Waiting it out

The home opener for the Northville High School football team Friday was interrupted by a rainstorm which cancelled many other games in the area. The lightning and rain forced a delay of more than an hour in Northville's tussle with Plymouth Salem. Above, spectators escape the weather outside the bathrooms at the concession stand. At right, Steve Bastian catches up on some reading in the Mustang locker room. Play continued but Northville lost 14-0. For more on the game, see page 7-D.

Park millage returns to ballot in city

By DARRELL CLEM

City of Northville voters will decide Nov. 7 whether they want to pay for local park improvements.

The city council last week agreed unanimously to place the park millage question on the ballot for a second consecutive year.

The decision came at the request of Recreation Director John Anderson, who said funds are needed to develop the community park located on Beck Road north of Five Mile.

The park millage question will be the same as it was last year, when it was approved by township voters but defeated by a nearly 2-to-1 margin in the city. Passage required approval in both the township and the city.

Anderson attributed the city's backlash partly to last-minute negative campaign tactics by a small group of park-millage opponents.

At a city council meeting Tuesday, Sept. 5, Anderson was strongly urged by Mayor Christopher Johnson to ensure that city voters receive accurate information on the park millage.

City council members showed no reluctance to place the millage question on the ballot again.

"I would support putting it on the ballot for the voters to decide," Council Member Jerry Mittman said. He added later that "there's no doubt" the area needs a soccer field.

Anderson has said the millage could help fund improvements such as soccer fields, lighted ball diamonds, volleyball courts, and parking spaces at the community-park site.

The request for a .9-mill increase over two years would be the same proposal placed on last year's ballot. But Anderson said that — due to increases in property assessments — the amount collected by the township and the city actually would be less.

He said the amount projected by the township would be .7994 mill. He said the city would have "a similar" reduction.

The park-millage question will not be back on the township ballot this year. An attorney's opinion has said the township's approval last year will stand if city voters this year reverse their stance and approve the millage.

Meanwhile, Anderson has said it is possible that a developer who needs land to create a wetland might agree to build the wetland in the west area of the community park and agree to fund some sought-after park improvements such as a soccer field.

If that occurs, Anderson said, city and township residents would end up paying even less than expected for the park improvements.

But Anderson has noted that the millage needs to be placed on the ballot in case the wetland proposal falls through. Moreover, he said, funds from the developer might not be enough to fully pay for park improvements.

Victorian Festival runs this weekend

Queen Victoria would be delighted. Festive banners are flying, signs are posted, and the event everyone has been waiting for is just around the corner.

In celebration of the art, history and romance of the 1800s, Northville kicks off its first Victorian Festival this weekend, Sept. 15-17.

Sponsored by the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce, the festival was organized to provide relaxed, turn-of-the-century fun and to showcase the unique history of Northville.

Festival organizers request that everyone taking part in the Victorian Festival dress in costume of the period. However, costumes are not mandatory.

Highlights of the event include a Victorian Festival Parade at 6 p.m. Friday, which begins at the Northville Recreation Center on Main Street; a Victorian Costume Ball Saturday at 7:30 p.m. beneath a giant, decorated tent at Mill Race Village (tickets are still available, call 349-7640 to order); a Victorian Picnic on Sunday from noon to 3 p.m. at Mill Race Village; and performances by Escape Artist Jon Oliver, billed as "Houdini's successor."

However, there are a host of other activities planned throughout the weekend to celebrate the Victorian era. Ongoing events include a fine art market, a street festival, actors and townspeople in costume, medicine-man shows, strolling musicians, melodramas, carriage rides, Historic District tours, historic readings, an antique consignment show in the parking lot of the Open Door Christian Church, impromptu street dancing, a Victorian tea at the Atchison House, food booths and shopping downtown.

There's something for everyone during the three-day festival. Free transportation will be provided by a trolley and horse-drawn carriages. The trolley will run from noon to 4 p.m. Friday, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, and noon to 5 p.m. Sunday. Horse-drawn carriages will travel through the streets from 2 to 7 p.m. Friday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, and noon to 5 p.m. Sunday.

Events get underway Friday with the opening of the Art Market, sponsored by the Northville Arts Commission from noon to 6 p.m.; bandshell entertainment from 1 to 6 p.m.; and the Victorian Festival Parade at 6 p.m. The parade route will go from in front of the Northville Recreation building on Main Street, west to Rogers Street, up Rogers to Dunlap

Committee eyes plans for county land

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

Wayne County officials said they intended to narrow the list of bidders on the development of 1,040 acres in Northville Township yesterday (after Record deadline).

"We have the scoring complete, and we're ready to move onto the negotiating stage with the remaining participants," said Bill Wild, the county's director of business development, in an interview Tuesday.

"I can't release the names yet or the number of development teams that will be eliminated," Wild said.

In early June, four development teams submitted proposals to the county for development of the land, which runs along Five and Six Mile road between Beck and Sheldon.

Included in three of the four proposals were golf courses — designed by legends Jack Nicklaus, Lee Trevino and Arnold Palmer.

Wild said the scoring system consisted of a collection of items used in the request-for-proposal (RFP) document. RFPs included a list of criteria sent to developers prior to their proposal submittals.

He added the review committee took the items in the RFPs and attached a certain amount of weight to them. Wild said the review committee included one county commissioner and officials from the county executive's office.

The four development teams to submit proposals include: Holtzman and Silverman, Nicklaus-Sierra Development Corp., LoPatin and Co., and Duke Associates; and J. J. Slavik Inc., Byron Trerice Co., Vidosh Inc., and Trammell Crow Co.

The other two groups are R.A. DeMattia Co., Selective Group, Heinz

C. Prechter, ASA Inc., and Alexander Hamilton Life Insurance Co.; and Charter Development Co. (Arnold Cohen/Walter Cohen), John Boll, Joseph P. Ministrelli, and Huber Wright.

Wild said he expects the negotiation period between the county and the development team finalists to last between two and four weeks. He added money will be an important factor in the negotiations, as will how each bidder proposes to use the land.

Wild also said the county is still considering entering into the project on a joint-venture basis.

gauge public opinion on a plan to require sidewalks in sections of the city that have none. Owners of adjoining property would pay the cost.

If the opinion of most citizens attending the Tuesday, Sept. 5, hearing is an indication of how the plan will be accepted citywide, then the sidewalk plan appears headed for trouble.

Although a few people spoke in favor of the plan, the vast majority who attended the public hearing strongly objected to it. Statements against the sidewalk plan often were met with thunderous applause and cheers of support.

Some opponents told city officials that the sidewalk plan — if carried out over residents' objections — will be remembered at election time. Two council members — Mittman and Mayor Christopher Johnson — are seeking re-election Nov. 7.

"What we're saying is 'no.' We're clear on what we want," Lauren Chlason of Grace Street said.

Carpenter Street resident Al Cassidy charged that the plan will only serve to benefit contractors.

"This is nothing more than some contractor wanting to put sidewalks in," he said, adding later that "this is just a real mess."

William Norton of Reed Court said the plan would require him to pay about $1,500 for a sidewalk behind his house. He said his family would never use the sidewalk because a six-foot fence separates the back of his yard from the area where the new sidewalk would be installed.

Jane Francoeur of Baseline Road said the sidewalk plan would interrupt quiet neighborhoods and result in the removal of old trees.

"These trees were there before you guys came here," Francoeur told the council. She said money spent on new sidewalks could be better spent to clean up the Mill Pond — a move that has been requested by some city residents.

Douglas Berg of Baseline, however, spoke in favor of sidewalks, which he said are needed on Baseline now that the street has been improved and widened. He said the widening of Baseline will force people to walk in the street or on lawns if sidewalks are not installed.

"If I wanted to live out in the coun-

Residents turn out in force over sidewalk plan

By DARRELL CLEM

Angry Northville residents blasted a city proposal that would force property owners to pay for new sidewalks, prompting officials to postpone a decision on the project.

An estimated 100 people crammed into a standing-room-only city chamber last week for a public hearing on proposed new sidewalks for Baseline Road and streets in the city's northeast end.

The hearing was the first in a series that will be held in the next several months as city officials try," Berg said, "I'd live out in some uncivilized place like Novi."

Residents blast city over proposed sidewalk plan

Baseline resident Joseph Hoffman also reiterated earlier support he had voiced for the sidewalks, saying that residents would favor a revised plan to place sidewalks only on one side of the street.

Mayor Christopher Johnson said such a plan would force city officials to determine how property owners should be assessed for the sidewalks.

City officials have cited such issues as pedestrian safety and making the city more accessible to walkers as reasons for installing new sidewalks, which could be paid for by property owners over a period of several years.

Most of the work would be done next year, although a section of Eight Mile in a school area could be completed this year. The school district already has agreed to share in the cost of that project with the city.

Some residents have contended that the sidewalk program would cause them to lose yard space, trees, shrubs and — as a result — privacy near their homes.

Some citizens suggested that money could be more wisely spent by paying police to patrol streets in attempts to catch speeding motorists.

Horton Avenue resident David Tot-ten, who also is a member of the Northville Planning Commission, said the sidewalk program was undertaken without careful consideration. And he said the project has had the effect of pitting neighbor against neighbor.

Meanwhile, the city council decided to adjourn the public hearing until 8 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 9.

By then, the mayor said, the city should develop a clear statement of whether to go forward with the project or halt it. He also said officials should further study how the project would be funded in situations in which sidewalks might be placed only on one side of a street

NEWS BRIEFS

CORRECTIONS TO OASIS COVERAGE — A story and an editorial in last week's Record about plans for the Oasis Golf Center on Five Mile contained some inaccuracies.

First, an editorial about the situation incorrectly stated that Northville Township has no formal policy on conflicts of interest. In fact, the township has had such a policy since 1985. It details how a member of the board of trustees should act in certain conflict-of-interest situations. It only mentions the township board and does not mention the planning commission or any other township body.

Second, in the news story on page 8-A, a quote attributed to Planning Commission Member Larry Sheehan may give a false impression. Sheehan has never requested any sort of rezoning for the Oasis land.

Third, the headline may have been misleading. An office plan is proposed for the site, and that is what the recent discussion has covered. There is no new golf-center plan on the table.

The Record regrets these problems.

MORaine CORRECTION — The Record incorrectly reported that Moraine Elementary School will see a school speed zone established on its stretch of Eight Mile Road. There are no definite plans for such a zone.

School officials are pursuing a permanent lowering of the speed from 50 to 40 mph, but this has not yet been considered by state and county officials. The school district has no authority over speed limits.

Additionally, earlier reports may have given the impression that a permanent crossing guard would be stationed outside Moraine. In fact, a school administrator is slated to watch students for the first six weeks of school.

The Record regrets the errors.

STORYTIME REGISTRATION — Northville Public Library's Fall Preschool Storytime Registration began last Thursday, but openings are still available. Children 3½ to 5 years old and not yet in kindergarten may enroll for either the 10:30 a.m. or 1 p.m. programs, which will take place on Wednesdays, Sept. 20 through Oct. 25. Parents are asked to remain in the library during these half-hour sessions. To register, visit the library or call 349-3020.

COMMUNITY EDUCATION — Northville Community Education classes start the week of Sept. 25.

Credit course offerings include computers, cosmetology, GED preparation and social studies. Leisure course offerings include duck decoy carving, folk art painting, hairstyles for children, gardening, and playing the hammer dulcimer.

Committee holds manager interviews

By BRUCE M. WEINTRAUB

Armed with a variety of questions, a selection committee last Thursday interviewed three of the six remaining candidates for the vacant post of Northville Township manager.

Two of the interviewees were former managers Peter Parker of St. Clair and Darrell Fecho of Grosse Ile. The third candidate asked the township for confidentiality.

The township-manager selection committee consists of Township Supervisor Georgina Goss, Township Trustees Richard Allen and Tom Handyside, and residents Betty Lennox and Dan Nelson.

Both Lennox and Nelson were on an ad-hoc committee which studied the manager position.

Beginning with Parker, selection-committee members thoroughly probed the former St. Clair manager throughout the half-hour interview.

Questions for all candidates ranged from "What are your long-term goals?" to "What are your major weaknesses?"

Goss began each interview by giving candidates a brief description of the manager position. She said the manager will work under the direction of the supervisor.

"The manager will enforce the laws, administer employee contracts, and basically manage all the day-to-day functions of the township," Goss said.

Parker told committee members he has over 20 years of experience as an administrator in a variety of fields. He said he is proficient in community growth, economic development and long-range planning.

"I am looking to find a community in which, based on job results, I would be provided with a great deal and be able to stay for a long period of time," Parker said.

He added that he was fired recently in St. Clair by a "radical" group who had just been elected to power.

"I do have a great deal of experience to give to a community," Parker said. "For experience you'll get a faster 'bang out of a buck' with me as manager."

Minutes after interviewing Parker, the selection committee brought in Fecho, who said he has over 12 years of experience at the local government level.

Most recently a manager in Grosse Ile, Fecho told committee members he has also served as manager in Rockford. "I definitely have experience in the position you're looking for."

Currently a political consultant, Fecho said he was fired from his Grosse Ile job after trustees there decided to have the supervisor and clerk position become full-time jobs.

"My management philosophy is to not get too friendly with the staff," Fecho said. "I like to develop a team philosophy, and as manager, I get to know all the jobs beneath me."

"I have the ability to pull things together," he said. "I am comfortable talking with officials, the public and staff employees. I also enjoy meeting goals."

Goss said after Fecho's interview that she hopes the committee will present a recommendation to the board of trustees within the next two weeks.

Air conditioner stolen in South Main store burglary

A $1,700 air conditioner was stolen from Redford Steel Stairs & Railing on South Main the night of Sept. 3.

According to a police report, a Lennox air-conditioning unit was taken from the east side of the building. The theft occurred between 7 p.m. Sept. 3 and 8:30 the next morning. The building also suffered $100 damage in the incident.

BIKES STOLEN — City police reported three stolen bikes — all of which were left unlocked — last week.

• A $75 girl's All Pro blue 10-speed was taken from a front yard on East Main between 11 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 5.

• A 26-inch girl's blue 10-speed General was taken from a yard on Carpenter between 11 p.m. Wednesday and 3 p.m. Thursday. It was worth $100.

• A boy's 24-inch black Raleigh Capri 10-speed was taken from in front of Arbor Drugs on Dunlap. It was worth $130 and was taken between 5 and 8 p.m. Thursday.

STOLEN HUBCAPS — Four hubcaps worth a total of $100 were reported stolen from a 1986 Capri parked in the 19000 block of Ironwood Court Aug. 30 and 31.

BULLET FOUND — A live .38-caliber bullet was found by a Northville resident Tuesday, Sept. 5 outside of Sally Esser's Beauty School on West Seven Mile Road.

The victim said she found the bullet in the street next to the beauty school sidewalk. Police said the bullet was dented on both sides and live.

RADAR DETECTORS STOLEN — Two radar detectors were reported stolen in separate incidents over the past week.

• In the first incident, a radar detector worth $250 was reported stolen between 9:02 p.m. Aug. 31 and 7:30 a.m. Sept. 1 from a car parked on East Harbour Village Drive.

The victim said someone smashed out the driver's side window and took the detector, which was connected to the visor. About $150 in damage was also done to the car.

• In the second incident, a radar detector worth $100 was reported stolen between 8 p.m. Sept. 3 and 9 a.m. Sept. 4 from a car parked in the 16000 block of Weatherfield.

The victim said someone entered his locked vehicle and took the radar detector, which was hidden under passenger seat.

MISSING CLUBS — A metal wood and putter worth $125 were stolen from the Oasis Golf Center Tuesday, Sept. 5 between 8:55 p.m. and 9:05 p.m.

The victim said someone took the metal wood and putter while she was waiting on another customer. She described the suspect as a white male, about 18 years old, five feet seven inches tall, thin, with light brown hair.

The victim added the subject wore a pink polo shirt and shorts.

LAWN EQUIPMENT MISSING — Over $580 in lawn equipment was reported stolen from a storage garage in the 19000 block of Gerald Ave. between Aug. 31 and Sept. 4.

The victim said someone broke into his storage facility at Long's Storage by cutting the Master Lock on the door.

He said stolen items included a $300 weed whipper, a $280 blower and $15 worth of plastic containers.

MEIJER THEFT — A Livonia resident was arrested for larceny at Meijer Wednesday, Sept. 6 at 2:24 a.m. after allegedly attempting to steal $123 worth of merchandise.

Police said store detectives told them that they observed the subject conceal $76 earrings and $47 worth of makeup in her purse.

Store detectives said the subject then tried to leave the store without paying for the items. The subject was charged with larceny, held in jail and released on $50 cash bond.

DRUNK DRIVING ROUNDUP — At least two drivers were stopped by township police last week for operating a motor vehicle under the influence of liquor (OUIL).

• A West Bloomfield resident was stopped for OUIL Saturday, Sept. 2 at 3:24 a.m. while in the Meijer parking lot.

Police said they observed the subject driving through the parking lot at a high rate of speed. The subject registered a blood alcohol level of .12 percent. In Michigan, .10 percent is OUIL. The driver was charged with OUIL, held in jail and released on $100 bond. He faces an Oct. 5 court date.

• A Maryland resident was stopped for OUIL Saturday, Sept. 2 at 2:05 a.m. on Seven Mile Road near Marilyn. Police said they were eastbound on Seven Mile when they saw the driver speeding. Police said the driver refused to take a preliminary breath test. The driver later agreed to take a chemical blood test and registered a blood alcohol level of .15 percent. The subject was held in jail and released on $100 personal bond.

AUTO ACCIDENTS — At least four accidents were reported by township police over the past week. They included:

• A three-car accident at 7:18 Friday, Sept. 1 on Eight Mile Road and Haggerty. Police said one car left the Meijer lot and hit a car on Eight Mile, knocking that car into a third. The driver of the first car was ticketed for failing to yield.

• A two-car accident Friday, Sept. 1 at 12:30 p.m. on Baseline Road near Eight Mile. Police said one car was stopped on Baseline Road, waiting to make a right turn onto Eight Mile, when it was hit from behind by another. The driver of the rear car was ticketed for failing to stop within an assured clear distance ahead.

• A two-car collision Wednesday, Sept. 6 at 12:37 p.m. on Five Mile Road and Sheldon. Police said one car was southbound on Sheldon when another — which was westbound on Five Mile — ran a red light and hit the first. The second driver was ticketed for disobeying a red light.

• A three-car accident at 6:40 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 2 on Eight Mile Road and Haggerty. Police said one car was eastbound on Eight Mile and ran a red light, hitting a car on Haggerty and pushing that car into another. The first driver of car one was ticketed for disobeying a red light.

Meanwhile, city police reported these accidents:

• Two cars collided at the corner of Main and Griswold at 5:25 p.m. Friday when a car on Griswold — at a flashing red light — pulled in front of a car on Main, according to the report. The driver was ticketed for failure to yield. Minor injuries were reported, and the fire department washed down a small gas leak caused by the crash.

• One car rear-ended another at the stop sign on Randolph at High at 4:50 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 7. The rear driver's head cracked the windshield of the car, but the driver refused medical attention. The rear driver was ticketed for failure to stop within an assured clear distance ahead.

• A car turning left from Eight Mile onto Center hit another car on Eight Mile at about 4:30 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 6. The driver turning left was cited for failure to yield.

• A driver turning into the parking lot on Dunlap at Edwards Caterer was rear-ended by another driver who was ticketed for failure to stop in an assured clear distance ahead. No injuries were reported.

King's Mill Cooperative heads township taxpayer list

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

Although there was a lot of movement in the third through tenth positions, King's Mill Cooperative remained atop Northville Township's list of its 10 largest taxpayers for 1989.

King's Mill's 1989 assessment came in at $5,323,160 — an increase of almost $3,000 over the previous year.

King's Mill manager Herb Timmons said 455 residents own a share of stock in the co-op, which covers about 40 acres.

"This is an excellent place to live," said Timmons, who has lived at King's Mill for the past seven years. "It has nice facilities, low maintenance and a swimming pool. I just love it here."

A member of the King's Mill board of directors for the past year, Timmons said he pays off the mortgage. The township collects its taxes from the co-op in December.

Timmons said the property is assessed as a whole and added residents pay their taxes to the township in one lump sum.

The second-largest 1989 taxpayer is Innsbrook-Sierra Associates, owners of an apartment complex which saw its assessment rise from $3,284,900 to $4,981,750 in 1989.

Consumers Power, which was the second-highest taxpayer in 1988, saw its assessment rise to $4,813,170 from a 1988 valuation of $4,609,960. Consumers Power fell from second to third place in the township.

Meijer also fell one notch in 1989, as its assessment rose from $4,279,180 in 1988 to $4,591,460 for this year. It went from third to fourth.

Swan Harbour Associates checked in as the fifth-largest township taxpayer for the second consecutive year, but its assessment remained the same in 1989 at its 1988 valuation of $3,578,480.

Rounding out the 1989 top ten taxpayer list are: Detroit Edison, $3,179,420; Ward Presbyterian Church, $3,112,850; Harbour Hills Apartments, $2,947,560; and Meadowbrook Country Club, $2,393,140.

Wayne County Appraisal Co. official Glen Shaw said some of the 1989 assessments dropped due to consent judgements made between the township and the petitioner at the Michigan Tax Tribunal.

Shaw added the assessment of Ward Church rose from its 1988 assessment of $2,284,530 because his firm did a complete review of the vacant land in Northville Township.

The proposed site of Ward Church, located on the corner of Six Mile and Haggerty roads, currently sits vacant.

Schools discuss bus policy with Moraine parents

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

The Northville School District's busing policy will not be changed despite a plea by a number of parents of Moraine Elementary children.

And while there are no firm plans to reduce the speed limit on Eight Mile near the school, that remains a possibility.

Nearly 15 residents from Northville Estates, Abbey Knoll Estates and Pheasant Hills appeared before the Northville Board of Education Monday, asking board members to add three bus stops.

"We can't afford to take chances with the safety of our children," said George Dooley, who acted as spokesperson for the group.

Dooley asked board members to add bus stops at the intersections of Whitegate and Andover, Andover and Coldspring, and Standstead and Battleford.

Resident Bob Komarsa added, "The true issue is whether the board is comfortable with the children walking across Eight Mile Road."

"I don't think we're doing all we can to protect these children," he said.

Previously, children in these subdivisions attended Amerman Elementary. But to ease overcrowding concerns, Moraine has been reopened as an elementary school beginning this year.

"When these children went to Amerman, they were bused," said Superintendent George Bell. "But a lot of them who were bused to Amerman are now eligible to walk to Moraine School."

Assistant Superintendent Burton Knighton said the board's policy is to bus students who live half a mile or farther from the school.

"For the past four years, it has been our practice to have bus stops no closer than .5 mile to the school," Knighton said.

Bell noted state guidelines call for the busing of students within a mile and a half of the school. "We are much more liberal in that we bus children who live over one-half a mile from a school."

Residents, however, told board members they are not happy having their children walk along Eight Mile Road and eventually cross to the school on an overpass.

"I'm tired of talking about an overpass; I want to talk about adding a couple of bus stops in my subdivision to take the majority of kids in the neighborhood to school," Dooley said.

Board President Glenna Davis said she appreciated the concern expressed to board members by parents and added there is "no consensus when safety is the subject."

"There is no agreement on what's good for each child," Davis said. "As a board we try to find the community's consensus, and the minute we treat you differently then we'll hear from other parents who also want the policy changed for them."

"I have confidence in our administration that they look after the safety of our children."

Knighton said the school district has been led to believe that "an overpass is a safe way for children to get to school. Besides, construction on a sidewalk should begin this week."

Knighton was referring to a sidewalk that will extend along the north side of Eight Mile from Abbey Knoll Estates subdivision to Lanthorn Lane.

Board members approved an agreement Monday to share half the cost of the $6,300 sidewalk with the City of Northville.

Michigan State Police Lt. Shelby Slater has confirmed Knighton's assessment of the safety of an overpass, and added, "We have found the farther you get children away from vehicle traffic, the better."

Slater said an overpass system is safer than using crossing guards. "Crossing guards are only human, and besides, children are still close to traffic that way."

Resident Roy Schwarz told board members that Bell had promised subdivision residents that a "school speed zone" would be established in front of Moraine.

Bell said, "Superintendents don't change speed limits; that's a function of the Michigan State Police and the Oakland County Road Commission."

Bell said he contacted the Oakland County Road Commission months ago and is still trying to have the speed reduced in front of Moraine from 50 mph to 40 mph on a permanent basis. Contrary to previous reports in the Record, there are currently no plans to reduce the speed.

Currently the speed limit drops from 50 to 40 mph east of Moraine. State police studied the entire stretch of Eight Mile from Napier to Grand River in Farmington earlier this year, concluding that no changes in speed limits were warranted. That was before the Moraine reopening.

Les Saunders of the Oakland County Road Commission (OCRC) said the state police will need to conduct a new traffic control order (TCO) survey on the area before a lower speed can be established.

Slater also said the speed limit on Eight Mile will have to be studied again before it can be reduced in front of Moraine.

"We'll have to pick several locations to study along Eight Mile to get a feel of the volume and speed of the traffic," Slater said, adding the state police will have to be notified by an outside agency to begin the study.

OCRC official Winston Myrie said state law requires a school superintendent to request a speed reduction in writing before the TCO survey can begin.

Myrie said he has not yet received a written request from Bell on the Moraine School speed zone.

Bell said he found out Monday that he was required to send a written request for the lower speed and added, "The letter will be sent out right away."

"We had communications sent to the county in August on the Moraine speed zone," he said, adding the new request will be sent and evaluated by the state police and either accepted or denied.

Citizens' group worried about possible Griswold bypass

By DARRELL CLEM

A citizens' group concerned about traffic problems on Griswold Street fears that the situation will worsen due to the planned redevelopment of East Cady Street.

The Millview Residents Association (MRA), which believes that Griswold already poses risks to motorists, is urging the city to seek a "21st-century solution" to development and traffic.

The association, composed of residents of Pennell, Butler, and Griswold streets, contends that some proposals being considered for Cady Street will result in major increases of traffic on Griswold.

In particular, the residents oppose construction of a bypass which some city officials have suggested could be eventually built on Northville Downs property to link South Center and Griswold streets.

MRA President Steve Ball said suggestions for such a bypass "are not responsible."

City officials have said that the bypass probably would not be built until the latter stages of the Cady Street project, which is expected to take up to 20 years to complete.

But Ball said residents must act now to try to halt plans for a bypass.

"That plan just doesn't make any sense," Ball said. "We have to stop it now."

In June, Ball sent a letter to the Northville Planning Commission and the Downtown Development Authority to make those boards aware of the MRA's concerns. He has since been appointed to the planning commission.

"Traffic volume, speed and composition, especially the high percentage of heavy trucks, are major concerns for the association," Ball wrote. "We are committed to working to reduce traffic on Griswold, not to see it increase."

Ball wrote that proposals being considered for the Cady Street redevelopment "suffer from a lack of comprehensive planning." His letter also states that studies on Cady Street fail to give consideration to the impact on the Millview area.

During a telephone interview, Ball elaborated on some of the MRA's concerns about Griswold, particularly the stretch between Main Street and Eight Mile Road.

Ball said the street should never have been designated as a truck route. He said the residential neighborhoods along Griswold should not be burdened with the heavy volume of large trucks, such as cement mixers and dirt haulers, that use Griswold.

Ball said residents currently are conducting a study to determine which companies use Griswold as a route for their trucks. He said results of the study will be submitted to city officials, who have indicated that they will contact the companies and ask that the trucks use an alternate route. Ball said the MRA already has identified the trucks of about 12 companies.

In other matters, Ball said Griswold suffers from infrastructure problems. Specifically, the two bridges on Griswold appear to be deteriorating, he said, and curves pose hazards for motorists pulling onto Griswold from Pennell and Butler streets.

Ball said motorists turning onto Griswold from the two streets "just take their chances."

"The best they can do is just look for northbound (Griswold) traffic, push the pedal and go," Ball said. "You're just blind where Griswold intersects with Pennell and Butler."

He said there have been a number of collisions at the intersections.

Moreover, Ball questioned whether the 35-mph speed limit on Griswold is too lenient. Ball said a 25-mph advisory posted by the city on Griswold "has no force of law" and is largely ignored.

In fact, Ball said, many motorists drive beyond the 35-mph speed limit: "It's easy to get up to 45 miles an hour without thinking about it."

In his letter, Ball noted that Griswold, like Randolph Street, is a popular short-cut to the center of Northville.

"Randolph is receiving much consideration to reduce the traffic-neighborhood conflict — and rightfully so," he wrote.

Local man works for food

By BOB NEEDHAM

Joe Rivard says he's just looking for a chance.

Robbed of all his belongings when he arrived back in the area two months ago, he has been keeping body and soul together by holding up a sign reading "Will work for food / I need help / Please" around the Northville area. He's managed to put together a few odd jobs, but he's looking for steady work — at good pay. Real work.

Rivard said the sign helps somewhat, but some people don't like it at all.

"I get the finger. A lot of people call me names. I let it go in one ear and out the other," he said recently while holding his sign in front of Shopping Center Market in Northville.

"A lot of people drive by, but a lot of people do stop," he said. "People give me a little food and stuff. Sometimes I need it, sometimes I don't."

The 1973 graduate of Novi High School went out to Oregon for a visit and ended up deciding to stay there.

Earlier this summer, though, he wanted to return to Michigan to spend time with his father.

Rivard took a bus to Detroit but, he said, was robbed as soon as he got off. Thieves took $450 — his Michigan start-up money — and all his luggage.

He turned to the Salvation Army. "They fixed me up with some work for a few people," he said. He then went to stay with some family friends in South Lyon.

Since then — over two months ago — Rivard has been catching work as he can, doing odd jobs and taking temporary positions while seeking permanent work. A construction contractor in Oregon, he said he has many skills: truck driving, bulldozer operation, front-end loader driving, and general "handyman" work. And, he said emphatically, "I can pass a drug test."

Rivard has held up his sign at several locations around the area. One of his first stops was the Meijer store at Eight Mile and Haggerty.

"The security came out and asked me to leave. They said it was a form of soliciting. It's not soliciting; I'm looking for work," he said.

He does not own an auto, but points to a new, red plastic gas can as his "car" — his transportation. Once, he explained, it took him two and a half hours to hitchhike to a job interview at Schoolcraft and Inkster. He was late and lost the job.

"I picked up some (returnable) bottles and bought myself a gas can," he said. "People will stop and pick up somebody else that's out of gas, rather than hitchhiking." The ride back took about a half an hour.

"It's never, never had any gas in it," Rivard said of the "car." But he pointed out that once someone stops for him, he comes clean and explains the ruse — that there is no car. People usually drive him anyway after that, he said.

Rivard said he is not on welfare. And he is not very interested in a low-paying job like he might find in a fast-food restaurant.

"I do better working for homeowners and seniors (at odd jobs)," he said. "The different places I do work, people feed me and take care of me."

"I don't really need (welfare). What I need is a good job."

Schools see enrollment rise

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

While residential development in Northville continues at a feverish pace, school officials announced Monday enrollment has increased more than five percent over last year.

"On the first day of school (Sept. 5), we had 3,822 kids — which is a 5.4-percent increase from the fourth Friday count in Sept. 1988," said Assistant Superintendent Burton Knighton.

"The majority of new students are within the elementary- to middle-school age," he said. "Young families seem to be moving into new homes in Northville."

In a district comparison, the elementary population has increased from 1,214 students in September 1985 to 1,788 students in September 1989.

This shows an elementary-school population increase of 47 percent in the past four years. Middle-school population over the same time period increased by 14 percent.

Northville High's population for the same four-year period has decreased by 8 percent. "As the elementary kids grow, the high-school population will increase," Superintendent George Bell said.

As of Sept. 5, 1989, Northville Schools registered an enrollment of 3,822 students, while in comparison, on Sept. 30, 1988 Northville had an enrollment of 3,626.

Knighton said based on the Staffed Enrollment Projections from Michigan State University, K-12 enrollment for September 1989 was first estimated somewhere between 3,758 students and 3,850.

"Thus, our projection of 3,760 students was on the conservative side," he said.

To handle the increase in enrollment, school-board members approved Monday the hiring of two new elementary-school teachers — bringing to 27 the number of teachers hired since the end of last year.

Northville's two newest teachers are Kathleen Allen, who will teach second grade at Winchester, and Leann McKee, who will teach second / third grade at Amerman.

Knighton said the state tenure law requires a two-year probationary period for teachers and only a one-year probation for those who already received tenure in another Michigan School District.

Both Allen and McKee are new teachers and received two-year probationary periods.

Knighton said the district employed the equivalent of 194.85 full-time teachers at the end of the 1988-89 school year and now unofficially has the equivalent of 210.2 full-time teachers.

The district has filled 15.7 new teaching positions for the 1989-90 school year and also added 12 teachers to offset teacher retirements from last year.

Knighton noted that not all of the 27 new teachers are employed in full-time positions.

In other enrollment news, school officials said they were able to redistribute the student population at Amerman Elementary and eliminate all but one grade class split.

WHY BITE ON THE RIBBON?

Did you ever wonder why your dentist asks you to bite on a thin piece of ribbon? Actually it is a very fine strip of paper, or film coated with special marking material. What he is doing is checking your bite. He's looking for any high spots on the surface of your teeth which meet prematurely when the uppers and lowers come into contact.

He'll check your bite from several different directions and from the information he finds from the markings on the ribbon, he'll know just how your bite works and whether it needs any bite correction. It may even indicate that certain teeth need building up to meet their opposing partners.

He can also take study models so that he has a permanent hard plaster model of your teeth. From this simple bite test, he can then adjust your bite so that you have a comfortable fit and, as a bonus, save you the possibility of more serious problems in the future. When your friend the dentist says, "bite down", he's doing you and your mouth a favor. Have you thanked him lately?

Local man hurt in crash

A Northville resident is in guarded condition at St. Mary Hospital after his car collided with another on Eight Mile at Lexington Friday

Robert Lawson Jameson was in guarded condition in St. Mary's intensive care unit late Tuesday, a hospital spokesperson said. He was admitted to the hospital shortly after the accident at 11 a.m. Friday

According to a Northville police report, a witness saw Jameson stop on Lexington for a stop sign, then start across Eight Mile. His car hit another which was driving east on Eight Mile Lawson was unconscious and bleeding when police arrived, and he appeared to be having trouble breathing. One passenger in the second car suffered injuries to the arm and neck, but was conscious and standing. That person was taken to Providence Hospital Novi Center for treatment.

The impact of the crash threw Jameson across to the passenger side of his car, the police report said. The collision sent his car off the road

As of Monday afternoon, no one had been charged in the accident.

Vietnam vigil this Saturday

Oakland Hills Memorial Gardens in Novi will be the site of the state-recognized POW / MIA Recognition by Vietnam Veterans of America (VVA) again this year

The 24-hour vigil at the site of the Vietnam POW / MIA Memorial will begin this Saturday at 5 p.m. and run to 5 p.m. Sunday. Oakland Hills Memorial Gardens is located at the northeast corner of Twelve Mile and Novi Road.

The 24-hour vigil will be sponsored by VVA Chapter 154 of Mt. Clemens, the largest chapter in the organization, with more than 700 members. Purpose of the vigil is to focus public attention on the fact that there are still 2,344 Americans listed as "missing in action" from the Vietnam War.

There are 74 Michigan residents still missing whose names are on a monument at Oakland Hills Memorial Gardens. Their names will be read hourly, and a changing of the guard will take place by the award-winning color guard and point team throughout the vigil.

For more information about the event call 468-0525. Chapter 154 meets the first Wednesday of each month at VFW Post 1794 on Broadway near Church Street in Mt. Clemens.

Adopting

Students help others adjust to new school

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

Changing schools during a student's high-school career can be an extremely unnerving experience

Trying to fit it with the crowd and learn your way around the school can become very trying even for the most well-traveled students

To ease the transitional period of its new students, Northville High is continuing its peer orientation program called "Adopt-A-Student"

"I've never experienced a program like this before," said 10th-grade adoptee Jennifer Jacobs. "It's helped me to get to know a lot of people and get an inside view of the school."

Now in its third year, the program is designed to "make new students feel at ease as they begin their years at Northville High," Assistant Principal Laura Wiener said

"We feel this program is really an important way of making new students feel good about being a student at Northville High," she added

About 160 students — 80 adopters and 80 adoptees — have taken part in the program, which began with an orientation session Aug. 31

"This is the third year of the program, but this year we made it a lot more structured," Wiener said. "I made a handout section which told adopters exactly what to do during the first week of school"

Wiener said each new high-school student was assigned an adopter to help acquaint him or her with the school

Jacobs — who recently moved to Northville from Atlanta — said her adopted sister picked her up the first day of school and helped her find each of her classes

"Kelly showed me around the school and introduced me to a lot of people," Jacobs said, adding this is the eighth time she has changed schools.

"Northville is the only school that has this program, and when you're new latching on to someone, especially a peer is nice," she said.

Senior Kelly Frederick, Jacobs' adopter, said this is the second year she has participated in the "Adopt-A-Student" program.

"I was new in the ninth grade, so I have sympathy for the new students," Frederick said. "The first couple of days can be nerve-racking, and it's nice to know you'll have someone be with you and who'll introduce you around."

She said Jacobs was fairly nervous during her first day, but added she quickly began to fit in. Frederick said she'll keep in touch with Jacobs during the school year.

"She's a really nice girl," Frederick said. "I probably would not have met her without this program, but I'll definitely keep in touch."

Our Opinions

Bond issue may be option for sidewalks

The people have spoken — at least some of them — and they said they don't want sidewalks.

At the first of a series of public hearings to consider the issue, more than 100 city residents jammed into the city-council chambers last week to oppose a plan to extend the city's sidewalk system.

Right now, the sidewalk system is not complete. Some areas have no sidewalks; sometimes they end for no apparent reason. It's a problem. Northville is generally (Northville Estates excluded) a city of sidewalks. The pleasant, friendly walking routes are one of the city's attractions for residents and potential residents.

Gaps in the sidewalk system are not good. They cause safety problems for residents who are elderly or who use a wheelchair. Correcting these problems is a noble and worthwhile goal.

The question of paying for the corrections, however, is difficult. The city currently plans to require individual property owners — those adjoining the sidewalk-less areas — to foot the bill.

Some of these are pretty big bills to foot — more than $1,000. Even spread out over a period of years, that's a lot of money. Especially when the property owners in question don't own the land on which the sidewalks would go; it's part of the right-of-way, owned by the city.

The obvious alternative is to absorb the cost into the general city budget, but there are at least two problems to that approach: the city can't afford it any more than the individual homeowners, and it's not really fair to the people who already have sidewalks. They already paid for theirs, most likely as part of the cost of buying their homes.

At the same time, extending the sidewalk system would be a benefit to the community as a whole. So maybe the community as a whole should share in the cost to some degree.

One solution might be a bond issue along the lines of the street-repair program. In spite of various problems and delays which have cropped up along the line, the program must be counted as a success. Most of the streets which needed paving have been paved, and the ones which remain are at least in the planning stages.

It was the community's decision — through a bond-issue election — to spend the money to fix the streets. The community decided that the project was worth the expense, and it went ahead and approved the idea. The assessment structure had a built-in feature which eased the burden on residents who had recently paid to fix their individual streets.

Perhaps a similar plan is the way to attack the sidewalk-extension issue.

A bond issue has three tremendous advantages over the current plan. For one, it allows the people of the city to decide if the additional sidewalks are worth the cost. Two, if it passes, it spreads cost for this citywide benefit out to the city as a whole. And three, the cost to each individual person would be much more bearable.

The tricky part of such a plan would be structuring it so that the people currently without sidewalks would pay more than those currently with them; this is only fair. Serious thought and discussion ought to be able to remove this snag.

Of course, the bond issue might be turned down, and then the city would be back at square one. But the idea is certainly worth considering.

The Victorian Festival deserves town's support

After months of planning, Northville's first Victorian Festival actually takes place this Friday, Saturday and Sunday. It just might be a very important weekend for the community.

The festival is a major undertaking — much more so than a lot of the other fine public events the community hosts throughout the year. The Victorian Festival idea is truly unique and is tied directly into the history and character of the Northville community.

The idea is different enough that, if it becomes established, could really identify Northville in the minds of everyone in the metro area and even the state. It could conceivably reach the status of the Ice Sculpture Spectacular in Plymouth and the Renaissance Festival outside Holly.

It's kind of exciting to see something like this take shape and to wonder how it's going to come off.

The key all along has been community involvement. Many different individuals and groups in Northville worked to make the festival a success.

Their work should not go unnoticed or unappreciated. We encourage everyone in Northville to visit the festival. It belongs to the community, and it should be a lot of fun.

Sidewalk impact

By Darrell Clem

Is it possible the issue of sidewalks could cause Northville political incumbents to get walked over in the Nov. 7 election?

If the opinions of angry citizens who recently attended a public hearing represent the majority of Northville residents, that possibility appears real.

Scores of property owners blasted a plan that would force them to pay for new sidewalks. Some threatened to remember the issue at November polls.

It's no wonder the city council failed to act on the sidewalk proposal last week and, instead, postponed the matter until Oct. 9. It would come as no surprise to many if the council eventually decides to postpone the issue — conveniently so — until after the election.

Mayor Christopher Johnson indicated one point that warrants attention, however. Did the people at the public hearing really represent a majority of citizens? Or is there a mostly silent majority out there that wants sidewalks and just didn't bother to make their views public?

Last week's hearing focused only on two areas of the city — Old Baseline Road and the city's northeast section. It will be interesting to see whether a similar outcry against the sidewalk plan emerges in coming weeks as public hearings are held for other sections of the city.

Basically, city officials have cited pedestrian safety and the continuity of the city's walking routes as primary reasons for installing new sidewalks. It's a town in which people like to walk, they say, and people should be provided good, safe walking conditions.

But many residents apparently don't want more walkers in their neighborhoods — especially if the sidewalk plan would result in trees and shrubs being torn down or trimmed. People say that would invade their privacy.

And the bottom line — for many — is cost. Taxpayers would be forced to pay hundreds — and in some cases, thousands — of dollars to have new sidewalks installed. Sidewalks that many of them don't even want.

So, as the election draws nearer, developments on the proposed sidewalk plan — and the potential implications for the Nov. 7 election — will be interesting to observe.

Thus far, Johnson faces no opposition for the mayoral post, although that could easily change before the Oct. 1 filing deadline. Council member Jerry Mittman, however, already faces opposition from former council member G. Dewey Gardner and political newcomer Mark McManus. That means that, already, three candidates are in the running for only two council seats at stake.

Undoubtedly, there will be other election issues to surface between now and Nov. 7. But if a decision to proceed with the sidewalk plan is made soon — and if voters are as upset about the project as they appear — some incumbents may wish there were no sidewalks under their feet as they scuffle home from an election defeat.

After the fact

By Phil Jerome

I didn't mean for it to happen, but it did. I stayed maybe two minutes too long in the two-hour parking zone, got ticketed and had to run over to city hall to pay the fine before they doubled it.

"Well, that wasn't too painful," I said with a big smile to the lady who took my money. "But it makes me wonder about something. I've got this friend who thinks he may have a couple of unpaid parking tickets going back a couple of years, but he's afraid to ask because he's worried that he'll be arrested on the spot so he asked if I would come in and find out for him," I grinned.

"No problem at all," said the lady on the other side of the counter. "I'd be happy to look it up on the computer. You wouldn't happen to know your friend's license plate number, would you?"

"What a break," I said. "I just happen to remember it. Boy, is he a lucky guy."

She tapped the number into the computer and announced moments later that my buddy's record was clean.

"Are you sure?" I asked. "He knows for a fact that he got a couple of parking tickets last year which he never paid for. He even got a notice in the mail about them."

"Do you think it's possible your friend's wife might have come in and paid his parking tickets for him?" asked the lady behind the counter.

"Geez. Maybe," I replied. "I mean, it's something she might have done. My friend forgets little things like that sometimes, even though he doesn't mean to, and his wife kind of cleans up after him. You know, keeps him out of trouble."

"Well," smiled the lady. "you can tell your friend that all his parking tickets have been paid and he's in no danger of being arrested."

"And you might even suggest that maybe he should buy his wife some flowers on your way home tonight," she added.

Don't want a church? Okay . . .

To the Editor:

I have noticed several letters to the editor regarding the proposed Ward Presbyterian Church facility at the corner of Haggerty and Six Mile. Since some people obviously want something built on that corner that fits in with the character of our quaint little town, several investors and I have benevolently offered to purchase that land and construct something slightly more desirable for the community.

1. Northville desperately needs a go-cart racetrack. This would be constructed for the use of our young people and would be placed along Six Mile at the west edge of the property.

2. A buffer would be needed between the race track and Northville State Hospital. We think that a low-level nuclear waste dump would be just the thing to enhance property values. This would go on the northwest corner of the parcel.

3. Along Haggerty, a brewery would be perfect. Of course, there will be no part of the facility over 48 feet tall (not even the smokestacks!) to enhance fire safety.

4. We are trying to decide which type of plant would fit best in between the brewery and the nightclub (see item 5). It presently is a toss-up between a fish processing plant and a jackhammer re-manufacturing and testing facility.

5. And last, right at the corner of Six and Haggerty, a nightclub and topless bar is desperately needed to attract more quality people to our quaint little town.

Or, of course you can settle for a church . . .

Tom Apple

Ward had planned and had an opportunity to see the plans for this church.

This is not going to be a normal church with stained glass windows — something befitting our small but lovely community. The Ward Evangelical Presbyterian Church is planning its own "city within a city" and I for one do not think this township is the place for it, nor can we handle the traffic.

By Ward's own studies and information provided in a booklet prepared for the township, it makes clear that "the building needs of Ward Church go far beyond a worship facility. In fact, only 15 percent of the complex is comprised by the sanctuary."

Speaking to the traffic issue, they also reported in their traffic studies that the "majority" of traffic will be approaching Ward from the east on Six Mile Road. This brings up another issue I'm concerned with. How many parishioners reside in the township and will share the future increased tax burden the church will create? To more fully give you a feeling for the traffic nightmare, imagine Meijer's parking lot — full — now imagine it emptying onto Six Mile and heading east several times a week and Sundays.

I would hope that all concerned township residents speak up and let our planning commission and supervisor know how you feel regarding the Ward Church. Go up to the township and find out what is going on — look at the plans for the church. I've been told repeatedly there's nothing that can be done, and maybe that's so. I hope not.

of balancing the current environment and its ecology with development. Maintain a spacious, low-density feeling without the congestion of a metropolitan community. Restrict high-rises, strip malls and light industry. Do not follow Novi into congestion and depletion, but take the lead in preservation. We believe that open land is a luxury the residents are willing to support financially.

Two current issues are being debated by the township planners. Specifically, we urge Northville Township to dramatically increase lot sizes and to be cautious and thoughtful in allowing future land divisions. Your leadership is vital in protecting what we have here.

Remarks reply

To the Editor:

After reflecting on Cindi Jackson's letter in the Aug. 17 issue, there are a few remarks that, in my opinion, need to be said.

As a "crafter," I know the hours of painstaking work that go into making her T-shirts, sweatshirts and visors — and I understand her frustration in being denied the opportunity to have others appreciate and buy her work.

However, I'm wondering what brought on Del Black's uncharacteristic behavior.

I've known Del Black for over 30 years and have never known him to be deliberately offensive or rude to anyone. I sincerely believe he wouldn't lose his composure except under excessive provocation or intense irritation, and then only in the most desperate circumstances.

I'm writing this without Del's knowledge and I haven't discussed this situation with him.

Police conduct

To the Editor:

I applaud Ms. O'Brien for the action she taken against the Northville police officer.

When I moved to Northville Township 17 years ago, police officers smiled and waved. Recently, I and members of my family have witnessed behavior from three township officers on several occasions that displayed harassment, sarcasm, rudeness, and disrespect. They also used filthy language, made threats, and shouted, clearly showing their authority. Teenagers seem to be most commonly the targets, and as a parent of two teenagers, I am appalled by how quickly years of training in respect for police officers can disintegrate. Respect is an earned quality that cannot be gained through intimidation. The example of "adulthood" these officers displayed is embarrassing to me, because our family is proud of this community.

Name withheld by request

Editor's Note: The reference to "Ms. O'Brien" concerns a citizen who lodged a complaint for rudeness against a City of Northville police officer. The officer was suspended for one day, appealed the suspension, and lost the appeal before the city council.

Delightful play

To the Editor:

Last Saturday evening we had the pleasure of seeing a delightful, humorous stage play called "The Foreigner" at the Marquis Theater in Northville. As with all the previous productions we have seen at the Marquis, the staging and the talented performers were first rate.

How fortunate we are in the Northville community — through the hard work and efforts of Inge Zayti, her staff, and many talented people — to enjoy live stage productions in a beautifully refurbished theatre.

Why, then, on a Saturday evening, were there only enough patrons to fill a third of the seats?

This theater is a unique and precious asset to our community. Granted, "The Foreigner" is not as well-known on stage as "South Pacific," "Oklahoma," or many other, more popular productions, but if we are to appreciate and enjoy our local theater, we must as a community support the efforts being made here. We certainly have enjoyed all the productions we have attended, and the price can't be beat.

So come on, Northville, let's support our live and lovely theatre.

"The Desert Song" will be presented in October. We hope to see all the seats filled.

Teenagers need to identify with a group

This is another in a continuing series of columns by Northville Youth Assistance Director Mary Ellen King.

During the last couple of weeks, in addition to working at Northville Youth Assistance, I have been helping my cousin with the expansion of his new retail soccer store. In between folding T-shirts, hanging shorts, and sorting shoes, I have been waiting on customers — soccer players.

My observations while at the store have reinforced what I have known for years, i.e., it is important for teenagers to belong or identify with a group. For example, I have observed boys — all with basically the same style of hair — buying the "in" brand name of shorts, duffel bags, shoes, etc. I have had girls ask me what brand name of shoe that a girl that just left the store bought so that she could buy the same brand.

I am sure that this phenomenon of dressing and looking the same is not unique to teenage soccer players. I believe that teenage tennis, football, basketball, baseball and lacrosse players all speak the same language and wear the same clothes. If a teenager is not a member of a sports team, they may satisfy the need to "belong" by joining a non-athletic group.

Some teens may be in pain because they feel they do not belong to a group. If they are asked, they may say that they don't care, but many would respond confidentially that it is important for them to be part of a group.

As adults it is of the utmost importance for us to be sensitive to what is going on in the lives of our teens. If we see a teenager who we feel does not seem to "belong," give that kid special attention. Kids need to "belong" and to know that someone cares about them.

Getting crowded

By Tim Richard

My outboard motor was on the fritz one day in 1982. I took it to the marine dealer where I bought it, but the guy was out of business.

The telephone directory, in the days when it wasn't so bulky as to be unusable, yielded a number of outboard dealers capable of handling my brand of quiet fishing motor.

Most were out of business.

Traveling US-2 in the Upper Peninsula that July, I noticed one boarded-up restaurant and motel after another.

That was in the bottom of the recession. Today you fight for recreation space. And maybe prosperity is better.

This summer was Michigan tourism's first $10 billion summer, according to state Travel Bureau director John Savich.

The record was reached despite a slowdown in the national economy and an erosion of consumer confidence, he said.

Erosion of consumer confidence?

A poll of metro Detroiters released last week showed just the opposite. We're living high. And shopping mall stores in Oakland and Washtenaw counties, in particular, are so hard-up for help that they're offering tuition incentives and child care.

Savich recently launched the bureau's new Michigan Fall Travel Guide and Calendar of Events at a news conference, saying: "Make no mistake: Although preliminary figures may say that travel had a $10 billion economic impact this summer, this has been a tough year. Every year since 1985 has set a record in Michigan travel history, and it becomes harder and harder each year to improve on the record performance of the previous 12 months.

"We started 1989 faced with predictions of rising gasoline prices and a softening economy. We got erratic prices, slow growth in the gross national product, a seven-point decline in consumer confidence, and a 10- to 15-percent growth in hotel rooms — all of which makes for a very unusual year full of mixed signals."

"Mixed signals?"

State parks now take reservations, and over the Labor Day weekend many were filled — despite the abundance of mosquitoes generated by early season rain.

Every town in creation seems to have a festival of sorts. Savich revealed there were seven "Celebrate the Great Lakes" festivals, including even Wyandotte. Wyandotte? Yeah, Wyandotte.

In florid language, Savich unveiled the new "user friendly" fall travel guide. It combines a calendar of festivals and activities with a selection of 25 color tours, 80 cider mills and other goodies.

Copies of the free Michigan Fall Travel Guide and Calendar of Events can be obtained by calling the Travel Bureau at 1-800-5432-YES.

So promotion conscious is Savich's office that they even have a number for the hearing impaired: 1-800-722-8191.

The travel industry has come a long way since the bottom of the recession, when UP restaurants were boarded up and boat dealers were belly up. If one were old-fashioned, one could even say it's getting crowded out in our beloved boonies.

Events galore planned for three-day Victorian Festival

Here is the schedule of events for the first Northville Victorian Festival, set to run Friday, Saturday and Sunday:

ONGOING (EVERY DAY) EVENTS

FREE PARKING AND TRANSPORTATION provided by an old-fashioned trolley and horse-drawn carriages

ART MARKET: This annual Northville event will be open for business from 12 to 6 p.m. Friday, with Saturday and Sunday hours opening at 9 a.m. Booths will be located throughout the downtown area

FOOD BOOTHS: Various local non-profit groups will be featuring Victorian food and fare

HISTORIC DISTRICT TOURS: Guided trolley tours of the historic district will start at 1:30 p.m. Friday. Walking tours of the historic district will be offered at 2 and 4 p.m. beginning at the information booth at the corner of Main and Center streets

BANDSHELL ENTERTAINMENT: Entertainment at the downtown bandshell, off Main east of Center, will be held Friday from 1 to 6 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m., with Saturday and Sunday hours from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

STREET FESTIVAL ATTRACTIONS: These include a barbershop quartet, a dulcimer player, actors and townspeople in costume, a "medicine man" show, strolling musicians, melodramas, historic readings, an antique show, and shopping downtown

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 15

AFTERNOON TEA: A formal afternoon tea will be served from 3 to 4:30 p.m. today and Saturday at the Atchison House library, located at 501 W. Dunlap. Traditional tea-time foods cake, sandwiches and scones will be served. The tea will be followed by dramatic readings by Kathleen Leo from her book "Town One South." She will be accompanied by Tom Rice on guitar. Period dress is encouraged. Cost is $10 per person, paid in advance. For more information and reservations call The Atchison House at 349-3340.

VICTORIAN FESTIVAL PARADE: The Northville Victorian Festival Parade will be held at 6 p.m. and boast such attractions as horse-drawn carriages, bands, costumed characters, unicycles and English actress Jane Rosser, who will play Queen Victoria. The parade will start in front of the Northville Recreation Center on Main Street. The route will go west on Main Street to Rogers Street, north on Rogers to W. Dunlap, east on Dunlap to Center, south on Center to Main and east on Main to the bandshell area in front of the clock.

HOUDINI'S SUCCESSOR — JON OLIVER'S ESCAPE ACT: Immediately following the parade, Jon Oliver, noted escape artist and magician, will escape from a straightjacket while suspended high above downtown Northville on a fire ladder. This will take place by the town clock on Main Street.

ICE-CREAM SOCIAL: An ice-cream social will be held at 6:45 p.m. in front of the Open Door Church located at the corner of Dunlap and Center Streets. Ice cream will be served by Robin's Cloverdale Cafe.

VICTORIAN REVIEW: Starting at 7 p.m. there will be special bandshell entertainment including: Raghu Das the "Performing Poet," The Figurines singing group from Northville High School, and the Novi Concert Band.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 16

CHILDREN'S EVENTS: Children's Events include: PUPPET SHOW: Starting at 10:30 a.m. at the town square bandshell.

MAGIC SHOW: Jon Oliver will perform a magic and illusion show at 11:30 a.m. at the bandshell.

BUBBLEGUM-BLOWING CONTEST: At 12:15 p.m. in front of Sweets-n-Treats shop on Center Street.

BALL AND JACKS COMPETITION: Starting at 12:45 in front of Del's Shoes store on Main Street.

HOOPS CONTEST: In front of the Northville Record office on Main Street beginning at 1:15 p.m.

STORYTELLING: Also at 1:15 p.m. Barbara Boch and Jeanne Gordon will be storytelling.

PIE-EATING CONTEST: At 1:45 in front of Crawford's.

DECORATED BIKE PARADE / CONTEST: Children should come with their already decorated bikes at 2:15 p.m. in front of the two bike shops on Center Street.

MARBLE-SHOOTING CONTEST: This takes place at 2:45 p.m. in front of Genitti's Restaurant on Main Street.

WOODEN-PENNY HUNT: Beginning at 3:15 p.m. in front of Heritage Federal Bank on Main Street.

OTHER SATURDAY EVENTS

"SHE WAS ONLY A FARMER'S DAUGHTER": continuous melodramas put on by the Northville Players at the American Legion Hall from 11 a.m. - 3 p.m.

VICTORIAN DANCE WORKSHOPS: Attendees of the Victorian Costume Ball on Saturday evening are urged to take part in dance workshops being held at Mill Race Village at 1 p.m. and 4 p.m. Dancers will be taught, among other dances, the Prelude Waltz, the Quadrille and the Viennese Waltz, by Cathy Stephens, a dance teacher and performer from London, Ontario.

VICTORIAN WEDDING: A full-fledged Victorian wedding will be held at 6 p.m. at Mill Race Historical Village. Bride Dawn Weakley and groom John Withers and their guests will dress in Victorian clothing. Appropriately dressed visitors are more than welcome to share in the festivities.

VICTORIAN COSTUME BALL: From 7:30 p.m. - 11:30 p.m. guests will be welcomed to a festively decorated tent in Mill Race Village. Park your car at the Ford lot next door and take a horse and carriage to the ball. The ball features a light supper, two drink tickets (for beer and wine), a souvenir ball card and entertainment by an authentic 12-piece orchestra, the Dudworth Saxhorn Reserve Band. Tickets are $30 per person and can still be ordered by calling the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce at 349-7640 or Edwards Caterer at 344-1550. Period dress is encouraged but is not mandatory.

SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 17

ARTIST'S BRUNCH: At the Town Square Bandshell from 10 a.m. - 1 p.m. classical music and a light brunch served by Edwards Caterer will be available.

VICTORIAN TOWN PICNIC: Held at Mill Race Village beginning at noon, the town picnic will be an old-fashioned event for everyone. People should bring their own picnic lunches, blankets and place settings. An authentic Victorian band will provide musical entertainment during the day.

There will be a celebrity picnic lunch auction at noon, where members of the community will auction off baskets. Proceeds from the auction will go to the Friends of the Northville Library.

There will be plenty of children's games during the picnic, including three-legged races, women's shoe toss, tug-of-war, peach-basket basketball and more. A special old-fashioned tennis exhibition will also take place.

UNDERWATER ESCAPE BY JON OLIVER: Houdini's successor, Jon Oliver, will recreate one of the master's most famous escapes when he attempts to escape from a galvanized steel drum full of water. The escape takes place at 3 p.m. at the Town Square Bandshell.

Street, east on Dunlap to Center Street, back down Center to Main Street and east on Main to the Main Street bandshell.

Oliver will escape from a straight jacket while suspended upside-down from high atop a fire-engine ladder immediately following the end of the parade at the Main Street bandshell. Friday rounds out with an ice-cream social from 6:45 to 8:45 p.m. and more bandshell entertainment from 7:30 to 10 p.m., including a Victorian review featuring the Figurines singing group and a performance by the Novi Concert Band.

On Saturday downtown opens at 9 a.m., when the Art Market continues. Planned activities include a chalk-art contest from 9:30 to 11 a.m., bandshell entertainment from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., including a magic show by Jon Oliver; free performances of the melodrama "She Was Only a Farmer's Daughter" by the Northville Players at the American Legion Hall; and the Victorian Costume Ball at Mill Race Village at 7:30 p.m.

Children's games and events on Saturday in downtown Northville include a puppet show at 10:30 a.m., a magic show by Jon Oliver at 11:30 a.m., a bubblegum-blowing contest at 12:15 p.m.; a ball-and-jacks competition at 12:45 p.m.; a hoops contest at 1:15 p.m.; storytelling by Barbara Boch and Jeanne Gordon at 1:15 p.m.; a pie-eating contest at 1:45 p.m.; a decorated bike parade and contest at 2:15 p.m.; marble shooting at 2:45 p.m., and a wooden-penny hunt at 3:15 p.m.

Sunday activities include the Art

Market, which opens at 9 a.m.; an artists' brunch at the bandshell, featuring classical music, muffins and croissants from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.; bandshell entertainment from 1 to 5 p.m., featuring a magic show and great escape by Jon Oliver at 3 p.m.; and the Victorian picnic from noon to 3 p.m. at Mill Race Village.

Picnic activities include a celebrity picnic basket auction, a badminton exhibition match, and children's games.

All non-profit groups volunteering to work in the event plan to wear Victorian costumes, as do downtown merchants. Confused about what to wear?

Festival organizers have selected the time period between 1870 to 1920 on which to concentrate clothing styles because it coincides with the history of Northville. For example, 1870 was the first time a mayor was mentioned in Jack Hoffman's book Northville ... the First Hundred Years.

Recommended clothing patterns are available at the Northville Public Library for those interested in making their own costumes. Remember that they don't have to be elaborate.

An ordinary woman's blouse can take on a Victorian air merely by raising the collar and pinning it at the neck with a brooch or colorful pin. Daytime Victorian attire for women may consist of a white blouse, dark skirt and an apron of striped, gingham or printed material.

Men can transform their wardrobes by wearing vests over white shirts tied with a bow tie, ascot or scarf at the neck. Any pants or trousers in dark hues are representative of the era.

Suggested accessories include umbrellas or parasols, hand-held fans, wide-brimmed hats, cameos, lockets or any type of black jewelry. Straw hats are appropriate for men during daytime activities such as the Sunday picnic.

Women's shoes should be low-heeled ballet-style slippers. Men are advised to simply wear dark-colored shoes.

Recommended children's clothing for girls consists of short dresses that fall below the knee in simple styles. Boys may wear knickers with long socks, an effect that can be achieved by simply tucking a pant leg into the top of a long sock.

Suggested apparel for women attending the ball includes full-skirted gowns with crinoline — coarse, stiff cloth used as a lining in garments — that can be worn off the shoulder. Gowns with pleating and bustles also would be appropriate. Ladies who don't own a gown are encouraged to wear a full dark skirt with a lacy blouse.

Evening wear for men who are accompanying ladies to the ball may consist of formal dark suits, white shirts with wing-tipped collars and black ties, ascots, bow ties or scarves. Cut-away tuxedos would be most appropriate for those seeking a more elegant costume. The tuxedos are available for rental at most wedding and costume shops.

For a full schedule of festival events, see page 12-A. For more on the festival, see the special section in this week's paper.

OFFICIAL NOTICE TO ELECTORS OF THE CITY OF NORTHVILLE OF INTENT TO ISSUE BONDS SECURED BY THE TAXING POWER OF THE CITY AND RIGHT OF REFERENDUM THEREON

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that the City Council of the City of Northville, Counties of Wayne and Oakland, Michigan, intends to issue special assessment bonds of the City, in total principal amount of not to exceed $850,000, for the purpose of defraying part of the cost of water and sewer improvements in certain special assessment districts in the City. The bonds shall mature serially in not to exceed fourteen annual installments with interest payable on the unpaid balance at a rate of not to exceed the maximum rate permitted by law at the time of sale.

SOURCE OF PAYMENT OF BONDS

THE PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST OF THE BONDS shall be payable primarily from collections of an equal amount of special assessments and the bonds shall also pledge the full faith and credit of the City of Northville.

In the case of insufficiency of the special assessments, the principal and interest on the bonds shall be payable as a first budget obligation from the general funds of the City including collections of ad valorem taxes levied upon all taxable property in the City, subject to applicable charter, statutory and constitutional limitations.

In case a petition requiring an election with respect to the bonds is filed, as described below, and issuance of the bonds is approved by vote of the electors, the obligation of the City to levy ad valorem taxes, if necessary, for payment of the bonds shall be without limitation as to rate or amount.

RIGHT OF REFERENDUM

THE BONDS will be issued without vote of the electors unless a PETITION requesting an election on the question of issuing the bonds, signed by not less than 10% OF THE REGISTERED ELECTORS in the City, or 15,000, whichever is the lesser, is filed with the City Council by depositing the petition with the City Clerk WITHIN FORTY-FIVE (45) DAYS after publication of this notice. If such a petition is filed, the bonds affected cannot be issued without an approving vote by a majority of electors voting on the question.

THIS NOTICE is given pursuant to the requirements of Section 5(g) of Act 297, Public Acts of Michigan, 1909, as amended. Further information concerning the matters set out in this notice may be secured from the City Clerk's office.

CPAs warn of the 'dark side' of home equity loans

When the 1986 Tax Reform Act phased out the deduction for personal interest, a funny thing happened to home equity loans. They hit the roof.

Between the end of 1986 and October 1988, the home equity loan market jumped from $40 billion to $75 billion.

The popularity of home equity loans continues — and for good reason. This year, you can deduct only 20 percent of the interest on your credit cards and other consumer loans, but you still deduct 100 percent of the interest charged on home equity loans of up to $100,000, no matter how you use the funds.

At a time when tax breaks are hard to find, you may be tempted to rush toward a home equity loan as if it were a long lost friend.

In some ways, though, home equity loans are deceptively appealing. The Michigan Association of CPAs points out that equity loans have a dark side that many consumers cannot perceive. In short, they put at risk what is probably the average person's most valuable asset — his or her home.

WHAT IS A HOME EQUITY LOAN? In simplified terms, an equity loan transforms your home into a super credit card. A type of second mortgage, home equity loans enable you to open a credit line based on the market value of your house minus the amount you still owe on it — that is, your equity.

Once the credit line is established, you can continually tap into the account by simply writing a check or using a special credit card. Or you can withdraw the entire amount at once.

In short, home equity loans may be the fastest way to obtain an interest-deductible credit line for any consumer purchases, from the purchase of a car to flying the family to Hawaii.

But before you rush off to your bank, consider this — a home equity loan is, in fact, a mortgage. Each withdrawal from an equity loan increases the amount of obligation held against your home.

In addition, applying for a home equity loan entails application and closing fees. Many lenders also charge up-front fees in the form of "points." Depending on the funds' use, the points may be fully or partially deductible — or they may have to be amortized over the life of the loan.

Some institutions also reserve the right to call in the loan if you sell your house. In other words, the bank has increased control over the decisions you make regarding your property.

What happens if your financial situation changes and you become unable to repay the loan? The answer is simple and devastating — you can lose your home.

HOW FEDERAL LAW PROTECTS YOU: Last year, Congress passed a new law which may make home equity loans a little safer for consumers. The Home Equity Loan Consumer Protection Act of 1988 prohibits lenders from unilaterally demanding payment of a loan overnight. Under the new law, lenders can call in a home equity loan only if a borrower defaults, commits fraud or somehow causes the lender's collateral to drop in value.

The new act also enables consumers to back out of a loan agreement and collect a refund of their application fees if a lender changes the terms of a home equity loan between the time of application and the time the loan is granted.

HOW YOU CAN PROTECT YOURSELF: Unfortunately, though, the new federal law does not eliminate the risk of home equity loans. To further protect yourself, you need to address some unpleasant questions.

For example, does it really make sense to take out the equivalent of a 15-year second mortgage to purchase a $12,000 car that you may sell in five years? Could you keep up with loan payments if you lost your job? If you plan to use the funds to consolidate credit card debt, will you really cut up your credit cards and use only cash for future purchases?

Remember, your credit card habits are a good indicator of how you may handle your home-equity credit line.

If you fear that the flexibility of a large credit line would tempt you to spend money that you don't really have, ask your lender to limit withdrawals to $100 to $500 per check — or consider a traditional second mortgage to pay for that one big-ticket item.

Once you decide that a home equity loan is right for you, make sure that you pick the right lender. Find out whether the bank protects you against rising interest rates, offers a life-time interest cap, or lets you lock in a desirable rate, compare your lender's fee with that of other institutions — high annual fees and other costs can outweigh the tax advantages of the home equity loan, especially if you are only borrowing a small amount.

Read the small print and check to see if your lender charges an inactivity fee or a penalty for prepayment.

Consumers must use care in selecting a financial planner

Consumers with an aversion for managing their finances, who search for a financial planner who will "take care of everything," are consumers likely to be taken advantage of by unethical or incompetent individuals masquerading as "financial planners," according to the Institute of Certified Financial Planners.

Reputable financial planners understand — and practice — the principle that any sound financial plan is a process built on a long-term relationship between the planner and the client.

Because financial planning is complex, it requires teamwork.

Financial planning involves the careful analysis of your financial situation, detailed discussions of your goals and risk tolerance, the coordinated development of a written plan, implementation of strategies and the ongoing monitoring of that plan.

None of these are possible without continual cooperation and communication between you and your planner.

This ongoing communication also can help you avoid unexpected problems or, in the worst-case scenario, financial fraud, and it begins with the selection of your financial planner.

'In a good financial planning relationship, your planner will explain most recommendations to you in person. You should always receive written documentation and enough information to allow you to judge these recommendations as an educated, informed investor.'

— Eileen M. Sharkey

and follows through until the planning relationship is terminated.

According to Eileen M. Sharkey, CFP, president of the Denver-based Institute of Certified Financial Planners, selecting a planner is the most important step. It involves examining the competence, credentials and compensation structure of the prospective planner and ensuring that it is in line with your needs and ability to pay.

In an initial consultation — before a formal working relationship has been solidified — you should thoroughly examine a planner's educational background, including designations and licenses held, years of experience, professional affiliations and references.

"In a good financial planning relationship, your planner will explain most recommendations to you in person. You should always receive written documentation and enough information to allow you to judge these recommendations as an educated, informed investor," Sharkey said.

This means you should receive investment literature, like a prospectus, and the planner's analysis of the investment before you make a decision. If you don't understand something, it is your responsibility to ask questions until you do. If, at any point, you feel you are not getting the complete picture, that is your cue to walk," she added.

Two-way trust also is critical in a financial planning relationship. Not only must you feel comfortable enough with your planner to trust him or her with the intimate details of your financial life, but your planner must be able to trust you to know that you've been completely open about your financial situation and needs.

In addition, here are some tips to help you make the most of your financial planning relationship.

Don't give your financial planner "carte blanche" to wheel and deal with your money. Stay involved at all times.

Make sure your investments match your tolerance for risk.

Read all statements regarding your finances. Read insurance documents, bank statements, investment updates, stock market reports and annual shareholder information.

Meet with your planner at least once a year to do a thorough evaluation of your financial plan and to make changes where appropriate.

Update your planner whenever a change in your financial situation occurs. (New jobs, layoffs or impending major expenses, such as a wedding or tuition costs, are just some examples of events that may change your financial situation.)

Don't hesitate to call your planner whenever you have questions. If he or she is annoyed by this, find a new planner.

Ultimately, the quality of any financial planning relationship rests in large part on you. After all, it's your money, your goals, your dreams.

Your financial planner can offer advice, education, guidance and strategies to achieve these goals, but only under your direction. A reputable financial planner will never let you walk away from your financial responsibilities.

For a list of Certified Financial Planner professionals in your area who can help you with your financial planning, and for a helpful guide entitled "First Steps to Financial Security: A Guide for Selecting a Certified Financial Planner," call the Institute of Certified Financial Planners at (800) 282-PLAN.

WSU sets business workshop

The Wayne State University School of Business will host a free workshop entitled "How to Start or Run a Small Business" in Plymouth.

The seminar will be held Thursday, Sept. 14, at the Plymouth Hilton, 14707 Northville Road at 7 p.m.

The workshop will cover such items as the 10 hottest businesses for 1989, how to slash hundreds off your taxes, the 20 biggest pitfalls in starting and running a small business, and how to start your business with very little cash.

The two-hour free workshop is open to the public. Seating is limited, so come early to insure a space. Reservations will not be accepted.

Wayne State University, the eighth largest urban university in the United States, is located in Detroit. Wayne has presented the "shirt-sleeve" workshops for over six years and has helped thousands of individuals transform their ideas into growing businesses.

This workshop to be presented in the Plymouth area will include all the latest tax law changes.

Realtors donate to MDA

ERA Rymal Symes raised in excess of $1.2 million in 1989 for the Muscular Dystrophy Association (MDA) as part of a nationwide fund-raising effort by Electronic Realty Associates, Inc. (ERA), said Judy DePollo, manager of ERA Rymal Symes.

Nationally, ERA Real Estate brokers and sales associates raised $1.1 million, DePollo said.

Tom Schmitt, president of the ERA Real Estate Network division and national vice president of MDA; Gary Whistler, and Doug Freeman of ERA Freeman & Whistler of Gresham, Ore., the top fund-raising office for the ERA for MDA annual "Day in May" fund-raising contest among ERA brokers nationwide, presented a check for that amount to Jerry Lew during the Labor Day Telethon Sept. 4 in Las Vegas.

Since ERA Real Estate became the sole corporate sponsor for MDA from the real estate industry in 1977, the franchise has raised more than $9 million to help fight neuromuscular diseases, DePollo said.

"Throughout the year, our strong commitment to MDA and a common sense of purpose keep us working on behalf of people suffering from neuromuscular diseases," said DePollo. "We also really appreciate the community support we receive for our various fund-raising activities."

The local firm's fund-raising activities this year included a production of "The Butler Did It" performed by the Northville Players, she said.

Local men launch company to market outdoor products

By DAVE WASKIN

Born out of two friends' enthusiasm for hunting, 4 Season Outdoor Group in Milford offers outdoor enthusiasts a chance to earn income by selling products in which they have an interest.

The business, which officially moved to its new Milford office at 325 East Huron Street on Sept. 1, brings its products to consumers through a network of retail distributors, who are simply individuals who have become involved in the business by selling its outdoor products.

"We are a consumer direct marketing company, dealing primarily in outdoor products along the lines of hunting, fishing and camping," said Eric Rasche, 22, who owns the business with partner Dave McFarland, also 22. Both are 1985 graduates of Hartland High School.

"The actual method of marketing we use is called network marketing or multi-level marketing. We act as a wholesaler of outdoor products," he added.

Network marketing is an alternative to the wholesaler, retailer, consumer path a product usually takes.

"We wanted to learn a way to bypass that method," Rasche explained. "We found that the best way to market a product is through direct sales, one-on-one personal involvement."

An enthusiast interested in making money through 4 Season Outdoor Group becomes a distributor for the company, which means selling company products on a retail level at a retail price. Since the products are sold by individual distributors, as opposed to retail stores, sales are more direct and personal.

Distributors expand their sales by recruiting others to sell the products as retail distributors. The original distributor then acts as a sponsor for the recruited distributors and is their base source of information and connection to 4 Season Outdoor Group, the wholesale supplier. In this way, a network is formed.

As the network grows, the original distributor is earning money not only through his or her own sales, but also through a commission on the sales of the other distributors in his or her own network. Each distributor's income grows with the network.

"Basically, someone can get into this business for under $100. That gets them a literature kit, which has a business reference and manual and a product kit. They can build their business to whatever level they desire. That could be something as simple as just selling a few products here and there to building a huge network."

— Eric Rasche, owner,
4 Season Outdoor Group

"There are a lot of individuals who would love to own their own outdoor product business but can't because of such factors as start-up cost, overhead and all the tax legalities," Rasche noted.

"Basically, someone can get into this business for under $100. That gets them a literature kit, which has a business reference and manual and a product kit. They can build their business to whatever level they desire. That could be something as simple as just selling a few products here and there to building a huge network."

The only requirement for becoming a distributor is that an individual be 18 or older or have a parent's signature. No experience is necessary.

"We give seminars on sales for our distributors. We don't get people into the business and just drop them off because we realize that over 80 percent of the people who get into this business don't have a sales background," Rasche said.

Though they did not invent the system, Rasche and McFarland are the first to apply network marketing to outdoor products.

"We began as designers and manufacturers of outdoor products," Rasche said. "We didn't really know how to market a product then. We knew how to develop and manufacture a product, but marketing is the key. People don't beat a path to your door."

Named 4 Season Outdoor Group after its emphasis on carrying sporting products for each season, the business currently has about 100 people in its distribution network.

Included in its line of products for fall are hand warmers, Thermalpaks and a spray that acts as a scent shield — suitable for old tennis shoes, as well as hunters who do not wish to be detected.

Friends since seventh grade, Rasche and McFarland have found a way to combine their personal and business interests.

"This is more than just a business to us," McFarland said. "This is what Eric and I love. The first time we met, we got together and talked about rabbit hunting."

"The first time I went to Eric's house, I went to go rabbit hunting. Now we're applying our formal education — marketing backgrounds — to what we love. So this isn't just a 9-to-5 business, then we go home," McFarland continued.

"This is our lives. So we're behind our distributors 100 percent, and we know this is their lives, too. We can provide them with a chance to be involved with the outdoors, associate with hundreds of other people who are involved with the outdoors and make some income at the same time."

4 Season Outdoor Group is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. The phone number is 685-7044.

Buying a house?

WWOCBR hosts seminar for homebuyers

Anyone considering buying a home in the next few years can benefit from a free seminar being offered by the Western Wayne Oakland County Board of Realtors (WWOCBR) on Tuesday, Sept. 26.

The seminar will be held in the Holiday Inn Livonia West (17123 Laurel Park Drive at Six Mile and I-75) beginning at 7 p.m. It is expected to last about two hours and will include a question and answer period.

"It will be an informational, not a selling, session in which we'll have experts discussing all the steps involved from saving for the downpayment to closing," said Eric J. Hunt, president of the WWOCBR and its multiple listing service, Metro MLS.

"With home ownership the largest investment ever made by the average American, we think it important that they be properly prepared to examine the many alternatives facing them in today's residential market."

WWOCBR asks that advance reservations be made by calling 478-1700 to assure that space will be available. A similar seminar held by the board earlier this year drew more than 500 persons.

"We were pioneers in conducting these types of seminars in the 1970s and many buyers moving up in the market today tell our members how useful attendance was in helping them plan their first home purchase," Hunt said.

"But, the sessions are not restricted to first-time buyers. Anyone planning a move can gain new insight into the homebuying process from the financial, legal and real estate information to be presented."

Hunt said the seminars are conducted as part of board's public service programs, which currently include a food drive to benefit those in need through the Salvation Army. All those attending the seminar are asked to bring one canned good to be added to that collected by WWOCBR member offices over the preceding two weeks. Others wishing to make a donation can call 478-1700 for drop-off information.

Consumers should choose wisely when purchasing auto insurance

Consumers can make choices which will help control what they pay for automobile insurance.

Last year, auto insurance rates paid by Michigan motorists increased an average of 1.7 percent, compared to more than 8 percent nationally.

"The modest rate increases in 1988 were due mostly to lawsuits and the rising costs of health care and auto repair," said Terry Buckles, president of Michigan Association of Insurance Companies.

Despite these and other factors which continue to increase insurance payout for auto accidents, motorists can make decisions which will help control or even lower what they pay for their individual coverage. The insurance spokesperson offered the following tips:

Select your car carefully — rates are based on factors including cost, reparability, performance characteristics and likelihood of being stolen.

Coordinate personal injury protection coverage if you have other accident and health insurance.

Choose higher deductibles on collision and comprehensive coverage. Despite these and other factors which continue to increase insurance payout for auto accidents, motorists can make decisions which will help control or even lower what they pay for their individual coverage.

coverage

— Choose a different type of collision insurance — but make sure you understand when you're covered and when you're not.

— If you have an older car, consider dropping both collision and comprehensive coverage. Policies generally cover no more than the actual cash value of the vehicle (depreciated value).

Drive carefully. Most traffic tickets and at-fault accidents will automatically increase your rates.

Ask about special discounts. Most companies offer rate discounts for safety belt usage, anti-theft devices and insuring two or more vehicles under the same policy.

— Shop around. Look for the best combination of coverage, price and service. If you need background information about a particular company(s) call the Insurance Information Hotline at 1-800-292-0712. Consultants will give you the firm's financial rating which has been assigned by an independent statistical organization, plus information about its size, number of years in business, etc.

MAIC is a non-profit, public affairs organization representing 48 property/casualty insurance companies in Michigan. The association sponsors a number of consumer education and information programs.

Creative Living

A new weekly section in The Northville Record, The Novi News,
The Milford Times and The South Lyon Herald

Creative Living Hot Stuff

Creative Living is written for the folks who enjoy a certain lifestyle. This new section, included every week with The Record, The News, The Times and The Herald, will feature articles of interest to area residents. No matter what you live in - condo, mobile home, apartment or Cape Cod - Creative Living is for you, with articles on antiques, home and lawn care, hobbies and leisure time activities.

In addition, the section will be loaded with information on real estate activity in the area. Reader ads for homes, apartments, mobile homes, property and rentals will appear in Creative Living - making it the real estate section for western Oakland and Wayne counties.

Creative Living - another reason to join the growing number of Northville Record, Novi News, Milford Times and South Lyon Herald readers.

Look for Creative Living starting June 1. You can pick up a copy in the Record, News, Times or Herald offices, or call for home delivery:

Antique Dolls

Some adults keep hold of childhood

By Becki Swinehart

As girls turn into women, their interests often change from dolls to different, more expensive things.

But some women retain a fascination for their old playthings. Their tastes also change—to more expensive dolls.

Indeed, doll-collecting is quite popular in Livingston County and elsewhere, as adults try to keep hold of at least one cherished part of their childhood.

Often at a high price.

The Doll Carriage in Milford carries many collectible dolls, such as Madame Alexanders, Royal and other high-quality porcelain dolls. The pricetag? Up to $2,000 each.

"With most companies (we deal with), if a doll isn't a limited edition or sold out, we can get it," said Connie Betcher, a part owner of the Doll Carriage.

In Brighton, RG Gifts and Collectibles and Somewhere in Time carry limited selections of collectible dolls.

Renee Gray, owner of RG Gifts and Collectibles, said she tries to keep her dolls below $100. About 50 regulars buy the porcelain Lexington Hall dolls and the other types she sells, she said.

Somewhere in Time just started selling dolls in January, owner Ann Meredith said. She specializes in Lee Middleton sculptured vinyl dolls that sell for $160 to $190.

Most of the people who buy the exquisite dolls are collectors rather than one-time buyers, Betcher said.

Along with a wide selection of collectible dolls, the Doll Carriage also buys and sells some antiques. Most collectible dolls, however, are not antiques.

A doll must be at least 100 years old to be considered an antique, said Susan Manas, an expert on dolls and collecting in the Detroit area.

Antique collectors usually know the most about the older dolls and can usually tell if a doll is an antique.

Manas said. "But even an advanced collector can be deceived," she said.

Manas' collection includes about 450 dolls that she has collected over the past 23 years.

"This is a fatal thing," Manas said. "You get hooked on it. It's like a disease."

Different collectors focus on different goals with their pieces, Manas said. Some try to get one of every type of antique, which range from waxed to bique to wooden to tin.

Others have a favorite kind and try to collect the different variations of it.

One way these doll lovers can expand or vary their collections is through shows. Manas sets up shows in the Detroit area, where people can sell duplicates and buy additions to their collection.

"Your mouth waters when you see a doll you really want," Manas said.

About 25 percent of the dolls on display at Manas' most recent show in Bloomfield Hills were antique dolls.

And the hobby isn't just for women, Manas said. Men who probably had no interest in their sister's Barbies now have more precious and expensive dolls of their own. "They see it as the beauty of an art piece," Manas said.

And they are art pieces. Dolls which are over 200 years old are insured under fine-arts coverage, Manas said.

Area doll-collecting clubs, such as Michigan's Madame Alexander Club, often organize and sponsor regional shows. And once a year, the United Federation of Doll Collectors gets together for a convention.

You don't have to buy antique dolls to enjoy them, though. Several museums have dolls on display, and you can also attend one of the shows.

The Michigan Artrain, which made a stop in Brighton last month, featured some antique dolls as part of its display of "150 Years of American Toys."

Design of Washington 3 has an Elizabethan feel

By James McAlexander

Visitors to the Washington 3 may feel they are arriving at an Elizabethan inn. The angle enclosed by the two wings of the building and its three-car garage forms a large courtyard. Stone facing, half-timbered walls and an overhanging second story provide a rustic Tudor look to this luxurious home.

From the inner foyer, the view is open back to the two-story windows of the vaulted pentagonal living room. Left, a hall leads to the large family room, utility room and the smaller of two downstairs baths. To the right is the formal dining room and the kitchen. The kitchen is practically a suite in itself, with breakfast nook, walk-in pantry, central vegetable sink and attached exterior deck.

Upstairs, the wing next to the garage is taken up by a large master suite that includes its own sitting room above the kitchen skylight, his and hers walk-in closets and a bath with oversize tub. The opposite wing holds three bedrooms and a bath.

In between the two wings is a unique space: a library on a balcony overlooking the vaulted living room.

Structural beams support 12-foot shelves and movable ladders.

Another special area of the Washington 3 is the downstairs den next to the garage. With its own entrance, and its proximity to the kitchen, garage and larger downstairs bath, it provides a self-sufficient sanctuary for work or study removed from the bustle of the rest of the house.

For a study plan of the Washington 3 (228-03), send $5 to Landmark Designs, P.O. Box 2307 CN, Eugene, OR 97402. (Be sure to specify plan name and number when ordering.)

Books reflect healthy trends

By Patrick Denton

In recent years I've noticed that many of the garden books I've been sent to review have clearly reflected current popular trends and concerns among home gardeners. Here are a few of the latest titles among them.

"Building Healthy Gardens," by Catherine Osgood Foster, Garden Way Publishing; 280 pages; paperback; $9.95.

The revised and updated edition of the author's "The organic Gardener" reflects current increased awareness and concern over environmental damage caused by garden chemicals, and a rising demand for food free of potentially harmful residues.

This "safe and natural approach" garden book provides an easy-reading tour of gardening methods that work together with nature and enhance rather than harm the home garden environment.

Introductory sessions explain how plants work—how they use sunlight and water to grow, how flowers are fertilized and set fruit. Emphasized is keeping nature's cycle working in good health through composting.

Several outdoor and indoor composting methods are detailed, and natural resources for major plant nutrients and trace minerals are given. There are guidelines, too, for laying out a garden, for ensuring optimum levels of nutrition in the food that is grown, and for storing food for the winter.

The second major portion of the book is an alphabetical list of plants and related garden subjects from Ants to Apples to Zucchini. Included are culinary treats such as daylily and rosa rugosa, the rose whose hips are the richest in vitamin C.

"Building a Healthy Lawn," by Stuart Franklin, Garden Way Publishing; 168 pages; paperback; $9.95.

Another "safe and natural approach" book, this one reflects a growing concern over the traditional chemical approach to maintaining a lush green, weed-and-pest-free lawn. Many homeowners have come to distrust and environmentalists to condemn this longstanding method as expensive, time-consuming, and of dubious safety to people and the environment.

The author, a professional landscaper, has produced this book in response to numerous questions. To answer these queries fully, he begins by explaining how lawns work and what they need to grow well.

Fully explored are watering and mowing methods for maintaining a healthy lawn, selecting grass seed, seeding and sodding a new lawn and repairing an established one, fertilizing with both synthetic and natural materials.

An illustrated list of major lawn weeds includes suggested controls. For areas not suited to growing a lawn, a section on ground covers and mulching materials is included. A lawn-care calendar provides a month-by-month guide.

Around the House Repairs

Water culprit in warping

By Gene Gary

Q: We have a problem of excessive moisture in our home, which causes mold in areas on the walls and leaves a musty odor throughout. Our hardwood floors are showing signs of warping, possibly due to moisture.

A friend recommended that we cover the ground underneath the house with plastic to help alleviate this problem. Is this a good idea? What would you recommend?—V.C.

A: There are several measures to help alleviate this problem.

Covering the ground under the house crawl space can be very effective. Use 6 or 8 mil polyethylene film plastic, or 55-pound rolled roofing. Be sure any seams overlap and are taped or weighted down along the seam. The entire cover should be weighted down with heavy rock or brick. The covering will help prevent moisture from rising and penetrating the flooring of your home.

For added protection, you can also install insulation on the underside of the flooring, the external side just above the crawl space.

Be sure the cross ventilation within the crawl space is adequate, since stagnant and humid air under a structure encourages development of fungus and mold.

Also check the drainage around your home and make sure the ground area slopes away from the foundation so that any excess water during rains drains away from the house.

Trim overhanging tree branches, and clear away excess plant growth around the house. Air out the house frequently by leaving windows open and doors ajar.

You can also consider installing an electric dehumidifier if excessive moisture still persists.

Q: We have a valuable shade tree whose roots are pushing up the heavy concrete slab driveway.

We strongly prefer not to take the tree down. Could you recommend corrective actions?—D.W.M.

A: It is very likely this mature tree has a very deep and extensive root system. Cracking concrete and foundation damage are common problems when trees have been planted too close to the house, driveways and patios.

Unless you can successfully reroute your driveway, your best solution will probably be the removal of the tree before it causes even more damage from its growing root system.

Q: I would like to know how to clean an oil painting. I've been told olive oil would do the job. Your advice would be appreciated.—A.S.

A: If the oil painting is valuable, I strongly urge that you have the cleaning done by a professional. However, if you prefer doing the job yourself, here are some home treatments that might work.

Before starting to clean the painting, wipe an obscure corner with a damp cloth to see whether it will resist water. If the color comes off, don't attempt the job yourself.

Use a pure, neutral soap, taking it up on a slightly moist cloth, rubbing gently on the painting in a circular motion. When the entire surface has been covered, take up the soap and dirt with a soft, clean cloth, wet with clear, tepid water.

When the painting is clean, shake off any remaining water, don't wipe it off. Then stand the painting at an angle in a warm, airy place to dry naturally.

I have never heard of using olive oil as a cleaner. However, one way to restore oil paintings after washing is to use boiled linseed oil. It restores the oil that washing has removed.

Gently rub the oil on the painting, allowing it to soak for a few minutes, then gently rub it off. You should never leave the oil on, as it absorbs dust.

Poultry on grill—grate meals from hot coals

By Linda Susan Dudley

Poultry and the barbecue go together like strawberries and cream, burgers and fries, ham and eggs and other tradition-honed combinations.

Consider that over the last 20 years, health-conscious Americans have turned to turkey and chicken because it is lower in calories, fat and cholesterol than red meat. Last year, for the first time, chicken outsold all other red meats.

At the same time, grilling food has become more popular, with more than 97 million barbecues in use throughout the United States. And though the summer grilling season is fading fast, there is still time to put these birds of a feather to good use, whether on a kettle type barbecue or gas grill in the back yard or on a portable grill at a picnic.

Here are a few tips to remember when grilling poultry:

•When barbecuing any presauced poultry directly over hot coals, be sure to turn it every few minutes. Otherwise, the heat burns the sugar in the barbecue sauce. If you turn the poultry often, it will not be charred black on the outside and raw on the inside.

•Test poultry for doneness by inserting a fork into the thick part of the meat, usually the thigh. If the juices run clear, the poultry is done. If juices are pink, it is not completely cooked.

Another way to test for doneness is with an instant-read thermometer. Insert the probe tip into the thickest portion of the meat, making sure the probe tip is not touching the bone.

Chicken is well done when the temperature reaches 180 degrees Fahrenheit—but if you are cooking a whole bird, take it off the grill when it is just a few degrees short of the mark as whole birds continue cooking for a short time even after taken off the heat.

The light meat of turkey is done when the thermometer registers 170 to 175 degrees; dark meat should be cooked to between 180 to 185 degrees. Take a whole turkey off the grill when the thermometer registers just a few degrees less than 180.

Large pieces of poultry fresh from the grill should sit at room temperature for 15 to 30 minutes before being carved.

Here are some new ways with turkey and chicken for a grill feast.

Rippled Turkey Strips

1 pound turkey steaks, about 3/8-inch thick
Marinade (recipe follows)
8 cherry tomatoes
12 (1 1/4-inch) squares green pepper
Yields 4 servings.

Cut turkey steaks into strips about 1 1/4 to 1 inches wide. Prepare marinade. Place turkey steaks in plastic bag with marinade. Place in refrigerator for two hours, turning bag occasionally.

When ready to cook, thread turkey strips onto long skewers alternately with tomatoes and green pepper, using 2 long strips of turkey, 2 cherry tomatoes and 3 green pepper squares for each skewer. Cook over hot coals about 10 minutes, turning as meat browns, and brushing lightly with reserved marinade.

Marinade: Combine 1/4 cup wine vinegar, 2 tablespoons ketchup, 1 tablespoon oil, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon crumbled tarragon, 1/16 teaspoon pepper, 1/8 teaspoon minced fresh garlic and 1 large slice onion, halved. Yields about 1/2 cup marinade.

Economize by serving a whole turkey. This recipe, with the flavor of Southwest cuisine, makes for a grill meat treat fit for family or company.

Butterfield Turkey with Chili Butter
1 whole turkey, 10 to 12 pounds
3/4 cup butter
2 cloves garlic, minced
1 small green chili, seeds removed, minced
1 teaspoon coriander or 1 tablespoon fresh cilantro, chopped
1 teaspoon cumin
Yields 8 servings

Ask butcher to saw through backbone of turkey. Spread turkey as flat as possible. Lay, skin side up, on grill of barbecue with cover. Combine remaining ingredients for use in basting turkey.

Baste turkey, reserving some butter mixture for additional basting. Coals should be arranged to ring edge of barbecue. When coals reach gray-ash stage, add grill with turkey; cover and barbecue for 2 to 2 1/2 hours. Add fresh briquets every half-hour, or as needed. Baste every 20 minutes.

Note: If desired, turkey may be roasted in 325 F oven 2 1/2 to 3 hours, basting occasionally with chili butter mixture.

The following recipe for a marinated chicken can be cooked on the grill or in the oven. It is from "Poultry on the Grill" by Barbara Grunes and Phyllis Magida.

Chicken with Lemon Sauce
2 chickens, about 2 1/2 pounds each, cut into pieces, with visible fat removed Marinade (recipe follows)
Lemon Sauce:
1 tablespoon cornstarch
3 tablespoons water
1/2 teaspoon chopped lemon zest
1/2 teaspoon ground ginger
Juice of 2 lemons
2 green onions, very finely minced
1 cup water
5 tablespoons light broth
Parsley sprigs for garnish

Wash and dry chicken pieces and divide evenly between 2 large sealable plastic bags. Pour half of marinade into 1 bag and half into other. Seal each bag and turn several times to coat chicken. Place bags on cookie sheet and let sit at room temperature for 1 hour (or 2 hours in the refrigerator), turning occasionally.

Meanwhile, prepare Lemon Sauce: Combine cornstarch and 3 tablespoons water in medium bowl with wire whisk until no lumps remain. Reserve. Stir together lemon zest, ginger, lemon juice, green onions and 1 cup water in saucepan. Add sugar and chicken broth, stirring well.

Bring mixture to boil over medium heat, stirring often. Reduce heat to simmer. Spoon a few tablespoons of hot lemon mixture and combine well until no lumps remain. Spoon a few more tablespoons of hot lemon sauce. Return to a simmer and cook, stirring often, for 3 to 4 minutes. Let stand in saucepan until ready to serve.

Prepare grill by placing charcoal directly beneath where food will be cooked. Light coals. When briquets become ashen, remove chicken pieces from marinade, reserving marinade. Arrange chicken on an oiled grid over ashen coals. Grill, covered, over direct heat for 25 to 30 minutes, turning every 6 minutes and brushing with marinade each time.

Reheat lemon sauce but do not let it come to boil. Pour sauce into sauceboat and bring to table. Arrange chicken pieces on serving platter and garnish with parsley sprigs. Serve hot with Lemon Sauce.

To cook indoors: Place marinated chicken pieces on a foil-lined cookie sheet. Bake in a 375 F oven for 40 to 45 minutes, without turning, until golden brown and tests done (when juices run clear).

Serve as directed.

Note: When grilling with direct heat, remember to watch the food carefully in case of flare-up. If food becomes charred, move it to outside portions of grill where heat is less.

Marinade
3/4 cup vegetable oil
3/4 cup dry red or white wine
1 clove garlic
Pinch freshly ground black pepper
1/3 cup chopped, stemmed fresh parsley

Yields 1 1/2 cups.
Combine all ingredients and mix well.

Beer Barbecue Baste

2 tablespoons homemade or commercial barbecue sauce
2 tablespoons fresh lime juice
1 (12-ounce) can beer
2 tablespoons brown sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt, or to taste
2 fresh or jarred jalapeno chilies, seeded and minced

Combine all ingredients in small bowl, mixing well.

Brush each piece of poultry with baste. Grill, covered, over indirect heat (see note below) until done, turning every 10 minutes with long-handled tongs and brushing often with baste.

Note: Only covered grills can be used for this cooking method. In indirect heat grilling, ashen coals are arranged in banks 2 to 3 briquets high on either side of a drip pan that is slightly larger than the food placed above it.

Place briquets on either side of pan and light or place in pyramid in center then divide coals in half and push to each side, positioning pan in middle. When coals become ashen, fill the dripping pan half full of water to prevent flare-ups and keep food moist.

Good Things Come to Those Who Wait... and Now the Wait is Over.
At last it's here—a neighborhood with all the warmth and charm of rolling hills and tall pine trees—Waling Woods.
After months of careful planning and design, two beautifully decorated and furnished model homes from Hauser & Baum Custom Home Builders, Inc., are now open and you're invited for a grand tour.
Come stroll through our spacious rooms, take in the timeless beauty and livability of traditional architecture and detailed styling with contemporary comfort that give Waling Woods its distinctive appeal.
Waling Woods is not simply a development of exceptional homes, it's an exceptional small community. When complete, it will include a more than 3 acre park with bike and jogging paths, creating an environment ideally suited for the active family.
At last, the home you've been waiting for has finally arrived—Waling Woods—recapturing a tradition in fine living.
Affordably priced from $139,900.

Owls, hawks, eagles are majestic creatures

By Alicia Garrison

"He clasps the crag with crooked hands,
Close to the sun in lonely lands,
Ring'd with the azure world he stands
The wrinkled sea beneath him crawls,
He watches from his mountain walls
And like a thunderbolt he falls "

—"The Eagle" by Alfred, Lord Tennyson

As the palette of summer emerges into autumn hues, it's time to take advantage of the first days of fall and, as a double treat, become acquainted with the birds of prey.

These majestic birds put on a spectacular show, for their grace in flight is unmatched.

You may have the opportunity to observe a bird of prey while venturing down a country road or winding wooded trail this fall, for these birds are often found soaring silently over forests and golden farmlands.

Though most people think only of owls or the great American Bald Eagle when the term "birds of prey" comes to mind, some 433 species of predator birds can be found throughout the world.

This group is classified into six families: owls (135 species); the American vultures (seven species); the secretary bird (one species); hawks, which include the eagles (226 species); the osprey (one species) and the falcons (63 species).

Some common characteristics associated with all birds of prey include sharp, hooked beaks, powerful feet with long claws and opposable hind toes, and the cere—a fleshy, featherless area surrounding the nostrils.

Most birds of prey have stiff flight feathers and broad wings, which, under normal conditions, enables them to soar over long distances without much effort. For sustenance, these birds rely almost entirely on insects and the flesh and innards of other animals.

Some of the more common birds of prey that can be seen in Michigan are red-tailed hawks, great horned owls, northern goshawks, barn owls, screech owls, turkey vultures and American kestrels. Every now and then, one may spot a sharp-shinned hawk, a broad-winged hawk, an American bald eagle or an osprey.

Owls: Wisdom or occult knowledge is symbolic of the owl because of its great, staring eyes which, in the daylight, makes the owl look as if it is thinking very hard.

Owls can often be found roosting in secluded pine groves or at the tops of tall trees. They have an extraordinary sense of hearing which enables them to detect even the slightest movements of their prey, and they are capable of turning their heads up to 270 degrees in either direction.

Most owls feed on small rodents, reptiles, amphibians and insects. And unlike most birds of prey, the owls' feathers are much softer, enabling them to fly almost silently.

Because owls are more active in the night, the best time to look for an owl is from dusk to dawn.

Red-tailed hawks: The Red-tailed hawk is probably the most common predator bird found in the skies of Michigan. It is often sighted along roadsides, perching atop telephone poles or fenceposts. These birds are also found in secluded wooded areas and farmlands.

Adult red-tailed hawks are generally dark brown, and their tails are colored in various shades of bright brick-red. They like to nest in tall cottonwood trees and, according to Debbie Liedel of the Howell Conference and Nature Center, their stick nests are sometimes as large as a Volkswagen.

"Red-tails have excellent sight," Liedel said. "If you were to put a lima bean at the end of a professional football field, he would be able to identify it from the other end."

Red-tails like to eat skunks, reptiles, amphibians, rodents and small rabbits. Occasionally, if food is scarce, they will grab a ground bird, Liedel said.

Northern Goshawks: Goshawks are the largest, strongest and swiftest of the forest hawks. They resemble the red-tailed hawk in shape, but are uniformly gray above with a white, light-gray cross-barring below and a dark gray crown separated by a white eye-stripe.

Northern goshawks like to nest in aspen trees, and though goshawks can kill animals as large as jackrabbits and geese, they feed mainly on grouse, an upland ground bird similar to pheasants, and smaller birds.

While goshawks can be used as hunting hawks (falcons), they are known to be difficult to obtain and train.

Turkey Vultures: Turkey vultures are scavengers. Because they are not strong enough to do their own killing, these predator birds rely on their keen

Northville Friends of the Library welcome Albom

By BRENDA DOOLEY

The mystery is over. Mitch Albom, sports columnist and author, will be the guest speaker for the sixth annual benefit dinner for the Friends of the Northville Public Library.

Organizers of the benefit dinner were unable to release the name of the guest speaker until now because of scheduling details. But now the word is out . . . it's Albom.

A graduate of Brandeis University in Waltham, Mass., and Columbia University in New York, Albom is a sports columnist for the Detroit Free Press. He holds a bachelor's degree in sociology from Brandeis, a master's degree in journalism from Columbia, and a master's degree in business administration from Columbia Business School.

He was previously a professional piano player and singer and played throughout the United States and Europe. Albom, 31, also is host of a radio talk show, "Sunday Sports Albom" on WLLZ-FM radio.

His awards include being named "Top Sports Columnist" in the nation by the Associated Press in 1985, 1986, 1987 and 1988; "Top Sports Columnist" in the nation by United Press International in 1985, 1986, 1987 and 1988; an outstanding writer in the National Headliners Award in 1989; and "Sports Writer of the Year" by the National Sports Broadcasters and Sports Writers Association in 1989.

He is also author of "Bo," an autobiography of Bo Schembechler, University of Michigan football coach and athletic director.

The upcoming Friends of the Northville Public Library dinner is hosted by Toni and John Genitti at their "Hole-In-the-Wall" Restaurant on Main Street on Monday, Sept. 25 at 7 p.m. A cash bar will be available beginning at 6:30 p.m.

Tickets are $20 per person. Because of limited availability, tickets must be reserved at the library on a first-come, first-served basis. Tickets are available to Friends of the Northville Public Library members only until Sept. 20.

Non-members may purchase any remaining tickets after Sept. 20. The annual dinner is the event for which the Friends received the "Friends of Libraries USA" national award for the "best idea for a membership perk" in allowing ticket sales for members first.

Bookstall on the main in Northville will have copies of "Bo" and "The Live Albom" for sale at the dinner. Albom also will autograph books for guests during the event.

This successful event has presented outstanding speakers in the past, including William Kienzie, author, in 1985; Ruth Caughlin, Detroit News book editor, 1986; Loren Estleman, author, 1987; and Doug Fraser, former UAW president, 1988.

The annual dinner continues to be the main fund-raiser for the Friends of the Northville Public Library.

For more information call Geraldine Mills, dinner chairperson, at 349-1648.

and crafts show, on Friday, Sept. 29 and Saturday, Sept. 30 at Mill Race Village.

Hours are 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Friday and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday.

Admission is $2 for adults and $1 for children under 6. Proceeds will be used for the restoration of Mill Race Village, Northville's historic village.

More than 100 exhibitors are expected to take part in the event. Food and refreshments also will be available.

Fire laws restrict admittance of strollers for children.

For more information call 348-1845 Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

AAUW to conduct autumn buffet

Northville Branch of American Association of University Women plans its annual autumn buffet on Tuesday, Sept. 19.

The buffet dinner will be held in the Fellowship Hall of the Northville First United Methodist Church of Northville at Eight Mile and Taft roads. Punch will be served at 6:30 p.m., followed by dinner at 7 p.m.

Guest speaker will be Sister Ann Stamm. Her topic will be "Fully Human, Fully Alive: Backbones and Funny Bones."

Any graduate holding a baccalaureate or higher degree from an accredited college or university is invited to attend this annual opening banquet.

For more information call Dawn Eule at 349-1626 or Ann Thompson at 349-3207.

Decorating details for kids

Local children entering the Victorian Festival Bicycle Decorating Contest are reminded that they must have their bikes decorated prior to the event.

The contest takes place Saturday, Sept. 16, in front of Town and Country Cyclery at 2:15 p.m. Children should have their bicycles ready for judging at that time.

More about Victorian hairstyles

Margo's House of Styles in Northville isn't the only beauty shop offering to create Victorian hairstyles for those planning to attend the Northville Victorian Festival.

Stylists at Studio 424 at 424 S. Main St. in Northville also are available to offer hairdo tips to those seeking a Victorian look. For an appointment or more information call 347-6040.

Illuminating the town

Residents of Northville's Historic District are encouraged to place luminaries on their front walks or sidewalks in celebration of the city's first Victorian Festival.

Marianne Barry explained that flyers were distributed to all residents of the district, asking them to light the luminaries at dusk on Friday (Sept. 15) and Saturday (Sept. 16) evenings.

The literature describes how to create a luminary. For more information call Barry at 349-5435.

As the flyer states, "Let's work together to light up Northville," Barry said.

Festival offers antique show

Authentic antiques will be featured during a Victorian Antique Show on Saturday, Sept. 16.

The show is presented by Tom and Sue Cage of Plymouth, who will display antiques from various states, including Toledo and Pennsylvania. Show hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. beneath a tent in the parking lot of the Open Door Christian Church.

There is no admission charge to the show.

Festival offers play

An added feature of the upcoming Northville Victorian Festival is the production of "She Was Only a Farmer's Daughter," a melodrama performed by the Northville Players theater group.

Showtimes are at 11 a.m., 12:30, 1:30 and 3 p.m. on Saturday, Sept. 16 at the American Legion Hall at Center and Dunlap streets. Performances run 45 minutes.

Tickets are free and available at the Northville Players booth on Saturday, Sept. 16, or in advance by calling Judy Dore or Kathy McLeon at ERA Symes Realtors at 349-4550. Seating is limited.

Dore and McLeon are sponsoring the production and are inviting the community to participate in the excitement of a Victorian melodrama by hissing at the villain and cheering for the hero.

OLV students go back to class

Our Lady of Victory School opened on Monday, Aug. 28. New teachers joining the staff include Rita Nalodka, first grade; Betty Abraham, fourth grade; and Susan Egner, seventh grade.

A new computer lab has been added next to the curriculum room. Karen Brown will be teaching computer classes on Wednesdays. Volunteer moms will staff the facility on the other days of the week.

Lynn Joachim joins the staff as our new art teacher, and Lorna Skocelas is the new physical education teacher.

Opening-school mass was celebrated Friday, Sept. 1. Students, staff and parents joined to ask God's blessings on the new school year.

Volunteers are invited to become room mothers or tutors. Helpers also are needed in the library, computer lab or lunchroom as aides. Please return your blue volunteer form if you are interested in helping. Your contributed services enhance our programs and are truly appreciated.

The new OLV School flag, a gift from last year's student council, is on display in the front showcase at the school.

Student pictures were taken on Friday, Sept. 8. Students will bring their pictures home as soon as they are returned by Tim Kaiser Studios.

Our "Teacher of the Month" for September is Mrs. Betty Abraham. You can become better acquainted with Mrs. Abraham by viewing the pictures and information about her in the school.

Open house at OLV School is today (Thursday, Sept. 14). All parents are invited to come to the school to visit their children's classrooms and teachers. Refreshments will be served in the social hall.

The OLV Book Fair will take place during the fall parent-teacher conferences the week of Nov. 6. An assortment of books will be available for purchase.

The OLV School PTO is back in action. The PTO Board Members for the 1989-90 year are: Paula Worniak, president; Debbie Shefferly, vice president; Bev Price, secretary; Judy Nay, treasurer; Barb Read CEC representative.

PTA News is published weekly in the Record during the school year. This week's PTA News is from Our Lady of Victory School. If interested in having your school news printed in the Record, call the newspaper office at 349-1700.

Victorian picnic planned on Sunday

Late summer Sundays were meant for leisure.

As part of the first Northville Victorian Festival this weekend, the community is invited to stroll through the streets of downtown to take part in a host of Victorian activities.

This Sunday, Sept. 17, the community is invited to attend an Artists' Brunch at the downtown bandshell from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., featuring classical music. Muffins and croissants will be sold for breakfast.

At noon, festival-goers are encouraged to walk to historic Mill Race Village for an old-fashioned Victorian Picnic from noon to 3 p.m.

Festival organizers are striving to capture the atmosphere of the Victorian era and ask that participants dress in Victorian costumes; however, costumes are not mandatory.

The picnic was planned to provide relaxed, turn-of-the-century fun and leisure. Just bring a blanket and a picnic lunch and enjoy the day.

Kids are invited to participate in a variety of games, including a three-legged race, wheelbarrow races, a penny hunt and relays. The games are sponsored by the Northville Community Recreation Department.

Highlights of the picnic include a celebrity box lunch auction, featuring local celebrities. Northville "stars" taking part in the event will be asked to create a lunch that reflects their personalities. The lunches will then be sold to the highest bidder during an afternoon auction. Proceeds from the auction will be donated to the Friends of the Northville Library.

Those attending the picnic must bring their own picnic lunch, place setting and a blanket. Food and picnic items will not be sold at Mill Race Village on the day of the event. Entertainment will be provided by an authentic Victorian band.

Following the picnic, a daring escape show will be performed at the bandshell by Jon Oliver, Houdini's successor, at 3 p.m.

Other Sunday afternoon activities include a costumed croquet competition and a badminton exhibition match at Mill Race Village.

Announcements welcome

Wedding, engagement, anniversary and birth announcements are welcomed by The Northville Record.

Forms for all these events are available at the Record office at 104 W. Main St. in downtown Northville. Photographs are returned if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is included. Otherwise they are kept at the newspaper office for a month after publication.

My, HOW WE'VE Grown...

Childhood is a special time of life... a time of growing, and of endless possibilities.

Since 1969, University Hospitals in Ann Arbor has provided children a special place to call their own. A hospital where sick kids get the best possible chance to recover from accidents and illnesses, and resume a normal, healthy childhood.

Over the past two decades, C.S. Mott Children's Hospital has treated more than 91,000 patients. And each year, the number grows.

In addition to treating more children, Mott Hospital is developing programs to treat them more effectively. For example, we're pioneering research to manage pain better... to speed up the healing process... to surgically correct and treat birth defects... and to cure leukemia.

Mott Hospital has been able to accomplish so much because our volunteers, staff and donors have given so much. Your generosity has helped us achieve national recognition for excellence in pediatric care and research programs.

As we celebrate our 20th anniversary, we celebrate this spirit of giving. Thank you for helping us expand the possibilities of medicine, and for helping so many of our kids realize the possibilities of youth.

MR. and MRS. PAUL HAVALA

Robson weds Havala

Mr. and Mrs. John Robson and Mr. and Mrs. Milan Havala, both of Northville, announce the marriage of their children, Joan Elizabeth Robson and Paul Frank Havala.

A late afternoon double-ring ceremony was held at the First Presbyterian Church of Northville on June 24. The ceremony was officiated by Dr. Lawrence Chamberlain and Father John Budde.

The bride wore a white water taffeta off-the-shoulder gown with a beaded Alencon lace bodice and a cathedral train. Her full-length veil was accented with matching beaded lace. She carried an all-white crescent cascade of roses, lilac, freesia, Japhet orchids and ivy.

Maid of honor were Carolyn Dragon and Laura Grace, friends of the bride. Bridesmaids were Anne Dudley, friend of the bride, and Lauren Robson, cousin of the bride. All wore polished cotton, full-length, off-the-shoulder gowns in Venetian rose.

Junior bridesmaid Joanna Robson, cousin of the bride, wore a white cotton eyelet full-length gown accented with a Venetian rose cummerbund. All attendants carried bouquets of wild flowers.

Best men were Stephen and Michael Havala, brothers of the groom. Ushers were Andrew Robson, brother of the bride, and Peter Noto, friend of the groom.

A dinner reception followed the wedding in the Alexandria Ballroom of the Dearborn Inn, with 150 guests attending.

The couple honeymooned in St. Thomas.

Both the bride and groom are 1983 graduates of Northville High School. Joan earned a bachelor's degree from the University of Michigan and a master's degree from Michigan State University. Paul earned both a bachelor's degree and master's degree from Michigan State University.

The couple is now residing in Tinton Falls, N.J.

Predator birds seek unique habitats vision when searching for carrion (dead or decaying flesh).

Although many people find the vulture's eating habits repulsive, it fills a useful role by consuming the flesh of dead animals.

Turkey vultures are one of North America's largest birds of prey, with wing expansions of 72 inches. They can be found in dry, open country or along roadsides.

Because carrion is the turkey vulture's main source of food, these birds are especially susceptible to being poisoned.

"If a scavenger is poisoned from something it ate and it dies, then it is automatically consumed by the healthy bird, as well," Liedel said.

American kestrels: The American kestrel, also known as the sparrow hawk, prefers open grassland for hunting, but needs elevated posts for observation.

Occasionally, American kestrels will attempt to steal birds from backyard feeders. Therefore, it is always a good idea place your feeders between a couple of trees.

"This makes it harder for the predator bird to swoop down and get the birds," Liedel explained. "Putting your bird-feeders in an open area is easy access for cats and other predators, as well."

The smallest of North American falcons, the American kestrel is brightly colored red-brown, while the males also have blue-gray wings. They are the about the same size and weight as mourning doves.

Kestrels like to nest in tree-cavities, and they often hover in the air before swooping on their prey.

American bald eagles: Though the American bald eagle is rarely seen in Southeastern Michigan, these birds are sometimes sighted in the lower region of the state.

In 1782, the American bald eagle was chosen to be the emblem of the United States. The eagle is shown on our national seal with wings outstretched, holding a spray of olives in one claw and arrows in the other.

It is not among the largest eagles. Its wingspread, from tip to tip, is 6-8 feet, and the length of its body is about 35 inches. The bald eagle primarily feeds on fish, though it will eat carrion and crippled waterfowl.

"The most interesting thing about the eagle is their ability to swoop down and catch fish," Liedel said. "They have what we call 'knobby spurs' on the bottom of their talons, which perform as velcro, so when they catch the fish, they can grip on to it real good and carry it back to their nest or wherever they're going to eat it."

Bald eagles can be found nested along rocky mountainsides or tall aspens and cottonwoods. Adult bald eagles have snow-white heads, necks and tails, brownish-black bodies and yellow bills.

The American bald eagle, formerly classified as an endangered species, has made a recovery since the use of the most toxic pesticides was discontinued in North America, according to "Birds of Prey," by John P.S. Mackenzie.

Osprey: The osprey, called the "Fish Eagle" in many countries, is unique from other birds of prey in that it feeds entirely on fish.

A large bird with a wingspan of nearly six feet, the osprey eats only what it catches itself or occasionally steals from gulls or other weaker species.

When plunging into the water after its prey, the osprey often submerges completely underwater before it grasps the fish in its talons.

These birds are dark brown above and white below. Its tail is barred dark and white and its white underside sometimes has bars.

The osprey usually nests in tall trees near the water. Like the bald eagle, its population has decreased in many areas because the fish it eats is often contaminated with toxic chemicals.

While books provide many interesting facts about predator birds, observation is by far the best way to learn about these fascinating birds.

"Ornithology (the study of birds) is not something you can really learn about from a book," Liedel advised. "Take your field guide and your binoculars and go out there and sit and watch."

If you are planning to go on a bird watch, start early. Birds are most active from sunup to 10 a.m. Dress for the occasion—be prepared to step into mud or push through brush, walk quietly and avoid making sudden movements.

When going for a walk in the woods or when out on a bird outing, remember that it's alright to look but not to touch. "Unless you see that a bird or animal is injured in some way, the best thing to do is walk away and leave it alone," Liedel said.

As you gain an appreciation for the soaring birds of prey, be aware of their endangerment. Deforestation, toxic chemicals and loss of territory is threatening the existence of many species.

"These birds and animals are trying to tell us something," Liedel said. "People want to expand, they want to tear down, but you have to stop somewhere."

Les Miserables

Musical spectacle performed at Fisher Theater

'Les Miserables' is playing now at the Fisher Theater

By KENNETH JONES

"Les Miserables," besides having a title that requires a Berlitz French dictionary, is one of the most significant touring musicals to visit Detroit in the 1980s.

You decide if that's the truth or just an effusive line from a publicist. Consider the following:

- The first national touring company, currently at the Fisher Theater in Detroit, has a $4.2-million price tag.
- The tour features a cast of 37 men, women and children using 3,000 costumes. Some performers play as many as 22 roles.
- It will run 12 weeks, one of the decade's longest legitimate theater bookings, equaling the initial, 1987 visit of "Cats."
- When it opened on Broadway in 1987 following success in London, it had an unprecedented advance sale of $11 million. It remains a nightly sellout in London and New York.
- Top ticket price in Detroit is $45 — the highest ticket price in the history of Detroit professional theater.
- The musical has had 17 productions internationally, many still running.
- Despite its "producer/associate" executive legendry, says director Richard Jay-Alexander, tickets are still available for the Detroit stop of the pop musical, which officially opened last night (Sept. 13) at the Fisher.

Prior to the first preview performance Sept. 10, Jay-Alexander was trying to put his finger on Detroit-area theatergoers: Who are they? Where do they live? What do they like?

Will they respond to a 3½ hour musical based on Victor Hugo's epic 1862 novel about France's squalid social conditions?

"There are people who love 'Les Miserables' and there are people who don't care for it very much," says Jay-Alexander. "I don't get upset about that because in my mind that's why they make chocolate and vanilla, and you can beat your head on a wall convincing somebody that what you're doing is good."

The first version of the show was seen in 1980 at the Palais des Sports, a sports arena in Paris. It was the conception of French composer Claude-Michel Schonberg and lyricist Alain Boublil, who had been influenced by the recording and subsequent staging of Andrew Lloyd Webber's "Jesus Christ Superstar."

Although the Palais des Sports run was cut short due to a previous booking of the Moscow Circus, a recording of the show made its way into the hands of British producer Cameron Mackintosh ("Cats"). Mackintosh was initially wary of the idea of a "French musical" — it struck him as a contradiction in terms since musical theater is known as something distinctly American and, lately, something adopted and refined by the British. And, besides, there is no equivalent of musical theater in France.

Nevertheless, Mackintosh was taken with the score and decided to produce a stage version in London, enlisting co-directors Trevor Nunn ("Cats") and John Caird ("Song & Dance"), designer John Napier ("Cats"), and a TV critic for a London newspaper, Herbert Kretzmer, who wrote the English lyrics.

Despite its French origins, "Les Miz" is considered a British musical because the show that is seen around the world today was adapted and refined from the French by British theater artists.

The musical does not take place during the 1789 French Revolution, as is commonly mistaken. Rather, the backdrop is the historic student uprising of 1832, when a small community of undertrained civilians lashed out in defense of the poor, unemployed and starving — literally, "the miserable ones."

Thematically, it is about mercy and forgiveness, good and evil, and selfless love. Some would say it's a gigantic social soap opera. Jay-Alexander is particularly moved by the selflessness of the characters, and offers a reason why people all over the world have embraced "Les Miz."

"There isn't a country in the world that hasn't gone through some sort of turmoil," says Jay-Alexander. "Look at all the issues Victor Hugo deals with in his novel: homelessness, unemployment, hunger, incurable disease. Do you think we've come so far from the 19th century? We haven't."

Central to the musical, which is entirely sung, is the story of Jean Valjean (played by tenor Mark McVey), jailed 19 years for stealing a loaf of bread. Having broken parole, he is ruthlessly pursued over the next decades by the obsessed and pious Inspector Javert.

Meanwhile, Valjean raises an orphan, Cosette, to womanhood during the period of the insurrections. Young Cosette is the waif seen on billboards, print advertising and merchandising for "Les Miz." The logo is based on a drawing from the original novel.

"Les Miserables" plays at least through Nov. 26 at the Fisher Theater, Third at West Grand Boulevard, in Detroit. A limited number of $16 senior and student tickets are available at the box office for selected performances. For ticket information, call the theater at 872-1000, or Ticketmaster at 645-6666.

Northville hosts first Victorian Festival

Northville will host its first Victorian Festival this weekend (Sept. 15-17).

Activities on Friday, Sept. 15, include: an Art Market from noon to 6 p.m.; bandshell entertainment from 1-6 p.m.; historic walking tours at 2 and 4 p.m.; a Victorian Festival Parade starting at the Northville Recreation Center on Main Street at 6 p.m.; an ice cream social from 6:45-8:45 p.m.; more bandshell entertainment from 7:30-10 p.m. (music by a barbershop quartet, a medicine man show and a performance by the Novi Concert Band).

Festivities begin at 9 a.m. on Saturday, Sept. 16, with opening of the Art Market; a chalk art contest from 9:30-11 a.m.; bandshell entertainment from 10 a.m.-5 p.m., including a magic show by Jon Oliver, a dulcimer player, chalk art judging, historic readings, music by a barbershop quartet and a medicine man show; a melodrama production of "She Was Only a Farmer's Daughter" at the American Legion Hall; and the Victorian Costume Ball beginning at 7:30 p.m. at Mill Race Village.

Other activities include a fine crafts festival and a vintage car parade on Sunday. Four of the homes in the tour are more than 100 years old and have been restored and tastefully decorated. The fifth home is contemporary but contains a collection of nautical antiques with a display of more than 100 old butter churns.

The Hibbard Tavern, an early stagecoach inn built in the 1830s, will be included in the show as a bed-and-breakfast inn. Across the street, visitors will be invited to visit the 1858 Tenny Cordone Home, decorated with country and primitive antiques.

Another featured house, the Gardner Burrows Home, built before 1844, is an early Michigan farmhouse and includes a preserved barn. The 1872 Mosher Madison Home also was a tavern at one time and is included in the show. The Milford Historical Museum will house a exhibit of grandmother's quilts, and the Masonic Temple will offer a toy train display. For more information call 685-7308.

MARKET DAY — Walled Lake's Market Day 1989 will be held this Sunday beginning at noon at the lake.

Scheduled activities include a craft fair, outdoor bandshell performances, food booths representing area restaurants, downtown constructed from more than 70 tons of sand.

The 18-foot sculpture will be on display at the mall until Oct. 31. Built by Sand Sculptures International, the creation depicts "Wizard of Oz's Field of Poppies."

The community is invited to stop by to view the sculpture during mall hours.

SUMMER STORIES — Borders Book Shop in the Novi Town Center will host a special story hour program on Saturday, Sept. 23, at 2 p.m. The program includes sign-language interpretation for people who are hearing impaired.

The stories, chosen for children of all ages, will be interpreted by certified Sign Language Interpreter Kim Willett.

The program is free, but pre-registration is required.

For more information or to register for the program call Borders Book Shop at 347-0780 or write to 43263 Crescent Boulevard, Novi, MI 48050.

CROSSROADS & RAILROADS

By MARILYN HERALD

Want to relive the "good old days" when lumber was king and an even bigger money maker than the discovery of gold? Want to view Michigan's past in an authentic setting or ride a steam-powered locomotive?

You can do all that and more as you visit Crossroads Village and the Huckleberry Railroad near Flint.

A day spent at the village is a trip into Michigan's past to relive the days when small villages dotted the countryside and steam-powered locomotives carried lumber from the then vast timberlands.

Operated by the Genessee County Parks and Recreation Commission, the village and railroad are easy to find. Signs mark the proper exits off I-75 or I-69 to I-475 and lead you to the Crossroads Village parking lot off Bray Road.

The village and railroad close after Labor Day and are only open on special occasions during the fall and winter, but the village's Christmas spectacular of lights is worth the trip. Snow on the ground makes it even more beautiful and exciting.

The Fall Harvest Jubilee, occurs the weekends of Oct. 6-9 and Oct. 14-15. Making weekend visits during this time extra special are the color tours on the Huckleberry Railroad, cider making and drinking and harvesting activities.

Hours for the Fall Harvest Jubilee are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. with the train running every hour between 11 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Combined admission to the village and railroad is $6.95 for adults (13-59), $5.95 for seniors (60 and older) and $4.95 for children (4-12). Children three and under are admitted free.

A special admission of only $2 per person is slated for the Crossroads Ghosts and Goodies, Oct. 27-30. Hours are 5:30-9:30 p.m. Reservations are recommended and can be made by calling (313) 736-7100.

Halloween fun aimed at kids 12 and under on this occasion includes trick-or-treating at village buildings, entertainment and scary surprises.

More than 100,000 lights sparkle through the village and along the Huckleberry Railroad during the holiday season each year. Dates for viewing this lighting extravaganza are Nov. 24-26, Dec. 1-3, 8-10, 15-17, 22-23 and 29-30.

Billed as "the most spectacular lighting display in the Midwest," the Christmas special features a fantasyland of lights. Flint's own snow train, the Huckleberry Railroad, steams past lighted displays along the tracks such as Santa's Workshop, jolly snowmen, a giant toy soldier and prancing reindeer.

Included at this season are a horse-drawn wagon ride, visits with St. Nick and Frosty the Snowman, music of the season in the Village Chapel, holiday entertainment on the stage of the historic Colwell Opera House and shopping for unusual gifts in the general store.

Admissions to enjoy the magic of Christmas at Crossroads are the same as listed above. Visitors are advised to dress warmly during the winter season.

Crossroads Village began with the relocation of the Buzzell House to the Genessee Recreation Area in 1968.

Threatened with demolition by the construction of expressways through downtown Flint, the modest frame house was preserved and became the nucleus of Crossroads Village.

Two other structures, the Eldridge House and Wisner's Carriage Barn, were moved to the village soon after the Buzzell House and in 1973, the Genessee County Board of Commissioners designated the village as the county's official Bicentennial project.

The first phase of the village opened on July 4, 1976 with 13 buildings. Since that time, the project has continued to grow as structures and funds have become available.

Today's village includes 27 historic buildings, ranging from the Davison Depot to the Attica Hotel and the Calkins Barn. A blacksmith shop, the lumber company, a gazebo, the Atlas Mills and the Stanley School are among the other buildings open to visitors.

Robby's at the Ice House: Classy yet Casual

"Robby's at the Ice House" is the name of the newest addition to Ann Arbor's collection of fine restaurants. And it's a noteworthy addition.

The restaurant is located at 102 South First Street in a building which once housed the "Artificial Ice Company" — thus explaining the name, "Robby's at the Ice House."

"Robby" is Robby Babcock, who operates the Gollywobbler restaurant in the Ann Arbor Holiday Inn on Washtenaw Avenue and who formerly owned the Whiffletree restaurant until it was destroyed by fire several years ago.

Robby's at the Ice House is Babcock's newest restaurant — it has been only a couple of months, but it also represents the realization of a concept which Babcock and Chef Dan Tesin have been contemplating for several years.

In essence, what they have done is tried to create a dining establishment which combines both fine cuisine and superior service in the atmosphere of informality which is characteristic of Ann Arbor.

This dichotomy is evident almost as soon as one enters the door. The dining room exhibits many of the signs of a more formal restaurant — large, spacious booths with tapestry upholstery, white linens on the tables, a vase of fresh flowers on each table, and a well-trained waitstaff clad in crisp white shirts.

But the ambience is casual. Babcock walks from table to table, chatting with guests and making sure their needs are met. And there's no dress code with guests wearing anything and everything from suits and dresses to cut-offs and T-shirts.

"We don't want to be too pretentious or too formal," explained Tesin, who has worked with Babcock for the past 15 years. "This is still Ann Arbor."

The menu, on the other hand, is designed for people who appreciate a quality dining experience.

There's a large wine list, and diners are provided a complimentary hors d'oeuvre shortly after being seated. We were presented a piece of grilled swordfish in a soy sauce on our most recent visit.

Robby's offers an extensive range of more than 20 appetizers in an attempt, says Tesin, to let diners know they are welcome to drop in to make a light meal of an appetizer and/or a dessert. The list of appetizers includes a cured fresh salmon with golden caviar, poached mussels gremolata, and oysters with chiantripepper pesto.

We sampled recently a smoked black bean cake with four different types of salsas, and found it both tasty and fun.

Salads include a marinated goat's cheese salad and a salmon and black pasta salad served with caviar. All entrees are accompanied with a choice of Caesar salad or mustard green salad.

The same sense of creativity reflected in the selection of appetizers is evident in the entrees. Included are blackened whitefish, lemon chicken scallopini, roasted duck chambord and swordfish au poivre. Also available are a New York Strip, Filet Mignon Bordelaise, Rack of Lamb Persille and London Broil Bordelaise.

Equally exquisite is the "Trio of Profiteroles" — three miniature cream puffs filled with orange, raspberry and hazelnut mousse.

Babcock maintains that Robby's at the Ice House emphasizes comfort and informality. And he's right as far as the manner in which guests are welcomed and treated. The food, the service and the quality of the cuisine, however, demonstrate that the restaurant is definitely a cut above "just another" Ann Arbor restaurant.

Robby's at the Ice House, 102 South First Street, Ann Arbor. 769-9330. Open for dinner Tuesday through Thursday from 5:30 to 10:30 p.m. and Friday and Saturday from 5:30 to 11:30 p.m. Closed Sunday and Monday. Liquor license. All major credit cards.

Salem holds off Northville gridgers, 14-0

Northville quarterback Ryan Huzjak runs the option against Salem last Friday as runner Ryan Kilner (45) looks to make a block

An hour-long storm delay, a soggy field and a fired-up Northville squad — nothing could stop Ryan Johnson and the Plymouth Salem gridgers in the early going last Friday (Sept. 8).

A year ago, Rocks' fullback Pat Bowie caused Mustang Coach Darrel Schumacher all the headaches. This year, it was Johnson. The 6-foot-2, 216-pound halfback slogged through the Northville defense for 38 yards and a touchdown on Salem's opening drive. It proved to be the difference as the Rocks cruised to a 14-0 Western Lakes league triumph.

"Overall, I'm pleased with the way the kids played, it's just that Salem is a fine team," Schumacher said. "They were just bigger and stronger than we were, but our kids never backed down."

On Salem's first possession, Johnson moved the ball steadily downfield. With the Rocks perched at Northville's six-yard line, a menacing-looking storm cloud rolled in from the west and play was suspended. The players were whisked into Cooke School while heavy rains drenched the field. About an hour later, the game was restarted, unlike other local games that were postponed until Saturday.

"The officials have control over it, and they were determined to get (the game) in," Schumacher said. "The field was sloppy, but the rains had slowed down a bit."

It took Salem four plays before Johnson moved the ball into the end zone from a yard out. The extra point try was blocked, leaving the Rocks with a 6-0 lead.

"After they drove right down the field on us, it took a little steam out of our defense," Schumacher said. "But when we forced them to take four downs to go six yards after the delay, that put some fire back into our eyes. After that we started playing some good, solid defense."

Northville did manage several first downs in the half but never threatened to score. But at the same time, the Mustang defense shut down Salem's vaunted wishbone attack and it remained 6-0 at halftime.

The Rocks took the second-half kickoff and drove down inside the Northville 20, but defensive back Noel Korowin ended the threat by picking off a pass by quarterback Rob Kowalski. But minutes later, the Mustangs gave it right back when sophomore signal caller Ryan Huzjak forced a pass into coverage. It was picked off by Scott Austin, and he iced the victory with a 20-yard touchdown return. A Kowalski-to-Brian Burlison two-point conversion made it 14-0.

"We should have eaten the ball on that play," Schumacher said. "It was a broken play where we had a missed assignment, but we forced it anyway. It was basically a mistake made by an inexperienced player, but those things happen."

Northville did threaten later in the third quarter, driving 53 yards to the Salem 4-yard line, but the Rocks held on downs when Huzjak's pass to Jamie Miller in the corner of the end zone was dropped.

"It was an excellent drive," Schumacher said. "We really had them reeling, but the play in the end zone was a tough catch to make, and it was a sophomore passing to another sophomore."

The Mustangs had another drive in the fourth, but another Huzjak interception stopped the march at the Salem 29.

Salem had a 242-to-133 yard advantage in total offense as Northville managed only 88 yards rushing and 45 passing.

"I think we got our act together defensively," Schumacher said. "I was embarrassed about the way we played at South Lyon. We have room for improvement, but we're gaining. We still feel we can move the ball offensively, and we'll score some points this season."

Huzjak connected on eight of 13 with three interceptions, while runners Ryan Kilner and Bill Kelley combined to gain 73 yards on 21 carries. Defensively, Garnet Potter (four solo tackles, nine assists and one sack) and Steve Bastian (four solo, seven assists, one fumble recovery) led the way.

Top-ranked Stevenson dumps Mustang soccer squad

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

According to Northville Coach Dave Yezback, the defending Class A soccer champs from Livonia Stevenson aren't quite as good this year as they were in '88. But the top-ranked Spartans were talented enough on Sept. 7 to turn back the Mustangs 5-1 in the Western Lakes Activities Association opener for both.

Stevenson jumped out to a commanding 4-0 lead after the first half and increased the lead to 5-0 in the second before Northville broke the shutout bid with a tally in the final 10 minutes of play. The loss drops the Mustangs season mark to 1-3.

"I don't think (Stevenson) is as good as they were last year, but that doesn't mean they aren't strong," Yezback said.

A Shane Millner goal in the first three minutes of action gave the Spartans an early lead, but also coaxed ed Northville into a "kick-ball" style of play at the same time.

"After that first goal, we got a little bit out of control," Yezback pointed out. "We got away from our game and started playing kick-ball with them. Stevenson waited for our mistakes and capitalized on them."

Goals at the 23- and the 39-minute marks of the half — both by Greg Smith — were sandwiched around a third Spartan tally, which gave the squad a 4-0 lead at the intermission. Northville was outshot in the half 9-3.

"Stevenson controlled the ball and the play for the entire first half," Yezback said.

Five minutes into the final period, Scott Sceru scored the Spartans' fifth and final goal, but the Mustangs had settled down and were playing much better soccer. With seven minutes remaining, Steve Lang executed a perfect crossing pass from 18 yards out toward the far post, and Brent Garner was there to redirect it into the net.

"We were a little more under control in the second half," Yezback said. "We moved play from our end into the midfield, so it wasn't as much a defensive game for us. We did supply more offense, but the crossing pass on the goal was the only cross we had from the outside wing."

Stevenson had a 10-4 shots-on-goal advantage in the half. Goaltender Larry Osiecki stopped 14 of 19 shots, many of them prime scoring chances.

"I think some of the kids were a little in awe of Stevenson," Yezback said. "We are young and have a lot of kids who hadn't played against them."

"We looked a little more confident and controlled in the final 40 minutes. This team needs to mature as the season goes on, and I thought we matured just from one half to the next."

Offensive woes continue as cagers fall to Pirates, 40-34

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

Northville basketball coach Ed Kritch still can't believe his Mustangs held Pinckney to just 14 first-half points in a Sept. 7 non-league clash and still trailed the Pirates by four at halftime. He also finds it hard to believe his squad built a six-point lead in the third quarter of this defensive struggle, then went in to a scoreless slump and ended up dropping the game, 40-34.

"It was a very bad game for us," Kritch said. "In the second quarter, we went seven minutes without scoring, and in the third, we went another four scoreless minutes. That means in the game, we scored 32 points in 21 minutes and zero the other 11."

By scoring just 10 points in the first half — including only three in the second quarter — Northville needed some fine defense just to stay in the contest.

"We played good defensively," Kritch said. "To score 10 points in the first half and to still be in it, trailing by only four, is a tribute to our defense."

In the first minute of the second quarter, Maria MacInnis made the front end of a free throw but missed the second. Forward Kate Holstein nabbed the rebound and put it back in for a three-point play and a 10-10 tie. But the Mustangs then failed to score another point in the half.

Led by Holstein, Northville scored the first 10 points to open a 20-14 lead midway through the third quarter but then hit another dry spell offensively. That allowed Pinckney to come back and take a 21-20 advantage heading into the final period.

The Pirates widened the lead to six at the free-throw line, but Northville cut it to 37-34 with less than a minute remaining on a three-point play by Holstein. Sophomore Karen Pump had a chance to tie the score with 37 seconds remaining, but her three-point try was off the mark. It forced Northville to foul Pinckney and hope for a few misses at the free throw line, but the Pirates made several down the stretch to secure the win.

"I'm sure this will be a game we'll look back on and feel we could have won it if we played up to our potential," Kritch said. "We shot 26 percent from the field, we were 0-for-5 from three-point range, we made only 14 of 27 free throws, and we committed 33 turnovers."

"We felt our talent level was equal to our opponents, but we didn't play up to our potential. And I'm not taking anything away from Pinckney. They did a nice job... they did what they had to do to win, like hitting 13 free throws in the fourth quarter."

Holstein led all scorers with a career-high 15 points, including 6 of 9 from the field. She also paced Northville with six rebounds and five steals.

"We need to clean up our ability to break full-court pressure," Kritch said. "In our two losses, we've made a total of 69 turnovers — which is unbelievable. Until we can break pressure defenses, every game has the potential to be a disaster for us."

The Mustangs (1-2 overall) will play Farmington on Sept. 19 in the Western Lakes Activities Association season-opener.

Early injuries hit Northville runners

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

Recent injuries to two of the team's top four runners have turned a once-promising season into a struggle for the Northville boys cross country squad.

The top two performers from a year ago — Steve Coon and Andy Haas — are back and ready to go, but the number three and four runners — Jason Hoose and Jon Meek, who would have given the Mustangs some solid depth — have been lost for at least three weeks.

"After our top two runners, it's a little cloudy," Northville Coach Ed Gabrys said. "We were expecting Jason and Jon to be key contributors to our team, but we won't have them for a while."

Hoose has tendonitis in his knee, and Meek has a thigh problem. According to Gabrys, they are now resting from running but are continuing to work out on the stationary bike.

Haas entered the '88 season as Northville's top runner, but Coon came on strong and supplanted him midway through the season. His top time of 17:32 at Cass Benton Park raised more than a few eyebrows for just a freshman, and he ended the season as an All-WLAA Western Division selection.

"Steve hasn't slackened the pace from last year," Gabrys said. "So far, he is holding down the top position. He's got a bright future because he has a lot of potential."

A step or two behind Coon is Haas, who is a junior and is still a force. They combine to form a solid 1-2 punch.

"They are both solid, and they are improving," Gabrys said.

There are currently five in line who will have to move up and step into the void created by the injuries. The top contender is junior Jamie Groves, who missed the '88 season with shin splints, but has recovered and is showing a lot of talent. The most improved returnee is probably junior Dave Borg, who was on the varsity team a year ago but did not letter. Borg is running with much more intensity, according to Gabrys.

Senior Aaron Wiseley and junior Mike Connery are both returning letter winners who should be among the top seven runners. Wiseley was in and out of the top seven a year ago and so was Connery until an accident on a moped ended his season. The fifth candidate is sophomore Doug

"After our top two runners, it's a little cloudy. We were expecting Jason and Jon to be key contributors to our team, but we won't have them for a while."

Mustang Cross Country Coach

Huntington, a surprise walk-on who has leaped into the pack that's chasing the top two. Senior John Okasinski is also a top-seven candidate.

"How well we survive the injuries and how well the fill-ins do is the key for our season," Gabrys said. "I think Plymouth Canton is the definite favorite in our division. The battle for second place will probably be between Walled Lake Western, Livonia Franklin and us."

WEST BLOOMFIELD INVITE: Without Hoose or Meek, the Mustang harriers placed 16th out of 22 teams in the middle division (smaller Class A schools) at the West Bloomfield Invite on Sept. 9 at Marshbank Park.

"I was very pleased with the way Coon and Haas ran, and I also liked what I saw from Grove, Borg and Huntington," Gabrys said. "We still need a lot of work on our pack time (interval between first and seventh runner). It was three minutes, and that is way too much. We want to get it down to less than a minute."

Coon received a medal for placing in the top 35 in the field of 154 runners. His time of 18:04 was good for 24th place.

Haas had a slow first mile but finished strong to place 50th in 18:51. The other Northville finishers included Groves in 101st place (20:14), Borg in 108th (20:39), Huntington in 114th (20:52), Wiseley in 116th (20:58) and Connery in 118th (21:06).

Northville's 398 points was more than 300 behind first-place Holly. The only other WLAA teams in the event were Farmington (fifth) and North Farmington (seventh).

Tankers prepare to defend Western Lakes title

Longtime Novi coach Larry Teahan recently categorized the Northville girls swim squad "loaded" after seeing the Mustangs in action at the Griffin Relays on Sept. 9.

Northville Head Coach Bill Dicks has several standouts returning from last year's tremendously successful squad, so the prospects for '89 appear to be very good.

A year ago, Northville won the Western Lakes Activities Association for the first time ever, sported an impressive 10-1 dual meet mark, and was ranked among the top 10 class A teams in the state for much of the season. The team qualified swimmers in all 11 events at the state meet, lead by Pam Holdridge (fourth in 100-yard butterfly) and Debbie Buell (seventh in 200 IM and eighth in 500 freestyle).

Top-notch performers like Buell, Holdridge, Beth Frayne, Barb Woodruff, Megan Holmberg and Kristen Woods are all returning. In addition, others like Pam Milisola, Susan Kowalski, Katie Davis and Claire Cryderman have varsity experience and are poised for a steady season.

Dicks was unavailable for comment.

The key losses include Michelle Stephens, Michelle Beacham, Wendy Beach and Kristen Storm. Storm was ranked as one of the top freshmen prospects in the state in '88, but isn't on the Northville roster this year.

GRIFFIN RELAYS: The Mustangs finished sixth out of 10 teams at the Griffin Relays on Sept. 9 in Brighton, the season opener for Northville.

"A powerful team like Northville only placed sixth, so it gives you some idea of how strong the field was," Teahan said.

Lakers nip Mustang netters in non-conference clash

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

A prep tennis meet can't get much closer than the Northville-West Bloomfield clash on Sept. 7.

With the score tied at three matches apiece, a grueling three-set marathon at No. 2 doubles was the ultimate decider. The Northville team of Tricia Tumminia and Rebecca Bellamy dropped the first set 0-6 but then bounced back to even things with a 7-6 (7-4) tie-breaker win in set number two. The third and deciding set was a classic, but the West Bloomfield team of Melanie Lutwin and Kristen Kokones pulled out a 7-6 (9-7) win in another tie-breaker to give the Lakers a 4-3 non-conference dual-meet victory over the Mustangs.

"It was a heartbreaker," Northville Coach Uta Filkin said. "To lose the seventh and deciding match in a tie-breaker after playing as long and hard as we did was a disappointment."

According to Filkin, the entire contest will go down as one of the longest ever. The two teams got underway at 3 p.m. sharp and didn't wrap things up until nearly 8 p.m.

"It was starting to get dark when we finally finished it," she said.

Three losses in fourth singles flights put the Mustangs into an early hole. Some inspired doubles play made it tantalizingly close, but the bid fell just short.

Northville's only singles win came from Alicia Hanson at No. 4. She needed three sets to finally put away Jennifer Morris 7-6 (7-5), 3-6, 6-2. In the other singles matches, Karen Vogt fell to Kathy Warnicke 1-6, 2-6; Diane Vogt dropped a 1-6, 2-6 decision to Erin Einhorn; and Shannon Price lost a two-hour 3-6, 3-6 match to

Stephanie Patterson

"Karen and Diane really had tough opponents but I thought Shannon should have won, but she was up against a player who played totally defensive tennis, who kept the ball in play and waited for a mistake," Filkin said. "It was a very frustrating loss for her."

The No. 1 doubles team — featuring Neysa Colizzi and Kavitha Sriraman — kept the Mustangs in contention with a well-played 7-6 (7-5), 4-6, 6-4 triumph over Stacy Koprince and Jennifer Bayson. The third team of Merilyn Millgard and Julie Howard then took the only easy match of the day (6-1, 6-1) from Shayna Jerries and Stacy Tayler to set up the decider at No. 2.

"Everything went against Tricia and Rebecca in the first set, and they got totally shaken," Filkin said. "Tennis is such a mental game, when you get into a position like that, it's hard to get out of it. They managed to get back to square one after losing the first set 6-0, and then they played much better. I was very pleased with the way they tried, and succeeded, in pulling it all back together. They were in a position to win but came up a little short."

It was Northville's (1-1 overall) first loss of the season, but with the Western Lakes Activities Association opener slated for Sept. 11 (after Record deadline), it was the kind of match that a team can really learn from.

"It's better for us to have a tough match like this than for us to wipe-out a team 7-0," Filkin said. "I like my non-conference matches to be very competitive, and we get that every time we play West Bloomfield. We are two very evenly matched teams."

Indianwood to host charity golf outing

The Ninth Annual March of Dimes Celebrity Golf Classic will be held on Sept. 19 at Indianwood Country Club in Lake Orion.

Each foursome will play with a celebrity on one of Indianwood's championship courses.

The first-place team will win a trip for all five players to compete in the Second National March of Dimes Championship Tournament next February in Florida.

For more information, contact Susan Hall at 423-3228 during working hours. Proceeds from the event will support research into the causes and prevention of birth defects.

FALL CLASSIC OUTING: The Fall Classic Golf Outing, sponsored by Easter Seals of Wayne County, will be held on Oct. 15 at Riverview Highlands Golf Club.

The complete golf package is $75 per person and includes 18 holes of golf with a cart, continental breakfast, open bar and awards dinner. Prizes will also be presented. An 11 a.m. shotgun start is planned.

Please call Joanna Martin or Bob Schellenberger at 722-3055 before the Oct. 4 deadline for tickets or information.

KENSINGTON CHAMPIONSHIP: Kensington Golf Course at 2240 West

Buno Road in Milford will host the Kensington Championship for golfers who want to get into the swing of things.

The tournament is open to the public, has small entry fees, and is ideal for the person who has never entered a tournament before.

"Our objective in sponsoring these types of tournaments is to offer the golfing public a well-run tournament using PGA rules at a low cost," said Doug Curry, tournament director. "Our tournaments are designed to challenge veterans and first-time tournament players alike. Our tournament formats allow for players with a wide range of skill levels to have a successful and enjoyable tournament experience."

Entry fee is $2, and awards are modest. Trophies will be given out, along with free greens fees certificates.

"We require USGA handicaps in our tournaments because it allows us to give all skill level players an opportunity to be successful," Curry said. "We also believe that establishing and using a USGA handicap makes the game more enjoyable."

The Kensington Championship will be played Sept. 24. Qualifying rounds for the tournament were played on Sept. 9-10.

Mustang senior John Schrieber lines up a putt in action earlier this season

Golfers bounce back with 202-221 win over Thurston

They're back!

After a lackluster season opener against Novi, the Northville golfers appear to be back on track. In impressive fashion, the Mustangs evened their season record at 1-1 with a 202-221 triumph over Redford Thurston on Aug. 31 at Salem Hills.

"It went very well," Mustang Coach Don Morgan said. "I think that loss to Novi might have woken us up

We are definitely playing better."

Northville received three sub-40 scores en route to the win, including Jason Sherman's career-best, one-over-par 37 for nine holes. He was followed in second place by Chris Lemmon (38) and John Schrieber (39).

"Having three score under 40 is rare in high-school golf," Morgan said. "I'll take a team score somewhere around 200 every time.

That averages out to 40 per man — and in high school, that's good golf."

The other Northville competitors included Paul Warner (44), Kevin Krupansky (44) and Todd Christianson (46).

The Mustangs will host South Lyon in another non-league clash today (Sept. 14) before opening the Western Lakes Activities Association season on Sept. 18 against Westland John Glenn.

Harriers boast 19 on roster

Coach Nick Dunwoodie and the Northville girls cross-country team have been battling the numbers game for several seasons now, but it appears that battle will be won in '89.

Last season, a lack of runners and injuries to the few who were on the squad all but decimated the program. But this fall, the roster is filled with 19 runners — by far the best turnout ever. Only five of the 19 are returnees, but Dunwoodie isn't complaining.

"Things have been going along just fine," he said. "We have 19 kids, and that's the most we've had. Some of the newcomers show a lot of promise and others will be projects, but at least we have some interest."

The top four performers return almost intact from a year ago. Seniors Lisa Brown, Rozann Staknis and Rachel Davis and junior Marcie Dart all have varsity experience, and will be expected to carry most of the load this season. Sophomore Cathy Namy is the only other returnee with varsity experience.

"The rest are newcomers, and they are all jockeying for position right now," Dunwoodie said. "We're aiming for the league meet in October, and we're still trying to get into shape and avoid injuries."

WEST BLOOMFIELD INVITE: The Mustangs opened the 1989 season at the West Bloomfield Invite on Sept. 9 at Marshbank Park. Northville was paired with 18 other teams in the second division (smaller Class A schools) and ended up placing 14th overall with 373 points. West Bloomfield won the event with 98 points.

"The conditions were lousy," Dunwoodie said. "There were huge puddles and portions of the course that were solid mud."

Hail Hale

Former Mustang great Mike Hale (right) is the latest in a long line of outstanding linebackers from Northville High School to move on to the collegiate ranks. The 6-foot-1, 205 pounder was one of nearly 50 incoming freshmen to attend the official opening of preseason football practice on Aug. 15 at Saginaw Valley State College. Seventh-year Head Coach George Ihler expects Hale to vie for playing time as an outside linebacker this season.

em." Salem Coach Tom Moshimer said. "I'd like to play on a dry field. This slows you down, and I thought we had a faster team (than Northville). So I guess a dry field would have benefited us more.

"But Northville came to play. They played us tough, tough, tough on defense, and they hit us hard."

The Mustangs (0-2 overall, 0-1 in the Western Lakes Activities Association) will travel to Walled Lake Central tomorrow (Sept. 15) to take on Walled Lake Western in the battle of the winless. It is Northville's first Western Division game, and Schumacher is confident his team can get that first victory.

"We are two teams that are very similar, so either team can win," he said.

Mustangs of the Week

STEVE COON

Northville distance runner Steve Coon burst on the scene last season as a freshman, and within a couple of weeks, he was the Mustangs' top cross-country performer. In 1989, Coon has again earned the number-one spot, and his performance in the rain at the West Bloomfield Invite last weekend at Marshbank Park strengthened his position. Coon received a medal for placing in the top 35 in the field of 154 runners. His time of 18:04 was good for 24th place.

For Coon's effort, "Mustang of the Week" honors go out to him.

"I was very pleased with the way Coon . . . ran," Coach Ed Gabrys said. "He's got a bright future because he has a lot of potential."

KATE HOLSTEIN

A frustrating 40-37 loss by the Mustang cagers to non-league Pinkney on Sept. 7 did have a bright spot. Junior forward Kate Holstein kept Northville in the game almost single-handedly and we think she is a deserving recipient of our "Mustang of the Week" award. Holstein scored six points in a row to spur Northville to a 10-0 run at the start of the second half and then added a clutch three-point play in the final minute to keep it close. She ended with a game and career-high 15 points on 6-of-9 shooting from the field. She also paced the Mustangs with six rebounds and five steals.

Novi tumbler wins international title

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

Susie Muzbeck's progression this summer into the top Junior Elite tumbler in the United States has gone hand in hand with several other milestones in her young, impressive gymnastics career.

The 13-year-old Novi resident — fresh off a pair of national championships — added an international title to her accomplishments in early August. It happened at the Fifth Annual Pan-Pacific Trampoline and Tumbling Championships in Osaka, Japan on Aug. 4-6. Amazingly enough, it was her first-ever international competition.

"I think this was the first of many international trips, because she's a very hard worker," her mother, Nancy Muzbeck, predicted.

The meet featured nearly 400 competitors from countries in the Pacific Ocean theater like Japan, Australia, New Zealand, and Hong Kong. Muzbeck handled the most difficult competition of her life with impressive poise and wound up winning the Junior Elite (13-14 age group) Tumbling competition.

"I was very excited to be able to win at my first international meet," Susie admitted. "The competition wasn't any different that I thought it would be — I was expecting it to be difficult, and it was."

While in Japan, a photographer from an Osaka newspaper took a liking to Susie. During one whole day of competition, he followed her around, taking pictures. The next day, a full-color shot of Muzbeck was featured in the sports section.

"It was neat that she was singled out among hundreds of competitors," Nancy said.

It's been a memorable summer for the Walled Lake Junior High student. In July, she captured the Junior Elite National Tumbling title at the national championships in Santa Ana, Calif. — a meet sponsored by the American Trampoline and Tumbling Association (ATTA) — as well as the ATTA National Age Group title in both tumbling and mini-trampoline in Ogden, Utah.

"We were thrilled when she took first in Japan," Nancy Muzbeck said. "As the current U.S. age-group and Junior Elite champion, Susie is very skilled, but it was the first time she's competed internationally. Nobody really knew what to expect."

Muzbeck was escorted to Japan by older sister, Barry, a former four-time Michigan High School Gymnastics Champion. Susie is a member of the Jaguar Tumbling Team of Michigan and is coached by Barry and Nelle Fillingier.

"Barry's competed internationally and she had previously been to Japan, so it was great she could go along with me," Susie said. "She told me how to act and what to expect once we got there."

Within the next year, Muzbeck hopes to move up into the Senior Elite age division (14 and over) and eventually to qualify to compete in the World Championships for Power Tumbling, scheduled for October 1990 in West Germany.

"You have to start somewhere, when it comes to international meets, before you can expect to get to the World Championships," Muzbeck said. "I'll need to move up to the Senior Elite division, and I know I have to improve to get there. I'm sure in my first senior competition, I'll think it's hard, but it seems like I've been getting lumped in with the Senior Elites anyway, so for me, it's just a matter of going out and doing it."

According to Nancy Muzbeck, the

Record/CHRIS BOYD

Novi's Susie Muzbeck placed first at the Pan-Pacific Trampoline and Tumbling Championships in Japan.

Senior Elite division is a step up for Susie to the Olympic level of this relatively new branch of gymnastics.

"Susie went to a Senior Elite event last year as an exhibition performer and placed ninth, so she knows what it will be like," Nancy explained. "She could probably handle herself very well at that level right now, and that is her goal for the future."

Muzbeck is currently getting her first taste of European competition. Late last week, she left for Geneva, Switzerland to compete in the Nissen Cup. The competition goes through Aug. 29.

"I'm really looking forward to it," Susie said before leaving Novi for Europe. "I've never competed against the Europeans, and it should be interesting — I really don't know what to expect."

Muzbeck will be entering the eighth grade this fall and is a straight-A student. With all the training and traveling that goes along with gymnastics, free time is a rare commodity. But Susie still finds the time to study and play in the Walled Lake Junior High Marching Band.

"I try to organize my time," she said. "For tumbling, I train about three hours a day, four days a week. I'm also involved in artistic gymnastics."

"Sometimes, it's important to take a break so you don't get burned out, but when I found out I was going to Switzerland, I knew I had to keep training."

"That's the key — keep training and working hard."

Novi installs new training facility

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

The athletic community in this country has made an attempt to combat the pressures to excel through artificial means like steroids, with a renewed emphasis on proper training. Comprehensive weight training is undoubtedly the main focus.

And this issue is not just limited to the college and professional ranks. At Novi High School, a new weight room has been installed to take the place of an outdated facility — and the price tag wasn't cheap.

"It was a joint project between the Novi Athletic Boosters and the school district," Novi Athletic Director John Fundukian said. "The boosters donated $5,000 to get the project going and the district kicked in the rest, for a total of $18,000."

The old weight equipment at Novi consisted of a Universal machine with a couple leg-extension and curl machines. Not exactly state of the art.

"For any high school — particularly a class A school — it just wasn't adequate," Fundukian said. "Our goal was to provide a training facility for the kids — not just the athletes, but also for the physical-education classes and the community as a whole."

The only space available for the project was a small (15-by-27) storage room behind the athletic office and adjacent to the wrestling room. To convert it into a weight room, a six-foot access corridor to the hallway had to be constructed, which also added the expense.

"We had to put in a corridor so you could get to it without going through the wrestling room, and for purposes of security," Fundukian explained. "And with the room that small, we had to expedite training efficiently. It had to be user friendly, quick, durable and able to provide a generalized workout for all athletes."

After taking bids from four companies and consulting with sports experts on the right kinds of equipment for their particular situation, an 11-station circuit of individual Universal units was purchased.

"Each station is designed to enhance the condition, the endurance and the strength of a particular part of the athlete's body," Fundukian said. "After completing the circuit, you have had a good comprehensive workout."

Fundukian estimated that 22 persons could be training on the units at the same time and would be able to complete the 11-station circuit in less than a half hour. Members of the high-school physical-education staff, as well as the coaches, were given a course on how to properly use the equipment by specialists from Fitness Things in Plymouth.

"We require adult supervision while the students are using the new facility," Fundukian said. "Proper training, balanced workouts and correct techniques are very important. If you lift weights improperly, it can be a health risk, but this system is designed to give the kind of resistance you're looking for without putting pressure on the wrong areas."

Hospital offers 'Eater's Choice' class

"Eater's Choice," a class developed to help lower cholesterol, is being offered at St. Mary Hospital in Livonia.

The class, led by a registered dietitian, instructs participants on caloric intake, cholesterol levels in common foods, and how to ultimately lower your cholesterol.

"Eater's Choice" will be offered on Mondays and Thursdays, Sept. 25 and 28, and Oct. 2, 5, 9 and 12 from 7-8 p.m. The cost is $55 per person or $80 per couple. Call 464-4800 (extension 2469) for registration.

EXPECTANT PARENT CLASSES: The Oakland County Health Division will offer a series of six expectant-parent classes beginning Sept. 28 in the Barlett Friendship Center, room 116, at the Community Education Building, 350 School Street in South Lyon.

Classes will be held in the evenings from 7-9 p.m. and will be taught by public-health nurses. There is no charge for attending the series of classes, but you are asked to pre-register because enrollment is limited.

Topics will include maternal physical changes, good nutrition, growth and development of the fetus and the baby, labor and delivery, infant care, and parenting.

To register, please call 424-7042 by Sept. 22.

BREAST AND SKIN CLINIC: A breast and skin clinic will be held at St. Mary Hospital at Five Mile and Levan Roads. Dates for the clinic are Sept. 27, Oct. 11 and 25, Nov. 8, and December 6. All sessions will be from 3:10-5:10 p.m.

The clinic includes breast examination by a staff physician, a risk/history evaluation for breast and skin tumor, and breast self-examination instruction. The fee for the clinic is $10.

Appointments are necessary for the clinic. For an appointment or additional information, call 464-4800, ext. 2433.

WEIGHT WATCHERS FOR THE DEAF: Weight Watchers is now introducing a new class held exclusively for people who are deaf or hearing impaired. The class runs from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. Wednesdays.

Fitness Notes

The meetings take place at the Weight Watchers Bloomfield Towne Square Center on Telegraph Road. The class leader is Carol Frankel, and an interpreter for people who are deaf or hearing impaired is also present.

If you are interested in joining this new class or know of a friend who could benefit, please call 332-3323 for more information or to reserve a seat.

ALZHEIMER'S SUPPORT GROUP: The Novi Family Support Group of the Alzheimer's Association meets the second Thursday of every month at 7 p.m. at the Novi Care Center.

This support group is for caregivers, family members, and friends of individuals afflicted by Alzheimer's disease and offers education support programs.

MAKE TODAY COUNT: Make Today Count, a national organization that brings together persons affected by life-threatening illnesses, meets monthly at Huron Valley Hospital in Commerce Township.

Individuals with serious illness, family members, health-care professionals, clergy, and concerned others are welcome at group meetings held the second Thursday of every month at 7:30 p.m.

For program information, call 363-5233 or 626-3636.

FREE SCREENING: Botsford Hospital's Health Development Network will offer free blood-pressure and vision screening the second Monday of every month from 1-4 p.m. The screenings take place in the main lobby of Botsford General Hospital, 28050 Grand River in Farmington Hills.

For more information, call 471-8090.

SCHOOLCRAFT FITNESS PROGRAM: A fitness program for community and corporate employees is now available at Schoolcraft College in Livonia Monday through Friday from 6:30 to 8 a.m. and 4:30 to 6 p.m.

Participants can take advantage of a full-competition swimming pool with a separate diving area, six racquetball courts, a weight-training room, a dance-training room and muscle-soothing saunas. A 12-week membership is $40 and a six-week membership is $22. The facilities also can be used for $3 per visit.

Schoolcraft College is located at 18600 Haggerty Road between Six and Seven Mile in Livonia. For more information call 462-4413.

PRE-NATAL EXERCISE: Debra Hoppe leads pre-natal / post-partum exercise classes at the Providence Hospital / Novi Center every Saturday at 10 a.m.

Hoppe is a member of IDEA, the association for fitness professionals, and certified through the IDEA Foundation.

Classes are on-going and participants may enroll at any time by calling 227-7284. A physician's consent form is necessary to participate.

CPR CLASSES: A cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) class is offered by Schoolcraft College on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 6-10 p.m.

An American Red Cross CPR certification card is issued upon successful completion of the course. Cost is $18. For more information call 591-6400, extension 410.

SWIM SESSIONS: The Mercy Center on Eleven Mile in Farmington Hills is again offering swimming sessions this year.

Open swimming is available Monday through Friday from 6:30 to 8 a.m. and Saturday from 7:30 to 9 a.m. The Saturday session includes a lap swim, swim classes, private lessons, and adapted aquatics for adults. Call 473-1815 for more information.

Fitness Tips

Weight says little about body composition

By SYLVA DVORAK

How fat is too fat? How thin is too thin? It is not always possible to tell from the bathroom scale because body weight says very little about body composition. The amount of lean and fat tissue varies widely from person to person. An athlete who has well-developed muscles and dense bones from regular exercise may weigh much more than a sedentary person with the same body size. In order to compare people, a measure of body fatness is needed, not body weight, and this will help you determine your ideal weight.

How fat should you be?

• The average American has a body fat content of 21 to 24 percent for men and 25 to 30 percent for women. These numbers are too high.

• Some sensible goals are 16 to 18 percent for men and 22 to 25 percent for women.

• Women have approximately 10 percent more "essential" fat due to hormonal differences.

How is body composition measured?

There are several techniques for estimating body fatness:

1. Underwater weighing is a method whereby a person's whole body is submerged under water. By this method using water displacement, body density is determined. This is the most accurate method of determining body fatness. Unfortunately, it requires a lot of space and equipment which is impractical in most facilities.

2. Skin-fold caliper testing is a measure of the amount of body fat that can be obtained by lifting a fold of skin for select regions on the body. The fat under the skin in these regions is roughly proportional to the percent of body fat. This technique requires trained people who have performed the test many times.

3. Electrical impedance is a new method which involves placing electrodes on your hands and feet and measuring the different resistances of your body compartments. A computer does all the calculations, including determining how many pounds of fat you may need to lose to reach your ideal weight. The convenience and speed of electrical impedance in estimating body fat is quickly making this method popular.

4. Height and weight tables are widely used. These are based on the average person in the United States with the same weight, height, age, frame size and do not consider body composition. Therefore, they do not necessarily represent an ideal body weight.

5. The mirror test is the simplest test — you only need to undress and stand in front of a mirror. If you notice bulges sticking out and you look too fat, you may be over fat. However, this test may not be advised because a thin person may have a high body-fat content and some people, such as anorexics and bulimics, may have a distorted image of their body size.

Why is knowing your body composition and your ideal weight so important?

• In the United States, some 10-25 percent of all teenagers and some 25-50 percent of all adults are obese. These are staggering figures. Regardless of your weight, too much fat deposited in your body signals a great risk of many diseases, such as heart disease, cancer, diabetes and arthritis.

• To lower your body fat, start eating less fat; increase your intake of complex carbohydrates such as fruits, vegetables and whole grains, and reduce your intake of red meats, processed foods and sweets.

Remember: get off the scale and determine your ideal body composition.

The Northville Record is working with medical authorities at the University of Michigan Medical Center (M-Care) in Northville to provide up-to-date information on a variety of health-related topics. The series is coordinated by Peg Campbell of the M-Care staff.

Northville introduces Victorian Festival

By BOB NEEDHAM

The town clock in the center of Northville will turn backward this weekend — by about a hundred years — as the community hosts its first Victorian Festival.

Running Friday, Sept. 15 through Sunday, Sept. 17, the festival will celebrate Northville's Victorian heritage with a wide array of events and activities. Highlights include a parade Friday evening, the grand Victorian Costume Ball on Saturday night, and a Sunday afternoon picnic.

The festival runs in conjunction with the Northville Arts Commission's annual Artmarket show and sale in the downtown area.

The Victorian Festival was first conceived as a replacement for the town's Autumnfest of past years. Organizers felt that the new event would be well suited to Northville, a town first settled during the Victorian era.

The community has made efforts to preserve its heritage: many people have renovated and restored the classic Victorian homes in town; the city restored its Victorian downtown area with a special bonding program in 1978 and boasts an officially designated Historic District; and the very active Northville Historical Society, among other projects, runs the Mill Race Historical Village, a sort of miniature Greenfield Village dedicated to preserving some of the more important historic structures in the community.

The Victorian Festival seemed like a natural, and the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce quickly assumed sponsorship. Volunteer help was enlisted from countless individuals and organizations. Many different activities and attractions were planned.

It all comes together this weekend.

Many events — including the Artmarket booths, strolling musicians, food booths, carriage rides, tours of the Historic District, and an antique consignment show, will be ongoing throughout the festival. In addition, a person billed as "Houdini's successor" — escape artist Jon Oliver — will perform his feats all three days.

Friday's particular highlights include entertainment at the downtown bandshell, a parade, and an ice-cream social. The entertainment includes a "medicine man" show, barbershop quartet singing, and a Victorian fashion show.

The festival swings into high gear Saturday with a selection of special events for children plus a lot more entertainment at the bandshell. A costumed Victorian Ball, 7:30 p.m. at Mill Race Historical Village, caps off the day.

Sunday features an artists' brunch with classical music at the bandshell, and a Victorian picnic all afternoon featuring games for kids. Many downtown stores — usually closed on Sunday — will be open during the festival this afternoon.

For a complete schedule of all the festival events and a map of their locations, see pages 10 and 11 of this guide.

Since this is the first Victorian Festival, organizers are not sure what kind of attendance to look for.

"With the amount of advertising and everything that we're doing, we're going to expect 20,000," said Laurie Marrs, executive director of the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce.

With the first Victorian Festival not yet out of the way, Marrs and the others behind the festival are not looking too far into the future. But she said there is every intention to make the festival an annual event for Northville.

Although the festival has taken a lot of tricky coordination and organizational effort, Marrs said everything has seemed to work out well.

"When something happens bad, we (festival organizers) all seem to come together and come out smelling like a rose," she said.

"All everybody has to do is get down on their knees and pray for sunshine. If it's sunny, we can guarantee you a wonderful festival."

Did you know . . . ?

. . . Victorian-style architecture, as defined by the Columbia Encyclopedia, is "an eclectic fashion based on revivals of older styles. Distinguished from its models by excessive and often unjustified decoration, glorifying the elements of Gothic while confusing them by overusing turrets, bays and towers."

Architecture defines the Victorian spirit

By GREGORY PRESLEY

"Nowhere else in American history has the house form been so richly intricate as during the Victorian period, circa 1840-1910."

So begins Victorious Victorians, the best of many recent publications on Victorian architecture in America. Today we look back romantically at that rich display of individual extravagance, the detailed craftsmanship that we cannot buy, the beauty, proportion and boldness of design so hard to find in current home design.

We find ourselves fascinated by the exuberance of Victorian style, almost with a sense of loss. But perhaps a better response is to learn from that era. A quick look at Victorian home style in Northville will reveal the similarities and differences between our situation and that of our Victorian ancestors and perhaps give a clearer perspective on our own present and future.

First, the similarities between then and now. Originating in Great Britain during the reign of Queen Victoria (1837-1901), the Victorian style evolved in America during a period of rapid economic growth fueled by the Industrial Revolution. As a new middle class of Victorian upwardly mobile persons emerged (let's call them vuppies), this nouveau riche did exactly what we would do today. They sunk their new-found wealth in the public display of their homes — a grand entrance foyer, beautiful parlor and dining room, and richly ornate front facade.

Furthermore, as advances in technology daily changed their lives (a familiar ring?), they needed to invoke a sense of stability in a fast-paced world. So they borrowed Gothic and Classical elements in the decoration of their houses. This provided that visual anchor with the past. This does not mean that they disliked modernity. In fact, they loved it. They embraced the latest advances in technology such as indoor plumbing, central heating, and electric lighting, just as we today apply every technological creature comfort money can buy to make our personal domicile a little more wonderful.

Now for some differences. Unlike our world of limited and expensive natural resources, the optimistic Victorians enjoyed seemingly unlimited choices. Raw materials such as wood and stone were plentiful and cheap. Inventions such as the jigsaw and balloon framing, plus advances in glass technology, produced an architect's dream of design options.

House pattern books proliferated, making available to the new middle class a wide variety of home styles and shapes. Styles such as Gothic Revival, Italianate and Queen Anne in varieties of plans and shapes created rich streetscapes in the space of a few years. Nowhere is this more beautifully portrayed than in Northville.

Victorian architecture seen in Northville

Gothic Revival (1840s-1880s) was the first Victorian style to be developed in home design and reflected the then-current national mood of optimism about the future. Carpenter Gothic cottages with their soaring gables, delicate eyebrows and tracery, and ornate porch elements all spoke the common language of "aspiration," just the right mood for a young country filled with hope. Many fine examples of Gothic Revival can be seen in Northville, particularly on West Dunlap Street. The best example is the Yerkes house, preserved in Mill Race Historical Village and open to the public.

Italianate (mid 1840s-1880s), as a counterpoint to Gothic, seemed to lend a sense of security and strength. Italianate design usually had a square or rectangular shape. Bold square towers or cupolas, low-pitched or hipped roofs, large brackets under eaves, and eyebrowed windows were its distinctive traits. There are again good examples of Italianate done in both masonry and wood construction throughout Northville, especially in the Historic District and on North Center Street.

Downtown also boasts Victorian buildings

Although there were other fine examples of distinctive Victorian style in Northville such as Second Empire (1850s-1880s), Shingle (1880s-1900s), and Bungalow (1880s-1920s), none can compare in sheer number of houses and exuberance of style with Queen Anne (1880s-1910s). This style represented the culmination of all other Victorian styles at the zenith of general optimism about the progress of western culture.

Queen Anne has an almost tongue-in-cheek playful richness in its decorative elements. Literally every plane of the irregularly shaped building form is treated in some manner. From finials and cresting to fretwork and carvings, Queen Anne had it all. Sweeping verandas, bold projecting balconies and bays, soaring turrets, and towers all added to the visual fun. But the most interesting aspect of these homes was their sense of proportion and appropriateness. They were and are beautiful to behold. One has only to stroll through the city's Historic District to realize how many and how varied are Northville's Queen Annes.

It is interesting to note that Victorians shunned the color white for their buildings, preferring to celebrate the individuality of each building with a wide panoply of colors, from lighter earth tones to deeper hues of red, olive, and dark green. Many Victorian homeowners in Northville now understand this truth and are redressing their "painted ladies." Variety of color will add to the rich texture of the historic streetscapes we already enjoy.

Today we share with our Victorian ancestors that same desire for community in a fast-changing world, all centered on and serving the family structure. One cannot turn back the clock and live again in that time when, to our modern mind, life may have seemed more festive and grand, more rich and full. We live in a different space and time, and enjoy our own special opportunities.

However, we can and must preserve and enhance the unique built environment begun by the Victorians and enjoy the beauty with which they first crafted Northville. And we new Victorians can do what the originals did: continue the hard work of preparing Northville for the next 100 years. And who knows, maybe a hundred years from now . . .

Gregory Presley is a Northville architect and member of the steering committee for the Northville Victorian Festival.

Victorian period was vital in Northville

While Queen Victoria reigned over an empire in England, the town of Northville, Michigan was taking shape, seeing the first development which eventually led to the Northville community of today.

Meads Mill student artwork will be on display downtown during the festival.

The town's history is laid out in "Northville . . . The First Hundred Years," a book by former Northville Record publisher Jack Hoffman.

In the book, Hoffman quotes pioneer David Clarkson writing on the development of the town in the 1830s: "People came here to trade, and for lumber, and this began to be a business centre . . . The citizens held a meeting in Mead's store (northeast corner of Main and Center) to decide on a name for the place and 'Northville' was the name decided upon." At the time, the settlement was the north village of what was then a larger Plymouth community.

In the early days, what today is Northville was really two towns: Northville, centered in the current downtown, and another settlement known both as Meads Mills and Waterford. This town, around the Northville Road / Six Mile area, was an important stop on the Underground Railroad for escaped slaves.

Waterford / Meads Mills died out as Northville and Plymouth grew. But the area was reborn decades later as a thriving part of Northville Township.

The middle to latter part of the 1800s saw the Northville community reach a first level of maturity. The local newspaper was founded in 1869, and Hoffman wrote that in 1870 is the first recorded reference to a mayor. During this era, he wrote, Northville was a thriving little town:

Organizers publicized festival in several ways

Organizers are hoping that a lot of publicity will help bring people into Northville for the first Victorian Festival.

Posters have been up all over the community for weeks now, and flyers have provided additional details. In an unusual move for Northville, banners promoting the festival will hang from light poles in the downtown area.

"We have sent out over 125 press releases," said Laurie Marrs, executive director of the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce and a member of the festival steering committee. Releases went out to newspapers, magazines, radio stations and television stations.

The press releases elicited a lot of interest from the media, Marrs said, and led to plans for live radio interviews from the chamber office during the festival.

The festival committee could not afford to buy TV time, but did plan to advertise the festival on area radio stations ahead of time. More publicity came from Omnicom, the local cable TV company.

Word of mouth also proved a potent force for publicizing the festival. Marrs said people from places like Port Huron and Wyandotte called for tickets to the festival ball after hearing about it.

"They (people coming to the ball) are all around; they're not just Northville residents," she said.

Record/CHRIS BOYD

their interviewing skills. They will be acting as reporters during the festival.

Victorian era was vital to the history of growing Northville

"Northville in 1869 had a score of businesses and industries — a fact that amazed visitors who, because of the community's seclusion, expected to find little more than rolling farms and a few homes. Three churches were already well established, a high school had just graduated its first senior class (one student), and the hum of factories and mills filled the air.

"Main and Center streets, which at that time still rippled over the original hillocks traversed by the first settlers 40 years earlier, were lined

especially near Hutton, Wing, Dunlap and Cady street intersections...

"The town's population stood at about 700..."

The population today is many times that figure, and the old businesses are gone. But the rich Northville history still lives.

Organizing Northville's first Victorian Festival took the efforts of a lot of people and many local organizations.

The five-member steering committee coordinated and organized everything, guiding the original idea to its full fruition this weekend. Its members are Laurie Marrs, Greg Presley, Ann Willis, Don Mroz, and Greg Spinazze.

A larger central committee also put in a great deal of organizational work. It is made up of Bo Hall, Susan

A wide range of groups are involved in sponsoring various events. They include the Kiwanis, PTA Coordinating Council, Single Place (First Presbyterian Church), Students Against Drunk Driving, Northville Band Boosters, St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Northville Co-Op, the freshman class at Northville High School, sophomore class at NHS, junior class at NHS, senior class at NHS, Northville Community Education, Northville Action Council, Open Door Christian Church, Angela Hospice, Northville Rotary Club, Cub Scout Pack 712, Northville Youth Assistance, Northville High School Cheerleaders, Northville Cooperative Pre-School, Our Lady of Victory PTO, and Northville Players.

Northville Community Chamber of Commerce Executive Director Laurie Marrs thanked all those who gave time to make the first Northville Victorian Festival a success.

All decked out

Festival-goers display their Victorian finery. Similar costumes are encouraged, but not required. They need not be expensive; festival organizers recommend, for women, long skirts, high collars (during the day) and jeweled brooches; for men, sack-style suits, vests with gold watch chains, and colorful soft ties, ascots or bow ties. More information on proper dress is available at the Northville Public Library.

WE'LL ALWAYS MATCH ANY COMPETITOR'S PRICE...

WE WON'T BE UNDERSOLD...EVER!

*Our policy is to give you the lowest price on every item you buy at Builders Square...every day! If you find a lower price at a competitor just let us know and we'll beat their price on that item by 10%... right on the spot!

Identical items only (same manufacturer and model numbers). Offer limited to items in stock; no rain checks. Price comparisons are at time of purchase. We reserve the right to limit quantities to dealers and competitors, and to match non-member club prices and catalogue prices including freight.

Limited quantities. Sorry, no rainchecks. At least one of each item available in the store at the beginning of the sale. Not responsible for typographical errors.

...BUT NO ONE CAN MATCH OUR...

QUALITY

That's because we feature quality name brand merchandise from America's top manufacturers... Black & Decker, Hunter, Ortho and many, many more. Products known for their quality and value, because if we wouldn't put it in our home, we wouldn't put it in our warehouse.

SELECTION

We offer one of the largest selections of home remodeling and repair products you'll find in America. Over 22,000 items to be exact. Why would we stock 22,000 items? Just to be sure we'll have the one item you need to complete your project.

SERVICE

Our warehouse is a no-frills, self-service operation, but we're here if you need us. If you need advice, need help loading, need your order delivered, ask us! We'll special order, mix paint and answer all your questions...you're our No. 1 concern!
