Haller proposal defeated by 2-1 margin

By MIKE TYREE

Township voters Tuesday overwhelmingly defeated a proposal to build a 44,800-square-foot library on 72 acres on the corner of Six Mile and Sheldon roads.

Unofficial tabulations Tuesday evening indicated that a pair of ballot questions that asked for 1.9 mills to construct, equip, and operate a $6.9-million library complex were defeated by 2-1 margins.

This was an astounding victory. The people spoke loud and clear," said Jeff Hampton, of Citizens for a City reaction to vote/9A Township clerk does it all/9A Every vote counts/8A

The May 1 election came about after the Sept. 29, 1989 announcement that former township resident Frieda Haller had donated 72 acres on the northwest corner of Six Mile and Sheldon Roads to the township, if the township met several criteria.

City to lay off police officer, set refuse fees

By STEVE KELLMAN Staff Writer

One police officer will be laid off and commercial and apartment property owners will be charged a fee for refuse disposal, following a vote last week by the Northville City

The police department has also agreed to reduce overtime this year by 20 percent. The department's overtime costs for the last half of 1989 alone were more than $53,000.

Police Chief Rod Cannon presented a report to the council last Thursday reviewing the police de-partment's budget. If it is unavoidable that budget cuts must be reflected within the Police Department, it is requested that lavoffs be of a temporary term occurring during the offracing season," he wrote. "Reinstatement should be considered prior to the start of the racing season in order to alleviate a burdensome demand on Departmental operations.

Cannon noted in his report that the department's current staff of 17 is comparable to the national average of 1.69 police officers per thousand residents. Counting the average Northville Downs attendance of 2,500, the service population of the police department is 9,500, he said, which translates into 1.8 officers per

But the council, which had considered laying off two police officers last week, voted to go ahead with the layoff of one patrolman. The move will save the city an estimated $44,200. Citing a near 60-percent increase in refuse collection costs in the last

Public hearing for city budget

The Northville City Council has mills, would raise property taxes called a "Truth in Taxation" public an average of 4.8 percent over hearing for Monday, May 14 on 1989 rates, though differing hearing for Monday, May 14 on the proposal to levy a 1990-91 property tax rate of 10.93 mills.

That would be a decrease of 1.42 mills over this year's rate, but the average taxpayer would still pay more in actual dollars.

A city operating millage of 10.43 mills would result in no additional taxes being raised over last year's operating millage of 12.35 mills, because of the city's increased tax base. Any tax levy above 10.43 mills requires the city to hold the "Truth in Taxation" hearing to inform voters that the city will collect more tax money than it did the previous year. The proposal, to levy 10.93 equalization rates in Wayne and Oakland counties may result in more or less of an increase on an individual property.

The city is authorized by state statute to levy a maximum millage rate of 17.48 milis for operating purposes.

The total proposed city millage, for both operating and debt retirement funds, is 14.72 mills, a 7.1-percent reduction from last year's 15.85 mills.

Ongoing debt retirement programs include the South Main Street paving project, the Randolph Drain project and the city street reconstruction program.

Fire department to give first response

By STEVE KELLMAN Staff Writer

Northville City will soon have a multi-tiered medical response system under a proposal approved by the city council Monday.

The proposal by the Northville Fire Department authorizes the department to provide first-response medical treatment between the time an accident or medical emergency occurs and the city's ambulance service, Community Emergency Medical Services (CEMS), arrives.

Fire Chief Jim Allen and Emergency Medical Technician (EMT) Stephen Ott briefed the council on the proposal Monday night. We're not trying to go into the ambu-lance business," Allen said. "We're looking to do first aid until the ambulance arrives. Even though Community (CEMS) has moved into town. it does not necessarily mean we have

Vandals threaten township police

By MIKE TYREE Staff Writer

The self-proclaimed, spray-paintwielding Smooth Criminals are expanding their territory.

After two weeks of vandalizing signs, buildings and vehicles in the City of Northville, the group police call "small but smart" have left their mark in Northville Township.

Township Police Sgt. John Sherman said Monday that two police cars and several signs and buildings along Six Mile Road in the township were marked and damaged by pary paint early April 26.

The township police cars propainted with profanities. Sher will said. He said the vehicles were not permanently damaged.

But the vandals - characterized by Sherman as "between 17-20 years old" - upped the ante in their faunting of local police.

Threats were made against a township officer," Sherman said. "Spray painted on one of the buildings was a threat that a certain officer redividual officers sometimes become the target of threats after they have arrested or have had some form of contact with the persons making the threat, Sherman said.

Last week, a spray-painted reference to a city police officer was found on an outside wall of Northville High School. Sherman said the departments will be cross-referencing names in an attempt to determine youths who may have come in contact with both named officers.

Chlorine in Randolph Drain

The contamination was reported to city police by Randolph Street resident and city firefighter Stephen Ott. But his daughter Emily was the first to notice the problem. We became aware of it a little before 5 (p.m.), "Ott said. "I heard my 6-year-old daughter counting down by the creek and her friend came up to the house and told me she was counting dead fish. I went down, and at that point she was saying, 78, 79 . . . As he approached the creek, Ott noticed a strong smell of chlorine. "It was similar to what you might experience at a heavily chlorinated pool," he said. "And sure enough, there were a lot of fish floating by. 'Most of them weren't completely dead," he said. They'd kind of float by on their backs and then turn over. They were obviously in distress."

The water itself was also unusual in appearance. "It was cloudy and there was a foaminess to it," Ott said. "It normally runs fairly clear."

City police responded to the apparent contamination at 4:45 p.m. Capt. James Petres, who noticed the chlorine odor when he responded, also found several fish floating in the stream. He and Ott followed the creek upstream to the Randolph Street Bridge, the Northville Greens apartment complex at Randolph and Eight Mile, and the pond at Eight Mile and Taft, but could find no evidence of contaminated runoff. According to Northville City officials, a $1.4-million offer was made to Ford for light industrial reuse. The figure was well below Ford's asking price of $2.5 million for the property.

Several of the potential purchasers have not been able to view the property in the last two months because of the asbestos abatement at the site. Day said. Ford officials hoped to open up the building to viewers this week.

City officials are concerned about the eventual fate of Ford Field, the recreational field west of the plant across Griswold Street. Though officials have said that Ford will discuss with potential buyers the possibility of donating the field to the city. Day would not comment on that. When the sale of the plant is complete, then the disposition of Ford Field will also be complete," he said.

Car window shattered at school

A Northville man driving north on between March 20-27. One of the Center Street past Amerman Elementary School April 28 had the driver's side window of his vehicle shattered, according to city police reports. The man, who was not injured, was driving past the school at 9:40 p.m. when the incident occurred Police believe a pellet gun was used.

WINDOW BROKEN - A window at the Fraternal Order of Eagles Building at 113 Center Street was shattered by a beer bottle early Sunday morning. April 29, according to city police reports. The window, to the west of the entrance door, was apparently shattered sometime between midnight and 5 a.m. Though the building was occupied at the time, no one heard the incident because the building's inner door was shut and the music was loud, according to the LARCENY FROM VEHICLE -- A Sony Walkman and several tapes were stolen from an unlocked vehicle parked in a driveway on West Dunlap, according to city police reports. The tape deck, valued at $80, was missing covers to the tape and battery compartments. The tapes included Led Zeppelin albums "II" and "Physical Graffiti," Van Halen's "5150," and tapes by Faster Pussycat and Black Sabbath. The garage was also apparently entered, though nothing was reported missing. Police believe the thief or thieves used a garage door opener in the car to gain ac cess to the garage.

Also missing were a small black onepiece diving dry suit with green stripes down both legs, and a pair of black size eight diving boots with yellow soles. The owner said he waited a month before reporting the thefts to the police department in the hope that the items would be returned.

CRIMINAL WARRANT ARREST -- A Northville woman ws arrested April 24 by Northville City police, for failure to appear in court on an open intoxication charge. The woman was stopped at 9:05 p.m. on Seven Mile Road by Wing Street when a police officer observed faulty tail lights on her vehicle. She was arrested when a computer check turned up the outstanding charge, processed, and released after paying the $100 bond.

TRAFFIC WARRANT ARREST — A Garden City woman was arrested April 23 at 6:24 p.m. on an outstanding traffic warrant by Northville City police, after a computer check turned up the warrant. The woman was one of three people questioned by a police officer at Lake Success off Railroad Street, after the city police department received a report of swimmers in the lake. The woman was arrested and transported to the Plymouth Township police department after being unable to pay the outstanding

Township follows up kidnap inquiry

By MIKE TYREE

Township police are still in the process of compiling information in the alleged armed kidnapping of an infant from a relative's home in Northville Township April 15.

Det. Fred Yankee said Tuesday the department's findings on the alleged abduction of 1-year-old Brittany Roberts would soon be delivered to the Wayne County prosecutor.

"If everything goes okay, we'll have it to the prosecutor by the end of the week," he said. "We've already verbally discussed the case (with the prosecutor), and after they receive the paperwork, it will be their decision (whether to bring charges)."

Christopher Roberts told police that his daughter had been taken from him at gunpoint April 15 outside the condominium of his aunt. Roberts alleged that two men identified themselves as police and took Brittany from him.

Roberts also said his father-inlaw, Doug Allor, accompanied the men during the abduction.

Last week, Allor denied
Roberts charges, and claimed that his son-in-law "has a habit of exaggerating."

The incident allegedly was sparked by the separation of Roberts, 22, and his wife, Deborah. According to Roberts, his wife left him March 23 with Brittany in tow. Roberts said he took the child from his wife after a March 29 meeting at a Sterling Heights shopping mall and stayed with the child at the homes of friends and relatives until the alleged April 15 abduction.

Township police located Brit-tany Roberts the day after the alleged kidnapping and reported the child was safe and in hiding with her mother at an undisclosed site in Shelby Township.

Yankee said the township po-lice talked to Roberts "last Thursday."

He said the two alleged gunmen had yet to be identified. We're still looking for information on that," he said.

"Some of the people involved in the graffiti are very likely involved with larcenies and other illegal activities in the area," he said. "I don't know why they would call themselves crim-inals if they weren't involved in other activities.

Sherman said the omoour criminals may be responsible for a rash of automobile larcenies reported of late

This is an isolated group of individuals with no respect for the law or anyone's property," he added. "There are a lot of fine young people in this town and what we are dealing with is just a small group."

Sherman said police departments in Novi and Plymouth Township are working on the Smooth Criminals case, as well as the Northville city and township departments.

Ely cleanup plan accepted

By STEVE KELLMAN Staff Writer

Local business owner Charles Ely has received approval of his plan for testing and potential cleanup of his company's fuel storage site from the state Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

Ely had been notified March 20 that the site at 118 Railroad Ave. was in violation of several sections of state law, and given 30 days to present a cleanup plan.

The DNR has ordered Ely to provide fuel spill recovery equipment, a Pollution Incident Prevention Plan and hydrological tests of the property.

Faye Mitchell, the DNR environmental quality analyst who wrote the March 20 letter, met with Ely and his consultants, Michigan Environmental Services of Union Lake, on April 18. They gave me an outline of what they're going to do," she said. "I guess they're going to do it in four phases." The first phase of work will include soil investigations, to begin to determine the extent of contamination at mination can be cleaned up more quickly.

"Depending on how that comes out, that would determine how they would do their hydrological investigation," Mitchell said.

Landfill fees may rise

By STEVE KELLMAN Staif Writer

Northville City may be faced with higher landfill costs by October, but the increases would be nowhere near as severe as last year's $3.40-per-cubic-yard hike.

Landfill operators at the Arbor Hills landfill in Salem have indicated to the city that rates could go up as much as $1.50 to $2 for disposal of a cubic yard in October. While a state-imposed charge could be part of that figure, the operators said that $1.50 of that increase may come from the landfill itself. The landfill is owned and operated by Browning-Ferris Industries.

The state of Michigan is instituting a .25-per-cubic yard charge on landfills to be set aside for cleanup efforts. The fee goes into effect June 15, but the landfill operators have not decided how they will pass the increased cost

"It's a post-closure maintenance fund for the landfill," explained Arbor Hills manager Jeff Harris. "It's there for the long-term maintenance of the landfill."

The money, which will be collected by landfill operators and turned over to the state, will be held by the state until each landfill closes. When the landfill is closed, half the money will be used to clean up the original site, while the other half will be used by the state for other cleanup

We're still reviewing the situation internally as to how we'll handle it," Harris said. "We should be making a decision shortly.

Harris would not discuss a potential October rate increase. "We have indicated that before we have a price increase that's within our control, we'll give a 120-day notice," he said. Under the policy, an October rate increase would not have to be announced until June.

year, and a 466-percent increase over the last five years, the council also voted to charge commercial and apartment property owners a fee for refuse disposal. Refuse collection costs have grown from five percent to 13 percent of the city's general fund.

The agreement on refuse fees came after a report by City Manager Steven Walters demonstrated that commercial property owners and apartment dwellers pay less in millage for refuse disposal than the disposal costs the city. While collection costs for single-family residential customers averaged just under $130 per customer, most of the customers paid more than that through the 3.37

On the other hand, apartment buildings and commercial properties are serviced by dumpsters, which cost an average of $825 annually to

Rather than levy an additional mill in taxes, in effect allowing residential property owners to continue subsidizing part of the refuse disposal costs for apartment and commercial property owners, the council agreed to institute some sort of fee to make up the difference.

the dumping of non-recyclable materials on Wednesday, May 9. A passenger car with a full load of trash will cost $2, a station wagon or van will cost $3 to $6, and a pickup truck and trailer without high sides will cost $2 per foot of bed length.

The fees are intended to cover the cost of disposing of the trash collected at the site. Recyclable materials including newspaper, glass, plastic milk containers, tin cans and other materials will still be collected free of charge. Notice of the fee is included on a flyer which was to be mailed to city residents yesterday, May 2, describing recent changes to the citys' refuse

Library directors irked by state funding plan

By STEVE KELLMAN Staff Writer

Under proposals made in a recent report to the state's Legislative Council, libraries in communities like Northville and Novi would lose state funding, and library cooperatives including the Wayne Oakland Library Federation (WOLF) would be dissolved.

The report has library directors across the state up in arms. The proposals are part of a 420-page report made to the state by King Research, Inc. of Tennessee. The report was the result of a contract between King Research and the Library of Michigan to prepare a fiveyear plan for the development of public library services in Michigan.

The final report, released in February, states, "At present, 378 public libraries, 16 public library cooperatives and the Library of Michigan are providing excellent library service to the residents of Michigan. These libraries wish to develop a plan that will help them maximize the effectiveness of library service in the state and significantly improve the ability of Mi-chigan residents to access library materials and information regardless of economic and/or geographic differences."

The report found the top 10 needs of Michigan's public libraries as: additional furniture and shelving; more book acquisitions, more reference material acquisitions; more space in current facilities; more periodical acquisitions; additional support staff; more audio-visual acquisitions; additional parking space; microcompu-ters; and a new building.

But what disturbs public library officials about the report are its recommendations that the state's current library cooperatives be replaced by multitype library networks combining public libraries with academic, private and other types of libraries, and that state aid be withdrawn from class-five and class-six libraries. Class-five and -six libraries are those in communities of more libraries are the answer." she than 25,000.

The latest population forecasts by the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG) estimates that the Northville community's population will be 24,917 this year, and 31,979 by the year 2000.

Novi's population is predicted by SEMCOG to reach 32,710 this year. and 55,718 by the year 2000. So both the Northville and Novi libraries would quickly lose funding if the proposals are enacted.

The report also recommends that authority for the establishment and supervision of the new multitype system rest entirely with the state

According to Northville Library Director Pat Orr, implementation of the report would "have a serious impact on Northville. For instance, that share of state aid, approximately $15,000, is equivalent to what we spend on our children's book budget. That's what we've gotten from them as a class-four library.

The impact isn't just on Northville, it's on WOLF as a cooperative, she said of the proposed state aid reallocation. Under the proposal, 38 of the 60 libraries in the WOLF cooperative would lose their state aid, to the tune of more than a half million dollars overall.

"I would call it a major disaster" if WOLF was dissolved, Orr added. "Our computer network and our circulation system would be useless."

"It is possible that we would be in a different cooperative than Plymouth or Novi." she added. She described the attitude embodied in the report as, "It's not broke but we want to fix

Another concern Orr has about the report is the fact that King Research never consulted private academic and university libraries for their reaction to the plan, and to find out whether they would participate in its implementation.

They stacked the deck to bring about the conclusion that multitype charged.

Orr, who attended the March 9 Library of Michigan board meeting where the King Research report was delivered, noted there was no support for the report's recommendations by other library directors. There was universal opposition to it. on the part of public libraries and the 16 library cooperatives," she said.

One of the more outspoken opponents to the report at the board meeting was Malcolm Hill, director of WOLF and the Wayne County Library. In a written commentary on the report. Hill spoke against the redirection of state funds away from Class Five and Six libraries, and argued that the report was based on false premises regarding the size of a library and its importance to a cooperative.

Hill also argued against the removal of local control and initiative in the administration of a multitype network. He likened state control of the network to the communist government currently being rejected by East European countries.

"Governments of all sizes, all over the world, are acknowledging that central planning doesn't work very well," he wrote. "Why should Michigan's library community take a step backward?

Hill also echoed Orr's fears of chaos in the library circulation system, writing, "What would happen to the assets of our existing cooperatives - in our case a half-million dollar computer system and the largest public library database in the state?"

After listening to the criticism of the report, the library board finally voted to recommend to the Legislative Council that no action be taken until the report is studied further. "As we understand it, it's moving into the next phase where it's going to be reviewed by directors from state libraries and cooperatives," Orr said. They'll review, recommend and plan strategy for any implementation."

Allen Terrace resident William Klope reads at the Northville Library.

Precinct 3 chairperson Rosemary Palarchio instructs a voter on the details of Tuesday's election.

Few and far between Precinct Four activity light

By MIKE TYREE

Voters in Precinct Four in Northville Township may epitomize the phrase "light turnout."

A total of 105 registered voters constitute the electorate of Precinct Four and by noon Tuesday, election workers Shirley Beason, Julie Bennett and Marian Selinske had processed a grand total of 10 voters for the Haller Library proposal.

Unofficially, 25 voters cast ballots

Tuesday at Precinct Four. The boundaries of Precinct Four extend from Napier Road west to Northville Road between Five and Six Mile roads. Much of the land area is vacant or within the confines of state and county correctional facilities.

The decaying buildings of the former Wayne County Early Childhood Development Center also make up a good portion of Precinct Four.

"Voters have trickled in during the day," Beason, the precinct chairperson, said. "I know almost everybody that is in this precinct."

Beason and Bennett, both veteran election workers, spent much of Tuesday whiling away the time at their Meads Mill Middle School location with crossword puzzles, small talk and letter writing.

And they also served as an information booth.

"Most of the people that come up to us, we just send down to Precinct Seven," Beason laughed. "That's where they need to vote."

A typical election day starts with the workers arriving at the polling station at 6 a.m., Beason said. After the pollis close at 8 p.m., the workers count ballots and check the numbers against the records in registration books, which are compiled as residents prepare to vote.

We have to count the number of

"Otherwise, we have problems." Difficulties with her first election almost kept Bennett from working a second election. The first one I worked I almost quit," she said. "Some error occurred and we didn't get out until midnight." Beason said a limited number of ballot questions such as with the Haller proposal could signal a short evening for the workers.

"We should be done by nine tonight," she said.

Beason called the stipend for the election work "immaterial" and said she enjoyed the election process. A Precinct Four voter approached the table where Beason and Bennett sat and asked if her husband had been in to vote yet.

When she was informed that he had not yet cast his ballot, the woballots and it has to come out the man replied Good, because one vote same as the books," Beason said. would have canceled the other.

Township voters reject Haller plan

In her letter of intent. Haller stipulated that a 44,800 square foot Library must be built on the site. In addition, Haller said that the township would have to arrange a funding plan for the property within one year of receipt of the intent letter.

Cook was asked if the township had a contingency plan for the property.

Not yet. She (Haller) was pretty adamant about this," he said "I don't know what comes next."

Trustee James Nowka expressed disappointment as the numbers from the precincts were posted.

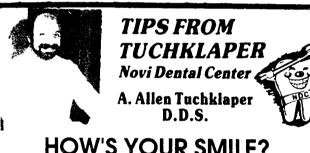

"I guess we just misjudged what the people int . . . what they feel they need," he said. "If people think that we're just going to be able to go up to her and buy it . . . I think we've lost a valuable piece of property."

But Hampton expressed hope that the township could still gain title to the Haller land. "Let's go back and try to be creative," he said. "I still think it's an option . . . talking to Frieda Haller to give the 72 acres to the township. If that happened, they could sell some of the land to defray the costs of the library."

Hampton would not say whether his group would support a city-based library.

"I'm not ready to comment on that yet," he said. There may be alternatives to substantially reduce the cost to taxpayers.

"I don't think all funding alternatives have been explored fully," he said.

HOW'S YOUR SMILE?

Have you ever noticed how a happy, smiling face makes you want to smile, too? The person smiling doesn't have to be beautiful or in the full bloom of youth. Just an attractive smile in itself can be appealing. Some people who would like to smile broadly when the occasion calls for it are reluctant to do so. Their smile is guarded, most of their teeth are covered up because they don't want them to show. Maybe there are gaps caused by missing teeth. Perhaps their teeth are badly discolored or protrude too much. But they don't have to feel inhibited. With today's dental techniques, almost anyone's smile can be improved.

It used to be that the primary reason for you to go to the dentist was to find out if any of your teeth were in trouble. If there was any decay or if you had infected gums, you wanted the problem taken care of so you could save your teeth. But there are other reasons for seeing your dentist, and one of them is to help keep your smile attractive. There's no need to hide your smile today when there are so many ways it can be improved.

CITY OF NORTHVILLE NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON INCREASING TAXES

Notice is hereby given that a public hearing will be held by the Northville City Council on Monday, May 14, 1990, at 8:00 p.m. in the Council Room of the Municipal Building, 215 W. Main Street, for the purpose of hearing testimony on the following:

Proposal to levy Ŏne-half of One Mill (0.50 mill) in additional millage for 1990 to fund general City operations.

A City operating millage rate of Ten and Forty-three Hundredths Mills (10.43 mills) would result in no additional taxes being raised in 1990 from property which existed in 1989. The proposed additional 0.50 mill would result in an increase of Four and Eight Tenths Percent (4.8%) in 1990 property taxes from the average property which existed in 1989. This is based on the inflation rate of 4.8% published by the State the maximum allowable millage rate. It should be noted that since properties were equalized at different rates in Wayne County than in Oakland County, some properties would receive more than a 4.8% tax increase while other properties would receive less for use in calculating the Headlee limitations on than a 4.8% increase. The City Council has the authority under State statute and the City Charter to levy a maximum millage rate for operating purposes of Seventeen and Forty-eight Hundredths Mills (17.48 Mills). The total operating levy proposed for 1990 would be Ten and Ninety-three Hundredths Mills (10.93 Mills).

City politicians react to Haller library vote

City officials agreed on the need to meet soon with the township to discuss library options in the wake of Tuesday's 2-1 defeat of the Haller proposal by township voters.

"I think because of the size (of the defeat), all of us have to go back and take a good, hard, cold look at the proposal," said Mayor Chris Johnson.

Johnson said the city council is still concerned about the existing shared services agreement between the city and township. A newlyproposed agreement was defeated along with the Haller proposal Tuesday, leaving the city subject to the existing one. They (council members) are looking at the fact that we just can't afford that formula over the long haul, and that's true," Johnson

A city vote in August on the proposed agreement was rendered unneccessary by Tuesday's defeat, unless the township calls another election on the proposal. "That's one of the things we've got to talk about almost right away," Johnson said.

"That's good," said city council member Dewey Gardner after hearing the election results Tuesday night. "Now maybe we can get back to exploring all the alternatives and come up with a viable proposal.

"The negative vote should not be seen as inherently against library indication of the residents' views regarding location and size of the Haller

After the defeat, City Manager Steven Walters said the city would likely meet with township officials within the next two weeks to discuss library options. We're still a partner with the township and we still have a library to resolve together," he said.

We obviously aren't going to go off our separate ways," Walters added. "It's a loss to the city too, the recreation lands are important to us. That's as important as the library issue."

Portions of the 72-acre Haller property were proposed to be used as recreation fields.

City mulls traffic woes

By STEVE KELLMAN Staff Writer

Northville officials are pursuing several strategies to control one of the less pleasant byproducts of community growth - increased city traffic.

One of the tools used is the traffic control ordinance, which gives the city's police department the power to regulate traffic flow and parking.

Already this year, eight traffic control ordinances have been issued in the city. A total of 11 were issued last year, and 13 the year before that.

Most of this year's ordinances create or extend existing "No Parking" zones in the downtown. The areas affected include both sides of Cady Street between Center and Griswold and the north side of East Main Street from Griswold to Hutton.

"Nobody wants the traffic but we only have so many streets," explained Police Chief Rod Cannon. "It's just an update from time to time. it results from an increase in traffic at a given area," Cannon said.

The ordinances give the police department the ability to control which streets traffic uses and where cars park. "On some of these narrow streets, where there's parking on both sides, it's almost impossible to get through," he said.

Cannon appears before the city council on a regular basis, explaining the latest proposed adjustment to the city's traffic flow. "In the absence of a traffic engineer, those duties fall to the chief of police," he explained.

The city engineer, McNeely & Lincoln, is also contracted by the city to provide traffic counts. As Robert Warner of McNeely & Lincoln explained, When requested by the chief of police, we set up traffic counters that record direction as well as speed and types of vehicles."

McNeely & Lincoln has been called upon to perform the traffic checks at areas such as Wing Street and Eight Mile Road, and on Center Street near the MainCentre development. Traffic counts are also scheduled after complaints from residents of speeding vehicles or dangerous traffic patterns in a specific area.

Wayne County traffic planners also perform traffic counts. The county analyzed traffic volumes at the intersection of Main and Griswold before installing a stop signal there earlier this year. They call it 'getting the warrants,' measuring a sufficient number of vehicles and turning movements," Warner said. The amount of traffic was sufficient to warrant installation of the light.

Schools to discuss Channel One

By MIKE TYREE Staff Winter

Whittle Communications Educational Network.

The proper title sounds innocuous enough, but to spice up a conversation, add the phrase "Channel One." Animated dialogue is sure to Such discussion may be coming to Northville, according to Dolly McMaster, assistant superintendent of Instructional Services.

McMaster said last week that Northville Public Schools may consider joining more than 60 other state schools by contracting with Whittle Communications for Channel One, a 12-minute news program to be broadcast daily at school and aimed at a teen-aged audience.

The district has not made a decision and it's certainly not a foregone conclusion, but my personal feelings are that it has merit for our schools,

McMaster attended an April 11 presentation of Channel One at the Wayne County Intermediate School District Discussitorium in an effort to determine the potential benefits or problems connected with the broadcast.

The Channel One concept has sparked controversy across the nation since its inception in 1989.

Channel One purports to be a newscast by young people, for young people. It focuses on current events and presents news stories in a manner which backers say is understandable - and more relevant - to Middle- and high school students would view Channel One if it was implemented in Northville Public Schools, McMaster said.

School districts signing a contract with Channel One are given $50,000 in video equipment, including VCRs, television monitors, receiving equipment and complete installation of all company hardware, McMaster said. Whittle Communications does not charge for use of the equipment.

But each 10-minute newscast is accompanied by two minutes of advertising. Therein lies the hitch.

According to detractors, including the national PTA and the Michigan Education Association, students would be captive to the two minutes of commercialization on each segment of Channel One.

Channel One opponents claim that commercials for items such as blue jeans, deodorants, candy, etc., should not be required viewing for a captive and impressionable

McMaster, who has viewed segments of Channel One, disagrees.

"The kinds of commercials I've seen . . . some of them are more like public service announcements," she said. They discuss careers, wise decision-making and resisting sub-

Local PTA President Lynda Baca said Channel One has been diseight months." "I really think that most of the parents I've talked to think it's worth taking a look at," she said. "I've heard no negative feedback from parents. I think the feeling in Northville is not necessarily the attitude of the national PTA.

Baca also said the controversy over advertisements in the broadcast may be overrated.

"We live in a commercialized world," she said. "We're kidding ourselves if we think there is no commercialization in the schools. "But I understand the schools can maintain strict control over the content of the commercials." Baca said. Northville Education Association President Dwight Sieggreen said the union is not in support of Channel "We have apprehensions with what Channel One is and what it is about," he said. "I want to make it very clear that the association has taken a position against Channel One.

"Should the district decide to place Channel One in the schools . . any elements related to Channel One are bargainable according to state law." he added.

Ray Balutowicz, chief negotiator and president-elect of the NEA, discussed some of the union's concerns.

"We're concerned that the commercials are exploiting the students, he said. There are programs out there, including CNN and Discovery, without commercials, if current events need to be taught."

Another potential problem for educators is the imposition of Channel One on class scheduling. Balutowicz said. He said a science teacher may have to serve as host to the curent events fare on Channel One during a portion of class time. That teacher may have to lead a discussion session after the program as well, leaving less available time to teach science, he said.

Where do we get the time out of the school day for the 12 minutes and the follow up? he said.

No formal talks between school administrators and the NEA on the topic of Channel One have been scheduled to date, Balutowicz said.

"I think news broadcasts are good things," Sieggrecen said. "But we have concerns and question the value of Channel 1.

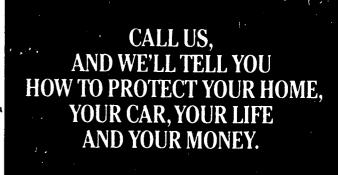

Commercials in the classroom is one of three main issues in the Channel One debate, McMaster said.

She agreed that the 12 minutes alloted for the program would take away from standard instructional time and that the altered schedule would affect the remaining portion of the school day, she said.

But the infusion of television equipment would allow diversity in the classroom, McMaster said, although she was careful to qualify her comments.

"At some schools, Channel One would be the only way to bring advanced technology to the classroom," she said. That is not the case here with the passage of the bond issue.

Schools test tomatoes

By MIKE TYREE Staff Winter

Budding young scientists in Northville Public Schools are conducting experiments that would have had Hollywood B-film science fiction producers of the 1950s clamoring for the movie rights.

As part of a nationwide project, students in fifth- and seventh-grade classes in Northville are experimenting with tomato seeds that have had six years worth of exposure to outer space conditions. But the idea of outof-control tests and resultant mutant tomatoes rolling and squishing a destructive path across the manicured subdivisions of the area isn't even food for thought, according to a school official.

"I don't think there is any danger to the kids," said Betty Parker, director of the school district's science, math and technology center.

Parker said the school district jumped at the chance to land some of the 12.5 million tomato seeds that had spent six years floating in outer space aboard the Long Duration Exposure Facility satellite. The seeds were stowed in the satellite via a cooperative venture between NASA and the Park Seed Company, and were recovered by the crew of the Space Shuttle Columbia on Jan. 12,

Seeds were dispersed to approximately four million students and 40,000 educators across the nation, according to NASA.

Parker said she requested enough seeds for all the fifth-grade classes to plant and examine, but allocations were sufficient only to test the green thumbs of fifth-graders at Moraine and Amerman Elementary and seventh-graders at Meads Mill Middle School.

"NASA granted only a limited opportunity; only so many teachers could get involved," she said. "We'll have about 200 kids working on the

Parker said students received seed packets in March and immature plants are beginning to sprout. The young scientists will be comparing their space tomatoes to standard Earth-strain plants, and will be looking for mutations such as changes in fruit size and color, growth rate, and leaf, stem, and stalk shapes and

The plants should reach maturity by mid-June, when results of the experiment are due to be forwarded to ASA, Parker said.

During the six years aboard the satellite, the seeds were subjected to cosmic radiation, temperature extremes, weightlessness and the vacuum of space. Questions have been raised about the potential for the seeds and plants to contain toxic substances, but Parker said tomatoes from the project will not be

"NASA has told us it is safe," she said. "We didn't really have a concern about radiation affecting students.

"As part of the scientific process. ve will pose the question of what to do with the fruit to the kids," she said. "I'm hoping the kids will come to the conclusion that they should write to NASA for direction.

Students will not be allowed to eat the tomatoes, Parker said.

Parker said the information gathered by local students will go into a national data bank. She would not

But Crockett said that he is not worried about any radiation risks associated with the tomatos.

"We have reports from the FDA that they are okay," he said. "The kids can't take them home to eat, but I plan to." National debate was sparked when The Los Angles Times qouted an internal memo that stated: "There is a remote possiblity that radiation-cause mutations could cause the plants to produce toxic fruit."

However, NASA officials maintain that the goute was taken out of context.

Schools test tomatoes

By MIKE TYREE Staff Winter

Budding young scientists in Northville Public Schools are conducting experiments that would have had Hollywood B-film science fiction producers of the 1950s clamoring for the movie rights.

As part of a nationwide project, students in fifth- and seventh-grade classes in Northville are experimenting with tomato seeds that have had six years worth of exposure to outer space conditions. But the idea of outof-control tests and resultant mutant tomatoes rolling and squishing a destructive path across the manicured subdivisions of the area isn't even food for thought, according to a school official.

"I don't think there is any danger to the kids," said Betty Parker, director of the school district's science, math and technology center.

Parker said the school district jumped at the chance to land some of the 12.5 million tomato seeds that had spent six years floating in outer space aboard the Long Duration Exposure Facility satellite. The seeds were stowed in the satellite via a cooperative venture between NASA and the Park Seed Company, and were recovered by the crew of the Space Shuttle Columbia on Jan. 12.

Seeds were dispersed to approximately four million students and 40,000 educators across the nation, according to NASA. Parker said she requested enough seeds for all the fifth-grade classes to plant and examine, but allocations were sufficient only to test the green

"NASA granted only a limited opportunity; only so many teachers could get involved," she said. "We'll have about 200 kids working on the

Parker said students received seed packets in March and immature plants are beginning to sprout. The young scientists will be comparing their space tomatoes to standard Earth-strain plants, and will be looking for mutations such as changes in fruit size and color, growth rate, and leaf, stem, and stalk shapes and

The plants should reach maturity by mid-June, when results of the experiment are due to be forwarded to ASA, Parker said.

During the six years aboard the satellite, the seeds were subjected to cosmic radiation, temperature extremes, weightlessness and the vacuum of space. Questions have been raised about the potential for the seeds and plants to contain toxic substances, but Parker said tomatoes from the project will not be

"NASA has told us it is safe," she said. We didn't really have a concern about radiation affecting students.

"As part of the scientific process, we will pose the question of what to do with the fruit to the kids," she said. "I'm hoping the kids will come to the conclusion that they should write to NASA for direction.

Students will not be allowed to eat the tomatoes, Parker said.

Parker said the information gathered by local students will go into thumbs of fifth-graders at Moraine a national data bank. She would not

Curriculum plan to be discussed at local levels

Local school districts will soon be commenting on the State Board of Education's core curriculum proposal.

The proposal would be part of a 26-step process aimed at preparing high school graduates for the workplace in a 21st Century world economy and a multi-racial society.

The core curriculum will also help verify that all students have attained necessary educational outcomes in the essential skill areas," said the board statement, approved in a bipartisan 8-0 vote recently.

"Local boards of education will determine the manner in which the core curriculum is delivered," the elected state board said.

Working under a new school quality law, Superintendent of Public Instruction Donald Bemis indicated a sharp change in direction - away from specifying hours of study tow-ard testing graduates for work and citizenship skills.

Once the bureaucratic review process is completed, the state board is scheduled in September to approve the model core curriculum and distribute it to every public and nonpublic school in the state.

In fall, state Department of Education staffers will conduct workshops with county intermediate school improvement specialists and local district curriculum people.

The 26th step, in July of 1991, is for all districts to receive the new core curriculum.

A key goal, the the state board said, will be to teach "problem sol-"active rather than passive ving," learning" and building skills for a lifetime of learning.

The board picked up language suggested by the Governor's Task Force on Employability Skills — the so-called Iacocca-Fraser Commission: "A Michigan student will be a competent and productive participant in society capable of applying knowledge in diverse situations in written and spoken language capable of learning over a lifetime." Core curriculum areas, as defined by the state board, are:

• Arts education—"music, visual arts, drama and dance," with emphasis on appreciation.

 Health and physical education "a healthy lifestyle physically, mentally and emotionally. • Language arts education "reading, writing, speaking, listening and literature, with emphasis on using language arts as part of the whole curriculum. · Mathematics and science edu-entific literacy and technology."

 World studies -- "history, civics, economics, geography and the study of a foreign language, as well as the promotion of values such as personal and social responsibility, the dignity of work, sensitivity to our multicultural society, and the responsibilities of democracy."

Five "interdisciplinary areas" are to teach "the management of oneself, the ability to work with others and the application of the above essential skills." They are:

 Life management — including ethical personal decision-making, consumer behavior, family roles, parenthood and nurturing.

· Vocational preparation · ployment, leadership, social skills, group problem-solving, reasoning and entrepreneurship.

 Employability — academic, personal management and teamwork skills.

 Aesthetic appreciation — use of leisure time, use of community resources, verbal and non-verbal communications.

· Technological - use of technology and "technological literacy."

The State Board of Education was working on the model curriculum even before the state Legislature mandated it in Public Act 25 of 1990, cation — "quantitative and analytic reasoning and problem solving, sci-damage was still evident. There were several small dead fish, crayfish and worms littering the bottom of the creek," he said.

"I checked around and couldn't find any source of it," Petres said after his investigation. "Apparently it was a short-term thing. When we talked with a DNR (Department of Natural Resources) officer, they didn't seem overly concerned about it."

"My guess was that it could have very well been something from a swimming pool. I don't know what else it might have been," he said.

The police department reviewed the case with the DNR Tuesday. Petres contacted Maggie Fields of the DNR's surface water quality division, who is investigating the possibility that a local pool was accidentally drained into the creek through a storm sewer system.
"At this point, it looks like we found it," Petres said.

"Hopefully it won't happen any more."

College hosts seminar

Schoolcraft College is hosting its annual sewing seminar for sewing enthusiasts on Friday and Saturday, May 11-12. "This is the ninth year for this creative event," said a Schoolcraft spokesperson, "and due to popular demand we have expanded it to a two day program." This year it will include a hands-on, day-long work-shop on Friday plus over forty workshops on Saturday."

Registration is being accepted now for the Sewing Seminar with a descriptive brochure available by calling Schoolcraft College, Continuing Education Services, at 462-4448. Open to the public, the seminar is priced at $65 per person for the Friday hands-on workshop (including kit and luncheon); and $45 per person for the Saturday sessions with lunch optional at $7. Interested persons can register for both the Friday and Saturday sessions at a special price of $105. The Friday workshop is limited to 40 participants.

Participants must bring their own sewing machine. No equipment is needed for the Saturday workshop. Sewing expert Margaret Islander will present the Friday seminar, "Industrial Shortcuts for the Home Sewer." Islander, whose focus is to make sewing a joy and personally fulfilling, teaches time-saving methods to the clothing manufacturing industry and individuals. She is a frequent consultant to production businesses and dressmakers. In addition, Islander owns and operates the Island School of Fashion Arts in Oregon. Islander and her unique sewing techniques have been featured in Vogue, Butterick, Sew News, and other sewing related publications.

On Saturday, 40 separate workshops will be offered by top instructors in their field. Working with beautiful sheer fabrics like chiffon and silks, luxurious ultrasuede techniques, old-fashioned battenberg lace, window treatments for today and creative home decorating with fabrics, plus quilted clothing, sewing with handwoven fabrics, tailoring and speed quilting will be included. In addition sessions will address the special skills in sewing for the petite figure, sewing for the man in your life, all about linings, tailoring, special accessories, all about patterns, buttonholes and knitting machines.

Want to know the secrets of sewing faux fur? There's a special double session on this timely subject as there is on fitting jackets and pants, surface and fabric design, alterations and makeovers, and pattern drafting. Other double sessions include the unique art of pictograms, brazilian embroidery and chatelaine construction.

The 18th Annual Conference on physical activity for older adults emphasizing leadership, "Fitness is Ageless", is being held at Schoolcraft College on Thursday, May 3. The conference will take place from 8:30 a.m. to 3:45 p.m. in the Physical Education Building. The fee is $25.

is open to the public. The conference is of special interest to individuals responsible for Community Recreation, Senior Center Programs, Adult Education, YMCA & YWCA Programs, Retirement Housing Programs, Nutrition Programs and Nursing Home Programs.

Sessions include: Making Good People Better, Good Nutrition is Ageless. Gourmet Healthy and Tasty Cooking for Seniors, and Let's Have a Party, a participatory exercise in organizing a recreational activity using dance and rhythmical movement.

For further information, please call 462-4413.

Several Schoolcraft College Culinary Art Salon Team members received international awards at one of the world's top culinary events, the Salon Culinaire, in Singapore. Schoolcraft was the only United States college in the competition which brought approximately 1,500 of the world's most successful chefs and food consultants to Singapore.

Team members were honored with the following awards: Pamela Ford Knauss received a gold medal, Kelly Lewton received a silver medal, Darren Wendall received a silver medal, and Rob Welker received a bronze medal. Master Chef Jeffrey Gabriel received two silver medals and the United States Team, in which Gabriel served as Captain, took fourth place. Team manager Kevin Gawronski, certified executive chef, received a bronze medal. Assistant to the captain Mary Brady, certifled executive chef, received a bronze medal.

New city assessor on the job

By STEVE KELLMAN Staff Writer

Northville's city assessor, Mark Christiansen, sees his role as the city's newest employee to evenly distribute the city's property tax burden rather than to make sure each property is assessed as high as possible.

"I've always viewed my function as an assessor to create equity and conformity between different properties," he said, "rather than making sure that any one property is assessed at the full 50 percent of the market value."

Christiansen's first assignment as a Northville employee was to attend an Oakland County seminar on a recent change in state law. The change requires that each property be physically viewed at least once every five years during the reassessment process

Christiansen described the new rule as an "interpretation of the law in a practical sense. It's an attempt to sort of tighten up on the law."

City officials have long maintained that the city's commercial district has been underassessed. Christiansen explained. The Wayne County Equalization Department has not performed an in-depth reassessment of the city's commercial properties since 1974, due to their lack of staff. Their staffing limitations are just greater, apparently, than Oakland Frankly, the new law has an impact on why I am now an employee here," Christiansen said.

"A major goal of mine is to reappraise the commercial property for the first time in many years," he said.

during his reassessment, as well as overall changes in the patterns of value in different areas.

I fully plan to make myself a public servant," Christiansen said. "I want to encourage all people who have a problem with their assessments to see me." He encouraged property owners with questions to approach him at his City Hall office throughout the year, rather than waiting for the Board of Review hearings in March.

"My function isn't to tax people higher or lower their taxes," he explained. "It's to take whatever I'm told the tax will be and to equitably distribute the burden. The state calls for uniformity in assessing practices."

A former Brighton assessor and treasurer, he compared his present position to the his first assignment in Brighton, when he served as both assessor and assistant city manager simultaneously. One of his main assignments there was obtaining federal ands state grants for the municipality's use.

"I was at Brighton through three different city managers," Christiansen said, adding that the experience gave him practice in dealing with different managerial styles, and three different views of his own

Christiansen said he was pleased at the prospect of coming to Northville. He had asked Northville City Manager Steven Walters about potential employment opportunities in the city when he left Brighton in

"It's one of the few municipalities that I've always had a penchant to work for," Christiansen said. "It was Christiansen said he'll be looking an opportunity for me to secure a for physical changes to the properties position that I've wanted for a num-

While he took a job in the private sector for career advancement, Christiansen said he came to Northville because he liked the community.

"I'm looking to really have a career here, do the best job I can and perform a service for the community," he

The timing is absolutely perfect. coming right at the end of an assessing cycle," he added. The next year will allow him to learn the community before performing his own Christiansen hopes to be able to develop some consistency between assessing in Wayne and Oakland counties, which have varied from year to year because the service has been performed by the respective county's assessing departments. There have been some inequities because of the two counties," Christiansen agreed.

City proposes own fast response medical team

about 10 percent of their responses took more than 10 minutes.

The Fire Department has an average response time of about 4.6 mi nutes," Allen added.

Currently, 12 of the fire department's 22 firefighters are trained as EMTs, while another is completing the training. "Getting that sort of training to the scene in-between can make a big difference," Ott said. "It can make the difference between life and death."

Ott pointed out that when a patient stops breathing, permanent brain damage is very likely after six minutes.

"We're not suggesting that this is any adverse reflection on CEMS," Ott said. "It's just a matter of fact, frankly, about the way the private ambulance businesses have to run."

"It's not unusual for units responding to Northville to be coming from as far away as Eight Mile and Grand River, because that's where the nearest one is," Ott said. "And it happens more than once a year that we get a call, 'Community has no units available'."

The department must then call out to another ambulance service or wait until a CEMS unit is free to respond.

CEMS provides medical service to Farmington, Farmington Hills, Novi. Rochester, Redford Township, Romulus. Taylor and other downriver communities, as well as the Northville community.

The policy would also free up police officers from the scene, said City Manager Steven Walters, an important consideration given the city council's plan to lay off one patrol officer as part of its budget cuts (see related story).

Under the fire department's proposal, all of the department's medically trained personnel would be called into the station during a medical emergency, and two to three would be dispatched in the department's mini-pumper to the emergency itself. The rest would man the station to handle any additional

The fire department estimated the cost of implementing the system at about $20,000 the first year. An estimated $2,215 of that would provide the additional medical equipment needed, while $18,000 would pay the estimated additional payroll to the medically trained personnel.

The additional payroll expense is based on the number of medical runs made in 1988 and assumes a onehour duration on the calls.

The fire department proposal is intended to "supplement, not replace the current system." Allen said.

"It not only decreases the amount of time to get trained help to the patient," Ott said, "but it also decreases the overall amount of time before a patient gets to his ultimate destination, the hospital." Northville personnel can do much of the preparatory work needed before a patient is ready to be transported, what Ott referred to as "packaging the patient," saving CEMS personnel the time and trou-ble of doing it when they arrive.

"I think this is important enough that we just need to work this out," Walters said. The council voted unanimously for the proposal.

casting ballots opposed the library

"Now the fun starts," Switzler said at 7:30 p.m. This (counting) machine had better work."

As Switzler, Cook, Molloy and Kubitskey attempted to ready the machine for the count, the hour for the polls to close neared.

At 8 p.m., absentee ballots were taken into the boardroom. It soon became apparent that the machine was not going to work that evening, even though a repairman had checked it

Township hall soon began to fill with those curious as to the outcome of the vote.

Petrie, Trustee James Nowka, Wayne County Commissioner Susan Heintz and Treasurer Betty Lennox nervously joked and made small talk. Township Manager Richard Henliams, Thomas Handyside and Richard Allen greeted supporters. Northville Mayor Christopher Johnson made an appearance.

Hampton and fellow Halleropposition members posted themselves near the bulletin board awaiting early returns.

At 9:15 p.m., Cook tacked up the results of the absentee ballots. Hampton nodded his approval as no votes outnumbered yes votes. A few minutes later, Cook posted the numbers from Precinct One. No votes outnumbered yes votes by 100

"I said if we won it would be close and if we lost we would get killed," Petrie said. "It doesn't look like it's going to be close."

As precincts continuously reported a majority of no votes, library supporters in the hallway thinned. "I think I've seen enough," Nowka said, rising to leave.

As defeat of the library plan became clear, tension mounted between members of the Hampton group and library supporters. An exiting library proponent called the group a derogatory name.

Cook emerged from the boardroom just before 11 p.m. to announce unofficial results.

"Release it, it's over," he told Sue Stinson, who was handling telephone requests for information from residents and media personnel.

ACT NOW TO CUT YOUR PROPERTY TAX ASSESSMENT 20%

Richard H. Headlee, Chairman Taxpayers United for Assessment Cuts

Dear Fellow Taxpayer

Once again our elected public officials have demonstrated an insensitivity to the plight of the homeowners and the taxpayers in our state. Assessments are rising at significant rates. Individuals are being forced out of their homes and life-long neighborhoods. Calloused, insensitive public officials refuse to take meaningful corrective action.

This leaves no alternative to citizens but to take the actions necessary to reduce oppressive unfair property taxes

Please sign the petition below and obtain the signatures of your neighbors and return it to our headquarters immediately

Thank you for your assistance in our efforts to roll back your property tax assessments by 20% over the next two years

Sincerely, Wiel Stade

HEADLEE TAX CUT INITIATIVE

Headlee Tax Cut Initiative will cut your Property Tax Assessment 20%

This is your chance to write your own property tax assessment cut. Counties throughout Michigan have levied 1990 property tax assessments more than double the rate of inflation. That's not fair. If your family is fed up with budget-breaking property tax assessments, join Dick Headlee and Taxpayers United for Assessment Cuts to initiate legislation to:

- 1. Cut each property tax assessment 10% on December 31, 1990 and approximately 10% the next year.
- 2. Force the State Legislature to fund from the State General Fund any local revenue lost by the 20% cut.
- 3. Allow any taxpayer to bring suit in his/her own County Circuit Court to enforce this statute with attorney fees paid by the taxing body at 150% of actual expense if the taxpayer prevails. No cost of any nature shall be levied against a plaintiff taxpayer.

ACTION PLAN for HEADLEE TAX CUT INITIATIVE

- A. Obtain 240,000 signatures of registered voters by May 15.
- B. State Board of Canvassers, Secretary of State has up to 60 days to certify the validity of the signatures.
- C. The Secretary of State will submit the exact petition language, written by taxpayers, to the State Legislature for approval or rejection. The State Legislature has 40 days to adopt or reject the petition language. If the Legislature adopts the petition language, it becomes law.
- D. If the Legislature rejects the petition of taxpayers for the 20% cut on each property tax assessment in Michigan, the petition language will automatically go on the November 6, 1990 General Election Ballot.
- E. If the Legislature fails to respond to taxpayers, and the Headlee Tax Cut Initiative is put on the November 6 Ballot, voters can effectively vote to cut their own property tax assessment by 20%.

Any Michigan voter may sign this petition known as the Headlee Tax Cut Initiative. First make sure that all signers on the same petition are from the same County. You don't have to have all seven spaces filled in. Any number over one is valid if the Circulator portion in the lower right corner is filled in.

Join Taxpayers United for Assessment Cuts (a registered ballot committee) by writing or calling:

Dispute over legality of dug drainage trenches

By STEVE KELLMAN and SHEILA PHILLIPS

Two men were found digging pos sible illegal drainage trenches between wetlands in Novi and Wixom near the Beck/West road intersection last Thursday for what one said were agricultural purposes.

However, one Wixom official speculated that the work may be in pre paration for an industrial park planned for the two sites

The guy doing the drainage told us that he was contracted to get the property ready for agricultural use and that he was just setting up natural drainage ditches," Wixom City Manager William Barlow said

*But I get the sense that this activ ity was done with the knowledge of Northern Equities Group — the new property owner," he added. "The industrial park planned for the site could have had something to do with the drainage being done.

He said he spoke with company representatives about the planned industrial park a few weeks ago, but no site plans have been submitted.

The potential wetlands violations occurred on April 26 and April 27, and since that time all digging has haulted pending a Department of Natural Resources investigation.

Responding to a Wixom resident's complaint, Wixom Police found Alex Renner of Farmington Hills digging a four foot wide, 300 foot-long trench on the Wixom site, draining the

*What used to be 10 to 15 acres of swamp is now down to one," said Nick Kennedy, who reported the incident.

According to Wixom police, Renner was employed by Keith Swan of Novi, who was plowing the 116-acre Novi site north of W*st Road at the Swan insisted to police that he didn't need a DNR permit to dig the trench because he was draining the land for agricultural purposes, according to the Wixom report.

Swan also told the police he was employed by the owners of the property, Northern Equities, and that the drainage operations were being conducted with their knowledge and approval.

However, Northern Equities' Dave Stewart denied that his company had any knowledge of the wetland encroachments, despite the fact the company was issued the citation for the incident three days prior to his

phone conversation with a Novi News

Furthermore, he would not confirm that his company had or was about to purchase the land, or planned to build an I-1 park as stated by Wixom officials.

Both cities and DNR officials are still trying to figure out the extent of the wetlands damage, and whether the property owners will face any

The DNR was notified by Wixom officials about the encroachment in the city last Thursday, but Lt. Cliff Johnson of the Pontiac enforcement division said his department was unaware of the drainage on the Novi property until they received a followup call from the Novi News May 1.

Novi officials were notified of the digging at the Novi site Friday. April 27, by a Novi News reporter. Novi Building Inspector Earl Balley said a soil erosion expert inspected the area at that time and found another canal dug on the 116-acre property to the northeast of the Wixom site. He said the buildozer operator told Novi officials that he was irrigating the area for a corn crop.

We will issue them a ticket because you can't farm in an I-1 district and you can't build ditches between wetlands without a DNR permit," Bailey said.

However, Novi City Attorney Dennis Watson said that a ticket might not be issued because he is unsure if drainage for agricultural purposes constitutes a wetlands violation. He refused to comment further.

Wixom Building Inspector Sid Woryn, who inspected the Wixom site Friday, said. "We're waiting for the DNR to respond to get their input. and then we'll act based on that.
He agreed that the Wixom drainage was a violation of that city's ordinances, but is waiting to find out the DNR's stance before ordering any remedial action, including filling in of the ditch. Woryn did not know when he would hear from the DNR regarding its position.

Complaints have already been issued to Swan, Renner, and Neil Sosin of Northern Equities Group for violations of Wixom's wetlands ordi-

A court hearing is set for 1:30 p.m. Wednesday, May 9 at the 52nd District Court in Walled Lake in regard to Wixom enchroachment.

A vacation must-see

Northville on family's priority visit list

By MIKE TYREE Staff Writer

When Sam Rushwaya brought his family on a trip to the United States from their home in Zimbabwe, he made sure they hit all the hot spots.

"New York, Orlando and Disney World, San Francisco . . . and Northville," Rushwaya said during an interview last week.

Actually, Rushwaya and his family wife Joyce, daughters Chengeta and Nyasha and son Mauru - were the guests last week of Dan and Sue McDavid of Northville.

Sam Rushwaya and Dan McDavid met at an executive management seminar at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1987, McDavid

"Sam had expressed an interest in coming to the U.S. and he had an interest in the automotive industry, McDavid said. "He called (recently) and wanted to know if they could be our guests."

The McDavids jumped at the chance and spent the week hosting the African family and leading tours to auto plants, Greenfield Village and other local attractions.

Many aspects of the visit left a positive imprint on the Rushwaya

"I was impressed with the size of the automotive plants and by the size and complexity of the automation," Rushwaya said in a distinct British accent.

"I was also surprised at the number of black people and women working at the plants," he said. "We tend to think of the U.S. as mainly white and I did not expect to see that many Rushwaya, chief executive of a fire protection branch of the textile industry in Zimbabwe, said his family had enjoyed their stay in the states.

"The people in Orlando and Detroit vere very nice," he said. "I feel very welcome here as compared to Manhattan.'

Mauru, 11, rolled his eyes when asked about his impression of New

"The cab drivers, they were not friendly," he said. "I liked the Magic Kingdom (Disney World) best of all." A young athlete who enjoys cricket, rugby, swimming and field hockey. Mauru clutched his prize souvenir of the U.S. tour - a professional wrestling magazine — as he spoke.

"I would like to go to school (college) here," he'said, adding, "buy me a Nintendo and I'll be quite happy." Chengeta, 14, said she had no plans for an extended stay in the U.S. "I like it but I don't think I'd like to live here or go to college here," she said. "Everybody's busy and rushing

Seven-year-old Nyasha enjoyed the "stores, dinners, and the television programs" and said she liked to play on the grass and "I like the chipmunks" that live around the McDavid home. Joyce, named after an English missionary who helped her mother, is a clothing designer. She created the flowing, brightly-colored native gowns worn by the women during their stay at the McDavids.

Of special note was the intricately braided hair of the women in the Rushwaya family. The hair is worn in braids "most, but not all of the time."

"New York, Orlando and Disney World, San Francisco . . . and Northville."

> Sam Rushwaya Touring U.S. from Zimbabwe

Rushwaya said Zimbabwe is a developing country of approximately 10 million that is struggling to diversify its economy. He said 10-12 percent of the nation's population is unemployed.

Agriculture is the country's biggest employer, he said, adding that manufacturing, mining, and the textile industry are also major employers.

Rushwaya said he sensed that the U.S. government had a renewed concern for his country after years of relative neglect.

"I have felt in the past that the U.S. has not been as supportive of black causes," he said. "Throughout the Reagan administration, I didn't feel they were that interested. Reagan was not regarded as having a friendly posture toward Zimbabwe," he said.

"I have sensed that the new administration is more sympathetic," he Zimbabwe gained its independence in 1980 after years of struggle against the rule of Ian Smith and Rhodesian troops, but Rushwaya said the country has not acted rashly against its former white oppressors.

"It would be wrong to assume that whites will be driven into the sea," he said. "Smith lives there; he is a free

"Lots of whites are still in business," he said. "We're trying to create more opportunities for blacks to be brought into (the system).

The government is following a pol icy of national reconciliation," he said. "In an effort to become a viable country, (we're saying) you can't forget the past, but let's forgive."

ited in Zimbabwe, Rushwaya said.

dents attend college in the country. with 50,000 reaching the level of high school graduation and 300,000 children leaving school after the eighth grade, he said.

And families do not enjoy many of the comforts that people in the U.S. may take for granted, Joyce said. We do not have the dishwashers and microwaves," she said. "Not every house has the washers and dryers and other products that they have here. Nor do they have color television.

We can't buy color televisions at the moment," Rushwaya said. "We can broadcast and transmit in color but we can't receive color.

"All these things in due time will come," he said. The McDavids hope to visit their new friends in the future. They are just the most delightful people," Sue McDavid said.

Weight Loss Pill 'Baffles' Scientists

WASHINGTON - Scientists are baffled by a new weight loss for-mula that causes people to lose weight even though they don't change the way they normally eat Studies published in respected scientific journals such as The British Journal of Nutrition say that cyamopsis tetragonolobus, an ingredient often used to thicken ice cream, can cause permanent weight loss without dieting or exercise. Although several explana-tions for the weight loss are suggested, the most likely according to scientists is that the ingredient seems to "trap" high calorie fat particles, decreasing their absorption in the intestines

Scientists at National Dietary Research, an organization committed to the research and development of nutritional solutions to world-wide health problems, have successfully isolated and incorporated cvamopsis tetra gonolobus into an improved formula that greatly enhances the potential for weight loss over the ingredient alone. Called Food Source One, the revolutionary new formula pro-

Our Opinions Graffiti vandals are not so smooth

There is nothing romantic or childishly innocent about the newest addition to the Northville scenery - the words and actions of the so-called "Smooth Criminals.

There is a tendency to look the other way when graffiti crops up around schools or construction sites. Children will be children, we say. But that graffiti is vandalism. And when you add to it the acts of damage to cars and now the threat to a police officer, even the most liberal of thinkers must realize that these are not pranks.

The Northville Township and Northville City police are taking these acts of vandalism very seriously. So are neighboring police forces. It's time for the community to take the matter seriously, too. Damage to cars and buildings is ad-

There are far bigger crimes committed everyday. But just because something is less than a felony does not make it less of an important item in the fabric of the community. In Northville, our police news is generally filled with random acts of vandalism and larceny. When a pattern develops, that signals trouble of a different kind. And when evidence points to the inclusion of children in continued acts of vandalism, the community and particularly parents, need to be

The youth of Northville are for the most part an exceptional lot. You have only to look at the other side of the news that appears in the paper this week. Children are placing in regional and state science competitions. The Northville Choir has had another outstanding season. Advance placement tests are now going on at the high school for those students preparing for college. Athletic teams are building morale and sportsmanship qualities and academics are challenging young people's minds.

The newest group on the scene is in no way an indictment of the youth of Northville. It is a blot on an otherwise good community, however.

Anyone seeing suspicious activity should notify the police immediately. Any parent noticing spray paint cans, unusual hours, or other signs of participation, obviously needs to be aware of the potential for trouble it implies.

There is nothing smooth about juvenile crime and the sooner everyone realizes it the better.

Furor over tomato seeds is overblown

I say to-may-to, you say to-mah-to, and the Los Angeles Times says toxic mutation. It's all a matter of perspective.

When the press release arrived in our office - announcing that Novi's Orchard Hills Elementary School was taking part in a nationwide study to look at the effects of cosmic radiation on tomato seeds — it sounded pretty interesting. We had the typist type up the release, figuring it would make a nice bright item for the paper.

Then we decided to see where the Northville schools stood on the subject vegetables.

The seeds were exposed to radiation as part of a six-year satellite voyage. The space shuttle Columbia recovered the satellite in January, and NASA and the Park Seed Co. sent 180,000 seed kits to schools all over America. The students were to plant the space seeds and regular seeds and observe any differences. NASA planned to coordinate the results into a final report.

Little did we know that the tomatoes contained the evil specter of possible mutation. Suddenly the program was splashed all over every major newspaper in the country, all thanks to the Times, which quoted an internal NASA memo saying that there is a remote possibility "that radiation-caused mutations could cause the plants to produce toxic fruit.

Good heavens. This revelation understandably worried people involved in the program, leading to some agonizing reappraisal in schools across the

Everyone involved with the program is completely downplaying the risk, saying it amounts to about the same risk we take eating anything at all. The seeds were tested for radioactivity, and showed no signs of it.

Here in Northville, school officials plan to monitor the students' use of the tomato plants. The science experiments will measure outward appearance and the students will not be allowed to eat the fruit. The same applies in Novi. How the tomatoes will eventually be disposed of is up in the air. The students will be asked to think that one through.

In spite of the quote from the memo. we tend to trust NASA on this one. If there was the tiniest real chance that anything would be wrong with the grown-up space tomatoes, NASA would be opening itself up to 180,000 lawsuits. It is not about to take that risk.

So what's to be learned from all this sound and fury? First, be careful how you write your memos, no matter how internal they may be. And second, keep your vegetables in the ground where they belong.

A tale of two turnouts ways told not apples and oranges, but I'm going to go ahead and do it anyway.

The occasion of this cavalier disregard for conventional wisdom is a couple of recent elections in the area: one in Novi, one on the other side of Eight Mile in Northville Township.

Maybe you heard about Novi's April 3 vote on a half-mill proposal to buy park land. It went down by almost a 2-1 margin, with a voter turnout of 6 percent.

Exactly four weeks later — this Tuesday — Northville Township voters were faced with a pair of ballot proposals which would have taxed them at 1 >

We're al- mills to build a new library. These, too, went down almost 2-1, with a turnout of to compare about 27 percent.

> Aside from the actual outcomes of these votes, the thing I find most interesting is the turnout. Why 6 percent in Novi and 27 percent in Northville

> Now, to repeat, I know I'm comparing two situations with many differences. The proposals were for different things completely: Northville's tax would have been heavier than Novi's: Northville's election had organized opposition to the proposal at hand, while Novi's did not; Novi's proposal had gone before voters once before, while Northville's had not; and, not insignificantly, Northville's election had much better weather.

Still, there are enough similarities these were two millage proposals on quality-of-life kinds of issues, aione on the ballot — that their turnouts can be justifiably compared. And I don't understand it.

Make no mistake: 27 percent is nothing to crow about. But for a singleissue election on a local tax proposal, it's really pretty decent. Six percent is not.

No one should ever be pointing to a 27-percent turnout as an example of a caring, involved citizenry, but that's what happens when there are turnouts as low as 6 percent. In reality, 27 percent is terrible; it's just not as terrible as 6 percent. Do people really care that little. about what happens in their town?

Complaining about the government, at all levels, is up there with baseball and television as one of the great American pastimes. Unfortunately, voting is not.

Festival planning hard work time I mentioned the Victorian Festival around the office. I was hit with a barrage of flying objects and yelling employees. A moratorium on last year, any-

anything having to do with the Victorian era was declared. I was told I could not speak about the color mauve, about costumes, balls or any other event having to do with Northville's Victorian Festival for six months.

You see, I had become a Victorian cultist. As a member of the coordinating committee for the festival I had become a fanatic. They say admitting the problem is the first step to curing it. I'm skeptical.

It's all beginning again. A few of us from the central Victorian Festival committee went to a seminar in Gaylord last week. The seminar was on how to put on festivals. We went up hoping to pick up some pointers on fund-raising, enter- darn festival. tainment booking and how to make things work smoother.

As we drove up in the wee hours of Thursday morning I felt in control. I would be able to take notes and keep my distance from the festival this year. It would be a project — but not a consuming passion.

Nice try. I took notes and I nodded at appropriate times. But the whole time they were discussing why a community throws a festival I was thinking cultist thoughts.

Apparently communities put on festivals for a variety of reasons and attracting tourism dollars can be a big one. In Northville the impetus for starting the festival was something a little more special. The Northville Victorian Festival is a celebration of the community's rich history and its continuing small-town ambiance. It's fun to show off the community but it's even more important to enjoy the people that live here. And that's at the heart of why I can't seem to keep my distance from this

We're starting work again in earnest and we're looking for volunteers to get involved in making the second annual Victorian Festival a true community event. It is a lot of work, and the more hands available the more we can do and the better we can do it. But there's another reason to get involved.

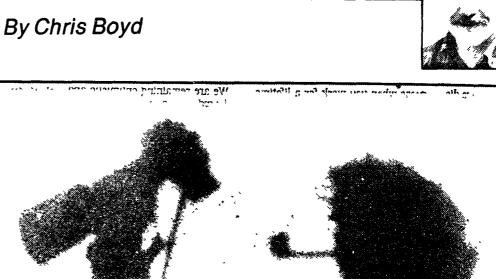

It's a lot of fun. Sharing work makes you a part of things. Becoming involved in the festival means becoming involved in the community. It means meeting residents from all over Northville, not just from down the street. And on Sept. 14-16 this year it means truly celebrating a rich history and an even richer future.

Call the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce at 349-7640 to join up. I figure the more people I get to join my cuit, the less people there are to throw things on Sept. 17.

Doff the cap

Hats off to the city council. In January 1988 they voted to pave much of the park behind the Cady Street Scout building (beside the cemetary). The parking was to be used by post office employees and provide parking space credits toward the MainCentre's obligations. At their April 16 meeting, the council recognized that this rationale no longer applied, since the post office may move and it makes little sense to pave a park to earn credits for aproject that is building a parking deck. The council sensibly decised to consider anew whether to pave any parkland (and, if so, how much).

It is challenging enough to make decisions once, let alone a second time. The council deserves credit for listening to citizen concerns and agreeing to reconsider their earlier decision in light of rapidly changing circumstances

That reconsideration will occur at the council meeting on Monday, May
7. At that meeting the Council should remember several points:

 Paving even part of the park would destroy one of its special virtues, namely, safety from cars. That park is a uniquely isolated play area. · Of course street parking should be considered in determining whether parking needs would be met. Cady Street is empty except for one or two MAG functions a month. Far better to plan around those than destroy a park.

· As a couple of council members have noted (and as should be ovious this close to Earth Day), one shouldn't pave until a building's long-term use is known. One also shouldn't pave merely to satisfy a formula that is undergoing review. Paving parkland should be a last resort, not a first reaction.

A response

We feel compelled to respond to two topics in the April 19, 1990 Letters to the Editor.

First, the attack by Gerald Plesca on Barbara O'Brien is unfounded. Of course Mrs. O'Brien has a passion for trees. Trees are what separate us from the soulless, row-house subdivisions in other, fully-developed communities. We think Ms. O'Brien provides a balance of opinion on the Planning Commission that ensures that all aspects of the issues are discussed. The fact that Ms. O'Brien requests explanations before making a decision indicates her willingness to consider the issues in public. Thank her for her consistency in voting for township quality of life rather than unbridled development.

Second, we support Charles De-Land's caution regarding the industrial proposal of the DeMattia development. Pursuing revenues for educational funds through development is like a dog chasing its tail. Initially, it seems like a good idea to have industry paying taxes with minimal government services. However, the people that work in those industries will soon be attracted to this area, build more houses here, drive more cars, consume more government services, and around it goes. If you doubt this scenario, look to our neighbors to the

If better schools are needed, then the parents must be willing to pay for them. We realize this industrial option is an enticing idea to the school superintendent, but it does not work in the long run. Think of the best communities in the metropolitan Detroit area. How much industry do

To the Editor:

Last month I received our new property assessment for 1990. We purchased our condo and closed on 11/15/88. On the assessing date, two weeks later, the 1989 assessment came through for more than we paid the builder. We appealed to the Board of Review and they lowered it to 50 percent of what we paid for it.

I am under the assumption that property is to be assessed at 50 percent of the market value. This year our assessment was raised $20,000. That means our condo went up $40,000 in value. I did buy with the intention of making money on it but not all in the first year.

The builder raised the basic price $10,000 so I expected an increase of $5,000. If the builder could get another $30,000 in profit, he wouldd be delighted. Common sense tells me

The value of a home is what a willing buyer and a willing seller agree

The appeals board reduced my assessment by $3,000 so I went down to see the assessor in person. He gave me some excuse about the project isn't finished, etc. etc. For all the dust of construction, I should pay more. The man in front of me had his Board of Review rejection on his hardship case. His earnings for 1989 were $5,400 and his taxes were 80 percent of what he had earned. I guess when you work for a lifetime paying for a home, you can no longer live there because the taxes take all your earnings. He was told to go to the Tax Tribunal.

I was told to go to the Tax Tribunal too. It appears to me that we have asessors and Board of Review people that do not know the first thing about assessing the value of real estate.

They shove off their lack of knowlege to the Tax Tribunal and you have to waste your time in Lansing fighting a case that is as simple as "two plus two equals four."

I can see a disagreement on an older home but when you recently purchased a brand-new home, gave them the closing papers plus a brochure on what the new ones are selling for today, you have a simple problem that should be settled at the local

I have always voted for millage increases in the past 33 years of living in the Northville School System but no more. You just received a big fat raise from me and my neighbors. From now on you will just have to get along on what you have. I have to. Dean H. Lenheiser

Ward news

To the Editor: On behalf of the original plaintiffs who filed an appeal with our township regarding the Ward Church height variance, we would like to thank the Record for its coverage and kind letter from the Editor. We would also like to thank the hundreds of citizens who supported this appeal with not only their generous donations, but also their time.

While we were successful in the reversal of the variance, the issue is far from being resolved. It appears that Ward will again come before the Zoning Board of Appeals and ask for their height variance. Their attorney even asked the judge if the old ZBA members could hear the variance again. (We now have a new chairperson and member on the ZBA.)

This community sent a loud and strong message to the township and Ward that we are concerned citizens. It appears Ward blatantly ignored the spirit and intent" of our 48 foot height ordinance by designing a 107 foot structure. They were aware that the township and citizens had concerns about the height from the very beginning.

In a booklet Ward prepared for the township, they said they wanted to be "good neighbors." Well, I take exception to that comment. If this were truly the case, they would come to our planning commission with a church design that fits within our zoning ordinances! I doubt this will

We are remaining optimistic and will anxiously await the scheduled date of the ZBA meeting to again hear this variance.

To the Editor:

Our awareness of the environment was sparked recently with the celebration of earth day. It was encouraging to see the genuine concern residents of Northville have towards the

Therefore, I find it hard to comprehend why, for over 30 years, the landfill on Six Mile and Napier Roads has been allowed to progress to a point of such deterioration. As a resident of Northville for most of my life, specifically the Salem Township area, my family has been subjected to the stench, noise, well polluting, high traffic, dust and blowing garbage as a result of the B.F.I. Landfill.

Salem Township officials have pacified residents of this area for years by informing us that the landfill is in its last years of operation as it has nearly reached its capacity. However, in 1989, Salem Township approved a new west end extension of the dump without any notice to area residents. In addition, other sites are currently being considered in the same area for more dumping with no end in sight.

We rely on our city and township officials to make wise decisions concerning our environment while giving fair consideration to the voice of the people. That voice, in Salem Township, has been shamefully ignored. Consequently, it is being left up to us, individually, to practice good management of our refuse before it reaches the disposal point, while at the same time, holding our leaders responsible for the present and future environment.

Nicely done

I would like to compliment the Northville Township Beautification Commission on distributing 3,200 tree seedlings to township residents in celebration of Arbor Day. Just think of the environmental improve-ment that could be achieved for fu-ture generations if all communities adopted a similar policy.

Distributing tree seedlings will have little impact, however, if existing wooded areas continue to be destroyed. While the new seedlings were being planted, a large parcel of mature trees on the southwest corner of Seven Mile and Haggerty Roads was being completely cleared. This was a major step backward. The new seedlings will never be able to replace what was destroyed here in a few

What kind of a role model are you?

This is another in a continuing series of the way to live. columns by Northville Youth Assistance Director Mary Ellen King.

How often do parents say, "Do as I say, not as I do"? They may not say this directly, but they may imply it in less direct terms. They may fight with their spouse in front of their children, they may yell, scream, insult and carry on without any restraint. They may make promises and threats that they have no intention of keeping. Their lives may be disorganized and in disarray and yet they attempt to order the lives of their children. Parents may blow up at the smallest item, yet ask their children to cool their temper. Parents are role models for their children, yet are they the type of model their children need? On the other hand, if children observe their parents behaving with dignity, calmness, self-restraint, love and kindness then the child will come to feel in the deepest part of their brain, that this is the proper way to live. If a child observes his parents acting without kindness, love, dignity and self-restraint, then his subconscious will believe that this is

Of all the potential qualities that parents can bestow on their children, love is of the utmost importance. We love those things which are of value to us. We care for those objects of our love, we admire them, we hold them in high esteem. So it is when we love our children, we spend time with them, admiring them and caring for them. We give them a very precious gift: our time.

When we love them, we want them to grow and become capable, independent adults. We want them to flower into the person they are capable of being. We also love them enough to provide the discipline they require to become responsible. Yet we must not smother them. We must believe in them. Good discipline requires time and energy. How often do we say to ourselves, "I just don't have the strength to deal with them today"? Good discipline does, beyond a doubt, require a large amount of energy, patience and out each of our children's needs, in order to respond to each of them as individuals. Some techniques work effectively with one child and not with another. Our children are different and each needs to be treated in their own unique way. The time and the quality of time that we as parents devote to our children indicates to them the degree to which we value

We need to give our children a warm, loving, caring relationship. When we do this we give them a sense of security, a true feeling that is so deeply embedded in them, that no matter what negative external events should enter their life, they will be able to cope with the situation. This cornerstone of self-esteem rests on the shoulders of all of us who have chosen to bring life into this world. Love is all our children want and need to handle what life may throw their way. Treat your child as a valued object and you will treat your child with love. You will give them the precious gift of feeling secure in an insecure and ever changing world.

Take financial care when you're starting out

If you're venturing out on your own for the first time, you have a lot of work ahead of you. For example, do you know how to build a budget, choose a savings account, or establish credit? And what do you need to know before you sign a rental lease? The Michigan Association of CPAs offers come easy to understand answers to these sometimes baffling

CREATING A BUDGET

An effective budget is the surest way to gain control of your financial life and build savings. Start by listing all monthly expenses, including such fixed and semi-fixed costs as rent, insurance premiums, automobile and educational loans, utility bills and commuter expenses. Your fixed expenses should also include a savings factor. CPAs strongly recommend that you set aside at least 10 percent of your take-home pay into some type of savings account or investment.

To be accurate, your list of expenses must also include estimates of variable expenses, such as those for auto repairs and, of course, entertainment and travel. Remember, if your budget is too rigid, you probably

Another expense that people sometimes forget to consider when developing budgets is tax liability. The key to avoiding this problem is determining the proper amount of withholding. Remember, the amount of money withheld from your paycheck for taxes is determined by the W-4 form you file with your employer. To ensure that you're setting aside a sufficient amount of money for taxes. double-check your withholding calculation.

After you've listed your monthly expenses, calculate your monthly income, including salaries and any dividends or interest payments that you receive on a regular basis. Now compare your income total to your expense total. If you are spending more than you're making, you will have to start from scratch and adjust your budget accordingly.

SELECTING A SAVINGS ACCOUNT

A little knowledge can go a long way in helping you choose the right savings account. To make an informed decision, you must understand how interest is compounded.

Money Management

evaluate the annual yields offered by various accounts, and investigate the type of fees the institution can charge. The term compounding means that your interest is periodically added to your savings, so that your interest earns more interest. Interest can be compounded in any number of ways: daily, monthly, semiannually or annually. In general, the shorter the compounding period, the more total interest you earn on the account.

Another factor to consider is the effective annual yield which provides a more accurate gauge for those shopping for the best savings account. This figure reflects the impact that compounding has on the annual interest rate. By comparing effective annual yields between two or more accounts, you can get a good idea of how hard your money will be working for you in the account.

Before making a final decision. make sure you find out whether the institution imposes restrictions on or charges fees for establishing, maintaining or terminating your acount. Other items that may take a bite out of your savings include penalties for low balances or early withdrawals and automatic teller transaction

ESTABLISHING CREDIT

To establish credit, apply for a credit card with a single purpose, such as a department store or a gasoline company. Contact the stores or companies where you make the most purchases and apply to those with the lowest interest rates. If you application is approved, your credit limit will, as a rule, start off low — perhaps as low as $500.

Keep in mind that obtaining a credit card does not automatically establish a credit rating. In order to build a credit history, you must use your credit card and demonstrate a pattern of timely payment.

After a period of charging and repaying your debts, you will be ready to apply for a national bank credit card such as MasterCard or Visa. Your chances for approval may be best at the financial institution where you opened your savings and checking accounts. Be selective in choosing the right form of credit to meet your borrowing needs. The right choice can help you save a significant amount of money. If you use your credit mainly for convenience and pay your bills in full each month, look for a card with no annual fee and a long grace period. If, on the other hand, you tend to stretch out payments and maintain a balance on your card, make sure the credit card's annual percentage rate is reasonable.

After you have established credit, be sure to use your cards sensibly. Don't apply for more cards than you need, and don't run up more debt than you can handle.

If you plan to rent an apartment or house, be sure you understand your rights and obligations as a tenant beiore you sign a lease. Remember, your lease is a binding contract. To find out about laws or regulations that may affect you, call a local government office for referral to the proper agency.

You should also read the fine print of the actual lease with great care. Make sure you note the length of the lease, restrictions against pets or children, and any other limitations. Other issues you may want to discuss with your potential landlord include the amount of your security de-posit and whether this money will earn interest, the estimated rent increase if the lease is renewed and whether the rent includes utilities.

Business Briefs

Jack Frakes, executive vice president and executive creative director, announced the promotion of two employees and the hiring of a new employee by Ross Roy Advertising, a division of Ross Roy, Inc. RHONDA HUIE and GARY WISE have been promoted to the position of associate creative directors.

Previously a senior copywriter for Ross Roy, Rhonda Huie will now supervise print and television work for all accounts, including K-mart, Ameritech Publishing, NBD, and Alfa Romco. Hule was a copy supervisor for Leo Burnett and Ogilvy & Mather in Chicago before joining Ross Roy in May 1989. Prior to this, she was a junior copywriter for W.B. Doner and Company in Detroit. She received her bachelor's degree with honors in English and journalism from the University of North Carolina. Huie and her family live in Milford.

Gary Wise previously served as art director and senior art director for Ross Roy. His new responsibilities will include serving as art director and supervisor on various accounts, including La-Z-Boy, Alfa Romeo, Michigan Bell and Ameritech Publising. Prior to joining Ross Roy in 1986, he was an art director for Bozell, Jacobs, Kenyon and Eckhart in Detroit. He has a bachelor's degree from the Center for Creative Studies. Wise and his family reside in Northville.

Ross Roy, Inc. is a member of the Ross Roy Group. The Group is comprised of nine companies, with offices in Michigan, New York, Ohio, California, Florida and Canada, billing more than $600 million annually.

Recognize America's Living Landmarks

From the towering 275-foot Giant Sequoia in California's Sequoia National Park to the relatively diminutive 20-foot Allegheny Plum in Virginia's Blue Ridge Mountains, America's living landmarks are an invaluable part of our nation's natural heritage.

That's why the American Forestry Association began The National Register of Big Trees in 1940. Today, as then, we encourage citizens across the country to find and recognize the largest tree of each species. With your help and participation, we can locate and protect these champions for future generations while fostering a deeper appreciation for trees and forests everywhere.

For information on how to measure and nominate a Big Tree, write: The National Register of Big Trees, American Forestry Association, P.O. Box 2000, Dept. BT, Washington, DC 20013.

America's Living Landmarks. Their preservation is every American's concern.

It's unbelievable how some people collect firewood.

They saw down signs. Hatchet trees. Even hack apart picnic tables.

And tragically, repeated vandalism has forced many areas to be closed permanently.

What will it take to keep our respect for our national forests from going up in smoke? Simple determination.

A commitment to ourselves to isolate the few who come to abuse the forests.

And a commitment to our young people to help them appreciate the forest for what it really is. A priceless and unparalleled gift.

At the Forest Service, we believe that miracles can take root. When people care enough.

Kids' bedroom furnishings are fun, versatile

By AILEEN WINGBLAD Special Writer

Sending Junior to his room for misbehaving just might not be as tough on the youngster as it used to be—thanks to the exciting look and style of today's children's bedrooms.

Local merchants throughout the area say parents are now taking a greater interest in decorating and furnishing their kids rooms, keeping an eye toward durability and function while focusing on fun and versatility. "A child's room today is like a dream come true for most of us adults. If we had had rooms like kids have today, a lot of us would think we had died and gone to heaven," says Anita Baydoun, owner of the Decorating Den franchise in Northville.

"Children really enjoy their rooms today, and they're spending a lot more time (in their bedrooms) — it's like the cocooning of adults you hear so much of these days. So it's more important now for kids to have all the comforts, a place to call their own . . . somewhere they can relax," Baydoun

Of course, "a general interest overall in home decor and surroundings" is a continually growing trend that Baydoun and others are reporting as, they say, their businesses flourish. People have more money for furnishings these days and are willing to spend it, says Baydoun. And more and more folks are seeking professional advice when it comes to setting up their children's bedrooms so that they avoid costly mistakes and instead make purchases that will grow with the child.

That's why modular furniture is quite popular," says Baydoun. "It has the potential to stay with the kids because there are so many pieces to mix and match, stack and add to. And it's clean and sleek and so much of it is the formica-type that it is very easy to maintain," she adds.

Over at Baby 'N' Kids Bedrooms in Twelve Oaks Mall in Novi, owner Ed Wormsbacher agrees that longevity and expandability are what parents really need to keep in mind when suiting a child's room.

"We try to solve three problems — sleep, study and storage. That's what the bedrooms are used for. We really try to help the customer understand and think in terms of adding to, creating storage areas, purchasing a trundle bed (for extra sleeping space), a wall unit — those kinds of things,

Around the House: Designs for Living

Modest space packs punch

By James McAlexander

The Corsica, with eye-catching angles inside and out, also manages to pack a surprising amount of living area into a modest space. This modern home is designed for a couple or family comfortable with informal

The angles of the stepped garage on the left facing the street, are balanced by the living room jutting off to the right. Inside, the multi-paned windows flank the brick fireplace at the far end of the room, while multipaned windows, on both sides of the room, let in still more light.

A difference in carpeting is all that separates the living room and dining room. The U-shaped kitchen not only has its own cozy eating nook, but is also conveniently close to sliding glass doors that open onto a deckgreat for leisurely brunches in good weather.

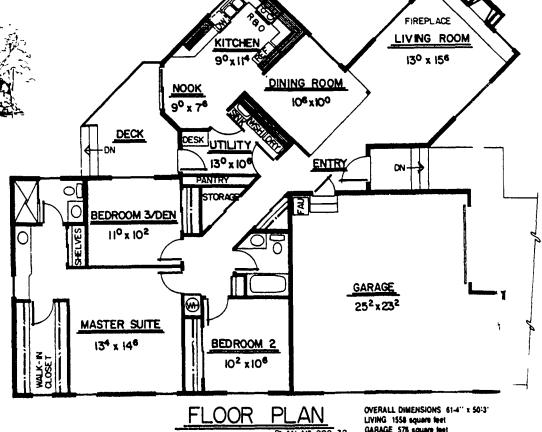

Accessible from the kitchen, deck or entryway, a combined utility room/pantry area has a built-in desk for keeping track of household accounts. Two triangular-shaped storage areas flank the hallway to the bedrooms, turning the odd angles into useful space.

The master suite boasts an extraordinarily large walk-in closet, with over 21 feet of hanging and shelf space. A long counter with one sink extends the length of the wall. An extra-large shower and a second strik are located inside the bath. A full bath serves the other two bedrooms. one or both of which could easily be converted to a den, home office, sewing and crafts room or library.

Exterior brickwork and horizontal siding give modern appeal to this single-level home designed to go on a 60-foot-wide lot.

For a study plan of the Corsica (208-32), send $5 to Landmark De signs, P.O. Box 2307 CN, Eugene, OR 97402. (Be sure to specify plan name and number when ordering.)

CORSICA

Kids' bedrooms fun and versatile

Wormsbacher says. That way, hopefully, the room can continue to accomodate the children until they are grown up and move out," he says. And to do that, says Wormsbacher, parents nowadays are buying more pieces for the rooms than perhaps most kids had a generation ago.

"Back in our day, we'd have a mattress and box springs on a frame and maybe a used chest of drawers. Kids' rooms today are pretty wellfurnished — they usually have a chest and dresser, a desk with a hutch, a bookshelf. . . and computer tables and desks are some of the newer items more and more people are asking for," he says.

And it's the contemporary mix and match items - what Wormsbacher calls "lifestyles" furniture . . . that is being chosen more often for the kids because a set can be added to piece by piece, and there is the added attraction of durability. For example, the steel bunk beds, especially those enameled in primary colors, are now in great demand and coordinate well with formica dressers and chests, he adds. Traditional wood groupings, on the other hand, are much less popular than before. "People are lending themselves more toward the contemporary styles . . . the steel beds are very hot, especially the L-bunks. And they aren't real bulky, so they are nice for little girls' rooms, too.

The one brand we carry, Amisco, is excellent and virtually indestructible. And they come in 11 colors, but the reds, greens and blues are the most popular for boys, and pinks and whites for girls," says Wormsbacher.

Also growing in popularity for little girls' rooms, adds Baydoun of the Decorating Den, are the Victorian colors - muted rose and blues, greens and burgandy.

People are also now combining colors of their kids' rooms to blend with the decor of the rest of the home," says Baydoun. "The Country French look and canopies are really making a comeback, too," she says. And what about accessories?

While Baydoun and Wormsbacher agree that lamps, wall hangings and pictures are necessary to round out the look of the bedrooms, Baydoun is especially fond of the mesh hammock-like catch-alls that can be hung on walls to hold stuffed ani-

As an added note, Baydoun also reports more people are setting up recreation rooms for their children with brightly colored cushions, padded poles and platforms.

Doll duo has colorful story

By Linda Rosenkrantz

Ask most people which doll they remember most fondly from their earliest childhood, and chances are that it will be not some fragile blonde beauty with rooted ringlets and icyblue eyes, but one of that cozy, cuddly pair, Raggedy Ann and Andy. It was ladies first with this duo— Ann was created in 1915, and cousin Andy followed five years later. They were designed by John (usually referred to as Johnny) B. Gruelle, an Illinois-born cartoonist and illustrator.

According to Susan Ann Garrison. author of the extremely reader-friendly book. The Raggedy Ann & Andy Family Album, "the concept ori-ginated when one of Gruelle's children, Marcella, suffering from a serious illness, found an old rag doll in her grandmother's attic. Her father painted a face on it, then named it by combining the titles of two James Whitcomb Riley poems, "The Rag-gedy Man" and "Orphan Annie."

He began to make up stories about the doll to distract the sick child from her misery. When Marcella died in 1916-a year after Gruelle had patented his design—he committed to paper the stories he had been telling her, setting the illustrations in her

It was P.F. Volland Co., publishers of his first book, "The Raggedy Ann Stories," who asked Johnny Gruelle if he could make some dolls based on his illustrations to promote the book.

Soon the entire extended Gruelle family-including grandmothers, an aunt and an uncle-were embarked on a cottage industry in an unused Norwalk, Conn., shirt factory, where they made a few dozen dolls based on the old rag doll from the attic.

These early Raggedys, 16 inches long and dressed from the start in cotton pinafores, pantaloons, redand-white striped leggings and black Mary Janes, had nondescript brown yarn hair and real candy hearts with the words "I Love You" on them attached to their torsos.

Toward the end of 1918, the Gruelles licensed the Volland Co. to organize a larger-scale manufacturing operation. Over time, several different firms were responsible for their manufacture: Mollye's Doll Outfitters produced its version from 1935 to 1938, Georgene Novelties made Raggedys for 25 years, from 1938 to

The story of these American icons is presented in full in Susan Ann Garrison's colorful The Raggedy Ann & Andy Family Album" (Schiffer Publishing Ltd.; West Chester, PA: 144 pages; $19.95).

Little dab will do when fixing spots

By Gene Gary

Q: A leaf from my jade plate dropped onto my plano and "leaked," leaving a mark on the wood finish. How can I remove the spot?—J.D.

A: If the piano surface is a varnish finish, I suggest that you try spot removal with denatured or rubbing alcohol.

Moisten a small wad of cotton with the alcohol and dab the stain until it disappears. Do not use too much alcohol and do not rub or you might disturb the varnish.

The water has penetrated the varnish and attacked the shellac undercoat, turning it white under the varnish. The alcohol also will penetrate the varnish and re-dissolve the shellac underneath, restoring its original transparency.

Some other methods of removing water spots on a varnish surface include rubbing the stained area with toothpaste then buffing, or using sewing machine oil with cigarette ashes. Either of these can be effective if the water has not penetrated the varnish surface. The methods suggested here are for varnished surfaces and are not suitable if your piano has a shellac finish.

Q: I have a real brass lamp, which would be expensive to replace. Over the years, it has darkened in places where the protective coating has worn off. It also has become pitted in places.

What suggestions do you have to restore this otherwise attractive lamp?—P.M.

A: First, it sounds like you need to remove the remaining protective lacquer thinner. If the pits are just surface marks, polishing with a good brass polish may be all that's necessary to remove them.

If you can't remove the marks yourself, take the lamp to a brass specialty shop that does repairs, polishing, etc. If they can't polish away the marks, they can fill the pits, using a process that is rather expensive but that does make brass look like new again.

After the brass is filled and polished, have the shop give it a coat of lacquer that will help prevent the brass from pitting for some time. You can apply a new coat of lacquer yourself, but the professional finish is usually much better.

We welcome hints and advice from our readers and are happy to pass them along so they can benefit others. On the topic of smoke removal, one reader writes:

In February, I read with interest your column on the removal of smoke damage. Our business is medical equipment repair and we have on several occasions had to clean up and repair equipment damaged in fire. Of the many substances that we have tried to remove smoke, we have found rubbing alcohol to be the most effective.

We simply use a soaked rag or paint brush to apply the alcohol and wipe the smoke stains right off. This was not mentioned in the column, and we thought you might like to pass along this to your readers as a tried and successful solution to the problem.—R.E.W.

Send inquiries to Here's How, Copley News Service, P.O. Box 190, San Diego, CA 92112-0190. Only questions of general interest can be answered in the column.

STORY BY ALICIA GARRISON

Are the lines, irregularities and folds of your hands related to future events in your life?

Palmist and psychic consultant Carole Verroen believes they are, to an extent. "Can you tell the future by the hand? I am inclined to say yes, to some degree," am inclined to say yes, to some degree," said Verroen, owner of the Institute of Clinical Hypnosis and Mental Science at 136 E. Grand River Ave. in Brighton. "But I still believe that we have free will and choices about things in relation to the future. There's never anything there that you cannot change."

Palmistry—the study of the hand in its entirety—has been practiced for thousands of years. In China, it has existed since 3,000 years before Christ. And today, it is practiced in India, Syria, Egypt and the Western world as well.

Most palmists will tell you that your left hand represents what you bring into this life, and your right hand tells what you are making out of it.

When reading a palm, palmists don't just study the lines of the hand. They also look at the shape, texture, mounts, crosses, ridges and triangles of the hand.

There are four major lines which are used to divide the hand into various sections: the Line of Life, the Line of Head the Line of Heart, and the Line of Fate.

The Line of Life is one of the more deeper, pronounced lines of the hand. Most people believe the longer this line is, the longer they will live, but Verroen says that isn't the case.

"It's the condition of the line which is more of an indication of how long you will live, rather than the length of the line," she said. "If it's all broken up and sort of scattered, it may mean that you have bad health."

have bad health."

According to Verroen, the length of the life line can be read to determine approximately when you may have health problems. A radial scale is used to divide the hand into different age categories, roughly pinpointing when events will occur in your Verroen has a complete break in her life line which she said was representative of her death. When Verroen was 20, she suffered from kidney failure and was physically dead for a short period of time before being resuscitated.

If there is a fork at the end of your life line, it generally means that you will end your life in a different place from where you began.

The Line of Heart is supposed to be representative of your feelings—how you relate to your spouse, family, and friends. The more chained this line is, the more likely you are to fracture your emotions. You may have a really hard time becoming deeply involved. You are afraid to open up and may even be a little distant with your own children.

Tiny lines crisscross through the line of heart. If more lines extend down from the line of heart than up, the more worrisome love will be for you. If more lines point up, the more distractions you will have in different kinds of love.

The Line of Head is an indication of your level- headedness—the way you think; the way you reason out problems. This line is symbolic of stability, logic and intuition.

"The head line, to me, sometimes tells more about the person than the life line because this influences most everything you do." Vermen said do," Verroen said.

If this line runs straight across your palm, it means that you're very logical and creative work may come hard for you. You prefer to do things in sequence.

If this line curves, it means that you are more emotional and imaginative.

The Line of Fate is the broken line that runs up the center of your palm. The more defined the line, the more fate will influence your life.

According to Verroen, if this line runs across your life line, than fate will definitely influence your life. If it crosses the head line, it may mean that fate, to some degree, controls the way you think.

If this line extends all the way across the heart line, than fate will, almost without fail, play a part in the lasting relationship of your life. "Because it does, at times, influence the way you think," Verroen said.

The Line of Marriage is located around the base of the pinky. The little lines that appear on the side of your hand (between the line of the heart and the bottom of your pinky) when you double up your fist are supposed to represent the number of children you will have.

The shape of the hand tells a lot about a person's character.

A person who has long, tapered hands has a tendency to be creative. People with artistic hands are impulsive and like the finer things in life. They are clever and quick, but have little patience.

A square-shaped hand is the sign of a useful hand. These people are orderly, punctual and precise. They love to work with their hands and are true to their word. If they say they're going to do something, they do it.

A hand with crooked fingers (not arthritis) is the sign of an active person. These people are full of energy, purpose and enthusiasm, but can become irritable if they have to sit still for a long period of time. They like to put their energy into physical things.

A hand that is knotty is symbolic of the philosophic hand. People with philosophic hands are students of mankind. They tend to be a little older and love mystery.

Most often, people will have a mixed hand. While your palm may indicate that you are spiritual, your fingers may portray that you are more realistic. People with mixed hands are versatile. They are great in work requiring diplomacy and tact. A jack of all trades.

The Finger of Jupiter (pointer finger) has to do with your attitude toward exter-

A person who's pointer finger is squaredoff at the tip, feels that they have to work hard to do things.

If this finger turns in when the hand is in a relaxed state, it may mean that you have a bad attitude right now.

A person who's pointer finger is very short in proportion to the others may have an inferiority complex. This is the sign of a very insecure person.

If the pointer finger is extremely long in relation to the other fingers, Verroen said it means the person has too much self-esteem, and may have a little bit of an ego problem.

The Finger of Saturn (middle finger) is the dividing finger between the physical and the spiritual world. If this finger is in balance with the other fingers, it means that you make transitions back and forth

If it's much longer or shorter, it means that you've got a block between the real world and your spiritual direction, Verroen

The middle finger is also associated with a person's sexuality. If this finger curls up when the hand is in a relaxed state, it means the person is closed up right now and doesn't feel very sensual.

The Finger of the Sun (ring finger) is representative of a person's emotions and anistic abilities.

"If it's very short in relation to your other fingers, then you have emotional difficulties," Verroen said. "You're too preoccupied with what's going on inside of yourself."

At the opposite extreme, if your ring finger is much longer in relation to your other fingers, then you're always digging at yourself, questioning how you really feel about things.

If this finger curls in toward your palm when your hand lays flat, you're inhibited about using your intuition. You don't trust your gut feeling.

Local man joins chili cook-off

By LESLIE PEREIRA Staff Writer

Good Luck to Jim Sgriccia of Northville. Mr. Sgriccia is one of 80 cooks vying for the first place title in the National Kidney Foundation of Michigan's Official North Central Chili Cook-Off. This event is to be held on Saturday. May 5 and will follow the rules of the International Chili Society.

Sgriccia has entered his chili, named Day Later Chili, in the "Great Chili Cook-Off" for five consecutive years, placing first in the Renegade Chili Cook-Off in 1988. He said Mexican oregano is the special ingredient that makes his chili great and that's what makes it taste like tomorrow's chili today.

This year's number one true chili cook will win $500 and a chance to compete in the International Chili Society World Championship Cook-Off in California this fall.

The event will be held May 5 and 6 at the Washtenaw Farm Council Grounds in Saline.

Golden wedding anniversary

Frank and Virginia Bosak of Northville celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary with a mass at Our Lady of Victory Church on April 21.

A reception and dinner followed at the Botsford Inn in Farmington Hills.

The celebration was hosted by their seven children, their spouses and 11 grandchildren. Their children are: Edythe Herrmann of South Lyon, Frank Bosak, Jr. of Arlington, Tex., Robert Bosak of Exeter, N.H., Nancy Neihart of Hurst, Texas, Susan Stine of Boulder, Colo., Virginia Whittington of Manassas, Va., and Stephen Bosak of Austin, Texas.

Among the guests were relatives from Iowa, Colorado and Massachusetts.

Annual meeting

The Michigan Division of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association is holding their Spring Council and Annual Meeting on Wednesday, May 23. Saginaw will serve as the hostess branch and the event will be at the Germania Town and Country Club in Saginaw.

Town Hall tickets

Tickets for the 1990-91 Town Hall speaker series are still on sale. Speakers will be: "As The World Turns" soap opera star Eileen Fulton on Oct. 11; former Iranian hostage Col. Charles Scott on Nov. 8; Miss America 1988, Kaye Lani Raye Rafko on March 14, 1991; and veteran newsman Jack Reynolds on April 11, 1991.

The cost is $30 for tickets to the series of four lectures. To order tickets, write to: Northville Town Hall, Box 93, Northville, MI 48167. Tickets to the post-speech luncheons will be availble for purchase after June 1 and will cost $11 each. Luncheon tickets are only available to those persons who have already purchased lecture series tickets. Registration forms and payment for the luncheons should be sent to the above address, but not until after June 1. Make checks payable to Northville Town Hall.

Town Hall fund donations

Money raised through the Town Hall Lecture series is given away annually to needy organizations. The deadline for charitable organizations to apply for the funds raised through the Town Hall lecture series is May 31. Interested organizations from Northville, Novi and Plymouth should send a letter stating exactly what their charity does to: Board of Awards, Northville Town Hall, Box 93, Northville, MI 48167.

Northville Players

The Northville Players and the Northville Historical Society are pleased to announce the production dates of the classic melodrama "Dora, The Beautiful Dishwasher" (or The Heroine Who Cleaned Up!)

Performances are May 4 and 5 at 8 p.m. and May 6 at 2 p.m. The cost is $5 on Friday and Saturday or $3 for the Sunday matinee. The play will be given at the New School Church Building, Mill Race Historical Village, Griswold Street. For ticket information, call 348-1845 or 348-2678. Refreshments will be served and audience participation (booing/hissing/cheering) is encouraged.

Group of women live for learning

By LESLIE PEREIRA Staff Writer

As complaints grow over the relative decline of quality education, there is still an active group of people dedicated to furthering their own education as well as the education of others.

The American Association of University Women (AAUW) is an expansive organization which has been filling the gap for out-of-school collegeeducated women still seeking mental challenges, and facilitating the learning process for many others on an international, national, state and local

"No matter what you do in the organization, you are always learning something," said Ann Weston, state program vice president for the Michigan division of the AAUW.

Started in 1881 by a collection of 17 college educated women from eight different universities, the group initially served as a haven for intelligent, thinking women looking for an' outlet for their ideas in an age when women were supposed to be seen but'

Life secrets revealed by lines on hand

The Finger of Mercury (pinky) is symbolic of intimacy. If this finger is isolated when a person holds their hand up, it means that they're having finger tell whether or not a person's problems with intimate relationships. It also may mean that you're estranged from your family. "You can't get close," Verroen said.

If the pinky is long compared to the rest of your fingers, then it is an indication that you have a real desire to go on with knowledge and education. You're wanting to develop intellectually. You want to learn.

If this finger is physically twisted, ion under the Finger of the Sun or has a hard time telling the truth.

Mounts or swellings under each life is balanced.

When a mount is well-developed, it means that that part of their life is in pretty good shape, Verroen said. If there is a depression instead of a mount, it usually means, depending which finger it is under, that that part of a person's life has not yet developed. For example, if there is a depressit sometimes means that this person ring finger, then love has not yet developed in that person's life.

> Bracelets appear around a person's wrist when they bend their hand toward their forearm. The more bracelets a person has, supposedly, the greater their longevity. Each ring is supposed to represent 20-years of

"I have found that not necessarily to be true," Verroen said. "I tend to look at the whole hand to give you an idea of longevity. I look at the person's stress level, their mental and romantic attitudes, how flexibile they are."

If the bracelets come real high up into the hand on a woman, it may mean that they will have a difficult time delivering a child.

If you don't like the outcome of your palm reading, don't despair. Verroen says the hand is constantly changing. Lines get deeper, crosses become more pronounced and mounts develop.

"When you have a particular trait and a palmist tells you this is going to happen and there's no choice, don't worry," Verroen said. "I still believe we have choices about things. It's still not, as I say, from God's mouth, to my ears, to your lines on your hand."

Women cloggers making beautiful noise

By LESLIE PEREIRA Staff Wnter

Dancing around in their hot pink ruffled dresses, the 30 or so faces were all bright with smiles.

No, this was not a line of excited young girls waiting with proud parents to be photographed with the Easter Bunny.

This was the pride of Novi's dancing community — the Novi Sixthgate Cloggers who recently took second place at the Oakland County Talent Extravaganza.

". "We lost to Sam the harmonica man, but we beat out the belly dancer," said clogging instructor Cathy Florko.

Clog dancer Dorothy Hartshorne expressed surprise at their fine showing.

The music wasn't really in sync but I guess we didn't look that bad," said Hartshorne, who is a Northville resident.

Cloggers. For some reason this term immediately brings images of blond women with braids dancing in heavy wooden clogs on an outdoor stage with a green landscape and the Swiss Alps as a backdrop.

This is incorrect — the dancers, some brunettes but most with silver hair, don't even wear clogs. The proper shoes for clogging are nothing more than low-heeled dance shoes with metal jingle taps attached on the bottom to the toes and the heels.

· "It is a combination of English step-dancing, the Irish jig, the Scottish fling, and German stomp dancing with a little black American and Cherokee Indian influence," said past few years, said it is a type of Appalachian Mountain dancing that originated in the Georgia area.

"It really takes a lot of courage to take up this type of dance," said Kathy Crawford, special recreation coordinator for the Novi Civic Center. "Most of the women have no dance experience."

Not only does the clogging group Florko, who herself clogs and has hold its own at talent shows and taught the variation tap dance for the other performances, but the group is a testament to things that can be achieved by senior citizens.

The average age of the Novi clog-gers is 67, with the high end of the range at 74.

This is what I have always been hunting for," said Shirley Gomori, a Detroit resident who has danced with two other clogging groups before discovering Novi's.

Although the group practices in and Recreation, the group welcomes dancers from surrounding communities.

The women meet for practice twice a week, dancing for three solid hours to the tunes of Randy Travis, the Statler Brothers, Tanya Tucker and "A lot of it is country music," said Dorothy Hinkle, who has been the group's disc jockey for the past year and a half.

"I wake up at night and the songs are running through my head," said Hartshorne.

Although the cloggers tend to rely heavily on the sounds of country and bluegrass music, their brand of dancing can really be performed to any music.

You should see the audience when they start dancing to old-time rock 'n' roll," Crawford said.

The clogging group was the brainchild of Crawford, who had seen clogging elsewhere and thought it would be a great idea for Novi area seniors. Shortly after she hooked up with Florko, who was taking lessons and was enthusiastic about the idea.

"I knew I had to take it slow," Craw-ford said. "I thought everyone would say, 'clogging, huh?' and think it was something to do with their veins."

However, after their first demonstration, they had an overwhelming response with more than 70 people coming to watch the show and things just took off from there.

"She (Crawford) told me I would have only four people in my first class and I walked in to find 25," Florko

The cloggers enjoy dancing for a variety of reasons from fun to fitness to social encounters.

Jean Radke, a Novi resident, recently retired and has been clogging for about a year.

"I love it because of the exercise." Radke said, "and the women are all so nice."

Stage fright keeps Radke from participating in the Novi Sixthgate Cloggers' on-stage shows and performances, but it is not because of a lack of practice. She has all the music on tape and practices at home. "I put in about six hours of practice every week," Radke said.

Education is never complete for university women

school," Weston said.

Through the years of the association's existence, the university education requirement has stuck, although the requirement that members be female was dropped two years ago.

The willingness to change is not always there," said Ann Thompson, president of the AAUW's Northville branch, who said the decision to admit men was a difficult one for the organization.

The Northville branch still has no male members, although statewide there are about 35 active men. Northville women banded together and started their own branch during out 65 members. Statewide the AAUW has 62 branches boasting more than 5,125 active women and

One of the organization's main purposes is to help women network more effectively and open up more doors to them.

We have never really gotten the good-old-girls network going like the good-old-boys," said Weston.

Weston, who received a bachelor of arts degree from Central Michigan University and a master's degree from Eastern Michigan University, has been involved in AAUW book sales, wine and cheese parties and various other fundraising events for the past 25 years.

The AAUW's work is done

used to sinance the educations of promising young students.

On the national level, female graduate school students can apply for fellowships if planning to enter a field where women are underrepresented.

On the local level, the AAUW branch awards two scholarships every year to high school seniors planning to attend college. The awards are given to both male and female students.

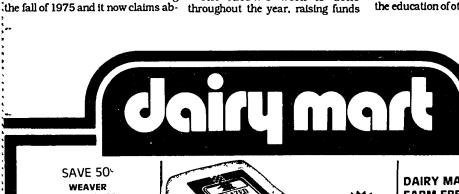

Raising and awarding money for educational purposes is viewed by the organization as the most effective tool for attaining their goals of advancement of women, education over the lifetime and positive societal

In addition to helping to facilitate the education of others, AAUW members meet once a month to hear speakers on topics ranging from education to osteoporosis to recycling. "We usually bring speakers on topics of community involvement things," said Thompson. "We like to keep people up to date."

Also on the local level the women oganize themselves into smaller topical study groups to discuss anything they have a common interest in.

There are many homemakers looking for something a little more educational to do," Thompson said.

'The Gateway to the West'

'Meet me in St. Louis' a grand idea for midwest travelers

By Carolyn DeMarco

Welcome to St. Louis, Mo. — a big. small town or maybe it's a small, big town, pressed up tight against the Mississippi River, halfway between Canada and the Gulf of Mexico and proudly referred to as the "gateway to

It's also the location of the world's largest brewery, site of the 1904 World's Fair, birthplace of sliced bread, home of the National Bowling Hall of Fame and the eastern burder for all radio stations that start with K.

We took our trip during the midwinter season which offers cheap travel rates and a break from the hustle and bustle of tourist season. However, most river boats and outdoor tourist sites are closed for the winter.

Most Mississippi sidewheeler excursion boats run between May and October as well as the Stx Flags Over Mid-America amusement park. If you go this summer check them out and don't forget St. Louis Cardinals baseball-the heart of St. Louis Hotels are plentiful in St. Louis The Hotel Majestic, a historic pearl of a hotel, is $180 a night for two persons, according to the AAA Tourbook, $100 a night per a longdistance inquiry, and only $65 per night when you actually confront the desk clerk. Other hotels have similarly discounted for the quiet times.

Á trip to St. Louis is not a trip to St. Louis without a visit to the famous Gateway Arch, this country's tallest monument and one of its most visited sites since erection in 1965. It's all part of Jefferson National Expansion Memorial, a national park commemorating St. Louis as the Gateway to the West.

For $2.50 (50 cents for kids) you can travel to the top of the arch. Allow one hour for the wait and the ride. While you're waiting you can tour the free Westward Expansion Museum on the site and learn more about the trend that Lewis and Clark started and nouveau Californians continue.

While down by the riverside you can stroll the cobblestone levee (per Webster, an enbankment to prevent a river from flooding bordering land). Marry excursion boats double as reMcDozzici's'

In 1764 a French für trapper. Pierre Laciece, established a trading post on this western bank of the Mississ.ppi Today it's a tourist attraction-restaurants and shops. Among them are Gibbol's Novelties and Costumes, a fun shop with adult novelues, stage makeup and magic tricks, Missouri Peddlers, a showcase for Missouri crafters with quilts. toys and folk art; and Swiss Village Book Store Antique Annex, a browser's dream of old and rare books and artifacts.

After dark the parking lots fill with fun-seekers there for the good music and fun times and the streets fill with strollers and horse-drawn carriages.

Young locals consider Muddy Waters the most popular nightspot. Hannegan's Pub features jazz. The Blarney Stone houses a dinner theatre.

Just across town at Market and 18th is a spectacular tourist attraction and prominent landmark, Union Station. In its heydey the mammoth station was the largest and busiest in the world with more than 100,000 passengers through each day. Shops in the station include all the upscale regulars you've come to know and love-Eddie Bauer, Crabtree and Evelyn, Banana Republic, and some interesting independents as well.

They include the Great Train Store, which sells O, N and H gauge to kids who never grow up as well as whistles, cassettes, books and mags for train lovers. Near it is America's National Parks, a store devoted to books about U.S national parks, history and ecological topics; Joy of Ireland, all the obvious Hibernian imports like woolens, Irish oatmeal and heraldic keychains and posters; a computer genealogy klosk, and Top It Off, a small hat store.

Gallery worth a trip to Toledo

The Toledo Museum of Art got its start in 1901 with a collection consisting of two paintings and a mummissed cat.

Today's museum is well worth the trip south, especially now until June 24, when the Canaday Gallery will be hosting "Romance of the Taj Mahal" art from the luxurious era of the Mughal emperor Shah Jahan, who built what has been called the most exquisite building in the world.

The exhibit, organized by the Los Angeles County Museum of Art, features 200 objets d'art from early 17th century India, including paintings, jewlery, architectural elements, carpets, textiles and works of jade, ivory and glass. In addition, the collection focuses on the influence the Tai Mahal had on later generations of artists and architects with a display of models, paintings and photographs. Among the special highlights of the show are a 141-carat intricately carved emerald and a nine-foot tall model of the Taj Mahal built for the 1939 World's Fair.

The traveling exhibition will only be shown in Toledo, Los Angeles, the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts in Richmond, and the Asia Society in New York City.

In addition, on Sunday, May 20 from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m., an Indian Festival Day featuring crafts, fashions, music and dance is scheduled at the

In game two, Northville scored what would eventually be the game winner on a run-scoring double by George Smojver in the first inning. The Mustangs added an insurance run in the second on a Dan Kozdron hit, and that was all the scoring.

In the meantime, Schrieber was mowing down the Franklin hitters. At one point, he retired 11 straight batters. For the game, he fanned two. walked one, and allowed only one baserunner to reach scoring position.

"We played very well together on defense too," Frellick said. "We didn't have an error.

In game one, the difference was a pair of Franklin homers that drove in five runs. Northville — on the other hand - had a hit in all but one inning, but no home runs.

We played a good ballgame, it was just one of those things," Frellick said. "We hit the ball, but we left nine runners on base. We didn't bunch our hits, but we played well enough to win.

Trailing 2-1, the Mustangs took the lead with a three-run rally in the second inning. The lead increased to

"Schrieber pitched his best game 7-3 after five innings, but the Pats tagged starter Tim Hubbert for four runs in the sixth to tie it, and added two more in the seventh off reliever

John Chiavazza to win it. Offensively, Dan Kozdron (2-for-4), Joe Kaley (2-for-3), Josh Wiegand (2-for-3), Ryan Huzjak (2-for-3) and Pat Kozdron (2-for-3) had multiple hits for Northville. Wiegand lead the team with four RBI. Schiavazza suffered the loss.

PLYMOUTH CANTON 15, NORTHVILLE 0: Senior hurler Geoff Allen confounded the Mustang batters on April 23 and came away with a complete-game no-hitter in this intra-division battle.

To sum it up, I didn't have the kids prepared and (Canton coach) Fred Crissey did," Frellick admitted. "This kid Allen pitched a whale of a game. It was the first day back after spring break and we just weren't ready.

Mike Lang started for Northville and gave up nine runs (only three earned) through the first five innings. Reliever Brad Balser then surrendered six runs in two-thirds of an inning before Schrieber came on to put out the fire in the seventh.

Allen fanned 10 batters and walked just one. He got the first nine Mustang batters out in order and had to deal with just two baserunners in seven full innings — neither of which advanced beyond first.

"We didn't execute in any phase of the game," Frellick lamented. "(Canton) played at a completely different level than we did."

NORTHVILLE 1-5, DETROIT SOUTHWESTERN 3-4: The Mustangs wrapped up the week on April 28 with a doubleheader split against the visiting Prospectors.

In game one, the Mustangs again had a hitting advantage (8-5) but lost 3-1 thanks to a series of wild pitches from starter John Chiavazza. Southwestern scored twice in the third on a hit, a steal, two walks and seven wild pitches. The Prospectors made it 3-0 in the fifth with a home run.

Northville's only score came in the seventh, when Kaley scored on a double by Smojver. Kaley led the team with three hits in three at bats, and Smojver and Pat Kozdron chipped in with a couple hits apiece. Chiavazza went 5% innings and was saddled with the loss.

But in the second game of the twinbill, the Mustangs got a complete game pitching performance by Lang, who scattered eight hits and allowed just three earned runs while fanning six and walking none.

We got behind, but we battled back, and that was nice to see." Frellick said. "We out-hit (Southwestern) again and got a solid outing from

Lang."
Northville jumped ahead 3-0 after one inning, but the Prospectors came back to eventually tie the score at 4-4 in the fifth. Dan Kozdron then scored the game-winner in the bottom of the seventh on a RBI double by Smojver, who was inserted as a pinch hitter.

The leading hitters included Dan Kozdron (2-for-4), Wiegand (2-for-4) and Mike Jambor (two runs batted Northville didn't get on track offenhalf, but once the flood gates were opened, the goals started to pour in. By halftime, the 'Cats trailed 6-0.

For the game, the Mustangs dominated the play and outshot its neighbors to the north 37-5. But Northville Coach Bob Paul had some kind words for the Wildcats.

"Novi came out strong and it wasn't until we put our stronger players on the field that we were able to start scoring some goals," he said. "It was a nice game, and it gave us a chance to get a lot of people in the game."

Offensively, the Mustangs were led by Nikki Higdon, who notched her eighth and ninth goals of the season against Novi. The other tallies came from Cindy Tolstedt, Amy Goode. Valerie Schuerman, Wendy Carroll, Marcie Dart and Ashley MacLean (her seventh of the year).

The shutout was shared by goalies Kelly Kronberg — who played the first half — and Kristi Turner — who played the second.

"We're pleased with our defense," Paul said. We are still making mistakes that the real good teams will capitalize on, but we are improving. Neysa Colizzi and Michelle McQuaid are so solid back there, I think they've played almost every second of every game this season.

Novi Coach Nick Valenti was unavailable for comment.

NORTHVILLE 2. LIVONIA FRANKLIN 0: in a closer-thanexpected battle, the Mustangs edged the Patriots on April 25. We thought this would be an easy week for us and I worked the girls very hard the day before the Franklin match," Paul said. "We definitely underestimated them."

"Nobody had a particularly strong game, but Turner was tested a couple times, and she came up big for us," Paul said. "I thought we played O.K. considering how tired we were."

Northville had a 26-10 shots on goal advantage.

"(Franklin) doesn't really have a whole lot of weaknesses — they are solid," Paul said. "We only beat them 3-1 last year and they've improved."

NORTHVILLE 9, FARMINGTON HARRISON 0: Nobody really knows how well the Mustangs played against the woeful Hawks, but the team's easy win on April 23 was certainly convincing.

Cindy Tolstedt scored three times in the match and Higdon added two. The other goals came from Merilynn Millgard (on a penalty kick), Beth Ursel, Marcie Dart and Jenny Howland (just back after a knee injury).

Kronberg played the whole game in goal for the Mustangs and notched her second shutout. Northville led 4-0 at halftime and had a clear-cut 33-2 shots on goal advantage after it was all over.

The Mustangs have not allowed a single goal since Livonia Ladywood scored once back on April 4. That means 12 straight halves of shutout soccer. Northville (6-0-1 overall. 3-0-1 in the WLAA) will travel to Plymouth to take on powerful Canton on

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN Staff Writer

The Northville netters had a busy week — four matches in four days and came away with a 2-2 record.

A tired, overworked Mustang squad dragged their feet into last Friday's (April 27) match with Plymouth Salem, and then limped home with a 4-3 defeat.

The score looks like it was close. but it really wasn't," Northville Coach Dick Norton said. The matches we lost were not close. We are still lacking in depth once you get past our singles players, and it's costing us.

As an example, the Mustangs went 3-for-4 in the singles flights, but lost all three doubles matches. The winners included Mark Schwagle at No. 1 (over Ryan Bannan 6-1, 6-1); Brad Telepo at No. 3 (over Fred Staten 7-5. 2-6. 6-4); and Brit Davis at No. 4 (over Prakash Channaiyan 6-2, 6-2).

NORTHVILLE 5, LIVONIA FRANKLIN 2: Earlier in the week (April 25), the Mustangs earned themselves their first WLAA Western Division victory of the year in Livonia. The locals won 3-of-4 singles matches and 2-of-3 in the doubles.

"I thought we'd be able to beat (Franklin) and we did." Norton said. We didn't play too badly.

The singles winners were Schwagle (over Mike McCormick 6-2, 6 0), Telepo (over Andre Monstur 6-2, 6 3) and Davis (over Bill Robert 6-0. 6-3). In doubles, the No. 1 team of Jeff Lower and Erik Black beat Steve Venable and Bob Ramssyer (6-4, 6-4), and at No. 3, Andy Haas and Mike Connery slipped past Steve Tash and Brian O'Rourke (6-4, 6-3).

For a team and a program that emphasises defensive softball, the Northville girls are making a lot of errors and losing some important intra-division contests as a result.

In action last week, the Mustangs dropped a pair of Western Division games to Plymouth Canton and Livonia Franklin, but then rebounded for a much better performance at the Novi Tournament over the weekend.

Franklin scored four unearned runs on April 26 and that was the difference in a 5-4 Patriot victory. The Mustangs committed five errors, and coach Bob Gerlach was not pleased.

"It seems to be happening every game and we can't have that," he said. The pitching is good but we aren't getting any desense."

The first nine Northville batters went down in order, but consecutive hits by Melanie Apligian, Laura Apliglan and Diane Beckert in the fourth inning put two runs on the board.

The locals added two more runs (without a hit) in the top of the seventh to tie the score, but the Pats scored the game-winner in the bottom of the 10th on a bases-loaded walk.

Starting pitcher Rozann Staknis surrendered just one earned run, but suffered the loss. Melanie and Laura Apligian had two hits each in the game, but the entire team managed just six.

PLYMOUTH CANTON 8, NORTH-VILLE 3: The Mustangs jumped in front 1-0 in the top of the first inning on April 23 on an RBI double by Laura Apligian but couldn't hold on against the powerful Chiefs. The locals didn't score again until the fifth on two walks and a hit by Caroline Braasch.

Northville wrapped up it's offensive production with a run in the seventh, thanks to an error and a couple passed balls, but it wasn't nearly enough.

"We played pretty well," Gerlach said. The Franklin loss was more disappointing."

NOVI TOURNAMENT: The Mustangs started this eight-game event on April 28 with a pair of impressive wins over Hazel Park and Novi, but fell to Redford Union in the third round and then lost a tie-breaker to Novi for the right to advance to the championship game against Fenton. Northville clobbered Hazel Park 11-0 in a mercy-rule shortened contest in the first round, and a sevenrun rally in the second inning was the difference. The locals sent 12 batters to the plate.

The Vikings committed five errors and walked 10 Mustang batters in the game. Laura Apligian was the only Mustang batter with more than one hit.

Northville then turned back Novi 10-6, and scored at least one run in

JOHN SCHRIEBER

Northville track star Ris Fleming is an ideal candidate for "Mustang of the Week" honors. She excelled in every competition last week. In the high jump, (4'-7") and the 300-meter low hurdles (51.4). and was a member of the win-Walled Lake Western two days jump and shuttle hurdle relay teams, and they both placed second.

Senior pitcher John Schrieber has been virtually unhittable lately, and we think "Mustang of the Week" honors should rightfully go to Northville's 80-48 win over him. In a 2-0 victory over Livo-Walled Lake Central, she won nia Franklin on April 26, Schrieber allowed just two hits, struck out two, walked one and retired 11 straight ning mile relay team. Against batters during one stretch. "Schrieber pitched his best later, she won both the high game ever," Northville Coach (17.9) and low (52.31) hurdle Bob Frellick said. "He was in events, and was a member of control the whole way. In seanother relay winner. And at ven full innings of work he the Novi Relays last weekend, threw only 50 pitches — that's she was a member of the high not many." Several days earlier, he also pitched one inning of scoreless relief against Plymouth Canton.

Northville girls notch first victory

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN Staff Writer

The Mustangs girls notched their first dual meet track victory of the season on April 24, turning back Walled Lake Central 80-48.

The girls did real well," Northville Coach Ann Turnbull said. "We seemed to be very fresh and ready.

The locals won eight of the 16 events, including three of the four relay races. Ris Fleming was a two-time winner in the high jump, (4'-7") and the 300-meter low hurdles (51.4). And in both events, she led the Mustangs to a sweep of the top three

The other victories came from Rachel Davis in the 100 high hurdles (18.3), Kendra Huard in the 400 (65.3), Susan Weix in the mile (6:22.8), the 400 relay squad (with Maria Wen, Valerie Bassin, Davis and Trish Lukomski), the 800 relay team (featuring Kamal Bagga, Huard, Davis and Lukomski) and the mile relay combo (with Bagga, Fleming, Huard and Mari Kissenger).

Walled Lake Western 65, NORTHVILLE 63: A couple scoring errors led Turnbull and her squad to believe that if they won the final event the mile relay — they would win this dual meet on April 26. Well, the Mustangs held up their end of the bargain as Fleming, Bagga, Angle Tune and Huard grabbed first in 4:36.0, but the Warriors were awarded the meet anyway.

There was a scoring error and they had us down for four points more than we actually had," Turnbull explained. "It was a little disappointing to think you've won only to find out you haven't."

Fleming and Lukomski were the only two-time winners. Fleming took the honors in the high (17.9) and low (52.31) hurdle events, and Lukomski won the 100 (13.67) and 200 (28.96) meter dashes. The other wins came from Huard in the 400 (1:06.0), Julie Buser in the high jump (4'-8"), Davis in the long jump (13'-9*") and the 800 relay team (with Wen, Bassin, Stacey Segowski and Lukomski).

NOVI RELAYS: The Mustangs scored 40 points at this eight-team event on April 28 and placed sixth — 43 points behind first-place Dexter.

"The girls performed very well," Turnbull said. "We scored more than

BECAUSE SO MUCH IS RIDING ON YOUR TIRES.

High performance

we usually do at this meet. The girls seem more conpetitive and they really wanted to do well."

Northville did boast one first-place finish. The discus relay team of Segowski, Shannon Price, Megan Holmberg and Kissenger won the race in a time of 1:00.74. The locals also added a pair of seconds in the high jump and the shuttle hurdle relay. In the high jump, Fleming, Lisa Aimone and Buser combined to clear 13'-9"; and in the shuttle hurdle, Davis, Heather Collins, Tune and Fleming finished in a time of 1:15.5.

The only other top-three finish came from the sprint relay team of Bagga, Davis, Lukomski and Huard (4:44.73). The Mustangs were also credited with two fourths and three BOYS TRACK UPDATE: On April 26, the Mustang boys blasted Walled Lake Western 88-49.

The Northville winners included Kevin Gill in the discus (124'-6"), Chris Lehr in the high jump (5'-10"), John Okasinski in the pole vault (10'-0'), Jamie Miller in the long jump (19'-1/4"), Bret Butz in the high hurdles (16.9), Noel Korowin in the 100-meter dash (12.1), Steve Coon in the mile (4:40), Rob Subotich in the 400 (54.7), Matt Hemp in the 200 (24.2), the 800 relay squad (1:36.1) and the mile relay team (3:42.0).

Northville Coach Dennis Faletti was unavailable for comment.

The Mustangs also competed in the Novi Relays on April 28 and placed in a tie for third in the eightteam field. Both Northville and Farmington Harrison scored 60 points which was 13 behind first-place

Golf Notes

PUBLINX QUALIFIER: Female public links players take note, sectional qualifying tournaments for the 14th United States Women's Amateur Public Links Championships are set.

The qualifiers will be at three sites within the state on three different dates: May 29 at Stonhenge Golf Course in Augusta; June 1 at Indian River Country Club in Indian River; and June 4 at Rattle Run Golf Course Sectional qualifying will consist of 18 holes of stroke play. The number of qualifying berths available at each site will be determined by the USGA after entries close May 9.

Entry Forms and additional information may be obtained by writing Sara Wold at 2050 Yorktown, Ann Arbor, MI 48105, or by calling 668-8571.

BOY SCOUT GOLF OUTING: The Sixth Annual Community Golf Outing for Scouting will take place July 30 at Walnut Creek Country Club in South Lyon. The proceeds will benefit the Clinton Valley Council of the Boy Scouts of America.

For information, writer Brad Mortz, General Chairman, 1990 Golf Outing for Scouting, 1100 Country Center Drive West, Pontiac, MI 48053.

KENSINGTON TOURNAMENTS: There are more tournaments in store for area golfers this summer at the Kensington Golf Course.

Last year, the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority sponsored a series of golf tournaments at Kensington Metropark in Milford. The series included six different tournaments including both team and individual competitive formats.

The objective in sponsoring these tournaments, according to tournament director Doug Curry, is to offer the golfing public well-run tournaments using USGA rules and handicaps at a low cost. The tournaments are designed to challenge tournament veterans and first-time tournament players alike. The formats allow players with a wide range of skill levels to have a successful tournament experience.

Entry fees are kept low ($3-$4 per player) and prizes are modest (usually trophies and free greens-fee certificates). That places more emphasis on participation and enjoyment.

USGA handicaps are required thus allowing players at all skill levels an opportunity to be successful. Curry also said that establishing and using a USGA handicap makes the game more enjoyable.

Last year, the tournaments generated a great deal of interest. Over 850 entries were accepted for the six tournaments. This was highlighted by 240 entries in the Individual Championship held in September. At least 75 percent of the golfers entered had never played in a USGA-style tournament before.

This year, the program has been expanded. There will be a playoff among at least four of the HCMA courses for both a Senior and Individual Championship.

Course Senior Championships will be held on July 30, with the HCMA tournament featuring the top eight from each course to follow on Aug. 10.
The Individual Championship will feature qualifying rounds on Sept. 8 or 9, with Course Championships on Sept. 23. The HCMA finals will be on

In addition, there will be the regular lineup of a Women's Championship, Junior Championship, Two-Person Best Ball and Four-Person Scramble tournaments.

For more information on Kensington or HCMA tournaments, call Doug Curry at (313) 849-2025 by day, or at (313) 437-1835 in the evenings.

SPRING SCRAMBLE GOLF: Leslie Park Golf Course in Ann Arbor will be the site of the annual Spring Scramble Golf Tournament on May 20. Registration will be through April 22 for residents, and after April 22 for non-residents. Starting times will be given at time of registration.

Play begins at 8 a.m. and coast is $90 for each three-person team. For more information, call 994-1163.

CELEBRITY TOURNEY: Meadowbrook County Club in Northville will play host to the Ameritech Pages Plus Celebrity Tournament on June 4. Proceeds will go to benefit the Alzheimer's Association.

For more information, call 557-8277.

GEHRINGER GOLF CLASSIC: President of the Detroit Tiger Baseball Club, 35 Schembechler, will be the featured speaker at the Fourteenth Annual Charlie Gehringer Meadow Brook Golf Classic reception. The event will be Tuesday, June 5, at Oakland University's Shotwell-Gustafson Pavilion.

Information regarding tickets to play in the tournament and/or attend the June 5 reception, is available at Meadow Brook Hall, 313/370-3140.

Plymouth draws areas top skaters

Record/CHRIS BOYD Christine Collings practices on the ice at the Plymouth Cultural

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

Without an indoor ice skating facility in the immediate area, the people of Novi and Northville have been forced to travel to places like Plymouth and Livonia to get ice time.

You'd think such an inconveni-ence would turn off many potential skaters, but this area has its share of talent - including Northville's Christine Collings and Jenny Bethan. They are just two of many area skaters who are excelling at the Plymouth Cultural Center as members of the Plymouth Figure Skating

"There's quite a few that skate here at the rink from the Novi/Northville area," said instructor Sue Moffatt. We have kids from Livonia, Plymouth, and from as far away as Brighton.

Collings and Bethan are among the more promising skaters in the bunch. In early April, they traveled to the Tri-State Freestyle Championships in Fort Wayne, Ind., and captured their first gold medals. Moffatt believes it could be the first of many

They are working their way up, but if they continue to work hard and improve like they have, nothing can stop them," she said.

Collings, a sixth-grader at Meads Mill Middle School, placed first in the preliminary freestyle competition. second in the compulsories and third in interpretive. She has been skating since age six when she started in the Parks and Recreation program in Livonia. Several years later she started private lessons in Plymouth.

"If you want to skate and get instruction, you go to Plymouth," Christine's mother Jann Collings said. "She started competing four years ago and she's doing real well. Now, she competes about once every two months. She loves it."

Christine hones her skating in practice four or five times a week, year around. It's quite a demanding schedule, and the cost is quite steep, but Jann Collings says it's worth it.

"It's very expensive, but anything nowadays seems to cost a lot of money," she said. "It's worth it." Christine will be one of the participants in the Plymouth Ice Skating Club's annual Spring Ice Show, to be held on May 18-20 at the Cultural . Center. The show includes features, solos and other group numbers.

"Christine is a very, very hard-worker," Mossatt said. "She's always very cheerful and up. She listens well and she has really come a long way in'? the past year."

Bethan, a 13-year-old who attends Northville High School, placed first in the freestyle competition in Fort Wayne, fourth in the juvenile compulsory and first in interpretive.

"(Jenny) really has a spark for skating," Moffatt said. "She's practiced hard for a long time and it's starting to pay off. A lot of time and effort goes into skating, so when you perform well, it's very rewarding."

Bethan started skating five years ago, and said the key to her performance in Indiana was determination.

"I really didn't think I'd place first," but I was very determined to do well," she said. "I competed in Bowling" Green (Ohio), so this was my second out-state competition. It's really nodifferent than skating around here, but you have to adjust to the conditions. On some rinks, the ice is harder, but they are all basically the Unlike many other young figure. skaters, Bethan has no Olympic aspirations. Her ultimate goal, however, is to teach others how to skate.

The Olympics and professional skating has too much pressure," she said. "I'd like to some day teach ice skating. I don't know what it is about this I like. I guess I like to skate and T like the people at the cultural center."

"I was kind of pleased with the way the boys performed," Norton said. "We lost some close ones, but we were very competitive."

The Northville wins came from Telepo and Davis at No. 3 and 4 singles. Telepo topped Steve Samson 6-1, 4-6, 7-5 and Davis clobbered Adam Corbin 6-4, 6-3.

But the highlight of the clash was the battle at No. 1 between Northville's super-frosh Mark Schwagle, and North's Seth Hoffman - who is currently ranked fifth in his agegroup in the country. Hoffman won the match 6-2, 7-6 (9-7), but Schwagle gave him all he could

"It was an excellent match," Norton said. "If Mark could have held on and pulled out that second set tiebreaker, I think he would have gone on to win the whole thing."

NORTHVILLE 4, BRIGHTON 3: In a non-conference battle on April 26, the Mustangs turned back the Bulldogs from the Kensington Valley Conference.

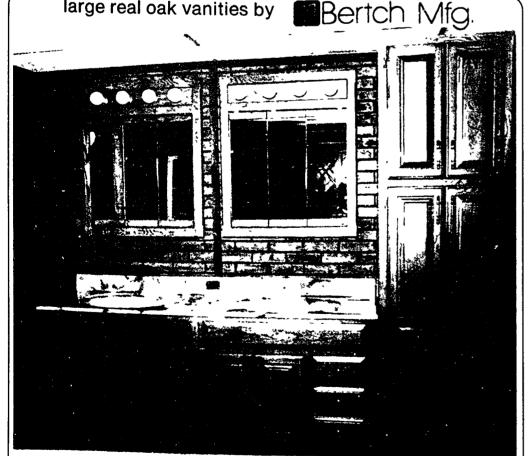

"Only one of the matches was a three-setter, so I guess it wasn't as close as you'd think a 4-3 match would be," Norton said.

The winners included Schwagle-(over Shannon Browne 6-2, 6-0),.. Telepo (over Mark Tiemann 6-1, 6-7, 6-2), Davis (over Wes Browne 6-1, 6-3) and the Lower/Black duo (over Ryan Hill and Chris Reichardt 6-3.

Karate: an aerobic exercise?

By LESLIE PEREIRA Staff Writer

The roomfull of barefoot people clad in white robes, loose pants and a multitude of colorful belts looked ready for a night of leisure and

But there is nothing leisurely about what the were going to do.

The martial arts students in Master Bob Gordon's Novi Civic Center karate class were in for a full 11/2 hours of kicks, punches, blocks, jumps and duck walking.

"I like it because I don't get any kind of exercise sitting behind a desk all day," said Kathy Pellerino, a Novi karate student who works in Plymouth. "I consider this my aerobic exercise."

However, calling it "just exercise" in her case, seems to be an understatement of her skill.

A 2nd degree blackbelt, Pellerino has been learning and practicing karate for 5 years. Pellerino and her husband take karate together and originally got involved in karate because "my husband and I were always big fans of Bruce Lee."

"It gives us something we can do together," said Pellerino's husband,

Bob Gordon, who teaches the class praises the physical benefits of karate which he identifies as cardiovascular conditioning, muscle strengthening, balance and endurance.

But he believes that the benefits of the sport are as much psychologicalas anything else.

To train without the mental influence is to train only part of one's self," said Gordon, who has been involved in karate for 17 years. "The best part of it for me is seeing a youngster who lacks self-confidence gain a belief in him or herself in their own abilities." With this pronouncement Gordon exchanges a knowing look with one of his star pupils, Rodger Evans. At 19. Evans is already a third degree blackbelt who will most likely test to become master before he is 22. "And this is no small feat," Gordon

Carey (right) and Kathy Pellerino like karate because it is something they can do together is Tang Soo Do, which relies heavily on kicking, rather than punching of blocking. Gordon continuously interacts with his students, snaking numerous successful skill tests, you easily in and out of the rows of whiterobes, murmuring bits of advice -"you can get higher than that," "look forward my friend" or "see it in your

One of the most notable features about karate is the high degree of courtesy and respect afforded to the teacher, classmates, opponents and visitors alike. It almost seems as if you have stepped into a regal society like England because of the many "sirs", "ma'ams", "masters" and bows frequently exchanged.

Generally, this couresy is extended to all, although it is based somewhat on a person's belt color. The karate ranking system is much

The style of karate Gordon teaches like a musical scale — you go down on one scale and then up on another. A student begins as a 9th grade gup progress down the gup scale to first grade, which makes you a first degree blackbelt. Once on the blackbelt scale, the martial artist climbs upwards in degrees, receiving an embroided stripe on their black belt for each exam passed favorably.

> While the sport is highly individualistic, it is not without its social aspects. For those who like conversation when they work out, especially if your penchant is for foreign languages, karate is for you. Well, not exactly convergation, but at least rapid repitition of Korean words and

"Guyip" is the most frequently used word and is shouted loudly for several reasons.

Gordon explains that karate is usually very verbal because it brings out internal energy, makes the sto-mach firmer by blowing out the air, and it scares the opponent.

For those interested in learning karate, whether for exercise, selfdefense, cultural awareness or spiritual enlightenment or adoration of Bruce Lee, there are some commnity classes offered locally. In Novi, there is a beginning class offered Tuesday nights from 6 p.m. to 7:30 at the Novi Civic Center. And in Northville, the Okinawan Karate Club welcomes beginners. They meet Monday and Wednesday from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. and Saturday from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Northville Community Center.

Walking program comes to this area

The Novi/Northville area is participating in the 1990 Walk Michigan Program, and Twelve Oaks Mall is the site for the next event. On May 15, walkers will be meeting at the Lord and Taylor mall entrance at 8 a.m. There will also be three other events this summer.

Each time a person participates in one of the scheduled walks, their name will be entered into a grand prize drawing: a trip for two to Mackinac Isand to participate in the annual bridge walk on Labor Day.

For more information, call 347-0400.

OPEN SWIM: The Novi High School Pool will be open for swimming from now until June 14. Open swimming on Tuesdays and Thursdays will be from 7-8:30 p.m. and lap swimming follows until Fee is 50 cents and senior citizens are free. Children age 10 and under must be with an adult. The pool will be closed on April 19.

EXERCISE PROGRAM: A one-hour exercise program is held Monday and Wednesday mornings at Twelve Oaks Mall. It takes place 9-10 a.m. in the Lord & Taylor corridor near the east

The program, conducted by The University of Michigan Division of Physical Education, is particularly aimed at older people and others who would benefit from an invigorating but nonstrenuous exercise program.

Fitness Notes

"The format consists of carefully guided wa up and stretching exercise followed by light aerobics and a cool-down period, all synchronized to music," according to Prof. Phyllis E. Weikart, director of U-M's Adult Lifestyle Program. "Our objective is to improve the participants' strength. flexibility and energy level through activities which are safe and enjoyable."

Weikart and her staff have been leading the popular Fitness Over 50 classes for 12 years on the U-M campus and for the past two years at Ann Arbor's Briarwood Mall, where it regularly attracts some 125 participants.

By expanding the program to Twelve Oaks Mall, they have made it more accessible to residents throughout Livingston, Wayne and Oakland

"Twelve Oaks is open an hour before the stores open (at 10 a.m. daily and noon Sunday) to accommodate people who want to use the mall for walking," notes Twelve Oaks marketing director Elaine Kah. "This exercise program adds a new dimension to this activity. We are pleased to be a part of Fitness Over 50 welcomes all interested persons, regardless of their age and current activity level. Call the Twelve Oaks Management Office, 348-9438, for further information.

Twelve Oaks is a major regional shopping center located in Novi on I-96 and Novi Road. The center hours are Monday through Saturday, 10 a.m. to 9 p.m.; and Sunday, noon to 6 p.m.

ASK-A-NURSE REFERRAL: "Ask-a nurse." the new 24-hour health information and physician referral line sponsored by five Mercy hospitals in southeast Michigan, is offering a new speakers bureau to community groups. Program director Linda Hintze, R.N. and registered nurses who man the telephone lines seven days a week, 365 days a year will be available to speak to groups of 15 or more about the calls they receive and how they help callers locate physicians and health or community information. Requests should be made at least three weeks before the intended speaking engagement. There is no charge for the service and participants will give valuable information about how this service can help them day or night. For more information or to make a reservation, please call the ASK-A-NURSE office at Catherine McAuley health Center toll-free at 1-800-526-MERCY (1-800-526-3729)

or in the Ann Arbor area, (313) 572-5500. "Ask-a-nurse" is a free community health information and physician referral service of five Sisters of Mercy Hospitals — Catherine McAuley

Fitness Tips

Tips can minimize high blood pressure

SYLVA DVORAK Special Writer

When was the last time you had your blood pressure checked?. If it's been over a year, you should consider having this very quick and simple test taken. You may be asking Why should I? Read on and find out. High blood pressure (HBP) is called the 'stlent killer' because you can have it for many years without any symptoms. It is the silent killer because, if left untreated, HBP can lead to heart attacks, strokes and Blood pressure is the force needed to cause blood flow through the blood vessels to all parts of the body. As your heart beats, the blood is pushing along the blood vessels. It is northal for the blood pressure in your arteries to change from day to day, and even from moment to moment. However, in some people, certain arteries may clamp down, making it harder for blood to pass through. When this happens, your blood pressure goes up. It if goes too high and stays that way, it is called high blood pressure, or hypertension.

Having high blood pressure means that your heart is working harder than it should to pump blood through your body. The strain this puts on your heart can eventually lead to blood vessels being damaged. This damage endangers blood supplies to vital organs, which, in turn, can damage the organs (such as eyes, kidneys and the brain). This is why, if left uncontrolled, HBP puts people at greater risk of heart disease, stroke and kidney failure.

When you have your blood pressure checked, you will be given two numbers. The first or top number, indicates the force used and pressure against the blood vessels as the heart beats, and is called systolic pressure. The second, or bottom number, measure the pressure in your blood vessels when your heart is at rest (between beats) and is called dialostic

If you find your blood pressure is high (140/90 or above) when you get it checked, have it checked several more times during the few days to ensure consistency. If it is consistently high, you should see your doctor. The following will put you at risk for high blood pressure: • The Pill: Oral contraceptives can cause a slight blood pressure increase in women • Cigarette Smoking: Every time you smoke there is a temporary elevation in blood pressure. • Diabetes and Kidney Disease: Both conditions can lead to high blood pressure.

 Chronic Stress: Prolonged stress may lead to hypertension.

To minimize your risk: Avoid Salt: Take the salt shaker off table and use less salt in recipes. Also, use fresh instead of canned and frozen foods. • Lose Weight: Reduce the load on your heart by losing extra pounds.

• Limit Alcohol: No more than one or two drinks a day at the most.

· Stop Smoking: Smoking with blood pressure can lead to heart disease. • Manage Stress and Tension:

Learn how to react to various situations.

• Exercise: 20 to 30 minutes of aerobic activity three times per week. Visit Your Doctor: Hypertension can not be cured but it can be controlled. Take medicine regularly if it has been prescribed.

Having your blood pressure checked is simple, quick and painless. Remember, blood pressure can be controlled. It's as important to monitor as your cholesterol level.

In conclusion, as much as 25 percent of the American population has hypertension, and approximately half don'-t even know it.
