard: Get all the facts and weigh them. There is no landlord to maintain a condominium building; you and other co-owners will collectively be responsible for arranging for the upkeep of your community.

Pitfall: Entering into a binding purchase agreement which does not depend on your being able to obtain a mortgage commitment or acceptable financing.

Safeguard: Don't sign a binding purchase agreement until you've arranged your financing or unless the agreement specifies that it is dependent upon your ability to obtain a mortgage commitment for the condominium you wish to buy.

Pitfall: Assuming you will have to pay only the purchase price before moving into your condominium.

Safeguard: Determine in advance the total amount due at the time you complete the deal. Settlement or closing costs may be included, and some developers charge advance assessments which are due at closing.

Pitfall: Relying on verbal promises regarding such matters as when your unit will be available for occupancy, warranties, stability of monthly assessments and items the developer will install.

Safeguard: If you are promised something, insist that it be put in writing and signed by the person who made the promise.

Pitfall: Assuming that you will not be able to hear your neighbor because your condominium has been "sound conditioned."

Safeguard: Sound conditioning is not the same as sound proofing. It merely means that your developer has taken some steps to reduce the transmission of sound between walls.

Try different varieties of bananas

By Gloria Schwartz

Even small children can point out bananas, though they may stumble on pronouncing all those syllables.

But these days, with the proliferation of varieties, seasoned shoppers have to look twice to see if what they're buying is really a banana or one of its exotic cousins.

Among the varieties you're likely to find in your supermarket's produce section are red bananas, plantains and manzano bananas.

There are differences, as you might expect.

As with apples, some varieties are better cooked or baked, while others are best enjoyed out-of-hand.

The banana was called musa paradisiaca or "fruit of paradise," until it became better-known by its familiar African name.

According to the "Cooks' Encyclopedia," the banana is one of the first fruits to have been brought into cultivation. The Europeans first called them banana figs and, in some instances, the name fig is still attached to the term banana.

The banana has a lot going for it. It's high in potassium and a good source of fiber. It has no cholesterol, very little fat and no saturated fat. It also contains folic acid and vitamin C.

The ordinary banana we all know and love is the yellow cavendish banana. Bitter when green, it is ready to eat when it is yellow and full of brown spots. If it turns mushy before developing brown spots, it is bruised but can still be used for baking. To ripen, allow bananas to stand at room temperature. Some sources say you can refrigerate them after they are ripe, but the taste is not the same.

Among the varieties of bananas finding their way into supermarket produce sections are red bananas

Jim Groves, a produce manager, recommends that red bananas be used for cooking only. "When it is ripe and starting to turn just a bit black, it is right for cooking," says Groves.

Groves says he has tried the red banana raw, and "it has no taste."

However, Frieda Kaplan, whose produce company supplies exotic fruits and vegetables all over the country, says that ripe red bananas have a flavor akin to raspberries.

Red bananas take a long time to ripen, sometimes two to three weeks after purchasing. If you want them to ripen quicker, place them in a brown bag with another fruit, such as an apple.

Red bananas should be soft and easy to peel when ripe. The flavor is slightly sweeter, heartier and more intense than yellow bananas. The price is more intense, too—almost three times the price of the average banana.

Manzano bananas, or finger bananas, are tiny, the size of your finger. They look like midget versions of the traditional yellow variety. They are generally used in cooking.

The burro, also called chunky, banana is short, "the size of three fingers put together," says Groves. They are cooking bananas, used white green.

The plantain, also a cooking banana, is a staple of Latin American and Central American cooking. It has been around a long time, but until recently was found only in Latin American neighborhoods.

According to "Uncommon Fruits and Vegetables" by Elizabeth Schneider, plantains can be eaten at every stage of development. The interior color of the fruit will remain creamy, yellowish or lightly pink, but its flavor will change as it ripens.

When the plantain's peel is green to yellow, the flavor of the flesh is bland and its texture simply starchy. The uses are similar to those of a potato.

"As the peel changes from yellow-brown through black," says Schneider, "plantains play the role of both fruit and vegetable, having a sweetness and banana aroma."

Jackie Moch of Springfield, Ill., is originally from Guatemala, where plantains are an integral part of cooking, she says.

"Plantains can't be eaten raw," she says. Instead, they should be eaten like a starch. "One can't substitute regular bananas for plantains," she says.

"Plantains should be used when they are very dark," says Moch.

Plantains are delicious fried, she says. "Slice them into quarter-inch slices. Fry them in oil. When they are brown, remove from the oil and drain well. Serve with sour cream."

One of the easiest ways to eat a plantain is the way we prepare and eat a baked potato, baked right in the skin.

Plantains require greater dexterity in peeling. First cut off both ends and slice the fruit in half crosswise. Using a sharp knife, score the skin lengthwise along the ridges and carefully peel it away with the fingers sideways, rather than lengthwise like an ordinary banana.

Baked Plantains

Rinse and dry as many plantains as needed, usually figuring 1 medium-size plantain per person. Trim off tips. Cut lengthwise slit in each fruit. Set slit side up in a foil-lined pan and bake at 375 F until creamy tender, about 40 minutes.

When baked, plantains can be peeled and served whole, or separated into lengthwise strips along natural seed divisions, or sliced crosswise in rounds or diagonals.

Adapted from "Uncommon Fruits and Vegetables."

Baked Banana Moch

4 firm bananas (yellow variety)
4 tablespoons lemon juice
8 tablespoons brown sugar
Whipping cream (optional)

Peel bananas. Bake on baking pan at 350 F for 15 minutes. Drizzle with lemon juice and sprinkle on brown sugar. Serve warm with whipped cream on side.

The following dessert is beautiful to serve and relatively easy to prepare. What makes this especially wonderful is the use of freshly ground nutmeg and cloves. You will notice the difference immediately. This recipe uses those bananas on your counter that are about to go bad.

Banana Upside-Down Cake

1 stick (½ cup) unsalted butter, softened
¾ cup sugar
3 cups thinly sliced ripe bananas (about 3 bananas)

1 large egg, beaten lightly
1 teaspoon real vanilla
¾ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon freshly grated nutmeg
¼ teaspoon ground cloves (freshly grated)

1½ cups all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder

¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup apricot preserves, strained

Sweetened, whipped heavy cream as an accompaniment, if desired

Butter 9-inch round or square cake pan, 1½ inches deep, with 2 tablespoons of the butter. Sprinkle with ¼ cup of the sugar (this step is necessary to sweeten bananas).

Arrange banana slices overlapping in concentric circle if pan is round, or in rows if baking pan is square.

In large bowl, cream remaining 6 tablespoons butter, add remaining ½ cup sugar, a little at a time, beating mixture until it is light and fluffy. Beat in egg, vanilla, cinnamon, nutmeg and cloves.

In separate bowl, sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Stir dry mixture into butter mixture, ½ cup at a time, alternately with milk. Stir batter until just combined.

Pour batter carefully over banana slices, making sure you do not upset pattern.

Smooth top of batter and bake cake on baking sheet in middle of preheated 350 F oven for about 40 minutes, or until cake has pulled away from sides of pan. Let cake cool in pan on rack for 20 minutes. Run thin knife around sides of pan, invert cake into serving plate.

In small saucepan melt preserves over low heat, stirring, and brush over cake. Serve cake with whipped cream, if desired.

Around the House Antiques

Is my Victorian side chair valuable?

By James G. McCollam

Q: Enclosed is a picture of an antique maple chair with a cane seat. According to family tradition, it is over 100 years old; it is in excellent condition.

Can you confirm its age and estimate its current value?

A: Your chair is a late Victorian side chair and was made between 1875 and 1890. It would probably sell for about $175 to $200.

Q: Enclosed is the mark on the bottom of my Sevres vase. It is 10 inches tall and is decorated with flowers on a pink and lavender background. There are bands of gold scrollwork around the top and bottom.

I would like to know when this was made and what it might be worth.

A: First, you should be advised that this is not the famous French Sevres; it was made by the Sevres China Co. in East Liverpool, Ohio, during the early 20th century.

It would probably sell for perhaps $65 or $75—about one-tenth the price of original Sevres.

Q: I have a teapot in the Indian Tree pattern made by John Maddock & Sons Ltd.

Can you tell me anything about the Indian Tree pattern and when my teapot was made and its value?

A: Indian Tree is a pattern that features a gnarled tree with various colored flowers in an Oriental style. It was introduced by several British potters in the early 1800s. It is still being made.

Your teapot was made in the early 20th century and would probably sell for about $65 to $75.

Q: I would appreciate anything you are able to tell me about my Mettlach stein, No. 2776. It depicts a man in a wine cellar holding a stein in one hand and some keys in the other. He is standing beside a large keg.

A: Your Mettlach stein was made by Villeroy & Boch in Mettlach, Germany, during the late 1800s.

A dealer would probably price this at $800 to $900.

Q: I have a 1971 Hummel annual plate titled "Heavenly Angel." I have been told that it is worth over $1,000. Can you confirm that?

A: This 1971 Hummel plate sold for $1,300 about 10 years ago. When news of that circulated, hundreds of them came out of homes all over. The price gradually declined to the current dealer price of $500 to $600.

Q: I have a print by Frederick Remington titled "Evening on a Canadian Lake." Since his bronze figures are so valuable, wouldn't this be worth quite a lot?

A: The Collier Publishing Co. printed a large number of Remington's prints during the 1920s. They are not scarce today. Your print would probably sell for about $75 to $85, unframed.

Q: I know that Quezal glass was made by former Tiffany employees and is quite valuable.

I would like to know if the small individual shades used on chandeliers are valuable. I have one marked "Quezal" that measures about 5 inches in diameter. It has a gold iridescent finish.

A: Anything authentically marked "Quezal" is valuable. Small individual shades such as you describe usually sell in the $165 to $185 range.

Q: I have a porcelain figurine of a boy kissing a girl. It is marked with a castle with three turrets and "B & G, Made in Denmark."

Please tell me what you can about its vintage and value.

A: Your figurine was made by Bing & Grondahl in Copenhagen, Denmark, during the early 1900s. There were at least three figurines such as you describe; they all sell in the $75 to $125 range.

Q: What can you tell me about a vase marked with a crown and "Amphora, Austria"?

It is 10 inches tall and is decorated with a woman wearing a crown and a blue dress. The background is a star-filled sky.

A: Your vase was made by the Amphora Works in the Turn-Teplitz area of Austria during the early 1900s.

After World War I this area became part of Czechoslovakia.

A vase such as you describe would probably sell for at least $300.

Q: I think I have a rare collectible. It is a cup and saucer made by Royal Doulton and has a picture of King Edward and Queen Alexandra.

When were these made and how much are they worth?

A: King Edward VII was crowned king of England in 1901. A commemorative cup and saucer like this should sell in the $75 to $100 range.

All British royal family items are collectible, including the present family of Queen Elizabeth II.

Maureen Schiffman performs

—PUPPET— PRIDE

Teaching children the invaluable concept of self-esteem is the goal behind Maureen Schiffman's puppetry.

"I'm best at making kids feel good about themselves," she says.

Schiffman, a Novi resident, travels throughout the U.S. with a unique entourage of puppets, including her favorite — a furry monkey named Coco.

She performs at schools, libraries, children's camps and various community events. Recent appearances included a show at the Novi Library.

Children are magnetically drawn to her bright yellow puppet stage decorated with props that were meant for children's hands to touch — tiny wooden red hearts, a plastic potted windmill. They watch with fascination as the animated puppets draw them into a magical, mystical world of imagination.

The woman behind the puppets uses music, humor and creative motion to teach children to overcome their inhibitions and fears. When performing, Schiffman sometimes selects a quiet or reserved child out of the audience and asks for help in the puppet show. Although hesitant at first, she says most of the kids who assist her with the shows overcome their fears and learn to have fun in front of groups of others.

"We all have a child inside us and I try to appeal to that quality," Schiffman says. "I try to teach kids to stand up for themselves because that's a concept they'll carry with them throughout their lives. Often they're afraid to talk back to adults. I show them it's okay to say whatever they want to as long as they think they're right."

She uses the puppets as vehicles to get her message across. And often Coco makes her look like a fool, just to prove that adults can make mistakes, too.

Ironically, Schiffman never planned to pursue a career in puppetry. As a nursery school teacher in Oak Park, she often created hand puppets from pieces of felt for her pupils to play with.

"One day my girlfriend called and asked me to do a puppet show for a birthday party," Schiffman says. "I brought my guitar and sang 'Old McDonald' and put on a puppet show. The party got such a great response that I've never had to advertise since then."

About 3½ years ago Schiffman quit her job as a nursery school teacher because she couldn't keep her mind off the puppets. Her career has mushroomed from puppet shows at birthday parties to shows at libraries and schools. She has developed ethnic programs for Hispanic children and for kids who speak Hebrew.

"I've always felt at home with kids," she says.

She grew up with music and dance as a child — her father taught ballroom dancing — and she plays the piano, guitar, banjo, mandolin, dulcimer and, yes, even the kazoo.

As her puppet shows gain recognition, Schiffman's musical talents are blossoming, also. With the help of a music producer, she is recording a cassette tape of songs she has written as well as nursery rhymes she sang as a child.

Entering the world of visual technology, Schiffman had one of her summer outdoor performances videotaped. She plans to use the tape as a tool for enticing television executives to begin a regular children's program featuring herself and the puppets.

A venture that began as a one-woman show is steadily growing. Schiffman now uses a secretarial service and a printer to create promotional leaflets and posters. She also discovered a dress designer to create special costumes for her puppets, although she does some of the sewing herself.

Schiffman divides her puppeteering career between spending time with her husband, Len; son, Corey, and pet cat and dog. "I try some of my acts out on them first," she says.

Every step Schiffman takes to further her career teaches her new skills.

"My props are getting bigger and bigger," she says. "I'm getting into stage production now. Before, I used a poster as a backdrop and hid everything behind it. Now I have a house for Coco and use umbrellas to disguise things. I'm becoming more creative."

"The next thing I want to learn is ventriloquism."

One of her newest puppets is a large cut-out of an eccentric, yet loveable gray-haired old woman that stands on its own. The puppet is dressed in intricate detail, from granny-ish wire-rimmed glasses to

Volunteers

Barr assists teens

By DOROTHY NASH

Are you concerned about juvenile delinquency and neglect? If you are and if you live in Novi, you can help decrease both problems by volunteering in Novi Youth Assistance.

It's a program sponsored by Oakland County Probate Court, the City of Novi and the Novi Community School District.

Patti Barr is chairperson, working as liaison between committee members and the community case worker, the only employed person.

Committee members, Barr said, plan and provide activities and programs such as these:

1. Novi Teen Center for resident teenagers in the summertime at the high school commons
2. Overnight or week-long out-of-town camp for 12 to 16 year olds who can't afford to pay for it.

3. Family education through workshops, classes and seminars in parenting skills and other supports for youth.

Barr's involvement in all this is conducting the monthly meetings which she, the case worker, and three other officers plan. Also she is chairperson of the major fund-raisers for Novi Youth Assistance.

The big fund-raiser, she said, is a bowlathon. Participants bowl for free after they have gone from door to door, collecting pledges. Barr arranges for publicity in forms of flyers and posters and she also helps round up door prizes from merchants.

"We had 100 bowlers last year," she said, "and we raised $10,000."

The money, of course, pays for programs offered during the year.

"Novi Youth Assistance is a wonderful organization," she said, "because it helps the community and the kids."

If interested in becoming involved, Barr suggests attending one of the meetings which are held at the Novi Civic Center on the second Wednesday of each month at 7 p.m. And remember, she stressed, you don't have to tie yourself up for all year as a volunteer — some projects and activities are seasonal.

Time for tea?

During the Victorian era, ladies quite regularly socialized during afternoon tea. Re-enacting a scene from a bygone time period, a foursome of Northville ladies recently met at the Atchison House to do as the Victorian women did... chat over steaming cups of tea. Outfitted in elegant teatime attire, from left to right, are Nelda Morrison, Susan Lapine, Diane Mitchell and Doris Purvis. Morrison wears a red print cotton dress accented with white applique trim, complete with a wide-brimmed straw hat. Lapine is wearing an antique white dress highlighted with lace and ribbons and Victorian neck. Mitchell is wearing a lacy white blouse with a Victorian neck and a long black skirt. She completes her ensemble with crocheted gloves, a jeweled brooch and a lacy black shawl with a matching hat. Purvis is outfitted in a long black velvet dress edged in black and white plaid. Her matching hat serves as the perfect resting spot for a white bird. For details about Victorian teas hosted at the Atchison house in celebration of the Victorian Festival, see the story below.

Atchison House hosts Victorian tea

A day in the life of a Victorian lady or gentleman wasn't complete without steaming afternoon tea.

And the Northville Victorian Festival wouldn't truly reflect the spirit of the romantic era without a tea or two of its own. Visitors to the festival certainly won't be disappointed.

Don Mroz and Susan Lapine will host Victorian Tea and Dramatic Readings at the charming Atchison

House on Friday, Sept. 15 and Saturday, Sept. 16 from 3 to 4:30 p.m.

A formal afternoon tea will be served on both days, complete with traditional tea-time foods — cakes, sandwiches and scones — from the library in the Atchison House.

The tea will be followed by dramatic readings by Kathy Leo, who will recite from her book Town One South. She will be accompanied by Tom Rice on guitar. The recitals will be held in the gallery of the Atchison House.

Period dress is encouraged for the tea, but not required. Cost is $10 per person, paid in advance.

Reservations are currently being accepted by phone. Space is limited to 20 people per tea. Call the Atchison House at 349-3340 to make a reservation.

The Atchison House is at 501 W. Dunlap in Northville.

Marquis Theater conducts auditions

There's a lot going on at Northville's Marquis Theater.

Officials at the theater announce that there will be open auditions for children and adults to perform in their holiday show, "Cinderella."

Those auditioning for parts must commit themselves to weekly daytime performances. Actors and actresses will be paid for these positions.

Interested auditioners must have a song prepared in their own key; an accompanist will be provided. They also must be dressed for basic dance movements. The acting portion of the audition will consist of cold readings from the script, an original adaptation.

Non-singing roles are also available.

Children's auditions will be held Sept. 9 from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Adult auditions will be held Sept. 11 from 7 to 10 p.m. All auditions take place at the Marquis Theater, 135 E. Main St. in downtown Northville.

On Sept. 13, qualified actors and actresses will be called back for follow-up auditions.

Upcoming productions include performances of "The Foreigner," a comedy by Larry Shue.

The play involves the story of a refined, introverted British accountant who is brought to a small town in Georgia to relax and forget his troubles. He then meets an unlikely group of people, and the story progresses from there.

A champagne opening for "The Foreigner" will be held at 8 p.m. Friday, Sept. 8. Tickets are $9 per person for the opening.

Other performance dates are Sept. 9, 10, 15, 16, 17, 22, 23, and 24.

Friday performances are at 8 p.m., with tickets priced at $9. Saturday performances are at 8 p.m., with tickets priced at $10. Sunday performances begin at 2:30 p.m., with tickets priced at $9.

Tickets can be purchased in advance by credit card by calling 349-8110. They also may be purchased at the door or from the Marquis stores, 135 E. Main St., Northville.

Center hosts meeting

The Women's Resource Center at Schoolcraft College announces a Project Hers orientation on Sept. 8 from 1-3 p.m. at the college.

Project Hers is a program designed to make entry into the work force possible and less traumatic for women. Financial aid is available to cover the cost of tuition for those who are displaced homemakers or single parents who lack adequate job skills.

Aid is also available to women on public assistance.

Displaced homemakers are people who have worked in the home most of their lives, lost their source of income due to death, disability, desertion, divorce or separation.

Schoolcraft College is at 18600 Haggerty Rd., between Six and Seven Mile roads, in Livonia.

Volunteers sought for second annual Christmas Walk

By BRENDA DOOLEY

It's a wee bit early to start singing Christmas carols, but never too early to begin planning the holiday season.

Ruth Simmons, chairperson of Northville's second annual Christmas Walk, is looking for volunteers to help make holiday ornaments and assist in preparations for the festive event.

The Christmas Walk is held at Mill Race Village. Dates for this year's walk are Nov. 18-19 and Nov. 24, 25 and 26.

Cost for admission to the Christmas Walk is $5, which includes a chance for a prize drawing. Prizes will consist of Victorian ornaments, holiday trees and other Christmas items.

Workshops will begin Sept. 12 and continue every Tuesday and Thursday until Nov. 16. The informational, creative workshops start at 10:30 a.m. at the New School Church in Mill Race Village, where interested volunteers will have a chance to create Christmas decorations and ornaments and to assist with other projects.

Those interested in lending a hand to the Christmas Walk are encouraged to call Simmons at 349-1102 or Sally at the Northville Historical Society office from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at 348-1845.

Ball tickets still available

Tickets are still available for Northville's Victorian Costume Ball on Saturday, Sept. 16.

Laurie Marrs, executive director of the Northville Chamber of Commerce and an organizer of the festival, said Tuesday afternoon that tickets for the ball are selling rapidly, so those planning to attend the festive event shouldn't wait to make reservations.

The ball takes place beneath a tent from 7:30 to 11:30 p.m. at historic Mill Race Village off Griswold Street.

Tickets are $30 per person, which includes a light supper catered by Edwards Caterer in Northville, two drink tickets for beer or wine, a souvenir ball card (similar to a dance card), entertainment, and an informational packet describing what to wear to the ball as well as guidelines for ballroom etiquette.

Festival organizers recommend that anyone planning to attend the ball take part in afternoon dance workshops hosted by Stephens. The informational workshops will be held from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. or 1:30 to 3 p.m. on Saturday, Sept. 16, at Mill Race Village. At the workshops, participants will learn how to master dance steps such as the prelude waltz, the quadrille, the Viennese waltz, and a country dance, among others.

Those interested in attending the ball must make reservations by calling the Northville Chamber of Commerce at 349-7640 or Edwards Caterer at 344-1550. Reservations are limited.

Stylists at Margo's of Northville are specializing in Victorian hairstyles appropriate for the ball. Also, information about costumes to wear to the event is available at the Northville Public Library.

Friends of Northville Library plans dinner

Good food and good company will be offered when Friends of the Northville Public Library presents its sixth annual benefit dinner on Monday, Sept. 25 at 7 p.m.

Members are inviting a special guest to speak to participating diners. But they can't divulge the name of the speaker just yet.

This popular event is the group's main fund-raiser of the year and will be hosted by Toni and John Genitti at their Hole-in-the-Wall Restaurant in downtown Northville.

Dinner will consist of Genitti's famous seven-course Italian meal.

Although the speaker's name must remain a mystery for now, we can tell you it will be a well-known sports journalist. We'll give you more information as it becomes available.

Tickets are $20 per person and can be purchased by members of Friends of the Northville Public Library first. The tickets will then be available to the general public on a first-come, first-served basis.

Reservations are limited. Interested participants may sign up for reservations on a list at the library desk. For more information call Geraldine Mills at 349-1648.

Gardeners to attend fall annual meeting

The Fall Council Meeting of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association is Oct. 27-29 at the Valley Forge Hilton in Pennsylvania.

As the site of the meeting, the hotel is located about 20 minutes from Philadelphia. Cost of the trip is $72 per room, per night for single or double occupancy. Reservations must be made by Oct. 13, by calling (215) 337-1200 or sending a reservation form to: Reservations Manager, Valley Forge Hilton, 251 W. DeKalb Pike, King of Prussia, PA 19406.

Check-in time is 2 p.m. Friday, Oct. 27. Registration will be held from 2-4 p.m., followed by committee meetings at 8:30 p.m. The schedule for Saturday, Oct. 28, includes a buffet breakfast from 7:30-8:30 a.m.; the first session of the council meeting at 9 a.m.; a luncheon at Chadd's Ford Inn and a tour of Brandywine Valley at 11:15 a.m.; followed by dinner at 7 p.m. Events on Sunday, Oct. 29, include a buffet breakfast from 7:30-8:30 a.m.; the second session of the council meeting from 9-11 a.m.; and check-out at noon.

Total cost of meals and the tour is $84. Reservations for this package also must be made prior to Oct. 13, by sending a check for $84 to: Mrs. J.P. Ziegler, 73 Oak Ridge Avenue, Summit, NJ 07901. The check should be made payable to WNF&GA Inc. Fall Council Meeting.

Local garden clubs win awards

Closer to home, local garden clubs — The Northville Branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association and the Country Girls Branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association — won awards at the 75th annual meeting of the WNF&GA held in Washington, D.C.

The Country Girls Branch won first place for community service and yearbooks in its division, while the Northville Branch won first place for conservation-ecology and marketing in its division.

Northville Newcomers plans events

Northville Newcomers kicks off a full season of activities with three upcoming events.

The annual Northville Newcomer Alumni Fall Membership Luncheon is Sept. 7 from 11:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the home of Marcia Booth, 18920 Edenderry Drive, Northville. Chairpersons of the event are Marcia Booth, Marcia Stevens, Caryn Doehler and Sue Cipicchio.

Reservations will be accepted through Sept. 5. To make reservations call Doehler at 348-3872 or Stevens at 349-2682.

Lunch will be provided by the group's alumni treasury. Ideas for activities during the 1989-1990 year will be discussed at the afternoon event.

Newcomers to the area are invited to attend the Northville Newcomers Fall Membership Coffee, Sept. 7 at 7:30 p.m. at the First United Methodist Church of Northville. The church is at Eight Mile and Taft roads in Northville. Chairpersons of the membership coffee are Bev Price and Glenda Jones.

An invitation is extended to all ladies living within the Northville School District boundaries for five years or less to attend the fall membership coffee.

Board members from the Newcomers will be present at the coffee to explain about various club events, including Ladies Day and couples monthly events. Annual dues are $15.

Membership to the Newcomers provides activities in more than 35 interest groups, ranging from crafts and bridge to golf and theater. Members also receive a monthly newsletter to keep them updated on what is happening in Northville and surrounding communities.

For more information call Jody Chapman, membership chairperson, at 349-5632 or Gini Britton, president, at 344-1021.

Victorian costumes

Still not sure what to wear to the Victorian Festival? We're trying to make it a little easier by featuring real people in real costumes. Left, Terry Marrs models the perfect picnic outfit for men while standing on the porch of the Atchison House — a white shirt with a striped bow tie, dark suspenders and navy pants. His outfit displays true "picnic flavor," complete with a boater to shade his eyes from the sun. Meanwhile, Laurie Marrs, above, is met by her escort, (for the purpose of this photo, at least) Don Mroz, on the steps of the Atchison House as they prepare for the Victorian Ball. Marrs is dressed in a full-length teal gown with a Victorian waist and puffed sleeves that can be worn on- or off-the-shoulder. Her white beaded necklace lends the perfect Victorian touch. Mroz wears a black and white striped shirt tied with a black ascot, a black vest and matching tuxedo pants. He shows his escort that he's ready for an elegant evening by wearing a black top hat. For more details about the picnic, see the story at right. For more details about the Victorian Ball, see page 3-D.

Picnic planned in Victorian Festival

Picture this . . . Victorian ladies shading themselves with summer parasols, escorted by men donning dashing boaters.

The peaceful afternoon is marked by families and friends comfortably seated on colorful blankets spread on the lush green lawn. They're gathered for a Sunday picnic.

The laughter of children carries through the warm breeze as kids amably compete in a variety of games.

Sound too good to be true? It's not. Residents are invited to take part in an old-fashioned Victorian picnic right here in Northville on Sunday, Sept. 17.

One of the featured events of the Northville Victorian Festival (Sept. 15-17), the picnic begins at noon at Mill Race Village. Festival organizers are striving to capture the atmosphere of the Victorian era and ask that participants dress in Victorian costumes; however, costumes are not mandatory.

The event was planned to provide relaxed, turn-of-the-century fun and leisure.

Highlights of the picnic include a celebrity box lunch auction, featuring local celebrities. Northville "stars" taking part in the event will be asked to create a lunch that reflects their personalities. The lunches will then be sold to the highest bidder during an afternoon auction. Proceeds from the auction will be donated to the Friends of the Northville Library.

Those attending the picnic must bring their own picnic lunch, place setting and a blanket. Food and picnic items will not be sold at Mill Race Village on the day of the event. Entertainment will be provided by an authentic Victorian band.

Free Victorian games will be provided for children, sponsored by the Northville Community Recreation Department. Featured games include peach-basket basketball, tug-of-war, a women's shoe toss, arm wrestling, wheelbarrow races and a penny toss, just to name a few.

St. Paul's Lutheran to offer adult classes

St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Northville will host a Pastor's Adult Information Class.

The class will begin Sept. 14 at 7:30 p.m. in the eighth-grade classroom of the educational building of the church. St. Paul's Lutheran Church is at 201 Elm St. in Northville, behind Hardee's.

The class meets once a week for 12 weeks. The course is free, informal, and without any obligation. It is led by Pastor T. Lubeck. Purpose of the class is to provide inquirers the opportunity to discuss the basic teachings of Christianity, particularly as they are understood by Lutherans.

Topics include "Who is God?" "What is He like?" "Who is Jesus?" "What does the Holy Spirit do?" "Eternal life — is it possible?" and "Is church necessary?" Other discussion topics include baptism, the Bible, and the Lord's supper.

The public is invited. For more information call 349-3140.

Caroline Dunphy displays a few new paintings at her Northville studio

A painter in Paris

Dunphy visits Monet's French garden

By BRENDA DOOLEY

Flowers in soothing shades of pink, purple and rose delicately bloom against the white background of a painter's canvas.

The watercolor blossoms were created by the hand of Northville artist Caroline Dunphy, who spent nearly two weeks in France this July, where she fulfilled a dream of painting in Claude Monet's garden.

"I sat on benches Monet sat in while he painted, and that was exciting," Dunphy recalled last week in her comfortable Center Street gallery and studio known as Painter's Place. "I painted furiously while I was there, because I wanted to capture as much as I could."

Rather than sharing her travel experiences by showing her friends and relatives an array of snapshots, Dunphy relates her impressions by displaying her paintings. She can show you a historic French chateau she stayed in with her husband, Bill. The chateau, of course, is created in watercolor.

"It was as much like a castle as you could want," Dunphy said. "Royalty used to go there to hunt."

There are also paintings of flower markets, colorful cabanas on a beach, bright reddish orange poppies in wheat fields, and Norman cows grazing lazily in a field.

Dunphy collected a lot of memories to paint. She traveled to Normandy to visit places where impressionists have historically painted. And she climbed a winding staircase leading to the top of a clock bell tower to paint a cathedral Monet included in several of his paintings.

Most of the hours since Dunphy has returned to Northville have been occupied with painting from a sketch book she kept while traveling.

"I'm trying to paint as many pictures as I can," she said.

Dunphy's paintings will be highlighted during the Northville Victorian Festival (Sept. 15-17), when she will set up a booth in front of Painter's Place. Inside the studio she will display her watercolor impressions of Paris and Normandy. Outside, beneath a canopy, she will exhibit paintings of Northville.

The show will continue through Sept. 22. Hours of the exhibit will be from noon to 9 p.m. on Fridays and from noon to 5 p.m. Saturday through Thursday.

Dunphy has been painting in Northville for 17 years. She graduated from Wayne State University, where she studied art. She had intended to pursue a career as an art teacher, but discovered that she enjoyed painting for herself.

Initially, most of her artwork was created with oil paints, but for the past 10 years Dunphy has switched to watercolor.

"I think I'm best at watercolor," she said. "I've developed my technique."

What is her favorite subject matter to paint? Flowers. And like Monet, she has a garden that she paints.

Her other hobbies include gardening, reading, traveling and learning about herbs. She also enjoys spending time with her grandchildren, Megan, 7, and Caitlin, 1½.

Recently, five of Dunphy's paintings were selected as part of Beaumont Hospital's collection. She was also a finalist in the Detroit Institute of Art's "Art and Flowers" show in 1987.

"I'm looking forward to sharing my experiences with others."

Local puppeteer promotes pride

beads around the neck. Based on the story and song of the old woman who swallowed a fly, the puppet was specially built for Schiffman by a friend, enabling her to slip cardboard cut-outs of insects and other items into the woman's mouth. The cut-outs then mysteriously slide into the puppet's see-through stomach, where delighted children can see for themselves that the old woman, indeed, swallowed a fly.

Schiffman performs the skit by singing the children's song and interacting with her young audience.

Another puppet in Schiffman's collection is "Olivia the Ostrich," a bright yellow fluffy, feathered friend that tries with all her might to fly. Olivia tells the children that it's a written fact that birds of her kind aren't supposed to fly, but she's going to try anyway. And the bird tries to fly.

She asks the children to help her by using the power of positive thinking. Magically, when the children use their imaginations and cheer her along, Olivia shakily gets off the ground.

Using the bird as an example, Schiffman — as Olivia the Ostrich — tells the children that they might not always be the best at things they try to do, but that their fears shouldn't stop them from trying. By focusing her energies and attention on the puppets, her audience often forgets that Schiffman is even there.

Libraries, schools and private parties aren't Schiffman's only avenue of showcasing her talents. Special shows she has performed included a birthday party for a girl who had leukemia. She also developed a show especially for children in the hospital, complete with puppets that had bandaged limbs and one that was hooked up to an intravenous solution.

She's performed for a pajama party for 450 kids at a preschool and at Scamp, a camp for physically and mentally impaired children.

"That was a really neat experience for me," Schiffman recalls. "Translators there interpreted the show in sign language for the hearing impaired."

"I invited some of the hearing impaired kids to play instruments and visually impaired kids to work the puppets. It was great to be able to give them a chance to do that," Schiffman says.

Without hesitation, Schiffman says the most gratifying part about any of her shows is interacting with the children.

"If I can help children feel good about themselves — that's the most satisfying thing for me," she says.

Renaissance Festival draws crowds

By BRENDA DOOLEY

Like pages in a historic novel, heroic knights in shining armor rescue beautiful damsels in distress. Meanwhile, children hunt for hidden treasures, youths dance the maypole, and medieval men duel for the pleasure of winning a lass's attention.

In the wooded village of Hollygrove, visitors to the Michigan Renaissance Festival — which runs weekends through Sept. 24 — have a chance to enjoy continuous entertainment by over 200 costumed revelers. Ongoing activities include crafts, games and festival foods.

The festival enters its 10th year of providing medieval entertainment this year. Every year it gains popularity, drawing bigger and bigger crowds.

According to Barbara Logan, marketing director for the Michigan Renaissance Festival, opening weekend for the event Aug. 12 attracted about 16,000 visitors this year — 22 percent more visitors than last year's turnout.

"Every year we attract more people — when the first Renaissance Festival was held in Michigan in 1980, a crowd of 11,000 people came," Logan estimated. "Last year there were 130,000 visitors. There's a lot to see and do."

The annual event is operated by Festivals Inc., a company that runs four other Renaissance Festivals throughout the country, according to Logan. The largest of the festivals takes place in Minnesota, annually attracting about 350,000 visitors.

Although they're held in different locations, the Renaissance Festivals are run at the same time of the year. In Michigan, the festival is held on a wooded clearing one mile north of Mt. Holly on Dixie Highway (U.S. 10), between Pontiac and Flint.

Festival organizers purchased a nine-acre parcel of land at the location "to give the Michigan Renaissance Festival a permanent home," Logan said.

"People who haven't visited the festival in recent years will be surprised by how much we've grown," she added. Additions include an expanded horse jousting arena and the Rose Stage. There are a total of five stages included in the authentic village, providing entertainers the perfect forum in which to perform.

Each weekend of the festival features a different theme. On Sept. 2-4, for example, the theme is "Fool's Fantasy," when festival-goers will have a chance to cheer for their favorite villagers as the Peasant Olympics begin. Games include "Press-A-Wench," "Tote-A-Block" and "Sot-Putt," providing pure 16th-century merriment.

"Harvest of Fantasy" is the theme for the festival Sept. 9-10, when events will include a hunt for golden apples, grape stomping and other exotic edibles. The "World of Leonardo Da Vinci" will be celebrated during the Sept. 16-17 weekend, when the search begins for a Mona Lisa look alike. The festival concludes with a weekend of music and dance on Sept. 23-24.

Featured foods — all meant to be hand held — include turkey drumsticks, sausage on a stick, and apple dumplings. Beverages sold at the festival range from lemonade and cider to ale and wine. Visitors will even have a chance to sip ale at Watneys Pub, where frothy libations have been brewed in the old English tradition.

The festival's array of artisans is growing, also. More than 150 artists and crafters offer wares for sale — choose from weaving, pottery, wood-working, blown glass, jewelry and herbs.

The New Riders of the Golden Age perform three times daily in a new horse jousting arena, playfully vying for the honor of being named "knight."

Adult tickets are $8.95 at the gate or $7.75 in advance at Great Scott Supermarkets, Kessel Food Markets, participating Total gas stations and the festival office, 700 E. Maple in Birmingham. Tickets for children 5-12 are $3.95 at the gate, $3 in advance. Children under 5 are free.

Group and motor coach tickets can be purchased by calling the festival office at 645-9640.

City summer concert series concludes will be demonstrated, including cider making, harvesting, corn shucking, apple paring, and horse-drawn plowing. The events will take place at Greenfield Village.

There is no additional charge to view the activities beyond the regular admission charge. Admission for the museum and village is separate. Cost for adults is $9.50; senior citizens 62 and over, $8.50; children 5-12, $4.75. Hours for both the museum and village are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily.

UPCOMING COMEDY — "Driving Miss Daisy," the 1988 Pulitzer Prize comedy, opens the Birmingham Theater's 1989-90 season Sept. 19 through Oct. 22. It stars Rosemary Prinz and Ted Lange and is directed by Charles Nelson Reilly. Performances are Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays at 8 p.m.; Sundays at 7 p.m.; Fridays and Saturdays at 8 p.m., matinees on Sundays and Wednesdays at 2 p.m. Tickets are $14 to $26 and are available beginning Sept. 5 at the Birmingham Theater Box Office and all Ticketmaster outlets. For more information call 644-3533.

FURNITURE EXHIBIT — One of the nation's most comprehensive collections of 20th century furniture has been contributed to the Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village by Herman Miller Inc. of Zeeland.

Selections from the collection will be on exhibit in the Henry Ford Museum from Sept. 29 through February 1991.

OPEN AUDITIONS — Plymouth Symphony Orchestra announces open auditions for the 1989-90 season for the concertmaster, principal second violin, assistant principal cello, tuba and all string sectional players — violin, viola, cello and bass.

Each audition will run about 20 minutes in the choir room of the Phase III building of the Plymouth-Canton High School. Audition dates are Aug. 28 from 7:30-10 p.m.; and Sept. 9 from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. To schedule an audition time call William Hulsker, personnel manager, at 925-8143 or the Plymouth Symphony office at 451-2112.

Auditioners must be prepared to play a brief solo of their choice, displaying current proficiency. Orchestra rehearsals begin Sept. 11.

TEAPOTS — Swidler Gallery in downtown Royal Oak will host an opening reception for its newest exhibit, "The Expressive Teapot," on Sept. 9 from 6:30 to 10 p.m.

The opening celebration will mark the beginning of a 29-day exhibit of 65 ceramic teapots designed by 65 American and Canadian artists.

The gallery is in Washington Square Plaza at Fourth and Washington in Royal Oak. Hours are Tuesday-Thursday 10-6, Friday, 10-9, Saturday 10-5, and by appointment. For more information call 542-4880.

Talented Novi gridgers go after fourth title

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN
staff writer

Before you listen to Novi football coach John Osborne complain that his Wildcats are down in numbers for '89 and that the team has very little depth, just remember — the team that came within a whisker of advancing to the Michigan Class A Finals last fall is loaded with talented players.

As a matter of fact, Novi returns more starters this season than it did heading into last season. With premier players like Bob Ahrens, Craig Berry, Jason Wladischkin and Mike Yankowski all returning, the 'Big Green Machine' — a program that's won more than 87 percent of its games since 1986 — has to be the favorites to accomplish the unthinkable: four straight Kensington Valley Conference titles.

It's gotten to the point where to win the KVC, you must beat the Wildcats — and nobodys been able to do that since October 25, 1985.

"We feel good about the players we have and we feel we are a contender for the KVC championship, but we still have a lot of work to do," Osborne said. "I think we're, maybe, further away from being a solid team than we thought we'd be at this point. It's just a matter of finding the right guys for the right positions."

Novi returns six starters on offense and three on defense from last year's 10-2 squad. But according to Osborne, several of those returnees will find themselves as different positions in '89 as the Wildcat coaching staff struggles to find some depth.

"We're running into the same problem we have every year: playing too many guys both ways," Osborne admitted. "We only have 38 on the varsity roster, and that number is down, so our lack of depth is something we will have to develop."

Anchoring both the offensive and defensive lines is mammoth 'Big' Bob Ahrens — a starter since he was a sophomore. The muscle-bound, 6-foot-4, 250-pounder has outstanding mobility and quickness for a big man and according to Osborne, he entered camp in the best shape of his career. This All-Conference and All-Area selection will start at offensive tackle and defensive end.

"There's no doubt 'Big' Bob has great size and strength," he said. "I like to call him a Division I college prospect. Big doesn't necessarily mean good, but Bob is both big and good. I expect him to be dynamite this season."

The rest of a veteran offensive line includes senior guards Jeff O'Neill (6-0, 182) and Mike Schultz (6-1, 184), imposing center Randy Thompson (6-1, 250) and tackle Doug Gillespie (6-1, 195). O'Neill is the only returning starter of the bunch, but Schultz and Gillespie are returning letterwinners who have waited their turn and have been very impressive in early workouts.

"Gillespie and Shultz have really shown up for their senior seasons," Osborne said.

Thompson missed all of last season with a knee injury but he's back and primed for a dominating year. If any of the top linemen go down with injuries, junior Scott Vermillion (6-0, 220) and senior Bob Bates (6-0, 220) are waiting in the wings.

"Randy is a very good athlete and he's very strong," Osborne said. "He looks real good so far and he's a smart kid."

The backfield situation is much more uncertain, but the talent is certainly abundant. The top running back is undoubtedly senior speedster Craig Berry (5-6, 155), who may be one of the most explosive players ever to come out of the KVC. Academic problems threatened his season but after attending summer school, he is fully eligible and ready to replace All-Stater Scott Wladischkin, who gained nearly 1,500 yards in '88. A year ago, Berry was mainly a receiver, but he's best suited as a runner.

"I don't think it's a secret, Berry is a very exciting player," Osborne agreed. "He's had good practices so far and he appears ready. We'd like to get him the ball as much as possible — even though he's small, he's so illusive, nobody seems to get a solid shot on him."

Osborne also plans on using several more runners in the backfield. Senior Mike Yankowski (6-1, 203) was the starting tight end a year ago but will probably share time at fullback with senior Matt Konedá (6-0, 175) this season.

"Mike is deceptively fast (4.8 seconds in the 40-yard dash) and he's a very strong runner," Osborne said. "Konedá is one of the fastest guys on the team."

Berry's top back-up will be Jason Wladischkin (5-10, 170), who was the second-string runner in '88 as a sophomore.

Replacing Ken Hendrian's spot at quarterback will be senior Chris Weldon (6-1, 170), who was the former number-one back-up. Osborne is comfortable with Weldon but also has junior signalcaller Jeff Schram (6-2, 175) on the roster.

CHRIS BOYD

Massive Novi tackle 'Big' Bob Ahrens (79) is a legitimate Division I college prospect

"Chris has already locked up the position," Osborne said. "He's paid his dues and he's worked very hard in the off-season. He executes well, he has the good ballhandling ability and he's improving."

The receiving corps includes returning starter Bryan Jacobs (5-9, 140), who missed four games last year with a broken hand, junior Mike Gowans (5-8, 145) — up from the J.V. — and tight ends Brad Lewis (6-0, 170) and Heath Ruck (5-9, 165).

"I expect our offense will be a strength," Osborne said. "I'm counting on being able to move the football."

Joining Ahrens at the other defensive end spot will be Konedá, who started three playoff games in place of the injured Daren Johnson. Giant junior Aaron Federspiel (6-8, 240) and Bates — who was injured in '88 — are also prospects. Shultz and Gillespie are the leading candidates at defensive tackle, but Dan Pigeon (5-8, 155) and Thompson are also in the picture.

"It used to be if you have a couple guys over 200 pounds, you were doing OK," Osborne noted. "This year have five guys over 220."

The middle linebacker spot will go to Yankowski, who started several games there a year ago and is the spittin' image of his older brother Mike, who started for the 'Cats several seasons ago. He will be flanked by Jeff O'Neill and either Brad Lewis or senior Jim Marshall (6-0, 175) on the outside.

The only returning regular in the secondary is Jason Wladischkin, who had a fine sophomore year at strong safety before an injury cut his season short. Berry will probably join him as the other safety, with Ruck and Gowans as the cornerbacks. Senior Ryan Devereaux (5-9, 155) will also challenge for a spot at the corner.

The Wildcat kicking tandem of Konedá (kicker) and Berry (punter) is also back in tact.

"I am definitely optimistic, but we'll have to stay clear of injuries or depth will be a problem," Osborne said. "I think the KVC race will be us and South Lyon, but you can't overlook anybody."

New faces lead Wildcat netters

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN
staff writer

With three Kensington Valley Conference titles in the last four years, it would be crazy to suggest that the Novi netters may not be a legitimate contender in '89.

Under the guidance of mentor Jim Hanson, the Novi girls' program is one of the most dominating in the KVC, and there's no reason to think any of that will change this fall. Heavy graduation losses leave Hanson with only two regulars returnees from a year ago, but that statistic is a bit deceiving.

"We have a lot of new faces up from the junior varsity, but last year there wasn't a big difference in the talent level of the J.V. and varsity. We went with the upperclassmen last year, but now, the players moving up are hungry and ready to prove themselves."

The group Hanson is talking about is very young, very talented and they are coming off an undefeated season. They've been very impressive in early practice and that's why Hanson is optimistic.

"I'm very happy with what I see," he said.

The top returnee is senior Rita Kang, who was a member of the No. 1 doubles team that won the KVC title last fall. Hanson isn't sure where she'll be playing, but her strengths indicate another stellar year in doubles.

"Rita may see some singles action, but it's hard to take her out of the doubles line-up because she is such a good doubles player," Hanson said. "She is very smart. She really understands how to play the game."

The other returnee is senior Cherie Brown, who was on the No. 2 doubles team in '88 that grabbed runner-up honors at the KVC Meet. At this time, Hanson is think of pairing her with Kang, giving Novi an almost automatic victory in the No. 1 doubles match.

"Cherie's game has improved," he said. "She's very athletic and I think her and Rita would make a great team."

The top singles slot will probably

CHRIS BOYD

Natalino Scapatucci is half of Novi's outstanding goaltender tandem

Can rookie coach revive Ladycats?

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN
staff writer

With offensive-machines like Sue Rasinski and Lisa McCathey playing for the Novi girls basketball program in the 1980s, the Wildcats could often times outscore opponents. But in '89, first-year coach Chris Drogosche doesn't have the kind of offensive threat, so Novi will have to do the job at the defensive end in order to be successful.

Drogosche comes to Novi after a very successful stint at Waterford Our Lady of the Lakes, but only one returning starter is back from last year's disastrous 2-10 campaign. But with hard work in the off-season — especially this summer — Drogosche believes he can turn things around and establish a base for future winning.

"I took the job in June and we've worked hard ever since," he said. "We've been to two camps and we've played in a summer league, so it's given us some good groundwork. I'm very excited about the potential this team has, but we are very young and it will take time."

The lone returning regular is forward Adrienne Miskovich (5-foot-9), who is the team captain and the only senior on the roster. Miskovich had a solid season a year ago, but the scoring burden will be on her much of the season.

"We're not a big team physically, so Adrienne will have to rebound for us," Drogosche said. "I would think she'd be our leading scorer, but she'll need some help. She's very aggressive and she has some good

STEVE MEGESI

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN
staff writer

All the years of frustration may be paying off. All the battling, and losing, to more experienced programs may be a thing of the past for the Novi boys soccer squad.

Coming off a school-record 11-3-4 regular season, the '89 Wildcats are primed for new heights with returning starters at all the important areas: defense, midfield, goaltending and forward positions. In all, Novi Coach Nick Valenti has 11 seniors on his roster — many with extensive varsity experience — as the 'Cats make their first real assault at the Kensington Valley Conference title.

"I'm very happy so far," Valenti said. "Having such a senior-oriented team may make a big difference. The guys are a year older, they are more confident and more consistent."

Last season, the Wildcats were the runner-up to Brighton in the KVC's inaugural soccer season. In fact, the Bulldogs were the only conference team to beat Novi in '88. With such an impressive group of returnees, the 'Cats won't settle for anything less than the KVC championship.

"We're shooting for the KVC title — no doubt about it," Valenti said. "It's our first and only goal."

Novi returns one of the top 1-2 goaltending duos around in Natalino Scapatucci (Sr.) and Kevin Mitzel (Jr.). The two shared time in the net last season and unless one of the two is able to break the tie, the system will remain in place in '89.

"They went half-and-half and it worked out well," Valenti said. "We'll probably stick with that again. I put these two goalies up against any tandem in the state. Most teams would be grateful to have one good goalie — we have two guys who can do the job at anytime."

Two of the three fullback starters are also back, making the Wildcat defense a talented, experienced group. Kevin Smith (Sr.) and Jeff Watson (Sr.) will be back at their wing-defense positions, with junior Jack Abate taking over in the middle. Abate starred for the junior varsity before moving up to the varsity late in the season. He also played for a Michigan soccer team that toured Europe this summer, and is a much improved player.

Our defense is going to be an area of strength," Valenti said. "They are all very determined, game-savvy kind of players with good intelligence."

The midfield will be anchored by senior captain Keith Parmley, who's been a starter for Novi since he was a freshman. Parmley is recognized as the 'Cats top play-maker, so midfield is the position to best utilize his talents.

"Keith is a very talented, complete player," Valenti said. "He's a key to our playmaking — he's very important to our offense. At midfield, he gets a lot of action."

The other starters at midfield will probably be junior Phil York and sophomore Tony Scapatucci. Both joined Abate on the playing tour of Europe and both have some varsity experience. York is a returning forward starter and Scapatucci was promoted from the J.V. late season. Senior Jim Maisonville, who played for the reserves in '88, is also a strong candidate for playing time at midfield.

"York brought back from Europe a stronger love for the game," Valenti said. "He is a very quick, talented player. Scapatucci is the only sophomore on the roster."

Senior Dan Sitts is the top offensive player who is back in the fold for '89. He will be joined up front by Chris Wenzara (Jr.) and Steve Mitzel (Sr.). Wenzara split time as one of the regular wingers last year and Mitzel was a spot-starter.

"Sitts is in very good shape and he really has a lot of stamina," Valenti said. "He can wear down the opponents as the game wears on."

The remaining four players — Brad Morrow, Rob Redmond, T.J. Modelski and Jeff Grabowski — are all seniors. They are expected to provide depth in the forward/midfield ranks.

"In time, if you don't panic, your patient and you work hard, eventually things work out," Valenti said.

"We've been through some tough times but last season was the first time it really started to paying off. We plan to continue to improve this season."

Megesi to pace golf squad

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN
staff writer

Novi doesn't have a great winning tradition when it comes to golf. In '88, the Wildcats had a mediocre 3-6 dual meet record but at the same time set a school record with a 3-3 mark in the Kensington Valley Conference.

It may not sound like much, but Novi Coach John Peace is making strides with the program and hopes that this fall will mark the first time a Wildcat team can become a real contender for the KVC crown.

"I think we'll be competitive," Peace said. "We have a shot at winning it, but I think the team to beat is Milford. I'll tell you this, we can make things happen this year."

Peace is optimistic because five of his top six linksters are returning from last year and the standouts from an undefeated junior varsity squad are also moving up. The only player lost to graduation was Brent Norton, who was a first-team All-Conference selection.

"We'll be able to shoot in the 160-170 range this year as a team and we'll be much improved," Peace predicted. "The kids who showed some sparks of brilliance last year will have to step up and be more consistent and do it everyday for us. One of the big differences is we have some depth."

The top performer will undoubtedly be junior Steve Megesi, who had Novi's top 18-hole average in a year ago (83.3). Megesi has been a solid player for Peace since he was a freshman, but he'll be counted on this season to provide more leadership — and consistent sub-40 scores for nine holes.

"Steve is definitely one of our better golfers," Peace said. "He's been pretty steady since he was a freshman, but this year he'll have a little more pressure to deal with. He should be under 40 on a regular basis."

The rest of the regulars back for another season are Mike Malloy (Sr.), Jim Dillon (Jr.) and Kelly Justus (Sr.). Malloy broke 40 on several occasions in '88 and Peace is looking for more of the same. To do that, he'll have to overcome his biggest hurdle — inconsistencies. Dillon may be the team's top putter, but according to Peace, he needs to improve on his iron game in order to register some low rounds. Justus was the number five man in the line-up last year and is also capable of scoring in the low 40s.

Senior Brian Yono was Novi's number eight man as a junior and didn't earn a varsity letter, but he's worked hard on his game in the off-season and should be among the top six players when the campaign gets underway. Sophomore Steve Schultz is primed to make the jump up from the junior varsity ranks and he has the ability to crack the starting group.

If football games are, indeed, won in the trenches, then the Northville gridders are in store for a successful campaign.

But coach Darrel Schumacher must find a way to win without a host of other standouts who have been lost to graduation. The Mustangs graduated the best group of seniors in Schumacher's four-year tenure — nine of which will be playing college ball this fall — and that leaves Northville with quite a few holes, with only young, inexperienced players on the wings.

"We lost a lot of starters, so we'll be inexperienced in some areas — that's our major problem," Schumacher said. "Replacing such a fine senior class will be very difficult, but these kids have a good attitude, they are working hard and so far we are optimistic."

Without extraordinary depth, the Mustangs must find a way to avoid serious injuries. The squad is faced with a very difficult schedule that includes the top to teams from the Kensington Valley Conference (Novi and South Lyon) along with WLLA powers like Farmington Harrison and Plymouth Salem.

"At this point, we're not deep, and that's a concern," Schumacher admitted. "We're quite young and if we have a few injuries, it will put us in a bind."

"As far as the schedule goes, we never have an easy schedule, but this year seems to be especially brutal. I can not see one easy game all season long. The Western Lakes is one of best in the state, and our non conference games are against South Lyon and Novi — two of the finest programs in the area."

Anchoring the defensive line will be massive Rob Spradlin, an All-Division performer last year as a junior. At 6-foot-5, 260-pounds, Spradlin is a legitimate Division I college football prospect. He will be the starting defensive tackle, and may see some action on offense as well.

"We feel Rob is a major college

Northville assistant coach Omar Harrison discusses blocking techniques with Mustang linemen prospect," Schumacher said. "He has the potential — his all-around strength is outstanding and his quickness is good for a big kid. The thing that is so impressive is his ability to ready offenses and know what is coming. He is a student of the game."

The other defensive tackle position will go to either junior Tom Gatti (6-0, 215) or senior Matt Smith (6-0, 220). The top two noseguard candidates include juniors Jeff Todd (5-10, 150) and Joe Kupsky (6-1, 190).

The Northville line sports three returning starters, and is probably the team's biggest strength heading into the '89 season. A bigger, quicker Chuck Shuff will return as one of the starting offensive tackles. The 6-foot, 225-pound senior was a mainstay last year and is primed for a stellar campaign. The two starting guards — Bob Townsend (5-11, 185) and Jason Stringer (5-10, 180) — are also back. Both are categorized by Schumacher as having "excellent speed and strong legs for their size."

The center position will likely go to junior Bob Holloway (6-1, 190), who played on the junior varsity squad a year ago. The other tackle position is still being contested by juniors Dave Morante (6-1, 195) and Jason Vertrees (6-2, 190). Jeff Hartman (6-4, 165) — the younger brother of former Mustang-great Dave Hartman — is slated as the number one tight end.

"The offensive line is our strength right now," he said. "If your building an offense, the line is a nice place to start."

In the offensive backfield, junior Bill Kelley (5-11, 170) will probably get the nod at running back. Kelley started as a sophomore in the secondary, and has the kind of varsity experience Schumacher likes to see. His fullback will either be senior Garnet Potter (5-11, 170) or junior Ryan Kilner (5-7, 170).

"Bill Kelley already knows what to expect at the varsity level and the thing I like about him is that he's a competitor," Schumacher said.

With Greg Price moving on to Bowling Green, the quarterback position has become a two-way battle between senior Steve Bastian (5-10, 160) and sophomore Ryan Huzjak (5-11, 145).

"I think either one of them will be fine," Schumacher said. "Steve's doing a good job but Ryan is really pushing him hard. It makes for a good, competitive situation. We will probably go with the senior, but you never know."

The receiving corps includes flanker Noel Korowin (5-10, 160), who kicked for Northville last year but was a star soccer player as well. Korowin — described as a good athlete with excellent quickness — decided to give up soccer for his senior season and stick with football. Senior Steve Vigh (5-11, 155), junior Mark Hilfinger (5-10, 140) and sophomore Jamey Miller (5-9, 140) are all battling for the split end spot.

The linebacking standout will probably be junior Tim Kerns (6-1, 195), who started as a 10th grader. He is a very intense player who's made a lot of progress and is expected to shine at inside linebacker. He will be teamed with junior Kevin Gill (5-9, 175) on the inside, with Potter holding down one outside position, and Josh Witz (5-11, 165) and John Brugman (5-11, 220) the top candidates at the remaining linebacking spot.

The secondary will feature Kelley and Mike Jambor (5-10, 130) at the cornerback positions, senior speedster Neil White (5-11, 160) at free safety, and either Kevin Delaney (5-8, 140) or Townsend at strong safety.

"I don't think there's any doubt, we'll be competitive," Schumacher said. "I wouldn't categorize this season as a rebuilding one."

Kritch faces transition season

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN
staff writer

The nucleus of the best girls' basketball team Northville's ever put on the court is gone — lost to graduation.

Debbie Stevens, Karen Baird and Heather Sixt combined to average 42 points per game last season and led the Mustangs to a school-record 16-7 mark. Other records also fell like most points in a season and longest winning streak.

"It was the best group of seniors we've ever had," coach Ed Kritch said. "We had three kids average over 40 points per game — a lot of entire teams don't score that much."

But before you write off Kritch's '89 squad, remember that Northville hasn't had a losing season in five years, and the program has strengthened itself each year. This season could be categorized as a 'transition' year, or a 'reloading' year — rather than the dreaded 'rebuilding' year.

"We only have two returning seniors, so it's a transition year," Kritch said. "Right now we're trying to find our way and figure out what the kids best skills are and then tailor our program to help them develop their talents."

Kritch faces a unique challenge — finding some offensive players who can consistently score, and are willing to take the pressure shots.

Kritch: 'One of my concerns is whether we can score enough points. We need to do well on defense and not put too much pressure on our half-court offense.'

"Every year, it seems like we've had returnees who we knew could score points," he said. "We really don't have that this season. We have some kids who are very talented offensively, now we have to build their confidence so they aren't bashful when it comes to shooting."

The Mustangs will have the services of two returning starters, along with two other players with varsity experience. Senior Sue LaPrad is entering her third year as a varsity player and her second as a starter. At 5-foot-4, she is a good ballhandler who will make the move from off-guard to point guard this fall.

"Sue will do the ballhandling and distribute the ball," Kritch said. "We need to get her to shoot the ball more and that's not something that's in her character. She's been passing off most of her career but I think she'll be able to give us eight-to-10 points a game. She is a solid player with good range from 15-feet on in."

Junior Kate Holstein (5-foot-9) is the only other regular who is back. As a sophomore, Holstein earned a spot in the starting line-up midway through the season and continued as a regular post-player for the remainder of the campaign. In the last 10 games, she scored in double figures four times, and will be counted on to provide inside scoring this fall.

"Kate really came on the last half of the '88 season as a rebounder and also contributed offensively," Kritch recalled. "She has fantastic jumping skills — the best we've ever had — and she can go inside and score. She still needs to develop confidence from the outside, facing the basket."

The remaining two letterwinners are wing-players Pam Yezback (sr.) and Maria MacInnis (Jr.). They are expected to step into the starting line-up and give the Mustangs some outside shooting help. Yezback (5-foot-5) is known for her aggressiveness on defense.

"She is also a skilled shooter from the 15-17 foot range," Kritch said. "That's a shot she'll have to make for us, but I'm confident she will be able to because she's one of our better long-range shooters."

MacInnis, like Yezback, was a reserve player a year ago but the 5-foot-7 swing player has shown marked improvement.

"She can develop into a three-point shooter," Kritch explained. "She's our most improved player in camp this summer."

A third letterwinner — forward Kristi Turner — elected not to come out for basketball this season. It's safe to say Turner would have been a starter.

"Not having Turner will hurt," Kritch said. "She's a winner and she has varsity experience."

The remaining starting spot up front will probably go to 5-foot-8 junior Allison Kennedy, who is making the jump from the junior varsity ranks. But two other players — sophomore Karen Pump and junior

Sisters star for Mustang netters

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN
staff writer

The torch has been passed from the Edwards sisters to the Vogt sisters, and it appears the future of girls tennis at Northville is in good hands.

For the first time in four years, coach Uta Filkin won't have Adrienne and Abby Edwards on her squad. The twins graduated last spring after helping lead the Mustangs to three straight Western Lakes Activities Association (WLAA) Western Division crowns. A year ago — at number one and two singles — the Edwards sisters had a remarkable 22-3 won-loss record, but they are gone, making way for Karen and Diane Vogt this season.

The Vogt sisters were a combined 20-4 in '88 at the number three and four singles flights and Filkin plans to move them into the Edwards' old spots.

"Adrienne and Abby will be very hard to replace," Filkin said. "We may be a little weaker in the singles this year because of it, but we still have some solid players returning."

Karen Vogt went undefeated at No. 3 a year ago and Filkin is confident she can make a successful move to the top singles position. She is only a junior but already has two years of varsity experience under her belt.

"There will be some players in our conference Karen won't be able to beat but she's my best singles player and I can see her definitely winning the majority of her matches."

Diane Vogt was 8-4 as a freshman at No. 4, but because of her small physical size, she had problems with strong, powerful players. Filkin knows she had the ability to be successful at No. 2, but her stamina is still a question mark.

"She grew a little since last season but she's still very small," Filkin said. "She has to work on her stamina but she has a lot of talent and she's fast. She moves very well."

The remaining two singles spots will be filled by four candidates: Neysa Colizzi (Sr.), Alicia Hanson (Sr.), Kavitha Sriraman (Jr.) and Shannon Price (Jr.). All four were regulars in the doubles flights last season and all four have improved.

"It's very even right now," Filkin said. "They all cover the court well and they all have good ground strokes. The ones that handle the jump up to singles the best will get the job."

The two who don't make the singles line-up will likely form the top two doubles teams, along with returnees Julie Howard (Sr.) and Merilynn Millgard (Sr.).

"I think we will be strong in doubles," Filkin said. "We seem to have quite a bit of depth."

Diane Vogt will be the Mustangs' No. 2 singles player in '89

The final doubles flight is wide open, with seven candidates still in the running. Players who hope to move up from the junior varsity include Vicci Epper (Jr.), Kelli Woodsum (So.), Stacy Green (So.) and Peggy Apostolos (Sr.). Newcomers like Tricia Tumminia (Sr.), Rebecca Bellamy (Jr.) and Melanie Apligan (Jr.) are also in the running.

"Last year, we had automatic wins at No. 2 and 3 singles," Filkin said. "This year, we won't have that."

Northville kickers aiming to improve

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN
staff writer

Traditionally, losing records and Northville soccer squads just don't mix.

But head coach Dave Yezback and the Northville boys are coming off a disastrous 6-10-3 campaign that featured numerous injuries and a horrendous finish. The Mustangs failed to register a win in the final nine games of the '88 season after a promising 6-2-2 start.

With that in mind, the program is on a mission to turn things around in '89. But with only eight returning varsity players, Yezback admits that a realistic goal would be to improve on last year's mark and get to the .500 level.

"We definitely want to improve on last year's record," he said. "We should have more depth at all positions than we did last year, but we are young and we don't have a lot of premier players."

Four of the eight returnees were starters a year ago and the burden of providing team leadership will fall directly on their backs. Senior Brad Maliszewski should be one of the most explosive offensive players in the area. The four-year varsity player led Northville in scoring as a junior with nine goals and four assists.

"I'm expecting a lot of leadership out of Brad, both on the field and off," Yezback said.

Another returning forward is senior Chris Hinz. Together, Maliszewski and Hinz form a potent 1-2 scoring punch. Missing from the forward situation is Noel Korowin, who missed much of last season with a broken arm, and had opted to play football this fall instead of soccer.

The anchor on defense will be junior Ed Petit — who along with Maliszewski and Hinz are the team's tri-captains. Petit is the only returning defensive starter for Yezback but is as solid as they come. The fourth and final returning starter is sophomore Brandon Cuadra, who moved up from the J.V. midway through last season and earned a spot at midfield. In limited play he still managed to score a couple goals.

Former part-timers like Paul Hodgins (Sr.) and Tom Ursel (Sr.) will probably move into the regular line-up this fall. Hodgins is a defender while Ursel — who missed much of '88 with a broken nose — will see action at either forward or midfield.

Two more top-notch midfield candidates are Matt Mills and Steve Lang. Mills made the varsity last season as a freshman and is projected as a possible future star. Ankle injuries slowed Lang in '88 but he's recovered and ready to go.

With the graduation of goaltender Roger Kimary, the spot will go to either Larry Osiecki or Drew Leppert — or both. Osiecki is up from the junior varsity and Leppert is a transfer from Nebraska, and both have been impressive in early workouts.

"To tell you the truth, I'm not too concerned about goaltending because they both look very good," Yezback said. "I feel good about the depth in this area."

Another player who transferred to Northville is Dan Brugeman. He comes from Redford Catholic Central and according to Yezback "has a good chance to start at midfield." The rest of the midfield candidates include Brant Garner (Jr.) and Lou Stoecklin (Jr.).

Junior Dave Smith was the top scorer on the J.V. team last fall and may provide additional scoring punch on the varsity. Matt Rossing (So.) is another forward looking for playing time.

On defense, Yezback has a slew of players who are all capable. They include Greg Bernardo (Jr.), Corey Greenfield (Sr.), Paul Cosco (Jr.), Chris Walker (Jr.) and Jon Cooney (So.).

CHRIS LEMMON

Lemmon, Sherman bolster golfers

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN
staff writer

With just one of the top five players returning from last year's tremendously successful team, Northville golf coach Don Morgan was a bit leery heading into the '89 campaign.

But after getting a look at his squad first hand, and seeing the vast improvements many have made in the off-season, his outlook has gone from caution to optimism. The '88 squad won the WLAA title, graded a Regional crown and finished 11th at the State Meet and the backbone of that team — James Nordbeck, Kevin Telepo, Dave McKee and Mike Crichton — have all graduated.

But Morgan still has Chris Lemmon, who figures to be one of the top 11th grade players in the state this season, and another junior — Jason Sherman — who has improved so much from a year ago, he may challenge Lemmon for team medalist honors.

"The early practices have been a pleasant surprise," Morgan admitted. "Our number six, seven and eight players from last year have shown marked improvement. Maybe we'll have a good team after all."

Lemmon — a two-year standout — has been criss-crossing the state this summer, playing in all sorts of tournaments. In recent practice rounds he has been scoring in the mid-70s and his goal for '89 is to play par golf.

"Chris is strong in all facets of the game," Morgan said. "I think he'll shoot better just because he's maturing. Not very many high school players can even think about playing par golf, but he can."

A year ago, Sherman was the number six man on the roster, but in '89, he is the undisputed number two man — and gunning for the top. He lived in Ohio over the summer and played in a host of tournaments there. In practice, Sherman has a pair of 77 scores to his credit and Morgan has been impressed with his consistency.

"I see more consistency from him this year," Morgan said. "He's a cocky kid and he's ready to have a solid season. Now that he's a junior, you can tell the difference in maturity — he acts older and has more confidence."

The third and fourth spots on the squad will probably go to seniors Paul Warner and John Schrieber. They rotated as the number seven golfer a year ago, but both are capable of consistently scoring in the mid-to-low 80s.

"Schrieber may be a little better than Warner, but they will both be valuable to the team," Morgan pointed out. "Schrieber is a member of Walnut Creek Country Club and that's a nice advantage to have."

The fifth and sixth spots will probably be filled by sophomores Kevin Krupansky and Todd Christianson.

Neither have varsity experience, but both are close in ability — shooting in the 43-44 range for nine holes in practice.

"I think the key is our third through sixth men," Morgan said, "and I think they will be up to the task. I was larry heading into the season but I can see the talent and the improvement they've shown."

"I can see our top two players among the top performers in the state, if they can continue to play the way they've been playing in practice. Maybe they can help pull us up and get us in a position to accomplish some of the things we did last year."

With just five upperclassmen (seniors and juniors) on the roster and seven underclassmen, the future certainly looks bright for the program.

"One of my goals was to get the youngsters to come out for the team because they'll be the nucleus of the team for the next few years," Morgan said.

Harrison is the class of WLAA football race

Northville coach Darrel Schumacher has a veteran offensive line returning this fall

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN
staff writer

Year-in and year-out, a preview of the coming football season in the Western Lakes Activities Association (WLAA) always seems to say the same things: Farmington Harrison is the team to beat in the Western Division, while Westland John Glenn and North Farmington are strong candidates in the Lakes Division side.

This year is no different. With superstar quarterback Mill 'The Thrill' Coleman back for his senior campaign, Farmington Harrison should be a strong candidate to repeat as Class B State Champs. Big, strong lineman like Steve Hill and Blazo Sarcevic should make things a lot easier for Coleman, who has passed for more than 5,000 yards and 60 touchdowns in his fabulous career.

"Everybody in the state talking about Harrison," Northville Athletic Director Dennis Colligan said. "They will be the favorites, as they have been for the past 15 years. You have to beat them to win the division and I don't think anybody will be close."

Of the other five Western Division teams, Livonia Franklin may be the best of the bunch. But it could be a real battle for second-place among some very evenly matched teams. Veteran Patriots coach Armand Vigna has abandoned the option and plans to pass the ball in order to set up the run in '89.

"Franklin is big and physical and

'89 could be one of the their better years," Northville Coach Darrel Schumacher said. "They've been second the last few years, so if anybody can dethrone Harrison, maybe it's them."

Northville lost most of it's skilled players to graduation, but may have the conference's best defensive lineman in Rob Spradlin (6-foot-5, 260-pounds). The Mustangs also return a veteran offensive line, but questions at quarterback and in the secondary could be a problem.

"If your going to build a team and you have a group of experienced linemen, it's a nice place to start," Colligan said.

Led by linebacker/fullback Andy Sapienza (6-2, 218), Livonia Churchill will again be tough and physical. The Chargers are planning to turn to a more ground-oriented offense and have at least seven 200-pound-plus linemen to get the job done in the trenches. Plymouth Canton has it's quarterback and some quality linemen returning and will be looking for the school's first-ever winning season. On paper, Walled Lake Western appears destined to finish in the basement, but coach Chuck Apap always seems to have his troops prepared.

"If you take Harrison out of the Western Division, you have five teams that are really very even," Colligan noted. "That could make for some real interesting games."

The Lakes Division will feature the 'haves' and the 'have-nots.' Westland

John Glenn is always a member of the 'haves' list with solid athletes and great depth every year. Coach Chuck Gordon said he had 70 players come out for the varsity team this summer, and the Rockets are sure to be in the thick of the race.

Talk around the WLAA this summer has centered on Plymouth Salem, who just may have enough this fall to overtake Glenn. With a bruising, 200-plus-pound fullback like Pat Bowle heading the list of returning skilled players, the Rockets' wishbone offense will be very difficult to stop.

"Salem is returning most of their skilled players and they run the wishbone very well," Colligan said. "With another year of experience, they will be very tough to beat."

North Farmington is a Lakes Division contender every year, and you can't count the Raiders out this fall. But coach Jon O'Leary's squad is somewhat of an unknown heading in to the campaign.

For the 'have-nots', this season could be a long one. Livonia Stevenson is usually a contender, but all indications point to a down year. Walled Lake Central and Farmington have been Lakes Division cellar dwellers for the last five years, and it will probably be that way in '89. Beleaguered Falcon coach Rick Milhizer has only 25 players on his roster this fall.

"I think those three will be fighting to stay out of the basement," Colligan said.

Drogosche set to lead Novi cagers

skills." Joining Miskovich up front will be 5-7 junior Jennifer Fornwald, who is more of a swing-player than anything else. Fornwald is one of the squad's best outside shooters and will see offensive action on the wings. Drogosche describes her as a good rebounder and defender.

The point guard position will be held down by junior Joanna Pascucci (5-4), who was brought up to the varsity late last season and saw limited action.

"She's a good ballhandler and she seems to have a good sense for the game," Drogosche said. "She's good team player."

A trio of sophomores up from the junior varsity ranks will also see plenty of playing time. Heather Humphrey (5-7) will probably be the other starting guard, Tammy Snider (5-9) will probably be the first player off the bench, and Mary Yankowski (5-8) is versatile enough to be a top-notch forward or guard reserve.

The remaining spot in the starting line-up will go to junior Tara Humphrey (5-9), who is a returning varsity player who missed much of

'88 with mononucleosis.

The rest of the roster includes sophomore Angel Konarske (5-11), junior Jenny Sieradski and junior Lori Bolagna (5-5). Sieradski and Bolagna will provide depth in the backcourt and Konarske is the tallest player on the squad.

"With only 10 players on the varsity, our numbers are down, but I'm from a smaller school and I know what it's like to have that problem," Drogosche said. "I'm really excited about the players we do have. They seem ready to work hard and as young as we are, the future looks good."

"But that doesn't mean we can't do some things this season. Our goal is to improve every game and our focus will be on the conference games. Our strength is in balanced scoring and solid defense. We have a lot of kids who can score and we have some good athletes who can play defense."

The 1988 Wildcat edition failed to win a single Kensington Valley Conference game in 10 tries. Drogosche wants to end that streak and remain competitive all year. And with 90 percent of the squad returning for 1990, this fall could be the start of a resurgence in Novi basketball.

'Cats picked to win fourth title

Your reading a column written by the same guy who failed to predict that Novi would win its third straight Kensington Valley Conference football title in 1988.

As we all know, the Wildcats not only did what the Laker's couldn't (Three-peat), John's Osborne's squad advanced all the way to the state Class A Semifinals before falling 13-12 to the eventual state champs from Traverse City, after fumbling with less than a minute remaining and the ball inside the two-yard line.

So what's in store for the KVC in '89? Could Novi possibly make it four in a row, when no other conference team has ever won three in a row?

Well, I'm no dummy — I say yes, emphatically.

I think it will be another two-horse race, like it has been in '87 and '88. The frontrunners are clearly Novi and South Lyon, and the Lions will have to end the Wildcats' incredible 18-game winning streak against KVC opponents to upset Osborne's crew. South Lyon was the last team to beat Novi, but it was back during the 1985 season, and Coach Bob Scheloske still doesn't have a KVC title to his credit. I don't think they can do it.

Even Osborne (reluctantly) admits that his team and Scheloske's squad are the favorites, and who knows more about KVC football — and prep football in general — than a man who is entering his 22nd year at the helm of the Wildcats?

Here's a closer look at the seven KVC teams, and my predictions:

1. NOVI: Don't let anybody fool you, the 'Cats are loaded. With massive lineman like Bob Ahrens (6-4, 250) and Randy Thompson (6-0, 250), Novi won't lose many battles in the trenches. And with skilled players like Craig Berry, Jason Wladisckin and Mike Yankowski, the talent is obvious. Just like a year ago, Osborne's team doesn't have the kind of depth he'd like, but that didn't stop the '88 edition, and I don't think it will this fall. Remember, Novi has more returning starters than a year ago and that team never even came close to losing a KVC game. The Wildcats outscored six conference opponents 163-20 with four shutouts.

2. SOUTH LYON: The Lions are usually solid and they will be again in '89. With quarterback Scott Barabas back for his senior year and defensive stars like Kevin Warford and Jeremy Britton also returning, Scheloske has some of the KVC's best. South Lyon has been the bridesmaid three times under Scheloske (in '85, '87 and '88) and this fall could be the year — but I don't think it will be.

3. BRIGHTON: Every year, we hear about how awesome the Bulldogs will be, but the squad seems to underachieve their way to a middle-of-the-pack finishes. Talent-wise, Brighton may have enough to challenge, but that's happened before and they didn't. Highly-touted quarterback Lee

Smith (6-3, 200) is the KVC's best and with 16 letterwinners returning — including top receiver Ron Hollis and top runner Gregg Reinke — coach Bill Murray should have his squad in the top three.

4. HOWELL: The conference's largest school will take fourth-place by default, simply because the bottom three are not good football teams. Offensively, the Highlanders have a lot of question marks, but defensively, the team has the KVC's top linebacker corps — featuring returnees Jerry Attia, Brian Barron and Mark Louria.

5. LAKE LAND: The Eagles would be on course for another 1-8 or 0-9 campaign, but legendary coach Art Paddy is back as an assistant to Bill Mohr after one year in the college ranks. With his ancient Wing-T offense, Paddy alone is worth a couple victories. The Eagles do have an experienced offensive backfield and a massive defensive front, making them the best of the bottom three.

6. HARTLAND: Tom Barbieri is one of the most respected coaches in the conference, but word out of Hartland is that his team lost a lot to graduation but has a great work ethic. That means there is a lot of question marks and the Eagles will have to hattle Milford to stay out of the basement.

7. MILFORD: Without a winning season in a decade, the Redskins are in for another bad year. For some reason, Milford has trouble getting it's best athletes to go out for football, and that's bad news for second-year coach Mike Shearer. Running back Mark Bishop, a second-team All-Area pick in '88, will be one of the bright spots.

Northville faces transition season

Karen Cavanaugh — will also see plenty of action. Pump (5-foot-7) is a versatile player who can play either the wing or the point and could develop into a future star. In the past year, Pump won the state Pepsi/NBA HotShot shooting contest and was a member of the Michigan entry in the World Youth Basketball Festival.

"She brings a lot of credentials to the varsity, but she's still learning," Kritch said. "Her role will be more than your typical sophomore. She's the kind of kid we need to be more aggressive on offense, because the talent in there. She's got good court-sense, she's a good ballhandler and a good passer."

Cavanaugh (5-foot-4) will probably be LaPrad's top back-up. She possesses extreme quickness and is a tenacious defensive player.

"I'm sure she's the quickest kid we've ever had," Kritch said. "She can single-handedly take a scorer out of the game."

The rest of the varsity roster includes three juniors who played on the J.V. a year ago — Kyle Petino (5-foot-5), junior Kristen Ross (5-foot-7) and Kristin Meehan (5-foot-10).

"One of my concerns is whether we can score enough points," he said. "We need to do well on defense and not put too much pressure on our half-court offense."

"We definitely want to win more games than we lose, and a key to doing that is getting off to a good start."

go to sophomore Niloo Said, who led the J.V. a year ago. Said has a lot of talent and has made great strides in the off-season.

"She has really worked on her game," Hanson pointed out. "She is showing more improvement from one season to the next than any other player I've ever had — and this is my sixth year as coach."

Another singles candidate who will be at either No. 1 or 2 is sophomore Jo Johnson, also a standout on the reserves a year ago. Both Said and Johnson took lessons in the winter and went to camps this summer.

"Those two are the strongest young players from the J.V.," Hanson said. "It's great to have two sophomores with their kind of ability. We've never had players this young, vying for the top singles spots. I hope they will hold up to the pressure."

The remaining two singles spots are expected to go to juniors Debby

Butler and Gina Knight. Butler — the younger sister Pam Butler, a standout last season — is a strong No. 3 possibility, and if that happens, Knight will likely move into the fourth slot.

The top doubles team from the junior varsity ranks in '88 — Nikki Nelson (Jr.) and Chris Champine (Jr.) — will probably become Hanson's No. 2 team this fall. The third doubles team is still up for grabs. The top candidates include Mindy Watkins (Jr.), Donna Kadar (Jr.), Michelle Timreck (Jr.), Jenny Glenn (Jr.) and Candl Lewis (So.). All five were on the J.V. squad last year.

The Blueprint for Innovative Home Lighting

BATH

BROAN Decorator Exhaust Fans are a must for a well-ventilated bathroom. SEAGULL Bath Lighting will enhance those areas where more light is needed.

GREAT ROOM

FOYER

Foyer lights by MAXIM will make a statement about the style that sets the tone for the rest of your home.

KITCHEN

LIGHT CONCEPTS under cabinet or task lighting is necessary to properly illuminate the counter work space in today's kitchen. MARCO recessed or track lighting supplies light to your counter tops, while an AMERICAN FLUORESCENT LIGHT supplies overall general light.

DINING ROOM

Lighting plays an important role in creating atmosphere for formal dining. A WILLSHIRE chandelier will complement your decorating scheme.

OUTDOOR

TROY or MAXIM outdoor lighting will provide a feeling of security and creates a welcome invitation to your guests.

GARAGE

NOOK

A pendant light by THOMAS or LIGHT TIME will be both functional and decorative.

LAUNDRY

LIGHT CONCEPTS fluorescent lighting is perfect for a task area which requires more light.

Contemporary, classic blend at Homearama

A MID MODERN innovations in home convenience and technology, there are equal innovations in classic architectural design — including Cotswold Tudors, Georgian Colonials and reproductions of local mansions — at this year's Homearama in Oakland Township.

Located on spacious lots with an expansive hilltop view in the Hills of Oakland subdivision, Homearama opens to the public on Aug. 31 and runs daily until Sept. 24.

Although every home offers the latest features in home conveniences, visitors will also marvel at the workmanship and attention to detail reminiscent of the past, with custom woodwork and crown moldings, beamed ceilings, as well as a generous use of brick, marble, cedar, fieldstone, and other natural materials in this year's showcase of 10 fabulous homes.

THERE ARE HINTS of very classic designs in each home, revealed not only in the names but in the descriptions selected by the builders:

- "The Meadowbrook" by Capitol Homes Inc.;
- "Heirloom" by Koch Development;
- "Bayview" by Palazzolo Brothers Construction Co., a traditional colonial;
- "Jacquelynn Maria," by F & M Construction, a classical traditional;
- "The Francesco" by Mocerri/Ferro, a classical contemporary;
- "The Stonecrest" by Hunters Creek Homes, a traditional split colonial;
- "Graystone Manor," by Damascus Development Corp., a Cotswold Tudor;
- "The Barclay," by Robert R. Jones Associates, a Savannah North style; and
- "The Jeffersonian," by Kellett & Saylor, historical Georgian.

But there is nothing conventional or old-fashioned about design. Trendsetting innovations in design are visible throughout Homearama.

For instance: An octagon garden room off the great room in F & M Construction's "Jacquelynn Maria" also provides access to the kitchen and to a circular staircase with vaulted ceilings that leads to a balcony off the master bedroom

"THE BARCLAY," the Savannah North style home of Robert R. Jones Associates, has a great room with a circular, two-story walk-in bay window and a traditional marble fireplace with floor to ceiling pilasters.

In the "Jeffersonian" by Kellett & Saylor, an elegant gathering room, three steps down from the rest of the house has ample space for entertaining on a grand scale.

Spectacular design elements are featured in the exterior of the "Heirloom" by Koch Development, including 12-foot front doors in a beautifully arched, tiered, brick entry with stone surround.

The master bedroom suite allows the home builder to create a mood of privacy and relaxation for the homeowner. Custom-domed cathedral ceilings are highlighted in the "Meadowbrook" by Capitol Homes Inc., and a vaulted gazebo ceiling, 16-feet high in Damascus Development's "Graystone Manor."

THE "BROOKSHIRE," by Oliver Homes, has a master bedroom with a pan ceiling, walk-in double closets, whirlpool and double sinks, marble floors, counter and shower. And a first-floor master suite in "The Stonecrest," by Hunters Creek Homes Inc., features a beamed cathedral ceiling, skylights, french doors to a private cedar deck and a double shower.

Bonus rooms in homes give home owners options. The double step-down master bedroom suite in the "Bayview" has a 21-foot-by-7-foot closet leading to a potential studio or office over the garage.

In the "Francesco," by Mocerri/Ferro, the foyer opens into an expansive walkout (lower level) with entertainment center, billiards and walk-behind bar.

Fine examples of innovations can be seen in the kitchens of Homearama, the center of activity in every home, regardless of the owner's lifestyle. Each kitchen features the very latest in creative design and built-in convenience.

Looking beyond the modern kitchens, innovation is at its best in "Graystone Manor," where a media room replaces the predictable living on the first floor, offering the home owner a theater screen and surround sound.

Easy steps to keep home safe, secure

Don't leave your home vulnerable to hazards, fire and burglary. Protecting that haven against accident and intruders is not a complex task. But it does take some planning.

The more elementary provisioning requires a first-aid kit, a store-house of canned and dried foods and water, flashlights, batteries, candles and matches, a fire extinguisher and a list of emergency phone numbers.

Beyond that, you should have smoke alarms on each floor. Black & Decker's new model features a reset button. Awake 'n' Escape by Advanced Products can be mounted on walls or detached to double as a flashlight.

Adult Communities

Sharing a common bond is cornerstone

In COLONIAL Acres adult community in South Lyon, Centaur Contractors Inc. have what they believe is the wave of the future for housing. We're going after the adult market," said Edward S. Tompkins, a partner with Jim Pelky, in Centaur. "People over 55 with no children, or children over 17. Part of what we're selling is the lifestyle - the community itself."

People at Colonial Acres share a common bond. They've moved out of houses they've lived in for 20 or 30 years. Some of them even lived in the same Livonia or Farmington Hills neighborhoods, or thereabouts, or worked at the same companies, but never had the time or the opportunity to develop any friendships.

"What we've found," said Tompkins, "is that they're rediscovering each other since moving there."

This well developed sense of community with neighbors looking out for one another has helped make the initial phase of Colonial Acres sell-outs. Pelky and Tompkins have already begun building more units at the $100-million project in the Pontiac Trail - Ten Mile Road area.

COLONIAL NOW HAS ABOUT 450 units on 52 acres in phases one through four. Phase five will add another 594 units on 87 additional acres for a total of 1,044 with a projected completion date of 1993.

The acreage is wooded and has several man-made ponds that tapped into natural underground springs. One of the ponds will be stocked for fishing, and another will have a beach for swimming. There are two clubhouses, the newest one in phase 5 with a swimming pool. One and two bedroom units are attached in groups of six or eight. The newer units have lower level walk-out patios.

Enclosing a wood deck into a porch is one of the buyer's many options. It adds another 120 square feet to the overall 1,800 square feet of the unit. Base price for the walkouts is $69,900.

TO SHOW WHAT OPTIONS are available, the model for phase 5 is loaded with options.

The units have California style walled courtyard entrances. A good-sized dining area is at the far end of the living room. The kitchens feature a breakfast bar pass-through to the living-dining room.

One of the standard features at Colonial Acres is hot water baseboard heating systems. "It's more expensive, but more effective," Tompkins said.

Centaur has an in-house service department to handle all maintenance problems. The fee at Colonial Acres is $135 per month and includes insurance, boiler, hot water heater repair and/or replacement, land lease costs as well as snow removal, exterior painting, lawn and shrub care. "Unlike other developers, we don't leave the development when it's finished," Pelky said. "We're here and very accessible." For more information about the development, call 437-8193.

Kitchens in Colonial Acres have a breakfast bar pass-through to the living-dining room area. End units have windows, but inner units feature skylights to compensate for the lost window. Enjoying a coffee break is Rosalie Webb, Gov. James Blanchard's mother, with her husband, Baxter. The couple have been residents since 1984.

Moving out to Colonial Acres was like Old Home Week for Frank Ross (right) and Peter Schmidt. Both retired about 10 years ago from the same tool and engineering company in Southfield. They hadn't seen each other again until recently when they discovered they each lived in the same development and were now neighbors. With them are their wives, Amy Ross (left) and Maria Schmidt.

Jeffersonian

A four-bedroom, five-bathroom historical Georgian home with its roots in the 18th century. The 4,000-square-foot home has a Williamsburg atmosphere throughout, created by four fireplaces, and generous use of crown moldings, cased arches, chair rails and bed mouldings. The study has hand-built oak paneling and oak bookcases which blend with oak flooring and hickory cabinets throughout the home. A full two-story center section is delightfully complemented by the 1½-story wings. An elegant gathering room, three steps down from the rest of the house, has ample space for entertaining on a grand scale. Spacious master bedroom suite has a deluxe bath, fireplace and sunken lounge. Dignified symmetry is a hallmark of both front and rear elevations. Price range: $395,000.

Back again with 'show of homes'

First Federal of Michigan is once again a lender-sponsor of Homearama and will have loan officers staffing an information booth in the exhibit pavilion throughout the show.

First Federal provided funds for lot development in the subdivision and financed several of the model homes, which range in value from $375,000 to $675,000.

"As one of Michigan's largest providers of home mortgages, we believe it's most appropriate — and a real privilege — to work with the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan on this project," said Ronald A. Sinclair, First Federal's executive vice presidents for lending, in announcing his company's participation for the fourth year.

Discount coupons for admission to Homearama Monday through Friday will be available at all First Federal offices.

HOMEARAMA

Bayview

A four-bedroom traditional colonial, this house makes creative use of brick on the house and in the surrounding walkways and double-door entrance. An open foyer with marble flooring leads to two open circular stairways with oak railings. A double step-down into the master bedroom allows for 9-foot walls, wooden casement windows, with a 21-by-7-foot closet leading to a potential studio or office over the garage. The great room has a 20-foot vaulted ceiling with solid brick fireplace and wet bar, including a wine cooler, with an outdoor deck located nearby. The oak-paneled library has a bay window and oak flooring. Leaded glass doors lead into the dining room. There is a finished basement with fireplace. The house has four full baths and two half-baths. Price range: $375,000-$550,000. Approximately 4,400 square feet.

New home construction benefits everyone

WHEN NEW homes are built in a community, the home building industry benefits. But home builders are only the tip of the iceberg. Countless individuals benefit throughout the local community and the entire country for every home that is built.

According to James S. Bonadeo, president of the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan (BASM), a typical house contains more than 3,000 components. "If you take a simple item like a piece of wood, think about all the people who were responsible for getting it to your home," he explains.

Someone cuts the tree. A driver transports it to the mill, where a worker makes it into a building product. The finished product must be transported (again) to a material distributor, who sells it to a builder or subcontractor, who installs it into the home.

"Now consider the long chain of people involved in all the 3,000 components," Bonadeo notes, "such as the people working in concrete, windows, nails, screws, appliances, carpeting, drywall, paint, insulation, roofing, bricks, and many other items. You will get an idea of how many people benefit just from the structure of the house."

BUT A HOUSE IS more than just a structure. It is also a collection of services. Bankers are employed to make loans on new homes, as well as existing homes which are sold when someone purchases a new home.

Appraisers are needed to determine the value of homes which are sold. Employees of title companies research the possibility of prior financial claims to properties. People in insurance companies sell and process homeowners, mortgage, and title policies.

The government employs many people who are affected by new home construction. Employees are needed to issue building permits and to perform code inspections to ensure that your home will be safe. In addition, property taxes are collected to fund schools, other local facilities and community services.

"If you consider the indirect employment from building a house, the impact increases even more," says

Bonadeo. Home buyers who buy new homes often purchase new furniture, draperies, appliances, lawnmowers and a wide variety of other items. Also many new home buyers change their route to work, which may necessitate the purchase of an automobile. All of these items are manufactured, transported, and sold, providing employment for numerous people.

Finally, new home owners provides a personal resource to their community. They may join the PTA, become members of the local community group, attend local sporting events and run for public office. "And when they do," Bonadeo concludes, "their personal contributions and commitments become essential to the community's growth and quality of life."

Residential Window Film

WHAT IT'S ALL ABOUT

Solar window films were originally designed for heat and glare control and, in many cases, the use of such an application meant comfort and energy savings.

Today, consumers are spending more and more time in the home and investing great amounts of money in furnishings. To protect the furniture, carpeting, art objects, etc., they are utilizing window film, which absorbs nearly all of the sun's damaging ultraviolet rays that damage the home's interior.

Window film has been designed and refined to such a point of sophistication that it is practically invisible. In fact, the fade protection of the film neither alters the appearance of a window visibility, nor distorts the original clear view.

Tinted windows, contrary to belief, do not have to be dark to be effective. In fact, the newest of films offer high visibility and high energy control. An example of a recent innovation—and the biggest seller in the glass industry—is the Low-E (low emissivity) film, which helps the glass retain or hold in more heat in the winter.

In addition to protecting home furnishings and dramatically cutting down on the sun's glare, another important benefit from using window film is its ability to make the glass safe (or "breaksafe"). Should the window break, the film will actually hold broken glass together, offering safety and security. For example, should a child or adult hit a window hard enough to break it, they are much less likely to suffer any cuts or be showered with dangerous glass shards. Special "extra-thick" security films are also available.

In the past, one of the drawbacks of using window film was its tendency to become scratched when cleaned. Today, however, all films boast a scratch-resistant coating which is tough enough to stand up against even fine steel wool.

Opulent details and grand scale recalls the luxury of Victorian-era interiors. A survey of today's house buyers reveals a desire for larger houses and luxury amenities, many of which are incorporated in the Homearama designs.

Homearama to showcase preferences buyers want

ACCORDING to recent National Association of Home Builders survey, current home owners revealed a preference for "dream" features when they are looking for a new home.

This year's Homearama offers all the amenities mentioned in the survey:

- Today's home buyers look for more family-room space and would select a great room instead of a smaller den or a study.

- They prefer a large, well-equipped kitchen, with features like a walk-in pantry, a built-in microwave, special storage space, a double sink, an island eating space and a bay window.

- In the master bedroom suite, they would choose a separate bathtub and shower, double-sink vanities and closet space in the bathroom. Whirlpools are a nice extra.

- In addition, buyers indicated that they want the following extra features, which ranked as very important by 60 percent or more of those surveyed:

- Separate family room or great room;
- Two-car garage;
- Walk-in bedroom closets;
- Air conditioning;
- Fireplace;
- High ceilings;
- Skylights.

Home buying trends are moving toward the selection of larger, more expensive homes. Survey respondents indicated not only a desire to buy larger homes, but a willingness to buy a more expensive home to get the features they want.

Homearama homes offer an average of 4,400 square feet of living space, in a price range of $375,000-$675,000 and a beautiful showcase of all the features buyers are looking for today.

Tips for selecting a builder

WHEN YOU are ready to begin shopping for your new home, you should begin shopping for your builder as well. Whether you are buying a condominium, townhouse, in a subdivision, or a custom-built house, the quality of your home will be determined by the quality of the builder.

Start your builder-search process by calling a local home builders association, such as the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan. It can give you the names of reputable builders in your area. Ask friends and relatives about builders they have dealt with directly, or ask them for the names of acquaintances who have recently dealt with a builder.

Once you have developed a list of builders, find out about their reputations and the quality of their work. The best way is to visit homes that they have built and talk to the owners. Ask the builders on your list for the addresses of their recently completed houses, subdivisions, townhouses or condominium complexes. At the very least, drive by and see if the homes are visually appealing.

LOOK AT HOMES that are the same style as you plan to buy. A good time to visit is on a weekend morning when people are outside doing chores or errands. Just introduce yourself and explain that you are considering buying a home from the same builder who built their home.

Question their satisfaction with the home and ask if the builder constructed what was promised in a timely manner. Ask if they would buy another home from this builder. People will generally tell you if they are happy with their purchase.

When examining a home, look at the quality of the construction features: the cabinetry, carpeting, trimwork and paint.

In viewing each builder's homes, you must determine whether they lend themselves to the type of lifestyle you want to lead. Look at the amount of interior living space and how efficiently the space is used. Find out if the builder is using the latest energy efficient features, both in appliances and insulation.

A home is primarily a place to live, but it also is an important investment.

Consider the appreciation potential of any home you might purchase. Be concerned with the value you are getting for your money regarding locations, housing supply and demand, and other local market factors.

One of the most important criteria for selecting a builder is the warranty protection provided on the home. Ask for a copy of the builder's warranty. Read the document thoroughly and be sure you understand what protection would be provided to you. If you have any questions about the coverage, be sure to clarify it with the builder prior to completing your purchase.

ALMOST ALL BUILDERS offer some form of written warranty. Many builders back their own warranties on workmanship and materials, typically for one year. Other builders offer warranties backed by an insurance company. To get an insured warranty, you must buy a home from a builder who belongs to a warranty program, such as the Home Owners Warranty Corporation (HOW). Founded by the National Association of Home Builders, HOW is the nation's oldest and largest warranty insurer of new homes. In this area, HOW is served by the Southern Michigan Home Owners Warranty Council.

While you are shopping for your builder, find out from each one you interview what you can expect regarding service after the sale. A builder may make two service calls during the first year after you move in. These calls are to make repairs on non-emergency problems covered by your warranty. The first call is usually 30 to 120 days after your move-in, and the second is around the 11th month, right before any one-year warranties on workmanship and materials would expire. For emergencies, the builder should send someone right away.

When selecting a builder, be thorough and ask a lot of questions. Get as many specifics as possible. If you receive the answers verbally, take notes. Never hesitate to ask a question because you are afraid of sounding "dumb" or uninformed. A simple question may yield a very important answer.

Larger homes, luxury amenities tops with buyers

WHAT DO today's home buyers really want?

Are their hearts set on rustic little rose-covered country cottages or do they want high-tech houses where the Jetsons would feel right at home? Are they yearning for simplicity and small spaces or do they have dreams of luxury living?

Today's increasingly affluent home owners of the baby boom generation will choose larger houses with more luxury features and bigger lots when they buy their next house. Even if they have to pay more, and live further from work, they will be willing to make these trade-offs to get the house they want.

According to a recent National Association of Home Builders survey, workmanship and materials — including carpeting, flooring, tiles and paint — as well as the builder's reputation and the neighborhoods must be first-rate. And if they cannot afford to buy the house they want, they will settle for an expandable house with some parts left unfinished. However, they will not opt for a smaller house.

MORE THAN TWO-thirds would choose a suburban location and one-fourth would choose a rural location if buying a new home.

Current home owners also want their next home to have about 2,360 square feet — almost 30 percent more than their present home. And even though land costs have increased dramatically in the last two years, consumers want larger yards.

The survey findings revealed the following homebuyer preferences:

HOUSE DESIGN: A two-story house with a basement (32 percent); single-story house with a basement (24 percent); Four bedrooms (about 50 percent); Three bedrooms (33 percent); 2 1/2 or more bathrooms (70 percent) and three bathrooms or more (25 percent).

FAMILY ROOM: Home buyers want a family room, not a den or a study. A family room/kitchen design is desirable.

KITCHEN: A large, well-equipped kitchen, with a walk-in pantry, a built-in microwave, a special use storage space, a double-sink, an island eating space and a bay window.

MASTER BATHROOM: Separate bathtub and shower; double-sink vanities and closet space in the bathroom. Whirlpools are not a necessity.

ENERGY EFFICIENCY: Buyers prefer an energy efficient home — insulation, a more efficient furnace, but does not imply low ceilings, small rooms or no fireplaces.

PREFERRED FEATURES: Features ranked as very important by 60 percent or more of those surveyed include: Separate family/great rooms; two-car garage; walk-in bedroom closets; higher quality carpeting; air-conditioning; storm windows; fireplace and smoke detectors. Also mentioned were high ceilings and skylight.

Homeownership was valued highly. More than 80 percent of those surveyed said a single-family detached house is the best hedge against inflation. This is followed by investment in land (53 percent) and mutual funds (42 percent).

Furniture will be for sale

The furniture and accessories in most of the Homearama "idea homes" will be put up for sale on the last day of its run, Sunday, Sept. 24.

All styles of furniture, from American traditional to contemporary to European and from moderately priced to expensive, will be offered for sale just as it is displayed in those home participating the sale.

Not every house is participating in the sale of its furnishings, however. Some of the furnishings may be the property of designers, furniture companies, or the builders in various instances.

The houses themselves will be for sale after the show closes, and can be purchased with furnishings included, in most cases.

Brit touch

You don't have to be British to live like the lord of the manor. All you really need are the three Cs of English country decor — comfort, clutter and color. Exemplifying these traditional virtues is the overstuffed sofa dressed in a color hallmark floral print (by La-Z-Boy), a deep-seated reclining wing chair, a seemingly endless array of personal mementos and a bit of English whimsy — a Victorian bird cage. ## Memento

English country comfy look

MAYBE IT was Chuck and Di or one of those very British made-for television movies.

Or maybe, just a case of good taste. Whatever the cause, America has gone bonkers for the British — and some of that feeling is reflected in homes in this year's Homearama.

Unbashedly borrowing the best from a melange of traditionally elegant English offerings, Americans are enjoying high tea in high English style, demure sweater sets a la Deborah Kerr, and polo, the so-called sport of kings.

But the best of the best of these British imports, according to those who've lived with it, is the lord-of-the-m Manor decorating style we Yanks dub "the English Country look."

In many respects, English country style is nothing short of miraculous, says design consultant Ann Britten. "There is absolutely no other decor in the world that is at once so elegant and yet so dedicated to comfort."

The combination of broad stripes and florals make this Laura Ashley "Isabelle" chintz the ideal decorative theme for today's popular English country interiors on display in several of the Homearama models. It's shown here with complementing solids and smaller-scale stripes.

NANCY MEININGER of the MICHIGAN GROUP REALTORS proudly presents CUSTOM HOMES by F.J. PINEHOLLOW.

This elegant 2800 sq. ft. two story is ready to move into at 17176 Ellen Dr. in Livonia's prestigious Pinecreek Subdivision. $214,900.

This spacious 2800 sq. ft. colonial will be ready for occupancy in 60 days. Exciting amenities like a walk-in pantry, fashion bath. At 47073 Elsmere at the gateway to Abbey Knoll-Northville's most coveted area! $228,900.

Also ready for autumn construction are 7 homesites in Livonia's long awaited Fox Creek Meadows. For more information, call 591-9200 and ask only for Nancy Meininger or call 348-2514, F.J. Pinehollow Builders.

madness

makes its presence known

Stripes and florals are combined in a variety of new decorative themes, among them "Floral Stripe" chintz, shown here, by Laura Ashley. This large-scale design of roses, morning glories and fuchsias with alternating geranium stripe, is available in chintz and printed ottoman fabrics. The simplicity is also repeated in a companion wallcovering, seen beyond the chair. Similar choices appear in English-manor type homes featured in this year's Homearama.

Although the English country look was born in the manor house, the style has been thoroughly democratized over the years, Britten says. So you don't need roomfuls of ancestral heirlooms of a stately site on The Thames to recreate the look.

All you really need are the three C's of English country decor:

- COLOR. One thing that says English country: Floral cotton and glazed chintz, the extravagantly printed fabric the British imported from India almost 400 years ago. So use them lavishly.

Start with a bold floral design, then complement with a mix of stripes, smaller-scale florals, plaids, geometrics or faux animal prints. Use color as a unifying force to pull all these disparate patterns into one cohesive whole.

- COMFORT. Reserve the rickety gilt sidechairs and antique loveseats for the palace. The English country look is built on comfort.

- CLUTTER. Hedonistic hodgepodge. Cheek-by-jowl jumble. Memento madness. Clutter is the endearing heart of English country style.

For Anglo-authenticity, add masses of framed family photos, blue-and-white china and botanical prints. A timeless sense of style is not built on born-yesterday perfection.

Once you've experienced this best-of Britain brand of living, Britten maintains, you'll understand why there'll always be an England. Even if it is deep in the heart of Texas or the rolling hills of Rochester.

SINCE YOU CAN'T SEE THESE IN YOUR NEW HOME,

INSIST ON SEEING THIS:

In any new home, it's what you can't see that can cost you down the road.

Things like wiring, plumbing, even the foundation itself.

That's why more and more new homebuyers are insisting on homes displaying the HOW symbol.

HOW—the Home Owners Warranty program—gives you 10 years of protection. And your HOW coverage is included in the cost of the home.

You're protected against workmanship and material defects the first year. Defective wiring, ductwork, and pipng in the second. And your home is protected against major structural defects that vitally affect the use of your new home for the full 10 years.* Your builder can give you all the details, including the reasonable exclusions.

So while you're enjoying all the things you can see in a new home, make sure you're protected on the things you can't.

Insist on a HOW home.

* Subject to deductibles. Warranty and insurance coverage applies only if the builder properly enrolls the home and is in good standing with HOW at the time of settlement.

Your house-buying power spelled out

YOU'VE DECIDED you're ready to buy a new house, but can you afford it? To figure out how much house you can afford, you must first understand the rules of buying a home: down payment, qualifying for a loan, and closing costs.

Lenders ask for down payments so that if you default on your loan, the home can be sold and the losses from your transaction can be recovered from the proceeds of the sale. Buyers entering the market for the first time usually must rely on savings or assistance from relatives to accumulate a downpayment.

The size of your down payment plays an important role in determining how large a loan you qualify for.

Lenders examine your credit record and the extent to which you are already in debt. To qualify, they evaluate a variety of factors to determine the maximum monthly payment you can afford.

Most conventional loans (not government insured) require a 20 percent down payment. But most first-time home buyers don't have that kind of savings. Other sources are available to those who qualify — FHA or VA loans.

A LOAN INSURED by the Federal Housing Administration (FHA) normally requires a down payment of five percent of the home's appraised value. Their interest rates are generally slightly below those for conventional loans. Qualified FHA borrowers are also required to pay a mortgage insurance premium of 3.8 percent of the total loan amount. A ceiling amount, based on prevailing home costs in the area you are buying, determines the maximum loan amount.

The Veterans Administration (VA) guarantees loans to people who have served in the armed-forces and qualify. No down payment is required if the loan is for $144,000 or less. There is a one percent funding fee on VA loans.

Private mortgage insurance (PMI) loans are an option available to those who don't qualify for FHA or VA loans. These loans require a 5 to 10 percent down payment and are insured by a private mortgage company.

Not all the money you put up-front will be applied to the down payment. A major expense many first-time buyers overlook is settlement or closing costs. When you apply for a loan, the lender is required by law to provide you with a good faith estimate of closing costs. Thousands of dollars can be spent in this final step in buying a home.

CLOSING COSTS FALL in two general categories: points, costs from making the loan; and expenses linked to the actual transfer of property from the seller to you.

Discount points charged by the lender are generally the largest part of your closing costs. One point equals one percent of the total loan amount. Points should be a strong consideration in your loan selection. The borrower almost always pays his own points.

Other costs, some of which may be negotiated between the buyer and the seller, include: appraisal fee, attorney's fees, credit report, property survey fee, recording fee, state and local transfer taxes, title search and insurance, and property taxes.

TAKE A HOMEARAMA SIDE TRIP.

What could be more fun than admiring one beautiful home after another at this year's Homearama?

Sneaking a peek at another showcase development, too.

You can do it by adding a little side trip. To make your Homearama day even more exciting, we've pulled out all the stops at two of our showcase communities:

The Lagoons of West Bloomfield. Luxury detached condominiums featuring Roman-style sunken tubs and two-story Great Rooms. Nestled in 141 acres of rolling woods off Pontiac Trail one mile east of Haggerty. Model homes open daily 12-6:00. 363-6800.

Sierra Pointe. Farmington Hills' leading condominium community. 2 and 3 bedroom ranch and townhouse styles sport hardwood decks, fireplaces, vaulted ceilings. Northeast corner of 13 Mile and Halsted roads. Model Homes open daily 12-6:00. 661-1400.

So give your Homearama day a little extra — stop by and get a look at some luxury homes you won't want to miss!

Colonial-style lighting to illuminate roadways

A custom-designed colonial-style lighting system that illuminates roadways will be featured at this year's Homearama. The roadway lighting system, the first of its kind to be installed by a subdivision developer, will provide security lighting for homes in the Hills of Oakland subdivision.

"Many communities do not provide streetlighting to subdivisions," according to Roy A. Maly, builder development specialist for Detroit Edison. "Mocer Development wanted to enhance the safety and value of the homes by installing colonial-style 100-watt high-pressure sodium fixtures. Our Detroit Edison lighting experts helped design the system."

Discount coupons, good for $1 of the admission price to Homearama Monday through Friday, will be mailed to Detroit Edison customers with their August statements. The coupons also will be available at Detroit Edison customer officers prior to and during Homearama.

The Intelligent Choice!

'Varnish' outstrips its original meaning

By Andy Lang
AP Newsfeatures

When you need more liveable space and are thinking about remodeling, don't forget the insulation in the attic floor. That insulation was originally needed to prevent the movement of rising heat through the ceiling of the living area and attic floor into the attic itself. You otherwise would be wasting energy and money to heat an attic where no one lived or slept.

It now has been determined that the amount of insulation in the attic floor is insufficient to take care of the requirements of an area where people live. It also has been determined that the large saving made possible by proper insulation applies just as much to a house with air conditioning as it does to a house with heat.

IF YOU contemplate remodeling and using the attic, a check of the insulation in the attic floor usually will reveal about 3 inches of insulation. The National Bureau of Standards and other agencies concerned with energy have estimated that 6 inches of insulation would fill the bill in the attic floor in regions of relatively mild winters. Amounts greater than that are justifiable where the climate is colder or warmer than average. Other reasons for increasing the insulation would be where energy costs are expected to rise and where walls are poorly insulated.

When adding insulation to the floor, use batts or blankets without vapor barriers. If the new installation has such barriers, slash the barriers with a knife or remove them.

WHEN IT is inconvenient to use batts or blankets, loose insulation may be used. If, by some chance, the attic floor had no insulation and you are using batts or blankets with vapor barriers, make sure those barriers are facing downward.

Insulation to be placed in the walls of the new living quarters should be

or stirring and, in many cases, you are warned against these actions.

cause bubbles that affect the finish.

set into place after the framework is up but before the full walls are up.

Staples used on the flanges of the insulation should be spaced about 8 inches apart. You may want to look into what are called wire insulation supports.

Since the object of a vapor barrier is to keep moisture out of the insulation itself, a cut or tear in the barrier must be repaired instantly. This can be done with a piece of barrier from a scrap section of the insulation or, in the absence of that, a piece of polyethylene. Any opening in the barrier will permit moisture to get through and thus destroy the entire purpose of the covering.

NO MATTER how efficiently your attic is insulated, there will be a considerable amount of leakage. The rule of thumb is that wherever you see any gap that might permit air or heat to escape, plug it up somehow, whether by weatherstripping, caulking compound or anything at all that will do the job.

One way to handle this, especially around window frames, is with the wool from an insulation blanket. Pull it from a blanket and stuff it by hand into the opening.

Since insulation fiber can cause skin irritation, wear work gloves of some kind while doing this. It's also a good idea to wear long-sleeved clothing to cover bare skin.

Besides escaping around window frames, air can get through electrical connections, plumbing stacks, ducts and whatever connections have been made to make living upstairs comfortable.

Above all, there must be plenty of ventilation at the top part of the attic. There usually are a couple of vents at the gable ends, but a combination of vents there and at the eaves is much better. Moisture vapor must be permitted to get out of the attic, either through the vents or with assistance from one or more fans.

(Detailed instructions on insulating an attic are included in Andy Lang's booklet, "Save Money by Insulating," which can be obtained by sending $1 and a stamped, long envelope to Know-How, P.O. Box 477, Huntington, NY 11743.)

varnishes generally give a more durable finish than the varnishes made of natural resins. They cost more, but are easier to brush on, dry more quickly and have excellent clarity.

Designs tailored to your home and your lifestyle

At Random House Interiors in Novi, a one-stop service for furnishing your home beautifully and exclusively to your taste awaits you.

"We offer a full resource center," says owner Julie Ford. "We'll help you choose paint, carpeting, wallpaper, paintings, sculptures and accessories. But we specialize in custom draperies and furniture. We have one of the largest 'booked' fabric choices in Michigan."

Personalized attention is the hallmark of Random House Interiors. Julie and her staff will take whatever time is needed to suit your requirements. "We are definitely service oriented," she says.

"No two homes are alike. We design your home for you and your family -- we discuss your lifestyle, tastes and activities and then we come up with a design that's functional and individual," she explains.

Julie took over Random House Interiors in 1986 when the firm was ten years old. A graduate of New York University with a degree in interior design, Julie currently teaches Interior Design I and II at Schoolcraft College.

The work of artist Tom LeGault (among others) is displayed in a "mini-gallery" of artwork at Random House Interiors. LeGault, a Michigan artist currently living in Florida, creates paintings exclusively for Julie's customers. He designs the work to the style and in the colors of the customer's choosing. A custom-designed painting adds a very special touch to the environment of a home -- a touch that appeals to many customers.

Julie creates interior designs in any of the many variations of traditional or modern style -- the two primary divisions of style. "Here in Novi," she says, "contemporary styles with a modern feeling are very popular, but many people also like country style."

Random House Interiors is located at 24404 Catherine in a new industrial park off of Ten Mile just east of Novi Road. There is also a satellite store in Tawas.

Office hours at the Novi Random House are 10 to 5 Monday through Friday, but Julie and her staff are happy to arrange evening or weekend appointments to accommodate a customer's needs. Please call ahead -- 313-348-6061.

Darling Manufactured Homes

Manufactured home sales are on the rise

Tom and Judi Darling opened their doors in 1972 with $50,000 worth of inventory and a small office on Novi Road in Novi. This year, they count ten park and sales locations around Michigan as part of the family and an inventory worth $3 million.

"As an organization, we will have sales in excess of 12 million, making us among the largest in the state," says President Tom Darling who, with his wife, oversees a company of 45 employees including 25 sales people, and support and service staff.

Darling Manufactured Homes is the area's exclusive retailer for Fleetwood Homes, the nation's largest homebuilder with a record of nearly 35,000, about double its nearest competitor.

But size doesn't explain the Darlings' success. "Our professional courteous salespeople are honest, straightforward and have a concern for the customer as a person," Tom says. And in addition to the large selection of best-selling homes available at the many Darling locations, the company offers set-up and service by full-time professionals with years of experience.

The firm has recently taken on a new direction in response to the much discussed "housing affordability gap," Tom says. "We're addressing that gap with factory built homes, both manufactured and modular. We can put a home on most any lot you buy in a neighborhood zoned residential."

A broad spectrum of manufactured homes available, Tom says, ranging in size from 900 to 1800 square feet, and in price from about $20,000 to about $60,000.

And it's convenient to buy from Darling Manufactured Homes because home, land and improvement arrangements can be made through the company.

"In fact, we do it all," says Tom, "selling, site improvements, selection of home and financing. And it's the fastest-growing segment of our business right now -- the home placed on private property."

In 1987, more than a quarter of all new single-family homes sold in America were manufactured homes. They were once called mobile homes, but since they are permanent residences, the name was dropped in 1980 when Congress changed references in federal laws and publications from mobile to manufactured housing.

Manufactured homes are built to federal standards and are inspected by federally certified agencies. Modular homes are built to state and local codes. More than 11 million Americans live in manufactured homes and since 1980, they represent about 15 percent of all new housing production.

There's no "typical" owner of a manufactured home -- owners come from all walks of life. The composite profile of new buyers has changed recently, however. They are 41.6 years old (older than previously), fewer are blue collar workers, and they have higher median incomes. The number of new buyers making $30,000 or more a year, has increased by half since 1984.

Anyone who hasn't been inside a manufactured home recently would be hard-pressed to recognize the spacious, elegantly furnished beauties sold by Darling Manufactured Homes. The most recent addition to the sales location at 25855 Novi Road must be seen to be believed -- it's a two-story Cape Cod!

Shuman Chrysler Plymouth/ Walled Lake

Outstanding service brings customers and awards

The Shuman family has been in business in Walled Lake for more than 30 years. Such an extended degree of longevity announces loud and clear that people in the area heartily approve of the Shuman business style.

In this case the style is marked by friendly, personal service and a hometown atmosphere.

"Customer satisfaction is a very high priority for us," Mr. Shuman says. "We work hard on that. We pride ourselves on the quality of the buying and servicing experience."

The Chrysler Corporation is in agreement on the quality of business at Shuman Motor Sales/Chrysler Plymouth. It's one of the few dealers in the metropolitan area to receive Chrysler's Five Star Sales & Service Award. The award rates dealers on their performance by surveying customers about their satisfaction with the car-buying experience. Shuman Motors is in the exclusive company of top-rated dealerships.

Sales manager Tom Zielinski, who has been with Shuman Motors for seven years, is proud of the firm's service award and delighted with the current products Chrysler/Plymouth offers.

"The Laser is an entirely new model of sports coupe," he says. "It's getting rave reviews from automotive writers and from customers. It's the product of Diamond Star Motors in a joint venture with Mitsubishi -- a complete departure for us. The car is very exciting." Recently-arrived Lasers on the Shuman Motors lot are getting more than their share of attention.

A perennial favorite among Plymouth's offerings is the Voyager mini-van, now in its sixth model year. It continues to dominate the mini-van market, Tom says, holding a 52 percent share and leaving only 48 percent for five or six other manufacturers to divide among themselves.

Another favorite model at Shuman Motors is Chrysler's LeBaron convertible -- the only convertible built by an American company in house with no out-sourcing.

With its outstanding reputation for service and pride in the products for sale, Shuman Motors is positioned for another several decades of hometown satisfaction with its business style.

Main Street Art

Quality framing enhances and preserves artwork

At Main Street Art, the inside of a finished piece of framed artwork is as important as the beauty of the frame.

"We use only quality supplies in framing," says owner Marion Betts. "Never, never do we use corrugated cardboard. It's filled with acid and the cardboard acts as a sponge to age and discolor the artwork."

Marion has been creating quality framed artwork for seven years at 432 North Main Street in Milford. Her shop boasts more than 1,500 corners for custom framing and one of the larger assortments of frame shapes available -- rectangles, ovals, circles -- in gold, several woods and a selection of silver.

"We offer individual creative designs by a trained staff," Marion says, noting that old fashioned personal service wins satisfied customers both in commercial accounts and retail business.

In addition to frames, Marion also carries an interesting variety of art in her shop. "Wildlife art and southwest art are both popular now," she says. Her gallery features the numbered and signed prints of several well-known artists -- the Alaskan landscapes and florals of N. Taylor Stonington, florals by Mary Vincent Bertrand and the wildlife art of Bateman, Dumas and Luce.

A selection of limited edition posters is also available. "I also carry the original work of local artists and a series of black art." Among the local artists represented is Russell Cobane of Waterford whose wildlife prints are outstanding. "He took a first in 1985 for his duck stamp."

An artist herself, Marion only recently resigned from the Ann Arbor Art Guild to devote more time to her business. She is assisted in framing by fellow artist Suzanne Gilbert who adds expertise to the very professional staff of Main Street Art.

Hours are Monday through Saturday 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., late hours are Thursday and Friday till 8 p.m. Special time appointments are available by calling 684-1004.

Jackson Landscape

Your imagination and their designs help to create award-winning landscapes

You've made the decision to landscape, now what do you do?

You start with the phone book calling everyone that looks good to you. After several calls, you get two or three companies to come out and give you some ideas and prices.

Now what? It's time to make a decision on which company you want to deal with.

Company number one gives you a sketch on a piece of graph paper with a list of plants, no sizes, and a total price. Company number two gives you a list showing 12 shrubs, 10 evergreens, 2 shade trees and 1 ornamental tree with a total price and no sketch or sizes of plants. Company number three hands you a business card with just the total price; no list of materials or what they are going to do for that amount of money. Now comes company number four. This company asks you to come into their office for your first appointment.

According to Ron Jackson, President of Jackson Landscaping Inc. in Northville, most homeowners go about getting landscape ideas and prices in just that manner. They fail to realize that the companies that give you their ideas and prices don't give you the sizes and types of plants that they are going to use. They do that on purpose to keep the price down and to get your job. They come in and install small plants for which you have no recourse because they did not indicate the size plant they were going to install. Most likely they won't even have an agreement for you to sign showing this information or that the plants have been inspected and are free from insects and disease and are guaranteed.

Landscaping is a large investment. Whether you have a new home and need complete landscaping or are relandscaping an existing home, your plan should begin with careful consideration and a design. A landscape design enables you to see the end result and know the costs even before the actual planting begins.

We ask you to come into our office so that you know who you are dealing with and what we can do for you. We work with each family taking their ideas and wants and combine them with our ideas and knowledge to create a perfect landscape design. This plan will show you the plants, their location and size as well as prices. A landscape plan enables you to spread the expense of landscaping over a period of several years, or as you can afford to do it, while the end result looks complete.

Jackson Landscaping has been landscaping homes since 1960 and is one of Michigan's leading landscape design building firms. According to Steve Kovach, Corporate Coordinator at Jackson Landscaping and a Michigan Certified Nurseryman, careful planning and the selection of a reputable company such as Jackson's will insure the protection of your investment.

Northville Downs

New look enhances an evening of harness racing

A $1 million renovation of the grandstand building and remodeling of the track will greet the fans of Northville Downs harness racing at post time on October 15th.

"This will be the track of the future," says manager Marge Zayti.

A completely renovated grandstand building brings the facility to state-of-the-art condition. Individual TV monitors accompany each box seat group and padded comfort seats have replaced metal seats in the reserved seat section.

"And we have re-worked the track itself to raise the level of degree in the turns," Zayti says. "That allows for a faster and safer track" -- faster for the fans' enjoyment, yet safer for the horses.

These major improvements maintain Northville Downs' premier position in harness racing in Michigan and throughout the midwest.

It was 1944 when a small group of New York businessmen decided to try an experiment -- placing bets on harness horses was a new idea. They leased the small Center Street fairgrounds used to train horses for Michigan fairs.

"Northville Downs is the original," Zayti says. "It's where it all began. The whole harness industry grew from the 35 days granted to those New Yorkers to prove their idea. One of them was John Carlo. He stayed in the racing business at Northville until he died in 1986."

At the track where harness racing began, Northville Downs steps into the future with a complete renovation.

During that first year -- 1944 -- bread was eight cents a loaf, the minimum bet cost $2 and a total of $1-plus million was wagered at Northville Downs. This year, $83 million was placed on bets, but the minimum bet is still $2.

"The best horses in the world have raced at Northville Downs," Zayti says, and the track continues to be the focal point of harness racing in the midwest. Nearly all the horses are Michigan owned and 600 are housed in Northville Downs' stables with the remainder at neighboring farms.

Harness racing is seasonal, running from October to April, six nights a week for a total of 144 racing days. Ten races are run each night beginning at 7:30 p.m. and continuing until about midnight.

About 5,000 people come through the doors on a Saturday night to find an enjoyable evening's entertainment in the huge three-tiered clubhouse. Concessions stands line the first tier with the cocktail lounge on the second clubhouse level. The third floor dining room offers large windows overlooking the track with a giant video screen for watching the horses at closer range. The grandstands seat about 2,500 people.

Gambling is adult entertainment, and children under 12 are not allowed into the track. Some of the gambling includes win, place, and show, and a daily double.

For reservations or more information about Northville Downs, contact Sue Hall or Margaret Zayti at 313-349-1000.

O'Brien Chapel/Ted C. Sullivan Funeral Homes

Family is an important part of their business

The concept of "family" is all-important at O'Brien Chapel located at 41555 Grand River Avenue in Novi. A family owned and operated funeral home, it is headed by funeral directors John J. O'Brien, his son John P. O'Brien and son-in-law Michael D. Watt. Four other family members serve on the staff various capacities.

O'Brien's is a full-service funeral home, serving families of all faiths and creeds. The staff will handle all aspects of the funeral service itself including such important matters as filing the death certificate, placing obituary notices and filling other post-funeral needs. A bereavement counselor is also available for family and friends.

They also work closely with the bereaved to see that all necessary paperwork is properly completed. This often calls for one of the staff to accompany a family member to the Veterans Affairs office, the Social Security office, or to help apply for insurance and pension benefits.

The O'Brien staff provides friendly, understanding service in a relaxed, comfortable atmosphere. "People visiting us are often under stress and sorrow," explained John P. O'Brien. "They don't need us being sour or cold."

Besides coming to the O'Brien Chapel at a time of need, John J. O'Brien explained that many people are pre-arranging their funerals, and sometimes pre-financing them as well.

"Pre-financing a funeral is more than a matter of economics," O'Brien explained. "When the time comes, it is no burden on the family. It's done more and more these days." The money for a pre-financed funeral is placed in a master escrow account with the Michigan Funeral Directors Association so the family is fully protected. Funeral insurance is another available pre-financing option.

Pre-arranging a funeral also allows the person to indicate exactly what kind of service he or she desires and to work out all details. In this way, family members are spared difficult decisions at a time of stress.

John J. O'Brien began in his profession as a staff member of Ted C. Sullivan Funeral Home in 1950. The Sullivan home had a long tradition in Michigan since the late 1800's. Eventually, John became sole owner and moved the firm into a larger, more modern structure at its present site in 1976.

O'Briens are very active in community activities in the Novi area, such as the Chamber of Commerce, the Boosters and the Novi Youth Association. They sponsor both soccer and baseball teams.

John P. O'Brien and Michael Watt are often invited to speak at local high schools on the subject of death and dying, and they are preparing a community education course.

The staff at O'Brien's prides itself on personal service, with the emphasis on family. "Ours is a 24 hour a day, 365 days a year business," explained John P. "When you call us, you're likely always to be dealing with a family member."

Population, industry continues to grow

By Lisa Felicelli

Business and industry will continue to grow in Green Oak, Lyon and Salem townships and the City of South Lyon as a result of expanding residential populations in these areas, members of the South Lyon Area Chamber of Commerce agree.

"All of these communities are growing as more people are choosing to move west of the Novi area," said Robert Borowiec, president of the South Lyon Area Chamber of Commerce.

Population growth and industry go hand in hand, he explained. The more people that live in an area, the more businesses that will emerge to serve them. Smaller communities in particular benefit from these businesses.

"When Twelve Oaks Mall went up in Novi, the city received a tremendous amount in tax dollars that helped to repair streets and assisted the school district," Borowiec said.

But while the increased business benefitted local residents, many decided that they didn't want so much commercial congestion in their backyard.

As a result, people are moving outward, Borowiec said. This is evident from a current survey of building departments, which cited the following number of residential building permits issued between January and June of 1989:

- Green Oak Township, 106;
- Lyon Township, 73;
- Salem Township, 9;
- City of South Lyon, 144.

"Starting homes in the Northville/Novi area generally range around $150,000 now," Borowiec noted. "So people are living 10 minutes further out in the same quality, but lower-priced homes."

He added that population growth puts additional pressure on younger families, which is why healthy industry in a community is such an advantage.

"Our school district is feeling a pinch right now," Borowiec said. "It would definitely benefit from the additional tax dollars that new businesses could produce."

Green Oak Township has issued three commercial building permits this year, the largest of which is Lake View Center, a mini-mall, on Eight Mile Road.

Lyon Township has also issued three permits, a retail mini-mall in New Hudson being the biggest project at an estimated $490,000 cost. Meanwhile Salem Township has issued two permits, and the City of South Lyon issued Hardee's a construction permit.

"All of the permits, both residential and commercial, are issued under proper zoning regulations so we have a balanced mix in the area," said David Grimes, secretary-treasurer of the South Lyon Area Chamber of Commerce.

Grimes said that any small town can capitalize on a bedroom community if it offers good service.

He noted that while large malls are available outside of this area, most residents still prefer to shop in their own town for necessities, provided they can receive good service.

"But if rates are high and the service isn't up to the residents' standards, they'll undoubtedly head out to larger communities," Grimes said.

Currently an array of light manufacturers has emerged, notably in Green Oak and Lyon townships, especially near the Brighton area, he added.

"Small commercial business people are doing well here," Grimes said. "Because there are so many new homes going up, home builders, electricians and landscapers are prospering."

However, he agreed that increased industry would enhance the community.

"I do think that all of the townships need a certain amount, if not new industry, to help with the tax base," he said. "But that type of growth is usually right behind growing communities like ours."

Slow growth combined with careful planning of industry will result in a more satisfactory environment, Borowiec emphasized.

Grimes, who has lived in this area since 1952, added that he has witnessed a dramatic changeover from farm areas to subdivision communities.

When completed, this mini-mall in Green Oak Township near Eight Mile and Lemen roads and west of US 23, will measure in excess of 46,000 square feet.

An economical, production proven, glow discharge process for increasing the wear resistance of metals.

Customized Precision Heat Treating and Ionitriding

Constantly upgrading their equipment and instrumentation to meet increasing metal performance requirements, Sun Steel has custom designed and has in operation over 60 salt bath furnaces for in-depth heat penetration at temperatures of plus or minus one degree on large or small parts such as metal cutting tools, forming tools, dies, gages, machine and aircraft parts.

Proper heat treatment by SUN was mainly responsible for extending the life of a spade drill four times; for increasing the life of a tractor link punch three times; for bringing about a new dimension of broaching performance by adding more strength and minimizing warpage on broaching tools; for increasing high speed steel form tool life in some plants to a degree that lathe production was increased 300 percent.

Good heat treating takes time as well as know-how. A once-over-lightly process may be less expensive initially, but when total costs are considered, such as scrap rate, in-process distortion, stability, and tool life factors, experienced SUN heat treatment customized to your part helps assure consistent performance.

Kocian Excavating

They're working hard to keep the water on tap

When Frank Kocian was new to the excavating business 38 years ago, the chief operating equipment for excavation came with a handle. "I started in the business with hand digging," Kocian says. "It's really different now."

The difference is evident in the 42 pieces of machine equipment Kocian uses for his business -- two cranes, a bulldozer, three backhoes, a tractor-mounted compacter, four loaders, drilling equipment for working under roads, and a lot of dump trucks.

"We also have specialized digging and testing equipment," Kocian says, "electronic equipment to find sewers where people don't know where they are."

Kocian Excavating does water taps up to two inches and makes water and sewer connections to homes. Frank Kocian and his five employees also carry out repairs on broken water and sewer lines. The company holds contracts for the water and sewer work at community hospitals, prisons, Schoolcraft College, condominium developments and "about 30 trailer parks," Kocian says.

He began his business in Livonia where he worked for eight years before establishing his current location at 625 Griswold in Northville. During those 38 years, the local area has seen extensive development away from the rural community of the 1950s. But regardless of change, both old and new development requires properly operating water and sewer lines. Kocian Excavating has taken care of that essential function for nearly four decades and will continue to offer the community the benefit of lengthy experience and quality work.

Casterline

Pre-planning helps to ease burden for families

Northville area families have had the benefit of assistance from the Casterline family in time of trouble for three generations.

Ray Casterline established Casterline Funeral Home at 122 W. Dunlap in Northville in 1937. He was followed by his son, Fred, who retired in 1980. Ray, II, "always helped out" at the funeral home and has been a licensed funeral director for 20 years.

It's a sensitive business, Ray says, "where you become a good judge of people and of what approach to funeral arrangements will suit them."

Pre-planning is an option that eases the burden for many people. Ray acquired his life insurance license last year in order to offer a pre-planning strategy called the Forethought Plan.

It works this way: a person chooses the services he wants for his own funeral arrangements and prices them at today's costs. He purchases a life insurance policy for that amount. The policy guarantees that the chosen arrangements will be paid for regardless of their price at the time of death.

"It's reassuring emotionally and financially for people to know that everything is taken care of," Ray says, "in many cases long term health care costs have depleted a persons savings to the point where state assistance is required. The Forethought program is set up in such a way to be protected and will not effect the amount of assistance the state provides".

Funeral arrangements are basically the same today as they have always been -- visitation and service often followed by cemetery burial -- but the regulations surrounding them have changed.

Five years ago, the Federal Trade Commission directed that funeral directors furnish families with price lists of their services -- embalming, use of the home, staff costs, transportation, obituaries, etc. The action stemmed from unfavorable press reports surrounding a few unscrupulous directors. "Unfortunately we have a few bad apples like every other profession," Ray says.

The effect of the pricing guidelines has been both positive and negative.

"People are much more aware of the variety of services provided by a funeral director now," Ray says. "But many people didn't want to know exactly what those services were and choose among them. It's a difficult time to force decisions on people."

There's been a change for the better in the public's attitude toward funeral directors and their business over the last few years, Ray says.

"The profession has opened up more, too, and as a result, we have quite a few young people, especially from churches, coming through the home on tours. It helps to remove the mystique associated with the profession. We answer questions and help change some of the very strange impressions young people have."

Casterline Funeral Home has a staff of five and like Ray, they are on call 24 hours a day, seven days a week, 365 days a year. It's difficult for Ray to have a normal home life with his wife and four daughters, but fortunately, as the daughter of a doctor, his wife is understanding.

For more information, call Casterline Funeral Home at 313-349-0611

Community Federal Credit Union

Community Federal moves to new location

With each nail pounded home, with each wall panel raised, and with each skyward pointing peak completed, the building under construction at 358 East Main Street in Northville takes another step down the road to identity. And when that road comes to an end, in late fall, Community Federal will have a new home.

The credit union is moving from 101 N. Center Street to provide its members with a variety of additional services, including drive-thru windows, an automatic teller machine, and a convenient place to park.

"The new building will be more spacious," added Mary Gyorke, branch manager of the Northville office. "We'll have a larger lobby, and five teller windows instead of the three we have here. There will also be a loan closing room, and a lunchroom and larger work station for the staff."

Not to be lost in the move is the close connection to the Northville community that has been established by the current office in its 12 years downtown. Wood panelling, dark gray carpet, flowers, framed pictures on the walls, an entrance door with an old-fashioned handle, and even a pegboard with postings of community happenings all contributes a sense of comfort and familiarity to Community Federal.

"Northville is a wonderful community," Gyorke said. "It's very close-knit, and very business oriented with a strong merchant organization. The people of Northville, as well as the merchants, make it that way. It shows that they are proud of the community. We at Community Federal want to stay a part of that."

"People in Northville look for personal service, and that's what Community Federal offers," said Jenny Levy, Director of Marketing. "We offer a very personalized, family-oriented type of atmosphere for people to be comfortable in when they carry out their financial transactions."

"As a part of our training program, we stress the importance of a good customer service relationship more than anything else," Gyorke added. "Once you get to know a member and feel comfortable enough to call them by their first name, they like that."

A full-service financial institution, Community Federal is able to offer the same services as other financial services, but with lower fees because it is a credit union. "When you become a member of Community Federal, or any credit union, you are becoming a shareholder. You technically own a part of the company," explained Jenny Levy. "That's one of the reasons why we emphasize personal service so much. Our members own the credit union and we operate it for them. Since we are a non-profit organization, when we come out ahead, we return those dollars to our members in the form of dividends. We give the money back to you, so we have lower fees than most financial institutions. We can offer better rates on loans, certificates, money markets, things like that."

To become a member in Community Federal you must live or work in either Plymouth, Canton, Northville, or Montmorency and Ostego. The minimum opening balance for a savings account is $10.00.

"A lot of people will start with just a savings account," Gyorke said. "Then maybe they'll check around and say, 'Wow, my checking account at this other institution is costing me more in fees than it would at Community Federal.'"

With local branches in Northville, Plymouth and Canton, Community Federal designs and decorates its offices to reflect the communities it serves. So, come late fall, look for announcements of an open house at the new building, a bright reflection in the heart of Northville.

Community Federal credit union is currently located at 101 N. Center St. in Northville at the corner of Main and Center St. Hours are Monday through Thursday, 9:30 to 5; Friday, 9:30 to 7; and Saturday 9:30 to 1pm. The phone number is 348-2920.

Jerome & Samhat, P.C.

They're here to serve you

The Law Offices of Jerome & Samhat, P.C., 436 N. Center Street, at the corner of Lake Street in Northville, provides legal services to businesses, individuals and various associations located throughout the state. The firm prides itself in working as a team of lawyers, paralegals and secretaries, serving the surrounding communities. Because of the specialized skills of the firm, it serves clients throughout Michigan and in Florida, Georgia, Texas, California, Ohio, Illinois, Indiana and other states.

David E. Jerome decided to "come home again" in 1982 and establish the firm in the old Crawford home. David has lived in Northville since 1953. He is a graduate of Northville High School, the College of Wooster and the University of Michigan Law School. He resides in Northville with his wife and two children.

Mr. Jerome specializes in corporate law, wills and trusts, labor law and employment civil rights law. Additionally, he is one of the few attorneys in the state who has expertise in transportation law. He is active in church and community activities, presently serving on the board of Northville Junior Baseball.

Donald L. Samhat joined the firm in 1983, bringing with him several years of litigation experience. A graduate of Livonia Bentley High School and Michigan State University,

Mr. Samhat received his law degree from the University of Detroit Law School, graduating cum laude, in 1981. He is also a recipient of the American Jurisprudence Awards in business organizations and constitutional law. Married with three children, Don resides in Northville and serves on the Northville Township Zoning Board of Appeals and the Northville Junior Baseball board.

In addition to litigation, Don is a veteran in family law matters, real estate, employment discharge and civil rights cases. Don promotes the firm's effort to serve the community by representing individuals in malpractice and personal injury cases from the investigation and evaluation stages through trial and enforcement of claims.

Steven M. Dodge (not pictured) has recently become associated with the firm. He is a graduate of the University of Michigan and the University of Detroit Law School. He is returning to this area after several years of practice in Alpena. His legal experience ranges from wills, estates, and trusts, family relations, debt collection, landlord/tenant law and criminal work, the last being with the office of the Public Advocacy.

Katherine Cosentino, a paralegal, has been with the firm since its inception. Katherine has over 15 years legal experience working in various states including Virginia, Washington, D.C. and Michigan. Kathy Cosentino resides in Novi with her husband and daughter. Kathy graduated from Redford High School and is continuing her legal education at Madonna College.

Mrs. Cosentino is a member of the Northville Women's Club and the National Association of Legal Administrators. She has experience in many aspects of the law including real estate, estate planning, probate, transportation and corporate.

The secretaries, Debbie Swindlehurst, Lisa Sajewski and Beth Schumacher, have all been with the firm at least two years. Because of their longevity with the firm and their familiarity with the clientele and types of law handled by the firm, they are a valuable asset.

Jerome & Samhat, P.C. has been given the highest rating for quality and professional ability by the national legal rating organization of Martindale & Hubbell.

Jerome & Samhat, P.C. also takes an active part in fostering community relations by sponsoring various baseball teams (T-Ball and 8-Ball) and speaking in church and school programs.

Gala Construction Company

Honesty and pride go in before the roof goes on

As a Northville/Novi based family-operated business, Gala Construction Company takes pride in the special care it gives its customers, employees and roofing projects.

A thorough, professional estimate is only the first step.

"I know myself that I don't like to make a purchasing decision without having complete knowledge of the product I intend to buy," said Scott Gala, president. "After completing one of my appointments, homeowners know exactly what they can expect from my company."

In his estimates, Scott outlines every step and procedure and clearly specifies the exact materials Gala Construction Company will use — right down to their top-of-the-line Stanley-Bostitch nails.

Scott emphasized that he's not a "write a price down on the back of a business card" operation.

"We don't cut corners on our materials," he said. "Staples tend to sink too far into and damage shingles, which is why we use name-brand quality nails."

Despite this superiority of materials utilized by Gala Construction Company, Scott noted that his business is a competitive bidder. If his bid is higher than a competitor's, he explained that he compensates for this with guaranteed workmanship.

Scott and Eric Gala and their crew take pride in the high standards they set for every job.

"Price only reflects what a customer is going to receive," Scott stressed. "We do a roof right the first time. A customer won't have to worry about repairs for the next 25 years."

Scott works exclusively with homeowners to find the exact shingle color they desire for their home — all they have to do is point out a house shingled with the blend they like and he'll match it.

"We also pride ourselves in our ability to tackle any roof slope and get the job done according to the completion date stated on the quotation," Scott said.

Gala Construction Company is comprised of a dedicated, experienced crew of former Northville High School friends who work as earnestly for Scott as they do for homeowners.

"I know I can really trust and depend on my workers," Scott emphasized.

Gala Construction Company prides itself on completing a job promptly without having to "pitch a tent." Scott added that his crew will fulfill their responsibilities in an orderly, organized manner.

"I employ two groundsmen to keep yards clear of haphazardly placed materials and debris," Scott said. "We're in this business to make homes look good."

The Gala family is established and growing in the construction industry. A Michigan State University graduate, Scott is a licensed builder; his brother Eric, vice-president of the company, is studying building construction management at MSU; and their father, Henry, has been in the construction business for over 25 years.

Developing corporate neighbors in campus-style environments

To enter the lobby of Crystal Glen Office Centre is to step into a garden of greenery, lightly splashed with waterfalls and floored in polished granite.

The 265,000 square foot building is one of two in the Orchard Hills Corporate Office Campus developed and leased by Samelson Development Company -- a veteran of speculation office buildings in the metro Detroit area.

"Our goal is to promote the corporate office campus in Novi," says Project Coordinator Kelly Summerfield. The two office buildings -- Crystal Glen and Orchard Hill Place -- offer full-service amenities in sleek contemporary styling warmed with atrium lighting and oak accents. All this in booming Novi, off Eight Mile Road at the juncture of I-275 and Haggerty Road.

"The area along the I-275 'golden corridor' has it all," says Summerfield. "It's lodged within a major highway network making it 20 to 40 minutes to just about everything in the metro area. There's adequate free parking and it's adjacent to the Novi Hilton and all its facilities."

In addition, Summerfield says, the market in the corridor is very strong. An abundance of housing activity aimed at white collar buyers creates a demand for the very special office buildings of Orchard Hills. (The companion building to Crystal Glen is the 130,000 square foot Orchard Hills Place.)

The buildings are leased strictly for office usage. "Much of our competition (for office space leasing) is in buildings that also house retail space," says Jim Brodick, leasing director for Crystal Glen. "Here we have none of the hustle and bustle associated with retail -- it's all office usage."

Among the firms leasing space in Crystal Glen and Orchard Hill Place are several widely-recognized firms who demand the building excellence and freeway access that constitute an outstanding business environment -- Hewlett Packard, Digital Equipment, Lipton Foods, National Steel Corporation and Michelin Tire.

Most tenants require about 20,000 square feet, Summerfield says, "but we have tenants in 100,000 square feet and we've put a tenant in 1,000. There's a lot of space and a lot of competition in the area, but our buildings sell themselves."

A selling-point to any eye is the six-floor atrium in Crystal Glen -- a soaring interior tower of light and space filled with the sound of fountains and pools. Skywalks overlook the atrium and provide access from the east building to the west. Eventually, a canopied walk will connect with the nearby Novi Hilton.

Some tenants at Orchard Hill Place have access to roof decks which provide corporate offices with private outdoor retreats. Among the more practical considerations for tenants are the floor layouts designed to maximize suite layout flexibility and the availability of computerized energy management and security monitoring.

"We've designed Orchard Hills to meet very demanding standards," Summerfield says. "This commitment to quality development -- combined with an exceptional location -- provides successful companies with a high level of corporate identification, minimum traffic congestion and enhanced comfort and convenience."

Novi, Northville forecast more steady growth

By Jeff Hawkins

Despite sewer capacity difficulties, the forecast for business and industry development in the area will remain on the upswing, according to local planners.

In both communities of Novi and Northville, current sewer problems which plague area development efforts are expected to be overcome by two new expansion projects.

The "super sewer" system, which includes the cities of Novi and Northville, is scheduled for completion in 1992 or 1993, Novi Director of Community Development Jim Wahl said. New super capacity for Northville Township is also forthcoming.

"We have a lot going on," Northville Township Planning and Zoning Advisor Carol Maise said. "Since the Haggerty Road sewer permit was issued, everything is starting to come in."

"Development is rising dramatically," Northville Chamber of Commerce Executive Director Laurie Marrs said. "People go where the money is."

Although area officials are confident development will continue to grow, the concern over the sewer issue might hamper business' decision to build in the area.

"The sewer will have an impact," Novi Staff Planner John Schlagneck said. "We are hoping it can be resolved soon."

And because the system has been placed on a list of priorities for correction, area officials remain confident that Novi and Northville will continue to grow.

"They (prospective developers) realize that the issue will be resolved soon, so there is no indication that a decrease in development will happen," Schlagneck said.

"We have a lot of room to grow," Marrs said. "People want a small-town atmosphere along with wanting the amenities of a big city."

According to the City of Novi's Annual Report from the Department of Planning, Community Development and Planning Commission, some of Novi's goals and objectives include the continuation of the progress already made in the 1988-89 fiscal year — by recommending rezonings already established by the Master Plan and the Zoning Committee.

With most of the land available already zoned as residential, single-family homes and condominium building permits are expected to increase in the near future, Schlagneck said.

Officials also plan to continue and improve the Transportation Plan incorporated in the Master Plan, to begin implementing the Natural Resources Design Plan the committee completed and approved in the 1988-89 fiscal year, and improve communications with the residents of Novi.

"The large majority of the vacant land still available is zoned as residential," Schlagneck said.

While there has been a significant decrease in apartment permits since 1985, the housing market has fluctuated extensively, and condo permits have generally followed the single-family-homes' pattern of diversity, according to city records.

In a telephone survey conducted by Schlagneck, there are approximately 813 new units being projected for construction in Novi in 1989.

"Developers are not staying away," Wahl said.

BUSINESS & INDUSTRY

County ranks Novi high in commercial tax base

By Brenda Dooley

Rapidly developing Novi continues to steadily gain new subdivisions, office buildings and commercial centers.

1988 figures from the city assessor's office show how residential, commercial, industrial, agricultural and personal property mesh together to comprise the City of Novi.

About 45 percent of the city's total 1988 state equalized valuation (SEV) consisted of residential property, followed by 32 percent commercial, 9 percent personal property and 3 percent agricultural.

To clear up any confusion, a short explanation of the property categories may be in order.

The commercial property category includes retail developments within the city. Residential property consists of homes, while the industrial category encompasses both light and heavy industrial uses.

Agricultural property is, of course, rural in nature. It's interesting to note that the 3 percent figure translates into slightly more than 13 acres of agricultural land that exists in the city.

Personal property consists of equipment and computers that are not for resale by the city.

According to figures from 1987 Oakland County Equalization Division, Novi ranks higher than surrounding communities in its percentage of total commercial property, while the amount of residential property lags behind most cities.

Novi, however, carries a higher percentage of industrial property compared to most surrounding communities except Wixom, which is the home of Ford Motor Co.'s Assembly Plant.

Figures for neighboring Farmington in 1987 show that about 30 percent of the city's total SEV consists of commercial to 66 percent residential. Industrial property makes up only 4 percent of Farmington's tax base, with no agricultural property recorded.

In Farmington Hills, 31 percent of the city's total SEV is commercial, 61 percent residential and 8 percent industrial. Again, no agricultural property was listed in county reports.

For Northville, 1987 figures show that a mere 4 percent of the city's total SEV is commercial, 95 percent is residential and 1 percent is industrial.

About 23 percent of South Lyon's total SEV in 1987 was commercial, 72.2 percent residential, 3.4 percent industrial and 1.4 percent personal property.

In Walled Lake, 22 percent of the city's total 1987 SEV was commercial, 67 percent residential, 10 percent industrial and 1 percent personal property.

For Wixom, 22.6 percent of the city's total 1987 SEV was commercial, 34.2 percent residential, 41.2 percent industrial and 2 percent personal property.

Collector's enthusiasm helps to shape gallery

Tim Smith collected wildlife art for ten years before his success forced him to take another step.

"The collection finally grew to a point where I just had to do something," Tim says of his decision to open the Wind River Gallery in Milford on March 1, 1989. The gallery features wildlife art, of course, but also highlights many other art forms related to wildlife.

Wood carvings of fish, wild fowl and songbirds, limited edition posters, wildlife books, pottery, and handwoven rugs jostle each other for space among a sampling of paintings with a southwest flavor, mother/child art, scrimshaw pieces and a fascinating variety of gifts dealing with wildlife.

Tim also handles stained glass creations some of which are fashioned from the image of a customer's favorite wildlife painting. Others are custom designed for sidelights or windows. "Most people in this area like wildlife art to some degree," Tim says. "It has a following."

Sue White, who assists Tim at the Wind River Gallery, says the "following" is about evenly divided between men and women. "But a favorite for the men is the duck stamp print," she says. "Many men collect a particular selection of them -- for example, pintail duck stamps, or Michigan duck stamps, or the duck stamps of a particular artist."

Wildlife artists enter their work every year in the juried duck stamp contests of many states. Prints are then made of the winning painting and together with the resulting stamp for a framed work of about 10 by 12 inches.

Other gallery customers choose paintings or carvings for their place up north where they've spotted a particular specie of wildlife and want a painting of what they've seen. "Loons are very popular right now," Sue says. "They're distinctive both by sight and by sound."

The Wind River Gallery handles original carvings and cast pieces --those which are created by an artist, then cast in porcelain or a man-made material, and individually hand-painted by the artist. Many people are interested in carving right now, Sue says, and original pieces will range upward from about $600. "A 'best of show' loon recently brought $1,200." There's also a big market for songbirds, Sue says, and hand-carved fish are hard to keep in stock.

Wind River Gallery offers custom framing for prints sold in the shop or for a customer's print. Also available is "conservation framing" which helps preserve artwork by using acid-free rag materials for matting. This prevents the staining that sometimes occurs over time on the surface of a print matted in the conventional way.

During the Milford Home Tour -- September 16 and 17 -- Wind River Gallery will host a showing of the Paw Paw wildlife artist, Karen Pamment, whose work the gallery sells, and expects to publish and distribute. The artist will be in the gallery during the weekend to discuss her work with browsers and buyers.

Wind River Gallery, located at 400 N. Main Street, Suite 204, is open Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday from 9:30 a.m. to 7:00 p.m., Thursday and Friday from 9:30 a.m. to 8:00 p.m., and on Saturday from 9:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

Norris Trim

Greatest product since the wheel

For newly-named Norris Trim of Novi, the greatest invention since the wheel has been the wheel cover.

A division of Taylor-based Masco Industries, Norris Trim designs and manufactures automotive trim, such as trim rings, metal, plastic and composite wheel covers.

Formerly called Automotive Trim, Norris Trim is changing directions to serve customers better and reorganizing to be more service-oriented.

"We're actually getting back to our roots," explains O.E. Catenacci, director of industrial relations. "We were once the Norris Company and many of our customers and suppliers remembers us as Norris." It's a name that goes on millions of cars.

"Virtually every car built has some type of wheel trim," says Catenacci. "There were 8 million cars built last year and a good share of them have our (wheel) trim on them."

From its offices located at 39600 Orchard Hill Place, Norris Trim can take the bare essence of an idea, refine it through computer-aided design and fabricate a prototype for viewing by the client many months prior to the finalization of the car's design.

To the layperson, a wheel cover may do little more than hide a set of lug nuts. But to Norris Trim, wheel covers require a careful balance between convenience and technology, Catenacci says. For example, a wheel cover must withstand the dynamics of motion and the brutal punishment of road and weather but it must provide cooling air to the brakes, be easy to remove and retain its finish.

Computers can tell the designers and engineers whether that balance can be achieved with a particular design. Computer-aided design (CAD) gives Norris Trim a quick response to a product engineer's idea, says Catenacci. Through CAD and CATIA, a second computer design system which works in three dimensions, engineers and designers can determine the feasibility of a design and compare it to previous designs.

"You have to be able to make it (the wheel cover) in quantity, perfect every time," says Catenacci, adding that quality, price and delivery all need to meet the customer's demands.

Computers are sometimes used to guide the tools which fabricate the prototypes. Norris Trim also has its own machine shop with highly skilled labor to produce its product samples.

Once a product is in hand, Norris Trim tests it for endurance and performance. Wheel covers are subjected to extreme heat and cold, salt spray and other tests and the results are passed along to the car companies, which perform their own tests on the product.

"Once, they (the car company) rejected our cover because it was too shiny," says Catenacci, explaining that the sun's heat reflected off the cover and melted the plastic center.

Aesthetics is also an important consideration in designing wheel covers. "We try to come up with something compatible with what the idea of the car is," Catenacci adds. When whitewalls were popular, chrome wheel covers were popular too. But as whitewalls faded, the chrome covers gave way to covers with a matte finish, which are more compatible with blackwall tires, says Catenacci.

The big change in design is the transition from solid covers to "floating centers," where hollow spokes are used to support a center-piece, he says. As a result of the popularity of spoked wheel covers, Norris Trim has become the largest domestic producer of small diameter stainless steel tubing, which is used in the manufacture of those covers, adds Catenacci.

In addition to its automotive trim work, the Novi location of Norris Trim serves as the computer center for the division, which employs 1,500 people in four locations throughout the country. Information from each location is transmitted to Novi via telephone lines and the computers process the information daily, providing managers with almost instant reports of production efficiency.

Catenacci points out that these reports are used as an informational tool by employees, both management and hourly, to improve production in order to keep pace in an increasingly competitive market.

Norris Trim opened its Novi location in 1982 and was acquired by Masco Industries in 1985. It traces its history back 35 years to Gar Wood Industries, which manufactured wheel covers for the DeSoto automobile.

In 1969 Gar Wood was sold to Sargent Industries and renamed The Automotive Trim Division (ATD). ATD was then purchased by Norris Industries in 1973 and Norris became Automotive Trim in 1981.

In its 1987 report, Masco Industries, the parent of Norris Trim, reported net sales of $1.47 billion, a 106-percent increase from 1986. Operating profit was reported at $207 million, an 82-percent rise from the year before.

Michigan Seamless Tube Division

High alloy seamless tubes are sold internationally

Quanex Michigan Seamless Tube Division has been in South Lyon for 62 years producing cold finished seamless tubing to the energy and mechanical markets. Providing what the customer needs, when he needs it is one of the firm's success secrets.

"Everything is tailored to a particular customer's order," according to John Yetso, general manager of Michigan Seamless. "Our goal is to be a high quality, on time supplier."

Since seamless tubing has a better strength than welded tubing "it provides a cost effective way to make high alloy tubes," says Yetso. These Seamless tubes can be used in high pressure applications. Michigan Seamless's products are used primarily in boilers, in machinery and throughout the auto industry.

Michigan Seamless tubes range in diameter from 1/2 inch to five inches, with wall thickness from .049 to .750 inches. Typical tube length is 25 to 30 feet long.

Basically, seamless tubing is made by taking a solid bar of steel and piercing a hole in it. It is a simple premise that requires several steps and the skill of dedicated employees.

At the hot mill the steel bar is heated to about 2250 degrees fahrenheit and is pierced to the desired dimension. The Kocks mill then reduces the outside and inside diameter, and interior diameter.

The tube is then inspected and moved to the cold draw operation. Cold drawing reduces the outer diameter and wall dimensions to even closer tolerances, according to the customer's requirements. The tube is lubricated and drawn through a carbide die and over a mandrel. The tube is then annealed to obtain proper hardness and tensile strength. Subsequent cold drawing processes may be required before the tube meets exact specifications.

The tube is then rotary straightened to remove any curves or bends that may have occurred during production and cut to length. Final, non-destructive testing insures that the tube meets Michigan Seamless high quality standards.

At packing and shipping, the tubes are prepared in the proper sized bundles for shipping. Michigan Seamless ships tubes all over

Production keeps constant with the help of the machine shop that provides and assembles spare parts. "They are instrumental in maintaining the operation," says Yetso. "They are a strong support of the hands-on maintenance force."

nance force."

Annual capacity for Michigan Seamless Tube is approximately 45,000 tons. Currently they are running at a much reduced rate of capacity due to foreign imports and general business conditions.

Peaker Services, Inc.

Customer satisfaction has aided PSI's growth

Choosing Peaker Services, Inc. means choosing a complete approach to quality, service and value in large diesel engines. So says a growing roster of PSI's customers from far Pacific Islands to the Middle East.

Now entering its 19th year, PSI is equipped to rebuild, repair and update all the standard mechanical and electrical components of the railroad locomotives made by GM's Electro-Motive Division, and power generation and marine applications for these and larger diesel engines — some as powerful as 3500hp.

"Experience and confidence in our abilities mean that our customers can rely on PSI for total satisfaction, job after job, whether the work's done in our Green Oak Township plant, on-site at a customer's location or anywhere in between," says Dick Steele, founder and president of the company.

PSI's modern plant on Kensington Court is staffed by some of the most congenial people in the industry, men and women very willing to share knowledge and practical experience.

A rapidly growing company founded in a rented 2-car garage in Belleville, Michigan, PSI's technical and mechanical personnel have strong mechanical aptitude and a desire to be a part of a dedicated team. The Deming management method for improving quality is stressed throughout the company.

Peaker Services' scope includes locomotives, both switching and road types; marine applications such as tugs and bulk carriers; emergency and on-line power generating plants ("peakers" in that industry); and off-road equipment such as giant drag-line shovels for mining operations.

PSI provides 24-hour emergency service, contract management programs, electrical systems design, engine maintenance and remanufacturing, engine components for fast delivery and locomotive remanufacturing and modernization. PSI also holds schools for persons responsible for operating and maintaining large diesel engines.

While PSI's highly-trained staff is primarily concerned with profitable performance of EMD engines, selection and operation as well as maintenance of the proper motive power for individual needs are critical considerations, and PSI's employees — there are now more than 60 — are frequently sought as advisors in these areas.

Country Squire

Let their lights shine in your home today

Tom Snider opened the doors of the Country Squire 16 years ago featuring fireplace accessories. He carried 18 light fixtures "just to dress up the store."

"But people kept buying the fixtures," Tom says, explaining how the Country Squire came to carry one of Michigan's largest selections of light fixtures -- about 3,500 give or take a few.

Most national brands are represented among the staggering selection -- Stiffel, Thomas Lighting, Quoizel. The result is a brilliant array of lamps and fixtures stretching, literally, from floor to ceiling.

In between, a wide variety of household furnishings fills the Country Squire -- patio furniture, ceiling fans, wall decor, outdoor grills, wicker furniture, woodstoves, fireplace enclosures and accessories. "It's sort of a home furnishings supermarket," Tom says, "a furniture store without the furniture."

Like most items of decor, lighting fixtures change with currently popular trends, but traditional brass is always "in," according to Tom. "Right now, the Southwest look is also very fashionable. Light fixtures in this style are generally ceramic, done in earth tones and they have a contemporary feel."

Although Livingston County prizes the traditional in most areas -- a strong surge of country-style decoration developed a few years ago -- contemporary interior design is the current favorite. "It's surprising," Tom says, "but contemporary is definitely most popular right now."

Ceiling fans are a very "hot" item this year, Tom says. "They're useful for cooling in the summer, of course, but in the winter, you can reverse them to pull the heat off the ceiling. They provide very good distribution. We're selling three or four for a single new home."

Wood stoves, which enjoyed great favor beginning about five years ago, have been replaced in preference by the more convenient glass enclosed fireplace with gas logs, Tom reports. "Where we were seeing about 90 percent wood stoves to 10 percent glass enclosures, it's now about 80 percent enclosures with gas logs."

A great change has occurred in patio furnishings, which until a few years ago, were made almost exclusively of aluminum. "PVC began as water pipe," Tom points out, "but now it's made in several shapes and many colors, (pastels are favored) and the quality has improved so much that it holds up as well as aluminum."

Tom is as proud of his service as he is of the selection he offers customers.

"We still have 'real' salespeople," he says of his 25 employees. "People who really want to help you." Several have been with him for many years. Diane Nauenburg, bookkeeper and right hand gal, "sort of oversees everything and even goes out on the floor if she's needed." Another employee, Ed Masluk, has been at the Country Squire so long that most customers know him. Another feature of Country Squire service involves the "house calls" which Tom still makes to measure for fireplace enclosures. He'll also arrange for the installation of fixtures, fans or enclosures.

The Country Squire is located at 209 West Grand River in downtown Howell. Their phone number is 517-546-7040.

The Howell Country Squire is open seven days a week. Hours are Monday and Friday, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.; Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.; Sunday, noon to 5 p.m.

Novi Family Dental Center

Total dental care for the family

Comfort may be the last thing people associate with a dentist's office but it's a key to the success of the Novi Family Dental Center and Dr. Allen Tuchklaper.

Comfort greets patients as they enter the office. Photographs of the no-cavity children, proudly smiling, cover a bulletin board; another board displays clippings of patients in the news, and there's always the familiar smiling faces behind the counter too. It all contributes to a very 'family' feeling.

"Ninety-nine percent of the time it can be a very comfortable experience," said Dr. Tuchklaper of his patient's visits.

In Novi for over eight years and practicing in dentistry for 13 years, Dr. Tuchklaper is committed to dentistry, the community and his patients.

"We practice holistic dentistry," Dr. Tuchklaper explained. "That is, we look at each patient as an individual. We look at the whole person. We involve the patient in developing his own dental care program."

And that dental care program can include a full spectrum of services with the addition of Dr. Franklin L. Gordon, a dentist with licensed specialties in endodontics (diseases of the tooth pulp) and periodontics (diseases of the tissues and structures surrounding and supporting the teeth).

Dr. Gordon joined the office about 1½ years ago and works in the office on Wednesdays. He sees the unique relationship between himself and Dr. Tuchklaper as beneficial to both of them and, especially, the patients.

With Dr. Gordon on staff, the Novi Family Dental Center can give patients nearly total dental care. "Almost everything can be done in the office," added Dr. Tuchklaper.

A part of that care is Dr. Tuchklaper's commitment to preventive dentistry. He often visits area elementary schools telling children about the importance of hygiene, brushing, nutrition and home care. And the work is paying off, not only in better dental health, but less anxiety from children about visiting the dentist.

"Most of the kids I see today are in relatively good dental health and relatively comfortable in the office," said Dr. Tuchklaper, adding that he is seeing children as young as 2½ years old.

In addition to preventive measures, Dr. Tuchklaper offers the latest in dental innovations such as implants, cosmetic dentistry, bonding, sealants and "Newssoft" dentures.

Implants, explained Dr. Tuchklaper, are gaining acceptability as a way to replace a single tooth or completely restore the mouth. It is a relatively simple procedure where the implant is actually attached to the bone and can be done under a local anesthetic.

Cosmetic dentistry is more and more popular. Misalignments, malformations and discolorations can be remedied through bonding or porcelain-laminate veneers that offer long-lasting surfaces and aesthetics that are "just magnificent," said Dr. Tuchklaper.

Sealants can be of special benefit to children. The sealant covers the chewing surfaces of the molars, protecting these surfaces from decay.

For denture wearers, "Newssoft" dentures eliminate the problem of loose, sore dentures through the use of a new modern material that fits softly and securely without adhesives. Newssoft dentures can be used for new or relined dentures.

The Novi Family Dental Center welcomes those interested in taking an active role in their dental health. The office is located at 24101 Novi Road, just south of Ten Mile in the Michigan National Bank Building. The phone number is (313) 348-3100.

Homeowners Concept

No Commission Real Estate Brokerage

The best agent to show off your home is you

Homeowners Concept represents an idea whose time has come. As the average price of a house in southeast Michigan whistles past the $100,000 mark, the real estate commission on a sale involves a sizeable chunk of money you could probably find another use for.

Homeowners Concept is a national franchise brokerage that charges a flat fee (but no commission) for providing all the services of conventional real estate agents except for showing the house. You do that yourself.

"Who knows your house better than you do?" asks Bruce Lloyd, president and co-founder of Homeowners Concept at 12 Oaks in Novi. "It's a myth that the seller shouldn't be there when prospective buyers go through your house. Who else would be able to tell the prospect how beautiful the apple tree looks in the spring, how much your children enjoy the friends their own age in the neighborhood and how convenient it is to have three babysitters on the block? An agent generally doesn't know these things, yet these are good selling points for a home."

Except for showing the home, Homeowners Concept offers the customary real estate services: pricing assistance, furnishing of signs and advertising in "Homes" magazine as well as local newspapers, coverage of office calls by licensed agents seven days a week, pre-qualification of buyers, handling of contracts, assistance with financing arrangements and representation at closing.

In addition, Homeowners Concept offers "how-to" advice on preparing your house for sale and helpful tips on conducting open houses and talking with prospects.

"We feel the owner is the best qualified person to show his own home," says C.J. (Bud) Wills who established the Novi Homeowners Concept with Bruce. "And as hard as a conventional agent may work for you, he or she simply can't have an open house at your house every Sunday from 2 to 5 when most prospective purchasers are looking. But you can."

The seller's can save a substantial amount of money by showing their home and paying the flat fee charged by Homeowners Concept. "For example," Bud says, "on a $100,000 house, we charge $200 upon registration and $1700 at closing for a total of $1,900. A real estate commission of six percent on $100,000 would be $6,000, so the seller save $4,100 for showing their own home. The money can be pocketed, of course, or used to lower the price of the home for a quicker sale."

The average Homeowners Concept property is on the market about 60 days, a selling period that encourages positive public response to the "For Sale by Owner" idea among those who know of it. Flat fee brokers already handle about half of the residential real estate market in California.

Established in 1982 in Ohio, Homeowners Concept currently includes 50 independently-owned and operated franchises from California to Florida with five in Michigan.

A sixth Michigan franchise -- owned by Bruce Lloyd and C.J. Wills -- will be located in the Brighton area in the near future.

"We already have many Livingston County listings," Bruce says, "and an office there is already in the works."

Hewitt Cosmetic Surgery Institute/Livonia

Hewitt Cosmetic Surgery Institute linking better looks with better lifestyle

Louetta Hewitt, M.D., helps people look better and feel better through surgery and modification of nutrition and exercise habits.

"It's quite a psychological business," Dr. Hewitt says. "People look in the mirror and say to themselves - 'I don't feel like this on the inside. Why do I have to look like this on the outside?' An improvement in appearance makes them very happy."

Dr. Hewitt offers a free initial consultation to discuss her program and the patient's expectations. She does not perform reconstructions after cancer surgery nor does she treat patients after major accidents. Rather, she specializes in face lifts, chemo peel or dermabrasion, eyelid surgery, neck and nose surgery. Both men and women are interested in these procedures as well as in Dr. Hewitt's second surgical specialty -- body contouring.

"Liposuction can be done anywhere on the body but it is most commonly needed on the thighs or 'saddlebags'," she says. "Abdominoplasty or a 'tummy tuck' and breast reduction or augmentation are also common surgeries."

"Women become concerned with their faces in their forties and even more so in their fifties," Dr. Hewitt says. "Younger women -- in their twenties -- are more interested in fat suction, nose surgery and breast augmentation. Men are generally in their fifties before cosmetic surgery interests them."

Dr. Hewitt attended Loma Linda University Medical School in California and underwent her training in general surgery at White Memorial Hospital in Los Angeles.

"I came to the midwest for my specialty training in cosmetic surgery," she says, explaining that the Straith Clinic in Southfield enjoys a wide reputation for the excellence of both its surgical practice and its training program. "Dr. Straith had one of the earliest programs in cosmetic surgery and he even invented some of the instruments we use."

A secondary area of specialty for Dr. Hewitt medicine. She holds a master's degree in public health with a nutrition emphasis.

"Life-style medicine is of growing importance in the medical field and it's certainly connected with surgery," she says. Dr. Hewitt has worked in the past with stress control, weight control and smoking cessation. "Patients are probably ahead of doctors in terms of their interest in general health," she says.

"We've developed a personal program for each of our patients that includes the initial free consultation to discuss the physical and mental endeavors of the operation and the recuperation process. And even more important, we recommend an exercise, diet and nutritional program prior to the operation and continuing afterward to insure constant fitness."

"It doesn't make sense for us to perform liposuction or remove a double chin if the patient does not exercise or change their eating habits," she says.

As compelling an interest as medicine holds for Dr. Hewitt, her talents also extend to other fields. As an undergraduate, she trained in art and taught for some time. She is also an accomplished pianist, violinist and organist who taught music for ten years.

"I enjoy playing the violin for weddings and other functions," she says, "and the piano for my own interest." She is also a church organist for the Troy Seventh-day Adventist Church.

The Hewitt Cosmetic Surgery Institute, for which Dr. Hewitt serves as director, is located in the American Family Care Center on Haggerty Road just south of Eight Mile Road in Livonia. There is no charge for initial consultations. For information, call 313-462-3152 during normal business hours.

Weir, Manuel, Snyder & Ranke

Staff is willing to accommodate your every real estate need

"Whether it's 8 a.m. or 10 p.m., weekend or weekday, if somebody wants to see a house, you show it to him."

Like an undying echo through the walls of the offices, the philosophy behind Richard Weir's words lives on in the practice of the sales agents at Weir, Manuel, Snyder & Ranke.

"Bringing buyers and sellers together is the sole purpose in life here, and we've been doing it for 40 years," said Jerome Delaney, manager associate broker of the company's Plymouth office.

With a sales and secretarial staff on duty seven days a week, the firm keeps its agents aware of a fluctuating market and familiar with the surrounding communities.

"Our primary markets here are Canton, Northville, Plymouth, and a bit of Novi," Delaney said. "We have 18 agents, and about a third of them live in Canton, a third live in Plymouth and a third live in Northville. That's by design, not coincidence."

The firm also operates in a nationwide relocation network, Home Equity, Inc., involving 1,500 real estate offices and 32,000 agents that finds homes for people who move beyond their surrounding communities.

"If you were moving to San Diego, I would tell you that we have an affiliate there who is connected to us by virtue of having been selected as one of the top brokers in that area," Delaney explained.

The office also employs a closing secretary who specializes in preparing legal documents, allowing the firm to maintain control over all of its paperwork.

But it is the actual process of selling houses that remains the agency's focus. A team appraisal system is used to determine strengths and weaknesses of a home. Then the agent develops a specific sales strategy that includes suggestions about how to increase the home's value.

What else distinguishes this firm? "Our experience is a great advantage. Whether it's the agent you're dealing with, or someone else in the office that provides the background of being able to anticipate your questions, we can have the answers for you before you even know the question. That's the value of experience."

With additional offices in Rochester, Troy, West Bloomfield, and Birmingham, this real estate company that began in a small, rented office in Birmingham thrives on, driven by the essence of a philosophy whose echo you can feel and almost hear, if you watch and listen carefully.

Weir, Manuel, Snyder & Ranke is located at 500 S. Main Street in Plymouth. Office Hours are 8:30 a.m. to 8 p.m., Monday through Friday; 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday; and 12 to 5 p.m. Sunday. The phone number is 455-6000.

Stanley Electronics

Sends signals of quality

Stanley Electronics began as a company with a single product invented in an old schoolhouse and has grown into a leading producer of radio controls.

Founded in 1947 in Hazel Park as Multi-Products Company, the company was charged with developing the design for a remote radio control for the fledgling garage door operator market. Focusing its attention on radio controls, the company nearly tripled in size in three years. As Multi-Elmac Company, growth continued with a more diverse product line, and the company emerged as a primary designer and manufacturer of CB radios, HAM radios, marine electronics and security equipment.

The company was purchased by The Stanley Works in 1974 and moved its division headquarters to the current location at 22700 Heslip Drive in Novi. At this time, the company began to supply radio controls for sister division, Stanley Home Automation, as well as many other garage door opener manufacturers and distributors. In 1988, the company name was officially changed to Stanley Electronics.

Today, Stanley Electronics continues to manufacture radio and logic controls for automatic garage doors, wireless radio controls for security systems, plus numerous specialty applications. While the mainstay of the company's product line has been radio controls for the garage door industry, Stanley's wireless technology is found in some rather unexpected places.

"The remote controls television weathermen use to change their background maps are commonly a Stanley product," said Al Pieper, president and general manager. "Our products are also found in van lifts for the handicapped, remote car starters or steering devices for fishing boats. Even bar games and electric winches for vehicles and industrial equipment contain Stanley Electronics components."

The manufacturing process takes place within the 50,000 square foot Novi headquarters where millions of pieces of electronic circuitry are produced annually. To handle the tremendous production volume, the Stanley plant is highly automated with electronic insertion, testing and soldering equipment. One piece of equipment, for instance, is capable of inserting 25,000 components per hour.

In addition to the automated equipment, Stanley Electronics employs a staff of 200 in the Novi plant. The employees, who hail primarily from Novi and the surrounding communities, coordinate product research and development, production, sales and marketing. The company also maintains a sales office and distribution center in Orange, California.

"Our employees are our greatest asset," said Pieper. "We are a real people company with extensive employee involvement programs."

The company maintains a pipeline to the community and the market through the employees. "Our goal is to produce high quality products at competitive prices and our employees have proven to be a valuable source for maintaining our position," said Pieper. "Every day, Stanley employees see our products in production and in use, enabling them to provide insight into methods for cost control and keeping pace with demand. Not only do we encourage employee recommendations but we give such suggestions serious consideration."

As a 15 year member of the Novi business community, Stanley Electronics is committed to its neighbors and metropolitan Detroit. "We have gained from the community through manpower and economic growth and feel we need to give something back," said Pieper. Stanley maintains an active program of charitable involvement and contribution. "We are pleased to be able to contribute to a number area charities including the Novi Police Officers Association for Summer Education a Recreation, the Goodfellows and Foc Hope."

"Stanley provides equipment and contributes to the Lawrence Technological Institute capital fund drive, and sponsors a day at the Channel 56 Auction. One of our most fulfilling activities has been the Build A Dream project in which our employees supplied manpower and tools to build a playground in downtown Detroit."

"It is important to Stanley to be an active member of the community. Our commitment touches every aspect of our business, pushing us to maintain high quality in our work as members of the community," Pieper stated.

Milford's DDA to focus on South Side District

By Lisa Felicelli

Milford's South Side District will be the primary focus of community revitalization for the Downtown Development Authority (DDA) during the 1988-89 fiscal year, according to a DDA spokesperson.

"We've been listening to the concerns of residents and local businesses, and this is the area that they most want to see improved," explained Karen Dierkes, DDA chairperson.

The DDA, formed in 1982 to make building and commercial improvements, showcases Milford's human and natural resources. Its purpose is to unify the community and turn Milford's downtown area into a drawing card for both residents and visitors.

The DDA board, comprised of 12 local business people who volunteered to oversee revitalization projects in Milford, receives funding through a two-mill levy in the DDA district.

Dierkes described this area as encompassing Prospect Street through downtown Milford and extending to Huron Street.

"We received the tax levy last year for three years," Dierkes noted. "Before this, we paid for projects such as streetscaping and tree planting through the contributions of concerned residents and local businesses who wanted to see Milford's appearance improved."

Milford's South Side District stretches south of Liberty Street off Main Street. Dierkes said that she met with landscape architect John Grissim recently to discuss what needs to be revitalized in this area.

"John is drawing up a more detailed plan so we can better estimate how much this project will cost," she explained.

Although the tax levy is expected to draw in more funding during the 1989-90 and 1990-91 fiscal years due to increasing property value, Dierkes said that the DDA does not want to depend solely upon these funds.

"We're beginning to discuss the possibility of a huge fund-raiser," Dierkes said. "Something along the lines of a festival that would, if it was successful, become a new tradition in Milford."

Dierkes added that the DDA plans to approach organizations such as the Milford Historical Society, Milford Rotary Club and the Huron Valley Area Chamber of Commerce with the idea for further input.

"Between a number of different organizations, we could put together something like Plymouth's Ice Sculpture Festival," she said. "Right now, each individual group raises money through such fund-raisers as antique car shows, chicken dinners and craft shows."

The DDA feels that Milford would benefit from a large event because it would attract more visitors, increase revenue and possibly lure more businesses to the area.

Meanwhile, the DDA will continue to work with Grissim on improving the various sections of Milford that are in need of a new appearance.

"For example, John indicated a desire to utilize the natural beauty of Upper Mill Pond," Dierkes said. "We could do anything from adding a gazebo, water wheel or fountain to enhance what's already there."

While revitalizing Milford is a time-consuming job, Dierkes said that the DDA is pleased with the progress made as a result of the cooperation and concern displayed by a variety of Milford people.

"The DDA is just another arm that wants to see Milford at its best," Dierkes said.

She emphasized that the improvements being made are due to the combined efforts of local business people, residents and other groups who are volunteering their time and contributing to DDA funds.

Brick paving, Victorian street lights, new flower planters and an underground watering system marked the second phase of DDA improvements in downtown Milford. The streetscaping plan is expected to be continued in the South Side section of town.

Decorating Den

For convenience, decor on wheels comes to your home

When your house needs help but you don't have the time or inclination to shop for a new look, Decorating Den offers the perfect solution. Everything you need to make your home beautiful arrives at your doorstep to await your selection -- wallcovering, carpeting, fabric, furnishings and personalized service.

"Time is at such a premium for everyone these days," says Anita Baydoun, owner of the Decorating Den of Northville, "and that explains the overwhelmingly positive response to our service."

Anita, Susan Gardner, owner of the Decorating Den of Milford, and Gloria Koller, owner of the Decorating Den of Novi, represent three of 36 independently-owned Michigan Decorating Den franchises. There are 1,000 nationwide.

The "store on wheels" concept is ideal for today's busy homeowners or business owners. "The initial interview is done by phone," Anita says. "We try to get some idea of what the client has in mind -- wallpaper for a single room or refurbishing an entire house -- what the color preferences are, the budget and the lifestyle of the clients."

For the next meeting, the "decorating store" arrives at the client's home with about 5,000 samples of carpeting, wallpaper, draperies and window treatments, furniture fabrics, custom furniture, area rugs, lamps and accessories and artwork.

In addition to the convenience of doing all the choosing without leaving home, clients have the advantage of professional advice designed especially for their homes. Decorating Den owners have extensive interior design training and are required to keep up with new styles and products through frequent seminars. That's important because fashion in color, design and products changes constantly.

Northville preferences lean toward traditional styles, Anita says, with the southwest look growing in favor. "The recently popular country look is taking on a more sophisticated European flavor, especially provincial French," she says. "We often design the look around a collectible or furnishing of great value to the client."

In Milford, Susan says, a delightful mix of styles prevail. "It's very eclectic. There's lots of contemporary, yet downtown homes tend to be traditional or country in flavor."

Gloria's Novi clients are strongly contemporary working couples interested in getting a total "look" even if it means doing one room at a time. "We rarely 'do away' with everything," she says. "We aim towards what works for them."

Far from the intimidating image sometimes carried by interior designers, the Decorating Den owners enjoy developing clients' ideas and making them happy. The biggest reward, they say, is to finish a job and have the client say, "It's just what I wanted, but I didn't know it would be so much fun!"

Decorating Den hours are by appointment. Call Gloria Koller in Novi at 313-344-1445; Susan Gardner in Milford at 313-685-1880; or Anita Baydoun in Northville at 313-471-0900.

Guardian Industries Corporation

Their success is as clear as glass

The basis behind Northville-based Guardian Industries' success is, appropriately enough, as clear as glass.

A philosophy that revolves around state-of-the-art technology, innovative marketing and a firm commitment to product development has produced unparalleled growth for the worldwide manufacturer of flat and fabricated glass.

From its beginnings as a single plant windshield manufacturer in 1968, when Guardian Industries was incorporated as the successor to the 36-year-old Guardian Glass Company, it has grown to be a Fortune 500 company and the fourth largest flat glass manufacturer and fabricator in the world.

Guardian manufactures approximately 4,000 tons of glass a day for use in the construction and automotive industries.

With about 6,000 workers in 21 glass manufacturing and fabricating plants strategically located throughout the U.S., Canada and Europe, Guardian produces approximately 14 percent of the U.S. total flat glass capacity and six percent of Europe's.

Privately owned since 1985, Guardian Industries' principal shareholder, president and chief executive officer is Mr. William Davidson, a prominent and successful entrepreneur who, among other business interests, is also the majority owner and managing partner of the World Champion Detroit Pistons Basketball Club.

Guardian Industries' World Headquarters is located at 43043 West Nine Mile in Northville.

Schonscheck, Inc.

Award winning builder stresses quantity, quality

Clients looking for a general contracting firm that can handle a building project from the very first design idea to the last piece of landscaping need look no further than Schonscheck, Incorporated.

"We can handle it all -- manage the whole project from beginning to end," explained Lori Schonscheck, marketing director for the firm.

Schonscheck is a Wixom-based, full-service design/build general contractor that manages projects from start to finish, from site selection studies and engineering to final construction.

"With the design/build concept, firm prices are established for the total construction project to the completion of the working drawing," said Ian W. Schonscheck, P.E., president of Schonscheck, Inc. "This eliminates redesigning of the project if it's over budget, and generally results in saving two months' time in a typical project."

Or, Schonscheck can handle any segment of the project, working with other contractors as selected by the client.

The firm was started by its president, Ian Schonscheck, who brings to the job 17 years of experience in management, sales and the engineering of design/build, industrial and commercial projects. Ian holds a bachelor's degree in construction engineering from Lawrence Institute of Technology and is a licensed professional engineer.

For the past four years, Schonscheck's success has earned it a national $1 million sales award from Ceko Building Division, supplier of pre-engineered structures to Schonscheck.

In addition to quantity, Schonscheck also works for quality by enhancing its structures with appealing brick and glass facades, bold curves and attractive colors. Schonscheck's commitment to quality is reflected in its 1989 President's Best Building Award for building design from Ceko for the Kilmer Landscape building in Commerce Township.

A majority of Schonscheck's work is repeat business from customer referrals. An example is a new facility for La-Z-Boy Showcase Shoppes currently under construction in Sterling Heights, Mich.

Schonscheck has 14 projects currently under construction including a 37,000-square-foot office building for Trammell Crow Co. in Pontiac, Mich., a 60,000-square-foot facility for L.T.C. Roll and Engineering Co. in Clinton Township, and a 32,000-square-foot office and manufacturing facility for Chem-Bright Industries, Inc. in Green Oak Township.

Schonscheck has been involved with an estimated 25 industrial and commercial projects this year with a total sales value of approximately $14 million.

"We'll work with clients from the time they purchase the land until construction is completed," Ian said.

Some recently completed projects include a 32,000-square-foot facility for Filtra-Systems in Wixom, an 80,000-square-foot office and manufacturing facility for DAPCO in Dexter, a 30,000-square-foot office and manufacturing facility for Salem Industries, Inc. in South Lyon and an 11,000 square-foot office and shop facility for Kennedy Industries, Inc. in Milford Township, Mich.

Schonscheck, Incorporated is now located at 30503 Beck Rd. between I-96 and Pontiac Trail. The phone number is (313) 669-8800.

Group links population, industry growth

By Lisa Felicelli

Green Oak, Lyon and Salem townships as well as the City of South Lyon would benefit from increased business in the area, but members of the South Lyon Area Chamber of Commerce agreed that industry will emerge naturally from the growing population.

"All of these communities are growing as more people are choosing to move west of the Novi area," said Robert Borowiec, president of the South Lyon Area Chamber of Commerce.

Population growth and industry go hand in hand, he explained. The more people that live in an area, the more businesses that will emerge to serve them. Smaller communities in particular benefit from these businesses.

"When Twelve Oaks Mall went up in Novi, the city received a tremendous amount in tax dollars that helped to repair streets and assisted the school district," Borowiec said.

But while the increased business benefitted local residents, many decided that they didn't want so much commercial congestion in their backyards.

As a result, people are moving outward, Borowiec said. This is evident from a current survey of building departments, which cited the following number of residential building permits issued between January and June of 1989: Green Oak Township, 106; Lyon Township, 73; Salem Township, 9; and the City of South Lyon, 144.

"Starting homes in the Northville/Novi area generally range around $150,000 now," Borowiec noted. "So people are living 10 minutes further out in the same quality, but lower-priced homes."

He added that population growth puts additional pressure on younger families, which is why healthy industry in a community is such an advantage.

"Our school district is feeling a pinch right now," Borowiec said. "It would definitely benefit from the additional tax dollars that new businesses could produce."

Green Oak Township has issued three commercial building permits this year, the largest of which is Lake View Center, a mini-mall, on Eight Mile Road; Lyon Township has also issued three permits, a retail mini-mall in New Hudson being the biggest project at an estimated $490,000 cost; Salem Township issued two permits; and the City of South Lyon has issued Hardee's a construction permit.

"All of the permits, both residential and commercial, are issued under proper zoning regulations so we have a balanced mix in the area," said David Grimes, secretary-treasurer of the South Lyon Area Chamber of Commerce.

Grimes said that any small town can capitalize on a bedroom community if it offers good service.

He noted that while large malls are available outside of this area, most residents still prefer to shop in their own town for necessities, provided that they can receive good service there.

"But if rates are high and the service isn't up to the residents' standards, they'll undoubtedly head out to larger communities," Grimes said.

Janet L. Cox/Herald

Summit Ridge condominiums in Milford Village marks the town's first such units

Currently an array of light manufacturers has emerged notably in Green Oak and Lyon townships, especially near the Brighton area, he added.

"Small commercial business people are doing well here," Grimes said. "Because there are so many new homes going up, home builders, electricians and landscapers are prospering."

However, he agreed that increased industry would enhance the community.

"I do think that all of the townships need a certain amount, if not new industry, to help with the tax base," he said. "But that type of growth is usually right in growing communities like ours."

But slow growth combined with careful planning of industry will result in a more satisfactory environment, Borowiec emphasized.

Grimes, who has lived in this area since 1952, added that he has witnessed a dramatic changeover from rural farm to subdivision communities.

McNeff, Lowery & Company

Tax experience helps to benefit small businesses

At McNeff, Lowery & Company 76 years of experience lies behind every service offered. That's the combined length of time founder Don McNeff, Scott Lowery and the three staff have furnished small business and individuals with accounting and tax services.

Over that period, a remarkably strong sense of loyalty has developed between accountant and client, near and far. "The long-distance loyalty of clients who've moved away, but still maintain our services is gratifying," Don says of his accounts in California, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Florida and Arizona, as well as throughout the mid-west states.

But Northville is the heart of the firm's business and their new quarters -- at 18600 Northville Road, Suite 100, next to Riffles Restaurant -- allow expanded space for constantly expanding local business.

"We're geared to the preparation of business and personal tax returns and we direct our services toward those clients," Scott says. "We take the accounting information that a client generates all month and turn it into payroll and sales tax returns and financial statements."

There are no "simple" tax returns for Northville people, Scott says. "The accounts here reflect the nature of this community -- prosperous, white collar, sophisticated. People tend to earn above average incomes and they invest. As a result, their returns are complex."

Don, who established the business 21 years ago in Pontiac, is especially appreciative of Northville. "It's enjoyable to work in a community where you can walk to lunch and where the business community maintains a small town atmosphere," he says.

Keeping current with tax regulations is a constant chore for both accountants. "The IRS just released 200 pages of material which changed the 1986 Tax Reform Act which, of course, had been changed before, and will be changed again," Don says.

To stay on top of their field, they subscribe to weekly and monthly tax newsletters on regulations and court rulings and regularly attend the continuing education seminars of their professional groups -- the Independent Accountants Association of Michigan and the National Society of Public Accountants.

McNeff, Lowery and Company have recently expanded their services to include various financial planning and advisory services in addition to their accounting and tax work. The small business (defined as one to 75 employees) and individual account remains the core of clientele that their long accounting and tax experience serves best.

For further information, contact McNeff, Lowery & Company at 313-348-7575.

Belanger, Inc.

Experience and determination make them the leader

Belanger, Inc. began operations in a historic Northville building which was constructed in 1875. It still stands off Main Street, a tall brick tower out of the past. Take a ride through the high tech Mr. Glow car wash in front of the historic building, though, and you will find yourself passing through a tunnel of the future. Mr. Glow is owned and operated by Belanger, Inc., a company that designs and manufactures car wash equipment. They also manufacture coated abrasives and finishing wheels. James Belanger began building metal finishing wheels in 1969, and that business dove-tailed into creating soft cloth car wash equipment. Belanger, Inc. introduced the "Soft Cloth Car Wash" in 1974, and since that time they have been the leader in the car wash industry.

You have probably seen the slogans, "Soft Cloth, Brushless, Wash-N-Buff, etc." Belanger started it all. "We started manufacturing from a problem-solving standpoint," said Jerry Belanger, manager of Mr. Glow. "Where there were problems in existing car wash technology, we developed and patented new products that overcame those problems. We created a totally new concept in carwashing—washing with cloth instead of nylon bristles, which haze (leave white streaks) a car's finish."

New equipment had to be developed specifically for cloth, and that led to many innovations, including Belanger's cloth curtains, which have become an industry standard. Patented greaseless bearings and the first touchless dryer, the Perform-Air, were also developed.

"Our equipment is very clean," Belanger said. "There's no grease dripping, no oil dripping. Everything that goes into our equipment is of the highest quality in material and technology."

Mr. Glow is a showcase for quality: Only the best in both equipment and cloth. In fact, before your new car left the assembly line, it was probably washed with the same equipment used at Mr. Glow. That's because the majority of car washes installed in North American automotive assembly plants in the last five years were built by Belanger, Inc.

Mr. Glow also uses only the safest and most effective, neutral balanced cleansing liquids. Body Bubbles combined with Belanger Cloth give cars a shine that can't be attained with home washing in the driveway. With repeated use, a glowing improvement in your car's finish can be seen.

There are other treatments necessary for maintaining a car's value. Mr. Glow's wax treatment is beneficial because of its superior application process: A foam wax is set on the car, then buffed and topped with a sealer wax that protects the car's finish. There are other special services, including a bottom bath and rust shield treatment.

And if you just don't have the time or energy to hand wax your car, Mr. Glow is now offering that special service too! Your car will be completely washed, hand-waxed and buffed-out to a brilliant shine. Now that's maximum protection for your investment!

Mr. Glow Car Wash is located at 470 S. Main in Northville. It is open from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. Monday through Saturday, and from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday.

At Mr. Glow, fast, friendly service helps to make the business a success.

Mitch Housey

Great food, great service, keep you coming back

At Mitch Housey's restaurant, they know that outstanding food and great service are the reasons they've been at the same location for twentyfive years.

During a recent visit to the Livonia restaurant Mitch Housey himself, who owns the restaurant with partner Beverly Feuer, discussed what makes his place so special that it has become a landmark on Schoolcraft Road, right across from Ladbroke Detroit Race Course.

"Food has been the backbone of our business," said Housey. The restaurant has a complete luncheon and dinner menu, but according to Housey, the house speciality is undoubtedly the prime rib dinner.

"It's a very hefty, hearty cut," explained Housey. And unlike most other restaurants, Mitch Housey's prime ribs are still cooked and served with the bone. According to Housey, this bone-in preparation allows the fullest flavor and juiciness to be brought out in the beef. Although hesitant to brag, when pressed he does admit that in his opinion Mitch Housey's restaurant serves "the world's finest prime rib. We do as much prime rib as anyone else in town."

For dessert, many diners select the Heath Bar Crunch pie. According to Housey it tastes like a Heath Bar and it has a cheese cake base.

Mitch Housey's luncheon trade is primarily business people from the area, many of whom are regulars to the restaurant. There are two daily luncheon specials, starting at $3.95. On Thursdays at noon, the clientele is treated to a fashion show of everything from lingerie to active wear.

Dinner at Mitch Housey's can be steaks, chops, seafood, or the succulent prime ribs. Prices start at $7.95. Wednesdays through Sundays there's a supper club atmosphere with entertainment from the Andy Martin Trio. Diners can dance to a range of music from big band to light rock.

Seating is comfortable in the recently redecorated restaurant, with oversized booths and plush upholstered chairs that encourage lingering. The dining and lounge areas are done in an attractive contemporary grey and red color scheme.

Downstairs, Mitch Housey's has a full service banquet facility that can seat up to 200. The special banquet menu is made up of long time restaurant favorites.

Happy hour lasts for four hours at Mitch Housey's. There are king sized cocktails specially priced from 3 to 7 p.m. And every Wednesday evening it's Mix and Mingle night, hosted by Florence Larime of WCAR radio.

Mitch Housey's restaurant is located at 28500 Schoolcraft Road in Livonia, just oppo-

Advance Machine Corp.

Specialties are the key

Building special gauges and machines, designing electrical components and machining prototype and production parts are the specialties of Advance Machine Corporation of Wixom.

A new Harding Conquest 42 CNC lathe has recently been added to the company's machining operation to allow production of super precision lathe-turned metal parts.

According to Advance Machine owner Gary Chomin, the computer-and numerically-controlled Harding Conquest 42 "adds to the precision of manufactured parts, and allows us to machine faster and at a better price."

Advance Machine customers include auto and auto-related corporations such as Ford Motor, Belanger, Ross Valve and Mac Valve.

Advance Machine is taking its first orders for the newly-developed "color box reader," a computer-controlled color box that reads the color of color-coded parts and transposes it into numbers. The reader allows manufacturers to automatically confirm that parts have been color-coded properly.

In talking about his company, Chomin announced his pleasure at the arrival of a new employee, Jeff Strolark, who has recently joined Advance as general manager. "Jeff was one of the original founders of Advance," Chomin said. "After a few years he left to get his degree in electronics. I'm very pleased he has rejoined the company."

Strolark brings with him an extensive background in gauges, computers and electronics. He will be helping Advance Machine expand into electronics design, building machine control panels.

Advance Machine was formed in 1980 in Farmington and moved to Wixom five years ago. A Christian-owned and operated corporation, it was established by Gary Chomin, his father Joe Chomin and Jeff Strolark.

Chomin said that Advance has always been committed to meeting deadline and delivery dates, as well as to filling customer's special requirements. "I would suggest that anyone with a special machining need give us a try," he said. "We welcome the opportunity to bid on any job."

Advance Machine Corporation is located at 29330 Wall Street in Wixom. The company can be reached by telephone at 313-348-6266 or by FAX at 313-348-1161.

Dedication is key to small business success say barbershop owners

By Jeff Hawkins

So you want to start your own business. That's great; it's America and opportunity's knocking. But before you stomp into your boss's office and tell him where he can place your present employment, think twice and make sure you know exactly what your objectives are.

There's a lot more to opening a business than just believing in your abilities and thinking you can do a good job.

You have got to be sure you know what you're doing, because the consequences could hurt you for the rest of your life.

"Statistics show that the entrepreneur will fail in the first one to two years if he doesn't know how to balance his resources," Eastern Michigan University Professor of Management Dr. Charles F. Hoytash said.

It takes a certain type of person to be able to tackle the amount of responsibilities that's required to maintain a solid, profitable business.

"To start a business a person must be ambitious, an innovator and not scared to take risks," Hoytash said. "The typical entrepreneur is not subject to an organization and doesn't like to take orders."

"The individual must have a high level of commitment and energy for the long hours it takes to build a successful business," said Mike Martin, Director of Industrial Development Institute at Michigan State University.

In order to get a business off the ground, the most important aspect to remember is having a good, solid business plan at your side.

"A business plan is mandatory," Hoytash said, demonstrating that without it, a business is destined to fail.

"No business is successful without it," he said.

The myth surrounding business is that if you, let's say, have a better mouse trap all you need is money to create a market and customers will beat a path to your door, Martin said.

But the fact is that the owner needs to understand his target market, attract customers and create an extraordinary service to his customers in order to become a successful business person, Martin added.

"Good help and an attractive place will make you or break you," said Ed Berry and Tom Arbanas, owner of Jack's Barber Shop in Northville. "You need to satisfy the people in order for them come back."

Another important item that should not be overlooked is good marketing skills.

Without that characteristic, the business person will have a hard time setting realistic objectives and will fail because their resources will become out of balance.

"Marketing skills is vital to the success of the business," Martin said.

Hoytash suggested that before you actually go out and tackle the world of business ownership, you should know the ins and outs of the company you want to open.

"He should really work for somebody first so he knows what the business is all about," Hoytash said. "A community college business class is a good idea to get started to."

Above all, dedication is the key, Hoytash added.

In a lot of countries an individual doesn't possess the right to chance the opportunity in the business world.

"That's the beauty of living in the United States," Martin said. "We have the absolute right to fail."

Sliger/Livingston's new 13,000 square foot facility is located on Burkhart Road, just off I-96 Highland Road exit.

Sliger/Livingston Publications — Expanding To Meet Increased Printing Needs

With better and more efficient facilities in mind, Sliger/Livingston expanded their printing capabilities when they moved into a brand-new $1.2 million production facility on Burkhart Road in Howell Township at the beginning of 1989.

The 13,000 square foot facility now employs over 40 people in its plate, bindery and press making operations.

According to Rick Wagoner, plant manager, the facility now houses 7 Goss Community Press units with 2 additional color decks. This allows for a 28 page broadsheet or 56 page tabloid capacity with spot color availability.

The additional color units are going to allow the opportunity for more full color photography and graphics in the Sliger/Livingston newspapers which include: the Livingston County Press, and the Brighton Argus, as well as the Northville Record, South Lyon Herald, Novi News and the Milford Times.

In addition to increased printing capacity, Sliger/Livingston also invested in a saddle stitch and trim machine. The machine is actually three pieces of equipment in one. It combines sections, staples, and then cuts three edges at once. This machine enables Sliger/Livingston to now produce booklet-size publications, like business directories, TV guide books or corporate reports.

Multi-section publications can be combined by the 5 pocket inserting machine.

Still another facet of Sliger/Livingston Publications is its computerized address labeling system. Wagoner says this equipment allows for sorting, labeling, and bundling a job for post office delivery.

The addition of the seventh Goss printing unit has increased Sliger/Livingston's printing capacity.

"We have the fastest service in our area, but we offer much more than instant printing," says Art Johnson, owner of Johnson's Press at 24291 Novi Road in Novi.

Art opened his own printing company last year after working as a printing house production manager for ten years. His employees have acquired an additional 25 years of experience among them.

"I believe we fill a need," Art says, "one that falls above the copy house" and "below the big press printer, which also includes two and three color printing. We also do some small

Other services distinguish Johnson's Press. "We do our own halftones and all our metal plates in house," Art says. The firm handles both commercial accounts and retail business, specializing in the small and mid-sized businesses that appreciate next day or same day service.

"Our industry has changed drastically over the past 15 years. We have new modern high tech machinery, and that's important to go forward in business. We also enjoy the fact that we are not a franchise, we don't pay franchise fees and we are much more flexible on what kind of jobs we can do."

Among other printing services offered are NCR forms, typesetting, business stationery, computer feed letterheads and carbonless forms, glossy paper with photos, two and three color printing, raised printing and the customary printing services such as business cards, letterheads, envelopes, etc. A FAX machine is available to the public. Johnson's Press offers free pick up and delivery. Hours are 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Brickscape, Inc.

Brickscaping installed by Brickscape or do-it-yourself

Stylish brick patios, beautiful brick walks, even distinctive brick driveways -- all of these can be installed by Brickscape, Inc. of Northville or can be a perfect Do-It-Yourself project with Brickscape's help.

"Brickscaping is not difficult," explain Joe and Diane DiRado of Brickscape. "Many of the customers we assist do a little every weekend until the job is complete," Diane adds. "That's the type of product it is."

Brickscape installs and sells concrete brick pavers in a variety of colors and sizes -- reds, browns, rustics and greys. All complement the surrounding home and garden. Brickscape has several styles displayed and offers the customer the opportunity to see first-hand, curves and circles, herringbone and basket-weave to name a few.

To complement a walk or patio's striking aesthetic beauty, Brickscape also manufactures Brick Steps. The steps are made with a special adhesive and are formed out of the same paving bricks that are used for installation purposes. The steps do enhance the look immensely. The brick steps are practical and are simple to install. "We felt there was a need for this type of step," explains Joe. Steps are available for the homeowner to purchase as well as contractors.

Joe and Diane DiRado, owners, are grateful for the success of their company.

Brickscape is a family run company and all employees there pride themselves on providing personal service and attention to each customer. Customers who would like Bricks-cape to install an area are given paving information as well as an appointment with our salesman. Valuable advice is also offered on Brickscape application for the Do-It-Yourself.

To help even more, Brickscape offers brick paving demonstrations. The next is scheduled for Saturday, September 9 at 11 a.m. Interested homeowners should call 348-2500 for reservations as the seminars are well attended. This will be the last class available for '89.

At Brickscape you'll also find a high quality Nursery and Garden Center. This is the first year for the Garden Center and the response has been overwhelming from customers. There are annuals, evergreens, ornamentals, trees, tools, fertilizers, terra cotta pots, etc. All Nursery stock is hand-picked so only the best can be offered to the customer. Planting advice is always given.

This fall and winter the Garden Center will feature Holland bulbs and hardy mums for fall planting and many Christmas items will be displayed. Beautiful Christmas trees, roping, wreaths -- a new item, black silk indoor trees -- bulbs, lights, etc. Even Santa.

Brickscape is located on Old Novi Road north of 8 Mile, one block east of Novi Road. "We're difficult to find, but worth the effort," as our advertising states.

Joe and Diane wish to thank all their customers for their patronage this year and hope to service you again in the future.

THE BASQUE COUNTRY

"The Basque is so sure of his uniqueness he does not need to consider it. He simply goes out and practices living in what is the most natural way for him - a way that has become as apparent in his kitchen as anywhere else he happens to go."

Peter Feilman

The Basque country may seem a paradox to the casual American observer. On the one hand it includes some of the best known spots in Spain - San Sebastian (beautiful beaches), Pamplona (Hemingway's bulls), and Guernica (Picasso) are well known parts of the Basque region. Yet the Basque people themselves are a bit of a mystery. No one can pinpoint their origin with any degree of certainty. Their language is unlike any other. And the political troubles of the past decade have only served to enhance the mystique.

The Basques take their eating very seriously. Since 1870 special private "cooking societies" have arisen in nearly every Basque town or city. Basque cooking combines the simple, gutsy ingredients of the mountain pastures - roasted peppers, garlic, onions, tomatoes, corn - with the excellent seafood from the Bay of Biscay - anchovies, salt cod, sardines, mussels, lobsters, squid. When the Basques eat they eat well, they eat a lot, and they enjoy it all.

Idiazabal Save $1.00/lb. Reg. $10.99/lb. "Idiazabal cheese has an incredibly delicate flavor reminiscent of mountain herbs." Peter S. Feilman

Made by hand from the fresh milk of Lacha sheep then smoked over beechwood and aged for over six months. Little known outside the Basque country, it is an excellent cheese; its distinctive flavor can stand up to the hearty rustic Basque cooking.

Opakua Save $1.00/lb. Reg. $10.99/lb. Milder and softer than Idiazabal, but even less known outside its homeland. Opakua has a subtle, spicy, slightly smoky flavor with hints of mountain herbs. Almost anyone who likes cheese will like Opakua.

Tolosana Beans Save 10% Reg. $6.99/lb. Famous beans? Yep. The beans of Tolosa are known all over Spain for their unique flavor. Known to some as "Prince Beans," these purple and tan beans are a deliciously versatile. One of the most unusual, and tastiest, uses is in a dish with clams. Add the cooked and drained beans to clams (in the shell) sautéed in olive oil with onions, garlic, cummin seeds, and white wine. Add toasted, ground saffron and salt to taste. Top with chopped parsley.

Marinated Spanish Olives Save 10% Reg. $7.99/lb. We have been making these amazing marinated olives at Zingerman's for ages, yet each year they seem to get more popular. Jumbo Olives are delicious (lamb and beef are particularly good), in tomato sauces, and to marinate olives. The more I use it, the more I like it!

Sanchez Romaine Sherry Vinegar Save 20% Reg. from $3.89. Makers of fine sherry since 1847, Sanchez Romaine are purveyors to the House of Lords in London, prize winners in numerous competitions, and makers of very good sherry vinegar. The V.O. aged for over 20 years, is exceptional. It's also an exceptional value - reg. only $12.00 per bottle (and it's on special this month too!).

Gonzalez Byass Sherry Vinegar Save 10% Reg. $6.99/lb. The firm of Gonzalez Byass has been making sherry for over 100 years. As good as Tio Pepe is, so too is their sherry vinegar. Rich and delicious, a few drops can transform any dish.

Roasted Spanish Almonds On Special $9.99/lb. Reg. $13.00/lb. Like the olives, these seem to get more and more popular each year. Rich, intensely flavored Larigeta almonds from Spain roasted with extra virgin olive oil, salt and cummin to a nutty, crunchy golden brown. Great with a glass of ice-cold fin sherry and a bowl of olives. Warning: it's hard to eat just one!

Alcazaba Spanish Tuna Save 10% Reg. $3.89/each. The Bay of Biscay is famous for its sardines. The tuna is caught and prepared in the same way to insure that the delicate flavor of the Albacore is preserved. Both make excellent tapas, drizzled with extra virgin olive oil, a squeeze of lemon, and a grind of black pepper.

Marron Glacé On Special $7.99/lb. Reg. $10.99/lb. Marron Glacé, candied chestnuts, are a special treat in Europe. They are made from chestnuts roasted and peeled, soaked in rum and vanilla syrup, then aged in sugar. Señor Cuevas and family have been making them for decades. I'll grant that the unique flavor of the Marron Glacé is pretty much guaranteed that they are not going to threaten Haagen Dazs' share of the dessert market in the U.S. But they are incredibly good. And I still maintain that they're delicious chocolate and sprinkled on top of the Haagen Dazs. Live on the edge - try a chestnut today!

Alcazaba Spanish Mussels Save 10% Reg. $3.89/each. Whole live mussels are gently steamed and then sautéed in a delicately seasoned vinaigrette to enhance their unique flavor. They can be enjoyed as appetizers, in seafood linguine or in salad.

Manchego Save $1.00/lb. Reg. $9.99/lb. One of the best cheeses you'll find anywhere, Manchego is a favorite throughout Spain. Its full flavor, tangy and slightly salty, is unique. It is made only from the milk of Manchego sheep, then formed into 8-lb. wheels and aged anywhere from 6 months to 2 years. Manchego is wonderfully versatile cheese - in Spain you'll find it in sandwiches, on cheese boards, after dinner, in cooking. Really a great cheese!

Catalonia Like the Basque country, Catalonia has a cuisine, a culture, and a language all its own. The Catalans are, both physically and spiritually, the closest of the Spanish to the rest of Europe. Barcelona, the capital city, has long been considered the most cosmopolitan in Spain (a reputation to be enhanced in 1992 with the arrival of the Summer Olympics). Catalonia has been home to dozens of artists, writers and architects - Picasso, Miró, and Gaudí, to name a few.

The cuisine of Catalonia is an ancient one - perhaps the closest to medieval cooking of any in Europe. The flavors and textures of Catalonia are many and varied, combining olives and olive oil, a wealth of vegetables, and seafood with an array of exotic spices, unsweetened chocolate in savory dishes, large quantities of nuts and even larger quantities of garlic.

Olive Oils "Fragrance, sweetness, hint of apples, aftertaste of almonds, fruitiness, freshness, etc. - these are some of the complex delights that Spanish virgin olive oils offer to nose and palate." -José Carlos Capel

The olive oils of Catalonia will put to rest once and for all the long-held - though entirely false - myth that Spanish olive oils are "overpoweringly strong" and "oily" (a myth generated by the low quality of the Spanish oils sent here decades ago). It's kind of like the French judging Americans to be crass and uncultured based on a visit to the Paris McDonald's. Listen up y'all - Catalan oils are superb - fruity, oily, medium full flavored and a beautiful golden green color. Try them.

Lerida Save 20% Reg. from $9.39 per 50 ml. "I thought I had tasted just about every olive oil produced, but on a trip to Spain two months ago, I discovered a light, golden, fragrant olive oil that I've adopted as my one and only house olive oil. Its name is Lerida." -Malcolm Hébert Lerida extra virgin olive oil is the finest of our Catalan oils; in fact, one of the finest olive oils available in the country. Handmade from Arqueña olives on the estate of Señor Vea, Lerida has an exceptional fruity, slightly peppery flavor. Packed in handblown bottles, sealed with red wax, Lerida makes a fine gift.

Siurana Save 10% Reg. from $13.99/liter. An excellent all-purpose extra virgin oil from Tarragona, the Roman capital of Spain 2000 years ago. (It was the Romans who introduced olives and olive oil into Spain.) Light, fruity, and affordable, Siurana is great for sautéing, salads, sauces, and seafood dishes.

L'Estornell Organic Olive Oil Coming Soon! 100% certified organic extra virgin olive oil, so produced on the estate of Señor Vea. "L'Estornell," the "staring" visits the olive groves each fall and, according to legend, plucks the choicest olives from the trees. Fine oil.

Mahon Cheese Reg. $9.99/lb. Mahon has beaches. Menorca (a neighboring island) has Mahon - a tangy, full-flavored cheese. Which would you rather have? The cheese, right?

Valencia

In the U.S. Valencia is known for its oranges, which are grown in large quantities throughout the region. But in Spain Valencia is known first and foremost for only one thing - rice. Valencia is the land of the Spanish rice (no, ancient Iberians did not develop Rice-A-Roni here), the land of paella.

While Americans prize paella for the not-very-traditional crown of seafood that adorns this dish in America, Spaniards adore it for the rice. That's right - the rice. And to make good paella - traditional ingredients or not - you have to use the fat, short-grained rice of Valencia. No other rice will yield the texture and flavor that makes paella so special. You also need a paella pan. And you need high quality saffron. (I'm sure you'll be shocked to learn that Zingerman's sells all three.) While there are numerous "secrets" to paella making and thousands of variations on the recipe, paella really isn't that hard if you've got the rice, the pan, and the saffron. To help you learn the tricks of the trade from a master we've invited chef Antonio Buendia to return to Ann Arbor to teach the art of paella making on September 8th and 9th.

And for those of you more interested in eating than cooking we're scheduling a special paella dinner, prepared by Antonio, on Saturday, September 8th at 8:00 pm (a full meal of tapas, salad, paella and a luxurious crema Catalana for dessert. Call our Catering department at 663-3400 to reserve now.

Saffron On Special $1.99/14g. REG. FROM $2.79 14 GRAM. "Saffron brings light, perfume and romance to Spanish feasts. Its color is brilliant, its aroma deep, its flavor timeless." Colette Rossant

There's nothing in the world that can match saffron for its amazing flavor or for the numerous legends that have grown up around it. The vast majority of the saffron consumed in the world today is produced in the area south of Toledo, near the town of Consuegra. I could probably fill up this entire newsletter with the history, production methods, uses and preparation of saffron. But, better yet, we decided to bring to Ann Arbor this country's foremost expert on saffron, Ellen Sztia. Ellen will be at Zingerman's September 22nd and 23rd teaching classes on saffron and how to use it. Whether you're interested in saffron for its flavor, its history, its botanical background or just because you have an insatiable desire to learn, you'll leave Ellen's classes amazed at the incredible story of saffron. Attendance is free, so don't miss out.

For now, suffice it to say, this incredible spice is on special all month, ready and waiting to help you explore the wonders of Spanish cooking.

Don't miss Ellen Sztia's book on saffron, Wild About Saffron. $10.95/each.

Food Gatherers Update

Last May we at Zingerman's decided to give back to our community by working to help feed Ann Arbor's increasingly large number of homeless and hungry people. To do so we established Food Gatherers.

Food Gatherers collects wholesome food from Ann Arbor's "food community" of retailers, restaurants, wholesalers, and producers - often food that might be considered unsalable though still nutritious and edible - and deliver it to meal programs and shelters around the Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti area. Since December, Food Gatherers has delivered over 20,000 pounds of food. That's over $22,000.00 worth of food that would have been thrown out but instead was taken to people who needed it.

Food Gatherers is growing by leaps and bounds but we still need volunteers, a vast and arduous task of food or money. Anyone interested in getting involved with Food Gatherers can contact Lisa De Young at 761-2798 or write Food Gatherers at 420 Detroit St., Ann Arbor, MI 48104. We will keep you posted about this new and exciting program!!!

Viejo Horno Fan Waters Save 10% Reg. $3.99. These elegant Catalan cookies do have a Catalan name, Albano, which conveys the elegance and uniqueness of these cookies better than "fan water." Made in the Catalan village of Espuiga di Franco for over 100 years, Albano are still made today as they were decades ago. These are crispies with the name and logo of the company are stamped into each, then hand-folded and baked to form a light, crisp, triangular-shaped fan water. Stick one in a bowl of "helados" (that's "ice cream") or sorbet, or just serve a plate of them after dinner with coffee and tea.

Fig Wheels Save 10% Reg. $9.99. As far as I know, these are unique to Catalonia. There's got to be a name for these things in Spanish that sounds better than "fig wheel," but I've yet to find out what it is. The name being the elegance of the "wheel," hand-picked Catalan figs dried and pressed with almonds, cinnamon, anise and cummin. A thin silver lining with a slice of Spanish cheese makes a fine light dessert. Taste it, ok? It's great!

Caravali Coffee of the Month Decaffeinated Sumatra

Sumatra coffee's full-bodied richness and earthy flavor remain after the decaffeinating process in Hamburg. This is the richest, most full-flavored decaffeinated coffee Caravali could find.

Because this is a syndicated publication prepared in advance by Cotter & Company for distribution by over 6,000 independently owned and operated retail store members, some merchandise illustrated may not be immediately available on demand. However, any item that's unavailable can be ordered in full carton by the member store from a regional warehouse. Many items in this circular come unassembled. This store is not responsible for assembling merchandise unless stated. This circular must be prepared months in advance of the actual distribution period. At times, an advertised item may not be available because of sales above anticipated demand or because of circumstances beyond our control; while we try to avoid such situations, we have no control over our manufacturers' delivery problems. This store reserves the right to limit quantities, correct pricing errors and require central credit office approval of time payment sales. Prevailing taxes will be added to prices. This catalog is distributed by True Value members who own their own stores and set their own retail prices.
