Shared services plan okayed

By MIKE TYREE

The Northville community may be one big step closer to a cooperative services agreement.

The township board last week accepted the city's latest shared services proposal after altering a single word in the document.

In a portion of the city proposal which dealt with the disposition of assets pertaining to the proposed Haller Library/Community Center complex, and in the case of a falling out between city and township, the board substituted the word "equitably" for the word "equally."

The board determined the change would more clearly define the disposition of property based upon the percentage of township/city contribution to the proposed 44,800-square-foot facility, which would be built on the corner of Six Mile and Sheldon Roads if township voters approve two questions at a May 1 election.

City Manager Steven Walters said Monday the version of the agreement approved by the township board was acceptable to the city. He said the city council would most likely approve the shared services plan at its March 19 session.

Landfill resolution altered

By MIKE TYREE

The Northville Township Board of Trustees March 8 voiced their opposition to a proposed southwest Novi landfill by accepting a watered-down version of a resolution offered by Supervisor Georgina Goss.

Trustee Thomas Handyside objected to portions of the original resolution and convinced his fellow board members to strike a reference to a Salem Township landfill from the final document.

Handyside said a statement in the original resolution that mentioned contaminated groundwater at Salem Township's Arbor Hills site unfairly suggested that the proposed 187-acre construction waste site on the northeast corner of Eight Mile and Napier roads would also be a polluter.

"(The resolution) implies that Novi's landfill will pollute," he said. "There is no documentation (and) it is unfair to have those comments in," he said.

The proposed landfill is presently a gravel-mining pit owned by the Holloway Construction Co. The owners are hoping to fill the pit with construction waste such as tree stumps and concrete to create a type III landfill.

The Arbor Hills facility, located on Six Mile and Napier, is operated by Browning-Ferris Industries and is a type II landfill, which general waste.

Goss said last week the approval of another landfill so close to the BFI site posed a threat to the environment. She recently sent Township

Emotional moment

Last Wednesday was a special day at Northville High School. A self-esteem program came to the school in the person of Laurie Stewart, a motivational speaker. Above, students share feelings during an opening assembly the day of the program. Stewart's presentation was part of the Red Ribbon Week activities throughout town. For more on the assembly see page 6A.

Northville church opens doors to homeless

Homeless welcomed to shelter

By STEVE KELLMAN

It looked like any typical church supper at Our Lady of Victory Church in Northville.

The 60 people stood to say grace, bowing their heads as they did, then they filed cheerfully to the kitchen for their dinners of lasagna and garlic bread, the men allowing the women and children to go first.

But the majority of these people were men, most of them were black and all of them had no place to call home. They traveled back to Detroit each morning, to walk the streets looking for jobs or housing, returning to Our Lady of Victory church at night for a place to sleep.

The 60 people were participating in a program to provide night shelter for the homeless of Detroit. The program was initiated by the Cass Homeless Drop-in Center on Cass Avenue in Detroit, a day shelter which cooperates with area churches to provide someplace other than the streets for these people to sleep.

After supper, several of the guests stood waiting to use the pay phone in the stairwell of the church. People called friends, acquaintances and would be landlords, seeking a friendly voice, a place to work, a place to call home again.

Several people called their children, who were staying with friends or relatives while their parents lived in the homeless shelters and looked for a new place to live.

Later in the evening, the guests played a rousing game of Bingo, shouting in excitement when they won. Afterwards, they watched movies with their friends, family and children. "Who Framed Roger Rabbit" was a big hit among the younger ones.

In a corner, a man sat softly strumming on an electric guitar lent to the church by a parishioner, while a friend accompanied him on the church piano.

This scene was repeated for seven days last week, until the participants had to move on to their next temporary home.

MARY'S STORY

Mary Young, 33, who called out numbers during the Bingo game, was living at the shelter with her 9-month-old son, Andre, and her daughter, Latisha, who is 10. "This is my third week at the shelter," she said. "I was renting a home and I got cut off ADC (Aid to Dependent Children) and I had no other income to pay the rent. So I was evicted."

Mary's story is like that of many of the homeless, who are evicted from their homes for a variety of reasons. Mary lost her ADC, she said, because she never received a form from them that she was supposed to fill out and return. "I didn't know I was cut off until I called," she said. "So now they're giving me a big hassle getting back on."

The problem for Mary now is that, since she was evicted, she has no address other than that of the Cass shelter. But the state requires ADC recipients to have a permanent address. "They say you're supposed to

Commissioner reviewed after early exit

By MIKE TYREE

The chairperson of the township planning commission has asked for the dismissal of planning Commissioner Barbara O'Brien after O'Brien abruptly left a recent meeting.

Commission Chairperson Charles DeLand said Monday that he sent a letter March 1 to Supervisor Georgina Goss detailing his complaints against O'Brien.

Goss said the letter from DeLand has prompted a review of O'Brien's conduct.

"In fact, I have contacted the township attorney," she said. "He (Ernest Essad) is researching the grounds available under state statutes for removing planning commissioners."

DeLand said his letter was prompted by O'Brien's departure from the planning commission's Feb. 27 regular meeting. The commission had only five of nine members present that evening — the others had been previously excused — and O'Brien's exit forced the meeting to cease because of a lack of a voting quorum.

"It was irresponsible to leave the meeting," DeLand said. "I felt it was time to bring it to the attention of the supervisor."

But O'Brien said she left the meeting at 11:40 p.m. after telling DeLand that she could not stay "all night."

"I had another thing I had to attend very early in the morning," she said. "I told him when I first came in."

DeLand said he did not recall O'Brien mentioning that she wanted to leave early. He said Planning and Zoning Administrator Carol Maisie told him at a 10 p.m. break O'Brien was leaving.

"Carol came to me with a surpris-

Township adopts code of ethics

By MIKE TYREE

An ethics policy meant to govern officials and employees of Northville Township was adopted by the Township Board March 8.

The ethics policy, a five-page document designed to "minimize conflict among existing policies," was drafted by township attorney Ernest Essad Jr., and is the final step in a list of recommendations Essad made to the board in the wake of a gun sale investigation involving former Police Chief Kenneth Hardesty last December.

Essad's investigation concluded that Hardesty illegally sold a township Glock Model 19 semiautomatic handgun to Clerk

Thomas L.P. Cook and led Hardesty to resign his position Dec. 12.

Essad said the policy he authored is similar to codes of conduct used throughout the state.

"There are all kinds of ethics codes floating around," he said. "This is almost identical to the one that has been put in Plymouth Township."

The ethics policy defines guidelines on the receipt of gifts and favors to elected and appointed officials, as well as salaried employees.

Included in the policy are stipulations which forbid a public officer (an elected or appointed official of the township), contractor, or employee of the township from divulging con-

Organizer calls event a success

By STEVE KELLMAN

As the participants in the homeless shelter project in Northville settle in at another church, Our Lady of Victory parishioner and project organizer Anne Bright recalls last week's events with a mixture of poignancy and pride.

"As far as I'm concerned, the whole project was just beautiful," Bright said. "It exceeded my expectations, and in my experience there has been no other project in this church that has drawn more people together."

Bright estimated that more than 400 of the parishioners participated in the program in one way or another. "The last night, so many people came in with extra desserts, we thought we would give the people a sugar overdose from all the cookies, cake and doughnuts," she said, laughing.

Other Northville churches have expressed an interest in future involvement with the program, she added.

When the program was over on Sunday, several of the participants stayed at the church to clean up. Bright recalled "Our church was spotless when they left," she said.

After the clean-up, Bright drove the crew to their new "home," the Zion Methodist Church on the east side of Detroit, where they would spend the next seven days. "To go to this new church and watch them unpacking their mattresses, their sleeping things and the bags with all their possessions all over again, it just gave me an empty feeling," Bright said. "To think that they were just starting all over again was an eerie feeling to me."

NEWS BRIEFS

DEPARTMENT OF CORRECTIONS — The Northville Record incorrectly reported that at the WLAA Swimming Meet on March 2, the Mustang tankers were shut out (no top-six finishes) in the 100-yard breaststroke. The team was actually shutout in the 100 backstroke event.

Also in last week's edition, the wrong telephone number appeared in Mary Ellen King's column. Northville Youth Assistance is looking for male volunteers to help lend support and friendship to boys referred to the program. Call 344-1618 to volunteer.

CLARIFICATION — The story on toll-free tax help numbers which appeared on page 23A of last week's Record, included some non-800 numbers. Those numbers are to Lansing exchanges and must be preceded by the 1-517 area code. We regret any inconvenience.

SPRING STORYTIME — Northville Public Library's Spring Preschool Storytime registration will begin on Thursday, March 22. Children, 3½ to 5 years old, and not yet in kindergarten, may enroll for either of the 10:30 a.m. or 1 p.m. programs which will take place on Wednesdays, April 4 through May 16. There will be no storytime on April 18. Parents are asked to remain in the library during these half hour sessions. To register, visit the library or call 349-3020.

CHARITY DANCE — Northville High School students will be participating in an overnight charity dance from 8 p.m. March 16 until 8 a.m. March 17.

The dance is intended to raise funds for the Alzheimer's Association and the Northville Action Council. According to Manpreet Bagga, a senior at NHS, students need to raise pledges in the amount of at least $3 per hour to participate in the 12-hour spectacle. Students are attempting to raise $10,000 for the groups.

Bagga said the evening's entertainment would include dancing, volleyball and swimming. Magicians and a hypnotist will also be on hand.

For more information on the charity dance, contact Lee LaChance, president of the student congress, at 348-9077, or at the high school, 344-8420.

City planners adopt formal bylaws

By STEVE KELLMAN

With much discussion but little fanfare, the Northville City Planning Commission unanimously adopted a formal set of bylaws last Tuesday.

The adoption followed an announcement by Planning Consultant Don Wortman that the commission was required by the state to have its own set of bylaws.

Wortman had alerted the commission to the fact they were technically in violation of state law without a formally adopted set of bylaws. The planning commission had previously relied on the city's ordinances and the venerable Robert's Rules of Order for much of its operating procedures.

Most of the new bylaws, like those of most other communities, still come from those two sources.

The adoption also clears up several recent points of contention among the members, including the need for a formal set of bylaws and the role of liaison and audience members in planning commission discussions.

Under the new bylaws, the commission's agenda will have a designated time for audience comments, which are to be "limited to brief presentations of matters not on the agenda." After that, the commission will hear reports from the city administration, city council and other liaisons, as well as from other commissioners.

Audience comments regarding matters on the agenda itself will be handled at the discretion of the commission chairman.

After hearing audience and other comments, the planning commission will hold any public hearings, hear site plan and zoning change applications, and deal with other commission business, in that order. But if necessary, the order of business can be revised by an affirmative vote of a majority of the members present at any given meeting, to accommodate speakers or save time.

The bylaws also set the vote required for approval of a site plan and other commission business. In most cases, an affirmative vote from a majority of the members present will be required for approval.

Amendment of the bylaws themselves will require the affirmative vote of at least five of the commissioners.

Landfill resolution heightens concerns

Manager Richard Henningsen to an Oakland County public hearing on the proposed landfill to relate the township's concern over the Novi site.

"The last thing this area needs is another landfill," she said then.

However, Goss was out of town and did not attend the March 8 board meeting.

Handyside, an executive vice-president with K&D Industrial Services, a waste management company in Romulus, said he has spent "30 years in this business" and said the wording in the resolution amounted to "emotion as opposed to fact."

To gain his support for the resolution, Handyside said the board would have to remove the statement "There is contaminated groundwater in the vicinity of the landfill in Salem Township" from the document.

"I refuse to bend to the emotional issue here," Handyside said. "This implies that the sole cause of groundwater contamination is the (Salem Township) landfill. It has nothing to do with Novi."

Handyside also asked for changes in another portion of the resolution. A statement which read, "The proposed landfill will have a profound impact on the quality of life for Northville Township residents..." was changed to "The proposed landfill will have an impact on the quality of life for Northville Township residents with no effort to investigate these effects."

The board voted 6-0 in favor of the changes proposed by Handyside.

Goss was asked Tuesday about the changes in the resolution.

"Quite obviously, Mr. Handyside does not live on the west side of the township," she said. "I live within a half mile of the Six Mile and Napier landfill and the quality of residents' lives in that area is impacted."

Drunk driver charged after failing sobriety tests

A Westland man was arrested and charged with drunk driving by Northville City Police March 9, after driving off Main Street onto the grounds of the former Ford Valve Plant. The accident occurred at 11:45 p.m.

According to the police investigation, the man was traveling west on Main in a friend's pickup truck when he drove off the road onto the grass, striking a park bench in the process. From the tire tracks in the grass, it appeared that the man continued driving across the grass and the parking lot entrance until he struck a light pole, wrapping the truck around it.

A witness to the accident who heard the truck strike the pole reported that the driver then tried to rock the truck free, to no avail. When Northville police arrived on the scene, the man reportedly ran, stumbling once and falling onto his back after trying to climb a cement wall on the west side of the plant. The police followed him in their car until he tripped, then confronted the man, who swore at them repeatedly and was generally uncooperative.

According to the police, the man had a strong odor of intoxicants on his breath, his fly was open, and he failed several sobriety tests.

After placing the man under arrest and running a computer check on him, police found warrants for the man's arrest in both Westland and Farmington Hills. The man had been previously convicted of operating a vehicle under the influence of liquor. He refused to submit to a breathalyzer test, was released on $500 bond and transported to the Farmington Hills police department.

WHEN THE MUSIC'S OVER — Northville City Police received two reports of car radios stolen from Novi Road last week. A $200 radio was reported stolen out of a car parked in a garage under the building at 895 Novi Road between 10:30 a.m. on March 5 and 8:30 a.m. on March 6. The factory-installed AM/FM stereo cassette player with a LED display was stolen out of a Plymouth Colt. Though the owner was sure the car's doors were locked beforehand, both doors were found unlocked after the incident.

Those same days, between 8 p.m. and 8:15 a.m., a radio was stolen from a car parked underneath the covered parking at 913 Novi Road. The radio was valued at $170 and described as a black Sanyo AM/FM stereo cassette player with six LED push buttons. Also stolen was a pair of white and red Grandoe ski gloves valued at $55. The car's driver side door was reportedly unlocked at the time of the incident.

RENT-A-WRECK — A Marlborough, N.H. man reported to city police that the passenger side window of his rental car was broken March 6 at 6 p.m. while he sat at the traffic light on Novi Road. The man was waiting to turn east onto Eight Mile Road when the incident occurred. The man did not see anyone after the incident, and no projectile was found.

Medicine paid with tax credit

Michigan's new prescription-drug tax credit will help older people with low incomes pay for their prescription drugs.

The credit helps seniors pay for their medication if:

- They are 65 or older and spent at least 5 percent of household income on prescription drugs in 1989.
- Single seniors having a household income of less than $8,970.
- Married seniors having a household income of less than $12,030.

The maximum credit for a single person is $600, while married seniors are allowed up to $1,200. The actual amount of credit received depends on the number of people filing claims.

The Special Bulletin, prepared by the Michigan Office of Services to the Aging and mailed to senior centers statewide, contains many questions frequently asked about the credit.

Those interested must file a prescription drug credit claim form by June 1. The form recently was mailed to more than 135,000 senior homes by the Michigan Department of Treasury, as part of the Home Heating Tax Credit booklet. They also may be ordered by calling a special toll-free number, 1-800-367-6263, or the Michigan Office of Services to the Aging, (517) 373-8230. In addition, they are available at Secretary of State and Treasury offices.

FAST FOOD — Northville City Police investigated a break-in between March 8 and 9 at the American Legion Hall at the corner of Center and West Dunlap. The windows in the rear door of the hall were found broken at 10:30 a.m. on March 9, according to the city police reports. Inside, a piece of pizza was found near a microwave oven. But no money was reported taken from two "Building Fund" containers that were sitting out on a counter. "It appears someone was just hungry," the report read.

KNOCK, KNOCK, KNOCKING ... — Northville City Police received a report of an attempted break-in at a vacant condominium serving as a Realty office on Boulder Circle. The attempt was reported at 12:52 p.m. on March 11. The front door of the office appeared to have been kicked in, while the office door itself had been kicked but had not given way. An estimated $50 in damage was done to the doors.

FENDER-BENDER — City police reported at least one accident in the past week. A Morley, Mich., man driving east on Eight Mile at 4:15 on March 11 reportedly attempted to turn right onto Taft Road from the left lane, striking another car. The accident was witnessed by two other drivers, and the man was cited for making an improper turn.

ARMED AND APPARENTLY READY FOR AN INFANTRY CHARGE — Township police said a Whisper Court resident reported the theft of a collection of guns and bayonets. The theft occurred sometime between 8:30 a.m. and 2:45 p.m. March 6. Reported stolen were a 7.7 mm Japanese rifle; a 6.5 mm Italian rifle; a Japanese bayonet; an Italian bayonet; and four Swedish bayonets. A dual cassette player was also stolen.

HEEEERE'S MEIJER — A 19-year old Novi resident was arrested at Meijer, 20401 Haggerty, and charged with stealing a carton of cigarettes and a bottle of vodka. The incident occurred March 4 at 12:18 a.m.

Also at Meijer, a 21-year old Detroit resident was arrested March 5 at 4:32 a.m. after attempting to steal a pair of tennis shoes.

Parking lot woes at Meijer continued March 9 when an employee's 1988 Mustang received scratches on its driver side door sometime between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. Township police said they had no suspects in the case.

FEELING KIND OF LOW — Police apprehended an 18-year-old suspect in the slaying of four automobile tires at a business at 43334 Seven Mile early March 2.

SHATTERING DISCOVERY — Township police received a report that the driver door window on a Ford Escort parked at a residence on Sunnyside had been smashed sometime between 5 p.m. and 2 a.m.

March 3. The window was valued at $125.

THIEF NABBED — A resident of Swan Harbor Apartments arrived home at approximately 8:40 p.m. March 9 and heard noises as he entered his apartment, according to township police. The resident realized the apartment had been burglarized and saw a group of white males nearby with his property. Township police were summoned and apprehended a 17-year old Plymouth male in possession of some of the stolen property.

Sgt. John Sherman of the township police said a large amount of the stolen property was recovered at the scene and that a pair of suspects were being investigated. Sherman said a cash bond of $10,000 has been set for the arrested man.

fidential information to an unauthorized person; from representing his or her personal opinion as opinion of the township; from the misuse of funds or property under the person's care; and from accepting or soliciting "a gift or loan of money, goods, services, or other thing of value from persons receiving benefits from the township..."

Essad said township personnel could not face criminal charges for violating the ethics code. However, he said the code falls under the guidelines of the township employee policies and procedures umbrella and affected persons could be dismissed for abusing provisions of the code.

A portion of the code which allows public officers to accept employment or render services for a public or private interest is in accordance with state guidelines, Essad said.

He said the public officers — usually those with the bulk of the decision-making power — could be exempt from portions of the code if the officer is not paid for working more than 25 hours per week and offers a prompt disclosure of any "personal, contractual, financial, business, or employment interest he or she may have in the governmental decision and the disclosure is made part of the public record" among other provisions.

According to the policy, the township board will act as a Board of Ethics. If a member of the board is the subject of an investigation, the code states that the member "shall be excused from participating in any discussion or governmental decision relating thereto."

The Board of Ethics will investigate potential wrongdoing under the advisement of the township attorney and results of the investigation, with recommendations, then go to an appointing authority (supervisor and township board).

The appointing authority would then have the final say

At the end of the assembly students were encouraged to come forward to share feelings

Drug abuse discussed tonight

Tonight's meeting of the Northville Action Council will feature Ted Klom, the student assistance training coordinator for Howell public schools. He will speak on how he achieved very strong community involvement and support for his self-esteem and drug awareness program. Klom and officials from Eastern Michigan University have led five-day seminars entitled "Substance Abuse in the Family" and "Advanced Group Facilitation" for the Livingston County schools. He is involved in various other substance abuse awareness programs such as PIPFEST (Partners in Prevention). The meeting will take place tonight, March 15 at 7 p.m. at Northville City Hall in the council chamber. The public is welcome.

Confidence booster

Speaker motivates high schoolers

By MIKE TYREE

"When you come up here, feel comfortable sharing," the speaker urged the audience.

With that, a seemingly endless string of Northville High School students moved to the front of the crowded auditorium and shared some hopes and fears — and more than a few tears — with their classmates.

The students were reacting, with ample emotion, to the words of Laurie Stewart, a motivational speaker tabbed by school organizations to highlight Pride Day, March 7.

Stewart, relating personal stories, anecdotes and observations, held students and faculty alike captive for three hours last Wednesday, all in an attempt to improve the self-esteem of her audience.

Her dynamic presence easily sliced through the facade of teen-age composure and confidence and sent tears streaming down the faces of a surprising amount of the young people at the assembly.

Students took turns with Stewart's microphone and told their peers of their pains, stopping time and again to thank their friends for being there when they needed someone.

The assembly took on an atmosphere of a large-scale encounter session, with students handing out thunderous, supportive applause each time one of their friends choked on the emotion of their own words.

And as the allotted time for the assembly waned, Stewart led the group through a mantra of feel-good self-assurance.

"I'm not alone . . . I am responsible for what I am . . . I shall not blame you for my failures . . ." she said, as the vast majority of those in the audience followed along.

What was it that the slim, unassuming woman from Kalamazoo did to cause such an eruption of deep emotion in a crowd of young people?

"The kids just found someone to talk to them honestly," said Charlie Stilec, student assistance program coordinator at the high school. "She showed them she was as vulnerable as they are, and got the feeling across that people really do care."

Assistant Superintendent of Instructional Services Dolly McMaster was swept along in the tide of good feelings.

"Even the cynics in the room were moved," she said. "I think we need to continue to have programs like this."

McMaster said the structure of society today leaves young people open to many problems which could be avoided with a more stable home environment.

"Kids are the casualties of parents parenting less," she said. "You can see by today's activities that there is a void in kids' lives."

Stewart agreed with McMaster's assessment of kids today.

"They need structure," she said. "I think they listen to me because I try to be transparent with them. I'm open and vulnerable to them."

Stewart, who has been in the motivational speaking business five years, said she simply likes to talk and likes kids and her enthusiasm for both is evident in her speeches.

"I feel I can share with them the mistakes I've made," she said. "I have a passion and feel that's what I'm supposed to do."

Young people are being "brain-washed every day" by such things as music, soap operas and the materialism of society, Stewart said.

"The attitude of people walking over people is (disturbing)," she said. "Young people especially need positive influences and someone to show faith in them."

TIPS FROM TUCKKLAPER Novi Dental Center

A. Allen Tuckklaper

INFECTION FOLLOWING SURGERY

If you undergo any kind of an operation in a hospital, you normally spend time in "recovery" where you are carefully cared for to insure no "post-op" infection develops. A dentist does not have this luxury (nor does the patient). If a surgical procedure is done (such as an extraction), the patient normally leaves the office with verbal or printed instructions about what to do or not to do to prevent infection and promote healing. If you ignore the instructions, you may be flirting with the possibility of post-procedure infection.

Signs of infection would be pain, swelling, and perhaps a feverish feeling. Swelling after surgery doesn't necessarily mean you have an infection, as some swelling is normal. But if it keeps getting bigger, feels warm and firm and is painful, see your dentist immediately.

He may put you on an antibiotic, or he may have to open and clean out your wound. Do not take the attitude that it will probably get better by itself. It may, but if it doesn't, it's going to be harder and longer to treat later.

Homeless seek empty units

By STEVE KELLMAN

Like many of the homeless who participated in Our Lady of Victory's shelter project last week, Lehman Finch has spent more than a few days not knowing where he'll be the next night. But through his work with the Homeless Union in Detroit, Lehman hopes to assure that fewer city residents will be forced to take to the shelters or the streets. Lehman, 57, has been without a permanent job since 1985. He has been living in the Cass Homeless Drop-in shelter for the past month because he couldn't afford to heat his home. He isn't choosy about the type of job he'll take, either. "I'm trying to find anything someone will give me," he said, "and I've been steadily looking." Lehman fears that his age might be a barrier to employment. "People don't hire a person that age," he said.

sunshine." As he explained, "At some churches, it's like, 'Now don't forget the favor we done you.' But here, I feel welcome."

Roy has been without a job for the past three months, and he's not happy about it. But even when he had a job doing maintenance work, the bills and expenses piled up faster than the paychecks.

He frowns when considering his situation, and his eyebrows seem permanently furrowed.

Between paying the bus fare to his job, buying lunch and paying the heat and electric bills, there was nothing left, Roy said. "You're working, but in a sense, you're still on welfare," he said. "It's just practically impossible. It discourages you, it just knocks you down."

The people involved with the church program provide a different atmosphere, Roy said. "It gives you hope to think that there are really people out there who care."

William Ashley agrees, saying that the program has done a lot for his self-esteem. He seems happy, and has many friends among the other participants.

The program has also helped open other people's eyes to the plight of the homeless, William said. "A lot of people are just not aware of the homeless situation. They hear about it on the radio, they hear it on the news, but once they get around them they realize that they're fellow human beings."

William was born in Mississippi, he said, and has been living in Detroit since 1977. He hopes to return to Mississippi one day. "I like getting up in the morning and hearing the chickens holler instead of an ambulance or police car," he said. "But eventually I'll get home, and I'll have a story to tell!"

Ashley also has an intriguing suggestion to make sure that government agencies are more sensitive to the needs of the homeless, and to the needs of people in general. "I feel there should be more church people in politics," he said, smiling.

MOVING OUT

Frank Hamilton, 60, has reason to be bitter as well.

Frank was a union member of the United State Coal Storage Company in Detroit for 18 years, until the company moved out to Taylor, he said. "I had other jobs, but all the jobs are relocating — moving out," he said. "You can't get out there, you can't get transportation."

Frank does admit that there was one positive aspect to the timing of his plight. "At least my kids were grown," he said. "I would have hate to have thought of something like that happening when they were home."

School addition plan causes stir among local residents

By STEVE KELLMAN

Northville Public School officials turned out in force at last Tuesday's planning commission meeting to push for site plan approval of an addition to their central office at 501 Main Street.

But when push came to shove, several Cady Street residents spoke out forcefully against the plan. While the commission granted preliminary site plan approval of the addition, commissioners also suggested several changes before the plan would be eligible for final approval.

The proposal is for a new maintenance and operations facility at the school building. The 9,637-square-foot addition would be built behind the present elementary school educational service center, tucked into the inside corner of the L-shaped building.

The addition would provide workrooms and storage space for plumbing, heating, cooling, electrical and carpentry services for the entire school district.

The builders would use the same type of brick now at the site, and paint the structure "to blend the addition right into the building," in the words of John Argenta. Argenta is with the Southfield engineering firm of Coquillard, Dundon, Peterson & Argenta, who are designing the addition.

George Bell, superintendent of the school district, presented the proposal to the commission, saying, "We are here to talk about the latest rendition for the Main Street building." The addition would basically replace services now provided out of the Cooke School on Taft Road, he said.

Also in the audience were school board member Jean Hansen, and assistant superintendents Dolly McMaster and Burton Knighton.

The addition is necessary because Cooke School is being reconverted into a middle school after several years of vacancy, Bell said. "We have gradually had to utilize all the space in the district to service the kids."

Bell said the addition, and the departure of the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) office now located in the building, should ease the amount of noise and traffic at the site. While the DNR currently has more than a dozen state vehicles on the site, Bell estimated that the school would only need six work-related vehicles at that location.

Those vehicles would be primarily carpentry trucks and vans, Bell said, not maintenance equipment like dump trucks or snowplows.

"There'll be considerably less traffic," he promised. "Most of our traffic is in deliveries to (other) buildings and not deliveries to a Main Street building such as this."

Construction of the addition will also require removal of the rough-hewn wooden structure presently located on the site, which has housed a freezer for food storage. Bell said the play structures, swings and old wires now located on the site would also be removed under the plan.

The school also plans to install better drainage to correct some long-standing drainage problems in the parking lot to the south of the site.

"We think this will make a major improvement to the appearance of the building," Bell said, "as well as serve the needs of the district."

Despite Bell's projections, several residents had questions and criticism of the plan and the site itself.

"I have lived here for 43 years, and I have put up with a lot from the school system," said Mrs. George Kohs, a Cady Street resident. "I can't see why they would even consider putting this sort of thing right in the heart of town."

Kohs' complaints were primarily with the history of the site, the noise now generated by the vehicles that now use the facility and the appearance of the Cady Street area.

James Huff, another Cady Street

Record/CHRIS BOYD

The south side of the School Board offices facing Cady Street resident, questioned why the school district couldn't use another site for the same use in a less-populated area.

"This is light industry he's talking about, and that's not allowed in a residential area," he said.

The city officials did not fully agree with Huff's description, because the addition is for the use of the school district alone and would represent such a small percentage of the existing 86,800-square-foot buildings.

But they had several suggestions and some criticism of their own.

Planning Consultant Don Wortman suggested several changes to the site plans, including additional fencing for the site, prohibiting outdoor storage of any materials except for a screened storage area for trash, and limiting the time of deliveries and the size of delivery vehicles.

Wortman also recommended requiring the school district to install some sort of screen along the property lines, such as a landscaped berm. This suggestion was echoed by several of the commissioners as well.

The commissioners also suggested moving a loading bay door from the south side of the addition to its east side, to lessen the noise to the south of the site. But according to the school officials, such a move would be impractical because of the slope down the parking lot on the east side.

"The drainage problem is something that the property owner has to fix, and that's primarily an enforcement problem," said Commissioner Stephen Ball. "I'm not entirely convinced this operation has to go here."

"Certainly some landscaping needs to be done along Cady Street," said Commissioner Kathleen Otton. David Totten agreed, describing the Cady Street area of the school property as "kind of a shabby back yard."

School plan worked on

By STEVE KELLMAN

While the Northville Public Schools seek an addition to their 501 Main Street administration building, the city's planning commission has sent their proposal back to the drawing board before granting final approval of the plan.

The proposal is for a relatively-small addition to the existing building, to house maintenance operations for the school district.

Superintendent George Bell described the icy reception the proposal got at this week's school board meeting.

He characterized many of the concerns voiced by city residents at the meeting as unfounded.

Bell rejected the thought by one resident that the addition amounts to an industrial use of the site. "The workshop in my basement is more comprehensive than anything there," he said.

The planning commission is seeking the inclusion of a landscaped berm and changes to the exterior lighting at the site, as well as a change in the location of a loading bay door on the addition.

Though he said the school should be able to meet most of the planning commission's requests, Bell rejected the suggestion to move the loading bay door.

Bell explained the school's position in greater detail in a letter to the school board. "The berm and the lighting can be accommodated; however, the change in the entry involves considerable complications which make such a prospect impracticable from the view of the architect."

A public hearing on the cooperative agreement would probably be scheduled for March 26, he added.

The agreement serves as a funding and administrative tool for joint township/city programs, including Senior Citizens, Youth Assistance, community recreation and public library services.

Funds are provided through the program based on the respective state equalized valuations (SEV) of the communities. However, the city will be responsible for equitable payments for only 25,000 square feet of the proposed Haller complex.

The township will shoulder the cost of the building's remaining 19,800 square feet, under terms of the agreement.

"It's (now) probably as fair as it could be."

— James Nowka,
Township trustee

Township trustee James Nowka said he felt the two communities would have an official agreement soon.

"They (city) had a concern with the proper settlement . . . of equity," he said. "It's (now) probably as fair as it could be."

CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF NORTHVILLE AMENDMENT TO ZONING ORDINANCE NO. 77-04-90

THE CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF NORTHVILLE ORDAINS:

PART 1. The Charter Township of Northville Zoning Ordinance No. 77 as amended is hereby further amended by amending Article XV, Section 15.13 OFF STREET PARKING SPACE LAYOUT, STANDARDS, CONSTRUCTION AND MAINTENANCE (parking lot trees).

THE CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF NORTHVILLE ORDAINS:

Section 1 AMENDMENT TO SECTION 22 DEFINITIONS

Section 22 paragraph 15 is hereby amended to read as follows:

15. Caliper is the diameter of a tree trunk, measured at a point which is six (6) inches above ground level for trees up to and including four (4) inch caliper size or, measured at a point which is twelve (12) inches above ground level for larger trees.

Section 2 AMENDMENT TO SECTION 15.13 OFF STREET PARKING SPACE LAYOUT, STANDARDS, CONSTRUCTION AND MAINTENANCE.

Section 15.13 paragraph 12 is hereby amended to read as follows:

12. The parking area shown on the site plan shall include a tree location plan subject to the following conditions:

a. Trees shall be of the large deciduous type, not less than two and one-half (2 1/2) inch caliper.

b. In an I-1 Industrial District one (1) such tree shall be required for each three thousand (3,000) square feet of the total of the paved driveway and parking lot surface. In all other districts, one tree shall be required for each two thousand (2,000) square feet of paved driveway and parking lot surface, provided that no less than two (2) trees are provided.

c. Trees shall be distributed evenly throughout the parking area and each tree shall be provided with an open land area of not less than one hundred fifty (150) square feet to provide area for infiltration and with a minimum diameter of six (6) feet at the trunk of the tree for protection. If irrigation is provided, the open land area can be reduced to no less than seventy five (75) square feet. Tree plantings shall also be protected from automobiles with curbing or other suitable device.

d. Trees shall be planted prior to the issuance of a Final Certificate of Occupancy and shall be maintained in a healthy, growing condition.

PART II. Conflicting Provisions Repealed.

Any Ordinance or part of Ordinances in conflict herewith are repealed save that in all other respects Ordinance No. 77, as amended, is hereby ratified and reaffirmed.

PART III. Effective Date:

The provisions of this ordinance shall be in full force and effective immediately upon publication.

PART IV. Adoption.

SPRING FINE FESTIVAL

Record/CHRIS BOYD

Author details her road to success

By LESLIE PEREIRA

A Livonia author delighted an audience of 188 at the fourth annual Book and Author Luncheon with tales of the long, bumpy road to publishing her first book.

"It was 16 years and four books, before my fifth book got an offer to be published," said S.K. Wolf (a.k.a. Sara Wolf) speaking at the Nov. 1 luncheon to benefit the Northville, Novi, Plymouth and Canton public libraries. Each library's Friends group sponsored the combined luncheon event.

Despite the start, the writing business for Wolf now, seems to be smooth sailing. Her second published book, "The Harbinger Effect," an international spy novel, was selected as an alternate by the Book of the Month Club.

Wolf herself, however, seems an unlikely author of an international spy thriller.

As a mother, grandmother and librarian, it is hard to see where Wolf is able to spin such tales of intrigue.

But take a closer look and you find a determined woman who has lived abroad for several years and has done extensive traveling.

Three years in the Greek Islands, two years in Turkey with a math-teaching husband and visits to a daughter in the Peace Corps in Africa, were more than sufficient to give Wolf the backdrops she needs for her globe-spanning stories.

"The only place I had to travel for purposes of the book was Toronto," Wolf laughed.

Wolf's speech "Is Anyone Out There?" was a reference to the years of publishing rejections when she thought her stuff was not even getting read.

"A person can get the feeling that there really isn't anybody out there," Wolf said. "It seems like manuscripts are just sent out somewhere, where they are held for about 10 months and then sent back with coffee stains."

Wolf said aspiring authors need a "certain kind of stubbornness" because they receive a lot of rejections.

In the almost exclusively male-dominated field of suspense writing, Wolf said, "The problem comes up because I am a woman." The publisher of her most recent book, Simon and Schuster, did not want her to use her real name and did not want her picture on the book jacket.

Although it initially bothered her to work without her first name, Wolf said she met a 6-foot-tall Texas man who wrote romance novels under the name Jennifer Wilde, and it eventually became less of an issue.

Wolf's next novel, "MacKinnon's Machine," will be out in the fall.

A question from the audience asking how she knew when to end her novels, drew this response from Wolf:

"The time to stop is when the readers know what will happen to the characters after that point," she said in completing her speech.

NO FEE HOME EQUITY LOANS.

NO MATTER WHAT YOU WANT TO BUY, THERE'S ONLY ONE WAY TO BORROW.

Now you can borrow from $5,000 to $30,000 and save up to $500 on fees.

Whether you need money to buy a new car or boat, pay for college, improve your home, or consolidate bills, an Almost Instant Home Equity Loan is the way to borrow.

And the time to borrow is now because we've eliminated annual fees, closing costs and points. And even better, the interest you pay is tax deductible. (See your tax advisor for information related to your situation.)

CHOOSE A FIXED OR VARIABLE RATE.

With a fixed rate loan, you can borrow up to $30,000 and get a term from one to seven years. It lets you lock in an interest rate with fixed payments that fit your budget. A variable rate Home Equity Loan is really an open line of credit. Once you qualify, you never have to apply again. When you need money, it's as simple as writing a check.

CHECK QUESTIONS AND FASTER ANSWERS.

There's a reason we call our Home Equity Loans Almost Instant. We ask fewer questions and we give you faster answers, usually in 24 hours or less. In most instances, you'll get your money in seven business days.

So, if you need a loan for any reason, there's every reason to get an Almost Instant Home Equity Loan. Only at a Security Bancorp Bank.

Home Equity Loans are also available for $30,000-$100,000 with no fees.

Obituaries

BESSIE E. COOK

Mrs. Bessie E. Cook, of Northville, died March 9 at Farmington Nursing Home in Farmington Hills.

Mrs. Cook was born on Nov. 25, 1920 to Martin Elias and Rose Hauacheck of Green, Minn.

She came to the Northville area in 1981 from Detroit. She was a homemaker.

Mrs. Cook is survived by her husband of 48 years, Robert M. Cook. Also surviving are daughters, Patricia Van Dommelen of Brighton, Minette Grow of Troy, Libby Graham of Royal Oak, and Regina Brodersen of Northville, brothers John Elias of Minneapolis, Minn., Jerry Elias of Hibbing, Minn., and James Elias of Minneapolis, Minn., sisters, Regina Champa of Placerville, Calif. and Evelyn Allen of Minneapolis, Minn., and five grandsons.

Mrs. Cook was a member of the Bushnell Congregational Church and Meadowbrook Congregational Church.

There will be a memorial service tonight, March 15 at 7:30 p.m. at the Meadowbrook Congregational Church, 21355 Meadowbrook Road in Novi. Officiating will be the Rev. E. Neil Hunt and the Rev. Steven Ware Bailey of Bushnell Congregational Church.

Memorial contributions would be appreciated to the Meadowbrook Congregational Church or the Bushnell Congregational Church. Arrangements were made by the Ross B. Northrop & Son Funeral Home in Northville.

RONALD MICHAEL NOWLAND

Mr. Ronald Michael Nowland, 29, died suddenly, March 6, in Orange Park, Fla.

Mr. Nowland lived in the Northville area for many years before moving to Florida. He attended Northville High School.

He was a veteran of the United States Navy, serving on the U.S.S. Saratoga, a Navy aircraft carrier, from 1977-1981.

Mr. Nowland was self-employed, owning a landscape company, and was a professional tree trimmer.

Surviving Mr. Nowland is his son, Benjamin of Orange Park, Fla.; mother, Janice Smith-Nowland of Northville; father, Gerald Nowland of Millford; brothers, Jerry Nowland of South Lyon, David Nowland of Novi and Jeffrey Nowland of Northville; grandmothers, Virginia Smith of Northville and Bernice Nowland of New Boston.

Services were held Saturday, March 10 at the Ross B. Northrop & Son Funeral Home of Northville. Officiating was the Rev. Tim White. Arrangements were made by the Ross B. Northrop & Son Funeral Home in Northville.

GERTRUDE HATCHETT

Gertrude Hatchett, 45, of Northville died March 4 at University Hospital in Ann Arbor.

She was born Nov. 11, 1904 in Cleveland, Ark. Mrs. Hatchett lived in Northville for 48 years. She was affiliated with the First Presbyterian Church and the Northville Mothers' Club. She was retired from Ford Motor Co.

She is survived by her daughter, Marja Killeen of New Hudson; her sister, Willie Faye Nations of Morrilton, Ark.; her brother, Roy Scroggins of Morrilton, Ark.; three grandchildren; and six great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held March 7 at the Casterline Funeral Home in Northville. She was buried at Rural Hill Cemetery. Dr. Lawrence Chamberlain of the First Presbyterian Church officiated. Arrangements were made by the Casterline Funeral Home in Northville.

PATRICIA A. GUGEL

Mrs. Patricia A. Gugel, of Northville, died March 6 at the University of Michigan Hospital, in Ann Arbor. Mrs. Gugel's husband Paul W. Gugel preceded her in death in 1983.

She was born Jan. 17, 1927, in Detroit to John E. Sullivan and Sarah McNeil.

Mrs. Gugel came to the Northville area in 1985 from Brighton. She was a coordinator of extension services at Schoolcraft College for 18 years. She retired in 1989.

She had a bachelor's in sociology from Marygrove College, and a master's degree in criminal justice from the University of Detroit.

Mrs. Gugel was a member of the Schoolcraft College Foundation and Nomads Club. She was also a member of St. Colette Catholic Church in Livonia, for many years.

She is survived by her sons, Craig Gugel of New York, Paul Gugel of Clarkston; daughter, Jeri Anne Mitchell of Lansing; sisters, Mary P. Sullivan of Sarasota, Fla., Cecilia Staffin of Livonia, Veronica Rose of Novi; and brother, Patrick E. Sullivan of Hobe Sound, Fla.

Services for Mrs. Gugel were held March 9 at St. Colette Catholic Church in Livonia. Rev. Father Bill Krol officiated at the Mass. Burial was at Holy Sepulchre Cemetery in Southfield.

Memorials would be appreciated to the Schoolcraft College Foundation or Mass offerings.

Arrangements were made by the Ross B. Northrop & Son Funeral Home.

COME TO QUALITY, VALUE & SERVICE

Quorum dissolved by departure

By MIKE TYREE

Planning commissioner Richard Allen was discussing a development proposed for a site near Haggerty Road at approximately 11:40 p.m. Feb. 27 when Chairperson Charles DeLand cut him off and engaged in a conversation with Commissioner Barbara O'Brien. The following is an excerpt of the recorded minutes of the meeting at township hall that led to DeLand's request that Supervisor Georgina Goss consider removing O'Brien from her planning commission post.

DeLand — "We are entering an issue of order here and if Barbara O'Brien insists on leaving, the meeting is terminated. We no longer have a quorum. Barbara, I respectfully request you to stay five more minutes."

O'Brien — "Well, you know Chuck, I've now stayed an hour and 10 minutes beyond what I'd told you."

DeLand — "I don't know what you told me."

O'Brien — "And I look at the clock so I don't know what else I can do for you. I can't stay all night. Now maybe somebody else that isn't here can show up and take the second shift."

PLANNING COMMISSIONER JOHN LEINONEN — "I think we've had ample discussion (to take a vote)."

PLANNING COMMISSIONER RICHARD ALLEN — "I want to make sure we're satisfied that we know what we're voting on."

According to O'Brien, she had by this time picked up her materials and was walking toward the meeting room exit. Allen, DeLand and planning consultant Claude Coates hurriedly attempted to formulate language for a vote on the site plan before them. The developers of Woodside Village were also in attendance.

DeLand called for a roll-call vote and commissioners Allen, DeLand, Leinonen and Jerry Chisnell voted to approve the revised planned residential unit development. O'Brien voted no and did not give a reason for her no vote, though township attorney Ernest Essad recommended in January that every no vote should come with an explanation as a hedge against possible litigation.

DeLand — "There is no motion to adjourn this meeting. The meeting is now terminated since Barbara O'Brien has elected to leave. There is no longer a quorum."

PLANNING AND ZONING ADMINISTRATOR CAROL MAISE — "We needed to schedule a public hearing (for a forthcoming proposed zoning change)."

The tape is shut off.

ed look on her face and said Barbara was leaving," DeLand said. "I told Barbara, 'You can't leave, we've got business to conduct here.'"

DeLand said he convinced O'Brien to stay, but during later discussion on a site review, she began to leave. "She simply pushed her chair back and was leaving," DeLand said.

The four remaining commissioners then decided to take a vote while O'Brien was still in the room. They voted to approve a qualification for a planned residential unit development for Woodside Village, a Haggerty Road development. O'Brien cast a no vote and did not elaborate — as recommended by the township attorney — as she walked out the door, DeLand said.

The meeting terminated without a motion to adjourn because of the lack of a quorum.

DeLand said his decision to ask the supervisor to take action against O'Brien was the culmination of a series of events.

"I listed several reasons in the letter," DeLand said. "The reasons included inattention, lack of progression as a planning commissioner, and not supplying legitimate reasons for no votes on planning issues."

Also at issue, according to Goss and DeLand, is an abstaining vote O'Brien made on a proposed cluster development option at the Jan. 30 meeting of the planning commission.

The bylaws and rules of procedure for planning commission members, as outlined in the Michigan Public Acts handbook, includes the passage: "All members of the Commission including the chairperson shall vote on all matters, but the chairperson shall vote last. Any member may be excused from voting only if that person has a bonafide conflict of interest as recognized by the majority of the remaining members of the Commission. Any member abstaining from a vote shall not participate in the discussion of that item."

O'Brien said she did not realize an abstaining vote was illegal and said the township attorney should be present at meetings to help commissioners who might have legal questions.

"If someone had said the vote was not legal, I wouldn't have voted that way," she said.

Goss said O'Brien should be aware of the rules and procedures of a planning commission.

"Mrs. O'Brien has been on the planning commission for well over a year," she said. "In January, our attorney gave a training session to the planning commission on the ethical and legal responsibilities of the position."

"If she has questions, she can ask the planning consultant, or planning and zoning administrator for help."

O'Brien said she has attended every meeting and has given "a thousand percent" to the planning job. Township records confirm that O'Brien has attended all 23 planning meetings between January 31, 1989 and Feb. 27.

DeLand said O'Brien has not performed to the level expected of a planning commissioner, as far as he is concerned.

"She has proven as a planning commissioner that she is not as effective as the others and not as effective as I think she should be," he said.

Goss appointed O'Brien to the planning post in December 1988.

The planning commission regularly meets at 7:30 p.m. on the last Tuesday of each month. Increased development in the township has necessitated added meeting dates, and meetings often last until 11 p.m. or midnight as the commission reviews site plans and other forms of development proposals.

Student writers honored

Three students from Meads Mill Middle School in Northville have been named local winners in the 21st annual America & Me Essay Contest, sponsored by Farm Bureau Insurance.

The three students, who earned the first, second- and third-place awards for their school, are Lisa Wagner — first, Chris Harrison — second, and Julie Romine — third. All received award certificates for their achievement. As the school's first-place winner, Lisa's name will also be engraved on a plaque for permanent display in the school.

Lisa's first-place essay now advances to the state level competition, from which the top 10 essays in Michigan will be selected. The top 10 statewide winners, who will be announced in May, will receive plaques and U.S. savings bonds valued from $500 to $1,000. In addition, the top 10 essayists will be honored at a banquet in Lansing and at a meeting with Michigan's top governmental leaders in late May.

A team of finalist judges that includes Gov. James Blanchard and Lt. Gov. Martha Griffiths will determine the top statewide winners.

Several thousand eighth-grade students from almost 500 Michigan schools participated in the 1989-90 America & Me Essay Contest, which was conducted with the help of Farm Bureau Insurance agents across the state.

High school seeks outstanding grads

By MIKE TYREE

Northville High School is currently seeking candidates for its 1989-90 Distinguished Alumnus Award, according to Principal David Bolitho.

"Northville High School has graduated many outstanding people who have made significant contributions to the improvement of our society on the local, state, national and international levels," he said.

"The Distinguished Alumnus Award is our way of honoring an outstanding graduate."

Bolitho said any person may nominate a Northville High School graduate by submitting to the school a letter that details the nominee's accomplishments. Nominations will be accepted through April 6, Bolitho said. Nominations will then be screened by a selection committee consisting of representatives from the student body, faculty, central office and high school administration.

Nominations must include a detailed list of contributions and accomplishments, he said.

Letters of nomination must be sent to Northville High School, Distinguished Alumnus, 775 North Center Street, Northville, Mich., 48167.

The award will be presented at the high school commencement exercises on June 15, he said.

Schoolcraft offering creative courses for spring term

Schoolcraft College is offering several exciting classes in the coming weeks.

TREASURES FROM YESTERDAY — Learn about antique treasures in a series of workshops being offered at Schoolcraft College. World renowned instructors will provide valuable information on antique furniture, art, silver, china, objets d'art, jewelry, gemstones, and American toys and dolls. Students may bring in items for demonstration appraisals. Sign up for the entire series or take individual sessions. All courses are offered on Thursdays.

The following instructors will present workshops Frank H. Boos, owner of Frank H. Boos Gallery and the first United States agent for London's Famous Christies James R. Krol, a graduate of the Gemological Institute of America, the Canadian Gemological Association and a Fellow of the Gemological Association of Great Britain. He has spent three months in Saudi Arabia appraising jewelry for the royal family. Barbara Book, a designated member of the International Society of Appraisers and the Appraisal Society of Fine Arts Appraisers, Ltd. She provides professional services for insurance purposes, estates, buyers and sellers.

MARCH 29, JEWELRY AND GEMSTONES — This workshop will cover antique and period pieces, including precious and semi-precious gemstones. Carat weight, color, clarity, cutting, care and evaluation of gemstones and jewelry will be discussed.

APRIL 5, AMERICAN TOYS AND DOLLS — In this workshop you will learn how to recognize which toys and dolls, made prior to World War II, are valuable.

APRIL 12, ANTIQUE FURNITURE — From dining tables and arm chairs to side boards and torchères, this session will give you auction information on antique furniture, appraisals, authenticating pieces and more.

APRIL 19, ART PAINTING AND PRINTS — This workshop will teach you what to look for in discovering valuable works of art. Methods of appraisal, art types, and periods will be discussed.

APRIL 26, SILVER, CHINA, AND OBJETS D'ART — This workshop will familiarize you with items suitable for collecting, investing, and decorating. Techniques to determine the history and value of pieces will be explained.

Treasures of Yesterday is being offered by Schoolcraft College's Continuing Education Services division.

For further information, call 462-4448.

The College's spring mail-in registration begins April 2 and continues through April 13. Early registration ensures an excellent selection of classes for the spring term which begins Monday, May 7. Day and evening classes are held at the main campus in Livonia as well as at Schoolcraft College-Radcliff, in Garden City. For further information or a free copy of the spring course schedule, call 462-4426.

Several community events are coming up at the College. The Theater Department winter production of "Plaza Suite" is actually a suite of three plays by Neil Simon. Theater tickets are available for March 30 & 31, April 1, 6 & 7. They are $5.50. For more information or to reserve tickets, call 462-4400, ext. 4409.

Classical guitarist Ken Puterbaugh will play the music of Bach, Scarlatti, Ponce, and Barrios in a performance sponsored by the Schoolcraft College Music Club on Wednesday, March 21 at 1 p.m. This event is free and open to the public and will take place in the Forum building.

SUMMARY OF CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF NORTHVILLE SUBDIVISION REGULATIONS ORDINANCE NO. 93

The Charter Township of Northville proposes to adopt a revised Subdivision Regulations Ordinance, a summary of which is set forth hereinafter:

PREAMBLE

AN ORDINANCE ENACTED PURSUANT TO ACT 288 OF THE PUBLIC ACTS OF 1967, AS AMENDED, AND ACT 168, OF THE PUBLIC ACTS OF 1959, AS AMENDED, FOR THE PURPOSE OF ESTABLISHING REGULATIONS GOVERNING THE SUBDIVISION OF LAND: PROVIDING STANDARDS, PROCEDURES AND RULES FOR THE PREPARATION AND FILING OF PLATS; PROVIDING FOR PRELIMINARY AND FINAL APPROVAL OR REJECTION OF SUCH PLATS BY THE Charter Township of Northville; PROVIDING FOR PENALTIES FOR THE VIOLATION HEREOF; PROVIDING FOR THE REPEAL OF ORDINANCE NO. 25, AND ALL AMENDMENTS THERETO, SAVE FOR PROSECUTIONS OF VIOLATIONS OCCURRING PRIOR TO THE EFFECTIVE DATE HEREOF AND TO PROVIDE FOR THE PUBLIC HEALTH, SAFETY AND GENERAL WELFARE OF PERSONS AND PROPERTY WITHIN THE Charter Township of Northville.

ARTICLE I

PURPOSE

Pursuant to the provisions of Act No. 288 of the Public Acts of 1967, as amended, and Act No. 168 of the Public Acts of 1959, as amended, being Sections 560 101, et seq. and Sections 125 321, et seq. respectively, of the Compiled Laws of the State of Michigan, the Charter Township of Northville, Wayne County, Michigan, by and through its Board of Trustees, enacts this ordinance for the purpose of regulating and controlling the subdivision of land within the Charter Township of Northville; to provide means for carrying out the Township's responsibilities relative to the platting of land under the laws of the State of Michigan; to provide for the orderly growth and harmonious development of the Township, consistent with the Master Plan of Land Use and Zoning Ordinance; to secure adequate traffic circulation through coordinated street systems so as to lessen congestion on the streets and highways; to insure adequate provision for water, drainage and sanitary sewer facilities, and other health requirements; to achieve the maximum utility and livability on individual lots; to provide logical procedures for the achievement of these purposes; to provide for penalties for the violation hereof; to provide for the repeal of Ordinance No. 79, and all amendments thereto, save for prosecutions of violations occurring prior to the effective date hereof and to promote the public health, safety, comfort, convenience and general welfare of the persons and property within the Charter Township of Northville.

ARTICLE II

DEFINITIONS

This Section sets out various definitions which shall apply in the interpretation and enforcement of this Ordinance.

ARTICLE III

PLATTING PROCEDURE AND DATA REQUIRED

This Section provides that the preparation of a subdivision for platting shall go through three stages, including: tentative preliminary plat, final preliminary plat, and final plat, all in accordance with procedures specifically set forth in this Article.

ARTICLE IV

DESIGN STANDARDS

This Section sets forth the specific design standards and requirements, the layout and construction of street location, easements, block dimensions, public walkways, public reservations, lots, and further provides for certain requirements for environmental protection.

ARTICLE V

IMPROVEMENTS

This Section provides that certain improvements, installation of utilities, streets, mailbox clusters, and other improvements shall be provided by the proprietor in accordance with the standards, requirements and specifications established in this Article and/or any other standards, requirements and specifications which may, from time to time, be established by ordinance, resolution or published rules of the Township.

DIVISION OF LAND IN RECORDED PLAT

This Section regulates the partitioning or dividing of lots, out lots or other parcels of land in a recorded plat, subject to provisions of State law.

ARTICLE VII

REVIEW FEES

This Section provides the fees for examination and inspection of preliminary and final plats set from time to time by resolution of the Township Board of Trustees.

ARTICLE VIII

VIOLATIONS AND PENALTIES

This Section provides that any person or anyone acting on behalf of such person, who shall violate any of the provisions of this Ordinance shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction of such violation, shall be punished by a fine not to exceed Five Hundred and no/100 ($500.00) Dollars and costs of prosecution or by imprisonment not to exceed Ninety (90) days or by both such fines plus costs of prosecution and imprisonment. Each day a violation shall continue, shall constitute a separate offense.

ARTICLE IX

CONSTRUCTION AND SEVERABILITY

This Section provides that any unenforceable sections can be severed from the rest of the Ordinance.

CONFLICTING ORDINANCE REPEAL

This Section provides that Ordinance No. 79, adopted March 10, 1983 and all amendments thereto, is hereby specifically repealed as of the effective date of this Ordinance. All other ordinances conflicting or inconsistent with the provisions of this Ordinance, or to the extent of such conflict or inconsistency only, are hereby repealed.

ARTICLE XI

PENDING PROSECUTIONS UNDER PRIOR ORDINANCE

Any prosecution arising from a violation of Ordinance repealed herein, which prosecution may be pending at the time this Ordinance shall become effective, or any prosecution which may be commenced in the future for any offense committed before the effective date of this Ordinance, may be instituted, tried and determined in accordance with the provisions of such ordinances in effect at the time of the commission of the offense.

ARTICLE XII

VARIANCE

This Section provides for a variance from these regulations under certain terms and conditions as set forth in this Article.

ARTICLE XIII

EFFECTIVE DATE

This Ordinance becomes effective immediately upon publication of this summary. A true copy of this Ordinance can be inspected or obtained at the offices of the Charter Township of Northville, 41600 Six Mile Road, Northville, Michigan during regular business hours.

Student writers honored

Three students from Meads Mill Middle School in Northville have been named local winners in the 21st annual America & Me Essay Contest, sponsored by Farm Bureau Insurance.

The three students, who earned the first-, second- and third-place awards for their school, are Lisa Wagner — first, Chris Harrison — second; and Julie Romine — third. All received award certificates for their achievement. As the school's first-place winner, Lisa's name will also be engraved on a plaque for permanent display in the school.

Lisa's first-place essay now advances to the state level competition, from which the top 10 essays in Michigan will be selected. The top 10 statewide winners, who will be announced in May, will receive plaques and U.S. savings bonds valued from $500 to $1,000. In addition, the top 10 essayists will be honored at a banquet in Lansing and at a meeting with Michigan's top governmental leaders in late May.

A team of finalist judges that includes Gov. James Blanchard and Lt. Gov. Martha Griffiths will determine the top statewide winners.

Several thousand eighth-grade students from almost 500 Michigan schools participated in the 1989-90 America & Me Essay Contest, which was conducted with the help of Farm Bureau Insurance agents across the state.

Schoolcraft offering creative courses for spring term

Schoolcraft College is offering several exciting classes in the coming weeks.

TREASURES FROM YESTERDAY — Learn about antique treasures in a series of workshops being offered at Schoolcraft College. World renown instructors will provide valuable information on antique furniture, art, silver, china, objets d'art, jewelry, gemstones, and American toys and dolls. Students may bring in items for demonstration appraisals. Sign up for the entire series or take individual sessions. All courses are offered on Thursdays.

The following instructors will present workshops Frank H. Boos, owner of Frank H. Boos Gallery and the first United States agent for London's Famous Christies. James R. Krol, a graduate of the Gemological Institute of America, the Canadian Gemological Association and a Fellow of the Gemological Association of Great Britain. He has spent three months in Saudi Arabia appraising jewelry for the royal family. Barbara Book a designated member of the International Society of Appraisers and the International Society of Fine Arts Appraisers, Ltd. She provides professional services for insurance purposes, estates, buyers and sellers.

MARCH 29, JEWELRY AND GEMSTONES — This workshop will cover antique and period pieces, including precious and semi-precious gemstones. Carat weight, color, clarity, cutting, care and evaluation of gemstones and jewelry will be discussed.

APRIL 5, AMERICAN TOYS AND DOLLS — In this workshop you will learn how to recognize which toys and dolls, made prior to World War II, are valuable.

APRIL 12, ANTIQUE FURNITURE — From dining tables and arm chairs to side boards and torchieres, this session will give you auction information on antique furniture, appraisals, authenticating pieces and more.

APRIL 19, ART PAINTING AND PRINTS — This workshop will teach you what to look for in discovering valuable works of art. Methods of appraisal, art types, and periods will be discussed.

APRIL 26, SILVER, CHINA, AND OBJETS D'ART — This workshop will familiarize you with items suitable for collecting, investing, and decorating. Techniques to determine the history and value of pieces will be explained.

Treasures of Yesterday is being offered by Schoolcraft College's Continuing Education Services division.

For further information, call 462-4448.

The College's spring mail-in registration begins April 2 and continues through April 13. Early registration ensures an excellent selection of classes for the spring term which begins Monday, May 7. Day and evening classes are held at the main campus in Livonia as well as at Schoolcraft College-Radcliff, in Garden City. For further information or a free copy of the spring course schedule, call 462-4426.

Several community events are coming up at the College. The Theater Department winter production of "Plaza Suite" is actually a suite of three plays by Neil Simon. Theater tickets are available for March 30 & 31, April 1, 6 & 7. They are $5.50. For more information or to reserve tickets, call 462-4400, ext. 4409.

Classical guitarist Ken Puterbaugh will play the music of Bach, Scarlatti, Ponce, and Barrios in a performance sponsored by the Schoolcraft College Music Club on Wednesday, March 21 at 1 p.m. This event is free and open to the public and will take place in the Forum building.

SUMMARY OF CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF NORTHVILLE SUBDIVISION REGULATIONS ORDINANCE NO. 93

The Charter Township of Northville proposes to adopt a revised Subdivision Regulations Ordinance, a summary of which is set forth hereinafter:

PREAMBLE

AN ORDINANCE ENACTED BY ACT 288 OF THE PUBLIC ACTS OF 1967, AS AMENDED, AND ACT 168, OF THE PUBLIC ACTS OF 1959, AS AMENDED, FOR THE PURPOSE OF ESTABLISHING REGULATIONS GOVERNING THE SUBDIVISION OF LAND: PROVIDING STANDARDS, PROCEDURES AND RULES FOR THE PREPARATION AND FILING OF PLATS; PROVIDING FOR PRELIMINARY AND FINAL APPROVAL OR REJECTION OF SUCH PLATS BY THE Charter Township of Northville; PROVIDING FOR PENALTIES FOR THE VIOLATION HEREOF; PROVIDING FOR THE REPEAL OF ORDINANCE NO. 25, AND ALL AMENDMENTS THERETO, SAVE FOR PROSECUTIONS OF VIOLATIONS OCCURRING PRIOR TO THE EFFECTIVE DATE HEREOF AND TO PROVIDE FOR THE PUBLIC HEALTH, SAFETY AND GENERAL WELFARE OF PERSONS AND PROPERTY WITHIN THE Charter Township of Northville.

ARTICLE I

PURPOSE

Pursuant to the provisions of Act No. 288 of the Public Acts of 1967, as amended, and Act No. 168 of the Public Acts of 1959, as amended, being Sections 560.101, et seq, and Sections 125.321, et seq, respectively, of the Compiled Laws of the State of Michigan, the Charter Township of Northville, Wayne County, Michigan, by and through its Board of Trustees, enacts this ordinance for the purpose of regulating and controlling the subdivision of land within the Charter Township of Northville; to provide means for carrying out the Township's responsibilities relative to the platting of land under the laws of the State of Michigan; to provide for the orderly growth and harmonious development of the Township, consistent with the Master Plan of Land Use and Zoning Ordinance; to secure adequate traffic circulation through coordinated street systems so as to lessen congestion on the streets and highways; to insure adequate provision for water, drainage and sanitary sewer facilities, and other health requirements; to achieve the maximum utility and livability on individual lots; to provide logical procedures for the achievement of these purposes; to provide for penalties for the violation hereof; to provide for the repeal of Ordinance No. 79, and all amendments thereto, save for prosecutions of violations occurring prior to the effective date hereof and to promote the public health, safety, comfort, convenience and general welfare of the persons and property within the Charter Township of Northville.

DEFINITIONS

This Section sets out various definitions which shall apply in the interpretation and enforcement of this Ordinance.

PLATTING PROCEDURE AND DATA REQUIRED

This Section provides that the preparation of a subdivision for platting shall go through three stages, including: tentative preliminary plat, final preliminary plat, and final plat, all in accordance with procedures specifically set forth in this Article

ARTICLE IV

DESIGN STANDARDS

This Section sets forth the specific design standards and requirements, the layout and construction of street location, easements, block dimensions, public walkways, public reservations, lots, and further provides for certain requirements for environmental protection.

ARTICLE V

IMPROVEMENTS

This Section provides that certain improvements, installation of utilities, streets, mailbox clusters, and other improvements shall be provided by the proprietor in accordance with the standards, requirements and specifications established in this Article and/or any other standards, requirements and specifications which may, from time to time, be established by ordinance, resolution or published rules of the Township

ARTICLE VI

DIVISION OF LAND IN RECORDED PLAT

This Section regulates the partitioning or dividing of lots, out lots or other parcels of land in a recorded plat, subject to provisions of State law

ARTICLE VII

REVIEW FEES

This Section provides the fees for examination and inspection of preliminary and final plats set from time to time by resolution of the Township Board of Trustees

ARTICLE VIII

VIOLATIONS AND PENALTIES

This Section provides that any person or anyone acting on behalf of such person, who shall violate any of the provisions of this Ordinance shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction of such violation, shall be punished by a fine not to exceed Five Hundred and no/100 ($500.00) Dollars and costs of prosecution or by imprisonment not to exceed Ninety (90) days or by both such fines plus costs of prosecution and imprisonment. Each day a violation shall continue, shall constitute a separate offense.

ARTICLE IX

CONSTRUCTION AND SEVERABILITY

This Section provides that any unenforceable sections can be severed from the rest of the Ordinance.

CONFLICTING ORDINANCE REPEAL

This Section provides that Ordinance No. 79, adopted March 10, 1983 and all amendments thereto, is hereby specifically repealed as of the effective date of this Ordinance. All other ordinances conflicting or inconsistent with the provisions of this Ordinance, or to the extent of such conflict or inconsistency only, are hereby repealed

ARTICLE XI

PENDING PROSECUTIONS UNDER PRIOR ORDINANCE

Any prosecution arising from a violation of ordinance repealed herein, which prosecution may be pending at the time this Ordinance shall become effective or any prosecution which may be commenced in the future for any offense committed before the effective date of this Ordinance, may be instituted, tried and determined in accordance with the provisions of such ordinances in effect at the time of the commission of the offense

ARTICLE XII

VARIANCE

This Section provides for a variance from these regulations under certain terms and conditions as set forth in this Article

ARTICLE XIII

EFFECTIVE DATE

This Ordinance becomes effective immediately upon publication of this summary. A true copy of this Ordinance can be inspected or obtained at the offices of the Charter Township of Northville, 41600 Six Mile Road, Northville, Michigan during regular business hours

Union seeks more permanent shelter

After 26 years as a Detroit police officer, Lehman said he was released on a disability retirement when he ruptured a disc in his back. Now he's channeling his energy towards finding a more permanent solution to the plight of the homeless.

Lehman is working with the Detroit / Wayne County Union of the Homeless in an effort to reclaim unoccupied Housing and Urban Development (HUD) units throughout the city to provide homes for the homeless. "This isn't just going to happen here," he added. "This is nationwide."

The Homeless Union is taking its cue from a promise made by HUD Chairman Jack Kemp, in a letter dated Oct. 6, 1989 to the organization. Now Lehman carries a wrinkled copy of the letter in his pocket, as a symbol of the right of homeless people to a home.

The letter read, in part, "We commit that in 1990 we will make available 10 percent of HUD's single-family inventory for affordable housing for homeless people. . . We must turn the abandoned homes throughout our cities and towns into decent, affordable homes for the homeless and low-income people, and I pledge to work directly and aggressively with state and local governments to make this happen."

The letter was attached to a note from the Homeless Union describing the action they were planning to take

"Detroit has 36,000 vacant buildings . . . There's no reason for those buildings to be locked up, especially when there is no place for people to sleep."

— Lehman Finch,
Homeless Union activist

in order to hold the federal government to its promise.

"On March 5, we the homeless are coming together as one driving force, to begin to eliminate homelessness," the note read. "We plan to raise our heads high and take what is rightfully ours. Due to the lack of response from Government officials, we have been forced to take these actions upon ourselves. We're fighting for the basic needs of all people, such as, food, clothing and housing."

"The struggle is a struggle for life," the note concluded.

"Detroit has 36,000 vacant buildings that are owned by the city and HUD," Lehman said. "There's no reason for those buildings to be locked up, especially when there is no place for people to sleep." Lehman seems rather fatalistic when considering the odds the Homeless Union faces. "This is a tough struggle, but this is what you got to expect out of life. You've got to stand up to get something done," he said. "So we're giving it a shot."

The Homeless Union had occupied two units as of Friday, and has a total of eight unoccupied HUD units targeted for takeover. The families occupying the two units have begun renovating them to meet the city's building codes.

Our Lady of Victory parishioners have assisted the group in those efforts, by donating eight gallons of paint, brushes and rollers to the cause.

"In fact, they've already painted the first house," said parishioner and shelter project organizer Anne Bright.

Census is coming to town

By STEVE KELLMAN

United States citizens will be asked to stand up and be counted in the coming weeks, as part of the country's 10-year census.

Marsha Bianconi, assistant director of the Conference of Western Wayne, gave the conference an update last week of the U.S. Census Bureau's plans for conducting its 21st census.

The Bureau plans to mail census forms out by March 23, she said. Most homes will receive a three-page form with 14 questions on it, while one out of six households will receive the longer, seven-page form. The longer form contains 59 questions.

Both forms will include questions about sex, race, age, household relationships, marital status, and type of housing.

The longer forms will also question residents on their citizenship, educational background, ancestry, language, military service, disabilities, participation in the labor force, means of transportation and level of income, among other items.

A national hotline has been established as well, to assist people with questions about their forms. The phone number — 1-800-999-1990 — will become operational on March 23, she said.

Bright becomes philosophical when considering the impact of the church program. "It's not a solution but it's a need," she said, "and I'm glad our church was involved in meeting that need."

Campaign funds vary among County Commissioners

Some Wayne County Commissioners may have to hit the fundraising circuit more heavily than others as the 1990 campaign approaches.

A survey of campaign holdings among western Wayne commissioners showed vast differences among campaign and officeholder accounts for the four area commissioners.

The campaign committee for Susan Heintz, R-Northville Township, was the most active in 1989 — raising more than $31,000 and spending nearly $28,000. But it's veteran commissioner Milton Mack, D-Wayne, who enters the campaign with the largest war chest. Mack's committee lists $19,700 in assets, compared with $12,979 for Heintz. Mack's district includes Canton. Heintz represents Livonia, Plymouth and Plymouth Township as well as Northville.

Kay Beard, D-Inkster, listed $4,962 in campaign assets as the year began. Newly elected commissioner Kevin Kelley, who took office earlier this month, was exempt from the Jan. 31 campaign committee filing deadline.

Committees must list their assets and expenditures each year. None of the area's commissioners have formally announced re-election bids at this point. Neither Beard, Mack, nor Heintz faced opponents in the 1988 commission election.

Commissioners' campaign fund holdings pale in comparison to that of county Executive Edward McNamara.

McNamara's campaign war chest approached $400,000 at the start of 1990. In addition, the executive reported $63,511 in his office holder expense report. Like the commissioners, McNamara faces re-election this year.

In other filings:

•Both longtime commissioner Kay Beard, D-Inkster, and newcomer Kevin Kelley, D-Redford, carry nearly the same balance in their officeholder accounts. Beard, whose district includes Garden City and Westland, listed $195 in her officeholder expense fund. Kelley listed $189 in his.

•In contrast, Heintz listed officeholding assets of $2,503 and Mack listed assets of $1,269.

Officeholder expenses are used at the elected officials' discretion, generally to attend conferences or fund-raisers for other officials. All four area commissioners shifted money between their campaign and officeholder accounts in 1989. Shifting money between accounts is legal. Commissioners can keep any money in their officeholder account when leaving office.

Commissioners are paid $29,470 a year and also receive an office stipend at the discretion of the commission chairperson.

The campaign committee for Susan Heintz, R-Northville Township, was the most active in 1989 — raising more than $31,000 and spending nearly $28,000. But it's veteran commissioner Milton Mack, D-Wayne, who enters the campaign with the largest war chest.

Regarding the commissioner's reports:

Selected contributors to Heintz's campaign fund included: City PAC of City Management Corp., Detroit, $675; Wayne County Sheriff's Local 3317 PAC, $550; Michigan Residential Care Association PAC, $450; Browning-Ferris Industries PAC, $250; Northwest Airlines PAC, $225;

Waste Disposal Inc. PAC, $200; McNamara's Band, $200.

Individual contributors listed by Heintz included developer Robert DeMattia, $200; Peter Secchia, U.S. Ambassador to Italy and former state GOP chairperson, $50; pizza magnate Michael Ilitch, $50; Dearborn Mayor Michael Guido, $50; Michigan Supreme Court Chief Justice Dorothy Comstock Riley, $50; Heintz listed a March fund-raiser at the Whitney Restaurant in Detroit, grossing $18,720, and a November fund-raiser at Laurel Manor in Livonia, grossing $11,825.

Selected contributors to Mack's campaign fund included: McNamara's Band, $400; Robert Ryan (vice president of a Romulus recycling company), $400; Browning-Ferris Industries PAC, $200; Wayne County Government Bar Association, $200; Michigan Bell PAC, $200; Wayne County Sheriff's Department Local 502 PAC, $100 and Northwest Airlines PAC, $100. Mack listed a fund-raiser at Dunleavy Pub, Detroit, grossing $14,960.

Contributors to Beard's campaign included: Wayne County Sheriff's Department Local 502, $500; UAW Region 1-E, $180.

Township agrees on library ballot

By MIKE TYREE

Ballot wording for the May 1 Haller Library Complex election has been decided upon by the township Board of Trustees.

At its March 8 meeting, the board chose to tie bond proposal language and an operating millage proposition together, meaning that two yes votes will be needed to ensure construction and operation of the 44,800-square-foot library and community center proposed for a 72-acre site on Six Mile and Sheldon roads.

As adopted by the board, the bond proposal language states: "Shall the Charter Township of Northville, Wayne County, Michigan, borrow a sum of money not to exceed $6.9 (million) and issue its general obligation bonds therefor, for the purpose of defraying the cost of constructing, furnishing and equipping a new library and improving the site thereof, with the understanding that this approval shall be effective only if the ballot question submitted herewith to authorize the levy of a tax for the purpose of operating the library is also approved?"

The operating millage proposition will read: "Shall the Charter Township of Northville, Wayne County, Michigan, levy taxes against property in the Charter Township of Northville in an amount not to exceed 1.00 mills on each $1,000 of state equalized valuation for a period of five years in order to provide funds for the purpose of operating the Northville Community library, with the understanding that this approval shall be effective only if the ballot question submitted herewith to authorize a borrowing to construct, furnish and equip a new library is also approved?"

The bond proposal would fund the construction, while the operating millage would pay for the day-to-day operation of the facility, according to township Deputy Clerk Eunice Switzler.

The board's decision to tie both questions together did not sit well with Clerk Thomas Cook, who cast the lone vote against the combined question plan.

Cook said the plans were separate ideas — the operating millage one concern and the facility the other — and he said the ballot should be presented that way.

"I was so adamantly opposed to this format because it would be a lot better for the questions to stand on their own," he said.

Chamber of Commerce business seminar

The Northville Community Chamber of Commerce is continuing its popular seminar "The Needs of the Business Owner" with the last three weeks in the series.

Coming up on March 22 is "Buy and Sell Agreements." Even the most profitable company could stumble if something happened to a partner or shareholder. In the case of a partnership, Michigan regulations state the partnership ceases upon the death of a partner. That means the surviving partner must cease doing business and all assets of the partnership are frozen. In the case of a corporation, shares of a deceased shareholder transfer to their estate and eventually to their heirs. Can you imagine your co-shareholders spouse or children as your new partner?

On March 29 the topic is "Qualified Sick Pay Plans." If you or one of your key employees became disabled, would you continue to take or pay an income?

The IRS rules are quite clear. If you believe you can routinely pay "deductible" wages to a disabled employee — even a stockholder/employee — you need to be better informed about the law.

This class will cover the rules and process of establishing such a plan along with the information needed to determine if you should take on the risks or transfer them.

On April 5, the last class is "Cafeteria Plan/Flexible Benefits." Flexible benefit programs are the hot topic of employee benefit programs. Could there be a plan that decreases employer taxes as well as increases employee take-home pay? Should the employees have an individual choice in benefits? A detailed explanation of these plans, their pluses and minuses, tax implications and a prediction for their future will be included.

This series is being made available through the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce to provide education in the legal, insurance, and accounting issues facing the small business owner. Classes will be held at the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce office at 195 S. Main Street in Northville. They take place on the Thursdays listed from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m.

The cost for chamber members is $10 for each program. The cost to non-chamber members is $12.50 for each program. For more information or to make a reservation contact the chamber office at 349-7640.

CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF NORTHVILLE AMENDMENT TO ZONING ORDINANCE NO. 77-01-90

THE CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF NORTHVILLE ORDAINS:

PART I. The Charter Township of Northville Zoning Ordinance No. 77 as amended is hereby further amended by amending Article XIV, Section 14.1, 14.2, 14.3, paragraph 5.a of 14.4, and 14.5 Lot Sizes and Density as follows.

Sec. 2 Amendment to Section 14.2 Subdivision Open Space Plan

Section 14.2 is hereby amended to read as follows:

The intent of this Section is to permit one-family residential subdivisions to be planned as a comprehensive unit allowing, therefore, certain modifications to the standards as outlined in the "SCHEDULE OF REGULATIONS" to be made in One-Family Residential Districts when the following conditions are met:

1. The lot area in all One-Family Residential Districts having all public utilities may be reduced provided that the density shall be no greater than if the land area to be subdivided were developed in the minimum square foot lot areas as required under R-1, R-2 and R-3 Districts. All calculations shall be subdivided upon these One-Family Districts having the following number of dwelling units per acre (including roads):

| | Dwelling Units Per Acre |
|-----|---------------------------|
| R-1 | With public utilities 0.8 |
| R-2 | With public utilities 1.7 |
| R-3 | With public utilities 2.4 |

2. Lot widths shall not be less than the following:

R-1 District — One hundred twenty-five (125) feet

R-2 District — One hundred ten (110) feet

R-3 District — Ninety (90) feet

3. Lot area shall not be less than the following:

R-1 District — Thirty-five thousand (35,000) sq. ft.

R-2 District — Fifteen thousand (15,000) sq. ft.

R-3 District — Twelve thousand (12,000) sq. ft.

4. Renumber present paragraphs 2 through 7, to 4 through 9

Sec. 3 Amendment to Section 14.3 Averaging of Lot Sizes

Section 14.3 is hereby amended to read as follows:

The intent of this Section is to permit the subdivider or developer to vary lot sizes so as to average the minimum size of lot per unit as required in Article XIV, Section 14.1, Schedule of Regulations, for the R-1 through R-3 One-Family Residential Districts, provided that all public utilities are available. If this option is selected, the following conditions shall be met:

1. The number of lots shall not exceed the permitted number of dwelling units per acre (including roads) in the R-1, R-2 and R-3 Districts as set forth in Section 14.2, paragraph 1

2. Lot widths may be reduced but shall not be less than the following:

R-1 District — One hundred thirty-five (135) feet

R-2 District — One hundred twenty (120) feet

R-3 District — Ninety-five (95) feet

3. Lot areas may be reduced but shall not be less than the following:

R-1 District — Thirty-nine thousand (39,000) sq. ft.

R-2 District — Seventeen thousand (17,000) sq. ft.

R-3 District — Thirteen thousand (13,000) sq. ft.

4. A plat which utilizes the advantages of the Lot Averaging technique may, following approval of the Preliminary Plat, be developed in phases, subject to the provision that no phase, taken together with previously developed phases, produce a total lot area amounting to less than the conventional subdivision minimum lot area of the zoning district multiplied by the total number of lots developed.

5. All computations showing lot area and the average area resulting through this technique shall be indicated on the print of the preliminary plat by the proprietor before review and approval shall be given.

Sec. 4 Amendment to Section 14.4 Planned Residential Unit Development Paragraph 5a.

Section 14.4 paragraph 5a. is amended to read as follows:

a. Density Conditions

5. The maximum permitted densities within a Planned Residential Unit Development shall be governed by the zoning district in which the PRUD is located and shall be calculated based on the following limits:

1. In the R-2 Districts, the maximum density shall not exceed 8.4 bedrooms per acre.

2. In the R-3 Districts, the maximum density shall not exceed 14.7 bedrooms per acre.

Sec. 5 Amendment to Section 14.5 One-Family Cluster Option Paragraphs 2.a (7), (9), (10), (11), (12) and (13):

Section 14.5 paragraph 2.a. (7) is amended to read as follows:

2.a.(7) The parcel has vehicular access to a major thoroughfare and a substantial portion of the parcel's perimeter is bordered by land that is located in an RM-1, RE, RME, OS or P1 District or is located in an R-1, R-2, or R-3 District and is developed for a use other than single-family detached homes and the parcel has natural features or is shaped in such a way as to make platting difficult.

Section 14.5 paragraph 2.a.(9) is amended to read as follows:

2.a.(9) The parcel exceeds ten (10) acres, is located at the intersection of at least two (2) major thoroughfares and a substantial portion of the parcel's perimeter is bordered by major thoroughfares which would result in a substantial proportion of the lots of a development abutting the major thoroughfares and the parcel has vehicular access directly to a major thoroughfare.

Section 14.5 paragraph 2.a.(10) is amended to read as follows:

2.a.(10) The parcel exceeds ten (10.0) acres and a substantial portion of the parcel's perimeter is bordered by land that is located in a B, FS, RD or I-1 District and the parcel has vehicular access to a major thoroughfare.

Section 14.5 paragraph 2.a.(11) is amended to read as follows:

2.a.(11) The parcel is located at the intersection of at least two (2) major thoroughfares and contains ten (10) acres or less, including road right-of-way, and the parcel has vehicular access directly to a major thoroughfare.

Section 14.5 paragraph 2.a.(12) is amended to read as follows:

2.a.(12) A substantial portion of the parcel's perimeter is bordered by land that is located in a B, FS, RD, or I-1 District and contains ten (10) acres or less, including road right-of-way, and the parcel has vehicular access to a major thoroughfare.

Section 14.5 paragraph 2.a.(13) is amended to read as follows:

2.a.(13) The parcel is designated as Cluster Residential on the Township's Master Plan of Land Use.

Sec. 6 Amendment to Section 14.5 One Family Cluster Option Paragraph 3.a. (1), (2), (3), (4), (5) and (6)

Section 14.5 paragraph 3 is amended to read as follows:

a. Permitted Densities

3. Utilization of the cluster option shall require public sanitary sewer and water supply unless at least one (1) acre of land, not including streets, per dwelling unit is provided on the site. Otherwise, the maximum permitted densities including streets shall be as follows:

(1) For those areas qualifying under paragraph 2a (1), (2) or (3):

R-1 District — 10 dwelling units/acre

R-2 District — 17 dwelling units/acre

R-3 District — 24 dwelling units/acre

(2) For those areas qualifying under paragraph 2a (4), (5), (6), (7), (8), (9) or (10)

R-1 District — 15 dwelling units/acre

R-2 District — 23 dwelling units/acre

R-3 District — 32 dwelling units/acre

(3) For those areas qualifying under paragraph 2a (11) or (12)

R-1 District — 20 dwelling units/acre

R-2 District — 30 dwelling units/acre

R-3 District — 40 dwelling units/acre

(4) For those areas qualifying under paragraph 2a (13), the Planning Commission shall determine the density to be permitted based upon the characteristics of the site and its surroundings.

(5) Water areas within the parcel may be included in the computation of density provided that land adjacent to the water is substantially developed as open space. In no instance, however, shall the water area cause an increase in the total number of units achievable on land not covered by water to be greater than twelve (12) percent. In those instances where the parcel qualifies under paragraphs 2a (11) or (12) above, the area used for computing density shall not include more than twenty-five (25) percent of the horizontal surface of existing ponds or lakes within the boundary of the site. The total area of newly-created lakes, however, may be included.

(6) In those instances where a parcel qualifies under paragraphs 2a (1), (2) or (3) above as well as one or more of the remaining paragraphs (4) through (12), the higher densities may be permitted provided that the Planning Commission finds that such density is reasonable and does not result in the destruction or removal of the natural assets enumerated under paragraphs 2a (1), (2) or (3).

Sec. 7 Amendment to Section 14.5 Paragraph 4c. One Family Cluster Option

Section 14.5 paragraph 4c is amended to read as follows:

1. The area in open space (including recreation areas and water) accomplished through the use of the one-family cluster option shall represent at least twenty (20) percent of the horizontal area of a one-family cluster development that qualifies under paragraphs 2a (1) through (10) above and fifteen (15) percent in those qualifying under paragraphs 2a (11) or (12). The provision of walks, trails and recreation facilities is encouraged within the open space areas.

CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF NORTHVILLE AMENDMENT TO ZONING ORDINANCE NO. 77-03-90

THE CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF NORTHVILLE ORDAINS:

PART I. The Charter Township of Northville Zoning Ordinance No. 77 as amended is hereby further amended by amending Article XIV, Section 15.28 DIVISION OF PLATTED OR UNPLATTED LAND FOR BUILDING SITES LACKING STREET FRONTAGE.

a. Subject to the restrictions of P.A. No. 288 of 1967, or this section may permit divisions of land for sale, or lease of more than one (1) year, or of building development as building sites, as follows:

(1) A parcel of unplatted land may be divided into not more than four (4) parcels each containing ten (10) acres or less and into additional parcels each containing more than ten (10) acres.

(2) A parcel of platted land may be divided into not more than four (4) parcels. b. Some of the parcels permitted may have no street frontage or insufficient width to satisfy the requirements of Article XIV of this Ordinance, provided that the division and condition of sale, lease or development are in conformity with a site plan approved by the Planning Commission.

2. Requirements of Site Plan:

a. Easements:

(1) The Site Plan shall provide an easement or easements sixty (60) feet in width, unless as otherwise provided in (2) below, giving access from a public street or streets to all parcels resulting from the proposed division not having street frontage. Such easements shall be established for the joint use of owners of all abutting resultant parcels of the original property for ingress and egress and also for the location of private or publicly-owned utilities serving such abutting parcels.

(2) If the easement provides access to only one (1) parcel of land and, if in the judgement of the Planning Commission, it will only serve one lot in the future, the width of the easement may be forty (40) feet.

(3) Easements providing access to three (3) or more parcels shall be provided with a gravel or paved turnaround at the end of such easement with an outside radius of not less than forty-five (45) feet.

(4) When easements are over one hundred fifty (150) feet in length and provide access to only one (1) or two (2) parcels, the driveway of the end parcel shall provide a turnaround with an outside radius of forty-five (45) feet.

b. Areas of parcels:

Each parcel resulting from the proposed division shall have, exclusive of any area occupied by easements required by 2.a. above, a net area not less than that required for a single subdivision lot. No parcel shall have a net area of less than one (1) acre unless a public water supply main and sanitary sewer, meeting Northville Township requirements, are installed (or an acceptable guarantee is deposited with the Township to insure such installation).

c. Width of parcels:

(1) The minimum width of parcels abutting a public street shall be as required by Article XIV, Schedule of Regulations.

(2) For parcels not abutting a public street, the minimum width, as required for the one-family residential zoning district, shall be used as the minimum standard for the parcel width provided however, that the measurement of such width need not be at the setback line and the minimum width is not necessary as frontage on the easement. The purpose is to provide the parcel with the required width in the front yard, near the easement and at the point where the front of the house will be located.

d. Shape of Parcels:

Parcels should resemble rectangles but may be irregularly shaped as conditions dictate. However, unusual shapes proposed only for the purpose of meeting parcel area or width requirements shall not be permitted.

e. Building Locations:

Within each parcel shown on such Site Plan, there shall be delineated and fully dimensioned an area within which the principal structure shall be confined and a greater area within which auxiliary buildings shall be confined. The areas so delineated shall be such that, in the opinion and judgement of the Planning Commission, development on each parcel will be in conformity with the spirit and intent of the Ordinance with respect to the particular Zoning District, will be compatible with existing development in the vicinity primarily as to yard relationships and will not adversely affect adjacent properties. No building permits shall be issued for buildings not located within the limits shown on an approved Site Plan.

f. Improvements:

(1) Access easements shall be provided with a road installed to a minimum cross section of twenty (20) feet in width when serving two (2) to four (4) parcels and twelve (12) feet in width when serving one (1) parcel, with MDOT 22A gravel eight (8) inches deep and positive drainage, all in accordance with Township standards.

(2) In order to provide adequate access for emergency vehicles, fifteen (15) feet of overhead tree clearance shall be provided within the access easement.

3. Submission of Site Plan

a. Preliminary Submission:

Preliminary submission of a proposed division of property under these provisions shall include the following:

(1) A plan of the property to be divided, accurately drawn at a scale of not smaller than one (1) inch equals one hundred (100) feet, prepared by a Registered Land Surveyor or Civil Engineer licensed to practice in the State of Michigan and showing at least:

(a) Survey location, dimensions and area of the property to be divided

(b) Topography, by contours on U.S.G.S. datum at intervals of not more than two (2) feet, extending to the opposite right-of-way line of any abutting street or highway and extending at least twenty-five (25) feet onto all abutting property; also all existing buildings on the site and features of special interest in development and use of the parcels.

(c) Location and description of any buildings located on abutting property within fifty (50) feet of the boundaries of the parcel to be divided

(d) Boundaries of all proposed divisions with complete dimensions and area of each proposed resultant parcel.

(e) Proposed easement locations, with dimensions

(f) Proposed limits within which the principal structure and auxiliary buildings shall be confined on such parcel, with dimensions

(2) Information, as required by paragraph 3 d. (3) of Section 15.24, Site Plan Review and Plans and Proposals as required by Section 15.34 for woodlands protection

b. Final Site Plan:

After the Preliminary Site Plan as submitted or modified is accepted by the Planning Commission, the proprietor shall submit to the Planning Commission for final approval and final record, the following:

(1) A final, in the form of an original ink drawing on drafting film or a "mylar" duplicate, drawn to a scale of not less than one (1) inch equals one hundred (100) feet, showing conformity with the accepted plan

(a) Survey location, dimensions and areas of all parcels

(b) Location and complete dimensions of all easements

(c) Completely dimensioned limits within which principal structure and auxiliary buildings shall be confined on each parcel

(2) A legal description of each parcel into which the property is divided, prepared by a Registered Land Surveyor

(3) An easement or easements containing an accurate legal description thereof, prepared by a Registered Land Surveyor, and including recitation of the Purposes for which the easement is created, with grant to the Township, its successors and assigns, in perpetuity, of the right to occupy and use such easement for installation, maintenance and operation of publicly owned utilities

c. Approval of Final Site Plan:

(1) When the Final Site Plan and its accompanying material have been reviewed and found to be in conformity with the accepted Preliminary Plan and otherwise satisfactory, the Planning Commission shall formally approve and accept the Final Site Plan, and shall give the proprietor written notice thereof. Thereafter, the resultant parcels so set off shall be eligible for building permits, upon evidence being presented to the Township of recording with the Wayne County Register of Deeds of all Required easements and the site plan.

(2) All required easements shall be in form and substance provided or approved by the Township Attorney and accepted by the Township Board

PART II Conflicting Provisions Repealed

Any Ordinance or part of Ordinances in conflict herewith are repealed save that in all other respects Ordinance No. 77, as amended, is hereby ratified and reaffirmed.

PART III Effective Date

The provisions of this ordinance shall be in full force and effective immediately upon publication.

PART IV Adoption

This ordinance may be adopted by the Township Board of the Charter Township of Northville, pursuant to authority of Act No. 184, Public Acts of 1943, as amended at their next regular/special meeting

Farmington Hills center promotes open housing in Oakland County

By JAN JEFFRES

Conway and Louise Jeffress packed up their two children and their household in Pittsburgh and moved to Novi eight years ago.

A dual-career couple — he's vice president of instruction at Schoolcraft College and she's an executive secretary at the Digital Equipment Corp. — they enjoy a spacious home in Village Oaks subdivision and the suburban lifestyle that attracts so many others to the city. The Jeffresses chose to live here because of the stable community, the neighbors who share their values.

They also wanted the advantage of enrolling their children in the highly rated Novi school system. Their son Conway ("Jeff") — now at Eastern Michigan University — was a track star at Novi High School. Daughter Virginia is an 11th-grader at the high school.

Unlike the overwhelming majority of Novi families, the Jeffresses are black. Most of their Village Oaks neighbors are white.

Not until the 1990 census results are in will it be possible to determine exactly how many minority families now reside in the city. But out of 3,769 children enrolled in Novi schools, only 33 students — under one percent — are black.

In making the move to Michigan, Jeffress said he asked his Realtor to bend the rules and help him find a community where he could establish his "comfort level."

"We used a Realtor who told me what she wasn't supposed to tell me — where I might find acceptance and where I might not. Her advice was good," Jeffress said.

"It was a good move. I have excellent neighbors. They made us feel quite welcome."

But is integration really happening in most of Oakland County's communities?

Former Southfield city council member Barbara Talley doesn't think so. Talley, who is black, and Birmingham resident Ann Wettlaufer, who is white, are co-directors of the Oakland County Center for Open Housing, which is scheduled to open in mid-March.

Twenty-two years have passed since Title VIII — the Fair Housing Act — as part of the Civil Rights Act made housing discrimination on the basis of race, color, religion or national origin illegal. But while blacks are beginning to move into communities such as Novi, Northville, West Bloomfield and Farmington Hills, Talley points to Oak Park and Southfield as the only "model integrative neighborhoods."

"What we don't see is significant integration. We really think we need to take the situation one step further. Freedom of choice is the most important thing we offer here. In no way are we trying to steer people," Talley said.

"When we look at choices, choices are only what you know. We're talking about serving blacks and whites who are interested in pro-integrative moves."

The non-profit Oakland County Center for Open Housing, based in Farmington Hills, is funded by $80,000 in seed money donated by the City of Southfield to combat resegregation — the movement of minorities from an urban center to one or two suburban communities.

Farmington Hills recently passed a resolution of support for the center.

"We believe in fair housing," said Nimrod Rosenthal, Southfield's director of community relations.

Southfield's black population has increased from 9 percent in 1980 to an estimated 25 to 35 percent of the city's residents today.

"Southfield is integrated, and so far it's a success story," he said.

However, Talley said that Southfield still "has a lot of work to do to integrate its staff" — the city has no black firefighters, and only six out of 103 police officers are black.

The new center is patterned after the Cleveland-area Suburban Council for Open Communities, which seeks to prevent resegregation in Shaker Heights and other neighborhoods. Talley and Wettlaufer will assist people in making residential choices before they talk to a Realtor by providing data on the racial makeup of a neighborhood, rental prices for apartments and the cost of homes and condominiums. They will concentrate first on Farmington Hills and West Bloomfield, but plan to study the Novi-Northville area later this year, particularly the apartment market.

"There are a few committed communities in the United States which feel if you don't work at integration, if you don't intervene in the process, we'll see the same segregation that we've been seeing all these years," said Wettlaufer, a founder of the Fair Housing Center in Detroit in 1977 who now serves on its board of directors.

Talley attributes the segregation of Oakland County in part to real-estate steering.

"Steering is illegal. Real-estate people start unconsciously assuming where people want to live. Also, real-estate people have just one particular territory they service," she said. "We let them know all the areas there are. Certainly there are people both black and white who want to live with their own race. That's fine."

Talley said she has personally encountered discrimination in housing twice — once locally and a second time in California.

"In Detroit, in 1956, we moved to the Joy Road and Grand River area. There was an attempt to get the blacks off the street. There were personal attempts. You knew you were not wanted. They were afraid we were going to destroy the neighborhood and destroy the values," she said.

Steering does occur, Jeffress said: "It can happen. You can get areas which are created for financial gain and it can be quite deliberate and it is unfortunate."

He said his worst experience with a Realtor was in Pittsburgh, when they were encouraged to move into an area solely for the purpose of integrating the neighborhood.

"I believe she referred to it as blockbusting, and it did not please me. My concern was more to find a home for a budding family than to engage in social engineering," he said.

Jeffress said the family made the right choice eight years ago in moving to Novi.

"From a standpoint if they would ask if I had any difficulties, I would be positive about Novi. I'm not in the business of promoting or recruiting the area," Jeffress said.

Housing and the law

By JAN JEFFRES

Discrimination in housing is against the law. It's that simple.

While Realtors are sometimes accused of steering their clients based on racial distinctions, those who actually do so risk losing their licenses. They face stiff fines and lawsuits, as well.

"You'll sometimes hear of a Realtor who is not following the laws, but if you check it out and investigate it yourself, 99.9 percent of the time, you'll find it is people who are not licensed," said Arthur Mullen, Executive Vice President of the Farmington-based Western Wayne Oakland County Board of Realtors.

"In this area, I haven't heard of any problem of any major nature and if you drive through communities, you'll see that integration has taken place. . . . There may be a problem in rentals, when you consider the number of apartments there are in the metropolitan area."

To become a licensed Realtor in Michigan, you must have four hours of education on fair-housing laws. To become a broker, you must have an additional nine hours, explained Marta St. James, director of education for the board.

Each year, every Realtor must take another one to two hours on fair housing as part of a mandatory continuing education program.

In addition to this, Realtors who are members of the the Western Wayne Oakland County Board spend another three hours studying these laws. Novi and Northville Realtors frequently belong to this board, which is the largest in the state.

"We're not just talking race, color and religion. Now it has expanded to include the handicapped, the aged, marital status and the number of children. We have federal laws and state laws," St. James said.

The board is sponsoring a Fair Housing Week on April 2-6, which will offer a series of lectures and panel discussions on the subject for area Realtors.

In addition, Mullen said the board is expected to pass a resolution of support for the Oakland County Center for Open Housing.

"They'll be of a definite value and assistance to the county. I was surprised they didn't have one in Oakland County already. Around the country, most of the areas have one," he said.

"Realtors will take someone into any area they want to go in. They (the center) will be pinpointing apartments and rental areas as well. Most Realtors don't have that information. It will be a tremendous information source."

In the Feb. 1990 "Fair Housing News," published by the Fair Housing Center of Metropolitan Detroit, four current Metropolitan Detroit area lawsuits involving housing discrimination are listed.

As he describes it, most Realtors appear to be more interested in the color of your money than the color of your skin: "I think you'll find integration has occurred. The Realtors philosophy is it doesn't matter what your nationality, color or creed is, if you can afford a property, qualify for a mortgage, you can live anywhere you want."

Our Opinions

Ethics Code is good step to prevent bad situations

By adopting a code of ethics at its March 8 meeting, the Board of Trustees took a necessary — and welcome — step in the evolution of Northville Township government.

Scripted by township attorney Ernest Essad, the ethics code provides concrete guidelines for the actions of elected and appointed officials, as well as employees and contractors of the township.

The code was prompted by the October sale of a Glock 19 semiautomatic handgun by former police chief Kenneth Hardesty to Clerk Thomas Cook. The illegal sale of township property eventually cost Hardesty his position and the ethics code is the final salvo in a package of recommendations forwarded to the board by Essad, who investigated the gun sale.

By all means it should be written somewhere that the supervisor or finance director cannot accept loans, or a favorable deal on property, or some other gratis gift from a developer. But beyond the cut-and-dried need for a code of ethics, those involved in township business need to know the public magnifying glass is aimed directly at them.

Most township officials realize the severity of potentially unethical dealings. The board was swift with the knife on Hardesty — a strong message was sent in that case.

The ethics code provides a list of

can and can't dos and should remove any doubt as to what is considered acceptable behavior within the halls of the township. A defense based on a plea of ignorance — or the lack of specific ethics guidelines — is now extinct as a result of the acceptance of the document. The rules are now clear; those falling under the wings of this document know exactly what they may and may not do.

Growth in the township has changed this community dramatically in the past few years. Millionaire developers lick their chops at the thought of expensive homes and resulting profit margins.

One board member commented a couple of months ago that it would be ridiculous to take a payoff for anything involved with the business of the township. There's not enough money to make it worthwhile, the person joked. But there is big money floating around out there. We think it is proper for those affiliated with township government to know exactly where they stand on ethical matters, and also to know the public will hold them accountable for their decisions.

All the news is not good in a city recycling effort

There is good news and bad news on the recycling front.

The good news is the Northville City Council's recent move to require city residents to separate grass clippings from the rest of their weekly garbage.

The bad news is the council also decided to cut back on the number of days the city recycling center is open.

Grass clippings take up a tremendous share of local landfill space during the summer months. As everyone knows, landfill space is diminishing and prices for the scarce space left are soaring. Northville, like most communities, is facing increasing landfill costs at every turn. The council is seeking creative and environmentally sound ways to lower those costs by lowering the city's total garbage load. That leads directly to more reliance on recycling programs.

Recycling grass clippings, or rather composting them, is a good step in that direction. The city already makes good use of a composting program for the massive amount of leaves raked up by residents each fall. These leaves are composted instead of stored in plastic bags, which means far less space used in landfills. The cost of dumping the leaves at the Michigan Composting Yard in Salem is half of that charged for landfilling the same amount at the Arbor Hills site.

The move to separate out grass clippings will help as well. As part of that program the city will require residents to use clear plastic bags for all garbage beginning May 1. A separate collection will be made for the clippings and the clear bags will allow the trash collectors to know instantly which bag contains garbage, and which holds the clippings.

Other communities have gone to color-coded garbage bags which must be supplied to residents. Brown for glass, yellow for grass clippings, white for garbage — that sort of thing. The city's determination to use clear bags solves the color-coding need. Collectors will be able to see at a glance what the bags hold and the right collector will pick up the right stuff. This will work even if the city goes to a curbside collection of recyclable glass, cans and plastic.

The bad news side of the changes made last week by the council involves the changing of days and hours at the city recycling center at 650 Doheny Drive. Beginning April 1 the center will only be open on Saturdays. The center will have longer Saturday hours, running from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., a definite improvement over the old Saturday hours of noon to 4 p.m. However, the center had been open six days a week, Monday through Friday from 7 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Restricting the days and times the facility is open is not in the best interest of the program. Probably the majority of the city residents can live with an expanded Saturday-only schedule. But the lack of any weekday time will definitely affect the number of businesses making use of the facility, and that is a shame.

It would seem that a move to increase hours, not limit them, is in the spirit of the drive to get people to recycle. The city does have a problem with people not following directions for separating items. This can lead to the expensive problem of recycling centers turning back loads. Better education, not a decrease in hours, would appear to be the answer there.

The cutback in hours was undertaken so that two Department of Public Works employees could be on duty to supervise the site. One of the reasons given for requiring the supervision is that residents from other communities use the Northville center. Since all of the neighboring communities — Northville Township, Novi, Plymouth, Plymouth Township, and Livonia — have recycling centers of their own, the chances of an overwhelming number of outside users seems slight.

We urge the council to reconsider the restricted hours at the center while encouraging residents to learn the proper methods for recycling. Not knowing will cost us all in the end.

Sunny days

By Ann Willis

Ahhh, spring.

My head may know that January 1 is the official start of the new year, but the day a warm sun hits my face and a gentle breeze lifts my hair — that's the beginning of things for me.

There's a wonderful smell to spring. The first day you step outside without a coat on and feel the grass a little spongy beneath your feet — you can smell it. Clean. Warm. Hopeful.

You can hear spring, too. Windows are open and cars go by with radios on, a bit too loud. Because music sounds better in a car with all the windows rolled down. That's spring as much as the shouts of kids and the sounds of birds.

When I squint into the sun and reach for a sweater, not a down jacket, I suddenly feel inspired. I can do anything. I can run faster and jump higher. While January may give the appearance of a fresh slate and a whole new year of possibilities, it's actually a month of turning in, not turning out. Who ever heard of January cleaning? No way. We wait for the warm rays of sun and the clean feel of a spring rain to inspire us to organize closets and clean cobwebs. Because spring is for beginnings.

Mornings it's a pleasure to get out of bed. The dawn is warm with hints of pink peeking above the trees outside my window.

It's easier to take a breather during hectic days when the sun is high and the weather's nice. No more of the head down, walk fast, keep-working-till-you-drop, syndrome. Now it's walk slow, breathe deep, head up, smile-on-the-face, ready to chat at a moment's notice.

The days have such potential when they're not dreary.

Tasks that seemed the worst sort of torture during the winter, now are easy. Washing the car, walking the dog, carrying out the trash. It's nice to be outside, working without gloves and without the feel of slush inside your boots.

Springtime is like arriving home after a long journey very far away. Suddenly old friends are back. People you haven't spoken to in months are out in their yards or walking around the block. Tricycles and skateboards wind between joggers and strollers. The sights of spring.

Ahhh, beginnings.

Stretching it

Changing scenery

By Bob Needham

It really looks like it's going to happen.

There really is going to be a building on the southwest corner of Main and Center streets.

I know, that's not exactly a news flash. We've known about that building for ages now, right? Right. But . . .

As you may recall, the MainCentre project now under construction was not the first building proposed for that site. Not by a long shot. The corner has seemed almost cursed at times, playing host to one failed proposal after another. I remember a couple of other attempts to develop the site, and I haven't been here all that long. There were others that I don't remember.

When Singh Development appeared on the scene, I talked to more than a few people who figured they were just one more link in an endless chain of would-be developers. Myself, I wasn't sure, but I certainly wouldn't have been surprised if that's the way it had worked out.

Although the project is far from complete — and although I've heard a comment or two recently wondering why things aren't moving along more quickly — it looks to me like Singh has proved the skeptics wrong.

The steel girders are going into place, cinder-block walls are rising, and I occasionally see someone stop by the leasing office across the street. MainCentre, the largest single building to go up in Northville in years, $900 rents and all, is becoming reality.

I'm used to seeing building projects go from the drawing board to completion, but MainCentre is something else. I sat through the seemingly endless string of city council and planning commission meetings in which the project's design was roughed out, haggled over, refined, adjusted and finally approved. I watched while the wreckers tore down the old Northville Lanes building, and I still have a memorial bowling pin sitting on my shelf (really). I've looked out the office window and wondered just what the development will do to my view down Sheldon (eliminate it, I'm pretty sure).

The effects of MainCentre are probably going to be wide-ranging, especially once the fabled parking deck gets underway. Will it dramatically improve the retail business climate downtown? Will it raise apartment rents throughout the rest of the community? Will it noticeably increase traffic in the area?

We'll see. The only thing that's clear right now is that the building is indeed going to materialize — but that's a lot more than we've ever been able to say before.

Property tax hikes prompt complaints

Fellow Citizens of Northville:
Are you happy with the amount you are paying in property taxes? Have you ever seen a government project come in below budget? Can you remember when your taxes went down, or the increase was less than the rate of inflation? Do we really want more people on the local government payroll? Are you going to get hundreds of dollars of enjoyment over the next few years from a library? Why is it that these government projects end up with so many "chiefs" and so few "Indians" (e.g. the Board of Education and administrators)? The time has come to start saying "no." All these projects sound nice; however, since they involve no competition and other people spending your money, they are typically as efficient as an eastern bloc country.

Vote no on the library and start sending a message to local government.

Bob Nelson

ding a new library. And they, therefore, do not present a unanimous voice in support of a new building out in the territories.

To be sure, all who use the current library must by now agree on the need for more space and better facilities. Ever use the Novi library? Very nice. I want one for my town.

I am not an architect and so not blessed with the ability to envision the best possible blend of form and function in a new (or renovated) structure. But can anyone picture a more perfect location for a library than the one available at the east end of town with the added small town touches: pond, water wheel and feathered guests?

I suggest our city and township officials step back and take a breath. This free lunch (from the Haller family) may have an odor.

Bruce Dingwall

To the Editor:

Let's talk about pollution. No one wants a landfill near their abode, for obvious reasons. But the fact remains that garbage has to go beyond our garbage cans. Logically, when the cans in the house are full, we put the refuse in an outside receptacle for a weekly pickup. We're speaking of household garbage — pollution, right?

But there is another garbage/pollution problem that is not for a weekly pickup, more a daily one. This problem absolutely bugs the heck out of me, makes me old Irish blood boil, and is driving me to think unethical thoughts. And that folks, is your dog's poop in my yard.

I know nothing about your dog's health vaccines, or your dog's preference for vittles, and don't really give a care, except when your dog poops on my property. And then I really give a care as this is disgusting, filthy, gross, unneighborly, rude, crude and unacceptable.

The leash laws in Northville are not enforced, and I suggest that they be, and quickly, before neighbors come to blows with one another. At one time, I had seven alien canines depositing almost on a daily basis. Now, if you want to exercise your canine, find a spot in the country, let it run wild, depositing its poop. Hopefully, a gentleman farmer won't pull a shot gun on you or your pooper! Or, take a ride out to Maybury Park; the law there is "dog on a six foot leash."

Emphatically, I do not want any of your canines' deposits probably loaded with worms — Trichurata, Strongylata, or any of the other mentioned in Craig and Faust's Clinical Parasitology — left on my premises. I am sick of my tennie treads stuffed with your animal's always most-awful nutritionally cuisine habits.

Should we brown bag it for a day? You do get my drift, don't you?

Susan Butz

Job well done

To the Editor:

I was the driver (victim) in an accident which occurred in the Eight Mile Road — Haggerty intersection at 2 p.m. on Saturday, Feb. 10, 1990.

The response time of your police officers, fire department rescue people and EMS personnel was rapid beyond belief and the care and sensitivity shown my wife and me, was greatly appreciated.

While our injuries were not life-threatening, they might have been and the speed and expertise of these valiant men could have spelled the difference.

Too often we complain about the use to which our tax money is put, but when we see (in action) the recipients of some of that revenue when the chips may be down for some of us, it makes it all worthwhile.

Thank you for a job well done.

The perfect site?

To the Editor:

Whoa! Unless I missed some of my mail, the Friends of the Library Board of Directors did not solicit views from the membership regar-

Red Ribbon Week was a big a event

This is another in the continuing series of columns by Northville Public Schools' Student Assistance Program Coordinator Charlie Stilec.

There I sat with family, friends and associates at the Red Ribbon Week "Kick Off Dinner" at Genitti's Hole In The Wall Monday evening. The air was festive, friendly, the hospitality excellent and the dinner, delicious. It was truly in every sense of the word, a happening, an event of great magnitude. We witnessed progress in the war against drugs on the forefront of Northville, its groups, citizens, families, schools and businesses who were all represented well.

As someone on the firing line I felt a sense of cooperation, concern and working together not before witnessed as this. Let's examine for a moment what the guest of honor, speaker Col. Richard Atchison, presented as the key to the future in the battle against drugs and alcohol. What he described is what we in Northville have attained if we work hard together, communicate and get involved, taking action where necessary!

What we have is people, of all ages and situations who are aware of the crippling affects from the abuse of alcohol, drugs and cigarettes. The people who are recovering drug addicts and alcoholics and who use, and those who are affected almost daily by others use, TV, radio and the press. We can't get away from the results and the causes. We are, whether we like it or not, involved.

The schools, with the acceptance of the Michigan Health Model as well as the diligent work by individual teachers and administrators, educate our children and families about substance use and abuse. At our high school the Student Assistance Program zeros in on the problem and deals directly with students who are in recovery, those that are using and also those who have never used. By the use of the support group concept there is an active program of intervention, support and referral when necessary. Active SADD chapters at the high school and middle school provide lots of encouragement, energy and awareness. The PTAs have been instrumental in providing members and programs to support the anti drug programs as well as self-esteem programs such as the Laurie Stewart presentations at the high school and evening parent program.

Businesses such as Genitti's Hole In The Wall, M-Care, Main Street Hair Affair, who have opened their doors to the Northville Action Council and SADD in their fight against substance abuse. Financial assistance has been forthcoming and it is wonderful. A special thanks to Phil's 76 for the crashed cars we use. The key to all we are doing comes from a positive relationship and support from the Northville Record, specifically Ann Willis, managing editor, Mike Tyree, reporter, and photographer Chris Boyd. They are truly wonderful people.

Churches such as the Presbyterian Church, United Methodist, St. Paul's and Our Lady of Victory who attend the NAC meetings, provide support for the programs in our community as well as providing their own awareness programs and hosting AA, NA and other support group meetings.

What we have are our political leaders such as the Mayor, the Township Supervisor, City Council and the Township Board of Trustees also supporting such activities as the Red Ribbon Campaign.

Clubs and organizations such as the Mothers Club, Recreation Department and Chamber of Commerce provide much needed support and are there when we need them.

What we have are the treatment centers that service our students and families as well as provide professional assistance to our schools and business in terms of drug education and awareness. Psychotherapy and counseling are available through Northville Youth Assistance as well as the new addition of the Northville Counseling Center.

At long last we see a true integration of all the above services in the efforts against drug and alcohol abuse. The thread that brings all these services and efforts together is the Northville Action Council whose hard working members donate their time so that others will be "Drug Free." March 4 - March 10 was NAC Red Ribbon Week as well as National PTA Drug Awareness Week. The Red Ribbons you saw flying, the Genitti's Red Ribbon Week Kick-off Dinner, the T-shirts for every student with the message "The Choice for me is Drug Free", and the guest speaker L.A. Stewart at the high school, was what the Northville Action Council is all about. It's about a group of people who give their time to save others. They labor hard for internal rewards.

I believe I have portrayed wellness in Northville. It takes a lot of work but we have the tools. We need the bodies to use the tools so please come and get involved.

Our next Northville Acton meeting is tonight, March 15, 7 p.m. at City Hall. We aren't real fancy but we care, please be there!

More for less

By Tim Richard

Better quality schools don't have to cost more money. Three chaps said that on the record last week. Honest.

They were U.S. Rep. Carl Pursell, a Republican whose district includes Northville; Gov. Jim Blanchard, a Democrat; and Prof. Theodore Sizer, a nonpartisan expert imported from Brown University to speak at a conference in Dearborn.

"We're spending millions on research in Washington that no one is using," Pursell, R-Plymouth, said in a telephone interview.

Without new money, he said, the federal government can make incentive grants to spread the word by funding an educational research center in each state. He has introduced a bill to fund such centers.

A former teacher whose wife still teaches in Livonia, Pursell said more attention should be directed to elementary education, where future dropouts already can be identified through such social factors as divorce, single parents and drug usage.

"Most elementary schools don't have counselors. The counselors are in the wrong place," Pursell said.

Blanchard, speaking to 450 Michigan teachers and principals in Dearborn at a conference sponsored by the State Board of Education, confessed that "I don't have any rabbits to pull out of the hat.

"The key is to find those success stories . . . showcase them . . . so we can get more of them.

"The real key to positive change is rewarding it," he said, citing the new system of grants to "lighthouse schools" trying experimental teaching methods.

"More people than we realize think more money is the answer. I'm absolutely convinced money helps . . . as an incentive. Don't just sprinkle it around but more focus.

"If it (money) is handed to 'em (schools) in revenue sharing, it disappears into thin air."

The most startling revelations came from Prof. Theodore Sizer, 57, the visitor from Brown University and keynote of the Dearborn conference. He was written up for six pages in the Feb. 26 U.S. News & World Report.

Sizer urges high schools to abandon the system where one teacher sees 160 to 200 students a semester while teaching one academic specialty.

Sizer said teachers should see no more than 80 students in twice as many hours.

How? By teaching a combination of courses such as English and history or algebra and chemistry.

"Personalization is the heart of it," said Sizer, a former principal and Harvard education dean. "The teacher becomes a generalist. Now, the only ones in high school expected to be generalists are the kids and librarians."

We got the system of breaking up high school into four to seven 45-minute compartments and rotating students between teachers as the result of "late 19th-century turf battles in universities." The effect is "no intellectual coherence" between (say) French, U.S. history and algebra.

The result is that high schools are like a "suburban shopping mall" offering a "blizzard" of electives.

In Sizer's system, the teacher becomes more like an athletic coach, advising and encouraging, not just lecturing. Fewer courses are offered in greater depth.

It's just a matter of how you organize your resources, not money, said Sizer, whose 52-member organization is called the Coalition of Essential Schools.

Tim Richard heads the news service of Suburban Communications Corporation, which publishes The Northville Record.

COMMISSION ORDER CFI-103.90

(Under the authority of Act 230 of the Public Acts of 1925, as amended)

GEAR RESTRICTIONS FOR STREAM FISHING DURING SALMON AND STEELHEAD RUNS

Under the authority of Act 230 of the Public Acts of 1925, as amended, being sections 300.1 through 300.5 of the Michigan Compiled Laws, the Natural Resources Commission at its February 14, 1990, meeting ordered that for a period of five years the following gear restrictions shall be in effect:

On any stream, except the St. Mary's, St. Clair, and Detroit Rivers, before May 15 or after August 31 of each year, except otherwise permitted under the authority of a salmon snagging stamp, it shall be unlawful to:

1. Use multi-pointed hooks exceeding 3/4-inch between point and shank or single-pointed hooks exceeding 1/2-inch.
2. Use a hook, fly or lure having more than one single pointed hook if a weight is rigidly attached to the hook or suspended from or below the hook.
3. Use any hook attached to the line between any weight and the rod, except on an unweighted dropper line at least 3 inches long.

The intent of this regulation is to allow the baited hook or the lure to suspend freely in the water, allowing the fish to take the hook or lure in its mouth.

This order supersedes the Commission Order entitled "Gear Restrictions for Stream Fishing during Salmon and Steelhead Runs", effective April 1, 1985, and assigned number CFI-103.85.

This order shall take effect on April 1, 1990, and shall remain effective through March 31, 1995.

Key performer South Lyon business opens doors

By PHYLLIS STILLMAN

Locksmith Bob Di Lorenzo of Lyon Lock & Key, a mobile locksmithing business, could perhaps be best described as a former "locksmith to the stars."

Before coming to South Lyon, he was in business for nine years in Hendersonville, Tenn., located just outside of Nashville. He has worked on the locks of such country music stars as Roy Orbison, Johnny Cash, Barbara Mandrell, Conway Twitty and Kenny Rogers. "They want discounts just like anyone else," said Di Lorenzo.

For many of us, locksmiths generally come to mind when we lock ourselves out of our car or home. Di Lorenzo, who works with two of his seven children, Billy and Christy, will be happy to rescue stranded motorists and homeowners anywhere in Oakland County and nearby communities.

Although Lyon Lock & Key is primarily a mobile operation, Di Lorenzo is in the process of setting up a small store in his home and is also looking for a store in downtown South Lyon. His phone number is 437-8082, or 437-7752 for night-time emergencies.

He frequently runs special discount offers and always offers a 10 percent discount to senior citizens. He does both residential and commercial work, offering discounts for large volume, new construction installations.

Di Lorenzo prides himself on being fair. "Most locksmiths will charge the service call. Then they'll charge you more to go out of their town. If it's after business hours, some locksmiths will charge you extra. Some locksmiths will even charge you labor on top of the service call. They'll just figure the service call as a road charge."

"My service call rates are the same whether it's a Monday during regular business hours, whether it's 12 at night, or whether it's on Saturdays or Sundays, or holidays. The only holidays that I will charge a little bit higher rate would be on Christmas or New Year's, and that's only a small percentage increase. I run my business seven days a week, 24 hours a day."

One way you can assist a locksmith who is trying to get you into your home or car is to keep track of the key codes that come with most keys.

'I can't stand people taking advantage of other people. A lot of locksmiths will think it's just a one-time stop-off. But if you give people good service, six months or eight months or a year from now, they're going to call you back. That's exactly what I have here now in town — I'm called back.'

— Bob Di Lorenzo

If you can give Di Lorenzo a key code, he can make a key and bring it out to you. Not only is that quicker and cheaper, but it also avoids the possibility of having to drill through your lock if the lock can't be opened, or "picked."

Di Lorenzo also wants to be sure the customer doesn't have unnecessary work done. "If someone calls and asks to have their locks changed, if it's a good brand-name lock, I'll try to talk them out of changing their lock and just have the combination changed, tumblers changed and the springs changed, so this way a new key will work it and they'll have their original lock. This way they don't have to pay the price of installing a new lock."

Di Lorenzo points out that locks you may buy on sale at a hardware or discount store are often of lower quality, with parts which cannot be fixed. If something goes wrong with that kind of lock, the whole lock must be replaced, he said.

All of the locks Di Lorenzo sells are top quality and his work is all guaranteed, he said. "When I do lock work, the manufacturer guarantees their locks for a certain number of days. I double their guarantee. So if a manufacturer guarantees it for 30 days, that lock is guaranteed for 60 days. The lock will be serviced or replaced free of charge. If I install a lock, I give an additional six months guarantee on the labor."

Di Lorenzo, a disabled veteran who served in Vietnam, became a locksmith in 1975, shortly after getting out of the service.

In the relatively short time Lyon Lock & Key has been in South Lyon, Di Lorenzo has been able to establish a business with a lot of repeat customers. He credits the quality of his merchandise and his dedication to fairness as reasons for his success.

"I can't stand people taking advantage of other people. A lot of locksmiths will think it's just a one-time stop-off. But if you give people good service, six months or eight months or a year from now, they're going to call you back. That's exactly what I have here now in town — I'm called back."

Being in the security business, Di Lorenzo has some tips for keeping your home safe. For example, a deadbolt lock is the most secure lock, he said.

"You must have at least a one-inch bolt so it will go into the door frame as far as it can. The locks that I sell have a steel pin inside the dead bolt. So if someone tries to saw through, they'll get to that pin and the pin will just roll," explained Di Lorenzo.

There are several different kinds of deadbolts. "If you have a door and you want to have a deadbolt put in, if it's a door with glass in it, use a double cylinder deadbolt where you have to use a key on both sides." He points out that this type of lock, while the most secure, should be used cautiously if children or the elderly will be operating the lock.

Doorknob locks can also be safe

Tax deductions appear in all sizes

Before you sign your 1989 tax return, take a second look at your list of deductions. According to the Michigan Association of CPAs, many taxpayers prepare their returns hastily and thus cheat themselves out of tax deductions to which they are legally entitled.

Here's a quick list of some tax breaks you may have overlooked in your haste.

PAYCHECK DEDUCTIONS

If you haven't reviewed your paycheck deductions, now is the time to do so. Your paycheck stubs can be the key to a number of deductions, such as automatic contributions to charities or co-payments for medical insurance.

STATE AND LOCAL INCOME TAX DEDUCTIONS

If you paid state and local income tax last April for the balance of 1988, you may be able to deduct that amount on this year's return. Let's look at an example. The calculations on Tom's 1988 state and local return, prepared in April 1989, showed he still owed some $600 in state and local income tax. He paid that tax at the same time that he filed his return. Since the tax was actually paid in 1989, Tom may deduct that amount on this year's federal income tax return.

MISCELLANEOUS EXPENSES

Miscellaneous expenses are deductible to the extent they exceed 2 percent of adjusted gross income (AGI). Once you pass that hurdle, you can deduct a wide variety of expenses, including the cost of professional subscriptions, job-related education, union dues and uniforms, job-hunting expenses, resume services, professional fees to accountants and various unreimbursed business expenses.

Money Management

MOVING EXPENSES

You may be able to deduct your unreimbursed moving expenses — within specified limits — if you moved within one year of starting a new job or relocating with your current employer if you meet certain requirements. For example, the distance from your old home to your new job must be at least 35 miles farther than the distance from your old home to your old job (or old job locations). Eligible expenses may include a renter's lost security deposit, fees charged by a moving company and transportation costs for traveling to your new residence.

POINTS PAID TO OBTAIN A PRIMARY MORTGAGE

If you obtained a mortgage to purchase a primary residence last year and paid the points with personal funds, you may be able to deduct the points in full on your 1989 return. Sheila, for example, bought her first house with a $100,000 mortgage. She paid the mortgage lender three points, or $3,000, with funds withdrawn from her savings account. As a result, she is entitled to a $3,000 interest deduction on her tax return.

VOLUNTEER EXPENSES

If you volunteer for a charitable organization, you may have overlooked some deductible expenses, including the cost of transportation and uniforms. Just make sure that you check the charity's tax status. All tax-exempt organizations are listed in the Internal Revenue Service's Publication 78.

MEDICAL DEDUCTIONS

Medical expenses are deductible only to the extent that they exceed 7.5 percent of one's AGI. As a result, few taxpayers are able to take advantage of such deductions. However, CPAs say you should not assume the deduction is automatically out of reach. Take the time to add up all unreimbursed medical expenses for the diagnosis, cure, treatment and prevention of disease. You can even include your bus, cab or train fare to a doctor's office.

Consider, too, such commonly overlooked expenses as a wheelchair, crutches, guide dog, hearing aids, courses taken to learn braille and eyeglasses. And if you make certain physical alterations to your home for medical reasons, such as widening doors to accommodate a wheelchair, the cost may likewise be considered a medical expense.

HEALTH INSURANCE DEDUCTION FOR THE SELF-EMPLOYED

If you are self-employed, you can deduct from your gross income up to 25 percent of the health insurance premiums paid for yourself and your family. You may include the remaining 75 percent in your other unreimbursed medical expenses, which are subject to the 7.5 percent floor.

SIMPLIFIED EMPLOYEE PENSION (SEP) CONTRIBUTIONS

If you are self-employed, you have until April 16, 1990 to establish an SEP account and make a contribution that is deductible on 1989's return. The contribution is generally limited to the lesser of 15 percent of earned income or $30,000. Since there are other rules and restrictions, you may want to contact a CPA for the details.

INVESTMENT INTEREST

Under rules introduced by the 1986 tax act, interest on investment loans is fully deductible up to the amount of net investment income. For 1989, you may also deduct up to an additional 20 percent of $10,000, or up to $2,000, of the interest in excess of your net investment income. This additional tax break is further reduced in 1990 and will disappear by 1991.

RENTAL LOSSES

If you own rental property, you are probably aware that losses from such property can only be deducted from passive income. However, if you actively participated in renting your property, and your AGI is $100,000 or less, you can deduct losses of up to $25,000 from your regular income. For owners with an AGI above $100,000, the deduction may be limited or totally eliminated.

These are just a few of the deductions you may have overlooked. For more detailed information, contact your CPA.

from burglars if you buy a lock with a "dead-bolt latch" — which is a cylinder underneath the latch that won't retract without the key so the lock can't be forced open with a credit card.

What about sliding glass doors? "The best thing you can do on a sliding glass door is get a piece of broomstick or pipe to put in the track."

Di Lorenzo also cautions that if you are buying a lock for a fire door, a special lock is needed — a lock that won't melt with heat.

The locksmith recalled an incident which illustrates that even businesses that require a high degree of security sometimes aren't as secure as they need to be. The story also illustrates the perils of his profession, he said.

Once, while working in Tennessee, he was contacted by a local council member to change the locks on an office on the lower level of a mini-mall. One of the council member's staff told him to work on the "black door." He proceeded to pick the doorknob and deadbolt locks, then returned to his truck for other tools.

"I went back down and started looking for a certain tool. All of a sudden I hear click, click, click, click — there were about five cops behind me. I'd picked open the basement door to the Citizen's Bank."

It turned out the staff member had directed him to the wrong door. He was supposed to be working on the door opposite the black door. "It just goes to show you that even a bank doesn't have good locks sometimes. I mean I just picked those open in a matter of three minutes."

Di Lorenzo once changed all the locks on the home of Bill Golden, at that time one of the Oak Ridge Boys. Golden wasn't going to be home, so he asked Di Lorenzo to take the new keys down to his office, where the staff was to make sure Golden got them. They didn't.

"He got home about 5 at night. About 7 at night, he was still waiting. He's got his big, old grey-stretch limousine and he sat in there for a few hours. Finally, he called me on his mobile phone and asked me to let him in his house," said Di Lorenzo.

The lock job had cost over $400 because of the large number of rooms in the home.

"Because the key was left in the office and the girl didn't bring it to him, he was afraid that somebody could have made a copy of it. He had me do all the lock work over again. It cost him about $800 for one day's work."

Garage sale season

Stumped over how to get ready for your garage sale? Try some of the tips listed here

Be organized for your sale – and pray for sunshine

By Dawn Riffenburg

Is this the year for that garage sale you've been threatening to have to get rid of all that stuff cluttering up your garage, attic and several closets?

As soon as the weather starts to get warmer, it's garage sale season.

The first thing to do is sort through the clutter and decide what it is that you want to sell. Veteran garage-salers cite this as a key step that should be done as early as possible.

Clear out closets and attics, go through the boxes in the basement, and make a pile of things you no longer need, want or use. Go through this pile and discard anything that is broken beyond repair or in particularly bad shape.

"Have the items as clean as possible," said Karen Anderson of Brighton Garden Club, a member of the club's annual white elephant sale. She is also a survivor of several of her own garage sales.

When you're arranging the sale items in your garage, Anderson likes to group like things together, rather than spread them out. This could mean placing kitchen appliances near tableware, or all of the knick-knacks together.

One crucial factor in the success of your garage sale is something that's completely beyond your control.

"Pray for good weather," Anderson said. "The weather does play a large part in a successful sale. I think if you're a garage sale nut, you go regardless of the weather, but a lot of people could be put off by bad weather."

Other tips for a successful sale include:

- Make sure there's enough space in your garage or driveway for people to walk around. If people can't get to what they want to see or buy, they won't.

- Create a "free" box of things you absolutely want to get rid of but don't think anyone would buy. A free box is also an attraction to many people. "As it gets depleted and the sale goes on, add things that aren't selling to the box," suggested Anderson.

- Remove from your garage things you don't want to sell. This may sound like common sense, but even tools hanging on walls or lawnmowers or other equipment tucked back in corners aren't safe.

- Furniture is a big seller at garage sales. People look for bedroom and kitchen sets especially. Typewriters, stereos and kitchen appliances are other popular items.

- If it's a nice day, you won't mind sitting outside and minding the sale. But if the weather is cold or nasty, take turns staying outside with another member of the family.

Obviously, someone should always remain outside to keep an eye on the sale for security reasons, but also for social reasons: often people visiting the sale like to chat.

"I'm a good listener, and I find people very interesting," Anderson said. "But a couple of times, I've gotten life stories."

- Decide on a policy for accepting checks. It's a particularly good idea for larger items that may be more than someone expected to spend.

- For large items, people may need to get a truck; always take a deposit and a name, address and phone number as well. If there is money down on it, someone's a lot less likely to change their mind, and if they do, you'll know it.

- A sale can either be one day or a weekend, depending on the amount to sell. Anderson had a moving sale in January and she reported that "People came the day before, right up to and past 4 o'clock on Saturday."

Around the House: Designs for Living

A luxurious, efficient design

By James McAlexander

The distinctive contemporary Chestnut gives an impression of luxury, yet follows specifications for energy efficiency. It uses extra insulation and vinyl moisture barriers in the walls, ceiling and floors, and an inside utility for conservation.

A sheltered entryway outside prepares the guest for an experience in a unique home. Secluded from general family activity in this part of the house is the master suite, with a vaulted ceiling and spacious closets. The luxurious master bath features a double vanity and separate shower enclosure, as well as a large oval tub highlighted with natural light and a plant bar.

The entry hall continues to the living room, where the ceiling is vaulted for a view of the loft and bridges above. Plans call for a fireplace here, to be enjoyed from the quiet dining area as well.

The kitchen has a great deal of cabinet and counter space and shares the major view with the living and dining rooms. A serving bar between the kitchen and family room works well for informal meals and snacks.

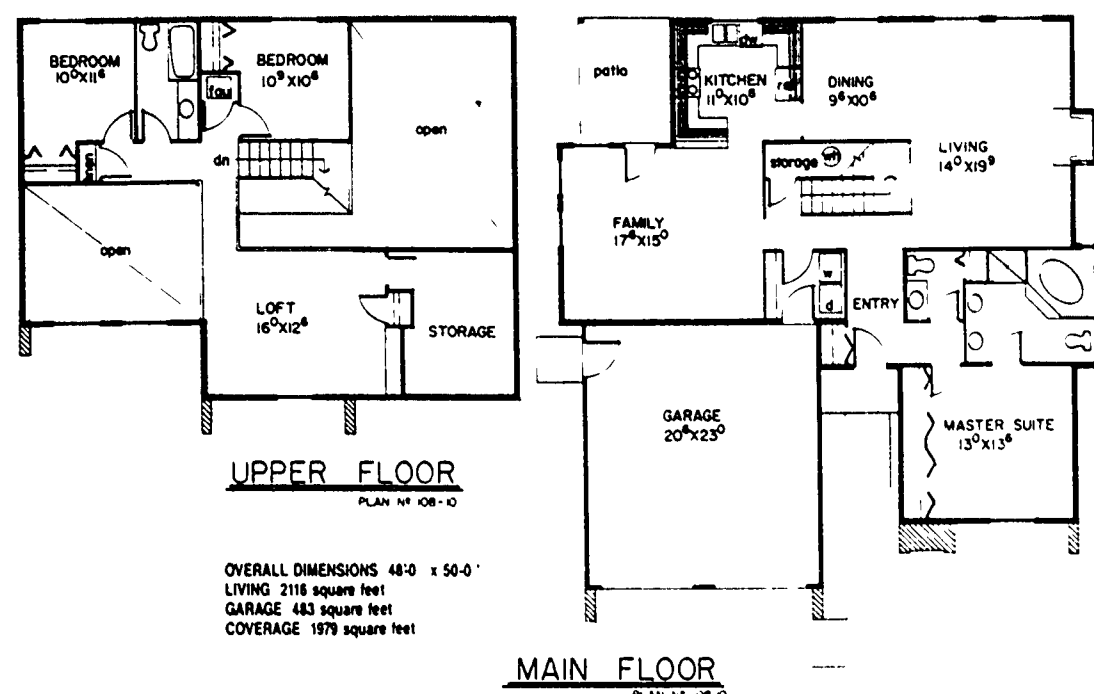

The family room renews the view of the lofts by its own high-vaulted ceiling, adding clerestory windows. A doorway to a covered patio enhances the possible uses of this room. The utility is placed nearby, at the base of an attraction center stairwell that leads to the bridge connecting the loft and the upstairs bedrooms.

The loft is open to both the family and living rooms, and allows access to a surprisingly large storage room. The two upstairs bedrooms again open to the major view and also share a large bath and linen storage.

For a study plan of the Chestnut (108-10), send $5 to Landmark Designs, P.O. Box 2307 CN, Eugene, OR 97402. (Be sure to specify plan name and number when ordering.)

Around the House Repairs

No need to cry over spilled ink

By Gene Gary

Q: A bottle of ink was tipped over on a desk in the den, staining both the desk top and the carpeting.

Do you have any suggestions on how to remove these unsightly ink stains?—R.T.

A: There are commercial ink-removing products on the market that are very effective. However, I would hesitate to recommend using this on carpeting without testing first in an inconspicuous place to assure that the carpet coloring will not be bleached in the process.

One product that is excellent for removing numerous stains, including ink stains, is Didi Seven (1686 Larkin-Williams Road, Fenton, MO 63026), which is available at larger hardware stores. This product is effective in removing the stains of natural inks from natural and synthetic fabrics which are colorfast. However, it should be tested first to assure that the material is colorfast.

An important factor is the variety of inks on the market. Some manufacturers have been using additives to keep ink from fading over time. These are colorfast dyes, which cannot be removed by a product like Didi Seven.

If the ink stain is just on the surface of the carpet, you may want to try snipping the stained fiber ends of the rug with manicure scissors.

Some types of ink can be removed by washing with soap and water, or try a half-and-half mixture of household ammonia and hydrogen peroxide.

Other solutions recommended for ink removal (but not for carpeting) include a solution of one part sulphuric acid to four parts water, adding the acid to the water to avoid splattering. Oxalic acid, 1/2 ounce to 1/2 pint of warm water, should also serve.

To remove stains of indelible ink, including ballpoint ink, saturate a strip of cotton or soft cloth with ammonia and put it over the stain until the stain fades. Or apply a poultice of chlorinated lime with an equal part of whiting, made into a paste with warm water.

In any case, make a test in a small, inconspicuous area first. It is possible that any one of these removers may change the color of the surface.

Surface stains on a non-porous surface can be often removed with a pad of soap-impregnated steel wool dipped in warm water. On wood, you may have to refinish the area after the stain removal.

Q: We live in a condominium near the ocean that has copper roofing over a window and deck area. What was once a lovely sheen has turned to a dark dingy brown.

I have tried numerous types of cleaners and polishes to no avail. Can you suggest something that I can use to restore the original sheen to this roofing material?—C.G.

A: Unfortunately, the sheen on your copper roof cannot be restored to look like it was when new. Your roofing is going through a natural weathering process called oxidation, which will last several years. Just how long depends on climactic conditions.

Actually, the corrosion-resistant process is the very thing that makes copper roofs so appealing and maintenance-free. Your roof is far enough into the process that it would be impossible to restore the shine. However, it will not stay the dingy brown you see today. Streaks of green will begin to develop, and finally the entire roof will turn a soft green.

Good/bad news for home buyers

By James M. Woodard

There is good news and bad news for home buyers in current proposals for the fiscal 1991 budget. It's an indicator of things to come.

On the good news side, the budget calls for increases in funding some Department of Housing and Urban Development housing programs. And it contains a provision allowing first-time home buyers to use Individual Retirement Account (IRA) funds for a down payment on a home without penalty.

Another positive step forward is the creation of a new housing initiative in the budget: Homeownership Opportunity for People Everywhere (HOPE). This will at least promote more constructive debate on housing, which may pressure legislators and government leaders to take actions that will help more families enjoy the benefits of home ownership.

The new budget proposals include funding HUD Section 8 contract renewals, and replacing expired contracts with new ones. Funding will be provided for counseling assistance on housing. Funds will also be allocated to continue the urban home-owning program, providing home ownership opportunities for low-income families.

On the bad news side, cuts are being proposed for the Federal Housing Administration program. The changes will be pegged to results of an independent audit of FHA, now under way.

Those changes will probably include an increase in the minimum down payment on FHA-insured loans—and an increase in mortgage insurance premiums home buyers must pay.

Most real estate industry leaders do not like these changes.

"Such changes could undermine the affordability of FHA home financing," said Norman Flynn, president of the National Association of Realtors.

The NAR president also takes a strong position against the proposed repeal of certain mortgage loan guaranty and subsidy assistance programs that would help to finance more housing projects for low-income families.

"It appears the Bush administration is trying to enhance the federal government's role in housing," Flynn said. "But NAR is extremely concerned about certain cutbacks, particularly those adversely affecting FHA financing programs."

Q: Where are the highest and lowest-cost housing markets in the United States?

A: The highest cost citywide market is Honolulu, where the median home price is $280,900. The lowest cost market is in Peoria, Ill., where the median price is $47,200.

In other words, if you are transferred from Peoria to Honolulu and moved from one median priced home to another, you would shell out nearly six times as much money for your cozy Honolulu residence.

If you find yourself in that kind of situation, be sure to ask for a "salary supplement" to ease the pain of moving to a higher-cost area. Or at least ask for a substantial one-time bonus. This is a commonly accepted practice in today's inconsistent real estate market.

Be organized (and pray for sunshine) for sale

which was when I advertised it was over," she said.

•Give yourself plenty of time to organize, sort, and start the pricing early. One veteran garage-seller said she had to take the day before her sale off because she had so much to do. That night, she also stayed up until 1 a.m. putting little price stickers on items.

•Pricing is difficult. One suggestion is to ask for 10 percent of what you paid for it new—for a $10 item, ask for $1. That formula is a rough one at best. Visit some sales, see what people are charging. Be aware that often you will be asked to negotiate on a price. Decide ahead of time what your reaction will be when someone points to a $60 couch and says "I'll give you $40."

•Advertise. People look in the paper to see where the sales are and who has what they may want. It's also a good idea to list items that you think will draw customers. "Things like refrigerators, organs, rockers and antiques are a good bet," said Grace Perry, Sliger/Livingston Publications' classified ad manager. "Don't just list 'miscellaneous.' That could be anything."

When advertising, include the address and the nearest crossroads, the dates and especially the hours of the sale. In addition, a free garage-sale kit can be obtained at each newspaper office in the Sliger/L

Livingston chain, including Brighton, Howell, Milford, South Lyon and Northville.

Each kit includes two garage sale signs, two arrows, a garage sale ledger (to help you keep track of the big bucks you're making) and useful tips on how to make your garage sale a really good one.

Although the garage sale season really picks up after Memorial Day, it's never too soon to start planning and organizing.

Special care needed for quilts

By Madeline Hunter

Q: I have some quilts at home that have been handed down to me from my grandmother and several new ones, all completely hand-stitched. My grandmother's have been used for many years and are soiled and in need of some repair. Only parts of one quilt are good.

I thought, sentimentally, I might be able to make some pillows from it. Do you think I can hand-wash the quilt in a mild soap solution? Any other suggestions? Many thanks.

A: A few years ago, the designer Ralph Lauren caused a furor in the fashion industry by cutting up old quilts and making them into skirts. So many people within and without the industry were horrified because quilts are highly valued as collector's items.

I suppose that Lauren was careful not to slice up quilts of any historical value. Are you?

Before you are left with only a pillow, you may want to consult an expert to be certain you are not destroying a valuable textile. Isn't there an old saying, "One man's junk is another man's treasure?" Surprisingly, museum quality does not always mean perfect condition.

Second, if you find out your quilt has only sentimental value, and pillows are its just reward, careless laundering could finish it off. Old textiles become very fragile and may need to be cleaned by experts.

Whom do you contact if you think your quilt (or other old textile, lace, shawls, garmets, etc.) might be of value? First, try contacting a museum curator in the textile department of your state museum or, better yet, a specialized museum near you. Find out if they have any days when your quilt can be evaluated.

Also ask about references for experts the museum might recommend for cleaning or repairing antique textiles.

If you have a large university nearby, check to see if they have a textile laboratory and experts on hand who will give advice.

Two national museums come to mind that may be of assistance. The Smithsonian in Washington, D.C., and the Museum of American Folk Art in New York City. There is also a national Quilter's Guild; check your directory for the chapter nearest you.

In any event, care for your precious collection by:

- Never bagging them in plastic bags.
- Not storing in your damp basement or stuffy attic.
- Rolling items around a tube, or folding correctly using plenty of acid-free tissue paper to pad each fold and refolding often.

Bridging the gap

Card game gains more new fans

By LESLIE PEREIRA

In the newspaper business you know you've made it when you get your own column. Similarly, since the advent of computers, something is big potatoes when it goes video.

Well, as the topic of a syndicated column in many newspapers and a popular new video game, it seems the game of bridge has finally proven its worth to both newspaper pundits and video followers.

But for those who have championed the card game for many years as a social get-together in a neighbor's home, a competitive game for a cash kitty, or as a challenge to yourself when alone, bridge has long been the game of choice.

"The beauty of bridge is that you can play with anyone in any age group," said Northville resident Rosemary Mentag.

Mentag, who teaches a seven-week-long bridge class for the First Presbyterian Church in Northville, has also taught bridge for the Plymouth Recreation Center. She said there is a misconception about bridge and bridge players.

"It is not all older people," Mentag said. "The people I teach range from 25 to 50 years old."

According to Mentag, taking a class is a good way to learn bridge because it is such a complex game. Players must keep practicing even after completing the course, she warns.

Mentag admits that it may be hard to get a bridge network started because "most people run their bridge games out of their homes," but she insists there is an abundance of zealous bridge players around.

"I play two or three times a week and always find someone to play with, whether it is subbing or whatever," Mentag said.

The best way for a beginning bridger to become involved, according to Mentag, is through a short course. This will allow neophytes to learn the basics of the game at a relaxed pace and develop the foundations of a bridge network.

Contract bridge, as the game is formally known, can be traced back to a similar 16th-century game known as whist. The rules and premises of whist were basically the same, but the trump (or dominant) suit was determined by the last card dealt rather than through the current elaborate bidding and contracting system.

Today's bidding system was begun as a simple competition to determine who selects the trump suit, but has evolved into a brain battle of strategic calculation and risk-taking, through the contributions of such bridge hall-of-famers as Ely Culbertson and Charles Goren.

At the Novi Civic Center the focus is on this competitive aspect of bridge as the 40 or so seniors meet each Thursday for a marathon day of fierce card playing until a winner goes home with the cash kitty.

Helen and Al Weiss, who started the bridge club two years ago, say it has mushroomed from two tables in their early days to the current 12 to 14 tables.

"Bridge has become a very popular game," said Al Weiss. "We have really seen it blossom since we started playing 25 years ago."

Both Weisses explain the popularity of the game as the "thinking person's game."

"People like the challenge because you really have to think," Helen said. And Al agreed. "Bridge is a higher intellectual game than most card games."

And bridge has its own syndicated newspaper columns to prove it.

Run regularly in the Detroit Free Press, the Ann Arbor News and the New York Times, to name a few, the bridge column has claimed its place alongside other American icons, such as the cartoons, crossword puzzle and even Ann Landers.

"We have had a bridge column longer than I can remember," said Dave Bishop of the Ann Arbor News. Bishop has been there for four years.

Proponents of the card game argue that bridge requires as much skill and strategy as chess, but that it includes a cooperative social aspect.

But even if you don't like the social aspect, modern technology has rendered the excuse "I don't have anyone to play with" utterly indefensible.

For a mere $169 you can purchase a small electronic keyboard which serves as cards as well as a partner and two opposing players. The machine even keeps score.

For competitive bridge players the machine is ideal — a challenging game with little conversation.

Little, but not non-existent, because the machine does talk.

"I am Fidelity Bridge Challenger, your computer opponent or partner," the beige keyboard says with little voice inflection.

Ginger Weber, co-owner of the Hall of Games in Novi where the video bridge game is sold, said bridge games and extras are extremely popular in her store.

"People come in daily for bridge layouts and books," Weber said. "One woman came charging in the other day to buy a new bridge table because her other one was worn out."

Well, there you have it. The rise of a versatile card game. But the real secret of bridge's rising success has been missed by nearly everyone. As prices continue to skyrocket for most forms of social entertainment, a deck of cards only costs $1.99.

Volunteers

She volunteers information

By DOROTHY NASH

If you like helping people and if you have patience and a sense of humor, Elaine Washburn recommends the volunteer job she shares with another volunteer. For four hours one day a week at Washburn works at the information desk in the Reichert Health Building at Catherine McAuley Health Center in Ann Arbor.

An average of 2,500 persons a day stop at the information desk of this building, which provides out-patient services and office space for 200 doctors.

Why do people stop at the desk? They're lost ... They need direction ... They've come to the wrong hospital ... They have an appointment with a doctor, but they can't remember his name, only the time of the appointment ... They need a wheel chair ... They want a taxi called ... They're worried about what they're going to have done ... They just want to say hello and visit.

For solutions to problems, Washburn has information available, especially in a large, loose-leaf binder she's made for herself.

She has lists of things such as doctors in the building, doctors by specialty, complete staff of McAuley Health Center, out-patient tests, departments.

So, for example, when a patient doesn't know the doctor's name but does know the time of appointment, Washburn asks, "What's your problem?" and then looks up the doctors who deal with that kind of ailment.

"Oh, yes," she added, "we've had two heart attacks in the lobby. So we called the emergency number, and somebody was there in a minute."

"It's not a same-thing-every-day job," Elaine Washburn commented, "and sometimes we may sit five or 10 minutes without anybody coming, and then all of a sudden there's a line."

If you are interested in volunteering in this or something else at Catherine McAuley Health Center, call Volunteer Services office at 571-4159 for information.

It's not in the cards

By LESLIE PEREIRA

It was the trip to the game store that changed my mind.

I had been assigned to write a story on bridge. I was incredulous. I have written about many, many things — death, disease and politics. But bridge? Wasn't that the silly card game married people played when they went over to the neighbors' house with a bowl of peanut-and-pretzel party mix?

After unsuccessfully trying to beg off the project, I decided it was in my best employment interest to find out about this veritable symbol of domesticity.

So I went to the Hall of Games in Novi to ask about bridge Sheepishly. I asked the young saleswoman if she had "ever heard of some card game called bridge." I knew I had pegged bridge wrong when the saleswoman pulled out a $169 electronic bridge game with voice automation. Well, anything good enough to go video was good enough for me. Not that I purchased one, but I decided to give bridge a chance.

I quickly checked "Learning to Play Bridge" out of the library in my now-ceaseless search for information. To my chagrin the book's author was not married and he held computer science and math degrees from Harvard and MIT.

Well, my game had always been chess. Chess is a real game. A game one must prepare for mentally. It has plenty of action, requires strategic thinking — an incredible battle of the minds. But if this Harvard brain found bridge challenging and interesting enough to write an entire book, I figured it couldn't be all bad.

So I decided to learn the game. What was one afternoon at Thursday Bridge Club anyway. I reasoned. Pass, pass, two clubs, pass, pass, three hearts. The women were talking quickly around the table in monosyllabic codes. Cards were laid down and scooped up faster than I could distinguish the color of the suit, let alone the logic behind the play. By the end of the afternoon, my head was pounding, my notebook was thick with partial plays, and I still had no idea what was going on.

Although the members of the Bridge Club were extremely patient with me and all my questions, I really only learned one thing that afternoon.

Bridge is a very challenging game. My apologies — I guess it takes more than marriage and party mix to be a bridge player after all.

In Our Town

Group talks buttons

By LESLIE PEREIRA

In the days before zippers, buttons were not only ornamental, they were a necessity. Members of the Base Line Questers antiques study club will learn more about buttons of the past on March 22. Their meeting will be held at 1 p.m. at the home of Carol Romanik.

The speaker will be Connie Fitzner of Plymouth, a button collector and member of the Maybury Button Club.

Trip chairperson Betsy Van Ee reminds members that a luncheon outing to the Whitney restaurant in Detroit is planned for the April 26 meeting. Any member planning to go who has not made a reservation and will not be at the March meeting is asked to call her or President Jean Day Couse, now.

The club is still seeking a missing scrapbook of its early years after forming in 1965, as it plans a 25th year celebration in December. Any inactive member with information is asked to call Eileen Sonk, historian.

For more information, call Jean Day Couse at 349-0701.

Woman's Club Luncheon features folk music

The Northville Woman's Club will be getting some luck o' the Irish on Friday, March 16. Their annual year-end "Tureen Luncheon" will be complete with the music of Irish folk trio Innisfree.

Innisfree members Michael Gruber, Peter McGrane and Jan Mordenski will be singing the shamrock tunes with their recorders, guitars and Irish penny whistles.

The luncheon is scheduled for 12:30 p.m. at the First Presbyterian Church in Northville.

Northville Antique Show back again

Mark March 16-18 on your calendar.

The Northville Antique Show is back in town for the 15th straight year. The show, under the direction of Helen Miesel, will bring 40 dealers to town specializing in everything from furniture to antique jewelry.

"There will be something for everyone," Miesel said. The dealers are primarily from Michigan but include some from Illinois and Ohio. Miesel said most dealers are returning from buying trips out east and should have great merchandise for antique lovers.

Food will be available at the show, catered by B&B catering. Admission to the show is $3 per person. The show runs Friday and Saturday from noon to 9 p.m. and Sunday from noon to 5 p.m. at the Northville Recreation Center on Main Street.

Star gazing Astrologer speaks out

By LESLIE PEREIRA

Both believers and skeptics came to find out what the stars had to say about them, as the Northville Town Hall series brought an astrologer to speak.

And astrologer Joyce Jillson made sure that no one felt slighted as she touched on all of the horoscope signs.

"Astrology can add 25 percent to 10 percent luck into your life," Jillson said.

Jillson has done astrological interpretations for national political figures such as the Reagans and Bushes, corporate clients, and movie people such as George Lucas, Mel Gibson and Farrah Fawcett. She makes her home in Los Angeles.

Jillson, who said she reveals many things except her age, has been into astrology since she was 5-years old and her astrological predictions have permeated most forms of the mass media.

Jillson's horoscope column is syndicated in over 100 newspapers.

"I believe every day should be made better by astrology," said Jillson, who recommends that people read her column in the morning before they start their day.

She tries to keep her bits of advice to areas of general interest, such as money and love, based on the astrological chart of each of the signs.

Jillson insists there is nothing mystical about astrology, it is simply a matter of having your astrological chart done and learning how to interpret its meanings.

"Nobody has information on you that you don't — even an astrologer," Jillson said.

An astrological chart is basically the placement of the planets, the sun and the moon at the exact moment of birth. After the chart is completed from the birthdate information supplied, the astrologer reads the chart.

An astrologer is simply a person trained to understand the meaning of the planet placements.

Jillson went over some of the characteristics attributed to each of the signs.

"Sagitarans are brutally honest. You ask them how you look in a dress when you know you look lousy, and they will tell you that," Jillson said.

Laughs and murmurs of "that is exactly my husband", or "that is so and so", came from the audience as Jillson spoke briefly about each of the signs.

For critics who maintain that all people born under the same sign cannot possibly have a likeness of personality traits, Jillson agrees. But she said astrology can give some broad outlines.

Jillson, the first person to do astrology on television, has also written eight books, two of which made the New York Times bestseller list. She has no children.

But she does have a dog.

"I did the charts of over 100 dogs before I got my great dane, Jupiter," Jillson said.

Free Press columnist speaks at Marquis

Neal Shine, columnist for the Detroit Free Press, will come to Northville to speak on Wednesday, April 4, at the Marquis Theater. The event is sponsored by Northville Citizens for a New Community Library.

The popular speaker and retired senior managing editor of the Detroit Free Press will reprise an amusing talk he has given in the past in which he reminisces on the delights of the libraries of his boyhood on Detroit's lower east side.

The evening will start at the Marquis at 7:30 p.m. and continue at an afterglow at Genitti's Hole in the Wall Restaurant across the street.

Tickets for the Marquis are free of charge to all Northville residents on a first-come, first-served basis. They may be picked up at the Northville library or at the Marquis Boutique, 133 E. Main, starting Monday, March 19.

Detailed plans for the afterglow will be announced later.

Shine started at the Free Press in 1950 as a copy boy and became a reporter in 1955 upon his return from a stint in the U.S. Army.

By 1963 he was assistant city editor. The jump to managing editor was made in 1971 and senior managing editor in 1982.

Shine is unique for having gone from the bottom to the top in the world of newspapering at one paper.

The popular talk program "Neal Shine's Detroit" is broadcast Friday evenings over WDET.

As an adjunct professor, Shine teaches a class in media ethics at Oakland University.

A native Detroit, Shine was graduated from the University of Detroit with a degree in journalism. He is married and the father of six.

Musicians abound at Meads Mill

MEADS MILL MIDDLE SCHOOL

There are lots of winners at Meads Mill this month. Several teachers in a variety of subject areas have announced these awards recently.

Band director, Roxanne Minch, has listed the results of this year's Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association's Solo and Ensemble Festival. On a scale of I to V, with I being the best possible rating, 21 students were rated I. They are, in the duet category: Donna McAskin and Amy Thelan; Donna Sparks and Jamie Purslow; Chris Vlangos and David Tishkowski; Marci Bolger and Audrey Wilkie; Stephanie Windish and Stephanie Zajack; Michelle Splain and Lisa Wagner; Laura Thomas and Melissa Wilkie; Daniel Zumbunnen, Tom Sheppard, Melissa Petrosky, Elizabeth Gaffield, and Katrina Heckemeyer.

Receiving a II rating in the duet category were Heather Nix and Katrina Heckemeyer, Matt Cowles and Dan Zumbunnen, Jodi Fischer and Jennifer McPhail, Nanda Filkin and Christy Jarret, Jeff Shadowski and Mark Fagnani and Richard Bell and Brent Cieszynski. In the solo category, these students were rated II: Eric Abbey, Laura Thomas, Donna McAskin, Amy Thelan, Heather Nix, Brent Cieszynski, Stephanie Zajack, John Kovalak, and Stephanie Windish. These students were all awarded medals for their performances. On March 17, the eighth-grade band festival will be held at the Stout Junior High in Dearborn. About 56 students from Meads Mill will be attending.

In social studies, teacher Richard Norton coordinated the National Geographic Society's geography contest. The overall winner from Meads Mill is Brent Hasse who had to take an additional written test to be judged at the state level. Runners-up are Mark Fagnani, Nate Connell, Doug Connolly and Tom Chicoine.

In mathematics, four students were selected to represent Meads at the Math Counts Chapter Competition on Feb. 17. They are: first place, Vivek Mohita, second place, Bret Swalberg, fourth place, Roopal Vashi, and, sixth place, Mutsumi Yoshida. These four students will go to Michigan State University to compete at the state level on March 17.

Several Junior Enrichment Series Programs are planned for this month. TV 2 meteorologist Chris Edwards spoke to the sixth grade teams on March 12. Sixth graders will also see "Apollo to the Moon," a video presentation on April 3. The seventh graders will have the opportunity to dissect yuk balls (an annual tradition at Meads Mill) on April 5 and 6. Parents should ask their seventh graders to elaborate on this!

The Multiple Sclerosis Read-A-Thon will take place from March 19 to 26. Students who are participating will be asking for pledges for the number of books read.

The Science Olympiad competition will take place at Mercy College on March 31.

Results of the Michigan Mathematics League Contest are in. This year's scores were the highest ever at Meads Mill. First place winners are seventh grade, Vivek Mohita, and eighth grade, Dave Rossing.

Team 8-A announces the winners of the America and Me essay contest: first place, Lisa Wagner; second place, Chris Harrison; and, third place, Julie Romine.

The eighth grade spelling bee winners are: first place, Richard Bell and second place, Julie Romine.

In other eighth grade news, author and poet Kathleen Ripley Leo visited classes to help expand their interest in poetry.

A paralegal and parent of an eighth grade student, Mrs. Wilds gave a presentation on civil law.

Forty students visited the Holocaust Center and saw evidence of the devastating effects of Hitler's Germany.

Congratulations to all the winners of this year's science fair. There were nearly 200 entrants on a wide variety of science topics. Thanks go to all of the parents who volunteered to monitor the projects and to be this year's judges.

The coaches of the sixth grade Knowledge Master Open, Robert Stover and David Feldman, report that Meads Mill took first place in Michigan out of 42 schools. Internationally, they were 33 out of 1,280 schools! Congratulations to the 15-member team!

Eighth graders will be visiting the Fermi II Power Plant in Monroe in March. They will see the visitors center as well as the cooling towers, and simulation control room used for training. Teacher Tim Lutes, who arranged the tour, hopes students will have a better understanding of this future energy resource.

On April 12, eighth graders will visit Mill Race Historical Village to learn more about the Victorian era.

The seventh grade boy's basketball team completed an undefeated season (10 wins, no losses) with a win over White Lake. This gives them a Liv-Oaks championship for the second season in a row.

In a correction of last month's article, Stephanie Cionca was chosen as a National Council of Teachers of English promising Young Writer.

The marking period ends March 30 and report cards will go home on April 6. The next after school activity is March 21 from 2:45 to 4:45 p.m. There will be an in-service day March 27 and students will be dismissed at 11:11 a.m.

The next PTSA meeting will be on April 9 at 9:30 in the library lecture area. Parents of next year's sixth graders as well as current Meads Mill parents are invited to attend.

Touring Mexican beaches on a budget

By Sue Marx and Hank Marx

We had a few simple requirements for our recent vacation; two weeks in the sun with weather we could count on, where no one would know us, where we wouldn't have to dress for dinner, and most of all, it had to be affordable.

We found just what we were looking for in the little Mexican coastal town of Puerto Escondido, population 25,000. Puerto Escondido is located on the coast of the Pacific Ocean about 500 miles from Mexico City, a 50-minute flight.

Our major decisions each day consisted of how many miles of gorgeous beach to walk and what to order for breakfast, lunch and dinner. We knew the dollar would buy more in Mexico but we couldn't believe the value we got at the Sante Fe Hotel, a charming little place on the beach.

Fielding's 1990 Guide To Mexico lists the 30-unit Sante Fe Hotel, as a moderate priced, 2-star hotel "designed like a set for Romeo and Juliet complete with balconies and an occasional turret."

Well, here's a Sante Fe update. On December 10, Sante Fe became a 4-star hotel and the price of a double room went from $32 to $46. The hotel was designed by San Francisco artist Rich Elmore and was built in 1982. A free standing addition should be complete soon and will add eight rooms and seven suites.

Most rooms overlook the pool and gardens. Our balcony room, however, had a bay window with an ocean view. The enchanting rooms have high ceilings with Mexican tile floor. There's a phone in each room but you may think twice before calling home. Phone charges from Mexico to the states are very costly and frustrating.

A hearty breakfast, lunch and dinner costs approximately $25 each per day. It's vegetarian, but the fresh seafood and fish are truly outstanding. Our favorites were quesadillas, baked cheese-filled flour tortillas, chiles rellanos, meatless stuffed chile peppers, pulpo, sauteed octopus, and huachinango, grilled red snapper.

Don't worry about eating raw vegetables in Sante Fe, fresh fruits and vegetables are carefully sanitized. Someone is always eating in the hotel restaurant which is open all day. And there is no dress code for dinner. Bathing suits and T-shirts? No problem. Barefeet? Fine. Come as you are.

A few colorful tiled stairs lead up to the bar and the restaurant which is a large open room with a thatched roof and 20 round tables with comfortable leather barrel chairs. There is a continuous breeze and a view of the ever-changing surf that comes from the beach.

The hotel guests were an eclectic mix of Americans, Canadians, Germans, French and Mexicans. Among those we met were a writer, a sculptor, an import-export dealer, a major record producer/talent manager from the states, honeymooners and just plain surfers.

The Sante Fe staff is comprised of the sweetest, most helpful people to be found anywhere. The hotel is owned by the Cleavers, an American family from Sante Fe, N.M., and is run by Paul Cleaver who sees to it that everything runs smoothly which in this remote spot, is no easy task.

A graduate of Cornell and former headmaster of a school in the states, Paul is a multi-lingual artist and writer. He takes time to get to know each and every visitor, perhaps loaning you a book that a previous guest left behind, or talking about Mexican artifacts or American politics. After living in Puerto Escondido for seven years and Guadalajara prior to that, Paul knows Mexico.

Back on the beach, the weather was perfect with high 80s, sunny and breezy every day. At sunrise you wake with a steady off shore breeze and if you walk a third of a mile down, you will spot a group of surfers, riding out the best of the big waves. Puerto Escondido is considered second to Hawaii for surfing. With such a strong undertow, the beach is considered dangerous for swimming, but perfect for walking, wading and watching.

Directly in front of the hotel are several tall rock formations emerging from the shore. It's a favorite for photographers and pelicans. Mexican families and tourists alike are often seen climbing these rocks, but they are most popular at the end of the day when many couples seek out romantic peaks and crevices to watch the magnificent setting sun. To the right of these rocks begins one mile of beach that leads into town.

While strolling down the beach in late morning, fishing boats unload their catch and women haggle over the fish they are buying. Separating the beach from the main street in town are a number of hotels, restaurants and bars. Some hotels such as the Pacifica and Las Palmas rent rooms for as little as $15.

On the other side of town is the Hotel Poasada Real. Placed on a hill overlooking the beach, this fairly new hotel is a distance from town, under the flight pattern of the airport, and more expensive.

Once the breezy beach and laid-back lifestyle embraced us, we had a tough time leaving Puerto Escondido to continue our travels in Oaxaca, known for its folk arts and crafts. We flew up to Oaxaca for the weekend, making sure we arrived in time for the Saturday market (Mexico's largest) in downtown Oaxaca.

The Senorial Hotel is situated on the zocalo or town square, in Oaxaca and was recommended to us for its location and value, $31 per night. The recommendation turned out to be a good one.

The city square is filled with Marching bands, street performers, balloon and toy sellers, crafts and sidewalk cafes. For a taste of history, we took a taxi for the 10-mile trip to the ancient city of Monte Alban (500 B.C.) on the Sierra Nevada mountaintop.

The ancient civilization was built and rebuilt by Mixtecs, Zapotecs and Aztec Indians and discovered by archeologists in 1937. Incredible. When we completed our tour of Monte Alban, there were no taxis heading back to Oaxaca. So, we joined about 80 workers and tourists on a bus which turned out to be much more fun than a taxi ride.

In Oaxaca, we made time to visit the Tomayo Museum, the Church of Santa Domingo, the Regional Museum and the Instituto de Artes Graficas (graphics museum) which features the best in Oaxacan folk art including black pottery, painted wooden animals and a variety of masks.

The market places are filled with fresh and cooked food, crafts, household items and, of course, people. The market offers some great buys on regional crafts with everything from rugs to pottery. The general rule is to cut the asking price in half and haggle upwards, but once you state a price and the seller accepts, it is impolite to continue to haggle.

The best eating place in Oaxaca was the Madera, a new restaurant in a lovely open courtyard, complete with a grand piano and tunes like, "As Time Goes By." Happy hour featured many complimentary snacks including delicious hot potato tarts, various degrees of salsa and spicy peanuts.

By noon on Monday, we were back on the beach at the Sante Fe. As always, the weather was perfect and we instantly set back into our relaxation mode. Previously, we had resisted making any purchases in Puerto Escondido except for a pair of silver earrings at Alberto's jewelry store in town. Most everything can be bought from peddlers on the beach. They sell hand painted clay masks, jewelry, hammocks, hats, clothing, even hot tamales and raw oysters.

After leaving Puerto Escondido to head home, we had one day to spend in Mexico City. We stayed at the Majestic Hotel which is a charming colonial style building located in the center of Mexico City. Our large room, complete with a balcony overlooking the town square was $44.

The city is filled with many interesting spots including the newly opened Franz Meyer Museum, a collection of decorative arts. We wandered over to the Gran Hotel, directly behind the Majestic, to see the incredible Tiffany glass encrusted in elevators, bird cages and the glass ceiling in the seven-story atrium.

Most of the restaurants in Mexico City close around 7 p.m. so be sure to schedule an early mealtime. All good things must come to an end, and unfortunately our vacation ended while landing in the arctic chill of Detroit.

We made reservations to return to Santa Fe next year. Puerto Escondido is an exceptional place and we can't wait to return.

By the way, if you stay at Sante Fe and meet up with Paul Cleaver before we do, say hello for us and remember to take some extra paperbacks with you to leave behind.

Davisburg Candle Factory is town's claim to notoriety

By Gerry Forster

To ease the pangs of spring fever, take a Sunday afternoon drive to the Davisburg Candle Factory in Davisburg. The town is located between Holly and Clarkston about a half hour's drive north of Detroit off I-75.

Davisburg is so small it looks more like a Hollywood movie set with a business section barely stretching one block. Chances are, Davisburg will never grow any larger because the ground it sits on doesn't "perk," which means indoor toilets can't be flushed more than three times in a row.

Of course, 125 years ago when the town was first settled, indoor plumbing wasn't a problem. Today, the size of the town has maintained its charm with every building looking like a museum.

Most of them are still being used except for a few vacant spots on the block waiting for the right person to come along and renovate. Perhaps the right person would set up an artist's studio, craft shop or jewelry business.

In the center of town is a 120 year old two-story brick building with dark aqua gingerbread trim. The two glass display windows on either side of the door announce that it was originally the town's general store. The heavy old weather beaten, wood screen door squeaks and slams at the entrance.

This is the Davisburg Candle Factory, the town's claim to fame. Mary Tebo, owner of the candle factory, is responsible for many of the candles that burn in town at night. After teaching school in such diverse communities in England, Germany, Japan and Seattle, Tebo wanted to try something new.

Four years ago, her brother discovered the little factory for sale which spurred her interest in the place. Without knowing anything about candle making, Tebo flew home on a Friday, fell in love with the place and bought the factory that same weekend.

Today, business is booming. She employs four people to help run the factory while she spends most of her time finding new markets and selling products throughout Michigan.

Tebo welcomes visitors as long as arrangements are made in advance. I was enveloped in the heady aroma of the various perfumes used in the scented candles when I entered the factory. The entire ceiling was covered like a maze, with a Rube Goldberg contraption which is better known as the assembly line.

On close inspection, the line was made out of roller skate type parts and chains and gears of old bicycles all hooked up somehow to a little motor in the center of the room. The conveyor belt lurches forward and 350 dangling tapers rotate overhead around the room and dip into a tub of melted wax.

The whole contraption looked to me like a great piece of pop art. At a work table below, artists create special candles, fill orders and personalize wax pieces.

During my visit, an order for a Bar Mitzvah was being filled. White candles with the child's name streamed down the side and a Star of David was designed at the top. There were 14 candles for the 14 important people in the child's life to be lit during the ceremony.

Many candles are simply designed by pouring wax into a mold. There are molds for statues, frogs, gingerbread houses and valentines, to name a few.

The drive up to Davisburg proved to be both fun and educational. I picked up bits of history along the way and learned how candles were used thousands of years ago for daily use. Candles have also played a significant role in most religious ceremonies and are still being used today.

So, the next time you light up a candle, ask yourself where that candle may have been made. Maybe you're due for a trip to Davisburg.

Spring breakers are asked to 'party smart'

(AP)—Spring breakers are being asked to "Party Smart" this year as Daytona Beach prepares for the annual invasion of 400,000 students.

The Spring Break Festival Task Force met last week and finalized its plans to make this year's annual six-week party a little easier on the students and on the community.

The "Party Smart" theme is an educational project developed by the consumer group Beer Drinkers of America to encourage students to exercise responsibility when drinking. "Be smart, be legal or be caught," said Ty Wilson, vice chairperson of the task force, a committee formed after severe problems developed last year with the spring break crowd.

"It's going to be a great spring break," chairperson Ray Eddy said as last-minute preparations were discussed. "The message is that the students are welcome."

MTV and Playboy will be back, along with concerts, sports events, beauty pageants and other promotions. The task force has worked to create 1,000 new parking spaces near the beach, will install more than 100 portable toilets and has more carefully scheduled events to lessen the impact of the crowds.

Laws, particularly those involving alcohol, will also be more strictly enforced. Wristbands will be issued to students who are at least 21 years old, the state's legal drinking age. Hotel and motel guests will be required to sign a code of conduct, which is a list of local ordinances restricting behavior of guests.

Many residents complained last year that traffic was at a near standstill and students were urinating in public and passing out drunk. The task force was created to solve some of those problems and to make students welcome because of their tremendous impact on the Daytona Beach economy.

"Be smart, be legal or be caught."

Ty Wilson
Vice-chairperson of the Spring Break Festival Task Force

Chamber of commerce officials estimate students will spend $120 million from early March through mid-April. They estimate spring break has almost a $1 billion impact on the area's economy.

The first group of 20,000 students, a large number of them from Penn State, arrived this week just as 240,000 "bikers" arrived for motorcycle races at Daytona International Speedway.

Daytona Beach became the spring break mecca of the United States about three years ago after Fort Lauderdale discouraged students by a tightening law enforcement. Gulf Coast beaches are expecting some of the overflow from Daytona Beach. Both the Daytona Beach police and the Volusia County Beach Patrol are pledging more stringent enforcement of drinking laws, with beach patrol chief John Kirvan expecting to double the number of arrests.

"We're proud of spring break, but it has to be managed better," said Police Chief Paul Crow. "It will be a much more organized event."

Contrary to public perceptions, Crow said, "Our problems haven't been with the college kids." About 65 percent of those arrested last year were Florida youngsters, many of them underage high school students. "We have to deal with the day trippers," he said.

Foreign films are a world of fun

By MIKE TYREE

For many, terms like film noir, genre and mise en scene are sure signs that culture is lurking somewhere on the horizon.

Indeed, the mere mention of Bergman, Truffaut, or Renoir is enough to send the average American film viewer scurrying for the latest release from the gang that brought us Porky's, Porky's II and whatever other swinish offspring might be percolating in that particular Hollywood sty.

And subtitles aren't even a consideration for most.

But for those fortunate enough to have stumbled across Shoot The Piano Player or Wild Strawberries and realized that art could be created by projecting thousands of still celluloid images on a screen — by foreigners, no less — the lure of film is great.

And if Hollywood isn't taking care of your viewing needs, perhaps you should give the directors from other parts of the globe a try.

You might have to search a bit to find them, though.

Video stores and theaters seem to stock more movies based on nationalistic American ideals or out-of-control teen hormones, but film art is available in the area.

"We're expected to show the foreign or offbeat films," said Ruth Daniels, general manager at Maple 3 Theaters in Birmingham. "The crowd gets very angry if we don't."

Daniels said that a small circle of subtitle aficionados exists, but that many people want their foreign films to have English-speaking actors, or at least have English dubbed in.

And if you're thinking that dubbing means Japanese monster movies with a three-second response time from initial lip movement to shriek on the screen, you'll be pleased to know that times have changed.

"Dubbing is a lot better these days," said Barbara Louie of the Novi Public Library.

Louie said the library stocks between 25-50 foreign films on video tape, and said viewers have such a difficult time picking up subtitles on the small screen that the dubbed titles are in much higher demand.

She said films such as Jean De Florette and Manon of the Spring are popular with library customers, who must have a library card and a Novi video contract to check out a tape.

Liberty Street Video in Ann Arbor boasts a foreign film catalogue of "approximately 300," according to employee Jill Broughton.

Broughton said new releases by foreign artists are always in demand, and foreign classics see a steady stream of use by students who need the film for classes.

Though some foreign films may be rare, Liberty Street Video makes a real attempt to meet its customer's requests, she said.

"A lot of them are out of print," she said, "but if we can find someone with a print, we can order them."

Broughton said Women on the Verge of a Nervous Breakdown is the popular foreign film choice at Liberty Street Video.

The Detroit Institute of Arts also showcases the work of foreign artists at its weekend film festivals. The DIA handles many obscure titles, as well as classics and popular present day films.

It's true that some may prefer the exploits of a flag-waving, gun-toting lobotomy candidate to a silhouetted Swedish actor mumbling to an idealized virgin in a tortured black and white dream sequence, but film connoisseurs do have a choice.

The Northville Record

Mustang swimmers place 6th at state meet

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

Like all great teams seem to do, the Northville swimmers peaked at the very end of the season, and their reward was a top-six finish at the MHSAA Class A State Meet last weekend (March 9-10) in Ypsilanti.

The Mustangs — ranked among the state's top 10 Class A teams all season — boasted three top-six and six top-12 individual finishes at the Michael H. Jones Natatorium at Eastern Michigan University to place sixth overall. Northville's point total of 57 was a full 103 points behind first-place Bloomfield Hills Andover, but ahead of local foes like Plymouth Salem, Livonia Stevenson and Novi.

"It went very well," Mustang Coach Mark Heiden said. "We've been ranked ninth for most of the season, so our goal was to place in the top-10. It was kind of a surprise we were able to move up to sixth, but the guys had a lot of confidence. They went out and did it."

It is somewhat ironic that Northville placed third in the 12-team Western Lakes League Meet on March 2 and then came back a week later to place sixth in a meet featuring 45 of the top teams in the state. That the Mustangs were able to place higher than any other WLAA squad was another bonus. League champion Salem placed 11th.

"I had a feeling that might happen," Heiden admitted. "Salem swam so well at the league meet, I thought they might have a little let-down. It was a whole other meet, we had a group of seven guys who qualified, and we came through with our best performance of the year."

"There was really no pressure on us to place, we just went in with the idea of swimming our best. I told the kids if they do that, we had a great chance to be in the top 10."

Northville's highest finish came from junior diver Steve Lang, who scored 409.7 points and grabbed fourth-place honors. Lang was second to teammate Larry Osiecki at the WLAA Meet, but Saturday was his day. Osiecki ended up 12th overall with a point total of 365.85.

"Steve has been getting more consistent," Heiden said. "It was his first state meet experience but once he got into the finals, we knew that anything could happen. He was only three points out of third place."

Another junior, Eric Newton, had a hand in three more top-12 finishes for the Mustangs. In the 200-yard IM, Newton took fifth-place and shattered his own school record with a 1:57.37. He actually broke the old mark (2:01.68) twice in the two-day competition, once in the preliminary round on Friday and again in the finals on Saturday.

"Eric had two excellent races both days," Heiden said. "I had a feeling there was a big time drop in store because Eric didn't get the kind of improvement we were hoping for at the WLAA Meet."

Newton added a 10th-place finish in the 500 freestyle (4:48.21), and he broke his second school record, set at the state meet last year, in the prelims with a 4:47.28 effort. He was also a member of the record-shattering 400 freestyle relay squad along with Andy Wayne, Bob Holdridge and Brad Cook. The combo combined for a 3:15.71, good for sixth place.

Andy Wayne started off the event with a 49.27 split in the first 100 yards, setting yet another school record. Records also fell in the prelims, when Holdridge (49.29), Cook (48.89) and Newton (47.9) each had lifetime best splits. The team's prelim time of 3:15.5 was a new school record by a staggering five seconds.

The only other top-10 finish came in the 200 medley relay. Wayne, Matt Hanna, Cook and Holdridge teamed up to place seventh in a school record-tying 1:40.54. In all, the Mustangs tied or broke five previous school marks.

"We always talk about peaking at the end of the season and I think we did just that," Heiden said. "It was great to see everybody pulling together and swimming so well at the same time."

Cook and Hanna were also entered in individual events, but failed to make it to the finals. Cook ended up 21st in the 100 butterfly (55.39) and Hanna was 19th in the 100 breaststroke (1:02.76).

Northville ended the regular season with a 10-1 overall record, 8-0 in the WLAA. The third-place team finish in the conference meet was a disappointment, but the record-setting effort at the state meet provided the program with momentum heading into next season. With returnees like Newton, Holdridge, Lang, Osiecki, Cook and Hanna back into the fold, the Mustangs may have an opportunity to contend for the state title next March.

Cagers fall to Salem in districts

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

Being on the short end of a 37-point whitewash is no way to end a season — especially if the campaign included a first-ever division championship.

But that's exactly how the Northville cagers wrapped up the 1989-90 campaign on March 12 in pre-district action against powerful Plymouth Salem. The Rocks dominated the Mustangs in every aspect of the game, but Northville Coach Omar Harrison doesn't want the bad ending to ruin the whole story — especially when the story is a 14-7 overall record and a share of the WLAA Western Division crown.

"We're a much better team than we showed," he said. "I suppose losing by that much is the disappointing part because some people will remember that, instead of the season as a whole."

It certainly didn't help that less than 48 hours earlier, Salem fell to Livonia Stevenson by a point in the WLAA championship game. The Rocks came out mad, and anxious to get back at the Spartans, who were on the other side of the district bracket.

"If we had played our usual game, I felt it could go either way," Harrison said. "Psychologically, I didn't know who had the advantage heading in. We were at home, but they were coming off a big loss. They really wanted to get another shot at Stevenson and maybe that tilted the advantage their way."

For the game, the Mustangs shot just 17-of-57 from the field (30 percent) and star players Joe Kaley and Scott Meredith — who combine to average nearly 30 points a contest — were held to just more than half that. The visitors, on the other hand, shot 51 percent (38-of-74) from the field.

"We couldn't find anybody to score, we made mental mistakes and we just flat out didn't play a good ballgame," Harrison admitted.

Plymouth Salem held Mustang center Scott Meredith (42) to just eight points in district action on March

"Salem is a good club and they play good defense, but we've faced good defensive teams before — it was just one of those games."

The Rocks led 23-12 after one quarter but Northville scored eight straight midway through the second period to narrow the gap, 28-22. But in the final four minutes of the half, Salem got back on track, scored the final 15 points, and held a commanding 43-22 halftime advantage. Jake Baker poured in six points in the rally and 15 in the first half to pace the Rocks.

In a high-scoring third quarter, Salem went to reserve guard Mike Mulder and he responded by nailing three, three-pointers to increase the lead by three (69-45) heading into the final eight minutes. The Mustangs scored 23 points in that quarter, but lost more ground. It happened because they couldn't stop the Rocks. "They scored 97 points and that clearly shows that we also broke down defensively," Harrison said.

Baker ended up with a game-high 22 points and also hauled down 17 rebounds. Ryan Johnson added 16 points and Mulder chipped in 12. All 13 players on the Salem roster made it into the scoring column.

"(Salem) used a lot of guys because they were so far ahead," Harrison explained. "But they do have a tendency to get a lot of help from their bench anyway."

Bill Kelley led Northville with 13 points, including three treys, and Paul Grant added 10. Kaley and Meredith chipped in with eight points each, but Kaley was shut-out from three-point range. The senior forward entered the game with a team-high 41.

"We're not going to dwell on this loss — it happened and it's over with," Harrison vowed. "All-in-all, it was a great season."

Boshoven reflects back on first year

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

Winning the WLAA Western Division title, placing third in the 12-team conference and sending three qualifiers to the MHSAA State Meet isn't anything unusual for the Northville wrestling program. In fact, the Mustangs accomplished all those things in each of the past two seasons.

But don't suggest to rookie head coach Bob Boshoven that maybe his 1989-90 squad didn't gain any ground from the year before. And don't suggest that all the above accomplishments are somehow lessened because they were repeats from just 12 months earlier.

"Winning the division title isn't old news to me or the kids, and I hope it never becomes that way," he said. "It's the first time I've done it as the head coach, and I'm thrilled."

"A lot of people didn't expect us to be able to repeat because we graduated so many seniors last winter."

The raw numbers look like this: 13-6-2 overall dual meet record; 6-1 in the WLAA; 5-0 in the Western Division. The Mustangs sported winning records in eight of the 13 weight divisions and boasted four individuals with 30 or more victories.

"When you really look at it, we gained some ground over last year's team," Boshoven said. "At the 1989 state meet, we had three qualifiers but we won only one match total and didn't have any placers (top six finish). At this year's state meet we had three qualifiers, but we won six matches and had a fourth-place finisher — Garnet Potter."

Potter was the heart-and-soul of the squad. He was a team leader in most victories (41) and fewest defeats (6), he won the WLAA title at 145 and the runner-up position at the MHSAA Regionals, and somehow registered three pins in a row at the state meet. He was a four-year letter-winner who improved with each campaign. As a senior, Potter led the team in points (197) and pins (24).

"For Garnet to come this far without any real wrestling experience except at the high school level is a tribute to how hard he works," Boshoven said. "It's been a lot of fun watching him develop and grow. He really peaked at the big meets, like the state meet."

Another valuable senior was Bob Townsend, who was 29-7-1 at 160 before falling on hard times at the districts. Townsend doesn't have much background in wrestling, but was a leader and an athlete.

"Bob did a fantastic job as our captain," Boshoven said. "He was a great leader. He had some bad breaks at the districts but he was the 160-pound runner-up in the WLAA and ended up having an outstanding year."

"Losing those two (Potter and Townsend) will hurt."

But with standouts like Brandon Mardossian, Kevin Khashan and Matt Allison all returning, a third straight division crown may be in the offing in 1991.

"I think we can definitely contend for the division championship next year," Boshoven said. "Hopefully we'll be able to move up in the conference. We were much closer to second this year than last."

Mardossian has been a great addition to the program since he transferred from Livonia Stevenson after his freshman year. At 125, he had an area-best 36-7 record and tied with Potter for total team points with 197. He was also second in takedowns (74), third in pins (20) and grabbed the 125-pound title.

"I think that no matter what weight division Brandon fits into next year, he'll be a dominating force," Boshoven said.

Another dominating force is Khashan, who was 37-8 at 112 and later 119. He led the team with 78 takedowns and was the top 119-pounder in the WLAA.

"Kevin had an outstanding year," Boshoven said. "If there was a 115-pound division instead of 119, he would have placed at the state meet. He was able to get down to 112 early in the season but had trouble keeping it as the season progressed. He wasn't quite big enough physically at 119, so everything he accomplished at that level was strictly due to his superior technique."

For freshman Matt Allison, and junior Jason Vertrees, the 1989-90 campaign was a bit of a surprise. Both performed better than expected, and both will be key figures next winter. Allison was 30-9 at 103, had 25 pins and was a regional qualifier. Vertrees was 20-10 at 171 but missed the home stretch of the season with mononucleosis.

"Allison could very easily be our all-time victory leader before he's done," Boshoven said. "As for Jason, if he remained healthy, I think he would have been a regional qualifier. He's very strong but he needs to improve on his techniques."

Look for the Mustangs to sport better team depth next season with up-and-coming youngsters like Dave Kovacovich and Dave Morante also in the fold.

"I think we will have more depth," Boshoven said. "We may not have as many stars, but we'll be tougher up and down the line-up."

Mustangs of the Week

ERIC NEWTON

BRAD COOK

BOB HOLDRIDGE

Talk about rising to the occasion. The Northville 400-yard freestyle relay team put it all together at the MHSAA State Swim Meet last weekend, and we think the entire team deserves "Mustang of the Week" accolades. The foursome — featuring Andy Wayne, Bob Holdridge, Brad Cook and Eric Newton — placed sixth overall in a time of 3:15.71. The race included a school-record split (49.27) by Wayne in the opening 100 yards. In the preliminary round, the combo shattered the old school record by a full five seconds (3:15.5) and Holdridge (49.29), Cook (48.89) and Newton (47.9) each had lifetime best splits. As a team, the Mustangs placed sixth in the 45-team field and these four individuals were very instrumental — especially Newton, who added a fifth-place finish in the 200 IM and a 10th in the 500 freestyle.

Mia DeHart was 21st in the all-around competition at the WLAA Meet

Gymnasts score 124, place 8th at regionals

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

When you're matched against some of the top teams around, you certainly want to be at 100 percent.

Unfortunately for Northville Coach Michelle Charniga, her gymnasts entered the MHSAA Regional Tournament on March 10 in Troy bruised, battered and beat. The Mustangs still managed to place eighth in the 17-team field with 124.5 points, but it wasn't nearly enough to qualify the squad for a berth in the state meet.

"It wasn't our best performance, but considering the circumstances, it was understandable," Charniga said. Star gymnast Mia DeHart wasn't at her best, and that severely hampered Northville's chances. She aggravated a back injury in practice prior to the competition and her status was questionable right up until Saturday. In addition, vault specialist Melanie Apligan, who placed fourth in the WLAA Meet, fractured her foot in practice and that dashed her state meet aspirations.

"I was disappointed because I know how well we can do if we're healthy," Charniga said. "The kids tried hard, but when a leader like Mia is hurting, it really bothers the whole team. A lot of it is mental because it puts more pressure on the rest of the girls to score higher."

The season officially ended after the regional for the Mustangs. The top three teams, and the top six individuals in each event (plus the all-around) advance on to the state meet, and Northville didn't qualify in any of those instances.

"Some of the girls like Mia, Melanie and Lee (LaChance) had a chance heading in, but there was just too much for them to overcome," Charniga admitted.

In the balance beam, LaChance led the way (7.75), followed by DeHart (7.7), Liz Torok (7.45) and Megan Graham (7.3). None of the scores were anywhere near the top 10 and the team score of 30.2 was low.

In the floor exercise, DeHart (8.4), Tracie Surdu (8.2), Leslie Allen (7.95) and LaChance (7.75) provided the scores, but again, nobody placed. The team score of 32.3 was Northville's best of the competition, but it was still well below this season's best.

It was more of the same in vault. LaChance took the team honors with an 8.05, while Apligan (8.0), Ris Fleming (7.9) and DeHart (7.85) followed. Northville's only top-10 finish of the day came in the uneven parallel bars, when DeHart scored an 8.5. The other competitors included LaChance (7.5), Becky Carney (7.45) and Sue Okasinski (6.75).

In the all-around competition, DeHart was 21st in a field of 44. The score of 32.45 wasn't anywhere near her personal best (35.00), but the injured back had a lot to do with it. LaChance was 32nd (31.05).

Guidelines offered for 'snackers'

Snacking is on the rise, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture. In a recent USDA survey of what food people ate for one day, 75 percent of women reported snacking — up from 60 percent in the late 1970s.

The little time left in busy schedules for the traditional "three square meals a day" routine may be contributing to the increase for all people "Grazing" — or eating mini-meals and snacks — may be a new trend in eating.

According to Eileen Newman, a nutritionist at USDA's Human Nutrition Information Service, grazing or snacking isn't bad in and of itself. In fact, small children may need snacks because they can eat only small portions of food at each meal. Rapidly growing, physically active teenagers may need snacks because their nutrient and calorie requirements are high. Adults may need snacks to supply nutrients they miss when regular meals lose out to busy schedules. Snacks become liabilities, though, when they provide too many calories.

Newman says it's not how you eat, but what you eat. "Snacks — and desserts for that matter — can help you meet your daily needs for protein, vitamins and minerals. Snacks become problems when they supply extra calories that make weight control difficult or take the place of foods that provide other necessary nutrients." The answer, according to her, is to snack right using the Dietary Guidelines for Americans.

The guidelines are seven basic principles that encourage variety, balance and moderation in food consumption. The first two guidelines encourage people to eat a variety of foods that provide enough essential nutrients and calories to maintain a desirable weight; the other five describe special characteristics of good eating, suggesting people eat an adequate amount of starch and fiber Vegetables or Nachos?

Vegetables = Raw vegetable platter (carrots, zucchini sticks, cherry tomatoes)
Nachos = 12 tortilla chips with 1/4 cup cheese sauce and avoid too much fat, sugar, sodium and alcohol.

To snack according to the guidelines, Newman said people should go easy on snacks high in fat, sugar and sodium. She recommended that Americans remember it's the total diet that counts: "If you eat snacks that provide 'extra' fat, sugars and sodium, cut back on these components in other foods eaten during the day — or eat more nutritious snacks."

She offered this advice for improving the nutritional value of the "craze to graze," from USDA's new public education campaign, "Eating Right — The Dietary Guidelines Way":

- Stock up on plain popcorn kernels, whole-grain crackers, unsweetened fruit juices, fresh fruits and vegetables, plain lowfat yogurt, and cheeses (especially those that are low in fat and sodium).

- Carry naturally sweet fresh fruits, such as grapes or pears for a work break, rather than relying on a vending machine for candy.

- Limit the amount you eat, so your snack doesn't replace a meal. If a snack is replacing a meal, choose snacks that are more like meals — such as a small entree, a sandwich or a hearty salad.

- Choose snacks that provide fiber as well as other nutrients: fresh fruits such as apples, peaches and berries, dried fruits, raw vegetables and whole-grain crackers or breads.

- Go easy on snacks that list sugar — or different types of sugars — as the first ingredient.

- Avoid too many snacks that contain animal shortening (lard or beef tallow), or palm, palm kernel or coconut oils — all of which are high in saturated fat.

- Go easy on most nuts, chips, pretzels and products like them which contain sodium from salt and other ingredients. Try unsalted versions.

- Try crackers that are lower in fat and/or sodium such as rice cakes, crisp breads, matzo, melba toast, zwieback, saltines, graham crackers and gingersnaps.

BETTER BEVERAGES

Many people handle their snack attacks with a beverage. Try making your drink choices more nutritious. Water is always good, but you can also enjoy lowfat or skim milk, or fruit juice. Be sure to read the labels on fruit beverages. Fruit juice is 100-percent juice. Fruit drinks, punches and ades may be fortified with nutrients but contain very little juice and lots of added sugar. Products called "grape soda" or "orange soda" are soft drinks and may contain no real juice at all.

Live up your beverages by mixing fruit juice and vegetable juice together, adding club soda to fruit juice for a "cooler," or enjoying a skim-milk fruit shake.

GETTING YOUR JUST DESSERTS

Some folks can pass up snacks but not desserts. Despite what you may have heard, you can have your cake and eat it, too. Your favorite dessert can be a part of your day's food selections. The key to desserts — as with all foods — is to enjoy them in moderate amounts and to balance them with foods lower in fat, sugar and calories throughout the rest of the day.

St. Pat's Run to be held this Saturday

The St. Pat's Fun Run and Pancake Breakfast will be held on March 17 and is sponsored by the Livonia Family YMCA.

Registration will be the day of the race, from 7:45-9:45 a.m. at Frost Junior High School on 14041 Stark Road in Livonia. The race distances will be one, three and five miles.

Cost is $11 and includes T-shirt and all-you-can-eat pancake breakfast with sausage, juice and coffee. Non-runners can eat breakfast for $3 for adults and $1.50 for children.

For more information, call 261-2161, or write Livonia Family Y, 14255 Stark Road, Livonia, MI 48154.

Nutritionally Speaking: Madonna College in Livonia presents "Nutritionally Speaking" as part of the Fireside Chat Series on March 26 at 7 p.m. in the Founders' Room.

The program will help you focus on how to incorporate proper eating habits into a busy schedule to increase mental and physical alertness.

The cost is free and the guest speaker is Maria Stawarz from St. Mary Hospital. For more information, call 591-5056.

EXERCISE PROGRAM: A one-hour exercise program is held Monday and Wednesday mornings at Twelve Oaks Mall. It takes place 9-10 a.m. in the Lord & Taylor corridor near the east entrance.

The program, conducted by The University of Michigan Division of Physical Education, is particularly aimed at older people and others who would benefit from an invigorating but non-strenuous exercise program.

"The format consists of carefully guided warm-up and stretching exercise followed by light aerobics and a cool-down period, all synchronized to music," according to Prof. Phyllis E. Weikart, director of U-M's Adult Lifestyle Program. "Our objective is to improve the participants' strength, flexibility and energy level through activities which are safe and enjoyable."

Fitness Notes

Weikart and her staff have been leading the popular Fitness Over 50 classes for 12 years on the U-M campus and for the past two years at Ann Arbor's Briarwood Mall, where it regularly attracts some 125 participants.

By expanding the program to Twelve Oaks Mall, they have made it more accessible to residents throughout Livingston, Wayne and Oakland Counties.

"Twelve Oaks is open an hour before the stores open (at 10 a.m. daily and noon Sunday) to accommodate people who want to use the mall for walking," notes Twelve Oaks marketing director Elaine Kah. "This exercise program adds a new dimension to this activity. We are pleased to be a part of the program."

Fitness Over 50 welcomes all interested persons, regardless of their age and current activity level. Call the Twelve Oaks Management Office, 348-9438, for further information.

Twelve Oaks is a major regional shopping center located in Novi on I-96 and Novi Road. The center hours are Monday through Saturday, 10 a.m. to 9 p.m.; and Sunday, noon to 6 p.m.

HALF-MARATHON: The annual West Bloomfield Half Marathon has been scheduled for April 22, at 12:30 p.m. This will be the 14th running of this TAC (The Athletics Congress)-certified race which is sponsored by West Bloomfield Parks and Recreation.

The race begins in the front of West Bloomfield High School, Orchard Lake Road at Green Road, and winds through the scenic residential streets of West Bloomfield Township.

Annually the race attracts runners from many midwest states and Ontario, Canada. A new course record was set in 1989 by Doug Kurtis, 37, of Northville, with a time of 1:07:32. Cheri Sly, 24, of Dexter, Michigan set the women's course record at 1:15:57.4 also in 1989.

The 1990 race looks to continued excitement in long distance racing and high quality in race organization. Categories this year will include walkers and wheelers in addition to the many runner divisions.

For an entry form, send a self addressed, stamped envelope to West Bloomfield Parks and Recreation, 3325 Middlebelt Road, West Bloomfield, Michigan 48033. Entrants in the 1989 race will automatically receive an entry form. Registrations are taken up until one-half hour before race time.

Entry fee for the event is $11 through April 13. This early registration guarantees the runner a t-shirt. After April 13 and through race day the fee is $14. There are no guarantees on a t-shirt with a late registration.

For further information, contact the parks and recreation office, 313-334-5660. The West Bloomfield Half Marathon is directed by Sally Slater Pierce.

PADDLEBALL, RACQUETBALL: For those who enjoy paddleball or racquetball, Schoolcraft College is offering several options beginning in February.

Tuesday and Friday evening courts are scheduled for doubles play. A $25 fee includes gloves, paddles, racquets, balls and lockers.

Learning to manage negative stress essential

By DOUG GRAMBEAU

In a fast-paced world, the opportunity for stress to overtake our work and personal lives is a reality we must face up to or suffer the consequences.

While stress is a necessary part of our life, there is a fine line between stress that works for and against you.

Without a certain level of stress, life would be boring, unchallenging and survival would be impossible. According to Dr. George Sheehan, "Stress makes us fit, ready of mind, people of virtue and courage." Stress is what makes us complete. Through it we advance, grow, stay alive — but not without danger. Stress is a struggle that can also destroy.

While positive stress can stimulate you to do your best, too much negative stress can inhibit your growth, stifle your creativity, drain energy from you and lower your potential for achievement. Elevated blood pressure (hypertension) is also a by-product of the negative side of stress in everyday life.

Learning to manage stress and not allowing it to overwhelm you is essential. If you can learn to recognize signals and adjust your behavior accordingly, the destructive qualities of stress can be overcome.

For many of us, time seems to be an enemy. There is never enough of it to go around and as deadlines approach, we become anxious. Instead of dwelling on how little time you have, look at it as providing an opportunity to stretch your capabilities beyond anything you've done before. Set priorities each day, because while it's important to do the job right, it's equally important to do the right job.

Sometimes the tensions of everyday life are just too much to cope with. We all have our own style of dealing with this problem, but too often, we just don't use it. Relaxation can be almost anything that suits you; exercise, reading, a hot bath or listening to music. The method you use is not as important as doing it. Relaxation in your life is as important as eating and sleeping, so make sure it's part of your daily schedule.

It's easy to develop a defeatist attitude when things are falling apart all around you. In most cases we are our own worst enemy when trying to cope with stressful situations. Try being your own best friend instead; be nice to yourself, and not so critical and nasty. The saying "nobody's perfect," is true so why not accept it and challenge yourself to do better. Be confident and optimistic, and believe in your own abilities.

Other suggestions to counteract and relieve your stress:

- Laugh at yourself and the absurdities of life.
- Share your feelings openly.
- Develop a regular program of physical activity.
- Provide quiet, alone time for yourself each day.

- Interact with people with whom you do not work.

- Limit the number of major changes that you make in your life at any one time.

- Reward yourself when you reach a personal goal.

- Say "no" to feel good about it.

- Transfer the energy produced by one source of stress to doing something productive in another area of your life.

It is important to remember that because you are your own greatest source of stress, you are also the best one to do something about it. Do something positive today — for you.

Hitting it on the head

PICK A NUMBER, any number — make that a large number and you could be $20,000 richer.

It's the popular "House of Nails" contest, returning to the 1990 International Builders Home, Flower and Furniture Show, March 17-25 at Cobo Center.

The plexiglass House of Nails, which is 20-by-24-inches wide and 24 inches tall, with a 12-by-12-inches wide, 17 inches tall addition, will be on display during the builders show. The person estimating closest to the correct number of nails in the house, wins $20,000.

Filled with various sizes of nails, it will be on display at the WXYT-AM booth throughout the show.

House of Nails judges are: Amy Turner (left) chairwoman of the city of Detroit Department of Recreation Advisory Committee; June Roselle, director of Cobo Conference and Exhibition Center; Judy Sturgis, National Bank of Detroit mortgage officer; and Sharon Frenn, chairman of the Southeastern Michigan Chapter of the American Red Cross.

Bloomin' delights

AFTER sponsoring the garden that won the "best garden award" at the 1989 builders show, National Bank of Detroit will try to top themselves this year with an urban park garden.

The garden will feature a spectacular fountain, which can be admired from a path of interlocking paver bricks. The path will be bordered by an array of brightly colored annuals and perennials to give the garden that "breath of spring" feeling.

Showgoers are invited to relax on park benches as they take in the atmosphere of the perfect city park.

SPEAKING of gardens, about 43,000 feet of the Hall of Gardens will contain a walk-through spring garden featuring a mushroom-shaped fountain with a copper dome that is 15 feet high and 8 feet wide.

Part of the setting will be a pond. A wooden bridge will allow showgoers to walk across the dry creek bed. The garden, sponsored by the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan, will feature a color 15-foot wide Italian-style street umbrella and picnic table to create the scene of an European picnic.

THE Standard Federal garden at the builders show is a breathtaking sight as water flows from one pool to the next creating rapids and a waterfall. A spring garden will surround the fountain, constructed by Mark J. Baldwin & Associates of Plymouth.

For a complete story on the gardens at the builders show, please turn to page 24.

Biggest yet

THE 1990 International Builders Home, Flower and Furniture Show, March 17-25, at Cobo Center, is the largest show of its kind in the world — all under one roof.

More than 800 exhibition booths, gardens and other attractions will fill the entire top level of Cobo Center — 500,00 square feet. The show's nine-day run is expected to attract more than 500,000 people.

Experts in every conceivable area of residential construction, heating and cooling, design, finance and remodeling will be on hand to demonstrate their wares and answer questions from the public.

Please turn to Page 26

Show hours for the 1990 International Builders Home Flower and Furniture Show are from 1 to 11 p.m. weekdays and from 10 a.m. to 11 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

General admission for adults is $5 and $3 for senior citizens and students. Children under six admitted free. General admission includes a 50-cent Cobo Center surcharge.

Two-for-one coupons are available at Elias Brothers Big Boy restaurants. Discount family tickets are available at all Farmer Jack/A&P Supermarkets.

2-story house for all to inspect

FOR THE first time ever, you can walk in and around a two-story house right at the builders show.

General Housing Corp. of Bay City is sponsoring the "Birmingham," a three-bedroom, 2½-bath manufactured home that will be put together and displayed at the builders show.

Although, at first, this may seem inconceivable, this house will actually fit in Cobo Center. The house will arrive in four pieces. The second story will be lifted right onto the first story — quite an amazing sight. The roof of the house pops up and out of the second story.

Contrary to popular belief, modular housing is not new. The first modular construction in this country came to our shores by way of England. The pilgrims brought a church and parish home that was originally built in England, sawed into sections, lashed to the deck of ships and re-erected in Plymouth, Mass., in 1620. The concept has been evolving in one form or another ever since.

SINCE THE HOUSE is actually manufactured in the controlled environment of a factory, builders don't have to worry about such problems as weather conditions. So, it only takes about four days to effectively and safely manufacture a home.

Once the house is built, it only takes about one week to assemble it at the site. It takes even less time at the builders show.

Five builders are working in cooperation with General Housing Corp. to construct the "Birmingham." They are: Affordable Homes from Waterford, Dale Callaghan Homes from Howell, Concept Homes Inc., from Romeo, John/Nancy Bezemark Builders from Carsonville, and Thomas L. Snyder Builders from Dexter.

All five are from Michigan, as will every piece of material to be used in the construction of the house.

In fact, the theme "Say Yes to Michigan!" will be emphasized at this exhibit at the builders show

The house will be fully decorated and landscaped. Sears in Summit Place Mall in Waterford will handle the decorating details. Biondo Brothers will provide the brickwork, while Ground Landscape & Lawncare will make us believe we're truly "on-site."

In addition to the fact that the Birmingham has vinyl siding and wood-clad windows, it is completely built on a wood foundation. Known to builders as the Permanent Wood Foundation (PWP), it's believed to be more energy efficient, durable and economical.

The house will contain a kitchen, dining room, family room, utility room and two-story deck. Showgoers will be invited to walk into the house from the first floor, walk up to the second floor and out the deck, then down the deck's steps to the ground floor.

Price of this 2,240-square-foot-house is $99,500. The buyer, of course, would have to provide the lot and any site work.

Arts and crafts has something for everyone

YOU CAN learn everything you've ever wanted to know about water lilies from 16-year-old Jim Pigstain, the youngest participant in the arts and crafts section of the International Builders Home Flower and Furniture Show.

In only seven years, he has become somewhat of an expert in his field of interest. That knowledge has earned him the nickname, "The Lily Pad Boy." What Monet did for water lilies on canvas, Pigstain does in facts and figures.

Pigstain says the largest water lily specie is found in Brazil and Bolivia and has pads that are six to seven feet across; the fastest growing specie is the Giant Prickly water lily from China which grows from a seed to a multi-pad plant 18 feet across, in just five months. Along with plant facts like these, Pigstain can also tell you how to start your own water lily pond.

He's also an expert on palms and other rare exotic plants which he raises and sells. Some will be on display in his booth.

Jim Pigstain is just one of the many skilled people from Michigan and across the country who will be displaying their special talents and wares in the arts and crafts section at the builders show.

GLASS BLOWING BY Gordon Key will surely get your attention. He makes solid glass figures by deftly manipulating glass rods that have been heated to over 1800-degrees Fahrenheit. Right before your eyes, Key produces fanciful cats, dogs, pigs, penguins — a whole menagerie of animals including the perennial favorite, dragons with crystals. Gilded with platinum or gold, these glass critters are true treasures.

From the depths of the sea come more treasures; fresh water pearls used by William Romwalter to create beautiful jewelry. The familiar round pearls are produced by oysters; fresh water pearls come from mussels and are usually elongated and convoluted. Romwalter's specialties are necklaces, bracelets and earrings designed to combine the pearls with semiprecious stones like melachite, onyx, hematite, lapis lazuli and quartz. He can design a creation for you and you can even watch him make it.

"Circles of Life," a craft from the Indians of the American Southwest will be one of the featured items in the Fashion Accents and Creative Framing booth, according to Christ Burke of the Fashion Accents booth. Burke says the "circles" are shaped like small shields and are supposed to bring health and good luck. You will also find quilted wall hangings in various sizes and color schemes along with custom fabric frames.

Hand-carved wood architectural pieces are not very easy to come by these days. That's why Judith Squires' talent is so fascinating. She hand-carves relief designs into wood fireplace mantels and on wood plaques. She says the most popular design her clients ask for is a replica carving of the client's own home. You'll get to see this artist at work in her booth.

Miniature dollhouses. Just about everyone loves them — men and women, young and old. They're not just for little girls anymore. Squires also designs, builds, customizes and sells all kinds; from log cabins to the fanciest Victorian mansions and from kits to the finished product. She will have several examples of her work on display including the ever popular Italian restaurant.

AFTER VISITING Sam Burwell's booth, it's going to be easy for you to visualize the hidden beauty in that old furniture you're stored away. Burwell and his staff are experts at repairing and refinishing solid wood and veneered furniture. An excellent example of his skill will be the 1830s era Rococo Revival dining room set which he repaired extensively and refinished. This treasure is in Burwell's booth.

Other crafts in the show include quilts, beveled and leaded glass, decorative wood accent pieces, silk flower arrangement, painted wood plaques, hanging lamps and hand-painted silk scarves.

All of these talented people have been brought together by Alice Aldrich of Alice's Promotions with the help of her daughter, Alice Perks. Alice's Promotions has been bringing the best in arts and crafts to the builders show for over two decades.

First Federal Makes It Easy To Get Into A New Home.

As the leading home mortgage lender in Michigan, we have the experience and know-how to tailor a plan to fit your particular needs.

More than just fixed-rate and adjustable-rate mortgages, our wide variety of plans include early-ownership and graduated payment mortgages.

Conventional, FHA and VA mortgages.

Even bridge loans to help you get from one house to another.

All feature "interest rate lock-in" at time of application. Free prequalifying and consultation is available at any time, even before a home is picked out and a purchase agreement is signed.

Our loan officers will take mortgage applications during regular working hours, after working hours, even weekends.

Call us toll free at 1-800-342-5336 for more information and the location of your nearest First Federal office.

We'll be happy to show you why nobody has helped more people buy homes in Michigan than we have.

Holy bathhouse, Robin — check out birdhouse contest

OVER 1,100 seventh and eighth grade students from all over the metro area are participating in the "Best Birdhouse Builder" contest, sponsored by the Observer and Eccentric Newspapers, the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan and the Department of Natural Resources.

Each participating school will choose one seventh and one eighth grade winner. These finalists will have their houses displayed in the Hall of Gardens at the builders show.

The birdhouses will be judged by a panel from the O&E, the builders association and the DNR. The winners will be announced Sunday, March 25 during a special reception for principals, teachers, students and their families at Cobo Hall.

The birdhouses are judged in categories: purple Martin, house wren, bluebird, barred owl, robin, wood duck, great crested flycatcher, American kestrel as well as the little brown bat. Yes, a bat! According to the DNR, many species of bats can eat 3,000 to 7,000 mosquitoes a night. As a matter of fact, in Europe, bats are totally protected and many people build bat houses to control insects.

All of the birdhouses will be judged on strict criteria because each species of bird or bat is very choosy in picking its home. The house must be perfect in order to attract the species it was designed for. Each student participating in the contest was supplied with information from the book, "Woodworking for Wildlife," which describes the habitat needs of each species. The book also give instructions on how to build the most suitable house for each species.

The two first-place winners will each receive a Casio electronic keyboard, the two second-place winners will receive roller ice hockey skates, and the two third-place winners will each receive a portable Nintendo game boy. Twenty honorable mention winners will each receive a Sony radio head-phone set. All students whose birdhouses are displayed at the builders show will receive a $35 gift certificate to Harmony House, a hardback bird book, and a certificate of achievement from the O&E.

Jenn-Air to introduce new dual fuel range

WHITE ON white is the look in kitchens and appliances in the '90s according to Jenn-Air.

"The look is very European," said Mike McKimmy, director of builder sales at Jenn-Air Distributing. "Jenn-Air has an Italian design consultant who helps create the latest looks. The difference between the American look and the European look is the shape; European designs are more streamlined and less glitzy, using less chrome, cleaner lines and rounded handles."

Jenn-Air is introducing a dual fuel range at the builders show. This range features a gas down-draft cooktop and a 220-volt electric self-cleaning convection oven.

"THE NEW DUAL fuel range is the hottest new appliance. Gourmet cooks like gas top ranges because of the superior temperature control and higher energy efficiency that electric ranges don't have," added McKimmy.

Jenn-Air ranges also feature barbecues, griddles, wok attachments, rotisserie, slow-cook crock pot accessories, a canning element and a deep fryer.

A Jenn-Air chef will demonstrate how easy and fun it is to cook with the new ranges and ovens. He will be cooking

Jenn-Air will also be displaying dishwashers, compactors and refrigerators. The dishwashers, which are manufactured by Maytag, allow loading of plates on the top or bottom racks. The tri-level zirconium porcelain tank is harder than most finishes and has a nichrome heating element that has no iron, thus lasting much longer. The best feature is that no pre-rinsing is required.

Sleek kitchens never cooked so good

IF IT'S BUILT-IN, sleek, European and practical for your kitchen, you'll see it at the builders show.

Hawthorne Home Appliances, a leader in built-in kitchen appliances, showcases their tremendous line of European-style appliances. The display will be so varied and large, they're calling it a show-stopper. It will feature all of the newest selections in built-in cook tops, ovens, refrigerators, dishwashers, microwaves and more.

This year Hawthorne is highlighting convection, a cooking method that's been around for years but only recently gained popularity. Convection ovens circulate the heated air in the oven, so cooking time is reduced and food is tastier and more nutritious.

At one time these ovens were a rarity, but with increased consumer demand and an accommodating increase in the number of manufacturers, you'll find that the selection is far more varied than ever before.

MOST OF THE appliances Hawthorne carries are produced by companies in Britain, Germany, Switzerland and Sweden. They're more compact than American-made appliances and are targeted at the higher income brackets.

According to a Hawthorne spokesperson, the hot look in appliances is white on white. But you can still choose from the other colors such as black, and stainless steel. They'll also show you how to achieve that European look for your kitchen by adding just a few items if you're not in the market for an entire line of appliances.

What inspires a cook to cook? A great cooking area. You can pick it out yourself from the sleek, European kitchen appliances at Trevarrow Inc. The technology and designs that went into producing Trevarrow's built-in stoves, refrigerators, ovens and sinks, represent a quantum leap from the ordinary into the realm of extraordinary.

A Trevarrow kitchen sink, for instance, isn't just functional, it is a work of art. Refrigerators don't just keep food cold, they discreetly maintain it in anticipation of its supreme purpose. Ovens and cooktops don't just cook, they enhance the creative culinary process, elevating it to a higher plane. These kitchen appliances are for people who love to cook!

New on the market is the European solid disc element featuring electric resistance wires embedded in a flat cast iron cooking surface. It's slightly raised from the surface of the cooktop, surrounded by a spill ring and sealed to the cooktop so there's no need for a

Liners give old tubs a facelift

That old bathtub is looking rusted, cracked and downright ugly. Don't throw it out. A bathtub liner will leave your tub looking like new for about one-third of the cost of a new one.

Michigan Bathtub Liners Inc. of Auburn Hills will introduce their product for the first time in Michigan at the builders show. This bathtub liner is made of acrylic butyl styrene (ABS) plastic that will never leak or crack. This high-impact plastic is non-porous so it never absorbs dirt and rust like traditional porcelain and fiberglass tubs do.

Porcelain and fiberglass tubs require a great deal of scrubbing to remove dirt and rust, wearing down the surface of the tub in a short time. The ABS plastic used in Michigan Bathtub Liners require no scrubbing. Because the tub repels dirt, rust and oil, it wipes clean easily alleviating back-breaking labor as well as wear and tear on the tub.

"Each bathtub liner is custom-made to fit each individual tub. We measure the tub and take photos of it. With this information, we can produce a bathtub liner that will fit tightly to the tub. Each liner is constructed of a quarter-inch thick layer of ABS plastic and is an exact duplication of the existing tub. The liner is sealed to the tub with a highly durable adhesive. These bathtub liners will last just as long as a new bathtub," said Jeff Os-lund, president of Michigan Bathtub Liners Inc.

"IT USED TO BE that when your bathtub was worn out there were only two solutions: buy a completely new tub or get the existing tub reglazed or refinished. The problem with reglazing and refinishing is that the process in-involves applying a thin layer of epoxy paint over the porcelain. In a short amount of time, everyday use of water and cleansers will damage the surface like sandpaper would. Although this process is less expensive than a bathtub liner, it only lasts one to three years before the tub needs to be repaired again. Bathtub liners are a permanent solution to the problem where reglazing is only temporary.

Now homeowners can update the look of their bathtub for as little as $500 installed, where a completely new tub can cost anywhere from $1,200 to $3,500 plus the cost of removing the old tub. In addition, the product is guaranteed for five years, Oslund said.

The liners come completely installed with a new drain and overflow for each tub. And, what's best, is that the liners can be completely installed in less than three hours.

For more information regarding the liners, call 853-0777.

THE REAL BEAUTY OF A HOW HOME IS WHAT YOU DON'T SEE.

Lots of kitchen cabinets, crown molding, and extra-large closets are things you can appreciate the moment you see them in a new home.

But the intangibles—things like security and peace of mind—take a little while longer to surface.

That's why more and more new homebuyers are insisting on a home protected by the Home Owners Warranty 10 year protection program.

They know they're getting the best protection money can buy. Good for 10 years, and even transferable to the new owners, should you sell your home during that period.

And even though the odds are slim that something will go wrong, it's good to know you're protected against workmanship and material defects the first year. Defective wiring, ductwork, and piping in the second.

And your home is protected against major structural defects that vitally affect the use of your new home for the full 10 years*. Your builder can give you all the details, including the reasonable exclusions.

So when you look for a new home, look for the HOW symbol.

It means you're getting a lot more than meets the eye.

From Gaggenau, a major European built-in appliance line distributed by Trevarrow, comes the new halogen cooking element. It uses intense halogen light to create heat and give cooks instant heat control previously available only with gas burners. The halogen burner is under a smooth, easily maintained glass cooking surface and gives off a bright red light when it's not in use.

The Trevarrow line also includes the Akso Asea dishwasher from Sweden, the quietest dishwasher on the market. This dishwasher is rated No. 1 in cleaning ability, drying and water and energy efficiency.

Hideaway, space-saving appliances are more popular these days. They can be found in the Iron-A-Way line that offers built-in ironing boards, bathroom scales, paper towel dispensers and toasters on display in the Trevarrow booth.

manufacturer and distributor of kitchen and bath fixtures, will showcase the Medallion line, one of Kurtis' major suppliers of kitchen fixtures.

Filled with model kitchens, the display will also be used at the National Kitchen and Bath Show in April in Chicago.

Other products in the Kurtis booth will include Decora, Kitchen Compact, Briggs, Koehler, Elger and more. Showgoers will also find many traditional oak cabinets on display because they still represent about 80 percent of the market. But laminated formica cabinets are coming on strong — especially in white — for both kitchen and bath.

Get repairs advice from D-I-Y connection

If you're in the metro Detroit area on a weekend morning, listening to the same old jabber of programs, commercials and music on your radio, dial to 1270 AM. You may be in for a DIY (do-it-yourself) education.

DIY information fills the airwaves as Glen Haege, the area's foremost "handyman" expert gives timely tip on simple home repairs.

Haege has served the area do-it-yourself hardware audience for over eight years. Hardware information is offered in perhaps one of the most unusual and unbeatable ways as Haege, known as "America's Master Handyman," broadcasts his radio show from WXYT-AM 1270 9 a.m. to noon Saturday and Sunday mornings.

Haege will broadcast his show live from the builders show March 17-18 and 24-25 — both weekends of the nine-day show.

During his talk show, do-it-yourselfers have the opportunity to call Haege and ask him questions with topics that range from how to cure leaky faucets to how to perform driveway crack repairs.

Haege's talk show is presently the highest rated weekend talk show in the Detroit area, garnering an estimated 51,000 new listeners at any one time and a total of 151,000 listeners throughout the show.

Glenn Haege, of WXYT-AM's "Ask the Handyman" show, will broadcast from the builders show.

Pools! Gazebos! Jacuzzis!

This year at the builders show, the Southeast Michigan Pool Association will display over 5,000 square feet of above-ground and in-ground pools, spas, gazebos and jacuzzis.

The association is a local area chapter which comes together to show all the new advances and exciting pool products that are available — all in one huge exhibit. There will be 10 different pool dealers who will be displaying their wares at the show: Viscount Pools, Pietila Pools, Jack Roberts Pools, Pool Concepts, Home Water Sports, Rainbow Pools, Sunspace, Dobat Pools, Whirlpool on Wheels and Michigan Pool.

Kevin Zacharski of Viscount Pools is also the manager of the Southeast Michigan Pool Association. He's very enthusiastic about this year's display. It's the best time for consumers who are interested in pool products to sell all that's available to them."

HE ADDS, "THE builders show is the perfect place to bring east and west together because it gives people who live on the eastside a chance to see what's offered on the westside and vice-versa.

In addition to pools and spas, the exhibit will also display patio furniture and spa enclosures. Plus, Whirlpool on Wheels offers a unique opportunity — the ability to rent hot tubs. Let's say, for example, you're having a party and you want to do something different. Whirlpool on Wheels will deliver and set up a whirlpool right at your own house.

'Architect Series' debuts

Windows that keep your house warm . . . windows that bring back style and charm . . . are featured in the many window displays at the 1990 International Builders Home Flower and Furniture Show.

Pella windows and doors has a revolutionary new entry into the divided light window market called "The Architect Series."

The idea for the series came from an ongoing problem experienced by architects across the country: How to produce a highly energy-efficient thermal window in the designs of the classic divided light windows of eras gone by.

Pella met the challenge by using a radical new manufacturing technique called integral light technology. This new technology enables Pella to produce the series as standard insulating windows that combine the custom-crafted window beauty of years gone by with a product that meets the modern consumer's demands for maximum thermal insulation.

The authentic historical look of the series is achieved by the narrow width of the wood muntins (window pane strips) that are permanently bonded to the interior and exterior window surfaces. Strength and structural performance is achieved by the steel grid, which is in the same pattern as the muntins and sandwiched between the panes of insulating glass.

Floral 'Hall of Gardens' adds visual

FLOWERS, grasses, cacti, tropical plants, bonsai trees, flowering crab apple trees, fountains, rapids and waterfalls will cover 100,000 square feet of the "Hall of Gardens" at the 1990 builders show.

"Because most of the gardens will be in one hall of Cobo Center, the 'Hall of Gardens' will be quite a breathtaking sight. As soon as people walk into the gardens, they will be overwhelmed by the sights, smells and sounds of spring," said Jim Scott, of James C. Scott & Associates Inc. Scott's landscape architecture firm is responsible for designing the entire "Hall of Gardens."

"This year we will be featuring many new varieties in the gardens including ornamental grasses, bonsai trees, flowering crab apple trees and bromeliad (succulent) plants. The 'Hall of Gardens' will also feature a rose garden, a tropical garden, a cactus garden, as well as annuals and perennials."

"ALL OF THESE gardens are designed to highlight the latest in gardening and landscaping trends. Ornamental grasses, for instance, are quickly gaining popularity around the country. These grasses are usually long and spiky and come in a variety of shades of green from variegated into blue-green. Ornamental grasses are very useful in adding texture and interesting color to gardens and landscapes. A great advantage of ornamental grasses is that they require little maintenance and will bloom year after year with a minimum of annual pruning."

"Since the builders show take place in March, all of these flowers, plants and trees needs to be tricked into blooming just in time for the show. To get the plants to bloom before spring, they are placed in a greenhouse where the changing of the seasons is imitated at an accelerated rate. It takes careful planning to make sure the flowers bloom just days before the show," added Scott.

In addition to the "Hall of Gardens," the 1990 builders show will feature entrance gardens sponsored by Standard Federal, First Federal and National Bank of Detroit. As people enter the show, they will hear fountains and other sounds of rushing water, see vibrant color and contrasting textures, and will smell the aroma of the first bloom of spring.

The "Hall of Gardens" and the entrance gardens are not only a treat for all of the senses, they are also a learning experience. Come ready to learn how the latest trends in gardening and landscaping can turn your yard into a paradise.

Builders show unfolds

The show is introducing the "Hall of Gardens" — 100,000 square feet of breathtaking gardens. Thousands of flowers, shrubs and other greenery will literally transform Cobo Center into a "breath of spring."

The "Hall of Gardens" will be adorned with various landscaped gardens including tropical, cactus, ornamental grass, bromeliad (succulent), bonsai, flowering crab apples trees, perennial and annual gardens, just to name a few.

ALSO IN THE GARDENS will be gazebos, fountains and areas where visitors can enjoy the sights and smells of the coming season. The thousands of flowering plants will be "tricked" into blooming early just in time for the show, using horticultural magic that rivals Mother Nature.

For the first time ever, a two-story colonial house will be constructed in Cobo Center. This 2,240 square-foot-home, which is manufactured by General Housing Corp. of Bay City, boasts three bedrooms, 2½ baths, a kitchen, dining room, family room and a two-story deck. Showgoers are invited to stroll through the $99,500 home, which is decorated by Sears and landscaped by Groundwork Landscape and Lawn-care.

Back by popular demand this year is an elaborate arts and crafts display with hundreds of talented exhibitors with products ranging from painting to handmade jewelry.

The latest trends in floral arrangements by Allied Florists and FTD Florists will adorn the show. One the last day of the event, March 25, the arrangements will be auctioned off with proceeds benefiting the Multiple Sclerosis Foundation.

The show, which is in its 72nd year, is sponsored, as a public service, by the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan.

Attention: Deckowners

Is your deck

Decks become dull and gray as the cells in the wood die from exposure to the sun, air pollution and acid rain.

1990 by COTTER & COMPANY, CHICAGO IL 60614 100% Retailer-Owned Warehouse Distributors & Merchandisers
Because this is a syndicated publication prepared in advance by Cotter & Company for distribution by over 6,000 independently owned and operated retail store members, some merchandise illustrated may not be immediately available on demand. However, any item that's unavailable can be ordered in full carton by the member store from a regional warehouse. Many items in this circular come unassembled. This store is not responsible for assembling merchandise unless stated. This circular must be prepared months in advance of the actual distribution period. At times, an advertised item may not be available because of sales above anticipated demand or because of circumstances beyond our control; while we try to avoid such situations, we have no control over our manufacturers' delivery problems. This store reserves the right to limit quantities, correct pricing errors and require central credit office approval of time payment sales. Prevailing taxes will be added to prices. This catalog is distributed by True Value members who own their own stores and set their own retail prices. Green Thumb, Harvard Cutlery, Lawn Chief, Master Electrician, Master Mechanic, Master Plumber, Servess, Snow Chief, Tru Bond, True Value, Tru Guard, Tru-Test and Value Bright are registered trademarks of Cotter & Company.
