Trustees will not support zoning board in Ward case

By MIKE TYREE

A group of residents who protested a township Zoning Board of Appeals (ZBA) decision which granted a height variance to Ward Presbyterian Church has found an unlikely ally for their impending day in court — the township Board of Trustees.

In a closed session March 8, the board determined that the height variance granted to Ward Church on Sept. 18 by the ZBA was improper.

By a 4-2 vote, the board decided that it would not stand behind the ZBA's decision to grant Ward Church a height variance which would allow the church to build a 108-foot structure atop its proposed facility on the corner of Six Mile and Haggerty roads.

The board's decision was made public this week when township attorney Ernest Essad forwarded a legal brief on the case to Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Richard C. Kaufman.

Kaufman will hear the residents' case against the ZBA and intervening defendant Ward Church April 11 in Detroit.

Citing two similar court cases, Essad told the board that Ward has the ability to build the church within the confines of the township's 48-foot height ordinance. Ward's contention that adherence to the height ordinance was a hardship was dismissed by the attorney.

A Ward Church spokesperson reached Wednesday, said the church has no comment on the matter at this time.

In his brief to Kaufman, Essad wrote, "There appears to be no claim by Ward that any 'practical difficulty' exists other than the expense and inconvenience of modifying their intended building."

"Financial hardship should only be considered when it is serious enough to prevent the property from yielding a reasonable income," he added.

Essad said the ZBA granted the variance believing the church was reliant upon a township ordinance that existed before the adoption of the 48-foot limitation in the summer of 1989.

The ZBA, he said, was not obligated to honor that claim.

"... No reliance may be held on a township ordinance until the developer has reached a stage in the development in (which) he is deemed to have a vested right in the development," he wrote. "... Ward would not seem to have any such vested right."

Township Trustee Thomas Handyside said the issue was debated at length before the March 8 board vote.

"We went through extensive discussion," he said. "Philosophically, the board wants to support its various groups and commissions. But after some issues were pointed out by the attorney, we had to ask ourselves, 'Do

City approves proposal for shared services

By STEVE KELLMAN

City Council members took the wind out of the sails of township library opponents Monday night, with their call for approval by city voters of the shared-services agreement.

But most of the 60 audience members in attendance did not seem to mind the move, which in effect gives city residents a chance to vote for or against participation in the Haller Complex.

Before announcing the proposal for a city vote, Mayor Chris Johnson observed the city had received about 100 letters from residents urging the council to table a vote on the shared-services agreement until after the May 1 township election on the Haller Complex.

"Your comments and suggestions did have an impact on the city council and the direction the council would go," Johnson said.

Though the council decided not to table the vote, they agreed to approve the shared services agreement subject to approval by city voters. That vote will likely be held during the August primary elections.

Plymouth delays manager decision

By STEVE KELLMAN

A decision on the new Plymouth City Manager has been put on hold for two weeks because one of the two candidates for the position is out of town.

Meanwhile, the other candidate, Northville City Manager Steven Walters, has been surprised by the encouragement he has received to stay in Northville.

Plymouth Mayor Dennis Bila said that a decision on the position will likely be postponed for two weeks. "We're kind of on hold, because one of the key players, Gordon Jaeger of Battle Creek, is out of town until the 12th," he explained.

"He is a very, very strong candidate," Bila said of Jaeger. But, he added, "We consider Steve Walters a very, very strong candidate also." Bila said that Jaeger and Walters are the only two candidates now under consideration for the position, which has been vacant for nearly a year.

He added that the Plymouth City Commission is considering holding an open meeting on April 16 to decide the matter.

While Bila would not say what salary the city would consider offering the candidates, he did say, "We

Township begins police chief search

By MIKE TYREE

A plan to hire a public safety director to administer the township police and fire departments was rejected March 29 by the township board.

Despite pro-public safety director recommendations by Township Manager Richard Henningsen and Treasurer Betty Lennox, the board decided to retain its police and fire chief management system.

The board then directed Henningsen to begin a search for a new police chief and set a July 1 hiring deadline for the position.

The move to consider a public safety director evolved after former Police Chief Kenneth Hardesty resigned in December. Township officials felt both departments could be managed more efficiently by a single administrator and saw the police chief vacancy as an ideal opportunity to implement the system.

Henningsen and Lennox interviewed safety directors and their supervisors in neighboring communities and determined that Northville Township — with its steady growth rate and increasing demands upon both departments — was ready for the change to the civilian administrator.

Lennox noted the potential savings to the township with the safety director system. She said approximately $40,000 a year in salary and benefits would be saved by replacing the two chiefs with one administrator.

"I recommend we consider going to this," she said. "Northville Township could benefit and we could come out with more money to spend on more people (police and fire) on the road."

But two board members and a room full of police and fire personnel disagreed.

"What is wrong with our departments that we need to correct them?" asked Trustee Donald Williams. "We're always correcting something around here (and) I'd rather see it (promotions) go through the ranks

"I just can't see it (public safety director) at this time."

Trustee James Nowka said the township was not working from a "problem situation." He said personnel in the police and fire departments utilized different skills and that cross training — usually a byproduct of a public safety system — would be difficult.

The board members' comments were tame compared to those of Fire Chief Robert Toms, however.

"The fire department is not broke; don't fix us," he said. "Most communities that have a public safety director ... everything burns to the ground."

"I don't think the township needs it."

Supervisor Georgina Goss told Toms the police chief vacancy gave the township the opportunity to explore the options that could be provided by a public safety director. She assured Toms that his position would not be endangered by a move to a safety director.

Trustee Thomas Handyside seemed to favor a safety director.

City approves new recycling ordinance

By STEVE KELLMAN

The Northville City Council approved a new refuse and recycling ordinance for the city at its Monday night meeting, replacing the city's garbage and rubbish ordinance.

Under the new ordinance, and an accompanying list of recyclable refuse, city residents will be required to separate their grass clippings and other plant material from their yards out of their normal garbage. Such waste can either be set out for collection in containers clearly marked "Yard Wastes" or "Grass," or in clear plastic bags.

Branches and brush can be tied in four-foot bundles, as long as the branches are not more than six inches thick.

Under the new ordinance, recyclable materials like grass clippings will be collected the same day as regular refuse.

The yard waste will likely be collected by the city through a contractor, said City Manager Steven Walters. It will then be taken to a private composting yard instead of the Arbor Hills Landfill for disposal.

The city will only collect pure grass clippings and leave clippings that contain other garbage, Walters said. "It's going to be enforced because of the importance of it to the total waste stream." Walters said that such yard waste accounts for 30-40 percent of the total waste stream in the summer.

The new ordinance also lists materials that are forbidden from curbside trash.

All batteries, including both automobile batteries and smaller flashlight or radio batteries, are required to be separated out of the regular garbage. The batteries are a major source of heavy-metal contamination from landfills, Walters said.

Other materials that will not be accepted at the curb are two-cycle gas, tires and scrap metal parts. These materials can be dropped off at the DPW recycling yard at 650 Doheny Drive for collection.

City council members took some heat from members of Monday's audience over the planned cutback of days at the recycling center. The council plans to reduce the time the center is open from six days a week to Saturdays only, but expand available hours on Saturday to 10 a.m.-5 p.m.

Suspensions end for Meads Mill students

By MIKE TYREE

Six Meads Mill students suspended for their role in an after-school brawl planned for March 23 have been allowed to return to classes.

The students, suspended for bringing weapons to school and for instigating the near-fight, were reinstated last week after serving a three-day out-of-school suspension.

Meads Mill Principal David Longridge would not comment on the suspensions Tuesday but a letter from the principal to Superintendent of Schools George Bell outlined the discipline handed out to the students.

According to the letter, the four seventh-grade and two eighth-grade boys suspended were also instructed to complete a learning packet which discusses bringing dangerous or illegal items to school. The learning packet draws scenarios and asks questions of its reader, including portions which ask the offending student to list goals for not letting the problem occur in the future.

Longridge's letter said the students were recommended to Northville Youth Assistance "and/or the school social worker services."

Also, all free time for the students was cancelled and the students were placed on a "behavioral contract" for the rest of the school year.

NEWS BRIEFS

DEPARTMENT OF CORRECTIONS — In last week's edition of the Record, an article on local architect Gregory Presley's post-office library proposal gave an incorrect estimated cost of the initial phase of the project. The correct amount is $1.8 million.

HENNINGSEN, O'BRIEN TO MEET TODAY — A meeting between Township Manager Richard Henningsen and Planning Commissioner Barbara O'Brien to discuss issues related to O'Brien's tenure with the planning commission will be held today. A meeting scheduled for March 28 was cancelled after the Record went to press.

PLANNERS IN SPECIAL SESSIONS — The Northville Township Planning Commission subcommittee studying the township's planned unit development (PUD) ordinance presented its findings before the planning commission Tuesday evening. A study session for general discussion will be held April 10 at 7:30 p.m. at the township hall meeting room, according to Carol Maise, township planning and zoning administrator.

LIBRARY CLOSURES FOR WEEK — The Northville Public Library will be closed during the week of April 9 so that additional shelving can be installed. Anyone wishing to help in moving books may contact the library. This job will be made easier if fewer books are in the library. Therefore, anyone who checks out and "book-sits" 10 or more adult fiction, juvenile fiction or juvenile non-fiction books will receive a free book bag. The library will resume public service on Monday, April 16.

A CREATIVE EVENING — Marilyn Reagan, principal of Our Lady of Victory School in Northville, has invited the Northville community to an evening presentation which is the culmination of the Artist-in-Residence program undertaken by fiction writer Lawrence Pike. A program of students reading their works of creative writing will be held tonight, April 5 at 7:30 p.m. A reception will be held immediately following in the church social hall. For more information call 349-3610.

LUNCH WITH THE BUNNY — Northville Community Recreation still has openings for their annual Lunch with the Easter Bunny program. Two lunches will be offered to Northville children age 3 and over: April 10 and April 11. Both lunches will be held at 12:30 p.m. at the Northville Community Center, 303 W. Main Street.

Pre-registration is required. The deadline is April 9, at noon.

State ups power over local schools

By TIM RICHARD

LANSING — The State Board of Education has new powers to oversee local school districts under a law signed by Gov. James J. Blanchard.

In an extreme case, the state may send in a special administrator to run a school that fails to meet the State Board's accreditation standards for three years — or even close it.

The State Board also is empowered to draw up a "model core curriculum" that must be used by K-12 districts.

"Tough new standards are needed if our children are to receive the education they need to succeed in the work place of tomorrow," Blanchard said as he signed House Bill 4009.

"It also requires schools to develop improvement plans and issue annual education report cards."

The measure was sponsored by Rep. James O'Neill, D-Saginaw. Among co-sponsors was Susan Grimes Munsell, R-Howell. The new act combines features of many bills sponsored by Democrats and Republicans in the Legislature.

The law, amending the state school code, stops short of requiring particular courses. But it does require schools to set knowledge goals or lose state aid. The final version passed 74-3 in the House last month with all area members voting in favor.

High schools will be allowed to hire non-certified teachers for such specialized courses as computer science, a foreign language, biology, chemistry, engineering, physics and robotics where certified teachers are unavailable.

The non-certified teacher would need a college degree and work experience in the subject area.

The State Board within 90 days is to provide model school improvement plans and core curricula.

Each local district will be required to publish reports on:

- The accreditation status of each school.
- The status of three- to five-year improvement plans.
- The core curriculum and its variances from the state model.
- Reports, by school, on student competency tests, along with comparisons with the previous year.
- The number and percentage of parents or legal guardians who participate in parent-teacher conferences at all levels — elementary, middle and high school.

— James J. Blanchard, Governor

School districts could forfeit a portion of their state aid if they fail to make annual reports.

Districts receiving no state aid (out of formula) would be eligible for incentive grants if they do well.

Where a school fails to earn state accreditation for three consecutive years, the state superintendent can appoint a special administrator at local district expense until state standards are met.

Meanwhile, a parent or guardian may move a child to an accredited school.

Or the state may close the offending school.

Key ingredients are the annual reports and improvement plans, an entirely new element in Michigan.

"School board members, school building administrators, teachers and other school employees, pupils, parents of pupils attending that school, and other residents of the school district shall participate" in drawing up the improvement plan, the law says.

"We think we've got everything under control," Longridge said. "We're doing what we think is right."

School officials diffused a potentially dangerous situation March 23 after a parent called the school at 4 p.m. the day before and warned of a fight which was to take place at Cedar Lake, located near the Lakes of Northville subdivision just across Six Mile Road from Meads Mill.

The same parent called the school the morning of the planned fight and named several students alleged to be the ringleaders of the fight. School administration and staff monitored the students and located a gym bag hidden in a trash can. The gym bag contained a hunting knife, according to Longridge.

After questioning, a student admitted the knife belonged to him and told of other weapons in lockers in the school. A school-wide search was conducted, which turned up several more weapons.

The students were then suspended and the confiscated weapons turned over to Northville Township police.

Nagging rumors of a gun found on the scene were flatly denied by Longridge and Bell.

"The fact is, we looked all over the place and did not find (a gun)," Longridge said.

At the Monday evening Board of Education meeting, Bell called the rumors "absolutely false."

Monthly Allergy Tip

Your nose knows when spring has sprung!

As soon as spring comes around, along with the showers and the early flowers, comes the season of stuffy and runny noses. It's the time of the year you may be afflicted by sneezing and wheezing and your eyes may be itchy and watery. All this discomfort may be caused by allergies to microscopic pollen grains and mold spores which are a natural part of the life cycle of trees, grass, and plant life.

It happens every year, but you can put a stop to it this year. Not the pollen and the spores, of course, but your discomfort. Find out if indeed it is an allergy from which you suffer. See us. Medications are now available which may be of help to you without making you drowsy.

Police Blotters

Officer assaulted after breaking up brawl at track

A Northville city police officer was assaulted by a 38-year-old Dearborn man at 7:40 p.m. March 29 after a fight at Northville Downs, according to police reports.

The patrol officer was trying to calm the man down after a fight when the man shouted several obscenities at the officer and pushed him, according to several police officers and other witnesses. The man was then placed under arrest, and had to be physically subdued by several officers before he was able to be handcuffed and taken to the city police station. The man reportedly had a strong odor of intoxicants at the time.

A computer check showed the man to have an outstanding warrant stemming from a hit-and-run accident from the Canton police department. He was later released after posting $100 cash bail for the assault and battery charge, and $100 cash bail for the Canton warrant.

MORE TRACK NEWS — City police arrested six other men at Northville Downs in the past week, on a variety of charges. Three men were arrested Tuesday, March 27. A Detroit man, 28, was arrested at 6:57 p.m. that evening and later turned over to Wayne County authorities when police found two outstanding warrants — one a probation violation from Wayne County for driving with his license suspended, the other a weapons charge from Detroit for a violation of the city's knife ordinance.

A Wixom man, 21, was arrested at 9:30 p.m. for failure to appear in court after previous charges of reckless driving and being a minor in possession of alcohol. He was later turned over to Michigan State Police in Flint

That same night, a 23-year-old Detroit man was arrested on a paternity warrant. He was later turned over to the Wayne County Sheriff's Department.

On March 30 at 9:10 p.m., police arrested a man on a traffic warrant for non-payment of a traffic ticket, and released him on a $50 cash bond. On March 31 at 8:07 p.m., a Northville man, 31, was arrested on a child neglect warrant, and released after posting a $1,000 cash bond. At 12:20 a.m. that same night, a Garden City man, 24, was arrested for failure to appear in court after driving with a suspended license and released after posting a $80 cash bond.

RECKLESS DRIVING AT DPW YARD — A formal complaint is being filed against a 14-year-old Northville boy identified as a trespasser and the unauthorized driver of a Northville DPW dump truck on April 1.

According to Northville city police reports, officers responding to a report of reckless driving at the city's DPW yard at 650 Doheny Drive found fresh tracks in the yard and noticed the hood of one of the dump trucks was warm. Police talked to a neighbor who said he had seen a young boy "doing doughnuts" with the truck in the yard and then walking north up the railroad tracks by the yard. Police later apprehended a boy at Amerman Middle School who fit the description given by the neighbor, and the neighbor identified him as the driver of the truck. A complaint has been filed with the Oakland County juvenile court to review the case.

THEFT — An employee of Meijer, 20401 Haggerty, told township police that someone stole the hubcaps from his vehicle March 28 between 1-9:30 p.m. The vehicle was parked in the Meijer lot and the hubcaps were valued at $160.

VEHICLE STOLEN — A 1989 Chevrolet Silverado valued at $25,000 was stolen from the parking lot at Meijer March 23 sometime between 1:45-2:13 p.m., according to police records. The complainant told police the vehicle was locked and payments were up to date. The case remains open, police said.

LARCENY — The following larceny arrests were made at Meijer during the week of March 23-30:

On March 26, a Union Lake man was arrested after attempting to steal eight cartons of cigarettes. The case is open pending a court appearance.

A Garden City woman was arrested March 24 at 2:40 p.m. and charged with larceny after attempting to steal a wallet, cigarettes, a key ring and barrettes.

A Wixom woman was arrested on a larceny charge March 25 at 10:45 a.m.

LARCENY — A Meijer shopper reported the hubcaps were stolen off the passenger side of his 1987 Buick March 24 between 9:30-9:45 p.m. The hubcaps were valued at $150.

ATTEMPTED THEFT — An attempted auto theft occurred at Meijer sometime between 5 p.m. March 25 and 6:45 a.m. March 26. Police said a 1989 Chevrolet van was broken into and the vehicle's steering column was damaged.

STOLEN AUTO RECOVERED — A black 1990 Mercury Cougar was reportedly stolen from a residence on Surrey Lane sometime between 9:45 p.m. March 26 and 6:40 a.m. March 27, according to township police. The car, valued at $15,500, was later found badly damaged near Hines Drive and Seven Mile Road. Four of the car's six windows were broken, and the vehicle had extensive body damage. Damage to the vehicle, which was towed from the scene, was estimated at $10,000.

OTHER CALLS — Township police received reports that several area lawns were driven on by cars late March 24 or early March 25. Lawns were located on Rayburn, Whitehaven, Weatherfield and Appleby Lane.

LARCENY — An estimated $180 worth of cassette tapes were stolen from a vehicle parked on Farragut Court late March 22 or early March 23.

LARCENY — Township police responded to a call of a cellular phone and a radar detector that were taken from an Audi 5000 which was parked in a driveway on Greenridge sometime late March 22 or early March 23.

LOCKER LARCENIES — City police received reports of two recent thefts from Northville High School lockers. A black leather waist-length jacket with a red satin lining valued at $200 was stolen March 29 sometime between 1:05-2:05 p.m. A bifold beige leather woman's wallet was stolen April 2 between 9-9:30 a.m. The Liz Claiborne wallet was valued at $70 and reportedly contained $10 in cash and change.

ARREST MADE — A Northville man was arrested for operating a vehicle under the influence March 26 at 4:04 a.m. The man was arrested on westbound Seven Mile Road west of Maxwell.

LARCENY — A typewriter, briefcase and radar detector were stolen from a vehicle parked on Windsor Court March 22.

BREAKING AND ENTERING — The Free Press office, located in the Northville Plaza Mall, was broken into sometime late March 23 or early March 24. A metal desk was the target of the thieves, who attempted to pry open the desk drawers.

WINDOW BROKEN — A window on the Mobil gas station, 19090 Northville Road, was broken March 24 at 1:15 a.m. Police said a Canton man was arrested in connection with the property damage.

STOLEN WHEELS — Four silver wire wheel covers were stolen from a car parked at the First Baptist Church on North Wing Street March 21 between 7-9:30 p.m., according to city police reports. The wheel covers were valued at $200 and stolen off a Chevrolet Caprice belonging to a Livonia man.

DAMAGE TO HOME — A Charleston Court home was reported damaged sometime between 11:45 p.m. on March 31 and 8 a.m. on April 1. An estimated $20 in damage was done to a storm gutter, possibly by someone trying to climb on the roof.

FENDER-BENDERS — Northville city police reported two accidents March 29. At 3:20 p.m. that day, a Lathrup Village woman driving south on North Wing struck the vehicle of a Northville man driving west on Dunlap. The woman told police officers that she did not see the stop sign at the corner until she was in the intersection. She was cited for disregarding the stop sign.

At 7:50 p.m. that evening, a Northville woman driving north on North Center just south of Eight Mile Road struck the car ahead of her, which in turn struck the car ahead of it. She was cited for failing to stop within an assured clear distance ahead, and her car had to be towed from the scene.

Citizens with information about the above incidents are urged to call Northville City Police at 349-1234 or Northville Township Police at 349-9400.

Up, up and away

It was a jump rope bonanza for students at Silver Springs Elementary School last Saturday morning. The school sponsored a fundraiser for the American Heart Association. Second grade teachers Jeff Lauer, Wendy Kelly and Deb Jagush along with student teacher Joanna Naud, organized the school-wide event. The event raised $3,600 for the organization through pledges for jump roping.

Storage violation told to site owner

By STEVE KELLMAN

Local business owner Charles Ely has been formally notified by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) that his fuel storage site at 118 Railroad Ave. is in violation of several sections of state law.

DNR officials have been working with Ely, who owns Ely Fuel in Northville, for several months in an effort to bring his facility into compliance with state laws regarding fuel storage safety and the prevention of groundwater contamination. On March 20, the DNR sent Ely a formal letter requiring correction of several violations.

Among the violations listed in the DNR letter are:

- petroleum product spills that have occurred at the facility during unattended off-loading operations;
- lack of diking or equipment for fuel spill recovery where the petroleum product is transferred;
- An oil spill that was observed in the area of the loading rack;
- lack of a Pollution Incident Prevention Plan (PIPP).

The letter orders Ely to install proper diking or adequate fuel spill recovery equipment around the fuel transfer sites, properly dispose of or recycle all pooled oil on the site, and excavate and dispose of all contaminated soil on the site.

The letter also requires that a complete hydrological evaluation of the facility be performed to determine the depth and diameter of groundwater contamination on the site. Ely must submit his plans for the above actions to the department within 30 days of his receipt of the letter.

Faye Mitchell, an environmental quality analyst with the DNR, said she has been in contact with Ely since his receipt of the letter. Ely told Mitchell he has contracted with Groundwater Technology, an environmental consulting firm in Farmington Hills to respond to the DNR requirements, she said. But she added that she has not yet confirmed that information with Groundwater Technology.

"From what I understand, (Ely) wants the contractor to address the letter, so I assume I'll be dealing with the contractor," she said.

The Ely Fuel Company has had a history of complaints by city and DNR officials. Ely has previously been cited for several violations after inspections in 1979, 1980 and 1983.

In February of 1986, Tony Pitts, an environmental quality analyst for the DNR, wrote Ely and told him to rectify several of the problems the company currently has, including cleaning up the site, improving the diking system and submitting a PIPP.

A stop work order was placed on the site last October after complaints by city Fire Inspector Robert Turner of storage tank leaks and ground spills that were not properly cleaned up.

Ely could not be reached for comment regarding the latest DNR requirements.

Twist and shout

player for Moose & Da Sharks, sings during the evenings round of oldies. The dance was a preview of Novi's annual 50s Festival.

Attitude change toward growth

"A change of attitude" toward urban sprawl is occurring among local officials in the region, said Milton Mack, chair of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments.

"Member communities have been reluctant to face it, but there has been a waste of resources, environmental damage and a high cost in taxes," Mack said in response to a recent SEMCOG staff report. The report said public officials have lacked "the political will" to manage growth.

"Most officials looked at growth as a way to generate a larger tax base," said Mack, a Democratic Wayne County commissioner from the city of Wayne.

Thus, local officials were surprised by "the stress on roads, the stress on sewers and the stress on lakes and streams. We've had a throwaway community society," Mack said in an interview.

The jarring report came to SEMCOG's General Assembly in March from Edward J. Hustoles, deputy director in charge of planning.

Older cities, when abandoned, leave under-utilized "infrastructure" — a planner's word for roads, sewers, schools and utilities, he said.

"In the past decade, we've closed some 120 schools but built 212 new schools . . . with relatively little net gain of people and households — just a major rearranging and reshuffling of households, businesses and tax base.

"This is basically because, in a free-enterprise system in major metropolitan regions, development decisions are in the hands of literally hundreds of governmental entities and thousands of private decision makers, each with their own agendas."

What is shocking public officials into changing their attitudes toward unfettered growth, he said, is the upward pressure on taxes followed by a taxpayers' revolt. Traffic tieups and damage to the environment were other major factors.

Hustoles said SEMCOG leaders should consider policies of "growth management."

This would mean "pacing development to coincide with the provision of infrastructure, thus preventing traffic problems such as are occurring in Southfield, Troy and other rapidly growing communities."

He said SEMCOG staff soon will present a work program aimed at measuring the infrastructure cost over the next 20 years.

Growth management will be difficult under Michigan law, which provides for township government, the proliferation of cities and little chance for annexation by cities, Hustoles said.

"Generally, the business sector will attack paced growth as an interference in the constitutional use of their property."

Hustoles concluded, "This is a real test of the elected officials' resolve to guide development in an orderly fashion."

Township rejects safety director idea

"From an administrative standpoint, it would be good for the township," he said.

But those in the audience felt differently.

Bill Zhemendak, who described himself as a "member of the fire department and a taxpayer," pointed out some of his concerns.

"I'm not sure what (I) as a taxpayer am going to gain," he said. "(You) didn't talk to any of us who would be underneath a public safety director."

"I didn't really hear of any advantages as a taxpayer."

Police Sgt. John Sherman said a move to a public safety director could damage the morale of the officers in the department. He said a top administrator would discourage officers from trying to reach the top of their profession.

"It's a disservice not to be able to shoot for the top," he said. "If someone takes your goals away from you, it takes away the excitement and efficiency."

"Our morale reflects directly upon the way we deal with citizens."

Comments such as Sherman's helped Clerk Thomas Cook decide which way he would vote on the proposal.

He said he was leaning toward a safety director but conversations with Toms helped convince him of the need to keep department personnel motivated and goal-oriented.

Cook made the motion to "go forth with hiring a new police chief." The motion was passed unanimously by voice vote.

Toms said he was pleased with the outcome.

"I think it's the wisest move the township could make," he said. "They (proponents of the change) were victims of bad advice."

"I'm glad there were seven of them (board members) up there," he added. "It's hard to convince seven people to do a bad thing."

Goss said Henningsen and Lennox would receive specific instructions for hiring a police chief at the board's April 12 meeting.

Lennox said a May 25 deadline for receiving applications for the chief position would be implemented, with the board scheduled to approve a new chief July 1.

Architect selected for school project

By MIKE TYREE

An architect has been selected to coordinate the construction of a new elementary school in the Northville Public School district.

The Board of Education Monday announced the firm of Coquillard, Dundon, Peterson & Argenta would be retained to handle the construction duties outlined in Phase II of the 1989 Bond Issue.

The firm will be responsible for constructing and equipping a new elementary school, which will be located in the northwest portion of the school district.

The firm has yet to receive a contract, but the board authorized the administration to proceed with contract negotiations.

Superintendent of Schools George Bell said the contract with the firm would be approximately $290,000.

The board closed a portion of their meeting Monday to discuss the purchase of property for the elementary school. Bell would not discuss details of the meeting other than to say an offer to purchase a 16-acre site has been drawn up and that he expects the owner to make a counter offer.

Bell said he did not expect completion of the purchase by the board's next meeting, April 9.

The Phase II architects were selected over 10 other firms that had responded to a letter and questionnaire mailed by the school district in January 1990.

According to Burton Knighton, assistant superintendent of administrative services, the materials received by the school district from the prospective architects were reviewed by the school administration cabinet and the firm of Baton-Malow, the construction manager for the 1989 bond issue projects.

Three firms were selected as finalists and were interviewed by the board on March 15. After the interview, the field was narrowed to two firms, and board members took field visits to architectural sites March 21.

The visits were to school building sites in communities such as Novi, Utica and Saline, according to Knighton.

The board then selected Co-quillard, Dundon, Peterson & Argenta based on reviews of the firms, responses to the questionnaire, their past and present school-related architectural work and visits to the sites to review their work.

The architects are familiar with the Northville School District, having handled the renovations to the high school and other district construction projects since 1983.

That familiarity seemingly worked in the firm's favor, as far as school officials were concerned.

"Our track record with Argenta gives us confidence," said Bell.

"We know what a good job they have done in the past," added Board Member Jean Hansen.

Free clinic offered for diabetic children

The Michigan Masons, in conjunction with the Endocrinology Department of the Children's Hospital of Michigan, will sponsor a statewide series of free clinics for children with diabetes.

These all-day clinics are an opportunity for patients and parents to meet with a diabetes team consisting of an endocrinologist, nurse clinician, and dietitian. The most up-to-date methods of diabetes management will be discussed, including adjusting insulin doses according to daily fluctuations in blood sugars, nutrition, and exercise. A social worker will also be available to assist families with the emotional and financial stresses of having a diabetic child.

Children's Hospital encourage families in the Northville/Novi area with children and adolescents who have diabetes requiring insulin to attend the April 25 clinic. It will be held at the Children's Hospital of Detroit.

Children are seen by appointment only. Appointments can be made by contacting the master of Northville Masonic Lodge 186 or William R. Wright at 349-0850. Assistance with transportation to and from Northville may be provided. The cut-off date for making appointments is April 11.

For more information, call William R. Wright, Past-master of Northville Masonic Lodge 186 at 349-0850.

GUM BOIL (ABSCESS)

An abscess (sometimes known as a gum boil) in the gum tissue can be a painful experience. It may result from an infection within the tooth itself which means the nerve is dying or has died. The breakdown products move in the path of least resistance through the bone and then through the gum.

The abscess could also be caused by a trapping of food or bacterial products in the gum space we call a "pocket" (an opening between the gum and the tooth) which is a symptom of periodontal disease. If the entrance to the pocket closes tightly around an area of heavy breakdown, then the toxins accumulate and create pressure in the gum wall. Again, you may have pain with the swelling. It will be painful, will not cure itself and will only get worse without treatment. Whatever the cause, you should call your dentist and tell him of your emergency. He will relieve your discomfort, determine the cause of the abscess and treat the tooth or gum pocket if the tooth is worth saving.

School surveys education

By MIKE TYREE

Northville High School students and their parents were scheduled to take part in a survey this week as school officials attempt to gain input on how to improve educational opportunities for students.

The survey falls under Strategy VI of the school district's Strategic Plan 1989-1994, said Dolly McMaster, assistant superintendent of instructional services.

"The survey will be administered to all students in the high school," McMaster said, adding that the survey will also be sent home to parents to gain their opinions on the high school setting.

The surveys were to be completed at school by the students and mailed with a self-addressed, stamped envelope to parents.

One of the main topics of the survey includes asking the parents and students if they would be in favor of an increased class schedule. A portion of the strategic plan calls for the development of a school day that increases course selection options for students. The scheduled implementation period for increased course selection is 1989-90.

The Northville High School/School Day Committee is presently considering changing the structure of the school day, with alterations to the standard six classes at 55 minutes per class at the top of their list.

The survey asks if parents and students would be in favor of having seven 45 minute class periods packaged into a school day the same length as the present; if parents and students would favor seven class periods of 50 minutes if the school day was increased by 15 or 20 minutes; or if six class periods at 55 minutes with a rotating seventh hour class would be favored.

Another question asks which setup is most preferable to the students and parents.

The survey inquires about student educational plans such as the amount of foreign language, math, science and music courses the student intends to take over their high school career. It also asks which courses the student would be most likely to take if another class period was added to the daily schedule.

McMaster, who along with high school Principal David Bolitho, counselor Nancy Arnold and nine teachers, comprise the School Day Committee, said the results of the survey will be known soon.

"Right after the (Easter) holiday break we'll have all the data compiled," she said. McMaster said the committee expects to present a proposal to the Board of Education which would reflect input from students, staff and parents.

Church wins award

Members of Aid Association for Lutherans (AAL) at St. Paul Lutheran Church Branch 1860, of Northville, have been awarded a gold star rating by the fraternal benefit society in recognition of exemplary volunteer service to the community.

Recently they have assisted Northville Action Council with their Red Ribbon Week activities and T-shirt project.

AAL's 7,400 branches are ranked in eight performance categories. To achieve the highest ratings, gold or silver stars, branches must annually conduct at least one AAL benevolent activity (fund-raising, work project, etc.), have nine to 12 branch meetings, sponsor at least one educational activity and one member awareness event, and comply with attendance, voting and reporting requirements.

Officers of AAL Branch 1860 are: President Warren O. Zabell, Novi; Vice President Florence K. Beardley, Northville; Secretary Barbara J. Witt, New Hudson; Treasurer

Janice L. Paver, Northville.

AAL provides 1.5 million members with fraternal benefits, while its affiliated companies offer members other financial services. In addition, AAL members are offered volunteer opportunities to help others in their own communities. AAL, headquartered in Appleton, Wis., is the nation's largest fraternal benefit society in terms of assets and ordinary life insurance in force.

Advisory board says no new judge

By STEVE KELLMAN

After a favorable finding from the state on the need for a third judge at the 35th District Court, the court's advisory board has voted against the move—at least for this year.

The court's advisory board voted 4-1 last week not to create the new position. Among the board members voting against the third judgeship were Northville City Manager Steven Walters and Township Supervisor Georgina Goss.

The board passed a resolution saying, "The third judgeship and remodeling will be put on hold and funds will continue normal distribution pending a report from the Court Administrator on statistics such as caseload increases."

While the board's position is not technically binding, the 4-1 vote virtually assures the new judgeship will not pass. Plymouth Township Supervisor Maurice Breen, chairperson of the advisory board, said of the vote, "I don't know that it's binding. It's an advisory board but generally speaking it reflects the wishes of the communities."

The 35th District Court covers Northville city and township, Plymouth city and township and the township of Canton. All five communities would have to approve a third judgeship to make it a reality.

The position has already been recommended by the Michigan Supreme Court Administrator and the annual Supreme Court Judicial Resources Report, and is included in a State House bill that authorizes several new judgeships around the state. The Senate has yet to act on the bill.

Under the bill, the new position could have been filled at the Nov. 6, 1990 general election.

The cost of providing for the new judgeship has been estimated at about $527,000. That includes an estimated $486,000 for remodeling and $41,000 for replacement of the present telephone system, both considered necessary by the court for the additional judge.

The costs of the new judgeship would be split among each of the five communities served by the court, based upon their respective caseloads. Northville City would pay 7.65 percent, or roughly $40,000, and the township would pay 11.53 percent, or roughly $60,000.

Presently, the five communities receive revenue back from the court. "We have immediate uses for the dollars that we are getting," Breen said. "There's no docket squeeze, the judges are not saying they are overwhelmed," he added.

Breen said that postponement of the new judgeship would give the communities a chance to plan for the loss in revenue, "the intent being to squirrel the money away each year so the impact on the local units is not as great. You're not going to be looking at a great loss of revenue in any one year."

In explaining his "no" vote, Walters said, "To implement it this year would have required the entire building remodeling fund to be paid in 1990. The committee is still assuming that sometime within the next three years a third judgeship will be set up. It's really not a disagreement with the idea so much as the best way to time it."

Judge James N. Garber agreed with many of the board's points, though he sounded a cautionary note about postponing the judgeship.

"This court is a revenue source for the local units," Garber explained. "This calendar year, 1989, we will turn back an estimated $1.2 million. It's a question of the City of Plymouth and a couple of other communities hurting for money right now."

"What we are looking at now, I would guess, is a new judge being elected in the fall of 1992, to take the bench in January of 1993."

"I guess if there was any frustration on our part at all, it's that we had gone fairly far down the line, and now we have to put everything on hold," he said.

Garber said the state court administrator had informed the court three years ago that the court's caseload justified a third judgeship, but the court itself had recommended against the additional judgeship at that time. "We said that quite frankly we didn't think a third judge is needed," he said.

Since then the court, which saw 27,924 new cases in 1986, has seen an increase of nearly 33 percent in the caseload. The court had 37,115 new cases in 1989.

In 1988, Garber said, the court requested a third judge from the court administrator. Though the caseload is not yet critical, Garber hoped the advisory board would recommend a new judge before it became so. When it comes to caseload per judge, Garber said, "We're 50 percent above what the average is in the state."

"Is it critical?" he said. "No. What we would hope at the court here is that we don't get to a critical situation. I don't think our advisory board is going to wait that long either."

The advisory board has instructed the court to figure out a way to spread the cost of the new judgeship over the next three years.

Said Garber, "The action of the advisory board may have been a moot point anyway. My understanding is that there's less than a 50 / 50 chance of the judgeship passing. The last I heard was that the appropriations committee would vote against."

New director named at Hawthorn Center

By STEVE KELLMAN

Meharry Medical School in Nashville in 1952.

Dr. Harold Lockett of Ann Arbor has been named director of the Hawthorn Center in Northville. Lockett, a psychiatrist, was scheduled to begin his new duties April 1.

The appointment was announced March 22 by state Mental Health Director Thomas Watkins, Jr.

Lockett has been with the Hawthorn Center since its inception in 1956, when he came to the center for his psychiatric residency. He replaces Dr. Harold Wright, who had also worked at the center since 1956 and served as its director since 1971.

Lockett, 65, has served as assistant director at the center since 1972, and directed the center's day treatment hospital and early intervention service. He has also supervised family and group therapy sessions.

Lockett, an American Academy of Child Psychiatry fellow and a professor at the University of Michigan Medical School, earned his medical degree from the

The Hawthorn Center is a nationally known treatment center for emotionally disturbed children. "We have probably the most comprehensive child psychiatric facility around," Lockett said.

The center, which originally had an in-patient capacity of 50 children, served as many as 162 youth at a time before state fiscal cutbacks in the early 1980s led to a cut in the center's budget.

The center presently has facilities for 118 residential patients. Hawthorn also offers an extensive outpatient clinic, and an early intervention program for children between the age of 3 and 5. The program provides evaluation and intervention services for preschool students to identify possible mental health problems before they become severe.

Another program provides counseling services to children involved in difficult divorce cases and custody battles. All the programs continue to grow in demand.

NORTHVILLE CITY COUNCIL MINUTES SYNOPSIS MARCH 19, 1990

Mayor Johnson called the regular meeting of the Northville City Council to order in the Council Room at 8:00 p.m.

1. PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE:

2. ROLL CALL:

PRESENT: Mayor Johnson, Councilmen Folino, Gardner and Mittman.

ABSENT: Mayor Pro-tem Ayers, excused.

ALSO PRESENT: City Manager Steve Walters, City Clerk Cathy Konrad, Department of Public Works Superintendent Ted Mapes, Senior Citizens Coordinator Karl Peters, Dorothy Chene, John Haas, Jerry Mijal, Kathleen Olson, and Northville Record reporter Steve Kallman.

3. APPROVAL OF COUNCIL MEETING MINUTES:

The minutes of the regular meeting of March 5, 1990, were approved as submitted and placed on file.

4. CITIZEN COMMENTS:

Jerry Mijal requested temporary use of the Northville Downs parking lot at Center and Seven Mile for a garden center with a greenhouse. City Council would review his request at their April 2 meeting.

5. ADOPTION OF THE AGENDA & APPROVAL OF THE CONSENT AGENDA:

Mittman requested the Beautification Commission minutes be placed on the main agenda for discussion. Johnson added Beautification Commission Minutes as Item 10a.

John Haas volunteered to take citizen action on the deplorable condition of Eight Mile Road and asked where he could begin. Walters stated the City is adopting a resolution to communicate our concern about the condition of the road with copies to Wayne County officials, Northville Township and the City of Novi. Walters suggested he contact the Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara, Wayne County Commissioner Susan Heintz, and Wayne County Public Works Director James Murray.

Moved, supported, CARRIED UNANIMOUSLY, to approve the agenda as amended and the consent agenda A through E.

6. PUBLIC HEARING: WAYNE COUNTY 1990 COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT BLOCK GRANT FUNDS:

Moved, supported, CARRIED UNANIMOUSLY, to allocate Wayne County 1990 Community Development Block Grant Funds for $50,000 City Hall Barrier Free Improvements and $20,000 Cady Inn Barrier Free Improvements.

7. PUBLIC HEARING: REPEAL TITLE 2, CHAPTER 12, ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT CORPORATION:

Moved, supported, CARRIED UNANIMOUSLY, to repeal Title 2, Chapter 12, Economic Development Corporation Ordinance of the Code of Ordinances of the City of Northville.

8. SOLID WASTE DISPOSAL:

a. Public Information Flyer:

Council discussed the advantages and disadvantages of using clear plastic bags for trash collection and the possibility of volume restriction for trash and use of clear plastic bags for recyclables starting July 1, 1990.

Walters suggested postponing changing (from 4/1/90) the hours at the DPW Recycling Station until the public information flyer could be sent to residents.

b. Call Hearing re Refuse and Recycling Ordinance:

Moved, supported, CARRIED UNANIMOUSLY, to call a public hearing for Monday, April 2, 1990, at 8:00 p.m. to consider repealing the Garbage and Rubbish Ordinance, Title 4, Chapter 6, and adopting a new Refuse and Recycling Ordinance to regulate the storage, collection and recycling of refuse.

9. CALL HEARING ON PUBLIC LIBRARY & COOPERATIVE SERVICES AGREEMENT:

Moved, supported, CARRIED UNANIMOUSLY, to call a public hearing for Monday, March 26, 1990, at 8:00 p.m. to receive public comment on the proposed Cooperative Services Agreement and the City proposed participation in the Haller Library.

10. REFER ZONING ORDINANCE CLARIFICATION AMENDMENT TO PLANNING COMMISSION FOR RECOMMENDATION RE SIGN REVIEW:

Moved, supported, CARRIED UNANIMOUSLY, to refer Sign Ordinance clarification to the Planning Commission and that they hold a public hearing on Section 16.17.3.b of the Zoning Ordinance, to provide for Planning Commission review of new signs when located outside of the Historic District.

10A. BEAUTIFICATION COMMISSION MINUTES:

Mittman asked Gardner for the Beautification Commission's plans for tree planting.

Gardner reviewed Commission's plant-a-tree program possibilities, and expanded on their review of beautifying the entrances to the City at Eight Mile and Novi Road, Eight Mile and Randolph, Taft Road, Seven Mile and Center, and the boulevard. They are currently working on a proposal and have hired a landscape architect. They are also going to experiment with planting six disease resistant Elm trees.

11. COUNCIL COMMENTS:

Mittman asked to tour the recycling facility and new storage area at the DPW yard prior to a Council meeting. Mapes will make arrangements when appropriate.

Folino inquired as to the 4th of July Fireworks. Walters thought the Jaycoes were looking at a new supplier and our insurance company would need to review their insurance policy.

Mayor Johnson adjourned the regular meeting of Monday, March 19, 1990, at 9:30 p.m.

Property tax cut bill garners bipartisan Senate support

By TIM RICHARD

LANSING — State Sen. Richard Fessler and two other suburban Republicans got bipartisan pats on the back from Democratic Gov. James Blanchard for backing a new entry in the property-tax-cut sweepstakes.

"I'm delighted that the Senate has decided to take up my property-tax limitation plan," Blanchard said in a news release. "I appreciate the Republican support."

He singled out Fessler, R-Commerce; Fred Dillingham, R-Fowlerville; and Rudy Nichols, R-Waterford, for backing immediate consideration for two Fessler bills. Joined by minority Democrats, they voted to bypass the Senate Finance Committee and bring the bills to the floor this week.

Many Republican leaders, such as Robert Geake of Northville, voted against bypassing the Finance Committee. Some bawled out Fessler behind caucus doors.

Fessler admitted borrowing ideas from other bills but says his plan doesn't contain the limits of Blanchard's proposal.

A Treasury Department analysis said that if Fessler's bills had been in effect the last four years, they would have provided $50 million in annual property tax relief. That is about $10 million more than Blanchard's plan.

Senate Bill 895 would set up a system of two property assessments — the actual market increase and another capped at five percent annual increase or the rate of consumer price inflation, whichever is less.

The property owner would pay the high bill but, under SB 896, would get income-tax credits for the excess property taxes.

"If we had that in place this year," said Blanchard, "no one could get a bill that would be larger than 4.8 percent more than last year, which would be a tremendous amount of relief."

The Treasury analysis by deputy Ruth Beier said:

"A homeowner in a 30-mill school district with a state equalized valuation of $100,000 in 1990 would pay $3,000 in school taxes that year."

"If that home's SEV grew by 12 percent, the 1991 SEV would be $112,000 and the 1991 taxes would be $3,360."

"If inflation were 4 percent, 'limited SEV' would be only $104,000 in 1991. If school taxes were limited to inflation, 1991 school taxes would be $3,120."

"Under this plan, the homeowner would receive a credit equal to $240 in 1991 — actual school taxes versus what school taxes would be if the home grew at 4 percent. The credit offsets increases in school taxes that are due to assessment increases greater than inflation."

"Since 1968, assessment increases have accounted for over 90 percent of the increase in property taxes statewide."

Meanwhile, the Senate last week gave unanimous approval to five Republican bills to cut property taxes $667 million this year and $1.2 billion by 1992.

Democrats sponsored amendments to reduce tax relief for well-off senior citizens and businesses. But in the end, they helped provide 38-0 majorities.

Republicans are expected to demand House Democratic consideration of their bills in return for passage of a House bill renewing Detroit's five percent utility tax.

Here are the bills passed March 28 by the Senate and sent to the House:

• SB 760 — reduce property assessments for school operating taxes from the current 50 percent of market value to 45 percent in 1990, 42.5 percent in 1991 and 40 percent in 1992 — a total reduction of one-fifth for all classes of property.

• SB 569 — exempt senior households from all school operating property taxes. Both spouses would have to be age 65 to be eligible.

• SB 343 — amend the personal income tax by increasing the homestead property tax credit, now at $1,200, to $1,400 in 1990, $1,500 plus inflation in 1991, and at least $100 a year until the level of $2,500 is reached. Thereafter, the maximum credit would be indexed to consumer price inflation.

The credit is given to those whose property taxes exceed 3.5 percent of household income.

• SB 878 — amend the school aid act to require the Legislature to reimburse school districts for the loss of property taxes.

• SB 877 — amend the budget act to exclude mental health payments from calculations of Headlee amendment aid to local governments. The Headlee amendment requires the state to use 41.6 percent of its budget to aid local units. The bill would place into law a court decision won by Oakland County.

To Democratic objections,

Republican senators replied:

• Business property tax relief is justified because "job providers pay 35 percent of the property taxes and get 25 percent of the relief" — Norm Shinkle of Monroe County

• Senior citizen relief is justified because Michigan's high property taxes ($2,260 on a $100,000 home) are driving retirees to the sun belt where they pay only $890 in Florida and $250 in Louisiana — Doug Carl of Utica.

A major plank in the gubernatorial platform of Sen. John Engler, R-Mount Pleasant, is to encourage retirees to remain in Michigan by removing disincentives — high property taxes and the inheritance tax.

Engler sees retirees as providing a stable source of consumption spending to shore up the economies of small northern towns.

As with the property-tax bills, the Senate has passed SB 1 to drop the inheritance tax to Florida's level. The Democratic-led House has refused to move that bill out of committee

CITY OF NOVI REQUEST FOR BIDS — ENTRY DEVELOPMENT LAKESHORE PARK

Sealed bids for a General Contract in connection with Entry Development at Lakeshore Park including earthwork, fencing, pre-built building, landscaping and related work for the City of Novi will be received at the office of the Purchasing Director, 45175 West Ten Mile Road, Novi, Michigan until:

2:00 p.m. local time, April 16, 1990 at which time bids will be publicly opened and read aloud.

The contract documents may be examined at the following locations:
City of Novi, Purchasing Director's Office, 45175 W. Ten Mile Road, Novi, Michigan 48050
Anderson/Lesniak & Associates, Inc., 118 N. Washington Avenue, Royal Oak, Michigan 48067, Telephone: (313) 399-3888.

All contract documents will be picked up at the office of the Landscape Architect and will be available on and after April 3, 1990. A maximum of two (2) sets of contract documents may be obtained by each general contract bidder upon deposit of $25.00 for each set. Release of documents will be made only upon prior receipt by the Landscape Architect of the necessary deposit check. Plans and specifications will be mailed only upon receipt of a separate check in the amount of $10.00 per set, not refundable. Any unsuccessful general contract bidder, upon returning such sets in good condition within fourteen (14) days after bid due date, will be refunded his payment in full. Deposit will be withheld if documents are not returned within the prescribed time limit.

The City reserves the right to accept any or all alternative proposals and award the contract to other than the lowest bidder; to waive any irregularities or informalities, or both; to reject any or all proposals; and in general to make the award of contract in any manner deemed by the City, in its sole discretion, to be in the best interest of the City of Novi.

Bids shall be submitted on the forms provided by the Owner and shall be accompanied by a bid guarantee in the form of a certified check, bid bond or cashiers check acceptable to the Owner in the amount of 5% of the bid, made payable to the owner. The accepted bidder shall be required to furnish a satisfactory performance bond and a labor and material bond, each in the amount of 100% of the contract. The cost of the bonds will be paid by the accepted bidder.

No bidder may withdraw his bid within forty-five (45) calendar days after the actual date of opening thereof.
Attention is called to the fact that not less than the minimum salaries and wages as set forth in the contract documents must be paid on this project, and that the Contractor must ensure that employees and applicants for employment are not discriminated against because of their race, color, religion, sex or national origin, in accordance with Executive Order 11246 Equal Employment Opportunity and Notice of Requirement for Affirmative Action to ensure Equal Employment Opportunity.

Contractor must comply with the Davis Bacon Act July 2nd, 1964 (Title 40s 276A), the Equal Employment Opportunity Act September 28, 1965 No. 11246, all United States Department of Labor Regulations and Standards Title 29, 1, 3, and 5, and Title 18, U.S.C., Section 874 known as "Anti-Kickback Act" and the Federal Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970.

City council gives residents a say in shared services

A VOTE IN THE CITY

If the township voters approve the Haller proposal at their May 1 election and city voters uphold the council's approval of the shared-services agreement, then the city will be bound to participate in funding the Haller building. If the city voters reject the agreement, then the city and township will revert to the old shared-services agreement.

"Since the idea (of a citywide vote) was new and novel, I didn't want to spring this on township officials," Johnson said of the proposal. So city officials contacted Township Supervisor Georgina Goss last week, who after long consideration with township board members "said the idea is not unacceptable in the township."

DIVIDED OPINIONS

City council members themselves are still divided on the Haller building issue itself.

Council Member Paul Folino threw his support behind the Haller proposal, saying, "if the township voters pass the ballot and if the city, if they have their own election, pass it, then I think the city has a very good financial agreement. Our failure to support the township could result in our other shared services going by the wayside."

In contrast, Council Member Dewey Gardner came out publicly against the Haller proposal because of the restrictions on the building.

Said Johnson, in explaining his support for the idea of leaving the agreement up to a city vote, "I think that if our analysis is correct, and it is a good agreement, then the city residents would agree with that as well."

Johnson also explained that city voters would be voting on the city's participation in the Haller project, not on the project itself. Township voters will decide whether or not to proceed with the Haller building at their May 1 election.

"If that vote passes," Johnson said, "that will be the library at least as far as the township is concerned. What they've done is ask us to join in that library."

"There are two options, either go with the township or not go with the township at the point that that is a reality," he added. "It's a significant issue. Obviously everybody wouldn't be here tonight if you didn't think that it was important."

Overall, the audience seemed pleased with the city's proposal.

City resident Don Mroz told the council, "I'm really happy to hear the direction that you might take." Mroz said it was important to cooperate with the township in terms of shared services, and at the same time obtain a more equitable agreement for the city.

SAFETY CONCERNS

When resident Doug Berg asked about "safety of city residents, primarily small city residents, in terms of access to that library," Johnson had another announcement to make. "The township is willing to commit to the construction of a bike path from the city to the Haller property," he said. "Mrs. Goss was fairly quick to address that concern."

He held up a letter from Goss which said, "Please accept this letter as a commitment from Northville Township to participate in the construction of a bike path along the east side of Sheldon Road from the proposed Haller Library site to an appropriate spot in the downtown area."

Goss' March 30 letter came after comments at last week's city shared-services meeting regarding the safety of children traveling to and from the proposed township library.

LOCATION VERSUS COST

Like last week, several members of the audience insisted that a library should remain in the city. A banner reading "Please don't take away our library!" was draped across the back of the room.

Cathy Pellicke of Baseline Road presented the council with a petition signed by 46 residents asking that the council not vote to move the library out of the downtown area without getting the approval of city voters.

Berg saw Pellicke's petition as an indication of "a desire on the part of potential voters that we have some kind of say in this. It's unfortunate, though, that it's tied to shared services."

But as local architect Greg Presley admitted, "You kind of took the (wind out of the sails) of a lot of us; we had a lot of prepared comments that we don't need any more."

Presley said he would still prefer to see a library at a city site like the Ford Plant rather than the current proposal. "I'd go for that over 1.28 mills for the Haller site any day," he said. Presley figured city voters would pay approximately 2 mills for the Ford site, versus the 1.28 mills proposed for the Haller site. His remarks drew a round of applause from the audience.

But Johnson pointed out the previous cost estimates for the Ford Plant library renovation had assumed a virtual donation of the land to the city by the Ford Motor Company, and that is no longer the case. "Their asking price has been $2.5 million," he said.

"I think it's a marvelous tap dance that you guys have figured out," David Totten, a city planning commissioner, told the council. But he said he feared that leaving the matter up to a vote by city residents may result in the city having a poorer library facility.

"I recognize it's highly desirable to have a library downtown," he said. "I also recognize that it's less desirable to have a substandard library downtown. With the city trying to support the library all by itself, it's going to be a substandard library."

"I'm fearful that (due to) emotions of location, people are going to forget the quality of the library we want."

"It's clearly a decision that's going to affect the city for a long, long time," said Johnson. "If city residents decide to make it a location question rather than a question of quality, you're going to pay a phenomenal amount of money for a very limited service."

"I think though, that we can go out and convince the voters that that's the case."

Council Member Carolann Ayers told the audience, "If you want good library services, you're going to have to pay for them. Just keep that in mind when you're discussing this."

Township pleased by city vote

By MIKE TYREE

Township officials are pleased with an apparent agreement for shared city/township services, but say the Haller library proposal does not hinge on the outcome of a city vote.

"If the city turns down the proposal in August, we would go ahead and build the library," said township Supervisor Georgina Goss, who said that scenario could only take place if township voters approved the items on the May 1 ballot.

"I would have liked to have gotten on with the show," added Township Manager Richard Henningsen, who said he was "not looking forward to a (city) vote."

Henningsen noted the May 1 vote was paramount in the minds of the pro-library forces.

"Our vote comes first," he said, "but their vote will determine whether or not they want a cooperative-services plan."

"The city manager (Steven Walters) said it would be a good deal for them and I have to go along with that."

Nursery proposal shelved for now by city officials

By STEVE KELLMAN

A Westland man's proposal to sell flowers from a temporary greenhouse in Northville was given a temporary setback by the city council Monday.

Jerry Mijal of Westland Farms had proposed erecting a greenhouse across the street from Northville Downs on the Downs parking lot, and selling flowers and plants seven days a week from April 15 through July 15, but the council declined to grant the request.

Mijal must now take his case to the Board of Zoning Appeals. The council ruled that variances were needed for the length of time the use was proposed, and for the proposed outside storage of plants and flowers.

Mijal said that City Manager Steven Walters had seemed amenable to the proposal when he first approached the manager with the idea in December. "And at that point I was rather encouraged about that," he said.

"I felt that I was landscaping the parking lot more than anything else," Mijal said. "I don't know if any of you have been down to Flower Day in Detroit, but that's the kind of feeling that I'm trying to encourage."

"I'm not trying to compete with local businesses on this thing," he added.

Mijal said his proposal has also received enthusiastic support from Northville Downs and the Northville Driving Club, owners of the Downs property.

But as Walters pointed out, Mijal did not return to the council with a firm proposal until March 19. "Two weeks ago, we finally learned the specifics," he said.

"The use of that lot, in effect, under GCD (general commercial district) uses as currently stated, is for parking," he said. "The proposal would not be approved under GCD regulations without variances."

Walters added that even the city engineering firm of McNeely & Lincoln had to get a variance to put its trailer behind the Scout Building during a street-repair program.

"I think that's the question of consistency," he said. "I find it hard to argue that GCD uses are permitted with no strings attached."

There was originally some confusion among the city council Monday regarding Walters' report and the options available to the council. Council Member Paul Folino said he thought the use would be appropriate under the definition of "short term uses," a section of the Zoning Ordinance used to allow the Farmer's Market on Center Street and other uses such as circuses, fairs and flea markets.

But Council Member Carolann Ayers disagreed, saying that the intensive nature of the operation was not the same as the Farmer's Market which is only held one day a week.

Ayers told Mijal, "If we are consistent with the ordinance I feel we cannot allow you to do this."

Mijal said he would consider applying to the Board of Zoning Appeals (BZA) for a May 2 hearing.

Award honors girl's memory

By MIKE TYREE

The spirit of a young girl who died suddenly last year will live on, thanks to a scholarship fund set up in her honor.

Meads Mill Middle School has announced that an annual $200 scholarship award will be presented to a deserving eighth-grade student in memory of Jody Michelle Schwartz, who died in July 1989.

The fund will be administered by the Northville Public Schools and was established by contributions from family, friends and community groups at the request of Jody's parents, Andy and Shelly Schwartz.

To be eligible for the award, applying students must currently be in the eighth grade at Meads Mill and have exhibited an interest in the study of some extracurricular activity such as sports, music, forensics, art or academic enrichment. The scholarship will be used for further instruction in this field over the summer, in activities such as volleyball camp or music lessons.

Applications are available from the Meads Mill office and are due by April 27. A committee composed of Mr. and Mrs. Schwartz, Principal David Longridge, a Meads Mill staff person, Jerry Middione, Martha Nield and Cindy Wagner will select the recipient to be announced at the June Meads Mill Honors Night.

Those wishing to make a contribution to the Jody Schwartz Scholarship Fund may do so by making checks payable to the Northville Public Schools, c/o Business Office, 501 West Main Street, Northville.

Clean-up effort

The melting snow of winter has given way to the litter of spring, but Bear members of Cub Scout Troop 721 pitched in to clean up Ford Field recently. Members of the troop scooped up litter from the field in a public service outing. Soon the field will be filled with soccer and baseball games.

Novi officials mull ordinance to allow country inns

NOVI — Bed-and-breakfasts conjure up images of tea and scones by a roaring fire on an extended tour of Europe.

Or leisurely strolls along the New England coast with a wind-chiseled lobster boat captain and his matronly bride of 40 years.

Bed-and-breakfasts, however, may not often be associated with suburban areas like Novi — but that could change.

The planning commission is refining an ordinance that would allow Novi homesteads to be used as country inns — which is an emerging trend among communities in Michigan's southeastern tip.

"There are bed-and-breakfasts all over the state — Novi is more urban than many of the areas, but there is still room to accommodate them as long as they are properly regulated," said Novi planning consultant Brandon Rogers, who drafted the proposed ordinance.

He recently wrote a similar ordinance for Milford which was deemed state-of-the-art only a year ago. The City of Northville has also paved the way for B&Bs, with a successful inn, the Atchison House, operating within walking distance of the center of town.

Some people believe that B&Bs are only successful in tourist communities, not suburban areas like Novi. However, Rogers firmly believes there is a need for these cozy inns within the city.

"They are used by business people as well as tourists," he said. "They offer an alternative to the conventional hotel for people who don't want to pay hotel rates or don't like the typical hotel atmosphere."

B&Bs also increase the options available to older homeowners, according to Rogers.

"The ability to open a bed-and-breakfast allows older people to keep their homes," he said. "After all the kids leave, a lot of people are left with large homes they want to keep, but they can't afford to pay the taxes."

However, some people still feel that B&Bs don't belong in suburban communities.

"There is some concern that it is allowing commercially operated inns in the middle of residential neighborhoods, but it wouldn't be like putting up a neon sign and operating a hotel," Rogers commented.

He explained that the proposed ordinance would prohibit B&Bs in subdivisions and is designed primarily for older homesteads.

"The ordinance would regulate their (B&Bs) use so that they would not overcrowd neighborhoods," Rogers commented.

The proposed ordinance would only allow B&Bs in non-platted residential districts.

In addition, the number of rooms available for rent would be limited to four. Only two of these rooms could be rented concurrently unless each room has access to two separate entrances.

Calandro to step down this year

By SHEILA PHILLIPS

Oakland County Commissioner John Calandro, R-Nowi, is a lame duck.

The nine-year commission veteran announced that he will not seek re-election this fall.

He dropped this self-proclaimed bombshell Monday night at Northville City Council and Lyon Township Board meetings.

"I am not running because of commitments to my family and to my employer," Calandro said. "I just realized that something had to give."

"This is something I have been thinking about for a long time, but I only made the decision a few days ago," he said. "I have only told a few people, so I think this will come as a big surprise to a lot of people."

The commissioner explained that his job as director of human resources for Nissan Research and Development Inc. has been taking up an increasing amount of his time.

He quashed any rumors that he is stepping down for political reasons.

"What I have determined is that the time needed to meet all of my daily responsibilities add up to more hours than are in the day," he said. "I am sure you can appreciate that my family and the responsibilities to my employer must come first."

Calandro has been on the board since 1981 and recently served as chairperson of the county's Personnel Committee.

The commissioner said that he has represented his constituents wholeheartedly during this nine-year stint on the county board. However, he has found it increasingly difficult to meet the time constraints of the position.

"I can truly say that I enjoyed the last nine years and my board responsibilities have ranked high in my priorities," he said. "But much has also happened in my personal and professional life during this period of time — the demands of family and my employer have also continued to grow."

However, Calandro gave assurances that he will continue to serve his constituency until his term expires this December.

"I may be a lame duck, but I'm not a dead duck — you'll be hearing a lot out of me in the next six months," he said.

His term, which ends Dec. 31, will be filled by a Nov. 6 election. If needed, primaries will be held sometime this summer.

When asked if he knew of anyone wishing to fill his shoes, Calandro replied, "No, I have no idea, but I will be an interested spectator waiting to see who will be the next County Commissioner of the 24th District."

UPCOMING EVENTS

• Golf Tournament — The Schoolcraft College Foundation annual golf tournament is being held on Tuesday, June 12 at the Golden Fox course at Fox Hills Country Club in Plymouth. The tournament is a benefit to raise funds for student scholarships. The full-day package includes: continental breakfast, buffet lunch, open bar, gourmet dinner, program and prizes, greens fee, golf cart, trophies, and door prizes.

The 18 hole championship course was designed by course architect Arthur Hill. According to Hill, "The course compares favorably with outstanding resort courses across the country. From its beautiful bentgrass multiple tee complexes, through its groomed fairways to its crafted, subtle greens, the Golden Fox is a course to excite the knowledgeable golfer. He or she will want to return to play it again."

For further information or to make reservations, please call the Schoolcraft College Foundation at 462-4417.

• Annual Wildflower Walks — The 13th Annual Wildflower Walks on the nature trails of the Livonia Bicentennial Park will be held from April 26 through May 25.

The annual event is sponsored by the Schoolcraft College Biology Department and is open to the public without charge. The tours, which last 45 minutes and cover approximately half a mile, are conducted by faculty members and persons who have completed a wildflower class at Schoolcraft. Bicentennial Park nature trails feature more than 35 different species of wildflowers which are expected to be at their peak of beauty and color during the period of walks.

Bicentennial park is located on Seven Mile Road between Newburgh and Farmington Roads. Individuals and groups such as scouts, garden clubs, retirees, churches, or any other organizations are welcome. To arrange for a tour call Biology Professor Roger Sutherland at 462-4400, ext. 5244.

UPCOMING COURSES

• Art Materials Course — Schoolcraft College is offering a rare opportunity for art enthusiasts to learn about art materials which many people do not know exist. Topics covered in Art Materials include: new products, properties of art materials, compatibility, longevity, short cuts and special effects used in contemporary arts. The course meets on Tuesday evenings from 6 to 8 p.m. beginning on April 10.

Local artist Susan Pickering Rothamel is the instructor for this course. Her work has been displayed in numerous galleries including: Signature Arts, Michigan Design Center in Troy; and the Ilona and Gallery in West Bloomfield. She has been featured in one-woman shows at the Livonia Arts Commissions Invitational, Jacobson's, the American Harvest Restaurant at Schoolcraft College and the Renaissance Gallery in Livonia.

SEMINARS

Secretary's Day, Wednesday, April 25, is the perfect time for office personnel to enhance professional skills and techniques and enjoy a fashion show presented by Jacobson's.

They can do this by attending Schoolcraft College's seminar for secretaries at the Holiday Inn-Livonia West. Professional presentations include: The Successful You, the Office of the Future and Impression Management. Jacobson's Fashion Sales Coordinator, Linda Gunderson, will present career dressing for today's secretary. Appropriate office wear plus wonderful office-to-evening fashions, colors, styles and cost effective business wardrobe choices will be modeled.

Presenters include Peg Churchill Treacy and Lea Allison. Treacy is the Founder and President of Churchill Associates. She serves individuals and/or companies by providing them with the necessary business skills for success. Included among her clients are: General Motors, Crowley's, McDonald Corporation, First Federal of Michigan, IBM, AAA of Michigan, and Dayton-Hudson, Inc. Allison is a Schoolcraft College professor and the College's Certified Professional Secretary coordinator.

Reservations for the program are being accepted until April 20. The seminar will meet from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. The $75 fee includes materials, lunch, refreshments and fashion show. For further information, please call the College's Continuing Education Services division at 462-4448.

UPCOMING EVENTS

• Evening in Venice — A dinner featuring northern Italian cuisine is being hosted by the College's Gourmet Club to raise money for student scholarships. The meal will be prepared by the College's award winning culinary arts department. The event will take place on April 20 at 6:30 p.m. Tickets are $25 each. For further information, please call 462-4422.

Public safety position deserved more review

Northville Township Board of Trustees members voted unanimously last Thursday night to begin hiring a police chief for the vacancy created by the Ken Hardesty resignation.

GOVERNMENT

That vote came after a presentation on the possibility of switching over to a public safety director position. A public safety director is used in some communities as a civilian administrator over both police and fire departments. Most public safety administrators oversee a combined department — a public safety department, where firefighters and police officers are cross-trained.

It's a bit unusual to say this — as most people seem to feel quite the opposite about the speed at which government tends to work — but the fact is, the township moved way too fast on deciding this important matter.

Granted, it was December of 1989 when Hardesty resigned. Three months does not seem like a too-quick amount of time to decide whether a police chief or a public service director is called for.

The problem lies not in the amount of time taken to research the matter, but in the amount of time taken to consider that research and what was researched.

Township Treasurer Betty Lennox and Township Manager Richard Henningsen compiled figures and facts on what the change would mean financially to the township budget. In addition, the two interviewed several public safety department directors in neighboring communities. All of this information was presented to the board on Thursday, March 29.

It is hard to believe that township board members could consider in depth all of the facts and arguments.

both for and against the change to a public service director, in the course of one meeting. The board should have received the report from Henningsen and Lennox, heard from interested members of the public, asked questions of the appropriate departments and then waited until the next board meeting to decide the matter.

This was not a small decision. There were serious financial and administrative repercussions to be discussed. Where was the report on the administration of the police department? Is there a problem with the present system or isn't there? The board's decision did not settle that question. Will hiring a new police chief make things better, or worsen the situation?

The board did hear from Fire Chief Robert Toms and several firefighters and police officers about their perception of the job.

Toms asked a relevant question: Why fix something that isn't broke? However, the question of whether anything is broken remains to be answered. If township trustees have looked carefully into the present funding and administration of the fire and police departments and found the public service director position to be unwieldy — then voting against it was the right thing to do.

But the question remains over just how thoroughly the discussion and research has gone. This was one decision that needed some time.

School skirmishes a symbol of youth

Shock waves rippled through the Northville community last week when it was announced that six middle school students had been suspended for their role in an after-school fight planned for March 23.

Staff and administration officials at Meads Mill — acting on the tip of a parent — conducted a school-wide search the morning of the fight and confiscated an ominous cache of weapons from gym bags, lockers and students, effectively quashing a brawl that may have attracted 200 students, according to the estimates of Principal Dave Longridge.

The weapons seized by school staff, and later turned over to township police, included brass knuckles, knives, a slingshot, a "ninja star," handcuffs, chains and a baseball bat. Those are not exactly the supplies needed to master reading, writing and arithmetic.

Longridge said the six students — who were identified as the instigators of the fight — were suspended for three days and would be re-admitted after a conference between school officials, parents and the students.

At the March 26 meeting of the Board of Education, some parents said the three-day suspension was insufficient. Those lugging dangerous weapons to school in anticipation of a free-for-all should not have been treated with a slap on the wrist, they said.

While agreeing that those parents are justified in their concern over the weapons, we support Longridge's contention that expulsions are not the way to go in this instance.

Those involved in the plotting of the fight are young teens and pre-teens, and they grapple not only with each other in king-of-the-hill bravado, but also in a battle with themselves over the frightening process called maturation.

The students' actions cannot be condoned, but suspensions, close monitoring and counseling should suffice as punishment in this case. Expulsion — and the subsequent banishment to juvenile educational facilities — is too extreme. Most likely, these were kids who let their emotions and imaginations run away from them and paid little heed to a thing called common sense.

Rumors of middle school gang fights are a fact of life at that age. One kid looks cross-eyed at another, insults are exchanged, and a fight enlistment process begins that would impress a Marine recruiter. In the end, the vast majority of the kids hope the whole thing blows over.

It is to be hoped that the puffed chests at Meads Mill have been deflated and the suspended students have learned a valuable lesson. The administration and community — which watch the school with such pride — may not be so tolerant the next time students threaten to settle their differences in such a violent manner.

Courting disaster

By Ann Willis

"Innocent until proven guilty" may be the tenet upon which the American court system is founded, but a recent trip through the system leads me to believe that "Confused and maligned" may be more appropriate.

I was driving in Plymouth a few weeks ago and I was pulled over by the police. My license tab had expired. I was ticketed.

I went to 35th District Court in Plymouth to pay the fee, but decided to go through the system to plead my case rather than accept the $50 penalty. There were some extenuating circumstances attached to my normal procrastination and I felt it would be worthwhile to see if a judge agreed. Besides, the system is there for all of us to use, right?

I was assigned a pre-trial date. I was told to arrive at the courthouse at 9 a.m. on that date. I arrived 15 minutes early — which for people that know me shows exactly how seriously I was taking this.

I marched smartly up to the desk clutching my driver's license, registration, proof of insurance and proof that I had indeed updated my license tab. The woman behind the desk told me to have a seat in the hall outside a room. The room supposedly held a prosecutor who would discuss my case with me. This seemed reasonable, although I have to admit I was thrown off-guard by the prosecutor thing. I thought since my ticket was a misdemeanor — it didn't even carry any points for my record — that I would go through to a judge and quickly get the matter taken care of.

There is no such word as quick when it comes to courts. I waited for two hours outside of this door. There were probably 50 people waiting with me. We sat and watched lawyers and police officers go through the door.

If you had a lawyer, he went up, opened the magic door, strode in — came out and you were on your way to court. Those of us making use of the system on our own sat and complained to each other. I finally decided the worst thing that could happen to me was I'd have to pay the lousy fine, so I just went through the door on my own.

The prosecutor spoke to me quickly, filled out a sheet and sent me on my way through to the judge. Why couldn't there have been some sort of orderly line or system set up to make sure that everyone saw the prosecutor in a timely manner — not just those with lawyers or those with nothing to lose?

I then waited in court for another hour to have my case called. The judge then decided to make me pay $50 in fines. I waited a half-hour to pay the fine.

I have no beef with the outcome. I was guilty and the law says I should pay a fine. Okay, but what about the system? As I went from room to room trying to figure out what I was supposed to do and where I was supposed to be, I received blank looks or curt shrugs from court employees.

Going through the court system can be a frightening experience for those of us that don't do it on a daily basis. Shouldn't there be some road signs or helping hands along the way? I received the impression that what happened to me was of minor importance. After all, I wouldn't be there if I hadn't done something wrong, right?

Innocent until proven guilty, guys. Give us a break.

Environment concern

By Bob Needham

You've probably noticed that issues dealing with ecology and the environment get more and more attention as time goes on.

People are becoming increasingly aware of, and concerned about, environmental questions. The whole idea of environmentalism, considered something of an extremist approach not too long ago, seems to gain new respect each day. We see this all over: in conversation; in membership and activism in environmental organizations; and in news coverage, from this newspaper right up to ABC and the New York Times.

I'm not sure why this has happened; the media probably has a lot to do with it. One group I don't think deserves the credit — or the blame, if you work for the Detroit News' editorial page — is the politicians. People like Jim Blanchard and George Bush only cranked up their environmental rhetoric after they realized there was a lot of existing public support. This is a true grassroots movement.

No matter who's responsible, I think it's a positive trend. It seems to me that it's pretty close to impossible to pay too much attention to the state of the environment.

The whole movement reaches something of a climax in a couple of weeks with the coming of Earth Day 1990. Planned for April 22 — the 20-year anniversary of the first Earth Day — this is supposed to be a culmination of all the ecological sentiment in the country.

Our local area is getting in on the act, with a list of activities already planned and, it appears, still growing. Peg Campbell, who works for the M-Care Health Centers, is the driving force behind much of the planning, but lots of other people and groups are getting involved.

We at the paper are joining right in, with some special coverage planned for the issue of April 19. I'm fascinated by the various activities on the calendar, and I'm betting on a very good turnout.

The center of it all locally, quite naturally, will be Maybury State Park, a little underappreciated gem nestled along Eight Mile Road. It's going to be a very busy place on April 22.

If you want to volunteer your time, or if you just want more information, Peg Campbell's phone number is 936-9538. It's going to take a lot of work to pull it all off, but the results will be worth the effort.

Library foes present their findings

To the Editor:

Is there really such a thing as a free lunch? Apparently the proponents of the Haller Library tax seem to think so.

Citizens for a Better Northville would like to present cost figures for the project that are more in line with reality than those being expounded by the pro-library forces. Pro-library forces make their first major mistake by basing all their cost analysis on a house with an SEV of $60,000. This was an average cost from 1989. When you consider that this tax will not hitch in until 1992 and couple that with rising assessments in the 15 to 17 percent range, an average SEV of $100,000 is much more appropriate.

Only one other assumption needs to be made to complete our basis for computation. That is to assume an average inflation rate of 5 percent. This is well within levels of the last few years. It is now easy to determine the total cost for library services over the next 15 years. Remembering that the total millage assessment will be 2.35 (current .45 plus the proposed 1.9), an average household can expect to pay $5,070.97. That's out of pocket cash, how much money would have to be earned before taxes to pay this bill?

Believe it or not, these figures can be made to look even worse. Suppose that the members of this "average household" are frugal, and would have invested this money in an 8 percent bond rather than sending it off to the local bureaucrats. This family would have $7,477.77 sitting in an account ready to be used for productive purposes, such as, college, retirement or a personal library.

There are many aspects of this project that can be debated. How fast will the community grow? How efficient will government be at administering? Where will the SEVs head? The one aspect that cannot be debated is that the total cost for the bond, interest and upkeep will be over $40,000,000 during the next 15 years.

Citizens for a Better Northville welcomes the opportunity to present substantiating evidence on our findings.

Henry David Thoreau once wrote "If I knew for certain that a man was coming to my home to do me good, I'd run for my life." The taxpayers of Northville would be wise to remember these words of wisdom when the pro-library forces start telling us about all the so-called free services they plan to offer.

Citizens for a Better Northville

Haller plan

To the Editor:

Questions concerning a library for the Northville communities — where to put it, how much to spend, whether it should be paid for by the public or be "privatized" and paid for by users — are becoming numerous and complicated. Because another community organization with a name similar to ours has expressed very different views from ours, we wish to outline the views which we think represent those of most of our membership.

First, the Concerned Residents of Northville favor a public, not a private library. A library which charges admission, or one open only to the children of subscribers, does not seem to us to meet the needs of our community.

Second, we think that this rapidly growing community of two Northvilles needs a library of roughly 25,000 square feet. How many meeting rooms or auditoriums are tacked on is not a central question to us. We think there needs to be an actual library that big.

The third question is, of course, where to put the library. The three locations suggested are the Haller property, the Post Office and the Ford Plant. The Post Office will move sometime within the next four years. The Ford Plant may or may not be affordable. Whether or not the Haller property gets the library depends on voters in the township.

Other things being equal, we feel that an in-town location with sufficient parking is preferable to the Haller location. Other things, however, are not equal. So it becomes a question of a library now — if the township voters approve — or a library in a somewhat better location three or four years down the road.

How each of us resolves that question will vary. But what is not in question is that Concerned Residents of Northville favors: a) a library; b) a large library; and c) a public library.

City responds

To the Editor:

I would like to respond to Jim Petrie's letter last week and offer an alternate proposal to accomplish some shared goals. Jim talked of his vision for the future. I shall also.

Jim offered the Haller property as a wonderful natural resource for future generations. But how? Only if we preserve other equally important community resources. Indeed, it is the township's duty to preserve its rural identity, that sense of "open countryside." Equally, it is the job of the city to preserve the historic downtown as the gathering place for community, commerce and culture, that "village charm" in which we take so much pride.

Both open countryside and village charm are diminished if the library is placed outside the business district. By separating our place of commerce from our place of culture we become like so many neighboring towns which lack the historic downtown focus with which we have been blessed. In so doing we encourage suburban sprawl, with not one but two community centers of focus. We also set up a situation where the central business district competes with the remote cultural center for attention. The community is far better served if the library expands within the business district as an important element of downtown amenities, as it has for the last 100 years.

There are two other sites, the Ford Plant and the Post Office, that are less costly alternatives. In fact, if we are in the mood to spend $6.9 million, here is an alternate proposal worth considering:

1) Expand the library at the Post Office site.

2) Purchase the Haller property, still offering to fulfill the requirements of the Haller letter of agreement, but with a new Township Hall as the focus, not the library.

3) Sell the current Township Hall property and non-prime Haller land, paying for the cost of a new township facility and community recreation fields.

Three for the price of one. A good deal. And the township gets a significant amount of real estate back on the property tax rolls.

In closing, the Haller property is worth getting to preserve open space, but not at any price. Certainly it is not worth acquisition as a "free" gift with strings attached that divide the community. The library is a pawn in this deal to get the land, and we lose far more in the bargain than we gain. There are better ways to accomplish our common goals. Preserve our open space resources? Yes, but let us also preserve our historic downtown resource as the community gathering place. Then the lives of future generations will truly be enriched.

Greg Presley

Comments alarm

To the Editor:

Unfortunately, I was unable to attend the recent city public hearing, called to discuss the Haller library proposal. Upon reading an account of this hearing in the Record, I was alarmed to see comments attributed to Betty Griffin.

As a member of the Library Site Committee, I feel these comments misrepresent the actions and decisions of the site committee.

The Record quoted Betty Griffin as saying, "The site committee had really reached kind of a dead end when the Haller property came through, and we thought it was a dream come true."

This is my best recollection of what actually happened: The committee did recommend that the community choose between two sites — Cady Street and the Fish Hatchery. Many other sites were considered and rejected. Sites in the township, similar to the Haller site, were considered and rejected. The primary reason was their distance from downtown. We were following published site selection guidelines that said, "since a library circulates books, the building must be easily accessible to pedestrians. The same criteria must be used in choosing the location of the library as those used by any practical, profit-motivated enterprise. Statistics indicate that almost three times as many books are borrowed per capita when a library is located in an active business section than when it is in a park. When a library board considers price alone in determining a site, or even if it accepts a gift of a free site in the wrong location, it renders the community a serious disservice."

Some proof of this can be seen in the current Northville library versus the Novi Library. The Northville Library has a much higher per-capita usage rate than Novi. Even though the Novi Library is geographically central to its community, it is not near any other "business."

We ended up with our two recommended sites as the committee was not unanimous on either. The Fish Hatchery site was itself too far out for some members' comfort and the Cady site had restricted real estate along with a "sidestreet" location. So the committee decided to leave a final decision to the community. We talked about the Ford Plant but didn't seriously consider it because we didn't know if it would be available. Before any substantive discussion of the two recommended sites, however, it became obvious that the Ford Plant would in fact be available. An additional site committee meeting was called and the committee was unanimous in support of the Ford Plant. It should be noted that both Betty Griffin and Dick Henningsen were site committee members.

Suddenly, the Haller proposal appeared out of nowhere. There were no additional meetings of the site committee, however, and the Haller site was never considered by the committee. The committee thus did not think it "was a dream come true" as we never even knew it existed. The Ford Plant was what we considered "a dream come true," and some members of the committee, including myself, still believe this.

In fact, if the Haller site were put to a vote by the committee today, I seriously doubt that it would receive a majority approval. It should be noted here that some people have tried to discredit the Ford site because of "environmental issues." Close scrutiny, however, shows that these questions are actually baseless and simply a smokescreen to cover the shift in position to the Haller site.

As a member of the site committee, I urge residents of the Northville community to consider the wisdom quoted earlier in this letter. If we accept "a gift of a free site in the wrong location it renders the community a serious disservice." The best interests of the library and the community are both served by locating the library in a prime business district location.

Great show!

To the Editor:

What a wonderful theatrical experience we had on Saturday, March 31. My husband and I attended Northville High School's musical "West Side Story."

The cast, band and crew did an excellent job with their performance, accompaniment, and staging of a very complicated play.

Our congratulations to everyone who helped. You did a fantastic job. Thanks for the enjoyable evening.

Colleges make pitch for funding hike

By TIM RICHARD

LANSING — A teaching university and a research university asked a state Senate panel for higher status in Michigan's budget. Both said they want to keep the lid on tuitions.

"Eastern Michigan has increased its enrollment faster than any other in the state. But in appropriations, we're second from the bottom," EMU Student Body President Michael Dego told a Senate appropriations subcommittee.

"I'm hoping we can move to the middle level in our appropriations," Dego told chairperson William Sederburg, R-East Lansing, during last week's budget hearing for EMU and Wayne State University.

It was an unusual tactic for William Shelton, in his first year as EMU president. Most of the 15 university presidents make their budget presentations with a trustee and their financial officers.

And the brief remarks by Dego, a senior from Farmington Hills planning a career in public service, won compliments from Sederburg, conducting his seventh and last set of budget hearings before retiring from politics and heading back to academia.

Shelton said EMU, known as the state's oldest teacher of teachers, had seen enrollment climb nearly 28 percent since the mid-1980s. But while state appropriations for universities rose 59 percent per student, EMU's per-student state aid rose only 29 percent.

The remark amused Sederburg, who noted that "during the declining years, Eastern was not a big advocate of per-student funding. What goes around comes around."

Shelton went on: "Eastern historically has been low-cost," adding that chances are "now remote" he can hold next fall's tuition increase to 6.5 percent promised by other presidents.

He said 60 percent of EMU's 24,000 students get some financial aid — $29 million in total. More funds will be dedicated to student aid, he said.

Gov. James Blanchard proposed all universities for a 5 percent increase and EMU for 5.3 percent — to $62.3 million, currently about $31 million comes from tuition and fees.

Shelton praised the teaching excellence fund, proposed by Blanchard at $250,000, as "especially welcome" at EMU because "we want to put extra emphasis on instruction."

Wayne State University President

David Adamany said "tuition restraint will be a continuing priority. We have made college considerably more affordable."

When he arrived in 1981, Wayne's tuition was a close second to the University of Michigan's and a bit ahead of Michigan State's. Today U-M charges $3,463, MSU $3,259 and Wayne is a distant third at $2,526.

From 1983-90, Wayne's tuition has risen 28 percent compared to 46 percent at EMU, nearly 47 percent at Oakland University, 61 percent at the University of Michigan and 72 percent at MSU.

Adamany and U-M President James Duderstadt say they want to hold next fall's increase to 6 or 6.5 percent.

University presidents have been beating the public drums for 3.5 percent above the rate of inflation for five years. They say they still haven't made up the losses from the 1979-83 recession.

Adamany said WSU's enrollment has recovered from a low point of 28,400 in 1985 to 32,500 last fall. But the average number of credit hours has declined from 11.3 to 10.2.

The results: greater loads for registration staff, counselors and the library, and greater usage of facilities at night. "Service costs have been stretched very badly," Adamany said.

Several residents, including Peg Campbell, local organizer of the upcoming Earth Day celebrations, warned that the cutback in hours at the recycling center would discourage recycling.

But Walters said the move is necessary to control the cost of the recycling program. Though recycling materials is not generally as expensive as dumping them at the landfill, there still is a cost involved, he said. "It's becoming a real cost burden," he added.

"The problem that the city has is that you really have to monitor it in some way," he said.

Walters did suggest that the city might be able to increase the hours that the recycling center alone was open, if drop-off of general trash is restricted.

The city plans to station two workers at the recycling center, to make sure that the site is only being used by Northville City residents and to aid residents in unloading what they bring. The attendants would check driver's licenses of people as they drove in to the site.

In regard to billing residents for excessive amounts of trash, an idea that had previously been discussed by city council members, Walters said, "It's a concept that's discussed in recycling, but we're not at that point at all yet."

City officials are also putting the finishing touches on a flyer to be mailed to all the city's households.

Township sides with residents

we stand by the (ZBA) or do we do what we think is the right thing to do?"

"Given the criteria upon which the ZBA should base its decision, we voted for what we felt was right."

Township resident Sue Hillebrand, one of six plaintiffs named on the appeal, said Essad's opinion and the board's action were logical decisions.

"The granting of the variance by the ZBA was not warranted," she said. "We felt confident in our position."

The plaintiffs' standing in the community was questioned by Ward's attorneys in January, but Kaufman ruled in February that their standing was sufficient to continue with the appeal process, Hillebrand said.

"Once we gained standing, we were guardedly optimistic," she said. "When the facts were laid out, the hardship was not there."

Kaufman will hear the arguments of all involved parties April 11 at 11 a.m. in his court in the Wayne County Building.

Decision delayed

don't think salary would be a problem if it came down to that."

Meanwhile, Walters is still considering the Plymouth position. He said he has also received many calls from people asking him to stay on as Northville City Manager.

"I'm even getting a few calls from people I hadn't expected, urging me to stay," he added.

"We have established a platform for future growth ... in services. That platform is here in Novi. We are concentrating our business development and training of our sales personnel in North America in this location."

Rolf Lovgren is vice president for business development and training for Kone Cranes, a division of the Scandinavian based Kone Corporation here in Novi. Lovgren, a citizen of Sweden, has been with the company since 1973. He has worked in Sweden and Norway before coming to the United States in 1988.

According to Lovgren, Kone Corp. originated in Finland in 1910 and today there are operations in 53 countries world wide. There are 19,500 employees and in 1989 the total revenue was $1.75 billion.

The products are divided into elevators, material handling equipment, maritime equipment and instruments.

THOMAS G. REITER

LAWRENCE SIMPKIN

THOMAS GUY REITER has been named senior automotive specialist for Exxon Chemical Company's Automotive and Transportation Industry Sector, Polymers Groups in Farmington Hills. ATIS Director Frank Brzenk announced recently

Reiter comes to Exxon Chemical Company from W.R. Grace & Co., where he served as U.S.A. sales manager. Prior to that, Reiter was employed as sales manager for Chemcentral in Detroit.

A native of South Bend, Ind., Reiter is a graduate of Indiana University in Bloomington. He has also taken courses in sales management at the University of Michigan.

Reiter is a member of the Society of Automotive Engineers and the Detroit Paint and Coatings Association. He and his family currently live in Novi.

At Exxon Chemical Company's Farmington Hills office, Reiter joins a staff that supplies materials derived from petrochemicals to automotive OEMs and their suppliers.

Polymer products marketed by Exxon Chemical include Excorene polypropylene and polyethylenes. Mytlex engineered polypropylene and TAFLEN(TM) structural thermoplastic composites for a wide variety of automotive plastic components, including instrument panels, bumpers, battery cases and trays, fuel tanks, interior and exterior trim, seating, noise insulating panels, support beams, load floors, knee bolsters, fan shrouds and door structures.

Other polymer materials supplied include Exxon Butyl and Halobutyl rubbers for dynamic damping and air holding applications, Trefsin(TM) (TPE) thermoplastic elastomer and Vistalon ethylene-propylene rubber for auto body sealing, hose, and many mechanical parts.

Escorez resins are engineered for adhesive applications, while Excelor modifiers provide compatibility and toughening characteristics for engineering thermoplastic alloys and blends.

LAWRENCE SIMPKIN, a Novi resident and Detroit Edison engineer, recently helped students at Martin Luther King High School expand their knowledge of the importance of math and science education. Simpkin visited classrooms Feb. 20 as part of National Engineers Week.

Detroit Edison engineers are participating in a nationwide "teach-in" which includes sharing personal experiences and observations as well as a videotape and classroom materials. At Martin Luther King High School, Simpkin spent about 45 minutes with students beginning at 8 a.m.

The teach-in is designed to promote engineering education during National Engineers Week, Feb. 18-24. Called Discover "E", the program has been endorsed by the National Science Supervisors Association and the School Science and Mathematics Association.

Through Discover "E", some 5,000 engineers nationwide hope to encourage students to consider engineering careers especially to meet anticipated demand from American industry.

"Kiddie Tax" can take a big bite

Widely discussed, but frequently misunderstood, the kiddie tax is Congress' way of closing a tax-law loophole that allowed parents to pay less tax by shifting income to their children. Essentially, the kiddie tax discourages income-shifting by taxing the unearned income of children at their parents' higher rate, explains the Michigan Association of CPAs. The result? Millions of children must now file tax returns and pay taxes at rates as high as 33 percent.

HOW YOUR CHILD'S AGE AFFECTS TAX RATES

The new law actually has two sets of rules — one set for children under 14 and another for children 14 and older.

For a child under 14, the first $1,000 a year in unearned income is taxed at his or her own rate. (Unearned income refers to such investment income as dividends, interest, capital gains and rents.) It works like this: A child can apply $500 of his or her standard deduction to offset the first $500 of unearned income, making this amount tax-free. The next $500 in unearned income is taxed at the child's rate. All unearned income above $1,000 is taxed at the parents' highest marginal tax bracket. These figures may be adjusted for inflation sometime in 1990.

Suppose, for example, your 10-year-old daughter's only income is $1,400 in investment income. She applies her $500 standard deduction to reduce her taxable investment income to $900, of which $500 would be taxed at your daughter's rate and $400 at your highest rate.

Unfortunately, in certain circumstances, your child may end up paying taxes at a rate even higher than your own. To compute your child's tax, you have to add all your children's unearned income to your own taxable income — making it possible to bump some of your child's income into a tax bracket higher than yours.

These rules do not affect children 14 and older. All of their income continues to be taxed at their own rates.

EARNED INCOME STILL TAXED AT CHILD'S RATE

Income from a job is always taxed at the child's rate, regardless of the child's age. For 1989, the standard deduction generally offsets the first $3,100 a working child earns.

You can make this tax provision pay off if you have a family-run business. By employing your children for legitimate purposes, you can earn two tax advantages. First, wages paid to your children are taxed at their own bracket. Second, you or the family company can deduct the children's wages as a business expense. Just make sure that your children actually earn their wages.

DEPENDENT CHILDREN LOSE PERSONAL EXEMPTIONS

Prior to tax reform, parents could claim an exemption for a child on their tax return and the child could claim an exemption as well. This tax advantage is now extinct. If a child can be taken as a dependent on a parent's return, the child cannot take an exemption on his or her own return.

Incidentally, to claim dependency exemptions, parents are now required to supply the Social Security numbers of all dependents who are at least two years old. To apply for a Social Security number, you must complete form SSA-5 available from your local Social Security office. Failure to supply a Social Security number may result in a fine.

WHO FILES THE RETURN?

The 1986 tax reform act mandated that any child subject to the kiddie tax had to file his or her own tax return. But this rule has now been amended to allow certain parents to include the child's income on their own return. To be eligible, your child's gross income must be more than $500 and less than $5,000, and must not include any earned income. In other words, the income must be derived solely from interest or dividends. CPAs also point out that your child must not be subject to backup withholding and must not have filed an estimated tax return or applied a 1988 tax refund to 1989 estimated taxes.

LEARNING TO LIVE WITH THE KIDDIE TAX

Despite the new rules, you can still find ways to save money for your children's future and minimize your tax liability at the same time. Shifting income to your children, for instance, can have advantages, even today. Remember — the first $1,000 of unearned income is still treated favorably. That means a child under 14 can have more than $10,000 invested in an account earning nine percent before the unearned income would begin being taxed at the parents' rate.

For children under 14, instead of investing in assets that generate taxable income each year, consider investments that are either tax-free or defer taxable income until the child reaches age 14, when it will be taxed at the child's lower rate.

One of the simplest ways to do this is to buy United States Series EE Savings Bonds in your child's name. Federal taxes on the interest earned will generally not be due until the bonds mature or are redeemed. In addition, interest on U.S. Series EE Savings Bonds purchased after 1989 will generally be tax-free as long as the bonds are redeemed to finance the qualified education expenses of the taxpayer, the taxpayer's children or a dependent spouse. (Note that qualified expenses include tuition and other required fees, but not room and board costs.) To take advantage of this new tax break, you must be at least age 24 when you purchase the bonds and you have to be either the sole owner of the bonds or own jointly with your spouse.

One last point: The break is phased out for joint filers with an adjusted gross income (AGI) of $60,000 to $90,000 and for single filers with AGI of $40,000 to $55,000.

High quality, zero-coupon municipal bonds are also a smart investment for a college savings plan. Like all zeros, you buy zero-coupon municipal bonds at a price significantly below the value and receive the full face amount when the bond matures. The gain will be exempt from federal taxes.

For further information on how the kiddie tax works, you may want to consult your personal tax advisor.

Local Chambers will present Expo-275

The Livonia Chamber of Commerce is pleased to announce its fourth business trade show, "Expo 275 - Your West Suburban Product and Services Exposition." Produced by the Livonia Chamber of Commerce, the show will be held in cooperation with the Belleville, Canton, Garden City, Northville, Novi, Plymouth, Redford, Wayne and Westland Chambers of Commerce.

The show will be held on May 15, 16, 17 at Roma Hall in Livonia, 2777 Schoolcraft Road (I-96 & Mid-dlebt). Over 120 exhibitors will be displaying their products and/or services. Exhibitors in the show represent a wide range of business types including utility companies, banks, insurance agencies, medical services and health care agencies, large manufacturers, educational institutions, and retail sales businesses.

A cocktail reception featuring hor-d'oeuvres and food specialties of over 20 restaurant and caterers from the west suburban area will kick off the show activities on Tuesday night from 6-9 p.m. Tickets for the reception are $15/ticket ($10 per ticket for purchase of 20 tickets or more). This price includes all the food you can eat and an open bar.

Show hours on Wednesday, May 16, will be from noon - 8 p.m., and Thursday, May 17, from noon - 8 p.m. Admission is free for these two days.

Tickets for the opening night cocktail reception and for general admittance are now available at the participating Chambers of Commerce.

For more information regarding Expo 275, call the Livonia Chamber at 427-2122.

Kone Cranes of Novi has has a worldwide reputation

There are six production units and 27 service branches in the U.S. and Canada.

"We have 27 branches in North America, Lovgren said. "The basic criteria for building those is a two hour delivery time by car. We are visiting the customers plants, they are not taking the cranes here."

The Novi office opened a year ago and consists of business development, modernization group (which takes care of heavier upgrades in engineering) and a branch office consisting of branch manager, two sales persons, supervisor and 50 technicians.

The office also carries spare parts, as the handling of spare parts is centralized throughout the U.S.

Two thirds of Kone Corporation's total volume is elevators, one third is cranes. Of 300,000 elevators world wide, 65,000 are Kone's.

"Kone Corporation is number three worldwide in the elevator business. In the crane business, Kone is one of the two biggest in the world, competing with Demag in Germany," Lovgren said.

Kone chose Novi not only because of its proximity to Detroit, but also because in a 300 mile radius is the biggest concentration of cranes in the world.

"One of the reasons we are here in the Detroit area is the very big concentration of excellent universities. We are trying to work together with the universities on product development and we are trying to find co-op students and employ people through the universities."

Lovgren added that good homes and schools were also a factor in choosing Novi.

Lovgren mentioned how economic factors following World War II caused many Scandinavian countries to consolidate their resources. "We are going very fast from a society where we were throwing away things and buying new ones to keeping things as long as possible."

The average lifetime of a crane is between 30-50 years. The lifting capacity ranges from 250 lbs. to 1600 tons. The equipment, both hardware and software, will be upgraded as needed. Kone will upgrade any existing equipment, whether or not they built it.

"We are emphasizing very much that we are not only selling cranes, we are taking care of them for their entire lifetime," Lovgren explained.

"You can no longer just be a supplier of equipment," he added. "We have to follow the products. The structure is going from selling products to selling systems. And those systems include both hardware and software in the sense of taking care of the equipment. We are training customers in how to use their cranes and how to maintain their cranes."

— Rolf Lovgren
V.P., Kone Cranes

Lovgren is chairman of an international committee dealing with the use, maintenance and service of cranes known as the International Standard Organization.

Although Kone is a Fortune 500 company, has a big volume in the U.S.A. and has grown very fast, it is still not that well known in North America. Lovgren believes the reason for that is that Kone has emphasized learning its lessons in their backyard. "You have to be big enough to really penetrate the huge market in the world," he said. "The potential in North America is the biggest in the world."

According to sales by market, 72 percent are coming from western Europe and 15 percent from North America. Kone started in North America five years ago, so the fastest growth worldwide for Kone is in North America. Lovgren believes Kone's technology fits very well in the U.S.A. today and estimates that within five years at least 30 percent of sales will be from North America.

An additional four percent of Kone sales are in Eastern block countries. Kone was the first crane company in Hungary.

Regarding Kone's slow visibility, Lovgren explained there are future plans to make his company a household name. "We are going to emphasize that Kone Cranes is equal with reliability. We are also trying to start profiling ourselves more." A recent international seminar was opened by Novi Mayor Pro Tem Edward R. Leiminger and was attended by Scandinavian diplomats.

Although the headquarters are in Europe, Lovgren points out that the equipment is not shipped from there. "We are emphasizing that we are not making and producing cranes in Europe and transporting them here. We are building them in the U.S.A. That's why we have ordered another five production units."

Additionally, Kone Corp. is increasing world wide operations. Recently plants have been established in Venezuela and Mexico.

Economic news picks up for 1990 according to U-M experts

The U.S. economy will recover in the first half of this year from the late-1989 slowdown brought on by the Federal Reserve Board's tight money policies, University of Michigan economists predict in an update of their annual forecast.

The real gross national product is expected to grow at an annual rate of 2.2 percent in the first quarter of 1990 and 3.5 percent in the second quarter, up from the 0.9 percent annual rate measured in the last quarter of 1989.

"Thereafter we expect the economy to be heading toward a more normal and sustainable growth track," according to the U-M economists. "To summarize, the Fed appears to have achieved the much-heralded soft landing and the economy is still expanding after seven years of economic growth."

Sectors expected to lead growth include renewed strength in exports, increased investments by producers, a turnaround in home building, and moderate recovery in the demand for cars and light trucks. Unemployment is expected to remain relatively stable at around 5.3 percent over the next year, and "inflation is not expected to show signs of serious acceleration during the next two years."

The current forecast is an update of the annual forecast presented in November. It was prepared by U-M Prof. Saul H. Hymans and Joan P. Cray and Janet C. Wolfe, researchers in the U-M Department of Economics. The forecast is based on the Michigan Quarterly Econometric Model of the U.S. Economy, compiled by the U-M's Research Seminar in Quantitative Economics. Hymans twice has won the Silbert Award, created by the Sterling National Bank & Trust Co. to recognize the nation's most accurate economic forecaster.

The federal budget deficit is expected to shrink from $153.3 billion in fiscal 1990 to $123.5 billion in fiscal 1991, "as changing world conditions make it easier to hold the line on federal defense spending," according to Hymans, Cray and Wolfe.

The foreign trade deficit, which has declined sharply from its 1987 high of more than $150 billion to just under $100 billion in 1989, "is forecast to deteriorate a bit over the coming year," a result of recent instability in the value of the dollar. The U-M economists say that the foreign trade deficit will begin to decline again by mid-1991, after topping out at an annual rate of about $118 billion in the spring of 1990.

"We'll be especially vulnerable to potential instability in the foreign exchange markets during this year-long period," according to Hymans, Cray and Wolfe. "But we're going to have to live with such risks until we get our major imbalances straightened around."

The dollar will decline relative to foreign currencies at a rate averaging 3.25 percent per year through the end of 1991, according to the forecast, resulting in a growing price advantage for American exports.

Manufacturing capacity will grow at an average rate of 2.75 percent over the next two years, as producers' investments in durable goods increase by 3 percent during 1990 and by just under 4 percent during 1991 according to the forecast.

Automotive production is expected to surge by 16 percent between the spring of 1990 to the spring of 1991, reflecting increasing demand. Sales of cars and light trucks are expected to recover from the fourth-quarter 1989 sales rate of 13 million units per year to tally 14.5 million units in 1990 and 14.9 million units in 1991. Sales of cars will reach 10.1 million units in 1991, compared with 9.9 million units in 1989 and in 1990. Light truck sales will rise to 4.8 million units in 1991, up from 4.6 million units in 1989 and 1990.

Unemployment is forecast to remain flat at 5.3 percent through the spring of 1991 before drifting up to more than 5.5 percent by the end of 1991.

Consumer price inflation, which averaged 4.2 percent during 1989, will accelerate slightly to an average rate of 4.6 percent from the end of 1989 to the end of 1990 and then will register a steady 4.7 percent rate throughout 1991, according to the forecast. Growth in real disposable income will slow from 4.1 percent in 1989 to 2.9 percent in 1990 and the 2.1 percent in 1991.

Interest rates will remain approximately steady over the next two years, the U-M economists predict. The 3-month Treasury bill rate is forecast at 7.8 percent in 1990, "then drifts up to 7.9 percent by late 1991, when we have assumed that the Fed will begin to ease monetary policy in reaction to the slowing of economic growth and the upward drift of the unemployment rate," according to Hymans, Cray and Wolfe.

Interest rates for conventional mortgages are expected to reach 10.25 percent at the end of 1990 and remain at or above that level through 1991, up from 9.8 percent in the last quarter of 1989. Home building activity is forecast to increase by 6.5 percent during 1990 and by 3 percent in 1991 "as activity in the housing market begins to flatten out in reaction to high mortgage interest rates," the U-M economists say.

Door harps, wind chimes spring up

By Barrie Barber

Like the welcoming melody of spring, wind chimes and door harps herald the presence of a visitor or the symphonic harmony of the wind.

Door harps, unlike wind chimes, are finely tuned and emit sound when a ball strikes a string.

Wind chimes, as they are popularly recognized, are tubes that loosely hang from an upper base.

Perhaps best of all, door harps and wind chimes don't require batteries to operate.

Area retailers sell a variety of chimes that may take the form of a heart, a cow or a sailboat.

At Sharon's Corner Shoppe in Howell handmade wooden door harps are fashioned into piano, guitar and heart shapes. In the past, it has also sold door harps small enough to fit on a refrigerator door.

Door harps can be placed anywhere from the front door to the rear door of the home. Some people even buy them for bathroom doors.

Harps can be tuned to play a note, but according to the manufacturer, "It's very difficult."

The harps have proven to be quite popular. "I've sold over 200 over the past two years," said Sharon Garrison, owner of Sharon's.

"They have been in existence for over 100 years," she said, and probably were first made in the southern United States. There was a period when harp production ceased, but it began again in 1982," according to Garrison.

The harps the shop sells come from Pigeon Forge, Tenn. Each harp, made from pine, receives two coats of paint and three coats of varnish. Those with a natural finish receive five coats.

Many people are attracted to door harps as a gift because they're unusual.

"(Customers) buy them for people it's difficult to buy for," Garrison said.

They may also answer that age-old question of "What do you buy your mother-in-law who has everything?" says Garrison, "because it's such an unusual thing."

"It's very charming."

"They go from one age to the next and I'll tell you they fascinate the children. There's not a child that comes in here that doesn't play with one."

Door harps can sell for about $25 to $33. Kits cost about the same, Garrison said.

Wind chimes are commonly made out of brass and wood, Linda Morgan, manager of the Bon Ton Shoppe in Brighton, said. Some are made out of seashells, but have not been as durable, she said.

Wind chimes tend to be hollow to capture the most vibrant sounds.

They seem to appeal to the 30-and-up crowd most, according to Morgan. Especially those who live or spend summers near a lake and enjoy the breeze.

More than any other reason, people are attracted to wind chimes because of their acoustics.

"They like the sound and I think out this way (with hundreds of lakes) . . . it's something that you're going to be able to hear a lot," Morgan commented.

Although wind chimes are sometimes difficult to find except at art fairs, Heslop's Gifts at Twelve Oaks, Novi has just received a large shipment of Seville chimes.

Pandora Gift Shop in Milford has had quite a run on wind chimes recently and is down to just three at this time. "We have a ceramic one with a Unicorn and a rainbow and we have some from the Southwest which have chimes made of stone," said JoAnn Ceresa of Pandora's.

Larger wind chimes can sound like echoing church bells, while smaller ones could be described as sounding like an imaginary crystal waterfall.

Larger also means the sound lasts longer, Morgan said.

"I think a lot of people like the ones that have a deep sound," she added.

While chimes are prized for their musical attributes, they can also be found at art fairs and in souvenir shops across the country.

Chimes are perhaps easiest to find during the spring and summer, when many stores receive shipments. Another good shopping place for chimes and harps are the summer arts and craft shows which are always plentiful during the warmer weather.

Whether they are made of pottery, metal or even stone, wind chimes add a lively musical note

Around the House: Designs for Living

Angled walls provide focus

By James McAlexander

The dramatic center-points for your entry to the Uranus 2 are the angled walls facing the front deck. Just inside you'll find a convenient entry closet and a most intriguing living room.

The living room is open, yet intimate. A single step marks its boundaries from the adjoining hallway. At one center an expansive bank of windows brings the view indoors and opposite, a sweeping room-length hearth fronts the fireplace.

Across the hallway is the family room. Being the center of activity, it takes its job seriously by being located somewhat apart from the rest of the home. Adjoining windows at the corner of the room add visual interest along with plenty of light, while sliding glass doors ease access to the backyard deck.

In the country kitchen, a large pantry with fold-out storage door is one clue that this is a working kitchen. With the central island containing a range top, two cooks can easily enjoy the area without collision. Corner windows again find a use here bringing light and view to the sink areas and cozy dining nook.

Down a short hall and seven steps up from the main living area are the bedrooms and both bathrooms. Here you will find a master suite worthy of the name.

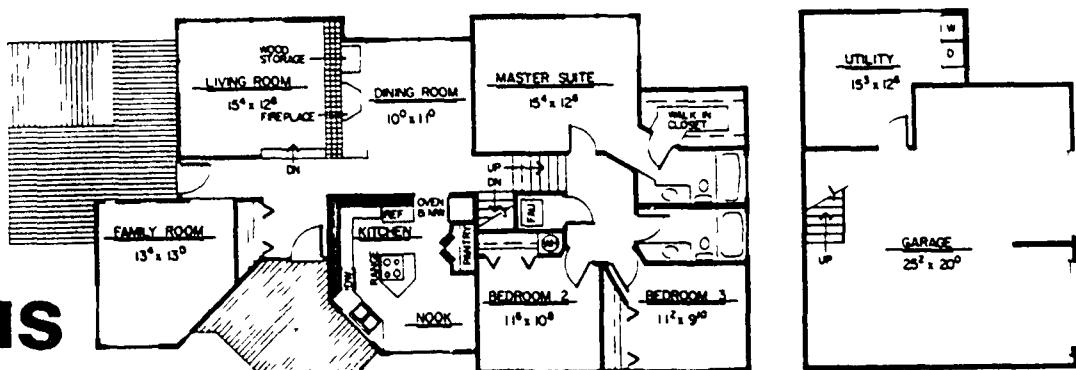

The usual layout begins quite simply with a moderately sized bedroom. Adjoining windows at one corner, so characteristic of this home, are found here, as well. This allows for versatility of furniture placement and a cozy location for a comfortable chair to read in.

A separate dressing area lies beyond one corner of the room, where a spacious walk-in closet is just a few convenient steps from the master bathroom.

Adjacent to the master suite are a pair of smaller bedrooms, each with a ready access to the second full bathroom and its tub/shower combination.

For a study plan of the Uranus 2 (224-12), send $5 to Landmark Designs, P.O. Box 2307 CN, Eugene, OR 97402. (Be sure to specify plan name and number when ordering.)

Housing demand to become sharply segmented

As the baby boom population approaches retirement and the baby bust matures, housing demand will become more sharply segmented than in the past, according to a report from the National Association of Realtors.

The study, "Demographics in the U.S.—The Segmenting of Housing Demand," anticipates strong housing demand and stable home values over the next decade, in spite of the smaller baby bust population producing fewer prospective buyers than the baby boomers.

The demand will be fueled by widely varied housing needs—for affluent trade-up baby boom couples, baby boomers approaching retirement, and growing numbers of non-traditional households and immigrants, the report says.

"The healthy markets will offer diversity. They will have a variety of rich-oriented housing," said NAR President Ira Gribin.

The study explores several current and projected demographic changes that likely will have the greatest impact on the housing industry over the next decade. Foremost among these are the changing age structure and household composition of the U.S. population.

The total number of households in the nation rose by an average of about 1.3 million annually during the 1980s, dropping from 1.7 million annually during the 1970s. The population ages 25-34, the group at which household formation is typically the highest, is getting smaller, while the age group 65 and older is getting larger.

The number of married couple households is declining. The decline is being countered by an increase in single-person households, female-headed households, non-family households, and a larger number of 18- to 24-year-old men living with their parents. Additionally, the average household size dropped from 3.14 persons in 1960 to 2.66 persons in 1987.

Households are moving more frequently, which is causing and will continue to cause a higher housing turnover rate. Legal immigration, notably by Asians and Hispanics, is increasing—the average annual rate of 570,000 was 30 percent higher in the 1980s than in the 1970s.

Increased demand by foreigners seeking to rent or buy in the United States will contribute to housing demand in the 1990s, the study notes.

According to NAR chief economist John A. Tuccillo, the changing needs of changing households will help offset a drop in housing demand due to the smaller baby bust population. Predictions that home values will sour due to a fall-off in demand are too simplistic, and such projections fail to consider the continuing impact the baby boom generation will have, Tuccillo said.

Increased savings by baby boomers, combined with a smaller federal deficit and a larger Social Security trust fund, likely will push interest rates lower over the next seven years, he noted.

Additionally, some boomers previously unable to purchase homes will be buying, he said. "As the leading edge of the baby boom moves through its peak earning years, demand will pick up for second homes and retirement homes," Tuccillo said.

He predicted that demand will shift significantly toward "smaller units in sunny climates."

In general, the Northeast and Midwest have experienced out-migration of residents, while the South and West have experienced in-migration.

In spite of home purchases by baby boomers and baby busters, the report notes that housing affordability problems will continue to plague lower-income consumers. According to the study, it appears that a widening gap in household demographics is accompanied by a growing disparity in home purchasing power.

For instance, the study says, typical real incomes for families in the highest-earning quintile of the population rose by more than 29 percent between 1970 and 1986. However, real incomes for families in the lowest-earning quintile rose by only 9 percent.

Because the incomes of lower-income households are not growing at the same rate as upper-income households, they are having more and more difficulty finding housing they can still afford to buy or rent.

"We will still see a sizable share of couples looking to buy a place to raise a family, repeat buyers looking to move up and boomers looking for a place to retire," Gribin said. "But, we're also going to see more and more single-parent households, and smaller households."

The study notes that single-parent households spent an average of one-third of their per capita incomes for shelter, fuel and utilities in 1985, up from about 27 percent in 1973. Female-headed family households, which tend to be among the poorest of the household groups, represented 8.7 percent of all households in 1970, and rose to 11.6 percent in 1988.

The difference in income and housing affordability separating local markets likely will stay wide, the report notes. For instance, median housing expenditures have been and likely will continue to be substantially higher in the Northeast and West than in the Midwest and South, in spite of higher median household income for the Northeast and West.

"In high-cost areas, the need for affordable housing undoubtedly will become more pressing," Gribin noted. "Households are getting older and smaller. But, so is this nation's stock of low-cost housing."

Around the Yard: Collecting

Old milk bottles bring you nostalgia by the quart

By Linda Rosenkrantz

For people of a certain age, there is no sound quite so nostalgic as the clink of milk bottles nudging against each other.

For several generations, the arrival of the milkman with his carrying cases of cream-topped bottles was the signal of a new day beginning—or the end of a late, late night as spelled out in the lyrics of the song, "Lullaby of Broadway."

Like so many other emblems of the recent past, the milk bottle is all but gone—except in the land of collectibles, where it is far from forgotten.

The oldest known glass milk bottle dates back to 1866, but the first to be patented was A.V. Whiteman's in 1880, and the earliest commercial glass milk container was Dr. Hervy Thatcher's in 1884.

Before long, glass bottles were appearing all over New York and New Jersey. The earliest examples had a bail closure similar to those used on some canning jars. By 1890, though, this was replaced by a much longer-lasting method of closure—a disposable cardboard cap held by a shallow rim inside the top of the bottle neck.

Although most milk bottles are made of clear glass, there are some colored types, which are eagerly sought by collectors. These include the deep green Altacrest Farms bottles and the amber Big Elm Dairy bottles.

There are also interesting variations of shape, some with pronounced necks, others with almost no decipherable neck at all. And the familiar quart-size was not universal—there were also gills (quarter-pints), half-pints, 10-ounce bottles (a third of a quart), pints, half-gallons and gallons.

In the heyday of the glass milk bottle—roughly 1910 to about 1950, when paper cartons took over—there were several major producers, among them Lamb Glass Co., of Mount Vernon, Ohio; Thatcher Glass Co. of New York; Owens-Illinois Glass

Co. of Toledo, Ohio, and Liberty Glass Co. of Sapulpa, Okla. These names are to be found embossed on the bottles, often complemented by decorative devices—everything from patriotic stars and flags and eagles, to buildings, to the appropriate cows and milkmaids.

Linda Rosenkrantz edited Auction magazine and authored five books

Hairy decisions

Choosing a style perfect for prom

By LESLIE PEREIRA

A beautiful new dress, heels higher than you've ever worn, those precious pearls you only pull out for special occasions — you feel like a princess. Until your hair betrays you with an unruly kink or a misplaced curl.

"A hairstyle can really make or break a dress," said Gina Agosta, part-owner of Gerald's Hair Salon in Northville.

And the gaggle of girls flocking to her salon every year at prom time understand the importance of a clean-cut coiffure. Gerald's has already booked 19 appointments for May 5, the day of both the Northville and Novi High School proms, and a heavier-than-normal load for the preceding two weeks.

"At prom time it really bustles around here," said Antonette Mikolon, coordinator and receptionist for Gerald's.

So what are the girls having done this year? Intricate braids based on complex geometric configurations? Three-story bouffants requiring six hands and a step-ladder to erect?

No, according to Agosta the hottest new style this year is hair worn high on the crown of the head. Recently returned from a weekend-long hair fashion show, complete with world renown stylists, Agosta said many of the new dos are reminiscent of the 1960s.

The style most heralded on the models of the mane masters was a closely cropped head of hair, fitted on the sides and in back, yet longer and pouffed up at the crown.

And for girls demanding the latest style, yet unwilling to cut their long tresses, a similar high-on-the-top illusion can be created with long hair, Agosta said.

Other prom hair looks, popular last year and still popping up, are french braids, longish curls resting against the cheeks, and rolling the hair back on each side and connecting the rolls behind with an ornament.

Old meets New on the dance floors of this year's prom

Anything goes as prom dresses appear in all shapes and shades

By LESLIE PEREIRA

Short, shimmery, strapless and sexy — or long, lacy, high-necked and romantic. Black velvet, teal chiffon or an iridescent orange synthetic — the choices are endless.

Things have come a long way from the time when selecting a prom dress meant merely deciding whether you would wear a long white dress or a long pink one.

A peek into the dance halls of this year's prom will be like eating at a cafeteria-style smorgasbord, with a small sampling of everything.

"I think this year anything goes," said Tracy Varjabedian, manager of Susie's at Twelve Oaks Mall. "The girls are watching the Miss U.S.A. pageant and then coming in for their dresses."

Varjabedian should know. A major portion of her store is devoted to special-occasion dresses and she has been selling close to a dozen a day for the past month.

"Girls have been putting the dresses on layaway since January," Varjabedian said.

She said girls are lucky this year because there is no one particular style dominating the fashion scene but rather a diversity of styles which allows each girl to show off her individuality.

Marilyn Connor, a representative for Hudson's, agreed that this year's prom season is not defined by a particular style. "It really runs the gamut from sophisticated to romantic," said Connor, as she mentioned the resurrection of long dresses, but qualified it by saying the short ones were also selling well.

Despite the wide variety of styles, both Varjabedian and Connor have noticed distinct patterns of popularity from both purchases and inquiries.

Although stores have been showing a large number of dresses cut above the knee, Varjabedian said most younger girls are staying away from this short style.

"We are selling a lot of the longer gowns, which I think is probably mother's choice," Varjabedian laughed.

And sales at Twelve Oaks' Gantos have demonstrated the same thing.

"Nobody is going really short," said Gantos Sales Associate Debbie Isaac.

Agreed, said Connor, who thinks this year's trend is toward dresses which are three-quarters length, meaning somewhere close to mid-calf.

And the prom-going girls seemed to support what the dress experts were saying.

"I want a tea-length dress, not a long one," said Ann Gallinger, a junior at Plymouth-Canton High School.

Gallinger's shopping partner, Denyse Koontz, said she would be purchasing a tea length dress also. The pair have been shopping incessantly for the last month but have yet to settle on a particular gown, although they both have very definite ideas about what it is they want.

Gallinger said she will most likely buy a teal dress while Koontz prefers black or navy blue, which they agree are three of this year's "in" colors. Also cited by them as cool colors were red and hot pink.

This year's stylish shades include a new color concept in prom designs. Many of the stores have been showing dresses made with a very bright iridescent fabric. The fabric appears two-toned depending on how it is struck by the light. This is the fabric of choice for the more outrageous colors such as purple, orange and green.

In Our Town

AAUW tours Mill Race Village

By LESLIE PEREIRA

The American Association of University Women (AAUW) will be going on a tour of Mill Race Village on April 10. The tour will be led by Diane Rockall, who is a member of both the AAUW and the Historical Society. The tour will begin at 7:30 p.m. after which Mrs. Rockall will update members about what is happening with the Cady Inn. If you miss the tour, the meeting will begin at about 8:15 at Wash Oaks School. Members will also vote on the election of officers at this meeting. For more information, call Ann Thompson at 349-3207.

Garden Club outing

The Northville Branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association is taking a trip to Ann Arbor on Friday, April 6. About 40-45 women already have their tickets and carpool reservations to attend the Ann Arbor Flower Show. The show has been likened to the famous Philadelphia Flower Show and has been getting a lot of good press. The show will be held at the Yost Field House this weekend only.

Library activists

Several local people attended the regional meeting of the White House Conference on Library and Information Services held in the Novi Hilton Ballroom on Saturday, March 24. They are: Frances Mattison, chairperson of the Library Advisory Commission; and Paul Dawson and Janis Stevenson, who are also members of the Commission. Also attending from Northville was Lois Winters, who is chairperson of the City Library Board.

Attendees brainstormed and discussed library issues all day in an attempt to hammer out suggestions they will bring to the national White House Conference in Washington in 1991.

Mother's Club dinner-dance

The Northville Mother's Club is holding its annual dinner-dance as a way of saying "thank-you" to the members as well as to the community. The night of fun and thank-yous will be on April 7 at the Meadowbrook Country Club. Cocktails begin at 7 p.m. with dinner (London broil) at 7:30, followed by a night of dancing with the band Tim Hewitt and Feelings. The cost is $60 per couple. For reservations or more information, call chairperson Bonnie St. Thomas at 349-4091.

1990-91 Town Hall tickets on sale

Tickets for the exciting new 1990-91 season of the Town Hall Series will be available at the last lecture of the 1989-90 series on April 5. The coming speakers are: "As the World Turns" soap-star Eileen Fulton; Col. Charles Scott, who was one of the hostages held in Iran for 444 days; Kaye Lani Rae Rafko, Miss America of 1988; and veteran NBC newsmen Jack Reynolds. Luncheons are held after each lecture. Tickets are $11 for each lecture or $44 for the entire season. For more information, contact Virginia Kaiser at 349-9838.

Herb Society meets

The Southern Michigan Unit of The Society of America will present "An Afternoon With Herbs," on Wednesday, May 9, 1990 at 1:30 p.m. at the Congregational Church of Birmingham located at Woodward and Cranbrook Road in Bloomfield Hills. The speaker will be Carol Czechowski, a member of the herb unit who conducts workshops and lectures in the Detroit Metropolitan area. Topics covered will include how to use live and dried herbs, topiaries, herbs to grow for potpourri and the most popular plants for the herb garden. Tickets will be $10. For more information, call 737-9470.

Detroit Free Press garden writer Betty Frankel speaks to Shirley Millard, Pat Kitchen, Suzanne Hansknecht, Jeanne Frogner and Karen Brown about "Gardening with Perennials"

Flower show begins

As spring approaches, local gardeners are gearing up. And just in time is the University of Michigan's Matthaei Botanical Gardens flower and garden show April 6-8 at the university's Yost Field House.

The 1990 Ann Arbor Flower and Garden Show will focus on four kinds of displays. Landscape designers and nursery firms will feature dramatic garden environments, Michigan garden club members and commercial florists will exhibit original floral arrangements and community residents will be invited to enter plants in horticultural classes.

In addition, the public will have the opportunity to interact with horticultural and environmental experts.

Garden environments created by the landscape firms and nurseries will be among the show's highlights with special exhibits by the ikebana, rose, bonsai and orchid societies.

The gardens provide the university community, the surrounding region and the State of Michigan with a naturalistic setting for native plants and exotics.

The Flower and Garden Show will adhere to flower show guidelines established by the National Council of State Garden Clubs. The show will serve as a major fund-raising event to continue the development of the Matthaei Botanical Gardens' research and educational facilities and programs.

Besides exhibits, the Flower and Garden Show will include a marketplace for retail sales of garden and plant materials. For more information on the show, call or write Judith Corkran Katch, Matthaei Botanical Gardens, 1800 Dixboro Road, Ann Arbor, MI 48105, 998-7343.

Foundation to help restore county parks

Wayne County Executive Edward H. McNamara announced recently the creation of the Friends of Wayne County Parks foundation, the key figure in a bold new plan the county is undertaking to restore and revitalize its entire 75-year-old park system.

"Each year it becomes more evident that Wayne County government cannot continue to support all the needs of its citizens without further exploration of alternate funding sources," said McNamara.

The foundation, which includes several members of the Detroit media, will provide match-for-grant projects, as well as the capital necessary, for the restoration of the parks infrastructure and improvements to its existing facilities.

"The objective of the Friends foundation is to enhance and increase the recreational opportunities available to our residents," said Hurley Coleman, Director of Wayne County Parks and Recreation.

The board also expects to provide credibility and restore the integrity of the Wayne County Parks system by furnishing a strong, independent, citizen level approach to protecting resources and providing services.

McNamara also took this opportunity to announce that the county parks department and WJBK TV-2 will sponsor a million dollar Hole-In-One contest at the Warren Valley Golf Course during the last weekend in April and first weekend in May.

Proceeds from the $1-per-shot fund-raiser will go toward the restoration of the Parks Department headquarters at Nankin Mills, formerly used as an historic nature center.

A qualifying round will be held Saturday and Sunday, April 28 and 29 and the following weekend of May 5 and 6. Those who come closest to a hole-in-one each hour of the competition will qualify to participate in the final shoot-out on Tuesday, May 8 for a chance at the million dollar prize.

"If anyone makes a hole-in-one in the final they will get a $1 million annuity which works out to $25,000 a year for 40 years," said Vic Chiasson, director of special events for Wayne County Parks. "The ace has to come in the final, though, not the preliminaries."

The parks department also has a number of other special events in the works. Among them are: The Great Marshmallow Drop, Mud Day, the Nursery School Olympics and a Tug-of-War across the Detroit River.

Dressing up for the prom is made easier this year

Pastels have also made a comeback, according to Gantos. And Jennifer Smith, a blond junior at Novi High School, intends to take advantage of the pastel popularity and the fact that pale colors flatter her light hair and skin.

"My grandmother is making me a yellow dress," Smith said, who described it as a "sort of mermaid dress" with a flare bottom and no straps.

A new cut of dress making its big debut on the prom scene is the asymmetrical dress. Shorter on one side or in the front, these daring dresses offer a peek at shapely legs without breaking tradition completely by going with a short dress.

Novi High School senior Elaine Ellis likes the new off-balance style and has decided to wear it for her senior prom. Her strapless hot pink and black dress is shorter in the front but long and draping in the back.

As far as accessories go, the word is that long, shoulder-duster earrings are the rage. These danglers are most popular as a long thin strand of rhinestones with various colored stones on the end.

Gloves and hats have not sold well so far but most stores were unsure as to whether that could be attributed to a lack of interest or to procrastination.

"Most girls just buy their dresses now and worry about accessories later," Varjabedian said.

So, girls, take the advice from the experts — whether black, pink or green, long, short or both long and short — in this year's world of prom fashions nothing is off limits, so wear whatever it is your heart desires.

Main event manes

The traditional swept-up style is always the in-vogue special-occasion hairdo of choice for many. Agosta said she generally urges girls with strapless gowns to consider wearing their hair up to spotlight the neck and shoulders as the dress intended.

"I was thinking of wearing my hair up," said Jennifer Smith, a junior at Novi High School, who will be wearing a strapless yellow gown. She said she will probably have it done by a professional on prom day.

However, Novi senior Elaine Ellis, who is also wearing a strapless dress, said her hair looks better down and that is how she will wear it despite conventional wisdom.

Because every girl is different, Agosta said she avoids general rules of style. Agosta and Mikolon both agreed that everything from height to weight to bone structure, factors into the hairstylist's assessment of how best to advise an unsure client.

Their best bit of advice? Communicate. Agosta and Mikolon said talking to the hairstylist is essential. The more information the stylist has, the better job he or she can do on your hair. That way, no unwelcome surprises.

Whether you have a stylist do your hair the day of the prom, cut or trim it the week before, or if only you are equipped to deal with your mane, remember the stylist's advice is just that — advice. You are the one that has to be comfortable with your hair for the many hours of dining, dancing and endless picture-taking.

But, one more pearl of wisdom from a nonstylist: if that cute cowlick you had as a baby chooses prom day to reappear, don't worry. Just relax and enjoy it — or you can always get yourself one of those stylish hats.

Copenhagen, a pleasant surprise for travelers

By Noreen Rack

When touring Europe this summer, make sure to fit Copenhagen into your plans. This charming, yet often overlooked, city is sure to surprise you with its ancient cobblestone streets and free-spirited Danish culture.

Copenhagen, Denmark's capital, lies on the Danish Island of Zealand and is the biggest and liveliest of the Scandinavian cities.

The streets in town are filled with young and "young at heart" folks, out and about, eating and drinking in outdoor cafes and listening to music in the center square. You'll get the same European charm other large cities offer, without the intense cultural mishmash.

The pedestrian drag, Stroget, is a wide open cobblestone street filled with wonderful Scandinavian clothing stores and shops. The walk seems endless with each store bringing on a new European style in shoes, scarves and hats. The end of the drag opens up to the city center with peddlers offering great bargains on jewelry, trinkets and food.

During my travels, my friends and I became regular explorers of the beautiful canals near the harbor; our favorite area in the city. Nyhavn, a canal lined with boats and seaside cafes, was once a strip filled with sailors and rowdy bar room brawlers. The place is pretty mellow now and offers a peaceful stroll down by the docks between pubs.

Most of these places are pretty cheap, and the friendly people who run these small joints enjoy practicing their English.

There is so much to do for nightlife in Copenhagen, the days seem endless. We were surprised that many of the bars and restaurants don't close until 5 a.m. and by that time the early morning cafes are opening to serve a hearty breakfast. So try not to run yourself down during the day, you'll regret missing some of the best jazz in the world.

The Jazzhaus was a hard club to find, hidden away down the pedestrian street Norregade, but that place was well worth the adventure. If you go, search it out. Jazzhaus brings in internationally known artists along with excellent local bands.

If you want to dance to some traditional jazz music, go to the Foyer Scenen on Magstraede.

Tivoli Gardens is a central place lined with bars such as Slukefer and Faergelkroen with contemporary folk music to traditional jazz. We found ourselves joining in the sing-alongs even though our Danish was pretty weak.

The harbor area is often the place to meet — especially in Nyhavn in Copenhagen

We agreed that the best music in town was played at the Irish Pub. There is really nothing Irish about the place which is filled with long-haired, blond Danish men singing the blues. These guys would give some of the greatest New Orleans bands a run for their money.

I missed the world-famous Copenhagen Jazz Festival which is celebrated in July — if you plan to go make reservations, the town will be bursting with tourists.

Like other Scandinavian countries, Denmark enjoys a very high standard of living. High quality porcelain and silverware have become popular products imported to the U.S.

Don't be misled by Danish currency, the kroner. Although you may receive approximately 6kr to the dollar, kroner go fast when you pay 150kr (or $25) for a reasonable dinner.

Avoid eating at restaurants on the pedestrian drag or in Tivoli, they are overpriced. Although big open sandwiches and plates of fresh fish keep you satisfied at first, you may find yourself craving a nice juicy steak or burger after a few days. You're on the wrong continent. Fish is the food here, which makes Denmark a great place to shed a few pounds.

In general, you should avoid sit-down restaurants. Follow the habits of most Danes and head for some of the local bakeries, eat lunch in the park or order some baked salmon or crayfish at a small cafe along the waterfront. The food is much better and worth the price.

Of course, you must experience Danish dining sometime throughout the trip and there are a few places that may spark your appetite. Try Cafe Smukke Marie on Knabrostraede for the best dessert crepes in town and lots of fresh Danish food with an artsy herbal atmosphere.

Or for a night of fine dining, stroll over to Den Sort Ravn on Nyhavn harbor for some French/Danish cuisine served in an 18th Century house.

The Danes love all kinds of good food and the town is filled with Italian, French, Spanish, Chinese and Japanese restaurants. For some Italian chow, make plans to dine at Pappas on Kultortorret, where candles line the staircase and Italian violins play in the background.

Copenhagen has a great bus and train system, but the city is best seen on foot, so wear your walking shoes; there's a lot to do. If you're out late and miss the last train back to your hotel, flag down a taxi. Most drivers will pull up in a Mercedes Benz and are very polite, unlike most of our New York City cab drivers.

When you arrive in Copenhagen, orient yourself in the Radhusplads or Town Hall Square. You'll receive much help from the tour guides and you'll actually be sitting in the center of Copenhagen.

The Danes are some of the friendliest people you'll ever meet, and most of them speak English very well. So don't hesitate to ask for help.

For a good view of the city, try the endless spiral stairs of Freslers Kirkes Tårn which leads to a twisted tower in Town Hall Square. The tour guides to the tower make the exhausting trip up the stairs at least five times a day, so don't try to keep up with them.

Living up to its free-spirited reputation, Denmark is the only country where you will find a place like Christiania, a tax exempt experimental living project. This "free society" with limited or no laws, is a 10-minute bus ride from Central Station, on an island isolated from the city. The society was founded in 1971 by youthful squatters and continues to be a controversial issue in Europe.

During World War II, the island of Christiania was used as a concentration camp while Denmark was occupied by Nazi Germany.

Today, a trip to Christiania will give you flashbacks filled with '60s counter-culture and hippie regalia. The place is mainly occupied by harmless junkies and freaky free-love folks who run shack-like workshops and houses.

Loppen, a bar just through the entrance of Christiania, is a pretty heavy scene that features hard rock, jazz and funk music. Expect it all — from legal drug use to dogs laying on the counter.

How these people actually survive is a question not worth pursuing. And as harmless as they may be, the shock of their lifestyle may scare you. But if you're a brave traveler looking for new adventures to plunder into, go for it. You'll never forget it and there is no place like it on the planet.

Back on the mainland, the big tourist attraction in Copenhagen, Tivoli, is a happy amusement park with carnival atmosphere located in the center of town. Tivoli is well known for its roller coaster, but the ride is really overrated so don't expect much.

During the evening, Tivoli grounds are romantically lit with concerts, shows and fireworks that shoot regularly on Wednesday, Saturday and Sunday.

If you're into castle enchantment, you will be dazzled by the Rosenborg Castle. The crown jewels are contained in the castle which is located off Solvgade, in the Botanical Gardens.

Not far from there, walk along the harbor and you'll soon find yourself at the residence of the royal family, Amalienborg Palace. Don't miss the Changing of the Guards at noon out front.

North of the city at Kastellet, you'll meet up with the city's landmark, Hans Christian Andersen's Little Mermaid across from the Burmeister and Wain's shipyards. No matter what time of year you go, you'll be bumping elbows with tourists taking photographs.

For museum-goers, pick up a copy of "Copenhagen This Week," which offers a list of exhibits and museum hours. The Nationalmuseum on Frederiksholms Kanal is filled with artifacts from the Ice Age to the Vikings and up to the 20th Century. Or head over to Ny Carlsberg Glyptotek for a peek at French Impressionist work and 19th Century Danish art.

A tourists' guide to Copenhagen

When to go: Copenhagen is most active in July and August, but the town is notably vibrant all year round. Temperatures stay in the 60s and 70s throughout summer and during winter months settle near 40 degrees.

Tourist Information: In Copenhagen: Danmarks Turiststrad, H.C. Andersens Blvd. (tel. 11 13 25) Pick up copies of "Copenhagen This Week" and "After Midnight" a nightlife guide. In Detroit: The Royal Danish Consulate, 4113 North Woodward Ave., Royal Oak, 48072, (313)549-3666.

Airline Information: Northwest and TWA fly to Copenhagen from Detroit Metro Airport. Or contact Scandinavian Airlines, Sterling Airways, Finnair or Icelandair for other fares.

Traveling through Europe: If you are travelling to or from Copenhagen, touring other European cities, the best way to go is by rail. To or from other cities: Amsterdam is an 11-hour ride for $94.

Hamburg is a four-hour ride for $40. Frankfurt is also 11-hour ride for $100.

London is a 22-hour ride for $128.

Paris is a 16-hour ride for $133. Rome is a 31-hour ride for $206.

These are approximate second class travel rates and do not include a surcharge for sleeping compartments, berths and meals.

PTA News

Activities abound during spring at NHS

NORTHVILLE HIGH SCHOOL

April at the high school brings a shower of activities. April 6 the SADD organization is presenting a talent show from 7-9 p.m. in the auditorium. There is a $2 presale fee or $3 at the door and the public is invited.

April 7 the Northville Singers and numerous soloists attend the State Contest at Eastern Michigan University. Good Luck to everyone.

Senior Prom tickets go on sale from April 9-13. Prom will be May 4 at Laurel Manor from 6:30 p.m. to midnight. Tickets are $30 per couple.

Spring recess gives most students a break from their rigorous schedules. However, this is also Earth Week and the planting of nine silver maples on the Northville campus will take place to commemorate this event. On Sunday, April 22, which is Earth Day, there will be a Fun Run and booth manned by SAW members to disseminate information about recycling. These activities occur at Maybury Park.

If you are a parent of a senior, do not forget the deadline of April 25 for local scholarships.

Founders Day Banquet will be Wednesday, April 25. It begins at 5:30 p.m. and the honorees are Mary Culik and Deanna Siemasz. Mrs. Culik is a science teacher and Mrs. Siemasz is a parent volunteer. The community thanks both of these ladies for their contributions to Northville High School. The public is invited to attend the banquet at a cost of $13 per person. Details can be obtained in the school office.

The sophomore class is sponsoring a car wash from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. April 28 at the Detroit Federal Savings parking lot. Drive down for a clean car and know you are helping a great group of students.

NHS Symphonic Band, under the direction of Mike Rumbell, earned a first division rating at the MSBOA Band Festival. They will be competing at State Festival on April 28. Good luck to you!

Applications for the summer driver education program will be available in the office on Monday, April 23. There will be two sessions. Remember, this is the only time this will be taught from now on.

The 1990 Senior Class graduation party teams are in full swing and help would be appreciated on any committee. The decorating teams meet Monday through Thursday evenings from 7:30 - 9:30 p.m. in the basement. Any parent of a senior is encouraged to drop in to assist whenever possible. There is always something to do for those who haven't kept abreast of plans or for those who feel they have little talent. What a great way to meet new people and have some productive fun.

This year there is a professionally taped senior class video for sale. Prestige Studios will tape two school days, prom night, graduation and the senior graduation party. These tapes are $24.95 so reserve yours now.

Accolades must be presented to Lee LaChance and her committee for the splendid All-Night Charity Ball held in March. These students organized an event so successful that 140 students raised approximately $8,000 for two charities. We also want to thank the community for their pledges to these enthusiastic students.

The newly initiated Mustang of the Week award has been presented to the following students: Tim Riha, Jason Baker, Jason Sherman and Lee LaChance. This award is given to any student who has given the extra effort to do something special for the school. Nominations can come from parents, teachers, fellow students or citizens of Northville.

Bravo! to the following:
• NHS Concert Choir And Girls Ensemble. They each received a Number 1 rating at the District Choral Festival and will go on to compete at State Contest in May.

• The Forensics Team's Kamal Bagga brought home from the Brighton Tournament a third place in prose competition, the Cats Multiple got a second place trophy, and Leanne Michalis and Julie Plath both achieved first place in poetry and prose, respectively.

• Cheerleaders. At their competition the freshmen received a second place ribbon, J.V. received a first place, all-around, Varsity received 3 first places and the high point over all for their third consecutive year.

• Boys Swim Team. Won the Division championship and won sixth place in the state. New school records were set in various events by Andy Wayne, Bob Holdridge, Brad Cook, Erik Newton, and Matt Hanna.

• Boys Basketball Became division Co-champions

• Boys Wrestling Were division champions, team district champs, and Garnet Potter placed fourth in the State Meet.

• Manpreet Bagga, Julie Howard and Kamal Bagga are finalists at Albion College's high school poetry contest.

• Susan Bickner was selected a first runner-up in the Macabees statewide vocal competition.

As you can see, the school community offers far more to our students than an intellectual environment. Northville offers growth and opportunities for our youth that cannot be measured by material means and we are proud of the students that have not only drawn from this resource, but have left it a better place.

Nancy Trabin, Glenda Jones and Pat Nandy

Kid's activities to celebrate Easter

While the weather keeps teasing us with just hints of spring, the calendar keeps moving forward — bringing with it a host of activities to celebrate Easter.

While churches plan their observances, children in the area may get a little more excited about the secular side of the holiday. Events include:

NORTHVILLE EGG HUNT: The Jaycees are sponsoring their traditional egg hunts in both Northville and Novi.

The Northville Jaycees' hunt is slated for 10 a.m. Saturday, April 14 in the Cass Benton area of Hines Park.

The ages welcomed are toddlers through 12-year-olds.

The Easter Bunny will be in attendance, and several prizes will be awarded.

The Northville Community Center is reserved in case of inclement weather.

NOVI EASTER EGG HUNT: In Novi, the 12th annual hunt is scheduled for four different times on Saturday, April 14. Hunts are planned at 11 a.m. and 12:30, 2 and 3:30 p.m.

Meet at the Novi Civic Center on Ten Mile, where the Easter Bunny will greet hunters. Coffee, juice and cookies will be served. A prize will be given at each hunt for the child who looks most like the Easter Bunny.

Ages are preschool to 10 years old. Cost is free.

The Jaycees ask that everyone pre-register by Tuesday, April 10. Each hunt is limited to 75 children per age group. Call 347-0400.

LUNCH WITH THE EASTER BUNNY: Northville Community Recreation Department is hosting two lunches with the Easter Bunny, at 12:30 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday, April 10 and 11.

The cost is $4 per person. Pre-registration is required, and it must be done in person at the Northville Community Center, 303 W. Main. The registration deadline is Monday, April 9.

Northville Recreation asks that the kids be at least 3 years old, because the bunny sometimes frightens the younger children.

The menu includes pizza, munchies and dessert. Relatives and friends are welcome. For more information call the community center at 349-0203.

CANDY-MAKING CLASS: Novi Community Education is offering a special class in how to mold and drop chocolate for Easter. Different colored decorations and coconut will also be used.

Each child must be accompanied by an adult. There is a lab fee of $3 per couple; an optional fee of $6 per couple gets a larger mold.

The class is at Novi Middle School, on Taft below Eleven Mile, room 522. Time is 7:30 to 9 p.m. Tuesday, April 10. Fee is $7.

Record/CHRIS BOYD

Last year's Easter egg hunt was a success for these six- and seven-year-olds

For more information call Novi Community Education at 348-1200.

BUNNY T-SHIRT: You can paint a cute rabbit onto a T-shirt in a one-session class offered by Novi Community Education.

Bring a washed 50/50 blend shirt to paint on. Ask for a supply list at the community education office, 25345 Taft Road.

The fee is $9; lab fee is $4. The class will run from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. Tuesday, April 10 in Novi Middle School, room 411.

For more information call 348-1200.

Local theater group does British farce

The Novi Players will be presenting "See How They Run," a British farce written by Philip King. The play takes part in the 1950s in a small-town vicar's house. There are several gentlemen wearing cleric garb, none of which have ever met each other. These men are the Bishop, the Vicar, an American soldier who is not really on leave, and a Russian spy who recently escaped from prison camp. What ensues is a hilarious case of mistaken identities.

"See How They Run" will be playing at the Novi Civic Center May 5 at 8 p.m. and May 6 at 2 p.m. Tickets are $5 or $4 for senior citizens. For more information, call Stephanie Klima at 348-2181.

CRAFTMAKING — "Make a Spring Craft" will be open to the public on April 7 at the Novi Public Library. Children ages 4 and 5 begin at 11 a.m. and children ages 6 and up start at noon. There is a $1 materials fee for the 35-minute session. No registration is necessary.

POETRY READING — Winners of the Schoolcraft College poetry contest will be reading their winning poems at the college on April 9 at 7 p.m. For more information, call 462-4400.

LIVE THEATER — "Aladdin and the Wonderful Lamp" is playing at Northville's Marquis Theater.

Performances of this show for the entire family are set for 11:30 a.m. and 3 p.m. April 7; and 2 p.m. April 8.

Tickets are $5 and can be bought at the theater, 135 E. Main in Northville, or by phone at 349-8110.

PUPPET SHOW — The Novi Public Library is sponsoring a puppet show on April 19 at 7 p.m. This show is to celebrate National Library Week with a combination of stories, songs and silliness with the San-Jan puppets. No registration is needed for the 40 minute show. All ages are welcome.

CONCERT — The 33rd Annual presentation of "Industry Sings" will be held April 7 at Novi High School's Feurst Auditorium. The concert will be presented by the GM Employee's Chorus, the Detroit Edison Glee Club, the Ford Motor Company Chorus, and the Bessemer Male Chorus. Tickets can be bought at the door. Prices are $4 for adults and $3 for seniors. For more information, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to: Industry Sings, 25240 Joy Road, Redford, MI 48239.

FILM SERIES — Novi Arts and Culture Committee continues its family film series saluting the dog.

The series features films shown on the second Friday of every month through May 11. All films will be shown in the 136-seat council chambers at the Novi Civic Center.

Following is a schedule of films: "Where the Red Fern Grows" on April 6 and "The Incredible Journey" on May 11. All shows begin at 7 p.m.

Individual tickets are $1.50 at the door for adults, 75 cents for children.

ART SERIES — Northville Arts Commission presents a lecture series, "Your Favorite Artists," featuring art historian Michael Farrell. He will share insights on various famous artists, accompanied by slide shows.

A presentation on Andrew Wyeth is planned for April 12.

Farrell is professor of art history at the University of Windsor, adjunct curator at the Detroit Institute of Arts, and instructor at the Art House of Detroit. Individual tickets are $6 each and available at the door on the evening of the lecture.

Tickets are available in downtown Northville at Grandma Betty's, Edwards Caterer, Bookstall on the Main, Traditions and IV Seasons Flowers. For more information call 349-6104.

"In Town" lists upcoming entertainment events in Novi and Northville. To have events listed write to "In Town," Northville Record, 104 W. Main, Northville, MI 48167.

Antique appraisal clinic in Plymouth

The Plymouth Historical Museum is sponsoring an Appraisal Clinic with Ernest Dumouchelle and members of his staff on Tuesday, April 10. Dumouchelle and others will be available to give appraisals on antiques and other items at the museum. There is a limit of four hand-held items at the Museum and the cost of appraisal is $4 per item. Please call the Plymouth Historical Museum at 455-8940 to set up an appointment. No walk-ins will be accepted.

ELEPHANT MAN — "The Elephant Man" will be presented at St. Dunstan's Theater Guild at Cranbrook in Birmingham on April 5, 6, and 7 at 8 p.m. A true account of the life of John Merrick, "Elephant Man" is a sensitive drama depicting unparalleled personal triumph over human tragedy. For more information, call 433-3555.

DON PASQUALE — The students of the University of Michigan's School of Music Opera Theater will present an Italian-language production of Gaetano Donizetti's comic opera Don Pasquale, April 5 through 8, at the Lydia Mendelssohn Theater in Ann Arbor. Tickets are $7 and $10. To charge tickets by phone, call 764-0450 or 763-TKTS. For more information, call 764-0450.

EGG DYEING — The Detroit Historical Museum is focusing on the Easter Bunny this month. They will be holding a traditional egg dyeing and decoration workshop on Saturday, April 14. The first workshop will be from 10:30 a.m. until 3:30 p.m. and will focus on decorating eggs with beeswax and dyes. The workshop is limited to people over 16 years old and the cost is $4. The other egg painting and dye workshop will be held from 1 p.m. until 3:30 p.m. and is open to anyone above the age 6. The cost is $2.

MUSICAL PLAY — "The Pajama Game," presented by the Eastern Michigan University Theater in Ypsilanti, opened on March 31. This musical comedy tells the story of the eternal battle between management and labor and man and woman. Showtimes are Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings at 8 p.m. with Sunday matinees at 2:30 p.m. For tickets and information, call the Eastern Michigan University Arts and Entertainment Hotline at 487-1221.

BALLET — After a five-year absence, Feld Ballets/NY will perform in Ann Arbor on Thursday, April 8 p.m. in the Power Center for the Performing Arts. The company will perform ballets new to the Ann Arbor audience. Tickets range from $14 to $22 and are available from the University Musical Society. For tickets or more information, call 764-2538.

ADULT DRAMA — The students of the University of Michigan's University Players will present Timothy Mason's adult drama "In a Northern Landscape" through April 8. The play will be presented at Ann Arbor's Trueblood Theater. This is the story of a family torn apart by a forbidden love affair.

Performances will be given on April 5, 6, and 7 at 8 p.m., with Sunday matinee performances at 2 p.m. on April 8. Tickets are $7 and may be purchased at the League Ticket Office. Or charge tickets by calling 764-0450 or 763-TKTS.

MYSTERY THRILLER — Bonnie Franklin, best known for her role as Ann Romano in the long-running television series "One Day At A Time," will star in the classic mystery thriller "Wait Until Dark" at the Birmingham Theater. The play will be performed through May 6. Showtimes vary and tickets range from $14-26. For more information, call the Birmingham Theater Box Office at 644-3533.

FRANK SINATRA — Frank Sinatra, a popular music figure for the past four decades, is coming to Detroit's Fox Theater for five shows, Thursday, April 19 through Sunday, April 22. Showtimes are 8 p.m. Thursday and Friday, 5:30 p.m. and 9 p.m. Saturday, and 7 p.m. Sunday. Ticket prices are $15, $35, $50 and $60. To charge tickets by phone, call 645-6666. For more information, call 567-6000.

TENNIS EXTRAVAGANZA — Tennis superstars Chris Evert and Martina Navratilova will compete in the Northwest Airlines Challenge on Friday, April 20 at the Palace of Auburn Hills. Ticket prices are $15 and $20 and are available through the Palace Box Office, TicketMaster outlets, Hudson's, Harmony House and Great Stuff Stores. For more information, call 377-8600.

JAZZ BAND — On Saturday, April 7, the seven-member Jim Cullum Jazz Band will perform one of George Gershwin's finest, "Porgy and Bess." This performance will take place at the Power Center for the Performing Arts, beginning at 8 p.m. Tickets are priced from $10 to $17, available from the University Musical Society, Burton Memorial Tower, Ann Arbor, MI 48109-1270. To order by telephone, call 764-2538.

STAR WARS — The Collectible and Antique Show is featuring Star Wars and Star Trek memorabilia at the Sunday, April 8 show. The show will be held at the Livonia Holiday Inn from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. Admission is $3.

"Nearby" lists upcoming entertainment events close to the Novi / Northville community. To have an item listed in this column, write to: Nearby, Northville Record, 104 W. Main Street, Northville, Mich., 48167. Photos or other artwork welcome.

Bachelor's Degree Programs for Adult Students

This summer the University Studies/Weekend College Program at Wayne State can help you achieve your educational goals. Specifically designed for men and women who find it difficult to attend traditional classes on the main campus, the Weekend College enables busy adults to earn their bachelor's degree in five years or less by:

- attending class once or twice a week at various locations throughout the metropolitan Detroit area.
- watching television courses at home.
- attending weekend conference courses on the Wayne State campus.

WASHINGTON (AP) — New details about the Navy's 1965 loss of the USS Scorpion, a nuclear submarine, were revealed today.

The Navy said the Scorpion was last seen on March 3, 1968, about 80 miles from the closest point of the Okinawa island chain and about 200 miles from the coast of Japan.

The Northville Record

Northville soccer squad loaded with talent

Brighton falls 6-1 in opener

If there were any lingering doubts about just how strong the Northville soccer squad can be, it was all dispelled on March 31 as the Mustangs systematically took apart a solid Brighton team 6-1 in the 1990 season opener.

"It was a good win for us because we've only beat them by a goal or two in the previous four meetings," Northville Coach Bob Paul said. "I was relatively pleased because we are well ahead of where we were at this time last season. If this was a mid-season game, I would have been upset."

Just 15-minutes into the contest, sophomore Laura Whiteley scored to break a scoreless tie. It was her first-ever varsity start. About 10 minutes later, the feat was duplicated when a shot by freshman Valerie Schuerman found the back of the net.

It soon became a blow-out when last season's leading scorer Ashley MacLean scored three straight times in a 20-minute span that sandwiched the halftime break. Goal number one came just before the intermission, number two came 10 minutes into the second half and the third came five minutes after that.

"Ashley's got a high work rate and that, combined with her speed, gives her more scoring chances," Paul said.

Brighton avoided the shutout soon after that on a penalty kick, but transfer student Nikki Higdon made her Northville debut a memorable one by notching the game's final tally in the waning minutes.

The Mustangs also won the statistical battle by outshooting the Bulldogs 17-5. Kristi Turner started in goal for Northville but left the game with 10 minutes remaining in the second half with an injured leg. It wasn't serious and she is expected back at full strength when the Mustangs host state-ranked Grand Blanc on April 6.

Junior Karen Cavanaugh (5) was a second team All-State selection as a sophomore for Northville

Mustangs open season ranked second in state

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

Sometimes it's very difficult to keep high expectations in check.

That may be the biggest challenge of the season for the Northville girls soccer program because coach Bob Paul's team is loaded with talent and depth. The Mustangs are coming off a marvelous campaign a year ago, which saw them advance to the MHSAA Class A title game before falling 1-0 to Troy Athens. Northville had a fine 13-4-4 overall record, outscored their opponents 58-19, and return most of the players that made it all happen. Add a pair of talented transfer players to the list and you have powerhouse potential.

And it's no secret. The Mustangs started the season as the number-two-ranked outfit in the state.

"Expectations are high, but I don't think this necessarily puts extra pressure on the kids," Paul said. "The only disadvantage is that everybody wants to knock you off."

Historically, Northville has been a defensive team. The victories (and there have been many) are normally 1-0 or 2-1, but the start of the new decade may also signal the start of a new, more offensive-minded attack. In a bold move, Paul has moved junior Karen Cavanaugh up to the front line, from her former position at midfield, to join leading scorer Ashley MacLean and transfer Nikki Higdon. This threesome provide the Mustangs with one of the most potent goal-scoring corps in the state.

Cavanaugh was an All-Conference and second-team All-State pick a year ago. She is quick, athletic and dangerous.

"Karen definitely controls the area she's in," Paul said. "Her strength is she can shut down key players on the other team. She has great speed and she's a disciplined marker."

MacLean (Jr.) scored 12 goals and added four assists last season, and with her new front line mates, there should be even more scoring opportunities. Higdon is a junior forward who transferred into the district from Muskegon with lofty credentials.

"Nikki is one of the top players in the state and she should take a lot of pressure off MacLean," Paul explained.

Higdon is replacing Jenny Howland (Sr.), who is trying to recover from a knee injury, in the starting line-up. Other forwards who will contribute to the team are returnees Wendy Carroll (So.) and Cindy Tolstedt (So.). Newcomer Beth Ursel (Jr.) is also in the picture, as well as Valerie Schuerman — the only freshman to make the squad. Schuerman is the sister of former Northville great Jennifer Schuerman, and she will see a lot of action.

The midfield will be anchored by super-junior Marcie Dart, who is recognized as one of the top young playmakers around. She is a returning All-Conference and honorable mention All-State selection.

"She is our playmaker," Paul said. "She distributes the ball well and can shut down opposing players in the center of the field. Because of her position in the center, she can cheat to one side or the other and have a direct effect on the game no matter where the ball is."

Joining Dart is solid junior Amy Goode — another returning starter from last season — and sophomore Laura Whiteley, who has been very impressive in her first full season on the varsity.

"Amy's ball skills have dramatically improved," Paul said. "She can really set the tempo of a game. Very few players can get past her."

"As for Laura, we knew she had the skill, but now she has the confidence to go with it."

Senior Merilyn Millgard will be able to provide a breather for any of the midfielders, and according to Paul, "She does an outstanding job."

With the graduation of All-Stater Heather Sixt, the defense was an area of concern heading into the season. But the play of returnees like Neysa Colizzi (Sr.) and Michelle McQuaid (Jr.) has put much of that concern to rest. With Colizzi as the stopper and McQuaid the sweeper, the defensive wall has a lot of speed and aggressiveness.

"Those two had the opportunity to play together in the off-season," Paul said. "It's a critical part of the defense and they really work well together."

Baseballers shooting for first winning campaign since '86

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

With solid pitching and a sound defense, the Northville baseball squad may be heading toward its first winning season since 1986.

According to Coach Bob Frelick, the 1990 Mustangs will be strong up the middle, with shortstop Joe Kaley and centerfielder Mike Jambor in the lineup. Also returning is leading hitter Steve Vigh, who was Northville's only All-Division and All-Area selection last spring. They form a solid nucleus for a team that should surpass last year's disappointing 10-17 record.

"Our strength is up the middle, and we certainly have the pitching, so I think this will be a good season for us," Frelick said. "We do need to work on our hitting and that may be the key to the season."

Frelick isn't hesitant to predict that Kaley will be one of the top infielders in the Western Lakes Activities Association. The senior captain is described as "quick with good mobility." Kaley was the starting third baseman in '89, but will take over the shortstop position now that Jim Willerer has graduated.

"Joe makes good contact at the plate and doesn't strike out much," Frelick said.

Joining him in the infield is Vigh, who had an outstanding junior campaign at first base. Sophomore Ryan Huzjak — a fine athlete who started in both football and basketball for the Mustangs this past season — is up from the junior varsity ranks and is penciled in as the regular at second.

"I expect (Vigh) will have another great year because he is so solid," Frelick said. "Huzjak will be a good one. He is already impressive defensively but how well he can adapt to varsity pitching is the question."

Senior Pat Kozdron is another infield prospect who is a solid defender but has yet to prove himself at the plate. As Kaley's top backup last season, he will probably move right into the lineup at third. The catcher's position will go to freshman Josh Wiegand, who has been very impressive in early workouts and has unlimited potential.

"He's a capable athlete with great potential," a normally low-keyed Frelick raved.

Jambor is the cornerstone of the outfield corps now that Steve Bastian is out with a reoccurring knee injury. The senior is a returning starter who has excellent defense skills and is a fine contact hitter. He will probably be flanked by two of the following three outfield candidates: John McNeil (Sr.), Dan Kozdron (Jr.) and Brant Barzantry (Jr.). McNeil is a returning letterwinner who has shown improvement offensively. Kozdron has made a successful jump up from the J.V. and Barzantry is a transfer student from Illinois.

"Jambor is an excellent outfielder who gets to the ball well and throws well," Frelick said.

The heart of the pitching rotation will be 6-foot-6 junior Mike Lang. He received some varsity experience late last season and has the ability to be overpowering at times. His stable mates include experienced seniors Tim Hubbert, John Scavazza and John Schrieber. Hubbert was a starter a year ago but was hampered by a back injury. Scavazza has a fluid pitching motion and Schrieber was a reliever who has developed into a starter.

"We could have one of the best pitching staffs we've had in a number of years," Frelick predicted.

Other potential pitchers up from the junior varsity are George Smover (Jr.) and Brad Balser (Jr.), who will join Jambor as the Mustangs' top relievers. Also expected to see some playing time are juniors Kevin Smoot and Tim Kimbrough. Smoot is a utility infielder and Kimbrough is a transfer student from Ohio with a lively bat.

NORTHVILLE 4-3, REDFORD UNION 3-11: The Mustangs got a jump on most area teams with a non-conference double-header against the visiting Panthers on March 31.

In the opener, Northville's Mike Lang started the game and went four strong innings. He gave way to Tim Hubbert who lasted another five, and finally reliever Mike Jambor was awarded the win when Dan Kozdron came through with a bases-loaded hit to break a 3-3 tie in the 10th inning.

Steve Vigh paced the locals with two runs batted in.

In the nightcap, starting pitcher John Scavazza suffered wildness in the fourth inning, which helped Union break a 3-3 tie and cruise to a five-inning 11-3 victory. Scavazza only allowed three hits in three and a third innings, but the Panthers scored seven times in the fourth thanks to four consecutive walks. He suffered the loss.

The Mustangs struggled offensively, as well. Lang's two-run double in the first inning ended up being the squad's only hit of game two.

"I felt we played pretty good against a solid team," Frelick said. "We played well defensively (three errors total for the two games) but the hitting isn't where it should be. We had some wild pitching in the second game and it really cost us."

Sophomore Jamie Miller (right) may be the Mustang's top sprinter and long jumper this season

Faletti hopes large turnout bolsters boys track program

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

With one of the largest turnouts in recent memory, the Northville boys track program — and coach Dennis Faletti in particular — are serious about notching the program's first winning campaign in 14 years.

Under Faletti, the Mustangs almost made it in '89. The team ended up with a 5-5 dual-meet mark, which was the program's first non-losing season since 1976. Now, sights are set even higher and with 60 kids on the squad — including 38 newcomers — this may be the year.

"Last season we had under 40 kids on the team, so it is quite a jump," Faletti said. "I think it's a good sign for the program."

The team's top sprinters will be senior Neil White and sophomore Jamie Miller. White is versatile and can compete in the 100, 200 and 400-meter dashes as well as the sprint relays. As for Miller, Faletti says, "He could be our top sprinter."

"We lost Mark Kiraly to graduation, so we need somebody to step in," he continued. "I'm confident somebody will do that; I'm just not sure who."

The premier middle distance runner will probably be senior captain Jon Meek, who will see plenty of action in the 800, the mile and the two mile relay. The distance corps includes super-sophomore Steve Coon, who is a star during the cross country season, and sophomore Karl Goerke, who is a transfer student from Dearborn. Coon was the team's top two-miler as a freshman and Goerke will be used primarily in the mile and the distance relays.

"We will have to concentrate scoring a lot of points in the running events because we graduated so many good performers in the field events," Faletti explained. "Last year we dominated in the field event — this year we may struggle."

With standouts like Bob Dudley, Chris Kuffner and Eric Billmor out of the picture, junior Kevin Gill will be counted on in the discus and, to a lesser extent, in the shot put. A host of newcomers round out the other top prospects.

In the pole vault, Sean Starkweather is gone, which leaves Aaron Wiseley (Sr.) and John Okasinski (Sr.) as the top returnees.

Wiseley was the team's number two performer in '89 and has cleared 10'-6". Okasinski's best is 10'-0".

The top long jumper is undoubtedly Miller, now that WLAA champ Rob Walsh has graduated. Miller cleared 19'-10" as a freshman and has improved his consistency with another year of experience and maturity. The high jump spot, on the other hand, is a serious concern because nobody is back with any varsity experience.

Sophomore Bret Butz returns as the leader in both hurdle events. He was the number-three man at the start of the last season but was the top performer by season's end.

"Obviously, the field events as a whole concern me, so we're working hard in that area right now," Faletti said. "I think to be successful, we need to win three of the four relays at every meet. We're down right now in the field events but we will improve. The key is how fast."

"I think we can improve on what we did last year, but it won't be easy. To get that winning record, we'll have to pull out some of the close meets — which is something we didn't do a year ago."

Former girls track coach Turnbull makes return engagement

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

There hasn't been much winning going on since Ann Turnbull left her post as the head coach for the Northville girls track squad after the 1985 season.

Under former coach Mike Webb's four-year tenure, the Mustangs suffered an unusual number of injuries and illnesses, and only won six dual meets in 31 tries. After the hiatus, Turnbull is back, trying to bring the program back to respectability, and she has a veteran team at her disposal.

"So far I've been very happy with the girls' attitude," Turnbull said. "They are working hard and really want to be successful. This year we will be putting girls in different events than they're used to in order to try to spread the talent out a bit and show more team depth."

Turnbull hasn't been the head coach in a half-decade, but she is familiar with the team after serving as an assistant coach the past two seasons. All but two graduated seniors are back from last season's 2-9 squad.

In the distance events, senior Lisa Brown has the most experience. She will be a force in the mile and two mile as long as she can steer clear of nagging injuries that have hampered her career. Other top candidates include Stacey Nield (Fr.) and Susan Weix (So.).

A strong area should be the middle distance races because sophomore Mari Kissenger and junior Megan Holmberg are back. Both placed among the top-10 in the 800-meter run at the WLAA Meet and look to be improved this season. The leaders in a deep group of sprinters includes Rachel Davis (Sr.), Maria Wen (Sr.), Trish Lukowski (So.), Kamal Bagga (Jr.), Kendra Huard (Jr.) and Ris Fleming (So.). Lukowski is probably the team's top sprinter, if healthy, and will see extensive action in the 100, 200 and sprint relays. Huard placed at the WLAA Meet in the 400 and Bagga is making a switch from running distance events to running in the 200, 400 and the sprint relays.

"I'd say our strongest area is the sprints, starting with the 200 and going up through the 800," Turnbull said.

The high jump corps is in good shape with sophomores Lisa Aimone, Julie Buser, Fleming and freshman Valerie Bassin. Aimone placed at the WLAA Meet last spring and is the best of the bunch. A capable group of long jumpers include Davis, Bagga and sophomore Angie Tune, and the top hurdlers are Davis, Fleming, Tune, Cheryl Mittman (Jr.) and Paytra Williams (Sr.).

In the shot put, returnees Megan Holmberg (Sr.) and Barb Woodruff (Sr.) are the top candidates, while Kissenger and Shannon Price (Jr.) head the discus throwers.

"I think we'll do well in the high jump and the long jump," Turnbull said. "Right now we are really pushing hard to try and get some points out of the shot put and discus. It's an area that's been a problem."

Rachel Davis is one of Northville's top senior performers

Mustang tennis squad returns few standouts

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

Northville tennis coach Dick Norton is not a sympathetic ear for any other coaches complaining about graduation losses — at least not this spring. That's because Norton would be justified in doing a little complaining of his own.

The Mustangs will have to get by without seven of the top-10 performers from last season's 10-3 squad. Even though there were record numbers trying out for the team, and even though there are some highly talented youngsters moving their way up the program, Norton is concerned with things like experience and depth.

"We don't have much coming back," he said. "We were predominantly a senior team last year, so we're awfully young this year. We only have one senior in the lineup."

That 12th grader is Jason Baker, who was a part-time singles player in '89 and registered a respectable 7-3 record. Although Baker may be the obvious choice for the No. 1 singles slot, it looks like freshman-phenom Mark Schwagle will get the nod. Schwagle has a very distinguished background in tennis, including a number-one age group ranking in a five-state area several years ago.

"Obviously, Mark is a great prospect," Norton said. "So far, nobody on the team can stay with him on the court. He has excellent ground strokes and a lot of natural ability but I don't want to put too much pressure on him because he is just a freshman and he has a long ways to go."

"As long as he stays healthy, he'll be our No. 1 and Baker will be No. 2."

Returning regular Brad Telepo (Jr.) is back for another year of singles competition. Last season, Telepo had a 9-7 record at No. 4 singles and Norton is moving him up one notch to No. 3.

"More than likely, Brad will have a pretty good season," Norton said.

The fourth and final singles position will probably go to sophomore Brit Davis, who received some valuable varsity experience as a freshman. He had a 12-6 record as a No. 3 doubles player and Norton believes he can successfully make the jump to singles.

"(Brit) will do well because he's a smart player and he hits the ball

"We don't have much coming back. We were predominantly a senior team last year, so we're awfully young this year."

— Dick Norton

well," he said. "Overall, I'm not saying our singles lineup is real strong, but it will be stronger than our doubles."

The top doubles team will probably feature juniors Kyle Legel and Andy Haas. They both have varsity experience, with Legel leading the way (6-1 record at No. 3 and 4 doubles last year). Sophomore Erik Black is also another returning letterwinner who has doubles experience (6-2 varsity record in '89), but his partner at No. 2 is still up for grabs. Juniors Brent Garner and Jeff Lower are up from the junior varsity ranks and are battling it out for that spot with newcomer Nick Watanabe (So.). Garner and Lower have just three matches of varsity experience between them.

The rest of the doubles candidates include Chris McCreedy (Jr.), Shar-duhl Shah (Jr.), Jeff Halverson (Fr.), Randy Stinson (Jr.), Jeff Todd (Jr.) and Mike Connery (Jr.).

"I've tried many different combinations but we are still very much up in the air for No. 2 and 3 doubles," Norton said. "We have a lot of young talent and as of right now we have 42 boys out for the J.V. and varsity combined. That's the most we've ever had, but of that group, only two are seniors."

The Mustangs placed fourth in the 12-team Western Lakes league last season, but will be hard pressed to match that this year.

"I think Plymouth Canton is the team to beat and Livonia Stevenson will be tough," Norton pointed out. "As for us, we lost seven of our top 10 players, so I really don't know what to expect. Whether our doubles come through will be the key."

Junior Brad Telepo is back after recording a 9-7 record a year ago at No. 4 singles

The Best Tires In The World Have Goodyear Written All Over Them

AKRON, Ohio — Quality is a word that is too often overused, but at The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company however, it means more than a word; quality is a rallying cry, a necessity, a requirement that every tire produced by this world giant is designed to meet.

Quality is the cornerstone of Goodyear — the largest tire company in the world that is American-owned. Quality at Goodyear begins with the Goodyear Technical Center in Akron, Ohio, home of Goodyear's Comprehensive World Headquarters. The "Tech" Center is the tire industry's largest research and development operation in the world. It is also where the all-season tire was introduced to the world, and where the first radial tire was developed for American use. Goodyear Technical Center engineers are proud of their development of the Goodyear Eagle line of high performance tires. These tires have created a string of victories in national and international racing, untouched in recent years by any other competitor in the world. The knowledge gained from these wins has been translated into the development of a complete family of Goodyear Eagle passenger tires, part of the full line of Goodyear passenger and light truck tires, the largest in the world.

Goodyear Quality. You'll find it in the tires produced by Goodyear, and in everything that works for Goodyear, including your neighbors at your nearby Goodyear Auto Service Center or independent Goodyear dealer.

Talented youngsters help Gerlach 'reload'

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

Northville softball mentor Bob Gerlach doesn't like the term "rebuilding" — he prefers "reloading," and that's exactly what's in store for the Mustangs in 1990.

After a truly outstanding campaign a year ago, the program suffered some very stiff graduation losses. Whether you call it rebuilding or reloading, one thing is clear: Gerlach will put a squad on the field this season with a lot of new faces, along with a lot of youth and inexperience.

"We do have five seniors on the squad, but for the most part we are very young," he said.

Behind the pitching of Amy Freimund and the hitting of Karen Baird, the Mustangs clinched the program's first Western Lakes Activities Association (WLAA) championship last spring. The team went 19-5 for the year, outscored opponents 119-13, and Freimund led the way with a 14-2 record and an incredible .061 earned run average. Both Freimund and Baird are now gone, along with a host of other solid players, making this season quite a challenge for Gerlach.

"We are the defending WLAA champs and we've won two straight division titles, so everybody will be after us," he said. "We'll be very hard-pressed to get by Plymouth Canton this year — they are loaded."

"But if our pitching holds up and we are able to throw strikes, we'll be OK."

The bulk of the pitching chores may fall on senior co-captain Rozann Staknis' shoulders. She was Freimund's top backup as well as an All-Division performer at third base a year ago, but will be on the mound most of the time this year. Her top backup will probably be junior Karen Trepicone, who was the starting junior varsity hurler last season.

"Pitching is the biggest concern right now," Gerlach admitted. "I'm confident with Rozann in there, but she's replacing a great talent like Freimund, who spoiled us for three seasons. I hate to move her from her third base spot but she deserves a shot as our top pitcher."

Much of the team's offensive punch will come from sisters Melanie (Jr.) and Laura Apligian (So.). Both were outstanding in their first varsity season in 1989 and Gerlach is looking for even more. Melanie will anchor the outfield from her centerfield position, while Laura is one of the conference's outstanding young catchers.

"Melanie has the speed and the arm to take charge out there," Gerlach said. "Laura has matured another year and has really improved. She's got the potential to be a great one by the time she's a senior."

"Both these girls hit for power and they'll bat 3-4 in our lineup. They are really the backbone of our team."

The remaining two outfield positions will probably go to a pair of talented sophomores — Kara McNeil and Karen Pump. McNeil was brought up to the varsity from the J.V. midway through last season, so she does have some experience.

Pump is a good athlete who starred

BASKETBALL: Wildcats get win

BOYS 4th-5th GRADE BASKETBALL: Scott Vigh scored 14 points to lead the Gophers to their fifth-straight victory, 31-22, over the Wolverines. The Wildcats grabbed their first victory of the season in the last outing of the year, 23-22, over the Hoosiers. James Giammarco made a buzzer-beating shot from half-court at the end of the third quarter, and it proved to be the difference. Jared Cromas sank an clutch free throw down the stretch to seal the win.

BOYS 6th-7th GRADE BASKETBALL: In a makeup game, the Bulls edged the Lakers 36-35. The Bulls were in command by 11 points at halftime but the Lakers came back to take a 35-

34 lead with a minute left. With only seven seconds on the clock, Scott Macek of the Bulls drove to the basket and was fouled. He sank both free throws to provide the final margin of victory. Macek ended up with a game-high 12 points and John Argenta added 10. The rebounding and defensive stars included Mattis Kukakis, Dwayne Nawrocki, Ryan Nawrocki, Stephen Golumbeck and Bobby Plain. In the last game of the season, the Bulls dumped the Cavaliers 32-21. John Argenta scored 10 points, Scott Macek added eight and Scott Engelman chipped in six for the winners. The defensive/rebounding standouts were Mattis Kukakis, Ryan Debra, Stephen Golumbeck and Dwayne Nawrocki.

RECREATION BRIEFS

VOLLEYBALL CHAMPS: The St. Paul Lutheran girls volleyball team from Northville completed the 1990 season with a 10-0 record and once again captured the Westland Athletic Christian Conference title.

At the Lutheran High Westland Tournament, St. Paul was 11-2 including wins over St. Michael's of Wayne in the semifinals and Emmanuel of Dearborn in the finals.

Members of the 5th-8th grade team are Lindsey Allor, Callie Fox, Sandy Clark, Lisa Nelson, Jane Eskra, Jamie Green, Shannon Powell, Tara Schuler, Erin Cicero and Robyn List. The team is coached by Rob Kuelbs.

SOFTBALL LEAGUES AVAILABLE: Northville Community Recreation still has openings for teams wanting to play women's softball and coed softball. The women play on Tuesday or Thursday evenings; coed teams play on Sunday afternoon/evenings.

Team registration fee is $225 plus umpire fees. For more information, contact Traci Gottschalk at 349-0203.

SPRING VOLLEYBALL:Registration for a spring coed volleyball league will continue through April 6 at the Northville Community Center. The season will be eight-weeks long starting on April 25 and games will be played on Wednesday evenings. Entry fees will be $100 per team.

U.S. DIVING CLUB: The U.S. Diving Club of Novi has been formed for those interested in competitive diving. Students must be eight years old or more and able to swim the pool width.

To join, call Northville Swim Coach Mark Heiden at 478-0775.

PLEASURE BOATING: Learn basic watercraft, equipment, rules of the "road," knots, first aid, and a skipper's duties at the DNR Youth Pleasure Boating class. A Boating Safety Certificate will be given upon class completion.

Instruction will be given by the U.S. Coast Guard Auxillary, and the three week class is for teenagers between 12-16 years of age. Fee is $4 and classes start on May 8. For more information, call Novi Community Education at 348-1200.

SOCCER CAMP: A soccer camp will be held this spring for boys and girls in grades 1-8. Rules, game strategies, scrimmages and videos will be included.

The instructional staff is provided by Total Soccer and the Detroit Rockers and features Brian Tinnion and Gus Moffat, each former players for the Detroit Express.

Cost for the three-day camp is $60 and the start date is April 17. For more information, call 348-1200.

KAYAKING COURSE: Schoolcraft College's Continuing Education Services division is offering a beginning kayaking course that will meet on April 20 from 7-9 p.m. and April 21 from 10 a.m.-3 p.m.

This course provides students with the skills necessary to go into open water safely. Schoolcraft College is located at 18600 Haggerty Road, between Six and Seven Mile roads in Livonia.

Record/CHRIS BOYD

Northville soccer coach Bob Paul can't help but be excited about the prospects for the '90 season for the reserves last season.

Softball program reloading, not rebuilding

Others vying for a spot in the outfield include senior co-captain Caroline Braasch — a returning letterwinner — and twins Dawn and Donna Donnelly.

As for the infield, there are even more unanswered questions. The only player to have nailed down a starting position is senior Diane Beckert at first base.

"Diane's worked hard in the off-season and she has a great attitude," Gerlach said. "She was on the team last year, so she does have some varsity experience."

The remaining three spots are wide open. The only returnee in the picture is senior Laurie Fortenberry, who was Staknis' top back-up in '89 at third. She is being pressed by junior Kim Cooley, who is up from the junior varsity ranks. Senior transfer student Trish Tumminia is a candidate at shortstop, along with junior Kyle Pepino, and junior Mandy Berlinski is a possibility at second.

"We're not ready yet to hand out jobs in the infield," Gerlach said. "We're going to take our time and get a good look at everybody."

Defense and pitching is the hallmark of teams coached by Gerlach, but this season that emphasis may change. With inexperience comes inconsistencies in the field, so the Mustangs will need to be more offensive minded in order to be competitive.

"We probably have the fastest team I've ever had, so we will do a lot more stealing and bunting in order to generate more runs," Gerlach said.

"You have to play defense if you want to play for me, but we have some deficiencies in that area. That's why we'll have to be better at the plate. Whether we can do that or not remains to be seen."

The remaining two starting defensive spots will be filled by two of the following three: Jenny Beyersdorf, Pam Yezback and Rachel Held. Beyersdorf (Sr.) was a part-time starter a year ago, Yezback (Sr.) is a physical player with lots of experience, and Held is the second transfer student (from Indiana) with loads of talent. Other defenders include seniors Karen Kepner and Colleen Regan.

If that wasn't enough, perhaps the biggest strength of the squad is at goaltender. Senior Kristi Turner is entering her third year as the starter and Paul believes she is the state's best. Her top back-up is senior Kelly Kronberg, who would probably start for just about any other team around.

"I don't see any goalie who can do the things Kristi can," Paul said. "I see her as the best in the state. If she plays hard and puts her full concentration into every game, she'll be unbeatable."

"Not many teams in the state can boast the depth in goal we have."

Although getting another crack at the state title is in the back of everybody's mind, the number one goal is a Western Lakes Activities Association championship. According to Paul, the main competitors should be Plymouth Salem and Farmington.

"Many people are ranking us as the third-best team in the WLAA as far as pure talent goes," he said. "I think they are underrating us."

"But we can't afford to look ahead this season. If we can develop the system we play and stay focused, I'm confident we'll put on a good show."

How to get into the swing of things

Preparing to drive that first ball of 1990 down the fairway, golfers should shape up through exercise and observe some simple tips to ensure a healthy season, AAA Michigan reports.

Almost 20,000 players nationwide suffered golf-related injuries in 1988. Auto Club Life Insurance Company General Manager Michael Daubemier estimates that 1,100 Michigan golfers were among them.

"Golf may not seem so vigorous as other sports, but can be hazardous if players are not in shape or unaware of safety rules," he said.

Players should engage in regular year-round physical exercise such as walking, stretching and swimming to get ready for Michigan's golf season — traditionally from April to November.

Jim Grant, golf professional at Northville's Salem Hills Golf Course offers this advice: "I think a good way to prepare for the coming season is to do stretching exercises: grab a club and start swinging. Serious golfers have a place in their garage or their basement where they can do this. It will help your legs, hips and shoulders to get exposure to that kind of movement before you actually start hitting a ball. It loosens up those areas and it can help you develop the proper swing."

Golfers are advised to do 10 minutes of stretching exercises before each round to keep muscles limber and prevent stress to the back, neck and shoulders

To protect themselves and others once on the course, golfers should remember:

- Never walk ahead of a player lining up a shot. Stand far enough behind to avoid being struck by the club as the player swings
- Wait until the group ahead leaves the putting green before hitting a ball in that direction.
- Always shout "fore" as a warning if your ball goes toward other people.
- Never throw a golf club.
- Drive golf carts at safe speeds, especially on steep hills.
- Never golf in a storm. If stranded, stand in a low-lying area. Never take shelter under a tree or hold onto golf clubs.
- Drink plenty of water in warm weather. Dress in pastel colors to deflect heat. Wear a hat and apply a strong sunscreen.
- Players with serious medical conditions should have a physical examination and doctor's clearance.

Golfers should note they can be legally liable if their negligent behavior on the golf course results in injury to another person.

Earth Day activities include 10K run

A 10K run and a two-mile walk will be among the activities taking place at Maybury State Park on Earth Day, April 22.

The run begins at 10 a.m. and the walk at 10:15 a.m. All participants will receive a finisher's ribbon, a canvas tote bag, continental breakfast and will be eligible for a drawing for other prizes. Awards will be presented to first-, second- and third-place winners in the men's and women's categories in their 10K run.

Entry fees for the run are $7 for the 10K and $5 for the two mile walk until April 13. After that, late fees are $10 and $6. Call 349-0203 for an application.

FITNESS FOR THE '90s: The Novi Parks and Recreation Department is offering an eight-week "Fitness for the '90s" class. Aerobic conditioning is combined with progressive resistance exercises using weight machines to reduce body fat and achieve good muscle tone.

Information pertaining to nutrition, diet and stress reduction is provided to complete the total fitness program. Students must be at least age 17 to participate.

The program starts on April 23 at the Novi High School Wrestling Room. The Monday/Wednesday sessions cost $25; the Tuesday/Thursday sessions cost $27. For more information, call 347-0400.

OPEN SWIM: The Novi High School Pool will be open for swimming from now until June 14. Open swimming on Tuesdays and Thursdays will be from 7-8:30 p.m. and lap swimming follows until 9:30 p.m.

Fee is $5 and senior citizens are free. Children age 10 and under must be with an adult. The pool will be closed on April 17-19.

HALF MARATHON: The annual West Bloomfield Half Marathon has been scheduled for April 22, at 12:30 p.m. This will be the 14th running of this TAC (The Athletics Congress)-certified race which is sponsored by West Bloomfield Parks and Recreation.

The race begins in the front of West Bloomfield High School, Orchard Lake Road at Green Road, and winds through the scenic residential streets of West Bloomfield Township.

Annually the race attracts runners from many midwest states and Ontario, Canada. A new course record was set in 1989 by Doug Kurtis, 37, of Northville, with a time of 1:07:32. Cheri Sly, 24, of Dexter, Michigan set the women's course record at 1:15:57.4 also in 1989.

The 1990 race looks to continued excitement in long distance racing and high quality in race organization. Categories this year will include walkers and wheelers in addition to the many runner divisions.

For an entry form, send a self addressed, stamped envelope to West Bloomfield Parks and Recreation, 3325 Middlebelt Road, West Bloomfield, Michigan 48033. Entrants in the 1989 race will automatically receive an entry form

Fitness Notes

Registrations are taken up until one-half hour before race time.

Entry fee for the event is $11 through April 13. This early registration guarantees the runner a T-shirt. After April 13 and through race day the fee is $14. There are no guarantees on a T-shirt with a late registration.

For further information, contact the parks and recreation office, 313-334-5660. The West Bloomfield Half Marathon is directed by Sally Slater Pierce.

WALK MICHIGAN PROGRAM: The Novi/Northville area is participating in the 1990 Walk Michigan Program, and Twelve Oaks Mall is the site for the next two events. On April 19 and May 15, walkers will be meeting at the Lord and Taylor mall entrance at 8 a.m. There will also be three other events this summer.

Each time a person participates in one of the scheduled walks, their name will be entered into a grand prize drawing: a trip for two to Macinac Island to participate in the annual bridge walk on Labor Day.

For more information, call 347-0400.

EXERCISE PROGRAM: A one-hour exercise program is held Monday and Wednesday mornings at Twelve Oaks Mall. It takes place 9-10 a.m. in the Lord & Taylor corridor near the east entrance.

The program, conducted by The University of Michigan Division of Physical Education, is particularly aimed at older people and others who would benefit from an invigorating but non-strenuous exercise program.

"The format consists of carefully guided warm-up and stretching exercise followed by light aerobics and a cool-down period, all synchronized to music," according to Prof. Phyllis E. Weikart, director of U-M's Adult Lifestyle Program. "Our objective is to improve the participants' strength, flexibility and energy level through activities which are safe and enjoyable."

Weikart and her staff have been leading the popular Fitness Over 50 classes for 12 years on the U-M campus and for the past two years at Ann Arbor's Briarwood Mall, where it regularly attracts some 125 participants.

By expanding the program to Twelve Oaks Mall, they have made it more accessible to residents throughout Livingston, Wayne and Oakland Counties.

"Twelve Oaks is open an hour before the stores open (at 10 a.m. daily and noon Sunday) to accommodate people who want to use the mall for walking," notes Twelve Oaks marketing director Elaine Kah. "This exercise program adds a new dimension to this activity. We are pleased to be a part of the program."

Fitness Over 50 welcomes all interested persons, regardless of their age and current activity level. Call the Twelve Oaks Management Office, 348-9438, for further information.

Twelve Oaks is a major regional shopping center located in Novi on I-96 and Novi Road. The center hours are Monday through Saturday, 10 a.m. to 9 p.m.; and Sunday, noon to 6 p.m.

ASK-A-NURSE REFERRAL: "Ask-a nurse," the new 24-hour health information and physician referral line sponsored by five Mercy hospitals in southeast Michigan, is offering a new speakers bureau to community groups. Program director Linda Hintze, R.N. and registered nurses who man the telephone lines seven days a week, 365 days a year will be available to speak to groups of 15 or more about the calls they receive and how they help callers locate physicians and health or community information.

Requests should be made at least three weeks before the intended speaking engagement. There is no charge for the service and participants will give valuable information about how this service can help them day or night. For more information or to make a reservation, please call the ASK-A-NURSE office at Catherine McAuley health Center toll-free at 1-800-526-MERCY (1-800-526-3729) or in the Ann Arbor area, (313) 572-5500.

"Ask-a-nurse" is a free community health information and physician referral service of five Sisters of Mercy Hospitals — Catherine McAuley Health Center-Ann Arbor, Mercy Hospital-Port Huron, Mercy Hospitals and Health Services in Detroit which includes Mount Carmel Mercy Hospital and Samaritan Health Center, and St. Joseph Mercy Hospital-Pontiac. The Sisters of Mercy Health Corporation is the largest healthcare provider in Michigan.

AEROBICS PROGRAM: Northville Parks and Recreation is offering an aerobics fitness program. The one hour program is held from 9:15-10:15 a.m., on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays; 7-8 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays; or 8:30-9:30 a.m. on Saturdays.

The fee for two classes per week is $33 — $45 for three classes per week. For more information, call 348-1280.

MERCY CENTER CLASSES: The Mercy Center, located on Eleven Mile between Middlebelt and Inkster Roads in Farmington Hills, is offering a wide variety of swimming and fitness classes in 1990.

Mercy is offering open swimming daily from 6:30-8 a.m. and on Saturday's from 7:30-9 a.m. in addition to several fitness classes: like the Trim-Gym-Fitness Class, the Pool and Gym Class and the Coed Trim and Swim Fitness Class.

Weight loss possible by sensible eating, exercise

By LINDA WARREN

Being overweight is a common American health problem. Millions of Americans are dieting and exercising in an attempt to achieve their "ideal" weight. But for those who are able to lose the unwanted pounds, many will not be successful in keeping those pounds off.

There are no diets, drinks, or pills that give a 100-percent cure, although product advertisers would like us to think so. A basic principle in losing weight is to remember that the body needs a certain amount of calories, or energy, to maintain its current weight. If the current weight is higher than the "ideal" weight, the body needs a less calories, an increase in energy expenditure or a combination of both.

There are many books about dieting in bookstores. Many claim a new secret or a new discovery about successful weight loss. Some contain diets that are variation of a balanced, but limited calorie, diet. If all four food groups are contained in the diet, it may be safe for long-term use. If food groups are eliminated or if a food group is strongly emphasized, the diet may not be safe and could be dangerous to the body's health.

Sensible eating habits using a variety of foods in smaller than normal amounts, combined with more exercise is considered to be an effective and safe way to lose weight successfully. The exercise can be walking, aerobic workouts, swimming, or any physical activity that is repetitive or rhythmic, and uses the large body muscles. Begin with easy exercises and progress to more demanding exercise. For many people, exercise has the advantage of decreasing the appetite as well as providing a pleasant emotional feeling of health and wellness.

Losing weight is possible by sensible eating and good exercise habits. Lasting weight loss is not an endeavor for a week or for a month. It takes a lifetime.

The Northville Record is working with medical authorities at the University of Michigan Medical Center (M-Care) in Northville to provide up-to-date information on a variety of health-related topics. The series is coordinated by Peg Campbell of the M-Care staff.

ADULT BEGINNER III — Further development of the forehand, backhand, serve, and volleys will be emphasized. Usage of the ball machine.

ADULT INTERMEDIATE FOREHAND, BACKHAND AND SERVE (FBS) — Work on control and placement of shots plus movement and positioning. Drilling and introduction of singles and doubles strategy is featured at this level.

ADULT INTERMEDIATE VOLLEY, LOB AND OVERHEAD (VLOH) — Refinement of the volley, lob and overhead will be concentrated on. Also, net rush, overhead smash and lob placement. Many game situation drills are used to develop these skills.

ADULT PRO SPECIAL — These classes are arranged according to level as determined by the Pro.

LEARNING LEAGUE — Pros will provide on-the-court instruction for players who are interested in playing leagues, but have had no actual league playing experience. Instruction will include court positioning, tie breakers and etiquette while you play a competitive doubles match.

Classes cancelled by the YMCA will be fully refunded. Allow three weeks for your check to arrive. There will be no refund or credit issues for any class dropped unless for medical reasons. A doctor's note must be presented within 48 hours of missed class. A credit slip for the pro-rated amount or a refund class minus $5 service charge will be issued.

THERE WILL BE NO MAKE-UPS FOR MISSED CLASSES

Strings for Everyone

SUMMER TENNIS

OUTDOOR COURTS

YMCA members and Outdoor Playing Card members can reserve the outdoor courts in 1½ hour time blocks beginning April 30. The outdoor court hours are as follows:

6:00 a.m.-9:00 p.m.	Monday thru Friday
8:00 a.m.-5:00 p.m.	Saturday & Sunday

Hours are subject to change based on court usage.

OUTDOOR COURT FEES

YMCA members without Outdoor Playing Card	$6/1½ hours
Outdoor Playing Card members	— No Charge

Program members must purchase an Outdoor Playing Card in order to use the outdoor tennis courts.

OUTDOOR COURT RESERVATIONS

Court reservations must be accompanied by OPC number. Reservations will be taken in 1½ hour time blocks up to one week in advance. Any person playing on a court may not reserve consecutive court time that involves the same playing groups. However, in the event a court is open when your time is up, you may use it. Indoor courts can be reserved in case of rain by Outdoor Playing Card members only, for an additional court charge of $8.00 per 1½ hours as of May 14. Rain options expire August 25.

OUTDOOR PLAYING CARD

Once again, the Grand Slam Tennis Club is selling Outdoor Playing Cards to members and non-members who would rather pay a flat fee as opposed to standard court rental charge. The Outdoor Playing Card (O.P.C.) entitles players to unlimited hours of tennis. All LEAGUE and PERMANENT COURT TIME players must purchase an Outdoor Playing Card prior to the first day of their schedule tennis court time. The cards are available at the front desk.

SUMMER CAMP 1990

We do not come to believe in ourselves until someone reveals that deep inside us is something valuable....

...The YMCA of Metropolitan Detroit has been providing camping experiences for over 80 years to people of all ages. Most campers come from the Tri-County Area, but many also come from neighboring communities and even other countries. The Detroit YMCA Camps are open to everyone interested in having memorable adventures in the natural outdoor settings provided at Camp Ohiyesa and Camp Nissokone. Our camps continue a long tradition of providing outdoor fun, coupled with learning respect for the environment and a concern for each person's physical, mental and spiritual well-being. In comfortable, yet rustic surroundings, campers experience the adventures of living and playing together, all within the framework of a safe and exciting program dedicated to Christian ideals.

...is the most important single ingredient in a successful camping adventure. Experienced YMCA Professional Directors provide on-site supervision throughout the summer and also provide year-round evaluation, planning and program development. Teachers, college students and high school graduates are carefully screened and selected for their staff assignments on the basis of good character and their interest, sensitivity and experience in working with young people. Personal interviews, reference checks, pre-camp training and certifications lead to a final week of orientation and team building at each campsite. Special attention is given to proper behavior management of campers and those counseling skills needed to help insure that each and every camper will have a safe, fun and valuable growth experience.

...are major concerns of all camp staff. "Safety First" is emphasized at all times. Both campsites have well-equipped health centers, staffed by a fulltime on-site certified Health Director, Nurse or First Aider. Nearby hospitals and physicians are on call at all times. Physical Examination and Personal History are required for each camper. Parents will receive an information packet with forms after their camper's registration and deposit are received by the YMCA.

...MEMORIES THAT LAST A LIFETIME.

PIONEER ADVENTURES
June 23-August 25

Each cabin group is closely supervised and introduced to a variety of activities including: swimming, boating, nature, archery, new games, etc.; even an Arts & Crafts shop is located in the cabin area. Meeting new friends, campfire fun, building a birdfeeder, learning how to swim, are just the beginning of a younger campers "Pioneer Adventure". This "UNIT" is specially designed and carefully structured to insure that each camper has a safe and fun "First Experience" at camp.

SUMMER ACTIONS
ages 11 and 12
June 23-August 25

This "UNIT" is the perfect place for 11 and 12 year old, new or returning campers. A structured and balanced program of campwide activities provides special cabin group adventures and many opportunities for individual selection of skill classes such as: swimming, boating, canoeing, sailing, arts and crafts, camp newspaper, campcrafts, nature, archery and land games. (Horseback trailrides are available at extra cost).

NEW HORIZONS
ages 13 thru 15
June 23-August 18

This "UNIT" provides special challenges for TEENS ONLY. Each week three (3) different trips are offered; biking, back-packing, and canoeing. Campers will select one (1) of these trips and become a part of a special group adventure. Training, planning, and preparation will take place during the first several days, followed by an extended trip away from camp for two (2) or three (3) days. Campers attending more than one (1) week may select a different trip each week. Camp provides any special equipment such as bikes, packs and tents (Campers should bring their own sleeping bags). While in camp, each group will also have opportunities to participate in some of the more traditional camp programs, such as campfires, social dances and special events.

WESTERN RANCHERS
ages 11 thru 15
June 23-August 25

This "UNIT" provides equestrian programs for boys and girls 11 thru 15 years of age. Each camper will be assigned their own horse and will become a: "Dude Rancher"-beginner, "Ranch Hand"-advanced beginner, "Wrangler"-intermediate or "Ranch Boss"-advanced and most experienced. Daily programs emphasize the mastering of equestrian skills, grooming, feeding, tacking, trail riding, and increasing knowledge about horses. "Western Ranchers" live with their own cabin group but also participate in other camp programs such as swimming, smallcrafts, landgames, archery, etc. Enrollments are limited to 36 campers per week.

LEADERSHIP TRAINING WEEK (LT's)

ages 15 and 16

June 23-30

July 7-14

July 21-28

August 4-11

These FOUR (4), one-week programs, for campers ages 15 and 16 years old, represent one of the oldest traditions at Nissokone — Learning how to work with others in various leadership roles. Rap sessions, guest speakers, "valuing exercises", group initiatives, opportunities to observe and analyze the group process, assisting with younger campers, special field trips and service projects are all part of a busy week. A prerequisite to becoming a "VOLUNTEER STAFF AIDE", completion of application and evaluation during the week may lead to an invitation to join the Camp Staff as a Volunteer Staff Aide for two weeks, NO ADDITIONAL COST. Enrollments are limited to 12 campers per week.

TRAIL WRANGLER TRIPS

ages 11 thru 15

June 30-July 7

July 14-21

July 28-August 4

August 11-18

These four (4) "Special" out-of-camp trips for boys and girls ages 13 thru 15 years old will provide NEW and EXCITING ADVENTURES for "Western Ranchers" with advanced riding skills. A four day trip into the Huron National Forest provides time for exploring new trails, learning campcraft skills, cooking their own meals, campfires and sleeping out under the stars (tents are available). This is a FUN and CHALLENGING experience for Teenagers who LOVE HORSES! Enrollments are limited to 12 campers per week.

LOCATION. Located 200 miles North of the Detroit area, Camp Nissokone's 170 acres spread along almost two miles of shoreline on beautiful Lake VanEtan. The city of Oscoda & Lake Huron to the East, and the Huron National Forest & AuSable River to the West, help to provide unique settings for picnics at nearby scenic beaches, meandering river canoe trips, backpacking and overnight camping in natural wilderness areas.

TRANSPORTATION-ARRIVAL/DEPARTURE. All camp periods begin and end on Saturdays. Modern and comfortable Road Coach Buses will transport campers from 6 convenient YMCA Branch locations.

LOCATION. YMCA Camp Ohyesa is located on Fish Lake in the northwest corner of Oakland County. Over 275 acres of woods, activity fields, lakes and streams provide a unique, natural environment and makes this a beautiful place to spend the summer. Camp provides the ideal setting for young children to play and grow in a fun, safe environment, where independence can be fostered in a positive way.

TRANSPORTATION. Located a short one-hour drive from the Metro Detroit area, Camp Ohyesa requires that campers provide their own transportation to camp.

Boys & Girls 6 thru 10 years of age

INDIAN ADVENTURE CAMPS
ages 6 thru 8
July 1-August 17

Camp Ohyesa's variety of programs offer a chance to learn new skills and try new experiences. Each camper is able to select from many activities: riding, water-front, sports skills, outdoor skills, campcraft, and handicrafts. Indian lore will be a major theme of summer camp, learning and living the ways of Indians to help improve mind, body, and spirit. From cooking, trapping, sign language, Indian legends, bow and arrow, and games; campers will get a feel for the ways of Indians past. The week will culminate with a closing ceremony that will make each camper an honorary Ohyesa Indian.

The program format gives staff an opportunity to use progressive skill advancement based on the camper's age, skill and experience. As campers return each year, different skills and programs are introduced. Emphasis is placed on cabin group programs.

BOOTS AND SADDLES
ages 9 and 10
July 1-August 17

A unique summertime experience for children ages 9-10, who enjoy learning or improving western riding skills, as well as sharing the responsibilities of caring for a horse. Ranch activities are directed by a CHA Certified Instructor and campers are able to work toward certification at various riding levels. Other activities include boating, campfires, swimming, and much, much more.

HORSELOVERS WEEK
ages 9 and 10
August 19-24

This program is for those campers who have had riding experience, but just can't get enough of horses. Ranchers will spend all day working with horses at the ranch. Special features will include a horse show, a veterinarian, horse breeder, and a blacksmith as special guest speakers; and the highlight of the week: a chuck-wagon style dinner—breakfast overnight.

ALL SPORTS CAMP
ages 9 and 10
July 8-13 July 22-27
August 5-10

Our sports program emphasizes the aspects of individual achievement and satisfaction of participation. Winning is defined as competing to the best of one's ability in a sportsmanlike manner. Staff will instruct campers in the skills, techniques, strategies, and rules of soccer, basketball, conditioning & cross-country running. Of course there are lots of other activities like swimming, boating and campfires too.

After registration, each camper will receive an "Information Packet" which includes: health form, camper profile form, clothing/equipment list, bank envelope, bus schedules, baggage tags, and information about camp policies with hints on preparing for camp. Maps, showing route to camp and campsite layout, are also available by request at each YMCA Branch. Balance of camp fees must be paid at least two (2) weeks prior to departure for Camp. Camp fees include all expenses except transportation and a suggested personal bank account (approximately $25.00 per period) for purchasing camp store items, horseback trail rides (if not in Western Ranchers, Boots & Saddles or Trail Wranglers), laundry, and some craft supplies.

If you are not presently involved in a YMCA fitness program you will need a statement from your doctor stating you can participate in fitness activities (form sent upon receipt of deposit). We accept Visa and MasterCard. No refunds given except for medical disability. Minimum age is 18 years.

will be sent upon receipt of your deposit.

Call Shirley Swaney Eyler — Fitness Vacation Director, 642-8031, or YMCA Camping Services, 962-1590.

Our nationally certified staff are on site at all times for instruction and supervision.

We serve delicious low calorie, high energy meals, yummy homemade breads, healthy salad bar lunches and nutritious dinners.

Sunday, June 17 through Friday, June 22.

Camp Ohiyesa, Holly, Michigan 48442,

Phone (313) 963-3018

Check in at 4:00 p.m. Sunday. Depart after 11:00 a.m. Friday.

$230 for YMCA members; $255 for non "Y" members. A $50 non-refundable deposit is required, and is included in the fee. You may make partial payments, with balance paid by June 1, 1990.

Each YMCA branch offers a variety of quality youth programs all summer long. Well-trained staff offer your child a wide range of recreational and educational experiences. The staff who work with your child are selected with special care on the basis of their knowledge and technical skills and their understanding and enjoyment of working with children.

"EARN YOUR WAY"

Many local Y.M.C.A. branches will be providing an opportunity for those parents who would like to have their campers earn a part of or all of their way to "Y" camp this summer. This cannot only be a way of, perhaps, helping the family budget; but, it can also provide kids with an opportunity for accepting responsibilities and getting involved in learning how to EARN THEIR OWN WAY.

Three quality candy items will be available: Mint Patties; Peanut Crunch; and Caramel Peanut Clusters. All sales will be by advanced order ONLY. Cash will be collected at the time the order is delivered. A $1.50 of each $3.50 box of candy sold, will be credited directly to the camper's camp fee.

In order to participate, each camper must be registered for camp at their local Y.M.C.A. Branch; get an "Official Order Form/Flyer" from the "Y" staff person in charge of the sales; and start selling. These are the Dates:

SALES START — WEDNESDAY, APRIL 11TH
SALES END — WEDNESDAY, APRIL 25TH
ITEMS AVAILABLE TO DELIVER — THURSDAY, MAY 10TH
ALL MONEY DUE AT YMCA — FRIDAY, MAY 18TH

This is a short sales program using a low cost item for fast and easy sales. We suggest that parents might want to help their child contact friends, relatives, and neighbors. DO NOT allow your child to go door to door or engage in sales situations that are not supervised by a parent. The product will be available at the "Y" about three weeks after the sale ends, at which time your items should be picked up and delivered. The money should be collected and turned in to the "Y" staff person with whom you registered. All monies from "EARN YOUR WAY" must be used for YMCA programs or activities.

Parents and their prospective campers are cordially invited to attend any of the following OPEN HOUSES to learn more about YMCA Day Camps and our two Resident Camps: OHIYESA and NISSOKONE. These one-hour events include — Meeting the camp directors, Slides of camp, Information about “Earn Your Way” and “Special Discounts”, Questions and Answers, Door Prizes and Much, Much, More . . .
